Circuit Court to Air Protest

By ED BLUNDEN

A crowd of about 600 persons was informed at a rally last night its protests against half-day classes in the Waterford School District will end up in circuit court.

A suit against the district, which initiated half-day sessions for 4,400 pupils to save money this semester, will be heard at 2 p.m. Wednesday by Judge William J. Beer. A hearing scheduled for today was postponed at the request of the school board's attorney.

Meanwhile, school officials declined comment, they said, because they have been taken to court on the issue.

The crowd jammed to overflowing the VFW Hall at 1690 Airport for the 90-minute meeting. A question-and-answer session was held by a panel headed by Mrs. Raymond Swindell, 5508 Pleasant.

3 GROUPS UNITED

Mrs. Swindell said the crowd represented three separate groups that had formed independently to fight the issue but now had joined forces. "The whole thing started over a coffee klatch and now look what's happened," she said.

At the conclusion of last night's meeting donations were asked to help pay three lawyers to pursue the case. Mrs. Swindell announced this morning that $490 had been spontaneously donated. From $750 to $1,000 is needed and additional donations are being received at her home.

★ ★ ★

The three lawyers on the case are Frances R. Avadenka, Stanley Kurzman and Eugene Pool.

Kurzman told the crowd, "We are not convinced the school board does not have sufficient funds to provide 180 full days of school . . . not half days or hours."

'NOT OUR PROBLEM'

He also said restoring the full sessions would mean the board would have to come up with 65 more teachers. "But that's not our (the crowd's) problem, it's the board's problem."

Also speaking was State Rep. Loren Anderson, R-Waterford Township. He said "You came here because you want full school days, 180 days as you know it and I know it (to be)." He urged the group to seek more state school aid.

★ ★ ★

The school board initiated half-day sessions after three millage-increase election failures in the last two years. The district has an extra-voted 15 mills in property tax, but lags in per-pupil property valuation. Waterford has $8,900 in assessed property value behind each pupil while Pontiac, for example, has $20,000.

These figures are in a December 1968 report of the Oakland County Intermediate School District.

School Board Attorney John Rogers estimated the court litigation could cost the board anywhere from $500 if the case were dismissed immediately in circuit court to more than $5,000 if it goes to the Michigan Supreme Court.

Mrs. Swindell said the half-day session protest was sparked when proposed half-day sessions in Livonia were ruled a week ago unconstitutional as a cost-cutting measure.

A Wayne County Circuit Court judge ruled in favor of a group of parents who brought a lawsuit against the Livonia school board. That school board is now studying whether to appeal to the Michigan Supreme Court.

Pontiac School Board Audience Urges Appointment Of John Perdue As Assistant Superintendent

Teachers Ask Recall of Four in Hiring Tiff

By MARY SUNDSTROM

The threat of a districtwide teacher boycott of schools on Monday and a recall drive against four Pontiac School Board members followed in the wake of an emotional board meeting last night, in which a third assistant superintendent was named.

Dr. William Edmonds of St. Petersburg, Va., was appointed to the post by a 4-3 vote of the board.

About 150 teachers were among an estimated 400 persons at the meeting, to urge appointment of John F. Perdue, Pontiac school-community human relations director, to the new position.

Board members Russell Brown, John K. Irwin Jr., Mrs. Lucille Marshall and Mrs. Elsie Mihalek voted in favor of Edmonds, director of the Virginia State College graduate school.

'BETTER QUALIFIED'

They all said they felt Edmonds was the better qualified for the position because of his educational background and experience in the fields for which he will be responsible in his new post.

The teachers and administrative staff of Jefferson Junior High School this morning began a drive to recall the four board members who voted against Perdue.

"At the board of education meeting last night, we were shocked and sickened at the complete lack of feeling, understanding and judgment exhibited by board members Russell Brown, Irwin, Mrs. Marshall and Mrs. Mihalek, that they could turn thumbs down on the hiring of John Perdue after witnessing the support for him by teachers, administrators, parents and students, who demonstrated almost on their hands and knees their obvious desire to have him serve in this position," said Darryl Lee, assistant principal at Jefferson and spokesman of the group.

Mrs. Michelle Peterson, a spokesman for a group of parents at the meeting, said her group also would initiate a recall campaign against the four.

'FAMILIARITY, RAPPORT'

Various spokesmen in the crowd said they supported Perdue because of his familiarity with community problems, his rapport with both the blacks and whites in Pontiac and his 13 years of experience in the Pontiac school system, in all phases of teaching and administration.

Members of the audience said that although Edmonds may have had more education than Perdue, he did not have the experience and does not know the community. They feared he would be merely a puppet of the present administration and said he would not be accepted by the community.

The teachers at the meeting agreed to contact others in the system and were to meet at Pontiac Northern High School at 12:30 today to discuss the boycott.

ADC Clothing Cash Is OK'd

By JEAN SAILE

County supervisors yesterday may have moved toward closing their "company store" by replacing clothing handouts with shopping funds.

The County Board of Supervisors voted 14-12 to provide up to $30 per child to each ADC (Aid to Dependent Children) recipient. The funds ($90,000) will be used to supplement federal and state clothing allotments.

There are 5,600 school-aged children in Oakland County now cared for by the ADC program, county records show. There was discussion yesterday that should the $90,000 appropriation be used up before next September another appropriation will have to be provided.

The cash program heralded what many considered the end of the county clothing store at 1 Lafayette in downtown Pontiac.

ONE OF A KIND

Termed "the company store" by human resources committee chairman Robert Patnales, R-Royal Oak, the facility is the only one of its kind in Michigan, he said.

Besides meeting the needs of ADC children — some $150,000 worth last year — the store also provides some of the clothing for wards of the Probate Court and for children in foster homes.

Some 800 requests for back-to-school clothes were received by the store this fall prior to yesterday's board action. Miss Ora Hinckley, director of Social Services, said these will be honored at the store.

Beginning this morning, however, the department started writing requests for checks which Miss Hinckley said would then be mailed to the recipients.

Brazil Bows to Kidnapers

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — The Brazilian government announced today it has accepted all the demands made by the terrorists who kidnaped U. S. Ambassador Charles Burke Elbrick.

Foreign Minister Jose Magalhaes Pinto said the Brazilian government was now only awaiting the release by the terrorists of the names of the 15 political prisoners the terrorists want freed in exchange for Elbrick.

The announcement came after a letter purported to have been written by Elbrick was found in the alms box of a church in Rio de Janeiro.

The handwritten note said the writer was "well" and requested compliance with the kidnapers' demands for the release of 15 political prisoners being held in Brazilian jails.

Editors of the newspaper Jornal de Brasil said they received an anonymous tip this morning that a letter from Elbrick could be found in the alms box of Our Lady of Glory Church.

Four gunmen intercepted Elbrick's limousine yesterday, chloroformed him and carried him off in a station wagon. They left a lengthy ransom note giving the junta 48 hours — until tomorrow afternoon — to release the prisoners and broadcast a manifesto saying the government was a dictatorship that was exploiting the people.

Waterless Families May Tap Legal Well

By DICK ROBINSON

A meeting to consider court action has been called for 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at McVittie School, 4860 Midland, Waterford Township, according to Mrs. Frederick Denne, 4785 Sylvester. The meeting is for those now without water or those in the path of the Clinton-Oakland Interceptor Sewer.

At least 30 residential wells in northern Waterford Township have now run dry because of nearby sewer construction, according to a resident of the area. And there's no immediate relief on the way.

Two fire hydrants in Woodhull Lake Estates subdivision south of Eagle Lake were turned on yesterday for a few hours, but homeowners still have no running water in their homes.

He looked at the situation and then at the work on the cause of the problem, Oakland County's giant $28-million Clinton-Oakland Interceptor Sewer.

Sewer lines are now being dug at nearby Woodhull Lake where water is being pumped out of the ground to afford drier construction excavations.

Water reportedly should return to the wells once construction is past the area, but no estimate of when that could happen has been made.

★ ★ ★

Anderson said he got a promise from R. J. Alexander, director of the Oakland County Department of Public Works, that, in the future, Alexander would publicly show a map of the project to warn residents who might face dry wells.

RESIDENTS FURIOUS

Affected residents were furious because they couldn't get help. They tried to get some assistance from Waterford Township, the county and even Gov. William Milliken, according to Mrs. Frederick Denne, 4785 Sylvester.

Tax-Reform Bill May Sit Till '70

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said today "it's a possibility" that Senate action on the House-passed tax reform bill will be delayed until next year.

He told newsmen it will depend on the legislative situation in the Senate after its Finance Committee completes work on the complex legislation.

Mansfield said he still is holding the committee to its commitment to have the bill ready for Senate consideration by Oct. 31, but he didn't know how soon after that it would be brought up in the Senate.

He said it would depend on what appropriations bills remains to be acted on at that time, other pending legislation, and on how long debate on the tax measure would be likely to last.

NO ACTION ON BILLS

So far Congress has not passed any of the regular 13 appropriations bills to finance government operations in the current fiscal year that began July 1.

When Mansfield was asked if he meant it was possible that action on the tax bill would be deferred until next year, he replied "it's a possibility—depending on the circumstances."

Dem Proposes Work for Poor

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chairman of the House Agriculture Committee says idle but able-bodied poor persons should be put to work before getting federal food stamps, even if the government has to invent jobs for them.

Rep. W. R. Poage, a Texas Democrat who has been in the House since 1937, says he will oppose any extension of the food stamp program unless it includes some requirement for work for the persons able to hold jobs.

Poage said only about 1½ per cent of those getting welfare food stamps fall in the category of able-bodied and eligible for work. But he feared the number would swell to 15 per cent or higher if people believe the government will feed them while they loaf.

Poage said President Nixon's welfare program revisions might be adapted to the food stamp program to screen out persons he called "drones and deadbeats." The proposals would require welfare recipients to accept training or work if they were able.

STAMPS, NOT MONEY

"We would pay him only in food stamps," Poage said of the government jobs. "Why give him money? He'd only waste it."

Poage would require an eight-hour, five-day week. This might scare off some persons and force them to get jobs in the private industry, he said.

★ ★ ★

Anger and Insight Mark Relations Institute

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the first of a two-part series on the three-day Human Relations Institute held in the Pontiac School District.)

By MARY SUNDSTROM

"The key to the whole thing is to let your hair down, be yourself and say what you think."

These words kicked off a sometimes-emotional three-day Human Relations Institute mandatory for all administrative and teaching personnel in the Pontiac School District. The institute, held at Northern High School, ended yesterday.

* * *

Speaking was Dr. Joseph C. Paige, director of the U.S. Urbanics Corp., a consulting organization for educational research and training. U.S. Urbanics Corp. was contracted by the school district for $10,000 to conduct the institute, the first of its kind in the country to involve an entire school district.

The purpose was to involve all of the schools' professional personnel in a program designed to increase their awareness of the needs, feelings and aspirations of pupils and their parents, particularly black and Spanish-American pupils and parents.

AID TO TEACHERS

"The program should also assist administrators and teachers to translate this awareness into behavior that results in increased motivation of pupils through improved human relationships," said the guide for participant leaders.

For three days, the participants, including some people from the community and some Pontiac students, did let their hair down and did say what was on their minds. At least, it appears a vast majority of the 1,500 participants did.

* * *

Many people got mad, some stormed out of their discussion sessions and one teacher (a white woman) reportedly threatened to resign. She apparently told her group that she did not like being interrogated by a black man.

However, most of the participants concluded that the institute was worthwhile, and felt that they had gained some insight into the problems and thoughts of those of other races.

'95 PCT. FAVOR INSTITUTE'

"Ninety-five per cent of the people I have talked to feel that the institute is desirable and ought to be expanded. Those opposed to the institute felt it was a waste of time and school money — they were all older white women and older white men," said Paige, who reportedly took a $15,000 loss for the sake of the opportunity to stage such a large institute.

"However, I think every single person that has attended all or any of the sessions will have felt some impact, even though they may have had to fight it," he added.

Tuesday and Wednesday morning all of the participants squeezed into the 1,100-capacity high school auditorium, and then met in smaller discussion groups led by participant leaders from the school system, trained by Urbanics Corp.

The 70 leaders were trained to lead and direct discussions on hundreds of subjects from housing and racism to teaching problems, police problems and employment.

'HUMANIZING SESSION'

Tuesday morning was a "humanizing session," which was primarily concerned with nonverbal communication, including eye contact, and expressions of such feeling as affection, tenderness and anger by touching, first with eyes closed, then with eyes open.

Most of the touching included hand-holding and embraces, although one participant leader said that he observed kissing in his group.

Some refused to cooperate.

"I don't feel comfortable touching people I don't know, and I only embraced my husband," one young white teacher said.

"Why," prodded the participant leader.

QUESTION CONTINUE

"I don't know. I guess I was raised to be restrained," she answered.

The leader continued to question her, asking if it bothered her to touch a black person. She said it bothered her to touch anyone she didn't know.

* * *

During the non-verbal communications sessions, many of the groups seemed not to take the process seriously, giggling.

"I feel stupid," was a comment heard frequently.

"What did you think about" asked participant leaders of their groups when they concluded the embraces, and hand-holding.

'KNOW EACH OTHER'

"His hand was sweatier than mine," was a frequent answer.

"We feel like we know each other now. I've never met this person before, but I feel like I like her," said one group member.

* * *

FEW CONCLUSIONS

Few of the questionings and discussions led to conclusions.

* * *

"This is good. It makes the

PERDUE SUPPORTERS

Anderson earlier had voted against a motion to appoint Perdue, but changed his mind following hours of discussion and demonstration of support for Perdue.

* * *

"After hearing what I've heard tonight, I think the board better listen. If it is the consensus of the board or administration that I don't belong here (on the board), then I'll get off it. I think you (the board) better think real hard before you make this decision," he said. He received a standing ovation.

CITIZEN RECOMMENDATION

Both Edmonds and Perdue are black.

The position is the result of a recommendation made by the Citizens Study Council's report on the Equality of Educational Opportunity (EEO).

More than 1,000 teachers, attending the last day of the Pontiac Schools Human Relations Institute for all teachers and administrators, stood up in unanimous support of Perdue yesterday afternoon.

* * *

A four-hour debate followed school Supt. Dana Whitmer's recommendation that Edmonds be hired. Whitmer cited the vast experience and educational preparation of Edmonds in the areas of student personnel services, research and administration and supervision. These areas will come under his supervision as assistant superintendant.

Mrs. Leona Patterson of 282 S. Marshall asked if a doctorate degree was necessary for the position, and if the other two assistant superintendents, Richard Fell and William Lacy, have doctorates.

WHY? . . . WHY?

"Why is it necessary that you have to bring in someone that the community doesn't want, and why does the person need a doctorate when you people don't," she asked.

Although Fell and Lacy both have masters' degrees, neither have doctorates.

* * *

Whitmer said a doctorate is not a requirement for the job. "The level of educational training brings enrichment to the job, however," he said.

A petition signed by more than 800 Pontiac teachers, students and parents, supporting Perdue was presented to the board.

'WE WANT PERDUE'

Chants of "We want Perdue," punctuated the meeting.

A young white teacher who said he represented a group called "Concerned White Teachers" said that they too wanted the appointment of Perdue.

* * *

"There is factor of experience here. We know the value of education, but if there is one man that knows what the community, both black and white, wants, thinks, feels and experiences, it's John Perdue," he said.

* * *

One white woman, near tears, said "As a concerned parent, I am for Mr. Perdue. To see this board, I am ashamed to be white."

RESIGNATIONS DEMANDED

The resignation of Whitmer and the members of the board who voted against Perdue were demanded by a white man. A chant "resign now" was picked up by the audience.

"Can't you see that if Dr. Edmonds came to town today, he'd be run out of town tomorrow," one white man pleaded.

* * *

Phyllis Williams, who said she is an alumnus of Virginia State College, said she knew Dr. Edmonds did not participate in civil rights activities or in community affairs in St. Petersburg, Va., where the college is located.

Edmonds who will be available to the school system on Jan. 1, will receive a salary of about $24,000.

EDMONDS BACKGROUND

He received his bachelor's degree from Hampton Institute, Va.; his master of science degree from Virginia State College; and his master of arts from Columbia University.

He has been business manager and proctor of boys at Palmer Memorial Institute, Sedalia, N.C.; a junior high and visiting teacher for Newport News Public Schools, Va.; juvenile court counselor in Newport News; dean of students at Jackson (Miss.) State College; counselor at City College of New York; division chairman of education and psychology, director of graduate study and academic dean at Alabama A and M College; and chairman of the academic testing program and professor of education psychology at Virginia State College.

Parents Told: Teach Safety

BIRMINGHAM — Parents of Birmingham area children returning to school can help safeguard their children's lives if they teach their youngsters some timely tips about safety, says the Birmingham Police Department.

The police department maintains:

- Children should follow the safe route to and from school mapped out by the administration officials in their school.
- Children should never run into the street, and particularly in midblock between parked cars.
- Children should always obey the directions of the safety patrol boys or the civilian crossing guards at the corners.

POSTERS PUT UP

Birmingham police have put up posters throughout the city this week to warn motorists that youngsters will once again be crossing busy streets. The poster shows a safety patrol boy on his corner, with the message "School — Watch Out for Kids."

Police Chief Daryl Bruestle explained that the back-to-school period each year can be marred by a senseless tragic accident.

* * *

"These accidents generally happen to children starting kindergarten and through the third or fourth grade. If drivers are alert for the small youngsters and expect them to do the unexpected, these accidents can be avoided," Bruestle said.

The chief said that seven corners in the city would be manned by civilian crossing guards to direct the children. At present, four of these positions are unfilled and will be covered by regular personnel until they are.

On hand to listen were nearly 30 ADC mothers, some children and some interested observers.

The idea of cash payments had been referred to the board without recommendation by the finance committee.

The concept had received the recommendation of the Social Services Department, the Social Services Board and the human resources committee, however.

VOUCHER DEFEAT

An amendment was proposed by Wallace Gabler, R-Royal Oak, to provide parents with vouchers rather than cash. The vouchers could have been spent at approved stores. The amendment was defeated by a vote of 17-9.

Only one supervisor, board vice chairman Alexander Perinoff, D-Southfield, was absent from yesterday's meeting.

* * *

Party lines were crossed on the voting as Democrats Charles B. Edwards of Madison Heights, Thomas O'Donoghue of Ferndale and Niles Olson of Orion Township voted against cash payments. Democrats reportedly had caucuased Wednesday night to determine their stand.

Republicans Pantales, Fred Houghten of Avon Township and Mary Bawden of Birmingham voted with the Democratic majority to provide the cash aid.

SESQUICENTENNIAL FUNDS

The controversy over the $90,000 appropriation for welfare supplements was a contrast to the ease with which the board approved a $50,000 appropriation for the county's 150th birthday celebration next year. Supervisors had hopes, however, that the latter might be regained from celebration proceeds.

* * *

Huber, Kuhn Admit Plea for Lazaros in U.S. Case

By JIM LONG

A state senator from Oakland County said today he and another senator attempted to delay federal legal proceedings against Peter Lazaros only to give the underworld informer an opportunity to testify before the Oakland County Grand Jury.

Sen. Robert J. Huber of Troy explained that he and Sen. George W. Kuhn of West Bloomfield Township, both Republicans, interceded in the hope of keeping Lazaros out of prison if found in contempt of court before Federal District Judge Thomas P. Thornton.

* * *

Court records reveal that the two senators met with Thornton Aug. 23 in Detroit to ask him to delay proceedings against Lazaros for 90 days.

The meeting came the same day Lazaros was cited for contempt by Thornton, who is conducting a federal grand jury probe into allegations made by Lazaros, and four days before the former Mafia moneyman was indicted on 12 counts of perjury.

* * *

"If he had been found guilty of contempt, Lazaros could have been put away immediately," Huber said.

Huber said if Lazaros had been sentenced to prison for contempt, it would have been impossible for him to testify in Oakland County.

* * *

The contempt citation was dropped against Lazaros of 2410 Dalesford, Troy, several days later when Thornton ruled that Lazaros had later purged himself by answering directly questions that had been put to him.

"It wasn't a matter of us taking sides with Lazaros," said Huber. "Right from the beginning we just wanted to know if Lazaros' allegations about public officials in Oakland County were true."

"We must separate the truth from the fiction," said Huber, adding that Lazaros "has told me a couple of lies."

Both Huber and Kuhn have been deeply involved in a series of investigations into Lazaros' allegations. They consider themselves a moving force in bringing about the grand jury in Oakland County.

* * *

Huber said he already has appeared before Grand Juror Robert J. Colombo to testify.

Huber said the perjury charges has cast a shadow over Lazaros' credibility, but noted that it was State Atty. Gen. Frank J. Kelley and Col. Frederick Davids who signed the petition for the county grand jury based on Lazaros' accusations.

GMC Truck Sales Hit August High

GMC truck sales totaled 10,940 in August, an all-time record for the month and a 16.2 per cent increase over last year, Martin J. Caserio, a GM vice president and general manager of GMC Truck & Coach Division, reported today.

The former divisional record for August was 10,498 set in 1965. GMC truck sales were 9,418 in August last year.

* * *

Record truck deliveries of 99,315 through the first eight months of 1969 were seven per cent above the 92,818 sales over the same span last year, Caserio said.

Combined truck and coach deliveries of 11,002 last month also shattered the previous August record of 10,666 set in 1966, he said.

* * *

August was the 10th of last 11 months in which records for comparable months have been established by combined GMC truck and coach sales, Caserio added.

Curbs on Border

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — A new law restricts the passage of state residents under 18 across the Mexican border from California.

NOT THREATENED

"Well, I've never known any colored people, but I'm not afraid of them. I probably wouldn't walk down the street in a Negro neighborhood," said one white teacher who works in an all-white school.

"I think that one thing that would eliminate fear of black people is exposure to them," exclaimed one white woman.

"How do you feel about socializing with people of the other races?" asked the leader.

TEST WHITES

"I've taught in many white schools. If some of the teachers were planning a social event, more times than not they would cancel it if they knew my husband and I were coming," an older black teacher said.

"Many times, we will test white people. For example, if we see a white person we know, we will purposely ignore him just to see if he will speak first," a young black man teacher said.

"For hundreds of years, black people have historically 'loved' or emulated white people. Now you say you didn't — now you say you hate us," a white woman stormed.

"Do white people hate or fear black people, or do black people hate or fear white people," the participant leader prompted.

HEATED DISCUSSION

Most of this group's participants blamed prejudice on parents.

"Young children are not prejudiced against someone of another race. A white boy may be playing with a black boy — until his mother sees him, drags him inside and tells him never to play with the black child again. He usually isn't given an explanation," said a white student.

One man blamed the church.

SUNDAY SEGREGATION

"One of the most segragated times in America is at 11 o'clock Sunday morning," he said.

How do you change prejudiced attitudes, the leader asked.

"I don't think we can. I don't think there's much hope for our society. You can't change society," a white man said.

"Yes, but many of the younger generation are changing. There is more interracial marriage, and more acceptance of it. Young people haven't given up," an older white man teacher said.

BETTER FOR BLACKS?

"Is it getting better for black people," the leader asked.

"No," said a white man.

There are more black people in professional jobs, but they still have to struggle harder than white people to get there."

"Should everyone marry someone of another race?"

"Yes," a white man answered. "The only way many whites are going to accept the blacks is to have to accept them within the family structure."

CONVERSATIONS VARY

Some of the conversations were volatile; some were dull and strained.

In the heated discussions, everyone — both black and white — seemed to be venting his feelings. The dull group was hesitant and conservative.

★ ★ ★

Paige said when he heard of groups that had slowed down or were dull, he sent in one of his staff members to "plant" conversations.

Witness Admits Drinking

PONTIAC (AP) — Attorneys defending Vito and Anthony Giacalone and four other men in an extortion conspiracy trial held temporarily in a Pontiac tuberculosis sanatorium sought Thursday to discredit a major prosecution witness who testified through a cloth surgical mask.

Three days of testimony taken in a makeshift courtroom in the basement of the Oakland County Sanatorium ended Thursday after defense attorneys got patient Edwin R. Scott, 36, of Warren to admit he had "five or six beers" prior to an alleged beating by two of the defendants.

Scott had testified Wednesday that James Karalla, Jr., 34, and Michael Katranis, 29, beat and kicked him on May 7, 1968, when he failed to make scheduled payments on four high-interest loans.

Katranis and Karalla are among six men charged with conspiracy to extort money at exorbitant rates using threats. The others include the Giacalone brothers, Clarence Stephans, 43, and Bernard Marchesani, 44.

Pageant, Parades, Fireworks in Rochester

Eight Festive Days to Highlight Centennial

ROCHESTER—One hundred years of incorporation will be celebrated by citizens of the Rochester area during a series of events beginning Sunday.

Rochester—which 152 years ago was one of the first settlements in Oakland County—was incorporated as a village in 1869. The centennial observance marking this milestone began last May and has generated scores of events since.

* * *

But the highlight of the birthday year will be eight days of festivities lasting from this Sunday through Sept. 14. There will be four nights of a historical pageant, two major parades, fireworks, displays and daily activities.

Work on the celebration began two years ago when City Councilman John Boeberitz was appointed president of the newly formed Rochester Community Centennial Commission. More than 100 people are working on committees, and one event alone—a huge outdoor pageant depicting the history of Rochester—has a cast of 250 citizens.

PAGEANT EVENINGS

The pageant will be held the evenings of Tuesday through Friday, Sept. 9-12, at the Rochester High School stadium, Walton and Livernois. Using the football field as the stage, the pageant will be a panorama of Rochester history, dating from the arrival of the first settlers in the spring of 1817 through the Civil War, the village incorporation, the coming of the railroad in the 1870s, until the present time.

The pageant, "Hills-a-Poppin," will begin with a half hour of entertainment at 8 p.m. each night. Fireworks will close each performance.

* * *

Although tickets will be on sale at the gate, there is a force of 46 young ladies busily selling advance tickets competing for the Centennial queen title. The champion seller will be crowned queen of the celebration.

The week will start this Sunday with Freedom of Religion Day. An interfaith service will inaugurate the celebration at 7 p.m. at the high school stadium with the Rt. Rev. Richard Emrich, bishop of the Episcopal diocese of Michigan, as speaker.

MILL DEDICATION

Also taking place Sunday will be the dedication of the Winkler Mill, a picturesque mill on Washington Road, northwest of Rochester. Dating back to pioneer days, the mill was recently designated as a historical site by the Michigan Historical Commission. The dedication starts at 1:30 p.m.

Downtown store windows will be judged Sunday for their historical displays.

Monday will be Government and Pioneer Day with city councilmen reenacting an old council meeting at 9 a.m., followed by a short parade through the downtown to officially open the council's celebration.

Tuesday is Education Day. The Michigan Bell's history of Michigan in paintings will be displayed in the overpass at the Senior High School, daily from 3-8 p.m. The Gingham Girls will have a fashion show, "The Century of Fashions," on Tuesday, modeling authentic period costumes.

LADIES' DAY

Wednesday is Commerce and Industry Day with exhibits. Ladies' Day is Thursday, Sept. 11. There will be a country store at the American Legion Hall, a quilt show at the Masonic Temple, a flower show at the Municipal Park Pavilion and a Belles Brunch at St. Andrew's Parish Hall.

On Friday armed forces exhibits will commemorate Veterans, Armed Forces and Fraternal Day.

* * *

Saturday, Sept. 13 is Youth Day, beginning with a parade for youngsters up to 14 years of age with their pets, dolls and bikes. The parade starts at 10:30 a.m. A "Battle of the Bands" will take place 4-6 p.m. downtown with winners playing for a rock 'n' roll street dance that night from 7-9 p.m.

For adults, there will be a Centennial Ball Saturday night at the Elks Lodge.

CARNIVAL, PARADE

From Tuesday through Sunday, a carnival will offer rides on a site located on the north side of E. University Drive.

Concluding the week will be a series of events on Sunday, Sept. 14. A Heritage Day Parade will start at 2:30 p.m. from the National Twist Drill and Control Data Corp. parking lots at Rochester and Tienken Roads. The two-hour-long parade will move down Main Street with floats, bands, thousands of marchers and units depicting phases of Rochester's growth.

* * *

Among the groups in the parade will be the Royal Canadian Legion Pipe Band and the 505th Air Force Band from Chanute Field, Ill. Both will play concerts following the parade. Just north of the carnival grounds, a Civil War shoot will take place after the parade. That night at 8, a free Variety Show with many types of entertainment will be held at the football field.

Wives of volunteer firemen, the Fire Belles, will serve a pancake breakfast on Sunday morning, Sept. 7, at the Hook and Ladder Room from 8 to 11 a.m.

Some 50 chapters of Centennial Belles have been active during the year, wearing their colorful costumes of the last century to civic and club events.

Their counterpart, the Brothers of the Brush, have large numbers sporting beard and moustache growths of all descriptions. Many of the costumed citizens have been taking part in promenades through downtown Rochester each Friday night and then form caravans to neighboring cities Saturday afternoons to advertise the upcoming celebration.

Pact Averts Teacher Strike

BIRMINGHAM — A contract settlement between the Birmingham Board of Education and the Birmingham Education Association (BEA) late yesterday afternoon headed off a teacher's strike today in the Birmingham School District.

Procedures on contract ratification are now being worked out. BEA members are expected to vote on the contract terms by Wednesday or Thursday of next week.

* * *

Birmingham teachers had voted on Wednesday not to return to classes today if contract terms were not finalized yesterday.

* * *

* * *

Under this clause, the Board of Education is compelled to dismiss any teacher who does not pay dues to the BEA. Currently, approximately 785 of the 940 member instructional staff belong to the BEA.

Terms on the other two unresolved issues — board grievance procedure and a no-strike — no sanctions clause — could not be learned.

Accord had been reached on salary terms and fringe benefits earlier in the week.

Rochester Nursery Sets Orientation

PONTIAC TOWNSHIP — Orientation for mothers of newly enrolled children at the Rochester Cooperative Nursery at St. Luke Methodist Church, 3980 Walton, will be 9 a.m. Tuesday, Sept. 9 for Group B and at 9 a.m. Wednesday for groups A and C.

Mothers will meet with the staff to discuss participation in the cooperative nursery.

Youth Is Killed on Troy Street; Driver Is Held

TROY — A Sterling Heights youth was killed last night on John R by a hit-run driver, according to Troy police.

Robert Lopp of 37155 Kirwood was dead on arrival at 11 p.m. at William Beaumont Hospital, Royal Oak.

Lopp and Donald Crosby of 2118 Isabelle, Troy, were walking northbound on John R near the Larchwood intersection when a car, traveling in the same direction, veered from its lane and hit Lopp, police said. Crosby was not injured.

* * *

A man, whose name is being withheld, said he was connected with the accident and turned himself in to Madison Heights police early this morning. He is being held in the Madison Heights Jail, awaiting transfer to Troy police later today.

Throughout the night police had been looking for a truck with one headlight out and the sideview mirror missing. Apparently, the unidentified man's truck fits this description.

Police Sift Business Dealings for Clues in Family Murders

ROYAL OAK (UPI) — Richard C. Robison, slain along with his entire family last summer in a remote northern Michigan cottage, was trying to find financing for a computerized multimillion-dollar purchasing business prior to his death, it has been revealed.

It was also reported that Robison, 42, of Lathrup Village was promoting a scheme to build an airport complex — a plan investiators says bears an "uncanny" resemblance to an airport formally proposed for Wixom.

The bodies of Robison, publisher of a slick entertainment magazine, his wife and four children, aged 12 to 19, were found in a summer cabin near the village of Good Hart, Emmett County, July 22, 1968. They had been dead for 28 days.

After more than a year of investigation police admit finding only a cold trail to the murders but say their investigation has spread to Robison's business dealings.

* * *

"We think the 'why' of the deaths is hidden somewhere in his business practices," said Lloyd Sterns, one of two detectives assigned by the State Police to the case.

* * *

According to reports, Sterns and John Flis, his partner, met Aug. 21 with the Oakland County Supervisors' airport committee to discuss similarities between Robison's airport plan and the one under study for Wixom.

"The plans were almost word for word alike . . . uncanny," Flis said.

The proposed Wixom Airport involved joint financing between two private firms and Oakland County. The private developers were identified as Asher N. Tilchin, a Southfield lawyer, and Aubrey Meyerson, a Detroit area restauranteur.

BRIBERY CHARGE

Meyerson was indicted by a grand jury in 1966 on charges of bribing a Royal Oak Township official. The case against him is still pending.

* * *

Tilchin said that similarities between their plan for Wixom and Robison's plan were "the most ridiculous thing I've ever heard. It's bizzare, the coincidence is remote."

Lake Orion Woman's Plight Points Up Housing Problem

'If I Could Feel Justified In Handling Only Tenant Cases, I Could Keep Busy Every Day Of The Week'

LAKE ORION — Decent housing is precious, while the Oakland County market is glutted with costly but poor housing and tenants who fear eviction at the slightest complaint.

In Lake Orion, Mrs. Betty Jean Jordan, is fighting in district court to stop an eviction, notice of which she received three days after moving into her apartment.

* * *

Mrs. Jordan's husband left her in January. She has five children. In March she gave birth prematurely and the infant died.

She moved into a flat at 210 N. Broadway last May. After she received the eviction notice nothing was done until early August when a formal complaint was issued against her. However, she was not served with an official court order to vacate.

EVICTION SET ASIDE

She went to the Oakland County Legal Aid Society in Pontiac. A lawyer requested 52nd District Court Judge Robert L. Shipper to set aside the eviction judgment. Mrs. Jordan must now file an answer to the landlord's charges before next Friday.

The landlord, H. W. Robinson of 1160 S. Lapeer Rd., could not be reached for comment.

* * *

"I have an older girl, 19, and 17-year-old twins," she said. "The landlord says there are always gangs of boys hanging around our place and that just isn't true."

A lawyer for Legal Aid said he thinks Mrs. Jordan is being treated "unfairly and arbitrarily." He added that such situations are typical throughout the county.

'OWNERS UNFAIR'

"This type of summary eviction procedure is practiced especially with the low- and middle-income groups," he said. "The owners are unfair and don't care to make any improvements in the buildings or even make any effort to keep it in repair.

"If I could feel justified in handling only tenant cases, I could keep busy every day of the week," he said.

* * *

Mrs. Jordan dosen't receive any state or county aid. She works a full shift, six days a week, as a housekeeper and cook at a local country club.

She also claims that her present landlord has given her a "bad name" with all the realty companies in the village. After she lists him on her application, the realtors call and he gives them a poor recommendation.

Besides that, where do you find a landlord that will rent to a woman with five growing children?

Same Story: No Road Funds

Telegraph Crisis Aired

By NED ADAMSON

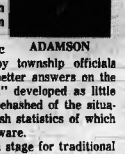
Township Hall.



ADAMSON

According to word from the State Highway Department, it is essentially final that little can be done at the state level toward beginning a proposed four lane widening project on Telegraph any sooner than 1973.

Yesterday's public forum, arranged by township officials "to provide some better answers on the Telegraph problem," developed as little more than a long rehashed of the situation, full of the harsh statistics of which everyone is well aware.

It also provided a stage for traditional oratory by "concerned" politicians, finger-pointing and buck-passing.

HIGHER PRIORITIES

The essence of the problem — a limitation of federal highway funds because of higher priorities in non-domestic matters, principally defense spending, was talked around but never brought out.

The natural tendency, seemingly, is that when a project is delayed because of money, accusations fly and speculation mounts as to why

* * *

The answer is simple in the Telegraph instance, federal priorities on non-domestic matters is putting a crimp on a public service. When this influence hits home as it has to residents here, the reaction is hunt a scapegoat.

And the scapegoat in this particular case is the State Highway Department, which cannot do justice to the Telegraph Road situation until it has the needed federal help.

LARGE ASSEMBLAGE

The large assemblage of merchants, residents and public officials came to hear if anything could be done to accelerate the project.

The audience also wanted to discover why a traffic menace of Telegraph's proportions has been so long delayed and why no attention other than "piecemeal" lane widening at various intersections and the installation of traffic lights has been given.

A panel of highway department officials, none of whom were reportedly in a decision-making capacity, State Rep. William P. Hampton, R-Bloomfield Hills, Oakland County Road Commission officials and Township Supervisor Homer Case presented the Telegraph story.

* * *

They could give no optimistic indications that anything could be done regarding moving up the 1973 construction date.

The stock answer to questions concerning the Telegraph dilemma is the same one that is applied to some other road problem crises in the state — the time-consuming process of bureaucratic procedure and limitation of funds.

THREE YEARS OFF

Highway department representatives said that it would take at least three years to complete only the right-of-way acquisition for the project. Federal subaldization cannot be available until this is done.

There is currently heavy speculation that federal highway spending will be cut sharply in the near future, which of course could mean even further delays in beginning the road construction project.

Seemingly no real solution to the Telegraph Road situation can be realized until federal spending becomes more balanced.

Rochester Okays Building Change

ROCHESTER — The City Commission approved an amendment to the general building regulations Monday night, raising charges on building permits with an added provision for cash deposits on all residential, commercial and industrial building sites.

The slight increase for permits will vary according to the type and size of building. A $50 minimum deposit, however, will be required for both residential and commercial building sites to insure proper maintenance and cleanup during construction.

School Election Oct. 13 in Almont

ALMONT — A special school millage election has been scheduled for Oct. 13 by the school district.

Four issues will be on the ballot: the renewal of 5 mills operating tax levy for five years, a request for 2 additional mills for three years (1970-72 and 1½ mills for a building and site fund to purchase mobile classrooms and equipment and for improvements on existing facilities.

Union, Rights Unit Plan Action

He's Jobless—but Not Hairless

By T. LARRY ADCOCK
Assistant City Editor-Suburban

TROY — David Garrett refused to alter his "Fu Mancha" mustache. He was fired yesterday morning as a result.

Garrett, 25, a 1½-year employe on the city's Department of Public Works (DPW), was given a pink slip by Assistant City Manager Pat Hynes.

* * *

Graham had complained by memo to Garrett that the mustache would "attract stares" and did not "reflect a neat and reasonable appearance."

Teaming up for Garrett's defense are his union — Local 574 of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employes AFL-CIO — and the American Civil Liberties Union (ACLU).

"I think chances are better than good that I'll return to my job (engineering assistant) with my mustache and sideburns intact," Garrett declared.

Next Tuesday, an executive session of the ACLU in downtown Detroit will consider action to aid Garrett's fight.

Garrett: Whisker Dismissal

"Both the union and the ACLU are interested in the case," Garrett said. "I don't think one will act without the other, out of courtesy. The combination of the two makes me confident that I'll win my case."

* * *

Still, Garrett anticipates a long battle — possibly to be settled in Oakland County Circuit Court.

Garrett, a veteran of the Marine Corps, is a night-school student in his junior year at Wayne State University where he is majoring in fine arts. He and his 21-year-old wife Dawn and their son Sterling, four months, live in Royal Oak. (Only department heads are required to live in Troy.)

* * *

Garrett assessed the firing as "ludicrous" and commented: "The contention by the city that I'm not neat and don't present a good appearance is a bunch of baloney."

Charger Prices Are Lowered

Chrysler Motors Corp.'s Dodge Division will feature a Charger lineup with lower price offerings in 1970 to enhance an automotive series Dodge officials rate an unqualified success.

"There is no doubt of Charger's popularity," said Robert B. McCurry, Dodge general manager.

"About the only way to improve it though was to lower the price. And this is what we have done for 1970. It took some rearranging, but we think the automotive consumer will like it."

★ ★ ★

Area dealers are; Hunter Dodge, 499 S. Hunter, Birmingham; Kessler Sales, 10 N. Washington, Oxford; Mike Canaan Motor City Dodge, 855 Oakland, Pontiac; and Lloyd Bridges Travelland, 1010 Maple, Walled Lake.

A new model added to the lineup will be called simply Charger. It will include a more modest trim package and offer a front bench seat as opposed to the fold-down armrest or bucket seat models. A 225-cubic-inch, Slant Six and a 318-cubic-inch V8 will be the standard six- and eight-bylinder engines.

The standard tunnel-roof Charger will be called Charger 500 in 1970.

Introduced in 1969, Charger Daytona has a tapered front end and is 18 inches longer than other Charger models. The high-performance model sports high fins and a stabilizer on the rear deck.

Another Charger model listed as a high performer is Charter R-T (road and track). It will feature distinctive paint striping, side scoop and the popular "Special Edition" decor package, with leather bucket seats and interior wood-grain treatment.

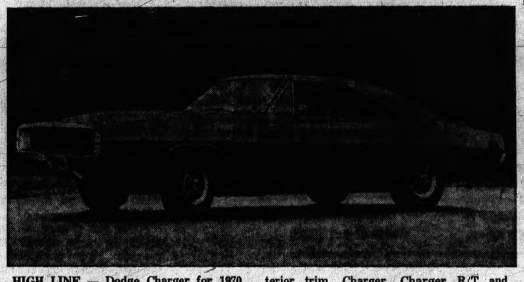
As an added styling touch, color-keyed bumpers will be offered as an option on 1970 models. This includes bright blue, dark green, and various new colors such as "Heml Orange," "Plum Crazy" and Banana."

Mechanical improvements and innovations for 1970 include improved disc brakes, steering wheel locking device, "rim blow" steering wheel, improved fuel tank impact protection and a low-ratio, more efficient rear axle.



HIGH LINE — Dodge Charger for 1970 will include a high-line car with bench seats and special interior ornamentations and exterior trim. Charger, Charger R/T and Charger Daytona will go on display in showrooms Sept. 25.

Sporty Luxury in Olds Lineup

The newest addition to the Oldsmobile model line for 1970 is the Cutlass Supreme Holiday Coupe, said John B. Beltz, a vice president of General Motors and general manager of Oldsmobile Division.

The distinctive car is designed to answer growing customer demand for sporty luxury in a personalized kind of automobile, Beltz said in his announcement today.

He said the new coupe and a companion convertible represent an important new element in Oldsmobile's 1970 intermediate lineup, complementing the 4-4-2 and Cutlass 'S' series, whose fast-back coupes have been Oldsmobile's most popular.

"These cars, too," Beltz said, "have been restyled to emphasize their youthful image to an even higher degree."

AREA DEALERS

"The successful look of elegance in our 88s and 98s, Beltz continued, "has been further enhanced in 1970 to make them even more appealing, and the Toronado has undergone the most extensive change in appearance since its introduction in 1965.

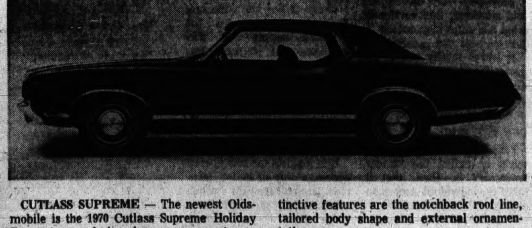
The Toronado is a sleeker looking automobile with a distinctive new shape to the wheel openings and a new front end, including a new grille and exposed headlamps.

In addition to the division's restyling program for the new model year, Oldsmobile reemphasized the introduction of several major engine advancements designed to curtail the need for service.

VALUE ROTATION

"Particularly important and exclusive to Oldsmobile in 1970 is the incorporation of a positive valve rotating system on all V8 engines, which extends valve life beyond anything available on today's passenger car engines," Beltz said.

In a major revision of available engines for 1970, Oldsmobile has introduced the 455-cubic-inch V8 as the 4-4-2's standard power plant. It replaces the 400-cubic-inch engine which is no longer required. The 455 will also be used as part of the performance option for the new Cutlass Supreme coupe and convertible.



CUTLASS SUPREME — The newest Oldsmobile is the 1970 Cutlass Supreme Holiday Coupe, a car designed to answer customer demand for sporty luxury automobiles. Distinctive features are the notchback roof line, tailored body shape and external ornamentation.

'Pontiac' Aids Study

The General Educational Development (GED) program sponsored jointly by the Pontiac Motor Division of General Motors Corp. and the Pontiac School District is further evidence of the growing concern on the part of industry for the educational advancement of its employes.

The GED program, geared to those who have not completed high school, covers two 15-week semesters with class attendance one day a week.

Available subjects include English, history, math, science and social studies. Those passing the GED completion test will be awarded certificates acceptable by many colleges and employers as equivalent to high school diplomas.

★ ★ ★

No corporation has shown a keener interest in the scholastic and mechanical development of its workers than General Motors. The establishment of the GM Institute in Flint in 1926, from which 8,800 students have graduated with bachelor's degrees, was a pioneer step providing cultural and automotive knowledge for its future scientists, engineers and executives.

★ ★ ★

We commend the Pontiac Division on its participation in an enlightened program of employe learning.

Those Things Are Hard To Figure Out!

Drew Pearson

The death of DREW PEARSON at 71 took from the American scene a journalist who for four decades periodically rocked Washington officialdom with his exposés while he himself was frequently embattled in sequences of charges and countercharges related to alleged machinations in other fields.

PEARSON

In contradiction to the sensationalism of his reportorial output, the personal demeanor of PEARSON, a Quaker and an active humanitarian, was one of graciousness and restraint.

★ ★ ★

A Washington observer during the terms of half a dozen presidents, he was frequently at personal odds with them and the object of their outspoken antipathy.

★ ★ ★

Although a countless number of libel suits were threatened or initiated against PEARSON for criminal or unethical implications of his revelations involving public and private figures, there was invariably a factual basis for them. To his credit, when one of his reports was proved erroneous, he made public retraction and apology.

★ ★ ★

There was little middle ground for the general reaction to DREW PEARSON. It was either loudly pro or eloquently anti. But, good or bad, he left a deep impression on the journalism and public opinion of his times, and his daring pursuit of the news will be long remembered.

Lunar Dust Found Fertile

Space officials report that plant seedlings and cells exposed to moon dust brought back by the Apollo 11 astronauts are showing "unexpected responses."

Far from being diseased, the plants are slightly, but definitely, greener and huskier than the same plants being grown in an ordinary environment.

Some scientists believe that water could be manufactured from hydrogen and oxygen found in lunar rocks. Would it not be ironic if the barren moon, whose exploration so many people oppose as a waste of money that could be better spent on earth, became in some future century the earth's greenhouse, feeding the world's teeming billions?

It makes much more sense, of course, to attempt to stabilize the population and to improve agriculture right here on earth. But NASA's moon-struck plantlings are one more illustration that we never know what totally unexpected discoveries lie behind the doors forced open by science and technology.

David Lawrence Says:

Federal Anticrime Role Limited

WASHINGTON—Within the last few days, riots have broken out in a number of American cities. It is a recurrence of the wave of violence that has swept the country in recent years. A number of fatalities have resulted.

LAWRENCE

This week in Hartford, Conn., there was disorder for the second time in less than three months. Gangs again looted and burned scores of businesses as they did in early June.

★ ★ ★

In Fort Lauderdale, Fla., violence erupted, and police units were moved in to try to stop the sniping, vandalism and arson.

Similar outbreaks, involving shooting, rock-throwing and the tossing of firebombs, were reported this week in Dayton, Ohio, Parkesburg, Pa., Camden, N.J., and Charlotte, N.C.

There seems to be an erroneous impression generally that all this, as well as campus disorders, can be stopped only by the federal government.

However, the main responsibility still rests with the states, cities and counties.

The chief weapon of the national government against "crime in the streets," as set up by a 1968 statute, is the "law enforcement assistance administration."

Funds are granted to the states by this agency to upgrade law enforcement through modern equipment, the training of police, and new methods of apprehending criminals.

Atty. Gen. John Mitchell also has declared that legislation to give the federal government a more active role in enforcing local anticrime laws is not necessary. He feels that the job is really up to the governors, mayors and heads of local governments throughout the country.

President Nixon during his campaign last year placed emphasis on the issue of law and order. But the intention was not to take over the responsibilities of local governments. Rather the idea was to help local law enforcement through money or crime-detection facilities and training.

The responsibility for preserving law and order remains in the states. There is no official in the federal government who can bring about "law and order" in the United States.

Nor can the problem, which has been too long neglected, be solved by attempting to shift the responsibility away from the states.

The Constitution limits the jurisdiction of the federal government as to crime. Federal laws provide for prosecution in cases of counterfeiting, bribery of federal officers, espionage, treason and certain crimes carried on across state lines.

Combating violence and disorder, however, on the streets of the cities is still primarily the responsibility of state and local governments.

More Research Dollars Might Cut Storm Toll

By RAY CROMLEY
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — The tragedy of Hurricane Camille is that maybe — just maybe — the loss of life and property did not have to be as bad as it was if more funds had been spent on some highly profitable areas of space and other weather-related research these past few years.

CROMLEY

We are talking now of a few million dollars a year — not billions.

It is already clear that the payoff would have been great in everyday savings to farmers, to industry, to commerce, shipping and to the ordinary citizen. The saving in hurricane damage would have been an extra bonus.

There are three areas in which this failure to spend a little more may have cost us heavily in lives and dollars in the Camille devastation and will cost us more in other natural disasters to come:

● The earth applications program of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. Strangely enough, here is an area Congress has wanted to spend more than NASA. Some representatives have been highly critical of the space agency for going ahead too slowly in this field the past few years. The budgets of this program have been cut heavily by NASA before being sent to Capitol Hill.

In this program, now getting under way at a reasonable pace, satellites are to be used for a wide range of observations, including studies on storms and floods.

● Studies on what other countries are doing in critical areas of research, including weather, storms, fog and floods.

The Soviet Union, for example, is doing some excellent work in this field.

The United States does spend money in this field of finding what other countries are doing . . . but not enough, considering the gold mine it can be.

● The use of foreign funds the United States has accumulated abroad through the aid program. These funds are not convertible into dollars. Some, but not enough, of these foreign currencies are being used to employ foreign scientists (in their own countries) for research into weather and a wide range of other relevant scientific problems.

Highly-skilled scientists in a number of countries overseas are available at costs significantly lower than are men of comparable ability in the United States. The funds are essentially blocked — so in any event are not convertible for use in the United States.

● Finally, and most significantly, the funding of research on weather control in U.S. science laboratories has not been as great as the potential payoffs in the saving in lives, crops, homes, buildings and business and transportation waste would warrant.

System Isn't to Blame for Social Ills

By BRUCE BIOSSAT
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — The critics and would-be reformers of American society — not to mention its would-be destroyers — find rich grounds for complaint in the impersonality which has blanketed life in this era of vast corporate and bureaucratic bigness. But the impersonality is blamed for too much.

BIOSSAT

If automobile safety is the issue, Ralph Nader's Raiders manage to suggest that responsibility for our frightening highway death tolls lies almost wholly with the corporate motoring giants in Detroit.

★ ★ ★

If air and water pollution are the issue, again nearly the entire load of blame is laid upon the impersonal corporation or, in occasional circumstances, the government's military emplacements near lakes and rivers.

Crusty college administrations are blamed for the seeming inhumanity which has engulfed universities as they have grown massively into "multiversities."

RACIAL STRIFE

Cities are held peculiarly responsible for major aspects of poverty and the increasingly bitter racial struggle which scars this country's life today.

Unhappily for the critics and attackers, this version of what ails American society is just too neat and comfortable.

It leaves totally out of account the American individual, who is freer to do both good and bad things than he has ever done before.

OFF THE HOOK

The trouble with what might be called the "Nader syndrome" is, then, that it takes the individual American completely off the hook.

Whatever is wrong—highway fatalities, pollution, poverty, discrimination, overcrowded schools—is the fault of immense impersonal forces operating somehow outside the human framework and "against the people."

The truth is that we are all responsible for the dilemmas of this age.

The assault on "the system" is a massive cop-out. It frees the ordinary American, young or old, of responsibility for the compounding individual errors which contribute so heavily to the great problems we face.

Moreover, the assault is misleading. The errors within "the system" are also individual human mistakes.

POSSIBLY MORE

If the critics and attackers suddenly replaced the "faceless agents" of corporation and bureaucracy, they would commit at least as many mistakes and possibly more.

The impersonality of life is not just an affliction to be genuinely deplored.

It is a shield for soft-fibered people, a way of hiding from the human frailties which mark us all, of dodging the tough work of real human betterment.

Courtesy of Young Girl Appreciated by Volunteer

It was delightful and surprising to receive courtesy and regard from a young girl (a stranger) on a hot afternoon after I had climbed many flights of stairs as I made my last volunteer call. This young lady asked me into her apartment, brought me a glass of cold pop and chatted with me about being new in Pontiac and about her job in a General Motors office. I felt that it was all worthwhile just because of the thoughtfulness above and beyond the call of formal politeness on the part of a young person.

We at Pontiac State Hospital appreciated the story Dick Robinson wrote about Mrs. Gertrude Ellis, a grand lady, and a psychiatric attendant nurse at the hospital. Writer Tells of Damage to Credit Standing

Why is it a credit bureau can damage one's credit standing without thoroughly investigating the facts? My ex-wife left me with debts that I had no knowledge of until I was served with notices from the courts. Under our democratic system, it is my right to contest these in court, which I did. When applying for credit at stores and other firms I am told that I am denied credit due to the fact that I have been sued for past accounts. Is this justice and in the best interest of our way of life? I could see this defamation if these bills were incurred by me, but they were not. The ex-wife who established these debts under my name can remarry and her credit status is rosy.

'Waterford Should Be Proud of Team'

I don't think the majority of people living in Waterford realize what a tremendous group of young men we have. The Waterford American Legion Post 377 baseball team took district championship, won a zone title in Owosso, and then swept the State championship in Midland without a loss. After becoming State champions they gained the privilege of traveling to Bowling Green, Ohio, to represent Michigan in the regional tournament.

★ ★ ★

The players on Waterford's team played outstanding baseball and Michigan should be proud. Even more, Waterford should be proud because a team from our small community beat the state of Minnesota and the the state of Pennsylvania, and helped to put our home town on the map.

Question and Answer

Could you please tell us why General Telephone has a toll on calls from Highland to Drayton Plains and not to Pontiac? Is there a chance this will be eliminated and, if so, how soon? Could you please answer this in the paper as soon as you can?

A. S. A.

REPLY

We recently ran the answer to your question, but we'll repeat it for those who missed it. General Telephone says there is not sufficient number of calls to that area to warrant toll-free service. If and when the volume increases, it will be considered.

Question and Answer

Can you tell me and a lot of other shoppers if it's legal for a store to run an ad in the paper and not have the merchandise in the store? I can understand shipments not arriving, but when one store in a chain is consistently out of items advertised, and the rest of the stores have it, it makes you wonder.

IRATE SHOPPER

REPLY

Stores are supposed to have sufficient quantities of the advertised merchandise to supply a reasonable demand immediately following the advertised offer. Any complaints can be filed with the Federal Trade Commission, or you can call The Pontiac Press advertising department and they will file the complaint for you.

Election System

Chicago Sun-Times

Americans should never forget the frightening hours they experienced the night of Nov. 5, 1968.

That was the night they had real cause to fear that neither Richard M. Nixon nor Hubert Humphrey had been elected President earlier that day. The vote had been so close and so complicated by the 10,000,000 votes cast for George Wallace that the election might have been thrown into the House of Representatives for a decision two months later.

That next morning, the nation could breathe easier. Mr. Nixon had won a clear cut majority in the electoral college. But, in the words of Sen. Birch Bayh (D-Ind.), the citizens had had a near brush with catastrophe.

A bill to elect the President by popular vote is nearing a House vote. The Senate Judiciary Committee has the matter on its agenda for September.

The Sun-Times long has been in favor of the direct election of the President. The 150-year-old electoral system in which the winner of a plurality in a state takes all the state's electoral votes is outdated, undemocratic and has potential for political corruption.

The winner in the electoral college is not necessarily the popular choice of the nation. The states are unequally represented; in Alaska one electoral vote represents 75,000 persons while in California it represents 400,000.

The system makes it possible for third party electors to make deals with a major party in a close election, a possibly Wallace was counton it in 1968.

The House is expected to approve the popular plan. The Senate committee appears to be divided between it and two plans that would retain the electoral college but change the method of choosing electors. One would divide each state's electors according to popular vote.

The other would elect two at large and the rest by districts. Either would still permit the winner of the popular vote to lose in the electoral college as almost happened in 1960 and 1968.

President Nixon favors the proportional plan because he believes the popular plan could not get the three-fourths vote of state legislatures necessary for a Constitutional amendment.

Most of the citizens favor the popular vote plan. The Gallup Poll shows 81 per cent favor direct election of the President. The Harris Poll shows 73 per cent. A poll of 4,000 state legislators by Sen. Robert P. Griffin (R-Mich.) showed 64 per cent in favor. A survey of 27 legislatures showed only two — Idaho and North Dakota — opposed.

Hughes Taking Up Mining in Nevada

RENO, Nev. (AP) — Billionaire Howard Hughes has tripled his holdings in Nevada gold and silver mining claims, and new records show he is exploring the ground in search of mineral wealth.

Hughes has at least 1,655 claims on mines that produced Nevada's boom era and on untapped ground that geologists call "target areas" for prospectors.

A record number of "Proof of Labor" documents—required by law—were filed this week by Hughes with the county recorder at Austin, a one-time silver mining town of 400 in central Nevada.

★ ★ ★

They show Hughes paid $2.9 million last May for 1,178 claims in an area that State Mine Inspector Mervin Gallagher says has "real potential." Two mines that Gallagher calls very successful are pulling what miners call "invisible gold" out of the area's rocky soil.

NEW METHOD

Milling with cyanide dissolves the precious metal out of ore that would have been discarded as too low in value before modern methods and high gold prices made it attractive.

Hughes' filings say his crews are taking core samples and stripping away topsoil looking for ore veins.

"He's certainly going after it and tests have indicated there's gold there," says Gallagher. "They have the technical people and resources. If there is any possibility of putting mining claims into operation, they're the people who could do it."

The first Hughes claims—477—were recorded 16 months ago.

Public records in the nine counties where Hughes has filed claims show he has invested millions in mining.

Hughes, who has bought six Las Vegas hotels and casinos and uncounted real estate since moving to Nevada in 1966, is now trying to buy Air West, a regional airline, for $94.6 million.

Federal law requires statements of continued work on certain claims, and the documents filed in Austin by a Hughes aide say $120,000 was spent last month exploring claims in that county alone.

His Hughes Tool Co. and other firms have claims in an arc which cuts a swath from the once-booming silver mines around Tonopah in the west, north through the Comstock, across the top of the state and down along the Utah border near Ely.

They make Hughes one of the state's biggest mining claim holders, according to the Nevada State Mining Association, which Hughes joined.

Bank Robbers 'Slowpokes'; Caught in Act

COLUMBUS, Ga. (AP) — It took four bandits only 17 seconds to rob a bank, but that was too long.

Police converged on the scene from their station a few blocks away Thursday and captured three men in a gun battle.

The fourth man escaped.

Police said all the $17,834 loot was recovered.

One of those arrested, Bobby Harrison, 27, was wounded in the shoulder. Also arrested were Billie Ralph Holloway, 33, and Donald Eugene Smith, 25.

Police Maj. M. J. Alligood said police were alerted when an alarm operated from the bank rang at headquarters.

'Nixon Still Stalls on Urban Ills Policy'

ROCKPORT, Mass. (AP) — An expert on civil disorder said today racial tensions across the nation seem to be simmering while potential militants await policy actions by the Nixon administration.

Dr. John P. Spiegel, director of Brandeis University's Lemberg Center for the Study of Violence, said, "Right now, I would describe the situation as a holding operation. Nixon has been moving so slowly that both black and white people still have a 'wait and see' attitude.

"It is not clear whether he is going to take action that will relieve the problems of the cities, whether he's going to take no action, or take action that will make those problems worse," his summer home.

"At some point, this 'wait and see' attitude will come to an end, and if there has been really no improvement, then things may begin to get worse.

"We know that young people in black communities and white communities are heavily armed. I don't regard that as reassuring."

Spiegel said this summer's domestic unrest apparently has shown "a relative coolness" compared to two summers ago, or April of last year when rioting followed the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. But he added that his center's compilation of data for this year is still incomplete.

"My impression is that if you take June, July and August of this year, and compare it with the same months last year, it will be the same, both in numbers and severity of incidents," he said.

"To try to put it into perspective, this summer has not been free of disturbances, and the number of disturbances that have occurred are indications of continued unrest and unsolved problems."

NEED REASSURANCE

Asked whether pressure to solve urban problems would intensify in the event of a major de-escalation of the Vietnam war, Spiegel said:

"People are fairly realistic about the time that is going to be needed after Vietnam. But they need some reassurance, which President Nixon hasn't given yet, that there will be an increased effort to relieve the problems of the city."

The Lemberg Center is examining the role of the media in reporting racial incidents, he said, and has found that "all summer, the disturbances have been buried on the inside pages."

"I think there is a policy of media restraint," Spiegel said. "It may well be that this policy of restraint is responsible for the disorders that have occurred not getting more escalated."

'Jetport Site Near Everglades Is Nixed'

MIAMI (AP) — President Nixon was reported today to have ruled out construction of a jetport that conservationists feared would ruin the Everglades National Park.

A spokesman at the Western White House in San Clemente, Calif., said he knew nothing of such a decision. But the Miami Herald quoted Nathanial P. Reed, Gov. Claude Kirk's conservation aide, as saying the report was true.

Earlier, newscaster Walter Cronkite of the Columbia Broadcasting System said it had been learned that the site 45 miles west of Miami and nine miles north of the park would be abandoned.

* * *

Cronkite said Kirk planned to meet with Transportation Secretary John Volpe and Interior Secretary Walter Hickel and announce the designation of a new site Thursday.

The governor's press secretary confirmed that Kirk was trying to arrange a meeting with the two federal officials, but declined to comment on what they would discuss.

* * *

The Herald said Reed disclosed that the decision to give up the original site came after a study made by Dr. Luna Leopold, a Department of the Interior scientist, reached the White House.

There's something for everyone at the Bloomfield Antique Fair in Cranbrook Auditorium. C. E. James of the Shop of Antiquity on Highland Road displays tools from many eras, fascinating to home tinkerers. He's holding a curved-bladed gouge that might have been used to carve things like the maple sugar mold in his other hand.

A very old rag doll borrowed from Daisy Dowling of Troy illustrates what must be one of the earliest convertible high chairs. Its wooden wheels probably restricted its use to indoor stroll-

Children Behave as They Have Been Taught

By ELIZABETH L. POST
of the Emily Post Institute

This letter, chosen as the letter-of-the-week states its case beautifully. I can only ask that any of you who regularly take your children with you when you visit ask yourselves whether you—or they—are as offensive as those described below.

★ ★ ★

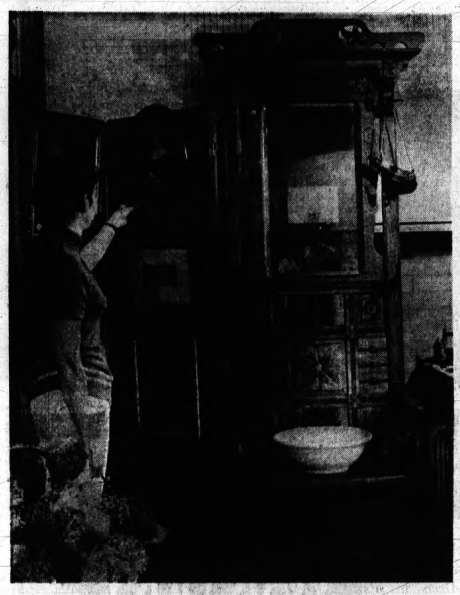
Many parents who would never allow their children to behave so badly at home shirk their responsibility in their friend's homes. Today we do not believe that children should be "seen and not heard" but neither do we believe they should be allowed to run wild.

★ ★ ★

Dear Mrs. Post: We have a new baby at our house, consequently we receive many visitors. We love having visitors but we become very distressed when their children run loose and proceed to investigate the entire house. They walk in and out of every room, whether or not doors are closed, go into drawers, and get into everything.

★ ★ ★

We understand that young children are naturally curious, but there is no excuse for the school-age child to behave in such a fashion. In any case, the parents are responsible for checking their children's behavior, even if their leisure and relaxation is disrupted doing so.



The uncluttered look of today's furniture rates second in practicality to this Victorian hall-tree. Under its lift-up seat, the galoshes were stashed out of sight. Visitors could check their appearance, sit to await their host's appearance, and hang their wraps. Mrs. John McHugh of Lathrup Village examines the wares from Antiques by Annis of Troy.

By SHIRLEY GRAY

The fall season all of a sudden is full upon us. A pair of parties this post-Labor Day weekend neatly marks the start of the new season.

★ ★ ★

On Saturday Mr. and Mrs. Henry Johnson of Bloomfield Hills will honor the departing Jim Hicks and his bride, the former Mary Ellen Mead, at a black-tie dinner in their home. The Hickses leave next week for Louisville, where Jim takes up managerial duties with the Louisville Symphony Orchestra.

On the same evening, William and Bette Lou Shaw will open their Bloomfield Hills home to friends for a fun evening.

The very full day was presided over by district president, Mrs. Phillip R. Flanders of Bloomfield Hills, who is starting her fourth year in the top post.

Mr. and Mrs. James R. Jenkins of Bloomfield Hills are back from a wide-ranging tour by van of several of our western attractions, including Disneyland, Grand Canyon, Zion National Park, Denver and Las Vegas, plus the impressive Air Force Academy at Colorado Springs.

The kids were with them, of course, Rick, 16; Bill, 13 and Kathy, 10.

The only high spot Mrs. Jenkins missed was Pike's Peak. She gets height-fright, so hubby drove up by himself.

Mr. and Mrs. Denton Anderson of Bloomfield Hills had an unexpected, but most welcome, house guest over the holiday. Masaya Ikemoto of Kyoto, Japan, an old friend, happened to be in New York and happened to call the Andersons and, well, it turned out to be a pleasant, if short, visit.

Hubby Takes Advantage of More Than Job Offer

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My faithful husband of 12 years moved to California to take advantage of a job offer. I stayed behind to sell our house and pack up before joining him June 1st.

★ ★ ★

When I was unable to reach him by phone well past midnight, he told me (the following day) that he had dinner at the apartment of a young divorcee with whom he was working. He assured me it was strictly platonic as she was engaged to a man in Chicago. It upset me terribly, and I asked him please not to do it again. He promised he wouldn't.

★ ★ ★

I have now joined him in California. We were invited immediately to the home of the bride and groom of one week for dinner. I was told it would be a casual evening and to wear slacks. When I arrived, the hostess was elegantly attired in a gown more appropriately suited for an Academy Award presentation. She addressed me only once during the evening — to tell me I reminded her of her "older" sister because of the bags under my eyes (I am six years her senior.)

★ ★ ★

Anyway, I told my husband I didn't care to see this couple again. He said I was "foolish" — then our phone bill arrived showing that my husband had called me several times (while I was still in Colorado) from HER apartment, after promising he wouldn't see her again. Abby, I am furious.

I told him I didn't want him working with her anymore, and I gave him two weeks to tell her to find employment elsewhere — or I am leaving.

Please tell me if I am a jealous fool, or if you think I have grounds for such drastic action?

NO NAME PLEASE

DEAR NO NAME: I think you're "jealous" — and you have a right to be. But you're no fool

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: Four years ago I was so much in love with a 16-year-old girl I thought I couldn't live without her. I tried to talk her into marrying me, but fortunately, she was smarter than I was and told me I would have to wait.

She was still in school and I was in the service. We had no money and a lot to learn, and now I realize that if we had married then we'd probably be divorced by now.

She told me that she wanted us both to live a little and find out who we were and what we wanted out of life before jumping into marriage.

Since then I have completed college through the service and she has completed two years of business school. I've been working for two years now and she has been working for a year and a half.

Together we have saved $10,000 and we both have our own cars completely paid for. We each live in apartments with our own friends. She wanted to be completely on her own so she couldn't say that first she was under her parents' rule and then under her husband's.

We plan to be married tomorrow. I really don't think I am going to get any sleep tonight, but I just had to tell someone that the 16-year-old girl I once loved is now a 20-year-old woman I love much more.

I know this is long, but if you print it it might encourage kids who think they have to get married right away to wait. We did. And it was worth it.

BRIDEGROOM

WASHINGTON (AP) — A government advisory panel says the benefits from oral contraceptives still outweigh the risks, despite new proof of danger from blood clots.

The committee of 14 physicians Thursday submitted its second report to the Food and and Drug Administration since 1966 on the status of "The Pill."

The committee chairman, Dr. Louis M. Hellman of New York City, said the panel's message to the eight million American Women using the pill is similar to the one in 1966: "The light is still yellow—caution."

The report's chief conclusion: "When the potential hazards and the values of the drugs are balanced, the committee finds the ratio of benefit to risk sufficiently high to justify the designation safe ..."

"There is no effective drug on the market that doesn't have serious adverse side affects associated with it," Ley added.

Hellman said evidence has mounted in the past three years on links between oral contraceptives and such diseases as cancer, diabetes and high blood pressure. But definitive proof is missing, he said.

The committee, however, did cite an investigation by one of its task forces as establishing that oral contraceptives cause blood clots in some women.

The task force found that among 175 matched pairs of women, pill users were 4.4 times more likely to suffer blood clots than those not taking the pill.

In turn, those women using sequential preparations ran a higher risk of clots than women using combined oral contraceptives.

The sequential compounds use estrogen alone for part of the menstrual cycle then add a second hormone for the remainder. The combination preparations contain the two hormones at all times.

The task force report supported earlier findings by British investigators.

Because of the blood-clot problem, pill users are 3 per cent more likely to die between the ages of 15 and 44 than women who use other means of contraception, the committee said.

Clots can be fatal when they lodge in such vital organs as the lung, heart and brain.

The committee said the pill's great benefit is this: it is from twice to 30 times more effective than other contraceptive devices such as diaphrams and foams.

Hellman said oral contraceptives should not be used—or used cautiously—by women who have: existing vein disease; family history of cancer or breast disease; sexual problems; high blood pressure; headaches or weight gain following pill use.

CERRITOS, Calif. (AP) — The nation's first lady, nearing the end of her family's California vacation, planned to take part today in the dedication of "Pat Nixon Park" on a 400-acre site surrounding her girlhood home.

Cerritos, 48 miles northwest of San Clemente, where the Nixon's have their summer home, was part of the township of Artesia when the former Patricia Ryan lived there from 1914 to 1930. It subsequently became a separate community—first called Dairy Valley and later Cerritos.

The Ryan home, including 4.4 acres of land, was sold to the city for $140,000 by Tom Ryan of Glendale, one of Mrs. Nixon's two brothers.

The house itself will be turned into a children's museum and library and the park will be a playground.

Wife Is Pianist's Great Asset

NEW YORK (AP) — When Mrs. Artur Rubinstein talks about her husband, she travels gracefully between laughter and tears, between rapt attention and distant star-gazing.

Happy or pensive, she is talking about love.

"We share so much, we have this communion," she says of her life with the world-famous pianist.

"If I'm not there in the concert hall with him, it's a waste. He has to have me so that he can say afterwards, 'Look, see how I did.'

"He knows that when I'm in the hall I listen 250 per cent," she explains. "Nothing gets wasted. Even if he changes a note, I hear it—and I've heard every composition dozens of times."

Her hands, garnished simply with a gold wedding band and solitaire diamond ring, play nervously with a gold chain necklace.

YOUNG LOOKING

Her china-doll skin, etched only slightly by the years and framed by her wavy ash-blonde hair, belies her 60 years. Rubinstein is 80.

"We are married for 37 years and I am so content," she says in her still-thick Polish accent. "It has been hectic, happy, interesting, sometimes strenuous, sometimes tiring, but never boring. No, never boring."

★ ★ ★

The Polish-born musician has been performing for devoted audiences around the world since adolescence. A television network special based on his personal and professional life will be aired tonight.

Rubinstein met his wife, the former Aniela ("Nela") Mlynarski, in Poland in 1926. She was the daughter of a conductor.

GLAMOROUS

She says "He had this aura of glamor—like the teen-agers today who grab the shoes off a singer. Already then—there was sort of an electric atmosphere when people knew Rubinstein was coming to town."

Today, she offers some insight into what it means to be married to an artist.

"You have to be more sensitive, more understanding, less egocentric than some women are," Mrs. Rubinstein advises. "You have to sacrifice a little bit of your own ego for your husband."

The tone switches to thoughtfulness, and deep passion.

CHILD-LIKE

"But, he needs lots of love. Artists, even though they are famous, are very vulnerable. There's a little bit of the child in them."

Then, more slowly, eyes brimming with tears: "They do need love."

When their two sons and two daughters were growing up, she tried to divide her time between them and traveling with her husband. Now that the four are in their 20s or 30s, she travels extensively with Rubinstein.

With a home in Spain, an apartment in Paris, former dwellings in New York and Los Angeles and an apartment being completed in Geneva, it is with some relief that Mrs. Rubinstein can say:

"Everywhere we go, I feel at home."

Knit 1969 Style Into Long Lean Sweaters

By JUDY LOVE
NEA Service

Sweathers are taking off in a new design direction for fall. They're longer, skinnier, and — like the two I'm showing — styled with built-in slimming power.

The extra inches in sweater length add up to a lean look, and row after row of verticle ribbing accent the positive — a sleeker you!

The ribbed columns on both sweaters are well-spaced, making them all the more dramatic and slenderizing. Tiny brass-colored buttons on one topper serve as a frame for extra rows of ribbing on the bodice.

This smartly tailored pullover knits up quickly for sizes 10-18 in Columbia Minerva's Nantuk knitting yarn.

A wool and Shetland yarn is used to knit the second pullover. Its straight verticle ribbing detours at the bodice to form a lattice work pattern. Knit this trim topper in sizes 10-16.

A leaflet of knitting instructions for both sweathers is available.

For your copy, send 50 cents to Stitchin' Time, care of The Pontiac Press, P. O. Box 503, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to ask for leaflet S174 and include your name, address and zip code.

KIT KNACKS

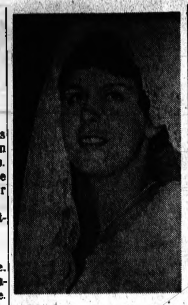
Dear Judy — My completed sweaters and dresses all have a small point at the two sides of the sleeve cap top. What can I do to correct this? — L. J.

Dear L. J. — Most likely those troublesome points are formed by the traditional method of binding off. Next time you reach that stage of knitting, try this:

★ ★ ★

Instead of binding off all the stitches on the last row, bind off half of them on one row and the other half on the return row. This should round off the top of the cap. Also, the ending thread will be at the exact center of the cap — which should help you fit the sleeve into the armhole. — Judy.

Longer, vertically ribbed sweaters for fall have built-in slimming power. Knitting instructions for both pullovers are available.



MRS. J. M. MURPHY

Candlelight for Wedding

A reception in Waltz Hall followed the candlelight wedding ceremony of Rita Marie Zimmerman and John Michael Murphy. The couple exchanged vows Aug. 29 in St. Michael's Catholic Church.

The bride chose a gown of lace with organza. She carried a bouquet of carnations for her marriage to the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas L. Murphy of Tyrone Street.

Mrs. David A. Bertucci and Janice K. Zimmerman were matron and maid of honor, respectively, for their sister. They are the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Zimmerman of North Johnson Street.

Coast Woman Will Celebrate 106th Birthday

FALLBROOK, Calif. (AP) — Anna James was 2 when the Civil War ended. The world is growing old, but not Mrs. James.

She entertained "the old folks" at a convalescent home when she was 85.

She played the role of a grandmother in a play when she was 94.

At 100, she lived alone in her own home, doing most of the housework and gardening.

"I remember when she first came to California in 1932," says her daughter, Mrs. Howell Adams. "She was 61 then and looked smashing in a red dress she knitted herself."

106 YEARS OLD

Today she lives with Mrs. Adams and her other daughter, Edith Grover. A family dinner is planned Saturday, two days before Mrs. James observes her 106th birthday and an open house at the Grover home is set for Sunday.

Mrs. James' husband died in 1918 and she never remarried.

Girls' School Togs Feature Favorites in Several Styles

The peasant print, the jumper, and the quilted cotton are the most noteworthy trends in children's back-to-school styles.

Many times all three looks are combined in one outfit. The stylized flower print — a peasant pattern much in evidence for fall — often is quilted and jumpered in flared A-line shapes so flattering to little girls.

New quilted cotton jumpers are usually worn with fresh white cotton blouses. To further the "country airs" of new quilted jumper, its companion blouse is trimmed with bright ribbons of cotton rick rack, stitched down the long sleeves and around the ruffled collar.

You will find it handy to make a few of your pot holders like padded pockets. These give more protection to the hands when draining steaming pans, or for removing hot dishes from the oven.

Fresher Flowers

You can use short-stemmed flowers in a vase by slipping the stems of the flowers into paper drinking straws and adjusting to the desired length. The flowers will last longer than if wired.

To give mashed potatoes a lift, add sour cream along with the regular seasoning, then whip vigorously.

Detroit Miss Title Winner in Contest

ASBURY PARK, N.J. (AP) — Shirley Washington, the 19-year-old Miss Black Michigan, won the Miss Black America title here amid a scene emphasizing African tradition and glamour.

Miss Washington is a 5-foot-3, 115-pound free-lance model. She measures 36-22-36. She has entered eight beauty contests and was a winner in five. Most recently she was runner-up for the Miss Michigan State Fair 1969 title.

She was crowned here while seated on a leopard skin throne and applauded by the audience, the bulk of which were African styled garments.

★ ★ ★

The three-day pageant was the first of its kind sponsored by a New Jersey group led by Evan Dessaus of Newark. Miss Washington was one of three contestants taking part. The others were Miss Black New Jersey, Madeline Wilson of Union, and Miss Black Georgia, TeCora Thomas of Atlanta.

With her title, Miss Washington wins a $1,000 scholarship, $1,000 in "Career Awards," and a trip to the Caribbean. As a part of displaying her talents she did a creative African dance while barefoot.

For frivolous fall afternoons wear red and green Art-Deco in a movey skirt and cardigan costume by Patti Capalli for Addenda. The jaunty red cap, extra long fringed scarf and turtle neck sweater swing easily from football game to dinner to the theater. The bag is a soft red velvet envelope all tied up in twisted red and green passamenterie cording. A simple knot or two in the delicate ropework changes the bag from a maxi to a mini.

Picture Pretty

MILTON-FREEWATER (AP) — Justice of the Peace Sam Dodd thought he had heard all the excuses for persons not turning in their out-of-state drivers licenses. Then a woman appeared before him who said she had not surrendered her out-of-state license because the color photograph on it "was the best she ever had" and she did not want to part with it.

Remove All Odor

After you have peeled onions under running water, and while the hands are still wet, rub them well with table salt. Then wash and dry them in the usual manner. There will be no odor on your hands.

In Congress

Meat Is Lean, High on the Hog

WASHINGTON (AP) —Congressmen shouldn't be eating "high on the hog" in their own restaurant if that means having a high cholesterol diet.

This was the message delivered by the wives of some congressmen to an Appropriation subcommittee in charge of the restaurant in the House of Representatives.

Three spokesmen for the Democratic Congressional Wives Forum appeared at a subcommittee meeting to put in their recommendation that the restaurant hire a dietitian who will look for good buys in food and veto menus with high cholesterol.

* * *

Mrs. Lee H. Hamilton, wife of a representative from Indiana, made the case for a dietitian who would see that the right fats are used and the excess skimmed off.

The stresses you are under do put you in a position to where the men are more susceptible to heart problems," she said. "The cholesterol does have an important influence on this."

Mrs. Charles A. Vanik, wife of an Ohio representative, backed her up: "This is a unique type of body where there are many tensions and pressures. We can't change that ... We can hope to at least affect the choice of foods."

The restaurant, which regularly runs a deficit made up by appropriations, has long been a sensitive subject with members. When the deficit threatened to approach $500,000, a Select Committee on the House Restaurant was set up, headed by Rep. John C. Kluczynski, D-Ill., who operates a restaurant in Chicago.

* * *

Kluczynski and subcommittee chairman George W. Andrews, D-Ala., said the restaurant has special problems because it doesn't serve hard liquor and does nearly all its business at lunch time.

It was Andrews who remarked "there is no reason why members and other patrons shouldn't eat 'high on the hog' so to speak, down there in the restaurant at reasonable prices."

Mrs. Hamilton was quick to speak up: "I was a little worried about that 'high on the hog' because that is full of cholesterol."

Andrews hastily explained he was speaking figuratively: "Down my way, when you say you are eating 'high on the hog,' it means you are having good food. We assume if it is good food, it is well-balanced food, and nutritionally good, and low in cholesterol."

The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. B. T. Gilmer of Liberty Street and the late Mr. Gilmer.

Here is a quick way to make cheesed potatoes. Roll peeled fresh boiled potatoes in melted butter, then in grated mild cheese. Place in a single layer in a shallow baking dish and just before serving slide under the broiler until the cheese melts and browns lightly.

Bill Malinchak, wide receiver for the Detroit Lions, passes his fashion views on this season's new look in furs. Seated is Mrs. Glenn Griffin of Ogemaw Road in a startling Kohinoor mink traced with black broadtail. Her little toque is matching natural white mink. Mrs. Merrell Petrie of Cherokee Road wears a Tree of Life mink plate semi-fitted coat in a chevron effect. There's nothing like a luxurious fur to keep warm during those brisk fall Lions' games. All furs shown from Arthur's.

Soccer to 'em is the name of this fashion game. Players are from left, Mrs. John Guenther of Oxley Road in a short natural pastel mink jacket just made for bundling in the stands, and Mrs. E. W. Eickmeier of Ogemaw Road in a full-length natural pastel featuring convertible roll collar. The crowning glory is her matching toque.

Bridge the generation gap. Read "Between Parent & Teenager" beginning Sunday in the Free Press

"My father is a natural-born improver ... his corrections are tattooed in my memory with needles of hate."

"I'm sorry son. It's your hair—but it's my guts. I can stand it after breakfast, but not before. So, why don't you have breakfast in your room?"

Not every youth has taken to long hair and granny glasses. But scarcely a home in the nation is untouched by the wounds of the parent-teenager struggle. The bitterness, the widening alienation is more of a problem today than ever before.

Dr. Haim Ginott, out of his many years of experience working with parents and teenagers, has written a new, easy-to-read — often humorous — book that will help you to bridge the widening generation gap.

"Between Parent & Teenager" promises to be an even bigger hit than his last classic, "Between Parent & Child," for months a run-away best-seller. Beginning Sunday, Sept. 7, you'll be able to read the first of 12 lively intimate, close-to-home—but above all, helpful—excerpts from this important new book exclusively in the Free Press. It's must reading for every parent who has teenager problems ... and for every teenager who has parent problems.

Board Session Quiet

Painting Dispute Aired

Waterford School Affairs

Waterford Township's school board held a relatively quiet meeting last night while less than a mile away some 600 parents gathered to protest elementary school half-day sessions.

The only item the board of education discussed at any length was a pending arbitration case involving the painting of portions of the new Mott High School.

A subcontractor has refused to paint the ceiling area of four shop classes and gymnasium. He interprets the specifications as not requiring him to do this.

A lengthy discussion arose when the general contractor appealed to the school's architect and school board to support him in arbitration.

But the board refused to make an immediate decision and turned the matter over to its attorney. If the subcontractor wins the case, it would cost the school district about $8,500 to get the areas painted, according to school officials.

* * *

* * *

The board also appointed two high-level administrators and granted an elementary school principal sick leave.

Allen Miserez, 39, of 1453 Woodlow, Waterford Township, was named principal of Crary Junior High School at an annual salary of $16,144. He's been assistant principal there for four years.

ACTING PRINCIPAL

Miss Helen Bulla, 53, of 63 N. Johnson, Pontiac, was appointed acting principal of Waterford Township High School at $15,823 a year. She's been assistant principal there for 18 years.

A long-time school administrator here, Helen Husted, was granted sick leave as principal of Beaumont Elementary School. A replacement is expected to be named soon.

* * *

In another matter, acting President James Matteson of the Waterford Education Association retracted charges he made at a board meeting last month that the school district was creating too many administrative positions.

WATERFORD WATER — Mrs. Frederick Dennee, 4785 Sylvester, Waterford Township, transports water from a neighbor. She estimates that about 30 residential wells in the area near Eagle and Woodhull lakes have gone dry because of construction of the county's Clinton-Oakland Interceptor Sewer. Water is being pumped from the ground at the sewer project to afford dryer construction.

Police Officer to Appeal Fine

GRAND ISLAND, Neb. (AP) — A Grand Island policeman says he will appeal a $10 fine imposed by Judge Edward Dixon after the officer's police cruiser was involved in an accident with another police car at a Grand Island intersection.

Osterman had been charged with failure to signal for a turn, but the charge was dropped at the request of the city attorney.

Pollution Seen Growing Worse

WASHINGTON (AP) — America could have cleaner air and water, but pollution grows worse, says a new three-year study, because not enough money and energy goes into the problem.

As for pesticides, the study by 26 environmental scientists and engineers supported controls on DDT out consitiered outright bans on the agent unnecessary.

The report of the 115,000-member American Chemical Society released Thursday was sponsored, as one official put it, as "a kind of expression of the national scientific and technical conscience."

The scientists said inroads into pollution could be made by more use of existing knowledge and governments at all levels enforcing what measures are already on the books.

AUTO EXHAUST EYED

Stiffer regulation of auto exhaust was recommended along with more attention to public transportation as a way of eliminating the number of cars on the roads.

Sweden, Denmark, Germany and the states of Michigan and Arizona have already banned DDT on the basis of evidence indicating the widely used pesticide hampers the reproductive cycle of some wildlife.

"I think the whole situation calls for continued vigilance and prudence in the handling of these materials," said Dr. Daniel MacDougall, chairman of the society's task force on pesticides.

'SOME OVERREACTION'

Asked if in light of the bans on DDT he felt legislators were overreacting, MacDougall said: "There has been some overreaction in some instances in light of the scientific evidence available."

MacDougall's eight-man panel, minimized the impact of pesticides on wildlife, despite the fact it has killed some animals and depressed reproduction.

"However, when one considers the widespread use of pesticides over the past 15 to 20 years, the problems of this sort which have been encountered have been relatively few," the task force said.

Pesky Beaver Leaves Town

DELANSON, N.Y. (AP) — The pesky and persistent beaver finally departed Thursday, after delighting children and causing a temporary state of emergency.

The beaver took up residence in a small pond about 10 days ago and built a dam to provide himself more water.

As soon as state and local officials destroyed the dam, up it went again. The beaver had construction help from school children, after lack of water forced closing of school for a day and a half.

GETTING CHEERS

Traps were also sprung by children.

"Most of the people around here have been cheering for the beaver," said Schuyler Cornthwaite, school principal.

Officials said the beaver was one of the largest they had ever seen and estimated he weighed about 50 pounds.

Harassment apparently drove him away.

Spokesmen said the constant presence of children building dams for him, men knocking them down and just casual onlookers succeeded where all else failed.

A Junior Editors Quiz About CIVILIZATIONS

QUESTION: Why were the Old World civilizations more advanced than that of the American Indians?

ANSWER: Cavemen were supposed to have lived by hunting for thousands of years. The reasons that a hunting life does not tend to advance a civilization is that people need to eat three times a day.

Suppose you were a primitive hunter and had a family of six dependent on you for food. You'd have to be everlastingly hunting, day after day. There would be little time for anything else.

Even if you killed some large animal, it wouldn't help much, for there were no refrigerators in those days, no way to keep the meat from spoiling. This was the situation in which most of the American Indians found themselves.

But in an Old World country such as Egypt, it was possible to raise crops on the fertile land created each year by the flooding of the Nile River.

Add to this the domestication of cattle, and you had a large food supply which allowed for time to invent mechanical helps like the wheel and to build towns which developed into cities, leading to the remarkable civilization of our own times.

(You can win $10 cash plus AP's handsome World Yearbook if your question, mailed on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of this newspaper, is selected for a prize.)

Reds Mount New Drive, Set Cease-Fire to Mourn Ho's Death

SAIGON (AP) — Vietcong and North Vietnamese forces launched their heaviest attacks in nearly a month early today but said they will stop shooting for three days next week to mourn Ho Chi Minh.

U.S. and South Vietnamese forces were expected to go along with the cease-fire, which the Vietcong radio said would begin at 1 a.m. Monday and last until 1 a.m. Thursday. The North Vietnamese president will be given a state funeral in Hanoi Wednesday.

Spokesmen in Saigon had no immediate comment on the cease-fire announcement, but a south Vietnamese official said "it would be a humanitarian gesture," to join in a truce. The U.S. Command always follows Saigon's lead in regard to cease-fire proposals.

★ ★ ★

CASUALTY COUNT

Initial reports showed 17 Americans killed, 172 Americans wounded, and more than 100 enemy soldiers killed. South Vietnamese headquarters said 28 of its troops and six civilians were killed, and 113 troops and 13 civilians were wounded.

U.S. headquarters said the sudden upsurge in enemy attacks marked the second "high point" of the enemy's fall campaign, which began Aug. 12.

The latest attacks centered in one of the same areas that was a focal point Aug. 12, the sector between Saigon and the Cambodian border. The heaviest fighting ranged from 34 to 65 miles northwest of Saigon.

Shortly after midnight more than 20 enemy commados moving behind a mortar barrage crept up to the barbed-wire perimeter of a U.S.-South Vietnamese patrol base 34 miles northwest of Saigon and two miles from the Cambodian border.

The sappers lobbed grenades into mortar pits, touching off explosions that killed two Americans and one South Vietnamese and wounded 15 Americans and six South Vietnamese. But 16 of the infiltrators were killed.

Two Americans and five enemy soldiers were killed when troops of the North Vietnamese 1st Division stormed a patrol base of the U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division nine miles east of Tay Ninh. One enemy prisoner was captured.

Rocket and mortar fire killed five Americans and wounded 47 during attacks on the divisional headquarters, two brigade headquarters and four forward patrol bases of the U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division along the Cambodian border. One U.S. helicopter was destroyed and another damaged, spokesmen said.

A dozen villages north of Saigon also came under rocket and mortar attack and a few were hit by light ground probes, but initial reports indicated there were only a few civilian casualties.

Other targets of rocket and mortar attacks were the U.S. Marine combat base at Quang Tri, 20 miles below the demilitarized zone; the Phan Rang air base on the coast 165 miles northeast of Saigon; a U.S. Army installation near the Bien Hoa air base, 15 miles northeast of Saigon, and the U.S. 1st Infantry Division headquarters 30 miles northeast of Saigon.

The Vietcong broadcast announcing the cease-fire for the funeral of President Ho offered safe conduct to American and South Vietnamese troops desiring to enter Communist-held areas in the South to join in memorial services and said the Vietcong would do everything possible to protect them.

Leaders of the Communist world began gathering in Hanoi, and in prospect was the highest-level confrontation between Soviet and Chinese Communist bigwigs since the Peking-Moscow split broke into the open.

Senate's Drive to Cut Pentagon Spending Sags

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate drive to slash Pentagon spending appears to have lost some momentum as it heads toward showdown voting, probably on Monday.

But a source close to the Senate bloc seeking to trim about $3 billion from a $20 billion military procurement authorization bill says the effort "hasn't fallen apart yet by any means."

"There has been some momentum lost but that's only natural after the recess," said this source.

He knew of no defections from the 35-40 votes military spending critics claimed before the August recess, and he "hoped" there had been some converts.

★ ★ ★

Senate leaders said Thursday that the first of several amendments to cut or delay funds for specific military projects would come up for a vote Monday.

One of Quadruplets Dies in California

★ ★ ★

Children's Hospital said Charles Donald Curtin, who was the youngest of the four and weighed 2 pounds 10 ounces at birth, died Thursday night of heart failure caused by respiratory distress.

★ ★ ★

The other three sons of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Curtin were in good condition, a hospital spokesman said. They are in an Anaheim hospital.

Chrysler Singers to Leave on Tour

Czechs Complain to U.S. About Rogers' Invasion Statement

PRAGUE (AP) — Czechoslovakia has complained to the United States about Secretary of State William P. Rogers' recent statement on the first anniversary of the Soviet invasion.

The Czechoslovak Communist party newspaper Rude Pravo disclosed yesterday that Deputy Foreign Minister Milan Klusak expressed "astonishment and displeasure" to U.S. Ambassador Malcolm Toon about Rogers' Aug. 20 news conference statements in Washington.

The U.S. Embassy confirmed that Toon was summoned to the Foreign Ministry Aug. 22 and that he relayed to Washington an oral statement by Klusak.

★ ★ ★

In the news conference to which Czechoslovaks objected, Rogers said the invasion anniversary was "a grim reminder of the difficulties we face in entering an era of negotiations with the Soviet Union."

'PROFOUND TRAGEDY'

The secretary added that "the American people regard the invasion as a profound tragedy not only for the Czechoslovak people but for all people that believe in peace, security and justice."

Rude Pravo said Rogers had evaluated "questions concerning exclusively the Czechoslovak people and the Czechoslovak government."

The Communist paper said Rogers' news conference confirmed that "American government circles basically agree with the writings of their press."

Rude Pravo also claimed that U.S. press coverage of Czechoslovak affairs made it evident "that there was a clear directive to draw the attention of the American public to the anniversary of Aug. 21," the day Soviet troops invaded Czechoslovakia in 1968.

PROTEST REJECTED

Toon already has rejected a Czechoslovak protest about American press coverage. On receiving such a protest last week, he told a Foreign Ministry official the U.S. government has no responsibility for material in the American press and has no desire to influence U.S. mass media.

The Foreign Ministry last week protested coverage of Czechoslovak affairs in the British, Austrian, Chinese Communist and West German as well as U.S. press.

Yesterday's disclosures were in a Rude Pravo story quoting various American and British newspapers and magazines in an attempt to prove "hostile anti-Czechoslovak activity of American and British media."

The article said nothing about recent arrests and police beatings of U.S. and British citizens during the anniversary demonstrations in Prague and Brno.

Douglas Burke of Boston, Mass., and Graham Tope of Surrey, England, are still held incommunicado in Czechoslovak jails, and their embassies have been unable to gain access to them.

Hunting on Sunday OK---but No Guns

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Hunting on Sunday in Georgia will be legal this season but shooting guns won't be permitted.

George T. Bagby, director of the Game and Fish Commission, said Thursday that Sunday hunters will have to use primitive weapons such as bows and arrows.

The 1968 General Assembly passed a law forbidding the discharging of firearms on Sunday except in special circumstances, none of which apply to hunters.

Injuries Fatal

L'ANSE (AP)—Roger Furalter, 25, of White Pine was injured fatally Wednesday in an auto accident on U.S. 41 in Baraga County. He died Thursday.

Scientists Closing In on Mosquito 'Attractant'

NEW YORK (UPI) — Science again has high hope of pinpointing whatever it is that makes people attractive to mosquitoes.

Whatever it is, it can't be love. It has to be chemical and the renewed hope stems from proof that mosquitoes markedly prefer sweaty to dry human flesh.

* * *

On that point science had been in doubt. Its experiments had turned out both pro and con. Now science can get to the chemistry of this human mosquito "attractant."

But it won't be easy, said the scientists who produced the proof — Drs. A. A. Khan, Howard I. Maibach, Walter G. Strauss and Joseph L. Fisher of the University of California medical school in San Francisco.

SWEAT GLANDS

The outpouring of the eccrine sweat glands which are all over the human surface and are particularly concentrated on the palms and soles, contains sodium, lactic acid, amino acid, urea and ammonia.

But these products are attacked by surface bacteria. "Breakdown" compounds result. Among them could be the "Attractant," or perhaps it is a combination. The scientists are trying to isolate it.

They proved the sweat theory on the forearms of convict volunteers. Mosquitoes were caged on the arms and their probings of the flesh were measured statistically.

The men were sweated by jogging and in sauna baths. This heated their entire bodies and stepped up their metabolism and circulation. The mosquitoes preferred them in this sweaty state, but it could have been their heightened physical state was the "attractant."

MORE ATTRACTIVE

But when only their arms were sweated, electrically or with chemical injections, and their metabolism and general body state remained unchanged, the sweaty arms was still much more attractive to mosquitoes than the dry arm.

If the "attractant" can be isolated, it should be possible to neutralize it chemically, conceivably by diet.

Aside from their nuisance quotient, mosquitoes spread disease among people with their bites, particularly malaria. Some workable method of making people unattractive or even less attractive to them would be a powerful public health weapon.

Staff Changes Announced at Consumers

Changes involving three staff positions in Consumers Power Co.'s Pontiac division have been announced by division manager Charles F. Brown.

Thomas E. Hunt of 3244 Wormer, Waterford Township, who has been division engineering superintendent, has accepted a staff position at the company's Jackson headquarters, reporting to M. D. Gwinn, manager of gas distribution for the company.

* * *

He has been in Pontiac since 1954, in various positions in the gas distribution department and the division engineering department. He is a member of the Pontiac Civitan Club, serving as treasurer this year.

William G. Edwards of 220 Boyken, Rochester, who has been assistant gas distribution superintendent for the division, has been named assistant gas superintendent-engineering. He was first assigned to Pontiac in 1956, and in 1961 went to Jackson where he served as a gas operations assistant.

JAYCEE PRESIDENT

He later went to the Kalamazoo division as gas operations supervisor, returning to the Pontiac division in 1967. Edwards is a member of the Rochester Junior Chamber of Commerce serving as president this year.

James G. Harlow of Jackson, who has been general technical services supervisor for the company, has been named assistant gas superintendent-operating for the Pontiac division. He joined Consumers in 1956.

The changes are effective immediately.

Youthful Thief Leaves Trail —His Clothes

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — A branch of the Bank of America was robbed of $4,100 Thursday and police said a 19-year-old youth clad in his undershorts was arrested and booked for investigation of robbery.

Ten minutes after the robbery, officers said, they found Danny Coleman crouching behind a car about a block away.

* * *

Police said Coleman's shirt and trousers were found in nearby backyards, taken to the bank and identified as those worn by the gunman.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation said Thursday night that the money had not been recovered.

Town Chops Trees With Vengeance

OVERLAND, Mo. (AP) — A resident of this St. Louis suburb says the city sought vengeance on him by having a work crew cut down six flowering crabapple trees on his lawn.

* * *

Gerald Lebeau said Public Works Commissioner Robert B. Brooks Jr. wrote him last week asking that the bushes on the corner of his lot be trimmed because they were interfering with motorists' vision, and warning that the city would act if the job were not done reasonably soon.

A crew that came Thursday cut down the crabapple trees and two other trees before police summoned by Mrs. Lebeau stopped the chopping.

* * *

"Cutting down those trees was purely vengeance on the city's part because I didn't get around to trimming the bushes fast enough to suit them," Lebeau complained.

Value of the Mark Is Election Issue in Germany

BONN, Germany (AP) — You're approaching the border station between West Germany and Austria. As you slow down for the customs check, a young man hands you a leaflet.

"The German vacationer was slighted," it says. "Prof. Schiller's proposal to increase your vacation funds through revaluation of the German mark was blocked by a 'no' from Kiesinger and Strauss. Instead of 154 Italian lire, you would have received 163 for one mark.

* * *

"But don't be angry," the leaflet goes on, "on Sept. 28 you will decide..."

On that day West Germans elect a new Bundestag (Parliament) and now it's campaign time. The leaflet is designed to get votes for Foreign Minister Willy Brandt's Social Democratic party.

FAVORED INCREASE

Economics Minister Karl Schiller, a Social Democrat, wanted to increase the value of the mark during last May's international monetary negotiations. Chancellor Kurt Georg Kiesinger and Finance Minister Franz Josef Strauss, both Christian Democrats, said no.

Now the value of the mark has become an election issue.

* * *

Revaluation is one of the few visible election issues in the voting, which for the first time in 20 years holds an element of surprise.

With polling day just over three weeks away, either of the two major parties—the Christian Democrats or the Social Democrats—has a good chance of dominating the country's next government.

PARTNERS

For 33 months the two parties have been partners in ruling West Germany, but the leaders of both have made it clear they would like nothing better than to govern without the other.

And, for the first time in West Germany's history, the pollsters give the Social Democrats a realistic chance to accomplish this.

Their time in the coalition—the first Social Democratic venture into a German government since 1933—gained the party new stature and gave its leaders unprecedented public exposure.

In the campaign, which got into high gear only this week, both governing parties have been trying to claim credit for guiding the country out of the 1966 political crisis and economic recession.

Kiesinger, a white-haired father figure, has been stressing stability and continuing prosperity. He has come out against Schiller's continued pressure for revaluation, which the Christian Democratic party says would put German exports at a disadvantage.

Most prominent among the Social Democratic drum beaters is Brandt, who as foreign minister rose to national prominence, overshadowing his role as mayor of West Berlin, a job for which he was best known previously.

ECONOMIC MINISTER

Schiller has been stressing revaluation, and his campaign managers have been playing up the fact that he is economic minister in a government that overcame an economic recession.

* * *

So far the campaign speeches have produced only two major differences in policy between the two parties. One is revaluation, the other is giving a vote to unions in the running of enterprises. The Social Democrats are for and the Christian Democrats against.

If—as is the case now—neither of the major parties gets a majority in the Bundestag, the tiny Free Democratic party may turn out to hold the key to the next government.

It now controls 49 of the 496 Bundestag seats and would be a likely coalition partner for either major party. The Christian Democrats now control 245 seats and the Social Democrats 202.

Earl Reports Yankee Stars Stealing Show in London

By EARL WILSON

LONDON—Us damyankees are dominating the swinging London Scene.

But Teddy Kennedy's name tops all the headlines, with everybody having his private theory. However, Ava Gardner, Sammy Davis, Ginger Rogers and Liz Taylor do pretty good. Ava, from North Carolina, one of the world's great beauties, is being steered through a picture called "Tam Linn" by Roddy McDowall in his first directing job.

WILSON

There have been no fireworks, which Ava says is disappointing. She was heard saying with a laugh to thin, spectacled, shy Roddy, "The trouble with you so-and-so's is that you're so nice I haven't anybody to bitch about!"

Sammy Davis is giving people more than their money's worth at the Talk of the Town, performing from an hour and a half to two hours and a half.

* * *

"I'm a ham, I'm a theatrical junkie, and I haven't had a fix in a long time," Sammy said, explaining his two-and-a-half-hour opening night show. Richard Burton introduced him, wearing a frock reminiscent of his picture "Staircase" with Rex Harrison.

* * *

"Elizabeth has grown out of this," claimed Burton—a fib, since I have seen the darling bird. She is down to 120.

* * *

"I'm going to do 'Lilies of the Field' on Broadway in the fall of 1970 with Jule Styne and Sammy Cahn," Sammy said. "I think it's a natural progression from 'Mr. Wonderful' and 'Golden Boy.' It will be the best show I've done."

* * *

Ginger Rogers, before going to Majorca for a vacation, told me her husband, Bill Marshall, is churning out another novel, "The Husband Business," about a well known continental dandy who marries rich women.

* * *

THE MIDNIGHT EARL IN N. Y. . . .

Rocky Marciano hoped to open an east side restaurant, to be called "Rocky's," and had called cafe owner Jilly Rizzo to ask if he'd help run it; they had an appointment for next week . . . While Jerry Lewis and his staff were doing the muscular dystrophy telethon, some of their dressing rooms were burgled.

Jackie Gleason brought his gal to a Miami Beach screening of his film, "Don't Drink the Water," and both got an ovation . . . Mrs. Lee Strasberg, wife of the Actors Studio boss, is campaigning for Mayor Lindsay; she showed up at headquarters with her baby son, the baby's nurse, and a secretary.

* * *

WISH I'D SAID THAT: A TV actor glumly described the business: "You spend weeks rehearsing a show that maybe only a couple of baby sitters are gonna be watching."

REMEMBERED QUOTE: "You can send a message around the world in less than a second, but it takes years to get it through the human skull."—Charles F. Kettering.

* * *

EARL'S PEARLS: A fellow grumbled that his wife was 'way ahead of her time: "She was serving me TV dinners long before TV."

Friends of a penny-pinching Broadway character are sure he'll never make a trip to the moon: "He won't go anywhere unless he can stay with relatives." . . . That's earl, brother.

New OCC Headquarters In Bloomfield Hills

New Center for OCC Is Open

The center, 2480 Opdyke, houses offices for the main administration of OCC's three rapidly growing campuses scattered around the county in Pontiac, Waterford and Farmington townships.

★ ★ ★

Due to deed restrictions, all new buildings had to be constructed through remodeling of existing facilities. One new wall of structural steel from a conglomeration of five old buildings was incorporated into the new center. The construction cost $596,800.

★ ★ ★

The building was designed with brick and curving lines to blend into the atmosphere of the existing buildings built in the 1920s and 1930s.

FLEXIBLE DESIGN

All of the offices in the building are located on corridors, along the walls with secretarial pools startegically located to serve the offices. The center is flexible designed so that the offices can be easily expanded.

★ ★ ★

The building also has a large conference room for holding board of trustee meetings, with a platform and podium for the board and administrators. Other smaller conference rooms are also available.

★ ★ ★

Four entrances — one for the general public, one for students, another for salesmen and a fourth at the rear of the building for general deliveries are designed to maintain a smooth traffic flow.

Atom Future for Australia

By Science Service

SYDNEY, Australia — Australia has yet to build its first nuclear power station. Yet planners predict that by the year 2000, the island-continent will be humming along on as many as 40 such plants, producing a total of 20,000 megawatts of electricity.

What's the source of such optimism?

So far, admits Sir Philip Baxter, chairman of the Australian Atomic Energy Commission, cheaper sources of fuel, predominantly coal, are available for the country's needs. But, he adds, the situation is on the verge of change.

By the end of the next decade, Baxter predicts nuclear power generators of the 500-megawatt class or larger will be economically competitive in the country's two main industrial states, Victoria and New South Wales.

Fission won't be the only source of power, however; he predicts that each state will develop a balanced system with coal, hydroelectric and nuclear power complementing one another, with the additional possibility in Victoria of some use of natural gas.

1906 Rapid Bus

GM Bus Predecessor to Be at Old Car Festival

Among the attractions at the 19th annual old car festival tomorrow and Sunday at Greenfield Village, Dearborn, will be a 1906 Rapid bus.

Earl A. Maxwell, GMC personnel director, will accept an award from the Village Sunday, saluting GMC for its long history in the transportation industry and its contributions to the development of commercial vehicles.

Over 300 cars dating from the beginning through 1925 will compete for prizes during the two-day festival.

Dedication of Dam to Complete '44 Rio Grande Program

MEXICO CITY (UPI) — When Presidents Nixon and Gustavo Diaz Ordaz dedicate the Amistad Dam Sept. 8, they will be putting the final touch to a program first mapped out in 1944 to protect the lower Rio Grande Valley from the caprices of the flood-prone Rio Grande.

The mammoth flood-control and water-conservation complex constructed on the U.S.-Mexican border 12 miler upstream from Del Rio, Tex., and Ciudad Acuna, Mexico, joins with the smaller Falcon Dam further downstream as a two-pronged bulwark capable of containing the biggest floods on record.

* * *

In addition to its primary purposes of flood control, water conservation and power generation, the Amistad reservoir will provide new recreational opportunities to the people of the surrounding area.

The reservoir will extend about 96 miles up the Rio Grande, forming the 11th largest man-made lake in North America.

CONVENIENTLY LOCATED

The lake is conveniently located near numerous U.S. and Mexican communities, making it an ideal recreation area open to the people of both countries.

Since the Rio Grande floods of 1922 and 1927 which caused extensive loss of life, property and agricultural crops on both banks of the river, U.S. and Mexican officials have been anxious to take joint measures that would prevent future disasters.

Between 1933 and 1950, the two countries constructed a system of levees and floodway works to help contain floodwater.

On the U.S. side, these consist of 96 miles of levees and 137 miles of interior floodways. On the Mexican bank, the system consists of 69 miles of levees along the river and 78 miles of interior floodways. Each country paid for and later operated the works performed in its own territory.

NOT ENOUGH

However, it soon became clear that this measure was not enough. The Rio Grande continued to overflow its banks almost on an annual basis, and engineers from both countries looked for more effective measures — for a way of harnessing the river at its source before it had time to get out of control.

In a 1944 water treaty, the two governments decided to build the dams required in the main channel of the Rio Grande "for the conservation, storage and regulation of the greatest quantity of the annual flow of the river. . ."

* * *

The Falcon Dam, located 75 miles downstream from Laredo, Tex., and Nuevo Laredo, Mexico, and dedicated by Presidents Dwight D. Eisenhower and Adolfo Ruiz Cortines in October 1953, was the first result of this pact.

In 1954, its first year of operation, the Falcon Dam reservoir contained and regulated the biggest flood to date on the Rio Grande, saving highly developed city and farm properties on both banks of the river's downstream delta from disastrous losses.

DID GOOD JOB

The Falcon Dam did a good job of controlling floods in succeeding years, except for that of 1958. A second storage and regulation dam had to be built further upstream, where the floods gained most of their momentum.

In 1948, the U.S.-Mexican boundary and water commission began joint studies to determine the most feasible site and the capacities required for a second major dam. The dam site chosen is below the mouths of the heavy-flood-producing Devils and Pecos rivers.

The decision to build the second dam, to be called Amistad (friendship) Dam, was made by the commission in 1961 and supervision of the construction work was delegated to the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers on the U.S. side and the Mexican Water Resources Department on the Mexican side.

Cost of the $78-million project, like the water from the reservoir the dam created, is divided between the two countries — 56.2 per cent to the United States and 43.8 per cent to Mexico — as agreed to in the 1944 treaty.

* * *

The dam, which is situated 294 miles upstream from the Falcon Dam, also will be able to generate 323 million kilowatt-hours of electricity a year.

Face Improved Eagles Saturday

Answer Forthcoming on Lions' Big Question Mark

For years the Detroit Lions have been looking for a running game, and within a matter of the next two weeks before the regular season opens, the answer may be forthcoming to the question . . . Will the 1969 backfield be the best ever for the Lions?

Saturday night in Raleigh, N.C., the Lions and the young runners will get their fourth test of the exhibition season against the "new look" Philadelphia Eagles, who have found a lost unit of their own . . . "defense."

The Eagles, long time with one of the poorer defensive units in the NFL, now boast that this may be their big asset for 1969.

None of the teams in a 2-1 record to date have scored more than 14 points on the Eagles, and the defensive unit has also been sitting in the back pockets of the opposing quarterbacks, 17 times in three games.

The Lions have come up with strong running potential in rookie backs Altie Taylor and Larry Watkins, and this unit appears to have enough depth, allowing them to trade off veteran Dave Kopay to the Washington Redskins in return for rookie lineman Jim Anderson.

Kopay was obtained from the 49ers two years ago. He is 27 and a six-year veteran in the NFL.

Against the Eagles, the Lions will face Leroy Keyes for the first time. Keyes is expected to get a full running assignment in this game after a partial trial last week in the 21-14 win over the New York Giants.

Oriole Rally Nips Tigers

DETROIT (AP) — Manager Earl Weaver of the Baltimore Orioles has found the way he would like to end the World Series: a home run barrage.

"I enjoyed it very much," said Weaver after Thursday's 5-4 victory over the Detroit Tigers. The Orioles, down 4-1 at the end of eight innings, tied the score on three straight home runs and beat the Tigers when Dave Johnson scored on an infield out. Johnson had doubled and moved to third on a sacrifice fly.

★ ★ ★

"I'd like to wind up the series or the playoffs that way," said Weaver after the game. "We have to win the playoffs before we get into the series, of course."

"When you've got three guys like that coming up, you let them swing," Weaver explained.

That tied the score 4-4 and Detroit Manager Mayo Smith lifted Wilson in favor of Tom Timmerman, 2-2, who gave up the last run and was the loser.

★ ★ ★

"What can you say after something like that?" Smith asked after the game. "Earl was still pitching well. "I went out to settle him down after Boog's homer, but he was still throwing well."

The spectacular finish deflated the Tigers.

SACRIFICE FLY

Wilson had held the Orioles to just three scattered hits through eight innings and appeared to have his 13th victory of the season wrapped up. The Orioles scored their first run in the third when Mark Belanger singled to right, moved to second when pitcher Frank Bertaina walked and went to third on an infield out. Paul Blair's sacrifice fly scored Belanger.

That was the only Oriole threat until the ninth.

★ ★ ★

Jim Northrup reached first when struck by a pitch and moved to second when Al Kaline walked. Norm Cash then struck out and Willie Horton popped to Dave Johnson at second base for the second out of the inning.

★ ★ ★

Northrup then scored from second when Tom Matchick singled to right and the ball skipped past Frank Robinson. Kaline crossed the plate on the error to complete the scoring. Phoebus was then lifted in favor of Bertaina who retired Don Wert on a pop foul.

Bertaina pitched until the fifth when he was lifted for a pinch hitter. Marcelino Lopez then pitched until the eighth when he was lifted for a pinch hitter.

Pete Richert took the mound for Baltimore in the eighth and gave up Kaline's 18th homer of the season into the lower deck in left center. Richert got credit for the victory and is now 7-3 on the season.

The Orioles and Tigers play again tonight with Mike Ceullar, 19-10, scheduled to pitch for Baltimore and Mike Kilkenny, 4-4, for Detroit.

CHIP AWAY — The ball sails toward the green after Tom Shaw finishes his chip shot in the Michigan Golf Classic at Shenandoah Country Club. Shaw finished the first round with a 35-35—70, putting five strokes behind the leaders Bob Menne and Grier Jones. The tournament continues today and concludes Sunday at Shenandoah.

Golf Classic Belongs to Unknowns

Pontiac Press Photos

OPENING LEADERS — Bob Menne (left) and Grier Jones, unknowns on the multi-million dollar golf tour, took the spotlight yesterday at Shenandoah Country Club where they led the field after the opening round. Each fired a 65, but it was good for only a one stroke lead.

Newcomers Lead After 1st Round at Shenandoah

By FLETCHER SPEARS

Absence of the more proficient swingers from this week's $100,000 Michigan Golf Classic at nearby Shenandoah may have irked fans of the game in the area but the participants seem not to mind.

In fact, those who seldom make it to the pro pay window, rejoice when the big winners decide to forego an event for one reason or another.

CHANCE FOR UNKNOWN

So it is here. The payoff for the champion is $20,000 and if play continues like the first day, the top prize will go to a player about as well known as Spiro Agnew was in 1967.

★ ★ ★

Moving into the spotlight in the opening round of the classic yesterday were a pair of tour newcomers who lowered the course record by two shots to share the top spot.

Grier Jones, a 23-year-old Kansan, and Bob Menne, 27, of Andover, Mass., roamed around the revamped Shenandoah layout — measuring some 6,708 yards — with five-under-par 65s.

RECORD LOWERED

★ ★ ★

Jones, playing out of Freeport in the Grand Bahama Islands, came up with a sensational seven 3s, a 4 and a 5 on the front side for a 30, and then added a 35 on the back side for his 65. He has won nearly $30,000 this year.

Menne checked in a short while later with his 65 on rounds of 32-33.

Fans, who stayed away by the thousands, are missing an opportunity to observe some high-class play. The relatively unknown field and the bad rap the course has received because of its condition has apparently triggered a lull at the gate.

Golfers Complain of Poor Showings

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Orville Moody is the only one of the four participants in the World Series of Golf who will admit that he's playing well — but none of them can be counted out of the chase for the $50,000 first prize.

"I'm playing pretty good," the U.S. Open champion said Thursday for a practice round at the 7,180 yard par 70 Firestone Country Club course.

"I shot a 64 at Chicasha last week and that's not too bad."

The exhibition was one of two that Moody played in Oklahoma last week, during the course of which the governor proclaimed an Orville Moody Day in the state.

Tony Jacklin, the British Open champ, hasn't played competitively since the PGA championship three weeks ago and the other two entrants — Masters title holder George Archer and PGA champion Ray Floyd — had their difficulties in last week's Greater Hartford Open.

MISSED CUT

Both missed out on the final two rounds.

"It's just been ridiculous the way I've been playing," the 6 foot six Archer said, then contradicted himself. "I really didn't play that bad last week, played pretty good in fact, but I just didn't score well."

"Well," the laconic Archer said, "maybe this week I can play bad and score good."

"I can't say how I'm playing," the 25-year-old Jacklin said. "I've only played a couple of exhibitions since the PGA. I've been in England the whole time. We're buying a house, our first house, in the north of England and it takes a lot of time to get moved in."

Although he missed the cut last week, Floyd may be the favorite. The 26-year-old bachelor set a course record 268 at the American Golf Classic here earlier this year.

Single rounds are scheduled Saturday and Sunday.

Both rounds will be televised nationally by NBC.

The course, called by the pros one of the toughest they play, took a terrible pounding from a violent thunderstorm Tuesday which washed out all the traps and flooded several fairways. Two trees were struck by lightning.

"We're still working on it," host pro Bobby Nichols said.

"It should be in shape by Saturday."

The course took a little more damage Thursday when a light plane which was being flown in as an exhibit hit the 17th tee box, lost the left landing gear, dug a furrow up the fairway and skidded to a crash landing in the rough. The pilot, the only occupant, was not injured.

Mt. Pleasant, CMU Honor Tigers' Tresh

DETROIT (AP) — Mount Pleasant and Central Michigan University honored hometown boy Tom Tresh Thursday night with plaques, citations, the key to the city and a fancy riding saddle.

★ ★ ★

The Tiger shortstop attended Central Michigan and maintains a home at Mount Pleasant. The city's mayor, the county treasurer and other dignitaries were on hand for the pregame ceremonies at Tiger Stadium.

Knollwood Aides Upstage Boss in Opening Round

If a club trophy were at stake in the $100,000 Michigan Golf Class now under way at Shenandoah Country Club, Knollwood in Birmingham would probably be first in line.

That club has a trio of competitors in the 144-man field that assaulted par in the opening round yesterday.

AIDES SHARP

Mac McElmurry, head pro at Knollwood, didn't fare so well as he carded an 82, but a couple of his aides had their games well tuned.

★ ★ ★

John Molenda, the 1968 Michigan Open champion and now on Mac's staff, was among a crowd at even-par 70 over the 6,708-yard layout, while Bob Panasiuk, who has taken a short leave from club duties for a shot on the tour, checked in with a 71.

WITHIN RANGE

The shooting leaves both Panasiuk and Molenda well within shooting distance of the $20,000 first prize.

Best among the Michigan entries was a 68 by young Mike Hill of Jackson, whose brother, Davey, is the No. 2 money winner on the tour this year. Dave skipped this event.

With 69s were Ron Aleks, assistant at Tam O'Shanter, and Glen Oaks' aide Cass Jawor. Others at 71 were Thom Rosely of Rockford, a former Michigan Open titlist, Jim Picard of Tam O'Shanter and Bob Panasiuk of Knollwood.

Pontiac's Gene Bone was at 72 while amateur R. Hunter McDonald of Oakland Hills checked in with a 73. Another at 73 was Nick Berklich of Warwick Hills.

CHAMP COOL

Peter Green of Franklin, current Michigan Amateur titlist, fired a 74. Lynn Janson, 1968 Amateur champion, was at 75 along with Oakland Hills head pro Mike Souchak.

Stan Jawor, head pro at Glen Oaks and brother of Cass, posted a 76, and closing with 77s were current Michigan PGA champion Glenn Stuart, of Battle Creek, Ray Bolo of Western and Rochester's Gary Balliet, 19, present state public links match play titlist.

Host pro Bill Mattson, who owns the course record of 68 at the club's usual distance of 6,900 yards and par-72, managed a 78. Larry Wilkinson of Red Run carded an 80.

Twins Grand Slam Sinks Oakland, 10-5

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)"The pressure is on them now," said manager Billy Martin of the Minnesota Twins following a 10-5 victory over the Oakland Athletics Thursday night.

The Twins turned the first game of the crucial series with the A's into a slaughter when Cesar Tovar smashed a grand slam home run in the 10th inning.

Martin felt there would have been no reason to panic even if his team had lost the first game of the series. "It meant more to them than it did to us," he said.

"We could have come back and won Sunday's game and still been all right," he added. The victory increased Minnesota's lead over Oakland to 7½ games with only 27 games remaining in the American League's Western Division.

Martin credited the pitching of Ron Perranoski and Dick Woodson for the triumph. "Woodson kept us in the game and Perranoski won it for us," Martin said. Perranoski, the second of four Twins pitchers gave up only an unearned run in the three innings he pitched to gain his ninth victory of the season.

Woodson, the last of the four pitched 2 2-3 of scoreless relief ball to hold the A's until Harmon Killebrew hit a two-run homer to put Minnesota in front in the eighth inning.

The losing pitcher was Ed Sprague, the sixth of seven pitchers used by Oakland manager Hank Bauer. Sprague couldn't retire any of the three batters he faced in the 10th inning.

Bauer called in Lew Krausse and he quickly unloaded the bases by serving up the grand slam homer pitch to Tovar.

* * *

The big blow was the first of Tovar's major league career. He weighs only 147 pounds and is not noted for his power.

"All I was trying to do was hit a ball far enough to bring a run home," the happy Tovar said. He admitted he didn't break into the home run trot that teammate Killebrew uses on his long blasts.

Gamble on Gamble

Teen Fills Cub Bill

CHICAGO (AP) — Ever hear of a team in the midst of a pennant chase bringing up a teenager to fill a regular job?

The Chicago Cubs have done it with Oscar Gamble, 19. The name fits, although the slender Negro youth has that electrifying quality that doesn't seem to make the move seem that daring.

* * *

Oscar has been installed in centerfield. He might be the answer to what is considered the Cubs' only real weakness, an incomplete outfield.

Billy Williams, of course, is a fixture out there. But the other spots have been a roulette of Al Spangler, Willie Smith, Don Young, Jimmy Qualls.

The southpaw-swining Oscar, presently is being platooned with Young, against righthanded pitching. He is swift-footed and strong-armed and is 6-for-18 at the plate with five runs scored and three RBI's.

Gamble comes from a Ramer, Ala., farm family, attended an all-black high school in Montgomery, played in an all-black sandlot league and was signed by the Cubs' Negro scout, Buck O'Neil.

TOP PROSPECT

The wide-eyed, soft-spoken rookie hit only .266 for Caldwell, Idaho, in the Pioneer League last year as he nursed a pulled leg muscle. Then he blossomed in the Arizona Instructional League with .355.

When the Cubs called him up from San Antonio several weeks ago, he was leading the Texas League in doubles with 30.

* * *

Gamble is learning fast. He has made some defensive blunders, such as nearly running into teammates on fly balls and failing to go deeper when signaled back from dugout by manager Leo Durocher.

"He understands now," said Leo. "He knows when I wave my hand it means go back and when I wave the towel it means come in. He will be all right."

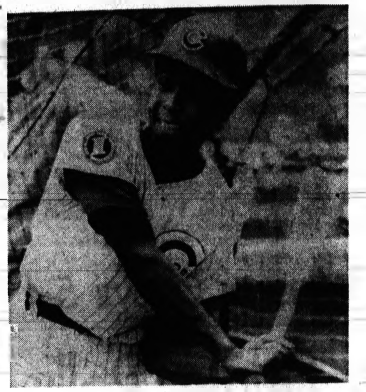
NO TEAM

Oscar didn't play high school baseball because it had no team. And he wasn't in the Little League.

"I started playing when I was 13 with the Oakwood Clowns on Saturday's and with the Montgomery Mets on Sunday's," he said. "It was the same team, earlier, but we played in two leagues. My brother, Jim, was the manager. Another brother, Tom, caught and another, Rich, pitched.

* * *

"I signed with the Cubs for something that wasn't very much, but Mr. O'Neil was the only scout who talked to me. Later the Boston Red Sox sent someone around, but he didn't know I'd already signed."



NEW BUT NO GAMBLE—Oscar Gamble, 19, is the newest addition to the Chicago Cubs' outfield. A lefthanded hitter, he was brought up from San Antonio and has been used in centerfield. AP Wirephoto

Double by Drago Nips Pilots, 5-3

SEATTLE (AP) — Given a quick lead on Mike Fiore's home run in the first inning, Dick Drago pitched the Kansas City Royals to a 5-3 victory Thursday night over the Seattle Pilots, the 15th straight defeat at home for the losers.

It was also the ninth consecutive defeat for Seattle's John Gelnar.

Drago, 8-11, contributed to his victory when he slammed a double to right center in the eighth to score Bucky Martinez, who had doubled home another run after Joe Foy had walked. It was Drago's first major league hit.

The Royals tallied once in the third on Jack Hernandez' single, Drago's sacrifice and a single by Pat Kelly. Their third counter came in the seventh after Ellie Rodriguez was safe on Ron Clark's error at short. Running for Rodriguez, George Spriggs scored on a single by Scott Northey.

Don Mincher hit a two-run homer for the Pilots in the ninth.

First Inning Run Holds Up for Angels Over Sox

ANAHEIM (AP) — Reliever Ken Tatum put down an eighth-inning Chicago threat Thursday night and the California Angels made a first inning run stand up for a 1-0 victory over the White Sox.

Tatum, entering the game with a 1.38 earned run average and scored upon only once in the last 17 innings, took over for starter Rudy May with White Sox runners on second and third and one out.

* * *

He got Luis Aparicio to ground out to first baseman Jim Spencer who fielded his slow bouncer and made a diving tag while the runners held. Tatum then got pinch-hitter Pete Ward to pop to the infield to end the uprising.

* * *

May, who gave up five hits in his 7⅓ innings, received credit for his seventh victory against 11 losses while the hardluck loser was Tommy John. John permitted only two hits in his seven innings of work but still sufered his 11th loss in 17 decisions. John has not won a game since July 18th.

* * *

Padres Stop Davis; Defeat Dodgers, 3-0

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Willie Davis' 31 consecutive game hitting streak was snapped by San Diego as the Padres defeated the Los Angeles Dodgers 3-0 Thursday night. Davis came to bat four times, but grounded out in the first, third and fifth and struck out in the eighth.

Al Ferrara, a former Dodger, drove in all three runs for the Padres. He doubled home two runs in the third and hit a home run in the sixth to give Bill Singer, the Dodger starter, his ninth defeat against 17 victories.

* * *

Dic Kelley and Garry Ross teamed to end the Davis streak, the longest in the major leagues in more than 20 years.

Kelley retired Davis on a grounder to second in the first. Ross came on in the third when Kelley was injured and got Davis on a similar ground out.

Bing Is Ill; Delays Info on New Pact

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Piston's effort to find out if their high-scoring Dave Bing is planning to jump to the American Basketball Association were delayed Thursday as Bing was reported ill with a cold.

Ed Coil, manager of Detroit's entry in the National Basketball Association, had said earlier he hopes to sit down with Bing and find out about reports that Bing planned to go to the new Washington Capitols of the ABA.

Coil said "I sent the team doctor out to look at Dave. He has a cold, is not feeling well and we will not get together until Friday."

Bing was in Washington earlier this week for talks with officials of the new ABA entry and drove back to Detroit arriving Thursday.

The high scoring Bing has a year to go on his $65,000 a year pact with the Pistons. The Pistons have contended that if Bing were to jump to the ABA he would have to sit out the 1969-70 season because he was under contract to the Pistons and the 1970-71 season as a free agent before he could sign with any other team.

Snowmobile Race Planned

SAULT STE. MARIE (AP) — Sponsors of a 500-mile international snowmobile race here say they have already received 100 entries for the Feb. 7 event.

The field will be limited to 250 competitors. Qualifying trials will be held between Jan. 24 and Feb. 2.

Long Layoff, 9 Children Didn't Dim Her Fastball

HOUGHTON (AP) — One of 1951's top softball speed pitchers has staged a comeback with 140 strike-outs in 84 innings this year, some 18 years and nine children after she quit the game to marry a pipefitter.

Eighteen years ago, when women's softball flourished around Michigan, Holly Jean Anderson of Calumet, then a 14-year-old tomboy, was known as the "Speedball Queen".

* * *

With her windmill delivery, she pitched the Calumet girls to championships in the Copper Country and Upper Michigan tournaments before her team settled for state runner-up.

* * *

But women's softball began dying out in Upper Michigan in 1953, about the time she quit the game and married John McCullah.

* * *

This summer saw a revival of the sport in Michigan's Copper Country, and Holly Jean McCullah, now 32, picked up her glove and walked to the mound.

When she can take time off from minding her nine children, ranging in ages from 2½ to 14, she lets her windmill pitches fly for the Calumet Pabst Beer club which she organized with the help of a Vista volunteer a year ago.

FIRST PLACE

Last year the team played only five games, winning all. This year she paced the Pabst team to an 18-1 record and first place in the Copper County tournament.

* * *

Holly chalked up an 11-1 record for herself, fanning an average of 12.8 batters per seven-inning game.

* * *

She also boast an earned run average of 1.48 while giving up 4.11 hits and 1.79 walks per game. The most hits she gave up in a single game this year was nine.

* * *

Holly said she first broke into women's softball at the age of 12, in 1949, when she played for a local drug store.

* * *

French Golfer Top Qualifier

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Jean Garaialde of Paris will be the European representative in the Alcan Golfer of the Year Tournament in Portland Sept. 25-28.

He qualified with the lowest score in the best three of four qualifying tournaments in Europe, sponsors here said Thursday.

* * *

Qualifying is based on best scores in selected tournaments. Thirteen American golfers have qualified as have one each from Asia, Australia, South Africa and Canada.

* * *

The Dunlop Masters in Birmingham, England, Sept. 10-13 will determine the five to seven qualifiers from the United Kingdom.

The tournament, to be played on the Portland Golf Club course, will have a first-place prize of $55,000.

Managing Not Ted's Career

Williams Not Expected to Stay With Nats

BOSTON (AP) — Ted Williams, the Boston Red Sox' Hall of Fame slugger who returned to baseball as manager of the Washington Senators this year, hints that 1970 may be his final season in uniform.

"I suppose I'll be back next season, but I'm not going to make a long career of managing," Williams said Thursday.

* * *

"I mean that," he added. "I have enjoyed this season for two reasons. One is the improvement shown by the Senators. The other is the ovations I have received in every city around the circuit on my return to baseball. Otherwise, the job has been nothing but hard work."

Williams, who will lead the Senators in the opener of a weekend series against the Red Sox tonight, flew to Boston early to promote sale of his book, My Turn at Bat, the story of his baseball life.

* * *

He spent 90 minutes in a downtown department store autographing copies of the book for some 700 customers before being forced to meet other commitments.

Cleveland's Manager After Share of Club

CLEVELAND (AP) — Manager Alvin Dark of the Cleveland Indians said Thursday he wants to buy the $500,000 worth of stock in the club being sold by Maurice Saltman.

Dark, whose Indians meet the New York Yankees here Friday night, said he would talk about the purchase to principal club owner Vernon Stouffer Friday.

* * *

"I guess you can say I'm putting my money where my mouth is," Dark said. "Mr. Stouffer has shown his confidence in me, and now I want to show my confidence in him. I want to go all the way with this man."

Stouffer gave Dark virtual charge of all player personnel two months ago when he stripped Gabe Paul of his duties and title as general manager. Paul has remained in the club as an executive officer, but Stouffer himself has taken final authority on all club matters.

THIRD LARGEST

Saltman chairman of a women's apparel manufacturer, owns eight per cent of the Indians' stock, the third largest block of stock in the club. Stouffer and his family control 72 per cent of the stock.

Saltman made an agreement with Stouffer that he could sell his stock back to Stouffer. Under the agreement, Stouffer doesn't have to buy Saltman's shares, but must pay off Saltman at the original price of the stock and debentures by Oct. 8.

* * *

Dark said, "I haven't talked to Mr. Stouffer about this yet, and I don't know what his reaction will be. But I'll plead with him to let me help if that is necessary."

Best-Ball 58 Wins $214 Prize

VANCOUVER, B.C. (AP) — Sharron Moran of Batavia, Ill., picked up the $214 first prize Thursday in the Warnup pro-am event of today's 54-hole Canadian women's Open Golf Championship. She led her foursome to a best ball 58.

Althea Gibson Darben of East Orange, N.J., and Sybil Griffin of Boynton Beach, Fla., each won $173 for their team's 59s.

Grid Dropouts Grow

Middies Jumping Ship

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Despite rumors to the contrary, Navy football coach Rick Forzano insisted today that the recent rash of drop-outs from his team does not indicate dissension or dissatisfaction with his coaching.

"There's absolutely nothing to those dropouts that I know of," he said emphatically.

Navy has lost 18 men — five of them lettermen — since practice began.

* * *

Latest to quit the squad was letterman George Rodgers, an offensive center. Also on the list was linebacker Ray DeCarlo, a mainstay in the Navy defense; second-string quarterback John Lowry, and tackle Dick Wilkes.

The rash of dropouts leaves Navy, which could only muster a 2-8 record last year with just 11 returning lettermen.

"Rodgers quit in the spring and then said he wanted to come back. Like an idiot I let him," Forzano said, smacking a table in disgust.

Co-captain Dan Pike admitted that Forzano works his team harder that his predecessor, Bill Elias, but said there was absolutely no dissension within the squad.

Pike said the sudden reduction in strength has "brought us together more."

Name Steele New Carolina Mentor

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Jerry Steele, head basketball coach at Guilford College, has been named an associate coach with the Carolina Cougars of the American Basketball Association.

General Manager Don DeJardin said Thursday the 30-year-old Steele will continue in his Guilford job while working part-time with the Cougars.

Namath May Miss Jets-Dallas Game

By the Associated Press

★ ★ ★

"I hurt my leg against Minnesota last week and I haven't practiced all week," the bewhiskered Super Bowl hero said after he blew into Dallas. "I might not play at all."

The flamboyant quarterback said he'll decide on Saturday night if he'll play.

"We've got to go for next week," he said. "That's when the season starts against Buffalo—not Dallas."

NOT IMPRESSED

While Dallas Coach Tom Landry praised Namath's speed, accuracy and timing with the Jets' secondary, Namath said he wasn't all that impressed with the Cowboys front four, its famed Doomsday Defense.

"The Cowboys' front four doesn't even compare with Minnesota," Namath said. "But Bob Lilly, defensive tackle, is the exception. He's fabulous."

The Jets, 3-2, edged the Vikings 24-21 last weekend. Namath completed 13 of 24 passes for 219 yards and two touchdowns. The Cowboys, 3-1, nipped the Houston Oilers 14-11.

While Dallas fans wait for word on Namath, a sellout crowd of 65,000 in Los Angeles might be faced with the temptation of divided allegiance when O. J. Simpson returns to the scene of his college exploits.

Will they root for the Rams Saturday night? Or will the sight of Simpson, a hometown boy who signed with Buffalo after a dazzling career with Southern Cal, prompt cheers for the other team?

The Heisman Trophy-winning halfback, the most prized rookie in pro football history, started running with the Bills' first unit Wednesday, and although Coach John Rauch hasn't said he was going to start for the Rams, Simpson said there's a chance he might.

Simpson has already carried 12 times for 52 yards in games with the Lions, Colts and Bears.

OTHER GAMES

In other games Saturday, the New York Giants, 0-3, are at Minnesota, 3-1; Pittsburgh, 1-2 is at Green Bay, 2-2; Houston, 2-2, is at New Orleans, 2-2; Atlanta, 2-2, at Kansas City, 5-0; Cleveland, 2-1-1, at Washington, 2-2; Detroit, 3-1, meets Philadelphia, 2-1, at Raleigh, N.C.; Boston, 2-2, travels to Miami, 0-5; and Cincinnati, 2-2, hosts Denver, 1-3.

The Bills, 1-4, are making their first appearance in Los Angeles since their 1960 victory over the Chargers in the first year of the American Football League. Jack Kemp, who quarterbacked the Chargers in that game, missed the game with the Bears last week because of a sore elbow, but is expected to be ready for the Rams.

The Rams' 24-21 decision over San Diego snapped a two-game losing streak to Cleveland and Kansas City after victory over Dallas. Tight end Bill Truax and offensive tackle Bob Brown are questionable starters for Los Angeles because of injuries.

The Giants, looking for their first preseason victory, will offer the Vikings a bolstered running game, with the return of Tucker Frederickson and Joe Morrison. Frederickson gained 47 yards on 11 carries and Morrison was three for 33 in last week's 24-17 loss to Philadelphia.

The Vikings registered their first loss to the Jets after beating Miami, Denver and St. Louis. Gary Cuozzo will start at quarterback although Joe Kapp is expected to see some action after missing two games because of an injured knee.

The Pittsburgh-Green Bay game will match the quarterbacking of Steelers' rookie Terry Hanratty and the Packers' Bart Starr. Hanratty completed four of seven passes for 88 yards in Pittsburgh's loss to Cincinnati and Starr hit on 12 of 22 passes to wipe out a 0-14 deficit in Green Bay's victory over Cleveland.

HOT ROUNDS

Along with those two 65s, there was a 66, two 67s, nine 68s, 20 69s and 15 more at even-par 70. In all, 49 shot par or better and indications are it'll take a score of 144 to survive the 36-hole cut.

Sitting alone in that No. 2 spot with the 66 is Jack Montgomery of Norman, Okla., while at 67 were Al Balding of Canada and Bobby Cole of Johannesburg, South Africa.

Mike Hill of Jackson, brother of Davey, was in with a 68, while Ron Aleks, assistant to Warren Orlick at Tam O'Shanter and Cass Jawor, assistant at Glen Oaks, managed 69s.

Badgers Seek 'Superstars'

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Football Coach Johnny Coatta, even before arrival of Elroy Crazy Legs Hirsch as new athletic director, said woeful Wisconsin needed "three or four sort of superstars" to lead the Badgers out of the Big Ten wilderness.

If spring practice was any indication, Coatta may come up with just that many sophomore phenoms to finally taste victory phenoms to finally a dismal two-season head coaching record of 0-19-1.

In Badgerland, they don't want moral victories, and Hirsch, former Wisconsin and Los Angeles Ram football great, was brought in last March to pull his old school out of the doldrums.

At positions were the wheels really have to spin, Wisconsin will unveil at least four newcomers who could explode the Badgers from the Big Ten cellar in which they languished since handsome, 40-year-old Coatta replaced Milt Bruhn after the 1966 season.

Coatta, in the third season of his three-year contract, hopefully has instant stars in quarterback Neil Graff of Sioux Falls, S. D.; running back Reg. Grape Juice Johnson of East St. Louis, Ill.; full back Alan Thompson of Dallas, Tex.; and flanker Albert Hannah of Miami, Fla.

Grape Juice Johnson, at 190, isn't as rugged as his Southern California namesake of sorts, Orange Juice Simpson, but the Badger rookie can really fly. In spring practice, Johnson averaged 9.1 yards per carry and had five touchdown runs of 30 yards or more.

The 212-pound Thompson is rated by the coaching staff as the best Badger fullback prospect since Alan The Horse Ameche, which covers as much territory as Coatta's recruiters in lining up this soph crop.

The select newcomers joining 21 returning lettermen also include Rudy Steiner, 217-pounder from Iron Mountain, Mich., who is pushing highly-regarded Graff at quarterback, and Larry Mialik, 210, from Clifton, N.J., providing a one-two sophomore full back punch.

The 6-foot-3, 187-pound slinger from Sioux Falls hit 31 of 59 passes for 493 yards and four touchdowns and scooted to five TD's himself during spring scrimmages.

On defense, Coatta has six starters back, including standout front men in Jim Delisle, 245; Bill Gregory, 235; and Gary Buss, 214. Linebackers Dick Hyland, Chuck Winfrey and Ed Albring return. But the deep secondary is a problem with three 1968 starters gone.

End Selected 'M' Captain

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Jim Mandich, a 21-year-old tight end who already has made his mark as one of the University of Michigan's most prolific pass receivers, was elected captain of the Wolverines football team Thursday.

Mandich, a 6-foot-3, 217-pound senior from Solon, Ohio, has snagged 69 passes for 832 yards in his two years as a letterman at the end position.

The total is the third highest in Wolverines history. Mandich this season likely will gain second place on the team's all-time pass reception list but is a long way from the record of 132 receptions, set by Jack Clancy in 1966.

Japan to Honor U. S. Baseball Club President

TOKYO (AP) — The Japanese government today decided to decorate horace C. Stoneham, president of the San Francisco Giants, for his contribution to the technical improvement of Japanese professional baseball.

Premier Eisaku Sato's cabinet decided at a regular weekly meeting to confer the third class order of the sacred treasure to Stoneham.

The 66-year-old major league leader has brought the Giants to Japan twice on postseason trips and had once invited the Yomhuri Giants to Florida for spring training.

Walter F. O'Malley, president of the Los Angeles Dodgers, was the only other American baseball personality to be decorated with the same medal Nov. 16, 1966.

Battle Creek Falls in Musial Series

BATTLE CREEK (AP) —Schenectady, N. Y., pitcher John Krawiecki struck out 14 batters and gave up only five hits to lead his team to a 4-1 victory over Battle Creek in the opening round of the Stan Musial World Series Thursday.

The tournament, for adult players, is sponsored by the American Amateur Baseball Conference.

In other games Thursday, Seattle defeated Beloit, Wis., 4-2; Lakewood, Ohio downed Atlanta, 7-6; and Coldwater, Mich., squeezed past Fort Worth, Tex., 1-0.

Spartans Have Biggest Player Since Bubba

EAST LANSING (AP) — Michigan State University's football team held its official weigh-in Thursday. The heaviest Spartan is Jim Nicholson, 6-foot-7, 267-pounds.

MSU spokesmen said Nicholson is the largest player since Bubba Smith played for the Spartans. The lightest Spartan this year is kicker Gary Boyce, 5-foot-seven, 165-pounds.

In practice Thursday, the team went over rough spots noted in Wednesday's session. During morning practice, Gary Boyce, junior from St. Johns, polished his kicking skills. His punts were averaging 45 to 50 yards, and his kick-offs consistently landed near the goal line, a spokesman said.

Pont Has Only Retired Jersey

Competing under then coach Woody Hayes, Pont scored 28 touchdowns, gained 2,390 yards in 340 carries, and ran 33 kickoffs for a total of 874 yards, records that stand even today at Miami.

* * *

Pont, who garnered a 43-23-1 record as coach at Yale University, later moved to the head football coaching position at Indiana University and was named Coach of the Year in 1967 by the Football Writers Association of America.

Schedule Corners Wildcats

Agase, a World War II Marine winner of the Bronze Star and Purple Heart, last fall probably felt he was still in Okinawa.

His youthful Wildcats were bombarded successively by Southern California, Purdue, Notre Dame and Ohio State in four of their first five starts.

That punishing start led to an eventual feeble 1-9 season record.

This season, Northwestern opens on the road against Notre Dame and Southern California and then catches UCLA which hopes to dethrone Southern California in the Pac-Eight race.

ROUGH START

That's a rough prelude to a Big Ten schedule which includes back-to-back starts against Purdue and national champion Ohio State Oct. 25 and Nov. 1.

* * *

"I know schedules are made years in advance," said affable Agase, starting his sixth Wildcat season, "But this is getting to be like inheriting a time bomb which goes off early every fall."

* * *

Agase, whose best overall record of 4-6 came a year after he replaces Ara Parseghian in 1964 still is stoutly optimistic although obviously undermanned, as usual at privately-owned Northwestern.

"We're going to play wide open football and we are well equipped to throw the bomb," said Alex, whose Cats last season tied Illinois for eighth in the Big Ten at 1-6.

YOUNG TALENT

"We have enough good sophomores to wind up playing a dozen or so of them, instead of the usual five or six."

With much higher scholarship costs, Northwestern has to worry more about quick development of new talent than the other state-financed Big Ten schools.

That is especially true since the early meatgrinder phase of the Wildcat schedule tends to quickly deplete veterans through injuries.

Agase re-installed the flanker this spring to utilize the passing talent of quarterback Dave Shelbourne, one of 11 returning starters. Dave last season flipped most of a school record 312 tosses. He hit on 106 of 251 passes for 1,358 yards and 7 touchdowns.

* * *

"We'll try to spread our opponents all over the field and if they stayed bunched on defense, we'll pepper them with passes," said Agase.

RUNNING PRESSURE

"We'll throw 30 or 35 times a game, but still try to maintain running pressure with such experienced ball carriers as Mike Adamle and Mike Hudson."

New Mott High School Opens

Waterford Township Mott High School students have found a home, and they like it.

Seniors were given the honor of being the first students to use the $4.7-million school at Pontiac Lake and Scott Lake roads yesterday.

* * *

But all the students — 1,300 — will be facing some inconvenience at their new home until about Christmas when the building is expected to be finished.

THEY DON'T MIND

Still, the students say they don't mind eating lunch in classrooms because the cafeteria isn't finished or attending science lectures until they can perform experiments in finished laboratories or not being able to use the unfinished gym.

Mott High School, created two years ago, has been holding classes at Mason Junior High School and Waterford Township High School.

* * *

When the building is completed, it will be one everyone can be proud of, school administrators say.

It will be the home of "the most advanced computer instruction center in the country," says acting Supt. Dr. John Pagen.

COSTLY EQUIPMENT

About $1 million of computer equipment for the school district's federal Indicom — computer based individual instruction — will be installed in the school's media center.

Much of the computer hardware used in the project last year was located in Palo Alto, Calif. The school district transmitted data there.

* * *

A large circular room is divided into smaller classrooms by movable walls. The rooms within the large circular room are called classroom clusters, most of which lead to the media center.

"The folding walls have the advantage of creating classrooms for small or large groups," principal Daniel Hogan explains.

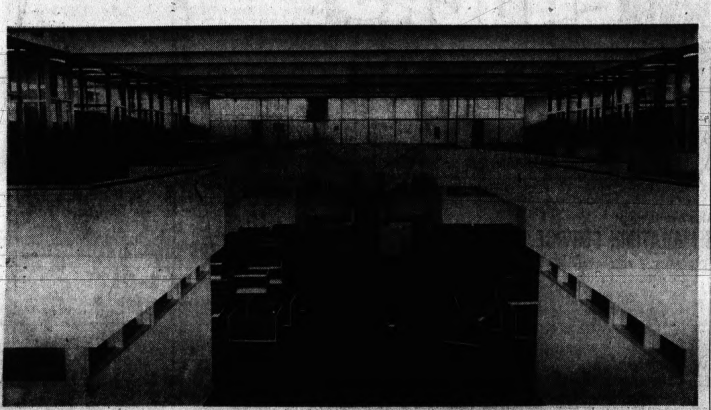
Cluttered Hall

Workmen continue to put the finishing touches on the new Waterford Mott High School. Construction areas are blocked off to students. Construction started nearly two years ago but was delayed by a construction strike and a bond-issue defeat.

Lots of Space

Plenty of space can be found in the school's few hallways. This one is outside the main office door on the right. The gym is down the hall through the far doors. Much of the school is made up of clusters of classrooms.

Ample Lighting In Band Room Is Typical Of The Illumination In All Classrooms



Lower Level Of The Media Center Will Be Lined With Book Shelves

John Collins Is Arraigned in Sex Slaying

ANN ARBOR (AP) — John Norman Collins, a 22-year-old Eastern Michigan University student, was arraigned today on a first-degree murder charge in the latest of seven unsolved slayings of young women in the Ann Arbor-Ypsilanti area.

* * *

Collins is accused of strangling to death Karen Sue Beineman, 18, who was a freshman at the university.

* * *

District Judge John Conlan set Sept. 17 as the date for hearing defense motions, including a request that the trial be moved to another county because of heavy publicity about the case.

Miss Beineman disappeared July 23 after last being seen riding a motorcycle with a man identified as Collins. Her nude and sexually molested body was found three days later on an obscure road on the outskirts of Ann Arbor.

Asks for Matching Cutbacks

Nixon Tests 'Partners'

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — President Nixon is giving his "New Federalism" a key test by asking state and local governments to match the 75 per cent cutback he has ordered on all new federal construction.

Nixon ordered the federal construction cutback for all government agencies Thursday, effective immediately. But he did not order similar cuts on state and local projects that are aided by federal government grants.

* * *

* * *

"The President has great faith in what he likes to think of, or describe as, 'The New Federalism.' He likes to leave as much discretion as possible to state and local authorities. The President, therefore, would like to see state and local governments take action on their own in accord with the national policy."

'WOULD TAKE ACTION'

Nixon said, however, that he would restrict federal grants for construction projects if the states and localities do not respond promptly and in a manner he thinks is sufficient to meet his urgent "plea for partnership in action."

* * *

The cutbacks Nixon ordered affect all federally financed construction except what he described as projects of "highest social priority." Burns said these include hospitals and some public housing.

* * *

The Budget Bureau will have to select the top priority projects and some may "end up on the President's desk" for a decision, Burns said.

* * *

COSTS, DEMANDS CITED

Nixon said the limitations would continue until conditions ease in the construction industry, which he said has been plagued by exorbitant costs and heavy demand.

* * *

Nixon declared in a statement from the Western White House that "although the action will cause some hardships, it will also release resources for home building where the need is great and where severe strains are already being felt."

* * *

* * *

Building wages rising at an annual rate of 15 per cent; cost of construction of office buildings, industrial plants and apartment houses rising 12 per cent or more, and the cost of building one-family homes going up sharply.

$300-MILLION REDUCTION

While construction as a whole is booming, Burns noted, housing starts have declined from 1.9 billion early this year to approximately 1.3 million now.

* * *

Nixon's order would cut back about $1.6 billion in construction contracts for the remaining 10 months of this fiscal year. Since there is a lag in actual spending, Burns said it would mean a reduction in federal outlays of about $300 million.

* * *

Federal grants in aid to the states and local construction are larger. Such contracts total $4.5 billion and a 75 per cent cutback would offer actual expenditures of $700 million for the remainder of the fiscal year.

* * *

Nixon called on business to cooperate by postponing projects that are not immediately essential and he urged a massive increase in federal job training programs to overcome shortages of skilled construction workers.

No Meeting Rule Change

Proposed revision of rules of conduct of board meetings did not come before the Pontiac Board of Education at its meeting last night, due to time spent in selection of a new assistant superintendent.

* * *

Also on the agenda, but not acted on, was the hiring of an appraiser and realtor to handle acquisition of land for a new Crowfoot Elementary school and expansion of the site for the new Central High School.

* * *

Since the new high school will be built on the present Crofoot site, a new elementary school will have to be built. The present Central High School will remain standing, so parking and recreational facilities are expected to be located on adjacent properties.

Crash Injures 2 Supervisors

The chairman of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors and the board's Democratic caucus leader were injured slightly in a four-car accident yesterday afternoon as they were momentarily stopped for construction work on Telegraph Road.

Bloomfield Township police said Charles B. Edwards Jr. and Philip O. Mastin suffered minor injuries when Edwards' car was struck from the rear by one driven by John R. Weamer, 40, of 100 Winry, Rochester.

* * *

The impact reportedly pushed Edwards' car into one driven by Hugh M. Acree, 45, of 2275 Duck Lake Road, Highland Township, and Acree's vehicle was in turn pushed into one driven by Edward Edens, 45, of 3967 Lawley, Pontiac. None of the drivers sought hospitalization, however Edwards and Mastin were treated later at the Oakland County Sanatorium for abrasions, police records show.

The accident occurred at 2:34 p.m. on Telegraph, 350 feet north of Hood Edwards said he and Mastin were returning to the Courthouse from lunch at the Kingsley Inn, 1475 Woodward, Bloomfield Hills. The board chairman said his car was wrecked totally.

No tickets were issued.

Bandits Take $80, Chicken Dinner

Two armed bandits last night got away with $80 and a chicken dinner from the Chick-N-Joy carry-out restaurant.

Workers at the restaurant, 756 N. Perry, said one of the men came into the restaurant about 7 p.m. and ordered a chicken dinner.

* * *

While the $1.50 dinner was being prepared, another man came in and sat with the first one. When the dinner was ready, both men pulled revolvers on the cashier and ordered him to hand over all the money in the cash register.

Witnesses said the pair fled on foot.

Unlicensed Driver Gets Year in Jail

Oakland County Circuit Judge William J. Beer imposed the sentence on Lonnie Penland, 21, of 843 Inglewood.

* * *

It was Penland's second conviction on the same charge.

Before being sentenced, Penland pleaded for mercy because his wife is pregnant, but Judge Beer told him, "On a matter of this kind there is no sympathy."

Two Get $100 in City Holdup

Kurnik's Market, 81 N. Roselawn, was held up about 8:50 p.m., police said.

* * *

The pair entered and went immediately to the rear of the store, where they ordered the cashier to give them all the store's money, police said.

U.S.-Aided World Fund Owns Club

WASHINGTON (AP) — The International Monetary Fund readily confirmed today that it runs a country club in the Maryland countryside—complete with golf course, tennis courts and swimming pool—that was indirectly aided by U.S. taxpayer money.

But an IMF spokesman said direct financing of the club for foreign personnel came from the international bank's own earnings, primarily interest on the loans it makes around the world.

* * *

He said it was aided by taxpayers only in the indirect sense that the United States has supplied nearly a fourth—$5.2 billion—of the basic fund from which those loans are made.

He said the country club has been in operation nearly two years and noted that the construction was well publicized.

The issue was raised anew today with release of House Appropriations subcommittee testimony in which Rep. Bob Casey, D-Texas, said the country club showed the looseness with which some international organizations use the money supplied partly by U.S. taxpayers.

* * *

"I do not think the purpose was to furnish country clubs for any of these organizations," he said. "Our contributions are for other purposes."

Casey had the wrong organization—he thought the World Bank headed by Robert S. McNamara ran the country club—and he thought it was still being built.

He said he drove past it every day on the way to work but had never been inside.

$1 MILLION FOR SITE

Casey unfolded the bits and pieces he had learned about the country club before a subcommittee headed by Rep. George W. Andrews, D-Ala.

* * *

The IMF spokesman confirmed Casey's report the land cost more than $1 million and said he did not know the cost of construction of the club. He said operating costs are paid partly by membership fees.

* * *

The spokesman said the club was approved by the IMF board, including its American member, in an effort to help recruit foreign personnel and give them a readily available place for recreation.

He said foreign personnel often have trouble getting into private clubs in the Washington area because of discrimination and long waiting lists.

Hero's Welcome for 1st on Moon

Hometown to Hail Armstrong

WAPAKONETA, Ohio (AP) — Neil A. Armstrong's hometown folks were trying to be as calm today about his homecoming as he appeared when he stepped on the moon.

But it was hard to do. A crowd of 100,000 is expected for his official welcome Saturday, and already the first of the visitors had started to fill up this town of 7,500 people.

The big problem was handling traffic. The other one was feeding all the visitors.

* * *

Three hundred police officers, many of them state highway patrolmen, have been called in to direct the anticipated 40,000 cars.

STANDS SET UP

Concession stands have been set up at the Auglaize County fair grounds. That's where the public reception will be held for Armstrong, after a 2½-mile parade through town.

Decorations are in place along the five blocks in the main part of the business district on Auglaize Street. Store fronts are decorated with pictures of Armstrong, American flags and red, white and blue bunting.

* * *

The whole town captured the space spirit. Headquarters for the homecoming is called Tranquility Base and the names of streets have been changed for the day to ones like "Apollo Drive" and "Lift-Off Lane."

Armstrong and his wife, Janet, are expected to arrive with their two sons late today but they likely will not see anyone except members of their families and close friends before Saturday morning.

SHORT REUNION

* * *

But he will have plenty of time for the one thing he insisted on—a talk alone with youths on the Aligo school football field, the very first thing on his day's schedule.

His youth meeting will be followed by two VIP luncheons.

Opening lead—♦J

By OSWALD and JAMES JACOBY

South bid his hand with all the delicacy of a steamroller, but we can't find any real fault with his Blackwooding to a slam after his partner's jump raise. After all, if North held the king of spades instead of the king of clubs, the slam would be a cinch.

With the actual North hand, the slam depended on a finesse. If a club were opened. But the steamroller bidding gave the defense no real information and West made his normal lead of the diamond jack.

South played the hand in the same steamroller fashion. He went up with dummy's ace of diamonds and took the trump finesse.

West was in with the king and went into a long huddle while South and East sweated it out. Finally, West decided that his best chasce to set the slam would be a club shift. He led a club and the curtain rang down on another slam.

West deserved a lot of credit for finding that club shift but we feel that South might have studied the hand awhile at trick one and come up with a winning line of play.

He should have won the diamond lead with his king and cashed his ace of trumps. The next plays would be the ace and queen of diamonds from dummy. East would ruff and South would overruff, otherwise South would discard his club.

A heart to the 10 would allow a fourth diamond lead. South would ruff this and enter dummy with the queen of hearts.

Out would come dummy's fifth and last diamond. Away would go South's losing club and West could take his king of trumps then of later, but that would be all for his side. The club trick would have vanished.

Rochester Garden Club Joins Centennial Celebration

Believing that a successful amateur flower show is instrumental in raising the standard of horticulture and home decoration in the community, the Rochester Branch of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association will present "The Past Is A Prologue" Flower Show.

* * *

In conjunction with the Rochester Centennial celebration, the show will be held Thursday Sept. 11, 5-8 p.m. and Friday Sept. 12, 10 a.m. - 5 p.m. at the Rochester Municipal Park, Ludlow Street.

Division I, "Artistic Design" includes 21 classes. Arrangements in natural containers suggesting the native woodland will be found in the Northwest Territory. The Frontiersmen class, open to men only, will have a map or chart as a background or accessory. The Village Church class for novices will be white arrangements on a religious book. Invitational arrangements on a pedestal will depict the past or present.

Judging of the Artistic Design entries will be based on design, color, creative expression, suitability of interpretation, relationship to container and condition.

Overall design and color, flower arrangement, distinction and originality, textural relationship and suitability to occasion will be considered in the judging of table settings.

All eight classes in Division II, Horticulture, are open to the public, amateur growers only.

Annuals, biennials, dahlias and gladiola constitute several of the classes. Also included are perennials, roses, vegetables and fruit and berried or fruited trees or shrubs.

Juniors will have the opportunity to enter three different classes in the Third Division.

Lunch boxes or pails will hold arrangements in the School Days class. "In Retrospect" features dish gardens portraying an Indian, woodland or farm scene.

Wagons and Wheels are miniature arrangements suggesting a mode of transportation. Toy models will serve as containers or accessories.

Division IV is a Conservation and Educational Exhibit. Horticultural therapy, special education therapy and civic improvement fall into this category.

* * *

Mrs. Donald Foss of Peach Tree Lane, Avon Township, outlines briefly the show rules.

Entries must be registered by Tuesday.

Exhibitors may make but one entry in any one class but may enter as many classes as desired.

Plant material must be used in all classes. Accessories permitted in all classes unless otherwise stated.

In the Horticulture division, all specimens must have been grown by the exhibitor. Show containers will be furnished.

All Horticulture specimens will be correctly labelled.

* * *

The club is not responsible for the safety of the property of the exhibitor, although hostesses will be present.

Rochester Branch President Mrs. Thomas E. Kruger of DeGuise Court is being assisted by Mrs. Joseph W. Stifler of West Maryknoll Street and Mrs. Roy Church of West Tienken Drive, general co-chairmen, all of Avon Township.

* * *

Colorful Zinnia Sparks Garden

Sombrero — the name conjures up visions of laborers working in the sun, heads guarded by the wide, straw hats. Or, of men dozing in a shady corner, hats over their faces.

* * *

But the zinnia named Sombrero is a "wake-up" flower, centered brilliant red, changing to gold, clear out to the tips of the petals.

* * *

When you first look at a flower the zones seem to change abruptly. As you look closer you'll find this is not so — the colors merge, one with the other.

The gay blossoms grow to about 2½ inches in diameter and the plants are well covered with them. Spectacular in the garden, blooms are equally noticeable in the house; long-lasting when cut for indoor use.

Plants of Sombrero grow from 14 to 18 inches tall and, happily, are more resistant to disease than those of varieties with giant blossoms.

* * *

Color Your Garden With Groundcovers

Groundcovers don't have to be green. They can be as colorful as any part of the garden. All you have to do is to pick the right plants and to treat them well.

First, of course, you must prepare the soil properly to get good color. Spade the soil to full spade depth and mix in thoroughly a 1- or 2-inch layer of peat moss, compost or other soil improver and four pounds of any good vegetable garden fertilizer. With your hoe break up all the lumps and rake smooth.

* * *

Then, except where you use plants, scatter the seed thinly in large, irregular clumps or areas — not rows. Moisten with a fine mist and cover with newspapers until the seedings are up.

Now for the plants: Consider first the annuals from seeds. With the possible exception of gazanias in the most northern locations, all of these can still be planted. Among the best known are the California poppies with lacey foliage and many glowing cups primarily in yellows. They reseed for years.

SWEET ALYSSUM

If you want white, consider large clumps of sweet alyssum. If it spreads too far, just run you rotary lawn shears over the offending part and remove it.

If you want a bright, orange mass of daisy-like flowers try gazania or the dimorphtheca. It is especially good in hot places over most of the country.

Then there are midget marigolds and zinnias as well as the taller (12 inch) calendulas, dwarf bachelor buttons, and annual phlox.

MASS EFFECT

Among those plants treated like annuals but set out as plants consider seriously bedding begonias (semperflorens), lantanas and geraniums in solid masses as well as impatiens which is good in the shade.

Among the perennials you can get good effects with the creeping ajuga or the so-called moss phlox in a wide variety of tones. In slightly moist or woodsy nooks polyanthus primroses, closely planted, make an excellent showing.

Finally, have you ever covered the ground with climbing roses? These can be most effective for years.

Blueberry Tip

Blueberries will need protection from insects every 10 days until one week before harvest. Use any of the insecticides commonly used for backyard fruit.

Horticultural Congress to Meet in Philadelphia

The American Horticultural Society will convene its 24th annual Horticultural Congress in Philadelphia, Sept. 17-19, 1969.

* * *

Hosts to the Society will be the Pennsylvania Horticultural Society and 46 other Delaware Valley horticultural organizations. Headquarters of the congress will be the Benjamin Franklin Hotel in the heart of historic Philadelphia.

The congress will explore the theme, "Horticultural Horizons", scanning today's world of gardening and providing members with a preview of the 1970s. The program will feature horticultural experts as speakers, panelists, moderators, and audience participants.

Keynote speaker will be Dr. George H. M. Lawrence, director of the Rachel McMasters Miller Hunt Botanical Library in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania.

Edmund de Rothschild, senior member of the famous banking firm in England, and an amateur hybridizer of rhododendrons on his Hampshire estate, will be guest speaker at the President's Dinner Sept. 18. His topic will be "The Rothschild Rhododendrons and 'Flora' from the Archives of a Merchant Bank.

SPECIAL LECTURE

A special lecture on flower arranging will be delivered by Anne Wertsner Wood of Swarthmore, Pennsylvania; workshops on a variety of subjects will be held for individual, commercial, institutional and organizational members; and there will be a question-and-answer meeting where registrants may "Ask The Experts."

PETUNIAS — Well-behaved petunias are becoming ever more widely used for planting in public places. They're a happy choice because of their wealth of bloom for such a very long period.

Sungold Takes A Bow

Hybridized Sunflowers Winning Attention

Say the word "sunflower" to the average gardener and he immediately conjures up a vision of a 15-foot-tall plant with huge, single, yellow blossoms.

Gardeners in the know no longer think that way. They are familiar, through the seed catalogs, with the ornamental sunflowers of today.

While the seeds still furnish food for chickens or birds, the plants aren't huge and the flowers are not necessarily yellow.

HYBRIDS

Red and Gold hybrids have single flowers of bright red, tipped with gold and on 6-foot stems.

Red (just one word) has blossoms of varying shades of red: brick, bright or crimson, solid or in combination with yellow.

This same strain also has yellow flowers suffused with red. Plants grow 5-6 feet high.

Double-flowered kinds include Chrysanthemum-Flowered, with 6 to 8-inch wide blossoms that look like their namesakes, on plants nearly seven feet tall.

Two dwarf varieties are particularly useful. Dwarf Sungold looks like the tall variety and also has big flowers, but grows only 15 inches high.

Teddy Bear forms bush-like plants three feet tall but each individual bloom may reach five inches in diameter.

Royal Oak Club Shows Gardens

The Organic Farm and Garden Club of Royal Oak will present slides of outstanding organic gardens next Thursday at their regular meeting.

The public is cordially welcome to the meeting at 7:45 p.m. at the Royal Oak Woman's Club, South Pleasant at Fourth Streets, Royal Oak.

* * *

Men Gardeners to Meet at Mall

Horticulturist Anton Regner will address the Men's Garden Club of Oakland at its meeting Wednesday night at 7:30 p.m. in the Community Room of the Pontiac Mall.

The meeting is open to all men interested in gardening.

Treat Dandelions

Unlike most weeds, dandelions are not easier to kill when they are growing actively. Dandelions respond better to 2-4D type chemicals during summer when they are in bloom.

THE HERALD'S VISIT

It had never happened before and never would again.

Heraldic history has been made in the town of St. George, Bermuda. St. George is the oldest British town in the western hemisphere and has been capital of Bermuda for over three and a half centuries, but it had never had a coat of arms.

Now for the first time a herald of England's College of Arms left the United Kingdom to deliver Letters Patent—the exquisite, hand-scrolled document drawn up by the College of Arms—granting armorial bearings to the mayor and corporation of St. George.

In full regalia, as never before outside the British Isles, Dr. Conrad Swan, Her Majesty's York Herald of Arms-in-Ordinary, came to Bermuda to take part in the ceremony specially organized for the occasion. While in Bermuda, the York Herald also presented armorial bearings to the Bank of Bermuda, on the occasion of the dedication of its new building in Hamilton—the highest building in Bermuda.

St. George put on a jolly good show for this memorable day in its history. In return for the herald's unique visit, it accorded him a unique gesture of appreciation: he was made an honorary freeman of the town. This was the highest honor which could have been given to him and there is no known record of it ever having been given before.

The town turned out in full strength and high spirits for the colorful ceremonies, from the governor in his plumed finery down to the smallest schoolchild free of classes for the day. Uniforms, pomp, bands and parades all contributed to the glory. It was a proud day, and will surely be remembered for at least another three and a half centuries.

Retreats on Broad Front

Stock Mart Continues Decline

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market, continuing the decline that carried it into sharply lower territory Thursday, retreated on a fairly broad front early this afternoon with losses ahead of gains by better than 400 issues.

* * *

Analysis said many investors continued to stay out of the action while waiting to see if the market would go down to test the 800 level of the DJI.

"If the market keeps falling," one said, "you might get a slight recovery on a technical basis. If the market falls far enough, it usually brings in some bargain hunters."

Continuing to weigh on the market, analysts said, was uncertainty about the domestic economic situation, citing the administration decision for a 75 per cent cutback in new contracts for federal government construction.

Uncertainty over the Vietnam situation because of the death of Ho Chi Minh also apparently was resulting in some caution, they said.

The Associated Press 60-stock average at noon was off 2.0 at 288.7, with industrials up 2.6, rails off 1.5, and utilities off .7.

Dixily Corp. was the most-active issue on the American Stock Exchange, off 1⅝ at 30½. Dixilyn today denied a report Thursday that the company had reported problems in exploiting an ore vein in Colorado.

Post-Labor Day Action a Sure Thing in Mart

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

CUNNIFF

NEW YORK — Now that Labor Day has passed, the pundits of Wall Street and their likes in financial centers around the nation are expecting some stock market action. The problem is: They don't know what the action will be like.

One thing is certain: Things happen after Labor Day. The records prove it. As certainly as there is a "midsummer rally" there is a "post-Labor Day break." And about as often, bad bear markets end after Labor Day.

* * *

In the old days, it is alleged, the action came when the tycoons returned from long summers at their spas, well rested and full of zest, eager to make things happen so they could make some money and pay off the crews of the yachts.

There's a bit of the old days around still. Executives like to begin new business around now. They commit money to advertising, make final estimates on capital spending, introduce new products, set sales goals and so on.

ADDS TO CLIMATE

The federal government adds to the climate. It releases its study of capital spending plans right after the holiday. And this year it is expected to participate in another way by offering proof or disproof of its anti-inflation policies.

Ordinarily these factors furnish the market seer with grist, and he grinds out his forecasts by offset, letterpress, mimeograph, spirit duplicator or any other machine available.

* * *

Confidence often oozes from the pages, for seers seldom admit to knowing as little about the future as anyone else. No more than they confess to having missed the bull's-eye in the past, when in truth they missed the target, too.

This year it's different. There is much doubt and some confusion. And it has been going on so long that analysts are openly confessing their weaknesses, revealing without embarrassment that they are only humanly endowed.

DESCRIPTIONS

Descriptions rather than forecasts fill their letters. "The market began September mixed and inconclusive," says one. Another describes the market as "plodding." The daring ones foresee "good values in depressed stocks."

One widely circulated advisory reads:

* * *

"In all probability we are about to enter a period in which the right stocks should be accumulated as they move lower. . ." Nobody is likely to dispute that.

* * *

Neither is anyone likely to disbelieve the open confession that follows: ". . . But we do not know yet what desirable issues will decline most, nor do we have anything more than vague notions about the next vogues in equities."

A technical letter advises:

"The unsuccessful drive to break through the July 29 bottom close of 801.96, otherwise termed a successful test of that extreme low point, followed by a recovery of sufficient strength to bring about a new high close of 827.66 on Aug. 18, which new high close surpassed the previous top close. . ."

News in Brief

Community National Tells of Promotions

A. C. Girard, chairman of the Board of Community National Bank, has announced three promotions.

David S. Ritchie, 29, and Lawrence M. Dent, 30, were named assistant cashiers, while John E. Labadie, 29, was appointed as manager of the Clarkston branch.

LABADIE

DENT

Prior to their promotions, Ritchie and Dent worked in the business development department and as credit analysts.

Ritchie of Royal Oak joined the bank in 1966 as a management trainee.

WALLED LAKE OFFICE

A graduate of Williams College, Williams, Mass., he will be based in the Walled Lake office serving as business development officer of the area.

Dent, who has been with the bank since 1968, will be in charge of the master charge department. Married with two children, he resides in Warren.

'Now' People Oldsmobile Aim

By DIANNE DUROCHER

Oldsmobile is planning to meet the growing demands of the "now" generation during the next decade, John E. Beltz, the division's general manager and a General Motors vice president, said today at a national press preview of Oldsmobile's 1970 models in Grosse Pointe.

"Today's growing number of responsible young people represents a population front that is moving in and will drastically change our political and social climate," the 43-year-old executive added.

* * *

* * *

JUST COMPLETED

Beltz said that his division has just completed an all-time moded year production by assembling nearly 680,000 units

"Sales, too, are exceeding previous records with prospects excellent that Oldsmobile will chalk up a new high total in calendar year 1969, exceeding the 641,000 units sold in 1968," he added.

* * *

Beltz said that for 1970 Oldsmobile would continue offering cars that are not only desirable but above all, identifiable to our customers with an understandable product lineup.

"This is the reason," he explained, "that Oldsmobile decided to place its new hardtop coupe speciality car at the top of the existing Cutlass series and use the name "Cutlass Supreme."

* * *

Beltz said, "The Cutlass name has a lot going for it.

"This is a car with luxury, but in a trim new size. It gives young people a chance at a class of car never before available in an intermediate."

About 20 office and clerical workers walked off their jobs yesterday morning at the Chief Pontiac Federal Credit Union, demanding higher wages.

* * *

The strikers, who picketed yesterday and were expected to again today, are members of the Office and Professional Workers' Local 42 of the UAW.

* * *

A spokesman for the credit union, at 790 Joslyn, said today mediation has been scheduled for next week, and he doesn't expect a long strike.

James Earl Ray has disavowed a statement that federal agents killed Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. and framed him as the assassin.

The statement was attributed to Ray, serving 99 years for the slaying, by his brother Jerry Ray of Chicago. The prisoner's lawyer, Robert W. Hill, said yesterday in Nashville, Tenn., his client now wants no more visits from his brother.

Ray, who pleaded guilty, is seeking a trial by jury, claiming his civil rights were violated in previous court proceedings.

MISS DEVLIN

Bernadette Devlin, home in Belfast from a fund-raising tour of the United States, says, "The barricades stay up until the government comes down."

Miss Devlin, a 22-year-old spokesman for Northern Ireland's Catholic minority in recent disorders, added yesterday:

"We have a list of legitimate demands. The granting of these demands involves the destruction of the government. We don't want it destroyed as an exercise in destruction but because it stands in the way of progress and social and economic security."

Slain Boy, 4, Was Lovable Foster Father

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (AP) — Little David Willcox was only 4 when he died. But he had lived in five foster homes before being adopted by the couple now charged with his death.

"He was a lovable little guy," mourned Harry Shellenberger, the last of David's five foster fathers.

* * *

"When the people at the Catholic Social Service Bureau told us he'd been adopted, it was hard to take," he said. "I took him to the airport myself."

The plane ride led to Fort Myers on the other side of the state where David was adopted by Mr. and Mrs. Ward W. Willcox. The couple Wednesday took his battered body to a Sarasota County hospital.

TEETH MARKS

Sheriff Ross Boyer said the boy's body was free of bruises only on the palms of his hands and soles of his feet. He said teeth marks were found on the back of David's neck. Doctors said the boy died of a brain hemorrhage.

* * *

Boyer said Willcox, a 51-year-old golf course greenskeeper, and his wife, Patricia, 45, told officers they had disciplined the child. "The parents told me he wet the bed during the night," Boyer said. "It's the thing they mentioned."

* * *

The Willcoxes were charged with murder and jailed without bond.

Records showed they completed adoption of David in Fort Myers less than two months ago. They had had custody of him for four months.

* * *

A spokesman for the adoption bureau said he did not know details of the adoption but would look into it.

* * *

Shellenberger said "If they release his body, I want it. I want to have a service for him here. He was the most lovable little kid in the whole world."

Paint is now available in square cans, designed to save storage space on shelves.

In Memoriam 2

IN LOVING MEMORY of Ralph Dawkins who passed away September 5, 1968.
I have lost my life companion,
Linked with my own;
And everyday I miss him, more, and more.
As I walk through life alone;
No one knows the silent heartaches,
Only those who lost can tell;
Of the grief I bear in silence
For the one I love so well.
Sadly missed by his wife, Victoria.

Winter's When It Counts

HOLLYWOOD — Stanley Myron Handelman, who has parlayed a splendid Brooklyn accent, a New York cabdriver's hat and a deep insecurity into a fine career, just hopes he will be discovered some more.

★ ★ ★

During the past two summers, he has been occupied by Dean Martin's summer replacement show on NBC. As a result, he has been signed for increasingly frequent guest shots on the parent winter show.

★ ★ ★

"That," says Stanley Myron Handelman earnestly, "is when it counts."

Stanley was dispensing his individual style of humor—he's always the loser, but with a jaunty air that shows he doesn't know it—in an airless Greenwich Village coffee house for $8 a night in 1962 when he had his first big chance: A spot on a summer revival of "Talent Scouts."

THEN, NOTHING

"That was great," said Stanley sadly, "and it was even followed by a break on a Sullivan show. Then nothing happened."

He went back to the one-night dates, the Catskill resorts, the small night clubs. Then Merv Griffin discovered him. Although the pay was low, the exposure was great and his extra-TV career picked up. Stanley decided, however, that the only place for an ambitious young comic was Hollywood.

★ ★ ★

"Nobody seemed to care, so I finally ran an ad in 'Daily Variety' figuring if an ad had gotten Bette Davis some work, it might help me. The producer of Martin's show saw it, looked at me on a Merv Griffin show and hired me."

★ ★ ★

By the time the current series, "The Golddiggers," is finished, Stanley will be playing the best rooms in Las Vegas and New York.

TV CREDITED

"Today the only real way to get recognition and big money is through television," he said. "Before the summer shows I was getting, tops, $750 a week when I worked. Now I can shoot for $10,000."

★ ★ ★

Handleman's low-key style develops slowly and much of the time he permits the audience to anticipate, with delicious dread, his punchlines.

★ ★ ★

"Like I tell them how I've just read that to be successful in dealings with people you have to say something about the other person that will make a deep impression," he explained.

★ ★ ★

"I tell them how I was looking for this job and when the man started to interview me, I was going to make a big impression. So I started the interview by saying, 'I see that you're bald.' The audience usually screams —see, they identify."

ABC skipped a rerun of "The Flying Nun" Thursday night to give a half-hour sampling of the cartoon shows that will fill its Saturday morning hours.

★ ★ ★

The shows seem to be the standard mix of music with animal and human characters in wildly exaggerated situations that children, presumably, know is all in fun.

★ ★ ★

"The Catteneoga Cats" is a musical cartoon with a portion devoted to the pursuit of a fast-riding mouse on a motorcycle by a bumbling cat. Another, about auto racing, is located on a track. Still another is an adventure series about two high-flying boys and their father. The cartoon villains are more amusing and maladroit than evil, and virtue triumphs easily.

★ ★ ★

There is nothing particularly scary—or novel—in the assortment, but they probably will keep the little ones quiet if anyone wants to sleep late.

Most Taxpayers in California to Receive Discounts

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Most of the state's income taxpayers will receive discounts in 1970 under a bill signed Thursday by Gov. Ronald Reagan.

The bill, involving a total of $84 million, permits Californians to deduct 10 per cent of their 1969 income tax bills from their 1970 payments. Deductions are limited to $100 for single persons and $200 for married couples.

Signing the measure with what he called "great delight" Reagan said:

Circuit Court to Air Protest

By ED BLUNDEN

A crowd of about 600 persons was informed at a rally last night its protests against half-day classes in the Waterford School District will end up in circuit court.

A suit against the district, which initiated half-day sessions for 4,400 pupils to save money this semester, will be heard at 2 p.m. Wednesday by Judge William J. Beer. (A hearing scheduled for today was postponed at the request of the school board's attorney.

★ ★ ★

Meanwhile, school officials declined comment, they said, because they have been taken to court on the issue.

Related Stories, Page B-4

The crowd jammed to overflowing the VFW Hall at 1690 Airport for the 90-minute meeting. A question-and-answer session was held by a panel headed by Mrs. Raymond Swindell, 5508 Pleasant.

3 GROUPS UNITED

Mrs. Swindell said the crowd represented three separate groups that had formed independently to fight the issue but now had joined forces. "The whole thing started over a coffee klatch and now look what's happened," she said.

At the conclusion of last night's meeting donations were asked to help pay three lawyers to pursue the case. Mrs. Swindell announced this morning that $490 had been spontaneously donated. From $750 to $1,000 is needed and additional donations are being received at her home.

★ ★ ★

The three lawyers on the case are Frances R. Avadenka, Stanley Kurzman and Eugene Pool.

Kurzman told the crowd, "We are not convinced the school board does not have sufficient funds to provide 180 full days of school . . . not half days or hours."

'NOT OUR PROBLEM'

He also said restoring the full sessions would mean the board would have to come up with 65 more teachers. "But that's not our (the crowd's) problem, it's the board's problem."

Also speaking was State Rep. Loren Anderson, R-Waterford Township. He said "You came here because you want full school days, 180 days as you know it and I know it (to be)." He urged the group to seek more state school aid.

★ ★ ★

The school board initiated half-day sessions after three millage-increase election failures in the last two years. The district has an extra-voted 15 mills in property tax, but lags in per-pupil property valuation. Waterford has $8,900 in assessed property value behind each pupil while Pontiac, for example, has $20,000.

These figures are in a December 1968 report of the Oakland County Intermediate School District.

School Board Attorney John Rogers estimated the court litigation could cost the board anywhere from $500 if the case were dismissed immediately in circuit court to more than $5,000 if it goes to the Michigan Supreme Court.

Pontiac School Board Audience Urges Appointment Of John Perdue As Assistant Superintendent

By MARY SUNDSTROM

The threat of a districtwide teacher boycott of schools on Monday and a recall drive against four Pontiac School Board members followed in the wake of an emotional board meeting last night, in which a third assistant superintendent was named.

Dr. William Edmonds of St. Petersburg, Va., was appointed to the post by a 4-3 vote of the board.

About 150 teachers were among an estimated 400 persons at the meeting, to urge appointment of John F. Perdue, Pontiac school-community human relations director, to the new position.

Board members Russell Brown, John Irwin, Mrs. Lucille Marshall and Mrs. Elsie Mihalek voted in favor of Edmonds, director of the Virginia State College graduate school.

'BETTER QUALIFIED'

They all said they felt Edmonds was the better qualified for the position because of his educational background and experience in the fields for which he will be responsible in his new post.

The teachers and administrative staff of Jefferson Junior High School this morning began a drive to recall the four board members who voted against Perdue.

"At the board of education meeting last night, we were shocked and sickened at the complete lack of feeling, understanding and judgment exhibited by board members Russell Brown, Irwin, Mrs. Marshall and Mrs. Mihalek, that they could turn thumbs down on the hiring of John Perdue after witnessing the support for him by teachers, administrators, parents and students, who demonstrated almost on their hands and knees their obvious desire to have him serve in this position," said Darryl Lee, assistant principal at Jefferson and spokesman of the group.

Mrs. Michelle Peterson, a spokesman for a parents group of parents at the meeting, said her group also would initiate a recall campaign against the four.

'FAMILIARITY, RAPPORT

Various spokesman in the crowd said they supported Perdue because of his familiarity with community problems, his rapport with both the blacks and whites in Pontiac and his 13 years of experience in the Pontiac school system, in all phases of teaching and administration.

Members of the audience said that although Edmonds may have had more education than Perdue, he did not have the experience and does not know the community. They feared he would be merely a puppet of the present administration and said he would not be accepted by the community.

The teachers at the meeting agreed to contact others in the system and were to meet at Pontiac Northern High School at 12:30 today to discuss the boycott.

Although a contract between the teach-

By JEAN SAILE

County supervisors yesterday may have moved toward closing their "company store" by replacing clothing handouts with shopping funds.

The County Board of Supervisors voted 14-12 to provide up to $30 per child to each ADC (Aid to Dependent Children) recipient. The funds ($90,000) will be used to supplement federal and state clothing allotments.

★ ★ ★

There are 5,600 school-aged children in Oakland County now cared for by the ADC program, county records show. There was discussion yesterday that should the $90,000 appropriation be used up before next September another appropriation will have to be provided.

The cash program heralded what many considered the end of the county clothing store at 1 Lafayette in downtown Pontiac.

ONE OF A KIND

Termed "the company store" by human resources committee chairman Robert Patnales, R-Royal Oak, the facility is the only one of its kind in Michigan, he said.

Besides meeting the needs of ADC children — some $150,000 worth last year — the store also provides some of the clothing for wards of the Probate Court and for children in foster homes.

Some 800 requests for back-to-school clothes were received by the store this fall prior to yesterday's board action. Miss Ora Hinckley, director of Social Services, said these will be honored at the store.

Beginning this morning, however, the department started writing requests for checks which Miss Hinckley said would then be mailed to the recipients.

IMPASSIONED ORATORY

Brazil Gunmen Grab U.S. Aide

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — Brazil's military junta gave no indication today whether it will free 15 political prisoners to secure the release of kidnaped U.S. Ambassador Charles Burke Elbrick.

Four gunmen intercepted Elbrick's limousine yesterday, chloroformed him and carried him off in a station wagon. They left a lengthy ransom note giving the junta 48 hours — until tomorrow afternoon — to release the prisoners and broadcast a manifesto saying the government was a dictatorship that was exploiting the people.

★ ★ ★

If the junta did not comply, the note said, Elbrick would be executed.

The junta quickly complied with the demand that the manifesto be broadcast.

SAFE CONDUCT

The kidnapers' note told the government to deliver the 15 prisoners to the embassies of Chile, Mexico or Algeria and give them safe conduct to those countries.

The names of the prisoners were not announced, but it was believed they include some of the 29 members of a terrorist group called MR-8 who were arrested in July.

30 Wells Now Dry Because of Project

By DICK ROBINSON

At least 30 residential wells in northern Waterford Township have now run dry because of nearby sewer construction, according to a resident of the area. And there's no immediate relief on the way.

Two fire hydrants in Woodhull Lake Estates subdivision south of Eagle Lake were turned on yesterday for a few hours, but homeowners still have no running water in their homes.

See Photo, Page B-4

He looked at the situation and then at the digging of the cause of the problem Oakland County's giant $28-million Clinton-Oakland Interceptor Sewer.

DRIER SITES SOUGHT

Sewer lines are now being dug at nearby Woodhull Lake where water is being pumped out of the ground to afford drier construction sites.

Water reportedly should return to the wells once construction is past the area, but no estimate of when that could happen has been made.

Anderson said he got a promise from R. J. Alexander, director of the Oakland County Department of Public Works, that, in the future, Alexander would publicly show a map of the project to warn residents in the future who might face dry wells.

"It's time big government started to work with people who pay the bills," Anderson commented. "It all boils down to the fact that better communications and public relations are needed.

RESIDENTS FURIOUS

Affected residents were furious because they couldn't get help. They tried to get some assistance from Waterford Township, the county and even Gov. William Milliken, according to Mrs. Frederick Denne, 4785 Sylvester.

Dems Hit Nixon Tax Relief Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democrats on the Senate Finance Committee are opposing Nixon administration proposals to cut back on relief for low and middle-income families in the House tax reform bill.

Sen. Fred R. Harris of Oklahoma, who is chairman of the Democratic National Committee, has told the administration he is "really appalled that you would do less for the low-income taxpayer than the House bill."

Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., voiced similar views.

Administration officials were called back before the committee again today to discuss the recommendations presented yesterday by Secretary of the Treasury David M. Kennedy.

TAX RELIEF

He said the administration proposal would grant $820 million in annual tax relief to families in the lowest income brackets, compared with $2.7 billion in the House version.

Kennedy emphasized, however, that his plan still would remove 5 million low-income taxpayers from the rolls.

Dem Proposes Work for Poor

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chairman of the House Agriculture Committee says idle but able-bodied poor persons should be put to work before getting federal food stamps, even if the government has to invent jobs for them.

Rep. W. R. Poage, a Texas Democrat who has been in the House since 1937, says he will oppose any extension of the food stamp program unless it includes some requirement for work for the persons able to hold jobs.

Poage said only about 1½ per cent of those getting welfare food stamps fall in the category of able-bodied and eligible for work. But he feared the number would swell to 15 per cent or higher if people believe the government will feed them while they loaf.

★ ★ ★

Poage said President Nixon's welfare program revisions might be adapted to the food stamp program to screen out persons he called "drones and deadbeats." The proposals would require welfare recipients to accept training or work if they were able.

STAMPS, NOT MONEY

"We would pay him only in food stamps," Poage said of the government jobs. "Why give him money? He'd only waste it."

Poage would require an eight-hour, five-day week. This might scare off some persons and force them to get jobs in the private industry, he said.

Ho Hail Sparks Flurry

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Edward I. Koch, D-N.Y., says "whatever we may think" of the late North Vietnamese President Ho Chi Minh, "and knowing that he was a tough and dedicated Communist, we must recognize that he was above all a patriot in his own country."

Anger and Insight Mark Relations Institute

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the first of a two-part series on the three-day Human Relations Institute held in the Pontiac School District.)

By MARY SUNDSTROM

"The key to the whole thing is to let your hair down, be yourself and say what you think."

Speaking was Dr. Joseph C. Paige, director of the U.S. Urbanics Corp., a consulting organization for educational research and training. U.S. Urbanics Corp. was contracted by the school district for $10,000 to conduct the institute, the first of its kind in the country to involve an entire school district.

The purpose was to involve all of the schools' professional personnel in a program designed to increase their awareness of the needs, feelings and aspirations of pupils and their parents, particularly black and Spanish-American pupils and parents.

AIDE TO TEACHERS

"The program should also assist administrators and teachers to translate this awareness into behavior that results in increased motivation of pupils through improved human relationships," said the guide for participant leaders.

For three days, the participants, including some people from the community and some Pontiac students, did let their hair down and did say what was on their minds. At least, it appears a vast majority of the 1,500 participants did.

Many people got mad, some stormed out of their discussion sessions and one teacher (a white woman) reportedly threatened to resign. She apparently told her group that she did not like being interrogated by a black man.

However, most of the participants concluded that the institute was worthwhile, and felt that they had gained some insight into the problems and thoughts of those of other races.

'95 PCT. FAVOR INSTITUTE'

"Ninety-five per cent of the people I have talked to feel that the institute is desirable and ought to be expanded. Those opposed to the institute felt it was a waste of time and school money — they were all older white women and older white men," said Paige, who reportedly took a $15,000 loss for the sake of the opportunity to stage such a large institute.

"However, I think every single person that has attended all or any of the sessions will have felt some impact, even though they may have had to fight it," he added.

Tuesday and Wednesday morning all of the participants squeezed into the 1,100-capacity high school auditorium, and then met in smaller discussion groups led by participant leaders from the school system, trained by Urbanics Corp.

The 70 leaders were trained to lead and direct discussions on hundreds of subjects from housing and racism to teaching problems, police problems and employment.

'HUMANIZING SESSION'

Tuesday morning was a "humanizing session," which was primarily concerned with nonverbal communication, including eye contact, and expressions of such feeling as affection, tenderness and anger by touching, first with eyes closed, then with eyes open.

Most of the touching included hand-holding and embraces, although one participant leader said that he observed kissing in his group.

"Why," prodded the participant leader.

QUESTION CONTINUE

"I don't know. I guess I was raised to be restrained," she answered.

The leader continued to question her, asking if it bothered her to touch a black person. She said it bothered her to touch anyone she didn't know.

* * *

During the non-verbal communications sessions, many of the groups seemed not to take the process seriously, giggling.

"I feel stupid," was a comment heard frequently.

"What did you think about" asked participant leaders of their groups when they concluded the embraces, and hand-holding.

'KNOW EACH OTHER'

"His hand was sweatier than mine," was a frequent answer.

"We feel like we know each other now. I've never met this person before, but I feel like I like her," said one group member.

* * *

FEW CONCLUSIONS

Few of the questionings and discussions led to conclusions.

PERDUE SUPPORTERS

Anderson earlier had voted against a motion to appoint Perdue, but changed his mind following hours of discussion and demonstration of support for Perdue.

* * *

"After hearing what I've heard tonight, I think the board better listen. If it is the consensus of the board or administration that I don't belong here (on the board), then I'll get off it. I think you (the board) better think real hard before you make this decision," he said. He received a standing ovation.

CITIZEN RECOMMENDATION

Both Edmonds and Perdue are black.

The position is the result of a recommendation made by the Citizens Study Council's report on the Equality of Educational Opportunity (EEO).

More than 1,000 teachers, attending the last day of the Pontiac Schools Human Relations Institute for all teachers and administrators, stood up in unanimous support of Perdue yesterday afternoon.

* * *

A four-hour debate followed school Supt. Dana Whitmer's recommendation that Edmonds be hired. Whitmer cited the vast experience and educational preparation of Edmonds in the areas of student personnel services, research and administration and supervision. These areas will come under his supervision as assistant superintendent.

Mrs. Leona Patterson of 282 S. Marshall asked if a doctorate degree was necessary for the position, and if the other two assistant superintendents, Richard Fell and William Lacy, have doctorates.

WHY? . . . WHY?

"Why is it necessary that you have to bring in someone that the community doesn't want, and why does the person need a doctorate when you people don't," she asked.

Although Fell and Lacy both have masters' degrees, neither have doctorates.

* * *

Whitmer said a doctorate is not a requirement for the job. "The level of educational training brings enrichment to the job, however," he said.

A petition signed by more than 800 Pontiac teachers, students and parents, supporting Perdue was presented to the board.

'WE WANT PERDUE'

Chants of "We want Perdue," punctuated the meeting.

A young white teacher who said he represented a group called "Concerned White Teachers" said that they too wanted the appointment of Perdue.

* * *

"There is factor of experience here. We know the value of education, but if there is one man that knows what the community, both black and white, wants, thinks, feels and experiences, it's John Perdue," he said.

* * *

One white woman, near tears, said "As a concerned parent, I am for Mr. Perdue. To see this board, I am ashamed to be white."

RESIGNATIONS DEMANDED

The resignation of Whitmer and the members of the board who voted against Perdue were demanded by a white man. A chant "resign now" was picked up by the audience.

"Can't you see that if Dr. Edmonds came to town today, he'd be run out of town tomorrow," one white man pleaded.

* * *

Phyllis Williams, who said she is an alumnus of Virginia State College, said she knew Dr. Edmonds did not participate in civil rights activities or in community affairs in St. Petersburg, Va., where the college is located.

Edmonds who will be available to the school system on Jan. 1, will receive a salary of about $24,000.

EDMONDS BACKGROUND

He received his bachelor's degree from Hampton Institute, Va.; his master of science degree from Virginia State College; and his master of arts from Columbia University.

He has been business manager and proctor of boys at Palmer Memorial Institute, Sedalia, N.C.; a junior high and visiting teacher for Newport News Public Schools, Va.; juvenile court counselor in Newport News; dean of students at Jackson (Miss.) State College; counselor at City College of New York; division chairman of education and psychology, director of graduate study and academic dean at Alabama A and M College; and chairman of the academic testing program and professor of education psychology at Virginia State College.

Parents Told: Teach Safety

BIRMINGHAM — Parents of Birmingham area children returning to school can help safeguard their children's lives if they teach their youngsters some timely tips about safety, says the Birmingham Police Department.

The police department maintains:

- Children should follow the safe route to and from school mapped out by the administration officials in their school.
- Children should never run into the street, and particularly in midblock between parked cars.
- Children should always obey the directions of the safety patrol boys or the civilian crossing guards at the corners.

POSTERS PUT UP

Birmingham police have put up posters throughout the city this week to warn motorists that youngsters will once again be crossing busy streets. The poster shows a safety patrol boy on his corner, with the message "School — Watch Out for Kids."

Police Chief Daryl Bruestle explained that the back-to-school period each year can be marred by a senseless tragic accident.

* * *

"These accidents generally happen to children starting kindergarten and through the third or fourth grade. If drivers are alert for the small youngsters and expect them to do the unexpected, these accidents can be avoided," Bruestle said.

The chief said that seven corners in the city would be manned by civilian crossing guards to direct the children. At present, four of these positions are unfilled and will be covered by regular personnel until they are.

Frank McGinnis of 3802 Crestlake will narrate his 90-minute color film on "Europe's Fabulous Rivieras" at 8 p.m. Sunday in the Ford Auditorium, Detroit.

McGinnis' presentation will open the 36th season of the Christian Culture Series. The series features other notable performers and lectures such as the Vienna Boys Choir, Detroit Symphony, the Gabriele Brass Ensemble and the 1970 Christian Culture Award medalist, Andrew M. Greeley.

On hand to listen were nearly 30 ADC mothers, some children and some interested observers.

The idea of cash payments had been referred to the board without recommendation by the finance committee.

The concept had received the recommendation of the Social Services Department, the Social Services Board and the human resources committee, however.

VOUCHER DEFEAT

An amendment was proposed by Wallace Gabler, R-Royal Oak, to provide parents with vouchers rather than cash. The vouchers could have been spent at approved stores. The amendment was defeated by a vote of 17-9.

Only one supervisor, board vice chairman Alexander Perinoff, D-Southfield, was absent from yesterday's meeting.

* * *

Party lines were crossed on the voting as Democrats Charles B. Edwards of Madison Heights, Thomas O'Donoghue of Ferndale and Niles Olson of Orion Township voted against cash payments. Democrats reportedly had caucuased Wednesday night to determine their stand.

Republicans Pantales, Fred Houghten of Avon Township and Mary Bawden of Birmingham voted with the Democratic majority to provide the cash aid.

SESQUICENTENNIAL FUNDS

The controversy over the $90,000 appropriation for welfare supplements was a contrast to the ease with which the board approved a $50,000 appropriation for the county's 150th birthday celebration next year. Supervisors had hopes, however, that the latter might be regained from celebration proceeds.

* * *

By JIM LONG

A state senator from Oakland County said today he and another senator attempted to delay federal legal proceedings against Peter Lazaros only to give the underworld informer an opportunity to testify before the Oakland County Grand Jury.

Senator Robert J. Huber of Troy explained that he and Sen. George W. Kuhn of West Bloomfield Township, both Republicans, interceded in the hope of keeping Lazaros out of prison if found in contempt of court before Federal District Judge Thomas P. Thornton.

* * *

Court records reveal that the two senators met with Thornton Aug. 23 in Detroit to ask him to delay proceedings against Lazaros for 90 days.

The meeting came the same day Lazaros was cited for contempt by Thornton, who is conducting a federal grand jury probe into allegations made by Lazaros, and four days before the former Mafia moneyman was indicted on 12 counts of perjury.

* * *

"If he had been found guilty of contempt, Lazaros could have been put away immediately," Huber said.

Huber said if Lazaros had been sentenced to prison for contempt, it would have been impossible for him to testify in Oakland County.

* * *

The contempt citation was dropped against Lazaros of 2410 Dalesford, Troy, several days later when Thorton ruled that Lazaros had later purged himself by answering directly questions that had been put to him.

"It wasn't a matter of us taking sides with Lazaros," said Huber. "Right from the beginning we just wanted to know if Lazaros' allegations about public officials in Oakland County were true."

"We must separate the truth from the fiction," said Huber, adding that Lazaros "has told me a couple of lies."

Both Huber and Kuhn have been deeply involved in a series of investigations into Lazaros' allegations. They consider themselves a moving force in bringing about the grand jury in Oakland County.

* * *

Huber said he already has appeared before Grand Juror Robert J. Colombo to testify.

Huber said the perjury charges has cast a shadow over Lazaros' credibility, but noted that it was State Attorney General Frank J. Kelley and Col. Frederick Davids who signed the petition for the county grand jury based on Lazaros' accusations.

GMC Truck Sales Hit August High

GMC truck sales totaled 10,940 in August, an all-time record for the month and a 16.2 per cent increase over last year, Martin J. Caserio, a GM vice president and general manager of GMC Truck & Coach Division, reported today.

The former divisional record for August was 10,498 set in 1965. GMC truck sales were 9,418 in August last year.

* * *

Record truck deliveries of 99,315 through the first eight months of 1969 were seven per cent above the 92,818 sales over the same span last year, Caserio said.

Combined truck and coach deliveries of 11,002 last month also shattered the previous August record of 10,666 set in 1966, he said.

* * *

August was the 10th of last 11 months in which records for comparable months have been established by combined GMC truck and coach sales, Caserio added.

participants think" the leader said.

"Are white people basically threatened by Negro people," was a discussion topic in one group.

'NOT THREATENED'

"Well, I've never known any colored people, but I'm not afraid of them. I probably wouldn't walk down the street in a Negro neighborhood," said one white teacher who works in an all-white school.

★ ★ ★

"I think that one thing that would eliminate fear of black people is exposure to them," exclaimed one white woman.

"How do you feel about socializing with people of the other races?" asked the leader.

TEST WHITES

"I've taught in many white schools. If some of the teachers were planning a social event, more times than not they would cancel it if they knew my husband and I were coming," an older black teacher said.

"Many times, we will test white people. For example, if we see a white person we know, we will purposely ignore him just to see if he will speak first," a young black man teacher said.

"For hundreds of years, black people have historically 'loved' or emulated white people. Now you say you didn't — now you say you hate us," a white woman stormed.

"Do white people hate or fear black people, or do black people hate or fear white people," the participant leader prompted.

HEATED DISCUSSION

In another group, a heated discussion of who is responsible for prejudice against the Negro race was taking place.

Most of this group's participants blamed prejudice on parents.

★ ★ ★

"Young children are not prejudiced against someone of another race. A white boy may be playing with a black boy — until his mother sees him, drags him inside and tells him never to play with the black child again. He usually isn't given an explanation," said a white student.

One man blamed the church.

SUNDAY SEGREGATION

"One of the most segragated times in America is at 11 o'clock Sunday morning," he said.

How do you change prejudiced attitudes, the leader asked.

"I don't think we can. I don't think there's much hope for our society. You can't change society," a white man said.

"Yes, but many of the younger generation are changing. There is more interracial marriage, and more acceptance of it. Young people haven't given up," an older white man teacher said.

BETTER FOR BLACKS?

"Is it getting better for black people," the leader asked.

"No," said a white man.

"No," echoed a black woman.

★ ★ ★

There are more black people in professional jobs, but they still have to struggle harder than white people to get there."

"Should everyone marry someone of another race?"

"Yes," a white man answered. "The only way many whites are going to accept the blacks is to have to accept them within the family structure."

CONVERSATIONS VARY

Some of the conversations were volatile; some were dull and strained.

In the heted discussions, everyone — both black and white — seemed to be venting their feelings. The dull group were hesitant and conservative.

★ ★ ★

Paige said when he heard of groups that had slowed down or were dull, he sent in one of his staff members to "plant" conversations.

Witness Admits Drinking

PONTIAC (AP) — Attorneys defending Vito and Anthony Gi-acalone and four other men in an extortion conspiracy trial held temporarily in a Pontiac tuberculosis sanatorium sought Thursday to discredit a major prosecution witness who testified through a cloth surgical mask.

Three days of testimony taken in a makeshift courtroom in the basement of the Oakland County Sanatorium ended Thursday after defense attorneys got patient Edwin R. Scott, 36, of Warren to admit he had "five or six beers" prior to an alleged beating by two of the defendants.

Scott had testified Wednesday that James Karalla, Jr., 34, and Michael Katranis, 29, beat and kicked him on May 7, 1968, when he failed to make scheduled payments on four high-interest loans.

★ ★ ★

Katranis and Karalla are among six men charged with conspiracy to extort money at exorbitant rates using threats. The others include the Giacalone brothers, Clarence Stephans, 43, and Bernard Marchesani, 44.

Charger Prices Are Lowered

Chrysler Motors Corp.'s Dodge Division will feature a Charger lineup with lower price offerings in 1970 to enhance an automotive series Dodge officials rate an unqualified success.

"There is no doubt of Charger's popularity," said Robert B. McCurry, Dodge general manager.

"About the only way to improve it though was to lower the price. And this is what we have done for 1970. It took some rearranging, but we think the automotive consumer will like it."

★ ★ ★

A new model added to the lineup will be called simply Charger. It will include a more modest trim package and offer a front bench seat as opposed to the fold-down armrest or bucket seat models. A 225-cubic-inch, Slant Six and a 318-cubic-inch V8 will be the standard six- and eight-bylinder engines.

The standard tunnel-roof Charger will be called Charger 500 in 1970.

Introduced in 1969, Charger Daytona has a tapered front end and is 18 inches longer than other Charger models. The high-performance model sports high fins and a stabilizer on the rear deck.

Another Charger model listed as a high performer is Charter R-T (road and track). It will feature distinctive paint striping, side scoop and the popular "Special Edition" decor package, with leather bucket seats and interior wood-grain treatment.

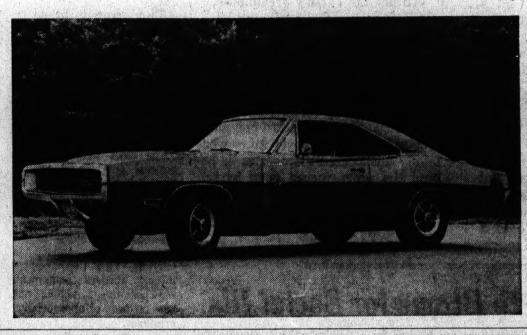
As an added styling touch, color-keyed bumpers will be offered as an option on 1970 models. This includes bright blue, dark green, and various new colors such as "Hemi Orange," "Plum Crazy" and Banana."

Mechanical improvements and innovations for 1970 include improved disc brakes, steering wheel locking device, "rim blow" steering wheel, improved fuel tank impact protection and a low-ratio, more efficient rear axle.



Sporty Luxury in Olds Lineup

The newest addition to the Oldsmobile model line for 1970 is the Cutlass Supreme Holiday Coupe, said John B. Beltz, a vice president of General Motors and general manager of Oldsmobile Division.

The distinctive car is designed to answer growing customer demand for sporty luxury in a personalized kind of automobile, Beltz said in his announcement today.

He said the new coupe and a companion convertible represent an important new element in Oldsmobile's 1970 intermediate lineup, complementing the 4-4-2 and Cutlass 'S' series, whose fast-back coupes have been Oldsmobile's most popular.

"These cars, too," Beltz said, "have been restyled to emphasize their youthful image to an even higher degree."

AREA DEALERS

"The successful look of elegance in our 88s and 98s, Beltz continued, "has been further enhanced in 1970 to make them even more appealing, and the Toronado has undergone the most extensive change in appearance since its introduction in 1965.

The Toronado is a sleeker looking automobile with a distinctive new shape to the wheel openings and a new front end, including a new grille and exposed headlamps.

In addition to the division's restyling program for the new model year, Oldsmobile reemphasized the introduction of several major engine advancements designed to curtail the need for service.

VALUE ROTATION

"Particularly important and exclusive to Oldsmobile in 1970 is the incorporation of a positive valve rotating system on all V8 engines, which extends valve life beyond anything available on today's passenger car engines," Beltz said.

In a major revision of available engines for 1970, Oldsmobile has introduced the 455-cubic-inch V8 as the 4-4-2's standard power plant. It replaces the 400-cubic-inch engine which is no longer required. The 455 will also be used as part of the performance option for the new Cutlass Supreme coupe and convertible.

CUTLASS SUPREME — The newest Oldsmobile is the 1970 Cutlass Supreme Holiday Coupe, a car designed to answer customer demand for sporty luxury automobiles. Distinctive features are the notchback roof line, tailored body shape and external ornamentation.

Schedule Corners Wildcats

Agase, a World War II Marine winner of the Bronze Star and Purple Heart, last fall probably felt he was still in Okinawa.

His youthful Wildcats were bombarded successively by Southern California, Purdue, Notre Dame and Ohio State in four of their first five starts.

That punishing start led to an eventual feeble 1-9 season record.

This season, Northwestern opens on the road against Notre Dame and Southern California and then catches UCLA which hopes to dethrone Southern California in the Pac-Eight race.

ROUGH START

That's a rough prelude to a Big Ten schedule which includes back-to-back starts against Purdue and national champion Ohio State Oct. 25 and Nov. 1.

★ ★ ★

"I know schedules are made years in advance," said affable Agase, starting his sixth Wildcat season. "But this is getting to be like inheriting a time bomb which goes off early every fall."

★ ★ ★

Agase, whose best overall record of 4-6 came a year after he replaces Ara Parseghian in 1964 still is stoutly optimistic although obviously undermanned, as usual, at privately-owned Northwestern.

"We're going to play wide open football and we are well equipped to throw the bomb," said Alex, whose Cats last season tied Illinois for eighth in the Big Ten at 1-6.

YOUNG TALENT

"We have enough good sophomores to wind up playing a dozen or so of them, instead of the usual five or six."

With much higher scholarship costs, Northwestern has to worry more about quick development of new talent than the other state-financed Big Ten schools.

That is especially true since the early meatgrinder phase of the Wildcat schedule tends to quickly deplete veterans through injuries.

Agase re-installed the flanker this spring to utilize the passing talent of quarterback Dave Shelbourne, one of 11 returning starters. Dave last season flipped most of a school record 312 tosses. He hit on 105 of 251 passes for 1,358 yards and 7 touchdowns.

★ ★ ★

"We'll try to spread our opponents all over the field and if they stayed bunched on defense, we'll pepper them with passes," said Agase.

RUNNING PRESSURE

"We'll throw 30 or 35 times a game, but still try to maintain running pressure with such experienced ball carriers as Mike Adamle and Mike Hudson."

New Mott High School Opens

Waterford Township Mott High School students have found a home, and they like it.

Seniors were given the honor of being the first students to use the $4.7-million school at Pontiac Lake and Scott Lake roads yesterday.

* * *

But all the students — 1,300 — will be facing some inconvenience at their new home until about Christmas when the building is expected to be finished.

THEY DON'T MIND

Still, the students say they don't mind eating lunch in classrooms because the cafeteria isn't finished or attending science lectures until they can perform experiments in finished laboratories or not being able to use the unfinished gym.

Mott High School, created two years ago, has been holding classes at Mason Junior High School and Waterford Township High School.

* * *

When the building is completed, it will be one everyone can be proud of, school administrators say.

It will be the home of "the most advanced computer instruction center in the country," says acting Supt. Dr. John Pagen.

COSTLY EQUIPMENT

About $1 million of computer equipment for the school district's federal Indicom — computer based individual instruction — will be installed in the school's media center.

Much of the computer hardware used in the project last year was located in Palo Alto, Calif. The school district transmitted data there.

* * *

A large circular room is divided into smaller classrooms by movable walls. The rooms within the large circular room are called classroom clusters, most of which lead to the media center.

* * *

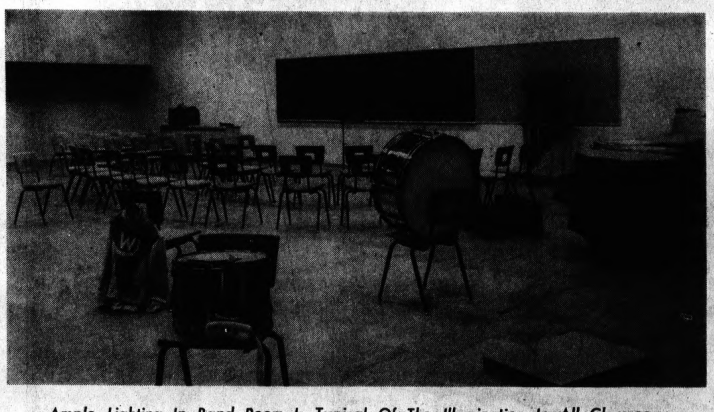
Pontiac Press Photos By Rolf Winter

Workmen continue to put the finishing touches on the new Waterford Mott High School. Construction areas are blocked off to students. Construction started nearly two years ago but was delayed by a construction strike and a bond-issue defeat.

Plenty of space can be found in the school's few hallways. This one is outside the main office door on the right. The gym is down the hall through the far doors. Much of the school is made up of clusters of classrooms.



Ample Lighting In Band Room Is Typical Of The Illumination In All Classrooms

Lower Level Of The Media Center Will Be Lined With Book Shelves

Asks for Matching Cutbacks

Nixon Tests 'Partners'

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — President Nixon is giving his "New Federalism" a key test by asking state and local governments to match the 75 per cent cutback he has ordered on all new federal construction.

Nixon ordered the federal construction cutback for all government agencies Thursday, effective immediately. But he did not order similar cuts on state and local projects that are aided by federal government grants.

* * *

* * *

"The President has great faith in what he likes to think of, or describe as, 'The New Federalism.' He likes to leave as much discretion as possible to state and local authorities. The President, therefore, would like to see state and local governments take action on their own in accord with the national policy."

'WOULD TAKE ACTION'

Nixon said, however, that he would restrict federal grants for construction projects if the states and localities do not respond promptly and in a manner he thinks is sufficient to meet his urgent "plea for partnership in action."

* * *

The cutbacks Nixon ordered affect all federally financed construction except what he described as projects of "highest social priority." Burns said these include hospitals and some public housing.

* * *

The Budget Bureau will have to select the top priority projects and some may "end up on the President's desk" for a decision, Burns said.

* * *

COSTS, DEMANDS CITED

Nixon said the limitations would continue until conditions ease in the construction industry, which he said has been plagued by exorbitant costs and heavy demand.

* * *

Nixon declared in a statement from the Western White House that "although the action will cause some hardships, it will also release resources for home building where the need is great and where severe strains are already being felt."

* * *

* * *

Building wages rising at an annual rate of 15 per cent; cost of construction of office buildings, industrial plants and apartment houses rising 12 per cent or more, and the cost of building one-family homes going up sharply.

$300-MILLION REDUCTION

While construction as a whole is booming, Burns noted, housing starts have declined from 1.9 billion early this year to approximately 1.3 million now.

* * *

Nixon's order would cut back about $1.6 billion in construction contracts for the remaining 10 months of this fiscal year. Since there is a lag in actual spending, Burns said it would mean a reduction in federal outlays of about $300 million.

* * *

Federal grants in aid to the states and local construction are larger. Such contracts total $4.5 billion and a 75 per cent cutback would offer actual expenditures of $700 million for the remainder of the fiscal year.

* * *

Nixon called on business to cooperate by postponing projects that are not immediately essential and he urged a massive increase in federal job training programs to overcome shortages of skilled construction workers.

Army Gives GI 7 Days to Repaint Psychedelic Car

FT. BRAGG, N.C. (AP) — The Army has given Spec. 5 Harold McCurry seven days to repaint his psychedelic car or get it off the post.

* * *

Three weeks ago McCurry, 22, of Marion, and a friend painted the car in swirls of nine colors, and plastered a decal of a flower on the back window.

* * *

McCurry says he even was told that the word "love," which is written on the doors, violated a regulation prohibiting advertising on motor vehicles registered on the post.

* * *

He has not decided what he will do.

It is estimated that there are now 21 million former cigarette smokers in the nation, including 100,000 physicians.

Crash Injures 2 Supervisors

The chairman of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors and the board's Democratic caucus leader were injured slightly in a four-car accident yesterday afternoon as they were momentarily stopped for construction work on Telegraph Road.

Bloomfield Township police said Charles B. Edwards Jr. and Phillip O. Mastin suffered minor injuries when Edwards' car was struck from the rear by one driven by John R. Wesmer, 40, of 160 Winry, Rochester.

* * *

The impact reportedly pushed Edwards' car into one driven by Hugh M. Acree, 45, of 2275 Duck Lake Road, Highland Township, and Acree's vehicle was in turn pushed into one driven by Edward Edens, 45, of 3967 Lawley, Pontiac. None of the drivers sought hospitalization, however Edwards and Mastin were treated later at the Oakland County Sanatorium for abrasions, police records show.

The accident occurred at 2:34 p.m. on Telegraph, 350 feet north of Hood. Edwards said he and Mastin were returning to the Courthouse from lunch at the Kingsley Inn, 1475 Woodward, Bloomfield Hills. The board chairman said his car was wrecked totally.

No tickets were issued.

Bandits Take $80, Chicken Dinner

Two armed bandits last night got away with $80 and a chicken dinner from the Chick-N-Joy carry-out restaurant.

Workers at the restaurant, 756 N. Perry, said one of the men came into the restaurant about 7 p.m. and ordered a chicken dinner.

* * *

While the $1.50 dinner was being prepared, another man came in and sat with the first one. When the dinner was ready, both men pulled revolvers on the cashier and ordered him to hand over all the money in the cash register.

Witnesses said the pair fled on foot.

John Collins Is Arraigned in Sex Slaying

ANN ARBOR (AP) — John Norman Collins, a 22-year-old Eastern Michigan University student, was arraigned today on a first-degree murder charge in the latest of seven unsolved slayings of young women in the Ann Arbor-Ypsilanti area.

* * *

Collins is accused of strangling to death Karen Sue Beineman, 18, who was a freshman at the university.

* * *

District Judge John Conlan set Sept. 17 as the date for hearing defense motions, including a request that the trial be moved to another county because of heavy publicity about the case.

Miss Beineman disappeared July 23 after last being seen riding a motorcycle with a man identified as Collins. Her nude and sexually molested body was found three days later on an obscure road on the outskirts of Ann Arbor.

Unlicensed Driver Gets Year in Jail

Oakland County Circuit Judge William J. Beer imposed the sentence on Lonnie Penland, 21, of 843 Inglewood.

* * *

It was Penland's second conviction on the same charge.

Before being sentenced, Penland pleaded for mercy because his wife is pregnant, but Judge Beer told him, "On a matter of this kind there is no sympathy."

Two Get $100 in City Holdup

Kurnik's Market, 81 N. Roselawn, was held up about 8:50 p.m., police said.

* * *

The pair entered and went immediately to the rear of the store, where they ordered the cashier to give them all the store's money, police said.

Downtrend Continues

Stock Market Settles Lower

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market settled lower in moderate trading early today as it continued the downtrend that carried through Thursday.

* * *

The market fell back on a wide front Thursday with the Dow Jones industrial average losing 10.37 to 825.30. It was the most the DJI had lost in a single day since July 28 when it fell 11.83. The Associated Press 60-stock average was off 2.5 at 290.7.

The decline was attributed in part, to disappointment at the market's failure to continue the advance of late last week as well as to continuing uncertainty about the domestic economic situation. Uncertainty over the Vietnam situation because of the death of Ho Chi Minh also was cited.

Prices were mixed on the American Stock Exchange.

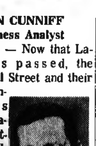
By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK — Now that Labor Day has passed, the pundits of Wall Street and their likes in financial centers around the nation are expecting some stock market action. The problem is: They don't know what the action will be like.



CUNNIFF

One thing is certain: Things happen after Labor Day. The records prove it. As certainly as there is a "midsummer rally" there is a "post-Labor Day break." And about as often, bad bear markets end after Labor Day.

* * *

In the old days, it is alleged, the action came when the tycoons returned from long summers at their spas, well rested and full of zest, eager to make things happen so they could make some money and pay off the crews of the yachts.

There's a bit of the old days around still. Executives like to begin new business around now. They commit money to advertising, make final estimates on capital spending, introduce new products, set sales goals and so on.

ADDS TO CLIMATE

The federal government adds to the climate. It releases its study of capital spending plans right after the holiday. And this year it is expected to participate in another way by offering proof or disproof of its anti-inflation policies.

Ordinarily these factors furnish the market seer with grist, and he grinds out his forecasts by offset, letterpress, mimeograph, spirit duplicator or any other machine available.

* * *

Confidence often oozes from the pages, for seers seldom admit to knowing as little about the future as anyone else. No more than they confess to having missed the bull's-eye in the past, when in truth they missed the target, too.

This year it's different. There is much doubt and some confusion. And it has been going on so long that analysts are openly confessing their weaknesses, revealing without embarrassment that they are only humanly endowed.

DESCRIPTIONS

Descriptions rather than forecasts fill their letters. "The market began September mixed and inconclusive," says one. Another describes the market as "plodding." The daring ones foresee "good values in depressed stocks."

One widely circulated advisory reads:

* * *

"In all probability we are about to enter a period in which the right stocks should be accumulated as they move lower. . ." Nobody is likely to dispute that.

* * *

Neither is anyone likely to disbelieve the open confession that follows: ". . . But we do not know yet what desirable issues will decline most, nor do we have anything more than vague notions about the next vogues in equities."

A technical letter advises:

"The unsuccessful drive to break through the July 29 bottom close of 801.96, otherwise termed a successful test of that extreme low point, followed by a recovery of sufficient strength to bring about a new high close of 827.68 on Aug. 18, which new high close surpassed the previous top close. . ."

News in Brief

Community National Tells of Promotions

A. C. Girard, chairman of the Board of Community National Bank, has announced three promotions.

David S. Ritchie, 29, and Lawrence M. Dent, 30, were named assistant cashiers, while John E. Labadie, 29, was appointed as manager of the Clarkston branch.

LABADIE

DENT

Prior to their promotions, Ritchie and Dent worked in the business development department and as credit analysts.

Ritchie of Royal Oak joined the bank in 1966 as a management trainee.

WALLED LAKE OFFICE

A graduate of Williams College, Williams, Mass., he will be based in the Walled Lake office serving as business development officer of the area.

Dent, who has been with the bank since 1968, will be in charge of the master charge department. Married with two children, he resides in Warren.

By DIANNE DUROCHER

Oldsmobile is planning to meet the growing demands of the "now" generation during the next decade, John E. Beltz, the division's general manager and a General Motors vice president, said today at a national press preview of Oldsmobile's 1970 models in Grosse Pointe.

"Today's growing number of responsible young people represents a population front that is moving in and will drastically change our political and social climate," the 43-year-old executive added.

* * *

* * *

JUST COMPLETED

Beltz said that his division has just completed an all-time moded year production by assembling nearly 680,000 units

"Sales, too, are exceeding previous records with prospects excellent that Oldsmobile will chalk up a new high total in calendar year 1969, exceeding the 641,000 units sold in 1968," he added.

* * *

Beltz said that for 1970 Oldsmobile would continue offering cars that are not only desirable but above all, identifiable to our customers with an understandable product lineup.

"This is the reason," he explained, "that Oldsmobile decided to place its new hardtop coupe speciality car at the top of the existing Cutlass series and use the name "Cutlass Supreme."

* * *

Beltz said, "The Cutlass name has a lot going for it.

"This is a car with luxury, but in a trim new size. It gives young people a chance at a class of car never before available in an intermediate."
