ONE COLOR

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — The Apollo 7 space trio and their whirling chariot are performing so well as they sweep into their sixth day in orbit, plans are being made to send three men around the moon on Christmas Day.

Top officials of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration have scheduled a meeting later this week to complete plans for sending Apollo 8 on a swing around the moon in December.

Meanwhile, Apollo 7 will reach the halfway mark of its planned 11-day mission tonight.

Bearded, rested and feeling better, the Apollo 7 astronauts presented a televised lesson in space age cooking and plumbing on the Wally, Walt and Donn show today and then sped on toward the halfway point of their marathon space mission.

For the third straight morning, the tediousness of the flight was broken by the daily television. The TV show was shortened from 11 minutes to nine minutes today because of initial reception trouble at a receiving station at Corpus Christi, Tex.

The show began as usual with Navy Capt. Walter M. Schirra Jr. holding up the usual introductory sign: "Hello from the Lovely Apollo Room High Atop Everything."

Then, in contrast to the hijinks of previous days, the astronauts were more businesslike as they demonstrated some of the things they do in space.

Civilian austronaut Walter Cunningham showed how the astronauts prepare their food as he took a plastic container of breakfast fruit juice and injected cold water in it through a nozzle.

Narrator Schirra said that the rehydratable food could be made palatable with either hot or cold water.

U.S. Denies Bomb Halt Hint

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House said today there has been no breakthrough in Vietnam war negotiations despite widespread reports of a U.S. proposal to halt completely the bombing of North Vietnam.

"The position of the United States with respect to Vietnam remains as set forth by the President and the secretary of state," presidential press secretary George Christian said.

"There has been no basic change in the situation: No breakthrough," he added.

A senior South Vietnamese political official said in Saigon earlier today the United States has proposed a full bombing halt and was discussing the proposal with the Saigon government.

In Paris South Vietnamese diplomats told newsmen they understand the United States had made the proposal as an attempt to further peace negotiations.

Washington officials, although declining to say whether a final settlement has been reached, acknowledged the United States and North Vietnam have been discussing for several weeks a package plan to end the deadlocked talks in Paris.

The Washington officials said a key element of the package is North Vietnam's military restraint in return for a bombing halt.

Also being discussed, they said, is the way the South Vietnamese government and the National Liberation Front — political arm of the Vietcong — would be brought into the second phase of the Paris talks.

BUNKER-THIEN TALKS

The report from Saigon followed two meetings today between U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker and South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu. Later Bunker met a third time with Thieu, who meanwhile had met with his Cabinet and top political, legislative and government figures.

The Saigon source said Thieu told top members of his regime the enemy must guarantee they will not escalate the war if a bombing halt is ordered.

There was no indication during today's 26th meeting in Paris between U.S. and North Vietnamese negotiators of any breakthrough in the talks.

Ambassador W. Averell Harriman, top U.S. negotiator there, told newsmen after the session there had been no talk of the bombing issue.

ANOTHER LULL

There is now another of the periodic lulls in ground fighting in Vietnam and U.S. military estimates show the infiltration of men from the North into the South has dropped roughly one third last month from the summer high of 30,000.

Following the White House statement, the President and his advisers were said to be keeping the situation under constant study. Some knowledgeable officials warned against drawing any long-range conclusions about the future from the statement.

HHH Berates Nixon on the Debate Issue

By United Press International

Hubert H. Humphrey took Richard M. Nixon to task on the debate issue again today, scant hours before the two presidential candidates were to appear on the same platform for separate addresses.

"For eight long years Dick Nixon has been saying around the country that presidential candidates owed it to the American people to debate," Humphrey said.

"Now it seems he's having his seventh crisis. It turns out he isn't ready to debate — not if it means debating with me — not if it means facing up to his record and the Republican record of the past 20 years."

MEMORIAL DINNER

Related Stories, Page B-13

Nixon nailed his stance on the debate question yesterday once again vowing he will not engage in any appearance with third party candidate George C. Wallace.

"I will not allow debates to be used to build up a third-party candidate and thereby fragment the two-party system."

In a position paper issued in Washington today, Humphrey pledged "No child will be hungry at home or at school because his parents are poor" if he is elected, and promised to bring the food stamp program to every county in the nation.

'NEED NEW TEAM'

Nixon, touring the South, told a Knoxville, Tenn., rally yesterday the time has come to "retire the old administration and let a new team in."

In Greensboro, N.C., he said Humphrey was "panicking" because of his trailing position in the campaign and could be expected to be "swinging wilder and wilder."

NATO Briefed on N-Deterrent

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has given NATO allies a detailed outline of how demonstration-type nuclear bursts could be used to show an invading enemy the West was not afraid to resort to such weapons.

The American document was carried to Europe last week by Secretary of Defense Clark M. Clifford.

It assumes added interest due to the Soviets' August invasion of Czechoslovakia although it was prepared before then.

The defense chief submitted the paper to the seven-nation meeting of NATO's nuclear planning group, which advises the alliance how atomic weapons can be used in allied defenses.

CONCLUSIONS SECRET

Conclusions of the study are secret. But in candid conversations with newsmen, U.S. officials suggested one or two well-placed nuclear detonations could be considered in the early phase of a massive, uncontrollable assault by enemy forces over NATO borders.

The idea would be, as one official explained it, to show an enemy "that you were prepared to use nuclear weapons to deter him."

The study also sets forth disadvantages to such a move, among them the possibility that even limited nuclear shots might carry both sides into a devastating major atomic exchange.

GNP Rise Is Less Than Previous Quarter

Economic Slowdown Begun---LBJ Aide

WASHINGTON (AP) — One of the government's principal economic signals, the gross national product, has flashed another SOS about inflation. But the top White House economist says a welcome slowdown already has begun.

The Commerce Department estimated yesterday that the GNP — market value of all of the nation's goods and services — rose in the third quarter by nearly $18 billion, to an adjusted annual rate of $870.8 billion.

It was the fifth consecutive quarter of major increases—bad news when demand exceeds supply and pushes prices up.

The third quarter performance was the equivalent of an annual growth rate of 4.8 per cent. Government economists commonly describe anything above 4 per cent as inflationary.

While he acknowledged that the GNP had taken a "large" step up, Arthur M. Okun, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, noted the total increase was less than the $21.7-billion rise posted in the second quarter.

"It is thoroughly consistent with prospects of a continued slowdown in the fourth quarter," Okun said. "The spurt in consumer spending is most unlikely to be repeated, while the moderating trend in other areas is likely to be extended.

"More generally, I would reaffirm our fundamental assessment that the nation is embarked on a slowdown decisive enough to improve our price performance markedly over time."

Consumer spending, which rose $8.5 billion in the second quarter, was powered by strong automobile buying to an increase of $13.4 billion in the third quarter.

Referring to the 10 per cent income tax surcharge that went into effect in July, Okun said consumer outlays in the quarter revealed "considerable underlying strength in private demand which the program of fiscal restraint could not possibly have checked so soon after going into effect."

Too much restraint in the year ahead, he said, could exact "human costs which would far outweigh any conceivable benefits in achieving a more rapid return to price stability."

Liquor License for Airport Near

A liquor license for the Oakland-Pontiac Airport terminal restaurant will be obtained in about three weeks, it was announced at yesterday's meeting of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors Airport Committee.

David VanderVeen, a board of auditors aide, told the committee the license was obtainable under a state law, enacted last year, that says any county with an airport could obtain a liquor license above and beyond those allocated by the State Liquor Control Commission. Each community is restricted to issuance of licenses according to population.

The license has been applied for under the act and should be approved in about three weeks, VanderVeen said.

After its issuance, the airport committee announced it will study which of several applicants will be given the license for a cocktail lounge - restaurant operation at the airport which is on M59 and Airport Road in Waterford Township.

Johnson Set to Sign Big School-Aid Bills

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation is investing over $10 billion in the education of its young people — college students and slum kids.

The funds, authorized in two bills due to be signed by President Johnson today, extends school and student aid programs for three years and increases funds for work training programs designed to break youngsters from slum poverty cycles.

Contained in the $7.3-billion aid-to-higher-education act is a provision shutting off aid to students convicted of taking part in activities which disrupt a college or university.

Violations of college regulations "of a serious nature" or a civil conviction stemming from disruptions make the student liable to lose federal assistance for two years.

NEW CONTROL AGENCY

The higher-education bill also contains a section removing from the Office of Economic Opportunity the Upward Bound program designed to acclimate ghetto youngsters to campus atmosphere. The Department of Health, Education and Welfare takes the program over.

The $3.1-billion vocational education bill contains a rider which some legislators said would nullify much of the $6-billion federal spending cut decreed by Congress.

Sponsors of the rider said it was intended to remove the power of the President and his Budget Bureau to make any reductions in education funds below the amounts appropriated by Congress.

The biggest authorization in the higher education bill, $3.1 billion, would cover grants and loans for building construction.

DIRECT LOANS

The next biggest item in the bill, $1.87 billion, will make funds available for direct loans to students, federal scholarships, and government insurance of private loans.

About one-quarter of the more than six million students in college use one of these forms of aid.

The bill also contains a number of new programs proposed by the administration.

These include special services for disadvantaged students, grants to strengthen graduate education, provision for cooperative arrangements among colleges in a program called "Networks for Knowledge," specialized types of training for public service personnel in federal, state and local governments, and grants to provide clinical experience in preparation and trial of cases for law students.

Torch Ignites '68 UF Drive

By LOIS FRIEDLAND

A dual torch-lighting ceremony marked the official kickoff of the 1968 Pontiac Area United Fund campaign for $1,130,000 last night. A torch at Pontiac Mall and another at City Hall were lighted as symbols of hope that this year's goal would be reached.

Alger V. Conner, campaign chairman, radioed instructions for the torch lightings from a kickoff ball at the Holiday Inn.

Conner told the 200 campaign workers at the ball: "It is my hope that people in our community view these flames with pride and dedication . . . as they light our way to a successful campaign. Let us all remember the flames of these torches stand for the hope of our 55 agencies and the services they provide our community. I feel we will remember, we will come through . . . to an 'over the top' victory!"

Members of the Boy Scouts, Camp Fire Girls, Salvation Army and Red Cross joined in the torch lighting ceremonies by passing a hand torch from one to another — to symbolically represent the agencies and their services to people — before the big torches were lighted.

'Big Four' Meeting on U.N. Is in Works

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Signs pointed today to Big Four acceptance of Secretary General U Thant's proposal that their foreign ministers meet to discuss ways of bolstering the United Nations as a peace force.

However, U.N. delegates generally felt no date for a meeting could be set until after the U.S. presidential election; they pointed out that President Johnson could not commit the next administration to any such parley.

Foreign Secretary Michael Stewart of Britain told a news conference Monday he did not foresee a Big Four meeting before next year.

A spokesman for Thant said he had received unofficial reactions that were "not negative" from Stewart, French Foreign Minister Michel Debre, Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko and U.S. chief delegate J. R. Wiggins.

MADE PUBLIC

Thant made public yesterday letters he had sent more than a week ago to the four foreign ministers.

A spokesman said that he had received no reaction from Rusk, but Wiggins called on Thant late Tuesday to discuss the matter.

SUGGESTS MEETING

He suggested that the foreign ministers meet to discuss such matters as the financial situation of the United Nations, disarmament, U.N. peace-keeping and peace-building functions, and guidance and support for the mission of Gunnar Jarring, the secretary-general's Middle East envoy.

Thant had hoped that the ministers would get together during the current assembly session to discuss the issues, but all four have gone home.

Cost of Car Repairs Criticized by Nader

By ED BLUNDEN

Ralph Nader continued his attack on the auto industry yesterday in two Oakland County appearances.

Writer of the best-seller, "Unsafe at Any Speed," he appeared at Oakland Community College's Orchard Ridge Campus in the afternoon and at the Cranbrook School Auditorium in Bloomfield Hills last night.

At OCC he gave a press conference to area newspapers and radio and television stations. At Cranbrook he delivered a prepared speech and took part in a panel discussion.

In both sessions he hit at a new aspect of criticism of U.S. autos — built-in costs that run into millions of dollars for the consumer.

MOST OF PROFITS

He charged the auto makers actually make most of their profits from sale of replacement parts.

Nader, since his original exposure to the public via his book, has turned his energies to other consumer interests including packaging and clothing.

Although he doesn't drive, Nader still rates cars as his favorite target, and he promised coming disclosures "on the spectacular side" in regards to auto repairs.

He said the disclosures will be made in late November before Sen. Philip Hart's Antitrust subcommittee.

COST OF CAR REPAIRS

The hearings will concern how the cost of car repairs rose 50 per cent in seven years, he said.

As an example, Nader cited the design of car bumpers. He said that a two-mile-per-hour collision can result in a $75 to $100 repair bill.

Nader said a Detroit insurance executive told him that the bumper designs are costing "a cool billion dollars a year."

CITES FUEL PUMPS

He also cited fuel pumps claiming a $1 bearing is the chief cause of breakdown, but a replacement costs $30 to $50.

A fuel pump could be designed so that the $1 bearing could be replaced instead of the whole pump, Nader insisted.

Nader charged the auto industry is "wilfully and consciously jacking up the cost of repair bills."

After increased car prices for 1969 were announced by most companies last month, Nader had contended they were unnecessary and that a cost-reduction was more logical. He defended his stand before questioning yesterday.

POINTS TO LABOR COST

He repeated his calculation that labor cost on an average Ford sedan was $300. Some authorities have since contested his calculations and Nader challenged them to appear before the Senate hearings and refute him.

Nader is deemed the man most responsible for the Auto Safety Act of 1966, which calls for government-regulated safety features on 1968 cars.

He said many of the features of the law had been complied with and that "they're on the right track."

More government and consumer participation in auto designs are looked forward to by Nader, however.

He said he soon expects to see a prototype car built through government research grants. He said this kind of safety car would show the auto industry how it could be done.

In response to questioning on new models, Nader said the horsepower race is on again. "Even American Motors has succumbed," he remarked.

In viewing the coming national election in the light of auto safety, Nader said the best thing that could occur would be if Nixon were president, but a Democratic Congress prevailed. He indicated auto safety would become an issue between factions in that event.

Czech Reported Okaying Terms for Soviet Stay

MOSCOW (AP) — Czechoslovak Premier Oldrich Cernik returned to Prague today after two days of Kremlin talks to complete a treaty legalizing the Soviet occupation of his country.

Unofficial reports said agreement was reached yesterday on terms of the treaty giving formal approval to the presence in Czechoslovakia of troops from the Soviet Union and other Communist countries.

Informed sources said Cernik would present the treaty to government officials in Prague for their approval and a signing ceremony will be held "in the nearest future," probably in Prague.

KOSYGIN TO SIGN

Kosygin is expected to sign for the Soviet Union.

A brief communique yesterday said the Czechoslovaks and the Soviets "exchanged views on . . . the question of the terms for the temporary stay of Soviet troops" in Czechoslovakia.

Details were not revealed, but reports from Prague have indicated the Soviets want to keep between 50,000 and 100,000 troops in the country. Estimates of the total occupation force range from 275,000 to 600,000.

The Russians promised to start pulling out troops as soon as liberalizing trends in Czechoslovakia were halted and the position of the Communist party was strengthened. The absence of criticism in the Soviet press in recent days indicates progress is being made toward those goals.

ASKS ASYLUM

Amid the negotiations between the Kremlin and Czechoslovakia, officials in Bern reported the arrival in Switzerland of former Deputy Premier Ota Sik and said he had asked for political asylum.

Sik was the author of the economic reform program which touched off the liberalization drive in Czechoslovakia. He resigned after violent Soviet criticism made apparent that his removal was one of the occupation's goals.

Board Spurns Report-Card Change Foes

BIRMINGHAM — A petition from a group of Westchester Elementary School parents asking for a delay in the trial implementation of a revised report card at that school was denied by the board of education at last night's meeting.

Parents, students and teachers discussed the report card issue for nearly two hours. They were nearly evenly divided on its implementation, said school officials.

The new report card uses an "S," meaning the student is doing satisfactory work, or an asterisk, which indicates the student needs more work in the noted area.

Dr. John B. Smith, superintendent of Birmingham schools, said the new report card is coming into national use.

NOT CONCRETE

Many of the dissenting parents held that the new grading method is not a concrete recognition for the children's accomplishments, and that the children as well did not want the new card.

With the denial of the petition, the pilot program for the new report card will begin with the second marking period.

A proposed policy on the administration of medication to school children was discussed. The school district has not had such a policy.

The proposal would allow medication to be administered to students upon the written request of parents by administrators, teachers and nurses in accordance with procedures to be established by the superintendent of schools.

ACTION SCHEDULED

Action will be taken on the proposal at the Nov. 19 board meeting.

A proposed change in awarding extra credit for accelerated and honors courses, under study for three years, was presented to the board.

The change would discontinue granting extra quality points in accelerated and honors courses and would provide that the only acceptable grades in these courses be A, B or C.

Action will be requested on this matter at the Nov. 19 meeting.

FINAL EXAMS

A proposed revision of policy covering final examinations at the 12th grade level was presented to the board.

The proposal, which also will be acted on Nov. 19, would give any senior with a "B" or better average in any course the prerogative of not taking the final examination.

campaign film "The Day Love Dies" was shown to volunteers at the ball.

The film contrasts the decline of the Mayan civilization in Mexico's Yucatan Peninsula to modern-day civilization. The film and speakers are available to organizations and businesses upon request at the United Fund office, 132 Franklin Blvd.

Following the film, Fred Poole, president of the Pontiac Area United Fund Board of Trustees, addressed the group at the Holiday Inn with a message geared toward individual responsibility.

"I feel that each of us, as a volunteer worker and contributor should not only lend lip service to the support of our agencies, but to put our shoulders behind this cause with strength, action, and a sincere feeling of responsibility toward helping people," Poole said.

AREA GOALS

The campaign runs through Nov. 8. The divisional breakdown for the goal, which is 10 per cent more than the amount raised last year, is: community $89,676; commercial $294,274; manufacturing $40,780; General Motors $745,800; Brandon Township $2,654; and special gifts, $20,106.

Baby Is Okay; Found in Bag

A 3-day-old baby girl, found in a shopping bag in a St. Joseph Mercy Hospital restroom Monday, is reported "doing fine" today.

The child, who weighs 3 pounds, was discovered when two laboratory workers saw the shopping bag move. Doctors said the baby was apparently born prematurely, but is in generally good health.

Mrs. Mary Caronis of the Pontiac Police Department's crime prevention bureau said that she and other officers are seeking the infant's mother, who left bottles of milk and water in the shopping bag, along with a note explaining that the abandonment was necessary.

"If we can find the mother we hope something can be worked out so she'll be able to keep the child," said Mrs. Caronis.

Presently, the infant is scheduled for county custody when she grows big enough to be discharged from the hospital.

Malaysia Aborts Talks

KUALA LUMPUR (AP) — Malaysian Prime Minister Tunku Abdul Rahman today called off scheduled talks with the Philippines because of that country's "uncompromising" position on the dispute over Sabah.

Deputy Prime Minister Tun Abdul Razak and Philippine Foreign Secretary Narciso Ramos had been scheduled to meet in Tokyo next week to seek ways of easing tension between their governments. But an aide said Rahman, speaking to a group of visiting New Zealand journalists, "made it clear that for the time being there can be no talks."

3 Profs in U.S. Win Nobel Prize

STOCKHOLM (AP) — the 1968 Nobel Prize for physiology and medicine was awarded jointly today to three American professors. They are Robert Holley of Cornell University, Ithaca, N.Y., Har Gobind Khorana of the University of Wisconsin and Marshall Warren Nirenberg of the National Heart Institute, Bethesda, Md.

They got the prize for their interpretation of the genetic code and its function in protein synthesis.

The worlds most coveted medical distinction has a record cash value this year of $70,000. The three Americans will share equally.

The decision was taken by the Swedish Royal Caroline Institute of Medicine and Physiology, which said the three scientists had worked independently, but that their investigations converged toward the solution of a common problem.

CODE CLARIFIED

Nirenberg, 41 and a New Yorker, opened this research area by a very simple but ingenious experiment and by following up his breakthrough he could clarify the general character of the genetic code, the Caroline Institute faculty said.

Dr. Khorana, born in Raipur, India, in 1922, and Holley, born the same year in Urbana, Ill., probed the fine structure of the genetic code and explained how it is used by the cell for the biosynthesis of proteins.

Evasive Enemy Puzzles Yanks

SAIGON (AP) — Top U.S. officers don't think the current lull in the Vietnam war means the Communist command is deescalating, but they admitted today they "can't get the enemy to stick around and fight."

"It's hard to forecast what they have in mind," said one officer close to Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, commander of U.S. forces in Vietnam.

Abrams' comments came while U.S. and South Vietnamese officials were reported holding marathon conferences in Saigon on a possible full halt to the bombing of North Vietnam.

* * *

The U.S. Command's communiques did not report a single significant ground action between U.S. and Communist troops. South Vietnamese headquarters reported three clashes yesterday and early today in which a total of 50 Vietcong or North Vietnamese troops were killed.

'LIKE AUGUST LULL'

One American commander noted: "It's just like it was before mid-August. There was a lot of speculation then that the enemy had deescalated." Then the Communist command shattered a two-month lull with a series of sustained attacks on allied bases along the Cambodian border.

Some U.S. officers feel the enemy was hurt badly by thousands of allied troops combing the countryside and seizing huge munitions and food stockpiles in the 3rd corps region between Saigon stashed away for future offensives. Massive air strikes by B52 bombers may be another reason for the enemy's disinclination to fight.

In the 3rd corps region between Saigon and the Cambodian border, three main force North Vietnamese divisions "just seem to have disappeared into the woodwork," said one officer.

"There is no indication why or what they'll do now," he said. "It is extremely frustrating. We're just not getting many prisoners. We can't get the enemy to stick around and fight."

The bulk of the North Vietnamese 7th and 9th Divisions are reported to have pulled back to bases inside Cambodia.

Baby Girls Arrive at Osteopathic

Brothers Become Dads 3 Hours Apart

By JEAN SAILE

Two sons of Mr. and Mrs. Willie Craft Sr., 520 S. Paddock, are scouting the stores for small pink things.

Both former school athletes, they hadn't counted on both wives delivering fragile baby girls, and they certainly hadn't counted on them doing it the same day on Monday.

Mrs. Willie Craft Jr., 20, of 167 Featherstone, gave birth at 3 p.m. in Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital to wee Sherry Ann who weighed in at 7 pounds, 8 ounces.

Sherry Ann was 10 days behind schedule.

REPEATS PERFORMANCE

Mrs. David Craft, 22, of 250 S. Paddock, repeated the performance less than three hours later—sameplace—with tinier Deanne Evett, weighing 5 pounds, 6 ounces.

Deanne Evett was 10 days ahead of schedule.

Said Dr. Stephen Friedman who officiated both times: "They sure ruined my whole office day."

Both are first babies; both are healthy; both mothers are fine.

But the mothers chorused as of yesterday: "One baby is enough!"

Because both fathers work night shifts at Pontiac Motor Division, it will be the girls who meet the night feeding schedule. Willie Jr., however, will get off about 5 a.m. in time for the 6 o'clock feeding, his wife, Shirley, thinks.

David works the midnight-to-8 a.m. shift and his wife, Mable, notes he will effectively miss most of the night calls.

Both fathers say they are not inexperienced in dealing with the babies. The oldest and third oldest of their families, they've had some practice on 11 nieces and nephews.

Both admitted they had cigars saying "It's a Girl!" for distribution at the plant last night.

2 Cities May Reactivate I-696 Route Suits

LANSING (AP)—The issue of where the proposed I-696 Freeway is going may be closed for the state, but at least two communities through which the route would pass have indicated they plan to reactivate suits to stop the highway.

The final plan revealed yesterday in Lansing would place the road in Oakland County between Ten and Eleven Mile roads for the most part, cutting through Lathrup Village, Royal Oak Township, Huntington Woods and Pleasant Ridge.

Officials in Lathrup Village and Pleasant Ridge immediately said they would reactivate suits designed to keep the road out of their communities.

"I hope Gov. Romney is happy," said Royal Oak Township Clerk Nancy Lanier. "We're not." Mrs. Lanier said the route would destroy a complex of new apartment buildings in the township which provide $1 million of the community's $15 million tax base.

LOSING MONEY

"We'll lose sales tax and we'll lose money from the census count," she continued, "but I don't even think we have the money to afford a lawsuit to fight it."

Huntington Woods Mayor Gordon R. Bryant also was unhappy with the ruote unveiled in Lansing, but took a more philosophical outlook.

"You can only fight so hard, and the freeway has got to be," Bryant said. "If we don't have the highway, we'll all strangle to death."

The disputed section would link the I-696 interchange in Southfield with an already approved section of the road that will hook up with the I-94 Freeway in St. Clair Shores.

COST ESTIMATE

When the entire 28-mile road was proposed in 1962, said State Highway Department Managing Director Henrik Stafseth, the estimated cost was $131 million. As a result of the delay, he added, the eight-lane road new will cost $240 million. The cost of the disputed section will be an estimated $96 million for 6½ miles.

Stafseth said about 300 homes would have to be displaced for the road. He said that even without further delay, two years will be needed to redesign the freeway, with completion scheduled for 1974 or 1975.

Further delay would cost an extra $6 million a year Romney said.

The federal government is putting up 90 per cent of the cost of the road because it is part of the interstate highway system.

REACTIVATING SUIT

Pleasant Ridge City Attorney John S. Slavens indicated he would reactivate a suit now pending in Oakland County Circuit Court. "We believe the arbitration is unconstitutional," Slavens said. "We'll challenge the statute which created the monster that took us."

Lathrup Village Administrator Jerald D. Stnoe said he also expected his city to reactivate a county circuit court suit. He said the suit is based on a state law which allows communities to veto highway routes within their borders.

Officials in Southfield, Royal Oak and Oak Park expressed pleasure at the decision by the state arbitrators.

"It was a fair and equitable compromise," said Royal Oak's Mayor L. Curtis Potter, whose community is touched by the route only on the southern edge, along Ten Mile Road. "I hope the other cities can agree. If not, they'll just make more trouble for themselves. The freeway has to happen."

LAWSUITS DROPPED

In Southfield, a group of homeowners dropped a series of pending lawsuits against previously proposed routings when the arbitrators decided in their favor.

Members of the three-man arbitration panel were William G. Bleimeister, a civil engineer from Detroit; John A. Dodds, a Detroit real state consultant, and Boaz Seigal, a Wayne State University law professor.

Avon Planners Meet Tonight on Rezonings

AVON TOWNSHIP — Public hearings on five requests for rezoning will be conducted by the planning commission at its meeting at 7:30 tonight in the township hall.

Slavik Investors, developers of Great Oaks Farm, have requested permission to build multiples on two separate pieces of property.

The second is for multiples on nearly 10 acres of land off Tienken near the railroad tracks.

CORNER OF WALTON

Developer Sidney Weinberger has asked for rezoning to office on two acres at the southwest corner of Walton and Old Perch roads.

A small shopping center is requested at John R and Auburn roads, and four landowners have requested a business classification for land in the southwest quadrant near Rochester and Auburn roads.

Planners expect to hear recommendations from planning consultants and engineers regarding the request to rezone 78 acres south of Avon Road near Livernois for town houses and multiples. Fred Ettinger, owner, proposes to erect 788 units.

Also due for consideration tonight is a proposed mobile-home park in the triangular plot at Auburn, Livernois and M59 freeway.

Troy to Condemn Proposed Park Site

TROY — A 104-acre parcel of land bounded by Square Lake Road, South Boulevard, John R and Dequindre will undergo condemnation proceedings by this city.

City Commission has authorized the proceedings to acquire the property, for which the commission had been unable to work out a purchase agreement.

The now-vacant land will be used for future development into a public park and public recreational facility, according to Paul York, city manager.

The city has been negotiating for several months to acquire the property, owned by Cleary Development Co.

MULTIPLE DWELLING STUDY

The commission also approved a proposal for a $8,600 study of multiple dwellings in Troy.

The study, to be conducted by Vilican and Leman, will include investigation into the future market here of multiple dwellings, planning and zoning implementations, the planning and zoning policies.

The proposed sidewalk construction program for mile roads was again tabled for further study.

The commission denied a rezoning request for the southwest corner of John R and Square Lake roads, to allow construction of a gasoline station.

ZONING HEARINGS SET

A public hearing was set for Nov. 18 on the request of Biltmore Development Co. for rezoning property on the northeast corner of Big Beaver and Coolidge from residential to business.

Another public hearing was set for Nov. 25 for consideration of the proposed rezoning of Section 13, Long Lake and Dequindre, from residential to business and office.

The commission reset a public hearing on rezoning of Lot One of Maplelawn Industrial Subdivision from Oct. 21 to Nov. 11.

Consideration of a proposed water main on Livernois from Lovell to South Boulevard was tabled for further study.

Tax Probe Decision Due

By JEAN SAILE

HIGHLAND TOWNSHIP — Prosecutor S. Jerome Bronson has promised a decision by Oct. 31 on the tax probe initiated here in September, 1967.

The prolonged investigation of alleged inequitable assessing procedure — including charges that some property is not even carried on tax rolls — has been handled by the prosecutor's office and by Det. Max Little of the Michigan State Police.

Said Bronson, "It is truly regrettable that the agencies involved have not been able to collect sufficient data for action."

"I will insist that we have information prior to Oct. 31, and if the agencies involved have not completed their investigation, I will act on the basis of information this office now has," Bronson promised.

Det. Little, contacted by The Pontiac Press, said all information on the case would have to come through the prosecutor's office.

The investigation was initiated by the Highland Township Tax Association more than a year ago. The nearly 100 members of the group claim they have been stalled repeatedly on their request for a decision.

'We'd Just Like A Decision . . .'

It has been the contention of Township Supervisor Louis F. Oldenburg that there are no tax inequities — that "assessments are on the roll to the best of my ability."

He has admitted, however, that lack of adequate personnel has prevented assessments from keeping up with all construction.

TAKEN TO STATE

Taxpayers who have objected to what they consider unequal assessments have reportedly taken the matter to the State Tax Commission.

"We've had no answer there, either," said Walter Kwiek, a trustee of the association.

"In only another two-and-a-half months, we'll be getting new tax bills, and we'll have to go through the same procedure all over again," Kwiek reported.

"Some of the people who are underassessed are protesting our investigation. We'd just like to have a decision to be sure that everyone pays his fair share of the tax load," Kwiek affirmed.

Brandon UF Slates Kickoff

Questions following the speech and a movie will be answered by Donald J. Frey, executive director, PAUF, and Donald M. Millar, associate director, PAUF.

Crowd Called Slim for Talk on Highland Police Funding

By DIANNE DUROCHER

HIGHLAND TOWNSHIP — Interest would not appear to be very high in a proposal to set up a township police force, judging from the turnout last night at a meeting called to discuss utilization of a proposed 1-mill tax increase to finance such a force.

Only about 10 interested citizens showed up to hear the three-man police committee explain the township's request for 1-mill which will appear on the Nov. 5 ballot.

Chester G. Burton, committee chairman, explained that the requested millage is 1 mill per $1,000 on assessed valuation.

"If a home is valued at $20,000 it will be assessed at approximately one-half of that or $10,000. So this property owner would pay $10 toward establishing a township police department."

PAID MONTHLY FEE

Until two months ago the township paid a monthly fee of $13,033 to the Oakland County Sheriff's Department for a second patrol car to police the area in addition to the car the department provided.

The township plans to use the approximately $16,000 toward the financing of its own department.

The proposed 1-mill tax is expected to net approximately $24,000. The combined total amounts to about $40,000.

The estimated cost presented last night to set up a four-man police force was about $35,000. The amount does not include liability or hospitalization insurance for the policemen.

CONDUCTED STUDY

Burton said they made a study of neighboring governments and came up with the police budget. He added that the proposed force would also have reserve men who would work four hours a week to help provide necessary protection.

The force would use the Milford police station as a radio base and the township would still have one county police car patrolling the area.

Other advantages cited for having a township police force were 24-hour police protection, a method of enforcing township ordinances and the township would receive a percentage of fines collected.

Auburn Heights PTA to Meet the Teachers

Parents will meet in the gymnasium and will be directed to the rooms where they will hear a short talk by the teacher on classroom procedures and goals for the year.

Troy Split on Auditor Choice

TROY — Board of Education members accomplished little during a special meeting following a work session last night at board offices. However, a policy revision was initiated.

The board split 3-3 on the appointment of an auditor, Trustee John D. Vagnetti being absent.

Treasurer Harold Janes and Trustees Leonard Lucas and James McFarland backed Janes' recommendation of Miller, Line & McGannon of Hazel Park.

Four applicants were interviewed during the closed work session, according to Snoad.

Members also voted 5-1 (Snoad voting in favor) to reject a land trade with Biltmore Development Co. The trade would have subtracted five acres from the long rectangular junior high school site in the John R-Long Lake Road area site and added five acres to the Hill Elementary site in the same section.

Those voting against the trade objected to an 80-foot easement asked by the developer on junior high school property. He said he would need the easement in order to fill and relocate a drainage ditch on the property.

The board did vote to institute a policy revision, going over the district's handbook chapter by chapter.

RECOMMENDATIONS DUE

Said Snoad, "Members will make recommendations for Chapter 1 in November and for any other chapters they feel are urgent."

No action was taken on principals' salaries. Raises had been requested, but it was the reported feeling of the board that no action should be taken until after its appearance before the State Attorney General the last week in October on an audit of the district's finances.

Members have still not learned which day they are to appear, according to Janes.

City Urges 'Yes' Vote on Clean-Water Issue

City commissioners last night urged Pontiac area voters to vote yes on the state proposition which would raise $335 million to combat water pollution.

The proposition will be on the Nov. 5 ballot. Funds from the bond issue would be used to pay the state's share of a $568-million program for constructing sewage treatment facilities and to enable local communities to borrow from the state to pay for their own sewage treatment plants.

Mayor William H. Taylor Jr. said that the federal government will provide more money for water pollution control if the state is able to pass the bond issue.

Taylor said state sources maintain the passage of the bond issue will not mean new taxes. He said $13.5 million now being paid each year to retire present bonds will be freed in 1971 to retire the water pollution bonds.

City commissioners also lauded the Detroit Tigers for their recent World Series victories. The championship helped provide a "joyous atmosphere shared in by every sector of the state," the resolution said.

The commissioners said in the resolution they hoped that "future pennants and world championships will be won in a new stadium in Pontiac."

Law Is Aimed at Junk Cars

Only in Scrapyards, Ordinance Will Say

Pontiac city commissioners last night gave preliminary approval to an ordinance which will make it illegal to store junk cars anywhere except in a properly licensed auto scrapyard.

City Manager Joseph A. Warren said the storage of abandoned cars and junk and inoperable cars in yards and around gas stations has been bothering the city for some time.

He said the ordinance will give the city the tools to rid some of the most troublesome areas of junk cars.

The commission is expected to give final approval next week. The ordinance will prohibit anyone from "storing, wrecking or dismantling," any inoperable car without first obtaining a $50 license from the city clerk.

FENCE REQUIRED

It calls for anyone engaged in this business to provide an enclosed lot with a seven-foot board or sheet-metal fence, "or fence of other opaque material."

The ordinance also would outlaw burning the interior of cars unless the license holder obtains special permission from the city manager.

In this case the license holder must show necessity for such burning and provide adequate safeguards against noxious odors and smoke.

Violators will be subject to a $100 fine and 90 days in jail.

City Affairs

Road Plans Face Difficulty

Department of Public Works and Service Director Joseph E. Neipling warned city commissioners last night that state plans to close the highway department office in Pontiac will probably mean increased difficulty in getting highway department approval of projects in the city.

Neipling said state plans are to close a number of local highway offices including the one in Pontiac. This office will be combined with one in Southfield, he said.

"The amount of attention we get will be less than what we receive at the present time," he said, "because the amount of time they will have for any one community will be reduced."

Deer Is Killed in Oregon Zoo

KLAMATH FALLS, Ore. (AP) — Someone killed a three-point deer in the Klamath Falls zoo. Police said Tuesday the deer apparently was enticed by hay to come to the fence of its compound Monday night. Someone stabbed it and it bled to death.

Job Noise: 'Male Health Factor'

DETROIT (UPI) — If you're a man who believes your job makes you sick — you may be right.

Findings of a recent study at Wayne State University indicate there is a direct correlation between noises in the environment and some illnesses in men.

Dr. Paul Cameron, assistant professor of psychology, studied the health of 2,472 adults in 1,147 Detroit households in relation to exposure of noise in their environment.

Of the 15 per cent of the group reported frequent exposure to "abnormally large amounts of noise," two-thirds were men. Those men suffered from colds, influenza and infections about twice as frequently as men who were not exposed to excessive noise.

But women who endured noise did not report more illness, Dr. Cameron said, which "might indicate that the kinds of noise were different for the two sexes, that females react to noise differently than males, or that women are just not subjected to as much noise as men."

The rates of chronic illnesses — heart conditions, cancer, allergies or diabetes — in both sexes showed no relation to the noise level, he said.

Dr. Cameron said his study was a "psychological" one, in which noise was defined as "a disagreeable sound."

"While other investigators have discovered that certain kinds of sounds have deteriorative effects on the auditory system in men our study is the first to ask the question, 'Does regular exposure to large amounts of noise have an influence upon peoples health?'" he said.

The Wayne State psychologist is heading a project which will take in the cities of New York, Los Angeles, Seattle and Detroit to answer questions raised by his preliminary findings.

Holidays to Change

New legislation in the U.S. will create four three-day weekends, by reassigning the celebration of Memorial Day, Armistice Day, Columbus Day and Washington's Birthday to specific Mondays, effective in 1971.

The Nation Pays Tribute to Gen. 'Ike'

Of all the "Weeks" observed throughout the year in the United States, none could be more appealing nor well-deserved than that honoring the birthday of former President DWIGHT D. EISENHOWER.

The five-star general celebrated his 78th milestone Monday in the Army's Walter Reed Hospital making what has been medically described as a miraculous recovery from the heart attack he suffered in mid-August. It was the seventh such attack, and only one of Ike's iron constitution and indomitable courage could have survived such prolonged physical hardship.

EISENHOWER

Seldom in the Nation's history has a figure so captured and held the adulation of the American people as has Gen. Eisenhower. That he played a leading role in preserving democracy against those who would have destroyed it in World War II goes without saying. But unlike so many military heroes who reached the zenith of their careers on the battlefield, the General's stature continued to grow after he laid aside his sword.

He distinguished himself as president of Columbia University before answering the call of his countrymen to serve as their leader in 1952. Elected President then by an overwhelming majority, he was reelected in 1956 by a similar landslide. After filling two terms as Chief Executive, EISENHOWER continued to serve his country as an illustrious elder statesman whose counsel was sought by political figures of both parties.

So it was most fitting that on Sept. 14 President JOHNSON proclaimed the week of the old warrior's birthday as "America's Salute to Eisenhower Week."

We join millions of Americans in reverent tribute to a great soldier, a great President, a great citizen.

New Yorkers Squirm in Living Cost Squeeze

A recent story in The New York Times announced that the cost of living in the nation's largest city had climbed by 0.8 per cent in August—the largest one-month increase in 20 years. The figure for October—which will not be available until next month — may well be higher. Leases on the city's 700,000 non-rent-controlled apartments expire in October, and landlords are asking for substantial rent increases for units built since 1947.

The high cost of shelter was a major factor in New York's August cost-of-living rise. The price of housing there went up by 1.5 per cent, or more than twice as much as any other single item. Rising mortgage interest rates in the city accounted for most of the increases.

Landlords hold the upper hand in New York at present. Of the 700,000 non-rent-controlled apartments built since 1947, most were erected just before 1963. Landlords purposely overbuilt at that time to avoid compliance with a new zoning law that in effect restricted maximum use of property and air space.

Almost no new apartment buildings have been built in Manhattan since then. As a result, the going monthly rate for a studio apartment —New Yorkese for a large closet with mini-kitchen and bathroom — will climb from $180 to $225.

Despite such pocketbook hardships —readily acknowledged by New Yorkers themselves — new blood constantly streams into the city in search of fame and fortune. Even those who do strike it rich end up paying out a disproportionate share of their incomes.

Britain Posts Postal Department Profit

After one good year which ended almost $10 million in the black, postal authorities are anticipating an even better show during the next 12 months with the books expected to balance out $15 million ahead.

At present, 92 per cent of the mail reaches its destination the day after posting but the mailmen think they can do even better. A new rapid-delivery system initiated Sept 16 should assure delivery of most first-class mail in less than 24 hours.

No, simply the current state of service in Britain, where couriers not only actually do complete their rounds swiftly but manage to turn a tidy profit to boot.

Wallace Vote Rooted in Frustration

By RAYMOND MOLEY

This piece is written in the hope that it may be read by some of the good Americans who say they are going to vote for George Wallace. It is not the sort of attack upon the former Alabama governor which Hubert Humphrey is making. That sort of thing merely serves to cement Wallace support. For while I believe that much of the Wallace support is rooted in a sense of frustration, there are rational faculties to which appeal may still be made.

MOLEY

I grant that much of what Wallace says articulates what millions of Americans are feeling and thinking. That is the mood which emerges in these trouble-ridden times. And Wallace is a plausible exponent of that mood. One of his favorite expressions is this:

"Some of the newspapers are writing that the only reason George Wallace has any support is that he is saying what the people want to hear. Well, what's wrong about that?"

Some months ago I had a long talk with him in his suite in the Plaza Hotel in New York. He was calm, quiet and for the most part entirely reasonable. The negative part of what he had to say could hardly be denied. His recital of the ills with which our society is afflicted and the mismanagement of our government could hardly be denied. But I left with the feeling that the remedies he proposed certainly could not justify any reasonable person to believe that voting for him could in any way provide a remedy for our present discontents.

I am assuming that most of those thousands who applaud at his rallies want nothing more than to register a protest. They cannot believe that he could be elected. If they did they would have to make an appraisal of Wallace sitting in the White House grappling with a Congress composed of members of two parties which he has denounced and defiled. This would produce unbelievable national paralysis.

CHAOS POSSIBLE

If as is possible Wallace should carry the great arc of states south and west from Virginia to Texas, with the possible addition of Arkansas and Tennessee, Humphrey might win all or most of those 10 states. And with what he might get from the remaining 40 states could be elected, although he would probably receive less than a plurality of the popular and electoral vote. He would as President face a most uncertain Senate majority and almost certainly a Republican House. And also a solid majority of Republican state governors. That would be a sure prescription for an unstable and possibly chaotic regime. And the majority of Americans would be denied the change which they had voted for.

In short, by voting for Wallace, these people would be getting exactly what they are protesting against.

There is tragic irony in such an outcome which should be apparent to every good American who plans to vote for George Wallace.

Salute To The Brave

David Lawrence Says:

Soviets Heighten World Tension

WASHINGTON — No outward sign has appeared to indicate that the rulers of the Soviet Union realize what has been the effect of the invasion of Czechoslovakia on the public opinion of the rest of the world.

LAWRENCE

A state of tension has developed, and the conversations of diplomats everywhere reflect that this has not been reduced in the slightest by the Russian promises that their troops will eventually be withdrawn from that country.

If it were not for the strength of the Soviets through their possession of nuclear power, there might have been a conventional war in Europe by this time. For the peoples in every one of the eastern European countries know that they are no longer secure and that at any moment they may be invaded and coerced by Moscow into making subservient treaties and agreements.

Ever since World War II ended, the eastern European countries have been referred to as the "Communist bloc."

TRULY CAPTIVES

It has been assumed that they share the doctrines of communism, and they have often been called "allies" of the Soviet Union. But today they have truly become captives and are being deprived of their independence and sovereignty.

The Kremlin itself has not revealed what it hoped to gain by the move in invading Czechoslovakia or just why the Soviets believe that the involuntary signing of a treaty by the Czechs agreeing to the presence of the Russian troops gives any assurance of "peaceful coexistence."

Meanwhile, the United States is caught between the various currents of hostility in Asia as well as in Europe.

Veteran observers believe, however, that Russia has lost more than it has gained in eastern Europe and that the Kremlin will not dare to become involved in any military operations with West Germany, as this is certain to draw NATO forces into action as a protective measure.

PART OF BIG GAME

The Vietnam war, therefore, becomes part of a big game of strategy with Peking and Moscow each trying to preserve an influence with the Hanoi government.

Coincidentally, in the Middle East, Russia is deeply involved in the Israeli-Arab situation and recently has been strengthening the Soviet fleet in the Mediterranean.

While the West has refrained from making any countermoves, warnings have been given nevertheless through the quiet channels of diplomacy that the Soviets must not go too far or they will have a large war on their hands.

For if the Russian conquest of Czechoslovakia is permitted to stand, it means that about all that World War II accomplished was the transfer of power from one dictatorship to another.

Bob Considine Says:

Death of Racing Writer Deals Laughter a Setback

WASHINGTON — Walter Haight, for many years the racing editor of the Washington Post, was buried here last week, seriously reducing the laughter that sports pages once had in abundance.

CONSIDINE

Walter could handle any assignment that came along and write you a piece that forced you to stay with him to the last sentence.

It is not likely that he ever read Lincoln Steffens, but he had what Steffens called a "studied ignorance" — the ability to look at a sports event with the fresh eye and lively anticipation of a cub reporter, no matter how many times he had witnessed the same set of circumstances in the past.

Racing was his bag for the last 20 or 30 years of his life on the Post. He loved the beasts, though he saw considerably more platers than good horses through most of his coverage.

BRIGHTENED PRESS

Walter could have just as good a time and write just as good a story from a frozen Charles Town or icebound Bowie as he could while covering the Derby, Preakness or the Belmont. He brightened every press box he ever entered.

Some owner who liked Walter — everybody in racing did, matter of fact — named a horse for him once. What a joy it was to read Walter the man's stories about Walter the horse. Or hear him talk about Walter the horse.

Walter the horse found himself in a tough race one day at Laurel, pitted against three fast fillies. He trailed all three going into the first turn, and somebody in the press box yelled, "There goes Walter Haight, chasing the broads as usual."

What wonderful times we had. Nobody cared how long he worked or how hard.

GAMBLING AT JIMMY'S

Sometimes, in search of rent money, we'd all go out to Jimmy Lafontaine's gambling hell and Walter or Shirley Povich or Jack Espey would shoot for us.

We won more often than we lost, which would call for a round of drinks — bootleg alcohol and grapefruit juice mixed in one of the cocktail shakers I kept winning senselessly in tennis tournaments.

Walter covered the demolition of Jimmy's, with the suggestion of a tear when the great iron ball was swung against a crumbling wall. "They tore down Jimmy Lafontaine's yesterday — the hard way," he wrote.

Walter went the good way, if any death can be good. He went with the love of his family and his fellow man.

'Give Credit for Efforts of Our High School Bands'

The Pontiac Northern marching band plays and marches well and has something to be proud of. The band has over 30 sophomores to work with and train. On its first trip out this year it went to the State Fair and whipped some of the better bands in the State, bringing yet another honor to Northern. Last Friday night's performance was an example of how it was done.

They have a good thing going with the Central marching band, under the direction of Tom Course, a graduate of Central — competition. With Rog Welton and the Huskie band, you can be assured of more than a football clash between the two schools. Both bands are sure to pull out all the stops and it should be a whale of a half-time show that both schools will be able to brag about.

'Suggest Ceilings Be Put on Rent in Pontiac'

Why is rent gouging, especially among retired people, being allowed in Pontiac? Some rents have been raised 65 per cent and no one seems to care. Instead of building housing projects (which are in undesirable neighborhoods) for retirees, it would be far better if a ceiling were put on rents. Why should some landlords get 100 per cent on their money? No one else does.

A DISGUSTED RETIREE

'Stores Should Provide Adequate Parking'

The controversy over excessive parking fees must not be placed at the door of the parking lot owner. The zoning laws must be enforced by the city officials and the management of Tiger Stadium must be like Caesar's wife (above suspicion). Every small business must provide off-street parking for patrons. Not only the newly established business, but once any alteration is made to existing businesses or property, property regulation must be complied with. At the rate of $12, $8 and $6 per seat per game, free parking should and must be provided for by the Tiger management. Parking lot owners do not issue rain checks. This dilemma should be corrected immediately.

Question and Answer

I parked in the downtown mall from 9:45 until 12:05 and was charged 60 cents. Wasn't I overcharged?

Mrs. Disgusted

REPLY

No. Prices for parking in the new malls on Saginaw are: ½ hour—5 cents, 1 hour—10 cents, 1½ hours—15 cents, 2 hours—25 cents, each additional hour—35 cents. You were there two hours (25 cents) and 20 minutes (35 cents) for a 60 cents total. The increased charge after two hours is to discourage all day parking so more shoppers can use the convenience. If you feel you'll be more than two hours, lot No. 6 on the old courthouse site has three hours parking for 25 cents. Merchants also participate with these lots. All-day metered parking is available at other city lots.

Question and Answer

Glen Ford says there's a quotation, "Death is only the glorious awakening to find that life itself is but a dream," which has carried him over the rough spots. Where is that quote from?

REPLY

As you know, quotations are often changed as they are passed along. While we didn't find it exactly as Ford gave it, we suspect it came originally from Shelley's "Adonais." In it are the lines, "Peace! Peace! he is not dead, he doth not sleep. He hath awakened from the dream of life."

Deserters

Tampa (Fla.) Tribune

The Swedes open the Utopian joys of their society to these men who call themselves "moral refugees" while, incidentally, avoiding onerous military duties such as repairing jet engines or shooting at Vietcong.

But even Utopia reaches the end of tolerance sometimes. Two of the U.S. deserters are in Gotesborg jail, awaiting trial on charges that they assaulted and robbed three women and stole five motorcycles. Their anti-American rantings have not served to soften Swedish law.

They face expulsion to where? Not, we hope, back to the U.S. they deserted! Rather, we should repel any such repatriation, in fairness to the millions of Americans who don't desert their military posts.

Mild Winter?

Memphis Commercial Appeal

The Farmer's Almanac for the coming year is out and its fearless weather prognosticators say the coming winter will be on the mild side.

Maybe so. But driving over the highways of this region recently we have seen an abundance of woollybear caterpillars. All of them appear to be fat and carrying a heavy coat of fur, signs which the barnyard forecasters have taught us presage a cold, hard winter ahead.

The almanacs have taken to fancy scientific methods for their forecasting. For our part, we will stick with the tried and true woollybears and be sure there is a pair of longhandled drawers in the dresser and plenty of firewood cut and split for the fireplace.

Reaction to Chicago Boycott Is Mixed

CHICAGO (AP) — Most Chicago school officials have reacted with alarm to Negro student agitation which has thrown many of the city's high schools into turmoil, but two officials see cause for encouragement.

Some 5,000 Negro high school students stayed away from classes Tuesday in continuing protests to dramatize their demands for more representation, more Negro teachers and administrators and more Negro studies. Seventeen persons were arrested.

The demonstrations illustrate "a healthy attitude despite the fact that here and there some excesses are engaged in," Warren Bacon, a Negro member of the Board of Education, has said.

"We should be pleased that black students are really becoming concerned about their education and that their interest is awakened to the relevance of schools to their lives," he added.

Said Joseph Rosen, district superintendent for a West Side area in which some of the troubled schools are situated: "I think it is a disturbing phenomenon for those in the middle of it, but a beautiful phenomenon for the people who are growing."

He added: "We're watching people who want to get involved —students, parents and teachers. The reaction to that expression of concern can be either positive or negative."

Some of the alarm stems from the fact that widespread absences could play havoc with the school board's budget. State aid is based on attendance records.

There were 28,000 absences in Monday's boycott and militant leaders have threatened to make that a weekly occurrence.

"From now on until our demands are met, every Monday will be black Monday, every Monday will be a black holiday," Victor Adams, a protest leader, said at a rally preceding the boycott.

Adams is a 17-year-old student at Harrison High School, on the West Side, a prime trouble spot.

There have been at least 12 walkouts by Negro students since the schools opened in September, beginning with a Harrison protest Sept. 17. The students were angry that a white teacher had been named to teach a class in Afro-American studies.

Harrison has 50 per cent Negro enrollment, 25 per cent Latin American and 25 per cent white. It was virtually all-white until the last decade.

Highland Park Chief Asks Action Against 13 of His Policemen

Merchants in this Detroit suburb responded quietly to an announcement by Police Chief William E. Stephens yesterday that he was asking for warrants charging 13 of his present or former policemen with burglary and larceny.

"It's about time the honest 90 per cent of our department was given a break," Stephens explained. "The honest members of our department have been subjected to ridicule on the street. There is no excuse for what these men have done."

DECISION COMING

Wayne County Prosecutor William Cahalan said he would decide by the end of the week whether to issue the warrants against the 13 men, whose names were not released.

Stephens' request was the latest development in a 10-month cops-turned-robbers scandal hovering over the 306-man department since four former officers were convicted and sent to prison for receiving and concealing stolen property.

One of the four, John J. Vaughn, touched off the latest investigation when he told a reporter in a prison interview that certain men still on the force also received stolen goods and took part in burglaries.

Vaughn's wife, Dorothy, charged that she and her sister-in-law have been harassed by policemen in an attempt to intimidate them and keep Vaughn from talking.

'I'LL FNISH IT'

"I am the one who sent the first four officers to prison," Stephens said Tuesday. "I started this investigation and I'll finish it if its the last thing I do."

The scandal has stunned the 38,063-population racially mixed suburb, which had worked hard to establish good police-community relations.

"Our policemen haven't been head knockers," one merchant said. "They don't slam people around. They've been great. But, if this is true that they've been tiptoeing around grabbing loot . . ."

He didn't finish the sentence.

Unit for Blind to Host Public

An open house at the Oakland Community Branch of Recording for the Blind will be held from 2-5 p.m. Oct. 27 at 2480 Opdyke, Bloomfield Hills.

The Oakland Branch is housed in facilities in the Executive Offices of Oakland Community College.

The open house will serve to introduce the new branch and celebrate the 10th anniversary of the founding of the Detroit Recording for the Blind unit.

Demonstrations will be held explaining the various aspects of the work involved in producing a recorded textbook, Mrs. Zelda Bluestone, chairman of the RFB Metropolitan Detroit units, announced.

ALL FACETS

Volunteers produce all facets of the recorded textbooks including recording, monitoring the recording, proofreading, preparing the textbook, checking for volume, timing, and tone of the recording, researching data, and duplicating the recorded texts, according to Mrs. Ruth Dressel, RFB vice chairman.

The Detroit unit has recorded 871 books since its inception in 1958. The 1968 production of 29 recorded books has increased to a production of 110 books thus far in 1968.

A service organization of the United Foundation, the Detroit unit has logged 8,297 volunteer hours during the fiscal year 1967-68.

The public is invited to attend the open house at which refreshments will be served.

TV Spectacular Next for Space?

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — The daily Wally, Walt and Donn television show from the Apollo 7 is a forerunner of more spectacular things to come as America pushes outward toward the moon.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration, beset by budget problems, hopes the Apollo 7 TV shows will boost the popularity of the American space program.

"People are saying the American space show is better than the Olympics," Paul Haney, director of public affairs for NASA's Manned Spacecraft Center, said Tuesday.

WELL RECEIVED

"I get the impression it is being very well received. "The networks tell me they know it is in Europe," where the first show by Apollo 7 astronauts Walter M. Schirra Jr., Donn F. Eisele and Walter Cunningham was beamed live Monday.

"Television does have a place in the lunar mission," Haney continued in an interview. In Tuesday's telecast, when the pilots took viewers on an 11-minute tour of Apollo 7's interior, "people got to look around that spacecraft in a way you couldn't do with words."

Plans call for another TV camera to fly with the Apollo 8 crew—Air Force Col. Frank Borman, Air Force Maj. William A. Anders and Navy Capt. James A. Lovell Jr.—on their flight about Dec. 21, expected to be a trip around the moon.

On the following flight, Apollo 9, astronaut Russell L. Schweickart is to walk in space from a two-man spacecraft called a lunar module to a three-man Apollo mother ship, "and I'm hopeful we can do it on TV," Haney said.

BETTER TV CAMERA

And when astronauts go to the moon, which could be as soon as mid-1969 with the Apollo 10 crew, a better-quality television camera will go along. Pictures seen on home screens will be about as clear as those from Apollo 7, but the moon camera also will be able to relay high-quality still photographs to earth.

Haney conceded one of the risks involved with live television is that critics will say the manned space program is becoming a sideshow, rather than a test program for building better flying machines.

Guitarist Killed by Electric Shock

FORT ST. JAMES, B.C. (AP) — Clement Joseph, 24, was electrocuted while playing an electric guitar in wet stocking feet, police at this northern British Columbia community said Tuesday.

The Royal Canadian Mounted Police said Joseph died from a 300-volt shock from the guitar's faulty amplifier.

"Three other people handled the instrument and had no trouble, but they were wearing shoes," police said.

'Empty' Village Shelled; 10 S. Viets Die

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. Marine artillery fired eight 155mm shells into the outskirts of a supposedly empty village Tuesday, killing 10 South Vietnamese and wounding 23 others, military spokesmen announced.

The village was about a mile northeast of the Thuong Duc Special Forces Camp, in jungled foothills 30 miles southwest of Da Nang. There has been sporadic fighting at the camp since Sept. 28.

The 155mm guns were firing against suspected enemy positions to protect sweeping American Marines from the 5th Regiment and South Vietnamese infantrymen from the 501st Regiment. The allied troops are combing the hills and villages north and east of Thuong Duc in an attempt to root out Vietcong and North Vietnamese forces threatening the camp.

Marine spokesmen said an error in elevation on the sighting device caused the shells to land in the village about half a mile west of the target.

PROBE LAUNCHED

A spokesman for the U.S. Command in Saigon said the accident is under investigation. He said the village was thought to have been evacuated "but maybe the people moved back in without telling the village chief."

All those killed were civilians. The wounded included 19 civilians, two South Vietnamese army troops and two irregulars. U.S. sources said the sweeping force found a small cache of weapons and the bodies of two North Vietnamese killed earlier but ran into no resistance.

A FAMILY AFFAIR

Fidgeting, nose-picking, a tormenting rectal itch are often telltale signs of Pin-Worms...ugly parasites that medical experts say infect 1 out of every 3 persons examined. Entire families may be victims and not know it.

To get rid of Pin-Worms, they must be killed in the large intestine where they live and multiply. That's exactly what Jayne's P-W tablets do... and here's how they do it:

First—a scientific coating carries the tablets into the bowels before they dissolve. Then—Jayne's modern, medically-approved ingredient goes right to work—kills Pin-Worms quickly, safely, not your pharmacist.

Medical Progress to Enable Kidney Swap

GRAND RAPIDS (UPI) — Randy Covert, 18, of Grand Rapids, has a kidney ailment. They told him in 1961 in Mayo Brothers in Minnesota, that it was fatal.

Since then, medical science has progressed and gone into the field of transplanting hearts and other parts of the body from the dead to the living.

Covert is in the University Hospital at Ann Arbor waiting for a kidney transplant. Backing him is the $33,000-plus fund collected through efforts of the local radio, TV, and newspaper medium here through thousands of well-wishers.

He is being kept alive with an artificial kidney mechanism until he receives a kidney transplant within the next two or three weeks.

ONORS REJECTED

As he continued to receive blood transfusions in the past few months, tests were conducted on his grandmother, Mrs. Earl Marley of Chicago, who offered one of her kidneys, and other members of the family, but all were turned down. Medically and technically, the reason was that "none of the medical factors were complete from the family donors."

The entire $33,000 trust fund will not be needed so four trustees, working through the Union Bank which has acted as a depository, will take the surplus for other needy patients.

Covert originally was to have gone to a Cleveland Hospital. But in that case, there would have been no Michigan state aid on a reciprocal basis. The state of Michigan will pay a big portion of the transplant for Covert at Ann Arbor.

Hostess Right in Suggesting Party Move On

By ELIZABETH L. POST

Dear Mrs. Post: The other night my husband and I attended a dance that was to begin at 9 p.m. We had invited the couples at our table to our home for a cocktail at 8. At 9:45 everyone seemed to be having a good time and making no attempt to leave for the dance.

Finally, I said "We'd better be moving along to the dance." Afterwards, my husband said I was rude. What should I do if this happens again? —Linda L.

Dear Linda: You weren't rude—you were right. One often has to make a move to get a group started, and in this case it is the hostess' responsibility. It would be far ruder if her party all arrived very late at the dance—especially if a dinner were being served.

Dear Mrs. Post: I met a man at a party recently. I would like to get to know him better but there seems no way except for me to take the initiative. Is an introduction at a large party sufficient excuse to invite him to dinner? If so, how do I go about it?—Ronnie

Dear Ronnie: Don't do it! Work through a mutual friend. Remember that a man who feels he is being run after, nearly always runs faster in the opposite direction.

Julie and David's Wedding Date Is Settled but Still a Secret

ABILENE, Kan. (AP) — Julie Nixon says she and David Eisenhower have set their wedding date. But they're keeping it a secret.

"I hope the wedding won't be turned into a TV spectacular," says David.

And while they were discussing their wedding plans, Julie's older sister, Tricia, was expressing her views on what she wants in a husband.

He must be "kind, sincere, honest and interested in other people — but he doesn't have to be interested in politics," Tricia, 22, told reporters Tuesday in Newark, N.J.

Tricia, like Julie and David, both 20, has been campaigning for her father, Richard M. Nixon, the Republican presidential nominee.

Sometimes, she said, she brings Democrats home for dinner but, "Daddy doesn't mind. We try to convert them."

She said despite what "the gossip columns say, I don't have any special friends, but a number of friends."

Julie's and David's remarks about the forthcoming marriage were made at a news conference held after they flew here from New York. They said Fred Grandy, a friend, will be best man and Tricia the maid of honor.

Julie showed her engagement ring to friends in Abilene.

Young Eisenhower, grandson of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower said, regarding television coverage of the wedding:

"I tried to watch the Cleveland Indians and Boston Red Sox play baseball on television the afternoon Lynda Johnson was married but I couldn't because the networks were saturated with pieces about her gown and so on."

Mrs. Kim Lincoln, wife of Judge James Lincoln, Judge of Wayne County Juvenile Court, will accompany Mrs. Howard.

OTHERS

Women in the area wishing to learn more about the coffee hours being scheduled near their homes may contact, Mrs. Homer Sington of Oak Grove Drive, Bloomfield Township or Mrs. Curtis Flater of Rochester.

Minnesota Fans Plan a 'Brown Jug' Outing

Participants will carry box lunches. A hoped-for "Victory" dinner is scheduled at the Pine Lake Country Club for the returning "Gophers."

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hefty are cochairing the affair.

Why It's Never a 'Must Marriage'

DEAR ABBY: Our 20-year-old son has just told us that he must quickly marry the little girl with whom he has gone steady since high school. She is 19. They are both in college and hope to graduate. Of course our hearts are broken, but what can we do?

ABBY

Abby, the girl is really a sweet child, and she has adored our son for years. Our boy has never been in any kind of trouble, and we have always been so proud of him.

Since this has come up so suddenly everyone suspects it is a "have to" wedding, so I am not going to deny it and look foolish seven months from now.

What do I say when people "congratulate" me, and kiddingly call me "Grandma?" Some have even tried to "comfort" me with the stories of how they've had "have to" marriages in their families and things have worked out well. I am terribly hurt and don't know how I should act. Can you help me?

"GRANDMA" (SOON)

DEAR GRANDMA: To all congratulations, say "Thank you." There is no such thing as a "have to" marriage. Every day pregnant girls are being deserted by bums who refuse to accept the responsibilities of marriage and a baby.

No law in the land can "force" a man to marry a girl. If he marries her, it's because he WANTS to, not because he HAS to, so hold your head up, Grandma.

DEAR ABBY: I am 32, happily married to a wonderful man, and have three beautiful, healthy children. So what's my problem? My figure! I look good in my clothes, but without clothes I look like a tribeswoman of 70 — thanks to having nursed three babies and the natural sagginess that comes with added years. Hasn't plastic surgery come up with anything new in breast surgery?

I asked my gynecologist about those silicone shots, and he said it was dangerous and against the law in this country, and if I even considered such a thing he would refuse me as a patient.

Abby, isn't there any hope for those of us who feel repulsive compared to those gorgeous, full-bosomed girls we see in the ads?

FLAT IN ATLANTA

DEAR FLAT: You're 32, happily married to a wonderful man, and have three beautiful, healthy children, so count your blessings, and subtract two. I agree with your gynecologist.

DEAR ABBY: I want to say something to that 14-year-old girl who "hated" her mother because she always nagged at her about her hair, her make-up, and her friends.

Well, I am a 15-year-old girl who had the opposite problem. My mother never cared what I did or where I went. At seven years old I was out roaming the streets at midnight; and when I came home, nobody even asked me where I had been. I stole things out of stores, I lied, and did a lot of things I'm now ashamed of. I was never corrected or spanked or even bawled out.

My mother finally had a nervous breakdown, and I was sent from one foster home to another. I wasn't used to being corrected, so I'd keep running away. I am writing from a foster home now.

It took a while for me to realize that my foster mother corrects me and punishes me when I do wrong because she loves me and wants to teach me right from wrong. I would rather live here than with my real parents, but I still love them. Sign me . . .

What Really Occurs During Menopause?

By EVE THOMAS
Women's Medical News Service

"The onset is imperceptible, the end unpredictable, the duration indefinite, and the experience different for every woman as she passes through it."

What is it?

Menopause, as defined by Dr. Elizabeth Parker, a Los Angeles gynecologist and medical writer. Such a definition could also refer to adolescence. In fact, in many ways menopause and adolescence are like bookends flanking the fertile period: adolescence prepares a woman for motherhood, the menopause renders her infertile.

What happens during these years is a good deal more individualistic, however, than what happens among adolescents. Women are reaching the menopause later. The average now is 49, but the normal range is from 42 to 52. Menstruation may stop in a variety of ways: it may stop suddenly, the periods may become scantier or further and further apart.

Sometimes the periods will stop for several months, then suddenly start up again, complete with such premenstrual symptoms as backache and breast soreness-a welcome sign that the ovaries have taken a new lease on life. Other patterns of menstruation should be checked with a doctor.

Heavier periods, more frequent periods, or bleeding between periods should not be automatically dismissed because a woman is going through the change of life.

ONE HARD FACT

Beyond the hard fact that all women cease to menstruate eventually lies an enormous range of reaction.

Both doctors and women find it difficult to distinguish between the physical and emotional symptoms of middle age and those induced by the menopause. How to figure out, for instance, whether a woman is depressed because her ovaries are failing or because her youngest child has just married?

However, everyone agrees that some women go through the menopause with almost no emotional wear-and-tear, whereas others become hysterical. One expert in the field believes that one out of every two menopausal women suffers enough discomfort to warrant medical help.

Another doctor estimates that, out of 100 menopausal women, 15 will be virtually unbothered by the experience, 10 will be severely affected, and 75 will be uncomfortable from time to time but never so uncomfortable as to be incapacitated.

GREY VS. ROSY

When a group of college-educated women were asked about the menopause, half described it as depressing, troublesome, unpleasant and disturbing. But there was a striking difference in attitude according to age — and the difference was unexpected. Most of the women who were finished with the menopause looked back on it as a fairly benign experience. Many said they felt better and more confident than they had in their youth.

It was the women still too young for the climacteric who expected a fearful experience without any compensatory gains. The older women — the women who had actually been through the menopause—found that life went on without major discontinuity.

The symptoms of menopause are diverse and ill-defined. One report lists 11 specific symptoms, another 28. Dr. Sherwin Kaufman of the New York University School of Medicine, in tabulating the complaints of 200 menopausal patients, distinguished almost 50 symptoms!

A few complaints are almost universal. Hot flushes and flashes top the list — flashes being defined as sudden waves of heat around the face and upper body, and flushes defined as the accompanying reddening of the skin. The terms are used interchangeably since they usually manifest themselves together.

Flashes are aggravated by anything that is heat-producing, such as eating or warm bedclothes. For some women, flashes are almost unnoticed, others find themselves visibly drenched in perspiration.

Another typical symptom is vaginal discomfort due to the thinning of the vaginal lining. Such other complaints as insomnia, fatigue, headache and depression may, or may not, be due to hormonal imbalance.

Doctors frequently prescribe estrogen for relief of menopausal symptoms. Hot flashes and vaginal discomfort are almost invariably relieved. The effect of estrogen replacement therapy on less specific symptoms is less uniform. But some women undergo near-miraculous boosts in their morale. Cyclic estrogen therapy causes cyclic bleeding but it does not restore fertility.

Although vaginal smears are widely used to measure a woman's estrogen level, many doctors believe that a woman's symptoms are a more reliable guide to what should be done to help her.

When a woman in her forties misses her first period, her first instinct is to worry that she's pregnant with a "change of life" baby. Everything is possible but the odds are against it. In a study of 50,000 deliveries not one was to a woman over 50; two were 48, and two were 46. Even if a woman is still ovulating in her late forties, the quality of the egg is usually too poor for conception. And it is perfectly possible to menstruate without ovulating.

SEX WITHOUT FEAR

However, some form of contraception should be used for a full year following the last menstrual period. Even in premenopausal women — the over 38s — pregnancy can be considerably more complicated than in a young woman. In one study, the older women had three to four times more miscarriages than younger wives . . .and cesarean sections were twice as frequent. Congenital birth defects are also more common.

The menopause has no direct effect on a woman's sexual desires or her sex life. All the evidence points to the fact that middle-aged women continue the sexual pattern of their youth. Sometimes, however, certain physical changes may make intercourse uncomfortable. Almost all cases of painful intercourse involve physical problems, most frequently a gradual thinning and drying of the vaginal tissues. Estrogen in the form of pills, suppositories or cream relieves this condition within a week or two.

It seems quite clear that, although hormones cannot restore fertility or solve emotional problems, they can relieve enough physical discomforts to enable a menopausal woman to deal competently with the psychological crises of middle age.

Why Grow Old?

by JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

The habit of giving the legs and feet special care pays wonderful dividends any time and particularly at this season of the year. The cold dry air can give trouble. Special measures are indicated in order to keep our legs and feet attractive and comfortable.

Winter weather is drying and, therefore, the skin of the feet is sure to become rough unless it is given regular attention. Give the bottoms of the heels an extra measure, otherwise calluses will form, and these can be a serious handicap. When the condition is extreme, painful cracks may appear. Anyway, rough skin is unattractive even when glimpsed through sheer hosiery.

While soaking in your tub, use a bath brush on the rough spots on your feet. After drying, always massage a body lotion in well. It is a good idea to sleep with white socks on one night a week after massaging a cream into the heels and around the toe nails.

There are products on the market which help "melt" the dead skin. You simply apply one of these, leave it on for a few minutes and then wipe it off, along with some of the dry skin. Most products say not to leave the cream or lotion on for longer than 10 minutes. Always follow the directions which come with the product you are using.

It is not wise to try to take care of corns, ingrown toe nails or severe calluses yourself. You will be much better off to take those troubles to a podiatrist.

Remember that legs become dry, too, during the cold months. Massage them with a body lotion once a day. Your arms and hands should have the same treatment. Give special care to your elbows. Even women who do not feel the need for bath oil in the summer usually find it helpful during the winter.

Parchment lamp shades will last longer if you clean them carefully with a damp cloth, allow to dry thoroughly, then coat with clear shellac.

Polly's Pointers

Safety Pin the Spot

Dear Polly — My son works in a nearby city and brings his clothes home to be mended. It used to take half an hour for him to find and show me what needed to be fixed. I gave him a bunch of small safety pins. Whenever he finds something that needs attention, he places one of these pins on the spot. This saves us both a lot of time. He now gives me the suitcase with such clothes in it and I do the job when I have time, often before he gets up in the morning. This would work well for college students who send their laundry home to be done. —Mrs. E. K.

Dear Polly — To store odd shapes and sizes of bottles in a drawer, take a strip of one-inch-wide elastic and fasten, at intervals, with thumbtacks to the inner side of a drawer. The bottles will stand upright and without spills when placed in the "pockets" between the tacks. —Betty

POLLY'S PROBLEM

Dear Polly — My plastic dish pan makes a brown stain in my white porcelain sink. I have tried bleaches and cleansers but to no avail, and would be most grateful for any suggested remedies.—Mrs. G. R. P.

Dear Polly — When our dog had nine puppies, there seemed no place to keep them together, so I decided to use my granddaughter's small, hard plastic pool. Empty, of course. This worked out very well. It provided ample room for all and was so easy to clean. —Mrs. P. V.

Dear Polly — I do want to get a word in about the way I handled the problem of one type of "junk" mail. I received a large envelope containing the advertisement of a special brand of nylon hose, manufactured in the South. It said in three places that a dear friend of mine had sent in my name as one who would like to take advantage of this special offer.

I wrote back thanking them for this grand information and said that if they would be so kind as to let me know the name of my dear friend I would like to send two orders — one for me and one for her as a "thank you" gesture. That was the end of that.—ROSE

MSU Hosts Workshop

EAST LANSING — The YWCA will dig into the fertile soil of justice and freedom to seek better ways of promoting human rights and fundamental freedom at a Michigan State University workshop, Thursday and Friday.

Representatives of 14 YWCA associations across the state will spend two days around the conference tables of The Kellogg Center for Continuing Education at this Public Affairs Workshop on Human Rights.

Some 150 teenagers, young adults, Y-wives, board and committee members, staff and others, representing over 45,000 members from YWCA associations in Pontiac, Battle Creek, Bay City, Detroit, Flint, Grand Rapids, Greater Lansing, Jackson, Kalamazoo, Muskegon, Owosso, Saginaw, St. Joseph, Benton Harbor and Western Wayne County, will participate.

The conference will open with the participants playing a special YWCA "game" on human rights, designed to stimulate awareness, concern and action.

Afternoon workshops will focus on five major areas: The Right to an Educatio, The Right to be Heard, The Right to Equal Justice and Equal Protection Under the Law, The Right to a Decent Standard of Living and The Right to be a Contributing Citizen.

The sessions will involve lecturers, resource persons, films, tours and other techniques for providing information on the five topics.

The second day will feature reports from the five workshops and tie-together sessions to build on the previous day's experiences.

The Council of Michigan YWCAs is sponsoring the workshop, in cooperation with the MSU College of Social Science and the Institute for Community Development and Services.

SEW SIMPLE
By Eunice Farmer

Dear Eunice Farmer,

I am making a Nehru collar on my coat and I can't achieve the sharp look that I see on the ready-made garments. Even though I have used interfacing in the collar, it doesn't have the smooth, firm look I want. Now that I've found the right pattern, please help me with my collar.

Mrs. N. W.

Dear Mrs. N. W.:

We have experimented with this type of collar and have had the best results by using the woven press-on interfacing on the back of the top part of the collar. This is a little tricky to use, so by all means try it on a small sample first. There is a great tendency for the area treated to stretch out of shape as you press on the interfacing.

For this reason, I have suggested you press on a larger piece of interfacing to your fabric BEFORE you cut out the collar. You will be wasting a little, but it will insure good results which are more important. I think you will find this will work beautifully; it has for us, and we have tried it on a number of fabrics.

TAILOR TRIX WINNER

Mrs. Elinor Meadows, San Diego, California, is this week's Tailor Trix pressing board winner for sending in the following suggestion.

In cutting and fitting there are many marks to be made on your materials. This can be very time consuming as well as difficult to see on many fabrics. I have made a discovery that has saved me time and seems very logical; hope you like it. Use the self-sticking "Signal Dots" or any similar tags and the whole process is a breeze.

Just apply where needed, sew and then remove them; no pins, tailor tacks, or chalk that won't show when you need it. These dots come in many colors and can help with construction of your garment, because you can see immediately what color dot matches another color in your assembly.

Dear Eunice,

I am making an evening dress out of velvet and have been having trouble with the invisible zipper, even though I have used it before with good results. One side is nice and smooth, the other side looks stretched out of shape and ruins the appearance of the dress. Since you can't close your seam first when applying this type of zipper, I am at a loss as to how to correct this.

Mrs. S. N.

Dear Mrs. S. N.:

The average velvet is a creepy fabric and slips when stitching. In fact, velvets of this type and chiffons should be left to the professionals. Unless you have had lots of experience, I would buy garments made of these fabrics. There is a velvet available that has been woven on a cotton backing such as velveteen; this is much easier to manage for the home sewer.

As to the zipper closing: After the zipper has been stitched to one side of the seam, close the zipper and lay it flat next to the other side of the seam to be stitched. Carefully make a small mark on the zipper tape to correspond with a similar mark on the seam allowance of your garment.

These marks could be made every two inches or as often as you desire. When you are stitching in the second half of your invisible zipper, you will have a perfect guide to follow. If the two marks don't correspond, you can change it immediately. This works beautifully on plaids also.

Diabetes Hurts Young More

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A University of California pediatrics professor says diabetes is usually more severe in children than in adults.

Dr. Mary B. Olney, professor at the UC Medical Center, says diabetes may remain latent in adults throughout their lifetime, but in children it shows up quickly.

Onset is swift and symptoms include unusual thirst, frequent urination and often bedwetting. The child displays either a voracious appetite or a complete loss of appetite, she says.

Dr. Oley, a specialist in the field for more than 30 years, says the disease usually develops during rapid growth periods, as in the 6-10 and 14-16 age spans.

Rent Equipment for Comfort of Patients Confined to the Home

By MARY FEELEY
Consultant in Money Management

If ther's somebody in your household who is ill or recovering from an accidnet, maybe you could help speed his recovery by simply providing a little more comfort.

Over 8 million disabling injuries were reported last year from home, motor vehicles and other accidents. The wages lost due to workers' disability in a single year has been estimated at something like $6 billion. So anything you can think of to put a patient back on his feet is really helping the economy!

That, of course, isn't what really concerns you, but I just mention it to point up how wasteful and futile it is to any family to let the sick or hurt member drag out convalesence unnecessarily. Actually, the emotional cost is far more expensive than the dollar cost.

I've just recently been discussing this matter of convalescence with several families, who have bed-ridden members to care, for, and we came to this conclusion: it's more economical in the long run to rent the medical equipment which would speed their recovery than to try to get along without it.

Most families can't afford to pay $200, say, for a hospital bed. But if the patient needs the benefits of a multi-hite bed that can be adjusted to relieve his aches and pains, one can be rented for a month for about $35 to $45.

An overbed table — which is a height just right to slide over the top of the bed, and which no conventional table around the house can match — can be rented for about $15 a month. If you had to buy it outright, the cost would probably be around $54. You can also rent a standard chair-type commode for about $10 a month, which would cost about $75 if you bought it.

Wheelchairs with elevated leg rests can also be rented by the month, or however long the patient needs one. Rental is about $25-$35 a month. Purchase price would be close to $250. And portable hydrotherapy units can be rented for about $30 a month.

Since illness and accidents cost the average American family an appalling amount, anybody with any kind of insurance coverage should examine his policy carefully to see what medical equipment or aids are included as cost-free items. You can't take anything for granted, since some major medical policies may gladly pay for crutches — but balk at paying for the rubber pads for the crutch rods! And some refuse to pay for gauze necessary for bandages after the patient gets home from the hospital.

The university will conduct a seven-week colloquy on "sexuality: a search for perspective," aimed at informing both students and faculty "not in terms of sex acts or sex behavior but in human relationships,"

The colloquy, which gets under way officially in January, will feature lectures by 22 recognized authorities in various fields related to sexuality.

They include Dr. Roy Menninger, president of the Menninger Foundation; Albert Ellis, executive director of the Institute for Rational Living and author of several books, including "The American Sexual Tragedy"; and Dr. Allen F. Guttmacher, President of planned Parenthood-World Population.

Two courses offering academic credit will be available, one for seniors entitled "Morality" and one for all students called "Human Sexuality."

In addition to the campus-wide lectures and academic courses, there will be seminar sessions in dormitories and, informal meetings for both faculty and students with the guest lecturers.

"We're trying to create a climate for learning—to enable students to ask the right questions and search for perspective," said the Rev. Donald J. Ward, director of United Ministries for Higher Education and cochairman of the colloquy.

"We're not seeking easy answers to complex questions," he told a news conference.

HANGUPS CITED

"This is a sex-centric yet sex-rejecting society with all its hangups. Education (in sexuality) is primarily from commercial interests." If the university is to "equip man for life," he added, it must help him answer questions about the way he will conduct his life.

The colloquy is aimed at providing general discussion and information on sexuality, said Dr. William Knisley, director of the MSU Institute of Biology and Medicine and a cochairman.

It also will, through students in the MSU college of education, prepare teachers to better carry out the new state law providing for sex education classes in kindergarten through 12th grades.

The colloquy is "not an effort to set guidelines for the student body," Kinsely added. "It's aimed at stimulating thoughtful discussion."

PROSPECTUS

A prospectus for the course—sponsored by 14 academic units, the office of the vice president for student affairs and eight major student governing groups—put it this way:

"Most collegians are sincerely searching for a life style which will give meaning to their actions and concern with sexuality is necessarily an integral part of this search. The questions they are advancing are legitimate and require thoughtful responses.

"The university, as it should, will respond to such persistent questioning even though the persistence is paralleled by the difficulty on the part of the individuals and institutions to deal with the subject impartially. To abdicate this responsibility would be to leave instruction and consideration to the commercial interests of our society."

The colloquy, in the discussion stages for nearly a year, will be underway unofficially this term, as various informal student groups read works related to the various fields included in the program.

QUESTIONS WELCOME

These groups are to submit questions to the 22 speakers, who will answer those questions when they appear.

During spring term, the university plans widescale evaluation processes including both students and faculty.

"If the (colloquy) approach is successful in mobilizing the university's resources for the intensive study of a single topic, similar colloquies could be held on other topics of social concern —drugs, for example — in succeeding years," Ward said.

Dr. Beatrice Paolucci, professor of home management and child development and a colloquy committee chairman, said the university hoped "well over 1,000 students" would be involved in the colloquy for academic credit.

Lectures and closed circuit television broadcasts hopefully would reach another 20,000 of the university's more than 39,000 student population, she said.

Colloquy topics, one for each of the seven weeks, include: physiology, cultural perspective, sexual roles, sexuality and the law, premarital behavior, marriage and the family, and values for decision making.

Scenic Roads Talks Set

MARQUETTE (AP) — A special legislative committee investigating the possibilities of building a network of scenic highways will climax a four-day Upper Peninsula tour with a hearing in Marquette Friday.

The committee headed by Sen. Thomas Schweigert, R-Petoskey, began its hearings in St. Ignace Tuesday. It is expected also to visit Paradise and Munising.

Besides Schweigert, the committee is made up of four other senators and Rep. Josephine Hunsinger, D-Detroit.

The Upper Peninsula long has clamored for a scenic network of some 518 miles, which unofficial sources estimate would entail an expenditure of $79 million.

MARQUETTE HEARING

The Marquette hearing will be at Northern Michigan University.

Schweigert said the committee expects to have a report for the Legislature prepared before its January session opens.

U.P. Swings Anew Into Time Battle

MARQUETTE (UPI) — The semiannual battle of the clock in Michigan's Upper Peninsula is beginning to heat up again with an added twist of the dial.

Marquette and Delta counties, which in the spring went along with the federal government's ruling they were in the Central time zone, have now decided to switch to the Eastern time zone, joining Chippewa and Mackinac counties which had decided to defy the government and keep time with the Lower Peninsula.

The boards of supervisors in Marquette and Delta counties not only voted this week to join the Eastern zone — meaning they will not have to touch their clocks Oct. 27 when the rest of the state reverts to standard time — but also recommended that their citizens vote against daylight time in November.

The referendum on daylight savings time will put the question squarely before Michigan residents who will be asked whether they want standard time the year around or face the annual switch to daylight time each spring and back again in the fall with the remainder of the nation.

COUNTIES DIFFER

As a result of this week's action, four UP counties will be in the Eastern zone and 11 will be in the Central zone after the time switch Oct. 27. But, it is probable that Baraga, Houghton, Luce, Alger, Keweenaw, Iron, Schoolcraft and Ontonagon counties will join the others in the Eastern zone, leaving only Menominee, Dickinson and Gogebic counties in the Central time zone with their neighbor, the state of Winsconsin.

The federal Uniform Time Act placed all of the UP in the Central zone while the Lower Peninsula was set in the Eastern time zone, causing much confusion and consternation among UP residents. The latest wrangle could put federal agencies an hour behind the communities in which they are located.

At K. I. Sawyer Air Force Base, with about 15,000 persons south of Marquette, a base spokesman said that on Oct. 27, the base will switch to Central standard time putting it one hour behind neighboring Marquette.

A ruling from Air Force officials at a higher level would most likely alleviate the problem, the base spokesman said.

Social Security Tries Plan to Speed Checks

The Social Security Administration has introduced a new system to ensure prompt action on information changes so that social security checks will arrive on time each month in the proper amount and at the proper address.

Eino J. Heino, Pontiac district manager, said today that from now on people will be asked to make all reports, changes of address, reports about working, marriage, divorce or death, direct to the Pontiac Social Security Office, 21 S. Glenwood. This will allow the information to be checked for accuracy and routed to the proper payment center.

Postcards preaddressed to the Pontiac office can be used for making these reports. The cards can be obtained by writing or calling the Glenwood Street office.

Reports can also be made by letter.

90th Congress Spent More Than Any Yet

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The 90th Congress appropriated more money than any in history. And Rep. George Mahon, D-Tex., its chief money man, warns government spending may continue to rise.

Writing in the Congressional Record, Mahon noted that in its two sessions the Congress, paradoxically, also saved more than any Congress before it.

He said its greatest accomplishment was that it acted to control inflation, repulse the attack on the dollar, and move once again toward a balanced federal budget.

"Even in spite of the war, which is costing yearly some $28 billion, plus," Mahon said, "as a result of the actions of this Congress, the estimated deficit for the current fiscal year (1969) now looks to be in the range of $5 billion to $7 billion."

Mahon, chairman of the House Appropriations Committee where all money bills originate, summed up the congressional balance sheet both for the session that ended Monday and for the two years of the 90th Congress.

According to committee records, gross appropriations (including those from trust funds and so-called permanent authorizations) ran to about $215 billion in the 1967 session.

But these totals reflected cuts from presidential requests that amounted to $13.2 billion this year and $8.2 billion last year.

There are more than 2,500 known species of ants on earth.

Wallace to Go on Ohio Ballot

By JACK BELL
AP Political Writer

WASHINGTON — The Supreme Court decision making George C. Wallace the first modern-day third-party candidate to get on the presidential ballot in all 50 states holds important implications for his future and that of American politics far beyond the impact it will have Nov. 5.

In a 6-3 decision Tuesday the court ruled that Ohio cannot impose "unequal burdens" on small parties in the form of stiff election regulations unless there is a "compelling state interest."

The immediate effect was to put Wallace's name on the ballot in one of the largest electoral states and one where Republican nominee Richard M. Nixon is leading in most public opinion polls.

Although likely to attract some conservative votes from Nixon, Wallace also could be expected to bite into labor votes that might have gone to Democrat Hubert H. Humphrey.

News Analysis

SOME STRENGTH

Wallace generally is considered to have some strength among blue-collar workers in the state's big industrial centers, especially Akron and Cleveland.

Although there have been no independent published surveys of Wallace strength, estimates by Republicans and Democrats range from 10 to 25 per cent statewide, and much higher in some counties including Akron.

Presumably anticipating a favorable court decision, the Wallace camp has stepped up its Ohio efforts greatly in the past two weeks.

Ohio has 26 electoral votes, ranking it fourth with Illinois. Although Nixon is given a wide national electoral college margin in most polls, a late Humphrey surge could make the Ohio vote important.

NOT ABLE TO DO

By getting on the ballot in every state Wallace has accomplished something that the highly popular Theodore Roosevelt, the well-regarded Robert M. LaFollette and the controversial Henry A. Wallace were never able to do.

The political bugaboo of a third party always has been to get on the ballot. And state laws always have inhibited it since the Republicans blotted out the Whigs in pre-Civil War days.

But now the one-man, one-vote Supreme Court has decided that it, instead of the states, is the final judge of qualifications of voters.

This is the court which the former Alabama governor has attacked vigorously in his campaign and has promised to replace—if perchance he might become president—with strict, old-style constitutionalists who would return, among other things, to equal but separate construction of law.

GOES BEYOND

What Wallace has done, however, goes beyond the court's decision that Ohio's law requiring 400,000 signatures to place a presidential candidate on the ballot cannot be justified.

The former Alabama governor has organized, with strictly Alabama advice and finances from still undisclosed sources, a campaign which met the requirements of 49 other states to get his name before the voters.

This means that for the foreseeable future, which certainly includes 1972, there will be a third-party candidate for president who must be reckoned with.

Extra Help Needed for Blacks, Says VP

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Hubert H. Humphrey says that a century of deprivation requires not only equal opportunity but even "a little extra help" for Negroes.

The Democratic presidential nominee spoke on civil rights in appearances Tuesday before a predominantly student group at Kansas City's Rockhurst College and at a meeting of labor and Negro leaders here.

With crowds urging him to "give 'em hell" at a campaign in the two largest cities of normally Democratic Missouri, Humphrey enjoyed one of his best days as he launched the final three weeks of his campaign.

Humphrey said he has been criticized for his support of federal programs to train more Negro workers, and to upgrade educational levels in the nation's slum areas.

'NO COMPROMISE'

He told a group of Negro leaders, "I do not intend, in order to win this election, to compromise a lifetime of dedication to the cause of human rights."

Humphrey's long day included 10 appearances in the two cities. After being mobbed by students at a Negro high school and giving a rousing stump speech to 10,000 persons at a downtown rally in Kansas City, Humphrey received one of his most enthusiastic airport receptions from a crowd of more than 2,000 when he arrived here in late afternoon.

Humphrey has a busy schedule here today, including a question session with housewives, a shopping center reception, a downtown rally, and a television interview.

'LOOK AT NO. 2'

"You know," he said, "it's bad enough that Mr. Republican's TV blitz keeps telling us that 'Nixon's the one.' But it's even worse when you stop to think that 'Agnew's the two,'" he added.

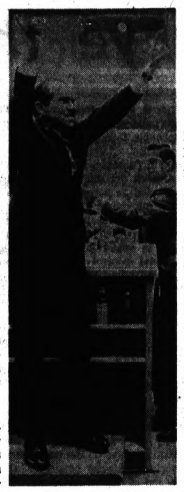

Both at Rockhurst and in an interview in Kansas City, Humphrey was asked about his Salt Lake City speech in which he pledged if elected he would halt bombing of North Vietnam, taking into consideration North Vietnamese willingness to restore the demilitarized zone between North and South Vietnam.

Noting that "we must always think of the protection of our troops," Humphrey said in the interview: "As president I would stop the bombing of the North as an acceptable risk for peace because I believe it could lead to success in the negotiations and a shorter war, period.

"This would be the best protection for our troops," he said.

RESPONDS TO CHEERS — Republican presidential nominee Richard M. Nixon raises both arms in response to cheers at a rally in Greensboro, N.C., yesterday.

Plans 'Fastest Finish in History'

Nixon Optimistic on Big States

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Richard M. Nixon, claiming the presidential lead in "every major state," moved today into what he called Operation Extra Effort—a campaign windup with an electronic focus.

The themes were familiar as the GOP nominee swung through the South and moved today to Kansas City.

Nixon described his plan for the remaining days of the White House campaign Tuesday before he set out from Key Biscayne, Fla.: "The fastest finish in campaign history."

Robert Ellsworth, his national political director, said that will mean an intensified television and radio campaign, plus a stepped-up regimen for the nominee.

MEASURED STYLE

But there was no noticeable disruption in the measured style and pace of the Nixon campaign itinerary.

"We do have available television and radio in a perhaps far greater quantity than has been available in any previous campaign, even greater than in 1960," Nixon said.

It was evident that Nixon's windup plan does not include the kind of exhausting and extensive personal travel which marked his losing bid for the presidency eight years ago. Then, in a 32-hour windup sprint, Nixon covered more than 7,200 miles. Some of the major items in the current plan:

- A six-day-a-week schedule, with Sundays off, except, perhaps, for some radio and television tapings.

TO ORIGINATE IN LA

- Four hours of national television on Monday, Nov. 4, the day before the election. The whole show is to originate in Los Angeles, the first two hours aired in the East, the second in the West.
- A 10-night series, starting tonight, of 15-minute radio addresses on major campaign issues.
- A 150-page compilation of the Nixon position on campaign issues.

"I would call this," Nixon said of his plan for the final weeks, "I am trying to think of the proper term—Operation Extra Effort."

Nixon reported his polls convince him he is ahead of Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, the Democratic nominee. "We believe that we are ahead in every major state," he said.

But Nixon said he is taking steps to ward off overconfidence. He said Republican National Chairman Ray C. Bliss is contacting every county and city chairman in the nation "to launch the extra effort," and his own strategists are doing the same thing.

"We are going to play it safe," he said. "We are going all out on the issues, on the appearances, on the activity, between now and election."

* * *

In Kansas City, Nixon said new leadership in Washington must work to make sure that young Americans find a rewarding future in farming instead of leaving the nation's rural regions. "With new leadership we can, together, again make agriculture rewarding," he said in a speech prepared for the national convention of Future Farmers of America.

Space Gear Firms Eye the Sea

(EDITOR'S NOTE—The race to the moon has won all the headlines and the glamor, but quietly many of America's leading corporations have been betting on reaping new, rich rewards from beneath the ocean depths. While the '60s may belong to space, the '70s may be the decade when the oceans come into their own.)

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Quietly, outside the public spotlight that illuminates progress toward landing men on the moon, America's aerospace industries are making deep commitments to exploit another frontier — the sea.

While the oceans do not represent an environment for getting rich quick, an Associated Press sampling shows many aerospace firms believe the oceanics markets offer vast profit opportunities which soon may surpass those available from space programs.

Aerojet-General Corp., builder of many rocket engines, currently has about 10 per cent of its business in oceanography, compared with three per cent five years ago. It is now directing between 10 and 15 per cent of in-house research and development efforts toward oceanology interests.

"The fact that the proportion of our research investment in this field exceeds the proportion of sales indicates that we anticipate a significant area for growth in the years ahead," an Aerojet spokesman said. "We do not, however, see such a large opportunity in oceanology that we would limit exploitation of other profitable areas such as space, socio-economic projects or electronics."

ANOTHER VIEW

Said a spokesman for Lockheed Aircraft Corp.:

"While ocean-related work today represents only a small percentage of our more than $2.3 billion annual volume, we expect to see it account for a much larger share in the future.

"The corporation is carrying out a multimillion-dollar research and development effort in ocean programs. The payoff on these investments in future business probably won't begin before the 1970s."

Officials stressed that Lockheed has "no intention of cutting back on space and aviation efforts," however.

SAME STORY

While exceptions exist, the story is much the same elsewhere in the aerospace industry.

Five years ago, combined military and commercial-industrial oceanics sales for Bendix Corp. amounted to just over $20 million a year, or three per cent of the firm's total business. In 1967, Bendix' oceanics business showed sales of $48.2 million, or four per cent.

Dr. Theodor F. Hueter, vice president and general manager of Honeywell's Marine Systems Center, said undersea defense and marine sales accounted for about seven per cent of the firm's billion-dollar volume in 1967, a sizable increase from five years ago when marine-related sales amounted to about three per cent of the company's $648 million volume.

Spokesman for North American Rockwell Corp., builder of Apollo spaceships, said corporate policy prevents making public details concerning the amount of dollars being pumped into oceanographic research. They admitted, however, that the firm's Ocean Systems Operations "has grown considerably in the last five years and we expect to continue this growth."

North American has developed a small but versatile undersea workboat named Beaver which can transfer people from the surface to undersea habitats. The firm also builds deep-ocean oil and gas production systems.

A vast accumulation of engineering talent and fabrication capabilities that developed from space and missile programs give aerospace and electronic firms an advantage when competing for opportunities in oceanics.

Many of these firms — like Lockheed, General Dynamics, Litton Industries Inc., General Electric and Westinghouse — have worked in, above or on the sea for many years building submarines, surface ships, undersea warfare equipment and submarine-launched missiles.

Spokesman for petroleum industries say 40 per cent of the world's oil reserves are under the continental shelves, and they predict an investment of $25 billion in offshore development over the next 10 years.

READILY APPLICABLE

Aerospace industries have found the know—how and facilities they assembled to build and test space ships are readily applicable to developing undersea vehicles.

For example, Pratt & Whitney Aircraft jet engines are being adapted to power ships. Hamilton Standard, which builds the life-supporting backpack to be worn by Apollo astronauts walking in space and the environmental control system in the moon-landing section of Amerjca's Apollo spacecraft, is applying its skills to undersea divers and habitats.

General Electric Co., which does more than $100 million worth of business in the marine market, has teamed up with three federal agencies in building an undersea habitat called Tectite 1 in which four scientists will live and work for 60 straight days on the ocean floor early next year near St. John Island in the Virgin Islands National Park.

Litton Industries, Lockheed, Grumman Aircraft, North American and Westinghouse have built research submarines useful to the Navy for undersea experiments, for search and recovery operations or for use as workboats at offshore oil drilling or mining sites.

VARIETY OF PRODUCTS

Bendix divisions are working in areas of shipboard and submarine sonar systems, torpedoes, underwater position-fixing, telemetry and communications oceanographic instruments such as current meters and depth gauges, and providing services to search for petroleum or other natural resources.

Some of the largest aerospace firms, however, have barely gotten their big toe wet in oceanography—and give no indication that they intend to wade in too deep.

Boeing Co.'s oceanographic activity basically amounts only to "monitoring" technical fields such as desalination and other classic areas of interest.

"Our market research people generally sum it up by saying: 'We keep hearing about the great future for oceanography, but so far no one has indicated he is prepared to spend any money in the area. Where is the customer?'" a Boeing spokesman said.

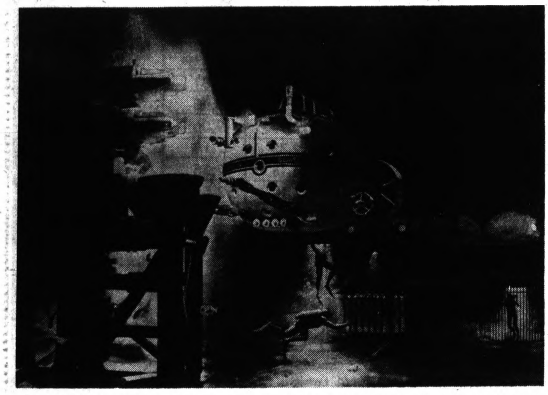

AP Photos

UNDERWATER MISSILE — More and more aerospace industries are developing oceanography divisions, providing advance equipment for many kinds of marine research. Undersea warfare now represents a major part of the Navy's research budget, too. If there were ever a military oceanic threat to the U.S., government investment might promptly be channeled into developments such as the underwater missile launcher conceived in this artist's drawing.

SUB WORK BASES—Vehicles such as these could transport men and equipment to depths of up to 1,000 feet, and remain there "on station" for two weeks at a time. They are Grumman Aircraft's GSV-1 (above) and PX-15A. The science of oceanics is expected to come into its own in the next decade, as technology progressively facilitates undersea mining, oil-drilling and exploitation of other undersea natural resources. It has been predicted that by 1970 total oceanographic spending will surpass the space budget.

SUBMARINE WORKBOAT—The Beaver Mark IV, being developed by North American Rothwell, is shown in use on the ocean floor. This submersible workboat carries people and equipment to underwater habitats such as this one near a drilling installation. Petroleum experts estimate that 40 per cent of the world's oil reserves are under the ocean. This could stimulate an investment of $25 billion in offshore development over the next 10 years.

6-Year-Old Computer Whiz Astounds New York Prof

NEW YORK (AP) — When Danny Jacoby grows up, he wants to be a computer programmer.

That is, when he grows up to be 11.

Danny took his first computer course this past summer under Harry Mullish, a professor of computer science, who is amazed still at Danny's performance in the five-day intensive course designed for college professors.

NEVER BEFORE

"It was something I've never experienced in my life," said Mullish. "The last day I asked him to add up two matrices. I just wanted him to give the answer. But no, he wanted to come to the blackboard, so he toddled up."

"Then I thought he would give the answer but no, he gave the lecture on how to add two matrices. What's more he gave the lecture in exactly the same way I would do it."

Danny's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ron Jacoby, say he began to talk at the age of 1, read at 3 and combined the two into an insatiable curiosity and an inordinate facility for remembering almost everything and translating it into numbers.

"My brother," Danny says "is almost 4. I'm two years, six months, one week and two days older than he is, to be exact."

NOT EXACTLY

"Well, not really exactly," he adds after a brief pause. "We weren't born at the same time. I was born about 6:15 a.m."

The Ron Jacobys—she is an NYU computer programmer, he is an actor-director—say Danny is something of an educational problem to them.

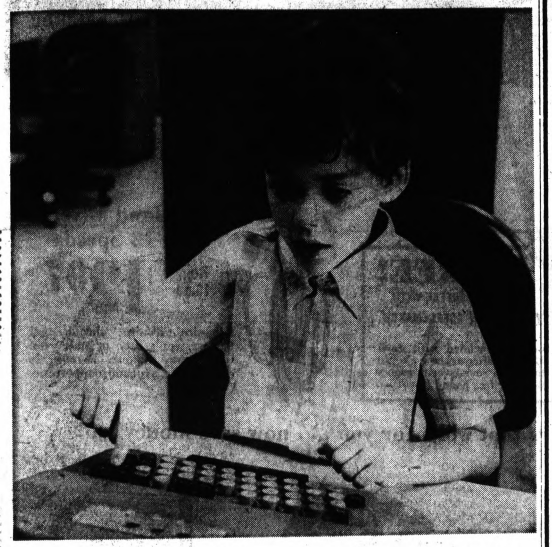

"There's only a certain amount I can teach him," says Mrs. Jacoby. "Fortunately, they have a lot of self-teaching methods at his school."

Danny, who does math at a ninth grade level now, taught himself long division and decimals, she said.

The Jacobys are not concerned that Danny will have a one-sided education. He loves baseball and "warms up" for computer programming by doing cartwheels.

Danny says he will study computer programming "until I think I've learned everything. I guess I'm going to computer classes until I'm about 11 years old.

"Oh, I'll be in lots of plays too," he said, "When I'm 14 or 15 I'll direct them, too. When I'm 16, well, I might go to college. I don't know. I guess I won't have everything in my head."

NEVER TOO YOUNG—Six-year-old Danny Jacoby tries preparing data cards on a key-punch machine at New York University. The tousle-haired youngster wants to be a computer programmer when he grows up to be 11 years old. He attends computer classes at NYU after his regular day in grade school.

Dutch to Beat U.S. to Ballot

HILVERSUM, The Netherlands (AP) — The Dutch will have a chance to vote next week on U.S. presidential candidates, but the ballots won't count, of course.

The idea was proposed by Sjaloom (Peace), an organization of Protestant and Roman Catholic young men and women who were later joined by other groups such as Socialist Youth.

The Socialist Vara Radio Corp., will announce the results of the polls Oct. 25. All ballots must be in by Oct. 23.

It is possible the poll may pick three presidents, because it is divided into three groups as follows:

—Pollers will distribute 5,000 forms in 13 Dutch voting districts.

SEPARATE VOTE

—Other people can apply for a poll form, to be tabulated separately.

The ground for the poll is being prepared by a 70-minute television program next Monday. It features portraits of Hubert H. Humphrey, Richard M. Nixon and George C. Wallace, the Democratic, Republican and third-party presidential candidates, and others who have played a role in the race for the White House, including Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York and Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy.

* * *

The Dutch can also express their opinion on such issues as the Vietnamese war and the use of violence by Negroes to win civil rights.

GLOBAL CONCERN

The organizers stress that with the U.S. president making decisions affecting the whole world it is the concern of the whole world who is elected to the White House.

"It is crystal clear that problems like Vietnam, NATO, the poor-rich and black-white relations are substantially affected by the American president's policy. They are problems which also for us in the Netherlands are of major importance," they said.

* * *

"Frank participation in the U.S. presidential elections by non-Americans makes clear that the sovereignty of separate states is an outdated reality," that should be superseded by world bodies, the statement said.

* * *

It referred to the human rights declaration guaranteeing a social and an international order fully implementing all human rights and freedoms.

His Yen for Yen Results in Arrest

SHIOJIRI, Japan (UPI) — Senju Yamato, 37, wanted to draw 62,000 yen ($177) from the Nokyo (Farm Cooperatives) Bank and instead received 10 times that amount, the equivalent of $1,777.

* * *

Happy to get this windfall, Yamato spent half the amount to buy a used automobile. He buried the rest in a nearby mountain.

Yamato, arrested a few days later on suspicion of fraud, complained in jail: "I don't understand why I should be arrested. It's the bank who made the mistake."

KALAMAZOO (AP) — Municipal employes went on strike today after negotiators failed to reach agreement on a new contract by midnight Tuesday.

John Carter, vice president of Local 1677 of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employes, said the union represents workers in the public works department, sewage plant, waterworks, parks department, police and fire departments, and the airport.

Police and fire department mechanics were affected, Carter said. He said the main issue in dispute is the union's wage demands.

Left Ionia Facility, Arrested in Ohio

Two Pontiac-area men, sentenced to the Ionia Reformatory on felony charges from Oakland County, were captured near Bowling Green, Ohio, yesterday after escaping Saturday.

They were identified by Ionia officials as Fred Dyer, 21, of 1117 Stanley and John Shastal, 21, of 3270 Sashabaw, Waterford Township

SENTENCES

Shastal was sentenced last year to two-to-five years for auto theft, while Dyer was serving a three-to-five-year sentence for attempted breaking and entering on a 1967 conviction.

Ionia authorities said both will be charged with escape, a felony carrying a maximum of six years upon conviction.

Both men waived extradition proceedings and will be returned to Ionia within the next few days, a reformatory spokesman said.

Man Guilty in Synagogue Beating Death

A 34-year-old River Rouge man was found guilty of second-degree murder yesterday in Oakland County Circuit Court in the beating death last November of a Southfield synagogue custodian.

Facing sentence to be pronounced by Circuit Judge Frederick C. Ziem Tuesday is Edward Trudeau, who was also convicted of breaking and entering.

The custodian, Acie Green, 63, of Detroit, died after being knocked to the floor when he discovered an apparent burglary in progress.

A mistrial was declared in the case last July, when a witness allegedly tried to prejudice the jury.

At issue during the trial was the medical question of whether Green died of a fractured skull or of pneumonia.

Goodfellow Vote

Yearly election of officers of the Waterford Township Goodfellows will be held at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at the Station 1 fire hall, Highland and Crescent Lake.

The Goodfellows each year carry out a newspaper sale and funds are used for providing Christmas gifts for needy families.

School Board Eyes Millage in Waterford

The need for an increase in school millage will be discussed at tomorrow's meeting of the Waterford Township School Board at 7:30 p.m. at the administration offices, 3101 W. Walton.

The election could be set for December. The school board also will consider placing a $9 to $11 million bond issue on the same ballot. The millage increase would be for school operations and the bond issue for construction of a new junior school and additions to other schools.

Last November a request for additional millage lost. However, in May a request for a millage renewal was approved by voters.

Also on tomorrow's agenda is an official enrollment report. Figures show approximately a 3 per cent rise in attendance over last year, an increase of 573 pupils.

The Dominion of Canada was established on July 1, 1867.

New Soviet Movie Stars Have Glamour

(EDITOR'S NOTE—They may have tongue twisters for names, but there is nothing wrong with their eye appeal. "They" are the new crop of Soviet movie actresses whose shapes and faces match those in Hollywood. Gone forever is the image of the Russian woman as an Olympic shot-putter.)

By ANTHONY COLLINGS
Associated Press Writer

MOSCOW—Touches of glamor have come to Soviet movie actresses, once relegated to roles with all the sex appeal of tractor drivers.

Blonde Marianna's charms have been displayed most recently in "Knight of the Dream," while Nonna captivated audiences—especially the men in them—with her performance as Kotik in the film, "In the Town of S," based on a story by the famous Russian writer Anton Chekhov.

Lacking the publicity machines of Western movie companies, firms here such as Mosfilm give out little information regarding their actresses. But a few details are known.

YOUNG AND TALENTED

Nonna is one of the youngest and most talent Soviet actresses. Now with the Kiev Russian Drama Theater, she was graduated only two years ago from Moscow's Schukin Theatrical School of the Vakhtangov State Theater.

Another pretty young actress, dark-haired Larissa Trembovelskaya, appeared in the Soviet musical film, "The Stone Guest." She also is well-known on stage as a soloist of the Bolshoi Opera.

Larissa has appeared in major operas for more than 11 years and has joined Bolshoi tours in America, Canada and Britain.

NATURAL BEAUTY

In addition to television appearances, Tatiana has starred in a wide range of musicials, including Franz Lehar's "The Count of Luxembourg," "Circus Highlight" by Yuri Milyutin and "Spring is Here" by D. Kabalevsky.

RUSSIA'S DARLINGS—They have no Hollywood or Broadway publicity machines to back them but present-day Soviet actresses make fans and influence people very well on their own merits. Elvira Lossman (left) is a decorative young blonde to match any on the screen east or west. Admired for her "natural beauty," Tatiana Shmga (right) is an established star of the Moscow Operetta Theater.

SUPER RED STARS—A new style, glamorous and feminine, has recently sweetened the former image of the Russian actress as a worthy but tough female worker. Antonina Tsigankova (left) made a captivating Maria in Moscow's adaptation of "West Side Story." Nonna Terentieva, a delectable blonde, is now with the Kiev Russian Drama Theater. She played Kotik in the film "In the Town of S," based on Chekhov's story.

How's Dow Jones to Keep 'Em?

By DICK WEST

WEST

My own broker is Charlie Ogle, a member of the Wall Street firm of Ziegfield & Minsky. He has a seat on the stock exchange, otherwise known as "bald head row."

I couldn't ask for a better investment counselor than Charlie. Especially when he has his mind on stocks.

The other day I called up Charlie to get the latest quotations on three of my holdings, 43-25-37

"Forty - three, twenty - five, thirty-seven," he said.

Something in the way he said it—possibly the note of wonderment in his voice — made me suspicious.

I said, "Did you see those figures on the ticker?"

"No, I saw them through the window."

"Are they over the counter?"

"If they are anywhere near the counter they are over it," Charlie said.

BREATHING HEAVILY

By this time I was really suspicious, I said, "Have you got asthma or some other respiratory trouble, Charlie? You seem to be breathing heavily."

"I'll be okay as soon as I move away from the window," he said.

"All right, then, let's get down to business. Do you think the market is going to be dominated by the bulls or the bears?"

"There must be something wrong with this connection. I keep hearing a low whistling noise."

"Sorry. I was looking out the window again."

"What's happening out there?"

"There's a big crowd in the street and everyone is pushing and shoving and trying to climb on somebody else's shoulders."

"Sounds like a panic."

"Yeah. I think I had better go down there where I can get a closer look."

As I was saying, stockbrokers basically are decent fellows. But how you gonna keep 'em down at Dow Jones after they have seen Francine?

But He Still Can Bite

Outspoken Artist Mellows

(EDITOR'S NOTE — Thomas Hart Benton, major figure in the regional movement in art, says he's too old, at 79, to climb up and down ladders all day to paint murals. But he says he will never retire. He's busy all the time with easel painting.)

By MILES A. SMITH
AP Arts Editor

NEW YORK — At 79, Thomas Hart Benton, doughty chronicler of the American scene, has mellowed a bit. He is not quite as outspoken as he was in the old days when he was making tart remarks about abstract painting and museum directors, or getting involved in a hassle with the Missouri legislature over one of his murals, or scoffing at New York City as a cultural base.

But he still is a sturdy champion of representational painting and has little use for recent movement in art.

Benton has been spending some time here at the New School for Social Research, touching up his first public mural, dating from 1930. It depicts the impact of technology on the American economy. But he is painting no more murals.

'THROUGH WITH MURALS'

"I'm through with murals," he said with a shrug. "climbing up and down those ladders all day is too much. But I'm busy all the time with easel painting, and I'm never going to retire. Why should I?"

"When you get to be 79, the only thing you're interested in is your own stuff," he said facetiously, his blue eyes twinkling.

His hair is not yet white and his slight figure is straight, but since an illness of two years ago he has adopted a slower pace.

These kids today live in a different world," he said. "I'm too old to understand what motivates e'm.

WANTS TO SEE SHAPE

"I've never liked any art form in which the medium — the means you use — dominates the form. When I look at a thing I want to see its shape. It is the configuration that makes the picture."

That is why he calls abstract painting "a decorative art without any meaning."

It so happened that a young man named Jack Pollock became one of Benton's students about the time the latter was working on the New School murals. Pollock helped to fabricate some of the frames and to prepare the ground-work for some of the panels in this mural.

Pollock was a representational painter too, at the beginning, but after World War II he was destined to become one of the most famous of the abstract school.

Benton, discreetly silent on Pollock's later devotion to abstraction, said simply that his former student "was perhaps the most gifted colorist in recent American painting."

What about Pop Art?

"I welcomed that movement in its original manifestation," said Benton, "as a revolt against abstraction and a return to the American scene and American life. But it soon lost its representational character."

After Pop Art came Op Art.

"I wouldn't look at those paintings. They hurt your eyes," the artist said. "Once again, the means of expression were so distrubing that you couldn't get the form.

MINIMAL ART?

After Op Art came Minimal Art.

Benton's hand waved off the subject. "I ignore it. I have no feeling about it at all. I'm too busy to bother with it."

Along with the late John Stewart Curry and Grant Wood, Benton was a major figure in the movement which came to be known in the 1930s as "Regionalism."

"The Regional movement lasted for more than 20 years," Benton remarked. "But now things change too fast. Every year or so, it is foolish to try to follow them. And besides, some of it is just sideshow stuff."

No pessimist, Benton says that while he doubts that he personally could capture the American scene of today as he once did yesterday's, "I have no doubt that artists of the future will handle their own environment again."

'NO ART PROGRESS'

Not that he believes new approaches to art will be any better than old ones.

"A lot of people believe in the theory of progress," he said, and with a slightly contrary air continued, "I don't think there ever has been any progress in art — at any time.

"You can give it a different content. But nobody ever did a better animal than the cavemen of Altamira."

His reference was to a Spanish cave in which were found pictures of bison and other animals, dating from around 10,000 B.C.

VOLUNTEERS RESTORATION

The New School mural, full of references to coal, cotton, steel, construction, transportation and agriculture, as well as contemporary politicans, gamblers, boxers, burlesque dancers and circus performers, had been showing signs of flaking, because of heat and low humidity.

So Benton, in town last June to accept an honorary degree from the New School, volunteered to restore it, for expenses only.

"After all," he smiled, "it's my painting and I wanted to see it preserved."

That was an echo from 1930. Alvin Johnson, president of the New School at its inception, had offered him the four walls of the building's board room. In those days there was no money for artistic commissions.

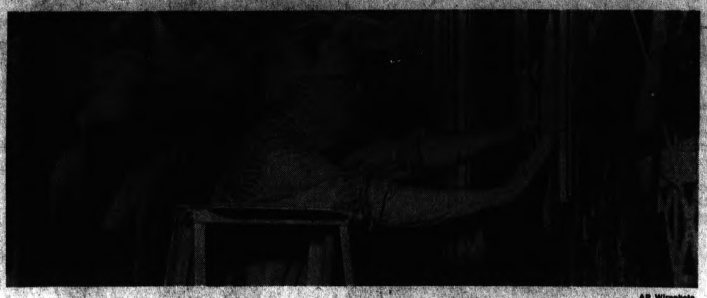

"Sure," Benton had said then, "I'll paint you a picture in tempera if you'll finance the eggs."

Egg yolks are the medium for color pigments in tempera work, and Benton used eggs by the scores of dozens.

"That led to eight other murals which paid me very well," Benton recalls, "so it was a good thing for me."

With a quip: "If it's not art, at least it's history."

CONSTANT ARTIST—Thomas Hart Benton at 79 is still busy with easel paintings, though conceding that climbing walls to do murals is, perhaps, rather too much nowadays.

U.S. Swimmers and Divers Ready to Begin Quests

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

Eliminations in the lanes begin with the women's 400-yard medley relay and the men's 400-yard freestyle relay events at 10 a.m.

At the same time in the diving area, the women's 3-meter springboard will start, with Pontiac's Micki King beginning her challenge.

At 5 p.m. Thursday, the second round of 3-meter dives will take place and the finals of the relay events are scheduled.

The U.S. swimming and diving team, which won 16 of the 36 gold medals in the 1964 Olympics, could win 22 or more in this Olympiad on the basis of times in national and international events.

Micki or one of the other two, Keala O'Sullivan or Sue Gossick, in women's 3-meter springboards, are among those expected to finish with gold.

No one among the swimming and diving officials dares to think the U.S. could make a sweep of this event, but the possibility exists.

According to University of Michigan diving coach Dick Kimball, who is coaching Micki here: "Micki's biggest competition will come from her own team members, although you cannot rule out Ingrid Kramer of Germany, Olympic springboard champion in 1960 and 1964 and platform champ in 1960."

In 1964, Lesley Bush of the U.S.A. won the platform and she is back to defend her crown in this event along with Barbara MacAlister Talmage and Ann Peterson.

"Mrs. Kramer has experience in her favor," said Kimball "However, she had been ill and she hasn't been in the best form, so I would say that Sue Gossick is Micki's closest challenger."

Kimball didn't ignore Miss O'Sullivan, who placed first in the trials in Los Angeles. However, he pointed out that "her inexperience is against her. The few mistakes she makes out of being nervous may hurt her, but she is certainly a challenger for a medal."

Many say Debbie Meyer is the best swimmer in the world and she tried to prove it in the Olympic trials in Los Angeles. She set world records for the 200-meter freestyle in 2:06.7, in the 400-meter in 4:24.5 and in the 800-meter in 9:10.4.

The eliminations and semifinals of the women's 100-meter and breast stroke events are scheduled for Friday. Leading the U. S. in the 100-meter free style is the youngest member of the women's team, Sue Pedersen, who is just 15 years old today.

Miss Pedersen, also of Sacramento, won the U.S. trial in the 100 in 59.0. Swimming her counterpart in the men's 100-freestyle for Friday's eliminations will be Zacchary Zorn, 21, of Long Beach who led the trials in 52.6, matching the world's record of Ken Walsh of Florida and Mark Spitz of Santa Clara.

In the breaststroke prelims, on Friday, Catie Ball, of 17, of Jacksonville heads the women's 100-yard event and Don McKenzie, 21, of Indiana University, leads the men.

Of course the king of gold medal winning in swimming is Don Schollander who took four in Tokyo in 1964, and who could team up with Zorn, Mike Burton, Charles Hickox and Spitz and make a sweep of the gold medals.

Sprinters Loaf to Wins in 200-Meter Heat Races

MEXICO CITY — John Carlos and Tommie Smith, America's premier 200-meter sprinters, loafed to easy victories yesterady in first round heats at the Olympic games.

Carlos, of San Jose, Calif., who has a pending world record of 19.7 seconds for the 200, won the opening heat in 20.5 as Olympic track and field competition entered its third day. Carlos led from the start and was looking over his shoulder as the field went into the stretch.

Smith, who holds the recognized world record of 20.0 and ran 19.9 in the race in which Carlos lowered the mark, took the second heat with ease in 20.3. That tied the Olympic mark set by Henry Carr of the U. S. in 1964 at Toyko. Smith, of LeMoore, Calif., and Carlos are teammates on the Santa Clara Youth Village Club.

TWO SUSPENDED

Two members of Ghana's Olympic soccer team were suspended for one year by the disciplinary committee of the Federation Internationale de Football Association, the world-wide ruling body of the sport.

The players, Charles Odamatey and Garive Akubary, were expelled from the field Sunday during Ghana's 5-3 loss to Israel.

The disciplinary committe also suspended Ghanians George Athassau and Jones Atuooquayeno for two games and reprimanded Jonathan Karpo of Ghana, and Svi Rosen, Richard Talbi and Menachem Bello of Israel.

Cyula Zsivotsky of Hungary shattered the Olympic hammer throw record with a toss of 238 feet, 2 inches today on his first throw in the qualifying competition.

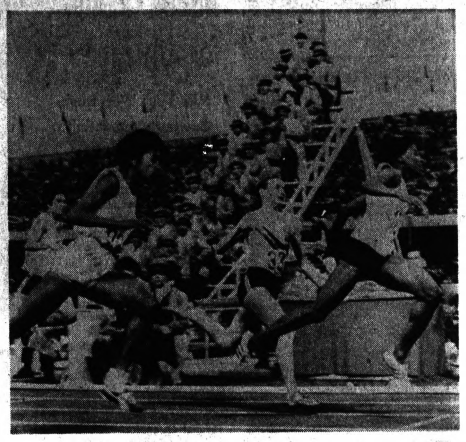

Zsivotsky, who has a pending world record toss of 242 feet, broke the Olympic mark of 229-9½, set by Romuald Klim of Russia in the 1964 Tokyo Games.

Cage Team Faces Big Test Against Yugoslav Quintet

MEXICO CITY — The first big test of the 19th Olympiad basketball tournament comes today for the United States team when it faces unbeaten Yugoslavia in an upper bracket game.

Figured to give the U.S. its toughest competition in the bracket, the Yugoslavs defeated Senegal 84-65 last night while Uncle Sam's quintet was handing the Phillipines a 96-75 setback.

Soviet Russia, meanwhile, stayed unbeaten by beating Korea, and today the Soviets face Bulgaria which has a 2-1 mark.

Against the Yugoslavs today, however, Iba may have to stick closely to a starting lineup, especially by keeping Haywood Spencer in most of the way to control the boards which he has been doing.

In a late game last night, Italy handed Puerto Rico its second loss, 68-65.

Mexico 'A Mess' After Downpour

MEXICO CITY — "Mucho lueve," said a Mexican bus driver. "Unseasonable rain," said an english-speaking Mexico City native. "A mess," said newsmen trying to cover the track competition in Olympic Stadium.

They were talking about heavy rain that hit Mexico City Tuesday just at the start and at the finish of the track events, chasing more than 50,000 fans, hundreds of newsmen and scores of vendors under cover.

But the track meet never stopped as jacketed Olympic Games officials — wrapped in cellophane — stayed on the job.

The newsmen, shouting, swearing and shivering, tried to decipher dripping notebooks. Vendors were anguished over the fact that they had no umbrellas. Athletes huddled under cover.

Outside the stadium, hat stands were swamped for Mexican sombreros.

Most Mexicans were unprepared for the rain because the rainy season usually ends in September.

"That's what we say in Colorado when we have bad weather there — unseasonable," said a drenched American.

In Expansion Draft

Tigers Content With Losses

BOSTON (UPI) — Who the world champion Detroit Tigers lost in the American League's expansion draft Tuesday is not the important thing. It's who they didn't lose.

They lost shortstop Ray Oyler, a slick fielder but weak batter, pitcher Jon Warden and outfielder Wayne Comer, plus three minor league players as Kansas City and Seattle stocked their clubs at $175,000 per player.

Limited to protecting only 15 players on their 40-man champion roster, the Tigers lost Oyler first when he was picked third by the Seattle Pilots. With each pick, the Tigers were able to add three more players to the protected list.

And by the end of the day, when each new club had grabbed six players each from the Tigers and the other nine AL clubs, names like Joe Sparma, Gates Brown, Tommy Matchick, Les Cain and Tim Marting were still with the Bengals.

MINOR PLAYERS

Besides Oyler, Warden and Comer, the Tigers also lost Mike Marshall and Dick Drago, pitchers with the Toledo farm club, and Bill Butler who pitched for Montgomery in the Southern League last summer.

Oyler, who batted only .135 this past season and went hitless after July 13 after losing his starting assignment to Matchick, didn't express much happiness at the move.

"It's a real privilege, though, to be chosen so high," he said. "I hate leaving the Tigers, but you know that some change in scenery might do me some good. I know I'm a better hitter than what I've shown."

Tigers general manager Jim Campbell didn't think Oyler was going to get that change in scenery, though.

WERE SURPRISED

"Frankly, this isn't the guy we thought we'd lose," said Campbell. "But the other clubs looked at it in a different way, I guess."

Warden, who went 4-1 for the Tigers by picking up early wins and then sitting out most of the season, was the first pick of Kansas City to open the second round. By that time, most of the Tigers' staff and some of the best farm prospects were on the protected list.

Butler, a 21-year-old left-hander who pitched for Montgomery and had a 5-3 mark with a 3.09 earned run average, went to Kansas City as their 11th choice. Their 16th pick was Drago, a 23-year-old righthander with the Toledo Mud Hens last season when he compiled a 15-8 mark.

Besides Oyler, Seattle picked up Comer as their 21st choice and Marshall as their 27th pick. Comer, who spent most of last seaon with Detroit after being called up in May when Al Kaline had his forearm fractured, batted .125 in 27 games. Marshall also compiled a good mark with Toledo last summer, stacking up a record of 15 wins and nine losses.

Injury to Gordie Howe Not Believed Serious

DETROIT (AP) — A practice session injury to Gordie Howe will not keep the 40-year-old veteran out of the lineup against New York Thursday, as feared earlier, the Detroit Red Wings announced Tuesday.

"Thank goodness I got off the ice," said Howe as he limped to the dressing room where ice packs were applied. "All we've done is skate, skate, skate."

"Fortunately, there wasn't any swelling," said General Manager Sid Abel. "Gordie had deep therapy treatment right away."

The injury is the second to the knee within three weeks.

Howe's injury came in a strenuous two-hour workout following the Wings' 2-1 loss to Toronto Sunday. Along with Howe, coach Bill Gadsby is faced with the addition of defenseman Gary Bergman and left wing Dean Prentice to the injury list.

Prentice suffered a charley horse in the first period against the Maple Leafs and Bergman pulled a groin muscle in the season opener at Boston Friday.

HARD SKATING

The freshman coach, who said there would be some hard skating in practice following the club's second straight loss Sunday, promised "another good blowout" for today.

In two outings this season the Wings, holding down last place in the Eastern Division, are winless. Howe has scored two of the club's three goals, while the other was notched by Frank Mahovlich.

Computer Helped Make Selections

BOSTON (AP) — The Kansas City Royals and the Seattle Pilots figure they are just about ready for entry into the 1969 American League pennant race after mixing age with youth in taking 30 players each at a cost of $175,000 per man in the expansion draft.

Everyone was in a happy mood Tuesday after AL President Joe Cronin hustled the draft through its six hours with the help of an IBM computer which provided data on players in lightning fashion.

"I'm sure we put some holes in a lot of clubs today," Charlie Metro, Kansas City's director of player procurement, announced gleefully.

"I'm completely satisfied with the draft, but I'm not completely satisfied with our personnel —and I won't be until we've won our division and the World Series," Seattle General Manager Marvin Milkes said.

"I think it was a very fair and

NEW YORK (AP) — Walter J. Michael, Billy Haughton, Del Miller and Frank Ervin, four of the leading figures in harness racing, were elected Tuesday to the trotting Hall of Fame.

Michael, 67, of Bucyrus, Ohio, is president of the United States Trotting Association. Ervin, 64, of Lexington, Ky., Miller, 55, of Washington, Pa., and Haughton, 45, of Oyster Bay Cove, N.Y. are among the leading drivers and trainers.

They were elected by the United States Harness Writers Association.

SECOND IN CONTEST — The United States (Harvard) eight-man crew, foreground, finished second behind the Czechoslovakia boat, center, in Olympic qualifying heats at Mexico yesterday. ## U.S.'s Oerter Discus Champ for 4th Time

Miss Tyus Wins Dash; Cawley's Mark Falls; Bachelor Qualifies

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

MEXICO CITY, Mex. — Altitude or no altitude. Rain or no rain. The onslaught against world and Olympic track and field records continues.

Al Oerter, who at the age of 32 is the dean of the U.S. team in track and field, won the discus event for the fourth consecutive Olympiad by breaking his own olympic record with a distance of 212½ feet (64.78 meters).

Wyomia Tyus added another gold medal for the U.S. with a world and olympic mark of 11.0 in the women's 100-meter finals, while Australian Ralph Doubell was setting an olympic record and tying the world mark in the 800-meter final with a time of 1:44.3.

Despite the wet and rainy day, the most spectacular finale of the day was the 400-meter hurdles won by Britisher David Peter Hemery who had an unbelievable 48.1 to wipe out the existing world and olympic marks.

CAWLEY'S RECORD

The world mark was owned by Farmington's Rex Cawley in 49.1 and the Olympic mark belonged to Glenn Davis with 49.3 in Rome in 1960.

The unbelievable fact was that the three places behind Hemery were all record breaking times of 49.0 by Gerhard Nennige of Germany, John Sherwood of Great Britain and Geoff Vanderstock of the U.S.

The disappointment in this event was the 6th place finish of Ron Whitney, whose 49.1 in the prelims had tied the world mark. He was 49.2 in the finals.

Oerter's Olympic record in 1964 was 200 feet and 1½ inches. He also won the event in Rome in 1960 and Melbourne in 1956.

Americans Jay Silvester and Gary Carlsen, who surpassed Oerter in the Olympic trials at Lake Tahoe, finished 5th and 6th respectively in the discus finals as East German Lothar Milde took second and Czech Ludvik Danek was third.

SILVER MEDAL

The U.S. added a silver medal in the women's 100-meter with Barbara Farrell finishing behind Miss Tyus in 11.1, while the same time was recorded for Irene Kirszenstein of Poland and Raelene Boyle of Australia.

Tom Farrell of New York brought the U.S. a bronze medal in the 800-meter finale by posting his best time ever, 1:45.4.

There were surprises in this event as favorite Wilson Kiprugut was clocked in second place at 1:44.5. Farrell's finish was a surprise as well, since Walter Adams of Germany and Josef Plachy of Czechoslovakia were favored ahead of him.

5,000 METERS

In the preliminary heat of the 5,000-meter run, France's Jean Wadoux had the best heat time of 14:19.8. The favored Kenyans won the other two heats, Natali Temu with 14:20.4 and Heza Keino in 14:28.4.

Birmingham's Jack Bachelor qualified for the final with a 14:31.0 for 4th place in his heat, while Bob Day of the U.S. Army posted a 14:23.2 for 6th place in his heat.

Detroit's Louis Scott moved into a neck-and-neck lead with Keino at the 10-minute mark, but faltered completely out of the picture for 11th place in a time of 15:13.0. The finals in this 5,000 meter event are scheduled for Thursday.

High Altitude Slows Rowers Who Eye Rest

MEXICO CITY — Today was a day of rest for crews competing in the 1968 Olympics and there was general agreement they needed it.

Karl Adam, chief coach of West Germany's powerful contingent summed it up when he said: "The recuperation period for all rowers is two to three times as long here as it is at sea level. Therefore it was a good idea to have a day off between important races."

The first to fall was Apolonaras Grigas, stroke of the Russians pair without coxswain, who lost consciousness from lack of oxygen 100 meters from the finish in Tuesday's repechages.

Medics churned out to rescue him in a launch, gave him oxygen, and after an electrocardiogram pronounced him fit once more.

SECOND PLACE

After that it was evident that sickness had hit the rowers. Five others collapsed on the course or after the finish, and the Harvard University eight-oared crew was shuffled to accommodate alergies and respiratory infections. The shuffle was good for a second in its heat and advancement to the finals Saturday.

Switzerland's Hans Ruckstuhl, a singles sculler to compete in the repechage, dropped out of his event to replace a sick teammate in double sculls finished first in its heat and qualified for the finals Saturday.

Two West German doctors were always on standby for their team with oxygen equipment purchased hurriedly Monday.

FOURTH GOLD MEDAL — Al Oerter of West Islip, N.Y. throws the discus at Olympic track stadium yesterday. His toss of 212 feet, 1½ inches (64.78 meters) won him his fourth Olympic gold medal and broke his own Olympic mark of 200 feet, 1½ inches.

LOOKING FOR AN OPENING — Danilo Florencio (with ball) of The Philippines looks for a path to the basket as Bill Hosket (10), Mike Barrett (7) and Ken Spain of the United States move in on him during yesterday's Olympic Games action. Joaquin Rojas (at right) is ready for a pass from his teammate. The U.S. remained unbeaten with a 96-75 victory over the Filipinos.

Golf Champions Will Be Honored

Golf champions at Twin Lakes Country Club will receive awards at the club's annual banquet next Saturday night.

Among those who will receive honors are Dave Vorce, the club's medal play titlist and match play winner Ken Breit, who was runner-up to Vorce in the medal play. Beryl Salisbury placed second in the match play.

AUSTRALIAN WINS — Australian's Raph Doubell (105) strains to break the tape and win the 800 meter finals of the Olympic competition at Mexico City. Running second is Wilson Chuma Kiprugut of Kenya.

Home-Grown Talent Spices MSU Quintet

EAST LANSING (AP)—Michigan State's Big Ten basketball hopes this year depend on a team built around home-grown talent and versatile Lee Lafayette of Grand Rapids.

"To really be a contender, you have to have a superplayer," said Spartan Coach John Benington. "Lafayette is the closest we have to one. We just hope he will have an exceptional year."

Lafayette, 6-foot-8, 230-pound senior, led his team in scoring with a 16.8 average and in rebounding with a 10.5 average per game last season.

"I'll probably have to play him at both forward and center," said Benington of his prize player from Grand Rapids South.

Bernie Copeland, senior from Inkster and Jim Gibbons, junior from Blissfield, will be the probable starting choices at forward. Both measure 6-foot-6.

Guard choices are between Paul Dean of Alma, Rudy Benjamin of Dayton, Ohio, and Harrison Stepter of St. Louis, Mo. Dean, 6-foot-1, is a sophomore. Stepter, a senior, and Benjamin, another sophomore both are 6-foot-2.

Benington also hopes to get some help from Tom Lick, 6-foot-10 senior from Gaylord who has the height but was weak on scoring last season.

The Spartans have only eight lettermen returning. Others are Bob Gale, 6-foot-5 junior forward from Trout Creek; John Holms, 6-foot-4 junior forward from Lansing, and Lloyd Ward, 5-foot-9 junior guard from Romulus.

Ten of the 15 players on the tentative roster are from Michigan. Other Michigan entires are Ron Binge, 6-foot-5 junior forward from East Detroit and Tom Bograkos, 6-foot-1 sophomore guard from Flint.

Michigan State was low in the Big Ten pack last year, in a three-way tie for sixth. They won 12 and lost 12 overall and were 6-8 won and lost in the Big Ten.

Benington has hopes of improvement this year, but sees a lot depending on Lafayette and how some of the sophomores shape up.

Conditioning will be emphasized this week. Serious practice starts Monday. The Spartans open their season Dec. 3 at home against Southwestern Louisiana. They get into Big Ten play Jan. 4 against Northwestern, also at East Lansing.

Benington sees Michigan as one of the main challengers of Iowa and Ohio State, Big Ten co-champs last season. Northwestern and Purdue also should be chasing the front runners, the MSU coach said.

Cuccinello to Coach for White Sox in '69

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago White Sox announced Tuesday that Tony Cuccinello would return to the team's coaching staff next season.

Cuccinello, who was a coach last season with the world champion Detroit Tigers, will join coaches Kerby Farrell, Ray Berres and Don Gutteridge.

A spokesman for the White Sox said Les Moss, coach for the past two seasons, will be assigned to other duties.

Al Lopez, White Sox manager, said Cuccinello had announced that he would retire from baseball after coaching the Tigers, but changed his mind after talking with White Sox officials.

Even the Boston Red Sox, who pocketed $1.05 million like the other nine established clubs, were able to smile after losing six players, including regular third baseman Joe Foy and starting pitchers Gary Bell and Dave Morehead.

"God was with us today," Boston General Manager Dick O'Connell said with a smile.

TERMED LUCKY

"We think we came out of it very good," Red Sox Manager Dick Williams said. "We were very lucky. We've protected a lot of young players and figured we'd lose some, but we wound up losing only one—Dick Baney, who led the Eastern League in pitching at Pittsfield this year."

Williams also had reason to be thankful that the Red Sox picked up $175,000 for Foy, who was drafted from the Minnesota organization for $8,000 five years ago and has spent considerable time in the managerial doghouse.

Foy has been inconsistent both at bat and in the field with the Red Sox, but figures to play full time at Kansas City.

Football Fever Strikes 'M'

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Michigan's dismal preseason football prospects have given way to a budding taste of football fever in Ann Arbor, but while Wolverine captain Ron Johnson says the team "will go all the way," coach Bump Elliott has his sights trained only on Indiana this weekend.

The Wolverines, virtually written off after they were overrun by California 21-7 in their first game, capped a three-week comeback Saturday with a 28-14 defeat of archrival Michigan State.

Elliott predicted, however, that Michigan will have to fight to maintain its momentum against Indiana, a Big Ten co-champion last year. He said that this year's Hoosier squad, which has defeated Illinois and Iowa in conference play for a first place spot in the standings, is better than the Indiana squad which defeated the Wolverines 27-20 last year.

Although the Hoosiers have not shown great defensive prowess, giving up 34 points in their 38-34 victory over Iowa last week, the team has a rough and ready offense which Elliott said is very much like Michigan's.

SCRAMBLER

Genso, he said, is a scrambler much like the Wolverines' Dennis Brown and Isenbarger throws passes almost as well as he catches them.

But Elliott also had great praise for his own men. Junior defensive end Phil Seymour, who made 11 solo tackles in the MSU game, sophomore defensive guard Henry Hill, who repeatedly smothered Michigan State quarterback Bill Feraco, and sophomore offensive guard Richard Caldarazzo, who broke open several holes for Johnson, were given much of the credit for the Wolverine victory by Elliott.

Gophers Pose Problem

Spartans Battle Grid Hex

EAST LANSING (AP) — Minnesota has worked a most effective football hex against Michigan State in recent seasons.

The Golden Gophers have won in their last four football games with the Spartans.

This has been particularly galling to Biggie Munn, the MS athletic director who played his collegiate football at Minnesota.

The last time Michigan State can remember a win over Minnesota dates back to 1957, when the MSU margin was 42-13.

Last year, the Gophers blanked State 21-0. Two of the touchdowns came on passes—this from a team that isn't supposed to be much of a throwing outfit.

End Chip Litten, who scored the two TD's, is back again to worry the Spartan defense.

"This is a typically big and strong Minnesota team," Daugherty said of Saturday's opponent. "Their defensive line is particularly good. So we are working a lot on our passing."

PASSING ATTACK

Once again, Daugherty will have to worry about the Minnesota passing. Quarterback Phil Hagen has 50 completions for 506 yards—threat enough to keep the Spartan defense alert.

Minnesota lost to Southern California 29-20 after leading 20-16. The other Gopher loss was 17-14 to Nebraska. The Minnesota wins are 24-19 over Wake Forest and 17-10 over Illinois last weekend.

Cross-Country Title on Line

Cross country runners will be gunning for trophies in two league meets and an invitational run tomorrow and Saturday.

The Saginaw Valley Conference and Inter-Lakes League outings are Thursday with both Pontiac Central and Pontiac Northern having hopes of doing well.

PNH has won three of the last five I-L meets and finished second in the other two. The Huskies were the runners-up last fall as Ron Beegle led Walled Lake to the title.

Beegle returns but faces strong challenges from Waterford's DeWayne Russell and Steve Moffat, PNH's Tom Knibbs and favored Farmington's twins, Garry and Larry Williams. The meet will begin at 4 p.m. on the Highland Lakes campus of Oakland Community College.

PCH will journey to Flint to try to beat back the challenge of Midland, the favorite, and Bay City Central. The Chiefs are the defending champions in the SVC. Captain Jon Costello of PCH is one of the individual favorites.

The second annual Oxford Invitational will start 10:30 a.m. Saturday at Oxford Hills Golf Course. Record-setter Jerry Sinkel of Detroit St. Anthony is expected to lead his mates to the first-place trophy again.

Rochester's Keith Wattles and Oxford's Jim Goodfellow are two other strong candidates to lower Sinkel's 1967 record of 10:39.

Other local schools among the 12-team field are Romeo, Holly, Clawson, Orchard Lake St. Mary and Bloomfield Hills Lahser.

Goodfellow warmed up for his challenge at the record by leading the Wildcats past Warren Woods yesterday, 19-40. He ran a 10:23 on his home course. The winners' Dennis Clark was second. Oxford is 8-1 and unbeaten in Central Suburban League meets.

Another winner yesterday was Pontiac Catholic, who made Nativity its third straight victim after an opening tie. The Titans won 1-3-4-5-9 in their 22-35 triumph.

Major Clash in Grid Loop

Undefeated Ohio U. Takes On Miami

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Miami challenges unbeaten Ohio University in a major Mid-American Conference clash Saturday that could settle the league's football championship.

Miami, 4-1 on the season, is the No. 2 defensive team in the country against scoring and No. 1 in total defense having allowed only 167.2 yards a game. The Skins are yielding only 5.6 points a game.

Ohio, boasting an unblemished 4-0 record, is the No. 3 scoring team in the nation with a 40-point average. Both clubs are 3-0 in league competition.

There are other top attractions in the conference including Toledo (1-1-1) at Western Michigan (1-2) and winless Kent State (0-3) at Bowling Green (1-0-1). Marshall (0-3) in the koop and (9-4-1) overall entertains Louisville.

Miami 14, Ohio U. 13; Bowling Green 7, Kent O; Louisville 34, Marshall 14; Toledo 20, Western Michigan 13.

Pistons Open Play Against Baltimore

By JERE CRAIG

The Detroit Pistons open the 1968-69 National Basketball Association campaign tonight at Baltimore with an improved outlook, a well-revised lineup and an ailing center.

The perennial also-ran held its annual preseason press luncheon Tuesday and coach Donnis Butcher introducted five new faces on the 12-man roster.

Two of the players, center Jim Fox, 6-10 230-pounder from South Carolina, and Harold (Happy) Hairston, 6-7, 225 pounds from New York University, came to the Pistons last season in a trade for Tom Van Arsdale and John Tresvant.

The other newcomers are rookies Otto Moore, 6-11, 205 pounds from Pan American, Rich Nieman 7-1½, 245 from St. Louis University, and Cliff Williams, 63, 178 from Bowling Green.

Tonight's starting lineup will offer a 60 per cent changeover from last season's opener when Dave Bing, Dave DeBusschere, Joe Strawder, Van Arsdale and Tresvant opened the season.

BIG SEASON

Bing, the sensational shooter who won the NBA scoring title as a sophomore last season, and the rugged DeBusschere return and are All-Star performers at guard and forward., respectively.

Joining them this evening will be streaky sharpshooter Eddie Miles, starting his sixth season; Hairston, the speedy four-year veteran; and rookie Moore who has been battling Fox for the pivot post.

Fox, who played abroad for a couple years before making his NBA debut at Cincinnati last fall, injured an eye Tuesday in a workout after the luncheon and isn't slated to see any action this evening.

It isn't certain yet whether he will be available Friday night when the club will entertain defending world champion Boston in the first of 38 Piston home appearances at Cobo Arena.

RETURNEES

Others returning and expected to see action as spot starters and dependable substitutes are highly prized guard Jimmy Walker and former All-Star Terry Dischinger, plus second-year men Paul Long and "Sonny" Dove — both of whom saw action with Pontiac last year in the now idle North American Basketball League.

The 38 home dates are an all-time high for the Pistons in Detroit and are the result of last year's record Motor City attendance of 250,000 in 32 games plus two playoff games.

The 1967-68 Pistons reached their peak performance while representing Detroit in the NBA. They started by winning 12 of their first 18 games, and closed with 10 victories in their final 13 tilts for a 40-42 mark and a spot in the playoffs for the first time in five years.

HOPES HIGH

With Wilt Chamberlain traded by Philadelphia to the Western Division Los Angeles Lakers, the Detroiters feel they can keep pace with any team in the Eastern Division.

In addition to Baltimore, Boston and Philadelphia, the Pistons are joined by Chicago and Cincinnati in the battle for the four playoff berths.

As one Detroiter noted yesterday, "We feel we are as good as any team in our division. It all depends upon how our big men play in the middle."

Tickets are available locally for all Piston home games at Hudson's. While television coverage hasn't been arranged yet, WJBK radio will carry many of the games beginning with tonight's at 8 p.m.

Ex-Lion Wells Stars for Oakland Raiders

NEW YORK (AP) — The Warren Wells story usually has a happy ending—like in the end zone.

You won't find the Oakland split end on the list of the American Football League's leading pass-catchers but he's still one of the most talked about receivers in the league.

The reason is that Wells has caught 12 passes and five of them have gone for touchdowns, the best ratio in the AFL. His 12 receptions have covered 264 yards.

Last season, six Raiders caught more passes than Wells but only Billy Cannon had more touchdown grabs. His over-all figures are 25 catches for 11 TDs.

WAIVED AWAY

In college, Wells played on the same Texas Southern team with Homer Jones of the New York Giants. He was drafted by Detroit of the National Football League but was cut before the first exhibition game and drifted to Kansas City. The Chiefs put him on waivers just before the start of the 1967 season and Oakland grabbed him.

"We are looking at movies of a Kansas City-Houston game," recalls Al Davis, president of the Raiders, "when I wondered whether my eyes weren't playing tricks on me. I knew the Chiefs always played Otis Taylor on the left, but I could have sworn I was watching him now in the right. I was seeing Wells, of course. They run very similarly and they are built pretty much alike."

Pipers Down Nets in Preseason Play

WINONA, Minn. (AP) — The Minnesota Pipers rolled up a 22-point lead and held off the New York Nets for an easy 111-100 victory Tuesday night in an American Basketball Association preseason play.

Mixed Emotions as Bulls Upset New York, 100-96

NEW YORK (AP) — Remember the anxiety the night before you tried to get your driver's license, and the excitement when you passed the test? Or the nervousness before the wedding, and the relief when you left the church? Or the worry when you took your wife to the hospital, and the exhilaration at the birth of your first child?

Motta, who looks like a college kid at 37 years of age, was bubbling over with the enthusiasm he had brought from a successful coaching career at Weber State to the ranks of the National Basketball Association.

"It's like a dream," he said after the Bulls dissipated a 15-point third quarter lead, fell behind 87-84 and then fought back in the final see-saw minutes.

NO TRADITION

"They (the Bulls) needed this win, and I needed it to see if what I've been talking to them about has sunk in. I had to sell spirit and enthusiasm to them because we have no winning tradition to fall back on. That's the only way to coach."

The Bulls, who lost 53 games last season and won only 29, showed the results as they outhustled the rugged Knicks. With Flynn Robinson popping in 32 points, they outshot them until Cazzie Russell hit eight of nine shots in the third quarter for 17 of his 29 points and brought New York back.

"I was on a team that won 29 straight games in college and I know what it is to develop a winning attitude, "Motta said." A lot of people think it's impossible to get up for 82 games, but we will.

"I hope I can go 82 games," said Motta, who has never gone through the pro grind before. In fact, he didn't even make his college team at Utah State.

SOME ANXIETY

"I was too little," said the 5-foot-9 physical education major. After eight years at Weber in Ogden, Utah, Motta had some anxiety that he might be too small for the pros, too.

"I turned down the coaching job three or four times," he said. "I thought Dick Klein was crazy when he made me the offer.

"When I did accept it, it wasn't for the money. It was just a challenge. I wanted to see if a college guy could handle the big, bad pros. Lucky for me we could win and made progress. The players could have made it tough on me, but they didn't."

Nicklaus Shoots for 3rd Straight Sahara Victory

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Golf star Jack Nicklaus shoots for his third straight Sahara Invitational tournament victory when the $100,000 72-hole event begins Thursday.

A field of about 135 is expected to compete with 20,000 awaiting the winner. Included are U.S. open champion Lee Trevino, Billy Casper, current leading money winner of the touring pros, Julius Boros and other top players.

Missing from the roll, however are Arnold Palmer, Gay Brewer and Gary Player.

The site for the four rounds is the par-72, 7,143-yard course at the Paradise Country Club, located on the outskirts of Las Vegas.

Nicklaus, who won the 1963 Sahara, registered back-to-back victories in 1966 and 1967. Last year he picked up the $20,000 with rounds of 68-69-62-71—270.

Charlie Irish Leaves City With 4 Letters

Pontiac lost its unique four-letterman Tuesday.

Charlie Irish, a native of Wisconsin but a longtime resident of Pontiac, and his wife departed yesterday and are en route (via Wisconsin, naturally) to Phoenix, Ariz., where they will take up permanent residence after several years of dividing their time between Pontiac and Phoenix.

Charlie, who was quite active in the recreation programs and an ardent booster of local high school athletics, was presented "Varsity Letters" from Pontiac's Central and Northern high schools as well as Waterford Township.

WTHS also awarded him a Girls' Athletic Association monogram, apparently to keep the popular "Mr. Irish" from bragging too much about his athletic interests (at least in front of Eleanor).

Tigers Earned Loyalties

Lions Working to Win Over Fans

The Detroit Tigers captured the hearts of Michigan sports fans when they won the World Series.

Now, the Detroit Lions are trying to join the act. Victories over arch-rivals Green Bay and the Chicago Bears have regained some attention for National Football League Lions.

"When the Tigers won the World Series it put a lot of pressure on us," said Detroit Lions star halfback Mel Farr, who scored three touchdowns in Sunday's 28-10 victory over the Bears at Chicago.

"A lot of people think the Lions are overdue and they are hoping we could win it this year," Farr said. The last time the Lions won a National Football League division title was in 1957 and they went on to win the NFL championship with a 50-14 romp over Cleveland.

When the Tigers beat St. Louis four games to three in the World Series Thursday it was their first baseball championship since 1945.

"This should be Tiger and Lion town, not just Tigertown," Farr said.

Farr rolled up 138 yards rushing and 73 yards in pass receptions over the Bears. But despite the three touchdowns, he considers a game last year against Minnesota as his best. He chalked up 197 yards rushing but didn't score.

TOP RECEIVER

Last year Farr was offensive rookie of the year when he rushed for 860 yards for a 4.2 average to rank fifth in the league. He also led Lions pass receivers with 39 catches for 317 yards. He tied for the team scoring leadership with six touchdowns, played in the Pro Bowl and was voted most valuable player on offense.

At the beginning of last season he told reporters he wanted to gain 1,000 yards rushing his first year. He spoke freely of such ambitions and as a result he sounded rather brash.

"Some things I said put me on the spot at the time and a lot of people thought I was boastful and cocky," Farr said. "Now I'll just keep quiet and try to go out there and play football every Sunday."

"It isn't any easier than it was my rookie year as far as physical punishment is concerned," he said, "but I have a year of experience and I know what to expect."

Farr said the rookies and other new faces mean a lot to the team. "We have the personnel to win football games," he added, and "the morale of the team is a lot better this year than it was last."

"I think our chance of winning our division is equal to anyone in our league."

Detroit is tied for first-place in the Central Division with Minnesota. Both have 3-2 records.

Green Bay, which was the Super Bowl victor last season over the American Football League Oakland Raiders 33-14, has been having a hard time this year. The Packers trail the Lions and the Vikings with a 2-3 record.

Detroit beat the Packers in their first meeting this year 23-17 at Green Bay. The teams meet again Sunday and the Lions hope to be ready.

"Whenever you play the champions you're up for a good ball game," said Farr. "They got off to a bad start but we're going to have to control the ball and play good, sound football with no mistakes."

Cowboys, LA Lead NFL in Statistics

After the first five games, the Cowboys show the way in total offense, rushing offense and passing offense. They also have scored the most touchdowns, 25, and the most points, 193.

The Rams, led by that Fearsome Foursome are first in all three team defensive categories and have given up the fewest touchdowns, six, and the smallest number of points, 53.

Although the Atlanta Falcons finally broke their losing streak at the expense of the New York Giants, they still are bringing up the rear in all three defensive categories and in two of the three offensive measuring sticks.

PASS RUSH

The Rams have smeared the quarterback 20 times for 169 yards and the Dallas defense has thrown the passer 19 times for 151 yards. However, the Rams' front wall has protected Roman Gabriel much better than the Cowboys' offensive line has protected Don Meredith.

The Rams' passer has been tossed only five times in five games while the Cowboys' quarterback has been smeared 13 times.

St. Louis has given its passer the poorest protection (16 smears) and Cleveland has put on the weakest pass rush, getting the quarterback only seven times.

New Orleans has made the most use of the field goal with Charlie Durkee attempting 16 and making good eight times.

Martiny Lake Ruling Upsets Navigation Law

Conservation Director Requests Hearing by Supreme Court

LANSING (AP) — State Conservation Department Director Ralph MacMullan has asked Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley to file for a rehearing or clarification of a recent State Supreme Court decision in the Martiny Lake case.

MacMullan said the decision seriously jeoparizes the department's salmon program and would "turn back the clock on public water rights at least 50 years."

The Supreme Court decision gave the Mecosta County Board of Supervisors the right to decide on water levels in the Martiny Lake flooding project. The Conservation Department had contended the board of supervisors did not have the authority to stop the department from lowering the water level at Martiny Lake to promote new plant growth to improve wildlife habitat.

KEY QUESTION

The department based its argument on the contention the south branch of the Chippewa River, which was dammed to create the impoundment, is navigable.

County boards are barred from controlling water levels under the Inland Lake Level Act of 1961 when artificial impoundments are created by constructing dams in navigable waters.

The crucial point is whether the waters feeding such impoundments are navigable. The Supreme Court held that the south branch of the Chippewa River is not navigable.

FLOATING LOGS

Traditionally, a stream has been classified as navigable if it was able to accommodate floating logs, he said.

The Supreme Court decision upset this definition, saying the determining factor should be the stream's adaptability to "any valuable boat or vessel navigation."

MacMullan said a more clear cut definition is needed.

The conservation director said that in addition to the impact on the Martiny Lake flooding project, the decision also could hurt the state's salmon program.

The Conservation Department, he said, should be able to control the upper reaches and headwaters of streams for its salmon program.

This cannot be done, MacMullan said, if the Supreme Court opinion permits land owners and county board of supervisors to challenge department control of the streams under the new definition of navigable.

DUCKS OVERHEAD — Howard Greene, 8882 Arlington, White Lake Township, places decoys preparatory to hunting a small pond in the Pontiac Lake recreation area. A flock of mallards flew over the pond while Greene was completing his handiwork and flared away to another site. Most of the ducks were chased to waters closed to hunting by last weekend's hunting pressure.

Big Salmon Run Brings Closure of Crystal River

The Conservation Department has banned salmon fishing in a five-mile span of Crystal River, Leelanau County, downstream from Fisher Dam.

"Heavy runs of salmon in the relatively small, clear Crystal River create the potential for destruction of stream habitat and private property, littering and the excessive fish law violations," said Department Field Director Warren Shapton.

"We have no choice but to close this section of the stream to fishing for the sake of protecting private and public property and maintaining the integrity of sport fishing," Shapton said.

Audubon Club Slates Canyon Country Film

The scenic land of the Mormons and Grand Canyon will be depicted in the annual Pontiac Audubon Club screen tour Wednesday, Oct. 23, at Lincoln Junior High.

Edward M. Brigham Jr. will show and narrate his color film, Canyon Country, starting at 8 p.m. Advance tickets are available from PAC member's and will be sold at the door.

The film will show canyons, rock faces and the Pink Sand Dune area near the Mormon stronghold of Salt Lake City. Scenic views of the Grand Canyon, Yellowstone Canyon, Jackson Hole and the Teton Mountains are included.

Much of the various wildlife — elk, bear, moose and bison — in the Yellowstone area are included in the film.

TRIP NORTH

PAC members journey to coholand last weekend, but they weren't looking for salmon. They were guests of Minnie and Elmer Thorpe at Platte Lak.

Rock hunting, color tours and bird watching were the activities. Salmon did enter into the picture with a visit to the Platte River egg taking and rearing station.

A trip to Jack Miner's Bird Sanctuary near Kingsville, Ont., is schedule Nov. 16. This will coincide with the migration peak of ducks and geese.

PAC also is a strong supporter of the Seven Ponds Nature Center near Dryden. It is open to the public Sundays from 2-5 p.m. and includes several nature trails in addition to the center.

Ducks Scarce at This Time

Duck hunting in Oakland County is restricted to occasional jump shooting from waters on private land.

Most of the ducks were chased off state land by last weekend's hunting pressure. This happens every year. Goose hunting isn't quite up to former years in the Holly and Milford areas.

St. Clair Flats results are poor. There have been more hunters than a year ago, but fewer ducks. The waterfowl population, however, is reported to be slowly building.

Gunning on ducks was fair at Saginaw Bay and good on geese. Hunters going to the Shiawassee game area had plenty of shooting on ducks.

Pheasant Hunting Outlook — Poor

Pats, Rabbits Legal Monday

Rate Macomb County One Bright Spot

Pheasant hunting is expected to be poor when the season opens next Monday at 11 a.m.

Conservation Department game experts have been heartened by recent sightings of young birds, but any optimism is guarded.

"There are indications that flocks of young pheasants beginning to turn up are from second hatches," said Howard Greene, district game biologist at Pontiac Lake. "Initial nesting attempts last spring were hard hit by heavy rains."

One of the better locations in the Pontiac area may be Macomb County. Greene reports seeing "a good number" of pheasants on his many trips to and from Harsen's Island.

SOME INCREASE

Otherwise the shooting is expected to be spotty. The Thumb area will again be poor with the possible exception of Sanilac County where there has been some increase in ringnecks.

Squirrels, rabbits, grouse, woodcock and raccoons also become legal targets in Southern Michigan next Monday. No hunting will be allowed in the Lower Peninsula until 11 a.m. After opening day hunting hours will be 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. EDT.

The pheasant and squirrel seasons will close Nov. 10. Grouse will remain open until Nov. 14 and reopen Dec. 1-31 in Southern Michigan. Rabbit season continues until March 1.

Daily bag and possession limits remain the same: pheasants, 2-4; rabbits, squirrels, woodcock and grouse, 5-10. Possession limits do not take effect until after opening day.

Quail hunting in 10 Southern Michigan Counties will be Nov. 1-20.

For Press Derby

Wanted: 2 Longest Ringnecks

Some are short and chubby; others are long and trim.

The Pontiac Press is interested in the two longest ringnecks in Oakland County. Rewards in the form of $50 and $25 savings bonds will be paid for their apprehension.

The annual pheasant derby starts Monday with the opening of the season. Only residents of Oakland County are eligible. The ringnecks must be shot in the county.

Entries will be accepted in The Press sports department from 7 a.m. to 2 p.m. Monday through Saturday. Length is the only determining factor.

TIP-TO-TIP

The birds will be measured in a straight line from tip of the beak to end of the tail. Eventual winners usually are in the 40-inch class.

Only ringnecks can be entered — no golden or reeves pheasants or crossbreeds. The derby will close at noon Nov. 11.

Orion, Oxford Areas

No Hunting Signs Posted

Hunters should keep an eye out for signs in Orion and Oxford townships designating areas closed to hunting.

The Conservation Commission has approved a recommendation from the hunting area control committee that areas around Lake Orion and east and southeast of Oxford be closed.

Signs have been posted designating the closed areas. Part of a section in Holly Township has been closed and hunting also is banned in a portion of Shelby Township, Macomb County, and Fenton Township, Genesee County.

No hunting with firearms is permitted in the Oakland County townships of Avon, Bloomfield, West Bloomfield, Farmington, Southfield and Waterford Township.

WAYNE COUNTY

The firearms ban also applies to Sterling Township in Macomb County and Ecorse, Dearborn, Nankin, Redford, Northville and Taylor townships in Wayne County.

There is a new law covering safety zones. These are all areas within 450 feet of a dwelling or associated building. The law states:

"No person other than the owner, tenant or occupant may discharge a firearm or bow and arrow within a safety zone, or hunt for or shoot any wild bird or animal (which is) within a safety zone, without the specific permission of the owner or occupant . . .

"Exempted from the law are the landowner, tenant or occupant and invited guests. Any shoreline owner, his tenant or guest while shooting waterfowl lakeward are also exempt."

Sunday hunting is banned in Lapeer, Shiawassee, Tuscola and Washtenaw counties except by landowners and on state lands. Several other counties are closed on Sunday all or in part and the small game digest should be consulted.

More Targets for Nimrods

Secondary targets may draw the attention of nimrods after the first push on pheasants.

This is a banner year for squirrels. More grouse are indicated in Southern Michigan and rabbits appear to be making a comeback. Raccoon hunters should have little trouble finding hot trails for their hounds.

Balmy weather has kept migrant woodcock from moving in. A few have appeared in Northern Michigan, but of the shooting has been on local birds.

2 TV Hits Prove Giant Jigsaw Puzzles for Producer

(EDITOR'S NOTE — Real family problems seem small compared with the day-by-day problems the producers of two hit family series encounter. How would you, for instance, go about casting a set of triplets before they were born.)

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

HOLLYWOOD—What happens when the young star of a television series loses a front tooth between scenes? Or has her curls cut off during summer vacation? Or the series must cast, ahead of schedule, some newborn triplets? Or when one of the stars is available for work only about one-third of the time?

These are just samples of the day-by-day problems encountered in turning out two hit series, "My Three Sons" and "Family Affair."

Both shows involve a lot of detail and fussing, but since the former just started its ninth network season and the latter its third, all the work of assembling this pair of giant jig saw puzzles is well worth the time and effort.

Don Fedderson, producer of the two CBS situation comedies, has worked out a complicated and unique system that results in filming both series on a piecemeal basis.

MADE THE DIFFERENCE

Fedderson worked out the details originally because he wanted Fred MacMurray, a film star who is hardly under the financial guns, to play the widower-father role in "My Three Sons."

He was convinced that MacMurray's presence would make the difference between a hit and just another one-or-two-season situation comedy.

Upshot was that he talked MacMurray into working on "My Three Sons" for a total of 65 days a season — two months instead of the usual eight or nine .

The device works but only because there is such careful preliminary planning backstage. When MacMurry is working, only scenes in which he actually appears are filmed. When he departs, for movie work or a fishing trip, the rest of the cast goes on working, often on incompleted scenes already showing MacMurray.

IDEAL FOR SERIES

When Fedderson had the idea for "Family Affair," he decided that Brian Keith, who has a busy movie career going, would be ideal to play the bachelor uncle with three young wards. His deal with Keith is for 75 days each season.

"We often shoot scenes from a number of episodes when the scenes take place in the same set," explained Mrs. Virginia Martindale, one of the people who makes the two series work. "Once we shot Fred MacMurray in scenes from 10 different episodes in one day."

MacMurray breaks his 65 days into two work periods, which means that half of the "My Three Sons" scripts must be ready for his first month of studio work. Keith puts in his 75 days at one time, so all 26 "Family Affair" scripts are completed before the first foot of film is shot.

This means that still photographers are very active, taking color pictures of the sets and of the performers. Later on, every tiny details must be matched up with earlier shots — clothes, including wrinkles, makeup and even straying locks of hair. And the sets, which usually can be struck and taken apart for other uses, must be stored carefully and everything from carpets to the location of vases must be diagrammed precisely.

LOST A TOOTH

"We've been lucky," said Mrs. Martindale, "because Anissa Jones the 8-year-old child star of "Family Affair" conveniently lost a tooth during a summer vacation. We could, of course, have made a denture for her but we didn't have to. A lot of child actors at the tooth-losing stage, arrive for auditions with their extra teeth in their pockets."

Mrs. Martindale's toughest job recently was casting tiny babies to play the triplets who will be born to Robbie Douglas and his young wife in "My Three Sons" this season. Since the babies will first be seen when they are supposed to be a week old, she had to start hunting for three sets of identical twins literally before they were born.

In mid-June she ran an advertisement in a Los Angeles newspaper and Hollywood trade publications outlining the show's need for fair complexioned, blue eyed babies.

The reason so many infants were needed is that Los Angeles regulations governing the use of babies and children are very strict. Babies between 14 days old — the youngest permitted — and 180 days old may work only 20 minutes a day but no longer than 30 seconds at one time.

3 DAYS' WORK

She wanted the twins for three days work in July — at $75 per day per baby — and then again for several days during this month.

Ultimately, she worked through the applications and found 24 sets of Los Angeles-based twins and assembled them in one room to make the final choices. From these she picked six babies who looked enough alike to become a double set of triplets with which the show could work for a total of one hour a day.

Theatre Atlanta in Real Drama

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Theatre Atlanta, whose teeterings on the brink of financial disaster and eviction have been as dramatic as any production it's staged, has 30 days' grace to solve its problems.

The cast in the off-stage drama includes: Jay Broad, director; Mrs. Frania T. Lee, frate landlord; Lennie Edelstein, administrative director; assorted lawyers, a sheriff, and Gov. Lester Maddox.

For more than a week, Theatre Atlanta has been faced with an eviction order from its landlord, Mrs. Lee, for failure to meet a demand for $34,824.17 in back rent.

Theatre Atlanta has disputed this figure but admits it is behind in rent.

Wednesday night, the theater faced its opening night of "Beyond the Fringe" with the prospect of eviction Thursday morning by a sheriff who had already toured the building with an eye toward removing its worldly goods. After the show, and after the cast received a standing ovation from an audience who thought it was the last night, the announcement of a last-minute reprieve—in the form of a court order—was made dramatically from the stage floor.

"There was screaming and yelling and hugging and kissing, and a three-minute prolonged ovation," said Broad.

It was signed at 10:10 p.m. by Civil Court Judge James Webb of Fulton County in response to a suit by Robert Marchman, chairman of the board of Theatre Atlanta.

'LAWS UNCONSTITUTIONAL'

Marchman contends that Georgia's eviction laws are unconstitutional and Webb set Nov. 8 to hear the suit.

"We've got 30 days in which to attempt to solve our immediate and long-range problems," said Edelstein. "We hope to use this time as wisely as possible.

"For short-term financing for this season, we need $50,000 to $75,000 to solve our problems," he said. "Long range, we need to solve our problems with our landlady; reach agreement for a reasonable rent and somehow obtain the means to purchase the building or have someone else purchase it and rent it to us at a reasonable figure."

* * *

Mrs. Lee, the landlord, whose rent for the theatre plus a share of the taxes amounts to about $50,000 annually, issued a five-page statement this weekend, saying she had been "placed in the public eye as a greedy ogre" by Theatre Atlanta spokesmen.

'GOT ONLY PROMISES'

There has been controversy over the rent owed her almost from the beginning, Mrs. Lee said. "I received only promises, apologies, excuses, explanations, etc., etc., ad infinitum . . . everything and anything but money."

* * *

It was only after Theatre Atlanta representatives repeated broke their own promises to make rent payments, Mrs. Lee said, that she obtained the eviction notice.

* * *

Spokesmen for the theater contend that the eviction notice results from issues which had nothing to do with economics. They claim Mrs. Lee has wanted to oust the company because she objected to some of its plays.

Recipes From Pioneer Days Still Appeal

When pioneer homemakers of Idaho cooked up a pot of Red Beans and Ham, they called it "Baked Brown Beans", probably because of the rich brown color brought on by slow baking and molasses in the recipe.

Likely, they sometimes used Idaho's colorful Pink or Pinto beans or the large white Great Northerns, depending, as we do, upon what was on hand. Though these bean varieties differ in flavor, the basic recipe can be used for all.

BAKED BROWN BEANS

Note: This is one of the "treasured receipts" taken from the book, "Historical Treasures from Idaho Kitchens." The purchase price of this interesting book is $3.50, postage prepaid. It may be obtained by ordering through the Idaho Historical Auxiliary, P.O. Box 2104, Boise, Idaho 83701. You will enjoy it.

For 6 substantial servings, you will need:

1 pound Red beans (2 rounded cups)
water to soak (about 6 cups)
1 large onion
1 and ½ garlic cloves
1 ham bone with meat
Pinch baking soda (¼ teaspoon)
2 tablespoons molasses
1 tablespoon dry mustard
salt and pepper

Allow beans to stand in water overnight. If needed, add more water to cover. Add onion which has been chopped, and chopped garlic; also ham bone and baking soda. Bring this mixture to boil; reduce heat and boil slowly till tender.

Put beans and liquid in casserole, then add the molasses and mustard (the two of which have been previously mixed). Add salt to taste, depending on how salty the ham is. Remove ham pieces from bone and add to beans. Stir well; bake covered for 2 and ½ hours or more at 275 degrees.

STEAMED BROWN BREAD

1 pint cornmeal
1 pint graham flour
1 teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon salt
1 pint sour milk or buttermilk
1 cup molasses

Mix the meal and flour, sift soda and salt into the flour mixture and mix thoroughly. Mix sour milk and molasses together and add to the dry ingredients, beating well. If the mixture is not moist enough to pour, add a little warm water.

Pour into a well-buttered mold and steam for 4 hours. Remove the cover from the mold and set in the oven 10 minutes to dry the crust.

FRIED APPLES WITH ONIONS

2 tablespoons butter
apples, onions, salt and pepper

Heat butter. Slice in unpeeled apples, then onions. (We used the mild Sweet Spanish onions.) Season with salt and pepper and fry until onions are done and apples are browned, turning occasionally.

BEANS AREN'T NEW — "How The West Was Won" might well be the sub-title of a collection of long-time favorite recipes assembled by the Idaho Historical Auxiliary into an attractive book, "Historical Treasures from Idaho Kitchens." Bean dishes were among the "treasured receipts," for Idaho-grown beans helped clear the settlers' land and build the roads of the West, now super-highways.

Bean Casserole Is Apple Topped

Fry 1 pound ground beef and ½ cup chopped onion. Drain excess fat from this mixture. Add 1 can tomato soup, 1 tablespoon prepared mustard and 1 teaspoon salt.

Spread beef mixture into 2-quart baking dish. Cover with 2 cups sweetened dried beans.* Top with 3 sliced apples. Cover and bake at 350 degrees for 40 minutes. Serves 6 to 8.

Mint Flakes Are Tasty Addition

Mint flakes are an intriguing addition to sauteed mushrooms and anchovy fillets. The combination originated in lands around the Mediterranean.

Minted Mushrooms

1 pound small mushrooms, quartered or 2 cans (6 or 8 oz. each) button mushrooms, drained
3 tablespoons olive or salad oil
3 anchovy fillets, finely chopped
2 tablespoons tomato sauce
¾ teaspoon mint flakes, crumbled
¼ teaspoon instant garlic powder
⅛ teaspoon ground black pepper

Saute mushrooms in hot oil. Add remaining ingredients and cook over medium heat about 5 minutes, stirring frequently. Serve on toast, if desired, or as an accompaniment to beef dishes. Yield: 6 portions.

Bologna Slices Hold a Filling

Phony baloneys . . . are a fun snack food. Blend 1 cup of onion snack cracker crumbs with ½ cup shredded Cheddar cheese and 2 tsp. prepared mustard.

Top each slice of bologna with a tablespoon of filling. Roll up and fasten with cocktail picks.

CHEESE AND APPLE PIZZA—Prepare one box complete cheese pizza according to package directions, with one exception. Use apple cider instead of water to mix the pizza. Dip slices of one apple in 2 tablespoons brown sugar; place on top of pizza just before baking. Serves 6-8.

Nice Orange Doughnuts Baked Until Brown

One thing mother can do for her growing children is make eating breakfast a quick and easy business. Use the kitchen tabletop. Keep it adequate but simple.

Try the standard fruit, cereal, bread and spread, and milk or cocoa to drink. Those items will supply about one-fourth of the day's food needs. Add an egg or meat if you want more.

More action: Give them a batch of homemade doughnuts. Also enough to take along with them to school to eat when they feel like it.

Baked Whole-Wheat Orange Doughnuts

3 cups sifted flour
1½ cups sugar
3 tablespoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
½ cup instant hot whole wheat cereal, uncooked
⅓ cup shortening, melted and cooled
3 eggs, beaten
2 tablespoons milk
1 tablespoon grated orange rind
1 teaspoon vanilla
⅓ cup butter or margarine, melted

Sift flour, 1 cup sugar, baking powder, and salt into mixing bowl. Stir in cereal. Add shortening, eggs, milk, orange rind, and vanilla; stir just until dry ingredients are moistened.

Press dough together. Turn onto lightly floured board and roll ⅛-inch thick. Cut dough with floured 3-inch round cookie cutter, then cut center holes with a 1¼-inch cutter.

Place doughnuts and holes on greased baking sheet 1 inch apart. Chill 1 hour. Bake in hot oven (400 degrees) until lightly browned, 10 to 12 minutes. Remove from baking sheet.

Brush generously with butter or margarine and coat with remaining ½-cup sugar. Serve warm.

Sugared Autumn Fruit Paste Adds Glamour to Cornbread

Outdoors there's a briskness in the air that we haven't felt for months, and autumn leaves drift downward to form a mosaic pattern of color on the ground. Indoors there are still menus to be planned and meals to be prepared.

If you yearn to be out shuffling through the rustling leaves but womanly concern for your family prevents you, you'll appreciate the many convenient mixes on today's market. For example, an easy corn bread mix can help you resolve the indoor-outdoor conflict.

This unique mix comes with special foil baking pan and plastic mixing bag right in the package, so dishwashing is kept to a minimum. And the product is versatile.

The golden corn bread, plain, is a delicious accompaniment for breakfast, lunch or dinner dishes. It also makes excellent casserole toppings and bases for creamed foods.

It can be dressed up as in Autumn Apricot Corn Bread — really an upside-down coffee cake. The topping of apricot preserves and chopped dried apricots reflects the brilliant orange-gold of fall foliage.

AUTUMN APRICOT CORN BREAD

Topping:

1 tablespoon melted butter or margarine
2 tablespoons light corn syrup
⅓ cup apricot preserves
⅓ cup chopped dried apricots

Corn Bread:

One 10-oz. pkg. easy corn bread mix
1 egg
½ cup milk

Heat oven to hot 425 degrees. For topping, combine melted butter, corn syrup, apricot preserves and apricots in small bowl. Spread evenly in bottom of special aluminum foil pan contained in package. (Do not grease pan.)

Mix corn bread as directed on package, using egg and milk.

Squeeze bag to empty batter evenly over apricot topping. (To make it easier to spread, pour batter around edges of pan first.) Bake in preheated oven 425 degrees about 20 minutes.

Open corner folds of pan. Invert onto serving plate. Cut into 6 pieces; serve warm. Makes 6 servings.

AUTUMN APRICOT CORN BREAD—Capture the brilliance of autumn leaves for your table with a new corn bread. Easy corn bread mix simplifies preparation and cleanup.

Serve Cubes, Don't Be Square

Sprinkle with parsley flakes and serve in a large bowl with picks on the side for spearing.

People in the News

By The Associated Press

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey ran into a new opponent for the presidency yesterday—Winnie the Pooh.

Humphrey made a two-minute surprise appearance on a children's television show in Kansas City, Mo., shortly after the vice president had finished taping a TV interview in the same studio.

HUMPHREY

The master of ceremonies, Torey Southwick, told the vice president that children appearing on the show favored a different candidate for the presidency.

"Yes, I was afraid of that," said Humphrey.

But when told the children's favorite was Winnie the Pooh, the toy bear character in a nursery story, the vice president grinned and replied:

NY Mayor Lindsay One of 10 Best-Dressed Men

John V. Lindsay, possibly New York's most dapper mayor since Jimmy Walker in the Roaring Twenties, was named yesterday as one of America's 10 best-dressed men by the Customs Tailors' Guild of America.

LINDSAY

Others on the gild's list were entertainers Frank Sinatra, Vic Damone, Don Rickles and Don Adams, former baseball star Joe DiMaggio, actor George C. Scott, financier Joseph A. Gimma of New York, real estate man Arthur Rubloff of Chicago and businessman Joseph A. Picone of Leonia, N.J.

Female Singer in Hospital With Acute Tonsillitis

Singer Cass Elliott, 26, was sent to a Beverly Hills, Calif., hospital last night with what doctors said was acute tonsillitis.

Miss Elliot was a member of the Mamas and Papas pop singing group before it broke up earlier this year.

Doctors said they expect her to recover from surgery in time for a Carnegie Hall concert next month.

Ex-Spy Still Cooperating With Soviet Intelligence

Abel, 65, was interviewed by Shena, a youth magazine. He has been in Moscow since 1962 when he was exchanged for U.S. intelligence pilot Francis Gary Powers. Abel remains inaccessible to the Western press.

He said that while in prison in the United States he painted a portrait of the late John F. Kennedy who was then president. He forwarded it to the then Attorney Gen. Robert F. Kennedy.

Parcel Post Rate Hike to Take Effect Saturday

The higher parcel post and catalog rates will go into effect Saturday, Pontiac Postmaster William W. Donaldson reminded postal customers today.

The rate increase will average 10.5 per cent and in most cases will mean an additional 10 cents postage per parcel.

The higher rates were approved by the Interstate Commerce Commission in July.

The minimum charge for local parcel delivery will go from 40 to 50 cents. The minimum charge for parcels destined outside the local delivery area will be raised from 50 to 60 cents.

80 PCT. OF PARCELS

Almost all parcels that are charged up to $1.10 under present rates will go up 10 cents. This accounts for more than 80 per cent of all parcel post, according to Donaldson.

There will be a 15-cent hike on most parcels now charged between $1.10 and $4 and a 20-cent increase on parcels now charged over $4.

Parcel post rates are based on the weight of the package and the distance it is mailed.

Higher rates for the delivery of packages and catalogs are required to bring revenue from this type of mail within the 4 per cent of operating costs, as required by law.

Boater Killed Near Fenton

FENTON (AP) — One man was presumed drowned and six others were recovering today from injuries suffered when a speedboat collided with a large pontoon craft in Fenton Lake Tuesday night.

Missing and presumed drowned was Louis Walker, 38, of Grand Blanc.

Genesee County sheriff's deputies said the 24-foot pontoon craft, with 16 persons aboard, was struck in the rear by an 18-foot speedboat.

The driver of the boat said he did not see the lights of the pontoon craft.

None of the injured was reported in serious condition.

OCC Trustees to Mull Budget

A major item of business expected to be taken up by the Oakland Community College Board of Trustees tomorrow is a revision of the 1968-69 budget request made in April.

The operating budget then, three months before the start of the fiscal year, was set at $6.25 million.

It is expected to be increased to about $7.5 million. One reason is more students than projected. About 7,000 were expected and about 9,700 showed up.

The board will meet at 8:30 p.m. in the Auburn Hills campus's Learning Resource Center, near Featherstone and Squirrel roads, Pontiac Township.

Plane Stolen at Display

An airplane with four engines was reported stolen yesterday in Waterford Township, according to police.

The craft was a model airplane that was on display in the office of Sportcraft Manufacturing Co., 4160 Foley.

Whoever broke into the building sometime the previous night also took four model airplane engines, police said. Total loss was estimated at $65.

Oakland Twp. Home Burns

A fire, believed caused by careless smoking, did an estimated $7,500 in heat and smoke damage to a one-story brick veneer home owned by George Connor at 984 E. Gunn, Oakland Township.

Rochester firemen answered the call at 8:10 p.m. yesterday and were on the scene for two hours.

Fire Chief Lyle Buchanan said the flames became so hot adhesive holding the acoustical tile ceiling in place melted and the ceiling dropped. He said the whole interior was damaged, but flames did not damage the outer structure.

JUSTICE AT 70—Supreme Court Associate Justice William O. Douglas, 70 years old today, is shown in various moods and poses in his Washington, D.C., office. He has denied rumors that he intends to retire.

High Justice Is 70, Defends Court's Past

WASHINGTON (AP) — Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas, who turned 70 today, says he wonders whether Americans would let "some Stone Age guys" alter the work of the Warren Court.

Douglas, two years shy of being the court's senior justice, was asked in a rare interview if a change in one or two places on the bench could alter the record of the court's 15 years under Chief Justice Earl Warren.

"A constitutional decision in the court is always open to change," Douglas replied. "Much of the things we do are controversial."

"Some Stone Age guys" could alter the court's direction if they were put on the bench, Douglas remarked.

MORE THOUGHT

He went on after more thought, however, "I just don't know that the sober second thoughts Americans have will allow fundamental changes."

Douglas also denied rumors that he plans to quit, said it was a misfortune Abe Fortas was not confirmed as chief justice and rejected the idea rising crime is related to court decisions.

The justice challenged a senator's remark that he "felt safer on the streets of Communist Moscow than on the streets of some areas of our nation's capital."

Douglas didn't mention Sen. Robert C. Byrd, D-W. Va., by name, but said the point is that Russia is a police state.

NOT WANTED

"Some people would like to have their kind of a police state," Douglas added. "But Americans do not want a police state no matter what they say in their intemperate state."

The white-haired justice was 40 when he took the oath on President Franklin D. Roosevelt's nomination in 1939. Justice Hugo Black was appointed in 1937.

Over the years Douglas has been the court's most advanced liberal—even championing alone last Monday the right of schoolboys to wear their hair long.

A few days ago a political column said Douglas had decided to write his memoirs and to retire. "I have no plans to retire," the Justice declared. "I have no contract to publish anything" with the possible exception of a series of lectures he gave last March at New York University.

An electronic pacemaker was implanted in his chest last June to correct a slow pulse rate.

Douglas explained: "There was nothing wrong with my heart.

When I went into a deep sleep it would be like hibernation. My heart beat would drop. Then when I woke up it would be beating fast."

In any event, he said, "I am probably in better health than I have been in years." Douglas is hiking, horseback riding—but not traveling around the country enough to know if America is moving to the right politically.

"America has always been a pretty conservative country," he observed. "Whether there is a trend to the right, I don't know."

The conversation turned to defeat of Justice Fortas' nomination. "I think it was a misfortune that Abe Fortas was not confirmed." Douglas said. "He would, on the merits, have made a fine chief justice. This was politics.

"A certain nucleus of people in the Senate thought this was a chance for them to name a new chief justice, a political plum."

Attacks on the court, which accompanied the fight over Fortas, are nothing new, Douglas noted. Its decisions have always been controversial, and one year more than 70 bills were circulating in Congress to reverse court rulings, he said.

How to Learn —Play Games With Teacher

A new kind of tool for learning — educational games — was introduced to Pontiac educators last night.

Some of 140 teachers and administrators who will attend the annual education conference this weekend in Sarnia, Ont., were told last night at a preconference dinner by Dr. Fred Goodman of the University of Michigan:

"Educational games get the teacher out of the dispenser of knowledge role and into the roles of referee, coach and research person."

Theme of the conference will be "Individualized Instruction."

A MATH GAME

Goodman, who specializes in individual instruction in UM's School of Education, taught the dinner attendees how to play a mathematical game called "Equations."

When playing educational games, learning comes not by trying to learn" but as a by-product of acting in an environment created by the rules of the game, according to Goodman.

Missing Child Found by Dog

He found three-year-old Mary Ann Miller, who had been missing from her home for several hours.

The police dog led his trainer, Trooper John McKenzie, to the little girl in a cornfield about a half mile from the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jarvis Miller of Cedar Springs.

When the child was located late yesterday afternoon, it ended a search which already included State Police, Kent County Sheriff's officers and other local enforcement officers. At the time Mary Ann was found, search and rescue operations and a State Police plane were being organized to aid in the hunt.

"DUKE" AND TROOPER

Another police dog, "Duke," and his trainer, Trooper Roy Bernier of the Grand Haven post, also participated in the search.

The little girl had been playing in the yard at her home before she was discovered missing.

Successful Investing

By ROGER E. SPEARS

Q. I recently retired and could use more income. Have you any suggestion on the following stocks which I hold: Atlas Consolidated Mining & Development, Lorillard Corp., Keystone Steel and Wire, Inspiration Consolidated Copper and F. W. Woolworth?—W. P.

A. Sale of two issues will increase your yield and add stability to your portfolio. Although Inspiration Cons. Copper will probably report somewhat better earnings than in strike-depressed 1967, this could be the second year in which the dividend was not covered, leaving some doubt as to the payment's security. The second sale is Woolworth which, because of an improving outlook, has moved up in price, but at this level the yield is inadequate for your needs.

I like Atlas Consolidated Mining — a Philippine-based copper operation — which has upped its October quarterly payment to 89 cents a share after reporting a 78 per cent increase in first-half earnings. A contract arrangement with Mitshubishi of Japan, negotiated in 1955 and expiring in 1972, has been beneficial to Atlas. This month daily production will have reached an annual rate of 100 million pounds, a target set two years ago. Increased production should help offset weakening in copper prices expected next year.

Directors of Lorillard have approved the merger into Loew's Inc. Under terms of the union you will receive for each Lorillard share held a $62 face value debenture paying 6.875 per cent a year in interest. In addition you will receive a warrant to purchase — pending approval of a three-for-one split — one share of Loew's common at $35 for four years and at increasing amounts for the following eight years.

The prospects for Keystone Consolidated Industries (formerly Keystone Steel and Wire) depend on the company's success in expanding into new markets to offset the limited growth and intense competition in its wire business. Because recent acquisitions are promising and shares offer a good income, I would hold.

Purchase of either of these high-rated bonds is recommended: Georgia Power 6¾'s of 1981 or Pacific Electric 6¾'s of 1998. The balance of your funds should be used to buy American Can $1.75 preferred yielding about 5½ per cent.

Junior Editors Quiz on STARS

QUESTION: Why do some stars seem to twinkle and others do not?

ANSWER: When we look into the clear, night sky, we see glittering points of light. Although they look much alike, they are actually coming from different parts of space.

What is called intersteller space begins about 50 billion miles from the earth. It is there that the true stars are located, each shinning by its own light, as does our sun.

We see a few other pinpoints of light, however, coming from objects very much nearer, located in interplanetary space, between one million and 50 billion miles from the earth. These are not true stars, but the planets of our solar system, shining not by their own light, but by that reflected from the sun.

Our earth is surrounded by different layers of atmosphere which move over each other. Because of the enormous distance, the glow coming to us from a true star is only a very thin pencil of light.

As it enters our atmosphere, this light is wobbled back and forth and appears to twinkle. But light from planets comes from a much shorter distance. This beam is so much stronger that the layers of atmosphere do not affect it. A planet thus shines steadily, without twinkling.

Lindsay Jeered in NY School Rift

NEW YORK (AP) — Mayor John V. Lindsay was booed and cursed by a hostile white audience at a Brooklyn Jewish center Tuesday night when he pleaded for understanding in the city's racially tense school crisis.

When the mayor finished speaking, a crowd of about 4,000 whites greeted him outside with shouts of "Lindsay must go!" Police had to restrain the crowd which pounded on Lindsay's car as he drove away.

"Antiwhite propaganda will not be part of our school system," Lindsay promised inside the center, "anti-Semitic epithets will not be part of our school system."

"But they are! But they are!" shouted hecklers in the audience of about 1,500.

At the height of the disturbance, Lindsay had to shout to make himself heard.

Pointing out an official of the striking AFL-CIO United Federation of Teachers, Lindsay compared some of the teachers actions with those taken by the predominantly Negro and Puerto Rican school district in Brooklyn which is seeking decentralization.

"Our city will not survive if teachers are illegally transferred any more than it will if this gentleman here leads the teachers in an illegal strike," Lindsay said, "I say to you that there have been acts of vigilanteism by both groups."

The strike against the 1.1-million pupil public school system is in its third day with no talks slated in the dispute. It is the UFT's third walkout of the six-week-old fall term.

The combined efforts of some parents and nonstriking teachers kept 420 of the city's 900 public schools open Tuesday but of the Board of Education said total attendance was only about 68,000, the same as Monday.

The walkout is over the refusal of the locally elected governing board of the Ocean Hill-Brownsville experimental school district to reinstate 80 ousted UFT members.

The predominantly white union is demanding that Ocean Hill's Junior High School 271, one of its eight schools, be closed because of alleged harassment and death threats against the disputed teachers.

Ocean Hill is one of three districts formed last year in an experiment in community control of local schools. Last spring its local governing board fired a group of white teachers. It charged they were sabotaging the decentralization experiment.

Strikes have already cost schoolchildren 13 days of classroom education this fall.

Luchow's Boss Pants OK of Women Patrons in Pants

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Rosalind Russell and Mrs. Skitch Henderson wore pants (trousers, we call them, but the ladies call them pants) to Luchow's to a big gala, and Jan Mitchell, the proprietor, intrepidly asserted that ladies in pants are welcome at all times.

"My wife and I love pants," panted Mr. Mitchell.

WILSON

Roz was wearing a Galanos "jump suit" with flaring pants of heavy white silk which looked like satin, under a herringbone mink. "You been asked to leave any place because of your pants?" we asked Roz at a party for the opening of her husband Fred Brisson's show, "The Flip Side."

"No," quoth Roz . . . "Not yet," she added . . . You think you will?" . . . No," she replied, which I interpreted as a forecast that pants are going to be accepted everywhere. Nevertheless, there were women at the party such as Arlene Dahl who said, "Women have tried to wear pants for years but it's never worked. I think men resent pants on women. Personally," Arlene said, "I prefer panties to pants."

Jack Jones brought a remarkably slick, entertaining act into the Copacabana — his best yet — and that comedian Marty Barris is good and imaginative, too, with his remark, "I go to a massage parlor just to hear applause."

Jack and his father Allan Jones both sang "The Donkey Serenade" the first show, and at the second, Jack introduced his wife Jill St. John whom he called "Jill Sinjin" in the English manner. When a customer asked for Allan the second show, Jack said, "Sorry, he only works the first show."

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

The Kennedys are compiling a book of recollections about Senator RFK with outsiders such as Alan King and Shirley MacLaine contributing . . . The Mai Britt romance with a Nevada doctor is off and marriage plans were dropped . . . Claudine Albuquerque, descendant of the 15th century explorer Alfonso de Albuquerque, is here before portraying a young siren in "La Dolce Vegas" for Joe Pasternak in Hollywood.

Sugar Ray Robinson watched drummer Buddy Rich at the Riverboat and said admiringly, "If my hands were as fast as his I'd still be fighting" . . . Diane Cilento, here for the "Negatives" premiere, couldn't get into 21 in her pants suit . . . Joe Levine quips that the two big winners of 1968 are the Tigers in the fall and his film "Lion in Winter" . . . Cassius Clay says he may fight exhibitions for a week in a Manhattan theater.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: Pricing the '69 cars you learn that the payments on the deluxe model aren't any bigger — you just pay 'em longer.

REMEMBERED QUOTE: It was Thackeray's compliment to a lady: "When I walk with you I feel as though I have a flower in my buttonhole."

EARL'S PEARLS: Did you hear (asks Johnny Martin) about the husband who, when nobody was looking, helped his wife into the car?

Henny Youngman told a table group at Bill's Gay '90s, "I've been listening to your community singing — so remind me to stay out of your community!" That's earl, brother.

A Look at TV

Drama's Message Clear

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK — Playwright J. P. Miller's message to worried and nonpulssed parents of rebellious and alienated children is curt and clear: They have only themselves to blame.

Miller's message was delivered in his original drama—melodrama, really—called "The People Next Door," the first production of this season's "CBS Playhouse" on Tuesday night.

The story opened with a hectic pre-dinner martini gathering in the upper middle-class, upper middle-income home of one couple with a 16-year-old daughter and a boy a few years older.

The shabby behavior and easy morality of the elders was revealed quickly. The wife of a teacher who lives next door has had a couple of drinks too many. The husband of the house storms in from duck hunting and admits that, although the limit was three ducks, he shot a dozen.

ANGRY SCENE

There followed an angry scene with the son, a long-haired, guitar-playing fellow with a slightly condescending attitude. The distraught daughter rushed to her room and took off on a bad LSD trip.

Thereupon we learn that the young girl has been experimenting not only with drugs but with sex. When confronted by her frantic, handwringing mother and aggressive father, we then learn that the girl has seen her father with other women and is aware that her parents were intimate before their own marriage.

Both children, as the son explained, have lost respect for their parents and have left them in different ways. The boy has moved on from marijuana to be a turned-on philosophical dropout. The daughter moves on to stronger drugs, East Village excesses, and winds up a patient with a bad prognosis in a mental institution.

Meanwhile, the "good boy" next door—the one with the short hair cut and the good school marks has been pushed beyond endurance by his parents. He winds up revealed as the neighborhood drug pusher.

HIPPIE HERO

It is interesting that the hippie son in the Miller drama is the closest there is to a hero. The parents, all four are the inadvertent villains.

The 90-minute program lacked any kind of a resolution. Neither set of parents seemed to be any more enlightened or subjective at the end than at the beginning, and the play closed in tragedy and without much hope.

If the dramatic structure left something to be desired, the play was nevertheless emotional and thought-provoking, and obviously was written with passion and conviction.

The acting throughout was excellent. Lloyd Bridges was convincing as the tough, intransigent father. Kim Hunter fluttered pitifully as the shocked mother. The most brilliant performance was turned in by a 14-year-old, Deborah Winters, who made a drug-induced descent into a permanent hell seem very real and terrible.

SUBJECT OF DEBATE

It is a show that will no doubt be the subject of some heated debate for some time to come.

Coin Club to Hold Auction Tomorrow

The Pontiac Coin Club will hold a coin auction after its regular meeting tomorrow. Some 50 lots of foreign and domestic coins will be for sale.

Anyone interested in coins is invited to attend the 8 p.m. meeting at the Pontiac Public Library.

The club is sponsored by the City Parks and Recreation Department. The club recently held a coin show with a display of coins form around the world.

Hunter Asleep, but Not Dead to the World

DUMMERSTON, Vt. (AP) — Albert Graimaldi, 35, of Springfield, Mass., a bit fatigued from a day of bow-and-arrow hunting, decided to take a snooze in a field here.

It didn't last long.

He was startled to see a rescue team and some state police officers at his side.

An elderly couple walked by and saw him lying in a field with what looked like an arrow stuck in his back. But Graimaldi had only plunged the arrow into the ground for safekeeping.

Fonteyn's Life: Her Mate, the Dance

(EDITOR'S NOTE — At 49, Margot Fonteyn still is considered the grand dame of ballet. Much of her future will be spent in Panama, helping her politician husband in his attempts to recover from an assassination attempt four years ago. But her dancing will go on.)

LONDON (AP) — Ballerina Dame Margot Fonteyn squeezed into the back of a minicar and said: "When I retire I'll go quickly — ballerinas just don't fade away."

The 49-year-old grand dame of ballet spoke just before leaving for Panama to rejoin her politician husband, Dr. Roberto "Tito" Arias, still recovering from an assassination attempt four years ago.

"I'll be spending more time in Panama in the future, helping my husband's political career, but my dancing will go on," she said.

"I do enjoy dancing, but it's tremendously hard work, you know. Some ballets are exhausting and you feel pretty well flaked out at the end of it.

SHE GETS HUNGRY

"Curiously the first thing one wants to do after a performance is eat. You see, you don't have a meal beforehand."

The ballerina, who seems to live at breakneck speed, spoke of her life and career in an interview that began at a party, continued in a private cinema and ended in the back of a small British car.

Of her partnership with Russian dancer Rudolf Nureyev, she said: "He's a marvelous dancer. A very exciting personality. Some people say he has a rough manner, but I don't see it as rudeness. It's the intention that matters."

ETERNAL YOUTH

"I don't care if Margot is a Dame of the British Empire or older than myself," he has said. "For me she represents eternal youth; there is an absolute musical quality in her beautiful body and phrasing."

In between dancing for Britian's Royal Ballet Company, Dame Margot has made a film entitled "Margot Fonteyn," which covers her life as a politician's wife in Panama and as prima ballerina in London and other world centers.

Fonteyn speaks of her time in Panama as "my real life." She married Arias in 1955 when he was Panama's ambassador to London. Nine years later he was shot in a Panama street and suffered a spinal would which left him speechless and paralyzed.

HE'S PROGRESSING

With her encouragement, Arias has begun to regain his speech and move his limbs and he was recently elected to the Panama National Assembly.

"The doctors said his terrible affliction would make him difficult," she said. "But his sweetness has come out more."

Fall Is the Season for Luscious Pork Dishes

By JANET ODELL
Food Editor, The Pontiac Press

Had you lived a century ago — or even 50 years ago — you would take for granted that fall is hog butchering time. Farm families prepared their winter's supply of pork in the autumn.

Today, only a few farmers still do their own butchering and curing. But fall is still the time when pork is abundant and less expensive.

Pork today is different. It has far less fat on it than in the past for producers of pork are catering to the public. And to the public, fat is a naughty word. The average serving of pork contains 240 calories instead of the former 377.

★ ★ ★ ★

You won't find grade markings on pork, but most hogs are marketed young when quality and tenderness are good. But you will find the federal inspection stamp on all meat shipped across state lines.

WHAT TO LOOK FOR

The best pork is pink or grayish pink with firm white outside fat. Bones are reddish in color and porous in the center.

Even though the meat is inspected, pork must be well cooked in order to destroy all trichina germs. Don't ever eat raw pork.

If you want to do something different with a pork loin roast, prepare it the way Mexican cooks do — with a ruby red glaze and a coating of crunchy corn chips.

MEXICAN-STYLE ROAST LOIN OF PORK

4 to 5-pound pork loin roast
1 teaspoon chili powder
½ teaspoon garlic salt
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup apply jelly
½ cup catsup
1 tablespoon vinegar
1½ cups (regular size) corn chips, crushed to make ¾ cup coarse crumbs
1 avocado, peeled and sliced, for garnishing, optional
2 oranges, sliced for garnishing, optional
Green grapes, for garnishing, optional

Place pork roast, fat side up, on rack in shallow roasting pan. Combine ½ teaspoon chili powder, garlic salt and salt; mix and rub over surface of meat. Insert meat thermometer point to center of lean part of loin, away from bone.

Roast in slow oven (325 degrees) until done, 2½ to 2¾ hours, or to an internal temperature of 170 degrees. While meat is roasting, prepare glaze.

GLAZE

Combine jelly, catsup, vinegar and remaining chili powder; heat until jelly is melted. Simmer gently 2 minutes. Brush ½ of the sauce over roast 30 minutes before end of roasting time. Roast 15 minutes; brush with remaining sauce and sprinkle with corn chips. Roast 15 minutes.

MARKET BASKET

Let stand 10 minutes; carve several slices and garnish, if desired, with sliced avocado and oranges and green grapes. Yield: 6 to 8 servings.

Don't just fry pork chops, good as they are that way. Bake them in a flavorful sauce borrowed from German cookery. You'll be pleased with the different taste.

GERMAN-STYLE PORK CHOPS

4 lean pork chops, cut ¾ inch thick
2 tablespoons fat
2 small onions, sliced
¾ cup red wine vinegar
1 bay leaf
4 peppercorns
2 whole cloves
2 cups water
2 tablespoons tomato paste
2 tablespoons sugar
½ cup ginger snaps, crushed
2 carrots, cut into ¾ inch strips
4 lemon slices

Brown pork chops in small amount of fat in a medium-sized skillet. Place in 2 quart casserole.

Saute onion until transparent in skillet used to brown pork chops. Add vinegar, bay leaf, peppercorns, and cloves.

Boil vinegar mixture 5 minutes, or until liquid is reduced to approximately ½ cup. Add water, tomato paste and sugar. Blend until well combined. Add ginger snaps. Stir and continue cooking until sauce thickens.

Pour over pork chops. Cover. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) for 45 minutes to 1 hour or until pork chops are tender. Add carrots. Continue to bake 5 to 10 additional minutes.

Pork shoulder is an inexpensive cut. Often used to make chop suey, it stars here in another Oriental type recipe.

POLYNESIAN PORK

1½ pounds pork shoulder, cut in 1-inch cubes
1 tablespoon shortening
1 tablespoon pork seasoning blend
1 can (1 lb. 14 oz.) sliced pineapple
1 green pepper, cut into ½-inch strips
1 can (5 oz.) water chestnuts or bamboo shoots, drained
⅔ cup chopped cashews or toasted almonds
1⅓ cups packaged pre-cooked rice
2 cups water
2 teaspoons pork seasoning blend
Pimiento strips

Cover and simmer at low temperature for 50 minutes, or until meat becomes tender. Combine remaining ingredients, including 2 teaspoons pork seasoning blend, and add to cooked pork. Top with pineapple and pimiento.

Bring to a boil. Cover tightly and reduce heat. Simmer 10 minutes or until rice becomes tender. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Pork Chops Make Teen Sandwiches

Teens will go for these pork chop sandwiches. Bone and trim 8 thin pork chops; in skillet brown on both sides until done. Remove chops from skillet and keep warm; pour off fat.

To skillet add 2 cans (8 ounces each) tomato sauce and 1 can (1 pound) sauerkraut, drained; simmer, covered, 10 minutes. Meanwhile, toast 2 split hamburger rolls.

Arrange 2 pork chops on earh roll half; spoon tomato sauce mixture over. Makes 4 hearty servings.

Olives and Garlic Season a Spread

Olive-garlic spread is party fare. Cut a clove of garlic in half and rub over bottom and sides of mixing bowl, crushing garlic slightly. Discard garlic.

Drain an 8-ounce jar of pimiento-stuffed olives (1½ cups of olives) and grind using a medium blade. Put in garlic-rubbed bowl and add ½ cup of softened unsalted butter, ½ teaspoon of crushed fennel seed and a dash of freshly ground black pepper; mix well.

Spread on thin slices of pumpernickel bread and cut into small squares or use as a spread for crackers. Makes 1 cup of bread.

How Much Pork to Buy

| Pork Cut | Number of usual-size servings per pound |
|---|---|
| Fresh roast, bone in (loin, picnic, Boston butt, fresh ham) | 2 to 3 |
| Fresh roast, without bone (shoulder, shoulder butt, fresh ham) | 3 to 4 |
| Smoked ham or picnic, bone in | 2 to 3 |
| Smoked ham or picnic, without bone | 3 to 4 |
| Smoked ham slice, center cut | 3 to 4 |
| Fully cooked smoked ham or picnic, bone in | 3 to 4 |
| Ham luncheon meat, without bone (depending on thickness of slice) | 4 to 8 |
| Spareribs | 1 to 2 |

Filling Made of Vegetables

Spread on buttered bread to make sandwiches. Makes about 2 cups filling

Nutty sandwich spread combines ½ cup each of finely chopped carrots and celery, 1 cup of finely chopped cabbage, 2 tablespoons finely chopped onions, ½ cup each of chopped

Portuguese Press Has New Freedom Under Caetano

LISBON (AP) — The Portuguese press is still enjoying unprecedented freedom nearly three weeks after Prime Minister Marcello Caetano took office, and all indications are that this will continue.

Government officials have been privately assuring journalists and editors that the new prime minister intends never to return to the strict blanket of censorship imposed under his predecessor, Antonio Salazar.

Informed sources say leaders of the Journalists' Guild were told at a meeting with the government's top information official, Cesar Moreira Batista, that a press law would be introduced within months.

The expectation is that it will end prepublication censorship for most news, making publishers responsible for what appears in print.

LIBERALIZED CENSORSHIP

Without a word being said officially, a de facto liberalization of censorship has allowed papers to speak out for deep-rooted changes in national life, and even to criticize some government methods.

Book publishers have been promised that some publications previously prohibited for political reasons would be allowed to circulate soon. Up to 150 such books, many of them novels are currently banned in Portugal.

Stern restrictions remain on the daily press, but the changes in editorial content since Caetano lowed to say that "A hope, much more than a passive expectancy or curiosity, was born in the Portuguese community" with the recent governmental change.

PAST CRITICIZED

In another instance of implied criticism of the past, the paper said, "We will have to enter a new way in the national political life" and called for "the growing participation . . . of the Portuguese people in government responsibilities."

A Capital has also called for action to draw back to Portugal countless scientists, teachers and others who left for political reasons.

Two liberal Lisbon afternoon papers, Diario de Lisboa and A Capital, have been the most outspoken in calling for liberalization, a word which itself was considered taboo under Salazar's authoritarian regime.

In a landmark editorial Diario de Lisboa was allowed to ask for "decompression" of the national life by enactment of liberal reforms. A Capital was al-

In an obvious allusion to the frequent political arrests in Salazar's time, it called for "liberty to think, liberty to express thoughts, liberty to disagree, liberty to act, without running the risk of being deprived, physically, without valid reasons, of this liberty."

"The papers are reflecting determined points of view that were completely untouchable," said one publisher. "It's been a complete change."

There has been stiff criticism of government methods, something that was unthinkable with Salazar.

GOVERNMENT RESPONDING

The government has responded. It has gone out of its way to satisfy the press with fuller communiques and with meetings between press officials and government leaders. It has promised to end the practice of approving officers of organizations after they are elected.

Government officials say Caetano sought the new press freedom to "get an idea what the people were thinking."

It takes an expert to grade beef!

In our great country we're lucky.
Our government trains and employs experts...men who inspect and grade beef at hundreds of locations throughout the nation. They protect you...and retailers, like us.

Also important are A&P's own beef experts.
Their job is to see to it that A&P Beef measures up to our own "SUPER-RIGHT" quality standards... standards which don't exactly fit our government's grading categories.
For instance, some beef graded U.S. Choice
just doesn't meet our "SUPER-RIGHT" specifications.

No wonder we don't hesitate to guarantee that the "SUPER-RIGHT" Beef you buy will be as flavorful and tender as you think it should be,
or your money back.

So, you don't have to become an expert

Brazilian President Threatened by Political Left and Right

To appease the right, Costa e Silva has taken steps to purge an opposition federal deputy who offended the military, and may thus be setting the stage for a showdown with his already emasculated Congress.

Left-leaning activists have been a threat to stability in Brazil, and prompted the 1964 military-led revolution which toppled Joao Goulart from the presidency.

After three years of relative calm, new conflict appeared last year, beginning with student-police clashes in most major cities.

The students at first said they sought only educational reforms, but their agitation has taken on an increasingly anti-government tone.

New troubles are now appearing in the increasingly restless labor unions, where rank-and-file membership is beginning to reflect its dissatisfaction by choosing local leaders willing to defy the government.

Priests are also becoming involved in developments which bring them in direct conflict with the government by supporting cries for social reform.

The gradual deterioration of stability in these three areas has led to right-wing fears that Brazil is returning to the turbulent pre-revolutionary days.

On the right the most serious focus of concern has been in the air force, where a group of pararescue troops allegedly was being trained to assassinate opposition student and political leaders.

The air force has denied the allegations, saying misconceptions grew up because pararescue troops were involved in a military occupation of downtown Rio during student-police clashes earlier this year.

Another right-wing group that is causing trouble is a self-styled "Communist Hunters Corps," which appears thus far to be centered in the city of Sao Paulo. But there are indications the corps may be expanding to other areas of the country.

On the Church level, a right-wing lay group is active.

Calling itself the "Society for the Defense of Tradition, Family and Property," it has rounded up 1.5 million signatures for a petition to be sent to Pope Paul VI.

The petition warns of so-called leftist infiltration among Brazilian Roman Catholic priests.

Costa e Silva has reflected concern by ordering the secret service to investigate all three groups.

He has endorsed army, air force and navy demands that opposition Federal Deputy Marcio Moreira Alves have his political rights cancelled for 10 years under a provision of the Brazilian constitution because he urged the public to boycott the Independence Day military parades Sept. 7.

The process to cancel his political rights has already gone to the supreme court, but any action will require approval by the Chamber of Deputies.

The chamber, already rebellious because of its limited role in the lawmaking process, could withhold approval, possibly setting of a political crisis that may force Costae Silva to close Congress.

Strong Dove, Weak Hawk in Pennsylvania Senate Race

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — In Pennsylvania the important U.S. Senate fight involves a strong dove against a mild hawk, age against youth, and how the three-cornered race for president goes.

Though the Vietnam war is a big issue, there are differences on law and order, gun controls, funds for rebuilding cities—and the result Nov. 5 likely will be a cliffhanger, with the Democratic incumbent considered in deep trouble.

Joseph Sill Clark, the veteran, graying Democrat seeking a third six-year term, is used to tough brawls. His victories in 1956 and 1962 were close, both times reversing Republican top-of-the-ticket trends in the Keystone State. He predicts he'll do it again.

HANGING HOPES

Republican challenger Richard S. Schweiker is a youthful, more photogenic (for television, anyway) four-term Congressman from the middle-class, white-collar Philadelphia suburbs. He is hoping Clark's penchant to alienate his own party supporters will provide enough "anti" muscle to give him the election.

Clark, 67, is the dove. The former Philadelphia mayor proudly dates his opposition to the Vietnam fighting back to 1965 when it was an unpopular position. Now, he says, other politicans are hollering "me too."

Schweiker, 42, supports generally the present American war policy, including the limited bombing. He even claims it is a posture he promoted before President Johnson adopted it.

The cagey Clark, a tough campaigner with solid labor and liberal support, pooh-poohs and ha-ha's this war stance, says Schweiker has neither foreign policy nor military expertise.

HIS OWN SOUL

Clark, a millionaire lawyer twice-divorced and recently remarried, insists he's "a man who owns his own soul ... with guts enough to tell it like it is." In this vein he says frankly that the Democrats are in trouble in Pennsylvania, that they must carry Philadelphia by at least 250,000 to win the state. His 1962 margin in his hometown was 180,000; it was 171,000 in 1956.

Again and again, in face-to-face television debate with Schweiker—they've already met three times with one more go-round set for the end of October—Clark twits his GOP opponent for always being against everything, and also accuses him of lying.

"Now, you know, Dick, that is an untruth," is the way Clark hurls back statements made by Schweiker.

IN LIBERAL MOLD

Both men are considered in the liberal mold. Schweiker has been likened, on the national GOP scene, as a young comer in the image of Mayor John Lindsay of New York. When they serve together in Congress their views frequently coincided.

Schweiker has been crisscrossing the state in his effort to reach as many of Pennsylvania's five million registered voters as possible. He walks the streets of middle-class neighborhoods, plods the worn bricks of the slum areas, shakes thousands of hands at factory gates, works the aisles and checkout counters of supermarkets.

"I think you just have to get out and meet the people," says Schweiker, a handsome, outgoing father of four. His youthful exuberance, face unmarked by age, is sharply contrasted to the picture Clark presents. Clark, recognizing this, asks voters to look at his face—"there are some lines in it, lines of care and concern."

Until recently Clark confined his appearances to the TV debates and some party rallies. Apparently miffed at Schweiker claims that he's afraid to face the voters, Clark has started weekend street campaigning and is being seen more frequently at labor and community gatherings.

HASN'T SOFTENED

But Clark hasn't softened his bluntness. Asked once when taxes might be reduced, he replied, "Look, my friend, you can't sit on your rear end ... and let the rest of the world go round. I'm not going to do anything to reduce your taxes ... The needs of the cities are too desperate."

The race actually hasn't fired up any hard voter interest. Neither man is attracting big crowds on his own—only when they share the same platform with their party's candidates for president or vice president.

Polls so far are inconclusive. Pennsylvania Democrats have paid for one that gives Clark and vice president Hubert H. Humphrey the edge. Republicans, contrarily, say their paid pollster finds Schweiker and Richard M. Nixon will be the winners. Independent observers view both races a toss-up.

In the end, the result may depend on just how much strength George C. Wallace, the third party presidential candidate, drains away from Humphrey and Nixon. This variously estimated at from 6 to 25 per cent, with more possible Democratic defections.

MINOR CANDIDATES

There are three minor party candidates in the race: Frank Gaydosh, Constitutional; Benson Perry, Socialist-Labor and Mrs. Pearl Chertov, Militant Workers. Few expect them to make any impact or affect the outcome.

Modern Mexico Bans Billboards During Olympics

MEXICO CITY (UPI) — The major reason behind Mexico's disire to host the Olympic Games was to show the world how modern Mexico has become.

Advertising agencies have agreed to cover over commercial billboards with designs and messages stressing world peace, and the Olympics as an example of the brotherhood of man.

Atty. Gen. Clark Blasts Congress for Thwarting Crime Control

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark says those congressional voices that cried "havoc from the rooftops" about law and order did the most to thwart the Johnson administration's crime control measures.

In an interview as the 90th Congress prepared to adjourn, the nation's top law enforcement official criticized what he called the lack of constructive action by both the House and Senate on efforts to combat crime.

For instance, Clark declared, "to this day the Senate has sat on nominations essential to the implementation of crime control. And the man who cried the most about law and order has prevented the disbursement of literally millions of dollars that are available now to local law enforcement to protect the public."

Although Clark did not identify the senator, he apparently referred to the lack of Senate action on the nomination of Patrick V. Murphy, the District of Columbia's public safety director, as head of a new agency—the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration — formed under the 1968 Omnibus Crime Control and Safe Streets Act. The agency was formed to handle a program of federal grants to strengthen local police forces.

Clark, emphasizing that law enforcement is mainly a local responsibility, also observed "It's odd that the very people that decry centralization of power in Washington point to Washington for a solution to the crime problem."

Conceding that the nation's crime rate is increasing sharply, Clark called for a scrutiny of the underlying causes of criminal activity and charged society with creating the environment on which crime thrives.

"Among the causes, whether people want to admit it or not, are injustice, poverty, and lack of education," Cark said.

And in so many words he accused Congress of failing to meet its responsibilities by blocking funds necessary for increased police salaries, improvement in the field of corrections, and for working with juvenile delinquents.

"I'm not sure we have all the answers, but generally we know the answers," Clark said, "and the real question is 'are we willing to do the job or do we just want to cry havoc from the rooftops about it?' "

After professionalization of local police forces—which at this point he said means paying the police more money—Clark said: "Of all the neglects in the area of criminal justice . . . correctional activity is the most neglected."

Clark, described by Republican presidential candidate Richard M. Nixon as the first man he'll kick out of office if elected president, complimented the GOP candidate's proposals in the correction field.

"In this area . . . he (Nixon) has been constructive," Clark said. "The Republican party platform has been constructive."

Nixon, in a midweek statement on the American prison system, proposed job training, work-release programs and halfway houses to help rehabilitate released convicts.

Clark credited Sen. Roman Hruska, R-Neb., with leading the way in this field, but he said Hruska too, had been frustrated.

"When the Manpower Development Act funds were cut, what was the first area deleted entirely?" the attorney general asked. He said it was the fund devoted to training men released from prison.

Like Nixon, Clark agreed that convicts who could be rehabilitated return to crime after serving their sentences.

"The correctional process has, through history, turned more individuals to crime than it has ever rehabilitated," Clark said. "The moral is we've got to stop talking and shouting and trying to scare people, and do something about it."

He maintained the crime control act supported by the administration could double the funds available for corrections "if the Congress, if the people, will support it.

"It's a matter of action. We know how to do it. It's a matter of will. And your ability to control crime through rehabilitation is much greater than your ability to control crime with a club or a gun," Clark declared.

The attorney general noted that this year Congress provided additional methods to deal with juvenile delinquency, observing, "we fought for (the provisions) for two years."

Clark said statistics show that increases in crime in this decade do not reflect an increase in adult crime but rather a boost in lawlessness among minors.

"If we all put our resources in to work with these kids as we're trying to rebuild the cities then we could prevent many from developing patterns of deliquency before they fall into them . . . before they learn criminal habits and commit criminal acts," Clark said.

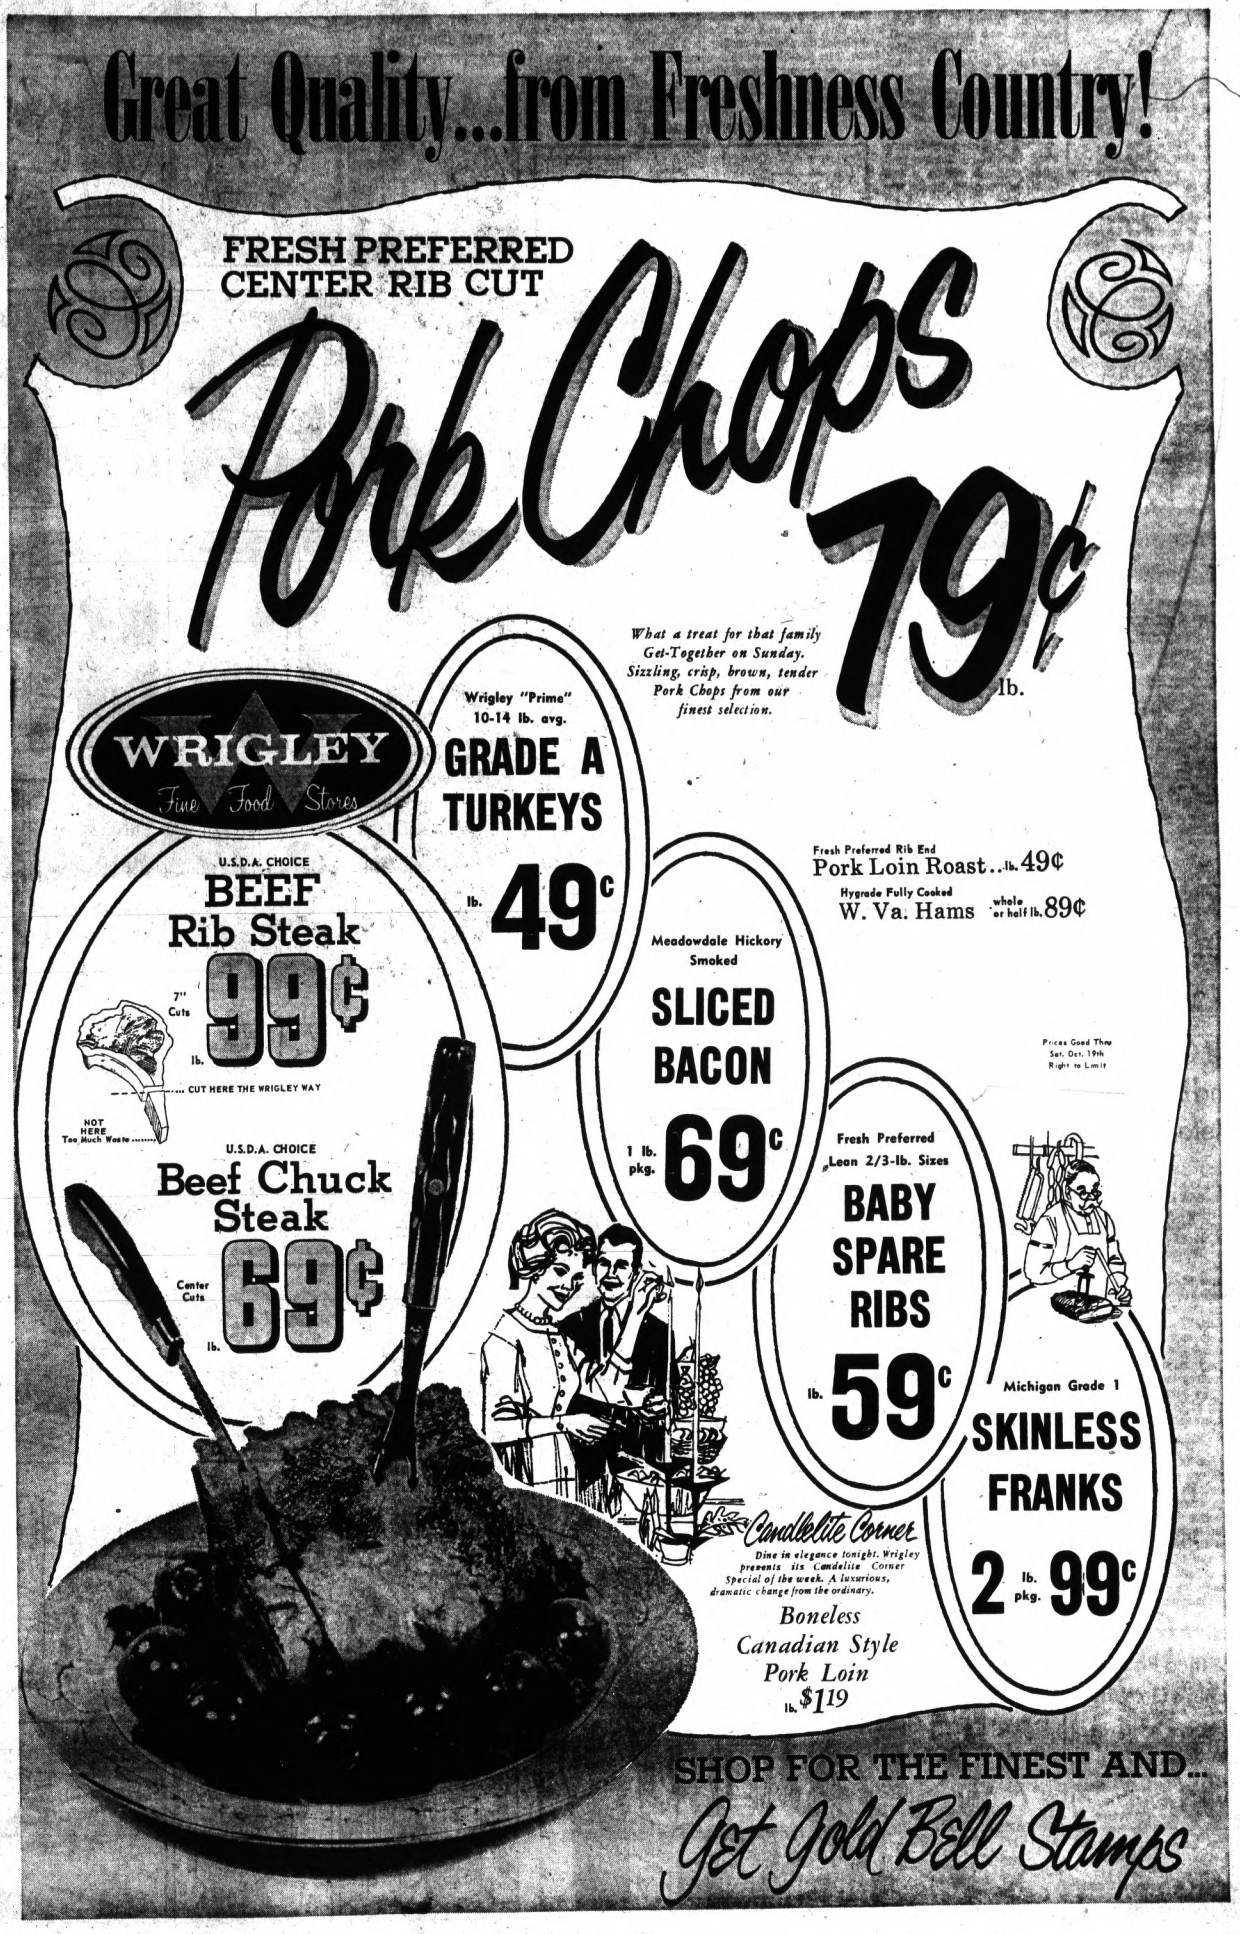

The attorney general termed the election campaign slogan "law and order" an emotional epithet which he said doesn't lead to constructive action.

Clark forecast student unrest will peak, then decline, and discounted those—presumably including FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover—who blame campus disturbances on "outside influences."

"The people who try to point to outside influences in the university situation are the same people as those who point to conspiracy for causing riots in the cities," Clark declared. "They want a fall guy . . ."

And he said that "going in and bashing heads" will solve no problems. The constructive thing to do, Clark said, is for school administrators and police officials to work closely with students "to hear their thoughts and act on them."

"Repressiveness," Clark said, "will have the opposite effect."

Opening lead—♦2

By OSWALD and JAMES JACOBY

West didn't have much of a hand and succeeded in misdividing it first and misdefending it later.

JACOBY

Let's look at the misbidding. After South redoubled North's one spade opening, West was correct in passing. East would get out of the trap into some suit. If the suit were clubs West could correct to one of his four card suits. West would be happy if East bid hearts or diamonds.

East did get out into two diamonds and South bid three clubs. At this point West's hand should have begun to look good. He could see four diamonds to the king and what was almost surely a very valuable singleton. A jump to four diamonds would not have been much of an overbid. Failure to bid three diamonds was almost criminal.

North really should have bid, but decided to gamble that his side could not make a game. It was a mightly good decision. Playing at clubs the defense can take a diamond and two aces; playing at spades, a club lead will hold declarer to nine tricks. So would a diamond lead unless declarer played a low trump to force out East's singleton ace.

How did West manage to misdefend? He opened the deuce of diamonds. South won with the ace and drew trumps with three leads. This gave West a chance to make two discards and he threw first the four, then the deuce of hearts—falsely showing heart strength.

South lead a spade to dummy's king. East took his ace and played the ace and another heart. This gave South a chance to discard dummy's second diamond and make five clubs instead of four.

He Collects and Decorates Metal Soldiers

FLINT (AP)—Patrick Whelan collects small figures of soldiers, but once he has them his work has just begun. He paints them by hand, taking about two-and-a-half weeks to complete each of the two-and-a-half-inch high pieces.

"After filing, I have to paint the metal figures with a special primer that seals the lead," he explains. "Then the flat oil-base paint is applied to make the metal look like cloth."

"The face, such as the highlights along the cheeks and the color of the lips, determines the quality of the figure. I spend about two days just painting the eyes."

Whelan has finished 43 figures in the two years he has been pursuing his hobby, and specializes in World War I soldiers.

He does extensive research seeking to determine the proper colors for uniforms. He plans eventually to construct a diorama of battle scenes and enter the war games waged by members of miniature collectors' societies.

Splitting Potatoes Speeds Growth

DAVIS, Calif. (UPI) — Scientists at the University of California's campus here have an explanation why farmers have been cutting up seed potatoes for hundreds of years.

3 Deputies Patrol Au Sable River

GRAYLING (AP) — A patrol of the Au Sable River has expanded from a part-time deputy sheriff using a borrowed canoe on the main channel to two canoes manned by three full-time deputies working every day on the 125 miles of heavily used sections of the water.

The canoes used by the river patrol, which has become a full-fledged part of Crawford County sheriff's department, are marked and equipped with radios, first aid kits, blankets, hatchets, fire extinguishers and other emergency items.

Savage Rioting in N. Ireland Shows Shakiness of the Peace

LONDON (AP) — Britain is facing an Irish problem again after nearly half a century of relative peace.

The 1920 decision to partition the neighboring island—making a free state which became today's Irish Republic and a Northern Ireland province still linked with Britain—ended decades of killings and a bloody civil war.

Although there have been occasional outbreaks since, notably in Belfast four years ago, it took the savage rioting in Londonderry earlier this month to rouse the nation. That showed how thin the peace is, in the North at least. It stirred protests in London and Dublin.

For months Prime Minister Harold Wilson had been urged to do something about ensuring a greater degree of democracy for Northern Ireland. Civil rights campaigners, especially among the Roman Catholic minority, demanded "one man, one vote" in local elections; an end to gerrymandering and ward rigging; the introduction of Britain's race relations act to fight discrimination.

HOME AFFAIRS

Wilson, like other British prime ministers before him, could do little beyond having the 1920 Government of Ireland Act revised. That would raise basic constitutional issues. Northern Ireland is self-governing so far as home affairs are concerned. It controls its own police, has its own government and Parliament in Belfast.

The North's prime minister, Terence O'Neill, has given Wilson and his Whitehall advisers a forthright warning not to interfere. Any attempt to do so would be self-defeating, he said.

The bitterness that flared in Londonderry is nothing new. It has always been there beneath the surface, reflecting feelings where politics and religion are closely intertwined.

You don't join a political party in Northern Ireland; you're born into it.

COLOR IS ORANGE

If your parents are Protestants of Scotch-Irish descent like two-thirds of the population, then you support the ruling Unionist party. Your flag is the Union Jack, your party color orange. You may join one of the militant Orange lodges and march through the streets with drawn sword to protect your banner from "the Papists."

If your parents are Roman Catholics, you're a Nationalist, your color is green, your favored flag may be the Irish Republic's tricolor. You're in the minority and sometimes made to feel it.

A few may cross these strictly drawn politico-religious lines. But a Protestant Nationalist risks meeting discrimination in business and at home. And, until a few years ago, no Catholic was ever admitted to the Unionist party. The few who cross over are regarded with suspicion.

"The riots were a deliberate break in the unwritten convention between opposing factions," he said. "There is a convention that Nationalists don't walk through Unionist areas and Unionists don't walk through Nationalist areas. If they do it is bound to stir up trouble."

Czechs' Plight a Fact of Life in East Germany for 23 Years

BERLIN (AP) — What is happening to Czechoslovakia today has been a fact of life to East Germany for 23 years.

Ever since 1945, when Germany was divided, what became East Germany has been dominated by a massive Soviet presence.

The fortunes of war locked the East Germans in the Soviet grip and the result was a complete Sovietization of purpose and outlook in government and media, if not among the people.

In East Germany things were relatively easier for the Russians. From the start a Kremlin man, long-time German Communist Walter Ulbricht, was available to follow their guidelines.

When he met with Czechoslovak party chief Alexander Dubcek shortly before the Warsaw Pact blitz on Prague, Ulbricht inferred Dubcek should follow the East German example.

FACED OPPOSITION

East Germany, Ulbricht said, had not staged elaborate trials or jailed a single bishop on its socialistic road to democracy.

Not that Ulbricht has had it all his own way. He has had to overcome inner party opposition at least twice. Church leaders still bitterly oppose his German Socialist Unity party, SED, in its attempts at atheistic indoctrination. Intellectuals who voiced opposition have been cut off from opportunities to speak out.

And always, waiting in the wings, was the Red army.

Ulbricht never misses a chance to proclaim his friendship for the Soviets or to tell the East Germans that their very existence depends on Soviet friendship.

This has led to ironic references to Russian forces as "our friends."

WORKERS' REVOLT

In 1953 Ulbricht, pressed by the Russians, tried to push East German workers too hard. They rebelled and for the first time Soviet tanks rolled through a satellite state to put down a popular uprising. Reflections on that experience have helped keep things quiet ever since.

And Ulbricht, backed by the Red army's 22 combat divisions stationed about the land, has made the most of the opportunity to consolidate his party's position.

A politically reliable state police force of some 80,000 men has been built up along with a sizable secret police force. These are the East German party's main arms of authority.

Without letup, the government has pursued collectivization of farming and industry. The government is run exclusively by the party. Press, movies, radio and television are firmly in party hands, on the Russian model.

TWO ENCLAVES

Expert Russian influence in these developments is extended from two enclaves in East Berlin. One is centered about the huge Russian embassy near the Brandenburg Gate. It houses offices, apartments, a school.

The other is in Karlshorst, a suburb where most Russians live in a community with everything from stores to a theater.

The Russians in East Germany have tried to keep out of sight.

Citizens see an occasional troop column or truck and equipment, but rarely have close contact with individual Russians. Psychologically, it is enough to know that they are there.

COMPLETELY INTEGRATED

If the Red army remains in Czechoslovakia in strength, generally out of sight but not out of mind, a Sovietized atmosphere on the East German model could be the aim.

Apollo 7 Success Points to Christmas Moon Orbit Try

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — With their colds clearing up and more sleeping time allowed, Apollo 7's astronauts joked their way today toward the halfway mark of the marathon space mission.

And their space chariot was working so well that plans are being firmed to send three men around the moon on Christmas Day.

MEETING PLANNED

Top officials of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration scheduled a meeting later this week to firm up plans for sending Apollo 8 on a swing around the moon in late December.

The halfway mark of the Apollo 7 planned 11-day mission comes tonight.

All three of the crew Navy Capt. Walter M. Schirra Jr., Air Force Maj. Donn F. Eisele, and civilian astronaut Walter Cunningham, have stopped taking medication, even aspirin, for their sniffles.

This "plus their own statements is very good evidence that their colds are getting better," said Dr. John Zieglschmid. "They are sounding a lot better."

Shortly after the medical expert's report today, the spacecraft called Mission Control as it passed over the Canary Islands.

"Hey, Bill," Eisele said to William Pogue, the communicator on duty, "Ask the tower for a flap setting."

Pogue laughed at the joking request, similar to that made by airliners approaching a landing.

"Okay," said Pogue, "and you better check the friction on the throttle too."

There was the sound of laughter from the spacecraft.

N. Viet Bomb Halt Hinted

From Our News Wires

PARIS — U.S. and North Vietnamese delegates met for three hours today but failed again to resolve differences and break the six-month deadlock in the Vietnam War talks.

Diplomatic developments in Paris and Saigon had hinted a complete halt to U.S. bombing of North Vietnam might be imminent.

Informants stressed they based their belief on information received from President Nguyen Van Thieu's government in Saigon — and not on any direct word from U.S. Ambassador W. Averell Harriman and his fellow delegates to the Paris peace talks.

HUDDLE WITH HARRIMAN

He asked and got a meeting with Harriman shortly after the end of the 26th session of the U.S.-North Vietnamese talks.

In the session itself ambassador Xuan Thuy, speaking as if he had heard no word of any likely breakthrough, repeated Hanoi's standard call for a total, unconditional cutoff of American attacks on the North.

Thuy on leaving the Majestic Hotel conference center told newsmen: "The 26th meeting was just like the 25 preceding ones."

Harriman himself confirmed there had been no talk of the bombing issue when he left the conference headquarters.

In Saigon, six separate South Vietnamese government and national assembly sources said today they are convinced a complete halt to American bombing of North Vietnam is imminent.

They made the statements shortly after U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker held three urgent meetings with President Nguyen Van Thieu of South Vietnam.

Separate sessions involving the Cabinet and top political figures in the government and the legislature also were held at the presidential palace.

Another South Vietnamese government source told newsmen to be on the alert for a statement that might be issued in Washington and Saigon on the bombing. Although American sources declined to discuss the talks, one suggested that newsmen keep in touch through the night.

One source said American planes bombed North Vietnam below the 19th parallel today as usual and that as far as he knew, orders were in effect for another day of bombing tomorrow.

FULL CABINET

The full Cabinet met this evening, and Vietnamese security chiefs reportedly were alerted to stand by for an announcement that might set off adverse public reaction.

The South Vietnamese government has firmly resisted any suggestion of a complete bombing halt in the past. There was speculation that if they now agreed to a bombing halt, it might have attached conditions.

HHH Berates Nixon on the Debate Issue

By United Press International

Hubert H. Humphrey took Richard M. Nixon to task on the debate issue again today, scant hours before the two presidential candidates were to appear on the same platform for separate addresses.

"For eight long years Dick Nixon has been saying around the country that presidential candidates owed it to the American people to debate," Humphrey said.

"Now it seems he's having his seventh crisis. It turns out he isn't ready to debate — not if it means debating with me — not if it means facing up to his record and the Republican record of the past 20 years."

Humphrey renewed his hammering on the debate theme in remarks prepared for a St. Louis rally.

MEMORIAL DINNER

Related Stories, Page B-13

Nixon nailed his stance on the debate question yesterday once again vowing he will not engage in any appearance with third party candidate George C. Wallace.

"I will not allow debates to be used to build up a third-party candidate and thereby fragment the two-party system."

In a position paper issued in Washington today, Humphrey pledged "No child will be hungry at home or at school because his parents are poor" if he is elected, and promised to bring the food stamp program to every county in the nation.

'NEED NEW TEAM'

Nixon, touring the South, told a Knoxville, Tenn., rally yesterday the time has come to "retire the old administration and let a new team in."

In Greensboro, N.C., he said Humphrey was "panicking" because of his trailing position in the campaign and could be expected to be "swinging wilder and wilder."

NATO Briefed on N-Deterrent

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has given NATO allies a detailed outline of how demonstration-type nuclear bursts could be used to show an invading enemy the West was not afraid to resort to such weapons.

The American document was carried to Europe last week by Secretary of Defense Clark M. Clifford.

It assumes added interest due to the Soviets' August invasion of Czechoslovakia although it was prepared before then.

The defense chief submitted the paper to the seven-nation meeting of NATO's nuclear planning group, which advises the alliance how atomic weapons can be used in allied defenses.

CONCLUSIONS SECRET

Conclusions of the study are secret. But in candid conversations with newsmen, U.S. officials suggested one or two wellplaced nuclear detonations could be considered in the early phase of a massive, uncontrollable assault by enemy forces over NATO Borders.

The idea would be, as one official explained it, to show an enemy "that you were prepared to use nuclear weapons to deter him."

The study also sets forth disadvantages to such a move, among them the possibility that even limited nuclear shots might carry both sides into a devastating major atomic exchange.

GNP Rise Is Less Than Previous Quarter'

Economic Slowdown Begun---LBJ Aide

WASHINGTON (AP) — One of the government's principal economic signals, the gross national product, has flashed another SOS about inflation. But the top White House economist says a welcome slowdown already has begun.

The Commerec Department estimated yesterday that the GNP — market value of all of the nation's goods and services — rose in the third quarter by nearly $18 billion, to an adjusted annual rate of 870.8 billion.

It was the fifth consecutive quarter of major increases—bad news when demand exceeds supply and pushes prices up.

The third quarter performance was the equivalent of an annual growth rate of 4.8 per cent. Government economists commonly describe anything above 4 per cent as inflationary.

While he acknowledged that the GNP had taken a "large" step up, Arthur M. Okun, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, noted the total increase was less than the $21.7-billion rise posted in the second quarter.

"It is thoroughly consistent with prospects of a continued slowdown in the fourth quarter," Okun said. "The spurt in consumer spending is most unlikely to be repeated, while the moderating trend in other areas is likely to be extended.

"More generally, I would reaffirm our fundamental assessment that the nation is embarked on a slowdown decisive enough to improve our price performance markedly over time."

Consumer spending, which rose $8.5 billion in the second quarter, was powered by strong automobile buying to an increase of $13.4 billion in the third quarter.

Referring to the 10 per cent income tax surcharge that went into effect in July, Okun said consumer outlays in the quarter revealed "considerable underlying strength in private demand which the program of fiscal restraint could not possibly have checked so soon after going into effect."

Too much restraint in the year ahead, he said, could exact "human costs which would far outweigh any conceivable benefits in achieving a more rapid return to price stability."

Liquor License for Airport Near

A liquor license for the Oakland-Pontiac Airport terminal restaurant will be obtained in about three weeks, it was announced at yesterday's meeting of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors Airport Committee.

David VanderVeen, a board of auditors aide, told the committee the license was obtainable under a state law, enacted last year, that says any county with an airport could obtain a liquor license above and beyond those allocated by the State Liquor Control Commission. Each community is restricted to issuance of licenses according to population.

The license has been applied for under the act and should be approved in about three weeks, VanderVeen said.

After its issuance, the airport committee announced it will study which of several applicants will be given the license for a cocktail lounge - restaurant operation at the airport which is on M59 and Airport Road in Waterford Township.

Johnson Set to Sign Big School-Aid Bills

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation is investing over $10 billion in the education of its young people — college students and slum kids.

The funds, authorized in two bills due to be signed by President Johnson today, extends school and student aid programs for three years and increases funds for work training programs designed to break youngsters from slum poverty cycles.

Contained in the $7.3-billion aid-to-higher-education act is a provision shutting off aid to students convicted of taking part in activities which disrupt a college or university.

Violations of college regulations "of a serious nature" or a civil conviction stemming from disruptions make the student liable to lose federal assistance for two years.

NEW CONTROL AGENCY

The higher-education bill also contains a section removing from the Office of Economic Opportunity the Upward Bound program designed to acclimate ghetto youngsters to campus atmosphere. The Department of Health, Education and Welfare takes the program over.

The $3.1-billion vocational education bill contains a rider which some legislators said would nullify much of the $6-billion federal spending cut decreed by Congress.

Sponsors of the rider said it was intended to remove the power of the President and his Budget Bureau to make any reductions in education funds below the amounts appropriated by Congress.

The biggest authorization in the higher education bill, $3.1 billion, would cover grants and loans for building construction.

DIRECT LOANS

The next biggest item in the bill, $1.87 billion, will make funds available for direct loans to students, federal scholarships, and government insurance of private loans.

About one-quarter of the more than six million students in college use one of these forms of aid.

The bill also contains a number of new programs proposed by the administration.

These include special services for disadvantaged students, grants to strengthen graduate education, provision for cooperative arrangements among colleges in a program called "Networks for Knowledge," specialized types of training for public service personnel in federal, state and local governments, and grants to provide clinical experience in preparation and trial of cases for law students.

Torch Ignites '68 UF Drive

By LOIS FRIEDLAND

A dual torch-lighting ceremony marked the official kickoff of the 1968 Pontiac Area United Fund campaign for $1,130,000 last night. A torch at Pontiac Mall and another at City Hall were lighted as symbols of hope that this year's goal would be reached.

Alger V. Conner, campaign chairman, radioed instructions for the torch lightings from a kickoff ball at the Holiday Inn.

Conner told the 200 campaign workers at the ball: "It is my hope that people in our community view these flames with pride and dedication . . . as they light our way to a successful campaign. Let us all remember the flames of these torches stand for the hope of our 55 agencies and the services they provide our community. I feel we will remember, we will come through . . . to an 'over the top' victory!"

Members of the Boy Scouts, Camp Fire Girls, Salvation Army and Red Cross joined in the torch lighting ceremonies by passing a hand torch from one to another — to symbolically represent the agencies and their services to people — before the big torches were lighted.

After the torch lighting ceremony, the

McCarthyites Thwarted

LANSING (AP) — Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley today dashed the hopes of dissident Democrats who had planned to support Sen. Eugene McCarthy by using stickers bearing a slate of pro-McCarthy electors in the Nov. 5 election.

"A vote cast by inserting a sticker containing an uncertified list of names as presidential electors is void and need not be tallied," Kelley said.

'Big Four' Meeting on U.N. Is in Works

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Signs pointed today to Big Four acceptance of Secretary General U Thant's proposal that their foreign ministers meet to discuss ways of bolstering the United Nations as a peace force.

However, U.N. delegates generally felt no date for a meeting could be set until after the U.S. presidential election; they pointed out that President Johnson could not commit the next administration to any such parley.

Foreign Secretary Michael Stewart of Britain told a news conference Monday he did not foresee a Big Four meeting before next year.

A spokesman for Thant said he had received unofficial reactions that were "not negative" from Stewart, French Foreign Minister Michel Debre, Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko and U.S. chief delegate J. R. Wiggins.

MADE PUBLIC

Thant made public yesterday letters he had sent more than a week ago to the four foreign ministers.

He talked with all four during their visits to the General Assembly for the current policy debate.

A spokesman said that he had received no reaction from Rusk, but Wiggins called on Thant late Tuesday to discuss the matter.

SUGGESTS MEETING

He suggested that the foreign ministers meet to discuss such matters as the financial situation of the United Nations, disarmament, U.N. peace-keeping and peace-building functions, and guidance and support for the mission of Gunnar Jarring, the secretary-general's Middle East envoy.

Thant had hoped that the ministers would get together during the current assembly session to discuss the issues, but all four have gone home.

Cost of Car Repairs Criticized by Nadar

By ED BLUNDEN

Ralph Nader continued his attack on the auto industry yesterday in two Oakland County appearances.

Writer of the best-seller, "Unsafe at Any Speed," he appeared at Oakland Community College's Orchard Ridge Campus in the afternoon and at the Cranbrook School Auditorium in Bloomfield Hills last night.

At OCC he gave a press conference to area newspapers and radio and television stations. At Cranbrook he delivered a prepared speech and took part in a panel discussion.

In both sessions he hit at a new aspect of criticism of U.S. autos — built-in costs that run into millions of dollars for the consumer.

MOST OF PROFITS

He charged the auto makers actually make most of their profits from sale of replacement parts.

Nader, since his original exposure to the public via his book, has turned his energies to other consumer interests including packaging and clothing.

Although he doesn't drive, Nader still rates cars as his favorite target, and he promised coming disclosures "on the spectacular side" in regards to auto repairs.

He said the disclosures will be made in late November before Sen. Philip Hart's Antitrust subcommittee.

COST OF CAR REPAIRS

The hearings will concern how the cost of car repairs rose 50 per cent in seven years, he said.

As an example, Nader cited the design of car bumpers. He said that a two-mile-per-hour collision can result in a $75 to $100 repair bill.

Nader said a Detroit insurance executive told him that the bumper designs are costing "a cool billion dollars a year."

CITES FUEL PUMPS

He also cited fuel pumps claiming a $1 bearing is the chief cause of breakdown, but a replacement costs $30 to $50.

A fuel pump could be designed so that the $1 bearing could be replaced instead of the whole pump, Nader insisted.

Nader charged the auto industry is "wilfully and consciously jacking up the cost of repair bills."

After increased car prices for 1969 were announced by most companies last month, Nader had contended they were unnecessary and that a cost-reduction was more logical. He defended his stand before questioning yesterday.

POINTS TO LABOR COST

He repeated his calculation that labor cost on an average Ford sedan was $300. Some authorities have since contested his calculations and Nader challenged them to appear before the Senate hearings and refute him.

Nader is deemed the man most responsible for the Auto Safety Act of 1966, which calls for government-regulated safety features on 1968 cars.

He said many of the features of the law had been compiled to and that "they're on the right track."

More government and consumer participation in auto designs are looked forward to by Nader, however.

He said he soon expects to see a prototype car built through government research grants. He said this kind of safety car would show the auto industry how it could be done.

In response to questioning on new models, Nader said the horsepower race is on again. "Even American Motors has succumbed," he remarked.

In viewing the coming national election in the light of auto safety, Nader said the best thing that could occur would be if Nixon were president, but a Democratic Congress prevailed. He indicated auto safety would become an issue between factions in that event.

Czech Reported Okaying Terms for Soviet Stay

MOSCOW (AP) — Czechoslovak Premier Oldrich Cernik returned to Prague today after two days of Kremlin talks to complete a treaty legalizing the Soviet occupation of his country.

Unofficial reports said agreement was reached yesterday on terms of the treaty giving formal approval to the presence in Czechoslovakia of troops from the Soviet Union and other Communist countries.

★ ★ ★ ★

Informed sources said Cernik would present the treaty to government officials in Prague for their approval and a signing ceremony will be held "in the nearest future," probably in Prague.

KOSYGIN TO SIGN

Kosygin is expected to sign for the Soviet Union.

A brief communique yesterday said the Czechoslovaks and the Soviets "exchanged views on . . . the question of the terms for the temporary stay of Soviet troops" in Czechoslovakia.

Details were not revealed, but reports from Prague have indicated the Soviets want to keep between 50,000 and 100,000 troops in the country. Estimates of the total occupation force range from 275,000 to 600,000.

The Russians promised to start pulling out troops as soon as liberalizing trends in Czechoslovakia were halted and the position of the Communist party was strengthened. The absence of criticism in the Soviet press in recent days indicates progress is being made toward those goals.

ASKS ASYLUM

Amid the negotiations between the Kremlin and Czechoslovakia, officials in Bern reported the arrival in Switzerland of former Deputy Premier Ota Sik and said he had asked for political asylum.

Sik was the author of the economic reform program which touched off the liberalization drive in Czechoslovakia. He resigned after violent Soviet criticism made apparent that his removal was one of the occupation's goals.

Board Spurns Report-Card Change Foes

BIRMINGHAM — A petition from a group of Westchester Elementary School parents asking for a delay in the trial implementation of a revised report card at that school was denied by the board of education at last night's meeting.

Parents, students and teachers discussed the report card issue for nearly two hours. They were nearly evenly divided on its implementation, said school officials.

The new report card uses an "S," meaning the student is doing satisfactory work, or an asterisk, which indicates the student needs more work in the noted area.

Dr. John B. Smith, superintendent of Birmingham schools, said the new report card is coming into national use.

NOT CONCRETE

Many of the dissenting parents held that the new grading method is not a concrete recognition for the children's accomplishments, and that the children as well did not want the new card.

With the denial of the petition, the pilot program for the new report card will begin with the second marking period.

A proposed policy on the administration of medication to school children was discussed. The school district has not had such a policy.

The proposal would allow medication to be administered to students upon the written request of parents by administrators, teachers and nurses in accordance with procedures to be established by the superintendent of schools.

ACTION SCHEDULED

Action will be taken on the proposal at the Nov. 19 board meeting.

A proposed change in awarding extra credit for accelerated and honors courses, under study for three years, was presented to the board.

The change would discontinue granting extra quality points in accelerated and honors courses and would provide that the only acceptable grades in these courses be A, B or C.

Action will be requested on this matter at the Nov. 19 meeting.

FINAL EXAMS

A proposed revision of policy covering final examinations at the 12th grade level was presented to the board.

The proposal, which also will be acted on Nov. 19, would give any senior with a "B" or better average in any course the prerogative of not taking the final examination.

campaign film "The Day Love Dies" was shown to volunteers at the ball.

The film contrasts the decline of the Mayan civilization in Mexico's Yucatan Peninsula to modern-day civilization. The film and speakers are available to organizations and businesses upon request at the United Fund office, 132 Franklin Blvd.

Following the film, Fred Poole, president of the Pontiac Area United Fund Board of Trustees, addressed the group at the Holiday Inn with a message geared toward individual responsibility.

"I feel that each of us, as a volunteer worker and contributor should not only lend lip service to the support of our agencies, but to put our shoulders behind this cause with strength, action, and a sincere feeling of responsibility toward helping people," Poole said.

AREA GOALS

The campaign runs through Nov. 8. The divisional breakdown for the goal, which is 10 per cent more than the amount raised last year, is: community $36,476; commercial $294,274; manufacturing $40,780; General Motors $745,800; Brandon Township $2,654; and special gifts, $20,108.

Baby Is Okay; Found in Bag

A 3-day-old baby girl, found in a shopping bag in a St. Joseph Mercy Hospital restroom Monday, is reported "doing fine" today.

The child, who weighs 3 pounds, was discovered when two laboratory workers saw the shopping bag move. Doctors said the baby was apparently born prematurely, but is in generally good health.

Mrs. Mary Caronis of the Pontiac Police Department's crime prevention bureau said that she and other officers are seeking the infant's mother, who left bottles of milk and water in the shopping bag, along with a note explaining that the abandonment was necessary.

"If we can find the mother we hope something can be worked out so she'll be able to keep the child," said Mrs. Caronis.

Malaysia Aborts Talks

KUALA LUMPUR (AP) — Malaysian Prime Minister Tunku Abdul Rahman today called off scheduled talks with the Philippines because of that country's "uncompromising" position on the dispute over Sabah.

Deputy Prime Minister Tun Abdul Razak and Philippine Foreign Secretary Narciso Ramos had been scheduled to meet in Tokyo next week to seek ways of easing tension between their governments. But an aide said Rahman, speaking to a group of visiting New Zealand journalists, "made it clear that for the time being there can be no talks."

3 Profs in U.S. Win Nobel Prize

STOCKHOLM (AP) — the 1968 Nobel Prize for physiology and medicine was awarded jointly today to three American professors. They are Robert Holley of Cornell University, Ithaca, N.Y., Har Gobind Khorana of the University of Wisconsin and Marshall Warren Nirenberg of the National Heart Institute, Bethesda, Md.

They got the prize for their interpretation of the genetic code and its function in protein synthesis.

The worlds most coveted medical distinction has a record cash value this year of $70,000. The three Americans will share equally.

The decision was taken by the Swedish Royal Caroline Institute of Medicine and Physiology, which said the three scientists had worked independently, but that their investigations converged toward the solution of a common problem.

CODE CLARIFIED

Nirenberg, 41 and a New Yorker, opened this research area by a very simple but ingenious experiment and by following up his breakthrough he could clarify the general character of the genetic code, the Caroline Institute faculty said.

Dr. Khorana, born in Raipur, India, in 1922, and Holley, born the same year in Urbana, Ill., probed the fine structure of the genetic code and explained how it is used by the cell for the biosynthesis of proteins.

Evasive Enemy Puzzles Yanks

SAIGO N (AP)— Top U.S. officers don't think the current lull in the Vietnam war means the Communist command is deescalating, but they admitted today they "can't get the enemy to stick around and fight."

"It's hard to forecast what they have in mind," said one officer close to Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, commander of U.S. forces in Vietnam.

Abrams' comments came while U.S. and South Vietnamese officials were reported holding marathon conferences in Saigon on a possible full halt to the bombing of North Vietnam.

The U.S. Command's communiques did not report a single significant ground action between U.S. and Communist troops. South Vietnamese headquarters reported three clashes yesterday and early today in which a total of 50 Vietcong or North Vietnamese troops were killed.

'LIKE AUGUST LULL'

One American commander noted: "It's just like it was before mid-August. There was a lot of speculation then that the enemy had deescalated." Then the Communist command shattered a two-month lull with a series of sustained attacks on allied bases along the Cambodian border.

Some U.S. officers feel the enemy was hurt badly by thousands of allied troops combing the countryside and seizing huge munitions and food stockpiles in the 3rd corps region between Saigon stashed away for future offensives. Massive air strikes by B52 bombers may be another reason for the enemy's disinclination to fight.

In the 3rd corps region between Saigon and the Cambodian border, three main force North Vietnamese divisions "just seem to have disappeared into the woodwork," said one officer.

"There is no indication why or what they'll do now," he said. "It is extremely frustrating. We're just not getting many prisoners. We can't get the enemy to stick around and fight."

The bulk of the North Vietnamese 7th and 9th Divisions are reported to have pulled back to bases inside Cambodia.

Baby Girls Arrive at Osteopathic

Brothers Become Dads 3 Hours Apart

By JEAN SAILE

Two sons of Mr. and Mrs. Willie Craft St., 520 S. Paddock, are scouting the stores for small pink things.

Both former school athletes, they hadn't counted on both wives delivering fragile baby girls, and they certainly hadn't counted on them doing it the same day on Monday.

Mrs. Willie Craft Jr., 20, of 167 Featherstone, gave birth at 3 p.m. in Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital to wee Sherry Ann who weighed in at 7 pounds, 8 ounces.

Sherry Ann was 10 days behind schedule.

REPEATS PERFORMANCE

Mrs. David Craft, 22, of 250 S. Paddock, repeated the performance less than three hours later—sameplace—with tinier Deanne Evett, weighing 5 pounds, 6 ounces.

Deanne Evett was 10 days ahead of schedule.

Said Dr. Stephen Friedman who officiated both times: "They sure ruined my whole office day."

Both are first babies; both are healthy; both mothers are fine.

But the mothers chorused as of yesterday: "One baby is enough!"

Because both fathers work night shifts at Pontiac Motor Division, it will be the girls who meet the night feeding schedule. Willie Jr., however, will get off about 5 a.m. in time for the 6 o'clock feeding, his wife, Shirley, thinks.

David works the midnight-to-8 a.m. shift and his wife, Mable, notes he will effectively miss most of the night calls.

Both fathers say they are not inexperienced in dealing with the babies. The oldest and third oldest of their families, they've had some practice on 11 nieces and nephews.

Both admitted they had cigars saying "It's a Girl!" for distribution at the plant last night.

Olympic Pool Busy Tomorrow

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

Eliminations in the lanes begin with the women's 400-yard medley relay and the men's 400-yard freestyle relay events at 10 a.m.

At the same time in the diving area, the women's 3-meter springboard will start, with Pontiac's Micki King beginning her challenge.

At 5 p.m. Thursday, the second round of 3-meter dives will take place and the finals of the relay events are scheduled.

The U.S. swimming and diving team, which won 16 of the 36 gold medals in the 1964 Olympics, could win 22 or more in this Olympiad on the basis of times in national and international events.

Micki or one of the other two, Keala O'Sullivan or Sue Gossick, in women's 3-meter springboards, are among those expected to finish with gold.

No one among the swimming and diving officials dares to think the U.S. could make a sweep of this event, but the possibility exists.

According to University of Michigan diving coach Dick Kimball, who is coaching Micki here: "Micki's biggest competition will come from her own team members, although you cannot rule out Ingrid Kramer of Germany, Olympic springboard champion in 1960 and 1964 and platform champ in 1960."

In 1964, Lesley Bush of the U.S.A. won the platform and she is back to defend her crown in this event along with Barbara MacAlister Talmage and Ann Peterson.

"Mrs. Kramer has experience in her favor," said Kimball "However, she had been ill and she hasn't been in the best form, so I would say that Sue Gossick is Micki's closest challenger."

Kimball didn't ignore Miss O'Sullivan, who placed first in the trials in Los Angeles. However, he pointed out that "her inexperience is against her. The few mistakes she makes out of being nervous may hurt her, but she is certainly a challenger for a medal."

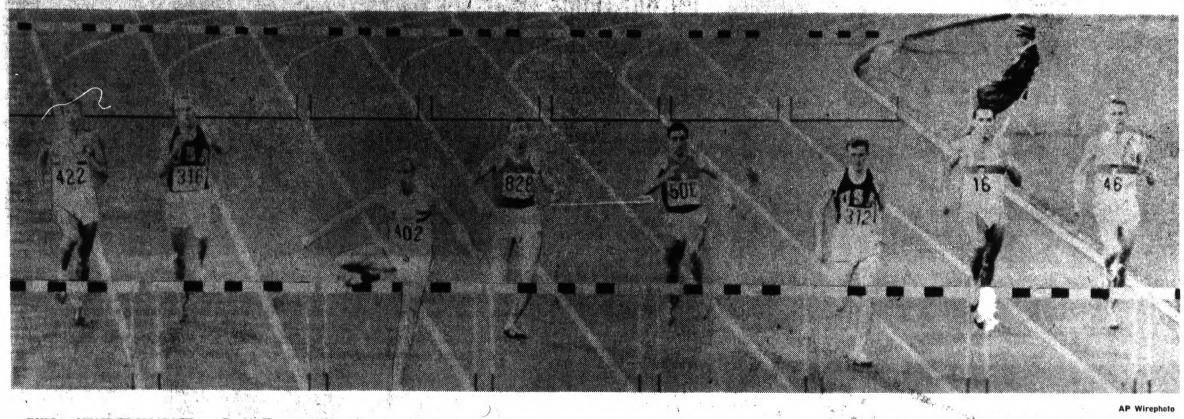

Many say Debbie Meyer is the best swimmer in the world and she tried to prove it in the Olympic trials in Los Angeles. She set world records for the 200-meter freestyle in 2:06.7, in the 400-meter in 4:24.5 and in the 800-meter in 9:10.4.

The eliminations and semifinals of the women's 100-meter and breast stroke events are scheduled for Friday. Leading the U. S. in the 100-meter free style is the youngest member of the women's team, Sue Pedersen, who is just 15 years old today.

Miss Pedersen, also of Sacramento, won the U.S. trial in the 100 in 59.0. Swimming her counterpart in the men's 100-freestyle for Friday's eliminations will be Zacchary Zorn, 21, of Long Beach who led the trials in 52.6, matching the world's record of Ken Walsh of Florida and Mark Spitz of Santa Clara.

In the breaststroke prelims, on Friday, Catie Ball, of 17, of Jacksonville heads the women's 100-yard event and Don McKenzie, 21, of Indiana University, leads the men.

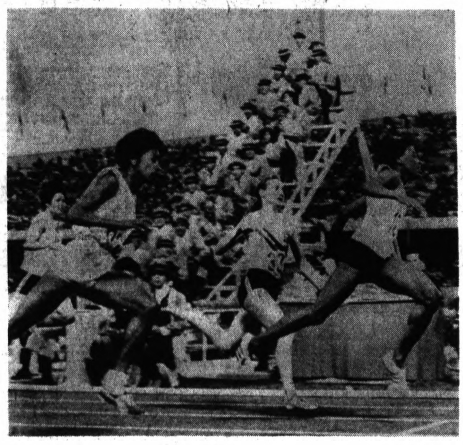

Of course the king of gold medal winning in swimming is Don Schollander who took four in Tokyo in 1964, and who could team up with Zorn, Mike Burton, Charles Hickox and Spitz and make a sweep of the gold medals.

PULLS AWAY FROM PACK — David Hemery (402) of Great Britain clears the final hurdle and heads for the tape to set a new world record for the 400-meter hurdles Tuesday in the Olympic Games at Mexico City. Hemery's :48.1 clocking broke the record held by Rex Cawley of Farmington. Second place went to Gerhard Hennige (16) of West Germany, while John Sherwood (422) of Great Britain was third. The record-setting run was made despite wet conditions on the all-weather track. Showers plagued most of yesterday's outdoor events.

Fullmer in Title Bout

MILAN, Italy (AP) — Italian matchmaker Rino Tommasi announced Tuesday he has received the signed contract by Don Fullmer of Salt Lake City, Utah, for a world middleweight title fight against Italian Nino Benvenuti in the Italian riviera resort of San Remo on Nov. 23.

In Expansion Draft

Tigers Content With Losses

BOSTON (UPI) — Who the world champion Detroit Tigers lost in the American League's expansion draft Tuesday is not the important thing. It's who they didn't lose.

They lost shortstop Ray Oyler, a slick fielder but weak batter, pitcher Jon Warden and outfielder Wayne Comer, plus three minor league players as Kansas City and Seattle stocked their clubs at $175,000 per player.

Limited to protecting only 15 players on their 40-man champion roster, the Tigers lost Oyler first when he was picked third by the Seattle Pilots. With each pick, the Tigers were able to add three more players to the protected list.

And by the end of the day, when each new club had grabbed six players each from the Tigers and the other nine AL clubs, names like Joe Sparma, Gates Brown, Tommy Matchick, Les Cain and Tim Marting were still with the Bengals.

MINOR PLAYERS

Besides Oyler, Warden and Comer, the Tigers also lost Mike Marshall and Dick Drago, pitchers with the Toledo farm club, and Bill Butler who pitched for Montgomery in the Southern League last summer.

Oyler, who batted only .135 this past season and went hitless after July 13 after losing his starting assignment to Matchick, didn't express much happiness at the move.

"It's a real privilege, though, to be chosen so high," he said. "I hate leaving the Tigers, but you know that some change in scenery might do me some good. I know I'm a better hitter than what I've shown."

Tigers general manager Jim Campbell didn't think Oyler was going to get that change in scenery, though.

WERE SURPRISED

"Frankly, this isn't the guy we thought we'd lose," said Campbell. "But the other clubs looked at it in a different way, I guess."

Warden, who went 4-1 for the Tigers by picking up early wins and then sitting out most of the season, was the first pick of Kansas City to open the second round. By that time, most of the Tigers' staff and some of the best farm prospects were on the protected list.

Butler, a 21-year-old left-hander who pitched for Montgomery and had a 5-3 mark with a 3.09 earned run average, went to Kansas City as their 11th choice. Their 16th pick was Drago, a 23-year-old righthander with the Toledo Mud Hens last season when he compiled a 15-8 mark.

Besides Oyler, Seattle picked up Comer as their 21st choice and Marshall as their 27th pick. Comer, who spent most of last seaon with Detroit after being called up in May when Al Kaline had his forearm fractured, batted .125 in 27 games. Marshall also compiled a good mark with Toledo last summer, stacking up a record of 15 wins and nine losses.

Injury to Gordie Howe Not Believed Serious

DETROIT (AP) — A practice session injury to Gordie Howe will not keep the 40-year-old veteran out of the lineup against New York Thursday, as feared earlier, the Detroit Red Wings announced Tuesday.

"Thank goodness I got off the ice," said Howe as he limped to the dressing room where ice packs were applied. "All we've done is skate, skate, skate."

"Fortunately, there wasn't any swelling," said General Manager Sid Abel. "Gordie had deep therapy treatment right away."

The injury is the second to the knee within three weeks.

Howe's injury came in a strenuous two-hour workout following the Wings' 2-1 loss to Toronto Sunday. Along with Howe, coach Bill Gadsby is faced with the addition of defenseman Gary Bergman and left wing Dean Prentice to the injury list.

Prentice suffered a charley horse in the first period against the Maple Leafs and Bergman pulled a groin muscle in the season opener at Boston Friday.

HARD SKATING

The freshman coach, who said there would be some hard skating in practice following the club's second straight loss Sunday, promised "another good blowout" for today.

In two outings this season the Wings, holding down last place in the Eastern Division, are winless. Howe has scored two of the club's three goals, while the other was notched by Frank Mahovlich.

Computer Helped Make Selections

BOSTON (AP) — The Kansas City Royals and the Seattle Pilots figure they are just about ready for entry into the 1969 American League pennant race after mixing age with youth in taking 30 players each at a cost of $175,000 per man in the expansion draft.

Everyone was in a happy mood Tuesday after AL President Joe Cronin hustled the draft through its six hours with the help of an IBM computer which provided data on players in lightning fashion.

"I'm sure we put some holes in a lot of clubs today," Charlie Metro, Kansas City's director of player procurement, announced gleefully.

"I'm completely satisfied with the draft, but I'm not completely satisfied with our personnel —and I won't be until we've won our division and the World Series," Seattle General Manager Marvin Milkes said.

"I think it was a very fair and
