City Will Consider Revised Off-Street Parking Measure

From Our Birmingham Bureau
BIRMINGHAM — Taking up where they left off last week, commissioners at tonight's City Commission meeting will pursue further the proposed ordinance which would require new and expanding businesses to provide off-street parking facilities.

Revisions under discussion in a closed session last week have been written into the ordinance. This subject, along with a reconsideration of the assessment district proposed for financing a parking lot at the southeast Merrill-Pierce street corner, will highlight discussion.

The subject of flooded basements in the Birmingham Estates subdivision and possible legal steps that can be taken by residents against a developer they hold responsible for contributing to the conditions, will be considered.

City financial participation for rewiring stop signals at the Woodward-Lincoln and Woodward-14 Mile intersections to alleviate congestion may be approved.

Also on the agenda is the matter of parking on Southfield in conjunction with a probable shopping center at the northwest corner of 14 Mile road and Southfield.

A hearing scheduled calls for the rezoning of property on the east side of Eton road between Hazel and Cole streets from single family to income bungalow residence.

Dr. William Wattenberg, professor of educational psychology at Wayne University, will speak on "Sex Education in the Home" at a meeting of the Baldwin School PTA at 8 tonight in the school auditorium.

During his talk on the idea that the home is the best place for sex education of children, Dr. Wattenberg will discuss various approaches to the subject along with common questions asked by children at different age levels and answers which will help them.

The film, "Human Beginnings" also will be shown. On loan from the University of Michigan, the film shows members of a first grade class discussing a new baby at the home of one of the class members.

Holding its regular meeting tomorrow, the Women's Assn. at Kirk in the Hills Presbyterian Church will have Dr. Stanley Harker, president of Alma College, as the guest speaker. A 12:30 p.m. luncheon will be preceded by an 11:30 a.m. business meeting, with the program to start at 1:30 p.m.

To be presented in the near future is a movie filmed this summer by 21 Birmingham High School teenagers.

Under the name of Beacon Films, the students made a satirical version of the Marlon Brando movie, "The Wild One," renaming it, "The Uncivilized One." Duncan Hudson, Hester Lewis and Doug Lewis fill the leading roles.

Another movie made by the group, "Revenge at Silver Creek," will also be shown.

Departments of the Woman's Club have scheduled meetings for tomorrow. Following a 12:30 luncheon at the home of Mrs. Lloyd Lake, Linden road, the fine arts department will see a sound film on the Caribbean area, presented by Mrs. Grace Reilly of the Birmingham Travel Service. Luncheon hostess is Mrs. Forbes Hascall.

Mrs. Milton J. Tapp will give a book review when the literature department meets for a 1 p.m. luncheon with Mrs. Perrin Shattuck at her Henrietta street home. Pearl Haines will be chairman of the day.

The American Home department will meet at the Yorkshire road residence of Mrs. Glen Colby for a 1 p.m. dessert luncheon. Included in the program is a film entitled, "Michigan the Beautiful."

A full and varied itinerary has been drawn up as part of a Nov. 11-14 weekend trip to New York City being planned by all branches of the Detroit YMCA.

COMPLETES HOSPITAL SCULPTURE — Internationally-known sculptor Marshall Fredericks of Birmingham puts the finishing touches on his sculpture for the main facade of south Oakland County's new Beaumont Hospital. "The leaves of the tree were for the healing of the nations," from Revelation 22:2, was the subject Fredericks chose for the 17-foot high sculpture, which will be in polished aluminum. The high relief figures of the family are superimposed over a decorative design of leaves depicting the healing plants. The hospital, located at Woodward and 13-Mile, is now 85 per cent complete, and is expected to be dedicated at the first of the year.

Outcast Given Home; Grows Like a Moose

wife first fed Barney with a bottle and then from a bucket.

Now Barney, six months old, is just like one of the family.

At 5 a.m. the eldest Mayfield daughter always goes out to milk the cows. Invariably the little Mayfield boy tags along and, as is the habit of small boys, leaves the kitchen door open.

Barney doesn't mind the chance. In the house he goes, eating anything he can lay a tooth to in the kitchen. The davenport is the next stop, sort of an after-breakfast nap.

Mrs. Mayfield recalls the time she missed up a big batch of pancake batter and set it on the stove only to have Barney gobble it up.

No hay for Barney. But he really goes for milk. He guzzles six gallons a day. Vegetables and fruit help fill up the empty spots, plus what he can scrounge in the kitchen.

Mayfield has a fenced-in pasture near the house and that's where he will try to keep Barney when he grows horns, just in case some trigger-happy hunter shows up in the neighborhood.

One thing worries Mayfield. Barney is a growing boy . . . oh, moose . . . and his 300 pounds just about blows out the davenport when he's resting now.

What, asks Mayfield, is going to happen when Barney adds the 700 more pounds necessary to fill out the frame of a full-grown moose?

Blames Man's Death on Natural Causes

Dr. Leon Cobb, deputy Oakland County coroner, said today no autopsy was planned into the death of a 42-year-old man found near his auto at a drive-in restaurant early today.

Responding to a call, police found Juel Peek of 327 Ferry St. lying on the ground at a drive-in at 565 S. Saginaw St.

Peek was taken to Pontiac General Hospital after firemen worked over him with an inhalator. He was pronounced dead on arrival.

Immediate cause of death was not determined, according to early police reports. But Dr. Cobb said Peek's medical history included reports of a heart condition.

Miss Michigan Denies Rumors About Romance

GRAND RAPIDS (UP) — Jan Somers, the shapely Michigan State College coed who won the 1954 Miss Michigan crown, wants everyone to know that she has no romantic interest in Julius La Rosa.

Miss Somers appeared in La Rosa's road show which visited Grand Rapids during the weekend. She sang four songs at each of two shows in the Furniture City's Civic Auditorium.

A few of the hundreds of baby-sitters on hand to see their idol—La Rosa—thought the fact that Miss Somers was in the show was an indication that a romance between the two might be blossoming.

Jan, who observed her 20th birthday last Thursday, just laughed when asked about rumors. So did La-Rosa, who left the Arthur Godfrey Show amid reports that he wanted to marry another star on the show.

"The fact that I came over here to sing in the La Rosa show doesn't mean I am thinking of a professional career," Miss Somers said. "I am planning to finish at Michigan State (where she is a junior) and my ambition still is to be a school teacher."

Ohio River Flood Waters Still Rising

Ohio towns. More than 3,000 persons were forced to evacuate.

Numerous riverside homes and some Wheeling business establishments were without central heating for a time because of flooded basements. Editions of the Wheeling Intelligencer were delayed until water could be pumped from the newspaper's press room.

As the river rose steadily, householders began moving furniture to centers designated by the Red Cross. Then they left to spend the night with relatives or friends or at shelters set up by the Red Cross and Salvation Army. Extra police details were assigned to the deserted areas.

Many residents sat out the flood in the upper floors of their homes, using rowboats for transportation and communication when necessary.

However, the main traffic arteries in and out of the Wheeling area were closed or partially flooded in spots, and the extreme section of the upper Ohio Valley was virtually isolated.

The waters also covered the lower portion of Wheeling's business district, and residents said Wheeling Downs race track on Wheeling Island "looked like a lake."

degree murder trial, the judge has ordered that no photographs, broadcasts, telecasts, or tape recordings be made in the courtroom while the court is in session. Photographs are allowed before the court convenes, and in the corridors of the criminal courts building, which also houses the jail.

Seated in the rear of Judge Edward Blythin's courtroom were Sheppard's two brothers, Dr. Richard N. Sheppard and Dr. Stephen Sheppard, with their wives. They were among the few relatives and friends of the defendant permitted to enter the court room.

Father, Son Injured in Saturday Collision

BIRMINGHAM — A two car accident Saturday at the Columbia Avenue - Villa road intersection, which police said demolished the auto of James Reding, 41, of 1924 Hayes St., sent Reding and his son Warren, 13, to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Pontiac.

Reading was treated for an injury to his left knee, and his son for right elbow injuries.

Police said the accident occurred as Reading's auto, traveling north on Columbia, collided with one being driven west on Villa by Harold W. Kane, 55, of 4812 Lakeshore Dr., Pontiac.

Both drivers told police they failed to see the other car.

$1,500 Cape Lost

BIRMINGHAM — Mrs. A. W. Prance, of Huntington Woods yesterday reported to police the loss of a mink cape, valued at $1,500 which is believed to have fallen out of a car at the Woodward-Maple avenue intersection early Sunday when the Prances stopped there to let a passenger out.

blankets and medicine could be rushed to stricken areas.

Police, special constables and army, navy and air force personnel were ordered into the devastated area to give whatever aid they could and to break up looting, which was reported on a large scale.

The hurricane, carrying 130 mile per hour winds, hit the U.S. coast early Friday near Myrtle Beach, S. C. It swirled northward, leaving a trail of death and damage in North Carolina, Virginia, the District of Columbia, Maryland, Pennsylvania, New York, Delaware, New Jersey, Connecticut and Massachusetts.

John Russell, director of the Red Cross disaster service in the southeast, said "at least 1,000 homes were totally destroyed." In the area from Pawley's Island, S.C., to Cape Lookout, N.C. 475 of 1,500 summer homes were reported wiped out.

Gov. James Byrnes of South Carolina toured the devastated areas of his state and then made a personal telephone call to President Eisenhower at the White House to ask for federal aid.

Gov. William B. Umstead of North Carolina sent an urgent telegram to the White House reporting that "damage, hardship and suffering are so severe that federal assistance is required."

Mayor of Erie Nabbed in Raid

2 High-Ranking Police Officials Also Arrested on Conspiracy Counts

ERIE, Pa. (INS) — The story of Erie's $20,000,000 a year gambling empire unfolded today following the arrest of the mayor, a police inspector, a vice squad officer and some 36 alleged kingpin gambling operators.

The prize catches in the series of swift raids carried out by State Police were Mayor Thomas Flatley, Police Inspector Jack Martin and vice squad officer Edward Camilli.

Each has given long statements to Erie County detectives in which they admit accepting hush money from the Erie gambling fraternity. They have been charged with conspiracy and additional charges are expected to be filed today.

Six months of painstaking investigation directed by District Attorney Damian McLaughlin resulted in the weekend crackdown which confounded the town of 130,000 persons.

Minutes before the arrest warrants were issued, Mayor Flatley suspended Martin and Camilli for 10 days—the limit he can give them at one time.

Informed shortly afterwards that he was to be arrested himself, the mayor's voice quivered as he said, "Me? Why, I can't believe it."

Convict Charges Missouri Prison 'Crime College'

ST. LOUIS (AP)—A young ex-convict, wearing a black mask to conceal his identity, charged yesterday the Missouri State Penitentiary is a "college of crime" where he learned to "crack a safe."

The man, called "Mr. X," made the statements on a radio-television show (KWIK, KWK-TV) while appearing with a panel of St. Louis crime officials.

His identity was kept secret to protect his family.

The ex-convict, who was still serving part of his three-year sentence when a destructive riot broke out at the prison recently, told the panel poorly prepared food, idleness and too much reliance on stool pigeons by prison authorities were factors leading to the riot.

Four men died as a result of the riot, 31 others were injured and damage was estimated at three million dollars.

Initial Work Begins on Air Force Academy

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (INS) — The vanguard of architects, engineers and military personnel charged with building the nation's new $125,000,000 Air Force Academy got down to work today in Colorado Springs.

Officials said the first project will be surveying roads and an airfield. The academy is expected to be completed in 1936. Until the academy is completed the first cadet class will be trained at Lowry Air Force Base in Denver.

Medical Society Takes No Stand on Researcher

DETROIT (UP) —The president of the Michigan Medical Society said today his organization has not taken an official stand on a Detroit researcher who claimed some of his patients would "go blind" if he was drafted into the army.

Dr. Robert Baker of Pontiac said earlier statements attributed to the Society were the personal opinions of the chairman of the society's council, Dr. William Bromme of Detroit.

"The society has taken no stand in the case," Baker said. "We do not have detailed information of the circumstances. Anything that Dr. Bromme said was not a statement of the policy of the Michigan State Medical Society."

Bromme had accused Dr. William Q. Wolfson, 35, of "exploiting" two blind Italian brothers in an effort to stay out of the army. The brothers are en route to Detroit in hopes Wolfson can help restore their eyesight.

Wolfson passed his induction deadline and he leaves tonight for Fort Sam Houston, Tex. The Italian boys are not scheduled to arrive until early next week.

Dr. Sheppard on Trial for life

Bludgeon Slaying Ends Ideal Marriage

(Editor's note: Few murder cases in recent years have attracted such national attention as that of Dr. Samuel Sheppard, accused of killing his young wife. Perhaps it is because this is a case of black or white, of complete evil or complete innocence on the doctor's part. He goes on trial for his life today. The following is the first of two background dispatches.)

By RICHARD FALES

United Press Staff Correspondent CLEVELAND (UP) — The love story of Sam and Marilyn Sheppard seemed almost too serene to be true.

High school sweethearts, a happy marriage, one child and another on the way. A pretty cottage on the Lake Erie shore. Sam, a prospering young doctor. Marilyn a devoted wife. Both very popular in suburban Bay Village.

Then, before dawn last July 4, pretty Mrs. Sheppard, 31, was bludgeoned to death with 27 savage blows from a heavy instrument as she lay in bed.

Starting today her husband goes on trial for her murder. The state charges he had been philandering and carried out a plan to do away with his pregnant wife.

This is what Samuel Sheppard has said:

"I am not guilty of the murder of my wife, Marilyn. I have told the police all I know. I have done this freely and willingly because I am more interested in the capture of my wife's murderer than any other persons on this earth. I loved my wife; we rejoiced that we were to have a second child, all the scandal and gossip to the contrary."

Sheppard told police he was awakened on the living room couch to hear his wife's screams from the bedroom. He ran up the stairs but was "clobbered" by a bushy-haired man" as he reached the top. He said he regained consciousness on the beach outside their home.

Police found no evidence of an intruder nor a motive for an outsider committing the crime.

The last persons beside Sheppard to see Marilyn alive were Mr. and Mrs. Don Ahern, who live two houses away. The Aherns, with their two children, were entertained at dinner, the night of July 3 by the Sheppards. Also there was "Chip," the six-year-old Sheppard son.

After dinner the youngsters were put to bed. It was cool and windy and the grownups moved inside from the screened porch. The women washed the dishes. The men listened to the ball game between the Chicago White Sox and the Cleveland Indians. Cleveland won, 5-4, in 15 innings.

Dr. Sheppard had spent two futile hours at the hospital during the day trying to save a six-year-old boy who had been hit by a truck. He observed that he was tired and lay down on a couch, alternately dozing and contributing snatches to the conversation.

What happened then a jury must decide.

At 5:55 a.m., the mayor of Bay Village, Spencer Houk, was awakened by a phone call. It was his friend, Sam Sheppard.

"My God, Spen," he shouted. "Come over quick! Something's happened to Marilyn."

Houk and his wife drove to Sheppard's home. They found the doctor slumped in a living room chair, shirtless and bruised. Upstairs, Mrs. Houk found Marilyn Sheppard murdered. Blood splattered the bed, the floor and the walls.

A local doctor examined Sheppard and pronounced he had suffered blows which indicated injury to the brain or spinal cord.

Police found the doctor's overturned medical bag and theorized the murder might be the work of a drug addict looking for narcotics. When it was learned some jewelry was missing, the suspicion swung to burglary, but the relatively worthless jewelry was found in some high grass near the back yard and no drugs had been stolen.

Two Cleveland detectives were called into the case the morning of the murder. One of them, after two hours, took Bay Village Police Chief John Easton aside and pointed.

"He's your man," the detective said.

He was pointing at Sam Sheppard.

But it was 26 days before Sheppard was arrested and 18 more before he was indicted for his wife's murder.

Mexico Schools Drop Religion

Education Chief Says Faith Instruction Is Up to Homes

By LAURANCE F. STUNTZ

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The Mexican government took another short step away from the left this week in dealing with the public schools.

The education minister said Mexico's policy is "simply to exclude religious education from the schools, turning it over to the home." Minister Angel Ceniceros made his statement before the National Convention of Normal School Teachers.

This is a long way from the practice some 15 years ago of requiring school teachers to certify they were not members of the Roman Catholic Church. The retirement from position has been made in a series of short steps. Ceniceros' statement is the latest in this series.

Mexico's constitution provides that education must be "socialistic, aimed at excluding all religious doctrine and combatting fanaticism and prejudice." It adds that the purpose of education is to "create in youth a rational and exact concept of the universe and social life."

Ceniceros said that under his regime "the state abstains from deciding whether religious fanaticism or religion itself are incompatible with scientific knowledge."

A few days later, at the closing session of the convention, he repeated and expanded the modified government policy.

"The schools of Mexico," he said, "in imparting their teaching, will respect the thinking and the feeling of the students and their families. Because the living reality which should be engraved on the front of every school can be summed up in a single word: Tolerance."

The slight modification of school policy was aimed at quieting parent-teacher groups which object to the whole form of the constitutional school provision. They want the way opened for religion to be taught in private schools and elimination of the ban on schools supported by religious groups.

U. S. Incomes Steady

Contrary to some political critics, there is quite a lot of good news on our national economic front.

This is especially true of personal incomes, according to official figures released by the Department of Commerce. These show a surprising stability with the August report indicating an annual rate of $285 billion. That rate not only was unchanged from July but is only slightly below the average rate for the last 18 months.

Another strong factor is the generally high level of personal savings. These showed increases for the last half of 1953 and the first quarter of 1954 despite a decline of $15 billion in gross national product. Actually income after taxes has increased slightly.

One reason for all this is that Federal taxes have been cut. Also corporate profits have increased moderately since the low point reached at the end of 1953. There even has been a modest improvement in farm income in the last few months.

Other helpful factors include the increased funds devoted to construction, more spending by State and local governments and lower interest rates. Last, but not least, is the greater Federal spending ordered for the purpose of exerting a stabilizing influence.

Coffee Trade Under Fire

One Government proceeding that will be watched closely by American housewives is the Federal Trade Commission's action against the New York Coffee and Sugar Exchange.

For many months the country's home managers were told time after time that the high price of coffee was the result of increased world demand and a crop damaging frost in Brazil. Three American housewives even went there, expense free, and were shown the frost damaged trees.

After several months of investigation, however, the Federal Trade Commission blasted that argument. Instead of crop damage and heavier demand, FTC says the inflation of coffee prices resulted from "unreasonable restrictions" in the market "to limit competition in interstate and foreign commerce."

Named in FTC's complaint besides the exchange, are four of its officers, eight of its member firms and the New York Coffee and Sugar Clearing Association Inc.

If these charges are proved, the commission could require the exchange to cease the practices which some sources estimate have cost coffee consumers nearly $200,000,000. Certainly the Nation's families want to feel they are paying no more than a fair price for this beverage.

Unlimited Flight

That dream of the ancient—unlimited flight—may come much sooner than most of us now think.

Some scientists believe it will be possible in atomic powered planes within five to 10 years. Their belief, according to the Wall Street Journal, is based on the reported solution of what heretofore has been the greatest obstacle to atomic flight, excessive weight of the reactor.

This weight results from the necessity of heavy shielding without which radiation from the fuel would destroy the crew. Less than 18 months ago the head of a leading aircraft firm canceled his company's research work, saying that a nuclear plane would hardly get off the ground.

Within the past year scientists-engineers have worked out secret reactor designs they are sure will solve the weight problem. Already it is said work has been started on the first reactor and certain groups in the Pentagon are reported fighting for the signal to start construction of the first atomic powered aircraft.

Malan's Retirement

Announcement by South Africa's Prime Minister MALAN that he will retire November 30 has come as a complete surprise.

Dr. MALAN, now 80, and a former clergyman and journalist, is known chiefly in this country as an arch apostle of white supremacy and segregation. In London at least three reasons have been suggested for the Nationalist Party leader's decision to retire.

One is reported differences with the Nationalists' strong man, JOHANNES G. STRYDOM, who wants more drastic action to achieve the party's racist aims. Like Dr. MALAN, he wants establishment of South Africa as a republic outside the British Commonwealth. Other reasons are the Prime Minister's age, his failing health and the ill health of his wife who has been his chief political adviser.

We in America could cheer the impending retirement of Dr. MALAN who was pro-Nazi during World War II, if it promised moderation of his party's policy. Unfortunately, however, everything points in the opposite direction.

At present his Nationalist Party holds majorities in both Houses of Parliament, 94 of the 159 seats in the House of Assembly and 29 of the 48 in the Senate. The next election is scheduled for 1958.

Sleep: A condition brought on by many radio and television programs.

A four-ton bull, done in steel and plastic, has been mounted on the top of a 90-foot pylon at the headquarters of the American Hereford Assn.

at Kansas City. It is quite coincidental that the event took place about the time of the arrival of the Hereford sire for which the Woody Hereford Ranch of that area paid the highest price in history, $85,500, at the Hi-Point Farms dispersal sale near Romeo on Oct. 7, when the great herd of Edward F. Fisher, consisting of 600 Herefords, was sold.

When Notre Dame defeated Michigan State, 20-19, Saturday 24th more entries were eliminated in the MAT football contest. They are the 233 who picked Michigan State to win and the 15 who predicted a tie game. The 271 who picked Notre Dame to win carry over until the next game in the contest which takes place Friday between Detroit and Tulsa. They divide their predictions: Detroit, 122; Tulsa, 149; tie game, 9.

Celebrating his eightieth birthday and fifty-ninth wedding anniversary at the same time is Stuart H. Perry, publisher of the Adrian Telegram. He got his start in the newspaper business on the Pontiac Press over 50 years ago.

That it again is a buyer's market finds proof in the fact that a man was stricken with a heart attack the other day after listening to the line of a salesman for new autos, in an Oakland County salesroom.

Figures just released by state Auditor General John B. Martin show that in 1953 the per capita tax for county government paid by Oakland County taxpayers was $15, the same rate as in Wayne. The rate with our other neighbors was: Macomb, $11; Genesee, $11; Livingston, $12; Washtenaw, $10; and Lapeer, $18, the latter being the highest in this area. Top "honors" went to Iron County, $22.

Voice of the People

'A Pontiac Press Enthusiast' Grateful to Dr. Crane; Enjoys Press Features

(Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.)

As an enthusiastic reader of your fine paper, I'd like to express my appreciation for a few of the fine features you offer your readers.

I am always a little hurt when I learn that some people feel that Dr. Crane's column is not worthy of the space it occupies.

When I first moved to this community three years ago, I was convalescing from a serious illness. Dr. Crane's advice opened new avenues of self-examination and definitely re-established a tottering marriage on the firm rock of love and understanding.

I can never thank him enough for this and although I differ with some of his ideas, I do hope that you will continue to make his counsel available for years to come.

I also deeply appreciate the helpful thought-provoking articles that Muriel Lawrence writes. Anne Heywood is another favorite of mine and I also enjoy Mary Margaret McBride's homey philosophies and back-fence musings. I am sure that Elizabeth Woodward is a real help to many a confused young person. I even look forward to meeting "Petunia" each day and to me Pontiac Press comics are "tops" in that field. The Saturday evening cartoons are inspirational scrapbook material. I've often wished that "Lenten Guideposts" could be a daily feature—"Guideposts to Real Living" or something to that effect.

Spirit of Little Ones Will Protect Pontiac

About two weeks ago, while waiting for a bus, I remarked to a lady, "Did you see or hear the plane over your home last night?" "Yes," was the reply. I knew then that I had not dreamed of the noise of the B-36 that came over my own residence. After boarding the bus, I asked the lady's little boy, "Did you hear it?" "Yes," he said, "What did you do?" "I asked, 'I fell out on the floor!'" "Why?" "I want to get up and fight!"

"Where was your gun?" "I did not have it with me." "Remember, Jesus, always have the gun." As he looked into my eyes he said, "I will remember."

The little boy is Mexican raised Jesse Alaniz, American born native of Pontiac.

As long as this city of Pontiac survives, it will be done by the spirit and will of those little ones, like the boy, Jesse.

THOUGHTS FOR TODAY

Did I fear a great multitude, or did the contempt of families terrify me, that I kept silence, and went not out of the door?

Good men have fewest fears. He has but one great fear who fears to do wrong; he has a thousand who has over come it.

Trading Playing Cards Gives Children Valuable Training for Business World

Danny's interesting experiences are educational. "Business training is very valuable for children. Yet we ignore such vital education almost entirely in our school curriculum and even the Boy and Girl Scouts overlook it to a large degree. So encourage children to buy and sell."

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE
Case M-342: When Danny, our fourth child, was 8½, he and David (7½) rushed into the house in quest of their mother.

"Mamma, we want to buy a box of cards," he began, "but the man at the store says they cost 50 cents."

"Do you think it would be worth it?"

Danny was already so well trained in money matters that he didn't want to be ridiculed for paying more than an object was worth.

"What kind of cards do you mean?" Mrs. Crane asked. "Oh, you know," Danny replied. "The kind people play cards with."

"Well, what do you want with playing cards?" she persisted. "We use them for trading cards. See what we have already," and he pulled out half a deck from his pocket and David had a similar quantity.

After Danny had showed me his full supply, then David wanted me to view and admire his collection, too. He was especially intrigued with a ship scene on the back of one of his cards. "Billy traded me that one. And oh, was he a sucker! Why, he took one of mine that I didn't want, anyway. He should have asked me for at least two cards, for such a pretty one as this ship, don't you think?"

The boys thus were gaining some valuable training in business dealings without having to resort to money. For they simply bartered their cards, usually one for one, unless it was so good they had to pay a premium.

Whenever the children could obtain an old deck, or even a few cards from a discarded deck, they were gleeful. For next day at school they would begin trading. Some of the cards changed hands several times, in repeated trades. And every night I had to sit and view all the new additions to their supply.

And I overheard many glowing sales talks when they would have classmates at our house from whom they wished to obtain some specially prized card.

They would haggle and coax and argue like horse traders of a generation ago. But they were learning business strategy.

And that is a valuable training we don't give to our modern children in an adequate manner, even in the schools or in Boy Scouting.

(Copyright, Hopkins Syndicate Inc.)

Then they showed their mother the beautiful designs on the backs of the different cards, for each one had come from a different deck.

Later, Danny and David demonstrated them all to me. Both boys then had almost 100 cards apiece, and 10-year-old Judy had almost 200.

It was quite a revelation to me, for I had never realized how many different designs are to be found on the backs of ordinary playing cards.

Our children weren't concerned with the face of the card. They didn't care if it was an "8" or "10" or jack or queen.

No, their concern was over the picture on the back. And whenever a classmate would come to school with some cards with a new design, then the trading started.

Danny's pile contained a few duplicates and I commented about this fact.

"Oh, I'll trade them to some of the other kids tomorrow," he casually replied.

When I especially praised the pictures on the backs of some of the cards, including one that showed an Indian chief in full regalia, Danny added:

"I got that one from Janet. Was she a sucker, though! Why, she traded it to me for one that had just a bird on it."

After Danny had showed me his full supply, then David wanted me to view and admire his collection, too. He was especially intrigued with a ship scene on the back of one of his cards.

"Billy traded me that one. And oh, was he a sucker! Why, he took one of mine that I didn't want, anyway. He should have asked me for at least two cards, for such a pretty one as this ship, don't you think?"

The boys thus were gaining some valuable training in business dealings without having to resort to money. For they simply bartered their cards, usually one for one, unless it was so good they had to pay a premium.

David Lawrence Says:

Boomerang Smear Helps Stir Voters' Indifference

WASHINGTON — "O that mine enemy would only attack me!" This has been the plaintive soliloquy of many a candidate in a campaign characterized by apathy and indifference on the part of the voters.

That's what Vice President Nixon must have meant when he said that the nasty attack of Clifford Case, Republican nominee for United States senator from New Jersey, would be beneficial rather than detrimental.

For in a campaign where the voters for the most part are passive it often takes something sensational to arouse them. Mr. Case now will attract far more attention on the radio and television and get a wider hearing for his views on the stump than he otherwise would have had. It's a plus for him because the attack itself has boomeranged.

The publication of a newspaper story that Mr. Case has a sister who was allegedly a Communist is, to be sure, as he says, "gutter politics." It is stated now that mistaken identity is involved and that the candidate's sister is not the person referred to by the ex-communist quoted.

But even if it were true, it was an improper and irrelevant charge. For, no matter what the members of a candidate's family may do or say, the electorate is asked to pass judgement only on the qualifications of the candidate and not his kinkles.

The tendency of some people to attack the man rather than to discuss the issues is all too prevalent in America. Indignation is properly being visited on those who attempted to smear Mr. Case but, unfortunately as one looks back at the record, many of the same people who are supporting Mr. Case's candidacy were not so charitably inclined when another man in public life was charged with "guilt by innuendo."

Thus a Senate subcommittee in 1952 which was at first reluctant to allow itself to become the vehicle of a smear against Sen. McCarthy of Wisconsin was prodded again and again by certain "left wing" organizations until the subcommittee did file a report, making no recommendations of its own, but reciting a lot of innuendoes without a single specific charge of law violation.

There were no cries of "gutter politics" then from the "left wingers," but instead they launched severe criticisms against Sen. McCarthy when upon being refused the right of cross-examination, he declined to testify unless specifically ordered by subpoena.

To this day not a single charge of law violation has been leveled against Sen. McCarthy about his income taxes.

The Truman Administration made a minute examination of the senator's income-tax returns for all the years involved in the controversy. The Department of Justice, since the 1953 committee reported, has stated publicly it found no evidence of law violation on any other matter either.

Surely it is the business of the Internal Revenue Bureau to determine what funds are personal income and hence subject to tax and what funds are received by a senator for public purposes. Nor is anyone in public life required to disclose his personal finances to anyone else. On Dec. 1, 1952, this correspondent wrote:

"Adlai Stevenson admitted publicly last September that, apart from his fund when running for governor, used for state officials, he had two special funds, namely in the years 1950 and 1951—years when he was not a candidate himself."

"He never has disclosed the names of the contributors or the amounts contributed to these two funds, which he calls 'political funds,' or how they were expended for the years 1950 and 1951. Nor is there any legal reason why he should have done so."

There are still some readers who, I hope, do not wish I were dead, but even these scarcely regard my column as a dispensary of sweetness and light.

Now that I'd as lief spend on the bowling green all the time it takes to conduct this racket I'll confess there is enough Irish in me — mother was born on the ship or hours after her parents arrived in America — God Bless America! — to make me downright sentimental, so much so, in fact, that I have to put on techy make-up to cover the tears, sighs and sobs that might otherwise unfit me for the job.

Let's have another look at boys, ordinary boys. Probably you have heard do-gooders say there are no bad boys, but just delinquent guardians — pastors, teachers, parents, big brothers or sisters, uncles, aunts, grand-parents.

That may be true in many instances, yet it would be hard to conceive of better guardians than mine were.

Fortunately I was born and

"None of these special funds—Stevenson's or Nixon's — can be considered improper or unethical as long as a system of individual contributions is the accepted practice in American politics."

"To accuse without specific proof anyone in public office of being improperly influenced 'to render special favors as a consequence of contributions of money or anything of value, whether made during or after a campaign, is to libel both the contributor and the recipient, and the courts have been known to award damages when false charges are made."

Sen. McCarthy, like Gov. Stevenson, says he doesn't want to list publicly the people who contributed money to his cause—the fight against communism — presumably because the contributors would be subjected to unfair attacks and reprisals.

But the Internal Revenue Bureau necessarily knows who they are and what the senator did with the money. It must know in order to determine whether any of it was personal income to the senator or gifts for public activities.

Yet this correspondent receives letters every now and then from persons who take it for granted that Sen. McCarthy has done something fraudulent about his income taxes or contributions or violated some federal law.

It takes a lot of personal funds to pay lawyers to carry on suits for libel or slander, and Sen. McCarthy took a television audience that he had gone "broke" fighting communism. That's why those who are so quick to denounce — and rightly so—the maligners of Clifford Case might well consider whether they have neglected to be equally fair to the senator from Wisconsin.

Children, what do we learn from the McCarthy-Stevens embrowling? Names make news and calling 'em does too.

This television serial was a soap opera with plenty of lather.

The final curtain will drop November 8th when the committee reports progress in all directions.

That's because both the Democrats and Republicans are grandparents of this baby on the doorstep. They don't want the decision to affect the voting on November second.

That's the way politicians operate. The motorcycle cop hiding behind a billboard is not endorsing the product.

Le'affaire gum - beaters has been politics from the first chirp in the incubator. It has been kicked around like a paper plate at a picnic. It started when an investigator looked through a keyhole and saw another eye.

Like all official findings you cannot tell the depth of the well by the length of the pumphandle. In the final analysis you are just starting.

Boys Lucky If They Live Outside City --- Misbehavior Doesn't Go on Record

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

There are still some readers who, I hope, do not wish I were dead, but even these scarcely regard my column as a dispensary of sweetness and light.

Now that I'd as lief spend on the bowling green all the time it takes to conduct this racket I'll confess there is enough Irish in me — mother was born on the ship or hours after her parents arrived in America — God Bless America! — to make me downright sentimental, so much so, in fact, that I have to put on techy make-up to cover the tears, sighs and sobs that might otherwise unfit me for the job.

Let's have another look at boys, ordinary boys. Probably you have heard do-gooders say there are no bad boys, but just delinquent guardians — pastors, teachers, parents, big brothers or sisters, uncles, aunts, grand-parents.

That may be true in many instances, yet it would be hard to conceive of better guardians than mine were.

Fortunately I was born and raised in a village and at the time of my first arrest one of the gang happened to be the nephew of the police chief. The next time I got into trouble we were atop the firehouse at the Butt End, ringing a false alarm on the triangle, when Officer Mulligan, complete with dark lantern and bulldog, materialized below.

Hiding behind the chimney, we wondered fearfully whether our hostage, the police chief's nephew, would get us off with a lecture this time. But luck was with us. The trap door to the roof was not wide enough for the police force.

So he announced he would wait with his dog until we got cold or hungry enough to come down. Not over five feet away another roof with trap door offered escape if we were willing to jump across in the dark. When the police force is on your trail—we jumped, got to the ground and were safely home and in bed long before Officer Mulligan gave up his vigil.

When such things happen in a city where the cops don't know or care who your guardian may be, the very least they'll do is to record your arrest and the nature of your misdemeanor where it will come up against you perhaps months or years later when you apply for a job or an appointment.

This is one of many good reasons why boys are lucky if they are born and brought up in a village, and not in a city.

The public officials and the police in villages and small towns, knowing a boy's guardians or knowing their reputation, are generally as reluctant to stigmatize their neighbors' children as they would be to brand their own juvenile delinquents.

We kids enjoyed twitting the chief's nephew with his "pull," but just the same we knew the chief was a wise and kindly man, and I wish there were many more of his tribe in police work today. I know the police in some communities handle juvenile misbehavior with admirable patience and tact.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long, pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. Brady if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is enclosed, etc.

Darryl Zanuck Successful in Films but Once He Made a Terrible Flop

By EDDIE CANTOR

Recently my friend, Ed Sullivan, did the life of Darryl F. Zanuck on "Toast of the Town." Zanuck's life can be summed up in one line: he lives life to the brim, then pours on some more. He works sixteen hours a day, during which time he smokes twenty-eight-inch cigars. He enjoys every hour and every puff.

I remember when he was getting a hundred and fifty dollars a week writing scenarios for a star who couldn't talk back—Rin Tin Tin. Little did he think, then, that his production of "The Robe" would gross something like twenty millions of dollars.

He's different from many of the Hollywood producers—hates "yes-men." I was around the day he squelched one of them. "Good Lord," Zanuck said, "don't say yes until I'm through talking."

He's a born gambler. It was Darryl who took a chance on the first talking picture, the unforgettable Al Jolson in "The Jazz Singer." It was the same guy who was responsible for the first big gangster picture, "Public Enemy."

I once made a musical film for him, and I remember driving my car all around the lot trying to find an exit. I spied Zanuck and yelled to him, "Hey, how do I get off this lot?" He told me, "Make one bad picture." I did. I have never been on the lot since.

Although he has had many successes, he is also responsible for one of the biggest flops—an epic called, "Noah's Ark."

When Arthur Caesar, a writer and a guy who is afraid of no one, met Zanuck for the first time, he said, "So you're Darryl F. Zanuck. Do me a favor—turn around." Zanuck did and he felt the swiftest kick in the pants he ever got. All Caesar said was, "That's for 'Noah's Ark.'" (Copyright 1954)

Red Cross Activities Study Course Topic

The history and activities of the American Red Cross will be described in a six-week course at the Oakland County Chapter house, 118 Franklin Blvd., Thursday.

Designed to inform members of the Pontiac-area CIO locals' community service committees and the general public of the services

Nike Test Slated in Arctic Cold

U.S., Canada Planning to Tryout Antiaircraft Weapon This Winter

WASHINGTON (U)—The United States and Canada, working together with the American weapon, are going to determine how well the Nike guided missile system for antiaircraft defense works in the bitter cold of the Arctic.

The powerful, faster-than-sound Nike has been tested so far only in Texas.

Washington and Ottawa announced last night that cold weather trials of the missile and its intricate guidance system will be made during January and February at Ft. Churchill, a post on the west coast of Hudson Bay where the thermometer sometimes drops to 50 degrees below zero.

Canadian crews, who trained the past summer at Ft. Bliss, Tex., will operate the Nike at the Canadian site with U.S. Army technicians participating.

The Army boasts the Nike can cope with any type plane now flying. But the weapon has yet to be tried out in the subzero temperatures and penetrating wind chill of the Far North to show if changes are needed for Nike systems installed near northern American or Canadian cities.

The Army also wants to know how efficiently Nike battery crews can operate the complex controls and electronic guidance levers and buttons of the Nike battery when metal is freezing cold and fingers are sheathed in mittens.

In talking to reporters about the formal announcement of the Nike test, Pentagon research and development officials also disclosed that another new weapon of the atomic age—the 280 mm cannon—had been tested last winter at Ft. Churchill. The cannon can fire atomic shells, but in the Churchill tests used only conventional explosive ammunition, they said.

Ft. Churchill contains an artillery range and a vast maneuver area which have been used extensively during recent years by joint Canadian-American units for arctic training and testing of equipment.

Deputies Foil Attempted Destruction of Evidence

DARLINGTON, S. C. (U)—When deputies Sam Chapman and Ed Bryant went to serve a bad check warrant and drove into the man's yard they heard from inside the house the sound of jars being broken.

The man's effort to destroy bootlegging evidence was not successful. The deputies charged him with possessing illegal liquor.

Philippines Ban Film

MANILA (AP) — The Philippine army has banned showing of the Hollywood film "Viva Zapata," starring Marlon Brando, in Cebu City and other provincial towns on grounds it tends to endanger the security of the state.

Hall Rips Dem Foreign Policy

GOP Chairman Cites Korean Peace in Reply to Truman's Charges

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Leonard W. Hall, the Republican national chairman, said yesterday the "vast difference" in the old and new foreign policies could be summed up in these words:

"The Truman-Atcheson foreign policy got us into war; the Eisenhower-Dulles foreign policy got us out of war."

Hall, commenting on a speech by Harry Truman in Kansas City Saturday night, said the former President's "memory is certainly short."

Truman said "evershifting" diplomacy jeopardizing "our own security and peace of the world" had replaced a "surefooted bipartisan foreign policy" under the Democrats.

"Let us help restore this great government to the same eminence it occupied in world affairs prior to this Republican administration," the former President declared.

Hall told a Missouri Republican rally:

"While Mr. Truman was in charge of our foreign policy, 600 million free people were put behind the Iron Curtain."

He said when U. S. troops were ordered out of Korea before the Korean War started, it was "like giving a gift edge invitation to Stalin."

He said that in contrast when Red China threatened recently to invade Formosa, President Eisenhower announced "if they intend to take Formosa they'll have to climb over the American 7th Fleet."

Skipper's Route May Open Vast Mineral Empire

VICTORIA, B. C. (AP) — The Northwest Passage, which for centuries has stirred the imaginations of mariners and landlubbers alike, may one day be the key to open a vast mineral empire in Canada's northland.

Capt. Owen Robertson, skipper of the Canadian ship Labrador, latest ship to navigate the passage, says the route his 6,500-ton vessel charted would be essential to bring out the North's great iron, copper, oil and coal resources. He explains:

"I know those resources exist because I have seen them with my own eyes. Someday when we get atomic power in the North we will use those resources to become one of the great creditor nations of the world."

Robertson piloted the arctic patrol ship 10,000 miles from Halifax to nearby Esquimalt, B.C.

Police Seek Reason for Doctor's Suicide

PORT HURON (INS) — Port Huron police sought to learn today why Dr. Douglas H. Kipphut, 36, a well known Berkey osteopath, committed suicide by drowning yesterday in Lake Huron.

Police said Dr. Kipphut telephoned a friend, John Freeman, of Berkey, telling him he would find his wallet and car keys in the glove compartment of his car.

Contacted by Freeman, police arrived at the scene to see Dr. Kipphut wading about 50 yards from shore. He ignored the shouts of police and dived under the waves.

His body washed ashore three hours later.

In change there is opportunity

Young people today face far greater competition for good jobs and advancement than ever before

Now more of our young people can get more education!

For every 100 young people graduating from high schools and trade schools in 1930, there are 180 today. For every 100 graduating from college, there are 350 today. And the numbers are increasing!

Young men and women have many more opportunities for education today. More scholarships are available. More students are working part-time to help pay the cost. And parents have higher incomes.

Millions are making sure the children will have the education they need, whether or not the father lives to see them through.

One of the ways they do this is through life insurance. Already thousands of young people have been helped through school by life insurance plans.

Today, 90 million people own life insurance. They buy it to guarantee a financial backlog for the family if the father were to die. And they are using life insurance in many other ways—for instance, to cover the mortgage on their home or to build an adequate retirement program. More than half of all life insurance benefits are now paid to the policyholders themselves.

Thus, to millions of families, life insurance is bringing greater opportunity, as well as greater security. It is America's most popular form of thrift.

Dulles to Attend Talks in Europe

Secretary Will Fly to Paris Tomorrow for 3 Vital Defense Confs

WASHINGTON (UP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles flies to Paris Tuesday for three crucial conferences that may make or break the West's historic new plan for rearming Germany.

The fast-travelling secretary will meet with British, French and German leaders Wednesday to sign a series of agreements formally ending the big three's nine-year occupation of West Germany.

On Thursday, he will set in on a meeting of the Brussels Pact nations while they consider the admission of Germany and Italy and other measures clearing the way for Germany's rearmament.

Finally, Dulles will meet on Friday with representatives of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization to formally invite Germany to become a member and to broaden the powers of the Supreme Allied Commander in line with the German rearmament plan.

Dulles returned to the capital late Sunday from a week's rest at his vacation retreat on Duck Island in Lake Ontario.

He immediately plunged into conferences today with President Eisenhower, Assistant Secretary of State Walter Robertson, and his top advisers on European affairs.

American officials generally are optimistic about the outlook for the Paris talks. They said they expect the meetings will overcome many of the obstacles that have blocked Germany's admission to the European defense system.

Youth Hospitalized After Car Overturns

Walter W. Kepler, 16, of 1800 Ormond Rd., Milford, suffered a possible skull fracture and other head injuries this morning when his car went out of control on Milford road and overturned into the ditch.

Kepler, whose head went through the windshield, was taken to Pontiac General Hospital after the 9 a.m. accident, which occurred a half mile north of Milford village limits. A companion, Richard Barefoot, 19, of Ebersburg, Pa., was treated for hand and face cuts and released.

The victim said he was leaning over trying to roll up a window when he lost control of the car, according to sheriff's deputy Ross Miller.

Two Injured in 3-Car Crash in Waterford

A Pontiac Township motorist and her passenger suffered minor injuries Saturday when their auto struck the rear of another car and pushed it into a third at Telegraph and Pontiac Lake Rds., according to Waterford Township Police.

Treated at Pontiac General Hospital for cuts and bruises were Miss Betty Warren, 18, of 2292 Snellbrook Rd., and her passenger, Miss Beverly Jacobs, 14, of 3375 E. Walton Blvd.

Miss Warren's car struck the rear of an auto driven by Charles C. Case, 68, of 15718 Northlawn, Detroit, as he waited behind another car which was turning left onto Pontiac Lake road. The third car was operated by J. L. Bigelow, 19, of 1846 Berchcraft Rd.

School Begins All-Day Classes

Clarkston Grade Pupils Start Full Sessions in Building Annex

CLARKSTON—Full day sessions are scheduled to start today for the pupils of Clarkston elementary school. The new addition to the building has been completed to the point where classroom sessions are feasible, Leslie Greene, superintendent of schools here, announced. School hours in the elementary grades will be from 8:45 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. and from 12:30 p.m. to 2:45 p.m.

Hot lunch program will begin today also. School policy will be the same as last year, tickets for lunch and milk will be sold on a weekly basis and these tickets are good for any five days.

Andersonville Elementary school is scheduled to be completed by Oct. 25 and the Sashabaw Elementary by Nov. 1.

Special meeting of the board of education will be held in the high school gymnasium at 8 p.m. Tuesday for the purpose of obtaining authority to sell or otherwise dispose of the board's discretion the Clarkston Station School, and Bailey Lake School.

$3,500 Fire Strikes Home on Highland

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP—Fire struck the home of Ernest Stoltzberg, 6609 Highland Rd., at 6:45 last night, causing an estimated $3,500 damage to the house and contents.

No one was injured in the blaze, and damage was caused mostly by smoke, according to assistant fire chief Edward Smith.

Equipment from Stations 1, 2 and 3 were used by the 15 volunteer firemen who extinguished the blaze.

Clarkston WSCS Plans Harvest Dinner Tuesday

CLARKSTON—Annual Harvest dinner sponsored by the WSCS of First Methodist Church will be held Tuesday night in the Church. Serving will begin at 5:30 p.m. and will continue until 7:30 p.m. The public is invited to attend.

Cost of Alaska, purchased from Russia by the United States in 1867, was at the rate of two cents per acre.

Safety Scheduled for Discussion by PTA Council

A program on safety is scheduled for the October meeting of the Oakland County Council PTA at 8 p.m. Tuesday at the Davisburg Elementary School.

Clyde Haskill of the Pontiac Chamber of Commerce will show films with the safety program.

Deputies Rescue Trapped Child

Girl Locked in Cabinet for 15 Minutes by Playmates

A four-year-old Waterford Township girl, locked in a food storage cabinet for about 15 minutes Sunday, was released unharmed by two Oakland County sheriff's deputies who forced the door.

The girl, Leslie Joanne Chambers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Chambers, 5310 Cooley Lake Rd., was treated for shock and fright at Pontiac General Hospital.

Deputies Robert Metro and Robert Kimmings said the girl crawled into the cabinet and one of her six brothers and sisters slammed the door, locking her in.

Baby sitter, Sandra Rumph, 11, of 5384 Lake Vista Dr., Waterford Township, called deputies when she was unable to open the door.

According to the deputies, the girl was not in danger of suffocation because the door fitted loosely.

Kindergarten Mothers Plan Waffle Breakfast

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP—A waffle breakfast is being sponsored by the kindergarten home-room mothers of the Jayno Adams School next Tuesday at the home of Mrs. John Mihalek, 3480 Clintonville Rd., at the corner of Lake Angelus road.

Proceeds will be used for kindergarten room equipment.

Know Your Candidates

Van Dusen, Lambros Run on Third District Ballot

RICHARD C. VAN DUSEN

This is another in a series of articles dealing with political candidates in Oakland County. Republican incumbent legislator, Richard C. Van Dusen is opposed by Democrat William G. Lambros to represent the third Oakland District in the State Legislature. Short biographies of the two men and their statements follow:

Richard C. Van Dusen
Richard C. Van Dusen, 1722 Pine St., Birmingham, is the Republican incumbent candidate for state representative from the third district.

Van Dusen, 28, is a graduate of University of Minnesota and received an LL.B. degree from Harvard Law School.

During World War II he served as an ensign in the U. S. Navy and is now a lieutenant (jg) in the naval reserve.

He has served as chairman of the Birmingham Republican Committee; chairman of the Third District's Oakland County Republican Organization Committee; adviser of St. Andrew Guild, Christ Church Cranbrook and assistant secretary of the Detroit Institute for Economic Education.

His statement:
"The basic function of government is service to the citizens who create it and who pay for it. As a state representative, it is my job to see that the people of Michigan get maximum government service at minimum cost."

"I think the individual taxpayer gets the most for his money when he spends it himself, and gets progressively less value per dollar as the unit of government which spends the money becomes bigger and more remote."

"Therefore, I try to judge legislation by asking: 'Is the objective of this law something which government should undertake, or is it something which every man should do for himself? If it is a government problem, what is the smallest unit of government which can handle it efficiently?'"

"In terms of specific problems, Michigan must take immediate steps to provide better roads, prisons and mental health facilities. The state should cooperate with local governments to insure a more adequate water supply."

"The state should use its constitutional control of the purse strings to encourage more efficient local school administration and particularly to eliminate the so-called 'closed district.'"

"The state tax structure should be overhauled and simplified so that taxes collected by the state impose fair and equal burdens, and the state should continue to press local government units to adopt assessment practices which will insure equality of burden."

"I hope that I will have the opportunity to help Governor Don Leonard carry out that kind of program."

William G. Lambros
Nominated on the Democratic slate for state representative from the Third District is William G. Lambros, 29, of 1638 Rochester Rd., Troy Township.

A native of Oakland County, Lambros was educated in the Big Beaver schools. He served as township constable from 1949 to '51. Lambros is general manager of a Royal Oak metal finishing firm, a World War II veteran and member of the VFW, American Legion and DAV. He is married and has three children.

His statement:
"The duty of a representative does not end at the polls. I would like to give people in my district the kind of representation they deserve."

"To do this I would like persons in the Third District to contact me and tell me their views. I can get an idea of what they desire. I think we can gain more as a team and have a closer relationship."

"Some important issues which should be acted on are:

"With unemployment rising because of GOP policies nationally, the GOP in Lansing wanted to slash unemployment insurance of Michigan citizens through the fine print of the Tethan Bill. I will support a 50 per cent of average wage to keep purchasing power in workers' hands until they find re-employment."

"The Republicans in 1953 and '54 voted to kill the 18-year-old vote. You can count on me to support this proposal. Any boy old enough to fight for his country is old enough to vote."

"We need more prison capacity. We have to take steps to keep these men out of prison. We all remember the riot at Jackson Prison in 1952."

"I strongly support a $500,000,000 bond issue on the 32,000 miles of Michigan roads. Let's keep Michigan out in front for a better future for our children."

"There is a saying, 'God must have loved the little people or he wouldn't have made so many of us.' I urge all to take a hand in government."

Consumers in the United States eat twice as many canned vegetables today per capita as a few decades ago, but also consume one-third more of the fresh vegetable varieties.

Hazel Relief Heads Ike's Work Docket

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower buckles down to a full postvacation schedule today after taking emergency action to make government aid immediately available to the storm-stricken Carolinas.

The President, acting at the request of the governors of North and South Carolina, sliced through red tape yesterday to authorize the use from his special disaster relief fund of such amounts "as are necessary to supplement state and local efforts."

Hurricane Hazel, which swept up the eastern United States into late last week, did extensive damage to property and brought considerable human suffering in the Carolinas.

Merkouris Jailed in Double Slaying

LOS ANGELES (AP)—James Merkouris is in jail today awaiting arraignment on charges of murdering his former wife and her second husband, Mr. and Mrs. Robert R. Forbes.

Merkouris, 40, was brought here from Arkansas yesterday. He lost a fight against extradition following his arrest by FBI agents in Hot Springs.

He denies knowledge of the double slaying in which Mr. and Mrs. Forbes were shot to death in their ceramics shop Sept. 20.

Visiting Lioness Fails to Worry Nairobi Police

NAIROBI, Kenya (UP)—It takes more than a mere lioness to frighten the police in this land of the Mau Mau terror.

Called out Sunday night to halt the meanderings of a lioness through downtown Nairobi, officers noted it looked well-fed and told excited citizens to "go away and leave it alone."

The animal sniffed at a few lamp posts, took a last look at the vigilant officers, and then wandered quietly off into the bush.

Star's Mother Burned in Apartment Blaze

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP)—Mrs. Carmen Castleberry, 61, mother of actress Dorothy Lamour, escaped with first degree burns from a fire in her apartment yesterday.

The fire shortly before 3 a.m. destroyed furniture and possessions in every room except the bedroom of Mrs. Castleberry's apartment. She fled and was treated for burns on the forehead, forearms and left hand.

Gas Station Receipts 'Gone With the Wind'

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—R. L. Pierce was counting receipts at his service station Friday when Hurricane Hazel whirled in through a window and whisked away more than $100 in currency.

Yesterday he got almost half the money back.

Mrs. J. H. Hessley, who lives a block away, brought in a $50 bill she had found in her back yard. It was part of the cash that had gone with the wind.

North Ireland Seeks Army Depot Raiders

OMAGH, Northern Ireland (AP)—Police began a house-to-house search today for wounded members of a gang which made a bloody Sunday raid on a British army depot in this town near the southern Ireland border.

Five soldiers were shot or slugged in the 10-minute gun battle yesterday. Two were in a serious condition.

Police captured eight men they identified as members of the illegal terrorist Irish Republican Army (IRA). The captives were charged with attempted murder.

Army officials said at least two of the raiders suffered bullet wounds and were carried away by their companions. A wide area was cordoned off to prevent their escape into the Republic of Ireland, 15 miles to the south.

Bus Driver Stabbed by Elderly Attacker

WELLS, Nev. (AP)—A Salt Lake City bus driver brought his Greyhound bus safely into Wells last night although bleeding from a knife wound in the side.

The driver, D. H. Stump, told authorities he was stabbed by an elderly passenger who apparently went berserk when he told the man he couldn't leave the bus on lonely Pequot Summit, 20 miles east of Wells on U.S. Highway 40.

Stump said the passenger slashed an unidentified passenger on the hand who attempted to intervene, and then stabbed Stump in the side. In the turmoil that followed, Stump said, the man escaped.

Neither Stump nor the unidentified passenger was said to be hurt seriously.

Grand Rapids Author Succumbs in Hospital

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—Dirk Nieland, Grand Rapids author, died Saturday at Butterworth Hospital here. He was 68. His first book, "Yankee Dutch," dealing with Dutch immigrants in this country, won praise of the literary critic, H. L. Mencken.

Nieland started his writing career soon after coming to the United States as a 19-year-old immigrant.

He is survived by his wife, Anna. Funeral services will be held here Tuesday.

Chicago Thieves Show Good Taste in Loot Selection

CHICAGO (AP)—Selective thieves with expensive and artistic tastes operated in Chicago over the weekend.

Furs and fur coats worth an estimated $250,000 were taken from the Margaritis-Mitchell, Inc., Loop office by cracksmen who smashed their way into the vault. Most of the loot was mink.

A collection of stamps valued at $100,000 was taken from the South Side apartment of Maj. Clifford W. Yost. The victim told police the looters left behind many stamps of lesser value and ignored his wife's jewelry.

Candlelight Satin Worn for Wedding

Virginia Freebury Weds Fred Mueller Saturday Evening

Virginia May Freebury created the candlelight satin gown which she wore Saturday evening as she approached the altar of Central Methodist Church to become the bride of Fred Mueller.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond E. Freebury of Blaine street, and he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Mueller of Flint.

Dr. Milton H. Bank performed the 7:30 candlelight ceremony before 200 guests, and William VanderVen sang the bridal recital.

Virginia's floor length gown, in Princess style, was fashioned with a scoop neckline, outlined with lace appliques. The skirt fell into a chapel length train, and the long sleeves ending at points over the wrists, were trimmed with matching appliques.

A cloche trimmed with appliques and seed pearls secured her fingertip veil and she carried a cascade of gardenias and ivy.

Her jewelry was a single strand of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom.

Mrs. Carolyn Freebury attended the bride as matron of honor wearing a floor-length gown of slate blue silk organza.

Other attendants were Mrs. Kenneth Ross of Ortonville, Mrs. James Mount and Joyce Forrest, wearing floor-length gowns of cornflower blue silk organza.

White satin and lace parasols covered with pink roses formed the bouquets carried by the attendants.

A rose taffeta gown with puff sleeves and bouffant skirt was worn by Rita Freebury, cousin of the bride, for her duties as flower girl. She wore a scroll headpiece and scattered rose petals from a basket.

William Mueller of Flint attended his brother as best man. James Mount, and Charles and Heinz Mueller, also brothers of the bridegroom from Flint, seated the guests.

The bride's mother wore a gown of mauve iridescent silk with brown accessories and a corsage of bronze chrysanthemums. A gown of navy blue taffeta with white and navy accessories was worn by the bridegroom's mother. Her corsage was composed of orchid chrysanthemums.

Following a reception held in the church parlors the new Mrs. Mueller changed to a brown suit with mauve and brown accessories for a wedding trip to Washington, D.C. and the Smoky Mountains. Upon their return they will reside on Orchid street.

The bridegroom is a graduate of General Motors Institute of Technology.

WCS Plan Supper at Methodist Church

Committee members were named for the annual turkey supper of the WCS of Oakland Park Methodist Church when members met Thursday at the church.

Oct. 21 is the date for event. Making arrangement are Mrs. Leo Minewasser, Mrs. Joe Wagley and Mrs. Claude Kline.

Devotions for the Thursday meeting were given by Mrs. Clayton Gillies and Mrs. Earl Foster who introduced Joe Wagley Jr. Colored slides of Mr. Wagley's recent European trip were shown.

MRS. FRED MUELLER

Phyllis M. Burrill Wed in Grace Lutheran Rite

Vases of white flowers, palms and candelabra decorated the altar of Grace Lutheran Church Saturday evening when Phyllis Marie Burrill became the bride of Allen B. Barron.

Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Earl Burrill of First avenue, and he is the son of the Clarence B. Barrons of Seminole avenue. The Rev. Otto G. Schultz performed the 8 o'clock ceremony.

The bride wore a floor length gown of Chantilly lace and tulle over satin. The portrait neckline was outlined with scalloped lace and the skirt ended in a chapel length train of tulle.

A fingertip length veil was caught to a tiara of rhinestones and seed pearls. She carried a white orchid on a prayer book with stephanotis and ivy.

Mrs. John Thompson as matron of honor wore a waltz length gown in pale pink and carried a bouquet of tinted blue carnations.

Mrs. Ronald Drake, the bride's sister and Mrs. Gerald Hesse of Drayton Plains wore pale blue gowns and carried bouquets of pale pink carnations.

Pamela Marie Adams, another attendant and niece of the bride wore a pale yellow gown and carried blue and white carnations.

Clarence Barron Jr. was best man for his brother and ushers included Delmer Edler and Heinz Falk.

Mrs. Burrill greeted guests at Dublin Community Hall wearing a blue lace dress with pale pink accessories and a pink carnation corsage. Aqua taffeta with white accessories, and a white carnation corsage was chosen by Mrs. Barron.

The bride wore a dark brown wool suit with matching accessories and the white orchid from her 'bridal bouquet' for a honeymoon trip to Northern Michigan. Upon their return, the newlyweds will reside on Summit street. The bridegroom attends the Institute of Electrical Engineering in Detroit.

Pre-Dance Parties Held Saturday

Members and guests of Beta Theta Chapter of Lambda Chi Omega sorority gathered Saturday evening at Indianwood Country Club for the sorority's annual Harvest Moon Ball.

Entertaining at pre-dance parties were Mr. and Mrs. James Barling of Spokane drive, Mr. and Mrs. George Knapp of Brookdale Lane, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sanft of Fieldway drive and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Kinkade of Drayton Plains.

Others were Mr. and Mrs. Don Bryson of Drayton Plains, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Campbell of Mohawk road, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Klimek of Onondaga road, Dr. and Mrs. Kenneth Vandenberg of Lakewood drive and Mr. and Mrs. Rupert Staton of Silver Circle drive.

Also entertaining were Dr. and Mrs. James McHugh of the State Hospital grounds, Mr. and Mrs. Frank O'Rourke of Sashabaw road, Mr. and Mrs. Irving Maloney of Chippewa road, and Mr. and Mrs. George Eldred of Lakewood drive.

Proceeds from the dance were donated to the Pontiac State Hospital Child Psychiatry Fund.

Stork Shower Held

Mrs. Paul R. Hawkins was hostess recently in her Poplar street home for a pink and blue shower honoring Mrs. Paul F. Hawkins.

Couple Leave for Florida After Rite

Madeline Gabriel, Gust Afendoulis Wed Sunday

Florida and New York City are the honeymoon destinations of Mr. and Mrs. Gust Afendoulis.

The bride is the former Madeline Gabriel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Efthim Gabriel of Ottawa drive, and he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Afendoulis of Grand Rapids.

The Rev. Samuel Gouvenis performed the five o'clock ceremony Sunday in St. George Greek Orthodox Church, before 500 guests. White flowers, palms and candelabra decorated the altar.

An off-white gown of heirloom silk taffeta trimmed with re-embroidered Alencon lace flowers and seed pearls was worn by the bride. The skirt ended in a cathedral-length train.

A Dior original headpiece secured her tiered veil and she carried a bouquet of white chrysanthemums and foliage.

The bride's seven attendants wore champagne-colored quilted gowns, fashioned in ballerina-length with off-the-shoulder necklines. Their flowers were bronze chrysanthemums with wheat and croton leaves.

Sophie Williams attended the bride as maid of honor and bridesmaids were Martha Savas, Stella Williams, Evelyn Ryson, Eva Nickolas, Despina Mitchell and Sophie Anastas.

Andy Jaffas of Grand Rapids served as best man. Seating the guests were Al and Sam Gabriel of Pontiac and Clark and Sam Afendoulis, John Theodore and James Bodogon of Grand Rapids.

A dinner dance at the CAI Building in Waterford followed the ceremony.

The bride's mother wore a gown of dusty pink lace and georgette with white and brown accessories, and the bridegroom's mother chose a gray-blue gown with gray accessories.

The bride changed to an olive green tweed suit with beige-pink and black accessories for the wedding trip.

The bride is a graduate of Academy Nvart in Detroit and the bridegroom attended Davenport Institute.

The couple will make their home in Grand Rapids.

'Junior Editors' Begins Today

An exciting new daily feature for children will make its first appearance in today's Pontiac Press.

The new feature called "Junior Editors" will provide youngsters between the ages of 4 and 8 daily educational entertainment. This includes coloring, cut-outs, things to make and things to do, simple games and reasoning tests especially designed to keep children busy for half an hour or so each day.

"Junior Editors" has been prepared with the assistance of child psychologists to make sure that its entertainment values are underlined with basic educational principles.

It is designed so that a child can perform most of the activities by himself or in the company of a brother or sister, with some help from older persons.

Don't fail to introduce your child to "Junior Editors" on page 17 of today's Pontiac Press.

Betty Paulos Speaks Vows in Church

Couple Honeymoon in Eastern States Following Rite

A floor length gown of Chantilly lace was worn by Betty Esther Paulos Saturday evening for her marriage to Richard D. Allen.

The altar of Central Methodist Church was decorated with bouquets of white flowers, palms and candelabra as Dr. Milton H. Bank performed the 6:30 ceremony before 200 guests.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gus Paulos of Ottawa drive and he is the son of Mrs. Howard Allen of Liberty street and the late Mr. Allen.

The bride's gown was fashioned with high stand-up collar and heartshaped neckline trimmed with beads. The gown featured long pointed sleeves and an accordion pleated skirt.

A crown of seed pearls secured her fingertip veil of illusion and she carried a bouquet of white roses and stephanotis.

Pauline Brutus attended the bride as maid of honor and Pauline DeQuis and Sally Brockman were bridesmaids. They wore waltz length gowns of sapphire blue, rice silk taffeta.

The gowns were fashioned with scoop necklines in both front and back and short sleeves were scalloped. Matching velvet petal-shaped caps secured their tiny veils.

The maid of honor carried a cascade bouquet of Harvest Moon carnations and yellow roses and the bridesmaids' bouquets were cascades of Harvest Moon carnations.

Richard A. Carter attended the bridegroom as best man, and Patrick Pennell and James Reed seated the guests.

A dusty rose gown of silk taffeta, trimmed in lace was worn by Mrs. Paulos as she received her guests at a reception held at Kingsley Inn. She wore matching accessories and a white orchid corsage.

Mrs. Allen chose a slate blue taffeta gown with bead trim, accented with pink accessories for her son's wedding. Her corsage was of light pink roses.

MRS. RICHARD D. ALLEN

The new Mrs. Allen was wearing a light beige wool suit with mink collar and brown accessories as the couple left for a tour of the New England states. Upon their return they will make their home on Monterey street.

Richard is a graduate of Michigan State College where he was affiliated with Phi Kappa Sigma fraternity.

Ladies to Enjoy Millinery Talk

On Wednesday the Ladies Day Out group of the YWCA will offer a specialty program at noon. During that hour a talk will be given on fall millinery.

Ladies from the group will model for the demonstration. Anyone interested is welcome to bring her sandwich and join in the fun.

Richard D. Allen claimed Betty Esther Paulos as his bride Saturday evening in Central Methodist Church. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gus Paulos of Ottawa drive, and Mrs. Howard Allen of Liberty street and the late Mr. Allen are his parents.

Farrells Entertain Church Group

Mr. and Mrs. William Farrell entertained members of the Wesleyan Class of First Methodist Church in their Montclair street home Saturday evening.

Mrs. Orville Lyons was a guest for the evening and Mr. and Mrs. Guy Emery, former members, were welcomed by the group.

Mrs. Robert Murphy was in charge of devotions. Oct. 31 is the date for the beginning of Spiritual Life Missions. Future missionary class projects were discussed and the program for the evening was under the direction of Mary Trask.

Members of YWCA to Meet Tuesday

Tuesday is meeting time for members of the YWCA. Members of Janice Antona's citizenship class will tell about their homelands for the 8 to 9:30 p.m. event.

Members will gather to hear about others affiliated with YWCA around the world at this meeting, which is on the eve of the 100th birthday of global YWCA.

Home Inventors Will Profit by This Excellent Advice on Simplicity

A Meaning of the 'Self' Is Given

A Difficult Term Is Defined in One Woman's Opinion

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

A reader has asked me the most important question any person can ask another. Though I've been asked it many times, I have evaded an answer. After pondering this last letter, I can evade it no longer.

This reader writes: "I am deeply interested in the kind of problems you discuss. However, because you sometimes neglect to define your terms, I often feel that you are withholding some precious information, for example, you recently attacked a mother for self-reproach. What do you mean by this term? I want to know what you mean."

Nobody, I'm sure wants me to define the word "reproach." It means what the dictionary says: censure, condemnation.

What has been asked is the definition of the other word in the term. My reader is asking, "What is our self?"

It is that nature in us which is made in the image and likeness of God.

Thus, when I attack a mother for self-reproach, I am defending this nature. I regard her self-reproach as a form of blasphemy.

If this definition of the self is not acceptable to my reader, I cannot tell her where to look for another. Though modern psychology also uses terms like "self-reproach," it cannot tell us what our self is.

The best it can do is to talk about our "personality"—that mechanism moved by the interaction of our passions, our inherited conscience and what is called the ego. But even our most learned psychologists have to shake their heads when we ask them to define our self.

Yet without a definition for it, we are condemned to believe that we are ruled by our "personality."

For not to know that we possess a nature which God himself pronounced "good" is to be at the mercy of any nature that our "personality" wants to give us.

Thus, when a faulty personality involves us in a job failure or hurt by a child, it can scream at us, "See, see what a bad, undesirable, unlovable nature you have?" And with no success of a self beyond it, we have to listen.

When we know the self with which God has endowed us, we stop arguing with our "personality." We stop allowing it to dictate our "goodness" or our "badness" to us. And feeling the sureness of the self that has taken it over, our "personality" begins almost at once to behave.

An American is a fellow who isn't afraid to bend out the president but is always polite to policemen.

Don't Judge Gal by Her Babushka

What You Wear Is a Matter of Good Taste, No More

By EMILY POST

"I would very much like to have your opinion on the following matter, a letter says this morning: 'Is it true, Mrs. Post, that clothes make the woman? In other words were you to judge a "lady" would you consider her clothes, or would you consider her manners, character and morals?'

I am asking this on behalf of a friend and myself. We consider ourselves well-mannered and have high moral standards but because we choose to wear "babushkas" to and from school we find this type of head covering most comfortable, we have been told that we are not ladies.

Those who criticize say that no lady would wear a babushka and that this type of head covering is strictly for peasants. In my opinion, peasants can be ladies, too. I would appreciate your commenting on this in your column."

The type of hat you wear certainly doesn't announce that you are a lady or the contrary. What you wear is a matter of being a person of good taste and nothing else.

Dear Mrs. Post: My mother-in-law died very suddenly a short while ago. She and a single daughter lived together in a small apartment which the daughter intends to keep.

Last Christmas my husband and I gave my mother-in-law a very pretty teaset, and for her birthday, which was just a month before she died, I gave her a rather expensive pin. I would like to know if it would be proper to ask my sister-in-law for the return of these items?

You shouldn't say anything, but your husband could ask his sister whether she wants either of these things or not, and say that if she doesn't he would like them.

Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please tell me the correct way to answer a house telephone? I have always felt that plain "hello" was proper and in best taste. However, I find that more and more people are answering their telephones by saying, "The Jones House" or "The Smith residence," etc. Is "hello" outdated?

Answer: No, it is still correct to answer the telephone in a private house with "Hello."

Decorative! Let this watchful little lady perch atop your toaster—keep it soil-free! Her long, full skirt is its protective cover!

Manners MAKE FRIENDS

If you want a child or teenager to be at ease with your guests when he meets them for the first time, tell him a little about them in advance. It's difficult even for most adults to make conversation with a person when all they know about him is his name. It's twice as bad for a youngster.

Here Are Four Basic Rules to Follow

By ANNE HEYWOOD

"I love to invent things," a reader writes, "and, so far, I've had no success in marketing any. But I'm sure that if I keep at it I'll hit the jackpot."

Then she went on to describe her inventions, most of them very complicated, and downright outlandish.

In the same mail, I got a note about a successful invention which is now on the market and being used by a great many firms. It is a perfect example of the case history of many successful inventions.

It is a new kind of carbon paper for office duplicating machines, and was invented by a stationery supplier who kept hearing about how messy the available carbon paper was, how it spoiled clothes, manures and dispositions in the firms that used duplicating machines.

He kept wondering how it could be improved, and was thinking about it one day, on the bus going home, when he happened to notice the car cards—those advertising cards which line the bus.

He saw that they were placed in narrow frames, and from that he got a bright idea. If he could put a narrow protective border around carbon paper, it would be impossible for the dye to smear over the edges and unnecessary for the carbon itself ever to be touched by the operator's hands.

He patented his device, and when he began marketing it, everybody's reaction was: "Why didn't anyone ever think of that before, it's so simple!"

If you would like to invent something, bear in mind the point which this illustrates:

1. Stay in your own area. If you're a housewife, concentrate on improving things you yourself use. You'll have a better understanding of your own domain than you could ever have of any other.
2. Don't force an idea. Let the problem cook in the back of your mind, keep your eyes open, and see if a solution doesn't pop into your head.
3. Get good legal advice on necessary patents.
4. Remember that if an idea is too complicated, and if it's hard to explain, the chances are it's no good. The successful invention always leaves people feeling: "Why didn't anyone ever think of that before, it's so simple!"

Fall Chicken Recipe Uses Cream, Rice

Mrs. Hugh J. Hales Bakes Fryers or Broilers Slowly

By JANET ODELL

Pontiac Press Food Editor

Chicken is an excellent buy right now, and we're happy to present a good baked chicken recipe from Mrs. Hugh J. Hales. Her way of cooking chicken should be ideal for a party, since the preparation can be done far in advance.

Mrs. Hales has a football-playing son and a grade-school daughter so is busy in PTA organizations. She is also active in the Junior Child Study Club and the Newcomers Club. Included among her other interests are bridge and knitting.

BAKED CHICKEN

By Mrs. Hugh J. Hales

Wash and blot dry quartered pieces of small fryers or broilers. Salt under sides and place in a shallow baking dish. Dot liberally with butter, sprinkle with salt, pepper and paprika and dredge lightly with flour. Pour over light coffee cream to about ¼ inch in the baking dish. Bake in 375-400 degree oven till brown and done—about 1½ hours.

When chicken is done, remove from the baking dish and have ready the desired amount of cooked rice. Place rice in the baking dish and mix until the stock and juices from the chicken are absorbed.

Arrange rice and chicken on a platter and garnish with sprigs of parsley or watercress.

Teen age drivers are involved in more fatal auto accidents in the United States than drivers to be found in any of the other age brackets.

PETUNIA!

Life is completely perplexing! I've come to the end of my wits. The recipe says "Cook it covered"—But I haven't a cover that fits.

Then make your own cover, Petunia!—out of aluminum foil! Fits snug—works fine!

This slim jumper, fashioned of 100 per cent flannel is double-breasted with a cross over deep V neckline in front. Accenting the lithe princess silhouette, it has its own center back kick pleat for walking ease. By day it's trimmed with a washable brushed jersey blouse. When the lights are dimmed, the jumper goes alone, sleek and sophisticated.

Bill is counting on three little words to keep you faithful and true. For a month and a half he said them every time he saw you which wasn't often. No dates alone, no deep friendship, no shared experiences. A quick flurry of double dates was all you had. Plus a bit of high-handed treatment in the way of broken appointments, no goodbye, and a broken promise to write every day.

Is Bill's "I love you," with absolutely no proof, enough to keep you faithful to him while he's far away for ages? Is his refusal to discuss your freedom enough to keep you from taking it?

For the life of me I can't see what you'd be true to if you stuck it out until he comes back, if he ever does? He might not even keep his word about that.

Keep on liking him if you must, but resolutely tuck him into a corner of your mind for future reference. Answer any letters that come. But convince yourself that Bill is not really an active part of your life. Meanwhile, enjoy the fun that's to be had in school.

Idaho Democrat Tries Comeback

Glen Taylor Regrets Running With Wallace on Progressive Ticket

(Editor's Note—This is another of several stories by roving Associated Press reporters analyzing the campaign in key states.)

By JACK BELL

BOISE, Idaho (AP)—Former Sen. Glen Taylor, repentant about what he calls past "political mistakes" and minus his cowboy trappings, is making a strong bid to upset Republican Sen. Henry Dworshak in Idaho's possibly crucial senatorial race.

In 1948 when Taylor made his ill-fated excursion into the Progressive Party, Idaho Republicans wrote the then Democratic senator off as any further threat to them and many conservative Democrats breathed a sigh of relief.

Taylor blames his primary defeat in 1950 on his decision to run as the vice presidential nominee with Henry Wallace on the Progressive ticket. But now he is back as the Democratic party's senatorial nominee in a campaign in which most of the unbiased doers give him a chance to beat Dworshak.

If Taylor goes to the Senate, he might provide the vote by which the Democrats could organize that now closely divided body. If he wins, many politicians believe that Idaho voters also will replace Republican Gov. Len Jordan with a Democrat, Clark Hamilton.

Idaho governors can't succeed themselves and Jordan did not choose to battle Dworshak for the Republican senatorial nomination. The Republicans picked State Atty. Gen. Robert E. Smylie as their candidate for governor.

Against Taylor's tactics, Dworshak has been standing on his record in the Senate, which he proudly says includes his presence at all 261 roll calls taken in that body in the 83rd Congress.

The Republican senator is taking full advantage of President Eisenhower's appeal for a Republican Congress, although he says he doesn't always vote with the administration.

War Hero Tale False

Utah GOP Meets Tonight on Fate of Stringfellow

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—Troubled Utah Republican party leaders meet in Salt Lake City tonight to consider the political fate of a man they had thought—only 48 hours before—to be a shoo-in for the 1st District congressional seat he now holds.

The meeting was hurriedly scheduled over the weekend after Rep. Douglas R. Stringfellow (R-Utah) Saturday night disclosed he was not, as he had claimed in many quarters including the Congressional Record, the hero of a secret, behind-the-lines mission in World War II Germany to capture a scientist.

With tears running down his cheeks, the 32-year-old disabled veteran had appeared on a hastily arranged television program to say that his story of wartime cloak-and-dagger heroism—recounted "over a decade when I had made over 200 speeches in a single year"—was bogus.

Stringfellow offered to withdraw from the congressional race but left the decision up to Utah's 128-member Republican State Committee.

Stringfellow made his electrifying disclosure on the heels of a story published in the veterans edition of the Army Times, an unofficial Washington newspaper, which questioned the authenticity of his tale of wartime espionage.

Stringfellow, married and the father of two small boys, wears braces on his legs as the aftermath of a mine explosion in France during the last war.

Only last week, a top state Democratic official had privately admitted that he thought Stringfellow's opponent, Walter K. Granger, had little chance of beating the congressman.

And yesterday, there were many who were still inclined to believe—privately—that Stringfellow could win anyway if left on the GOP ticket. A number of Republican leaders indicated they felt this to be the case, but said they were still doubtful as to which way they would decide on the question of allowing him to run.

Stringfellow's story had brought him national renown and had placed him much in demand as an inspiration speaker.

Drunk Worries Police With Tale of Nitro

HOUSTON (AP)—Police arrested a 20-year-old man on a drunk charge. The man told police they'd better let him go. He said he'd left a truck containing 20 gallons of nitroglycerin parked just outside the city and that a slight jolt or failure of the cooling unit could cause a terrific explosion.

The only explosion came hours later—after jittery police, sheriffs deputies and state highway patrolmen failed to find the truck and the man admitted his story was a hoax.

81 Million Autos Expected by 1965

DETROIT (U)—Think the highways are crowded today? A report prepared for the American Automobile Assn., meeting here noted government estimates that 81 million motor vehicles will be on the nation's roads by 1965.

To emphasize the need for more and better highways, AAA officials got up a couple of statistics:

If placed bumper-to-bumper, 81 million cars would stretch 10 times round the earth at the equator. Or, in a straight line, they would reach to the moon.

If piled on top of each other pancake-style, the 81 million cars would make a heap 65,000 miles high.

About 450 of the world's volcanoes are active.

When Denouncing Person Say Anything—Politely

By LAURA Z. HOBSON
NEW YORK (INS)—Every time the papers report on "mountains of mail and wires" being received by any public character, I remember a story I heard about the famous author, John Steinbeck.

About Mrs. John Steinbeck, really, because it's mostly about what she did once when her husband handed over a letter that had just come in the morning mail.

Remember that letters of all kinds were no new thing to Mr. Steinbeck. He's begun to write back in the crazy twenties; "Grapes of Wrath" appeared in 1939 and won the Pulitzer Prize the next year.

His latest novel, "Sweet Thursday" is on all the best seller lists right now and is scheduled to become a Broadway musical in 1955, with "Pipe Dream" for its new title and that success-ridden pair, Rodgers and Hammerstein, pulling the whole switch.

In other words, John Steinbeck knew all about letters from perfect strangers, good letters, bad letters, words of praise and admiration, words of criticism and ridicule.

But the particular letter I'm talking of rather took the cake anyway. It dealt with another one of his recent books, "East of Eden," and it wasn't only critical and disapproving.

It was downright abusive. The author read it, then passed it over to his wife. But after she went through it, she refused to chuck it in the waste-basket or return it to him. "Let me answer it for you," she said—in a tone that meant business.

But her not was very short and quite polite in tone. "My dear Mrs. So-and-So," it ran. "You have said things to my husband I would never dare say to him myself. Yours very truly..."

This story, I should think, would have plenty of meaning to lots of people besides authors, playwrights, cartoonists, actors, singers or sculptors.

In my opinion it fits the case with everybody whose work is passed upon directly by the public, with mayors or governors or legislators, with people in business life or on committees—

In other words it applies to every human situation where one person acts and another person reacts.

And the basic meaning I see in the story seems a pretty straightforward and simple thing:

Say what you think, say what you want to, it's a free country—but for Pete's sake, hang on to your manners while you say it.

In an election year particularly, that's a pretty sound rule to go by. Whenever you take pen in hand to denounce, in other words, please count not only to ten—but to 48. For the principle holds in every state of the Union.

If you're too burned up to write a letter and must send a wire instead, it's a smart idea to mark it "day letter" or "night letter" instead of "fast rate." Often that small gesture itself slows down the racing temper and cools out the hot blood boiling behind it.

We all know in our bones, of course, that the most effective way to suggest to any public figure that it's time he saw the light, or got lost, or even dropped dead—the best way is via frigid politeness and suave Chesterfieldian phrases.

We also know in our bones that most public figures—unlike John Steinbeck—never get to see the mail at all until a nice efficient secretary has screened everything juicy right out of it.

2 Leftists Elected in Jordan Voting

AMMAN, Jordan (U)—Two leftists won parliamentary seats in Saturday's bloody balloting in Jordan. Their strength was attributed largely to anti-Western feeling among Palestine Arab refugees who blame the West for their expulsion from that part of Palestine that now is Israel.

Reports here said the violence accompanying Jordan's first elections under a new system permitting authorized groups to campaign as political parties, left eight persons dead and more than 44 wounded.

(In Damascus, Syrian press reports last night said 25 persons had been killed and 300 wounded during electoral clashes in Jordan. The reports said a night curfew and strict censorship had been imposed in Amman.)

Carrier Bennington Receives 2 Bibles

NEW YORK (UP)—Two Bibles commemorating the disastrous explosion which took 103 lives aboard the aircraft carrier Bennington last May 26, were presented to the captain and crew of the carrier today to open the celebration of National Bible Week.

Presentation was made aboard the carrier by Charles R. Sligh Jr., national chairman for National Bible Week, which is sponsored by the Laymen's National Committee, Inc.

A pulpit-sized Bible was presented to the ship and a smaller Bible to Capt. William Francis Raborn in commemoration of "his spiritual courage during the tragic incident" last May.

Jane Pickens sang the National Anthem and "The Greatest Book

I Ever Read," especially composed for National Bible Week, at the ceremonies attended by Rear Admiral Rosco H. Hillenkoetter, commander of the 3rd Naval District, and other Navy dignitaries.

About 60 per cent of the nation's wholesale trade is handled in New York state, especially in dry goods, clothing and furnishings, jewelry and some other merchandising lines.

New Driver Test Will Weed Out Dangerous Motorists

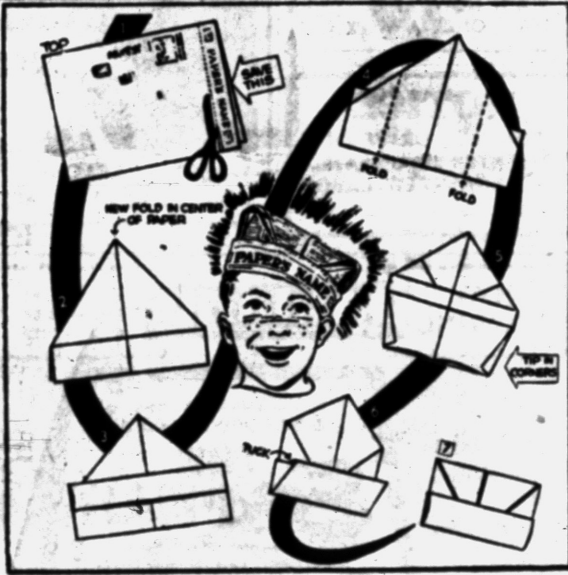

LANSING (AP)—A new driver's test designed to keep unsafe motorists off Michigan highways, is scheduled to be put into effect by Jan. 1. It has 100 questions, divided into four groups. Now license applicants have to answer only ten questions, all of the multiple choice variety.

Secretary of State Owen J. Cleary said the new tests would

TODAY'S ASSIGNMENT FOR:

JUNIOR EDITORS

HOW TO MAKE A JUNIOR EDITORS HAT

(Mothers: Today's introductory panel is more difficult than the ones that will follow, and you will need to help on it.) If you are going to be a Junior Editor, you need a real newspaperman's hat. Making these traditional square, flat-topped hats from newspaper pages is fun for the whole family. Here's how:

1. Take a full sheet that forms the front and back pages of today's paper. Cut clear across both pages just under the newspaper's name, as shown in step number 1. Save this strip for use later.
2. With the paper still double, and the fold at the top, fold the upper two corners so they meet evenly at the center of the page as shown.
3. Using drawing number 3 as a guide, fold the top sheet of the lower rectangular section in half. Fold it again over the lower part of the triangular section.
4. Turn the paper over and fold the sides into the center. The folds are indicated by dotted lines in the drawing.
5. Tip the corners of the lower section as shown.
6. Fold this lower section in half and then fold again, in the same manner as in step 3. Tuck this folded portion into the band at the base of the triangle.
7. Fold the peaked top in half and tuck neatly into the side section as shown.
8. Turn the hat bottom-side up and spread open with your hand. Carefully fold the two corner peaks inward and tuck into the band. Block out the hat, making the top flatter and the sides as square as possible. For the finishing touch, take the name of the paper and with white library paste fix it around the band of the hat as shown in center drawing.

Tomorrow: Make a colorful fish and then find the fish a home.

New Cancer Theory Told

NEW YORK (AP)—The fear that cancer runs in families is not borne out in a study reported today at the annual meeting of the American Cancer Society.

This analysis finds little evidence that you inherit much chance of getting cancer.

The study was made by Dr. Douglas P. Murphy and associates under auspices of the Gynecologic Research, University of Pennsylvania School of Medicine, aided by grants from the Commonwealth Fund.

They studied nearly 10,000 female relatives of women who had cancer and others who did not. The cancer patients had either cancer of the breast or uterus, the two most common sites of female cancer.

They did not find that cancer, in any sites in general, occurred with any unusual frequency in relatives of women who had cancer of the breast or uterus.

The relatives of women who had breast cancer didn't have more breast cancer than relatives of women free of that kind of cancer.

be in the hands of police and sheriffs' departments throughout the state by the first of the year.

Cleary added the test was almost two years in the making and was prepared in consultation with state police and traffic experts from Michigan State College, Northwestern University and New York University.

The present test, in use since the early 1930s, was described as "simply inadequate" by Cleary. It almost can be passed "on guesswork," he said and a person of average intelligence can qualify for a license without studying traffic laws.

Police Lt. Clay Stockton, of the Detroit Operator's License Bureau, echoed Cleary and declared that "the old examination has enabled hundreds of unqualified persons to obtain road rights every year."

"You can think it is safe to drive left of the center line of a four-lane highway, or even to drive across a railroad crossing against a red signal and still get a driver's license in Detroit or any place else in the state."

Twenty points constitute a perfect score on the present test. Two points are subtracted for each wrong answer. Twelve points is the minimum passing mark.

In recent tests, Stockton said, eight of 29 Detroit applicants scored only 12 or 13 points, but got licenses, although some of them answered:

It would be all right to continue after a fatal injury accident so long as you were not at fault; O.K. to slow down and cross tracks carefully at a railroad crossing when the signals warn of an approaching train; two parking lights are enough for night driving; the same speed day or night is equally safe.

AVERAGE AMERICAN BOY—Ten-year-old Alan Adams of New York, swells with pride after he was picked from 7,651 members of the Children's Aid Society's Boys Clubs as the average American boy. His measurements most nearly matched the average American figure for 10-year-olds set by the U. S. Department of Agriculture and the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. The statistics Alan almost matches: chest 27.08, waist 23.2, height 54 1/2, and weight 70 1/2.

GOP Wives Stump for Candidate Mates

DETROIT (INS)—The wives of several of Michigan's GOP candidates are stumping the state on behalf of their husbands today.

For the next eight days a special bus will carry the women into every large community below the Muskegon-Bay City line.

The women on the trip include Mrs. Donald S. Leonard, wife of the gubernatorial candidate; Mrs. Clarence Reid, wife of the lieutenant governor; Mrs. Owen J. Cleary, wife of the secretary of state; Mrs. D. Hale Brake, wife of the state treasurer; Mrs. John B. Martin Jr., wife of the Auditor General; and Mrs. Frank G. Millard, wife of the attorney-general.

Washington (AP)—A Senate group has dug into teen-age crime, drinking and drug addiction to see what makes juveniles delinquent. Next it takes a look at television programs of violence and horror.

Beginning tomorrow, a subcommittee will open hearings on TV. It plans to call sociologists, psychologists, producers of programs, sponsors, actors, station manager and network officials.

For more than a year this subcommittee, headed by Sen. Robert C. Hendrickson (R-N.J.), has held hearings around the country on various phases of juvenile delinquency.

It hasn't reached any general conclusions yet, or general solu-

Charge Stated by Police Official

Massive Espionage Unit Said to Be Operating in Government Circles

By FRED PAINTON
PARIS (INS)—Paris Police Inspector Jean Dides, who touched off one of the biggest spy investigations in French history, declared today that a "massive" Soviet espionage ring still is operating in France.

Dides charged, in an exclusive interview with International News Service, that the disclosures of a part few weeks were merely "a small aside" to the real espionage going on.

He declared that the information on National Defense Committee affairs which two committee officials, Rene Turpin and Roger Labrousse, admitted leaking merely "confirmed" what the Communists had learned elsewhere. Dides declared:

"In France today you have espionage on two planes, the technical plane and the political-diplomatic plane."

The tall, athletic police officer who is known as a pro-American charged that the real Communist espionage network exists on a very high level in the government through a bloc of what Dides called "neutrals."

Dides' suspension as a police inspector, allegedly for carrying on his anti-Communist activities after he had been assigned to other duties, began a chain of events that led to exposure of the leaks from national defense committee meetings.

Security agents seized Dides and found National Defense Committee documents in his possession. He said he had obtained them from a one-time Communist as proof that the Reds were receiving defense secrets.

At first the case was known as "the Dides affair," but so many other persons, many of them prominent, crowded into the confused picture that the militantly anti-Communist inspector was all but forgotten.

A by-product of the investigation, however, was the discovery that Dides had been working with one Alfred DeLaure, also known as "Monsieur Charles," who was sentenced to prison as a wartime Nazi collaborator and escaped. Dides and DeLaure reportedly made a trip to the United States together in 1953.

As a result Dides has been charged with harboring a fugitive from justice.

Dides charged today that the "neutrals" in the government "make a chain with the Communists."

He described the "neutrals" as men in the French government who believe France should take the part of a "third force" between the United States and the Soviet Union.

Dides added: "They talk openly with Communists and crypto-Communists of national policy and military secrets, often knowing this information will be relayed to the Communist party."

The police inspector added that secrets are leaked by "imprudence" or "on purpose." He added:

"The old days of spies scurrying around are over. Information vital to the Communists is gained at lunch at Maxim's (restaurant) or at an elegant dinner somewhere."

The Communists, Dides claimed, then confirm this flow of information through "technical" espionage and persons such as Turpin and Labrousse.

Dides continued: "The 'neutrals' might have an argument on their side if they didn't overlook the fact that the internal power of the Communists in France is so strong."

"How can a 'third force' exist when there is nobody to balance the Communists within France?"

Describing the "neutrals" as crypto-Communists, Dides charged that an overwhelming majority of its members are homosexuals.

Ferguson vs. McNamara

U.S. Senate Seat at Stake in Michigan

(This is first of series of stories on the candidates and issues in the forthcoming Michigan election.)

LANSING (AP)—The man who is chairman of the Republican policy committee puts his senate seat on the line in Michigan's Nov. 2 election against a homespun Democrat and labor-minded businessman.

The Republican candidate is U.S. Senator Homer Ferguson, 65, of Detroit, seeking his third six-year term.

The Democrat is Patrick V. McNamara, 59, vice-president and sales manager of a Detroit contracting firm, long-time unsalaried president of an AFL Pipe Fitters Union Local and former vice-president of the Wayne County Federation of Labor.

Ferguson's career is summed up by his official biographer: "coal miner, teacher, school principal, lawyer, professor of law, circuit judge and U. S. Senator."

He was born in Pennsylvania and worked in the coal mines as a young lad. He was educated at the University of Pittsburgh and the University of Michigan. He served as Wayne County circuit judge from 1922 to 1942.

It was this assignment which brought him to state attention when he conducted the famous Ferguson Grand Jury investigation into gambling, racketeering and graft. The

Dutch Sailors Prefer Cowboys to Football

MILWAUKEE (UP)—Seventeen Dutch sailors, survivors of a freighter that sank in Milwaukee Harbor, have decided they like cowboy movies better than American football.

Invited by a brewing company to watch the California-Oregon game on television Saturday, the sailors looked at cowboy movies until the game came on. After a few moments of football, they asked for more cowboys "or something we understand."

Hospital Is Dedicated

PORT HURON—Port Huron's new 100-bed Mercy Hospital was dedicated Sunday by Edward Cardinal Mooney, archbishop of the archdiocese of Detroit. A fund drive, a government grant and contributions from the Sisters of Mary financed the new hospital.

grand jury returned 370 indictments, including a former mayor of Detroit, a Wayne County prosecutor and sheriff, the superintendent of Detroit Police and three city councilmen.

McNamara's public life has been confined to membership on the Detroit Board of Education (which he still holds) and membership on the Detroit City Council. During World War II, he was Detroit area real control director.

McNamara entered the senatorial race against the wishes of the CIO, which backed the late Blair Moody for the nomination. Upon Moody's death late in the primary campaign, organized labor of all unions rallied behind him and he was "adopted" by the Democratic leadership.

McNamara was born in Massachusetts and started work as a mechanic at an early age in the New London shipyards. He moved to Detroit in 1921 and became a job superintendent for a mechanical contracting firm.

In 1934, Mc Namara was the first state president of the first industrial union in the Detroit auto industry, the union which finally grew into the United Auto Workers.

juvenile drinking was a big problem. George R. Reilly, chairman of the California State Board of Equalization, said too many California adults drink too much and depend on official agencies to care for their children.

When the subcommittee went to New York to ask questions about comic books which feature tales of horror and violence, Dr. Fredrick Wertheim, senior psychiatrist of the City Department of Hospitals, said: "It is the good child who is tempted and seduced by the comic books."

But the senior psychiatrist at Bellevue Hospital, Dr. Loretta Bender, said she saw no great danger to children's minds from blood and thunder comic books.

Senate to Study TV Violence Programs

Washington (AP)—A Senate group has received a lot of advice and opinions from specialists on juvenile delinquency, who don't agree among themselves on the cause or cure.

The Senate group is sure of one thing, although it's hardly news. Juvenile delinquency is nationwide. In 1953 about 385,000 juveniles were brought into court, and for every one brought to court three others had been picked up by police.

Last year juveniles under 21 accounted for 47 per cent of all arrests for larceny, 68 per cent of all auto theft arrests and 35 per cent of all those arrested for rape.

"When we talked of juvenile delinquency a few years ago," Hendrickson has said, "we were thinking mostly of youths in the 15 to 21 age bracket. Now we're finding serious crimes committed by children from 12 to 15 years."

The basic cause? He attributed it to "lack of love and affection and kindly discipline in the home." But Chicago's prosecutor, John Gutknecht, said, "When the woodshed comes back, we can forget the jail." He advocated stiff spanking.

A New York writer, Albert Deutsch, said parents are doing a better job than their ancestors did with them.

A husband-wife team at Harvard Medical School, Doctors Sheldon and Eleanor Glueck, told the subcommittee they found after a 10-year study of 500 delinquents and 400 nondelinquents that:

Fifty per cent of the mothers of the delinquents had a history of criminality; 62 per cent of their fathers drank to excess; 96 per cent of their families had no systematic way of handling finances; 60 per cent of their parents did not love each other; 50 per cent of their families did not care what the neighbors thought of them; 70 per cent of their families never had any recreation as a group; and 60 per cent of them came from broken homes.

In Los Angeles the subcommittee was told some doctors were selling youngsters benzedrine tablets in big lots at a big profit.

A parade of witnesses in San Francisco told the subcommittee

Government in Court

on Peterson Spy Case

ALEXANDRIA, Va. (U)—The government takes to a grand jury today its charges that Joseph H. Petersen Jr. got secret documents "with intent or reason to believe" they would help a foreign country.

Petersen, 40, was an employee of the supersecret National Security Agency and its predecessors for 13 years until he was discharged the first of this month.

Audrey Sleeps Till Noon While Ferrer Works

ALBANO, Italy (U)—Husband Mel Ferrer has to leave for work at 7 a.m., but it's still a honeymoon idyl for him and Audrey Hepburn.

Since Sept. 29, the newly wed film stars have been living in a secluded villa here in the Alban Hills some 20 miles south of Rome. They have a guard at the gate to discourage visitors but you can't keep secrets in the Italian countryside.

The countryfolk will tell you that after Ferrer leaves in the morning, his bride usually does in bed until nearly noon, then goes to the kitchen and helps the cook prepare a light lunch.

No spaghetti, though. The pencil-slim star doesn't want to gain weight. She sips wine with lunch.

The rest of the day she plays with the villa's eight cats and one dachshund or chats with the servant couple. The servants are the same who worked for Gregory Peck when he lived there while making "Roman Holiday," the film which catapulted Miss Hepburn to screen fame.

Only twice has Audrey ventured into Rome. Both times fans swarmed around her. She returned pale and nervous and wants to make no more visits to the city.

Busy with a new film, her husband normally gets home in the late evening. They discourage callers and their only guests have been a few Roman aristocrats who live in nearby villas.

The lease on the villa expires at the end of this month and with it the honeymoon ends. Miss Hepburn will go to her native Holland to raise funds for war veterans. Her husband will accompany her if he can finish his movie in time.

Set Spring Lake Mail

SPRING LAKE (U)—Residents of the Spring Lake area will receive home mail deliveries beginning Nov. 1. The offices of Sen. Homer Ferguson and Rep. Gerald R. Ford Jr. said provisions have been made for one foot carrier and one mounted deliveryman to service the route.

A traffic death occurs in the United States about every 16 minutes.

HELPER—Who said television is hurting the movies? Here's Gloria Talbott to show that at least it's not all one way. She got her start before the television cameras. Now she's helping out with some important acting chores on the Paramount lot.

Bedbugs May Bare Origin of Population

BERKELEY, Calif. (UP)—A collection of bedbugs is being made on a remote Pacific atoll so University of California scientists can study the origin of the island's Polynesian population.

A six-man team of scientists is visiting Kapingamarangi—which lies in the Southern Caroline Islands two degrees off the equator—to study the island's rocks, marine life and to bring back a sample of bedbugs for Dr. Robert L. Usinger, entomology professor.

Dr. Usinger hopes to determine by examining these bugs just where the island's people originated.

The people seem to be of Polynesian culture, but the atoll lies between Micronesia and Melanesia and about 1,200 miles from Polynesia. Dr. Usinger believes members of island's population scratch bites of Polynesian bedbugs, but the bugs are being brought back to Berkeley so he can make sure.

Messages Drive Home Highway Safety Theme

RALEIGH, N. C. (U)—Roadside signs in series have been planted along the 180 miles of U.S. 1 in North Carolina by the State Highway Commission.

Motorists on the north-south route read 190 messages like:

"If you are over 35, you're lucky to be alive."

"It's a short hill; don't be impatient."

"Safe speed 35; social security 65."

"The late Ben Smith tried to pass here."

Motor Vehicles Commissioner Ed Scheidt said similar signs may be put on U. S. 301 and 17 if motorists take kindly to those on 1.

CIO Row Victim Critical

DETROIT (U)—The condition of Albert Harris, 36, remained critical today. Harris was shot during a meeting in the CIO United Auto Workers Ford Local 600 auditorium Saturday. Police said they would seek a felonious assault warrant against Erskine Putnam, 34, who was stabbed in the fight.

Whoopee Box for TV Gives Artificial Laughs

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—You can't lick our television geniuses, they've just produced an artificial laugh gadget called the whoopee box. Sitting tensely beside his whoopee box during a program, a sound effects man listens to the jokes—then pushes one of four buttons.

One button is for titters, one for chuckles, one for giggles, and one for belly laughs. (There aren't any for Bronx cheers.)

And then the TV studio is flooded with titters, chuckles, giggles or belly laughs—and they all go out over the air across the U. S.

"It's due to the small color studios," a CBS expert told me. "They accommodate only 200 or 300 people. The public's accustomed to laughs from 1,000 to 2,000 people and might get the idea that a show isn't funny."

The whoopee box, a Hollywood invention, is an improvement on the laugh track—which is canned laughter on records or tape.

"The laugh track might give you a guffaw where you should only get a titter. The whoopee box controls the laughs," the man said. It was used on CBS' recent "Royal Family" show and "The Man Who Came to Dinner."

"We'll only use it on live shows from small studios," the expert said. "That gives it a kind of honesty."

(He didn't say what kind.)

NBC isn't known to have a whoopee box yet. However, laughs are popular at NBC, too.

Max Liebman, producer of the spectaculars, does his shows in a Brooklyn theater seating only 350 . . . but has another audience watching monitors at the Century Theater in Manhattan just for its laughter.

Its laughs are piped over to Brooklyn and go on the air from there.

Fire Destroys Market

DETROIT (U)—A $100,000 fire destroyed the B & B Supermarket in Lincoln Park Sunday night. It was the second major fire in the suburb in two days. Two children died in a house fire Saturday. Fire Chief Thomas Dickson said his force was unable to cope with the supermarket blaze.

Pressure Welding Producing Results

PHILADELPHIA (UP)—American industry has come up with a new "pressure" welding technique that is paying off on the assembly line and may replace the old, conventional "hot weld."

W. A. Barnes, vice president in charge of engineering and production for the Utica Drop Forge and Tool Corp., Utica, N. Y., told a meeting of the American Society of Tool Engineers here that the "pressure" method has achieved things never done by conventional methods.

Barnes told of a tool similar to pliers but capable of exerting tremendous pressures on small areas. The process gives excellent welds on copper and aluminum, something never before achieved by conventional methods," he said.

Barnes said the whole technique started in England when it was discovered two sheets of copper cut with dull shears produced a welding of the edges.

"Cold pressure welding is now moving from the laboratory into the shop," he said.

Nebraska is the only state which is contained wholly within the Missouri River basin.

YOU SHOULD KNOW ABOUT

GEE DEEP-MINED COAL

1. CLEANER BURNING and NO CLINKERS!

2. PROPERLY SIZED for MORE ECONOMY!

GEE Deep-Mined Coal has a lower volatile (less smoke) than ordinary coals, which results in cleaner burning. It's not only cleaner, but this better quality coal has a higher fusion point which guarantees against clinker formation, also!

The proper sizing of GEE Deep-Mined Coal allows even distribution over the fire bed, permitting a maximum consumption of air. This means more heat for less money. In fact, 3 tons of GEE better quality coal will last as long as 4 tons of cheaper grade coals!

Sugar Passes Two Milestones

Science Creates Vital Food in Lab, and World Adopts Trade Policy

WASHINGTON — Sugar, one of man's basic foods, made big news twice within the last year. Scientists learned how to duplicate it and the world agreed on how to trade it.

Yet so commonplace is sugar that even such headlines are largely lost. A natural bounty known and sought for thousands of years, it has been grown and produced in present form only in comparatively recent times.

Now sugar ranks as the most abundant pure chemical compound that man takes from nature, the National Geographic Society says.

Sugar is essential to life on earth. Any animal without sugar in its blood would shortly drop dead.

The origin of sugar cane is lost in the past, somewhere in the Orient. Probably it was first grown by man in India, where the army of Alexander the Great in 327 B.C. spoke of the "honey-bearing reed."

Sugar was a delicacy only for the wealthy even when Columbus took the sweet grass to Hispaniola on his second voyage in 1493. He brought back cacao beans. Thus, in exchange for chocolate, the Old World gave sugar to the New World.

Not until 1751 was sugar cane successfully introduced into Louisiana. And it was even later, during the Napoleonic wars, that crystallized sugars first made from the sugar beet.

Today the world produced nearly 40,000,000 tons of sugar in a year, and Americans alone consume over 8,000,000 tons.

Only in late 1953, after centuries of trying, did science succeed in making sugar in the laboratory from simpler compounds.

Another sugar milestone came this year as 40 countries put into effect an international agreement stabilizing sugar production and world prices.

Armistice Day Dropped

Committee Heats Up Plan to Publicize Newest U.S. Holiday—'Veterans Day'

WASHINGTON (AP)—A national committee met today to heat up plans for observing the first major change in a national holiday in 16 years.

For on Nov. 11 this nation will drop Armistice Day, which it has been celebrating since 1938, and begin the observance of Veterans Day.

The committee, headed by Veterans' Administrator Harvey V. Higley, has the job of stirring up interest in the renamed holiday.

Strictly speaking, this country has no national legal holidays. Congress can be-it-resolved all it wants to, but it's still up to the states to decide which holidays they will authorize.

So we have Southern citizens giving the rebel yell on Robert E. Lee's birthday (Jan. 19) and-or Jefferson Davis' birthday (June 3). Many Northern states have Lincoln's birthday (Feb. 12) as a legal holiday.

Massachusetts has its Patriots' Day (April 19). Nevada its Admission Day (Oct. 31). Tennessee its Gen. Bedford Forrest's birthday (July 13). Vermont its Bennington Battle Day (Aug. 16). And North Carolina its anniversary of the signing of the Mecklenburg Declaration of Independence Day (May 20).

A few holidays, such as July 4 and Dec. 25, are universally observed. Others, like Armistice Day, are recognized by most of the states.

Well, and why change it? Officials of the veterans' organizations have been saying that Armistice Day—honoring those who fought, and especially those who died, in World War I—should be enlarged to include all veterans, living and dead.

But the idea didn't seem to be getting anywhere until Nov. 11, 1953. On that day Emporia, Kans., held its own Veterans Day. Among

Mitchell in Favor of AFL-CIO Merger

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Labor Mitchell went on record in favor of an AFL-CIO merger last night, saying it would benefit both organized and unorganized working men and the country as a whole.

Interviewed on an NBC-TV program, Mitchell said he hopes for "one labor movement" in the nation because: "It would lead to more responsibility on the part of labor, more participation on the part of labor in our economic and social and political affairs and, in addition, would I hope eliminate many of the jurisdictional problems that now occur in the labor movement."

Elias Howe invented the sewing machine.

Doubling of the food supply will be needed within the next 25 years if the anticipated increased numbers of people in the world are to be fed enough food of good enough quality to maintain full health and vigor.

Lions Maul Colts on Muddy Field for 3rd in Row

Layne's Entry in Game Sets Detroit Club Off to 35-0 Win

By H. GUY MOATS
DETROIT—Lions and the Baltimore Colts of the National Football League battled without a count in the opening period of Saturday night's scrap in wet, muddy Stadium. Then Coach Buddy Parker called on veteran quarterback Bobby Layne. Things began to happen very fast as soon as Layne hit the playing field.

Early in the 2nd period Colts' George Taliaferro, former Indiana star, fumbled on the 17 when hit by Lions' Gerald Perry. Sherwin Gander grabbed the ball on the 10 and three plays later Layne converted. That was the first of five touchdowns in the Lions' 35-0 victory, their 3rd straight in NFL competition.

Three of the tallies followed passes thrown by Layne. In the 2nd session an interception by Jack Christiansen on Detroit's 45 set the stage for the 2nd marker. After two ground plays Layne went back to throw a long one to the former MSC ace, Dorne Dibble. Dibble went rest of the way. Dibble also was on the receiving end of another Layne pass early in the 3rd period, and again he hit pay dirt. The heave was good for 45 yards from the Lions' 45 stripe, and Dibble had no trouble outdistancing Colts' defenders.

It didn't take very long for Lions to chalk up their 4th TD. Bill Stits grabbed an errant Colt aerial on the 45, went to the 17 before being downed. A couple plays later Layne pitched a strike to Jug Girard in the end zone. Girard's reception was a real exhibition of agility. He snatched the ball just as he fell across the goal line.

Final counter came in the 4th period when Tom Dubinski fired a TD pass to Girard from the 41. Dubinski used only 3 aeriels to cover 73 yards on the drive.

Despite the mud and rain, Lions played a brilliant game all around. Defensive play stopped the Colts outside the Lions' 20 marker and the single scoring chance for the visitors was a field goal attempt that went wide.

More than 45,000 customers watched the demonstration of gridiron finesse by the NFL champs. Lions next opponents are the 49ers, at San Francisco on Sunday.

'Spike' Says KC Has No Place for Major League Team

By The Associated Press
"Kansas City has no place for a major league baseball team," said Owner Walter O. (Spike) Briggs of the Detroit Tigers today, in commenting on the deal that will keep the A's in Philadelphia. "I'm glad the A's are staying in Philadelphia."

General Manager Joe Cronin of the Boston Red Sox also expressed satisfaction that the A's would stay put.

"We feel that whatever the Macks wanted, that's what the Boston Red Sox want," he said. American League President Will Harridge said he would have no comment until he gets more details. He said he would issue a statement Monday after he receives a complete report and a list of stockholders from Roy Mack of the A's.

Other club officials in the league declined comment until they were notified officially of the sale.

Montreal Passer Hot as Playoff Berth Is Nailed

Etcheverry Completes 26 of 36 Aeriels for 586 Yards

By The Associated Press
Old-time Montreal football fans fondly recall the 1931 season when Warren Stevens forward-passed the team to a Grey Cup title. The Syracuse University grad passed Big Four clubs to death that year but he had nothing on Sam Etcheverry.

Etcheverry twisted the Hamilton Tiger-Cats' tails Saturday as he threw five touchdown passes and completed 26 of 36 for a 586-yard gain through the air, believed to be an all-time Big Four record. The Als ran up a 46-11 score, highest of the season in the professional league, and 21,000 fans looked on, the top crowd figure in the East this year.

The victory clinched a playoff spot in the two-team series and the Als now can ease up in the remaining four league games.

In the Western Conference, Saskatchewan wrapped up a berth in the conference's three-team playoffs by beating the Calgary Stampede 19-8. The defeat also left Calgary only a slight chance to catch either the Edmonton Eskimos or Winnipeg Blue Bombers for a place in the series.

Edmonton moved up to a tie for second with Winnipeg by flattening the luckless British Columbia Lions 31-3 as Jack Parker, former Mississippi State back, scored two touchdowns. The Lions now have a 1-12 record.

OUTTA TH' WAY—Don Cox (13), St. Frederick back, stiff-arms a St. Clement tackler while making a short gain in the 3rd quarter of yesterday's game here. St. Clement scored four touchdowns in the 1st half to hand the Rams their 4th straight Suburban Catholic League setback, 31-20.

Mikes Rout Dales, 44-0; Rams Bow to St. Clement

Pontiac's two parochial football teams split in Suburban Catholic League games yesterday.

St. Michael handed St. James a 44-0 shellacking at Ferndale, while St. Frederick bowed to Center Line St. Clement 31-20 here. In other SCL games St. Rita edged St. Benedict 6-2 and Orchard Lake St. Mary downed Royal Oak St. Mary 26-6.

Mikes scored the first three times they had the ball. Bob Anderson went five yards, Mike Lauinger scooted 15 and Ron Elmy ran 20 for 1st-quarter scores. Danny Dropps booted two conversions to give the Shamrocks an early 20-0 lead.

Bud Schwartz scored on a 70-yard dash in the 2nd period. Mikes struck twice in the 3rd stanza, with Lauinger going 30 yards on a reverse and Elmy plunging two feet. Elmy set up the latter score with a 90-yard run.

Dropps bucked over from the five for the final Shamrock tally in the 4th period.

St. Frederick spotted St. Clement a 25-7 halftime lead and then outscored the visitors 13-6 in the 2nd half. Larry Morrow passed for all three Ram touchdowns, hitting Don Cox for 40 yards in the 1st period and Dick Doyon for 30 yards and 15 yards in the 3rd and 4th quarters. Doyon kicked St. Frederick's two conversions.

Chet Laube went 45 yards on the ancient "Statue of Liberty" play in the final 30 seconds to give St. Rita's its victory over St. Benedict.

St. Mary (OL) scored three times in the last half to overcome a 6-0 deficit at Royal Oak. Ed Pilarski passed to Bill Blaskovich for 38 yards. Jerry Leszczynski ran 18 yards and Tom Kalasz picked up a fumble and ran 22 yards for St. Mary's touchdowns. Kalasz kicked one extra point and passed to Leszczynski for another.

Led Big 10 Hitters

Bill Skowron, Yankee first baseman, led the Big Ten hitters in 1930, getting 20 safeties in 40 trips for .500. It was the best mark ever made in the conference.

'M' Beats 'Cats on Breaks; Irish Win as MSC Kicks Fail

Heart-Breaker

By ROBERT E. VOGES
EAST LANSING (U. S. Press)—No one at Michigan State college had any apologies to make today for its 20-19 football defeat by Notre Dame.

"I hate to lose," said coach Duffy Daugherty, "but I was never more proud of a team than in that defeat. They were fighting right down to the last second. It was the best game they've played so far this season."

You couldn't blame Daugherty, an Irishman with a dash of Scotch, for wishing he had some of the luck of the Irish on Saturday.

Any one of the two missed extra points could have tied the game. And if just one of two missed field goals hadn't gone wide, Michigan State would have made it four in a row over Notre Dame.

Spartans also missed LeRoy Bolden, their crippled left half. Bolden carried only two times and his lame leg limited him to minus two yards.

Although soaked by a downpour of rain, the sellout crowd of 57,238 stayed until the last minute of play. As in all recent meetings between MSC and Notre Dame, the game was a crowd-pleasing thriller.

Michigan State started out brilliantly, driving in 13 plays after the kickoff for a touchdown with Clarence Peaks going the last four yards. Earl Morrill threw a 47-yard touchdown pass to John Lewis and the Spartans led 13-0 at the end of the 1st period.

But the fighting Irish fought back with scores in the 2nd, 3rd and 4th quarters to first tie things up and then go ahead. Joe Heap scored twice and Paul Reynolds went for the other touchdown.

With two and a half minutes to go, Morrill again hit Lewis with a pass completion good for 44 yards. Bert Zagers cut 14 yards around end to score although at least three tacklers had a hand on him.

But the extra point was missed, the margin that left the Spartans with their 3rd loss against a single victory so far this season.

You Be the Quarterback
By Warren Gaer
Head Football Coach
Drake University

Virginia has a fast scat back who is used as a spot player. Twice already during the season he has gone into ball games in crucial spots and broken them up with long runs.

Now with the 3rd quarter almost over and the score with Virginia Tech tied, 14-14, the scat back runs out on the field.

It is 3rd down and five on the Tech 40-yard line, the ball is in the center of the field. On first down, an off-tackle play from the split-T formation (quarterback behind center, three backs behind him, linemen separated) made three yards. On 2nd down, a quick opener added two.

As the Virginia quarterback, rate these plays 1, 2, 3 and 4 for this spot:

Quick opener with scat back carrying.

Fake quick opener to scat back and pass just over line to an end.

Quarterback keep-pitchout option (quarterback runs parallel to line of scrimmage; may pitch out to scat back).

Fullback delay over center. (Answer elsewhere on the sports pages).

Still Unbeaten

By JOHN BARBOUR
ANN ARBOR (U. S. Press)—A voice from the past said, "a punt, a pass, and a prayer." It was all the Michigan Wolverines had and it brought them victory.

Michigan's weakened squad was pushed from one end of the field to the other and no one was more surprised last Saturday when the Wolverines gained their 2nd conference victory, 7-0, over Northwestern, it gave them a tie for the lead in the Big Ten with three bigger, stronger brothers: Ohio State, Wisconsin and Minnesota.

Michigan trailed last Saturday in every department except scoring. Somehow it contrived to defeat Northwestern, 7-0.

Wildcats, losing their 3rd in a row, were more impressive in defeat than Michigan was in victory.

On the ground the Wildcats outscored the Wolverines 220 yards to 63. They held the Wolverines to only 5 yards in the second half, a feat accomplished by Wisconsin against Michigan State two weeks ago.

Even in the air the Wildcats were more apt than their victorious opponents.

All of this was mirrored in the 1st down column where Northwestern had 15 to Michigan's 6.

Michigan used the punt as one of its main offensive weapons, and it probably gained the Wolverines more yards than any play they've ever used in the past. Michigan was forced to punt 10 times.

After one of these punts, Michigan got its break—the one it converted into the winning touchdown.

In the 2nd period, Northwestern had just gained four yards around left end. On the next play Dale Fienta, 2nd string quarterback, dropped the ball. Michigan guard Ed Meads recovered on the Northwestern 24. On the 1st play, Michigan's Ed Shannon gained four yards.

Then came the pass in the Michigan strategy. Prayers carried the ball the rest of the way.

On the next play, Lou Baldacci headed for the right end, but passed to Ron Kramer, who was tackled on the 15. Fullback Fred Baer and left halfback Danny Cline drove to the one in four plays and Cline went over. Kramer kicked the extra point.

Hutchinson Signs Rainiers' Contract

SEATTLE (U. S. Press)—Freddie Hutchinson, former manager of the Detroit Tigers, signed a 3-year contract Saturday to manage the Seattle Rainiers in the Pacific Coast League.

He succeeds Jerry Priddy, former Tiger infielder and the Rainiers' manager for one season.

Contract terms were not disclosed.

Hutchinson got his start in professional baseball with the Rainiers, winning 25 games as a rookie pitcher in 1933.

Grid Selector Picked Army Over Duke, Missed Call on Cleveland and Rams

By HARRY WINNER
(Radio TV Sports Commentator)
(Copyright by INS)

Our No. 1 choice of the week. Army over Duke, came through with flying colors. Duke had been picked on almost every poll from coast to coast as the winner, but we selected the Army by six points.

Army won, 28-14. "Nuff said."

I mentioned casually that our No. 1 state, Oklahoma's Sooners, could win in a waltz over Kansas. They did, 65-0.

Ohio State was a slight favorite over Iowa and it was our selection that the Buckeyes would win. Iowa was beaten, 20-14.

I said Maryland's Terps had two bad weeks, but this would be their good week and that they would win by twenty. Final score 30-0—Maryland.

Michigan at Northwestern posed a different picture. We picked Michigan to win by five points but they came through by seven.

Reversal came with the Penn State-West Virginia game. My WOLVERINE ON PROWL—Michigan back Jim Maddock (26) sprints for 6 yards before being overtaken by Northwestern and Fred Nosal (80) in the 1st period of Saturday's game at Evanston. Michigan won, 7-0.

Substitute Pitt Coach Jubilant After 21-19 Win

Hamilton - Directed 11 Upsets Navy Saturday; Takes Aim on NW

PITTSBURGH (U. S. Press)—Jubilant Tom Hamilton, who directed Pitt to a 21-19 football upset over Navy on Saturday for ailing Coach Lowell (Red) Dawson, figures the Panthers can also do it against Northwestern next Saturday—with or without him at the helm.

"They're a great bunch of kids and they played a whole of a ball game against a great Navy team," Hamilton said today. "It was a team victory and I'm sure it was one for Red."

Hamilton, former gridiron coach at Navy and now Pitt's athletic director, stepped back into the active coaching ranks unexpectedly last Tuesday after Dawson was hospitalized with an "aggravating heart" condition.

"I don't know whether Red will be back in time to take charge against Northwestern next Saturday here but it's interesting and exciting to coach again," Hamilton said. He added:

"Everybody gets excited and I'm no exception. But I've been confident all along that our boys were good and would bounce back. We did against Navy and I know we'll keep going."

Dawson entered Presbyterian hospital last week after Pitt lost its first three games. Some of the Pittsburgh newspapers were yelling for his scalp.

First reports said Dawson would be hospitalized a week but Hamilton said the doctors "still have some tests to give Red and we don't know for sure what date he'll be back."

"Pending Red's return, I'll direct the team with the help of his assistants. There'll be no letdown."

New Britain College Has 60-0 Edge Over Two Opponents

NEW-YORK (U. S. Press)—Fifty-eight college football teams are still unbeaten and untied but little New Britain State Teachers College of Conn., is the only one that hasn't given up a point.

New Britain state has won two games while registering 60 points and holding its opponents scoreless.

Of the 19 teams that have 5-0 records, UCLA and College of Emporia head the list with the most points scored. Emporia leads with 223 points while allowing its opponents 33. UCLA has tallied 204 and given up only 34.

Oklahoma, the nation's No. 1 team, has a 4-0 record and a string of 13 victories dating back to 1953. Cincinnati, with a 5-0 record, also is working on a 13-game streak.

Other top-flight teams that have 4-0 records are Yale, Boston College, Boston University, Ohio State, Wisconsin, Minnesota and Wichita.

Royal Oak Driver Wins Feature at LA

Don McCubbins of Royal Oak won the 50-lap championship feature race at Lake Angelus Speedway yesterday. McCubbins took over the lead after Virgil Barb, also of Royal Oak, blew a tire after leading for 32 laps.

Jerry Barb, Virgil's brother, won the trophy dash, while Jim Bemis of Royal Oak and Larry Furnal of Pontiac won heat races. Hardtop events were won by Don Bird and Benny Howell, both of Pontiac.

Racing will continue next Sunday at the track.

Top Elevens Eye Bowl Bids

By ED CORRIGAN
The Associated Press

This crazy-quilt college football season is approaching the halfway point, and coaches are beginning to think in terms of conference championships and possible bowl bids. Some of the teams that were buried so far down in the pre-season ratings you had to look at the small print to find them, are right in the thick of things now.

Arkansas, for one, could write a real rags-to-riches story if the Razorbacks win the Southwest Conference title. They haven't taken it in 18 years, all the while suffering humiliation upon humiliation from the big boys like Texas, Baylor, Rice and Co.

But their stunning 20-7 triumph over Texas last Saturday left them one of the dozen and a half major undefeated teams in the country.

And who would have thought Army would emerge as the top team in the East after its wretched showing against South Carolina in the beginning of the season? But the Cadets' fine 28-14 triumph over Duke sent them right to the top in their section.

Both the Big Ten and Ivy League have been surprising. Illinois and Michigan State were expected to make serious bids for the Big Ten title. Both currently are pulling up the rear, while Wisconsin and Ohio State, two of the unbeaten, go at it this Saturday. Out of this game could emerge a Rose Bowl team. In the Ivy League, Cornell was the heavy favorite, but the Big Red is just playing out the schedule now. Instead, Yale which hasn't won the championship since 1946, is in a favorable position to come through.

No one seems capable of catching UCLA in the Pacific Coast Conference, but the UCLANS can't go back to the Rose Bowl, so they're playing for national honors rather than a post-season game. They massacred Stanford 72-0 in their last outing.

Actually, Southern California probably will get the bid if it gets past California Saturday.

Oklahoma, the No. 1 team in the country in the Associated Press weekly poll of sportswriters and sports casts, heads the Big Seven as usual. Colorado, probably the only club capable of giving the Sooners a healthy workout, looks like the conference's Orange Bowl team since Oklahoma isn't eligible this year.

In the tough Atlantic Coast Conference which supplies the other team for the Orange Bowl, defending national champion Maryland still has a good chance, with Duke and Wake Forest in the running, too.

Undefeated Mississippi is in a peculiar position. Ol' Miss could win the Southeastern Conference title and go on to the Sugar Bowl and with its soft schedule probably will do just that. The schedule has worked against the Rebels in the national picture, though.

Head-On Collision Kills Pair of Horses

NEW YORK (INS)—Two horses were killed in a head-on collision yesterday while they were working out at Belmont Race Track. The horses were John D. Hertz's Speedy Wave, favorite in today's seventh race, and Star Of Roses, a maiden two-year-old filly owned by Maine Chance Farm.

Wesley Britz, 34-year-old exercise boy, was thrown from Speedy Wave and fractured his leg in two places above the knee.

Last-Minute Purchase Saves A's for Philly

By RALPH BERNSTEIN
PHILADELPHIA (AP)—An eight-man Philadelphia syndicate made a dramatic last minute purchase of the Philadelphia Athletics last night, saving American League baseball for this city. The action ended the baseball life of one of the game's greatest figures, 91-year-old Connie Mack.

Months of confusion and indecision over the status of the Athletics was ended when the syndicate of wealthy and prominent Philadelphians bought out Connie and his son, Earle Mack, and made a one-ninth partner of Roy Mack in a $4,000,000 deal.

The syndicate moved with startling speed in concluding the business that kept the A's from being transferred to Kansas City. It was only last Tuesday that the American League met in Chicago and approved sale of the club to Arnold Johnson, Chicago businessman who wanted to take major league baseball to Kansas City. Roy Mack was given until 11 a.m. (EST) today to make up his mind on whether to sell to Johnson.

It appeared that nothing short of a miracle could save the franchise for Philadelphia. But the Philadelphia group, its civic pride stung with the thought the nation's third largest city was about to lose its American League representative, saved the day, accomplishing a deal in less than 72 hours that no one here seemed able to work out in four previous months.

The new group, which has asked President Will Harridge of the American League to approve the purchase agreement, paid Connie Sr., $604,000 for his 302 shares, and gave Earle $450,000 for his 163 shares. It assumed liability for a $1,200,000 mortgage held by the Connecticut General Life Insurance Co. The balance of the $4,000,000 will be used to pay off other indebtedness and as working capital.

Roy was given $450,000 for his 163 shares, but he re-invested $250,000 in the new ownership group as a partner.

The new owners, who plan to meet early this week to reorganize the club, elect officers and a board of directors, are:

Arthur Gallagher, trucking firm executive and former national sculling champion; T. R. Hanft, an investment man; Barney Fischer, oil and automobile industrialist; Isadore Sley, owner of the Racquet Garage Corp.; Morton Liebman, son of a Philadelphia department store magnate; Arthur Rosenberg, food chain executive; Jack Rensel, Philadelphia advertising agency man; John Crisconi, automobile dealer, and Roy Mack.

Johnson, who flew here late last night in a desperate effort to forestall the Philadelphia deal, was stunned at the news Roy had signed away the team to the local group.

"I can't understand it," he said. "I offered Roy a much better deal. He would have been a vice president at a high salary and a key factor in the Kansas City setup. I promised to give him a year's training course and make a baseball man out of him. I offered him the moon. And now what has he got, a one-ninth interest in nothing."

Roy has been guaranteed a one year contract at his present $25,000 salary by the new group.

Johnson said his bid to get the Athletics would cost him around $75,000. He said he had hired architects to enlarge the Kansas City Stadium and incurred other expenses.

The saddest part of the proceeding came when Connie Sr. arrived in the law offices to pose for pictures and to congratulate the men who had purchased the team he raised from the cradle. The tall, straight-backed old gentleman isn't as alert as he used to be, but he had a misty look in his eyes indicating he understood his lifetime work was passing into other hands. It mattered little to him that he would be honorary president of the new group.

The story of the Athletics in Philadelphia is 54 years old. It goes back to 1901 when Connie Mack took the Quaker City into the American League. Even when he stepped down in 1950 as active field manager, "The Grand Old Man of Baseball" as he is known the world over, remained a symbol of baseball to generations of Philadelphians.

Gavilan Still Favorite in Defense Against Saxton

By MURRAY ROSE
The Associated Press

Welterweight champion Kid Gavilan and challenger Johnny Saxton, both eager to get the affair over with, will make a third attempt Wednesday night to have it out in a 15-round title fight in Philadelphia.

The twice-postponed bout was originally scheduled outdoors for July 14 and then Sept. 1. The first postponement was caused by the Cuban champ's injured right hand and the second bout was called off when the Keed came down with a virus and the mumps.

This time they're wishing each other the best of health. At least they won't have to worry about the weather since the scrap will be indoors, in Convention Hall.

The clever Gavilan, 28, still rules the 1-2 favorite to make good in his eighth title defense. Saxton, 24, makes his bid with a fine 43-2-2 record. His two losses were by split decisions, to Gil Turner and Del Flanagan.

Starting time is 10 p.m., EST. CBS will telecast the bout coast-to-coast with a 100-mile area around Philadelphia blacked out.

Gerry Dreyer, former British Empire welterweight champion from South Africa, is a slight favorite to spoil the New York debut of Ramon Tiscareno at St. Nicholas Arena. The 10-rounder will be telecast by Dumont to some parts of the country starting at 10 p.m. EST.

Paddy Young, hoping to get back into the middleweight top bracket, is a 1-2 choice to whip rugged Jesse Turner of St. Louis in the other TV bout (ABC-TV, 10 p.m. EST) beamed out of Brooklyn's Eastern Parkway Arena. The bout is listed for 10 rounds.

Wings Only a Point Off Top

Beat Hawks Sunday, by 5-2 Count, With 2nd Period Rally

CHICAGO (INS)—Detroit Red Wings moved to within one point of the National Hockey League lead Sunday night by beating the Chicago Black Hawks, 5-2, at the Chicago Stadium.

Second period goals, 61 seconds apart, by Alex Delvecchio and Johnny Wilson, broke a 2-to-1 tie and put the game away for the winners. Moments earlier, goals by Frank Martin and Dick Gamble had knotted the score for Chicago.

Ted Lindsay and Benny Wolt scored for Detroit in the 1st period and Wing Glen Skov scored the game's final marker in the 3rd frame.

Hawks' loss was their 4th of the young season. They have but one tie to their credit.

Chicago goalie Al Rollins received all the cheers from the slim crowd of 7,984. Last season's most valuable player, he made an amazing total of 42 stops during one of the busiest evenings of his career.

Zucco Hurt, Wayne 11 Loses to John Carroll

DETROIT (UP)—Wayne University's football record stood at .500 today following a 13-0 loss to John Carroll Saturday night at Cleveland.

Wayne's hopes for victory faded in a hurry when Vic Zucco, ace halfback of the Tartars, was injured early in the 1st period.

John Carroll dominated play throughout but lost the ball on fumbles seven times to see several good scoring opportunities vanish. Wayne has won two, lost two and tied one thus far this season.

Two Injured Ram Players in 'Favorable' Condition

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UP)—Two Los Angeles Rams National Football League players were in "very favorable" condition in St. Luke's Hospital today, according to Dr. Paul J. Niland.

Defensive halfback Eddie Hughes received a brain concussion in Sunday's game against the Green Bay Packers. Tom McCormick, halfback on offense, was under observation after a blow in the neck which caused temporary loss of tongue control.

Niland said the players would be kept under observation until they were able to return home, probably "in several days."

Hal Boyle Says

Custom Tailor Only Link Between Godfrey, Julius

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—A year ago to-morrow Arthur Godfrey, fired singer Julius La Rosa, the first man ever to lose his job on a television screen in full view of millions.

The incident quickly blew up the biggest tempest in video's brief history.

Startled by the storm he had created, the red-haired king of TV performers sorrowfully explained why he had dismissed La Rosa, the young Navy veteran whose career he had launched. His Reason: "Julie" lacked what Godfrey called "for lack of a better word—"humility."

This explanation merely fanned the controversy. Humility? What was humility? A nation wondered whether Arthur himself had set any course records in humility.

Broadway Cassandra—and some network executives, too—feared both "the great Godfrey" and his protegee would be hurt badly by their public airing of private differences. They figured Arthur would end up with a big dent in his famous cham, and that La Rosa would make a fast buck out of the notoriety, then disappear from show business.

It hasn't worked out that way at all. Both Arthur and Julie have survived the parting, and time has even soothed the ulcers of a few CBS vice presidents.

What kind of a year has it been for the two principals? Well, Godfrey lost and regained his air pilot's license. Financially, he didn't do as well as General Motors, but seems in no danger of having to sell apples on street corners.

La Rosa, on the other hand, has earned $300,000, more than 10 times the $35,000 a year he was making with Godfrey. The money came from recordings, TV guest appearances and a nation wide night club and theater tour.

Julie averages about $7,500 a week for night club engagements, $5,000 for one night stands and pulled down $43,000 for two weeks at the Chicago theater, where he had a percentage deal.

I reached La Rosa by phone during a stopover at the Chicago airport the other day and asked him how he felt about Godfrey now.

"I realize that if it weren't for him, I wouldn't be where I am," he said, "but I can't quite feel toward him as I did before. But I am honestly grateful to him."

Does La Rosa now feel he has learned humility? "Well, I've made quite a study of that word during the last year," said Julie, "and what it really means. I've read what Thomas Aquinas, St. Augustine and Bishop Sheen and other philosophers have said about it."

"You know it doesn't mean what most people think it does. Humility doesn't consist in just being nice to people. That just makes you a nice guy but it doesn't make you truly humble."

"Very few people have real humility. If you had it, you wouldn't know it yourself. I have found I don't have true humility. It is something between you and the man upstairs. Between a human being and his God. I'll tell you honestly, I don't have it."

"But I think that I am a 10 per cent better person than I was a year ago. In 10 years maybe I'll show up. I have learned to control myself and to try to understand people instead of getting angry at them for what they say."

His friends say La Rosa — he's now 24 — has matured greatly since his falling out with Godfrey. He doesn't throw his weight or his money around.

He has built a house for his parents, is building another one for his sister. He is investing in annuities for himself.

"The only thing he splurges on is his shirts," a friend said. "He gets a kid's delight in being well dressed, and of course he has to dress well in his business."

He may pay up to $450 for a suit. Where does he buy them? From the same custom tailor Arthur Godfrey goes to.

Today that is the only link left between Godfrey and the kid he started.

Japan Loves Beethoven, Theater Survey Shows

TOKYO (AP)—The Japanese love Beethoven.

The Tokyo Metropolitan Theater asked its 6,674 subscribers to send in their favorites for a series of request programs.

It was Beethoven's Seventh symphony, Beethoven's Fifth and Beethoven's Sixth in one, two, three order.

Fired Baritone Amazes Cynics

Week's Pay Is $7,500, Earnings in One Year Amount to $355,000

By JACK O'BRIAN
NEW YORK (INS)—One year ago next Tuesday (Oct. 19) Arthur Godfrey fired Julius La Rosa—into the 90 percent income bracket.

For the fiscal year ending on the first anniversary of the noisiest public firing since Fort Sumter, the 24-year-old boy baritone Arthur Godfrey fired in a Florida Naval station and turned into a TV star, only to dismiss him publicly for what he termed lack of "humility," will have earned $355,000.

This represents earnings from TV, radio, recordings, stage appearances, night club performances, one-nighters and the start of "interest on investments."

La Rosa's present is rosy indeed; his future is up to him and his public.

The cynics who said he wouldn't last six months have been proved awfully wrong. Saturday night, just for instance, Julius was paid $4,500 for a one-nighter at the Civic Auditorium, Grand Rapids, Mich.

He has just finished a week—at $7,500 a week, his customary night club salary since his post-Godfrey start—at the Chase Hotel in St. Louis, Mo. Next Monday he starts a week's engagement in Atlanta, Ga., for $5,000 a week plus "all over charges, at $2 per person." This is expected, his agent says, to return him comfortably more than his "customary" $7,500 a week.

A week from Monday he stars for a week in a Columbia, S.C. night spot at a flat $7,500 a week. He was paid $5,500 for five nights at the Erie Social Club in Philadelphia just before the St. Louis date, but had to pay two acts out of it. This left him $3,500 for the five days.

On the basis of the above, Julius is doing almost as well as his most optimistic friends prophesied, and he has thoroughly confounded his detractors.

Missing Girl, 5, Walks 20 Miles Through Wilds

OKANOGAN, Wash. (AP)—A hardy 5-year-old girl who trudged 20 miles in 20 hours through the wilds of north central Washington wandered safely into a ranch yard 50 miles north of here yesterday as an army of men sought for a trace of her.

The first words of little Joyce Abel as she entered the yard of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Wanger were: "Was Mommy worried?"

The Wanger ranch is 20 miles southwest of the home of Joyce's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Abel from which she wandered Saturday while playing.

As hopes dimmed yesterday that Joyce had survived the freezing night she walked, tired but unharmed, into the Wangers' yard and told of traveling downhill through the darkness across rock-studded fields and grassy plains.

After she was reunited with her parents, a family friend said, "She's not as tired as most of the searchers; she was dressed in fresh clothes by 10 a.m. and ready to start playing again."

Among new devices is a needle-threader, a small mechanical device that accepts needle sizes three to seven. The needle is inserted eye-end first into a hole and a lever is pressed to thread it.

Recall Move Starts Against 2 in Livonia

LIVONIA (INS)—A recall movement got underway today against Livonia Mayor Elbert Hartom and City Attorney Russell Ashmore.

Sponsors of the movement began circulating petitions yesterday in an effort to gain the 2,500 signatures necessary to hold a recall election.

The recall petitions charge Hartom with squandering a $480,000 surplus left by the previous administration and proposing to raise taxes five-fold.

Attorney Favors New Court Site

Robert Hodge Claims Area One of Fastest Growing in County

Pontiac attorney, Robert W. Hodge today spoke out for the Telegraph-road site for a new Oakland County courthouse.

"The proposed site is not out in the country," Hodge said. "It is on one of the fastest growing commercial routes in the state."

Hodge said those opposing the location on the basis of transportation "should consider the fact that those least able to travel—welfare patients—have been getting out to the site for years."

(The Oakland County Infirmary is located near the proposed site.)

"Proponents of rebuilding the courthouse on the present downtown Pontiac site have not taken into account the chaos that would result," he said.

"It would take one to two years. The situation is bad now. During that time it would be infinitely worse."

"Also, it might result in lost records because you would be moving them twice, once to makeshift quarters."

Hodge continued: "Use of the present site for commercial purposes would do much more to enhance the downtown area than for a courthouse."

"The objectors might consider, too, that the site be used for the civic auditorium we've been hearing so much about."

In conclusion, Hodge said:

"The decision to move the location was not arrived at without thorough study of the needs of all the county—and that means 500,000 people now and about 1,000,000 within 20 years."

More Instructors Are Trained by Red Cross

Enough instructors in first aid were graduated from the Red Cross instructor training program Friday night to furnish one for every geographical area of the county. Ralph S. Forman, chapter chairman of first aid announced.

The graduating class of 31 persons brings the county total up to 71.

The course, which totaled fifteen hours of instruction, was led by Gordon Bennett, representative for first aid and water safety from American Red Cross midwest offices in St. Louis, Mo. He was assisted by Mrs. Carrie Buttorth of Royal Oak and Mrs. Orrin Brown of Lake Orion.

The class consisted of men and women from police departments and civic organizations as well as ARC personnel.

No further classes in first aid instruction are scheduled at present although regular classes in first aid will be given regularly.

The largest single source of energy for generating America's electric power supply is bituminous coal.

MEN PAST 40

Troubled with GETTING UP NIGHTS
Pains in BACK, HIPS, LEGS
Tiredness, LOSS OF VIGOR

If you are a victim of these symptoms then your troubles may be traced to Glandular Inflammation. Glandular inflammation is a constitutional disease and medicines that give temporary relief will not remove the causes of your troubles. Neglect of Glandular Inflammation often leads to premature senility and incurable malignancy. The past year men from 1,000 communities have been successfully treated here at the Excelsior Institute. They have found soothing relief and a new zest in life.

The Excelsior Institute, devoted to the treatment of diseases peculiar to older men by NON-SURGICAL Methods, has a New FREE BOOK that tells how these troubles may be corrected by proven New-Surgical treatments. This book may prove of utmost importance in your life. No obligation. Address Excelsior Institute, Dept. 1, Excelsior Springs, Missouri. 6511
