Chicago Tornado Cleanup
Plagued by Stormy Weather

CHICAGO (UPI) — Stormy thunderstorms like the one that preceded Saturday night's tornado.

Inspection teams, bucked the weather to check buildings hit by the leap-frogging tornado.

More than a dozen persons still were hospitalized with fractures or cuts from the twister as the city began the clean-up operations expected to take months.

Police maintained "round-the-clock" guards against looting, and two of the nation's largest insurance agencies, representing more than 30 fire and casualty insurance firms, set up offices in the South Side disaster area.

Fire Commissioner Robert J. Quinn said damage could run "as high as $5 million" and the Insurance Information Institute said property losses in the 833-square block area may yield 7,500 damage claims.

Mayor Richard J. Daley, who toured the area shortly after the twister dipped out of a black sky late Saturday afternoon, visited routed home owners again Sunday.

He praised the "neighborliness of the people" and said cleared streets and sidewalks were a "credit to all the city workers who labored through the night."

He granted a housewife's request for "a few days off" for her husband — a city policeman — and then told her their weakened home might have to be torn down "for your own protection."

She signed a note giving permission for the demolition.

Anemia Worries Doctors of Gravely Ill Liz Taylor

LONDON (AP)—Elizabeth Taylor, gravely ill with pneumonia, has developed anemia and is being given blood transfusions, her doctors reported tonight.

Dr. Carl Heinz Goldman, one of the actress' six-man medical team, said:

"We are a little worried about her today. Her blood is not very good. She is becoming anemic and we are giving her blood transfusions."

Dr. Goldman said she would be in the London Clinic for at least another 10 days and "she will need a long time to recuperate, perhaps a year."

The prospect of such a long period away from the cameras raised another big question mark over the future of the multi-million-dollar epic "Cleopatra," in which Miss Taylor was to play the title role.

But Dr. Goldman said Miss Taylor "has tremendous fighting powers and I feel certain she will pull through."

Dr. Goldman said the tube inserted in the star's throat to help her breathing had made her restless.

Davisburg Man
Drowns While
Out Ice-Fishing

A 52-year-old Davisburg man drowned Saturday in Kirby Lake near his home, while ice-fishing alone.

A friend of the victim, Bill Walters, said he had a premonition that Edward H. Hillman, of 8055 Marquette St., had drowned when he failed to return after six hours, and he went looking for him.

Walters and another volunteer fireman, Robert Thomas, found Hillman's body floating face down in about 3 feet of water at 5:30 p.m. The coroner estimated he had drowned at 11:30 a.m.

The firemen said Hillman had apparently gone too close to the ice's edge near open water leading into a creek, where the edge broke off, plunging him into the water about 10 feet from where his body was recovered.

They waded in after the body and retrieved it with a pike pole.

Hillman was a self-employed land contractor in the Davisburg area. He is survived by his wife and several brothers and sisters.

U.S. Ships Sail to Congo
After U.N. Loses Key Port

Convoy Called Back From Goodwill Trip

State Dept. Stresses
They'll Give Help Only
if It's Needed

WASHINGTON (AP) — A U.S. Navy task force has been turned back from a goodwill voyage and sent back to Congolese waters to be available in case the United Nations needs help there, the State Department said today.

The department confirmed the move in response to queries about a dispatch from Capetown, South Africa, reporting the change of plans. The vessels were due in Capetown Wednesday.

The move was obviously related to the situation in the supply port of Matadi where Congolese troops fought pitched battles with U.N. forces over the weekend and took control.

The ships, department spokesman Lincoln White said, are available for the United Nations if the world organization needs them.

He said he did not know whether any Marines are aboard.

"This action has no unilateral significance," White told a news conference.

He said it is the established policy of the United States to assist the United Nations in its efforts to restore peace and order in the Congo.

The naval ships, identified by the Navy as Selent (for South Atlantic) and Amity, have been on a goodwill tour in the Atlantic off the coast of West Africa.

They have called at 11 African ports and were on their way to the Congolese government to get to the coast of the civil war-torn Congo Republic.

Weary U.N. soldiers laid down their arms and withdrew from the key port of Matadi after 24 hours of bitter street fighting with Congolese soldiers.

Negotiations are going on with the Congolese government to get a U.N. garrison back into the town.

If these break down, the United States will send a task force.

Soft Shoulder . . . Slow Roll

SCHOOL BUS TOPPLES — Fifty-nine school children were in this Bay County school bus when it toppled into a 14-foot ditch at Trumbull and Bullock roads just south of Bay City today.

Twenty-one students were injured, but none seriously. The driver was traveling only 15 miles per hour when the accident occurred, he said.

Rowston
to Sport
a Beard

Mayor Philip E. Rowston was growing a centennial beard today and members of the fire and police departments have been given the okay for centennial mustaches.

The mayor, who has long sported a bushy mustache, said that he had decided this in itself wasn't properly enough facial hair for the head of the city to display during the city's centennial.

Rowston has already officially proclaimed beards as a part of the centennial observance. Now his personal decision about beards is expected to encourage their growth among other leading figures at City Hall.

At least one other city commissioner, Robert A. Landry, has indicated he will grow a beard. The four other active commissioners at latest report were still undecided.

Meantime, centennial foliage has gained a boost in the fire and police departments. Acting Police Chief Joseph Koyen and Fire Chief James R. White have acted to partially relax the ban on all facial hair in connection with the centennial.

OK MUSTACHES

Although beards are still mixed, they said, mustaches were okay among police and firemen.

The ban, which went into effect in February, was eased after the City Commission, meeting informally last week, decided that department heads were on their own as far as decisions on beards were concerned.

Previously, City Manager Walter K. Willman had been cited as the authority on the beard ban. Then, Willman told the commission confidentially that he'd rather have no responsibility in the matter.

With Willman now on the sidelines of the beard debate, the two chiefs decided to okay mustaches.

Voters Have Until 8 P.M. to Register

Eight o'clock tonight is the deadline to register to vote in the April 3 biennial spring election.

Registrations will be accepted at all city and township registration places from all voters standing in line at the deadline hour.

New voters and those who have not voted since Jan. 1, 1957 must register. Voters who have moved since they last voted, must file change of address, even though they still live in the same community.

JFK Faces New Battle
on Parochial School Aid

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy today faced new opposition in Congress over his refusal to include assistance for parochial schools in his aid-to-education program.

House Democratic Leader John W. McCormack of Massachusetts split with Kennedy on the issue Sunday.

McCormack proposed that construction loans for private schools be written into the measure.

Kennedy, like McCormack a Catholic, already is at loggerheads with the leaders of his church on the issue. The U.S. Catholic hierarchy has said it will fight to have parochial schools included.

The President told his news conference last week that parochial schools could not be included in the $2.6-billion program because "it is prohibited by the constitution and the Supreme Court has made that very clear."

But McCormack said there was no constitutional bar to the federal government "making long-term loans at reasonable rates of interest for the construction or the renovation or the repair of private schools."

Kennedy's stand was supported Sunday by Chairman Adam Clayton Powell, D.N.Y., of the House Labor and Education Committee which will handle the bill.

To Don Bows for Games

PCH Fans Tied to Team

By DICK SAUNDERS

Everyone knows that Pontiac Central High School fans have all their buttons.

But this week they'll have bows too.

In fact, they'll have about 500 bows Wednesday when Central meets Northern in its first tournament basketball game.

We refer to bow ties.

Never underestimate the cleverness of parents and teachers. It was a parent, Mrs. Fenton Hamilton of 1428 Oakwood St., Sylvan Lake, and several faculty members who started the whole idea.

There are two types of ties. Those with plain edges for men; those with pinked edges for the girls.

They will only be sold to persons wearing white blouses or shirts.

So, if you see some odd-colored ties walking out of PCH tomorrow, the wearers aren't color-blind students.

They're Central boosters with all their buttons—and bows.

Mrs. Hamilton said there was no constitutional bar to the federal government "making long-term loans at reasonable rates of interest for the construction or the renovation or the repair of private schools."

Kennedy's stand was supported Sunday by Chairman Adam Clayton Powell, D.N.Y., of the House Labor and Education Committee which will handle the bill.

The cheerleaders made it a habit to wear the ties on game days.

Mrs. Charles Smith, art teacher and one of the cheerleaders, took the idea to faculty members and soon many women teachers wore the ties as well.

Recently, the cheerleaders decided to go all-out for the big tournament. They made 500 of the best ties in the traditional school colors.

The ties go on sale to students and faculty members at a dime each Wednesday morning. Proceeds will go to buy new sweatshirts for next year's cheerleading squad.

Retail sales by Pontiac dealers during the last 6 days of February totaled 9,498 new cars, and represented a 50 per cent increase over the previous 8-day period, it was announced today by S. E. Knudsen, Pontiac Motor Division general manager and General Motors vice president.

Total Pontiac sales for February amounted to 23,428. Included in this figure are 7,213 Tempests, Pontiac's new family-sized series.

LANSING (UPI) — The State Civil Service Commission will study health and life insurance plans for state workers Thursday in Detroit. It was announced today.

MAKING BOWS FOR BOOSTERS — Cheerleaders and faculty members at Pontiac Central High are mighty busy making and selling bow ties this week. JFK's Program Faces Easy Time

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy's legislative program sails into the shoals of congressional controversy this week with every indication that the vanguard of his priority proposals will win approval.

The Senate will take up by midweek a bill to provide $30 million in loans and grants for areas of chronic unemployment.

Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said he hopes the measure will be passed substantially in its present form before the week is out.

The Senate Finance Committee will hold a hearing Wednesday on a House-passed bill to extend unemployment compensation payments to jobless persons who have exhausted their benefits. Mansfield has scheduled action in the Senate on it next week. It is expected to sail through with minimum opposition.

PLANS MESSAGES
Kennedy plans to send a farm message to Congress Tuesday. He has scheduled a housing message for Thursday.

The kind of reception these and other controversial programs receive may be tested to an extent

U. S. Ships Stand By Off Congo Coast

Nations is empowered to use force as a last resort, the spokesman said.

Two Sudanese U.N. soldiers — of the 130-man garrison — are known to have been killed in the battle, which raged throughout Saturday and night Sunday. Thirteen other Sudanese were wounded. Twelve are missing.

A Canadian signal captain also is missing and the U. N. spokesman said there are grave fears for his safety.

Matadi is the Congo's principal supply port and without control there, the U. N. supply operation would be gravely endangered.

Trouble blew up in the hillside town 60 miles up the Congo River when Congolese units erected road blocks to impede the movement of U. N. personnel. Two helicopters also were seized as they touched down at nearby Boma. That was on Friday.

Saturday the Congolese tried to dislodge U. N. troops from the hillside town which had been used as a communications center by a Canadian signal unit.

The Congolese killed a Sudanese soldier in the attack.

CAPTAIN VANISHES
A Canadian captain who went out to talk with the attacking Congolese was not seen again.

Vastly outnumbered and with their ammunition running low, the Canadian signal post and its Sudanese guards surrendered Saturday evening.

Elsewhere in the town, fighting went on until noon Sunday.

At about the same time a section of Upper Michigan got a seven-inch snowfall. A ski meet at Iron Mountain was postponed because of blinding snow.

Rain school closings were reported in Clare County, Grand Traverse, Muskegon, Oscoda, Lake and Wexford counties where state police reported a general freezing rain.

Assignments Go to Broomfield

County Solon Likes His Jobs on Foreign Affairs Committee

Congressman William S. Broomfield, R-Oakland County, has been assigned to one of the most prestigious assignments on the House Foreign Affairs Committee.

The third term U.S. representative has been named to the subcommittee on the Far East and Pacific — considered one of the top assignments in the light of the situation in the Far East today.

He also was named to a second subcommittee on national security and scientific developments affecting foreign policy, and to a special subcommittee on Canada-U.S. intergovernmental relations.

Broomfield will be third ranking GOP member on the Far East and Pacific subcommittee.

His chairman is Rep. Walter H. Judd, R-Minn., considered one of the nation's foremost experts on Far Eastern foreign affairs. The doctor was a former missionary to China.

Broomfield said he was "extremely satisfied" with his three assignments on the Foreign Affairs Committee. His first two assignments were his choices in this regard, he said.

The second assignment, Broomfield said, was to an "extremely important committee" because it was the nation's space exploration program and mutual security. He's the second ranking Republican on this subcommittee, he said.

Oakland's representative in Washington was appointed to the Foreign Affairs Committee in February. He had served on the Public Works Committee for four years.

House OKs Jobless Pay to Rail Men

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House today passed by voice vote legislation to provide $24 million in extended jobless pay benefits to 60,000 unemployed railroad workers.

The measure now goes to the Senate. It was designed as a follow-up to legislation passed last week calling for up to 13 weeks of additional jobless pay for killed workers in other industries.

ONE-IN-A-THOUSAND — That was the reputation established by a tiny Australian terrier named Kevin at yesterday's Detroit Kennel Club show at the State Fair grounds. His owner, Jimmy Hawkins, 14, of Milford is examining a few of the award winning ribbons picked up by his rare "sharp" little pup.

Terrier Puppy Wins and Wins

Milford-Boy Takes His 'One-in-a-Thousand' to Detroit Dog Show

By REBA HEINTZELMAN

"Kevin," a tiny Australian terrier owned by a Milford teenager, couldn't care less that he was "one-in-a-thousand" yesterday at the annual Detroit Kennel Club show at the State Fair grounds.

The pup's owner, Jimmy Hawkins, 14, of Milford, carried off purple, white, red and gold ribbons amid the howls of pure bred dogs, and the sharp barks of hundreds of collies.

Kevin was unimpressed about the whole deal, as he had no competitors. In fact, the little dog is a new breed in the United States, although he is one of the most popular in Australia and England. His natural instinct is to hunt fox, and his short, strong legs can outrun the most rugged hound.

Weighing a mere eight pounds, Kevin looks like a cross between a Scottie, a fox terrier, and a long-haired dachshund. He is black in color with brown ears, long soft whiskers and sharp alert little eyes.

Jim Hawkins acquired the 6-month-old Kevin through a friend in Georgia who had it shipped from Australia as a gift to the boy.

Yesterday, the muffled "woofs" of the huge St. Bernards and Great Danes didn't phase little Kevin in the least. After the judging was completed — and this was brief — the dog took a look around, then calmly went to sleep in his comfortable stall.

During the afternoon, hundreds of curious people peered down at the unusual dog, surrounded by his award winning ribbons. Once or twice Kevin sat up and peered curiously at the people.

His small pointed ears picked up every whimper and the explosive barking of the nearly 1,000 dogs of every description that were registered for the show.

This tiny fellow from way "down under" will join all of the other pooches, wolf hounds and English bulldogs that abide around the Hawkins household, known as the Almyr Kennels.

During the next year, Kevin will feel the heat of flash bulbs, Klieg lights, and hear the grinding of commercial cameras.

He will model with some of the most beautiful girls, in the most beautiful cars in the world — and he'll probably care less.

Detroit Judge Says Police Give Too Many Tickets

DETROIT (UPI)—Detroit Traffic Court Judge John D. Watts has accused the city's policemen of issuing too many speeding tickets to traffic violators.

Watts said the lack of leniency by Detroit police is posing a problem for insurance companies because insurance companies are cancelling policies of some violators and refusing to renew policies of others.

The judge said he favored a plan whereby motorists exceeding the speed limit by 5 to 10 miles an hour would be issued a warning ticket which would not be charged against the driving record of the violator.

Police Sgt. Louis Berg pointed out there is no provision under law for issuance of warning tickets.

Glider Makes Record: 46,267-Ft. Altitude

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Paul F. Bilde, who heads the X15 rocket plane program has set a world's altitude record—in a glider.

Soaring is Bilde's hobby. When he isn't supervising the National Aeronautics and Space Administration X15 flights at Edwards Air Force Base he's often aloft in a sailplane.

He took a sailplane up 46,267 feet above sea level Feb. 25. The altitude wasn't verified from instruments until Sunday. The Soaring Society of America claimed a record.

The old altitude record was 42,100 feet, set in 1959 by William S. Evans of San Diego, Calif.

Suit Against Soap Leaders Is Dismissed

NEWARK, N. J. (AP)—Federal Judge Richard Hartshorne today signed an order dismissing an eight-year-old civil antitrust suit against leaders in the soap industry.

The order was presented by Miss Margaret H. Brann, a U.S. Justice Department attorney.

The suit charged monopoly and lack of competitive conditions.

Named as defendants were the Colgate-Palmolive Co., Procter & Gamble, Lever Bros. and the American Association of American Soap Manufacturers.

Pontiac Woman Robbed of $500

Bandit With Gun Takes Money From Partner in Fuel and Paint Store

A Pontiac woman was robbed of more than $500 by a lone bandit at gunpoint this morning as she was leaving the Oakland Fuel & Paint Co., 436 Orchard Lake Ave.

Mrs. Mary Forgett, 52, 29 Orville Road, co-owner of the firm along with her husband, Frank, told police the robbery occurred at 10:18 a.m. in the alley behind the firm.

Forgett told police she was attempting to start her car to go to the bank with the money when the bandit, armed with a blue revolver, came up to the auto.

Without uttering a word, he pushed her down on the seat, grabbed her purse containing the money, then fled on foot.

She said the purse contained $413.56 in checks and $105 cash.

She told officers she made such deposits at the same time daily as a matter of routine.

Pontiac Motor to Halt a Week

Will Join Buick and Oldsmobile in Output Stoppage March 13

Pontiac Motor will be one of three General Motors divisions suspending all car assembly activities for one week, starting March 13.

About 12,000 Pontiac and Fisher Body workers will be affected.

About 27,800 hourly employees will be idled all together in the shutdowns at Buick, Oldsmobile, Pontiac, and the six joint assembly plants of the three divisions.

This will be the second full-week shutdown for the medium-price GM lines. The other occurred exactly one month earlier — Feb. 13.

Supreme Court Hearing Sought

Sit-In Demonstrators, Teamster Local Among Those With Appeals

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court was scheduled to meet today to act on recently filed appeals and hand down opinions in some of the more than 40 cases now under advisement.

Among those seeking a hearing in the high court were two groups of sit-in demonstrators — one Negro and one white — from Tallahassee, Fla. They were convicted of disorderly conduct for refusing to leave seats at an F. W. Woolworth's lunch counter last year.

If the court should agree to hear arguments on their appeal, the sit-in demonstrators might set a legal precedent for other sit-in cases. Arguments would not be heard until next fall, however.

Another appeal involved officers of a Philadelphia Teamster local who have been barred from using Teamster funds in defending themselves in civil and criminal proceedings.

Federal District Court Judge Thomas J. Clark blocked expenditure of the funds, despite a resolution authorizing the union officers to use the union — Local 107 of the Highway Truck Drivers and Helpers. The union is an affiliate of the Teamsters.

Clark acted under the labor-management reporting and disclosure act passed by Congress in 1958. The law deals with the financial responsibilities of union officers.

The union officers told the Supreme Court, however, that the law had nothing to do with how the membership itself authorized expenditures.

Burglars Get $900 From Sale in Store

Sheriff's detectives today were investigating a $900 safe burglary at a Wallied Lake drugstore, believed to have occurred Sunday morning.

Thieves forced open a rear door of Anderson's Drugstore in the West Maple Plaza Shopping and carried the unopened 18-pound safe to their waiting car.

Walled Lake police discovered the break-in at 7 a.m. while checking doors in the shopping center. They said they had last checked the doors at 6 a.m. and didn't see anything amiss then.

The thieves used a stock cart to move the safe. They also stole several bottles of liquor and watches, the drugstore manager said.

The Day in Birmingham

Sewage Plant Art Center Plan Goes to Commission

BIRMINGHAM — A proposal to convert the city's vacated sewage disposal plant into an art center will be presented to the City Commission tonight by the Birmingham Art Association.

The association is making the proposal, according to Robert B. Bender, president of the BAA, because it will be necessary to abandon present headquarters for development of the northwest quadrant parking lot.

"It is our thought," Bender said, "that the sewage disposal plant can be converted for our education program, and at the same time provide an art center for the Birmingham area."

The site the group is seeking is at 1518 S. Cranbrook Road, southwest of Seashore High School.

BECAME UNNECESSARY
The building was vacated when the North Evergreen Sewage Disposal Authority was dissolved.

The facility became unnecessary since the same service was provided by the Evergreen Interceptor Sewer.

"The Bloomfield Art Association has long felt that such a development program should be started."

Arrangements were made by the Bell Chapel of William R. Hamilton Co.

A Requiem Mass for Mrs. William H. (Elizabeth) Moore, 75, of 18136 Buckingham Road, Beverly Hills, was to be held today at 9:30 a.m. with burial in Holy Sepulchre Cemetery, Southfield.

Mrs. Moore died Saturday after a long illness.

She was active in the Red Cross and at Children's Hospital in Detroit. She was a member of the Twentieth Century Club.

Her late husband was a former advertising director of the Detroit News.

Two Tots Die in Home Fire; Parents Safe

NEWBERRY (AP)—Two children died in a fire that destroyed their two-story frame home in this Upper Michigan community today. Their parents barely escaped with their lives.

Dead are 2-year-old Michael Scott Campbell and his 1-year-old brother Perry Fefer. Both were asphyxiated.

Peter Campbell, 22, and his wife Janet, 21, who were sleeping in a downstairs bedroom, broke a window and escaped. Their father escaped a deeply cut arm breaking the window and was overcome by smoke.

Mrs. Campbell suffered shock and was hospitalized with her husband, at the same hospital where the 3-month-old son has been since Saturday, suffering from pneumonia.

Origin of the fire, discovered at 2:30 a.m., was not determined immediately. Firemen found the children dead in their bedroom.

To Hold Service for Solon's Mother

Service for Mrs. John T. (Mary B.) Law, whose son Arthur J. is Pontiac's 2nd District Democratic State Representative, will be at 1:30 p.m. tomorrow at the Conelson-Johns Funeral Home.

Burial will be in Oak Hill Cemetery.

Mrs. Law, 80, of 3103 Cass Lake Ave., Keego Harbor, died Saturday at her residence after an illness of three weeks.

She also is survived by another son, Jesse M. of Keego Harbor; a brother; two sisters; 11 grandchildren; and nine great-grandchildren.

BISMARCK, N.D. (UPI) — In final moments of the North Dakota legislative session Sunday night, Sen. Alvin Warner Jr. asked all senators who planned to run for governor to declare themselves by standing up.

All 40 senators rose to their feet.

Urges Service Spending Curbs

Kennedy Asks New Measures Abroad to Ease Gold Drain

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy has urged new spending curbs on American servicemen abroad expected to save up to $10 million a year and help ease the drain on U.S. gold reserves.

Included in the program announced Sunday by the President was a ban on transportation of newly purchased foreign-made automobiles at U.S. government expense.

"Primary emphasis in achieving this reduction will be on the voluntary actions of the individuals involved," a White House statement said. But it also listed "a number of specific actions" by the military departments "to insure the reduction of expenditures in overseas areas."

The statement was a follow-up to a voluntary plan which Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara announced after Kennedy reversed former President Dwight D. Eisenhower's order to reduce the number of military dependents overseas.

To match the saving that Eisenhower's order would have produced, Kennedy said there was need for a reduction of $75 to $100 per year in overseas spending by each foreign-based member of the armed forces, dependent, and U.S. civilian employee.

Big Navy Blimp Set for Nonstop Flight Over U.S.

SANTA ANA, Calif. (UPI) — The 342-foot Navy blimp ZPG-2, the world's largest lighter-than-air craft, was scheduled to begin a nonstop flight today to Glen Cove, Ga.

The helium-filled airship was to have begun its transcontinental trip Sunday but was delayed 24 hours by unfavorable weather and minor engine trouble in an airplane bringing a ground crew here from Weymouth, Mass.

The blimp made the first coast-to-coast flight in three years when it came to nearby El Toro Marine Air Station in January to conduct two months of classified research work involving charting the ocean floor along the coast.

NEA Can't Find Enough Teachers for U.S. Schools

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The National Education Association has reported that it is impossible to recruit all the teachers needed for the nation's schools under present salary scales.

In a booklet entitled "Profession Salaries for Professional Teachers," the association said Sunday that less than 75 per cent of the 1960 college graduates trained as teachers entered the education profession. It said low salaries was the chief reason.

Professor Says U.S. Must Turn Economy Around

WASHINGTON (AP) — An economics professor who headed a Kennedy task force says the major task this year is to "turn the economy around—to get it headed up rather than down."

Dr. Paul A. Samuelson of Massachusetts Institute of Technology said Sunday he does not foresee a return to full production capacity and a "tolerable" level of unemployment before 1962.

He predicted a business upturn by the middle of this year, but said high unemployment and latent inflationary pressures bedevil the long range outlook. Samuelson spoke on NBC's "Meet the Press" television program.

In another television appearance, Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg estimated that there now are 5.5 million unemployed Americans, "and this is a record high, since the great depression." REUTERS OF 100,000

Goldberg's estimate "in advance of compiling official figures for February—would represent a rise of about 100,000 in the unemployment total since January." A somewhat encouraging note came in an annual survey by the Commerce Department and the Securities and Exchange Commission. They reported that business men plan to spend $3.6 billion this year on expansion and modernization.

While this would be a 3 per cent drop from the 1960 level of $3.7 billion, at least it indicated there would be no massive slash in plant and equipment programs.

The survey said businessmen reported they plan to reduce capital spending in the first half of the year, but expect a moderate expansion in the last half.

The survey a year ago was too optimistic. Businessmen said then they planned to spend $37 billion for 1960 on plant and equipment, but the actual outlay was $35.1 billion.

Manufacturers, asked to estimate 1961 sales, said they look for a 3 per cent rise in shipments, except for the steel and auto industries, which projected lower sales. Trade firms expect a 4 per cent sales rise, and utilities said their revenues should go up 1 per cent.

A large number of Kansans took their names from Civil War and other military personages.

Taxpayers Being Cheated

NEW YORK (UPI)—American taxpayers are cheating themselves out of more than $5 billion by not taking deductions on the long form income tax return, according to a crusading accountant from Brooklyn.

Daniel K. B. Schwartz, president of National Tax Savers Inc., thinks the short tax return preferred by millions (including the tax collectors) is the short road to the poor-house.

"I personally have found 600 new deductions which taxpayers can claim this year if they use the long form," said Schwartz, who publishes a tax booklet entitled "Daniel's Tax Savers" based on 18 years of experience in helping thousands of clients make out their tax returns.

Schwartz is interested in the taxpayer who makes less than $4,000 a year, a category into which he believes 90 per cent of taxpayers fall. He says maximum use of deductions allowed on the long form will make 75 per cent of almost any expenditure deductible for those in the lower income bracket.

There are more than 1,000 everyday expenditures that are legally deductible, he said. "A random sampling would include: cough drops, clothes donated to charity, birth control devices, tips, cost of your hobby if you can sell $1 worth of it, magazines that can enhance your technical knowledge, anything you eat—if a doctor prescribes it, sales taxes, tranquilizers, license plates, Turkish baths and cemetery plots."

The government doesn't advertise the way of these deductions, Schwartz said, because it believes an undeducated public will keep on overpaying its taxes to the benefit of federal and state treasuries.

About 50 million taxpayers do overpay, he said. Many of his clients have told him they'd

Drought Threatening China Areas Again

TOKYO (AP)—Drought again is threatening areas in North China that suffered severe drought last year and Peiping radio says vigorous measures to save the wheat crop are being taken in rural communities.

Beside putting irrigation projects into operation, linked with the Yellow and other rivers, efforts are being made to dig wells and install pumps and diesel engines for underground water use, the radio said.

In Kiangsu Province and in the Ningxia Hui autonomous region, said by Peiping to be two of the driest areas, fields are being covered with a thin layer of small pebbles to reduce evaporation and drought-resistant seed has been sown. In colder areas farmers are cutting ice blocks from the rivers and taking them to their fields.

New York City has about 40 daily publications.

To Seek Identity of Small Child's Body

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Authorities will begin the grim task Monday of trying to confirm the identity of a small child, whose canvas-wrapped body was found Friday in a rugged area of Southwest Virginia.

They believed it to be the daughter of carnival worker Kenneth E. Dudley, who has admitted disposing of the bodies of five of his children.

Plagues Try for U.S. Support at U.N. During Cameroon Visit

A. Kelly

YACORRE, Cameroon (UPI)—Assistant Secretary of State for African Affairs G. Mennen Williams will fly to Nigeria today on his get-acquainted tour of Africa.

Williams arrived here Saturday from the Congo and met with President Ahmadou Ahidjo after a briefing from U.S. Ambassador Louis B. Broussard.

Informed sources said Williams promised Cameroon government officials he would do what he could to line up U.S. support for the U.N. General Assembly's discussion of Cameroonian agitation in the recent referendum in the British-ruled Cameroons.

In the referendum, the Southern Cameroons voted to join the Cameroonian Republic while the Northern Cameroons voted to join Nigeria.

The Cameroonian Republic is drawing up a complaint charging the Cameroonian and other West German leaders on "broad provisions of law."

The U.S. navy presented greetings from President Kennedy to Williams at the outset of his visit.

Because of not and dirt in the city has generally been denied and last longer than those in open country.

Joe E. Comer

Williams ordered the investigation after Dr. Richard J. Russell of Southern State University, a member of the Defense Department's advisory committee, said scientists have to deal with malaria or dengue or even more serious.

Russell, an adviser to the space committee, also said that these officers "through whom the investigation is being carried out" could get in touch with their counterparts on the scientific side of the community, Russell said.

Bonn Chiefs Talking to Avert Harman

BONN (UPI)—U.S. foreign policy officials here today are engaged in a two-day round of talks with Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and other West German leaders on "broad provisions of law."

The U.S. navy presented greetings from President Kennedy to Williams at the outset of his visit.

Because of not and dirt in the city has generally been denied and last longer than those in open country.

Cape Canaveral Has Come a Long Way

By ALVIN B. WEBB JR.
CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — his jumping-off place — a one-time rattlesnake haven that America shaped into a showcase of the future in 15 years.

Cape Canaveral is the 15,000-acre heart, soul and nerve-center of the Atlantic missile range, a 7,000-mile "shooting gallery" from America to Africa where the free world's largest rockets are tested.

To the world, this is "Spaceport U.S.A.," a sort of futuristic city whose skyline consists of red and white gantries instead of buildings, whose sole reason for being is wrapped up in the monstrous space machines that thunder into the sky almost daily.

One comedian called this $700 million scientific capital "Disneyland East." In a way, he was right: The Cape is a modern land of magic which bridged the gap from an obscure past to a fantastic future without ever having stopped for the present.

Less than two decades ago, the Cape was considered hardly fit for human habitation. The palmetto-covered sandpit, halfway between Miami and Jacksonville, was viewed as a triangular wart on the otherwise smooth face of Florida's burgeoning east coast.

When the military went shopping in 1946 for a place to test guided missiles, it seemed that a more unlikely place than Cape Canaveral could hardly be imagined. The place was almost inaccessible, neglected, a bit swampy, snake and mosquito-infested. "Desolate" was the word.

But the military, seeking a maximum of security and secrecy, saw it in a different light. Inaccessibility was a virtue, and ingenuity could overcome the disadvantage of the Cape's being cut off from mainland Florida by two rivers, the Banana and Indian, and a wide stretch of land.

There were two other advantages — the location of a facility known as the Banana River Naval Air Station about 10 miles to the south, and the chain of islands extending into the South Atlantic, ideal for the location of tracking stations.

The joint long-range proving ground, later to become the Atlantic missile range, was established, the Naval station became Patrick Air Force Base, the first of 13 downrange tracking stations were set up and Cape Canaveral was in business.

Its start was slow. On July 24, 1950, an odd concoction of German V2 and WAC Corporal was fired from a make-shift launching pad in a stretch of land cut from the wilderness and cleared of snakes and bushes.

The Cape remained comparatively unknown, testing non-lethal weapons such as Lark and Navaho, while missilemen tamed the land. Then came the first Russian Sputnik, Oct. 4, 1957, and the eyes of the world looked to Canaveral for a U.S. answer.

The reply was slow and humbling. The overtaxed Vanguard rocket blew up on its launching pad in December, and

It wasn't until Jan. 31, 1958, that an Army team headed by Walter von Braun put the United States in the space age by orbiting Explorer I aboard a Jupiter-C rocket.

During the three years since, volumes for history books of space have been written here. An intercontinental ballistic missile named Atlas was made war-ready, along with shorter-range weapons such as Thor and Jupiter, and the famed submarine-launched rocket, Polaris.

Heavy ICBM gantries now line the Cape's north coast. Gigantic service towers for rockets of the future, Saturn and Centaur, jut into the sky. And land already is being held in reserve for machines that will be five times as powerful as the best Russia has today.

PET DOCTOR
By A. W. Moller, D.V.M.

Q. I recently started giving my six-year-old Springer spaniel tranquilizers. Now I notice that his hearing is not as keen as usual. Could there be any connection? B. Chanav, Bayside, N.Y.

A. Yes, there could be a connection. Tranquilizers, or chemical restraint, have brought about great changes in veterinary, as well as in human, medicine. They have helped the veterinarian solve many an animal's emotional and physical problems.

Even though this group of drugs does so much good, there is an occasional animal so sensitive to the drug's action that undesirable side effects are produced. Your Springer spaniel's diminishing of hearing is an example.

Another animal might suffer a skin outbreak, or become more active instead of tranquil. This is why tranquilizers should be used only as the veterinarian prescribes them. In your case, I would certainly discontinue them and consult my veterinarian about another method of treatment.

Oakland Boat Clubbers Dance

The Oakland County Boat Club held its 45th Inaugural Ball Saturday evening at the club's Sylvan Lake quarters. The group is the second oldest club of its type in Michigan.

Some 150 couples were on hand for the dinner dance at which Commodore Kenneth A. Peterson took over the helm of leadership from retiring Commodore John Pemberton.

Other officers installed were Howard Swartz, vice commodore; Gerald Brown, rear commodore; Arthur Dean, secretary; and Edward Baxter, treasurer.

Taking office on the club's board of directors were Glenn Fries, Emil Still, Homer Shingledecker, Mr. Pemberton and John Benson.

A quartet of diners lingers over coffee at the Oakland County Boat Club's dinner dance Saturday evening. From left are Mrs. William Dowding of Voorheis Road, the Harry S. Websters of Mark Street and Mr. Dowding. They were among 150 couples on hand for the annual affair.

Just classes have been in session for three weeks, students at the university are absorbed with the familiar round of lectures, examinations and activities.

Suzanne Koprince of West Iroquois Road and May Gough of Quanton Road, Bloomfield Hills, were able to combine work and pleasure. Both freshmen girls received Hopwood Awards for creative writing.

ESSAY, FICTION DIVISIONS
Sue won her award in the essay division with "Walk Together, Talk Together" and Mary's "The Reunion" won an award in the fiction division. Sue and Mary are enrolled in the College of Science, Literature and the Arts. Sue is uncertain about her future career, but it seems from this that English might be her field.

More than one local student has had rewarding experiences at Michigan.

David H. Gustafson of Forest Drive was among 11 University of Michigan students initiated into Alpha Pi Mu, national industrial engineering honorary society.

Dave is a junior in the School of Engineering.

BALE HAS NEW NAME
Gold Bars and Braid, formerly known as the Military Ball, will be presented by the U. of M. ROTC Friday in the Union Ballroom.

Highlights will be the grand march of the senior cadets and an intermission performance of the Pershing Rifles drill team.

Dustan Smith of Edgely Drive will play a fundamental part in the dance's success. He has charge of the programs and invitations.

Dustan is a junior in the school of engineering.

PAUL BUNYAN BALL
The U. of M. Forester's Club held its 24th Annual Paul Bunyan Ball Saturday. Square dancing was featured, but round dancing was also seen.

Intermission entertainment featured the Forester's Club Jug Band. This is the university's most informal dance of the year.

Royal Oak Man Will Address Alumnae Unit
The North Suburban Alpha Delta Pi alumnae group will meet Thursday at the home of Mrs. Marvin E. Marsh of Beechwood Drive, Birmingham.

Guest speaker Ernest Gilford, Royal Oak attorney, has chosen for his topic "Where There's a Will, There's a Way." Questions concerning legal matters will be answered following the address.

Plans for the sorority's Founders' Day program will be presented and a nominating committee for new officers will be appointed.

Some cheek-to-cheek dancing is enjoyed by the Arthur Deans of Littlefield Street (left) and the Gerald Browns of Royal Oak. Scene was the Oakland County Boat Club's 45th Inaugural Ball.

Mrs. A. G. Wilson Feted as 'Boss of the Year'

Mrs. Alfred G. Wilson of Meadow Brook Farms received recognition as "Boss of the Year" Sunday at a brunch at Kingsley Inn.

Her secretary, Christina Scott, submitted her name in a contest conducted by the South Oakland Chapter of the National Secretaries Association. Returning from her winter home in Phoenix to accept the tribute, Mrs. Wilson was cited as having the attributes of a model boss.

'LOVED BY MANY'
Called "one who is loved by many," she was praised for her ability, courtesy and recognition of her employees. Seventy-seven-year-old Mrs. Wilson was the first woman elder of historic First Presbyterian Church in Detroit. Long active in civic affairs, she was named "Volunteer of the year" in 1958. Throughout the years she has been active in the Federation of Women's Clubs of Metropolitan Detroit and the auxiliary to the Salvation Army. She is among 68 persons named to the State Cultural Commission in December by ex-Governor Williams.

SPARKED MSUO
Four years ago, the Wilsons gave their failed Rochester estate Meadow Brook Farms, and $2 million in cash to establish Oakland County's first university, MSUO.

Speaker at Sunday's affair was Chancellor D. B. Varner of MSUO. Mrs. Wilson's award was made by NSA chapter president Mrs. Lois K. Gaigas.

Tentative plans for a rummage sale later in the month were announced by Mrs. Vidal Gonzales, ways and means chairman.

Mrs. Alma Cowley, Mrs. Charles Bryson and Mrs. Kinney will attend the April 5 meeting of the Greater Pontiac Centennial Commission Women's Participation Committee.

Watch It, Mom! He's Grown Up

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)—A man's own mom is more likely to wreck his marriage than his mother-in-law, says a family relations expert.

Dr. Paul Popenoe of Los Angeles, president of the American Institute of Family Relations, said that the wife is usually helpless. Only the husband can effectively convince his mother that her "little boy" is old enough to take care of himself, Popenoe said.

Luncheon Served for Women

The March luncheon for Women's Association of First Presbyterian Church was served by the Mary Martha Group Friday at the church. Mrs. Fred Turek was luncheon chairman.

Mrs. Ann L. Drury's devotional theme was based on the joys and sufferings of the Apostle Paul.

Mrs. Leslie Ellis, speaking on Christian education, presented charts showing how group project funds were used.

DISCUSSES FELLOWSHIP
Mrs. Robert Tweedie of the Presbyterian Fellowship Department of Detroit spoke on Christian fellowship and the need of youth leadership.

Adah Shelly will review the book "Dr. Ida" at the March 16 meeting, when civic sewing will be continued. White material for cancer dressings is urgently needed.

See Ya Later, Alligator

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: What does "Alligator" mean when he says he "longs for the paradise of the Orient because all American women are gold diggers"? That fool has never been west of Omaha. I spent four years in the "Paradise of the Orient" and let me tell you that nowhere on earth are the women so interested in a man's pocketbook. All they want is a free ticket to the States.

LIKES DOMESTIC STOCK
DEAR ABBY: Tell "Alligator" I have been all over the world and in my opinion the American women have more intelligence, taste, dignity, initiative, charm, and moral strength than any other women in the world. And what's more, they are better looking.

THE FLYING CAPTAIN
DEAR ABBY: The letter from THE ALLIGATOR sure burned me up. But, then, what can you expect of an alligator? He is a slimy creature with a big mouth who lives on helpless things he traps.

GLORIA

DEAR ABBY: The "Alligator" was right. Only I hope if he goes to the Orient and finds himself an Oriental wife, he doesn't make the mistake my brother made, which was to bring her back to the States to live.

She drove the car and he took the bus. She spent money like there was no tomorrow. She stopped waiting on him, and he had to wait on HER. Finally, he got fed up and gave her $1,000 to go back to Korea. She took the money, but she's still here.

MY BROTHER'S KEEPER
DEAR ABBY: I am interested in knowing whether you heard anything more from the Alligator, to whom you sent a quarter to hasten his departure for the Orient since he thought their women were so much superior to ours?

DEAR "ING": I haven't heard from him. I think by this time some American woman probably has made a hand-bag out of him.

"What's your problem?" For a personal reply from Abby, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to ABBY, Box 3363, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Wedding vows of Betty Carol Chittick and William M. Remley were exchanged before an altar setting of white gladioli and potted palms Saturday evening in the Pontiac Church of Christ, Brother caplets of horsehair braid and seals and held cascades of anemone pink and white carnations.

The bridegroom had Ray Reed for his best man. Seating guests were the bride's brother Richard Chittick and Clyde Demner.

Leaving on a Florida honeymoon, the new Mrs. Remley was wearing a soft wool tulle suit with dark brown accessories. The couple will be at home on Pingree Street.

Anaia pink candelabra accents Mrs. Chittick's sheath dress of navy blue lace over taffeta, worn with pink hat and navy accessories. The mother of the bridegroom attired in a costume sheath dress of grape peau de sole and silver lame, chose a pink flower hat and corsage of pale pink candelabras.

W. W. Hall officiated at the candlelight ceremony.

Receiving some 300 guests in the church parlors following the ceremony were the Thomas M. Chitticks of Lincoln Avenue and the Groves M. Remleys of Oliver Street, parents of the newlyweds.

The floor-length bridal gown of white silk peau de sole was styled with full hooped overskirt of tiny unpressed pleats edged with narrow Chantilly lace up plique. The gathered front skirt panel extended into a deep inverted pleat at each side.

A pointed basque bodice of Chantilly lace featured a Sabrina neckline and long hand-appeared sleeves. Fingertip veiling fell from a crown of seed pearls. A white orchid and stephanotis rested on the bride's Bible, covered with peau de sole and lace.

Mrs. Richard Lohff of Drayton Plains, matron of honor, wore a street-length aqua silk organza over taffeta styled with bell-skirt and draped sleeveless bodice, carried a cascade of white carnations accented with anemone pink blooms. Peggy Chittick and Sue Remley, sisters of the bride couple, served as bridesmaids, dressed like the honor attendant. They wore veiled

Faults Can Be Corrected

Don't Blame It on Heredity

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

It's a good thing that we have heredity to blame it on! What ever it is!Of course heredity does play a tremendous part in our lives, in how we look, how long we live, our abilities, and the kind of persons we are. However, it is a little puzzling and amusing to observe how folks "use" heredity.If there is some defect they are NOT going to do anything about, they throw up their hands and blame it on heredity. It is a some characteristic which they inherited but ARE going to do something about, they never mention heredity.It reminds me of the time my very young son said that his throat was just sore enough for him to stay away from school but not sore enough to have a doctor.

IN THE FAMILY

We hear people say, after indulging in a tantrum, "I can't help it! My family is just like that." My Uncle Joe had a heart as big as the world but he had an awful temper.Or, "Fat runs in my family.
They are all overweight. It's my glands." It is wonderful to use heredity as a comfort, but not as an excuse.I would hate to see the day when all go about with just what weinherited. If we did not improve, on what we inherited, many beautiful heads of hair would be straight and stringy; many women who are not anemic would have pale lips; women who have beautiful complexions at 70 would be frowned at 40; and women with light eyelashes would not use mascara.Inheritance should be used in constructive, not negative ways.
Give thanks for curly hair if you inherited it, for long-lived ancestors, for a naturally happy disposition.

WHAT TO DO

But, if you did not inherit naturally curly hair, there are per-manents; if you are overweight there is calorie counting; if you have trouble with your disposition, there is self-discipline, and if you have short-lived ancestors, do not despair!Many of those who are youthful in old age were semi-invalids at middle age. They had to live by the rules set down for them by medical advice, and many ancestors were killed by diseases and physical conditions which are now under control.Why not improve on your inheritance?If you would like to have my leaflet "Watchwords for Youth
After 40" send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet No.

A Guidepost for Lent

Her Convictions Foil Even a Shark

ELIZABETH SHERRELL
Guided by Her Faith

Most of the people strolling on Baker's Beach on the afternoon of May 7, 1959, were congratulating each other on having escaped the heat down town.

But Shirley O'Neill and Albert Rogier, freshmen at San Francisco State College, were talking about something else. They were talking about death.

"It's not death that should worry us," she was saying earnestly. "It's the loss of God. That's all we're here for, Al—to prepare for eternity!"

They walked silently, letting their eyes follow the great orange span of the Golden Gate Bridge. Al smiled. "Anyhow, I'm not planning to die today!"

But, as it turned out, he was wrong.

ALWAYS RELIGION
It was funny, Shirley thought, nearly every time she saw Al they seemed to get on the subject of religion. He'd said once that he hoped there was a world after death.

"Then you should be baptized, Al."

"I don't know," he'd always say. "Anyway there are years to decide things like that."

"Hey!" Al shouted suddenly. "It's almost 5:30! We'd better get that swim!"

The next moment he had run through the surf and disappeared beneath a breaker. She followed him. The surf was rough till she reached the calm, deep water 50 yards from shore.

"Hi!" Al was waiting for her. They smiled lazily at each other, treading water, squinting in the glare of the sun. Up the beach two men in hip boots were casting into the surf.

A SCREAM
Then suddenly the warm afternoon was split with a scream. It was an instant before Shirley realized it had come from Al. She whirled around to him. Out of the water rose a great grey shape. It hung there for a moment, then toppled over into the water.

Al's head appeared again. "Get away!" he shrieked. "It's a shark!"

The words jarred Shirley into motion. She turned and swam frantically for the shore. Get away! Behind her she could hear the thrashing of the shark. Then Al screamed again. She stopped. Every fiber of her body told her to go the other way, towards land, towards safety. But something turned her around and started her back. Ahead of her the water boiled and churned, blood red.

She reached for Al's arm, then drew back. The arm had been torn from his shoulder.

She swam close and slipped her arm around his chest. "Don't kick, Al! Lie still!"

Lying on her back, stroking with her legs, she pulled him toward the shore, waiting for the sharp teeth of the shark.

It seemed to Shirley that the shore would never be nearer. A wave washed over her face. She clutched Al tighter. Her feet touched bottom.

Then a wave broke over them and they both went under. She struggled up, dragging Al's head to the surface.

Four times they went down. Then one of the fishermen glanced that way. With a well-aimed cast he dropped the end of his line into the surf beside Shirley. She wrapped it around her waist and hung on as he reeled in.

They dragged Al a few feet up onto the sand, then Shirley dropped on her knees beside him.

"Al!" Al spoke so faintly she could hardly hear him. "Please, air!"

People were running from all over the beach. Someone laid a blanket over him. Stopping lower, Shirley put her mouth over his and blew into his throat.

Still Al gasped and struggled for breath.

"Al," she whispered. "Let me baptize you! Al, is it all right?"

Gradually the distant eyes focused on hers. "Yes," he said. "Please."

Shirley leapt up and ran to the water. She held her bathing cap in her hand and knelt beside him. "I baptize thee," she said slowly, as the water ran over his forehead, "in the name of the Father, of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost."

"Al," Shirley whispered, "say this after me. Oh my God, I am heartily sorry for having offended Thee."

HUSHED VOICES
"Oh my God," Al repeated. He closed his eyes. "I am—I am—"

Men were taking a stretcher from the truck. Al's eyes opened suddenly. "I love God and I love my parents and I love people! Oh God help me, God help me!"

The men lifted Al into the truck. All around people were talking hushed voices. "It would take a miracle to save him now," a man said.

But dazed and weary as she was, Shirley O'Neill was sure of one thing. She knew that the miracle for Al had already happened.

America May Add 80,000 to Military

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Reports circulated at the Pentagon today that the defense reappraisal now going on may result in addition of as many as 80,000 men to the U.S. military force.

Some boost of the present authorized strength of 2,462,900 uniformed servicemen has been considered a certainty, in view of President Kennedy's decision to emphasize conventional military forces.

One report said the Marine Corps may be increased from 175,000 men to 200,000, which Congress has consistently recommended. The Marines are a key part of defense plans to cope with brush-fire and Korean-type conflicts.

Board Has Confab With Citizens, Calls Milford Meeting Saturday

Final steps are expected to be taken Saturday by the Huron Valley Board of Education on the proposed multimillion-dollar school building program recommended by the Citizens Advisory Committee.

The school board has called the meeting for 2 p.m. at Milford High School after holding a joint session with the citizens group over the weekend to review its proposals.

The Citizens Advisory Committee in February presented a school building program to the school board that would take care of the district's needs for the next decade.

Nothing conclusive came out of the Saturday meeting, according to Supt. Harold O. Hansen, except that the board of education is considering setting up the 10-year program in two steps.

Each five-year building program has been estimated to cost $4 million.

Hansen said that the discussion Saturday indicates that the programs would eventually be lower than the preliminary estimates made by the Citizens Committee Feb. 1.

The 1961-65 school construction program proposes building 42 additional elementary classrooms, a 20-room junior high school and six kindergarten rooms.

The most pressing need of the school district at this time, according to the advisory group, is elementary facilities.

The citizens group recommended for the remaining five years the construction of 64 rooms. These would include a new 20-room junior high and a 20-room senior high, an elementary school and additions to three elementary schools.

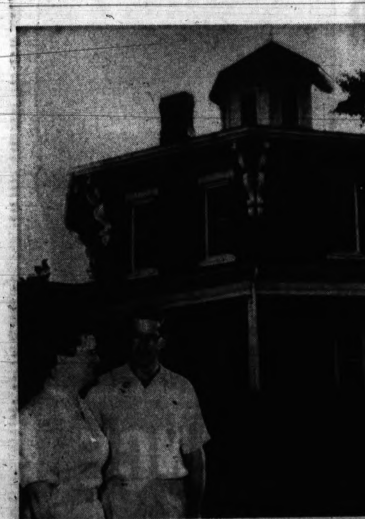

Some 50 persons attended the meeting Saturday.

Whitfield Library Club

Sixth Graders Go Bookish

By DICK SAUNDERS

A grade school student staggering home under a heavy load of books usually indicates a heap of homework.

But if he's a sixth grader at Daniel Whitfield Elementary School, chances are he's merely preparing a library budget proposal.

One of the most successful "experiments" in the Pontiac school system is the Whitfield Library Club and student library staff.

Initiated only last September, the Whitfield club has become the most active in Pontiac's elementary schools.

In fact, sixth graders have almost taken over the school's library lock, stock and bookshelf.

The whole project was started by three alert sixth grade teachers, with the assistance of Miss Margaret Luther, principal, and Mrs. Orville Gauthier, head of the library services for elementary schools in Pontiac.

The teachers, Mrs. John Beck, Mrs. Howard Caldwell and Mrs. Glenn Walford, believed that developing the appreciation of library facilities and how to use them were important factors in preparing children for junior high school.

So, they began to develop a library club and a student library staff.

"The eager youngsters flocked to the club," says Mrs. Gauthier.

"It began with about 12 members and now has more than 30," she asserts.

The student library staff handles an adult-sized job with all the efficiency of professional librarians. They circulate books through the entire school.

Working with Mrs. Gauthier, the staff has gradually become aware of the book and material needs of the school.

"It is not uncommon for a staff member to suggest to me that I buy more material on the United Nations, or the early French explorers," Mrs. Gauthier explains.

Imagine a sixth grader suggesting the school buy a "more inclusive book on physiology because a certain room needs this information and it is not currently available."

It happens to the Whitfield faculty all the time.

The library club was organized with membership on a strictly voluntary basis. Most members of the student staff are also members of the club.

Officers of the club are Debbie Davis, president; Kathy Reuter, vice president; and Pamela Dean, secretary. Meetings are held after school and follow regular parliamentary procedure.

The teachers and students cooperate in setting club standards, planning club meetings and outside events.

Book reports, both written and oral, are an important part of every meeting. Many programs are completely under student direction, while others involve adult guest speakers.

Mrs. Mary Green, helping teacher on Pontiac public schools and author of a popular children's book, "About Apples from Orchard to Market," has discussed the trials and tribulations of book writing with club members.

Mrs. Gauthier has occasionally entertained with storytelling from various books.

At Christmas the club enjoyed a social meeting at which they played charades with book characters.

Last fall, they made a trip to the Detroit Public Library because members had expressed the desire to see and compare the collection of a big public library with the collection and program of their own school library.

As their December project, the club presented an exhibit of books from the University of Michigan Extension Service.

Last month the club visited Pontiac's new public library to make a critical analysis of a modern big city library facility.

Tap Police Chief to Head Safety Check in Keego

KEEGO—HARBOR — Police chief James K. Sisk has been named chairman of the spring car safety check program.

Fire Marshal John Sellman has been chairman of the successful program in the past but the City Council felt it has reached such proportions that it should be directed by the traffic and safety engineer.

Under the program, motorists can pull into a specially marked lane voluntarily and have their vehicles inspected without cost.

No date for the safety program has been announced.

They Take Pump, Pipes — but Leave the Sink

ROME — Some thieves will take everything but the kitchen sink.

Robbers who broke into a vacant home at 6200 E. Eldred Road just west of here stole an electric well pump and all the pipes attached to it, Romeo state police said today.

The owner, Clarence D. Knechtel of 6969 Eldred Road, told police yesterday the $100 water pump had just been installed.

Knechtel said the thieves, who gained entry to the home through an unlocked front window, also escaped with a stapler. They left the sink.

See New Approach

Congress Awaiting Kennedy Farm Plan

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy is expected to send Congress tomorrow a long-range farm program probably based on a new approach to production planning.

It was reported today to be centered on a new food and fiber budget of total domestic and world needs for the products of American farms.

The White House announced more than a week ago that a presidential farm message was expected to go to Capitol Hill tomorrow.

Kennedy was reported planning to ask Congress for action on new legislation to trim grain surpluses beginning with 1962 crops — and also for action to expand the food for peace program.

He was expected to propose extension of the federal wool act, improvements in farm credit laws, and expansion of the school lunch program and special school milk subsidies.

The proposals all are related to the food and fiber budget which Agriculture Secretary Orville L. Freeman has said he hoped to have ready early next year.

A Republican combat senator has said part of Kennedy's farm program would have a "very flat effect" on prices farmers receive for their grain.

Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper of Iowa, a member of the Senate Agriculture Committee, described as "the most objectionable part" of Kennedy's feed grain plan a proposal to sell on the open market certain surplus stocks in government warehouses.

"That, in my judgment, would completely demoralize the market, completely demoralize the price," Hickenlooper said Sunday in a radio interview.

The senator, however, applauded another section of the President's proposal. That part would pay government price supports only to farmers who cooperated in a new federal land retirement program by taking 20 percent of their feed grain acreage out of production.

Hickenlooper said this was based on a theory advanced by the Eisenhower administration.

"I'm convinced that the most hopeful attack on this problem is the land retirement path and to attack this problem at the point of production rather than attempt to wait until grain and products are produced and then try to tack it at the storage point," he said.

Annual reports also will be given by Thomas K. Richards, foundation president; James D. Lyon, treasurer; Dr. G. C. Richey, chief of staff; Mrs. Robert E. Patton, Women's Auxiliary president; and Cray.

Look to Coming U.N. Session

Asians Seek to Ease Tensions

TOKYO (UPI) — Asian nations, view the coming session of the United Nations General Assembly as another chance to ease world tensions.

There was no undue optimism, however, that dramatic progress would be made.
Russia is unlikely to receive much support from Asian countries if it continues its attacks on U.N. General Secretary Dag Hammarskjöld.

Most countries in the area already have deplored the Soviet's declaration that it no longer recognizes Hammarskjöld.

Greatest support for the Soviet position came from Indonesia, which has declared it will withdraw its troops from the Congo. Indonesia also was expected to press for recognition of the Stanleyville government of Antoine Gizenga.

Aside from the obvious international problems facing the U.N., there are individual aims which Asia nations will attempt to forward at the General Assembly.

PHILIPPINES EYE SEAT
The Philippines has announced that it will run for election to a seat on the Security Council. No Communist country has announced its candidacy, but the Soviet bloc was certain to put up an entry.

The Philippines was a council member in 1957 after it battled to a draw with Yugoslavia. The two nations split the two-year term.

On other fronts, the Philippines delegation will support Hammarskjöld, support a peaceful solution to the West Iran problem, oppose Red China's membership bid, support any bid for membership for South

Viet Nam and the Republic of Korea and back unification of Korea by U.N.-supervised elections.

Indonesia's main goal will be election as new general assembly president of All States, former permanent representative to the U.N. and former chairman of the Afro-Asian conference.

There were rumors in the U.N. that Indonesia also might be a candidate for a Security Council seat, but they could not be confirmed in Jakarta.

The Japanese delegation faces a difficult task. It has been under fire in Tokyo for failing to take a leadership role in the U.N. Critics accused Japan of following too closely in the U.S. footsteps without developing a policy of its own.

Japan is likely to continue following the lead of the West in the U.N. Her main aim probably will be to influence so-called neutralist nations to co-operate with Western policies.

Final Appraisal of College Sites to Be Received

GRAND RAPIDS (UPI) — The board of control of the new Grand Valley College will receive a final appraisal next Friday of the seven sites being considered for the location of the four-year, state-supported school.

The college will serve an eight-county West Michigan area surrounding Grand Rapids. It was authorized by the last legislature and needs a site and $1.5 million in private funds before it can be chartered.

Four of the proposed sites which have gotten a thorough inspection are in Ottawa County. One is near Grand Haven, another near Marine and another near Alameda. The fourth Ottawa County site is Amana Park, which is owned by the city of Grand Rapids.

A fifth proposed site is in downtown Grand Rapids in an urban renewal area. A sixth site is at Muskegon and the seventh is near Rockford.

Home Not Too Busy, Scheffing Happy

Tiger Manager Pleased With Mound Corps

Detroit Trainer Hasn't Worked on a Pitching Arm to Date

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Pontiac Press, Sports Editor
LAKELAND, Fla.—Tiger trainer Jack Home has not been very busy after the first week of spring camp and this makes manager Bob Scheffing pretty happy.

Scheffing is especially pleased to note that not a single pitcher has had to take time for arm treatments in Home's "muscle tending" den.

Even Don Mossi, who Scheffing rated as being a very early spring pitcher, is looking his best.

"I remember when he was in Cleveland," said Scheffing. "Don sure had some terrible days in early season."

"In fact, I understand when he started in spring camp here the last two years he couldn't find the plate," he added.

Narleski, Paul Foytack and Ray Narleski all got an early start in camp this year in hopes of reversing their poor showing of last season.

As far as Narleski is concerned, he isn't even listed on the Major League Tiger roster. He's in the same position as some of the rookies battling for a spot on the squad.

"Imagine, not one arm complaint so far," Home commented within Scheffing's hearing distance. "That could be the big key to our season if we can keep it that way," Scheffing replied.

After watching Mossi and his turn throwing, Scheffing smiled and said, "he must have thrown 50 strikes in those 100 pitches."

He might be ready to go out there opening day. "Of course Scheffing didn't want to give the impression that he had already decided on Mossi for the opener. It was his way of complimenting how well the thought of Mossi's present pitching performance."

Moss was a big disappointment last season when he pitched after a 17.9 mark in 1959. He left the club late in August last year because of arm trouble.

Foytack who was put on the disabled list in mid-season for a month because of arm ailment had his worst season in five years, finishing only two games and losing.

Scheffing has just about contacted himself that Larry, Rummel, Moss and Foytack will be his starters, either Bob Bruce or Phil Regan to be a 5th starter or possibly a one-week loaner and he hopes for Narleski to win back a square position as his top fireman.

He is high on pitcher Terry Fox, when the Tigers obtained him from the Baltimore Orioles, as a good bullpen addition.

The latest word on Chico Yerxa is that he is still trying to clear his papers to get out of the Cuba and on George Alasia is that he has been sent a third contract to him home in Woodbridge, N. J.

The rest of his inner-spring camp is planned for Wednesday with the Grapefruit season opener Friday against the White Sox in Sarasota.

Special To The Pontiac Press
SAGINAW — Pontiac Central's Ben Donaldson set a new record for the Saginaw Valley Conference when he gained a first place Saturday in the finals of the Saginaw Valley Conference swimming meet.

The win helped PCH place sixth in the final team standings with 3 1/2 points.

Saginaw Arthur Hill, host for the meet, just barely managed to defend its title. The Hillites posted 25 points to 51 for Bay City Central. Others in order were Grand Haven, Bay City, Saginaw, and Saginaw Valley.

Seven league records were broken in the meet and Donaldson set 10 of the new standards. The senior pitcher broke his own 400 yard freestyle mark Friday and then shattered the 200 freestyle record with a clocking of 1:57.5.

Red Wings Limp Home With 3 NHL Setbacks

DETROIT (UPI) — The Detroit Red Wings limped home today from a disastrous three-game road trip and were still a long way from clinching a Stanley Cup playoff berth.

The New York Rangers bolstered their chances of overtaking Detroit in the fight for the fourth and final playoff spot last night by handing the Red Wings an 8-3 shellacking.

The setback followed closely on the heels of lags at Boston and Montreal and left Detroit eight points ahead of New York. Each team has six games to play, including the three games against each other.

Camille Henry led last night's New York assault with three goals and touched off the early three-goal salvo that demoralized the Red Wings.

The crowd of 11,697 had barely seen the first goal when Henry, called a 1:43. Pat Hanigan followed with New York's second goal at 2:18 and Andy Bathgate blinked the red light five seconds later to complete the 40-second outburst.

Henry got his second goal of the night later in the opening period and the Rangers added four goals in the middle period with Henry, Hanigan, Harry Howell and Jean Ratelle the marksmen.

Norm Ullmann scored twice for Detroit and Pete Goggin clicked once.

Montreal downed Detroit, 6-4, Sunday night with goals by Don Marshall and Bernie (Room Room) Geoffrion in the last three minutes turning the tide.

Detroit had rallied three times to knot the score. Alex Delvecchio, Wy Stasiuk, Howie Glover and Goggin scored for Detroit.

The Red Wings return to action tomorrow night at Olympia when they host the Bruins.

In other games, the Hawks took Toronto 3-1 and Montreal nipped Boston Sunday, 2-1. Toronto had downed the Rangers 4-2 Saturday.

Pontiac's prep were defeated, 55-41. Ross Coppemith won the basketball and individual medals for the local prep.

It was the last dual meet for the 'Y'.

Lakers, Wolves Meet Foes on Home Courts; Two 'A' Games

Win-loss records and championships are helpful but not necessary when the state high school basketball tournament rolls around.

A few teams that have poor records during the regular season manage to get well into regional play before being eliminated. Some league champions are ousted on the first night of district action.

Eleven teams will pack their uniforms after Tuesday night's opening round of district action involving Oakland County area teams. As in the past, one loss will mean elimination.

Two Class C games are set at Pontiac Northern. Suburban Catholic champion St. Frederick takes on Highland of the Motor Valley Conference at 7 p.m. Royal Oak St. Mary and Orchard Lake St. Mary meet in the second game.

The winner of the first game clashes with St. Michael Thursday. Farmington Our Lady will oppose the second game victory.

West Bloomfield takes on Clarencville at 8:15 in Class B on the Lakers' court. Detroit Lutheran West and Redford St. Mary play the first game at 6:45. The second game Friday for the winners meet Friday for the championship.

There will be one Class B game at Clarkston. The host Wolves tangle with Birmingham Groves at 7:30. The winner plays Oxford Thursday.

Northville and South Lyon clash in the opening round of Class B at Milford. The game is at 7:30.

There is one Class A game at Ferndale and one at Farmington.

Hamtramck, winless in 15 games, plays Oakland B co-champion Oak Park at 8 on the Ferndale floor. Southfield, last place team in the Inter-Lakes, plays Detroit Catholic Central, runner-up to Eastern for the city championship at Farmington at 8.

Waterford Our Lady makes its first tournament appearance at Holly against Goodrich at 8:30 in a Class D contest. Lake Fenton meets Flint Hoover in the first game.

In Class C at Port Huron, Capac plays Algonquin at 7 and Richmond versus Marine City at 8:30. Millington takes on Frankmunster in Class C at Lakeville at 7.

District games in all classes will continue Wednesday and Thursday nights, with championships being decided Friday and Saturday.

United States Puck Team All but Ousted

GENEVA, Switzerland (AP) — Bosten in all three of its starts, the defending champion United States team was virtually eliminated from the world ice hockey tournament today.

Canada and Russia, two teams with completely contrasting styles were the favorites to battle it out for the title.

The United States has lost to both. The Russians clothed the Yanks, 13-2, and Sunday the Canadians whipped them, 7-4. Russia stayed even with Canada — each with a 3-0 record in group A — by routing Finland, 7-3.

Income Tax Time . . . No. 6

Do I Figure Deductions . . . or Not?

This is the sixth of eight articles in the "Income Tax Time" series. The first five articles dealt with deductions, credits, and carryovers. This article deals with the standard deduction.

By RICHARD A. MULLEN
More taxpayers each year are finding that their expenditures for certain items such as distributions, taxes, interest and medical expenses have increased to such an extent that it pays them to itemize deductions rather than use the so-called standard deduction.

The smart taxpayer always compares the total of his itemized deductions with the standard deduction and uses whichever is the larger amount.

GMC Officials, Truck Dealers Meet

Several hundred GMC Truck dealers met with company officials last week as GMC Truck & Coach Division's annual series of nationwide dealer meetings got under way in five Southern cities.

R. C. Woodhouse, general sales manager for GMC Truck & Coach Division, told dealers assembled in Cincinnati, Charlotte, Atlanta, Memphis and St. Louis that GMC truck sales last year topped 1959's performance by 19.9 per cent despite a slight decline in industry truck sales.

He attributed the increase to demand for the newly-designed V-8 gasoline engine, new styling and many other GMC truck components that were entirely new designs.

Looking to the future, Woodhouse forecast that the trucking industry, barring unforeseen setbacks, should in 1961 equal or exceed the $63,335 new trucks registered in the domestic market in 1960.

"The construction industry will be strong in 1961 with substantial increases in road building and industrial construction," he said.

A-Sub Sailors Angry at Scots

Cabbies, Bars, Theaters Cash In When Proteus Arrives in Port

DUNOON, Scotland (UPI) — Townspeople and American sailors were up in arms today over the sudden jump in prices of drinks, movies and cab fares since the arrival of the U.S. Navy Polaris submarine tender Proteus.

Mayor Miss Catherine McPhail said she intended to see what could be done to end the "profiteering."

Since the Proteus arrived last Friday, pubs have boosted the price of a small drink of scotch by seven cents and for a large drink by 14 cents. Coffee went up a penny a cup. The local theater raised its prices by seven cents for a six-month-old movie.

Commies Win 1st Senate Seats in Chile Election

By FRANK N. MANTZAS
SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — Communists won their first Senate seats in 14 years but conservative government candidates in Chile's congressional election held a comfortable lead today.

Partial returns gave parties backing President Jorge Alessandri's coalition government 299,762 votes and leftist and Communist parties 258,572. The Communists elected at least three senators, causing dancing and shouts of "victory, victory" on the street in front of party headquarters.

The election was Chile's first chance to react at the polls to Alessandri's austerity program. In the municipal elections last year the Communists and Socialists had made a poor showing, and the shift in strength Sunday surprised political observers.

Ministerial Fellowship to Convene in Waterford

The Waterford Township Ministerial Fellowship will convene at Christ Lutheran Church, Williams Lake Road, Thursday at 9 a.m.

Pastor Arvid Anderson, president of the fellowship, will introduce Dr. Samuel C. Weir, synod executive of the United Presbyterian Church Synod of Michigan, following the business meeting. Dr. Weir will lead the fellowship in its annual Lenten service.

Before you criticize the old folks, remember that even though a clock is run down, it's right twice a day.

approximately 10 per cent of your income under $10,000. It can never exceed $1,000.

One disadvantage of itemizing deductions is that you must be able to substantiate the amounts.

That does not mean, however, that you must have a receipt for every deduction. Some, like sales and gasoline tax, can be estimated if you use a reasonable estimate.

The Internal Revenue Service has recently issued tables for each state which show the average sales tax deductions for taxpayers with various incomes and exemptions.

If you use that table, you will not be asked to substantiate your sales tax deduction. If you deduct more than is shown on the table, you may be asked to furnish proof.

Printed with this article is a table compiled by the Internal Revenue Service which shows the average deductions claimed by taxpayers on 1958 income tax returns.

Do not use the figures in this table as an estimate of your deductions.

The table is shown only to illustrate the average deductions claimed by taxpayers on their 1958 returns.

NEXT: Tip on deducting medical expenses.

What's so nice about these little envelopes is they're frequently large enough to hold the harvest.

THE PONTIAC PRESS, MONDAY, MARCH 6, 1961

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., announced Sunday his Senate subcommittee will hold hearings Thursday and Friday on legislation to help combat juvenile delinquency.

The measure would provide funds for the states to train specialists in handling juvenile delinquents and to set up demonstration projects to help control the problem.

The measure, which would legalize the use of radar by police, is supported by Gov. David I. Lawrence's administration. It was recommended by a special highway safety committee appointed by Lawrence.

HARRISBURG, Pa. (UPI) — A controversial bill proposing the use of radar to nab speeders on Pennsylvania highways was expected to be called in the floor of the Senate Tuesday for final passage.

Firing from a taxicab, the anti-Castro gunmen killed a 26-year-old laborer and wounded three others in the crowd assembled to observe the first anniversary of the explosion of the French mail ship La Coubre.

Militia and police riddled the cab with bullets, killing the driver, wounding one of the four passengers and capturing them.

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — The Puyehue volcano erupted Sunday spewing ashes and smoke from its crater. The Andes Mountain volcano is 65 miles south of here.

The eruption was covered with a light mantle of ash.

8-Mile Drain Go-Ahead Given

Barry to Ask State for $3-Million Bond Issue to Finance Project

With objections apparently out of the way, Drain Commissioner W. Barry has the green light to go to the State Municipal Finance Commission for permission to issue $3,038,000 in bonds to finance the Eight-Mile storm drain to serve Southfield and Oak Park.

The Oakland County Drainage Board has given permission to financial consultant Louis Schimmel to ask the commission to issue the bonds.

Taking into account the usual delays, Barry said he expected completion of the 19,100-foot drain along Eight-Mile Road to begin around June 1.

The four million, two-hundred-fifty-four thousand dollar drain will be paid for in the following manner: City of Southfield, $2,922,623; Oak Park, $116,336; Oakland County, $85,723; State Highway Department, $800,000; and the City of Detroit, $327,230.

Visiting Boy, 3, Still in Coma After Accident

Still in a coma 66 hours after being hit by a car near Milford Friday, 3-year-old Robert Cassidy Jr. remained on the critical list at Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital today.

Placed in an oxygen tent, the boy has regained only semi-consciousness from time to time, according to hospital authorities. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cassidy of Harbor Springs.

Doctors say they suspect the boy has a skull fracture and internal injuries.

He was hit while playing in the street in front of his sister's home at 1667 S. Milford Road. While visiting their daughter, Mrs. Lonnie Qualls, the Cassidys believed their son was playing in the fenced backyard.

Driver of the car, Victor A. Mirou, 42, of 3015 Delrose St., Milford, was released by sheriff's deputies at the scene Friday after questioning.

He told the officers he did not see the boy in time to avoid hitting him. The child was thrown 10 feet from the point of impact.

2 Men Hurt in Crash in Pontiac Township

Two men injured Saturday night when their cars collided head-on in Pontiac Township were reported in satisfactory condition today at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

Clarence L. Downs, 55, of 1870 Lakeview Drive, suffered fractured ribs in the crash. Charles E. Garrett, 31, of 992 Central St., received a lacerated right knee.

Two passengers in the Downs auto, Judy McLean, 17, of 24 Bellevue St., and Marilyn Small, 31, of 182 Clifford St., were treated at the hospital for minor injuries and released.

A third passenger, Lester Horton, 18, of 763 Corwin Court, escaped unhurt.

Both drivers said the other was on the wrong side of Joslyn Road when the accident occurred.

Sheriff's deputies said both cars were in the southbound lane after the crash, indicating they reported that Downs had crossed over the center line.

$30 Dog Disappears Through Car Doors

Unless his dog's a canine Houdini, a doggie is at work in the Pontiac area, Leroy H. Putsey, 764 Kenilworth St., told Pontiac police Sunday.

Putsey purchased a male Weimaraner for $30 in Clarkston Saturday afternoon. He put the pooch in an old car in the back yard of his home, closing all the doors.

When he checked later in the evening, the dog wasn't there.

The doors were still closed. Police inclined to the dognaper theory.

Officers haven't much to go on in the case. The dog, a six-month-old male, had no name, Putsey said.

But It's Not for the Birds

City Delays Elm Tree Spraying

The city today delayed its annual tree spraying to control Dutch elm disease, but not in deference to the birds.

Donald Nagle, city forester, said the high humidity kept spraying off the job, scheduled to begin this morning. They'll get under way as soon as the weather clears, he said.

Expressing sympathy with the plight of birds in the face of the DDT spray used to fight beetles that carry Dutch elm disease from elm to elm, Nagle said the city nevertheless was planning to go ahead with its spray campaign for the seventh straight year.

It takes about a month, with good weather conditions, to spray all trees in the city right-of-way between curbs and sidewalks, in city parks and cemeteries, and on adjacent basins on the Pontiac State Hospital grounds, Nagle said.

A report issued by Walter P. Nickell, ornithologist at Cranbrook Institute of Science, Friday concluded that the DDT spray was killing some birds and discouraging others from migrating to areas where DDT has been used over the years.

Nagle concurred in the conclusion, stressing that it was a concern with "many big chemical companies, the U.S. Department of Agriculture and many universities, where research is under way to minimize this deplorable side action of DDT."

He said the city would welcome a favorable development. But meanwhile, Nagle said, the city will continue to protect the elm trees.

"We don't enjoy killing the birds or driving them away, Nagle said. "It's a question of saving the trees. In the long run, this is for the benefit of the birds."

Nagle believed that the city's treatment, early in the year, duced the danger to birds.

He also stressed that the spray is not harmful to paint on automobiles and houses, explaining that any spots can be washed off.

Although the city has no public program for spraying trees on private property, property owners, usually "above excellent cooperation" in having trees sprayed on their own by private contractors, Nagle said.

Two thieves learned Saturday that they'd made the wrong selection while shopping for a store to loot.

N. L. Pattison, owner of Connolly's Jewelers, 16 W. Huron St., reported to Pontiac police that the two men entered his store shortly before noon.

One inquired about a radio. Out of the corner of his eye, Pattison spotted the other reaching behind a counter, grabbing four watches.

Pattison told police he grabbed the thief's arm and got back the watches.

He called police. By the time they arrived, however, the two men had left—preferring freedom to their quest for watches.

Profit Taking Cramps Gains

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market maintained a higher edge early this afternoon despite some sharp profit taking. Trading was heavy.

Gains of key stocks were mainly fractional but here and there some of the pivotal issues jumped more than a point.

Small hours crept into the list as the increasing pace of the market's strong day-to-day advance of last week.

Some of the high-flying electronic stocks and other "glamour" issues were clipped rather sharply by profit taking. A number of lower- or medium priced issues continued advanced under keen public demand.

STEELS TURN MIXED

Steels turned mixed after an early advance. Motors kept their slightly higher trend. Tobacco, nonferrous metals and utilities were higher.

The average was bolstered by gains exceeding a point by Texaco, Eastman Kodak and General Electric which responded to investment demand.

Fractional gains were held by Jersey Standard, Chrysler, Ford and Liggett & Myers.

Slight losses were shown by American Telephone, DuPont, Union Carbide, Allied Chemical, Chesapeake & Ohio and Johnson & Johnson.

Polaroid dropped more than 3 points. Texas Instruments and Litter Industries were down a point apiece.

Libbey-Owens-Ford held half of an initial gain exceeding 2 points. McCrory was active and up.

Standard Kollman, up close to a point, continued to respond to favorable comment.

ADD 2 POINTS

Similarly, Brunswick picked up a couple of points. International Business Machines added about 2 points.

Avnet Electronics started 1 1/2 to 3 1/2, on 16,000 shares. A block of 26,000 shares of General American Investors traded at 2 1/2, off 1/2.

The ticky tape lagged as much as five minutes behind trading for an hour and a half in the morning. After catching up, the tape lagged again.

Smith Corona-Marchant continued to draw buyers on the basis of favorable reports on its new electronic typewriter. The stock was up fractionally in brief dealings.

Volume for the first two hours was 2.17 million shares compared with 2.25 million Friday.

W Germany Sets Mark on Her Own

BONN (UPI)—Economics Minister Ludwig Erhard says West Germany increased the value of the mark 5 percent on its own initiative, unaided by the United States.

"I give my word of honor, we didn't capitulate to American pressure," Erhard told a press conference Sunday. "We are going to have a free market in Germany, and (without revaluation) there would be no dampening price."

Making Try to Bring Refugees to Formosa

TAIPEI (UPI)—Nationalist China's government said today it is "taking steps" to bring anti-Communist Chinese refugees to Formosa from their present hideouts on the borders of Burma, Laos and Thailand.

The refugee problem, long a sore spot in relations between Burma and Nationalist China, flared up recently when Burmese fighter planes claimed to have shot down a U.S.-made B-24 bomber which was reported dropping supplies to the refugees. The bomber and one fighter were shot down.

Informed sources said the U.S. Embassy has already offered to help ferry out the refugees, who have been in China when the Communists overran the country in 1949-50.

Condition 'Satisfactory'

LONDON (UPI)—Lady Clementine Churchill is reported in "satisfactory" condition at St. Mary's Hospital. The wife of Sir Winston Churchill entered the hospital last week for a "rest."

Trading Rifle for Tomahawk

Chuck Connors to Play Indian in Forthcoming Movie 'Geronimo'

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Chuck Connors is laying down his rifle for a tomahawk.

It's one of the wildest switches since James Cagney went from "Public Enemy" to "G-Men." After playing "The Rifleman" with a huge success on TV for three years, the towering ex-baseball player is going to star in "Geronimo," for a feature movie. Yep, he'll play the big chief.

How come?

"I've been wanting to do a movie," he explained. "I've had some offers, but they always wanted me to play the same kind of character as Lucas McCain (The Rifleman). So I turned the pictures down, including 'The Alamo.' People see me for free every week as Lucas; why would they pay to see me in the same type of role?"

When the idea to play Geronimo came along, I jumped at it. The role is a complete reverse; I won't even look the same. Instead of a fair-skinned blond, I'll be dark-skinned with black hair. I've experimented with contact lenses to make my eyes brown. I don't think I'll wear them because they filter some of the expression in my eyes.

"I've researched and found out many Apaches—half-blooded ones live in Arizona—actually have blue eyes. The eyes don't make that much difference. If the public doesn't buy the change in the first three minutes, it won't matter how he looks."

No Such Thing as a Guinea, You Ninny

Britons Get Fed Up With Money System

LONDON (UPI)—The advertisement read: "Custom-tailored suit. Fine British cloth. Price—40 guineas."

Fine, but where do you get 40 guineas? Or even one? There is no such thing as a guinea in British coinage or currency. This has been driving tourists half crazy for years and the good news today is that it's beginning to get on the nerves of the British themselves.

There is a drive on to junk the archaic system of pounds, shillings and pence and convert into something sensible like dollars and cents.

The last guinea was coined in 1813 and all of them have long since gone out of circulation. Yet most shops list prices in guineas and you pay your doctor bill in guineas. You do it by handing over one pound ($2.80) and one shilling (14 cents).

Before we get into the campaign for the decimal system we might as well mention that a sixpence is worth seven cents, not six, and that there is something called Maundy silver coined especially for the queen.

She gives it away on Maundy Thursday in Westminster Abbey, but you have to be an old-age pensioner to get it.

Lord Dundee, minister without portfolio, started the drive for reform by saying the government wanted to know what the average man thought about changing to a decimal system.

The Daily Mirror (circulation above 4,500,000) took it from there and conducted a poll. Fifty-four per cent of 17,000 persons interviewed favored a dollar and cents system. Younger people were heavily in favor of a change; older ones not so enthusiastic.

Like Tokyo, the British currency system just grewed without rhyme or reason. The most popular monetary denominations are threepence (3½ cents), sixpence (7 cents), shilling (14 cents), florin (28 cents), half crown (35 cents), ten-shilling note ($1.40), pound note ($2.80), five-pound note ($14). The half crown, a heavy cartwheel, appears to have been designed chiefly to weigh down pockets and keep British sailors on their toes so sailors won't look lopsided. There is no logical reason for its existence but there are 37,000,000 of them in circulation.

Other monetary matters that befog the average mind: — If there is a half crown, there ought to be a crown, but not any more. They stopped making them and one explanation is that there is a superstition among shop girls that they will get fired if somebody offers them a crown.

— One-pound notes are legal tender in England, Scotland, Wales and Northern Ireland, but five-pound notes are legal only in England and Wales.

— Scottish banks issue currency in denominations up to 100 pounds. The notes are not legal tender, but lots of people accept them anyway, depending on how they happen to be feeling that day.

Twister Reshapes House

SOMETHING SEAMS WRONG — A tornado which struck Chicago's South Side redesigned this frame home. The front wall took on a bulge at the seams but the building remained pretty well intact. Many other buildings in two storm-battered areas remained standing, but they were damaged beyond repair. The destruction figure was pegged at $5 million.

Hunt Hidden Dangers in Wake of $5-Million Chicago Tornado

CHICAGO (UPI) — Inspection teams today probed buildings near tornado-ravaged South Side blocks for dangerous hidden structural damage left by a $5-million tornado that killed one man and injured at least 115 persons.

Authorities declined an early estimate of the number of homes and shops still standing but damaged beyond repair by the leap-frogging tornado Saturday.

More than a dozen persons still were hospitalized with fractures or cuts from the twister as the city began clean-up operations expected to take months.

Police maintained "round-the-clock" guards against looting, and two of the nation's largest insurance agencies, representing more than 300 fire and casualty insurance firms, set up offices in the South Side disaster area.

7,500 CLAIMS POSSIBLE

Fire Commissioner Robert J. Quinn said damage could run "as high as $5 million" and the Insurance Information Institute said property losses in the 833-square block area may yield 7,500 damage claims.

Mayor Richard J. Daley, who toured the area shortly after the twister dipped out of a black sky late Saturday afternoon, visited rooftop home owners again Sunday.

He praised the "neighborliness of the people" and said cleared streets and sidewalks were a "credit to all the city workers who labored through the night."

He granted a housewife's request for a "few days off" for her husband — a city policeman — and then told her their weakened home might have to be torn down "for your own protection."

She signed a note giving permission for the demolition.

The prospect of such a long period away from the cameras raised another big question mark over the future of the multi-million-dollar epic "Cleopatra," in which Miss Taylor was to play the title role.

But Dr. Goldman said Miss Taylor "has tremendous fighting powers and I feel certain she will pull through."

Dr. Goldman said the tube inserted in the star's throat to help her breathing had made her restless.

ATTENDS ACTRESS

"Dr. Middleton Price, the breathing expert, was with her all night," he reported.

"Cleopatra" was scheduled to start rolling again next month after long delays due to earlier illnesses of Miss Taylor. The delays are estimated to have cost more than $1 million so far.

The 29-year-old beauty was rushed to the exclusive London clinic by ambulance Saturday night with staphylococcus pneumonia. An emergency tracheotomy was performed, placing a tube into her windpipe to ease her breathing.

State Dems Take Steps on Spring Election

Staebler Voted In to Replace Quimby; Start Drive on Con-Con

DETROIT (AP) — Michigan's Democrats—with old faces in new assignments—moved today to carry out campaign orders for the spring election, including a drive supporting a constitutional convention.

By unanimous votes, the Democratic State Central Committee took these steps Sunday at the first meeting presided over by its new chairman, 25-year-old John J. (Joe) Collins of Jackson.

—Elected Neil Staebler, 55, Ann Arbor businessman, as national committeeman to succeed Thomas H. E. Quimby, who resigned to take a recruitment post in President Kennedy's peace corps program.

—Approved a plan to co-ordinate party efforts with other forces backing the constitutional convention proposal on the April 2 ballot.

—Endorsed a Collins' proposal to appoint a deputy regional vice chairman to act in an advisory capacity, reporting directly to the chairman.

—Backed Collins' selection of chairmen for 10 party committees.

FOLLOW-UP DINNER

The Sunday meeting followed the annual, long-running Jefferson Jackson Day dinner Saturday night, attended by about 2,000 persons most of whom paid $25 a plate or $35 a couple to hear speeches by Interior Secretary Stuart Udall and party leaders.

It was the second largest turnout on record and netted the party some $28,000. Half of the sum goes to the national party, the rest being retained by the state organization, which is some 60,000 in debt.

Staebler, who only last month stepped down from the state chairmanship after holding the post 10 years, called upon the central committee to support his successor.

Staebler said that Gov. Swainson is clearly the top man in the party organization, adding that Michigan's senators, Democratic congressmen and other officeholders accept the fact of his leadership.

Voters Have Until 8 P.M. to Register

Eight o'clock tonight is the deadline to register to vote in the April 3 biennial spring election. Registrations will be accepted at all city and township registration places from all voters standing in line at the deadline hour.

New voters and those who have not voted since Jan. 1, 1957 must register. Voters who have moved since they last voted must file change of address, even though they still live in the same community.

Mayor Eyes Beard for Centennial

Mayor Philip E. Rowston was growing a centennial beard today and members of the fire and police departments have been given the okay for centennial mustaches. The mayor, who has long sported a bushy mustache, said that he had decided this in itself wasn't properly enough facial hair for the head of the city to display during the city's centennial.

Rowston has already officially proclaimed beards as a part of the centennial observance. Now his personal decision about beards is expected to encourage their growth among other leading figures at City Hall.

At least one other city commissioner, Robert A. Landry, has indicated he will grow a beard. The four other active commissioners at latest report were still undecided.

Meantime, centennial fairs have gained a boost in the fire and police departments. Acting Police Chief Joseph Koren and Fire Chief James R. White have acted partially to relax the ban on all facial hair in connection with the centennial.

OK MUSTACHES

Although beards are still nixed, they said mustaches were okay among police and firemen.

The ban, which went into effect in February, was eased after the City Commission, meeting informally last week, decided that department heads were on their own as far as decisions on beards were concerned.

Previously, City Manager Walter K. Willman had been cited as the authority on the beard ban. Then, Willman told the commission confidentially that he'd rather have no responsibility in the matter.

With Willman now on the sidelines of the beard debate, the two chiefs decided to okay mustaches.

FLIES TO U. N. — Ghana's President Kwame Nkrumah waves on arrival at New York's Idlewild Airport Sunday night. He'll talk with President Kennedy about African problems Wednesday. Today, Nkrumah had breakfast with American U. N. Ambassador Adlai Stevenson and lunch with Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld. The Ghanaian leader will be one of the first speakers when the U. N. General Assembly resumes Tuesday after an 11-week recess.

Weary Soldiers Give Up After 24-Hour Battle

Negotiate for Return of Garrison to Town With Force as Alternative

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Navy has diverted a small task force of ships from a goodwill visit to South Africa and ordered them to stand by in waters near the Congo in case they are needed by the United Nations.

The State Department in making the announcement today, stressed that the action had "no unilateral significance whatsoever."

Department spokesman Lincoln White explained that the United States had no thought of intervening directly in fighting which broke out over the weekend between Congolese soldiers and the U.N. command.

White said the ships were delaying their South African trip "only to be available in the event the U.N. may need them for further assistance."

JFK Faces New Battle on Parochial School Aid

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy today faced new opposition in Congress over his refusal to include assistance for parochial schools in his aid-to-education program.

House Democratic Leader John W. McCormack of Massachusetts split with Kennedy on the issue Sunday.

McCormack proposed that construction funds for private schools be written into the measure.

Kennedy, like McCormack a Catholic, already is at loggerheads with the leaders of his church on the issue. The U.S. Catholic hierarchy has said it will fight to have parochial schools included.

The President told his news conference last week that parochial schools could not be included in the $5.6-billion program because "it is prohibited by the constitution and the Supreme Court has made that very clear."

But McCormack said there was no constitutional bar to the federal government "making long-term loans at reasonable rates of interest for the construction or the renovation or the repair of private schools."

Liz Is Slightly Improved but Not Out of Danger

LONDON (AP)—Elizabeth Taylor had a restless night but she showed slight improvement this morning in her desperate fight against pneumonia, her doctors reported.

"There is a slight improvement in Miss Taylor's condition, but she is not out of danger yet," said a bulletin from the team of six doctors attending the Hollywood star.

Davisburg Man Drowns While Out Ice-Fishing

A 32-year-old Davisburg man drowned Saturday in Kirby Lake, near his home, while ice-fishing alone.

A friend of the victim, Bill Walters, said he had a premonition that Edward H. Hillman of 855 Marquette St. had drowned when he failed to return after six hours, and he went looking for him.

Walters and another volunteer fireman, Robert Thomas, found Hillman's body floating face down in about 3 feet of water at 5:30 p.m. The coroner estimated he had drowned at 11:30 a.m.

The firemen said Hillman had apparently gone too close to the ice's edge near open water leading into a creek, when the edge broke off, plunging him into the water about 10 feet from where his body was recovered.

They waded in after the body and retrieved it with a pike pole. Hillman was a self-employed land contractor in the Davisburg area. He is survived by his wife and several brothers and sisters.

To Don Bows for Games

PCH Fans Tied to Team

By DICK SAUNDERS

Everyone knows that Pontiac Central High School fans have all their buttons.

But this week they'll have bows too.

In fact, they'll have about 500 bows Wednesday when Central meets Northern in its first tournament basketball game.

We refer to bow ties.

Never underestimate the cleverness of parents and teachers. It was a parent, Mrs. Fenton Hamilton of 1438 Oakwood St., Sylvan Lake, and several faculty members who started the whole idea.

Mrs. Hamilton made a few of the orange and black bow ties and sent them to school last fall with her daughter, Sally, a member of the cheerleading squad.

WEAR TIES

The cheerleaders made it a habit to wear the ties on game days.

There are two types of ties. Those with plain edges for men; those with pinked edges for the girls.

They will only be sold to persons wearing white blouses or shirts.

So, if you see some odd-colored ties walking out of PCH tomorrow, the wearers aren't color blind students.

They're Central boosters with all their buttons—and bows.

Powell, a minister of the Abyssinian Baptist Church, said such legislation also would make money available to Southern school districts which have closed down public schools and are trying to operate private systems.

Kennedy's stand was supported Sunday by Chairman Adam Clayton Powell, D.N. Y., of the House Labor and Education Committee which will handle the bill.

MAKING BOWS FOR BOOSTERS — Cheerleaders and faculty members at Pontiac Central High are, mightily busy making and selling bow ties this week. The orange and black felt ties go for a dime each, and will be worn to basketball tournament games. Putting the nifty neckwear together are (from left): Jackie Mullen, of 140 Bagley Ave.; Miss Marla Jackson, English instructor; Mrs. Charles Smith, art teacher and cheerleaders' sponsor; Fran Austin, of 628 W. Huron St.; and Sally Hamilton of 1438 Oakwood St., Sylvan Lake.

MAKE OVER PAIRS Taxpayers Being Cheated

NEW YORK (UPI)—American taxpayers are cheating themselves out of more than $5 billion by not taking deductions on the long form income tax return, according to a crusading accountant from Brooklyn.

Daniel X. B. Schwartz, president of National Tax Savers Inc., thinks the short tax return preferred by millions (including the tax collectors) is the short road to the poor-house.

"I personally have found 400 new deductions which taxpayers can claim this year if they use the long form," said Schwartz, who publishes a tax booklet entitled "Daniel's Tax Savers" based on 15 years of experience in helping thousands of clients make out their tax returns.

Schwartz is interested in the taxpayer who makes less than $4,000 a year, a category into which he believes 50 per cent of taxpayers fall. He says maximum use of deductions allowed on the long form will make 75 per cent of almost any expenditure deductible for them in the lower income bracket.

1,000 DEDUCTIONS

There are more than 1,000 everyday expenditures that are legally deductible," he said. "A random sampling would include cough drops, clothes donated to charity, birth control devices, tips, cost of your hobby if you can sell $1 worth of it, magazines that can enhance your technical knowledge, anything you eat—if a doctor prescribes it, sales taxes, tranquilizers, license plates, turkish baths and cemetery plots."

The government doesn't advertise any of these deductions, Schwartz said, because it believes an uneducated public will keep on overpaying its taxes to the benefit of federal and state treasuries.

About 50 million taxpayers do overpay, he said. Many of his clients have told him they'd rather overpay than risk being questioned about itemized deductions.

"Of course it's ridiculous for any red-blooded American to feel that the government isn't billing us—it's already got our money."

PROTEST APARTHEID — A banner-carrying group marches along London's Oxford Street Sunday in a protest against apartheid in South Africa. The demonstration took place a short time after Dr. Hendrik Verwoerd, South Africa's prime minister and apartheid leader, had flown into the British capital to attend the Commonwealth prime ministers conference beginning today.

Moroccan King Balks at Change

Hassan Decides He'll Keep Regime Formed by Late Father

RABAT, Morocco (UPI)—Prospects of young Hassan II forming a new government of national unity in the near future were dashed today.

Informed sources said Hassan has decided to keep the government formed by his late father King Mohammed V last May.

Mohammed died on the operating table Feb. 25 when his heart stopped after he underwent surgery on his nasal membrane.

The new king announced Sunday that he has obtained a concession from France in regard to the timetable of the withdrawal of French military forces still remaining in Morocco.

SIGNED IN SEPTEMBER
Last Sept. 1, France and Morocco signed an agreement whereby the remaining 20,000 French troops in Morocco would be pulled out by the end of 1963 — the bulk of them by March this year.

Hassan said that under the new French concession, French naval air training centers at Fez, Agadir, Khourigga, Meknes and Marrakech would be closed down by Oct. 1.

Wounded Plane Gets Down OK
NEW YORK (UPI)—A Navy transport plane carrying eight crewmen limped into a safe landing at Floyd Bennett Field here Sunday night, minus six feet of one wing that was clipped off when it tried to land in fog at South Weymouth, Mass., Naval Air Station.

None of the crewmen was injured.

The four-engine R3D attempted an instrument landing at South Weymouth, 300 miles away, when one of its 30-foot wings clipped a 250-foot-high blimp hanger.

Pilot Robert Stair of Minneapolis pulled the plane up to a high altitude and tested it for safe operation.

The Weymouth tower then waved him off another landing attempt because of weather conditions.

He headed for Floyd Bennett, the closest field with clear landing weather. He landed the plane there two hours later.

To Protest Integration
CHARLESTON, S.C. (UPI)—Roman Catholic laymen here, recently warned by the church to prepare for integration of parochial schools, were scheduled to meet today to voice a protest. The group was refused the right to meet in the church.

Russian Vessel Tails U.S. Ship

Red Trawler Shadows Sub Tender off Coast of Ireland

DUNOON, Scotland (UPI)—A Russian trawler shadowed the U.S.S. Proteus, coming within one-half mile of the Polish submarine tender off the Irish Coast before hurrying off when a plane appeared, Capt. Richard Laming of the Proteus reported Sunday.

Laming shrugged off the incident as "amusing."

He said it "could be made to sound dramatic but it was not."

Laming said the Proteus was in the Atlantic Ocean off Ireland Thursday en route to its new base in Scotland when "this little trawler came over the horizon and came slowly toward us."

"About half-a-mile from our starboard bow," he said, "she stopped, looked us around, then passed us on the opposite course, turned around our stern and came up from the port quarter."

Laming said the trawler "hailed out and headed north rather rapidly" when a British press plane appeared overhead.

Adelaide in South Australia is surrounded by a "green belt" of 1,770 acres of parklands.
