New Session for Legislature

LANSING (AP) — The Michigan Legislature opened its 1968 regular session today with the legislative spotlight focused on antiriot, anticrime and open housing measures.

Both houses met briefly at noon and recessed — the Senate for committee meetings and a Democratic caucus and the House for caucuses of both parties.

Each house went through the routine procedure of naming committees to inform the governor they were convened and ready for business — which election-minded House members hope will end in time for them to campaign for fall elections.

Republican majority leaders of both houses expressed hope the session could end by late June.

Sen. George Kuhn, R-Birmingham, immediately introduced a resolution calling for a rare executive session of the Senate on Feb. 14 to hear a report on the status of crime in the state from State Police Director Fredrick E. Davids.

FIRST BILL OF SESSION

The first bill of the session was introduced in the Senate by Sen. Gordon Rockwell, R-Mount Morris, calling for addition of one circuit judge in both Livingston and Shiawassee counties.

In addition to holdover bills some 570 bill requests already have been filed by lawmakers with the bill-drafting Legislative Service Bureau.

The legislature will hear Gov. Romney's legislative recommendations tomorrow when he goes before a joint session of both houses to deliver his annual State of the State message.

Minority Democrats got a head start on the Republican governor yesterday by releasing their own list of legislative goals, including open housing and a state service corps.

Romney's message is certain to include a call for a statewide open housing law, turned down by the House only 27 days ago at the windup of a special legislative session called by the governor.

SCHEDULED TO LEAVE

Romney, a candidate for the GOP presidential nomination, is scheduled to leave for New Hampshire as soon as he delivers his recommendations, to campaign for the state's primary election—the nation's first.

9 Killed as Blast Rips Two Homes

READING, Pa. (AP) — An explosion shattered two houses last night, killing nine persons.

Firemen, working all night, pulled the bodies from the tangled, blackened wreckage. Some were burned beyond recognition.

Authorities tentatively identified the victims as Mrs. Frank Stanislaw, her children, Robert, 17, and Linda, 12, occupants of one house, and Robert Geiser, his wife, Shirley, his mother, Ethel, 64, and three children, Robert, 15, Bonnie, 5, and Karen, 3.

The only resident of the attached houses who escaped was Frank Stanislaw. He was walking home from a garage, where he had taken the family car, when the explosion rocked the neighborhood.

CREW DIGGING

Fire Chief Russell Bowers said a two-man city water crew had been digging in the front of the houses. Bowers said he was checking to see if they could have hit a gas line.

The men, who had earlier been served coffee by Mrs. Stanislaw, were still working in the excavation when the explosion occurred.

A neighbor, Edgar M. Reidel Jr., said he had just gone to bed when he heard the blast and children screaming. He raced outside and bumped into Stanislaw, who was running toward home.

High in the 20s Seen for Tomorrow

Moderate temperatures with light snow or a few snow flurries are forecast for the Pontiac area.

The weatherman predicts temperatures will be warmer tomorrow with the high in the 20s. Tonight's low will be zero to 12 above.

There's a chance of light snow late tomorrow.

Snow likely and a little colder is the outlook for Friday.

Precipitation probabilities in per cent are: today and tonight 10, tomorrow 30.

A frosty 15 was the low recording in downtown Pontiac prior to 8 a.m. The 2 p. m. reading was 25.

5th Heart Swap Failure in NY

NEW YORK (AP) — Louis Block, the world's fifth heart transplant recipient, died today just 10 hours after a surgical team had implanted a much smaller woman's heart into the 170-pound man.

Maimonides Medical Center in Brooklyn said the death occurred at 4:35 a.m. and attributed it to the "pumping capacity of the transplanted heart and the poor condition of the lungs due to the patient's long standing heart disease."

Block, a 57-year-old retired fireman, was put on the hospital's critical list at 12:40 a.m. when the hospital noted doctors were having "difficulty in maintaining his blood pressure." He was reported in "reasonably satisfactory condition" shortly after the surgery.

The hospital released word of the death 6:30 a.m. Its statement said, "It was an invaluable effort by the medical team" headed by Dr. Adrian Kantrowitz — the second transplant the team has performed.

City Takes Steps on Tax Revenue

By BOB WISLER

While the controversy over the legality of Pontiac's income tax continues, city commissioners last night took steps to take advantage of the expected tax revenue.

On recommendation of City Manager Joseph A. Warren, commissioners canceled a scheduled Jan. 16 public hearing on a $7.6-million general fund budget outlined last month by Warren.

That budget was drafted with the "supposition that we couldn't count on receiving any proceeds from an income tax in 1968," Warren said.

"Now that the city is in the process of levying and collecting an income tax, the budget as proposed should be revised to provide a more normal operation in the city departments than would be possible under the extreme austerity budget presented to you," he said.

Commissioners also approved temporary appropriations pending actual adoption of the budget. Approved was 50 per cent of the operating budgets of various funds so that payrolls could be met from properly authorized appropriations.

EXCHANGES

The appropriations total $995,372 including $627,771 for the general fund, $16,000 for sanitation and waste disposal, $80,141 for sewage treatment; $192,281 for water supply, $67,669 for parking systems and $11,500 for debt service on hospital and sewage bonds.

Discussion of city finances sparked several exchanges between Mayor William H. Taylor Jr. and income tax foe Cecil C. Mullinix of 571 Lowell.

Mullinix, who sought to intervene in the Circuit Court case which unheld Pontiac's income tax, called the decision of Judge William J. Beer a "shotgun, or hip-shot decision."

★ ★ ★

He said it was rumored that city officials "put up" two city employes to file suit intended to stop a referendum election on the income tax and vowed that the fight to force an election would

Rockefeller Concedes Nixon Has Big Lead on Romney in GOP Race

From Our News Wires

ALBANY, N.Y.—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller admitted yesterday it appeared former Vice President Richard M. Nixon was "well out in front" in the race for the Republican presidential nomination.

Rockefeller said Nixon's lead did not change his stand on not being a candidate, or his strong support of Gov. George Romney.

"If the party decides Dick Nixon is the candidate, I will support Dick Nixon," Rockefeller said. He added he would be "Disappointed, however, that the moderates were unable to unite behind a man like George Romney."

NELSON ROCKEFELLER

The New York governor told a news conference in Albany he is taking several steps to help "unify the party in the strongest possible ways."

★ ★ ★

Rockefeller said, "I think that, in New York State, that as far as the state is concerned, there isn't the enthusiasm that perhaps there is in other parts of the country for Nixon's candidacy."

'DRAFT ROCKY' MOVE

Gov. Spiro T. Agnew of Maryland, yesterday launched a drive in his state to draft Rockefeller for the Republican presidential nomination.

Agnew is the first Republican governor to get publicly involved in a campaign to draft the New York governor.

There was no direct comment from Rockefeller.

★ ★ ★

Monday, a group of Oregon Republicans launched a campaign to put his name on the state's presidential primary ballot by petition.

FORD CITES NIXON SUPPORT

House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford of Michigan said there's more support for Nixon than Rockefeller among Republicans in Congress.

Ford conceded Romney has "an uphill fight" to win the nomination but predicted he will fare better in the March 12 New Hampshire primary than current polls indicate.

He added he thinks congressional Republicans would support Nixon rather than Rockefeller in any choice between the two despite polls pointing to Rockefeller as the stronger candidate against Johnson.

Tax Foe Vows Continued Fight

BY JIM LONG

A Pontiac attorney said today he will use every legal means available to thwart the collection of Pontiac's new city income tax.

"We'll drain our brains for every possible way to halt the tax," said Robert Cunningham, the lawyer retained by a number of local citizens opposed to the tax.

The tax became effective retroactive to Jan. 1 when Oakland County Circuit Judge William J. Beer last week declared that petitions calling for a referendum election on the tax were faulty and thereby void.

The filing of the petitions with the city it was thought nullified the action of the City Commisison in establishing an income tax until voters decided the question.

The legality of the petitions were challenged, however, by two city employes who obtained a temporary injunction against the city in setting a date for a special election.

JUDGE'S RULING

Subsequently, Judge Beer upheld the position of the two employes by ruling that the petitions did not follow the procedures outlined in the city charter nor the state statute pertaining to city income tax.

"The city is being unwise in collecting the tax until after a final determination is made," said Cunningham. "They may be put in a position where they will have to return everything they've collected.

Cooking School Again Set

The ninth annual Pontiac Press cooking school will be held Jan. 22 through 25 at Pontiac Central High School.

★ ★ ★

There will be six sessions of cooking demonstrations put on by Consumers Power home economists Sara Bayard and Harriet Stinson. There are evening sessions each day and afternoon ones on Tuesday and Wednesday.

As in past years, grand prizes will be awarded at each show. This year there will be three ranges given. Other prizes, which will be announced in detail later, will include bags of groceries.

Prize winners must be 18 years old. No employe of The Pontiac Press or member of an employe's family is eligible to win any prize.

The demonstrations begin at 1:30 and 7:30 p.m. Doors will open an hour beforehand. Those attending must use the east door of the high school.

PARKING

Parking will be available in the lot adjoining Crofoot School on West Huron and also behind the First Church of the Nazarene on State Street.

Admission to the cooking school is free. Tickets (one per person for each of two shows) are available from The Pontiac Press.

Anyone not obtaining tickets may be admitted just before the sessions begin.

Rail Crossing Woes to Continue in City

Traffic tie-ups at Grand Trunk Railroad crossings will probably continue to be an irritating part of city driving.

★ ★ ★

City officials feel the ideal solution to elimination of these tie-ups would be construction of different grade crossings, at South Saginaw, West Huron and Johnson.

However, these solutions are not in the immediate offing because of the almost prohibitive costs involved.

One engineering study recommending a 1,200-foot overpass to carry east and westbound Johnson traffic over Cass and the tracks pegs the cost at $3 million-plus.

★ ★ ★

Under state law the railroad company is bound to pay only 15 per cent of the total cost and the city would have to pay 85 per cent.

COULD AGREE

The railroad company could agree to pay more than the 15 per cent required by law.

However, City Manager Joseph A. Warren said tie-ups at crossings are far fewer now than at any time in the recent past.

He said the city and Grand Trunk officials have worked closely in attempts to eliminate some of the unnecessary tie-ups.

Railway officials said they haven't been issued a violation ticket for blockading traffic since mid-December.

Various proposals have been made for eliminating traffic tie-ups including one to reactivate a belt line skirting the city's eastern edge.

Grand Trunk officials say this would create more problems than it would solve including congestion in the Baldwin-Columbia area, especially during peak traffic hours.

The belt line, built during the 1920s, cuts away from the main railway route just north of Square Lake Road and reconnects with the Johnson Street switchyards.

★ ★ ★

City commissioners last June ruled out construction of a Johnson Street overpass because of the cost.

JUST AS EXPENSIVE

Attempts to build grade crossings at Saginaw and Huron would likely be just as expensive, or more so.

★ ★ ★

The engineering firm of Harley, Ellington, Corwin and Stirton, Inc., considered seven different methods for eliminating the traffic problem before determining that an overpass was the most feasible and the best method for Johnson Street.

The city and railroad shared in the cost of the study, each paying 50 per cent.

The Guns of Judgment Day—1

Dan Wonders: Is It His Turn to Die?

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the first installment of a story about the Old West. Future chapters will appear daily in The Pontiac Press.

Chapter 1

Twilight of a blistering July day moved in from the plains while Dan Brisco was making ready to take over his regular shift as night marshal of Yellow Lance.

Yellow Lance was relatively quiet at this supper hour. All sounds carried.

As he splashed in the metal bathtub he could hear the voices of children at play. He listened to a housewife singing in her kitchen, the melody sweetened by distance.

The fragrance of suppers being prepared on wood stoves drifted through the open windows. A dog was barking somewhere.

The thought bore heavy on his mind that this might be the last time he was ever to hear these homely evidences of tranquility. This could be the night Diamond Dan Briscoe, marshal of Yellow Lance, was to die.

Using scissors and razor, he touched up his small, dark sideburns and mustache. He paused to gaze at his hand. It quivered a trifle. Yes, he was afraid. He was 30 years old and did not want to die.

No doubt, the three men he was credited with slaying in gunfights in the past, had not wanted to die either. But they were gone from the face of the earth and now it might be his turn.

He was a gambling man and knew the

VP Tells Bomb Halt Conditions

TUNIS (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey said today the U.S. government is prepared to stop the bombing of North Vietnam "if such action will lead to prompt and productive discussions lending themselves to a final settlement of this conflict."

"This assumes that North Vietnam will reciprocate and stop its bombardment also," the touring vice president told an audience of Tunisian university students.

Humphrey's statement appeared to be a reiteration of requirements previously laid down by Washington for a halt to the bombing of North Vietnam.

By an end to North Vietnamese bombardment, presumably he meant artillery bombardment of U.S. and South Vietnamese posts below the Demilitarized Zone between North and South Vietnam. North Vietnamese planes have made no bombing raids into South Vietnam or against U.S. ships operating off the coasts of Vietnam.

READY TO TALK

"We stand ready for an immediate cease-fire, an immediate cessation of hostilities," said Humphrey. "We are ready to reconvene the Geneva conference and we are willing to accept the good offices of any country willing to help this effort.

"We want a peaceful solution, but we will not appease. We will not leave South Vietnam to the mercy of threats from the North or subversive forces from within."

It was the first time in Humphrey's nine-nation African goodwill tour that he spoke at length to a foreign audience on Vietnam.

He seemed to be responding to a statement Dec. 30 by Foreign Minister Nguyen Duy Trinh of North Vietnam, saying that after a halt in American bombing and other warlike acts Hanoi "will" begin talks with the United States. The statement by Trinh seemed to advance what North Vietnam said a year earlier—that there "could be" talks after a bombing halt.

At another point in his speech, Humphrey said of the Vietnam situation "we are not ready to withdraw, to give up or to retreat in the face of force... If the Vietnamese people want a united country that is their business. But it cannot be done by force of arms."

Sihanouk, Bowles Exchange Opinions

PHNOM PENH (AP) — U.S. Ambassador Chester Bowles conferred with Prince Norodom Sihanouk for the first time today. Cambodian officials said the talk was "frank and cordial" and "useful points of view were exchanged."

★ ★ ★

No details of the one-hour meeting were disclosed. Bowles arrived in Phnom Penh Monday to discuss Communist use of Cambodian territory as a refuge from U.S. and South Vietnamese troops in the Vietnam war.

The conversation took place in the prince's modernistic Chamcar Mon Palace, set amid luxuriant tropical gardens. Informants said Sihanouk spoke to Bowles in English and expressed the Cambodian position with his "habitual affability."

President Johnson sent Bowles, the U.S. ambassador to India, to talk with the neutralist ruler after Sihanouk said he would welcome an American envoy to Phnom Penh. However, Sihanouk has said he cannot cooperate with the Americans by letting them pursue the Vietcong and North Vietnamese into Cambodia.

OTHERS PRESENT

Others attending the conference between the prince and Bowles were Penn Nouth, Sihanouk's private counselor; Premier Son Sann, Gen. Duoung Sam Ol, the defense minister, and Australian Ambassador Sinclair Deschamps, who represents American diplomatic interests in Phnom Penh.

An informed source said Bowles probably will confer with Sihanouk again Thursday and will leave Phnom Penh Friday.

Before going to the palace, Bowles and Premier Son Sann held a preliminary conference for an hour in the premier's office.

The Foreign Ministry announced that it is favorable to an American offer of two helicopters to assist the International Control Commission set up by the 1954 Geneva conference to supervise the operation of the agreements ending French rule in Indochina.

FINAL DECISION

However, a Cambodian note to the Australian Embassy said the final decision on the U.S. offer must be made by the commission as well as by the British and Soviet foreign ministers, who are cochairmen of the Geneva conference.

Prince Sihanouk has often said that he favors strengthening of the three-nation ICC but that the Soviet Union is opposed. The commission in recent years has investigated frequent Cambodian allegations that U.S. and South Vietnamese forces have violated the Cambodian frontier during clashes with Communist forces in the border area.

★ ★ ★

The U.S. government offered the helicopters in the hope that the commission could patrol the border as a deterrent to Communist use of Cambodian territory.

Big March Draft Call Portent for Midyear

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pentagon sources say the 39,000-man draft call announced for March is a sign of things to come this spring and summer — with monthly manpower requests of about 40,000 or more likely in April, May and June.

Last year's draft summons in the same four-month period averaged only about 15,300 per month.

As one manpower planner put it in describing the upswing: "We're dealing entirely with mechanics here."

★ ★ ★

The mechanics are that the Army is now in the midst of what the Pentagon calls a major replacement cycle involving the rotation out of service of thousands of men drafted when the Southeast Asia buildup was launched.

NEEDS SOARING

By August replacement needs will really be soaring. The reason: In August 1966, when U.S. manpower for the war was escalated, 36,600 men were ordered to duty, followed by 37,300 in September, 49,200 in October and 37,600 in November.

★ ★ ★

Those men will be ending their two-year tours this fall, and the Pentagon has to allow about five months for the induction process and training in lining up ready replacements. Thus, March inductees actually will be August replacements.

State of Union Talk Is Next Wednesday

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson will deliver his State of the Union message to Congress next Wednesday at 9 p.m.

The announcement from the office of House Speaker John W. McCormack, D-Mass., said the address will be televised by the major networks.

The annual presidential message traditionally is used to outline in broad scope an administration's assessment of the nation's current situation and its proposals for action in Congress.

Jaycees Seek 'Man of Year'

The Waterford Township Jaycees are seeking candidates for their "outstanding young man of the year" award to be presented at the group's 14th annual Bosses' Night at 7:30 p.m. Jan. 22 at the Old Mill Tavern, 5838 Dixie.

A spokesman said that nominees for the award must be between the ages of 21 and 35 inclusive, must be residents of the township and should be active in civic, church or community affairs.

Candidates need not belong to the Jaycees, the spokesman emphasized.

Nominations can be made by obtaining an application blank from Bosses' Night Chairman Albert Nollette at the main office of Pontiac State Bank and completing the form.

★ ★ ★

Thus far, more than 100 application forms have been mailed to community leaders.

1966 RECIPIENT

Recipient of the award for 1966 was Ted McCullough Jr., now a trustee on the Waterford Township Board.

CRASH-RESISTANT BAG — An experimental self-inflating restraint system for cars is shown here in fully inflated condition. The plastic bag is designed so that it would balloon to its full size within 4/100th of a second on a signal from an impact sensor. By the time a car occupant, represented here by a crash test dummy, could fall forward, the bag would have popped from its storage area to restrain him. The device was described in a paper presented by the Ford Motor Co. at the Society of Automotive Engineers congress in Detroit.

Air-Pillow System Eyed as Crash Buffer

DETROIT (AP) — Air pillows that inflate automatically in the twinkling of an eye to protect automobile riders in the event of an accident have proved their feasibility, sponsors said Tuesday.

The air-pillow safety system, however, was described as in the experimental stage and its actual installation in production vehicles termed "some time away."

Sponsors of the system say tests have proved its feasibility and that it appears "a major step forward," but they declined to estimate when it might be installed on cars.

The air-pillow system was described at a convention of the Society of Automotive Engineers by engineers from Ford Motor Co. and Eaton, Yale & Towne Inc., which jointly are involved in the development of it.

OUT OF SIGHT

The pillow, deflated and stored out of sight, inflates within two one-hundredths to four one-hundredths of a second in event of a crash. The engineers said it takes a person about two one-hundredths of a second to blink an eye.

Movies of crash demonstrations with dummies showed the pillows inflated before the dummies started to move forward from the impact.

★ ★ ★

R. Chute and D. P. Hass of Yale & Towne said they feel the system offers protection unmatched by any other and pointed out that it places no restraint on drivers or passengers until needed.

No action is required on the part of vehicle occupants to put it into operation.

SEAT BELTS NEEDED

W. K. Slack of Ford said that even with the air-pillow system, lap seat belts still should be worn to prevent ejection and interior padding still will be needed for protection in low-speed smashups that do not activate the pillow system.

The experimental device includes a folded plastic bag which may be stored in the steering wheel hub, the instrument panel and backs of front seats.

Employment Highest Ever at End of '67

WASHINGTON (AP) — Employment continued rising in December, rounding out 1967 with a record high average of 74.4 million Americans at work.

★ ★ ★

At the same time, the unemployment rate dropped back down last month to 3.7 per cent of the civilian labor force and wound up the year with a 3.8 per cent jobless average.

★ ★ ★

This matched last year's 13-year low unemployment figure.

"After some months of hesitation, there is a continued strength in the employment situation," said Asst. Commissioner Harold Goldstein of the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

WAGE HIKES HELP

Goldstein said a number of factors indicate a continued strong employment picture in 1968. These include pay raises for federal employes and an increase in the federal minimum wage from $1.40 to $1.60 an hour which goes into effect Feb. 1.

★ ★ ★

The additional money in the economy should increase demand for goods and services and create more jobs, Goldstein said.

Romney Warning: U.S. Guerrilla War

LANSING (AP)—Gov. George Romney warned today that "Michigan and the nation are confronted with the possibility of civil guerrilla warfare on a scale that makes Vietnam look like child's play."

Romney told a news conference that his comment was based on last summer's Detroit riot and on his cross-country tour of the nation's troubled urban areas last fall.

★ ★ ★

The governor, a candidate for the Repubdican presidential nomination, made the comment on the eve of his annual state of the state message to the Michigan Legislature.

Surveyor Lands Softly on Moon

Space Official Credits 'Divine Guidance'

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Narrowly missing a dangerous rock with what a space official called "divine guidance," Surveyor 7 settled down gently on the moon Tuesday night and televised the wildest scene yet found by U.S. lunar probes.

The three-legged craft, last of a $500-million series which has already certified four equatorial sites as safe for astronaut landing, was on a purely scientific mission to the 15,000-foot crater Tycho near the south-central edge of the lunar disc.

★ ★ ★

Given at best a 43 per cent chance of success, the unmanned Surveyor 7 surprised scientists by making an almost flat landing on a crater-pocked boulder-strewn plateau not far from a ragged ridge 18 miles north of Tycho's rim.

Between the craft and the rim was a desolate scene, reminiscent of the crater Copernicus photographed earlier by lunar orbiters.

FULL OF ROCKS

Pictures televised shortly after touchdown showed a landscape littered with rocks ejected from miles deep when the 50-mile wide Tycho was formed by a meteor impact ages ago.

One of the craft's three padded feet was only a fraction of an inch from a rock six to eight inches in diameter—big enough to have broken the skeletal metal leg.

Lee Shearer, assistant director of the U.S. space agency's lunar program, told a news conference: "The final 13 feet of the quarter-million mile flight was under divine guidance." That was the height from which Surveyor 7 dropped free after breaking rockets slowed its 6,000-mile-an-hour plunge toward the surface.

The rugged site was chosen deliberately by scientists hoping to determine whether there is any geological difference between the highlands where Surveyor 7 came down and the plains where manned landings are planned as early as next year.

★ ★ ★

Surveyor 7, launched from Cape Kennedy, Fla., Sunday, carries a small scoop to dig trenches as deep as 18 inches and a device to analyze lunar soil with radiation.

Patient Gets Calf's Valve

TEL AVIV (AP) — An Israeli doctor has performed what is believed to be the first operation to replace a damaged human heart valve with that of a valve from a calf and reports his young woman patient is progressing "quite well."

The valve came from a 2-month-old calf and was kosher, killed at the Tel Aviv municipal slaughterhouse in accordance with Jewish ritual slaughter practices.

Prof. Maurice Levi, a Bulgarian-born surgeon who has won acclaim for his skill in replacing damaged human organs, performed the operation several days ago at nearby Beilinson Hospital. He did not identify the patient, who he said may be released from the hospital in two weeks.

Levi, 41, a fellow student of Dr. Christiaan N. Barnard of Cape Town at the University of Minnesota, said his team had been doing about three to four successful heart valve operations a week using plastic valves.

Residents to Get Notice of Vote on Water Issue

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — The City Commission has taken steps to notify voters of the water proposition to appear on the ballot in the regular city election April 1.

Letters will be sent to city residents informing them of the fourth attempt to obtain approval for a municipal water system.

Approval by a two-thirds vote is required by the city charter. The proposition has been approved by a simple majority each time it has come to a vote.

The commission also awarded a contract for two police car replacements to the low bidder, Pontiac Retail Store, in the amount of $2,692.

BIRMINGHAM — Officers of the local Kiwanis Club have been formally installed for 1968.

Thomas D. Gaines, a counselor at Royal Oak Dondero High School and lieutenant-governor of Kiwanis Division Six, conducted the ceremony, which took place at Greenfield's Restaurant, 725 S. Hunter.

Officers include Robert W. Montgomery, 1517 Shipman, president; Ralph R. Watts Jr., 592 Bird, first vice president; Birmingham Chief of Police Darryl L. Bruestle, 571 Bird, second vice president; Ted Paczas, 1925 Forest, treasurer; and Jack L. Fawcett, 1650 Villa, secretary.

J. Hector Nimmo, 527 W. Frank, 1967 club president, will be responsible for increasing membership and aiding in establishing new clubs in Division Six in 1968.

BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — The United Homeowner's Association will hold its annual meeting tomorrow night at 8:30 in the Township Hall, 4200 Telegraph.

Principal business of the meeting will be the election of new officers. President Malcolm E. Norris will conduct the meeting, and Supervisor Homer Case will be present to answer questions of members.

Refreshments will be served.

GM Truck Pact OK Is Reached

Local Contract Vote Due Early Next Week

Negotiators at General Motors Truck and Coach Division reached agreement on a local contract at 8:30 p.m. yesterday after 36 hours of continuous negotiation.

★ ★ ★

Workers will begin voting on the proposed contract Monday or Tuesday, according to Joe Arthur, president of UAW Local 594.

Negotiations continued today at Pontiac Motor Division with Local 653, but no agreement was announced.

Pontiac Motor is the only Pontiac area GM plant without a local contract or proposed agreement. Fisher Body approved its agreement late in December.

★ ★ ★

All three major plants approved the national contract which called for pay raises of 50 cents hourly for skilled workers and 20 cents for production and nonproduction employes.

★ ★ ★

Arthur said the local pact, solely concerned with noneconomic issues, would be "recommended to the union members." He said meetings will be held later this week for each shift to hear and discuss the terms.

★ ★ ★

He said in his opinion working conditions would be much improved in the proposed agreement. Some 9,500 workers are affected at the plant.

★ ★ ★

Some 16,000 workers at Pontiac Division still are without a proposed agreement, but a union spokesman said negotiations would continue and the outlook was optimistic.

Red Troops Continuing to Hit and Run

SAIGON (AP) — Communist troops kept up slashing, hit-and-run attacks today to maintain the initiative they have displayed since the New Year's truce ended eight days ago.

In one major attack, North Vietnamese raiders blasted a number of U.S. Army helicopters with satchel charges at Kontum airfield, 260 miles northeast of Saigon. But in another assault, the Communists took a bloody beating.

Enemy assault troops covering the demolition squad fired wildly into the tents of soldiers defending the airstrip, killing seven Americans and wounded 25. The GIs charged out as the first rounds went off, and later counted the bodies of 14 uniformed North Vietnamese within the compund.

The U.S. Command would not say how many helicopters were destroyed or damaged but said damage was "moderate." This indicated a sizable number were destroyed or damaged heavily.

2 Bound Over in Abortion Plot

Two men charged with conspiracy to commit abortion were bound over to Oakland County Circuit Court yesterday for arraignment Jan. 23 before Judge Frederick C. Ziem.

The men — Samuel Bricker, 51, of Southfield and Hugh McDonald, 71, of Detroit — were arrested Oct. 2, 1966 by State Police on information furnished by a Birmingham woman, Mrs. Tabalea Drader, 1743 Shipman.

Mrs. Drader had contacted police a week earlier after receiving a phone call asking if she wanted an abortion.

Authorities then arranged for a State Police woman, Kay Whitefield, 25, to take the place of Mrs. Drader, when she was scheduled to go to Bricker's apartment for the alleged operation.

Miss Whitefield testified yesterday how she changed her appearance and carried a hidden electronic listening device on her person.

'ELABORATE SETUP'

Mrs. McDonald reportedly took her to Bricker's apartment, where, according to police, there was an "elaborate setup for abortion."

Defense attorney Carlton Roeser of Pontiac yesterday refused to allow the prosecutor's office to make a recording of Bricker's voice, presumably to compare it to a tape conversation between Mrs. Drader and an unknown caller.

Farmington Justice of the Peace Byron Walter binding the pair over to a higher court for trial, approved a motion by Roeser to lower their bonds.

Bricker's bond was reduced from $35,000 to $5,000 and McDonald's bond from $15,000 to $5,000.

City Takes Steps to Utilize Tax Revenue

be carried legally "as far as we can go in the State of Michigan, perhaps even further."

DENIAL

Taylor denied city officials had anything to do with starting the suit and related that the commission had been informed by the law department of deficiencies in the petitions shortly after they were filed.

He said the commission had decided to go ahead with the referendum despite the deficiencies.

Sherwin M. Birnkrant, director of law, said he advised the commission to proceed with the election because some 1,900 persons did sign the petitions, because it was questionable whether the deficiencies made the petitions totally invalid and because a special election clears up the deficiencies.

Invited to change his opinion of the Oakland Circuit Court ruling, Mullinix declined. He said he, as anybody else, has the right to criticize actions of an elected official.

The court suit stopped the commission from following through with the decision to set an election, Birnkrant said.

District 4 Commissioner Leslie H. Hudson said that in view of the appeal of Beer's ruling the city should refrain from spending funds from income tax collections.

Robert D. Cunningham, an attorney representing Mullinix on the tax question, said the petition circulators did not have a chance to defend the petitions in court. "So far, nobody has," he said.

Highland Taxes Protested

HIGHLAND TOWNSHIP — Several residents strongly protested their 1967 tax bills as officials explained why taxes are higher here this year at a special meeting last night.

The meeting, which drew about 170 persons, was organized by Max B. Johnson, 280 N. Hickory Ridge.

To provide explanation of the tax situation, Johnson invited to the meeting Herman Stephens, director of the County Equalization Department and representative of the county equalization committee, and James E. Seeterlin, county treasurer and representative of the County Tax Allocation Board.

For the 1967 tax bill, the township's Equalized Valuation (SEV) increased to about $20 million from the 1966 figure of about $15 million, said Township Supervisor Louis F. Oldenburg.

★ ★ ★

SEV represents 50 per cent market value of land and property, according to state law. Stephens explained that for the 1967 tax bill, property must be assessed on this basis, also according to state law.

OUTDATED ASSESSMENTS

The SEV in the township rose considerably this year, because previously the assessments had not kept up with the then-current market value, said a township official.

Also, for 1967, time was lacking to make reassessments on all properties, explained Stephens. Assessing in the township is under the direction of the supervisor.

★ ★ ★

The township hired an assessor, Clarence Forgette, who began reassessing properties last June and is expected to be completed in March, reported Oldenburg.

★ ★ ★

Because Forgette has concentrated so far on farmland, the township is to consider at its meeting tonight the hiring of a private firm to reappraise subdivision property. This would also be completed by March.

1969 TAXES

Stephens announced that his department would be reassessing the township in a year for the 1969 taxes.

★ ★ ★

In answer to several resident complaints over assessments, Stephens repeated that appeals can be made to the Township Board of Review starting the first Monday in March.

This board includes chairman Ott Bryan, Franklin Leonard and Clarence Carlson.

★ ★ ★

The board can meet as many times as necessary until April, said Oldenburg. Further appeal can then be made to the State Tax Commission which would investigate the property, informed Stephens.

APPEALS

The director of the County Equalization Department pointed out that these appeals regard assessments affecting the 1968 tax bill.

Residents opposing 1967 tax bills should pay them under protest and appeal the bill in the Oakland County Circuit Court in 30 days, recommended Stephens.

The director, after hearing the tax bill increase of several residents, told them, "You got a case." One of the residents quoted that his bill went up from $598 in 1966 to $1,321 in 1967.

★ ★ ★

Residents also asked why the millage applied to their assessments wasn't lowered because of increased assessments.

HEARINGS, PETITIONS

Stephens answered that residents can have their say at public hearings on budgets and through petitions for millage elections.

★ ★ ★

County Treasurer Seeterlin added that the extra funds the township and school district get represent "a little windfall but not much."

Oxford Nears Circulation of Incorporation Petitions

OXFORD — Petitions seeking the incorporation of the present village of Oxford plus about 4.25 square miles of township land should be in circulation within 10 days.

Manager Robert Smalley last night was directed by the Village Council to take all necessary steps toward getting a vote on the issue. He said the first item of business would involve the distribution of petitions for presentation to the Oakland County Board of Supervisors.

The council acted on a recommendation announced last week by its City Incorporation Study Committee.

The proposed new boundaries, which would more than triple present village size to about six square miles, include four subdivisions plus the three major gravel industries of the area and the Sea Ray Corp. on Lapeer Road.

★ ★ ★

Some $11 million of assessed valuation out of the total township assessed valuation of $19 million is involved in the proposal.

Suggested boundaries for the new city are as follows: About 200 feet south of Drahner Road on the south, north through Section 28 a mile to Seymour Lake Road on the west, west another mile and three-quarters along Seymour Lake Road, north a mile to Granger Road, east on Granger extended to Ray and Oxford roads a total of about four miles, south a mile to Lakeville Road, a half mile east along Lakeville, and south to Drahner.

The recommendation was immediately assailed by Oxford Township Supervisor Lee Valentine.

Said he, "More sensibly, I feel, is for the village government to remain compact and more easily administered while the township should move from general law to charter township for more flexible administration with less burden on the taxpayers."

★ ★ ★

Three of the village's five councilmen passed the resolution ordering the incorporation procedure to begin. Two were absent. Voting in favor were Mayor Pro tem Homer Hight, and Councilman Edward Bossardet and Jay Allen.

Bloomfield Twp. Lets Two Sewer Contracts

BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — The Township Board has awarded contracts for two sanitary sewer projects in the amounts of $70,473 and $22,352 to the low bidder, Oak Park Excavating Co.

★ ★ ★

Involved are the central and southern portions of Colonial Estates Subdivision, special assessment districts 196 and 197.

The board also approved the district and circulation of a petition for sewers in Chelmsleigh Subdivision.

Troy Council Okays Plans for Development

TROY — The City Commission has given the green light to plans of the Biltmore Development Co. for a $40-million apartment-shopping complex northeast of Big Beaver and Coolidge in this city.

★ ★ ★

In doing so, however, the commission refused approval for commercial zoning asked on 17 acres of the 264-acre request, and zoned them for apartment development too.

★ ★ ★

Biltmore, developer of the existing Somerset Park apartment project south of Big Beaver, requested a zoning change from single-family residential to multiple for part of a 328-acre planned community.

The company plans 110 acres of multiple-housing units, with the remaining area to be recreational, including a new golf course and swimming pools, and single-family.

★ ★ ★

According to company officials, the resultant planned population of 2,600 would vary little from that in a single-family residential area of comparable size.

TAX VOTE

The commission also set a final date Feb. 19 for the vote on a proposed half-mill library tax hike.

★ ★ ★

The increase, which would provide about $700,000 in revenue, will thus appear on the ballot with a proposed seven-mill boost requested by the Board of Education.

CONTRACT AWARDED

In other business, the commission awarded the contract for a $23,000 addition to Fire Station No. 1 to the low bidder, Sebold & Kage.

At Commerce Township Meeting

No Support for Annexation

COMMERCE TOWNSHIP — Residents attending a meeting here last night on the proposed annexation to the city of Walled Lake could find little positive to say on the question.

"City taxes" was the quip of one resident, referring to the city tax rate of 10.5 mills as compared to the township's rate of 3.38.

Next Tuesday three areas of the township will vote on whether to become part of the city of Walled Lake.

The dialogue last night was decidedly one-sided as not one voice was raised in favor of the issue. An estimated 60 to 75 persons attended the meeting in the Township Hall.

★ ★ ★

Township officials generally constructed a picture of a city, Walled Lake, desperate for added tax base.

CITY 'HAS PROBLEMS'

"There's no question Walled Lake has problems," commented Supervisor Robert H. Long, "and the city would like areas of the township and village to help solve them."

Former long-time supervisor Thomas C. Tiley was even more blunt: "There're up against it to put in sewers."

He charged that Walled Lake was not interested in the areas to be annexed, but wanted the areas to help pay for "what they have to do."

★ ★ ★

Tiley said further that if the various annexation attempts fail in next Tuesday's votes, "they're broke."

MORE BASE NEEDED

The former supervisor, who has been a township official for some 24 years, indicated that without the added tax base, the city's projected sewer construction would require an exorbitant tax.

Current supervisor Long and Wynn Berry, township assessor, labeled as not feasible the proposed rates for city sewers.

In a two-page statement, Berry charged, "In order to cover the deficit, Walled Lake city will have to double its existing city tax rate to over 20 mills for the city alone, or set the sewer charge up to $14.58 per use unit per month, which is 182 per cent of the figure they have quoted."

★ ★ ★

Long predicted city residents would be paying an (added) property tax to make up the sewer deficit, which was projected by township officials at $127,344.

LOSS TO TOWNSHIP

Residents, who last night appeared not to see any advantage to becoming past of the city, did indicate concern over the potential loss to the township from annexation.

Since most of the township's industry is located in the areas proposed for annexation, Long admitted there would be a very definite effect on the township, but said it primarily would be more an effect for the future.

★ ★ ★

The three areas in the township up for annexation are the industrial portion bounded by 14 Mile, Haggerty, Oakley Park and Commerce; a small parcel of farmland to the southeast corner of Walled Lake; and another portion bounded by the city's western limits, Pontiac Trail, Beck and Benstein.

Code to Be Reviewed

OXFORD — The Village Council will meet in special session at 8 p.m. Monday to review its Municipal Code. An updating of all ordinances every 10 years is required by the village charter, according to Manager Robert Smalley.

LWV-Sponsored Meeting Airs Proposed Avon Incorporation

AVON TOWNSHIP — A Rochester League of Women Voters-sponsored town hall meeting to air questions on the proposed incorporation of the township drew some 400 people last night.

A panel composed of Trustee Philip Trimble and Charles Vigor of the Citizens' Advisory Water and Sewer Committee, representing the township views regarding incorporation, and Mrs. William Chapman and Mrs. Russel Corbin of the League speaking in favor of unity through annexation presented opposing sides of the question.

A vote to incorporate into the City of Avon will take place Monday. Should the vote fail, petitions to annex all of the township to Rochester are on file with the county and would be next in line for consideration.

Trimble and Vigor cited the benefits of a favorable vote on incorporation. They said such a vote would give the township time to bargain on an equal basis with the city of Rochester for eventual consolidation; that a favorable vote Monday would not necessarily finalize incorporation.

★ ★ ★

If the vote is approved, electors would also choose a charter commission composed of nine people who would have two years to write an acceptable charter.

Asked who would bear the cost of writing such a charter, the township spokesmen reported that if accepted, the new city would bear the cost. If rejected expenses would be borne by members of the charter commission.

Asked what the chances of tax increases were under either incorporation or annexation, the audience was informed that no one really knew for sure.

Help for 'Terminal' Student

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — How should a high school teacher cope with the "terminal" student?

For "terminal" read future dropout—or vocational student — or any student not going on to college.

More specifically, how does the teacher reach this student with English, or any other of the "abstract" subjects not directly related to him?

It's simple, according to one expert, Dr. Daniel N. Fader, Ph.D., author of "Hooked on Books: Program & Proof" and developer of a language program for the W. J. Maxey Boys' Training School in Whitmore Lake.

The teacher brings the subject from the abstract realm to the concrete—he shows the "practical" student that language is a tool, and a necessary one, for living.

How is this done?

"I visited 1,000 high schools in a little over two years," Fader told some 70 Bloomfield Lahser High School instructors here yesterday.

"In many I said, 'Take me to your most successful teacher of the terminal student.' And I was sent each time to the quietest, most desolate classroom in the building."

This environment, essentially hostile to learning, results, Fader said, from the knowledge on both the teacher's and the student's part that both are marking time until term's end.

"The name of the game in these classes," he emphasized, "is discipline."

KEY SHORTCOMING

One of the principal shortcomings of public schools as they are presently organized, he claimed, is that only English teachers teach English.

"What this means," he explained, "is that the intensely practical child sees and assumes that he only has to deal with language 40-45 minutes a day. So what does he do? Why, he puts his mind out to lunch."

The first premise of the Maxey program, Fader said, is that every teacher teaches English. Each student writes 30 papers a week — one a day in English, and one every other day in every other subject.

The program's second major premise, he added, is that paperbacks, magazines and newspapers are to be used instead of hard-cover books.

PLEASURE IN READING

"When I was visiting high schools, I asked why certain books and materials were used. I got varying answers.

"But the only answer I never got was 'Because the children like them.' Pleasure in learning in our modern school systems is as irrelevant as pleasure for a can opener opening a can."

According to Fader, primary factor in increasing pleasure in reading, is filing books in spinners with their covers visible.

★ ★ ★

"When a child sees those bright covers, he knows that this has to be some kind of fairyland.

"He goes over, he picks up a book and looks at it, and you have him."

City Tax Foe Vows Continued Fight

Cunningham and his associate, Robert Coon, have filed an appeal with the Michigan Court of Appeals in Detroit in an attempt to reverse a ruling of Beer which prohibited them from intervening in the case and presenting a defense for the petitioners.

"Admittedly, the city was placed in the odd position of defending the referendum petitions but it didn't offer any defense," said Cunningham. There was no adversary in the case. That is why we wanted to become part of the suit."

APPEAL DELAYED

While matters involving public issues usually are heard as soon as possible by the appeals court, it is unlikely that the matter would come up this week since Judge Beer is sitting on the appeals bench as a substitute jurist.

Cunningham's client, Cecil Mullinix, the leading force behind the referendum petitions, was refused admittance into the case by Beer, only after Beer ruled that the petitions were not properly endorsed by three persons, and that the language qualifying the circulators was improper.

Last weekend, Mullinix, 571 Lowell, was named chairman of a new organization — The Citizens Committee on the Right to Vote. The purpose of the group is inform citizens of the income tax situation and to raise funds for litigation.

★ ★ ★

Another Pontiac attorney, Richard D. Kuhn, believes that Beer's decision eventually will be overturned by the appeals court.

STATE TAX FIGHT

Kuhn's interest in the income tax stems from his fight with the state over the failure to allow a referendum on the state income tax which is already in effect.

His suit against the state tax was dismissed by Oakland County Circuit Judge William R. Beasley last year, but the decision is being appealed. The case may be heard in March.

Kuhn is of the opinion that Beer will be reversed on the basis of a decision made by the Michigan Supreme Court last July.

★ ★ ★

In that case, the Michigan Farm Bureau attempted to prevent the certification of a referendum election on the statute exempting Michigan from the Federal Uniform Time Act of 1966.

RULING

The court ruled, however, that the referendum power of the voters should not be frustrated and that the "petitions appear as being a pretty fair model of the constitutional means by which a sufficient number of validly signing electors may succeed in referring to the electorate a measure already enacted into law."

The case concerned the state constitution, but the city charter serves Pontiac in the same way as the constitution affects the state, said Kuhn.

"If the leeway was given to the constitutional statute, why shouldn't it be granted to a city charter?" Kuhn asked.

Another case which might support the petitioners if they are allowed to intervene is one decided in 1961 by the State Supreme Court. In Kadans versus the Wayne County clerk, the court ruled that there was "substantial compliance" to his improper nominating petitions and declared that he could be placed on the Ballot.

★ ★ ★

Following Judge Beer's ruling, Kuhn last week sent a telegram to Mayor William H. Taylor Jr. asking him to schedule a special session of the City Commission to discuss postponing the collection of the income tax.

"The only thing I'm angry with," said Kuhn, "is the city saying it would defend the petitions and then didn't."

Vote Is Jan. 16

More Lunacy on JFK Assassination

In his latest press conference, New Orleans District Attorney JIM GARRISON dropped another plot boiler into the KENNEDY assassination case.

Five days before the assassination, says GARRISON, LEE HARVEY OSWALD, who was an agent of the CIA, says GARRISON, sent a telegram to FBI director J. EDGAR HOOVER warning that an attempt would be made on the President's life in Dallas, says GARRISON.

Garrison did not produce the telegram nor promise to do so when the first of his alleged conspirators goes on trial in New Orleans in February.

But he said that if the American people were convinced that it existed, they would not tolerate the continuation in places of power of those (including not only HOOVER but Chief Justice EARL WARREN and evidently President JOHNSON himself) who suppressed the truth about the assassination and made OSWALD the patsy.

That is the understatement of the century.

One question, however, still goes unanswered. Indeed, it has scarcely been asked by any of the growing number of investigators who have attempted to tear apart the Warren Commission report.

If there were any substance to these theories that JOHN F. KENNEDY was the victim of a conspiracy — before his death and/or after it — why would those who were closest to him, who were most deeply affected by his murder, who had the most compelling personal interest in seeing that the truth be known, have expressed their satisfaction with the official explanation?

The idea that the Kennedy family, with its wealth, prestige, influence and ambition, was bought or pressured into silence by somebody or just sold a bill of goods like the rest of us is as fantastic as any expose of the assassination that has yet been offered to the public.

Postal Deficit Cut by Postal Rate Hike

The more things change, the more they are the same, the old saying goes — and no better example could be found than in the U.S. Post Office Department. The postal rate changes which went into effect Sunday were inevitable. But they are unlikely to improve service.

A rule of thumb seems to be that a postal deficit of between $500 million and $900 million can be explained away, but one of over $1 billion is politically intolerable.

The deficit came to about $1.2 billion by June 30, 1967. The total had mounted from $651.7 million in 1964 to $942.3 million in 1966.

★ ★ ★

The U.S. Post Office handles more than half the world's mail. It regularly faces a familiar set of problems: sharply rising costs, slowly rising revenue, mounting mail volume, and sometimes erratic service. The volume of mail has grown from 75.6 billion pieces in 1966 to an estimated 83.4 billion for the current 1968 fiscal year.

The measure enacted by Congress in December boosts letter postage from 5c to 6c an ounce. It sends the present 4c-rate on first-class cards to 5c. Airmail letters go from 8c to 10c and airmail cards from 6c to 8c. Postage was increased on all classes of mail to raise an additional $900 million or so a year when rates are fully effective. Postage rates were increased in 1958 and again in 1964.

★ ★ ★

The deficit is expected to drop during the next three years, but it will jump to $436 million in 1970. And although much first-class mail now moves by air on a "space available" basis, delivery of other classes of mail is slowing up.

School Officials Flunk Spelling Test

Looking ahead a bit, the spring and summer diplomas of a university in Wichita Falls, Tex., misspelled "recommendation" (dropped an "m") in the phrase " . . . issued by the board of regents upon recomendation of the faculty."

★ ★ ★

School officials offered to honor the letter of the diploma by substituting one with the word correctly spelled for any graduate fussy enough to request an exchange.

We recommend a course in remedial spelling for the red-faced educators. (Note to proofreader: Watch the spelling on this one.)

Nation Caught in Mumbling Time

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON — This is one of those mumbling times in American history, with only a few surprises, both in problems at home and in foreign affairs.

MARLOW

It's a time for mumbling:

● The early days of a presidential election year.

● The candidates are just getting fitted for their track suits and haven't tried them on yet.

★ ★ ★

● Congress is away and won't be back until next week.

● And President Johnson, holed up in his Texas ranch, is working on the new budget and the programs he wants to hand Congress when it returns.

★ ★ ★

The surprises at home were of the negative kind—the desire of some of the top men around Johnson to quit — and the shifting around of a few words by the North Vietnamese.

'COULD,' 'WILL'

They used to say that if the United States quit bombing the North, this could lead to talks about ending the war. Now they say if the bombing stops, it will lead to talks.

The Johnson administration's reaction to this shift is wary. It is still mulling over the substitution of "will" for "could," a situation which may puzzle historians of a more enlightened age.

They may properly wonder why the two opponents in a war costing thousands of lives couldn't manage to communicate with each other directly so there could be no hemming, hawing, wondering, or delay if they wanted to end it.

★ ★ ★

The first negative surprise came before Congress and Johnson left the city. This was the news, leaked out instead of being announced by the White House, that Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara was leaving to become head of the World Bank, a job Johnson got for him.

STILL QUESTIONED

McNamara reportedly wanted the job because he was tired, after six years as defense chief. But there is still some question about his leaving. It is still not clear whether Johnson eased him out.

Next, Arthur J. Goldberg, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, is tired of his job and wants out. This news also was leaked. Last week Johnson announced Gardner Ackley, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisors, was leaving. Johnson is making him ambassador to Italy.

And Johnson just announced Charles O. Schultze, director of the Budget Bureau, is leaving. Both Ackley and Schultze are known to have wanted to give up their Washington jobs because both felt tired.

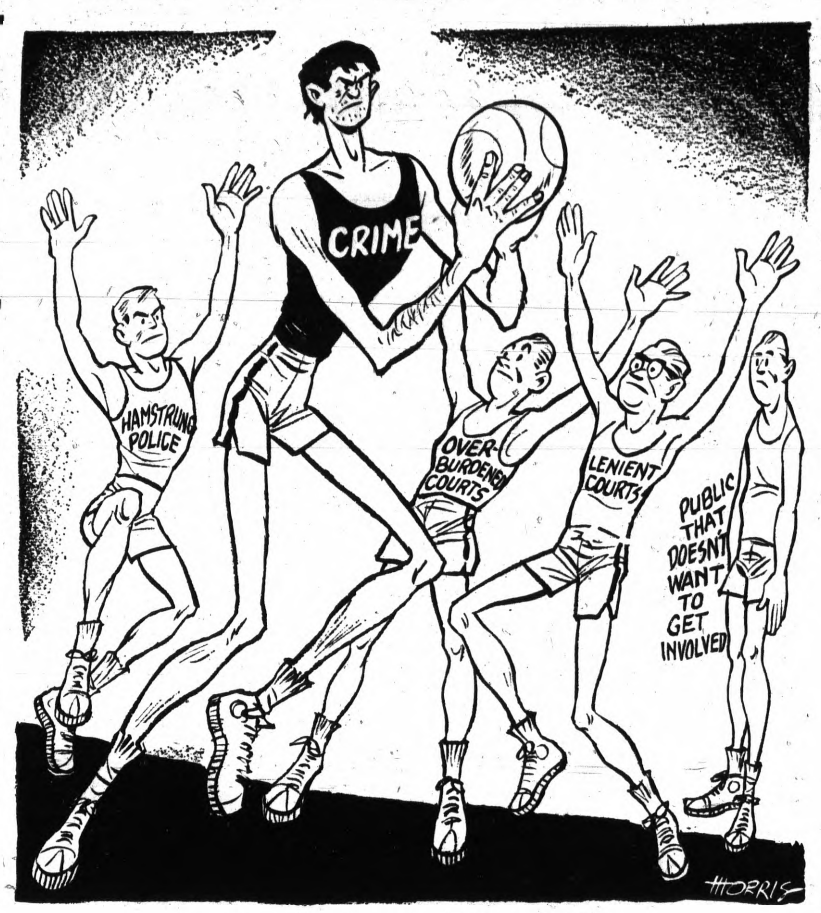
★ ★ ★

What made their resignations strange is that they occurred while Johnson was working on his budget and economic report to Congress. Nevertheless, both men will stay on until later this year.

CAMPAIGN NOISE

Meanwhile the only two politicians making any noise at all about the upcoming presidential race are two who seem to have the least chance of going any place: Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, Minnesota Democrat, and Michigan's Republican Gov. George Romney.

The two men who at this moment seem to have the best chance in the race — Johnson and former Vice President Richard M. Nixon —are saying the least.



Hardly An Even Match!

David Lawrence Says:

LBJ Israel Statement Puzzling

WASHINGTON — Many people may have wondered why President Johnson spent two days at his ranch in Texas with Prime Minister Levi Eshkol of Israel and then issued a statement merely saying that the United States has agreed "to keep Israel's military defense capability under active and sympathetic examination."

LAWRENCE

It is significant that the joint statement also mentioned that the matter would be reviewed in the light of "all relevant factors, including the shipment of military equipment by others to the area." But the same impression could have been conveyed through diplomatic communications made public.

The real reason for the meeting was to emphasize before the world that the United States may have to become involved in the Middle East if any aggressive steps are taken by the Soviet Union to obtain a dominant position in the Mediterranean and the surrounding areas.

Military men are aware that Soviet strategic bombers visit Egypt from time to time and get target practice over the deserts.

There are 50 Soviet naval vessels in the Mediterranean, including a cruiser, two missile-carrying submarines, and several patrol boats and other craft armed with antiaircraft and short-range missiles.

The London Daily Telegraph, in an article a few days ago by its Cairo correspondent, said:

"While there is every appearance that the Russians intend to turn the Mediterranean into a second front of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, this is naturally strongly denied by Russian officers here . . . .

"There seems little doubt that the Russians are most anxious to be able to cut air communications in an emergency between the NATO powers in Europe and their allies in the Central Treaty Organization — Turkey, Persia and Pakistan — as well as those to the Far Eastern members of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization."

So the Middle East problem is not merely confined to Israel and the Arab countries. It has ramifications that could affect the peace of Europe, too.

The Israelis want to buy from the United States jet fighter planes to maintain their military superiority and offset the planes and other armament being supplied by the Soviet Union to Egypt.

The joint statement issued this week will be construed as an indication that sooner or later the fighter-bombers will be sold to the Israeli government.

As long as the Moscow government, through its numerous subversive organizations in the Middle East, keeps sowing the seeds of more war, the United States is not likely to remain aloof.

Bob Considine Asks:

If Peace Comes to Viet Will It Last for Long?

NEW YORK — If peace should come between the United States and North Vietnam there will still be the Vietcong. And there will still be the shadow that hangs over all Asia — Communist China.

CONSIDINE

Peace is sometimes achieved by the proper translation of a single word — let's say a word falling from the lips of a foreign minister: A word like "will" instead of "may." Something like that. War can be not only hell but syntax.

Or peace may emerge from the smoking cinders of a Hiroshima or Nagasaki. There are no manuals for the peacemakers to follow, no clear instructions from peacemakers reaching back to the days when somebody broke up a fight between two cavemen over the new girl in the cave.

Peace in Korea drifted in during the fog of a seemingly endless round of talks — during which the guns still sounded and men died on both sides.

★ ★ ★

Peace in the war between Germany and the allies followed the murder of a new bride by her groom — who then committed suicide. His name was Adolph Hitler.

PROBLEMS

If a formula can be found that will end the North Vietnam-U.S. undeclared war, it will not necessarily apply to subsequent problems in that part of the world. Would the Vietcong listen? Would China? Who knows? Peace is a tricky game without rules, and never has lasted very long once attained.

The National Liberation Front, political arm of the fighting Vietcong, could say "peace-smeach," which may be Vietnamese for "so what?" and go on with the war against the government of President Thieu and Vice President Ky.

★ ★ ★

The Vietcong exist largely on the largesse of Hanoi, which got most of the goods from China, Russia and the Russian satellites, chiefly Czechoslovakia.

The Vietcong are South Vietnamese.

They have been Communist-supplied, and inspired, but some unspecified percentage of them feel they are fighting a civil war against what they have been successfully assured is corruption and villainy in high places at home.

They might decide that such conditions still obtain and must be fought. They might not have too much trouble replacing Hanoi as their arms supplier though the logistics problem would be greater.

As for China, even the most astute "China watchers" cannot agree on what's really going on behind the Bamboo Curtain.

Voice of the People:

'Duty Inequities Exist on Foreign Car Imports'

I just read that sales of cars made in this country by our workmen were down 8 per cent from the year before, while sales of imported foreign-made cars were up 8 per cent.

I believe in foreign trade that is fair to all but I don't think the people in this country, outside of some of the screwballs in Washington who want to give everything away, know of the crazy duty setup between the USA and those countries that are selling their cars over here — cars that are made with cheap labor.

★ ★ ★

Foreign cars imported into this country pay a 6½ per cent duty but when our car manufacturers attempt to send our cars into these countries they pay several times as much. For example: Into France 25.2 per cent — into Germany 22 per cent — into Italy 27 per cent. Some of these countries impose further cost penalties on our cars, such as import permits and high license fees.

★ ★ ★

The Kennedy round of reductions looking forward to freer trade between nations will shortly reduce import duties but — note this — they will be reduced by all participating nations percentage-wise. That is, if our duties are reduced by one-fourth the other countries will reduce their import duties by one-fourth so that the same inequities will continue.

★ ★ ★

Car manufacturers have not been able to get this corrected but since we have a labor-oriented government in Washington one would think that the American workman would get action toward a fair similarity of duties. Certainly they know that the more foreign-made cars are imported, the less work there will be for them.

School Bus Incident Prompts Readers' Views

Hats off to the Waterford Township school bus driver who unloaded her load of unruly Pierce Junior High School students. I know from experience there were a lot of good boys and girls who had to suffer on account of the unruly ones. Drive a bus just once or go on a run and see how the "would-be smart ones" act. It is hard to watch traffic and try to keep the children quiet.

ROCHESTER SCHOOL BUS DRIVER

The Press has finally given Waterford Township school bus drivers much-needed publicity to get through to the public the problem faced by drivers in many school systems.

★ ★ ★

School represents authority—the one thing teen-agers are rebelling against—and the school transportation system is getting the works. The public should be aware that it is fast getting to the point where it will be hazardous to allow children to ride school buses because of the rowdyism among some students, causing the driver to be distracted from the job of watching the road and getting the children to school safely.

★ ★ ★

Maybe the Waterford driver who refused to drive a load of children home had reason to do so. Unless action is taken soon by our lawmakers, there will be more such acts. I hope parents who think their children can do no wrong will investigate more closely before condemning the driver.

If Elected . . .

"If elected, I will go to the Pentagon . . ."—Sen. Eugene McCarthy.

Unlike Ike, Eugene McCarthy has an outsized gift for irony and whimsy, and is happiest when free to indulge it. Like Ike, he ventures where his peers fear to tread.

McCarthy's wisecracks about going to the Pentagon speak volumes — about the quixotic aspect of his campaign for President, and about the failures of war policy in Washington and in Vietnam which are the backdrop and occasion for it.

★ ★ ★

The quixotic moralist as realist — McCarthy is a man who has managed to do well for himself in the past by taking "suicidal" positions, most notably his valedictory for the passing of Stevenson's hour and refusal to embrace Kennedy's at the Democratic Convention. (One of the senator's problems, it should be added, is that many people know him for his speech nominating Stevenson and for nothing else.)

★ ★ ★

"They say I'm committing political suicide," he remarked a few weeks ago. "Well, I'd rather do that and face up to the wrongness of the war than die of political old age." Behind the laugh at other people's political certainties, behind the offhand pose, is a serious man, and a practical one.

★ ★ ★

The alleged certainties against which McCarthy argues seem a great deal more certain than did Kennedy's nomination eight years ago. For what is certain in January, 1968? That the war in Vietnam will be won? Lost? Negotiated? When? That Johnson will run for reelection? Live? Die? Win? Lose? That the Republicans will nominate an alternative to Johnson who favors liquidating the war? That they will indulge their right wing as in 1964? All of these are as uncertain as the outcome of a McCarthy - Johnson primary confrontation.

★ ★ ★

No less serious, does a McCarthy candidacy, by splitting the Democrats, hurt the potential candidacy of a Rockefeller and strengthen that of a Nixon or Reagan? Even McCarthy concedes that his entry will contribute to Republican euphoria, and thus to a mood that could favor, say, Reagan over a Republican with more appeal to Democrats and independents.

But they have their party, and he his, and it is hard to go through political life doing other politicians' and other parties' thinking for them.

Therefore, he treasured this moment, which, to him, capsuled the good things of the life he wanted to live, but whose fulfillment had always escaped him.

He dressed with even more care than usual. He had an extensive wardrobe in keeping with what a man known as Diamond Dan Briscoe should possess.

The city council paid him $250 a month to hold the lid on the town. In addition, he was known as the best poker player around. He could afford to dress well.

The day marshal was paid $80 a month. Nothing much happened during the daytime in Yellow Lance.

It was a different story after the sun went down, especially at this season when the beef drives from northern range were coming in.

★ ★ ★

Dan could hear the crash of couplings, and the fussy scolding of a yard engine as more cars were being shunted to the loading chutes at the stock pens.

He donned dark, tailor-made trousers, pressed to knife-edge crease, pulled on socks and bench - made, black boots with tops as soft as kid gloves. The boots had cost $80.

He pulled on a spotless white silk shirt with a pleated front. He snapped diamond cufflinks into place, knotted a black four-in-hand tie into which he placed a diamond stickpin.

He pulled on a vest of watered silk and draped from its pockets a thin gold watch chain from which hung a diamond-set charm. He pinned on a gold marshal's badge.

Footsteps approached the door. A hand tapped the panel. There were two visitors.

"Good evening, gentlemen," he said as he admitted them. "This is a pleasure—I hope."

The two graying, elderly men wore clerical collars and the threadbare garb typical of the existence of men of God on the frontier.

★ ★ ★

Dan offered chairs. "How are you, Father?" he asked the Jesuit pastor. "And you, Reverend?"

"Well enough, physically," the Rev. Martin Pound answered. "The both of us. Mentally, it is another story."

"What seems to be the trouble?"

Father Dennis O'Brien sighed.

"You know why we are here, Dan."

"Could be," Dan said.

"There's no need for you to go through with this," the Lutheran minister spoke.

Both he and the Jesuit had been missionaries among the tribes in the early days of the trappers.

They had been retired to this hand-to-mouth existence among their small flocks at Yellow Lance.

They knew the frontier and its harshness. They had seen men tortured and slain. They had faced those fates themselves.

"What would you advise?" Dan asked.

Martin Pound hesitated. "You could get out of town until these men leave," he finally said.

Dan could feel the dryness of his lips, the brassy taste in his mouth. "They're the kind who'd follow me," he said. "They're from Tennessee mountain stock. Blood feuds are tradition with those people."

"You could send someone else to arrest them," Father O'Brien said. But in his voice there was no conviction, only the realization that his mission was hopeless.

★ ★ ★

"You mean Frank Buckman?" Dan asked.

The two visitors did not answer.

"There's no other peace officer," Dan said. "Frank has the sand to do it. Too much for his own good, maybe. But he's too young. And too—"

He broke off, deciding not to finish the sentence.

"The word you were going to use was perhaps 'eager'?" Rev. Martin Pound asked.

"Eager to show he's as good a man as Diamond Dan Briscoe?" said Father O'Brien.

Dan said nothing. He could hear a late - arriving jerkline freight outfit creaking into town past his window. The acrid tang of wheel-churned dust lifted from Lincoln Street.

From his window he could see the wagon fires of Dakota-bound boomers blazing along the river.

It was said that Sioux land was to be opened for homesteading. Some of it had already been claimed as range by cattlemen.

★ ★ ★

Men would fight. Men would die. Other Yellow Lances would spring up.

There'd be other marshals paid to keep order. Like Hickok. Like Wyatt Earp. Like Diamond Dan Briscoe, perhaps.

Cattle bawled and men shouted in tired voices at the shipping pens. More beef drives were being held on the plains south of town, awaiting their turn at the chutes.

He could make out the shape of a chuckwagon where a cook was filling the plates of men in big hats by the glow of a fire.

Yellow Lance was shipping point for beef from 300 miles around.

Half a dozen crews would be in town after dark with pay in their pockets, after weeks of not having a roof over their heads, of not seeing a woman, of boredom, of days of pent-up energy and recklessness.

"What you mean, Father," Dan said, "is that I'm a bad example to young officers like Frank Buckman."

Martin Pound spoke. "Dan, is all this foofaraw necessary? all this — this flash and glitter? Diamonds and boots that few other men can afford? Silk and conceit? And, let's face it, a chip on your shoulder?"

'ARROGANCE'

"Arrogance, you mean?"

"If you want to put it that way, my son," Father O'Brien said.

"Even the church finds value in flash and glitter," Dan said. "In vestments and in color and pageantry. And in arrogance from the pulpit."

"Don't be sacrilegious, Dan," the Lutheran minister protested. "Don't add to what you may have to answer for."

"Such as the lives of three men?" Dan asked. "When Judgment Day comes, I will have to stand on the record in the matter of those three souls, just as all other men will have to stand on their records.

"My conscience is clear in in that respect. I've committed many sins, but I have never lied to anyone, except to spare them hurt. I've never cheated at cards."

People in the News

By The Associated Press

King Palden Thondup Namgyal of the Himalayan state of Sikkim said yesterday his American-born wife is expecting his second child within the next two weeks.

The queen is the former Hope Cooke of New York.

Problem Can Be Licked

Sanitation Supt. Bob Martin of Council Bluffs, Iowa, is faced with the sticky task of licking 9,000 one-cent stamps.

Martin ordered 9,000 postcards for customers' annual bills last October before the postage rate jumped from four to five cents for postcards.

"I'd write my congressman," said Martin, "but I'd only have another stamp to lick."

U. S. and Woodcutter at Peace

For $4,000, the United States is at peace with Virgil Gray, and a $700-million power line can proceed.

The woodcutter of Round Mountain signed an agreement yesterday allowing the government to construct a portion of the huge Pacific Northwest-Southwest intertie power network across his small farm.

For two months Gray, dissatisfied with the government's original offer of $1,825 for easement rights to 4½ acres of his property, refused to allow work crews on his 40-acre farm.

Surveyors were met by Gray, armed with a shotgun and threatening to use it.

After the papers signed by Gray were received yesterday in San Francisco, Deputy U.S. Atty. Rodney Hamlin said charges against Gray would be dropped.

Nureyev Defies Doctor to Dance

Dancer Rudolf Nureyev, pale and with a temperature of 101 degrees, disregarded a heavy attack of flu to star in the first performance of a new ballet in London.

Disappointed ballet lovers cashed in their tickets for the first night of "Jazz Calendar" when the Royal Opera House, Covent Garden, posted notices saying Nureyev was ill and would not appear.

But minutes before the curtain went up last night, the Russian-born dancer arrived at the theater unannounced and in defiance of his doctor.

He took 10 curtain calls before dashing home and back to bed.

"I feel absolutely awful," he said.

Company Seeks to Close Block

HASTINGS (AP) — With an eye toward future expansion, the Hastings Manufacturing Co. has asked the City Council for permission to close one block where company-owned property borders both sides of the street. The firm employs 730 persons in the manufacture of piston rings and allied automotive items. It added 300 jobs in its last expansion in 1961.

FAA Removes Curb on Plane's Speed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) has lifted its speed restriction on the FH227 turboprop airliner used by four of the nation's airlines.

The restriction was ordered last Thursday and affected 59 planes, including those operated by Ozark, Mohawk, Piedmont, and Northeast Airlines.

The FAA order also said the planes could not be flown until they were inspected for possible trim tab defects. The trim tab is an aid to the pilot in maintaining the proper in-flight attitude of the plane.

On Friday, the FAA reported that all of the planes were back in scheduled service, but it left the speed restriction in effect until yesterday.

Securities-Racket Crackdown Begun

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal government, wielding a computer as its weapon, is activating a plan aimed at thwarting a growing multimillion-dollar racket in stolen securities.

Serial numbers and other information on about 50,000 stolen securities are being fed into a computer that can deliver the information within minutes to thousands of banks and police agencies across the nation.

★ ★ ★

The computer is part of the National Crime Information Center and is operated by the FBI.

Although no government or private agency could supply any figures on the value of the securities stolen annually, Justice Department sources said Tuesday that even a single theft could net more than a million dollars.

COLLATERAL FOR LOANS

Many stolen securities wind up in banks as collateral for loans. The banks do not learn the collateral has been stolen until months after granting the loan when, having received no payments, they try to sell the security.

The government is a big loser, too. Justice Department figures show the government alone sustains about 2,000 losses a month, mostly in savings bonds.

The Secret Service, which investigates stolen government securities—but only after they have been cashed—says the value of bonds reported stolen now stands at about $20 million.

A Secret Service official told the Associated Press these thefts "are a real concern to us. Years ago burglers would throw these bonds away. But now they are being fenced in rather large quantities through underworld channels. They come to our attention in large amounts."

ELABORATE SCHEME'S

He said some criminals use elaborate schemes to dispose of stolen securities.

Sometimes they rent a store in a shopping center as a front. They go to a nearby branch bank and say they need money quickly because they are about to open a new business. They may offer what later prove to be stolen savings bonds and ask for cash.

The Secret Service official said the bank usually complies and added, "We have had as much as $40,000 cashed in a day in this way."

In the case of government securities, if a bank has not taken care in establishing the identity of the individual cashing a bond, it may have to make the money good to the government.

This month the FBI began placing information on stolen securities into its computer, starting with about 50,000 items.

Once the system is fully operative, any bank faced with cashing bonds it believes may have been stolen—or with accepting securities as loan collateral—will be able to check with its local police department. The police will electronically question the computer in Washington and the bank will have an answer within minutes.

Few Spared From City Tax

By BOB WISLER

What do Nancy Kramer, Mary Winkler, Joyce Carson and Ronald Beyer all have in common?

They're all Pontiac schoolteachers and they are among a limited group of teachers who don't have to pay any Pontiac income tax.

WISLER

Most of their fellow teachers—some 1,105—will, however.

The difference is that these privileged few teach in schools that are located outside the city boundaries of Pontiac and are not residents of the city.

The enactment of the income tax and now the collection affects all residents of the city plus all those nonresidents who have Pontiac as their predominant place of employment.

Four of the Pontiac school system's 36 schools are outside the city. Some 77 teachers, 12 kitchen workers and 10 custodians work in them.

★ ★ ★

But the only ones at those four schools who are spared are those who do not reside in the city. School officials are uncertain of the exact number of employes who will not pay any income taxes.

ONE EXAMPLE

This is one of the examples of the manner in which employes working for the same organization may or may not be affected by the income tax.

Residents of the city will pay 1 per cent of their taxable income, after deductions, in income tax. Nonresidents can pay up to a half of one per cent of their taxable income, after deductions, depending on what percentage of their working time is spent in Pontiac.

For the most part, nonresidents will pay a half per cent including some 40,000 employes of the three General Motors plants in the city.

★ ★ ★

Employers are bound, under penalty provided by law, to collect withholding taxes from their employes. Under guidelines sent to businesses and firms located in Pontiac or doing business in Pontiac, withholding doesn't apply to:

- Wages paid domestic help.
- Fees paid professional men, brokers and any other independent contractors who are not employes.
- Payment to nonresident employes for work or services performed in Pontiac if his predominent place of employment is not Pontiac.
- Payment to a nonresident employe for work or services rendered outside the city.
- Pensions and annuities, workmen's compensation and similar benefits.
- Money paid as reimbursement for expenses incurred on the job.

RECEIVING CALLS

City officials are already receiving calls from persons who do not know whether or not they are to be taxed because they don't know if their employers are located in the city.

Although there are some 160,000 persons and addresses receiving mail in the postal zone of Pontiac, only about 80,000 of these are actually within the city limits.

The exact geographical boundaries apply. Mailing address means nothing in the tax collection.

★ ★ ★

Nonresidents of Pontiac are subject to withholding only if Pontiac is their predominant place of employment.

GREATEST PERCENTAGE

The ordinance defines predominant place as the city in which "the employe estimates he will earn the greatest percentage of his compensation from the employer, which percentage is 25 per cent or more."

Pontiac is a nonresident's predominant place of employment if he earns more than 25 per cent of his pay in the city and if he earns a greater percentage of his compensation in Pontiac than any other Michigan city with an income tax."

Under these rules a nonresident carpenter working outside of Pontiac does not pay city income tax even though his employer may be located in the city.

★ ★ ★

A nonresident carpenter who works for the same firm and spends 60 per cent of his time working in Pontiac pays a half per cent, after deductions, on 60 per cent of his wages.

TIME IN PONTIAC

In each case the amount to be paid depends on the time actually spent in Pontiac, not on the location of the firm. Most businesses have employes who spend their working days in the city, however.

If a Pontiac resident works in one or two other cities with an income tax only a half per cent of his taxable income will be withheld for Pontiac.

The other half would go to the city which is the predominant place of employment.

★ ★ ★

Firms which are located outside of Pontiac will be asked to withhold wages from Pontiac residents as a convenience to the employes although the city has no enforcement powers as it does with businesses located in the city.

Companies not located in the city which do work in Pontiac will also be required to withhold taxes from employes who are regularly employed in the city.

Nonresidents generally will have less taxable income than residents, since they may have income outside the city in addition to wages paid for work in the city.

But income derived from business dealings in the city will be taxed. For instance, a Waterford Township resident who owns and collects rent on a house in Pontiac will pay tax on that income.

Residents pay on all income whether it comes from outside the city or not.

Businesses and firms doing business in the city will pay income tax on profits in the city as will businesses and firms located here.

Taxable income generally includes salaries, wages, commissions, bonuses, dividends and interest, capital gains less capital loss, income from estates and trusts, and net profits from rentals of real and tangible personal property.

Also included is distributed shares of net profits of a resident owner of an unincorporated business activity. Examples of this are profits of a small market or barber shop.

Nontaxable income includes gifts and bequests; payments from annuities; pensions; and retirement benefits; welfare relief, unemployment benefits; and workmen's compensation.

Also, amounts received by charitable, religious, educational and other nonprofit organizations, net profits of financial institutions and insurance companies, reimbursement of expenses incurred on the job; and pay for service in the armed forces.

Exemptions are standard and the same as allowed under the federal income tax: $600 per year for each employe and each dependent, additional $600 exemption for blindness or being over 65.

Pontiac residents will at the end of the year be obliged to report income to the city and to pay taxes on income.

Penalty for not conforming with the income tax ordinance calls for up to $500 in fines and 90 days in jail.

City income taxes paid can, under special formulas, be deducted from state and federal income tax obligations.

Powell Walks Amid Cheers in Watts

WOWS 'EM IN WATTS — Adam Clayton Powell peels off his coat before making a speech at the edge of the Watts area in Los Angeles yesterday. After the talk, he walked through Watts, scene of rioting in 1965. AP Wirephoto

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Hundreds of Negroes mobbed him. "Fight together!" urged Adam Clayton Powell — and they roared back with cheers, whistles and applause.

Then Powell took a three-mile walk Tuesday through riot-scarred Watts, besiged by admirers and calling everywhere, "Keep the faith."

Here from self-imposed exile in the Bahamas, Powell was to give today at UCLA the first of 14 lectures at colleges and universities on what he calls the black revolution.

"I'v come here," he said Tuesday, "to talk to my soul brothers and soul sisters. One day, history is going to record that the second civil war and the beginning of the black revolution was born here."

Five days of fiery rioting in August 1965 left 34 white and Negro dead and $40 million property damage in a 46½-square-mile south-side area including Watts.

"Don't be ashamed of anything that has happened, and don't be afraid of anyone. Stand up and speak out boldly in God's name."

★ ★ ★

Referring to his expulsion from Congress last March, Powell said:

"You see what they're trying to do to me? If they can do that to me" — he turned to a member of the crowd — "they can do it to you, John Jones."

On his walk, puffing a thin cigar, the shirt-sleeved, 59-year-old Powell strode swiftly, escorted by members of the Black Students Association. He beamed, waved and called repeatedly, "Keep the faith, baby" — or "Soul brother."

A crowd chanted "We Want Powell!" An exuberant youth flung himself at him in a flying tackle, embracing him, kissing him on the cheek and crying, "This is my brother!"

★ ★ ★

Somebody asked, "Do you think the poverty program's doing anything down here?" "No," Powell snapped. His opinion of California's Republican Gov. Ronald Reagan? "A nice actor." Powell is a Democrat.

Auto caravans more than a block long followed him at times. Briefly he mounted a red panel truck, but 35 or 40 Negro youngsters also crowded aboard —on top, running boards and rear step — and Powell continued on foot.

On Watts' main business street, East 103rd, called "Charcoal Alley" after the rioting left lots vacant where business buildings were burned, Powell paused.

"I'd like everybody to be quiet for just a minute," he said. "I'd like to bow our heads —whether you believe in Allah, Yahweh or no God — in silent prayer in memory of our soul brothers and soul sister who died here."

★ ★ ★

Momentarily there was comparative quiet. Then Powell, driven in a convertible that maneuvered slowly through jammed traffic, was gone.

"I'm happy now," a man said. "I saw him."

GORDON ERVIN

CHARLES ERVIN

Fugitive Hunt Is Continuing

One of Two Pontiac Brothers Still Loose

The transcontinental search is continuing for Gordon Dale Ervin, who with his brother, Charles, escaped prison in 1965. Charles was captured last July 25. Both are from Pontiac.

FBI and Royal Canadian Mounted Police (RCMP) agents got an idea of what they might be up against in finding Gordon, 41, one of the bureau's 10 most wanted fugitives, when 52-year-old Charles was arrested in Hawkesbury, Ont.

The difference between Charles' physical appearance in October 1965, when the brothers escaped from Southern Michigan Prison at Jackson, and in July, was described by agents as "remarkable."

In his efforts to avoid detection, he had undergone facial plastic surgery and had had his fingerprints removed.

In addition, RCMP officers, in searching his apartment in Ottawa, found a false beard, moustache and goatee.

AWAITING TRIAL

Charles is now back in Jackson, awaiting trial at an undetermined time during the January-February Jackson County Circuit Court term on an escape charge.

He stood mute at arraignment Dec. 12 and the court appointed a defense attorney to the case.

FBI officials said "there is a good possibility" that Gordon has employed some of the disguise tricks used by Charles.

"At any rate," one agent said, "we've had no new leads on Gordon since Charles was apprehended."

Gordon is also believed to be somewhere in Canada.

When they escaped, the two were serving 50-to-60-year sentences for armed robbery after conviction in Washtenaw County in 1954.

Strategy Behind Red Offensive in Viet Is 2-Pronged

By PETER ARNETT
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON — Vietnam's Communist high command has committed its military forces to a burgeoning, nationwide offensive in the first days of 1968. It has two major objectives, the most experienced observers believe.

One is to undermine rural people's confidence in the Saigon government, particularly in regions where pacification has been a priority.

★ ★ ★

The second objective is the severe punishment of allied forces, testing their morale and writing headlines in the world's press. Three times more Americans were killed in the first week of 1968 than in the first week of 1967.

The objective of punishing allied forces was sought and partly gained by the Communists in the vicious border fighting at Dak To, Loc Ninh and at the Demilitarized Zone in the closing months of 1967.

This strategy has been continued into 1968 with a series of violent Communist actions against allied troops along the central coast where three North Vietnamese divisions are conducting forays into the rich coastal valleys. An omen came with the savage attack on two South Vietnamese marine battalions by the Vietcong just 10 minutes after the new year began.

Allied commanders expected the regimental-size assaults along the Cambodian border in November and December. They had plenty of intelligence on the enemy intentions.

LOCAL RECRUITS

Allied field commanders did not expect the resurgence of North Vietnamese divisions thought to have been destroyed earlier in the year along the central coast, and the sudden appearance of locally recruited hard-core Vietocng battalions that had been lying low through 1967 and appeared to have disintegrated.

Two of these local battalions occupied the provincial capital of Hau Nghia, west of Saigon, Monday morning and raised the red and gold Communist flag on a building. Another battalion overran the district town of Tuy Phuoc, near Qui Nhon, reputedly the most pacified district in the country. The Communists dragged the district chief from his house and killed him.

★ ★ ★

Other battalions long thought dead bounced back to life in the central highlands and the Mekong Delta.

Senior U.S. officers have described the past week as one of the most intense of the war.

HEAVY LOSSES

Communist forces have taken heavy losses, particularly in the border battles. American forces generally dish out much more than they get, and while some U.S. units have been severely punished, morale remains high.

The Communists have had more success in undermining the confidence of the population in the central government. This was particularly obvious in the villages around Tan Uyen, the district town occupied north of Bien Hoa, and at Hau Nghia, the provincial capital similarly occupied.

★ ★ ★

People in both these areas were sullen and worried. Shop owners started sleeping nights in Saigon. Chiefs of hamlets stayed away from their villages.

The effect of a large enemy force entering a pacified region was nowhere more pronounced than in Tuy Phuoc, the cradle of pacification in Vietnam, a region which serves as a pilot project for the revolutionary development programs all over Vietnam.

HOME GUARD

This district, just north of Qui Nhon on the central coast, had 100 of its 114 villages not only under government control but actively defending themselves with locally recruited home guardsmen.

Then a North Vietnamese battalion moved in in late October. Soon came a local Vietcong battalion that had hidden on the outskirts of the district for three years.

News Analysis

Within one month Tuy Phuoc began slipping from the Saigon government's grasp, according to U.S. advisers based there. The district town was overrun Dec. 22, the district chief of three years killed, and the Vietcong flag run halfway up the district flag pole. Hamlet and village chiefs rushed to sleep at Qui Nhon at night.

"It was a shocking defeat for us," said the district adviser, Maj. Elden Wright of Morgantown, W. Va., who had spent a year at Tuy Phuoc. He told his superiors that unless troops were sent into his region, pacification work of three years would be lost. Wright says only time will tell whether the pacification program will survive the onslaught.

SIMILAR TESTS

The Communists probably have similar tests in mind for other regions. Hau Nghia province west of Saigon made more progress in 1967 than any other province in the 3rd Corps region. The devastating attack against its capital is certain to have major consequences on government programs there, U.S. advisers at the scene said.

Senior Americans are also mindful that all the priority pacification areas are defended by Vietnamese troops. Their performance against Communist thrusts has been uneven.

The Communist offensive has strained allied forces to a degree that cuts down their room for maneuver. Every American division in the country has had a lot of fighting in the past three months.

Field commanders are reluctant to move their battalions. When the 1st Brigade of the U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division moved to Dak To in November, two North Vietnamese battalions slipped into the vacuum left in the cavalry's tactical area of Bong Son. It took 14 days of bloody fighting in December to drive the Communists into the mountains.

SIMILAR VACUUMS

Similar vacuums would be created if other American units were redeployed to help areas in trouble.

Intelligence officers expect the Communist offensive to keep unwinding. They say many enemy units have still not been committed to battle and that the initiative rests with the enemy.

"We just don't know how far they intend to go, or what they really want. They might just be crazy enough to think they can beat us militarily," a U.S. brigadier general commented as he scanned battle reports this week.

Ford Wants Congress OK of VC Pursuit

WASHINGTON (UPI)—House Republican leader Gerald R. Ford wants President Johnson to clear it with Congress before committing any U.S. troops to "hot pursuit" of the Vietcong or Communist North Vietnamese into Cambodia.

"Personally, I feel they have not made a case for hot pursuit," the Michigan Republican told a news conference yesterday in commenting on current administration efforts to bar use of Cambodia as a "sanctuary" to Communist Vietnamese troops.

"It is important that they (the administration) come to Congress, present the problem, and get our concurrence before they adopt a new policy of hot pursuit. This would be a drastic change," he added.

Ford said he believes North Vietnam is displaying a "change of attitude" that could lead to negotiations and an end to the war. But he warned against any cessation of U.S. bombing until Hanoi also scales down the conflict.

★ ★ ★

At a minimum, he said, North Vietnam should halve the flow of manpower and supplies across its border into South Vietnam.

Ford generally supported Johnson's conduct of the war.

He said the recent intensification of air raids over North Vietnam represented a change of policy which he, as well as others, pressed on the President for months before it was ordered.

In a related development, the President was urged by a group of House members yesterday to "vigorously pursue" means of improving the United Nations' peace-keeping potential.

Congress asked the President in the 1967 foreign aid bill to explore within the United Nations "both the means and the prospects" of establishing standby forces for U.N. peacekeeping operations.

Street Returned by the State to Local Control

With the opening late last year of East Huron through to M59 and its designation as a state trunk line, the city got a street back.

City commissioners last night received and accepted a State Highway Department order taking away the state trunk line from Auburn — which was used to carry M59 traffic through town.

The city will now have control over traffic signals and responsibility for maintenance whereas under the state designation, the state had the control and responsibility.

Clyde Christian, assistant director of public works, said the State Highway Department was still willing to pay 50 per cent of the costs for new traffic lights on Auburn at Paddock, Sanford and East Boulevard.

★ ★ ★

Commissioners authorized signing an agreement with the state for the replacement of the present obsolete lights.

REPLACEMENT COSTS

Total costs for replacement is expected to be $2,117.

In other action, commissioners deferred for one week acceptance of low bidder for storm drainage, sanitary sewer and water main construction in the city's industrial park area.

Ten bids were received ranging from $107,843 to $159,461. Christian asked for time to investigate bidders' qualifications.

★ ★ ★

He said previous engineer estimates had pegged the expected costs at approximately $89,000.

STRIP ACCEPTED

Commissioners also accepted from Belaire Home Builders a 13-foot strip on the south side of West Kennett between Dewey and Carlisle for street widening.

The company recently constructed a 32-unit apartment building at the site.

Commissioners also held public hearings on special assessment rolls for construction of a sanitary sewer in Perry, Giddings to Cameron, and along a road into the planned North Hills Farms, a low-income, rent-supplement housing project on W. Kennett near Alcott Elementary School.

★ ★ ★

Another hearing was held for the assessment roll for the curb, gutter and pavement for the planned 970-foot road into North Hills Farms.

No objections were raised. Confirmation of the roll was deferred.

City Manager Joseph A. Warren said the city had been informed that a suit would be initiated against the city seeking damages for three youths arrested Nov. 26.

Warren said the suit had not yet been filed and details were not clear.

Bus Subsidy Issue Is Tabled

City commissioners last night tabled indefinitely the question of ending the city's subsidy of the Pontiac Transit Corp., operators of the city's only bus line.

The subsidy was to be eliminated three weeks ago, but when a recent Oakland County Circuit Court decision upheld Pontiac's income tax, more funds became available to the city.

The city has an agreement with the bus company to pay a $35,000 per year subsidy.

City Manager Joseph A. Warren said recently the parent corporation, American Transit Corp., was considering ending the agreement with the city and stopping bus service.

Most commissioners feel that as long as the subsidy will keep the service going they favor it.

District 4 Commissioner Leslie H. Hudson, a long-time foe of the subsidy, last night cast the lone vote against tabling the question.

Hudson said the expected income tax revenue is not certain.

He said that since a decision of Circuit Judge William J. Beer is being appealed "it would be wise to proceed with caution and not spend something we are not sure of."

★ ★ ★

Hudson said he foresees a drastic curtailment of bus patronage, and that it is a "knowledgeable fact that the bus agreement is going to be canceled in the very near future on their decision, or ours."

'AUSTERITY BASIS'

"This is one area we should proceed on an austerity basis," he said.

★ ★ ★

District 1 Commissioner T. Warren Fowler Sr. said the city should, while the buses are still operating, contact the Pontiac school district to discuss alternate methods of carrying school children now using the Pontiac Transit lines.

City Affairs

Assessment Roll Approved

Galloway Creek Sewer Now Operational

A sewer project which will make a significant stride in opening up some 1,900 acres of undeveloped city land for development has now been completed, City Manager Joseph A. Warren told city commissioners last night.

Warren reported that the Galloway Creek sanitary trunk sewer was completed and became operational Thursday. Commissioners last night approved the special assessment roll levying costs against owners of abutting land.

The sewer line provides extension of the sanitary sewer system to the northeast part of the city. With completion, it is possible to build subtrunk lines and laterals to serve almost any portion of the northeast quarter of the city, Warren said.

City officials expect that rapid development in that area will follow completion of the sewer system.

Construction costs for the nearly six miles of pipe line and pumping stations amounted to $867,850, the city manager said.

Completion "came at a most opportune time," Warren said. He added that the Kettering Street pumping station — which had forced sewage to the city's treatment plant — had broken down.

It is now obsolete and can be demolished, Warren said. Bulk of the work on the project was completed by the Ric-Man construction company which contracted for the construction early last year.

Costs of the project are financed through revenue bonds sold last year by the city.

★ ★ ★

Residents of the northeast sector will obtain immediate service from the new sewer only if their homes are located along the proposed routes of lateral collection lines.

COLLECTORS

These collectors extend at the north end to the Joslyn-Upland-Brooks area; easterly to the Northfield-Walton. Giddings area; and in the south in small sections along Herrington Elementary School and Featherstone Road.

Abutting property owners will be assessed the standard front-foot charge payable over a 10-year period.

★ ★ ★

A one-time connection fee to the line of $150 will be levied at the time of connection.

STATE OF MICHIGAN—In the Probate Court for the County of Oakland, Juvenile Division.

In the matter of the petition concerning Thresa and Gayla Ranee Wagner, minors.

TO: Gloria Wagner, mother of said minor children.

Petition having been filed in this Court alleging that said children comes within the provision of Chapter 712A of the Compiled Laws of 1948 as amended, in that the present whereabouts of the mother of the said minor children is unknown and said children are dependent upon the public for support and that said children should be continued under the jurisdiction of this Court.

In the Name of the People of the State of Michigan, you are hereby notified that the hearing on said petition will be held at the Court House, Oakland County Service Center, in the City of Pontiac in said County, on the 22nd day of January, A.D. 1968, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, and you are hereby commanded to appear personally at said hearing, at which time temporary or permanent severance of all parental rights will be considered.

It being impractical to make personal service hereof, this summons and notice shall be served by publication of a copy one week previous to said hearing in The Pontiac Press, a newspaper printed and circulated in said County

Witness, the Honorable Eugene Arthur Moore, Judge of said Court, in the City of Pontiac in said County, this 4th day of January, A.D. 1968.

WOMAN SURVIVES BLAST — Mrs. Dee Scheel, 68, survived an explosion of 18 sticks of dynamite in the laundry room of her unoccupied home in Newberg, Ore. She is reported in satisfactory condition. The woman lived in a trailer next to her house, which was damaged by fire a year ago. Police said the washing machine motor apparently set off the explosion. Newberg is about 30 miles southwest of Portland.

Time Was Ripe for Attempting Transplants

NEW YORK (AP) — Deliberately one Sunday morning, surgeons cut out the sick but still—beating heart of a human being—and put a healthy human heart in its place.

That audacious surgery—first performed Dec. 3—now has been repeated four times more in 37 days.

★ ★ ★

Three highly skilled teams of surgeons, nurses, anesthetists, pathologists and other specialists, in three cities, have pioneered this new era of surgery.

They were all ready, all long trained, for just this step. And more such teams, similarly honed, likely will perform human heart transplants before the year's end.

TIME RIPE

The time was ripe, the preparations made, the confidence was building—all through 1967 and even earlier—that hearts could be exchanged, a healthy for an ailing one.

Where the first operation occurred depended upon fortuitious circumstances, plus reasoned boldness.

★ ★ ★

All three teams had done their preparation work well and successfully with dogs—that of Dr. Christiaan N. Barnard in Groote Schuur Hospital in Cape Town, South Africa; Dr. Adrian Kantrowitz at Maimonides Hospital in New York; and Dr. Norman E. Shunway in Stanford, Calif., at Stanford University School of Medicine.

One nagging unknown was whether a human heart, placed in another breast, would survive and support life.

FIRST OPERATION

Dr. Barnard answered that question with his first operation on Dec. 3. Louis Washkansky lived for 18 days with the heart taken from a young woman. The borrowed heart functioned powerfully and well, with Washkansky dying of pneumonia, not from heart trouble that had narrowly numbered his days with his own heart.

Dr. Kantrowtiz had received go-ahead permission from his hospital for human heart transplantation as early as mid-1966. Dr. Shumway last fall had predicted that the time now had come.

★ ★ ★

The essential was the right circumstances—a dying person whose healthy heart could by permission of relatives be taken soon after death, and second, a person with a heart so severely damaged that life could not long continue.

Still to be resolved is the delicate matter of using drugs and-or Xrays to prevent the borrowed heart from being rejected as foreign tissue, while not so suppressing the body's normal immune reactions that ordinary diseases could invade and kill the recipient.

Human Heart Switches Listed

NEW YORK (AP) — Human heart transplants:

- Dec. 3, 1967, Cape Town, South Africa: Louis Washkansky, 53, received the heart of 25-year-old Denise Darvall, fatally injured in a traffic accident, in the pioneering operation performed by Dr. Christiaan N. Barnard and associates at Groote Schuur Hospital. Washkansky died of pneumonia after 18 days.
- Dec. 6, New York City: At Maimonides Hospital, Dr. Adrian Kantrowitz transplanted the heart of a 2-day-old boy, dead from brain damage, into the chest of a boy 2½ weeks-old. The borrowed heart faltered and stopped 6½ hours after the operation.
- Jan. 2, 1968, Cape Town: Dr. Barnard gave to Dr. Philip Blaiberg, a 58-year-old dentist, the heart of Clive Haupt, 24, a factory worker dead from a brain hemorrhage. Blaiberg is reported in excellent condition.
- Jan. 6, Stanford, Calif.: Dr. Norman E. Shumway and associates at Stanford University School of Medicine transplanted the heart of Virginia White, 43, dead from a stroke, into Mike Kasperak, 54, a retired steel worker whose heart was failing. Afflicted by liver disease as well, Kasperak is in critical condition.
- Jan. 9, New York City: Dr. Kantrowitz performed his second transplant, giving the heart of Miss Helen Krouch, 29, to Louis Block, a 57-year-old retired fireman. Block died 10 hours after the operation.

'Fringe Benefits' Are Too Much

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am a divorced woman in my late thirties. I am secretary to a very successful, prominent family man who has a very fine reputation. He is always telling everyone what a wonderful wife he has, but you should see this bird operate behind closed doors.

ABBY

I do receive an excellent salary, with many fringe benefits, but it seems that being mauled goes with the job. He simply cannot keep his hands off me. I have threatened to walk out if he doesn't cut that stuff out. He promises he will, but the next day he is right back, locking the office door, and starting the whole thing over again.

I know you will say WALK OUT, but it's not that easy. I am the sole support of myself, two children, and an invalid mother. This job is five minutes from my home, no carfare, no lunches, and as I have said, the pay is wonderful. Now what?

MAULED IN PHILLY

DEAR MAULED: Walk out, anyway. Your next job may not have as many fringe benefits, but neither will it require combat training.

DEAR ABBY: In reference to the recent discussion in your column as to the propriety of dress or undress before one's young children, let me say that it is a mistake for adults to try to anticipate children's reactions concerning this.

If parents are comfortable in a state of undress when a young child appears, it will very likely be accepted in a normal way by the child. If parents are uncomfortable and embarrassed, the child will react in the same manner. In support of this, I submit the following:

A father came home and found his six-year-old son staring at a picture in a popular men's magazine. The picture showed a curvaceous young woman, bare to the waist. The horrified father tried to be nonchalant, and asked the boy what he found so fascinating about the picture.

The boy replied, "I'm looking at this lady here, Daddy, look, she's lucky, she gets to go barefoot."

It took the father a full minute to realize that the "lady" was indeed barefoot.

"THE FATHER"

A Price Tag Comes on This Party Invitation

By ELIZABETH L. POST

Dear Mrs. Post: Our family received an invitation for a surprise house warming and thirtieth anniversary party to be held at a hall. At the bottom of the ticket is "Donation $7.50 per person (advance)."

★ ★ ★

We would like to know if this invitation means to bring two gifts besides the donation, or is the $7.50 per person sufficient? We are confused. Is this the thing to do now—to pay to come to a party? —Loretta

Dear Loretta: The idea of sending out invitations with a "price tag" for the party on them shows extremely poor taste. When a group gets together and agrees to share expenses, that is another matter, and, of course, it is permissible when the party is given by a club or organization. But a private individual has no right to request that guests pay for the party without their advance agreement.

★ ★ ★

My inclination would be to refuse entirely. If, however, you wish to go or the party is given by an organization, your only solution is to call whoever issued the invitation and ask whether or not the $7.50 included a "communal" gift.

SIPPING TEA

Dear Mrs. Post: Is it correct to use a spoon when drinking tea? Some of my friends insist you can use a spoon to taste tea before you start to drink it. —Mrs. Nichols

Dear Mrs. Nichols: Since receiving your letter I have tried to discover the origin of the idea that tea should not be sipped from a spoon. I found nothing definite, but believe it was originally a British or Scottish taboo.

In any case, it seems to me a senseless rule, and if one wishes to sip delicately from a spoon until the tea is cool enough to drink, I see nothing against it.

An open house at the Birmingham home of Mr. and Mrs. William M. Hutchins was the recent setting for the engagement announcement of their daughter, Nancy Jo, to Herbert Edward Taylor III. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert E. Taylor Jr. of Woodland Hills, Calif. Miss Hutchins and her fiance, who attend Southern Seminary Junior College in Buena Vista, Va., and Law School at Washington and Lee University, Lexington, Va., respectively, are planning a June wedding.

Hudson to Speak to Hospital Group

Mrs. Richard H. Webber will entertain members of the Harper Hospital Auxiliary at a tea in her Grosse Pointe Farms home at 2 p.m. Monday.

Joseph L. Hudson Jr. will describe the Harper-Webber Medical Center project.

This is a $33,000,000 undertaking which contemplates construction of a 348-bed teaching unit, to be known as the Webber Memorial Building, plus extensive reconstruction and modernization of the hospital's existing facilities.

★ ★ ★

Hudson is general chairman of the fund which is seeking to raise over ten million dollars by public subscription for this project.

Flower Demonstration

A lecture-demonstration on Florentine Flowers will be presented tomorrow before the Waterford branch, Woman's National Farm and Garden Association.

Mrs. Harold Hughes will be the speaker at the 1 p.m. meeting in the Williams Lake home of Mrs. Mark Stewart.

YW and YM Offer New Classes for Both Adults and Children

A new class in creative crafts, taught by Mrs. P. N. Askounes, is on the winter schedule of activities at the YWCA which begins Monday. The craft class meets Thursday mornings.

★ ★ ★

Instruction in party skills will be available in the evening, beginning Monday from 7:30 to 9 p.m. The same class meets in the morning also.

★ ★ ★

Ballroom dancing, introduced at the "Y" last fall, is again available Thursday evenings.

★ ★ ★

A nursery for children two and a half through five years of age is open at specified hours.

VARIETY OF CLASSES

Other instruction being given includes sewing, art of self defense, china painting, upholstery, yoga, (for beginners and continuing students), swimming (at YMCA pool), arts for adults and bridge.

★ ★ ★

Classes in hair styling, decoupage, charm and poise, and piano are also slated.

YMCA Classes

The winter schedule of activities for women and children at the Pontiac YMCA is a busy one.

★ ★ ★

Available to all women members are Tuesday and Thursday "Trimnastics" and swimming classes, scheduled for both morning and evening. Coed volleyball and badminton come on these evenings also.

SKIING

Open skiing session meets Wednesday mornings at Grampian Mountain (already in progress); Saturdays, beginning Jan. 21, Ladies' Self Defense from 4-5 p.m. including basic defense techniques — taught in new Judo Club workout room.

Also Saturdays, beginning Jan. 21, 5-6 p.m. Ladies' Judo, for those interested in more advanced self defense and sport judo, instruction and practice. Women completing this course will be eligible to join the Judo Club.

★ ★ ★

Non-members will be accepted in these groups at an increased fee.

★ ★ ★

The same fee arrangements apply to the "Kindersplash" swimming classes being currently offered for children four and five years of age, Tuesday and Thursday mornings and Monday and Friday afternoons.

★ ★ ★

The course of eight lessons is designed to overcome fear of the water and teach basic aquatic skills.

★ ★ ★

Further information about any of the above classes may be had by calling the YWCA or the YMCA.

These five women are among those named to the "best-dressed" list for 1967 by publicist Eleanor Lambert. From left: Mrs. Angus Ogilvy, Princess Alexandra of Kent, top; Mrs. Charlotte Ford Niarchos, bottom; Mrs. Wyatt Cooper, the former Gloria Vanderbilt, who was awarded the first place on the list; Mrs. Angier Biddle Duke, wife of the American ambassador to Spain, top; Princess Stanislas Radziwill, bottom.

Lynda Is Ninth but She Tries Hardest of All

NEW YORK (AP) — Lynda Bird Robb is named on the "best-dressed" list for 1967, maintaining White House representation as her mother, Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson, was dropped from the annual roster.

★ ★ ★

Lynda was voted No. 9 on the list—just ahead of another newcomer, Mrs. Ronald Reagan, wife of the California governor — in the balloting by some 2,000 persons connected with the fashion industry.

TOPS

First place went to Mrs. Wyatt Cooper, the former Gloria Vanderbilt, who took over the spot held by Princess Lee Radziwill, Mrs. John F. Kennedy's sister, in the 1966 list.

Mrs. Kennedy was "promoted" to the Fashion Hall of Fame in 1965 and has not appeared on the list since. Neither has Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower since she left the White House.

★ ★ ★

The list, which has no official standing, is drawn up by publicist Eleanor Lambert. The announcement said Mrs. Robb "replaced" her mother who was first named on the list in 1967.

With Mrs. Cooper in first place, the list follows:

- Mrs. Carter A. Burden, New York socialite.
- Mrs. Charlotte Ford Niarchos of the automobile family.
- Mrs. Harilaos Theodoracopulos, wife of a Greek shipping magnate.
- Mrs. Angier Biddle Duke, wife of the American ambassador to Spain.
- Princess Radziwill.
- Lauren Bacall, the actress.
- Mrs. Henry Ford II, second wife of the auto heir.

★ ★ ★

- Mrs. Charles Spittal Robb (Lynda Bird Johnson.)
- Mrs. Ronald Reagan.
- The Hon. Mrs. Angus Ogilvy, Princess Alexandra of Kent.
- Faye Dunaway, actress.

Artist Presents Show

John A. Jacobson, artist and sculptor, is presenting a show at Galerie de Boicourt, Birmingham through Jan. 31.

Gallery hours are Tuesdays through Saturdays from 10 a.m. until 6 p.m. and evenings by appointment.

"How America Can Live" rooms are on display this week at the Merchandise Mart in Chicago during the International Home Furnishings Show. Edward J. Wormley, AID, designed a game room for Dunbar Furniture Corporation. It began with the bright blue, brown and putty "Bird Watch" wallpaper. Plush chairs repeat the blue of the walls as do the artificial macaws in the large white antique cage. Accent colors are hot pink and red found in a plaid fabric on a pair of benches (not shown). The table is calamander wood and the tambour chest which doubles as a bar is teak.

MRS. J. GUS COJOCAR

Orchid, Ivy Bouquet Accents Bridal Gown

A banquet of Phalaenopsis orchids and ivy highlighted the bridal costume of Mary Jane Lehman as she spoke vows Saturday with Lance Cpl. John Gus Cojocar, USMC, in Bethany Baptist Church.

Appliques of Alencon lace accented the Empire bodice and sleeves of her sheath gown of peau de soie. A detachable court train was fastened at the shoulders with matching bows.

Her triple-tiered veil of imported illusion was capped with a cluster of lace and seed pearl petals.

Following the afternoon rite, the newlyweds and their parents greeted guests in the church parlors and later at the Italian American Club.

The bridegroom is the son of the Gus Cojocars of East Rutgers Street. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Raymond E. Lehman of Alberta Boulevard, Pontiac Township.

Sister of the bride, Mrs. James Hughes, was matron of honor with attendants Mrs. Thomas Butler, Rosalie Lippert, Mrs. John Dura, Mrs. David Drass, and Loretta Hughes.

Alex Cojocar was best man with ushers Thomas Butler, John and Sam Dura, John Bailey and David Schieb.

Christine Hughes served as flower girl. Ring bearers were Tony Cogopna and Greg Botchen.

A little extra shortening added to pancake batter prevents pancakes from sticking to the skillet.

The George Palmateers of Hickory Lane announce the engagement of their daughter, Deborah Ann, to Floyd J. Davidson. He is the son of Mrs. Stanley Roberts of Pontiac Lake Road and James C. Davidson of Dons Drive. Vows are slated for June.

Pre-Scrub Walls

Dirt, dust and grease are primary enemies of good paint performance. To guarantee a beautiful paint job, scrub walls well with detergent and water, allowing them to dry, then brush on the bright new color.

To keep bread or cutting boards clean, sprinkle salt on them and then scrub well with the cut half of a lemon. Rinse with clear water and dry well.

Will Make Fine Cases

DEAR POLLY — Recently I found that we were very short on pillowcases. I remembered several percale crib sheets which had not been in use for a long time. I found that each of these sheets, when cut from selvage to selvage, made a pair of cases.

The hems at the ends became the hems in the cases, leaving just two seams to sew — the top end and a side seam. These were quick to make and I put unneeded items to a useful purpose. — ROSALIE

DEAR POLLY — I would like to know how to remove iron-on mending tape.—MRS. S.

DEAR POLLY — My little grandson is forever going around locking doors. I was always afraid he would go into the bathroom and lock the door, then not be able to unlock it.

One day while caring for him, I folded a bath towel and laid it over the top of the door. It did not hang down far enough for him to reach it and he could not get the door shut enough to lock it.—A WORRIED GRANDMA

DEAR POLLY — I do a lot of knitting. When a pattern calls for putting stitches on a holder, I find it easier to put them on a double-pointed needle with a rubber band on each of its ends.

This does away with transferring the stitches back to the needle, as they can be knitted right off the double-pointed needle after the rubber is removed. —MRS. C. C.

DEAR POLLY—Before I start out in the car, I make a list of all the places I want to go and in the order I will come to them. This I tape to the dashboard of the car and it has saved much time for me as nothing is forgotten.

Also, I tape a small note on the dash as a gentle reminder for my husband to stop for bread, etc., after work.

I have a small see-through plastic pouch in which I keep my compact, lipstick, comb and other sundries and it is far easier to transfer this from one purse to another than to move them singly. Wonderful when in a hurry.

★ ★ ★

My family disliked the smell of the hand lotion I use so I added a few drops of my perfume to it, shook the bottle well and now everyone is happy with this nice fragrance.—VONNIE

Husband, Wife in Police Work

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Prinz serve as the only husband-wife duo in the Dayton police department. Prinz mans a patrol car.

His wife is a police-woman with the juvenile unit of the crime prevention section and is occasionally called on to perform undercover work. Although they don't work together now, the two met while both were on a missing child case.

Sorority Unit Plans Festivity for Husbands

Kappa Kappa Gammas of the North Woodward Alumnae Association will entertain their husbands at a performance of "Charlie's Aunt" at Meadow Brook Theatre. Mr. and Mrs. R. V. Anderson will entertain the group for cocktails in their Bloomfield Hills home before the Sunday evening show.

★ ★ ★

The afternoon group will meet for luncheon Tuesday in the Birmingham home of Mrs. Paul J. Hidding. The program will be a presentation by the "Understudies" on the Hilberry Theatre with a talk and color film.

Hostesses will be Mesdames Gordon C. Boling, Frederick B. Eilber, Kenneth Thompson, and Scott Fisher.

EVENING GROUP

The evening group will be hosted by Mrs. Richard McClear of Birmingham for dessert at 8:30 p.m. Wigs by Alexander will present a program on "Wigs, Wiglets and Falls."

Assisting the hostess will be Mrs. Raymond W. Bender and Mrs. G. R. Brenneman.

The morning group will gather for coffee at 9:30 a.m. at the Bloomfield Hills home of Mrs. Carl E. Waldrop on Wednesday.

Rhyming Names

BLACKFOOT, Idaho (AP) — When the stork made his 9th visit to Mr. and Mrs. Joe Spivey of Blackfoot, you might know that the youngster's name would rhyme with the other children in the family. His brothers and sisters are Jerry, Terry, Sherry, Merry, Kerry, Cherry, Perry and Zerry. The newcomer was named Berry.

Flower Talk

STATES AND THEIR FLOWERS

If nations proudly display national flowers — so do all the states in our United States.

A number of states polled the public school children in choosing their state flowers.

Alabama chose the Golden Rod (incidentally, it's the U. S. national flower), and it is said to signify encouragement, Georgia's Cherokee Rose means loyalty and regality. Florida's Orange Blossom denoted marriage; while Michigan's apple blossom means admiration.

We feel our flowers mean a lot to individuals, that is why we take special care in the preparation of all our flowers. We know the customer's satisfaction is our greatest asset.

Why Grow Old?

By Josephine Lowman

It doesn't take a fortune teller or a phychoanalyst to tell a woman when she is overweight. A roll over the girdle, a protruding abdomen, bulging thighs, popping buttons and straining seams, not to mention a stubborn zipper, all shout the news to her.

Any woman who has gained too many pounds is harrassed by at least one or two of these conditions.

Today, everyone knows that being overweight is a real threat to health and long life. We also know that it makes a woman look and feel years older than she is. Too many pounds can add an aura of middle age to even young women, and at middle age they make her appear even older.

★ ★ ★

As most of my readers know, I am now bringing to you my Eight Week Beauty Improvement Plan (BIP for short). If you have been following the series this week, you have already learned how to measure yourself and what your ideal weight is. Now, let me advise you about how often you should weigh and measure yourself. This is an important factor in maintaining your determination and enthusiasm.

WEIGH REGULARLY

Weigh regularly every day or only once a week Do not weigh in a hit and miss fashion I used to believe that is was discouraging to weigh more than once a week because several days may pass without any loss and then suddenly the scales will show that you have lost two to four pounds

However many of my readers have written me to say that they were never able to stick to a diet until they began plotting their progress on my BIP weight chart.

★ ★ ★

On this you plot your weight every day and watch the weight line go up or down or remain the same. This visual impact is helpful to many women. You will have to decide which is better for you, but choose one or the other, every day, or only once a week.

You really should measure yourself only once every two weeks but if you cannot wait that long, measure one a week.

CALORIES COUNT

I have not mentioned calories, but I am sure you know that they do count! I will talk with you about them tomorrow and also give you directions about how to spend the calories which are allowed on a reducing diet.

In the meantime, here are some more sample menus. I suggest that you cut these out and study them.

MENUS

BREAKFAST

Eight ounces of tomato juice
One poached egg on toast
Season with a dab of butter or margarine and sprinkle a little grated cheese on top
Coffee with a teaspoon of sugar

LUNCHEON

One lean, small hamberger patty, broiled
One-half cup carrots
One hard roll
One glass skim milk (8-oz.)
One teaspoon butter or margarine may be used on vegetable and roll

DINNER

Shrimp cocktail — eight medium shrimp and a tablespoon chili sauce with a little lemon juice
Medium serving of steak — cut fat off
Spinach or other greens, seasoned with lemon juice
One-half cup of ice cream
Eight ounces skimmed milk at bedtime.
TOTAL calories for the day—1215.

National Survey Shows Women Tidier than Men

NEW YORK (AP) — The Keep America Beautiful organization recently polled litter authorities in 50 states to determine whether men or women litter the least. The women won, hands down.

Seventy-three per cent of those surveyed voted for men as the nation's No. 1 litterbugs. Only 12 per cent thought women littered more than men. The rest had no firm opinion.

★ ★ ★

Those who sided with the women usually stated that, "Men are too accustomed to having women pick up after them."

Color TVs Boom

The total number of color-equipped TV households in the United States has reached 12,670,000, according to industry estimates. This represents an increase of 56 per cent over figures for a year ago.

An early June wedding is planned by Sue Ellen Marcora and Ronald N. Dunigan. The bride elect is the daughter of Mrs. William R. Hiltz of Roslyn Road and Albert A. Marcora of Royal Oak. Her fiance is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry H. Dunigan of Voorheis Road.

Detroit Church Setting for Wedding

For her wedding Saturday morning in St. Josaphat Church, Detroit, Jennene M. Dysarczyk chose a floor-length sheath of white crepe with round neckline, accented by a lace yoke and elbow-length lace sleeves. Her short bouffant veil was secured with a petal headpiece. She carried a bouquet of white carnations.

The daughter of the Joseph Dysarczyks of Detroit spoke vows with Sgt. Larry M. Brill, USA, son the Robert Brills of Marcus Street.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Edward Drzewiecki was matron of honor for her sister. The bride's twin brother, William, served as best man.

★ ★ ★

The newlyweds were honored with a reception in the home of the bride's sister, in Fraser, after which they left for a honeymoon in upper Michigan.

★ ★ ★

Sgt. Brill is enroute to duty in Vietnam. His bride will reside with her parents until his return.

A late July wedding is planned by Sally Ruth Taylor and Staff Sgt. William John Beane, USA, who is currently stationed in Vietnam. Parents of the betrothed couple are the George H. Taylors of Rose Court and the Glenn H. Beanes of Lorberta Lane.

Builders Give Materials to Boys' Camp

When Mrs. Ben D. Mills of Bloomfield Hills met James R. Snyder of Detroit at a social gathering, their conversation resulted in Mrs. Mills' receiving a gift of 100 sacks of cement, 240 sacks of mortar and more than 6,000 cement blocks.

Mrs. Mills, who is a vice president of Camp Oakland, told Snyder about construction of an addition to the dormitory for school dropouts at the camp for under-privileged children.

★ ★ ★

She explained that the addition will increase to 30 the number of teenage boys who receive vocational training as well as special academic help at the Oxford, Michigan camp.

Snyder, owner of a mason contracting firm, perked up his ears and told Mrs. Mills. "Let me know what you need."

From Camp Oakland's Director William J. Matus, Snyder learned the next day what the needs were. Within days, truckloads of materials valued at $3,000 arrived at the camp.

CONTRIBUTORS

Says Snyder of his contribution to the Camp Oakland building program, "We don't deserve any credit. We're just coordinators."

He gave special credit to Bob Bonus of Hay-Con Tile Company, Huron Cement Company and the Detroit Mason Contractors Association for chipping in to help the camp.

PEO Sisterhood Performs Ritual

An "Exemplification of the Ritual" comprised the program for chapter AW, PEO Sisterhood at their recent meeting in the Huron Street home of Mrs. Paul M. Snover.

Mrs. J. G. Polzin of Kalamazoo, a state vice-president, was the guest.

★ ★ ★

Assisting the hostess was Mrs. Robert Fagen.

The chapter will participate in the Oakland County PEO cooperative luncheon at Birmingham Community House next Wednesday.

Mrs. James Boaz of AW chapter is the Cooperative President.

'Mardi Gras Bias Report Not Navy Policy'

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Navy officer's report suggesting sailors "go along with" discrimination against Jews, Negroes and Italians at private functions during New Orleans' Mardi Gras is not official Navy policy, says the Pentagon.

"No such instructions have been promulgated to any ships," the Defense Department said, Tuesday and called the staff report—prepared by Lt. Cmdr. James B. Eller, public relations officer of Cruiser-Destroyer Force-Atlantic at Newport, R.I.—"an in-house background paper."

Official military participation in the February carnival, the Pentagon said, "is limited to the parade, which is a civic function at which there is no segregation."

The Navy, it continued, "does not participate officially in any private events, such as krewe parties, connected with Mardi Gras which are not open to all." It said private groups are given, "without regard to race," lists of Navy officers who might be invited to their parties.

Rep. Jonathan B. Bingham, in a wire to Paul R. Ignatius, Secretary of the Navy, said the report was "disgraceful" because it recommended that since "most of the organizations were not open to Negroes, Jews or Italians" persons in those categories should only attend "carnivals of their own."

Dobrynin Leaves

WASHINGTON (AP) — Soviet Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin has left Washington to return to Moscow for consultations with Soviet government leaders and a probable meeting of the central committee of the Communist Party's central committee.

Median family income in the U.S. was $7,400 a 7 per cent increase over 1965.

Detroit Exec Held in Model's Slaying

DETROIT (AP) — A 32-year-old Detroit business executive and the father of three was held today in Wayne County jail facing a Jan. 18 court hearing in the slaying of a former Playboy Club bunny.

★ ★ ★

Sam E. Martin, executive vice president of Atlas Furniture Co. in Detroit, was jailed without bond after surrendering to River Rouge police.

He stood mute when arraigned in River Rouge Municipal Court on a charge of first-degree murder.

Martin is accused of shooting Mrs. Licette Ford, 21, a widow whom he had known for at least a year, police said. She was shot in the head, right breast and right shoulder Saturday at her home where she lived with her father-in-law, Alphonso Ford.

WORKED FOR HIM

Mrs. Ford, who appeared as a model in several fashion shows, once worked for Martin at his store, River Rouge police said.

Court examination will be held in River Rouge Municipal Court.

8 Men Charged With Evading State Cigarette Tax

DETROIT (AP)—Eight Michigan men have been charged with violating the Michigan Cigarette Tax Act. A six-month investigation ended with their arrests for allegedly bringing millions of cigarettes illegally into the state from North Carolina.

The eight Detroit-area men face possible payment of $245,586 in taxes and penalties if convicted.

★ ★ ★

Charged with conspiracy and other counts of tax evasion were:

3 AGENCIES ON CASE

Jesse B. Eggleston, chief of the outcounty prosecutor's office, said State revenue agents, State Police and the FBI worked on the case.

The eight will be given a hearing Jan. 15 in Taylor Township court.

★ ★ ★

Eggleston said the men used trailer trucks to transport the more than 18 million cigarettes. He said police theorize the cigarettes were brought into Michigan to the wholesaler and distributed through the vending company and stores, eliminating accounting procedures and avoiding payment of the state tax.

The Michigan tax on each carton of cigarettes is about 70 cents.

In 1959 about 22 per cent of the population had incomes below the poverty level; in 1966 about 15 per cent.

Ted Misses Talks

SAIGON (AP) — An "administrative slipup" was blamed for the failure of Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., to show up for appointments today with Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky and Premier Nguyen Van Loc.

The U.S. Government spends $17 billion on all science activities including $1.8 billion in support of academic science in universities.

'U.S. Stalls on Pollution'

LANSING (AP)—The federal government is using "stalling tactics" in the area of water pollution control, freshman State Rep. Raymond Smit, R-Ann Arbor, charged Tuesday.

Changes in available aid proportions, upgrading of water quality standards and transfer of the water pollution control administration from one federal department to another have hurt the program, Smit said.

"This year alone 98 Michigan communities have requested support for $202 million in waste treatment projects," he said. "Yet federal and state programs combined amount to only $8.9 million.

"I estimate needs for the next 10 years at nearly $1 billion, with even greater requirements in the following decade."

Safety Confab Studies Seat Belts, Crash Position

What about seat belts and shoulder belts? Do they work, and how? What can a driver or passenger do if he anticipates an accident?

Two engineers from General Motors Safety Test Engineering Department at the GM Proving Ground, Milford, addressed these questions of current importance to car owners in a report on restraint system studies to the Society of Automotive Engineers in Detroit.

Engineers William G. Cichowski and Jeffrey N. Silver said that research indicates a substantial reduction of accidental injuries and deaths can be achieved if the motoring public wears occupant restraint systems.

Passenger restraint systems are intended to improve the wearer's chances of surviving a crash by preventing ejection from the car and by minimizing the effects of the second collision.

Restrained passengers also benefit during an impact, since they are fastened to the car and slow down with it — instead of smashing into the interior at impact speed after the car has stopped.

INJURIES

The two engineers also reported that various researchers have indicated that restraint systems can cause injury if improperly worn.

Lap belts should be worn low on the body — across the thigh-pelvic area — and worn snugly without slack.

Shoulder belts should be worn so that the occupant can place his fist between the belt and his chest. A shoulder belt should never be used without a lap belt.

★ ★ ★

The Proving Ground engineers revealed that both simulated and full-scale tests have been conducted to explore any added level of protection possible when the occupants of a passenger car can anticipate a crash.

PRECRASH POSITION

If an occupant wearing the restraint system can assume a precrash position, he can aid the restraint system and increase his potential for surviving without serious injury.

The mechanics of assuming a precrash position differ with the different types of restraint systems, but the basic premise is to minimize the distance between the occupant and the vehicle interior in the direction of the impact. This minimizes the occupant's relative impact speed, and vehicle crush is more fully used.

Experiments at the GM Proving Ground indicate that a lap-belted driver can reduce the severity of his impact by more than 80 per cent by assuming the following position if a crash is anticipated:

★ ★ ★

He puts both hands on the upper rim of the steering wheel with his elbows out and rests his forehead on the back of his hands. He can maintain control of the vehicle until the very last moment, when he lowers his head.

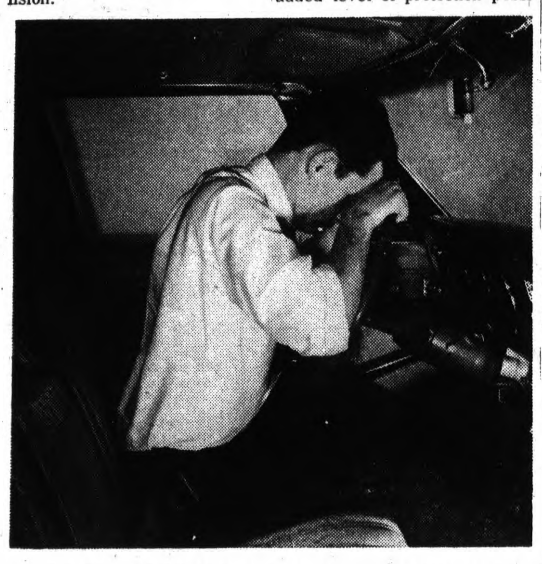
WITH HARNESS

If the driver is using his shoulder belt restraint in addition to his lap belt, he leans forward into the restraint system with his head bent forward, his hand positions remaining the same.

A right front seat lap-belted passenger who anticipates a crash should lean forward and crash should lean forward and place his forearms on top of the instrument panel pad and cradle his head.

★ ★ ★

An effort should be made to lean as far forward as possible and cradle the head above the level of the instrument panel. If wearing a shoulder belt in addition to the lap belt, he should place his hands on top of the instrument panel, elbows out to the side, and lean forward into his restraint system while bending his head as far forward as possible.



CRASH POSITION—A fast-thinking, seat-belted driver can reduce the severity of a crash impact by more than 80 per cent if he previously assumes this position, experiments at General Motors Proving Ground show. Both hands are on the top of the steering wheel with elbows out and forehead resting on the back of the hands.

'Sam' Aids Engineers, Simulates Crash Injuries

DETROIT (AP) — Did you ever wonder how automotive engineers are able to simulate injuries resulting from auto crashes without use of human guinea pigs?

The Society of Automotive Engineers (SAE), holding its annual meeting in Detroit this week, found out today by viewing "Sophisticated Sam."

★ ★ ★

Sam is a manikin developed to meet the specifications laid down by the SAE Crash Test Dummy Task Force.

Aaron Bloom of Sierra Engineering Co., W. G. Cichowski of the General Motors Proving Ground and V. L. Roberts of the Highway Safety Research Institute at the University of Michigan discussed the manikin, which duplicates the structure, size and articulation of the human being.

SAM'S BONES

Sam's bones can be expected to fracture at the same loads as the living human in what the group terms "a dynamic force environment."

The dummy closely resembles typical human beings in response to force applied to the chest, shoulder structure, articulation of the neck and spline, pelvic-area bone structure in the seated position and injury-sustaining characteristics of the head.

★ ★ ★

The manikin's brain weight provides a good approximation for head impact studies and facial skin approximates human skin and will indicate lacerations and tissue fracture caused by impact, the study group said.

He even comes in varying sizes, representative of all "the riding public."

Now that pro football's "Junk Bowl," featuring the runners-up of the two divisions, is over we can get back to more serious thinking . . . namely, the Super Bowl.

The Runner-up Bowl, as it is called, is like an after-Christmas sale when you get all the junk for bargain prices, except that post-season exhibition, which annually gives second place teams as Cleveland and Los Angeles, another weekend for partying, is hardly a cut-rate contest for $5 and $10 a seat.

Anyway, the LA Rams did to the Cleveland Browns what was expected, even in being merciful, 30-6, but it is hardly likely the win will compensate for the walloping the Rams took from the Packers.

But, there were 37,000 sentimentalists who must have felt sorry for the Rams and Browns to turn out to watch the meaningless game and many of them, but possibly fewer, may be there again next year to watch the "Junk Bowl."

SUPER PRESTIGE

Sunday, the prestige of two rival leagues is at stake, and the game should fill the Orange Bowl to its 76,000 capacity.

★ ★ ★

The Packers should make mincemeat out of the Raiders. (This isn't a prediction from our Swami Association, which is now hiding its red face in the snow after getting trounced in the bowl predictions by a woman football fan.)

★ ★ ★

We think the Packers are still the class of all pro football and we think that Bart Starr is still the greatest mastermind of all field generals in the game today.

Now this statement could stir up the Johnny Unitas side of pro football fandom.

Unitas, without question, is one of the best in the game, but if it was a matter of picking between John and Bart, our choice would have to be the Starr of the Northland.

In the various playoff games at the end of the season, the LA Rams did to Unitas what the Dallas Cowboys did to Starr . . . they were both mauled by onrushing defensive giants.

Starr showed his well polished talents which have carried the Packers to three straight NFL titles.

★ ★ ★

Unitas is the better passer when given the time. Starr is more consistent as passer and play caller and he proved he could withstand pressure and hold his poise better than any quarterback in the game today.

★ ★ ★

Bobby Lane was often called the best two-minute quarterback in pro football, the Raiders may find out Sunday why Starr is the best 60-minute man in the game, even when he's on the sidelines when the Packer defense takes the limelight.

Awarded Scholarships

NEW YORK (AP) — Martin Barski of Western Michigan University, Kalamazoo, was among 33 college football players who were awarded $1,000 scholarships each Tuesday at the National Collegiate Athletic Association's annual honors luncheon in New York.

The scholarships were awarded for post-graduate education. They are financed by funds from telecasts of college football games.

TAKING AIM — Bruce Carlson (44) of Waterford sets his sights for a shot at the basket during last night's contest against township rival Kettering. Carlson made this one, his lone bucket of the night, but he added six free throws to finish with eight points.

Kettering Edges Skippers; Lakers Fall

Surging WKHS Holds Off Late Rally by Waterford

By FLETCHER SPEARS

Inactivity would normally bring on staleness, but idleness during a long holiday break hasn't dulled Kettering's winning attitude.

While most other teams were engaged in holiday scrimmages, Kettering coach Joe Duby sent his charges through a couple of practice sessions and let them relax for the remainder of the break.

The rest didn't hurt, and perhaps, it may have helped, since the team has won both starts since returning to basketball action and the latest win was one of the big ones of the year for the Captains.

It came last night and it was a slim 59-55 decision over Waterford's Skippers before a packed house at Waterford, and the victory ran Kettering's winning streak to five in a row.

★ ★ ★

The triumph raised Kettering's margin in the basketball series with its township rival to 9-4.

LOOKED ROUTINE

Until the final two minutes of the contest, the game looked like a routine victory for Kettering.

★ ★ ★

The Captains scored the opening basket, ran up a 15-10 first quarter margin, widened it to 33-26 at halftime and then fought off a Skipper rally in the fourth to preserve the decision.

Waterford had numerous opportunities in the fourth stanza to tie the game or take the lead, but a combination of its own miscues and Kettering's defense kept the Skippers at bay.

The Skippers made their big move with 2:23 left in the game and trailing, 57-47.

★ ★ ★

From that point, the Skippers scored eight points in a row to cut the margin to two, 57-55, and with only 23 seconds left, they had the ball after a Kettering error and were headed for what would have been a tying basket.

PASS GOES ASTRAY

But misfortune came again for the Skippers. A hurried pass by Waterford sailed out of bounds and Kettering took over with 12 seconds left.

★ ★ ★

And then came the clincher as Kettering forward Bill Penoza, who sat out the 1967 part of the schedule for disciplinary reasons, flipped in a difficult one-hander from the right side to close out the scoring.

Penoza bagged the first two Kettering baskets and the final two-pointer gave him 27 markers for the night, high for both squads.

It was Penoza's outside shooting that spelled the difference for the Captains. He bagged a few from close in, but most came on long shots over the tall Skipper defenders.

★ ★ ★

Gene Pankner and Pete Evans contributed nine points apiece to the Kettering attack and Dave Powell added eight.

Unable to penetrate the Kettering defense effectively, Waterford, also, relied on outside shooting, and the Skippers got it from Mike Sheldon, John Spanburg and Bob Finkle.

★ ★ ★

Spanburg, a transfer from Pontiac Central, topped the Skippers with 16 points, while Sheldon collected 12 and Finkle seven. Bill Foley tossed in nine and Bruce Carlson added eight.

Kettering fired away at a respectable 44 per cent from the field, hitting on 23 of 52 shots, while Waterford was a little further off the pace with 17 of 45.

On the backboards, Kettering gained a 33-32 edge.

The Skippers showed more accuracy at the free throw line where they hit on 21 of 25 shots. Kettering made 13 of 23.

Walled Lake Hands WBHS First Defeat

West Bloomfield's six-game unbeaten streak came to an end last night as the class B Lakers were as frigid as the thermometer.

★ ★ ★

Walled Lake trounced West Bloomfield 53-47 as the Lakers could hit only 17 per cent of their shots from the floor and were completely outrebounded by the class A Vikings, 61 rebounds to 33.

SLIGHTLY BETTER

The Lakers tried 89 shots and made just 15 while Walled Lake fared just slightly better with 19 of 75 for 29 per cent.

The Vikings led 21-12 at the half as neither team could find the range, but while the shots were being taken Walled Lake dominated the boards with Greg Fogle collecting 16, Paul Allen 13 and Greg Wendell 10.

Wendell, a junior also added 12 points and was lauded for his floor play. Fogle led the winners with 14 points while Tim Alderson added 11 and picked up nine rebounds.

★ ★ ★

Steve Westjohn was the Lakers' top scorer with 14 points.

The defeat put West Bloomfield at 6-1 for the season while Walled Lake is now 2-4 over-all.

Brandon, Byron Stage Marathon

Talk about high school basketball marathons.

Ortonville and Byron battled for more than two hours and thirty minutes, playing one overtime, before Brandon finally won a 68-67 decision Tuesday night.

★ ★ ★

The contest had 73 fouls in the game and 122 free throws were taken by both teams.

Forty-one fouls were assessed Byron and 32 against Brandon.

Barry Van Wagner made only one basket during the night but it came in the last 12 seconds and pushed Byron into the overtime.

In the extra period, Ortonville took a fast four-point lead, but Byron tied it before a free throw by Ed Westerby finally settled the issue with eight seconds left.

TOP SCORER

Dave Tuttle led the winners with 23 points.

The victory was the second in Genesee Suburban League play against as many losses for Brandon. The Hawks won only two loop tussles all last season. They are 2-4 for the season. Byron is 0-4 in league play.

Nancy Greene Paces Giant Slalom Event

GRINDELWALD, Switzerland (AP) — Canada's Nancy Greene won the first giant slalom event of the ladies international ski races today according to unofficial results. She was timed in 1:23.29.

Second was Marielle Goitchel, France, 1:23.89, and Fernade Bochatay, Switzerland, was third in 1:24.13.

Trade Lifts Hopes of Skidding Wings

TORONTO (AP) — The Detroit Red Wings, bolstered defensively by the acquisition of Kent Douglas from the Oakland Seals, will try to snap a two-game National Hockey League losing streak tonight when they take on the Toronto Maple Leafs.

The Wings traded defenseman Bert Marshall, center Ted Hampson and veteran minor league wingman John Brenneman to the Seals late Tuesday for the 30-year-old Douglas.

"I've been trying to get Douglas all year," said Sid Abel, manager-coach of the Wings, after the deal was made. "He's just the kind of player we need to pick up our defense."

The Wings, in last place in the NHL's Eastern Division, rank second in the league in goals scored with 131, but stand 11th in goals-against with 119.

The Wings were notably short of top defensemen, especially the rough and tumble Douglas type. The 31-year-old Douglas ranks third in the NHL in penalty minutes with 80.

Former All-Star goalie Roger Crozier quit the team Nov. 6 after saying he no longer had what it takes to play goal.

He was to confer with Red Wings officials in Detroit today, ostensibly to make a decision on his hockey future. Crozier, 25, is in the second year of a four-year contract calling for $25,000-a-year.

Douglas scored four goals and added 11 assists in 40 games for the Seals, last in the NHL's Western Division.

Marshall, 24, is in his third season with Detroit. He scored one goal this year and added five assists.

Detroiters Howe, Ullman on NHL All-Star Squad

DETROIT (UPI) — Gordie Howe, the leader in every major All-Star category, has been named to appear in his 19th National Hockey League All-Star game Jan. 16 at Toronto.

★ ★ ★

Norm Ullman, who has been in every All-Star game since 1960, was the only other Detroit Red Wing designated to play against the Stanley Cup champion Maple Leafs.

ONE MISS

The All-Star game was first played in 1930-31. Howe, who came into the NHL in 1946, has played in every All-Star game but one since 1949. He missed the 1956 game because of injury.

The other NHL teams and their All-Star representatives: Montreal—Jean Beliveau, Jacques Laperriere and J. C. Tremblay; New York—Ed Giacomin, Harry Howell and Don Marshall; Boston—Bobby Orr and John Bucyk; Los Angeles—Terry Sawchuk and Ed Joyal; Minnesota — Dave Balon, Oakland — Bob Baun; Philadelphia—Leon Rocheforf; Pittsburgh—Ken Schinkle, and St. Louis—Glenn Hall.

Pistons Pin 118-102 Loss on Warriors

By The Associated Press

The Detroit Pistons, led by All - Star guard Dave Bing with 33 points, ran the San Francisco Warriors off the Oakland Arena court Tuesday night with a 118-102 National Basketball Association victory.

The blazing speed of the Pistons propelled them past the Warriors in the second period to give them the ball game.

With the scored tied 32-32, the Pistons ran off 17 points to six for San Francisco, gaining a 49-38 lead. They never relinquished it.

HATE MOVE

The Warriors made a move late in the ball game when they closed to 101-92. However, the backcourt combination of Bing and Jim Walker controlled the ball and maintained the lead for Detroit.

Bing, the league scoring leader, hit on 13 for 21 field goal attempts.

★ ★ ★

The defeat pushed San Francisco 1½ games behind Western Division leading St. Louis.

In other games, Baltimore edged Cincinnati 121 - 118, St. Louis came from behind to take an easy 121-109 victory from Chicago at Evansville, Ind., and New York won its fifth straight with a 118-105 triumph over San Diego.

PEARL SHINES

Earl "The Pearl" Monroe returned to where his brilliance first attracted attention and proved the glow is still there as the Bullets beat the Royals in a game played in Winston-Salem, N.C.

Monroe equaled his season high with 37 points and his two free throws with two minutes left pulled the Bullets out of a jam after Cincinnati got within 115-114. Kevin Loughery followed with a basket and Baltimore was safely ahead 119-114.

Oscar Robertson led the Royals with 27 points.

★ ★ ★

St. Louis protected its slim Western Division lead by coming from 12 points down early in the second quarter and caught the Bulls at 70-70. The last tie was at 79 when Zelmo Beaty put the Hawks ahead to stay with a basket and Len Wilkens added three points. The lead reached 119-102 with two minutes left.

The Knicks overcame a 56-54 halftime deficit on the shooting of Willis Reed, who hit 16 of his 24 points in the final half. John Barnhill had 22 for the Rockets.

East Prevails in All-Star Tilt

Minnesota Pair Paces 126-120 Triumph

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — Big Mel Daniels, his Minnesota teammate Don Freeman and hometown favorite Louis Dampier generated the East rebounding and scoring punch right on cue.

The result was a 126-120 victory over the West in the first American Basketball Association All-Star game Tuesday night. A crowd of 10,872 watched the game which was televised to the league's other 10 cities and Los Angeles and New York.

Daniels, who scored only eight points the first half, came back with 14 in the second half — including three baskets and two free throws in the last 3½ minutes. He also grabbed 15 rebounds, a category in which he leads the ABA.

FINAL CHARGE

Freeman hit four points and Dampier, a Kentucky Colonel, had two in that final charge. Freeman finished with 20 points, and Dampier 18.

Three members of the New Orleans Buccaneers played key roles in leading an unsuccessful rally in the fourth quarter.

ON THE ATTACK — Kettering's Captains (dark uniforms) set up a play that produced two points in the fourth quarter of their game against Waterford last night. In on the play are Bob Lines (44), Pete Evans (32) and Joe O'Connor (52). Guarding Evans is Bob Finkle.

Super Bowl Rivals Expressing Respect

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Lonely Willie Brown figures to have plenty of company in Oakland's defensive secondary once Green Bay quarterback Bart Starr goes to work in Sunday's Super Bowl game.

But Starr won't become careless with Brown and Kent McCloughan manning Oakland's cornerback slots.

★ ★ ★

"Their defensive films indicate great over-all quickness," said Starr Tuesday as the National Football League champion Packers settled down to serious work for Sunday's big one against the Raiders, champions in the American Football League.

"They have quick tackles, linebackers and backs," Starr continued. "They seem to work very well as an 11-man unit."

If Starr admires the Raider defenders, they're quick to return the compliment.

"The biggest thing about the Green Bay receivers is the very good timing they have with the quarterback," said Brown.

"Starr seans to throw on the break. He seems to know when they're going to break."

How then, do the Raiders plan to defend against Starr's passes?

"At Oakland we play it man-to-man," said Brown.

"I think we're the only two in either league," he said of himself and McCloughan, "That play it strictly man-to-man without much help. Sometimes you feel pretty lonesome out there."

BIG RECEIVERS

McCloughan is impressed by the size of Green Bay's primary receivers, Boyd Dowler and Carroll Dale.

"Both of them are bigger men than we are used to," he said. "I've never played against any that big. They have the size of tight ends, but they have better speed than tight end speed."

★ ★ ★

Dale is 6-foot-2, 200 pounds and Dowler 6-foot-5, 225.

Dale, who often switches sides when he lines up, will be running patterns on both sides of the field and facing both Brown and McCloughan.

★ ★ ★

"They certainly are not patsies," he said. "Both of them have made the All-League team in the past and it looks to me like they are mighty quick. Oakland seems to mix things pretty well on defense. Sometimes man-to-man, sometimes combination, sometimes tight, sometimes loose."

Evashevski Not Anxious to Leave Job

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Forest Evashevski, named as one of eight candidates screened as possible successor to retiring Michigan Athletic Director H. O. "Fritz" Crisler, said Tuesday he has no intention of leaving a similar post at Iowa in the foreseeable future.

Evashevski, and former Michigan football teammate Tom Harmon, were to be in Detroit today for a speaking engagement.

But in an interview on radio station WMT in Cedar Rapids, Iowa, Tuesday night, Evashevski emphasized that the engagement had no connection with the Michigan job.

In the interview, Evashevski said he appeared before the screening committee "only in the role of a consultant." He said he has not been offered the job, nor has he applied for it.

Air Force 5 Whips Michigan Christian

Riddled with injuries and classroom problems, Michigan Christian found more troubles at Mt. Clemens last night where it lost a 121-74 decision to Selfridge Air Force Base.

The Airmen led 53-39 at halftime and were never threatened in the second half.

Bill Leak hit 30 points for Christian, helped by Garth Pleasant's 16 and Jerry McKinnie's 12.

Selfridge had six players in double figures led by Salone's 24.

Michigan Christian now stands 3-5 over-all for the season.

Green Bay Favored

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Oddsmakers quoted the Green Bay Packers Tuesday as a 13½-point favorite over the Oakland Raiders in the Super Bowl.

Northville Gains Tie for First in W-O

If coach Fr. John Rakoczy could weave a spell over other teams like the one he holds over Farmington Our Lady of Sorrows, winning state basketball championship would be easy.

Since the 1957-58 season, Fr. Rakoczy and the Eaglets have taken on the Lancers of FOLS 13 times and St. Mary has won them all.

The 13th victory came last night as the Eaglets ran their Northwest Parochial League record to 7-0 with an easy 74-46 triumph over the Lancers.

OLSM broke a 7-7 tie early in the first quarter and scored 11 points in a row to open up a 24-10 lead as the period ended. It was OLSM ahead 41-25 at halftime.

Leading a balanced OLSM scoring attack was Tim Megge with 23 markers, followed by Ken Ksiazkiewicz (15), Greg Fior (13) and Tom Sudek (13). Fior also hauled down 13 rebounds. Pacing the losers was Mike Hart with 13 points.

SHARES LEAD

In another key game, Northville moved into a tie with West Bloomfield for the lead in the Wayne-Oakland League by downing Brighton in a makeup contest, 57-54. The two own 5-0 league records and they'll break the tie Friday night in a meeting at Northville.

★ ★ ★

Northville trailed at halftime, 30-29, but posted a 16-12 edge in the third to take the lead and held off the Bulldogs in the fourth.

Randy Pohlman paced the winners with 20 points, while Jim Peterson added 11 and Joe Andrews and Jeff Taylor tossed in 10 apiece.

Bloomfield Hills Lahser ran its record to 4-2 with a 71-53 verdict over Avondale's junior varsity. Bernie McPheeley paced the winners with 12 markers.

In Southern Thumb League play, Anchor Bay (5-0) sits alone at the top after knocking off New Haven (4-1) last night, 52-49.

In other Thumb games, Capac (4-1) outlasted Almont (3-2), 54-50, Armada (3-2) downed Dryden (0-5), 62-57, and Richmond (1-4) whipped Memphis (0-5), 70-65.

Armada trailed at halftime, 33-31, but gained a 31-24 edge in the second half to gain the decision. Ron Rusk (14) and Chris Morey (13) paced the winners, while Bruce Dittman tossed in 17 for the losers.

Scott Bennett poured in 31 points and teammate Dave Brandon added 19 last night as South Lyon (4-4) downed Livonia Clarenceville (2-5), 81-75. Bob Duman paced the losers with 24.

In another contest, Jim Preston scored 15 and John McFaddin 14 as Southfield Lathrup (3-3) downed Southfield's junior varsity (4-4), 50-47. Scott Miller tossed in 17 for the losers.

MOUNT FOLLOWS THROUGH — Purdue's sophomore basketball ace Rick Mount tumbles on the court Tuesday night after taking one of his 32 shots in the Boilermakers' 99-79 win over Wisconsin at Lafayette, Ind. The flashy Mount made 16 of his shots and eight free throws for 40 points, his season high. Purdue's victory evened its Big Ten record at 1-1.

Boilermakers Win, 99-79

Purdue Soph Sparks Attack

By The Associated Press

Rick Mount is getting used to playing without his steel lining, and this still could provide a silver lining to what has been a disappointing basketball season for Purdue.

With the much-publicized sophomore wearing a steel lining in his left shoe because of a broken bone suffered last October, Purdue staggered to a 5-4 record.

Then last Saturday, Mount played without the lining as the Boilermakers opened their Big Ten season against Ohio State. But Mount scored only 19 points and Purdue lost 108-80.

However, in a Big Ten game with Wisconsin Tuesday night, Mount looked as if he's ready to concentrate on providing support instead of depending on it, by hitting on 16 of 32 field goals attempts and eight straight foul shots for a collegiate high of 40 points in Purdue's 99-79 victory.

Purdue's state rival, Indiana, also won. But the defending league champion Hoosiers had a much more difficult time, edging home team Illinois 61-60 in overtime to run their Big Ten record to 2-0 and their over-all mark to 8-3.

Vern Payne's basket with 28 seconds left won it for Indiana. A field goal by Les Bushboom and Jodie Harrison's two fouls shots enabled Illinois to send the game into overtime at 55-55.

Kent State upset Toledo 68-66, ending the Rockets' six-game winning streak as Bruce Burden and Fred Brown sank two free throws each in the last 40 seconds of the Mid-American Conference game at Toledo, Ohio.

In another overtime thriller, Roger Brown's foul shot with 12 seconds left gave Canisius a 66-65 road victory at Syracuse. A jump shot by Canisius' Tom Hardeman at the buzzer sent the game into extra period.

And in a Southern Conference game at Richmond, Va., the hometown Spiders fell victim to some foul play. Virginia Military made 38 of 38 fouls shots in beating Richmond 91-85.

Northern's Bid Dunked by HP in Tank Meet

Pontiac Northern's initial try at gaining a share of the prestige enjoyed by southern Oakland County swim teams was rebuffed Tuesday night at Hazel Park.

The host Vikings led all the way but still needed victories in the final three events to hand PNH its second duel meet loss in seven outings, 58-47.

The Huskies only won four races. Three of them came successively in the 100-yard butterfly, the 100 freestyle and the 100 backstroke — cutting a 31-17 Hazel Park lead to 39-36 before the Vikings' strong finish.

Cranbrook Tops

Mark Steiner scored twice and Norm Lerchen once yesterday as Cranbrook ran its hockey record to 5-1-2 with a 3-1 victory over Harper Woods Notre Dame.

Lerchen and Steiner clicked in the first and Steiner added his second in the third. Jim Brooks, Enis Berker and Greg Joysey picked up assists.

Eastern Michigan Posts Easy Victory

YPSILANTI (AP) — Eastern Michigan forged ahead in the opening 2½ minutes and kept increasing its lead Tuesday night in overpowering Wisconsin-Milwaukee 109-86 in a non-conference basketball game.

Five men from both teams hit in double figures in the high-scoring contest. Roy McNelly was high scorer for Eastern with 19 points, and Tom Reikowski was top scorer with Wisconsin with 17.

Eastern led at the half, 60-35.

The victory gave Eastern a record of nine wins and two losses. Wisconsin's mark is 9-5.

Golden Glovers Vie Saturday

Local Entries Tangle at PCH

Winners Will Advance to Flint Regionals

Several local boxers will be looking toward state Golden Gloves championships when they step into the ring Saturday night at Pontiac Central High School.

Matchmaker and supervisor of the bouts will be Harold Duggan, a former professional boxer and now a supervisor at the Oakland County Children's Home.

Duggan will have about 12 bouts, matching local boxers with those from Kalamazoo, Grand Blanc, Michigan and White Hall Center and Detroit.

Duggan plans to enter the best of the local talent in the Golden Gloves tournament which is slated for Jan. 24-30 and Feb. 2-6 at Flint. Winners in the regional at Flint will then move on to Grand Rapids for the finals Feb. 10.

★ ★ ★

Among the Pontiac boxers who'll be in the ring Saturday night are Bill Hollis, state novice 160 pound champion, and Jim Bovee, novice 135-pound champion, who'll be fighting in the open lightweight class.

BOXING BROTHERS

Other Pontiac prospects include brothers Steve (open 156 pounds) and Ray Gonzales (novice welterweight); Ross Campbell (open welterweight), Keith Rowser (135 novice) and Al Davis (120 novice).

★ ★ ★

Some of the other local hopefuls are 160-pounders Bob Lamphere, Larry Carter and Bill Martin plus Charles Fenlen (126 pounds), all of Waterford, along with Danny McDowell (135 pounds) of Lake Orion.

The boxers train daily at the Pontiac Police Officers Association gym at 4831 Dixie Highway from 5 until 10 p.m.

Serving as trainers for the local club are former boxers Gene Linscott, Pat Duggan, Ruben Flores, Don Kelly and Claude Stevens.

The first bout is slated to open at 8:30 at PCH. Tickets are $1, $2, and $2.50 and may be obtained in advance at Osmun's Men's Stores, Bob & Ken's, Ernie Felice's or Don Frayer's.

Gordy of Lions Heads Pro Grid Players Group

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (AP) — The National Football League Players Association elected John Gordy of the Detroit Lions as their president Tuesday and asked for a meeting with club owners within 10 days to discuss a collective bargaining agreement.

The players association has promised to do "everything the law will allow" to gain a settlement of grievances over such matters as minimum salaries and pensions.

★ ★ ★

Gordy succeeds Mike Pyle of the Chicago Bears as president. King Hill of the Philadelphia Eagles was elected vice president and Bob Vogel of the Baltimore Colts treasurer. Ernie Green of the Cleveland Browns was retained as secretary.

The request for a meeting with club owners was directed to Art Modell, president of the Cleveland Browns and chief representative of the 16 owners.

BIG CATCH — Larry Collier, 20½ E. Burdick, Oxford, displays the 12½-pound northern pike he caught on a tip-up Monday while fishing Lake Orion. The 36-inch fish was the only one taken by Collier.

Cold Spell Slows Area Ice Fishing

The extremely cold weather last weekend kept ice fishing pressure at a minimum, but those who went out had fair to good success.

★ ★ ★

Panfish have been hitting on Louise, Union and Kent lakes in Oakland County; Fenton, Silver, Lobdell, Squaw Lakes and the Goodrich millpond in Genesee County; and Elk in Lapeer County.

Good catches of trout are being made on Twin and Duperow lakes in the Lapeer state game area. Pike action has been slow.

Perch fishing on Saginaw Bay remains good at Quanicassee and off Mud Creek. Action off Arenac and Bay counties on the west side of Saginaw Bay is only fair.

MANY TRACKS

Rabbit hunting has been poor with the bunnies holing up during the cold snap, but fox hunters are getting excellent action. In fact, some are complaining that there are too many tracks and the hounds are being sidetracked.

Herman Peiness Jr. of Port Hope downed a 40-pound coyote north of Lewisville last week. This is the first of the winter taken in that area. Several were reported shot in Tuscola County a year ago.

Tip-Up Town Set for Two Weekends

Houghton Lake's annual Tip-Up Town Festival will be held on two weekends this year instead of one as in the past.

★ ★ ★

The new format calls for activities to take place Jan. 20-21 and Jan. 27-28. Fishing contests, snowmobile races and exhibitions, dancing coronations will mark the festivities.

★ ★ ★

The highlight of the second weekend will be the Snowmobile Grand Prix with $3,500 in prizes. Headquarters will be at Tip-Up Town on the ice.

Planes Replace Fire Towers

LANSING (AP) — Replacing watch towers with airplanes has all but knocked out the forest fire threat to Michigan.

★ ★ ★

The state's forest fire damage last year was confined to 2,819 acres — the lowest in nearly 100 years. It is the best record for the state since statistics were started in 1871.

★ ★ ★

The State Conservation Department has become air-minded in spotting and fighting forest fires and now has an air arm of 17 planes.

The department has phased out 110 fire towers since it started putting the emphasis on the air in 1959.

The department is down to 39 fire towers and plans to abandon most of them.

A few, such as those on Drummond Island and the tip of the Keewenaw Peninsula, will be kept in operation because they provide an eye on remote areas not easily covered by plane flight patterns.

ONE CHOPPER

The cost of the fleet of planes is estimated at $280,700 a year. This covers salaries and fringe benefits for pilots, fuel and maintenance expenses for 16 planes and one helicopter and the cost of replacing two aircraft a year.

It is estimated that manning the 110 fire towers now out of operation would cost $494,950 a year.

One advantage of planes over towers is that pilots are able to tell ground forces exactly what types of fire are threatening. The pilots also are able to use radios to guide ground crews into remote locations to pinpoint the blazes.

"Our planes are towers with wings," said Milton Bergman, head of the Conservation Department forest fire division.

SMOKE SIGNALS

The pilots log about 4,800 miles a year on the lookout for smokes that reveal the fire danger.

★ ★ ★

Bergman hopes to add a few more airplanes to make the modern spotting and striking force complete.

★ ★ ★

"Our present air force is giving us the same coverage we got from those abandoned towers," he said, "and on top of that we're saving the tax payers a whopping sum of money."

Land Matters Lead Agenda of Commission

Several important land matters and recommended regulations for the 1968 beaver and otter trapping season will headline action by the Conservation Commission when it meets Thursday and Friday in Lansing.

High on the list of land items is a purchase proposal and four accompanying exchange cases which would give the State a key 100-acre tract with 6,200 feet of frontage on the Jordan River in Antrim County.

In other high priority land matters tied to public access needs and long - range development plans, the department hopes to acquire parcels to consolidate its holdings at Brighton and Holly recreation areas plus Silver Lake and Warren Dunes state parks.

The department's proposed trapping regulations for 1968 are aimed at another generally liberal harvest of beavers and a rather conservative take of otters.

They are patterned much after last year's which resulted in a good harvest of over 14,000 beavers and 600 otters.

One of the major recommended changes for this year calls for advancing and thereby lengthening the trapping season in the Upper Peninsula west of the eastern borders of Baraga and Iron counties.

Water Hearings Start Feb. 21

The State Water Resources Commission will hold a series of hearings throughout the state on proposed water quality standards for Michigan's inland lakes and streams, beginning Feb. 21 at Ann Arbor.

Standards for the inland waters have been adopted similar to those set for interstate waters, including the Great Lakes.

Cold Doesn't Deter Some Birds

Fourteen members of the Pontiac Audubon Club set out New Year's Day to see if there were any birds foolish enough to stick around these parts during the cold snap.

The birds were there, as they always are, during the annual Christmas count. But a few species turned up who are either extremely warm - blooded or haven't checked the calendar lately.

Considering the zero weather, members of the red - bellied woodpecker, mockingbird, hermit thrush, bluebird, red-winged blackbird and cowbird clans sighted should have been in the sunny south by now.

The counters divided into teams and searched an area 15 miles in diameter near Lake Orion.

The spotters also came up with another note of interest. None of the more northern migrants such as the evening grosbeak and purple finch were sighted this year.

A total of 2,954 birds were sighted, covering 36 species.

I Bet You Didn't Know

By John Carter

Here's quite an oddity . . . A baseball team won pro football's first championship . . . That's right, a baseball team . . . In 1902, Connie Mack, manager of the Philadelphia A's baseball team, organized a pro football squad featuring among other players, his great pitcher Rube Waddell . . . That fall, the A's played the few independent pro football teams that were in existence at that time . . . Then on November 26 in the showdown game they beat Pittsburgh 12-6 and with that victory the A's were proclaimed the first world's pro football champions, and so it was a baseball team that won pro football's first title!

Do you know who was the oldest man ever to fight in a professional boxing match . . . The record was set by a heavyweight named Walter Edgerton who had his last bout at the age of 63! . . . He boxed professionally for more than 40 years.

Did you know that only three men in basketball history ever have scored 100 or more points in one pro or college game? . . . Can you name the only three players who have reached the magic 100 mark? . . . They are Wilt Chamberlain who once scored 100 points in a pro game, and Frank Selvy and Bevo Francis who each scored 100 or more in college games.

The Big Brother ... Missing Link in a Boy's Life

By LOIS FRIEDLAND

"No man ever stands so straight as when he stoops to help a boy," says Floyd Metz, executive director of Big Brothers of Oakland County. This is the agency motto being reinforced during National Big Brothers Week this week.

This United Fund agency backs its slogan by working to provide one-man, one-boy relationships between an adult male volunteer and a fatherless boy.

"The friendship and guidance of this volunteer provides a missing link in the boy's growing years—the need for a man in his life—a man he can look up to, talk to, share experiences with, be it a game of chess, football or just talk. In short, someone who is there, someone who cares," an agency member explained.

Area Big Brothers Week activities, many volunteered by area businesses, include free passes to movies, airplane rides over the city and tickets as guests of the Pontiac Tomahawks at their basketball game, Jan. 28.

★ ★ ★

A national board member, Jack Sterling, a past president of Big Brothers of Oakland, will be on the Morning Show, Channel 7, sometime this week, promoting Big Brothers.

Anyone interested in the local organization is urged to cantact Big Brothers of Oakland County, 132 Franklin Blvd., to become one of the 100 Big Brothers urgently needed in the Pontiac area.

AWARD WINNERS — Floyd A. Metz (left), executive director of Big Brothers of Oakland County, and Robert M. Wagner, president of the board of directors, hold the bronze medallion award given to this chapter by the Big Brothers of America. The award, one of nine given out among the 113 Big Brother agencies, was given for this agency's growth of Big Brother volunteers and the help offered to start a Big Brother agency in Macomb County.

Big Brother Need Discussed By Joey, 10, His Mother And Dave Simmons

BIG BROTHERS WEEK — Stan, 8, helps Pontiac Mayor William H. Taylor Jr. sign a proclamation declaring this week as Big Brothers Week. Stan's older Big Brother, James Petteway, a teacher at Jefferson Junior High, looks on.

FAMILY GATHERING — Jake Edwards, an agent for North Central Airlines, brings his little brother, Mike (left), 14, home to join his wife, Martha, and son, Doug, 14, for dinner. Many of the Big Brothers involve their younger friends in family activities to help maintain a close relationship.

TAKEOFF — Little Brothers Terry, 8, and Ralph, 13, are taking one of the plane rides offered to them on a limited basis during Big Brothers Week. Flying the plane is Donald Colombo, general manager of Commander Aviation, one of the two companies offering the rides. The other is Aerodynamics, Inc.

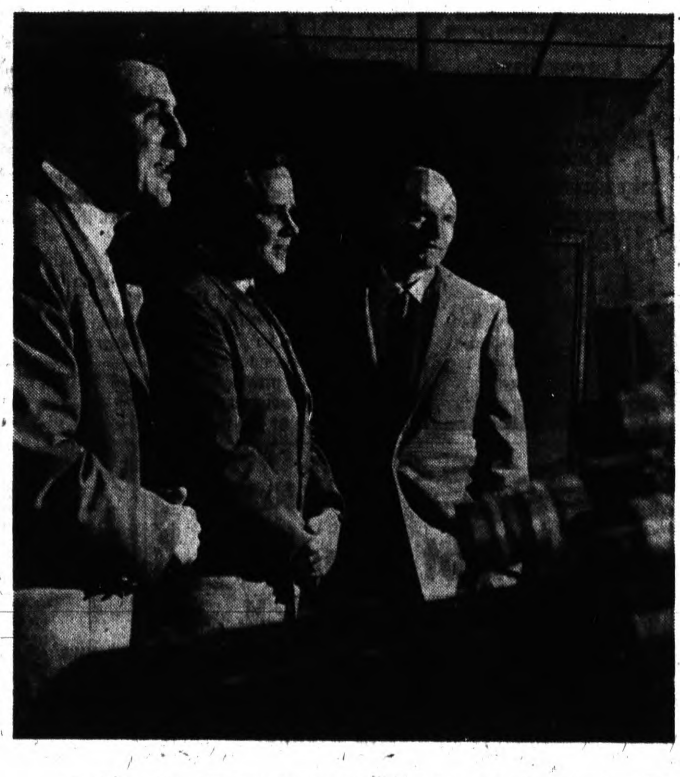
HOLD IT THIS WAY — Pontiac Tomahawk player Sonny Dove shows Patrick, 13, how to hold the basketball. Watching is Patrick's Big Brother, Kenneth Schuster, a correction officer at Camp Pontiac. The Big and Little Brothers often attend sporting events together.



ON THE AIR — Big Brother Jere Craig (right), a sports writer for The Pontiac Press, discusses the need for local Big Brothers with Chuck Walby (left) and Don Kramer, cohosts of Beat The Champ, a nightly TV program. A different Big Brother has been appearing on the show each night this week as an honorary scorekeeper. They are also being interviewed on the air.

Charge of Driving While on Drugs Eyed

LANSING (AP) — The 1968 Legislature will be asked to clarify what is involved in the charge of "driving under the influence of drugs" in the Motor Vehicle Law.

The State Safety Commission asked for the clarification in selecting its priority list of new legislation to be asked for traffic safety improvement.

★ ★ ★

The commission said it is particularly concerned with the newer emerging chemicals and natural substances currently being used as "mind-bending drugs."

"We should have more information about this," said Gerald Shipman, commission secretary.

SAFE ASSUMPTION

"With people using such drugs on campuses and other places, we have to assume some are driving under the influence of drugs."

Another new legislative recommendation seeks the impoundment from 30 to 120 days of the cars of persons arrested for driving while their licenses are suspended or revoked.

★ ★ ★

For the first time in several years, there was no recommendation for compulsory automobile inspection.

Commission members said they haven't given up on the idea, defeated in several recent legislative session, but wanted to see how the State Police check-lane system is working out.

CURRENT CHECKS

State Police reported they currently are checking on about 2 per cent of the cars on the highway and hope to raise it to about 5 per cent this year.

Another proposed new law would require locking a parked vehicle and removing the keys, because of a marked increase in the number of stolen cars.

★ ★ ★

Also new was a proposal to require high school students to drive with their parent or guardian for a period of 90 days after they complete a driver education course.

Another proposal would increase the state subsidy for driver education from $30 to $40 per pupil.

Other proposals, previously defeated in the Legislature, included ones to:

—Permit arresting officers to retain the driver license of the person arrested until a court appearance.

—Establish a medical advisory board to aid the secretary of state's office in debatable cases involving driver physical or mental disabilities.

—Require driver education as a prerequisite to licensing all new drivers.

—Provide for state licensing and regulation of all commercial driver training schools.

—Establish legislative authority for the secretary of state to deal with accident-prone drivers.

—Require examinations for all driver license renewals.

—Give the state uniform control of all driver licensing.

—Establish procedures for the licensing and use of snowmobiles.

—Eliminate all standees in school buses.

Bias Settlement

MADISON, Wis. (UPI) Army Capt. James E. Gregory, a Negro, has settled his $25,000 racial discrimination case against two Madison trailer park owners for $250 each.

Waste products are piling up year by year that forecasts for 1980 estimate the total annual tonnage will be 260 milion tons.

Road Toll Down Slightly in '67 Period

CHICAGO (AP) — Traffic deaths in the United States during the first 11 months of 1967 declined numerically and in relation to total mileage.

★ ★ ★

But the National Safety Council, in so reporting today, noted that the numerical difference was slight. Up to Dec. 1 motor vehicle fatalities totaled 47,810 — just 150 below the toll for the corresponding period of 1966.

Travel increased from more than 850 billion miles during the first 11 months of 1966, the council said, to more than 887 billion miles in the same length of time in 1967.

But deaths per 100 million vehicle miles up to Dec. 1 last year numbered 5.4 compared with 5.6 in the corresponding period of 1966.

★ ★ ★

Traffic deaths in November 1967 totaled 4,700, a slight gain over the 4,650 in November 1966.

Fatalities soared to a record 53,000 in 1966.

SPECIAL ELECTION

Opening lead—♠ 10

By OSWALD AND JAMES JACOBY

Some of the easiest hands to bid turn out to be the hardest to play. South has a very normal, sound no-trump opening. North counts his 22 high card points a couple of times to make sure that he really has them and jumps to the grand slam.

JACOBY

Even if his partner has happened to open with only 15 points, the total will be 37 and there should be a good play for the grand slam.

The play and defense turn out to be difficult. Unfortunately for South the only four card suit in each hand is diamonds, and while he has 12, top tricks there is going to be a two way finesse for the queen of clubs in the cool of the evening.

South will start proceedings by running off four diamonds, and East and West will have to do some discarding. East will know that his partner does not hold a face card and that eventually South will have to locate that queen of clubs. East will also have to make the first discard.

★ ★ ★

West will know from the play to trick one that his partner holds that queen of clubs. All other high cards will be accounted for even if South rose with dummy's ace of spades at trick one. West will want to discard to protect his partner's queen.

The stage is set. East should drop a low club on the third diamond and a heart on the fourth diamond. West should throw a club on the fourth diamond.

Eventually, South will come down to three clubs in each hand. West will drop the nine and eight of spades when spades are led. South will know that one opponent has that last spade, but he won't know which one. He will have to guess. We all see where the queen is. Will South?

CARD Sense

Q—The bidding has been:

West	North	East	South
	2 ♠	Pass	2 N.T.
Pass	3 ♠	Pass	?

You, South, hold:
♠ 2 ♥ J 4 ♦ K 10 9 5 4 3 ♣ 7 5 4 3
What do you do now?

A—Bid four diamonds. Your partner has an unbalanced hand. Maybe he has some diamonds.

TODAY'S QUESTION

You bid four diamonds and your partner bids four hearts. What do you do now?

Astrological Forecast

By SYDNEY OMARR
For Thursday

"The wise man controls his destiny . . . Astrology points the way."

ARIES (Mar. 21-Apr. 19): You appear to be on the edge of decision. But solidity is lacking. New methods or different approach is necessary. Many pleasant persons are just that but lack substance. Know this.

TAURUS (Apr. 20-May 20): If you avoid impulse, you save money. Temptation is to jump at first offer. Wise course is to wait, examine and get best deal. This requires self-discipline. Act accordingly.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): You get action in connection with professional endeavors. Be versatile, alert. Cycle high. Take advantage of changing circumstances. Move ahead, welcome challenge and new contacts.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Obtain valid hint from ARIES message. Tendency is to base actions on illusion. Better to wait for facts. Much is behind the scenes or hidden. Insist on frankness. Be direct.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Friends may have differences of opinion. Unless wary, you could become involved. This could lead to loss. Best course is to remain level-headed, neutral.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): You can expand sphere of interests. Today cooperation is received from quarters usually aloof. Some appear belligerent. But you overcome obstacles through intelligent approach.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Avoid self-deception. See facts as they exist. Be creative. Give full play to imagination. But use it to advantage. Don't brood. Find ways of improving situation. You can do it.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Surprise of pleasant variety is due. Could be in form of cash benefit, raise, unusual saving. Be ready to handle added responsibility. You are given authority and means to carry through.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Practical issues dominate. Performance is rated. You have chance to elevate prestige or otherwise. Many are intrigued. Key people are concerned with your ability.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Emphasis on work, health, the manner in which you relate to associates. Break through to new ideas. Stress originality, independence. Fresh contacts prove beneficial.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Good lunar aspect coincides with romance, rediscovery of loved ones. Action in money area. Your creative urges can be put to practical use. Profit indicated. Debt is paid.

PISCES (Feb. 19-Mar. 20): Conflict could appear—you want to move quickly. Others, including family, desire to remain. Becomes question of pacing. Take time to know the facts. Otherwise, there could be loss.

LBJ Gains in Popularity; You Can 'Bank' on It

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Recent polls indicate that President Johnson's popularity rating, which was in a slump during most of 1967, is on the rise again.

To the average confused layman the reason for the upsurge may not be readily apparent. It even baffles some laymen who are not average or confused.

WEST

Most laymen assume that Johnson fared badly in the polls last summer because people were disenchanted with his policies.

If that were true, it would take a major change in those policies, or major change in the people, to create a major change in the polls.

★ ★ ★

The last time I checked, however, Johnson's policies were basically the same. And as far as I can tell, the people aren't much different either.

OBVIOUS ANSWER

How, then does one account for the higher ratings? Well, to a clearheaded political analyst like myself, the answer is fairly obvious.

It stems primarily from Johnson's decision to recommend Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara for a new position as head of the World Bank. This was a masterful political stroke.

Last summer there was great public concern that Johnson might name the wrong type of man for the World Bank job—like maybe a banker.

★ ★ ★

The average confused layman probably was not even aware of all this concern. Nevertheless, it existed.

ANXIETY COMPLEX

Surveys show that between 86 and 87 per cent of the American people have a deeply rooted auxiety complex about the World Bank. Whether they know it or not.

They are haunted by the fear that they might some day be asked to identify the president of the World Bank. As in a charades game, a crossword puzzle, or a trivia quiz.

When McNamara takes over, the World Bank for the first time will have a president everyone can remember. At least for the first couple of weeks.

★ ★ ★

Johnson, of course, has no interest in political polls himself. But if someone should happen to call the recent polls to his attention, he might start casting around for other job changes that might improve his rating.

I'm not trying to start any rumors, you understand. But if Dean Rusk becomes head of the Export-Import Bank, remember you saw it here first.

SERVICE PERSONNEL have long busted their breast buttons with the slogan: "We take care of our own."

Wives a Big Problem for Most Servicemen

By TOM TIEDE
NEA Staff Correspondent

FT. MEADE, Md.—When the United States military was first formed, its leadership held a rigid view concerning the institution of marriage.

"We don't issue wives," the opinion went, "so they're not our problem."

Since then, the attitude has been altered somewhat. More than 1.5 million active duty personnel are married today and the services spend a good deal of effort helping the husbands bridge the gap between fatigues and family.

One thing, though, hasn't changed.
Wives are still a problem.

FINANCIAL BURDEN

For hundreds of thousands of young servicemen, in fact, wives are the biggest problems faced in the armed forces. They are a financial burden that many GIs, gobs and gyrenes find almost impossible to shoulder.

Norm McAllister, 21, is an example. He's currently trying to finance a wife, an unborn child, an apartment and a new car on a private's pay check. It isn't easy.

The McAllisters live off the Ft. Meade reservation, which is expensive, but which is mandatory because regulations do not allow post housing privileges to privates. His rent is $90 a month, utilities are $20. He's stuck to a lease.

★ ★ ★

In addition to this, the family has all of the debts of normal newlyweds . . . and then some.

BUDGET

McAllister's monthly payments alone take up all but $100 of his $381 salary. The remainder goes for food, clothing . . . and entertainment.

"Entertainment?" McAllister scoffs. "Not us! Not even a movie."

Norm McAllister is pessimistic about his plight because better days are simply not in sight. In fact, things may get far, far worse for him.

★ ★ ★

"We get by now," he explains, "only because I get $100 a month pro pay. I'm a radar specialist. But I'm not working in radar right now and I'm afraid I may lose my pro pay. God, I don't know what I'd do without it.

EXPENSES OF BABY

"Then there's the baby. If don't cost me anything now, because we get free medical service on base. But once it's born . . . wow. Diapers, bottles, clothes. I really hate to think about it."

Miserable as McAllister may be, he can take some comfort in knowing he's not alone. And, actually, he's not nearly as bad off as some of his peers.

For one thing, McAllister is over 21 and thus can open charge accounts or borrow money. Married soldiers under 21 have no such prerogatives in most states.

★ ★ ★

Also, McAllister's income is bloated because of pro pay (for proficiency) and service longevity. Most married privates in service make far less . . . only about $200 monthly, counting all allowances.

WELFARE HIGHER

Grumps one family man in the $200 bracket: "You know something? If I could quit the Army and go on welfare . . . I'd be better off financially."

Ironically, this latter truth has caused the military considerable consternation in the past.

Some GIs have tried—publicly—to get on welfare. And around Christmas military camps get dozens of offers of food baskets.

★ ★ ★

"It is," sighs one officer, "embarrassing."

REGULATION EYED

Service officials generally agree that such embarrassments could be avoided in the future. But it would require a regulation forbididng soldiers below certain grades from living off post.

In other words, wives would have to stay home. But most commanders realize that, despite problems, nearby wives are a stabilizing force for many married troopers.

"If my wife wasn't with me," insists Christopher Davis, a 20-year-old Specialist 4th Class, "I'd go insane. It's not easy trying to live on my pay, but there's no alternative. So we just try to make do."

★ ★ ★

Most young marrieds follow the Davis precept. They make do. Some couples (such as the Davis') team up with friends and split the cost of two bedroom apartments, food, television and even automobiles.

PX FACILITIES

Other couples go to great lengths to take advantage of Post Exchange facilities, which, if not always convenient, pleasant or well-stocked, are at least 10-30 per cent cheaper than comparable civilian shops.

Many marrieds also moonlight. Those with advanced educations have little trouble finding good employment.

High school dropouts are sometimes reduced to lesser jobs, such as lawn cutting and baby sitting.

And when ends still don't meet, the four services will step in with assistance. Several post agencies are authorized to lend money and/or household goods and give counseling on a variety of family matters.

Try Made to Close Arab-German Rift

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) — A physician and a newspaper columnist are attempting to heal the rift in Arab-German relations.

Their independent efforts come at a time when relations between the two peoples have been hurt by lingering Arab resentment against Bonn's recognition of Israel two years ago and West Germany's favoring of the Israeli cause during the brief 1967 Middle East war.

★ ★ ★

The physician, Dr. Abdul Kaband, founded the Society for German-Arab Friendship last January and recently announced plans for the opening of an Arab center in Frankfurt this year.

Kaband, born 47 years ago in Aleppo, Syria, finds that the Arab refugees of today have much in common with the refugees he saw at the end of World War II streaming from Soviet-occupied areas of Germany. At the time, Kaband was a student in Germany.

PUBLIC RESPONSE

The first appeal to the German public by his friendship society brought an impressive response, he said. Through last October, it collected about two million pieces of clothing for Arabs living in refugee camps.

The society has purchased a building that is to serve as a meeting place for Arabs and Germans. The society, he said, is financed through membership dues and contributions from businessmen interested in restoring German-Arab friendship.

★ ★ ★

The center's program is scheduled to include lectures, art exhibitions, a library, a youth exchange and possibly even language courses.

Columnist William S. Schlamm has suggested in Die Welt that Foreign Minister Willy Brandt propose to Washington, Paris and London the joint foundation with the Arab nations of an international organization for the reclamation of the Middle East deserts.

FUNDS, KNOW-HOW

Under his plan the Western nations would supply funds and technical know-how and the Arab nations the manpower.

"German foreign policy," he wrote, "needs a chance, as dire as a piece of bread, to give the world proof of her constructive abilty to promote international peace. Here it is."

Schlamm estimates that the project would take 10 years to complete and cost $1 billion. As an example, he points to California as having made deserts bloom in three generations.

There has been no reaction from the Foreign Ministry.

Educational TV Project Is Launched in Mexico

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Mexico is taking a spectacular plunge into educational television.

This week the Ministry of Education put into effect a plan to supplement secondary education in crowded classrooms and, theoretically, make a high school education available to every citizen within eyeshot of a television set.

The classes, broadcast Monday through Saturday from 8 a.m. until 12:30 p.m., are designed to guide pupils through grades 7-9, the prerequisite for passing on to either higher education and state universities or technical schools.

Students attend supervised "teleaulas," which are designated rooms throughout the nation staffed by a teacher, or can take courses in their own homes if they are too far removed from a legitimate school or teleaulas.

CAN TAKE EXAM

Both the teleaula students and the home students will be able to take examinations to qualify them for advancement. The only requirement is that they registered with the government for the television course and send in 24 pesos, $1.92, to cover costs of books for the courses.

The Ministry of Education started the course last week with a review of primary school, grades 1-6, in a pilot plan that reached the capital area and seven bordering states.

During the first week of review classes, attendance throughout the system was reported at about 50 per cent of capacity. This was laid to a possible lack of communication as to availability of the classes plus a natural reluctance on the part of students to start school a week early for purposes of review. The school year here starts in January.

During the class session, there is a disjointedness that is yet to be licked: the teacher on screen will ask a question and then advise the teleaulas teacher to have a pupil stand up and answer it. The time alloted is hardly sufficient, as the teacher on screen feels compelled to hurry on to take full advantage of his air time.

★ ★ ★

This year the government of President Gustavo Diaz Ordaz allocated the major share of its budget to education and culture.

Part will obviously go toward reimbursing Televiscentro, the television monopoly that controls facilities for relay of programs to areas outside Mexico City, for handling the educational television series.

There's even a teleaulas at the Federal District prison.

Tower at Soo to Honor Early Missionaries

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich. (UPI) — A starkly modern triple observation tower is to rise above the St. Marys River Valley as a salute to the missionaries who first brought Christianity to North America more than 400 years ago.

The 210-foot spire, topped with a 61-bell carillon, will soar above St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church as part of a religious complex called the "Shrine of the Missionaries."

The tower, financed by contributions, is to be finished by next July.

From the overhanging observation porches at its top, visitors will see the long lakes boats inching through the Soo locks on their way to and from Lake Superior.

★ ★ ★

Much of the international boundary is still the untouched wilderness traversed by missionaries like Pere Marquette and the other Jesuit "black robes."

Requirements for Disability Benefits Are Liberalized

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the eighth of a series analyzing the changes currently being made in the Social Security and Medicare regulations.)

By BRUCE BIOSSAT
NEA Publications

WASHINGTON — When you put aside the matter of newly enacted higher Social Security cash benefits, it is in the disability field that the program has shown its most pronounced expansionist tendencies.

Disability under this law means you are unable to "engage in any substantial gainful activity."

A few years back, the requirement was loosened somewhat, so you could begin collecting disability benefits if you could demonstrate a disability which has lasted 12 months, is expected to last that long, or expected to result in death.

Normally, also you must have Social Security eligibility, which in this instance means having worked five of the 10 years before you became disabled.

★ ★ ★

Now, however, if you are disabled before age 31, you can qualify for benefits with less work — down to a minimum of one and a half years.

That is not the only recent liberalization.

Under 1967 amendments to the law, a widow whose husband has worked long enough under Social Security to have qualified for retirement benefits can herself be eligible for monthly payments as early as age 50 if she is severely disabled.

To qualify, her disability must have started before or within seven years of her husband's death. Her payment ranges from 50 per cent to 82 and one-half per cent of her husband's primary retirement benefit, depending on her age at the time of her entitlement to the new disabled window's benefits.

★ ★ ★

Persons who resume working despite disability can go on drawing benefits during a "trial work period" that may last as long as nine months. Once it is clear you are no longer disabled, you still can get benefits for three more months.

NEW HANDICAP

If you should become disabled a second time, you can start drawing benefits quickly, provided that the new disability arises within five years after the previous one ended, and the new handicpp is expected to last at least a year or to result in death.

The size of disability benefits depends on the worker's average earnings under Social Security. He gets what he would otherwise draw upon retiring at age 65, even though the disability payment may come to him at any age under 65.

Thus the newly authorized higher retirement benefits, effective with March 2, 1968, checks, will be directly reflected in higher disability payments.

★ ★ ★

The wife of a disabled worker also qualifies for a benefit if she is at least 62, or if she has in her care a child under 18 or a child disabled before 18. Such youngsters themselves are also eligible for benefits, as is any child of a disabled worker who is under 22 and still in school.

BENEFITS REDUCED

The wife draws one-half a disabled worker's benefits. So does each child. But, unless she has an under-18 child or a disabled child in her care, her benefits will be reduced a little if she applies before age 65.

Right now somewhat more than two million Americans are receiving benefits because of the disability of the family breadwinner. With the newly liberalized provisions of the law, particularly those affecting disabled widows as young as 50, this total can be expected to rise in 1968 and beyond.

Social Security specialists are thinking, too, about the advisability of protecting workers against shorter term disability by dropping the present requirement that the handicap must be expected to last at least 12 months.

No early decision is looked for, but such a liberalization clearly would expand materially the already expansionist disability field.

Junior Editors Quiz on COMPOSERS

QUESTION: How do composers make their music?

ANSWER: Music probably originated in simple melodies and rhythms such as we find in folk music. As more and more of it was written down in notes, individual composers began to stand out.

The greatest composers have been those whose musical writings express a wide range of human feeling—sadness, longing and hope as well as joy and gaiety. There were many composers who wrote music in the accepted style of their times, such as Palestrina, Bach, Mozart and Brahms. Other composers had newer ideas.

These men, who changed the course of music, included Hayden, Beethoven, Wagner, and in later times, Stravinsky and Schonberg.

Composers writes their music in different ways according to their individual temperaments. With the brilliant Mozart, great music seemed to appear without effort. He might write it down while chatting gaily with companions.

Beethoven was entirely different. He often got his greatest musical ideas while walking alone in the country, as if he were listening to nature. He would then go to the piano and struggle fiercely to work out in notes what he had heard in his mind.

Very modern composers are beginning to work with electronic equipment and even with computers.

Spain's Planners Focus on Quality, Not Quantity

MADRID (AP) — Spain is like a jockey who finds himself in the Derby aboard a draft horse.

Spaniards aren't finding it cheap or easy to find a better mount as they do last-minute editing of their second four-year development plan. It goes into delayed effect April 1.

For six years Spain has had one of the highest growth rates in the world. Its people, tasting the fruits of progress, don't want to give up forward movement. Yet, digesting too much too fast tends to produce an economic stomachache, and this Spain has.

Its planners are hoping for quality instead of quantity in the next four years as they try to change Spain.

LARGER FARM UNITS

They want to form larger, more economic farm units to replace the tiny, stone-fenced fields traditional over the centuries. They want to irrigate the sere and thirsty land. They want to prod industry into combining into larger firms which can compete in the outside world. They want to replace the cowpaths between towns with roads of asphalt.

To do the job, Spain figures to spend nearly $8 billion in four years with the hope that this will suffice.

While they're slapping make-up on the face of Spain, the planners must spend much to import food—the single largest problem facing the nation. Spain spent around $600 million in 1967 for foreign food and $128 million more to support its own badly aimed crop excesses.

That's more than half the national payments deficit.

BIG EMPHASIS

So big emphasis is put in the second four-year plan on agriculture. Planners are aiming at an annual growth in value of 3 per cent and in production of 6 per cent.

To hike yields from the brown fields of Castille, 100,000 more tractors will be put into service, three times more money will be spent on pest control, potassium fertilizers will be augmented 45 per cent, nitrogen 25 per cent and phosphate 15 per cent.

HONG KONG SUNDAES

Enjoy Fruit Desserts

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

During the summer and fall months, when we have an abundance of fresh fruit, it is no problem to get it in our diets. But during the winter, one must make the effort.

One good way, of course, is at breakfast. But we know too many people who don't eat breakfast. And not everyone crunches on an apple while watching television or reading.

Fruit desserts can solve the problem. We've assembled good variety of intereting recipes that will help you plan successful finales to winter meals.

Now you can add an oriental touch to the traditional American sundae. The taste is rich, the color pleasing and the sight divine.

Hong Kong Sundaes have a little different look with this luscious fruit topping made of mandarin oranges, crushed pineapple, marmalade and kumquat crowning creamy vanilla ice cream.

Oriental ginger gives it a special taste. Makes your mouth water just to think about it.

Most meals call for a light, refreshing dessert to top them off, leaving you full, satisfied and happy.

Hong Kong Sundaes fill that order beautifully. These attractive sundaes add color as well as flavor to your dinner.

This idea and many others for desserts — as well as for all courses of the meal — can be seen in Better Home and Gardens newest cook book — Jiffy Cooking. This book is full of new ideas.

HONG KONG SUNDAES

1 8¾-ounce can (1 cup) crushed pineapple
½ cup orange marmalade
½ teaspoon ground ginger
½ cup sliced preserved kumquats

Drain mandarin oranges, reserving ¼ cup syrup. In saucepan, blend reserved syrup and cornstarch. Stir in undrained pineapple, the marmalade, and ginger. Cook and stir over medium heat till mixture thickens and bubbles.

Stir in mandarin oranges and kumquats. Serve warm or cold over vanilla ice cream. Makes 2½ cups sauce.

Strawberry Preserves Sauce for Pear Halves

In a creative mood? Want to get away from those routine chores for a moment? Here is an idea!

Try your culinary skills on a "fun" dish — guaranteed to bring nothing but kudos from your family. Surprise one and all with a late evening treat of Strawberry Poached Pears — a year-round winner, with the taste of summer sunshine.

★ ★ ★

You need only three old reliables — a can of pear halves, a lemon, and a jar of strawberry preserves. You'll soon discover that preserves are a versatile food that can spark up many different foods.

Combine these delightful and complementary ingredients, and simmer. If you're a gourmet, substitute apricot brandy for the pear juice. Then refrigerate to completely chill.

Finally, place the pear halves in your most delicate compotes. Pour the sauce over the pears, and top with a generous scoop of ice cream, if desired.

Strawberry Poached Pears

1 1-pound 14 ounce can pear halves, drained
½ cup pear juice*
½ cup strawberry preserves
1 small lemon, thinly sliced

Combine drained pears, pear juice, strawberry preserves and lemon. Simmer together about 5 minutes. Chill. May be served as is or with a small scoop of ice cream or sherbet. Makes 6-8 servings.

*¼ cup apricot brandy may be substituted for ¼ cup of pear juice; add brandy after mixture has been removed from heat.

Figs Improve in Wine Bath

This fruit dessert keeps well.

Sherried Figs

1 pound (18) large table figs
2 cups medium-dry sherry
1 vanilla bean, broken into 6 pieces.

In a ceramic jar-type container put all the ingredients—the sherry should just cover the figs. Cover.

Allow to stand at room temperature for several weeks before serving so that the vanilla flavors the sherry and the sherry flavors the figs; the sherry becomes sweeter and thicker.

Use one fig with a little of the flavored sherry as a topping for each portion of vanilla ice cream. Keep any figs left over in the container at room temperature.

Any flavored sherry left after all the figs have been served makes a delicious after-dinner offering to serve in tiny cordial glasses.

MARKET BASKET

BANANAS FLAMBE

A flaming dessert provides one of the most glamorous ways of ending a dinner. Crepes Suzette and Cherries Jubilee are classic examples. Any relatively simple fruit dessert takes on added elegance when served flaming.

Bananas Flambe, aflame with rum, offers a combination of exotic flavors. The dish is so easy and quick to prepare, yet so impressive.

Bananas and mandarin orange segments are baked in a sauce made from a maple-blended syrup and butter. The sauce adds just the right amount of sweetness. Toasted, slivered almonds garnish the fruit and provide a bit of crunch.

BANANAS FLAMBE

4 bananas
One 11-oz. can mandarin orange segments, drained
¼ cup toasted slivered almonds
2 tablespoons butter or margarine, melted
⅓ cup maple-blended syrup
¼ cup rum

Peel bananas and cut in quarters. Arrange bananas and mandarin orange segments in buttered shallow baking pan. Sprinkle with almonds.

Combine butter and syrup. Pour over fruits. Bake in preheated slow oven (300 degrees) about 20 minutes, basting occasionally.

Warm rum in small saucepan. Pour over bananas; ignite. Serve with whipped cream. Makes 6 servings.

Lemon Glaze for Raisin Pie

Raisin cheese pie has a continental taste. The scrumptious filling of raisins and cream cheese blended with eggs and sugar retains its creaminess as it bakes in the graham cracker crust.

And then to gild the lily to perfection — a tangy lemon gold raisin glaze goes on top. It is as pretty as it is marvelous to eat.

LEMON GLAZED RAISIN CHEESE PIE

1½ cups fine graham cracker crumbs
⅓ cup melted butter
1 cup dark seedless raisins
4 (3-ounce) packages cream cheese
2 eggs
¾ cup sugar
2 teaspoons vanilla
¼ teaspoon salt

Combine graham cracker crumbs and butter. Measure out ¼ cup and set aside for garnish. Press remaining crumbs over bottom and up sides of 9-inch pie pan.

Chop raisins coarsely. Beat cheese until soft. Beat in eggs, sugar, vanilla and salt. Continue beating until creamy and thickened, about 5 minutes. Stir in raisins.

Turn into crumb lined pan. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 20 minutes. Remove from oven.

When cool spread Lemon Glaze over top. Sprinkle with remaining crumbs. Chill. Makes 6 or more servings.

Lemon Glaze

½ cup sugar
2 tablespoons cornstarch
⅛ teaspoon salt
½ cup water
3 tablespoons lemon juice
1 egg
1 tablespoon butter
¼ cup dark seedless raisins

Blend together ¼ cup sugar, cornstarch, salt and water. Cook stirring until mixture begins to thicken. Add remaining ¼ cup sugar and lemon juice. Continue cooking until clear and thickened.

Carefully stir in beaten egg, butter and raisins. Cook a minute longer. Cool.

TOP-OF-THE-RANGE COMPOTE

Fruit Compote Is Served Hot

According to Larousse Gastronomique, the famous encyclopedia of food and wine cookery, the word "compote" denotes a preparation of fruit cooked whole or in pieces in a thick or thin syrup flavored with various aromatics such as vanilla, orange or lemon zest, cinnamon, cloves, etc.

★ ★ ★

Simple Compotes consist of one type of fruit whereas Compotes Composees consist of a macedoine of various fruits. This recipe is for the latter.

Top-Of-The-Range Compote

2 packages (12 ounces each) frozen mixed fruit
1 package (10 ounces) frozen raspberries
Cornstarch (see below)
1 cinnamon stick
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 tablespoon lemon juice
¼ cup honey

Thaw fruits only until syrup can be separated from fruit.

Measure syrup and stir in one tablespoon cornstarch for each cup of syrup. Add cinnamon stick. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens and bubbles.

Stir in butter, lemon juice and honey. Stir until butter is melted.

Remove cinnamon stick. Add fruit and continue to cook, stirring gently, until fruit is thoroughly heated.

Serve at once in dessert dishes topped with thick cream or spoon while warm over vanilla ice cream. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Sherbet, Yogurt Equal a Sauce

Looking for a dessert sauce with flair and flavor? Try this: combine equal amounts of soft lime sherbet and lime-flavored yogurt. Add a generous handful of toasted walnut pieces and spoon over slices of cake, hot puddings or chunks of frostly pineapple.

Cottage Cheese-Fruit Pie

Tight budgets and bulging waistlines are frequent aftermaths of the holiday season that, together, make January menu-planning particularly difficult. Inexpensive, low calorie meals can get pretty dull, so that the homemaker has to use extra ingenuity and imagination to save the situation.

If you have guests at this time of year, so that you feel you must serve dessert, or if you and your family just WANT dessert, diet or not diet, try a Cottage Cheese Fruit Pie, and serve small slices.

This recipe makes a great one-dish lunch or supper for the bridge set, too, if you make the servings generous. And there's next to no work involved, since you "build" the pie instead of baking it.

COTTAGE CHEESE-FRUIT PIE

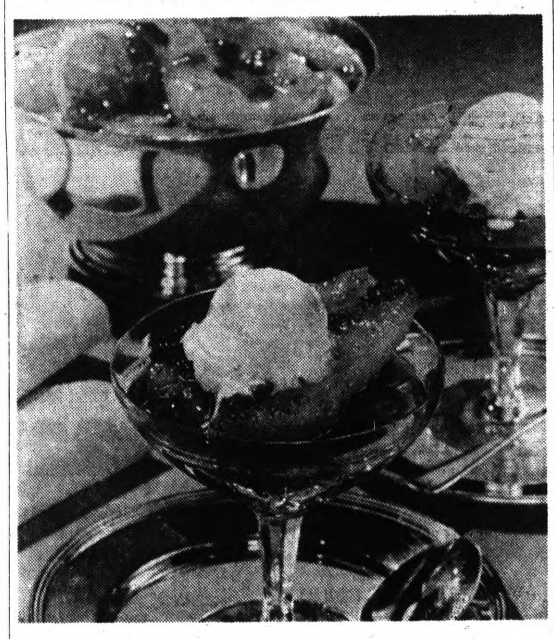
1 jar or can (approx. 15-16 ozs.) low calorie fruit cocktail
15-16 rye wafers
1 package (⅜ oz.) dietary strawberry flavored gelatin dessert
1 pound small curd cottage cheese
¼ cup granular-type sugar substitute (optional)

Drain juice from fruit cocktail and add enough water to make a generous cup of liquid.

Moisten the rye wafers by dipping them quickly in this juice, then press them into a 9-inch pie plate, filling any empty spaces with broken bits and pieces of the wafers. Heat the remaining juice and stir in the gelatin dessert until dissolved.

Put cottage cheese and gelatin dessert into blender and whirl a few seconds until as smooth as desired. For a sweeter filling, add sugar-substitute at this time. Fold in drained fruit and turn into prepared shell.

Chill several hours, cut in wedges to serve. Makes one 9-inch pie, about 8 average servings.



STRAWBERRY POACHED PEARS

Oats Crumbs Top Fruit

Cranberries and apples combine in a hearty desert.

Cranberry-Apple Crisp

¼ cup sifted regular flour
½ teaspoon salt
1½ cups quick-cooking rolled oats
¼ cup firmly packed dark sugar
⅓ cup butter or margarine, melted
1½ cups granulated sugar
1 tablespoon cornstarch
1 cup cold water
2 cups fresh cranberries
1 cup chopped pared apple

In a small bowl sift together the flour and salt; thoroughly stir in the oats and brown sugar. Add batter and mix until crumbly; set aside.

In a medium saucepan stir together the granulated sugar and cornstarch; gradually stir in water, keeping smooth. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until thickened and clear.

Add cranberries; cook 5 minutes. Off heat, stir in apples.

Turn into an ungreased 8-inch square baking pan. Sprinkle oatmeal mixture over fruit mixture.

Bake in a 350-degree oven about 25 minutes. Serve warm with vanila ice cream. Makes 8 servings.

Herbs and Spices

An herb is the leaf of an aromatic plant which grows in the temperate zone. A spice, on the other hand, may be a root, bark, stem, leaf, bud, seed or fruit of an aromatic plant which grows in the tropics.

Apples, Mincemeat in Dumplings

"A man accustomed to American food and American domestic cookery would not starve to death suddenly in Europe," Mark Twain wrote in "The Tramp Abroad," "but I think he would gradually waste away."

Like many travelers, the humorist yearned the most for typically American fare when he was the farthest away from home. As he complained of feeble coffee, tasteless butter, and cold tough bread in Europe, Twain envisioned the appetizing smells of kitchens he had known back home.

In "The Tramp Abroad," Twain hungers for a whole catalogue of foods that would have kept him amply nourished for many seasons. He mentions apples most frequently:

"Apple dumplings with real cream.
Apple pie. Apple Fritters.
Apple puffs, Southern style."

Any returning traveler would welcome these home-style apple dumplings, filled with a succulent blend of pie-sliced apples and condensed mince meat, then drenched with heavy cream.

MARK TWAIN'S DREAM DUMPLINGS

2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
2-3 cup margarine
¼ cup milk

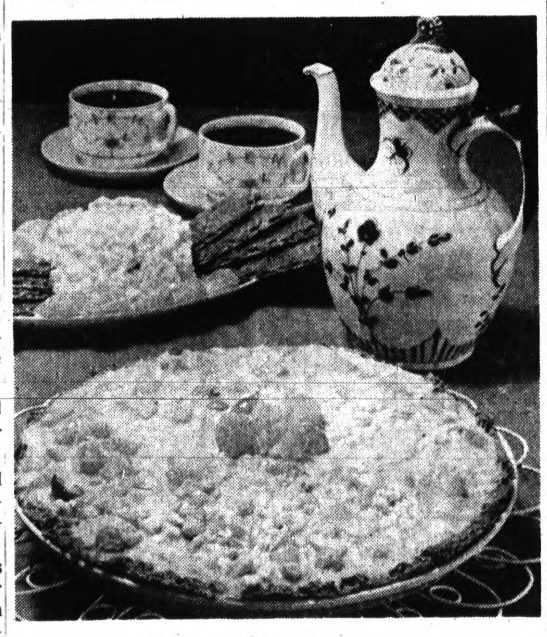
Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. With a pastry blender, cut in margarine until mixture resembles cornmeal. With a fork, gradually stir in milk. Press dough into a ball; wrap in waxed paper. Chill in refrigerator 1 hour.

On a well-floured board, with a floured rolling pin, roll dough into an 18x12-inch rectangle. Cut into six 6-inch squares.

2½ cups (1 lb. 4-oz. can) pie-sliced apples, drained
1 (9-oz.) package condensed mince meat, crumbled sugar.

In a medium-size bowl, combine drained apple slices and mince meat; mix lightly with a fork. Place ½ cup filling in center of each pastry square. Bring pinch and press cut edges together.

Place in ungreased 9x13x2-inch baking pan. Sprinkle tops generously with sugar. Bake in a moderate (375 degree) oven 35 minutes, or until golden brown. Serve slightly warm with light or heavy cream. Makes 6 dumplings.



COTTAGE CHEESE-FRUIT PIE

Vary the Filling You Spoon Into Baked Pears

For a delicious, warm dessert, bake a batch of fresh winter pear halves, filled with one of the mixtures below.

Use a 350-degree oven and bake until tender, about ½ hour.

Spicy Pears: Combine mincemeat and grated orange peel. Spoon into pear centers and sprinkle with brown sugar. Dot with butter.

Crunchy Top: Moisten cookie crumbs with fruit juice or rum. Spoon over pear halves and dot with butter.

Children's Treat: Fill pear centers with butterscotch morsels and nuts. Sprinkle with lemon juice.

EGG NOODLES "SNACK-A-RONI" — Here's a new dessert snack, very easy to make by deep frying cooked egg noodles, then sprinkling with cinnamon and sugar or with confectioners' sugar. Yes, it's new, but it's very like an old confection quite familiar to Italians, and much easier to make than the original sweet.

Japanese Are Experts

Keep Menus Simple

Enhancing the delicate natural flavors of premium quality ingredients is the essence of Japanese cooking. Often this requires only a few simple steps, but food must be served directly from the stove as some of the subtle flavors fade almost at once.

This is one reason, according to experts at Japan Air Lines, that restaurants in Japan tend to duplicate Japanese food at home, the JAL people recommend keeping the menu simple.

For beginners in Japanese cookery, one of the easiest recipes is shioyaki or salt-broiled fish. Four four servings you'll need:

1½ pounds of filleted sea bass or mackerel
1 tablespoon salt
Juice of 1 lemon or lime

Almost any white fish can be salt-broiled. Small fresh-water fish such as trout can be broiled whole.

Cut fillets into four or more individual serving pieces. Sprinkle fillets or small whole fish with about half the salt. Set aside to allow the salt to penetrate which starts the fish's own juices to flow.

The result will not taste salty. Whole fish will require a little additional salt to soak through the skin.

After about 30 minutes, sprinkle the remaining salt over the fillets and arrange on a broiler pan. Begin broiling at once, keeping the pan about six inches from the flame.

Allow four minutes for the first side, then turn and broil about six minutes more. Remove from the broiler, sprinkle generously with lemon or lime juice and serve at once.

A slight variation of the recipe is to broil over charcoal. For small whole fish, one skewer is sufficient, but fillets require about three thin skewers as the fish will tend to fall apart while cooking.

CORN-CHEESE STICKS — Heat oven to 400 degrees. Lightly grease corn stick pans or 18 medium muffin cups. Prepare one package cheese dinner muffin mix as directed on package except—before mixing, add ½ cup cornmeal, 1 can (8½ oz.) cream-style corn and ⅛ teaspoon Tabasco. Pour into prepared pans. Bake in corn stick pans 12-15 minutes, muffin pans 15-20 minutes. Makes 28 corn sticks or 18 medium muffins.

Young Cowboys Can Fix Lunch

Young cowboys fresh from a hard Saturday of outdoor play can warm up with a filling lunchtime soup that's so easy, they can rustle it up themselves. Just mix 1 jar (1 lb.) of egg noodles and chicken with 2 cans (13¾ oz. ea.) of chicken broth; heat and serve.

The resulting meal-in-a-dish soup, rich in chunks of tender chicken and egg noodles, makes six servings and is sure to become a favorite around the "ranch house."

Deep Fat Fry Noodles for Italian-Like Treat

"Full of sugar and cinnamon
See how lovely, see how lovely . . ."

So sang the Sicilian peddler years ago in the streets of New York. He was calling to all the mothers in the Italian neighborhood, asking them to buy a sweet for their children.

The confection was a dough fried crisp and sprinkled with cinnamon and sugar. The children of the neighborhood followed in procession behind the little pushcart and sang the chorus with the vendor.

Recently the home economists for the National Macaronie Institute developed a confection made by deep-frying cooked egg noodles until crisp and puffy, then sprinkling with cinnamon and sugar, or with confectioners' sugar.

Everyone who has tasted them has raved about how good they are, especially as a light dessert to serve with espresso. The crisp little sweet was named "Snack-A-Roni."

And then . . . came the discovery that this brand new idea was actually like a very old confection from tIaly, called cenci or crostoli! The macaroni makers' version, however, is much easier to make because the dough is already made in the form of the egg noodles.

Here then is the recipe for this new-old treat.

EGG NOODLES
"SNACK-A-RONI"

1tablespoon salt
3 quarts boiling water
8 ounces wide egg noodles* (about 4 cups)
Hot salad oil for deep frying
Confectioners' sugar

Add salt to rapidly boiling water. Gradually add noodles so that water continues to boil. Cook uncovered, stirring occasionally, until tender. Drain in colander. Rinse with cold water; drain again.

Separate any noodles which may cling together and drop a few at a time into hot fat (375 degrees). Deep fry just enough at one time to cover bottom of fry basket or fryer.

Fry about 3 minutes or until evenly and lightly browned. If necessary, sepate noodles while frying. Spread on paper towels to drain.

Sprinkle, or shake in paper bag, with confectioners' sugar. (Or shake with mixture of cinnamon and granualated sugar.) Serve with coffee or tea, fruit or ice cream.

*Egg noodle bows or egg noodle dumplings may be used.

Asparagus for Fritters

Provide a biscuit substitute for a bread-loving family.

Asparagus Fritters

1 cup* cooked asparagus cuts and tips
½ cup biscuit mix
1 tablespoon soft butter
1 tablespoon cream or evaporated milk
1 egg, beaten

Drain asparagus well. Combine balance of ingredients and mix thoroughly. Add asparagus and turn gently until coated. Fry as fritters or potato cakes in pan lightly greased with bacon drippings. Especially good with ham. Serves 4.

*Equivalent of ¾ of a standard (No. 300) can, glass container or package of frozen.

Mart Mixed, Groping

Selective Strength in Stocks

NEW YORK (AP) — Selective strength today enlivened an otherwise mixed andgroping stock market. Trading was active.

Gains outnumbered losses by about 6 to 5.

★ ★ ★

Because of weakness in some of its component blue chips, however, the Dow Jones industrial average at noon was off 2.03 at 906.26.

★ ★ ★

The exuberance of the 1967 year-end rally which carried over to some extent into this week when the market reached a new recovery high seemed to have exhausted itself for the time being.

Bache & Co. commented that "there are enough uncertainties around, particularly in the monetary area, to prevent a sustained advance from taking hold."

IMPROVEMENT

The brokerage firm anticipated a "Saw-tooth type of improvement, punctuated by bouts of profit taking."

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off .6 of 326.7 with industrials off .8. rails off .2 and utilities off .6.

U.S. Government bonds were unchanged to slightly higher.

Prices were mostly higher in active trading on the American Stock Exchange. Great Basins Petroleum paced the list on activity as it added a fraction. Cubic Corp., up another couple of points, resumed its strong run up. Mary Carter Paints "A" and Sheffield Watch advanced more than a point each in brisk dealings.

Dems Beat Romney, Release '68 Goals

LANSING (AP) — Leaders of the Legislature's minority Democrats got a two-day jump on Republican Gov. George Romney Tuesday by releasing their list of legislative goals, ranging from open housing to a domestic state peace corps.

★ ★ ★

Romney's state of the state message, Embodying his own suggestions to the 1968 Legislature, is not scheduled until Thursday.

★ ★ ★

The Legislature's Democratic leaders, Rep. William Ryan and Sen. Raymond Dzendzel, said the 54-page list of proposals would be considered by the House and Senate minority caucuses.

Suggestions include:

● An effective statewide open occupancy law, described as "the most urgently needed item on Michigan's agenda of unfinished business."

● A state community service corps similar to the federal VISTA and Peace corps programs, under which $150-a-month volunteer college students would serve a variety of roles from educating migrant children to caring for the mentally ill.

● State bond issues of $303.45 million for acquisition and development of conservation and recreation lands, and $420.4 million for water pollution control.

● A $5.6-million package to finance special educational programs for poor children, including preschool training for 4-year-olds, extra school hours after class and during summer, work-study programs for another 1,000 youngsters.

● A property insurance "pool" for deteriorating and riot-threatened urban areas, with Michigan's licensed insurance firms sharing the costs.

● Civil penalties for housing code violations and additional powers for tenants wishing to compel a landlord to meet health and safety standards.

SKIRTS AREA

The big document largely skirted the controversial area of new anticrime and antiriot legislation, noting that "All the facts and ideas have not been sifted and examined."

It called for laws making it a felony to interfere with an on-duty fireman, outlawing possession of Molotov cocktails and other incendiaries, and clarifying the legal definition of "inciting to riot."

The paper asks for more state college scholarships for low-income students, legislative participation in transportation studies, higher garnishment exemptions, state licensing of hospitals, special operators' licenses for motocyclists, weekend voter registration and mandatory training for all law enforcement officers.

Calling for a state open occupancy law, the statement said "All major urban centers in Michigan are plagued by the practice of racial discrimination in the housing market."

'EASILY FRIGHTENED

It added: "Whites and Negroes have become so inured to this pattern that whites are easily frightened into believing that their economic and physical security is dependent on isolation from Negroes, and few Negroes are motivated to challenge the barriers even when such challenges are supported by law."

In education, the document calls for special aid to school districts in which the parents of at least half the pupils earn less than $2,000 a year.

★ ★ ★

Suggested for those districts were: a maximum of 15,000 pupils per class in kindergarten and first and second grades; preschool training for another 20,000 children at a cost of $3.2 million; and evening and summer classes for remedial and vocational training and other educational programs.

The Democrats also suggested a one-year pilot project of volunteer work by college students "to supplement those existing state social services programs which are presently woefully undermanned."

★ ★ ★

It said a $250,000 appropriation would [illegible] costs of a project involving 50 volunteers, who might work in day-care center for youngsters, halfway houses for juvenile offenders, schools for children of migrant workers, social welfare offices, mental clinics and programs for the mentally retarded.

It envisions one of the state's universities, chosen by the State Department of Education, administering the program and possibly granting college credits to students who participate.

Chief Advocate Still Eyes Sweeping Court Reform Bill

LANSING (AP)—Ignoring the "suggestions" of majority legislative leaders, the chief House advocate of court reorganization plans to try again this year for passage of a comprehensive bill setting up a new statewide judicial system.

Rep. Donald Holbrook, R-Clare, said Tuesday he will resist pleas that the Legislature pass merely a "minimal" court bill, and will resume pushing for a more controversial measure abolishing some municipal courts.

★ ★ ★

The "suggestion" to strip the bill of many hotly contested provisions was made by the House and Senate Republican chiefs, House Speaker Robert Waldron and Sen. Emil Lockwood, Tuesday morning, Holbrook said.

"I told them I didn't want to settle for a minimal law unless it's a last-ditch effort," he said.

17 VOTES SHORT

Fresh in the minds of legislative leaders are the 13 long, gruelling days which the House spent last month in floor debate on the lower court bill. The complex measure then fell 17 votes short of the needed two-thirds majority.

Feeling that Holbrook and other members of his House Judiciary Committee made passage impossible by trying to accomplish too much at once, some legislators favor laying the lower court issue temporarily to rest with a less elaborate system.

A "minimal" bill would only have to transfer to someone else the duties of justices of the peace and circuit court commissioners, whose offices are abolished by the State Constitution effective Jan. 1, 1969.

But Holbrook's measure would go beyond that and also do away with some municipal courts, while carving the entire state, except Detroit, into districts for a new system of full-time lower courts and setting up an elaborate formula for paying the courts' costs and distributing their revenues.

COMPROMISE AREAS

"I think we can do it," Holbrook said. "We had a lot of floor experience last year and I think we found that areas where we have to compromise and make concessions."

He said he had been meeting with officials in one hotbed of opposition to his original proposals—Wayne county outside Detroit—and thought he might have a compromise which would satisfy them.

★ ★ ★

It would, in effect, leave municipal courts alone in a number of larger cities — changing their names to "district courts," setting qualifications for judges and requiring minimum court facilities, but leaving both the costs and revenues of the courts in the cities' hands.

Wayne County officials last year vehemently opposed the original Holbrook bill, which would have made the county pay most of the costs of the new municipal-type courts. Cities now finance their own courts.

Negro Technician at Yale Balks at Induction Oath

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — "I guess I'll wait for the FBI now," said the young man, who refused to take the U.S. Army induction oath Tuesday.

Glen Dubose, 19, a Negro laboratory technician at Yale medical school, was supported in his act by some 40 young demonstrators who marched to the armed forces induction station here.

★ ★ ★

When he refused three times to take the induction oath, he said, military officials told him to go home.

Dubose said he had spent most of last year in Canada out of reach of his draft board before deciding voluntarily to return to Connecticut in October.

'ONLY WAY TO FIGHT'

"I wasn't accomplishing anything by staying there," he said Tuesday after leaving the induction center. "The only way to fight the draft is on this side of the border."

The group of demonstrators that accompanied Dubose to the center was organized by Yale members of the Resistance, a national antidraft group. Leaders later documented their action with a 90-name petition which they presented to an assistant U.S. district attorney.

The petition, they said, was worded to represent a direct violation of a part of the Selective Security Act—the same section under which Yale Chaplain William Sloane Coffin Jr. and four others were indicted last Friday by a federal grand jury in Boston.

"By openly counseling, aiding and abetting Dubose's draft refusal, we want to show them (the government) that Coffin's indictment won't deter us," commented Doug Rosenberg, a Yale student and local Resistance leader.

'1A DELINQUENT'

Dubose said that he had been ordered last month by his draft board to report for induction in January after being classified "1A delinquent" when he returned to New Haven.

The youth said he had filed an appeal for draft exemption as a conscientious objector. The draft board, he claimed, did not confer with him in connection with the appeal.

★ ★ ★

Navy Cmdr. William Sheehan, who heads the local induction center described Dubose's status as a "delinquent" who had been "avoiding the draft."

Traffic Analyst Eyes 1967 Loss

EAST LANSING (AP) — Traffic accidents in Michigan during 1967 resulted in an economic loss of an estimated $400 million, a State Police traffic analyst reports.

"That's enough to build four Mackinac Bridges," said Sgt. Don Calcatera of the State Police headquarters in East Lansing.

★ ★ ★

The figure was $15 million or 3.6 per cent below 1966's total.

Econcomic loss includes such items as insurance claims and settlements, property damage, medical expenses, and wages unearned due to injuries.

★ ★ ★

The number of persons injured on highways and the number of traffic fatalities both declined last year, despite an increase in miles traveled by motorists.

Kuhn to Ask Senate for Session on Crime

State Sen. George W. Kuhn plans today to introduce a resolution calling for a rare executive session of the Senate to hear a confidential crime report from State Police Director Frederick E. Davids.

The West Bloomfield Township Republican said "Recent developments and events have pushed anticrime and riot legislation to the forefront of the 1968 Legislative agenda as 'must' legislation if we are to avert another crisis in Michgan."

Kuhn said he would call for a rare executive session on Feb. 14 to hear a report from Davids concerning "the gravity of the current crime and riot problems facing the State of Michigan."

The Senator said Davids had agreed to appear before such a session.

★ ★ ★

Davids had no immediate comment on Kuhn's announcement.

20 YEARS AGO

Kuhn said he understood that an executive session of the Senate had not been held for at least 20 years.

The Legislature convened today to begin its regular 1968 session with anticrime and riot legislation high on the legislative priority list.

Kuhn said recent events which have pushed such legislation to the forefront include:

★ ★ ★

● A report by Gov. George Romney's Special Crime Commission which included a statement that "organized elements" had participated in last summer's Detroit riots.

● A statement by the commission that "had sufficient police intelligence been available" many of the most serious early developments of the riot might have been controlled.

● Existing power struggles being waged for leadership of the Negro community.

★ ★ ★

● Recent robbery of weapons from the Pontiac Army Reserve Center.

● The growing crime rate in the state.

"Time is of the essence," he added. "I would hope that we would have on the governor's desk for signature a number of stronger tools for law enforcement by no later than April 15."

Kuhn said such legislation "is not to be feared by the 95 per cent of the white or Negro community."

★ ★ ★

"It, of course, will apply to that 5 per cent of the community which comprises the hard-core criminal element," he added.

Bar Owner, Patron Hurt in Ortonville

An Ortonville bar owner and a customer were victims of an assault by two males inside the tavern last night.

Pontiac State Police, who investigated, said Peter Tandski, 49, the owner of Pete and Jane's Bar, 411 Mill, received arm, neck and facial gashes when cut with a broken bottle.

The patron, Darwin Potvin of 167 South, Ortonville, received body lacerations and severe back pain and lost three teeth in the scuffle.

Both were treated at Wheelock Memorial Hospital in Goodrich and released, State Police said.

★ ★ ★

State Police are seeking suspects.

Items and Cash Worth $800 Stolen From City Home

More than $200 in cash and items valued at some $600 were stolen from a Pontiac home, it was reported to city police late yesterday.

Officers said the home of Jefferson L. Moreau, 41, of 593 Franklin was entered by smashing through both a storm door and regular door glass.

★ ★ ★

Reported missing were a stereo, radio, wall mirror and revolver, according to investigators.

Identification officers checked the scene for fingerprints, police said.

Cigarette Sale Ban Lifted at Hospital

MIAMI, Fla. (ATV(— Dade County Commission, which voted in December to ban cigarette sales in county-operated Jackson Memorial Hospital, reversed its action Tuesday.

The board acted after County Manager Homer Porter reported the commission would have to pay—if the ban remained in effect—the vendor $11,500 for improvements carried out under a five-year contract, and would lose $8,600 a year in income from the cigarette sales.

★ ★ ★

Porter said the vendor took in more than $31,000 from cigarettes during a seven-month period ending in December.

Hearing Tonight at Sylvan Lake

The major item on tonight's Sylvan Lake City Council meeting agenda is a public hearing on assessments for the Sherwood storm drain. The drain, installed by the city, costs $4,476 in assessments to property owners involved.

★ ★ ★

Also, reports are to be presented on a new fire protection contract from the West Bloomfield Township Fire Department. The cost of $9,000 is a $500 increase over last year's contract.

Rats' Smell Upsets Laboratory Tests

FORT WORTH, Tex. (UPI) —Dr. Wayne Ludvigson, a research psychologist at Texas Christian University, says much research may have to be re-examined because of a peculiarity of the dependable laboratory animal, the white rat.

Ludvigson said the white rat smells — not necessarily to the humans running the laboratory, but definitely he has an odor to other rats.

This may mean that much research showing a rat performs certain ways through memory may mean the rat is merely following its nose.

The researcher was studying the role of frustration in the learning process and was using white rats for experiments.

Quite by accident, he found out rats must exude a "frustration odor," which appeared to be picked up by subsequent rats in an experiment.

★ ★ ★

Rats going down a maze toward a food bowl sometimes stopped short of the bowl if a previous rat had found no food and left a "frustration odor."

Ludvigson said that made him think much of the research done with white rats may have "contaminated" data because of the odor factor.

For example, he said, rats learning their way through a maze may be merely going by the odor trail left by other rats, and not by memory or learning.

"We will either have to find some way to remove the odor between trials, devise some new experimental methods, or learn enough about an odor's influence to remove it as a factor in analyzing our data," Ludvigson said.

Steed's Back on TV

SUAVE SUPERSLEUTH—That debonair-but-deadly agent, John Steed, returns to the ABC lineup tonight at 7:30. For the first nine "Avengers" episodes, Steed, played by Patrick Macnee, will be joined by his feminine cohort of the past two seasons, Emma Peel, played by Diana Rigg. At that point Miss Rigg will be replaced by Linda Thorson, a young Canadian actress. "The Avengers" is seen on Channel 7 locally.

A Look at TV

New Series Action-Filled

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK — "It Takes a Thief," ABC's midseason contribution to escape amusement for the tired workingman, zipped off to an action-filled start Tuesday night. There were 90 glorious minutes loaded with fights, and death by strangling, gun, a javelin to the midriff and—new this season—a dart from a blowgun.

The format of the series, which hereafter will be confined to one hour a week, is a combination of elements from other recent action and suspense series.

★ ★ ★

We have a convicted thief, released from prison on condition he serve his country. The thief, Alexander Mundy, is a clever cat burglar and a debonair fellow descended from a long line of elegant crooks. He is surrounded by gorgeous girls and carries an arsenal of equipment for advanced breaking and entering. On the premiere show, there was one gorgeous girl who specialized in the quick, deadly judo chop. Any of these themes sound familiar?

Somehow, all the bits and pieces fused into a galloping whole and may work out very well.

EXCELLENT

The production and photography of the pilot program was excellent.

NBC's short special, "Herman's Hermits in Concert," showed the popular British singing group performing before a howling audience of teen-agers last summer at the Ohio State Fair.

This, apparently was not enough, so extra material was cut in. Portions of the program resembled those kooky gag and dream sequences started by "A Hard Day's Night" and used by "The Monkees." The psychedelic effects, however, were self-conscious and forced.

Recommended tonight: "The Avengers," ABC, 7:30-8:30 EST, midseason return of the suave, wry British action series, with Patrick Macnee and Diana Rigg as the imperturbable agents.

Wilson Hears of the Terrors That Aged One Youthful GI

By EARL WILSON

SAIGON-to-GUAM — "There's a private on this plane who looks older than his father . . ."

Now we were flying home. Pink-cheeked and cherubic was the father, Master Sgt. James Thomasson of Los Angeles.

WILSON

Gaunt, leathery-skinned, and old—at 18—was the son, Pfc. Charles Thomasson. One of the seven members of his platoon who survived the Battle of Hill 875 at Dak To, he's now in a new battle for a hill that may be even far bloodier.

"I'll be going back," the boy turned middle-aged man said. "They let me leave the line a couple of days to see my dad.

"It could be worse than the other one. Seven of my platoon were killed and 31 were wounded . . . just two days ago."

The boy had seen men die all around him and would see more die. "You seem lucky," I said.

He did not smile. "Everyone had at least a piece of shrapnel in them," he nodded, "but me."

★ ★ ★

"You must have learned how to duck?"

"I spent extra time digging in my hole to make it deeper so mortar and shrapnel couldn't get in. Most holes were chest deep. We dug ours a foot over our heads.

"Get down in your holes was the only thing you could do," he said.

"I had one close one. We were starting up the hill. They were all dug in, in tunnels. They fired a rocket at us. It was too high and blew up a tree back of us. I had a boy killed right next to me. By a Russian-made AK 47. A light machine gun.

★ ★ ★

"We couldnt' help each other. The medics took care of everybody till the medics got killed. There were seven of our medics got killed."

★ ★ ★

WISH I'D SAID THAT: It seems that the only new films on television nowadays are the commercials.—John J. Plomp, Detroit.

EARL'S PEARLS: A slot machine, says the cynic, is a sort of steel trap for catching dumb animals.

A recent visitor to the LBJ ranch says the Johnsons really know how to live: "They had a picnic—and even the paper plates were sterling silver." . . . "That's earl, brother.

DAVID KOSKELA

Ninth Grader in Waterford Is Profiled

Well-liked, dependable and well-adjusted are just three of the attributes used to describe David Koskela by his teachers at Mason Junior High School where the youth is a ninth grader.

David, the son of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Koskela of 3766 Lotus Drive, Waterford Township, is almost an A student at the school, which is located at 3835 W. Walton.

He presently is interested in becoming a design engineer.

Formerly a pupil at Lotus Lake School, David will be a sophomore at Waterford Kettering High School next year.

★ ★ ★

Outside of school, David enjoys playing ice hockey and pool and also likes to water-ski, fish and hunt.

This week, he began a Pontiac Press newspaper route.

David's father is an electrician at Pontiac Motor Division.

OU Beginning 1st Radio Show

Oakland University's first venture into radio broadcasting will begin tomorrow with a weekly interview show.

★ ★ ★

David Darsky, director of publications at OU, will host the 15-minute show beginning at 9 p.m. each Thursday over Royal Oak radio station WEXL.

Tomorrow, Darsky will interview George Guidall, acting member of the John Fernald Company of OU's Meadow Brook Theatre.

Guidall will direct Oakland's resident professional repertory company's coming play, "And People All Around," opening Jan. 19.

★ ★ ★

The play, which will make its American professional debut at Meadow Brook, is a controversial new work based on the 1964 murder of three civil rights workers near Philadelphia, Miss.

Darsky's program will feature a series of interviews to show the many faces of education and to let the people of Southeastern Michigan know what is going on at Oakland.

Guest Conductor

INTERLOCHEN (AP) — Nicholas G. Harsanyi of Princeton, N. J., will be guest conductor of the Interlochen Arts Academy Orchestra for two weeks after the 340 students and faculty return this weekend from their holiday vacation.

Ex-Red Gets a Last Appeal to Stay in U.S.

GRAND RAPIDS (UPI) — Laszlo Berdo, 32, of Grand Rapids, who faces deportation along with his wife and two children because he once belonged to the Hungarian Communist party, will make one more appeal to stay in the United States.

G. Vernon Leopold, a Detroit attorney, will appear before the board of appeals Jan. 24 in Washington to argue once more that the Berdos should not be deported. Previous appeals have been unsuccessful.

Leopold said the case hinges on whether Berdo joined the Communist party in 1960 out of choice or necessity.

Berdo, who says he was a "freedom fighter" in the Hungarian uprising of 1956 and "shot a Russian soldier," came to the United States in 1964 on a 30-day visitor permit and after arriving asked for asylum.

Berdo claims he joined the Communist party only after constant pressure was exerted on him, to get his family out of a converted stable in which they were living — a dwelling without plumbing or heat — and to get himself admitted to a trade school.

Leopold argues that Berdo faces severe criminal penalties if he is returned to Hungary.

Berdo works in a local furniture factory.

City Takes Steps on Tax Revenue

By BOB WISLER

While the controversy over the legality of Pontiac's income tax continues, city commissioners last night took steps to take advantage of the expected tax revenue.

On recommendation of City Manager Joseph A. Warren, commissioners canceled a scheduled Jan. 16 public hearing on a $7.6-million general fund budget outlined last month by Warren.

That budget was drafted with the "supposition that we couldn't count on receiving any proceeds from an income tax in 1968," Warren said.

"Now that the city is in the process of levying and collecting an income tax, the budget as proposed should be revised to provide a more normal operation in the city departments than would be possible under the extreme austerity budget presented to you," he said.

★ ★ ★

Commissioners also approved temporary appropriations pending actual adoption of the budget. Approved was 50 per cent of the operating budgets of various funds so that payrolls could be met from properly authorized appropriations.

EXCHANGES

The appropriations total $995,372, including $627,771 for the general fund, $16,000 for sanitation and waste disposal, $80,141 for sewage treatment; $192,281 for water supply, $67,669 for parking systems and $11,500 for debt service on hospital and sewage bonds.

Discussion of city finances sparked several exchanges between Mayor William H. Taylor Jr. and income tax foe Cecil C. Mullinix of 571 Lowell.

Mullinix, who sought to intervene in the Circuit Court case which unheld Pontiac's income tax, called the decision of Judge William J. Beer a "shotgun, or hip-shot decision."

★ ★ ★

He said it was rumored that city officials "put up" two city employes to file suit intended to stop a referendum election on the income tax and vowed that the fight to force an election would

Tax Foe Vows Continued Fight

BY JIM LONG

A Pontiac attorney said today he will use every legal means available to thwart the collection of Pontiac's new city income tax.

"We'll drain our brains for every possible way to halt the tax," said Robert Cunningham, the lawyer retained by a number of local citizens opposed to the tax.

The tax became effective retroactive to Jan. 1 when Oakland County Circuit Judge William J. Beer last week declared that petitions calling for a referendum election on the tax were faulty and thereby void.

The filing of the petitions with the city nullified the action of the City Commission in establishing an income tax until voters decided the question.

★ ★ ★

The legality of the petitions were challenged, however, by two city employes who obtained a temporary injunction against the city in setting a date for a special election.

JUDGE'S RULING

Subsequently, Judge Beer upheld the position of the two employes by ruling that the petitions did not follow the procedures outlined in the city charter nor the state statute pertaining to city income tax.

"The city is being unwise in collecting the tax until after a final determination is made," said Cunningham. "They may be put in a position where they will have to return everything they've collected.

High in the 20s Seen for Tomorrow

Moderate temperatures with light snow or a few snow flurries are forecast for the Pontiac area.

The weatherman predicts temperatures will be warmer tomorrow with the high in the 20s. Tonight's low will be zero to 12 above.

There's a chance of light snow late tomorrow.

Snow likely and a little colder is the outlook for Friday.

★ ★ ★

Precipitation probabilities in per cent are: today and tonight 10, tomorrow 30.

A frosty 15 was the low recording in downtown Pontiac prior to 8 a.m. The 12:30 p.m. reading was 20.

Blast Kills 5; 5 More Missing

READING, Pa. (AP) — Five persons were known dead and five others missing in an apparent gas explosion that rocked two houses last night, police reported.

Police confirmed five bodies were pulled from the debris early today, but were not immediately identified.

A Reading hospital spokesman tentatively identified one as Robert Stanislaw, a child of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Stanislaw, residents of one of the dwellings.

The blast at 11:30 p.m. destroyed the attached brick homes of Robert Geiser and the Stanislaws.

★ ★ ★

Neighbors said the Geiser home had six occupants including Geiser, his wife, three children and his mother or mother-in-law.

CREW DIGGING

Three persons were trapped in the Stanislaw home, including Stanislaw's wife, son and daughter.

Police said Stanislaw, 48, was treated for shock at Community General Hospital and released in the care of relatives.

Fire Chief Russell Bowers said a four-man city water crew had been digging in front of the homes where the explosions occurred. He could not immediately determine if the crew may have accidentally hit a gas line.

Gas company spokesmen were not immediately available for comment.

A Look at 'C-Plus U'

Look magazine is carrying an article on "Old C-plus U" by Harold A. Fitzgerald, chairman of the board of The Pontiac Press. The whimsical description stresses the need for a university devoted exclusively to the C-plus students with which America abounds. The magazine appeared on the newsstands today and is dated Jan. 23.

New Session for Legislature

LANSING (AP) — The Michigan Legislature returned to the capital to begin its 1968 regular session today — with the legislative spotlight already focused on antiriot, anticrime and open-housing measures.

Both houses planned to recess shortly after the session convened at noon — the House for party caucuses and the Senate for committee meetings.

The first item of business is selection of a schedule — one which reelection-minded House members hope will allow them to return home in plenty of time to campaign for fall elections.

Republican majority leaders from both Houses huddled yesterday and agreed that lawmakers should get right to work on new legislation and measures held over in committee from last year's regular session.

They expressed hope that the session could end by late June.

In addition to holdover bills some 570 bill requests already have been filed by lawmakers with the bill-drafting Legislative Service Bureau.

The legislature will hear Gov. Romney's legislative recommendations tomorrow when he goes before a joint session of both houses to deliver his annual State of the State message.

★ ★ ★

Romney's message is certain to include a call for a statewide open housing law turned down by the House only 27 days ago at the windup of a special legislative session called by the governor.

SCHEDULED TO LEAVE

Romney, a candidate for the GOP presidential nomination, is scheduled to leave for New Hampshire as soon as he delivers his recommendatinns, to campaign for the state's primary election—the nation's first.

★ ★ ★

Other regular session certainties are antiriot bills, a legacy of llast summer's Detroit riots; anticrime meassures, called for by a special Governor's Crime Commission and Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley; and reorganization of Michigan's lower courts — made necessary by the new State Constitution.

Rockefeller Concedes Nixon Has Big Lead on Romney in GOP Race

From Our News Wires

ALBANY, N.Y.—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller admitted yesterday it appeared former Vice President Richard M. Nixon was "well out in front" in the race for the Republican presidential nomination.

Rockefeller said Nixon's lead did not change his stand on not being a candidate, or his strong support of Gov. George Romney.

"If the party decides Dick Nixon is the candidate, I will support Dick Nixon," Rockefeller said. He added he would be "Disappointed, however, that the moderates were unable to unite behind a man like George Romney."

GEORGE ROMNEY

The New York governor told a news conference in Albany he is taking several steps to help "unify the party in the strongest possible ways."

★ ★ ★

Rockefeller said, "I think that, in New York State, that as far as the state is concerned, there isn't the enthusiasm that perhaps there is in other parts of the country for Nixon's candidacy."

'DRAFT ROCKY' MOVE

Gov. Spiro T. Agnew of Maryland, yesterday launched a drive in his state to draft Rcokefeller for the Republican presidential nomination.

Agnew is the first Republican governor to get publicly involved in a campaign to draft the New York governor.

There was no direct comment from Rockefeller.

★ ★ ★

Monday, a group of Oregon Republicans launched a campaign to put his name on the state's presidential primary ballot by petition.

FORD CITES NIXON SUPPORT

House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford at Michigan said there's more support for Nixon than Rockefeller among Republicans in Congress.

Ford conceded Romney has "an uphill fight" to win the nomination but predicted he will fare better in March 12 New Hampshire primary than current polls indicate.

He added he thinks congressional Republicans would support Nixon rather than Rockefeller in any choice between the two despite polls pointing to Rockefeller as the stronger candidate against Johnson.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Romney, said yesterday in Milwaukee that her husband doesn't question New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller's backing for the Republican presidential nomination.

"Governor Rockefeller has said publicly and privately he is not a candidate for the nomination. We have no reason not to believe him," Mrs. Romney said. "His wife has also told me this."

5th Heart Swap Failure in NY

NEW YORK (AP) — Louis Block, the world's fifth heart transplant recipient, died today just 10 hours after a surgical team had implanted a much smaller woman's heart into the 170-pound man.

Maimonides Medical Center in Brooklyn said the death occurred at 4:35 a.m. and attributed it to the "pumping capacity of the transplanted heart and the poor condition of the lungs due to the patient's long standing heart disease."

Block, a 57-year-old retired fireman, was put on the hospital's critical list at 12:40 a.m. when the hospital noted doctors were having "difficulty in maintaining his blood pressure." He was reported in "reasonably satisfactory condition" shortly after the surgery.

The hospital released word of the death 6:30 a.m. Its statement said, "It was an invaluable effort by the medical team" headed by Dr. Adrian Kantrowitz — the second transplant the team has performed.

Cooking School Again Set

The ninth annual Pontiac Press cooking school will be held Jan. 22 through 25 at Pontiac Central High School.

★ ★ ★

There will be six sessions of cooking demonstrations put on by Consumer Power home economists Sara Bayard and Harriet Stinson. There are evening sessions each day and afternoon ones on Tuesday and Wednesday.

As in past years, grand prizes will be awarded at each show. This year there will be three ranges given. Other prizes, which will be announced in detail later, will include bags of groceries.

Prize winners must be 18 years old. No employe of The Pontiac Press or member of an employe's family is eligible to win any prize.

The demonstrations begin at 1:30 and 7:30 p.m. Doors will open an hour beforehand. Those attending must use the east door of the high school.

PARKING

Parking will be available in the lot adjoining Crofoot School on West Huron and also behind the First Church of the Nazarene on State Street.

Admission to the cooking school is free. Tickets (one per person for each of two shows) are available from The Pontiac Press.

Anyone not obtaining tickets may be admitted just before the sessions begin.

Rail Crossing Woes to Continue in City

Traffic tie-ups at Grand Trunk Railroad crossings will probably continue to be an irritating part of city driving.

★ ★ ★

City officials feel the ideal solution to elimination of these tie-ups would be construction of different grade crossings, at South Saginaw, West Huron and Johnson.

However, these solutions are not in the immediate offing because of the almost prohibitive costs involved.

One engineering study recommending a 1,200-foot overpass to carry east and westbound Johnson traffic over Cass and the tracks pegs the cost at $3 million-plus.

★ ★ ★

Under state law the railroad company is bound to pay only 15 per cent of the total cost and the city would have to pay 85 per cent.

COULD AGREE

The railroad company could agree to pay more than the 15 per cent required by law.

However, City Manager Joseph A. Warren said tie-ups at crossings are far fewer now than at any time in the recent past.

He said the city and Grand Trunk officials have worked closely in attempts to eliminate some of the unnecessary tie-ups.

Railway officials said they haven't been issued a violation ticket for blockading traffic since mid-December.

Various proposals have been made for eliminating traffic tie-ups including one to reactivate a belt line skirting the city's eastern edge.

Grand Trunk officials say this would create more problems than it would solve including congestion in the Baldwin-Columbia area, especially during peak traffic hours.

The belt line, built during the 1920s, cuts away from the main railway route just north of Square Lake Road and reconnects with the Johnson Street switchyards.

★ ★ ★

City commissioners last June ruled out construction of a Johnson Street overpass because of the cost.

JUST AS EXPENSIVE

Attempts to build grade crossings at Saginaw and Huron would likely be just as expensive, or more so.

★ ★ ★

The engineering firm of Harley, Ellington, Corwin and Stirton, Inc., considered seven different methods for eliminating the traffic problem before determining that an overpass was the most feasible and the best method for Johnson street.

The city and railroad shared in the cost of the study, each paying 50 per cent.

The Guns of Judgment Day—1

Dan Wonders: Is It His Turn to Die?

Chapter 1

Twilight of a blistering July day moved in from the plains while Dan Brisco was making ready to take over his regular shift as night marshal of Yellow Lance.

Yellow Lance was relatively quiet at this supper hour. All sounds carried.

As he splashed in the metal bathtub he could hear the voices of children at play. He listened to a housewife singing in her kitchen, the melody sweetened by distance.

The fragrance of suppers being prepared on wood stoves drifted through the open windows. A dog was barking somewhere.

The thought bore heavy on his mind that this might be the last time he was ever to hear these homely evidences of tranquility. This could be the night Diamond Dan Briscoe, marshal of Yellow Lance, was to die.

AFRAID TO DIE

Using scissors and razor, he touched up his small, dark sideburns and mustache. He paused to gaze at his hand. It quivered a trifle. Yes, he was afraid. He was 30 years old and did not want to die.

No doubt, the three men he was credited with slaying in gunfights in the past, had not wanted to die either. But they were gone from the face of the earth and now it might be his turn.

He was a gambling man and knew the

VP Tells Bomb Halt Conditions

TUNIS (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey said today the U.S. government is prepared to stop the bombing of North Vietnam "if such action will lead to prompt and productive discussions lending themselves to a final settlement of this conflict."

"This assumes that North Vietnam will reciprocate and stop its bombardment also," the touring vice president told an audience of Tunisian university students.

Humphrey's statement appeared to be a reiteration of requirements previously laid down by Washington for a halt to the bombing of North Vietnam.

By an end to North Vietnamese bombardment, presumably he meant artillery bombardment of U.S. and South Vietnamese posts below the Demilitarized Zone between North and South Vietnam. North Vietnamese planes have made no bombing raids into South Vietnam or against U.S. ships operating off the coasts of Vietnam.

READY TO TALK

"We stand ready for an immediate cease-fire, an immediate cessation of hostilities," said Humphrey. "We are ready to reconvene the Geneva conference and we are willing to accept the good offices of any country willing to help this effort.

"We want a peaceful solution, but we will not appease. We will not leave South Vietnam to the mercy of threats from the North or subversive forces from within."

It was the first time in Humphrey's nine-nation African goodwill tour that he spoke at length to a foreign audience on Vietnam.

He seemed to be responding to a statement Dec. 30 by Foreign Minister Nguyen Duy Trinh of North Vietnam, saying that after a halt in American bombing and other warlike acts Hanoi "will" begin talks with the United States. The statement by Trinh seemed to advance what North Vietnam said a year earlier—that there "could be" talks after a bombing halt.

At another point in his speech, Humphrey said of the Vietnam situation "we are not ready to withdraw, to give up or to retreat in the face of force. . . If the Vietnamese people want a united country that is their business. But it cannot be done by force of arms."

Sihanouk, Bowles Exchange Opinions

PHNOM PENH (AP) — U.S. Ambassador Chester Bowles conferred with Prince Norodom Sihanouk for the first time today. Cambodian officials said the talk was "frank and cordial" and "useful points of view were exchanged."

★ ★ ★

No details of the one-hour meeting were disclosed. Bowles arrived in Phnom Penh Monday to discuss Communist use of Cambodian territory as a refuge from U.S. and South Vietnamese troops in the Vietnam war.

The conversation took place in the prince's modernistic Chamcar Mon Palace, set amid luxuriant tropical gardens. Informants said Sihanouk spoke to Bowles in English and expressed the Cambodian position with his "habitual affability."

President Johnson sent Bowles, the U.S. ambassador to India, to talk with the neutralist ruler after Sihanouk said he would welcome an American envoy to Phnom Penh. However, Sihanouk has said he cannot cooperate with the Americans by letting them pursue the Vietcong and North Vietnamese into Cambodia.

OTHERS PRESENT

Others attending the conference between the prince and Bowles were Penn Nouth, Sihanouk's private counselor; Premier Son Sann, Gen. Duoung Sam Ol, the defense minister, and Australian Ambassador Sinclair Deschamps, who represents American diplomatic interests in Phnom Penh.

An informed source said Bowles probably will confer with Sihanouk again Thursday and will leave Phnom Penh Friday.

Before going to the palace, Bowles and Premier Son Sann held a preliminary conference for an hour in the premier's office.

The Foreign Ministry announced that it is favorable to an American offer of two helicopters to assist the International Control Commission set up by the 1954 Geneva conference to supervise the operation of the agreements ending French rule in Indochina.

FINAL DECISION

However, a Cambodian note to the Australian Embassy said the final decision on the U.S. offer must be made by the commission as well as by the British and Soviet foreign ministers, who are cochairmen of the Geneva conference.

Prince Sihanouk has often said that he favors strengthening of the three-nation ICC but that the Soviet Union is opposed. The commission in recent years has investigated frequent Cambodian allegations that U.S. and South Vietnamese forces have violated the Cambodian frontier during clashes with Communist forces in the border area.

★ ★ ★

The U.S. government offered the helicopters in the hope that the commission could patrol the border as a deterrent to Communist use of Cambodian territory.

CRASH-RESISTANT BAG — An experimental self-inflating restraint system for cars is shown here in fully inflated condition. The plastic bag is designed so that it would balloon to its full size within 4/100th of a second on a signal from an impact sensor. By the time a car occupant, represented here by a crash test dummy, could fall forward, the bag would have popped from its storage area to restrain him. The device was described in a paper presented by the Ford Motor Co. at the Society of Automotive Engineers congress in Detroit.

Big March Draft Call Portent for Midyear

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pentagon sources say the 39,000-man draft call announced for March is a sign of things to come this spring and summer — with monthly manpower requests of about 40,000 or more likely in April, May and June.

★ ★ ★

Last year's draft summons in the same four-month period averaged only about 15,300 per month.

★ ★ ★

As one manpower planner put it in describing the upswing: "We're dealing entirely with mechanics here."

★ ★ ★

The mechanics are that the Army is now in the midst of what the Pentagon calls a major replacement cycle involving the rotation out of service of thousands of men drafted when the Southeast Asia buildup was launched.

NEEDS SOARING

By August replacement needs will really be soaring. The reason: In August 1966, when U.S. manpower for the war was escalated, 36,600 men were ordered to duty, followed by 37,300 in September, 49,200 in October and 37,600 in November.

★ ★ ★

Those men will be ending their two-year tours this fall, and the Pentagon has to allow about five months for the induction process and training in lining up ready replacements. Thus, March inductees actually will be August replacements.

Kasperak's condition was listed as critical "but improving" on the fourth day after his operation, following complications and a setback.

Jaycees Seek 'Man of Year'

The Waterford Township Jaycees are seeking candidates for their "outstanding young man of the year" award to be presented at the group's 14th annual Bosses' Night at 7:30 p.m. Jan. 22 at the Old Mill Tavern, 5838 Dixie.

A spokesman said that nominees for the award must be between the ages of 21 and 35 inclusive, must be residents of the township and should be active in civic, church or community affairs.

Candidates need not belong to the Jaycees, the spokesman emphasized.

Nominations can be made by obtaining an application blank from Bosses' Night Chairman Albert Nollette at the main office of Pontiac State Bank and completing the form.

★ ★ ★

Thus far, more than 100 application forms have been mailed to community leaders.

1966 RECIPIENT

Recipient of the award for 1966 was Ted McCullough Jr., now a trustee on the Waterford Township Board.

★ ★ ★

Other major awards to be presented at the Jan. 22 event are "boss of the year" and "outstanding young educator" (teacher).

The speaker will be Congressman Jack McDonald, R-19th District.

Air-Pillow System Eyed as Crash Buffer

DETROIT (AP) — Air pillows that inflate automatically in the twinkling of an eye to protect automobile riders in the event of an accident have proved their feasibility, sponsors said Tuesday.

The air-pillow safety system, however, was described as in the experimental stage and its actual installation in production vehicles termed "some time away."

★ ★ ★

Sponsors of the system say tests have proved its feasibility and that it appears "a major step forward," but they declined to estimate when it might be installed on cars.

The air-pillow system was described at a convention of the Society of Automotive Engineers by engineers from Ford Motor Co. and Eaton, Yale & Towne Inc., which jointly are involved in the development of it.

OUT OF SIGHT

The pillow, deflated and stored out of sight, inflates within two one-hundredths to four one-hundredths of a second in event of a crash. The engineers said it takes a person about two one-hundredths of a second to blink an eye.

Movies of crash demonstrations with dummies showed the pillows inflated before the dummies started to move forward from the impact.

★ ★ ★

R. Chute and D. P. Hass of Yale & Towne said they feel the system offers protection unmatched by any other and pointed out that it places no restraint on drivers or passengers until needed.

No action is required on the part of vehicle occupants to put it into operation.

SEAT BELTS NEEDED

W. K. Slack of Ford said that even with the air-pillow system, lap seat belts still should be worn to prevent ejection and interior padding still will be needed for protection in low-speed smashups that do not activate the pillow system.

The experimental device includes a folded plastic bag which may be stored in the steering wheel hub, the instrument panel and backs of front seats.

Wilson Plans to Investigate Peace Feeler

TOKYO (AP) — British Foreign Secretary George Brown said today that Prime Minister Harold Wilson will check out North Vietnamese Foreign Minister Nguyen Duy Trinh's reported peace feeler during Wilson's coming visit to Moscow.

★ ★ ★

"If there is a change," Brown told the Foreign Correspondents' Club of Japan, "let us decide how to use it."

★ ★ ★

Brown said when he gets to Washington Thursday he also will take up Trinh's statement Dec. 30 that North Vietnam "will" talk with the United States if the U.S. government unconditionally stops the bombing of North Vietnam and all other acts of war against his government.

★ ★ ★

"What I wish to find out in Washington tomorrow," said Brown, "is how they see this, and if there has been a change, we must not, of course, lose the chance."

ITINERY

Wilson will be in Moscow Jan. 22-24 and meets President Johnson in Washington Feb. 8-9.

Brown has been meeting for two days with Japanese Foreign Minister Takeo Miki.

Surveyor Lands Softly on Moon

Space Official Credits 'Divine Guidance'

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Narrowly missing a dangerous rock with what a space official called "divine guidance," Surveyor 7 settled down gently on the moon Tuesday night and televised the wildest scene yet found by U.S. lunar probes.

The three-legged craft, last of a $500-million series which has already certified four equatorial sites as safe for astronaut landing, was on a purely scientific mission to the 15,000-foot crater Tycho near the south-central edge of the lunar disc.

★ ★ ★

Given at best a 43 per cent chance of success, the unmanned Surveyor 7 surprised scientists by making an almost flat landing on a crater-pocked boulder-strewn plateau not far from a ragged ridge 18 miles north of Tycho's rim.

Between the craft and the rim was a desolate scene, reminiscent of the crater Copernicus photographed earlier by lunar orbiters.

FULL OF ROCKS

Pictures televised shortly after touchdown showed a landscape littered with rocks ejected from miles deep when the 50-mile wide Tycho was formed by a meteor impact ages ago.

One of the craft's three padded feet was only a fraction of an inch from a rock six to eight inches in diamter—big enough to have broken the skeletal metal leg.

★ ★ ★

Lee Shearer, assistant director of the U.S. space agency's lunar program, told a news conference: "The final 13 feet of the quarter-million mile flight was under divine guidance." That was the height from which Surveyor 7 dropped free after breaking rockets slowed its 6,000-mile-an-hour plunge toward the surface.

The rugged site was chosen deliberately by scientists hoping to determine whether there is any geological difference between th highlands where Surveyor 7 came down and the plains where manned landings are planned as early as next year.

★ ★ ★

Surveyor 7, launched from Cape Kennedy, Fla., Sunday, carries a small scoop to dig trenches as deep as 18 inches and a device to analyze lunar soil with radiation.

Patient Gets Calf's Valve

TEL AVIV (AP) — An Israeli doctor has performed what is believed to be the first operation to replace a damaged human heart valve with that of a valve from a calf and reports his young woman patient is progressing "quite well."

The valve came from a 2-month-old calf and was kosher, killed at the Tel Aviv municipal slaughterhouse in accordance with Jewish ritual slaughter practices.

★ ★ ★

Prof. Maurice Levi, a Bulgarian-born surgeon who has won acclaim for his skill in replacing damaged human organs, performed the operation several days ago at nearby Beilinson Hospital. He did not identify the patient, who he said may be released from the hospital in two weeks.

Levi, 41, a fellow student of Dr. Christiaan N. Barnard of Cape Town at the University of Minnesota, said his team had been doing about three to four successful heart valve operations a week using plastic valves.

Residents to Get Notice of Vote on Water Issue

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — The City Commission has taken steps to notify voters of the water proposition to appear on the ballot in the regular city election April 1.

Letters will be sent to city residents informing them of the fourth attempt to obtain approval for a municipal water system.

Approval by a two-thirds vote is required by the city charter. The proposition has been approved by a simple majority each time it has come to a vote.

The commission also awarded a contract for two police car replacements to the low bidder, Pontiac Retail Store, in the amount of $2,692.

GM Truck Pact OK Is Reached

Local Contract Vote Due Early Next Week

Negotiators at General Motors Truck and Coach Division reached agreement on a local contract at 8:30 p.m. yesterday after 36 hours of continuous negotiation.

★ ★ ★

Workers will begin voting on the proposed contract Monday or Tuesday, according to Joe Arthur, president of UAW Local 594.

Negotiations continued today at Pontiac Motor Division with Local 653, but no agreement was announced.

Pontiac Motor is the only Pontiac area GM plant without a local contract or proposed agreement. Fisher Body approved its agreement late in December.

★ ★ ★

All three major plants approved the national contract which called for pay raises of 50 cents hourly for skilled workers and 20 cents for production and nonproduction employes.

★ ★ ★

Arthur said the local pact, solely concerned with noneconomic issues, would be "recommended to the union members." He said meetings will be held later this week for each shift to hear and discuss the terms.

★ ★ ★

He said in his opinion working conditions would be much improved in the proposed agreement. Some 9,500 workers are affected at the plant.

★ ★ ★

Some 16,000 workers at Pontiac Division still are without a proposed agreement, but a union spokesman said negotiations would continue and the outlook was optimistic.

Red Troops Continuing to Hit and Run

SAIGON (AP) — Communist troops kept up slashing, hit-and-run attacks today to maintain the initiative they have displayed since the New Year's truce ended eight days ago.

In one major attack, North Vietnamese raiders blasted a number of U.S. Army helicopters with satchel charges at Kontum airfield, 260 miles northeast of Saigon. But in another assault, the Communists took a bloody beating.

★ ★ ★

Enemy assault troops covering the demolition squad fired wildly into the tents of soldiers defending the airstrip, killing seven Americans and wounded 25. The GIs charged out as the first rounds went off, and later counted the bodies of 14 uniformed North Vietnamese within the compund.

The U.S. Command would not say how many helicopters were destroyed or damaged but said damage was "moderate." This indicated a sizable number were destroyed or damaged heavily.

BIRMINGHAM — Officers of the local Kiwanis Club have been formally installed for 1968.

Thomas D. Gaines, a counselor at Royal Oak Dondero High School and lieutenant-governor of Kiwanis Division Six, conducted the ceremony, which took place at Greenfield's Restaurant, 725 S. Hunter.

Officers include Robert W. Montgomery, 1517 Shipman, president; Ralph R. Watts Jr., 592 Bird, first vice president; Birmingham Chief of Police Darryl L. Bruestle, 571 Bird, second vice president; Ted Paczas, 1925 Forest, treasurer; and Jack L. Fawcett, 1650 Villa, secretary.

J. Hector Nimmo, 527 W. Frank, 1967 club president, will be responsible for increasing membership and aiding in establishing new clubs in Division Six in 1968.

BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — The United Homeowner's Association will hold its annual meeting tomorrow night at 8:30 in the Township Hall, 4200 Telegraph.

★ ★ ★

Principal business of the meeting will be the election of new officers. President Malcolm E. Norris will conduct the meeting, and Supervisor Homer Case will be present to answer questions of members.

Refreshments will be served.

Irons, Board Cited by State

AFSCME Is Upheld in Labor Practice Suit

Oakland County Sheriff Frank Irons and the Board of Supervisors have been found guilty of unfair labor practices by the State Labor Mediation Board for refusing to bargain with a public employes union.

It was the labor board's first decision on the right of public employes to belong to unions.

In handing down a split decision, the board ruled that an agency shop — one in which all employes represented by the unions pay dues whether or not they are union members, is the only legal type of union to which public employes may belong.

It also said that bargaining leading to binding arbitration between a government agency and its employes union is a legitimate and "mandatory subject of bargaining."

★ ★ ★

The decision is the first on the public employés bargaining question handed down by the board. It is consistent with a Berrien County Circuit Court decision on the legitimacy of arbitration.

CONFLICTS WITH OPINION

But it conflicts with an opinion from Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley last May 29. In that opinion Kelley ruled that boards of education may not enter into contracts providing for binding arbitration at the end of the grievance procedure.

The Oakland County decision was handed down Monday and released yesterday.

It involved a suit by Council No. 23 of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employes, representing workers in the sheriff's department.

★ ★ ★

Irons and the county board had refused to bargain on union security for the workers and also refused to enter into negotiations which would have had an arbitration as their end point.

The sheriff and the county contended that the subjects were illegal in any contract between a public employer and a union. The union brought unfair labor charges on June 9, 1966.

The board ruled that a public employer is required to bargain for an agency shop. It ordered the sheriff and the board to do so.

City Takes Steps to Utilize Tax Revenue

be carried legally "as far as we can go in the State of Michigan, perhaps even further."

DENIAL

Taylor denied city officials had anything to do with starting the suit and related that the commission had been informed by the law department of deficiencies in the petitions shortly after they were filed.

He said the commission had decided to go ahead with the referendum despite the deficiencies.

Sherwin M. Birnkrant, director of law, said he advised the commission to proceed with the election because some 1,900 persons did sign the petitions, because it was questionable whether the deficiencies made the petitions totally invalid and because a special election clears up the deficiencies.

Invited to change his opinion of the Oakland Circuit Court ruling, Mullinix declined. He said he, as anybody else, has the right to criticize actions of an elected official.

The court suit stopped the commission from following through with the decision to set an election, Birnkrant said.

District 4 Commissioner Leslie H. Hudson said that in view of the appeal of Beer's ruling the city should refrain from spending funds from income tax collections.

Robert D. Cunningham, an attorney representing Mullinix on the tax question, said the petition circulators did not have a chance to defend the petitions in court. "So far, nobody has," he said.

Chapter 1: The Guns of Judgment Day

odds were against him. You could not always win.

Therefore, he treasured this moment, which, to him, capsuled the good things of the life he wanted to live, but whose fulfillment had always escaped him.

He dressed with even more care than usual. He had an extensive wardrobe in keeping with what a man known as Diamond Dan Briscoe should possess.

The city council paid him $250 a month to hold the lid on the town. In addition, he was known as the best poker player around. He could afford to dress well.

The day marshal was paid $80 a month. Nothing much happened during the daytime in Yellow Lance.

It was a different story after the sun went down, especially at this season when the beef drives from northern range were coming in.

★ ★ ★

Dan could hear the crash of couplings, and the fussy scolding of a yard engine as more cars were being shunted to the loading chutes at the stock pens.

He donned dark, tailor-made trousers, pressed to knife-edge crease, pulled on socks and bench - made, black boots with tops as soft as kid gloves. The boots had cost $80.

He pulled on a spotless white silk shirt with a pleated front. He snapped diamond cufflinks into place, knotted a black four-in-hand tie into which he placed a diamond stickpin.

He pulled on a vest of watered silk and draped from its pockets a thin gold watch chain from which hung a diamond-set charm. He pinned on a gold marshal's badge.

Footsteps approached the door. A hand tapped the panel. There were two visitors.

"Good evening, gentlemen," he said as he admitted them. "This is a pleasure—I hope."

The two graying, elderly men wore clerical collars and the threadbare garb typical of the existence of men of God on the frontier.

★ ★ ★

Dan offered chairs. "How are you, Father?" he asked the Jesuit pastor. "And you, Reverend?"

"Well enough, physically," the Rev. Martin Pound answered. "The both of us. Mentally, it is another story."

"What seems to be the trouble?"

Father Dennis O'Brien sighed.

"You know why we are here, Dan."

"Could be," Dan said.

"There's no need for you to go through with this," the Lutheran minister spoke.

Both he and the Jesuit had been missionaries among the tribes in the early days of the trappers.

They had been retired to this hand-to-mouth existence among their small flocks at Yellow Lance.

They knew the frontier and its harshness. They had seen men tortured and slain. They had faced those fates themselves.

"What would you advise?" Dan asked.

Martin Pound hesitated. "You could get out of town until these men leave," he finally said.

Dan could feel the dryness of his lips, the brassy taste in his mouth. "They're the kind who'd follow me," he said. "They're from Tennessee mountain stock. Blood feuds are tradition with those people."

"You could send someone else to arrest them," Father O'Brien said. But in his voice there was no conviction, only the realization that his mission was hopeless.

★ ★ ★

"You mean Frank Buckman?" Dan asked.

The two visitors did not answer.

"There's no other peace officer," Dan said. "Frank has the sand to do it. Too much for his own good, maybe. But he's too young. And too—"

He broke off, deciding not to finish the sentence.

"The word you were going to use was perhaps 'eager'?" Rev. Martin Pound asked.

"Eager to show he's as good a man as Diamond Dan Briscoe?" said Father O'Brien.

Dan said nothing. He could hear a late - arriving jerkline freight outfit creaking into town past his window. The acrid tang of wheel-churned dust lifted from Lincoln Street.

From his window he could see the wagon fires of Dakota-bound boomers blazing along the river.

It was said that Sioux land was to be opened for homesteading. Some of it had already been claimed as range by cattlemen.

★ ★ ★

Men would fight. Men would die. Other Yellow Lances would spring up.

There'd be other marshals paid to keep order. Like Hickok. Like Wyatt Earp. Like Diamond Dan Briscoe, perhaps.

Cattle bawled and men shouted in tired voices at the shipping pens. More beef drives were being held on the plains south of town, awaiting their turn at the chutes.

He could make out the shape of a chuckwagon where a cook was filling the plates of men in big hats by the glow of a fire.

Yellow Lance was shipping point for beef from 300 miles around.

Half a dozen crews would be in town after dark with pay in their pockets, after weeks of not having a roof over their heads, of not seeing a woman, of boredom, of days of pent-up energy and recklessness.

"What you mean, Father," Dan said, "is that I'm a bad example to young officers like Frank Buckman."

Martin Pound spoke. "Dan, is all this foofaraw necessary? all this — this flash and glitter? Diamonds and boots that few other men can afford? Silk and conceit? And, let's face it, a chip on your shoulder?"

'ARROGANCE'

"Arrogance, you mean?"

"If you want to put it that way, my son," Father O'Brien said.

"Even the church finds value in flash and glitter," Dan said. "In vestments and in color and pageantry. And in arrogance from the pulpit."

"Don't be sacrilegious, Dan," the Lutheran minister protested.

"Don't add to what you may have to answer for."

"Such as the lives of three men?" Dan asked. "When Judgment Day comes, I will have to stand on the record in the matter of those three souls, just as all other men will have to stand on their records.

"My conscience is clear in in that respect. I've committed many sins, but I have never lied to anyone, except to spare them hurt. I've never cheated at cards."

Strategy Behind Red Offensive in Viet Is 2-Pronged

By PETER ARNETT
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON — Vietnam's Communist high command has committed its military forces to a burgeoning, nationwide offensive in the first days of 1968. It has two major objectives, the most experienced observers believe.

One is to undermine rural people's confidence in the Saigon government, particularly in regions where pacification has been a priority.

★ ★ ★

The second objective is the severe punishment of allied forces, testing their morale and writing headlines in the world's press. Three times more Americans were killed in the first week of 1968 than in the first week of 1967.

The objective of punishing allied forces was sought and partly gained by the Communists in the vicious border fighting at Dak To, Loc Ninh and at the Demilitarized Zone in the closing months of 1967.

This strategy has been continued into 1968 with a series of violent Communist actions against allied troops along the central coast where three North Vietnamese divisions are conducting forays into the rich coastal valleys. An omen came with the savage attack on two South Vietnamese marine battalions by the Vietcong just 10 minutes after the new year began.

Allied commanders expected the regimental-size assaults along the Cambodian border in November and December. They had plenty of intelligence on the enemy intentions.

LOCAL RECRUITS

Allied field commanders did not expect the resurgence of North Vietnamese divisions thought to have been destroyed earlier in the year along the central coast, and the sudden appearance of locally recruited hard-core Vietocng battalions that had been lying low through 1967 and appeared to have disintegrated.

Two of these local battalions occupied the provincial capital of Hau Nghia, west of Saigon, Monday morning and raised the red and gold Communist flag on a building. Another battalion overran the district town of Tuy Phuoc, near Qui Nhon, reputedly the most pacified district in the country. The Communists dragged the district chief from his house and killed him.

★ ★ ★

Other battalions long thought dead bounced back to life in the central highlands and the Mekong Delta.

Senior U.S. officers have described the past week as one of the most intense of the war.

HEAVY LOSSES

Communist forces have taken heavy losses, particularly in the border battles. American forces generally dish out much more than they get, and while some U.S. units have been severely punished, morale remains high.

The Communists have had more success in undermining the confidence of the population in the central government. This was particularly obvious in the villages around Tan Uyen, the district town occupied north of Bien Hoa, and at Hau Nghia, the provincial capital similarly occupied.

★ ★ ★

People in both these areas were sullen and worried. Shop owners started sleeping nights in Saigon. Chiefs of hamlets stayed away from their villages.

The effect of a large enemy force entering a pacified region was nowhere more pronounced than in Tuy Phuoc, the cradle of pacification in Vietnam, a region which serves as a pilot project for the revolutionary development programs all over Vietnam.

HOME GUARD

This district, just north of Qui Nhon on the central coast, had 100 of its 114 villages not only under government control but actively defending themselves with locally recruited home guardsmen.

Then a North Vietnamese battalion moved in in late October. Soon came a local Vietcong battalion that had hidden on the outskirts of the district for three years.

News Analysis

Within one month Tuy Phuoc began slipping from the Saigon government's grasp, according to U.S. advisers based there. The district town was overrun Dec. 22, the district chief of three years killed, and the Vietcong flag run halfway up the district flag pole. Hamlet and village chiefs rushed to sleep at Qui Nhon at night.

"It was a shocking defeat for us," said the district adviser, Maj. Elden Wright of Morgantown, W. Va., who had spent a year at Tuy Phuoc. He told his superiors that unless troops were sent into his region, pacification work of three years would be lost. Wright says only time will tell whether the pacification program will survive the onslaught.

SIMILAR TESTS

The Communists probably have similar tests in mind for other regions. Hau Nghia province west of Saigon made more progress in 1967 than any other province in the 3rd Corps region. The devastating attack against its capital is certain to have major consequences on government programs there, U.S. advisers at the scene said.

Senior Americans are also mindful that all the priority pacification areas are defended by Vietnamese troops. Their performance against Communist thrusts has been uneven.

The Communist offensive has strained allied forces to a degree that cuts down their room for maneuver. Every American division in the country has had a lot of fighting in the past three months.

Field commanders are reluctant to move their battalions. When the 1st Brigade of the U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division moved to Dak To in November, two North Vietnamese battalions slipped into the vacuum left in the cavalry's tactical area of Bong Son. It took 14 days of bloody fighting in December to drive the Communists into the mountains.

SIMILAR VACUUMS

Similar vacuums would be created if other American units were redeployed to help areas in trouble.

Intelligence officers expect the Communist offensive to keep unwinding. They say many enemy units have still not been committed to battle and that the initiative rests with the enemy.

"We just don't know how far they intend to go, or what they really want. They might just be crazy enough to think they can beat us militarily," a U.S. brigadier general commented as he scanned battle reports this week.

Ford Wants Congress OK 'Hot Pursuit'

WASHINGTON (UPI)—House Republican leader Gerald R. Ford wants President Johnson to clear it with Congress before committing any U.S. troops to "hot pursuit" of the Vietcong or Communist North Vietnamese into Cambodia.

"Personally, I feel they have not made a case for hot pursuit," the Michigan Republican told a news conference yesterday in commenting on current administration efforts to bar use of Cambodia as a "sanctuary" to Communist Vietnamese troops.

"It is important that they (the administration) come to Congress, present the problem, and get our concurrence before they adopt a new policy of hot pursuit. This would be a drastic change," he added.

Ford said he believes North Vietnam is displaying a "change of attitude" that could lead to negotiations and an end to the war. But he warned against any cessation of U.S. bombing until Hanoi also scales down the conflict.

★ ★ ★

At a minimum, he said, North Vietnam should halve the flow of manpower and supplies across its border into South Vietnam.

Ford generally supported Johnson's conduct of the war.

He said the recent intensification of air raids over North Vietnam represented a change of policy which he, as well as others, pressed on the President for months before it was ordered.

In a related development, the President was urged by a group of House members yesterday to "vigorously pursue" means of improving the United Nations' peace-keeping potential.

Congress asked the President in the 1967 foreign aid bill to explore within the United Nations "both the means and the prospects" of establishing standby forces for U.N. peace-keeping operations.

Early Trading Active

Stock Mart Gropes for Trend

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market groped for a trend in active trading early today.

Gains outnumbered losses by about 100 issues.

The Dow Jones Industrial Average was off 1.68 at 906.61.

The action represented a series of technical moves by specific stocks, with no clearly defined incentive for the moment. Tuesday's action — a strong early rise followed by a rash of brutal profit taking — took a lot of steam out of market optimism.

Bache & Co. commented that "there are enough uncertainties around, particularly in the monetary area, to prevent a sustained advance from taking hold."

Occidental Petroleum recovered a couple of points of Tuesday's 6 - point drop. American Telephone won back about a third of its 1½ - point slide of the previous session.

★ ★ ★

Autos seemed confused by forecasts of a booming first quarter but doubt about the situation later in the year.

Chrysler and American Motors edged higher. Ford was unchanged. General Motors was late in opening.

International Power and Missouri-Kansas-Texas were down on heavy trading, continued its latest up drive.

Lots of fractions on profit taking.

Hess Oil and General Time were up about a point each in active trading.

Bristol - Myers added a fraction.

★ ★ ★

AT&T opened on a block of 9,700 shares, up ½ at 54⅛. Polaroid was down 1¼ at 227 on 5,200 shares.

On Tuesday, the Associated Press Average of 60 Stocks rose .2 to 327.3.

★ ★ ★

Prices were generally higher on the American Stock Exchange. Cubic Corp., up about ½, continued its latest up drive.
