Aims at Date for Arms Talk

Stevenson Hopes to Make Progress on a Definite Time

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Adlai E. Stevenson, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, said today he hopes to make "some progress" with Russia next week on reaching a date for resuming disarmament talks.

Stevenson made the statement to reporters after a 30-minute White House conference between President Kennedy and his top advisers on foreign policy, defense and disarmament. They discussed various problems pending in the United Nations.

Commenting on resumption of disarmament talks, Stevenson said "That is one of the aspects of discussion which we are closer on than some of the others. The United States has told Russia it would be ready to resume disarmament talks by August at the latest."

He said the White House meeting was "entirely separate" from the luncheon this afternoon which he and Secretary of State Dean Rusk were having with Andrei Gromyko, chief Soviet delegate to the United Nations.

Stevenson, replying to questions, said the Laos crisis was not discussed at the White House conference.

Rusk also attended the meeting with Kennedy as did Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara.

Stevenson told newsmen he had come from U. N. headquarters at New York to "talk about some of the pending problems in the United Nations" and also to have lunch with Rusk and Gromyko.

Ol' Man Winter: Spring Arrives Monday, Scoot!

Spring is just around the corner. The weatherman says it will officially arrive at 3:32 p.m. Monday when for a fleeting instant the earth's equator will be directly beneath the sun.

The passing instant is known as the vernal equinox and marks the start of spring in the northern hemisphere, according to the American Museum-Natural History.

From that moment the apparent course of the sun will be northward until June 21, when summer begins in the northern hemisphere. On that date, the sun will be overhead at the Tropic of Cancer 23½ degrees north of the equator.

There's a chance Ol' Man Winter will have another fling by bringing rain mixed with snow and sleet to night with a low of 30.

Skins are expected to clear Sunday with the temperature reaching a high of 38. Morning easterly winds at 10 mile per hour will become northeasterly at 20 to 25 m.p.h. tonight and northwest Sunday.

Eighteen was the lowest recording preceding 8 a.m. in downtown Pontiac. The reading at 2 p.m. was 37.

Seek Detroit Builder in Home-Fraud Probe

MOUNT CLEMENS (AP)—Two warrants were issued today for a Detroit builder in what prosecutor George N. Parris described as the investigation of building operations that could run into hundreds of homes and millions of dollars.

PCH, 3 Other Area Teams Out of Tourney

Pontiac Central fell by the wayside in state high school basketball tournament competition last night dropping a 55-41 verdict to Detroit Catholic Central in the regional title game at Southfield.

Orionville also was eliminated, bowing 35-54 to Bay City St. Joseph, Roseville and L'Anse Creuse were other area losers.

Clarkston and Ferndale are now the only Oakland County schools in the tournament. They play in regional finals tonight. See page 10 for stories and pictures on the tournament games.

Fanatics Threaten Massacre in Congo

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (UPI)—Hundreds of fanatic "leopard men" terrorists are roaming the Congo's Kivu Province, threatening to massacre all Europeans, the United Nations said today.

A strong unit of U.N. Malayan troops and Congolese national police was en route to the area to drive the terrorists away from the Kasungu area where marauding soldiers earlier beat up priests and raped nuns. At least 30 white missionaries are believed to be in the area.

A U.N. spokesman said several hundred natives were on the rampage. They wear leopardskin bands around their heads and describe themselves as a religious sect.

German Peace Corps?

BONN (UPI)—The foreign ministry was reported today to be considering the idea of setting up a West German Peace Corps like the one being created in the United States.

Nonpayers Elevate Pontiac General's Rates

By PETE LOCHMILLER
Ten per cent of the bill you pay at Pontiac General Hospital goes to offset losses on patients whose bills are paid only partially or not at all.

In other words, 10 cents on every $1 is, in effect, a subsidy for those who can't pay their own way.

This, at a time of mounting hospital bills and insurance premiums, is at the heart of the hospital's long battle to trim losses on state, county and indigent patients, according to Harold B. Eder, hospital administrator.

The battle will be renewed next Saturday when state, county and local officials meet at the hospital to discuss possible corrective legislation.

"If everyone paid his bill at Pontiac General we could reduce charges by 10 per cent," said Eder. "This points up how significant unpaid or partially paid bills are in the hospital's operation."

Why does your bill go up when someone else doesn't pay? Because the hospital is a break-even proposition, and revenues must equal expenses, Eder explains. When revenues fall off in one area, they must be made up in another in order to finish the year with a balanced operation.

HOSPITAL TAKES STAND
The hospital has taken the stand that it is unfair to penalize the paying patients.

The finger is pointed at the state legislature and the Oakland County Department of Social Welfare.

The legislature sets the ceiling on reimbursement to the hospital for children treated under the state's medical aid act.

The Board of Social Welfare contracts yearly with the hospital on the maximum reimbursement for treatment of welfare patients.

The hospital has claimed for years that the ceilings were too low, that they were less than the actual cost of treatment.

For instance, the hospital says the average daily cost of treatment last year was $43.57, but the county ceiling is $38 and the state between $22 and $25.

LOSS OF $67,000
The hospital says it lost $43,041 on state patients last year and $44,825 on county patients. The losses represent almost 13 per cent of total revenue.

Space Capsule Success Paves Way for Man

Structural Test Goes Off Without a Hitch; Astronaut Next?

WASHINGTON (AP)—An unmanned Mercury space capsule was sent aloft from Wallops Island, Va., today in an apparently successful test of the space program's escape and parachute launching systems.

The test, one of a series leading to manned space flight, was designed to give the space capsule and its auxiliary systems their toughest structural test yet.

Complete results of the test will not be determined until radio and other technical data are analyzed, but officials of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said the test appeared successful in every respect.

A powerful Little Joe rocket sent the capsule skyward. The space craft was seen to separate from the launching rocket at about 35,000 feet, as planned. The craft then continued its climb to about 40,000 feet, where the main parachute opened.

The capsule was seen landing in the water about 8½ minutes after the launching. The rocket carried radio telemetry equipment to send back flight data, and also carried tape recorders on board. It was tracked by radar and by cameras on the ground and in aircraft.

The shot may be the last in the Mercury astronaut program before a similar capsule carries a man on a 12½-mile high, 200-mile long ballistic flight from Cape Canaveral, Fla.

That flight, tentatively scheduled for next month, will be one of a series designed to train astronauts for the much more ambitious attempt, perhaps late this year, to orbit two or three times around the earth.

The 25-foot-tall rocket, 45 feet in diameter and weighing 40,000 pounds with its one-stage capsule, blasted off at 11:48 a.m. EST.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration said there were no animals or biological specimens aboard.

Plane Crashes; Two Walk Away

A Farmington pilot and his passenger walked away from their single-engine plane this morning after the craft crashed into the Romeo Golf Course during take-off.

Romeo State Police said the only injuries were a cut on the chin of the pilot, Edwin Simpowski, 31, 24333 Broadway St., and a cut on the elbow of the passenger, Bruce H. Miller, 28, of 72 E. Dallas St., Madison Heights.

They did not require hospital treatment. The golf course is adjacent to the Romeo airport.

Simpowski apparently misread wind signals and took off with the wind behind him instead of against the plane, according to troopers.

The plane had traveled only half a mile to an altitude of some 40 feet before losing air speed and nosing into the golf course, police said.

The plane—a Cessna 140—is owned by Leonard Brown, 250 Midland St., Highland Park.

Troopers said the plane might also have developed engine trouble as the motor was reported failing just before the plane hit the ground.

The nose and one of the plane's wings suffered extensive damage. The mishap occurred at 8:40 a.m.

Wishes to Try Youth as Adult

To Continue Hearings in Fatal Stabbing of Boy at Card Game

A Juvenile Court hearing will continue today on whether 16-year-old Robert L. Draker of Pontiac should stand trial as an adult in the murder of his neighborhood chum.

Forty states, led by New York, California, Illinois, New Jersey and Pennsylvania, reported the reduction in their unemployment insurance rolls.

Michigan, under the impact of early auto layoffs, reported an increase in insured unemployment of 14,700. But Michigan also reported the largest drop in initial claims, an indication that the heavy auto production and employment cutbacks of February were easing.

The initial claims total for the week ended March 11 was 383,000. In January, claims reached a high of 85,000 in one week.

R. CLARE CUMMINGS

(Editor's Note: In connection with Pontiac's centennial year, The Pontiac Press is presenting periodically series of vignettes on some of the persons and families who have contributed significantly to making Pontiac the fine city we know today.)

The career of R. Clare Cummings, president of the Pontiac Federal Savings and Loan Association, is an outstanding example of the American success story.

It started with Cummings taking a job as teller at a bank in Holly in 1904.

It continues today with Cummings as president of Pontiac's largest mortgage lending institution of which he was one of the founders.

In between, he worked as a bank cashier and assistant cashier, and was manager of a bank building for 19 years.

A resident of Pontiac since 1912, Cummings, 76, has been a member of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors for 10 years, having served as chairman. He also was a president of the Pontiac Board of Commerce.

A pioneer member of the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority, he has been the county's representative on the Board of Commissioners for 15 years.

Active in the Boy Scouts, he is past president of the Clinton Valley Council and has worked as an officer and director in scouting for more than 25 years.

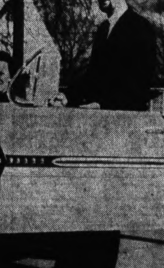

Cummings lives at 205 E. Iroquois Rd.

Pontiac Youth, Waterford Man Crash Victims

2 Teen-Age Girls Listed in Fair Condition of Pontiac General

Two traffic accidents in the county last night claimed the lives of a Pontiac youth and a Waterford Township man and sent four persons to the hospital.

Dead are Donald E. Rawlins, 17-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Gendell G. Rawlins, 791 Second St., and Lester Lundy, 42, of 1269 Other Drive.

Rawlins was killed in a head-on two-car collision on Joslyn Road in Orion Township at 10 p.m.

Two teen-age Pontiac girls, who were passengers in the car driven by Rawlins, and the driver of the other car were reported in fair condition today at Pontiac General Hospital.

Feet Wood, 17, suffered multiple fractures and facial cuts. Glenda Whittington, 17, 108 S. 23th St., has a possible concussion and badly cut right ear. Both are seniors at Pontiac Central High School.

The other driver, Clifford S. Mullins, 29, of 2877 Boundary Road, Orion Township, sustained multiple fractures and possible internal injuries in the crash.

A third passenger in the Rawlins car, Kenneth Beale, 19, of 1229 Taylor Road, Pontiac Township, was treated at the hospital for minor injuries and released.

The youths were out joyriding when the accident occurred. They were driving south on Joslyn Road when the oncoming Mullins car came over a rise in the road on the wrong side of the center line, according to sheriff's deputies who investigated at the scene.

Rawlins had been employed as an attendant at his father's gas station since quitting school last year. He had been at the Waterford-Spice Funeral Home in Pontiac.

Lundy died at William Beaumont Hospital, Royal Oak, this morning of injuries sustained in a two-car collision in Southfield last night.

Witnesses told Southfield police that Lundy, driving east on Nine Mile Road, ran a red light at Southfield Road and smashed into a southbound car driven by Mrs. Kathleen P. Kellerman, 37, of 18164 Trinity, Detroit.

Mrs. Kellerman was in satisfactory condition today at Beaumont Hospital with back injuries. Her two daughters Karen, 15, and Kristin, 10, were treated and released.

Judge Claims Legislature Isn't

Rules Indiana Body Is Unconstitutional and Has Been for 34 Years

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI)—Indiana's Legislature is unconstitutional and has been for 34 years, a county judge said Friday.

The decision aroused a furor of speculation over the legality of laws, salaries, appropriations, bonds and everything else the legislature has dealt with for nearly two generations.

Attorney General Edwin Steens immediately moved to head off any further action which could make the judge's decision meaningless.

Police Keep Close Watch on Algerian Powder Keg

ALGIERS (UPI) — Paratroopers and police stood guard today in Algiers and Oran, ready to deal with any effort by Arabs or Europeans to set off a new wave of violence.

Friday's Arab acceptance of President Charles de Gaulle's call for peace talks coincided with the end of the Moslem fast of Ramadan, and the combination was considered potentially explosive.

Authorities here were concerned about a possible explosion of Moslem rejecting into violence. They said also that European extremists might use on the occasion to provoke trouble between Arabs and Europeans.

They said the extremists still cherish the hope that the French army would come over to the side rather than see the way opened for an Arab victory at a conference table in France.

Despite the recent diplomatic exchanges, Arab forces are still fighting French troops in Algeria. In the past few days, they have staged a number of attacks on French border defenses, from bases in Morocco, perhaps in hopes of getting reinforcements through to guerrillas in the Algerian hills.

Friday, the French army reported an attack on the island of Djerba, which was held by Arab guerrillas who set part of the settlement area before being driven off.

Informed sources in Paris said the French government plans a step-by-step approach in its negotiations with the Arabs.

They said the French probably would press early in the talks for a cease-fire—a condition which De Gaulle originally set as a prerequisite for any sort of negotiation.

The French also were expected to ask for an Arab guarantee of the rights of European citizens who choose to live in any independent Algerian state which might be created as a result of the talks, and to urge the need for the retention of France's key Algerian bases.

Storms Leave Path of Damage Across South

A turbulent squall line that thundered across the South with tornadoes and severe thunderstorms crossed Southern Alabama and Northern Florida today and headed out to sea.

For 2,000 miles behind the storms lay scattered damage from wind, flood, hail and lightning.

Tornado warnings were out early today in Alabama and Florida, and weathermen warned of severe, destructive winds in all Eastern Gulf states.

A twister swooped down on Mobile last night where it damaged two homes and numerous small buildings. No one was hurt.

At Mobile, hail damaged property and rain flooded streets. The wind measured 66 miles an hour at the Mobile Municipal Airport where the top was blown off a garage.

Mobile had 14 inches of rain within six hours during the night and McComb, Miss., recorded 1.43 inches for the same period.

Heavy rain in Southern Mississippi threatened floods along the Mississippi and other rivers, which poured out of their banks two weeks ago.

WORKING ON THE RAILROAD—Approximately 1,000 members of the Pontiac Boys Club have operated this miniature $2,000 railroad set which the club received as a gift from Thomas E. Wilson, GMC Truck & Coach Division general manufacturing manager.

Relax . . . It's the Miniature Kind Gives Railroad Away as Gift

By MAX SIMON

The whistle of the locomotive is silent and the tracks that carried the trains have been dismantled. Nevertheless, the future of a Pontiac "railroad" couldn't be rosier.

Next winter it'll be back in business—the tracks, the locomotive, and everything else that goes with a railroad.

The railroad, a complete $2,000 miniature system, was presented as a gift to the Pontiac Boys Club during the Christmas season by Thomas E. Wilson, general manufacturing manager of GMC Truck and Coach Division.

The railroad had afforded many pleasurable hours to his son, Thomas E. Wilson Jr., 15, at the Wilson family home, 41 W. Long Lake Road, Bloomfield Hills.

Wilson decided that the railroad would prove an item of fascination for the Boys Club members, many of whom don't have trains of their own.

An immediate attraction, the railroad has been operated by more than 1,000 boys at its new home.

Six "Casey Jones Clubs" were organized, with boys learning the duties of railroad workers—switchmen, brakemen, yardmen and engineers.

"I wouldn't be surprised if some of these kids could actually run a train," said Cressy B. Larsen, executive director of the club.

"They sure know a lot more than I do about running a railroad."

The railroad's operations have ended because the space at the club building is needed for other programs, Larsen said.

Cold weather in the fall will herald the comeback of the choo-choo, much to the delight of 1,000 would-be Casey Joneses who are waiting for another chance to be working on the railroad.

The new product, with fancy train, fancy upholstery and a fancy name, is designed to compete with Chevrolet's highly successful Corvair.

The Monza was introduced last May in a two-door version and a four-door model was put in production in January. The Monza series accounts for 45 per cent of all Corvair sales.

The new Falcon is said to carry the name "Falcon." Reports say it is fitted with bucket seats and a center console such as is used on the Thunderbird.

The Ford Motor Co. has another super compact model in the works for Comet. This one also is due soon.

Two other fancy models also have been reported—once from Dodge for the compact Lancer and one from Pontiac for the Tempest.

None of Ford's plans has been confirmed as yet.

However, it was understood an announcement would be forthcoming, probably Tuesday night.

It has been reported the new Falcon and Comet models will be displayed at the International Auto Show which opens at New York's Coliseum April 1.

Under the program a student enrolled at one of the universities will be allowed to take courses at the other. He will pay tuition to the school in which he is enrolled.

The program is designed to use fully the resources of both universities and to avoid unnecessary duplication in instruction and facilities.

Marvin L. Niehaus, U. of M. vice president, predicted other universities in Michigan eventually would join the program.

Such an opinion would force a constitutional convention, they said, and the convention would have to reorganize the state. The high court opinion would make the practice of any new legislature illegal.

Some Indiana officials proposed that Linder's ruling be appealed to the State Supreme Court, which they said would allow time for the legislature to reappear before a decision was reached.

But the attorney general advised against this. Linder's decision has no legal effect, Steers said, but an opinion by the Supreme Court would be binding.

Statehouse sources said that the Supreme Court upheld Linder, and the legislature had not reappeared, the high court opinion would make the practice of any new legislature illegal.

Says Space Projects Safe From Air Force Monopoly

WASHINGTON — The Air Force chief of staff sought today to assure the Army and Navy that the Air Force has no designs on their pet space projects.

Gen. Thomas D. White said a recent Defense Department directive giving the Air Force virtual monopoly on space would not change the status of the Navy's Polaris missile and the Army's Nike-Zeus missile defense system.

The Air Force commander told a House committee looking into the effects of the Pentagon order that the directive was mainly a clarification of the three services' roles in space.

White said that within 36 hours of the March 6 order from Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara he had called all of his top commanders to the Pentagon for discussion of its implications.

Linder said the Indiana Constitution clearly states that the state's legislative districts should be reapportioned every six years. Since legislatures have refused to reappear, the state is in violation of the members' sacred oath of office.

The decision giving the Air Force such a dominant role in space drew a protest from Gen. Lyman Lemnitzer, an Army officer who is chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. He reportedly said the ruling goes too far and was rushed along without giving the military chiefs a chance for proper study.

(Schole's argument was denied by the State Supreme Court. He has appealed to the U.S. Supreme Court.)

Some Indiana officials proposed that Linder's ruling be appealed to the State Supreme Court, which they said would allow time for the legislature to reappear before a decision was reached.

But the attorney general advised against this. Linder's decision has no legal effect, Steers said, but an opinion by the Supreme Court would be binding.

Statehouse sources said that the Supreme Court upheld Linder, and the legislature had not reappeared, the high court opinion would make the practice of any new legislature illegal.

Such an opinion would force a constitutional convention, they said, and the convention would have to reorganize the state. The high court opinion would make the practice of any new legislature illegal.

8,600 Going Back to Work in Lansing

LANSING—Some 8,600 General Motors employees here return to work Monday after being laid off a week to let car dealers get inventories in line with demand. The layoff affected some 6,000 hourly rated workers at the Oldsmobile assembly plant and 2,600 at the Fisher Body Co. feeder plant. About 5,000 salaried and maintenance workers remained on the job during the temporary shut down.

10,178 See City Film; 84 Future Dates Set

"The Pontiac Story of Progress and Promise" has been viewed by an estimated 10,000 persons.

The mark was passed yesterday when the 26-minute color and sound film produced by the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce was seen by children at the Mark Twain School.

After that showing, 10,178 persons had viewed the film, according to figures kept by John Hirlinger, chamber manager.

The next big showing will be Monday night before the House of Representatives in Lansing.

The film has been shown 80 times since its premiere Feb. 1, said Hirlinger. There are now three copies of the film, he said, and advance bookings for 84 more showings, most of them in the coming weeks.

Designed to bolster civic pride and enlist support for public ventures, the film is also aimed at gaining state and national attention to Pontiac during the centennial year.

Hirlinger said he expected many outside bookings would result from the showing Monday evening and a showing Monday or Tuesday before a meeting of chamber of commerce and trade association executives in Lansing.

Hirlinger said that WJTV-TV in Detroit has asked to show the film over Channel 4 during Michigan week in May.

The film has been booked before the Jackson City Commission, the Michigan State Fair Board, and a convention of chamber and trade association executives in Santa Clara, Calif., in July, Hirlinger reported.

Trucking Booster: Select Officers

Mrs. Warren Kline, 6800 Williams Lake Road, Waterford Township, was elected president of the newly formed, Volunteer Truckers Association of Pontiac, a group of truck drivers and their wives organized to wage a letter-writing campaign for corrective legislation in the trucking industry's dispute with railroads over rate-cutting.

Other permanent officers elected last night are: Mrs. Floyd Collier, 344 Beverly Ave., vice president; Mrs. Harry Hart, 245 Cherryland St., Auburn Heights, secretary; and Mrs. William Crutchfield, 1431 Tull Road, Waterford Township, treasurer.

The group plans to meet weekly nights at the F. J. Beutell Drive-away Co., 245 E. Walton Blvd., to write letters to Lansing and Washington urging an end to rate cuts in the shipment of new automobiles by rail to dealers.

Girl Hit by Car, Suffers Broken Leg

A 7-year-old Rochester girl suffered a broken right leg Friday afternoon when she was struck by a car on Woodward Street near Pine Street in Rochester.

Diane Morse, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Morse of 336 Drace St., was treated at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital and released. Witnesses told police the child walked from between two parked cars into the side of a car being driven by Honora M. O'Connor, 33, of 420 W. Second St., Rochester. The driver was not held.

THE NECESSITY OF BAPTISM

The above expression is being used to focus attention upon the importance which the Bible places upon the baptism of the believer. It is so important that it is called the "gateway of righteousness" and it is so important that it is called the "gateway of life."

1. The failure of individuals to study the Bible for themselves. See 1 Th. 5:11, 5:13, 5:14.

2. A failure to place the proper emphasis on pleasing God instead of man. See 1 Cor. 13:1-3.

3. A tendency on the part of the majority to conclude that because so many disputes exist among the churches, the Christian religion is not really that important anyway. However, regarding this expression I would like you to remember that:

1. The command to be baptized is given by our Saviour, Jno. 3:3, Matt. 28:19, Mk. 16:16.

2. The command is repeated by the apostles of our Saviour, Acts 2:41, 22:16, 26:18.

3. The command is repeated by the apostles of our Saviour, Acts 2:41, 22:16, 26:18.

4. The command is repeated by the apostles of our Saviour, Acts 2:41, 22:16, 26:18.

5. The command is repeated by the apostles of our Saviour, Acts 2:41, 22:16, 26:18.

6. The command is repeated by the apostles of our Saviour, Acts 2:41, 22:16, 26:18.

"And when he was come nigh, even now at the descent of the Mount of Olives, the whole multitude of the disciples began to rejoice and praise God with a loud voice . . . saying, Blessed be the King cometh in the name of the Lord; peace in heaven, and glory in the highest." (Luke 19:37-38)

Days of All Faiths:

Clarifies Passion Week, Holy Week

By DR. HOWARD V. HARPER

March 19 is Passion Sunday, the beginning of a one-week period called Passion Week, and of a two-week period called Passiontide. These last two weeks of Lent, Passion Week and Holy Week, together form a sort of season within the Lenten season.

Many people do not have these two weeks straightened out in their minds. They mistakenly call next week Passion Week. This is probably not very important. Certainly no one's salvation is involved in it. But for those who care about proper terminology and find satisfaction in being well-informed, the Episcopal Bishop of California, from within his own church. It is not the purpose or intention of this column ever to take sides in matters of controversy, but only to report both sides.

The word passion has sunk to area: Mary Sue Ekelund . . . Overheard in high school: "The trouble with the dictionary is you have to know how to spell the word before you can look it up to see how to spell it." . . . Some people mistakenly cash Savings Bonds just when the interest rate is the highest. A bond bought in March of 1954 will now average 4.28% until maturity.

Did you hear about the man who went to Las Vegas in an $8,000 Cadillac and came home in a $40,000 Greyhound bus? . . . KEN TIFFANY told me the highest percentage of traffic accidents doesn't come from automobiles. It's bicycles. . . Medical scientists say the common cold will be extinct in 40 years. May I set down a hollow "haw, haw?" . . . A Florida syndicate wants to make Duck Key a second Palm Beach. Building lots start at $100,000 . . . Ski beginners have been aided enormously this year by a new gadget — skis 36 inches long. They sold 100 pairs last winter and will move 3,500 this time. . . Department of Cheers and Jeers: the C's—FLOYD PATTERSON; the J's—the stumbling, inept fifteen minute broadcast before the fight which was the dearest air wave exhibition in years and which was followed by that phony "cliff hanger" that deluded several million honest listeners.

—HAROLD A. FITZGERALD

Bird experts belittle the tradition, saying that the birds spend the winter in South America and

come back when the weather

feels right, no matter what the

specific date may be.

But the opinion of experts does not shake the local people in their insistence that it always happens

on St. Joseph's Day.

(Copyright 1961)

ST. JOSEPH'S DAY.

Also Sunday, March 19, is St.

Joseph's Day, honoring the kind, quiet man who was the husband of the Blessed Virgin Mary, and, depending on whether one accepts the doctrine of the Virgin Birth or not, either the foster-father or the real father of Jesus.

This subject is much in the public press today because of the charges of heresy that are being levied against Bishop Filio, the Episcopal Bishop of California, from within his own church. It is not the purpose or intention of this column ever to take sides in matters of controversy, but only to report both sides.

Not much is known about St.

Joseph. He was of royal descent — St. Luke makes that clear in his second chapter, verse four,

when he says "he was of the house and lineage of David." We can be sure, too, that Joseph looked after the Child and His Mary. He worried as much as Mary did when the Boy got lost in Jerusalem. "Behold, thy father and I have sought thee sorrowing," she said. It is also clear that Joseph taught Jesus the carpenter's trade.

And beyond what we know, we can assume that as head of the Holy Family, Joseph took the usual paternal responsibility for support and education. In this particular case it was a reasonable assumption that a rational man could have handled.

It is a little surprising, then,

to find that the Church was very late in settling aside a day in Joseph's honor. Local festivals appeared among the Coptic Christians and the Greeks perhaps as early as the fourth century, and there was a church dedicated to him in Bologna in 1129, but it was not until late in the fifteenth century that any Pope put him into the official calendar.

BISHOPS AND SNAWLOWS

Two interesting things happen on

St. Joseph's Day that are worth attention although they don't really have any apparent connection with the saint himself.

One is that in many of the homes for the aged that are operated by the Little Sisters of the Poor, certain blessings will appear and put on white aprons and act as waiters, serving dinner to the old people who live in those homes. Why this dramatization of the prophet's humility should occur on St. Joseph's Day instead of some other day is not clear to this observer.

The other is that famous business about the swallows at the Mission at San Juan Capistrano in California. The story is that on March 19

the swallows return from wherever they have been during the winter, and that this has been going on like clockwork since the early days of the Mission, more than 180 years ago.

Bird experts belittle the tradition, saying that the birds spend

the winter in South America and

come back when the weather

feels right, no matter what the

specific date may be.

But the opinion of experts does not shake the local people in their

insistence that it always happens

on St. Joseph's Day.

The parents of parochial school students are entitled to any return of tax money given other citizens. The cry is heard, "These parents can send their children to public schools," but many are on holiday sessions and overwork and and could not possibly absorb the 6.8 million parochial school students; as there is a current shortage of 14,000 classrooms and a critical shortage of teachers.

If parents of parochial school students decided to send their children to public schools, it would cause confusion and pain in the federal, state and municipal governments.

Parochial schools are relieving taxpayers of an additional burden

so it is to their benefit to support aid to parochial school students.

One solution would be to permit parents of parochial school students to pay a percentage of school taxes to the parochial schools.

No Harm in Dinner With Boss

By The Emily Post Institute

Q: I am secretary to one of the executives of a big company. Every now and then I have to work late at the office. After we have finished working, my employer usually takes me out to dinner and then drives me home.

He is married and has a family. I am unmarried. Just the other day I overheard two of the girls in the office gossiping about this.

I am very much distressed over it and would like to know if there could possibly be any impropriety in my having dinner with him and allowing him to drive me home.

A: Unless your behavior prompts gossip, there is no impropriety in your occasionally having dinner with your employer after having worked late at the office and then to be driven straight home by him.

Q: Will you please tell me if it is customary for the bride to give the bridegroom a wedding present, and if so, what is usually given? Also, when is the most appropriate time for the bride and groom to give the members of the bridal party their presents?

A: It is not required that the bride give a present to the groom but she often does so if she can. Generally it is something permanent and personal—ranging from cuff links to a watch or ring.

If there is a bridesmaid and ushers' dinner, the attendants are given their presents at that time; otherwise at the rehearsal.

Q: Last year I gave a girl I had been going out with a charm bracelet for her birthday. About two months ago we had a serious quarrel and no longer see each other.

I would like to have this bracelet back. May I write to her and ask her to return it?

A: As it was a birthday gift, and not an engagement present, she is entitled to keep it, and it would be very niggardly to ask for its return.

The Emily Post Institute is sorry it cannot answer personal mail.

Abby's All for Exercise

At Ease, Mom! Let the Boys Roughhouse in Living Room

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My three sons (6, 10 and 13) and I love to wrestle. We would like to use the dining room, which has a linoleum covering, for about 30 minutes every evening for this purpose. It's good exercise for me, and the boys love it.

To do this would require pushing the table and chairs against the bulthead (wall) and replacing them when we are through.

My wife says POSITIVELY NO! She insists we would be upsetting HER home even though we promised to put everything back in place afterward.

The boys and I feel it is our home, too, and if we want to wrestle there we should be able to do it. What's your opinion, Abby?

CAREER MARINE

DEAR ABBY: Before my husband sends this letter I would like to add my two cents. He forgot (?) to mention that we have a recreation room in the basement, equipped with shuffleboard, ping-pong table, bowling game and target for darts.

I believe that is the place where they should do their exercising. Our dining room is small, and it irks me to have it pulled apart every evening.

CAREER MARINE'S WIFE

DEAR ABBY: Before my husband sends this letter I would like to add my two cents. He forgot (?) to mention that we have a recreation room in the basement, equipped with shuffleboard, ping-pong table, bowling game and target for darts.

I believe that is the place where they should do their exercising. Our dining room is small, and it irks me to have it pulled apart every evening.

the basement and throw darts.

DEAR ABBY: My boyfriend and I, ages 16, would like your opinion on a problem that has been troubling us. My parents say we should not "park" in front of our house because the neighbors will talk.

I try to explain that we are not "parking." We only sit in his car and talk and listen to the radio. They say they would rather have us go somewhere else and do this.

I say we are safer in front of our house than going out in the woods where something could happen to us. What is your opinion?

TROUBLED

DEAR TROUBLED: You are wise to avoid "the woods" or other isolated places. Why not invite him into your home?

CONFIDENTIAL: TO "A KIND WIFE": If your husband had a broken leg, you would rush him to a doctor to have it set. Why then, when he has a broken personality, do you regard it "a kindness" to ignore it?

Yes, Abby will answer your letter personally if you write to ABBY, Box 3363, Beverly Hills, Calif., and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Getting married? For Abby's "Lovely Wedding," send 50 cents to ABBY, Box 3363, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Women's Section Carnation Queen Hates to Dig

By GAY PAULEY

UPR Women's Editor NEW YORK (UPI) — Mrs. Sylvia MacGuffing Valencia helps in the production and harvest of 1.5 million carnations each year, but ruefully admits, "I don't have a green thumb."

The attractive, red-haired New Englander is known throughout the florist industry as the "queen of carnations" and is the lady responsible for the floral decorations for the Kennedy inaugural balls.

Mrs. Valencia and her husband Esteban, a jovial man whose ancestors were Spanish aristocrats and founders of the town of Valencia, operate a wholesale and retail florist business in Westboro, Mass., 30 miles from Boston.

"I know all the theories about gardening," said Mrs. Valencia, "but I'm just not a grower. . . I don't like to dig. I'd rather arrange."

The couple "farm" 11.5 acres, much of it "under glass" — that is, with greenhouse — and annually harvests not only the 1.5 million carnations but a myriad of other flowers for their retail customers.

It was Mrs. Valencia who did all the floral arrangements for seven decorator-planned room settings at this year's International Flower Show.

ONLY 1 HOUR'S SLEEP The morning I talked with the Valencias, they'd had only two hours of sleep. — "We got in at six and up at eight," said Mrs. Valencia. "No, not partying in New York, just putting in fresh flowers."

She explained that during the run of the show at the coliseum cut flowers were changed every other day. She and her husband had just arranged 7,500 carnations flown from Boston.

"We used a lot more than that for the inaugural balls," she said. "We flew 50,000 whites and reds to Washington, plus a scattering of blues (white carnations tinted by an osmosis process). It was the first time Mrs. Valencia had worked for the White House and she said, "I got a real nice personal note from the President."

The woman florist is third generation in the flower business, on both sides of her family. Her father's people had a business in Scotland; her mother's, in New England. She said she joined the family business when she came out of school in 1932 — "from Northliff Seminary, a school for young ladies in the Berkshires. I always liked the way they said that."

Her husband, a native of Ventura, Calif., "married" the florist business when he married her in 1938. The couple has one son, Esteban Scott, who is 14.

Just Pound Away

No Shortcut to Reducing

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN
Many women are troubled with fat across the back. This may be across the upper back or may extend a few inches below the shoulder blades. Often women who are the correct weight have unusual deposits of fat in this area.

Life is a question of choices. You may not like to take exercise, but if you want to lose this fat and you are not overweight, exercise is your answer. I know of no magic formula you can rub on to remove these layers.

All front-bending exercises are corrective to this condition but today I will give you a few which are especially effective.

Eligibility Chief Concern

Athletic Board at 'M'
Blasts NCAA Control

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—The University of Michigan's athletic governing board has accused the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) of moving to usurp the authority of individual schools and conferences.

The Michigan board in control of intercollegiate athletics said Friday that it was "gravely concerned" about "a new and portentous general course" set by the NCAA, including control of eligibility.

Criticism by the Michigan board was aimed at an amendment to the NCAA constitution adopted at the association's 1961 convention in Pittsburgh.

The amendment stated the NCAA should have legislative authority concerning "basic athletic issues such as admissions, financial aid, eligibility and recruiting."

The Michigan board said the NCAA's "avowed purpose" was to gain control of eligibility rules governing "all intercollegiate athletic contests that an institution might engage in during the year."

"We are gravely concerned that the NCAA is getting into this type of regulation," the board said in its annual report.

Such regulation by the NCAA, the board said, would cause extreme complication in the administration of athletics. The board also said "national rules often do not take into account local conditions and ways of doing things."

In addition, the board stated, "we cannot envision the NCAA effectively enforcing a set of eligibility rules throughout the United States without building up a tremendous bureaucracy."

"Just how the NCAA can effectively administer a set of eligibility rules for the entire country of over 500 institutions is difficult to imagine," the board said. It added:

"Yet if the rules are not enforced and administered properly, they become a farce and will ultimately bring discredit on the NCAA."

Northern Michigan
Loses in NAIA Play

KANSAS CITY (AP)—George Town, Ky. overpowered Northern Michigan 101-67 Friday night and moved into the final of the National Inter-collegiate (NAIA) Basketball Tournament against Grambling, La.

Grambling edged top-seeded Westminster, Pa., 45-44 in a close contest earlier.

Dick Vories tossed in 23 points to pace the balanced Georgetown team. Joe Harris hit 21 and Paul Smith 19.

Georgetown took the lead at the start and built up a 54-34 halftime margin over the second-seeded team from Marquette, Mich., which entered the tourney with a 20-2 record.

Playing the final six minutes with reserves in the lineup, Georgetown crossed the 100-mark when Herbie Kays hit just before the final buzzer.

Flint Cagers Suffer Loss in J.C. Meet

HUTCHINSON, Kan. (AP)—Tyler, Tex. defeated Flint, Mich. 84-83 Friday night in the championship game of the National Junior College Basketball Tournament.

Tyler and Pueblo, Colo., which took an easy 91-79 victory over Eastern A&M of Oklahoma, meet Saturday night for the championship.

'Life Time' Contract

TOPEKA, Kan. (AP)—The State Board of Regents Friday approved a "life time" contract for Jack Mitchell, head football coach at Kansas University.

Hayes Jones Completes Unbeaten Indoor Season

CLEVELAND (AP)—Hayes Jones completed his sweep of all indoor hurdles races by winning the 50-yard hurdles in the Knights of Columbus Games here last night.

The Pontiac sprinter was timed in 6.1 seconds as he beat Michigan's Benjie McRae by four yards. Leon Prax, Villanova freshman who is the ICAA ruler, was third.

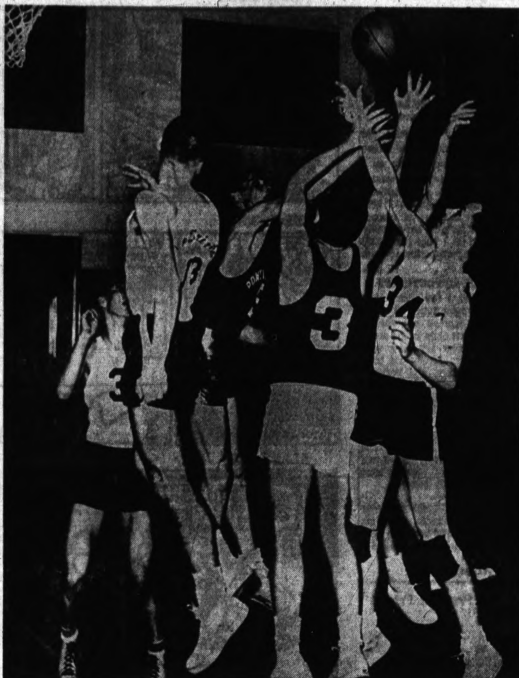

It was Jones' 11th straight win. George Kerr, the swift-striding Jamaican, set a meet record in the 60-yard run, beating Purdue's Dave Mills in a hot duel in 1:01.

Buffalo Pair Take 1st at ABC

DETROIT (AP)—Len Mai and Don Whelan of Buffalo combined for a 1300 series Friday to change into first place in the classic doubles division of the American Bowling Congress tournament.

The pair opened with games of 414 and 438, then scored 448 in the third.

Thorne Gibson and Bob Hill of Detroit, the doubles leaders since March 9 with 1265, fell to second.

St. Petersburg Cutoff 140

GOALBY GETS LEAD WITH 62

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—Bob Goalby scorched the Ponce de Leon golf course with a record 9-under par 62 Friday to lead at the halfway point as the field continued its merciless assault on par in the $10,000 St. Petersburg Open tournament.

Goalby's 129 total, 13 under par for the two rounds, was one stroke better than that of Jack McGowan who was tied for the lead at 63 with Bill Casper Jr. at the end of the first round Thursday.

Casper took 70 Friday but McGowan came in with a 67 and would have tied Goalby except for a bogie 6 on the 18th hole, where his tee shot hit a tree.

He still had a chance for his par, but he three-putted.

The 636-yard par 35-35-71 course again provided ideal playing conditions, with the result that it required a two round total of 140, 2-under par, to survive the cut to the low 60s and ties for the third round Thursday.

In third place, at 131, was Ted Kroil, who added a 64 Friday to his first round 67. Bob Bruce, with 67-65, was tied at 132 with Mason Rudolph, who added a 67 to his 65 of Thursday, and Casper, Doug Ford and Don Fairfield were in the 133 bracket, one stroke ahead of leading money winner Gary Player, and Paul Harney.

Eighty-two players were under par 142 for the 36 holes, and 10 more equaled par figures.

OSU Barely Wins;
Bonnies Are Upset

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Ohio State, the defending national champion, had its scare of the season and St. Bonaventure, the No. 3 team in this season's national rankings, was the victim of an amazing upset Friday night as semifinals games in the four regional tournaments of the NCAA Basketball Championships were played.

The Buckeyes, rated No. 1 in The Associated Press poll after 24 straight regular season victories, "played a lousy game and got away with it" in beating Louisville 56-55. The description came from an Ohio State player after the Buckeyes won on John Havlicek's final goal with six seconds to go.

Wake Forest, an outsider when it won the Atlantic Coast Conference title tournament, tumbled the Bonnies 78-73, St. Bonaventure leading champions to an easy 61-41 triumph over the Minnesota Golden Gophers Friday night in the NCAA Hockey Tournament.

But Coach Bones McKinney's Deacons, who dethroned St. John's in the first round, managed to play ahead with 15 minutes to play in Len Chappell did an expert rebound job and scored 24 points. Ohio State's victory was its 30th straight over a two-season span. It was accomplished despite a Louisville defense that limited All-America Jerry Lucas to nine points—the lowest figure of his college career—and spoiled the Buck's plan to have Larry Siegfried take the final shot. Havlicek, who had lost the ball on a walking violation a few seconds before, intercepted a feed pass by Louisville's John Turner and popped in the winning shot from 20 feet. Then Turner, with a chance to tie after being fouled, made one free throw and missed the second.

Wake Forest will meet St. Joseph's, Pa., 7-27 winner over Princeton's Ivy League champion.

Denver's Puck Team
Reaches Title Game

DENVER (AP)—A savage first period attack swept Denver's defending champions to an easy 6-1 triumph over the Minnesota Golden Gophers Friday night in the NCAA Hockey Tournament.

The Pioneers Saturday night will go after their second straight national crown and third in four years against St. Lawrence of bounding job and scored 24 points. Rensselaer Thursday night.

Minnesota's squad of native Minnesotans—plus one Canadian—was no match for Denver's all-Canada line-up of older skaters.

plans, in the Eastern Regional final Saturday night.

Ohio State will play fast-finishing Kentucky, the Southeastern Conference representative, which beat Morehead, Ky. 74-64.

The winners of the four regional tournaments advance to the national finals at Kansas City next Friday and Saturday.

Cincinnati, ranked No. 2 for the regular season, breasted through its first tournament game, beating outclassed Texas Tech 78-55. The Bearcats will meet Kansas State, the Big Eight champion who were ranked No. 4. Kansas State trimmed at-large Houston 75-61.

In the first game of the Far Western regional tournament, Utah, led by Billy (The Hill) McGill crushed Loyola of Los Angeles 91-75.

Kentucky's Wildcats found some trouble of their own making to lose the finish because of missed shots but still had the strength to hold off Morehead's Cinderella bids, after falling behind in the last three minutes. Bill Lickert was Kentucky's top man with 28 points.

In the NCAA small college tourney semifinals at Evansville, Ind., Wittenberg beat Mt. St. Mary's 65-49 and Southeast Missouri whipped South Dakota State 81-69.

Teacher Explains Christ to Class

JEAN LISTERHAGER
Ames, Iowa
I firmly believe that, as a teacher, I can be a witness for Christ in my classroom even though I do not teach the Bible or Christian beliefs. I thought about this recently when the children were doing folk dances in gym class. "Why," one child asked, "can't Bobby dance with the rest of us?" Bob-

PET DOCTOR

By A. W. Miller, D.V.M.

Q. Our seven-year-old Manchester terrier has been having trouble with a churning stomach. It lasts about 12 hours and happens every three months. How can we relieve this condition? Pat Erickson, Hibbing, Minn.

A. Gastro-intestinal upsets are not always physical or dietary in origin. They may be emotional as well. The recurring regularity of your Manchester terrier's attacks suggests that they may be emotional.

Analyze carefully the events of the 24 hours prior to the attack. Has something happened to your dog? Have you yourself been overwrought and conveyed your emotions to your sensitive pet?

Give your dog a warm, soap and water enema when the attack begins to remedy the constipation associated with it. If necessary, give her a dose of milk of magnesia or other mild laxative. If relief can't be obtained in six hours, call the veterinarian.

Victoria Trades Beef for Bolts

Former Cattle Capital of Texas Becoming an Industrial Center

VICTORIA, Tex. (UPI) — Once the "Cattle Capital" of Texas, Victoria is fast becoming a large industrial center.

In recent years E. I. duPont de Nemours, Union Carbide Chemical Co. and Alcoa Aluminum Co. plants have located in the area.

The city's population has soared from 11,500 in 1940 to 50,000 in 1960 to meet the demands of industry.

But Victoria hasn't forgotten its income from the land. Farming and ranching produce an annual income in excess of $12,000,000, fairly evenly divided between livestock and crops.

Industry picked Victoria because of its prime location in mineral rich South Texas. In Victoria County there are 18 oil fields and 31 gas fields. Within a 50 mile radius there are 1,500 producing oil wells.

Some 30 miles inland from the Gulf of Mexico, Victoria is now making strides toward becoming a port. Construction now is in progress on the Victoria Barge Canal which will link the city with the Intracoastal Canal.

Proximity to the gulf also favors the city's recreational aspects. Victoria is only an hour away from beautiful sandy beaches, excellent fishing, boating and water sports.

Founded in 1824 by Don Martin DeLeon as a Mexican colony in the wilds of Texas, Victoria still follows its Spanish heritage. The city was laid out on a square.

This square, which is known today as DeLeon Plaza, covers a full city block and serves as a grassy park in the heart of the downtown business district.

Apparently DeLeon's best friends lived on what is now Main St. in Victoria. The street was originally named La Calle de Los Diez Amigos (the street of ten friends).

change into a beautiful moth. "I wonder why the seasons never get mixed up."

With such questions as these as a guide, a teacher of small children can help develop respect for the dependability and awesome mystery of God's natural laws.

CONCERN FOR SUFFERING

"Did you see how happy that sick lady was when we sang Christmas carols to her?" "But why did that other lady have tears in her eyes while we sang?"

At an early age, children can begin to develop a concern for the suffering and loneliness of others. Through such projects as Christmas caroling to the sick or lonely, scrapbooks for hospitals and contributions to mitten trees, even small children can begin to grow in their ability to be of service to others.

In day-to-day classroom living we have a wonderful opportunity to help children develop a respect for individual differences. They are aware that all children do not have the same abilities and interests. But, do we always help them appreciate the fact that individual differences are good?

How uninteresting our world would be if each person were exactly the same. One of my friends heard a college professor humorously warn, "Don't try to mold the children in your classroom into likenesses of you. Remember, one of you is enough."

NEEDS ARE THE SAME

Yet, it is also important to help the children realize that many basic needs are the same in all people, even though their personalities are different.

BRIGHTON O.—Michigan's freeway system is credited with an assistance in the decision of a mobile home moving firm to locate its Midwest headquarters near Brighton.

Transit Homes, Inc., of Anderson, S.C., announced it would establish a new regional office in Brighton Township.

Your Neighbor's House

William Fox Built a House in '83

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor
In May of 1882 the Ladies Library Association of Pontiac was founded and two months later the library was opened in the old building on Williams Street. There was a smallpox epidemic in the city during that winter. In 1883 Sarah McCarroll became preceptress of the high school. East of the Village of Pontiac, in Avon Township, a young farmer named William Fox cut oak, walnut and cherry trees on his 120-acre farm and put the wood in hay to cure. He and his wife were living in the old home on the property.

William was the youngest of three sons of Christopher Fox who migrated to Oakland County from Pennsylvania in 1869. Christopher had divided his large farm among the boys.

Sometimes in 1882 or 1883 William built a new house. He and his wife had two daughters, Helen and Ruth. An Oakland County historian called him a model farmer with a first class estate.

We visited the Fox daughters a few weeks ago. Helen never married, but Ruth Fox Comins is a widow. Except for installing a bathroom, remodeling the kitchen and tearing off a sagging porch, they have kept the house as it was built nearly 77 years ago. Mrs. Comins was born in this house.

What used to be the front parlor is now Miss Fox's bedroom. The back parlor is the living room, while the dining room occupies what once was a bedroom. Half of the pantry has been made into a bathroom. The kitchen is still spacious.

The hand hewn barn chimneys that William Fox used in the basement have stood up well. When the house was checked in 1961, workmen found it perfectly level.

There are no closets in any of the bedrooms. Halfway up the stairs there is a board on the wall with hooks for clothes. Similar arrangements took care of clothing in the upstairs bedrooms. There is one large closet press where blankets and out-of-season clothing can be kept.

CHERRY RAILS

The stairway has cherry rails topped with walnut and a walnut corner post nearly a foot thick. Mrs. Comins told of her father's taking an entire day to ride to Lake Orion to have these stair rails turned.

Upstairs the bedroom windows are low. All are curtained with white ruffled curtains. There is a wealth of antique furniture in these rooms. Some of the old chests are beautiful, especially the ones with pressed glass handles.

The women use an old oak chest their mother had at the time of her marriage. They still have Dad's old rocker; he lived to rock in it for 93 years.

In Mrs. Comins' room she has a handsome walnut spindle bed nearly 150 years old. She put one of her antique coverlets on it for us to photograph. She has several of these coverlets, one dated 1795.

Downstairs there are more treasures. Take the clocks, for instance: In the front bedroom on top of a magnificent mahogany chest there's a clock with wooden works. To clock collectors the name Northrup and Smith will probably mean something. A walnut shelf in the kitchen holds a striking clock (it's a bit erratic, the sisters say). There are other clocks in the parlor.

Miss Fox sleeps in a narrow antique bed that a black cat claims in the daytime for her own. In one corner of her bedroom she has a mahogany drop-leaf table with a 21-inch top made from one board.

The doorway between the two parlors is arched. The sliding pine doors have white porcelain knobs.

Grandfather Fox's sturdy chair is still in use. Painted black, it resembles today's captain's chairs. Helen Fox's little doll cradle is used to hold mail.

Another ancestor of these women was William T. Snell for whom Snell Road is named. He was an early settler in Oakland Township. Many of the antiques in the Fox home came to this area with him around 1828.

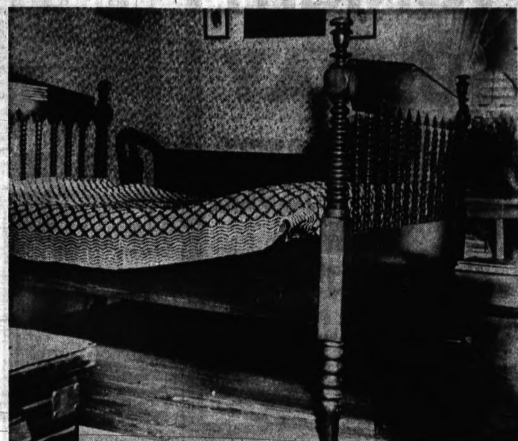

OLD GLASS

We advised articles in the dining room that we have never seen in all our years of antique hunting. There were little preserve dishes of the sandwich glass era, also cup plates. The china is so old that the tea bags are the handleless kind. (made that way, of course, not broken!)

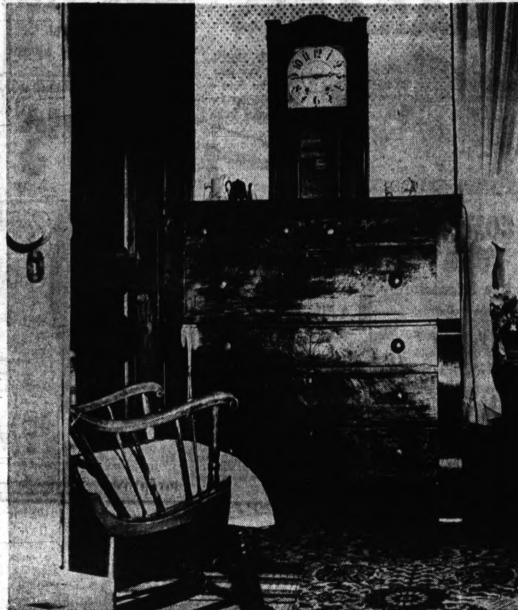

The sisters own a Godey's Lady book — a candle mold — a candlestick that came to Michigan in 1858. There's a piece of wedding cake given guests who attended the Henry Ford's golden wedding anniversary. The last kerosene lamp the William Foxes ever bought is still in use as an electric lamp. Article after article came west in 1828.

There are only 88 acres left in the Fox farm, William sold 20 acres of his property to the village of Rochester for the water works in 1894. It was then that experts found it would be advised to pipe water from CHERRY BED — This beautiful cherry bed is almost a century and a half old and the coverlet is nearly as old. The coverlet is handwoven in blue and white wool.

IT'S HANDSOME — This is one of the handsome antique chests at the Fox farm that was brought to Michigan in 1828. The clock on the top has wooden works. That's father Fox's old rocker at the left. All this furniture is in the front bedroom.

ECHOES OF THE PAST — This old clock runs, but its striking habits are a bit erratic. The antique gun was made by Rasmussen and Son. Of course the house has electricity, but an old kerosene lantern can be handy during storms. The door at the left goes into the pantry and then into the bathroom which was made from a part of the former. The dado underneath the clock combines oak and cherry.

ARCHED DOORWAY — Sliding doors in an arch closed off the front parlor from the back parlor. Notice the white porcelain door handles on the pine doors. The room in which this picture was taken is the true living room of the house.

MICHIGAN FARMHOUSE — Oakland County is dotted with these white farmhouses. This one on Dutton Road was built by William Fox in 1883 from wood cut on the farm. Green shutters trim all the windows. The house, still in perfect condition, is owned by Miss Helen Fox and Mrs. Ruth Fox Comins, daughters of the builder.

Asphalt Shingles Sturdy

Two of nature's most durable products — rock and asphalt — are combined in asphalt shingles to protect homes from harsh weather.

The rock in asphalt shingles is in the form of millions of tough granules embedded in the surface to provide durability and years of protection.

Manufacturers of asphalt roofing select granules carefully for low porosity and uniform opaqueness to screen out the sun's rays, preventing them from drying out the oils in the asphalt.

The granules also help stabilize the roofing material against sudden temperature changes, increase their fire resistance, and provide a wide variety of colors.

Although building materials in general have gone up in price during the past five years, copper tube for hot and cold water lines costs less than it did in 1955, Anacosta home specialists report. They point out that rust-proof plumbing remains economical as well as desirable.

Plants Decorate Wall

For that bare stretch of wall where another picture just won't go, how about a wall bracket and hanging pot of bright copper? A green philodendron or any trailing plant, potted in a porous clay flower pot so it will thrive best, and slipped into the decorative copper planter is just the thing. Shining copper and green leaves are a naturally vibrant combination.

Soft, cooling light can now be achieved anywhere in the home by installing new "shade green" and "shade aqua" glass blocks. The color's built right into the glass.

Winter GARDEN NOTES

Each year, around this time, tree lovers motoring along major highways in the country see a phenomenon that causes needless worry. It's the flowing sap from bleeding maples and birches that freezes into spectacular "icicles."

Nobody knows why these particular tree species overflow their sap after pruning operations while other kinds don't. But take the case of R. A. Ferry, tree expert, that damage is practically nil. The highway sap-icicle display frequently is the result of pruning operations required to keep power lines free of arborescent interference.

Tree lovers become alarmed because they conceive of tree bleeding as comparable to the loss of blood in humans and warm-blooded animals. That isn't the case at all. Sap is mainly water. And moisture is readily available in the soil at this season.

Chemical analysis shows wood of maples or birches loses only a very small part of the tree's food reserves. In New England, sugar maples have been tapped for as long as 100 years without apparent damage.

Backyard maples and birches will react the same as their country cousins to pre-Spring wounds. The home owner who'd like to get necessary pruning done early may feel free to do the job — if he doesn't mind the misplaced alarm of neighbors.

If you claim your grounds are pretty as a picture, you had better take some pictures to prove it. That is, if you're taking income tax deductions for storm-damaged landscaping.

Just how much greenery is worth in greenbacks can be complex. The burden of proof lies with the home owner, and chances are he'll need the help of an expert other than an accountant.

There's a prevalent notion that replacement value of prized trees and shrubbery is the yardstick. This is a fallacy.

Before and after photographs showing landscaping in relation to the residence are invaluable. These should be taken at least every other year to show how the landscape and its value grow. If you've neglected this phase, get the "after" pictures showing full extent of the damage and the huge amount of debris.

Then call in a landscape architect or professional tree man and a reality appraiser. Only an expert in both fields — the arborist YANKEE ECONOMY MODEL — Separate front dormers make this look like a 1½ story house. Actually it's a two-story, with all three bedrooms upstairs. Downstairs there is a 25-foot living room, long family-kitchen and dining room or den.

SECOND FLOOR PLAN: — Compact second floor has three bedrooms and main bath which can be entered either from hall or master bedroom.

FIRST FLOOR PLAN: — Stairway with section of open railing and convenient coat closet create an efficient foyer space. Living room along one side and family-kitchen across back join to give a feeling of luxurious space.

Big House Luxury Found in Small Cape Cod Design

By DAVID L. BOWEN

This Cape Cod with the low look and building economy of a 1½ story house is actually a two-story with a lot of luxury you wouldn't expect to find in so compact a design.

Among its luxuries are a 25-foot living room with fireplace, a modern family-kitchen 18 feet long, a separate dining room, and a downstairs half-bath.

Even with an attached garage at the side, the over-all width is only 45'. The habitable area on the first floor is 319 sq. ft., with another 652 divided upstairs among three bedrooms and bath.

Architect Herman H. York, who designed B-56 in the House of the Week series, believes that the property surrounding a house is extremely valuable to a home-owner and that its utilization is important.

"Because of this," he explains, "I put the key family living areas adjacent to the long rear terrace. Near the family-kitchen is an area for children's play. At the other end of the terrace is an area raised one step to create an outdoor dining space.

"The entire terrace is tied in with the indoors through the windows on the left side, the large sliding glass doors at the center, and the projecting glass bay creating an indoor planter at the right."

On the inside, interest around this planter is increased by a clear glass or translucent screen which, along with another planter, serves as a divider between family kitchen and living room.

The circulation pattern is good, particularly so in regard to garage, laundry and service area. A small covered porch at the kitchen door is a convenience nowadays often overlooked.

Notable in the dining room, which could also serve as a den if desired, is a good-sized closet ideal for storage of snack tables.

Plays a Mountaineer

Jimmie Rodgers Makes His Film Debut

The most demanding press agent could scarcely ask for a more dramatic motion picture debut than that of Jimmie Rodgers, celebrated young folk singer who has parlayed a string of records into his own television show, and now makes his first screen appearance as the star of "The Little Shepherd of Kingdom Come," 20th Century-Fox version of the world-renowned Southern classic, now playing in theaters.

At Chad, Bible-quoting Kentucky Mountaineer, Rodgers is the rural Southland community of Kingdom Come, where sickness has wiped out his entire family. Rodgers crystallizes for us the character of the hero of John Fox's novel.

The exciting course of Chad's life takes him from a rural childhood into the elegant society of Kentucky, where he is educated and raised by kindly Major Bedford (Chill Wills).

Rodgers interprets the boy's discovery of the meaning of love, as he meets and falls in love with Margaret Dean (Linda Hutchings), a disarming Southern belle. A high point in the film comes when Rodgers must portray a dramatic conflict of moral purpose as he pledges his allegiance to the Northern forces during the War between the States and finds himself face-to-face in battle with the man who has raised him.

Through the courage and devotion of the girl back home, faithful Melissa (Luana Patten), he achieves peace of mind and the values of truth in a difficult mastery.

Born near the Oregon border, Jimmie received his early musical training by singing in church choirs. He learned to play the guitar in Korea, during a stint with the Air Force, entertaining his fellow GIs and later putting his talent to work professionally in Nashville, Tenn.

Before the singer made his first record hit, "Honeycomb," there was a time when he and his young wife lived on penny candy. Now that his career is booming, the popular star insists on eating "at least a potato and chocolate cake as often as possible."

Jimmie's career has run the gamut from tent shows and backwoods lodges to the glittering world of night clubs and concert halls.

15 Men Sign Up for CD Course

Waterford Residents to Take 10-Week Training as Auxiliary Police

Fifteen Waterford Township men have signed up as new Civil Defense auxiliary police for a 10-week training course, according to Police Chief J. Pender.

The men will be under the supervision of the township police in learning traffic control, local emergency operation of basic control, public relations and the basic fundamentals of state, county and township laws.

First aid will be one of the most important projects taught, with special emphasis on what to do in emergency fires during disaster.

There are now some 40 fully trained township auxiliary policemen who have formed an association to "keep in touch" with what they have learned. Pender said.

He added, "These men have helped tremendously in handling traffic during football games, fires and with cars leaving church grounds in the area. However, we would like to have at least 40 more volunteers take this course not only for the good of the community, but for personal education in case of any emergency."

Recruits may still enroll for the course at Wednesday's 8 to 10 p.m. meeting in the township hall. All applicants must be over 21 years old.

Embezzled $80,000 for Spouse
INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP)—A troubled mind and a 1960 Pontiac convertible were the only things left of a $80,000 embezzlement by a blonde bank teller to satisfy her crippled husband's "compulsive gambling habit."

Mrs. Patricia Ann Jones, 28, was free on $3,000 bond after an appearance before the U. S. commissioner here on a charge of misappropriating funds. The former Indiana National Bank teller was arrested by federal agents Friday, March 10, said Mrs. Jones was charged specifically with a single act of embezzlement. He said the embezzled funds placed the total at "about $80,000" and said, "I've been waiting for the ax to fall."

She was discharged from her $62.50-a-week job Feb. 24 for other reasons. Melançon said the embezzlement occurred between July, 1958 and the date of her dismissal.

Mrs. Jones' attorney, Owen W. Mullin, described her husband, Gerald, 40, as a part-time janitor who spent most of the last two years trying "to break the bank in Las Vegas, Nev., gambling casino."

KEEP IT FREE

A free mind is an open one. It sees opportunity. It is venturesome; once it sees a man is bent to the will of its ingenuity. The whole world is its playground. The thing to do is to be the Free Mind that does it.

Free minds changed sails into steel rails. A. & V. VORHEES-FREEMAN'S LATEST INVENTIONS. They have given us an environment we control, rearranged chemical structure of matter that gives us silk-like material that never saw a cotton fiber. Protection Is Urged for Yanks in Congo
WASHINGTON (UPI)—The United States has urged the United Nations and local authorities to take "immediate steps" to protect Americans remaining in the Congo, but again warned that American missionaries to get out of "unsettled areas" of the Congo.

The State Department instructed U.S. delegates to the United Nations to request that two efforts be spared "to assist missionaries who have been prevented from leaving the Eastern Congo and who in some cases have been mistreated."

Owes $14,018; Goes to Prison

Judge Sentences Man
for Failure to Support
His 4 Children

A Royal Oak man was sentenced to one year in the county jail yesterday for owing $14,018 in back support payments for his four children.

The arraignment is believed to be "one of the highest in the state," according to Donald A. Tew, attorney for the Oakland County Friend of the Court.

Circuit Court Judge William J. Boer imposed the one-year sentence on Julius Malone, 35, whose last known address was 626 Millard St. He can escape the jail term by paying $250, the judge said.

"He offered no excuse or defense for his failure to support his children," Judge Boer said. "He didn't say anything and apparently he didn't have anything to say."

It was the third one-year sentence imposed upon Malone, an unemployed laborer divorced by his wife Arlene in 1954 for physical cruelty. He served but three months of his first sentence in September of 1959 and was released when he paid $300, and served none of the second term in April of 1960. Tew said, because the judge suspended the sentence.

"He's only paid $10 per week for an order requiring $10 per week for each of his four children. The former Mrs. Malone has remarried."

Judge Boer said he also sentenced seven other defendants for failure to support their children yesterday. Their jail terms ranged from 10 to 90 days, Tew said.

Only payment of the back support can bring their release, Judge Boer said.

HERALDS OF SPRING — Monday at 3:32 p. m. it will officially be spring. But to small boys, spring began weeks ago when they took the marble bags off the shoe shelves. Rusk, Russian to Discuss Laos in Home-Fraud Probe

Expect New Attempt by Secretary to Halt Red Airlift to Rebels

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk today said he expected to make a new effort to get the Soviet government to halt its airlift of military supplies to pro-Communist Laotian rebels. U. S. officials were not optimistic about good results since previous appeals to Soviet leaders, including Premier Nikita Khrushchev, have failed.

Rusk was expected to make a new effort to get the Soviet government to halt its airlift of military supplies to pro-Communist Laotian rebels. U. S. officials were not optimistic about good results since previous appeals to Soviet leaders, including Premier Nikita Khrushchev, have failed.

Officials have not given up all hope that Khrushchev might yet agree to join in a program to make Laos a completely neutral country under a reorganized government; the present regime of Premier Boum Oun is pro-Western. A switch in Soviet policy, officials said, would brighten prospects for easing tensions and improving relations elsewhere.

Gromyko, chief Soviet spokesman at the U. N. General Assembly meeting in New York, was due at the State Department for lunch with Rusk. Rusk invited U. N. Ambassador Adlai Stevenson, Undersecretary of State Chester Bowles, Soviet expert Charles E. Bohlen and Assistant Secretary of State Fay D. Kohler to take part.

The State Department announced Friday that the meeting said only that Rusk arranged it in order to discuss with Gromyko "international questions of interest to both countries."

Or Man Winter: Spring Arrives Monday, Scoot!

Spring is just around the corner. The weatherman says it will officially arrive at 3:32 p. m. Monday when for a fleeting instant the earth's equator will lie directly beneath the sun.

The passing instant is known as the vernal equinox and marks the start of spring in the northern hemisphere, according to the American Museum-Natural History.

From that moment the apparent course of the sun will be northeast until June 21, when summer begins in the northern hemisphere. On that date, the sun will be overhead at the Tropic of Cancer, 23 1/2 degrees north of the equator.

There's a chance Or Man Winter will have another fling by bringing rain mixed with snow and sleet to night with a low of 30.

Sides are expected to clear Sunday with the temperature reaching a high of 38. Morning easterly winds at 10 mile per hour will be more northeasterly at 20 to 25 m.p.h. tonight and northwest Sunday.

Eighteen was the lowest recorded preceding 8 a. m. in downtown Pontiac. The reading at 1 p. m. was 40.

Seek Detroit Builder in Home-Fraud Probe

MOUNT CLEMENS (AP) — Two warrants were issued today for a Detroit builder in what prosecutor George N. Parris described as the investigation of building operations that could run into hundreds of homes and millions of dollars.

PCH, 3 Other Area Teams Out of Tourney

Pontiac Central fell by the wayside in state high school basketball tournament competition last night, dropping a 55-44 verdict to Detroit Catholic Central in the regional final game at Southfield.

Orionville also was eliminated, bowing 55-34 to Bay City St. Joseph. Roseville and L'Anse au Loup were the other area losers.

Officials have not given up all hope that Khrushchev might yet agree to join in a program to make Laos a completely neutral country under a reorganized government; the present regime of Premier Boum Oun is pro-Western. A switch in Soviet policy, officials said, would brighten prospects for easing tensions and improving relations elsewhere.

Nonpayers Elevate Pontiac General's Rates

By PETE LOCHBILER

Ten per cent of the bill you pay at Pontiac General Hospital goes to offset losses on patients whose bills are paid only partially or not at all.

In other words, 10 cents on every $1 is, in effect, a subsidy for those who can't pay their own way. This, at a time of mounting hospital bills and insurance premiums, is at the heart of the hospital's long battle to trim losses on state, county and indigent patients, according to Harold B. Euler, hospital administrator.

The battle will be renewed next Saturday when state, county and local officials meet at the hospital to discuss possible corrective legislation.

"If everyone paid his bill at Pontiac General we could reduce charges by 10 per cent," said Euler. "This points up how significant unpaid or partially paid bills are in the hospital's operation."

Why does your bill go up when someone else doesn't pay? Because the hospital is a break-even proposition, and revenues must equal expenses, Euler explains. When revenues fall off in one area, they must be picked up in another in order to finish the year with a balanced operation.

HOSPITAL TAKES STAND

The hospital has taken the stand that it is unfair to penalize the paying patients.

The finger is pointed at the state legislature and the Oakland County Department of Social Welfare.

The legislature sets the ceiling on reimbursement to the hospital for children treated under the affiliated children's act.

Space Capsule, Escape System Test Set Today

Will Be Final Shot Before Man Goes Up If Successful

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Mercury space capsule was blasted aloft at 11:48 a. m., Pontiac time, for the most violent test yet of an astronaut's chances to escape should something go wrong in the manned flight possibly just weeks away.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The space agency scheduled a test of the Mercury capsule and pilot escape system today under the most severe conditions that might occur during an attempt to put a man in orbit.

The test, if successful, will be the last "qualification flight" of the capsule before a Mercury astronaut rides an identical cabin on a brief hop into space atop a Redstone rocket.

A powerful Little Joe rocket was poised on its launch pad at the Wallops Island, Va., station of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) for today's shot.

NASA said that if the flight goes normally, it will last about six minutes and the cabin will parachute into the ocean about six miles from Wallops.

In addition to today's shot, NASA plans a flight test of the Redstone with a dummy capsule to see if a fault in the rocket's thrust regulator has been corrected.

This test firing is scheduled for later this month at Cape Canaveral, Florida.

If today's Wallops Island launch and the Redstone test indicate rocket and capsule are ready, an astronaut may leap off the Cape late next month. The plan is to fire him 115 miles up on a 200 mile down the Atlantic missile range.

No attempt to put an astronaut into orbit is expected before late this year. The orbital shot will be with an Atlas rocket.

Plane Crashes; Two Walk Away

A Farmington pilot and his passenger walked away from their single-engine plane this morning after the craft crashed into the Romeo Golf Course during take-off.

Romeo State Police said the only injuries were a cut on the chin of the pilot, Edwin Simpowski, 31, 24333 Broadway St., and a cut on the elbow of the passenger, Bruce H. Miller, 28, of 72 E. Dallas St., Madison Heights.

The golf course is adjacent to the Romeo airport.

Simpowski apparently misread wind signals and took off with the wind behind instead of against the plane, according to troopers.

The plane had traveled only half a mile to an altitude of some 40 feet before losing air speed and nosing onto the golf course, police said.

The plane — a Cessna 140 — is owned by Leonard Brown, 250 Midland St., Highland Park.

Troopers said the plane might also have developed engine trouble as the motor was reported faltering just before the plane hit the ground.

The nose and one of the plane's wings suffered extensive damage. The mishap occurred at 8:40 a. m.

The Labor Department reported Friday night that insured unemployment went down by 62,300 for the week ended March 4. The previous week it had gone down by a thin 13,000.

The 3,540,500 persons drawing jobless benefits at the beginning of March was still a record high for that time of year. It was pointed out that during the depression, the jobless insurance program covered only a fraction of the work force it now protects.

Another indication of recent leveling-off trends was that initial claims for unemployment benefits in February, approximately 42,000. That was believed due largely to outdoor jobs opening up and "dackening" of layoffs in the automobile industry and other fields.

The department said that about 192,500 persons exhausted their unemployment benefits in February, approximately the same number in January.

Forty states, led by New York, California, Illinois, New Jersey and Pennsylvania, reported the reductions in their unemployment insurance rolls.

Michigan, under the impact of early auto layoffs, reported an increase in insured unemployment of 14,700. But Michigan also reported the largest drop in initial claims, an indication that the heavy auto production and employment cutbacks of February were easing.

The initial claims total for the week ended March 11 was 383,000. In January, claims reached a high of 565,000 in one week.

Department officials said construction work and other outdoor jobs expanded as spending (Continued on Page 2, Col. 7)

Pontiac Youth, Waterford Man Crash Victims

2 Teen-Age Girls Listed in Fair Condition at Pontiac General

Two traffic accidents in the county last night claimed the lives of a Pontiac youth and a Waterford Township man and sent four persons to the hospital.

Dead are Donald E. Rawlins, 17-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Glendell G. Rawlins, 791 Second St., and Lester Lundy, 42, of 1269 Otter Drive.

Police Keep Close Watch on Algerian Powder Keg

ALGERIERS (UPI) — Paratroopers and police stood guard today in Algiers and Oran, ready to deal with any effort by Arabs or Europeans to set off a new wave of violence.

Friday's Arab acceptance of President Charles de Gaulle's call for peace talks coincided with the end of the Muslim fast of Ramadan, and the combination was considered potentially explosive.

Authorities here were concerned about a possible explosion of Muslim religious fanaticism. They said also that European extremists might seize on the occasion to provoke trouble between Arabs and Europeans.

WORKING ON THE RAILROAD—Approximately 1,000 members of the Pontiac Boys Club have operated this miniature $2,000 railroad set which the club received as a gift from Thomas E. Wilson, GMC Truck & Coach Division general manufacturing manager.

Relax . . . It's the Miniature Kind

Gives Railroad Away as Gift

By MAX SIMON
The whistle of the locomotive is silent and the tracks that carried the trains have been dismantled. Nevertheless, the future of a Pontiac "railroad" couldn't be rosier.

Next winter it'll be back in business—the tracks, the locomotive, and everything else that goes with a railroad.

The railroad, a complete $2,000 miniature system, was presented as a gift to the Pontiac Boys Club during the Christmas season by Thomas E. Wilson, general manufacturing manager of GMC Truck and Coach Division.

Wilson decided that the railroad would prove an item of fascination for the Boys Club members, many of whom don't have trains of their own.

An immediate attraction, the railroad has been operated by more than 1,000 boys at its new home.

Six "Casey Jones Clubs" were organized, with boys learning the duties of railroad workers—switchmen, brakemen, yardmen and engineers.

"I wouldn't be surprised if some of these kids could actually run a train," said Cressy B. Larsen, executive director of the club. "They sure know a lot more than I do about running a railroad."

The railroad's operations have ended because the space at the club building is needed for other programs, Larsen said.

Cold weather in the fall will herald the comeback of the choo-choo, much to the delight of 1,000 would-be Casey Joneses who are waiting for another chance to be working on the railroad.

Indiana's Legislature Said Unconstitutional

ment in answer to a petition filed three years ago by State Sen. Nelson Grills, an Indianapolis Democrat and proponent of legislative reapportionment.

Linder said the Indiana Constitution clearly states that the state's legislative districts should be reapportioned every six years. Since legislatures have refused to re-apportion the state in every session since 1921, the judge said, their refusal constituted "a violation of the members' sacred oath of office."

(The Indiana judge is not alone in his thinking.)
SCOTLAND DENIED
(August Scholte has been saying the same thing about Michigan for years.) Scholte, president of the Michigan AFL-CIO, contends a 1952 constitutional amendment instituting the state's senatorial districts violates the U.S. Constitution.

(Scholte's argument was denied by the State Supreme Court 5-3. He has appealed to the U.S. Supreme Court.)

Some Indiana officials proposed that Linder's ruling be appealed to the State Supreme Court, which they said would allow time for the legislature to reapportion before a decision was reached.

But the attorney general advised against this. Linder's decision has no legal effect, Steers said, but an opinion by the Supreme Court would be binding.

Statehouse sources said that if the Supreme Court upheld Linder, and the legislature had not re-apportioned the state, the high court opinion would make the present or any new legislative illegal.

Such an opinion would force a constitutional convention, they said, and the convention would have to reapportion the state. Then the convention could call an election for a new legislature.

Car Goes Into Lake but Driver Escapes

A 22-year-old man barely escaped drowning when his car plunged headlong into Spring Lake in Independence Township last night.

Henry E. Kelly managed to crawl through a window of his submerged car as the water poured in. He swam to shore up and the car settled into the muddy lake bottom, in about 10 feet of water.

Kelly told sheriff's deputies he miscalculated his speed on a curve along Mayhew Road. The car shot straight ahead into the lake.

Deputies noted that there are no guard rails or indicators at the curve bordering the lake.

U.N. Makes Little Gain on Return of Congo Bases

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (UPI) — Negotiations between United Nations officials and Congolese representatives for the return of the U.N. bases at Matadi and Banana dragged on today with no agreement in sight.

The two port installations were seized by Congolese troops two weeks ago, Congolese officials have refused demands to return them to U.N. command.

A Congolese spokesman said Friday the Congo government is not yet ready to give up the bases. He indicated they may remain under Congolese control for several more weeks.

However, he added, "We hope there will be a compromise." Acting special U.N. representative Meki Abba continued his demand of "courtney calls" on Congolese officials Friday with a visit to Interior Minister Cyrille Adoula.

Although Abba is extremely popular with the Congolese, there was no indication that he would be able to convince the Congolese that they should return Matadi and Banana.

The U.N. supply situation so far has not suffered too much from the Congolese stronghold on the vital Congo River mouth, but Irish Gen. Sean MacBride, the U.N. commander, said Friday: "U.N. supply ships due at Matadi in four or five days probably would be unable to enter the port if the Congolese are still in control."

An agreement was considered essential because the U.N. operation in the Congo will be seriously hampered if Matadi — the main supply base for the U.N. command — is not given up by the Congolese.

Interchange by Students Is Approved

ANN ARBOR (UPI) — Students at the University of Michigan and Wayne State University now may take courses at either school.

The U. of M. Board of Regents approved the plan at its monthly meeting Friday. The Wayne Board of Governors approved last Wednesday.

University spokesmen said the program will be restricted in its early stage to advanced and specialized students.

Under the program a student enrolled at one of the universities will be allowed to take courses at the other. He will pay tuition to the school in which he is enrolled.

The program is designed to use fully the resources of both universities and to avoid unnecessary duplication in instruction and activities.

Marvin L. Nielsen, U. of M. vice president, predicted other universities in Michigan eventually would join the program.

Your Hospital Bill Helps Pay Another's percent of the total billings on county patients and nearly 36 percent on state-day cases.

Next week the hospital again will push for a reimbursement formula that is not limited by a ceiling but rather covers the actual cost of treatment.

An even bigger area of local concern was indicated when it was noted that the hospital lost $170,000 last year on bills that were 60 days unpaid because the patients could not pay them.

At the same time, the hospital claims it treated more than half the welfare and indigent cases in Oakland County last year. The hospital's first, most state responsibility where indigent patients are concerned, and, second, providing requiring all hospital bills to be paid by the state.

BIRMINGHAM — Bids for the purchase of $250,000 in bonds that will finance construction of the Beverly Hills internal sewer system will be opened Thursday at the home of Mrs. M. J. Deet of 598 Argyle St.

The bids will be for $555,000 in special assessment bonds and $140,000 in general obligation bonds. The opening of the sealed bids is scheduled for 8 p.m.

The State Municipal Finance Commission approved the bond sale March 7.

Village President Marvin Clark stated recently that construction of the sewer system may begin early next month.

Mrs. Boyd Turner, president of the Episcopal Church Women, Down River Convocation, will be the guest speaker Monday at the monthly meeting of the ECW of St. Stephen Church.

The 1 p.m. meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Lyle Olati, 940 S. Reading Road. Cohasset will be Mrs. William Snyder.

Pilgrim Congregational Church of Birmingham has outgrown its original temporary meeting place and beginning tonight will hold its worship services and Sunday School classes at the Community House.

The recently formed church has been meeting the past two months at Showcases, Inc., for its weekly services.

Time of service at the Community House will remain at 11 a.m., according to James K. Flack, provisional chairman.

Dr. George Bohman, former moderator of the National Association of Congregational Christian Churches, will be the guest speaker at tomorrow's service.

Norman Prady, editor of publications at Michigan State University, will be the guest speaker Monday at a meeting of the Rotary Club.

The meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Walter Anderson, 325 Lowell Court, beginning with a 1 p.m. pot luck luncheon.

Daniel C. Fricker of 23 Euclid Ave. was one of seven Michigan residents to receive degrees recently from Harvard University, Cambridge, Mass. Fricker earned an A.B. degree.

The Birmingham Woman's Club will have three departmental meetings on Thursdays Tuesday at 12:30 p.m.

The American Home department will meet at the home of Mrs. Roger Hanson of 615 Varsity Road to hear Mrs. J. H. Alexander discuss "Horticultural Therapy."

Mrs. William Mergler of 1128 Chesterfield St. will host the Fine Arts department. "Accents in Planting" will be discussed by Lawrence Smith, a landscape architect.

The Ford Motor Co. has another super compact model in the works for Comet. This one also is due soon.

Two other fancy models also have been reported—one from Dodge for the compact Lancer and one from Pontiac for the Tempest.

None of Ford's plans has been confirmed as yet.

However, it was understood an announcement would be forthcoming, probably Tuesday night.

It has been reported the new Falcon and Comet models will be displayed at the International Auto Show which opens at New York's Coliseum April 1.

LUANDA, Angola (Portuguese West Africa) (UPI) — Portuguese soldiers have been reported to be working on the Angola-Congo border area, where tribal terrorists have been backing to death and mutilating any whites they find on remote Angola plantations. At least 30 planters and members of their families were reported slain.

Portuguese colonial rulers here seemed to armed might in hopes of ending the Mao-Mao type of slaughter. The same planes that rushed in troops brought back terrified settlers.

Faced with the prospect of growing Congo-like massacres, colonial authorities here in the capital today they are considering they can not deny the bloody antiwhite uprising despite the hindrance of torrential rain. Negroes swinging machete have killed and hacked up countless men, women and children in the past three days.

One report said 20 persons were murdered at a big coffee plantation near Quilene, less than 150 miles northeast of this coastal death every while they saw.

Soldiers and paratroopers rushed northward toward the job of flushing the raiders from the plantations in dense forests.

Africans who work the plantations and belong to central African tribes were reportedly quick to help the southern tribesmen attack homes and sabotage roads and bridges.

Doctors Warn 10,000 to Leave LA and Smog

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — More than 10,000 persons have been advised by doctors since 1956 to leave Los Angeles because of the effects of smog on their health.

About 2,500 took the advice last year alone.

That information was given to the county board of supervisors Thursday by Dr. Francis M. Pottinger Jr., chairman of the air pollution committee of the County Medical Association.

JFK's Farm Plan Formula Explained

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Here is an example of how a commodity program might be worked out under President Kennedy's proposed farm plan:

The secretary of agriculture would arrange election of a grower committee for cotton, for example.

The committee might, then, after study, propose a plan under which each grower would be given a quota entitling him to market a fixed number of bales.

The plan could provide for the grower to sell his crop at open market prices, with a government compensatory payment covering the difference between the market price and whatever support level the committee recommended.

NEED TWO-THIRDS
It took two-thirds of all cotton growers voting in a referendum approved the idea, the secretary would submit the plan to Congress. If neither house of Congress vetoed the plan within 60 days, it would go into effect.

The government would be under moral obligation to make the support payments which would be limited by the production controls in the program.

Congress would still retain, presumably, the right to refuse appropriations for the cost of the program although payments might be temporarily financed out of the Agriculture Department's existing price support borrowing authority.

In the case of some commodities such as corn and other feed grains, producer committees would be elected to represent the whole group of crops which are closely related in use.

It was understood that specific draft legislation to carry out the President's plan would be sent to Congress within several weeks.
