Full-Scale Talks
Seen Starting Soon

BRUSSELS (AP) — American authorities forecast today an early start of full-scale Vietnam peace talks in Paris with the Saigon government taking part. They said the likelihood is that each of the four parties to the conference would have its own views about its individual status and the status of the other participants. The U.S. officials said the temporary problem of Saigon's objections soon will be settled and the conference will begin in Paris before too long.

This sunny American forecast came after Thieu had received U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker once again yesterday to discuss a way for Saigon to take part in the talks. Aides reported some progress.

Sources close to Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky reported the vice president was approached by Thieu to head South Vietnam's delegation in Paris. They said Ky was considering the offer.

Meanwhile, other sources said optimists within the Saigon government are speaking of Nov. 22 as the date for a Cabinet reshuffle which would clear the way for the dispatch of a delegation to Paris the following week.

The shuffle probably would drop Foreign Minister Tran Thanh and Information Minister Ton That Thien, sources said. It was not known if Premier Tran Van Huong would remain. Authoritative sources say Huong and Thieu discussed the matter Thursday, and some say Huong submitted a verbal resignation — a report denied by his press officer.

In another development, President-elect Richard M. Nixon has sent the Soviet Union a message expressing confidence that there can be great strides toward world peace and security in the years just ahead.

The response from Moscow was swift and unexpectedly friendly, leading observers to hope for better relations than had been expected between the Nixon administration and the Soviet Union.

While promising positive Soviet response to friendly American gestures, the government newspaper, Izvestia, warned: "If anyone overseas wants to return to the worst days of the Cold War, we can tell him in advance: Nothing good will come out of that."

'D.O. College
Not Best Idea'

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Expansion of existing medical schools at Wayne State University and Michigan State has been proposed by a state medical official as being less expensive than constructing the new osteopathic school at Pontiac.

Dr. Kenneth H. Johnson, secretary of the Michigan State Medical Society, said this week the proposal, if incorporated, would graduate about 184 more doctors a year by 1975 at a cost of $26 million.

He noted construction of the new osteopathic college at Pontiac would cost an estimated $60 million, and would graduate only 64 a year.

Under the proposal, Dr. Johnson said $15 million would be required to expand MSU's two-year medical program to four years and $11 million would be needed to increase facilities at Wayne State University's medical school.

MSU would be able to graduate an additional 64 doctors annually, he said, and Wayne State an extra 120.

MORE GRADUATES

Pointing to a recent survey of southwestern Michigan, Dr. Johnson said 14 counties indicated an immediate need for 270 physicians.

If the two universities expanded its medical facilities, he estimated that another 400 people could also be trained annually in other medical fields such as nursing.

But he called expansion of the two universities as only temporary measures and predicted that a fourth and probably even a fifth medical school will be needed in Michigan by 1980.

Dr. Johnson made the comments before about 80 west Michigan community leaders here.

'World' Book Offered

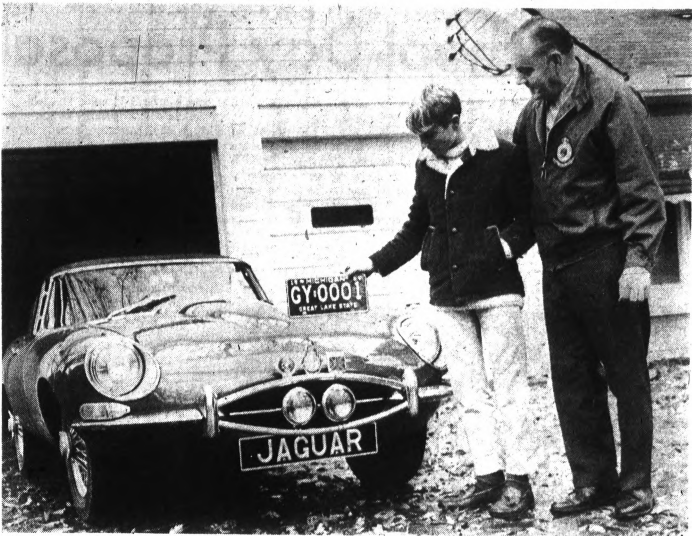

Another of the famous Associated Press "World" books — "The World in 1968" — is in production.

Like no other annual volume, it recreates in dramatic news pictures and vivid text the very essence of the year, as well as providing the hard facts.

To reserve your copy, or copies — at $3.50 apiece — fill out and mail the coupons which will be appearing in The Pontiac Press on Page C-11.

Gail Winter And Son, Gary, Had A Long Wait For This Number

Vigil for No. 1 Plate Pays Off

By ED BLUNDEN

Gail Winter of Waterford Township is No. 1. Or to put it more precisely, he's No. GY0001 after getting the first license plate for 1969 from the township branch of- fice yesterday morning.

And, as usual, being No. 1 wasn't easy. Winter of 4240 South Shore and his son, Gary, 14, waited 11 hours outside the office at 4520 Pontiac Lake in the rain.

Winter's long wait began not long after he saw Thursday's edition of The Pontiac Press. On page one was a picture of secretary of the state office employees holding up the initial license plate for the year — GY0001.

'LET'S GO?'

"I said to my son that it sure would be nice to have that for the Jaguar," Winter said. "I thought about it for a minute and said, 'Let's go.'"

Winter waited from about 10 p.m. until about 9 a.m.

yesterday when the office opened. He got not only the first number but GY0002 also.

The first number is going on his 1968 Jaguar and the second on his mint-condition 1961 Lincoln Continental.

As could be expected, Winter is a car buff. A retired Detroit industrialist, he has won national prizes with his antique, restored cars — a 1913 American and 1907 Maxwell. He has also won a national award with his 1941, four-cylinder Indian motorcycle, one of many in his collection.

Winter has many antique items associated with the auto industry, but doesn't label himself a collector, exactly. "I got most of this stuff together 20 to 25 years ago and kept it," he explains.

The things he does collect are some modern auto parts. He apparently intends to keep them until they, too, become antiques.

Key House Dem Doubts
Surtax Can Be Removed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The man who controls congressional tax-writing machinery has cast doubt on chances for lifting the 10 per cent income surtax, striking a note of discord among postelection Democratic pledges of cooperation with the incoming Republican administration.

Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, said yesterday there is scant likelihood of Congress permitting the 10 per cent surtax to die a natural death as scheduled June 30.

President-elect Richard M. Nixon said during the campaign the surtax was a "war tax" and should not be extended.

But Mills, D-Ark., said in a speech to the Arkansas Petroleum Council in Little Rock: "We may as well face the fact that the cessation or lessening of hostilities will bring immediate demands from all sides for additional spending on the domestic front."

REDUCED SURTAX?

Some Nixon aides have indicated the new administration might settle for a reduction in the surtax to 5 or 6 per cent if it can't be lifted outright.

Mills didn't mention the possibility of a reduced tax.

He said normal growth alone — not counting increased demands for domestic spending in the cities, education and other areas — will increase next year's expenditures by $7 billion to $10 billion. Government economists have estimated the surtax will raise $15.2 billion in the fiscal year ending June 30.

The speech was Mills' strongest public comment on the surtax since the election.

'UNMANAGEABLE DEFICIT'

Three days after the election he said in an interview that a combination of a tax cut and increased federal spending would produce "an unmanageable deficit" in the fiscal year starting next July 1.

He has also differed with Nixon on another fiscal matter. The president-elect's proposals to cut back federal anti-poverty spending in favor of tax credits to industries who take up the slack.

Mills has called the plan "back door spending" that could cost billions more than direct spending to get the same job done.

Senate Democratic Majority Leader Mike Mansfield said earlier this week his party would support Nixon "when he is right," and House Speaker John McCormack of Massachusetts has commented similarly.

'NOT RIGHT'

But Mills made clear he feels accompanying a slowdown in Vietnam with reduced taxation would not be right.

"I think it would be a mistake to assume that this would be the solution to our expenditure control problem," said Mills.

Woman Killed; Husband Held

A young mother was fatally shot in her mother-in-law's Waterford Township home last night.

Waterford police are holding her husband, Ted J. Herr, believed to be 21, in connection with the slaying.

Police received a call regarding the shooting at 1125 LaSalle about 9:45 p.m. The victim, Sandra Herr, 21, a brunette, was taken to Pontiac General Hospital where she was pronounced dead on arrival about 10 p.m.

Waterford police are withholding all other information pending formal charges.

VISITING HIS MOTHER

Persons acquainted with the family said the Herrs were visiting his mother at the LaSalle address when the shooting occurred.

Herr, employed in one of the General Motors plants, attended St. Benedict's Catholic Church and Waterford Township high schools.

The Herrs, believed to be married for about two years, were parents of a small boy. They were described as "inseparable" before their marriage and "quite happy" afterward.

Grid Honors in Press

The high school football season has ended in Oakland County, and now it is time for the honors to begin.

Today's Pontiac Press sports pages highlight the annual All-County, All-League and Classes A, B and C-D standouts. Another big feature is the naming of the outstanding prep gridder, and the final standings, scoring and ratings are wrapped up. See the Gridiron Green.

Flash

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union today launched Proton-4, described in an official announcement as the world's biggest unmanned spaceship.

Weekend to Be Rainy, Cooler

It looks like occasional light showers, drizzle, and cooler temperatures will dominate the weather over the weekend.

The U.S. Weather Bureau forecasts the following day-by-day prediction for Pontiac area residents:

TODAY Cloudy and a little cooler with chance of light rain or drizzle, high 40 to 45. Tonight cloudy and a little cooler with chance of light rain, low 33 to 37.

TOMORROW — Cloudy and cooler with occasional light rain.

MONDAY — Mostly cloudy and colder with chance of snow flurries.

Precipitation probabilities in per cent are: 30 today, 30 tonight, 60 tomorrow.

Thirty-eight was the low temperature prior to 8 a.m. in downtown Pontiac. The 2 p.m. recording was 39.

State Officers Seek Pay Hikes

LANSING (AP) — Michigan could spend almost $1 million more to pay officials for the next two years if the new state officers' compensation commission follows recommendations it heard yesterday.

But, Gov. George Romney, who termed the financial position of the governor "indefensible," urged the commission to "be very slow and cautious in whatever you do."

Romney and other state officials testified before the commission, which has until Dec. 1 to set salaries of governor, lieutenant governor, legislators and State Supreme Court justices for the next two years.

Commission Chairman Lawrence Carino said the seven-member body expected to set temporary determinations by Nov. 26 and final figures by Nov. 29.

INCREASE BREAKDOWNS

Seeking increases for their positions were:

• Romney, who said he personally did not seek a pay boost, but that subsequent governors "should not have to live and work on the current $40,000 a year salary."

• Chief Justice John Delmhers said the six other State Supreme Court justices and he decided they should get $40,000 a year instead of the present $35,000, $5,000 extra for the chief justice.

• Three legislators, two of whom did not specify a figure but indicated an increase from the present $12,500 salary and $2,500 expense allowance would be desirable. The third mentioned a previously suggested $13,000 salary and the current expense allowance.

ROMNEY URGES

Romney, who has sent letters to all state departments urging they "hold the line" in spending, said the state is "scrambling" to meet other fiscal demands for next year.

Budget estimates indicate that only about $15.50 million will be left over at the end of the fiscal year.

Carino, general manager of WJBK-TV in Detroit, said budget director Glenn Allen had told the commissioners state expenses would be close to the total surplus and state income.

But, Romney added, "the governor of Michigan can't possibly serve as governor of Michigan without dipping into his own pocket or obligating himself" to private interests if the $40,000 salary were not increased.

PREVIOUS RAISE

The salary was moved up from $35,000 last year.

"There was a travel allowance of $1,500 last year," Romney said, "but no money for entertainment at all, and none reimbursed. When elected, the governor rents or buys a home and pays the costs himself."

The commission plans a public hearing in Lansing Thursday.

Buckeyes Use Whacky Signs

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI) — Many Ohio merchants have taken to the one-line catcher for advertising, as evidenced in a sign in a maternity shop in Toledo, which read: "We provide the accessories after the fact."

It was just one of the whacky signs found across the Buckeye State.

"Your friendly used-cow dealer," said a sign in a Dayton meat market.

"We chop our own suey," advertises a Chinese restaurant at Akron.

A confident garage owner in Coshocton says, "We stand in front of our brake jobs."

At a Sandusky bar, "We have a pay-as-you-glow plan."

"Persons are prohibited from picking flowers from their own graves," proclaims a warning at a Columbus cemetery.

BOATYARD WARNING

A boatyard at Aberdeen warns: "Trespassers will be drowned."

"Slow. No hospital," is the sign near a small Lawrence County hamlet.

Burr Oak State Park advises drivers of a traffic intersection with "Crossroad ahead, better humor it."

One sign was left on a motorist's windshield: "I have just run into your car. People have seen me and are watching me write this. They think I am giving you my name and address. They are wrong."

Coed Virginity Figures Cited

TORONTO (AP) — A survey at the University of Toronto concludes that unmarried Jewish girls are more likely to keep their virginity than their Catholic or Protestant counterparts.

A questionnaire was mailed to 1,200 students—one copy to every 22nd student in the university directory—a week before a teach-in last month on the population explosion.

Its 37 questions were drafted by a first-year, female medical student, Dagny Dryer, and Michael Barrett, Malcolm Fitz Earle and William Rees, all studying for zoology doctorates.

They said they got 511 replies and are convinced the figures, representing fewer than two percent of the university's 26,400 full-time students, are accurate.

LIKELY TO LOSE
The survey showed Protestant-raised students are most likely to lose their religious belief. Of those replying, 42 percent said they had become atheist or agnostic, compared with 27 percent among Catholics and 18 percent among Jews.

Among those retaining their faith, unmarried Jewish girls had the highest virginity rate—87 percent. Of Catholic girls, 78 percent were still virgins, and 74 percent among Protestants.

Unmarried Jewish men had more frequent sex in more than twice as many cases—31 percent—among Protestant and Catholic men.

GLENWOOD PLAZA CORNER NORTH PERRY AT GLENWOOD

New U.S. Gun Control Law in Effect Soon

By MEL NEWMAN

Five years after the assassination of President John F. Kennedy — years which have included the shooting deaths of his brother, Sen. Robert Kennedy, and Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., the first legislative repercussions soon will be felt.

Most of the controls on gun and ammunition sales embodied in the Gun Control Act of 1968 go into effect Dec. 17. Imports already are affected.

Essentially, the law is aimed at weapons described by the Alcohol and Tobacco Tax Division of the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) as "gangster-style."

These include machine guns, sawed-off shotguns, sawed-off rifles, silencers, deactivated war trophies and other devices such as bazookas, grenades, mortars and incendiary bombs.

Such weapons must be registered with the Alcohol and Tobacco Tax Division by Dec. 1. Violations will be punishable by fines up to $10,000 and/or imprisonment up to 10 years.

Registration forms are available at IRS offices. Two copies are to be mailed to the director of the Alcohol and Tobacco Tax Division, IRS, Washington, D.C. 2024. A third copy may be kept by the owner.

The IRS office in Pontiac is in the Federal Building, East Huron at Perry.

IRS authorities said firearms or destructive devices should not be brought to an IRS office for registration.

Under the law, all firearms and destructive devices requiring registration must be identified by a serial number. If no such number exists, the owner will be assigned one upon request made by writing, phoning or visiting the nearest Alcohol and Tobacco Tax office.

For Pontiac-area residents, the nearest division office is at 428 Lafayette, Detroit.

After obtaining the number, the owner is responsible for affixing it to the firearm or device before completing the registration form.

An IRS spokesman said that the law is not intended to place unnecessary restrictions on the purchase or ownership of firearms used for hunting, target shooting or any other lawful purpose.

AFFECTED WEAPONS

He described firearms and devices which must be registered as:

• A shotgun having a barrel or barrels less than 18 inches in length.

• A weapon made from a shotgun if it has an over-all length of less than 26 inches or a barrel or barrels of less than 18 inches in length.

• A rifle having a barrel or barrels of less than 16 inches in length. • A machine gun. • A muffler or silencer for any firearm.

• A weapon made from a rifle in length. • Any other weapon described as a destructive device.

State Hunter Dies

MANISTIQUE (AP) — Michigan recorded its first fatality of the hunting season Friday in Schoolcraft County near Manistique. Police said Cletus Sharp of Augusta died of a heart attack after shooting a buck.

LAW'S TARGET—Pontiac police Sgt. Herbert C. Cooley displays a sawed-off rifle, part of the department's collection of confiscated weapons. Under the new Federal Gun Control Law, the rifle is among those weapons which must be registered with the Alcohol and Tobacco Tax Division of the Internal Revenue Service. Orthodox pistols and revolvers are under state jurisdiction.

Typhus Peril Lurks in the Lab

NEW YORK (UPI) — The one place in the United States where there is a predictable risk of typhus is the laboratory in which scientists try to make effective vaccines against it.

But this infectious disease which has killed millions of people, probably more than any other, is no has-been, said four scientists of the National Institutes of Health. Four of the institutes' laboratory workers came down with it over the past seven years.

One merely lifted the lid of the whirler in which he had blended eggs used to culture the causative microorganism. Another accidentally splashed a drop of the culture fluid in his eye. How the others got typhus despite every scientific precaution is not known.

The four cases showed how extremely infectious are those causative microorganisms which are ranked between viruses and bacteria in the realm of the tiniest creatures and belong to the Rickettsia family. Ordinarily they are deposited in the body by the bite of a parasite such as a louse or a flea or a mite.

MAY HARBOR DISEASE

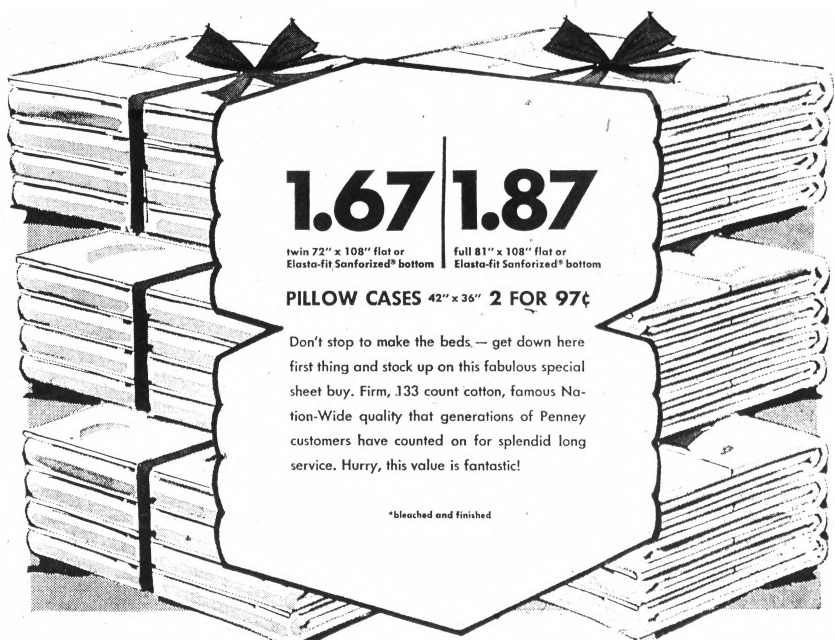

There is evidence suggesting some domestic animals may harbor Rickettsia prowazekii which causes "classical" or epidemic typhus, said Drs. Larry J. Wright, Lewellyn F. Barker, Ira D. Mickenberg and Sheldon M. Wolff in the technical journal of the American College of Physicians. Besides, there are scattered reservoirs of R. prowazekii around the world which could be sources of future louse-borne epidemics, and there is R. tsutsugamushi, the causative organism of scrub typhus which is endemic in Southeast Asia where America has an army, they said.

And so laboratory workers must take their chances in seeking to perfect preventive vaccines. However, added the scientists, they are no longer likely to become martyrs of science as some of them were before this antibiotic age. Broad-spectrum antibiotics were effective against all four infections.

PAPC Supports Center School Site

The selection of a site for Pontiac's proposed super high school has become more than a simple decision of the Pontiac Board of Education.

It has now become a matter for the board, the City Commission and, in a sense, the entire Pontiac community to resolve. This is no longer anything as uncomplicated as choosing between two prospective sites.

It is now a complex choice between two directions in development of our total community. It is truly a crossroads to future development of Pontiac's Central Business District and the areas immediately surrounding it.

The alternatives are as follows:

- Shall we continue to redevelop the City on a unilateral basis?
- Shall we begin to redevelop the City on a comprehensive basis?

The high school site study presented to the Pontiac Area Planning Council (PAPC) Thursday night by David Lewis of Urban Design Associates, of Pittsburgh, Pa., points up advantages of two major sites and the alternative methods of approaching overall redevelopment.

One site — on the Pontiac State Hospital grounds — would be the only alternative if the school board decides to proceed on a unilateral basis.

The other site, titled the center site, is located on 55 acres in the area of Orchard Lake Avenue and Bagley. The school could go there only if a comprehensive approach were initiated.

Under the unilateral approach, the school district, for instance, would build new facilities without regard to other redevelopment needs of the City. This would be the easiest, cheapest and quickest method so far as the school district itself is concerned. It would have little or no impact on other problems of social and physical renewal in the City. These other problems would be left for the City Commission to, likewise, resolve on a unilateral basis.

Under the comprehensive approach, the City and school district work together, utilizing federal programs, to renew a substandard area and build a new educational facility as one. It is more difficult, more expensive and takes longer. The end result is greater impact on the other problems of social and physical renewal of the City.

The school board is scheduled to make its decision at a meeting Monday night.

The PAPC has endorsed the center site. It has also recommended that the school board postpone making its final decision until the city indicates whether it will support a center site school with a renewal project of its own.

The decision now lies squarely in the hands of the school board. It is a momentous one which could have a profound effect on the future course of redevelopment in Pontiac.

In view of its great importance, we agree that at least a brief delay is in order so that all facets of the Lewis study can be carefully weighed.

Hippie Hairstyles Called Motoring Hazard

The automobile Legal Association has proposed that hairnets be made mandatory for hippie drivers.

Lengthy locks are a traffic hazard not only because they obscure the vision of the one whose head they, uh, grace, but because other drivers are disconcerted when they see a car being driven by "a ball of fuzz."

"Many hair styles of the younger set obstruct both forward and lateral vision," says Philip C. Wallwork, ALA safety director. "A regulation requiring hairnets for the hairy set may prove as sensible as the regulations requiring helmets for motorcyclists."

The problem could also be solved by mandatory haircuts, or perhaps even a hair style with peepholes. But that, he thinks, may be too drastic a step.

Age Issue Helped Win Election

By EVERETT DIRKSEN

In the days since the election I have been thinking along one rather significant political line. It has to do with age.

On Nov. 5 the electorate of Illinois broke a tradition that has held throughout her 150 years of statehood. A senator — Republican or Democrat — has never been elected to a fourth term, until this year I am that senator.

I give you the musings of a winner.

A fourth term of six years naturally implies that I am not a young man, so my age became an issue in the campaign.

Those who opposed me made my age an issue. An endless number of editorials and news stories contained the much-used phrase "72-year-old senator" or "the 72-year-old occupant of the office."

I never thought during the campaign, and I do not think now, that the allusions to mature years were necessarily malicious. They were simply statements of fact, and in the case of a younger opponent they naturally became a talking point. It was a good talking point, because it helped re-elect me, as the same point has helped in other years to re-elect other so-called older legislators.

Editor's Note: In a poll of Texas campuses conducted for the Amarillo Globe-Times earlier this year, Sen. Dirksen was the overwhelming favorite of students who were ten people in public life do you most admire in the United States? A plurality of students placed the senator in first place, ahead of President Johnson, Richard Nixon and Eugene McCarthy.

To begin with, this was an unusual election year. Everything that could happen in politics did happen: our President refused to run for re-election; a contender for the Presidency was assassinated; the war in Vietnam increased in scope and ferocity; we had a sort of dubious peace presented to us in the closing days of the campaign; we had George Wallace's candidacy as a distraction; we had tremendous tension in some areas from young people, and we had the searing polls to keep us on tenterhooks.

But one thing might have been observed in the campaign, particularly at those carefully advertised rallies and meetings. There was a preponderance of older people in attendance. It was the rule rather than the exception. The older people, and I refer to those well into middle age and beyond, had an intense interest in discussion of the issues. After listening to the various candidates, they lingered to ask for clarification on various points that had been brought up.

It was fair to assume that on Election Day those people would vote. With this in mind, we naturally think of the many statements made during the year to the effect that a larger percentage of the American population will soon be under 25. That may well be, but do the voters in the lower age brackets constitute the larger percentage of those who vote? It is the voter who determines the outcome of an election.

It might be conceded that the economic and social emphasis these days is upon matters relating to welfare, old-age assistance, Medicare, Medicaid, Social Security benefits, allowable earnings with out penalty and upon all matters that have special significance for the aged. It would be the most natural thing, therefore, that the millions of older voters would be less impressed by a candidate's age and far more interested in his views on the issues that affect them.

The older people were inclined to the belief, I think, that an older candidate would take a more sympathetic view of their problems and troubles than would a younger candidate.

That's what I think.

Dr. Burleigh Matthews, an eye specialist of Indianapolis, Ind., and his wife are actively engaged in "trying to help the cause of Christianity."

So far, to help the "cause," they have shipped 50 tons of medical equipment to 10 hospitals in India; sent 38 tons of medical supplies to World Medical Relief in Detroit, Mich.; built a medical dispensary, a 25-bed hospital, Leprosarium and an electrical system for Kamalnagar Hospital in India. They have also provided for India 65,000 pairs of glasses, as well as 38 scholarships. They have sent supplies and 600 pairs of glasses to Kpanganga, Congo, but Dr. Matthews says he needs thousands more.

Dr. Matthews, who calls himself an "impatient Methodist," set up his non-profit project six years ago in the garage in back of his house. There he collects and packs most of the supplies with the help of members of the Medical Auxiliary, volunteers and a few retired men in the area.

He has traveled all over the country giving over 364 speeches to stimulate interest in his project.

"Such stuff as dreams are made on" — the medical supplies and equipment that Dr. and Mrs. Matthews have collected and sent will make the dreams of many needy persons overseas a reality.

You'll see pain and struggle, perseverance, failure, triumph. You'll see principle in action; you'll see man in his platoon, as we want him to be. Look closely and you'll see what we ourselves can be." For example, there was born some years ago this frail boy who suffered from anemia. His weakness was such that he required special foods, had to sleep 12 hours a day and could not enter into children's games. His life was ended despair of.

This sickly boy, however, did not remain so. He drew upon his inner strength to become one of the greatest athletes of our time. His name was Bob Mathias, champion of the high jump, the broad jump, the javelin and the pole vault, and he won two Olympic gold medals.

It seems that anyone can do what he himself just about what he has a mind to do — providing he has a made-up mind. Rafer Johnson had the bottom of his foot torn off in a cotton machine when he was a small boy. But did that stop him from winning a de- cation gold medal? Not in your life. He used that torn foot as his "take off" foot for the jumps that lifted him into athletic immortality.

Never let anything get you down and keep you there, is the lesson of athletics.

And in life if you hit bottom, as most of us will in due course, remember that the bottom is a great place to hit for it's as far down as you can go. And for the positive thinker bottoms have bounce in them. Bottoms are for bouncing back. Up you come again, never defeated no matter what the handicap may be.

An old friend of mine, a circus clown, "Happy" Kellem, really picked up my spirits one day when things were ganging up on me and pressing me hard. Happy Kellem has had some ups and downs in his job and personally, and who hasn't had the same. So this day when he telephoned me we talked a bit about problems and how to handle them. And I asked, "How are things going for you Happy?"

"Oh, you know," he replied, "the good mixed with the bad." And then he came up with a phrase that really stuck in my thoughts: "Why worry when you can pray?" He chuckled and hung up.

Think it over. There's really something in it. "Why worry when you can pray?" That's one way to start back up when you hit a bottom.

'68 Grist for Historians' Mills

By NOEL GROVE

WASHINGTON (NEA) — It is probably safe to predict that the place of the 1968 presidential election in American political history is quite secure.

Many a campaign has featured a same aspect warranting mention and examination a quarter or even a half-century later. But in this wild year there are at least a half-dozen surprises. The major ones:

- The entry of Sen. Robert Kennedy, brother of a slain president and the major charismatic figure in the campaigns.
- Dropout of the incumbent who had been handed in the previous election the biggest percentage and numerical margin of votes ever enjoyed by an American president.
- Assassination of a major presidential candidate, Sen. Robert Kennedy.
- Marring of a nominating convention by riots and violence, which had serious effect on that party nominee's candidacy.
- The Nixon comeback, from the depths of defeat and bitter renunciation of political ambition, to election as 37th president.
- Other incidents rounded out the character of the '68 elec-

Unusual Wildlife Visitors Reported by Area Reader

A flock of evening grosbeaks has stayed close to our house for three days. The grosbeaks seem more tame this year and we watch them from a distance of only two or three feet. As long as there are no quick movements, they stay right there to eat. This flock numbers about 12.

'Store Wouldn't Accept My Military ID Card'

At one of Pontiac's major shopping centers I tried to cash a check with a wife's military ID card and was told I needed a driver's license, as well as a credit card. Being too young to get credit, this is impossible, and I don't have a driver's license. My ID card has the same detailed information as a license, besides being issued by our government. If my husband is good enough to be a serviceman, why not accept the ID card also?

'Prefer Downtown Site for New City School'

I was amazed when I read Mr. Webster's statement that the study council considered the State Hospital site for a new high school as a mandate to the voters to use this site and no other. If I had thought there would be no consideration given to any other site, I would have voted against the proposition. I consider the State Hospital site as one of the poorest possible, its only recommendation being the cost of the land.

I welcomed the suggestion of a site adjacent to the downtown area. I believe the Pontiac Board of Education should be interested primarily in the Pontiac schools and consider the schools outside city limits secondarily. I have talked to many friends about this and none had considered the State Hospital site as absolutely fixed and most did not like the idea at all.

For a religion-oriented answer, we suggest you ask a minister of your denomination. For anthropology theories, Mrs. Zimmerman of Wayne State has suggested writings by the following anthropologists: Theodosius Dobzhansky, "Nature of Man"; C. Film to Offer Authentic View of Indians

DURANGO, Mexico (AP) — They're making a Western movie here in which the Indians won't confine their dialogue to "Ugh" or, on the other hand, break into fluent English. The Sioux Indians are going to speak Sioux.

Even buffalo manure — 100 pounds of it — has been imported for Producer Sandy Howard's attempt to create authentic Sioux life before the advent of the white man on the Western plains of the United States.

"We're trying to do something nobody else has done before," he said on the CBS Cinema Center Films location of "A Mah Called Horse."

"We're trying to give a true picture of the Indian... his customs and traditions and way of life."

NOT A DOCUMENTARY

Howard pointed out, however, this is not a documentary. "It's drama with a historical setting that's never been done like this," he said, "but it's not a Redskin-Paleface adventure."

The buffalo manure bit is an illustration of the producer's insistence on authenticity. More than 80 per cent of the dialogue, for example, will be in the original Sioux tongue, Lakota. Mrs. Olive Prettybird, a Sioux, is teaching the language phonetically to Richard Harris (as the first white man ever seen by the tribe), Dame Judith Anderson (famous for her classic Greek and Shakespearian portrayals) as Buffalo Cowhide, Corinna Tsoepo as Running Deer, and others.

"We're using actors who will be understood visually, even if their speech isn't. That means they're going to have to be good at pantomime," Howard said.

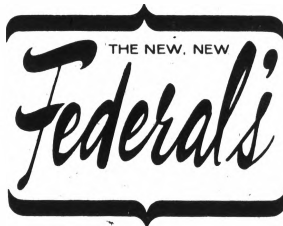

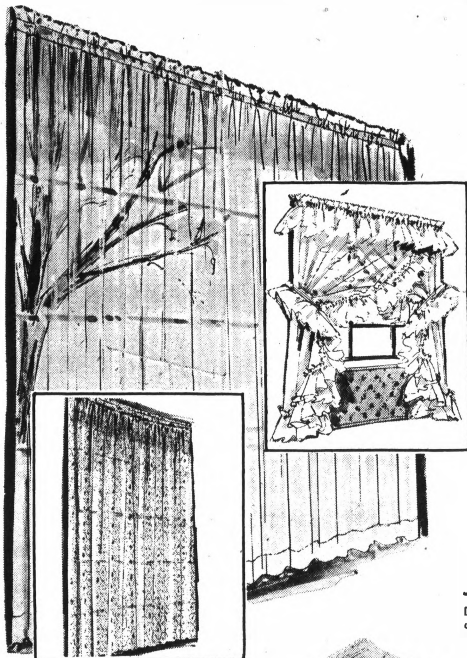

Howard and Director Elliot Silverstein worked for weeks with a Sioux reservation historian, Clyde Dollar, researching details for the script written by Jack Dewitt.

"I didn't want to settle for just anything that would be good enough to get by," Howard said. "Like real buffalo manure."

Later on, the location will be Sioux country. There will be authentic buffalo.

Only a Few Casualties

GI's Egg War Is Escalating

DA NANG, Vietnam (UPI) — Marine Lt. Greg Grebe, Park View, Ill., began the fad several weeks ago when he attempted to smash Newman's celluloid popped a hardboiled egg into his mouth.

In seven minutes Padgett had gobbled down 26 eggs.

Slowing his pace only slightly, the marine munched down 40 eggs in 26 minutes before he called it quits. He was 10 eggs shy of the 50-egg record established by the character played by Paul Newman in the film "Cool Hand Luke."

Padgett's feat was the latest, and perhaps best, attempt in a new craze which is threatening to spread throughout every American mess hall and club in Vietnam.

Marine Lt. Greg Grebe, Park View, Ill., began the fad several weeks ago when he attempted to smash Newman's celluloid popped a hardboiled egg into his mouth.

Grebe managed only 15 eggs in 26 minutes but the idea had taken root.

The Army then put forward its own champion who recently ate 25 eggs in the same time. The big T read in a newspaper that "This army fellow had beaten the marine egg-eating record. I just wanted to show them all that no training is necessary. You can either eat, or you can't."

A couple of nights before the contest, Padgett ate 25 eggs in 11 minutes. An hour later he downed another 25 eggs with a steak.

Now almost everyone wants to become hardboiled. At the sprawling logistic command headquarters here, Marines are offering a "simulated gold plated egg" to any of their number who can eat 50 eggs, which will be provided free of charge.

Other clubs in the area are staging similar competitions.

The Army, too, which held the local egg record for only a couple of weeks, is searching desperately for a new champion.

Though late starters, the Air Force and Navy also are expected to throw their own champions into the race very soon. The hardboiled war is escalating.

DON BAREFOOT

Student Leader Is Top Teen

Pontiac's Madison Junior High school has named its first teen of the week for this school year, Don Barefoot, 474 Granada.

Don, a ninth grader, has an A-1 scholastic average and is president of the student council.

He's also a hall guard and member of the B football squad, concert band, ski club, human relations committee and teen club.

"I believe that everyone should have a goal in life," he says. "It should be one which he should strive to attain and one he should strive to maintain once it is achieved."

The United States has 800,000 swimming pools; the number is expected to increase by nearly 75,000 by the end of 1968.

Reds Form Soviet-Style Government Across S. Viet

SAIGON (AP) — Apparently anticipating an end to the war, the southern arm of North Vietnam's Communist party is clanking away of clandestine political activity by creating a Soviet-style grass roots government across South Vietnam.

It is similar to the "Revolutionary Administration" that seized power from the French in North Vietnam at the end of the Indochina war. It already exists throughout five provinces and in more than a thousand villages and hamlets, U.S. officials say.

U.S. mission officials see in the emerging political apparatus a Communist attempt to legitimize their control over the parts of South Vietnam they have dominated for years, and also as a prelude to an announcement that a functioning government elected by the people exists in the countryside as a parallel to the Saigon government.

This claim is seen as the next logical step in the evolution of an insurgency that has involved the United States in its longest shooting war. It would also claim the enemy political offensive that has paralleled the 1967-68 winter-spring military offensive.

STUDYING DOCUMENTS

American officials have been studying the scores of captured documents and prisoner reports referring to the establishment of the new administration. They say that deadlines have been missed and there has been considerable confusion by field cadres.

"But the Communists are proceeding with it quite seriously," one knowledgeable official commented. "The Communists are telling the people that authority is being returned to them after more than 20 years of struggle. They are told this is the victory promised them last year at the beginning of the winter-spring offensive."

The "Revolutionary Administration" differs from the National Liberation Front—NLF—and the various alliances formed earlier this year in that it is an administrative organization while the others are purely fronts.

Where the new organization would exactly fit into future Communist plans, particularly resulting from the peace moves in Paris and Washington, has not been determined from documents.

DEVELOPED AT ALL LEVELS
But the People's Councils that have been elected as its grass roots base were developed at all levels in North Vietnam in the 1950s as a parallel hierarchy to seize power from the French, and became the basis for the Communist administration which exists to this day.

American officials say there is absolutely no doubt that the southern wing of the North Vietnamese Communist party, the People's Revolutionary party—PRP—has masterminded the creation of the new administration. It calls all the shots, just as it has determined the destinies of the NLF since 1962.

Numerous documents have ordered party cadres to occupy all key positions in the new organization. In some areas the Communist party is simply transformed itself into the Village Liberation Committee, the lowest level of the Administration.

"It remains entirely in the hands of the Communists, and its democratic processes are a sham," a U.S. official said. "Nevertheless, the Communists have devoted considerable effort to this charade and will certainly make, and in fact are already making, weighty claims on its behalf."

BASIC UNIT

The basic unit of the "Revolutionary Administration" is the Liberation Committee formed by village elections that create village Liberation Councils who in turn create the village committees, who create the district committees and so on up in classic Soviet style.

A token contest is provided in some areas with as many as 25 committees on ballots for a 15- and 1965 when the Communists thought they were winning the war. When the United States actively entered the conflict, work on the committees ceased, probably because cadres were needed to fight the war.

Presumably anticipating the end of the larger war with the badly missing their committee-forming deadlines. There was a spurt of activity in April, and again in August and September, "but we don't figure they have been very successful and their party keeps chewing out its cadre for being so slow," a U.S. official said.

By Oct. 31, the existence of 17 province liberation committees, five city committees, 36 district committees and 1,241 village and hamlet committees had been mentioned.

American officials believe, however, that far fewer than these exist and that many cited are actually secret standby apparatus that have been set up in anticipation of future "liberation" of areas currently held by the government.

FORMED IN VC AREAS

Most of the committees have been formed in Vietcong-held regions of the Mekong Delta and in contested delta zones. The five provinces where provincial level committees are believed to actively exist are Quang Tri and Thua Thien, the two northernmost provinces. Pleiku and Kontum provinces in the central highlands, and in An Xuyen Province, the most southern.

Rights Group Hails Key Ruling

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — A civil rights group today hailed a landmark ruling the decision by a federal judge to ban a public vote which could stop a low-income housing project in Lansing.

Judge Noel P. Fox of U.S. District Court issued a permanent injunction Friday against a referendum on the zoning change in Michigan's State Capitol.

The zoning change was passed by Lansing's City Council some time ago to permit construction of a 25-unit public housing project for low-income families.

The court's order strikes at sophisticated devices of housing discrimination found across the country," said Jack Greenberg, director - counsel of the Legal Defense Fund of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

"FIRST OF KIND"

He said it is the "first ruling of its kind" and that it gives NAACP attorneys "a tool to fight such devices as zoning, which segregate neighborhoods by income, thereby limiting entry of Negroes, Puerto Ricans, Mexican-Americans and other minorities."

In his 30-page opinion, Fox said that he found the "motivation behind the circulation of the referendum petitions . . . is in major part based on economic and racial discrimination in housing."

"Similar (zoning) variances for middle- and upper-income unit housing have never been challenged," Fox added.

The Lansing City Council more than a year ago passed the zoning change to permit construction of the housing project in a middle-income area of the Southeast Side designated only for single-family dwellings.

SOON AFTERWARD

Soon afterward, a group called the Committee for Individual Homes sought to petition for a referendum on the zoning change.

The Lansing city clerk refused to accept the petitions in June 1967, but Ingham County Circuit Court ordered the petitions accepted and this order was upheld by the Michigan Court of Appeals.

Then a group of nine Negroes and Mexican-Americans filed suit in the federal court to block the referendum. The NAACP Legal Defense Fund supported their lawsuit.

In his ruling, Fox asserted that "zoning ordinances have long been used as a tool for containing particular racial groups in these unhealthy ghettos."

SUBSTANDARD HOUSING

Fox noted that 65 per cent of Lansing's Negroes and Mexican-Americans live in a West Side ghetto containing only 11 per cent of the city's population of 120,000.

He said 75 per cent of the ghetto housing is substandard as disapidated and one-third of it is overcrowded.

The controversial public housing site, he said, is the only one "suggested by the city which would provide anything approaching adequate low-income housing in a reasonable period of time."

If citizens were permitted to vote against the rezoning and in a referendum actually did reject it, Fox said, it would delay construction of the low-income housing.

And the same thing could happen with any other site, he said.

Fox noted that some Lansing residents faced dislocation from their homes because of highway projects.

"Since the displacement of these low-income citizens is not being delayed, neither should the plans for substitute housing be delayed," he said.

The judge's ruling came after hearings at which citizens, city officials, educational psychologists, sociologists and others testified.

Fox said the legal question involved in the suit was whether a referendum could deprive the plaintiffs of their rights under the United States Constitution.

School Site to Be Muddled

Pontiac's Board of Education will hold a special meeting Monday to discuss the site of a West Side high school.

The school board's promise to pick either the center city site around Orchard Lake and Bagley avenues or a location on the Pontiac State Hospital grounds Monday was complicated Thursday when one of its advisory bodies asked that it postpone the decision.

Monroe M. Osmon, board president, said the board will meet at 7:30 p.m. in the Pontiac Schools Administration Building, 350 E. Wide Track. He said he didn't know whether the board would pick a site or delay the decision.

UAW Hits GM in Plant Strike

DETROIT (AP) — Officers of United Auto Workers Local 15 in Detroit accused General Motors Corp. Friday of "playing games" with its proposals to settle a 12-day dispute at the Fisher Body Fleetwood plant that has idled 10,500 workers.

In a letter to the 5,000 striking members of Local 15, George Garrison, president and Nick Cervelli, bargaining committee chairman, said 233 grievances filed by workers in the cushion, trim-vinyl and foam pad departments remain to be settled.

Fleetwood employees walked out Nov. 4.

"They want nine men to do the work in the foam area that 15 men did on the last model," the letter charged. Garrison also said relief time in the cushion room has been reduced from 46 minutes a shift to 26.

GM had no comment on the charges.

Jesuits Training At Colombiere

To many persons driving prayer in action philosophy, the hectic scene of most colleges from 1-75 Dixie-Waterford young novice realizes the necessity for a strong prayer sense of direction. They need a life in his preparation for his they can help the discouraged many years as a Jesuit. and discontented throughout the beyond rolling countryside.

Brother Arthur Dugan, a priest world. at Colombiere, sums up the life. "Colombiere is their home. It in this way, "It all adds up to a life here they grow in wisdom, full and busy life. The quiet commitment, faith and Christian campus might not reflect the maturity."

The college located at 9075 Big Lake, Independent Township is a branch of the University of Detroit but it also functions as a home — a house of religious formation supporting a close knit community of more than 50 students.

The Society of Jesus more commonly known as the Jesuits, require as part of the intense training, a two-year novitiate during which time the aspirant, anyone from a high school graduate to men with college degrees, undergoes the initial thrust of the Jesuit life.

LIFE OF PRAYER

This comprises a genuine taste of the religious exercises revolving around a community life of prayer, studies and work.

Prior to the Vatican Council Colombiere College was the sole source of activity for novices.

Nearly cut off from the world on the four-hundred acre-campus, novices would occupy themselves with the numerous chores necessary to maintain the buildings and grounds.

After Vatican II things changed at Colombiere for students.

All novices now take part in some type of apostolic experiment during their stay at Colombiere.

These include serving as an orderly at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Flint, the inner city work at St. Margaret Mary or Holy Trinity parishes in Detroit, and various functions at any one of four Jesuit high schools in the Midwest.

Such experiments broaden the young Jesuit's life foundation and give him a better understanding of the world today.

At the same time Colombiere as a base of operations. It is there he grows in community and the sharing of all with each other — ideas, activities and possessions. Studies have taken a turn since the Vatican Council in Rome.

AT UNIVERSITIES

Prior to the renewal, studies were limited to classrooms of Colombiere. Novices now take the bulk of their courses at nearby Oakland University or the University of Detroit.

Studies don't constitute the whole of the daily order. Once a week novices visit Our Lady of the Lakes parish in Waterford Township where they teach Christian Doctrine classes.

Between study periods they also manage to fit in such sundry jobs as dishwashing, mopping floors and general cleanup.

The novice can release tensions on the athletic fields or in the recreation rooms where he can relax, listen to music or read.

Prayer is the major thrust of the novice's life at Colombiere.

While experimenting with the STUDY HOUR — Dan Diehl of Buffalo, N. Y., takes to the books in his room at Colombiere College, Independence Township. Prayer life and study are important as he prepares to become a Jesuit priest.

Give Thank Offering at Morning Service

The annual Thank Offering of the Women's Association of the year and Joslyn Avenue United brought to a service in the fall Presbyterian Church will be for dedication.

Those participating include The Board of National Missions, Mrs. Edmond Watkins, Mrs. the Commission on Ecumenical Carl Boeneman, Mrs. William Relations and The Board of War, Mrs. Fred Bohman, and Christian Education. Mrs. Robert Dunkham.

Ushers will be Mrs. Kenneth Parks, Mrs. Melvin Dorries, Mrs. Charles Esralian and Mrs. Leonard Slade. The Galilean Quartet composed of Roy Cummings, Jim Atkins, Curtis Day and Mrs. Curtis Day will present special selections accompanied by Mrs. Roy Cummings at the piano and Roy Sanderson, guitar.

World Service is a way in which the United Presbyterian Church women express love for Jesus Christ and obedience to His command, Mrs. Ward said.

The program is related to three basic agencies of the church.

DEDICATED In addition a special offering of gratitude known as The university and college.

THANK OFFERING — Throughout the year Mrs. William Ward of 2120 Oklahoma, Rochester, places coins in her white plastic church bank as she says thank you to God for blessings. Her daughter, Janet, offers a thank you. Mrs. Ward is president of the Women's Association of Joslyn Avenue United Presbyterian Church, Pontiac.

RECEIVES AWARD — The Rev. W. L.
Martin, pastor of Sunnyside Chapel, Waterford Township, received "The Pastor of the Year" award at the awards dinner of the Michigan Sunday School Association (MSSA)
Rev. James DeGraw, minister of Christian education at Sunnyside; Pastor Martin; and Heard Kuykendall, treasurer of the MSSA.

There are 32 denominations represented among the 700 churches comprising the association. The MSSA is the largest in the world, Pastor Martin said.

In University Who's Who

St. Mary's Student Honored

Lawrence E. Olek, a senior at St. Mary's College, Orchard
Lake and a native of Johnston, Pa., has been named in this year's national listing of America's most outstanding college

His name is included in the 1968 edition of Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges.

This annual directory of distinguished students has been published since 1934 and carries only the names of students whose academic standing, service to the community, leadership in extra-curricular activities and future potential are decidedly above average.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Olek, Lawrence attended St.
Casimir School in Johnstown before enrolling at St. Mary's Preparatory.

JUNE 1969
He will graduate in June 1969 with a degree in philosophy in preparation for further divinity studies leading to his ordination to the priesthood.

While in high school Lawrence served as editor of his year book and as circulation editor of the school newspaper.
He was graduated with honors and continued his studies on the Orchard Lake Campus.

Orientation Class Starts for Adults

A church orientation class for adults wishing to become better acquainted with Presbyterian beliefs will begin during the 9:30 Sunday School hour tomorrow in Auburn Heights United Presbyterian Church.

The Chancel Choir will sing
"Salvation Belongs to Our God" at the 11 a.m. worship hour.
Pastor F. William Palmer will preach on "We Are Glad."

Senior High Fellowship will discuss "The Second Coming of Christ" at 6 p.m. Tomorrow.
Leading talks will be Gary Swartz, Nannette Winger, Ricky
Swartz and Vicky Haskins.
The Mariners group will sponsor a fellowship visitation program on Nov. 23. Members of the group will call on those of the congregation who are unable to attend regular worship services.

REV. W. W. MCCORMICK

Clarkston Church Planning Revival

The Free Methodist Church of Clarkston will hold revival services tomorrow through Nov.
24 with services at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. each Sunday, and at 7:30 p.m. during the week except Saturday.

Coming to preach will be the Rev. W. W. McCormick, former teacher at Greenville College.

He also served as pastor and conference superintendent of the denomination for many years before becoming an evangelist.

The Rev. Mr. McCormick conducts revival meetings throughout the United States and Canada.

Bring Statue to Michigan

America's national statue of Our Lady of Fatima presented to the United States as a permanent memorial of the Fatima Golden Jubilee Year, will make a three-week peace pilgrimage in the Detroit area.

It will arrive in Detroit tomorrow for a 21-day tour of parishes in Greater Detroit.
The statue will be brought in colorful procession to Blessed Sacrament Cathedral tomorrow for 3 p.m. opening ceremonies followed by a Mass at 5:30 p.m.

On Nov. 24 the statue will be at St. Joseph Catholic Church,
715 N. Lapeer, Lake Orion; on
Dec. 2 at St. Benedict Catholic Church, Pontiac; and on Dec.
5 at Queen of Martyrs Church,
32340 Pierce, Birmingham.

STATUE OF WOOD
Sculptured of wood, 40 inches tall and hand painted the statue represents the Mother of Christ as she is said to have appeared in the 1917 apparition and miracle at Fatima, Portugal. Here she is said to have foretold the rise of atheistic Communism and requested prayer and sacrifice as Christ's way to peace.

Holiday Fun Fair at St. Joseph's

St. Joseph's Catholic Church near Lake Orion is sponsoring a Holiday Fun Fair on Nov. 23 from noon to 8 p.m. in Myrick
Hall at St. Joseph School, 715 N.
Lapeer, Lake Orion.

There will be something for everyone including games, gifts, items, prizes, refreshments, baked goods, homemade candies and a country store. The public is invited.

Pontiac Unity Plans Dinner

Those attending morning worship tomorrow in Pontiac Unity Church are asked to remain for the cooperative dinner which follows. Dinners are held on the third Sunday of each month after the 11:30 a.m. service.

Everett A. Dell, minister, will preach on "How Many Times?"
His subject concerns forgiveness.

Hong Kong Girl Wins Contest

The Second Annual International Children's Art Talent Contest, sponsored by World Vision International, has been won by a 13-year-old girl from Hong Kong. The drawing is a graceful lotus suggesting the nobility of man.

Her chalk drawing was awarded grand prize by a panel of judges who evaluated the 65 finalist artworks on display in the Rotunda of the Los Angeles City Hall. The finalists previously had been culled from more than a thousand entries from 19 nations.

ORPHANS
World Vision, headquartered in Monrovia, is a global missionary and relief agency which helps to care for and educate more than 26,500 orphans and needy children in 11 nations.

It conducted the art contest among these children as a means of encouraging special talent.

Contest chairman, William Kiewer, international director of World Vision's childcare program, explained that prizes were awarded for the five best entries in each of the age groups 6 through 12; and 13 through 18; for the three best entries overall, and for the "Best of the Show."

AWARDS
The "Best of the Show" award, given for human interest as well as artistic merit, and was submitted by a six-year-old South Vietnamese man and oxen working in a field. Nguyen Hoang Linh, who said it showed how his country was when war ceases.

At Macedonia

Revival Scheduled

The Rev. Carl D. Hughes, pastor of Bethel Baptist Church of East Detroit, will conduct the revival at Macedonia Baptist Church, 512 Pearsall, tomorrow through Nov. 22.

Services are scheduled for 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. on Sundays, and at 7:30 p.m. during the week.

The Cohen Singers of Pontiac will be guests of the Senior and Junior choirs for the 3 p.m. program tomorrow. The New Bethel Boys' Quartet will be featured.

Heading the program are Mrs. A. B. Walker and Mrs. Mary Guy.

The guest evangelist, president of Calvary District Congress of Christian Education, and director of Wolverine State Congress, is a graduate of West Virginia State College.

REV. CARL D. HUGHES

Toronis Present

Musicales at 7 P.M.

The Rev. and Mrs. John Toronis will present a musical program at the 7 p.m. service tomorrow in Silverdell Baptist Church, 2562 Dixie Highway.

Mrs. Toronis is recognized as one of the outstanding gospel singers of the community and her husband, an accomplished violinist, is known in the Pontiac area as "The Man With the Talking Violin."

Part of the service will be geared and directed toward the children.

Goodness, is the only investment that never fails. Henry David Thoreau, American naturalist.

In the sweepstakes category, the grand prize winner was entitled "Lotus."

Chan, Ho Lui, the artist, said in her explanatory remarks that the Lotus grew from mud to become clean and beautiful, just as human beings can achieve beauty and grace although they may come from humble beginnings.

THE FISHERMAN

A second grand prize winner was a brilliant chalk entitled "The Fisherman" and was submitted by Leung, Pui Fun, a 12-year-old girl from Macau.

Third grand prize went to an Indonesian boy, Martinus Limpo, for his pen drawing entitled "The Warning," which means an outdoor shop.

The artworks were scheduled to remain on display in the City Hall through Nov. 2, and then go on a series of exhibits in Southern California and the rest of the nation.

Musicales Set

A musical program featuring the Gospel Tones of Michigan City, Ind., and the Morning Doves of Pontiac will be presented at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow in Mt. Olive Baptist Church, 458 Central. Mrs. Alberta Herron, chairman, said there will be no admission charge.

"You've been pampered enough, baby!" Perhaps that concludes the argument between this fiery couple—and maybe it doesn't. You can find out by attending the Lakeland Players' production of "Girl Crazy," scheduled Friday and Saturday evenings, 8 p.m., at Mason Junior High School. Pat Genevux of Silverbell Road, Orion Township and Verne Vaccaro of Coleman Street, portray this pugnacious pair.

Need for Day Care Is Concern of Women

One of the ironies of today's society is that jobs are going begging on one hand while thousands of women live on welfare because they can't get a job.

They can't get a job because many of them lack education. Others could profit by specific job training. Both education and job training are available to them.

But there is no safe place for low income mothers to leave their children during working hours.

In the Pontiac area, there are a number of cooperative nursery schools. But these operate only a few hours a day and only five days a week.

Head Start programs are not geared for all-day care and take only children nearer kindergarten age.

Pontiac has one day care center, presently located in Hayes Jones Community Center, and sponsored by the Episcopal Church of the Advent.

By the fall of 1969, it is hoped that a day care center will be operating in the Lakeside Housing community center.

But there is still need for more such centers, reports Nathaniel Clay of the Pontiac Board of Education and director of day care study.

Clay is working with a committee of women: Mrs. Philip A. Goetzmann, coordinator of parent programs for Pontiac Head Start; Mrs. John Butler, coordinator of all preschool education in the Pontiac schools; and two ADC mothers who know the problems first hand.

The Episcopal Church Women of Christ Church Cranbrook have been approached for help. Mrs. Robert C. Weir is chairman of the social services committee of this group.

Clay is working on a proposal now for funding the Lakeside Center through HEW. Alternate methods of financing other centers must be found.

Mrs. Weir's committee estimates that $3,500, plus permanent housing, are needed to start each center and their goal is three centers. They've needed now, not five years hence.

On Tuesday at 8 a.m. ECW will be holding a meeting in the library of Christ Church Cranbrook to explore possibilities. Anyone interested in the problem may attend.

The women want to involve a broader base of interested people so that means of sponsoring the badly needed child care facilities may get into high gear.

Gershwin Show on the Boards in Waterford

George Gershwin's hit of the 30s, "Girl Crazy," is in rehearsal at Mason Junior High School for presentation next Friday and Saturday at 8 p.m. in the auditorium.

Patti Hott is directing the Lakeland Players' production, with Jan Papay producing and Robert Crumpton and Mary Phipps collaborating on the musical direction.

The updated version retains all the famous Gershwin tunes, including "Embraceable You," "I've Got Rhythm," and "Strike Up the Band." Lyrics are by Gershwin's brother, Ira.

Verne Vaccaro plays Zoli, the Hungarian. Vaccaro is a teacher of drama, language arts and other subjects at Pierce Junior High School.

Pat Genevux as Kate, Susan (Mrs. Joe) Washburn as Molly and Ray Valentine as Johnny Churchill fill the other major roles in the two-act comedy.

Tickets are available from any member of the Lakeland Players or by calling Glen Jacobs of Sutherland Drive.

Scholar Shop Sets Dates for Christmas Luncheon and Tea

Oakland University's scholarship committee is planning two special Christmas-time events to highlight the yuletide season at the Scholar Shop.

The Scholar Shop, now in its fifth year at the University, is sponsored by the scholarship committee to provide much needed funds for the University's scholarship students. Mrs. Clement Jensen, is chairman of the scholarship committee.

A Noel luncheon, featuring a buffet of French foods, will take place on Tuesday. Mrs. Carl M. Bollen is chairman of this affair, which is by reservation only.

An all-day Christmas tea will be held, Nov. 21, at the Scholar Shop. The public is invited from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. to come and see the exciting assortment of Christmas decorations and gifts, and to have a Christmas cookie and tea or coffee.

Mrs. Vernon L. Venman, is chairman of the tea.

Both the luncheon and the tea will be held in the lounge area outside of the Scholar Shop, which is in the lower level of the Oakland Center building on campus.

Quit Pestering Your Mason Husband or You Could Lose Him by Degrees

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My husband recently joined the Masonic lodge. Naturally I was very proud of him, but now it has presented a problem to us.

He tells me that this is a "secret organization" and he has given his word that he will tell no one about the secrets of the lodge.

Abby, in all the 18 years we have been married we have not kept any secrets from each other. I have cried, begged, threatened, and tried everything I could think of to make him tell me these "secrets" of his lodge, but he refuses.

How can an organization which is supposed to be dedicated to such high ideals create a barrier between a man and his wife? I'd appreciate your views.

WIFE OF A MASON
DEAR WIFE: Consider yourself fortunate to be married to a man whose word means something. And quit pestering him to reveal the lodge secrets or you'll lose your Mason by degrees.

DEAR ABBY: The boy who sits in front of me in history is very smart and gets 100s on almost all his tests. I was stuck during a test last week and asked him for some answers. He gave them to me wrong! I didn't know it until we got our papers back.

He got 100 and I got 65! I was plenty mad and told him I thought he was a dirty cheat. I admit I wasn't very honest to ask him for the answers, but don't you think he was twice as dishonest to have purposely given them to me wrong?

CHEATED
DEAR CHEATED: Don't expect to find an honest partner for a crooked deal.

DEAR ABBY: I have often read letters in your column about women who were worried about their husband's being unfaithful. Well I am one woman who is not worried. In fact, I am all for it.

You see, my husband's capacity for love making is far greater than mine, and rather than force himself on me night after night, he attempted to divert his energies to various other hobbies.

The hobbies didn't help, so he eventually took up drinking, and was well on his way to becoming an alcoholic before I realized his problem.

We discussed it, and I told him I would rather have him out playing the field than killing himself with the bottle. He agreed and complied with my request, and it has made a new man out of him.

His other women aren't taking anything away from me. In fact, they are doing me a favor. I am grateful for other women.

CONTENT
DEAR CONTENT: If you are so sure of yourself in this strange love, why are you blabbing about it? I don't advise your system.

'Hamlet' Is Replaced in Theatre Program

John Fernald has announced that Shakespeare's "Troilus and Cressida" has been selected to replace "Hamlet" as the sixth play of the Meadow Brook Theatre's 1968-'69 season.

The decision is based on the fact that two productions of "Hamlet" have already opened in the Detroit area this fall.

Experts Believe Sties Caused by Dirty Hands

CHICAGO, Ill. — Unsanitary and sometimes painful, a sty is something we can all do without. This common pest is caused by a bacterial infection of one of the small glands at the edge of the eyelid. What causes the infection?

Dirty hands rubbing the eyes, according to Today's Health, the American Medical Association magazine. Some people believe eye strain may be the culprit — but the experts believe dirt is the more frequent cause.

Noting that a sty can last from a few days to as long as four weeks, it states that the duration of the infection "can be reduced materially by medical intervention, in which the small abscess is surgically opened, drained and allowed to heal."

To prevent sties — keep your fingers away from your eyes.

The state of Washington supplies 20 per cent of all apples in the United States and 35 per cent of all apples sold fresh.

NATO Plans to Strengthen Defenses

BRUSSELS (UPI) — The day of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) partners today completed plans for strengthening their defense, warning Moscow against new Czechoslovakia-style take-overs and renewing their alliance.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Defense Secretary Clark M. Clifford and Treasury Secretary Henry H. Fowler led the U.S. team in the third and closing alliance's military setup in 1966, regarded as a threat to the alliance's vital security interests.

GENERAL AGREEMENT

Broad agreement on these questions was reached quickly in defense talks Thursday and political discussions yesterday. These left little to be wrapped up today except the final wording of the closing communique.

The agreement to strengthen the alliance's military setup could not yet be set down in terms of actual dollars or numbers of men and guns. These were to be discussed by experts in the next few weeks and incorporated in the five-year NATO force — strengthen plan for the 1968-73 period, which the permanent council must endorse in December.

But the United States pledged more modern weapons and plans for it, forces in Europe and undertook to send back to Europe — for training — some units which had been redeployed to the United States.

Waterford Fire Toll Declines in October

Fires in Waterford Township were responsible for causing damage totaling $9,600 during October, down $22,000 over the preceding month, according to the fire department.

However, there were 29 fires reported last month compared to 23 in September.

In addition to the fires, the department responded to 25 rescue and emergency calls.

To date this year, fire damage has amounted to $267,767. For the same period in 1967, the damage totaled $198,708.

Policies of 2 States on Bloodbanks Hit

DETROIT (AP) — The American Public Health Association has attacked what it terms the "scientifically foolish" segregation of bloodbanks in Louisiana and Arkansas and will seek to change that policy in the two states.

The APHA executive board said it will send letter of protest to state governors and health department and will ask the federal government to apply "such pressure as is legally possible."

The two states do not permit the transfusion of blood between persons of different races.

DIVORCES ACTOR — Actress Valerie Allen sits in the Los Angeles courtroom where she was granted a divorce yesterday from actor Troy Donahue after she testified that he kept coming home late to dinner. Troy didn't appear at the hearing. Miss Allen, 23, married Donahue, 32, in 1966.

Snow Detains World-Flying Grandfather

BODO, Norway (UPI) — U.S. flying grandfather Max Conrad, 65, today waited out Arctic squalls at the eastern tip of Greenland and radioed he had slightly changed course in his solo 33,000-mile round the world flight.

Conrad said he had decided to fly his twin-engine Piper Aztec to Iceland rather than to Tromsø near Norway's northern tip.

Conrad's report from air station north on Greenland was received at Bodo air radio station. Bodo is 250 miles southwest of Tromsø on Norway's fjord-shredded coast.

Weather stations in northern Norway said weather over the North Atlantic was generally favorable but warned of icing on aircraft. The weather that kept Conrad on the ground was apparently restricted to Greenland.

SECOND LEG

Conrad started his trip in St. Louis and sent word from Point Barrow at the northern tip of Alaska Wednesday that he was on the second leg of his flight.

Conrad hoped to cross both poles and pass the equator twice on what he hopes will be a record-breaking solo trip.

Conrad, who has 10 children and 26 grandchildren, has been a pilot 40 years. The flight would be the longest of his career.

2 Police Face Arraignment

DETROIT (AP) — Two Detroit policemen faced arraignments today on assault charges in the alleged beatings of two Negro teen-agers.

The Wayne County prosecutor's office ordered warrants Friday charging Patrolman Leo T. Haidys Jr. with felonious assault and Patrolman Richard Stinson with assault and battery.

The officers were among nine suspended from the force this week after an investigation of charges that Negro youths had been beaten while attending a dance at a downtown building. A number of off-duty policemen were attending a dance sponsored by the Detroit Police Officers Wives Association in another section of the building at the same time.

Haidys, 34, was accused of beating James Evans III, 19, of Detroit, with a gun.

'THREATS WITH GUNS'

Stinson, 34, was accused of beating Grady Stallworth of Detroit.

A number of Negro youths were threatened with guns and a gun was fired during the incidents, said James H. Brickley, chief assistant prosecutor.

Brickley said there was evidence the policemen had been drinking.

He said evidence also indicated the seven other officers suspended from the force "participated in this deplorable incident in varying degrees" ranging from standing by while the alleged beatings occurred to chasing the Negro youths.

Americans now buy 89 per cent of all Tequila shipped out of Mexico. Exports to the U.S. have increased 281 per cent in six years.

9 Convicted in Plot to Blast Ships Trading With Cuba

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A former Havana baby doctor and eight other Cuban refugees were convicted Friday of conspiracy to blast ships of nations that trade with Fidel Castro's Communist regime.

Dr. Orlando Bosch was convicted on five charges. The government alleged Bosch was the mysterious Ernesto who acted as spokesman for the shadowy group known as Cuban Power, which announced violent acts, sometimes before they occurred.

Bosch also was found guilty of sending threatening telegrams to the heads of state in Spain, Mexico and England.

The U.S. District Court jury of eight men and four women also found Bosch, 42, Barbaro Balan, 42, and Jose Diaz Morejon, 26, guilty of firing on the Polish freighter Polonia while it was in the port of Miami.

WOMAN WEEPS

The lone woman on trial, Almeida Miranda, 39, wept when the verdicts were read. The eight men revealed no emotion. Judge William O. McIntire withheld sentencing pending background investigations. Bosch could be sentenced up to 28 years in prison.

Mehrrens continued bonds at present levels, leaving six of the nine free. Bosch, Diaz Morejon and Andrews Jorge Gonzalez, 37, have been in jail, unable to post $50,000 in bail.

The others convicted, and free on bonds ranging upward from $2,500, are Marco Rodriguez Ramos, 34; Jorge Luis Gutierrez Ulla, 30; his 45-year-old father, Paulino Gutierrez, and Jesus Dominguez Benitez, 27.

Asst. U.S. Atty Donald Bierman, who later praised an exile informer for his testimony during the trial, described Bosch as "a man with a clear contempt for the U.S. system of justice."

INTENSE CAMPAIGN

Bosch frequently has run afoul of U.S. laws since he went into exile eight years ago.

He successfully opposed an extortion charge two years ago and neutrality violation charges one year ago. After leaving Cuba, he embarked on an intense campaign aimed at toppling the Castro regime.

Bosch formed an activist group now called the Revolutionary Recovery Insurrection Movement and reported frequent bombing raids over Cuba by commandos. In 1964, Bosch said a three-man team dumped 1,200 pounds of explosives on Cuba's north coast.

Bosch was arrested at Naples, Fla., in April 1966, with a carload of bombs. In 1965, he was charged with trying to smuggle bombs from Orlando, Fla., to be used against Castro.

'RISKED LIFE'

Bierman said Ricardo Morales, an exile who infiltrated Cuban Power and sometimes carried a tiny tape recorder strapped to his body, aided the investigation "at the risk of his own life and reputation in the saving of at least 34 lives and property in excess of $1 million."

Bierman, in a statement, said Morales believed Cuban Power was perpetrating a fraud upon the Cuban people, and acts against foreign ships were "nothing more than wanton destruction of the property of our allies, Britain, Spain and Japan, which in no way served to hinder or even inconvenience the government of Fidel Castro."

Morales testified that the Federal Bureau of Investigation furnished him fake dynamite to give to Cuban Power leaders. Morales reportedly was in protective custody after the trial.

Junior Editors Quiz on DOGS

QUESTION: Why does a dog pant?

ANSWER: Both Charlie and his dog Red are warm-blooded — meaning they have a body temperature which must be kept at a reasonable level, neither too hot or too cold. The exertion of climbing to that mountaintop has heated up both the boy and his dog.

Charlie's skin has a very special system to take care of the overheating. About 2 million tiny sweat glands are distributed over his skin, and these discharge extra liquid or sweat. As the sweat evaporates in the air, it cools off the skin and tends to keep Charlie's body heat in balance.

If Red could speak, he would explain that his skin is not covered with such useful little sweat glands. Dogs possess such sweat glands only on their noses and on their feet.

But the dog has a special cooling system of his own for use after strenuous exercise has warmed him up. He opens his mouth, sticks his tongue far out and pants. This is a kind of heavy breathing which draws cool air inside his body, gradually cooling it down.

(You can win $10 cash plus AP's handsome World Yearbook if you question, mailed on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of this newspaper, is selected for a prize.)

Pact OK'd...or Was It?

DETROIT (AP) — The shop-owners members of Detroit Barbers Guild 4 voted to ratify a new contract Friday, 176-107. And then the confusion began. Members of Barber Local 552 agree with the Guild that the price of haircuts and shaves should go up.

But Edmund Winekoff, Guild secretary-treasurer said, "Our constitution says it (the contract) must pass by a two-thirds vote majority and it didn't."

"Our rules require only a simple majority," said State Mediator Edmund Phillips. "As far as we're concerned, it passed."

Said Frank Salome, Local 5 secretary whose members had voted to strike if the package was not accepted, "No comment."

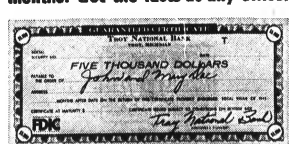

RULING EXPECTED

So now a ruling is expected Monday from the Journeymen Barbers, Hairdressers, Cosmetologists & Proprietors International Union.

The accepted agreement would raise the salary for union members from $85 to $125 weekly and provide fringe benefit improvements. It would also raise the price of haircuts 25 cents and the price of shaves 75 cents.

Folding Shutters Reveal Pass-Through Between Kitchen And Family Room

Family Heirlooms Spice French Decor

By JODY HEADLEE
Home Editor, The Pontiac Press
When Mr. and Mrs. Richard Thatcher moved into their gabled ranch home in West Bloomfield Township, they favored a predominately French decorating theme accented by family heirlooms.
Friends gravitate to the comfortable ash-paneled family room which opens onto the broad patio with its scenic view of Pine Lake. Marked by deep-stained railroad ties, the patio is highlighted by container-grown plants and young evergreens throughout the growing season.

Colors in the family room are emphasized by Roland's "Dutch Canal Scene" above the floral sofa. The pattern — gold, rust, rose, blue and green on brown linen — is repeated in the high wing-back chair. Completing the wall arrangement are original European water colors of seascapes and brass plates.

The mood swings from elegant informality to a more restrained approach in the adjoining living room. Setting the background are white walls, off-white carpeting and patterned lace draperies.
The double-faced white brick fireplace is brass and glass enclosed on the living room side.
"We like its efficiency," said Thatcher, "and while enabling all to view the fire, the glass cuts down on any draft problems."
A single brass candlestick with a red candle picks up the red tones of the gold framed "Don Manuel Osorio De Zuniga" above the fireplace mantel. The antique plate balancing the grouping was painted by Thatcher's great-grandmother.

Before the fireplace are matching armless chairs covered in off-white brocade and accented by a fruitwood base frame. Serving the chairs is a walnut-topped coffee table with an antiqued ivory bottom. The ceramic gold-leaf urn is filled with philodendron to incorporate "living green" into the overall decor.
An amber crucet centers the heirloom rosewood table which belonged to the Thatcher family. Mrs. Thatcher chose a green and off-white fabric for the chair accompanying the table.

Contest to Name Top Ten Homes

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newfeatures Writer

Would your home rate as one of the 10 best dressed homes in America?

If you have good taste, you may be in the running, even if you live in an Alaskan igloo, says Raymond Kassar, who has put his company (Burlington House) behind the idea.

The youthful president of the home furnishing subsidiary of the largest textile mills in the world says they are making plans to make awards to 10 fine homes at the beginning of next year.

Kassar thinks the time is ripe for industry to aid the consumer in planning his home. The philosophy will be "more taste than money," he says.

Every section of the United States will be combed to find homes, he says. The board of ribbed silk faille sofa, a history recorded in its drawer. On the dining side there is a— it was used by Prince Charles.

governors includes society's tapestry draped table. Carmel chandelier from a palace, an animal, very old Spanish chest, and a 17th Century table that has a leather tufted sofa, an animal, very old Spanish chest, and a 17th Century table that has a skin fabric on a bench.

Windows Cut Loss of Heat

Insulating glass, now available in all styles of stock wood windows, adds much to home comfort.

Combined with the natural insulation of wood sash and tight weatherstripping, the double glazing cuts heat loss and prevents condensation.

It's a welcome change, too, from putting up storm sash.

Consider Shelter Plan for Future

There are two kinds of people: ones who live for today only, and others who live for today and tomorrow.

For those in the second group, funds for now and later are or should be a prime consideration when they reach their prime and come within "thinking distance" of retirement.

Practically as important as money for "now and then" is shelter.

After the couple's children have left home, oftentimes there is unused space that can be converted into an apartment. Perhaps an aged parent will come to live. That situation may require home alterations for preserving the couple's and the parent's independence.

TOWNHOUSE

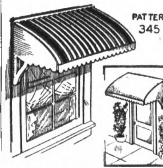

Perhaps a townhouse or a duplex apartment building will suit the family, providing compact living quarters and income from a rental unit.

Planning for the present and future is a key to better living now and in later years. Talk over your ideas with a builder, lumber dealer or architect. Each can be helpful.

Couples planning home modernization can find numerous ideas at their lumber and building materials yards. They can see materials and decide on their needs. Many middle-aged couples have found woodgrained paneling an answer to their remodeling requirements.

Top appearance and wipe-down maintenance are important considerations, too. Expense of decorating is abolished for years — a fine economy.

TURKISH ROOM

A Turkish room is the last work in a bachelor's retreat what with its Casbah-type and haremish decorations.

Slide through the amber, turquoise and emerald beaded entrance and you are more or less enveloped in palatial burnt orange and turquoise.

It is everywhere — on walls, at windows, on the ceiling (combined with ticking) and on sofas (that seem to be everywhere too). The lamps are Turkish inspired.

Kassar's bedroom has walls of beige tweed with brown and black-striped borders. A large black molding about a foot out from the ceiling over the bed forms an interesting canopy.

BROWN-BLACK

The same brown-black idea is carried out in the bathroom with a black cotton shower sheet that appears to be trimmed with a jute braid. Towels are brown.

Another bath is brown velvet with silver-striped brown ceiling and walls.

Corridor walls adjacent to the kitchen and the kitchen walls itself are covered in a cool-looking green and white lattice pattern. At the end of the long narrow kitchen, the space fans out and the lattice pattern is combined with two attractive mural panels.

There is a cozy seating area, a round metal table with a half-inch glass on it and a tall, narrow window with plants everywhere — a delightful, tranquil setting for a breakfast room.

Softer Water for Convenience

In 85 per cent of the United States, water is so hard that softening with a home water conditioning appliance is essential for best results.

Check the Yellow Pages for the name of your water conditioning serviceman or dealer.

Clerestory Window Allows Privacy

The trends in window design and placement are refreshingly practical.

Shallow ceiling-level clerestory windows are frequently utilized on exterior walls facing busy streets or neighboring abodes.

They let in light but preserve privacy. Clerestories in combination with rough sawn wood siding create a facade that is modern but warm and inviting.

On the other hand, large windows are usually grouped around secluded patios or courtyards where they frame attractive — and private — views.

New Fasteners End Picture-Hanging Panic

Hanging a picture or a mirror on a wall are jobs that can be approached with a feeling bordering on panic. There is an awareness that one simple doesn't drive a nail into the wall and then hope for the best.

There are visions of broken plaster, torn wallpaper and cracked concrete. Or perhaps one does try driving a nail and, dimly remembering something about locating the joists, goes about pounding the wall listening for a solid sound.

Ingenious wall fasteners are something that requires more or pull out as easily as adhesive support — curtain rods, shelves, wall lamps — you will want something that will not tear off. Screws are preferred but they will not hold in a soft, crumbly material, such as plaster. A variety of anchors have been devised which will fit firmly in the wall while giving the screw a sturdier base.

Cheapest of these is the plastic anchor. When a wood screw is inserted into one, it spreads in the wall and provides a good grip. Drill a hole the same diameter as the anchor, fit the anchor in place and then thread the screw in.

Fiber plugs consist of a lead lining covered with fiber. Use these in concrete and masonry as well as plaster. The screw bites into the lead and expands the shield slightly in the hole.

Machine screw anchors are for use with machine screws in concrete walls where the load is heavy. The anchor consists of a machine nut and a lead sleeve. When the bolt is inserted and tightened, it draws up the nut, expanding the sleeve. common brand) can also be the anchor is drawn up, causing used inside a hollow wall. As the shield to expand. You must the bolt is tightened the end of use the right size for the wall.

12 Kinds of Cabins Shown in Booklet

Are you ready to join the ties, some large, some small, weekends-away gang with a vacation cabin built on a sunny lakeshore or hidden deep in a wooded area?

Construction plans, at low cost, can be ordered out of the booklet.

For a copy of "Vacation Homes," send 25 cents in coin to Dept. 524-P, Western Wood Products Assn., Yeon Bldg., Portland, Ore. 97204.

Rough Look Gains Favor

Important improvements in wood siding lumber that adorns exterior house walls involve new styling which enhances the natural wood character and more durable finishes.

The trend in styling is toward a rough sawn surface which creates close communion between home and attractive surroundings. Modern patterns of rough sawn Southern Pine show a slight spacing of boards so that thickness is visible for a pleasing three-dimensional effect.

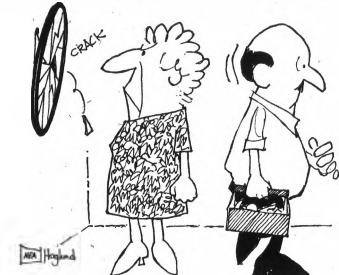

Maintenance can be minimized by the use of durable stain-type finishes combining pigment, water repellents and preservatives. Such finishes accentuate the natural character and are easy and economical to apply.

QUICK

The cloth is soaked in water and the whole affair is applied to the wall. In 20 minutes, it's ready to use. To remove, soak with water and peel off.

A stronger picture hanger is the brass hook with a tin nail running through it at an angle. These come in a variety of sizes and are graded according to the load they can support.

But when you are putting up

With new fasteners, hanging a picture or mirror can be done without wall damage.

Climatize Home All Year Through

Do you know that the same blowers, ductwork, air filters and humidifiers that circulate warm air from your furnace throughout the house automatically can be used to distribute clean, cool air where you want it?

If you didn't the Air Distribution Institute recommends that you see your heating contractor today and learn how easy it is to climatize your house on a year-round basis.

Oak Floor Good for the Attic

Attic conversions are highly popular, because one or two rooms of valuable living space can be added at relatively small cost.

One way to give attic rooms a status look is to install oak floors. They're noted for natural beauty, warmth, foot comfort, durability and ease of upkeep.

And surprisingly, a top grade of strip oak flooring can be installed for less than good-quality floor covering.

Installing is usually done by professional floor layers, but a handy homeowner should be able to lay an oak floor satisfactorily in an attic.

Laying Strip flooring can be laid right over the joists, if it's tongue and grooved and at least 25-32-inch thick and if the joists are no farther apart than 16 inches on centers.

Outdoor-Indoors

Atriums are becoming increasingly popular as a means of bringing a touch of the outdoors into a central living area of the house. Whether open to the elements or enclosed by glass, the atrium can safely be paved with ceramic tile without fear of weather damage.

CONVERTIBLE—The contemporary furniture scene has no corner on duality. Mrs. N. J. Rakas of Glenary Circle, Bloomfield Hills, lists among her most prized possessions a convertible highchair of mahogany and black leather. It was made by her great grandfather. Floor Care Experts Give Suggestions

By DOROTHEA M. BROOKS
UPI News Feature

If you're moving into a new home — or just spring cleaning the old one — you'll want to give a thought to floors. They are basic to an attractive home.

Whether you're concerned with the wide boards of an older home, with newer hardwood or parquet floors or with one of the resilient floorings — the need is the same: to keep them in good condition.

The basic idea of floor care is to provide protection between shoe and floor so that dirt and grit won't scratch or be ground into the surface, so that spilled or tracked-in moisture won't do damage.

Without such protection new floors will age rapidly and old floors will look dreadful.

STEPS TO TAKE

If you're moving, and can get to the floors in your new home before you actually move in, you'll be off to a flying start.

If possible, get the floors waxed before walls and ceilings are painted. Paint splatters and drops are less likely to penetrate the floor itself and are more easily cleaned up.

Before waxing make sure wood floors are sealed. In a new home the builder usually does this, using a penetrating sealer, varnish, shellac or lacquer. If this hasn't been done by the builder, have it done or do it yourself.

In older homes, it might be wise to have the floors scraped and finished by a professional. Unless you have experience at the job, it is a tricky one for do-it-yourselfers.

It's a good idea, too, to look under any installed wall-to-wall carpeting you may have inherited. Check to see if the floors still are in good condition. If not, you might want to move the carpeting temporarily to restore the wood.

Which wax for wood? Use two initial coats of paste wax for maximum protection and appearance. It must be buffed to a hard, dry shine, so an electric polisher is required.

They can be rented or, if you have large expanses of uncovered flooring, you might want to buy one.

Spread the paste onto a disposable buffing pad, place the pad under the polisher and rub a thin film of wax onto the floor.

LET DRY

Let it dry about 30 minutes. Then buff. If an electric polisher isn't available, paste wax can be applied manually, buffing with a cloth while the wax is moist.

Subsequent maintenance is relatively easy. Floors should be done two to four times a year with a liquid cleaning type of buffing wax, with touch-ups as required for heavy traffic lanes. This type of wax is like new home the builder usually does this, using a penetrating sealer, varnish, shellac or lacquer. If this hasn't been done by the builder, have it done or do it yourself.

No washing is required. In fact, use of water on wood generally is to be avoided. Buff when dry if using a machine, otherwise buff while still moist. When wood floors seem dull, re-buff to bring back a shine. Rewaxing is needed when floors no longer respond to buffing, or when dirt sticks.

REMOVE OLD WAX

Removal of old wax is not necessary with buffing-type waxes, as the naphtha dissolves the old wax and loosens dirt as the new coat is applied.

For resilient flooring — asphalt, vinyl, asbestos, rubber and linoleum in tile or sheet form — scrub and rinse before waxing, even though the floors may look clean.

This is necessary, to remove any dirt from construction and installation, heel marks and, in some cases, a soft, temporary finish applied at the factory.

Except for asphalt tile, polishing waxes formulated for wood can be used on resilient flooring. But water-emulsion self-polishing waxes are recommended for ease of application and hard, bright gloss.

SELF-SHINING

A recent development in some self-shining polishes is resistance to detergent solutions. Washing the floor does not remove the wax or dull the shine and eliminates the need for frequent rewaxing.

Shelving System Has Style Choice

A new system for handsome shelf arrangements is available at lumber and building materials dealers.

It includes furniture-crafted solid wood pilasters and brackets, plus a choice of traditional or contemporary carved wood shelves, all in matching stain walnut finish.

The shelves may be used with or without pilasters to create interesting, attractive and functional wall displays in a living room, den or bedroom; a store window or showroom; in various types of business; and in industrial offices, salesrooms, schools and institutions.

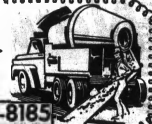

Flexibility in location of shelves is a feature, as the numerous slots give a wide latitude for the brackets. The ensemble is compatible with traditional, Mediterranean or contemporary styling.

trance to garage may be placed at side or rear if size of lot permits extra maneuvering space.

Quality Highlights Modest Ranch Plan

There is individuality in this ranch house even though it has a habitable area of only 1,250 square feet.

Created to handle the living requirements of a medium-sized family that needs three bedrooms yet cannot afford a large house, it nevertheless avoids the mundane quality that often is typical of such homes.

Architect Herbert C. Struppman has accomplished this by a dramatic arrangement of the living room and dining room utilizing an attractive three-way fireplace as a divider and tying in both rooms with a rear patio.

A stone planter gives colorful interest to the front entrance.

Just inside the door is a vestibule with a clothes closet, with an immediate view of the living room-dining room area.

DIVIDER

A low decorative divider on the dining room side does not interfere with the open plan but enhances it.

To the right is the living room, that runs from the front of the house to the rear, with a huge window at the front and a wall of sliding glass doors at the rear.

One long unbroken wall helps to orientate furniture groupings; it faces an open passage to the dining room, with the only divider a modern, three-way stone fireplace which may be enjoyed at any point in either room.

The entire effect is one of a free-flowing area, including all the elements which go to make up a successful entertaining unit for year-round use. With the sliding glass doors leading to the patio from either the living room or dining room, an even greater impression of space is created.

PATIO BARBECUE
At the back of the fireplace is a patio barbecue for outdoor dining. It's an unusually luxurious arrangement in a house of this size.

Next to the dining room and also at the rear of the house—but with direct access from the front door—is the kitchen. It has a compact work area, a large window and an outside door, the latter a convenience if food cooked in the kitchen is to be eaten on the patio.

Ranged along the hallway are the stairs to the basement, a linen closet, a bathroom with a

Z-67 STATISTICS

Design Z-67 has a living room, dining room, kitchen, three bedrooms, a bathroom and vestibule, with a total habitable area of 1,250 square feet. Over-all dimensions are 60'4" by 30', which include a one-car garage. The architect's plans provide also for a two-car garage, so that a choice can be made. A hall stairway leads to a basement.

tub and vanity sink, and the three bedrooms.

Each bedroom has cross ventilation and a closet.

While the floor plan shows a one-car garage, the architect has provided plans for this size or a garage for two cars. Each plan includes a side window and a rear door.

EXTERIOR

The exterior is simple but effective, with the living room window and entranceway slightly recessed between the bedroom wing and the garage.

Vertical wood siding and shakes are combined with some handsome stone work.

Tiles Create a Focal Point

Some women consider furniture arrangement fun; for others it is a traumatic experience. Either way, the procedure is the same when arranging a living room: first decide on the major conversation grouping. Decorators recommend it be based around some focal point, such as a bay window or the fireplace.

You don't have such a focal point? Okay, make one. The Better Floors Council suggests that you can easily do this by installing a vinyl asbestos tile floor in color blocks, or by outlining conversation areas with different colored tile or contrasting feature strips.

For example, mark out an area large enough to hold your sofa and as many chairs as you wish, plus lamps and tables within reach of every seated person. This area should be well away from traffic patterns. You could then tile it in a neutral color and cover the rest of the floor with a tile that picks up your color scheme or its accent colors.

The simplest way to plan furniture arrangements is with graph paper, colored pencils and cutouts of the furniture made to scale. Be sure to mark all doors and windows on your outline.

HINT
One other hint from the Council: If your room is small and affords only one conversation area, a light-colored vinyl asbestos tile will make it appear larger.

Clean-Up Treat

A ceramic tile floor in the dining room will not be damaged by the mealtime spillage of the most ebullient and youthful diners, and it will make clean-up afterwards easy.

Insulation Board Solves Problem of Old Ceiling

Insulation board solves at low cost and permanently, something found in almost every home — the cracked ceiling. The Insulation Board Institute, points out that the only other answer is a completely new ceiling erected at much greater cost and requiring a professional application.

Insulation board in 12 x 12 inch tile or in larger 2 x 2 or 2 x 4 feet lay-in panels for suspended ceilings, cover the old ceilings with minimum effort and with none of the mess created by putting up a brand new ceiling.

Insulation board ceiling materials are now offered in colors, patterns and with interesting embossed effects. Homeowners now are also offered ceiling products with fully washable and scrubbable finishes.

The newest ceiling idea offered is the suspended ceiling which lowers old-fashioned ceilings and completely conceals existing pipes, ducts and other mechanical equipment. The insulation board lay-in panels merely drop into a suspended metal grid attached to the old ceiling. Panels may be removed for easy cleaning.

Bright Fabrics Reveal Look of New Upholstery

The "image-makers" who cause spilled liquids such as coffee or soft drinks to bead up on furniture and furnishings, they hope will appeal to Mrs. Public are hard at work preparing bright new lures.

The best clue to what will be new lies in the fabrics being offered for upholstery and other home furnishings uses.

Printed fabrics vary in scale, from medium to startlingly large figured patterns. The home decorator who wants the effect of small-scale patterns will do well to think in terms of woven, rather than printed patterns.

Printed fabrics are more plentiful and more important in that they are bolder in coloration, with greater color contrasts.

PRINTS

We are in a great period of print design and, coincidentally, modern chemistry makes them practical. Du Pont, makers of "Zepel" stain repeller, which a thousand-year-old Chinese vase, a priceless Oriental rug, a rare Indian bedspread, they're reprinted from the great inventiveness of the original designs and the subtlety with which Warren Berry, the designer, has colored them for today's homes.

Bruschung & Pils brings the firm's particular continental flair forth in two patterns in particular, an airy Dufy-like floral in pastels outlined in bolder colors, all lightened with much use of white, and a silhouette print light-struck with white so brilliantly that it brings to mind North Africa's white buildings and Sahara sun.

Both fit well in the trend of using a number of patterns together in a room, for the effect is like light through the use of white.

The boldest direction is taken in a group of modern designs by Covington. One might be a central African tribal design, combining huge geometric motifs and simplified floral outlines in a combination of black, brown and silver gray. Another trend print in marine blue and white is an expanded art nouveau pattern of swirls, loops and circles. Use lavishly for drapes and covering for sofas and chairs, such huge patterns have a warming, protection effect.

Terence Conran, an energetic and influential furniture designer from England, is responsible for a neatly tailored group of prints for Bloomcraft.

Most are definitely of the English contemporary school and stand apart from the mainstream of design here, being small geometrics, with fine detailing that lend a feeling of texture. The boldest is a collage of print elements and suggests design sources in the Orient.

The Conran group have the United States touch in that they, too, are protected from accidental staining with "Zepel" stain repeller.

One nostalgic trend is evident in the new prints, a group of florals in rich, dark colors reminiscent of 19th century children's story illustrations. Seneca's "Andora," with oak leaves, chrysanthemum blossoms, berries, etc., in pumpkin and claret on a "wine-dark" background, is exemplary.

WOVENS

Mrs. Public who has in mind the use of moderate and small patterns in her new decor will find herself considering wovens, rather than printed cloths.

In wovens we concern ourselves primarily with upholstery materials as contrasted with the print cloths, most of which are equally suitable for draperies as well as upholstery or slip-cover use.

Freshness is often a matter of using the unexpected, and this is particularly true for a group of typical wool weave patterns. Some of the handsomest are not in wool at all, but in nylon, woven of coarse, tweed-like yarns. These are by Granville, available through regional decorative fabric firms.

They are cleverly coordinated patterns, bold houndsfoot checks in, say, brown on white with a line of yellow — which can be used on a club chair, and a bold striped pattern of the same colors as window treatment.

APPEAL

The bright appeal of a period chair that one would expect to be covered in a glossy brocade, elated instead in a fabric with the rugged warmth of a traditional Scots fabric, is one of the great contributions of today's thinking in the decorative arts.

Hayward-Schuster has a suitable, handsome group of such plaids and checks, elated instead in a fabric with the rugged warmth of a traditional Scots fabric, is one of the great contributions of today's thinking in the decorative arts.

The interest in warm rooms that has pushed exposed frame furniture to the fore (Spanish, French and Italian provincial), has brought about a general trend of some unusual traditional fabrics.

The most surprising revival is crushed velvet, the thick, lush fabric that is lent a permanent pattern of crystalline highlights through a compression process. These are elaborate, neo-Renaissance cut velvets, also newly offered, require the master touch in application, and when it's achieved these fabrics above all require the commonsense protection of a modern stain repellent finish.

Paul Barrow, Boston, is an important source for these velvets, and the firm offers them with the "Zepel" stain repeller protection.

CREATIVITY

The superb creativity of Boris Kroll works equally freshly in traditional or modern directions. The decorator working with a requirement for practicality can be particularly grateful for the firm's attention to tweed-like upholstery fabrics in long-wearing nylon. The pattern choice varies from the simple, plain weave to a four-inch star-and-octagon design reminiscent of a quilt pattern.

Among the traditionals, an historic woven pattern of peony blossoms and leaves is exceptionally handsome and a startling technical achievement. As well, for floral shapes are set on a shaded background reminiscent of passing clouds.

The enchantment of a magnificent classic fabric strikes one with new force when it is seen in delicate coloration, as with Krupnick's elegant brocade in a softened Ming yellow.

It is said that the black-haired beauty with a sense of drama instinctively sets herself in a yellow room since it is most flattering to her, and one can see why with a fabric such as this. The fabric has the fragile bloom that is a hallmark of brocades, but, again, we live in the age when they have a practicality never before known because of stain repellent finishes.

STRIPED

Lushness of the most feminine, Madame Pompadour sort, also distinguishes a group of brocade striped fabrics coordinated with striped fabrics. These are by Granville, available through regional decorative fabric firms.

The brocade in its more formal interpretation is the particular pride of B. Berger Co. and there is a serenity about them that has timeless appeal. One beauty has an over-all pattern of interlocking, six-inch diamonds framing ribboned garland figures in just two colors, such as gold on ecru.

Striborn & Romann revive the moire pattern in a fine ribbed fabric with unusual wearability, since it is a blend of 80 per cent "Dacron" polyester, 20 per cent cotton, and has the "Zepel" stain repeller protection. This blend appears in a broad group of quiet patterns such as a stripe alternating quarter-inch satin and ribbed weaves.

Small rooms need texture, a need Scalander meets handsomely with a linen-textured cloth, "Contempo-lin," available in both a dimensionally stable wall-covering form, and as a fabric with a suitable left for draperies, both treated for stain-repellency.

GOOD DESIGN

Isabel Scott, a firm with an eye for originality in its home furnishings fabrics, is currently much taken with the need for good design in business and municipal buildings.

For this they are originating subtly colored tweed fabrics for such architectural landmarks as the new Boston City Hall and business buildings throughout the country, which will make it pleasant during business hours, and undoubtedly affect their thinking to the benefit of

WHAT IS KLINGELHUT FACE BRICK SIDING?

It is the Multi-Purpose Brick Siding that does so many jobs — BETTER

Klingelhut brick is genuine, individually made, kiln-dried brick of standard dimensions except that it is 1/2 inch thick. It is bonded to 1/2 inch insulating boards by an exclusive process developed by Klingelhut. This produces an insulating combination equal to 4 inches of hollow insulation — or 4 feet of solid brick.

- Gives year-round insulation
- Reduces fuel costs
- Beautifies your home, increases its value
- Resists fire
- Ends repair and maintenance bills — no painting
- Economical to install

Support Is Urged for Community Reins on Ghetto Health Plan

DETROIT (AP)—The American Public Health Service urged its executive board Friday to consider supporting the concept that local communities be given complete control in formulation and administration of health plans aimed at them.

This action came at the urging of Roy Innis, national director of the Congress on Racial Equality (CORE) and moderator for a panel on "The Consumer and Health Services," at the association's final session in a week long meeting.

Innis insisted specifically, as did some other members of the all-Negro panel, that Negro communities within cities control whatever health services are provided in so-called ghetto areas.

He said this applied particularly to such areas as New York City's Harlem and Los Angeles Watts.

Innis later told a news conference he favors "a completely autonomous nation" for Negroes within the United States and immediate Negro control of institutions and real estate in the areas in which they predominate.

Doris Brown of Cincinnati, Thius Greenwood of Detroit, Earl Mells of Cleveland and Lela Mosley of Chicago, the panel members, criticized availability and quality of health services which they said are now available to Negroes and the poor generally.

Mells said that some times it takes two days for a city doctor to answer a call from the ghetto area, and Mrs. Brown invited people "to talk through the slums" to observe health conditions there.

Mrs. Brown also insisted that the poor normally get "the runaround from the clerk, the nurse and the doctor" at clinics and hospitals.

BETTER TRAINING

Dr. Henry F. Howe, director of the department of occupational health for the American Medical Association (AMA), responded that possibly the medical profession should institute better training for receptionists and other hospital personnel "in tolerance" and the recognition of emergencies. Speakers in the audience accused "moonlighting physicians of coming to the ghetto at their convenience," rather than that of the patient, and the Office of Economic Opportunity of letting some institutions "siphon off 99 per cent" of the funds they were given to aid the underprivileged in health and other areas.

Dr. Ellis D. Sox, San Francisco director of public health and a respondent to the panel, said health authorities "must make our services acceptable" by listening to communities and realizing consumers are human beings.

Mrs. Brown reported Cincinnati now has a community oriented West End Clinic run by volunteers. She said other ghetto areas might profit by using it as an example of what could be done.

New materials and new systems of construction may in the future be used to build under-water buildings adjacent to the shores of large cities.

Clean-Water Funds Ready Next Spring

LANSING (AP)—Local units of government can expect to receive their first share of funds for water pollution control from the $335-million state bond issue next spring.

Loring Oeming, executive secretary of the State Water Resources Commission, said the exact timing will depend on such factors as when the bonds are sold, whether federal and local matching funds are available and legislative action.

The bond proposal was approved by the voters at the Nov. 5 election.

The sale of the bonds will be handled by the treasury department. Treasury officials will try to time the sales at a time when the lowest possible interest rates can be secured.

TO LOCAL UNITS

Oeming emphasized that every dollar of the $335 million will be disbursed to the local units of the government. None of the money will be spent at the state level or will go to pay administrative or operating costs.

More than 200 Michigan communities have applied for financial aid to help control local pollution problems.

It has been estimated the bond money will help pay for 210 new sewage treatment facilities, improvements to 120 existing plants and sewers for about 3.5 million people not now served by them.

Glenn Greg, assistant director of the State Department of Recreation, said it probably will be some time after next July 1 before the first money from the $100 million recreation bond issue is spent.

The Legislature must approve every project financed from the bond issue.

Ford to Convert Canadian Plant

DETROIT (AP)—Ford Motor Co. announced plans Friday for a multimillion-dollar conversion of its parts-making factory in neighboring Windsor, Ont., into a high-volume engine production plant.

Manufacture of transmissions, axles and other chassis parts will be phased out at Windsor by next April, with these operations absorbed primarily by plants in Livonia and Sterling Heights or contracted to outside sources, Ford said.

Conversion of the Windsor plant will begin next May and it is scheduled to be ready for production by the summer of 1970, in time to supply the 1971 model run.

A 27,000-square-foot office addition also is scheduled to be completed in Windsor by that time.

1,000 LAID OFF

Combined with a present Windsor engine plant, the new facility will be able to turn out 900,000 engines a year, Ford said.

Employment in the converted plant will be increased by 200, raising the Windsor total to more than 5,000, the company said, but during construction and conversion about 1,000 will be laid off.

With company-paid supplemental benefits and unemployment compensation, Ford said those laid off will collect about 95 per cent of their take-home pay, as provided under new contracts with the United Auto Workers Union.

Most salaried personnel from the transmission and chassis plant will be transferred to other jobs in Ford of Canada Ltd., the company said.

The converted plant will bring to six Ford's engine-making plants. Others are in Dearborn and Lima, Ohio, and two in Cleveland, Ohio.

On the other hand, had West kept his spade guard, Tim would have taken the club finesse and made three club tricks.

The defense opened with three rounds of hearts. Tim ruffed the third heart high and noted that West discarded the eight of spades.

Tim might have played this for a false signal but he decided that West was an honest, straightforward player and would be telling the truth.

Then Tim proceeded to make his contract. It wasn't really too difficult if Tim was willing to risk a set of several tricks.

Actually, he unguarded the king of spades, whereupon Tim cashed three spade tricks and

Of course, if East had held the club king there would have been no squeeze and no story, and if West had restrained his impulse to signal, the chances are that Tim would have tried the spade finesse and gone down one.

Much to Be Thankful For in '68, Says Johnson

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Text of President Johnson's 1968 Thanksgiving proclamation: The White House Thanksgiving Day 1968 By the President of the United States of America: A proclamation Americans, looking back on the tumultuous events of 1968, may be more inclined to ask God's mercy and guidance than to offer Him thanks for His blessings.

There are many events in this year that deserve our remembrance, and give us a cause for thanking:

- The endurance and stability of our democracy, as we prepare once more for an orderly transition of authority;
- The renewed determination, on the part of millions of Americans, to bridge our divisions;

- The beginning of talks with our adversaries, that will, we pray, lead to peace in Vietnam;
- The increasing prosperity of our people, including those who were denied any share in America's blessings in the past;
- The achievement of new breakthroughs in medical science, and new victories over disease.

In this season, let us offer more than words of thanksgiving to God. Let us resolve to offer Him the best, that is within us—tolerance, respect for life, faith in the destiny of all men to live in peace.

Now, therefore, I, Lyndon B. Johnson, President of the United States of America, in consonance with section 6103 of Title 5 of the United States code designating the fourth Thursday of November in each year as Thanksgiving Day, do hereby proclaim Thursday, Nov. 28, 1968, as a day of national thanksgiving.

2 Die in Crashes

DETROIT (AP) — Rain-washed streets took their toll in lives Friday as two persons died in auto accidents in Detroit. Billie W. Williams, 26, of Dearborn was killed when his car ran up an embankment and struck a utility pole on the Ford Freeway near downtown Detroit. Conway Adams, 43, of nearby Melvindale died when a car in which he was riding ran off a Detroit street and struck a tree.

A Toy in the Spirit of Christmas Present for N. J.

NEWARK, N.J. (UPI) — A battery driven police jeep, advertised as an antiriot weapon, is on sale in stores in New Jersey as children's Christmas presents.

Newark was hit by some of the worst racial violence in the nation's history in July, 1967. Priced at about $4 and made in Japan, the jeep comes with the following description of its antiriot capabilities:

- Switch on. Jeep rushes to the scene of riot. Jeep goes in all directions by mystery action.
- Jeep stops periodically to turn hood over automatically and machine gun appears with realistic shooting noise.
- After putting down the riot, jeep goes back to the headquarters.

Storage Location Is Important

What makes storage good? It's not so much a matter of quantity as of location and design. To function well, storage must be built at point of use.

For example, a cupboard for bath towels is helpful only when built into the bathroom, and it's never sensible to use the linen closet for tablecloths. They belong in the dining room.

Kitchen storage should be elementary — yet in how many kitchens are the cereal bowls stacked on top of dinner plates because cupboard shelving is not adjustable? Clearly, storage is more than a cupboard here and a closet there. In the dining room, full-size china closets are needed, with pull-out trays included for flat silver and folded linens.

Additionally, space should be allowed for table pads and extra leaves.

Ideally, the storage wall should adjoin the kitchen with cupboards opening both ways to facilitate loading and unloading. To prevent the living room from becoming an unused parlor, allow a wall or corner for built-ins to include space for music equipment, games, stationery supplies and books.

SPECIAL DRAWER

A drawer or two earmarked for extra ashtrays, paper napkins and the like helps this room function when entertaining.

The family room might boast space for everything from the laundry to party supplies, depending on an individual family's needs.

If there are children accessible toy cupboards should be provided as well as a closet for outdoor wraps.

Skimpy bedroom space can be increased by substituting built-in behind a wall paneled with tongue-and-groove boards. Much in that way, wasted space is put to work and specific storage needs are accommodated.

For instance, a corner could yield additional hanging space, and extra-deep drawers could be built under a window to serve as a blanket and sweater chest.

BOARD WALL CONCEALS

The outward appearance of storage built-ins is a matter of personal taste. While some will want them tailored like furniture, others may prefer to conceal them entirely.

A good way is to hide storage

Central Heating Simplifies Cooling

If you have central heating in your home you can easily enjoy the most popular form of indoor summer comfort today.

For the centralized air cooling system uses the same ductwork that warms your home in the winter.

This form of cool air distribution eliminates shutting off rooms, uncomfortable areas, noise and other common summer annoyances.

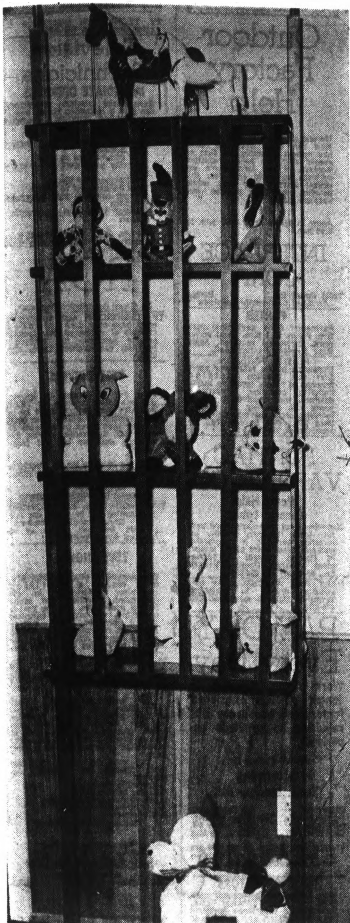

You simply install the cooling unit next to your furnace and hook it up to the ductwork for evenly cooled and filtered air throughout the house.

Keep Record Child's Size

Chart your children's growth by selecting a door jamb—perhaps between the dining room and kitchen or in the family room—and marking off the feet and inches.

Decorate this improvised measuring stick with gaily painted flowers, animals or abstract designs and watch your children stand in line to measure up!

If you use enamel paints—which come in a wide range of colors—fingermarks can be whisked away with a damp cloth.

ANIMAL HOUSE—Perfect for housing a child's toy animal collection are pole bookshelves. To give it a more zoo-like effect, Mrs. Eugene McCurdy of Montebello Drive, Waterford Township, affixed strips of red ribbon with sticky tape to the top and bottom shelves. "When our son David is older," said Mrs. McCurdy, "we'll turn it back into a book case again."

Investors Prepare for the Future

While U.S. consumers are painfully aware that the purchasing power of the dollar has shrunk, many can find consolation in the fact that the market value of their personal property has increased proportionately.

This applies to land, homes, antique furniture, securities and other possessions whose current worth may be far more than the original cost to the owner.

Investment-wise Americans, in general, are knowledgeable in the ways of inflation and attach more importance to property acquisition than to the amassing of cash.

This accounts for the presence of a new breed of investors in the ranks of home buyers.

TEMPORARY

In the old days, most families regarded a home as a lifetime possession. Not so anymore. With job transfers and subsequent migrations the rule rather than the exception for a large segment of the population, many homes are purchased with full understanding that occupancy will last only a few years at most.

Other families are impelled to move to larger homes or to more attractive surroundings.

Families who prefer to buy rather than rent for a comparatively brief occupancy, do so because they know that housing dollars—unlike rental dollars—build equity and thus constitute an effective hedge against inflation.

Rental dollars, once paid, are gone with no return other than the temporary shelter. In contrast, housing dollars can bring handsome dividends.

PRICES SOAR

While real estate costs have generally soared, there are still lots to be found in developing areas at relatively low prices. Investment-conscious home buyers assiduously search for such land in the knowledge that its true value is likely to soar in the years ahead.

Even though the lot may be remote from the job or city, the logistical problem has been minimized by the construction of interstates, freeways and the like.

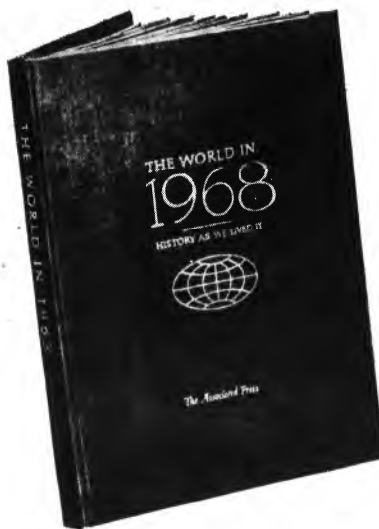

According to the Southern Pine Association, the investor-buyer gives just as careful attention to the design and construction of a home he will occupy for just a few years as he would to a lifetime investment.

The reason is simple: — the price he will eventually be able to command at resale depends on his having the kind of house whose value is sure to increase with the passage of time.

IMPORTANT

Of special importance is the quality of the framing lumber which holds the home together. The investor-buyer never cuts corners or otherwise slims in this vital respect.

The safety of a home in violent winds and its resistance to normal wear depends largely on framing lumber. It's important to use a lumber species of high natural strength and nail-holding ability.

A Christmas Gift Forever and Ever

There is one lasting gift money CAN buy — and not very much money at that.

It's a magnificent book of living history, THE WORLD IN 1968, now being wrapped up for Pontiac Press readers by The Associated Press, world's largest news gathering organization.

With its store of dramatic news pictures in color and black and white, with the talents of its unsurpassed writing staff, and with the help of this and other member newspapers, AP is producing the fifth of its series of big (296 page, 9½ by 12½-inch) volumes telling about history as it was lived — and as if you were right on the spot.

Whether you want to give it as a memento of these tempestuous times, or as a practical tool for some student in the family or as a lay-away present for a child born this year, or simply as a basic book for your own or another's library, THE WORLD IN 1968 cannot be surpassed as a Christmas present.

Since it will cover all of the year 1968, the book will not actually be published until early in 1969. Meantime you should reserve as many copies as you need. And if you want a gift certificate sent, indicate that on the coupon.

Tips Solve the Problem of Painting

Most do-it-yourself painters find that, although the rest of the job is a snap, painting windows and trim presents a slight problem. These tips should help alleviate any difficulties in your next painting task.

There is a certain system you should follow when painting windows so that you won't waste time waiting for various areas to dry and so you'll be sure to cover every spot. Paint the mullions first and then the horizontals of the sash. Paint the verticals of the sash next, followed by the verticals of the frame. Your last step is painting the horizontal frame and sill.

It's a good idea to remove the hardware from your doors and windows before you begin to paint. This will make your painting job easier and will give you a chance to clean and polish the metal until it looks like new.

Masking tape is very helpful in keeping stray splatters away from the glass when painting window frames. Apply the tape along the window directly adjacent to the glass. Then brush the paint onto the frame, being careful not to use too thick a coat. Once the paint has dried, carefully cut the paint film between the tape and frame with a razor blade, then strip off the tape.

Rain Shield

To make a rain bonnet for a fence, cut post tops at a 45-degree angle front to back. Then use a cedar 2x8 for the cap board. It will shed rain and protect the end grain of posts.

Pontiac Central, Northern Deadlock 0-0 in 'Mud Bowl'

First Standoff in Grid Series for City Rivals

By FLETCHER SPEARS

The latest edition of the Pontiac Mud Bowl is in the record book and this one left all concerned a little less than satisfied.

Playing before a small turnout, Pontiac Central and Pontiac Northern brought down the curtain on the 1968 football season last night by slipping and sliding in the mud to a 0-0 standoff.

FIRST DEADLOCK

It was the first deadlock in the city series which is now nine games old. Central holds the edge in this rivalry at 7-1-1.

This one was almost an opposite of the game the two played last year. In that one, Northern dominated play in all categories but scoring and lost. Last night, Central held a wide edge in statistics, but Northern had the best opportunities to score.

DID AS EXPECTED

"We'll run up the middle," said coach Paul Dellerba before the game and the Chiefs did just that.

They managed 130 yards on the ground and another nine through the air yet the closest they came to scoring was a trip to the PNH 23-yard line.

With a fine defense and a good punting game, Northern kept the Chiefs bottled up most of the evening, so much of the ground PCH was gaining came as they tried to escape their own territory.

On the other hand, Northern, with some shaky help from PCH, came close to scoring on a couple of occasions.

The best PNH opportunity came in the second period when the snap from center sailed over the head of PCH punter Dennis Brown and Northern recovered at the PCH 17.

CHIEFS HOLD

Three plays later a pass interference call gave the Huskies a first down on the Central 10 with 41 seconds left, but the Chiefs dropped quarterback Mike Pietryga for an 11-yard loss on third down and stopped Leon Conley at the seven as the gun sounded ending the first half.

Earlier in the second quarter, Northern had the ball at the Chiefs 40 after a fumble but couldn't move. In the third the Huskies moved to the PCH 31, and in the fourth they reached the 34 and 19.

The Chiefs had a couple of chances. They moved to the PNH 23 in the third but Conley intercepted one of Rolie Garcia's passes to end that threat, and their other threat — with time running out — ended when Barry Webb picked off a Garcia toss at the PNH three-yard line.

Making the Chiefs' ground game go was fullback Jerry Hingsperger, who carried the ball 20 times for 74 yards, just one yard short of the entire PNH offense.

'FINE JOB'

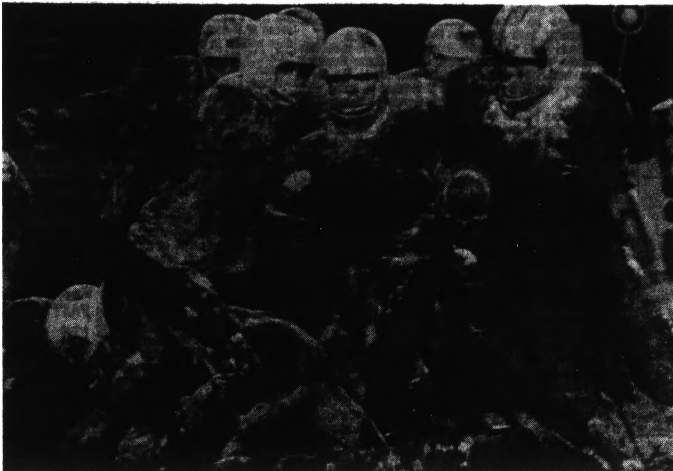

"He did a fine job," offered PNH coach Dave Schmidt. "Several times our kids hit him behind the line of scrimmage but he'd carry them along."

Conley was a workhorse on both offense and defense for the Huskies. He picked up half of the PNH yardage total, and teamed with tackles Greg Adsit and Dave Guy in halting the PCH attack. "That was probably his best game," said Schmidt of Guy.

The PCH defense was equally good. Myron Borders, Bob Hunt, John Ray, Eric Walker and Greg Osler spearheaded the line play that kept the Huskies away from the Chiefs goal line.

Walker came up with a key tackle late in the fourth on a fourth-and-three situation for PNH at the Chiefs' 19. Walker, a 275-pounder, grabbed Conley as he tried the right side and stopped him for a yard gain. Central then took over and moved from their own 18 to the PNH 24 before Webb's interception brought the drive to a halt. Garcia carried the ball three times in the drive for 32 yards.

TOP GUN — Fullback Jerry Hingsperger (with ball) turned out to be the most potent weapon for Pontiac Central in the team's 0-0 standoff against Pontiac Northern in the mud at Wisner Stadium last night. Hingsperger sets sail around the left side here for four yards in the second half. For the evening, he carried the ball 20 times for 74 yards.

"We Had Breaks," Says PNH Coach

"The field was the equalizer," offered assistant Pontiac Central coach Art VanRyzin, a comment that pretty much summed up last night's 0-0 standoff between PCH and Pontiac Northern at Wisner Stadium.

"We had the breaks and we had the field position," said PNH coach Dave Schmidt. "No doubt about it," he repeated. "We and the played a good defensive game. We both played well on defense."

BOTH PLAYED WELL

"We both played pretty much the same," said PCH coach Paul Dellerba, who likewise credited both teams with sharp defensive performances.

An off-field decision helped to contribute to the treacherous footing on-field as bands from both schools marched in the mud despite the objections of PCH athletic director Ed Graybiel. "The principals gave them permission to march," said Graybiel.

"We've played on so many muddy fields lately it's a wonder we didn't have a tie a lot sooner," said Schmidt, who closed the season the way he started — with a tie. The Huskies opened in a 13-13 contest against North Farmington.

Dellerba and the Chiefs were in a hole much of the evening but the defense, led by 275-pound Eric Walker and 325-pound John Ray, rose to the occasion each time to stop PNH.

"We're real happy with the kids," said Dellerba. "They gave us 100 per cent all season," he added. The Chiefs closed with a 5-3 record, gaining the 5-3 edge in Saginaw Valley Conference play.

BREAKS FOR PNH

The breaks Schmidt referred to were three fumble recoveries, two pass interceptions and possession of the ball on the Central 17 after the Chiefs had messed up a punting situation in the second quarter.

Despite the breaks, the Huskies couldn't move the ball consistently, a fact Schmidt attributed to the mud and to Ray and Walker. "Our offensive line was just too small to move those big guys," said Schmidt.

Central had the statistical edge but the Chiefs had the worst of the field position. "They controlled the ball most of the third quarter and it looked like we were in trouble until (Leon) Conley intercepted that pass," said Schmidt.

Conley spearheaded the PNH defense. "He does a good job every game," said Schmidt of Conley. "There are very few tackles that he's not in on."

NY Ring Verdict Leads to Melee at New Garden

NEW YORK (AP) — The new Madison Square Garden got its baptism of whiskey and wine bottles and stray chairs Friday night in a wild demonstration after the main event of a fight show.

When Ismael Laguna of Panama, former lightweight champion, was given a majority decision over Roman Blanco of Venezuela by way of Puerto Rico, the trouble started.

Ringside spectators scattered for the exits and reporters and the referee crawled under the ring while pieces of glass bounced off chairs and showered the fugitives.

Several seats were tripped with knives. One small fire was reported to have started. The hockey press box was torn up and a small refrigerator was torn from its moorings.

It was a scene reminiscent of riots in the old Garden in recent years. Trouble started after the Flash Elorde-Frank Narvaez match March 10, 1967 and the Dick Tiger-Jose Torres bout, May 16, 1967.

Statistics Tell Tale of Lions' Offense

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

Statistics don't always tell the true story of winning or losing, but they do indicate where the problems of a football team may lie.

The biggest problem for the Detroit Lions in the past four games has been getting an offense going and some of the reasons are pretty obvious — the passing has faltered, the running has been hampered and the field goal kicking has been the poorest in the NFL.

Tomorrow, when the Lions meet the Minnesota Vikings, they will not only be up against one of the best defensive units in the league but with an offense which has two of the better runners in Bill Brown and former Michigan Stater Clinton Jones, and a running QB in Joe Kapp.

Yet the best runner on the team, Dave Osborn has been out for 13 weeks after leg surgery and he is expected to appear on the field in uniform for the first time.

NO MORE BOMBS

The Lions failure on offense is indicated in the passing which has been without the potent bomb since the slide started.

This is also indicated by the pass receiving of speedy Earl McCullough who has pass receptions of 80 yards, 90 yards, 52 yards and 49 yards in the first four games and only a 35 yarder as his longest since.

Before Mel Farr's injury he was leading the NFL in average yards per rush, with 5.5. McCullough had an average of 26.5 on pass receptions and Munson was throwing at a 7.7 average per pass.

Of course hampered by the injury, Farr is down to 4.7 per try, McCullough down to 19.7 per average pass catch and Munson's average has dropped down to 5.8 yards per pass.

Against the Colts Sunday, when the Lions lost 27-10, Munson's average per pass was 5.5 while Earl Morrall's average was 11.33 per try. Munson completed 25 passes for 225 yards, Morrall hit only 10 for 238 yards.

TOUGH DEFENSE

Against the Vikings, Munson may have more troubles because the Minnesota team tops the league in having reached the quarterback 34 times, including five times against Bart Starr of the Packers last Sunday.

Most effective offense for the Lions has been the kickoff returns of Len Barney, who has a 94 and 98 yarder to his credit this year.

Game time Sunday is 4:00 p.m., this is due to the shift of the game which was supposed to be played here Oct. 6 but played in Minnesota instead because of the World Series.

A victory for Minnesota would put the Vikings in strong position to win the Central Division crown. A loss for the Lions would practically end their chances of winning any divisional titles.

Pistons Sag in West

SAN FRANCISCO — The way with reserves playing the entire final period.

Detroit was paced by Happy Hairston's 19 points while NBA scoring leader Dave Bing played with a heavily taped left wrist, was held to four points in the first half and finished with 17.

An 18-3 spree midway through the first half gave the Warriors a 34-12 lead and they were never headed. Forward Rudy LaRusso scored six of those points and finished with 16 for the half, same as teammate Jeff Mullins.

Mullins totaled 22 points for the game, earning scoring honors. Rookie Fritz Williams had a career high 28 points and also picked up 22 assists.

Detroit finishes up its West Coast road trip tonight with a match at Seattle. They'll be at home Tuesday to take on Cincinnati.

Julius Boros Helps U.S. to Tie Midway in Event

RIME, Italy (AP) — Julius Boros, the relaxed 46-year-old veteran from Fort Lauderdale, Fla., fired a two-under-par 70 steady drive.

The comeback by the Americans was sparked by Boros' eagle 3 on the 50-yard fifth hole. He slammed the ball out of a ditch to the green and then holed a 15-hole putt.

"I'm glad I felt a lot better on the greens," said Boros, who had trouble putting while shooting a 34 on the opening round.

Boros had a 34 on the front nine and a 36 coming home. Trevino was out in 35 and had a 36 over the final nine holes of the day's round. The Americans are 4-1 favorites to win the 42-nation tournament which United States teams have won nine times since it was inaugurated in 1953.

The two leading teams were five strokes ahead of the field. Ireland and England are deadlocked for third at an even-par 288. New Zealand is fifth at 289.

Larry Sherry Signs With KC Farm Club

KANSAS CITY — Larry Sherry, a righthanded pitcher who has seen service with three major league baseball clubs, was signed today to a contract with the Omaha farm club of the Kansas City Royals.

Sherry played with the Seattle and Hawaii clubs in the Pacific Coast League last year. His major league pitching was with the Los Angeles Dodgers, the Detroit Tigers and the Houston Astros. He is 33 and had a 6-6 win-loss record in the Pacific Coast League last year.

Bears Shuffle to Fill Sayers' Spot

Piccolo Gains Chance at Last

Other Key Contests Among Pros Sunday

By Associated Press

Brian Piccolo gets a long-awaited chance as Chicago's starting running back in the Bears' National Football League game against Atlanta Sunday. It should be a moment of great joy for him but it isn't.

That's because Piccolo is replacing Gale Sayers and while a player can occupy Sayers' spot on the field, it's quite another thing to replace him. Sayers, of course, is out for the season with torn ligaments and cartilage in his right knee.

"This isn't the way I wanted it," says Piccolo. "Gale should be out there."

Wes Ellis Jr. in Record 62

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — Wes Ellis Jr. had the kind of round golfers dream about Friday and the result was a record and the second round lead in the Caracas Open Golf Tournament.

Ellis birdied eight holes, including the last four in a row, for a record 62 and a total of 130.

SCHEDULE

THE MOD SQUAD

Peggy Lipton, Clarence Williams III, and Michael Cole are the three youths of ABC's Mod Squad. Their friend and mentor, Tige Andrews, is a tough but 'Hip' cop who uses them adeptly in maintaining law and order in their fast and wild world.

Going places where the police could never go, they come face to face with the coarser elements of their generation. Capitalizing on their most natural affront, their youthful appearance, they gain easy acceptance with the 'Outcasts' of our time, making law and order a 'Now Thing' for the 'Now' generation.

This week the Squad searches for a girl who doesn't know she has highly contagious meningitis.

Full-Scale Talks Seen Starting Soon

'D.O. College Not Best Idea'

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Expansion of existing medical schools at Wayne State University and Michigan State has been proposed by a state medical official as being less expensive than constructing the new osteopathic school at Pontiac.

Dr. Kenneth H. Johnson, secretary of the Michigan State Medical Society, said this week the proposal, if incorporated, would graduate about 185 more doctors a year by 1975 at a cost of $26 million.

He noted construction of the new osteopathic college at Pontiac would cost an estimated $60 million, and would graduate only 64 a year.

Under the proposal, Dr. Johnson said $15 million would be required to expand MSU's two-year medical program to four years and $11 million would be needed to increase facilities at Wayne State University's medical school.

MSU would be able to graduate an additional 64 doctors annually, he said, and Wayne State an extra 120.

MORE GRADUATES

Pointing to a recent survey of southwestern Michigan, Dr. Johnson said 14 counties indicated an immediate need for 270 physicians.

If the two universities expanded its medical facilities, he estimated that another 400 people could also be trained annually in other medical fields such as nursing.

But he called expansion of the two universities as only temporary measures and predicted that a fourth and probably even a fifth medical school will be needed in Michigan by 1980.

Dr. Johnson made the comments before about 80 west Michigan community leaders here.

The U.S. officials said the temporary problem of Saigon's objections soon will be settled and the conference will begin in Paris before too long.

This sunny American forecast came after Thieu had received U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker once again yesterday to discuss a way for Saigon to take part in the talks. Aides reported some progress.

Sources close to Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky reported the vice president was approached by Thieu to head South Vietnam's delegation in Paris. They said Ky was considering the offer.

Meanwhile, other sources said optimists within the Saigon government are speaking of Nov. 22 as the date for a Cabinet reshuffle which would clear the way for the dispatch of a delegation to Paris the following week.

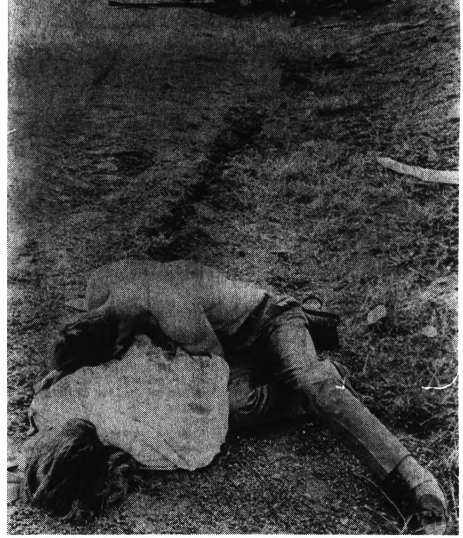

The shuffle probably would drop Foreign Minister Tran Canh Thanh and Information Minister Ton That Thien, sources said. It was not known if Premier Tran Van Huong would remain. "Authoritative sources say Huong and Thieu discussed the matter Thursday, and some say Huong submitted a verbal resignation — a report denied by his press officer.

In another development, President-elect Richard M. Nixon has sent the Soviet Union a message expressing confidence that there can be great strides toward world peace and security in the years just ahead.

The response from Moscow was swift and unexpectedly friendly, leading observers to hope for better relations than had been expected between the Nixon administration and the Soviet Union.

While promising positive Soviet response to friendly American gestures, the government newspaper, Izvestia, warned: "If anyone overseas wants to return to the worst days of the Cold War, we can tell him in advance: Nothing good will come out of that."

Gail Winter And Son, Gary, Had A Long Wait For This Number

By ED BLUNDEN

Gail Winter of Waterford Township is No. 1. Or to put it more precisely, he's No. GY0001 after getting the first license plate for 1969 from the township branch office yesterday morning.

And, as usual, being No. 1 wasn't easy. Winter of 4240 South Shore and his son, Gary, 14, waited 11 hours outside the office at 4520 Pontiac Lake in the rain.

Winter's long wait began not long after he saw Thursday's edition of The Pontiac Press. On page one was a picture of secretary of the state office employees holding up the initial license plate for the year — GY0001.

'LET'S GO?'
"I said to my son that it sure would be nice to have that for the Jaguar," Winter said. "I thought about it for a minute and said, 'Let's go.'"
Winter waited from about 10 p.m. until about 9 a.m.

yesterday when the office opened. He got not only the first number but GY0002 also.

The first number is going on his 1968 Jaguar and the second on his must-convert 1961 Lincoln Continental.

As could be expected, Winter is a car buff. A retired Detroit industrialist, he has won national prizes with his antique, restored cars — a 1913 American and 1907 Maxwell. He has also won a national award with his 1941, four-cylinder Indian motorcycle, one of many in his collection.

Winter has many antique items associated with the auto industry, but doesn't label himself a collector, exactly. "I got most of this stuff together 20 to 25 years ago and kept it," he explains.

The things he does collect are some modern auto parts. He apparently intends to keep them until they, too, become antiques.

Key House Dem Doubts Surtax Can Be Removed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The man who controls congressional tax-writing machinery has cast doubt on chances for lifting the 10 per cent income surtax, striking a note of discord among postelection Democratic pledges of cooperation with the incoming Republican administration.

Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, said yesterday there is scant likelihood of Congress permitting the 10 per cent surtax to die a natural death as scheduled June 30.

President-elect Richard M. Nixon said during the campaign the surtax was a "war tax" and should not be extended.

But Mills, D-Ark., said in a speech to the Arkansas Petroleum Council in Little Rock: "We may as well face the fact that the cessation or lessening of hostilities will bring immediate demands from all sides for additional spending on the domestic front."

REDUCED SURTAX?

Some Nixon aides have indicated the new administration might settle for a reduction in the surtax to 5 or 6 per cent if it can't block it outright.

Mills didn't mention the possibility of a reduced tax.

He said normal growth alone — not counting increased demands for domestic spending in the cities, education and other areas — will increase next year's expenditures by $7 billion to $10 billion. Government economists have estimated the surtax will raise $15.2 billion in the fiscal year ending June 30.

The speech was Mills' strongest public comment on the surtax since the election.

'UNMANAGEABLE DEFICIT'

Three days after the election he said in an interview that a combination of a tax cut and increased federal spending would produce "an unmanageable deficit" in the fiscal year starting next July 1.

He has also differed with Nixon on another fiscal matter. The president-elect's proposals to cut back federal antipoverty spending in favor of tax credits to industries who take up the slack.

Mills has called the plan "back door spending" that could cost billions more than direct spending to get the same job done.

Senate Democratic Majority Leader Mike Mansfield said earlier this week his party would support Nixon "when he is right," and House Speaker John McCormack of Massachusetts has commented similarly.

'NOT RIGHT'

But Mills made clear he feels accompanying a slowdown in Vietnam with reduced taxation would not be right.

"I think it would be a mistake to assume that this would be the solution to our expenditure control problem," said Mills.

Woman Killed; Husband Held

A mother was fatally shot in her mother-in-law's Waterford Township home last night.

Waterford police are holding her husband, Ted J. Herr, believed to be 21, in connection with the slaying.

Police received a call regarding the shooting at 1125 LaSalle about 9:45 p.m. The victim, Sandra Herr, 21, a brunette, was taken to Pontiac General Hospital where she was pronounced dead on arrival about 10 p.m.

Waterford police are withholding all other information pending formal charges.

VISITING HIS MOTHER

Persons acquainted with the family said the Herrs were visiting his mother at the LaSalle address when the shooting occurred.

Herr, employed in one of the General Motors plants, attended St. Benedict's Catholic Church and Waterford Township high schools.

The Herrs, believed to be married for about two years, were parents of a small boy. They were described as "inseparable" before their marriage and "quite happy" afterward.

Grid Honors in Press

The high school football season has ended in Oakland County, and now it is time for the honors to begin.

Today's Pontiac Press sports pages highlight the annual All-County, All-League and Classes A, B and C-D standouts. Another big feature is the naming of the outstanding prep gridder, and the final standings, scoring and ratings are wrapped up. See the Gridiron Green.

In Today's Press State Officers Seek Pay Hikes

LANSING (AP) — Michigan could spend almost $1 million more to pay officials for the next two years if the new state officers' compensation commission follows recommendations it heard yesterday.

But, Gov. George Romney, who termed the financial position of the governor "indefensible," urged the commission to "be very slow and cautious in whatever you do."

Romney and other state officials testified before the commission, which has until Dec. 1 to set salaries of governor, lieutenant governor, legislators and State Supreme Court justices for the next two years.

Commission Chairman Lawrence Carino said the seven-member body expected to set temporary determinations by Nov. 26 and final figures by Nov. 29.

—INCREASE BREAKDOWNS

Seeking increases for their positions were:
•Romney, who said he personally did not seek a pay boost, but that subsequent governors "should not have to" live and work on the current $40,000 a year salary.

but indicated an increase from the present $12,500 salary and $2,500 expense allowance would be desirable. The third mentioned a previously suggested $15,000 salary and the current expense allowance.

ROMNEY URGES

Romney, who has sent letters to all state departments urging they "hold the line" in spending, said the state is "scrambling" to meet other fiscal demands for next year.

Budget estimates indicate that only about $45.50 million will be left over at the end of the fiscal year.

Carino, general manager of WJBK-TV in Detroit, said budget director Glenn Allen had told the commissioners state expenses would be close to the total surplus and state income.

But, Romney added, "the governor of Michigan can't possibly serve as governor of Michigan without dipping into his own pocket or obligating himself" to private interests if the $40,000 salary were not increased.

PREVIOUS RAISE

The salary was moved up from $35,000 last year. "There was a travel allotment of $4,500 last year," Romney said, "but no money for entertainment at all, and none reimbursed. When elected, the governor rents or buys a home and pays the costs himself.

Flash

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union today launched Proton-4, described in an official announcement as the world's biggest unmanned spaceship.

Proton-4, a four-stage rocket, was launched from the Baikonur cosmodrome in Kazakhstan. It is expected to orbit Earth for about 10 days.

It looks like occasional light showers, drizzle and cooler temperatures will dominate the weather over the weekend.

The U.S. Weather Bureau forecasts the following day-by-day prediction for Pontiac area residents:
TODAY — Cloudy and a little cooler with chance of light rain or drizzle, high 40 to 45. Tonight cloudy and a little cooler with chance of light rain, low 33 to 37.

Weekend to Be Rainy, Cooler

TOMORROW — Cloudy and cooler with occasional light rain.

MONDAY — Mostly cloudy and colder with chance of snow flurries.

Precipitation probabilities in per cent are: 30 today, 30 tonight, 60 tomorrow. Thirty-eight was the low temperature prior to 8 a.m. in downtown Pontiac. The 12:30 p.m. recording was 41.

Educators Oppose State on School-Day Proposal

LANSING (AP) — Educators from across the state voiced near-unanimous condemnation yesterday for proposed regulations governing the minimum length of the school day.

The regulations, proposed by the State Board of Education, would:

- Require not less than three hours of "school activities" for kindergarten youngsters.
- Require not less than six hours of classroom instruction and related school activities for grades 1-12.

• Allow the State Department of Education to determine the length of the school day for special education pupils in each district operating such a program.

- Define a school day as one on which at least 70 per cent of total pupil membership of a school district is in session.

REQUIREMENT FOR AID

Districts would be required to meet these standards in order to qualify for state aid without penalty. Length of the school day currently is left to the discretion of the individual school district unless otherwise specified in teacher contracts.

It would be "impossible" for Detroit schools to abide by the proposed regulations, said Richard Smith, representing the Detroit Board of Education. Complying with the rules, Smith said, would necessitate readjustment of the entire elementary school day and provisions of lunch for all pupils.

Minnie Zielke of Farmington, representing the Michigan Association for Childhood Education, said there would be "no value" to fuller days because children have a limited attention span.

'NO RELATIONSHIP'

William Cansfield of Westland objected to the rules because "there is no measured relationship between the quality of instruction and the quantity." The proposed rules "impose on the local school district unreasonable inflexibility in school scheduling, greatly restricting the exercise of judgement at the local level," said Mrs. Harriet Latimer, director of research services for Flint Public Schools.

"They assume that the same length of school day is equally appropriate and beneficial for children at age 5 as for those at age 17."

Other speakers cited such problems as: long hours already negotiated with teachers in two-year contracts; arranging bus transportation; and setting in-service training for teachers, with more than 30 per cent of the total pupil population let out of school for half a day because of them.

The regulations will be reviewed by education department personnel, then submitted to the state board for possible revamping. When the proposed regulations are finalized, they go to the Legislative Service Bureau and the attorney general for review before they are implemented.

Nixon Denies Trying to Be 'Co-President'

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Richard M. Nixon disclaims any effort to make himself "co-President" with jurisdiction over foreign policy in advance of his inauguration — but he still maintains that to be valid, any long-term commitments abroad need his approval.

U.S. Is Stalling Talks -- Russia

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet press today accused the United States of using Saigon's reluctance to come to the Paris peace table as an excuse to hide its own unwillingness to negotiate.

"It is difficult to believe that the United States has no means to bring its Saigon puppets to their senses," said the communist party daily Pravda.

"Only one conclusion suggests itself: The display of 'independence' is being staged by the South Vietnamese generals at the prompting of the most aggressive United States quarters."

"People made anxious by the delay in opening four-party sessions in Paris have perceived the diplomatic maneuvers of Washington as an attempt to shift responsibility and as a hope to withdraw from their own promises and to frustrate the already clearly important step on the path to peace."

'HARDLY POSSIBLE'

Sovetskaya Rossiya-Soviet Russia published by the Communist Party Central Committee — said, "it is hardly possible to understand the excuse put forward by the American side as a serious reason for delaying start of the talks. For a long time it has been true that the Saigon regime remained in power only with American bayonets."

That, in essence, is the position the President-elect took, and made public through a top aide, after President Johnson made clear his determination to remain firmly in command until Jan. 20.

Bryson N. Harlow, an assistant to the President-elect, telephoned Johnson on Thursday night, got a call back from the President yesterday. And sources said Harlow had assured Johnson that Nixon was "not attempting to presume upon the constitutional authority of the President."

As for Johnson, a Nixon associate said, "The President tried to make it clear that constitutionally, there is one President of the United States, there are no co-Presidents, with which Mr. Nixon is in perfect agreement."

REPORTED DISCORD

This statement came after hours of apparent discord between Johnson and his Republican successor over Nixon's immediate role in foreign affairs.

Nixon said Thursday that he and Johnson had worked out an arrangement for prior consultation on foreign policy matters. He said this was done in connection with his Monday pledge that foreign policy decisions of the present administration would be honored by the next.

"In order to make this a viable arrangement it is, of course, necessary that there be a prior consultation on such policy decisions," Nixon said Thursday, "and that the President-elect not only be informed but that he be consulted and that he agree to the course of action."

Nixon acknowledged that the arrangement was not precise as to what would happen if he did not agree.

Then Johnson spoke at a White House news conference Friday: "The decisions that will be made between now and Jan. 20 will be made by this President and by this secretary of defense."

Jets, Artillery Kill 35 N. Viets in Buffer Zone

SAIGON (UPI) — American jets and artillery caught Communist forces in four fresh violations of the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) and killed at least 35 Red soldiers, U.S. spokesmen said today.

Communist gunfire hit one of the U.S. F4 Phantom jets during yesterday's strikes, but the plane flew home safely, with what the spokesmen called "minor" damage.

The action raised to 14 the number of times the Communists have been caught violating the six-mile-wide buffer zone. U.S. spokesmen said, since President Johnson halted the bombing of North Vietnam Nov. 1 to get negotiations under way in Paris.

COMMUNIST LOSSES

But yesterday's action hit Communist forces all inside the South Vietnam half of the DMZ. Spotter planes said that, besides the 35 Communists killed, more than 20 Red bunkers and an ammunition dump were blown up along with a five-truck Communist supply convoy.

The first strike hit Communist positions just north of Gio Linh, a major allied base just below the DMZ. The other attacks came later in the same area after the Communists were spotted.

In Saigon, the American diplomatic effort to have South Vietnam end its boycott of the Paris negotiations appeared to be bearing fruit. A South Vietnamese government official said his regime was taking a more "realistic view" of the situation.

CHANCELLOR'S SURPRISE — Chancellor Durward B. Varner (center) of Oakland University and his wife, Paula, were escorted to a campus gymnasium yesterday on a false pretext and were surprised with a faculty gift for being at the university for 10 years. Prof. C. R. Linsalata (left) of the department of modern languages and literature told of the gift — three all-expense-paid days in New York City, including tickets to three plays.

Lunar Landing Tests Modified by NASA

SPACE CENTER, Houston, Tex. (AP) — An experiment package which America's first moon-landing crew was to distribute on the lunar surface has been discarded and replaced by three simpler experiments, space officials announced yesterday.

The announcement said the Apollo lunar surface experiment package (ALSEP), developed at a cost of $51-million, will not be carried on the first moon-landing flight "because of the uncertainties involved in the workload" of the astronauts. ALSEP, a complex seven-instrument package powered by an atomic reactor, may be used in later landings.

Lt. Gen. Samuel Phillips, the Apollo program manager, said the first lunar landing crew will spend not more than three hours outside the lunar module, moving around on the moon's surface.

Astronaut Walter R. Cunningham told a National Press Club luncheon in Washington yesterday that instead of the 22-hour initial lunar visit once contemplated, the two Apollo astronauts will mainly test the lunar module that lowers and returns them to the Apollo mother craft.

'A FEW ROCKS'

"If they get down on the moon and pick up a few rocks and get back again they will be satisfied," Cunningham said.

Instead of ALSEP, the first moon astronauts will distribute three experiments, leaving one of them on the surface only a brief time. The moon landers will continue with the already-planned tasks of collecting 80 pounds of lunar rock and photographing the surface.

The experiments to be placed on the surface are a passive seismometer, a laser-reflecting device and a solar wind composition experiment. They total 171 pounds in weight.

The primary reasons for the change is that National Aeronautics and Space Administration scientists are not sure how much work man will be able to do in the airless vacuum of the moon while wearing the bulky lunar surface suit and battling the effects of the moon's one-sixth gravity.

INITIAL DIFFICULTIES

A NASA doctor said earlier this year that the first astronauts on the moon are expected to be "very clumsy" and "very cautious."

Other NASA officials, however, have said they expected the astronauts to adjust quickly to the gravity.

Rhodesia-U.K. Talks Break Up Without Accord

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (AP) — Talks between Britain and Rhodesia about recognition of the former colony's independence broke up today, with the main issue still unresolved.

A statement agreed on by Prime Minister Ian Smith and British minister without portfolio George Thomson said Thomson would report to the British Cabinet before any decision is made on future contacts.

Thomson prepared to fly to London after meeting with Smith for an hour and a half this morning.

The statement said: "After nine meetings and a number of informal exchanges of view it is clear that although number of British proposals there remains a fundamental disagreement on several major questions of principle."

OPPOSED GUARANTEE

Smith has adamantly opposed any external guarantee for eventual African rule after independence. He said this would give Rhodesia only "second independence."

Thomson regarded Smith's refusal on this issue and Smith's refusal to submit an alternative as the real problem. Both sides, however, were reported anxious to maintain the contact established a month ago aboard the HMS Fearless at Gibraltar.

At a news conference, Thomson said the British have made their offer and a new Rhodesian move will be needed to get negotiations under way again.

Chapter Picks Engineer for 2 Key Posts

BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — Frank Clark, 6991 Cottonwood Knoll, has been appointed 1969 program chairman and elected a member of the board of directors for the Detroit chapter of the Society of American Value Engineers (SAVE).

Clark, value engineering manager for Ford Tractor Operations of Ford Motor Co., will be responsible for helping to determine chapter objectives and interests as well as developing programs for meetings.

The society promotes professional relationships in value engineering — a field dedicated to the design and development of products and services at the lowest cost to the customer. Clark joined Ford in 1959 and has served in positions involving value engineering, cost estimating and plant engineering.

1961 DEGREE

A native Detroit, he received an associate of commerce degree from Henry Ford Community College in 1961.

Clark also has received diplomas in time study engineering, tool design, and processing and estimating from the Detroit Time Study School and a certificate of completion from the management institute in value analysis and engineering of the University of Wisconsin.

NAUGHTON BENJAMIN

Two area men have been elected top officers of the Greater Detroit Area, a nonprofit Lake Orion corporation.

John B. Naughton, 1960 Townbridge, Bloomfield Hills, is the new board chairman and Harry S. Benjamen Jr., 4216 Antique Lane, Bloomfield Township, has been elected president.

Naughton is vice president and general manager of the Ford Division of Ford Motor Co. Benjamen is assistant general counsel for General Motors Corp.

Guest House, operated by a lay board of directors, treats priests suffering from alcoholism and related disorders. About 50 priests are treated at the sanatorium each year. A second unit of the sanatorium will open next year in Rochester, Minn.

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — A. R. Forster, 230 Woodbury, has been appointed director of the Highway Traffic and Safety Section of General Motors Corp.

Forster was assistant director of the section from 1948, when he joined General Motors, to 1967. During the past year he has been an assistant to the director of industry relations.

He succeeds L. B. Yost, who retired after 32 years with GM.

Forster graduated from Northwestern University, Evanston, Ill., in 1934.

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — The Junior High School PTO, will meet Monday at 8 p.m. in the school cafeteria.

Dr. Jerry Tobias, juvenile officer for Bloomfield Township, will speak on the "Ten Signs of Delinquency," concerning the use of drugs among teenagers.

A film on the subject will be followed by a question and answer period.

Rifle Mishap Kills Farmington Boy, 9

A Farmington Township boy was accidentally shot and killed yesterday morning, township police said.

Richard DeFelice, 9, of 22115 Malden was pronounced dead on arrival at Botsford General Hospital about 3:20 a.m. He was a fourth-grade pupil at the William Grace Elementary School.

Police said the youth's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard DeFelice, were struggling with a 30-30 rifle during an argument. Moments later the rifle was placed on a table and accidentally discharged.

The bullet went through a closed door and struck the youth in the next room, police added.

Radziwill Home Looted

TURVILLE, HEATH, England (AP) — Burglars broke into the country mansion home where Mrs. Aristotle Onassis is staying and made off with several thousand dollars worth of jewels, a British newspaper reported today.

The Evening Standard said the gems were stolen from the home of Princess Lee Radziwill, sister of Mrs. Onassis, who is spending the weekend there with her multimillionaire Greek husband.

Nixon. Namer, who with his two sons, was indicted Wednesday on charges of criminal conspiracy and illegal possession of weapons, was released today on $25,000 bond.

PAPC Supports Center School Site

The selection of a site for Pontiac's proposed super high school has become more than a simple decision of the Pontiac Board of Education.

It has now become a matter for the board, the City Commission and, in a sense, the entire Pontiac community to resolve. This is no longer anything as uncomplicated as choosing between two prospective sites.

It is now a complex choice between two directions in development of our total community. It is truly a crossroads to future development of Pontiac's Central Business District and the areas immediately surrounding it.

The alternatives are as follows:

- Shall we continue to redevelop the City on a unilateral basis?
- Shall we begin to redevelop the City on a comprehensive basis?

The high school site study presented to the Pontiac Area Planning Council (PAPC) Thursday night by David Lewis of Urban Design Associates, of Pittsburgh, Pa., points up advantages of two major sites and the alternative methods of approaching over-all redevelopment.

One site — on the Pontiac State Hospital grounds — would be the only alternative if the school board decides to proceed on a unilateral basis.

The other site, titled the center site, is located on 55 acres in the area of Orchard Lake Avenue and Bagley. The school could go there only if a comprehensive approach were initiated.

Under the unilateral approach, the school district, for instance, would build new facilities without regard to other redevelopment needs of the City. This would be the easiest, cheapest and quickest method so far as the school district itself is concerned. It would have little or no impact on other problems of social and physical renewal in the City. These other problems would be left for the City Commission to, likewise, resolve on a unilateral basis.

Under the comprehensive approach, the City and school district work together, utilizing federal work programs, to renew a substandard area and build a new educational facility as one. It is more difficult, more expensive and takes longer. The end result is greater impact on the other problems of social and physical renewal of the City.

The school board is scheduled to make its decision at a meeting Monday night.

The PAPC has endorsed the center site. It has also recommended that the school board postpone making its final decision until the city indicates whether it will support a center site school with a renewal project of its own.

The decision now lies squarely in the hands of the school board. It is a momentous one which could have a profound effect on the future course of redevelopment in Pontiac.

The POWER of FAITH

Dr. Burleigh Matthews, an eye specialist of Indianapolis, Ind., and his wife are actively engaged in "trying to help the cause of Christianity."

So far, to help the "cause," they have shipped 50 tons of medical equipment to 10 hospitals in India, sent 38 tons of medical supplies to World Medical Relief in Detroit, Mich., built a medical dispensary, a 25-bed hospital, Leprosarium and an electrical system for Kamalnagar Hospital in India. They have also provided for India 65,000 pairs of glasses, as well as 38 scholarships. They have sent supplies and 600 pairs of glasses to Kapanga, Congo, but Dr. Matthews says he needs thousands more.

Dr. Matthews, who calls himself an "impatient Methodist," set up his non-profit project six years ago in the garage in back of his house. There he collects and packs most of the supplies with the help of members of the Medical Auxiliary, volunteers and a few retired men in the area.

He has traveled all over the country giving over 364 speeches to stimulate interest in his project.

"Such stuff as dreams are made on" — the medical supplies and equipment that Dr. and Mrs. Matthews have collected and sent will make the dreams of many needy persons overseas a reality.

Unusual Wildlife Visitors Reported by Area Reader

A flock of evening grosbeaks has stayed close to our house for three days. The grosbeaks seem more tame this year and we watch them from a distance of only two or three feet. As long as there are no quick movements, they stay right there to eat. This flock numbers about 12.

'Store Wouldn't Accept My Military ID Card'

At one of Pontiac's major shopping centers I tried to cash a check with a wife's military ID card and was told I needed a driver's license, as well as a credit card. Being too young to get credit, this is impossible, and I don't have a driver's license. My ID card has the same detailed information as a license, besides being issued by our government. If my husband is good enough to be a serviceman, why not accept the ID card also?

'Prefer Downtown Site for New City School'

I was amazed when I read Mr. Webster's statement that the study committee considered the State Hospital site for a new high school as a mandate to the voters to use this site and no other. If I had thought there would be no consideration given to any other site, I would have voted against the proposition. I consider the State Hospital site as one of the poorest possible, its only recommendation being the cost of the land.

I welcomed the suggestion of a site adjacent to the downtown area. I believe the Pontiac Board of Education should be interested primarily in the Pontiac schools and consider the schools outside city limits secondarily. I have talked to many friends about this and none had considered the State Hospital site as absolutely fixed and most did not like the idea at all.

Volumes have been written on this topic, and still clergymen and anthropologists disagree with each other and among themselves. For a religion-oriented answer, we suggest you ask a minister of your denomination. For anthropology theories, Mrs. Zimmerman of Wayne State has suggested writings by the following anthropologists: Theodosius Dobzhansky, "Nature of Man," C. Loring Brace, "Man's Evolution" and "Stages of Man," Frank Lorington, "Concept of Clines," Pierre Teilhard de Chardin, a Catholic priest and anthropologist who wrote extensively on evolution. Sorry about the delay in answering, but your signature wasn't clear, and when we tried to reach you earlier, we couldn't find a listing.

Hippie Hairstyles Called Moting Hazard

The automobile Legal Association has proposed that hairnets be made mandatory for hippie drivers.

Lengthy locks are a traffic hazard not only because they obscure the vision of the one whose head they are, but because other drivers are disconcerted when they see a car being driven by "a ball of fuzz."

"Many hair styles of the younger set obstruct both forward and lateral vision," says Philip C. Wallwork, ALA safety director. "A regulation requiring hairnets for the hairy set may prove as sensible as the regulations requiring helmets for motorcyclists."

Age Issue Helped Win Election

By EVERETT DIRKSEN

In the days since the election I have been thinking along one rather significant political line. It has to do with age.

On Nov. 5 the electorate of Illinois broke a tradition that has held through-out the 150 years of statehood. No senator — Republican or Democrat — has ever been elected to a fourth term, until this year. I am that senator.

I give you the musings of a winner.

A fourth term of six years naturally implies that I am not a young man, so my age became an issue in the campaign.

Those who opposed me made my age an issue. An endless number of editorials and news stories contained the much-used phrases "72-year-old senator" or "the 72-year-old occupant of the office."

I never thought during the campaign, and I do not think now, that the allusions to mature years were necessarily malicious. They were simply statements of fact, and in the case of a younger opponent they naturally became a talking point. It was a good talking point, because it helped re-elect me, as the same point has helped in other years to re-elect other so-called older legislators.

To begin with, this was an unusual election year. Everything that could happen in politics did happen: our President refused to run for re-election; a contender for the Presidency was assassinated; the war in Vietnam increased in scope and ferocity; we had a sort of dubious peace presented to us in the closing days of the campaign; we had George Wallace's candidacy as a distraction; we had tremendous tension in some areas from young people, and we had the seething polls to keep us on tenterhooks.

But one thing might have been observed in the campaign, particularly at those carefully advertised rallies and meetings: There was a preponderance of older people in attendance. It was the rule rather than the exception. The older people, and I refer to those well into middle age, displayed an intense interest in discussion of the issues. After listening to the various candidates, they lingered to ask for clarification of various points that had been brought up.

It was fair to assume that on Election Day those people would vote. With this in mind, we naturally think of the many statements made during the year to the effect that a larger percentage of the American population will soon be under 25. That may well be, but do the voters in the lower age brackets constitute the larger percentage of those who vote? It is the voter who determines the outcome of an election.

It might be conceded that the economic and social emphasis these days is upon matters relating to welfare, old-age assistance, Medicare, Medicaid, Social Security benefits, allowable earnings without penalty and upon all matters that have special significance for the aged.

It would be the most natural thing, therefore, that the millions of older voters would be less impressed by a candidate's age and far more interested in his views on the issues that affect them.

The older people were inclined to the belief, I think, that an older candidate would take a more sympathetic view of their problems and troubles than would a younger candidate.

It could be that repeated references—smile or innocent—to an older candidate's age became a boomerang in his favor.

That's what I think

Confident Living:

Don't Be Defeated by Handicaps

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

This column is written as the world is being thrilled once again by the exploits of famous athletes in the Olympic Games. Not only on the basis of sports are the Olympic Games of interest to Games of in- they also underscore what any person can do with himself if he wants to for sure and really tries.

In these days of youth riots it is refreshing to have pointed up what other youth can do in the severest kind of competition. Bob Richards, famed Olympic pole vault champion, writing in "Guideposts" says: "Look at the Olympics and you'll see all of life in microcosm."

For example, there was born some years ago this frail boy who suffered from anemia. His weakness was such that he required special foods, had to sleep 12 hours a day and could not enter into children's games. His life was even despaired of.

This sickly boy, however, did not remain so. He drew upon his inner strength to become one of the greatest athletes of our time. His name was Bob Mathias, champion of the high jump, the broad jump, the javelin and the pole vault, and he won two Olympic gold medals.

It seems that anyone can do with himself just about what he has a mind to do — providing he has a made-up mind. Rafter Johnson had the bottom of his foot torn off in a cotton machine when he was a small boy. But did that stop him from winning a decathlon gold medal? Not in your life. He used that torn foot as his "take off" foot for the jumps that lifted him into athletic immortality.

Never let anything get you down and keep you there, is the lesson of athletes.

And in life if you hit bottom, as most of us will due course, remember that the bottom is a great place to hit for it's as far down as you can go. And for the positive thinker bottoms have bounce in them. Bottoms are for bouncing back. Up you come again, never defeated no matter what the handicap may be.

To have it rough is one of the facts of life. That is just the way it sometimes is. But there is such a thing as roughing up the rough. Be tougher than it is. There is a quality built into human beings that never gives up, that never can be overcome. Make use of that quality. As Frank Leahy, onetime great Notre Dame coach, used to say to his players: "When the going gets tough let the tough get going."

An old friend of mine, a circus clown, "Happy" Kellems, really picked up my spirits one day when things

By NOEL GROVE

WASHINGTON (NEA) — It is probably safe to predict that the place of the 1968 presidential election in American political history is quite secure.

Many a campaign has featured some aspect warranting mention and examination a quarter or even a half-century later. But in this wild year there are at least a half-dozen surprises. The major ones

- The entry of Sen. Robert Kennedy, brother of a slain president and the major charismatic figure in the campaigns.
- Dropout of the incumbent who had been handed in the previous election the biggest percentage and numerical margin of votes ever enjoyed by an American president.
- Assassination of a major presidential candidate, Sen. Robert Kennedy.
- Marring of a nominating convention by riots and violence, which had serious effect on that party nominee's candidacy.
- The Nixon comeback, from the depths of defeat and bitter renunciation of political ambition, to election as 37th president.
- Other incidents rounded out the character of the '68 election.

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Would your home rate as one of the 10 best dressed homes in America?

If you have good taste, you may be in the running, even if you live in an Alaskan igloo, says Raymond Kassir, who has put his company (Burlington House) behind the idea.

The youthful president of the home furnishing subsidiary of the largest textile mills in the world says they are making plans to make awards to 10 fine homes at the beginning of next year.

Kassir thinks the time is ripe for industry to aid the consumer in planning his home. The philosophy will be "more taste than money," he says.

homes, he says. The board of governors includes society's Anne McDonnell Ford, Mrs. Dennis Slater, Mrs. Harcourt Amory, Mrs. Cornelius Vandenberg, Mrs. Mrs. Clyde Newhouse.

With such a distinguished group, homes chosen will no doubt be outstanding and they will be believable homes of distinction, he explains, "homes of distinction."

Some clues to good decorating might be observed in bachelors' Kassir's New York apartment. It's in the building that attracts persons like Dina Merrill and Truman Capote. It is cozy, livable and handsomely furnished in eclectic fashion of new and old.

Living room walls and draperies are of brown velvet. There is a champagne-colored ribbed silk faille sofa, a tapestry draped table, a Carmel leather tufted sofa, an animal skin fabric on a bench.

Consider Shelter

Plan for Future

There are two kinds of people — ones who live for today only and others who live for today and tomorrow.

For those in the second group, funds for now and later are of should be a prime consideration when they reach their prime and come within "thinking distance" of retirement.

Practically as important as money for "now and then" is shelter.

After the couple's children have left home, oftentimes there is unused space that can be converted into an apartment. Perhaps an aged parent will come to live. That situation may require home alterations for preserving the couple's and the parent's independence.

TOWNHOUSE

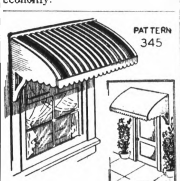

Perhaps a townhouse or a duplex apartment building will suit the family, providing compact living quarters and income from a rental unit.

Planning for the present and future is a key to better living now and in later years. Talk over your ideas with a builder, lumber dealer or architect. Each can be helpful.

Couples planning home modernization can find numerous ideas at their lumber and building materials yards. They can see materials and decide on their needs. Many middle-aged couples have found woodgrained paneling an answer to their remodeling requirements.

Top appearance and wipe-down maintenance are important considerations, too. Expense of decorating is abolished for years — a fine economy.

Awnings and shelters may be made of slats or roofing nailed to the nicely shaped frame shown here. Paint the frame to match the house trim. Slats may be in contrasting colors. Pattern 345, which gives actual-size cutting guides, material list and directions, is 35c. This pattern also is in the Home Improvements Packet No. 23 with three other patterns — all for $1. The Pontiac Press, Pattern Dept., P.O. Box 50, New Windsor, N.Y. 12550.

Clerestory Window Allows Privacy

The trends in window design and placement are refreshingly practical.

Shallow ceiling-level clerestory windows are frequently utilized on exterior walls facing busy streets or neighboring abodes.

They let in light but preserve privacy. Clerestories in combination with rough sawn wood siding create a facade that is modern but warm and inviting.

Windows Cut Loss of Heat

Insulating glass, now available in all styles of stock wood windows, adds much to home comfort.

Combined with the natural insulation of wood sash and tight weatherstripping, the double glazing cuts heat loss and prevents condensation. It's a welcome change, too, from putting up storm sash.

LAUNDRY STEP-SAVER—Mrs. Terrence F. Evans of Butternut Drive, Shelby Township, believes in cutting down her work hours. She found having her washer and dryer tucked into a closet in the master bathroom was a real boon. When the lowered doors are closed, the area looks like an ordinary linen closet. A shelf above the appliances allows for laundry supply storage.
