Pontiff's Condition Is Worse

Pope's Cough, Irregular Pulse Disturb Doctors

But There's No Cause for Alarm, According to Vatican Sources

VATICAN CITY (UP)—The condition of Pope Pius XII was reported worse today only a few hours before a team of doctors called a consultation at his bedside.

Sources close to the papal household said the slight but steady progress recorded by the 78-year-old pontiff in the past week had halted.

These authoritative sources described the Pope's condition this morning as "not too good."

They said his pulse, which has been fluctuating in a disturbing manner, was irregular.

He has developed a cough with signs of catarrh in it, a discouraging sign to the doctors who had been amazed at his progress.

The Pope spent a restless night and today, for the first time since the collapse which left him near death a week ago, he failed to register further slight improvement.

Authorities expect him to over-exert himself yesterday and apparently ate more than his ailing stomach was yet ready to receive.

The pontiff left his bed for the first time Tuesday night on the advice of his doctors.

Men of his advanced years tend to develop complications such as pneumonia if they remain constantly in bed, so he took the first cautious steps. Tuesday night about his bedroom.

During his 30 minutes of exercise he made a brief appearance at his window to observe the crowds below in St. Peter's Square for the closing of the Catholic Marian Year.

One person, either a doctor or a nurse, was hovering at his side as the weakened pontiff shuffled slowly through his bedroom and the adjoining papal studio.

When the cough with signs of catarrh was first noticed doctors attending the Pope, the greatest team yet assembled to treat him, decided to have him leave his bed to prevent complication. The fear of pneumonia has always been latent in the Pope's weakened state.

However, high sources said there was no cause for undue alarm and that the present halt in the Pope's recovery was not considered a relapse.

Waterford Girl Will Invite 1st Lady to Scout Roundup

By AL LOWMAN

About the most excited girl in the United States is 14-year-old Senior Girl Scout Mary Lynn Gravelle of Waterford Township—she's going to meet Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower at the White House next Tuesday.

Mary, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Gravelle, 1321 Malcolm Rd., Four Towns, was chosen to present the first lady with an invitation to attend the first national Girl Scout "Senior Roundup" to be held here in 1956. Highland Recreation Area northeast of Milford is the site for the encampment.

Informed that she had been named to represent the nation's Girl Scouts, Mary's first thought was: "What on earth will I wear?" But this will be no problem because the brown-eyed Waterford High School freshman will wear the regulation Senior Girl Scout uniform.

"I was so surprised I couldn't even talk at first. I didn't even know I was being considered for the honor," she said.

Asked if she thought she would be nervous when she meets Mrs. Eisenhower, Mary replied: "I don't think so. I'm going to ask her to sign my scout registration card."

"Aren't you afraid you might lose the card?" she was asked.

"Oh I'm not going to carry it. I'm going to have it framed," was the reply.

And Mary's family is just as excited. "I'm very proud of her and I hope she realizes what a chance (Continued on Page 2, Col. 6)

Hatoyama Wins Prime Minister Post in Japan

May Retain Position Only Until Election Set in Next 3 Months

TOKYO (AP)—Ichiro Hatoyama, a pro-American Conservative who wants increased trade with Russia and Red China, tonight was elected Prime Minister of Japan—a post he may not hold for more than three months.

A coalition of Hatoyama's Democrats and the Socialists moved the 71-year-old diplomat into the spot from which Shigeru Yoshida was forced to resign two days ago.

The vote was 257 for Hatoyama and 191 for Taketora Ogata, Yoshida's deputy and new president of Yoshida's Liberal party.

For their support, Hatoyama promised the Socialists he would dissolve the Diet next month and call new national elections before March 18.

The Socialists threw their support to Hatoyama because they frankly figure to be the only party to gain house seats in any general election.

Yoshida, who stepped down Tuesday in the face of overwhelming opposition from the unusual coalition of Conservatives and Socialists, was not present for the vote. His resignation did not affect his status as a member of the Diet.

Despite the Socialists' support in forcing Yoshida's resignation and electing Hatoyama, the new Prime Minister is not expected to name any Socialist to his Cabinet.

There are only two major points of agreement between the Hatoyama Democrats and the Socialists—revived trade and diplomatic relations with Russia and Red China and resistance to any attempt by Yoshida's Liberals to recapture the government.

Hatoyama has declared he will continue Yoshida's policies of working closely with the West. The Socialists opposed Japanese rearmament and U.S. bases in Japan, both of which are favored by the new Prime Minister.

Colder Weather, Snow Predicted Tonight, Friday

After .11 of an inch of snow last night, rain hit the Pontiac area this morning and the U.S. Weather Bureau says there will be more snow flurries this evening.

The forecast is for mostly cloudy skies and colder with snow flurries tonight and Friday. After a warm spell yesterday with a low of 33 last night and high Wednesday of 37, the mercury is expected to drop again to 26 to 30 degrees tonight with a high tomorrow of 31 to 35. Friday night it will be colder, with a low of 20 predicted.

Saturday will bring more cloudy skies and snow flurries. Today at 8 a.m. the thermometer reading was 37 degrees, but dropped to 33 by 10 a.m. and stood at 31 at 2 p.m.

City Taxpayers Get County Tax Notices

Some 30,000 Oakland County tax bills now in the mail to Pontiac property owners are payable starting tomorrow, City Treasurer Murray M. Ashbaugh said today.

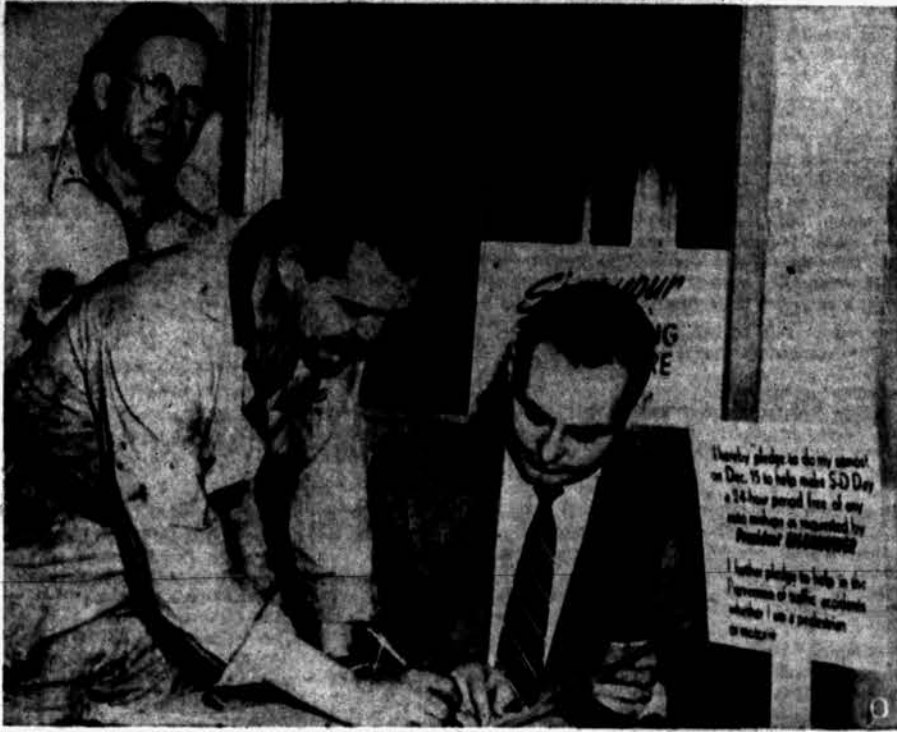

The taxes are payable through Jan. 19, 1955. After that date, a flat four per cent penalty will be added, Ashbaugh said. Mailed payments must be postmarked not later than Jan. 19 to avoid penalty.

Ashbaugh also announced that unpaid city and school taxes are still payable at his office. The bills, due Sept. 20, have a one per cent penalty added for each month of tardiness.

After Feb. 28 all unpaid tax bills will be turned over to the county for collection, he said. A 1/2-of-one per cent fee per month will be charged by the county.

Sign Pledge Backing Safe Driving Day

WORKERS SIGN UP—S-D Day petitions, pledging a conscious effort to keep Dec. 15 completely accident free, are being circulated at the GMC Truck & Coach Division here. The first man to sign a petition at the plant was Leonard B. Wissner (above) of 119 Wolfe St. Number two signer was William B. Adair of 301 Hillside, Milford. Both men work at plant two of the division. Collecting the signatures is Stanley C. Barker, of 6235 Williams Lake Rd., who works in the personnel department.

Democrats Plan Anti-Ike Theme in Campaign Talk

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (INS)—Democratic party leaders came away from Kansas City today optimistic about their 1956 chances and with a new "anti-Eisenhower" line to stress.

Former President Harry S. Truman, Gov.-Elect Averell Harriman of New York and new Democratic National Chairman Paul M. Butler spoke at a Jackson County (Mo.) party "victory dinner" last night and confidently predicted victory in the 1956 presidential race.

Truman hit the dominant note at the party gathering when he declared "We will have a Democratic President in 1956," and added:

"And I sure feel sorry for Ike." All three speakers were unanimous in their criticisms of President Eisenhower and served notice that the President would be the target of Democratic orators with increasing frequency in the next two years.

Diem's Opening in New Building

Shoe Store in Business Here 15 Years, Moves to 87 N. Saginaw

A marble-front contemporary shoe salon, built by Irving Diem and to be known as Diem's Shoe Store, opens today at 87 N. Saginaw St.

Occupying the last vacant lot in the business area of N. Saginaw street, Diem's will stock 12,000 pairs of shoes in its new business place.

Diem first started business in Pontiac 15 years ago. He was previously located at Mount Clemens and Saginaw Sts. and then on W. Huron.

The new store, measuring 20 by 175 feet, presents an interior interesting for its color scheme and use of wood paneling.

Warns Against Hasty Action

Broomfield Asks Fair Share of Road Money in County

By BURDETT C. STODDARD

Oakland County's newly elected state senator, William S. Broomfield (R-Royal Oak), today said he will work toward an extensive state road-building program, but warned against "too hasty action."

Referring to a proposal for a $500,000,000 or more bond issue to finance highway expansion, the former state representative advised that the plan be presented for a statewide vote only after careful study.

Gov. G. Mennen Williams has announced support of the bond-issue plan and said it might take shape in time to secure a vote in the April election.

The proposal would have to be placed on the ballot by legislative action and receive a majority "yes" vote to carry.

"Before I go along I must know what Oakland County's share will be," said Broomfield. He cited a $65,000,000 hospital bond issue floated by the state in 1950.

"The hospital money was made into a political pork barrel. Rural areas benefited, while Oakland County, with one of the greatest needs, was ignored."

The cash must be distributed on the basis of "most need, most money" or this area could lose out again, he asserted.

"Until two road-needs studies now under way are completed I don't see how we can be sure just how much money should be asked for," Broomfield declared.

"The new multi-billion-dollar federal road program should see $1 billion allocated to Michigan each year for the next ten years." This will come in addition to $29,000,000 in regular federal aid slated for the state in each of the next two fiscal years.

Gifts Come in Many Price Ranges

Many Attractive and Useful Articles Are in the Stores for $1 and Under

By JANET ODELL

While gifts for Christmas giving are available in many price ranges to fit any purse, you certainly can find gifts of a dollar and under!

We were out snooping this morning and found lots of ideas for stocking stuffers or those gift exchanges we get mixed up with at Christmas.

On the feminine side we saw soft angora collars trimmed with pearls; wool gloves and large woolen head scarves. Members of the high school set love to exchange friendship rings; we saw both silver and gold colored ones for a dollar.

Younger gift buyers can get puzzles for their cronies, spending anywhere from twenty-five cents up.

If they collect china animals for their wistful shelves, they can find unusual ones for less than a hundred pennies. Little girls would like Christmas corsages that include a wee Santa's head. Some do-it-yourself leather kits are inexpensive. Kits to make PT boats and many car models also fall in this category.

Know someone who just adores playing scrabble? Give him a book on how to be even better, or one that lets him solve scrabble problems all alone.

You may buy shaving lotion and men's cologne for a dollar. If he smokes all over the house, get him a set of three miniature colored metal ash trays. There's a dollar set of metal and plastic bottle stoppers that are guaranteed not to pop out.

Homemakers of any age would use a package of Christmas paper napkins in two sizes. Gourmet cooks will be delighted with a couple of jars of spices or herbs.

Color drip candles and plastic Christmas tree plates will add a gay air to holiday entertaining.

If you don't get a workable suggestion from any of the above, how about a box of ribbon candy for the person in question to hang on his tree?

Rob Clothiers, Pontiac's Christmas shopping center for men. Open tonight to 9 and every night 10 o'clock. Rob Clothiers, 10-20 N. Saginaw St.

Says Formosa Turned Into U.S. Military Camp

Delegate Calls Treaty With Nationalist China an 'Act of Aggression'

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—Russia formally called upon the U. N. today to condemn the United States for alleged aggressive acts against Red China.

Soviet Delegate Arkady A. Sobolev told the General Assembly's Special Political Committee the United States has turned Formosa into an American military base and is aiding the Chinese Nationalists in raids against Communist territory.

He denounced the new mutual assistance treaty between the United States and Nationalist China as "a new act of aggression."

Declaring that the past tightening of the United States hold over the Chiang Kai-shek government and permits American action far beyond Formosa, Sobolev said:

"This is preparation for new aggressions against China."

The Soviet delegate made his remarks as the Committee opened debate on a Soviet complaint "of acts of aggression against the People's Republic of China and responsibility of the United States Navy for those acts."

Meanwhile, the United States and its 15 Korean War allies pressed today for speedy action on their bid to throw the moral weight of the U.N. Assembly behind their campaign to free 11 U. S. airmen jailed by Red China on spy charges.

The assembly's ready agreement to debate the case despite Soviet delaying tactics indicated the Allies' stand would win strong support.

Day and night sessions were scheduled today on a 16-nation resolution denouncing the jailing and demanding the airmen's release.

Launching the debate last night, Chief U.S. Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. said an overwhelming vote in favor of the resolution would make it clear to Peiping that world opinion considers the detention of the 11 fliers a violation of the Korean armistice.

The U.S. delegate also called on the Communists to send home a total of 2,840 U.N. personnel he said had not yet been repatriated under Korean armistice terms. He charged the Reds still have not accounted for 470 Americans.

Independent Morse Lashes Fear Tactics in Lecture

By JEANNE J. LUTKE
BIRMINGHAM—While making no direct comment on the attack made on President Eisenhower this week by Sen. Joseph McCarthy, Independent Sen. Wayne Morse (Ore) told a responsive audience at the Community House last night, "We must wage war on fear tactics."
He quoted Chicago Bishop Bernard J. Sheil who recently lashed out at McCarthy, saying:
"...You cannot effectively fight tyranny with tyranny...an America where the accused is guilty until he is proved innocent, where means don't matter but only ends, an America which has lost faith in the integrity of the government, the army, the schools, the churches, the labor unions, the press, and most of all an America whose citizens have lost faith in each other—such an America would not need to bother about being anti-Communist; it would have nothing to lose."
Elected officials should be guided by conscience and compromise, the senator stated at the lecture sponsored by the American Assn. of University Women.
"The legislative process is one of compromise, but within the brackets where no political moral is involved. A legislator has two freedoms—to promote and perpetuate."
Morse said he at first felt he was "committing political suicide," when he took his independent stand, but he added, "there were many funerals over my name following the 1952 election, but it began to be obvious there wasn't a corpse in the coffin."
The senator said he backed Eisenhower completely on foreign policy.
"History has taught that a country which lives into itself alone finally destroys itself. Political freedom can't reign without free economy."
Rotary Club members will have the early morning cold tomorrow for their annual newspaper sale, hawking over 2,000 papers for the benefit of the Oakland County Crippled Children's Society.
John Mason Brown, noted drama critic and contributing editor of the Saturday Review, will use "Seeing Things," the title of his weekly column, as his topic at tomorrow's third Town Hall program sponsored by St. Anne's Guild of St. James Episcopal Church. Tickets are not available.
Secret pal gift packages to be exchanged at Sunday's Christmas party of the Business Women's Club should be delivered by today, a spokesman reminded, to any of the following persons: Margaret Rowe, Mrs. G. H. Bosworth or Corinne Small.
"Great Women I Have Known" will be the subject of Mrs. Maurice Garabrant when the First Presbyterian Church Westminster Guild meets with the Sarah Hunter and Jennie Keyes Guilds at 8:15 tonight.
Agnes Ross Guild members of the church have included husbands on a hayride at 7 tonight at Hayride Lodge, Rochester.
High schoolers in the Junior Musical recently presented a Christmas program at Pontiac Children's Home. The group will meet with the Keynotes Club at 8 tonight at Kathie Lafer's home on Amberly road, Bloomfield Township.
The Women's Society of Redeemer Lutheran Church will take time out from a Christmas party at 8 tonight to wrap gifts for the Detroit Lutheran Home for Girls. A yuletide musicale will then be presented by Mrs. Theodore Wug-gazer Jr. and Nancy Chesna.

Mary was chosen from about 150 scouts in the Oakland County Council, hostess group for the roundup.
After the field was narrowed to five contestants, Mary's name was drawn, the only way officials could come to a decision. "All five were qualified," they said.

Her ranking as a top-flight scout didn't happen by accident. She's been active for eight years and is a member of Waterford Troop 114. Her brother, Michael, 16, is a star scout, her mother is an outdoor trainer for scout leaders and her father, employed by the Blair Transit Co. here, is also active in Boy Scout activities.

Mary and her chaperone, Mrs. William Gorsline, president of the North Oakland County Girl Scout Council, will leave Detroit Sunday by train, arriving in Washington Monday. They are scheduled to return Wednesday.

The choice of Michigan as the first state to host the roundup was announced by national scout officials Wednesday. The roundup, which is expected to bring an estimated 5,000 Girl Scouts to the county, will be held June 29 to July 10.

considered in studying the amount of a bond issue," said Broomfield. "Possibly $250,000,000 would be enough, possibly a billion is needed."
"We don't want to ask for $500,000,000 now and then turn around and find it's too much or not enough."

The amount of work which could be done at one time must also be studied, he declared.

"We'll have to know if construction firms can handle the work allotted. Unemployment is presently low in Michigan and men must be found to do the work."

A joint committee of the State Senate and House are surveying highway needs and will report soon after the Legislature convenes in January, the lawmaker said. "Then many of these questions may be answered."

Plane Passengers Met
by Scene From Past

BOWLING GREEN, Ky. (P)—Airplane passengers thought for a moment they had flown straight into the past. They were greeted by a group of people wearing old-fashioned clothing and sitting in a 1912-model car. The girls wore high button shoes, floppy hats and long dresses. The men sported long mustaches, and the driver was attired in duster, motoring cap and goggles.

The group was composed of relatives of Bill Lindsay, one of the passengers arriving home from New York. They wanted to startle him. They did.

Birds often wear symbols of ancient Greek gods—the heron for Athena, the cuckoo for Hera, the swan for Apollo.

Draft Extension a Must

When Defense Secretary Wilson called for a four year extension of the draft act, it was apparent that the Administration is taking a new approach to military manpower problems.

In a word, the subject, instead of being considered piecemeal, is being examined as a single problem. That helps explain why Mr. Wilson coupled draft extension with a modified version of the HANNAH plan of universal service and the need for higher military pay.

No one understanding the tense international situation could dispute our continuing need for conscription. The present act expires next June and we cannot hope to maintain a defense establishment as large as we need without the four year extension called for by Secretary Wilson.

This newspaper believes it is equally important to strengthen our presently weak military reserves. Under the plan suggested by the Defense Secretary young men would have a choice of either two years Army service or six months training plus seven and one-half years in the reserves.

The arguments for a three to five per cent increase in service pay are clear. With pay levels lagging at a time when such fringe benefits as post exchange privileges have been reduced, there has been an inevitable adverse effect on re-enlistments.

Congress must deal with the manpower problem early in the next session. We hope it approaches the matter with as much realism as has Mr. Wilson.

Malan's Successor

As anticipated weeks ago, retirement of South Africa's Prime Minister MALAN has stirred no hopes for moderation of the Nationalist Party's racist extremism.

In fact the new Prime Minister J. G. STRIMDOM appears even more intemperate in his advocacy of racial segregation than his predecessor. Moreover, his tendency is to go far beyond Dr. MALAN in urging an immediate break away from the British Commonwealth of Nations and establishment of a South African Republic.

The Union's racial and economic problem is a complex one. It exists because the population includes only 2,600,000 persons of European descent and 10,000,000 non-whites, most of them Negroes.

Observers nonetheless can find at least two hopeful factors in the situation. One is that despite the retirement of a moderate leader, the Nationalist Party is split. Another is that the responsibilities of office invariably moderate the conduct of a politician. That was the case even with Dr. MALAN.

U. S. Health Never Better

Health of the American people never has been better.

This is the report of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company whose self interest prompts it to keep a careful nationwide watch on vital statistics.

This activity yields the facts on which the company estimated the 1954 death rate will be 9.2 per 1,000 of population. Just as important is the fact that this is the seventh successive year in which the rate has fallen below 10. Back in 1900 the death rate was 17.2 per 1,000.

While the company points out that health progress has been steady and that there is every reason to believe that it will continue, one naturally wonders where the credit belongs. Much of it, in the company's opinion, goes to the great medical discoveries, including the popularly called wonder drugs. Other factors are extension of public health activities and our high standard of living.

In the last three years the tuberculosis mortality rate has been cut in half. There also is hope for just as dramatic a victory over polio very soon.

Downtown's Holiday Garb

Traditional Yuletide decorations have transformed Pontiac's shopping section into a veritable fairyland of color.

Never before has Saginaw Street from Oakland Avenue to Orchard Lake Avenue so truly reflected the spirit of the coming holiday. Especially at night, with brightly lighted shop windows filled with alluring gifts and the colored lights and greenery spanning the street, the view literally is dazzling.

A new note also is present this year because several modernization projects, including entire store fronts, were completed before the start of the Christmas season.

All this, of course, should remind everybody that it's smart to shop early. Right now stocks are complete and augmented sales staffs are fresh and eager to serve the vast army of shoppers.

We hope that all the gay lights, bright decorations and Yuletide music won't make busy shoppers forget the ever present traffic danger. Motorists and pedestrians alike must exert every care to avoid turning the joyous holiday season into one of tragedy for some family.

The Man About Town

Yule Tree Trek

Big Evergreen Procession Going Through Our County

The annual Christmas tree hauling through Oakland County is under way. Making a count at his gas station on the Dixie Highway, Karl Kitt says the truck loads are passing at the rate of one every five minutes, or over 250 loads per day. If each truck has only 100 trees, and many have much more, this means around 25,000 per day. "Grand River and other roads also bring trees to the metropolitan market in large numbers. Home grown Christmas trees also are being cut in Oakland County in larger numbers than ever before.

A letter over the signature of Oliver M. Gillow of Rochester, says, "I told you on the street the other day that Senator McCarthy should not be censured. Now put me on the other side."

That early morning celestial body in the southeast before sunrise every morning is attracting a great deal of attention. I am informed by Orren Mohler of the McMath-Hubert Observatory at Lake Angelus that it is the planet Venus.

Now in charge of weather predictions on a Detroit TV station,

Everett R. Phelps was a teacher in the old Pontiac Junior College 30 years ago.

We hear many compliments for our traffic officers for their work in handling the crowds at Saturday's parade. One comes from Mrs. Arnold Mackenzie of Rochester. Her seven year old daughter got lost and was in the custody of an officer when her frantic mother found her. On the way home, when the family was talking about the many good things they had seen, this child piped up with, "And I met that nice cop."

Some of the very small lakes in the Pontiac area are frozen over, but Sheriff Clare L. Hubbell warns that the ice on none of them is safe, even to support a child.

The booklet given people who make tours through

As proof that Michigan winters are getting milder,

Phillip Talbot of Oxford sends word that he has been doing plowing in December, which rarely was possible until recent years.

Voice of the People

Norman Roth Believes Christmas Series Is Best Antidote for Unhappy Home Life

(Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.)

In all the 25 years I have read the Press there has never appeared a feature more worthwhile, and in these times more absolutely necessary than the articles on home life of local families with their pictures, professions of belief in their respective churches, and also their normally happy family life as a result of Christian living.

These articles are the best antidote that I can think of to combat the scandalous divorce rate and the lack of a happy home life, one of the reasons for so many of our young people getting the wrong attitude and a bad start in life.

It is things like what you are now doing that will help stamp out Communism and all the other evil beliefs which are rampant in the world.

Honorary Navy Rank Demotion for Admiral

CONCORD, N. H. (AP)—Cornelius A. Brinkman, state director of Civil Defense, has been made an honorary commodore in the Oklahoma Navy—roughly equivalent to a Kentucky colonel.

Most people would consider this a promotion. However, Brinkman retired from the U. S. Navy in 1947, after 36 years service, with the flag rank of rear admiral—one notch above commodore.

Out of the Way Spot Is Long Way From Capital

ROANOKE, Va. (AP)—Ben Sutherland, assistant U. S. attorney for Western Virginia commutes about 400 miles each weekend to his home in Clintwood, out near the Kentucky border.

"We are a little bit out of the way," he said. "There are eight state capitals closer to Clintwood than Virginia's—Raleigh, N. C., Columbia, S. C., Atlanta, Ga., Nashville, Tenn., Frankfort, Ky.,

Indianapolis, Ind., Columbus, Ohio, and Charleston, W. Va."

The real name of the boxer known as Kid Gavilan is Gerardo Gonzalez. His manager once owned a Cuban saloon named El Gavilan (The Hawk).

Arizona May Restrict Well-Digging in Area

NOGALES, Ariz. (AP)—The Arizona Land Department held a hearing to determine whether a large part of the Santa Cruz River valley should be declared a "critical" groundwater area.

Immediately after the hearing one of the heaviest rainstorms of the year hit the area. State Water Commissioner Roger Ernst is expected to make his decision in a few weeks.

Designation of an area as "critical" prohibits the drilling of any more wells.

Largest single labor union in the United States is the United Automobile, Aircraft and Agricultural Implement Workers Union.

Distracting Influences Eliminated From Start

WEST DES MOINES, Iowa (AP)—The ceiling in the new West Des Moines Methodist Church is made of acoustical board with the holes scattered at random, instead of set in straight lines.

The Rev. J. Henry Teele explained: "The committee chose the kind with the holes scattered across it. Now nobody who happens to glance up when he's in church will begin to count the lines of perforations and forget to listen to my sermon."

Claiming Rabbit Feed Too Healthy for Tests

GREENSBORO, N. C. (AP)—The federal government is suing two feed companies for $8,500, charging their rabbit feed caused failure of medical experiments.

The suit contends the Public Health Service experiments at the University of North Carolina were spoiled because the feeds contained aureomycin.

The average housewife walks about 8 1/2 miles a day.

Pony Roughs Up Cop

DANVILLE, Va. (AP)—Traffic Officer William Lee Carter, brought a stray pony to book, but feels the motor car is less dangerous. The pony charged him, bit him and knocked him down.

2 Immigrants Thank U.S. for Chance to Live Here

By LAURA Z. HOBSON
NEW YORK (INS) — People blow their tops so often about "the state of the union," it's a happy relief to hear about somebody blowing a kiss instead.

Which is why I love two recent stories about two men, one old, one young, who publicly saluted the U.S.A. and in their separate and different ways said "Gosh, you're wonderful."

They were both immigrants, and the old one had lived here for more than a half century when he died at the age of 92 last June. He was Julius Lehmann, who had come here from Germany, had become an American citizen, and a success in the rubber importing business.

So much of a success he had saved up a total of $70,000 — and it was with this fortune that Julius Lehmann blew his grateful kiss to the nation.

His wife Ilka had died three years before him, and when his will was probated, it was discovered he had left 97 per cent of his $70,000 to "the government of the United States of America, to which my wife and I are so much indebted for the blessings we have enjoyed as citizens of this country."

The story touched me, as I'm sure it must touch anybody whose parents or grandparents came to these shores long ago, and if Julius Lehmann were still alive, I'd hope that somehow he'd read these words and know I was writing him a fan letter.

The young immigrant, though, is very much alive indeed, being only 34, married, the father of five, and by the public record, a young man of true imagination and originality.

Who else would buy a newspaper ad at Thanksgiving to pay tribute to "this wonderful God blessed America?"

He's Alex Waschenko, once a Russian Ukrainian, who at 21, saw his father sent off to Siberia by the Communists. Two years later when Alex was 23, the victorious Nazis arrived and threw him into the ranks of forced labor.

Then came 1945 and the Americans and liberation. But it was 1949 before Alex could get himself and his wife and first two kids out of Europe — before they could happily become refugees to the U.S.A.

Even then there was no easy sledding — no streets paved with gold. Not even a job at first; the family kept on the move until Alex hit the right spot — the Garden City Plating Manufacturing Co. in Chicago.

Now his take-home pay is $340 a month as a class A spot welder, and he's buying his own house — said to be one for $25,000. Being human he must have many private emotions about his own persistence and his own success, but not for a moment do they swamp other feelings young Alex Waschenko feels.

"A Grateful American" was the headline he put on his Thanksgiving ad, and after a quotation from the Bible, he went on, "Having lived through two unforgettable totalitarian regimes in Europe . . . five years have gone by since I came to this free and blessed U.S.A."

He told of his job, his friendly fellow workers, and then ended, "That is why I highly appreciate this warm and pleasant welcome, and I thank God for such sympathetic human beings in this wonderful God blessed America."

It was signed, A. Waschenko, and maybe I'm a sofie, but what I instantly thought was, "this wonderful God blessed new American."

And my next thought was, perhaps this time I'm not too late with my fan letter — perhaps

Secret Political Party Wants Independent Goa

NEW DELHI (AP) — The conflict between India and Portugal over the fate of Portuguese India has created a "third force" now campaigning for autonomy for the Portuguese possessions.

Membership of the organization is secret. Its announced aim is to convert Portuguese Goa into an independent republic.

FASHION WISE — Young ladies go for fashion. This cotton pique has full, gathered skirt, needs no starching to stay crisp.

Firemen Rush to Home Too Late for 'Victim'

MARTINSVILLE, Va. (AP) — Mrs. Marvin Robertson turned on the broiler of her stove to warm the oven and walked into her garden. A few minutes later she was calling the fire department. Three trucks and a dozen men responded. They were too late. A doll which Garland Robertson, 16 months, had placed in the stove had gone up in smoke that alarmed Mrs. Robertson as it poured from windows and doors.

Girl Who Falls Down in Play Really Does

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Rose Marie Florey, 17, studied hard for the role of "The Girl Who Falls Down" in the St. Louis Municipal Opera production of "Oklahoma," and did just that in a rehearsal, breaking her foot. The part went to a good friend and "just about broke my heart as well as my foot," Miss Florey said. There are an estimated 20 million cats in the U. S.

Youngsters in College URBANA, Ohio (AP) — Some Urbana six-year-olds are beginning their education in college, and working their way down through grade school. City schools are overcrowded and Urban Junior College classrooms are used by the first graders.

Stores Giving Top Billing to Lamb, Pork, Chickens

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The nation's food stores will give top billing to lamb, pork and chickens this weekend. Beef continues rather high.

Lamb and pork chops will be featured prominently and some markets will drop prices eight to 10 cents a pound from a week ago. Pork loins again will be a favorite special, with both the rib end and loin end off around six cents a pound.

Market men observe that while beef is more expensive than it was a few months ago, it's hardly prohibitive in price.

A meat specialist for the New York stores of a large chain says that while choice beef was selling at around 40 cents a pound Sept. 1, "we now have a hard time buying it at 40 cents or 45 cents."

Broilers and fryers and stewing chickens are on the featured list again. The U. S. Department of Agriculture is enthusiastic about them reporting:

"Tender young broilers and frying chickens are one of the best food buys this month. They are tops in food value and taste appeal, and a real bargain in dollars and cents.

"Heavy supplies of broilers and fryers at markets have pushed prices lower than they have been in a long time, and the clever housewife will take advantage of these values by planning on chicken dinner often during December."

Produce men offer this list of good buys: Potatoes, old cabbage, romaine and western lettuce and nearby carrots, beets, turnips, and pafanips. Also considered good values are peppers, eggplant, green and yellow squash, beans, eastern onions, cucumbers, endive and escarol.

Grape, oranges, tangerines, apples and Emperor grapes will give you the best values in fruit. Limes and avocados also are rated worthwhile purchases.

Terrapin Fancier Finds Homing Pigeon Turtle

ORANGE, Va. (AP) — Theodore G. Scott, who has been a terrapin fancier for 40 years, says he is puzzled by a stray terrapin which has appeared at his place. Although terrapins are nocturnal feeders and a bit secretive about the whole matter, the new terrapin at Scott's comes in and eats from a bowl "just like a puppy." Scott keeps a lot of terrapins and races them for his grandchildren. They are seldom affectionate but Scott put an identifying mark on the stray and took it and others to a friend's home a mile away. Next day all were at the friend's home except the stray, who showed up at the Scott's for a morning handout of food.

Chapter 4—'Suspect'

Private Detective Jim Dunn Enters Carlson Estate

By Hugh Lawrence Nelson

THE STORY: Private Detective Jim Dunn, working as an investigator for Mrs. Ed Carlson, has driven with Nancy, his wife, to the summer estate of the wealthy Carlson family in Colorado where they will pose as caretakers for his client. Stopping for tea, Dunn finds that he has not been given the key to the gate. As he stands at the gate, a young man appears.

A handsome man in his early twenties, tanned to deep tan, hair looked white was smiling at Jim.

"We want in," Jim said.

"No can do. Sorry. You have to have a key."

Jim picked at the binding chain, let the links fall back with a clatter. "We've come to open a place called The Spires. I understand ingress and egress to the place goes with the deed. My boss bought the place. I can show you the deed."

The smile broadened. "Sorry. I can't read. You own a place in here, or have reason to come in, you should have a key."

"So I should," Jim admitted. "Funny how it could have jumped off the wire like that."

"Very funny. Go away and don't bother me."

Jim took a flashlight from his jacket pocket, turned the powerful beam overhead. It did not take long to locate the double wires which led directly to the small cabin. "All the modern conveniences, like phones. And how is my good friend, Toby Argyle?"

The same smile stayed on the young man's face. "I don't know what you're talking about." He used a tone of voice which made it perfectly clear he was lying.

"You could save me trouble by unlocking the gate," Jim said mildly.

For a moment the young man's smile thinned still more. He tried to shade his eyes so he could see past the glare of the lights. He said, "Can't do it," and walked away.

Jim got back in the jeep. "Home again?" Nancy asked. He opened the glove compartment, put his gun on his lap. "Nope. Maybe Handsome thinks so. But that chain didn't look too strong to me." He eased the station wagon forward in drive, pushed the bumper gently against the gate.

The young man appeared again in the headlights. He had his mouth open to yell.

Jim gunned the motor. Tires spun and squealed. The whole gate bulged. The chain snapped, whirled off through the trees. Both sections of the gate flung back with the suddenness of their release.

Jim stopped when the jeep was still a few feet from the young guardian of the gate.

"Too bad the chain fell off," Jim said.

The smile was still on the man's face as he stepped quickly from the light, vanished in the shadows and darkness under the trees.

About an eighth of a mile from the gate, the road divided into three even narrower ways. A finger-pointing signboard indicated the left-hand trail as leading to The Spires. Dunn made the turn automatically, before he remembered and slammed on the brakes. "Let's take a look at that map again. Seems to me we should be going more in that right-hand direction."

A combination of dash light and flash showed the turn clearly. The right-hand fork as Jim had remembered. He left his gun with Nancy as he got out and walked on ahead, using the flashlight sparingly. He did not have far to go, only around the next blind curve.

A cattle guard was under construction. At least rails were neatly piled near-by. But at the present a four-foot ditch cut across the narrow road, a ditch partly filled with rushing water.

Jim Dunn felt his anger begin to boil at the pit of his stomach. Even allowing for the crawl to make the blind curve, there would have been a severe jolt.

He walked slowly back to the jeep, flashing his light into the dense undergrowth along each side of the road. He found the warning sign, left it where it lay, walked more quickly.

"You better take the gun," Nancy said.

"Something?"

"I think so. Some sort of sound back where the roads forked. Metal scraping on metal it sounded like to me."

Jim started to back the station wagon into the narrow opening which would permit a turn.

He stopped again, got out and used the flash carefully. "No beta missed," he muttered. He pulled the strands of old-fashioned wire with their wicked inch-and-a-half barbs aside, got back in and turned quickly.

"I have a smart husband," Nancy said. "What made you think there might be something there?"

THEY WASH—Washable plastic animals with non-toxic painted faces suit the youngest child fine. They're red, white and green.

"Only place to turn," Jim muttered. They reached the forks of the road. "Look, Jim. The sign. It's pointing in the right direction now."

Jim did not slow up. "Probably the noise you heard. A heavy wrench on that metal standard to turn it. I'll bet we'd find the dirt loosened around its base."

"Not stopping to look?"

"Not me," Jim said firmly. "Maybe we're supposed to stop an ad-writer."

there. Or at least if we didn't have to stop before to fix a few flat tires."

"Delaying tactics?" Nancy asked.

Jim thought of the ditch again, but with more of a chill than with anger. "Maybe."

Government of Honduras Searching for a President

By CHARLES M. McCANN
United Press Staff Correspondent

Little Honduras, whose politics are hotter than its climate, is back in a state of crisis.

Acting President Julio Lozano y Lozano has taken over control of the government as a temporary dictator and has proclaimed a state of national emergency.

Troops and police are patrolling the streets of Tegucigalpa, the mountain capital whose history dates back to 1878.

It is a tangled situation which may take some time, and possibly some violence, to untangle.

Back in 1932 Gen. Tiburcio Carías Andino, Nationalist leader, was elected president. He ruled Honduras for 16 years until 1948. He was a dictator, but he reduced the internal and foreign public debts, accumulated gold reserves and improved the country.

Incidentally, Carías was Honduras' 120th president since the country's liberation from Spain in 1821. Carías slowed up the turnover rate by twice setting aside the constitutional bar against the re-election of a president.

In 1948, Carías stepped aside in favor of his protégé, Dr. Juan Manuel Gálvez. Gálvez was elected, with Lozano as his vice presidential running mate.

Carías did not like the way Gálvez ran things and the two men became estranged. The Nationalist Party split into factions.

The Gálvez faction wanted him to run again, setting aside the re-election ban as Carías had done. He refused.

As the result there were three candidates in the presidential election held on Oct. 10.

Dr. Ramon Villeda Morales, a physician without administrative experience, ran on the Liberal ticket. Dr. Enrique Ortiz, a dentist who was graduated from Loyola University, New Orleans, was his running mate.

Gen. Abraham Williams Calderon, a graduate of Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute of Troy, N. Y. who had served as vice president under Carías before 1948, was nominated on the National Reformist Party ticket. This party was composed of dissident Nationalists of the Gálvez wing.

Carías, now 78 years old, tried a comeback as the candidate of the official Nationalist Party.

In the Oct. 10 election Villeda polled 121,213 votes to 77,726 for Carías and 53,041 for Williams.

But under the constitution, a president must receive an absolute majority, and Villeda missed it by 9,554 votes.

Hence under the constitution it was up to Congress to do the electing.

President Gálvez got a one-month leave of absence, pleading illness, on Nov. 15 and went to Panama and then to Miami, Fla., where he is right now.

Congress was supposed to meet Sunday to elect the new president. Nationalists and Reformists refused to attend. There was no

Utah 'Meteorite' Turns Out to Be Old Ore Sample

SALT LAKE CITY (U. P.) — For years the large ore specimen rested in Utah's statehouse and bore the label "meteorite."

Secretary of State Lamont F. Toronto became suspicious of the label. The geology department at the University of Utah confirmed that the specimen was of geological and not meteorological interest.

Inquiry revealed it came from the Victoria mine near Eureka, weighed 1,300 pounds or more and contained lead, silver, gold and copper.

It reached the statehouse as part of a Utah County exhibit and wound up in a dusty corner. Brought out later, it somehow got the "meteorite" label.

Bees Can Sting Anyone Down in Pennsylvania

EASTON, Pa. (U. P.) — Bees in Easton can go out and sting anyone they please. And their owner — if they have one — is not legally responsible.

Northampton County Court Judge

William A. Frack dismissed a disorderly conduct conviction imposed on Boim Matter by a justice of the peace. Matter raises bees in his yard. Judge Frack said there's no law that permits criminal action if the bees sting people.

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va. (U. P.) — Two army nurses driving from Ft. Sam Houston, Tex., to New York by different routes hadn't counted on a chance meeting here.

Lt. Irene Kay Walent's car

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (U. P.) — Mrs. F. L. Weaver has an extraordinary alarm clock — a pet crow that wakes her up every morning at 6:30 crying "Mama."

able word crow says. Mrs. Weaver feels "he is just like having a person around."

Japan's Aircraft Industry Hopes for Export Trade

TOKYO (UP)—Officials of Japan's aircraft industry predict that within three years Japanese-built planes will be a major export of this nation.

They base their prediction on the belief that "southeast Asian nations on the edge of the Communist sphere need self-defense weapons, and that Japan may soon be in a position to fill the orders."

They also point out that the Japanese air force is growing and is scheduled to have 1,300 planes in five years.

Playing no small part in Japanese plans are the overhaul and repair contracts let in this nation by the U. S. Air Force. Overhaul orders have been placed so far this year for 1,300 units.

Before the end of World War II, Japan aircraft companies were turning out 25,000 planes a year. Production now is nil and Japan has found itself a back number internationally with the tremendous advance in the use of jets.

But the government now has licensed five aircraft manufacturers, and although they are limited to repair work, plans are completed to start actual production, including jets.

Home production will be based on orders from the Japan Defense Board for F-86 Sabrejet fighters, T-33 jet trainers, T-34 and T-35 propeller-driven trainers, liaison planes, sea reconnaissance craft and helicopters.

"The Japanese aircraft aims to become a major export industry in three years' time—an aim which it thinks can be attained," a source said.

Industry officials said that inquiries already have been received through trading firms in India.

Huge Cathedral Nearly Finished

Carved Salt Statues Adorn New Colombian Underground Church

BOGOTA (UP)—An underground cathedral as large as that of Notre Dame in Paris and larger than any church in Colombia, is nearing completion in the deep salt mines at Zipaquira, 38 miles north of this capital.

The mines, in a branch of the eastern range of the Colombian Andes, are the property of the nation and are managed by the official Bank of the Republic.

They have been worked from pre-conquest times when the Chibchas lived on the Bogota Savanna, ignorant of the existence of other continents and of cults other than those of the moon and the sun.

When the Colombian architect, Jose Maria Gonzalez Concha, who was educated in Italy, visited the forgotten driftways, he thought that these could be turned into a "salt cathedral," which would keep the rough walls the silence and the sombre stateliness of the mines.

Since then, another architect, Alfonso Rodriguez Orgas, has directed the work, which will probably be finished in a year.

Last year, 217,047 people visited the unfinished cathedral. Some 5,612 vehicles have gone right up to its entrance, since the salt mines can be traversed by car.

The "nave of the Calvary," as it is called, ends with the high altar. This is crowned by a great cross, carved from a salt block weighing 10 tons.

The right aisle, that of "Our Lady of the Rosary," ends in an altar, which also bears that name. The left aisle, called "the Baptistry," will be used for baptisms.

The aisle around the left side of the apse is called "Aisle of the History and the Nativity." Four great sculptured groups will be placed in it, representing the Gospel subjects of "The Nativity," "The Annunciation," "The Descent from the Cross" and "The Prayer in the Garden of Olive."

The cathedral will have 10 other altars, besides the stations of the Via Crucis. All of these altars will be carved into the salt walls, since the salt rock, on being worked, takes the appearance of finely polished stone.

The choir platform will be built on a salt rock stand held up by the two pillars on the right, nearest to the high altar. The floor will be covered with colonial-style clay tile. An ornamental wooden fence will stand at the entrance of the cathedral.

The walls will remain bare and unpainted. They will show the marks of the dynamite blasts, their rough markings were left to symbolize the life of the miners who have thrown all the ardor of their Catholic faith into this underground cathedral as a monument to their devotion.

On Oct. 20, 1950, the Pope's nuncio, Monsignor Antonio Samore, blessed the vaults of the cathedral. A tablet was placed to commemorate the event.

Egg Contest Is Dropped

TUCSON, Ariz. (UP)—The national egg-laying contest conducted for the past 32 years by the University of Arizona has been discontinued. Winner of the final test was the Capital Breeding Farm of St. Paul, Minn., with a pen of white leghorns.

Return to Prison Worth Jail Break

PHILADELPHIA (UP)—Municipal Court Judge Adrian Bonnelly sentenced a man to 9 to 23 months in jail. Deciding to reduce the sentence, he had the man brought back and cut his time to 6 to 23 months.

But a court officer misunderstood. He let the prisoner go free. A few hours later the defendant went to the detective bureau, saying he realized he'd been improperly released. Judge Bonnelly was so impressed, he cut the man's term to 3 to 23 months.

Santa to Visit Trailers

This year, Santa Claus will visit more than two million people who live in house trailers all across the nation.

Reports China-Tibet Road Nearly Done

TOKYO (UP)—Communist China says it has finished all but about 95 miles of the highway being built from west China to Tibet. A Peiping broadcast said a 140-mile stretch, cut across precipices and through forests, was opened last month to traffic.

This section of the road winds through "the most isolated part of the Sikang-Tibet plateau," Peiping said. The road is being built — reportedly with forced labor of political prisoners — to Lhasa, capital of Tibet, from mountainous Sikang province. Scientists estimate there are six sextillion (6 followed by 21 zeros) atoms in a drop of water weighing one 500th of an ounce.

Ralph A. Main Is Working to Modernize Old Drain Act

Oakland County Drain Commissioner Ralph A. Main is working over 20 days a month more than he's required to by law.

The state drain act, passed in 1923, stipulates that drain commissioners need only appear for work one day each month.

Even with weekends deducted, Main says he is still way ahead of the minimum.

The act was passed before drainage problems took on their present scope in more populace counties such as Oakland, he explained.

Which points up the reason why Main has been named to a three-man committee assigned to study and bring up to date the drain act which covers installation and financing of drains plus duties of commissioners.

Last year a joint committee of the State Senate and House was created to supervise the law's updating, said Main.

It in turn designated Main plus Drain Commissioners Floyd Munsell of Livingston County and Claude Stewart of Lapeer County to draw a modernized version of the 1923 act for submission during the Legislature's next session.

"The law was written when many presently populated areas were nothing but farm land needing little drainage," he explained. Under present conditions the law retards and sometimes hinders a drain construction program, Main stated.

For example, the present law makes no provision for recording deeds to land secured as right-of-way.

If the drain is not constructed following the original petition for it and later is asked for again, the right-of-way is no good under the second petition.

"We are recommending that such deeds are recorded, and that the drainage districts pay costs," he said. "Then the right-of-way will be permanent."

GRAND RAPIDS (U.P.)—Wacht Op Het Voetpad.

If it's Dutch to you, that's the way traffic engineer Jerome Franklin meant it to be. The Dutch lettered sign has been posted at a midtown intersection prompting Grand Rapids pedestrians to "wait on the sidewalk" in the heavy Christmas traffic.

Franklin believes the sign will carry a stronger meaning to a greater portion of the city's predominantly Dutch backgrounded residents.

If You Shiver in Present Cold Weather Remember State Once Had 51 Below

If you think the present weather is a bit cold, don't forget that it could be much worse.

Record cold for the state was 51 degrees below zero, recorded at Vanderbilt on Feb. 9, 1934, according to statistics compiled by Dr. Everett R. Phelps, professor of physics and astronomy at Wayne University.

And Michigan can be just as oppressive at the other end of the scale. As on July 13, 1896, for example, when the mercury registered 112 at Mio. The annual mean temperature is 45.

Average annual rainfall 30.7 inches in the state.

The old adage about everyone talking about the weather and no one doing anything about it probably is just as true today with television on the daily scene. Weather experts have become as popular as many TV stars for their daily interpretations and predictions of local and national weather conditions through the medium of television.

Dr. Phelps, TV weatherman for station WJBK-TV, Channel 2, Detroit, says that the layman can predict fairly accurately the coming weather in Michigan.

"Generally," Dr. Phelps said, "weather conditions move across the country from west to east. Since the high pressure areas called 'highs,' the low pressure areas called 'lows,' and the weather fronts move eastward at about 20 m.p.h., Michigan normally gets the weather that was experienced in Minnesota, Wisconsin, Iowa, and northern Illinois the previous day."

"Therefore, by looking at the conditions in these areas on the TV or newspaper weather maps, a pretty good estimate of the Michigan weather can be made for the following day."

Storms are usually associated with low pressure areas and with the passage of cold or warm fronts. A weather front is the dividing line between two masses of air at different temperatures.

If the warm air is doing most of the moving, it will rise up over the cold mass and the meeting of the two masses is called a warm front. Rain or snow, depending on the season, often occurs 150 miles in advance of the warm front. When cold air moves into an area it "pushes" under the warm air pushing it up. Showers often occur from 50 to 100 miles in advance of a cold front and as much as 100 miles behind it.

Under certain conditions of sudden changes in pressure and temperature, violent thunderstorms occur. Occasionally arising within one of these storms will be a very rapid circulation of air called a tornado.

In Michigan, tornadoes are most likely to occur during the spring months, particularly in May, and usually between the hours of 4 and 7 p.m.

Since 1916, there have been 100 tornadoes recorded in Michigan. Previous to 1953, 11 people were killed in tornado disasters. However, in 1953 alone, there were 132 tornado fatalities in Michigan.

Example in Honesty Involves Long Drive

BARDSTOWN, Ky. (U)—Talbot Tavern features novel salt shaker—so novel that a little boy with a family of tourists stuck one in his pocket.

The father didn't discover the boy had the shaker until he had driven 110 miles from Bardstown. But he turned around and came back.

"I wanted to make an example of it," he told the tavern manager, "so he'll learn never to take something that doesn't belong to him."

Big-Eared Little Dogs Should Use More Care

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (U)—A puppy got his head stuck in the middle hole of a discarded auto wheel. Mrs. Eleanor Rowe and her four children couldn't get it out.

Sgt. L. C. Earnest of the sheriff's force folded the pup's ears back close against its neck and pulled it out by the tail. The ears (cocker spaniel type in this case) had trapped it.

Churchmen Learn Patient Problems at Hospitals

Democrats May Spurn UMT Trial

By FRANK B. ALLEN
WASHINGTON (INS) — Democrats in Congress are reportedly planning today to cold-shoulder a proposed "trial run" of universal military training unless President Eisenhower gives it strong personal backing.

At the same time, a powerful Republican who has previously opposed UMT indicated he would now support it in some form.

The plan worked out by the Defense Department for submission to the new Democratic-controlled Congress in January would provide for a voluntary UMT for 100,000 youths as part of the draft act renewal.

The present selective service law expires on June 30.

A survey of leading Democrats and Republicans, most of whom asked that their names not be used, indicated that the proposed program would clear both houses — but only if the President gives it a strong endorsement and if it is only temporary, for two or four years.

However, in his 1952 campaign, Mr. Eisenhower said UMT could not "be piled on top" of selective service although this, in effect, is what the Pentagon plan does.

A Democratic source who declined to be quoted said: "I think we'll wait on this UMT issue and see what the President does. It's unpopular among some people. Why should we antagonize UMT's opponents unless the President says it is imperative?"

But Rep. Dewey Short (R-Mo), now House Armed Services chairman, who led the floor fight in 1952 against a proposal to launch UMT, indicated he expects to support it in some form.

The Defense Department's plan now calls for six months military training for 100,000 youths a year, who would then serve in the reserves for nine and one-half years, considerably longer than the reserve requirements for draftees and enlisted men.

Short, who loses the chairmanship when the Democrats take over control of the House on Jan. 5, declared: "We may have to work out something that will train some youths without disrupting their education or the start of their careers."

The Missouri Republican said he has not developed a plan but is considering an arrangement under which youths could spend three months a year in camp for two or three years. College students could spend their summer vacations in training but for those who have jobs, the arrangement would prove more difficult.

The outgoing military committee chairman said he was skeptical about "temporary" legislation because "these temporary things have a way of becoming permanent fixtures."

But, despite that view, Short declared: "We've got to do something to get our reserves built up. The reserves are the weakest link in our defense chain, and we can't afford to maintain large standing forces indefinitely."

The Pentagon program, as reported earlier by Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson, would supplement a continuation of the current draft of men for two years' service, who would have to spend six years in the reserve.

Under existing law, draftees and enlistees are called to spend eight years, less their active service time, in the reserve, but the defense department has questioned the validity of the law and has never enforced it.

The new bill is virtually certain to propose sharper teeth in the reserve obligation to apply to all.

Fits Controlled by Brain Surgery

Doctor Removes Half of Organ in Order to Halt Seizures

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A Philadelphia surgeon disclosed today he has been successfully treating stubborn cases of epilepsy and similar kinds of fits by removing half of the brains of children.

One side or the other of the brain is taken out and the cavity is filled with a salt water solution. Eventually body tissues absorb the solution and half the skull remains empty.

The youngsters do not lose any of their intelligence and their fits and antisocial behavior disappear, said Dr. Eugene P. Spitz, of children's Hospital, Philadelphia.

Dr. Spitz made the report for delivery to the Radiological Society of North America, organization of specialists who work with X-rays and other forms of radiation. The operation is made possible by X-ray pictures showing which half of the brain is affected.

This surgical feat is not new but it had been tried heretofore only in a limited way. Dr. Spitz reported on 16 such operations. Not all of his little patients lived. But in every case, he said, the seizures stopped immediately.

Some of the newer drugs can control effectively 85 per cent of these afflictions, which are known medically as convulsive seizures. But the other 15 per cent remain in serious trouble. They not only have fits but some of them behave violently. Dr. Spitz told of one who attacked a playmate with a butcher knife. Others were sadistic, disobedient or unduly aggressive.

In children with the uncontrollable kind of seizures there is progressive deterioration of the mentality and the nervous system, Dr. Spitz reported. The condition shows up in an X-ray as a subnormal development of one side of the brain.

Urges Running War Against Diphtheria

LANSING (UP)—A state health official called today for a running war against diphtheria or it could return to kill as it did in the past.

Dr. F. S. Leeder, director of the Health Department's Division of Disease Control, noted that 50 cases of diphtheria were reported in Michigan for the first 11 months of this year, a marked increase over the 12 cases reported for all of 1953.

The low case rate of this disease in recent years has given people a false sense of security," he said.

Leeder advised more "booster" shots to immunize persons against diphtheria, because "it is becoming a problem of teenagers and young adults who have lost the protection of childhood shots."

Port Huron Man Defeats Snow With Unique Car

PORT HURON (AP)—When the snow gets deep on Michigan highways, Irving O. Madsen can sit back and chuckle at motorists struggling to push their autos from roadside drifts.

Madsen is the inventor and builder of the snocar, an odd-looking contraption that looks like the cabin of a small airplane set on skis.

But when it comes to travel over ice or snow-covered highways, Madsen's snocar makes streamlined automobiles look like broken down velocipedes.

Snocar production is strictly limited since Madsen builds them himself as a hobby. So far he's turned out 12 of them, finding buyers in mailmen, doctors and outdoor sportsmen who find them ideal if their pursuits require travel in areas where snow falls deep and stays on the ground most of the winter.

Driven by a propeller, the snocar glides easily over the snow on three steel skis. For use on ice, the skis can be removed and replaced with runners.

DETROIT (AP)—William W. Johnston of Grosse Ile has been named managing director of the Michigan Trucking Assn. Johnston joined the MTA in July 1952 as public relations director.

14 Pastors, Laymen Work as Attendants

By ARNOLD S. HIRSCH

Armed with a knowledge of hospital procedure gained through a special chaplain's training course at Pontiac General Hospital, 14 local pastors and church laymen are now ministering to hospitalized parishioners with fuller understandings of their situation and problems.

The six-week program was conducted in cooperation with the University of Michigan and the Rev. Malcolm B. Ballinger, chaplain of University Hospital, Ann Arbor.

It was designed to show pastors how to make better and more effective calls, to acquaint them with the hospital and to promote mutual understanding and cooperation between them and the hospital.

One of the pastors, the Rev. Roy F. Lambert, of Lakeland United Presbyterian Church, Waterford Township, says the course succeeded in its aims, as far as he is concerned.

"I feel definitely more at home there. That's what I got from the practice part of it," Rev. Lambert said.

"Theoretically, it gave insight as to what to expect from hospitalized people.

"It has given me more understanding of the workings of the mind of a person who is hospitalized and a greater sympathy for the problems he faces, the problems which occur when he leaves home and enters a strange place."

During the course, the pastors and laymen attended once-a-week sessions.

At some they observed surgery at work in the operating room and came away with an almost too-acute cognizance of the narrowness of the slim line between life and death found in every hospital every day.

Much time was spent at lectures and discussions. They heard talks by Lausilla Paul, hospital director, and department heads and other hospital officials.

They heard, too, about ministering to the critically ill and the cancer patient, to the chronically ill and the handicapped, to tuberculosis and dying patients, to alcoholics.

Too, they learned something more of a subject with which most were already familiar—ministering to the bereaved, often a more difficult task than ministering to the dying.

In addition to the lectures, the 14 "students" practiced visiting with patients. They jotted down the conversation afterward, then criticized each other, under Rev. Ballinger's direction.

They spent two half-days on orderly duty—carrying out bedpans, adjusting traction devices, keeping oxygen tent patients supplied with fresh tanks of the life-giving gas and wheeling patients to and from the operating room.

Some became so interested in orderly work that they stayed on beyond the half-day.

The short course was an abbreviated version of a 12-week course given at the University Hospital in the summer time. Another short session was conducted at Pontiac General five years ago.

Shirley Dove, administrative assistant, said such courses help pastors learn "they are a member of the healing team, handling emotional treatment."

Other pastors participating were the Reverends Duncan McCall, L. R. Miner, George Murphy, Harry Parker, L. Fred Peter, Edmund Watkins, Wayne Welton, Edward D. Auchard and Harvey Beach.

Also taking the course were two deaconesses, Salanie A. Beaver and Mary H. Woods.

Completing the roster were two church laymen, C. Theron Van Dusen, of Metamora, representing Grace Episcopal Church, Lapeer, while Robert Grindley, of Birmingham, represented Christ Church Cranbrook.

Milk-Drinking Mendes Buys Round for Army

PARIS (AP)—Frances' milk drinking Premier, Pierre Mendes-France, trained his lactic attack today on the wine-tipping French army.

With French school children already under heavy fire, the government announced that military rations after Jan. 1 will include a quarter of a pint of milk distributed with the morning coffee.

French soldiers now draw a pint of strong red wine daily as their only required liquid ration. This will be continued, the government promised, with the milk just a supplement.

The drive on the young scholars, through a government milk giveaway program, began yesterday at Chatelet-en-Brie where youngsters in the village school were served big bowls of warm sweetened milk. The kids were given a cookie and an orange as inducement, but even then some of them would have none of it.

47,000 'Die' in Mock

Atom Attack on Denver

DENVER (AP)—A mock atomic attack on Denver conducted by civil defense workers yesterday was assumed to have left 47,000 persons dead, 35,000 injured and 180,000 homeless.

Three other cities in the five-state area served by the Denver civil defense office—Wichita, Kansas City and St. Louis—also were assumed to have been hit.

AN EVENING AT HOME—Gathered around the hearth fire in their home, 71 Franklin Blvd., are the Ralph W. Rotsel family. Thrilled with the first fire of the season, they listen intently while their father reads the story of Moses to them. Standing by Mrs. Rotsel is the little daughter, Marga, who is three years old. Leaning on his father's arm is John, four, and sitting on the floor are Beth Elynn, seven and Bill who is twelve years old.

What Religion Means to Our Family

Rotsels Strongly Feel Power of Faith

By LULA B. OGDEN

About a year ago, the Rotsel family came to Pontiac when the father accepted a position as teacher in the Pontiac High School. Quickly they associated themselves with Grace Lutheran Church. In fact before they decided to come they contacted the pastor, the Rev. Otto G. Schultz for an interview.

Mrs. Rotsel relates that this contact brought a pleasant surprise to her, for when Mrs. Schultz answered the doorbell she stood face to face with a school mate of hers at Valparaiso University.

The fact that she had a friend here when she came has helped Mrs. Rotsel suggested.

Rotsel, who has held many congregational offices in other churches, is at present congregational secretary, a member of the Usher's Board and the Lutheran Laymen's League.

As is the custom in the church, all of the children are baptized members and Bill, who returned home just in time for the picture, is attending catechism class in preparation for confirmation.

After observing the easy manner in which Mr. Rotsel read the Bible story to the children and their eagerness in listening one was not surprised when the parents told what religion meant to their family.

"It means regular Church and Sunday School attendance, of course, and daily family devotions and prayers," they said.

"We try to make it even more," they continued, "for as parents we have felt strongly the power of faith through all the big events and minor crises every family meets."

"We could often be consumed with worry were it not for this trust. This spirit we try to convey to the children by discussing it and expressing our thankfulness in their presence."

"We can give them no more genuine security," they said.

The Rotsels came to Pontiac from Tiffin, Ohio. The parents were friends in school near Napoleon where Rotsel's father was principal and in Trinity Lutheran Church where Mrs. Rotsel's father was pastor.

They were married in August, 1941. Rotsel is a veteran of World War II having served on Okinawa.

WHAT'S SO PRETTY?—Actress-dancer Ann Miller looks somewhat perturbed over the harsh hum of machinery nearby, since she got herself all dolled up for what she thought would be a special occasion. Chosen as a queen in the Tournament of Roses parade which will take place

New Year's Day in Los Angeles, Ann wanted to get a preview of her flower-bedecked float. She found only the motorized part ready for viewing. The flowers will be added—some 500,000 of them—in time for the colorful event.

Rose Bowl Fans Will Drive From Ohio in Model T

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UP)—Four hardy "Pioneers" will leave here Saturday in hopes their 1919 Model T Ford will get them to Pasadena, Calif., in time for the Rose Bowl game New Year's Day.

Though they've allowed themselves 20 days for the trip, two Columbus couples believe it will take them only 85 driving hours to reach the site of the holiday classic and cheer their Ohio State football team against the University of Southern California.

Mal Riggie and Al Shuman both own late-model cars, but Riggie, an enthusiastic member of the Antique Automobile Club of America, has convinced Shuman, his wife Maxine and Mrs. Riggie, that his ancient touring car is the proper vehicle for the trip.

them there. It might be a successful trip, but won't be too comfortable. The four must jam themselves, their luggage and variety of custom parts and equipment into the car.

Equipment includes speed bands, an extra carburetor, fan belts, head light bulbs, hand and foot warmers and gallons of antique-blended motor oil.

Man Surprised to Find Old Saddle Gets Around

WEWOKA, Okla. (UP)—When Joel Keesee went into military service a dozen years ago he sold a saddle he had acquired 20 years before when he was 14.

Last week, while visiting his brother in Oklahoma City, he noticed his nephew was using a saddle similar to the one he sold. Keesee inspected it closely and found it was his old saddle. His brother had purchased it in Arizona recently.

3 County Men in Packard Test

Run Car for 25,000
Miles Non-Stop at Utica
Proving Grounds

Three Oakland County men — two test drivers and an engineer, played prominent parts in Packard's recent record-breaking endurance run at the company's proving ground near Utica.

On the team of 12 drivers who spun the pre-production 1955 Packard around the track for nearly ten continuous days and nights were Bruce Honeywell of Rochester and Earl Boylan of Brooklands.

Honeywell, who chalked up the most time on the 2½-mile oval, was behind the wheel when the car flashed across the finish line just before midnight Sunday, Oct. 31, after running 25,000 miles at an average speed of 104.737 miles per hour.

Beside him in the car, which smashed every closed car endurance record over 10,000 miles, was William Penmanen of Rochester, Packard test engineer, who also played a major role in the test. He designed and installed the two-way radios with which the car and pits kept in contact, and kept the communications system operating during the ten-day run.

Rustic Post Office in General Store Ordered Closed

COLDWATER (U) — Another of America's picturesque general store postoffices will vanish from the scene Dec. 31.

It is at Batavia, a community of 60 six miles southwest of Coldwater. Postmaster Max Shook was advised to close up shop with the end of the year. Rural mail carriers from Coldwater will service Batavia thereafter.

Batavia's postoffice was founded some 80 to 90 years ago — no one in the community is exactly certain — in a general store. It has remained in one since and has served as a community gathering place for discussion of "world affairs" as residents waited for the morning mail to be "put up."

E. J. Troutman, who took over as postmaster 40 years earlier, retired two years ago. The postoffice still is in his store, which had a pot-bellied stove and an open cracker barrel when it welcomed the postoffice with Troutman's appointment.

Firm 'Shoots' Workers

HONOLULU (U) — Eight hundred longshoremen were "shot" by Castle & Cooke Terminals and there were no complaints. The shooting was part of the company's tetanus immunization program, the cost of which was borne by the company.

SCIENTIFIC — Microcraft outfit has a ten-inch microscope, chemicals, slide mounting materials, specimens and instructions.

Urge Residents to Fight TB With Christmas Seals

Now is the time for all good citizens to come to the aid of those with tuberculosis.

Those Christmas packages and cards you're sending out in the near future could easily accommodate one or more Christmas seals—paid for with pennies that may someday help save the life of a near-relative or perhaps your own.

In 1914, according to the Oakland County TB Association which was formed in that year, tuberculosis was within the personal experience of almost every family—and old-timers among us can remember the tragic burden each case was to friends and relatives.

Today the disease is not so common and perhaps we might be inclined to forget that about 300 people in this county alone have TB at the present time.

The County TB Association urges that we carry the fight against tuberculosis at full strength, and keep this disease on the run.

Your pennies, dimes and dollars support such projects as: Permanent TB Clinics for X-ray and consultation; case finding by X-ray and skin test; rehabilitation; health education for schools and public; research in medicine; industrial health promotion and assistance; and cooperative work with health departments, physicians and schools.

You can help keep this good work going by buying Christmas Seals—and using them to show that you are backing the battle against tuberculosis.

Sheppard Trial Labyrinth of Dead Ends in Testimony

CLEVELAND (INS)—The Sheppard trial is a labyrinth of dead ends, jungle trails that peter out in the thicket, and hung particles. It is an event wherein to paraphrase, seldom is heard a definitive word and the witnesses are all cloudy and gray.

Nails are driven, but only half in. Palms are pounded with rolled fists, but gloves intercede. Fingers are pointed, but the judge orders the jab stricken from the record. How do you strike a jab?

There was testimony the other day, from the rich full lips of Dr. Steve Sheppard, the strong man of the family, that he used to go with Marilyn Sheppard before Sam Sheppard, accused murderer, did. The way Steve put it, in the collegiate manner of the brothers Sheppard, he dated her.

So, as the testimony meandered on toward its inevitable roadblock, came the day of the murder of the poor girl. Steve, arriving on the scene, first assured himself that Sam wasn't dead, then without any road directions went to the murder room upstairs, came back down in a minute, and began questioning Sam about his condition.

During the next ten minutes, give or take a minute, he got Sam on his feet, half-dragged him to a car, sped him to the family hospital and ordered him bedded down and given a shot of demerol. Then he made out a chart on his condition, came back to the room, gave him an extensive check-up involving reflexes and other things, and, with restraint that would have put C. Aubrey Smith to shame, finally asked what had happened to his beloved brother and to a girl he had once liked or loved.

But the prosecution, with restraint that brought a flush of envy from Dr. Steve, had no questions to pose.

Dr. Steve took a gun to his brother's house when called and informed that Marilyn might be dead and Sam injured, but no medicine kit.

No questions.

Dr. Richard Sheppard testified Dr. Sam carried a gun for a time after the murder, and so did Dr. Steve.

No questions.

Dr. Richard swore that only last month his wife found a key to Dr. Sam's door hidden under the garbage pail in Dr. Sam's kitchen.

No questions.

Mrs. Steve Sheppard, a fine-looking woman with confidence to spare, testified that when she and another sister-in-law went to the murder home to pick up some clothes for little Chip Sheppard, and to empty the ice box of picnic food within minutes after the murdered sister-in-law was carried out in a bag, she noticed an empty billfold that belonged to Marilyn. It looked as if it had been rifled, she said, supporting the defense's claim that burglary was the motive of the slaughter.

No questions.

Dr. Dozier, a red-faced young osteopath with a green necktie that looked like a pressed toad, said that when he went to the poor dead woman's room to take her pulse "to be sure she was dead," the ceiling lights were on. Dr. Sam had told of massive battles in and on the outskirts of the pitch black room.

No questions.

John Mahon, the prosecutor, queried Dr. Richard at length one day about his younger brother's athletic abilities. It was brought out—and of the blue—that Sam played football, basketball, tennis, punched the bag, was good at track and field, etc. etc. etc. There was a pause and the courtroom waited for Mahon to climax it with, "Well, how do you figure

Plan Fair in '76 to Mark Country's 200th Birthday

CHICAGO (UP)—A group of young Chicagoans has announced they are going to stage a world's fair here in 1976 to celebrate the 200th anniversary of the nation's birth.

The group, headed by John E. Stipp, president of the Federal Home Loan Bank, will also seek to land the 1976 Olympic games to run concurrently with the fair. Stipp, 40, said he was the oldest member of the organization, which has adopted the name of the "Committee of '75."

Potent 'Formula' Found by Cops in Baby Buggy

LYNCHBURG, Va. (AP)—Police found some bottles containing a potent formula nestled in a baby carriage during a raid on a home here.

Covered in the buggy were 12 half-gallon jars of illegal whiskey. Four more jars were discovered in a tub of baby clothes covered by an overturned basket. Ten persons were arrested.

'Dehydrofreezing' Process Praised

WASHINGTON (UP)—Agriculture Department scientists today praised a new food processing method called "dehydrofreezing."

They said the process, developed at the Western Regional Research Laboratory, Albany, Calif., combines the space and weight economies of dehydration with the convenience and freshness of freezing to save space, weight, money and flavor.

The department's monthly "Agricultural Research" magazine said pies made with dehydro-frozen apples are "delicious." It said the flavor of apricot pies made from dehydrofrozen fruit is "better in baking tests than that of pies made from frozen, dried or canned fruit." It said preserves from dehydrofrozen apricots are excellent.

Under the process, foods are dried to about half their original weight and volume and then frozen. For simple reconstitution, they can either be cooked directly or soaked in water.

Hawaiian Tunnel Project Incurs Wrath of 'Gods'

HONOLULU (AP)—Hawaiians were not surprised when a cave-in occurred in a tunnel project through the Koolau mountains, killing five men.

Old-time Hawaiians say the gods were angry because two Eeapa stones had been destroyed by bulldozers building an approach to the tunnel from the Honolulu side of the mountain range.

What can be done to placate the gods? This is what the Hawaiians recommend: "Nothing less than the sacrifice of a black pig with a red stripe down the body can undo the mischief."

New Knowledge Handy

NEW BRITAIN, Conn. (UP)—Shortly after a fire prevention film ended at a New Britain theater an awning on a nearby store burst into flames. The theater's maintenance man, Harry Englund, and Policeman William Chute who had seen the film, doused the flames before firemen arrived.

Europe Lashed by Chill Blasts

Shipping in North Sea Struck Again; Floods Hit England

LONDON (U)—Freezing winds spread snow, ice and sleet over much of western Europe today and threats of new gales sent battered North Sea shipping scurrying for shelter.

Torrential rain brought floods to parts of Britain, which still was counting the damage from yesterday's vicious gales. Landslides closed more than 30 main highways.

The weather eased in the English Channel however, and the liner Queen Elizabeth was able to leave Southampton for New York after high winds had stopped her sailing yesterday.

Action, a northwest London suburb, reported heavy damage from a small tornado.

Leicestershire, in the English Midlands, reported its worst floods in 25 years.

Gale warnings for the North Sea and Baltic imperiled shipping still reeling from two weeks of almost continuous heavy weather. Three lifeboatsmen were swept away when a giant wave capsized their vessel off Scarborough, northeast England.

Off France's Atlantic coast the small Dutch coal carrier Ariel sank in a heavy storm and five crewmen were lost.

The first snow of the winter swept over Belgium and Holland, and was expected to reach Sweden and Germany today.

Up to three feet of snow blanketed the Swiss and Italian Alps during the night. Most mountain roads were blocked.

Father, 2 Daughters Die in Chicago Blaze

CHICAGO (U)—A father and his two small daughters died last night in a flash fire at their North Side home.

The victims were identified as Earl Jorgensen, 30, and his children, Elizabeth, 5, and Margaret, 2. The wife and two other children escaped uninjured.

Firemen said the victims apparently suffocated before help reached them. Cause of the fire was unknown.

Balloon Sets Record

LANSING (U)—The distance record for balloons released in Detroit to publicize TB Christmas seals was set by one that drifted to Listowel, Ont., 140 miles from Detroit, Michigan Tuberculosis Association headquarters reported today. Reports are still coming in and a longer flight may yet be recorded, TB headquarters said.

Show Business

Actors Often Asked to Give Away the Only Thing They Have to Sell

By EDDIE CANTOR

I say this not in the spirit of bragging, but I have played as many benefits as anyone I know these past 40 years. No performer minds appearing for a worthy cause—March of Dimes, cerebral palsy, American Cancer Society, the American Heart Association, and the many others.

But what I object to are the requests for benefit performances to raise funds to buy dinner clothes for the South Sea cannibals, shelters for prodigal sardines who have strayed from their cans and cod liver oil to develop bones in jellyfish. Once, so help me, an elderly lady asked me to appear in a show to aid the people in the uninhabited parts of the earth.

No one would think of asking a jeweler to contribute a $2,000 bracelet several times a week; a committee wouldn't dare say to General Motors, "Send us several Cadillacs;" and yet actors are asked to give away the only thing they have to sell.

Now get me right—I don't mind working hard on a drafty, creaky stage, singing myself hoarse in some auditorium where the microphone has broken down; I don't mind changing my clothes in a dirty dressing room provided with a roller towel that's enjoyed a longer run than "Able's Irish Rose;" but I want to know that I've made some orphan happier, or have provided another bed in a hospital. I speak for all the members of my profession when our good intentions are either wasted or used for a selfish purpose.

Let's take the ladies auxiliary of the "Good Neighbors of Hello Everybody—How Have You Been—You Look Fine" association. They have a membership of 75, 50 of whom are officers. These well-meaning ladies decide they ought to give some money to an orphan's home. What do they do? They run a benefit.

The committee rents a theater, hires an orchestra (which gets paid) and has programs printed (the printer gets paid, too). Now they go out and contact the actors. One star is not enough. This is a big benefit for a good cause, so they get a half dozen stars and eight or ten lesser acts.

The benefit performance is a huge success. The receipts amount to $2,800—and they find their expenses were $3,000. So they are actually $200 short. What do they do to make up the deficit? You're right—they run another benefit.

Taipei Says Conflict 'Becoming Serious'

TAIPEI, Formosa (U)—Gun duels between Chinese Nationalists and Communists in the Quemoy-Amoy area "are becoming serious again," the Nationalist Defense Ministry said today.

A ministry communique said the Reds on Amoy and two smaller islands fired 214 shells today at the Nationalists on Quemoy, Little Quemoy and Tan Islands. The Nationalists fired back until the Red bombardment stopped, the communique said.

In the Tachen Island area, 200 miles north of Formosa, Chinese Communists on Tumen fired 21 artillery shells at the Nationalist outpost on Yikiang.

The Nationalist communique said the Red fire caused no damage or casualties.

Nips Rumor of Canadian Withdrawal From Korea

TOKYO (U)—Reports from Ottawa that all Canadian forces will be pulled out of Korea by early 1955 are "entirely unfounded," a Canadian Embassy spokesman said today.

An embassy spokesman said it was possible the report was based on a report that about two thirds of the Canadians now in Korea will be home for Christmas. He said that leaves an infantry battalion, a field ambulance unit and administrative units in Korea.

Talks Resume Monday in Canada Ford Strike

WINDSOR, Ont. (INS)—Representatives of the Ontario government, the CIO-United Auto Workers and the strikebound Ford Motor Co. of Canada have postponed further peace talks until 2 p.m. Monday.

The decision to adjourn the meetings was reached yesterday after Ontario Labor Minister Charles Daley met separately with company and union officials in an attempt to halt the 60-day strike by 5,500 workers at Ford's Windsor plant.

Michigan Fugitive Killed

HARLAN, Ky. (U)—State police shot and killed a man identified as Clayton Henaley, 26, of Wallins, Ky., a fugitive from Southern Michigan Prison, in a poolroom at near-by Cawood yesterday.

Sheriff William S. Hensley (no relation) said Henaley was shot when he attempted to elude arrest.

Strangling Story Fails to Hold Up

Ann Arbor Police Are Unable to Find Corpse After Confession

ANN ARBOR (U)—Ann Arbor police say they can find no trace of a strangling "confessed" by a blacksmith's helper in San Francisco.

The Californian, Andre Michael Goosev, 24, later retracted his statement.

The FBI and San Francisco Police Inspector Jack O'Keefe notified Ann Arbor police of Goosev's story which was:

In October 1953 Goosev strangled a girl he knew only as "Jean" and threw her body into a lake, the name of which he couldn't remember.

The girl had noticed narcotics in his car, he said, and he had promised to go to the police with her. But on the way, he said, he strangled her.

San Francisco authorities quoted Goosev as saying he "confessed" because he was "unable to sleep and suffered mentally."

Goosev called police from an all-night restaurant, where he was picked up. Later he denied killing anyone, but he was held pending further investigation.

Ann Arbor police said they have no record of any girl strangled or missing in the area in 1953.

ROK Pilots Flying Jets

OSAN, Korea (U)—South Korean air force pilots today flew jet planes for the first time in Korea. They began a jet flight under course under American airmen's guidance.

'Dear John' Tax Note Leads to Divorce Grant

BALTIMORE (U)—Mrs. Rosemarie T. Robinson, 30-year-old New York telephone operator, was awarded a divorce here yesterday by Judge James K. Cullen.

Mrs. Robinson testified that when she arrived at her former Baltimore home on July 10, 1950, she found a note from her husband on a federal income tax envelope. It said: "So long kid, go to hell, pay this."

Franco Now Grandpa

MADRID (INS)—Generalissimo Francisco Franco became a grandfather for the first time today. His daughter, the Marquessa Villaverde, gave birth to a son in the Pardo, Franco's palace in Madrid.

Off-the-Record Court Gives Offenders Another Chance

By BURDET C. STODDARD
"Dear Sir:
"I really don't have much to say except things went about the same as all the rest of the months. But, no matter what I would say, I still could not thank you enough."

This letter from a teenage boy who was counseled by Oakland County's off-the-record court was received by Chief Assistant Oakland County Prosecutor George F. Taylor.

The prosecutor was being thanked for ironing out a problem which would have stained the youth's whole future.

The boy had committed a crime—a first offense. Regular procedure would find him brought into court and acquiring a criminal record. An indelible blot through later years. If the crime were a felony, the armed forces would not accept him. He might be barred from responsible jobs.

All this could have happened, but it didn't. Investigation revealed the lad had a good background and surroundings which could mold him into a hard-working, useful citizen if the one slip, taken without realizing the serious implications, could be straightened out with no "criminal" brand.

Taylor and Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem had set up an Oakland County Off-the-Record Court in September 1953. They decided to offer the youth the court's unique opportunity.

The parents were informed the court had no legal jurisdiction, and made no record of proceedings. There would be no publicity. Their son would have no criminal record and would receive another chance.

The boy would probably be placed on six months probation, they were told, and if the lad's conduct warranted it, the case closed. If he failed, a warrant would be signed and the case handled through regular court channels.

They did not have to use the off-the-record program unless they desired to.

The offender appeared with his parents before Taylor, acting as referee, at the county courthouse here. The complaining witness and police officers involved were present.

"Everyone had an opportunity to fully express themselves," said Taylor. "The boy told of the circumstances leading to his predicament and his parents gave their side of the case."

"The boy was placed on probation which he completed successfully with every prospect of no recurrence in the future."

Since the court's inception, 141 boys and girls have appeared at the weekly sessions presided over by Taylor or Ziem. Only two have broken probation to the extent where they had to be taken through the regular court.

Probation terms for those in school require them to be in by 9 p.m. each night except Friday and Saturday when they remain out until midnight if their parents know their whereabouts.

Most frequent crimes involved are larceny from an auto, illegal possession of alcohol, using false identification to buy alcohol and breaking and entering, said Taylor. Other requirements are regular monthly reports, maintaining savings accounts plus attendance at Sunday school or church.

"I discovered that 70 per cent of teenagers who break the law have no church," Taylor stated. "While no one can be made to attend church, it has been surprising how many parents now lead the way . . . where before the child was sent or did not go at all."

"I am now receiving calls to have the court handle sex cases involving female children."

Before parents refused to prosecute to avoid publicity and the child's appearance on the witness stand, he explained.

"While they were outraged and felt something should be done, they refused. Now many are willing to have the case handled by the informal court without publicity. We are able to build a record of sex offenders and deviates otherwise unknown to us."

Over 33 per cent of school youngsters handled by the court have topped their grades substantially.

"In some cases we find lack of spending money is the sole cause of the trouble. Then we attempt to find jobs for the youths."

As the case load increased, some of the teenagers on probation were directed to make reports to and seek guidance from respected persons in their communities. Men and women's civic organizations have offered their support, Taylor stated.

"Youngsters who have been processed through the court now have a cooperative rather than a belligerent attitude," he stated. "They feel the law enforcing officers are trying to understand their problems and reach a sensible solution."

Rhee Raps Backers of Red Coexistence

SEOUL (AP)—President Syngman Rhee has threatened stern punitive measures against Koreans advocating coexistence with communism.

The 79-year-old president said in a statement the Communists were advocating coexistence through Japan, Red China and Britain, and "the situation is such that the United States is inclined to go along."

"Even if the United States turns out to be an advocate of coexistence," Rhee said, "we are determined to fight and die for freedom and independence."

Maryland Hunters Bag 1,000-Pound Black Angus

SALISBURY, Md. (AP)—Deer hunters on Maryland's Eastern Shore bagged a 1,000-pound animal yesterday but it didn't exactly meet specifications since it was a black Angus steer.

Battle Mixon, regional game warden, said the steer was killed before daylight on the farm of Elmer Massey. He blamed "jack-lighters"—hunters who do their gunning at night with the aid of lamps, an illegal practice.

Extra Precinct Policemen Stem Crime in Manhattan's Lawless East Harlem

Editor's Note: New York Police Commissioner Francis W. H. Adams believes he has found a sure-fire way to stem the rise in crime which is menacing every American city. Three months ago the 25th Police Precinct in New York was one of the most notorious in America. Today, the crime rate has been cut in half. The following dispatch tells how it was done.

By ROBERT ZIMMERMAN
NEW YORK (UP)—Joe Gutlio, who runs a luncheonette on East 125th street in Manhattan's sordid "East Harlem," said today he isn't afraid any more to walk home alone at night.

Down the street a block, haberdasher Irving Chatoff is expecting business to pick up. He said people needn't worry so much about coming out to shop. There is less chance they will be held up by a teenage hoodlum, assaulted by a drug addict or propositioned by a prostitute.

"The place has really quieted down," Chatoff said. "Those cops have done a swell job."

Almost everywhere you turn in his neighborhood you see a man in uniform.

In the office of Police Commissioner W. H. Adams they call it "Operation 25." Adams, in office less than a year, undertook it three months ago as a bold experiment to test his theory that the one sure way to hold down the crime rate is to put more policemen on the street.

For a laboratory he chose the 25th Precinct in upper Manhattan, a single square mile crowded with 120,000 persons of all races and characters. Its crime rate was atrocious, and getting worse.

The precinct had a theoretical strength of 186 patrolmen, but with parade duty, sick leave and other factors, the active number was always less. On Sept. 1 the New York Police Academy graduated 250 rookies. Adams sent every one of them to the 25th Precinct.

The precinct also got a reinforcement of plainclothesmen, detectives, traffic cops and juvenile aid officers. In brief, its police strength was gauged to what the neighborhood required rather than what the city thought it could afford.

Then Adams collected the crime statistics for 10 weeks and compared them with figures from the same period a year ago. The results, he just-announced, are "incredible."

Robberies dropped 71 per cent; burglaries 54 per cent. Purse snatching, pickpocketing and other forms of grand larceny were down from 84 cases to 25, and car stealing was down from 40 cases to 15.

This month Adams took new classes of rookie cops and assigned them to tough neighborhoods in Brooklyn and Queens to repeat the experiment.

Cameras Ideal for Yule Giving

Types Now on Market for Every Age; Prices Also Range Widely

A Christmas gift that's truly ideal is one that, besides giving pleasure, also gives cherished memories. And that adds up to a camera.

Cameras are suitable gifts for almost any age group. They enable the gift recipient to keep his happiest moments recorded for years to come. And they're priced to fit every budget.

Box cameras for raw beginners can be had for as low as three or four dollars. One new $4 model takes outdoor pictures on two types of film: full color and black-and-white. Others come with flash attachments for use indoors or at night.

Each of the major firms, such as Kodak, Argus and Graflex, now sells a special Christmas package.

Included in a typical package are camera, flash unit, batteries, flash lamps, film and carrying case—everything needed to take good pictures. Also offered, by some, are booklets on proper technique.

For the photo-bug who is more advanced, there are cameras to fit every taste and every shade of experience. An expert run-down on each can be had from your neighborhood camera dealer.

Sure to wow expert and novice alike are the newest advances in stereo cameras, such as those by Beyer and Linex.

If you never have seen one work, ask your dealer to demonstrate. When the picture is seen through a special viewer, the scene becomes three-dimensional. Results are amazingly lifelike.

Another popular favorite is the self-developing Polaroid camera. A minute after you shoot the picture, you can take out a finished print.

For those who have cameras

FOR THE HOBBYIST—Scale models of four historical locomotives can be made from kit. Engines will fit O gauge track.

already, you can purchase many accessory items, ranging from film to movie projectors, which will add to their hobby's enjoyment.

U.S. Winter GI Called Among Best Equipped

CAMP HALE, Colo. (AP) — The United States' winter soldier is "one of the best and most luxuriously equipped cold-weather troops in the world," a noted polar explorer said after visiting this two-mile-high Army post yesterday.

Sir Hubert Wilkins, a consultant for the Army Quartermaster Corps is here to test a new plastic snow-shoe in arctic-type conditions.

JUNIOR EDITORS

PIERRE GOES FOR BREAD

The greatest natural resource of France is its soil. And farming is the country's chief industry. From the land comes grain, including wheat, oats, rye and barley. French bakers use this grain to make many good things to eat. Among the favorite products are large loaves of French bread. Today's picture shows a typical French schoolboy and a loaf of bread. You can make the boy hold the bread under his arm, as though he were on his way home from the bakery.

1. With water colors or crayons, make Pierre's clothing any bright colors you think he should wear. His hat (a beret) probably would be dark blue and his apron light blue. His short pants might be green, his stockings red and white striped and his wooden shoes brown. Color the flowers around his feet green, and make the bread yellow with brown shading around the edge of the crust.

2. With white library paste, mount the picture on cardboard. When dry, cut out the loaf of bread and the two parts of Pierre. Paste the front and back sections of the boy together as far down as the bottom of the pants. Spread the legs apart and Pierre will stand up.

3. Cut through the dotted line under Pierre's arm. Fold the bread down the middle, paste together, and slip it through the slot under his arm.

Says Russia Stressing Long-Range Bombers

LONDON (AP)—An authoritative British aircraft survey says the Russians are stressing long-range heavy bombers in a huge aircraft production race with the West that embraces 360 Soviet factories.

The 1954-55 edition of the unofficial "Jane's All the World's Aircraft," published last night, reported that Russia also is concentrating on building up a modern fighter screen in the satellite countries.

Teachers Go to School

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP)—Instructors who teach automobile driving in Alabama's high schools are going back to school next week. They will attend a driver training instructor's course at the University of Alabama Dec. 13-17.

Tool Kit Replaces BriefcaseKefauver Plays Mechanic Role at Home

WASHINGTON (UP)—I said to the senator, why don't we talk politics and about who's going to be in the White House if Ike does not run.

Estes Kefauver, whose name has been mentioned as a possible candidate on the Democratic ticket, was, as always, coy.

He forked his salad, looked over his eye-glasses and said:

"Let's talk about electric trains and how to fix them."

It was a lunch break and the Senate was fixing to adjourn until the 8th comes along.

"David," said the senator. "I'm afraid I'll never grow up to be an engineer. He's too careless with his trains. And here I am about to have some free time, and what do I face? A repair job on diesels, cabooses, switches, rails and toy pullman porters which are supposed to jump in and out of the cars, lugging luggage. They don't lug any luggage because some connection is busted. And who has to fix things around my house? Me!"

The gentleman from Tennessee said that some unthinking reporter once wrote a little piece for the papers suggesting that Kefauver was one-third senator, one-third lawyer and one-third mechanic.

"Linda, my 13-year-old, read that to her two sisters, Diane and Gail, and David, who is eight," the senator said. "And now I not only have to fix electric trains, but mechanical dolls and other things as well. It can wear on a man who has his head set on a bit of 'coon shooting'."

So that's what the senator will be doing with his free holiday time. Fixin' and some more fixin'. Not only trains and busted doll houses, but the repairing of bike tires, plumbing around his house here, and taping up some of the wiring around the place.

"I could write a companion piece to that hit song called 'This Old House,'" Sen. Kefauver said.

And when the senator gets finished with repair jobs for the kids and his lovely wife, Nancy, he like as not will get some calls for help from some of his neighbors.

Charlie A. Halleck, a Republican from Indiana, may well have a leaky faucet. Or perhaps Lister Hill, the senator from Alabama, will come up with faulty wiring. Or another neighbor, Sen. John J. Sparkman of Alabama, the Democratic candidate for vice president in the last election, might need some advice on how to wire up an electric train.

And after he has his pinkies worn to the nub, he'll have to take the paint and grease off his hands, dress up and go with Nancy to a parent-teachers meeting.

The senator doesn't mind. He has an interest in his children and is popular as an ordinary stand-upper at the PTA sessions.

"All I do is raise my hand at LOOKS REAL.—Golden tuba is made of Bakelite plastic, but looks like a real thing. It makes a fine tuba noise.

these small gatherings," the senator said. "Then I get up and say my little piece. Sometimes I make my point. A few times I have been shouted down. Like the time—well, never mind."

Asks Own Pay Cut

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UP)—Orville Cheney, who'll become state revenue commissioner next month, told the Arkansas Legislative Council that the commissioner's salary should be cut $1,000 a year because of declining revenues. The council agreed. Cheney will make $7,500 annually instead of the usual $8,500.

Rep. Velde Weds Aide

BALTIMORE (UP)—Rep. Harold H. Velde, Illinois Republican who heads the House Un-American Activities Committee, and Mrs. Dolores Anderson, committee secretary, were married here last night in the Overlea Baptist Church.

Deaths Last Night

ARIZONA N. C. (AP)—Joseph B. Keenan, 66, Washington lawyer, famed as a gangster and chief prosecutor in the Japanese war crime trials in Tokyo.

MONTROSE N. Y.—Col. Harold M. Rayner, 68, at one time military assistant to Presidents Wilson and Harding, King Albert of Belgium and Gen. John J. Pershing. He retired in 1942.

NEW YORK—Anthony J. Aste, 88, known as the "King of the Bootblacks" who founded the Griffin Manufacturing Co. and built it to the world's biggest shoe polish firm.

MOSCOW—Nina Vasilievna Varnar, wife of composer Dmitry Shostakovich.

NEW GLASCOW N. B.—John A. Wilson, 78, sculptor of many military monuments in the United States and for many years an instructor of sculpting in Boston.

CHICAGO—The Rev. Thomas A. Egan, 70, former dean of Loyola of Chicago University's evening school and the college of arts and sciences, and formerly at Creighton University, Marquette University and St. Louis University.

Pilot Waiting for Reply on Airborne Proposal

BOYNE CITY (UP)—At last report, Carl Demler, 40, was waiting anxiously for an answer to his unique proposal.

Demler, a professional crop duster from Deer Lake, took to the air yesterday to ask the girl of his choice to become his bride.

His plane cruised through the sky for 15 minutes carrying a banner which read:

Escaping Convict Eludes Guards, Finds Own Trap

MCLESTER, Okla. (UP)—Sam Ramos, 32-year-old convicted armed robber serving time at the Oklahoma State Penitentiary, bolted himself inside a steel cabinet outside the main prison wall after working hours in the industrial area. Only a chain link fence stood between him and freedom—he thought.

When darkness came he tried to remove the nuts with which he had secured the door on the 36x20x20-inch cabinet. Ramos is 5 feet 8½.

He was so cramped he couldn't budge to twist the nuts. After 16 hours, he gave up and aroused guards by screaming. He tumbled out like a pretzel.

Production of mustard seed in the U. S. dropped to 11 million pounds in 1949 after the all-time peak of about 73 million pounds in 1941.

Waits 4 Years for Trial, Dies Hour After Verdict

BOSTON (UP)—After waiting 4½ years for a damage suit to come to trial, Badsten Leon, 65, won an $8,000 verdict from a Superior Court jury yesterday—then died of a heart attack an hour later.

The civil suit arose from an automobile collision in Brimfield, Mass., in May 1950. Leon was convicted of dangerous driving and fined $50. Seeking to clear himself, he sued the driver of the other car, claiming personal injuries.

Woman Imprisoned for Torturing Boy, 5

her care has been sentenced to one year in prison.

Mrs. Gettie Lee Cook pleaded guilty to a charge of mayhem yesterday.

Her daughter Charlene Lindsey, 16, told officers she held little Connie Thames while her mother

Over 200 Birds Flitting Around Couple's House

PHILADELPHIA (UP)—The bird population at F. Patrick Flinn's house is increasing by leaps and bounds.

Flinn, who lives in a modest row house in the Kensington section, bought two parakeets while recuperating from an operation two years ago. Now he has 200 of the feathered creatures, plus three dozen canaries.

Despite a food bill of 30 cents a week per bird and a lot of daily housecleaning, Flinn and his wife never think of the birds as expensive or bothersome.

It's a lot of work looking after them, but can you imagine a world without birds? Mrs. Flinn asked. "Their song is beautiful and they're beautiful to see."

The parakeets are free to fly around a large, airy room on the third floor, while the canaries are caged on the first floor.

The house, filled with the song of birds by day, is silent at night. "The birds are good neighbors," said Flinn. "They keep quiet at night."

Light Colonel Satisfied With Sergeant's Rank

NEW YORK (AP)—Lt. Col. Gerald Crosson came home recently after flying 105 helicopter missions in Korea to become a sergeant—but that was the way he wanted it.

Crosson, who holds the air medal with two clusters and a special citation, went back to his old job of flying a "whirlybird" for the local police department's aviation division.

Mamie Shops Early

Ike's Gift Already Wrapped

WASHINGTON (INS) — This is really a tip off to President Eisenhower.

His Christmas present from Mamie is already wrapped and is now carefully hidden someplace in the White House.

This much was disclosed today by Mrs. Eisenhower's secretary, Mrs. Mary Jane McCaffrey, who reported that the First Lady has done her Christmas shopping early and is now busy wrapping up presents.

Mrs. McCaffrey wouldn't give out any further hints about the presidential present. She flatly refused to say what it is, asserting that even chief executives are entitled to be surprised on Christmas morning.

Mrs. Eisenhower was described as enjoying wrapping the gifts. She prefers old-fashioned red and greens in the trimmings but uses a gay printed paper, a generous amount of ribbon and Santa Claus stickers as well as others saying: "Do Not Open Until Christmas."

The First Lady buys her presents during the year and right now those being wrapped are "scattered all over her living room."

Mrs. Eisenhower's gifts for her three grandchildren usually run to clothing—little shirts and sweaters—because she feels the children have more than enough toys.

Is It More Expensive to Have a Will? Usually Less and Here Are the Reasons

By MERRYLE S. RUKEYSER
NEW YORK (INS) — The law in our free-choice, unregulated society recognizes not only your right to save and amass private property, but, in addition, gives you the right during your life time to dispose of your assets after death.

If you are a procrastinator and put off the unpleasant and negative task of contemplating death and making a will, the law provides for automatic disposal of your property to next of kin.

The person who dies untended is technically considered intestate, which means without having left a valid will.

Leaving an improperly drawn will also can cause much trouble. First, it is a mistake to be inflexible, and to withhold reasonable discretion from the prudent survivors you trust to execute your will.

I favor giving executors and trustees the same discretion which prudent men show in handling their own personal affairs.

Second, since we live in a speculative economic society and since it is difficult to predict the level of security prices and other property values at the unknown future time of death, it is well to state your bequests in terms of percentages of the value of your estate, rather than in fixed dollars.

Third, in view of ever changing federal and state laws governing estate taxes and other imposts, your will should be reviewed at least once a year by a competent attorney and accountant.

Fourth, at the time your will is drawn, an accountant should be in the conference to guide the lawyer who drafts the will. Unless a balance sheet is drawn up to show precisely what you own, that is, what you have to dispose of, errors will be made.

Some people are inclined to frown on arranging for the administration of an estate, thinking it too expensive. But does it cost more to have a will?

In a brochure on wills, the Bar Association of San Francisco says no, explaining:

"If you rely on the laws of succession to dispose of your property, an administrator appointed by the court does the work that the executor named in your will would otherwise do."

"The administrator has only limited powers and your estate is put to an expense when he must obtain court orders authorizing him to sell property and other matters outside of his usual powers."

"He is also obliged to give a surety bond and your estate pays for the premium on it. The cost of drawing a will is often less than the premium on the surety bond."

"Furthermore, a carefully drawn will can help to reduce taxes and other expenses. In naming an executor on your will, you can provide that he need give no bond, and you can give him broad powers to handle sales and other matters without procuring leave of court."

"The reason that your estate must go through court is to make sure that your debts and any death taxes due from your estate are paid before the property is distributed to your heirs.

"The persons to whom you owe money are allowed six months from the time your executor or administrator is appointed by the court within which to file their claims against the estate. The same period is allowed to anyone who may wish to contest your will."

"While the usual probate proceedings may be avoided for very small estates of personal property only, in most cases estates must go through the probate court whether or not there is a will."

In circumstances that warrant a review and rewriting of your will, this Bar Association adds:

"If you marry after making a will and your husband or wife survives you, the will is revoked as to the surviving spouse unless other provision has been made for such spouse, or he or she is mentioned in the will in such a way as to clearly show an intention not to make such provision. This also applies to issue of such marriage."

"Children born or adopted after a will has been made (unless provided for in the will) are entitled to the same share they would receive if there was no will."

"Divorce does not revoke a will. Your will should be reviewed periodically in light of changing circumstances — changes in your own status (married or single), deaths among your beneficiaries, changes in your property holdings, additions to your family and those of your heirs, death or removal of your named executor from the state, and on the change of your own residence to another state."

since you must conform to the laws of the state of your residence."

As to whether your setup is big enough to justify a will, the Kansas Bar Assn., in a leaflet, gives this answer:

"Any property constitutes an estate. If you own a home or even have made a down payment on the home, you have an estate. For practical purposes, figure you have an estate if you are worth $1,000 or more. Personal and family circumstances as well as the value of the estate should determine whether you need a will."

At Engineer's Office

Machine Makes White Blueprints in 20 Seconds

Thanks to a brand-new machine, the "blueprint blues" are no more to be found in the drafting department of the City Engineer's office.

In fact, there aren't any more blueprints being turned out. With the new device, prints come out on white paper with blue lines, instead of the other way around.

But, most important, the prints are made in 20 seconds. On the old blueprint machine, which dated back to World War I days, the same job took five to seven minutes.

"Naturally, there is much less manpower involved with the new machine," said James N. Carlisle, assistant city engineer. "And we get much clearer prints."

"Besides that, we can write on the prints with an ordinary pencil. With blueprints you can't do that."

DISGUISES — "Play a Story with Dolly", affords creative play for rainy days, good entertainment for child's party.

The new print machine uses ammonia fumes to produce the finished product.

A tracing is made and then placed on top of a sheet of sensitized paper. After being exposed to a quartz lamp, the tracing is separated from the print paper.

The print paper, showing faintly the tracing, then is put into another part of the machine and exposed to ammonia fumes, which bring out the sketch sharply.

The old machine used a wet process. And even after the print had gone through the device's ancient innards, it had to be put through three chemical tanks by hand, then dried.

Girl's Abductor Called to Court

Forced Reporter From Newsroom at Gunpoint to Propose Marriage

LA PORTE, Ind. (AP)—A rejected suitor who at gunpoint abducted a pretty blonde reporter from the newsroom of the La Porte Herald-Argus yesterday was summoned into court today.

Robert Panek, 25, a tall, gaunt printer's apprentice, brought reporter Abbey Johnson, 22, back to the office an hour and 40 minutes after forcing her into his car. She said he had not threatened her but had proposed marriage. She said she refused.

Panek handed her his .22-caliber rifle when he let her out of his car, she said.

A short time later he appeared at the police station and gave himself up. He was held on preliminary charges of disorderly conduct.

Miss Johnson was reported too unnerved to talk to out-of-town newsmen, Bob Topping, a Herald-Argus reporter, said she had told him Panek was trying to get her to reconsider a decision not to date him any more.

The girl had resigned from the paper, effective Dec. 18, to return to her Chicago home, explaining her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Johnson, were ill. She has been with the Herald-Argus for 13 months.

Hal Boyle SaysOffice Athletes in Prime During the Winter Season

NEW YORK (U)—Does your office have a winter athlete? It must have. No season brings out the latent Tarzan in the office more than winter.

Typical of the office winter athlete is Ronald Halfacre, the empire builder. Ronald is a young enthusiast who firmly believes family life in America reached a new peak the day he made the down payment on his small home in the suburbs.

This time of year he has an almost continuous verbal duel with "the Oldtimer," a fellow employee who claims he once lived in the suburbs but wouldn't live more than two blocks from a subway station now for a million dollars.

Each morning Ronald comes in to the office with his cheeks glowing from the cold.

"What's the matter, Halfacre?" asks the Oldtimer. "You look awful flushed. You got a fever?"

"Fever nothing," says Ronald, importantly. "I walked to the station from my house today. Boy, it was brisk. Nothing like fresh air and exercise to pep you up."

He rubs his hands vigorously and brags, "Yep, walked more than a mile. Now I feel like I could whip a barrel of wildcats."

"How do you keep the pump thawed out on your well?" inquires the Oldtimer. "It must be a real problem in this freezing weather."

"What do you mean—the pump on my well?" replies Ronald indignantly. "We don't have a well. We've got hot and cold water in the house, just like everybody else."

"Well," says the Oldtimer, "The suburbs certainly have gone sissified since I lived in 'em."

Along about 10:30 a.m., all his fresh air and exercise begins to go to Ronald's head. He dozes at his desk. The Oldtimer, first alerting everybody else in the office, then goes up to Ronald, shakes him and says in a loud voice:

"Wake up, Halfacre. It's time to start gathering your energy for lunch."

This annoys Ronald mightily. He is also annoyed because of the Oldtimer's habit of clipping out articles on pneumonia and putting them on his desk. It is a sore point with him that, for all his boasting about the healthful life of the suburbs, he comes down with at least three colds a winter. The Oldtimer never has one; says city life has immunized him.

It takes a snowfall to bring out the real winter athlete in Ronald. He arrives at work, puffing and blowing and purple in the face.

"Man, what a snow!" he says. "I had to get up at five o'clock and shove a path from my garage to the street."

The next morning Ronald's wife phones in and says he is sick with a strained back and won't be on the job for the rest of the week. The Oldtimer joyously spreads the word around the office. "Halfacre's out again—the doc says he's got the bends."

After the initial snowfall of the season last year, the Oldtimer sent Ronald a telegram to his bed of pain saying, "Just saw the first robin of spring in Central Park. What's new up your way?"

Ronald didn't speak to the Oldtimer for months. Now they're feuding again. It began innocently enough when the Oldtimer remarked he'd recently visited Ronald's suburb.

"Gee, that's swell," said Halfacre, excitedly. "Were you pricing a new house?"

"Now, just pricing a cemetery lot," said the Oldtimer. "It looks like a swell town to be buried in."

Hubbard Will Make Second Judge Try

DETROIT (U)—Orville Hubbard, temperamental mayor of suburban Dearborn, made ready with his petitions today to run for circuit judge.

Hubbard, who has figured in a number of court cases himself, ran for the circuit bench two years ago. He finished 21st in a field of 29, and 18 were elected.

"I'm really serious about this race," he said. "I like my present job, but I've always looked on it as merely a detour in my ambition to be a lawyer and a judge. And I feel that my background in municipal government will be of great benefit to the public."

New Church Planned

NAZARETH, Israel (U)—A cornerstone was laid yesterday—the end of the Marian Year—for the new Church of the Annunciation, fourth church to be built on the site over the holy ground where the angel Gabriel is said to have appeared to the Virgin Mary.

Australia has airline service to more than 380 cities, towns and ranch centers.

Train Robbery Loot UncoveredHunters Find Pennies Stolen by Error in 1909 Pennsy Holdup

LEWISTOWN, Pa. (U)—This central Pennsylvania community today buzzed with accounts of a robbery—a train robbery that took place more than 45 years ago.

The talk started yesterday when three deer hunters reported they accidentally stumbled across what might be part of the loot taken from a Pennsylvania Railroad train near here in an early-morning holdup in 1909.

The uncovered "loot" consists of about 3,700 Lincoln head pennies which old-timers say the train robber mistook for pieces of gold.

Police said about a million dollars in gold bullion was being carried on the train from Washington to Cincinnati when it was dynamited to a stop.

The gunman, however, got into the wrong car and ended up with several sacks of pennies.

John A. Dubendorf, Lewistown; his brother Albert, of Middletown; and Charles E. Bell, of Maitland, found the coins while scurrying through the woods last week in search of deer.

The finders divided the coins equally and said they will hold onto them until they are given some definite legal orders to turn them in.

Memories of Hamburgers Still Retain Their Savor

By MARGARET LATOBE
Hamburgers—One Dime. That was what the sign said outside the little diner somewhere between Austin and Laredo, Texas.

Driving cross country makes a person hungrier than just ordinary living. You get hungry at odd times, with or without a clock. And it's wise to have a few candy bars in the car plus a thermos filled with blistering hot coffee to take the edge off driving down the long, long ribbon across the Plains.

But when you are hungry enough to stop, nothing is quite so delicious as satisfying as a hamburger. Cooked over charcoal, sending its aroma straight to the heart of your hunger, thick enough to be awkward, and enough larger than the toasted bun so it is money to eat.

The accompaniments to the hamburger—catsup, mustard, pickles diced or sliced, lettuce, tomato, onions fried or raw, hint of garlic, Tabasco, barbecue sauce—differ as widely as the personalities of the hungry. Some even like plain buns with plain meat. Others take the entire chef's salad into the creation.

The hamburgers we found in the little diner (one dime) were unearthy in taste, flavor and texture. They rested on big dinner plates uneasily, as an egg rests in a teaspoon. Barely. Charred with-out, pink within, and sprinkled with fresh ground pepper, it was the most exquisitely satisfying hamburger we ever ate.

Returning from Mexico we tried desperately to find the same little diner. Was it just before, or just ahead of this particular crossroad? It had disappeared. Everywhere we inquired.

"Lady, this here highway is full of them places. All selling hot dawgs or hamburgers. They are all the same . . ."

It was useless. The place had vanished, and really it was just as well, for it could never have been quite the same again. Things never are. And did I forget to say—that was in 1939?

State Shoppers Warned Against Poultry Frauds

LANSING (U)—Shoppers were warned today against underweight packaged poultry which has been appearing in parts of the state recently.

Miles Nelson, chief of the Department of Agriculture's Bureau of Marketing and Enforcement, said the department has seized about 1,600 turkeys in the past few weeks that were found to be short weight.

Some of the birds, he said, weighed up to 2½ pounds less than the weight marked on the packages.

Beery Daughter Suing

LOS ANGELES (U)—Carol Ann Beery, 23-year-old adopted daughter of the late comedian Wallace Beery, has sued her actor husband, Bliss Hayden, 27, for divorce on grounds of cruelty. They were married seven months ago.

Variety of Fillings Makes Her Tarts Versatile Dessert

Mrs. Whitmer's Specialty Is Luscious Tarts

Rich Chocolate Filling May Be Used as Pudding or Poured Into Pastry

When you have a husband who likes to eat and a teen-age son six feet tall who weighs 170 pounds, you'd better like to cook. Mrs. Dana P. Whitmer, wife of Pontiac's new superintendent of schools, finds herself in just that situation. We mustn't ignore ten-year old Judy, but she doesn't take the filling up that the male members of the family do.

Over a friendly cup of coffee in the Whitmer kitchen we discussed food and life in general. Mrs. Whitmer enjoys cooking and seems to take a relaxed attitude towards any problems her particular family presents. All mothers of teenagers will have a sisterly feeling for Mrs. Whitmer. Quantity is the main criterion of food with these youngsters.

Early in her married life Mrs. Whitmer set out to learn how to make excellent pie crust. She experimented until she found her own satisfactory method; now she needs no recipe.

Tarts are a favorite dessert with the family. One of the fillings she makes often is this chocolate one. If you do not have a pastry-loving family, use this recipe for a delicious pudding.

CHOCOLATE FILLING

By Mrs. Dana P. Whitmer

2 tablespoons cornstarch
1/2 cup cocoa
2 eggs, separated
2 cups milk
1/2 cup sugar
Vanilla
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
Mix cornstarch, cocoa and sugar together. Mix with 1/2 cup of the milk. Scald the rest of the milk, add to it the cocoa mixture and the slightly beaten egg yolks. Cook in a double boiler or over very low heat until smooth and thick. Add vanilla and butter. Cool slightly. Fold in the stiffly beaten egg whites. This is enough to fill 16-12 tart shells. Garnish as desired.

Make Dutch Spinach for Zesty Vegetable

Sweet-and-sour spinach adds zest to a vegetable plate.

Dutch Spinach
1 10-ounce package frozen spinach
2 slices bacon
1/2 cup flour
1/2 cup water
2 tablespoons red wine vinegar
1/2 cup sugar
Salt and pepper
Cook spinach according to package directions; drain; chop coarsely. Cook bacon in skillet until crisp; remove bacon strips to absorbent paper. Pour bacon fat from skillet; measure and return 2 tablespoons of bacon fat to skillet. Stir in flour; gradually add water and vinegar, stirring after each addition until smooth. Add sugar. Return to low heat and cook and stir until thickened and bubbly. Mix with spinach adding salt and pepper to taste, and reheat. Turn into serving dish and sprinkle with crumbled bacon. Serve at once. Makes 3 large or 4 small servings.

French-Style Fish Are Baked in-Foil Wraps

You'll find delicious flavor when you cook fish this way.

French-Style Baked Fish
4 whole small fish (about 1/2 pound each)
Aluminum foil or parchment paper
4 tablespoons butter
4 teaspoons thick brown bottled sauce
2 small onions
Salt
Pepper
Paprika
Use any small fresh fish available. Have dealer clean fish and cut away fins and part of tail, but do not have head or bones removed.
Cut four heart-shaped pieces of foil or parchment paper big enough to accommodate each fish. (Use a double thickness of regular household foil or one thickness of double-duty foil.)
Place a fish on one side of heart-shaped foil or paper, with head at rounded end and tail toward point. Spread each fish with one-half tablespoon soft butter and 1 teaspoon of brown sauce.
Peel onion and slice into paper-thin rounds; arrange on top of fish. Dot onion with remaining butter; sprinkle with salt, pepper and paprika.
Fold the other side of foil or paper over fish so edges meet; beginning with top edge of heart crimp edges together by folding and rolling small sections to get a tight seal.
Place on large baking sheet and bake in hot (425 degrees) oven 20 minutes; if parchment paper is used it should be puffed and browned at the edges. Serve packages unopened. Makes four servings.

Note: The bottled sauce called for in this recipe is the sweet-and-sour variety that is a blend of fruits, vegetables and spices.

"THE QUEEN OF TARTS"—It wasn't a summer's day, but Mrs. Whitmer finished up the tarts with a quick whipped topping. You may tint whipped cream pink or green for Christmas. You may add chocolate sprinkles or candied cherries for further garnish.

FILLING THE TART SHELLS—When she has tart shells baked, Mrs. Dana P. Whitmer fills them with a variety of fillings. In this picture she is spooning in a cherry filling. She also had a delicious chocolate filling for which she gave us the recipe.

Cheese, Dates Make Sweet Sandwiches

No dessert is necessary when you serve these snappy but sweet sandwiches after a hearty soup.

Grilled Cheese and Date Sandwiches
1 3-ounce roll cheddar cheese
2 slices bread
16 pitted dates
Butter or margarine

Spread cheese on four slices of the bread. Slit dates with small sharp knife and flatten with fingers; place over cheese. Top with remaining slices of bread. Spread 1 1/2 teaspoons softened butter on one side of each sandwich; place on hot griddle or in iron skillet. Grill slowly until golden brown. Spread 1 1/2 teaspoons softened butter over top of each sandwich; turn and grill until golden brown. Serve at once. Makes 4 servings.

Use Pressure Cooker for Easy Nut Shelling

Use the pressure cooker to take the work out of nut-shelling. Place the nuts in the cooker containing a half cup of hot water and keep under 15 pounds of pressure for five minutes. The West Virginia Extension Service, which recommended this method, said the shells "come off like magic."

Give Soup a Party Air

A soup-and-salad luncheon becomes a party with just such a simple twist as this: Prepare condensed vegetable soup (or your favorite condensed soup) according to directions on the can. While it heats, mix together a half cup of sour cream and two tablespoons crumbled blue cheese. Pour the soup into individual bowls, and top with a generous spoonful of the cheese mixture.

For Yule Cookie Variety, Include Nut-Free Goodies

By JANET ODELL

Pontiac Press Food Editor
It's cookie time again and those of us who get the fever each December are thumbing through recipe files and laying in the necessary supplies.

Some very foresighted women have much of their Christmas cookie-baking done and in the freezer. Recently when I talked long-distance with my sister in Chicago, she said she had over 700 cookies frozen!

Perhaps some of you have a problem similar to mine this year. Because one member of the family cannot eat nuts, I have to find an almost completely new set of cookie recipes.

Most of my cherished holiday favorites contain nuts. I've been poring over cookbooks to find equal ly delicious ones with other ingredients. Here, for your use, are some I plan to make:

Refrigerator cookies are always welcome since they are easy to make and, in this case, give a cookie that is pleasantly tart.

Lemon Honey Slices

2 1/2 cups sifted flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup shortening
1/2 cup sugar
1 egg, unbeaten
1/2 cup honey
1 tablespoon grated lemon rind
1 tablespoon lemon juice
Blend shortening and sugar; add egg, honey, lemon rind and juice. Blend in dry ingredients. Shape into a roll, wrap in waxpaper. Chill overnight.

Slice one-eighth-inch thick and place on greased baking sheet. Sprinkle with sugar. Bake 8-10 minutes in a 400-degree oven, or until lightly browned.

Have you ever thought of using strawberries in a cookie? At Christmas these pale pink cookies should be just the right color.

Strawberry Buttons

1 package thawed frozen strawberries, drained
1 1/2 cups sifted flour
1/2 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup shortening
2/3 cup sugar
1 egg yolk
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
1 teaspoon lemon juice
Cream shortening and sugar; add egg yolk, vanilla and lemon juice, beat well. Measure one-half cup drained strawberries. Add alternately with dry ingredients to creamed mixture, ending with strawberries.
Drop by half teaspoonfuls onto well-greased baking sheets. Bake 8-10 minutes at 375 degrees.

Cool one to three minutes; remove from baking sheet and place on wire rack over waxed paper. Brush with glaze while warm.

For the glaze combine 2 tablespoons strawberry juice, one-fourth cup sugar and 1 teaspoon lemon juice. Stir until sugar is dissolved.

Here is a simple cookie that can be very decorative, depending on the jam or jelly used.

Jam Strip Cheesers

2 cups sifted flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup butter or margarine
1 package (3 ounces) cream cheese
Jam or jelly
Cream butter or margarine and cream cheese thoroughly. Blend in sifted dry ingredients gradually, mix thoroughly. Roll out on floured board to one-half inch thickness.

Cut into 3x1-inch strips. Make a deep groove lengthwise down center of each cookie with knife handle, keeping ends of cookie closed. Place one-half teaspoon jam or jelly in each groove.

Place on ungreased baking sheet. Bake 15-20 minutes in 350-degree oven until delicately browned. Makes 2 dozen cookies.

This last recipe is for a filling to be used with your favorite rolled cookie dough. Cut out pairs of each cookie, fill with Coconut-Wine Filling, press edges together. Bake 12-15 minutes in a 375-degree oven.

Coconut-Wine Filling

1 cup shredded coconut
1 cup seedless raisins
1/2 cup Port wine or grape juice
1 tablespoon sugar (omit with grape juice)
Dash of salt
Put coconut and raisins through food grinder. Add wine or grape juice, sugar and salt. Place over low heat and cook until mixture is thickened, stirring constantly. Makes 1 1/3 cups filling.

Cut Ice Cream Dessert Like You Would a Cake

A gala ice cream dessert—and a true conversation piece—is made by packing green mint ice cream, strawberry ice cream and vanilla ice cream individually into three layer cake pans. Freeze until firm and then unmold on a large serving plate as you would a layer cake.

Whip a little cream, tint it a delicate green and frost the sides. If you like, you can add a garnish of strawberries and mint leaves.

CENTERPIECE COOKIES—Use a huge cookie to center your plate of Christmas cookies. It's made of molasses cookie dough and decorated with bright colored sugar. Surround the tree with other molasses cookie cut-outs, also decorated.

Cut Big Christmas Tree From Yule Cookie Dough

For that something different use some of your molasses Christmas Cookie dough to make a large tree for the center of your cookie tray. You'll need to draw a paper pattern, but anyone can draw a creditable Christmas tree.

Christmas Cookies

2 1/2 cups sifted all purpose flour
1/2 teaspoon baking soda
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon ginger
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon clove
1/2 teaspoon allspice
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
1/2 cup shortening
1/2 cup sugar
1 egg
1/2 cup New Orleans molasses
1 tablespoon vinegar

Sift flour, soda, salt and spices together. Cream shortening; add sugar gradually and cream until fluffy. Add egg and beat well. Beat in molasses. Add vinegar, then dry ingredients. Stir until well blended. Chill thoroughly. Roll out about 1/4 to 1/2" thick on floured board. Shape as directed, decorating as desired. Place on cookie sheet and bake at 375 degrees (moderate oven) 10 minutes. Cool. Frost if necessary. Makes about 6 dozen small cookies.

For Centerpiece Cookies

Roll out above dough 1/4" thick on floured board. Cut with Christmas cutters. Decorate before baking with silver dragees, candy sprinkles, red cinnamon drops, raisins, currants or green-and-red-colored sugar.

To make large tree for center of tray, roll out dough 1/4" thick on greased and lightly floured cookie sheet. Draw pattern for tree on white paper and cut out. Place on dough and cut around with sharp knife. Remove excess dough. Decorate.

Broil Beef Chunks, Pepper on Skewers

Chunks of beef, marinated in a savory mixture, are strung on skewers and broiled.

Skewered Beef

1 1/2 pounds sirloin tip beef (about 1 inch thick)
1/2 cup salad oil
1/2 cup lemon juice
1/2 teaspoon salt, pepper
1/2 teaspoon sugar
1/2 teaspoon oregano
1 small clove garlic, crushed
1 large green pepper

Cut beef into 1 to 1 1/2-inch chunks; remove any outside fat or sinews.

Mix lemon juice, oil, salt, pepper to taste, sugar, oregano and garlic.

Put beef cubes in flat container; pour mixture over them, cover tightly and refrigerate for one or two days before using. Turn cubes over in marinade several times.

To use, remove seeds and membranes from green pepper and cut in 16 pieces; string beef and green pepper alternately and loosely on skewers.

Broil close to high heat to desired doneness; make a small slit in a cube of the beef to test. Makes four servings.

Juice Flavors Prunes

Dried prunes with apple juice poured over and allowed to stand overnight are delicious as a fruit dish for breakfast. In serving, add more apple juice if you wish, or light cream.

Garnish your pumpkin pie with toasted coconut for a flavor change.

Science Takes Drudgery Out of Ham Preparation

"Soak ham overnight in a wash boiler of water. Parboil until tender." These were the directions for preparing the ham of some 50 years ago.

In those days of no walk-in coolers in the markets and few refrigerators in the homes, the hams had to be heavily cured with salt so they would keep, even in hot weather. Soaking and parboiling were necessary in order to remove that excess salt.

Who has a wash boiler today? Who has time to soak and parboil a ham? Thanks to modern science, hams have kept pace with today's mode of living.

The ham of today is one of the easiest meats to prepare. It requires no soaking, no parboiling and no long baking.

It was in the early 1930s that the first big change came. Improved refrigeration facilities meant that salt was no longer needed to preserve the hams.

New phrases appeared on the wrapper: "Do not soak. Do not parboil. Keep in refrigerator."

The late 1930s brought another improvement. A new cure formula (salt, sugar, nitrites and nitrates) a new method of curing made it possible for the processor to leave the hams in the smoke ovens for longer periods of time.

This meant that the home baking time was shortened. It was no longer necessary to start baking in the early morning hours in order to have ham for a Sunday noon dinner.

Next came fully cooked hams, a type of ham which is completely cooked in the plant, chilled, and wrapped for shipment to food stores. The phrase on the wrapper of this ham reads, "Slice and Serve."

This ham can be served hot merely by reheating in the oven or by broiling the slices. The main advantage is the fact it is ready to slice and serve, right from the package. This is a far cry from the days of the wash boiler.

But the research didn't stop here. The next big change came in 1933 when George E. Briscoe, a scientist in Swift & Company's Research Laboratories, formulated and patented a new type of cure which included phosphate.

The result is a more uniform color and a more tender, juicy ham. This cure is used for both the cook-before-eating and the fully cooked hams.

In 1934 more improvements have been made in hams. This time the news is a skinless, shankless ham. The bony shank is gone. The tough skin is gone. Excess fat is gone.

All these have been left in the plant. No longer are they a disposal problem for the homemaker. These hams, too, are available in two styles: The uncooked, which can be baked quickly and easily at home; and the fully cooked for the slice-and-serve meal.

Research reveals that because it is chunkier, this skinless, shankless ham requires a slightly longer baking period than the shank-on ham of the same weight.

The set schedule on the label should be followed in order to assure a tender, delicious, festive ham.

For Quick Mint Sauce

Roast lamb on the menu for Sunday dinner. You can make a mint sauce for it by adding a couple of tablespoons of water and a couple of teaspoons of cider vinegar to a half cup of mint jelly; stir the jelly mixture over low heat until it dissolves.

NEAPOLITANS NOEL.—Twinkling stars and sugar-tipped Christmas trees lend enchantment to holiday entertaining. Made with "French-whip" pastry and filled with fruity cream filling, these layered goodies are festive bits.

Neapolitans Noel Glorify Christmas Buffet Suppers

Highlight glamorous Christmas buffets with exciting new Neapolitans Noel—twinkling stars and frosty-tipped Christmas trees gleaming with sprinkles of bright-colored sugar.

Sparkling under soft candlelight, these delicate "French-whip" pastries are filled with a luscious creamy fruit filling.

The easy recipe for these special Neapolitans was developed in a famous test kitchen for gay Christmas parties and festive family gatherings.

"French-Whip" Pastry

1/4 cup homogenized shortening
2 tablespoons boiling water
1 tablespoon milk
1 tablespoon lemon juice
2 egg yolks, unbeaten
2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
1-2 cup sugar
1 teaspoon salt

Put shortening in medium-sized mixing bowl. Add boiling water, milk, and lemon juice and break up shortening with fork. Tilt bowl and, with rapid cross-the-bowl strokes, whip with fork until all liquid is absorbed and mixture holds soft peaks when fork is lifted. Add egg yolks and beat until well blended.

Sift flour, sugar, and salt onto the creamy-gold "French-Whip." Stir quickly with round-the-bowl strokes into a dough that clings together and "cleans" the bowl. Pick up and work into a smooth dough; shape into a flat round.

Makes enough pastry for 16 Neapolitans.

Neapolitans Noel

Divide "French-whip" pastry dough in half, shape into two rounds. Roll each separately between two 12-inch squares of waxed paper into a circle the size of the paper and one-eighth inch thick.

Peel off top paper, cut out small Christmas trees and stars with cookie cutters. Remove carefully to ungreased baking sheets. Prick. Bake in hot oven (400 degrees) 10-15 minutes, or until honey-gold.

Remove to wire racks to cool. Repeat with other half of dough. There should be 48 cutouts. Spread a layer of fruity cream filling on 32, put together in pairs.

Decorate remaining 16 as follows: Moisten parts to be decorated lightly with finger dipped in cold water; then place cutout, moistened side down, in colored sugar. Edges can be neatly outlined and decorative designs quickly made in this way.

Place the 16 sugar-tops on the filled pairs. Makes 16 Neapolitans.

Fruity Cream Filling

Let a 3-ounce package cream cheese soften in mixing bowl about 10 minutes; then cream with spoon. Add 2 tablespoons sugar, dash of salt, one eighth teaspoon vanilla; mix well.

Whip one-half cup heavy cream until stiff; fold into cheese mixture. Add 1 tablespoon each of finely chopped candied pineapple, dates, pecans, and well-drained candied cherries; 1 teaspoon finely chopped candied orange peel; blend.

Makes filling for 16 Neapolitans.

Does duckling taste best to you when it has a crisp skin? Then roast it at a moderate (350 degrees) temperature for 2 to 2 1/2 hours.

Add Bacon to Soup

Here's a fine way to serve condensed, cream of chicken soup:

Cook minced bacon, onion and celery together and drain; add the bacon mixture to the diluted soup and heat.

Serve Corn Rarebit

Ever add drained canned whole-kernel corn to a snappy cheese sauce? Good over crisp crackers or toast for Sunday night supper. Serve a raw vegetable salad with this corn rarebit.

Heat drained canned small white onions in a cheese sauce; sprinkle with paprika or minced parsley before serving.

SWEET-TART CASSEPOLE—Mainstay of a meatless meal, sweet potatoes are at their best combined with tangy grapefruit. Both the main ingredients in this casserole may be canned, so you can take the makin's for this dish right off the shelf.

Let Children Learn Joy of Making Holiday Treats

Pontiac Press Food Editor

Last year we had an article about making gifts of food for your friends. This is to be a similar article, but we want to talk about the kind of food gifts children can make.

Quick fudge mix is excellent for this sort of a project. The children, if young, may need a little help in mixing the fudge since it has to be done on the stove. But once it is made, they can take over.

When fudge is cool, cut in 1-inch squares and roll into balls. Decorate by rolling balls in one of the following—shredded or toasted coconut, dry cocoa, finely chopped nuts, chocolate shot, multicolored sprinkles or colored sugar.

Candied cherry halves or nutmeats may be pressed into fudge balls for decoration.

No-Cook Peanut Butter Fudge

1 cup peanut butter, creamy or chunky
1 cup corn syrup
1/2 cup melted dry milk solids
1/2 cup sifted confectioners' sugar

Blend peanut butter and corn syrup in large mixing bowl. Measure melted dry milk solids and sifted confectioners' sugar and add all at once. Mix all together; first, with a spoon and then with hands; knead in dry ingredients.

Turn onto board and continue kneading until mixture is well blended and smooth. Press out with hands or rolling pin into square one-half inch thick. Cut into squares. Top with nutmeats, if desired. Makes about 2 pounds.

Chocolate Peanut Candy

Follow above recipe. Add one-half cup cocoa to peanut butter-corn syrup mixture before adding dry ingredients; blend.

The confection you make with oven-popped rice cereal and marshmallows also provides good Christmas treats. If you want it colored, you may stir 2 teaspoons red or 1 teaspoon green food coloring into marshmallow mixture before adding the rice cereal.

For crispy Christmas trees: Press marshmallow-crispy mixture lightly into buttered paper cone drinking cups. Insert wooden skewer to form tree trunk. Let stand until hardened.

Gently remove paper cups; roll trees in colored sugar or confetti candies. Push bottom of each skewer into a large gum drop as a base.

Marshmallow Crispy Treats

1/2 cup butter or margarine
1/2 pound (about 22) marshmallows
3 cups oven popped rice cereal
Melt butter or margarine in 2-quart saucepan. Add marshmallows and cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until marshmallows are melted and mixture is well-blended. Remove from heat. Add rice cereal and stir until well-coated with marshmallow.

There is one brand of margarine on the market now that prints a colorful polka-dot design on the inside of its carton. The idea is to make the cookies for which we are printing the recipe. Then pack them in the margarine carton turned inside out. Your children should enjoy doing this.

Bake Grapefruit Sweet Potatoes

You'll be hearing more and more about Puerto Rican sweet potatoes! These superb sweet potatoes are grown and also packed in Puerto Rico.

This is important because the quicker they can be packed after harvesting, the better the quality and flavor.

Puerto Rico has several crops of sweet potatoes a year. Each crop is harvested and packed promptly, insuring a continuous flow of freshly packed sweet potatoes to you.

Sweet-Tart Casserole

1 can (11 pound) 13 ounces sweet potatoes
1/2 cup brown sugar
1/2 cup butter, melted

Drain sweet potatoes, saving syrup. Arrange potatoes in a greased 1 1/2-quart baking dish. Drain grapefruit and then arrange sections on top of potatoes.

Sprinkle brown sugar over top and pour three-fourths cup of syrup from sweet potatoes over the brown sugar. Bake at 375 degrees for 20 minutes. Six servings.

Let's encourage every member of the family to give some time as part of his Christmas giving. Start children young by letting them make gifts of food for their little friend or for their teachers. We know grandmother would love a box of fudge bonbons too.

State Band to Play at Miami Bowl Game

DOWAGIAC—Eighty excited members of the Dowagiac High School Band started preparations today for a trip to Miami, Fla., where they will be one of two "Yankee" bands to appear at the Orange Bowl game New Year's Day.

Car washes, dances, pickle sales and a one-day operation of a local gas station helped the young musicians to raise the money needed for the trip. With help from local merchants, they amassed $19,149, more than $5,000 over their goal of $14,000.

The extra money will be used to buy new band uniforms.

Rennet-Custard Increases Child's Intake of Vital Milk

Baby is the best-fed member of the family. So nutrition experts tell us. And mothers have learned to safeguard their youngster's health with the right foods.

Baby food manufacturers have helped mother assure good nutrition, for they prepare a wide variety of foods especially for baby's taste and digestive system. Children are learning early to eat these many varieties of healthful foods.

As always, the most important single food in the diet of babies and growing children is milk, "nature's most nearly perfect food." To assure adequate intake of the essential nutrients in milk, growing children should have three to four glasses daily. However, there are times when they cannot drink this amount of milk.

But happily milk can be used in the preparation of other foods like cream dishes, soup and milk desserts. That is why a whole milk dessert like rennet-custard is so well accepted by youngsters. Besides being a pleasant way to take milk—a rennet-custard has several advantages over most milk puddings.

First, rennet-custard is made with whole milk. You know it is fresh because you add it yourself. Second, because it's not cooked the milk nutrients are not altered. Rennet-custards are high in milk solids too.

When the family includes older children, make up a full package of rennet powder, pouring baby's portion in a custard cup. If chilled along with the rest of the family's dessert, baby's serving can be warmed in a pan of hot water before it is served.

When the youngsters outgrow their taste for the light texture of plain rennet-custard, other ingredients can be added to make more substantial desserts. Fresh or well-drained canned fruit, cereals, crushed cookies, cooked rice, toasted bread cubes or cooked dried fruits make tasty additions to rennet desserts. Simple toppings of whipped cream, fruit slices, or fruit or jelly whip make every day desserts, party treats.

Candied Fruit, Sauce Top Ready-to-Eat Cake

You can make a real dessert treat for guests with fruitcake slices from your grocer's ready-to-eat cake department, a jar of your favorite candied fruit and a sour cream sauce.

Cover a fruitcake slice with chunks of your favorite candied fruit—citron orange peel, pineapple or cherry—and then top with a sauce made by combining one cup of sour cream with one 3-ounce package of cream cheese.

To make the sauce, bring the cheese to room temperature, add the sour cream and beat until velvety smooth. Makes about 2 cups of many-purpose sauce.

Fruit Fluff
Whip one egg white until foamy. Gradually beat in 2 tablespoons sugar. Meringue should stand in stiff peaks. Fold in strained baby fruit—either 2 tablespoons strained apricots, or one-fourth cup strained peaches, or one-half cup strained prunes. Pile Fruit Fluff into four or five dessert glasses.

Rennet-Custard
Warm 2 cups whole milk slowly, until lukewarm, stirring constantly. Test a drop on the inside of your wrist frequently. When it feels comfortably warm (110) not hot, remove at once from heat.

Stir in entire contents of package of rennet powder at one time. Mix until powder is dissolved—not over one minute. Pour at once, while still liquid, into dessert dishes. (Pour along side of dish so Fruit Fluff does not break up.)

Let stand for about 10 minutes, while milk sets. Then chill in refrigerator. If desired, garnish with maraschino cherry.

Fruitcake Candle Treat Makes Any Meal Gala

A fruitcake candle dessert makes a gala occasion out of any holiday meal, and they are easy to make. Allow one cupcake-size fruitcake from your grocer's ready-to-eat cake department for each serving. Place cakes, bottom side up, on serving plates.

Spoon whipped cream around the base of each (or squeeze from your pastry tube) to make a collar. Add a dollop of whipped cream to the center of each cake, finish with a "flame" of maraschino cherry, blanched almond, or half of a seeded date.

For Dessert in Jiffy

Quick dessert: Bake a can of ready-prepared refrigerated blacuit according to package directions. As soon as you remove them from the oven split and spread them with butter. Fill them with thawed frozen strawberries or raspberries, spoon a little of the fruit over the top, add big dollops of sweetened whipped cream and serve at once.

THANK YOU!

YOU MADE OUR GRAND OPENING AN OVERWHELMING SUCCESS... but no matter how big a "thank you" we tried to send your way, it could never be large enough to express our gratitude to you for the splendid patronage we received during our Grand Opening! Too Rushed for Dessert? Bananas Are the Answer

A riddle for your kitchen, Madame. What fruit is ready for dessert the minute you take off its jacket? Why, the banana, of course. Peel it, serve it on a plate, let folks eat it with knife and fork for dessert. If you've got a moment more for making dessert in this hectic pre-holiday bustle, you can try some of the sliced banana variations that make really wonderful desserts in a few seconds flat.

The basic banana for this hurry-up business is always the fully ripe one, the banana that has yellow peel flecked with brown. This banana is at peak of flavor, sweetness and digestibility.

File these dessert "Hurry-ups" in your pre-holiday file because you'll never want to be without them, once you find how good, how quick, they are.

Quick Banana Desserts

Slice fully ripe bananas, yellow peel flecked with brown, and serve with milk or with cream for an American dessert that is a classic. Sliced banana toppers that are terrific are: Custard sauce, butterscotch sauce, orange sauce, lemon sauce, pineapple sauce. Sour cream with a light sprinkling of cinnamon or nutmeg also makes a wonderful topper for sliced bananas that takes but a twinkle to serve. Homemade banana split requires only ice cream, chocolate or fruit flavored syrup, a ripe banana sliced lengthwise. Keep this in reserve for dessert when the meal has been hurried and plain.

Banana split is a grand climax that will make any meal seem festive, yet it is quick to fix.

Quick banana shortcakes are made with sliced ripe bananas, whipped cream, and biscuits, sponge cake, gingerbread or chocolate cake from the store, or quick mix cakes that bake while dinner is being prepared.

Sliced or diced ripe bananas molded in fruit-flavored gelatin or combined with cubed gelatin make a wonderful, quick dessert you can prepare in the morning. It will be ready to serve when the going gets hectic before dinner.

Pumpkin Dessert Is Smooth, Delicate

The spicy flavor of pumpkin pie filling combines with a smooth and delicate texture in this delicious dessert.

Pumpkin Cream Mold

1 tablespoon unflavored gelatin
1 cup sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
1/2 teaspoon ginger
1/2 cup light cream
3 egg yolks
1 1/2 cups canned pumpkin
1 cup heavy cream

Mix gelatin, sugar, salt, cinnamon, nutmeg and ginger together thoroughly in the top of a double boiler. Stir in light cream.

Beat in egg yolks with a fork or a whisk, then the pumpkin. Cook and stir constantly over boiling water for 10 minutes. Gelatin and sugar will be dissolved and mixture hot.

Remove from heat; chill until mixture begins to set—a spoonful of it dropped back will hold its shape well in a mound.

Beat heavy cream until thick (but not stiff) and fold into pumpkin mixture. Turn into mold—one that holds about 5 cups—and chill until set.

Makes 8 to 10 servings.

Idea for Sunday Tea

Like to have friends for Sunday tea? For a delicious sandwich filling, mix cream cheese with well-drained crushed pineapple. Make the sandwiches of thinly sliced bread, the cream-cheese mixture and sprays of watercress. A bowl of salted almonds goes well with these sandwiches.

DEVILED FLANK STEAK—Flank steak always makes a nice change for dinner—and deviled flank steak is an especially tasty way to serve this fine flavored beef cut. Serve with buttered peas and carrots and baked potatoes with sour cream-chive topping (made by blending dairy-soured cream with chopped chives or finely chopped green onion tops).

Cook Deviled Flank Steak in a Tangy Liquid Sauce

Flank steak usually comes to the table stuffed and baked with a tasty dressing. It's probably best known when prepared in this popular way.

Actually, flank steak—a good buy, along with many other beef cuts these days—can be prepared just like round steak. It can be cooked, either whole or cut into pieces, in a tasty liquid with added seasonings. It's somewhat easier to prepare this way than as a stuffed meat dish.

Here's a tasty way to braise flank steak—deviled style.

Deviled Flank Steak

1 flank steak
2 tablespoons flour
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1 teaspoon dry mustard
1 1/2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce

Have meat man score flank steak. Combine flour, salt, pepper, and mustard; pound into steak on both sides, using a meat pounder or the edge of a heavy saucer. Cut steak into four pieces and brown on all sides in a little hot fat. Mix Worcestershire sauce with 1/2 cup water and add to meat. Cover and cook over low heat until tender, about 2 hours, adding more water as needed. 4 servings.

Swiss-style: After the steak has been browned, add 1/4 cup catsup, 1/2 cup chopped onion, 1 teaspoon dry mustard and 1 cup beef bouillon. Add more bouillon or water as needed during cooking.

Vegetable flank steak: Brown the steak, then cook slowly in canned consommé with sliced carrots, chopped celery and onions added.

Flank Steak Accompaniment
A favorite accompaniment for any steak is baked potatoes. Served with a sour cream-chive topping, they're ideal with braised flank steak.

Sour cream-chive topping: Blend dairy-soured cream with chopped chives or finely chopped green onion tops; add salt and pepper to suit taste. Or mash a package or two of chive cream cheese (3 oz. packages) and add enough dairy-soured cream or fresh cream to moisten well.

Company Sandwiches Are French-Toasted

These sandwiches are good enough for company. Use a slice of cheese and one of ham between two slices of bread; dip the sandwiches in a French toast batter, then brown on both sides in butter or margarine.

Serve with your favorite variety of pickles or with olives. Tiny bouquets of watercress sprigs and radish roses will look pretty with the sandwiches, too.

Apple Chutney Is Welcome Gift

A food gift that you make yourself is a most welcome Christmas present. It's the "different" gift—one that's a pride to produce and a pleasure to receive. And it costs little.

Here, for example, is the recipe for a wonderfully spicy-rich apple chutney—made with canned apple slices.

Fill jars with the lovely stuff, wrap them in aluminum foil, tie fat red bows around the tops... and there you are with as gay gifts as you can give. You make the chutney this way:

Christmas Chutney

2 1/2 cups (1 can) sliced apples
1 cup light brown sugar
1/2 cup cider vinegar
1/2 cup sliced candied ginger
1/2 cup thinly sliced onion
1 cup seedless white raisins
1 teaspoon chili powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon mustard seeds
1/2 cup dried pimiento
1/2 cup chopped walnut meats

Chop apples; combine with sugar, vinegar, ginger, onion, raisins, chili powder, salt and mustard seeds. Bring to boil; simmer about 30 minutes. Add pimiento and nutmeats. Makes about 2 1/2 cups.

Lima Tomato Rabbit Ideal on Cold Day

Here's a hearty dish that is fine to serve on a cold day.

Lima Tomato Rabbit

2 cups grated cheddar cheese
1 can condensed tomato soup
3 tablespoons water
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon dry mustard
2 cups cooked large dry lima beans
2 1/2 tablespoons chopped dill pickle

Place cheese in top of double boiler. Cook and stir over simmering water until melted. Stir in tomato soup, water, salt and dry mustard.

Cook and stir constantly until smooth and very hot. Heat lima beans and drain; divide among four shallow individual baking dishes.

Sprinkle each with a teaspoon of green onion and dill pickle; cover with tomato-cheese rabbit. Sprinkle with remaining onion and pickle. Makes four servings.

An egg of high quality covers a small area. Its white is very thick and stands high; its yolk is firm, high and well centered.

Navel Oranges Protect Health

Bright, taste-inviting California navel oranges are back on the market again for all to enjoy. From baby to grandfather, the whole family loves the golden orange... so easy to peel and eat anytime, anywhere.

These seedless, juicy oranges give a satisfying note to anyone's menu... refreshing sweetness with good nutrition packed in every bite.

Large tangy orange slices add sparkle to your salad whether it's tossed green or colorful fruit, and combined with crunchy coconut, oranges make a perfect dessert for any meal. The whole navel orange is tops for snacks or the lunchbox too.

Each orange is chock full of valuable nutrients you need to keep your good health and that bright outlook on life. Compared with 35 other fruits, the California orange ranks first in the vitamin C, thiamin, iron, calcium it supplies to the body.

It also ranks high among the fruits for its contribution of riboflavin, proteins, vitamin A and niacin. The protoporphyrins and the citrus bioflavonoids, present in the whole peeled orange in amounts 10 times greater than in the strained juice alone, give added nutrition benefits... making the California navel a big health bargain as well as a taste treat for your family.

Navel oranges lend themselves to holiday decorations, too... lovely on wreaths and tucked in a spray of greens. Or for a spicy Christmas gift sachet make an old-fashioned orange pomander ball.

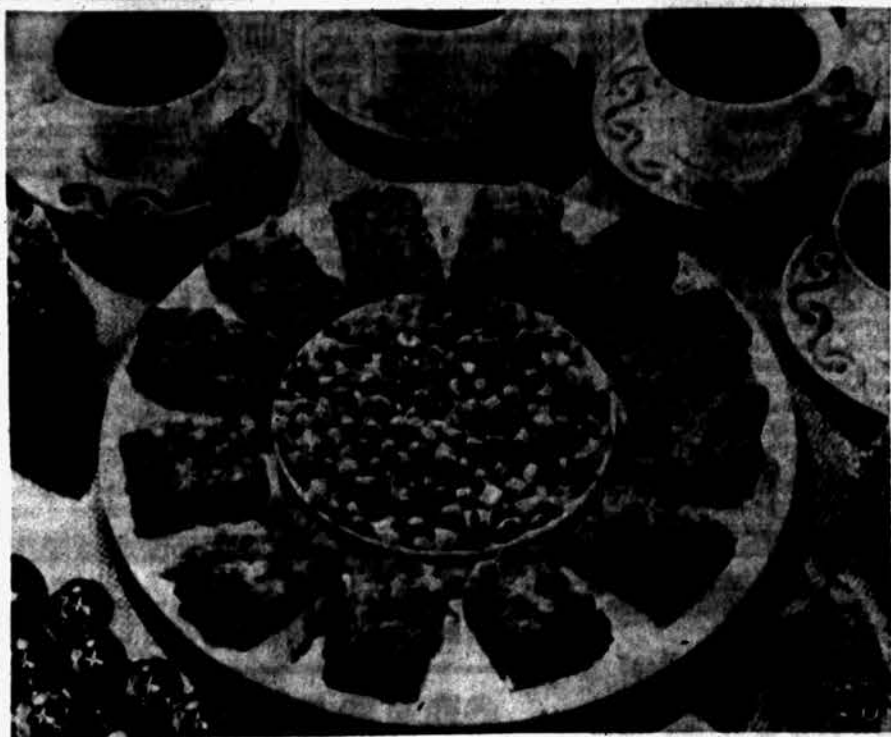

With so many ways to use them and with more large size navels on the market this year, you'll find shopping for those golden balls of fruit a real pleasure.

Top Peach Shortcakes With Fluffy Meringue

Looking like snowballs, these individual desserts are equal to your most festive dinner.

Use bakery sponge shortcakes, and put a canned peach half cut side up in each one. Fill the peach cavity with chopped nuts, and cover the entire shortcake with meringue.

For a different flavor twist, add a little almond extract to the meringue, before putting on the shortcakes. Bake in a hot oven until lightly brown.

Date Honey Chews Lend Royal Air to Cookie Tray

Rich flaky Date Honey Chews will score as a family favorite, once you've made them. They're quick and easy and stay moist, too. A real yummy bar cookie.

Tuck some of these cookies in packages for small gifts to friends. Home-baked cookies have high appeal. Your guests will also feel a little special when you pass these Date Honey Chews with steaming cups of coffee. The cookie's the kind that makes one call for another.

Keep some of these delicately browned cookies on hand at all times during the holiday season. There will be many demands for them. Christmas carolers enjoy cookies and hot chocolate. The children are always fond of cookies and milk for an after-school snack.

Count on these cookies to adorn your Christmas night supper table. They are versatile enough to be welcome at all pre-season gatherings.

And when you're in a hurry—don't forget the baker has tempting cookies, fresh from the oven each day. He strives to suit your queen's taste for cakes, pies, cookies, bread and rolls.

Date Honey Chews

1/2 cup butter or margarine
2 tablespoons honey
1 egg, separated
1 cup sifted confectioners' sugar
1/2 cup chopped dates
1/2 cup sifted enriched flour
1/2 cup granulated sugar
1 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup quick rolled oats, uncooked
1/2 cup shortening
1/2 cup milk
1 teaspoon vanilla extract

Cream together butter or margarine and honey until light. Add egg white and mix until light and fluffy. Gradually add confectioners' sugar, mixing well. Stir in dates.

Sift together flour, granulated sugar, baking powder and salt. Add rolled oats. Cut or rub in shortening until mixture is crumbly.

Beat egg yolk and add milk and vanilla extract. Add to flour mixture and stir until flour is well moistened. Spread one-half of dough in bottom of greased, paper-lined pan, 7x11 inches.

Spread date honey filling over dough and cover with remaining dough. Bake in moderately hot oven (400 degrees) about 25 minutes. Cut into bars. Makes 21 bars about 1 1/2 x 2 inches.

Sauce Spices Up Turkey a la Cuba

Vary your leftover turkey with this good tomato sauce.

Turkey a la Cuba

1 medium-sized onion (chopped)
1 green pepper (chopped)
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 tablespoons flour
1 8-ounce can tomato sauce
1/2 cup turkey or chicken stock (canned or bouillon-cube chicken broth may be used)
1/2 cup cooking sherry
1/2 cup grated cheddar cheese
Salt and pepper
2 cups coarsely dried cooked turkey
2 tablespoons minced parsley

Cook onion and green pepper gently in butter five minutes; blend in flour; add tomato sauce and stock; cook, stirring until mixture boils and thickens.

Add sherry, cheese and salt and pepper to taste; stir over low heat until cheese melts. Add turkey and parsley; heat gently but thoroughly. Makes four to five servings.

Dry Milk Keeps Well

Nonfat dry milk requires no refrigeration and occupies little cupboard shelf space. In tightly covered, moisture-proof containers it will keep for six months to a year. It merits a place with other dependable staples—where it is immediately available for daily cooking and to meet special emergencies as well.

Yule Spotlight on Brazil Nuts

Creamy, distinctive Brazil nuts get prominent billing during the holidays. They give an unusual flavor to Christmas candies.

Brazil Nut Cheese-Crunch

3 cups sugar
4 tablespoons butter
1/2 teaspoon baking soda
1-2 cups chopped Brazil nuts, divided
1 package semi-sweet chocolate pieces
1 tablespoon shortening

Put sugar and butter in heavy skillet. Place over low heat and stir constantly until sugar melts. It is important to keep the mixture stirred constantly over low heat to get an even caramelization of the sugar.

Just as soon as all the sugar is melted and light brown in color, add the soda and stir in 1 cup of the Brazil nuts. Turn onto a greased baking sheet and roll out with rolling pin until brittle is one-fourth inch thick. Pull corners to make a square.

While candy is hot, mark quickly into squares with a sharp knife. Break into pieces when brittle hardens.

Melt semi-sweet chocolate pieces and shortening over hot, not boiling water. Dip one-third of each square into melted chocolate; coat with remaining Brazil nuts. Yield: Two pounds.

Chocolate Brazil Nut Fudge
3 cups sugar
2-3 cup milk (2 ounces) unsweetened chocolate
2 tablespoons light corn syrup
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
1/2 cup chopped Brazil nuts

Combine sugar, milk, chocolate and corn syrup in saucepan; place over low heat. Stir constantly until sugar is dissolved. Cook, stirring occasionally until small amount of mixture dropped in cold water forms a soft ball, or until candy thermometer registers 238 degrees.

Remove from heat; add butter, do not stir. Cook until lukewarm, or until candy thermometer reaches 118 degrees.

Add vanilla; beat until mixture begins to lose its gloss. Quickly stir in Brazil nuts. Turn into a greased 8x8x2-inch square pan.

Lightly mark off squares; if desired, press Brazil nut slice into center of each square. Cool; cut into squares. Yield: Approximately 1 1/2 pounds.

Note: For penuche, substitute light brown sugar for granulated and omit chocolate.

Grated Carrot Helps Keep Cookies Moist

If you have never considered carrots as proper food for the dessert course, you may revise your idea when you try this recipe for cookies. The carrots should help to make the cookies moist, therefore long keeping.

Carrot-Raisin-Nut Cookies

1/2 cup shortening
1 cup brown sugar
2 eggs
1 cup milk
1 cup grated raw carrot
2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon baking soda
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
2 cups rolled oats
1 cup raisins
1 cup chopped nuts

Cream shortening thoroughly with sugar. Add beaten eggs, milk, and beat thoroughly. Mix in the carrots. Mix and sift flour with the baking powder, soda, salt and spices. Stir the rolled oats, raisins and nuts into the dry ingredients. Combine the dry mixture with creamed mixture and mix well. Drop by teaspoonfuls onto a greased baking sheet. Bake about 15 minutes in a moderate oven (350 degrees). Cool before storing.

CHRISTMAS SWEET BREAD—This handsome tea ring was baked and decorated by Mrs. F. E. Kuklaw of Pine Knob road. After baking, the bread was frosted with confectioner's frosting and beautifully decorated with candied cherry flowers and whole pecans. It is a treat that will be welcome any time of the day during the holidays.

Prepare Meal Ahead of Time

This new meal-in-one dish is a joy-delicious and handsome. It may be put together in the morning and tucked into the refrigerator until time to bake.

It is fine to have for meals when Aunt Mary or a couple come to eat, or for a family dinner on busy days. Not much else is needed for a regatta—but, say, head lettuce with Thousand Island dressing, rolls, and apple-raisin pie.

Shrimp Wonder Dish
2 tablespoons chopped onion
1 tablespoon margarine or butter
1/2 cup condensed cream of mushroom soup
1/2 cup grated cheese
2 cups cooked rice
1 cup cooked green peas
1 can shrimp

Over low heat cook onion in margarine in saucepan until soft. Stir in soup, then cheese. Allow to melt. Add 1 tablespoon juice from pimientos (or water).

Remove from heat. Meanwhile, arrange rice in greased 1-quart casserole. Pour half of cheese sauce on rice; push with spoon several places to let sauce go through.

Add layer of peas, pimientos and shrimp (washed in water and drained). Pour on remaining sauce. Cover and bake at 350 degrees (moderate oven) about 25 to 35 minutes, until heated well. Four servings.

Carving Across Grain Tenderizes Pot Roasts

One way to make a roast seem more tender is to carve it across the grain. To carve a rolled pot roast, slice across the face of the roll.

When cutting round, chuck and other 2-inch thick pot roasts, cut into 3-inch strips, then turn each piece on edge so that the slices can be carved across the grain of Cupcake surprise: Tuck one or two chopped dates into the batter in each muffin-pan cup before baking.

Those family favorites, lemon and custard pies, show a newer face when you sprinkle them with a few sesame seeds just before you serve them. The tender nut-like flavor of these tiny seeds adds a novel touch of crispness to these smooth pies.

Helps healthy husbands start the day happy!

Tastes So Much Better

Swedish Tea Ring Good Holiday Breakfast Treat

We had eaten some of Mrs. F. E. Kuklaw's wonderful sweet bread before. We were sure she would be making it for Christmas and made a note to call her at this season. What we had in mind was a picture of her in her kitchen working on the masterpiece. But Mrs. Kuklaw had different ideas. She prefers to let the finished tea ring take all the glory and stand alone in the picture. She sent it to work with her husband and as we write, it reposes in all its glory on our desk. Fortunately, only a bit shows in the box, or all the editorial staff would be begging for a bite. After it is photographed, we'll do as Mrs. Kuklaw suggested and pass it around.

Deviled Ham Ends Noon Hour Woes

Between the morn and the twilight... when mom's chores are beginning to tower... comes a pause in the day's occupation... known as the noon hour!

And when the noon whistle blows—that's the signal for children on school lunch hours, husbands on brief lunch breaks, sitdowns with the neighbors, or perhaps just for a pick-me-up-and-carry-me-through-the-rest-of-the-day.

Whatever the occasion (or excuse), the menu can be a simple, yet nourishing one, and these two factors are no problem with family-size deviled ham in the picture.

This canned meat product is the answer to many a noon meal puzzle because it easily adapts itself to a salad, hefty sandwich, soup, casserole, egg- and skillet dish.

Try any of these suggestions for a zestfully seasoned, hearty noon meal:

Deviled Mexican Corn

1 16-ounce can cream-style corn
1 small onion, chopped
1 family-size (4 1/2 oz.) deviled ham
Pinch chili powder

Combine all ingredients in casserole. Heat in moderate oven (350) for 25 minutes, or until very hot. Makes four servings.

Serve Wheat Cereal

Pep up those early morning appetites. Serve your family steaming bowls of instant or regular whole wheat cereal—the kind with the extra wheat germ added. And to go with the cereal, a big pitcher of warmed milk, sweetened to taste with honey.

In 1952 this recipe and the finished product won a blue ribbon at the Michigan State Fair. Mrs. Kuklaw and a neighbor, Mrs. Ethel Barnett, both of Pine Knob Road, bake this tea ring for the monthly Smorgasbords at their church.

PRIZE WINNING SWEDISH TEA RING

By Mrs. F. E. Kuklaw
3 cakes compressed yeast or 1 pkg.
granular yeast (dry)
2 cups milk
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 tsp. salt
1/2 to 1 1/2 cups sifted flour
1/2 cup shortening

Scald the milk and melt shortening simultaneously, and stand to cool to lukewarm. Crumble yeast into large bowl, (if granular yeast is used, follow directions on package) and cover with the sugar, and add salt. Let stand until yeast action begins. Add the lukewarm milk and shortening and stir until the yeast is entirely dissolved.

Add about half of the flour—3/4 to 4 cups, and beat in the eggs, then beat the mixture until it is smooth and sheets from the spoon. Work in remaining flour and turn out on floured board to knead. Knead only until smooth and springy to the touch of the finger. Place dough in large bowl and let raise until it is double in bulk, punch down and turn dough over in bowl. Let raise a second time before shaping.

To form the ring: Divide the dough into halves and round up each half. Using one half, roll out the dough to approximate 9x18-inch oblong. Spread with soft butter and sprinkle 1/2 cup white or brown sugar over the entire surface. Sprinkle generously with cinnamon and scatter 1/2 cup each of raisins and broken nut meats. Roll up tightly, as for cinnamon rolls, and seal. Transfer, sealed side down to a lightly greased, heavy baking pan or a cookie sheet and bring ends together to form a ring.

Using a sharp knife or scissors, slash the roll 3/4 through the roll at intervals of one inch, then turn each section on its side, tucking each one slightly under the section preceding it. After the ring is formed, let it raise for a third time until nearly double in bulk and bake in a moderate oven, 350 or 375 for 35 to 40 minutes.

Ice while hot, using 3 tablespoons milk to 1 cup confectioners' sugar. Decorate with almonds or pecans and candied or maraschino cherries. Makes 2 large tea rings.

You can use condensed cream of asparagus soup with dried beef for a supper dish. Serve over crisp toast, steamed rice or hot biscuits.

Danish Dessert Fit for St. Nick

In the midst of holiday festivities, the whole family is stirred to great activity and gaiety.

That's the time to add a new spark to meals, to satisfy the appetites and provide lots of energy for the festivities to follow.

Here's a different dessert—colorful and sparkling as the season and fir-trimmed too — Danish dessert with cream rennet dessert topping—a delicious treat for the holidays.

Danish Dessert With Cream

Rennet Dessert Topping

1 package Danish dessert
2 cups cold water
1 package vanilla rennet powder
2 cups light cream

Stir contents of package of Danish dessert into water. Bring to full boil, stirring constantly. Boil for one minute. Pour into seven individual dessert glasses, filling each about one-half full. Allow to cool to room temperature.

When cool, prepare cream rennet dessert topping as follows: Warm cream slowly, stirring constantly. Test a drop on inside of wrist frequently. When comfortably warm (110), not hot, remove at once from heat.

Stir contents of package of rennet powder into cream quickly until dissolved—not over one minute. Pour at once, while still liquid, over Danish dessert. (To prevent dessert from running together, pour over back of spoon.) Do not move until set—about 10 minutes. Then chill 3 to 4 hours.

Make it a holiday dessert special by fir-trimming the rennet dessert topping. Cut candied citron, maraschino cherries or other candied fruits into small pieces and arrange to represent Christmas figures.

Cookies, Applesauce Provide Jiffy Dessert

When you are short on kitchen time and the family hollers for dessert, here is a quick trick:

Crumble a generous layer of packaged gingersnaps into a deep pie plate. Top with a layer of canned applesauce and still another layer of gingersnap crumbs. Bake in a moderate oven until heated through and serve with light cream.

Try Garlicky Limas

Here's an easy way to hearty flavor! Cook a finely minced garlic clove in butter until lightly brown. Then add the liquid drained from a can of green lima beans, and cook down to about half. Add the beans and heat through. Put in serving dish and sprinkle with grated Parmesan cheese.

HOLIDAY DESSERT—A simple dessert dressed with bits of candied citron and maraschino cherries is this Danish dessert with a cream rennet

Roast Duck in Rotisserie for Tender, Juicy Meat

Lucky the duckling that keeps company with an electric rotisserie! If you enjoy roast duck that arrives at the table with tender juicy meat, with a delectably crisp skin underneath which there is scarcely a trace of fat, then you will be enamored of this partnership.

A rotisserie works wonders in the kitchen. One kind not only spit-roasts and quick-broils, but also grills and fries.

In addition, it has a baking tray that may be useful in a regularly equipped kitchen and of real service in a tiny apartment kitchen without a regular oven.

Spit-roasting is done with the door of the appliance up, for quick broiling the door slides down and rests below the appliance.

The top of the rotisserie opens to allow for grilling, frying and roasting; two removable square-shaped bands of metal permit you to fry an egg that is the right size for a couple of slices of bread!

Boon to all cooks, the top grilling tray is removable for washing. A corner popper may also be had with the appliance.

A rotisserie heating element is greatly superior, in our opinion, ion, to the wire-coil type of heating unit.

For a holiday meal, we suggest serving a spit-roasted duckling with a sauce. Here are three recipes from which to choose.

To make the duck broth called for in two of the sauces, cook the duck giblets and neck in 2 cups of water in a small saucepan.

Add half a teaspoon of salt, a very small onion, a piece of carrot and bay leaf, a few whole cloves and peppercorns. Simmer, covered, until tender—about 40 minutes.

Be sure to trim your duck of excess fat before you center and roast it securely to the skewer.

Roast the duckling according to the manufacturer's directions, or until the duckling is as tender and brown as you like.

Orange Sauce for Duckling

2 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 tablespoons minced onion
1 1/2 cups water
1 1/2 cups orange juice
1/2 cup lemon juice
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup cornstarch
1/2 cup water
1/2 cup salt
1/2 cup ginger
1/2 cup marjoram

Melt butter in saucepan; add onion and cook and stir a few minutes. Add orange juice, lemon juice and 1 1/2 cups water; bring quickly to a boil.

Mix 3 tablespoons water and cornstarch until smooth; stir into boiling juice with salt, ginger and marjoram; cook and stir constantly over moderate heat until thickened and clear. Makes about 2 cups sauce.

Cherry Sauce for Duckling

1 1/2 or 11-ounce can black Bing cherries
1/2 cup (about) duck broth
2 tablespoons cornstarch
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1/2 cup cooking sherry
1-1/2 teaspoon allspice

Drain and pit cherries and place in a 1 1/2-quart saucepan. Measure cherry syrup and add enough broth to make 1 1/2 cups. Add to cherries and bring to boil quickly.

Mix cornstarch with lemon juice and sherry until smooth; add to saucepan with allspice.

Cook and stir constantly over moderate heat until thickened and clear. Makes about 2 cups.

Mushroom Sauce for Duck

2 tablespoons fat
2 tablespoons flour
1 cup duck broth
1 1/2-ounce can sliced broiled mushrooms
1/2 cup teaspoon kitchen bouquet
Salt and pepper
Duck giblets and neck meat

Blend fat and flour in saucepan over low heat. Add duck broth and mushrooms, including liquid in can; cook and stir constantly until thickened and bubbly.

Add kitchen bouquet, salt and pepper to taste and cut-up duck giblets and neck meat. Makes about 2 cups.

Enjoy Fresh Taste of Asparagus Soup

Soup's on! A tastier 'n' tasty asparagus soup—made with frozen asparagus—something worthy of exclamation! It has a truly fresh flavor. What's more, it's rich and full-bodied — with a homemade goodness that can't be beat. Serve it in small amounts at the beginning of the meal—or as a main course with sandwich accompaniment. Either way this asparagus special is "food for the gods."

Asparagus Soup Special

1 package frozen asparagus cuts
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 tablespoons flour
1 cup milk and cooking liquid
egg yolk

Cook package frozen asparagus according to directions on package. Drain and reserve liquid; add milk to make 1 cup. Melt butter or margarine, stir in flour and milk-asparagus liquid mixture.

Press asparagus through sieve or food mill and add. Stir in remaining milk and heat. Just before serving beat egg yolk with 1 or 2 tablespoons-of milk and stir into soup. Amount: Three to six servings.

Chilled pineapple chunks, seedless white grapes and gingerale make a delightful fruit compote for a company dinner.

Use Spicy Deviled Ham for Taste-Tingling Tidbits

Canapes and other appetizing tidbits, served either in the living room before dinner or at table when guests sit down, start the feast on a pleasant note.

Serve chilled cider or fruit juices with them.

Here are a few easy suggestions using deviled ham.

Deviled Roll Canapes

1 green pepper, cleaned
1 fresh firm tomato
1 small onion
1 package cream cheese
1 family size (4½-ounce) can deviled ham
1 small bag potato chips, crushed
3 hard cushion or club rolls
Chop together pepper, tomato and onion until very finely minced. Drain.

Mix in cream cheese, deviled ham and potato chips. Remove slice from one end of each roll and use a fork to pull out soft centers.

Fill hollowed rolls with mixture. Wrap rolls in foil and chill overnight. To serve, cut in thin slices with a sharp knife.

Deviled Tomato Dip

1 cup catsup
1 can (2½-ounce) deviled ham
1 teaspoon prepared mustard
2 tablespoons wine vinegar
Other seasonings to taste

Combine all ingredients and mix thoroughly. Add one-half cup thick sour cream to use as a salad dressing.

May be served hot or cold and used as sauce or dip. Particularly good with fish sticks to be dipped and eaten out of hand. Makes 1½ cups sauce.

Deviled Roll-Ups

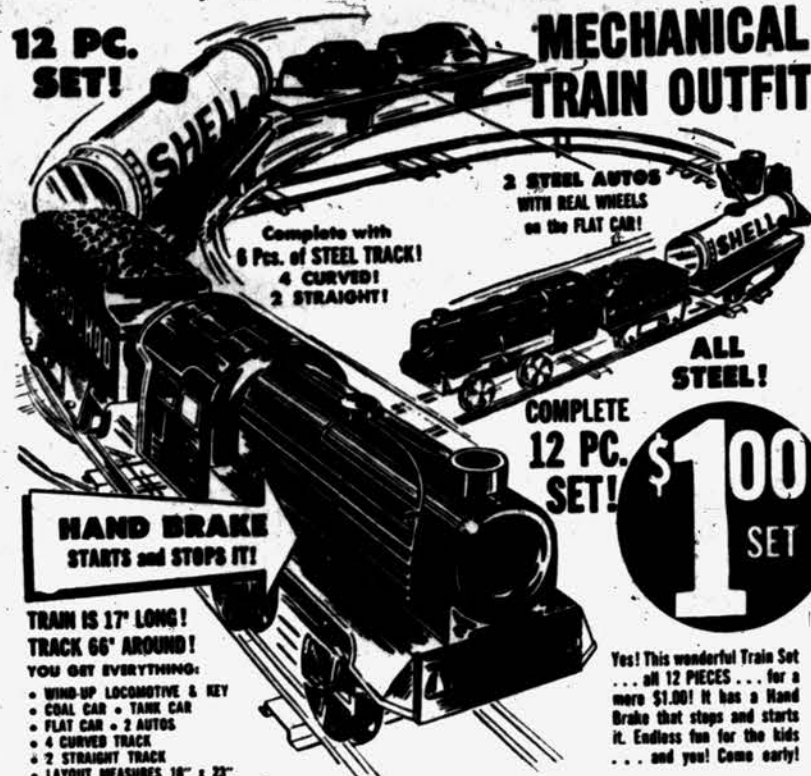

4 slices soft white bread
1 family size (4½-ounce) can deviled ham
1 teaspoon prepared mustard
1 thick slice sharp or Swiss cheese

Remove bread crusts and spread each slice with combined deviled ham and mustard. Cut cheese into six strips.

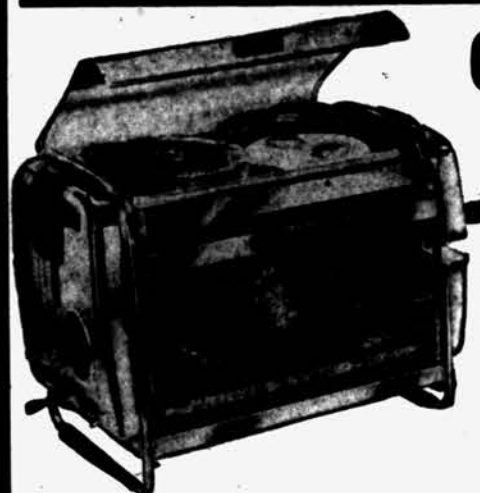

Place a strip of cheese at one end of spread bread and roll up. Secure with a pick and chill.

Serve two or three filled rolls to a portion. Good finger food.

Q. "High suds—or low suds? Which will get clothes cleanest and whitest in my automatic washer?"

A. You need the very lowest suds...you need Blue VIM!

HERE'S WHY:

High-suds are bad in automatic washers. They clog the works—don't rinse clean.

Low-suds are better—but they still aren't low enough to give you best results.

VIM's lowest suds are best of all—they clean completely, rinse completely.

VIM HAS LOWEST SUDS—GUARANTEES CLEANEST CLOTHES!

OF ALL LOW-SUDS PRODUCTS, ONLY VIM IS BLUE. AND IT BLUES CLOTHES WHITE!

VIM TESTED AND APPROVED BY FAMOUS BENDIX AUTOMATIC WASHER

● Maybe you're confused, too. So many products for automatic washers—high-suds, medium-suds, low-suds, controlled-suds. And who knows which suds will give you the cleanest, whitest washes!

So here are the facts, ma'am! Lever Brothers make a lot of famous products that give heaps of suds but high-suds are definitely bad for automatic washers. (They can clog the works with a thick blanket of foam, choke the rinsing action.) Medium-low suds are a step in the right direction. But they simply aren't low enough for best results.

Leading washer manufacturers say: "The lower the suds, the cleaner the clothes." And that's why Lever Brothers brought you VIM, with the very lowest suds of any washday product. Almost no suds, in fact! And that means you get the greatest possible cleaning power in your automatic washer. For VIM gets out all the dirt, and then rinses away completely. No grey "left-over" suds to dim your wash!

And of all low-suds products, VIM alone is blue. You get the most dazzling white washes you've ever seen, because VIM actually blues clothes white!

Lever Brothers Company unconditionally guarantees that VIM will give you the cleanest, whitest washes possible. And, what's more, if you're not entirely satisfied your money will be refunded. So next time you run through a wash, put in Blue VIM. You can't lose — you're sure to gain!

Put in Blue VIM take out whiter clothes!

Indifference to 'Too Much Christmas' May Be Cured With Sharing

In One Way or Another Must Show Gratitude

By EMILY POST

A wife writes me: "My husband's employer gave him two tickets to one of two new hit shows to which he could not go because of having to go out of town unexpectedly. This was a real treat to me as we seldom go to the theater because of the expense involved. I would like to know if you think I should write a note of thanks to my husband's employer for giving us the tickets?"

Taking it for granted that your husband thanked him when he handed him the tickets, that is all that is necessary. If he had sent them to you with a note, then you would write and thank him. Of course, if you have occasion to talk to him on the telephone you would certainly tell him how much you enjoyed the play.

Dear Mrs. Post: I would appreciate your answering the following questions which have caused considerable discussion among my friends from time to time.

(1) When a man and his wife send a greeting card to someone, how should their names be signed? Which name precedes the other—the husband's or the wife's?

(2) When writing a family letter to a married couple, how should the letter begin, Dear Marian and Bob, or Dear Bob and Marian. (3) When a female office worker sends a Christmas card to a male business associate and she does not know his wife, is it proper to address the card to Mr. and Mrs. or should it be addressed to him alone?

Answer: (1) The one who signs the card, courteously writes the other's name first. (2) Dear Marian and Bob. (3) If it is sent to the house it is polite to include his wife. If sent to his office you would address it to him alone.

Dear Mrs. Post: Several of us here at the office have been having a discussion as to whether one "eats" soup or "drinks" it. We would appreciate your telling us which is correct.

You eat your soup with a spoon, and drink it from a cup. In other words, you eat it with a tablespoon when served in a plate; you sip it from a teaspoon or drink it when served in a cup.

Overloaded Circuit Is No Problem

By HUBBARD COBB

It seems that in a lot of the homes built today the fuse box has been replaced with something called a circuit breaker. This is probably a fine thing except for the fact that most of the people living in these homes don't know what has to be done to a circuit breaker when the lights go off.

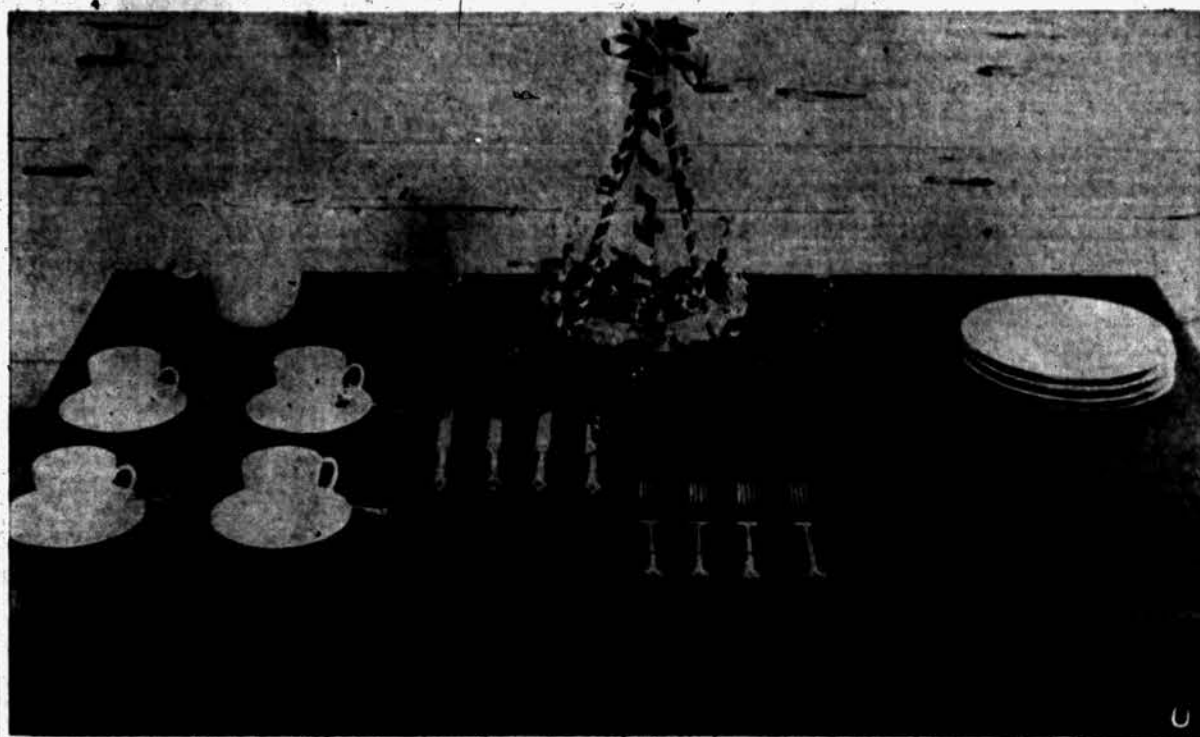

A circuit breaker is different from a fuse box in that it does not contain fuses that burn out and must be replaced. In a circuit breaker there is a little switch for each circuit and when a circuit becomes overloaded or should there be a short circuit, the little switch jumps from "on" to "off."

What you do then is to check and see which circuit is causing the trouble and then locate the cause of the trouble an overloaded or short circuit in some appliance. When the cause of the trouble has been eliminated, you can flip the little switch from "off" back to "on."

If the trouble has not been corrected, the switch won't stay on the "on" position but will flip back to "off" and there is no way to make it stick until the trouble has been fixed. With some circuit breakers it's necessary to flip the switch back and forth twice before the circuit goes back into operation.

The primary advantage, to the householder, of a circuit breaker over a fuse box is that you don't have to worry about having the correct extra fuse on hand when trouble occurs.

The largest of ocean steamers can travel 1,000 miles up Brazil's Amazon river even in the period of low water.

It's easy to achieve that "Holiday Look" for your dining table with this gay festive cloth and red napkins. The centerpiece carries out the colors, using candy cane ornamentation in the middle, surrounded with green and red Christmas balls. The small, gayly colored balls are pasted on the center of the base and a full ribbon bow is attached to the top.

Man's Fear of Father Threatens a Marriage

By ANNE HEYWOOD

"My husband works for his father," a young woman writes, "and it is just awful. He is a salesman, and while he does good work, he gets paid starvation wages. His father thinks this is perfectly all right, because one day Bob will inherit the business, and we'll be on easy street. But meantime, our life is just going down the drain."

"Bob's salary isn't enough for us to start a family on, and when I try to get a job, and I could, since I am a good typist, his father and mother won't hear of it. Their son's daughter should stay home and keep house."

Not only that, but almost every night they come here or we have to go there, and Bob and his father do nothing but talk about how they started out, and how poor they were, but what a success they've made. I'm sick to death of it.

"Also, I have to type all Bob's reports, because they're too stingy to give him a typist at the office. 'I'm still in love with Bob,' she continues, 'but I won't be for much longer if he doesn't do something about this situation. He's scared to death of his father, and even though I tell him I know he could get a better job elsewhere, and I could work too, he hasn't the courage.'

But how much longer can we put off living, and having a family? How much longer can we mark time and be miserable sitting around waiting for people to die—I know that's strong language, but that's what we've been doing for more than seven years."

It seems to me this young woman has a case, and should have a showdown. First, she should certainly get paid for her typing, and do it for some other firm. To put up with the present situation is foolhardy, and not fair to anyone. So she must tell her husband and her father-in-law that this is the end. She is going to go out and get a paid job typing. Probably they'll put up with it, but if they don't, I honestly think it might possibly be wise for her to have a trial separation, earn her own living, and get some peace and some freedom in her spare time.

If they put up with it, she can save the money she makes, toward a nest egg if her husband ever gets the courage to leave his father.

And she will have to insist on evenings alone with her husband, or the marriage will surely capsize. If her husband is willing to string along, things might still be saved. She must tell him how she feels, that she is afraid she may stop loving him unless he gets some backbone. But if he is hopelessly enmeshed in the family, she will never in the long run have a husband or children of her own.

Sewing Easy Now

Once the novice launched herself into the pattern department with trembling, lest she come up with a pattern that involved a complicated fit. Now there are not only easy to do patterns, but very easy to do patterns that are for you if you don't know the blade of the shears from the handle.

PETUNIA!
My very favorite Christmas chore is brightening Our big front door!

Mighty pretty, Petunia! You can make the candy cane of striped paper, with a huge ribbon bow, and wire it to pine boughs.

If large upper arm and thighs—

Why reveal both when you can cover that heavy upper arm with drapes and hide those large thighs with fuller skirt.

Mrs. A. T.—The genius for flattery is implicit in choosing from the newest fashions the dress that flatters your figure—as subtle as a drape over heavy upper arms and skirt ease to minimize hips and thighs.

Plastic Cup Better

A silver cup is pretty, but a small plastic one is better to start baby on drinking by himself. He'll be able to wrap his hands around it with greater ease than he can hold a handle. The silver cup is the next step, if you're lucky enough to have one.

'One Gift Less' Inspires Good for All Concerned

By MARY MARGARET McBRIDE

The One Gift Less Club started as a one-woman organization a little more than a year ago but as this Christmas nears, its membership is swelling mightily, for most people who hear about the unique organization want to be part of it.

Founder Rae Elbroch, the advertising woman who launched the idea along in November last year, welcomes all recruits.

"I'd like everybody to share the fun I've had," she declares generously.

Problem's Solution Is Up to Girl

She Should Show an Effort to See Outlook of Parents

By ELIZABETH WOODWARD

There are times when the family seems utterly dense. As though they don't want to try to understand. Of course, you may not bare your heart and soul to them in words that are easy to digest. You may keep your real feelings all bottled up and just go through vague motions of making yourself clear.

But there's no family fog that can't be dispelled by frank, unemotional, reasonable conversation. A large dose of which I would recommend to this girl, who writes:

"Dear Miss Woodward: I was going with Kim—we had lots of fun together—my parents approved of him, that is, whenever a party came up I was supposed to ask him always. But I started to like another boy named Wiley. He's two years older than I am and his parents are divorced."

Because of both facts Dad doesn't want me to go with him. Mother keeps asking why I don't see more of Kim. Dad says I shouldn't go steady with any one boy. They insist now on taking me places, bringing me home, and finding excuses why I can't go if Wiley is going to be there. All of this started when I started to go out with Wiley. "Now there's a party coming up and I want to ask Wiley, of course. Mother wants me to take Kim. So I have several questions to ask you."

Should my folks judge Wiley because of his parents? Should Mother keep reminding me of Kim? What should I do about the party? Does two years make Wiley too old for me?"

Your family obviously is not aware of the delicate nuances of their daughter's relationships with the men in her life. But you're just the girl to set them straight.

First there's Kim. You just aren't seeing Kim any more, that's all there is to it. When a girl and boy break up she doesn't keep on asking him to parties no matter how much her mother likes him. You'd better explain why the break, how you behave toward each other now, and make your mother realize that it's over now, finished, done with, flit.

Then there's Wiley. His age is okay—just so he doesn't want to do things and go places that aren't for you yet. His home picture is unfortunate, but I think he should be judged on his own behavior, personality and attitudes.

If your parents can't be persuaded to change their minds about him, remember that they can make all of your dating difficult. You can get back your liberty if you'll date other boys besides Wiley. Take somebody else to this party as a start. Give a point here and there in your family discussion so they'll see that you're trying to understand their point of view. It'll make it easier for them to understand yours.

The One Gift Less Club came into being when Rae, preparing her Christmas list last year, ruefully recalled the lack of enthusiasm with which her gifts to godchildren and other offspring of prosperous friends seem invariably to be received. One more toy or game to a child with many presents is no added thrill.

Then she began to think of a story she's just heard about the fine aid being given by the United Cerebral Palsy Association to the harassed mother of a child born with the disease.

"I'd just like to earmark a holiday check for that organization," she thought and frowned as she considered her limited budget and the people she wanted to remember. Not much room for extras, she decided gloomily. Then, in a flash, the solution came. Why not send a check in the name of each child to the Cerebral Palsy Association and let the parents explain to their offspring.

The scheme worked out even better than she planned for the association made impressive-looking certificates for the small gift-givers.

Says Rae: "These children who had been utterly indifferent to presents on which I had often spent more than I could afford, were simple enchanted with their certificates. They took the treasures to school to show off to their teachers and fellow-students and then framed them for hanging on bedroom walls."

The parents, too, were pleased on One Gift Less Club began to grow.

"When I was a little girl on the east side of New York," Rae explained, "I thought Santa Claus came only to rich kids. But on the Christmas I was five, I suddenly hung up my stocking. Next morning it bulged and I was full of hope—but inside was only a knobby potato and a smelly onion. I guess that's one reason I can't bear to think of any forlorn boy or girl on Christmas morning without at least one gaily-wrapped package to open."

Almost any grateful settlement house or other group dealing with children who need help to have a Merry Christmas would provide a supply of certificates entitling recipients to membership for 1934-35 in the One Gift Less Club.

One gift less for hundreds of fortunate little boys and girls thus will mean gifts for hundreds of others who otherwise wouldn't have anything. But instead of One Gift Less, it seems to me the club really ought to be called One Gift More for it would be hard to find anything more valuable for a child than the lesson that it can be more blessed to give than to receive.

Keep Baby Close

If you let Baby sit in his chair-table or stroller while you argue with the automatic washing machine, be sure he's located well away from any door that might fly open in a rush of hot water. But it is good to have him with you in such a situation for you might not be able to hear his cry above the noise, if he was in another room.

Ease Baby's Sleep

If Baby must sleep in strange surroundings, be sure to take along a familiar blanket or toy and carry on your usual evening routine to ease him off to sleep.

Here is an idea for a Christmas gift for Mother. This is good at this time of the year, and Mother can use it throughout the year, too. Perhaps Dad will want to help with this. Look through your wood box and see what you find.

Use a section of wood about two feet long for a yule log candle holder. When you find the piece that suits you, cut the ends off at a slant to make them even. Brush off any dirt, then use a brace and bit to bore holes into the top side. The size of the holes will depend on the candles you buy to fit into them. Now, make a base to keep the log from tipping. Do this as shown in the drawing, cutting away part of each bar to fit under the log. Nail these to either end of the log. Set your candles in place, and hide from Mother until Christmas Eve. Surprise her then.

If you want a wandle log for a long mantel you can cut your log to fit and get huge candles to light it. Just make sure that the candles are burning away from the wall and trimmings.

A "must" in every wardrobe—the jumper to wear with its companion blouse—with your sweaters and blouses! A new easy step-in style—no "overhead" muss or fuss. Simple, graceful lines—so flattering to your figure!

Pattern 4780: Misses' sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, 20, 30, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42. Size 16 jumper 4½ yards 39-inch fabric; blouse 1½ yards.

This pattern easy to use, simple to sew, is tested for fit. Has complete illustrated instructions.

Plan for Safety

A rubber pad or a rubbery coating painted on the back of a small rug is a real safety necessity. Also, you can sew rubber canning jar rings in each corner and under the center of such a rug.

Keep Pantry Clean

If you keep a well-stocked pantry of ingredients for emergency suppers, be sure that you wash the cans and jars when they come from the stores. They're dirty already and won't enhance your supposedly appetizing pantry.

Modest Gifts Splendid in Ready-Made Packaging

By KAY SHERWOOD
NEA Staff Writer

Have you ever been so entranced by the pretty wrappings on a present that you hated to untie the ribbons? Artful packaging is a talent; but fortunately, for fumble-fingers like myself, ready-made packaging has developed so many handsome containers that even a modest gift is splendidly presented.

For example, long after the last tidbit of fruitcake or cookie has vanished from the tin, the container still serves a useful life.

This year, you'll probably count among your post-holiday treasures decorated metal cans; flat, round, tall and short. Better than saving them on a shelf for possible use next Christmas is to put them into service now. What can be done with them, to some extent, depends on their size and shape.

I've never found anything better for keeping brown sugar soft than a cylindrical can with tight-fitting lid that arrived two years ago filled with cookies. Similar cans with holes punched in the lid make excellent containers for soap powders. Or, punch one hole and smooth the edges with a file to hold a ball of knitting yarn or string. The can will help keep it clean and untangled.

Small, flat boxes with hinged lids are appropriated by my youngsters for their crayons and chalk. If you receive a large, beautiful candy box that's too pretty to discard, let your daughter use it for hankies, gloves, hair bows or barrettes. Wipe it out carefully, however, and let the aroma of chocolate air out before you add the trinkets. I sprinkle cachet powder inside to perfume the contents.

I've also found a sturdy metal can an invaluable addition to the toy basket, especially when toddlers come to call. One can (I believe it arrived filled with fruitcake) now holds empty thread spools, big buttons, short lengths of knotted string and a few sea shells left over from some excursion.

Exploring and playing with these objects keeps little fingers momentarily out of mischief. When the visit is over, the lid goes back on the can, corralling these oddments neatly and safely for the next time.

Pajamas Are Fluffy

Warm and fluffy brushed nylon pajamas and gowns now come prettied up with brilliants. In pastel colors, too.

Bermuda shorts are so popular for cruise and resort wear. These shorts by Casual Time of California come in silk shantung and are fully lined in taffeta. A printed silk shantung double-button front sleeveless blouse tops the shorts. It has a bateau neckline.

Alex Colman designs this charming dress in a beautiful American Beauty Rose print for dancing, dining and dreaming. Trimmed with velvet and rhinestones, the circle skirt is lined with Pellon.

Paris Ladies Like Be-Jeweled Animals

The latest collecting fad among smart Parisiennes is for jeweled animals. These can be real jewels or dime-store clips or charms in metal and enamel with fake jeweled eyes.

The Paris ladies are collecting "menageries" which they either show off at home or wear. Most popular jeweled animals being collected in Paris are all sorts of birds, plus turtles, frogs, squirrels and grasshoppers.

Faille—don't iron it on the right side or you'll be out one dress. Do it carefully on the wrong side, preferably with a nonshed towel underneath.

Dance Band Benefactor Plays Piano

Goldkette Returns to Keyboard for Fund Raising Drive

By DONNA ANDERSON

Jean Goldkette has returned to the keyboard. Most people connect his name with great dance bands and the "era of swing" claims Mr. Goldkette as its founder. He started such musicians as Jimmy and Tommy Dorsey and Glenn Miller, on their way to history making fame.

But, whatever direction a musician's life takes, his beginning rests on the study of the classics.

During this year, the 25th anniversary of the first triumphal tour of the Goldkette recording orchestra, the friendly French-American is seeking the relaxation and inspiration of his first love, the grand piano and serious music.

The artist is assisting service organizations all over the country with a wide spread fund raising project to aid worthy young artists in their chosen field.

Pontiac branch of American Association of University Women sponsored the Goldkette concert which was held Wednesday evening at Pontiac High School. The association is particularly interested in bringing foreign women to this country for study. Members also want a hand in the cultural and educational entertainment in Pontiac.

Mr. Goldkette's concert selections included the most familiar works of Mendelssohn, Liszt, Johann Strauss and Chopin with an American popular medley and a group of impressionistic works of Ravel, Debussy and Rachmaninoff. He even sneaked a little Morton Gould boogie woogie into the program.

Virtuosity perhaps lost a little of its technical flavor during the swing years, but this concert was a relaxing one and the artist's easy, neighborly manner certainly won the hearts of his holiday stricken audience.

Bureau Plans Recruit Drive

Plans are under way by Pontiac's General Volunteer Bureau for an intensive volunteer recruiting program to start early in 1955.

Arrangements for the drive were made when the bureau's advisory board met Wednesday afternoon in YWCA. The board is headed by Mrs. George Petroff.

Mrs. Calvin Dennison, executive secretary of the board reported on a state wide gathering of volunteer bureaus held in Detroit last week. Pontiac bureau has joined others throughout the state in forming a new Michigan organization.

Party Is Held

Hotel Waldron was the setting for the Tuesday evening Christmas party given by members of the women's auxiliary to Pontiac Master Plumbers Association. Mrs. Floyd Temple was chairman for the affair and was assisted by Mrs. Lloyd Thornton, Mrs. Ezra Mason and Mrs. T. F. Cook.

Gift Exchange Held

A Christmas gift exchange and visit from Santa Claus highlighted the Tuesday evening meeting of American Gold Star Mothers, chapter nine. The meeting was held in the American Legion home on Auburn avenue.

FOR SMALL FOLK—Special department in most stationery stores where the children can pick cards offers a boost to initiative and grown-up feeling to the youngsters.

For Any Occasion

Be Yourself in Fashions

The what-to-wear panic can strike a grown woman as easily as it strikes a girl going to her first party. And it strikes harder because she feels she ought to know instinctively.

A tale told of Gertrude Lawrence, a woman who knew how to wear her maturity with magnificence, is of a party given her by the university at which she taught. At first she planned to wear a wonderfully flamboyant dress that represented all she was as a glittering star.

Then at the last moment she reconsidered. After all, she decided, I am guest of honor as a professor, not as a star. She wore a modest suit and was the hit of the evening, as befits a guest of honor.

And that's the key to the situation. Represent who you are and what you do at whatever the occasion may be.

If you are the mother of the bride, be the mother of the bride, not the bride. Be good-looking background for your daughter, fit in with her color scheme for the affair. Don't try for the foreground.

If the party is in honor of another woman, don't try to surpass her. Dress well to compliment her, but don't strain for compliments and rolled eyes.

And, of course, if you are the guest of honor, cut loose. Dress to the best of your ability to be what you are.

Tuesday Musicale Announces Concert

Pontiac Tuesday Musicale members invite everyone to their Christmas program when two well known guest artists will accent the work of the Tuesday Musicale Chorus.

The concert will be held Dec. 14 at 8 p.m. in Central Methodist Church and Frederick Marriott, organist and Edward Drusinsky, harpist, will be the guests.

Mr. Marriott will play a program of seasonal organ works including some of his own composition. Mr. Drusinsky will accompany the chorus, under the direction of Mrs. Ferdinand Garmbuser, in several selections including Benjamin Britten's "Ceremony of Carols."

Mr. Marriott, now organist, choirmaster and carillonneur of Kirk in the Hills began his serious organ study with Frank Van Dusen at the American Conservatory of Music in Chicago where he graduated with highest honors in organ playing.

Later he attended the Charles M. Courboin master classes in Pennsylvania and Chicago. In 1936 and again in 1939 he studied organ and improvisations with Marcel Dupre in Paris. As one of America's foremost organ recitalists, Mr.

Marriott has attained recognition as a sincere artist and a truly great virtuoso.

Mr. Drusinsky, first harpist with the Detroit Symphony has been in the Detroit area for two years. He came to Detroit from Pittsburgh where he was harpist with the Pittsburgh Symphony.

The artist has been playing harp since he was 12 years old. He studied at the Curtis Institute of Music in Philadelphia, and has toured with the NBC Symphony under the baton of Arturo Toscanini.

Mrs. Helen Teitgen is hostess chairman for the event and will be assisted by members of the Junior League of Tuesday Musicale including Karen Bowman, Gail Blumey, Joan Dearing, Judy Baker, Sharon Gale, Judy Huntwork and Lynn Benter. The concert is open to the public free of charge.

Yule Concert Will Be Given This Evening

An annual Christmas concert will be presented by the Instrumental Music Department of the Pontiac Public Schools, this evening at 7:30.

The program, which will be given under the supervision of Dale C. Harris, will be held in the Boys' Gymnasium of Pontiac Senior High School.

This evening's concert is unique in that it provides parents an opportunity to observe the development of the instrumental music classes from the early stages of development in the elementary schools, through the junior high school phase of their training, culminating with their experience on the high school level.

Dr. Dana P. Whitmer, superintendent of schools, will make remarks preceding the following numbers which will be presented.

Campbell Will Seek Record

LONDON (U)—Donald Malcolm Campbell leaves London Thursday for Ulswater and Lake Windermere with his newest Bluebird, an all-metal craft he believes will travel faster than 200 m.p.h. and return the world speedboat record to Britain.

The son of the late great land and water king, Sir Malcolm Campbell, said that if all goes well he will slide Bluebird into the water for the first time Friday and switch on the turbojet power plant for preliminary tests.

"I will make no attempt tomorrow to break Stanley Sayre's world record, but I certainly hope for a good fast opening test run," said the pleasant 33-year-old Campbell.

Sayre of Seattle, Wash., broke the 141.74 m.p.h. record set by Campbell's father in England in 1939 with a 160 m.p.h. clocking over Lake Washington in 1936. Sayre's Sto-Mo-Shun IV boosted the record by 18 m.p.h. on Lake Washington July 7, 1952.

"We know little about how Bluebird will react on the actual speed course since the boatyard only handed her over to me last month," said Campbell. "There are a great many 'ifs' to this business of speed attempts. It's quite disconcerting."

"Recent floods put a lot of our gear and the boat house six feet under water. Logs also washed down into the lake and that makes things dangerous. I know—I hit a log once going about 150 m.p.h."

Bluebird, technically a hydro-plane, is metal and has two outriggers or pontoons, one on each side of and supporting the hull. Campbell's cockpit is enclosed under a strong hatch.

The boat is 26 feet long including the protruding power plant 11 feet wide, and weighs 2 1-3 tons. A Metropolitan-Vickers Beryl turbojet plant turns up 40,000 pounds static sea level thrust.

Campbell figures the tests may run from three to six weeks in the English Lake District.

BRINGS RECORD BID—Festoon, from the stables of the late John Dewar, Scottish whisky maker, is led around ring at annual bloodstock sales in Newmarket, England Tuesday before being sold for $105,840, a world record price for a brood mare. The three-year-old filly was bought by Anthony Askew, of England, who said patriotism influenced his bidding. He outbid Mrs. Elizabeth Arden Graham of Maine Chance Farm, Kentucky, who gave up after offering $102,900 of her cosmetics millions.

Swedish Medics See Danger in Amateur Boxing

STOCKHOLM (U)—How dangerous is amateur boxing?

Five Swedish physicians who have made a thorough investigation into it have reached the conclusion that unskilled young boxers definitely run the risk of brain injuries.

Even if brain disturbances caused by boxing are very often healed, they said in a report today, there always remains the risk that repeated blows to the head will cause permanent and serious injury to the brain.

The five doctors based their conclusions on examination of 75 young Swedish amateur boxers after 102 matches, which they watched from ringside.

The doctors said 14 of the amateurs examined showed symptoms "in every respect similar to those after light brain concussion." They found "light symptoms" of brain disturbances in nine other cases.

PHS Swimmers Defeat Central in First Meet

Chiefs Take 5 Firsts, Edge Indians, 43-41, in Flint Pool

Pontiac High's swimming team won its opening meet of the season yesterday afternoon, edging Flint Central 43-41 in the Indians' pool.

Although the test was nip-and-tuck all the way, Pontiac never was behind after the 2nd event.

Chiefs won five first places in the 9-event program. Individual winners were Bob Lanson, 100-yard free style; Bob Keavy, breast stroke; Tom Cross, back stroke; sophomore Dennis Simonson, 200-yard free style; and the medley relay team of Cross, Ken Scott and Dick Gavette.

Probably the best clocking turned in during the meet was Gavette's 1:06.1 in the back stroke.

Coach Des Boyce's swimmers go to Mt. Clemens Friday and to Ferndale the following Friday to wind up their pre-holiday competition.

Summary:

50-yard free style—Blockstead (FC) 1st; Lanson (P) 2nd; Haynes (FC) 3rd. Time 26 seconds.
100-yard breast stroke—Keavy (P) 1st; Knapp (FC) 2nd; Scott (P) 3rd. Time 1 minute 18.4 seconds.
200-yard free style—Simonson (P) 1st; Kerby (FC) 2nd; Watt (FC) 3rd. Time 2 minutes 21 seconds.
100-yard back stroke—Cross (P) 1st; Shmeyer (FC) 2nd; Bopard (P) 3rd. Time 1 minute 41 seconds.
100-yard free style—Lanson (P) 1st; Blockstead (FC) 2nd; Gavette (P) 3rd. Time 1:06.1.
50-yard freestyle relay—Flint Central (Flint-Watt-Haynes-Simonson) 1st; Pontiac (Lanson-Blockstead-Haynes-Simonson) 2nd. Time 1 minute 49 seconds.

Louisville Breaks Record

LaSalle and Oklahoma Aggies Register Third Straight Wins; Irish Top NW

By JOHN CHANDLER

The Associated Press

La Salle, Oklahoma A&M, Notre Dame, Louisville — names well known in college basketball circles—continued on the victory trail today.

All four scored impressive victories last night in the young 1954-55 campaign, which saw heavy action in the East, where many Ivy League quints tuned up for the hot conference race to come.

La Salle, winner of the NCAA championship last spring and voted the No. 1 team in the Associated Press preseason poll, this fall, chalked up its third straight victory by overwhelming Penn Mill-tary 94-39. All America Tom Gola scored 18 points in the 25 minutes he played.

Also making it three in a row was Oklahoma A&M, No. 11 in the preseason calculations. The Aggies, who defeated Texas 70-63 Saturday, did it again last night 77-49. Mack Carter led the A&M scoring with 21.

Notre Dame made it 22 consecutive home floor victories by beating Northwestern 79-69, and Louisville broke its own scoring record with a 113-84 triumph over Mississippi State.

Brown handed Harvard a 51-38 Ivy League defeat while undefeated Connecticut made it 3-0 by drubbing Yale 83-57.

Virginia marred Navy's home debut by defeating the Midgies 79-69 while Fordham outlasted Syracuse 60-56. Columbia best Rutgers 85-61 and Pennsylvania thumped Swarthmore 86-58.

In a Southern Conference game, Richmond defeated Washington & Lee 95-78 for the Spiders' fourth straight.

Arkansas went overtime to defeat Oklahoma City 81-76, while Tulsa defeated Texas A&M 57-45, to make its record 3-0.

Purdue defeated Valparaiso 62-50. West Texas State overcame Hamline 87-64, and Marquette made it 3-0 by taking St. Norbert of Wisconsin 83-47.

State Deer Kill Put at 68,500

Best Hunting Was in Top Part of Lower Peninsula

LANSING (U)—Latest estimate by the State conservation department is that about 68,500 deer were killed during the 1954 hunting season.

The department emphasized that the estimate is only tentative and is based on counts made along highways in the northern Lower Peninsula, at the Straits of Mackinac and on roads leading to Wisconsin.

A breakdown of the total shows that 24,900 deer were bagged during the Upper Peninsula regular season, 30,200 were killed in the northern Lower Peninsula regular season, 9,400 were taken during the special season, 2,000 were taken in the southern Lower Peninsula and 2,000 were taken by archers and under camp permits.

Dog Spurns Beds, Has Pups in Sewer

BALTIMORE (U)—Robert Pawliske's dog Cocoa was expecting, so the thoughtful owner prepared several beds around the house where the litter could be borne in comfort.

But Cocoa spurned them. She had her litter of seven in an outdoor sewer main and refused to let anyone rescue them.

After two days, the mother was finally lured away with food. Then Pawliske and a neighbor dug three feet of earth and chiseled a hole in a concrete pipe. Three cold puppies were saved; the other four had died.

Moore Figures Chief Foes on Friday Will Be Tough

By H. GUY MOATS

Observations of a former PHS cage star, now a "practice" teacher at his alma mater, on the play of this year's Flint Northern five indicates the PHS Chiefs are up against a tough foe for their SVC opener Friday night.

Says Tom Moore, one-time PHS Chief floorman, "Northern struck me as particularly effective on the rebounds against Port Huron. Majority of their buckets came by that means. I think they'll be very tough on the boards."

Vikings are a good defensive club also, says Moore.

To which Coach Art Van Ryzin added a bit of warning: "None of Northern's starters were on the football squad, so they'll probably be well advanced in their shooting and general floor play."

Grill Five Capitalizes on Free Toss to Edge Machinery Team

A pair of close contests marked last night's Class B action in the City Basketball League.

Griff's Grill edged Davis Machinery by the margin of a single free throw, 50-49, after each team had collected 20 baskets. Winners made good on 10 of 17 chances from the foul line, while Davis hit on nine of 17.

Bob Mills, of the losers, took game scoring honors with 19 points, while Griff's Chet Woodward had 16.

Stadium Inn overcame a 26-25 3rd-period deficit to down Courtesy Floors, 41-36. Guard Jim Lee scored seven of Stadium Inn's 16 points in the final quarter.

Jerry Long of Courtesy Floors was high for the game with 13 points, while Don Ringler had 11 for Stadium Inn.

Oregon's George Shaw Won Total Offense Title by Beating '53 Leader, Paul Larson, Face to Face

NEW YORK (U)—Oregon's George Shaw won the country's major college individual total offense title this football season, and no one can say he didn't earn it in the most appropriate way.

He beat last year's champion, California's Paul Larson, by out-gaining him when they met face to face, and led Oregon to an upset victory in the process. And he stayed ahead on his running ability while his rivals, also T quarter-backs, outgained him through the air with stronger supporting casts.

Shaw nearly doubled his output of a year ago as he completed the transition from defensive back. As a varsity freshman in 1951, in two-platoon football, he set a national record that still stands by intercepting 13 passes.

Shaw gained 1,536 yards, 178 of them by running, final NCAA Service Bureau Statistics showed Wednesday. Larson had 1,485, including a rushing net loss of 52, and Purdue's Len Dawson had 1,381, with an 80-yard loss on the ground.

Run All the Way
In contrast, the fourth man made every inch running. Art Lupino, the Arizona sophomore who won national scoring and rushing titles, gained 1,359 yards carrying the ball. He ranked higher in total offense than any other player in history who did not throw a single forward pass.

Mikes' 5 in Action Tonight, Rams Start Season Friday

St. Michael's Shamrocks go to Ferndale tonight to meet St. James in the opening contest of the 1954-55 Suburban Catholic League basketball season.

Remaining six teams in the circuit are in action Friday night. St. Frederick goes to Detroit St. Rita, Orchard Lake St. Mary is at Highland Park. St. Benedict and

Royal Oak St. Mary plays at Center Line St. Clement.

Coach Bob Minewasser's team, which boasts the only all-letterman starting lineup in the league, is regarded as one of the top contenders for the SCL crown won last year by St. Ben.

Only Russ Shindorf graduated from the 1953-54 3rd-place Shamrock team that broke even in 12 league starts. Shindorf's forward slot has been taken by 6-foot senior Joe Wilhelm. Rest of the lineup has John Keller at the other forward, Bud Schwartz at center, and Bob Anderson and Marty Keller at guards.

St. James bowed to Class A Ferndale Lincoln High, 62-31, in its opener Tuesday night.

Ken Hulslander, starting his 1st year as St. Frederick basketball coach, will start three seniors and two juniors against St. Rita's Vikings Friday. Capt. Lionel Bradley will be at center, Del Chavez and Jim Krouse will work at the guards, Dick Doyon will handle one forward berth and either Mike Kopsic, a 6-4 junior, or Don Carry will get the nod at the other forward spot.

Expect Big 10 to Take Stand on Regional TV

Powerful Group Wants NCAA's Football 'Game of Week' Replaced

By JOE FALLS

DETROIT (U)—After making a proposal to amend the still controversial substitution rule, the Big Ten is expected to take a definite stand on regional football television Thursday.

The conference's television committee met Wednesday night but made no announcement. It was scheduled for another get-together Thursday morning, when a statement is expected to be forthcoming.

A powerful group, the Big Ten favors regional televising of football games, as opposed to the NCAA "Game of the Week" program.

The conference coaches unanimously agreed upon a proposal to alter the present "one-platoon" substitution rule. Ray Eliot of Illinois, chairman of the coaches committee, said the Big Ten proposal "emphatically does not in any way lend itself to the old two-platoon system."

The coaches' proposal would allow any player who starts a quarter to re-enter that quarter on one occasion. Under the present rule, a player may only return during the final four minutes of the second and fourth periods. This proposal will be forwarded to the coaches meeting at the NCA convention next month in New York.

Televising of Big Ten basketball games this season also was a main topic in the opening of the Big Ten's winter meetings. The conference said it will telecast, coast-to-coast, a series of 11 games, starting with the Notre Dame-Indiana game this Saturday and the Tulane-Northwestern game the following Saturday.

The games (carried by CBS) will start at 3 p.m. (EST) and, in many instances, will be in direct conflict with the professional National Basketball Assn. games televised by another network (NBC).

The remainder of the schedule was due to be announced Thursday.

Broncs Snatch Bitter Battle

Go 2 Overtimes for a 95-91 Win Over Chip Five

MT. PLEASANT (U)—If it took them two overtime periods to do it, but Western Michigan's Broncos squeaked past Central Michigan for a 95-91 basketball victory last night.

The score was tied 23 times during the tight game. One of these was a 24-24 deadlock at halftime. Another was 73-73 at the end of regulation play.

In the 2nd overtime, guard Cuyler Miller of Western tossed in two buckets in a row and center Fred Corbus made good on a free throw to turn the tide.

Forward Dick Kackmeister of Central led both teams with 34 points on 12 field goals and 10 free throws. Corbus led Western with 27.

IBC Prexy Denies 'Fix' Charges of Ex-Boxer

NEW YORK (U)—Charges of a former heavyweight boxer that Jim Norris, president of the International Boxing Club, had fixed fights some years ago were denied Thursday by Norris as "untrue, libelous and absurd."

Harry Thomas, a former boxer, wrote in an article appearing in the magazine Sports Illustrated that Norris "has been a fixer of prize fights."

Now a Chicago stationary engineer, Thomas said Norris fixed his bout with Max Schmeling at Madison Square Garden Dec. 13, 1937, and the Thomas-Tony Galento fight in Philadelphia Nov. 14, 1938.

The charge that I participated in fixed fights that took place 17 years ago is untrue, libelous and absurd," said Norris in a statement.

Norris said Thomas refused to testify at a hearing before the New York State Athletic Commission Nov. 21, 1939, and added:

"Now the ridiculous story is revived at a time when most of the people mentioned in the article are dead and cannot conveniently defend themselves."

"I did not promote the fights mentioned in the article. I did not manage any of the fighters mentioned. The fights took place in New York and Philadelphia and my only interest in boxing at the time was as landlord of the Chicago Stadium and Detroit Olympia."

Thomas, whose manager of record at the time was the late Nate Lewis, said that during this period his secret manager was Norris.

The former heavyweight said that in his Garden fight with Jimmy Adamek Feb. 18, 1938, he was supposed to "carry" him. He was outpointed by Adamek. Thomas said his title fight with Joe Louis which he lost in the Chicago Stadium April 1, 1938, was on the level.

In his statement, Norris listed as those dead unable to defend themselves: Lewis, Joe Jacobs, Schmeling's manager, Mike Jacobs, New York promoter, and Jim Mullen, Chicago Stadium promoter.

Thomas said Joe Jacobs told him before the Schmeling fight "you can make more money on this one fight than you could make on that farm the rest of your life."

You do business with us and you'll be taken care of." Asked what was meant by "business," Thomas said Norris told him that "you'll have to take a dive, lose the fight by a knockout."

FAMILY AFFAIR—It's not uncommon for the wife and kiddies to figure in college football these days. Top are the Ameches, Yvonne and Alan, Wisconsin's All-America fullback, and Brian, one, and Alan Michael Jr., born in September. Lower left, Len Dawson, Purdue's phenomenal sophomore passer, relaxes with the missus, Jacqueline, and five-months-old daughter, Lisa Anne. Primo Villanueva, UCLA's outstanding tailback, holds son, George George Henry, six months, in the saddle as his better half, Orzina, and other son, Primo Jr., two, watch.

Disease Hits Turkeys

LANSING (U)—Blackhead disease has killed two more birds in the flock of 200 wild turkeys recently released in the Allegan State Forest, the state conservation department reported today.

The disease, common to fowl and especially fatal to turkeys, is transmissible and could pose a serious threat to survival of the flock, conservation field workers reported.

Little Alpha Again Looming as Cage Power

MARQUETTE (U)—A note to downstate sports writers:

When you speak about state high school basketball champions, don't forget little Alpha in the Upper Peninsula.

Only 52 students attend that Iron County school, but coach Gary Rollackner has had some outstanding teams for 11 years.

Currently Alpha is in the process of adding to an 11-game winning streak. Seven of those games were strung together at the end of last season when it was the U. P.—and state—Class E crown.

Denied the right to compete against downstate rivals (there are no Class E schools in Lower Michigan), Alpha has had to be content with winning four championships in its division since Class E was inaugurated in 1941. That's more than any other school has captured.

There are any number of observers who are of the opinion that Alpha has the ability to go all the way again this year.

Slammin' Sam Is Favored in 'Snead Tourney'

West Virginia Links Great Bidding for 6th Win at Miami

MIAMI, Fla. (U)—The "Sam Snead Golf Tournament" starts today with 159 of the country's leading pros and amateurs shooting for a share of $10,000 prize money.

Officially it's the 30th annual Miami Open, but Snead, of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., already has won it five times and is a standout choice to make it six. Snead won in 1937, 1939, 1946, 1950 and 1951. He finished second last year to Doug Ford, of Klamath Lake, N.Y., who had 272 for the 72-hole event.

The balding Snead proved he will be the man to beat when he fifted a 66 in the pro-member tournament at La Gorce Country Club Tuesday and toured the 6,700-yard par 34-35-70 Miami Springs course yesterday in 32-34-66.

That he will face keen competition is assured. Pete Cooper, Tampa pro, had a 33-32-65 practice round, and Tommy Bolt, Houston, Tex., carded a 67 on his last day of practice. Chick Harbert, PGA champion from Northville, Mich., made it in par, as did Dick Mayer, St. Petersburg, Fla.

Maple Tankers Win Season's First Test

Birmingham High School, six-time swimming champions of the Eastern Michigan League, opened its dual meet season Wednesday with a 51-33 victory over Hazel Park. The Maples took first in every event.

Jay Lewis took first in the 50 and 100-yard free style events, while Frank Mabley won both the 100-yard breast stroke and the 150-yard individual medley.

Charlan Stabile's Argentinian race horse is named Cascanuez. In Spanish it means "nutcracker."

Weekend Tilts Mark Start of Cage Title Races

By JACK SAYLOR

Preliminaries are over and Oakland County's prep basketball teams begin the battle for league championships Friday night.

Action is scheduled in the Inter-Lakes, Wayne-Oakland, Oakland-B and South Central Conferences, as well as the Suburban Catholic. Pontiac also has a Saginaw Valley contest with Flint Northern.

Keego Harbor, Avondale and Clawson see their first action of the season Friday night, each against a league foe. Sam Minard's Presidents go to Farmington, Clawson to Farmington, and Avondale opens up on its home court at Auburn Heights against Madison.

Inter-Lakes games are slated at Waterford, Farmington and Southfield. Berkeley's pre-season favorites meet defending champion Farmington. Falcon hopes were damaged when Capt. John Fawcett, Farmington's leading scorer, suffered a sprained ankle late in Tuesday's game with Wayne. Fawcett will see limited, if any, duty against the Bears. Southfield, which breezed through two warm-up games, entertains Van Dyke. The 'Abe' extended Mt. Clemens Tuesday before falling, 40-37.

Walled Lake brings a 2-0 record to Waterford. Myrel Taulbee has sparked Niles Freeland's Vikings to wins over Cranbrook and Redford Union. Waterford has shown scoring punch, but defensive weakness have caused losses to Milford and Clarkson.

After scoring 122 points in games at Waterford and Fenton, Milford opens its Wayne-Oakland campaign at home against Holly. Jim Davidson has paced the rangy Redskins in their two victories with 55 points.

A slim 6-3 junior, Davidson counted 13 baskets and 9 free throws for a record 35-point output at Fenton. Milford held only a 5-point lead, but Davidson sparked a 26-point 4th quarter with 12 points as the 'Skins pulled away.

In the South Central, Orionville, which sneaked past Goodrich Tuesday, travels to Mayville to meet the defending champs, and highly-regarded Imlay City goes to Millington.

Imlay has averaged 60 points in racking up three straight wins with Leon Gibbard and Owen Whitkopf the ringleaders. Topping the non-league slate are Rochester at Romeo; Lake Orion at Oxford; and Troy at Birmingham.

Gene Konley's rebuilding chore at Rochester seemingly is progressing faster than expected. Veteran Earl Kitchen and sophomore Dave Peters stood out in a win over Fitzgerald—and a strong, though losing, effort against a good Utica club.

Old rivals Orion and Oxford meet on the latter's court. Both teams have split in two starts. Oxford has been hampered by Fred Baggin's sub-par condition, but Larry Spencer has taken up some of the slack with 27 points in two games. John Petrakis' Birmingham quintet made an impressive debut by whipping Royal Oak, 51-38, and now tangles with neighboring Troy before opening the Eastern Michigan League race one week hence. Troy has beaten Lake Orion and lost to Shrine.

The schedule:

TUESDAY

St. Michael at St. James.

FRIDAY

Flint Northern at Pontiac; Walled Lake at Waterford; Berkeley at Farmington; Van Dyke at Southfield; Keego Harbor at Farmington; Holly at Milford; Northville at Brighton; Rochester at Romeo; Lake Orion at Oxford; Madison at Avondale; Troy at Birmingham; Clawson at Farmington; Roseville at Eastland; Willow Run at Hazel Park; Orionville at Mayville; Imlay City at Millington; Lapeer at Farmington; Royal Oak at Grosse Pointe; South Lyon at Manchester; Almont at Memphis; Dryden at Armada; Cape at New Haven; RO St. Mary at St. Clement; OL St. Mary at St. Benedict; St. Frederick at St. Rita.

Engineer 5 Falls Before Merchants

Action continued in the Waterford Township Recreation basketball league Wednesday night at Waterford's Cray Junior High. Waterford Merchants drubbed Johnson-Anderson Engineering, 55-21, and Drayton Drug downed Harry's Recreation, 55-31.

Al Cuthrell and Dave Freeman led the Merchants to their triumph with 15 and 13 points, respectively. Wally Comes had 12 for J.A. Bob Pickett and Phil Myers each bagged 12 points in Drug's victory, while Mike Hanes had nine for Harry's.

Play resumes Monday with Poole Lumber meeting Harry's at 7:30 p.m., followed by Johnson & Anderson against Drug.

Lehigh Cage Star Dies

BETHLEHEM, Pa. — Bruce Thompson, star of last year's Lehigh University basketball team died Wednesday night of bulbar polio several hours before his teammates defeated Delaware.

Thompson, 21-year-old junior from Brooklyn, N.Y., set a school scoring record last season with 358 points in 20 games. He was also a third baseman on Lehigh's baseball team.

Landy Indicates He'll Quit Track

Doesn't Have That Old-Edge Anymore, He Says After Race

MELBOURNE (U)—Great John Landy, whose 3:58 time recorded this year is the world's fastest clocking for a mile, indicated today he may be through with competitive track. He is now 24.

"I do not have that old edge anymore," he said after running next to last in a two-mile run at Geelong won in 8:55.2. Landy trailed winner Les Perry by 70 yards.

"With my teaching job I am not able to train properly any more," Landy said. "I may run some more and even in the Australian Championships in February but I will not be a serious contender."

Discussing the 1956 Olympic Games, which will be held in Australia, he said: "I am not so keen about them. It is no good doing a thing unless you do it well and I feel I'll never reach my running peak again."

Leahy and Bryant to Appear in Radio Talk

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo.

(INS)—Frank Leahy former Notre Dame football coach, and Paul Bryant, athletic director and football coach at Texas A & M will participate Sunday in a radio discussion program originating in Colorado Springs.

Leahy and Bryant will discuss the question: "Is the NCAA football television plan fair to the fans?"

The program, known as Christopher King's Sounding Board, will be aired over the Mutual network. The sounding board is a combined forum and audience discussion program.

Jack Dempsey began his ring career as Kid Blackie.

Ameche, 3 Buckeyes Set for Senior Bowl

MOBILE, Ala. (AP) — A North squad headed by Wisconsin's bruising ball carrier, Alan (The Horse) Ameche, and three members of the national champion Ohio State team was named Wednesday for the sixth annual Senior Bowl game at Mobile Jan. 8.

Also prominent on the Yankee team of seniors was Bob McNamara of Minnesota, fleet halfback who led his team to a 7-2 record in the tough Big Ten the past season.

Ameche, who set a NCAA rushing record during his four years at Wisconsin, Wednesday was named to The Associated Press All-America team. McNamara is a second-team member.

Eight Big Ten schools are among the 21 who will send players to the sixth annual classic which will mark their professional debut.

Rose Bowl-bound Ohio State will have quarterback Dave Leggett, center Bob Thornton and end Dean Dugger.

Other backs will be Primo Villanueva of undefeated UCLA, Linde Crow of Southern California's Rose Bowl team, Florian Helinski of Indiana, Corky Taylor of Kansas State, Ron Drzewiecki of Marquette, Max Burkett of Iowa State, and Dick Young of Chattanooga. Other than Ohio State, the only schools with more than one representative are Wisconsin, with Ameche and tackle Norm Amundson, and UCLA, with Villanueva and tackle Joe Ray.

Most of the 241 members of Coach Paul Brown's squad have been named to their all-conference

Sports Briefs

A record home crowd of 58,431 saw the Detroit Lions-San Francisco 49er game in Briggs Stadium in 1954. This was 352 more than saw the 1953 contest.

Bill Toshoff, one-time Indiana and N.B.A. basketball star, is listed on the Atlanta Stadium (Southern Association) roster for 1955. Toshoff, a pitcher, won 21 games in the minors last season.

UCLA's 1954 grid team, PCC champions, was the highest scoring outfit in the school's history. The Bruins scored 367 points in nine games, winning them all.

Robert Watson of Los Angeles bowled a perfect 300 game at the age of 70. He is the oldest in American Bowling Congress history to do it.

Dave Kerr, former goalie of the New York Rangers, now operates a restaurant in Windsor, Ontario.

Marion of the Chicago White Sox and Chuck Dressen, who is making his American League managerial debut at the helm of the Washington Senators.

Bears' Halas Is Shooting for Victory Over Lions

CHICAGO (UP) — Owner coach George Halas of the Chicago Bears planned some backhanded assistance today for the Detroit Lions, already certain winners of the western division championship of the National Football League and now preparing for the title playoff.

The Lions tangle with the Bears in Chicago's regular season finale Sunday, and Halas believed that "a defeat might do them some good for the play-off."

"We don't really want to help them," he said, "but by winning we certainly can help ourselves and we intend to."

Though the situation was a set-up for Halas to experiment on a "wait till next year" basis, he said that his team was going "all out."

"We're going to play to win this one," he said, "and let next year take care of itself."

The Bears, though not absolutely assured of finishing 2nd in the Western Division chase, can do so by tripping the Lions, and such a result probably would bring each player about $300 from the playoff game receipts.

"We know we can beat them," Halas said. "In our 1st game they beat us, 48-23, but it was 24-23 going into the last quarter and we lost one touchdown by a penalty for too much time on their one and then had another touchdown called back."

"And we don't think it makes much difference whether (Bobby) Layne plays or not. They'll use (Tom) Dubinsky and he's ahead of Layne in the passing anyhow. He's 3rd and Layne 4th."

"It's the first time in a long time that we've gone up against the Lions with our passer rated better than theirs in the statistics."

Race Commission in Tiff Over '55 Meet

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Maryland Racing Commission was to hear arguments Thursday on how it should split up 100 days of racing in Maryland between Pimlico, Laurel and Bowie race tracks.

Bowie, as usual, will be fighting off efforts of the other two tracks to take away the closing days in the late fall. They are desirable because racing has ended by then in New Jersey and more money comes into Maryland.

PCC to Revive Policy of Fines for Infractions

Faculty Group Won't Name Coach Involved in Recruiting Case

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Faculty fathers of the Pacific Coast Conference apparently have no idea of hanging out any washed clothes on the line for the public to view. That was evident today as the conference officials wound up their annual winter meeting.

In effect, the conference said its athletic code has been tightened. Restored was a policy of fining institutions for infractions of the code. Fines had been abolished in 1951.

Fining goes into effect at the spring meeting in Portland May 22. The amount and the schools fined will be announced, but who brought on the discipline, as of this moment, will not be identified.

Two days ago the press was told that a school had been reprimanded. Indication was that it involved a football coach, presumably for illegal recruiting methods.

Yesterday a lot of people guessed — what school, what coach.

Last night came an answer — an answer provided because at least one faculty representative obviously knew little of the no-tell policy of the conference.

The culprit, it was disclosed, was little Idaho. Identity of the individual was not announced.

Neither was the sport identified. All that was said was that there had been an infraction on the rule involving coaches interviewing athletes, that Idaho was the school and a "former coach" was involved.

103 Nominated at Santa Anita

Rejected, Mark-Ye-Well Included on List for $100,000 'Cap

ARCADIA, Calif. (AP) — A total of 103 horses, the largest number since 1948, has been nominated for the 18th running of the $100,000 added Santa Anita Handicap Feb. 28.

Announced today, the array includes winners of 14 $100,000 added stakes throughout the nation during the past two years.

Santa Anita opens its 1954-55 season Dec. 28.

Included in the list of $100,000 race winners were the victors of the last two Santa Anita handicaps the King Ranch's Rejected, 1954, and Calumet Farm's Mark-Ye-Well, 1953.

Bowling Clinic

By BILLY SIXTY
CASE—Picking Cherries.
Nothing is more exasperating than to chop "cherries" as you'll learn after you've been in bowling only briefly. You pluck a "cherry" when one of the back pins of a spare leave remains upright.

How to keep from chopping? Experts don't agree on what angle to use—left side of the alley, or right? Bud Bomar, Ad Carlson, Joe Wilman and Ned Day, for instance, prefer to shoot from the left, as sketch shows. Con Schwogler, Don Carter and Hank Marino roll from the right.

Which one to use is strictly optional. Fast or slow ball? Short or wide hook? Straight or backup ball? Again, it's up to the individual. With this suggestion: Accuracy is the result of practicing one angle, rather than several.

Cards Swap Jablonski, Staley to Reds

ST. LOUIS — The St. Louis Cardinals, who gambled and won on Wally Moon, bolstered a sagging bullpen staff but took another look at the wheel of fortune today in the person of untied third baseman Ken Boyer.

The gamble developed when the Cards, sorely in need of relief pitchers for two years, parted with regular third baseman Ray Jablonski and starting pitcher Gerry Staley yesterday to get reliever Frank Smith from the Cincinnati Redlegs.

Boyer, who came to the Cards from the Texas League, is the No. 1 prospect for Jablonski's third base vacancy.

Dick Meyer, Cards general manager, admitted the club gave up "a lot" to get Smith and said he "couldn't make much progress without an adequate bullpen."

Cincinnati plans to use Jablonski, the first Cardinal rookie to drive in more than 100 runs, as their regular third baseman to replace Bobby Adams, Jabbo, 28, who belted home 112 runs his freshman year in 1933, hit .296 last season and drove in 104 runs but has been regarded by some as a defensive liability.

Gabe Paul, Cincinnati's general manager, also believes Staley (7-13) will regain his form in new surroundings. The 31-year-old Staley, who had an 18-9 record in '33, had figured in Cardinal bullpen plans next season.

Birdie Tebbets, Redleg manager, figures Jablonski will give his club balance on the right side of the plate with Jim Greengrass and Wally Post to go with left-handed sluggers Gus Bell, Ted Kluszewski and Frank Bailey. Moon, who played with Rochester in 1933, turned up at the Birds' spring training camp before the start of last season, and moved into a regular outfield job when warhorse Enos Slaughter was sent to the New York Yankees.

The 23-year-old Boyer was a standout with Houston in the Texas League. Although he is the No. 1 prospect for Jabbo's job, the Cards also still have Solly Hemus, utility infielder, who earlier had been rumored to be a key player in the deal.

Wings, Rangers to Meet Twice in Three Nights

Raleigh, Lewicki Lead New York Club in Series at Olympia

DETROIT (INS)—The New York Rangers invade Olympia Stadium for games with the Detroit Red Wings tonight and Saturday in an experiment marking the first time in Detroit hockey history that the schedule has kept the same opponent in the Motor City for two games in three nights.

The teams will be meeting for the fifth and sixth times with the Wings holding a 3-1 edge over the Broadway Blues in games played to date.

In fact, the Rangers have not scored at Olympia this year, goalie Terry Sawchuk holding 4-0 and 1-0, decisions over the New Yorkers.

DETROIT'S lone defeat to the Rangers came at Madison Square Garden when New York trimmed the Wings 5-2.

The New York club boasts two high scorers in Don Raleigh and Danny Lewicki. They rank sixth and seventh in the NHL scoring race. Lewicki has blinked the red light 14 times this season while getting five assists for a total of 19 points.

Raleigh has scored but four times, but has added 16 assists for 20 points.

Red Wing center Alex Delvecchio is close behind with 18 points on 4 goals and 14 assists. Gordie Howe remains Detroit's top goal-getter with 8 markers this season and 8 assists for 16 points.

Ted Lindsay took over the NHL "bad man" role Sunday night with two misconduct penalties. Ted has now spent 65 minutes in the cooler, more than any other player in the league.

During the 1933-34 season Dominic Scrucci of Philadelphia bowled a 618 series for five consecutive weeks in the same league.

Ralph Kiner's best homer total was in 1949.

Fain Won't Be Swinging for Briggs Stadium Fence

WALNUT CREEK, Calif. (UP)—Ferra Fain, who was traded to Detroit by the Chicago White Sox in a six-man deal this week, looked for a good season with the Tigers today but refused to go out on a limb.

"If it's in the cards for me to have a good year we'll all be happy," the round-faced first baseman said as he did some carpentry work around his ranch-type home. "If I don't—that's the way it goes."

Nor did Fain, who led the American League in hitting in 1931 and 1932, plan to flirt with the friendly right field fence at the Tigers' Briggs Stadium.

"The fence is 27 feet closer than in Comiskey Park but I'm not going to try and hoist any balls in there," Fain declared. "I'm a line drive hitter and intend to stay with it. One or two might drift in for homers but I learned my lesson about swinging for the fences years ago."

Fain's average skidded to .256 in 1933 when he broke his hand during his last year with the Chicago. Last season he seemed to be regaining his old form when he collided at the plate with catcher Sammy White of the Red Sox. The resultant injury to a delicate right knee put "Burrhead" on the injury shelf for the rest of the year.

Fain rated his new club as "having a wonderful chance to wind up in the first division. They finished only a game behind 4th place Boston last year."

"Harvey Kuenn still has to reach his full potential at shortstop and Al Kaline and Bill Tuttle also have great years ahead," Fain said. "If the pitching improves, Detroit should do all right."

Johnson, Marshall to Fight in Detroit

DETROIT — Harold Johnson, who ranks high among the nation's light heavyweights, will meet Marty Marshall of Detroit in a nationally televised fight at Detroit's Olympia Stadium Dec. 22.

Marshall, state light heavyweight champion, boasts 12 straight victories. The latest of these was an upset of Bob Satterfield.

Johnson recently battled Archie weight champion, losing on a TKO in the 14th round.

Russian Rowing Star Gets Out of Doghouse

MOSCOW —Russia's Olympic champion sculler, young Yuri Tkalov, who was publicly criticized for "self-conceit and vanity" and then demoted last summer was back in good graces today.

Yuri was hailed in the weekly magazine, Ogonyok, for making a praiseworthy comeback—not as an individual star, but as the hard working member of a four-man crew.

Yuri got this public praise for helping the Soviet four-man entry win in the European championships in Holland.

He got his chance by replacing another careless athlete named Burachok, who was put in the doghouse for showing up late at practice and making his teammates wait for him.

Texas Tech's new basketball court will be ready for the 1955-56 season.

Rouge Hopes to Get Back in Title Race

Class B Titlist for Last Year, However, Starts Slowly

RIVER ROUGE — Never one to sing the blues, coach Lofton Greene hopes to build River Rouge into a strong contender by the time the state high school basketball tournament rolls around.

The Panthers, who won the Class B title last season, are off to an inauspicious start this season. They were thrashed by mighty Highland Park, 66-42.

But Greene, who expected the bumps early in the season, figures his team should start to click by tournament time.

Greene has only one starter returning from last season's championship team. He is center Blanche Martin.

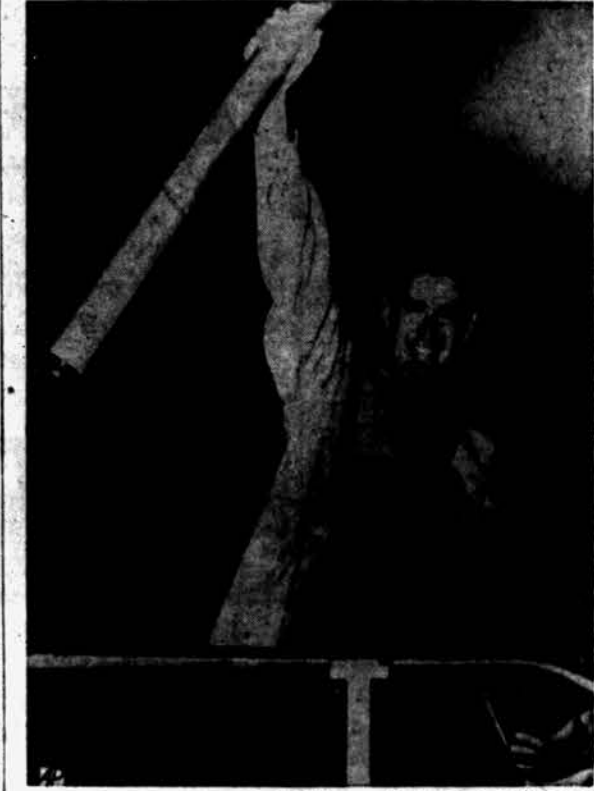

Despite this lack of experience, Greene is sticking to his old theory of pressing, the opposition all over the floor, running 'em ragged and then shooting. This strategy has worked well in the past, producing state titles in 1949, 1951 and last spring.

River Rouge also has won the Suburban Twin Valley League crown for the last four years.

Jap Jockey Wins 4

ALBANY, Calif. — George Taniguchi, 24-year-old Japanese-American apprentice jockey, won four more races Wednesday at Golden Gate Fields.

He won aboard Fat Jack $3.10, She's A Bang $5.60, Mr. Sullivan $6.80 and Audacious King $6.90. He rode three winners Tuesday.

AFTER 'BIG ONES'—Ted Williams, Boston Red Sox' slugger, waves as he boards a plane for South America, in Miami, Fla. Ted said he would try for some of the "big ones" at the famed deep sea fishing club at Cabo Blanco in Talara, Peru.

Riders' Hall of Fame

BALTIMORE (INS) — Maryland Jockey Club officials announced today that a jockey's hall of fame will be established at Pimlico race track patterned after the current Baseball Hall of Fame at Cooperstown, N. Y., and Football Shrine at Rutgers University.

Brown didn't win the Ivy League football crown. But it did take most of the statistical honors. The Bruins produced the league's best offense and three of the six individual champions.

Normal, which won its opener with Western Ontario last weekend, has an experienced team which includes such veterans as guards Cleon Gilliam and Webster Kirksey. Both have played three varsity seasons for the Hurons.

Wayne dropped its season opener to Valparaiso, 64-50. But coach Joel Mason said he planned no lineup changes for his starters.

Huron, Tartar Tilt Only College Game

YPSILANTI (UP) — Michigan Normal basketball squad meets once-beaten Wayne University team tonight in the only scheduled college basketball game in the state.

Normal, which won its opener with Western Ontario last weekend, has an experienced team which includes such veterans as guards Cleon Gilliam and Webster Kirksey. Both have played three varsity seasons for the Hurons.

Wayne dropped its season opener to Valparaiso, 64-50. But coach Joel Mason said he planned no lineup changes for his starters.

Boston Gets Manakiki Tournament for 1955

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Manakiki Open golf tournament will be moved to Boston in 1955, it was announced Wednesday, and will be merged with next year's PGA sponsors' "world series of golf."

Co-sponsored by the Manakiki Country Club near Willoughby, the event had been on the PGA tournament list the last two years.

A brewing firm which served as co-sponsor said the Manakiki membership had decided not to have the club participate in 1955.

Australian Claims Kramer May Ruin Amateur Tennis

MELBOURNE (AP)—An Australian tennis promoter said Jack Kramer of the United States is coming to Australia this week with a scheme which "if it comes to pass will completely wreck amateur tennis."

John Brennan, director of Frank Sedgman's Australian professional tour, refused to divulge more of Kramer's plan but Alan Trengrove, tennis writer for The Argus, said he understands the American promoter will make pro offers to members of both the Australian and U.S. Davis Cup teams.

Kramer was not available for comment. Trengrove quoted Brennan as saying: "Kramer is ruthless and he has the money to carry out his plans. Sedgman is trying to stop him because he thinks these plans will wreck amateur tennis to which he still is loyal."

Kramer is due in Brisbane this weekend for the American-Swedish Interzone finals. He also plans some exhibitions.

Kramer's professional tour has been losing its drawing power because of the lack of new faces. However, it seems unlikely any of the present amateurs will be enticed into pro ranks at this time because none have proved outstanding enough to demand big money.

Too Few Crack Shots

Professional Basketball's New 24-Second Rule Believed Impractical for Colleges

By GAYLE TALBOT
NEW YORK (AP)—Basketball is a game which has evolved slowly since the late Dr. James Naismith first hung a pair of used peach baskets on the wall in the YMCA at Springfield, Mass., back in 1891 and invited his charges to have a shot at the makeshift targets.

We had thought, in fact, that the possibilities for improving the game had about been exhausted until we dropped in on a scramble between the professionals the other night and discovered that the money boys have stumbled upon something really good in the form of their new 24-second rule. It means simply that they must take a whack at the basket within that length of time or lose the ball.

Stalling to run out the clock and protect a winning margin always has been the worst feature of basketball. Our first impulse was to go running to the colleges and urge them to pass a similar law at their earliest convenience. We since have been advised, though, that they have devoted considerable thought to the matter and have about decided that, while the rule is a lifesaver for the pros, it might gum up the college teams badly. What you've got to take into account, say the college coaches, is that every player in the national league is an accomplished basket shooter.

Take a college team and the situation is vastly different. Even the best teams in the country are lucky if they have more than a couple of stars who can really pour in baskets. The college coach of necessity must build his offense around these experts, see to it that they are fed the ball as often as possible.

More often than not, especially against good defenses, it takes more than 24 seconds to work the ball into scoring territory and eventually deliver it to the crack shooter. To force the average college guard to shoot whether he wants to or not would be little better than surrendering the ball anyway.

Bosox Have Probed San Francisco iSte

BOSTON (AP)—The Boston Globe says General Manager Joe Cronin of the Boston Red Sox "admits the club has made a private investigation into the possibilities of major league baseball in San Francisco" but that the team has no present plans for such a shift.

The Red Sox, the Globe says, "have secured the essential facts and figures on the San Francisco area, but there is no indication at present that the Sox plan to switch their franchise to California."

Cronin is quoted as saying "that thought has never entered our heads. Nevertheless, that something of that sort could take place is not an impossibility."

Lou Little coached Columbia University football teams for 25 years.

'I'm Shooting for 20'

Turley Confident He'll Hurl Yanks to Pennant

NEW YORK (INS)—Bob Turley, fastest man on the mound since Bob Feller threw lightning bolts for Cleveland, is ready to pitch the New York Yankees to the American League flag in '55.

The affable, 24-year old strikeout king, acquired from Baltimore with shortstop Billy Hunter and pitcher Don Larsen in the recent 18-player swap between the two clubs, signed his 1955 contract Wednesday with a raise that brings his salary close to $15,000.

Hunter also underwent the routine physical examination and penned his name to a pact calling for something like $8,000, also a boost.

Then the 6-2 cleft-faced Turley proceeded to bring impish smiles to the face of his new field boss, Casey Stengel, with such remarks as:

"It's like finally making the big leagues..."

"I'm shooting for 20 wins. That's what every pitcher dreams of, I guess... I think I can win 20 games with the kind of support the Yankees will give me... I ought to get a few more runs here than I got in Baltimore... yes, I hope I can pitch them to the championship."

That support can mean the difference too, since the Yanks finished the season eight games behind a Cleveland club that was the winningest in league history.

Turley, a 205-pound righthander who hails from Troy, Ill., posted only a 14-15 record with the seventh-place Orioles last season

Pro Bowl Coaches to Be Named Soon

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Coaches for the rival Pro Bowl squads which will play in the Coliseum on Jan. 16 will be chosen this weekend.

Paul J. Schissler, director of the annual charity game, said either Jim Trimble of the Philadelphia Eagles or Jim Lee Howell of the New York Giants will coach the East team. The decision rests on whose team wins when they play in Philadelphia on Sunday.

George Halas, veteran owner-coach of the Chicago Bears, and Buck Shaw of the San Francisco 49ers are the West candidates.

Pat Wilson Looks Like MSC 2-Timer

PAT WILSON, MSC football quarterback from Lapeer, looks as if he will be the 1st Spartan athlete to successfully combine football and basketball since Charlevois's Bob Carey did it a few years ago. Wilson already has broken into the basketball lineup as a guard. Wilson said his main conditioning problem has been getting his legs in shape for the sustained running required by the court game.

Eyes of Texas Upon Producer George Stevens
By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD — The theme song of George Stevens might well be "The Eyes of Texas Are Upon You."
You see, Stevens is the man who is producing and directing "Giant," from the Edna Ferber novel that aroused such Texan ire. But he doesn't think many Texans will be mad at his movie.

"The same thing happened when she wrote 'Cimarron,'" he observed. "Oklahomans attacked her for supposedly showing that early settlers were sharpshooters. Why, she was hung in effigy in one Oklahoma town."

"But when the picture was finished, the governor of Oklahoma invited her to the world premiere as guest of honor."
"I think it will be the same with 'Giant.' A lot of people got excited about the book. But I don't think that anyone who feels strongly for Texas can help but feel moved when he sees the picture."

Stevens is so sure that Texans will favor the film that he plans to invade the state for shooting late next month. Right now he has crews scouting locations in five spots—San Antonio, Houston, the Panhandle, the mountains in the southwest and the west Gulf Coast. He'll probably pick two locations and plans to shoot about half of the film in Texas.

The producer-director is a large, rough-brown man who talks tenderly about the art of making a movie, which he loves. He spoke of the problems of converting the 447-page novel into an 180-page script. He faced the need of not only cutting, but adding material as well. "The book covers 25 years of the lives of its characters," he remarked. "We not only have to cover that span, but we also have to build a final 20 minutes of intense excitement, which all good movies must have. We did that by building a series of climaxes, which Edna was not required to have in the book."

"Also, the characters were more or less in profile in the book. We have tried to round them out. We do not merely show you a tough man who has made 150 million. We show you how he got that way. I feel this understanding of motivation will permit Texans to like the picture."

Baby Boom Breaks Record in October

LANSING — October was a boom month for baby births in Michigan, the State Health Department reported today.
The department said 17,406 births were reported in October, a new high. The previous high was the 17,130 births recorded in August of this year.
The department said Michigan continues to be the most rapidly growing state, population-wise, among the north central states. The population passed the seven million mark this year and is expected to reach eight million by 1960.
It is estimated that the birth total in Michigan will top 192,000 this year, an increase of about 10,000 over 1953, the previous record year.

Plump Soldiers in Europe Told to Keep in Trim

HEIDELBERG (INS)—The fat's in the fire for U. S. Army men stationed in Europe.
An order issued by Gen. William Hoge, the U. S. commander in Europe, told all outsize soldiers from generals to privates to "diet."
A letter of the various commands said that "many military personnel are overweight to the extent that their physical condition may not be compatible with Army standards."

"These standards require that every soldier will be prepared to meet emergency conditions at all times."
Army unit commanders were told to get stout soldiers into dispensaries for medical advice on how to reduce safely.

Church Rite Outdraws Peron-Sponsored Event

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina — A Roman Catholic celebration honoring the Virgin Mary far outdrew the return of an Argentine sports hero yesterday despite government cohesiveness toward the church event and President Juan Peron's personal sponsorship of the sporting occasion.
The President and Argentina's Catholic hierarchy have been involved in controversy for a month over government charges that some priests have been trying to undermine his regime. Eight clerics have been arrested.

Durante's Still Jimmy After $25,000 TV Spot

By EARL WILSON
NEW YORK—Jimmy Durante had just earned $25,000 on TV—but after the show he certainly didn't seem millionairish. In a little dressing room at the Colonial Theater, he was changing his pants. He was down to his shorts.

His pants finally changed, Jimmy put on a light blue topcoat, clapped on a hat, and started out. He'd personally thanked the cameramen and the control room crew but now he paused for a goodbye yell to his stagehand pals. "Get tuh work, you guys!" He slammed his fist down on a piano.

They all rushed up to him like kids. "How about a picture with us, Jimmy?" A stagehand brought his own camera, and Jimmy posed with them, nose high and mouth open.

Jimmy had no limousine waiting as some stars do. He shivered up to the corner where a fan, an adult, said, "Jimmy, we got a man on the 3d Avenue El looks exactly like you."
"We got ta get rid of HIM!" Jimmy said.

"Jimmy," I said, "what are you going to do with all your money?"

"What money?" Jimmy answered. "You know all the gang I got with me"—and I did. "I gotta keep goin' all the time."

And, hailing a cab, one of the nicest men in the acting business rode up town to see a friend who had been too sick to come and see him.

John Jacob Astor has a reputation of being a witty conversationalist—so I was surprised to see his blonde companion fall asleep while sitting with him in a cafe the other morning. John tried to wake her, then got the headwaiter to do it. Even in those higher brackets, women will conk off when a guy's saying something brilliant.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL...

Mitzi Gaynor just got an offer to go into a new role in "Silk Stockings," but can't. She did sign though to co-star with Bing in "Anything Goes" . . . Kitty Kallen's doctor sent her to Miami for a complete rest.

Their agent's offering Fred MacMurray and June Haver as a team to B-way producers . . . Carolyn Stroupe, the Orange Bowl Queen, was chosen "Most Colorogenic College Girl," too.

Christine Jorgenson's date at P. J. Clarke's was one of the Latin 14's acrobatic Ashtons . . . The Gabor's soiree featured big tasty frankfurters.

Joe E. Lewis can leave the hospital for two hours daily. (When he got back late he told the doctor, "Sorry—the horse was slow") . . . A magazine offered Alger Hiss 25 G's for his story.

Phil Harris and Dizzy Dean are talking a TV series . . . Liberace gotta shave off 20 pounds—and that ain't candles.

Earl's Pearls . . . "Sometimes," says H. G. Hutcheson, "a woman marries a man for life—then finds out he doesn't have any."

Singer's Foot Infection Traced to Cocktail Stick

HOLLYWOOD — Singer Johnny Ray was operated on last night for drainage of an abscess on his right foot. Cedars of Lebanon Hospital reported. His condition afterward was "fine."
The foot first became infected last July when Ray stepped on a Martini toothpick beside a swimming pool in Las Vegas.

Baffling Border Bandit

PEN-MAR, Md. (UP) — Ronnie Naylor, 16, broke into the Waldheim Hotel which straddles the Pennsylvania-Maryland state line. He entered the hotel on the Maryland side and stole a small sum of money on the Pennsylvania side. Officials of both states are trying to decide which state should prosecute Naylor.

Sen. Watkins Scoffs at McCarthy Party

WASHINGTON (UP)—Sen. Arthur V. Watkins (R-Utah) scoffed today at the possibility any Republicans, except perhaps the "lunatic fringe," would form a new political party around Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy.

Eisenhower termed the GOP a party of "progressive moderation" and said if any persons want to form a new party it is their own business.

From a Democrat, Sen. A. S. (Mike) Monroney of Oklahoma, came this comment:

"If Sen. McCarthy chooses to form a third party and the votes are ever counted, it will be surprising to find how few but how noisy this McCarthy fringe of the Republican party really is."

He made that comment to reporters after reading yesterday's news conference remarks by President Eisenhower about McCarthy's break this week with the administration.

Gets New Command

Communities Hit on Sewerage

5 Area Governments Get Show Cause Order on Rouge Pollution

LANSING (UP)—Five Pontiac area communities have been ordered to show cause why they shouldn't be held in default for failing to end pollution of the Upper Rouge River.

The State Water Resources Commission yesterday ordered officials of Bloomfield Hills, Birmingham, Bloomfield and Southfield Townships and Lathrup Village to appear before its Jan. 20 meeting in Detroit to answer the default charges.

Millon P. Adams, executive secretary of the commission, said the communities have been disposing of much of their wastes in the Birmingham sewage disposal plant. But the plant is overloaded, he said, and the excess has been dumped into the Upper Rouge.

The Upper Rouge joins the Lower Rouge near Detroit, and drains into the Detroit River. Several downriver communities get their water from the river.

Adams said the communities had been ordered to stop the pollution by Dec. 31.

Leonard Boy's Steer Judged Grand Champion at Detroit

DETROIT (UP)—The 14-year-old son of an Oakland County pig farmer yesterday won the coveted award for exhibiting the grand champion steer at the Detroit Junior Livestock Show at the State Fair Coliseum.

The animal, called "Fats" by the owner, John Spezia of Leonard, and "Jewel" by the boy's mother, was scheduled to be auctioned today.

Spezia stands to receive as much as $5,000 from sale of the steer.

A Lapeer County boy and a Genesee County girl won initial honors at the show Wednesday.

LeRoy Mayberry, 11, of North Branch, showed the champion shorthorn steer while Maxine Perkins, 14, of Swartz Creek, exhibited the reserve champion.

E. Frank Lassiter, 15, of Lake Orion, took third place in individual Shropshire lambs. Following John Spezia's champion was "Sonny," a 1,005 pound Hereford steer shown by Kenneth Rush, 13, of Romeo. It walked off with reserve grand champion honors.

Other area winners were Hugh Milligan, 13, of Cass City, whose fat steer took fourth place in the judging; Peter Slavens, 13, of Goodrich, fourth place in Hereford lightweight; Jay Tuggle, 14, of Romeo, second place in Hereford medium weight steers.

Another Romeo youth, Robert Rush, 14, was awarded third place in Hereford heavyweights. Richard School, 17, of Romeo, gathered fourth place honors among Angus heavyweights.

Roger Fosmoon, 15, of Almont, was owner of the grand champion pen of swine.

Planes from Selfridge Field, Wright Air Base and the Coast Guard and Civil Air Patrol have flown a total of 381 hours in hopes of spotting the downed T-33 jet and Coast Guard boats and other craft have joined the search.

The pilot was flying a routine mission from Oscoda to Stewart Air Base in New York.

Twin Brothers Win C46-Fight

Court Rules in Favor of Pair in Suit With U.S. Over Surplus Plane

LOS ANGELES (UP)—The scrappy Finn twins have won a federal court ruling that they are legal owners of a C46 war surplus transport plane, climaxing a two-year legal battle in which they:

Confused prosecutors by their identical looks, one going to jail several days for refusing to tell his name while the other stood guard over their plane.

And went on a 23-day hunger strike while in federal custody, protesting one-year sentences on charges of interfering with the federal officer they handcuffed.

George and Charles Finn, 40, have been grabbing headlines since the plane was seized by the government at Scotty's Death Valley airstrip after they had flown it from Bakersfield, Calif., in an attempt to hide it from federal officials.

They are former Air Force fliers. U.S. District Judge William C. Mathes ordered the government yesterday to return the plane, in the same condition as when it was seized.

The plane originally was bought for a nominal sum by the Vineyard school district near Bakersfield, Calif., from the War Assets Administration for use as a classroom. When it no longer needed the craft, the district sold it to the Fins.

Seizing the plane, the government sued to regain title. It alleged that under terms of the sale it could be used only for a classroom or re-sold for scrap.

Order Autopsy to Find Cause of Actress' Death

HOLLYWOOD (UP)—An autopsy was ordered today into the death of Gladys George, 50-year-old former movie and stage actress found unconscious yesterday in her apartment.

Her physician, Dr. Russell Jones said there was a possibility her death was caused by a barbiturate. He said he had her sent to the hospital and that she died before tests could be completed that would have determined whether she had taken sleeping tablets.

Dr. Jones said the actress had been treated, successfully, for cancer a few years ago. Miss George was acclaimed as one of the best performers of 1936 by the Motion Picture Academy for her role in "Valiant Is the Word for Carrie." She made her stage debut when only 3.

Defense Department Mulls Buying Policy

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Defense Department, on orders of Secretary Charles E. Wilson, is reviewing its military buying policies today to determine whether contracts should be spread out among a greater number of suppliers.

During the recent election campaign, the Democrats had charged Wilson was following a policy of concentrating defense contracts in a few big suppliers.

Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn) complained too many contracts were going to General Motors, the firm which Wilson headed before he became defense secretary.

Wilson denied the charges and insisted he was doing "what is best for the country." Wilson's new order represented an apparent shift in policy.

WHITE LAKE TOWNSHIP—The White Lake Home Extension group will meet at the home of Mrs. B. A. McKeachie at 1:30 p.m. Friday for its annual Christmas party. Gifts will be given to a convalescent home.

DALE E. WILLIAMS

Former Pontiac Resident Dies

Dale E. Williams Once Comptroller at Pontiac; Had Chicago Agency

A onetime Pontiac resident who rose from clerk in a small upstate bank to high executive posts in General Motors died this morning in a Chicago hospital.

Dale E. Williams, 58, died after an illness of about two months. He had been living in River Forest, Ill. since just after World War II, when he purchased the West Side Buick, Inc. auto dealership in Chicago.

Born March 7, 1895 in Corona, near Oswego, Williams graduated from Oswego high school and a small business college there.

His first job, as clerk in a small bank, was in Oswego, where he married the former Fern E. Bartlett in July, 1919.

From Oswego he went to Flint, and was employed in the Chevrolet factory there, rising through the ranks of administrative posts. He moved to Pontiac a few years later, where he became comptroller for the old Oakland Motor Car Co. in 1925.

The Williams' resided first on Chippewa road, then built a large home on Shore drive, Watkins Lake.

When Oakland became Pontiac Division of General Motors, Williams stayed on as comptroller, and was transferred to Buick Division in Flint in the same capacity a few years before World War II.

After the outbreak of hostilities, he was sent to take over the Melrose Park aircraft engine plant in Chicago, as president and general manager.

He resigned from General Motors just after the war, and purchased the Buick dealership in Chicago which he headed as president at the time of his death.

Surviving, besides his widow, are two daughters—Nancy, married to Richard McGregor, formerly of Pontiac, and Judith, married to Robert Johnson, both of River Forest. There are two grandchildren.

Three sisters also survive, in Oswego. Mrs. Williams is a sister of Mrs. Monroe Osmun of Pontiac.

Funeral service for Williams, who had been a member of River Forest Presbyterian Church, will be held at 1 p.m. Saturday from Drechsler Funeral Home, 203 S. Merion, Oak Park, Ill.

Reckless Driver Jailed

Farmington Township Justice Allen C. Ingle sentenced John H. McLeod, 21, of Dearborn, to 30 days in Oakland County Jail yesterday after McLeod pleaded guilty to reckless driving. Ingle also fined the Dearborn motorist $25 and $25 costs or an additional 60 days in jail.

Arraignment Date Set for Holdup Suspects

Three men charged with armed robbery of a Hazel Park bar Nov. 12, were bound over yesterday for arraignment in Oakland County Circuit Court Feb. 7, 1955, by Hazel Park Justice Robert C. Baldwin.

The hold-up suspects, Donald Parke, 22, of 2183 Oxford, Berkley; George Brown, 24, of 71 Highland, Highland Park; and John Beard, 24, of 1301 Muir, Hazel Park, were unable to furnish $2,000 bond each and are being held in Oakland County Jail.

They, and a fourth man, Ray Lendzian, 28, of Royal Oak, are accused of the shotgun holdup of the Club Bar at 844 E. 10 Mile Rd., in which bandits took about $4,000. Lendzian, in a previous hearing, was bound to Circuit Court when he waived examination.

The four were arrested after an anonymous tip connected them with the robbery, according to Hazel Park Police Lt. Harold J. Hill.

Man in Good Condition After Car-Truck Collision

Clinton J. Benard, 38, of 291 Starr Ave., is listed in good condition today at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital with injuries suffered yesterday when his truck and an auto collided at James K Blvd. and Telegraph road.

Benard, according to Sylvan Lake Police, attempted to turn left onto James K from northbound Telegraph road and cut in front of a southbound car driven by Miss Doris J. Zolman, 29, of 45 Pinegrove Ave. Miss Zolman was treated for knee cuts.

Four Burned to Death in Farmhouse Blaze

VAN BUREN, Maine (UP)—Four of 18 persons sleeping in a rambling, two-story, farmhouse were burned to death in a fire yesterday.

They were Mrs. Camille Lausier, 46; her daughter Cecile, 5; and two of her grandchildren, Arlene Bouchard, 3, and Nancy Bouchard, 2. Six other children of Mrs. Lausier and another grandchild were hospitalized.

Cause of the fire was unknown.

DPW Man Does Troubleshooting

Next time you call the Department of Public Works with a complaint, a lanky, sandy-haired fellow who holds the Distinguished Flying Corps and five Air Medals will come a-calling to see what the trouble is.

Now, checking complaints may seem like slow stuff for a be-medaled combat pilot, but you have to remember that Clyde Christian's flying was done back during World War II, before the jet age.

CLYDE CHRISTIAN

icipate retiring as soon as he is eligible, the veteran superintendent

As a civilian, he prefers municipal engineering. So that's what he is doing.

Christian, 30, is the city's new and first assistant DPW superintendent. As such, he is right-hand man to Supt. Joseph B. Jewell.

Jewell explains that handling complaints is a perfect assignment for a new man.

It's the best way to get him acquainted with the city and some of the public relations problems that he faces.

"It's the quickest way to learn the streets because the complaints are scattered all over town."

There are enough complaints coming in to keep Christian busy, but both men are hopeful the gripes will decrease as the city continues its improvement program.

Other duties will be added as Christian stays on, Jewell says.

It is likely that Christian is being groomed to step in as superintendent when Jewell retires.

Although he says he doesn't an-

Took Pre-Med as College Girl

Star of 'Greatest Gift' Had English Schooling for Several Years

NEW YORK—It is coincidental that Anne Burr, who plays Dr. Eve Allen on day drama, "The Greatest Gift," should be cast as a physician, for that is what she almost became in real life. She took a pre-medical course at Sweetbriar College, but dropped it when she discovered how long it would take to be a doctor.

However, she has been portraying members of the medical profession off and on for some time. She began her medical "career" when she played a nurse in "The Hasty Heart" with John Lund and Richard Basehart.

Her success in the Broadway play led to a succession of nurse roles on radio for four years. She has also portrayed a woman doctor on "City Hospital" (both the radio and TV versions).

Born in Boston, Anne went to school in England for several years before attending Columbus School for Girls and Sweetbriar. She left Sweetbriar after her sophomore year to try her wings as an actress in New York.

She started with bit parts on radio shows that paid and "leads on programs that didn't." Then came a part in a Sam Behrman play called "The Talley Method."

In turn, she got the feminine lead in "Native Son" which was being produced and directed by Orson Welles. The play and Anne were big hits.

Since then Anne has done "Dark Eyes" for Ted Harris, "Lovers and Friends" with Katharine Cornell and Raymond Massey, and "While the Sun Shines."

More recently Anne played the wife in "Detective Story," and has appeared frequently on many of the top TV dramatic shows.

Since assuming the lead in "The Greatest Gift," Anne has found she has time for little else as the show originates from Philadelphia, which means commuting every day. She and her husband reside in Manhattan.

NEW MEMBER—Bob Smith, creator and star of "Howdy Doody," welcomed a new member into his family when his wife Mildred gave birth to a six pound, five ounce boy recently. He is named after Bob's friend, Christopher Mayo Smith, field manager of Philadelphia Phillies.

Paralyzed by Stroke

Learning to Talk Again Is Tough Job for Teacher

ANN ARBOR—Gentle, patient Jeannette Scott has given herself the toughest assignment she ever handed out as a teacher—learning to talk, all over again.

For years Miss Scott taught grade school English in Midland, and music in Bay City.

Then one tragic day, five years ago, visiting a friend after school, Miss Scott suffered a stroke. It left her partially paralyzed and without the power to speak.

Last year she heard of the speech clinic at the University of Michigan, where others had learned to speak again partially or entirely, after illness had injured parts of the brain.

Last February she began the classes. Today Miss Scott is preparing herself a new sort of Christmas present: A duet with her singing teacher, Peter Rettich, of "Oh Holy Night."

Rettich says she has been an exceptional student. She has, he explained, the "expressive" type.

Miss Scott is pleased with her progress too. Rettich says that she, like most of the class, seems to be able to work better with music. "For some reason unknown to me, they seem to be able to say the words easier in a song than in speech," Rettich adds.

The clinic has sent over 100 persons home during its short history. All of them have been vastly improved. One young boy brought into the clinic without speech and the use of his hand is now a skilled laborer.

Another had to be carried from the car which brought him to the clinic, but is back in school today. Several have gone back into business again. Two, helped by the clinic, studied speech correction to help others.

A major crime was committed over 13.8 seconds in the first six months of 1954.

Father Slays Family, Self

Wife, Three Children Found Dead in House in Carolina Mountains

NEWLAND, N. C.—A 34-year-old crippled former mental hospital inmate, whom police said wiped out his family of four then shot himself, died at Grace Hospital in Banner Elk last night.

Andrew W. Sparks did not regain consciousness after being admitted to the hospital earlier yesterday, Dr. Lawson Tate reported.

It was still a mystery just when the shootings occurred in the old two-story frame dwelling in the nearby mountain village of Minneapolis.

Sparks' wife Norma, 21, died from a rifle bullet through her chest and seven stab wounds. Her body was found on the floor; the children's in their beds.

Toya, 3½, was shot behind the right ear and her right arm broken and mangled; Andrea, 1½, was shot through the neck; and Corne Jean, 5 months, shot through the chin.

Sparks, a watchmaker, last week was released from the North Carolina Tuberculosis Sanatorium. A hip bone infection required him to use crutches.

Police did not speculate as to a motive. They said he had no record of violence.

Christmas Gifts Plentiful for Hot-Rodders, Motorists

By JOHN R. ROSS

If there's a young hot-rodder (or maybe one not so young) on your Christmas list, then choosing his gift shouldn't present any problem at all.

In car-conscious Pontiac, hundreds of garages, parts houses and accessory stores offer a wide range of gifts to gladden the heart of any throttle-stomper come Christmas morning.

For the most dedicated kind of auto enthusiast, such things as timing lights (to set ignition) and compression gauges (to check ring and valve wear) are not only inexpensive but useful and lasting gifts.

If your particular car fan is more inclined toward looks than substance, items like paired right and left door mirrors, spotlights or exterior-mounted horns might be better.

Dad would appreciate a visor clip for maps and sunglasses, or a dash holder for cigars and matches.

For the woman on your list, whether 16 or 60, there's no gift quite like one of a large mirror that clips to the sun visor on her side. This pays off for the driver, too, since his rear-view mirror is much less likely to get twisted over to the distasteful side.

A new angle on visor mirrors is one that has a battery-operated light for lipstick, fixing at night. Other possibilities range all the way from luncheon trays that fold out of place under the dash (perfect for the drive-in movies) to fully-equipped air-conditioning systems.

And don't forget the year-in, year-out necessities that go with motoring.

Anyone who drives can use a pair of soft, tight leather gloves (unlined, of course), or any of a hundred pocket-sized aids like key chains, which now may be purchased with the emblem of any make of car, or with handy little gadgets that hold nickles for parking meters.

Remember, whether you have a fortune to spend or a quarter, one of these motor-minded gifts is useful the year around.

There are 80 per cent more high school graduates in the U.S. than there were in 1940.

Pickets Bar Workers at Great Lakes Steel

DETROIT (U)—A picket line halted day shift workers reporting to the Great Lakes Steel Corp. plant today.

The company said at the start of picketing it was too early to tell the effect on plant operations. Great Lakes Steel employs 10,000 men.

The appearance of pickets caused a traffic jam as day shift workers arrived in their cars.

A management spokesman called the work stoppage a "wildcat action." He said an effort was being made to contact CIO United Steelworkers Local 1299 which represents Great Lakes employees.

Legion Official Asking Strong Action to Free 11

PHILADELPHIA (INS)—Seaborn P. Collins Jr., national commander of the American Legion, believes that the U.S. should take strong steps, including military measures, to gain the release of 11 American fliers imprisoned in Red China.

Collins told a gathering of Legion officials last night in Philadelphia that he will visit President Eisenhower today and tell him of the Legion's concern for the safety of the airmen.

Suggestion Pays Off

GRAND RAPIDS (U)—Donald A. Davis of Lansing, a job-setter at General Motors Diesel equipment plant in Grand Rapids, Wednesday won a $1,000 award for a suggestion on improving plant operations.

Headwaiter Sought in Theft of $5,000

DETROIT (INS)—Detroit and Canadian authorities today pressed a search for a headwaiter accused of stealing $5,000 from the plush Windsor night club where he was employed.

Object of the hunt was Harvey Harrington, 38, of Windsor, who was said to have disappeared Monday afternoon while en route to deposit $17,197 in cash and checks in a bank. He was headwaiter at Windsor's Elmwood Casino.

Provincial police disclosed the theft last night after tracing Harrington to Detroit and recovering his wife's car, in which he left Windsor. Officers said they found $12,197 in checks and $100 in cash in the auto's glove compartment.

SANTA'S HELPERS—Old Saint Nick has some helpers who work year-around at the Oakland County Infirmary turning out ceramic, woodcraft and cloth products. But since the infirmary is so far off the beaten path followed by holiday shoppers, few of the finely-finished products ever reach the Christmas tree. Mrs. Frances Griffin (above), a wheel-chair patient, works on an apron, while beside her is displayed a few of the articles which busy hands are completing every day.

Infirmary Patients' Products Make Good Yule Presents

By WILLIAM THOMAS

Having trouble with that Christmas shopping that you've been putting off?

Here's a suggestion that will not only help you locate just what you've been looking for, for perhaps a little less than you might ordinarily pay—but it will also help those who make these gifts in their spare time—the patients at the Oakland County Infirmary at 2200 S. Telegraph Rd.

Articles on sale range from wood-craft products of decorative pins, toys and what-not shelves, to beautiful crocheted work, linens, hot-pads, utility aprons and ceramic goods.

the time here to put pains-taking care into each article, and if you're looking for quality, you've come to the right place.

"Time is one element that our patients here have plenty of," said Howard Estes, manager of the infirmary.

Occupational therapy, (That's what they call it when they find something that interests and keeps the patients busy.) is going on now only as volunteers can find time to come in and guide the patients' hands.

But the Board of Social Welfare (the infirmary's board of directors) and the Oakland County Board of Supervisors, seeing the need for occupational therapy (OT), decided to hire a full-time OT instructor in 1953 to teach the old skills and find new ones for the patients.

"But we still need an outlet," Estes said. "The patients enjoy making these products that occupy their time, but the great morale-booster is when others think their products are worth buying."

All but a few of the patients living at the infirmary have some type of illness, according to Estes, but the patients seem to conquer their diseases quicker when they have these projects to work with.

Most infirmary patients have little more than a $5 monthly allowance with which they buy their magazines, cigarettes and other luxuries. But money taken in through sale of their home-made products is returned to them, minus only the cost of the raw materials.

Aid in the past for the OT program has come from county funds and from outside gifts of money

Co-operation here is the key. Perhaps one man, not so artistically inclined, can turn out several dozen pins on a jig-saw, while bed-ridden patients or those confined to wheel chairs can add the artistry which completes the pin.

"Ceramics, in my opinion, has done the best job here in providing work for patients," said Estes. "This phase of making vases, ash trays and pins can be done by even the arthritic patients. It's good exercise for them, and their doing something useful."

The patients feel they are useful to society (which means you) by being able to produce things, Estes explained. Could you find time to stop out at the infirmary sometime soon and see what they have to offer society?

Filipinos Get New Land Reform Bill

MANILA (AP) — The Filipino tenant farmer has been handed what proponents call the most progressive land reform to be passed anywhere in Asia to meet the age-old hunger for land. The new law grants increased management rights to tenants and a better security of tenure. A tenant now can be evicted only by court action. All doubts are to be resolved in favor of the tenant.

Land tenure reform supplements the land 'or the landless program. Resettlement projects have been undertaken for landless on the big southern island of Mindanao. But many tenants on populous Luzon do not want to move south.

Blacksmith-Diplomat Honored by Mexico

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — A new elementary school has been named in honor of Ignacio Bonillas, son of a Mexican blacksmith, who rose from bootblack to Mexican ambassador to the United States. Bonillas was born in Mexico in 1858, graduated from Massachusetts Institute of Technology, served as governor of Magdalena district in Mexico and mayor of Nogales, Sonora, Mexico. He was Mexican ambassador to the United States from 1917 to 1920 and was defeated for president of Mexico by Gen. Alvaro Obregon in 1920. He died in 1944.

It requires an average 65,000 gallons of water to produce a ton of steel.

Queen Rules Against Stage Productions for Margaret

LONDON (INS) — Queen Elizabeth has abruptly and firmly ended Princess Margaret's brief but painful connection with the amateur stage.

The royal "thumbs down" answer came when Margaret's services were requested for another socialite stage production in behalf of charity.

Elizabeth promptly and emphatically ruled that "no member of the royal family" could be available now, or in the future.

Margaret's first, and apparently last, connection with the footlights was in a two-night stand early this year of "The Frog," an Edgar Wallace thriller. Margaret was assistant producer to a titled and blue-blooded cast.

The play a success financially, raising some $30,000 for charity. Critics, audiences and newspapers, however, panned the show unmercifully as an "undignified flop."

Debutantes and blue-bloods with less painful memories now plan to put on another show early next year under the expert guidance of former Hollywood actor John Loder.

Loder revealed the new royal veto when he said: "We've had a message from Buckingham Palace that 'no member of the royal family will take part in this or any other theater production.'"

The new debutante show will be a play, "The Lights Were Amber," written by Charles MacArthur Hardy, a young Australian socialite.

The debts and titled gents will find Loder a hard taskmaster. Loder is determined not to have a flop on his hands. He has warned:

"I won't care if it's a marchioness or the debutante of the year. If anyone's late or doesn't know her lines—she'll sell programs instead."

The debutante accent, too, is worrying Loder. He said:

"My first task will be to teach them the queen's English. I met two the other day and I thought they had marbles in their mouths. I had to get an interpreter."

Use Model Train All Year 'Round With Right Setup

For millions of youngsters with model trains, the saddest day of the year comes roughly one week after Christmas. That's the time when the tree comes down and Mom says the living room floor no longer can serve as a trackbed.

The trains and tracks go back in their boxes to wait for another Christmas—and it's nothing short of a shame.

When trains are received as yuletide gifts, they are set up for quick operation. But afterward the tracks should be mounted, so the child can use them whenever he wishes. The effort required is small, and so is the usual cost.

The best permanent location will, of course, depend on your home—the playroom, attic, basement, garage, or wherever there's extra space. And to help you design the layout, equipment firms, such as Lionel, offer handy track planning kits.

An excellent mounting surface is any large table, especially a ping-pong table. Or you may wish to build special platforms in custom-made sizes and shapes. These can be built out of scrap lumber in such a way they are easily stored.

Renters of small apartments can mount their platform on casters for storage beneath a bed. Or build it in three or four sections to be stowed in a back closet. Or purchase a "corkscrew" layout, with 180 feet of track spiraled into four square feet.

Motorist Leaves Cop Holding Fountain Pen
MADISON, Wis. (UP)—A Dane County traffic officer halted a motorist who identified himself as Frederick S. Hart of Albany, N. Y.

Hart was accused of speeding and the officer told him he could post bond and would not have to appear in traffic court. Hart wrote out a check and put it in the regular envelope provided for such cases.

Better Outdoor Displays
Illuminated plastic outdoor displays for the home grow more elaborate each year. They resist dampness yet are light enough to be erected easily.

Said Bill Yost of Milford, Neb.: "My wristband broke. It hasn't been fixed yet."

Michael Hansen of Omaha explained: "I've loaned out all three of mine. I'm checking this one for a customer."

R. Paul Miller, Omaha, said: "I loaned mine out, too. This is from my scrapbox."

Giant Glider Is Too Big; AF Puts It on the Block

DAYTON, Ohio (UP) — The Air Force experimental glider XG-18 is as big as a house. And that's probably what it will wind up as. It weighs 4½ tons, has a 72-foot wing spread and a 39-foot body, comfortably seating 48 fully equipped troops.

But the Air Force found only a four-engine plane could haul it in to the sky—so it's on the auction block.

Fifth Illegal U. S. Entry Nets 2 Year Jail Term

DULUTH, Minn. (AP) — George Frederick Proctor, 30, Toronto, Can., won't be crossing the border for the next two years.

An old hand at illegal entry, the Canadian was sentenced to a two-year term, the maximum, on his latest conviction. On five previous occasions, Proctor was arrested on similar charges and deported. His last previous court appearance was in St. Paul, Minn., in August of 1953. At that time he got a six-month sentence.

Dog Adopts Odd Family

CANTON, N. C. (AP)—Frank Parker's dog, Cindy, has a strange assortment of adopted "children"—picked up after she lost her puppies. Cindy started mothering a duckling with a broken leg. Then a chicken and a kitten at the Parker home were added to the family circle. The duck and the chicken sleep on Cindy's back and kitty cuddles close to her head, Parker said.

Yule Shopping Starts Off Big

High Volume Reported in Early Sales; Predict New Record

WASHINGTON (UP)—Christmas shopping is off to a good start around the country this year. And some merchants predict it will set a new record by the time the last gift is bought on Christmas Eve.

This is the general conclusion of a nationwide United Press survey in which the most optimistic reports came from New York, Boston, Atlanta and Chicago.

Standard & Poor's, a leading business statistical agency, predicted a new record peak for holiday sales across the nation. International Statistical Bureau and Dun and Bradstreet Inc. said Christmas shopping this year may be the greatest in the nation's history.

And government economists here agree it will be either a record or near-record.

Important factors in these optimistic forecasts are the high level of personal income—particularly the disposable part left after taxes, the upward trend in retail sales and a pickup in factory employment in recent weeks.

A greater sense of job security among federal employees was expected to help push up holiday sales here in the nation's capital where stores have been generally crowded most of the time since Thanksgiving day.

In New York, trade sources said Christmas shopping started "well ahead" of last year with all indications that a new record will be set.

The stock market rise was reflected in better-than-usual sales of high-priced gifts, such as jewelry and fur coats.

Daniel Bloomfield, executive vice president of the Boston Retail Trade Board, reported Christmas shopping "off to a very good start" there with merchants expecting a "very substantial increase" over last year's record Yuletide holiday sales.

Atlanta merchants reported a "very, very good opening" of Christmas shopping. The manager of one chain department store said business was the best ever. Holiday sales so far in Chicago indicated a new record will be set this year. Marshall Field Department Store reported sales topped $1,000,000 last Monday.

3,000 Yule Cards Will Be Mailed by Eisenhowers

WASHINGTON (INS)—The President and Mrs. Eisenhower expect to send out about 3,000 Christmas cards this year.

They will follow the pattern of last year when state governors, every member of Congress, the Cabinet and the Supreme Court received formal cards from the first family bearing the presidential seal. Personal friends received a holly-trimmed card from "Mamie and Ike."

Last year's presidential Christmas card had nothing on it to show it was sent in 1953, but this year's cards will have "1954" on them for the benefit of those who keep the White House greeting as a collector's item.

The Eisenhowers expect to trim a Christmas tree in the famous East Room toward the end of next week. Mrs. Eisenhower will accompany the President when he lights the outdoor Christmas tree on the White House lawn amid traditional ceremonies on Dec. 17.

Overtime on Yacht Costs Britons Plenty

LONDON (UP)—It cost 200,000 pounds ($360,000) to get the royal yacht finished in time to bring Queen Elizabeth II home from Tobruk at the end of her Commonwealth tour last May, the British taxpayer has learned.

Sir John Lang, a British admiralty spokesman, disclosed the figure in testimony before the parliamentary committee on public accounts. He said the money was spent paying overtime to shipyard workers.

Final cost of the new yacht—the Britannia—was two million pounds, about 250,000 pounds more than the original estimate.

Toll roads being built in the United States today usually cost well over a million dollars a mile.

Freeze Now for Yule

Owners of freezers can make full use of them preparing for the holidays. They allow the preparatory work to be spread out over a longer period of time. Almost everything, even bread, can be picked up ahead of time and tossed into the freezer to stay in perfect condition until needed.

In traveling from the Hudson River over the New York State Barge Canal system to Lake Erie, ships are raised 565 feet by 36 locks.

Lead Soldiers Survive

Lead soldiers, a traditional Christmas trinket from years gone by, are still with us. Made by both British and American firms they appear fastened in rows in their boxes much as they did shortly after the turn of the century. There are many varieties to choose from.

The Army operates 72 radio stations and numerous relay stations outside the United States. The project is known as the Armed Forces Radio Service.

Folding Doll Carriage Among Newest Toys

Folding doll carriages will take the spotlight in the doll department this year. A new model has an expanding handle which can be changed over the years to fit the child's growth.

Smart doll carriages feature all the safety devices used in prams for real babies. Draft-proof, tip-proof construction and sun shades are included to assure dolls comfortable, safe promenading.

New Realistic Touches

For realism in the extreme for toy railroad layouts, there are several scale model towns, with people, autos, houses and dogs, and even outdoor billboards of nationally advertised brands.

Hutterites Most Prolific Group

Religious Sect Boasts Birth Rate Nearly Twice National Average

WASHINGTON (UP) — "The most prolific people on earth" live right here in North America. They are the members of the Hutterite religious colonies of the midwestern United States and Canada.

The Population Reference Bureau, a private research organization reported today their birth rate in 1941-50 averaged 45.9 babies per 1,000 population. The U. S. average was 24.1.

The Hutterites, members of a Protestant Christian sect who practice communal ownership of property, are multiplying at a rate that exceeds even the phenomenal population increase rates of Brazil and Ceylon.

The original colony of 443 Hutterites who came to South Dakota from Russia between 1874 and 1877 has grown into 96 prosperous farm communities totaling some 8,000 persons, the bureau said. The colonies are scattered through the Dakotas and Montana and the Canadian provinces of Alberta, Manitoba and Saskatchewan.

The bureau said Hutterite couples usually marry at 19 and marriages are "for keeps." Most families produce nine or more children.

At their present rate of increase, they would double their number in 16 years, and total nearly half a million in 100 years.

Under the program of comprehensive free medical care for all, the Hutterite death rate has dropped to 4.4 per 1,000, compared to 10.2 for the nation.

The high birth rate takes its toll of Hutterite women, however. The death rate among women is higher than among men—the opposite of the situation prevailing in the nation at large.

The Hutterite sect originated in Switzerland in 1528, and takes its name from its founder, Jacob Hutter, who taught his followers to

June Allyson Is No. 1 Movie Star

Editors, Film Council Representatives Pick Top 12 in Poll

HOLLYWOOD — Hollywood's wholesome June Allyson best suited moviegoers' tastes during 1954. She has been voted America's No. 1 movie star in the All-American Screen Favorites Poll conducted by Boxoffice Magazine, trade publication for the motion picture industry.

Miss Allyson has been one of the nation's 12 leading screen personalities in the Boxoffice poll since 1949. She had held the No. 1 title twice before (1950 and 1951) and returned to a new tide of popularity this year in "The Glenn Miller

Story," "Executive Suite," and "Woman's World."

Second place went to Gary Cooper, No. 1 favorite both last year and in 1952, and a consistent title winner in the nationwide poll since 1936.

Jane Wyman, starring this year in "Magnificent Obsession" and "So Big," came in for third place. Selection of the twelve favorites is determined from the votes of motion picture editors of newspapers and magazines, radio and TV film commentators, representatives of film councils, women's groups and the civic organizations who comprise membership of the National Screen Council and a representative group of motion picture theater owners.

Fourth place winner, Marilyn Monroe, continues her rapid rise to the top, having first appeared on the favorites list in 1952 as No. 11. A phenomenal rise is represented by Audrey Hepburn's fifth place honors this year.

In No. 10 spot on the Boxoffice list of America's 12 favorite feminine stars last year, Audrey skyrocketed to fame in "Roman Holiday." Another fast rise in film-dom is that of No. 8 spot winner, William Holden.

Sixth and seventh honors were captured by two male stars who have made a "comeback" to the All-American list after an absence of several years. Humphrey Bogart, No. 6, had not been among the top twelve since 1948, and James Stewart, No. 7, made his first return to the list since 1949.

The twelve favorites, in order of rank, are (1) June Allyson (2) Gary Cooper (3) Jane Wyman (4) Marilyn Monroe (5) Audrey Hepburn (6) Humphrey Bogart (7) James Stewart (8) William Holden (9) John Wayne (10) Bing Crosby (11) Susan Hayward and (12) Ava Gardner.

Out of every dollar spent at retail establishments in the United States in 1950, about 25 cents went for operation and upkeep of the privately-owned automobile.

SANTA AND THE MARS KING

By Lucrece Hudgins Beale

SYNOPSIS: Tom escapes the flying saucers but gets separated from the witches. Not knowing how to get back to the witches' field, he wishes for Santa Claus. Soon the broom comes down in a snow-covered land.

Chapter Six TRAPPED

Whooping and laughing, Tom climbed the hill. When he reached the top he looked down on the far side and sure enough there was Santa Land in the valley below. He knew it was Santa Land. What else could it possibly be? There was a little cottage with red blinds and smoke curling out of a little red chimney. There were long rows of shop buildings. There was a stable—large enough to hold eight reindeer.

And there was a great red sleigh standing by the stable door!

But the real reason he knew that this was Santa Land was because of the little folk. There were elves and brownies and fairies all about. He knew they were fairies even though they were bundled up warmly. He knew it because wings stuck out of holes cut in their red woolen snow suits!

"It was great finding out that Handsome the statue could talk and walk," thought Tom. "And it was fun flying with the witches. But this is the nicest thing of all."

His eyes shone with excitement as he ran down the hill. He waved his arms and cried out to the folk below.

"What will they say when they see me?" he wondered. "Perhaps they will think I have come for an early Christmas."

He cupped his hands around his mouth. "Hello! Hello!" he shouted. The little folk turned towards him. Tom smiled and waved. He loved them all. He wanted them to know how glad he was to be there.

As soon as the Santa folk saw him they began running. They ran with their stocking caps flying out behind them and their coats flapping against their knees. They stumbled in the snow and tripped over each other and some even ran right out of their boots in their great enormous hurry.

As Tom watched them he stopped waving and smiling. He was hurt and puzzled. For the Coloring suggestion: Trees green. Sky grey. Fairies red with green wings. Elves brown with white earmuffs and buttons.

Santa folk were running not towards him but away from him and they ran as though they were afraid for their very lives.

In a moment there was not a soul to be seen in the streets of Santa Land. Tom stood there looking around hardly knowing what to do.

"I thought Santa Land folk liked children," he thought. "Why would they run from me?"

He decided he would go find them and ask them why they were scared of him. He marched down the street between the shops.

"Please come out," he called. "Don't be frightened!"

But there was no answer. His shout echoed down the empty alleys and bounced back at him from the empty shops.

Suddenly he saw someone in red behind a bush. He ran towards it. "Why are you hiding from me?" he cried.

But it was only an empty coat left there by one of the folk who had run away from him.

"I will ask Santa," decided Tom. "Surely he won't be afraid of me."

He went towards the little red shuttered cottage at the head of the road. He had a feeling that he was being watched, that a hundred pairs of eyes were staring at him.

He shuddered and looked over his shoulder. Just as he turned his head the snow in front of him gave way and he fell through the ground into a hole. Before he could catch his breath a black bag was pulled down over his head and his arms were caught and held behind him.

Now there was a chattering and shouting and squealing all around him and to his astonishment Tom heard his captors cry:

"We have one!"

"We trapped one!"

"We caught a flying saucer!"

(Tomorrow: Trouble in Santa Land.)

Quarter in Juke Box Strikes Unhappy Note

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Craving a cigarette, a man dashed into a nearby cafe and jammed a quarter into a machine. The juke box began to play.

An appeal to the bartender for restitution drew this retort:

"Mister, we have a lot of peculiar characters come in here, but you're the prize."

Salvation Army Is Clearing House for Christmas Needy

By JOHN R. ROSS

In a basement office on Lawrence street yesterday, Mrs. Frank Brooks answered her phone, a thing she does many times each day. As she talked, she took notes, then thanked the caller and hung up.

From that phone call, and from hundreds more Mrs. Brooks handles each day, will come Christmas happiness for people who otherwise would spend the holiday in less fortunate circumstances.

The hungry will be fed, and little children who hardly know the taste of candy will have their hands filled with sweets.

The calls Mrs. Brooks is busy answering will make the holiday season a happy one for the needy, the impoverished, the members of our society who have less than enough in this land of plenty.

These are the poor people, and if there is a day in the year when they should be remembered, it is Christmas. For as it was once said, "God must surely have loved the poor people—he made so many of them."

To insure that these, our neighbors, are not forgotten on Christmas, the Salvation Army maintains a clearing house for information to aid both those who need to receive and those who wish to give.

Mrs. Brooks registers the names of needy families. She then distributes these to service clubs, trade unions, church organizations and other groups with large-scale programs like parties and banquets.

Many Pontiac residents, Mrs. Brooks says, have invited families to Christmas dinner in their homes, to share the abundance of their lives with people whose only fault is the lack of a job or other source of income.

The Salvation Army distributes checks to needy families not included in any of the other programs, with which they can buy groceries for a Christmas feast in their own homes.

Perhaps there is something you can do, some way you can help some unfortunate Pontiac area family this Christmas. If so, or if you know of a family in need of assistance this holiday season, just call the Salvation Army at FE 4-9278—you'll be glad you did.

Snake Fancier Says Pets Much Maligned

MERIDEN, Conn. (AP) — George Powell can't understand why people hate snakes so much. "None of God's creatures are more maligned or more misunderstood than snakes," he says. "People think they are slimy; they're not. They are dry and scaly."

"People think snakes go out of their way to attack human beings. No such thing," says Powell. "Some North American snakes will fight if cornered, but they are looking for a chance to get away fast."

Powell has five snakes as pets—three rattlers and two copperheads.

In Turkey, turkeys are called "American birds."

Kaiser Stresses Utility Models

To Show 1955 Vehicles at Dealers' Showrooms Tomorrow

NEW YORK (AP)—Using a 21-city closed television hookup, Kaiser-Willys today showed its 1955 line of utility and passenger vehicles to its dealers in the United States and Canada.

Hickman Price Jr., vice president in charge of sales, told the dealer body the civilian jeep and related 4-wheel drive utility models will be their "profit line for 1955." These models go on dealer display tomorrow.

Announcing Kaiser-Willys will have fewer passenger car models in the lineup for 1955, Price said two of them will carry sharply reduced price tags when they are presented publicly on Jan. 6. The new Willys Bermuda, a hardtop model, will have an advertised delivered price of $1,795.

This is approximately $400 under the price of the 1954 Eagle model, which the Bermuda replaces.

The Willys custom, a new 4-door sedan, replaces the 1954 Ace model. It will have an advertised delivered price of $1,725, about $300 under the price of the 1954 Ace.

There will be no price change in the Kaiser Manhattan, also planned for the 1955 line.

Shown with the new jeep were such other 4-wheel drive related vehicles as station wagons, trucks, fire engine, ambulances and cargo carriers.

Price told the dealers the com-

And then the goose arrived from the baker's oven—and Christmas at the Cratchits' was in full swing!

It was the finest goose that ever graced a dinner table! But the best was yet to come.

Books, Records for Gifts Best If Chosen With Care

Books and records are gifts that are never hard to discern, even in the fanciest of wraps. But their obvious shapes never make them any less welcome in most families. Successful selection of this kind of gift is more difficult than picking a tie because the contents must please again and again.

Often books and records become part of a family's life that goes on long after the jacket has fallen off and the platter emits only scratches.

Even bookish parents approach the job of picking books for their children with some timidity.

Though distant cousins may do the job more blithely, it is the parents who will have to read the story 17 million times to bedtime children.

Organizations whose job it is to help those buying books for children offer sound advice. The Children's Book Council, 50 West 53rd St., has booklists. Store clerks are usually helpful.

Josette Frank, a member of the staff of the Child Study Association, offers some touchstones on picking children's books: pictures need not be great art, but should be realistic and satisfying in detail; humor suits the shy reader when it is broad and ridiculous; don't depend on the cover to give you a clue about the inside—look for large, open type, ease of words, content suitable to the age; try to meet child's interests rather than get him to learn how the spinach grows if he's not interested.

A fine Christmas gift book is the "Holiday Storybook" compiled by the Child Study Association and published by Crowell. This book has a history connected with each holiday and would make an easy entrée to reading out loud.

In a Utopia, picking children's records would be done by parents only, because only they know how much they can bear of the Tug That Whistled Good Morning.

Books for adults are gifts that should be selected for individuals, with their tastes in mind. A reference book is usually always welcome, however. Avoid too-specific how-to-do books. If a woman wants to reduce, she'll buy her own book of exercises and like it a lot better than the one you give her.

General books centered around an interest or a hobby make gifts that are individual and delightful. A foreign cookbook or a volume like Little-Brown's Field Guides to Fungus fill this bill.

Possibilities among records are so many that shopping for them may occupy days. Somewhat off the traditional track are Caedmon's talking records that are ever more popular.

GM in Europe to Get $9 Million

Curtice Unveils Plans for Expansion in Four Countries

DETROIT (AP)—General Motors announced today it will spend an additional $9,000,000 in new expansion programs in four European countries in 1955.

Harlow H. Curtice, GM president, said the new projects—in France, Sweden, Denmark and England—are in addition to expansions totaling $182,000,000 announced during his recent inspection trip of General Motors installations in Europe.

The new expansion program is designed to expand manufacturing facilities. Curtice said the program is expected to increase GM employment in Europe.

Largest of the new projects will be in France where GM will spend $3,595,894 for land, new buildings and manufacturing facilities for its AC-DeLco and Frigidaire divisions at Gennevilliers.

GM said it will spend an additional $1,860,000 in Sweden at its Nordiska A.B. plant in Stockholm.

Two new buildings are planned by General Motors International A/S at Copenhagen, Denmark, at a cost of $1,846,728.

In England, General Motors Ltd. will spend an additional $1,658,376 for a new building at its AC-DeLco division at Dunstable.

Pirates Again Operate in South Pacific Area

MANILA (AP)—More pirates, with modern arms and swift boats, are preying on smugglers off Palawan island in the southern Philippines.

and the southern Philippines have been the center of a rich smuggling trade for years. News dispatches say the pirates board the slower smuggling boats on the high seas after trailing them from Palawan or North Borneo.

All Ike's Words in New Volume

Newspaper Librarian Compiles Full Listing of Public Speeches

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — A newspaper librarian admits his first book never will make the best-seller list. Nor will it be read by the casual browser.

But there are other compensations for Ralph J. Shoemaker, chiefly a letter of deep appreciation from President Eisenhower, the leading character.

The book, "The President's Words," indexes every public utterance by Eisenhower from June, 1952, through May, 1954.

"I must confess," the President wrote after receiving a gift copy, "to a feeling of great compliment and some astonishment at the time and care and effort that must have gone into preparation" of the 115-page reference work.

In the same mail, Shoemaker received a letter from Miss Ann C. Whitman, personal secretary to Eisenhower. She was "terribly curious to know how and why you happened to undertake such a task."

Shoemaker's response, in brief, was that the work was a labor of love.

As librarian for the Louisville Times and Courier Journal, he explained he "received many outside phone calls and requests from staff members of the newspapers about what the President said on this and that subject."

The requests became so numerous the librarian was spending most of his time in research and he decided to do something about it.

When the book was finished, he and his wife offered it for sale but found no takers among publishers. So they put up their own money, had it printed and bound in blue—the color of the presidential flag—and offered it for sale at $3.

More than 200 copies were ordered by newspapers, libraries and colleges in 22 states during the first month of publication.

Other volumes will be published in the future.

Bugs Gum Up Works

KEARNEY, Neb. (AP) — The Kearney Hub reporter was making a checkup on rainfall when a recorder answered "the gauge shows .80 of an inch—but I think we only had about .75 of an inch, because there were two bugs and a fly in the gauge."

TO SPARK A SWEATER—This Swiss-embroidered collar is really a hanky, modified by this gaj as a neat way to spark up a sweater or last year's dress during the holiday season. It will make a welcome gift for many of your friends.

Try Accessories for Filling Up Dad's Stocking

It used to be that only the kids hung their stockings with care at the mantel. But you can brighten friend husband's Christmas morning with stocking gifts, too.

Except, of course, that you don't fill it with toys. Instead you fill it with the little accessories and notions that he needs but leaves to you to buy anyway.

It's easy to figure this gift out. Simply look at his toiletries shelf and you'll see that he needs toothpaste, razor blades, a new toothbrush, dental floss, styptic pencil or foot powder.

How about his shoe laces? You can buy them in huge quantities for little money and you can pick the shades yourself.

Check his pocket comb and his bathroom comb and brush. Check his eyeglass case—he's probably lost the original one. How's his supply of shoe polish? His clothes brush? Does he have a suitable nail file or emery board supply?

These are the gifts that will make the old man sit up and say to himself: "Boy! Is my family thoughtful!"

Cop Turns Down Check

COLUMBIA, S. C. (AP)—Police-man M. J. Walker unhesitatingly turned down a request from a prisoner that the officer cash a check so the man could post bail. The man was being held on check forgery charges.
