New Record Set at Michigan Fair by Sunday Crowd

DETROIT (AP) — Attendance records at the 108th annual Michigan State Fair were broken yesterday as 151,727 persons turned out to see the agricultural and mechanical exhibits and sport on the midway.

Fair officials said 780 more persons attended the fair yesterday than they did on the same day last year to boost the fair's total attendance thus far to 279,095.

The fair opened Friday and ends its 10-day run Sunday.

Among the many exhibits on display at the fair are the Air Force's latest jet plane, the F84-F, and a 10-place rescue helicopter.

As part of the accent on air power, the Michigan Flying Farmers have an exhibit as does the Ground Observer Corps.

Officers Launch Hunt for Slayer

Nebraska Man Kills 2; Kidnaps, Beats Former Wife With Crowbar

DECATUR, Neb. (AP) — Sheriff's officers today launched a gigantic manhunt for a 39-year-old man who carried out threats against his family and fatally shot two persons and injured two others.

Burt County Sheriff William Dean said Arthur McClusky, 39, Omaha, burst into the Glenn Stoddard farm home Saturday night and fatally shot his mother-in-law, Mrs. Ida Stoddard, 59, and a friend, Orville Brewer, 60.

Stoddard was wounded slightly and his daughter, Mrs. Betty McClusky, 29, was kidnaped and beaten with a crowbar by her estranged husband. She was treated at a hospital and released last night.

Dean said McClusky took his wife to the home in Decatur they once occupied and beat her. Mrs. McClusky played dead and when her husband left the room, she jumped from a window and got help.

McClusky escaped in a car owned by Brewer. Sheriff Dean recovered the car late yesterday on a Missouri River island.

State Highways Claim Eleven During Holiday

No Traffic Fatalities Recorded in County as Rush Home Begins

At least 11 persons died on Michigan highways during the first two days of the Labor Day weekend, although Oakland County has thus far maintained its excellent "no-deaths" record during this last summer holiday weekend.

At least 11 persons have been killed in miscellaneous accidents in addition, two of them in Oakland County.

However, state, county, and local law enforcers fear the worst was yet to come as thousands of motorists begin the long trek home tonight.

Oakland County officials will be out in full force all day and night in an effort to keep the county's record clean.

Mrs. Ida Sebert, 31, of Davison, and her 11-year-old daughter, Darlene, were killed Sunday in a two-car collision near Flint.

Wheaton Candler, 30, of Walled Lake, and Susan J. Porter, 26, of Detroit, were killed Saturday afternoon when their small plane crashed in Kensington Park.

Weather Guess Paid Off

An Early Guess Wins Press Weather Contest

Mrs. Christiana Laschinsky is about to start bragging up a storm about her ability to foretell the future. And she has a $200 Savings Bond to back up the boasting.

Her forecast that 2:20 p.m., Aug. 3 would be the hottest moment of the month hit the nail right on the head.

She and her husband, John, live at 882 Coughlan, Auburn Heights.

2ND TRY

They both entered the contest in July and "didn't come close." This month they both entered again and Mrs. Laschinsky is anxious to "rib" her husband a bit about his wrong guess.

The Laschinskys are lifetime residents of Pontiac and "have never won anything before." He is a repairman at Pontiac Motor Division.

They decided to enter the contest "because it looked like fun" and many of their friends had already sent in entries. With the weather win under her belt, Mrs. Laschinsky has her eye on the Pot-O-Gold jackpot. She started last week to compete for that $2,300 pot.

LISTENED HARD

Because her predicted day was early in the month, Mrs. Laschinsky's name was announced early as the leader in the current contest. Since that time she has listened "to every weather forecast I can hear and when I miss one, someone else makes sure they listen."

She said there was no secret formula to her success, just a plain old-fashioned guess.

Holiday Deaths in U.S. May Go to Predicted 420

Fatalities Approaching Labor Day Weekend Record of 461

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The nation's traffic death toll for the Labor Day weekend appeared heading toward the pre-holiday prediction of 420 today with the most dangerous period, the homeward rush, still to come.

There was a steady climb in fatalities yesterday, with millions of motorists on the highways in the summer's last long weekend holiday.

"The death toll is tragically following the figures used in making advance estimates," said Ned H. Dearborn, president of the National Safety Council.

"The worst is still to come with the home-bound rush of highway travelers. There will be a fearful last minute crush."

Total Now at 403

Traffic	385
Drowning	45
Miscellaneous	80
Total	403

The council had estimated a death toll of 420 for the 78-hour period from 6 p.m. Friday to midnight tonight local time.

Dearborn said unless the trend changes, the final toll will be close to the council's prediction.

The count in the first 33 hours of the holiday period showed about 150 fatalities. In the next 24 hours, however, the total was more than 150.

During last year's three-day Labor Day holiday there were 435 traffic deaths.

Nonholiday test survey made by The Associated Press during a recent 78-hour weekend showed 378 auto fatalities. The record traffic toll for Labor Day was 461 for a three-day period in 1951.

One of the worst accidents during the holiday occurred yesterday near Effingham, in southern Illinois. Five persons burned to death when their car plunged into a ditch a number of lives.

Crashes of private planes took number of lives.

Four perished today when a plane crashed on Pennsylvania-Reading Seashore Line tracks in Berlin, N.J.

Two others were killed in a private plane crash in California. Two died at Macks Inn, Idaho. A plane crash killed one at Plano, Tex., and another perished at Woodsfield, Ohio.

Mussolini's Body Sealed in Tomb

PREDAPPIO, Italy (AP) — The plain wooden coffin holding the body of Benito Mussolini was sealed last night in a stone tomb bearing the Fascist rods and ax on its four sides.

Throughout the day 7,000 Italians filed quietly past to pay homage to the Duce. They came from all over Italy to the Mussolini family crypt in this little north Italian town where the dictator was born.

There were no disorders.

Police cleared the crowd from the cemetery before the tomb was sealed. The final ceremony was attended only by Mussolini's widow and a few relatives.

Mussolini and his mistress Clara Petacci were killed by partisans in 1945 as they tried to flee to Switzerland. The government until last week kept the body hidden.

Funeral services were held Saturday.

Two Giant Labor Groups Marching in Detroit Today

Under partly cloudy skies, 75,000 AFL and CIO members marched down Detroit's Woodward avenue, starting at 9:30 this morning, to celebrate labor's special holiday.

The parade marked the last time members of the two giant labor groups marched separately. Henceforth, representatives of the 350,000-member Wayne County CIO and 225,000 AFL members in the county will be mingled. The two labor groups will merge in December as have the national bodies.

Today, with the CIO on the east side of street and the AFL on the west, the units strode past a reviewing stand on the steps of Old City Hall, filled with public and labor dignitaries.

With an estimated 300,000 persons gathered in Grand Circus Park, the grand marshal of the parade, Sen. McNamara, a former president of Pipefitters Local 636, delivered the major address.

Others in the reviewing stands were Gov. Williams, Lt. Gov. Philip Hart, Council President Louis C. Miriani, UAW Secretary-Treasurer Emil Mazey and Andre McFarlane, president of the Detroit and Wayne County Federation of Labor.

The two-and-a-half-hour parade, escorted by a detachment of mounted police and a Detroit Federation of Musicians band, included two Labor Day queens, Miss AFL and Miss CIO.

Rainy Evening to End Holiday; Cloudy Tuesday

Thundershowers are expected to end and cooler temperatures are due to morrow. The mercury will reach a high of 74 to 78 degrees.

The outlook for eastern and western upper Michigan is mostly cloudy through tomorrow with occasional thundershowers today and tonight diminishing Tuesday. The evening low will hover in the 65 to 70 degree range, and tomorrow's high will be from 68 to 75.

An extended outlook for this area predicts partly cloudy and cool weather for Wednesday.

In downtown Pontiac the lowest temperature recorded preceding 8 a.m. was 70. At 1 p.m. the mercury read 88.

The Feud Drags On

Linda Pesters Her Keeper

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The feud at Fleishhacker Zoo drags on between ape keeper Bill Wills and Linda B., a red-haired orangoutang.

Wills hastened to Linda's quarters to find her hanging from the top of her cage by her hind feet and tail while she methodically unwound the wire mesh of the ceiling, using her hands and teeth.

The ape was bribed down with a bunch of grapes. While she sat munching Wills scaled a ladder and nailed a wooden patch over the foot-wide hole Linda had unraveled.

Wills found she had torn off the patch, throwing heavy nails to the ground as she went, and unwinding more wire mesh.

He called in a fence construction crew this time. They did a professional job and guaranteed it. Wills isn't so sure.

What Will Happen If It Strikes Your Family?

Oakland County Has No Facilities for Mentally Ill

By HAROLD COHEN

If serious mental illness suddenly strikes a member of your family, what can you do? Nothing, if you live in Oakland County.

So said Dr. L. Jerome Fink, Pontiac psychiatrist and chairman of the mental health committee of the Oakland County Medical Society.

"In the three most urgent types of mental illness—that is patients who suddenly show homicidal tendencies, or who turn violent and destructive, the family is stymied by the absence of emergency facilities anywhere in the county," he said.

"If the family involved calls the police, the patient will probably wind up in jail, because there is no other place for the police to take the persons except jail," Dr. Fink continued.

"If the family calls its doctor, he will undoubtedly recommend a psychiatrist who again will be unable to find a bed at any hospital.

ONLY ONE HOSPITAL

"The only public mental hospital in the county is the Pontiac State Hospital and it has no room for emergency cases. It is only because the director, Dr. Ivan LaCore, is so very cooperative that the state hospital has taken in some emergency cases if a bed could be found, but the nine other counties served were thereby cheated of their legitimate space," he added.

His statements were confirmed by Dr. LaCore, who labeled the county's treatment of the mentally ill as "near barbarity."

"And in case anyone thinks that mental illness is not likely to ever bother their family, just remember that seven out of every 10 Americans is mentally ill sometime during their lives and one out of every 10 spends sometime in a mental hospital," Dr. Fink continued.

He went on to cite three recent personal experiences of what lack of county facilities for emergency patients can mean.

Mrs. A was examined by Dr. Fink and found to be suicidal. He secured her immediate commitment from probate court, but there the matter rested because there was no place to take her.

LIFE BARELY SAVED

Ten days later, Mrs. A was found by the Royal Oak police lying in a roadside ditch with her wrists slashed. She was rushed to William Beaumont Hospital where large transfusions barely saved her life.

Mrs. B called the Pontiac police from her hotel room and said her husband was threatening her with a knife.

Two officers were dispatched but on investigation found no truth to the story and left. Mrs. B followed the officers into the street and suddenly shouted she was receiving "a message from Washington."

After watching her answer the "message," the officers departed hastily, because they knew if they took her in, she would become a headache to the department as there was no hospital that would take her in, and she had committed no crime.

Mrs. C was brought in by her family for examination. She told the doctor, "Don't let me go. I know I will kill some children on my block if you let me and I don't want to kill them."

Dr. Fink called the state hospital, and the director, Dr. LaCore, said, "We just don't have a bed, but if she is that bad bring her over and we will take her if we have to set up a bed in a corridor."

WHAT TO DO?

With no public facilities available, what are the alternatives?

Dr. Fink lists two: Put the mentally ill in jail and this is done regularly all over the county, or send them to a private sanitarium. The only private one, however, is The Haven Sanitarium near Rochester and it is crowded at all times, he said.

Also, he added, the cost at a private institution is $1,000 a month, plus extras. How many people can afford that, Dr. Fink asked.

Something must be done and quickly, the doctor said. This is a county problem and the Board of Supervisors should act on it. Other progressive counties have facilities for the insane.

There is Wayne County General Hospital; Genesee has a ward in a Flint hospital; there are psychiatric wards at Battle Creek and Kalamazoo, financed by the counties."

SOLUTIONS CONSIDERED

Solutions considered by Dr. Fink and his committee include: Setting aside some 10 beds in the new wing of Pontiac General, perhaps financed by Oakland County; use of the old County Contagious Hospital, now under lease to Pontiac

Interpretations Conflict to Produce Legal Snarl

Conflicting legal interpretations remained a stumbling block today in the drafting of a final decree on the status of Oakland County's proposed new courthouse.

The major conflict centers on how much money the county can spend from now on for new buildings under the decision reached last month by Circuit Judge Herman Dehnke, of Harrisville.

OPINION VARIES

Corporation Counsel Harry J. Merritt feels that the county is more limited in what it can spend than does the attorney for the Oakland County Taxpayers League, Glenn C. Gillespie.

The Taxpayers League brought the suit that led to Judge Dehnke's decision the county was trying to finance a new courthouse illegally.

He said the county was trying to exceed the constitutional limitation of .1 mill annually that can be raised from tax sources for building construction and repair.

As Merritt sees it, Judge Dehnke meant that the county can't spend more than .1 mill annually, whether the money comes from tax or non-tax sources.

This week Merritt showed Gillespie a partial draft containing this strict limitation.

WILL DO OWN

But Gillespie, who has called this interpretation "silly," is going to draw up his own draft for the county to scrutinize this week.

The limitation is only on what the county can raise for buildings, according to Gillespie. "But it can spend as much as it wishes and is not limited in what it raises from non - tax sources such as land sales," Gillespie has said.

Merritt said he would agree to the Taxpayers League's proposals "if possible," in order to hurry a final decree. A decree must be entered before the county can proceed with its appeal of the case to the State Supreme Court, he said.

Preparation of a final decree is up to the attorneys in the case. If they can agree, it will be submitted to Judge Dehnke for approval.

But if the attorneys cannot agree, it is probable they will have to argue their interpretations at a special hearing before Judge Dehnke.

51 Girls Ready at Contest

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (INS) — Fifty-one of the nation's most beautiful and talented young women will compete for the title of "Miss America 1958" next week — and pageant officials are sure there are no marriage licenses hidden in the family closets.

The recent Miss Universe contest was thrown into a tizzy when it was discovered that Miss United States, Mary Leona Gage, was really a "Mrs." — and a mother at that.

Lenora Slaughter, director of the Miss America pageant, says it can't happen in her competition. She points out the winners start competing in small local contests sponsored by community-spirited groups like the junior chamber of commerce.

"If you know small towns," she said, "a girl is not going to be able to hide anything, let alone a marriage." She added that all contestants must supply birth certificates, and, if any question crops up, the sponsoring group makes a complete check.

Miss Slaughter said another check is made of the contestants at the various state competitions.

The lovely would-be successors to the present Miss America, Marian Ann McKnight, of Manning, S. C., arrive in the resort today. They make their public debut in the colorful illuminated boardwalk night parade on Tuesday.

The winner will receive a $5,000 scholarship for education and a chance to earn approximately $50,000 during her reign through appearances and endorsements.

FOR FUN AND FUTURE — This "ride of the future" is shown here in Akron, Ohio, amusement park, but its builders say it's more than an amusement ride. The first commercial monorail in the United States consists of three 11-foot-long cars with four double seats in each. A single overhead track 20 feet above the ground carries the monorail at speeds up to 60 m.p.h. The aluminum cars are powered by a four-cylinder engine. The five Akron residents who designed the monorail say it may be the answer to traffic problems in teeming cities. Surface traffic would be something passengers could just look down on — and relax.

Critics, Supporters Say:

Civil Rights Bill Usefulness Could Prove Extensive

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — The civil rights bill now on President Eisenhower's desk may turn out to be more effective than some of its critics would concede previously.

That appeared today to be the sentiment of some administration spokesmen as well as some members of Congress.

Atty. Gen. Brownell, who will have the chief administrative chores if President Eisenhower signs the bill as expected, said after a White House visit yesterday the measure would go a long way toward safeguarding voting rights.

Brownell's statement indicated acceptance of the measure by Eisenhower, with a possible call for action by Congress in the next session to broaden its terms to include enforcement of other civil rights.

Sen. Russell (D-Ga), who captained the band of Southern senators who fought the measure to the last, said he was sure that Brownell would be "constantly pressed" by Vice President Nixon to use the full powers he is given under the measure against the South.

Russell said the bill is likely to result in "forcing the registration of a large number of Negroes who in fact cannot meet the qualifications prescribed for all electors under the laws of some states."

The bill would authorize the attorney general to bring federal court injunctions suits to prevent interference or threatened interference with voting rights.

If defendants in such suits were found guilty of criminal contempt by a judge, they could demand a new trial by jury if the judge had levied a fine of more than $300 or sentenced the defendant to jail for more than 45 days.

Criminal contempt generally involves disobedience of a court's order beyond the time in which obedience would render the order effective. The bill also provides for service by Negroes on federal court juries, irrespective of state laws.

Republican Leader Knowland of California said the measure "promises some progress in the long struggle for equality and elimination of race and color discriminations in American life."

Sen. Fulbright (D-Ark) said that while the bill was distasteful to him its passage "may be the beginning of a new era of understanding and lessening of the controversy and bitterness that has plagued us on this subject."

Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas said if Congress hadn't done anything else, its passage of the civil rights bill "would entitle it to a place in history."

A sidelight to the civil rights fight was a one-man filibuster against the bill by Sen. Thurmond (D-SC), who was criticized for the action by some other Southerners. Thurmond spoke for 24 hours and 19 minutes beginning last Wednesday.

In a statement last night, he defended the speech, saying that at a meeting of Southerners last Saturday it was agreed "that each senator was on his own to oppose the bill as best he could. From the beginning I made up my mind it was my duty to oppose the bill strongly."

Confederate Ranks Reduced to 2

'Uncle Bill' Lundy, 109, Civil War Vet Dies

CRESTVIEW, Fla. (AP)—William A. Lundy, a 109-year-old veteran of the Civil War, died last night, thinning the ranks of the once-proud Confederate army to two aged men.

Death came to "Uncle Bill," as he was affectionately known to thousands, in a hospital shortly after he had been moved there from the home of a son, Charlie, with whom he had resided for the past several months.

Suffering from a high fever, the aged veteran was taken to the hospital about 8 p.m. Death came 2½ hours later to the man who, at 16, served with a unit of the Home Guard at Elba, Ala.

Members of Lundy's family reported Aug. 27 the old veteran had not recovered as well as expected from a gall bladder operation he underwent in March and barely was able to stand.

The remaining Confederate veterans are Walter W. Williams, 114, who lives with a daughter in Houston, Tex., and John Salling, 111, Slant, Va.

Albert Woolson, the last Union survivor, died last year at 109 in Duluth, Minn.

In addition to Charlie, Lundy is survived by three daughters and five sons.

"Uncle Bill" was fairly active almost to the time of his death. Only a short time ago he was able to get around by hitching a wooden sawhorse ahead of him. His eyesight, he frequently boasted, was so sharp he could shoot a squirrel out of a tree with a shotgun.

Lundy was proud of his Confederate background although he served only in the Home Guard and never took a shot at a Yankee soldier.

Asked by the Chamber of Commerce during his last few days if they could fly his large Confederate flag from a pole outside his home, he declined to allow his beloved Stars and Bars to leave his bedroom wall where it was on proud display.

"I want it where I can see it," the aged rebel, almost bedfast at the time, said.

He was lonely during his last years although visitors by the score found their way down the dusty road to the small white cottage where he and his son lived.

He tried to fight off his aloneness by sitting on the front porch and summoning almost every passer-by to stop and chat with him.

But when he was asked how it felt to be almost the last survivor of the gray-clad hosts of the Confederacy, his faded eyes would fill with mist and he would say, "It's lonesome, lonesome."

Honors were piled upon "uncle Bill" in recent years. At the time of his death he was looking forward to being the guest of honor at a park dedication to be held here soon.

A special general's uniform of his beloved Confederate gray was being made for him to wear at the ceremonies.

Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

East Germany Fair Tempting but High Priced

LEIPZIG, East Germany (AP) — The Leipzig Fair opened yesterday, dangling a tempting array of consumer goods before the East Germans.

How soon these clothes, automobiles and household wares will be available at a reasonable price under the austere East German economy remains the big question.

The United States, biggest producer of consumer goods in the world, finds no direct representation. The few U. S. products seen are displayed by West German or other foreign licensees. Even these goods are hard to find.

The Soviet Union also has sent nothing for display for some unexplained reason. Its fancy, big exhibition building is closed and guarded.

Malaya Installs Its First Rulers

King Heads Federation of States Within British Commonwealth

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaya (AP)—A former public magistrate was installed today as the first king of independent Malaya.

His majesty Tuanku Sir Abdul Rahman was proclaimed "king and ruler of the federation of Malaya with the title and style of His Majesty the Yang Di Pertuan Agong (paramount ruler)."

The new king is a 62-year-old bilingual lawyer who served as a civil magistrate 27 years ago. In 1933 he was proclaimed ruler of Negri Sembilan, one of the nine Malay states that joined with the settlements of Penang and Malacca to form the federation which became an independent member of the British Commonwealth at midnight Friday.

Rulers of the states elected Sir Abdul for a five-year term as the $60,000-a-year constitutional monarch. The government will actually be run by Prince Abdul Rahman, the new prime minister and foreign minister who is no relation to the king.

An audience of 700 persons watched the installation ceremony in a temporary royal courtroom of the King's state palace. The room was lined with 40 bearers holding golden colored umbrellas to signify the installation was in progress.

Resplendent in gold and silver threaded robes, Sir Abdul—who suffered a stroke two years ago—rose slowly from the golden-colored throne after the grand chamberlain read the installation proclamation.

He received the gold-encrusted state kris, a traditional Malay dagger, drew it from its sheath, kissed it and returned it to the sheath. Then he stepped forward and read his oath of office.

The Day in Birmingham

Superintendent of Schools Asks Parking Restriction

BIRMINGHAM — School Supt. Dwight B. Ireland is asking the city to restrict parking on the north side of Merrill street, between Chester and Southfield road.

He pointed out that the Board of Education has developed two parking lots in the vicinity of Baldwin School and the Board of Education building, which provides ample space for school personnel in the area.

The parking is mainly on an all-day basis by persons working in or near the Civic Center. The situation presents not only a danger to children, he explained, but also a difficulty for persons having business at the Board of Education offices or in Baldwin School.

Police Chief Ralph W. Moxley who has made a study of the problem, reports that the majority of the parkers are there on the conditions outlined by Ireland.

He recommends a restriction to two-hour parking between 8 a.m. and 6 p.m., but extends the area to Bates street.

He further recommends the same restrictions on the west side of Chester, between Merrill and Martin streets.

Moxley will recommend that Commissioners approve the restrictions on a trial basis and if found satisfactory, to have them become permanent.

As the long holiday weekend draws to a close, police departments in the Birmingham-Bloomfield area report no serious traffic mishaps.

"We're keeping our fingers crossed," was the comment of the three police chiefs.

The Rev. Reginald Becker this week announces the return to fall and winter schedule for the congregation of Embury Methodist Church.

Similar worship services will be held at 10 and 11:15 a.m. Sunday School classes up to the sixth grade will be held at the same hours.

Classes for the seventh grade, and up, will continue to meet at 9 a.m.

Further discussion on the proposed Maple-Bates Alley will be held at tomorrow's commission meeting.

Although it has met with considerable opposition, the necessity of the alley was established by commissioners two weeks ago.

The current discussion will concern the special assessment district for the alley construction and to determine what benefits will be received by merchants in the area as to whether or not it is advisable to extend the presently-considered district.

Scandal Trial Jury to Inspect Theater

LOS AGELES (AP)—Members of the jury in the Confidential magazine criminal libel trial will board a bus tomorrow and take a 15-minute ride out the freeway to Hollywood.

There they will be dropped off at Grauman's Chinese Theater, a plush movie house in which Confidential claims actress Maureen O'Hara engaged a Latin man in a back-row cuddling session.

The actress has repeatedly denied there was anything to the Confidential story, which was titled "It Was the Hottest Show in Town When Maureen O'Hara Cuddled in Row 35."

The actress has filed a five-million-dollar damage suit against the magazine. She claims she was in Europe at the time the alleged cuddling episode occurred.

Problem Returns to Assembly

Stassen Joins Last Round of U.N. Disarmament Talks

WASHINGTON (AP)—Harold Stassen flies back to London today for a final round of five-power disarmament talks before the whole problem is returned to the U. N. General Assembly.

Stassen arrived here Friday to attend his son's wedding and to talk with President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles. He took the line that Russia is still seriously negotiating.

Other American officials generally feel now, however, that the disarmament issue has passed into a phase of all-out propaganda conflict and that the semblance of negotiation at London has been lost.

Stassn met with Eisenhower and Dulles briefly at the White House. The meeting is understood to have been inconclusive except for a reported piece of advice by Eisenhower—that the United States should get ready for a full-fledged debate in the U. N. General assembly on the arms talks.

The Assembly meets Sept. 17 in New York. The United States, Britain, France, Canada and Russia have been negotiating at its direction as members of a subgroup of the Assembly's Committee on Disarmament.

It is generally expected that the London sessions will be concluded in a few days preliminary to throwing the whole question back to the General Assembly.

The Soviet Communist newspaper Pravda said yesterday that the five-power subcommittee at London had failed to do its job. The paper called for a general discussion of disarmament in the U.N.

Hal Boyle Says:

Skyscraper With Red Tower Soon to Rise

NEW YORK (AP) — Every American has had, at one time or another, a weekend ambition "to paint the town red."

Nobody but Louis J. Glickman, however, has seriously set out to erect a vermilion colored skyscraper in the heart of Manhattan.

His proposal to tear down historic Carnegie Hall, which he bought for five million dollars, and replace it with a bright red 44-story, 24 million dollar office building has caught the public fancy.

People want to know who Glickman is, and why he wants to put up a tower that will look like an oversized Bloody Mary.

"Oh, I just happened to be wearing a red tie the day I closed the deal," Glickman jokes casually when asked this question. Then getting serious, he explains:

"Color is getting to play such an important part in our lives, in everything from refrigerators to automobiles, that I thought vermilion building would eve some of the drabness of Manhattan—and give the town a shot in the arm."

The venture is typical of Glickman, whose formula for success is "imagination mixed with prudent daring."

Glickman, one of the nation's leading real estate syndicate operators, wasn't born with a silver spoon in his mouth—it was a property deed. Shortly after graduating from college he became a partner of his father, Pincus Glickman, a famous builder.

"This automatically made me a paper millionaire—until the depression," he recalled.

Since the end of World War II Glickman has closed deals totaling more than half a billion dollars.

"He goes around the country buying buildings like bunches of bananas," one real estate editor wrote of him.

Glickman, now 52, will even close a deal while playing golf or riding horseback, his favorite sports. He is known in the trade as a "romancer," a man who can take a piece of rundown property and improve it so that it will return more revenue.

"To be successful in real estate you have to be optimistic—a bull," said Glickman, who is as self-confident as an elephant in a flea circus.

Unlike many civic pessimists who feel that the flight to the suburbs will turn many American cities into business cemeteries, Glickman feels downtown urban areas are making a strong comeback in cities that have undertaken modernization programs.

"The trouble is we are just beginning now to do the kind of planned building we should have begun 50 years ago," he remarked. "But the flight of business to the suburbs is over.

"Business firms have found that they can't get and hold the kind of help they want in the suburbs. They can find it only in the city."

Some critics believe that Manhattan has overbuilt in a post-war construction program of new office and apartment buildings approaching the billion dollar mark.

"The answer is that they are still finding plenty of tenants," said Glickman. "There is no reason for the program to stop. I know of several deals, now being negotiated and not yet announced, for another $10,000,000 in construction in the Park-Fifth Avenues area.

"Manhattan—and other cities—will grow larger, not smaller. There are plenty of people in the suburbs who want to come back to the cities—if buildings can be put up for them."

'Beat-Beat' System Dependable

Route of Missiles Tracked

By GORDON L. HARRIS
Army Ballistic Missile Agency
(Written for The Associated Press)

HUNTSVILLE, Ala., Aug. 31 (AP) —Problem: How to keep track of giant, long-range ballistic missiles from the instant of launching in order to know where they are headed.

Solution: The "beat-beat" missile tracking system developed by the Army Ballistic Missile Agency.

The agency, situated at Redstone Arsenal, Huntsville, conducts test launchings of ballistic missiles at Cape Canaveral, Fla., site of the Air Force missile test center. The agency produced the Redstone ballistic missile system and is developing the Jupiter intermediate range ballistic missile.

Karl Sendler, of the agency's missile firing laboratory, perfected "beat-beat" with the assistance of James R. White, a section chief in the same laboratory. Although relatively simple, the system has proved its dependability many times.

It utilizes continuous electronic signals flashed from the missile to ground receiving stations. Its range extended hundreds of miles and more.

The system is based on the Doppler effect. For example, when a train blowing its horn approaches an observer, the tone of the signal appears higher. When the train moves away the tone appears lower. The same effect can be observed if, instead of an audible tone, a radio frequency is radiated.

In the same manner the frequency of a radio source carried on board the missile will appear lower at a ground station as the rocket moves away, and higher when the missile approaches the station. The signal is then compared with a standard frequency and the result is the "beat," an audible tone.

Two receivers are symmetrically arranged to a predetermined flight line. As long as the missile travels along the line, the "beat" frequencies at each of the two receivers is exactly the same. But if the missile deviates to right or left, one "beat" increases, the other decreases.

Other electronic equipment carries the information to a strip chart where a pen traces the exact course. The flight safety officer, watching the ink tracing, knows exactly where the missile is at all times.

If a deviation indicates that the missile might escape from a safe course, it can be destroyed, immediately.

Urban League Meets in Detroit

'Racial Climate' Adds Significance to Parley, Officials Say

DETROIT (AP) — The National Urban League holds its annual conference here Tuesday through Thursday against the background of new racial readjustments in the nation.

League officials say the meeting is significant in view of the "present racial climate" in the South and the recent U.S. Supreme Court segregation decisions. About 1,200 delegates and guests are expected.

The league, now 47 years old, seeks to promote better understanding among racial groups.

It was organized in New York for the original purpose of aiding Negroes moving from southern farms to the industrial cities of the North.

Speakers and other participants at the Detroit meeting will include two governors, G. Mennen Williams of Michigan and Theodore R. McKeldin of Maryland, as well as leaders from other fields.

Among the latter will be a representative for Walter Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers Union, and John S. Coleman, president of Burroughs Corp., and immediate past president of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce.

Govs. Williams and McKeldin speak at a public meeting in the Ford Auditorium Tuesday night. Coleman is moderator of a panel discussion on U.S. manpower needs Wednesday. Reuther is presently in Europe.

The conference secretary, Guichard Parris of New York, mentioned the South's "racial climate" in saying this year's meeting has an "important significance."

Parris said "the situation calls for a sober review" of the responsibilities of non-profit, non-political service groups such as the Urban League.

Indirect Volunteers

MILWAUKEE (AP) — A women's circle at a local church decided to sponsor a worthwhile project. It was suggested they help a family with two sick children needing frequent blood transfusions. The eight women in the circle then volunteered to donate blood — their husbands'. The men have begun making their contributions.

Are Steamshovels Changing Our Weather?

The most unpredictable element in our lives is the weather — something man has been trying to predict for centuries. Now he is beginning to know more about it than ever before. Science sees some changes in the weather scene and may have some hints of the reasons why.

By FRANK CAREY
AP Science Reporter

WASHINGTON (AP) — Man may be helping, though in a minor way, to brew some of the earth's violent storms. The tools he is inadvertently using are bulldozers and steamshovels.

So says Dr. Helmut E. Langsberg, one of the weather bureau's top scientists.

A slight — and probably temporary — warming-up of the weather — Landsberg says, has been noted in moderate and northern latitudes since the turn of the century.

Conceivably, he adds, this has helped produce increased storminess over many parts of the globe with help from "man-made warming effects." At least in local areas, he says, these effects contribute in a small part to the warming of the atmosphere.

Landsberg listed sources of man-made heat as including:

1. The modernization of the planet, with ever-increasing construction of heat-absorbing paved roads and brick and concrete buildings.

2. The growth of industry with more and more heat-belching furnaces.

3. The great increase in the number of motor vehicles.

4. Even the bodily heat from an ever-increasing population.

He says some scientists contend that an increased amount of carbon dioxide in the air — from industrial and other sources — have produced a "greenhouse" effect around the planet.

But, he said in an interview, the main reason for the rise in temperature — between one and two degrees on the average compared to 50 years ago, and most of it occurring in the last three decades — is something meteorologic in charcter, though not yet defined.

SOLAR RADIATION THEORY

One theory he said, is that it's due to a temporary increase in the sun's radiation. "But there is no proof of this solar radiation theory. And, until we get a satellite running around the world to make long-term observations of the sun and its effects, we won't know whether the radiation of the sun has been increasing."

Whatever the total cause of the warming-up effect, he said, it may have contributed for example, to a possible increase in the number of tornadoes in recent years in the United States and, to a lesser degree to a known increase in hurricanes coming out of the tropic doldrums.

As to the possible duration of the warming up, Lansdberg said it is considered probably temporary because there have been at least "irregular" cycles of warming and cooling in the past. There is not yet sufficient data to hazard an estimate as to how long — or how short — the present trend might be.

As for the bulldozer and steamshovel concept, Landsberg says:

"This is not an official view of the weather bureau, but I personally have the feeling that we have changed the natural surface of the earth so much — replacing forested areas with lots of heat-absorbing asphalt and concrete — that it's conceivable this may have quite a sizable effect on the frequency of local storms, such as tornadoes.

"These man-made changes in the earth's ground cover could bring about a different system of heat exchange between the ground and the atmosphere. That is, when you strip the land, you accentuate the heat exchange.

"And, since tornadoes are undoubtedly due in part to a heat phenomenon — with a rising column of hot air apparently being one of the requirements — it's possible a man-altered heat exchange has played a part in bringing about an increased frequency of twisters in the United States in recent years.

Landsberg, like other weather bureau scientists, says that atomic bomb detonations — and radioactive materials from them —have so far had no influence on meteorological conditions.

"Just about every day of every year some kind of weather record is broken somewhere in the United States," says one weather bureau man.

"Abnormality is normality in weather," grins another.

Dr. Landsberg says there's no evidence that droughts have become worse in recent years.

"WAVE TRAIN" ANTICS

Jereme Namias, chief of the weather bureau's long-range forecast section, says antics of the "planetary wave train" — a river of air that meanders horizontally high above the planet — have been largely responsible for this year's particular variety and location of unusual weather.

The "planetary wave train," which begins at 10,000 feet and extends upwards at least 30,000 feet more, has as its central core the "jet stream" — a fast-stepping westerly wind that sometimes attains speeds of 300 miles an hour.

The wave train is marked by "troughs" and "ridges" — just like ocean waves — and the location of the wave train, as well as the depth of the "troughs" can vary from month to month, year to year.

Namias said it's conceivable that sun-spots — hurricanes on the sun — may play a part in producing vagaries in the planetary wave pattern, "but it certainly hasn't been proved."

4 Killed as Plane Hits in New Jersey

BERLIN, N. J. (AP)—Four persons were killed today when a single-wing Navion four-seater plane crashed on the Pennsylvaia-Reading Seashore Line railroad tracks.

A small fire followed the crash. State police said the plane was from a private field in Albion, Camden County, N. J., a few miles from the scene.

There was no immediate identification of the victims.

U.S. Airplane Pilot Convicted in Ethiopia

Van Fleet, who worked for the Ethiopian Air Line, was convicted Aug. 27 in the Ethiopian high court. He was fined $50 and ordered to pay $50 damages.

Van Fleet denied in court that he beat up the yard boy, Abebe Besha. He claimed another Ethiopian attacked his wife with an umbrella during a dispute about money June 4.

Besha claimed he was owed back wages. Van Fleet said he had advanced the yard boy money as a loan, then fired him for stealing.

Abebe called witnesses in support of his story that the pilot beat him up and tore up a summons served on him to appear in court to settle the money dispute.

Van Fleet said the summons was in Amharic and he could not read it.

The court told Van Fleet he could appeal the sentence but he did not do so before his departure Saturday.

Opera Attendance Up

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The St. Louis Municipal Opera showed a slight increase in total attendance this season after four years of declining figures. Unofficial attendance in the opera's 39th season was 629,500, compared with 627,888 for 1956.

The average output per U. S. farm worker in 1945 was 22 per cent over 1939.

Stewardess Turns Cold at Movie Kiss

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK (INS) — Miss Jo Ann Borseth, 23 and pleasantly unimpressionable, has kissed actor Gene Kelly "a million times already"—and she still is convinced that the life of a movie star is not for her.

"Mr. Kelly has been awfully nice," she says politely. "I mean he kidded around a lot, because he saw I was nervous, and finally he just made me see that it was all right to kiss him for this scene."

But love-making without love is unappealing to Miss Borseth. And she explains, simply, why she will make no more films.

"I didn't feel anything. I wouldn't want to be an actress and not feel anything about something as important as kissing a man."

The search for an honest man is an endless and frustrating pursuit, but any news reporter will tell you that the search for an honest movie starlet is a matter for fools, and no one has given it an earnest try since the days when Shirley Temple was six, feigning five.

This is why the former airlines stewardess from Minneapolis, whose dainty ash-blonde head has not been turned by her first and last movie role in "Marjorie Morningstar," is such a joy to behold.

She refutes the theories that all young ladies secretly long to be movie queens, and does it in such an open-faced manner that there's small doubt she is honest.

"I don't know why anybody would want to be in the movies," says Miss Borseth, smiling patiently at the incredulous folk around her. "You enjoy yourself more—you know you do—if you're let alone, to get married and love your family.

"I know that they like it—" she waved a hand toward Natalie Wood, Ed Wynn and Carolyn Jones, who were emoting before the cameras, "and I guess it's all a matter of personality.

"I'm one of those—well, I'm the type of person who would love to read books in school, but would dread getting up to give a book review. I'm sure most people are like that. So why should people think that other people like them want to be in the movies?

"I'd rather see a good actress than be one."

Miss Borseth—a "girl-next-door" type, only probably better looking than yours was—won her dubious opportunity to kiss Kelly in a scene (which will be described as "poignant" for sure) after being selected "The World's Ideal Airline Stewardess" last spring.

One of the prizes was a Warner Bros. screen test, but the brothers, who can spot a new brand of sex appeal when they see it, forewent the test and offered her the small but appetizing bit in "Morningstar."

She came to the set with her North Central airlines uniform and a cotton knit dress.

"I knew I wouldn't be here long, and I won't," she explains.

Fred Haggard Presents Views

(Editor's Notes From time to time, The Press proposes to publish guest editorials from well-known and responsible citizens living in this area.

This is Labor Day.

Hence, we feel that it is appropriate to have comments from a local labor leader. We requested Fred V. Haggard to write this column today. You will find his views herewith.)

By FRED V. HAGGARD
President of Oakland County CIO Council

It was PETER J. MCGUIRE, founder of the Carpenters Union and a member of the Central Labor Union of New York, who proposed and, with the cooperation of the Central Labor Union and all organized workers, who on September 5, 1882, started Labor Day, by a parade in the morning with bands and colorful banners.

HAGGARD

A mass meeting in the afternoon, followed by a picnic and summer night's festival in the evening, has now become a great national holiday, marking the end of summer vacations and the beginning of serious work of the fall and winter.

It brings back memories of the days when the rights of working people meant little more than long hours, low pay, and unsanitary working conditions. Illness, old age, and unemployment were constant threats without security. Over the years these conditions have been improving with old age pensions, unemployment insurance and workmen's compensation adding to the security of the working people.

The oldest existing American Labor Union—the International Typographical Union—was founded little more than a century ago, in 1852. There have been many bloody strikes since then in many industries. There have been many labor martyrs.

Within our own memories there have been brutal beatings and many attacks on us workers and our leaders, and we know that our rights as labor will exist only so long as we are united and demand our rights together.

There has been a new unity among the American workers with the healing after twenty years of a split between the AFL and CIO. Less than two years ago, due to farsighted leadership in both the AFL and CIO, the past quarrels were set aside, and a merged labor movement is shaping up and taking its rightful place in our communities.

Unfortunately, the American community is focusing much attention this year on the revelations of "certain practices" of some of our leaders which have distressed every right-thinking citizen.

The salient questions which we all certainly must ask ourselves are: How did this evil come about? What must be done to avert its possible recurrence? Assuredly, we will find our own administrative techniques for responding effectively and affirmatively to these questions. It is our challenge to reckon with the ending of corruption and dishonesty in our movement.

PETER MCGUIRE'S "Labor Day" now goes back 75 years, yet his dream of united strength of his fellow workingmen is in the making and as much alive today as it was then. For MCGUIRE, in telling how the idea of Labor Day had come to him, wrote:

"With hands and hearts together, with united funds and united interests, to stand for one another day after day, year in and year out, in good times and in bad, who dare say what can be accomplished? In the workshop and on the forum, at the ballot box and in every field of endeavor, they can right every wrong and eradicate every evil oppressive to working people."

The Man About Town

40 and 80 Years

Pontiac Merchant Has 2 Anniversaries Today

Labor Day: When we should show added respect for a segment of our population who did their share to make our country great —and not kill them on our highways.

This is his birthday and also another important anniversary in the life of

John F. Stewart,

who when exactly 40 years of age came to Pontiac and 40 years ago today, and in company with embarked in business. It is quite a coincidence that Sept. 2 marks exactly such important periods in his life.

Howard D. Glenn,

"If we don't have a good traffic record over this Labor Day week end," says

Sheriff Frank W. Irons,

"it will not be that our officers have not tried to protect our highways."

"We have cucumbers in our garden that look like long watermelons," writes of Auburn Heights. He says the largest weighs nearly five pounds.

The family dog and cat at the home of

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Dutcher

in Birmingham can agree on only one thing. They both like green corn so well that they eat it off the same well-buttered cob, at the same time.

The rattlesnakes are coming to town, as

killed one at her back door at 426 Upland Ave., just inside the north city limits. It was 27 inches long and had eight rattles. Another rattler was killed by near his home at Oxbow Lake. It was 18 inches long and had seven rattles.

The first telephone operator at the Oakland Plant soon after it was opened was the present

Mrs. Harriett O'Lea,

now of 871 North Perry St. The switchboard then had three phones. When she resigned to get married in 1914, it had over 600. Her husband, the late was Oakland's first traffic manager and assistant purchasing agent. Incidentally, Dan and the writer of this column attended the Holly school together. Neither graduated.

Happy and quite exceptional in these hectic days of finance is the case of a Pontiac area school district. When the bid of of Flint, for the general construction of a $500,000 addition to the Fenton high school was combined with the other low bids for the rest of the work, it was found that the total was considerably under the architect's estimate.

Blueprint for America's Greatness

David Lawrence Says:

Dems Warn Off Big Contributors

WASHINGTON — Although the Democrats may need a lot of money for expenses in the 1958 congressional and 1960 presidential elections, many of the big contributors are on notice now that they had better keep their money —for they may not be given any ambassadorships if a Democratic administration comes into power.

This presumably is to be the new rule—at least it is the inference which the pious Democrats on the Senate Foreign Relations Committee want to convey. They have acted recently, indeed, as if contributions from anyone who expected to get an ambassadorship would not be welcomed.

It's a sort of victory for the "career" men in the Department of State who have been carrying on a vendetta for sometime against the socalled "non-career" type of ambassador though it is strange their protests didn't seem to have affected the several Democratic administrations which held office from 1933 to 1953.

A little research into the records has just been conducted by the Republicans as a kind of self-defense measure. It reveals that a total of at least $600,000 was given to the Democratic campaign funds by 62 ambassadors and ministers and their families from 1932 to 1952. These appointees held in all 117 posts—an average of almost two apiece.

BIG NAMES

A Democrat—Joseph E. Davies—who was appointed ambassador to Moscow is listed along with his wife as having given at least $77,000 and also got an ambassadorship to Belgium and Luxembourg.

Another Democrat — James Cromwell—and his wife together gave $50,000 and the appointment came later as minister to Canada.

Another Democrat—Laurence A. Steinhardt—and his wife were steady contributors and gave in all about $42,000. The ambassadorships held included Sweden, Russia and Canada.

Another Democrat — Joseph P. Kennedy—and his family gave a minimum of $39,000 and the ambassadorship to Great Britain came later. Also they helped pay for a radio groadcast for FDR in 1940.

Another Democrat—Anthony J. Drexel Biddle Jr.—who with his wife gave $32,000 was appointed to nine ambassadorial and ministerial posts.

Then there was Averell Harriman who became ambassador to Russia and Great Britain. He is one of the richest men in the world. The contributions amounted to $22,600 for Democratic national campaigns alone.

The late Robert W. Bingham who was appointed ambassador to Great Britain, is listed as having contributed $20,000 to the Democrats.

Bert Fish, who held posts in Egypt, Saudi Arabia and Portugal over a 10-year period, contributed at least $17,600 to the Democrats.

William D. Pawley, ambassador to Peru and then Brazil, gave the Democrats $17,000.

Robert Butler of St. Paul, Minnesota, after contributing to the 1944 Democratic campaign was appointed ambassador to Australia and later became ambassador to Cuba. His total was about $15,000.

The records show, moreover, that about 12 big contributors to the Democrats in 1932 were given ambassadorial or ministerial posts by 1936 and that out of the 14 such contributors in the 1936 campaign, nine had been given diplomatic posts before and the remainder were given appointments within the next four years.

Six contributors to the 1940 Democratic campaign were serving in diplomatic posts already or were given them shortly after. Out of the 11 who contributed to the Democrats in 1944, five had contributed before and either were among those continued in ambassadorships or ministerial posts or were given such posts shortly thereafter.

Strangely enough though the Democrats lost in 1952 it was the year that produced the largest number of contributions to the Democratic party fund from ambassadors and ministers.

All this agitation has arisen because Max Gluck, ambassador to Ceylon, who contributed $26,500 to the Republican campaign fund, was given a rough ride by the Democrats on the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. He couldn't pronounce the name of the Ceylonese prime minister.

There is some talk now of questioning the right of any senators to become members of the Forgein Relations Committee unless they, too, can pass an examination in spelling and pronunciation.

One of the first items on the examination paper will be names like that of the new Turkish ambassador to the United States — Fuat Hayri Urguplu.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Creative Living Serves as Nature's Tranquilizer

Tranquilizers. What do you visualize? Softly rolling meadows, green pastures, wet moss, cool mountain lake waters lapping the shore? Why do American mothers crave tranquilizers — or need them?

Have they a hopeless yearning for the simplicity of the old days and all things natural?

DR. BRADY

Look at the asphalt of cities, the increasing speed, the noise and confusion of travel on streets and freeways in process of construction or repair with pneumatic drills, cement mixers, trailer trucks loaded with inflammables and belching foul smoke, the hot stench of oil and tar, the sirens, whistles, screeching of brakes, the utter and soul-deadening lack of tranquility in city streets.

Then, in the "sanctury" of the home, television and radio blare forth at many an unwilling eardrum, many a naked nervous system — usually mother's. Hot jazz beats and pounds from the hi-fi at top volume. Members of the family outscream the roar of traffic, clamor of the noise-boxes, airplanes overhead.

Horns honk, babies cry, dogs bark — and the sad, sweet note of the bird can be heard only in the wee hours before dawn, when mother lies wide-eyed, shaken by the 24-hour barrage.

MOM REBELS

Is the tension she feels perhaps a natural, human revolt against artificial living? She resorts to a sleeping-pill or a tranquilizer, for how can she make a home without proper rest?

Tranquilizers mother can use are to knead her own loaf of bread, build toys for her children, form new ideas all of her own about living. Fit together a tantalizing sports costume and wear it for playing games in the open air.

The inner satisfaction she gets from the act of creation itself will tranquilize her. Throw physic to the dogs and make a garden; that's good medicine!

The indifference or what-do-I-care one gets from a tranquilizer drug is of the same nature as the effect one gets from morphine, heroin or cocaine, only it is lesser in degree.

The physician may prescribe or administer a tranquilizer in some circumstances. The layman who monkeys with such drugs on his own ought to have his head examined!

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

'Control Unions, Not Stifle Them'

Big Labor should be under anti-trust laws, but it should not be stifled or put out of business. Corruption, mishandling of responsibility and prostitution of position should be a prison offense. Fines are not enough and will not stop others. At the same time, we must not choke unions off so that we go back to the dark days of 50 years ago.

Union elections should be watched. Often only a handful vote and they bow to the top men. There should be a big vote and careful counting. Also union funds should be safe guarded, as it doesn't seem as though they have been in the past. Stealing from a union is more wicked than stealing from a business as the union money comes from union dues that the workers pay.

Leaders in Government Laud Nation's Workers

WASHINGTON (AP)—The nation's workers enjoyed a Labor Day holiday today while their leaders in government and unions saluted their accomplishments.

President Eisenhower, sounding a note of deep appreciation, said, "It is fitting that we pause to pay tribute to the skill and strength of our working men and women. In their hands and minds is the power of our growth and the promise of continuing achievement."

Both Eisenhower and Secretary of Labor Mitchell, in formal statements yesterday, noted that employment is at the highest point in history.

Mitchell said: "Our free enterprise system, driven by the talents, energies and skills of our people, has produced the greatest and most widely shared prosperity in our history."

Sen. Ives (R-NY) referred to testimony before the Senate Rackets Committee, of which he is vice chairman, and cautioned that activities of shady characters in organized labor could bring on punitive legislation from Congress next year.

Ives said most labor leaders are honest men, but he added that "the activities of a relative handful of crooks, hoodlums and men of flexible morals who have attached themselves to the labor movement threaten to give all labor a bad name."

He suggested that labor union members take a more active interest in the affairs of their organizations.

AFL-CIO President George Meany talked of a different kind of congressional investigation —a full-scale probe of "the whole price-profit-wage relationship as it affects the cost of living."

Such a study, he said, could help bring about an effective and intelligent program to combat inflation.

He took issue with those who he said have tried to blame labor unions for price increases because of their demands for higher wages. In some cases, he said, production improvements offset higher wage rates while in others "employers have raised prices far beyond their increased labor costs."

Contending high wage rates are justified, he said that "before there can be mass production, there must be the power of mass consumption, made possible by high union wage standards and working conditions."

Philip M. Talbott, president of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, said in another weekend statement that "our heritage of recognizing the dignity of all kinds of labor has, in large part, made possible our almost classless society and bestowed upon us our multiple economic blessings."

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Advice May Prevent Breakdown

Clara avoided a needless stay in a sanitarium by reading just one column in this daily feature. And Director R. P. Swigart says each such salvaged patient means a savings of $10,000 in hospital bills, usually borne by you taxpayers. So scrapbook these true cases. They serve as vaccination against insanity, divorce and delinquency.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case V-379: Clara B., aged 39, is a high school teacher.

"Dr. Crane, I called our editor recently to thank him for running your column," she graciously began.

"But I didn't tell him my full reason. For I was heading for a nervous breakdown last year.

"My school principal was very understanding and agreed to give me a leave of absence. I was to go to a sanitarium for lengthy treatment.

"For I would cry even during class and was so unhappy that I felt I would die.

"And it was all because of my mistaken notion about the menopause, for I dreaded my 40th birthday.

"Then I read one of your columns and it brought me up with a shock to a realization that I was a slave to a false notion.

"So I snapped out of the doldrums and avoided that lengthy sanitarium treatment. I got my teaching job back again and have felt fine ever since."

$10,000 SAVED

One purpose of this clinical column is to release to all of you intelligent readers the proved facts for avoiding mental breakdowns, as well as divorce, plus delinquency among your children.

And that is a vital service your editor makes available to your vast reading area which is seldom properly understood.

Richard P. Swigart, executive director of the National Association of Mental Health, stated earlier this year that it costs each year to treat mental patients!

"Each mental patient who leaves (or avoids) the hospital," said Director Swigart, "represents a savings of upwards of $10,000 a year."

In the 1,000 letters per day that you readers send to my desk, I find literally hundreds of people like Clara who have avoided costly sanitarium treatment by use of the frank facts outlined in this educational column.

They have nipped nervous breakdowns and actual insanity in the bud. And that is a great boon to them, as well as their relatives.

It thus saves you taxpayers an average of $10,000 per year per salvaged patient!

This column is a form of vaccination against insanity and brooding and ill health and divorce and delinquency.

I don't say that to pat myself on the back but to serve as rebuttal for some of my jealous psychological colleagues hidden away in cloistered campus labs doing research on white rats.

For some of these "white rat" psychologists don't remotely dream of the problems of the consulting psychologists and clinical psychologists.

They have boldly charged that you readers cannot be helped by this column, arguing that it takes lengthy personal interviews to save you from social disaster.

That's malarky or plain unadulterated baloney! Your letters reveal tens of thousands of cases that have been saved, just as Clara has been.

TRUTH SETS YOU FREE

It is usually truth that you crave to set yourself free from complexes. And anybody intelligent enough to read this column daily certainly has enough gumption to use truth in solving his own dilemmas.

So scrapbook these columns. They are prescribed as collateral reading in psychiatry courses in medical colleges, as well as in psychology classes on the liberal arts campus. And high schools galore employ them.

Don't become such an intellectual snob that you think a newspaper cannot reveal essential scientific facts!

Just because we newspaper columnists use two-syllable words does not alter the helpful nature of the scientific data we reveal.

So encourage discussion groups in your PTA or women's clubs, picking these cases from my office practice as the focus for such human relations topics.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Bob Considine Says:

'Shocking' Painting Dons Respectable Robes

NEW YORK (INS)—"September Morn," the most controversial painting in the history of the country, donned the robes of respectability this past week. She was bought by the Metropolitan Museum of Art, the last word in our metropolitan culture.

She looks exceptionally chaste in a day and age of the Bikini swimsuit and the movie advertisement of thinly clad people wrestling on beaches or in boudoirs.

MODEL SHIVERED

September Morn was created by the French artist Paul Chabas just 45 years ago. The model posed, shivering, in water up to her shins, in Lake Annecy.

The painting was sold to a Russian nobleman and hidden during the Russian Revolution, came to light once again in 1935 in a private collection in Paris. William Coxe Wright of Philadelphia bought it and now has presented it to the Met, which values it at $30,000.

But long before that, it was one of the most famous pictures ever painted. And this was largely because of a phenomenal New York press agent named Harry Reichenbach, who died in 1931.

ROSE TO FAME

Reichenbach rose to fame with September Morn. Not long after it was first exhibited, a few cheap lithographs of the painting appeared in New York. One dealer on West 46th Street found himself stuck with 2,000 of them, which nobody was buying at 10 cents a copy.

Reichenbach learned of the man's plight, went to him and made a deal whereby he was to be paid $45 if he could unload the lot.

His first act was to have a much larger version of the picture struck off by a lithographer, and this he got the dealer to display in his window. Then, in the phony role of a righteous indignant resident of the city, he began to bombard local newspapers with letters protesting the display of the picture.

The main target of his letters, however, was Anthony Comstock, the imposingly righteous head of the Anti Vice Society. For a long time, Comstock wouldn't take the hook. But Reichenbach was patient, and he knew eventually he'd get a bite. He got it by invading Comstock's office and demanding that he accompany him to the store to look upon the profane exhibit. Children (paid 50 cents each by Reichenbach) were gawking at the painting! Come immediately!

Comstock did so, and the resultant explosion was heard 'round the world. Waving his gold-headed cane, he called for police and pulpit to denounce this menace to public morals.

The price of the prints immediately jumped to one dollar. The postoffice barred them from the mails. Frank Black and Bobby Heath wrote the best-selling "September Morn." No vaudeville act was complete without half a dozen references.

The dealers sold 7,000,000 prints.

A lot of political soothsayers have attempted to read meaning into the defeat last week in Wisconsin of Eisenhower Republican Walter Kohler, who was considered a shoo-in for Joe McCarthy's old seat in the Senate. Kohler was overwhelmed by Democrat William Proxmire, a man who up until then had a winning record comparable to that of the Kansas City Athletics.

The editorials generally took the view that Kohler lost because of such factors as unrest among farmers who don't believe they're getting a fair shake in Washington; resentment against the high cost of living under the Eisenhower administration, and intra-party divisions.

But at least one Democrat I talked to had a much simpler explanation. He is not what might be called a non-partisan in politics. His name is James Aloysius Farley. Jim said:

"It's just a part of the trend toward a sweeping Democratic victory at the polls this year and next—and beyond into 1960, when we'll elect a Democrat as President by an overwhelming vote."

Rochester Captures Legion District Title

Eighteenth District Junior American Legion baseball championship has been determined, and Rochester is the 1957 king. The Rochester post crew went through the 2nd half of the season unbeaten, with eight straight victories.

Championship was settled with the final game, in which Rochester defeated its strongest rival, Milford. Milford was runnerup with a 5-2 mark. Berkley finished 3rd with 5-3, Clawson 4th with 3-4 and Birmingham last, with 0-6.

Plans are under way for the league's annual player banquet Saturday at 7:30 p.m. at Clawson Legion Hall. Many sports celebrities will be present, co-chairman Herb Kelly said today. Efforts are being made to line up Paul (Dizzy) Trout, former Tiger, as toastmaster.

Stan Freberg Adds Science to Comedy

By DICK KLEINER

NEW YORK (NEA) — When it comes to being funny on records, Stan Freberg leads all the rest. His satires on hit songs — like his last one, "The Banana Boat Song" — are 45 rpm gems.

They should be, judging by the work that goes into them. Like many funny men, comedy to Freberg is a science. He just doesn't go into a recording studio, turn on the switch and, presto, out comes something like "St. George and the Dragonet" or "C'est Si Bon."

He first studies all music carefully, watching the hits come and go. He's looking for something that, first, is in the top five and, second, that lends itself to his peculiar treatment. He feels the top five is essential, otherwise there wouldn't be enough people who'd know what he was satirizing.

When he's singled out his prey, he spends hours and sometimes days in analyzing the song. What makes it tick? Why is it popular? What can he do to capitalize on its popularity, yet spoof it? All this is worked over carefully, then he rewrites, reassembles, tears down, rips away, erodes and otherwise alters the original. The result is, generally, hilarious.

Usually, the songs that he satirizes are ones that have "rubbed me the wrong way." He looks on his own disks as "counter-irritants."

Nowadays, Freberg is achieving success in another field — radio. His CBS-Radio program has become a Sunday night hit. Between it and his records he keeps busy.

Next stop, probably, will be television. "Eventually," he says, "I'll be driven to it."

But meanwhile, he's content with radio and records. He thinks his style is best expressed in sound, not sight. Or, as he puts it, "One new sound is worth a thousand old pictures."

SHORT PLAYING—Betty White, star of the TV show, "Date With the Angels," will record an album of songs that have something to do with angels, like "Got a Date With An Angel" and such. Accompanied, no doubt, by an all-harp band . . . Andre Kostelanetz predicts that, within three years, classical music programs will be big TV hits. "I'll be very disappointed if it doesn't happen," he says . . . Polly Bergen is now a partner in a music publishing firm. Her co-partner is her brother-in-law, Edward Fields, a rug manufacturer . . . Carmel Quinn, of the Godfrey group, is about set to launch a big pitch at record stardom. Via MGM records.

SAL MINEO STAN FREBERG

Sal Mineo's "Start Movin' " is a big hit, and he owes it all to a baby-sitter. Seems that Arnold Maxin, the boss at Epic Records, stepped out one evening last winter and left his children in the hands of a baby sitter named Mary Fitzgerald.

When the Maxins came home, Mary was watching Sal on a TV drama, "Trees."

"Mr. Maxin," she said with stars in her eyes, "that boy could sell millions of records for you."

Maxin found out that Mineo didn't sing, but asked him to come in and try. The try turned out to be "Start Movin'."

For her efforts, Mary Fitzgerald now gets an autographed copy of every Mineo record as it appears.

DICK'S PICKS: Guy Mitchell could have a big one in "Call Rosie On the Phone" (Columbia). Others: "Raintree County" (Nat "King" Cole, Capitol); "A Tisket A Tasket" (Ella Fitzgerald, Verve); "Por Favor" (Ames Brothers, RCA); "My First Broken Heart" (Joy Layne, Mercury); "That's How It Is" (Rosemary Clooney, Columbia); "Seven Days in Barcelona" (Lew Quadling, Coral;) "Wishing Well" (Jana Lund, Liberty); "How Very Wonderful" (Alan Dale, ABC - Paramount); "That Old Feeling" (The King Sisters, Capitol).

A new Belafonte album leads off some top-grade vocal collections. "Belafonte Sings of the Caribbean" (RCA) is great stuff, some rousing, some tender, but all pure Belafonte; the fine voice of tenor Giuseppe Di Stefano turns to the semi-classical with "Songs of Naples" (Angel) that has "O Sole Mio" and such; the expert Norman Luboff Choir, in "Songs of the Sea" (Columbia) has all the salty chanties and a gorgeous cover; Carmen McRae's "After Glow" (Decca) is one of the finest yet to come from a fine artist.

Two new operas for your opera shelf—RCA has a new "Rigoletto," and a good one done up in a beautiful package; Peters, Bjoerling and Merrill head the fine cast who do a thoroughly delightful job; also good is a new "La Boheme" from Angel, with Callas making a perfect Mimi; others are Di Stefano, Panerai and Moffo, making this one of the best Bohemes available.

Russia Hits Dulles on 'Hostile Attitude'

MOSCOW (AP)— The Soviet Union today joined the propaganda battle over the admission of American correspondents to Communist China with an attack on U.S. Secretary of State Dulles.

Pravda, the Soviet Communist party newspaper, accused the American secretary of speaking to Peiping "in the manner he is accustomed to use with Chiang Kai-shek."

"Dulles' reaction to anything with a Red color is well known," the party organ said, adding the whole world recognizes Dulles' "hostile and bitter attitude toward China."

German Editor Reports Rocket

Atom Power to Solve Fuel Problem; Would Make ICBM Obsolete

HAMBURG, Germany (AP)—The newspaper Die Welt says the United States is working on an atomic-powered rocket that would make the intercontinental ballistic missile claimed by Russia completely obsolete.

Military editor Adalbert Baerwolf wrote yesterday that "such a rocket can probably be built fairly soon."

A report of the U. S. Atomic Energy Commission hinted at such a project and "now it has been confirmed," Baerwolf said. He did not say how or from where confirmation was obtained.

Baerwolf reported:

The "Rocket Dyne Division" of North American Aviation Co. is building the atomic-powered rocket. Unhampered by fuel problems of ordinary rockets, it would "open completely new perspectives."

"It is completely possible the intercontinental rocket of the Russians will belong to the scrap heap in a very short time," Baerwolf wrote.

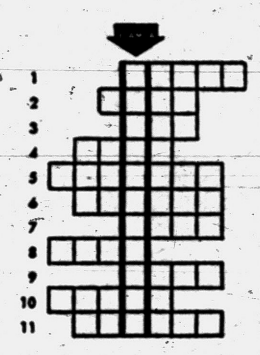

The article also said German-born Hans R. Friedrich is the chief scientist of the U. S. intercontinental missile project. Friedrich was identified as deputy chief engineer of Consolidated Vultee Aircraft Corp.

News Sweeps Across Metropolis Like Short Wave

Chicago High School Girl Butchered

By WILLIAM J. CONWAY

CHICAGO (AP)—The news swept across the city like a shock wave. It caused a faint, fleeting feeling of distress in many—probably thousands—of stomachs.

The butchered body retrieved from the waters of Lake Michigan had been identified. The victim was Judith Mae Andersen, a lively, wholesome 15-year-old high schooler.

She was the sixth Chicago youngster put to death in motiveless murder in 22 months — another name on the lengthening list of unsolved slayings of women and children.

The search fell into a familiar pattern. A quick check for solid, specific leads to follow. Then a general hunt for anything or anybody who might be helpful in solving the mystery.

That had been the format of investigations of the deaths of the two Grimes sisters and three schoolboys.

But, for at least two reasons, there was more hope for a solution of the Andersen case.

Charts pointed to Judy as the latest victim last Saturday night. The word went out swiftly via newspapers, radio and television. It caused a strange, sudden intermission in an evening of pleasure in thousands of homes.

A five-gallon oil drum containing Judy's head, hands and one arm had been pulled ashore in Montrose Harbor on Lake Michigan Saturday afternoon. Two days earlier a 55-gallon oil drum had been fished out of the same harbor on the north side. Crammed into it was a woman's torso. It was Judy's, but that was not established until her head was recovered.

Judy vanished the night of Aug. 16. She had watched TV at the house of a girl friend, Elena Abbatacola. Then, at 11 p.m., she left to walk to her own home a mile away on the West Side.

Little else, except the cause of death, has been learned. Pathologists found four bullets from a .32 caliber revolver in her head.

In the Andersen case police had material they could pick up in their hands and heft and trace—the bullets and the oil drums.

Investigators had virtually nothing to work with in the other recent child slayings — the three schoolboys and the Grimes girls.

The nude bodies of the Grimes boys—Robert Peterson, 14, John Schuessler, 13, and his brother, Anton, 11—were found Oct. 18, 1955 in Robinson's Woods outside the city limits of the northwest side.

They had disappeared the night of Oct. 16. They had been strangled.

sisters—Barbara, 15, and Patricia 13—were found last Jan. 22 beside a road southwest of the city.

They had dropped from sight Dec. 28. They had died of exposure.

In the unsolved files with a number of others is the case of Margaret Gallagher, 50, a beauty shop operator. She was relaxing on the Lake Front three quarters of a mile north of Montrose Harbor on a peaceful Sunday, July 22, 1956.

A couple scanning the lake with binoculars from their 15th floor apartment two blocks away saw a muscular, bare-chested man pounce on Miss Gallagher. He dragged her into a clump of bushes and beat her to death.

The horrified couple and a policeman hurried to the scene, but the killer had fled.

Chicago's police work on many slayings and close out the bulk of them.

Take last year, for example. The Chicago Crime Commission, a private organization financed by citizens to keep an eye on law enforcement, said 293 cases of murder and non-negligent manslaughter were reported. And 260 of them were reported cleared by arrests. That left 33 on the uncleared list at the year's end.

From 1919 through 1956, by the commission's count, there were 922 gang slayings in Cook County (Chicago). As closely as it can determine, the commission says only 17 persons were convicted in those cases.

Get Busy Now to Win $2,400 in Pot-O-Gold

With $2,400 in the pot and one wrong answer allowed for each entry, you'd better not wait too long before you begin trying to solve this week's Pot-O-Gold puzzle. You'll want plenty of time to figure out the right answers, and you certainly don't want your entry disqualified because of tardiness.

The new puzzle contains a series of squares which are alphabetically lettered and a corresponding list of sentences with two clue words. Each of the words is numbered. The object is to select the word which you think best fits the clue sentence. You then place the number of that word in the square which has the same letter as the clue sentence.

In other words, you will read the clue labeled A and decide which of the two words makes the most sense in the sentence. You then write the number of that word in the puzzle square marked A.

Do the same with all other squares. Read all the clues carefully and be sure the right numbers are in the right squares.

On Retiring From U. of M

Professor Faces 'Hardest Task'

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Prof. Louis I. Bredvold, after teaching English to University of Michigan students for 36 years, has set out on his most difficult task—"trying to pull the Detroit Tigers through to a 1958 pennant."

Such is Bredvold's goal as he starts retirement. It is a feat six managers including Jack Tighe have tried to perform without success since 1945.

But Bredvold believes retirement will give him the time to root the Bengals home in front next year.

"From third or fourth this year to first next year doesn't seem to be too much to ask," he said, confident the Tigers will throw off their current slump and make the first division.

However, that's next year. Presently Bredvold is awaiting the Michigan football season, hoping the Wolverines defeat the three other Big Ten schools with which he was once affiliated.

HOLDS SEVERAL DEGREES

He holds two degrees from Minnesota and a third from Illinois. He once was a visiting professor at Northwestern. He also was an English Fellow at the University of Chicago when it was in the Big Ten.

"I'm an educational product of the Big Ten," he said.

After coming to Michigan in 1921 as an English instructor, Bredvold worked his way up through the faculty until he was appointed chairman of the English department in 1936. Eleven years later he asked to be relieved of that post.

"I found the job too time consuming," he said. "It left me little time for research and I think research is an integral part of the teaching process. Without it a teacher becomes split in his activities."

Bredvold did considerable research during his teaching career. He has become renown for his study of John Dryden, the 17th century English satirist.

He wrote hundreds of articles on eminent writers such as Shakespeare, Samuel Johnson, John Milton, Walt Whitman and others.

Last spring while on his one year retirement furlough, he was awarded the highest honor the University bestows upon its faculty members—selection as Henry Russell Lecturer.

Now, perhaps, after years of achievement in education, nothing can bring Bredvold, a 69-year-old native of Minnesota, more joy than a pennant for his beloved Tigers.

Junior Editors Quiz on PENGUINS

MONDAY—

QUESTION: How can a penguin hatch eggs on the ice?

ANSWER: Unlike most birds, penguins cannot fly. They can walk very well, however, and swim like a flash. By swimming under water, they catch the fish on which they live.

Some species hatch and brood their young in the dead of the Antarctic winter. Resting the egg on their feet, they envelope it in a sort of pouch where their bodily heat keeps it warm.

When the young have been hatched they are kept together in "nurseries" and attended by all the adults. In a blizzard, the old birds crowd around the young to shield them, but even so many may die.

FOR YOU TO DO: Go to a zoo if you can and see a penguin. They look like little men in dress suits. Meantime color the picture so you will remember better how the penguins look. Are the Antarctic penguins enjoying summer now, or winter?

Designs in Plastic Tape Brighten Up Notebooks

Want to make your notebooks more exciting? The easiest way to do this is with strips of plastic tape.

These waterproof tapes come in several bright colors and are simple to cut into letters and other shapes.

If you're a music lover, you can make a keyboard and musical notes with black and white plastic tape. Or, if football is your great love, form the school team's mascot with the tape along with the school banner.

Don't forget to protect text books with an outside covering. A yard or so of inexpensive plastic should do for all your books and will last the year round. Use plastic tapes to secure the edges and for outside decorations.

A roll of cellophane tape in your school kit handles those emergency repair jobs on torn pages. It's also good for fastening notes to your friend's lockers.

Fatal auto accidents in the U.S. in an average year involve 25 per cent drivers of less than 25 years old.

East-West Coast Designers Present the Fall Look

Don Loper of California designed this coat dress in black and white silk tweed. It features high cardigan collar and long sleeves.

Mr. Mort, New York dress designer, uses subtle jersey in a figure hugging dress which has a mere hint of a collar. Full tapered sleeves and a slightly shirred waistline help create the picture of easy casual draping.

Graceful and easy . . . the fluid look of pleats is done by Larry Aldrich, New York dress designer. In citified glen plaid, the dress has a draped collar bound and tied with grosgrain ribbon, and a relaxed bodice neatly caught by a crushed leather belt.

Oleg Cassini does a chemise that's newsworthy. In bands of blue and green wool jersey, he creates an easy casual dress for afternoon wear. Hanging almost straight from the shoulders, and cinched in at the waist, this sophisticated "sack" can be worn unbelted by the more daring in the audience.

Subtle Formality Is Best

CHICAGO (INS) — Family rooms are so popular in modern home construction that living rooms can be more formal nowadays — in colors at least.

Or so says Lawrence Schnadig, head of a firm which manufactures two lines of upholstered furniture.

Schnadig set his design staff on research for color palettes as guides for women to use in furnishing their homes.

He recommends clear, cool colors like blues and greens for bedrooms because they are restful; bright, gay colors like yellow for the family room.

But when it comes to living rooms, Schnadig says, the decorating approach should be more subtle with only a touch of stimulating colors like red or orange.

He suggests beige, white and accents of strong red or black as one effective living room scheme. Another interesting scheme, he said in an interview, is turquoise contrasted with bitter green, pale yellow and-or white.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Britain's Queen Elizabeth II and Prince Philip will take in an American football game on their visit to the United States Oct. 16-21. They will see the Maryland-North Carolina game at College Park, Md., Oct. 19.

The visit to the Maryland campus was a surprise addition to the list of formal engagements for the royal couple, announced by White House press secretary James C. Hagerty and G. D'Arcy Edmondson, director general of British Information Services in the United States.

Otherwise the schedule includes the usual state events and previously announced visits to Williamsburg and Jamestown, Va. Maryland Gov. Theodord R. McKeldin will be host to the royal couple at the football game.

QUEEN'S WISH

Hagerty said the Queen had expressed a wish to see an American sports event. Asked if somebody would be on hand to explain American football—which differs greatly from the version played in England—Hagerty said he was sure this would be arranged.

"I would think the governor is a pretty good man to do that," he added.

The Queen and Prince Philip will come to the United States from Ottawa in a Royal Canadian Air Force plane, arriving at Patrick Henry Airport, Va., at 2 p.m., Oct. 16. They will be met by Wiley T. Buchanan Jr., State Department chief of protocol, and Gov. Thomas B. Stanley of Virginia.

Post Family Pictures on Bulletin Boards

Snapshot bulletin boards make good family or recreation room conversation pieces and at the same time give you a chance to share your snapshots with the family and friends who'll be interested in seeing what you've been shooting lately.

Good Nutrition Is Good Business

Meal-Skipping Can Sabotage a Gal's Career

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Business girls and the career women have many problems in beauty and health which the woman in the home does not have. For a few days now let us consider some of these and also first-aid measures to solve them.

In the first place, the business woman is likely to be short-changed in good nutrition. She is likely to rush off in the morning without a real breakfast.

Nutritionists emphasize more than ever the importance of breakfast. Without this you will begin to slump by mid-morning. Breakfast should even be a part of a reducing diet. You are much more apt to stick to your allowable calories if you eat breakfast.

Frozen orange juice takes practically no time to fix and can be kept in the ice box in a tightly sealed jar. You can cook an egg and prepare toast while the coffee perks. There is always ready-cooked cereal.

TAKE IT EASY

If you live alone do not rush through this meal. Listen to a morning broadcast or read the morning paper.

At noon, many professional women have only a sandwich and a cup of coffee at a drugstore or lunch stand, and this usually is unsatisfactory from the standpoint of relaxation and nutrition. The sandwiches usually are devitalized with a minimum of ingredients, and the situation is rushed.

You would do better to take your own lunch or to go to a "sit-down" restaurant and relax. If you take a sandwich, make it a grilled or broiled hamburger. This, plus a glass of milk (skim or buttermilk if you have to watch your weight) and a piece of fresh fruit will supply you with many of the essential food elements and is not high in calorie count.

If you live alone you must resist the temptation to allow the evening meal to deteriorate into a time for snacks. You require the variety of foods which three real meals give you. You must have sufficient proteins, vitamins, minerals and carbohydrates, as a part of your beauty routine as well as for the sake of health.

Last week I discussed some of the effects of weather or climate on health, personality and appearance.

I mentioned the fact that sudden changes in temperature are hard on health and sometimes on the disposition. Today I would like to call your attention to the fact that climate also has quite an effect on your skin.

It is a well known fact that New York City beauty experts usually can guess your home state if it is very dry and sunny by looking at your complexion, and English women always have been noted for their beautiful complexions. They no doubt owe the damp English climate a "thank you."

Our skin usually takes a beating from the hot summer sun. This year was probably no exception. Now, soon our outer coating will be subjected to sudden changes in temperature and blasts of cold wind.

During this in-between time we should give our complexions a pickup. Mild bleaches and more lubrication than usual are indicated.

Oily creams and hormone oils will be helpful. Leave these on for several hours if you do not wish to leave them on all night.

There are oils which disappear into the skin leaving only a slightly dewy appearance. Perhaps, just for this short period between days spent in the sun and the first fall zippy weather, you might leave your cream on all night long once in a while.

If you take a long, luxurious bath cleanse your face and neck and then apply an oily cream before getting into the tub. The heat helps the skin absorb the oils.

Your skin care should depend on the type skin you have and also on the climate in which your live. If you live in a damp, very moist climate a normal and even a dry skin will not require as much lubrication as either would in a dry clime.

There are safeguards against the sudden changes of temperature in the fall and against the winds and cold of winter. If you have a dry skin, use a makeup base which is especially designed for a dry skin.

There is also a milk emulsion which is a most effective weapon against the little lines which appear under the eyes, especially in dry weather or in a dry climate. This emulsion disappears into the skin but leaves it pliable and soft.

Tomorrow: "Business Women Need More Exercise in Lives."

Don't rush through breakfast and short-change yourself in good nutrition. Take your time—listen to a morning broadcast or read the morning paper.

Repeat Wedding Vows in Ceremony at Leslie

Marlene Mae Janter and David Lawton Rex were united in marriage at 2:30 Saturday in First Baptist Church of Leslie. The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Robert Worgul.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marlin Bruce Janter of Atlanta, Ga., formerly of West Iroquois road.

For her wedding the bride wore a gown of pure silk bombazine. It was fashioned in princess lines featuring a sweetheart neckline appliqued with re-embroidered Alencon lace and seed pearls with sloping shoulder lines forming cap sleeves. The full length skirt, ending in a chapel sweep train, was attached at the waistline with two small bows.

Her fingertip veil of imported illusion was held in place by a bandeau of Alencon lace. The bride carried a cascade arrangement of white roses placed on a white Bible.

Serving at honor attendant was Carol Horton of Eaton, Ind. Two cousins of the bride, Mrs. Basil Cole of Okemos and Shirley Heydrick of Lansing, acted as the attendants. They were gowner in waltz-length gowns of blue nylon organza, with fitted bodices, shirred short sleeves and full skirts. They wore headpieces of pink flowers on blue nylon organza bandeau.

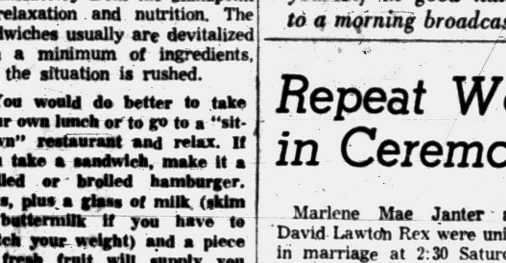

Anthony W. Vacek of Leslie served the bridegroom as best man. Seating the guests were Thomas Janer of Atlanta, Ga., a brother of the bride and Douglas Nordman of Ann Arbor.

For the reception, Mrs. Janter wore a waltz-length beige lace over taffeta dress with beige and white accessories and an orchid corsage. The bridegroom's mother chose a smoke gray lace over pink satin gown with pink and navy accessories and a corsage of lavender orchids.

Before leaving on a trip the new Mrs. Rex changed to a gray flannel suit with black accessories and a corsage of white roses and shattered carnations. The couple will live in Monroe.

Mrs. Rex was graduated from Eastern Michigan College where she was affiliated with Delta Zeta Sorority, and the bridegroom was graduated from Cleary College.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery

Finds Healing Substance That Does Both—Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain—without surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H.® Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H suppositories or Preparation H ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug stores. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

Cow Seizes Crown for Butterfat Production

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — Bessie, a brown Swiss cow, has a proclivity for productivity. She is, in fact, the new world record-holder for butterfat production in a single year.

From April, 1956, through April, 1957, she manufactured the equivalent of 14,496 quarts of milk and 1,930 pounds of butter. In dairymen's terms that's 31,166.6 pounds of milk and 1,544 pounds of butterfat.

Her record stands for all breeds, reports the dairy department of Rutgers University.

Bessie displaced an Illinois Holstein in the championship stall. The previous record was 1,523 pounds of butterfat.

Chief Just Can't Beat Board of Supervisors

HONOLULU (AP)—The Laie Community Association requested that a volunteer fire department be formed. Fire Chief Harold C. Plate recommended to the Board of Supervisors that the request be turned over to the "Committee on Rural Fire-fighting."

Turned out there wasn't any such committee. The supervisors named Chief Pate a "committee of one" and sent the request back to him.

Controversy Rages Over 'Ultimate' Weapon

Is ICBM Unstoppable?

Russia's announcement that it has successfully test fired an Intercontinental Ballistic Missile (ICBM) reopens the hot military controversy over the concept of this ICBM as an "ultimate" weapon.

The term itself implies that after this, there can be no better weapons. Thus, there could be no defense against the ICBM.

ONLY SECONDS

Proponents of the "ultimate weapon" theory point out that such a missile will be traveling at close to 16,000 miles per hour when it re-enters the earth's atmosphere. At that speed it will be only seconds before it strikes the earth, not enough time, they say, to find it, track it and shoot it down.

Maj. Gen. G. I. Pokrovsky, leading Soviet scientist, pointed out last week that a missile of the ICBM variety traveling 16,000 miles per hour could be detected 187 miles from earth and hit within 50 seconds, leaving virtually no time for defensive measures.

"This time is insufficient even for sounding the usual air raid alarm," he pointed out.

The problem is roughly that of shooting a bullet to stop a bullet, the "ultimate" theorists contend.

On the other hand, many military men are not willing to concede that any weapon is beyond the range of defense.

They point out that this same "ultimate weapon" a tag has been applied to the bow and arrow, crossbow, cannon and airplane. Each in its turn was considered beyond the concept of defense.

But each was successfully defended against, the defensive critics assert.

LITTLE EVIDENCE

While the defensive camp's theory is solid, it has little actual evidence of a defense for the ICBM.

The Air Force is currently producing its Bomarc anti-missile but it is designed to combat the so-called "cruise" missiles which travel at speeds and altitudes no greater than those of modern jet bombers.

Gen. Earle Partridge, commander of the Continental Air Defense Command, says the United States has no defense against an intercontinental ballistics missile such as Russia claims to have tested.

He said the U.S. is working on an ICBM defense, calling the program "a study project."

Defensive theorists argue that it will be possible "soon" to defend against ICBM's with radar screens the size of a football field and missiles that speed even faster than the ICBM, but for a much shorter time.

NUCLEAR EFFECT

A third angle to the controversy is the effective range of atom and hydrogen warheads. "Ultimate weapon" theorists say that even if a method was found of hitting a hurtling ICBM, the high altitude explosion of the nuclear warhead would wreck havoc on the ground.

Some military experts believe the defense against the ICBM will lie in the area of accuracy if that a missile fired 5,000 miles could miss the targer by one per cent and be 50 miles from the target.

But Pokrovsky says it can be expected that the missiles will be able to hit within 6-12 miles of the target, close enough for nuclear warheads to achieve maximum destruction.

History has proven that the "ultimate" weapons always developed an Achilles heel and a successful defense was found.

The ICBM may well be the end of that theory, and perhaps the end of war—or the world.

MUDDY AFTERNOON RIDE — Any GI or veteran can tell you that mud is an intricate part of military life, and existing with it is a real problem. At the General Motors proving ground at Milford, a special section is set aside for military tank and truck testing and a prime part of that testing is this giant mud bath to which the vehicles are exposed.

4 Persons Kidnap, Beat Michigan Man

ARCADIA, Calif. (UP) — A former Muskegon, Mich., man was reported in serious condition today with injuries he suffered when he was beaten, robbed and kidnapped by two men and two women.

Police found Paul A. Beckquist, 53, a camera store proprietor, tied to a bed in a locked motel room Saturday. They said he was nearly unconscious from severe blows on the head.

Beckquist was reported slightly improved yesterday following surgery but was still unable to face police questioning.

The four persons held on suspicion of kidnaping and robbing Beckquist were arrested when police became suspicious of their actions as they drove through Arcadia. A search of one of the men turned up the key that led to the motel where Beckquist was found.

Officers said the suspects refused to answer any questions.

They said a major problem was the identity of one of the couples. Upon their arrest they identified themselves as Mr. and Mrs. Gerald E. Walicki of Hickory, Tenn., but the Walickis were found visiting relatives in Jackson, Mich.

Egypt Sequesters Bank

CAIRO (UP) — The newspaper Al Ahram reported today the Egyptian Commercial Bank was put under sequestration when the government discovered part of its shares were French-owned. British and French firms in Egypt were sequestered after the Suez invasion last fall.

'Times Square Becomes Cathedral'

Billy Graham Winds Up Crusade

NEW YORK (UP)—Billy Graham transformed the environs of Times Square into a massive open-air church last night at the windup of his 3½-month New York crusade.

A huge throng stood hushed and reverent as loud-speakers carried the evangelist's plea to "seek Christ." The speakers' platform was south of 42nd Street. An ocean of faces looked up at Graham from all around. The crowd stood shoulder to shoulder from building to building.

Gospel songs rang out at the "Crossroads of the World"—usually echoing with juke box jive.

Lights from the Broadway theaters and big advertising signs cast a bright glow over the assemblage. A brilliant moon rose as Graham spoke.

Business went on as usual in nearby bars, restaurants and theaters.

As Graham concluded his sermon, he asked for a show of hands by those who would dedicate their lives to Christ. Thousands of hands— impossible to count — waved in the gathering dusk.

Graham said: "Here in Times Square is the dope addict, the alcoholic, the harlot — along with the finest citizens of the world. It is primarily a place of amusement, money making, drinking, eating and making merry.

"Tonight for a few moments it is being turned into a great cathedral as a symbol of spiritual revival that is now in progress in the United States. Let us tell the world tonight that we Americans believe in God."

Graham estimated during his talk that 200,000 persons were in the crowd.

Chief Inspector Thomas A. Nielson of the Police Department estimated the crowd at 75,000. "I counted them," he said.

Later, Graham said in a statement: "Before I went on the rostrum I was told that the attendance was over 200,000. Certainly anyone present knows that it was far more than the police estimate (of 75,000).

"I doubt that anyone will ever know exactly how many were present, but I am certain that it was the largest crowd it has been my privilege to address."

Traffic was halted in the area during the meeting. The greater part of the crowd was on Broadway from 41st to 37th Streets. There also were groups on side streets and on 6th and 7th avenues, and north of 42nd Street to 47th Street.

The 38-year-old Graham — who was 18 pounds slimmer than when he began his New York crusade May 15 — spoke with his usual vigor at the Times Square windup.

After the meeting, Graham left by train for Charlotte, N. C. en route to his home at Montreat, N. C., to join his family.

Graham said he will return to New York Sept. 24 to address a breakfast meeting of New York City clergymen. He will be here again to end a week of evangelism Oct. 27 at the Polo Grounds. He also plans a few more meetings in October in the vicinity of New York.

Graham ended his crusade meetings at Madison Square Garden Saturday night. A capacity crowd of 19,200 was in the Garden. Prior to the meeting he addressed an overflow crowd of more than 7,000 outside the arena.

On Saturday night there were 767 "decisions for Christ."

At the final Garden meeting Graham urged his listeners to counter card-carrying Communists with Bible-carrying Christians.

Police Bullets Hit 2 Passersby

Patrolman Nabs Thief Only After Shots Nick 5th Avenue Strollers

NEW YORK (UP)— Stray bullets from a patrolman's gun, aimed at a suspected thief, struck two 5th Avenue strollers last night. Neither was seriously hurt.

Seconds later, the off-duty policeman and a foot patrolman captured the fugitive, who identified himself as Kenneth Brown, a Negro student, of Washington, D.C.

He was not booked by police immediately.

Police gave this account:

Brown snatched the purse of Agnes Porter, a nurse, as she was being escorted home. The purse contained less than $20.

Wounded in the seven-block chase that followed were William Miller, 35, Babylon, N.Y., and Stanley Baldinger, also 35, Brooklyn.

Miss Porter's screams, as the purse was stolen, attracted the attention of a cab driver, Marvin Foshko. He gave chase, honking his horn in the pursuit.

The horn alerted Patrolman John Cikut, who was driving to work. He stopped his car and continued the chase on foot.

He fired one warning shot. The suspect hurled the purse at him and dashed north. Three more shots were fired.

Patrolman Louis Papa joined the chase at 35th Street and helped capture Brown a block away.

Brown was quoted as saying he came here to reconcile with his wife and that he needed money for his return trip to Washington.

New Industry Moving In

Business Is Booming in Waterford

By REBA HEINTZELMAN

Industry and small business is not moving out of Waterford Township. In fact, they are moving in, according to records in the township building department.

During the last two years, more than one hundred industries have started operation in the area, with two important factors governing the situation.

GOOD CLIMATE — Merchants and businessmen are finding the financial climate in Waterford Township much to their liking. Many firms, like this design company, have located in the township because of this favorable situation.

LAND CHEAPER

The cost of land is cheaper and Waterford Township is a central location between Detroit and Flint.

This is the opinion of several new businessmen who have located in the township recently.

The Briney Manufacturing company has constructed a new plant on Seba Rd., near M59, where precision boring tools are made.

They have contracts to supply parts for General Motors and the Ford Motor company and wherever precision boring is involved, this tool is used, according to vice president James Briney.

He said that his company settled in Waterford Township because there is less traffic hazard here and there is more property for less money available.

TAXES 'FAIR'

Referring to taxes, Briney said, "As an industry, Waterford Township has been quite fair in our assessed valuation, considering the school improvements and growth pattern of the township."

J. W. Kuklinski and his partner-son, Robert, tore out the insides of their bus-repairing shop and have built a new bowling business.

The 85'x136' building is located on M59 near Elizabeth Lake road. It will have 14 bowling alleys, a snack bar and an elaborate pro-room.

"We don't know how taxes are going to affect us when we're finished building," son, Robert Kuklinski said, "but we have enough faith in Waterford Township to figure that taxes are not going to be out of reach."

Originally located in Farmington, Division Printing Inc., at 1179 Sylvertis Rd., found that Waterford Township was the "most desirable location" for distribution of their products.

The company caters to industrial printing, including contracts with the General Motors corporation. Raw material is converted into fine paper, then custom printing is transmitted to the stationery.

WON'T MOVE

President of the company, James H. Youngblood said, "We have no idea of moving from Waterford Township. We found that it is the best industrial property available at the lowest price."

A corporation of eight Pontiac engineers have opened a business at 5392 Highland road. They design tools, dies, jigs, fixtures and special machinery, and are known as the Consolidated Design Co.

Thomas C. Rigdon, president, pointed out that not only is the company's location ideal for big corporation activity, but transportation by air to various cities is available within a one-mile radius.

Few companies have the type of unique equipment used by the eight men.

UNIQUE WORK

Design work is done on six vertical boards, eight feet high and 48 feet long. The drafting machine is suspended from a mono-rail at the top of the boards, which are supported from the floor.

Among the many other new industries located here are the Seaman Mfg. Co., at 2579 Dixie Highway, Superior Instrument Co. on 1525 Airport road, and the Futuramic Conveyor corporation at 2800 Alliance is another new mill company at the airport.

The Industrial Conveyor corporation is another new industry operating in the vicinity, along with the Ambassador Insulator Company.

HAPPY RESIDENT — This printing firm decided Waterford Township was a "desirable" location for business and industry and moved there from Farmington.

Mt. Rainier Snowslide Is Fatal to Pennsylvanian

LONGMIRE, Mt. Rainier National Park, Wash. (UP)—The body of William Haupert, 20, of Bethlehem, Pa., will be brought down towering Mt. Rainier today.

Haupert died late yesterday of injuries received in a fall in a crevasse near the summit of the ice-topped, 14,410-foot mountain.

He was one of a party of 12 climbing to the summit by way of Ingraham Glacier. The party was going on a regular trail at the 13,000-foot level when the snow gave way without warning beneath Haupert and his guide, Gary Rose, assistant chief summit guide.

Rose was not injured in the early morning fall, but Haupert was badly hurt. It was believed his back was broken. He was almost completely buried in the snow, about 10 feet below the lower edge of the crevasse and 25 feet below the upper ledge.

Half an hour after the accident Haupert was brought out of the crevasse, Rose led the other members of the party back to the 10,000-foot level, where they had camped Saturday night. Dr. J.H. Lehamnn of Seattle, who was in the same party, stayed with Haupert and administered first aid.

Rose returned to the scene while one of the other guides, Dee Molenaar of Seattle, radioed news of the accident to park headquarters at Longmire.

Haupert died some nine hours after the cave-in. A rescue party of 10 men brought his body down.

The party was the last official climbing party of the season.

BOWLING ALLEY—Because Waterford Township is a good business environment, J. W. Kuklinski is turning his repair shop into a 14-lane bowling alley, slated to be done soon.

New York Teamster Locals Ask Cleanup

NEW YORK (UP)— Six of the New York City locals of the Teamsters Union have issued a call for a "clean house" campaign within the union.

The appeal was made yesterday in connection with an announcement by the locals of their support of John Hoh for vice president of the New York Teamsters Joint Council.

The council represents locals containing 125,000 members of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters in the New York metropolitan area.

The vice presidency was left vacant by the death last Tuesday of Leonard Geirger, a close associate of John J. O'Rourke, council president.

Hoh is secretary of the Brewery Workers Joint Board, representing the six locals whose members are engaged in local brewing and beer distribution trades.

Arrest 18 on Charge of Gambling in Home

Pontiac police raided a home at 12 Thorpe St., Sunday night and arrested 18 men for alleged gambling.

Henry F. Duvall, 33, was arrested for operating an illegal gambling place, while the 17 others, 16 from Pontiac and one from Clarkston, were held for loitering in a gambling house.

The 18 will be arraigned in municipal court tomorrow morning.

Police Investigate Attack of Man on Daughter, 13

Pontiac police are holding Levi Sepulvado, 39, of 634 E. Beverly St., for investigation of feloneous assault upon complaint of his 13-year-old daughter.

The daughter told police her father beat her last night with a blackjack and a belt. She is in Pontiac General Hospital with a possible skull fracture and multiple cuts and bruises. Her condition is reported satisfactory today.

Knowland Says: No Passport for Red Newsmen

WASHINGTON (UP)—Sen. Knowland (R-Calif) says special arrangements might be possible to admit some Red Chinese newsmen to this country if American correspondents are allowed to enter Communist China.

Knowland, a bitter foe of the Communist Chinese regime, said he sees "no particular objection" to letting some Red Chinese newsmen come here if it can be done without passports. Recognition of passports, he said, might involve a form of recognition of the Red regime.

He suggested that some kind of temporary news certificate might be issued instead.

Knowland made the suggestion in a filmed television interview with Rep. Keating (R-NY). The interview, made before Knowland returned to California, was carried yesterday by New York state stations.

Governor Emcees at Romeo

Crowns Peach Queen

ROMEO—Traditional pomp and ceremony marked last night's coronation of Romeo Peach Queen Carol Hall by Gov. G. Mennen Williams.

The program was staged in Memorial Stadium here before an overflow crowd of some 2,000 persons.

A mammoth basket of peaches, fashioned of aluminum foil, provided the effective backdrop for the presentation which also starred some 30 youngsters.

The governor was featured in a dual role this year. He acted as master of ceremonies, plus performing the official act of crowning the peach queen for the ninth straight year.

An hour earlier the state's chief executive participated in the dedication of Romeo's new Community Youth and Civic Center. Macomb County Justice Francis A. Castellucci was master of ceremonies.

A number of county and state dignitaries addressed the assembled crowd and congratulated workers and backers on their accomplishments.

The Center, located across from Memorial Stadium, is due for completion in 30 to 60 days.

The Governor presented an engraved silver trowel to chief benefactor, Walter F. Sheetz, who laid the corner stone. Building supervisor Royal A. Holt received a scale model of the building.

The three-day festival program will close at 9:30 tonight, with a spectacular fireworks display at the Lions Community Field.

Highlights of today's program were the children's parade in the morning and a gigantic floral parade in the afternoon.

MR. AND MRS. RAY D. BAKER

Green Lake Couple to Celebrate

Ray Bakers Wed 50 Years

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — Mr. and Mrs. Ray D. Baker, 3011 Warner Dr., Green Lake, celebrate their Golden Wedding anniversary on Wednesday.

Over 200 invitations have been sent to friends and relatives to attend an open house Sunday, Sept. 8, in honor of this special occasion.

It was Wednesday, Sept. 4, 1907, when Cora Stamp and Ray D. Baker were married at the bride's home in Jasper (Mich.).

The bridegroom had graduated from the engineering college of University of Michigan in June, 1907. The couple soon afterwards made their home in Detroit where the Ray D. Baker Construction Co. originated in 1913.

Mr. Baker, active in civic affairs, is a member of the Board of Directors of the Clinton Valley Boy Scouts and of the National Council. He has received the Silver Beaver citation award for his work in Scouting.

They built and moved into their present home on Green Lake, with their three children, Louis W., Elizabeth L. and Barbara L., in 1928. Their daughter, now Mrs. Elizabeth Rutledge, resides at Westacres. The Bakers have six grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

September 'Birthday Time' for Clarkston Family

Parents Plan 4 Parties for Youngsters

By REBA HEINTZELMAN

For the next two weeks there will be nothing grey about the George Gray family of Clarkston.

All four of their children were born during the first two weeks of September, and the big house at 6013 Middle Lake Rd., will echo with the birthday parties that are being planned.

In spite of the national holiday observation, there will be no labor today for Sheryl, who is just 13 years old.

Being a fastidious young female, her own desire has been for "clothes and more clothes," which has almost been fulfilled. Her dad threw in a camera for variety.

Day after tomorrow (Sept. 5), big George will be 15. He thinks birthday parties are "pretty silly" and his only interest at the present time is coin collecting. He has more than 2,500 rare coins in his collection which he started three years ago.

George weighs 190 pounds, and as he enters high school for the first time, will try out for football. "Guard, probably," he said.

On the 12th of the month, livewire Ronny will be three years old. His sharp wit and lovable antics keep the whole family in an uproar most of the time, according to Mrs. Gray.

Five-year-old Shelley will have her party on the 16th. Mrs. Gray said that this youngster is having a hard time keeping out of mischief now, because she will begin school this week for the first time.

"This is a real exciting experience for every child, but Shelley can't seem to settle down in her anticipation for opening day," Mrs. Gray added.

The entire family is a closely-knit group and they do everything together. Father and mother are active workers in the "21-Club," which sponsors weekly dances for children in the 6th, 7th and 8th grades in the Clarkston school system.

Mrs. Gray has become an expert in birthday parties. Throughout the years, she and her husband have boarded fourteen children at various times, from the Michigan Children's Aid Society and every child's birthday was celebrated at the Gray home.

Her father is former Senator George Higgins, of Ferndale.

Marcia Wainwright, Norman Pike Marry

MARLETTE — Marcia Lourila Wainwright and Norman Pike were united in marriage on Aug. 17, in a double ring ceremony at Royal Oak Missionary Church. Officiating ministers were the Rev. J. B. Sparks and the Rev. Robert D. Ditmer.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Wainwright of Clawson, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Pike, Decker.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of imported Chantilly lace and tulle, styled with a scoop neckline. Seven tiers of tulle formed a wide front panel, and the lace skirt back extended into a long train. A crown of satin with pearl and rhinestone detail secured her fingertip veil of pure silk. She carried a bouquet white roses.

The bride's sister, Beverly Jeannette Ditmer, Houghton Lake, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Darlene Wainwright, sister of the bride, and Marilyn and Vonda Pike, sisters of the bridegroom.

Ring bearer was Michael Ray Klien, and flower girl was Joy Hilborn. Winston Pike served his brother as best man, and ushers were Richard Blackwell, Livonia; Ronald Snyder, West Jefferson, Ohio, and Walter Rayl, of Decker.

A reception was held in the church parlors following the ceremony. The young couple left afterwards for a honeymoon in Northern Michigan.

McNamara Sees New Legislation

Congress Must Step In if Labor Is Not Vigilant in Internal Affairs

DETROIT (AP) — Sen. Patrick McNamara (D-Mich), a member of the Senate rackets investigating committee, said today that new labor legislation — some of it "restrictive and puntive" — may result from the committee's probe of labor unions.

"Congress can, and must step into many areas where help is not otherwise available," McNamara said in a speech prepared for a Labor Day gathering in downtown Detroit.

"But in the internal affairs of the labor movement," he added, "eternal vigilance and interest on the part of the members, and dedication to duty and trust on the part of all its leaders, can effectively shortstop restrictive and punitive legislation now under consideration."

"I have no doubt that some legislation will be passed as a result of the Senate committee's investigation," McNamara said. "It may be that some new legislation is needed and that labor might even find those laws desirable," he added.

McNamara also criticized the rackets committee investigation.

"The announced purpose of the investigation was to shed light on any improper activities in the labor or management field with a goal of constructive legislation to cure any such evils," he said. "I don't think you need me to inform you that the 'management' end of this picture has been pretty well ignored by the committee up until now."

McNamara said management collusion or involvement in wrongdoing brought out in the hearings has been minimized or buried altogether.

Property Owners Over the Barrel

Los Angeles Oil Boom Causes Cheers and Fears

LOS ANGELES (INS)—Teeming, sprawling Los Angeles, the tinseled tourist mecca that grew into an industrial metropolis, is in the grip of an oil boom today.

It had been building up for months, with both major and independent oil companies quietly but in fierce competition going about the city, signing oil leases with property owners.

Then the city council blew the lid off two days ago and turned it into a full-blown boom when it gave its approval to drilling at the Rancho Municipal Golf course and the Hillcrest Country Club.

Official sources declared today that now oil drilling districts all over residential Los Angeles are a certainty.

SEE PROSPECT

Property owners who see the prospect of steady royalties are happy over the turn of events.

But a lot of others are unhappy. They see the prospect of ruined property values.

Councilwoman Rosalind Wyman, who fought opening up the two country clubs to drilling, lamented that Los Angeles "will make Oklahoma City look like a miniature."

Editorially, the Los Angeles Examiner declared that now no square foot of Los Angeles is safe "from general and wanton exploitation by oil drillers."

The newspaper called upon Mayor Poulson and the city council to keep the city from being turned into a big oil field.

Apparently pools of oil underlie almost the entire city, from the harbor to the outskirts of San Fernando, an airline distance of almost 40 miles.

It is probable that if the boom actually comes up with the merchandise—oil—three movie studios in the heart of Hollywood—Paramount, Columbia and RKO—will become oil fields.

Union Oil Company has obtained exclusive drilling rights from the picture concerns and is planning to use them as the base for slant drilling into surrounding property it has leased.

The 20th Century-Fox Studio on the Los Angeles west side has been an oil field for some time. It has 11 wells producing a total of 3000 barrels of oil a day and additional wells are going to be slant-drilled under adjacent homes and stores.

MADE FOR EACH OTHER — Opposites didn't attract here, if the freckle display by these two newlyweds means anything. Mrs. O'Keefe just finished a role in the movie "Peyton Place" and is under contract to 20th Century-Fox. Her husband is a student at the University of California.

A reception followed in the church parlors before the newly weds left on a trip to Upper Michigan. They will make their home in Flint.

IMLAY CITY — The Volunteer Fire Department here, concluding classes in Firemanship Training, gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Oren Dungey for a steak dinner.

CHIPPER CLIPPER — Still traveling at a pretty good clip at the age of 84, David Chapman cuts the hair of his son Arlon in his shop at Independence, Mo. Chapman's been cutting his son's hair for the past 45 years, ever since Arlon was five weeks old. A barber since 1908, Chapman says his health is as good today as it was 20 years ago. He attributes his longevity to the fact that he hasn't "eaten himself to death," and says he's "always only eaten two meals a day."

Sophia Loren Featured in Classic of Bull Rings

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — To those of us who remembered the days of the really great silent pictures, "Blood and Sand" means only Rudolph Valentino and his magnificent performance in Vincente Blasco-Ibanez's classic of the bull rings of Spain. Rita Hayworth starred in a re-make, but it was just a weak "ole" of the original.

Now new excitement breaks out with word that "Blood and Sand" will be Sophia Loren's first at 20th Century-Fox and, of course, the statuesque Loren will play the role Nita Naldi made immortal with Rudy. Buddy Adler has assigned Henry Ephron as producer and Ephron's wife, Phoebe, is to work on the script.

Once again Sophia gets a film with a European locale, for most of the shooting will be done in Madrid.

When he was asked when "The Wandering Jew" would be ready, Nunnally Johnson replied that after all, the idea had been kicking around for the past 2000 years, so he didn't think a few more weeks' delay would spoil it.

Actually, Nunnally tells me he expects to have it finished in a month. He started on the project at 20th Century-Fox five years ago and dropped it for other pictures.

Wishing to prove I remembered my schooling, I said, "That's by Eugene Sue, isn't it?"

"Not our version. Ours is from a play by E. Temple Thurston, 'The Wandering Jew' was also written by Alexander Dumas and Lew Wallace," he said.

Nunnally also tells me that Tyrone Power's father played this role for years on the stage, and Ty is greatly interested in following in his father's footsteps.

Pat Boone's 22-year-old brother, Nick Boone, has just cut his first record for Dot and Randy Wood and his associates are so sure it will be a big hit they asked Nick to select another name so as not to trade on Pat's boom, as the first Boone. Nick settled for Nick Todd.

Randy tells me he is so sold on Nick that he's not only signed him as a singer for Dot but has put him under personal management. The record, by the way, is "Play Thing" on one side and "Honey Song" on the other.

Steal Church Safe

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — Thieves stole a heavy safe containing about $2,000 in cash and checks from Grace Presbyterian Church.

Mrs. Liberty Wasson, director of religious education, stopped at the church office about 10 p. m. and discovered the safe was missing.

Hugh Herring, criminal investigator for the Police Department, said there were no signs of forcible entry. There were no evening services at the church. Officials said the money in the safe included Sunday's offerings and some other church funds.

Defending champion Northville of the Wayne-Oakland League and Millington of the South Central Conference should be well set in the "beef" department this fall. Northville will have six foot, eight inch, 235-pound Jeff. Goodrich at center and at least two others over 200 in its lineup. Millington has six linemen weighing from 205 to 235.

BLOCKED KICK — Key play in the second quarter of the game which saw the 49ers beat the Cleveland Browns, 21-17 in San Francisco yesterday was this blocked field goal attempt by 49er tackle Bob St. Clair (center). The Frisco team was behind at the time. Lou Groza is doing the kicking and Tom O'Connell holding, while Paul Carr (57) and Charlie Powell (87) of the 49ers move in from the sides.

Wertz Spoils Bunning Shutout

Homer in 6th Doesn't Help as Tigers Win

Detroit Gets Pitching, Hitting in Victory to Take Series 'Rubber'

DETROIT (AP)—One of the biggest problems the Detroit Tigers havehad this season is getting good pitching and timely hitting together in the same game.

But they did it at Cleveland yesterday and came away with a 6-1 victory over the Indians in the rubber game of a three-game series.

Jim Bunning, Tigers' winningest pitcher, notched his 16th victory of the season with a masterful three-hitter. He walked only two.

Vic Wertz spoiled the 26-year-old Tiger righthander's bid for a shutout with a home run in the sixth inning. Only other hits Bunning allowed were singles by Chico Carrasquel and Jim Hegan.

Al Kaline and Dave Philley supplied the power-hitting that Bunning needed to coast home out in front.

Kaline hit a two-run homer in the seventh inning and Philley socked a three-run homer in the eighth.

With the Tigers limping through most of the season in a hitting slump, Bunning and other Detroit pitchers have found themselves sometimes hurling good games but losing because of poor support at the plate.

Tigers scored first in the second inning on Kaline's single and Frank Bolling's double.

Wertz tied it at 1-1 in the sixth with his homer, but Detroit raced back in front in the next inning as Kaline blasted his 18th homer of the season ofter Bill Tuttle's single.

Philley widened the Detroit lead in the eighth with his second homer of the season after shortstop Chico Carrasquel fumbled Bunning's grounder and Harvey Kuenn singled.

The Tigers opened a home stand today with a double header against the Chicago White Sox. Duke Maas was scheduled to start for Detroit in the first game and Frankk Lary in the second.

Scheduled as their opponents were Billy Pierce and Dick Donovan.

Yankees Get Maglie

NEW YORK (AP)—Yankee Stadium, which boasts of pennant streamers and a cocktail lounge, had a barber in pin stripes today.

Sal Maglie, 40, veteran National League pitcher who dabbles in pennant insurance, set up shop there yesterday after the New York team sent $25,000 and two unidentified minor league players to the Brooklyn Dodgers for his right arm.

Sal hurled the New York Giants to pennants in 1951 and 1954, flopped with the Cleveland Indians early in 1955, and then returned to the National League to pitch the Dodgers to the World Series against the Yankees last year.

He's expected to do the same for the Yanks, specifically to protect a five-and-half game New even if he is able to insure the pennant for the Yanks, he won't be able to play in the World Series.

TITLE INSURANCE — The Yankees, already boasting a comfortable lead, added some title insurance yesterday with the purchase of veteran hurler Sal Maglie from Brooklyn. The "Barber" will not be eligible for the World Series.

A player must be with the pennant-winning club on Aug. 31 to be eligible. Buzzy Bavasi, Dodger vice president, freely admitted that was the reason the Dodgers held up the deal reported by The Associate d Press to be

"I wanted to make sure old Sal wouldn't come back to haunt us in October," said Bavasi, "or to haunt Milwaukee for that matter," he added.

But Yankee Manager Casey Stengel wasn't worrying about the Braves yesterday when he said:

"Our biggest need right now is for a relief pitcher who can hold off the opposition until the last two or three innings when I can bring in Bob Grim."

The Chicago White Sox, the only team within in striking distance of the Yanks, also had been reportedly dickering for Maglie.

Maglie joined the no-hit set last year against the Philadelphia Phils during Brooklyn's stretch drive to the crown. He won 13 and lost five for the Dodgers. He was 6-6 this year, but had a 2.94 earned run average. His over-all major league record is 114 and 55.

Sal told Stengel, "It's nice to be here. When do I work? My arm is okay, and I'm ready to go."

Ham Richardson and Giammalva Bow Out of National Meet

FOREST HILLS, N. Y. (INS)—Uncle Sam took a dim view of his Davis Cup hopes today as the fourth day of the national tennis championships began without Ham Richardson and Sammy Giammalva.

Richardson, top-ranking U. S. amateur from Westfield, N. J., became the first major upset victim of the ten-day classic at Forest Hills yesterday when he was beaten by Denmark's Kurt Nielsen, 3-6, 4-6, 13-11, 7-5, 6-3.

Minutes later, seventh-ranking Davis Cupper Giammalva was sent back to Houston by a virtual unknown, John Cranston of San Marino, Calif., 3-6, 6-3, 7-5, 6-4.

With the second-round ouster of the sixth-seeded Richardson, six seeded players were left to slug it out in the third round. One other, third-seeded Sven Davidson of Sweden, was leading Bill Quillian of Seattle, 4-6, 7-5, 6-4, in the second round yesterday when time was called because of darkness.

While a pulled groin muscle was contributing to Richardson's loss to Denmark's top-ranking player, top-seeded Ashley Cooper of Australia, Dick Savitt (2) of South Orange, N. J., Vic Seixas (4) of Philadelphia, Neale Fraser (5) of Australia, Budge Patty (7) of Los Angeles and Paris and Herb Flam (8) of Beverly Hills all came through the second round unscathed.

Parsons Is Winner of State Fair '100'

DETROIT (AP) — Los Angeles' Johnny Parsons whipped around the oval at an average speed of 91.69 m.p.h. yesterday to win the 100-mile auto race and $1,327.60 in prize money at the Michigan State Fair.

Shorty Templeman of Seattle, defending national champion, was second. He picked up a side honor when he set a new all-time record for all types of cars at the fairgrounds. He rocketed over the one-mile lap in 37.32 seconds to shatter the previous record of 38.59 seconds set by Duke Dinsmore in 1949.

U. S. Gains 15th Victory in Walker Cup Matches

United States amateur golf team has chalked up another triumph over its British foes in Walker Cup play.

The Americans' 8 to 3 victory at Minneapolis Saturday was the 15th time they have beaten the British in 16 meetings.

Starring for the United States squad was Billy Joe Patton, 28-year-old long shotmaker from Morganton, N.C., who rallied from a five-hole deficit to whip the British captain, Reid Jack, one-up in 36 holes.

The American chances of winning were somewhat uncertain when Patton staged his comeback. The United States golfers had come out of the morning round even in the singles matches and had a lead of only one point in the foursomes.

Another American, Bill Campbell of Huntington, W.Va., also had to rally to beat England's Joe Carr, 3 and 2.

Other United States victories were racked up by Bill Hyndman, Dr. Frank Taylor, Mason Rudolph and Rex Baxter Jr.

Guy Wolstenholme of Great Britain defeated Hillman Robbins of Memphis, Tenn., 2 and 1, and Alan Bussell of the British whipped Joe Campbell, 2 and 1.

Braves 20, Yankees 18

Here's Labor Day Magic Numbers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The magic numbers were 20 for Milwaukee and 18 for New York reached the traditional Labor Day doubleheader mark with fat first today as the Braves and Yankees place leads.

The Braves, who haven't had a real good September since coming to Milwaukee in 1953, can practically sew up the National League flag by playing .500 ball the rest of the way. Despite their 6-0 defeat by Cincinnati yesterday, the Braves still boasted a 6½ game margin over St. Louis and a seven-game bulge over Brooklyn.

Should Milwaukee win 13 of its remaining 26 games, the Cardinals would have to win 20 of their remaining 25 to pull ahead. That's .800 ball. Brooklyn would have to win 20 of its 24.

The Yankees, always a good September club, can probably clinch it with a .500 mark the rest of the way. A 12-12 split in their remaining games would force the Chicago White Sox to win 19 of their final 25 games to win the championship. Yesterday's 3-2 victory over Washington kept the Yankees' lead at 5½ games over the White Sox, who shut out Kansas City 5-0.

The Cardinals nipped the Chicago Cubs 3-2 in 10 innings on a single by Don Blasingame, a long fly by Joe Cunningham and Wally Moon's run-scoring single. The New York Giants dropped Brooklyn into third place with a 7-5 victory in their farewell to Ebbets Field. Pittsburgh held Philadelphia to a split in their doubleheader, winning the second game 6-3 after the Phillies, behind Robin Roberts, won the first game 11-3.

Baltimore moved past the Indians into fifth place, edging out the Boston Red Sox 2-1.

Brooks Lawrence blanked the Braves on five hits, winning his 13th game. The Redlegs, who had lost nine straight to Milwaukee and hadn't beaten the Braves since July 3, battered loser Gene Conley and two relief pitchers for a dozen hits. Bob Thurman paced the winners with a double and home run, driving in three runs. It was the Reds' third victory over Milwaukee in 19 games.

Lindy McDaniel, who pitched the ninth for the Cardinals, was the winner. Turk Lown, who was knocked out in the 10th, was the loser.

Bob Turley fanned 10 and yielded seven hits, winning his 11th game as the Yankees salvaged the finale of their three-game series with Washington. A single by Jerry Coleman, Turley's sacrifice and Andy Carey's single produced the winning run in the ninth.

Seattle Dominates Silver Cup

Detroit's Best 4th Place

DETROIT (AP) — Seattle had convincing new evidence in the record books today to support its claim to being the powerboat capital of the world.

Even Detroiters, who long disputed that claim, will find it difficult to argue against the 1-2-3 sweep made by West Coast boats in the 12th annual Silver Cup race.

Best showing by a Detroit boat was fourth place as hosts of records fell in the 45-mile grind over the rain-swept Detroit river Saturday.

Winner in the record average speed of 105.168 m.p.h. was Seattle's Jack Regas in Hawaii Kai. And he showed he was a true champion long before the race was decided.

Regas was trailing Detroit's Fred Alter in Miss U.S. I during the crucial second heat. Suddenly, Alter was hurled from his cockpit into the water while rocketing out of turn at around 100 m.p.h.

Regas, aware that any delay might cost him the race, nevertheless cut his engine and dived into the water after the floundering Alter. Both men were picked up unhurt by a patrol boat.

Race officials ordered the heat rerun and Regas won with ease. Miss U.S. did not compete after the mishap. The Detroit boat was well on its way to a new three-mile lap mark when Alter and Miss U.S. parted company.

Regas and Hawaii Kai continually thrilled spectators who lined the banks of the river.

The Kai's average speed for the race eclipsed the old mark of 93.120 m.p.h. set by Guy Lombardo's Tempo VII two years ago. Regas also broke the Silver Cup lap mark. On the second lap of the final heat he averaged 113.648 to beat the 100.887 mark set by Thompson and Such Crust III in 1953.

All six heat winners smashed the previous heat mark of just over 95 m.p.h.

Race Pool Pays $84,259

AGUA CALIENTE, Mexico (AP) — The 5-10 pool paid a record $84,259.80 to one $2 bettor at the Caliente Horse race track yesterday. The $84,259.80 was paid to A. Thomas King, 57, a chiropractor of Los Angeles, for picking all six winning horses in the fifth through 10th races. The previous high was $68,717.60, paid last Sunday to three women from Fresno, Calif. on a single ticket.

Dodgers Near Million

BROOKLYN (AP) — Although talk about the proposed transfer to Los Angeles supposedly has hurt the gate, the Brooklyn Dodgers appear certain to reach the million mark in attendance for the 13th straight season. With six home dates remaining, the Brooks' attendance is 971,842. The figure is some 138,000 behind last year's total at the same stage.

Lovell Wins Crown

Birmingham Country Club has a new golf champion. He is Ray Lovell, who hit 77 Sunday, to go with previous rounds of 77-78, for a winning medal total of 230 strokes. He was seven strokes ahead of the shared runnerup spot, with John Crosby and Gail Stringer finishing with 237s.

Goldsmith Co-Favorite in Southern 500 Race

DARLINGTON, S. C. (AP)—Paul Goldsmith of St. Clair Shores, Mich., and Curtis Turner of Roanoke, Va., were the favorites today to win the Southern 500 at the Darlington International Raceway.

Goldsmith turned in the fastest time for the trials yesterday when he toured the four-llap qualifying course in 110.291 M.P.H. Turner is the defending champion.

Youngest Net Titlist

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Karen Hantze, 14, San Diego, Calif., youngster, won the U.S. Grass Courts Tennis Championship yesterday. Miss Hantze became the youngest player to win this title when she turned back Gwyneth Thomas, Shaker Heights, Ohio, 6-3, 8-10, 6-2.

Ward Captures Speedway Race

Nelson Ward, veteran Battle Creek driver, won the 100-lap feature race Sunday afternoon in the 5th annual state championship for modified hardtops at Pontiac Speedway.

Ward's winning time was 30:24.19. He was followed across the finish line by Pontiac's Joe Doyle and Bill Whitney of Hastings, in that order.

George Cooper of Detroit took the 20-lap semifinal, with Don Hidey coming home 2nd and Irving Baumgarter 3rd. Ron Gamble won the pursuit and also posted the top qualifying time of 16:49 in a Joy Fair-owned car.

Whitney captured the four-car dash. Heat winners were Ron Lancto, Ward and Cooper. A total of 32 cars and drivers took part in the program.

Midgets were scheduled to run today at the M-59 track in the final racing show of the 1957 season. An eight-event card was on tap, climaxed by a 30-lap feature.

U.S. Fly, Bait Champion

Hardesty Wins 7th Title

Pontiac's nationally known fly and bait-caster, Ben Hardesty, has added his 7th United States title to an already imposing list of championships. Ben walked off with the national titles at the big event at Barnerton O. that closed last week after a week-long run.

Ben out-performed a field of some 315 of the country's best at the sport of casting both dry and wet flies and small lures. He won in both distance and accuracy, and with the ⅛ and ¼ ounce lures.

Along with the American casting team, Hardesty will leave New York on Friday, Sept. 13, for Kiel, Germany, for the International Casting Federation's big championships. Casting Club of Kiel is the host for the event that will include representatives from 19 countries, Ben reports. The ICF title course will include 10 events, four fly casting, three spin casting and three bait casting tests. Both accuracy and sistance will figure in the tests.

Hardesty, representative of a national fishing rod and bait manufacturer, has been a resident of Pontiac for the last three years. He has appeared in many exhibitions at sports shows here and elsewhere about the country.

TOO LARGE A MOUTH—This largemouth bass recently mistook a fly-fisherman's fly for the real thing in a southern Michigan pond. Here he displays his three pounds of fury for Conservation Department photographer Robert Harrington. The angler later released the plucky bass.

Jewelers Eliminated, 11-1

It was a short stay for Shaw's Jewelers this year in the Michigan Amateur Baseball Association tournament at Battle Creek.

Pontiac's Class A champions dropped a 3-0 decision to Kalamazoo Friday in their opening game, then absorbed an 11-1 drubbing from Grand Rapids Saturday at Bailey Park to quickly bow out of the double elimination tourney.

Grand Rapids assaulted four pitchers for 10 hits, including a bases-loaded home run by Max Regel, and wrapped up the verdict with six runs in the 1st innings.

Ted Reaver was the starter and loser for Shaw's. Jerry Taylor and Steve Kebler also saw mound duty in the 1st stanza with Kebler sticking around until the 5th when Jim Wagner took over.

Grand Rapids added another run in the 3rd, then scored four more times in the 7th on Regel's grand-slam homer. Regel led the winners with three safeties.

Meanwhile, Jack Radamaker was mowing down the Jewelers on only three hits. Shaw's tallied its lone run off the big right-hander in the 4th when Gene Cox singled and romped home on a double by Dave (Boots) Krings.

The Jewelers finished their 1957 season with a 14-8 record.

Shifts to Coast Boost Mileage

Nearly Doubles NL Trips

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Harry Simmons, schedule maker for both the major leagues, estimates the National League clubs will have to travel 90 per cent more miles in the 1958 season because of transfer of the New York Giants to San Francisco.

Simmons explained his calculations in a story in the Sporting News.

The baseball weekly in another story quoted a travel agent as estimating the league's travel costs will go up $300,000 because of the transfer, based on a figure of $3.50 per team-mile.

In travel mileage terms, it will Brooklyn Dodgers whether they move to Los Angeles or stay in Brooklyn. The club's mileage will jump from 13,000 to 26,000.

Simmons said under schedules being considered, mileage for Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and the Giants will be more than doubled. Cincinnati, Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Louis will have to travel about 80 per cent farther, each going from a range of 13,000 to 15,000 to between 23,000 and 24,000.

Rocky's Trainer Says Robinson in Great Shape

GREENWOOD LAKE, N. Y. (INS)—Charley Goldman, trainer of former heavyweight champ Rocky Marciano, says middleweight king Sugar Ray Robinson is "in good enough condition to defend his title right now."

Goldman watched Robinson work out yesterday and expressed surprise at the power and speed of Robinson's punching, particularly when he dropped sparring partner Lee Williams with a right hand.

"He knocked him out without even trying," said Goldman.

Same Script in Lions' 31-14 Victory

By BRUNO L. KEARNS

It was another victorious weekend, the third in a row for the Detroit Lions, but coach George Wilson decided that the best celebration would be an early morning workout on Labor Day. The drills took place at 10:00 a.m. today.

The story Saturday night in Birmingham, Ala., followed the pattern of the past two games with quarterback Bobby Layne and Tobin Rote guiding the Lions to a 31-14 victory at Legion Field before 17,000 fans.

Layne started in the alternating system of quarterbacks and found his target for 10 of 18 passes and 113 yards including a 24 yard touchdown aerial to Jerry Reichow with 3:56 of first period remaining.

The gridder who made Central Michigan famous, Jim Podoley, a rookie with the Redskins then startled the Lions by tearing around the left side 38 yards with some swivel hipped dancing to make it 10-6. Sam Baker added the point.

Podoley, who is hailed by Redskin coach Joe Kuharich as one of the best newcomers in the NFL, was the game's leading ground gainer with 54 yards in eight carries. This was more than twice as much as the entire Lions' running attack which produced a meager 26 net yards.

"We didn't figure our running game to be too effective at this point," said Wilson, "first of all because we did not have John Henry Johnson or Tom Tracy in the lineup, and also because we haven't really used too many running plays to date."

Gene Gedman, who started at fullback, netted 28 yards, but the Skins' defense put a minus tag on several running attempts.

Rote attempted nine aerials and completed three, two of which went for TD's. In the third period on a beautiful fake he passed eight yards with Hopalong Cassady scoring, and a few minutes later he hit hometown hero Dave Middleton on a 55-yard play for the other score, and the Lions led 24-7. Layne made all conversions.

The final score came when Yale Lary intercepted LeBaron's pass and raced 30 yards with 1:20 remaining in the game.

"We looked no better than we were in the other two games," said Wilson, who planned on using this game to make several cuts on the squad by tomorrow.

One player who is sure to stay right down to the wire is 149-poujd Marv Brown, the speedster from East Texas State. Brown raced 13 yards on one of his three carries and impressed Wilson with his speed.

The game was played in penetrating 89-degrees, under the sponsorship of the Elks. The crowd was 8,000 short of what was expected.

Next Sunday afternoon the Lions face their ex-coach Buddy Parker now coach of the Pittsburgh Steelers. The game will be played in Buffalo's Civic Auditorium.

West Teams Dominating NFL Exhibition Contests

The power in the National Football League lies in the western division this year if the results of the first half of the exhibition season can be taken as a criterion.

Only San Francisco's 49ers, Green Bay's Packers and Detroit's Lions have unblemished 3-0 records through 16 of the 34 scheduled pre-season games. All are members of the Western division.

The champion New York Giants top the eastern division with a 2-1 mark against league opposition. It would be 3-1 if the Giants' victory against the College All-Stars were included. Pittsburgh, Washington, Chicago Cardinals and Philadelphia, all of the eastern division, have not won a game.

The 49ers chalked up their third straight Sunday with a 21-17 victory over the Cleveland Browns (1-2) when veterans Y. A. Tittle and Hugh McElhenney clicked on a 54-yard scoring pass with one minute and 10 seconds remaining. A crowd of 32,840 at San Francisco saw the Browns go into the final period leading 17-7. Tittle then engineered an 80-yard scoring drive to reduce the margin to three points. McElhenny also stepped off 54 yards to set up the touchdown which sent the teams off the field at halftime tied 7-7.

The Rams made their record 2-1 for the exhibition season as they walloped the Cardinals 63-21 before 21,000 at Portland, Ore. Los Angeles stars among the new talent included Gene Mitcham, an end from Arizona State, and Jon Arnett, first-year end from Southern California. Half back Jim Wilson, who never played college ball, turned in several long runs, scored one touchdown and passed for two more.

The only game on tap today sends the Steelers against the Eagles at Philadelphia.

Griff's Out of Tourney

Kewaunee of Adrian and Detroit's Gale Electric will clash in the finals of the state MRA Class B baseball tournament Tuesday at Butzel Field. Gale defeated Griff's Grill of Pontiac, 5-2, and Kewaunee walloped the Dearborn Brandons, 10-3, in Sunday's semifinals.

BIG LITTLE MAN — Only 149 pounds, but Marv Brown, a rookie from East Texas State, is still in strong contention for a spot on the Detroit Lions' roster. Brown was impressive in Detroit's 31-14 victory over the Redskins in Birmingham, Ala., Saturday night.

Signal Drill at Michigan

Wolverines Show Case of Fumbleitis Sunday in 2-Hour Workout

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Clad in shorts and T-shirts, Michigan's Wolverines yesterday trotted through their first signal drill of the season.

Maybe it was the heat, but the Wolverines suffered from an acute case of fumbleitis.

"Come on you guys, this isn't spring practice," rumbled coach Bennie Oosterbaan. "We're getting ready to play for the championship."

Despite the Sunday morning heat, Oosterbaan sent his squad through a strenuous two-hour workout. He emphasized the standard Michigan single wing. Wolverines will work on their split-T later.

"We can't scrimmage until they start handling the ball better," Oosterbaan said. "I hope we can do it by Wednesday if our timing is better."

Michigan was scheduled to start its two-a-day practices today, probably going into contact work for the first time.

Flint Top Contender in Baseball Finals

FLINT (AP) — Memphis meets Lorain, Ohio, and Flint takes on Cleveland today with the winners meeting in the evening to determine the winner of the National Amateur Federation Baseball tournament.

All of the teams except Cleveland, which has a 1-1 record, have won two games and lost one.

Cleveland drew a bye yesterday as the other clubs battled it out to remain in contention.

Lorain eliminated Detroit 4-1 to keep in the running and Memphis downed previously undefeated Flint 3-1.

75,000 to Witness Southern '500' Race

DARLINGTON, S.C. (AP)—A Labor Day crowd of 75,000 packed Darlington Speedway today for the eighth running of the Southern 500-mile stock car race.

The weather forecast was for fair and hot with a chance of showers.

Fifty-two drivers, including three former winners, were in the starting field, all eager for a slice of the $53,000 purse and the $15,000 first place money.

Established as favorites were the Ford duo of Paul Goldsmith of St. Clair Shores, Mich., and Curtis Turner of Roanoke, Va., last year's winner.

Unknown Leads Insurance Open

Crowley Has 2-Stroke Edge Entering Today's Final Round

WETHERSFIELD, Conn. (AP) — An unknown holds a two-stroke lead over a field of top pros as the final round of the $22,000 Insurance City Open begins today.

Bob Crowley of Weston, Mass., can emerge from obscurity if he can continue the red hot putting of his first three rounds.

Blond, chunky Crowley, 30, yesterday one-putted 10 of the first 13 greens, five for birdies. It gave him his second straight 67 for a 54-hole total of 200, 13 under par.

Crowley, former New England college champion, was in a three-way tie for the lead after the opening round but moved ahead by one stroke after Saturday's second round.

His most persistent challenger has been Gardner Dickinson, Panama City, Fla., one of the first round leaders. Dickinson has had three steady rounds of 66, 68 and 68 and is locked in second place at 202 with Arnold Palmer of Latrobe, Pa.

Palmer, who won the tournament last year, fired a 67 to go with earlier rounds of 67 and 68.

Ft. Wayne Still in Non-Pro Meet

WICHITA (AP)—Fort Wayne, Ind., 1956 champion, has a chance to win the 1957 National Non-Pro Tournament but it will be an uphill fight.

Fort Wayne edged Grand Rapids, Mich., 4-3 last night to reach the finals against Sinton, Tex.

Sinton has a 6-0 tourney record while the Indians have been beaten once in the double elimination affair. A Sinton victory tonight would give the Texans the title. If Fort Wayne wins, the final game will be Tuesday night.

Set Up Money System for Baby Sitting Group

KALAMAZOO (AP) — A group of mothers in suburban Milwood have solved the babysitting problem by setting up an informal "corporation" to pool their own time.

The corporation issues paper money in two denominations. One calls for a half hour's service and the other for a full hour. Each mother starts out with the same amount of "money."

When a mother needs a babysitter, she calls on any available member of Mother, Inc., and pays her in the money of the corporation. If she runs short, she stays home long enough to "balance" her accounts. If she accumulates a surplus, she speeds up her demands on fellow members.

2 Die Saturday in Plane Crash

Walled Lake Man's Aircraft Plunges Into Kensington Park

A plane crash Saturday afternoon at Kensington Park near New Hudson which took the lives of two persons, may have been caused by a broken propeller, according to park police.

Killed were Wheaton F. Candler, 30, of 3180 Edgewood Park Dr., Walled Lake, and his companion, Susan J. Porter, 26, of 825 W. Chicago Blvd., Detroit.

The plane, a Beechcraft Bonanza, was owned by Candler.

Park police said he may have had a broken prop since the plane was losing altitude and swerving uncertainly even though the engine was racing.

Witnesses said the plane came down near Rickory Ridge Road in the northwest section of the park. It evidently bounced off the top of a hill, flipped, and crashed in a valley about 100 feet north of the road.

Candler, president of Candler Wallace Inc., a roofing firm in Detroit, was en route to Grayling where the two were to meet Miss Porter's parents.

The crash occurred in dense fog, with a visibility of only 300 feet.

No Welcome Greets 250-Pound Alligator

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Not even Southern hospitality demands that one be nice to a snapping 250-pound alligator who comes calling at your house.

A. W. Brister and his neighbors were downright unpleasant when they found an eight-foot alligator in Brister's back yard.

A neighbor, W. B. Joseph, spotted the creature in the middle of a bayou in back of the Brister home. He told Brister and the latter ran for his shotgun and planted a load of buckshot in the 'gator's head.

The alligator sank to the bottom of the bayou, but Brister and his neighbors pulled the still scrappy creature out with grappling hooks. Flailing it with axes and clubs failed to dent its inch-thick hide, so they roped it with a wire and strung it up to a tree, where it died.

Brister said he plans to tan the hide and "make belts or something."

Boris Morros Sees Zhukov as Red Boss

WASHINGTON (AP) — Counterspy Boris Morros says he expects a military dictatorship headed by Marshal Georgi Zhukov to take control in Russia within the next eight months.

His prediction that Communist party boss Nikita Khrushchev would be replaced was made in testimony before the House Committee on Un-American Activities which made it public during the weekend.

Morros, whose 12 years of spy activity were disclosed only recently, cited Zhukov's rise to a top party post in addition to his job as Soviet minister of defense and said it indicated to him that Russia is rapidly becoming a military dictatorship.

He was quoted also as testifying that separate Russian spy organizations have now been consolidated into one superagency under the Red army directly responsible to Zhukov.

Rugged Texas Park Site to Get Glamor Treatment

BIG BEND NATIONAL PARK, Texas (INS)—The wild area of rugged grandeur in the Chisos mountains on the Texas-Mexican border, a new "find" for tourists who seek the unusual, is due for glamor treatment.

The National Park Service is looking for concessioners who are capable of investing about $1,500,000 in a "tourist village" to be built in one of the nation's few remaining primitive park areas.

The park service already has started work on the site of what will be known as "Rio Grande Village." Bids are being asked to provide lodging accommodations, a trailer court, swimming pool, an employe's dormitory, a store and service station to be in operation by 1960.

IN MOUNTAINS

Big Bend National Park is enfolded in the Chisos mountains at elevations ranging from 3,500 to 6,000 feet in a teardrop region of southwest Texas that curves into Mexico.

The historic Rio Grande River provides a natural boundary between the U.S. and Mexico at the southern end of the park. Sheer drops of thousands of feet in the granite walls of the canyons, etched by the Rio Grande during eons of time, create spine-tingling sensations for the touring "flatlanders."

Atop Boquillas canyon, where the Rio Grande village will be built, the tourist can stand at the 3,490-foot rim and watch the river roll into the Gulf of Mexico 1,660 feet below.

Park Supt. George W. Miller thinks the planned village, along with the mild winter weather, will make the resort "immensely popular" with tourists, especially during the cold months of the year.

"With the 6,000-foot escarpment of the Sierra del Carmen as a backdrop for ever-changing color combinations," he said, "the scenic values are spectacular."

Knowland Plans No Resignation

Will Keep Senate Post for Full Term, Despite Campaign for Governor

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Knowland (R-Calif) has told friends he has no intention of resigning as Senate Republican leader even if he wins the GOP nomination for governor of California next year.

Knowland, a potential candidate for the 1960 Republican presidential nomination, has made it clear he intends to remain in the national limelight for the full length of his Senate term, which ends in January 1959.

He has announced he will not run again for the Senate. A successful bid for the governorship would be a prelude to seeking the presidential nomination.

Knowland begins at Redding, Calif., Tuesday an intensive speaking tour during which he is expected to announce his candidacy for the governor nomination.

GOP Gov. Goodwin J. Knight has announced already as a candidate for renomination, and told Knowland in Sacramento Saturday the senator will face "a hard contest" if he also seeks the nomination.

There had been speculation that if Knight forced a primary fight, Knowland might take leave of his Senate leadership post to campaign next spring.

But Knowland has put his colleagues on notice that even if a hot campaign develops ahead of the California primary next June he will campaign only during the usual congressional Easter recess and on week-end flying trips.

Talent, Beauty Meet in Miss America Try

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — Fifty-one talented and beautiful girls register today for the rich harvest of publicity and prizes that go to Miss America, 1958.

Excited early birds with their retinues of family and local officials began converging on this resort city yesterday. At the end of a week of pageantry, one of the 51 will be the queen.

Some of the girls brought good luck charms. Miss California, 18-year-old Lorna M. Anderson, has a pair of white shoes she has worn in every contest she ever entered.

Valerie Joy Strong, Miss Michigan, 21, clutched a silver dollar.

Contestants from 45 states, Canada, Puerto Rico, Hawaii, Chicago, New York City and Washington, D.C., will vie for $30,000 in scholarships after registering today.

The crowning of Miss America will take place Saturday.

Why Paint Barns Red?

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Why are most barns painted red?

Because red paint is chaper, says Lawrence T. Gardner, a paint company president. He adds that more and more barns are being painted white now because white radiates rather than absorbs heat.

Blown From Home Like Fiery Missile

LOS ANGELES (AP)—"I saw him come flying through the side door—all doubled up in a ball and wrapped in flame."

That was the way a neighbor described Samuel Green's violent exit from his home yesterday when it was wrecked by a gas explosion.

Green, 48, was pitched right through a closed door and 15 feet out into a driveway. He was reported in serious condition at a hospital, with burns on 65 per cent of his body.

The blast blew out every window in the house, ballooned the plaster walls and punched a hole in the roof.

Acting Battalion Fire Chief Henry Machacek said Green apparently was trying to repair a water heater when he was enveloped in leaking gas.

With Sharp Humor

Yugoslavs Jibe Soviets

PARIS (INS) — Some of the sharpest jibes at Soviet Russia come in the humor of the streets of Yugoslavia.

It was the Yugoslavs, for instance, who peddled the story in 1955 about Soviet Communist Party boss Nikita S. Khrushchev visiting a Belgrade tailor.

The visit was make when Khrushchev and Premier Nicolai Bulganin flew to Belgrade to make up with Marshal Tito.

According to the Yugoslav story, Khrushchev went to a Belgrade tailor to have a suit made. After the measurements, the tailor said it would take three yards of cloth.

FOUR YARDS

Khrushchev, according to the story, said "are you certain?" and added "my tailor in Moscow requires four yards to make a suit for me."

"Ah, yes," replied the tailor, "but in Moscow you are a bigger man."

Now the Yugoslavs have a new story.

A Hungarian, they say, tried to escape into Austria. He was caught.

The Hungarian freely admitted to the Communist border guards that he was trying to flee his country, but he explained:

"You see, there is order in Hungary now, and safety. All is well here.

"But that is only because the Soviet Red Army has come to give us its protection.

Says 'Working People Not Fooled'

Hart Scores Republicans for Attack on Williams

DETROIT (AP) — "Republican leaders are only fooling themselves if they think their line about taxes and industry will fool the working people of Michigan," Lt. Gov. Philip A. Hart said in a speech prepared for today's joint AFL-CIO Labor Day observance in Detroit.

Hart charged Republican leaders "are desperately trying to establish three myths."

"First," he said, "they want us to believe that Gov. Williams is somehow to blame for business taxes passed by Republican legislators themselves.

"A Republican legislator from Lansing (Rep. Willard I. Bowerman Jr.) was truthful enough to answer that one for us," Hart said, "when he declared the tax bills were Republican - sponsored and passed by a Republican-dominated legislature."

Hart said "the number two myth" is the Republican claim that "it is only in Michigan that the costs of government are going up."

He said that a recent issue of "Business Week" reported that taxes have gone up in 31 states since the first of last year.

"The number three myth," Hart said, "is that industry isn't expanding in Michigan. To the contrary, the New York Times reports that public utilities in Michigan plan to spend one and a half billion dollars on expansion in Michigan in the next five years."

Mantle Failed Here

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — Mickey Mantle of the Yankees may be the best home run hitter in baseball but you can't prove it by the Baltimore fans. In the 11 games the Yankees played here last season, Mantle failed to hit the ball out of the park. But in getting 52 homers he hit at least one in all the other American League parks.

Gota River Is Vital Highway

Famous Route Unites Sweden's Coasts, Aids Commerce, Industry

WASHINGTON — To people who live and travel along Sweden's Gota River, nature usually shows a happy, smiling face. But the mood can change.

Recently a mighty landslide tumbled into the river, blocking the upper channel at the town of Gota and trapping scores of ships in inland Lake Vanern.

The cataclysm recalls another disastrous slide that occurred downstream at Surte in September, 1950. Part of the river's high bank gave way suddenly, and masses of earth bore down on the settlement.

Destruction from both slides was enormous, since the regions involved are highly industrialized and populous. At Gota, most of a sulphate plant was reported to have slid into the river.

SERVES COMMERCE

Powerful waterfalls along the Gota's upper reaches have been harnessed to provide power for much of southern Sweden.

As a commercial and tourist route, the river offers a 58-mile highway between the western part of Goteborg and Sweden's largest body of water, Lake Vanern. Canalized in spots and served by locks, it can accommodate ocean-going vessels.

The river also forms the final stretch of the 24-mile Gota Canal that links east and west coasts of Sweden, insuring water communications in case war should block the Baltic.

Beyond Goteborg's smoking factories and rivet-noisy shipyards lies the charming, medieval Kungalv village. Above it rise the scarred gray towers of Bohus Castle.

Steamers are lifted via locks at Trollhattan. Here are big dams that put the Gota's falls to work for rolling mills, chemical and cellulose factories, and other industries.

A rock-hewn canal beyond Trollhattan opens into the vast scenic expanse of Lake Vanern, nearly 90 miles long by 50 across.

From then on the Gota Canal becomes a smaller, less mechanized channel of interlinked lakes and rivers. Along it, life and traffic take on a quiet 19th-century atmosphere.

Shrimp Fishing Industry Grows Off West Coast

WESTPORT, Wash. (INS) — The traditional North Pacific cry of "Ho! Sockeye!" is being replaced with a Calypso-beat chant of, "Shrimp boats a-coming!"

For off Washington's mist shrouded coast — long the haunt of some of the world's most succulent salmon, crab and halibut — deep-sea trawlers are reaping a harvest of tiny shrimp that presage a new "gold" rush in the Pacific's fishing industry.

The boats, unfamiliar-looking gulf-type trawlers, are keeping a Westport, Washington cannery clanking to capacity packing the shrimps.

It was in the winter of 1955 that the research vessel John H. Cobb located the shrimp beds in from 300 to 500 feet of water on the North Pacific continental shelf that is one of the world's richest fishing banks.

The Cobb works under the flag of the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service and one of its duties has been to act as a sort of sea-going prospector for the fishing industry.

When the F&WLS reported its find to Washington's seasoned commercial fishermen, they first viewed the report with skepticism.

The Alaska fishing industry had been stimulated by similar reports, only to find that the grounds were not as rich as first believed.

The North Pacific shrimp, unlike its distant relative in the Gulf of Mexico, is a tiny creature so small that 130 of them are packed in a four and one-half ounce can.

To remove the tails and hulls, and clean the shrimp is a tedious process.

The cost of packing a can had been so high that the tiny shrimp were a quality delicacy found only on the higher-priced shelves.

A DOLLAR PER POUND

The cost of hand-packing the tiny shrimp in the Westport cannery was estimated at a dollar a pound.

Consequently, Washington fishermen looked cautiously on the reports of the John H. Cobb.

About this time, however, a gadget appeared on the scene and set the stage for the birth of a new fishing industry that today is bringing the tiny shrimp onto tables all over America.

The gadget is a shrimp-peeling machine, perfected and leased by the Peelers Co. of New Orleans.

The machine removes the shrimp tails and hulls and renders them sparkling-pink clean, producing 150 pounds of shrimp meat an hour.

The leased machines can do the work of 50 experienced women cannery workers each hour.

The Cobb's discovery and the advent of the shrimp peeling machine, has resulted — beginning in late 1956 — in the mass marketing of tender shrimp.

The shrimp are packed 90 to a one-pound can. "The consumer response has been amazing," says Ivar Wendt, Seattle fish and shellfish broker who sees no end to the demand for the North Pacific delicacy. Says Wendt:

"Right now, Ed Kaakinen, owner of the cannery at Westport, is packing about a thousand pounds of raw shrimp an hour.

"When the cannery gets on a two-shift basis, they will be turning out 16,000 pounds a day — and even that won't be enough. We can't fill the orders on hand."

Huge Stone Face Symbol of State

Old Man of Mountains Has Attracted Tourists for 150 Years

WASHINGTON—It's about time, New Hampshire finds, to give its Old Man of the Mountains another facial.

Jutting like a prow from a 4,077-foot peak, the titanic stone profile has attracted millions of sight-seers since it was discovered by road workers, according to the most widely accepted story, in 1805.

Time has put lines on the ancient face. Four decades ago, its sagging features were strengthened with iron tenons and turnbuckles. Now cement will be used to repair cracks.

On the whole, the Old Man carries his years well, the National Geographic Society says. The profile probably began taking shape some 200 million years ago. Frost gradually broke away stone blocks, leaving ledges that give a semblance of brooding, melancholy features.

Geographically, the Old Man forms the southeast shoulder of Cannon Mountain in the Franconia Notch State Reservation of the White Mountains. The defiant chin hangs 1,200 feet above Profile Lake, once known as the Old Man's Washbowl.

But the Old Man is far more than an interesting freak of nature. It seems to cast a spell of reverence upon onlookers. It inspired Hawthorn's classic tale, "The Great Stone Face," and Edward Roth's "Christus Judex," the story of an artist's search to find a suitable model for the face of Christ.

SYMBOL OF STATE

The esteem with which New Hampshire regards their trademark was explained by an eloquent Native son, Daniel Webster: "Men hang out signs indicative of their respective trades. Shoemakers hang out a gigantic shoe; jewelers a monster watch, and the dentist hangs out a gold tooth. But in the mountains of New Hampshire, God Almighty has hung out a sign to show that there He makes men."

The Old Man was one of the first tourist attractions in the United States. Profile House, a glittering resort hotel which burned in the 1920's, featured the "highest type of refinement" and rooms "with their own fireplaces, electric bells and gas." In the stables were 350 horses.

Among the notable pilgrims were Whittier, Emerson, Thoreau, Longfellow, Jenny Lind, and Henry Ward Beecher. From the White House came Presidents Jackson, Pierce, Grant, Cleveland, and Coolidge.

President Grant and his family made a spur-of-the-moment trip there while vacationing in New Hampshire. One newspaper noted their "combined luggage would hardly have filled a respectable wheelbarrow," but there was nothing plebian about their arrival. Their coach careened at breakneck speed through the mountains, reaching the Notch in record time amid the roar of cannon.

Australia Fights Dingo Menace

Building 3,500 Miles of Wire-Mesh Fencing to Battle Fierce Dogs

WASHINGTON — Australians, having finally got rabbits in hand, are turning their attention to dingoes.

To save cattle and sheep from throat-tearing attacks by these wild dogs, the northeastern State of Queensland is building 3,500 miles of wire-mesh fencing.

Eventually, farmers hope to rid the fenced areas of dingoes and keep the others outside.

The fiercely handsome dingo probably entered Australia with the first aborigines, crossing the land bridge that once linked the island continent to Asia, says the National Geographic Society.

Dingo bones have been found beside aboriginal skeletons that date from the days of the Diprotodon, a huge, long-extinct marsupial.

WHAT BIG TEETH YOU HAVE!

Whether or not these tawny, varicolored dogs were ever semi-domesticated, they have much in common with wolves. Sharp-faced, with pointed ears, they stretch about five feet from nose to bushy tail. They stand about two feet tall on short, rugged legs.

They howl and yelp, but never bark. They hunt silently—alone, in pairs, or in highly coordinated packs. Their fangs are long and sharp and apparently are often used for the sheer enjoyment of killing.

Ranging through sparsely settled regions, dingoes are natural enemies of kangaroos and wallabies. When rabbits were introduced and swarmed in devastating millions over Australia, the wild dogs did useful service by preying on them.

Only dingo pups have natural foes—predatory eagles and pythons. Since litters are big, countless youngsters grow up to rule the wilderness and test their fangs on sheep and calves.

Dingoes usually steer clear of man, contenting themselves with howling at campfires from a distance. But if the odds are right, they may attack a human, fiercely and cleverly.

They have survived intensive hunting spurred by bounties. When poisoned meat was air-dropped on dingo haunts, the savage canines gulped a few morsels, noted results, and left the rest for the birds.

THOSE SMOKE DREAMS — Lonely television genius Max Liebman likes to watch his cigar smoke curl up toward the ceiling and dance. The producer of the once-mighty "Your Show of Shows" now has no TV assignments, although he still draws a salary from NBC.

ROMANCE — Some romance is in store for a change for James Arness and Amanda Blake, stars of TV's "Gunsmoke."

Preview of TV Programs

Marshal Dillon to Have Romance on 'Gunsmoke'

BY ERSKINE JOHNSON

HOLLYWOOD (NEA) — More and more sizzling romance is headed thataway for "Gunsmoke," the tradition-breaking "adult" western telefilm series starting its third year on home screens this fall as the nation's third most popular TV program.

Big Jim Arness, as Marshal Matt Dillon of Dodge City, sneaked in a preview of romantic things to come recently by kissing Kitty Russell, the sexy dance hall queen who makes the smoke on "Gunsmoke."

In Hollywood's old celluloid west, the boots and saddle boys reserved their kisses for their horses and their only romantic moments were walking, hand-in-hand, with the chaste farmer's daughter into a fiery sunset-backgrounded "Finis."

A cowboy kissing a girl broke the code of the movie west — and the hearts of girl-hating little boys at Saturday afternoon matinees.

A kiss in a movie western, in fact, was even worse than someone in the cast saying a discouraging word.

But "Gunsmoke" is one of those shows where seldom is heard, or seen, the discouraging words and actions so often written into hoss operas. The show, in fact, is a hoss opera that isn't a hoss opera. And maybe that explains its enormous success better than anything else.

"Gunsmoke" spouts the unexpected instead of the expected.

The romance, for instance, now creeping into the Long Branch saloon between Marshal Matt and busty Amanda Blake, who plays Kitty.

Matt doesn't head 'em off at the pass or gallop off thataway, either. Sometimes he doesn't even ride a horse anywhere or fire a shot in an entire half-hour. To be truthful about it, "Gunsmoke" is smokeless on many a Saturday night.

The plots, the dialog and the action are for adults, not kiddies, and who's going to argue with a No. 3 rating topped last season only by "I Love Lucy," and "$64,000 Question?"

Gradually growing in size to match star Jim Arness' 6-foot, 6-inch frame is the role of Kitty. Even in an adult western, a saloon hostess character every week was considered pretty strong stuff at first for home screens. On the radio version of "Gunsmoke" it was okay.

But on TV? Network officials and producers of the show wondered. Now the wondering is over. Kitty was accepted by TV fans last season and this year her role will become even bigger.

Bachelor — girl Amanda Blake, who plays Kitty, is a 26-year-old actress from Buffalo who grew up in Southern California, went to Pomona College and then tackled the movies without much success.

"I just sat out a couple of film contracts," she says.

But now she likes the role of Kitty so well she'd like to go on playing it for the rest of her life.

Arness feels the same way about Marshal Matt, who in two years has given him a big home on the Pacific Palisades overlooking Santa Monica bay. He's married, and has three children: Craig, 10; Jenny Lee 7; and Rolf, 5. Instead of a back-yard swimming pool, the kiddies play in a miniature Disneyland built by Jim.

Like Amanda, Jim wasn't too successful in Hollywood as a Minneapolis-born ex-GI whose yen for adventure brought him to Movietown in 1946. He played one of the three brothers in "The Farmer's Daughter" with Loretta Young; sold real estate between acting jobs; had a role in "Battleground" and played the horror role of the "vegetable man" in "The Thing."

He was just too big, casting offices said. He made Hollywood's normal sized heroes look too small. So wouldn't you know he'd become a star on a 21-inch screen?

Max Liebman Eyes Broadway

Producer Claims That Video Is Now Cautious Rather Than Creative

By DICK KLEINER

NEW YORK (NEA) — The little bronze plaque on the door reads "Max Liebman Productions." But the door is locked. There's nobody around.

Pasted on the door is a typewritten sheet that directs callers to Liebman's private office one flight up.

This used to be one of the busiest spots in television. It was here that the once-mighty "Your Show of Shows" was forged each week.

Here is where it was decided to team Sid Caesar and Imogene Coca. Here is where the first 90-minute show was created, establishing a new pattern for television.

But now the office is locked, deserted. Liebman, while still under contract as a producer to NBC, has no plans for the season. For the first time since 1949, there will be no Max Liebman Production on television this year. TV's first acknowledged "genius" is at liberty.

NO BITTERNESS SEEN

Upstairs, in his private office, Liebman puffs on his cigar, smiles, seems cheerful and content. There is no apparent bitterness, no rancor, no envy.

In a quiet voice he talks of the exciting past, the dull present, the hopeful future.

"I'm reading scripts for Broadway plays," he says. "I am lucky TV isn't my only interest. I may do a play on Broadway this year."

"Television programs today," he says, "are hard to sell. I don't know if it has anything to do with general economic conditions or not. But I do know that programs are hard to sell.

"All right, what does that mean? It means that a prospective sponsor is cautious. Programs are expensive. He isn't going to buy something that runs two to three million dollars unless he's sure it will sell his products.

NOT VENTURESOME

"And the network, too. They must sell time, so they are cautious about programming. They are not venturesome. So they are not creative. Caution is the opposite of creativity."

The result of this lack of creativity, Liebman thinks, is what he calls "ambulance chasing for ratings." The networks, he says, have "capitulated" to the sponsors, to big business. They are interested in ratings to the exclusion of creativity.

"Television is going the same way the only other medium to be dominated by big business went — radio. It will be controlled by economics.

"They'll make a movie out on some prairie and bring it in and project it in a studio the size of a phone booth. They need no theater, no audience. It's cheaper so that's the way they'll do it."

Liebman says there's another problem exclusive to television—the children. He says programming is virtually controlled by children — "children practically control the dial." Every program that is aired up until 9 o'clock in the evening, he says, is planned because children may watch."

These are some of the views on the contemporary TV scene from the man who did so much to popularize the medium. At present, he is unoccupied. He has no plans for TV in the future, and has difficulty even thinking of what he'd like to do if he were given the opportunity.

He is happy that Sid Caesar and Imogene Coca may be working together again, wishes them nothing but the best. And it was he who first teamed them, back on the old Admiral show, in the days before "Your Show of Shows."

As for himself, he says he'd do "anything where I could express myself." He still draws a salary from NBC, is still listed as a network producer, but they have offered him no assignment.

In fact, he says, "There are some men at NBC in charge of programming — and I've never even met them.

Little Rock Ministers Urge Calm Conduct

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Ministers pleaded for calmness and order in the scheduled integration of a high school here tomorrow while Gov. Orval Faubus nervously watched for "anything that might occur" in a city where surprises have occurred recently.

About 15 Negroes are expected to enroll in Central High School, which has 2,000 students.

They gained final legal clearance Friday when a federal court told the school board to go ahead with its gradual integration plan and ordered segregationists not to interfere.

Yesterday the president of the Greater Little Rock Ministerial Alliance wrote to 250 ministers and religious leaders asking them to plead with the public for orderly conduct during the beginning of racially mixed classes in grades 10 to 12.

Twin Sisters, 14, in Operation to Transfer Kidney

BOSTON (AP)—Fourteen year old twin sisters from De Soto, Mo., who underwent kidney transplant surgery yesterday, were reported as doing well today at Peter Bent Brigham Hospital.

Surgeons removed a healthy kidney from Doris Huskey and Transferred it to her critically ill sister Delores, whose kidneys are diseased.

The hospital said results cannot be determined for at least 72 hours after the operation. It will take that long to determine whether the transplanted kidney will function properly.

It was the fifth such operation performed at the hospital by the same team of three doctors on identical twins.

Before the operation Doris said she would not be able to live with herself if she did not give Delores one of her kidneys.

India Repatriates 73

NEW DELHI (AP)— India has helped repatriate 73 Chinese, including children, from the United States to Communist China, a government spokesman told Parliament today.

Security 'Risk' Returns to Work

State Dept. Worker Rehired With Back Pay After Top Court Ruling

WASHINGTON (AP)—John Stewart Service returns to work at the State Department tomorrow just as if he had never been fired as a security risk nearly six years ago.

Service, 48, is a veteran Foreign Service officer. His career started in 1935, centered in the Far East, particularly China. His new job, similar to that he had when he was fired, will put him in charge of supplies and transportation questions, with no access to secret information.

Dean Acheson, secretary of state in the Truman administration, fired Service Dec. 13, 1951, after the Civil Service Commission's loyalty review board ruled there was a reasonable doubt as to Service's loyalty. A lower board had cleared him a year earlier of the security risk charges.

The Supreme Court ruled June 17 the review board had no right to reopen the case, and last July 3, Federal Dist. Judge James W. Morris ordered Service restored to his job with back pay to Dec. 14, 1951. The judge held Service was improperly discharged by Acheson.

Service was expected to receive about $18,000 as the difference between the $11,850 annual pay he would have received and the money he actually drew while in the export business in New York City after his discharge.

The State Department said today the precise amount of back pay still is being figured out. His new salary also is still to be determined.

International Club Attracts 25 Nations

TOKYO (AP)—The 29th congress of the International Pen Club opened today with noted men and women of letters from 25 nations attending. The weeklong meeting is the first Asian congress of the 21-year-old organization.

After three days of literary discussions here, the poets, playwrights, essayists, editors and novelists will tour western Japan. The closing session will be held Sunday in Japan's ancient capital of Kyoto.

American novelist John Steinbeck is a special guest at the congress. He spoke briefly after Foreign Minister Aiichiro Fujiyama gave an opening speech.

An average farm kitchen requires 20 to 30 tons of water each year.

Earl Is Figuring Out Labor-Saving Devices

By EARL WILSON

BUENOS AIRES—I see by looking at the calendar that it is Labor Day time—and I've been thinking that maybe we should have some new labor-saving devices.

You see, I'm down here in the manana land where one of the hobbies is resting.

WILSON

Maybe I've got that manana fever. I've been wondering if you're ever figured out how much time and energy we waste by peeling bananas?

Now isn't there some way the bananas could be grown already peeled? Is it too much to ask that a guy doesn't have to go to all the work of disrobing a banana before he eats it? And another thing that is really an awful lot of work (down here in this climate) is breaking the shells on peanuts before you eat them.

And besides the work involved, think of the wear, tear and damage to your thumb which does most of the hard labor.

We have acquired so much leisure thanks to the machine age and the shorter week that any little effort seems a great deal nowadays.

It seems to your amigo from Ohio that when you travel, about every other day is a holiday.

Senor Peron added to the holidays by creating special one for the unions—one for the carpenters, another for—the bricklayers, one for the truckdrivers, one for the cooks and waiters.

Yet they work 44 to 48 hours a week down this way—and the days are long, too, because of the siesta of "long lunch hour" that is observed even during the winter.

Often they start at 8, work till 12, then take two or three hours off, and work until 7 at night.

Anyway, now at Labor Day time, it seems o.k. to mention that back up home we seem to handle this work situation a lot better due to many people having fought the good fight.

I must be getting a little homesick when I start saying "Hurrah for us!" and to tell the truth, I am. There's something about the U.S.A. that appeals to me mighty strongly right now. If I were home, it would be a holiday.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: Matrimony puts an end to more necking than all the park police put together. That's earl brother.

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—Six bombs exploded yesterday in various parts of Buenos Aires, injuring seven persons slightly.

Three of the explosions were in movie theaters, two in subway cars and one on a railway track.

Since her debut in 1898 she had been a leading figure on the British stage, usually in artistocratic roles.

Beginning Today: The Story of a Great Religious Leader

Francis Cardinal Spellman Has Served Quarter Century as Bishop

(Francis Cardinal Spellman will observe the 25th anniversary of his consecration as a Bishop on Sept. 8. That quarter century, and the full, often dramatic life of this American prince of the Roman Catholic Church are described on the series of articles by a famed writer that starts today.)

By BOB CONSIDINE

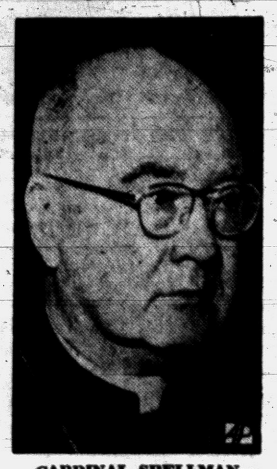

Francis Cardinal Spellman, the second best known prelate among the world's 350,000,000 Roman Catholics, is credited with doing more than any other churchman to "Americanize" one of the Earth's great religions.

The roly-poly, friendly, good-natured but enormously diligent Prince of the Church has been in and out of the Vatican in roles of ever increasing importance since he was sent to Rome from his native Whitman, Mass., to study for the priesthood in 1911.

He would be aghast at the suggestion that his role was significant, but no theologian could resist the argument that the Church has shown notable change during his priestly lifetime, and Spellman was there, or thereabouts, when change was most apparent.

As a novitiate he broke the Spartan regime of his class of fledgling priests by organizing sports events and setting up a photography lab in his cell at the North American college.

CARDINAL SPELLMAN

In 1925 he became the first American to serve as an assistant to the papal secretary of state. He became a licensed pilot while in Rome, astounding and perhaps appalling his tradition-laden Vatican superiors.

Spellman was the first American to be consecrated Bishop in St. Peter's, the first to be mentioned prominently as a possible papal Secretary of State, which, in the Church's table of operations, is the next to last upper rung in the ladder of the Papacy.

He has many other firsts to his credit, some of which would have caused fellow princes dating back a thousand and more years to drop their croziers in dismay, notably his creation of a novel, a Hollywood script, his mud-stained and dangerous treks to battle-fronts, his interest in sports, his contributions to United Jewish Appeal, his interest in Protestant good works, and his unflagging patience with those who all but immerse him with special pleading.

He's as American and unprepossessing as a bowl of New England chowder.

His father, a fairly well-to-do grocer in Whitman, taught him humility. His mother taught him to love all mankind. He was the sponge-like student of both.

At Fordham University, he earned his A.B. in 1911. He was a top student who managed to swallow his disappointment over not making the baseball team. He was outstanding in Latin, wrote some of his first poetry, dressed neatly enough to be nicknamed "Silk Hat Harry," after a comic strip then running in the New York Journal.

One night Francis Cardinal Spellman telephoned his good friend John S. Burke, head of the B. Altman Store in New York and, at that time, in charge of Catholic Charities. Mrs. Burke answered.

"This is Cardinal Spellman," the foremost American Catholic said in his slightly apologetic manner.

"I can't believe it," Mrs. Burke gasped, struck by the man's informality.

There was a little pause on the other end of the wire and then Spellman said, "Neither can I at times."

All four American Cardinals and one from Canada will take part next Saturday at the Yankee Stadium in the Pontifical Mass of Thanksgiving which will celebrate Spellman's Silver Jubilee.

The sermon will be by James Francis Cardinal McIntyre, Archbishop of Los Angeles. Present, in addition, will be Samuel Cardinal Stritch, Archbishop of Chicago, Edward Cardinal Mooney, Archbishop of Detroit, and James Charles Cardinal McGuigan, Archbishop of Toronto, plus the apostolic delegate to the United States, The Most Rev. Amleto G. Cicognani.

St. Patrick's Cathedral, over which his eminence reigns, would not be nearly large enough to accommodate the crowd.

At 68, brimming with good health, the pious man who once dreamed of being a good second baseman, now presides over a vast religious empire.

Under him serve seven auxiliary Bishops and three Bishops in residence. Some 2,344 priests man his 397 parishes, 496 chapels, and 84 missions. Ninety-nine religious orders include 1,046 brothers and 7,711 nuns. Three seminaries are training 562 students from the diocese and 205 from outside. Twenty-six other and lesser schools of theology have 2,500 more coming along the reverent road.

The 11 colleges and universities under Cardinal Spellman have an enrollment of 16,901 students. There are 25,812 pupils in the 42 parochial high schools, 20,792 in the 56 private high schools, 144,848 in the 258 elementary parochial schools, 11,646 in the 53 elementary private schools, 3,817 in the 10 orphanages. Some 6,177 teachers attend to the needs of the scholars.

Twenty Catholic hospitals operate in the Cardinal's See, and, like the schools and other services, accept non-Catholics.

It is not easy to place a monetary worth on the property, equipment and furnishings involved. Suffice it to say that it is enormous. The real estate, buildings, furnishings and treasures of St. Patrick's Cathedral alone are said to be valued at $25,000,000.

Formal headquarters of the richest diocese in Christendom are in the huge brownstone chancery offices, once the mansion of Whitelaw Reid.

But the real headquarters is under the bright red biretta that sits on the back of the balding head of the unassuming man named Spellman.

He streamlined the huge business and knows its every working part.

As special assistant to the Papal Secretary of State, Spellman had seven brilliant years in Rome, with duties that ranged all the way from running the $1,000,000 Knights of Columbus playground there to spiriting Pius XI's anti-Mussolini encyclical out of the Vatican, by air, and revealing it to the world.

He was promoted to Monsignor early during this seven-year tour of duty, and on Sept. 8, 1932, he was consecrated a Bishop by his old friend Eugenio Cardinal Pacelli, Papal Secretary of State then, at the same altar of the chair of St. Peter. The future Pope Pius XII gave Spellman the robes he himself had worn when he became Bishop and which had been the property, decades before, of two Popes.

The world held no bauble, no prize, the grocer's boy from Whitman, Mass., now coveted. His cup was filled.

Under the death of Pope Pius XI, Pacelli ascended to the throne of Peter.

The Archbishop's chair in the important New York archdiocese had been empty since the death, a few months before, of Patrick Cardinal Hayes. The Vatican radio on April 24, 1939, announced that His Holiness had filled the chair. He had chosed Bishop Spellman.

The new Archbishop asked for and warmly received the prayers and blessing from one man above all others — the ailing, aging Cardinal O'Connell, who was to die five years later.

And off he went to work, an occupation of the heart and soul which will possess him until the end. The splendid liturgical ceremony at the stadium next Saturday will be, for this humane dynamo, but a pious interlude.
