

Goldwater Lashes Fulbright's Viet Criticism

BARRY GOLDWATER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Barry Goldwater accused Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., today of carrying criticism "that lends aid and comfort to our enemies" in Viet Nam, and said Fulbright should resign as chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Goldwater said Fulbright "could do no greater service for his nation and the American fighting men in Viet Nam."

"His carping criticism of any show of American firmness brings joy to our enemies, it confuses our allies, and it demoralizes our troops," Goldwater said in a speech prepared for a conference of some 3,000 Republican women.

Goldwater, Republican presidential nominee two years ago, said he was ashamed of the Democratic senator "telling the American people that our power has made Americans arrogant, and self-righteous, and expansionist, and immoral."

"No American has the right or the justification to level such charges against his country," Goldwater said. "And that goes double for doing it in a time of war and in a fashion that lends aid and comfort to our enemies. And I don't care whether the American is a misguided Viet-nik or chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee."

Goldwater said Fulbright's chairmanship "lends a phony official stature to his expressions of guilt because his country is militarily powerful enough to defend freedom."

Goldwater, a former Arizona senator, said shortages of bombs, ammunition, and personnel in Viet Nam "are taking on the properties of a national scandal."

And Republican Sen. John J. Williams of Delaware said the United States is "rationing bombs" there because of short supplies.

Goldwater charged the administration is limiting the war in Viet Nam in an effort "to keep both the doves and the hawks happy until after the election."

At home, he said, federal spending "has gotten completely out of hand." He blamed

President Johnson, but he also accused some Republicans of advocating economy while opposing efforts to cut spending.

"These are the New Wave Republicans, the spend-nik Republicans who are exploiting the GOP for political position, but who betray virtually every plank of our party's platform."

Williams coupled his assertion of "rationing bombs" with a charge that the administration "allowed the situation to deteriorate in Viet Nam" during Johnson's 1964 campaign against Goldwater.

"Why have the American people not been told the truth about the seriousness of the situation in Southeast Asia?" Williams asked in a speech prepared for a conference of Republican women.

"Shortages have developed. We are now rationing bombs and other military supplies," the Delaware senator said.

"Why did the administration fool the American people? Was the election of any public official more important than the life of an American boy?"

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara has denied U.S. forces in South Viet Nam face supply shortages.

Williams said that during the campaign Johnson "accused Goldwater of being a trigger-happy warmonger for proposing some of the same military steps that he took immediately after the election."

Yanks Flush Cong Force

Are Caught in Trap

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The U.S. 1st Cavalry Airborne Division flushed the first sizable enemy force in three weeks today, reporting it killed 100 Viet Cong with possibly 300 to 400 more trapped in a valley.

The fighting broke out 11 miles north of Bong Son, 280 miles northeast of Saigon near the scene of heavy fighting earlier this year.

A division spokesman said two rings of troops were deployed on high ground around the valley with the enemy digging in, apparently for a fight to the finish.

By late tonight, the division reported it had captured 300 Viet Cong and seized 268 suspects.

In the air war, B52 bombers plastered a Viet Cong stronghold near the Cambodian border for the fifth day in a row.

21 YANKS DIE
All 21 U.S. servicemen aboard a U.S. Army CH-47 Chinook helicopter were killed when the helicopter caught fire and crashed Wednesday night in heavy jungle 119 miles northeast of Saigon.

It was one of the worst helicopter disasters of the war. A spokesman said the helicopter "burst into flames in the air but there was no evidence of enemy action." Aboard were an Army crew of five and 16 soldiers.

Politics Is in the Air at McNamara Rites

DETROIT (AP) — Sen. Patrick McNamara, who loved a good political fight, would have enjoyed all the political undercurrents of his funeral yesterday.

President Johnson led more than 800 dignitaries and just plain citizens who thronged into Holy Name of Jesus Church for the funeral Mass.

Police estimated 5,000 more stood outside the church. All had come to pay their final respects to Michigan's senior Democratic senator who rose from the ranks of labor to become one of the Senate's most respected voices.

There was no denying, however, that politics was in the air.

HOPEFULS ON HAND

Two of the three leading candidates for Sen. McNamara's seat were on hand — Democrat G. Mennen Williams, former six-term governor of Michigan and former undersecretary of state for African affairs, and Rep. Robert P.

Griffin who seeks the GOP nomination.

Williams' primary opponent, Detroit Mayor Jerome Cavanagh, was in Paris on a Detroit business promotion trip, but he was represented by his wife, Mary, and their 11-year-old son, Patrick, named after McNamara.

Newsman and political observers had kept tabs on each move Johnson made.

Cameras clicked when the President, who had walked out of the church a few feet ahead of Williams, suddenly turned, walked back to Williams and gave him a sort of hug while whispering in Williams' ear.

'PERSONAL'

Reporters later asked the former governor what the President had said, but Williams merely smiled and said, "I regard that as personal."

The President and Mrs. Cavanagh had only a few seconds to chat as they shook (Continued on Page 2, Col. 4)

'Mercury Bounce' Is Done by the Sun

Sunny skies and warm temperatures ushered in highs that bounced into the 70s today, ending a long cold spell. At 2 p.m. the reading was 77.

The weatherman said tonight will be partly cloudy with lows of 40 to 46. At 5 a.m. yesterday, the 30 degree recording was the lowest for the day since 1957 when the thermometer registered 32.

Mostly sunny and a little cooler, the high is to 66 is tomorrow's forecast. Variable cloudiness, and a little cooler is the outlook for Saturday.

South to westerly winds at 15 to 30 miles per hour will become west to northwesterly tonight and tomorrow.

The low in downtown Pontiac prior to 4 a.m. today was 44 at midnight.

'Bama Negro's Vote Snarled

Official Ballot Count Reveals Discrepancy

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. — Attorney Fred D. Gray, a Negro who appeared for a short time to have won a legislative race over white opponents, is looking into a 1,000-vote discrepancy in the balloting within his three-county district.

"Something is funny about this thing," Gray said when contacted at his home in Tuskegee.

The 35-year-old attorney apparently had won the Democratic nomination late Tuesday night for a seat in the Alabama House of Representatives.

But the official count reversed the situation. Where Gray had held an unofficial 206-vote majority over two white opponents he wound up 331 votes short of a majority.

Gray had no explanation for the change, but said he was going to investigate.

FINAL RETURNS

The final returns gave Gray 8,318 to 8,249 for his two opponents.

However, Gray said he could not understand why 17,167 votes were cast for the three candidates for Place 2 of District 31, while only 16,845 were cast in the race for Place 1.

The white incumbent won apparent nomination by 303 votes over two Negroes in the Place 2 contest.

4 Construction Workers Hurt

Four construction workers were injured this morning when an outside elevator they were on suddenly plunged 50 feet to the ground in White Lake Township.

They were admitted to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

The workers were identified as Walter Newman, Dearborn Heights; Homer Mullins, Carl Barden, and Edward Lillis, all of Detroit.

Newman is listed in serious condition while the others are satisfactory.

The accident occurred shortly after 9 a.m. at the construction site of St. Patrick's Catholic Church, 9008 Hutchins.

Workers at the scene said the men were at the top of the elevator steel frame shaft near the unfinished roof of the church when a large beam bumped against a projecting wall and fell toward the operator of the elevator below.

8-FOOT BEAM

In avoiding the eight-foot beam, the operator ducked back and momentarily released the brake of the elevator, sending it plummeting to the ground, a five-story drop.

A stiff wind whipping through the peak of the church's A-shaped roof may have been responsible for the beam hitting the wall.

The injured men were working for the Lutz Brothers Construction Co., a Walled Lake firm which started building the $550,000 new church last November.

"I was watching them when the beam started to go," said one worker.

'KEPT GRABBING'

"None of them knew what to do — they all kept grabbing for the beam until the whole way down."

The foreman at the site ordered work halted immediately after the accident but a shaken group of seven or eight workers lingered at the scene.

One noted that ordinarily six men would have been on the elevator.

City Buys 2 Urban Renewal Properties

Downtown Pontiac redevelopment took two strides forward this week with the acquisition of a pair of urban renewal properties.

Planning and Urban Renewal Director James L. Bates disclosed that the city has acquired the Lewis Furniture Co. building, 62 S. Saginaw, and property owned by Community National Bank at Water and South Saginaw.

Total cost of the acquisitions was $271,000, said Bates. Acquisition of the Lewis building is the last parcel to be acquired by the city in the R44 downtown urban renewal project.

The bank property is in R20. According to Bates, seven parcels remain to be purchased in the R20 project within Wide Track Drive.

"I'll be glad when we finish this basic training and become teenagers."

One parcel is north of Water between Perry and Mill, while six other parcels are in an area bounded by the Crossover, South Saginaw, Water and East Wide Track.

Once these properties are acquired, the land area needed for redevelopment would be entirely in city ownership.

Plans can then go forward for development of a commercial complex proposed by the A. Alfred Taubman Co.

Pontiac Area JCs Choose 1966 Officers

The Pontiac Area Junior Chamber of Commerce has elected its slate of officers for 1966 and scheduled their installation for June 8.

New president of the Jaycees is Ronald Lockhart, of 1212 Lynaue, Waterford Township, who will serve for one year.

Elected to vice president posts were James Gallagher and Richard Fitzgerald, with Joseph Pospisil named secretary and Richard Eldred selected treasurer.

The seven board of directors' positions will be filled by Fred Dean, Louis Schimmel Jr., Michael Sutton, Charles Toby, Donald Doolittle, Roger Upham, and John Rhoades.

'Bama Negro's Vote Snarled

Bullock and Macon — disclosed that the 1,000-vote difference was in Barbour county.

In that county, there were 6,616 votes cast for Place 1 and 7,471 in the other contests — Gray's. In the other two counties, there were less than 200 votes difference in the totals.

Gray, who for 10 years has been a central figure in civil rights disputes, said he was confident of winning in the May 31 runoff primary.

Earlier, at a news conference in Birmingham, Gray said he had been encouraged by the primary results. That was before he got the official returns putting him into a runoff.

Another Negro candidate, Henry Oscar Williams, 50, who led the ticket in the Bullock County sheriff's race, said he had expected to win without a runoff.

"Some Negroes voted for the other two candidates," he said. Both his opponents were white. One was the incumbent, Sheriff C. M. Blue, who was eliminated.

TWO WHITES

Negroes campaigned for both his opponents, said Williams, a radio-television repairman. But he said that was only natural since the two white candidates were well-known and had Negro friends and allies in their communities.

Gray was one of 12 Negro candidates for the legislature. Five others — four in Jefferson County (Birmingham) and one in Mobile — apparently went into the runoff primary.

Three other Negro candidates for sheriff were, like Williams, headed for a runoff. They were in the counties of Hale, Perry and Macon, all with a heavy Negro registration.

Republican Gov. George Romney was one of the first to shake hands with Johnson after Mrs. Cavanaugh moved along.

"How are you, Mr. President... glad you could get to Michigan," Romney said.

President Johnson's one sentence reply was: "Governor, it is good to see you."

Everyone tried his best to keep the political issue in the background on the funeral day but it was hard to do.

Williams, accompanied by his wife, Nancy, was surrounded several times by well-wishers as he made his way toward the cemetery gate after the burial.

Bates said only 10 scattered lots—including four houses, four garage and one commercial structure — remain to be acquired outside of the downtown area. All of these are in the R2B project.

He declined to speculate on how many properties might be involved in the court actions.

that of a "Bob Boyd of Chicago, Ill., signed to a gun shop ledger in Wichita, Kan.

Rosenberg disappeared April 8. He was found near Erie, Mich., just above the Ohio line, April 20.

He had been shot in the back and told of being kidnapped off a Detroit street, having his eyes taped and being tied to a bed.

His family never was contacted for ransom.

Two airline agents in Wichita said a man who met Rosenberg's description was there April 9, and a gunshop proprietor identified a picture of Rosenberg as that of a man who had purchased a .22-caliber pistol from him April 9.

The gun purchaser signed as "Robert Boyd of Chicago, Ill."

HANDWRITING

Sgt. Arthur Kivela, a handwriting expert at the state police crime laboratory, said it was his opinion Rosenberg's handwriting and "Boyd's" were the same.

Sgt. Lyons, however, said Rosenberg denied after Kivela's inspection of the handwriting that the signature from Wichita was his.

Kenny Girl From Area

Four-year-old Donna Collins has been selected the 1966 Kenny Girl of the Kenny-Michigan Rehabilitation Foundation.

Dark-eyed Donna, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Collins of 2368 Crane, Waterford Township, was selected this year's Kenny Girl as representative of the patients to whom the foundation's rehabilitation work is dedicated.

Donna, who will be honored at the foundation's annual dinner Tuesday, became a patient of the Kenny Rehabilitation Center at Pontiac General Hospital after being struck by a car Jan. 19.

She was unconscious for two days. When she awoke, the youngster could neither talk nor move her right side.

VISITED CENTER

One week after her injury, Donna first visited the rehabilitation center for exercise and therapy to stimulate immobile muscles.

On Feb. 11, the Waterford Township youngster spoke again for the first time. She walked again on Feb. 21.

However, her walk was with an unnatural gait. No longer hospitalized, she now returns to the center weekly for exercises and gait training.

The 5:45 p.m. dinner will be at Veterans Memorial Building in Detroit. The foundation is a service of the Pontiac Area United Fund.

DINNER CALL—This year's Kenny Girl, Donna Collins of Waterford Township, rings a dinner bell to announce that the Kenny-Michigan Rehabilitation Foundation dinner will be held at 5:45 p.m. Tuesday in Detroit.

Area Legislator Will Run Again

Decision Announced at Testimonial Fete

State Rep. William P. Hampton of Birmingham announced last night at a testimonial dinner in his honor that he will seek reelection.

The 26-year-old Republican legislator is serving his first term as representative from the 65th district.

The district includes the townships of Bloomfield and Southfield, the cities of Birmingham and Bloomfield Hills and a small portion of Royal Oak.

The testimonial dinner was held at the Kingsley Inn, Bloomfield Hills. Lt. Gov. William Milliken was guest speaker.

A member of the House Elections Committee, Hampton, 275 Windemere, has been active in several moves to improve election codes and practices.

His efforts in the past year led to the installation of several safety devices at the Maple-Telegraph intersection.

An attorney with offices in Pontiac, Hampton, a frequent critic of what he has termed "outmoded and inefficient legislative procedures," serves on a Special Task Force on Legislative Reform.

He was also coauthor of a bill prohibiting state employees, officers and legislators from engaging in activities which represent substantial conflicts of interest.

KEY PROPOSALS

Proposals sponsored by Hampton include elimination of abuses of absent voting privileges, implied consent legislation testing drunk drivers, legislation increasing penalties for drunk drivers and a requirement for parental approval before psychological tests are administered to children.

He recently received the Distinguished Community Service Award from the Birmingham Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Slums Top Colombia's Monumental Ills

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

Lying in sprawling discord outside the center of cloud-swept Bogotá are the hovels of the poor, not much different from the barrios of Caracas, the favelas of Rio de Janeiro or the villas misé-riables of Buenos Aires except that they lack the dignity of a name.

Dignity is not NEWSOM a word easily associated with these monu-ments to despair.

Home for 12 may be a rusted steam boiler amid the skeletal remains of an abandoned factory. More likely it is a shack sewed together from tin and cardboard.

Sewage disposal is something unknown and electricity is bootlegged from the lines of a near-by street lamp. No one knows for sure how many live there because there never has been any real census. Bogotá, going back to the earliest days of the 16th century, is rich in monuments.

A modern one is Ciudad de Techo, a huge project built under the Alliance for Progress to rescue 35,000 people from the miseries of the slums and from inflation, a vast housing shortage and the crush of an exodus from the handiery of the countryside.

One of the most ancient is the 16th century presidential palace, an edifice of adobe and stone where each evening occurs a smart changing of the guard just a block from Bolívar Square and the great cathedral.

Next August a new resident named in Sunday elections takes over the presidential palace.

He is Carlos Lleras Restrepo, a 36-year-old economist and former finance minister who is a veteran of what Colombians call "the violence" — the years prior to 1953 in which tens of thousands died in a political war between liberals and conserva-tives.

Now, under a political truce which is to end in 1974, lib-erals and conservatives ex-change the presidential post every four years.

Lleras Restrepo, a liberal, fol-lows Guillermo Leon Valencia, a conservative.

Colombia, one of the most richly endowed nations on earth, has been described as a country suffering from an illness, an ill-ness which shows itself in pov-erty, illiteracy, restlessness and violence.

And no one yet has found the cure.

Hidden Rock, Extra Cost for State School Building

LANSING (AP) — Rocks at Michigan Technological University at Houghton may cost the state $170,000.

The rocks are in the way of a $127-million forestry building being constructed on a hillside. The Legislature may be asked this week to provide the funds to blast and remove an estimated 12,000 cubic yards of rock in the way of the building's drive-way and parking lot.

The state's $644,500 contract with Yalmer Matila Contracting Co. of Houghton contains a clause providing an extra $25 per cubic yard for rock removal.

"We suspected the presence of rock and took eight test bor-ings," said A. N. Langius, direc-tor of the State Building Divi-sion. But they did not disclose the presence of the rock, he said.

The state project engineer was off the job because of illness and word of the rock obstruction did not reach Lansing until the con-tractor had blasted—but not re-moved — 7,000 cubic yards of rock. That's $175,000 worth un-der terms of the contract.

"The $25 price would have been all right for a few hundred yards," Langius said, "but no-body ever dreamed of thousands of yards. We even set aside a $50,000 contingency fund — ex-pecting that maybe as much as $25,000 of that might be used for rock removal."

The state so far has talked the contractor into removing the already blasted rock and possi-bly another 5,000 yards for a lump sum of $170,000 — or about $15 a ton.

Langius said his office and Birmingham architects Parap-ia and MacMillan are recheck-ing the job this week "to verify the reasonableness of the price."

Initiative Key to American Progress

A couple of hundred years ago, the first Spanish soldiers and missionaries came to California. A scant hundred years later, the transcontinental railroad east and west was joined near Ogden, Utah, and the United States as one nation stretched from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

This was in 1869, and since that event the American people have accomplished what would have taken a thousand years of history in a slower moving time.

They were able to do this because they lived under a government restrained by the Constitution from indulging in political oppression or confiscating for the uses of the "Crown" the property and income of the people.

But times seem to have changed and not in a direction likely to improve the long term health of the goose that has laid so many golden eggs. "Free" citizens and "free" enterprise alike find themselves sitting on the edge of their chairs awaiting the latest word from Washington concerning the current state of their affairs and what government intends to do about it.

The cart has somehow been hitched to the wrong end of the horse and the wonder is that so few people seem to notice the error.

It is time that the people decided whether they really want to be cared for as dependents on their own land. After that is settled, they should make their decision known to their elected officials at the polls at every opportunity.

Congressional Election Threatens First-Termers

As the leaves of the political calendar flip remorselessly toward the November 8 election, no company of politicians is more concerned with the date than the 48 freshman Democrats who rode into the House of Representatives on Lyndon Johnson's coattails in the 1964 landslide.

Since the party in power traditionally loses congressional seats in off-year elections with the ranks of yearling representatives suffering the heaviest casualties, the first-termers in this 89th Congress may well look to the upcoming balloting with more than average anxiety.

The freshman lawmakers are vulnerable because they have understandably supported the Administration almost 100 per cent and will be hard put to buck the political tide now running against it.

The adverse tide reflects voter disaffection over the Viet Nam bog-down, rising cost of living, widespread disorders related to civil rights excesses and indications of vast waste and malfunction in the area of domestic welfare programs.

Republican leaders talk of picking up 35 to 50 House seats from the majority of 150 the Democrats now hold. Democratic chieftains for their part privately concede a loss of 25 to 30 seats — mostly at the expense of the freshmen.

While veteran members of the House have built more solid home bases and showed legislative independence that will serve them well with their constituencies, the fledgling legislators are stuck with their close tie with LBJ and his policies.

It is a tie that having proved a boon in 1964 seems likely to spell doom in 1966.

The London Times Is 'Not What It Used to Be'

If any one contemporary institution were to refute the irrefutable adage that "nothing is so changeless as change," we'd say it was the London Times, going on two centuries old.

As English as tea and crumpets, the newspaper has unwaveringly clung to its policy of printing no news on its front page. Well, almost unwaveringly. It did falter in 1805 and make mention of the battle of Trafalgar, Lord Nelson's momentous naval victory over Napoleon's fleet, and again last year when Sir

WINSTON CHURCHILL died.

With the exception of those two lapses, the influential and prestigious paper has devoted its first page to classified advertising, including a variety of personal notices.

But times change, the Times sadly conceded in its announcement that henceforth Page One would carry news. It did, however, salvage one bit of conservatism from the journalistic revolution. The announcement of the change was made on Page 10.

More Years of Bafflement Ahead

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON — Twenty years of bafflement are beginning to show in impatience, criticism, discontent.

There were only six maddening years of dealing with Hitler from the time he took power in 1933 until he began the war in 1939. But with communism there has been prolonged frustration.

First, there were the postwar years of dealing with Russia's Stalin, an impossible task and now for 16 years, or ever since they butted into the Korean war, the even more exasperating ordeal of trying to deal with the Red Chinese.

This is the root of the dissatisfactions being expressed in Congress over the grubby, grueling war in Viet Nam, the fear the Chinese may come in, and the almost total absence of any relations with them except hostility.

If those dissatisfactions could be reduced to a simple sentence, it would be this: surely, there must be some kind of answer.

This is a natural belief for any American rendered edgy by two decades of deadlocked suspense, particularly if he persists in believing there must be some solution more comforting than the present policy of watchful waiting.

MARLOW

Updating An Old Story!

David Lawrence Says:

Union Coercion Shackles Paper

WASHINGTON — In the United States today a small group of individuals are asserting the right to determine when or if a newspaper shall be published.

The entire government, including the Congress of the United States, stands by apparently afraid for political reasons to do anything about it.

Yet, there are legislative remedies available, and the Constitution says that Congress "shall make no law abridging the freedom of the press." This means also that no group of individuals shall take the law into their own hands and keep the press from publishing.

If the employees of a newspaper go on strike, this is understandable. But when coercion is used to prevent a company from hiring any individuals who would then become employees, an unprecedented situation is created.

Three newspapers in New York City recently went out of business due to economic difficulties and financial losses. A single company was organized. The Department of Justice said no violation of antitrust laws was involved.

Many of the former employees were invited to come to work. They refused.

SUBJECT TO THREATS

Theoretically, the new company would have the right to offer the jobs to other individuals. The labor unions, however, can interpose coercive measures. If anybody seeks to cross a picket line, he can be subjected to threats and possible interference when he tries to enter the plant.

Strangely enough, although both houses of Congress are in session and there are committees specifically charged with the duty of writing legislation on labor-management relations, not a single bill has been introduced or a committee hearing held to find out whether the constitutional rights of citizens are being violated.

This inaction is a form of discrimination which ignores a civil right of the individual — his right to take a job when offered to him.

Congress and the administration spend a lot of their time endeavoring to obtain respect for the "civil rights" of citizens. There are wars against poverty and crusades to assure "equal employment opportunity" for everybody — but none of these governmentally sponsored enterprises seems to safeguard the right of an individual to take any job that's open or the right of a company to establish a newspaper or newspapers.

This would be understandable in the Soviet Union, but not in free America.

Capital Letter:

Minister Is Likely Choice for FDR Jr. Antibias Post

By RUTH MONTGOMERY
WASHINGTON — Dr. Luther Holcomb, the Baptist minister who conceived the idea of John F. Kennedy's now famous confrontation with Protestant clergy in Houston during the 1960 campaign, is expected to succeed Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. as chairman of Montgomery the Equal Opportunity Employment Commission.

The latter is resigning next week to run for governor of New York.

Dr. Holcomb, who until last summer had been executive director of the Greater Dallas Council of Churches, has been serving as vice chairman of the anti-discrimination commission since its inception June 1, 1965.

A close friend and political supporter of Lyndon B. Johnson for 20 years, few men have more impressive qualifications for the delicate role of mediating disputes arising out of alleged discrimination in business.

Those familiar with Dr. Holcomb's ceaseless efforts in behalf of better race relations give him much of the credit for the fact that Dallas, which had all the built-in ingredients for an ugly racial eruption, has not had one.

APPRaised LETTERS

During the 1960 campaign, Dr. Holcomb came to Washington at the request of the Kennedy-Johnson campaign office to appraise 10,000 letters, most of them abusive, concerning JFK's Catholic religion.

After studying the pattern, he urgently recommended that Kennedy meet the problem head-on by addressing a large meeting of clergymen in the South, and inviting questioning.

Houston was picked as the site, and Kennedy biographers generally credit that meeting as the crucial turning-point in the campaign.

No one was more surprised than Dr. Holcomb when President Johnson tapped him last year for the new Equal Opportunity Employment Commission.

In the months since then, after addressing countless meetings throughout the country, businessmen have said of him: "He has alleviated our fears about Title VII," and Negro leaders have also praised him.

In helping to handle the 6,299 complaints on business discrimination since last June, Dr. Holcomb has stressed that the President will not permit Title VII to lower employment standards.

He insists that people be hired and promoted without discrimination because of race, creed, sex or national origin; but also that the employee perform meritorious work to keep his job.

VC Food Supply Is Vital Target

By RAY CROMLEY
WASHINGTON (NEA) — Reports of new MIG fighters in Viet Nam have overshadowed a crucial American-Viet Cong war for rice and salt.

In the past month U.S. troops have captured from the Viet Cong enough rice to feed 36 battalions of VC troops for more than a year.

In the same campaign, we CROMLEY have captured 233 tons of salt.

(Some captures have included quantities of U.S. grains which the Viet Cong had previously acquired one way or another... and considerable quantities of chickens, pigs, uniforms and medical supplies.)

This means that Viet Cong political cadres and guerrilla forces will be forced to spend less time on political organizing and fighting and more time getting the rice and salt they must have.

'Letters Boost Morale of Our Boys Overseas'

I commend The Pontiac Press on the letters to Viet Nam program. I know how much these letters will mean to our boys overseas. The letters are good for their morale and make them realize how much they are loved back home. I have a brother in Viet Nam and sent his name to The Press. He wrote telling me how happy he is to get so many letters, even from strangers. Many thanks to The Pontiac Press.

Question and Answer

Concerning gifts to postmen, the Code of Ethical Conduct says he must not accept favors or benefits that might be construed as influencing his performance of duty. If a well-liked Postal employee is lucky enough to get homemade candy, fruitcakes, maybe a tie or a card with a dollar in it, where do you figure he's being influenced unduly? He gives the best service he can because it's his job and receives remembrances at holidays, not because he expects them, but because there are those who think the spirit of giving still prevails.

ALSO CONFUSED

REPLY

A Pontiac Post Office official recently told The Press government employees aren't supposed to accept gifts. Postmaster Donaldson wishes to change that if it doesn't read:

"We quote from the Post Office Code of Ethical Conduct, 'Never discriminate unfairly by the dispensing of special favors or privileges to anyone, whether for remuneration or not; and never accept, for himself or family, favors or benefits under circumstances which might be construed by reasonable persons as influencing the performance of his governmental duties.'"

"All Postal employees are expected to give prompt, impartial and efficient service at all times to the best of their ability. Nowhere in the Code do we find a prohibition against a patron expressing, in a modest way, his appreciation to a Postal employee for year-long, cheerful and conscientious attention to his official duties."

As the fighting grew in central Viet Nam, the Viet Cong shifted numbers of their troops out of the Delta area south of Saigon. This left them with less control over parts of these rice-rich regions. This meant less rice for them.

U.S. and Vietnamese troops in some areas have also moved out into the countryside during harvesting periods to prevent the VC from taking over the crop.

What is needed now is to continue to tighten this salt-rice noose.

By Auto Critic Nader

Rolls-Royce, VW Hit

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Ralph Nader had a chary warning yesterday for all those kings, princes, sheikhs and uncommon men who revel in the greatest automobile status symbol of them all. The Rolls-Royce, he said, has poor door latches.

On a somewhat lower economic level, Nader also renewed his criticism of the Volkswagen.

The automobile industry's chief critic made his charge in a statement submitted to House Commerce Committee hearings on highway safety.

"The overrated and overpriced Rolls-Royce has poor door latches," he said. "According to Derwyn Severy of the University of California at Los Angeles, at a 20 mile-per-hour impact, the Rolls-Royce's doors, hood and trunk will come open."

In London, where the cars are custom-made, the loudest sound coming out of Rolls-Royce headquarters was the ticking of that clock. The company said it had no comment on Nader's statement.

Nader told UPI he had cited the failure to make cars as safe as they could be as "endemic to the industry."

Indict Former Bank Officials

Federal Grand Jury Charges Fund Misuse

DETROIT (AP) — A federal grand jury Wednesday indicted two former officials of Warren Bank on charges of misappropriating bank funds.

Three counts of the indictment charge Harry L. Hausman and Harry W. Bevan with improperly making bank loans totaling $198,973 to Bevan, to a relative of his, and to a company he owned.

Hausman pleaded innocent when arraigned before Judge Wade H. McCree and was released on $1,000 personal bond. U.S. attorneys said Bevan would be arraigned later this week.

Hausman was identified as president of Warren Bank from 1962 until last January and Bevan as a director of the bank in 1962 and 1963.

Other counts of the indictment charge Hausman with embezzling $2,790 of the bank's funds, accepting $4,000 in gifts in return for approving bank loans, and donating $472 of deposits to the campaign of Macomb County Treasurer Lynn Whalen.

Maximum penalty for misappropriating bank funds is five years in prison and a $5,000 fine on each count. Accepting a gift to arrange a loan is punishable by up to one year and $5,000.

New Influenza Vaccine Is Reported

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Two clinical tests on 100 infants showed the vaccine to be well tolerated.

In a paper prepared for delivery at the annual meeting of the American Society for Microbiology at Los Angeles, the doctors said the new vaccine eliminates the flu-like symptoms of fever and headache often noted by adults following vaccinations and is several times stronger than the standard type.

Farm Where 3 Were Murdered 29 Years Ago

State's '37 Triple Slaying Still Unsolved

(EDITOR'S NOTE — It's been 29 years since the triple slaying of Jehiel Davis and his wife and sister shocked the tiny community of Fenton. The case is still open and every now and then police get a new lead, but they are no closer to solution than they were in 1937.)

By ROBERT A. BATZ
FENTON (AP)—The spring of 1937 came slowly to the hills of Tyrone Township.

On the night of April 14 there was an electrical storm, followed by snow, and the next morning a sparkling blanket of white covered the rolling landscape.

On that stormy night 29 years ago, Jehiel Davis, 76, and his 73-year-old sister, Mrs. Lydia Hildebrandt, were clubbed to death at Davis' Livingston County farm, a mile south of Fenton. Davis' wife, Eleanor, 74, also was beaten and died five days later at Hurley Hospital in Flint.

SUSPECT

Police believe the killer was Ray Larson, a snuff-chewing itinerant laborer employed by Davis, who apparently fled in Davis' 1921 pickup truck and was never seen again. A warrant for his arrest is still on file in the Livingston County prosecutor's office.

Dr. C. H. White, now 61, a physician with offices in Fenton, went to the Davis farm about 11 a.m. April 15. Davis had been ill most of the winter with pneumonia and laryngitis and Dr. White had been caring for him for about a week.

The farm was on old U.S. 25 (now Hartland Rd.) just across the Genesee County line. Davis, a retired Detroit policeman, had operated the farm 27 years.

Dr. White, still practicing here, had visited Davis the night before but when he tried the door to the house that morning he found it locked.

NO ANSWER

"I knocked and there was no answer, so I left," Dr. White recalled.

The physician stopped at the home of Davis' daughter-in-law, Mrs. Jay C. Davis, and informed her of his visit to the farm.

Mrs. Davis went from Fenton to the farm. She climbed through a window and found her father-in-law's body in his bed. There was a pillow over his head. His skull was crushed.

She phoned the Livingston County sheriff's office. When deputies arrived they began searching for Davis' wife and Mrs. Hildebrandt.

GRAIN BIN

The women were found about 2 p.m. in a grain bin in the barn.

Mrs. Hildebrandt was dead. Her skull was crushed and there was a rope around her neck and a handkerchief over her mouth. Mrs. Davis' feet were bound with a strap. She was unconscious from the killer's assault. The 3 x 5 foot grain bin in which the women were found was used for storing feed for horses and cattle. After putting the women in the bin, the killer had nailed the lid down with heavy spikes.

WOODEN MALLET

A carpenter's wooden mallet was found in a water trough near the barn. There were traces of blood and hair on the mallet.

The 1921 Model T pickup, which the old man kept in the barn, was missing, but the mallet had covered any tire tracks.

State Police arrived at the farm about 4 p.m. They talked with Davis' neighbors and relatives. By early evening, Larson, the young farm hand hired by Davis four weeks earlier, had become the No. 1 suspect.

Davis' neighbors and relatives who had talked with Larson said the hand was 25 to 35, weighed about 150 pounds and stood 5 feet 7 or 8 feet 8. His hair, they noted, was light and his eyes were blue.

Lee C. Davis, Jehiel's grandson, probably got to know Larson better than anyone. Lee Davis, who was 20 at the time of the murders, still lives in Fenton and he believes he is the only person who can identify the farmhand.

Davis discredits a report that Jehiel Davis had perhaps as much as $3,000 in the house at the time of the murders. "Whoever killed my grandparents got $35 to $55," he said. "That's all that was in the house at that time."

MURDER WARRANT

About 6 p.m. on April 5, Livingston County sheriff's officers obtained a murder warrant for Larson at Howell.

Law enforcement agencies in Ohio, Indiana, Tennessee and Kentucky were alerted after police learned Larson had once said Mason, Tenn., was his home.

As the search for Larson began, doctors and nurses worked desperately to keep Mrs. Davis alive.

Police were hopeful she would regain consciousness and identify the killer. Nurses were instructed to write down anything she said if she regained consciousness.

At 9:30 p.m. on April 15, Flint police found Davis' old pickup truck abandoned in the southern part of the city. Police decided the killer parked the truck there because it did not have 1937 license plates.

Believing Larson might still be in Flint, police searched theaters and hotels and kept a close watch on railroad stations and bus depots.

Piecing together all of the available clues, State Police reconstructed the crime.

They theorized the Davises and Mrs. Hildebrandt were assaulted between 10 p.m. and midnight April 14.

WROTE NOTES

Because Davis had laryngitis, he wrote much of what he had to say. Police found a note which Davis apparently wrote to his wife the day of the murders.

The note said:

"Ray Larson says the cow is getting her calf. Find out whether he has to have help."

Larson, police surmised, probably lured the women to the barn on the pretext that he needed help with the cow, then clubbed them with the mallet. Thinking both women dead, he put them into the grain bin and nailed the lid closed.

The killer then returned to the house and murdered Davis, the investigators concluded.

WATCH STOPPED

Davis' watch stopped at 10:08. Police found two buckles from a pair of overalls in a coal stove in the house and theorized the killer burned his clothes, which probably were stained with blood. The remains of two pocketbooks and a safety razor also were recovered from the ashes.

After cleaning up, the killer drove the pickup truck to Flint, police believe.

Mrs. Hildebrandt lived in Utica and was visiting the Davises. At 6:30 a.m. on April 19, Mrs. Davis died without regaining consciousness.

NO PHOTOS

No photographs of Larson could be found, so in March, 1938, a bust of the missing farmhand was made in East Lansing by John H. Perry, a 23-year-old artist. The bust was made from descriptions provided by Davis' relatives and neighbors.

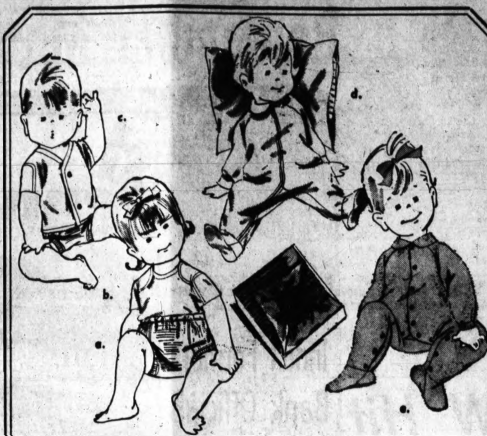

The bust was photographed and the pictures were shown to persons who had met Larson. All said it was an accurate likeness of the farmhand.

In 1938, Detective Joseph G. Pearce was assigned to the Davis case. Pearce, who joined the State Police in 1932, continued the investigation until he retired in 1957. He now is a justice of the peace in Meridian Township in Ingham County.

The State Police file on the Davis case is kept at headquarters in Lansing. It is four inches thick and contains hundreds of pages of typewritten reports, many photographs of suspects and dozens of letters from persons all over the country who reported seeing Ray Larson at one time or another.

'Rise in Prices Will Continue'

Won't Go Above 3 Per Cent—Economist

DETROIT (AP)—Prices probably will continue to rise this year, but not more than three per cent, a University of Michigan economist told a cost-conscious audience of businessmen yesterday.

Prof. Paul W. McCracken also forecast continued economic expansion and a 7.5 per cent rise in the total number of goods and services during 1966.

"We must expect the year to show further increases in costs and prices, especially industrial prices," McCracken, a former member of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, told a national purchasing agents' convention.

"The economy did shoot ahead too fast during much of the last six months," he said, "and the price increases thereby generated will be showing up the months ahead."

TO REMAIN MODERATE

"Even so, the price rise for 1966 of not over three per cent will remain moderate by international standards and will do far less damage to the economy than strong — arm attempts through threats and caplery to hold prices by brute force."

McCracken forecast a 1966 Gross National Product of $728 billion to $730 billion—"about 5 per cent above that for 1965."

"Consumers also seem to be in a buying mood," McCracken said. "The proportion of their after-tax income saved was down to 4.8 per cent last quarter."

"In addition, buying plan surveys have indicated a higher volume of consumer plans to buy such big-ticket items as new cars, major household durables and houses than was true for 1965."

The Coast Guard Needs Rescuing—Send 165 Girls

GRAND HAVEN (UPI)—The Grand Haven Coast Guard would like to borrow 165 girls, preferably pretty.

Chuck Bugelski, chairman of the Grand Haven Coast Guard festival in August, wants the girls as a feature of the event. After that they can go back home.

Bugelski said the Grand Haven port will be on ports of call this summer of the Coast Guard Academy cadet cruise.

Two 311-foot seaplane tenders will dock at Grand Haven for the Coast Guard festival the first week in August.

Aboard the ships will be 165 cadets from the sophomore and senior classes; 165 enlisted men and 50 officers.

The girls are needed for the mayor's invitational cadet prom, a formal dance scheduled for Aug. 4.

McNamara Faces Capitol Hill Attack Over Disposal of Surplus Military Equipment

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara faces a brush-fire war on Capitol Hill over the disposal of surplus military gear.

And Senate investigators added fuel with a charge that the Pentagon is discarding used but current models of military equipment, some of it virtually identical to newly ordered items.

The next formal engagement is due Friday, when the Senate subcommittee on foreign aid expenditures holds a public hearing on Air Force surplus equipment practices.

Sen. Ernest Gruening, D-Alaska, the chairman, has accused the Defense Department of giving away for foreign aid used but repairable heavy equipment.

He said the cranes, bulldozers and tractors are desperately needed by American forces in South Viet Nam.

The Pentagon countered with an assertion that Gruening "apparently wants the American soldiers in Viet Nam to fight with junk."

Gruening's rebuttal: Ridiculous. McNamara has had a stormy year with Congress. On one hand, he has faced the complaints of lawmakers who oppose the U.S. position in South Viet Nam; on the other, senators and representatives who challenge the way the war effort is being managed.

BOTH COUNTS
With Gruening, he's in trouble on both counts. The Alaska, 79, is opposed to American involvement in Southeast Asia.

GROWING STOCKPILE
NASA has a growing stockpile of once-flown spaceships. The agency has launched 16 manned and unmanned capsules. Though structurally sound, officials choose not to fly them again.

Most of the vehicles have found their final resting places in museums or display rooms. Some are taken on tours in the United States and abroad.

Officials advance several reasons for not wanting to rocket a man into space aboard a secondhand capsule. In the long run, they say, it is cheaper to build a new one.

Some of the drawbacks:
• Each vehicle is tailored for a specific mission. Some instruments and experimental equipment fitted into one are not on another. Seats are custom built for the individual astronaut.

WIRING SNIPPED
• When a capsule is prepared for reentry to earth's atmosphere, its equipment and retro-rocket sections are jettisoned away, snipping electrical wiring and fittings.

• Engineers search every inch of the spacecraft after a flight to see just how well it endured the rigors of a flight. They take out equipment, pieces of the protective heat shield, virtually stripping it.

• An overhaul would take too long to maintain the current pace of the nation's space program.

PERMANENT DISPLAY
"Faith 7" is now on permanent display at the Manned Spacecraft Center, near Gemini 4, which Air Force Lt. Col. James A. McDivitt and Edward H. White II flew for four days last June.

"Freedom 7," which took the first American into space, Navy Capt. Alan B. Shepard Jr., and "Friendship 7," which Marine Col. John H. Glenn Jr. flew on America's first orbital trip, are at the Smithsonian Institution in Washington, D.C.

But he insisted in an interview Wednesday that has no bearing on his views about military equipment.

"Whatever may be my opposition to our being there," Gruening said, "I believe that the boys down there should have every possible weapon and advantage that we can give them."

State General Picked for Alaska Command
WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson said Wednesday he will name Maj. Gen. Glen R. Birchard, 52, of Grand Rapids, Mich., chief of the Alaska command of the North American Air Defense Command.

Birchard, who will be nominated for promotion to lieutenant general, will succeed Lt. Gen. Raymond J. Reeves. Reeves was named commander in chief of the North American Air Defense Command.

The Pentagon countered with an assertion that Gruening "apparently wants the American soldiers in Viet Nam to fight with junk."

As for the junk label, Gruening said: "Retrieved equipment is today in use on the docks in Viet Nam to unload badly needed equipment."

Sen. Milward L. Simpson, R-Wyo., — the only other senator on hand at Tuesday's opening hearing — said he wants the used equipment presently being disposed of as surplus — has not been provided."

He said the subcommittee's evidence has refuted that.

"We're talking about current models of equipment that are being disposed of," said Joseph Lippman, who directed a 15-man force of investigators which looked into the supply situation in Europe and Asia.

U.S. Stockpiling Spaceships, but None Up For Sale--Yet

MANNED SPACE CENTER, Houston, Tex. (AP) — A spacecraft classified as you'll probably never see:

For sale — 1965 model, two-place space capsule, like new, bucket seats, one owner who drove it only to orbit and back, five million actual miles. Make an offer.

Used spacecraft aren't on the market yet. Anyhow, not everyone needs a space flying machine — at least for the foreseeable future.

And who could afford one? The two-man Gemini vehicles cost about $25 million each, and the one-man Mercury capsules, about $7.5 million.

GROWING STOCKPILE
NASA has a growing stockpile of once-flown spaceships. The agency has launched 16 manned and unmanned capsules. Though structurally sound, officials choose not to fly them again.

Most of the vehicles have found their final resting places in museums or display rooms. Some are taken on tours in the United States and abroad.

Officials advance several reasons for not wanting to rocket a man into space aboard a secondhand capsule. In the long run, they say, it is cheaper to build a new one.

Some of the drawbacks:
• Each vehicle is tailored for a specific mission. Some instruments and experimental equipment fitted into one are not on another. Seats are custom built for the individual astronaut.

WIRING SNIPPED
• When a capsule is prepared for reentry to earth's atmosphere, its equipment and retro-rocket sections are jettisoned away, snipping electrical wiring and fittings.

• Engineers search every inch of the spacecraft after a flight to see just how well it endured the rigors of a flight. They take out equipment, pieces of the protective heat shield, virtually stripping it.

• An overhaul would take too long to maintain the current pace of the nation's space program.

PERMANENT DISPLAY
"Faith 7" is now on permanent display at the Manned Spacecraft Center, near Gemini 4, which Air Force Lt. Col. James A. McDivitt and Edward H. White II flew for four days last June.

"Freedom 7," which took the first American into space, Navy Capt. Alan B. Shepard Jr., and "Friendship 7," which Marine Col. John H. Glenn Jr. flew on America's first orbital trip, are at the Smithsonian Institution in Washington, D.C.

Linda the Dog All Heart in Research Project

EAST LANSING (AP)—Linda the dog is helping doctors develop ways to transplant vital human organs—which show her heart is in the right place. Her other heart, though, is in the wrong place—in her neck.

Dr. Chiyo Chiba, a woman heart surgeon from Tokyo, transplanted another dog's heart in Linda's neck five days ago.

The heart is expected to stop working in a month or so, but Dr. Chiba intends to study it until then. Linda is expected to live, because her regular heart will continue to do its job.

One big problem hindering such transplants, she explained, is that the body receiving them builds up antibodies which attack the foreign organ.

This must be solved, Dr. Chiba said, before humans can undergo heart transplants. The solution, she said, probably will take several years.

The other big problem is keeping alive the heart to be transplanted, said Dr. Chiba, who has been working on transplants for six years at Wayne State University in Detroit. She brought Linda to a news conference in East Lansing Wednesday prior to speaking to the Michigan Heart Association.

The longest a second heart ever survived in one of Dr. Chiba's experiments was 47 days. The average is slightly longer than a week.

47-DAY CASE

In the 47-day case, Dr. Chiba said, "probably the donor was accidentally fairly well matched."

Researchers are looking for tissue types which would allow close matching of any transplanted organ—heart, kidney or other organs.

Another possibility, Dr. Chiba said, is drugs which would prevent the formation of the antibodies that kill a transplanted organ. But drugs tested so far, she said, also harm the patient.

Linda's second heart is pumping blood but is not taking any of the load off her regular heart. The extra heart is visible as a lump in the right side of Linda's neck, and its beating is visible, too.

When the second heart stops beating, Dr. Chiba said, she will remove it and study it for clues about the antibodies Linda developed. Linda, a medium-sized black and white mongrel, won't be affected in any way.

Dr. Chiba, a 1954 graduate of the Women's Medical College of Tokyo, has performed an estimated 1,000 transplants.

Metro Transit Lines Seek U.S. Subsidies

Announce Pact for Fast Trains

WASHINGTON (AP)—A contract for improved train service between New York and Washington featuring ultra-modern cars capable of speeds in excess of 100 miles an hour was announced yesterday by the Commerce Department and the Pennsylvania Railroad.

Secretary of Commerce John T. Connor said the contract will usher in a new era in ground transportation.

Hourly service between New York and Washington—with service every 30 minutes between New York and Philadelphia—is scheduled to begin in October 1967 operating from early morning to late at night under the contract.

Trains at first will travel up to 110 miles an hour and make the trip in less than three hours. Speeds up to 150 miles an hour are contemplated by 1970.

The effort is part of a three-year, $60-million program of high-speed transportation research and development approved by Congress last year.

Connor said the two-year demonstration project, if successful, might be expanded to such areas as San Francisco-Los Angeles - San Diego; Milwaukee-Chicago - Detroit - Toledo - Cleveland, and Portland-Seattle.

A Junior Editors Quiz About ICE CREAM

QUESTION: Did the ancients know how to make ice cream or was its use discovered later?

ANSWER: Ice was a great luxury for the ancient peoples, especially for those who lived in warm climates. They could not make ice, but they could and did bring blocks of ice down from mountains.

It is known that the Romans made water ices and that Marco Polo, coming home from his famous trip to the Far East, is supposed to have brought a recipe for adding milk to water ices, making a kind of ice cream.

But it was the Italians who really started ice cream on its way.

For a long time they had used ice brought down from the mountains; until, about 1550, someone discovered that if salt was added to ice it would become colder, and that milk and flavoring could be frozen by it.

At first, this delicious dish was reserved by European chefs for the nobility, but the secret soon leaked out.

In America, ice cream was known in the early 1700's but its use was rare until Dolly Madison served it in the White House in 1800.

After 1900 it became America's favorite dessert. By the time of the Louisiana Purchase Exposition in St. Louis in 1904, the ice cream cone had appeared.

FOR YOU TO DO: Try some of the less usual forms of ice cream, like soft ice cream (taken from a freezer before it's hard) frozen custard (with eggs added) and par-fait (a rich ice cream less solid than the regular kind).

Mass Physical Checkups Near

Traveling Machine Likely to Do Lab Tests

By Science Service
LONDON — "Penny-in-the-slot medical checkup may be just around the corner," predicted Dr. David T. Lewis, government chemist, at the opening of an Automatic Laboratory Techniques Exhibition here.

As a forerunner to his robot doctor, Dr. Lewis pointed to a revolutionary machine which could go around the country doing routine blood tests on the whole population, like the mass X-rays of today.

"Forty per cent of the information about a patient's state of health is gleaned through laboratory tests on the blood," Dr. Lewis said. "They can point to many conditions before the patient is aware that anything is wrong."

The new analyzer can do in one day the amount of work that four skilled technicians would normally take a month to get through. The first of these machines has been ordered for St. Thomas' Hospital in London, and two others are to go to hospitals elsewhere in England.

Another piece of equipment, which is designed to complement the first, can measure with amazing rapidity the number of cells and the redness of the patient's blood.

EARLY STAGES

"It will be appreciated that we are still at the early stages of development of some of these systems and they may be more properly referred to as 'automated' rather than 'automated,' Dr. Lewis went on.

"True automation is, however, an obvious target for the future, and the introduction of computer-controlled self-organizing machines into our laboratories and industry is obviously but a matter of time.

"One of their present major applications of automatic systems of display is the speeding up of those important analyses which are essential to medical diagnostics, and most modern pathological laboratories."

France to Shut Air Corridor to NATO

PARIS (UPI) — France's decision to cancel existing rights for NATO military planes to fly over its territory was seen here today as an effort to strengthen President Charles de Gaulle's position during his forthcoming visit to Moscow.

France announced yesterday it had told the United States and other NATO countries that standing rights for military overflights are canceled as of June 1.

Subsequently, such authorization will be given only on a month-to-month basis, the government said.

The deadline is just 20 days before de Gaulle is scheduled to make an official visit to Moscow.

It is a month before the date he has set for France to pull out of the Atlantic military alliance.

UNEASINESS

The announcement revived uneasiness in diplomatic quarters here over NATO being split through the middle by a "neutralist" bloc of Austria, Switzerland and France.

If France were to join the other two in forbidding overflights, the southern tier of NATO nations—Italy, Greece and Turkey—would be effectively cut off seriously from the northern tier.

De Gaulle held an hour long talk with Sen. Frank Church D-Idaho, yesterday in which it was understood he went to considerable lengths to assure him that France's pullout from NATO does not mean she is no longer an ally of the United States.

spent with Church yesterday was unusual.

The President apparently was anxious to insure there was no misunderstanding in Washington of his determination on the NATO issue and his willingness to remain friendly with the United States despite it.

ANGRY LAWMAKER

Another American legislator, Rep. Wayne Hays, D-Ohio, was involved in an angry exchange yesterday with a French lawmaker at the Council of Europe in Strasbourg.

Hays, heading a U.S. delegation to the meeting, said de Gaulle's NATO policy had prompted the U.S. press to revive the old adage: "With a friend like that who needs enemies."

'Creating Major Campaign Issue'

Romney Budgeting Assailed by Ferency

HOWARD (AP)—Gov. George Romney is creating a major campaign issue by opposing legislative efforts to raise his budget, State Democratic Chairman Zoltan Ferency contended Wednesday night.

Ferency, who has announced as a Democratic candidate to oppose Romney for governor, spoke before Cass County party members at Howard Township.

He charged Romney with "repeated attacks against legislative efforts to increase state assistance to local units of government in the vital areas of education, social welfare and aid to senior citizens."

Proposed legislative improvements to Romney's budget, Ferency said, would call for an approximate 5 per cent increase in total spending—or five cents more on every dollar.

"For the first time in a generation," Ferency said, "the State Legislature wants to measure up to its full responsibility for improving state aid to local government, and in typical Republican fashion, our governor is shouting 'no' at the top of his voice."

"Gov. Romney would have us believe that he wants to take that extra nickel, but the truth is that he really wants the local home owner, farmer and personal property taxpayer to shoulder the burden so that he can continue to boast about a nonexistent 'surplus.'"

Trustee Reappointed

LANSING (AP)—Gov. George Romney Wednesday reappointed Chester Schweisinger of Flint as a trustee of the Probate Judges Retirement Board. Schweisinger, 49, was named for a term expiring May 3, 1969. Senate confirmation is required.

Israel Visit by Adenauer Sparks Riot

JERUSALEM, (U) — At least 15 students were injured in clashes with police today during a violent demonstration against Konrad Adenauer — the third since the former West German chancellor arrived here Monday.

Two hundred shield-bearing policemen charged in with swinging batons to quell a crowd of some 1,000 students at Hebrew University campus.

The students bore posters in Hebrew and German reading "Adenauer raus," "vialt Auschwitz" and "end the hypocrisy."

As violence raged outside, Adenauer was inspecting the university library, including a collection of books by and about him.

He had earlier agreed to receive a student delegation but this did not materialize. When Adenauer left the library he was greeted with shouts of "shame" and wartime Jewish resistance songs from a student group.

The former chancellor, who this morning called on President Zalman Shazar, is on a week's tour of Israel at the invitation of the government.

Sentence Killer of 'Tiger Lady'

SAIGON (UPI) — A court has convicted South Viet Nam's most decorated war hero of killing his wife — the famed pistol-packing "Tiger Lady" of the Mekong Delta — and sentenced him to one year in prison.

Maj. Le Van Dan was sentenced to a year for shooting his wife after she burst into his love nest and attacked his young lover.

"I accept the verdict. It was inevitable," said the major.

Dan, whose 44th Ranger Battalion became the only South Vietnamese rangers to win the U.S. Presidential Unit Citation for actions in which the "Tiger Lady" fought at his side, had told the court he shot in self-defense.

The major had told the court his 45-year-old wife, the mother of his seven children, had burst into his hotel room and attacked his young lover.

He said he fired his pistol into the air to drive her away.

But she came back, clutching a knife, Dan said.

She reached behind her back, as if to draw a hidden gun, so he shot her, the major said in a steady voice.

Sukarno Bid Said Denied

Claim to Have Asked Congress Dissolved

JAKARTA (AP) — President Sukarno threatened this week to dissolve Indonesia's highest legislative body in an attempt to regain some of his power but backed off under pressure from strongman Lt. Gen. Suharto, an informed source said today.

However, Sukarno and Foreign Minister Adam Malik agreed to postpone the session of the Provisional Peoples' Consultative Congress, scheduled to start on May 12, the source said.

He added that if the session is postponed, thousands of students will take to the streets of Jakarta to force the convening of the congress.

The congress is already under strong pressure to remove much of the power which Sukarno theoretically still holds.

The source, which asked not to be identified, is close to the inner cabinet which has been running the country since Sukarno turned most of his power over to the military in March.

MAKE DEMAND
The official news agency Antara said today that the anti-Communist students, whose street demonstrations helped the military gain control, have demanded to be represented at the session of the congress.

Under the 1945 constitution, the People's congress has power equal to that of the president and ranks higher than parliament, but in recent years Sukarno has used both the congress and parliament as rubber-stamp bodies.

The informant said Sukarno threatened to dissolve the congress Tuesday night at a meeting with Malik and Suharto at the home of the president's Japanese-born wife, Ratna Sara Dewi.

Suharto told Sukarno bluntly that he would not dissolve the congress, but he and Malik agreed to postpone the meeting, the source said.

Admits Axing of Youth in 'Moors' Trial

CHESTER, England (UPI) — The defense in the "bodies on the moor" trial admitted today that Ian Brady was a murderer but denied that he had killed more than once.

Brady, 28, and his silver-blond mistress, Myra Hindley, 23, are accused of the thrill murders of a teen-ager and two children.

In his final address to the all-male jury, defense attorney Emlyn Hoosen admitted that Brady axed 17-year-old Edward Evans to death during an argument.

But Hoosen said Brady did not kill the other two victims, John Kilbride, 12, and Lesley Ann Downey, 10.

"It has never been doubted that Brady wielded the axe and I cannot suggest to you on Brady's own evidence that in law this could be other than murder," Hoosen said.

But he argued that there was only the "filmiest" evidence to connect Brady and Miss Hindley with the deaths of the Downey girl and Kilbride.

The case is expected to go to the jury Friday.

Death Had Other Plans

ESSEN, Germany (U) — Several weeks ago, Karl Berger, 82, and his wife, Gertrud, 80, made arrangements for their 60th wedding anniversary celebration today at a restaurant near here.

But instead they were buried together today in an Essen cemetery. Berger died Monday in a hospital at Essen Koenigsseele.

His wife died the next day in a hospital at nearby Niederwiesgen. Doctors said the deaths were caused by complications resulting from old age.

House Unit Trims $302 Million From LBJ Request for Federal Agencies

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Appropriations Committee slashed more than $302 million today from the $14.3 billion President Johnson requested to finance 24 federal agencies next year.

It was the first substantial reduction recommended by the committee in five big money bills this session.

Among other cuts, the committee knocked out the entire $19.7 million requested to keep Project Mohole going. This is a National Science Foundation project to drill deep into the earth beneath the sea to try to find out about the earth's age, make-up and other scientific data.

Congress has provided $55.4 million for the project over the past four years.

ANOTHER PROJECT

The committee let the ax fall on another administration project — the rent subsidy program enacted last year to provide better private housing for low-income families through a system of supplemental payments to landlords.

The President requested $35 million for new rent subsidy contracts for next year plus $3 million for payments on contracts already made. The committee cut the new funds to $20 million and chopped $1 million from the 1966 payments.

The over-all budget of the new Department of Housing and Urban Development was cut from $710.4 million to $637 million. The entire $5.1 million requested for grants for training programs in community development was turned down.

It trimmed $25.5 million from the construction budget of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, but approved the entire $51.9 million requested by the Selective Service system.

The first recorded organized labor strike in this country occurred in 1786 when printers in Philadelphia stopped work. They won a raise to $6 a week.

House GOP Leaders Cool to Dirksen Stand on Housing Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Republican leaders apparently have rejected Sen. Everett M. Dirksen's lead in opposing President Johnson's proposed bill on racial discrimination in housing, a key provision of the 1966 civil rights bill.

The lack of strong GOP House support so far for Dirksen's stand has raised the hopes of civil rights leaders that the controversial provision can be retained in the new bill.

Dirksen, the Senate Republican leader, has called the housing proposal "absolutely unconstitutional" and predicted it would be removed from the bill. The measure also attacks discrimination in selection of juries, seeks greater protection against violence for civil rights workers and speedier school desegregation.

But key GOP figures in the houses are having nothing to do with his stand. Minority Leader Gerald R. Ford and Rep. William H. McCulloch, R-Ohio, the senior Republican on the House Judiciary Committee, which will write the bill, say they want to wait until all the evidence is in.

IMPORTANT MEMBER

And Rep. Clark MacGregor, R-Minn., an important member of the judiciary subcommittee now working on the bill, flatly says Dirksen is wrong.

Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach told the subcommittee Wednesday that the major support for continued segregation in housing comes from builders, mortgage holders, real estate brokers and landlords, not the individual home owners.

Katzenbach said home owners are motivated more by fear of economic loss than by racial prejudice in refusing to sell or rent houses to Negroes. The administration bill, by making all discrimination unlawful, would be "a shield to protect them when they do what is right," he said.

Practically all oceanographic and research vessels now have the ability to anchor in up to 20,000 feet of water. Installation of oversized drums that can hold up to 40,000 feet of wire rope has made this possible.

Medic Delivers Viet Baby Aboard Mercy Helicopter

By TOM TIEDE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
TUY AN, Viet Nam — The medical helicopter was on a mission of mercy . . . the evacuation of Vietnamese peasants, each of them ill, to the facilities of a U.S. Army field hospital. Minutes earlier five patients had been carried aboard.

Minutes later six would be carried off.
No, nobody else was hurt. Somebody was born.

Three people sat on the craft's iron floor and two others, one a young woman, were stretched out in canvas litters. They were silent and uncomplaining. Nobody seemed in serious condition.

EXAMINED SICK
Nonetheless, Stan Teopir, a medic from Nebraska, squeezed around as best he could in the cramped compartment and began examining the assortment of maladies.

He looked into eyes, at tongues and into ears. He felt necks, timed pulses and attended to sores.

It was all quite routine. Then suddenly, the young woman began to moan.

She was black-haired, sharp-featured and in obvious pain. She clutched at the blanket thrown over her, she sat halfway up and dropped back exhausted; she drew in her legs and then thrust them back out.

TOO CROWDED
One of the ship's crew tried to get to her but it was too crowded. For a moment he wondered what her trouble was. And then it was obvious.

"Teopir, Teopir!" the crewman screamed.
"What is it?"
"The woman, the woman."
"What's the matter with her?"

"Teopir, you're about to deliver a baby."

JUMPED UP
The medic jumped up and climbed toward the woman in the stretcher. It was true.

Seek Cabbies' Aid in War on Crime

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Richard C. White, D-Tex., has introduced a resolution designed to enlist the nation's taxicab drivers and dispatchers in the war on crime.

The measure would ask the President to consider calling upon the taxi fleets to report suspicious incidents and infractions of the law to local police.

"These men and women constitute a constantly alert group in every city, moving through the streets and byways," White told the House.

Harriman Seeks Better Treatment of Yank Prisoners

GENEVA (UPI) — Presidential Envoy W. Averell Harriman carries American hopes for better treatment of U.S. prisoners of war in Viet Nam in talks here today with International Red Cross officials.

The veteran American diplomatic troubleshooter was scheduled to fly here from London where he held confidential discussions with British Prime Minister Harold Wilson.

Harriman originally was scheduled to come to Switzerland yesterday, but delayed his trip for the meeting with Wilson at the prime minister's offices in the House of Commons.

Harriman had been in London since Monday attending an international conference on ship safety.

Harriman's trip here was prompted by disclosure Tuesday that American officials failed in secret talks with Communist Viet Cong representatives in Prague to make any progress on the POW issue.

FUTILE EFFORTS

The International Red Cross has also made repeated but futile efforts to get the Viet Cong and the Communist North Vietnamese to respect the Geneva accords on treatment of war prisoners.

As of April 23, the United States listed 33 military personnel now held by the Communists in South or North Viet Nam. It has accepted "with pleasure."

At the same time, the corporation announced bids will be taken about May 11 by the Army Corps of Engineers on harbor work. Bid notices already have been mailed.

Freeman Expects Food Prices to Drop

WASHINGTON (AP) — Food prices have reached their peak and will be going down for the rest of the year, according to Agriculture Secretary Orville L. Freeman.

In an interview yesterday, Freeman said this included the whole range of foods, and that increased food production would be the chief factor forcing prices down.

Freeman said he could not predict when lower prices would be felt at the retail counter but said it would happen as soon as processors pass on the lowered prices to consumers.

Freeman said the farmer clearly is not contributing to inflation and high food prices. He noted that farm prices now are about 12 per cent less than in 1952.

Since then, he said, everything else has gone up, including wages, corporate profits and transportation, everything.

SMALL AMOUNT

He said the farmer could not contribute to inflation of the general economy. "Because he gets only 39 cents of the consumer food dollar,"

"I say this with indignation," he said. "The farmer's share is not fair."

The record will show that the American farmer actually subsidizes the cost of living, rather than inflates it, the secretary said.

The daily output of the U.S. Bureau of Engraving and Printing averages a billion dollars worth of currency, securities and stamps.

'Rebels Busy in Rhodesia'

DAR ES SALAAM, Tanzania (AP) — A Rhodesian African nationalist spokesman claims that nationalist guerrillas are still active in an area about 65 miles northwest of Salisbury. He says they killed five policemen Tuesday.

The spokesman for the Zimbabwe African National Union (ZANU) said guerrillas near Sinola attacked a police post guarding the main power line from the Karibe Dam to Salisbury, the Rhodesian capital.

Area Lawyer on Electoral Study

CHICAGO (AP) — The American Bar Association (ABA) announced today it has appointed a commission to seek a formula for modernizing electoral college procedures in presidential elections.

Among those named on the group is William T. Gossett, 420 Goodhue, Bloomfield Hills, president of the American Bar Foundation.

The commission, composed of men prominent in constitutional law, political science and in public life, will meet May 19-20 in Washington, said ABA president Edward W. Kuhn.

The objective in creating the commission, he said, is to seek a "national consensus that would lead to action by Congress for adoption of a constitutional amendment to clarify and make uniform in the states the procedures in electing the president and vice president of the United States."

"Express your personality with wallpaper and paint," was the spring beautification suggestion of this attractive display for Wednesday's Extension Day. Considering decorating possibilities in their households are Mrs. Arthur Kelley of Clarkston (left), who was a Homemakers' Council pin recipient, and Mrs. Chester Adams, Sunnydale Street, Independence Township, council auditor.

Extension Women Have Their May Get-Together

By MARGARET BROWN

The unusual in travelogues, an original slide projection technique, highlighted Oakland County Cooperative Extension Service's Extension Day Wednesday at St. Benedict's Church.

Robert Brouwer of Grand Rapids, noted photographer, brought his intricate Tri-scene projection system for "Canadian Sketches," one of his panoramic "Travelogues in Dimension."

Mr. Brouwer's specially designed equipment includes three screens, controlled lighting apparatus, stereo high-fidelity tape recorder and stereo speakers.

Four projectors with a master control viewer emit his startling synchronizations of sound and scene, photographed with one camera from three different angles.

WON AWARD
Mr. Brouwer's "America — of Thee I Sing" travelogue won the Freedom Foundation of Valley Forge award for bringing about a better understanding of the American way of life.

Mrs. Carol C. Kurth, extension home economist, presented Homemakers' Council pins to Mrs. Otto Wagner and Mrs. Norman Day, both of Rochester, and Mrs. Arthur Kelley, Clarkston.

Special service award certificates went to council officers: Mrs. Berle Dean, president; Mrs. L. Raymond Nelson, first vice president; Mrs. William Looney, secretary; Mrs. Frank Voll, treasurer; Mrs. Chester Adams, auditor; and Mrs. Herman Trost, past president.

FUTURE

"A Glimpse Into 1966-67" was presented by Mrs. Kurth. She informed extension study group

Plan Election of District Hospital Units

Election and installation of officers is planned for the May 17 annual meeting of the South-eastern District of Hospital Auxiliaries.

Luncheon at noon will open the session in Detroit's David Whitney House.

"Boutique ala Hospital," a trunk showing of gift shop items from seven area hospitals, including William Beaumont and Pontiac General, will be the day's program.

A skit concerning proper and improper volunteer attire will be narrated by Mrs. James M. Rison.

The group's meetings will resume in the fall.

Says Thanks to Workers

An appreciation banquet for those who have donated time and effort toward the many programs in the fields of 4-H Club, youth work, family living, education, consumer marketing, horticulture and agriculture, is planned by Oakland County's Board of Supervisors at Oakland University.

OU Chancellor Duward Varner and George McIntyre, associate director of Oakland County Cooperative Extension Service, will be the speakers at the 7:30 p.m. event May 24.

Club Contributes for Children

Proceeds from all fund-raising events sponsored by the Pontiac Round Table Club will be donated to the Oakland County Children's Village.

This was agreed upon by members at the Tuesday meeting in the Watkins Lake Road home of Mrs. K. K. Kreitz.

Mrs. Donald Adams talked on "Pioneer Women."

New officers elected were Mrs. Davy Gilpin, president; Mrs. R. E. Spurgeon, first vice president; Adeline Hook, second vice president; Mrs. James H. McGuire and Mrs. Frank A. Parke, secretaries; Mrs. Leon V. Belknap, treasurer and Mrs.

W. J. Baumgartner, parliamentarian.

The hostess was assisted by Mrs. Hazel Anderson and Mrs. Bradley D. Scott.

To Meet Monday

The newly formed women's committee for Cranbrook Academy of Art plans its first meeting Monday at 10 a.m.

Mrs. George Russell, group chairman, will preside at the meeting in the lecture room of the galleries at Cranbrook. Plans for the coming year's activities will be outlined.

Mother of the Year, '66

She Shuns Finery

CRESWELL, Ore. (AP) — She has met the president of South Korea and attended a state reception in honor of President Johnson, but America's 1966 Mother of the Year doesn't own a pair of white gloves.

Mrs. Harry Holt, 61, describes herself as a farm woman who doesn't need a lot of fancy clothes, yet her activities have taken her to Latin America, Asia and across the United States.

"I get around quite a bit for an old lady with 14 children," she says.

Mrs. Holt was named America's Mother of the Year Wednesday night in Washington. She already is Oregon's Mother of the Year.

HELPED ORPHANS

She is a widow who has helped 3,500 Korean orphans find homes in the United States.

In 1955, Mrs. Holt and her husband, who died in 1964, started an adoption program by bringing eight Asian children into their farm home.

From then until his death, Holt spent more than half his time in Korea while Mrs. Holt found herself in Creswell, near Eugene in the Willamette valley, raising a second family, running a mushrooming adoption service, and working as a one-woman public relations agency for the program.

"Things were never the same after Harry arrived with our eight little ones," she said. "At first we had five in diapers at once. Our first family" was a great deal of help."

Holt once was called a "slave trader" by the North Korean government and fought a continuing battle with social workers, U.S. immigration laws and adoption procedures.

MANY AWARDS

Yet, awards include the Medal of Culture — the highest honor of the Republic of Korea — awarded posthumously to Holt in 1964, the Public Welfare Service Medal from the Korean government and an accompanying citation from the late Korean President Syngman Rhee.

Mrs. Holt's role in the project has been a quieter but equally vital one.

She received her nursing degree from the University of Iowa in 1928, but nursing is only one of her many skills.

All Right, Show How Bad You Really Are

By MURIEL LAWRENCE
DEAR MRS. LAWRENCE: My son in the service was home last week and while I was over at my daughter's house phoned to ask me if he and his friend could fry some steaks. I told him to help himself to anything he wanted. Mrs. Lawrence, you never saw such a mess as they left in the kitchen. I was boiling mad but when they came home, I never said a word. I can never let my anger out and everybody thinks they can make a fool of me. Why do I always have to keep it inside? I have always been like this. We've got to CHOOSE to be "bad" in order to free the anger that we can't help still suspecting as "bad."

You see, as children, our parents made us terribly afraid of opposition to them by calling it "bad." They put us away in lonely rooms, whipped us and looked at us with hate when we opposed them. Opposing people got tangled up in our heads with "badness" — with certainty, for example that a son whose thoughtlessness we angrily oppose is also going to look at us with hate and shove us away from him as our parents did.

In such certainty it's very hard to blow up at him. The only way we can manage it is by the decision to be what our parents called "bad" and let the chips fall where they choose to fall, too.

Don't be discouraged. You're doing fine. You've begun to see what we all have to see if we are to free ourselves from unreliable, inherited notions of "good" and "bad." We have to know that we are feeling the anger our parents damned as "bad."

We have to see that those such wonderfully virtuous parents of ours have turned us into phonies but that we are turning ourselves back into what we are. Always, in what I'm sure is your situation, the crucial problem is our WILLINGNESS

Showers Feting Connie Crozier Before Wedding

Connie Rae Crozier, daughter of the Harold Croziers, South Tilden Avenue, is being entertained before her marriage to John S. Chester, Saturday, in the Orchard Lake Community Church Presbyterian.

Her coworkers gave a luncheon-shower at General Motors Truck and Coach Division on Tuesday.

Mrs. Dorothy Hopkins was hostess at a recent shower in her Birmingham home and Mrs. Richard Carlson of Spokane Drive honored the bride-elect at a trousseau shower.

Mrs. Richard Crozier of Berwick Drive honored her sister-in-law at a recent linen shower.

Sorority Alums Closing Season

The Bloomfield Hills Junior Alumnae chapter of Pi Beta Phi sorority will adjourn for the season following the installation meeting Wednesday in the Birmingham home of Mrs. Charles H. Blair.

New officers taking part in the ceremonies will be Mrs. James G. Duff, president; Mrs. Fenton Talbot, vice president; Mrs. J. A. Birney, secretary and Mrs. R. L. Polk Jr., treasurer.

Mrs. James Duff and Mrs. Mitchell Foster will be co-hostesses and have slated a "Cookie Shine" to highlight the closing party.

Auxiliary Gives Gift to Charity

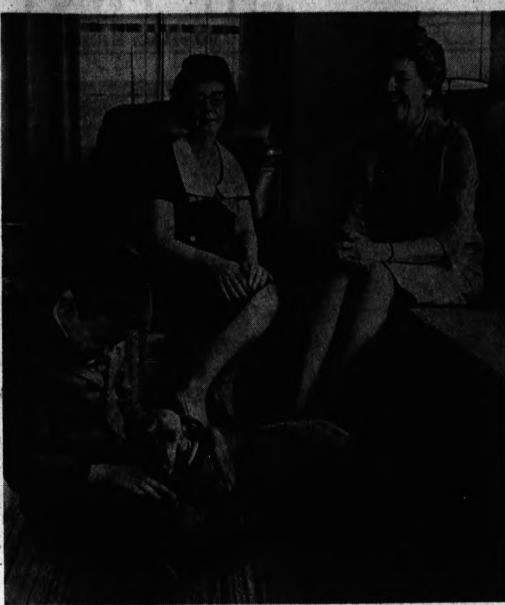

It was announced at Wednesday's annual meeting of the Women's Auxiliary to the Oakland County Medical Society held in Rotunda Inn, that a gift of $1,500 will be given to "Lost Decibels."

Lost Decibels, a parent group for deaf and hard-of-hearing children, sponsors a summer school program which keeps acoustically handicapped children aware of sound during the weeks school is out.

During the summer months these deaf children regress. It takes them from two to three months of review to bring them back to that point in their speech development at which they were when they completed school in June.

Ninety children are expected to attend classrooms established in Pontiac, Royal Oak and Ferndale.

Guiding the auxiliary's philanthropic interests for the next year will be Mrs. Paul T. Lohr, president; Mrs. Dale R. Drew, president-elect; Mrs. Harry E. Lichtwardt, first vice president; Mrs. Gilbert W. Hague and Mrs. Vincent P. Russell, secretaries; and Mrs. Thomas G. Varbeidian, treasurer. Others are Mrs. John T. Beuker and Mrs. Kenneth L. Urwiler.

Nine-year-old Michael plays with his dog Luci while his mother, Mrs. V. N. Schneider, Kennett Road (left) and Mrs. Robert T. Lyons, Bayou Drive, West Bloomfield Township, talk. Mrs. Lyons is president of the Women's Auxiliary to the Oakland County Medical Society, the group which gave $1,500 Wednesday to Lost Decibels. This parent organization sponsors a summer program for deaf children; Michael will attend this year.

Start Work on Fall Fashion Show

Alumnae and members of the Janet Stuart Association of the Bloomfield Hills Convent of the Sacred Heart met for luncheon Wednesday to plan the 10th annual fall fashion show.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray A. Altalo were hosts for the occasion in the Detroit Athletic Club. Mrs.

Altalo is general chairman of the event scheduled for Oct. 5 at Bloomfield Open Hunt Club.

This will be the first time that the fashion show has been presented outside the Convent. Saks Fifth Avenue will show clothes and Chrysler, Ford and General Motors will display the latest cars.

Proceeds go to the building fund.

Luncheons at the Hunt Club and the Convent and a dinner at the club will precede the two performances to be given in the indoor ring.

Assisting Mrs. Altalo as co-chairman is Mrs. Robert G. Fisher. Shelby Newhouse will be the show's commentator.

Cut Appliques From Remnants

Watch your remnant counters for good cotton cloth that has attractive prints. A short length of such cloth will often make many appliques.

Buy the cloth, then cut out the designs very carefully. The floral designs may be appliqued to pillow cases, guests towels, Turkish towels and wash cloths.

Albion Gives Odd Auction

ALBION, Mich. (AP)—Buyers got bargains they couldn't find at any store at an auction held by the Albion College Campus Religious Council, which raised more than $1,000 for World University Service.

A back rub went for $4.50, while a week of waitress service by as sorority pledge class brought in $25. College Pres. Louis W. Norris and his cabinet were sold as singing waiters to a group of freshman girls. Two young ladies were able to sell canoe lessons for $15. One item the auctioneer had trouble moving was a talkathon by women students. It finally sold for one dollar.

Your Friend Is Playing Game on Wrong Fairway

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: We recently bought a new home near our golf club. We have no children and my husband and I have always been very happy together.

My husband urged me to take up golf, which I did. I enjoy it a lot and he is quite an accomplished golfer in a very short time. This seemed to please my husband very much. Then one of my friends told me that she had heard my husband was delighted that I had taken up golf. Why?

Because then he would always know where I was, and he would be free to go where he pleased, and I wouldn't be calling his office every few hours to check up on him. Do you think this friend has a point?

DEAR ABBY: I have a neighbor I'll call Dora. She comes here at 8 a.m. and sits all day long. She is 32, unmarried and has no job. (She says she can't get one because she is so heavy, yet she eats everything offered to her and plenty of it.)

She's made it plain she wants a man. I have a bachelor brother, 32, who comes here a lot, and Dora likes him, but he has never even given her a smile. Every unmarried man she meets here, regardless of his age, she thinks we invited here to meet her.

We can't talk over family matters because Dora is here. I hate to be rude or unkind and tell her not to come over, but my husband says I should. Yet he hasn't the nerve to do it himself. This has been going on for a year. Can you help me?

DEAR ABBY: Your Dora has the mentality of a "friend" has less of a "point" child. Treat her as one. No need to be unkind or rude. Simply tell her she must not come over every day. You'd do Dora a tremendous kindness if you encouraged her to diet and get some sort of a job.

Cotton Fabrics Pretty on Walls

Covering walls with an attractive cotton fabric is a popular decorator trend that has practical aspects. It's a good way to disguise scars and cracks in old walls.

The National Cotton Council suggests you use a firmly-woven cotton for a covering. Apply fabric with cellulose paste. This kind of paste does not bind immediately on contact, so you can smooth out wrinkles and line up patterns before it dries.

Use your ice-cream dipper to fill baking cups for perfect measurement in each cup and a good-looking finished product.

Polly's Pointers

Easy Rip Out

DEAR POLLY — My Pointer is for ripping out a machine-stitched hem or seam without puckering the material.

Snip one side of the seam every half-inch with the point of the scissors and then you can pull the thread on the other side without puckering the fabric. — MRS. C. W. M.

DEAR POLLY — Recently I had the privilege of taking care of my great-granddaughter in my own home. She is only 4 months old and, in packing her bag, my granddaughter forgot to put in an extra pair of plastic pants.

I first wondered what to do but my 71 years of experience soon came to the front and I went to the kitchen for a plastic food bag.

I cut the two bottom corners off for her legs to go through, folded the top in halfway and put the bag on her. It worked just fine as an emergency measure. The bag should fit snugly around the waist so it will not slip down.

—MRS. O. A. C.
DEAR POLLY — My husband buys good belts and when one gets a little worn he buys another. I take his discarded belts, cut them down to my boys' sizes, punch a few holes and they have good-looking belts. — MRS. R. C.

DEAR POLLY — When I buy a greeting card (get well or birthday) and I find one that is particularly appealing I always buy an extra to keep on hand.

Sometimes I see one that seems just right for someone whose birthday may be months away but I buy it as I know from experience I may not find one that seems just right when the time comes. — CHARLOTTE

Anyone submitting a Polly's Problem, a solution to a problem or a favorite homemaking idea will receive a dollar if Polly uses the item in Polly's Pointers.

Parisians Are Feted

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence J. Vaillancourt of Trinity Street and visiting friends from Paris, France were entertained recently at Lake Orion's Villa Inn by Mr. and Mrs. James E. Rose, Lake Orion.

Mimi Bolset and Jacqueline Mousse will be with the Vaillancourts for a week, then journey to Chicago and south to Memphis, Tenn. for the Cotton Festival. Trips to New Orleans, Washington, D.C. and New York also are on the visitors' itinerary.

Mr. and Mrs. Vaillancourt and their children Paul and Annette visited Miss Bolset in 1959.

Women Hear April Report

Reports on last month's meeting of the Auxiliary to the Metropolitan Club, April No. 6 were given at Tuesday's meeting held in the Yale Street clubrooms.

Mrs. Harry Isenberg and Mrs. Ralph Dean Sr. were elected delegates to the national convention at Grand Rapids in August.

Mrs. John Wilson was hostess for the meeting.

Mrs. Joseph Pollina of Oakshire Street (left) and Mrs. Rudy Fortino of Joycel Drive check over the table prizes for the Italian-American Club Auxiliary's annual spring card party. The event will be held in the clubhouse on North Tilden Street Wednesday at 7:30 p.m.

Favorite cookies from the Italian cook book will also make door and table prizes. Mrs. Pollina, chairman, will be assisted by Mrs. Verne Sinkler, Mrs. Joseph Campoli, Mrs. Marvin Wehr, Mrs. Rudy Fortino, Mrs. Gerry Traynor and Mrs. Gulo Bernero.

OHCC Slates Gala Evening Saturday

Members of Oakland Hills Country Club will welcome spring Saturday evening with a formal dinner dance planned around "A Night in Reno."

The decor will faithfully follow that of the most plush Nevada casino.

Les Shaw and his band will provide the music for dancers and club officers will welcome new members at a reception before dinner.

Those with early reservations include the Jack L. Rine-

harts, Lawrence Carinos, George L. Barkers, E. C. Metcalfe, Dr. and Mrs. Cecil Akroyd, the John L. Aherns, Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Fritz, the Robert Rowans and the Roy Smiths.

Match a Hanky With Her Dress

With each cotton dress you make for your girl, pink her a matching handkerchief. Place in the pocket of dress each time that you launder it.

When the need for a good size patch arises, the hanky will provide one of the right color, as it will have been laundered just as many times as the dress.

Working on arrangements with the John Demmans, chairmen, are Judy Ewald, Mrs. Sue Blanchett, the Carroll S. Andersons, the Charles E. Barbys, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Carpenter, the Karl R. Crawfords, the Horace D'Angelos, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd H. Diehl Jr., the Don W. Gramams, the Charles B. O'Neils, Dr. and Mrs. Paul W. Trimmer and the Allen L. Youngs.

Factors to Be Considered

Emotional Development

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE, CASE Y-406: Doris D., aged 26, is Guidance Counselor at High school.

"Dr. Crane," she began, "we have had several cases of homosexual attachments between students."

"And I have heard arguments, pro and con, concerning whether homosexuals are 'born that way'."

"What is the latest attitude of psychiatry on the subject?"

SEXUAL DEVIATIONS

In brief, we feel that homosexuality is a result of factors in a child's environment.

Thus, it is not an innate or inborn matter.

However, the potentiality for love is inherited and based on glandular functioning.

But so is the appetite for carbohydrates, proteins and fats.

This generalized hunger which we inherit must then be influenced by our early training.

For example, whether you shall dine on shredded wheat or oatmeal, puffed rice or grapefruit, thus is not due to heredity.

Instead, it is traced to your early table training.

But that basic hunger for carbohydrate foods is innate.

Applied to the homosexual, his sexual deviation is likewise due to chance contacts in childhood which made him turn his appetite for love to a member of his own sex.

Keep this scientific distinction vividly in mind, for many well educated people still look upon the homosexual as a social leper or a pariah.

There are various stages in our emotional growth.

First, the infant is in the egocentric stage where he has no regard for anybody else but himself.

He is thus the center of his social universe and is concerned only with getting his own appetites cared for.

Second, from the toddler age till early grade school, the child learns that his parents are dominant love objects.

CHANGE

But from 9 to 13 years, he enters what is technically the true homosexual phase.

This means he enshrines his own sex as supreme and sneers at the opposite sex.

Boys disdain girls at this stage and girls, in turn, regard boys as merely dirty, freckled face monsters or a pain in the neck.

But by the middle teens, a reversal occurs, so boys begin to wash and slick down their hair.

They awkwardly try to slide up to those same girls whom they disdained a few years earlier, and help carry their school books.

This is the heterosexual level of emotional growth.

It is attained perhaps by 75 per cent to 85 per cent of adults.

But many adults get "fixated" at earlier stages.

Thus, the psychopathic person never evolves beyond the selfish or egocentric emotional state.

And chronic old bachelors or spinsters who can't get loose from parental apron strings, thus are fixated at the kindergarten level.

Others, often by chance, become physical homosexuals.

So send for my booklet "Sex Problems of Young People," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 20 cents. Use it to safeguard youth.

(Letters write to Dr. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, enclosing a long cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

People in the News

A dog means more to Billy Adkins than to most young boys.

The 12-year-old youngster is a cancer victim and confined to bed in his Cleveland, Ohio home.

Two weeks ago his dog, wandered off and never came back.

"We didn't know what to do without that dog," said his mother, Mrs. Alvis Adkins. "She meant so much to Billy that once we moved rather than give her up."

When the story of Billy's flight was written in the Cleveland Plain Dealer and transmitted by the Associated Press, it brought an offer of another dog.

And an Oakland, Calif., telephone operator arranged for Billy to talk to his brother in Viet Nam.

Parents will be asked to complete registration forms and provide a birth certificate and immunization record.

City Planners Reject 2 Cases, OK Others

City planners last night denied two rezoning petitions, approved four other requests and reaffirmed their position on the minimum 1,000 square foot requirement for single family homes.

Final action on the planning decisions rests with the City Commission.

The City Planning Commission agreed with protesting residents of the area and recommended denial of the petition for residential R-3 rezoning for property at 824 Orchard Lake. An apartment building was planned for the parcel.

Requested commercial rezoning for property near the northeast corner of Auburn and Tasmania was given a negative recommendation.

GETS APPROVAL

Receiving favorable recommendations last night were commercial rezoning for one lot on Monticello, provided a fence is installed; R-3 rezoning for 300 feet of property west of the Metropolitan Club, 37 W. Yale; and commercial and R-3 rezoning for an apartment-commercial complex on a former city landfill site off Orchard

Lake Avenue near Washington Park subdivision.

In granting a favorable recommendation to the latter rezoning, city planners stipulated that access to the projected complex from streets leading into the subdivision should be reviewed.

Residents protested the number of streets planned to lead from the future complex into the subdivision.

In other business last night, the planning commission recommended that the ordinance requiring a minimum of 1,000 square feet in future single-family homes be left unchanged.

HAVE OBJECTION?
Belair Home Builders had objected to the requirement, stating the ordinance should distinguish between a concrete slab home and a house with a basement.

A staff report last night indicated that in the future the ordinance should be changed to require more square footage as a minimum size for concrete slab homes.

A public hearing on requested R-3 zoning for a 10-acre parcel south of West Columbia, east of Alcott School, was adjourned for another month to allow more time for site plan changes.

25 Pupils Join Women in Cleanup

Twenty-five Pierce Junior High School students, their teacher and 12 Waterford Township women teamed up Tuesday in a trash cleanup along five township roads.

The area covered consisted of about one-eighth of a mile on Crescent Lake Road, north of the Clinton River; a mile of Pontiac Lake Road; west of Watkins Lake Road; Hatchery Road from Crescent Lake Road to the Dixie, and portions of Saginaw Trail and Airport Road.

When they were through, they had gathered a pile of trash about six feet high and 10 feet in diameter, according to reports.

The cleanup was in connection with the Greater Waterford Community Council's second annual beautification month which will continue through next Tuesday.

Williams Will Tour County on Tuesday

A day-long tour of Oakland County will be conducted Tuesday by former Gov. G. Mennen Williams, candidate for the U.S. Senate.

His activities will begin with an early morning visit to plant gates in Pontiac and will be followed by a breakfast with local labor and business leaders at the Waldron Hotel.

During the morning he will visit the county building, the Highland Lake campus of the Oakland Community College, and Oakland University, where he will be hosted at a luncheon sponsored by faculty members.

The rest of the day will be spent visiting several south Oakland County communities.

OCC Budget Hearing Set for Tonight

A public hearing on the proposed $4,760,943 Oakland Community College budget for 1966-67 is slated for 8 p.m. today in conjunction with the meeting of the college's board of trustees. The balanced budget calls for $3,459,838 in operating expenditures and $1,327,005 in building and site appropriations.

More than half of the required income, or $2,546,885, is anticipated from the one mill voted local tax.

State aid is expected to yield $1.1 million and $21.975 is anticipated in tuition and fees. Other income sources include state reimbursement programs, earned interest and repayment of building and site money to the operating fund.

OTHER BUSINESS

In other business tonight, the board of trustees will consider a recommendation of OCC President John E. Tirrell that the contract for construction of the second phase of the Orchard Ridge Campus be awarded to the low bidder.

The R. E. Dailey Co. of Southfield, with a proposal of $9,227,700, was low among three contractors bidding on the job. Cost estimate on the project was set at $9.3 million.

Citrus red mites, the most destructive pests of California's citrus industry, are being destroyed by being sprayed with water suspensions containing a virus disease.

Area Man Seeks State JC Post

A member of the Waterford Township Junior Chamber of Commerce, Ronald Rogers will make his bid this weekend to become the first president of Michigan Jaycees from the Pontiac area in 43 years.

Rogers, 32, of 2159 St. Joseph, West Bloomfield Township, is one of four candidates for presidency of the Michigan Jaycees.

The election — highlight of the Michigan Jaycees' two-day convention — will be held Saturday night in the Lansing Civic Center.

If Rogers is successful, it will mark the first time anyone from the Pontiac area has been state president since 1923, according to Ted McCullough Jr., Rogers' campaign manager.

Al Hill of Holly, the last area candidate for the post, was defeated at the 1959 convention. Currently a national director of the Jaycees, Rogers will face the challenge of three other candidates — Jay Stierling of the St. Joseph-Benton Harbor chapter, Wendell Smith of Plymouth and Ken Halter of Flint.

According to McCullough, 2,000 Jaycees and wives will attend the convention. Thirty-two members of the Waterford chapter plan on attending to lend support to Rogers.

Rogers is an employee of the State Department of Social Welfare where he is supervisor of business enterprises for the blind.

ed Ferris State College, University of Detroit and Wayne State University.

CARO CHAPTER

As a Jaycee, Rogers was once president of the Caro chapter and served as a state vice president in 1964-65.

If elected president, Rogers would serve a one-year term. A Pontiac area resident most of his life, Rogers is married and has six children.

Fears That Buddhists Might Oust U.S. if They Win Viet Elections Are Pooh-Poohed

By PETER ARNETT
SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — "It's wishful thinking by the doves, and near hysteria by the hawks." That is how one observer summed up foreign reaction to a possibility that Buddhist-dominated National Assembly in Saigon might end the war by making a quick deal with the Communists, then tell the United States.

The comment reflected a growing feeling in Saigon that the Buddhists are not as pacifists as many thought during recent weeks of crisis which resulted in capitulation by the military government to the Buddhists.

At that time, Buddhist leaders were deliberately vague about the future of the United States in Viet Nam and the war. Asked at a news conference if the Buddhist hierarchy wanted the war to end and the Americans to go home, the militant monk Thich Thien Minh replied: "If the people want that, then it shall be."

ON RECORD

Thich Tri Quang, the ascetic central Vietnamese mastermind of the recent troubles, has gone on record three times recently with statements that tend to support the status quo in Viet Nam.

Tri Quang has specifically singled out the Communist ideology as a threat to Buddhism, a comment reassuring to Westerners mistrustful of the extremist Buddhists.

But neither Tri Quang nor Thien Minh mentioned the Viet Cong movement, the Communist-directed organization that has grown into a full sized army in recent years.

As the Buddhists grow more powerful, maybe they feel they can set more like the "Third Force" that they aspire to be coming in between the Vietnamese army on the one hand and the Viet Cong on the other to bring peace, some feel.

Whatever theoretical concepts the Buddhists are espousing these days are taking second place to the demands of practical politics. Ever since the government agreed to hold elections before September, senior Buddhist monks have been out on the hustings, Buddhist style, that is conferring in provincial pagodas with local monks and lay members.

The fact that the Buddhists have won the confidence of the Catholics appears to have guaranteed that a Buddhist-dominated assembly would not hastily rush into the arms of the Communists. The Catholics hate the Viet Cong.

Buddhist leaders refuse to discuss the future of a National Assembly in any specific way. One of them, Thich Ho Giac, would only say: "The assembly is the will of the people. The people will do what they have to."

All the Buddhist leaders talk of peace and the possibility of negotiating an end to the war. But they won't say how they plan to bring this about.

Newlywed GI Slain

First Letter Was His Last

GREENWICH, Conn. (AP)—Mrs. Roseann A. Pecora, a bride of eight months, was crying after receiving the first letter from her husband in Viet Nam.

"I feel as safe as if I were back in the States," wrote infantryman Joseph Pecora to his 21-year-old wife and childhood sweetheart.

The reassuring letter arrived at the Pecora home in nearby Cos Cob Tuesday.

And by a tragic coincidence, Pvt. Pecora was killed the same day a world away in a grenade explosion.

TWO KILLED

Pecora, who would have been 21 May 31, died 13 days after arriving in Viet Nam. The same explosion that took his life killed another Connecticut soldier, Antonie Kociper, 19, who lived only 25 miles away in Bridgeport.

Two Army majors visited Mrs. Pecora Wednesday and told her the news.

The Pecoras were married last Sept. 4 in a ceremony they had planned for eight months. Four months later he was drafted.

After infantry training at Ft. Dix, N.J., and Ft. Polk, La., he returned home for a short leave last month. He had won three medals for sharpshooting in basic training.

OFF TO SAIGON

Then, on April 18, Pecora left for Saigon. His wife, his father, Joseph Pecora, a waiter; and his mother, Josephine, were among those who saw him off at the airport.

Only a few days after arriving in Viet Nam, Pecora saw action with his 25th Infantry Div.

His first letter told of preparing to go after "Charlie" — a GI term for the Viet Cong. And he reassured his wife and family that he was in good hands.

Pecora was graduated from Greenwich High School and Wright Technical School in nearby Stamford.

He had planned to work in his father-in-law's business when he returned from Viet Nam.

Satellite Will Probe Upper Atmosphere

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The Space Agency plans to launch a 400-pound satellite next Wednesday packed with experiments to probe the secrets of earth's upper atmosphere.

The spacecraft — called Atmospheric Explorer — is scheduled to ride a Douglas-built Delta rocket into an egg-shaped orbit ranging from 750 to 170 miles above the earth.

Prime goal of the satellite is to collect information so scientists can better understand how chemical, magnetic and electrostatic changes occur in the upper atmosphere.

A secondary objective is to study the effects of short-term disturbances in the atmosphere caused by radiation from solar storms. These storms disturb short-wave radio communications which use the ionosphere as a reflector to bounce signals around the globe.

The ball-shaped satellite, to be called Explorer 32 after achieving a successful orbit, is the second such spacecraft launched by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

Viet Soldiers Desert

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — A lot of soldiers on both sides are deserting in Viet Nam.

Defections from the Communist Viet Cong are running more than 2,000 a month, American officials report.

Against this, the officials say desertions from the South Vietnamese regular army run currently at 6,000 a month, with additional desertions from the regional and the popular forces.

These figures must be considered in proportion. The government military strength is estimated at 600,000, including auxiliary units. The Viet Cong guerrillas, plus North Vietnamese regulars and village auxiliaries, are estimated to total 200,000 to 250,000.

RETURN HOME

Most deserters from the South Vietnamese army do not go over to the Viet Cong. Instead they return to their homes, go into hiding or filter into the cities looking for work. Some re-enlist later.

The rate of desertion — nothing new in this land — continues to cause deep concern for both the South Vietnamese government and the American military.

They draw some encouragement from the rising number of Viet Cong defections.

These totaled 2,336 in March, the highest so far, and American officials say a quarter of them were officers. Viet Cong defections, less than 1,000 a month last year, rose to 1,672 in January and 2,911 in February.

Two of Quadruplets Born in Cuba Die

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Two of the quadruplets born yesterday to Ciria Garcil, a 30-year-old housewife, died last night at Calkix Garcia Hospital in Havana, the Cuban radio reported.

The mother and other two babies, a boy and a girl, are doing well, said the Miami-monitored broadcast.

The father, Jose Marcos, 35, is a farm worker. The couple, married 15 years, has three other children.

— largely leaflets and front-line loudspeakers — the government promises Viet Cong defectors good treatment. It also encourages them to bring over weapons, offering rewards up to 20,000 piastres — $274 — for 57mm recoilless rifle.

The propaganda also plays on the hardships of life under the Viet Cong.

A returnee, as he is called by the South Vietnamese government, is first sent to an "open arms" center for 45 days to be checked and rehabilitated. Then he is sent back to his native locality if it is in government hands. If not, he is resettled elsewhere.

The government is building resettlement centers for returnees and their families. Each center will accommodate 100 families.

The returnee is given a small sum of money and rice for six months. He is exempt from the army draft for a year. If he joins a propaganda team to lure other Viet Cong defectors he is given a salary, an allowance and an 18-month draft deferment.

Since the program was started in February 1963, nearly 25,000 Viet Cong have defected to the South.

Lynda, Actor Will Marry, Says Eddie

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Singer Eddie Fisher has brought word to the White House that Hollywood "loves Lynda" and, he says, he thinks the Johnson's oldest daughter will marry actor George Hamilton.

"They're very much in love with each other," Fisher told UPI. "I believe they will get married. They get along so well together. They hit it off."

Fisher, who sat at the same table with Lynda when she was a smash hit at the Academy Awards presentation, was a guest at a White House diplomatic reception last night.

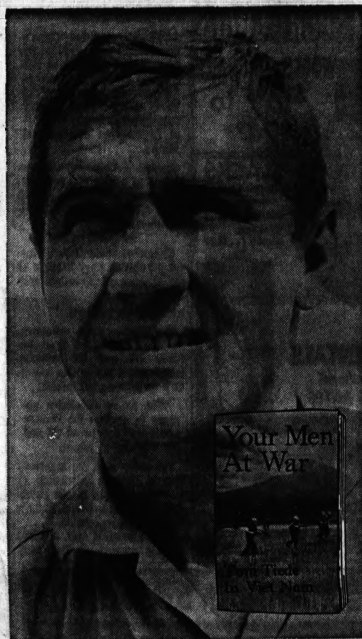

The Johnsons greeted him warmly as he came through the receiving line where he told them of how highly regarded Lynda was in Hollywood.

So far both Lynda and Hamilton have denied reports that they are engaged to be married, but Lynda wears Hamilton's ring on her wedding ring finger.

Policy Rift Blossoming in Red China

TOKYO (UPI) — Communist China declared today that a serious struggle over domestic and foreign policy is occurring among its intellectuals and within the Chinese Communist party itself.

It hinted at possible new purges.

Although it was not openly stated, the argument appears to have some bearing on China's position in the Viet Nam war, as well as on domestic issues of economic and social policy and intellectual freedom.

The official revelation of the new wave of debate came in an editorial in the "Liberation Army Daily," official newspaper of the Chinese armed forces.

Excerpts were broadcast by the New China News Agency.

The editorial said a new group of "scholars, specialists and professors" has grown up that "opposes the party and socialism, does all sorts of cloaks, makes grand gestures and deliberately turns simple things into mysteries."

This new group, it said, was working "in coordination with the antiparty activities of the right opportunist elements within the (Communist) party" itself.

The Liberation Daily charged that the group was launching "offensives" against China's present policies, and is "in tune with the international anti-China chorus raised by the imperialists, modern revisionists and the reactionaries of all countries."

This is Chinese Communist shorthand for people — Communist and otherwise — who advocate peaceful coexistence in general and a peaceful settlement in Viet Nam in particular because of the danger a nuclear war could arise from the conflict.

WAVING FLAGS
The editorial said the new "anti-party, anti-socialist group" was "waving 'Red flags' to oppose the Red flag, and donning the cloak of Marxism-Leninism and Mao Tse-tung's thinking to oppose Marxism-Leninism and Mao Tse-tung's thinking."

The fact the antiparty group used "Mao Tse-tung's thinking to oppose . . . Mao Tse-tung's thinking" seemed to give currency to rumors that the leader, who has not been seen in public since November might be dead or incapacitated.

If Mao were to speak publicly, there would be no question of how to interpret his writing.

The paper said it feared that capitalism would be restored "either by violent means or by peaceful evolution or by a combination of both," and accused the antiparty group of trying to "conquer us . . . by the use of sugar-coated bullets."

Say Population to Skyrocket

LONDON (UPI) — Communist China's giant population will soar to 1.75 billion by the turn of the century — some two-and-a-half times its present level, according to an authoritative study published today.

The study said that such a tremendous increase does not necessarily exclude the containment of China's population within its present borders.

The study, entitled "China's Population" and produced by Dick Wilson, a writer on Far Eastern affairs, appeared in the current issue of "The World Today," the monthly publication issued by the Royal Institute of International Affairs.

It said if China continues to expand at a rate of 2 per cent, as it has been doing, it will reach a level of about 1.75 billion in about 30 years.

Estimates about China's present population vary because of the absence of up-to-date official figures.

RECENT ESTIMATE

The most recent estimates, the study said, put it at between 670 and 680 millions, though some authorities consider it as high as 780 million.

"The safest conclusion appears to be that the Chinese now number between 725 and 750 million," it added.

The study said the argument that a Chinese population of 1.75 billion could not be physically contained within China's borders is questionable.

The Chinese, it said, are less densely packed on their soil than are many European populations. China has some 200 inhabitants per square mile, France 226, India 348, Britain 577, Japan 538.

A Chinese population of 1.75 billion at the end of the century would be roughly as dense as the British population at that time, it said.

Holt Boy, 5, Is Okay After Heart Surgery

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Five-year-old Carlos Ortiz has a new patch in his heart, and doctors at University of Michigan Hospital report he's doing just fine.

Physicians gave the good news Wednesday to Carlos' seven brothers and sisters and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Manuel Ortiz of the Lansing suburb of Holt.

Carlos' brother, Joe, 12, recalled that when doctors discovered a hole between two chambers of the youngster's heart, Ortiz, a 40-year-old railroad worker, explained it to the family.

"The doctor said he'd have to put a little 'patch' on Carlos' heart, like you put a patch in the pants," Ortiz said.

Carlos was skeptical.

"He didn't want to go," said Joe. "Sunday night when we were eating supper Carlos told my mother that if he had to go he didn't want to. But we talked to him and Monday morning he decided to go."

Doctors performed a four-hour open-heart operation on the boy. "Carlos came through beautifully," one physician said afterward.

One-Fourth of Mankind

(14) Christ vs. Confucius

by Don Oakley and John Lane

I have never seen a document which contains so much nonsense. — K'ang Hsi on the Bull tilla die.

The first armed clash between the Ch'ing (Manchu) dynasty and the Russians, who were penetrating and colonizing northern Manchuria, took place in 1652. Repulsed at first, the Chinese later scored successes.

In 1689, the Treaty of Nerchinsk was signed, ending a quarter century of undeclared war. It was to hold Russia at bay for 16 years.

Acting as interpreters during the negotiations were missionaries of the Society of Jesus, who were among the few foreigners Chinese admired.

The Jesuits had arrived in China during the Ming and, accomplished Renaissance men, soon made themselves useful.

MOST FAMOUS
Most famous of these men was Matteo Ricci, who came to Peking in 1601.

Realizing that the only hope of converting China to Christianity was to win over her leaders, he mastered the language and dressed in mandarin garb.

Wisely, Ricci drew a map

2 Men Stand Mute in Cabbie's Death

DETROIT (AP) — Ervin Clay, 27, of Hamtramck and Donald Bolton, 25, of Detroit stood mute Wednesday when arraigned on charges of the murder of a Detroit cab driver April 25.

Both were jailed to await examination May 12.

Homicide Inspector Robert Grindle said the two admitted the fatal shooting of Clyde Fotion, 37, during an attempted holdup. He said Clay admitted firing the fatal shot.

showing China in the center of the world.

Wisely, too, he and his successors attempted to accommodate the ancestor worship of Confucianism within Christianity. They were bitterly opposed by the rival Franciscans and Dominicans, who considered such practices idolatry.

LONG DISPUTE

A long-continuing dispute—the "Rites Controversy"—over this question and over the meaning of the Chinese word T'ien, or Heaven, was finally settled by Pope Clement XI in 1715, who issued a papal bull ruling against the Jesuits.

This outraged the brilliant Emperor K'ang Hsi in two sensitive areas — his authority in his own realm and his Confucianism.

"I have concluded that the Westerners are small indeed," said the man who had granted an edict of toleration to the Christians in 1692.

"From now on Westerners should not be allowed to preach in China, so there will be no trouble."

Yet even before the papal ban on Confucianism (which was not lifted until 1939), Christianity had made little progress in China.

The literati were interested in the Westerners' science, not their theology, and the Jesuits had never been able to explain a logical connection between the two.

Later, when Christianity was backed up by guns, this disdain turned to hatred.

Fireman Dies in Truck Leap; Is Hit by Train

NEW LONDON, Wis. (AP) — A fireman who leaped from a moving fire truck he apparently thought was going to collide with a train, was killed Wednesday when his momentum carried him into the path of the train.

The fireman, Glen Thorpe, 28, was riding the rear of the truck as it sped to fight a fire on a farm.

The truck was approaching the railroad tracks when Thorpe shouted he thought an oncoming train was going to hit the truck. A fellow fireman told authorities that Thorpe, the father of six, unbuckled his safety belt and jumped.

Boy's Adventure

Lake Erie Treasure Tale

"—And the worst dreams that ever I have are when I hear the surf booming about its coasts—the sharp voice of Captain Flint, still ringing in my ears: 'Pieces of eight! Pieces of eight! Pieces of eight!'"

—Robert Louis Stevenson's "Treasure Island"

WHEATLEY, Ont. 409 — His father had forbidden Jack Pinder Jr. to wander around the Lake Erie beach after last week's destructive storm sent the surf surging ashore, but it's hard to keep a 14-year-old boy from going on his own private treasure hunt.

The thing is, you can never tell when you're apt to find something interesting — like a Spanish silver piece of eight.

Sure enough, that's what Jack found on the beach.

"I couldn't believe it," the elder Pinder said yesterday. "I mean you just don't find pieces of eight every day."

The coin, dated 1804, may not be of great value on today's market, but it's worth its weight in gold to boys of all ages who followed the adventures of Jim Hawkins, Captain Flint and Long John Silver in "Treasure Island."

Pieces of eight were the legendary booty in the days when pirates roamed the high seas.

The money museum at the National Bank of Detroit said the coin the Pinder boy found was definitely a piece of eight and probably went down with a ship that sunk in Lake Erie long ago. Coin collectors value the piece at under $10.

MARQUETTE JR. — Northern Michigan University has announced it will add wrestling and gymnastics to its intercollegiate athletic program, effective with the 1966-67 season, and has named varsity coaches in both sports.

Named NMU's wrestling coach was Ed Brown, who had five years of experience in St. Paul, Minn., high schools and two at Wisconsin State University at Oshkosh.

Lowell Meier, a member of Northern's faculty since 1962, was named to coach the gymnasts.

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (UPI) — Two Syracuse, N. Y., teams rolled into fifth and sixth place in the boosters standings of the American Bowling Congress tournament Wednesday night.

Gagne Masonary, a hurriedly assembled club, shot 2744 for fifth. Leadoff man Leonard Lanni led the team with 606.

Polish Home of Syracuse took over sixth without benefit of a 600 individual score. The team had 2740.

Pet's Dairy of Rochester leads the booster with 2834.

Ticket Sale to Aid City Program

A lot of baseballs, bats, catcher's gear and safety helmets can be purchased for $1.200 . . . particularly when it's spent on youngsters.

The money is available to the Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department this summer if it can sell 700 tickets to the Detroit Tigers' exhibition baseball game May 16th at Tiger Stadium against the St. Louis Cardinals of the National League.

The department has turned to Howard Dell, one of the city's biggest boosters of kids' athletics, for help in selling the allotment.

The Tigers and Cardinals play an exhibition game each season, alternating between St. Louis and Detroit, for the benefit of sandlot baseball.

Nearly $85,000 was raised through the contest two years ago in the Motor City. Game time is advanced to 7 p.m. for the benefit of the younger fans.

GOOD SEATS
Dell reports that more than 400 tickets from the Pontiac portion have been sold already. Good box and reserve seats are still available.

The box seats sell for $3; there are 20 upper box and 45 lower box tickets remaining. The reserve seats are $2.25. Dell still has 211 of them left, either upstairs or down.

All receipts are retained by the recreation department. Local business and service organizations have purchased

High Handicap Links Problem? Not to Woman

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — Just because Grace Clay, the cute Atlanta housewife who upset the defending champion, has the highest handicap among the quarter-finalists in the 51st Women's Southern Amateur, don't count her out.

Mrs. Clay has another uphill battle today in her match with Nancy Roth Syms of Hollywood, Fla., winner of the Southern two years ago. But Mrs. Clay is a veteran at amateur competition and her husband, Jim, says she's playing better than ever before.

In Wednesday's second round, Mrs. Clay downed defending champion Tish Preuss of Pompano Beach, Fla., 3 and 1.

Mrs. Syms won 4 and 3 over 15-year-old Kaye Beard of Campbellsville, Ky., yesterday. Mazoo has won four and lost 19.

Titan Swings Hot Bat in Double-Header Win

KALAMAZOO (AP) — University of Detroit's Tom Siedlaczek hit a triple, a double and two singles in four trips to the plate Wednesday as U of D swept a doubleheader from Kalamazoo College, 7-4 and 13-3.

Harry Brinsden of Detroit and Kalamazoo's Ron Atkinson homered in the first game.

The victories gave Detroit a 5-7 record for the season. Kalamazoo has won four and lost 19.

Records Assault Set for Oxford Cinders

If the weatherman cooperates, an assault on the record book is forecast for the fourth annual Oxford Invitational Track Meet Saturday.

Eleven records were established last year, but if good weather prevails, many of those will tumble, says Oxford coach Lee Nofz.

There are 20 teams in the invitational and they'll move into the field events at 1:30.

Preliminaries in the track events start at 2 p.m. Finals are slated for 7 p.m. under the lights.

Nofz looks for some record-breaking performances from favorites Waterford and Warren Fitzgerald.

SKIPPERS SHARP
Waterford's Skippers have been impressive in recent outings. They easily knocked off Cranbrook Tuesday, a team that won the Class B Central Michigan Relays last weekend.

In beating Cranbrook, the Skippers' Dave Kline won the low and high hurdles in times much better than the existing Oxford meet records.

Kline took the 120-yard high in 15.4 (Oxford record is 16.8) and the lows in 28.8 (record is 21.1).

Oxford may also take a hand in the record-making.

The Wildcats' Mike Lantry set the shot put mark last year with a heave of 52-14, and he's almost certain to top that this Saturday.

KC Pilot Dark Gives Pitcher a Workout

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) — wanted to see that he got it. Alvin Dark, the new Kansas City manager, was the center of controversy today after letting his starting pitcher, Fred Whitfield, take a 10-run pounding in five innings.

The Angels went on to a 13-2 victory Wednesday night.

"He needed the work and I victory Wednesday night."

"But what about Talbot's earned run average?" someone asked, figuring the 24-year-old right-hander's ERA had ballooned to 10.86.

"An earned run average means about as much as a stolen base when a team's 10 runs ahead," Dark replied.

Senators' Pilot Happy as Team Nips Orioles

WASHINGTON (AP) — Manager Gil Hodges of the Washington Senators was in a happy, talkative mood. His team has been winning lately.

Minnesota Starts Fast in Halting Chicago, 6-1

CHICAGO (AP) — Don Mincher's two-run double keyed a three-run first inning that triggered Minnesota to a 6-1 victory over the Chicago White Sox Wednesday night.

Hazel Park Lists 2 Handicap Races

Hazel Park Race Track will conclude its second week of operation Saturday with a 10-race card that features two notable handicap events.

They are the $7,500 Great Lakes Handicap for three-year-olds and up at six and a half furlongs, and the $7,500 Hillsdale Handicap for three-year-olds at one mile.

Astros Blank Chicago for 4th Straight Win

HOUSTON (AP) — Robin Roberts scattered seven hits, posting his first shutout of the season, and Dave Nicholson hit a three-run homer as the Houston Astros whipped the Chicago Cubs 4-0 Wednesday night for their fourth straight victory.

Mets' Hamilton Tosses 1-Hitter in Halting Cards

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Jack Hamilton pitched a one-hitter and Ron Swoboda and Eddie Bressoud hammered home runs as the New York Mets blanked the St. Louis Cardinals 6-0 Wednesday night.

Cardinal starter Ray Sadecki managed the only Cardinal hit when he dumped a two-out bunt down the third base line in the third inning and beat Ken Boyer's throw. Lou Brock followed with a walk but Hamilton struck out Alex Johnson, ending the inning.

St. Louis got only two balls out of the infield against the veteran right-hander who struck out six and walked one. He retired the last 19 batters in a row.

Bressoud, who had three hits, opened the game with a single and after Jim Hickman walked with two out, Swoboda walked off his homer.

Phillies Hurler Short Turns in 2-Hit Game

ATLANTA (AP) — "I'm not afraid any more," southpaw Chris Short of the Philadelphia Phillies said in explaining how he pitched a two-hitter against the Braves.

"I used to be scared to throw the ball in toward a right-handed batter, but I'm not now, and that's what I did against the Braves," the 28-year-old veteran of five previous campaigns with Philadelphia said after he beat Atlanta 2-1 Wednesday night.

Tony Gonzalez hit his first home run of the year in the second, and the Phillies scored their winning run in the fourth on consecutive singles by Dick Groat, Bill White and John Calison.

Big Ten's Unbeatens Put Records on Line

CHICAGO (U) — The bunched front runners should be thinned out in the Big Ten baseball race this weekend.

Scorer Gives Credit Where Credit's Due

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (AP) — The official baseball scorer at Penn State has come up with a new statistic — the team error.

In recent game with Susquehanna University, the Susquehanna first baseman hit a high pop fly in the general direction of the shortstop.

Penn State shortstop Paul Koors called for the ball. So did third baseman Barry Miller. Both backed off, and the ball fell between them.

Faced with the alternative of (a) calling it a hit, thus helping the batter's average and hurting only the pitcher's statistics or (b) calling it an error on the shortstop or third baseman, hurting the fielder's and the batter's average, the scorer made his decision.

When the final college statistics are published later this year, at least one team will have a new category — team error.

Defending champion Ohio State, also unbeaten at 2-0, but having an important twin bill with Michigan rained out, has a chance to make hay if the sun shines.

OSU HOST

The Buckeyes are host to a pair of second division contenders this weekend. They meet Wisconsin (1-5) in a Friday solo and engage Northwestern, also 1-5, in a Saturday pair.

Entering this third weekend of conference play, only four teams have escaped one or more weather-caused cancellations. These are Minnesota, Northwestern, Wisconsin and Purdue (6-5-1).

Friday's round of single games also includes Northwestern at Indiana (1-2) and Purdue at Michigan State (2-3).

Completing Saturday's twin bill round: Illinois at Michigan State; Purdue at Michigan; and Wisconsin at Indiana.

Latest conference statistics today disclosed Michigan's Bob Reed has a chance to smash the Big Ten's 20-year-old record for most pitching victories in a season, six.

Reed, Wolverine junior, has posted a 4-0 record, accounting for all of pacesetter Michigan's victories. He won shutout decisions over Indiana (6-0) and Northwestern (5-0), and won twice in relief against Wisconsin last weekend.

Plans Are Revealed for Wixom Museum

WIXOM — "You've got to think big, really big," said John Findlayson, assessor and No. 1 booster for the growing City of Wixom.

This is exactly what B. J. Pollard, owner of a construction company in Detroit has done. A museum is to be established on 105 acres purchased recently by Pollard for $180,000. It will be located directly opposite the Wixom Ford plant, near the junction of I-96 and Wixom Road.

A proposal to rezone the property from residential to special business use will be submitted to the planning commission Monday night.

Plans call for the main building to be 60 by 600 feet. It will house one of the finest collections of restored antique cars in the nation. Also on display will be antique farm equipment donated by George Berr.

FARM HOME
Berr has lived most of his life in the Wixom area. His farm home is at 2300 Gleggery, Commerce Township.

Vision-Hearing Program Slated for Preschool Children in Utica

UTICA — A vision-hearing screening program for children 3½ to 4½ years old is being undertaken by the Utica Community Schools, the Macomb County Health Department and the Michigan Department of Public Health.

Children in this age group in the Utica school district will be tested at three centers.

Those living between 19 Mile and 21 Mile roads will be tested at Flickinger Elementary School Monday through May 12.

Those in the area north of 21 Mile will be tested at Wiley Elementary May 16-20.

Children living south of 19 Mile will be tested at Redemption Lutheran Church from May 22-27.

Dr. Oscar D. Stryker and Dr. Leland C. Brown, director and deputy director of the health department, advise all parents of children in this age group to take advantage of the service.

Strike Slows Work on Hospital

AVON TOWNSHIP — A construction strike which began Monday is starting to slow down work at the new Crittenton General Hospital on Walton Boulevard.

Hospital Administrator A. Riley Allen said the main problem is the lack of a hoist operator to move equipment to the top level.

"The other trades could work better if the hoist operators would settle," he said.

The hospital will be seriously affected only if the strike lasts longer than a couple of weeks, Allen said.

Farmington Players Add 2 Performances

FARMINGTON TOWNSHIP — The Farmington Players have added two more performances to the schedule for their production of "Blithe Spirit" at the Playhouse on 12 Mile between Orchard Lake and Farmington roads.

In addition to the performances at 8:30 p.m. Friday and Saturday, there will also be performances at 8:30 p.m. May 13 and 14.

The number of workers on the job has been considerably reduced, he said, and will probably be down to less than half in a couple of days.

Mechanical and electrical workers are still working on the first level, according to Allen, but very little can be done above that level. He said concrete pouring is being held up because hoist operators are also needed for that.

The hospital was scheduled for completion next April. Completion date now will depend on when the strike is settled.

"The trouble is," said Allen, "once you lose momentum like this it's hard to get going again."

The museum complex is the brainchild of Pollard, who is in his mid-70s.

An avid antique car collector, Pollard refuses to retire and hopes to fulfill the "dream of a lifetime" with the historical center.

Boston was the young nation's most populous city in 1720 with 12,000 inhabitants. Philadelphia ranked second with 10,000 and New York was third with 7,000.

Saginaw; and Mrs. Donald Beach, 1109 Sunset. Holly. Proceeds of the sale, to be held at the corner of Grange Hall and Fish Lake Roads, will be used to pay for uniforms for the senior band. A country store, art display and baked goods sale will also be featured.

Area Escapes Frost Damage

Fruit Grower Says Cold Snap Unharmful

Tuesday night's unseasonable frost caused some consternation among area fruit growers, but apparently little damage to their trees.

W. L. Mainland, owner of Oakland Orchards in Milford Township, said the buds on his fruit trees showed little or no signs of damage when he checked them yesterday.

"We were worried when we learned the temperature had reached a low of 28," Mainland said, "but apparently the wind prevented any serious damage."

Mainland said other fruit growers in the south Oakland "fruit belt" also reported that their trees had escaped injury.

Normal spring farming activity in Oakland County has been almost at a standstill for the past 10 days because of the abundance of rain and unseasonably cool weather, according to Lyle B. Abel, county extension agent.

BEHIND SCHEDULE

Preparation of land for corn and oats is about 10 days behind schedule, Abel said, and the oats that were planted before the onset of the recent wet spell haven't started to grow yet because of the cold nights.

Complaints about the rain, however, have been rare among farmers whose 1965 corn crop was practically worthless because of prolonged drought.

The much-needed moisture now in the soil will give this year's crops a fast start when they finally do get planted, Abel said.

Hursfall described the residences as "old summer vacation cottage-type homes."

He noted that although some of the properties have been upgraded, year-around occupancy has contributed to failing septic fields.

"We're going to make a wholesale attempt at cleaning up the area," said Hursfall who disclosed that state and county health departments have been informed of the growing problem.

"WHERE'S THAT CHECK?" — One of nine Malaysian monkeys in a study by the Regional Primate Research Center in Seattle goes to check the mail. There was none, but the mailbox is part of the primate's "enriched environment." Other less-fortunate monkeys in the study have no such artifacts and turn out less "well-adjusted."

Monkey's Behavior Is Related to Human Delinquency Cause

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP)—Once each day, five days a week, a tall, blonde psychologist and housewife named Betty Gordon climbs a ship's ladder to a 6-by-6 foot soundproof cubicle on the roof of Seattle's regional primate research center.

Mrs. Gordon seats herself on a stool and watches one of the nine Malaysian monkeys in a larger enclosure on the other side of a one-way glass window. As she watches, she speaks into a tape recorder.

In a typical session, she might begin like this: "Uma, is, moe, is, flux, moe-10, 10ex, mhriz, mozi, iv."

IN TRANSLATION

Translated, that means: "Mother and infant are seated close to each other, infant stands, infant steals food from mother, mother stops eating, infant eats, mother grabs infant, mother bites infant, infant vocalizes."

Researchers at the University of Washington say they are finding that such observations give them new insights into human behavior—particularly into what factors make some babies grow into well-adjusted children and adults while others have trouble getting along.

Mrs. Gordon is one of four observers in a mother-infant and group behavior study under Dr. Gordon D. Jensen, psychiatrist and pediatrician. Each observer records observations for 10 minutes at a sitting, using code because there wouldn't be time otherwise. All observations describe, as Dr. Jensen puts it, "who does what to whom."

The tapes are analyzed by computers.

In an earlier study, 12 mothers and their infants were observed—some in deprived, some in enriched and others in semi-enriched environments.

The deprived environment was a cage with nothing in it. The enriched environment had toys, climbing bars and other little monkeys. To create the semi-enriched environment, researchers began the mother and child in a bare cage and added the other elements after four months of the six-month study.

"The infants raised in the enriched environments were superior in dominance and adequacy," said Dr. Jensen.

"The other infants were growing up with all the mothering they could want and were highly inadequate socially because they lacked opportunities to climb, to play with toys and particularly to have the companionship of others."

"This sort of thing gives us insights into possible important factors in human child development. It's not a direct application, but there are parallels. Spoken for the primate center view such research as a possible scientific validation of enrichment programs along the lines of Project Head Start and prekindergarten schools."

Request Drug Samples Be Destroyed

NEW YORK (AP) — The Pfizer Drug Co. disclosed Wednesday it has asked doctors across the country to destroy its drug samples after what one executive termed a minor labeling mixup was discovered last month.

J. Philip Smith, vice president of the firm's drug operations, emphasized that none of the individual samples involved was mislabeled. But, he said, a few instances had been found where shipping cartons, while correctly identifying the type of drug, listed "an erroneous indication of strength."

Smith said the shipping cartons were designed to be carried by Pfizer salesmen on their rounds, and that only in "very few" cases would the cartons be given to doctors.

Nevertheless, he said, Pfizer, after consulting with the Food and Drug Administration in Washington, stopped distribution of all samples, and mailed letters to 250,000 physicians asking them to destroy any Pfizer or Roerig samples they had on hand. Roerig is a division of Pfizer.

The letter, dated April 27, did not identify the drugs where errors had been found. Smith said, nor would he name them, saying Pfizer had agreed on this policy with the FDA. He said errors had been found in several different drugs, all packaged by outside firms.

Status Symbols Tell if You're Moving Up

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Are you forging ahead in life's rat race? Or are you just a treadmill mouse that has fallen behind?

Surprisingly, many people don't know for sure.

It isn't always easy to tell. The size of your pay check is one tipoff, of course. But a lot of executives with large salaries are well-paid barons that sooner or later will be scraped off.

There are, however, certain symbols of status. Here are a few unmistakable signs:

LUNCH MONIES

Your wife raises by at least $1 the amount she daily does you as lunch money.

You can afford to drive a small car because your neighbors are well aware you can afford to buy a larger one.

One of the two or three television sets in your home is a color set.

At quitting time you don't have to tote home a briefcase stuffed with newspapers just to prove how hard you are working.

Instead of talking about office problems, the boss likes to chat with you about his golf scores.

If you don't have an office of your own, at least your desk is by a window with a nice view.

The senior vice president hates you and regards you as a conniving young whippersnapper.

If the firm buys a table at a public dinner, you and your wife get your tickets weeks ahead of the event—not the day before after some other executive decides he can't make it.

You feel free to have a martini at lunch without gulping three packages of mints afterward to kill your breath.

You get paid once a month instead of once a week like the office peons, and the office mails your check directly to your bank.

When you want to take the afternoon off to watch a ball game, you can go without leaving a four-page note explaining that your aunt has just died or one of your kids has come down with the mumps.

If you wear bow ties, the office boys start wearing bow ties also.

Shackled Girl Is 'Picked' Free

DETROIT (AP)—Little Angelina Stephenson, shackled for more than two hours by what Mama thought was a pair of toy handcuffs, owes her freedom to the lock-picking abilities of a Detroit police lieutenant.

The plight of 3-year-old Angelina first was reported Tuesday to police in suburban River Rouge.

The girl's mother, Doris, said she playfully put the handcuffs, which belonged to her husband, on the girl's wrists.

It turned out they weren't toys. River Rouge Police Chief Loren Pittman tried every key he could find, without success. Then officers drove her to Detroit.

Just as police were bringing in a pair of formidable bolt cutters, from the bomb-disposal squad, Lt. Earl Leedle of the police scientific laboratory asked to have a try at the cuffs. Leedle poked away at the locks for about four minutes with a set of picks. They opened. Angelina just grinned.

Paraguay Government To Call Assembly

ASUNCION, Paraguay (AP)—The government of President Alfredo Stroessner says it will call a National Assembly this year to set up two houses of Congress. Paraguay now has only one legislative body. In a 1960 referendum, Stroessner also plans to create a position of vice president.

CRACKER 'N' TUNA STUFFED TOMATOES

Fish Stew Calls for Simmering

In the recipe use bone-in fish slices from red snapper or a similar variety of fish.

- Fish and Vegetable Stew
4 medium baking potatoes, peeled and quartered
2 medium onions, peeled and quartered
1 can (1 pound) solid-pack tomatoes, undrained
1 teaspoon salt and 1-16 teaspoon pepper
1/2 teaspoon each paprika and sugar
1/2 teaspoon dried crushed thyme
1 large bay leaf
2 cloves garlic, crushed
1 pint water
4 small or 2 large fish steaks or bone-in slices (1 1/4 pounds)

Into a kettle, turn all the ingredients except the fish. Bring to a boil; cover and simmer until potatoes are tender — about 30 minutes.

Add fish, halving steaks if large; cover and simmer until fish flakes easily — about 10 minutes. Correct seasoning.

Serve in wide soup plates with spoons and forks. Makes 4 servings.

To Garnish Soup

Hollow out lemon halves and fill with drained crushed pineapple to float in a cold water-cress soup, or any other kind. Top the pineapple with a puff of salted whipped cream if you want to be fancy about it.

Toaster Heats Rolls

Do not turn on the oven of your stove when you want to heat one or two rolls. Simply wrap them in aluminum foil and place atop your electric toaster. Press down the lever. When it pops up, press down again. When the second toasting cycle is finished, rolls will be just the right heat.

Canadian-Style Bacon and Filled Crepes with Strawberry Sauce
1/2 cup sifted flour
1/4 cup sugar

ELEGANT BRUNCH — Canadian-style bacon and strawberry cream crepes are fabulous brunch foods. You can make the crepes ahead of time and refrigerate them until time to heat them in a fry pan.

Pontiac Press Food Editor
May is the beginning of the salad season; in fact, in the food industry it is celebrated as salad month.

It is heartening to see teen-agers pick salads when they eat out. They'll often eat vegetables, otherwise rejected, if these are served raw in salad. Husbands might too.

Good coleslaw is a fine basic salad. Whether you chop or shred your cabbage, you can count on its being a favorite with most people.

Start with this good simple recipe and vary it as you like.

BASIC COLE SLAW

- 6 cups finely shredded cabbage
- 1 cup shredded carrot
- 1-3 cup undrained sweet pickle relish
- 1 tablespoon grated onion

- 1/2 cup mayonnaise
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon celery seed
- 1/2 teaspoon pepper
- 1/2 teaspoon dry mustard

Combine all ingredients; toss lightly. Chill. Garnish with pickle fan, if desired. Makes 6-8 servings.

VARIATIONS

Add one of the following:

- 1/2 cup salted peanuts
- 1/2 cup raisins
- 1/2 cup chopped pimiento
- 1/2 cup chopped drained pineapple, or drained crushed pineapple
- 1/2 cup chopped apple and 1 tablespoon additional mayonnaise
- 1/2 cup chopped celery and 1 tablespoon additional mayonnaise
- 1/2 cup chopped green pepper and 1 tablespoon additional mayonnaise
- 1/2 cup sliced radishes and 1 tablespoon additional mayonnaise
- 1 cup quartered tomatoes or halved cherry tomatoes and 2 tablespoons mayonnaise

Luncheon salads are filling ones, needing only hot rolls or crackers, a beverage and dessert to make a complete meal. Try one that starts with cold cuts and adds such interesting things as rice and preserved ginger.

Oriental Luncheon Salad
1 package (about 1/2 pound) sliced New England brand sausage or bologna
1 can (1 1/2 ounce) pineapple chunks

- 1/2 cup salad dressing
- 2 tablespoons finely chopped preserved ginger (optional)
- 1 tablespoon preserved ginger sirup or pineapple sirup
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 3 cups seasoned cooked rice, chilled

- 1 can (8 ounce) water chestnuts, drained and sliced
- 1 cup diced Cheddar cheese
- 1/2 cup sliced celery

Letuce
1-3 cup toasted slivered almonds.

Out sliced cold cuts into small wedges. Drain pineapple; save 1-3 cup sirup. Combine pineapple sirup, salad dressing, ginger, sirup and salt; mix.

Combine sausage wedges, pineapple, rice, celery, water chestnuts and cheese. Add salad dressing mixture. Mix carefully and chill.

To serve, spoon salad into lettuce lined salad bowl. Top with almonds. Yield: About 8 cups, 6 to 8 servings.

Then there's the seafood salad. You can serve tuna-stuffed tomatoes with pride that you're giving family or guests a different and tasty course.

CRACKER 'N' TUNA STUFFED TOMATOES

- 10 double thin salines
- 4 medium tomatoes (3 1/2 in. diameter)
- 1/2 teaspoon dried dill weed
- 1/2 cup minced celery
- 1 can chunk tuna (9 1/2 oz.), drained and flaked
- 1/2 cup mayonnaise

Pre-chill all ingredients, except crackers. Break crackers with hands into coarse crumbs. Set aside. Cut stem ends from tomatoes and gently remove centers to form hollow cups. Fill berries with mixture of cracker crumbs, meal.

dill weed, celery, tuna and mayonnaise.

Garnish with salad greens or parsley and radish roses. Yield: 4 servings.

Bacon Sandwich

Has spring fever affected your family's breakfast appetites? If so, stimulate those lazy attitudes by offering something different. Serve crisp-cooked bacon between slices of freshly toasted bread accompanied by mugs of hot cream of tomato soup. Add soft-cooked eggs and ready-to-eat cereal with fresh berries if you want a heartier meal.

TURKISH LAMB PATTIES—Two pounds of ground lamb will feed six people if you make lamb patties. A garnish of lemon slices and rice with currants give the meal a Turkish touch.

Ground Lamb Makes Good Inexpensive Dish

Food with a foreign flavor is a pleasant change from the usual fare. Your family will love Turkish Lamb Patties—spicy and delicious. You make them from a rich base of crushed round buttery crackers and add ground lamb, onion, tomato juice, nutmeg and seasonings.

Fry the patties until golden brown and then serve with currant-rice. Here's how:

Turkish Lamb Patties
45 butter crackers, (about 1/2 of a 10-oz. package)

2 lbs. lean lamb (ground twice)
1 cup chopped onion
2 tablespoons shortening
1/2 cup milk
1/2 cup tomato juice
3 eggs, beaten
1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper

4 tablespoons shortening
With blender or with rolling pin, crush crackers into medium fine crumbs (there should be about 2 1/2 cups); set aside. Place lamb in a mixing bowl. Sauté onions in 2 tablespoons shortening until soft but not brown. Remove from heat and stir in 1 1/4 cups crumbs. Add to the meat with milk, tomato juice, beaten eggs, nutmeg, salt and pepper. Mix together lightly but well.

Shape into 6 large patties about 1" thick. Coat patties with remaining crumbs. Melt 4 tablespoons shortening over moderate heat, add patties and brown slowly on both sides. Serve with lemon wedges and parsley. Yield: 6 servings.

Gumdrop Roses Trim Custard-Filled Cake

Entertain your family and friends this spring with a delectable "Flower Basket Cake" blooming with roses created from gum drops. This cake is a perfect climax to a little girl's birthday party... a spring luncheon or tea... or a festive dinner.

The decorated cake is filled with a heavenly rich egg and whipped cream custard. The handle is made of cookie dough and the "basket" effect is achieved with chopped nuts.

Flower Basket Cake
(9-inch cake, butter, sponge, chiffon or angel food)

Filling
2 1/4 cups milk
1/4 cup sugar
1/4 cup plus 2 (tablespoons) flour
3 eggs, well beaten
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup heavy cream, whipped

Scald milk. Beat sugar, flour and eggs together over hot water until light. Slowly add milk. Stir until mixture reaches boiling point. Remove from heat. Stir in vanilla. Stir until mixture cools. When custard is cool, fold in whipped cream. Pile into center of basket cake.

Cookie Handle
1/4 cup butter
1/2 cup sugar
1 egg
1 tablespoon milk
1/2 teaspoon almond extract
1 teaspoon salt
1 1/2 cups flour
Cream butter, sugar and egg until light and fluffy. Add milk, extract, salt. Beat well. Slowly add flour. Cut dough into two pieces and form each into long rope, about 18 inches long. Form into handle. Bake at 350 degrees until lightly browned. Makes two.

TO ASSEMBLE BASKET CAKE

Remove center of cake leaving about 2 inches on bottom and 1 1/2 to 2 inches around rim. Spread sides and top with simple confectioners' icing. Sprinkle with chopped nuts or shredded coconut. Insert handle into sides of cake. Fill with custard cream.

Top with gumdrop roses made by rolling large gum drops flat and thin in sugar, to prevent sticking. Shape into roses. Cut leaves from green gumdrops rolled thin.

FLOWER BASKET CAKE—Flower Basket Cake, blooming with gum drop roses and filled with heavenly-rich egg and whipped cream custard, is a perfect climax to a little girl's birthday party... a spring luncheon or tea... or a festive dinner.

Whipped Cream Mixture Fills a Cake

Cubed bananas, packaged diced with rum or vanilla make a delicious and chopped almonds fold-luscious filling and topping for ed into whipped cream flavored chocolate cake.

Cereal Sweet Is Sesame Coated

Oriental sweets are rather mild, sometimes flavored with almonds or sesame. Chinese cooks have developed a form of "puffed rice" used to make candy. See how easily this treat is made.

Chinese Rice Candy

6 cups puffed rice
1/4 cup sugar
1 cup light corn syrup
1/4 cup water
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons sesame seed, toasted

Heat puffed rice in large shallow baking pan in preheated moderate oven (350 degrees) 10 minutes. Pour into large greased bowl.

Combine sugar, syrup, water and salt in medium-sized saucepan. Stirring frequently, cook to 236 degrees or until syrup dropped into cold water forms soft ball.

Pour over puffed rice; stir until kernels are evenly coated. Sprinkle sesame seed on bottom of greased 8-inch square baking pan.

Flavor Eggs With Herb

Tarragon gives interesting flavor to stuffed eggs.

Tarragon Egg Salad
6 hard-cooked eggs
1/4 teaspoon salt and 1/2 teaspoon white pepper
1/2 teaspoon prepared yellow mustard
2 tablespoons mayonnaise
2 tablespoons tarragon vinegar
Dried crushed tarragon to taste
Lettuce

Cut eggs in half lengthwise and remove yolks; mash yolks with all the ingredients except the lettuce. Stuff yolk mixture back into egg cavities. Serve on lettuce. Makes 4 servings—3 stuffed egg halves per portion.

Peanut Products Give Vegetables Interest

PEANUT VEGETABLE DRESS-UPS — A duo of fresh vegetables sports toppings made from peanuts: salted peanut-crumb toppings adds crunchy flavor to whole cauliflower, while melted peanut brittle glazes carrot strip bundles.

Muffins at Breakfast May Tempt Teens

Poor nutrition among the nation's teen-agers is cited as one reason for their poor physical condition. It is serious enough to be of concern to medical and nutrition authorities, according to a U. S. Department of Agriculture report.

Breakfast skipping ranks high among their bad habits.

A teen-ager who insists she has no time to eat will find that a basic breakfast of fruit, cereal, milk, bread and butter is the quickest, easiest, and most convenient to prepare.

Some small "extra" frequently is the only food needed to transform an ordinary breakfast into something special.

Chop Toffee for Crunch in Drop Cookies

Cookies and kids just naturally go together, and they both wind up at the same place — the cookie jar. Here's an exciting new jar-filler for kids young and old, with a "surprise" flavor... English toffee.

Chopped chocolate-covered English toffee candy bars and chopped pecans combine in a drop cookie that is moderately sweet, different and appealingly crunchy and chewy. The candy bars are handy to work with, for they may be chopped with a sharp knife or broken up with a rolling pin.

These cookies are especially good for mailing to students or servicemen; they pack easily and store well.

Toffee Crunch Cookies
1 1/2 cups sifted flour
1/2 teaspoon baking soda
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup butter or margarine
3/4 cup (packed) brown sugar
1 egg
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup finely chopped English toffee candy bars
1/2 cup coarsely chopped pecans

Combine and sift flour, soda and salt. Cream butter or margarine. Add sugar, egg and vanilla; mix until smooth and creamy. Stir in dry ingredients; blend in chopped candy bars and pecans. Drop tablespoonfuls 2 inches apart onto greased baking sheets.

Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) until done, 12 to 15 minutes. Remove from baking sheets; cool. Yield: About 3 dozen cookies.

Prunes Dipped in Batter to Fry

Is the bunch coming for brunch? Here's food for table talk! Plump, tender California prunes are dipped in a light, frothy egg batter, then gently browned in butter.

If you're feeling dramatic, stage this with your chafing dish. Nice to serve with Canadian bacon, croissants or sweet rolls, plenty of piping hot coffee.

Prune Puffs
1 1/2 cups plumped prunes (about 16)
1 egg, separated
1 tablespoon flour
1/4 teaspoon salt
Pepper
3 tablespoons butter or margarine
Remove pits from prunes. Beat egg white until stiff; then beat in flour, salt, pepper and egg yolk. Dip each prune in beaten egg batter... Fry on both sides in butter until golden brown. Makes 4 servings.

New ways to dress-up vegetables are welcomed by most all homemakers, whether their families love vegetables "as is" or require a bit of disguise to tempt them to a trial bite.

Perhaps you are in the habit of thinking of peanuts as strictly snack-time treats. If so, these recipes may surprise you. Try them to add interest to your menus now, and throughout the year.

Unique flavor, crunchiness and easy preparation are just a few of the qualities peanuts bring to everyday food preparation. Generous supplies of food energy, protein and B-vitamins are another peanut bonus.

A crumbly topping of chopped salted peanuts, dry bread crumbs and peanut oil offers delightful texture contrast for fresh or frozen cauliflower. And, the same topping is equally appropriate on whole green beans or Brussels sprouts, as well. It's pretty, too!

A glaze of melted peanut brittle suggests a fast and easy way to brighten up carrots. A little butter or margarine and water are the only additional ingredients needed for this brief recipe. It's good on sweet potatoes, too.

A third peanut-vegetable combination calls for peanut butter as the flavoring in a delectable sour cream sauce for spinach. Results: a delicious dish fit for family for company meals.

This dish may be made ahead of time and kept warm in the oven until time to serve, a bonus for easy menu preparation.

Peanut Crumb Topping for Cauliflower
1 head cauliflower
2 tablespoons finely chopped salted peanuts
1/2 cup dry bread crumbs
2 tablespoons peanut oil
Wash cauliflower and remove tough leaves and stalk from bottom. Cook whole in boiling salted water until tender, about 15 to 20 minutes, depending upon size of head. Meanwhile, blend peanuts, bread crumbs and peanut oil until crumbly.

Drain cauliflower well, place in serving dish and top with Peanut Crumb Topping. Makes about 6 servings.

Peanut Candied Carrots
1 pound fresh carrots

1 tablespoon butter or margarine
1/4 cup coarsely crushed peanut brittle
1 tablespoon water
Wash and peel carrots and cut into finger-size strips. Cook in small amount of boiling salted water until tender.

Meanwhile measure butter or margarine into small saucepan, and place over low heat until melted. Add peanut brittle and water and continue heating, stirring frequently, until candy is melted.

Drain carrots and pour melted candy over them, tossing to glaze. Serve at once. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Creamy Company Spinach
2 packages frozen spinach
1/2 cup dairy sour cream
1/4 cup peanut butter
1 teaspoon garlic salt

Cook spinach according to package directions; drain well.

Meanwhile, blend sour cream, peanut butter, and garlic salt. Pour over drained spinach and stir until evenly coated. Serve at once, or place in covered, heat-proof casserole and keep warm in oven until ready to serve. Makes 5 servings.

Memorial West Wing Is At Left

California Has New Space Age Hospital

LONG BEACH, Calif. — Though astronaut Gus Grissom might not be able to find room in the parking lot for his spacecraft, Long Beach's Memorial Hospital is living up to its billing as the country's first "Space Age" hospital.

Indeed, where foresight is concerned, Memorial seems to have extrasensory perception. While other hospital staffs nervously tried to calculate how overtaxed their facilities would be this July 1 when Medicare goes into effect, Memorial's was throwing open a new 96-bed wing specifically designed to meet the needs of the aged.

Aimed at helping the patient recover faster by stimulating him to participate in his own care, the new wing — called Memorial West — has the remarkable feature of a daily room rate 50 per cent cheaper than that of the main hospital. Basically, it's designed for patients who have passed the acute stage of an illness and who are at least capable of being taught how to fend for themselves.

The reduced cost, of course, stems from the fact that it takes fewer people to run Memorial West.

But this doesn't mean less comfort or safety for the patients. Omitted, generally, are the unnecessary chores that somehow seem to be standard in most hospitals — like taking the temperature every four hours of a patient with a broken leg.

Like the main building, the new wing is styled in noninstitutional decor. It neither looks nor smells like a hospital.

At first glance, it appears to be a typical southern California high-rise apartment, squeezed in between the Los Angeles-San Diego Freeway and several Signal Hill oil derricks which are still operating.

Inside, the rooms—both private and semiprivate—look as if they belong in a motel.

Each patient has his own television set, telephone, coffee maker, intercom (nurses are on around-the-clock duty at the other end) and motorized bed which can be raised, lowered or folded into sitting position at the touch of a button.

All meals are served in a central dining room (freeing nurses from the breakfast-to-bed routine). Patients choose their meals four hours in advance from a large menu.

Physical features of the wing include indoor and outdoor recreational therapy exercise areas, a sauna bath, whirlpools and a 40-foot therapy pool with near body-temperature water.

The recovery through self-help and therapy aspects seems well-designed for the average Medicare patient.

PROBLEMS FEARED

Many people, including Sen. Edward Kennedy of Massachusetts, feel that the new law may create as many problems as it solves — mainly because it is coming into effect at a time when U.S. hospitals and medical facilities are already over-crowded.

But Memorial has been anticipating problems ever since it opened in 1960. Through its pioneering use of electronic equipment and new techniques, the 620-bed institution quickly gained a reputation as the "Space Age" hospital.

Financed by a National Institutes of Health grant, the hospital is now in the third year of an extensive computer-based information system study.

Pilots Get Ultimatum on Charges

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Federal Aviation Agency (FAA) has handed airline pilots a "put up or shut up" ultimatum on their claims that a collision danger exists in North Atlantic flights.

The edict was served yesterday when FAA abruptly recessed its hearings into charges by the Air Line Pilots Association (ALPA) that the airlines are flirting with disaster by narrowing the North Atlantic air corridors from the old lateral separation of 120 miles to 90 miles.

ALPA asked for the hearings to air its warnings that navigation is too imperfect to warrant a 90-mile-wide path above 29,000 feet.

At the start of the hearings April 18, the pilots' union promised to produce evidence that navigation errors, some as much as 45 miles off assigned tracks, occur too frequently.

In nine days of highly technical testimony and some bitter wrangling, the pilots fired salvo after salvo against airline studies which showed 90 miles was safe separation.

NO RESULTS

But ALPA failed to produce the results of its own survey on which it based its warnings of a potential collision menace.

U.S. Will Investigate Polish Ship Charge

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — The United States has told Poland it will investigate charges that a Polish ship was damaged in a U.S. air raid against North Viet Nam last month, an embassy spokesman said today.

But an "interim reply" to the Polish charges strongly rejected the language of the United States of aggression and "an act of piracy," the spokesman said.

Case Against Red Dismissed

WASHINGTON (AP) — An indictment against Gus Hall, chief spokesman for the U.S. Communist party, has been dismissed by a federal court at the Justice Department's request.

Hall's trial, frequently postponed, had been scheduled for next Monday. The indictment was returned four years ago and accused Hall of violating the 1950 Internal Security Act by failing to register with the attorney general on behalf of the party after the party itself had failed to register.

Benjamin J. Davis, then the party's national secretary, also was indicted. He died in August 1964. The party was convicted last November and fined $250,000 for failure to register as a Communist action organization.

In a memorandum to the district court, the Justice Department said each day that an officer of the Communist party fails to register the party "is a separate offense for which he could be subsequently indicted."

Replacements Needed in Viet

U. S. Army to Send 100,000 Men by Fall

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army is preparing to provide more than 100,000 replacements for Viet Nam this summer and fall.

The other services also face the replacement problem, but to a lesser degree than the Army, which has pumped the greatest number of troops by far into Viet Nam since the buildup began last July.

Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, told Congress recently released testimony that "the big demand for replacements will start in July and extend through October, because that will be one year after the bulk of the Army and Marine Corps forces were deployed to Viet Nam."

Wheeler said "the Army has planned programs to provide the required number of people, which will total something over 100,000."

TOUR OF DUTY

The replacement "hump" stems from the one-year tour of duty required for U.S. servicemen sent to Viet Nam. They may stay longer, but only if they volunteer for an extension. Sources said Gen. William C. Westmoreland, U.S. commander in Viet Nam, strongly favors retaining the one-year tour, even though a stretchout would relieve the manpower squeeze of the services in the United States and elsewhere.

Westmoreland was pictured as believing the hope of being sent home after a year in the war is a major factor in high U.S. troop morale in Viet Nam.

In outlining the sources of replacements for Army troops in Viet Nam, Wheeler said some of the men that are training at various camps around the country will be part of this replacement group.

OTHER STATIONS

"Some will be people who have returned from Europe," he said. "Some will be people who are taken from other stations such as Panama and Alaska." He indicated that the replacements will be shuttled into Viet Nam on an individual, rather than a unit basis.

Cavanagh Asks Study of Commitments

PARIS (UPI) — Detroit Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh yesterday called for a "reexamination" of U. S. commitments to Viet Nam and the Atlantic alliance in the face of the nation's domestic needs.

Cavanagh, running against former Gov. G. Mennen Williams for the Democratic nomination for the November Senate race in Michigan, made his remarks in an address to an American club luncheon here.

"I am not taking the position that we should back away from NATO or that we should scuttle and run in Viet Nam," he stressed. "But Americans are looking for alternatives."

"In Viet Nam we must have an honorable peace," he said. He quoted the late President John F. Kennedy's "strategy of peace" speech in which he said, "Peace is a process — a way of solving a problem."

"We must become as deeply involved in the process of peace as we are in the process of war," Cavanagh said. "There is too much death for causes too uncertain in the jungles of Viet Nam."

"And there is so much unfinished business" including the war on poverty, air pollution, crime, slums, civil unrest and traffic congestion, he added.

NY Population Dip Indicated in Report

NEW YORK (AP) — Nearly half a million white persons left the city between 1960 and 1964, population estimates compiled by the city health department show.

The study said the exodus was partly offset by an influx of just under 400,000 Puerto Ricans and nonwhites. The net result was a 2 per cent drop in the city's population, from 7,706,300 in 1960 to 7,584,500 in 1964.

Spread of War to Laos, Cambodia Hard for U.S. to Hide

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
AP Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON — The war in Viet Nam has been spilling over into Laos and Cambodia and the United States is encountering more difficulty in obscuring the fact.

Two unusual official disclosures in the last three days have thrown fresh light on the involvement in combat actions of territories in both Laos and Cambodia.

In Washington, the Defense

Department reported for the first time on casualties in air operations over Laos. The reports showed that in the past two years 11 U.S. fliers have been killed there and somewhat fewer than 20 others have been listed as missing or captured by Communist forces.

And in Saigon, a U.S. spokesman confirmed accounts from news correspondents on the scene that last Saturday American artillery fired across a boundary river into Cambodian jungles to silence enemy guns when U.S. troops ran into heavy fire from Viet Cong forces on the Cambodian side.

PROLONGED OPERATIONS

Washington authorities asserted that in the prolonged operations over Laos and in the brief clash across the Cambodian border, the Communists were responsible for initial violations of territory outside Viet Nam and that the U.S. fire was defensive.

As the Viet Nam war grows in intensity, however, it is now recognized here that the policy of silence may very well be more difficult to maintain.

In the current case of the report of casualties suffered over Laos, officials said the Defense Department had received queries about a week ago concerning notification given to a family of a lost flier. The family reportedly was informed that the loss had occurred over Laos.

In the case of the fight across the Cambodian border, officials said, authorities in Saigon referred the question of disclosure to Washington — apparently after press dispatches from the scene had reported it. Washington authorities reportedly instructed headquarters in Saigon not to volunteer information on the incident but to say what had happened if asked.

CAMBODIAN JUNGLES

The policy covering this operation was made known by the State Department last Dec. 21 — in as obscure a manner as officials could devise. There had been many reports and complaints of Viet Cong forces taking refuge in the Cambodian jungles as well as complaints by Cambodia of border violations by American or South Vietnamese forces.

U.S. air operations over Laos began in May 1964. The State Department said at that time that the neutralist government of Laos had requested aerial reconnaissance to get information on positions of Communist troops.

Diversity of Opinion Defended

ALBION (AP) — Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley spoke out in a college forum today at a college forum which featured a right-to-left spectrum of national leaders in dissent.

Kelley urged academicians to speak out even more and said, "We should encourage diversity, not stifle it. The surest road to national ruin is that which follows the path of conformity."

He was keynote speaker for Albion College's Freedom Forum dealing with dissent in democracy.

Speakers and panelists during the day-long program included Selective Service Director Gen. Lewis Hershey, Communist Party spokesman Gus Hall, the leader of a national student group opposing draft policies and representatives of other organizations and philosophies of mindshades.

NOT AS 'CLOAK'

Though defending dissent, Kelley said freedom of speech should not be used as a cloak of self-protection for deliberate violations of the law.

"I believe that one who violates the law must be prepared to accept the consequences," he said.

He criticized the Michigan Senate and others "who would refuse to permit the First Amendment's protection (of freedom of speech) to be utilized by those who they consider to be spreading dangerous ideas."

"Do you really think... the expression of divergent views represents a danger to our youth and to our security?" he asked. "If you do, you have much less faith in the strength of our nation and our way of life than your super-patriotic posturings would indicate."

"These timid censors of the mind," he said, "apparently have so little faith in the capacity and judgment of today's college population that they fear their exposure to any ideas which do not conform to their own narrow norm."

Park Fracas 'Not Racial'

WASHINGTON (AP) — A citizens committee reports that the Easter Monday disturbance at an amusement park in nearby Glen Echo, Md., was not a riot and was not racial in origin and execution.

Scores of youths — most of them Negroes — went on a two-hour rampage after the overcrowded amusement park closed early. Windows were broken, some minor pilferage was reported, and eight persons suffered slight injuries. There were three arrests.

In its 45-page report Wednesday, the committee said "all accounts lead toward the conclusion that there were few active participants in the vandalism and destruction." Total damage was estimated at $7,500, including $50 in the amusement park which opened for business the next morning. Many windows were broken in homes and automobiles as the youths trooped back into town, accounting for the rest of the damage estimate.

The incident should not be termed a riot, the committee said, because it is a word that conjures up the vision of a rampage like the one last August in the Watts area of Los Angeles.

9 Nations Sign Power Project Pact for Laos

WASHINGTON (AP) — The final formal step has been taken toward start of construction on a $23.8 million hydroelectric plant on a tributary of the Mekong River in Laos.

Representatives of nine nations and the World Bank signed an agreement clearing the way for the project, mentioned by President Johnson in his billion dollar offer of development aid in Southeast Asia.

The countries are the United States, Australia, Canada, Denmark, Japan, Laos, the Netherlands, New Zealand and Thailand. The United States is contributing $12 million to the new development fund.

Women's Job Corps Under Fire Again

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. — The nation's first Job Corps center for women, dogged by controversy about its girls for more than a year, is in another dispute today.

A new contract for the project was awarded Wednesday in Washington, and the contractors said the training center would be moved to a waterfront hotel only six blocks from the old one.

"A distinct surprise and shock that appears to be somewhat in bad faith," said City Manager

Lynn H. Andrews. Mayor Herman Goldner said it would be premature to talk of the city trying to block the relocation, but said "obviously the city will take whatever steps it can lawfully take."

UNSKILLED YOUNGSTERS

Job Corps centers help young, unskilled youngsters learn new jobs so they can find work.

About 240 girls lived at the Huntington Hotel center. About 430 would be at the Soreno Hotel, the new site.

"I think it will seriously impair, if it doesn't kill, a proposed $45-million private enterprise development along the waterfront area," Andrews said.

Goldner said he understood drop the Job Corps contract, which originally was to extend until 1968. The City Council and two merchant groups supported the decision, saying St. Petersburg wasn't the right kind of city for such a school.

Apparently more stringent enforcement of city building and fire safety codes will be required for the change of use from a seasonal commercial hotel to year-round institutional use.

The Pinellas County School Board decided June 2, 1965, to

IRS Gets Data on Rhode Island Boaters

PROVIDENCE R.I. (AP) — The Internal Revenue Service (IRS) now has the names of Rhode Islanders who own power-er-propelled boats — from an outboard pram to a 60-foot yacht — and says the records will be used as "added information" in checking income tax returns.

Paul F. Trotman, chief of the audit division of the IRS here, says the records, from the State Registry of Motor Vehicles, will be "part of the general information we use in classifying, selecting and examining returns" to determine a taxpayer's net worth.

Trotman said the action is standard practice in some other districts.

HOLLYWOOD — After a three-year absence, Desi Arnaz is back at work in the studio that bears his name. But there's a difference.

Whereas the onetime bongo drum - pounder once ruled the Desilu empire, he is now a renter of space at Desilu Culver studio. He occupies the suite which David O. Selznick used until his death last year. In honor of Desi's return, the place has been redecorated from "Gone With the Wind" decadent to California casual.

The lady who ordered the redecoration is Lucille Ball, Desi's former wife and costar, and his successor as president of Desilu.

"The prettiest landlady in the world," he said. "And a wonderful woman."

LUCILLE'S LANDLADY
There connection now is purely as landlady and tenant, since Desi sold Lucille all his Desilu stock when he stepped out of the business three years ago.

Why did he leave?
"For a number of reasons," he said. "I found that I was working terribly hard, mostly in things that I wasn't particularly interested in. I was stuck with the managerial end of running three studios with 3,000 employees. That wasn't what I got into the business for."

"I enjoyed the creative end — getting together with some writers on an idea, following through with scripts, casting the project and bringing forth the final product. But I found myself tied up with a factory operation."

And so he quit. His marriage to Lucille had already come to an end. He sold out to her and later married Mrs. Edith Hirsch. He looked after his horse breeding farm at Corona, Calif., which he terms a $2 million enterprise. He raced his horses, kept an eye on his Indian Wells resort at Palm Desert, played golf and fished.

INTERESTED IN BOOK
Then he got interested in a book, "With Our Consent," and contracted for a movie script.

CBS boss William Paley heard about it and asked if Desi would be interested in a return to TV. "I've got nothin' against TV," Desi replied. "But I'm not interested in taking over the 30th Century-Fox television department, or MGM's or Screen Gems'. If I can operate my own way, without getting involved

Moon Project Speedup Seen U.S. 3-Man Effort May Come This Year

DOWNNEY, Calif. (UP) — America's first attempt to place three men in orbit around the earth may come before the end of 1966 — slightly earlier than had been expected, according to the chief of the Apollo man-to-the-moon project.

Dr. Joseph Shea said yesterday that the last couple of months "have been relatively encouraging."

The planned 10-14 day voyage by astronauts Virgil I. Grissom, Edward H. White II and Roger Chaffee will be the first in a series to train astronauts for later voyages to the moon.

"Possibly we can get the flight in this year," Shea said in the first official confirmation of reports the Apollo schedule could be speeded up.

The mission originally was set for early 1967.

END OF DECADE

"If we don't have many problems, we are going to get to the moon before the end of this decade comfortably. If we have many problems — and I don't expect them — then we are going to be embarrassed."

Some informed sources have said the first U.S. manned flight to the moon could come by late 1968.

Shea also indicated that a possible rendezvous flight involving the first manned Apollo ship and the last two-man Gemini spacecraft may be abandoned.

"There has been a lot of talk about it," he said. "But I don't think it will come to pass. It's getting too late to change Apollo to conform with Gemini equipment."

with executive matters, then I'm interested."

So was Paley, and he made a deal with Desi to develop projects for CBS. Desi went to work and now he has three or four comedy series in various stages of development, plus a special to star Cantinflas.

"I'm operating at my own pace, without pressure," Desi said. "It's tough work to put a series together, tougher than making a picture."

"You have to get a situation that will work — not for just the pilot film, but for show after show. You've got to find the right kind of writers. And you have to cast it properly, not only with the right performers, but with ones who will be able to work together in harmony year after year."

"Yet compatibility isn't everything," he said. Vivian Vance and William Frawley never got along on "I Love Lucy." — "But that was all right, because they were always supposed to be fighting anyway."

Film Festival Starts in France

CANNES, France (UPI) — The annual Cannes Film Festival opens here today.

Competition for the Golden Palm award given to the best film and the best short subject will continue through May 20.

This year's opener, which will be shown tonight is a Polish film "Ashes" by Andrzej Wajda.

Favorites for the best film award include "Modesty Blaise" a British film directed by Tony Richardson and starring Monica Vitti, and "Lenin in Poland," a Soviet film whose plot is aptly summed up in its title.

The U.S. entry in the festival remained up in the air as proceedings got under way.

Frank Sinatra and his clan had been scheduled to represent the United States with "A Man Called Adam," but at the last minute it was withdrawn for "reediting" and its replacement is not yet known.

Opinion Flexible on Knee Judging

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI) — The female knee is something that most people take for granted.

We have all seen thousands of knees in this era of short skirts, they are unavoidable — but the tendency is to regard them as part of the over-all leg. In other words, we see knees without really looking at them.

For this reason I am a bit concerned by the announcement that the Palisades Amusement Park in New Jersey is preparing to stage a "most beautiful knees" contest.

The results are bound to be inconclusive, or even chaotic, owing to the fact that nobody has ever put together a set of standards by which knees can be appraised.

In the absence of criteria, the contest can only be decided on the basis of personal whim or caprice. Which obviously will be unfair to the contestants.

Moreover, the knee is such a mutable joint, changing in appearance as conditions vary, that it would not fit into a single frame of reference if one existed.

Configuration is a logical point of departure. I think it is generally agreed that an oblong knee is prettier than a round one.

VAGUE GUESSES
But other than that, plus vague consensus that dimples are an attractive feature in knees, guidelines are deplorably lacking.

Should knees be judged full face or in profile? Should the back of the knee be taken into consideration? These are among the disturbing questions that arise.

Due to a physiological peculiarity, which obliges a knee to function both bent and unbent, its characteristics are extremely unstable. When a girl is sitting her knees look a lot different than when she is standing.

Unless her skin is elastic enough to take the slack, her knees wrinkle in the vertical position.

CHANGING SITUATION
Knees viewed together present a different aspect from knees viewed separately. Knees with legs crossed and knees with ankles crossed are dissimilar in contour. If she sits with her feet together, you get still another formation.

No judge could possibly mold all these divergent shapes into a single concept of loveliness. With knees, you have to settle for a kaleidoscopic impression.

U.S. Is Urged to Lead Europe

Herter: Must Prevent Hopeless Disunity

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former Secretary of State Christian A. Herter urged today that the United States take the leadership in Europe and save the Atlantic community from drifting — or being pushed by France — "into hopeless disunity."

Herter told a Senate subcommittee probing North Atlantic Treaty Organization problems, "I fear greatly that if the leadership does not come from us it will not come at all."

Herter, now President Johnson's special representative for trade negotiations, also gave the national security subcommittee a word of warning on progress of trade talks — known as the Kennedy round — between the United States and the European Common Market.

"I wish that I could report to you that the negotiations in the so-called Kennedy round were going well," he said in his prepared testimony. "They are not. And they are not for much the same reason that the American troops have been told to leave France."

FRENCH REFUSAL
He observed that France had refused to attend meeting for eight months. Although France has apparently returned to the fold "as of today," Herter said, "we cannot gauge the extent to which fruitful negotiations can take place" before the five-year U.S. trade expansion act expires in June 1967.

Herter said that a Europe able "to speak with a single voice" has been considered a foundation of greater Atlantic unity.

But he reported that "my experience in negotiating with the Common Market" convinced him that its voice is highly uncertain and frequently inaudible.

State Police Cars Repaired

Fix Brake Systems
on 75-100 Plymouths

LANSING (UPI) — State Police officials confirmed today between 75 and 100 new police cars were recently repaired because of a potentially dangerous problem in the braking system. Al Budden, State Police assistant director of business administration, said special disc braking systems on new Plymouths were modified because of a threat connected with "panic stops."

Budden explained there had been no accidents or problems with the braking system during several months of use with the cars.

However, upon notification by the Chrysler Corp., he said, the brake system was corrected to prevent "any margin of hazard."

The State Police cars were assigned to different posts throughout the state.

FEW MODIFICATIONS

Budden said up until "three or four years ago" few modifications had to be made on police cars.

Since then, he said, several cars, including those of other makes, have been involved in corrective steps.

He reported some 1965 models were fixed last year because of manual steering mechanism problems.

During the "modification changes," the auto companies have been "excellent" in "urging improvements" on certain models, Budden added.

OTHER IMPROVEMENTS

Other state cars also have had certain "improvements" made in their steering and braking mechanisms, it was disclosed by Michigan motor pool chief J. W. Warden.

State Democratic Chairman Zolton Ferency recently received a letter asking him to have his new Plymouth station wagon checked because suits on a part of the suspension system may not have been sufficiently tightened.

Auto critic, State Sen. Roger Craig, D-Deerborn, said he planned to use the letter passed onto him by Ferency to get a bill through the Legislature requiring auto firms and dealers to notify car purchasers of any manufacturing defects.

Chrysler Corp. Monday said it was calling back 182,000 Plymouths and Dodges because of the loose nut condition.

U.S. Traffic Toll Sets Records for Month, Quarter

CHICAGO (AP) — The National Safety Council has reported another record statistic in the nation's traffic death toll.

The council said Wednesday that 10,710 persons died in traffic accidents during the first three months of this year. This was a 7 per cent increase over a similar period last year.

Traffic deaths in March totaled 3,730 or 12 per cent more than in March 1965, the council said.

A 6 per cent increase in miles traveled, an estimated total of 211 billion miles in the three-month period, accounted for most of the increase in the toll, the report said.

Liz Is Tops, Says Burton

ROME (AP) — Actor Richard Burton said today he would rather work with his wife, Elizabeth Taylor, than any other actress.

Burton is making a film version of Shakespeare's "The Taming of the Shrew" with Miss Taylor in Rome.

"Acting is a kind of showing off," he said. "And the best person to show off to is your wife."

Freeway Bonds OK'd

'It's Just a Fad, Dad'

NEW YORK (U) — The Beatles all will get crowns within the next five years and their squealing teenage admirers will swap Army jackets and jeans for dresses, a leading psychiatrist predicted today.

"It's all a passing fad," said Dr. Windimir G. Eliasberg of New York, former president of the American Society of Psychoanalytic Physicians.

"I see no deep-rooted behavior disorders in the present tendency of girls to look like boys and boys to look like girls. It's not psychiatric. It's not biological. It's not neurotic."

"It can be traced directly to social factors. It is rebellion — rebellion of youngsters against their parents and against society."

Eliasberg, 78, German-born, European-educated, well-known author and lecturer, said in an interview that he did not subscribe to the alarm expressed in some quarters that humanity is drifting toward a "uni-sex."

Some boys are going in for shoulder-length hair, lip pomades, false eyelashes and sweet-smelling perfumes.

and apparel bought from the Army-Navy store.

Eliasberg blamed the girls for turning their boyfriends into perfumed counterparts.

"Girls, teen-agers especially, abhor 'cave-man types,'" he said.

"They no longer want to be dominated. They want boy companions who are subordinate to them in strength, who are sensitive and who talk a lot. They don't want masters. They want equals, or less."

"This naturally appeals to some boys. This is their weapon against the popularity of the muscle-bound athletes. They let their hair grow, they adopt feminine attributes and the girls swoon."

The psychiatrist said there were definite contradictions in these patterns.

"For instance, the boy will let his hair grow like a girl's and then cultivate a beard, which is very masculine. On the other hand, the girls let their hair fall sexily over their shoulders and put on boys' pants."

Cambodia Denies Shooting by Cong

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — Prince Norodom Sihanouk's government today denied U.S. reports that Viet Cong forces fired from Cambodian territory on American forces in South Viet Nam last Saturday. Information Minister Chea San referred to a U.S. statement in Saigon that American artillery fired across a boundary river into Cambodian jungles to silence Viet Cong fire.

MRS. ELVA MILLER

New Singer 'Flatly' Tops

Grandmother Rocks
---to Hit of Tune List

NEW YORK (AP) — Listening to records made by a plump, gray-haired grandmother who warbles and whistles rock 'n' roll songs, mostly off-key, is the current kick in U.S. pop music.

The singer is Mrs. Elva Miller of Claremont, Calif., 35 miles east of Los Angeles. Her family was against Mrs. Miller's trying to make records but she went ahead.

Her first long-playing record, "Mrs. Miller's Greatest Hits," was released by Capitol Records April 11 and sold 50,000 copies its first two days out. The "LP" and two songs taken from it and released as a single, "Down-town" and "A Lover's Concern," all are on the best-selling charts compiled by Billboard Magazine.

Mrs. Miller sings with a vibrato which sounds as if she had done studied voice, which she did. Meanwhile she often changes key and goes flat, reminiscent of the late Florence Foster Jenkins.

CONTROLLED PUCKER
She sucks ice cubes while she does her bird-like whistles, to contract the muscles for a more-controlled pucker.

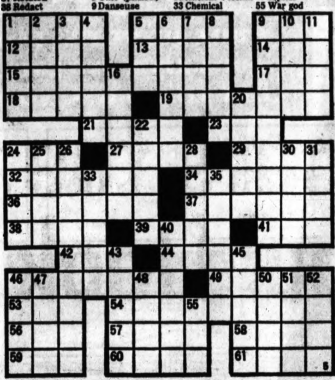

Ed Sullivan has signed her for an appearance on his TV show May 22.

Disc jockeys apparently love the novelty of "The Miller sound." A station in Denver played the record 24 hours straight. Through radio stations, Mrs. Miller has been voted honorary mayor of Kalamazoo, Mich., a "good guy" in New York and Memphis and an honorary citizen of Cobb County, Ga. In Honolulu, arriving to do a radio-sponsored benefit show, Mrs. Miller received one of the wildest welcomes in the state's history. Her record became the biggest seller there since "Meet the Beatles."

A Chicago disc jockey said, "It's fun radio all over again."

Hotel to 'Nurse' Edie's Car While She Entertains Inside

By EARL WILSON
NEW YORK — Edie Adams, who'll star at the Americana Royal Ball in June, has extracted a promise from the hotel that it will "arrange" for her to have constant parking space in front of the hotel for her white, black-trimmed Rolls-Royce. "I don't care how they arrange it," says Edie, "they've got to arrange it!"

Edie was with a teen-age girl who said "Edie, you look young and wonderful tonight, but the other night you looked old and horrible! What did you do that makes you look so much better?"

"I don't know," gulped Edie. "I guess it was Medicare."

The Batman (Adam West) gets $20,000 for one matinee and one evening performance at Shea Stadium June 25, 50 per cent of gate receipts over $125,000, is a deal with Producer Harry Bloomfield of Shea. The Riddler (Frank Gorshin) appearing with him, gets only a lousy $6,000 for the day and night's work.

Jean-Paul Belmondo, the French Humphrey Bogart, is constantly with Ursula Andress in Tahiti where he's filming and she's just watching him. Seeing some strip-tease pictures of Ursula in her new film "Up to His Ears" Broadwayites are asking, "But what does Belmondo see in her?"

What a delight — that Cue Magazine "Salute to ASCAP" at Philharmonic... veteran Harry Warren stopping the show, croaking into the mike "I'm a lousy singer"... somebody saying "NO! You rank right up there with Sammy Cahn!"

Hoagy Carmichael confessing, "I've played 'Stardust' so many different ways I've lost the melody. I was in some little bar the other night and a woman said, 'You can't leave without playing "Stardust." I'd just finished it.'

THE MIDNIGHT EYE
The new wild rumor is that LBJ's Byrds are trying to dissuade him from seeking reelection because the work's too hard, and he won't run. It will be denied of course... Broadway and 53rd with the addition of the Cheetah is now the hottest corner in town. Fights, cops and so forth.

Frank Sinatra got a late-hour appetite for Chinese food, sent his limousine for Jilly's chef at home and had him prepare a 4 a.m. snack at the club... Jacqueline Susann and husband Irving Mansfield celebrated at Volvin — her book, "Valley of the Dolls," will top the N.Y. Times list next week.

Johnny Weissmuller was introduced at the Royal Box, and gave the Tarzan yell. "I know what that means," said Bob Melvin. "It means, 'Dammit, who greeted the vines!'"

Politics Is in the Air at McNamara Rites

DETROIT (AP)—Sen. Patrick McNamara, who loved a good political fight, would have enjoyed all the political under-tones of his funeral yesterday.

President Johnson led more than 600 dignitaries and just plain citizens who thronged into Holy Name of Jesus Church for the funeral Mass.

Police estimated 5,000 more stood outside the church.

All had come to pay their final respects to Michigan's senior Democratic senator who rose from the ranks of labor to become one of the Senate's most respected voices.

There was no denying, however, that politics was in the air.

HOPEFULS ON HAND
Two of the three leading candidates for Sen. McNamara's seat were on hand—Democrat G. Mennen Williams, former six-term governor of Michigan and former undersecretary of state for African affairs, and Rep. Robert P. Griffin who seeks the GOP nomination.

Williams' primary opponent, Detroit Mayor Jerome Cavanagh, was in Paris on a Detroit business promotion trip, but he was represented by his wife, Mary, and their 11-year-old son, Patrick, named after McNamara.

Newsmen and political observers had kept tabs on each move Johnson made. Cameras clicked when the President, who had walked out of the church a few feet ahead of Williams, suddenly turned, walked back to Williams and gave him a sort of hug while whispering in Williams' ear.

PERSONAL
Reporters later asked the former governor what the President had said, but Williams merely smiled and said, "I regard that as personal."

The President and Mrs. Cavanagh had only a few seconds to chat as they shook hands under the canopy at the McNamara graveside.

She introduced her son to the President.

Republican Gov. George Romney was one of the first to shake hands with Johnson after Mrs. Cavanagh moved along.

"How are you, Mr. President?" glad you could get to Michigan," Romney said.

President Johnson's one sentence reply was: "Governor, it is good to see you."

Everyone tried his best to keep the political issue in the background on the funeral day but it was hard to do.

Williams, accompanied by his wife, Nancy, was surrounded several times by well wishers as he made his way toward the cemetery gate after the burial.

U.S. Rations Bombs, Republican Charges

WASHINGTON (AP)—Republican Sen. John J. Williams said today the United States is "rationing bombs" in Viet Nam. He coupled that with a charge the administration "allowed the situation to deteriorate in Viet Nam" during President Johnson's 1964 campaign against Republican challenger Barry Goldwater.

21 GIs Die in Copter Crash Near Border

SAIGON (UPI)—A U.S. search and rescue party, hacking its way through dense bamboo jungle near the Cambodian border, today reached the wreckage of a giant CH 47 Chinook helicopter which took 21 Americans to their deaths.

U.S. officials said exploding ammunition and burning gasoline forced the rescuers to remain clear of the wreckage for hours. But they kept the crash site under surveillance and reported no sign of survivors.

Officials did not disclose the cause of the crash, but said the helicopter burst into flames before it fell into the jungle.

U.S. officials meantime said a U.S. Air Force Phantom F4C jet fighter was downed over North Viet Nam today and intense anti-aircraft fire blocked rescue efforts.

The swept-wing jet went down about 65 miles northeast of Hanoi.

In South Viet Nam V52s struck again in "war zone C," the former Viet Cong haven near the southern terminus for the Ho Chi Minh supply trail from the north. They said in support of the U.S. 1st Infantry Division which is criss-crossing the area.

He added: "To show just how bad the administration allowed the situation to deteriorate in Viet Nam during the campaign months, I quote Secretary McNamara's statement on Nov. 20, 1964, just two weeks after the elections."

"This statement was in response to a newsmen's request to interview Gen. Maxwell Taylor, former ambassador to Viet Nam."

"It would be impossible for Max to talk to these people without leaving the impression that the situation is going to 'hell.'"

The foreman at the site ordered work halted immediately after the accident but a shaken group of seven or eight workers lingered at the scene.

One noted that ordinarily six men would have been on the elevator.

"None of them knew what to do — they all kept grabbing for each other the whole way down."

"I was watching them when the beam started to go," said one worker.

Say Writing of Caterer Matches Pistol Buyer's

DETROIT (AP)—Sgt. Patrick Lyons of the State Police said yesterday the handwriting of Robert B. Rosenberg, a suburban Southfield caterer, matches that of a "Bob Boyd of Chicago, Ill.," signed to a gun shop ledger in Wichita, Kan.

Rosenberg disappeared April 8. He was found near Erie, Mich., just above the Ohio line, April 20.

He had been shot in the back and told of being kidnapped off a Detroit street, having his eyes taped and being tied to a bed.

His family never was contacted for ransom.

Two airline agents in Wichita said a man who met Rosenberg's description was there April 9, and a gunshop proprietor identified a picture of Rosenberg as that of a man who had purchased a 22-caliber pistol from him April 9.

The gun purchaser signed as "Robert Boyd of Chicago, Ill."

HANDWRITING
Sgt. Arthur Kivela, a handwriting expert at the state police crime laboratory, said it was his opinion Rosenberg's handwriting and "Boyd's" were the same.

Sgt. Lyons, however, said Rosenberg denied after Kivela's inspection of the handwriting that the signature from Wichita was his.

Lyons also said that Rosenberg held steadfast to his original story of kidnapping.

'Mercury Bounce' Is Done by the Sun

Sunny skies and warm temperatures ushered in highs that bounced into the 70s today, ending a long cold spell. At 1 p.m. the reading was 74.

The weatherman said tonight will be partly cloudy with lows of 40 to 46. At 5 a.m. yesterday, the 30 degree recording was the lowest for the day since 1907 when the thermometer registered 32.

Mostly sunny and a little cooler, the high 58 to 66 is tomorrow's forecast. Variable cloudiness and a little cooler is the outlook for Saturday.

Discrepancy Revealed After Official Count

Forced Into Runoff Following Apparent Nomination Victory

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—Attorney Fred D. Gray, a Negro who appeared for a short time to have won a legislative race over white opponents, is looking into a 1,000-vote discrepancy in the balloting within his three-county district.

"Something is funny about this thing," Gray said when contacted at his home in Tuskegee.

The 35-year-old attorney apparently had won the Democratic nomination late Tuesday night for a seat in the Alabama House of Representatives.

But the official count revealed the situation. Where Gray had held an unofficial 286-vote majority over two white opponents he wound up 531 votes short of a majority.

Gray had no explanation for the change, but said he was going to investigate.

FINAL RETURNS
The final returns gave Gray 8,318 to 8,849 for his two opponents.

However, Gray said he could not understand why 17,167 votes were cast for the three candidates for Place 2 of District 21, while only 18,445 were cast in the race for Place 1.

The white incumbent won apparent nomination by 303 votes over two Negroes in the Place 2 contest.

A check of the returns from the three counties — Barbour, Bullock and Macon — disclosed that the 1,000-vote difference was in Barbour county.

Disputed Ballots Counted in Selma Sheriff Election

SELMA, Ala. (UPI)—A five-man committee today counted ballots from six disputed ballots that held the margin of victory in a tight sheriff's race between Wilson Baker and incumbent Jim Clark, opposed by Negroes in this former racial trouble spot.

Baker, former Selma public safety director, led Clark 7,537 to 7,445 votes with 74 of 80 boxes counted. Two other candidates had about 1,000 votes between them.

The Dallas County Democratic Executive Committee began counting the remaining votes last night. A report is expected later today.

Austin Keith, a member of the committee, said the group was having to count the ballots because vote counters had been

In White Lake Twp.

4 Construction Workers Hurt

Four construction workers were seriously injured and hospitalized this morning when an outside elevator they were on suddenly plunged 50 feet to the ground in White Lake Township.

The workers were identified as Walter Newman, Darborn Heights; Homer Mullins, Carl Bardon, and Edward Lillja, all of Detroit. Their injuries were not immediately known.

The accident occurred shortly after 9 a.m. at the construction site of St. Patrick's Catholic Church, 9086 Hutchins.

Workers at the scene said the men were at the top of the elevator steel frame shaft when the unfinished roof of the church when a large beam bumped against a projecting wall and fell toward the operator of the elevator below.

8-FOOT BEAM
In avoiding the eight-foot beam, the operator ducked back and momentarily released the brake of the elevator, sending it plummeting to the ground, a five story drop.

A stiff wind whipping through the peak of the church's A-shaped roof may have been responsible for the beam hitting the wall.

The injured men were working for the Lutz Brothers Construction Co., a Walled Lake firm, which started building the $550,000 new church last November.

"I was watching them when the beam started to go," said one worker.

Elected to vice president posts were James Gallagher and Richard Fitzgerald, with Joseph Pospichal named secretary and Richard Eldred selected treasurer.

'Bama Negro Vote Snarled

471 in the other counties — Gray's. In the other two counties, there were less than 200 votes difference in the totals.

Gray, who for 10 years has been a central figure in civil rights disputes, said he was confident of winning in the May 31 runoff primary.

Earlier, at a news conference in Birmingham, Gray said he had been encouraged by the primary results. That was before he got the official returns putting him into a runoff.

Another Negro candidate, Henry Oscar Williams, 50, who led the ticket in the Bullock County sheriff's race, said he had expected to win without a runoff.

"Some Negroes voted for the other two candidates," he said. Both his opponents were white. One of the incumbent, Sheriff C. M. Blue, who was eliminated.

TWO WHITES
Negroes campaigned for both his opponents, said Williams, a radio-television repairman. But he said that was only natural since the two white candidates were well-known and had Negro friends and allies in their communities.

Gray was one of 12 Negro candidates for the legislature. Five others — four in Jefferson County (Birmingham) and one in Mobile — apparently went into the runoff primary.

Three other Negro candidates for sheriff were, like Williams, headed for a runoff. They were in the counties of Hale, Perry and Macon, and with a heavy Negro registration.

Several Negroes faced runoffs for local offices, failing to win majorities against at least two white opponents.

City Buys 2 Urban Renewal Properties

Downtown Pontiac redevelopment took two strides forward this week with the acquisition of a pair of urban renewal properties.

Planning and Urban Renewal Director James L. Bates disclosed that the city has acquired the Lewis Furniture Co. building and property owned by Community National Bank at Water and South Saginaw.

Total cost of the acquisitions was $271,000, said Bates.

Acquisition of the Lewis building is the last parcel to be acquired by the city in the R20 downtown urban renewal project.

According to Bates, seven parcels remain to be purchased in the R20 project within Wide Track Drive.

One parcel is north of Water between Perry and Mill, while six other parcels are in an area bounded by the Crossover, South Saginaw, Water and East Wide Track.

hired only for election night Tuesday.

The boxes, containing around 1,500 votes from predominantly Negro areas, were contested by Clark, who said he found several of the boxes unopened.

The executive committee decided to count the votes and then consider any complaint.

FAVOR BAKER
The areas from which the disputed boxes came had voted about 9 to 1 for Baker and if that trend held up, he would win the nomination without a runoff.

If the six boxes are not allowed, Baker and Clark will meet in the runoff primary May 31.

Baker, a former professor of criminology at the University of Alabama, was beaten by Clark in a runoff for the same post four years ago after Baker led white opponents.

SCATTERED LOTS
Bates said only 10 scattered lots—including four houses and four garages and one commercial structure — remains to be acquired outside of the downtown area. All of these are in the R20 project.

Bates added that, within 30 days, the city would initiate condemnation proceedings against those properties that can not be acquired through negotiations.

4 Pilot Whales Rescued From Florida Beach

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla. (AP) — Four pilot whales were saved Wednesday by a stretcherman which rushed to the seashore and hoisted them from shallow water where they had beached themselves.

Dr. Richard R. Lindy said the whales have a built-in sonar system that functions only in deep water. Lindy said the sonar stops functioning when the whales enter shallow water. The whale beasts then act as if they are about to die and beach themselves — as if to commit suicide, he said.

The four whales — 1,000 pounds each, and eight to 10 feet long — were placed on stretchers, hoisted by hand onto trucks and taken to Marineland, six miles south of Crescent Beach.

Patient at Local Facility

Kenny Girl From Area

Four-year-old Donna Collins has been selected the 1966 Kenny Girl of the Kenny-Michigan Rehabilitation Foundation.

Dark-eyed Donna, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Collins of 2368 Crane, Waterford Township, was selected this year's Kenny Girl as representative of the patients to whom the foundation's rehabilitation work is dedicated.

Donna, who will be honored at the foundation's annual dinner Tuesday, became a patient of the Kenny Rehabilitation Center at Pontiac General Hospital after being struck by a car Jan. 19.

She was unconscious for two days. When she awoke, the youngster could neither talk nor move her right side.

VISITED CENTER
One week after her injury, Donna first visited the rehabilitation center for exercise and therapy to stimulate immobile muscles.

On Feb. 11, the Waterford Township youngster spoke again for the first time. She walked again on Feb. 21.

However, her walk was with an unnatural gait. No longer hospitalized, she now returns to the center weekly for exercises and gait training.

DINNER CALL—This year's Kenny Girl, Donna Collins of Waterford Township, rings a dinner bell to announce that the Kenny-Michigan Rehabilitation Foundation dinner will be held at 5:45 p.m. Tuesday in Detroit.

The 5:45 p.m. dinner will be at Veterans Memorial Building in Detroit. The foundation is a service of the Pontiac Area United Fund.

Area Legislator Will Run Again

Decision Announced at Testimonial Fete

State Rep. William P. Hampton of Birmingham announced last night at a testimonial dinner in his honor that he will seek reelection.

The 28-year-old Republican legislator is serving his first term as representative from the 65th district.

The district includes the townships of Bloomfield and Southfield, the cities of Birmingham and Bloomfield Hills and a small portion of Royal Oak.

The testimonial dinner was held at the Kingsley Inn, Bloomfield Hills. Lt. Gov. William Milliken was guest speaker.

A member of the House Elections Committee, Hampton, 275 Windemere, has been active in several moves to improve election codes and practices.

His efforts in the past year led to the installation of several safety devices at the Maple-Telegraph intersection.

An attorney with offices in Pontiac, Hampton, a frequent critic of what he has termed "outmoded and inefficient legislation procedures," serves on a Special Task Force on Legislative Reform.

He was also coauthor of a bill prohibiting state employees, officers and legislators from engaging in activities which represent substantial conflicts of interest.

KEY PROPOSALS
Proposals sponsored by Hampton include elimination of abuses of absent voting privileges, implied consent legislation testing drunk drivers, legislation increasing penalties for drunk drivers and a requirement for parental approval before psychological tests are administered to children.

He recently received the Distinguished Community Service Award from the Birmingham Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Initiative Key to American Progress

A couple of hundred years ago, the first Spanish soldiers and missionaries came to California. A scant hundred years later, the transcontinental railroad east and west was joined near Ogden, Utah, and the United States as one nation stretched from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

This was in 1869, and since that event the American people have accomplished what would have taken a thousand years of history in a slower moving time.

They were able to do this because they lived under a government restrained by the Constitution from indulging in political oppression or confiscating for the uses of the "Crown" the property and income of the people.

But times seem to have changed and not in a direction likely to improve the long term health of the goose that has laid so many golden eggs. "Free" citizens and "free" enterprise alike find themselves sitting on the edge of their chairs awaiting the latest word from Washington concerning the current state of their affairs and what government intends to do about it.

The cart has somehow been hitched to the wrong end of the horse and the wonder is that so few people seem to notice the error.

It is time that the people decided whether they really want to be cared for as dependents on their own land. After that is settled, they should make their decision known to their elected officials at the polls at every opportunity.

Congressional Election Threatens First-Termers

As the leaves of the political calendar flip remorselessly toward the November 8 election, no company of politicians is more concerned with the date than the 48 freshman Democrats who rode into the House of Representatives on LYNDON JOHNSON's coattails in the 1964 landslide.

Since the party in power traditionally loses congressional seats in off-year elections with the ranks of yearling representatives suffering the heaviest casualties, the first-termers in this 89th Congress may well look to the upcoming balloting with more than average anxiety.

The freshman lawmakers are vulnerable because they have understandably supported the Administration almost 100 per cent and will be hard put to buck the political tide now running against it.

The adverse tide reflects voter dis-

The London Times Is 'Not What It Used to Be'

If any one contemporary institution were to refute the irrefutable adage that "nothing is so changeless as change," we'd say it was the London Times, going on two centuries old.

As English as tea and crumpets, the newspaper has unwaveringly clung to its policy of printing no news on its front page. Well, almost unwaveringly. It did falter in 1805 and make mention of the battle of Trafalgar, Lord NELSON's momentous naval victory over Napoleon's fleet, and again last year when Sir

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON — Twenty years of bafflement are beginning to show in impatience, criticism, discontent.

There were only six maddening years of dealing with Hitler from the time he took power in 1933 until he began the war in 1939. But with communism there has been prolonged frustration.

First, there were years of dealing with Russia's Stalin, an impossible task and now for 16 years, or ever since they butted into the Korean war, the even more exasperating ordeal of trying to deal with the Red Chinese.

This is the root of the dissatisfactions being expressed in Congress over the present, grumbling war in Viet Nam, the fear the Chinese may come in, and the almost total absence of any relations with them except hostility.

If those dissatisfactions could be reduced to a simple sentence it would be this: surely, there must be some kind of answer.

This is a natural belief for any American rendered edgy by two decades of deadlocked suspense, particularly if he persists in believing there must be some solution more comforting than the present policy of watchful waiting.

Updating An Old Story!

David Lawrence Says:

Union Coercion Shackles Paper

WASHINGTON — In the United States today a small group of individuals are asserting the right to determine when or if a newspaper shall be published.

The entire government, including the Congress of the United States, stands by apparently afraid for political reasons to do anything about it.

Yet, there are legislative remedies available, and the Constitution says that Congress "shall make no law abridging the freedom of the press." This means also that no group of individuals shall take the law into their own hands and keep the press from publishing.

If the employees of a newspaper go on strike, this is understandable. But when coercion is used to prevent a newspaper from publishing, this is a violation of the First Amendment.

Three newspapers in New York City recently went out of business due to economic difficulties and financial losses. A single company was organized. The Department of Justice said no violation of antitrust laws was involved.

Many of the former employees were invited to come to work. They refused.

SUBJECT TO THREATS

Theoretically, the new company would have the right to offer the jobs to other individuals. The labor unions, however, can interpose coercive measures. If anybody seeks to cross a picket line, he can be subjected to threats and possible interference when he tries to enter the plant.

Strangely enough, although both houses of Congress are in session and there are committees specifically charged with the duty of writing legislation on labor-management relations, not a single bill has been introduced or a committee hearing held to find out whether the constitutional rights of citizens are being violated.

This inaction is a form of discrimination which ignores a civil right of the individual — his right to take a job when offered to him.

A close friend and political supporter of Lyndon B. Johnson for 20 years, few men have more impressive qualifications for the delicate role of mediating disputes arising out of alleged discrimination in business.

Those familiar with Dr. Holcomb's ceaseless efforts in behalf of better race relations give him much of the credit for the fact that Dallas, which had all the built-in ingredients for an ugly racial eruption, has not had one.

APPROAISED LETTERS

During the 1960 campaign, Dr. Holcomb came to Washington at the request of the Kennedy-Johnson campaign office to appraise 10,000 letters, many of them abusive, concerning JFK's Catholic religion.

After studying the pattern, he urgently recommended that Kennedy meet the problem head-on by addressing a large meeting of clergymen in the South, and in-viting questioning.

Houston was picked as the site, and Kennedy biographers generally credit that meeting as the crucial turning-point in the campaign.

'Letters Boost Morale of Our Boys Overseas'

I commend The Pontiac Press on the letters to Viet Nam program. I know how much these letters will mean to our boys overseas. The letters are good for their morale and make them realize how much they are loved back home. I have a brother in Viet Nam and sent his name to The Press. He wrote telling me how happy he is to get so many letters, even from strangers. Many thanks to The Pontiac Press.

Boys' Act of Honesty Was Appreciated

People of Pontiac are wonderful. My purse and all its contents have been returned to me by the mother of two boys who found it. While parents are still teaching children to be God-fearing, honest, and to live by the Golden Rule, everything is going to be all right. I am grateful for their kindness and concern.

Question and Answer

Concerning gifts to postmen, the Code of Ethical Conduct says he must not accept favors or benefits that might be construed as influencing his performance of duty. If a well-laid Postal employee is lucky enough to get homemade candy, fruit-cakes, maybe a tie or a card with a dollar in it, where do you figure he's being influenced unduly? He gives the best service he can because it's his job and receives remembrances at holidays, not because he expects them, but because there are those who think the spirit of giving still prevails.

REPLY

A Pontiac Post Office official recently told The Press government employees aren't supposed to accept gifts. Postmaster Donaldson wishes to change that answer to read:

"We quote from the Post Office Code of Ethical Conduct, 'Never discriminate unfairly by the dispensing of special favors or privileges to anyone, whether for remuneration or not; and never accept, for himself or family, favors or benefits under circumstances which might be construed by reasonable persons as influencing the performance of his governmental duties.'"

"All Postal employees are expected to give prompt, impartial and efficient service at all times to the best of their ability. Nowhere in the Code do we find a prohibition against a patron expressing, in a modest way, his appreciation to a Postal employee for year-long, cheerful and conscientious attention to his official duties."

VC Food Supply Is Vital Target

By RAY CROMLEY
WASHINGTON (NEA) — Reports of new MIG fighters in Viet Nam have overshadowed a crucial American-Viet Cong war for rice and salt.

In the past month U.S. troops have captured from the Viet Cong enough rice to feed 35 battalions of VC troops for more than a year.

In the same campaign, we CROMLEY have captured 233 tons of salt.

(Some captures have included quantities of U.S. grains which the Viet Cong had previously acquired one way or another, and considerable quantities of chickens, pigs, uniforms and medical supplies.)

This means that Viet Cong political cadres and guerrilla forces will be forced to spend less time on political organizing and fighting and more time getting the rice and salt they must have.

It means Viet Cong must bring in more rice from Cambodia.

As the fighting grew in central Viet Nam, the Viet Cong shifted numbers of their troops out of the Delta areas south of Saigon. This left them with less control over parts of these rice-rich regions. This meant less rice for them.

U.S. and Vietnamese troops in some areas have also moved out into the countryside to prevent the VC from talking over the crop.

What is needed now is to continue to tighten this salt-rice noose.

OCC Budget Hearing Set for Tonight

A public hearing on the proposed $4,786,843 Oakland Community College budget for 1966-67 is slated for 8 p.m. today in conjunction with the meeting of the college's board of trustees. The balanced budget calls for $3,459,838 in operating expenditures and $1,327,005 in building and site appropriations.

More than half of the required income, or $2,546,985, is anticipated from the one mill voted local tax.

A state aid is expected to yield $1 million and $821,975 is anticipated in tuition and fees.

Other income sources include state reimbursement programs, earned interest and repayment of building and site money to the operating fund.

OTHER BUSINESS

In other business tonight, the board of trustees will consider a recommendation of OCC President John E. Tirrell that the contract for construction of the second phase of the Orchard Ridge Campus be awarded to the low bidder.

The R. E. Dailey Co. of Southfield, with a proposal of $9,227,700, was low among three contractors bidding on the job. Cost estimate on the project was set at $8.3 million.

Area Man Seeks State JC Post

A member of the Waterford Township Junior Chamber of Commerce, Ronald Rogers will make his bid this weekend to become the first president of Michigan Jaycees from the Pontiac area in 43 years.

Rogers is an employee of the State Department of Social Welfare where he is supervisor of business enterprises for the blind.

A graduate of Pontiac Central High School, Rogers attended Ferris State College, University of Detroit and Wayne State University.

As a Jaycee, Rogers was once president of the Caro chapter and served as a state vice president in 1964-65.

The dental terminology for faulty biting is "malocclusion."

Rogers, 32, of 2159 St. Joseph, West Bloomfield Township, is one of four candidates for presidency of the Michigan Jaycees.

The election — highlight of the Michigan Jaycees' two-day convention — will be held Saturday night in the Lansing Civic Center.

If Rogers is successful, it will mark the first time anyone from the Pontiac area has been state president since 1923, according to Ted McCullough Jr., Rogers' campaign manager.

Al Hill of Holly, the last area candidate for the post, was defeated at the 1959 convention.

Currently a national director of the Jaycees, Rogers will face the challenge of three other candidates — Jay Sterling of the St. Joseph-Benton Harbor chapter, Wendell Smith of Plymouth and Ken Halter of Flint.

According to McCullough, 2,000 Jaycees and wives will attend the convention. Thirty-two members of the Waterford chapter plan on attending to lend support to Rogers.

City Planners Reject 2 Cases, OK Others

City planners last night denied two rezoning petitions, approved four other requests and reaffirmed their position on the minimum 1,000 square feet requirement for single family homes.

Final action on the planning decisions rests with the City Commission.

The City Planning Commission agreed with protesting residents of the area and recommended denial of the petition for residential R-3 rezoning for property at 824 Orchard Lake. An apartment building was planned for the parcel.

Requested commercial rezoning for property near the northeast corner of Auburn and Tassman was given a negative recommendation.

GETS APPROVAL

Receiving favorable recommendations last night were commercial rezoning for one lot on Monticello, provided a fence is installed; R-3 rezoning for 300 sq. ft. of property west of the Metropolitan Club, 37 W. Yale; and commercial and R-3 rezoning for an apartment — commercial complex on a former city landfill site off Orchard

Lake Avenue near Washington Park subdivision.

In granting a favorable recommendation to the latter rezoning, city planners stipulated that access to the projected complex from streets leading into the subdivision must be reviewed.

Residents protested the number of streets planned to lead from the future complex into the subdivision.

In other business last night, the planning commission recommended that the ordinance requiring a minimum of 1,000 square feet in future single-family homes be left unchanged.

HAVE OBJECTION

Belair Home Builders had objected to the requirement, stating the ordinance should distinguish between a concrete slab and a house with a basement.

A staff report last night indicated that in the future the ordinance should be changed to require more square footage as a minimum size for concrete slab homes.

A public hearing on requested R-3 zoning for a 10-acre parcel south of West Columbia, east of Alcott School, was adjourned for another month to allow more time for site plan changes.

Board Member Selection OK'd

Procedures for selecting four of five members on the personnel appeal board that will function under Oakland County's merit system were approved yesterday by the personnel policies board of the County Board of Supervisors.

County employees will select their two representatives on the board in a June 14 election.

The two board of supervisors representatives on the appeal board will be appointed by the chairman of the board of supervisors with approval of the supervisors.

Members of the personnel policies committee decided against a proposal that the fifth member be selected by the first four because of the possibility of an impasse.

County Personnel Director John Withers said an amendment will be offered the committee next week specifying that if the first four members fail to decide on a fifth member in 30 days, the Circuit Court bench will name the final member.

All five committee members will serve until Dec. 31, 1967.

After that, they will serve one year terms beginning Jan. 1.

25 Pupils Join Women in Cleanup

Twenty-five Pierce Junior High School students, their teacher and 12 Waterford Township women learned up Tuesday in a trash cleanup along five township roads.

The area covered consisted of about one-eighth of a mile on Crescent Lake Road, north of the Clinton River; a mile of Pontiac Lake Road, west of Watkins Lake Road; Hatchery Road from Crescent Lake Road to the Dixie, and portions of Saginaw Trail and Airport Road.

When they were through, they had gathered a pile of trash about six feet high and 10 feet in diameter, according to reports.

The cleanup was in connection with the Greater Waterford Community Council's second annual beautification month which will continue through next Tuesday.

Williams Will Tour County on Tuesday

A day-long tour of Oakland County will be conducted Tuesday by former Gov. G. Mennen Williams, candidate for the U.S. Senate.

His activities will begin with an early morning visit to plant grafts in Pontiac and will be followed by a breakfast with local labor and business leaders at the Waldron Hotel.

During the morning he will visit the county building, the Highland Lake campus of the Oakland Community College, and Oakland University, where he will be hosted at a luncheon sponsored by faculty members.

The rest of the day will be spent visiting several south Oakland County communities.

Fund Bill Vote Near in House

Efforts Fail to Cut $10.5-Billion Measure

WASHINGTON (AP) — A big appropriations bill including $489 million President Johnson says he does not want for health and education awaits formal House passage today.

The $10,555,342,500 measure, to finance the Labor Department and the Health, Education and Welfare Department in the next fiscal year, was approved informally by a vote Wednesday after an economy drive failed to cut some of the increases.

But before the expected roll call vote sends the measure to the Senate, one final attempt to slash spending five per cent across the board was to be disposed of.

The blanket reduction amendment, offered by Rep. Frank B. Row, R-Ohio, is the same one that the House has turned down by one-sided margins on several previous appropriations measures.

AMENDMENT

Bow, senior Republican member on the appropriations measures committee which recommended the budget-breaking amendments, offered an amendment Wednesday to cut back federal money for payments to school districts in areas where many federal civilian and military families live.

The bill would provide $416.2 million for these payments, $23.5 million more than the President requested.

Bow's amendment to change the payment formula and reduce payments lost by vote.

The House also beat back a similar amendment offered by Rep. Melvin R. Laird, R-Wis., that would have made a direct cut of $23.5 million in the appropriation. That lost by a standing vote of 137 to 28.

After those two defeats, Republican budget trimmers threw in the sponge and Republican leader Gerald R. Ford tossed an unaccepted challenge to Democrats to offer at least one amendment "to support the President."

Budget increases not challenged by amendments hiked funds for vocational education, the National Institutes of Health, land grant colleges and higher education programs.

Wallace to Continue Segregation Stand

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Gov. George C. Wallace has refused to budge from his segregationist stand, even though it may cause Negroes to vote in his wife's Republican opponent in November.

"We are not going to change our attitude for anybody," he told newsmen Wednesday. "We're not making any deals with any group of voters."

With the Democratic primary behind him, and Mrs. Wallace assured of the nomination to succeed her husband, Wallace was looking to the general election which he said, in effect, could be won without the Negro vote.

With 93 per cent of the total state boxes reporting — 3,383 of 3,654 — the count was: Mrs. Wallace 400,899; Atty. Gen. Richard Flowers 142,716; former Congressman Earl Elliott 64,474; State Sen. Bob Gilchrist 45,913; Charles Woods 36,117; former Gov. John Patterson 32,335; former Gov. James Folsom 21,760; Agriculture Commissioner A.W. Todd 12,925; Sherman Powell 6,867, and E.I. Gore 1,558.

PROBABLE NOMINEE

In Washington, the probable GOP nominee for governor, congressman James D. Martin said Mrs. Wallace's thumping victory wouldn't deter him from seeking nomination from the state convention July 29.

He said he hoped Negroes "won't vote as a bloc, in the interest of all concerned," but he planned to "ask for the vote of all of the people who believe in my platform and philosophy."

Whether Wallace or Martin would get Negro endorsement was an open question. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. said it was possible that Negroes would vote in a bloc for Mrs. Wallace in the general election, but he added that it was too early to say.

one of five Republican House members elected in Alabama during the Barry Goldwater state landslide in 1964, said he would peg his campaign to the two-party system and the idea that Wallace represents "the Democratic party of Lyndon Johnson and Hubert Humphrey."

But last year the industry was making up sales in those four months that had been lost because of strikes at the close of 1964. It has been estimated earlier that 300,000 of the early 1966 sales could have been made in 1964 except for the strikes which halted production.

"The industry quite candidly was not prepared for the March surge in auto buying, nor April letdown, and is now setting down to meeting the demands of a must summer market," said Ward's.

CHALLENGE MRS. WALLACE

In New York, meanwhile, attorney Robert Daru said he would go into state and federal courts to challenge Mrs. Wallace's nomination.

Daru issued a statement calling the nomination an "avowed and admitted conspiracy to evade constitutional provisions against succession."

Alabama's constitution prohibits the governor from seeking consecutive reelection. Wallace and his wife both have said he will continue to make the policy decisions if she is elected.

Associated Press Science Writer LOS ANGELES — Don't curse that cold — it may be saving your life.

The possibility that nontal virus infections such as the common cold may protect many humans from cancer and leukemia came Wednesday at the annual meeting of the American Society for Microbiology.

Dr. E. Frederick Wheelock of Western Reserve University School of Medicine said competition between different kinds of viruses in the human cell may result in the death of one kind, thus producing immunity against the disease caused by the losing virus.

Wheelock disclosed new research in which he said he made mice temporarily resistant to leukemia, a form of blood cancer.

VIRUS COMPETITION

He found indications the immunity resulted from direct competition between viruses, rather than from production of a newly found cell substance called interferon.

"We know that leukemia in mice is caused by a virus,"

Auto Industry Plans Cutback

'Has Nothing to Do With Safety Hearings'

DETROIT (UPI) — Ward's Automotive Reports said yesterday the auto industry is planning a big cutback in its May through July production schedules, but it has nothing to do with any "bad image" created by the auto safety hearings before Congress.

The statistical publication said auto circles generally agree that new car sales are going through a change—"settling down," as it were, after a string of some record-setting months that often bordered on the fantastic."

Ward's said present plans were to remove an estimated 100,000 cars from its May, June and July production schedules to keep dealer inventories realistically in line with market demands.

The scale-down, it said, might reach as high as 150,000 which could involve temporarily short work weeks at some plants.

Ward's emphasized that "the new look in production and in sales is not a tarnished look, but is still keyed to some of the brightest months in industry operations ever seen."

Sales in the first four months of 1966, January through April, totaled 2,968,917 units, only a bare shade below sales in the same period last year.

But last year the industry was making up sales in those four months that had been lost because of strikes at the close of 1964. It has been estimated earlier that 300,000 of the early 1966 sales could have been made in 1964 except for the strikes which halted production.

"The industry quite candidly was not prepared for the March surge in auto buying, nor April letdown, and is now setting down to meeting the demands of a must summer market," said Ward's.

Faces Exam in Threat to Policeman

A Pontiac man who allegedly threatened a city policeman with a rifle faces Municipal Court felonious assault.

Clarence E. Marz, 43, of 260 N. Saginaw, was arraigned yesterday before Judge Cecil B. McCallum and demanded a preliminary hearing in the case.

McCallum set the examination for Wednesday and released Marz in payment of $1,000 bond.

Marz was arrested Monday night by Patrolman Douglas T. Fortin, who said Marz leveled a gun at him when he approached Marz about an accident.

Fortin said Marz drew the gun after police indicated they would impound his automobile, said by a witness to have been involved in a nearby accident.

Associated Press Science Writer LOS ANGELES — Don't curse that cold — it may be saving your life.

The possibility that nontal virus infections such as the common cold may protect many humans from cancer and leukemia came Wednesday at the annual meeting of the American Society for Microbiology.

Dr. E. Frederick Wheelock of Western Reserve University School of Medicine said competition between different kinds of viruses in the human cell may result in the death of one kind, thus producing immunity against the disease caused by the losing virus.

Wheelock disclosed new research in which he said he made mice temporarily resistant to leukemia, a form of blood cancer.

VIRUS COMPETITION

He found indications the immunity resulted from direct competition between viruses, rather than from production of a newly found cell substance called interferon.

"We know that leukemia in mice is caused by a virus,"

He was sentenced in July of that year to two and a half years. He served one year, 10 months and six days.

Russia, Italian Firm Sign Biggest Auto Deal Ever

'The parties have worked out a specific program of cooperation, contemplating the selection of the car model to be produced as well as the joint engineering and manufacturing organization of a production plant with the capacity of 2,000 cars a day.'

TURIN, Italy (UPI) — Russia's multimillion dollar agreement to buy a 2,000-car-a-day production plant from Fiat Automobile Co. was described today as the biggest international automotive deal in history and welcome news for the Soviet consumers.

The agreement, announced yesterday after two weeks of negotiations between Soviet and Fiat officials, did not disclose the sum involved, but reliable sources said the Soviet would pay upwards of $300 million.

Not since the late Henry Ford journeyed to pre-revolutionary Russia to help set up the infant Soviet automobile industry has there been a deal of comparable size in Europe.

(France's giant Renault Auto Co. said in Paris it still planned to sell an auto plant to Russia despite the Fiat deal. A spokesman said a team will leave for Moscow May 23 to discuss plans to sell a plant producing a modified version of the Renault 16 five-seater model).

The announcement yesterday said financial arrangements were being worked out by officials of the Soviet Vneshtorgbank (Foreign Trade Bank) and Italy's Istituto Mobiliare Italiano (IMI) bank.

SIGNED IN TURIN

The deal was signed in Turin, with Soviet Ambassador to Italy, S. P. Kozirev making a special trip here for the occasion. Signatories were Vittorio Valletta, president of Fiat, Italy's biggest automobile maker, and A. M. Turosov, minister of the Soviet automobile industry.

The official announcement was offered few details. It said,

"We have recently proved that in mice leukemia can be controlled by injections with another benign virus."

"If leukemia in humans is caused by a virus — and this has yet to be proved — it is possible that nontal virus infections such as colds may be good for us. The benign viruses may be interfering with the growth of cancer viruses, which could be present in all of us."

"At any rate, one of the next steps is to determine whether leukemia and cancer patients are significantly free of colds, influenza and the like in the period immediately preceding the more serious illness."

INOCULATE MICE

Wheelock said he inoculated mice with both leukemia-causing virus and benign virus on the same day. This produced normal amounts of interferon — a substance cells produce when attacked by a virus and which some researchers believe may keep the virus from growing.

However, Wheelock said, the cancer virus continued to multiply. "This observation makes it

HANFORD, Calif. (UPI) — The new occupants of a house have learned why Marvin E. Scott periodically visited their water and cultivate plants. Police said Scott, 22, started out registering a car in the yard while the house was vacant.

For the Russians, the Fiat deal was seen as being in line with the new Kremlin leadership's promises to quadruple passenger car production in the next five years.

Although other details were available, industry sources here said the Fiat deal would benefit broad sectors of Italian business. They said Fiat was expected to pass on 75 per cent of the Soviet fees to subcontractors.
