Russia Asks U. N. to Name Trieste Governor

Urge Commies, Allies to Start Talks Thursday

U. N. Says Persuasion Centers Will Be Built by Midnight

PANMUNJOM (AP)—The Korean repatriation commission today asked the U. N. Command and the Communists to start Thursday in their attempts to persuade war prisoners to return home.

The commission request came shortly after the UNC announced it would complete by midnight tonight a permanent center for the Reds to use in interviewing 22,300 North Korean and Chinese POWs.

There was no immediate answer either from the Reds or the Allied command.

The Allied announcement opened the way for the long delayed—and potentially explosive—explanations to start rolling.

The Reds had steadfastly refused to meet with the POWs until the UNC completed new facilities. The explanations originally were scheduled to begin Sept. 26 but both sides rejected existing sites as inadequate.

The Communists, who want to interview the 7,800 Koreans and 14,500 Chinese POWs individually, presumably will begin the explanations by Thursday.

The UNC, however, has said it was in no hurry to start meeting with the 23 Americans, 1 Briton and 335 South Koreans who have refused repatriation.

The UNC announcement that the Red "explanation" center would be completed so quickly came as a surprise. Only 24 hours earlier the Allied command had set a target date of Oct. 21 for completing the 32 explanation booths the Communists demanded.

The brief Allied announcement said the UNC did not disclose the center was so near completion because "there was no way of determining what difficulties might be encountered in the construction work."

The UNC also announced that the four-nation armistice supervisory commission will investigate Allied charges that the Reds were bringing combat aircraft into North Korea in violation of the truce agreement.

An inspection team with representatives from Poland, Czechoslovakia, Sweden and Switzerland probably will leave Wednesday for Uiju in far northwestern Korea to look into the charges.

The Indian command, meanwhile returned two North Koreans to Communist custody. The pair had asked for repatriation after being turned over to Indian custody.

Jail Opens to Kidnap-Killer

Confess Kidnap-Slaying

Hall, Companion Returned Secretly to Kansas City

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The confessed kidnaper-killers of Bobby Greenlease today were returned under heavy guard to Kansas City, where the abduction of the 6-year-old boy took place just 15 days ago.

Drug addict Carl Austin Hall and his woman friend, Mrs. Bonnie Brown Heady, were brought here from St. Louis. They had been held in St. Louis since their arrest a week ago.

The pair's departure from St. Louis was kept secret. They were brought here by automobile in custody of U. S. Marshal Omar Schnatmeier. Both were manacled. Officers placed them in 11th floor detention cells in the county courthouse jail.

Officers who made the trip here with them said Hall still insisted he doesn't know what happened to the missing $300,000 of the $600,000 ransom paid.

Hall admitted yesterday he fired a pistol bullet into the boy's head after driving him across the Missouri-Kansas state line from Kansas City shortly after the kidnaping.

China Fugitive No One Wants May Find Home

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—Michael Patrick O'Brien, who has been shuttling about the world looking for a country that would receive him, arrived here today. Red tape apparently still kept him from a promised haven in the Dominican Republic.

O'Brien arrived aboard the French liner Bretagne from Montevideo, Uruguay, and was promptly locked in his cabin. He was not only kept from landing with the other passengers but also was prevented from seeing reporters and photographers.

The highly-publicized wanderer, whose last known occupation was as a bartender in the Orient before the Communists took over China, said yesterday in Montevideo the Dominican Republic had opened its doors to him.

Dominican officials in New York confirmed his statement. But the Dominican Embassy here said today it had received no instructions to grant O'Brien entry.

Argentine immigration officials examined O'Brien's papers but made no move to permit him to land so he could take another ship for a Dominican port.

O'Brien escaped from China with Red Cross papers. He shuttled by ferry between British Hong Kong and Portuguese Macao in the China sea for 10 months without getting permission to land at either port.

Benson Unveils New Farm Plan

Reorganization Would Eliminate Two U. S. Agricultural Bureaus

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary Benson today outlined his plan to reorganize the Agriculture Department, declaring it would reduce the number of employes and cut costs yet provide "better service for farm families."

The plan has been under study for months. Benson unveiled it at a news conference and invited comment from interested parties. Once he has studied reaction, he intends to put into effect such parts of the plan as he deems advisable.

Eliminated under the new plan would be the Production and Marketing Administration (PMA) and the Bureau of Agricultural Economics (BAE). Benson said the functions of these two bureaus would be transferred to other agencies.

The new department organization proposed would put all of the service agencies under four main groups:

1. Federal-state relations, under J. Earl Coke, assistant secretary.
2. Marketing and foreign agriculture, to be headed by John H. Davis, assistant secretary.
3. Agricultural stabilization, under Howard H. Gordon, present PMA administrator and president of the Commodity Credit Corporation.
4. Agricultural credit, under R. L. Farrington, acting director of Agricultural Credit Services.

Asks Hearing in Auto Death

Prosecutor Is Charging Negligent Homicide in Traffic Accident

Leaun W. Harrelson Jr., 18, of 26 Delaware Dr., demanded examination when arraigned before Pontiac Municipal Judge Maurice E. Finnegan today on a negligent homicide charge.

He was released on $2,500 bond and examination was set for Oct. 21.

Harrelson is being charged in the death of Mrs. Veda N. Coon, 37, of 49 Dwight Ave. who was struck last Friday by the youth's car on W. Huron St. at Dwight Ave.

Harrelson, the son of Pontiac's state representative, told Chief Assistant Prosecutor George F. Taylor that Mrs. Coon stepped back into the path of his auto.

Mrs. Coon was in the middle of West Huron street waiting for traffic to clear, according to witnesses.

The youth told police he was traveling between 30 and 35 miles per hour in the 30 mile per hour zone. Police said skid marks measured 75 feet.

Britain Delays A-Test

Unearth Bones Believed to Be a Mastadon's

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind. (UP) — Scientists today examined the well preserved bones of what was believed to be a prehistoric elephant-like animal unearthed on the Ernest Delco farm south of here.

The remains were uncovered from their centuries old burial place by an excavation crew working in a peat bog. Specialists from the Chicago Museum of Natural History arrived to study the find.

Bryan Patterson, the museum's curator, said the shape of the skull and bones indicated the animal was a mastadon. He said the huge beasts roamed the area 5,000 to 10,000 years ago and peat marshes provided an excellent preservative for the bones.

Harvard Will Install 24th President Today

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Harvard rolled out its installation carpet today for its 24th president, Nathan M. Pusey, first non-easterner chosen to head the university in its three-century history.

Dr. Pusey, a native of Council Bluffs, Ia., is a Harvard-educated man who returns here at 46 after a teaching career which led him to Lawrence College at Appleton, Wis., in 1935. He became president of Lawrence 10 years ago.

Democrat Takes Taft's Old Seat in U. S. Senate

Mayor Thomas Burke of Cleveland Is Named to Fill Vacancy

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) —Democrat Thomas A. Burke, 54-year-old four-time mayor of Cleveland, today holds the Senate post vacant since the death of Robert A. Taft July 31.

Gov. Frank J. Lausche of Ohio appointed Burke late yesterday. It was a surprise announcement by the Democratic governor, who called his private secretary from Cleveland and told her to release the news.

Lausche's selection of his close friend and long-time political ally gave the Democratic party a 48-47 edge in the Senate. The other senator is independent Wayne Morse of Oregon. Vice President Nixon holds the deciding vote should the Senate deadlock. Morse was elected as a Republican but later bolted the party in a hassle over policy.

The word that the sometimes politically independent governor had named Burke to the Senate ended speculation in some quarters and set other circles buzzing.

The political prognosticators wonder now whether Lausche or Burke—or neither—will seek election in November 1954 for the remainder of Taft's unexpired term, which runs until Jan. 3, 1957.

Persons guessing Lausche would appoint the round-faced Irishman who declined to seek nomination for a fifth term as Cleveland mayor reasoned it was the only logical appointment—that such an appointment would give Lausche and Burke the upper hand in upcoming Ohio gubernatorial and U. S. senatorial elections.

They figured Burke would step aside in 1954 if Lausche decided to seek the Senate seat—and that Burke might then try for governor.

The governor said he did not speak to Burke prior to the appointment.

"He had no commitments to me of any character whatsoever," Lausche said, "except that I anticipate he will take no action to change in any manner the present organization of the Senate, and that, in the fulfillment of his duties he will constantly keep in

Dulles to Meet Eden, Bidault

Foreign Ministers Will Confer in London This Friday, Saturday

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles will meet with the British and French foreign ministers in London Friday for conferences on Trieste, Korea, Russian relations and other world problems.

A joint announcement of arrangements for the conference was made today in Washington, London and Paris.

Dulles will leave here tomorrow night. Two advisors, Douglas MacArthur II, state department counselor, and Robert Bowie, chief of department policy planning, will accompany him.

Dulles expects to remain in London until Sunday.

State Department officials said this was not an emergency session, and that there was no one overriding problem which made it necessary now.

The official announcement said: "This meeting is in keeping with the practice of the three ministers to consult together at frequent intervals in one of the three capitals."

There was a session in Washington last July, attended by French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault and the acting British Foreign Secretary, Lord Salisbury.

The timing of the new meeting was explained by State Department officials in terms of British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden's return to his post after a long illness.

Willman Orders Revamping of Pontiac's Civil Defense

City Manager Walter K. Willman said today that Pontiac's civil defense setup will be completely reorganized.

He said the new organization will be set up "within the scope of the city's permanent staff under a director to be named by the City Commission" and that city department heads will take over duties of Civil Defense Director James Little.

Under the new setup, it is believed that Willman will be named civil defense director and several department heads will serve on a civil defense committee.

In a letter to Little, Willman informed him of the reorganization and said "may I suggest that action by you clearing the ordinance reorganization would be appropriate."

The city manager said the new director is scheduled to be appointed Nov. 1, by City Commission.

The action to revise Pontiac's civil defense setup will be taken in accordance with public act 154.

This act passed by the 1953 Michigan Legislature nullifies appointments prior to the effective date of the act and requires cities of over 10,000 population to appoint civil defense directors.

In informing Little of the reorganization, Willman expressed

Protests Allies Turning Zone A Over to Italians

Claims West Has Made Disputed Territory Into Military Base

From AP & UP Dispatches

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. —Russia demanded today that the United Nations Security Council meet to name a governor of disputed Trieste.

The Soviet move came on the heels of a protest by Moscow against the Anglo-American decision to transfer Zone A of Trieste to Italy. The Russians charged that the Western Allies had turned Trieste into an illegal military base and had violated the Italian Peace Treaty.

The treaty provided that Trieste be set up as an international territory ruled by a governor named by the U. N. Security Council, where the Big Five powers hold the veto power. But the big powers never have been able to agree on a governor.

It was expected that the current Security Council president, Denmark's William Borberg, would call a council meeting without delay.

The last time the Big Five tried to choose a governor for the projected international territory was in February 1949. At that time, Russia proposed for the post a former Swiss minister to Moscow, Col. Hermann Flueckiger.

Flueckiger had been proposed by Britain the year before without success. But he was turned down in 1949, with the United States arguing that developments had made it impossible to get up an independent democratic free territory as provided in the peace treaty.

By that time, the Western Allies had announced their intent to return the free territory to Italy. This move helped Premier Alcide De Gasperi in the 1948 elections.

It appeared highly doubtful that the Big Five powers would be able now to reach an agreement that has eluded them for years.

U.N. observers speculated that Russia's intervention in the tense Trieste dispute might be part of a Kremlin campaign to woo Yugoslavia back into the Soviet bloc.

Meanwhile, anti-Western violence increased today as angry Yugoslavia awaited Western reaction to President Tito's threats and notes designed to halt the transfer of northern Trieste to Italy.

With Washington showing no signs of backing down from the British-American decision to pull out of Zone A of the strategic territory, the mood of the tense Yugoslavs again grew ugly.

Demonstrators beat up an American student and a Yugoslav who dropped into the Belgrade office of the U. S. Information Service. Huge slogans spelling "Entrance

Schools to Close for MEA Conclave Thursday, Friday

By HAZEL A. TRUMBLE

A two-day meeting of the Michigan Education Association, Region Seven, will close all Oakland County public schools on Thursday and Friday.

To meet for the first time as an independent region, Oakland County was originally part of a region with several adjacent counties. Birmingham High School will be the scene of the two-day conclave.

Headlining the educators' institute are Robert A. Skaife, field secretary for the National Commission for the Defense of Democracy through Education; Robert Vogeler, American businessman who was "Stalin's prisoner," and Milburn P. Anderson, superintendent of Berkley schools and president of the Michigan Education Association.

Chairman of this year's conference is Mrs. Gertrude Mattson of Berkley. Mrs. Mildred Porritt of Pontiac serves the region as secretary and Haldon Robinson, Royal Oak, is regional executive secretary committee chairman.

Skaife will speak Thursday on "Academic Freedom of Teachers."

Following this opening address, Vogeler will tell of his "Seventeen Months of Despair" as the victim of Communist rule.

As vice-president of the International Telephone and Telegraph Co., Vogeler was summarily arrested in Budapest in 1949 and charged with "espionage, sabotage and conspiracy against the Hungarian government."

It was not until 1951 that he was set free and since his return to this country he has dedicated himself to help destroy the "Communist enemies of freedom."

Thursday afternoon's program will consist of a series of group panels. Topics for discussion are "Beginning Teacher Problems," "Democratic Human Relations" and "Professional Ethics."

Friday's program will feature Clair Taylor, state superintendent of public instruction, and John Fisher, Canadian news analyst and commentator, speaking on "Horse and Buggy Thinking Has No Place in the Atomic Age."

British Troops in Guiana Raid Leftist Headquarters

GEORGETOWN, British Guiana (AP)—British troops and police raided the headquarters of the leftist Peoples Progressive Party and homes of its leaders today as a strike spread through this British colony's major sugar industry.

There was no immediate indication that the gov- Britain's charges that the PPP had been plotting to set up a Communist state in British Guiana.

There was no immediate indication that the government planned to arrest the PPP leader, ex-Premier Cheddi Jagan, and five other cabinet ministers fired with him last week in the British crackdown.

Jagen said on the telephone from his home: "They're here now. I suppose they are still looking for that plot."

Jagan and the PPP have denied the charges and called the strike against what they called an "invasion by foreign troops." Though the walkout increased in the sugar industry today, there were no signs of any strikes in other fields.

In addition to Jagan's home, those of his brother Sirpaul and of Rory Westmaas, described by the British as a ringleader in the alleged Red plot, were among those raided.

Troops mounted machineguns in trucks blocking off some streets, including those leading to the party headquarters.

Observers figured the PPP called strike would halt at least 50 per cent of British Guiana's sugar industry in a few days. It got off to a slow start yesterday because of the Pan-American Day holiday.

By nightfall three of the colony's 14 sugar factories had closed, however, and some 40 per cent of the native cane cutters reportedly had left the plantation fields.

Birmingham to Negotiate With Owner of Triangle of Land in Troy Township

From Our Birmingham Office

BIRMINGHAM—Moving to prevent the development of a neighboring area with septic tanks and wells, the city commission has authorized City Manager Donald C. Egbert to negotiate with its owner for sewer and water facilities if annexation petitions are forthcoming.

The area in question is the triangle of Troy Township land bounded by Adams road, the Grand Trunk Western Railroad and Buckingham. It is owned by developer Arthur Nechman.

The commission also agreed to confer with the Birmingham Board of Education regarding the site, after residents at the meeting said the board was interested in a school site there.

City Manager Egbert explained that the developer of the area would pay for sewer and water facilities necessary for the project.

The proposed development would bring single-family homes to the section below Derby road, and a 104-unit multiple-family project in the triangle's apex north of Derby.

In other action, the lawmakers tabled a requested rezoning of 595 S. Bates from single family residence to income bungalow, until Feb. 1, when the plan board will present a report on changing the entire Bates area.

A petition from the planning board to rezone the east side of Adams road from Lincoln avenue to the Porritt property from business A to income bungalow, was denied.

Faculty to Study Intramural Plan

Birmingham High PTA Will Discuss Program for Boys Tomorrow

BIRMINGHAM — Plans for a boys' intramural athletic program at Birmingham High School will be furthered by faculty suggestions when the school's PTA Council meets tomorrow at 8 p. m.

The suggestion first voiced by Dr. Edwin Deer, father vice president of the PTA, has been endorsed by the group and is being developed by Ross Wagner, principal; Frank Whitney, athletic director, and Kermit Ambrose of the faculty.

Faculty representatives acknowledge the need for such a program but pointed out major problems. "Our present program based on competition with other schools is inadequate," Whitney said, "because the boy who needs the build-up most is the boy who can't make the varsity, reserve or freshman team. The fact that we have nothing to offer this boy in sports is wrong.

"However, it should be kept in mind that more boys could participate on our squads than do. For example, we have 94 out for football and we could handle another 100," he noted.

Wagner cautioned against placing undue emphasis on this kind of a program. "There should be an intramural sports program for those who want it," he said, "but we should not attempt to sell it to every boy. Each student should have the opportunity to choose the activity he is most interested in."

Lack of space during the winter season and necessity to provide paid personnel to supervise an additional program during after-school hours were also described as major problems. Wagner said Ambrose has been assigned to handle intramural sports as part of his employment this year.

Orders Revamping Civil Defense Setup

his "personal and official appreciation for your fine work in a very difficult task.

"Apathy on the part of all levels of government and in this instance, by most of our citizens, has made your work very trying," said the city manager. "It has been my feeling that we have been progressing and were building a nucleus of a civil defense organization that could be readily expanded in time of dire need.

"This work must be continued under the new setup, and the groundwork and planning accomplished by you will be exceedingly valuable and very much to your credit," Willman added.

The city manager said the City Commission decided on the reorganization after informal discussions.

All Is Forgiven

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP) — A Middletown woman asked for the arrest a couple of years ago of a man on charges of cutting with intent to kill or wound.

The police served the warrant on the man the first time they found him—a few days ago. They were too late. The two are now married.

PLYMOUTH BELVEDERE FOR 1954—The Belvedere four-door sedan is one of 11 body types in the 1954 Plymouth line. All models are longer than their predecessors and all are available with Plymouth's new full-time power steering with a no-shift drive combination. Plymouth dealers in Pontiac are Braid Motor Sales, of 70 S. Cass Ave., and Riemenschneider Bros. 232 S. Saginaw St.

Plymouth Shows New Body Lines

Styling and Engineering Changes Are Featured in 1954 Models

New body lines, a new front end design, new interiors, optional power steering and three choices of power drives are among features of the 1954 Plymouth automobiles.

The new models go on display in dealer showrooms Oct. 15.

Plymouth announced no change in the 100 horsepower output of its engine, but said there were 64 advancements in styling and engineering design.

The new power steering unit is of the link type, in which the hydraulic power is in the steering linkage. It reduces steering effort up to 80 per cent.

The optional power drives are the hy-drive, no shift unit, introduced in the 1953 model year; synchro-silent three-speed transmission and synchro-silent with overdrive.

The latter unit offers a fourth forward speed for cruising.

The 1954 line will be presented in 11 body types in three series. Top of the line will be the Belvederes. Others are the Savoy and Plaza.

All models have been increased 3⅝ inches in length. Interior advances include a variety of new color schemes. Color coordination is carried out in minute detail, extending even to the horn button and instrument panel.

Plymouth also announced a new type of seat cushions with what it calls dual flex springs. They are made up of a combination of coil springs and jack springs.

Plymouth says they have greater resistance to "bottoming" when the car hits a bump.

To extend top engine performance over a long period of time, Plymouth is using new silicon chromium alloy intake valves in 1954 models. Exhaust valve inserts have been retained to maintain high compression engine performance in years of service.

Other mechanical improvements include a higher capacity oil pump, new improved clutch, and improved electric windshield wipers.

Local industries not members of Pontiac Manufacturers' Association will look to W. L. Whitfield for leadership in Pontiac Area United Fund's 1953 campaign.

Whitfield, personnel safety supervisor for the southeastern division of Consumers Power Co., is captain of the new "general manufacturers group," which sent delegates to an organization meeting Monday at GMAC Truck and Coach Division.

Earl A. Maxwell, Truck and Coach personnel director and chairman of the United Fund's industrial division, presided. Chairman of the Waterford Township industrial division is Les Hutchinson of Les Hutchinson Trailer Sales and Pontiac Coach Co.

Harvey Johns, GMC Truck and Coach Division plant police chief, told of campaign methods learned from experience in past United Fund drives. Johns has been active in United Fund since the first local campaign in 1949.

The newly-organized group includes 65 industries in and around Pontiac — many of them in Waterford which is joining in the Pontiac area drive for the first time.

Other assistants are Donald J. Kelly, president, Kelly Foundry Co.; Thomas O. and Robert Render of M and R Manufacturing Co.; and John P. Bexell, Bexell and Son.

Harold E. Hadden of Terry Machine Co.; L. R. Morrison, Pontiac Coach Co.; and Henry R. Greenley of Airways Products, Inc., are other assistants.

Dem Takes Taft's Old Senate Seat

mind the interests and welfare of the general public."

The appointment of the jovial, good-humored Burke brought criticism from one Ohio congressman. Rep. George H. Bender, a Clevelander, called it "part of a shabby deal."

Bender said Burke "will not represent the majority of Ohio; he will substantially misrepresent us." Bender said Lausche's action was "in keeping with his sorry record on national issues."

Sen. John W. Bricker, Ohio Republican, said he would have nothing to say on the appointment.

Burke accepted the appointment humbly. He borrowed a phrase from his favorite sport when he said:

"I feel somewhat in the position of Lou Gehrig following Babe Ruth to the plate."

Burke, like Lausche, is popular at the polls. When Lausche resigned as Cleveland mayor in 1945 to become governor, he appointed Burke. Burke then was elected mayor in 1945, 1947, 1949 and 1951 by overwhelming majorities. Lausche was the only Democrat to gain high state office in the Republican landslide last November. Burke said he plann edtoserve

Burke said he planned to serve out his present term, which ends Nov. 10, unless business in Washington required his presence there.

He is a Catholic and holds degrees from Holy Cross and Western Reserve universities. He is married, has two married daughters and several grandchildren.

MISS ARDEMIS KOUZIAN

Cornell Educator to Address AAUW

Miss Ardemis Kouzian, Capital District director of the extension division of the School of Industrial and Labor Relations at Cornell University, will discuss "An Educational Experiment That's Clicked," at the 12:45 p.m. luncheon meeting of the American Association of University Women at Birmingham Community House tomorrow.

As head of the Capital District office, Miss Kouzian conducts surveys and fact-finding tours throughout the eastern section of New York and the New England states.

She plans adult education programs and selects instructors for communities where there has been a request for a lecture series on aspects of industrial and labor relations.

Through the recommendation of a joint legislative committee in 1944, the school which Miss Kouzian represents was set up, actually functioning first in 1946.

The extension division of Cornell University's School of Industrial and Labor Relations offers this service to labor, management, government and civic groups as well as for the general public.

Miss Kouzian received her A.B. degree in sociology from the University of Michigan in 1938. First employed in the occupational analysis division of the U. S. Employment Service, she later was a member of the Bureau of Labor Statistics in the U.S. Department of Labor.

Dewey to Test Power in Party

Seeks Showdown With Lt. Gov. Wicks, Whom He Wants Ousted

ALBANY, N. Y. (UP) — Gov. Thomas E. Dewey laid his party leadership and possibly his entire political future on the line today in his fight to oust acting Lt. Gov. Arthur H. Wicks.

Dewey told Wicks Monday to resign as Senate majority leader because his visits to convicted labor racketeer Joseph (Joey) Fay in Sing Sing Prison had "embarrassed" the Republican Party.

Wicks refused but said he would "submit my resignation to the next session of the Legislature and let the Senate pass upon my fitness."

Dewey said he would call a special session early next month to force a decision on the matter. The next regular session of the Legislature would not be held until January next year.

The governor admitted he is now a "captive" of one of the leaders of his own party. Observers feel that if the senate upholds Wicks it could be a slap at Dewey and he could no longer claim leadership of the Republican Party in New York State.

The Senate vote on whether Wicks should stay on as lieutenant governor will provide one of the toughest tests of Dewey's party leadership in his four terms as governor. Wicks has many old and powerful friends among upstate Republicans.

Asks U. N. to Name Trieste Governor of Traitors" were scrawled on sidewalks outside the USIS office and the British reading room in the main part of the city.

A reinforced ring of Yugoslav militia men surrounded both buildings as mass street demonstrations continued. New protests also were planned for tonight.

A British spokesman said 1,000 to 1,500 "thugs" twice invaded the reading room and seized copies of the British News Bulletin, tearing them up and using them to make bonfires in the streets.

The renewal of violence followed a night of comparative calm although the American embassy reported that a Yugoslav woman employe of its information service had been beaten on her way home last night.

As a result, the embassy withdrew the large staff of natives employed by the USIS from duties involving direct contact with the public.

Demonstrators yesterday slugged the USIS director in Belgrade and broke his nose.

In identical notes to Britain and the United States, the Kremlin declared the plan to give Italy the Allied-occupied zone—including the Adriatic port city of Trieste—was a "grave violation" of the Italian Peace Treaty.

Underlining the apparent U. S.-British determination to pull out, the first boatload of American servicemen's dependents left Trieste today. The U. S. troopship Geiger sailed from the city carrying 250 wives and children. The soldiers are expected to leave next month.

Hall and Companion Back in Kansas City

A federal grand jury will be convened to hear the evidence.

The admissions cleared the missing Thomas John Marsh, 37, ex-convict named earlier by Hall as Bobby's killer.

Jackson County Prosecutor Richard Phelps agreed to let the federal government prosecute the two kidnapers. State charges had previously been filed.

Conviction carries a possible death penalty.

The FBI said Hall and his woman friend admitted they dug Bobby's shallow grave behind Mrs. Heady's St. Joseph, Mo., home before the kidnaping.

More than $295,000 of the ransom money, in $10 and $20 bills, was in the apartment-hotel room where Hall was seized. Hall claims he doesn't know what happened to the rest of the $600,000 ransom.

Bobby apparently was killed in Mrs. Heady's station wagon after the couple had driven him to a point near U. S. Highway 69 in Kansas 12 miles from Kansas city.

FBI agents were reportedly still searching a wheat field near the murder scene for the bullet which killed the boy. A mechanical pencil, advertising one of the automobile agencies operated by Robert C. Greenlease Sr. 71-year-old father of the boy, was found at the scene. Bobby was known to have been carrying a pencil of this type.

Marsh's whereabouts still remained a mystery. There has been speculation he may be dead.

Man Perishes in Blazing Car

Burns to Death After Ramming Into Pontiac Driver's Truck

LANSING (AP)—An accident victim tentatively identified as Richard Murdock, 25, of Owosso, was burned to death near here this morning when his car struck a slow-moving truck in the fog and then burst into flames.

State Police said Murdock was "practically cremated" making identification difficult. Tentative identification was made through the car license plate.

Members of his family said Murdock was on his way to work at the Lansing Oldsmobile plant this morning and would have been at the accident scene at about that time.

State Police said a car driven by Murdock rammed into the rear of a truck driven by Orville H. Taylor of 86 Otter, Pontiac. Another car driven by Thomas W. Branch, 69, of Morrice, piled into the first two vehicles.

Taylor, who was unhurt, said he was driving on M-78 about seven miles east of East Lansing at only 10 miles an hour because of a thick fog around 5 a.m. this morning.

Taylor felt the two bumps and stopped his truck. When he jumped out, the truck driver said, Murdock's car was jammed underneath his truck and both vehicles were in flames.

The truck driver pulled Branch out of the second car but was unable to rescue Murdock, who was trapped in his flaming car wedged beneath the truck. Branch was taken to the Lansing Edward W. Sparrow Hospital with burns and face and chest injuries.

Man Found Guilty in Pistol-Whipping

An Oakland County Circuit Court jury Monday found a Detroit man guilty of felonious assault in the pistol whipping of another motorist last July 6, following a minor traffic accident on Dixie Highway at Telegraph Rd.

Leo D. Skupin, 47, of 6316 McKenzie, who appeared before Circuit Judge Frank L. Doty, faces sentencing, Oct. 30.

He was charged with assaulting Benjamin H. Kitzmiller, 43, of 4700 Dixie Hwy., after their cars locked bumpers at the intersection.

Michigan State Police of the Pontiac Post said Kitzmiller was taken to Pontiac General Hospital with cuts and bruises of the head and shoulders and a fractured left arm following the fracas.

Skupin's permit for carrying the .38 caliber target pistol stipulated it could be used for hunting and target practice.

Found Guilty of Charge

Geraldine Ann Deyo, of 18437 Ferguson St., Detroit, was found guilty today by an Oakland County Circuit Court Jury of abandoning a baby in Farmington Township April 15. She will be sentenced Oct. 30 by Circuit Judge Frank L. Doty. The baby was returned to the young mother and her parents.

Reds Purge Wife of Ex-Police Chief

BERLIN (AP)—A West Berlin newspaper said today that Mrs. Elsa Kaisser, wife of the deposed security police chief in the Russian zone, has been purged by the Communists.

The U. S. High Commission Newspaper Neue Zeitung said Mrs. Zaisser had been removed from the cabinet job of education minister after sharp criticism from within the party's central committee. She was accused of failing to recognize "reactionary tendencies" in the schools.

Before the June 17 riots, the Zaissers constituted the most powerful pair in East Germany. Zaisser was dropped from his police job and thrown off the Politburo, charged with being too weak in the handling of the rioters. Later he was accused of conspiring to unseat General Secretary Walter Ulbricht, the party boss.

Target-Shooting Boys Blamed for Girl's Death

FLINT (UP)—State Police said today they believed that a group of boys shooting at targets were responsible for the death of 8-year-old Bonita Field.

The girl, struck in the chest by a .22 caliber bullet, was dead on arrival at McLaren Hospital late Monday. State Police said the boys were target-shooting in a wooded area near the girl's home west of here.

450 to Attend UAW Conference in Detroit

DETROIT (UP) — The CIO United Auto Workers union said today more than 450 delegates were expected to attend its fair practices and civil rights conference starting here Wednesday.

William H. Oliver, co-director of the UAW fair practices and anti-discrimination department, said the purpose of the conference was to develop "specific plans toward the implementation of the union's fair practices program in employment, promotions, skilled trades, housing and public accommodations."

Arsenal Cities Are Weak Spot

Retired Officer Warns Civic Planners About Places Like Detroit

DETROIT (UP)—Arsenal cities like Detroit may become "our Achilles' heel," the American Society of Planning Officials was told here yesterday.

Traffic muddles, slums and building congestion, he said, are no longer inconveniences, but are "a matter of national survival."

"The most lucrative and effective use of the new weapons of the last decade," he continued, "is not so much against mobilized military forces as against industry and civilians."

He said that inflamable slums, congested buildings and traffic snarls would tend to induce atomic or hydrogen bomb attacks upon a city, particularly one involved, as Detroit would be, in production of war machines and materials.

"It becomes imperative," he continued, "that there be in the United States a long-term program to reruce urban vulnerability through non-military measures.

"Progress in this area might well be the crucial, deciding factor that would deter an enemy from attacking us. And if he did attack, it might be the controlling item in national survival."

Nelson was director of Project East River, a two-year nationwide study aimed at strengthening non-military defenses. It was conducted for the Department of Defense, Civil Defense Administration and the National Security Resources Board.

He accused both the Eisenhower administration and Congress of being "inert" in reacting to recommendations growing out of the project.

NEWEST IN AIR RAID SHELTERS—Mr. and Mrs. Vernie Cook, of Lawrence, Kan., started out to build a concrete back-yard patio and ended up with a fine air-raid shelter. Excavation disclosed an old cistern right in the middle of the proposed patio area. It gave Cook the shelter idea. He plugged the open top of the cistern with eight feet of concrete. This now forms the roof of the shelter. Cistern walls were reinforced with concrete. He dug a passageway, six feet long and four feet high, connecting the shelter with the basement of his house. This also is heavily reinforced and opens into the basement through a five-inch-thick stone-and-concrete door. The shelter, with domed, igloo-like ceiling, is equipped with gas burner, electric light and a ventilator pipe running to the surface. The shelter finished, Cook built his patio on top of it. Photo shows Mrs. Cook kneeling in the shelter while a friend, Mrs. Jenevieve Davis, holds the heavy door.

Reformatory Official Faces Prison Term

IONIA, Mich. (UP)—Foster Kenny, 48, former Ionia Country register of deeds and athletic director at Michigan Reformatory here, faces the next 5 to 10 years in prison.

Kenny was sentenced here yesterday after he pleaded guilty to felonious assault in the shooting of his estranged wife when a reconciliation attempt fell through five months ago. Kenny attempted to take his own life at the same time.

Kenny pleaded innocent a month ago to a charge of assault with intent to commit murder but changed it when the charge was lessened.

Besides being a former Ionia County register of deeds and athletic director at the Michigan Reformatory, Kenny also is a former Cassopolis school principal. The ex-wife who was wounded is the former Mrs. Velma Ness of Greenville.

35 Bus Riders Hurt on Bridge

One Vehicle Crunches Into Rear of Other on Golden Gate Span

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Thirty-five persons were hurt last night — none seriously — when one heavil, loaded bus plowed into the rear of another on the San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge.

The 57 passengers aboard the two San Francisco-bound Gray Line coaches narrowly escaped a disastrous collision because their drivers chose the rear-end crash rather than risk running head-on into a truck, the highway patrol said. A third crowded Gray Line bus missed a head-on crash by inches.

The injured persons mostly suffered face cuts or knocked-out teeth. The scene of the crash was the three-lane lower deck of the San Francisco-Yerba Buena span of the huge bridge.

The lead bus just managed to pull around a big truck and trailer, the highway patrol said, when a pickup truck going the opposite way appeared in the center passing lane. The second bus was unable to get back in the right lane and jammed on its brakes as the racetrack bus crunched into it.

Kent County Kills 3,000 Dogs in '52

GRAND RAPIDS (UP)—More than 10 per cent of Kent County's estimated 30,000 dogs were legally destroyed last year but not before strays among them had taken a heavy toll of livestock.

Dog Warden Harry Bergstrom told the board of supervisors Monday that dogs killed 1,402 chickens, 80 tame rabbits, 77 turkeys, two geese, 53 sheep, two goats, four pigs, 17 tame pheasants, a cow, and a 400-pound calf during the past year.

He said 26 of the raiders had been shot to death and 3,431 dogs impounded had been destroyed.

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (UP)—Arrested after a bullet-punctuated chase, George G. Rogovsky, 32, of Bridgeport was charged with stealing an average of $1 a day for the past 30 days from poor boxes in nine area churches.

Police said Rogovsky's "headquarters" was St. Joseph's Church, where he dipped into the charity box 24 times.

Cook Confesses Torso Slaying

Chinese Admits Knifing New York Prostitute, Hacking Body to Pieces

NEW YORK (AP) — A diminutive Chinese cook has admitted slaying street walker Kay Gibbons in a fit of jealousy and then carving her body to pieces with a steak knife.

Meanwhile, police continued a search of the Columbia University section of Manhattan for the still missing head and three fingers of the slain woman, whose torso was found early Sunday.

Police Commissioner George P. Monaghan announced last night that Lew had admitted killing the 33 - year - old convicted prostitute and dope addict.

Lew was quoted as saying he stabbed her to death early Saturday after she told him she planned to marry another man on Sunday —the day her torso was found in an expensive leather suitcase on a sidewalk.

The other man was identified as Murray Spivak.

Monaghan said Lew stated he and the woman quarreled in his room, she slapped his face and then he stabbed her eight or nine times. Almost 19 hours later, Lew was quoted as saying, he dismembered and disposed of the body after sleeping in the room with it.

Lew, who is just over 5 feet tall and weighs 120 pounds, said he came to this country 10 years ago from China. He said he met Miss Gibbons in a restaurant 18 months ago.

Trick Rifle Shot Misses Cigar, Hits Man's Chin

WASHINGTON COURT HOUSE, Ohio (AP)—Fred Evans, 24, held a lighted cigar in his mouth while his buddy, Steve Stevenson, aimed with a .22-calibre rifle. Bam! The bullet neatly flicked the ash from the cigar.

Elated by success, Stevenson tried a second shot. This time, however, the bullet entered Evans' chin, sending him to the hospital. His condition is not serious.

Coroner Identifies Body as That of His Brother

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Deputy Coroner John Tranchitella was summoned yesterday to examine the body of an unidentified man brought in from a hospital where he had died after collapsing on the street.

Philippine Elections Have Anti-Americanism Theme

By PHIL NEWSOM
United Press Foreign News Editor

The Philippine political campaign is the latest to have added to it a note of anti-Americanism.

Anti-Americanism is an increasingly popular theme among world politicians — even among those classed as friends of the United States — since, like slogans against sin, it is a good, safe subject.

The farther away the better because distance increases the chance that it will divert the electorate from unpleasant subjects nearby.

The Philippines are in the closing stages of a bitter campaign for the presidency, vice presidency, eight seats in the senate and the entire House of Representatives.

Running for re-election is President Elpidio Quirino, 62, on the Liberal party ticket. Opposing him in the Nacionalista- Democrat coalition is Ramon Magsaysay, 46, a former blacksmith and bus line operator, who gained fame as the scourge of the Communist-led Hukbalahap revolutionaries.

Filipinos take their elections seriously.

Blood was shed freely in the elections four years ago, with more than 100 deaths traceable to political differences.

Quirino won but his defeated opponent, Jose P. Laurel, charged the Liberals stole the election through terrorism and coercion of the voters by the army.

Four years ago, Manila cafe owners displayed signs which in effect said:

"Please check your gun at the door."

Now, as tempers again reach the fever pitch, those signs may be dusted off for use again. The elections are Nov. 10.

Magsaysay, colorful but a relative newcomer to politics, is a former close friend of Quirino and served as Quirino's minister of defense. He quit his post to stump for the Nacionalista party nomination. Aligned in his support are Laurel, Philippine president during the Japanese occupation, and Carlos P. Romulo, former Philippine ambassador to the United States and also its delegate to the United Nations.

Romulo, who once had presidential aspirations of his own, probably will get his old jobs back if Magsaysay wins.

Magsaysay is campaigning against Quirino on a straight out charge of corruption in government.

It is in countering Magsaysay that Quirino has come up with his strange charges against the United States.

He has attempted to discredit Magsaysay by calling him "the American candidate" and has taken some American press criticism of his regime as "meddling by a foreign power."

Foreign observers in Manila say Quirino's charges will have little effect so far as the United States strong popularity among Filipinos is concerned.

Quirino, who has been in poor health, visited the United States for an operation recently and hoped at the same time to have a politically valuable meeting with President Eisenhower. The administration sidestepped the meeting.

It may be that Quirino's irritation over that failure now leads to his charge of U. S. "intervention."

The women's bureau of the U. S. department of labor was established in 1920.

"Okay, it's a deep hole . . . but what's that to me?"

Maybe this inch-by-inch drilling four miles deep into the earth won't produce a single drop of oil.

But this $1,500,000 wildcat well may reveal that brand-new sources of oil are waiting at depths previously unexplored.

That would be important, wouldn't it? To the nation. To you.

But there's one thing it has already revealed that is even more important.

And that's the willingness on the part of a typical oil company to take a risk, to pioneer, to go deeper than anyone has ever gone before in the essential search for new sources of oil.

It's such pioneering and risk-taking, spurred on by competition among thousands of privately managed oil businesses, that is responsible for the almost 33 billion barrels of proved "oil-in-the-ground" in this country, waiting to be produced.

And it's this reassuring backlog, the largest ever, that makes it possible for existing fields to be produced scientifically and efficiently—to get the greatest ultimate production from every field. Which is, of course, the truest kind of conservation.

What's it to you? It's the best possible assurance that for more tomorrows than you—or your children—can see ahead, you'll always be able to drive into a service station and say, "Fill 'er up." That's quite a bit—to you—isn't it?

16 Persons Ask Ransom Money

Greenlease's Partner Tells of Demands by False Kidnapers

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—At least 16 different persons represented themselves as the kidnapers of little Bobby Greenlease and demanded ransom ranging from $5,000 to $600,000.

This was disclosed in an interview last night with Robert L. Ledterman, Tulsa auto dealer and business associate of the 6-year-old murdered child's father, Robert C. Greenlease of Kansas City.

Still grieving over the tragedy and exhausted from 10 days of fruitless vigil, Ledterman told the story after returning home for the first time since Sept. 28. That was the day his multimillionaire partner and friend issued a plea for help when Bobby was kidnaped from school.

It was a heartbreaking vigil, he said—10 days and nights of frustration, virtually without sleep.

Ledterman said he arrived in Kansas City at 6 p.m. the day of the crime.

Thirty minutes later he said the family received a special delivery letter from Carl Austin Hall, who with Mrs. Bonnie Brown Heady confessed the kidnaping, demanding $600,000 ransom.

It stipulated that $400,000 was to be in $20 bills and $200,000 in $10 bills, the money to be obtained in equal portions from all 12 federal reserve banks.

"Fifteen other parties called demanding ransom from $5,000 to $250,000," Ledterman said. "Had Mr. Greenlease complied with all of the demands, he would have paid 1½ million dollars in ransom. But we knew which of the callers was the right one."

As it was, the $600,000 was the largest ransom ever paid.

Compulsory negotiations, he added, was a report from an underworld character that gangsters would intercept the money when it finally was delivered to the designated spot.

Ledterman recounted dealings with Hall and Mrs. Heady through numerous letters hidden at various spots in Kansas City, and by telephone.

It was horrible, he said, for the kidnapers to be talking coldly, matter-of-factly, on procedure of delivering the money when even then Bobby lay dead in a grave, shot through the head.

"It's the most despicable crime ever committed," he asserted.

U. S. Sent Message to Syngman Rhee

SEOUL (AP)—The U. S. State Department has sent President Syngman Rhee a message expressing "deep concern" over recent actions of South Korea, a high ROK government source disclosed today.

The source would not reveal the text.

South Korea recently threatened to drive away Indian troops guarding North Korean and Chinese prisoners in the neutral zone.

The source indicated the state department advised South Korea to use more care in handling affairs connected with the Korean armistice.

Asked who wrote the letter, the source would only say "the State Department."

Unfit for the Job

Governor Dewey has struck a blow for better government in New York and all other states by focusing public attention on the Wicks-Fay case.

In a statement the Governor said he had just seen a list of persons who had visited Joseph Fay in his cell at Sing Sing prison. The list included a number of public officials, among them State Senator Arthur H. Wicks, Republican leader and president pro tempore of the Senate.

As such Wicks is in line to succeed temporarily or permanently to New York State's highest office in the event of the absence, incapacity or death of Governor Dewey.

Back of the Government's demand for an explanation from Wicks is a disturbing situation. Fay is a labor leader who was convicted in 1947 on an extortion charge and sentenced to a term of from eight to 16 years.

After the majority leader's visit, Governor Dewey wisely ordered Fay transferred to Dannemora prison where he will be less accessible to visitors. Also disturbing is the explanation given by Wicks for visiting Fay:

"My only object in going to see Joe was to see that the people in my district—the working people—were gainfully employed."

The clear implication is that Fay still wields considerable power in New York labor and political fields though he has been behind bars for six years. The New York Times, calling his explanation unsatisfactory, demands his resignation.

The facts not only justify the demand but should warn all public officials against any action that might hint a link between crime and politics.

Learning the Hard Way

Bureau chiefs in Washington are learning the hard way that when Budget Director Dodge demands economy he isn't fooling.

When the former Detroit banker took over the Budget Bureau last Winter he made up his mind that he was going to cure an old bureaucratic vice. Almost invariably, Dodge knew, bureaus with unspent appropriations went on buying sprees during June, the last month of the fiscal year.

For that reason he sounded the advance warning that all June expenditures would be subjected to the most minute scrutiny. After completion of that audit the budget staff reported that the economy order was generally effective, but that a total of $1,100,000 in excess spending had been detected.

Instead of worrying the Budget Director, this gave him a chance to teach the spenders an economy lesson with teeth in it. In every agency where excess spending was found, the bureau deducted that much from its appropriation for this fiscal year.

Next year things may be different.

Modernizing Monticello

It will be good news to everyone who has ever visited Thomas Jefferson's historic Virginia home, Monticello, that it is being equipped with central heating and air conditioning.

No doubt many will feel that even with these modern improvements the house designed by our third President won't be as modern as it would be if he still lived there. For Thomas Jefferson not only was a great statesman, but the foremost gadgeteer of his time.

Many are the examples of his inventive genius built into the 180 year old house. Though it has 13 bedrooms, the house is ages ahead in space saving, having alcoves for disappearing beds. Hidden in a fireplace is a dumb waiter for easy communication between dining room and the wine cellar.

Other features included an interior weathervane connected with one on the roof and a clock which could be read both inside and outside the house. Then there are the folding glass doors which open in unison when one is touched, the swivel chair and the first storm windows ever used in America.

It's a safe guess that if Monticello's builder were with us today, that grand old house would be equipped with every known convenience for comfortable living.

A patient was recently given a transfusion with his own blood. If this experiment turns out satisfactorily, perhaps something may yet be done for the anemic taxpayer.

In the case of the woman who is suing her husband for divorce because he keeps porcupines in the bathtub, we should think there are many points in her favor.

While Oakland County stands second among Michigan's 83 counties in population, assessed valuation, industry and other features, it even leads Wayne in some respects. Pays Tribute to Late Mary Fitzpatrick; Auburn Heights Area Was Proud of Her (Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests, unless the letter is critical in its nature).

Oakland County and Auburn Heights paid respects Monday to a true pioneer, Mrs. Mary Fitzpatrick who was 81 years of age. Mrs. Fitzpatrick and her late husband Phillip were pillars in the former town of Amy.

Coming from Ireland she made us proud to have her in our midst. She reared six children and always watched the railroad tracks before each train arrived to make sure no passing school child loitered on the tracks.

The aroma of hot bread filled the air as the passing children were given slices of the bread dripping with butter.

She cared for children with love and cheerfulness and with words of God inspired wisdom explained heat and bolt lightning always finding time for childish inquiries. Yet, she was firm in demands for respect and obedience.

Mrs. Fitzpatrick's passing causes many of us to choke back a tear as we recall a true mother to whom God, home, duties and love were great and material wealth was insignificant.

Auburn Heights has lost, but shall long remember a dear member of its community.

Believes Asia Should Receive Aid From U. S.

During the past years the United States has given Europe financial aid to such an extent that Europe has become a financially dependent parasite while our national dept has grown to a fantastic figure.

Although Europe is essential in our defense program, we are finding out that Asia is even more essential.

While the United States has been giving money to Europe, Asia has been swayed by the Communist influences, which have been placed there in full view of the western world.

We can be sure Communism is not limited to Asia alone. What about South America and Africa where Communism is now threatening? Will we realize greater attention should be given to areas outside of Europe only after other countries have been added to the list of lands dominated by the Communists? What then will our stress on Europe have gained?

If other areas are not given more attention in the future the results could endanger civilization.

Wrangle Over Trieste May Pull Tito Back Into Sympathetic Russian Orbit

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—Trieste is the present European hot spot. Yugoslavia's President Tito threatens the Italians if they move in troops. Tito may be bluffing. The crisis may be solved short of shooting. Time will show.

The crisis began last Thursday when the United States and Britain said they'd pull their troops out of Trieste, let the Italians take over part of it.

Trieste is both a city and an area, about 320 square miles. The city is a port on the Adriatic Sea and so a prize. The population, mainly in the city itself, is around 350,000. About 85,000 are Slavs, the rest Italians.

An ancient city, long tied in with Italy, Trieste in the 14th century placed itself under Austrian protection and remained part of the Austrian dominion, with the exception of a few years in the Napoleonic period, until 1918.

When Austria was defeated in World War I, the Western Allies awarded Trieste to Italy, which held it until World War II. Then Italy in turn, this time a German ally, was defeated.

Tito, who had fought the Axis and whose own Yugoslavia was created in part out of the old Austrian Empire which had held Trieste so long, claimed it for Yugoslavia.

Yugoslavia was Communist and at that time, the end of World War II, a Russian satellite. But the Western Powers wanted to keep Italy friendly to them and in their camp.

A Trieste compromise was worked out in the Italian Peace Treaty of 1947: Yugoslav troops would occupy part of Trieste, called Zone B; the British and American allies would occupy the rest of the territory, called Zone A, including the city.

This was to be a temporary arrangement until the United Nations picked a neutral governor for Trieste, which would then become a free territory under the U. N.

The result: American and British troops continued to occupy Zone A; Yugoslavs held Zone B. This situation dragged along until 1948. By then relations with Russia had become an open, although cold, war.

Yugoslavia at that time was still under Russia's wing. But the Italian elections were coming up. There was danger the Italian Communists might win and take over.

To help defeat them by strengthening the hand of the Italian anti-Communists, this country and Britain declared all Trieste should be given to Italy, since there had been no agreement on a governor for a free Trieste.

It didn't matter to the West that this proposal infuriated Tito, still a Russian satellite. But when Tito broke with Stalin it was to the interest of the West to pacify him.

The West then suggested Italy was hardly in a good bargaining position: Yugoslavia occupied Zone B, Italy still occupied nothing.

The United States and Britain still had troops, about 7,000 in Zone A. To strengthen Italy in dealing with Tito, the two allies let Italy have a hand in running Zone A.

In the meantime, Tito began to line up with the West, getting military help, mostly from the United States, which in three years has given him more than 900 million dollars in military and economic supplies.

Still no progress on an agreement between Italy and Yugoslavia on Trieste. The West is anxious for the Italians to get into the European Defense Community, the single European army plan.

To break the deadlock over Trieste and perhaps as an inducement to the Italians to get going on the EDC, last Thursday the United States and Britain said they would withdraw their troops from Zone A shortly and let Italy take over.

That meant Italian troops in Zone A would face Yugoslav troops in Zone B. Then Tito began to threaten. Is he bluffing? Maybe. While shaking his fist, he has now suggested a quick Italian-Yugoslav-American-British conference on Trieste.

After Stalin's death Tito resumed diplomatic relations with Moscow. Last night Russia denounced the United States and Britain for their decision on Trieste. This couldn't make Tito mad, might pull him toward the Russians a bit.

But last night the United States and Britain were standing firm.

Aunt Het

Pa should o' known better. A man can advise a friend while he's single; but after he marries, his wife don't want anybody tellin' him what to do.

Case Records of a Psychologist

Emotional Strain May Contribute to Sterility

Mavis asks a puzzling question which many wives have put to their doctors. She wants to know why an apparently sterile wife may adopt a child and then bear babies of her own thereafter. How can the adoption of a child affect a woman's physiology? This is psychosomatic medicine.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case J-314: Mavis M., aged 32, is a lovely wife who has been married for 10 years.

"Dr. Crane, I could never have a baby of my own," she began. "So we finally located a little boy for adoption.

"But we had him only for about a year when I became pregnant for the first time.

"Since then, I have checked with a number of women who had adopted babies because they were supposed to be sterile, and in several instances I have found that they also became pregnant after adopting a child.

"Dr. Crane, how do scientists account for such results?"

Sometimes young wives grow so tense and unhappy because they can't have a baby of their own, that this taut emotional state may interfere with the smooth functioning of their body.

For example, a star hitter in baseball may go into a batting slump, and then the more he strains to hit the ball, the worse he is.

A certain amount of looseness is necessary not only to co-ordinate one's muscles for baseball or golf, but apparently the same thing holds true of bodily physiology.

Tense emotional conditions interfere with digestion and often cause spastic colitis, peptic ulcers and other organic ailments.

I once cited a case of a prominent newspaper executive who broke out in a heavy night sweat at 2 a.m. just because a quack doctor had told him he was dying of tuberculosis and that he should have night sweats.

So that very same night this newspaperman broke out in a sweat like that of a Turkish bath. And again at about 4:15 a.m. he suffered a second severe attack of night sweating. Yet he didn't have tuberculosis at all!

This power of the mind over the body is included in psychosomatic medicine. And it is far greater than we ever dreamed of in past generations.

So an adopted child may cause the mother to relax. Her entire body then functions more normally.

This normal functioning then may be what permits her to conceive and bear a baby of her own.

There are so many cases of this sort that medical men give credence to that explanation.

But a great deal of apparent sterility in married couples is due just to lack of modern scientific facts concerning conception.

Good-night, my love, and may this be . . . The last time that I say . . . Good-night, my love, with all my heart . . . These many miles away . . . Tomorrow as I start to sail . . . The distance will grow less . . . And every wind will cut the knots . . . Between our happiness . . . And when the ocean knots are gone . . . The only knot will be . . . The one I tied around your heart . . . To keep you close to me . . . You tied it too with loving words . . . That gave your promise true . . . And you are mine forever now . . . As I belong to you . . . Good-night, my love, until the dawn . . . When all the anchors rest . . . And you and I embrace again . . . And build our little nest.

Baering Down

Most of these nation-wide polls prove there's many a slip between the cupped ear and the lip.

Back in 1929 I voted wet 36 times in as many states. When the judge asked me how I could be that unethical I told him I had a bicycle.

Information at the grass-roots level isn't any more nutritious than statistics on a hay-wagon. Your farmer believes in the law of supply and demand. Let the white-collar man shoot his own cuffs.

If the farmer has the supply he's going to demand plenty. And while the city voter is trying to make both ends closer the weedbender is farming the highway to California and Florida.

A door-to-door canvass of the urban pueblos starts off fine when a lady answers the buzz and the opinion merchant asks, "Does anybody live here?"

He's going to get his hat tipped with a door slam. Suppose you filter your quiz through a venetian blind and a toothless accent quavers, "The trouble with my take-home pay is I got to stay there."

He means that walk-about money has sore feet. Corn is pegged at $1.60 a bushel. But you can get more in gallon silos.

Heavy industry has invaded the sticks to an extent that the stenciled questions attract rubber-stamped nods. It's like hiring a guide to shoot a fish in a barrel.

One of our national sentiment moulders took a poll on Ike's popularity and discovered he was well known.

Eighteen percent of the people cut their own hair. 50 per cent would rather cuss a mule than change a tire and the others made the mistake of beating their wives to the door.

Times are good and food is plentiful. But everything is packaged and the oldtimers long for the days when the grocer let his dried apricots run loose.

Not Perfect

The male half of a new dance team was pleading with a producer.

"You never saw anything so sensational," he raved. "At the finish of our act I take my partner by the hair and whirl her round for 20 spins. Then I wind up by heaving her through an open window."

The producer paled. "Heave her through an open window?" he repeated incredulously. "Do you really mean to say you do that at every performance?"

The dancer shrugged. "Well nobody's perfect," he admitted. "SSometimes I miss!"

"So you're not on speaking terms with your neighbor?"

"No. He sent me a can of oil to use on my lawnmower when I started to cut the grass at 6 in the morning. I sent it back and told him to use it on his wife when she starts singing at 11 at night."

Brady Sure Rheumatiz Just as Mean Whether One Lives in Bangor or Miami

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

When I said something about the harmlessness of exposure to cold and dampness, however uncomfortable, one reader cracked back that it was easy for me, basking in the sunshine and bowling on the green the year around, to make such ridiculous statements, but he thought I'd take a different view of the matter if I had to live through just one winter in Michigan.

That would be pretty rugged, wouldn't it? But hold on a minute.

Come to think of it I served 12 years as a country doctor in New York State before I took to the newspapers, and the climate there is not unlike the Michigan climate.

Where I live and why has nothing to do with the influence of climate on rheumatiz — chronic disease or degeneration of joint or joints.

I tell you, knuckleheads, and if you think you know more than I do about it you may disregard what I say, wherever you may live most comfortably that is the best possible climate for your rheumatiz.

Aside from the factor of comfortable outdoor living, mentioned above, it is my firm belief that the frequency or prevalence and the course of pulmonary tuberculosis, pneumonia, chronic bronchitis, emphysema, bronchietasis, rheumatiz (or chronic arthritis if the $10 term is the one used), chronic nephritis (kidney trouble, Bright's disease) and other maladies which old fogy practitioners and their credulous patients associate with bad climate and foul weather are the same in Winnipeg, Miami, Los Angeles, Victoria or Bangor as in Horseheads or Walla Walla.

Now that I am fully aware that in trying to teach you the truth about the influence of weather and climate on health, vite and longevity I'm butting my head against a stone wall.

If I persist in it I may knock myself out, or rather you old fossils with influence may have me thrown out on my ear.

But even if you have me silenced I'll find consolation in the thought that young readers may have aceepted some of my teachings as plain good sense. Yah!

Hornets Sting Northville Man Over 200 Times

Guntzviller suffered the stings and a broken leg while hunting near the south fork of the Flathead River Sunday.

The Michigan man and his party were traveling on horseback on a forest trail about 80 miles northeast of here when the lead horse apparently stepped on a hive of hornets.

Attacking man and beast, the hornets cursed Guntzvillers horse to buck him off. Then the horse stepped on his leg, breaking it.

"I guess it was only about five minutes, but it seemed hours," Guntzviller recalled. "I had to scrape them off my arms. They didn't get into my eyes.

"Someone threw a coat over me but that only made it worse. The hornets were trapped inside with me. They kept stinging until I killed every one of them."

Dr. Harold Lander, Spokane brain specialist, was a member of the party and applied an emergency splint to the Michigander's leg. Guntzviller then was carried six miles to a Forest Service landing strip and flown out.

Journalist, Author Delbert Clark Dies

NEW YORK (AP) — Delbert Clark, 53, former reporter and foreign correspondent for the New York Times died yesterday.

Clark left the Times in 1951 to become Eastern representative of the Fund for Adult Education, an organization with headquarters at Pasadena, Calif., set up by the Ford Foundation.

His last job at the Times had been as director of educational activities, but he had continued to write book reviews for the Times' Sunday magazine.

A native of St. Johns, Mich., Clark worked on the Baltimore Evening Sun, first joined the Times in 1929, and later was managing editor of Plain Talk Magazine.

After a time in the Washington Bureau of the United Press, he joined the Times' Washington bureau, and became manager in 1935. After service with the Army during World War II, he returned to the Times in 1946 and was made chief of the newspaper's Berlin Bureau.

He was the author of two books, "Washington Dateline" and "Again the Gooesten."

Announce New Way To Shrink Painful Piles

Find Healing Substance That Does Both— Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

New York, N. Y. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to stop bleeding—without surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

Now this new healing substance is offered in ointment form for hemorrhoids under the name Preparation H.® The price is only 98¢ a tube including an applicator. The name to ask for is Preparation H—at all drug stores. And remember—if not entirely satisfied—your money will be refunded promptly. *Trade Mark

Farm Troubles Blamed on Past

Benson Credits Unwise Policies of Dems for Prices, Surpluses

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Skidding prices of farm products and current farm surpluses can be laid to "faulty programs and unwise policies" of the past, according to Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson.

Speaking at a dinner meeting of the 38th annual convention of the National Association of County Agricultural Agents last night, Benson said:

"We face serious challenges today—excess stocks of some commodities, loss of export markets, a severe farm price squeeze. These emergencies developed because farm policis and programs did not prevent them.

"We see today the results of these unrealistic postponements of agricultural readjustment. We are still producing at near-record levels, but demand has fallen off, especially foreign demand for American wheat and cotton at present price support levels."

The previous administration, Benson said, used the "excuse" of emergency situations during the years since World War II to delay the farmers' transition from war to peace.

U. S. Will Fight Financing Plan

Would Commit Country to Aid Nations Asking for Assistance

WASHINGTON (AP)—U. S. Delegates to the Interparliamentary Union mustered strength today against a proposal they said would morally commit the United States to giving financial aid to every nation in the world.

They were ready, if necessary, to engage in a floor fight to odify language of a resolution up for a vote by the union.

But Rep. Keating (R-NY), one of the U. S. delegates to the 32-nation conference being held in the House chamber, said he hoped the language would be toned down before the resolution came to a vote.

As tentatively drafted by a conference committee, the resolution says all nations have "a moral duty to assist those that are less developed."

The U. S. delegates, headed by Sen. Ferguson (R-Mich), take the position that since the United States is recognized as the most highly developed nation in the world, the resolution would morally bind it to help any other nation needing development.

It could have only moral effect, since resolutions adopted by the conference are merely guides for action by the legislatures of the member nations.

The estimated 350 delegates are members or former members of their national legislative bodies.

In debate yesterday, U.S. Delegates said they believed this country's taxpayers have about decided it's time to cut down on foreign assistance programs. While the programs of giving economic and financial aid to underdeveloped areas should be continued in the interest of world peace, the U. S. delegates argued, the financial burden should be more evenly distributed.

New Medic Gets View From Patient's Angle

OMAHA (UP) — The first thing Kenneth L. Urwiller did after becoming a doctor was go to a hospital.

But he didn't go to work. Urwiller went in for an appendicitis operation one hour after he received his medical degree from the University of Nebraska.

Urwiller became ill the night before commencement. But doctor friends, who said an operation was necessary, helped him out of ice packs and to the auditorium. He walked slowly past Dr. James P. Tollman to get his diploma, then was taken out a back door, missing most of the speeches.

An hour later he was in surgery.

Veteran Tent Raiser Sets One Up for Ike

HERSHEY, Pa. (AP)—Capt. Billy Curtis has been raising tents for 61 years.

"I've put them up for Buffalo Bill and Annie Oakley, but it wasn't until this week that I set one up for a president," said the 80-year-old veteran of thousands of circus encampments.

Curtis came out of a year's retirement as chief tentmaster of the Ringling Brothers' circus to take over supervision of the tent-raising for President Dwight D. Eisenhower's birthday party here.

Born in Hazelhurst, Miss., Curtis has served with every circus in the nation and a number of long-extinct shows.

Wisconsin Vote May Test GOP

Rural Election Today Will Pick Successor to Late Rep. Hull

EAU CLAIRE, Wis. (AP)—Observers saw a possible test of the Eisenhower administration today as voters selected a successor to the late Republican Rep. Merlin Hull of Black River Falls.

Both Republicans and Democrats are watching the election in the predominately rural 11-county district as an indication especially of the government's policies.

State Sen. Arthur L. Padrutt, 36, Chippewa Falls Republican, and Lester Johnson, 52, the Democratic Jackson County district attorney from Black River Falls, both stressed their opinions of the administration during their energetic campaigns.

The electorate, however, was apathetic and seemed only dimly aware of the possible national significance of the election.

As a result, the election may draw no more than 30,000 persons —less than 25 per cent of the district's estimated 150,000 eligible voters.

Republicans were confident of victory, on the strength of their past record—the district never has elected a Democratic congressman —and their intensive campaign on behalf of Padrutt and his platform of all-out support of the administration.

Democrats were cautious, declaring only that they had a good chance to win in the agricultural district because of what they claim is a "farm revolt over declining prices." They also point to Johnson's adherence to the principles of Hull, the Republican representative whose death last spring created the 9th District vacancy.

Hull, who served 11 terms in Congress, won election early in his career as a LaFollette Progressive. Although he was a Republican in recent years, the Congressional Record shows he voted the time in the last session of Con with the GOP only 24 per cent of gress.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Californians paid the biggest state tax bill of any state in 1952. The total for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1953 was $1,300,620,792, up 3.6 per cent from the previous year.

An average of 13 months is required to bring sugar cane to maturity.

ANDERSON, Ind. (AP) — Robert Savage's penny in a parking meter hit the jackpot. Coins started falling out, and he turned over 98 cents to city officials.

Peiping Has Shortage of Living Quarters, Too

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The capital of Communist China apparently has a housing shortage just like Washington. A Peiping radio broadcast heard by the Associated Press in San Francisco, said recently that 30 hotels and 100 apartment houses were being built this year.

Among the projects was said to be the new Peking (Peiping hotel, nine stories high and the tallest building in the ancient walled city.

Serviceman Walks Into Wrong Department

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (AP)—Servicemen are regular blood donors at the Huntington Regional Blood Center. So nothing more was thought when a member of the armed services entered the center.

Without asking unnecessary questions, Red Cross operators took the serviceman's name, temperature, pulse, medical history and other information.

Just before being taken into the blood donating room, the bewildered serviceman asked, "Does a guy have to go through all this just to get a Red Cross loan?'

Birthday Party to Open Ike Trip

Penn GOP to Celebrate With President Tonight Before He Starts West

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower gets birthday greetings from Pennsylvania Republicans tonight to cheer him on a week's fence-building trip westward.

The President, who won't actually be 63 until tomorrow, planned to leave Washington with Mrs. Eisenhower and staff members early in the afternoon for a 128-mile drive to Hershey, Pa., for a $100-a-plate birthday dinner in a circus tent there tonight.

The President evidently had shaken off an attack of flu which kept him in the White House Sunday.

After a White House birthday dinner tomorrow night, Eisenhower leaves by train on a trip that will carry him into Ohio, Missouri, Kansas, Louisiana and Texas. He returns to Washington next Tuesday.

The seven days of that trip will be devoted largely to the pressing political problems of drought, low farm prices, public power and patronage. On the first three, the Democrats have made vigorous attacks on his administration's policies. Some Republicans are grumbling about patronage.

Tonight's two-ring appearance and his week's mingling with the people in the central states will be watched keenly by politicians to determine if the Eisenhower popularity is such as to lessen outspoken discontent with some of his administration's actions.

Eisenhower's visit to Hershey is part of a hoopla fund-raising rally, with 800 birthday cakes, including a mammoth one of wood with a cake insert for the President to carve. Some 6,500 of the party faithful were expected to kick in $100 each.

There is vigorous battling between Republican party factions in the Keystone State, and Eisenhower is expected to sidestep any action that might be interpreted as choosing between Sen. Duff (R-Pa), Gov. John S. Fine and Sen. Edward Martin (R-Pa).

He heads west Wednesday for Defiance, Ohio, where he will lay a cornerstone at Defiance College. He will be in a state where Sen. Bricker (R-Ohio) has said Republicans are complaining that jobs aren't forthcoming yet from the national administration.

In Kansas City, Mo., he will breakfast Friday with governors from some of the 13 drought-hit states.

The President will have a chance to talk about farm prices—particularly those brought by cattle—at the American Hereford Assn. meeting in Kansas City.

His remarks in New Orleans at the Louisiana Purchase Exposition might well touch on domestic issues, while foreign affairs and power policies may be discussed when he jains with Mexico's President Adolfo Ruiz Cortines in dedicating the Falcon Dam, about 80 miles from Laredo, Tex.

Fire Alarm Speeded Up Thanks to 50-Mile Relay

NORTH ANDOVER, Mass. (AP)—Merrimac Police Chief Maurice Carey figured in a 50-mile relay to notify North Adnover police that their high school was on fire.

Carey observed the fire while passing through this community — 25 miles from his own territory. He relayed the information by radio phone to his desk officer in Merrimac.

The desk officer radioed North Andover police, saving Carey the trouble of looking for a phone or fire alarm box. Damage was slight.

Hal Boyle Says:

Amber Wine of October Is Heady Drink for Man

Editor's Note: In a troubled world of doubt and wrong, all agree there is one thing eternally right—and that's October. The following tribute to "the month-of-the-year" is reprinted at the request of a number of readers.

ANYPLACE IN AMERICA (AP) — If the Lord whispered in your secret heart that you had but one month to live and let you pick that month, which would you choose?

I'd say October.

The birds love it, the beasts love it, and man himself then stands upon the summit of the year.

October is all the other seasons wrapped into a 31-day grabbag package, tied with a rainbow ribbon. It is the period when mother nature, the great dramatist, brings her traveling road show to a climax.

This is the month that, like a cider press, squeezes out the best juices of all the other months — the promise of spring, the sultry joys of summer, the afterglow of autumn, the premonitory chill of winter.

Everything that walks the earth feels an amber thrill, a tremendous bubbling vitality that sings in the pulse.

Now is the glory of the universe manifest, and in the mighty pageant of the hills each patch of woods elects its own tree beauty queen.

You like the dogwood? We won't quarrel. I'll take the maple, that yellow torch.

The birds looked on disdainfully while foolish man clogged every steaming road with his July vacations. They know the right time to travel. They have hung a "to let" sign on their nests and cloud the serene skies with a billion wings beating southward. The worm they missed noses deeper into the turf, muttering "Safe at last."

It is as if everyone suddenly had been given magic color glasses. The stars bend nearer. And that big blob of moon . . . a child feels it is so close he could reach up with a knife and spread it on his bread like butter.

The stag stamps on the hilltop and lifts an amorous bugle to the night. The throb in every woodland heart has an echo in the city.

October knows no boundaries. Listen . . . can't you hear and feel its music in your veins, the tremendous symphony of living?

The squirrel, bright-eyed and bushy-tailed, becomes an annual miser, furtively depositing acorns in a hidden safe deposit box that will be empty by March, the bear invests his excess profits in fat, planning to live off this stored capital until he emerges from his hibernation next spring, cross and bankrupt.

The wind at night now has become a violin, playing a love song for the young, a last tune of youth for the old. Do you stay awake to hear it? You'd better! He only stays a little while, this wandering fiddler in the dark, then takes his ballads and beats it.

October wears a crown and makes every man a king. It bears the harvest superiority of the rounded apple over the petaled flower, the advantage fruition and achievement have over pale promises. April is the fledgling politician of the year, saying "stick with me and we'll go places." October is the mature statesman holding out the golden reward.

October pours the mellowest wine of life, and anyone who isn't drinking of it deeply right now is a salesman for sour grapes.

Bridge That Isn't There Surprises Utah Driver

MYTON, Utah (AP)—Sometimes a familiar road can fool you, Roy McKinnon of Price, Utah, learned yesterday.

Driving to Myton, McKinnon approached a bridge near here only to discover—too late—that the bridge was removed a year and a half ago.

"I always used to come into Myton this way," he told rescuers as they hauled him from the stream.

Plan Changes in Water System

Farmington Officials Considering Increase in Pumping Capacity

FARMINGTON — City officials here are mapping plans for several changes in Farmington's water and sewerage system.

Plans call for increasing the city's deep well water pumping capacity by 75 per cent, according to City Manager James O. Tennant.

The William A. Dalee Co. and Michigan Bell Telephone Co. have been contracted to install an electronic pressure and control system.

The new water main installations added to their present system will equalize water pressures in areas with differences in elevation, Tennant said.

Other plans call for a sewage disposal plant. Authority of the city to issue bonds to finance the plant has been granted, although the project is still in the research stage.

The installation of 2,200 feet of a 48 inch or larger combined sewer between Grand river and Shiawassee to serve existing areas as well as a 450 lot building development is also on the drawing board.

Additional improvements call for 900 feet of 21 inch sewer on Alta Loma, some $40,000 in water main extensions and a 20 per cent increase in street lighting service.

Condemnation procedures have been started for property for an off-street parking lot to accommodate from 108 to 200 cars with 300 feet of Grand River avenue and Farmington road.

Hollywood Cast to Be Featured

By EVE STARR

HOLLYWOOD—"Life With Father," that funnybone tickler that rocked Broadway for years and then toured the nation, is coming into your living room Nov. 22.

This is the sort of program that network and officials should encourage — good clean entertainment for the entire family. Not that a "Life With Father" comes along every day, but by paying attractive prices for original TV stories aimed at family consumption, sponsors would have a better choice of such material than they do now.

EVE STARR

The casting of this show, actually called "Life With Father and Mother," is ideal. Lurene Tuttle, who will play Mother, has been around for more than two decades. You may recall her on "Adventures of Sam Spade," "The Saint," and "Johnny Dollar." Besides her radio chores, she teaches a class in acting at UCLA.

Leon Ames, another stage veteran, recently with the Chicago company of "The Moon Is Blue," will play Father—and he's well-fitted for the part. Behind the scenes, Fletcher Markle, who produced "Studio One" last season, and John Claar, who directed "Our Miss Brooks," will pull the strings and give the orders.

TELEVISION SETS are selling at an accelerated pace, but too many potential viewers are missing out on some of the best entertainment — anywhere — by holding off on buying a receiver.

Some are waiting for color (a long wait indeed), some find sets of any enjoyable size (17 inches and up) too expensive, and some are not "home sitters," and therefore prefer going out for entertainment.

Actually, anyone who is not watching TV today is missing out not only on entertainment of increasing better quality, but on educational programs that might benefit them, and current events, such as football games, political inaugurations, and other topical happenings.

STARR PARADE: If a wolf comes prancing into your house soon, it will be Louis Hayward, who just signed to star in a series of 78 telefilms based on "The Lone Wolf" series. Big money in this series, too—a cool $35,000 is earmarked for each half-hour film . . .

Dennis Morgan, Diana Lynn, MacDonald Carey, Peter Lawford, Celeste Holm and Laraine Day (what happened to "White Collar Girl"?) have been signed for a dramatic TV series, "Star Studio," which will be tried out locally in Los Angeles and, if successful, will be put on a network . . .

Ezio Pinza's comedy show, "Bonino," will move to Hollywood for filming. NBC execs tell me . . . Bedtime story—since Ilka Chase's "In Bed We Cry" made the best-seller list, we've had Variety's Frank Scully's short but delightful opus, "Fun in Bed." Now former Hollywood reporter, Sam Taylor has written, "So Cold My Bed."

RESEARCH GROUP TESTS ROCKET—A 12-foot-long, two-stage rocket, believed to be the largest ever built by a non-military organization, soars skyward over California's Mojave Desert. Separation of the booster stage is clearly defined in the smoke trail of the missile. The test was held under the supervision of the Reaction Research Society.

Egypt Hangs First of Treason Convicts

CAIRO, Egypt (AP) — Egypt today hanged the first of its citizens convicted in the current series of trials of persons charged with treason and plotting with a foreign power to undermine the Egyptian state. 0

The condemned man was Mahmound Sabry Aly, formerlyemployed by the British armed forces.

The revolutionary court had found him guilty of spying for foreign interests during and before 1952, and of arresting and torturing Egyptian patriots "to extract confessions harmful to the country's safety." The foreign power was never identified publicly.

A Question of Rent

ST. LOUIS (AP)—A scheduled meeting of tenants for discussion of possible means of getting rent controls restored had to be called off. Sponsors were unable to obtain rent-free space for the meeting.

$11,000 in Billfold, but Steals Topcoat

BOSTON (AP)—Police today had in custody a man they said tried to steal a $25 topcoat from a department store—although he had $11,425 in cash in his wallet.

Police said Chester Sargent, 60, expressed surprise when told how much he had in his wallet, saying he thought there was about $5,000 but wasn't sure as "I hadn't counted it for some time."

His landlady told police she reduced his $4 weekly rent a quarter after he pleaded poverty.

His record shows he was sentenced to three years in prison 23 years ago as a common and notorious thief.

An estimated 500,000 matches are lighted every minute in the United States.

No Hunting Necessary; Quail Hit Side of House

EDWARDSVILLE, Ill. (AP)—Louis Kotva was sitting at home yesterday with his wife and two children when he heard a sudden loud noise. He ran outside and found six dead quail, killed when they unexplainably flew into the side of the house.

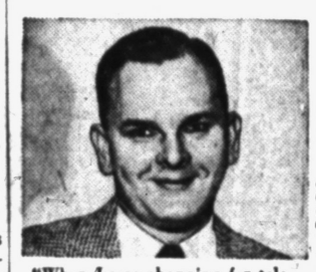
TRIED FIVE LEADING BRANDS



"When I was shopping for television, I tried five leading brands. Until I tried Crosley, all I had was picture bending, buzzing, and jumping. Believe me, when I made a side-by-side comparison, I can truthfully say you definitely can see it better on a Crosley TV, because you get a clear, in-focus, steady picture, clear sound." *Mr. Herman G. Pitcher-Guide Mistaken for Boston's Kell

DETROIT (AP) — Visitors touring the big Dodge plant of Chrysler Corp. nowadays often ask their spry, business-like guide of he isn't a baseball player.

A glowing look of recognition usually precedes an autograph request when he replies: "Yes, sir. Boston Red Sox. Work here in the off-season." Some even call him "George" or "Mr. Kell" without further ado.

"But, says the fellow who's a pitcher instead of a third baseman, "you should see their quizical and sometimes startled look when I scribble my name.

"Maybe I ought to add a little something to "Ivan Delock," like, (I beat the world champion Yankees 2-0 in my first major league start for the Red Sox)."

Key West's 64 Degrees Is Lowest on Record

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—A freak pocket of cold air settled over this southernmost city in the nation yesterday, dropping the temperature to 64 degrees, lowest recorded on Oct. 12 since the weather bureau was established in 1870.

PONTIAC, MICHIGAN, TUESDAY, OCTOBER 13, 1953

Icebox Ordinance Comes Before Commission Tonight

ON GUARD—Moroccan troopers establish advance position near enemy-held village on north Viet Nam border.

Would Prohibit Abandonment

Final Reading of Law on Air Conditioning Is Also on Agenda

Pontiac City Commission tonight will give first reading to an ordinance to prohibit abandonment of iceboxes outside a building or dwelling in the city.

The measure was ordered by commissioners last week in an effort to protect Pontiac children from the hazard of being trapped inside abandoned iceboxes or refrigerators.

Also scheduled for action by the commission tonight is the second reading of an ordinance designed to cut down the water consumption rate of air conditioning units.

It will regulate the installation and operation of air conditioning and refrigeration systems in the city to prevent waste units of more than three-ton capacity would be required to be equipped with a re-circulator to permit use of the same water.

Also scheduled for action are reports from the city attorney regarding the recording of condemnation notices with the Oakland County Register of Deeds, and right of way agreements for sewer repairs connecting Collingwood and Shirley avenue.

Action is also set on the following City Plan Commission recommendations:

Rezoning to C-1, lot 168 of a p 138.

Rezoning to C-1, the rear part of lots 1 and 2 of a p. 47 providing land for a future alley is deeded from the rear of the property.

Denying a request to rezone property at 61 Short St., known as Art Metal Plating Co. for manufacturing.

Reaffirming recommendation to rezone to C-1 providing a 20 foot building line is established along southeast line of outlot "A" of Washington Park Subdivision.

Tabling ordinance regarding the rezoning to R-3, lots in Linda Vista Subdivision until the revised plot plan for the development of lot 106.

Commissioners will hear a report from the city engineer on the estimated cost of a bridge at Diston street and the Clinton River. Estimated cost is $54,357.

Action is slated on an engineer's estimate for a sanitary sewer, pumping station and related work in Brooklyn avenue from Stanley to the P.O.&N. Railway and in Chicago avenue from Carlisle to the P.O.&N. Railway.

A public hearing will be held on intention to construct a water main in Crescent drive from Mt. Clemens to Belvidere drive.

Commissioners will act on a resolution to receive special assessment rolls for:

Straight curb, curb and gutter and related work on Deland court, from Oakland avenue to Murray.

Two inch blacktop on Nebraska from Franklin road to Howland.

Storm drain in Center from Auburn to south of Judson.

Curb, gutter and related work on Center street from Osmun to Cottage.

A public hearing will be held on a special assessment roll for street lighting on Baldwin avenue from Walton boulevard to Colgate.

Action will be taken on a previously deferred bid for purchase of the west half of lot 609, Ferry Farm Addition excepting the south 14.74 feet.

Commissioners will hear a communication from Braid Motor Sales regarding use of asphalt for sidewalks at driveways and gas stations.

Bird Flights Reveal Red Maneuvering in Indochina

By FRED SPARKS

NEA Staff Correspondent

ON THE NORTH INDOCHINA FRONT (NEA)—Cpl. Guy DeTourdonnet placed a bag of hand grenades on the floor of the jeep between us as we drove out of military headquarters at Hanoi and started for the front. An ex-French Canadian, Corporal DeTourdonnet said:

"Every day cars are fired at. If such a thing happens—and we are not hit—toss out a grenade. it might confuse the snipers."

We had to wait at a check-point until French sappers with mine dejectors declared the road ahead "safe."

Communist mine planters are wise at their trade and the sappers can only manicure the center of the road. A soft shoulder might not merely mean your tire stuck in the mud—it might mean you stuck in a grave.

As we crawled through crowded villages, between surly shuffling coolies bound for market with squealing pigs lashed to bamboo poles, I wished I was in Indiana, not Indochina.

Every mile or so guard posts like miniature Eiffel Towers watch the highway. For in this Red River Delta, rice basket for North Indochina, the Communists are every place like ants at a picnic.

The delta is shaped like a slice of pie with its point and each 80-mile-long side facing Communist areas, its back to the Gulf of Tonkin. Roaming inside are 60,000 Communist irregulars who make it essential for isolated Frenchmen to take a Colt as well as a toothbrush to the bathroom.

Outside the triangle, in the neighboring Tam Dao Mountains, are five organized Red divisions carrying fancy firearms lendleased from neighbor China. They're expected soon to try a major break-through while guerrillas raise havoc within.

Ninety minutes out of Hanoi we saw the front line fortifications at Phuc-yen, huge hulks silhouetted against the flat delta's brilliant skyline. We were guided through circles of barbed wire to the connected four concrete pillboxes that house a company of Moroccan infantry men who five times daily pray for Allah's aid.

We crawled after Lt. Pierre Delhom through tiny passages in the five-foot-thick walls of the main pillbox that recalled exactly the Maginot Line, including bottles of red wine and foot-long loaves of French bread on a table next a machine-gun slit.

From the tower we saw the Communist badlands where anything moving, night or day, is riddled like Swiss cheese. We stuffed fingers in ears as giant cannon blasted a gray village of thatched huts just ahead of a Moroccan patrol Lieutenant Delhom said:

"This morning we saw the birds fly from there. It means the Communists have returned. These wild things love to nest in the roofs of empty towns."

Robin Hood Gets Deer Near Site of Indian Grave

PORTLAND, Mich. (AP) — Arthur Vincent of Portland is known as "Robin Hood" hereabouts now.

After five years of stalking, Vincent killed a 125-pound buck deer with bow and arrow three miles south of here. And, as it happened, he was the first from the Portland area to get a deer in the current archery season.

What is more, the kill occurred near the grave of Chief Okemos, celebrated Ottawa Indian hunter, on what is now a Boy Scout reservation.

Governor Proclaims Credit Union Week

This week has been proclaimed Credit Union Week by Gov. G. Mennen Williams, and Thursday has been set aside internationally as Credit Union Day.

It will be observed by some eight million credit union people in the United States and Canada.

Chiropractors Okayed

LANSING (AP)—Aud. Gen. John B. Martin declared today there is no truth to charges that some 200 state chiropractor licenses were missing.

The charge was made in support of a petition for an Ingham County grand jury investigation of the State Board of Chiropractic Examiners.

Martin said his auditors had checked every one of the 1,800-odd chiropractic licenses now in existence and found each of them accounted for.

He said his men found 48 license numbers unaccounted for in the board's records and that a search of files turned up four of these. They were merely mis-filed, he said.

Martin said no trace could be found of the other 44 numbers. All disappeared prior to 1940, he said.

"To make certain that no one was holding a renewal license which stemmed from one of these missing numbers," Martin said. "I had my auditors start from this end and check every renewal license in existence.

Cardinals Attend Mass for Purged Mission Priest

ROME (UP) — Three cardinals from the United States attended a solemn requiem mass today in the American Church of Santa Susanna for the late Msgr. Patrick Byrne, the American missionary who died in Chinese Communist captivity.

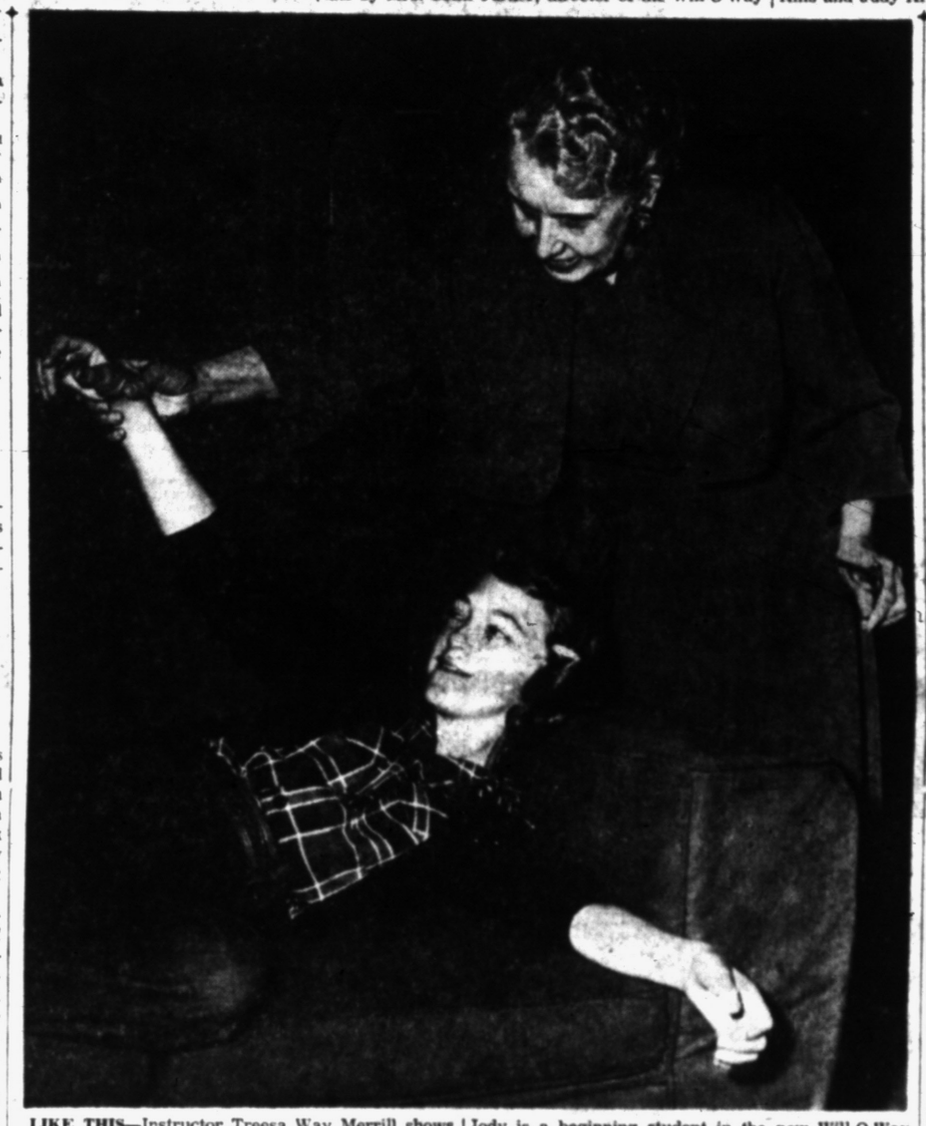
Samuel Cardinal Stritch of Chicago, Edward Cardinal Mooney of Detroit, and Francis Cardinal Spellman of New York, headed the congregation. Also attending were a number of American prelates here for the opening of the new North American College building Wednesday.

A special sermon was preached by the Rev. Thomas Quinlan, Irish prelate of the Society of St. Colombanus for the Chinese mission, who spent many months in a Communist prison with Byrne.

Byrne, former Apostolic delegate in Seoul, Korea, died in a Red prison camp in Nov. 1950.

Centenarian Dies

PETOSKEY (UP)—Mrs. Edward D. Ellis, 100 years old, died Monday. She was a native of England and had resided here for 70 years. Five children, 14 grand children and 19 great-grandchildren survive.



LIKE THIS—Instructor Treesa Way Merrill shows Jody Schafer, 541 Albany, Ferndale, the right position to strike on stage at the Will-O-Way Playhouse. Jody is a beginning student in the new Will-O-Way winter dramatics course. Future actors learn theory, then go on stage and carry it out.

Apple Barn, Pig Pen Classrooms

Will-O-Way Winter Dramatics Course May Mean Year 'Round Play Program

A new program at Will-O-Way Playhouse may soon enable the well-known summer theater to produce shows the whole year round.

The Merrill family, originators and operators of the Long Lake road apple barn-turned theater, this month began teaching some 160 folks from 7 to 60 the business of acting.

Through two 15-week terms salesmen, teachers, housewives and school kids will report every Saturday for a lesson in "real theater."

Mrs. Celia Merrill Turner, who heads the new teaching program, stresses that the subject is approached "from the viewpoint of science rather than art.

"Our job is teaching the trade of theater," she says. "The main idea is the use of practical things. We give them theory, and they have to get right up and do it."

The State of Michigan thinks of Will-O-Way as a trade school, too, and has licensed it as such since 1949. The regular summer course (in continuous operation since 1947 and limited to 10 students) offers a certificate. Will-O-Way has not yet been authorized to grant certificates for the winter courses.

The winter setup actually had its inauguration last year when heating equipment was installed in the ex-Merrill farm apple storage barn and in the old pig pen.

The two buildings became winter as well as summer theater "laboratories" in which 16 classes of 10 each could learn about acting from one of the four family members: Treesa Way Merrill, William W. Merrill, Martha Craig Merrill, and Mrs. Turner.

Each class is divided according to age group and ability. Later, students are given lessons ranging from printed glossaries of stage terms to correct interpretation of a part.

"We teach them to learn a character," Mrs. Turner says. "And we aid them in realizing and overcoming the problems in playing them."

But before most of the students get to that point they are taught complete "physical abandon." Anything—from doing a pantomime of Peter Pan flitting about (no mean trick for some of the heftier older students) to making like a police siren—is used to make them relax.

"Emotional abandon," too, is taught early in the course. Students are made to laugh, weep, shout, rage at a finger's point.

After beginners master basic steps they go on to the same type work the advanced classes do — only on a simpler scale.

Each class works on scenes from plays from such a variety of writers as Shakespeare, Ibsen, Sherwood and Shaw. At the end of the semester they all join in presenting their efforts in a kind of panorama of drama.

Naturally, everyone in each class can't get into an acting part so the others design the sets, handle the lights, or care for costumes and properties.

Mrs. Turner feels that the course is as valuable for a businessman who never hopes to go on to greater things dramatic as it is for those who are interested in getting their foot in the door of show business.

"It is very valuable to anyone who has to meet people," she says. "It gives them poise, sureness, and the ability to get across what they want to."

For children, too, she thinks acting classes are of real value. "It gives them much more poise than dancing, for example. Our object is to make them themselves—not to have them behave prettily."

She tells of an eight-year-old who was so bashful he refused to say his name aloud in school. By the end of 15 weeks he was publicly performing Peter Pan "beautifully."

"But," says Mrs. Turner, "we are even more interested in adults than children. We are anxious to use this as a feeder for our professional season. . . And eventually we will probably have a winter season."

In the first season of winter operation adults from Pontiac, Birmingham, Rochester, Flint, Dearborn and Grosse Pointe showed up for classes. "But we were surprised more didn't come from Pontiac," Mrs. Turner says, "since many of them come to our summer performances."

Williams Sticks by Appointment

Governor Defends Pick of Holland Man to New Commission

LANSING (UP)—Gov. G. Mennen Williams today stoutly defended his appointment of Earnest C. Brooks, Holland, to the new State Corrections Commission and charged that criticism by Secretary of State Owen J. Cleary was "just an early opening of the Republican primary campaign for governor."

Cleary accused Williams Monday of "violating the spirit and intent" of the law recreating the commission by appointing Brooks, who had served since 1949 as director of the department.

"Under recent previous administrations the prison system was shot through with corruption," Williams declared. "Under the direction of Brooks it has been an honest administration."

"I have confidence in him and in others I have appointed to the new corrections commission.

Millard Rules on Turnpike Authority

LANSING (UP)—Attorney General Frank G. Millard ruled late Monday that Michigan's new Turnpike authority must draw employes from State Civil Service and is subject to state auditing and accounting controls.

In a 34-page opinion prepared after weeks of study, the attorney general upheld the right of the new turnpike board to enter into contracts.

The opinion also upheld the legality of the Turnpike Act but held that further legislative implementation will be necessary to permit the agency to function fully.

The Turnpike Act, passed by the 1953 legislature after a stormy fight, created a five-man authority empowered to construct, operate, and maintain limited access highways financed by tolls. The authority already has ordered traffic surveys started on toll expressways serving the Detroit-Toledo, Bay City-Detroit, and Detroit-Chicago routes.

Yankee Ingenuity

New England Emerging From Old Economic Cocoon

This is the first of three articles on how New England Yankees are weathering their transition to "economic maturity."

By CHARLES MERCER

BOSTON (AP)—New England, eldest of the nation's regional economic children, confronts the visitor today with a strange mixture of myth and fact.

The biggest myth, readily accepted in most sections of the country, is that New England is slipping economically.

The fact is that employment is at an all-time high, with 3,500,000 New Englanders at work on non-farm jobs—a record surpassing the World War II peak by nearly 100,000.

It also is a fact that New England has economic problems stemming from a variety of causes.

But the widely circulated idea that it is not facing up to these problems and trying to solve them is total myth. How New England is doing this should be of vital interest to younger regional brothers and sisters.

For most thoughtful New Englanders agree on this: "The problems we face today the rest of the country will face in time."

A widely accepted theory, advanced by George Ellis, economist for the Federal Reserve Bank in Boston, is that New England leads the nation in transition to "economic maturity." That means a change in the employment structure: first, from agriculture to manufacturing. Then, as manufacturing becomes more complicated, workers demand more services in such fields as transportation, education and communications. There follows, naturally, an increase in the number of service employes.

Employment figures show this is happening in New England. In other words, if you subscribe to the theory, you will agree that New England is in a later stage of development than other regions—a stage which the South and West will reach in time. Thus, while New England still is growing, it is in a less dramatic phase than some of Uncle Sam's younger regional children—the Deep South, for example—a gorgeous girl, who recently has blossomed like the magnolia in outgrowing her adolescent farm economy.

* * *

So comparisons of regional economic growth are rather like comparing the rate of physical growth in children. It all depends on how old they are.

On the basis of federal statistics New England is a mighty sturdy young man:

Measuring only 2.2 per cent of the nation's land area, it contains 6.1 per cent of the population. These people last year held 7.6 percent of the national bank deposits. Latest available figures show their per capita income in 1951 was $1,715 compared to a national average of $1,584. Their per capita savings in 1950 totaled $1,826 compared to a national average of $1,288. This year's economic trend indicates that those basic figures should be as good or better today.

Since 1939, New England has increased the number of its manufacturing plants 50 per cent, creating 400,000 new jobs in the process. Investments in equipment, machinery and new construction are better than generally assumed. Workers have a higher take-home pay and standard of living than those in other regions of the country, says Massachusetts' Democratic Sen. John F. Kennedy.

Why, then, the myth that New England is slipping?

Probably the biggest contributing factor to the myth is the decline of the New England textiles industry. In itself that decline is no myth. It's a fact—perhaps the best-known economic fact about New England.

But another fact, less known, is the extraordinary growth of other forms of manufacture, particularly the electronics industry. While textile employment has declined about 55,000 since 1939, other industry has created 400,000 new jobs.

A lot of people have heard that New England industry still depends on antiquated customs and methods. Once that was true and examples might still be pointed out here and there. But tour New England today and you'll find a new generation that has awakened to opportunities and new methods.

There is one other curious factor in the myth that New England is slipping: the public attitude of many New Englanders themselves.

Guards' Guards Need Watching, Thieves Prove

HONG KONG (AP) — Maybe they should have had watchmen to watch the watchmen who were watching the watchmen.

The British army hired Chinese guards to watch over some tarpaulins in a compound. It then assigned two privates—John Henderson, 20, of North Ireland, and Peter Downs, 19, of Glasgow, Scotland—to watch the watchmen.

The privates sent the Chinese off on a fake errand. When the Chinese returned, 27 tarpaulins were gone. One of the Chinese spotted a truck leaving the compound.

Tracing of the truck led to the conviction of the two privates in court today. They were sentenced to six months at hard labor.

By EMILY POST

A reader explains: "I shall be ever grateful if you will tell me how to deal with the following situation. My husband and I have been married 10 years and have no children, and from time to time are expected to satisfy people's curiosity concerning the reason.

"Often I have been subjected to a battery of questions from people I scarcely know. I have tried being evasive but this only heightens their curiosity.

"To someone who is already unhappy over this, it becomes an impossible situation. How can one deal tactfully with this problem?"

Answer: I can hardly imagine the rudeness of the people you describe — that anyone should bring up the subject to you is unthinkable. My advice to you is to simply turn the subject and talk about something else.

If you find this impossible, you would almost be justified in saying: "I really don't think this subject is of concern to you."

Dear Mrs. Post: My sister and I recently spent the weekend at a friend's home. I know that a bread-and-butter letter is customary after such a visit.

I would like to know, however, if each of us must write a note or if one note would be sufficient.

Answer: A note from one of you is sufficient.

Dear Mrs. Post: I have just received an invitation to the wedding of a friend's daughter. I will not be able to go, but would like my daughter to go in my place. Would this be proper?

Answer: Unless it is a very small wedding to which none but intimate friends is invited, there would surely be no objection to her going.

Dear Mrs. Post: I have received a very beautiful sterling silver lazy Susan and I would like to know if it is proper to use this when giving a dinner party, or is it used primarily for buffet parties?

Answer: Primarily for buffet parties.

Super-Duper Fall Dessert: Date Puddin'

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

Cool Autumn weather calls for heartier desserts than we serve in the summer. This date pudding, sent in by Mrs. Richard Johnson, sounds like a perfect climax to a fall meal.

Mrs. Johnson is first and foremost a homemaker. To her own family of three daughters she has added the care of a small nephew.

She enjoys cooking and crocheting and all kinds of informal entertaining, especially with her teen-agers.

DATE PUDDING
By Mrs. Richard Johnson

Simmer in a square cake pan:
1½ cups brown sugar, firmly packed
2 cups boiling water
2 tablespoons butter or margarine

Mix in a bowl:
¾ cup granulated sugar
1½ cups sifted flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon vanilla
½ teaspoon salt

Add ¾ cup milk, beat until smooth. Add a 12-ounce package of dates, cut in small pieces, and ½ cup nutmeats.

Drop by spoonfuls into the simmering liquid. Bake at 350 degrees for 25 to 30 minutes. Serve warm with whipped cream. Six to eight servings.

LISTEN, LADIES! It's tough enough listening to the chatter of one average female on the telephone—but it's enough to drive you a bit batty when two of them share one phone! Such yat-a-ka!

Deserted Wife Succeeds in Work Minus Education

By ANNE HEYWOOD

Not a day goes by that a woman doesn't say to me, with varying degrees of pathos:

"I'd just love to enter such-and-such a field, but of course I have no college degree, no training, so it's utterly impossible."

This is sometimes followed with a long bitter commentary about our present business structure, and the emphasis it places on college degrees.

But at the same time, not a week goes by that I don't meet a woman who, with no training and no degree, has made a successful career for herself in those very same fields.

She had only a small four-room apartment over the bank on Main street in her town, and $83 in the bank.

"It was awful," Mrs. Joan G. told me, "but fortunately I didn't have time to think. I had to make money, and very quickly. Cooking was my only skill, but if I say so myself, a real skill.

"All my life, friends and neighbors had adored my pastries, my cakes and cookies and brownies. I decided that I would have to capitalize on that, distasteful as it seemed at first.

"My friends had been sympathetic, of course, when they had heard of my plight, but I didn't want to impose on their sympathy.

"However, I did know that the things I cooked were simply delicious, and that in many cases it would be a downright favor to my friends to be able to buy them for special parties and weddings and such.

"But I didn't have the courage to telephone and tell them that I was going into the catering business."

Mrs. Joan G. smiled, but you could see that the memory still brought a lump to her throat.

"It was my daughter," she said proudly, "who really solved the dilemma. She talked it over with me—really, for 15 she was very understanding and self-reliant—and came up with a good suggestion.

" 'Why don't you bake a whole bunch of brownies, Mother? We'll get a lot of little boxes, and put two in each box, and label them as samples.

"Then you write a note to your friends, and tell them you're turning professional, and here is a sample. Then," my daughter continued calmly, "I'll deliver them for you."

"It was much better," Joan went on, "because I didn't have to actually tell them. I wrote individual notes to each of my friends, and to women I knew in the woman's club, and to some very socially-inclined people who were really no more than acquaintances.

"Then I pasted the notes on the little sample boxes, and my daughter delivered them. The result was, as my daughter would say, 'sensational'."

Joan G. carried on a very successful catering business right from her own home for two years, until her daughter graduated from high school.

"After that," she said proudly, "one of the big restaurant chains hired me for a good job. When I told them I had never finished high school, I was sure they'd never take me.

"But they said that with experience like mine, who cared about degrees! Imagine that!"

Webster PTA Putting Final Touches on Wednesday's Fall Fun Frolic

Committees Outline Details for Annual Festivities

As Wednesday evening draws near, Mrs. Thomas Hollis and her committees for Webster PTA's Fall Fun Frolic are busily engaged in planning last-minute details.

Mrs. Paul Gorman is taking charge of tickets while Mrs. William Wright is working on publicity assisted by Dorothy Hensel and Mrs. Denzel T. Sheppard Jr.

Each homeroom is planning its special project for the all-school affair. Mrs. George Fraser's kindergarten has planned a game room under the supervision of Mrs. John Lelich and Mrs. William Isgrigg, while Mrs. Francis Larkin's kindergarten will be selling balloon animals with Mrs. Cecil Myers and Mrs. Benjamin Jerome in charge.

Pony rides will be offered by Mrs. Frank Kay's kindergarten room and Mrs. Harold Muldowney's third grade room, planned by Mrs. John Benson and Mrs. Arthur Harrington.

The first grade room of Mrs. Don Hinckley will feature a fish pond, with Mrs. Wesson Schulz as chairman, while the fish pond sponsored by the first grade of Mrs. Gordon Keillor has Mrs. Robert Isgrigg as chairman.

Comic photos, tattoos and silhouettes are offered by Mrs. Arthur Bell's first grade under the leadership of Mrs. Richard Fox, and the first grade of Mrs. Gordon Thompson will have an outdoor popcorn booth supervised by Mrs. Thomas Humphries. Mrs. Frank Benning will serve as chairman of the pie booth sponsored by Carol Charles' first grade.

A big attraction this year is the smorgasbord planned by Geraldine Doerfer's first grade and Mrs. Carl Robertson's sixth grade. Mrs. George Turner and Mrs. Lillian Marlowe have planned the meal, which will be served from 5 until 7.

The second grade room of Mrs. Everett Cooke will operate the Webster Country Club featuring miniature golf, with Mrs. Robert Tricker overseeing the concession. The second grade rooms of Mrs. Alfred Rothweiler and Mrs. Elsie Welch are selling candy, with Mrs. Dean Olds supervising the cotton candy sales of the former and Mrs. John Harbough taking over candy bars for the latter.

Mrs. Frank Moreau is acting as chairman for the comics and toys booth sponsored by Genevieve Durfee's second grade. Mrs. Harry Killian's second grade will offer a magician's show to thrill fairgoers. Mrs. D. B. Eames is attending to all of the details for the show.

The popular beauty parlor under the direction of Mrs. Delbert Haviland will be the project of Mrs. Francis McMinn's third grade. Concentrating on the collection of white elephants to be offered by Mrs. Charles Knowlton's third grade is Mrs. Eugene Holstein.

A puppet show is being planned by the third grade of Mrs. Denzel Sheppard, with Mrs. L. R. Taylor acting as chairman.

Candied apples will be sold by Mrs. Homer Gerue's fourth grade under the supervision of Mrs. David Sidwell, and Arthur Bell's fourth grade will offer pop with Mrs. Cecil Irwin supervising sales.

Expected to receive lots of attention is the grab bag operated by Dorothy Hensel's fourth grade under the direction of Mrs. Charles McLaughlin.

Another new attraction will be the tractor ride sponsored by Mrs. Orville Gauthier's fifth grade with Mrs. W. H. Yearnd as chairman. David Gibson's fifth grade will sell ice cream, with Mrs. Glenn Griffin attending to the details.

Mrs. Harlan Boyce is planning the gift shop to be managed by Mrs. Arthur D. O'Neill's fifth grade, as Mrs. Donald Smith turns her attention to the bake shelf sponsored by the fifth grade of Mrs. James Jones.

The sixth grade room of Mrs. Donald Hinckley will offer hot dogs to hungry fair patrons, with Mrs. William Shirley supervising. An inside popcorn booth will be operated by David Weatherall's sixth grade and Mrs. Ferdinand Gaensbauer is preparing for the eager customers.

The enterprising sixth grade room of Emma Spears has planned a parking lot on the school playground. Mrs. Clyde Dearing is making certain that there will be lots of attendants on hand.

Clark Kimball is making certain that no one will miss Webster School on Wednesday evening by providing plenty of lighting for the outside activities. Everyone is welcome at Webster's Fall Fun Frolic.

The smorgasbord, a highlight of Webster PTA's Fall Fun Frolic, scheduled for Wednesday, is a project of Miss Doerfer's first grade.

Women's Clubs Meet at Blumeno Home

Veterans' Aide Addresses Foundation

Mrs. Paul Gorman, president of the City Federation of Women's Clubs, announced the need for volunteer workers in the city when she presided at the Monday meeting of the federation held in the home of Mrs. Morris Blumeno on Ottawa drive.

Mrs. Forrest Brown announced the Pontiac Women's Club benefit dessert luncheon to be held Nov. 2. A play, "The Story of Interdependents," in honor of the United Nations, will be shown on Oct. 21.

Among other activities will be the Zonta Club bridge party Nov. 18 in the Masonic Temple.

Fred S. Galloway, service officer and director of the Council of Veterans for Southern Oakland County, was guest speaker for the afternoon.

The council was organized in 1932, the speaker said. Its entire membership was made up of delegates from all units of the nationally chartered veterans' organizations within Oakland County.

The speaker stressed how many times a day some mother will call and ask what the council can do for her son. There is a definite lack of hospitalization and adequate care for mentally disturbed patients, he continued.

The budget this year will not permit hospitalization for non-service disabilities except in great emergencies.

Health is a prime factor in the future of the country, the speaker noted, and he concluded his talk with a quotation from Oliver Wendell Holmes, "The great thing in the world is not so much where we stand as in which direction we are moving."

Hostesses for the tea were members of the Newcomers Club with Mrs. Hugh J. Hales, Mrs. Mert Jennings, Mrs. Peter Aldo, Mrs. Floyd Short and Mrs. Adolph Magnus assisting.

Mrs. Gorman presided at the tea table which was set with autumn flowers and silver appointments.

Over-Activity Now May Be Costly Later

Teen-agers, have you ever noticed how many articles are devoted to telling women how to relax? They may not seem to apply to you, but, really, in a very special way, they do.

The tensions that people build up through the years usually have beginnings in adolescence when the tempo of life suddenly steps up. School work gets harder, social life vastly more complicated and all the while your bodies are undergoing great changes.

The wonderful energy that you have carried over from childhood may give you a false sense of security about your ability to take all this in your stride.

But time will tell. Not too many years from now you may suddenly discover that you are always tired, washed-out, nervous. Then it will take lots of pampering of your body and lots of work to learn how to relax.

You can avoid such a situation simply by using common sense. By not overdoing anything now, you will be able to continue to do everything for years and years.

Absolutely nobody has an endless supply of energy and good health, so conserve them. Do not allow yourself to go too deeply into anything—studies, dates or sports.

Confine dating to week-ends; reserve after-class time for out-door exercise, and week nights for study with a bit of time out for a good book or TV.

Past Regents Attend Dearborn Meeting

Past regents of Gen. Richardson Chapter of Daughters of the American Revolution were in Dearborn Monday when they attended a meeting of the Metropolitan Past Regents Club.

Those attending were Mrs. E. V. Howlett, Mrs. Harry F. Going, Mrs. Harry Chapman, Mrs. Bradley Scott, Mrs. Blanche Avery, Ella Smith and Mrs. E. G. Clark.

Push-Button Spray Restores Suede

The suede restorer can be used on any color suede, and the manufacturor also says it won't rub off on hose or clothes. The restorer is for use on shoes, bags, gloves or anything made of suede.

Straight Tip Men's Shoes No Longer Monopolize the Fashion Spotlight

Footwear Shows 3 Definite Trends: U-Wings, Grains and Black Leather

There's more to shoe appeal than a shine on your shoes. Today men are conscious of shoe styles too. Many new models have taken the spotlight away from the conventional straight tip shoe of past seasons.

Slip-on models, for example, are worn at business in town and in the country on weekends.

Fall shoes show three definite trends: The swing to the U-wing tip in both casual and business models, a wider acceptance of grain leather shoes, both fine grain and Scotch grain, black leather in shoes for all occasions.

Scotch grains produce a nubby touch effect which harmonizes with the nubby touch in men's clothing.

In U-wing tips, calf and cordovan are the top leathers followed by brushed leather and calf combinations.

Medallion caps add interest to U-wing tips, along with novelty stitching. Some models come with out perforations. Heavier leathers and heavier soles are also featured.

Black leather is worn more and more for casual wear and business. It is shown in styles from U-wing and conventional wing tips to plain tip bluchers and moccasins.

types with leather-covered sides are also very popular.

In business shoes, new circular tops give a longer sweep to wing-tip models.

Alligator and suede combinations are growing in popularity in cities as well as suede and printed leathers.

Mary Margaret McBride Says:

Perhaps Hobbies Fulfill One's Buried Longings

When my mother, on her only trip abroad, saw the toy dairy of the Petit Trianon at Versailles, she laughed and laughed at the idea of Marie Antoinette playing at being a milkmaid. It struck Mama, who had churned so many pounds from necessity, as extraordinary that a queen should make butter for amusement.

MISS McBRIDE

I'm sure Papa, if he were alive today, would be equally surprised and amused if he should drive past any of our suburbs on a spring weekend and see city men awkwardly chopping trees, spreading fertilizer and spading garden plots just for fun. Papa did these things all his life, but he did them so that we could live.

If I had tried to explain hobbies to either of my parents, they would have been a little uncomprehending, I think, though Mama certainly had an unrecognized one in the small flower garden she always made whenever we moved from one farmhouse to another.

She never had much time for pampering sweetpeas and nasturtiums, but that merely made her pleasure all the more intense.

In fact, I firmly believe that in her experience lies the formula for a successful hobby. If you spend all day making model ships, gardening or wood carving, half the fun is lost, and you even get bored.

This only a theory, for nearest I've come so far to having a hobby was a good many years ago when I'd managed to save up a little money and commenced collecting crystal, jade and coral animal miniatures.

For quite a while I haunted shops, antique and modern, and proudly showed my collection, perhaps to prove that at last I'd arrived at a point where I didn't have to spend every single cent just to live. As soon as this was clear to myself, I lost interest in the little animals.

A real hobby ought to have a better basis than that and I think most of them do. Important businessmen who take to farms and find pleasure working with their hands are probably trying to get back to simpler, less involved ways of living. A doctor told me the other day that some of these city men turned rustic have saved their own lives.

A collecting hobby will often turn a dull stay-at-home into an enthusiastic traveler ecstatically prowling among obscure shops in search of buttons, bottles, door knockers or hair lockets.

I know one person who's had to buy two extra houses because she now collects everything. Irene Castle gathers up so many stray animals it takes six buildings to hold them.

I've thought of a possible hobby for myself all bound up in a wistful childhood ambition. I always wanted to sing and play the piano, but I can't carry a tune and we couldn't afford piano teachers early enough for the lessons to do any good.

I might take up a new sort of harp which has keys that have the notes lettered so you just press and strum.

Maybe that's what hobbies are—the fulfillment of buried longings.

If the toy trucks and tractors get any bigger the kids will be working instead of playing.

Girl, 16, Objects to Her Mother's Rule for Trundling Off to Bed at 10 o'Clock

By ELIZABETH WOODWARD

From an early age you look forward to wearing lipstick, high heels, driving the car and staying up until dawn. They're all signs of being a big girl now. Emancipation proclamations they are.

And the staying up until dawn is one of the most dramatic. A far cry from ancient days when Mommy supervised the tooth wash, heard the prayers and tucked you in for the night.

A great many grownups who can go to bed when they please find the hours after midnight utterly lacking in fascination. After a day that begins early and keeps them pounding through the hours, nothing looks so enticing as the good old downy—and sleep.

Of course, many of these devotees of the shut-eye are blessed with offsprings who find the wee sma' hours entrancing. Then come wrangles like this one.

"Dear Miss Woodward: What time should a healthy 16-year-old girl go to bed? Mother insists I hit the hay at 10 o'clock, but now that I'm a junior in high school I think 11 or 11:30 is time enough.

"She says she doesn't care what time other kids I know go to bed. I'm to shove off at 10. What do you think?"

Frankly, I think that staying up until 11:30 for no really good reason is a dreadful waste of time—time that could be spent in strength-restoring oblivion.

Of course, sleeping is one of my favorite activities, and when dark falls I begin to get eager to get at it. Call me prejudiced, if you will. I still think sleep is a great institution.

If there's a mountain of homework that has to be done before morning, that's different. And so is the quality of the homework when you're feeling stale and your eyes are drooping.

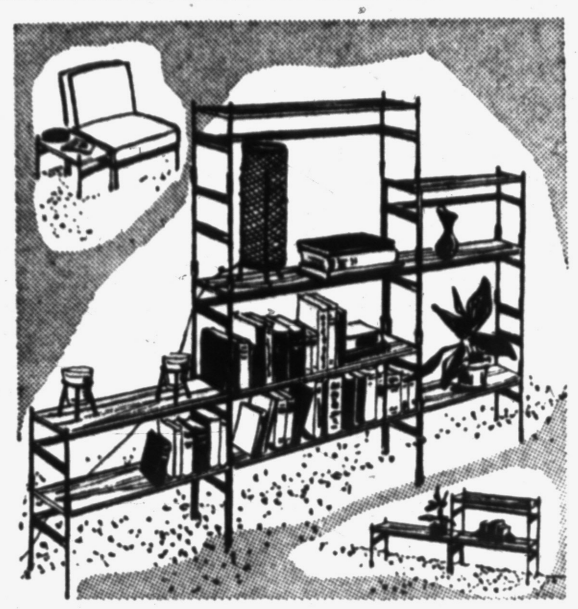
And it's different if there's a party going on—a special reason for staying up later than usual, with a chance to catch up the next morning.

Some healthy 16-year-old girls require more sleep than others do to restore the energy their activities consume. They can't get up early and go to bed late and stay healthy.

A rule for you? Check your own daily timetable. What time do you have to get up in order to get your chores done and get to school on time? How long must your day be to get your necessary work finished?

Then what can be important enough to stretch that day out longer? One more television program? Another chapter in a novel? Another inch of knitting? Another page of the letter?

They're not important enough to stay up for. Not when they make open the next morning!



Space Problems Solved by Furniture That Grows

By ELIZABETH HILLYER

Some new furniture grows wider and taller as easily as the house a child builds with his building blocks.

It can range along a wide wall or stop short on a narrow one, swing low or stretch tall. The whole thing is a matter of setting pieces side by side and stacking one atop the other.

This is a happy solver of problems because it makes it so easy to fit space and to make extra good use of it.

But there's also special appeal in this type of furniture to people who have ideas of their own and like to try them out.

It's the next best thing to being your own furniture designer to be able to arrange units however you want them, and rearrange them when needs or ideas change.

Units are birch or walnut and slender black-enameled rods, 30 and 36 inches wide.

Energy-Saving Hints Offered Housewives

STORRS, Conn. (INS)—The University of Connecticut's home economics department offers the following hints to housewives as energy savers:

Dispose of all equipment that you don't use.

Sit to work whenever possible.

Have comfortable working heights, especially at the sink and ironing board.

Don't pull heavy objects around—place beds where they need no moving to make.

Store objects near where you'll start to use them (sieve near sink, skillet near stove).

Store all frequently-used objects within easy reach (cups and saucers, cans and can opener).

Let your eyes help you. Store as many things as possible in sight, not one behind the other.

Meeting Conducted by Oakland WSCS

Mrs. Basil Meidlein opened the meeting with "A Womans Prayer" when members of the WSCS of Oakland Park Methodist Church gathered Thursday evening in the church parlors.

Mrs. Raymond Coombe, secretary of missions, was in charge of the meeting. She was aided by Joan Wagley, who gave a talk about missions that were visited during the past summer.

Charlene Deeg's devotional period was based on Psalm 121. Special music was presented by Vicki Everett and Bonnie Allen.

Plans were made for the turkey dinner to be served Oct. 29, Mrs. B. E. Weddle and Mrs. Frank Ledford will be in charge of the kitchen, with Mrs. William Fizzard and Mrs. J. E. Ostrander in charge of the dining room. Mrs. Paul Krugman is ticket chairman.

No Baggy Skirts

If you have straight suit or dress skirt that is unlined, tack a square of taffeta on the inside to cover the sitting area. This will prevent the skirt from bagging.

Plans Made for Future Activities

Monday Gathering Is Held by Pontiac Church Women

Reports and announcements for the coming months were heard when United Church Women met Monday afternoon at the First Presbyterian Church.

Arrangements were made to send fruit jars and fats to Greece through the Greek Orthodox Church on Mariva avenue.

World Community Day was announced for Nov. 9, with a luncheon at 12:30 at the First Presbyterian Church, tableaux and a forum on the sixth national assembly in Atlantic City.

Women are to bring articles for the homes of other nations. Mrs. Frank Gray reported on Oakland Farm and Camp for underprivileged children, which she visited with Mrs. Raymond Coombe.

Clothing needs of the children's home were reported on by Mrs. John Walter, and Nov. 30 and Dec. 1 were announced for blood bank days. Donors were asked to state the recipient of their donation. "Consecrated Church Women" was the devotional topic chosen by Mrs. P. G. Latimer.

For the 10 o'clock ceremony Catherine chose a ballerina-length gown of white satin and net. She wore a fingertip veil, and her pearl necklace was a gift of the bridegroom. White rosebuds and carnations formed the bridal bouquet.

Wearing Nile green taffeta and net was the bride's sister, Nancy McGowan of St. Mary's Academy in Monroe, who was maid of honor. She carried a bouquet of yellow chrysanthemums.

James Polhamus of Eaton Rapids was his brother's best man, and the bride's brother, Michael McGowan, was groomsman. Ushers were Terence McGowan and Richard Robichaud.

Navy blue chiffon with a corsage of pink roses was worn by the bride's mother, while Mrs. Polhamus chose a dress of navy blue and a corsage of pink roses.

After a reception at the League of Catholic Women's Hall, Catherine changed to a blue linen dress with a pink coat and corsage of pink rosebuds for the wedding trip.

On their return, John will leave for Ft. Sheridan, Ill., where he is stationed with the Army, and the new Mrs. Polhamus will reside with her parents.

HAVE YOU TRIED WONDER BREAD
LATELY?
Made With Even Better Quality Protein Flour To Give You A Better Loaf Of Bread

Surveys Show 1 Out Of 2 Children Fail To Get The Recommended Amounts Of Food-Energy For Normal Weight And Growth Gains.

The Bread That Helps Build Strong Bodies 8 Ways!

An average boy of 10 should gain about 6 pounds in one year.

Which is at the rate of ½ pound per month; or less than 2 ounces each week.

But any time your child fails to gain puts her or him that far behind.

Why Lack of Food-Energy Causes Weight and Growth Loss

Carbohydrate and fat supply food-energy. Protein supplies the "building blocks" of growth.

Now Nature cannot use carbohydrate and fat alone for growth, but it can use protein for energy.

Thus, when your child fails to get enough carbohydrate and fat food-energy, Nature uses the protein for food-energy instead of growth.

Wonder Bread Helps Your Child Grow Bigger and Stronger 8 Ways

A well-balanced diet calls for meat, milk, eggs, fruit and both yellow and green-leafed vegetables. And carbohydrate food for energy. Like Wonder Bread.

Because not only does Wonder Bread supply food-energy but protein. Study the chart and see how Wonder Bread helps build bigger and stronger bodies 8 ways.

To encourage your child to eat a well-balanced diet and 8 slices of Wonder Bread each day, show him or her this ad. Because it shows how any boy or girl can grow bigger and stronger 8 ways—which is what they want to excel in their favorite sports.

Measure your child in the doorway. Make a pencil mark now. Then in 3 months and 6 months—watch the mark shoot up!

Get Wonder Bread Today

Wonder Bread is a wonderful food. Because it helps build strong bodies 8 ways.

And Wonder Bread has a wonderful flavor. Because it is doubly fresh—fresh when you buy it and fresh when you eat it.

Grenade Champ Ready

Galiffa May Make Pro Football Debut Sunday

By WILL GRIMSLEY

NEW YORK (AP)—Arnold Galiffa, who won 11 sports letters at West Point and later became the grenade-throwing sensation of the Korean War, is anxious to get a taste of pro football—and chances are it'll come next Sunday.

The New York Giants make their home debut against the Chicago Cardinals at the Polo Grounds and Coach Steve Owen promises to unveil—for a few plays at least—his new quarterback from the fighting fronts who he says "will be another Otto Graham."

The 6-foot-2, 195-pound onetime steel hand from Donora, Pa., became a Giant over the weekend after his discharge from the service. He watched his teammates lose their third straight game in Washington Sunday, bowing to the Redskins 13-9.

"I'd never seen pro football from so close before," the dark-haired former All-America quarterback said. "Gee, they're big guys and they hit mighty hard."

Galiffa may have been impressed by what he saw but he couldn't have been scared.

In February 1951 he won recognition for his grenade marksmanship while the Americans were pushing the Communists back north.

A dispatch from the front lines said Galiffa became the marvel of his comrades by hurling grenades effectively for 75 yards, twice the distance the book says the explosive can be thrown accurately.

At West Point, the swarthy, 26-year-old janitor's son won four letters in basketball, four in baseball as a first baseman and three in football. He was All-America his last year in 1949.

Dewitt Pleased Over Orioles' Baseball Setup

Stadium, Parking Lot, Interest in Team All Satisfactory

BALTIMORE (AP)—Bill DeWitt, vice president of the defunct St. Louis Browns, today was in charge here — temporarily at least — of the new American League Orioles.

After a single day's meeting with others who will have a hand in guiding the major leagues' newest member, Dewitt:

1: Expressed surprise at the "tremendous" interest manifested by Baltimoreans in their baseball team despite the current football enthusiasm and the approaching basketball season.

2: Said he was "pleasantly pleased" with progress of construction of a second deck to Memorial Stadium, slated to raise capacity to 52,600 by opening day next spring.

3: Praised parking facilities on eitherside of the stadium as superior to any city in the majors except Milwaukee which he said could match Baltimore's big parking lots.

Dewitt scheduled a meeting today with stadium engineers to determine exactly how many seats there will be in various categories.

He also said he had "talked with several American League club owners regarding some deals (player deals) but has nothing along that line to report."

There was speculation Dewitt's main purpose in being here was to master-mind some deals involving the farm clubs before all minor league players are frozen in place Friday. He managed St. Louis' farm system.

Incident During Pre-Game Drill Angered Illinois

CHICAGO (AP)—The Chicago Tribune said Monday that one reason for Ohio State's 41-20 defeat by Illinois was that the Illini players were angered by a Buckeye incident during warm-ups prior to the kickoff Saturday at Columbus, O.

Wilfrid Smith, Tribune football writer, said 'Ohio State's captain and coach curtly ordered the Illini players to give up the south end of the field' during preliminary drills.

"Illini tempers reared," added Smith. "They reacted, according to the reports we received after the game, just as another Illinois team did when it was told Army was a more welcome opponent for undefeated UCLA in Pasadena's Rose Bowl. Illinois riddled the Uclans that New Year's day, 45-15."

Ultimatum Given Moore, Bassett

Light Heavyweight King, Interim 'Feather' Titlist Must Defend Titles

WASHINGTON (AP) — Archie Moore, the aging St. Louis veteran, was under instructions from the National Boxing Assn. today to defend his light-heavyweight championship within the next few months or lose it by default.

In its fall ratings issued last night, the NBA pointedly contended it was responsible for Moore's chance to win the championship in the first place. It said he should feel obligated to risk his title in a bout with Harold Johnson of Philadelphia, logical contender in that division.

In its ratings, the NBA took out after one other boxer, Percy Bassett of Philadelphia, the interim featherweight champion, and told him to put his title on the line or face NBA action stripping him of it.

Rocky Marciano, the heavyweight champion, and Jimmy Carter, the lightweight title holder, were given strong votes of confidence by the ratings board, which could see no logical contender in either division.

Attendance Mark Is Threatened by Lions

DETROIT (AP)—Detroit Lions had high hopes today of breaking the Briggs Stadium attendance record Sunday when they play the Los Angeles Rams.

With reserved seats already virtually sold out, Lions placed 7,000 bleacher seats on sale at 9 a.m. today.

Lions and San Francisco 49ers drew 58,079 last Sunday as Detroit won 24-21 to remain unbeaten in National Football League play.

Briggs Stadium record of 58,919 was set by the Detroit Tigers of the American Baseball League in 1948.

Court Fight Planned to Reinstate 10 Preps

LANSING (AP)—Attorneys prepared today for a court fight to reinstate 10 Michigan high school boys who lost their athletic eligibility by accepting merchandise awards in summer sports contests.

Legislative committee on administrative rules yesterday suspended the high school athletic eligibility rule under which the youths were penalized, but the committee conceded that it had no power to reinstate the boys.

George C. Dean and Paul E. Siegel of Hastings, attorneys for the boys, said flatly, "We will appeal to the courts." They said they had not yet determined what form their appeal would take.

At the same time, Dr. Clair L. Taylor, state superintendent of public instruction, who suspended the boys and refused to reinstate them, asked the attorney general whether the committee legally could cancel the eligibility rule.

Dr. Taylor also set up a 17-man committee to consider a new eligibility rule.

He refused to comment directly on the lawmakers' suspension of the rule, but declared:

"My previous decision (refusing reinstatement) had at heart the interests of the 4,500 other boys in Michigan who adhered to the rules, not just the 10 involved in this farce. I will wait and see what my committee recommends —unless I am forced to do other wise by legal action."

New rules committee will meet Oct. 19 and 20.

In the meantime, there was a void where for 30 years or more Michigan has had a strict rule against high school athletes accepting from schools awards worth more than $2 and against accepting merchandise awards from anyone.

Legislative committee conceded it was reluctant to suspend this rule because it would create a "void into which all manner of commercialism might flow."

But it said that Dr. Taylor had the power to promulgate a new rule immediately. If he does not, it said, local boards of education can "meet the problem in their own good judgment."

Committee called the rule "harsh" and "arbitrary" because it made no concessions to "mitigating circumstances." Rule provides an automatic suspension for one year for all found guilty.

Michigan Association of School Administrators has supported Dr. Taylor in his refusal to reinstate the youths. Members of the legislative committee reported considerable public demand for reinstatement of the boys.

Committee named by Dr. Taylor to write a new rule, includes: Charles A. Semler of Benton Harbor, president of the high school athletic association council; Wendel Foltz of Battle Creek, president of the Michigan Sports Writers Association; and David C. Pence of Pontiac, former president of the Michigan State Bar, besides 14 others.

Trabert, Connolly Win Mexican Titles

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Tony Trabert and Maureen (Little Mo) Connolly headed back to the United States today with the men's and women's titles in the Pan-American Tennis Tournament safely tucked away.

Trabert, the ace of the United States Davis Cup team, yesterday turned back Kurt Nielsen of Denmark 2, 6-4, 6-1, while Miss Connolly whipped Shirley Fry of Akron, O., 6-1, 6-1.

Shoemaker Near All-Time Mark of Season Wins

ALBANY, Calif. (UP) — The management of Golden Gate Fields polished up a solid silver trophy today and waited for word from the winner's circle that Wee Willie Shoemaker had "done it."

Wee Willie, breezing down the homestretch of the best year of his riding career, needed only five more victories to break Tony Despirito's all-time record of 390 wins in a single season.

He could do it today. And, barring a broken neck or an attack of the mumps, he's a cinch to do it before the week ends.

Willie had an off day Monday, riding only one winner to bring his total to 386. That was aboard favored Hidden Moon in the featured Christopher Columbus purse.

Turner Doubts He Can Make 147-Pound Weight

Still ranked as a leading contender for Gavilan's title, Turner nevertheless tipped the beam at 156 while plodding to a 10-round decision over Italo Scortichini at Detroit last Wednesday night. And he's doubtful whether he can ever make the 147-pound welterweight limit again.

"And we won't try to find out until it's necessary," said Manager George Katz yesterday. Katz, noting that Gil is working to make 155 pounds for his 10-rounder with Johnny Bernardo at the arena here Thursday night, said he doesn't expect another welterweight title shot before next summer anyway.

Phillie Scribes to Honor Louis

Joe Named Outstanding Man of Boxing During Past Half-Century

PHILADELPHIA (UP) — Joe Louis, who reigned the longest of any heavyweight champion and who defended his title successfully 25 times, another record, will be honored as the No. 1 man of boxing Philadelphia Sports Writers Association.

Louis was named as boxing's outstanding figure during the past 50 years. He will be an honor guest at the association's golden anniversary dinner next Jan. 25.

The association plans to choose an athlete from each major sport as the outstanding personality for his sport during the half century.

Louis' long reign (1937-1948), his 25 successful defenses and the fact that he retired while still holding the title were weighed in the writers' selection.

Spartans Stay in Second Spot, Maryland Third

Illini Push Ohio Off Top List and Move Up to 9th Position

By ED CORRIGAN

NEW YORK (AP)—Notre Dame remained at the top of the collegiate football world today—the third straight week the Irish have ruled the roost.

The weekly Associated Press poll of the nation's sports writers and sportscasters gave the South Bend squad 1,226 points despite the fact that it was idle last Saturday.

Notre Dame collected 74 first places compared to 57 for all other teams combined. The points were tabulated by the usual method of 10 for first, nine for second and so on.

Michigan State, which had to come from behind to lick Texas Christian, stayed in second place, but gathered only 14 first-place votes, as compared to 15 last week and 977 points compared to 1,022 in the second poll.

The biggest change was disappearance of Ohio State from the top 10. The Buckeyes, shattered by underdog Illinois 41-20 last Saturday, plummeted to a tie for 18th with Mississippi Southern, the little school that beat Alabama at the start of the season. Illinois rose to No. 9 in the rankings.

Maryland, which many observers think is the top team in the South, rated third, only 16 points behind Michigan State. The Terps were a distant fourth last week.

UCLA was fourth and Michigan fifth. The rest of the first 10 was rounded out, in order, by Georgia Tech, Duke, Baylor, Illinois and West Virginia.

The top 10 (first-place votes in parentheses):

1—Notre Dame (74)		1226
2—Michigan State (14)		977
3—Maryland (21)		961
4—UCLA (8)		735
5—Michigan		587
6—Georgia Tech		490
7—Duke (3)		485
8—Baylor		397
9—Illinois		284
10—West Virginia (9)		181

Slonac Named MSC 'Player of the Week'

EAST LANSING (AP) — Fullback Evan Slonac, a lightweight who fought his way from the third string, to a starting position, is the Associated Press selection for Michigan State's "player of the week."

Slonac broke away with the tying touchdown against Texas Christian University last Saturday, booted the extra point to put the Spartans in the lead, then intercepted a pass to make the final 26-19 score possible.

Hoosier Squad Dangerous Foe for Spartans

Young Team Beginning to Throw Off Sparks After Ending Slump

By DALE BURGESS

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP) — Indiana university, long a basketball powerhouse, is beginning to throw off sparks on the football field.

It probably still lacks the equipment to upset Michigan State at East Lansing Saturday but it's capable of giving some pretty severe shocks.

As a matter of fact, Bernie Crimmins' young team gave Michigan State fans an unpleasant tingling sensation last year by leading the Spartans 7-6 at the first quarter and trailing only 20-14 at the half.

Michigan State punched over three touchdowns in the second half while holding Indiana scoreless. Crimmins thought it would have been closer if six Indiana players hadn't been expelled in the last six minutes for rough play. Two Spartans also were chased.

Young high school stars began swarming around Crimmins when he left the Notre Dame staff to take over Indiana last year. Full effects of this won't be seen for another season but the Hoosiers have more over-all size this year, the middle of the line is getting tougher, and the squad is getting the old Notre Dame idea that you play to win.

Chief Runners Seek 27th Win

Hope to Extend Best Dual Mark in State Against Indians

Pontiac High's cross country team will seek to extend what is believed to be the state's longest unbeaten dual meet streak this afternoon against winless Flint Central at the Beaudette Park course. Meet is set for 4 p.m.

Coach Wally Schloerke's harriers, who have conquered Highland Park, Wyandotte and Royal Oak this season, will be after their 27th consecutive triumph over a 4-year period.

Running for Pontiac will be Shelley Ford, Alonzo Watson, Felix Brooks, John James, Bill Douglas, Hugh Ambler and Bill Imboden.

Passing Attack Is Wolverines Hope for Future

By JOHN F. MAYHEW

Despite the scare at the hands of Iowa, Wolverine passes clicked enough to make the difference.

Quarterback Lou Baldacci, his thumb now healed, pitched for one touchdown, and third string quarterback Duncan McDonald connected on the other. In addition, several other good passes put Michigan in a threatening position.

Baldacci connected on seven of his 11 tries for an even 100 yards. Halfback Tony Branoff hit on one of two, McDonald on two of three, and fullback Bob Hurley completed both of his attempts.

Only halfback Ted Kress was off the pace. He completed three of nine for 28 yards. Three others were intercepted.

As a team, the record was 15 of 27 for 186 yards and the difference in the nip-and-tuck ball game.

End Bob Topp proved himself an able receiver, gathered in seven passes for 111 yards and one touchdown. End Gene Knutson snared three for 26 yards and the other touchdown.

Michigan was particularly effective with short over the line passes that threw Iowa off balance, gained first downs and aided the running game.

Yesterday, the Michigan squad heard scout reports on Northwestern's 30-13 loss to Minnesota and began to set up defenses against the Wildcats who invade Saturday.

No TV From Lansing on MSC-Hoosier Tilt

EAST LANSING (AP)—There will be no live television of the Michigan State-Indiana football game here Saturday although the game already has been announced as a sellout.

The MSC athletic council has turned down a request from a Lansing television station that the NCAA be petitioned for permission to telecast the game locally.

Alpena's Little Wildcats Posting Impressive Record

ALPENA (UP)—They call this area the home of Paul Bunyan, the fabled giant lumberjack, but you couldn't prove it by the pint-sized line Alpena High has been sending against its big and rugged foes this season.

From end to end, the Wildcats have a weight average of only 168 pounds. And that's with a good beef steak before game time.

When you consider that Alpena has nine Class A opponents on its schedule and the majority of them have forward walls averaging more than 180 pounds, then you'll realize what the Wildcats are up against.

But for some little fellows, Alpena's "seven horsemen" are doing a terrific job. Ask Canadian Soo, Midland and Muskegon.

Alpena whipped Canadian Soo 13-6 with Soo's lone touchdown coming on a pass play. Wildcats blanked Midland 13-0 with the line holding the Chemics to only 34 yards rushing. Titanic Muskegon, which lost only one game in three seasons, crossed Alpena's goal line just once in a 7-7 tie.

Bill Beach, former Bay City Handy assistant who inherited a "hot seat" in taking over from Bob Devaney, now assistant coach at Michigan State College, appears headed for a fine coaching future.

JACKSON (AP)—Jackson Raceway, in the spotlight as the only pari-mutuel track still operating in Michigan, began the second half of its 36-night fall season yesterday.

Racing will continue at the track each night through Oct. 31.

Cal Paper Hits Plan to Give Athletes Jobs

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP)—A plan to make more campus jobs available to University of California athletes was branded today as favoritism by the student newspaper.

The Daily Californians' coed editor, Georgia Wilcox, said in an editorial a proposal to increase the number of jobs available for athletes would make the public think "we're doing it because we have ceased to win athletic championships."

UP Poll Puts Irish Again at Grid Top

NEW YORK (UP)—Even without throwing a single pass or making a buck at the line, Notre Dame widened its lead over explosive Michigan State today in the United Press college football ratings.

While the Irish took a day off from their rigorous schedule last Saturday, Michigan State was involved in a tough struggle with Texas Christian, being forced to put on a three-touchdown last period rally before winning, 26-19. Triumph was the Spartans' 27th in a row.

Scribe Asked to Pay Tribute to Honus Wagner, All-Time Great Who Played Many Positions Well

By GRANTLAND RICE

NEW YORK—"I see where you were writing about Phil Rizzuto and Pee Wee Reese, two fine shortstops," writes Cliff Clay from Atlanta. "Before it's too late, since he's getting along, won't you pull a few flowers for the living. I mean say something more about Hans Wagner, the most amazing of them all.

"He is the greatest player who ever lived. He was a one-man team, which his fellow players knew. He was shortstop and assistant second baseman. He was assistant third baseman and assistant left-fielder.

* * *

"Wagner could play eight of the nine positions brilliantly. He was a great hitter and a great base-runner. If he had batted against the modern ball, his home-run record would have been close to Babe Ruth's, and he would have brained a lot of infielders.

"Ty Cobb was a great place hitter. Wagner was a place hitter and also a big power man. He stole 55 and 60 bases a year and yet he weighed over 200 pounds."

When you get to all-around value, Old Honus heads the pack. Cobb was a great outfielder, a great hitter and a great base-runner. Babe Ruth was a fine pitcher, a fine outfielder and the greatest of all the power hitters.

But Wagner—well Honus could go around the wheel. He was a star outfielder in his younger days. He was a shortstop who covered most of the diamond. He was a first-class catcher. He pitched a few games, and he had a rifle arm.

It was something to see him run bases. He was one of the best. Wagner was not only fast, but he also had the knack of getting in between the umpire and the baseman, covering up many a lost play.

Wagner led his league in batting seven times. He was a power hitter supreme with a dead ball. He had tremendous power. I saw him play when he was 43 years old, in his 21st season. He was still on top of the job, playing well.

'Horse and Buggy Football?'

One-Platoon Game Has Ruined 'Experts'; Orioles Stymied in Try to Land Veeck

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP)—The most heart-rending figure in the land as the cold winter days approach is the football expert. He has a faraway look in his eyes—that of a man who has seen his life work disrupted and plumb ruined by a willful little group of rule changers.

The unfairness of it all is what rankles. When they slugged the two-platoon system and went back to what one prominent coach called "horse and buggy football," practically everybody even remotely connected with the game was polled on the probable effect of the change. Coaches, educators and even players were asked their opinions.

But did anyone consult the man whose career was to be jeopardized? If so, it escaped notice.

The new Baltimore Orioles aren't worried about their first season in the American League. They expect to sell around $500,000 worth of tickets by opening day. But they realize they will face trouble the second year unless they have a greatly improved club, plus some color, and that was why they made their unsuccessful bid for Frank Lane, whose lavish trading pulled the Chicago White Sox out of the doldrums.

Actually, some of the members of the Baltimore group would have favored bringing Bill Veeck along with his St. Louis Browns franchise, at least for a season or two, because they realize they need such a go-getter and showman to tide them over during the rebuilding process. They know that the attendance record Veeck set at Cleveland in 1948 still stands.

"But we can't sign him," one of them said, "because the group of owners who hate him got it down in writing that we couldn't before they agreed to let us have the franchise."

Majors Battle for Future in U. S. Court

Defensive Backs Are Foremost MSC Problem

TCU Took Advantage of Lack of Height in Spartan Secondary

By ROBERT E. VOGES

EAST LANSING (AP)—Texas Christian coach Abe Martin put his finger on one item that worries Michigan State coaches after his squad nearly upset the Spartans last weekend.

"If Michigan State has any weakness, Martin said, "its in the defensive backfield.

Texas had the speed to race downfield on equal terms with Michigan State defenders. And the Texans had the height to outjump the smaller MSC "pony backs" for passes—an advantage that paid off with touchdowns for the Horned Frogs.

Scouts from the six other teams to play Michigan State this fall are sure to advise an attempt to exploit that lack of height in the "pony backfield.

There may be some reshuffling of the "pony backs" in the next few games as coaches try some experiments.

One thing to watch for will be a pairing of some of the taller defensive specialists with the fast "ponies in an effort to reinforce the first team speed and hitting power with some height on the defense.

Regulars who worked most of the afternoon against Texas Christian were excused from all but the lightest drills Monday and also were expected to take it easy today.

"It was a rough game from the physical standpoint, said Dr. James F. Feurig, team physician.

"Those Texans were rugged six-footers and they were hitting hard and high.

Refs Plan to Ignore Minor Cage Fouls

ST. LOUIS (AP) — A decision by basketball officials to turn their backs on minor fouls yesterday was termed "the greatest shot in the arm iintercollegiate basketball has received since the elimination of the center jump."

That was the way E. L. Romney, commissioner of the Mountain States Conference, felt about the officials action at their annual two-day basketball clinic here.

The National Association of Collegiate Commissioners approved the bypassing of "fringe fouls and borderline violations in the back court" that have little effect on the "continuity of play" during the 1953-54 season.

Young Jockeys Respectful of Veteran 'Handy Guy' as He Makes Comeback

By JOHN CHANDLER

NEW YORK (AP) — It was in the jockey's room at Belmont Park, where television and newsreel cameras were being set up. Wires were laying all over the floor, a dozen men were shouting orders and klieg lights brightened up one corner where a little man in blue riding silks was being coached for a scene.

This was Earl Sande, the great little saddle demon of the Golden Twenties, who at the age of 54 is trying a comeback.

"I've got to leave this cap on," he said with a grin. "The hair on top is kind of thin now," and he pulled the cap down around greying temples.

"I just ran out of eating money," he said. "That's why I've got to make good again."

The other jockeys were suddenly quiet. Here was Sande, "the handy guy" who was bootin' them home before most of them were born.

Eddie Arcaro and Ted Atkinson, who were both two years old when Sande rode his first winner in 1918, came over and congratulated him.

"I took off about 25 pounds—the hard way," Sande said. "I wouldn't advise anyone else to do it that way—not eating, worrying, wondering if I could keep my strength to ride and try and earn some money."

This was the Earl, who had known Cadillac limousines, with chauffeurs—down but far from out. Most of his money went down the drain in business reverses and other things he didn't want to talk about.

It is appropriate that the name of the first horse he rode on his comeback at Belmont was "Honest Bread."

He finished third and Sande got the regular $25. He was riding for the first time since 1932.

Sande won the Kentucky Derby three times, the Belmont Stakes five times. He rode Gallant Fox in 1930 and won the Triple Crown, Derby, Preakness and Belmont.

He is still the same lanky, but wiry, pale - faced jockey, some freckles still showing. He is back doing what he always wanted —to ride.

"I haven't had so much fun in a long, long time," he said, dunking his skinny frame into the shower.

Trade May Prevent Young Playing in His Hometown

By MILTON RICHMAN

BALTIMORE (UP) — Second baseman Bobby Young of the "new" Baltimore Orioles admits he's "the happiest big leaguer alive" today but any minute, he may be the saddest.

Young, a native and resident of Baltimore, elatedly did a cartwheel when the St. Louis Browns transferred their franchise to his home earlier this month. He was the only Brownie player from Baltimore.

But now that he is "home" after anxious months of hoping and waiting, both the Detroit Tigers and Chicago White Sox are eager to acquire him.

"Just my luck," moaned the slender infielder. "I kept rooting for the Browns to move to Baltimore and now that they finally have, I probably will get moved somewhere else."

Detroit would turn over a tidy bundle to Baltimore in exchange for Young, a consistent if not spectacular performer who has even won the acclaim of Casey Stengel.

The Tigers have been plagued with second base problems since Jerry Priddy broke his leg in a sliding accident, July 1951. They tried several men at that spot last season but none was particularly impressive. Priddy, himself, was signed as manager of Seattle in the Pacific Coast League last week so Detroit now finds itself without anyone resembling a first string second baseman.

Spike Briggs Quits Post at Bloomfield

Briggs is president of the Detroit (Tigers) Baseball Co. and of the Briggs Commercial Development Corp.

"I haven't got the time to do the job to my satisfaction," Briggs said, although he conceded there has been some rather heated differences on the Bloomfield City Commission.

He was elected to the commission nearly six years ago and has been mayor since April. It is scheduled to act on his resignation today.

Bowling Clinic

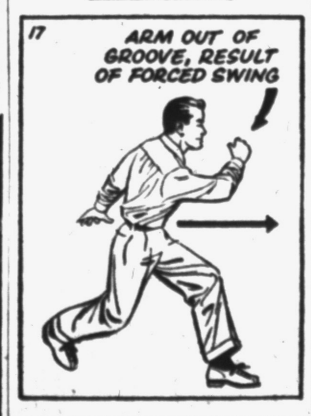
Forcing The Ball — It is at the moment just before ball release that negative things happen: Trying for unnatural speed, quick-lifting for extra hook turn, pulling the arm out of the groove.

In the sketch the groove is lost. Footwork was good, down to the line. But in that flash before the ball release, the arm was pulled to the left, out of kilter. This drives ball high on headpin, or across it.

Concentrate on following through. Reach out. That means direction, control. It means also that the fingers, at release, will apply enough "stuff" to collect big strike dividends. Don't rush the swing — at any time.



Today's Hearing Most Significant in Game History

Ruling Sought as to Whether Sport Is an Illegal Monopoly

WASHINGTON (AP) — Organized baseball goes before the Supreme Court today in what is perhaps the most significant legal contest in the history of the national sport.

The court has been asked to decide whether baseball is an illegal monopoly in restraint of trade. If it decides that it is, the ruling could mean the end of big league baseball as it is now played.

But this is an extreme possibility. Even if the court were to rule against baseball, there are possible outs. Congress, for instance, could pass a special law, or there might evolve a sort of gentleman's agreement among baseball players.

Arguments on three appeals the high court agreed to hear was set down to begin late today, but it was possible that start of the three-hour argument would be deferred until tomorow.

The question whether baseball violates the nation's antitrust laws has been before the Supreme Court before. In 1922 the court decided baseball wasn't a business, and that as a sport it was not subject to federal antitrust laws.

The three appeals now before the high court were filed by minor leaguers George Toolson and Walter Kowalski and a minor league clubowner, Jac Corbett.

All three maintain that the 1922 decision no longer applies. They contend the game has been greatly changed since then by such developments as intricate farm systems and radio and television coverage.

In addition, the appeals maintain, baseball amounts to something resembling slavery since the players are tied to their club owners under the controversial reserve clause, which gives the owners absolute control over baseball activities of the players.

Replying to the suits, organized baseball said in its briefs that the antitrust charges are without basis, that the specific questions raised in the three actions have nothing to do with interstate commerce.

DETROIT (AP)—The football hopes of the San Francisco 49ers were jolted Monday with the announcement that passing star Y. A. Tittle will miss two or three games because of a fractured cheekbone.

West Coast Sees Ameche, Giel, Still Likes Cameron

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Los Angeles football fans have seen two of the nation's finest out-of-state backs in action this fall in Paul Giel of Minnesota and Alan Ameche of Wisconsin.

But with all due respects to the brilliance of both players, critics here are still satisfied with their own All-America candidate, halfback Paul Cameron of UCLA.

Just as last year, when an ankle and shoulder injury kept him sidelined much of the time, Cameron's mere presence at strategic moments has paid off.

And just as an added attraction Cameron not only is a triple threat and safety specialist, he also calls the signals.

Runyon Would Be Proud of Sande's Return

Famous Lines About 'Handy Guy' Are 30 Years Old

By PAT ROBINSON

NEW YORK (INS) — If there is a Valhalla for sports writers, the late Damon Runyon must be looking forth with glowing eyes at the comeback of jockey Earl Sande.

For it was Runyon who immortalized the famous rider and he did so more than once.

It was just 30 years ago that Runyon wrote his story of the famous match race between the Rancocas stable's Zev, winner of the Kentucky Derby, and Papyrus, the great French champion.

Runyon preceded his story of the race with these lines :

Why do you ask who won it?
Zev had Sande up
And Sande can ride for money, or marbles or golden cup.
Stake horse or sellin' plater,
Say, when I want to win-
Gimme a handy
Guy like Sande
Bootin' them babies in.

Seven years later Sande rode Gallant Fox to victory in the Kentucky Derby and Runyon came through with these famous lines:

Say, have they turned the page
Back to the racin' ages
An' a Derby out of the yore?
Say don't tell me I'm daffy
Ain't that the same ol' grin?
Why it's that handy
Guy named Sande
Bootin' a winner in.

We know that Runyon would have turned out another masterpiece had he seen Sande, wrinkled, bald, broke and now 54, making another come-back after 21 years since he last broke away from the gate.

Yes, it's the same old handy
Bald-headed guy named Sande
Bootin' a winner in.

Handball Champ Dies

DETROIT (AP)—Joseph S. Bathey, 54, a former U. S. Handball champion, died of a heart ailment at his home last night. He suffered a stroke three weeks ago.

Bathey operated a night club here. He and Herman Dworman won the AAU handball doubles championship in a spectacular tournament at Minneapolis in the early 1930s when they shared honors with the great Al Banuet, singles champion.

Wings Leading Point Parade

Howe, Reibel Setting Early Pace in Scoring Derby

MONTREAL (AP) — With barely a week of the National Hockey League season in the books, the loop's list of point-getters read like a whose who in Detroit today.

Red Wings hold down the first four places in the scoring parade in the league's first official compilation of the season — and of course, Gordie Howe is at the top of the list.

He has scored two goals and four assists for six points. Earl (Dutch) Reibel, flashy rookie also has six points, all tallied on assists.

Ted Lindsay and Red Kelly both have four, to round out the Detroit delegation.

U. S. Families Leave Trieste

First Boatload Sails, Signifying Resolve to Carry Out Withdrawal

TRIESTE (AP)—The United States shipped homeward today the first boatload of wives and children of the troops America says it is going to withdraw from disputed Trieste.

Several hundred Trieste citizens and American soldiers waved farewell as the 250 dependents sailed on the U. S. troopship Geiger.

Their departure underlined apparent British-American determination to go through with the announced plan to turn Trieste's zone A over to Italy despite threats by Yugoslav President Tito to march his own forces into the zone if the Italians come in.

Trieste port, although tense over reports of Yugoslav troops gathering near the border, went about business as usual. The only excitement was a small parade of schoolboys who marched along the streets yesterday, shouting "Viva Trieste."

Most residents showed little concern over reports that Yugoslavia has moved several warships up the Adriatic. A U. S. Navy officer here termed the reports "interesting but not alarming."

A mass rally has been scheduled for tomorrow afternoon by six minor parties favoring independence for the territory. The same parties, including the pro-Tito Italian-Slovene Popular Front, cabled the U. N. Security Council last week protesting the Anglo-American decision.

Red Skelton Happy With Return to TV

By BOB THOMAS

Freed from his movie contract after 14 years and pleased with his new TV show, the rollicking redhead presents a different picture from last season. Then he was battling with his studio, unhappy with his program and fighting poor health.

"I ruined my health to make a lot of money," he explained, "then I had to spend all the money to get my health back."

When I saw him at rehearsal he looked in the pink. He had added a few pounds — he's happier that way, and he had the old enthusiasm for his work. He liked the new, easier format that allows him to be himself. He admitted that his last season was a disaster.

"There was nothing wrong with the material," he remarked. "We did the show all right. But it was ruined in the cutting. When the show was five minutes too long, they wouldn't take out a whole number. They'd cut out pieces throughout the show. All the timing was thrown off.

"I tried to argue with them, but they wouldn't listen. So I just did my job. I didn't see any of the shows after the first five. I couldn't bear to look at them."

His wife Georgia explained it this way: "During Red's first season, he was sensational. Everybody agreed that he was tops. But then he was using the material he had gathered in 30 years of show business.

"When you're on top, there's only one direction you can go. That's down. Red wasn't happy with the show last year because it was run by one person. There was no meeting of minds; everything was dictated! It's different now. The writers, producer, director and everybody collaborate with Red to make it the best possible show."

Red admitted that he has tough sledding in the Tuesday night spot opposite Milton Berle, who is one of his best friends, and Bishop Sheen (Look at the writers he's got!")

"I can't get as good a rating because I won't have as many stations at the same time," Red said. "I'm just going to do as good a job as I know how."

For the first time, he'll be able to devote all his time to TV. He recently got out of his contract at MGM, where he had been since 1939.

"I can't get used to it," he remarked. "Every morning I wake up at six o'clock and I get the feeling I should be driving toward the studio."

But he admitted that he was pleased the studio granted his freedom. He was not happy with the last two pictures he made there. One of them "got great reviews but is keeping the theaters empty. When the theaters play the picture, it's a good time for them to fix the hat racks under the seats or install wide screens."

And the other one: "I was paid $150,000 for 17 days work. It was the only time during my picture career that I did the script exactly as it was written. I didn't change a word. I think they're going to shelve the picture."

Red has the option to film 12 of his shows this season. But he doesn't intend to use the time off to make a movie until late next spring. Several deals are in the wind, one for Howard Hughes and another for John Wayne and Robert Fellows. MGM also has the option to use his services again.

Whatever he does, Red intends to enjoy life in the future. He's had enough pressure to last him a lifetime.

Extra 26.5 Million Added to Polio Fund

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis plans an additional polio prevention program costing an estimated 26½ million dollars for 1954.

The foundation said yesterday the program centers around tests of a vaccine and further use of gamma globulin, a blood derivative giving temporary protection against crippling polio.

One third of all funds raised through the annual March of Dimes next January will go to the prevention program, the foundation said. The balance will go for research and emergency aid.

The foundation estimates its 1954 needs at 75 millions, almost 50 per cent more than the quota this year.

Lost Scout Passes Test of Saving Self

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — A Tucson Boy Scout who flunked a simple tracking test today told how he passed the biggest test of all—saving his own life.

Lost in the dangerous Santa Catalina Mountains near here since Sunday, 11 - year - old Augustine Acuna fell back on the lore he had learned in his scout manual. He walked out of the mountains by himself yesterday afternoon while 100 searchers were looking for him.

He had gone into the mountains with his patrol to take a fairly easy tracking test. But he failed while coming down the trail alone. "I checked the location of the sun with my watch as I had been taught to do," he said, "then I knew my directions were right."

He traveled almost 15 miles, all of it on the beam.

LA Doctors Believe Smog Shortens Life

LOS ANGELES (AP)—There is evidence that smog is shortening the lives of people in Los Angeles, says the smog committee chairman of the Los Angeles County Medical Assn.

"No one can say this positively, but we suspect—we have reason to believe this," Dr. Francis M. Pottinger Jr. told the Pure Air Committee yesterday.

He praised Dr. John Barrow, a past president of the association, who recently listed smog as one of the cause of a patient's death. "Other doctors haven't had the intestinal fortitude to do so, although they believed smog was responsible to some degree," he said.

Hold to Decision on Peace Parley

U. N. Message to Reds Shows Nations Firm on Barring Neutrals

By JOHN SCALI

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States and its 16 Korean War partners stood firm today in a decision to bar neutral nations from the proposed Korean peace conference.

A formal message on behalf of the United Nation side, sent to Communist China and North Korea, offered to send an American representative to Panmunjom Oct. 26 to discuss the peace parley with Red officials.

The note stressed, however, that the U. N. representative would be prepared to discuss only "a time and place" for the peace conference along with "procedural, administrative, and related questions as to arrangements."

The new Communist demand that the membership of the projected peace parley also be thrashed out anew at Panmunjom was rejected by the U. N. Allies.

The American representative, special State Department consultant Arthur Dean, was instructed to discuss this Communist demand "to the extent consistent" with a U. N. General Assembly resolution which limits participation to the nations which contributed to fighting forces.

In new notes over the weekend, Red China and North Korea had insisted anew that India, Indonesia, Burma, Pakistan and Russia be permitted to attend the peace talks as "neutrals." The U. N. took the position Russia could attend only if invited by Red China and North Korea.

The Communists were reminded in the newest United Nations message that Red China insisted during the Korean armistice talks that "participation be limited to the governments concerned on both sides."

"It is not correct, therefore," the message continued, "to say that your side held all along that neutral nations should participate in the conference."

A dispatch from London, meanwhile, quoted diplomatic officials as saying Britain is prodding the United States to assure Red China that the makeup of the proposed peace conference will be broadened, and that there is hope Washington will accept the idea.

Hunter Bares Story of Woman and the Bear

A woman walked up to him yesterday in the woods, he said, and asked:

"My husband's trying to hunt bear, but there aren't any around here, are there?"

Suddenly a piece of redwood bark fell to the ground. Lloyd looked up and fired. A 250-pound black bear tumbled out of the tree and dropped at the woman's feet.

Grains Advance in Early Trading

CHICAGO (AP)—A burst of buying at the start sent all grains except corn higher on the board of trade today. The market held most of its gains in subsequent trading.

Soybeans set the pace for the upturn, running ahead more than 3 cents in the first response to last Friday's government crop report. Wheat also attracted aggressive buying, the July contract going to a new seasonal high as dry weather continued in the southwest.

Wheat near the end of the first hour was ¼ to 1 cent higher, December 1.92⅝; corn was unchanged to ⅝ lower, December 1.43⅜, and oats were ⅛ lower to ⅛ higher, December 75. Soybeans were 2⅜ to 3 cents higher, November 2.67, and lard was unchanged to 22 cents a hundred pounds higher, October 16.77.

Big 3 May OK 5-Power Parley

But Expected to Insist on Korean Settlement Beforehand

LONDON (AP) —Diplomatic officials said today the Big Three Western Allies will not turn down the recent Soviet proposal for a five-power conference, including Communist China. They will insist, however, that a Korean settlement be reached before such a meeting is held.

Outlining reported details of the Western reply to Russia's Sept. 29 note, these sources said it would propose a meeting of the Big Four foreign ministers at Lugano, Switzerland, about Nov. 9 to discuss the German and Austrian problems.

The reply, now being drafted here by representatives of Britain, France and the United States, is expected to be sent to Moscow later this week. Prime Minister Churchill and his cabinet met today to approve its terms.

The Sept. 29 Russian note suggested two conferences:

1. A Big Three meeting of the United States, Britain, France, Communist China and the Soviet Union to discuss "lessening of tensions in international relations."

2. A Big Four parley of the three Western powers and Russia on the German problem.

The Western note, sources here said, will insist that the Austrian treaty as well as Germany be discussed at the proposed Lugano conference. The Russians had said they were ready to carry on discussions on Austria "through regular diplomatic channels.

The Soviet proposals were in reply to a previous Western note suggesting a foreign minister' meeting on Germany and Austria to be held at Lugano Oct. 15.

Market Slides to Lower Range

Business was brisk in the first hour and then slackened a bit. A pace of a million shares or better for the day was maintained. Friday's total came to 900,000 shares.

Railroads were mostly lower as were the building materials. Aircrafts were higher in early trading then later slipped from their best with many going over to the losing side of the ledger.

Motors were unchanged to lower in early trading and then moved ahead. The rest of the market was steady to mixed with a lower tendency apparent in significant areas.

Collection Regulations on New State Levy Set for Final OKs

LANSING (UP)—The State Revenue Department prepared today to submit rules for collection of Michigan's new business activities tax to the attorney general and governor for approval following a public hearing.

Clarence Lock, deputy revenue commissioner, said he expected the new regulations to become effective as part of the state administrative code within 10 days.

Rules governing collection of the new tax, expected to produce $35,000,000 annually in added state revenue, were aired before a packed Senate chamber Monday but only minor clarifying changes in the proposed regulations were urged.

Lock conceded that some phases of the new levy may come under court attack and suggested that taxpayers who have legal doubts over the tax may specify that payment is made under protest. He said, however, that the statute already provides for refunds if necessary and he did not believe written protests are required.

The new law applies a $4 per $1,000 tax on adjusted receipts of most state business, including the professions and self-employed. Each taxpayer will be exempt from tax on the first $20,000 of his adjusted receipts.

Mull Utilities' Tax Benefits

Building Deductions to Be Considered by Power Commission

WASHINGTON (AP)—The question of whether certain tax benefits—estimated all the way from nothing to nearly three billion dollars—should be passed along to electric and gas utility customers comes before the Power Commission again Friday.

Involved is the accelerated tax amortization program under which companies are permitted, for tax purposes, to write off in five years the cost of new construction or expansion if the project is judged to be necessary to the nation's defense.

Consumer groups claim the write-offs result in huge savings to the companies that should be passed on to customers in the form of rate cuts. Utilities, however, maintain the allowances result in no savings. The companies claim some of their tax payments are merely put off to a later date and, in the long run, they pay a normal amount of taxes.

This larger controversy won't be up for discussion Friday—but it certainly will be overshadowing the oral arguments that are scheduled.

The commission has limited Friday's arguments solely to accounting system revisions it has proposed to reflect the tax benefits by companies under its jurisdiction.

The revisions, proposed after similar arguments last spring, would require the showing of actual taxes paid. A commission staff spokesman said this would result in an accurate picture being presented in the financial statement.

Would the commission in the future treat such tax benefits as increased earnings and perhaps order rate reductions?

Kaiser to Resume Henry-J Production

DETROIT (UP) — Production of Henry-J cars will be resumed at Willow Run Oct. 26, Kaiser Motors Corp. announced Monday after an amended contract was signed with Local 142 of the CIO United Auto Workers Union.

Company President Edgar Kaiser said his firm, which leased part of the plant to General Motors Corp. for transmission production, did not yet know how many employes would be recalled.

Auto production at the huge plant was halted while Kaiser and the UAW negotiated a "more competitive" contract. The Air Force had blamed union "abuses" for cancelling the firm's cargo plane contracts last June.

Bob Considine Says:

Full Names of Criminals Sound Pretty Improbable

NEW YORK (INS)—I know it is for purposes of exact identification, but the police practice of giving criminals their full names makes them all sound pretty improbably . . . like old-time non-playing captains of the Davis Cup team.

It seems highly unlikely that Mrs Hauptmann ever inquired of her bleak mate, "How you want your schnitzel fried tonight, Bruno Richard?"

Or that the teacher of a little monster named Hall ever snapped, "You, Carl Austin, you, you go stand in a corner."

Or that a child named Thomas John Marsh ever was called "Thomas John." But that's how they are known on police blotters.

When a crime as shocking as the kidnapping and murder of Bobby Greenlease is laid before the horrified gaze of the nation, and the criminals are behind bars, one's mind instinctively searches for the reason behind the act.

And one studies the faces of the guilty, glum and seemingly bruised after being worked over by police, and tries to recreate the expressions that animated those bovine countenances before, during and immediately after the crime.

One is inclined to think, too, of names. In almost every crime there is fuel in names for those who hate in general terms.

A crime by a man of color or racial or religious or even political persuasion will convince many that it is simply an expression of all the evil he sees, or pretends to see, in that group whence sprang the criminal.

The murderers of Bobby Greenlease were named for people. Beloved people, or people of influence.

The parents of the murders must have said, as parents have said since the birth of time, I'll give this child a fine name, the name of a man or woman who has meant much to me, or the name of a great man or woman of our acquaintance, or the name of a great man or woman of our times or times past.

And so those names come out, like soiled pennants in a breeze, when crime is committed. Names the criminals themselves probably do not remember, having long since disgraced. Names that, like misfired vaccinations, did not take. Did not yield.

The only pretty cabinet officer the nation has ever had, Oveta Culp Hobby, becomes an honorary citizen of another republic tomorrow. So does Gov. Tom Dewey and Henry Ford II. But they are not giving up citizenship in the You Ess Hey.

They will be made citizens of the George Junior Republic at a dinner at the Waldorf-Astoria. The George Junior Republic is an upper New York state school where the 120 coed citizens (ranging from 13 to 19) live with adult responsibility in a republic.

They are paid for what they accomplish in school, in the currency of the realm, and must in turn pay for their room and board.

The smartest kid in school cannot quite make ends meet with the money received from school. So he must work after school. Or run for president, chief of police or dogcatcher. Matter of fact, if he does not work he's picked up as a vagrant and put in the clink, but he can hire a kid lawyer to get him out, maybe.

The three distinguished Americans are being honored by the world's smallest republic for "activities which have done most to preserve our democratic way of life for the youth of our country.

The 17-year old president of George Junior Republic, Gerry Morrison, elected last Nov. 4 (he received a message of congratulations from Ike) on a platform of better government and lower taxes, will present the certificates of citizenship.

The girl who wrote the essay which caused a board to designate Ford as a recipient of citizenship will be at the dinner. It will be her first trip to New York City. Her name is Joy Crow, a full-blooded Indian and, until recently, hardly eligible to live in either republic concerned — because her folks were here first.

Waterford OKs Icebox Law

New Ordinance Goes Into Effect on Nov. 14 in Township

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP — Waterford Township Board Saturday adopted an ordinance prohibiting the abandonment of ice boxes, deep freezes in the township.

The ordinance will go into effect Nov. 14, according to Supervisor Lloyd Anderson.

The law, drawn up by John Bell, attorney for the township, calls for a $100 fine or 90 days in jail or both.

A similar ordinance will be considered at an Oct. 20 meeting of Independence Township Board. Pontiac is also scheduled to act on a similar measure in the near future.

If ice boxes are abandoned, the law stipulates that doors and lids must be ripped of.

Since the first of the year, 14 children have died while playing in abandoned ice boxes in the United States.

State Police Continue Hunt for Convicts Who Abducted 3 in Escape

TRAVERSE CITY (UP) — State Police Detective Clarence Bloomquist said today he would ask for kidnap warrants against two convicts who abducted three persons after escaping a temporary prison camp near Traverse City.

The two men, still sought today in western Michigan, are George Alband, 45, and Dennis Ockerman, 35, who fled from a trusty detail at Hickory Hills Sunday and forced three persons, including a boy, to drive with them to Grand Rapids. Alband and Ockerman were serving long burglary terms.

Claude F. Snow, 61, his stepson, Kenneth Day, 15, and Harold Bowman, 29, were abducted by the escapees at the point of a gun which later was found in the rear seat of the Snow car and found to be a toy pistol.

The kidnaped trio was abandoned along with the Snow car by the two escapees in Grand Rapids late Sunday.

Snow and the two others were kidnaped at Traverse City. Alband is from Macomb County and Ockerman from Kalamazoo.

They were members of a detail of convicts moved to Hickory Hills from Camp La Victorie near Interlochen.

A temporary injunction was issued by Circuit Judge Charles Brown at Traverse City restraining the state from developing the camp because of its nearness to the National Music Camp at Interlochen, and Gov. Williams announced that the plan to develop the camp as a permanent site for convict labor has been abandoned.

Man Held Over 3 Years Behind Bars Without Trial

LOS ANGELES (UP)—John M. Higgins, 45, was free on bond today after spending three and a half years behind bars without ever facing trial on a charge that carried a maximum penalty of only one year.

Higgins, a civil engineer before his strange prison life began, posted $250 bond Monday.

He was calm after his long battle, but told newsmen "sometimes it appeared hopeless."

On March 8, 1950, Higgins was indicted by a federal grand jury on charges of sending "defamatory and scurrilous" messages through the mails to U. S. Judge Pierson M. Hall.

Hall had awarded Higgins' wife a divorce with alimony 10 years before. Higgins was also accused of sending postcards to lawyers involved in the case.

He was arrested in Kansas City, Mo., and returned here for the trial that never came.

U. S. Judge David Ling found him insane and committed him to a mental hospital in Kentucky.

Higgins then filed for a writ of habeas corpus and was adjudged sane by a federal judge in Kansas City and returned here again in 1951.

But, once again, Higgins was ruled insane, this time by U. S. Judge Harry C. Westover, who committed him to county jail temporarily.

Higgins appealed to the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals. He remained in jail while the court took his case under advisement.

Three months ago, the court reversed Westover's ruling and said the government had no right to hold a person indefinitely on an insanity charge. It appointed attorney Morris Lavine to represent Higgins and Lavine immediately challenged the government's right to hold his client.

It was Westover who ordered Higgins freed on bond.

Livermore is charged with armed robbery according to police. They said $80 and an automatic pistol were in his possession when arrested at his home.

Police Escorting Dockmen to Jobs

New AFL Union Crews Trucked to Work on Brooklyn Piers

NEW YORK (UP) — Longshoremen sped to work today on the Brooklyn waterfront in closed trucks as 1,000 policemen patrolled the area to thwart any renewal of the violence which flared twice yesterday.

Members of the AFL Dockworkers Union, which is battling the old International Longshoremen's Association for control of New York pier work, held the morning hiring shapeup at union headquarters, several blocks from the waterfront. Then they were transported by van to their stevedoring chores.

A number of members of the old ILA, headed in Brooklyn by Anthony (Tough Tony) Anastasia, were in the dockfront area, police said, but made no effort to halt the trucks.

Police were out in force also today along the North River piers of Manhattan but reported all quiet during the morning hiring sessions. Later in the day hiring sessions are held for afternoon work on piers.

Helicopter Service Planned by Detroit

DETROIT (UP) — A helicopter ferrying service from Willow Run Airport to Detroit may soon be started.

Detroit Councilman Eugene I. VanAntwerp asked the Detroit Aviation Commission Monday to tell the council about any progress on getting the service.

Detroit Police also are considering use of helicopters.

Police Commissioner Donald Leonard said the police will test a helicopter for directing traffic for three days next week. Leonard said the craft will be loaned to Detroit by the Bell Aircraft Corp.

Practiced Engineering Without a License

Irving Rubin of 2900 W. Middlebelt Rd., West Bloomfield Township, pleaded guilty Monday before Oakland County Circuit Judge Frank L. Doty to practicing professional engineering without a license.

A complaint against Rubin was signed by Richard Van Praag, member of the State Board of Registration for Professional Engineering, last March 24.

The complaint stated Rubin designed a warehouse and office building for Horn Dixon Supply Co. of 51 N. Park St. Sentence will be passed Nov. 13.

Contact Mitchell on T-H Changes

Labor Head Urged to Let Senate, House Units Work Out Revisions

WASHINGTON (UP)—Secretary of Labor Mitchell is under pressure from some Republican senators to refrain from recommending any specific Taft-Hartley revision program either to President Eisenhower or to Congress next January.

Mitchell was named to the cabinet post last week, following the resignation of Martin P. Durkin in a bitter dispute with the White House over Taft-Hartley revision.

Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R-NJ), chairman of the Senate Labor Committee and a leader in an attempt by some Senate Republicans to reduce the political temperature of the controversial Taft-Hartley issue, conferred with Mitchell for the first time yesterday.

Smith said he told the 52-year-old New Yorker there was no need for Eisenhower to ask Congress for detailed changes in the act.

He sought to convince Mitchell, he said in an interview, that specific changes in the law should be worked out by the House and Senate Labor Committees and that the administration should confine itself, in any message on the subject, to general principles.

Smith also disclosed he had turned over to Sen. Ives (R-NY) the task of preparing proposals for amendments to the law. Ives will become chairman of the subcommittee on labor-management relations, a job formerly held by the late Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio.

Ives is known to be studying a plan which would give equal representation on the subcommittee to Democrats and Republicans. The idea would be to minimize politics in the actual preparation of labor legislation.

New School Teachers Guests of Mothers Club

WATERFORD—New teachers at the Waterford Village School were guests when the Mothers Club met last week at the Community Activities Building.

Mrs. John Brown conducted the business meeting. Mrs. Leonard Schwab was named co-chairman of the program committee to replace Mrs. Harold Barger.

In other business, the unit voted to have afternoon teas instead of potluck dinners as has been the practice.

Cancer Society Elects Grand Rapids Man Head

Displaced Pole Goes From $1.67 to Millions

CHICAGO (UP) — Leon Jolson, a Polish displaced person who came to this country with $1.67 in 1947, yesterday was presented the Chicago Sales Executive Club's first annual award for an outstanding sales executive.

Jolson, 39, is president of the Necchi Sewing Machine Sales Corporation of New York. Jolson borrowed $2,000 to found the business which last year grossed more than 20 million dollars.

AF Takes Low Bid on C123s

Fairchild Gets Contract on Assault - Transport Planes

WASHINGTON (UP) — The Air Force has accepted a bid from Fairchild Airplane and Engine Corp. of Hagerstown, Md., to build an undisclosed number of C123 planes.

No bid was entered by Willys Motors, operators of the Willow Run plant in Michigan as successor to Kaiser Motors, the secretary of air office said.

The C123 is an assault-transport plane. Last June the Air Force canceled a C123 contract with Kaiser on grounds that costs of production exceeded estimates.

Kaiser was held to have come off second best in a comparison of production costs with Fairchild.

Fairchild's ne wcontract provides for Fairchild's use of tooling and materials obtained by Kaiser. These are now in storage. It provides also that the price can be revised only downward because of Fairchild's use of Kaiser supplies.

Fairchild's bid was reported 10 per cent under the next lowest bid. Other bidders were Consolidated-Vultee, Glenn L. Martin, Lockheed, and North American.

Pontiac Police asked the FBI Monday to join in the hunt for a former Detroit man charged with the slaying of a Clarkston factory worker Jan. 7 in Pontiac.

Capt. Clark M. Wheaton, chief of detectives, said information that the fugitive, James Woods, 25, whose last known address was 2709 Deacon St., had fled the state has been turned over to the Detroit FBI office.

Woods is charged with the first degree murder of Arthur Moran, 21, of 4675 First St., who was stabbed to death in a factory parking lot here.

Detroit News Director, Edgar B. Whitcomb, Dies

DETROIT (UP)—Edgar B. Whitcomb, 87, a director and trustee of the Detroit News died last night at his Grosse Pointe Farms home.

Whitcomb had been suffering from a lingering illness. His condition became critical several days ago.

Prominent in Detroit civic affairs, Whitcomb was the donor of numerous exhibits to the Detroit Institute of Arts. He served as a member of the institute's Board of art commissioners for many years.

DAFFY DEFINITIONS

KICK FORMATION: A group of attractive young ladies wearing fluffy unmentionables lined up to do a can-can dance . . . a play designed to protect a football player who kicks the ball from getting his leg wrapped around his neck in the process . . . something we never hear of at OLIVER'S because we never get any "kicks" from our satisfied customers.
