Magician, Singer Top Fund Show

Vocalist Fred Kendall and magician Miss Paddy Beach will help kick off this year's tenth anniversary Pontiac Area United Fund Drive Monday evening.

The pair will headline the gala kick-off show to be held at Pontiac Central High auditorium.

MISS PADDY BEACH

Kendall is best known to Pontiac area residents for his appearances on the Bud Guest show on WJR.

Miss Beach is billed as the world's greatest female magician and creator of comedy. Her acts of magic reach a high point in comedy when she selects members of the audience as impromptu assistants.

Warner Ruhl's 10-piece orchestra, and his vocalist Patti Brown will accompany the two headliners. Ruhl's orchestra was featured at this year's Michigan State Fair.

The Kick Off Show, sponsored by Community National Bank as a public service, is expected to attract a capacity crowd of close to 1,000 to the high school auditorium. Tickets are limited to volunteer U.F. campaign workers, and are being distributed at this week's training sessions.

Kierdorf on Trial for Possession of Gun Silencer

Uncle of 'Torch' Victim Will Seek Dismissal From Judge Adams

Herman Kierdorf, ex-aid of Teamster boss James R. Hoffa, today faced trial before Circuit Judge Clark J. Adams on a charge of possessing a pistol silencer.

Beginning of the trial was delayed for a while this morning as authorities waited for another hearing to conclude in Judge Adams' courtroom. The Kierdorf case was next.

Herman Kierdorf, 67, is the uncle of Frank Kierdorf, the Flint Teamster business agent whose death this summer resulted in a request for grand jury action in Oakland County.

Both Kierdorfs were unwilling witnesses before the Senate Rackets Committee in Washington. Both had served time in prison after felony convictions.

While the silencer apparently had no connection with Frank, it came to light Aug. 4, the day Frank staggered into St. Joseph Mercy Hospital with burns covering most of his body. He died four days later, and the burns have never been satisfactorily explained.

Authorities say that after Frank's identity became known, Madison Heights Police Chief Robert C. Richardson went to Herman Kierdorf's home. According to Richardson, Herman wasn't home but a neighbor girl, Judy Tyler, 15, was home next door.

He said the girl handed him a briefcase and a paper bag, saying Herman had given them to her "for safekeeping." In the briefcase, Richardson said, were the silencer—described as a homemade affair—contrived out of ordinary plumber's pipe—a German pistol which authorities say fits the silencer, and some dynamite caps. In the bag, Richardson said, was a .38 caliber pistol and two telephone receivers.

Judy told Richardson that Herman had brought the bag to her house that morning and the briefcase early in July, just before (Continued on Page 12, Col. 1)

Today Mamie Christens First Commercial Jet

From Our Wire Services

WASHINGTON — Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower will christen today the nation's first commercial jet transport, the Pan American World Airways clipper America, in colorful pre-inaugural flight ceremonies at Washington National Airport.

The first lady will smash a bottle of water, collected from the seven seas, across the nose of Pan Am's giant Boeing 707-121 jet shortly after 4 p.m.

Three hours later the America will leave Baltimore's Friendship International Airport for a flight to the Brussels World's Fair that will open the jet age under the American flag. About 50 government officials and press executives will be aboard.

The airline's first commercial jet flight with paying passengers is scheduled for Oct. 26 when daily service between New York, Paris and Rome will be inaugurated.

Jet clippers will start serving London on a daily basis Nov. 16 and jets will be assigned to other PAA routes at later dates.

Juan T. Trippe, president of Pan American since 1947, will preside at the ceremonies which will mark the first christening of a PAA clipper by a member of the White House family since Margaret Truman christened the Boeing 377 double-deck Stratocruiser in 1949.

The America will be flown to Baltimore for a reception by Mayor Thomas D'Alessandro and to pick up the inaugural flight party there for a 7 p.m. takeoff for more ceremonies in Brussels. It will return to the United States Oct. 19.

The 575-mile-per-hour Boeing 707-121 jets will fly from New York to Paris in seven hours, to Rome in eight hours and 50 minutes, and to London in six and a half hours at no increase in current Pan American fares. They will have two classes, economy and deluxe. The round trip fares to Paris will be $489.60 and $909. to Rome $391.50 and $1,041.50, and to London $453.60 and $873.

The Commerce Department reported that the income total in September reached an annual rate of 375½ billion dollars — up 1½ billions from August and up about 11 billions from the recession low last February.

It was the seventh straight month in which personal income had risen and the third straight month in which it set a new mark.

The figures given out by the Commerce Department were adjusted for seasonal factors.

Glittering Array of New Cars GM Prepares Presented in GM's Motorama to Move Cars

Clamps Down on Police Chief

Pontiac Safety Director Orders Straley to Stop Hitting PAS Report

Police Chief Herbert W. Straley was ordered yesterday to refrain from any further attacks on the Public Administration Service report on the police department.

In a memorandum to Straley, Public Safety Director George D. Eastman said: "Inasmuch as the PAS report by direction of (City Manager) W. K. Willman has been established as a guide for the reorganization and improvement of the police department, it should not be a subject of controversy in or out of the department."

Straley declared that the PAS report unfairly attacked him and the department, in a speech Monday night before the Washington Park Civic Assn.

He called the report the work of a "28-year-old man with four years' experience out west as a patrolman."

Eastman said he issued his order to Straley after reading reports of the chief's talk. Eastman called Samuel G. Chapman, who prepared the PAS report, an outstanding, professional student of police administration. He said that Chapman had been trained in PAS work before coming to Pontiac.

The six-months PAS study recommended a thorough overhaul and reorganization of the department, which it found "characterized by a lack of pride in service, low esprit de corps and little public prestige."

Breezes Will Ease, Along With Mercury

Partly cloudy and turning a little cooler tonight and Friday is the forecast by the weatherman for the Pontiac area. The low tonight will drop to near 57.

Today's southwesterly winds at 18 miles an hour will decrease to night, becoming northwesterly by morning. The high tomorrow will reach around 78.

The lowest temperature in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. was 58 degrees. The mercury rose to 78 at 2 p.m.

General Motors has disclosed that the entirely new Chevrolet, Cadillac, Buick, Oldsmobile and Pontiac cars represent an investment of more than 500 million dollars for designing and tooling. The Motorama presentation probably cost several million more.

The show, opening today, will continue for a week as an admission-free spectacle. In many respects this year's Motorama represents the bold approach General Motors' top executives have urged to further stimulate a reviving consumer confidence.

They have said substantial confidence assures a substantial increase in car sales in 1959. Most of them agree with other industry forecasters that 5½ million cars will be sold in the U. S. market next year.

If forecasts of GM's division managers are realized, GM will account for more than 55 per cent of that total. The GM total currently is running at about 49 per cent of the industry total.

An invitational preview last night attracted several thousand New York civic, business and society leaders and newsmen from throughout the nation. Packing the main ballroom, they saw huge mechanical arm, lift cars from the platform and swing them forward to the front of the stage, where the cars rotate to present a view from all angles.

Another interest-catching feature was a motion picture showing of GM's Firebird III experimental car in action. The car, upon which GM reportedly expended several hundred thousand dollars, incorporates almost fantastic electronic adaptations. It is powered with a gas turbine engine and is controlled by a single four-inch stick. With the stick it is accelerated, steered and stopped.

There are no brake or accelerator pedals, no steering wheel and few of the conventional motoring accessories.

In addition to the individual showings in the main ballrooms, each of the five car divisions had product showings of their own in adjoining rooms.

Warm and Dry Weather Fare for 30 Days

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Weather Bureau's 30-day forecast from now until mid-November calls for warm, dry weather for most of the nation. The forecast follows:

"Temperatures to average above seasonal normals over most of the nation, except for near to below normal east of the Appalachians, along the Gulf Coast, and also in the Pacific Northwest. There are some indications of a sharp break in the prevailing warm regime, perhaps during the first half of November, but it is too early to specify the nature of the new weather pattern."

"Precipitation is predicted to be subnormal over most areas, except for near to above normal in the western quarter of the country and also along the gulf coast."

GOLDSBORO, N.C. (UPI) — The Catts have moved from Center street—and the Ratts are sorry to see them go. Until the move, Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Ratts and Col. and Mrs. Harold J. Catts (along with nine little Catts) were next-door neighbors here.

Assembly Lines Ready to Start Up as 43 Plants Settle Grievances

DETROIT (U-P) — General Motors' first production of new cars in two weeks neared today in the wake of strike settlements.

With its nationwide employment approaching 100,000, the industry's biggest car maker was preparing to start assembly lines going again.

Two of the plants that settled local issues with the United Auto Workers were the Lansing and Wilmington, Del., car assembly factories, the first such to settle. The two employ a total of 10,000 men.

GM said new settlements brought its work force to 92,600 at 43 of its 126 plants in the nation. The full normal employment of production workers is 275,000.

Local issue strikes have been going on at GM since the Oct. 2 national contract settlement. The UAW has permitted locals to stay out until settlement of their own issues.

Chrysler today sought to settle two Detroit strikes that upset 48 hours of labor peace at that company. About 2,400 workers were involved.

At the same time American Motors and the UAW remained in a contract negotiation for 13,000 workers on the eve of the present agreement's expiration.

Lawyers Waive Oral Arguments, Submit Briefs

By GEORGE T. TRUMBULL JR.

LANSING — The fate of the disputed funds for the Oakland County courthouse was laid in the hands of the Michigan Supreme Court today.

Oral arguments on the appeal of the circuit court decision on the courthouse lawsuit were waived this morning by Charles A. Davis, assistant County corporation counsel, and Glenn C. Gillespie for the Oakland County Taxpayers' League.

The eight jurists of the court accepted the case on the briefs filed by both sides.

Davis and Gillespie agreed just prior to opening the arguments that there were no new points not included in the briefs, and that the oral arguments would waste the court's time.

The case is before the high court on the county's appeal of a decision of visiting Harrisville Circuit Judge Herman C. Dehnke.

Judge Dehnke ruled a year ago that the county had created a $1,392,437 building fund for the courthouse by padding annual budgets and transferring the surpluses so as to accrue this sum.

This, the judge said, was illegal, especially since the county acted after taxpayers twice in 1954 voted against increased taxes to pay off a $4,500,000 courthouse bond issue which voters approved that year.

It was the League's contention, and the judge agreed, that the county was bound to a constitutional limit of raising yearly not more than .1 mill on money borrowed or taxed for building purposes.

The League, an independent group formed expressly to fight the county's building plans, said the county had violated this law.

The county has said that the law does not limit the amount that can be raised for building purposes, if the money is derived from sources other than general property taxes or borrowing.

Woman Killed in Pontiac Crash

Missouri Resident Dies as 4 Vehicles Collide at Cass-Oakland Corner

A University City, Mo., woman was killed yesterday afternoon in a four-vehicle collision at the intersection of Cass and Oakland avenues.

Miss Ethel Lois Funk, 67, died of shock and head injuries at 3:45 p.m. at Pontiac General Hospital.

Injured was Gertrude Shryock, 76, of St. Louis, Mo. She was reported in fair condition this morning at Pontiac General. She suffered multiple lacerations and a fractured leg. She was a passenger in Miss Funk's car.

Witnesses told police that the car the two women rode in ran a red light going south on Oakland and hit one driven by Sharon Lea Dean, 19, of 446 Lowell St., which was moving east on Cass.

It then crossed the center line and ran into a city garbage truck driven by Claude David Seay, 36, of 28 Crawford St. The truck was traveling north on Oakland.

The car driven by Sharon Lea Dean struck broadside an auto driven by James A. Rousseau, 31, of 447 E. Temnyson Ave. He was moving east on Cass.

State WCTU Disagrees

Scores Report on Drinking

BOYNE CITY (U-P) — An Episcopalian report which says moderate social drinking is in full accord with Biblical teaching isn't getting any support from the Michigan Women's Christian Temperance Union.

Mrs. C. W. Van Arsdale of Hillsdale, vice president of Michigan's WCTU, says "We have no sympathy with moderation — we believe in total abstinence."

The report on drinking was delivered this week at the Episcopalian General Convention in Miami Beach, Fla. It was drawn up by a commission on alcoholism headed by Delaware's Bishop J. Brooke Mosley, of Wilmington.

It said in part that "there is no scriptural command requiring total abstinence for the God-fearing man" and cited scriptural references from Genesis to St. Paul's epistles to back up its stand. "I can assure you," Mrs. Van Arsdale said, "that the WCTU very definitely disagrees with its conclusions."

The WCTU opened its 84th annual convention here yesterday.

Bagwell Gains Confidence Williams Roasts GOP

PORT HURON — Confidence swelled today in the camp of Republican Paul D. Bagwell.

The GOP gubernatorial candidate jumped his fast-moving campaign into west Michigan for a day after telling newsman he felt Gov. Williams was "concerned."

"Personally, I believe he's running scared."

A few hours before some 1,400 to 1,500 persons were fed last night at a Bagwell barbecue on the farm of State Rep. Raymond C. Wurtzel (R-Port Huron) and 300 more were turned away.

Two years ago, a Wurtzel barbecue for the late Mayor Albert E. Cobo, then GOP governor nominee, attracted less than 600 at a dollar a throw. Three weeks of hard promotion preceded the Cobo affair.

Bagwell voiced his rising optimism after a reporter noted reports Williams was campaigning 16 to 18 hours a day.

"When he's going around like a whirling dervish, distributing an enormous amount of literature and taken—as I understand—500 billboards, I don't believe he's trying to pile up a margin. I think he's concerned about winning."

More than 100 members of six service clubs who attended a joint luncheon organized by the Lions Club yesterday heard Bagwell likening himself to a doctor diagnosing Michigan government ills.

In reply to criticisms from the Williams camp, he said:

"To be accused of running down Michigan because we Republicans draw attention to one of its critical problems is comparable to blaming a doctor for cancer because he diagnoses the disease."

He said the Williams administration sat idle while factory jobs failed to keep pace with a Michigan population spurt of 1,541,000 between 1949 and 1957.

To maintain the 1949 proportion of factory jobs to population, 240,000 would have to have been added. Only 76,000 actually were, he said.

100-Plus Reading Forecast Again for Los Angeles

By United Press International

Heat! One hundred and one degrees of the stuff yesterday in downtown Los Angeles and 100-plus temperatures predicted for today.

Yesterday's record high came on top of a heat wave which hit Southern California Monday and has been increasing its grip daily. No letup was in sight before the weekend, the U. S. Weather Bureau said.

Fair, summery weather prolonged its stay across most of the nation Thursday with the only major rain area occurring in flood-stricken Texas.

Thousands of persons have been forced to flee their homes on the Texas and Mexican sides of the lower Rio Grande Valley as the rain-swollen river surged above flood stage.

Unseasonably mild overnight readings were reported throughout the Midwest. At midnight, La Crosse, Wis., recorded a balmy 73 degrees while Traverse City and Alpena, Mich., each had 65-degree temperatures.

A cool air invasion in the Northern Plains dropped temperatures to near 40 in Northern Montana.

Forecasters said the cooling trend will extend across the Northern Plains today and into most of the Upper Mississippi Valley.

That's Clock's Figure at 11:08 A.M. U.S. Population 175 Million

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's population reached 175 million at 11:08 a.m. EDT today, by the estimate of the Commerce Department's census clock.

The digits on the speedometer-like counter turned over with a clanking of cogs and plungers before a small crowd attracted by a goodly throng of motion picture and still photographers.

Secretary of Commerce Weeks and Robert W. Burgess, director of the Census Bureau, were on hand for the event.

The clock does not pretend to be exact in its minute-by-minute estimate of population. Census officials believe, however, that it is not more than 24 hours off in either direction.

Results of the last national census in 1950 showed the clock was 70,000 shy of the actual population—151 million—at that time.

The clock's population tally increases by one every 11 seconds. This represents the average net effect on the population of one birth each 7 1/2 seconds, one death each 20 seconds, one immigrant arrival each 1 1/2 minutes and one emigrant departure each 20 minutes.

If the population continues to grow at its present rate, it will reach 200 million some time in 1967. However, some changes doubtless will be made before then in the statistical assumptions on which the clock operates.

It has been two years since these assumptions were revised. Census statisticians speeded up the clock at that time.

Within the next 16 months, the Census Bureau will take six nationwide censuses which will provide new information about population growth. One of these will be the regular decennial census of 1960.

Weeks told the gathering the change in the clock marks a milestone in the nation's progress and the increasing population means more markets and better business.

He said that since the 1950 census the center of population has been moving westward, influenced in part by prospects of the admission of Alaska as a state.

The population center was fixed at Olney, Ill., after the 1950 head count. It will be recalculated again after the 1960 census.

The Day in Birmingham Jury Trial Will Decide Parking Violations Case

BIRMINGHAM — Charged with three parking violations, Fenton R. Mathews of 5900 N. Adams Rd., stood mute yesterday in Birmingham Municipal Court.

A plea of not guilty was entered for him on each count by Judge John J. Emery, who set jury trial dates for Nov. 19, 24 and 26.

Mathews was ticketed Sept. 8 by Birmingham police for over-time parking, leaving keys in the ignition of his automobile and for improper parking.

The defendant was not represented by an attorney.

Monday, Dec. 8, has been set as Birmingham's fifth annual Men's Night when all stores in the city will cater to the man of the house as he does his Christmas shopping.

The retail merchants committee Commerce is completing plans for the event, according to Foster Toothacker, chairman.

Five members of the Birmingham Chamber of Commerce, including Paul Kurth, president, and Charles Mortensen, manager, attended yesterday's meeting of the United States Chamber of Commerce at Ann Arbor.

The meeting was for the education and instruction of directors, chairmen and key personnel in chamber policies and duties, Mortensen said.

Area members of the Detroit Panteleonic Assn. will be hostesses Tuesday at the annual President's Tea at the South boulevard home of Mrs. J. D. Eldon.

Honored will be Mrs. Robert Dodson of Oak Park, who currently heads the association.

The formal affair will take place from 2 to 4 p.m.

Rebekah Lodge 445 of Birmingham will hold a rummage sale tomorrow from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. at 1360 S. Woodward Ave.

Dr. Horace McMullen, president of Aleppo College in Syria, will speak on "Rifts and Reconciliations in the Middle East" at 8 p.m. Saturday at the Congregational Church of Birmingham.

Program chairman Robert Kerley said:

"I think Dr. McMullen will let go and tell us just what is going on in the Middle East. I think, too, he will have something to say on Nasser's proposal that all the Arabic peoples be bound together as one unit."

Workmen Ready Isolation Area for Voting Cardinals

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Funeral masses were celebrated today for Pope Pius XII in St. Peter's Basilica and at a chapel near the pontiff's tomb in the grotto of the great church.

Bricklayers and carpenters built barriers to isolate the Sistine Chapel and adjoining Vatican buildings to be occupied by the College of Cardinals during the conclave to elect his successor.

The workmen were arranging living quarters for the cardinals, who cannot leave the conclave area from the time they enter Oct. 25 until a new Pope is elected.

Pope Pius XII was elected in a day. This time the Vatican is taking no chances, preparing for a prolonged meeting. Vans are moving in beds and kitchens are being set up in Vatican courtyards.

Other workmen in St. Peter's are putting up stands for final weekend funeral services for Pius XII.

In Rome, Italian President Giovanni Gronchi and other government leaders attended a special funeral mass at Santa Maria degli Angeli.

The cardinals now in Rome held another meeting to discuss preliminary work for the conclave. Thirty-one attended.

The first of foreign delegations to attend final funeral services Sunday began arriving in Rome.

3 Make Getaway in $84,000 Holdup

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Three men, turning their crime perfectly just after a delivery by a Brinks armored truck, robbed the cashier in the Buckeye Brewing Co. offices today and escaped in a car with approximately $84,000 in payroll money.

Tipped on the license plates on the car, police traced it to a residence here and surrounded the house. But it appeared later that the plates used had been stolen from another auto.

Richard (Red) Smith, general manager of the brewery, said one of the men was waiting in an anteroom with three customers when the Brinks guards handed a bag containing money to the cashier, Tony Carol.

As Carol started up the stairs to put the cash in a second-floor vault, the man snatched "This is it," and grabbed the money.

At the same time an armed accomplice appeared at the door of the anteroom. The two robbers fled from the building to a car which a third accomplice had kept running outside.

Asks Right to Extend Natural Gas Pipeline

WASHINGTON (AP) — Trunkline Gas Co., of Houston, has asked the Power Commission for authority to expand its natural gas pipeline system to serve Consumers Power Co., of Jackson, Mich.

Consumers now provides gas service to about 460,000 customers in about 300 Michigan communities. It has some minor local production and presently obtains natural gas from an affiliate, Michigan Gas Storage Co., also of Jackson.

The expansion would cost about $81,458,000. This would involve construction of about 895 miles of pipeline of various kinds, including a 204-mile extension of the present transmission system from Tuscola, Ill., to a point near Vandalia, Ind.

Spray Ripens Berries on Tree at Same Time

LIMA, Peru (AP) — A new method of controlling the flowering of coffee trees and thus making possible a more uniform harvesting of the crop has been developed by a Brazilian, Paulo de T. Alvim.

He conducted his experiments in Peru, spraying coffee buds with a hormone solution that forced the flowers to open fully within nine days after the application. This saves money by eliminating the need of picking the same trees several times, for all the berries ripen at once.

Mailman Not Forgotten

PRESCOTT, Ariz. (AP) — For 12 years, Postmaster James M. Smith trudged a foot-wearrying route in the Miller Valley with a smile and a kind word for every one. Smith is the father of two children and expects a third one soon. Wednesday Miller found gifts for his expected baby in 85 of the mailboxes on his route.

Digger Falls in Grave

MARYSVILLE, Calif. (AP) — Grave digger Kenneth G. Waddell, 49, was found dead in a grave he had just dug in Sierra Vista Memorial Park—victim of an apparent heart attack.

Braves Lick Squaws, 5-2

HORTON, Kan. (AP) — For four years squaws ruled the Kickapoo Indian tribal council. 43. This week two of the four women failed in their bid for re-election. Braves now control the council 5-2.

About 1,130,000 Americans will have traveled to Europe during 1938.

Firemen battled the flames for more than an hour and a half before bringing it under control at 6 p.m.

Commie Planes Fly Over Outpost Isles

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — Four Communist planes flew over the tiny Wuchiu Islands today, raising speculation on Formosa that the Reds might try to seize those Nationalist outposts midway between Quemoy and Matsu to offset their failure to invade Quemoy.

The Wuchiu lie in the Formosa Strait 15 miles from the mainland

80 miles from Formosa. One of the two islands, Wuchiu, is 128 acres, and the other, Little Wuchiu, is 57.6 acres.

The Chinese Nationalists use them as a lookout post. At one time they were a base for commando raids to capture prisoners on the mainland who might provide intelligence and also were a staging post for Nationalist agents slipping in and out of Red China. The Nationalist Defense Ministry said four Red planes circled over the Wuchiu for 35 minutes in midmorning, then returned to the mainland.

Tourist Requests More

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP) — The letter to the State Tourist Bureau was short and to the point.

"Please send me two tumble-weeds," a New Jersey woman wrote. "The ones I have are wearing out."

Troubles in Pakistan Are in Familiar Form

"For the last two years I have been watching with deepest anxiety the ruthless struggle for power, the corruption, I had to act in the interests of the country and the masses."

In these words President Iskander Mirza explained the imposition of martial law on Pakistan's 75 million people. By his action the Constitution was declared inoperative, legislatures dissolved and political parties outlawed.

Pakistan always has been at a disadvantage because of its geographical position. Its east and west areas are separated by 1,000 miles of Indian territory. Then, too, it has shown few signs of economic growth or of improving its agriculture or the lot of its people. There are great divisions of race and language and political instability has plagued the nation since its separation from India in 1947.

President MIRZA says his action was taken with great reluctance and he has assured the Western powers that Pakistan would honor all commitments and would work out a democratic constitution. He declared that everything had been done to make the Constitution work in a democratic way and that he had labored hard to bring about coalitions hoping to stabilize the administration.

A civil servant for 27 years, President MIRZA is a duly elected head of state and a member of no political party. His objective, he says is to "restore democracy but of the type that people can understand and work," and that he will use civilian agencies to the maximum. It is true that Pakistan has been troubled by opportunists in its many political parties who are not primarily interested in the common good.

While we in this country deplore the suspension of constitutional government, we must realize that the early workings of democracy in a largely illiterate country are never smooth. Pakistan's President has assured the West that there will be no backward steps.

Much Interest in Historical Shrine

Our people have a strong desire in preserving things pertinent to local history.

This was proved by the attendance at the recent open house at the MOSKES WISNER Home on Oakland Avenue.

Over one thousand people took advantage of the opportunity to go through this 111 year old home of the man who, 12 years after he built it, became Governor of Michigan.

The open house brought 77 new members for the Oakland County Historical Foundation, who own the property, including two new life members.

The home and its four acres of land, purchased by the foundation several years ago, represents something that cannot be matched in historical value or permanence by any other Michigan city.

Somewhat hampered by a shortage of funds, the foundation

tion is unable to have the home open to the general public at all

With such a demonstration of public interest in the project, it is hoped that they can devise means, by a sale of some of the property or otherwise, to give the people of their county a chance for a full realization of their heritage.

Beg Pardon, Please

It was reported here that if the Oakland County Road Commission were responsible for the maintenance of Opdyke Road it was neglectful in its duties to the taxpayers.

Mr. Elmer Kephart, City Manager of Bloomfield Hills, has taken full responsibility for the condition of Opdyke Road from Hickory Grove south to Woodward Avenue.

This is the section of road that is badly in need of repairs.

It is within the boundaries of Bloomfield Hills.

"Certain ancients held the planets responsible for most of their troubles," says a historian. This was far less expensive than setting up and maintaining governments to blame trouble on.

MANY a prayer sounds a great deal more like advice than supplication.

The Man About Town

October-August?

Warm Weather Breaking Temperature Records

Old timer: One who remembers when you said "five," the gas station man didn't ask, "Gallons or dollars?"

This unusual fall temperature has my weather watchers digging into their records. "We've already had more August days in the first half of October than we often get in all of August," phones

Howard Halliman of Pontiac trail, who says nothing even remotely approaches it in his observation of over one third of a century.

Then coming through is Carl Coleman of Waterford, who says never before did his dog suffer so much with the heat in October that he refuses to make a point on anything—even his food.

A second crop of cabbage, growing on the stumps from which the heads were cut last month, is reported by

Jerry Brockfield of Drayton Plains, and it was so hot the other night, according to Mrs. Florence Nissell of Auburn Heights, that the neighborhood cats didn't fight.

"The annual warning sign is in order," says Sheriff

Frank W. Irons in reminding motorists that falling leaves make wet pavements hazardous.

First Giant Step

David Lawrence Says:

Private School Can Be Segregated

WASHINGTON — The Supreme Court of the United States has just ruled, in effect, that Girard College in Philadelphia may remain segregated — that it may close its doors to all pupils seeking admission unless they are "poor, white male orphans."

This ruling should be an eye-opener to those persons who have been saying that a private institution can never be segregated by court rulings. For a private college gets an exemption not only from real estate taxes but also from income taxes. This is substantial "support" from the state.

Whether any state buildings may be leased to a private corporation is also an unsettled problem because the final test is whether the facility itself is publicly owned or controlled. A mere transfer of property to a private institution without any responsibility by the state for the further use of such property by a private corporation is not much different from the circumstances that existed in the Girard College case just decided.

For originally, under the terms of the 1831 will of Stephen Girard, the city of Philadelphia was to act as trustee for Girard College. The state passed laws empowering the city to do this. In 1957, however, both the state of Pennsylvania and the city of Philadelphia joined in declaring that the operation of the trust was a form of "state action" and hence any discrimination as between whites and Negroes was a violation of the Fourteenth Amendment, even though the will specified that only "poor, white male orphans" should be admitted.

The highest court of Pennsylvania did not so regard it, and the case went to the Supreme Court of the United States, which decided on April 29, 1958, that as long as the city of Philadelphia was the trustee, no discrimination could be practiced. Refusal to admit Negroes was held to be unconstitutional because the city is an instrumental part of the state of Pennsylvania.

The management of Girard College then asked the Orphans Court in Philadelphia to name 13 private trustees, instead of the city of Philadelphia. This was done, and the case was again taken to the courts. The Pennsylvania high court approved the transfer. Then the Supreme Court of the United States last June refused to review the case, which means it concurred in what the Pennsylvania court had decided.

GOOD FOR ALL This is merely natural breathing. It is good for men, women and children.

Belly Breathing is beneficial for one with asthma, emphysema, bronchitis or chronic bronchitis (winter cough).

Heeding the injunction against straining and striving for rhythmic, smooth inflations, BB, practiced faithfully four times a day, tends to prevent or lower high blood pressure. Numerous followers have reported six inflations upon retiring put them asleep or in a pleasant relaxed state conducive to sleep.

Bellows or belly breathing improves circulation by reactivating the booster pump effect (which physiologists call the "inspiratory action of the thorax"), and therefore is advisable for anyone who is subject to varicose veins, hemorrhoids or stroke.

During deflation of the bellows (expiration) the breathing muscles, chief of which is the diaphragm, normally rest. They need rest just as the heart muscle rests between beats. So I regard the Mosher method as unphysiological

An application for a rehearing was made, but it was turned down on Monday of this week, thus disposing of the entire matter on a final basis.

But while the highest court here did not issue any opinion and merely denied a review, the implications of its action are bound to be far-reaching. A careful reading of the opinion handed down by the Pennsylvania high court — which presumably is the "law of the land" now in such matters — makes it clear that this court considered "segregation" an irrelevant issue. It declared that the only rights involved were those of the private college to fulfill the terms of a will under private trustees.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Bellows Breathing Helps Boost Blood Circulation

The other day I described Doctor Mosher's breathing exercise, which has brought relief and cure in countless cases of dysmenorrhea (painful menstruation), menorrhagia (excessive flow) and metrorrhagia (bleeding between periods). I quoted the description of the exercise almost verbatim from the book Personal Hygiene for Women by Celia Duell Mosher, M. D., which you will find in public or school library, if at all. I wanted to be sure to present Dr. Mosher's method precisely as the author described it.

Now I present another breathing exercise, which I call Belly Breathing, or if you must be pedantic about it, bellows breathing. This method, whatever you call it, is entirely natural or physiological, whereas the Mosher method is not.

In the Mosher method the importance of contraction of the muscles of the abdominal wall is emphasized. In belly breathing, which I recommend, when you have drawn a slow, deep breath through open mouth and nose, to inflate the bellows (belly) to capacity (without straining), you just relax, play dead and let the bellows deflate elastically, automatically, naturally, without any effort on your part.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE Case Z-346: Myra Z., aged 29, has been married for six years.

"Dr. Crane, my big problem is insomnia," she began, "for I simply cannot get to sleep at night. I roll and toss and then get angry at myself for wasting those precious hours when I should be in dreamland."

"For I have two children and must get up early next morning to prepare their breakfasts and get my husband off to work."

"So the past few months I have been taking sleeping pills. Now their effect is wearing off, so I am forced to double the dose."

"My husband thinks I am a neurotic. He says I'll lose my mind if I don't calm down. But how, Dr. Crane?"

INSOMNIA BUGABOO Even before the tranquilizer pills hit America, neurotics were spending $38,000,000 every year just for sleeping potions!

And most of this outlay was entirely unnecessary. Insomnia doesn't kill you, so why make such a fuss about it?

The court added that there was no constitutional right on the part of any Negro student to admission to Girard College. In fact, the court said nobody except those children who were described in the Girard will had any constitutional rights of admission at all.

This means that, once an institution is privately owned and operated, nobody has any constitutional right of admission if the management decides against such applicants.

Sedentary persons are certain to have more or less stagnation of blood in the veins, especially in the vast network of veins in the abdomen. These persons benefit considerably from Belly Breathing if they practice it regularly.

Sleeping Pills Don't Always Help

Myra is a sleeping pill addict. In her neurotic frenzy, she is even doubling the dosage, but still she is a victim of insomnia. So scrapbook this case for it is usually silly to use sleeping pills. They just impose a further load on your liver and kidneys. Instead, try the surefire sleep ritual mentioned below.

'People Mistaken About Rich Party'

I hear a lot in our shop about the so-called big money party. Now the election is nearing. I feel many people are badly mistaken on which side all the wealth is.

Figure up between now and Nov. 4 every evening when you pick up the paper which party has the most square inches of political ads. You'll see Democrats lead by far. Check for radio and TV time and you'll find the same thing. Check for party headquarters, amount of stickers, pins, etc., in both and again Democrats lead.

Check the candidates. Williams and Hart each have more in personal wealth than the whole Republican slate.

Where does all the money for the Democrats come from? Simple. Reuther and the million and a half workers that he has under his thumbs pay for much of it in exchange for Soapy helping to keep laws and make more to give Reuther more power. Then, too, Reuther's union papers campaign 52 weeks a year and Soapy square dances the same. It's time for a change for the good of all.

'These Nice Kids Are Stealing Cars'

Friend and Mother of Teenagers sounds like a neighbor of mine who has four children in this gang and harbors such gangs outside her house all night several nights a week.

Several nice neighbors have moved out of this neighborhood because of this gang, and I could name at least four different neighbors who had to call the police in the last three weeks.

Maybe these are just nice kids and do no harm, but why do most of them have juvenile records? Maybe Friend and Mother doesn't call such things as stealing hubcaps, breaking car windows, stealing cars, etc., harm, but we were taught to respect other people and their property. If such hoodlums will try this, they'll find other people easy to get along with.

Readers Anxious to Settle Strike

Why, oh, why don't they get the strike settled at our local plants? Can't the union and company negotiate at the same time? Other plants work while they are negotiating, and the men are only hurting themselves and their families.

Don't they realize just how much in wages they've already lost and are still losing?

Let's hope and pray the union and companies try just a little harder to get things going again and maybe the little fellow can get back on his feet again.

Just Another Striker's Wife

I see one of the local grievances to be settled (not here) before our husbands can go back to work is motor scooters for the union committeemen. Now I've heard everything.

Urges Stop Lights to Avoid Deaths

For the past several years citizens of Walled Lake have wanted a stop light at Pontiac Trail and East Walled Lake Drive and at Pontiac Trail and West Maple Road.

The Walled Lake Chamber of Commerce has written many letters to various departments and has always been assured the matter will be taken care of.

We'd like to remind all concerned that traffic in this area has steadily increased and we sincerely hope those in authority will see to it that our needs are fulfilled before an accident at these hazardous corners results in a death.

LIBERTY RISING — What at first glance looks like the Statue of Liberty in unfamiliar surroundings is actually a one-fifth-size replica of America's famous Lady. The 31-foot, 20,000-pound bronze statue is being hoisted to the top of the Liberty National Life Insurance Building in Birmingham, Ala., where its gas-fired torch will shed light 184 feet above the city. Like her big sister in New York Harbor, Miss Liberty was made in France.

Extremists Get Bad Name for Progressive Education

NEW YORK (UPI) — It's the "lunatic fringe" in education that has given progressive education a bad name with some Americans, in the opinion of youthful Prof. Lawrence A. Cremin of Columbia University.

Cremin, head of the department of social and philosophical foundations at Columbia Teachers College, has spent the past year studying the history of the progressive movement in education.

He expressed his views at a meeting of the Associated Public School Systems, a national organization representing about 2,500 public schools in 40 states.

Whether parents know it or not, he said, the best of progressive education has been incorporated into the mainstream of modern education in this country.

It was the "lunatic fringe" that Cremin blamed for the finger-pointing, sand-pile studies and other assorted trade-marks of progressive education.

When such diversions become more important than the three R's progressive education is off the track, according to Cremin.

BEGAN IN 1870
He said progressive education, as such, really began back in the 1870's as a reform movement and at a time when there was a real need to upset the notion that school children are just so many waste-baskets into which teachers toss scraps of information.

To counter this, the progressive education movement pushed the idea of educating the whole child, helping his personality to develop at its own level. And in some quarters, this led to sand-pile study as a graded subject on the report card.

Extremists, according to Cremin, have given pundits plenty of ammunition and this, he said, is probably why the term "progressive education" has a bad connotation in many persons' minds.

FIELD FOR CARTOONS
A cartoonist recently pictured progressive education by showing a little girl, very dismayed, asking her teacher:

"Miss Jones, do we have to do what we want to do today?"

This, said Cremin, is the wrong way to picture progressive education, which most of the time is quite sound. He said the incorporation of industrial arts into school programs probably is the best example of the "good" part of progressive education.

He noted that during his study of the progressive movement he had occasion to attend meetings of the Madison, Wis., school board. At one meeting, he said, parents warned the school board that they didn't want any part of progressive education in their schools.

Five minutes later, he said, the same parents were presenting arguments in support of a driver's education program in their schools.

Prof. Cremin said "they didn't realize that driver education is a part of progressive education."

DOGGING IT — Three-year-old Great Dane, Dexter, leads onlookers to believe that he's really going to start that plane in Columbus, Ohio. But it has a self-starter and the 180-pounder is just using the prop as a prop to show flyers that mere humans can be replaced. The bounding enthusiast has put in about 40 hours of flight time with owner Bill Black. Dexter keeps in good trim on a daily diet of 3½ pounds of meat.

Radioisotopes Work in Peace

Atoms Tamed for Power

WASHINGTON — The awesome atom is becoming more and more obedient.

Since the first sustained chain reaction of atoms was triggered in Chicago 16 years ago, American scientists have harnessed a symbol of terror to numerous peaceful uses.

A national magazine publishes a two-year study by Allan C. Fisher Jr., of work in atomic research centers and industrial installations all over the United States. His findings, in brief:

ELECTRIC POWER: A big effort getting bigger.

SHIP PROPULSION: A striking success, recently dramatized by the voyages of Navy submarines Nautilus and Skate to the North Pole.

AIRCRAFT PROPULSION: Grounded in laboratories, something for the future.

FUSION ENERGY: Possibly far off, but a goal promising inconceivable advantages.

RADIOISOTOPES: The plum of the Atomic Energy Commission's peacetime program. Radioactive atoms already have a thousand applications in medicine and agriculture.

Four years ago, Mr. Fisher recalls, atomic power plants were dreams on paper. Now three privately-operated plants are generating electricity for homes and industries. Four others are being constructed, and 11 more are planned.

PROPULSION REVOLUTION
In the field of propulsion, the Navy has led industry. Nuclear submarines are bringing a revolution in over all ship design, as well as propulsion. Maritime reactors are expected to prove most useful in small, swift ships where weight saving is vital.

An atom-powered merchantman, the svelte Savannah, will speed upon ocean highways by 1960. A tanker, now building, may be converted to nuclear energy. Other projects are in the study stage.

"Aircraft propulsion represents a far more complex problem," Mr. Fisher reports, "and here progress has been spotty and relatively slow. A nuclear-powered plane has yet to be built, although a number of aircraft reactors have been ground tested."

FUSION TO BE TAMED

Once H-fusion has been tamed, and a means found to tap the unlimited energy on a major scale, the advantages will be enormous. Raw material is plentiful. The oceans contain enough deuterium, the hydrogen isotope that is the basic element of fusion, to supply the world's energy needs for billions of years. Extraction is not expensive.

Another advantage is fusion's cleanliness. Its ash is primarily helium, a harmless gas, as compared to the dangerous radioactive waste thrown off by atoms split in a reactor or a detonating bomb.

ISOTOPE PROGRAM

In putting atoms to peaceful work, the Atomic Energy Commission has probably scored its brightest success with radioisotopes, Mr. Fisher reports. Having been made radioactive, these atoms emit rays that are powerful, penetrating, and easily detectable.

Physicians and scientists use the radiation to trace the paths of chemicals in living organisms and, to a limited extent, for medical therapy. Industry employs the new tool in many ways, for example, to make X-ray pictures revealing structural flaws. At present nearly 2,000 medical institutions or doctors and 1,700 industrial concerns hold AEC licenses for the use of isotopes. The Oak Ridge National Laboratory in Tennessee made 14,126 shipments of isotopes in 1957.

Little Increase Seen in Radioactive Foods

WASHINGTON — The great majority of foods covered in a special study show no significant increase in radioactivity since 1945, the Food and Drug Administration reported today.

However, certain sea foods, dairy products and tea did show increased radioactivity. None was found to be dangerous.

The findings were made in a comparison of pre-1945 food samples with more recent samples.

The year 1945 marked the advent of the atomic age, with explosion of the first atomic bombs. Edwin P. Laug and Wendell C. Wallace of FDA summed up results of the two-year study in a report for the annual convention of the Assn. of Official Agricultural Chemists.

Studies are continuing to determine the degree to which foods may become further contaminated with radioactive fallout.

AEC Detonating 2 Small Missiles in Nevada Today

ATOMIC TEST SITE, Nev. (AP) — The Atomic Energy Commission is scheduled to detonate two small weapons today. The first is to be exploded from a 50-foot wooden tower and the second 2,700 feet deep in a tunnel.

HONOLULU (AP) — The Navy says its solar eclipse expedition in the south Pacific fired a Nike-Ap rocket 150 miles into the air Monday and gained important information.

The firing was aimed at a large solar flare which followed Sunday's eclipse. Conditions were ideal, said the Navy, in contrast with those Sunday when thunderstorms shrouded a total eclipse visible along a path across the south Pacific.

The rocket was launched off a Navy craft off Puka Puka Island and was the last the scientists had. They fired five during Sunday's solar eclipse expedition.

Handicraft Course to Begin Saturday

A 10-week handicraft course will begin Saturday from 9 a.m. to noon at the Pontiac YMCA.

Open to 'Y' members only, the course is designed primarily for grade school children and adults who work with children," said Robert Wisdom, youth and program director. Mrs. Jean Ellsworth will be instructor. Five dollar registration fees, including the cost of handicraft materials, are acceptable in advance of Saturday, said Wisdom.

Glass Sales Aid Japan

TOKYO — Japan's glassmakers last year set an all-time record by producing 560,000 tons of glassware. Japan's foreign-exchange earnings from 1957 glassware exports amounted to $15,680,000. Exports of eyeglasses, bottles, and light bulbs to Southeast Asia and the Middle East accounted for more than half of this figure.

Ramon Novarro Working and Wealthy

By PHYLIS BATTLE
NEW YORK — Ramon Novarro — Mama's bare-chested idol in the golden days of silent film — has returned suddenly from obscurity, looking like a million dollars.

He not only looks like a million dollars, he has a million. Or so it appears as he describes his near-quarter-century "retirement."

"I come back from work one day in 1936 and I say to myself, 'Ramon, you work very hard for your money the last 10 years. Now your money's going to work hard for you.'"

"So I begin by trading my big house for a building — is got a bank in it — very profitable building. Then I buy a bungalow court. Ten units. Then I sell my building for $300,000 (double what he had paid) and I buy a very fine store in Van Nuys (Calif.) called J. C. Penney. And I also buy more vacant lots — oh, and also a ranch."

Ramon smiles modestly beneath his graying moustache. "I never put money in a bank, because the only thing you lose your value on is the dollar. I buy empty lots. I guarantee, you buy empty lots today and wait five years, you get double your money. Almost anywhere in America."

The result of this business sagacity, which the native Mexican attributes to his "Guardian Angel," is that he has compounded the money with which he retired in the days of monstrous salaries and meager taxes.

Now, at the age of 59, he is returning to the cameras for a series of ABC-TV "Walt Disney Presents" shows. Obviously, his comeback is unrelated to financial need.

"It is health," he says. "I was living the good life, on the ranch, very easy-going. Felt awful. The doctor looked at me and said I have had low blood pressure, out of being bored. He says get to work."

Tall and lean and more debonair, if possible, than in his most famed era of "Ben Hur" and "The Pagan," Ramon easily could assume a mature romantic lead. He literally cringes at the suggestion.

"No! Oh, no! I would be too embarrassed. Love is for young people. Some men never stop — but they should, it is true. No, I would rather be a kindly father. I could sacrifice myself for a daughter now, or a dog, but not for passion."

He likes being before the cameras again, though he denies that he's doing a good job. "I can't say," he murmurs almost inaudibly, "that I was really happy with anything I've ever done."

Novarro, like most "old-time" movie greats, laments the lack of excitement, glamor, mystery in the present movies. They are technically marvelous, he concedes, but the individuality of the stars is missing.

"In the old days, when you'd see a Pola Negri or a Rudolph Valentino, you'd almost faint. Now everybody looks alike, and nobody even feels woozy. Strange."

Novarro for years supported, and still is devoted to, five brothers and an equal number of sisters. He has never married, and never intends to. The reason, as he sees it, goes far to explain why movie stars of his era were more glamorously electric than those of today.

"Our tremendous passion was for acting. Our personal lives, then, had to suffer."

Big Bill Tilden won the U.S. men's tennis championship seven times, more than any other player.

Bride Ruled Eligible to Attend School

MIDLAND PARK, N.J. (AP) — The State of New Jersey has no right to deny a child an education just because she gets married.

School Board President Frederick dePlanque announced Tuesday night that Mrs. Hope Skinner Nyman is as eligible to attend Midland Park High School as any other 16-year-old.

The legal opinion by board attorney John Hammersma Jr. was the latest development in a controversy that started last month, when Hope returned to her senior year in high school a bride.

A group of some 30 parents appeared at a board meeting and demanded that the girl be expelled at least barred from extracurricular activities.

They complained that Hope, who is head cheerleader and active in several school organizations, had been telling tales of marital bliss in school. The parents said they feared other girls might follow the pretty blonde's example and get married.

But dePlanque said Tuesday night that no person between the ages of 5 and 20 could legally be refused admission to school in New Jersey, regardless of marital status.

Herman Kierdorf Faces Trial Today

Authorities say they didn't tell Herman that day about finding the cache, hoping to gain his cooperation in getting Frank to tell the truth about his burns.

HEARINGS BEGAN

That night Herman disappeared and remained out of sight 13 days. Then he surrendered and began a long series of courtroom appearances, beginning with his arraignment on charges brought upon Richardson's complaint.

Next was a Circuit Court hearing at which Herman fought unsuccessfully to get his $25,000 bond reduced so he could get out of jail. Third was another appearance in Madison Heights, where the bond was reduced to $15,000 and Herman was bound over for trial.

Free under the $15,000 bond, Herman later was re-arrested for investigation on charges of conspiring to commit arson, but was released by Circuit Court when authorities admitted they had insufficient evidence against him to seek a warrant.

Had the grand jury been granted, Herman might have been asked to appear in court again. But Oakland County judges turned down the grand jury. It was sought to probe an alleged conspiracy to cover up a Pontiac arson and the Flint arson in which Frank was believed to have suffered his fatal burns.

Tuesday, Herman was in court once more, hoping to get the silence charge against him dismissed on grounds that Richardson did not have a search warrant and was out of uniform when he came into the possession of the silence.

Judge Frank L. Doty turned down this bid, ruling that these were matters to be decided during trial.

Anonymous Charity?

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Postal authorities are looking into a form letter found in West Side mail boxes asking donations of $1 to be sent to a branch post office box. The unsigned letter said: "Dear friends and neighbors: Please send $1 today and if we may we pray the Lord will bless your family in his own humble way. Our sincere thanks."

Pet Dog Leads Way to Children Lost in Swamp

BLISSFIELD — A pet dog led searchers into a swamp yesterday for two missing children who were found naked and shivering in six-inch deep water.

Two airplanes and more than 150 persons joined the search for Becky Jones, 3, and Keith Roe, 2½, after their mothers reported to Michigan State Police at about 10 a.m. that the children had disappeared while playing.

Farmers Wayne Lipp and Albert Neyrnick found the two about 4 p.m. on Lipp's farm about a mile from their rural Blissfield homes. Lipp said he spotted a dog belonging to one of the children as it emerged from the swamp. The animal led them back into the marshland and to the children.

The youngsters had shed their clothing as they wandered into the swamp. They were scratched by branches and suffering from exposure but did not require hospitalization.

Sgt. William Gill of the Blissfield State Police post, described them as "tired, hungry, scared and wet."

court, said that the court will set a conference date for sometime in November at the end of today's session. He said an opinion is possible by that date.

Winters added, however, that there is some likelihood that because of the complexity of the case, a decision might not come out of the first conference meeting.

The League in its suit also claimed the county had no legal right to change the present site of the courthouse, and that the property on Telegraph road, on which the building was to go, was illegally annexed to Pontiac, and hence outside the county seat.

On these last two questions the county gained somewhat of a partial victory in Judge Dehnke's opinion.

He ruled that the Board of Supervisors could sell the present downtown courthouse site and move to the new Telegraph road site. However, the judge said annexation of most of the Service Center from Waterford Township had been accomplished wrongfully without the vote of residents of the area.

Not an Atomic Reactor, Part of Vacuum Cleaner

DENVER (AP)—One of the nation's top atomic scientists carefully guarded a bulging briefcase he brought to the Energy Resources Conference here.

Dr. James L. Tuck, of the Los Alamos laboratories in New Mexico, was asked if a miniature nuclear reactor was concealed inside.

Replied Dr. Tuck: "No, it's part of my wife's vacuum cleaner. There is no repairman in Los Alamos and she insisted that I have it fixed in Denver."

Trading Stamps Tricky

DETROIT (UPI) — "My Scottish ancestors would be proud of me," commented Ben McPherson, a Detroit bar owner, yesterday. He was showing a letter that he mailed to one of his employees. McPherson used trading stamps for postage. The stamps were canceled in the Dearborn post office.

That's Not Cruel Enough

LONDON (UPI)—The judge refused yesterday to grant Leslie Morgan, 37, a divorce from his Danish-born wife on the ground of mental cruelty. Mrs. Morgan said she bawled him out only because he insisted on seeing sexy movies and unflatteringly comparing her with the actresses.

No More Feasts at Zoo

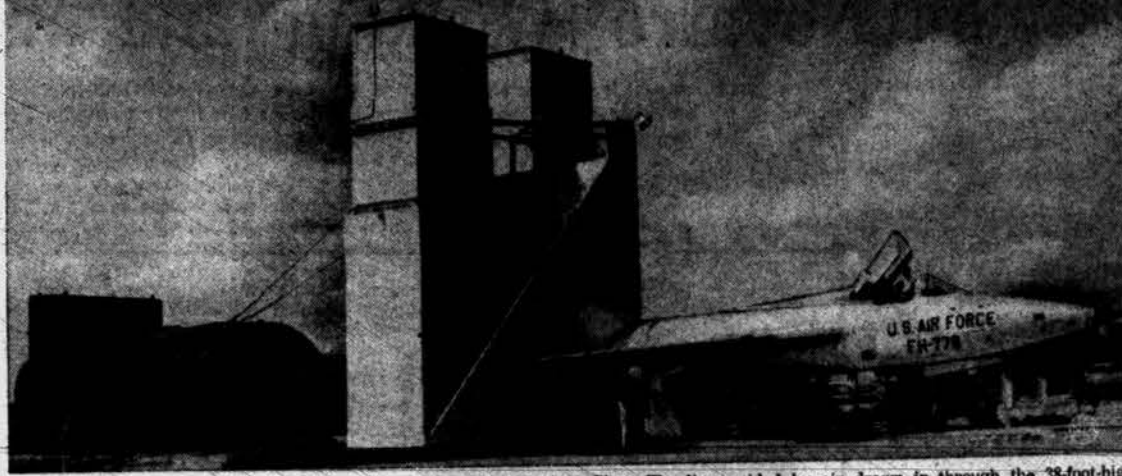

NEW YORK (UPI) — Magistrate A. Lawrence Acquavella yesterday ordered Miss Yetta Klausner to stay away from the Central Park Zoo. Zoo officials complained that she was throwing their orangutan Katy off her diet with offerings of cupcakes, French pastry and chocolate bars.

Son Tries Electric Cart — Dad Pays Damages

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Tony Hostetter brought his family here from Nashville, Tenn., and dropped into an appliance store to visit friends.

Five-year-old son Tony Jr. slipped to the rear of the store, saw an electric golf cart, boarded it and pressed a button.

It took off in reverse and banged against two electric stoves, two refrigerators and an air conditioner before a brick wall halted it. Damage, about $1,300 to the appliances; none to Tony and very little to the cart.

MUFFLING THE THUNDER — All set for a full-power ground test, a supersonic F-105 Thunderchief is hooked up to a giant silencer stretching out behind it. The new $250,000, two-story muffler is claimed to reduce the roar of the 20,000-pound thrust J-75 engine to a low-pitched moan. Normal conversation can be carried on a dozen feet away even while the jet is going full blast during tests. The front section of the muffler, fronted by two six-ton doors, has a perforated metal liner backed by compressed glass fiber. The liner, aided by air drawn in through the 38-foot-high stacks, absorbs most of the noise. The remainder is funneled to the muffler tank and blown out through an exhaust stack. Special restraining devices under the plane hold it in place. The muffler system, which is portable, is said to be more than 12 times as effective as previous models. It was recently unveiled at Republic Aviation's field at Farmingdale, N. Y.

Voting on Agreement at Pontiac Motor

Pontiac Motor Division production workers gathered at 1 p.m. today to begin balloting on the national United Auto Workers-General Motors Corp. agreement.

Skilled trade workers of UAW local 653 yesterday gave the agreement overwhelming ratification. Of 536 workers who cast ballots, there were 505 for the agreement and 21 against it.

Balloting was only on the national agreement, not on local issues which were still on the bargaining table today. No progress was reported in negotiations at either Pontiac Motor or Fisher Body divisions, both of which have been strike-bound over local issues since Oct. 2.

A meeting of Fisher local 504 has been called for 11 a.m. Saturday at Lincoln Junior High School. The local will be asked to ratify the national agreement then.

Brooklyn 'Off Limits'

Red Artist Alters Dates

NEW YORK (AP)—Soviet pianist Vladimir Ashkenazy will not play his scheduled recital in Brooklyn because that borough of New York City is "off limits" to Soviet visitors.

But the 21-year-old artist will play in Manhattan—at a Carnegie Hall recital Oct. 24 and as a soloist with the New York Philharmonic in November.

Ashkenazy's scheduled performance at the Brooklyn Academy of Music Nov. 19 has been canceled at the request of the U.S. State Department, it became known Wednesday.

There also was cancellation of the pianist's scheduled Oct. 26 performance at the Mosque Theater in Newark, N.J., which also is "off limits." But a spokesman at the office of impresario S. Hurok said the Newark performance had been eliminated earlier for other reasons.

The U.S. State Department on

Jan. 3, 1955, declared a large area of the United States out of bounds for Soviet citizens. The move was made in retaliation for the long-standing ban on travel by Americans in large areas of the Soviet Union.

Hurok, manager of Ashkenazy's two-month U.S. tour, said the State Department had been "most cooperative" in connection with Hurok's previous bookings of Soviet artists and "we must follow their ruling."

Ashkenazy made his American debut Tuesday with the National Symphony Orchestra in Washington, D.C. He arrived in the United States Sunday.

His schedule now calls for 24 concerts in 17 cities. This is his first visit to the United States.

Atlanta Blasting Solution Hinted

FBI Report Rumored, Newspaper, TV Stations Get Threatening Calls

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—A special police staff went into seclusion as they pressed harder than ever today for a solution to the dynamite explosion which shattered a large portion of a Jewish temple.

Reliable sources said it was understood the FBI expected to solve the case today. N. R. Johnson, in charge of the FBI office here, declined comment.

The blast before dawn Sunday was the first anti-Semitic violence in Atlanta but the fourth in the South this year. It caused $200,000 damage to the Temple.

The police staff directing the investigation here moved to an undisclosed site late Wednesday. Capt. J. L. Moseley said requests for information from news media had reached the point where they were interfering with the investigation.

Two more bomb threats were made Wednesday night by telephone but nothing came of either. Radio-TV stations WSB and WSB-TV received a call from a man who said the Atlanta Journal-Constitution building would be bombed next. Extra policemen have been on duty at the building since a similar threat was made Sunday night. WSB and WSB-TV, which is owned by the newspapers, said it received a second call later, apparently from the same man, who said the station also would be blown up.

Five persons being held by the police were questioned by the FBI. Police said a search of the residences of two of the men turned up two letters, one of which threatened the Atlanta Jewish community. The other contained hate-mongering correspondence from another state.

Officers said the letters and a statement by one of those arrested tied two other persons in custody to a group that met here last May to plot the bombing of the Temple.

Social Security Broadened But Few Apply for Benefits

By RAY HENRY
Associated Press Writer

More than 400,000 people became eligible for Social Security benefits for the first time last month because of the recent changes—but only a handful have applied.

Why? Probably many of those who became eligible don't know it because the changes are technical and complicated.

The changes involve benefits for: (1) Wives and children of disabled persons already receiving payments; (2) Dependent parents; (3) Disabled persons; and (4) Disabled adults who were disabled before reaching 18.

Here's how:

Disabled person's dependents—starting with September, the following disabled person's dependents can receive payments if the disabled person is already getting payments:

A wife 62 or over, a dependent child or a wife—regardless of her age—caring for a child or children.

Previously, dependents of disabled persons couldn't get payments.

Dependent parents—starting last month, a father 65 or over or a mother 62 or more can collect Social Security if a deceased son or daughter—before death—was covered by Social Security.

Previously, a parent couldn't collect payments based on a son's or daughter's Social Security record if a widow or dependent child of the deceased was getting or ever could get—Social Security based on the same record.

Disabled worker—starting with September, a person can receive payments if he meets these two requirements: (A) he's between 50 and 65 and for six months has had a permanent disability so severe he can't do any real work and (B) he worked in a job covered by Social Security for five of the last 10 years before he was disabled.

Previously, he not only had to meet these two requirements, but he also must have worked in a job covered by Social Security for 1½ out of the last three years before the disability.

Anyone who's been turned down before because he didn't meet the old requirements should reapply.

Because of the same change in the eligibility requirements, it's also easier for disabled persons below 50 to have their wage records "frozen" so that their payments at 50 will be higher.

The change in Social Security also will allow disabled persons who failed to have their records "frozen" before June 30, 1958, to apply for the wage freeze.

Disabled adults who were disabled before 18: such persons who are dependent of persons receiving retirement payments may now receive payments even though they aren't dependent on the Social Security recipient for at least half of their support.

Previously, they had to show they were dependent on the Social Security recipient for at least half of their support before they were eligible.

Waterford Cub Pack Will Organize Tonight

Each boy must be accompanied by one parent or both. Plans for the winter months will be made.

Full Scale War on Rats Turns Up 5, Not 600

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—It was rat killing day in Oklahoma City Wednesday. Shotgun-armed police and firemen with flame throwers waded into a weedy area in the northwest sector.

Police Chief Roy Bergman personally directed the big hunt and housewives who had turned their antirrat wrath on City Hall watched from the sidelines.

After an hour of hunting, a tiny cotton rat poked his nose from the burning debris and was pulverized by shotgun blasts. Only four others were found by the hunters, who had expected some 600.

Bergman said philosophically: "Everyone cooperated but the rats."

Former President Harry S. Truman won his first political race in 1922 when he was elected Jackson County, Mo., judge.

Four Cases of Polio in County Last Week

Four cases of polio were reported in Oakland County during the week ending Oct. 11, according to Dr. John D. Monroe, health director.

One case was in the city of Pontiac. The others were reported in Oak Park, Farmington Township and Novi Township.

The four cases raised the number of polio cases in the county in 1958 to 40. Through the corresponding period of 1957, 25 cases were reported. Twenty-seven cases were reported throughout 1957.

The following is a list of communicable diseases reported to the city and county health departments, including last week's figures.

As U.S. Begins Labored Takeoff

Russia Leads in Jet Airlines

IL18 MOSCOW — Resembling the Lockheed Electra, this four-engine turbo-prop has plush passenger facilities often lacking on previous Soviet airliners.

AN10 UKRAINE — Another four-engine turbo-prop, this aircraft can carry up to 125 passengers, at 400 miles an hour and land on short runways.

WASHINGTON (NEA)—The Russian civilian jet age has already taken off smoothly and is well on its way to safe cruising altitude. U.S. commercial jet travel on the other hand is just beginning a somewhat labored takeoff. And it will be several years before it is securely airborne.

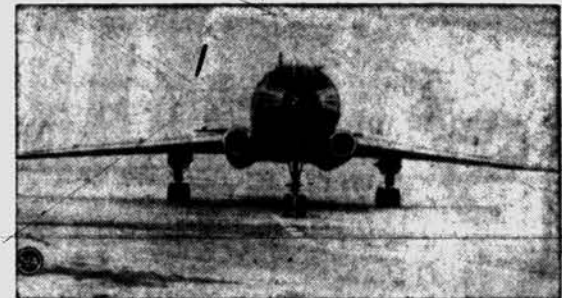

The difference is the heavy load of debt—about three billion dollars—that the U.S. airlines must bear aloft as they begin offering fast jet service to U.S. customers. An Eastern Airlines publication complains:

"In just a few short years, unencumbered by the necessity to earn its own way, Aeroflot, the civil airline of the U.S.S.R., has acquired Soviet-built jet aircraft that appear to rival the best in the West and have begun to extend their air routes to all parts of the world."

Aeroflot already goes to 16 countries outside Russia and is busily trying to extend jet service to many more, including the United States. It has 8,000 route miles over foreign countries. This is almost equal to the coverage of Pan-American World Airways, the largest U.S. flag carrier in route mileage.

The Soviet lead in jet flying was gained by their decision to jump from the use of old two-engine piston planes to jets and turbo-prop—propellers turned with jet thrust.

They skipped the whole generation of big four-engine prop planes which have been used by U.S. airlines for the past 10 years.

In the process of making this jump, an expert reports: "Weight reduction through the use of plastics and light metals has finally been discovered by the Reds. This is a sharp contrast to their former practice of using Pullman parlor car furnishings and cast iron toilets on their civil aircraft."

THEY STACK UP

Russian jet and turbo-prop planes stack up well with their U.S. counterparts in performance and design. The present TU104 is a twin engine plane that flies about 300 m.p.h., carries 70 passengers and has a range of about 1,600 miles. There are about 40 now in service.

Big brother to the TU104 is the four-jet TU110. It carries 100 passengers, has a range of 2,200 miles and flies about 515 m. p. h. It is roughly equivalent to the Douglas DC8 and Boeing 707 jets.

In the turbo-prop field the Russians have four types flying. The TU114 has four of the world's largest prop-jet engines, is said to have a speed of about 600 m. p. h. and to carry up to 200 passengers. It is also reported to have private cabins, a restaurant and movie facilities.

The IL18 Moscow resembles the U.S. Lockheed Electra. It has four engines, a speed over 300 m. p. h. and is being built to plush U.S. standards in the way of passenger facilities.

Flying Whale is the name of the AN4 two-engine turbo-prop. It is a cargo plane with a 30,000-pound carrying capacity and can fly 345 m. p. h.

The AN10 Ukraine is a four-engine turbo-prop which can fly 400 m. p. h. with a 50,000-pound payload. It can carry 125 passengers and land on short fields and grass runways.

Envy of these planes by U.S. commercial airlines is mostly based on the fact that Aeroflot is not going into debt to get them. A group of Scandinavian Airline System engineers made a careful evaluation of the TU104, for example. They concluded that no commercial airline could afford to operate it. It uses too much fuel and is too expensive to maintain, they found.

Medical Team on Island

MACKINAC ISLAND (UPI)—This famed northern Michigan resort island now has a husband-wife doctor-nurse team. Dr. Joseph Alpheus Solomon, the island's resident physician, was married recently to Miss Thelma Elizabeth Hollingsworth, a St. Ignace nurse.

Dag Suggests Stand-By Setup

Believes Plan Would Enable the U.N. to Get Military Forces Quickly

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld today recommended that the U.N. Assembly set up stand-by arrangements to get military forces from member countries quickly to meet specific "conflict situations."

Hammarskjöld made his recommendation in a 24,000-word report on the U.N.'s experience with the U.N. Emergency Force in Egypt.

His plan somewhat resembled suggestions Secretary of State Dulles had made to the assembly Sept. 18 for stand-by arrangements for a U.N. peace force. The secretary general's proposal seemed certain to draw criticism from the Soviet Union. The Soviet bloc has refused to pay its allotted share of UNEF's expenses, contending the Assembly usurped the Security Council's authority in creating that force. Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko has attacked Dulles' suggestions.

Hammarskjöld said experience with the different forms of U.N. intervention in Egypt, Lebanon, and Jordan had shown the need for flexibility.

France Opens 'Boatel'

PARIS—Europe's first "boatel," a boaters' motel, has been opened at Aix-les-Bains on the shore of Lac du Bourget. Besides its boat garage, the establishment has an automobile garage and service station, a bar, a panoramic restaurant overlooking the lake front, and 30 rooms, all with bath or shower. In French the name for the new lodging is "batotel," from the word "bateau," meaning boat.

Record Crowd Visits Mackinac

Straits Could Be Top Tourist Spot

LANSING (AP)—Dreams of building the Straits of Mackinac area into one of America's top tourist meccas rose with every click of the turnstiles on Mackinac Island the past summer.

W. Stuart Woodfill, chairman of the Mackinac Island State Park Commission, happily reported this week that 118,246 tourists—about five times the usual quota—visited historical Old Fort Mackinac from June 15 to Sept. 20.

More important, the 50-cent admission fee for adults and 25 cents for children brought a $50,000 net profit—enough to pay off a $50,000, 15-year bond issue which financed the first phase of the fort renovation project.

Now even more ambitious plans are afoot for a $75,000 bond issue next year to carry on the work. "We were astounded by the way people flocked into the fort," said Eugene T. Petersen, director of the State Historical Museum who was loaned to the park commission to direct the project.

"Until this year, there's been no charge for admission to the fort," he said. "We were a little worried that an admission fee might cut down on visitors, but obviously people are willing to pay if they get their money's worth."

Obviously part of the crowd came to the area because of the new Mackinac Bridge. But the bridge is expected to be a steady tourist attraction.

The string of white buildings that crowns the island—at various times under French, British and American command—this year continued a series of displays that depicted the history of the fort.

Cal Peters of Los Angeles was commissioned to build eight intricate dioramas—three-dimensional replicas. Dirk Grienghuis, Lansing artist, painted four wall-size murals. Theodore Haskett, also of Lansing, made period settings. The existing museum in the old barracks building was renovated.

An avenue of historic flags led to the fort entrance. Girls in colonial costume waited on visitors at a tearoom in the basement of the officers' quarters.

Next year, the commission plans to reconstruct the chapel erected by the early French missionaries about 1670. It will sit in Marquette Park below the fort. There will be more murals, ancient cannon, life-size manikins in historic costume, slide projectors and tape recorders to play music of the era in which the fort thrived.

The Park Commission also is making headway in plans to renovate Fort Michilimackinac near Mackinaw City and reconstruct Fort de Boude near St. Ignace.

Outside the commission's jurisdiction, but part of the long-range plans by groups interested in Straits development, are tentative blueprints for work on historical sites as far as the Beaver Islands.

"Our goal is to make this the most important historical restoration in the whole Midwest," said

Petersen. "We made a good start this summer."

'Ula Ula' Hoops Big Hit in Mexico

MEXICO CITY (AP)—The hula hoop has hit Mexico.

Called the ula ula it first went on sale Oct. 1 for 12 1/2 pesos, or $1. Within a few days it had the city jumping and bumping.

This started when Morris Caldwell, a retired American living in Mexico, took a summer vacation in California.

He saw the hula hoops around San Gabriel and thought they might click in Mexico. On his return he and a friend, Henry William Jones, went into partnership. Copying the name ula ula, they began making hoops in Mexico.

Woolworth was the first customer, buying 5,000 to start with. Saturday sales soared to 1,200 for the day, and by Monday both stores were sold out.

Then Sears Roebuck, toy stores, drug stores, even a service station, got into the act. Prices were cut a little as competitors entered the field with what they called cha-cha-chas and juglas or whoop-las.

A recent survey by the U.S. Department of Agriculture found that rural residents use more pickles than city dwellers do.

Training for Missile Age

Army Stresses Self-Sufficiency

(This is the second of two dispatches reporting on what training is like for industries in our peacetime Army. By a UPI correspondent who accompanied Fifth Army Commander Lt. Gen. William H. (Hap) Arnold on a tour of one of America's largest training centers.)

By IRA LURVEY
FT. LEONARD WOOD, Mo. — (UPI) — He was a colonel and a chaplain and he was temporarily preoccupied with a black poodle he promised a captain he'd take care of for the afternoon. "We get about eight weeks in which to reverse a man's life," he said. "They come to us after 18, 19, 20 years of teaching that in America the group exists mainly to serve the individual. Then we have to tell them that in an Army an individual must work primarily for the group."

He said this was a problem unique to a democracy. "We never fully change them," he said. "It's probably just as well. But I do like to feel we return them better citizens, with more tolerance and understanding of one another."

The infantry colonel — the one with the combat badge of merit — said the same thing, only differently.

"We don't train them to die for their country," he said. "We try to teach them how to live — and we want them to think. They may be stuck off someplace by themselves. They've got to be able to decide on their own what to do."

This is the missile-age Army. The one that's supposed to fight the war no one wants or can describe.

Gone is the old "KD" (known distance) range, where one learned to shoot by popping bullseyes from 200, 300 and 500 yards out. They call it "Trainfire" now and the recruit learns by walking through a woods, firing at man-shaped targets which suddenly pop up before him. He doesn't even use a sling.

"In combat, how many men took time to get into their slings when the enemy was running down on them?" a captain asked. The difference, though, is deeper than rifery.

"The soldier no longer is a cog, something to move along in trenches," said Lt. Gen. William H. (Hap) Arnold, Fifth Army commander. "He must learn to be self-sufficient, to think and take care of himself. Why, he may be commanded by no more than a set of earphones in his helmet."

What's it like, this peacetime Army, where a recruit's chief worry is whether he'll get stuck with weekend K.P.?

"It's a milk Army, that's what it is," a captain said. "It used to be a coffee Army. Now we have to put milk dispensing machines outside the barracks."

"Did you ever hear of calling time out in a war because it was raining too hard?" a captain asked. "That's what we do here. Can't let the boys get their feet wet, you know."

Maj. Gen. Thomas A. Lane, Leonard Wood post commander, said these were nothing more than cases of men letting off personal steam.

"We can be proud of our youths," Lane said. "They're an inspiration to watch. All they need is a challenge."

The key to a well-trained Army, it is emphasized at Ft. Leonard Wood, is military discipline.

"No army in the history of man ever was worth a hang if it wasn't good on the drill field," Col. Franklin R. Sibert said. "We're teaching a man a sense of duty, honor and a love of country. That's going to make him a good citizen, too."

Rescuers Near Site of Crash

Antarctic Team Battles Blizzard in Struggle to Reach U.S. Plane

AUCKLAND, New Zealand (AP) — An Antarctic rescue party battled across 30 miles of rugged ice fields in a blinding blizzard today toward a crashed U.S. Air Force plane.

Six of the 13 crewmen were reported to have died in the crash, and two of the seven survivors were believed injured, one critically.

The big four-engine C124 Globemaster crashed this morning near the joint U.S.-New Zealand station at Cape Hallett in the Antarctic.

A rescue party set out from the station, and aircraft from the main U.S. base 400 miles to the south at McMurdo Sound were trying to reach the scene. The bad weather prevented spotting the wreckage from the air. Weak radio signals from the survivors were believed sent on emergency equipment salvaged from the wreck.

The crash was reported by Air Force officials at Christchurch, the New Zealand base for operation Deep Freeze. The Globemaster left Christchurch last night to parachute supplies to bases in Antarctica.

Cape Hallett, about 1,900 miles south of Christchurch, is the first point of land reached on the flight south. It has an emergency airstrip. Lt. Col. C. J. Eilen, task force commander, was trying to fly there to investigate the crash.

Officials withheld names of the 13 men on the plane until their condition was determined and relatives notified.

Pontiac Educators Hold Annual Confab

The annual Pontiac Educators' Conference was held recently at Higgins Lake. One of the meeting's highlights was a workshop program on the mathematics courses in city schools.

Among resource people at the conference were Dr. Andrew Schott of Marquette University, Dr. David Wells, director of mathematics education for Oakland County, and Mrs. Helen Barnham of Silver Burdett Co., a firm publishing textbooks.

Mrs. Ruth Anderson, Pontiac PTA Council president, and two Board of Education members, William Anderson and Mrs. Elsie Mihalik, also attended.

General chairman of the conference was William Wright, principal of Mark Twain School.

4 Grown Children of Circus Clown Meet 1st Time

CAPRI, Italy (AP) — The four children of a wandering circus clown, each a citizen of a different country, met Wednesday for the first time on this vacation island where their parents were married.

The meeting united Maria Antonietta Withenau, 26-year-old fashion model from Lima, Peru; Francisco Withenau, 24-year-old engineering student in Mexico City; Fernanda Withenau, 22-year-old Buenos Aires radio announcer; and Maria Withenau, 20-year-old philosophy student at Cologne, West Germany.

Twenty-eight years ago their German father, Erick Withenau, came with a circus to Capri. He met and fell in love with an Italian girl named Costanza.

They married. Costanza followed Erick and had four children in four different places. The children were left in nurseries and orphanages. They grew up without knowing of the existence of each other.

Two months ago, the parents were killed in an automobile accident in Australia. Fulfilling a wish in their mother's will, the children met in Costanza's one-story, white home overlooking the blue sea off Capri.

Nixon Hails Rocket-Powered X15

New Space Ship Now on Display

By VERN HAUGLAND AP Aviation Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Air Force, the Navy and the new civilian space agency have proudly trundled the forerunner of tomorrow's space vehicle out into public view.

Vice President Nixon called the new rocket-powered X15 a "major step in man's greatest adventure in exploration beyond our world—the first and logical step in space exploration."

"With the X15 following the magnificent achievement of the Pioneer (moon-rocket satellite), Americans can proudly say that the United States has recaptured the lead, that we have moved into first place in the race to outer space," Nixon said Wednesday at the rollout ceremony for the new space probe.

"We are on the threshold of even more exciting adventures into space, of which X15 is but one manifestation," he said.

"X15 is perhaps most exciting because of the fact that it is designed to carry man into space for the first time."

The X15 is long, low and sleek, with stubby wings astern and tiny cockpit perched far forward, a protuberance so slight that some uninformed observers speculated that this must be a pilotless craft.

It's painted jet black, presumably in connection with radiation studies to be made on coasting flights more than 100 miles above earth. It's designed to fly more than 3,600 miles an hour.

Harrison Storms, chief engineer of North American's Los Angeles division, which built the plane, put it this way: The X15 can fly three times as fast as the fastest jet fighters, twice as fast as a high-speed rifle bullet, and can "easily exceed a world altitude record by many times."

The X15 will be hauled by truck within a few days to Edwards Air Force Base, Calif., 125 miles northeast of here, for the start of a test program.

The initial flight tentatively has been scheduled for early February, test pilot Scott Crossfield told reporters. However, Crossfield may make the first flight in January or, with exceptional luck, in December.

For its space probing, the X15 will be carried aloft under a B52 jet bomber and launched over the Wendover, Utah, area.

In full-scale flights its rocket engine will burn for 90 seconds, hurling the craft into a ballistic flight path. Empty of fuel, X15 will arc 460 miles to Edwards and a deadstick landing on steel skids it uses in place of wheels.

"It's a good, simple plane, easy to fly, and I'm looking forward to trying it out," Crossfield said.

Navy Polaris Missile Goes Wild at Cape

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Navy missilemen today pieced together the shattered fragments of the second Polaris experimental rocket to explode in the last three weeks.

The 25-foot rocket was blown apart Wednesday after the second stage suddenly shot aloft a split second before launching and zig-zagged over the Cape in a series of cartwheel turns.

On Sept. 24, its predecessor was destroyed by the range safety officer 50,000 feet over the Cape when it jerked out of control.

The upper section of the latest missile, named AX2, impacted in an isolated field on the Cape, igniting a brush fire that roared through a one-mile area for several hours. Hordes of rattlesnakes crawled onto a nearby road to escape the flames.

The Polaris is the Navy's 1,500-mile intermediate range ballistic missile designed for launching from nuclear submarines beneath the surface. The rocket is expected to be operational by 1960.

Navy officials announced that the latest trouble resulted when the second stage ignited together with the first stage on the launch stand.

May Lead Army Rocket Projects

Space Agency Head Keeps His Bosses Guessing

By ED CREAUGH WASHINGTON (AP) — If you hire T. Keith Glennan you may not know quite what you're letting yourself in for.

A Yale professor hired him in his undergraduate days as a part-time chauffeur. Glennan wound up by marrying the boss' daughter and they now have four children. President Eisenhower picked the same Dr. Glennan last August to head the new National Aeronautics and Space Administration. It's a headline question at the moment whether the 53-year-old Glennan will wind up as boss of the Army's space projects.

Glennan gives no impression of being an empire-builder—the term they use in government for an official who grabs other people's projects, or invents new ones, to build his own importance. He is a quietly friendly family man of Irish ancestry. He has his share of the Old Sod's gift of gab but his reputation rests on engineering and administrative achievements rather than salesmanship.

Glennan was best known, probably, as president of Case Institute of Technology in Cleveland. He left that post for two years to serve on the Atomic Energy Commission under an appointment from President Harry S. Truman. He returned to Washington to head the new civilian-run space agency, this time as an appointee of President Eisenhower.

Early this month the new outfit, NASA, took control over the Navy's 150 civilian scientists working on satellites. Then this week word leaked out of the Pentagon that Glennan's agency wanted to run the Army's much larger space missile program as well.

Resentment surged up quickly among the Army missilemen, who feel they're doing fine under the present setup. There were threats of resignations and of protests directed to Eisenhower. The President told a news conference that no decision on transferring control away from the Army has been reached.

Glennan kept quiet about the controversy.

He never has done a good deal of sounding off in public. His statements run to such things as calls for higher educational standards in this country—in the sciences especially—and a recent rueful tribute to Soviet advances in that field.

"They have developed a demand for education because it pays off," he said after a 15-day look at Soviet teaching methods earlier this year.

Born in Enderlin, N.D., Sept. 3, 1905, Glennan is a keen-eyed, stocky man with thinning dark hair. His main interests apart from his work and his family, are books and music. He is far from the conventional idea of a bookworm, though. Among his other jobs he was a Hollywood studio manager and an underwater sound detection expert for the Navy before going to Case.

Convention in St. Louis

Church Leaders Propose World Peace Crusade

ST. LOUIS (AP) — A group of church leaders will try to set fire to an idea in St. Louis in the next few days. They want to burn into your mind the idea nothing should be more important to you than world peace.

They have proposed to the International Convention of Christian Churches (Disciples of Christ) a plan for peace. They want the 8,000 Christian Churches and their two million members in the United States to pray and speak and work for peace in the next year.

Their formula is certain to stir lively debate for it involves such controversial proposals as birth control and admitting Communist China to the United Nations.

The debate will start before the convention's Committee on Recommendations, beginning its deliberations today. It likely will spill over into sessions of the General Assembly, starting Friday night and continuing through Wednesday.

While the Assembly has the final say, its actions are not binding on the Christian Churches. Each congregation is self-governing. But 10,000 ministers and laymen are expected for the convention, so what they decide will be at least a barometer of thinking in the churches.

The resolution on peace originated in the Social Welfare Department of the United Christian Missionary Society. That is the worldwide agency which cooperates Christian Churches use to carry out their missionary and education projects.

"If large-scale war comes again," says the peace resolution, "Christians will share heavily the responsibility for indiscriminate slaughter of human beings."

It suggests an immediate start on universal disarmament with the United Nations as watchdog. It proposes suspension of nuclear testing, limits on long-range missiles, U.N. control of nuclear energy production and U.N. jurisdiction over exploration of outer space.

Tension Doesn't Halt Little Rock Housing

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Little Rock's public housing director says racial tension in the Arkansas capital—which has closed the city's schools—has not affected the federally aided redevelopment program there.

"We have a very difficult local situation at present," said Knox Banner. "But racial problems in housing need not be serious so long as they are handled humanely and intelligently."

He told a news conference the housing program, supported largely by government funds, has continued although the government forbids racial discrimination in neighborhoods whose slums have been cleared under the program.

Hal Cooper Writes for Hal Boyle:

Frank's No Politician, He's a Rich Bookie

LONDON (AP) — The strange case of the man who is not running for Parliament has been solved at last. It is now known that he will cease shaking hands around the end of November.

This man, who for our purposes may be called Frank Baker, is always standing around street corners shaking hands with various residents of the suburb. He works hard at it, and the conclusion was reached that he must be seeking to win friends for political ends.

Sears the janitor was asked to confirm this.

That's the local street bookmaker.

Frank, a tall, red-faced fellow in his 50s, is a genial sort, but it was suggested that this hardly explained his compulsion to shake hands. It was noted that he had even been seen shaking hands with some people twice within an hour so.

"You are a green one, aincha?" said Sears. "Whenever Frank shakes hands he puts his hand back into his pocket with a piece of paper and some money in it. The paper has the name of a horse written on it. The money is a bet on the horse."

The American observer remarked in shocked tones that such cash betting is against the law.

"It may be illegal, but it ain't immoral," snapped Sears. "Have a flutter on a horse now and then yourself, don't you?"

The reply was made that any such bets are telephoned to a bookmaker on a credit basis. Settlements—usually in favor of the bookie—are made weekly by check through the mails. This is 100 per cent legal under British statutes.

"Certainly," said Sears. "But to open a credit account you have to give a banking reference. A working type like me can't give a banking reference because he hasn't never had nothing in the bank. But illegal or not, I got just as much right to bet the horses as you have. That's where Frank comes in."

It was recalled that Frank usually shakes hands like mad on the day of a big race, such as the Epsom Derby. But on the following morning he seems to shake hardly any hands at all.

"On the day of the race," Sears explained patiently, "He is taking bets. On the following morning he is paying off the winners."

It was remarked that Frank never shakes hands during the winter months.

"He stops taking bets when the flat racing season ends in November," said Sears. "Says too many favorites win over the jumps during the winter. So during the winter months you never see Frank shaking hands."

"In fact," said Sears, "you seldom see Frank at all because," Sears concluded, "it takes him most of the winter months to count up the money he wins from horse players like me during the summer months."

Torch Drive Wins in Dispute Over Ring

DETROIT (UPI) — The Torch Drive will be the only real winner in the case of the $1,100 engagement ring.

A Common Pleas Court jury of four women and two men ruled that Seymour Hanoelman's fiancée, Loretta Schneider, 22, could keep the engagement ring he gave her last February.

Handelman had gone to court to get the ring back.

But Miss Schneider isn't going to keep the ring, even though the court jury ruled it is hers.

She said she will sell it and donate the proceeds to the Torch Drive.

Member at 88 Helps Start Fourth Church

PEORIA, Ill. (AP) — Spry 88-year-old Mrs. Elizabeth Vinz, a member of the State Park Baptist Church for 75 years, has outlived three church buildings and helped break ground for the fourth.

Mrs. Vinz went to Sunday school at the original church site, a little wooden building.

Night Patrol in Painting

STUTTGART, Germany — The first "police dog" celebrated as such in art was a schnauzer portrayed with a night patrolman in a picture painted in 1620 in Stuttgart.

Cuban Industry Uses Sugar Cane to Make Paper

HAVANA, Cuba (AP) — The making of paper out of bagasse, sugar cane waste, is developing into big business in Cuba.

Cristobal Diaz, president of Tecnica Cubana, predicts production will hit two million tons annually.

The paper mill of Tecnica Cubana near Cardenas in Matanzas Province is the first devoted exclusively to making newsprint and other paper from 100 per cent sugar cane bagasse.

Some of Havana's newspapers already are being printed on bagasse paper. Diaz is vice president of the company publishing the newspaper El Pais.

"By the first of December we expect to be in a position to serve all newspaper publishing firms in the country with a permanent stock of 3,000 tons in our Havana warehouse," Diaz said.

Cuban newsprint for all the island's papers would save the country about six million dollars a year in foreign exchanges.

Joaquin de la Rosa, a Cuban-American engineer, developed the current process of converting bagasse into newsprint. He noted that the price of newsprint produced from wood pulp jumped from $136 per ton in Havana in 1936 to the current figure of $158 per ton. Bagasse paper is much cheaper.

HISTORIC SPOT — The turnstiles at historic old Fort Mackinac on Mackinac Island have been spinning this season with tourists flocked to the Straits of Mackinac. W. Stuart Woodfill, chairman of the Mackinac Park Commission, reported 118,246 visitors — about five times the normal number — viewed the fort from June 15 to Sept. 30.

Chief Defends Record of CIA

Director of Intelligence Says Agency Far From Perfect but Improving

NEW YORK (AP) — Allen W. Dulles, director of the Central Intelligence Agency, says, "We are far from perfect but we are improving."

Dulles defended the agency against criticism that it had failed to alert Washington about the impending Suez and Iraqi crises. "Sometimes — not always — our record is much better than the press would have you believe," he claimed.

Dulles' remarks on this issue were different from those in an advance press release of his text, issued by his office.

The advance release read that the agency's record was sometimes much better than "we can publicly advertise." He omitted these four words from his delivery and substituted the reference to the press.

Dulles spoke at a meeting of the Practising Law Institute, an organization of New York City lawyers.

Describing the problems of his agency, he said: "We have to be willing to take a good bit of ribbing from the public and the press."

Discussing the East-West situation, Dulles said the Soviet Union and Red China are out to dominate the world by "many means short of war, even local war." He mentioned a number of phases of economic competition and subversion. "We must expect very tough competition," he warned.

In over-all military capability, he said, there is every reason to believe that the United States leads the Soviet Union. But he warned that this is no basis for complacency, because the menace today is "the danger of war by accident rather than calculation."

1 Killed, 7 Missing in Oil Blaze on Gulf

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Explosions, followed by fire, demolished a multimillion-dollar offshore oil production platform, killed one crewman and sent 21 others to hospitals.

Seven others were unaccounted for in an inferno in the Gulf of Mexico, 60 miles south of New Orleans. Five, possibly all six, oil wells clustered under the platform burned uncontrolled.

Fatally injured was T. P. Butler, Liberty, Miss.

Critically burned was E. C. Swenson, 44, Algiers, La.

Three other crewmen were in serious condition.

The workmen were hurled or jumped from the platform, 50 feet above the 50-foot-deep water. Survivors were picked up by surface craft and taken to a nearby undamaged platform where they were picked up by helicopters and brought to hospitals.

TOP FARMER — It was a real happy threesome in Kansas City as Jimmie John Jarnigan Jr., holding his son, Jamie, 2, gets a big hug from his wife Charlene after he had been chosen as Star Farmer of America at the 31st national convention of the Future Farmers of America. Jarnigan is a 21-year-old wheat and cattle farmer at Jetmore, Kans.

Students Return After Protest Over Homework

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Another chapter—a get-tough policy — has been written into the history of troubled Ranking High School.

Eighty-eight juniors returned to classes Wednesday after a two-day walkout in protest of "too much homework" assigned them by Thomas A. Rodgers, a veteran history teacher.

Upon their return, Supt. Maurice Silverstein warned juniors that if there is any further trouble they will be expelled.

Warned parents that if a pupil is absent illegally for three successive days the parents will be prosecuted under the school code. Advised teachers to maintain firm discipline and not to "take any guff" from the pupils.

The pupils agreed Tuesday night at a stormy School Board meeting to return to school after Rodgers promised he would reduce their homework.

After the meeting, Silverstein announced Rodgers would not teach the junior class for a 20-day cooling-off period, but later said the announcement had been made in haste.

Rodgers, meanwhile, was excused from his duties Wednesday he was not feeling well. Silverstein said Rodgers can teach any class he wants when he returns.

U.S. Wine Sales Rise

LOS ANGELES — Sales of wine in the United States during 1957 totaled 151,903,091 gallons, the highest ever and an increase of 1.24 per cent over 1956. California wines represented 81.8 per cent of the total sales, according to the National Wine Institute.

Faubus Accuses School Board

Threatens Legislative Action to Free Teachers for Private School

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — The Little Rock School Board today faced the threat of legislative action to make it release teachers for a private school operation.

Gov. Orval E. Faubus accused the board of blocking progress on the private education plan by refusing to free its teachers from their contracts.

After conferring with the governor, State Rep. Paul Van Dusen of Perry County said if the board continues in its refusal the legislature will step into the matter.

"If necessary we will release them by abolishing the district altogether," Van Dusen said. He added that other legislators agreed with his viewpoint.

Dr. William G. Cooper, a School Board member, replied to Faubus' charge by saying the board had not attempted to tell public school teachers what to do.

The teachers have been advised by School Board attorneys not to participate in any private school plan, in view of a federal court order issued last month restraining the board and all other parties from engaging in such a plan.

The order was extended Wednesday by the U.S. 8th Circuit Court of Appeals at St. Louis.

Presiding Judge Joseph W. Woodruff of the special three-member panel said the edict will remain in force until the court makes its final ruling "as soon as possible."

Clinton School Seeking Funds

Federal Aid Negligible, Board to Accept Private Donations in Rebuilding

CLINTON, Tenn. (AP) — The Anderson County School Board, given little encouragement about federal aid, has voted to accept private donations to help rebuild bombed Clinton High School.

The board voted Wednesday to accept $362 in private donations from all parts of the nation and to take up columnist Drew Pearson's suggestion for a "Committee on the Clinton School House."

Pearson said his committee, which will be incorporated, will seek financial and other assistance for the repair job.

The School Board also instructed Supt. James A. Newman to prepare papers necessary to get the only kind of federal aid available to it. Engineers have estimated $250,000 will be needed to repair the damage caused to the school's interior by three predawn dynamite blasts Oct. 5.

President Eisenhower said at Wednesday's news conference that federal aid is available only under existing laws providing funds for areas heavily populated with federal workers. Many Clinton residents work at atomic installations in nearby Oak Ridge.

Youth Court Judge Raps for Order With Paddle

JACKSON, Miss. (UPI) — Judge W. T. Horton has a new kind of "gavel" he uses when presiding in youth court. Shaped like a paddle, it quickly commands the respect of juveniles. Horton said he also "prescribes" it to parents as "medicine" for their delinquent children. "Like all other medicine it should be taken as needed," Horton said. "I tell parents to be sure a child is guilty before spanking him; never spank him when angry; don't apologize after spanking him; and use the paddle as a reality, not as a threat."

Crowds Small, Interest Lags

New Jersey Campaign Fails to Rouse Voters

One of a Series
By JOHN KOLESAR
TRENTON, N.J. (AP) — New Jersey's U.S. Senate candidates look as though they were picked by a Hollywood casting director. But the campaign has been no hit at the box office.

The whole thing has party heads on both sides baffled. It figures to be a very close election. But no crowds, no heat and not much voter interest have shown so far.

Running for the Republicans is U.S. Rep. Robert W. Kean, 55-year-old veteran congressman and millionaire investment banker with a U.S. Senate tradition in his family. His gray hair, almost white mustache and dignified carriage conform to one of the popular ideas of what a senator looks like.

Opposing Kean is Harrison A. Williams Jr., 38-year-old lawyer and former congressman. Dark-haired and boyish-looking, Williams personifies the young, liberal Democratic candidate.

They are battling for the seat being vacated by Sen. H. Alexander Smith, 78-year-old Republican who is retiring.

Kean's 20-year record in Congress has been the main battle ground. He backs the Eisenhower foreign policy, favors economy in government and speaks often with pride about Social Security law amendments he has sponsored.

Williams, who often backed Eisenhower's foreign policy when he was in Congress from 1954 to 1957, is more critical nowadays. But he charges that there is a marked isolationist trend in Kean's record. He says much of Kean's work on the Social Security law was technical and that many times Kean voted against the basic ideas involved.

A large unspoken part of Williams' campaign is the Sherman Adams issue. Kean admits the Adams case may cost him votes, even though he was one of the first Republicans to call for Adams' resignation as President Eisenhower's top aide, after Adams was shown to have accepted favors from a friend who was in some difficulties with the government.

Both men have concentrated on personal campaigns, with little reliance on television and radio. While their schedules are basically similar, Williams relies more on rallies at union halls and fewer teas and coffee hours than Kean.

Both men travel around the state in automobile caravans led by sound trucks (Kean's unaccountably features a recording of "Happy Days Are Here Again," the New Deal theme song).

While Williams thrives on campaigning, he worries about staying away from home too much. His wife Nancy dislikes politics and stays home with their five young children.

"Gee, my wife will kill me," he said after a recent 19-hour day of campaigning. "I didn't get home until after midnight last night either."

Kean is getting plenty of help from his family. His wife Elizabeth makes the tours with him and likes politics. Their six children are grown up.

Both Kean's father and uncle were U.S. senators. His party has won every U.S. Senate election in New Jersey for the past 23 years.

Williams won election to Congress in 1953 in a district that had not elected a Democrat in the 22 years since its creation.

He was defeated for re-election in 1956 by 4,000 votes when Eisenhower piled up an 80,000-vote plurality in the district.

Both sides make standard victory predictions, but neither is overly confident. The 1954 Senate election in New Jersey was decided by 3,000 out of 1,700,000 votes, and polls so far show Kean and Williams exactly even.

Bright Colored Beads Prove Fatal for Quail

EL RENO, Okla. (AP) — George Wint, superintendent of the state game farm here, found a dead quail and investigated to see what was the cause of the death.

He found the quail has stuffed itself with bright red, white and blue beads of the type used for Indian moccasins.

Sulphur Mines Lie Under Gulf

Artificial Islands Built on Steel Pilings House All Equipment, Men

WASHINGTON — Rich deposits of petroleum and sulphur lie south of Texas and Louisiana.

But there is one serious drawback. The Gulf of Mexico is above them, posing a watery barrier between the wealth and the men who would mine it.

There are no natural islands on which workers could stand or build their drilling rigs, the National Geographic Society points out. So artificial islands have been built.

The largest artificial island, almost a mile long, is being constructed over a deposit of sulphur seven miles from the Louisiana coast. It will house everything needed for a sulphur mine, including a water heating plant, air compressing equipment, three drilling platforms, a heliport, and living quarters for 250 men. It is expected to cost $30 million.

Supported by 250-foot steel pilings, the island will be shaped like the letter Y. Its builders, the Freeport Sulphur Company, expect it to be the site of one of the world's largest sulphur mining operations when production starts in 1960.

HOT-WATER MINING

The sulphur island will operate by the Frasch process, a liquid mining technique first designed for the boggy areas of the Gulf Coast.

Each well will consist of three pipes, one inside another. When in full operation, the plant will force 5 million gallons of sea water, at 325 degrees Fahrenheit, down the outermost pipe each day. The heat will melt the sulphur, converting it to a brownish-yellow liquid. It will then be forced up the middle pipe by compressed air sent down the smallest pipe.

Such hot-water mines bubbled up 5.5 million of the 7 million tons of sulphur produced in the United States in 1957.

Stork Makes His Call During Nurses Reunion

OMAHA — As far as Mrs. Harold Rock was concerned, her nursing class couldn't have picked a better place for a reunion than Clarkson Hospital.

In the midst of the reunion, Mrs. Rock realized that something was about to happen which would take precedence over the reunion.

She took the elevator to the maternity ward where a short time later she gave birth to a six-pound, 15 ounce son.

Florida's Land Boom Seems Incredible

By DOUGLAS LARSEN

ORLANDO, Fla. (NEA) — If all the lots staked out in Florida's incredible land boom suddenly sprouted houses and occupants, the state's population would jump by 50 million.

Even at today's record rate of construction, it would take more than 10 years to build homes on the countless subdivisions where sites are now being offered.

"I doubt whether one of those electronic calculators could have kept up with exact figures on acreage and funds invested," says a spokesman for the Florida Real Estate Commission here in Orlando.

There are 39,000 licensed real estate salesmen and brokers in this state, a ratio of land-sellers to land about triple the average in other states. And that does not include thousands of salesmen engaged in mail-order and out-of-state land-selling activities. Florida land is being peddled in all the states, territories and dozens of foreign countries.

Florida is enjoying a substantial industrial expansion. This is bringing in new citizens. Many defense plants have been built in this area for proximity to the Cape Canaveral missile test base 80 miles from here.

But the bulk of Florida's population boom has consisted of elderly people. A survey of the firms promoting these big land projects reveals that upwards of 75 per cent of the customers have eventually retired in Florida as their motive for buying.

John N. Webb, a University of Florida population expert, says: "Between 1950 and 1957 the state gained more than a million and a third in civilian population. This has contributed to a 50 per cent increase of persons 65 years of age and older. This is striking when compared with a rate of increase of around 20 per cent in this group in the nation as a whole."

Another University of Florida expert, George B. Hurff, says:

"Ease of living, the belief that there's more elbow room here, sunshine and warmth and good fishing, in about that order, are the things people think they will find in Florida which make them want to retire here. The trouble is, some retirees find that the problems resulting from uprooting themselves to come here are not compensated for by the sunshine."

The University of Florida is planning extensive new research on this question.

Newspaper and state officials are constantly warning possible customers for Florida lots to see any land before they buy it and be sure they understand what living conditions are like in the state. Everyone fears a repeat of the notorious land boom of the '20s.

Some land which is under water part of the time is being offered. Some swampland is being peddled by crooks. But this appears to be a minute fraction of the total sales effort. The vast bulk of the selling is free of fraud or chicanery.

And a great deal of the boom is in the offering of attractive lots and homes which will give low-cost retirement in a land once believed only available to the rich. Ten dollars down and $10 a month for four to six years will get you a lot with maybe some shade and close to the water.

Lots selling for $2,000 will guarantee shade and water. Oceanfront property at Cocoa, for example, is between $175 and $700 a front foot. At Sarasota it's be-

New Enemy in South Korea

Army Uses DDT as Weapon in War on Sleeping Sickness

TOKYO — With summer hot weather the enemy swarmed through the South Korean hills, over the countryside and into the crowded cities.

By September more than 1,300 men, women and children were counted dead, another 4,500 seriously ill.

In Japan, too, the invader struck, but with less force.

The enemy was a mosquito with the name of Culex tritaeniorhynchus, carrying the virus of the dread disease encephalitis, commonly known as "sleeping sickness."

The virus causes an inflammation of the brain, resulting in paralysis and death. Full recovery is a long and arduous task.

Although deaths attributed to sleeping sickness have been reported all year, the disease reached epidemic proportions in South Korea this summer.

To fight the invader, the U. S. Army in Korea mobilized its forces and ordered "Operation Encephalitis Combat."

TOWNS SPRAYED

Four light planes from the 8th Army aviation detachment have sprayed 2,500 gallons of insecticide on all military installations and some 100 Korean towns and villages, each craft spraying 120 gallons on twice daily flights.

On the ground 42 chemical generators have blown 5,000 gallons of DDT into the air at the rate of 650 gallons daily.

The Korean capital, Seoul, and the nearby American military area, known as Ascom, have been sprayed.

"Operational Encephalitis Combat" will continue for as long as American medical authorities deem it necessary but with cooler fall weather the epidemic has been subsiding.

"It is very difficult to determine how successful the campaign has been to date since there is really no way to forecast how many cases of encephalitis we would have had without an active campaign," said Col. L. F. Taylor of Carmel, Calif., chief surgeon of the U. S. 8th Army in Korea.

American experts have established one mosquito, technically named Culex tritaeniorhynchus as an encephalitis carrier.

A second mosquito of the common variety found in the United States and scientifically known as Culex pipiens, was also suspected to be a carrier.

KOREA WORSE HIT

Although the disease is commonly known as Japanese Encephalitis B, the epidemic was much more virulent in Korea than in Japan. The worst Korean epidemic was in 1949 when 5,616 were stricken and 2,729 died.

The Japanese Welfare Ministry has combated the disease principally with vaccine. Some three million school children were given the serum.

Japanese health officials explained they developed the vaccine "because we cannot spray DDT by airplane over wide areas as the Americans do — because of the lack of funds."

"The vaccine produced some bad side effects previously," he added, "but we succeeded in doing away with this last year."

Boston Church Group Escapes in Bombing

BOSTON (AP) — A homemade bomb exploded near a meeting place of the Jehovah's Witnesses religious sect Wednesday night.

The meeting of the group at the home of Mrs. Agnes Haroutunian, about 45, had adjourned about an hour before the explosion.

No one was injured, but the blast blew out about 30 windows in nearby tenements and shot pieces of the bomb into walls of several buildings.

Police refused to comment on the possibility the explosion was in any way connected with the recent bombings of synagogues in Peoria, Ill., and Atlanta, Ga.

A preliminary investigation, police said, indicated the bomb was made by filling a six-inch length of pipe with powder, and set off with a fuse.

The blast ripped a hole six inches wide and four inches deep in the ground.

Some fragments penetrated the window of a room in which children were sleeping. Other pieces went through windows in homes where residents were watching television.

Mrs. Haroutunian said the gathering at her home was a business meeting attended by a few members of the sect.

He 'Collects' Airports, Publishes a Magazine

MOBILE, Ala. — Wayne Parrish of Washington, D. C., publisher of various aviation magazines, recently "collected" the Mobile municipal airport.

It's a hobby with the publisher to touch down on as many airports as he can and thus add each one to his "collection." He estimates he's collected between 550 and 600 airports in the United States and about 75 foreign countries so far. He doesn't have too many more to go in this country, either.

Rightists Cancel Strike in Algeria

Calling Off of Plan to Protest Policies Seen as De Gaulle Victory

ALGIERS (AP)—French rightists today called off a scheduled general strike to protest Premier Charles de Gaulle's policies in Algeria.

The cancellation was a victory for De Gaulle's policies. Organized opposition to De Gaulle appeared to be falling away. The cancellation was announced by the badly divided Public Safety Committee after Gen. Raoul Salan, De Gaulle's personal deputy in Algeria and the military and civilian ruler of the territory, had called in the committee leaders.

Leading Moslem members of the committee joined the army leadership and the government in opposing the strike and demonstration. Belief was widespread in Algiers that De Gaulle would triumph and cement his control of the territory.

A stormy session of the central Public Safety Committee, attended at the end by only 25 of the 64 members, decided to go ahead with the defiance of De Gaulle. "We are going until the end," declared Pierre la Gaillarde, bearded former paratroop lieutenant who heads militant local student organizations.

"Go home and sleep, you cowards!" he shouted to committee members who bolted the emergency night meeting.

Jaywalk Ticket Trips Fugitive of 27 Years

DETROIT (AP)—Failure to pay a jaywalking ticket may send Victor Moore back to the Alabama road gang police say he escaped from 27 years ago.

Police arrested Moore this week when he failed to pay the ticket. They took his fingerprints. They say a check showed the prints to be identical to those of Lee Murray, who escaped from a road gang May 31, 1931, near Montgomery, Ala. Murray was serving a three to four year term for burglary.

Officers said Moore, 35, admitted he was Murray. They said he told them he drifted around the South after his escape before coming to Detroit eight years ago, marrying and fathering five children.

Police said they planned to communicate with Alabama authorities and see if Moore still was wanted in that state.

Donner, General Motors board chairman, and H. Glenn Bixby, Ex-Cell-O president.

Church Sends Pledge Cards

Commerce Methodists Try to Raise $40,000 in Building Fund Drive

COMMERCE TOWNSHIP—In an effort to raise $40,000 during a third building fund drive, a Commerce Methodist Church committee has mailed pledge cards to members and friends of the church.

The building fund committee has requested the cards be returned, if possible, at the time of the Harvest Home banquet scheduled for 6:30 p.m. Saturday at the church.

A percentage of the money pledged during the four-day campaign Oct. 13-21, will be used to reduce the church debt. Remainder of the money will be allocated for certain projects to improve the new church.

A group of church members will make home visits on Sunday, Monday and Tuesday between 2:30 and 5 p.m.

The group includes Leslie Parrish, chairman of the official church board; George Roman, chairman of the membership commission; Kenneth Hausauer, chairman of the finance commission; and Bill Krug, Sunday School superintendent.

Members of the church's Board of Trustees and members of the congregation at large also will make home visits.

NORTH BRANCH — Delores Ruhlman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ruhlman of North Branch, and John S. Griffin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Griffin of North Branch, pledged their marriage vows at a Nuptial High Mass in St. Mary's Church, Burnside Township, Saturday morning.

Gertrude Ruhlman was maid of honor for her sister, and Mary, another sister, served as bridesmaid. Joseph P. Ruhlman, the bride's brother, served as best man.

Jack Bentz of Ellington and Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Newbegin, brother-in-law and sister of the bridegroom, also attended the couple. The Rev. John Hubert, pastor, officiated at the service.

An evening reception was held at American Legion Hall, North Branch.

CHARLESTON, S.C. (AP)—"That looks like my son," cried Ben Scott as a small boy was wheeled into the hospital's emergency room. Scott, awaiting treatment for a hand injured at work, fainted when he realized the motionless form actually was his 6-year-old son Randolph. The boy, struck by a car, died a short time later.

WILL NAME OFFICERS

The doctors will name their chief of staff and other officers this weekend, Richards said.

Meanwhile, the three organizations working together to arrange tours of the hospital during the dedication day weekend, Oct. 24-26, announced that 150 area women will be on hand to act as receptionists and guides.

The three organizations are the Tri-County Nurses Assn.; Gray Ladies and the Hospital Auxiliary.

"Patients' rooms will be ready for visitors and the hospital grounds will be almost completely landscaped in time for the ceremonies Oct. 24," Charles Ferguson, dedication day chairman, said today.

Several veterans groups also have been contacted to take part in the flag-raising ceremonies, which will occupy a prominent place in the program, he said.

The dedication will precede the official opening of the hospital, which will be announced later.

WILL BE EXPANDED

The basic unit of the hospital was designed to start with 30 beds, and eventually will be expanded to 70 beds as the need dictates.

On Oct. 28, bids will be opened for the first addition, which will add a 16-bed wing to the building.

The medical facility will serve adjacent parts of Lapeer, St. Clair, Oakland and Macomb counties.

AT HOME EXTENSION WORKSHOP—Christmas decorations, party favors, gift wrapping techniques and many other ideas for the yuletide season were displayed and demonstrated at two workshops for the 125 Oakland County Home Extension clubs. Some 2,000 women attended the workshops, held at West Bloomfield and

5,000 in Rochester Hear Marine Band

ROCHESTER — Some 5,000 persons heard the U.S. Marine Band in two performances at the new Rochester High School gymnasium yesterday.

School children packed the gym in the afternoon and a capacity audience of 2,300 heard the evening performance.

Lt. Col. Albert Schoepfer directed the 52-man, red-coated symphonic band through a program of anthems and classical selections, as well as popular favorites.

The band's appearance here was sponsored by the Rochester Tuesday Musicale. Proceeds will be used by the group to provide music scholarships.

Parents have been asked to report to their child's home rooms prior to 8 p.m. to obtain schedules. Thereafter, they will follow the same schedule, except on a shortened basis, that their child does during his school days.

The same type of program will be held Oct. 23 at the senior high. Teachers will tell parents what is expected in each class, and explain the work pupils are doing.

Area's 1st Education Program To Train Scooter Riders

Oakland County area's first driver education program for motor scooter operators will convene next Thursday in Farmington Township, Hugh Owen, township police commissioner, announced today.

Owen said the "scooter school" would be sponsored and conducted by the Farmington Township Police Dept.

The first class will be held from 7 to 9 p.m. Oct. 23 at Dunckel High School, 12-Mile and Farmington roads, with scooter riders and their parents watching a safety movie and hearing a lecture on laws relating to motor scooters and the responsibilities of parents.

Irving H. Yakes, chief of Police, said township residents from 13 to 16 years of age will be eligible for the school.

Advance registrations are being taken at Owen Sporting Goods, Grand River at Middlebelt; Franklin Drug Store, 14-Mile at Middlebelt; and Gaabo Mobil Service, 12-Mile at Farmington road.

"We plan on holding three classroom sessions," Yakes explained, "and two driving range classes, with prizes going to the best operators."

"The purpose of this school is to prepare these youngsters for a life of driving," he pointed out. "We feel that if we can teach them courtesy, safety and skill now, they'll be better automobile drivers when that time comes."

Michigan Farmer Not a Hayseed but Progressive Businessman

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—Only the cartoonist still sees the farmer as a hayseed character. In Michigan, at least, the composite picture of today's successful farmer shows him as a progressive, efficient businessman whose receipts in 1956 were a whopping 700 million dollars.

132,922 STATE RESIDENTS His expenses diverted about 500 million dollars into Michigan's economic stream.

Michigan counts about 132,922 farm residents. About 57,922 are full time commercial farmers. The off-farm jobs.

Both categories generally wouldn't trade rural life for the most choice location in any city.

Typical of the varied farming operations today are those of Don Nutt, Ravenna dairy farmer and dairy cattle dealer, and the A. J. Schaefer, Sons orchards in the Peach Ridge area of northwest Kent County.

Except for outward appearances, it's hard for the visitor to realize he is in farm territory at either location.

A chat with Nutt takes place in the office he recently built adjoining the bulk milk handling room at one end of his huge dairy barn. The roar of airplane engines drowns out the hum of bees in the Schaefer orchards where farming's air operations have taken hold.

"There possibly is not quite the income from farming as in city work," Nutt observes. "Certain costs—fuel, electricity, telephone and other expenses—run about the same. But being able to dine on your own vegetables in season and your own eggs and a steady supply of milk and meat, definitely is a plus for the farmer."

The farmer must look at his job as a business, Nutt says. "He must keep records—know when to buy and when to sell."

Nutt believes that most farm residents enjoy the same comforts of living through modern appliances as do city dwellers.

MOVED IN 1942 "Most important," he says, "the farmer has a job."

Nutt gave up urban life in 1942 when he and his wife moved to the farm which they have expanded to 263 acres. He employs two full-time workers.

APPLE-SEARING MACHINE Besides its three cavernous bins which held up to 33,000 bushels each, it contains the only apple-searing machine of its type in Michigan.

The device, one of 14 manufactured by a West Coast firm, is an assembly line process for placing apples of various sizes into packing crates.

A timeclock hanging inside the storage doorway indicates how businesslike the modern farm has become.

Tax problems enter the picture in several ways.

"Withholding taxes are a trial, especially because of seasonal workers," says Arnold Jr. Local taxes, surprisingly, are boosted indirectly by former city dwellers.

"For instance," Schaefer explains, "my farm is forced to pay more in taxes to support an integrated school district which is the result of people from the city buying little plots of suburban land for homes, calling for more school and city utility service."

The success of their fruit business might be measured in the annual Schaefer, Sons output of between 50,000 and 75,000 bushels of apples.

Rampaging Rio Grande Threatens Towns Along Each Side of Border

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (AP)—The flooding Rio Grande teamed up with heavy downpours to chase thousands from their homes on both sides of the border river.

More rains upstream on the Mexican side threatened even higher water.

Heavy releases of water were made from Falcon Reservoir, about 150 miles upstream, because the flood pool was full and more water was headed downstream. The releases combined with downpours and inflows from Mexico to spread flooding and misery from the huge reservoir to the Gulf.

At El Paso, heavy rains of up to 5 inches flooded streets and homes, closed schools and sent some 120 persons to temporary shelters.

The Mexican city of Carmago was deserted except for police and army officials. The entire population, estimated at more than 5,000, sought higher ground when the Rio San Juan backed into streets and houses.

Penitas and Abram, two small American villages south of Mission, were ordered evacuated as a precaution.

About 150 persons were made homeless in Reynosa, Mexico, when their homes were destroyed so a levee could be built on an irrigation canal. Water backed into the canal from the Rio Grande and threatened low-lying areas.

No loss of life was reported, however.

Formosa Situation Needs Watching, Taylor Warns

SEOUL (AP)—Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, U.S. Army chief of staff, said today the situation in the Formosa Strait needs to be watched for a long time.

Commenting on the two-week extension of the cease-fire proclaimed by Communist China, Taylor said, "We know how unreliable the Communists are."

Taylor, former U.S. and U.N. commander in Korea, arrived today for a four-day visit to troop installations here.

After Trip Behind Bamboo Curtain, Strohm Finds:

Red China Needs More Food, Less Babies

By JOHN STROHM
NEW YORK (NEA)—"Malthus," said the professor, and my startled look must have amused him. "We're not worried about Malthus."

The speaker was an economist from the Economic Research Institute of Peking and he spoke scornfully. His reference was of course to Thomas Albert Malthus, a British curate who died 124 years ago but whose theory that an unchecked population far outruns the growth of food supply is still the stuff that population arguments are based upon.

Red China's future hopes — to feed its expanding masses and to become a modern industrial power — rest squarely on the ability of 500 million boeswing peasants to prove the thoughtful curate wrong.

There is an awesome task: to feed 640 million persons. And every day another 40,000 mouths demanding rice!

Population experts project a population for mainland China in 75 years of one billion. By then the problem will be to feed this horde with only three-tenths of an acre per person. (The U. S. today has two acres of cultivated land per person.)

In no place upon the globe has so little land been called upon to sustain so many persons. Can it ever be done? Modern Malthusians in Washington, London and Moscow would give a lot to know.

China has two secret weapons for dealing with what must surely be the biggest food problem any nation ever faced: 1. the "great leap forward in agriculture," and 2. birth control, the "great leap" backward in babies.

The "great leap" is Communist jargon for the most gigantic mobilization of manpower in history. By comparison the building of the Pyramids of Cheops and the Great Wall of China were ambitious doodles.

China claims her food grain production was tripled in the past two years. Few Westerners believe this.

"The more people we have, the more workers we have to produce food and industrial products," the Peking economist went on. "Our food production is increasing more rapidly than our population. In Western countries I know you have decreases in food production and loss by soil erosion. We have no room for such things in China."

What is the picture on these farms which must do the impossible in order that Red China may "leap forward"? It's sweating, bare-backed men swinging heavy hoes... barefoot women cutting heads of rice by hand... wispy bearded oldsters using wooden rakes and pitchforks... children winnowing grain with the help of the wind... wiry men straining to pull a wooden plow because they had no donkey or cow... patient peasants pumping irrigation water by treadmill.

The lack of machinery is appalling; not once did I get close enough to a working tractor to take a picture.

China claims its fantastic yields this year are built on three things: More irrigation, more double cropping, more fertilizer, and deep plowing.

Weary peasants ordinarily take a month off at Chinese New Year's in February. This year more than 200 million people, swarming like ants, dug canals, built dams and reservoirs, made terraces on mountainsides. The farm force was augmented by millions of office and factory workers, artists and writers, movie actors and bureaucrats because the new Chinese Communist line is that everyone must do some hard physical labor.

Their tools: big hoes to dig; baskets slung on a springy carrying pole to carry the dirt. Their results: They claim their irrigated acreage jumped by a whopping 74 million acres.

Even the graveyards contribute. The once-revered bones of ancestors now help boost 1958 yields.

Of chemical fertilizer, I saw little. And the only fertilizer factory I visited wouldn't give production figures. Every other factory seemed happy to boast of its progress. China is importing all the fertilizer she can afford to buy and trying to buy fertilizer plants and equipment abroad.

Peasants are being urged to make chemical fertilizer in backyard factories — no job for amateurs. One slight mistake with nitrates — Chinese fireworks!

I was quoted yield figures on some plots I saw which my farm brothers are going to read and say: "Somebody's lying — that's impossible!" For example: Corn, 3,850 bushels per acre, when the top record U. S. yield is 300 bushels per acre. Wheat, 1,100 bushels per acre, when world record is 230 bushels.

Most fantastic claim of all: On a commune near Tientsin, I saw a rice plot estimated to yield 11,000 bushels per acre.

They had jammed rice sprouts at the rate of 300,000 to the acre, root to root.

The reported big yields from experimental plots have had two results: They've stimulated peasants to toss out old ideas; they've encouraged the Chinese, I'm afraid, to exaggerate the yields they're getting on the rest of the land. (Copyright 1958, NEA Service, Inc.)

Classroom TV Proves Worth

Detroit Study Shows Students Learn More, Need Less Discipline

DETROIT (UPI)—Use of television in classrooms increases students' learning, cuts down tardiness and absenteeism and reduces discipline problems.

These results were announced this week after a year of television evaluation tests in Detroit's classrooms.

Results indicated that all television classes showed marked improvement over the traditional manner, Dr. Robert S. Lankton, of the department of instructional research, told the Detroit Board of Education.

"In American Literature, eighth-grade science and health, the television groups made higher average scores than did the control groups," Lankton said.

He said television classes in elementary science and world history also scored higher than control groups minus TV.

About 3,500 pupils were enrolled in television courses in three elementary schools, three junior high and three senior high schools. Both TV classes and regular classes were given tests before the courses started and after they concluded.

Students received instructions from TV sets in the classrooms. Each class also had two teachers in the room to maintain discipline, check the roll, give tests and answer questions.

TV classes ranged from 100 to 200 pupils each while the traditional classes averaged about 30 pupils.

Meteor Cause of Fire at Market Near Flint?

FLINT (UPI)—State Police and geologists today planned to investigate the possibility that a $200,000 Flushing Township fire might have been caused by a meteor.

Dr. Benjamin Moulton, Flint Junior College geologist, was expected to enter the investigation today.

A meteor-like metal was found at the scene after a factory worker reported seeing a flash in the sky in the general direction of a supermarket six miles west of here early Monday.

Det. Donald Hynes found an eight-inch clinker type substance in the ruins. He said chipped concrete near the spot where the metal was found indicated that a hard substance could have skipped along the floor.

The blaze was spotted about 10 minutes after a village policeman found everything in order when he passed by the market.

State's Catholic Prelates Set Up Welfare Agency

LANSING (AP)—Michigan's Catholic prelates have set up a statewide social welfare agency to be known as Catholic Charities of Michigan, Inc.

The Most Rev. Joseph H. Albers, Bishop of Lansing, yesterday announced formation of the new non-profit agency of which he will serve as president.

The project is a joint effort of Edward Cardinal Mooney of Detroit and the bishops of Lansing, Grand Rapids, Marquette and Saginaw.

The agency's constitution says its purpose is to "promote the material and moral well being of the people of the State of Michigan."

400 Fords 'Given Away'

DETROIT (AP)—Ford Motor Co. gave 400 new Fords away Thursday — for a month. They went to 400 consumers invited here from across the country by the car-maker to sample public opinion on likes and dislikes in automobiles. Those being given new cars for a month are required to keep tabs on gas mileage, oil consumption, lubrication requirements, repairs and the like.

Williams Given Rocking Chair for Ailing Wife

KALAMAZOO (AP)—Gov. Williams got a new rocking chair, made a report on his ailing wife and talked in an off-hand manner of his White House ambitions last night.

The Nantucket rocker was a gift from Democrats of the Third and Fourth Congressional Districts.

"It's for your wife Nancy," said Gordon Elferdink, Democratic candidate for Congress in the Fourth District. "It's made with the express purpose that it goes to the White House two years from now."

"Thanks," said the governor, "and I hope you can toddle down from the capitol and sit in it yourself."

Answering queries about Mrs. Williams, who is hospitalized with a virus infection that has affected her nervous system, the governor said: "Doctors have got her walking up and down the halls now, and I'm happy to say she's improving."

The ancient Egyptians used the scarab, symbol of a beetle considered to be sacred, as a seal and amulet.

WEST POINT, N. Y. — When authorized by an act of Congress March 16, 1802, the corps of cadets at the United States Military Academy was set at a strength

Heat-Panel Idea New

WALTHAM, Mass. — A new concept in wall design, a combined curtain wall panel and electric radiant heating, has been developed by a Waltham firm. It is applicable for office buildings, apartment houses, schools, hotels,

Potatoes Are Good Standby

Leave it to the Irish to wrap up their ideas in a neat package of words: "Be eating one potato, be peeling a second, have a third in your fist and your eye on a fourth."

That gives you a good idea of how important potatoes were to the people of Ireland a century or so ago. In fact, it's well recorded that so many of us in the United States can claim Irish ancestry because of a series of potato famines, which literally starved people into leaving the Old Sod.

Even though we Americans don't eat as many potatoes as the Irish of a century ago, and only about half as many as our own grand parents, still we eat more potatoes than any other vegetables, about a hundred pounds a year for each of us.

Home economists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture suggest that next time you have some left-over roast beef, use it to make:

Beef and Potato Puff
2 tablespoons chopped onion
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
2 tablespoons fat
1 cup ground cooked beef
3 cups mashed potatoes
1 cup gravy or milk
2 eggs
Salt and pepper

Cook the onion and parsley for a few minutes in the fat; then mix thoroughly with the meat, potatoes and gravy or milk. Season to taste. Beat egg yolks and whites separately, add yolks first and then the whites. Put into a greased baking dish and bake in moderate oven, 350 degrees, or until lightly browned.

Serve Canned Chili on Brown French Fries

NEW YORK (UPD) — Chili and French fries combine for a hearty, easy-to-fix supper entree for the football season.

Brown 1 (1-pound) package frozen French fries in 2 or 3 tablespoons hot fat or oil over moderate heat, turning potatoes as necessary to brown evenly. Drain, salt to taste and serve with 2 (No. 303) cans chili con carne, either as side dish or with chili poured over potatoes. Serves 4.

Maybe you'll want to provide a hearty welcoming table at the end of a stirring hayride. Or maybe you'll be asked to provide an imaginative treat for the bowling gang, or a do-it-yourself snack for after-school refrigerator raiders.

Time to Make, Serve Doughnuts

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Who put the hole in the doughnut? Legend has it that a sea captain who was very fond of doughnuts, even though they gave him indigestion, made the first doughnut shaped as we know it. The hole in the dough made it possible for the hot fat to reach and cook the entire doughnut.

This time of the year is one for doughnuts more than any other time. It might be because of their association with apple cider. Maybe it's in connection with Halloween.

There are just a few simple rules to follow, no matter what recipe you use to make doughnuts:

1. Use as little flour as possible in rolling out the dough.
2. Roll and cut only a few doughnuts at a time. Excessive handling toughens them.
3. Keep the fat at 365-370 degrees.
4. Fry only a few doughnuts at a time, turning them frequently after they rise to the surface.
5. Remove doughnuts as soon as they are brown and drain on soft crumpled paper.

Mrs. Gerald Shafer, who lives on Rattalee Lake road, cooperated with us in the picture we're using today. Some time ago we got a recipe from her for "Dough-Nos," a doughnut made with mashed potatoes.

When we decided to do a whole story on doughnuts, we asked her and her daughters to pose for a picture. Our photographer sampled the doughnuts and gave them his seal of approval.

Mrs. Shafer is active in Girl Scout work, in church work and in county Extension work. She is secretary of the Home Demonstration Council.

DOUGH-NOS
By Mrs. Gerald Shafer
2 cups sugar
2 cups mashed potatoes
2 cups milk
1 teaspoon vanilla
3 eggs, beaten lightly
1/4 cup melted shortening
3 tablespoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon soda
pinch of salt
8 cups sifted flour

Mix all ingredients together. If necessary to make a dough that is

MOTHER'S HELPERS—The best way to find out if the doughnuts are good is to try them. Anyone knows that. Mrs. Gerald Shafer says that the Dough-Nos she makes have a habit of disappearing pretty fast. Could her three daughters, Faye, aged 12 soft but easy to handle, add more milk, butter or margarine and salt in large mixing bowl. Cool to lukewarm. Stir in yeast and cracker crumbs. Sift flour, sugar and spices.

A different recipe for doughnuts uses whole wheat flour and buttermilk or sour milk. This dough is spiced.

Whole Wheat Doughnuts
2 1/2 cups sifted enriched flour
1 tablespoon baking powder
1/4 teaspoon soda
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1 1/2 cups whole wheat flour
2 eggs
1/2 cup granulated sugar
1/2 cup brown sugar
3 tablespoons melted shortening
2 tablespoons grated lemon rind
1/2 teaspoon vanilla extract
1 cup buttermilk or sour milk

Sift together flour, baking powder, salt, nutmeg and cinnamon. Add whole wheat flour. Beat eggs. Add sugar and beat until light. Add shortening, lemon rind and vanilla extract. Mix well. Add flour mixture to egg mixture alternately with buttermilk or sour milk. Mix lightly to make a soft dough.

Turn out on lightly floured board or pastry cloth. Roll about 1/4 inch thick. Cut with lightly floured doughnut cutter. Fry in deep hot fat (365 degrees) turning frequently until browned. Drain thoroughly on absorbent paper. Dust with cinnamon sugar, if desired. Makes 2 dozen 2 1/2-inch doughnuts.

If you want doughnuts in a hurry, here's a quickie idea. Buy a carton of refrigerator biscuits. Cut a whole in the center of each and fry like doughnuts. Fry the holes, too. This is a good idea for the person who wants only a few doughnuts.

RAISED DOUGHNUTS
This last recipe is for raised doughnuts. They are unusual in that graham cracker crumbs are called for as an ingredient.

Special Doughnuts
1 package active dry yeast
1/4 cup warm water
1 cup milk, scalded
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1/2 teaspoon salt
20 graham crackers, roller fine OR 1 1/2 cup crumbs
3 1/2 cups sifted flour
1/4 cup sugar
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
1/2 teaspoon mace
2 eggs
Additional flour as necessary
Dissolve yeast in water. Combine

Rich Grape Pie Made of Juice

There are no grapes in this grape pie, but you'd never know it from the flavor. Rich bottled grape juice teams up with pineapple tidbits to present an attractive, toothsome dessert which will grace any table.

Grape Juice Pineapple Pie
2 13 1/2 oz. cans pineapple tidbits
1 1/2 cups bottled grape juice (about)
1/4 cup sugar
1/4 cup cornstarch
1 egg
1 1/2-inch baked pie shell
1 cup whipping cream, whipped (optional)

Drain pineapple well and pour juice into measuring cup. Measure and add grape juice as needed to pineapple syrup to make 3 cups liquid. Mix sugar, cornstarch and salt in 2-quart saucepan. Stir in liquids gradually. Cook, stirring over moderate heat until mixture is thick, smooth and clear. Cool; fold in pineapple and pour into baked shell. Cool until "set."

Serve plain or top with whipped cream and garnish with pineapple tidbits. Yield, 6 generous servings.

A cup of unsifted cake flour often measures 1 1/2 cups after sifting.

Filled Avocados Served as Salad

If you are planning a luncheon for your club group here is a salad that is easy to prepare and delicious to serve. With this, serve assorted sandwiches and coffee and you have the perfect luncheon.

Fruit-Filled Avocado
3 avocados
3 teaspoons anti-darkening agent
1/4 cup water
Salt and pepper
3 apples, sliced
3 bananas, sliced
1/2 cup Swiss cheese, cut in strips
3 tablespoons French dressing
Greens

In advance: Cut avocados in half lengthwise; lift out seed. Combine anti-darkening agent and water. Brush inside of avocados with anti-darkening solution. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Combine diced apples and bananas and pour remaining solution over them and toss well. Set in refrigerator until ready to serve.

Just before serving, combine fruit, Swiss cheese strips and French Dressing and toss well. Fill centers of avocado with fruit and serve on greens. Makes 6 servings.

'Cooking for Two' a Goldmine of Ideas

Pontiac Press Home Editor
Bridgrooms will never have to reach for the bicarbonate of soda; career wives needn't spend all their food money in the delicatessen; and mothers of grown children, now cooking again for just two, won't have a refrigerator full of leftovers. "Dinner for Two," by Betty Crocker, published by Simon and Schuster, $1.10, has come to their rescue. One of the most attractive, inexpensive cookbooks to land on our desk in many a day, this new book is spiral-bound in a washable cover. Pages lie flat. Not only are there 16 pages of colored food pictures (guaranteed to make you drool), but lively little sketches by Charles Harper decorate each page. * * *

Actually, the book is slanted toward the bride. It goes into detail about kitchen equipment, marketing and basic recipes. All of this is good review material for the older cook who has been used to large quantities for a number of years.

Recipes for the twelve favorite foods throughout American are given; this list starts with broiled steak and ends with baked beans. Some other chapter headings are "Seasonal Specials"; "Regional Meals, USA"; "Pennywise Dinners"; and "When Company Comes." Menus are printed at the top of the pages. Recipes for these menus are given on the two facing pages, making the book easy to use. The authors have recognized that most creative cooks use prepared foods and mixes and also make some of their foods from the raw ingredients. Both types of recipes appear, sometimes side by side.

This All-American Salad, so named because the ingredients come from so many states, is suggested as the main course for a Sunday night supper.

Salad of the States
1 cup bite-size pieces lettuce
1 cup bite-size pieces tomato or escarole
1/2 cup pieces watercress
1 1/2 cups diced cooked lobster
1/2 cup chopped green onions and stems
1 medium avocado, peeled and cubed
4 large stuffed olives, sliced
1 grapefruit in sections
2 medium tomatoes, cubed
Mayonnaise to moisten

Toss all ingredients but tomatoes and mayonnaise together lightly. Chill thoroughly. Just before serving, add tomatoes and mayonnaise and again toss lightly.

Garnish with lobster claws and parsley sprigs. Makes four servings.
One of the foods suggested in the French menu is Croissants. Using biscuit mix, you can make these in very little time and with even less effort.

Croissants
1/2 cup warm water (not hot—105 to 115 degrees)
1 package active dry yeast
1/2 cup biscuit mix
Dissolve yeast in water. Mix in biscuit mix. Beat vigorously. Turn dough onto surface well dusted with more mix. Knead until smooth, about 20 times.

Shape into crescents by rolling dough into a 12-inch circle. Then cut into 16 wedges. Beginning at wide side, roll toward point.

Place on lightly greased baking sheet with point underneath. Cover with damp cloth. Let rise about one hour, until double in bulk.

Bake 10-15 minutes in 400-degree oven, or until a rich golden brown. Brush with butter after baking. Makes 16 rolls.

Once you have added the honey habit to your culinary talents, you'll find many unexpected and delightful uses for it.

Gluten Needed in Bread
Information please: The chief difference between regular (all-purpose) flour and cake flour is that the former contains more gluten. Gluten is the elastic sticky substance in flour that helps to give baked products such as bread their resilient porous structure. Cake flour helps make tender cakes and muffins.

CAMP TOWN BROWNIES — A touch of marshmallow makes them served with fragrant, hot coffee, they'll disappear all the difference in these mouth-watering Camp Town Brownies, in a flash.

Give Brownies New Wrinkle

In Celtic folklore, a brownie is a "tail, dark fellow," but here in the United States, a brownie is something quite different — a delicious chocolate confection that few of us can resist.

Of course, there are lots of recipes for the popular brownie, but, in our opinion, none quite equals this new one for mouth-watering Camp Town Brownies. They're scrumptious, a little bit different — and how well they go with hot coffee!

Camp Town Brownies have the smoothest texture you can imagine, all because of the magic ingredient, marshmallows! The marshmallows completely melt into the batter and happily blend with the tempting flavors of two kinds of chocolate and walnuts.

Camp Town Brownies
2 eggs
1 cup sugar
1/2 cup butter
2 squares unsweetened chocolate
1/2 cup semi-sweet chocolate pieces
1 teaspoon vanilla
1/2 cup sifted flour
1 cup miniature marshmallows
1/2 cup broken walnut meats

Beat eggs until thick and lemon colored. Add sugar gradually while continuing to beat. Melt butter, chocolate and semi-sweet chocolate together over hot water and add with vanilla to egg mixture. Fold in flour. Stir in marshmallows and nuts. Bake in greased 9" square pan in moderate oven (350 degrees) about 30 minutes.

Take Home Your Share of Little Pigs at Market

It's pork-eating time. Pork prices go down as fall supplies grow larger. Wholesale prices fluctuate day by day according to the number of live hogs sold, but consumer prices continue the downward trend.

More than half the pigs are born in the spring and fall is the season when they come to market. The Marketing Information Agent, When the fall pig crop comes to market in the spring, prices usually go down again, although generally not as much as in October, November and December.

What does good quality fresh pork look like? It has:

1. Bright, grayish-pink lean,
2. Firm, white fat on the outside of the cut,
3. Firm, fine textured lean,
4. Fat well distributed through the lean and
5. Bone slightly reddish.

If you choose a fresh pork cut, remember it needs cool temperature. Store it loosely wrapped in the coldest part of your refrigerator. If it comes tightly wrapped, as from a self-service meat counter, puncture the wrapper before refrigerating. Use within three days.

If you freeze fresh pork rewrap in freezer paper. Then freeze at zero degrees.

Which pork cut will you buy? If you wish to compare costs, take the price per pound and divide it by the average number of servings a pound will yield. When number of servings per pound is considered, a lower price per pound does not always mean it is a more economical meat. Let this guide help you decide:

Cuts
Boston butt 2 1/2 to 3
Roast ribs 1 to 1 1/2
Lean End Roast 2 to 3 1/2
Picnic shoulder 1 1/2 to 2

Of course, you will choose other meats for menu variety. With the exception of store specials, you will find beef, veal and lamb wearing the same price tags as a week ago. Fryers range from 29 to 45 cents a pound depending upon their size and how they are prepared for sale. You can save several cents per pound by choosing a whole bird, then cutting it at home.

"Crispy Stuffed Celery"
1/4 cup finely crushed cracker crumbs (8 single crackers, or 2 squares of 4 crackers each)
1 3/4-cup can deviled ham
1 teaspoon grated ham
1 teaspoon chopped parsley
1 tablespoon chili sauce
1 tablespoon mayonnaise
About 15 to 18 celery hearts

Combine all ingredients except celery. Blend well. Stuff individual celery hearts with mixture. Makes 12 to 15 servings.

size eggs this week. Medium size eggs are 2 to 16 cents per pound less than the large size.

Vegetable choices are easy. Quartered carrots and onions baked with a roast, baked squash, cauliflower with a cheese sauce, potatoes prepared in many ways or layers of sweet potatoes with marshmallows or apples may fit into your menu and budget scheme.

Cool weather has helped produce excellent quality cauliflower; supplies have been moderate. Quantities coming to market will get smaller after this week.

Spiced applesauce, hot baked apples, glazed apple rings, apples in salads are just a few go-together ideas for main dishes in next week's meals. The harvest of Delicious and Jonathan varieties is in full swing. Producers say apple color is excellent due to ideal weather conditions just before harvest time. Plentiful apple supplies mean low consumer prices during October.

Tokay grapes, pears, cranberries and plums are other timely fruit choices.

Canned peaches, apple sauce and juices are items on special lists this week. In the frozen food case, check strawberries, frozen peas and dinners.

Pot Roast of Beef Is Cut From Chuck

Pot roast time is back again, and there are several wise choices at the beef counter. The chuck which comes over the front leg and includes the shoulder, is cut into arm, English and blade chuck roasts.

You can easily recognize the arm roast by the round bone in the cut, states the Marketing Information Agent. The English roast is an oblong shape. The blade roast has a long thin blade bone which may run the length of the cut.

All three chuck cuts will serve approximately two people per pound, but most agree that the blade is most difficult to carve. The blade cut is the most tender of the three and sells for about 10 cents less per pound than the arm or English.

Whichever cut you choose, you will have a tender pot roast if you cook it slowly in moisture at low temperature.

New Interest Given Cereal

One new idea that glamorizes hot breakfast cereal is called Hot Cereal Surprise.

The surprise is that you get the ever-popular bananas and cereal combination with hot cereal instead of the ready-to-eat variety. It is a truly delicious dish, easy to make, and well worth the few extra seconds it takes. You'll reap the reward in your family's praise and enjoyment.

Besides providing a new flavor treat for hot cereal, Hot Cereal Surprise also assures the addition of fruit to the breakfast menu. The creamy banana is a perfect texturemate for the hot cereal and also brings valuable supplies of minerals, vitamins and high food energy.

Hot Cereal Surprise

Milk or water
Ripe bananas, mashed
Favorite quick-cooking cereal (instant type cereals can also be used following cooking directions on package)
Raisins

Use proportion of liquid to quick-cooking cereal according to package directions. Bring milk or water to boiling point. Add mashed bananas (allow 1/2 banana for each serving); blend.

Gradually stir in cereal. Add raisins (allow 1 tablespoon for each serving). Continue to cook until cereal mixture reaches desired consistency, about 3 minutes. Serve with additional milk or cream, if desired.

Apple Owls for Halloween

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor
Small fry receive these apple owls so ecstatically that we believe you will find their enthusiasm will repay the time and effort you spend in making them.

We say this because after we had concocted this Halloween treat in our own kitchen, we sent the jelly apples to several little boys; they calloled their teenage sister into preparing some more! Speed is necessary in dipping and decorating these jelly apples, so it's best to have a kitchen helper handy when you make them.

Halloween Apple Owls
4 or 5 medium-sized or large Delicious apples
4 or 5 wooden meat skewers or tongue depressors

2 cups sugar
1/4 teaspoon cream of tartar
Large 16 oz. gumdrops (cut into wedges and sliced)
1 package white ring-shaped hard peppermint candies
Wash and dry apples. Insert a skewer or tongue depressor in blossom end of each apple.

Place sugar, water and cream of tartar in a 2-quart saucepan; stir over low heat until sugar dissolves. Boil, without stirring, until syrup reaches crack stage (310 degrees) on candy thermometer or until a teaspoonful dripped into cold water separates into hard brittle threads.

Tip saucepan; dip apples in syrup, twirling to coat. Let any extra syrup on apples drain back into saucepan. Apply features for owl faces, using gumdrops and peppermint candy. Before syrup hardens completely, a little of the syrup can be used to help stick on features.

Note: While the syrup is cooking, wipe inner sides of pan often with wet cheesecloth wrapped around a fork to remove any sugar crystals. If necessary, syrup may be placed over very hot water off heat to keep thin enough for dipping apples.

Save All the Vitamins

Frozen peas may be cooked in a pressure saucepan. Just put 1/2 cup of water and 1/4 teaspoon salt along with the frozen peas in the saucepan; cover and cook at 15 pounds pressure for 1/2 minute. Reduce pressure rapidly, add more salt if desired and serve.

Cookie Crumbs Keep Candy Apples Dry

NEW YORK (UPI) — When goblins ring your doorbell on Halloween, treat them to "apple stick-ups."

Melt 2 pounds caramel candy with 4 tablespoons water in top of double boiler. Stir in enough red food coloring to make dip a bright red.

Cover a tray with about 1 1/2 cups ginger snap crumbs (20 cookies). Spear apples with a small pickle or lobster fork, dip them into hot syrup and swirl until surface is completely coated.

Set on crumbs, remove fork and insert candy stick. The gingery crumbs add flavor and keep apples from sticking to tray. Makes enough for 12 apples.

Yam Season Brings Tips on Using

Use yams promptly after you bring them home from the market because they do not keep well at room temperature.

Leftover cooked yams are delicious when sliced or diced and browned in butter in a skillet.

Always drain yams you are boiling as soon as they are tender so they don't become waterlogged.

Both grated lemon and orange rind add good flavor to mashed yams.

Yams are worthwhile using in family meals because they are a rich source of vitamin A; they also provide worthwhile quantities of vitamin C and small amounts of the B vitamins and minerals.

Novel Sandwich Spread Blends Sardines, Cheese

Here's a novel sardine recipe ideal as a sandwich spread, party dip or main meal appetizer. Mix 4 ounces of cream cheese with a liberal amount of lemon juice, until you have the consistency of a cream sauce. Add 1 teaspoon of grated onion.

Drain a can of Norway sardines and mash the sardines. Add the sardines, a few capers, black pepper and dash of paprika and salt to the sauce. Blend thoroughly. Serve.

Capers are particularly delicious in summertime salads and salad dressings. Try them in a salad of cold diced veal and celery.

Ike, First Lady Don Formal Attire to Attend Washington Horse Show

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President and Mrs. Eisenhower led a dazzling lineup of Washington society at the finale of the International Horse Show here last night.

The Eisenhowers, dressed in formal evening attire, were so interested in the show that they stayed until 11 p.m.

Mrs. Eisenhower was so impressed by the performance of Liselott Lisenhoff, famous German woman riding expert, that the first lady asked the show president to bring her to the presidential box.

After the trim, blonde German rider had completed her intricate dressage exhibition aboard her handsome mount, Monarchist, she came to the edge of the box and proudly accepted the congratulations of the President and the first lady.

Mrs. Eisenhower talked to Mrs. Lisenhoff, a 1956 Olympic winner, for several minutes.

The President seemed especially interested in the selection of the best Tennessee walking horse and a series of jumping events.

The chief executive and his wife were welcomed to the show at the National Guard Armory by Maj. Gen. W. J. Abendroth, president of the event. He escorted them to a ringside box which was decorated with a large presidential seal.

The President wore a dinner jacket. Mrs. Eisenhower was in a short dinner dress with a fur stole. Many of the leaders of Washington society sat in the boxes around the President. Some of the men wore white tie and tails.

The presidential party included Gen. and Mrs. Alfred M. Gruenther, Capt. E. P. Aurand, the White House Naval aide, and Col. Robert Schulz, the President's military aide. Gruenther is president of the Red Cross and a long-time friend of Eisenhowers.

Dear Abby . . .

Why Turn Deaf Ear to Human Cry for Aid?

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

"DEAR MISS VAN BUREN: I am elderly and unmarried. Before my passing I would like to do something for animals, preferably dogs. Do you know of any organization (not a racket) dedicated to serving animals? My idea is to leave something to benefit them. Animals have so few friends."

ANIMAL LOVER

DEAR LOVER: Look into the "Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals." Far be it from me to discourage your noble intentions, but before you leave everything to dogs, won't you consider the many worthy organizations dedicated to serving unfortunate and deserving people? The mentally ill, physically ill, orphaned, blind, aged, displaced and crippled to name a few.

DEAR ABBY: My daughter is beautiful, 27 years old, and has had two unsuccessful marriages. Now she is in love with a married man. She knows there is no chance of his getting a divorce to marry her because his wife would never agree to it. But my daughter says she doesn't care as long as she can see him a couple of times a week. What kind of life is that for a respectable girl. I ask you? Is there any way I can keep her from throwing her life away on this man?

BROKEN-HEARTED MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: When a woman is in love the last person she will listen to is her mother. If you can't get her to talk to a psychologist, a clergyman or just any mature person with horse sense, she'll have to learn the hard way.

DEAR ABBY: My husband has been in debt over his ears for the entire 18 years of our marriage. He's worked steady and makes good money. Right now we have four bills in the hands of collectors, and they have threatened to repossess our furniture.

We have two impending law suits for back payments and we've had our telephone and water disconnected and the electricity would have been, but our child was sick when the electrician came. He owes $1,000 to a loan agency and is trying to borrow more. Does my husband sound like a normal man with the responsibility of a family? What can I do with him?"

MRS. O.

DEAR MRS. O.: Your husband sounds like a little boy who knows that green apples will give him a stomach ache, but he eats them anyway. YOU should get his pay check directly from his employer and give your husband carfare and lunch money.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 15-year-old girl and my mother and I had a heart-to-heart talk. She told me I should tell her everything. Well, I told her everything and now she won't let me go around with my best girl friend because she says she is wild and is a bad influence on me. She won't let me go out with either of the two boys I like because she thinks they are fast and I might get into trouble. If I listened to my mother I wouldn't have any friends. My mother is real square. Abby, what can a girl do when she has a square mother?"

DEAR "15": Your mother is NOT square—she is round as she is sound. Better to walk alone than to be in the company of questionable companions.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "IN TROUBLE": You have a legal problem (and a serious one). Ask your local Bar Association (NOT tender) to recommend a lawyer and pay him for what he knows. If you can't afford one, go to your legal aid society.

No One Sits After Mama!

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: My daughter was married two weeks ago and there has been some hard feelings in connection with the seating of one of the guests—the bridegroom's aunt, to be specific. She arrived at the church just as the bridal party was entering. My son, who was one of the ushers, directed her to a pew in the rear of the church.

"She was very much put out over this and thinks she was treated very shabbily and that she should have been seated in the reserved section of the church, even though she did arrive late. I hate any unpleasantness and this incident has rather upset me. Will you please tell me if my son was wrong not to set her up front?"

Answer: As you evidently had already been seated, your son was quite correct in not taking her up the aisle but directing her instead to a nearby rear pew. No person should be seated after the entrance of the bride's mother.

"Dear Mrs. Post: We have a favorite restaurant where we go quite frequently to dine and dance. My husband has asked the orchestra leader several times to play our favorite tune, which he did. Was my husband obliged to give the orchestra leader a tip?"

Answer: To ask for one tune during an evening would not require a tip. If, however, your husband asks for more than one, or, for that matter if he makes a practice of requesting even one tune every evening he should tip the leader.

"Dear Mrs. Post: At a wedding reception where no alcoholic beverage is provided for a toast to the bride and bridegroom, what should the best man do? Would it be proper for him to propose a toast with water, or should the toast be omitted?"

Answer: It would be better to omit the toast than to propose it with water. A compromise would be to fill wine glasses with ginger ale which would be more festive than water.

Girl's Reputation Is Made by People

RUTH MILLETT

"My mother is always worrying about what people might think," writes a teenager.

"Sometimes she can't give me any good reason for not letting me do something. She just says, 'It doesn't look right' or 'It just isn't done.'"

"So long as I know I'm not doing anything wrong or anything to be ashamed of, what does it matter what other people think?"

It matters a great deal what other people think and say about a girl.

A girl's reputation is a very precious thing. Your mother knows that. That is why she is concerned about not only what you do but about what others might think of your actions.

She doesn't want anyone getting the wrong ideas about you or having grounds for gossip. And probably, also, she is concerned over your getting into situations that you might not be able to handle.

So don't mark your mother down as an old fogey or as a person who cares too much about what other people think.

Any mother of a daughter has to care what people think, and she has to help her daughter avoid getting into situations where people who don't know her well could raise their eyebrows.

YOU WILL SEE

You probably won't completely understand your mother's concern for your reputation until you have a daughter of your own. But it isn't really necessary that you understand if you will just trust your mother's judgment. She has lived long enough to know that a girl or woman can't afford to leave herself open to criticism, but must always consider what other people might say.

For after all, what is a girl's reputation, but what other people think and say about her? And how do outsiders judge, except by appearances?

Check Child's Vision Often

Mothers should be alert to signs of eye trouble in children. The danger signals may be excessive blinking, frowning, or rubbing the eyes as if to brush away blur.

Or the youngster may cover one eye, tilt or thrust his head forward when he looks at either far-away or near-by objects. A small child may refrain from games that need distance vision, or he may stumble over obstacles in his path.

Swollen, red-rimmed, encrusted eyelids, recurrence of styes, watering and squinting, are all hints that a youngster needs a professional eye examination.

What Young People Think

Teeners Distrust Russia but Look for Peace

By EUGENE GILBERT
Gilbert Youth Research Co.

Most American teenagers distrust Russia, but do not think there will be another world war.

"Not in our time, please God," said 16-year-old Daria Krevitz of Brooklyn, N.Y. "We humans want to continue to exist."

Two-thirds of the teeners questioned — in a survey taken just before Red Chinese guns began pounding Quemoy — agreed with Daria.

Most of them pinned their hopes on the United Nations and the desire of people in other nations for peace.

The war-born teeners appear to have a deeper horror of war than their parents who lived through one.

Descriptions of a world desolated by new atomic weapons have made a deep impression on young minds.

"War means a world in which no one will remain living," said 16-year-old Mary Brooke of New York City. Teeners across the country echoed her.

FEAR RUSSIA

The three out of every ten teeners who do believe war is coming are nearly unanimous in believing the battle will be with Russia.

Even youngsters who don't think a third world war is in prospect indicated a deep distrust of Russia and her satellites. Three-fourths put the giant Soviet Union right at the top of the least trustworthy nations in the world.

Twelve per cent of the teeners found Egypt the least trustworthy nation.

"Remember Suez when you think of dirty deals," commented Sally Benson of Newton, Mass.

Teenagers can't remember World War II — but plenty of them still don't trust Germany. Eight per cent were sure that even if Russia doesn't jump us, the Germans will.

TRUST JAPAN

This distrust of Germany contrasted surprisingly with the willingness teeners showed to trust Japan. In fact, three per cent rated Japan as the most trustworthy nation in the world.

"With their experiences of U.S. strength, I'd trust them before any other nation," said Mildred Trio of St. Louis. "Japan has learned its lesson."

The teeners were not so well

Mrs. Shain to Conduct Course

Mrs. Charles Shain will begin her International Relations Class at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning at the Birmingham Community House. This will be the 39th year Mrs. Shain has conducted this class which is sponsored by the Birmingham branch of AAUW. Everyone is welcome.

For her first class, Mrs. Shain will report on what she has read and heard about our foreign policy in the Near and Far East.

She spent the summer in Europe, traveling by car through England, Ireland, Belgium, Germany, Austria and Italy and by bus through Yugoslavia.

agreed on who to trust as they were on who should not be trusted. The biggest vote — 51 per cent — went to Great Britain and her dominions.

Pro-British teeners felt a common background and common language made a real bond with the United States.

The second most popular nation is France. The opinion of 14 per cent of interviewed teeners appeared to be that France is a little odd, but okay.

ITALY THIRD

Italy ranked third on the teeners' "trust list." Ten per cent of the teeners ranked Italy as the most trustworthy nation. Replies indicated that teeners view Italy as a sunny-tempered, easy-going, freedom-loving land which learned to hate dictators under Mussolini.

Switzerland and Scandinavian countries of the "most trustworthy votes."

But however the teeners split on other questions, nearly all of them are agreed that Russia's war isn't worth a plugged nickel.

Debbie's Appeal Is Being Herself

(This is the third and final dispatch on how the Liz Taylor-Eddie Fisher-Debbie Reynolds triangle is affecting the careers and personal lives of the trio involved.)

By RICK DU BROW
United Press International

HOLLYWOOD — Barely two weeks after Eddie Fisher told Debbie Reynolds their marriage was finished, the actress met Maurice Chevalier on the set of an MGM movie.

"I'm a great fan of yours," she told the French entertainer. "So is my husband."

Suddenly realizing she had mentioned the unmentionable, she blushed. An embarrassed silence fell over the few people within hearing distance. Chevalier tactfully switched to another subject.

To friends of the petite little actress, her reference to "my husband" was a strategic mistake—but a natural one.

She still thinks of herself as "Mrs. Fisher." She is still stunned by Eddie's dating of Liz Taylor and the sudden breakup of her three-year marriage.

And it is this ability to be stunned, this quality of unsophisticated naturalness, which has enabled her to emerge from the distasteful triangle purer than the driven snow.

Why was there so much immediate reaction against Eddie when he left Debbie and started dating Liz?

Said Huntz Hall, former movie Dead End Kid who is friendly with the Fishers: "Part of it, of course, was because everybody thought he and Liz' husband, Mike Todd, were such good friends when Mike was alive."

"But the main reason, in my opinion, is they thought Eddie was walking out on the American dream girl—the girl next door."

Allergenic Tendencies Inherited

There is much talk these days about the relation of nerves and emotions to allergies. Doubtless there is a connection.

However, you have to start with a person who has an allergic constitution.

No matter how upset some people become they never have allergies. But if a person — child or adult — has inherited the type of body tissue that reacts to allergens there is no doubt that an emotional upset can reduce his resistance to the point where he shows symptoms.

This is as true of babies as of older people. Babies with allergies — eczema or colic — always seem to get worse if they cry a lot.

Pontiac Artists Hear Talk on Advertising

Nicolo Gagne, a commercial artist from Midland, was guest speaker at the first of a series of educational meetings of the Pontiac Artists' society held Friday evening at Adah Shelly Branch Library.

His topic was "The Development of an Advertisement." He illustrated his talk by showing the different stages in creating an ad from initial layout to the finished form.

Nine new members were welcomed into the society.

One More Wearing Before Cleaning?

The temptation to get just one more wearing from a dress before it goes to the cleaner or laundry is one that most of us have succumbed to at some time.

The results are usually embarrassing. Powder marks and spots do not make for good grooming. So next time you're tempted, don't give in.

Exercise to Be Gracefully Lovely

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Yesterday I told you that weight reduction is always much more successful, figurewise, when it is accomplished by exercise. Today I want to describe several motions which will give your silhouette a lovely pickup.

Stand tall with your feet comfortably separated. Bend the trunk all the way down. Now raise the trunk midway so that it is at right angles to the body. While in this position reach forward with the left arm and back with the right arm. Reach as far as possible so that you feel the stretch. Then reach forward with the right arm and back with the left. Continue bending the trunk and then raising midway and reaching with the arms, alternating forward and back reaches.

This is a bargain exercise. It reduces the abdomen and fat across the back. It also is slimming to the waist.

The following exercise is wonderful for reducing the abdomen and any fat you may have across your back. It also is slimming to the waist. You see, it is one of those bargain exercises!

Lie on the floor on your back with your arms resting on the floor overhead. Swing your arms forward as you bend your knees up close to your abdomen. You will be in a sitting position with your legs and trunk off the floor. Return legs and trunk and arms to the floor and continue.

This exercise is a little difficult at first, mainly because it's hard to balance. Also your abdominal muscles must be fairly strong in order to execute it.

When I taught exercise it often would amaze me to see what very weak abdominal muscles many women have. I wondered how they supported their internal organs. If you would like to begin strengthening and flattening your abdomen, but cannot do the more difficult exercises, try the next two.

TWO FOR ABDOMEN

Lie on the floor on your back with your arms resting on the floor and your legs straight. Raise the left leg up as far as comfortable. Then raise the right leg up as far as possible. Lower leg

This is another easy one; again lie on the floor on your back. This time bend your left knee up close to your abdomen. Straighten the left leg and kick toward the ceiling. Lower leg to the floor with a stiff knee. Do the same with the right leg. Continue, alternating left and right.

If you would like to have my short routine of exercise which is planned especially for women, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 19. Address Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

Hollywood Model Takes Overdose of Sleeping Pills

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — An overdose of sleeping pills, taken in the apartment of stuttering comedian Roscoe Ates, 63, has left Hollywood model Reba Sanborn, 24, in critical condition.

A deputy sheriff listed the case as attempted suicide.

Ates said Miss Sanborn was one of several guests at a dinner party Tuesday night in his apartment.

"She complained of feeling sleepy and asked if she could lie down for a while. I thought possibly she had taken too much to drink and showed her to the guest room," he said.

He said he left for work early Wednesday, returned about noon and found the girl unconscious. He called deputies. Emergency hospital physicians said she had taken an overdose of barbiturates.

Elliott Roosevelt Dips Hand Into Politics

MEERKE, Colo. (AP) — Elliott Roosevelt has joined the Political ranks.

Elliott, a son of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt, is the new Democratic chairman of Rio Blanco County.

It's his first official participation in politics, but it may not be his last.

There were rumors Roosevelt, who operates the Rolling R Ranch in northwestern Colorado, may run for Colorado governor in 1962.

And Roosevelt himself said: "I am very much interested in Colorado politics."

May Fight Cold With Lozenges

British Say Victims Can Use Antibiotics for Own Treatments

WASHINGTON (AP) — Special vaccines made from your own germs may prevent your common cold from getting complicated.

Sucking antibiotic lozenges may have the same effect.

Dr. J. Morrison Ritchie, director of the Public Health Laboratory, Birkenhead, England, told about it Wednesday at the sixth annual Symposium on Antibiotics. He described tests held in the winter of 1955-1956 to test the value of "autogenous vaccines" in the prevention of bacterial complications in the common cold.

The vaccines were made from microbes taken from nose and throat areas of volunteers at the time they showed the first sign of a cold. Then the vaccine was administered to the volunteers once a week during the winter. Another group of volunteers received no vaccine.

Complicated colds developed five times more frequently in the untreated group than in the treated, Ritchie said.

The following winter, similar success followed use of antibiotic lozenges, administered to a group of 100 people suspected of having colds. Only four of them developed a complicated cold compared with 26 out of 100 in an untreated group.

The researchers broadened their lozenge test the following winter—using 1,120 volunteers. Some were given lozenges, others not.

Only 62 per cent of the treated group developed significant symptoms, compared with 227 per cent in the control group.

Ritchie said antibiotics of the tetracycline class were chosen for the tests.

Marie McDonald Wants Salary, Not THE Coat

DALLAS (AP) — Entertainer Marie McDonald, sometimes known as "The Body," is trying to unfreeze $8,000 of her salary tied up in a suit over a chinchilla coat she says she hasn't got.

Miss McDonald was sued by New York furrier Milton Herman, who alleges she bought a $7,000 coat, paying $2,000 down in December 1957, but never paid the balance.

His attorneys filed a writ of garnishment on the hotel here, where she sang last week, seeking to attach the amount due her. The singer's attorney argued the money represents wages and cannot be garnished in Texas.

Not so, the furrier's attorneys said. She was an independent contractor when she signed with the hotel, they asserted.

No decision was announced by the district judge.

Miss McDonald told newsmen she last saw the coat last Christmas Eve when she quarreled with her husband Harry Karl, whom she divorced.

"Harry bought the coat for me and as far as I know he still has it," she said.

John Wayne, Linkletter Become Grandfathers

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Welcome to the club, John Wayne and Art Linkletter.

These two stalwarts, both in the prime of life, have just become grandparents. There was a time when that would signify decrepitude. But Art still maintains a strenuous TV schedule and can lick his grandchild's father, young Jack Linkletter, on the handball courts. As for Wayne, he remains one of the most rigorous and bravest heroes in the movie business.

Here's the distinguished company they join among show business grandparents: Marlene Dietrich, Joan Blondell, Spencer Tracy, Dick Powell, Fredric March, Walter Pidgeon, Edward G. Robinson, Mary Astor, Robert Young, William Bendix, Joan Bennett, Gloria Swanson, Joe E. Brown and Pat O'Brien, among others.

The Oscar race is swinging into high gear and soon the year-end epics will be unveiled for the finals. The contender that wins the most respect, though no one has seen it yet, is "The Diary of Anne Frank." George Stevens is always a hard man to beat in the Oscar derby.

The picture is a 20th Century-Fox offering, but it nearly carried the imprint of Samuel Goldwyn, the sage producer dickered for the rights and nearly had them sewed up. The play's authors, Frances Goodrich and Albert Hackett, and the director, Gordon Kanin, were eager for him to do it.

"But the girl's father, Otto Frank, wanted to have final approval of the script," the producer told me. "I have never given that to any star or director in all my years in moving pictures. I wasn't going to start now."

Despite the urgings of the Hacketts and Kanin, the deal collapsed.

Not so, the furrier's attorneys said. She was an independent contractor when she signed with the hotel, they asserted.

No decision was announced by the district judge.

Miss McDonald told newsmen she last saw the coat last Christmas Eve when she quarreled with her husband Harry Karl, whom she divorced.

One Brush With Law Leads to Another

KANSAS CITY (A) — Sheriff's officers came to William Nevins, 34, with a warrant for his arrest on a bad check charge.

Nevins, however, had paid the complainant and only owed $11.03 court costs. The officers suggested he go to court and pay. Nevins agreed but insisted on driving his car.

The officers, following Nevins, noticed his car was drawing farther and farther away. They said they clocked him 70 m.p.h. in a 60-mile zone; 55 in a 20-mile zone and 65 in a 50-mile zone.

Outside the court, Nevins was handed a speeding ticket. He pleaded guilty and was fined $43. Total payment: $54.03.

Of the 11 men who tried to escape from Alcatraz, two were shot and killed, two vanished and probably drowned and the rest were caught.

Capital Airlines Hit by Strike

Mechanics Walk Out in Contract Dispute, Negotiating Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — Capital Airlines mechanics struck at midnight in a contract dispute. But airline officials expected operations to continue without interruption at least today.

As for what will happen after that, a Capital official said "We can't say at this stage of the game."

The strike began when the midnight shift did not report for work at Capital hangars here. This is the major overhaul point for Capital, but similar work is done at Detroit, Chicago, New York and other of 51 cities the airline serves east of the Mississippi. A spokesman for the mechanics said he believed the walkout was in effect throughout the system. Mechanics at Willow Run Airport near Detroit are striking.

Negotiations were broken off about five hours before the strike and did not get going again.

However, federal mediators stood ready to bring the sides together again this morning. The union spokesman said its negotiating committee planned to meet with company representatives at that time.

Some 3,000 mechanics were involved in the dispute. They are members of the International Assn. of Machinists. The union's executive board gave its sanction to the strike yesterday afternoon.

Officials of the union and the airline said there never before has been a major system-wide strike against Capital, the nation's fifth largest air carrier.

Plane Hits Road, Kills Motorist

Transport With 7 Men
Crashes on Long Island,
Smashes 3 Cars

BABYLON, N.Y. (AP)—A military transport plane with seven men aboard crash-landed on a busy highway Wednesday night, smashing into three cars during a wild skid and fatally injuring a motorist.

The twin-engine C123 ran out of gas and swooped down on the four-lane Southern State Parkway on Long Island. Skidding hundreds of feet, it ripped through an underpass and struck three cars before stopping in flames.

Harold J. Schneider, West Islip, N.Y., died of head injuries shortly after the accident.

Three Air Force men and two women motorists suffered minor injuries.

The plane had been trying to land at Zahn's Airport, about half a mile from the crash scene.

After hitting the highway the plane skidded several hundred feet and into an underpass. The plane has a wingspan of 119 feet; the underpass is 50 feet wide. The plane emerged with wings, tail piece and one engine gone.

When it finally came to a stop, the other engine burst into flames. The men inside scrambled to safety from a side exit.

In landing on the parkway, the pilot avoided a heavy concentration of houses in the immediate area.

Police said the craft hit one of the cars before going into the underpass, hit another in the underpass, and a third auto after coming out.

The woman motorists injured were Mrs. Mary Rehm, Islip Terrace, and Mrs. Frank Calabrese, West Islip.

The injured Air Force men were identified as: Capt. John Florio, Sgt. Wallert A. Carman and Sgt. Edgar H. Williamson. The pilot was Lt. Gary L. Moolson.

The plane had been en route from Dobbins Air Force Base, Marietta, Ga., to Mitchell Field on Long Island.

The Air Materiel Command at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base, Dayton, Ohio, said that plans of the same C123 type had been grounded until this past Tuesday to remedy a defect in the fuel system. The grounding of the planes was ordered after the fatal crash of a C123 in Idaho last week.

Guests Flee Short Blaze at Big Chicago Hotel

CHICAGO (AP)—Fire broke out in the fifth floor of the Palmer House, one of Chicago's biggest hotels, early today, forcing scores of guests to flee their rooms.

Heavy smoke filled the fifth floor corridor, lower floors and lobby of the 2,250-room hotel. The blaze was quickly put out by firemen.

William O'Brien, second deputy fire marshal, estimated damage at $20,000. He said cause of the fire was not determined immediately.

Ex-Premier of Iraq Now on Trial

Sealed Fate in '55 by Opposing Nasser

By TOM A. CULLEN

CAIRO (NEA)—The path that has led former Iraqi Premier Fadi Jamali to trial before a military court in Baghdad can be traced back to his appearance before another tribunal nearly four years ago.

The place was Cairo. The time: January, 1955. The occasion: a meeting of Arab state prime ministers, called by Egypt's Nasser, to discuss the Western-favored Turkish-Iraqi mutual defense pact, which was later expanded into the Baghdad Pact.

I have before me the secret minutes of that meeting, during which the American-educated Jamali pleaded his nation's need for such an alliance before Nasser and the representatives of Saudi Arabia, Syria, Jordan, Lebanon, Yemen and Libya.

The minutes, never before published, show that Nasser used every trick from cajolery to threats and implied blackmail in an effort to induce Iraq to withdraw from the alliance.

Jamali, of course, refused, and the traditional rivalry between Egypt and Iraq hardened into enmity. One eventual result was the overthrow of King Feisal, and Jamali's arrest and trial.

From these minutes, until now a closely-guarded secret, and from talks I have had with an observer present at the Cairo meetings it is possible to reconstruct the drama.

The conference opened with Nasser announcing, "It is not Egypt's intention to reproach Iraq." At this the other Arab delegates stirred uneasily, knowing Nasser's implacable hostility towards the Iraqi government. There then followed procedural wrangles, indicating the degree of Arab unity prevailing at the moment.

Nasser, with bitter memories of defeat in the Palestinian war, referred contemptuously to the joint defense pact which Egypt had signed with Saudi Arabia and Syria as "a scrap of paper."

Crown Prince Feisal (Saudi Arabia): "I hope that the chairman does not regret his frankness."

Nasser: "I do not regret my frankness, but I do regret the state of affairs we have come to. The Arab peoples lost their confidence in us after the Palestinian war."

"If Israel attacks Egypt," Nasser added, "can I trust all the Arab countries to come to my rescue? We must face these matters with frankness. Courtesy and mutual expression of noble sentiments are insufficient and of no avail."

Again, the delegates squirmed. It was not until the eleventh session that Jamali went into the dock to present Iraq's case. Seven pairs of eyes fixed upon him accusingly.

Sweating profusely, Jamali gave Iraq's reasons for joining Turkey in the pact. He explained Iraq's fears of internal subversion—"like what happened in Korea."

"Mala Mustapha is presently in Russia leading a Kurdish movement," Jamali continued, "and he might enter Iraq at the head of Kurdish forces."

FADIL JAMALI — Was his fate cut out nearly four years ago?

This explanation did not satisfy Nasser. "You invited me to join in the agreement with Turkey, and I invite you to stay with us."

in our foreign policy," he said bluntly.

Jamali pleaded for "brotherhood and frankness."

"I believe all of us have been frank," Nasser insisted. "We have come to the conclusion that the Arab states will refuse to join the Baghdad Pact, and Iraq alone agrees to join it."

"It is as though you are inviting us to die," Jamali blurted out at this point.

Nasser looked hurt. "I am asking you to live," he protested. "I cannot invite the death of a sister country." Then changing his tone to one of silky persuasion: "A friend has the right to invite his pal to live."

The performance, according to my informant who was present, was masterful, with all the nightmarish overtones of 1934. This was Big Brother persuading his victim to kiss his hand in gratitude before mounting the chopping-block.

But Jamali refused. "Such methods do not serve the Arab cause," he cried, looking at Nasser accusingly.

"I believe the method I follow serves the Arabs and might lead us to total unity," the latter replied icily. "Egypt never follows crooked methods. I am convinced that what Iraq is doing is wrong, and therefore I am calling on you not to follow such a policy."

Jamali appealed to Big Brother Nasser to cut out the "propaganda and attacks," but here he was treading on Nasser's corns. "We do not at all seek propaganda," as Fadi Jamali thinks, Nasser replied.

As a final reason for Iraq joining the Baghdad Pact Jamali pleaded fear of Israel. "I know that Israel's forces are greater than ours."

At which Nasser abruptly brought the meeting to a close with this typical bluster: "As regards Israel, we have complete superiority over her. I am ready to send tomorrow 50 Sherman tanks to Syria. This is my way of true military cooperation."

It may be that Jamali, at this fateful conference, sealed his own fate and that of Iraq under a monarchial regime, for shortly thereafter Nasser began plotting the downfall of King Feisal, in collaboration with dissident Iraqi army officers.

Venezuela Flight Reported Missing

CARACAS, Venezuela (UPI)—A superconstellation of the Linea Aeropostal Venezolana (LAV) airline is missing on a flight from Panama with 17 passengers and seven crewmembers, it was disclosed today.

Search planes were sent out over the mountainous area where it was feared the big plane had crashed.

The plane was due in Caracas at 7:38 p.m., and radioed its last reports eight minutes before then. Everything appeared to be all right at that time.

AEC Nuclear Blast Set Off in Tunnel

ATOMIC TEST SITE, Nev. (AP)—The biggest tunnel shot ever fired here—but a baby as nuclear blasts go—jarred the ground two miles away Wednesday night.

Another full-scale shot was scheduled to be fired today from a balloon 500 feet high.

Magnesium flares dropped from an Air Force plane illuminated the mesa as the second atomic blast of the day went off at 10 o'clock Wednesday night in a chamber 830 feet underground. The explosion was the seventh full-scale deflation and the second full-scale underground shot of the current test series.

The power yield was described as below one kiloton. A kiloton is the equivalent of 1,000 tons of TNT.

The device was fired about 2,700 feet from the tunnel entrance. An Atomic Energy Commission report said: "Observers... slightly over two miles from the tunnel had a distinct sensation of ground roll and thought they heard a boom."

A device of less than one kiloton was fired Wednesday morning from atop a 50-foot wooden tower. Perfection of small battlefield weapons is one aim of the test series.

There must be something about Michigan State football that appeals to the Boilermakers from Lafayette, Indiana.

Purdue has bigger rivals on its schedule including Indiana and Notre Dame, two schools within state boundaries, yet the Spartan green seems to put red into the Boilermakers' eyes.

Every game since their Big Ten Series started as an annual affair in 1952 has been full of fireworks and in most instances disastrous for the East Lansing eleven.

Looking at the highlights since 1952:

1952—Michigan State had the ranking of the number one team in the country, but it took an interception on the MSU 5-yard line by Doug Weaver in the final minutes to preserve a 14-7 victory for the Spartans.

1953—Michigan State was riding a 28-game winning streak and heading for the Rose Bowl, but Purdue was the victor 6-0 with Don Pobjewski, who transferred from MSU to Purdue, scoring the winning TD.

1954—Lenny Dawson was hitting receivers all over the place and again Purdue bounced State, 27-13.

1955—The Rose Bowl trip for MSU was all planned and another game with Purdue was in the offing. Things were tight until Earl Morrall intercepted a pass on his own 10 and raced 90 yards for the TD. This made it 7-0, and broke the game wide open as the Spartans won 27-0.

1956—The Boilermakers were knocking on the door when time ran out and MSU eked out a 12-9 verdict and as a result knocked the Spartans out of the top spot in the national poll.

1957—This was supposed to be one of Michigan State's best teams but old nemesis Purdue again knocked the number one spot from under the Spartans, 20-13.

1958—It's Dad's Day at Lafayette and the Boilermakers have the coal burning red hot again for Michigan State.

DITTO FROM THE PRESS BOX

Two pro teams in the Eastern Division have already made overtures toward Army's Pete Dawkins from Royal Oak, but his dad, Dr. Henry E. Dawkins, says his son spent a full day out at Selfridge Field recently and was more interested in making inquiries about piloting Jets.

The Detroit Lions, who once dominated passing defense statistics of pro football, do not have a single defensive halfback among the 15 leaders listed for pass interceptions.

Jimmy David grabbed one against Los Angeles and Gary Lowe intercepted one against Green Bay for the only two by the once-vaunted Detroit defensive backfield.

Lyon and Lucadam Move Up

Busch Still Leads Scoring

A two-touchdown performance against Ferndale kept Birmingham halfback Ed Busch ahead of the pack in Oakland County individual scoring race with 54 points.

Last year's champion Jack Lyon of St. Fred took over 2nd place by matching that while West Bloomfield's John Lucadam moved into 3rd. Lyon has 48, Lucadam has 43.

Previous runnerup, Dick Stokes of Troy, was held to an extra point Friday to drop to 4th place with 40. Opening week leader Frank Fink of Walled Lake tallied one TD to stay in 5th with 38.

Fink's Viking teammate Mike Wurst now ranks 6th with 37 followed by Tom Bell of West Bloomfield with 36.

Farmington is the best represented team in the top group with Harvey Chapman (30), Neil Stevenson (25) and Al LeSage (24) among the first 14.

St. Michael held St. Benedict star Dan Donar to one six-pointer in upsetting the Ravens here but the tally was just enough to keep him on top of the area scoring heap with 48.

Iowa Big 10 Leader in Grid Statistics

CHICAGO (AP)—Although each school has played only one conference game, the Big Ten statistical race is shaping up with Iowa taking the lead.

The Hawkeyes, who meet unbeaten Wisconsin Saturday, rolled up enough yardage in defeating Indiana 34-13 last week to take a commanding edge on offense. They made 503 yards in 85 plays for a 5.92 average.

Although they threw 29 passes, the Hawkeyes established an average of 6.21 yards on the ground. Best average by a ball carrier is 13.4 yards in 7 rushes by Iowa's Ray Jauch. His total gain of 108 yards also is tops.

Tony Surprises Pancho

STOCKHOLM (AP)—Tony Trabert of Cincinnati turned in a surprise 6-4, 6-2 victory over world champion Pancho Gonzales in the final of an international pro tennis tournament Wednesday night.

OSU Coach Blasted for 'Dirty Football' Charges

Big 10 Commissioner Raps Hayes

'M's' Brad Myers Will Be Hometown Stranger

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Brad Myers will be reunited with Northwestern's only Rose Bowl team when Michigan plays the Wildcats Saturday.

The 1948 Northwestern club will reassemble to observe their 10th anniversary.

Myers will attend the celebration as a stranger in his own hometown—Evanston, Ill. He'll be wearing a foreign uniform—a Michigan football suit.

"I live about eight blocks from Dyche Stadium," said Myers, who was a strapping 10 when Northwestern rode to the Rose Bowl and beat California 30-14.

"I saw the Rose Bowl team play just about every home game. But this will be the first time I'll be playing in Dyche Stadium."

The Michigan halfback and his young cronies would climb over the stadium fence in his earlier visits.

Myers remembers well the stars of the Rose Bowl Wildcats. There was a fine center, Alex Sarkisian, and an All America fullback, Art Murakowski. Those Wildcats lost only two games, one to Michigan 28-0 and the other to Notre Dame.

They lost the Big Ten title to Michigan. But Northwestern went to the Rose Bowl anyway because the Wolverines had gone the year before and were ineligible to return.

That crop of Wildcats will be very similar to the team Myers will face in his backyard Saturday. Northwestern had finished eighth in the Big Ten in 1947, winning only three games. Yet they jelled into a Rose Bowl champion a season later.

History could repeat with the 1958 rags-to-riches Wildcats. Winless in nine starts last season, they're unbeaten so far this year.

HIGH SERIES—Twice during this young bowling season, the West Side Mobil team has gone over 3,200 total pins. This quintet posted a 3,216 series a week ago and this week they did it again. These are two of the highest team scores posted in the area.

Eliot of Illinois Incensed Over Woody's Words

Buckeye Pilot Offers to Prove Statements With Films

CHICAGO (AP)—Woody Hayes, Ohio State football coach, found himself in a cross fire today between Big Ten Commissioner K. L. "Tug" Wilson and Illinois coach Ray Eliot. But Woody stood his ground and fired back.

Wilson rebuked Hayes for saying earlier this week that collegiate defenses "are getting away with a lot of dirty football" while game officials are "officiating the offense right out of existence."

Wilson said in a statement: "I assume that he, Hayes, has generalized because I saw his Illinois game of last Saturday and I observed nothing in that game which I could say supported his allegations."

"He has done a disservice to college football by his broad charges which leave the public with an impression that college football is dirty, for this is not a fact."

In Columbus, Hayes shot back: "Let them prove me wrong. If they want me to turn my films over to an unprejudiced body I'll be glad to do it."

He referred to movies of nearly 20 games played this season. Hayes said he had analyzed them and concluded the defense is getting away with dirty tactics.

Wilson also said Hayes "knows full well there are better channels than public discussion for disposing of any questions he may wish to raise regarding officiating or player conduct and he also knows full well that we do not condone dirty play as having a place in college . . . we do not permit our officials to tolerate it."

Hayes had made his remarks at a Columbus press luncheon.

Wilson said he had postponed commenting until Hayes put his charges in writing. But Wilson added he never received a letter and "I therefore have to go on what he said to the press."

Hayes countered: "I said I had communicated with him—Wilson—and I did. I talked with him by phone last Saturday night."

Eliot, whose Illinois were defeated 19-13 by the defending champion Buckeyes in Champaign, Ill., Saturday, was incensed by a published report that Hayes complained too much piling on was permitted in the game.

"I'm surprised and shocked to read of the insinuation that Illinois players played anything but clean football throughout the game. He must be a man who is out of his mind or likes to hear himself talk."

"There are enough people already running down college football. Hayes' statements left a bad taste in the mouths of Illinois players and coaches. The last thing we want is a smear campaign. We get sick and tired of hearing the same old rantings and ravings of Woody Hayes."

Perini Refutes Talk of Sale

WEST PALM BEACH Fla. (AP)—"I never intended to sell the (Milwaukee) Braves," owner Lou Perini said Wednesday night. Perini was asked to comment on a report from Milwaukee that the National League champion baseball team would be sold to a brewing company.

Joseph Cairnes, president of the Braves who is here with Perini, said he had heard some of the rumors but added "there is not anything to any of them."

Perini and Cairnes have a financial interest in a housing development under way west of this city.

New, Expanded Facilities at Caberfae Area

CADILLAC (UPI)—A new 250-car parking lot, widened ski runs and expanded cafeteria facilities are ready for the opening of the ski season at Caberfae Ski Area this winter. Caberfae officials said today.

These improvements and others have been made during the summer months at a cost of $60,000. About 45,000 skiers visited the 640-acre ski area during the 1957-58 season and Caberfae officials believe that attendance mark will be broken this season, depending on skiing conditions.

Manager of World Champs Signs Contract

Casey Lays Down Law for Yanks

NEW YORK (UPI)—Casey Stengel laid down the law to his world champion Yankees for next year—and made it clear that it applies to everyone, even superstar Mickey Mantle.

Stengel, who heads for his Glendale, Calif., home today with a new two-year contract that could bring him nearly $100,000 a year, got a number of things off his chest at yesterday's gala signing ceremony.

The 68-year-old Casey predicted of pep as he waved a contract aloft for the benefit of photographers although he said he was tired and looking forward to "a good, long rest" at his home this winter.

Of course, Stengel certainly isn't going to trade Mantle but a suspicion existed that he was trying mightily hard to light a fire under his celebrated center-fielder when he named Joe DiMaggio, Yogi Berra and Hank Bauer as the three greatest players he has managed since coming to the Yankees in 1949.

What about Mantle?

"Well," Casey said, "he has everything to make him the greatest, but there are times he doesn't look like it. The whole thing is up to him. I know he can do it, and I'll tell you something else, I'm very glad I have him."

Getting back to the possibility of dealing off some of his players, Stengel mentioned no names but did say, "A player can't be satisfied with life and remain around here. That's a sure way of getting

Bloomfield Horse Wins Sixth Title

WASHINGTON (AP)—Blue Monday, a former racer bought two years ago by Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Egan of Bloomfield Hills, Mich., won its second class and the championship for green-beginner working hunters yesterday at the Washington International Show. This was the sixth title of the season for the 5-year-old gray gelding.

Windsor Castle took the open jumper division championship, despite a second place in last night's final in its class. The 7-year-old bay gelding, owned by Carl Miller Jr., Battle Creek, Mich., piled up 13 points during the 6-day show.

Pension Plan Asked by I-L Player Body

NEW YORK (AP)—Baseball player representatives of the International League Wednesday passed a resolution calling for an appropriate pension plan.

Details of what the players consider appropriate were not announced. A statement from the players' counsel said that 99 per cent of the players in the league were paid up members of the Baseball Players Assn. of the International League.

MSU OK's 'Round Robin'

EAST LANSING (UPI)—Michigan State University has decided to cast its vote for a round robin Big Ten conference football schedule.

The MSU athletic council yesterday instructed conference representative Dr. Harold Tukey to vote for the schedule when it comes up for discussion at the conference session in December.

If the proposal does pass, a round robin schedule couldn't be put into effect until 1965.

The schedule would mean each Big Ten school would play each of the other nine conference schools and have a single game with a team outside the conference.

PCH Gridders After Victory in SVC Action

Injuries Still Hamper Pontiac Central With Big Games Ahead

By BILL CORNWELL

There's at least one encouraging note from the Pontiac Central football camp this week as the Chiefs tune up for Friday night's battle with Saginaw on Alumni Field in Saginaw.

Word has leaked out that the Chiefs are disgusted with themselves for their poor showing last week at Saginaw when they absorbed a 27-0 lacing from Arthur Hill in their Saginaw Valley Conference opener.

The source of this information is head coach Jesse MacLeay, who is about as close to the situation as anyone can get.

"Our boys were very unhappy over their performance against Arthur Hill," MacLeay said. "They know they didn't play well and they want to redeem themselves tomorrow night. Their attitude is good."

They'll undoubtedly need all the spirit they can muster because tomorrow is — that's right, you guessed it—Homecoming at Saginaw and the Trojans are almost certain to be highly keyed in a desperate attempt to win their first game of the 1958 season.

It was also Homecoming at Arthur Hill last Friday and the PCH gridders found out to their sorrow how fired up the home team becomes when its playing before the old grads.

The Chiefs need a victory badly tomorrow if they're going to be mentally ready for the remainder of their SVC schedule. All of the big Valley powers — Flint Northern, Bay City and Flint Central—still lie ahead of them.

Arthur Hill smashed Central's perfect 3-0 record to smithereens. Until their ill-fated outing with the Lumberjacks, the Chiefs had smothered Waterford, Wyandotte and Ferndale.

Injury reports from the Pontiac wigwam are both encouraging and discouraging, but mostly the latter.

Charley Brown, a whale of a guard and defensive linebacker, is nursing a battered knee which he hurt in the waning moments of the Ferndale scrap.

Brown was one of Central's better players during his few minutes of action at Arthur Hill, but he was hobbling noticeably and his efficiency was vastly reduced. He will see only limited activity against the Trojans.

Fullback captain Larry Douglas, also injured in the Ferndale game, has been definitely ruled out for the 2nd straight week. The latest word is that Douglas may not even make the trip to Saginaw tomorrow.

On the happier side of the Pontiac tepee, lineman Doug Vondanoff, John Gaytan and Tom Nichols are gradually recovering from their bumps and bruises and all three will be ready for service.

14th Pike Memorial Honors City Leaguer

Members and guests of the Billy Pike Memorial association held the 14th annual dinner and award session last night at Highland Manor with 22 in attendance.

Wives of members were again in attendance at the informal affair that annually honors the memory of a former class A City League star who gave his life in World War II.

Honor guests were Billy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William C. Pike, Chuck Oertel, former city leaguer, recently with the Baltimore Orioles, just sent to Miami in a deal announced yesterday, Jim Wagner, and Eugene Cox were other guests. Cox received the 1958 Memorial award as the outstanding city leaguer this year, while Wagner was last year's winner. Wagner made the presentation.

Party included, besides the above-mentioned guests, former award winners and original association members: Mr. and Mrs. Dick Baker, Mr. and Mrs. John Abel, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Farns, Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Hawley, Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Temple, Mr. and Mrs. Buck Reed, Mr. and Mrs. Cyril Duffy, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Irish.

NEW CONTRACT — Casey Stengel pockets his new two year contract which he signed yesterday as manager of the World Champion New York Yankees. After signing Casey predicted his 10th pennant in 11 years.

Two League Showdowns Friday

Leads on Line in Inter-Lakes and W-O Loops

Vikings at Farmington, West Bloomfield Visits Northville

By CHUCK ABRAH

There will be plenty riding on the final results of two of the biggest prep football games of the 1958 area season scheduled for Farmington and West Bloomfield.

Both will serve as showdown contests with Walled Lake playing at Farmington at 3:30 p.m. and West Bloomfield at Northville starting at 8.

All four schools go into the 5th week of action unbeaten and untied in league and overall play.

Besides those perfect records, league leads and high state rankings will be at stake. The winner in each case would be a strong choice to become league champion.

Comparative scores make Walled Lake a very slim favorite in the Inter-Lakes duel while defending champ Northville is favored to keep rolling in a high-scoring affair. The Vikings and Lakers are both hungry for revenge following severe beatings last fall.

Walled Lake, walloped Southfield 32-4 last Friday after beating Redford Union, Howell and Berkley, Farmington had edged Southfield 20-14 and romped easily over Livonia Bentley, Rochester and Waterford.

Frank Fink and Mike Wurst give Walled Lake two of the best backs in Oakland County. Farmington is loaded with fine backs led by speedy Mike Agee.

Northville is picked for numerous reasons but especially because of Keego's weak defensive line. The Mustangs whipped Milford 34-6 after the Lakers had beaten the "Skins" 28-20 against their only common foe. Only a hurricane effort by the remarkable John Lucadam and his mates could keep the locals rolling.

Waterford hits the road for the first of four straight weeks going to Berkley while Van Dyke visits Southfield in other I-L play. Clarkston is at Brighton, Holly at Clarencville and Bloomfield Hills at Milford in the Wayne-Oakland.

It may be still too early in the new season to tell but all indications point to the Pontiac area having one of its biggest bowling years.

Some of the scores reported thus far certainly have been outstanding—not only for the 2nd month of action but anytime.

Local keggers have always been lost in the shadow of the "name" stars of Detroit but the continued progress of the sport here could change all that.

Taking early steps towards such a goal this weekend will be Les Rothbarth and Joe Bonfiglio as they compete in the Eastern Michigan finals of an All Star elimination tournament. A trip to the nationals at Buffalo could go to one or both.

Representing the area women in similar competition at Detroit will be Jeannette Mihalik.

Speaking of Rothbarth and Bonfiglio, their team West Side Mobil has been burning up the Huron Bowl Classic topping 3200 the past two weeks. Dick Carmichael, Clark Balch and Jay Lovett are other members. Rothbarth set a Huron record last week with a 736 series.

Also rolling along already at a blistering pace is the West Side Classic. Both are drawing good crowds of spectators when the top boys are in action.

Several women's leagues are also going well. The newest of the group and very popular is the ladies All Star loop which travels to a different establishment each Sunday. Seventeen of 50 women are averaging better than 160.

HERE 'N THERE
A 22-year-old Texan rolled a 300 only three months after taking up bowling. He finished the gem with four crossover strikes. . . Veteran Bill Bull keeps rolling along.

The Pontiac Women's Bowling Association starts another busy schedule with a big meeting Sunday. Entry blanks will be out soon for a ladies Doubles Classic set for Fairgrounds Recreation in Milford.

Area women can enter the Elks' Ladies National Invitational to be held here or a Central States meet at Cleveland now by calling FE 5-3343. Invitational starts next Jan. 17, Central States Nov. 8.

Otis Miller had ten straight strikes on successive keg nights hitting 287 and 288 in the Sylvan League. . . Nancy Majeski owns a 236 game among women. . . League for youngsters going well at Lakewood Lanes.

Indians Top-Rated for Harrier Crown

Pontiac Central's cross-country squad today had an "outside chance" for the Saginaw Valley title in the championship run at Swartz Creek Golf club.

However, Chiefs will have to turn in an upset to defeat favored Flint Central's top quartet of Milum, Crenshaw, Fredericksen and Miley. Dean Wilson's harriers gave the Indians a run for their money, in the recent meet here, and could turn the trick. "Arthur Hill and Northern are good, too," says Wilson, "and we'll have to be awfully good to get by them."

Pontiac's seven hopefuls for the varsity race, are: Joe Anderson, John Jefferson, Maurice Johnson, Jim Nelson, Carl Adams and Fred Brooks. First five are sophomores. PCH reserves will also run, the junior varsity race following the varsity meet.

A bird in the hand is worth two in the bush!

An understatement if you've ever heard one! Comparing the industry which is located in your town with industry located somewhere else which your town might like to get, the bird in hand is worth a hundred in the bush, and more.

It's a hundred to one that the best opportunity your town has for more industrial payroll lies in expansion of its present industry.

The industrial payroll of your town is a priceless possession. Protect it. Other towns would like to get it and some may even now be trying. Don't take the industry in your town for granted. Show your pride in it. Help it expand.

There's no better payroll than the homegrown variety and it is, by all odds, the easiest to grow.

Venturi, Two Others
Tie for Tourney Lead

IRUMAGAWA, Japan (AP)—American golfer Jack Burke Jr. and Japan's Torakichi Nakamura each shot a one-under-par 71 today to tie with Ken Venturi of the U. S. in the Japan Open Championship. Venturi shot a par 72. Today's second round made it a three-way tie for first place. Burke, Nakamura and Venturi finished the 36 holes with 144 each.

Michigan State opens its 1958-59 basketball season on Dec. 6, when it hosts the University of Detroit at Jenison Field House.

Hooks and Jabs
Beat Gil Turner

MONTREAL (AP)—Ralph Dupas of New Orleans had too many legs and arms for Gil Turner of Philadelphia last night. The young Cajun boxer, on the move from start to finish, shot a steady stream of hooks and jabs to win a unanimous decision with ease. The 10-round welterweight bout, telecast nationally in the United States, attracted only about 1,800 in the Montreal Forum. Dupas gave away 7½ pounds, weighing 144½ to Turner's 152.

Lions Choice—Win or Cellar

Detroit Faces
Unbeaten Colts
at Home Sunday

First Division Hopes Would Fade With Loss
for Motor City 11

Second division could be made almost permanent Sunday unless the Detroit Lions can come up with a victory over the league leading Baltimore Colts at Briggs Stadium.

Another defeat would leave Detroit with three losses and a tie and a victory for the Colts would put the Baltimore team in prime position in the Western Division.

Currently the Lions are tied with the Green Bay Packers for last place in the National Football League's western division.

Bad thing about the Lions' failure to get started is, that after they play the Colts here, they are on the road for successive Sundays against Los Angeles, San Francisco and Cleveland—a task that would test even the stoutest of teams.

The Lions are 5-0 against the Colts in Briggs Stadium—and the record is perfect only because of Baltimore generosity. The Colts led the Lions here last year in the final seconds of play, and had possession of the ball.

They could have stalled in the huddle perhaps long enough to kill the clock. They could have had quarterback John Unitas fall on the ball, or given it to fullback Alan Ameche for a simple smack at the middle of the line. That way, the Colts could have been almost certain of continued possession, and of victory.

Instead, the play called sent Lennie Moore around his own right end. Moore fumbled. Detroit recovered. Bobby Layne passed to Howard (Hopalong) Cassady, who got behind two Baltimore halfbacks for the touchdown that gave the Lions a dramatic last-second victory.

The score, and the victory it produced, became an outright gift. It is doubtful if the Lions can expect the Colts to make this sort of tactical mistake again.

New Faces at Olympia Tonight

Wings Host to Hawks

DETROIT (AP)—When the Detroit Red Wings face the Chicago Black Hawks tonight at Olympia Stadium, the fans really won't know the players without a program.

The Hawks have more new players on their roster this year than any other team in the National Hockey League. The Hawks have nine newcomers—Dollard St. Laurent, Jack Evans, Al Arbour, Danny Lewicki, Tod Sloan, Ken Wharram, Howie Glover, Earl Balfour and Jack McKenzie.

This is the fourth time the veteran right winger has won the trophy, and it ties him with Boston's all-time great Eddie Shore.

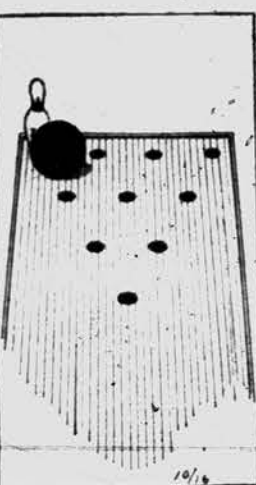

Last season, the Hawks and Wings split 14 contests, each winning seven and there were no ties. In last night's only league game, New York had to settle for a 4-4 tie after leading 4-0 with 12 minutes left in the game before 14,059—the largest opening night crowd in New York in nine years. Dean Prentice of New York topped the scorers with two goals.

Strikes and Spares

By Joe Wilman

Most right-handed bowlers have little trouble converting the 7-pin spare we show in today's illustration. And it should be easy, if they follow the proper procedure.

I like to give myself all the alley angle I can on this shot. I take my stance on the right side of the approach, releasing my ball on the right side of the alley.

The ball is angled across the alley from the right side to the left corner. A hook ball should hook right into the 7-pin without too much trouble.

The danger of missing this shot usually comes from using too sharp an angle, which will cause your ball to hook across the pin and into the left gutter before it reaches the pin. Or, if you don't use enough angle, your ball will move straight down the alley, then hook to the left but not far enough to reach the pin.

Surgery Ends Hope of Gridiron Greatness

Stardom Eludes Herrnstein

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Stardom was John Herrnstein's inherent right when he reported for football at Michigan two years ago.

He had the background and, more important, he had the desire, talent and size.

But Herrnstein, whose left knee was operated on successfully yesterday, never was to know genuine gridiron greatness.

Injuries robbed him and Michigan of his fame. Only in his sparkling sophomore year was the 215-pound full-back free from pain.

Dr. Robert W. Bailey, who operated to repair the torn ligaments, told coach Bennie Oosterbaan Herrnstein should be able to resume his baseball career next spring.

But whether Herrnstein, a pitcher-outfielder on the diamond, will be able to command a Major League bonus is problematical. Several teams reportedly have offered him contracts in the $50,000 range. Herrnstein refused them so he could captain Michigan's football team this fall.

"It's a shame," Oosterbaan said. "Herrnstein could have been the greatest fullback we've ever had here."

Bailey told Oosterbaan that Herrnstein's knee should be strong enough to play football again in a year. But Herrnstein is known to be interested in pursuing a professional baseball career rather than one in football.

The name Herrnstein is legendary at Michigan. His father, Bill, starred as a back on the 1923-24 teams. His great uncle, Al, who died last summer, played with the immortal Willie Heston on the teams of the early 20th century and in the first Rose Bowl game in 1902.

But John never will play in the Rose Bowl even if Michigan goes on without him to win the Big Ten championship. Oosterbaan, a teammate of his father's on the excellent 1925 team, ruled out that possibility. The coach said Herrnstein's knee couldn't recover sufficiently by New Year's Day.

Pete Dawkins' 42 Points Lead College Scorers

NEW YORK (AP)—Pete Dawkins, one-half of Army's fearsome backfield duo, is showing the way in major college individual football scoring with 42 points.

The 197-pound halfback from Royal Oak, Mich., who with Bob Anderson gives Army its best one-punch punch since Glenn Davis and Doc Blanchard, crossed the goal line seven times in pacing the Cadets to three straight victories.

Figures released today by the National Collegiate Athletic Bureau shows Dawkins leading Colorado's Howard Cook by one point. Cook scored 25 of his 41 points against Arizona last Saturday. The 25 equalled the season's one-game high by Kentucky's Calvin Bird against Hawaii.

Bill Patton of California is third with 36 points. Bird, Dick Bass of College of the Pacific and versatile Bill Austin of Rutgers are next in line with 32 each.

Arizona's Dave Hibbert is the top pass catcher. He has been on the receiving end of 22 aeriels, the highest four-game total in five years. Hibbert's closest competitor is Ulmo Randall of Virginia, whose 19 receptions if five more than he caught last season.

Bobby Welden has averaged 48.1 yards on 15 punts to top that department. Second at 46.5 is Don Croker of North Carolina.

The honor of being the hardest working back goes to Austin. The Rutgers ace has handled the ball on an average of 36.3 plays of all types per game. In addition he has scored five touchdowns and backfield duo, is showing the way in major college individual football scoring with 42 points.

Former Cranbrook Gridder Pride of West Point

Dawkins Changes Army Life—and Football

WEST POINT, N.Y. (NEA) — It was late in the afternoon and Col. Earl H. Blaik was in a hurry to get home for dinner, so he rapidly dictated the last few letters of the day in his blackboard-lined office in the United States Military Academy gymnasium.

One of them was to Fred Campbell, who knew Red Blaik at Dartmouth and now was coaching the swank Cranbrook School at Bloomfield Hills, Mich.

"My advice to Peter Dawkins," Coach Blaik said, "is to put in another year at a preparatory school. He's only 16 now and as I'm certain you'll agree 160 pounds is rather light. Perhaps he'll grow."

This was in 1954 and Blaik was going by the book. A young, light boy who had done his football playing in a league unfrequented by rough and able sons of mill hands and coal miners just doesn't make it as a member of an Army varsity.

"But you will have to take Pete Dawkins now or not at all," advised Coach Campbell of Cranbrook. So, rather than lose the lad Blaik reluctantly arranged for his appointment.

In his pieb year, Blaik and his staff found out that Dawkins was the kind of a kid you can't classify and now, with the most fabulous record ever compiled by a cadet, he stands out, along with the quick and imaginative varsity he captains, as the college football story of the year.

In addition to giving the football team a peerless leader, Dawkins is the first captain of cadets, class president and a star student. Not in the 156-year history of the Academy, has a cadet held all four distinctions.

"I have seen cadets for many years," Blaik tells you, "but never a natural leader among them like Dawkins. He has changed the entire life of the Academy . . . and its football, too."

You can see that in any number of Army football maneuvers this fall, but the best illustration came late in the final period of the smashing victory over Notre Dame. A play before, Joe Caldwell had tossed a flat pass meant for Dawkins and Bob Williams of the Irish barely missed intercepting with a clear field in front of him.

On the bench, Blaik and his aides winced as they saw the play. When you are ahead late in a tough game you don't take chances. But the thinking in the huddle was different, and Captain Dawkins was in command.

"Throw it again, Joe," Dawkins ordered. "Williams will float out with me too far to the right. I'll cut back and across and lose him."

Blaik clutched his face as Caldwell dropped back to pass again, but Dawkins cut into the clear and took the pass easily for a 23-yard gain that got Army out of a hole and sealed Notre Dame's fate. He scored Army's second touchdown two or three plays later on West Point's sweep to the weak side.

Later, he told Blaik, "We would have caught Williams had he intercepted the pass."

Dawkins said it flatly, without any doubt in his voice. He is that kind of a kid.

When you tell the story of the remarkable rejuvenation of Army football this autumn, with its lone, some end, its halfbacks throwing and its lively imagination, you have to start with Dawkins and his inseparable running mate, Bob Anderson.

Dawkins is left-handed in everything but thinking. He keeps or pitches on option plays while running to his left. Anderson, a right-hander, does the same thing the other way.

They are exceptionally fast for big men, the most formidable one-two punch in the college game. They hit for short-gainers, too, and don't get hurt, and this is something hard to believe.

"Dawkins was timid," Blaik recalls, "when he came to West Point. It was against his nature to block and tackle. We had him on the scrubs running opponents' plays against the varsity. Frankly, we put him there to toughen him up."

This year, Red Blaik broke out a new offense. And now Army is at the top and First Captain of Cadets Pete Dawkins, the timid kid who was too young, runs the show.

Except when he's blocking for Bob Anderson, who wasn't supposed to be much either.

QUADRUPLE THREAT — There have been many triple threats in college football but Pete Dawkins of Royal Oak is Army's "quadruple" threat. He's strong down the middle, fast around end, a good passer and a fine pass receiver. He's captain and honor student at West Point.

Man About Washington

Public Relations Game 'Old Stuff' to Persons

(President Eisenhower's new chief assistant has been a familiar figure in Washington since the early thirties. What attitudes and qualifications does he bring to his important new job? Here's an appraisal of William F. Persons in his public and private roles.)

By BEN PRICE
AP Writer

WASHINGTON — Wilton Burton Persons, the man who stepped into the shoes of Presidential Assistant Sherman Adams, has been an affable man about Washington for many years and has rarely been in any political trouble.

In a capital bristling with booby traps and pitfalls, this is no mean accomplishment. But the 62-year-old, army-reared politician has others. Gen. George C. Marshall, who headed America's World War II effort, once called him "the best public relations man alive."

Persons, a retired major general who did most of his soldiering at assorted desks, seems disposed to say "yes" as readily as Adams, his dour predecessor, was apt to say "no."

In moving up from deputy assistant to chief aide to his long-time friend, President Eisenhower, Persons becomes one of the most powerful men in the executive branch. He shares this distinction with Adams. But otherwise it would be hard to pick two men less alike to handle the same job than Persons, the genial native of Montgomery, Ala., and Adams, the laconic former governor of New Hampshire.

As "congressional liaison officer" for the army and subsequently the White House, Persons has been busy in Washington almost constantly since 1931. For years, Persons, whose salary now increases from $21,700 to $22,500, has been on a first-name basis with congressmen and newspapermen as he moved through capitol corridors on Army business.

Persons was born Jan. 19, 1896. He was 20 when he was graduated from Auburn with top honors in electrical engineering and went to work for the Western Electric Co. in Lynn, Mass., for $75 a month. He was in Lynn when the United States entered World War I. He went to Boston to sign up, but found he weighed only 129 pounds, four below the minimum for acceptance.

Persons hustled to the nearest drug store, he introduced himself as a druggist's son and outlined his problem. The druggist prescribed bananas and Persons gorged himself until he gained the necessary four pounds.

Since he had been an honor student in the military organization at Auburn, Persons was given a commission and served as a coast artilleryman in this country and France during World War I. While overseas, he signed up as a regular, later switching to the signal corps.

He was moved to Washington in 1931, and assigned to the office of the Secretary of War. There he met another personable young officer, Maj. Dwight D. Eisenhower, starting a friendship that has lasted more than 25 years.

Not long after he moved into the Secretary of War office, Persons was given the job of turning his Dixie charm on congressmen, a task he has performed ever since except for a couple of brief interludes.

During World War II, when Persons advanced from major to major general, his job was to aid in steering some two billion dollars in Army appropriations through Congress. When Eisenhower assumed top command of the Allied forces in Europe, he asked that Persons be assigned to his staff. Gen. Marshall turned him down on the grounds that Persons was irreplaceable in the capitol.

In 1948, Persons married the former Alice Minnick of Washington (a previous marriage ended in divorce) and retired from the Army to become superintendent of Staunton (Va.) Military Academy. In 1951, Eisenhower persuaded him to return to active duty and took him to Paris, where the future president was commander of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization forces.

In Europe, Persons was Eisenhower's chief go-between in dealing with foreign diplomats — and visiting congressmen. Some of the latter were beginning to sound out Eisenhower on his willingness to seek the presidency.

Persons was the man who arranged such secret conferences and he was among those who urged Eisenhower to run. He again retired from the Army in 1951, this time to help Eisenhower campaign. With the general's election, he moved into the White House as deputy assistant to the President for congressional liaison.

Addicted to gaudy waistcoats, antique watches and a Siamese cat named "Sister," Persons avoids the capital cocktail circuit, does much of his entertaining in his California Street apartment.

He moves into his new job at a time when Republican prospects appear doubtful. Whether his penchant for being agreeable—as opposed to Adams' abruptness—will improve party harmony remains to be seen.

New York Times Backs Rockefeller

NEW YORK (UPI) — The New York Times announced today that it is "enthusiastically" for Republican Nelson A. Rockefeller for governor of New York.

The newspaper's editorial said it is confident Rockefeller "has the qualities of character, the breadth of business, administrative and governmental experience, the vigor and the strength of conviction to make a good chief executive of New York state, and possibly a great one."

The Times said Democratic Gov. Averell Harriman, whom it did not support in 1954, "has made a sincere effort to perform conscientiously" but has made a record "barren of sufficient major accomplishment to recommend a second term."

Re-Elect Vice Presidents of Lutheran Church

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Five men were re-elected vice presidents of the American Lutheran Church during the group's 15th annual convention here yesterday. They are Dr. Norman A. Menter, Berkeley, Mich., first vice president, Dr. E. G. Fritschel, Denver, Colo., second vice president; Rev. H. W. Siefkes, Waterloo, Iowa, third vice president, and H. N. Eskildson, Rockville, Md., and A. G. Lentz, Berne, Neb., laymen, vice presidents. They will serve two years.

TAMPICO, Mexico (UPI) — A Guest Airways Constellation with 71 persons aboard encountered a storm last night over the Gulf of Mexico which stalled two of the engines but made a safe landing at the Tampico airport.

The plane was en route to Mexico City from Miami when it hit the storm 10 minutes from the Mexican coast. It lost 12,000 feet in a few minutes but landed safely at Tampico airport.

Passengers included Capt. Buck Walroth, general operation manager of Guest, and Pablo Busch, general manager of the Bacardí operations in Rome.

Bob Considine Says:

Peter Reigned Longer Than any Other Pope After Tantrum

ROME—When in Rome, live as the Romans do. Peter, who led off, reigned over the church the longest of any pope—from the year 33 AD to 67 AD. It took eighteen centuries to produce the next longest-lived Pontiff.

He was Pius IX, who endured from 1846 to 1878. Leo XIII, one of the great ones, was in office 24 years, six months and 14 days. The fourth most durable pontiff was Adrian I, who sat on the throne of Peter from 772 to 795.

But then there was Stefano II. He ruled for exactly three days.

in March of 742, Marcello II lasted 13 days in April of 1555, just as did Urbano VII in September of 1590.

Tendro II had a reign of 20 days in 897 and Leo XI spent just short of the month of April, 1605, in the post.

CHOSEN IN 20 HOURS

Pius XII was chosen pope in 20 hours in 1959. That was four hours quicker than the coholders of the runner-up title—Benedict XI in 1303 and Boniface VIII in 1294.

The conclave of the sacred college of cardinals which chose Celestine V, on the other hand, debated for two years and three months in the closing years of the 13th century.

But the all-time record in papal deliberation concerns Gregory X, whose elevation was achieved at a conclave in Viterbo, ancient papal residence 50 miles north of Rome, after two years, nine months and two days of voting—ending Sept. 1, 1271.

This decision was brought to an abrupt head when the people of Viterbo, plainly an impulsive group, cut off food supplies to the cloistered cardinals until such time as they made up their collective mind. P.S.—They did.

If you hire an Italian maid in Italy and fire her at the end of a year, for some incomprehensible charge such as utter incompetency, the law requires that you pay her a month's salary.

Custom also requires that you give her a bonus or present called a "buonuscita"—a good exit, so to speak.

A buonuscita must range from 5,000 to 60,000 lire, which is anywhere from eight bucks to $96. There is always a chance, of course, that she is not fired; that she is a perfect helpmeet.

In that case it is unlawful if the employer fails to give her one day off per week plus a total of 18 holidays and holidays.

RENTING AN ADVENTURE

Renting an apartment in Rome can be an adventure. More often than not the person who seeks to purchase such refuge finds himself confronted for extended periods by the owner's lawyer.

Every Roman family seems to have a lawyer, usually fierce. Most of them are prepared to sue on sight.

The lease, once signed, is registered at the city hall, making it more or less a federal case. If the roof falls in on you during your first night of occupancy you can be held for the remainder of the year's rent unless you have been caught enough to have demanded a legal out, pertaining to this, before signing.

4 Michigan Teenagers Smash Own Car With Tire Tools in South

MURFREESBORO, Tenn. (AP)—Four runaway teenagers from Michigan got mad at their car's performance yesterday and smashed it with tire tools. Their anger earned them a night in jail.

Sheriff W. H. Wilson identified them as Terry Moulton Fisher, 17; Richard Edwin Schreiner, 17; Virginia Clairie, 14; and Evelyn Bishop, 13. All are from St. Joseph, Mich.

The group's action was first noticed by a farmer's wife who saw them jumping up and down on top of the car. Then they attacked the vehicle with tire tools.

The youngsters fled into nearby woods by the time highway patrolmen and sheriff's deputies reached the scene, about four miles south of Murfreesboro. A patrol helicopter from nearby Nashville was summoned and flushed the teenagers into the open where officers were waiting.

Wilson said the runaways told officers they smashed the car because it had a broken muffler and wasn't running right. The sheriff said the group had planned to report the vehicle stolen later and blame the alleged thief for the damage.

No charges were filed against the quartet and officers said authorities at St. Joseph would be notified of their whereabouts today.

Handcuffs—Minus Keys—No Joke to Secretary

HAZARD, Ky. (AP)—As a joke a fellow employee put a pair of handcuffs on Miss Janet Stout, secretary at the Hazard Credit Bureau.

Then it was discovered keys to the handcuffs were with the office manager in another county. Hazard police tried to unlock the cuffs—no luck. The State Police were called. They couldn't free Miss Stout's hands.

Then Detective Orlester Mahoney took a file to keys of his own handcuffs. Within minutes, Miss Stout was free.

Death Probe Stories Conflict

Hospital Employees Say

Patient 'Tossed Around'

LANSING (AP)—Conflicting medical evidence has been presented on the probable cause of death of a patient at the Coldwater State Home and Training School.

A legislative committee investigating the death of Joseph L. Kibloski, 45, of Bronson, presented the surprise evidence at a hearing here yesterday.

Rep. Harry J. Phillips (R-Port Huron), chairman of the committee investigating Michigan's mental hospital system, contended injuries received by the patient through mistreatment by hospital employees might have contributed to the death.

An autopsy report by Dr. A. A. Humphrey of Battle Creek said the death was caused by a long-standing kidney ailment and added of the injuries:

"None of them could be accused of contributing to his death."

Phillips produced testimony from hospital employees that Kibloski was "tossed like a sack of potatoes" into a station wagon when being transported from one section of the institution to another.

"In my opinion the record stinks," Phillips said angrily, after a four-hour long questioning of Dr. E. J. Rennell, medical superintendent of the institution, and other witnesses.

He criticized Rennell for going on a hunting trip while the patient was ill.

Phillips and other committee members questioned Rennell extensively on why the patient, who had difficulty in walking, was assigned to a unit where he had to go up and down stairs.

He also quizzed Rennell on the scope of his own investigation into the death and on how carefully he checked the patient's condition before his death.

It was established that Kibloski had three broken ribs and numerous contusions and abrasions. "It seemed reasonable that he had fallen a number of times," Rennell said.

Rennell said he examined the patient before he left on his hunting trip vacation and did not think his condition was serious at the time.

"You've proven you know very little about the practice of medicine and very little about administration," Phillips said tartly at the conclusion of the hearing.

Rennell tried to reply but Phillips shut him off, declaring: "I'm tired of your excuses."

Rennell said it allowed to get on the record he would have explained:

S-P Stockholders Get Bid to Recoup

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (UPI)—Stockholders of the Studebaker-Packard Corp. were expected to approve today a comprehensive refinancing plan on the strength of management's belief the plan is the way for shareholders to salvage their investment.

A meeting was scheduled for this afternoon at the corporation's general offices.

Approval of the proposal was expected on the basis of the fact that management has controlled a majority of the stockholders when issues have been voted on previously.

In addition to refinancing, the stockholders also will be asked to endorse a diversification program by which Studebaker-Packard hopes to merge some profitable industries into its corporate structure.

Executive Looks 20 Years Ahead

Atomic Industry Will Change World

BAY CITY (AP)—Man's use of atomic energy will bring about within 20 years a world system of "interlocking industrial economies" regardless of political differences, a California executive said today.

The prediction, based on what he called a forthcoming worldwide industrial revolution of "incredible magnitude," was made by B. F. Coggan, vice president and San Diego manager of Convair Division of General Dynamics Corp.

He said all nations will be involved and there will be a universal demand for a living standard the equal of America's.

Coggan, in a speech titled "Moon, Mars and Michigan" prepared for a meeting of the East Michigan Tourist Assn., said this new industrial economy for the world will follow the atom's expanding use in the creation of power.

"All nations, whether democracies or dictatorships, economic goal — the completely industrialized society."

"In about 20 years all men and nations, regardless of political differences, will be driven into interlocking industrial economies demanding living standards equivalent to those we now enjoy in America."

Coggan also touched on possible interplanetary travel in the future.

He spoke of future space colonization in which the "early colonists" would be adventurous, scientific men "seeking answers to physical laws of the universe."

"Never in the history of the world has man been getting ready for a mass colonization so far in advance," he said.

Coggan predicted untold advantages for mankind from knowledge to be gained from space travel, particularly with respect to the causes of temperature changes on the earth's surface.

"Maybe some day, as we get out into space and look back on this earth of ours, we will be able better to understand this great thermodynamic machine," he said. He added there may be "great blessings" as a result.

Coggan said man discovered use of the atom for nuclear power "just in time to keep our world from running out of basic power."

'Galoshes Gang' Alumni and Pal Held by Police

BIG RAPIDS (UPI)—Two former members of the notorious "Galoshes Gang" and a younger companion were held under high bonds today of charges of carrying concealed weapons.

The three men, all from Grand Rapids, were arrested by State Police yesterday headed north.

Troopers Edward Seath and Fred Waddell of the Reed City post said they stopped their car because its license plate was unlighted.

Checking over the car, the officers found a bag containing burglary tools under the hood between the grill and radiator and a loaded 9 millimeter automatic pistol.

Jackets found in the car had rubber gloves, black navy stocking caps and handkerchiefs sewed into the left sleeves.

Arrested were Alexander Gerald Gernis, 44, former leader of the "Galoshes Gang"; Carl E. Herrmann, 32, also a former member of the gang and now a Grand Rapids used car dealer and Donald A. LaLonde, 22.

The "Galoshes Gang" committed more than 200 burglaries and safe-crackings in Michigan, Indiana and Ohio before its members were sent to prison in 1947.

Most of their burglaries were committed in northern Michigan. They got the name "Galoshes Gang" because they wore galoshes to muffle their footsteps.

Gernis and Herrmann were held under $10,000 bond while LaLonde was held under $5,000 bond. Gernis demanded preliminary examination when he appeared before Justice Marvin A. West and date for his examination was set for Nov. 12. Herrmann stood mute and West ordered him held for preliminary examination. LaLonde waived examination and was bound over to the December term of circuit court.

State Police detectives from the Rockford Post came to Big Rapids today to question the men about recent burglaries in the area.

'Little Women' Is Set to Music

Arranger Richard Adler Accused of Tampering With Classic Tale

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP) — Composer Richard Adler would have more peace these days if absolutely everybody in the country would understand why he refused to kill a girl named Meg.

Meg is one of the principal characters in Louisa May Alcott's "Little Women," which will be presented on CBS-TV tonight as a one-hour special television musical written by Adler.

At the conclusion of "Little Women," published in 1868, Meg was alive at the age of 14. The book became so popular—one of the persistent best-sellers of its age—that Miss Alcott wrote a sequel entitled "Good Wives." In the sequel Meg dies at the age of 19.

Modern publishers have combined the two books in one volume entitled "Little Women." Thus, all modern readers believe that Meg dies in "Little Women."

Well, a couple of months ago Adler casually remarked to a columnist that Meg lives in his TV version of "Little Women" and the columnist casually reported the fact. Ever since, people have been hounding Adler and demanding, who does he think he is to be tampering with the "classics?"

Who is he? First of all, he's one of the country's leading popular composers who, with the late Jerry Ross, composed the scores for "Pajama Game" and "Damn Yankees," among other hit tunes.

And is he tampering with the "classics"? Definitely not. He goes about these days armed with a modern one-volume edition of Miss Alcott's two works to prove he isn't tampering.

"I decided to risk getting into television," Adler says, "after I'd studied it for a long time and gotten a clue as to which way I wanted to go in it. I've found that television absorbs me when its focus is small and came-like on a limited number of characters and limited situations."

"This is the exact opposite of the stage. In writing for the Broadway stage you use a broad canvas and a broad brush in oils. To follow the same analogy, writing for television is most effective when you use water colors in a small frame."

"There's no second team in writing," he said. "It's not like football where you send in the second team to do a job. A writer is always making a first-string effort or else he's not a writer."

"The only traditional American theater we have is musical comedy. So why shouldn't we have original musical comedy on television? Adapting a Broadway show to television is not my notion of true television."

Adler says, "after I'd studied it for a long time and gotten a clue as to which way I wanted to go in it. I've found that television absorbs me when its focus is small and came-like on a limited number of characters and limited situations."

Happy Days Are Here for Almost Everyone

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Happy Days Are Here Again (almost). Kiplinger's predicting a real business boom next year... the Farmer's Almanac's prophesying a mild winter (good news to Florida)... and both the Republican and Democrats are going to win the elections (they admit it)... Topping off all this happiness, I learn from Hollywood that Debbie expects Eddie Fisher back home—and won't kick him out!

Although Jackie Gleason lost several thousand dollars to Lee Meyers betting on Milwaukee, Gleason wasn't invited to a party which Meyers gave to celebrate the windfall. Asked why, Meyers sniffed, "He's beneath me socially." ... Wilson Girl Lorri Scott, 18, from St. Louis, recently helped trap a telephone pest who phoned B'way beauties late at night posing as my assistant. Bravo!

Don Ameche and Elaine Stritch get great yokes in Walter and Jean Kerr's "Goldilocks" which I recommend to laugh-seekers. Elaine says to boastful Ameche: "You get a kick out of yourself, don't you?" Don: "I'm all I have!" ... Margaret Hamilton to Ameche: "I like that suit—that's how much I know."

THE MIDNIGHT EARL... Ann Sothern's dir. Tish, 13, will make her acting debut on Mama's TV'er... Actor Robert Evans' new contract with Darryl Zanuck gives him a fat 50 per cent of his loanout price.

The fan mags want Tony Randall to write about his current co-star—Debbie Reynolds... Mitzi Gaynor's made more than 500s from her "South Pacific" album... Sammy Davis Jr. ordered $3,000 worth of suits and tuxedos from a B'way haberdasher.

EARL'S PEARLS: Modesty is the ability to remain silent about how really good you think you are.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: A politician's campaign speech was praised by a voter, who said: "I admire the straightforward way you dodged those issues."

WISH I'D SAID THAT: Money can't buy happiness, but it lets you look for it in a lot more places... That's earl, brother. (Copyright, 1958)

An instrument known as a radio altimeter provides accurate measurement of height down to zero and automatically adjusts the rate of descent.

An automatic speed control keeps speed constant during approach and shifts throttles to a safe idling speed as the plane levels out to land.

At a demonstration Wednesday the system brought a Vicker Varsity plane down to land from about six miles away.

British officials noted the blind landing device produced by U.S. scientists but expressed belief that "ours is more flexible."

Honolulu City Planners Seeking Street Names

HONOLULU (AP) — City planners are hard put to find names for new streets in Honolulu.

In the past, Hawaiian names have been used but most of those have already been used up. Worse yet, dangers lurk in trying to combine English and Hawaiian words.

Said one city planner: "In working out new names, we've actually come up with some immoral words without knowing it."

U.S. Lebanon Units Return to Germany

FUERSTENFELDBRUCK, Germany (AP) — More American troops returned to Germany today after 2½ months of special duty in Lebanon.

The advance party of the 1st Airborne Battle Group of the 24th Infantry Division flew into this south German air base aboard a Globemaster.

A second plane was due late today, with the remainder of the task force to follow in the near future.

More than 700 soldiers previously had been airlifted from Lebanon back to their bases in Germany. A thousand Army troops arrived in Bremerhaven last Wednesday after a nine-day sea voyage from Beirut.

Red China Jails Missionaries

5 Jehovah's Witnesses Arrested in Shanghai, Sect Is Banned

TOKYO (AP) — Peiping radio reported today the arrest in Shanghai of five Jehovah's Witnesses and banning of the religious sect.

The five—two Britons and three Chinese—were accused of trying to wreck Red China's "Socialist construction."

The charge was denied in New York by the head of the sect, which sent the Britons to China in 1947.

The Britons are Stanley Ernest Jones and Harold George King, the only foreign missionaries of the Jehovah's Witnesses in Communist China. Peiping gave no immediate indication of what will become of them or of the three Chinese.

Other missionaries in Red China have been sentenced to long prison terms for various alleged offenses. At least one is still under lenient house arrest in Shanghai.

Peiping radio said the group headed by Jones and King "was by no means a religious organization, but an imperialist base for subversive and disruptive activities." The broadcast said:

"Under the cloak of religious activities, they distributed reactionary books hostile to the Chinese people published by the U.S. imperialists and carried out counter-revolutionary activities designed to wreck China's Socialist construction by preaching from house to house."

"They spread slanderous rumors about the political movements of China's Socialist revolution and Socialist construction to incite others and made various attempts to increase their counter-revolutionary forces and to carry out subversive and disruptive activities."

N. H. Knorr, president of the Watchtower Bible and Tract Society which carries on the work of Jehovah's Witnesses, said, "Our work in China has been to spread the good news of God's kingdom and is completely divorced from all political activity."

Jones, 42, and King, 46, were assigned to Shanghai after studying at the Watchtower Bible School of Gilead, at South Lansing, N.Y.

Argentine Cities Rim Fertile Pampas Lands

BUENOS AIRES — The heart of Argentina is the pampas, which occupies one fourth of the country's area. Its rich, fertile earth has made it one of the world's greatest granaries.

About two thirds of Argentina's population is concentrated in the large cities on the rim of the pampas: Buenos Aires, Santa Fe, Rosario, La Plata, Bahia Blanca, Cordoba, and Mendoza.

40 Billion Cans Used

NEW YORK — The amount of steel used in a single year in making America's metal cans — about 4,500,000 tons in 1957 — would be enough to build 70 Empire State Buildings. American makers turned out more than 40 billion cans last year — about 900 for each United States family.

Whenever a state officially is admitted to the Union, a new star is added to the flag on the following Fourth of July.

Man Blames Bruises on Four Thirsty Thugs

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. — Antonio Elwell of Albuquerque told police he received his many cuts and bruises when four men pulled him out of a local bar and:

Dragged him to the rear of the establishment, beat him up, threw him into a car, roared down a street and threw him out while the car was in motion. The reason? Elwell said he refused to buy the four a drink.

Mail for Santa Claus Already Starts to Come

WOOD RIVER, Ill. — Santa Claus mail is arriving early, but the kids will have to wait it out, says Postmaster E. V. Giehl.

The letters, a pair of them, are the earliest "Santa mail" ever received at the post office.

There are more than 40,000 franchised new car dealers in the U.S. Pennsylvania has the most — 2,654 — and Nevada the least 87.
