State Legislature Now in Overtime Battle of Budget

LANSING (AP)—Like bulldogs, the Senate and House kept scrapping today over state police and education spending while prospects of sudden state bankruptcy threatened to nullify their decisions.

A half dozen other money arguments—but none so angry — complicated their tedious overtime struggle to compromise on a 1958-59 budget plainly destined to wind up at between 331 and 335 million dollars.

Duding the haggling last night, the neglected issue of how to pay the shot abruptly was thrown like a wet rag into legislative faces by Gov. Williams.

The governor, in letters to House leaders, served notice that mainly because of slumping revenues the state will dip 18 million dollars into the red by July 1, first day of the new fiscal year. The debt will have to carry forward.

He urged quick passage of his bill to increase the state tax on stocks, bonds and other intangibles by 20 million dollars.

YELL 'FOUL'

Although some Republicans repeatedly have forecast a yawning deficit themselves, GOP leaders yelled "foul."

Williams, who in January predicted a year end in the black — subject to certain assumptions, should have changed his story earlier, they said.

Rep. Harry J. Phillips (R-Port Huron), a leading legislative fiscal expert, said the governor's budget experts "have disrupted months and months of bi-partisan work on the state budget."

PUSH FOR BILL

Democrats pushed for immediate approval of the intangibles bill, but majority Republicans voted an overnight recess "to sleep on the figures."

At the most, $2,322,000 separated the two chambers on higher education. The House held for $80,144,000, the higher amount. It would guarantee state colleges sums received for operations this year.

The difference on state police was $516,000, again with the House on the side of liberality. A Senate victory would force lay off of 100 men.

Youth, 7, Killed by Passing Car

Excited Boy Buys Kite, Dashes Out Into Road; Driver Unable to Stop

A seven-year-old boy who had just bought a new kite and was excited over the prospect of making and flying it dashed out into the street last night and was struck down by a passing auto and killed.

Elmer Taylor, a first grade student at Emerson School, was dead on arrival at Pontiac General Hospital of head injuries.

One of eight children of Mr. and Mrs. Jay H. Taylor, of 800 Robinwood St., Elmer bought the kite at a store on Mt. Clemens street and was on his way home.

The driver, Roman L. Sadowski, 42, of 26225 Coolidge highway, Oak Park, told police he was driving west on Mt. Clemens at 25 miles an hour.

Three cars were coming east, he said, and Elmer suddenly ran out between the second and third car. Sadowski's skid marks were 50 feet long, police said.

He will make a statement to the prosecutor's office today, but police said he was not at fault in the accident.

They're My Teeth!

HOUSTON, Tex. (INS) — A woman filed an aggravated assault charge against her husband, saying he forcibly removed her false teeth. Hubbie countered with a claim that he had a right to the teeth since he had paid for them.

Electronic Eye to Spy Behind Iron Curtain

Navy Perfecting Two Ion Systems to Enable World-Wide Detection

WASHINGTON (INS)—The Navy was reported to be perfecting today two "amazing" new electronic discoveries aimed at providing "complete detection" behind the Iron Curtain or anywhere else on earth.

The scientific breakth-ough.s, accomplished within the past six months, were disclosed by Rear Adm. John T. Hayward in secret testimony before the House Committee on Outer Space.

Rep. James G. Fulton (R-Pa), called the discoveries "amazing in the broad new fields that are open." Rep. Gerald R. Ford (R-Mich), said they are of "substantial and significant military importance."

The brief descriptions of the systems indicated that new processes have been devised which make it possible to keep the entire earth under electronic surveillance.

Asked if this meant that the U. S. will literally be able to "see" behind the Iron Curtain, a committee source said "complete detection" was involved.

Fulton broached the subject in pre-arranged questions to Hayward, carefully written to avoid

Spring Gets a Chill; Recovers Next Week

The weatherman said a cold front that passed through Pontiac early today will bring somewhat cooler weather to the area this weekend. A low of 44 is predicted tonight.

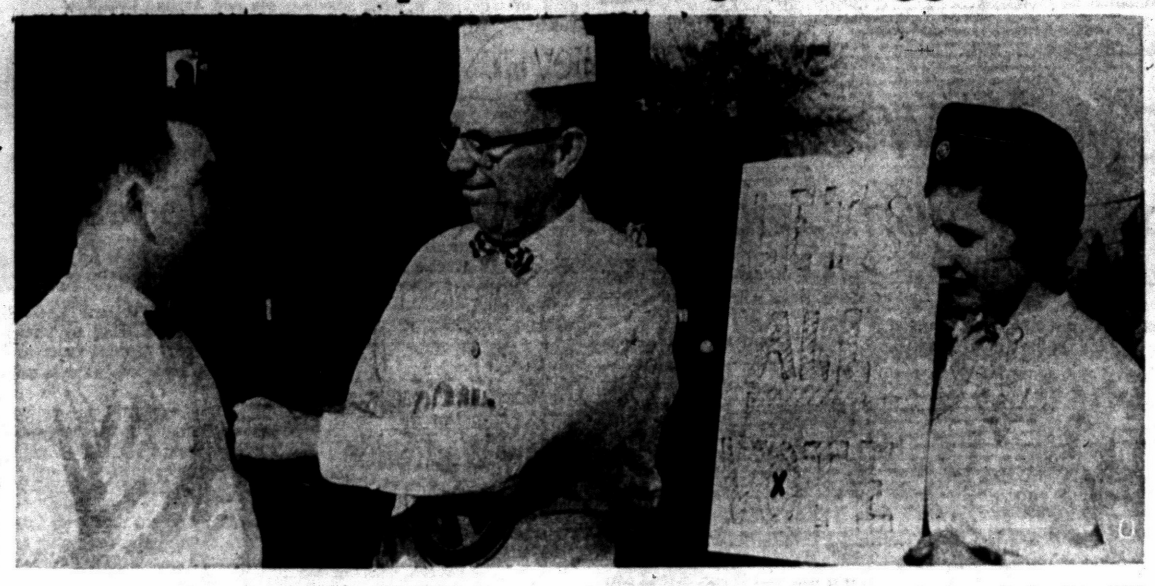

A high of near 70 is expected Sunday with a low of around 40 tomorrow night.

For the next five days temperatures will average about 14 to 15 degrees above the normal high of 58 and the normal low of 38 degrees. Temperatures will range a little cooler over the weekend, then warm up again.

Scattered showers are possible over the weekend.

The lowest recording preceding 8 a.m. in downtown Pontiac was 49 degrees. The thermometer registered 74 at 1 p.m.

Bomber Flights in Arctic May Bring On U.N. Battle

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (INS)—Western diplomats said today Russian charges against flights of American nuclear bombers may blossom into a full-scale U.N. Security Council batile on disarmament.

They said this was indicated by the U.S. announcement that it would be "glad" to discuss the charges in the council.

Asian diplomats speculated that the Soviets themselves may have had an arms-control debate in mind. One source said:

"In their own inimitable way, the Russians could be using these accusations as a face-saving device to resume disarmament talks."

Since last November the Kremlin has boycotted arms negotiations on grounds that the new 25-nation U. N. Disarmament Commission is "a tool of the West." Soviet leaders have carefully avoided stating that they would not attend meetings of the Security Council on the crucial disarmanent issue.

"Smokescreen" was the immediate reaction from most free world diplomats after Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko leveled his blast in Moscow and Ambassador Arkady A. Sobolev followed with a demand for "urgent," Security Council action to ground U. S. nuclear bombers.

The meeting was scheduled for Monday afternoon. U. S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, who is council president for April presumably will preside although he could step aside under the rules of procedure.

Diplomats were divided on the aim of the Kremlin camouflage. Some felt Nikita S. Khrushchev was "trying something new in the way of currying favor in the neutral nations now that his letter-writing campaign has bogged down."

Soviet satellite sources insisted the Russians are "really frightened lest some irresponsible pilot take it into his own head to bomb the Soviet Union and start a new war."

A highly-informed European diplomat said the surprise Soviet blast was "directly connected" with the pre-summit talks between Gromyko and Western big three ambassadors in Moscow.

"It would seem," he declared, "that something isn't going to their (the Russians') liking and this is a divisionary tactic they hope will lead to a summit conference more on their terms."

WKC Suffers Loss in Basement Fire

The WKC Store, 108 N. Saginaw St., is open today except for the lower level, following a fire last night in the basement furniture department.

The fire, of undetermined origin, did extensive smoke and fire damage to the basement and poured smoke into the first floor.

Pontiac firemen battled the blaze for about an hour after it was reported at 11:28 p.m. An unofficial estimate of damage placed the figure at from $50,000 to $100,000 to fixtures and stock.

Store officials did say that the $100,000 dress made of cultured pearls for a photography contest, was not injured.

GM Officials' Bonus Cut; Tax Man Takes Major Bite

Salaries and bonuses paid to 14 top General Motors executives totaled $4 [illegible] million last year, a drop of $1.3 million from 1956, it was disclosed today.

GM President Harlow H. Curtice received $621,100, or $75,000 less than the previous year.

The 1957 salaries of the top 14 executives, all of whom are also directors of the corporation, were a great deal higher than their "take home" pay, however. Being in high tax brackets, they paid up to five-sixths of their incomes in taxes.

Curtice "took home" $107,351 last year of his $621,100. The other salaries and take home figures follow:

Frederick G. Donner, $442,500, $91,277; Louis G. Goad $389,850, $86,425; John F. Gordon, $338,700, $81,310; Carl H. Kindl, $291,100, $76,449; Roger M. Kyes, $211,750, $67 721;

Cyrus R. Osborn, $320,00, $79,-530; George Russell, $88,825, $76,-199; Sherrod E. Skinner, $338,600, $81,300; Charles G. Stadella, $270 100, $74,139; Albert Bradley, chairman of the board, $120,367, $52,352;

Thomas H. Keating, $461,200, $92,960; Charles F. Kettering, $36,-100, $24,250; Ivan L. Wiles, $370-900, $84,530.

Contests Offered in All Districts on Monday

Polling Places to Open at 7 A. M.; Heavy Vote Is Being Sought

Pontiac will elect seven City Commissioners at its biennial spring election Monday.

Polls in the city's seven districts and 44 precincts will open at 7 a.m. and remain open until 8 p.m. All registered voters standing in line at 8 p.m. will be allowed to vote, City Clerk Ada R. Evans said.

There are contests in each district. In six of them, incumbents are running for re-election. In the seventh, District 1, incumbent Roy V. Cooley Jr. is not seeking re-election.

Candidates Monday are:

District 1

Milton R. Henry and Samuel J. Whiters.

District 2

H. Malcolm Kahn and Philip E. Rowston.

District 3

William W. Donaldson and Earl J. Smith Jr.

District 4

Gerald W. Kehoe and Floyd P. Miles.

District 5

John A. Dugan and Ronald C. Hallenbeck.

District 6

John E. Carry and Wesley J. Wood.

District 7

Robert A. Landry and Gilbert W. Long.

Rowston, Mayor Donaldson, Miles, Dugan, Carry and Long are incumbents. Hallenbeck is a former Commissioner.

Mrs. Evans said there are approximately 37,000 registered voters eligible to vote, about the same number as in 1956. At that election, 8,584 cast ballots, or about 23 per cent of the eligible voters.

With one exception, precinct stations are the same as in former elections. Precinct 34 in District 1 has been shifted from the Pontiac Housing Project to Bethune school.

Jobs Increase in Auto Industry

'Big Three' Schedules Indicate 60,000 Going Back to Work

DETROIT (AP) — Operation schedule adjustments announced by the "big three" indicate an increase of about 30,000 jobs in the auto industry next week.

General Motors, Ford and Chrysler yesterday said one-week shutdown of assembly plants across the nation next week were expected to idle 30,000 hourly rated workers.

At the same time some 60,000 workers idled this week by shutdowns at big three manufacturing plants were expected to return to work Monday. Thus industry employment was expected to increase by some 30,000 jobs.

General Motors Corp. will suspend passenger car production starting Monday at nine of its Chevrolet assembly plants, idling some 21,000 workers on assembly lines. Regular schedules for all plants are planned starting April 28.

Ford, after shutting down seven assembly plants this week, plans to resume production next week.

Chrysler will halt work at its Dodge main plant here and its Plymouth plant in Evansville, Ind., but plans to resume work at its Chrysler and DeSoto plants here and at the Chrysler plant in Los Angeles.

Direct Dialing to Reach Most of Nation Sunday

Sunday, starting at 2:01 a.m., you may pick up your telephone receiver and directly dial any one of some 40 million telephones in California, Texas and 21 other states, from Pontiac and nearby communities.

This new direct-dial service represents the culmination of a $1.5 million project by the Michigan Bell Telephone Co. and will service Pontiac, Clarkston, Commerce, Drayton Plains, Lake Orion, Oxford, Rochester and Walled Lake.

In addition, Ortonville and Milford, served by the General Telephone Co. system, will be tied into this service.

Ray H. Storm, Pontiac district manager for Michigan Bell, has invited representatives of the communities involved to an open house celebration Saturday evening to mark the new service.

Duane Hursfall, Independence Township supervisor, will inaugurate the service by making the first dialed long distance call from this area to William S. Broomfield, Oakland County congressman in Washington.

Storm urged users of the system to check the instruction booklets that have been mailed to them to learn how to use the new service and to find out which communities can be called directly.

He said that direct-dial calls are station to station and that person-to-person calls must still be made through the operator.

31st to Be Last of Series

Band Will Give Spring Concert

The thirty-first annual spring concert of the Pontiac High School Band will be presented on Friday, May 16 as the final concert of this series.

With the opening of the new Northern High School in September the present band will be known as the Pontiac Central High School Band, with Northern having its own band.

Features of the concert program will be the appearance of Richard Franko Goldman as guest conductor and Leonard V. Falcone as euphonium soloist.

Goldman is conductor of the world famous Goldman Band of New York City and son of its founder, the late Dr. Edwin Franko Goldman.

Falcone, well known to Michigan residents as conductor of the Michigan State University Band, is also recognized as one of the world's outstanding euphonium soloists.

Tickets can be obtained from members of the band, and the Band Alumni Association, the Band Parents Association, Calbi Music Company and Morris Music Company. All seats will be reserved, at the Calbi Music Company and the Morris Music Company.

Proposals $2,030,000 More Than Current Year

Supervisors Tackle Budget Problems Next Week

By GEORGE TRUMBULL JR.

Oakland County supervisors will tackle Monday what could be one of the most hotly debated budgets in several years.

Among the major questions which undoubtedly will come up prior to the acceptance of the record $12,762,280 proposed budget are:

(1) Should the Oakland Child Guidance Clinic get an additional $15,000 appropriation?

(2) Should supervisors and their chairmen get pay hikes?

(3) Is the social welfare appropriation too much or too little based on present expenditures; and last, but not least,

(4) What will be the resulting tax demands based on the budget?

This last question will be a matter for the Tax Allocation Board to decide. They will convene for their first 1958 session shortly after supervisors hand them the approved budget for tax allocation purposes.

$2 MILLION INCREASE

The budget is $2,030,266 over the present $10,732,014 budget. It represents a 19 per cent climb in what the county expects to spend next year compared to this.

Based on present assessed valuation figures, the county will need slightly more than $6 in taxes for every $1,000 in valuation. Expected to be raised by taxes in the 1959 plan is $10,672,280.

Presently the county is receiving $5 of the $15 tax limitation.

Making up the biggest hike in the tentative budget is a $2,000,000 appropriation for social welfare. This is $950,000 more than what is in the present budget.

And some county officials fear that if the current economic conditions don't improve, the 1959 allocation will not be enough.

Oakland County today is paying its largest welfare bill since the late 1930's. This spending might plunge the county into the red by the end of this year.

Next to welfare, hospitalization and child care (Children's Home) costs show the largest increases in the 1950 plan. The first is up $233,-318, while child care appropriations are $176,172 more than 1958 budgeted funds.

Three other county institutions, besides the Children's Home, also ask added funds. They are Camp Oakland (up $5,156), Infirmary (up $39,424), Sheriff's Dept. (up $21,-525).

Only the Tuberculosis Sanatorium is requesting less than what they received this year.

Eighteen of the county's 23 departments are slated to receive increased allowances over 1958, dependent, of course, on what supervisors decide Monday.

Here, too, the soaring costs in caring for relief cases is most evident. The Relief Administration, which has charge of distributing social welfare payments, is asking for $42,488 more than its $205,200 allotment.

Other substantial department appropriations as recommended by the auditors are:

Auditors, $15,861 over its $278,308 budget; Circuit Court, $28,631 more than $225,839; Board of Education, $32,293 more than $149,355; Probate Court, $10,016 more than $96,-735; Prosecuting Attorney, 10,813 more than $141,270; Planning Commission, $13,713 more than $60,385; Supervisors, $29,450 more than $67,-800.

Two Boys Admit Starting Fires

State Troopers Report Confessions From Pair, 8 and 14 Years Old

State Police at the Pontiac Post have apprehended two Commerce Township juveniles who have admitted setting several fires in recent months causing damages estimated at well over $15,000.

The boys, ages 8 and 14, told investigating troopers Richard Gordenier and Gary Powell that they were responsible for the $15,000 fire which raged through a lumber yard at the Empire Supply Co., 2600 Union Lake Rd., last Oct. 12.

The youths were identified as Joseph Mazzulla 14, who lives with his father, Sandy, and stepmother, at 8145 Willow Rd., and Charles Gray, 8, son of Mrs. Annie Gray, of 8165 Willow Rd.

When Commerce Township fire authorities became suspicious of the origin of a recent series of grass fires, Gordenier and Powell were called in to investigate.

After questioning area youths, the two juveniles broke down and confessed to setting the grass fires.

Further questioning led to their admitting they were responsible for the burning of several boats stored in a barn at Morey's Golf Club, 2280 Union Lake Rd., on March 16.

The juveniles also admitted setting fire to a rabbit hutch near their homes on April 5.

"On the same date they also attempted to burn a cottage at 2646 Barton Rd.," said Gordenier, "but the fire didn't take hold."

The boys have been turned over to Oakland County juvenile authorities.

City Police Arrest Youths for Burglary

Two 17-year-olds were arrested by Pontiac police officers early this morning when they were found in a gasoline station.

Officers answering a call found a broken window and spotted one of the youths crouched behind a cigarette machine. The other was discovered when he attempted to unlock a door from the inside and escape.

Held are Jerry L. Lemmert, of 2040 Richwood St., and Harold W. Anderson, of 53 W. Fairmont St.

A search of the station, Vick's Mobil Service, 392 W. Huron St., uncovered some loot which did not come from there.

Later in the morning, police found that the Westside Canteen, 12 N. Johnson Ave., had been burglarized and the items at the gas station were traced to the earlier crime.

County Supervisors to Tackle Budget

REGISTER CUTS COSTS

In contrast to the higher appropriation demands, is that the Register of Deeds office is asking less in 1959 than its present allocation. The $4,939-less request is due partially to a new micro-filming process the office is undertaking with county records.

The county's "hold the line" spending policy, put into effect in January because of the feared deficit, is evident in that auditors trimmed most department head requests.

Their requests for 83 new employes, whose salaries would have amounted to $310,665, also felt the pinch of this economy move.

Auditors and members of the superyisors' Ways and Means Committee sliced this to 41 approved new workers, whose pay checks will amount to $118,924.

Residents Praying for Rain

Upstate in Tinderbox Condition

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

People in Michigan's tinder-dry north woods watched for smoke and prayed for rain today.

A rash of 35 fires on Thursday for a while looked out of control. The situation bettered Friday with only a handful of minor fires reported.

But State Conservation Department officials described the situation as explosive.

Milton M. Bergman, chief of the department's fire fighting operation, said all burning permits have been canceled for the northern Lower Peninsula area.

The department still held back on asking Gov. Williams to declare it an emergency situation. Such a proclamation would mean the banning of all outdoor fires in the area and smoking in the woods.

There have been cases in the past when motorists, throwing a lighted cigarette butt out of a window, have been charged with violating the safety ban.

Thursday's fires swept through 3,000 acres of forests in the north country. One house, three summer cabins and a fire truck and tractor were destroyed by the flames.

The largest blaze burned some 1,200 acres near Roscommon and was out of control six hours.

Forest Annis of Grayling and Clifford Yorty of Higgins Lake, taking a pumper truck in to fight the fire, were trapped by a shift of wind on a back woods road.

The fire, crowning through tree tops, swept across them. Both received painful burns but were back on duty following hospitalization.

A fire near Traverse City destroyed a house. Three summer cabins were burned near West Branch in Ogemaw County.

Bergman reported that only about a half dozen small flareups were reported Friday.

"The wind died down a bit to help the situation," he said, "and we were lucky enough to get in fast and bring them all under control.

"But we still have our fingers crossed and are praying for rain," he added. "Those northern woods haven't had a good soaking rain since early in March and could explode into flames at the drop of a match."

Fires Friday were reported in Missaukee, Kalkaska, Osceola and Arenac Counties.

The fire situation in Upper Michigan also was reported as dangerous but not as serious as in the northern Lower Peninsula.

GM, UAW Disagree on Inflation Causes

DETROIT (AP)—After negotiating off and on for 25 days on a new contract General Motors Corp. and the United Auto Workers Union appeared far apart today on major issues.

This was reflected yesterday in a long-distance exchange of views by top officials on who is to blame for high prices.

GM Vice President Edward T. Ragsdale, general manager of Buick, told a group of businessmen in Boston that labor's wage demands have pushed up prices.

UAW Vice President Leonard Woodcock, director of the union's GM department, replied in a statement here:

"The squeeze is being put on consumers who are caught between a corporation's greed for fabulous profits and the high prices it sets on its products."

Ragsdale predicted that prices of 1959 model cars will be higher this fall if "labor succeeds in obtaining a bigger wage increase than that provided in its present contract."

GM has said it can extend contract provisions which give workers an annual increase of 6 cents an hour without inflating the nation's economy.

Woodcock said, "A major portion of the UAW's economic demands is deferred until 1959, after the corporation's 1958 financial report is in. Thus, the UAW's contract demands are non-inflationary and would have no effect on GM's costs and prices."

Woodcock referred to the UAW's demand for a quarter slice of the company's profits. Ragsdale made no mention of the profit sharing proposal.

Hayward answered with an unhesitating "Yes sir!" when asked: "—In current research development do we in the U. S. have it within our power soon to monitor the whole world, including countries behind the Iron Curtain through electronic processes of ion emission?

"—Don't we in the U. S. have the capability through electronic means soon to use the moon as a reconnaissance satellite, so we don't have to wait for the putting of satellites in orbit, or a moon shoot, or a landing on the moon?"

Ions are electrified particles of matter. There has been speculation that objects moving through space, such as missiles or aircraft, could be detected by the electronic tracking of so-called ionic trails.

The detection of atomic explosions might also be feasible in this way, it has been suggested.

Hayward flatly refused to discuss the systems with newsmen. He protested: "I've had it. They'll shoot me."

However the admiral did confirm that radar was not involved in either system. He described radar as a "brute force" approach.

The admiral said the moon was important in the program because it is "a relatively stable satellite" from which various types of radiation could be "bounced."

He gave the space committee a full briefing behind closed doors after an open session. He told newsmen, however, that new appropriations were not needed to carry out development of the new systems.

Thor Missile Explodes on Launch Pad

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (INS)—The Air Force tried to launch its Thor missile at Cape Canaveral today but it exploded on the launching pad.

The Air Force said no one was injured. Damage to the launching apparatus was described as superficial.

The Air Force Thor is an intermediate range ballistic missile and is regarded as virtually "operational" because of its successful tests. The only previous Thor to explode on the launching pad occurred in June, 1957.

However, newsmen speculated that today's test may have involved "something special," since the Air Force did not invite newsmen to witness the launching as has been done in the past.

An announcement was issued by the Air Force after the mishap saying:

"An attempt to launch an Air Force Thor IRBM this morning at 8:32 a.m. (EST) at Cape Canaveral Air Force Missile Test Center launching site was unsuccessful due to technical difficulties.

"The missile exploded on the pad. No injuries to personnel occurred and structural damage to the launching pad appeared to be superficial."

News Flash

LANSING (AP) — Final clearance was given by the legislature today to a bill to raise the fee for a state drivers license and a license renewal by 50 cents.

An estimated $700,000 a year in additional revenue would be diverted to state subsidies for driver education in schools.

The fee for the original license would go to $3.50 and for a renewal to $2.

Waterford OKs Higher Budget

Earmarks $416,255 for Township Operations in 1958-59 Period

The Waterford Township budget was approved by board members at a special meeting last night, with $416,225 earmarked for township operations for 1958-59. This is an increase of $52,363 over last year's $363,862.

The board approved a recommended $63,500 for police department operations with a raise in pay retroactive to April 1 for newly appointed Chief of Police Millard J. Pender. Last year's police department operating costs were $52,000.

The budget provides for a second radio operator-typist and two additional patrolmen, for the police department. "This will give Waterford Township residents round-the-clock protection on police calls," Supervisor Elmer Johnson said.

Although some $10,500 was requested for two additional men by the fire department, Johnson said, "I feel that this money would do more good allocated for the purchasing of new fire department equipment rather than adding two more firemen." Board members agreed.

Special approval by board members was necessary for the establishing of a $20,000 revolving fund to specifically cover road, water and sewer improvement in the township. Most of the township's revenues are collected from sales taxes, and this year's estimate is $175,000. Next highest source of income is from current and delinquent tax payments totaling $95,109.

Johnson said that he had based his tentative budget on the anticipation that the Oakland County Allocation Board would grant the same 1.5 mills for township operations.

Hoover Undergoes Successful Surgery

NEW YORK (INS) — Former President Herbert Hoover underwent what his doctors described as a "successful" operation today for the removal of his gall bladder.

Spokesmen at Harkness Pavilion of the Columbia-Presbyterian Medical Center said the condition of the 83-year-old former chief executive was "satisfactory."

The surgery was begun at 8 a.m. (EST) and completed at 9:15.

The hospital said Hoover "had had several gall bladder attacks in the past."

Judge Lowers Bond in Bad Check Case

A $10,000 bond was lowered to $1,000 yesterday by Oakland County Circuit Judge H. Russel Holland for Bernard Bluestein, 32, of Philadelphia, awaiting trial here on a bad check charge.

Bluestein's attorney, Milton R. Henry, asked for the reduction saying the larger bond "was almost a denial of bond altogether." The prosecutor's office agreed to the reduction.

Bluestein, alias George Baites, was later released from the county jail. He is charged with passing a worthless $34 check while employed by a downtown Pontiac clothing store last fall.

It Seems to Me . . .

Judge Quinn Wise in Ruling Hospital Has Dismissal Right

Judge TIMOTHY C. QUINN has dismissed Dr. SULLENBERGER's legal action against the General Hospital Board and the Staff.

I think the Judge acted wisely in denying Dr. SULLENBERGER the right to operate for proper cause. His opinion comes after careful thought, deliberation and study. It is no snap judgment.

In effect Judge Quinn says: If the Hospital Board has the authority to make rules for the conduct of the hospital, it should have the right to bar any surgeon it deems unfit to practice surgery. If it lacks this power, then I feel the Supreme Court should make the ruling.

This has been the essence of the situation from the start. The State of Michigan licenses doctors to practice. This stems from a statute which is probably as old as the custom itself. Since that time, surgery and modern practices have grown many, many times more complicated; and the mere right to practice medicine does not necessarily qualify every doctor to perform intricate and delicate operations.

I am convinced that the general public will never be adequately served and protected until hospital boards can bar a surgeon from performing operations that it believes are beyond his capacity or ability. SOMEONE has to pass judgment SOMEWHERE. Certainly the State's License to "practice medicine" doesn't contemplate any part of involved operations.

The general public has no knowledge of a physician or a surgeon's capabilities. If the governing board of a hospital decides that certain people do not possess sufficient knowledge, training and technique to perform certain operations, it is its definite duty and obligation to say so.

The public is helpless.

It MUST place faith in someone.

The mere fact a young doctor — or an old one — is qualified to practice medicine does not mean in the slightest degree that he's qualified to operate. And the fact he is qualified to perform certain operations does not imply he is capable of performing ALL operations.

Personally, I should dislike to be in a hospital that had no governing board with authority to issue safety rules. I would be afraid of a hospital that couldn't pass regulations covering my safety, whether they pertained to doctors, food in the kitchen, cleanliness in general, or the character of the employe.

Who wants to enter an unregulated hospital?

It's unthinkable.

It's a denial of modern justice.

Judge Quinn decided that if this very important decision were to be made, it should come from the highest ruling body as it will probably become a precedent for other hospitals.

The stake is enormous.

Public welfare depends upon a far reaching decision. I hope The Pontiac PRESS and the Baldwin Rubber Company and the Riker Building are sensibly administered, but life and death don't hang in the balance as they do in the case of a hospital and especially in the case of a hospital operating room.

As I listen around to the comments of attorneys, I come to the conclusion that Judge TIMOTHY C. QUINN commanded the complete respect and admiration of the legal profession here. He made a favorable impression. As far as I'm concerned, he could have rendered a decision himself and I'm sure it would have been equitable, fair and honorable.

But his actual ruling is very shrewd and commendable in the circumstances.

And in Conclusion . . . . . .

Jottings from the well thumbed notebook of your peripatetic reporter:

Did you hear about the Texan who admitted he never spanks his young son. When the boy's really naughty, he makes him go out and sit in one of the Cadillacs and he turns off the air conditioning . . . . . Overheard in The Pine Lake Locker Room: "There's more to her than meets the eye—but not much." . . . . . WALTER and ALMA APPEL have probably spent more time in Europe than any five Oakland county residents you could name.

One of Oakland County's especially attractive and comely daughters: Annette Higbie of Metamora . . . . . Little Known Facts About Well Known People: Frank Steere is one of the very few that ever went through Ann Arbor high in one year although many have tried . . . . . Lenny Shields had such a good time at a drive-in theater that he's going back with a bigger rear view mirror . . . . . Final note to Jean and Peggy: "Body Beautiful" closed with a loss of 350 grand. Well out of that, eh, you two sweetie pies?

My wife suggests I mention that JACK BRANNACK is one of Pontiac's handsomest men . . . . . Miss and Mrs. U.S.A. have already been confronted with Orlon, Dacron, Dynel and Acrilan. Shortly they face Verel, Zefran and Darvan. —all synthetics that are heralded as sensational." . . . . . I understand CAROL LAWRENCE of "West Side Story," will be Scarlet O'Hara in the TV spectacular "Gone With The Wind," I vote "yes."

This coming summer will see 12,000 teenagers in Europe. Hard times? . . . . . The smart boys tell me a much bigger percentage of the homes built in 1958 will be in the $12,000 division. Dept. Of Cheers and Jeers: The C's — Pontiac's Urban Development program; The J's — People that fail to get out and vote. Top brass at GMC Truck and Coach is currently swinging around the nation to six key cities and personally talking with the top dealers.

—HAROLD A. FITZGERALD

WITHOUT proper equipment, a white man might die in 6 hours in the Australian deserts where the dry heat reaches 140 degrees Fahrenheit. Yet aborigine savages can travel in the same area for several days without water.

The POWER of FAITH

by Howard Brodie

Through the trackless lands of Alaska during the Gold Rush days walked Father Francis Monroe. Miners of the loneliest streams learned to know him. On one 500-mile trip, he lost his shoes; yet, he continued. He helped the sick and started a hospital. He carried one sick man miles on his back.

He was an engineer and carpenter. While working on a church, a 25-foot timber toppled. He cried a warning to his helpers, then stood and broke the force of the blow with his own body.

Six years later, after he had continued to carry on his inspiring work, a hospital examination revealed the blow had broken his back. Such was the power of his faith.

Call Attention to Church Colleges

By DR. HOWARD V. HARPER

On the second Sunday after Easter every year the colleges operated by or connected with the various Protestant churches observe National Christian College Day. This has been going on since 1950.

Political as well as ecclesiastical leaders feel that the church college, furnishing a religious background for intellectual development, is of special importance in American life. President Eisenhower has said, "Our institutions of learning and our churches have become the true mobilization centers of those forces which may now save civilization."

The Rt. Rev. Henry K. Sherrill, American president of the World Council of Churches, says "The church college is vital to the life of the church, and through the church to the civilization of our day."

The purposes of these special services are:

(1) To call attention to the Christian colleges and their distinctive genius.

(2) To help the general public and especially church members, understand these colleges' unique contribution.

(3) To develop financial support.

(4) To attract students.

ORDEAL OF ST. GEORGE

If you say "St. George" almost anyone will say " . . . and the dragon," for all the English-speaking world knows how the fearless knight saved the princess and her whole city of Cyrene from the fiery monster and brought all the population of that grateful town to Christian baptism. You may be sure, however, it was not for any such mythical bout with a non-existent beast that George is remembered in the calendar of the saints.

Less familiar, but more likely to contain some kernel of fact, is the story of George's suffering and death for this faith. This account, too, is much overdrawn, but one cannot fail to see it is basically the story of a great and daring Christian hero. Scrape away the fanciful details and a towering champion still remains.

Late in the third century, the story says, a particularly vicious persecution of Christians was going on by order of the Roman Emperor. St. George, who was then only a soldier in the Roman army, was much distressed because many Christians were being terrified into renouncing their faith. To set an example, he went into the most public place he could find and began to shout "The gods of the Romans are devils. My God made the heavens and is a very God."

In no time at all he was arrested and given his chance to show the weak-kneed brethren how to suffer for their Lord. First he was strung up, beaten with clubs, and tortured with hot irons. Almost dead from the ordeal, he was thrown into a cell, to be finished off the next morning. But when morning came they found him waiting in perfect condition, with no evidence of having been through any discomfort the day before. During the night the Lord had visited him and healed him.

Next the insensitive pagans brought on a magician who concocted a poison that George was forced to drink. It had no effect whatever on him. The magician, astounded, was converted and was at once executed for embracing Christianity.

They tried to crush George between spiked wheels and to boil him in a cauldron of molten lead, but nothing disturbed him. One cannot understand the blind stupidity of his tormentors. Instead of being converted by all these obvious signs of supernatural power they were only the more infuriated.

Of course, all of this could not be true. But they do not make up stories of this kind about cowards or without some foundation of fact to build on.

'We Can't Have All These Without Paying for Them'

I don't know where 'Taxed to Distraction' got his facts, but Britain is one of the highest taxed nations in the world. In 1956 the average family salary was about $1,365 and certain commodities were still rationed. British people realize if they're going to support an increasingly socialized state to provide basic needs for all citizens, they must make sacrifices.

'Taxed to Distraction' would probably be first to defend social security, welfare programs and pump priming. These things cost money. Every new measure to increase economic security must come out of taxpayers' pockets. If people want assurance of security in old age, government action to combat depression and world peace through strength, they must realize our money pays for them. With every right we claim we must assume a corresponding obligation.

'All Are Entitled to Opinion, but . . .'

Dear E. M., it isn't a fact nuclear tests cause bad weather. People don't insist they have nothing to do with the weather. They're simply open minded enough not to jump to hasty conclusions.

Scientists say the tests don't affect weather. If some individuals care to differ with scientists, let them prove their theories as scientists do. If scientists don't know what they're talking about, how did the atom bomb, hydrogen bomb, Explorers or even Sputniks come into existence?

Three cheers for Bill Kennedy. He, too, understood what C. E. Wilson meant when he referred to bird dogs. If a man really wants to work, all he has to do is forget his golf clubs and fish pole and get out and scramble. A job won't come seeking him.

But many would rather stand in line on Wayne street while their buddy in Detroit (Williams' boss) tries to bilk General Motors and the public out of a few more millions so they can work less for more pay. It's about time they woke up and stopped crying.

'Men Need Union; Where Is It?'

The union my husband belongs to was good until the past year or so. Now I'm wondering why he pays dues. It's just blackmail to keep a job where working conditions are almost inhuman.

All you hear is a lot of talk. The high-up union officials sit back on their big fat bank rolls and make demands the average working man doesn't even care about. One Pontiac plant had two men collapse this week while trying to keep up their jobs on the assembly line. Many housewives must wonder when their husbands will be next. I thought slavery went out with the Civil War.

Where is this high almighty union now when working men need it?

All but Pharmacist's Sink in This 'Arthritis Remedy'

"The enclosed prescription has been given to me having originated with (the best advertised) clinic. I was curious about it. (H. H.)"

DR. BRADY

Answer — The alleged "prescription" calls for Epsom salts (magnesium sulfate), sugar, lemon juice, cream of tartar, hot water, cold water, etc., and is to be labeled "Arthritis Remedy" —wineglassful every morning before breakfast.

In the first place, "arthritis" is just a $25 name for joint disability, not a diagnosis of what ails you. The concoction won't do any harm but is there no end to gullibility? Send me 25 cents and stamped, self-addressed envelope for pamphlets Chronic Joint Disability and Calcium and Rheumatiz. Whether you accept or reject my explanation of your trouble, you will at least be more enlightened.

"I take a tablespoonful of brewer's yeast flakes every day. Do you believe the effects of this are good or not? (J. T.)"

Answer—Good. Yeast is an excellent source of riboflavin (vitamin B2), though not better than milk and eggs. Riboflavin and vitamin G, is essential for the health of skin, hair and nails. It requires not less than 1½ pints (three glasses) of milk (whole milk or skim milk or buttermilk) daily to assure a good complexion.

"I am 39 years old. I have allergy. Doctor said I must not take any milk, coffee, cheese or wheat or wheat product . . . said I should take shots, but with 7 children I can't afford them . . . (Mrs. C. J. W.)"

Answer—If "shots" are injections of homeopathic doses of the foods you cannot eat, such treatment rarely proves satisfactory. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for pamphlet Relief for Allergy.

"First time I saw your column, I found a suggestion that proved a lifesaver. Had a sore on side of nose that had refused to heal for 1½ years. Followed your suggestion, and the doctor referred me to a dermatologist, who cut it out. Pathologist's examination showed it was malignant. Had treatments for a week and follow-up treatments for a year. Now it is healed and I am very grateful. (M.A.)"

Answer—I am grateful for your report. Any little sore that refuses to heal should be carefully examined by a physician.

"I'm a housewife with three children, and am in good health But I'm very thin. Have tried vitamins and other things but never gain more than 3 or 4 pounds, which I lose again upon walking to church or going shopping. Doctors say I'm just naturally small. (B. L.)"

Answer — Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for pamphlet How to Gain Weight.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Beware of 'White Glove' Fetish

Dr. Gamaliel offers a good method for all churches to follow, so memorize the Scriptural passage I have given below. And then analyse your church ritual to see if it is man-made or a fundamental edict of God Almighty. And be chary about rationalizing your own selfish rules by trying to pass them off as God's laws! Notice the "white glove" fetish of a modern church.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case X-384: Patsy and Mary, aged 9 and 8 respectively, are my nieces, who at that time were living in Brooklyn, New York.

One Sunday they got ready for Sunday school and proudly headed for the church.

DR. CRANE

But they were refused admittance because they weren't wearing white gloves.

They came home crestfallen. Did God really stoop to such petty rituals? Or did the local church leaders usurp God's authority?

This case certainly illustrates the extremes to which man-made ritual has crept into various religious denominations.

"God made fingers before forks," is a somewhat relevant expression of the fact that God believes in fundamental moral truths and may not be so concerned with religious ritual as many churchmen imagine.

Dr. Gamaliel, a famous lawyer of the Hebrew nation, was called upon to give advice concerning the early Christians. The crowd was clamoring to slay them.

"Refrain from these men," said Gamaliel "and let them alone; for if this work be of men, it will come to nought:

"But if it be of God, ye cannot overthrow it; lest haply ye be found even to fight against God."

A lot of modern Americans who are church members, better consider the sage advice of Gamaliel. For they may be fighting against God in foisting racial and religious intolerance upon innocent children.

There would thus be very little racial strife in America if the decisions were left to the youngsters, at least prior to their contamination by biased oldsters.

Petty, man-made ritual is being flaunted as God's own edicts, when God may actually hold the very opposite views.

Within this supposedly modern 20th century, Dr. Roy L. Smith says he once heard a wonderful orator in a Christian pulpit in Kansas extol his mother as the most saintly person he had ever seen here on this earth.

The preacher's sermon would have exceeded most of our current Mother's Day orations.

But the clergyman then concluded with this final statement:

"Brothers and Sisters, I regret to inform you that I shall never see my mother in heaven, because she was not baptized by immersion."

Can you imagine any human being in this scientific age, being such an egotist as to deprive God of the right to decide whether that saintly woman should reach heaven?

BIGOTS IN CHURCH

The prominent deacon of another Christian church in Illinois, also within the past 50 years, tried to oust his new parson because the latter had played football in college.

The deacon considered football unseemly and sinful!

Next day the parson happened to ride up to the village post office on a new bicycle, which he had purchased in order to speed up his pastoral calls.

The deacon was leaning against the adjacent store, chewing a big cud of tobacco. The parson saw the deacon viewing the bicycle disparagingly, but the preacher decided he might as well meet the issue head-on.

"Well, Deacon," the preacher began, "what do you think of my new bicycle?"

The deacon shifted his wad of tobacco to the other cheek; then spat tobacco juice half-way across the street, and answered:

"Well, all I've got to say is that St. Paul never rode a bicycle!"

Except for his tact and religious forbearance, the parson might have replied:

"St. Paul never chewed tobacco either!"

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 10c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Townsend's Car Robbed

PARIS (INS) — Paris and London buzzed with speculation today that the deft thief who robbed Peter Townsend's car may have made off with "personal" letters from Princess Margaret.

Townsend helped fire the speculation by the worry he expressed to police over the letters — only part of the loot which included $950 in cash, a camera, clothing and a Bible.

The onetime suitor of the petite British princess spent nearly three hours in a Left Bank Paris police station reporting the theft from his car while it was parked on the Rue De L'Universite.

Almost 300 letters were in a large envelope marked "personal and very important." A police officer said the ex-RAF group captain appeared more worried over the letters than anything else.

News in Brief

Clarence J. Coker, 21, of 293 Baldwin Ave., pleaded guilty to a charge of drunk driving, Friday, before Orion Township Justice Helmar G. Stanaback, and was sentenced to 90 days in the Oakland County Jail after failing to pay a $100 fine plus $7 costs and 30 days.

Thomas H. Strong, 20, of 2841 Hosner St., Oxford, paid a fine of $100 plus $7 costs after pleading guilty to a reckless driving charge Friday before Orion Township Justice Helmar G. Stanaback.

Calvin H. Schultz, 19, of 2850 S. Lapeer Rd., Lake Orion, pleaded guilty to a charge of reckless driving Friday before Orion Township Justice Helmar G. Stanaback and was sentenced to serve 30 days in the Oakland County Jail after failing to pay a fine of $100 plus $7 costs.

An Orion Township man, Edsel L. Dewey, 30, of 2401 Judah Rd., is reported in fair condition at Pontiac General Hospital today, after he suffered a broken leg and possible internal injuries Friday afternoon when his motorcycle struck a stop sign at Joslyn and Hammersle Roads, in Orion Township.

School Bus Stop Law Signed by Governor

LANSING (AP) — Michigan Motorists soon must come to a halt when approaching a stopped school bus from the front or rear.

Gov. Williams yesterday put his signature on a bill extending present law covering drivers trailing a school bus to oncoming drivers. The bill was sponsored by P. Sen. Harvey Lodge, of Oakland County.

The new law does not extend to four-lane divided highways.

It goes into effect 90 days after the legislature adjourns — probably May 16.

State Athletes at Ohio Event

Pontiac Hopes to Have Several Into Finals at Mansfield Relays

By H. GUY MOATS

MANSFIELD, Ohio — Several Michigan high school athletes have qualified for the only two final events set up so far today in the colorful Mansfield Relays.

One new record was set this morning in a preliminary heat of the 120-yard high hurdles. Don Lee of Mt. Lebanon, Pa., clipped the high sticks in 14.4 seconds to erase a 14.6 mark set in 1949.

Qualifiers for the high hurdles included Dan Sowell of Pontiac Central, Reg Gillard of Flint Northern, Don Gardner of River Rouge, Mel Porter of Inkster, Fred Tyler of Cincinnati Hughes and Lee.

Pontiac qualified Bob Manning and Jim Kellar for the 100-yard dash semifinals, along with Lake Orion's Jim Drake, Ron Watkins of Flint Central, Ed Kaiser of Inkster, Flint Central's Henry Young and Otis Drayton from Cleveland, Ohio.

Drayton and Manning, both under 10 seconds in preliminary heats, were expected to hook up in the finals.

In today's' first heat of the low hurdles, Jim Hawkins of Pontiac won going away at 20.6. Sowell, running in the 4th heat, was expected to equal or better Hawkins' time. Both were expected to reach the finals.

Final events were scheduled to start at 1:30 this afternoon. There are 133 teams and 1,675 athletes competing.

Military Hero of France Dies

Gen. Gustave Gamelin Wrote Orders for Battle of Marne in 1914

PARIS (AP)—Gen. Maurice Gustave Gamelin, World War I hero who fell into disgrace for failing to hold back the Nazis in 1940, died Friday night at the age of 85.

He died in the military Val de Grace Hospital where he has been confined since being stricken with paralysis last February.

Gamelin was sent by his middle class Parisian parents to Saint Cyr, France's West Point, and was an honor student. A tireless student of maps and battle orders, Gamelin predicted correctly that Germany would attack France through Belgium in 1914. He wrote the complex battle orders that saved Paris at the Battle of the Marne.

Between wars Gamelin worked his way up from division commander to chief of all France's armies, succeeding Gen. Maxime Weygand as military commander in 1935. When World War II broke out Britain and France agreed he was the logical choice for supreme commander.

Hitler's armies attacked France May 10, 1940, again through Belgium, going around the end of the Maginot Line which Gamelin had counted on to protect the republic. Nine days later the Allied Command was broken and Weygand was called back to relieve Gamelin and recommend capitulation.

After France's surrender, the collaboration government in Vichy placed Gamelin on trial with former Premiers Edouard Daladier and Leon Blum. He was charged with responsibility for the military collapse.

Gamelin refused to speak in his own defense and the charges finally were dropped without a decision.

3 Youths Arrested in Sears Burglary

Three youths, one a juvenile, were arrested yesterday by Pontiac police in connection with the burglary of the Sears, Roebuck Store, 154 N. Saginaw St. on April 10.

Frederick F. Hannah, 19, of 53 Hovey St., waived examination in municipal court and was bound over to circuit court for trial.

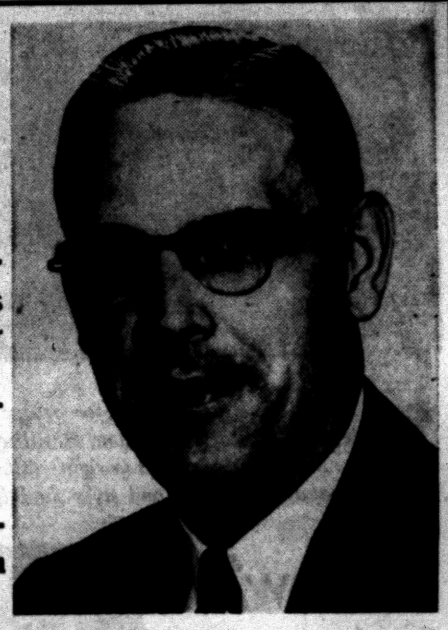

Another youth, Jack Cantu, 17, of 270 Franklin Rd., was bound over on a charge of carrying a concealed weapon and is also being held in the buglary.

The third boy was turned over to juvenile officers.

In the burglary, several revolvers were stolen. One was found on Hannah and another on Cantu. Hannah and the juvenile were arrested originally by Sylvan Lake police for a burglary there.

Widow's Behavior All Right

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please set me straight on this matter? I am a widow in my mid-40's. I live alone in a three-room apartment. Last Sunday afternoon a man friend took me for a drive in his car. We got back to my house about 6 and I asked him to come in for a bite to eat.

"After we had finished eating we watched television until about 10 o'clock and then he left. I've been told by a friend that such behavior was improper and would only lead to unpleasant gossip. What is your opinion?"

Answer: What one can do really depends very much upon the reputation that one has built up for oneself. I see no evidence of impropriety in having a man friend spend an occasional evening with you.

"Dear Mrs. Post: My daughter is going to be married shortly. The reception, of necessity, will include only the members of both families. However, I am sure many of our friends and relatives will come in before the wedding and bring my daughter wedding presents, even though they are not invited to the reception. Would it be proper to have 'wedding favors' on hand to give to those who bring presents to our house?"

Answer: No, do not have "wedding favors." Your daughter must thank each person who brings a gift and write a thank-you note to anyone who sends one.

"Dear Mrs. Post: On three different occasions I asked a young couple over to our house for an evening's visit. Each time they were unable to come for some reason or other. Isn't it now up to them to make the next move?"

Answer: It does look as if they do not want to come. I would certainly let them make any further move.

Modeling styles from De'Cor Shop at the Wednesday affair will be Mrs. Ted Kieffer of Orchard Lake (left) and Mrs. Roy Dorris of Loon Lake.

Dear Abby . . .

Moral: Never Bus(s) a Marine

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

"DEAR ABBY: Can a girl love two men at once? I met a Marine on a bus and we talked for 13 hours straight. In all that time I only slept one half hour (on his shoulder) and I dreamed we were married. I let him kiss me and there was no shame to it because there wasn't anything cheap about it.

ABBY

"I got off the bus and my husband was there to meet me, and, Abby, I really love my husband with all my heart, but I can't get this Marine out of my mind. I took his address, but want to know if I should write to him?

IN LOVE WITH TWO MEN"

DEAR IN: I would say that you are IN LOVE with your husband, but feel a strong physical attraction for the Marine. The bus ride shook up your sense of values a little. Throw the Marine's address away. He'll get over it.

"DEAR ABBY: As a manufacturer of model railroad trains, may I offer a valuable suggestion to the person who uses coffee grounds for his miniature 'hillside'? Discontinue this practice at once as it can foul up your moving parts.

J. J."

DEAR J. J.: Thank you. This sounds like sound advice.

"DEAR ABBY: You've got to help me. I am in seventh grade and have the worst reputation in school. I can lick any guy in school and everybody knows it. If I don't fight when someone chooses me, I am chicken, and if I do, than I am a bully.

"Anytime something goes wrong they send for me. No decent girl will talk to me and some boys have told me their folks don't want me around their house. What am I supposed to do?

DISGUSTED"

DEAR DISGUSTED: Go to the coach (or your favorite teacher) and tell him you want to learn to get along with other boys without using bully tactics. You will gain more by using your brain than your brawn.

"DEAR ABBY: I am 18 years old and am very much in love with a man who is 28. He farms and to tell you the truth the only thing my folks have against him is that he can't read or write as he was born in the hills of Arkansas.

"He doesn't care to learn, either, as he makes a good living farming. He loves me and wants to marry me. Do you think it is so important what he can't do?

IN LOVE"

DEAR LOVE: If his inability to read or write doesn't bother him, and it doesn't bother you, it shouldn't bother your folks.

CONFIDENTIAL TO JOAN: Better to leave the wolf at your door than to invite him in.

It's Easier to Lose a Little at a Time

Diet Toward Short-Range Goal

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Psychologists tell us that we should divide any big job we have to do up into small parts. The big job may be overwhelming while we can face one piece of it at a time without so much wear and tear and with more success.

This is true of reducing. If you have a lot of weight to lose, think only in terms of one short period at a time. That is why the short, rapid reducing diet is so helpful to women with many pounds to lose.

Anyone can stick to a reducing diet for nine days. Do not look past that nine days because you can lose from 5 to 10 pounds and will be so encouraged that you will be able to continue at a slower pace.

After the nine - day diet, continue to cut up the long pull into parts, one week more at a time, or two weeks — whatever seems easiest for you.

Of course those who have only 10 pounds to lose can do so quickly and painlessly. As those of you who have been reading this column know, I am running my Nine - Day Reducing Diet, as I do each spring.

Here are the menus for Monday.

Breakfast

One - half grapefruit
One boiled egg
One thin dry slice of whole wheat toast
Black coffee

Luncheon

Chicken sandwich (no butter — thin slices of whole wheat bread)
Sliced tomatoes or canned tomatoes
One glass skimmed milk

Dinner

Minute steak or chops
Salad of shredded cabbage and carrots
One - half cup spinach — greens or broccoli
One - half grapefruit
One glass skimmed milk

Today's exercise: Walk about the room, lifing the knees high in front of you with each step. Follow this by standing tall with your toes pointing forward and your arms at your sides. Rise high on your toes as you raise your arms sideward-upward. Reach toward the ceiling. Lower arms and heels. Do this slowly. Continue.

SEND FOR BOOKLET

If you have missed some of the Nine - Day Diet menus and would like to have the booklet which gives you the complete series, along with a list of substitute foods and a weight chart, send 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for the booklet. Address Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

Speaking on "Civic Government of Pontiac, was John Cowe.

Mrs. Charles Lloyd was chairman for the day aided by Mrs. Bartlet Wager, Mrs. Vernon Spencer and Mrs. William Leach.

Mrs. Lewis Hostess for WCTU Meeting

Mrs. Barney Hyde and Anna Bone participated in the program when Frances Willard WCTU met Wednesday afternoon in the Judson avenue home of Mrs. Rachel Lewis. The Rev. L. W. Shafer and Mrs. Sadie Patten talked about the coming election.

Meeting was closed by observing the birthday of Mrs. Evelyn Snell and Mrs. Shafer. Mrs. Lewis was hostess assisted by Mrs. Mary Phillips and Kay Cudney.

Baldwin PTA Hears MSU's Dr. Guy Hill

Dr. Guy Hill of Michigan State University addressed the Baldwin and values of our culture stating that "home forces" may cause some children's aggressiveness, depressions and low grades.

School PTA Thursday evening.

Dr. Hill discussed the beliefs "Home and school should not pull separate ways," he asserted. The speaker also emphasized the fallacy of designating an "average" child and attempting to standardize learning methods.

Circle Entertained

Mrs. James Deeg, Mrs. Albert Barker and Mrs. James Nickell were guests of Mary Martha Circle of Oakland Park Methodist Church Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Irl Williams on Dover road. Following a dessert luncheon the business meeting was held.

Tenderness Result of Buttermilk

Mrs. McCorkle's Old Time Recipe Still a Favorite

By JANET ODELL

It's not long until strawberry season when shortcake will be the order of the day. For the devotees of biscuits this buttermilk recipe is offered. It's an old favorite.

Mrs. George McCorkle is today's cook. Having just concluded a period of working away from home, she is anxious to get started on spring gardening. Sewing and membership in the Eastern Star fill part of her leisure hours.

BUTTERMILK BISCUITS
By Mrs. George McCorkle

2 cups flour (not necessary to sift first)
½ teaspoon soda
½ teaspoon baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup shortening
1 cup buttermilk

Sift dry ingredients together. Cut in shortening. Add buttermilk to make soft dough. Knead 30 seconds on floured board. Cut into rounds. Bake 10-12 minutes at 450 degrees.

Margaret Potter Becomes Bride of Robert Murr

Margaret Lavene Potter and Robert Eugene Murr exchanged wedding vows in Assembly of God Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Potter of Berkley avenue, and the bridegroom is the son of the Joseph Smieleskis of Rochester.

For her March 8 wedding the bride chose a white floor - length gown in lilac design and carried an arrangement of white carnations. Barbara Rickman was the honor attendant and Norma Potter served as bridesmaid.

Daniel Coakley of Rochester was best man and Howard and Raymond Smieleski of Rochester seated the guests.

A reception was held at the church following the ceremony.

Halter-Necked Chemise Stars Daringly Slit Skirt

Charles LeMaire, who dresses the glamor girls in the picture business, knows instinctively what lines do the most for a woman.

This chemise has an exciting neckline slashed at the sides, with the center pieces forming a halter with a button closing.

The separate cummerbund is boned for comfort, wraps around to tie in front. Because the shorter skirt has definitely arrived, even if you're not ready for it, LeMaire prepares you for the idea with a deep slit in the center front.

Wonderful for silk or rayon crepe novelty cottons, 50-inch party fabrics. From this chart select the one size best for you:

Sizes	Bust	Waist	Hips	From Nape of Neck to Length Waist
			Inches
8	33	23	34	16¼
10	34	24	35	16½
12	35	25	36	16¾
14	36½	26½	37½	17
16	38	28	39	17¼
18	40	30	41	17½

Educational Day Set for Sunday

Boy Scouts to Receive Honor Badges, Awards at Dinner, Monday

Baptist Educational Day will be observed at Bethany Baptist Church tomorrow.

Besides the 60 institutions of higher learning related to the work of the American Baptist Convention and many student centers across the country, the ministry Baptist students is underwritten by the giving of American Baptists to the Baptist World Mission program.

"Be Prepared," will be Dr. Joseph I. Chapman's sermon theme at 9 a.m. Sunday. The youth participant will be Allen Travis. Wellington Relyea will make announcements.

At 11 a.m., Dean Lloyd J. Averill of Kalamazoo College will be the speaker with two young people of the college taking part in the service. Ellen Cornell will read the responsive reading.

For those interested in joining Bethany Baptist, two classes will begin Sunday, the adult section at 10 a.m. and the youth section at 6 p.m.

BOY SCOUT DINNER

Honor badges and awards will be presented members of Troop No. 7 at the annual Boy Scout dinner Monday night. Robert Phillips is scoutmaster of the troop.

Dr. M. C. Worster, a member of Bethany who recently made a safari trip to Africa, will show his pictures at the dinner meeting of the newly formed Men's Fellowship Tuesday evening.

At the quarterly meeting of the church, members voted to cooperate with both the Wayne Association in the Baptist Convention and the Detroit Association of American Baptist Churches.

Announcement was made this week that Bethany's pastor has been named a member of the executive committee for Michigan of the forthcoming campaign for Christian High Education. The goal for Michigan is $250,000.

Kentucky Pastor to Speak Sunday Through May 4

Guest speaker for the special revival services beginning Sunday evening, in the First Assembly of God Church will be the Rev. Wiley R. Hinecker, of Louisville, Ky.

Meetings will begin nightly at 7:45 except Monday and Saturdays. They will continue through May 4.

Rev. Mr. Hinecker is superintendent of the Kentucky District of the Assemblies of God. A few years ago he conducted a series of meetings here for the local church.

According to Rev. W. C. Wibley, pastor of First Assembly, a special musical program will be presented nightly. The public is invited.

Confident Living

Simple Prayer Effects Sublime Change in Man

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

PEALE

Once, while staying at a hotel in the West Virginia mountains, I saw a man sitting by the putting green whose face seemed familiar. I walked over and recognized him as a man from New York whom I knew slightly.

"How are you, Mr. So-and-So?" I asked.

"Do you want the usual answer or do you want the truth?" was his gloomy reply.

"Well, we might as well have the whole truth," I told him. "How are you, really?" He started in telling me. I can't repeat here his exact words, but they were emphatic and conveyed that he felt anything but good. In his depressing recital he took time out to beg my pardon "because I was a minister," but I told him to forget it—that I'd heard all those words before.

This man wasn't a profane person, really, but he was super-exasperated, nervous and upset. Feeling as he did, his vacation wasn't doing him much good. "I sit here and look at these mountains," he continued, "and people tell me I ought to feel better by doing that.

"You write about finding peace. I've read you a good deal on that subject. I suppose you encounter trouble like mine a lot, don't you?"

"Yes," I said, "that is a need of many today: how to have peace of mind."

"I go to church," the man went on. "Maybe something is wrong with me but I don't even find it there. Where IS this peace, I'd like to know?"

"Are you just asking," I demanded, falling into his own style, "or do you really want the truth? If you do, it's this—you can only find the peace you are looking for in God."

He looked at me pathetically and asked, "But how do you find peace in God—really, I'd like to know."

One day I suggested we take a little walk. We strolled through the woods talking about the manner in which religious faith heals tension until we came to a bench where we sat and talked some more. Finally, I pointed out that this problem would not be solved by continuous academic discussion. I thought we needed God's help and suggested that we have a prayer.

Being well informed spiritually he understood the therapeutic values in prayer and readily agreed. We asked the Lord to touch him with His healing grace.

Then I felt moved to get up, put my hand on his shoulder and say: "Dear Lord, this poor fellow is very upset and here we are the two of us unitedly seeking Thy healing. Thy Word says that when two or three are gathered in Thy name, Thou art in the midst. Please put Your hand on this man and give him peace."

This simple prayer had a strange but definite effect, for my friend reached up then and took my hand and to my surprise said: "Wait a minute, let me pray." He hesitated a long moment and then prayed, "Lord, I'm not worthy of what Dr. Peale is asking for me. I've done too many wrong things. I have thought too much of myself and have done nothing for others. But I'm genuinely sorry now and want to do better. Forgive me, won't You?"

Then I added, "Lord, do forgive him and grant him Thy peace."

We were both silent for a quite a little while. Then, all of a sudden, my friend looked at me with the strangest expression on his face. "Doctor, I believe He IS here," he said. "I mean that I actually feel Something. It must be that the Lord is here like He said He would be." We sat for some moments and I knew He was there, too.

This man has been a different person from that day to this. He still has his struggles, but he deals with them in a different manner. One outcome of his experience is the recognition that in gratitude for blessings received, it is up to him to help others find the same answer to their problems.

Missionaries Slated Sunday

Dr. Hendon Harris, Speaker at Morning Worship Hours

Dr. Hendon Harris, founder and director of the Baptist Evangelization Society and missionary to Formosa, will be the speaker at both the 8:30 and 11 a.m. worship services Sunday in Waterford Community Church, 5860 Andersonville Rd., Waterford.

In 1950, Dr. Harris went to Formosa at the invitation of Maj. Gen. Claire L. Chennault to preach to the Nationalist soldiers. He was awarded five banners of honor by Chinese military units, war veterans and Christian churches.

In the summer of 1953, he was given the task of preparing Chinese prisoners for their move to Pan Mun Jom and then to Formosa.

Monta Osborne, in charge of indoctrinating prisoners, said Dr. Harris had made the most significant single contribution to the Chinese war prisoner situation.

Vice President Richard C. Nixon also commended him for his accomplishments with these men.

Miss Bertel Vine, missionary for 16 years in North Bihar, Nepal Border, India, will bring the closing conference message at 7 p.m.

Dr. Don Fraser Names Dates for 2 Retreats

Two weekend retreats for Catholic laymen have been scheduled at St. Paul of the Cross Monastery, Detroit for the Pontiac Retreat League.

Dr. Don Fraser, league president, announces retreats will be held April 25-27 and May 23-25. They will begin at 6:30 on Friday evening and close on Sunday afternoon.

The following chairmen have been named for the Pontiac area parishes, Merle Berry, St. Michael; Cecil Cosgrove, St. Vincent de Paul; J. M. Parle, St. Benedict and Paul Hagan, Our Lady of the Lakes in Drayton Plains.

Other chairmen include Henry Goodell, Sacred Heart in Auburn Heights; Joseph Wilhelm, Our Lady of Refuge in Orchard Lake; Kenneth Wigton of St. Andrew, Rochester and David Blumenfield of Royal Oak.

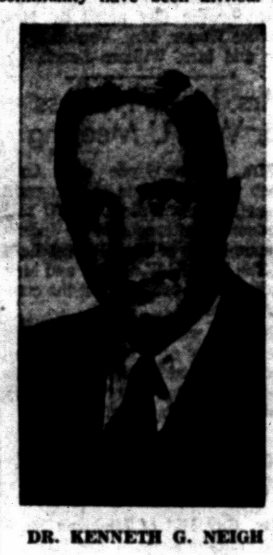

Nurses Guild Officers to Be Installed Sunday

The Rev. Amos Johnson, pastor, will install the newly elected officers of the Pontiac Nurses Guild and missionary workers of several churches at 3 p.m. Sunday in the New Bethel Baptist Church.

Mrs. William Stevens has been chosen to serve the guild as president; Mrs. Rozelin Shankle, vice president; Mrs. Arbutus Brice, secretary, and Mrs. Josephine Milton, treasurer.

Dr. K. G. Neigh to Speak on Trip to Soviet Russia

Dr. Kenneth G. Neigh, executive secretary of the Presbyterian Synod of Michigan, will speak on his trip to Soviet Russia to the Council of Men of the Orchard Lake Community Church, Presbyterian at 8 p.m. Wednesday. Men of the community have been invited.

DR. KENNETH G. NEIGH

A graduate of Ohio Wesleyan and McCormick Theological Seminary, Dr. Neigh came to the Detroit area to organize the Allen Park Presbyterian Church. He was the first safety commissioner of Allen Park and wrote the police handbook.

From 1946 to 1949, he was president and acting president of McCormick Seminary. He returned to Detroit in 1949 to become executive secretary of the Presbytery of Detroit. He has since served as president of the Michigan Council of Churches.

Active in the work of missions and education, Dr. Neigh is currently a trustee of McCormick Seminary and Alma College.

The pastor, the Rev. Edward D. Auchard will preach Sunday on "The Mark of Cain."

The Junior High Westminster Fellowship is inviting the congregation to a Japanese tea from 3 to 5 p.m. tomorrow.

Culminating a year's study of Japan, the tea will be served as a native meal on Oriental dishes in a room with authenic furnishings.

Displays will include curios, hangings and a map with inserts picturing festivals, religion and cultural aspects of Japanese life.

Leaders of the fellowship are Mrs. Harold Welch, Mrs. Eric Lundquist, Mrs. Roy Remmel and Mrs. Richard Reese.

BUILDING PLANS

Plans are under way for the constructing of the two remaining levels of the educational wing of the Orchard Lake Church. The sanctuary and the present exterior will remain unchanged. The basement level, already built, will be divided into classrooms.

On the second level will be the narthex, a chapel, three offices and the church parlor.

On the third level will be a large social hall with fireplace, constructed with funds raised over recent years by the young people. At one end will be modern kitchen facilities. At the other end will be a stage and dressing rooms.

Serving on the building committee are Charles Forbes, R. E. Dailey, Alex Ferguson, George Gotshall, Robert Newton and Charles Wright, president of the board of trustees.

Planning a new manse nearer the church than the present residence is a committee consisting of Ros Reeves, Eric Westerberg, Walter Johnson and Alex Kjolhede.

Lutheran Laymen Schedule Convention

The Lutheran Laymen's League (Missouri Synod) sixth annual convention of the Michigan Southeast District will be held April 26 and 27 at Jehovah Evangelical Lutheran Church, West Outer drive and Greenfield, Detroit.

This is the second successive year that Detroit is hosting the district convention.

The league sponsors, as its prime project, the well-known "Lutheran Hour." This program which preaches the Gospel over the air speaks to upwards of 15 million people in 54 languages and 70 countries throughout the world.

Some 1240 broadcasting stations through the efforts of the L. L. L. spread the message of Christ and His Kingdom into homes every week of the year.

Guest Pastor to Speak

The Rev. C. J. Johnson of the Church of God in Christ will speak at 3:30 p.m. Sunday in the Providence Missionary Baptist Church. His congregation will attend as guests. The afternoon program is sponsored by the Usher Board.

Book of Faith Tells Problems

Writer Recalls Pranks, Patience, Prayers in Raising Children

One of the new inspirational books just published and on the book shelves of Christian Literature Sales is "To My Son" by Dale Evans Rogers.

The book deals with the practice of religion in rearing the seven children in the family of Roy Rogers.

Dale Evans writes of the problems and patience, pranks and prayers involved in the round - the-clock raising of the seven lively youngsters, Dodie, Marion, Dusty, Cheryl, Sandy, Debbie and Linda.

She recalls the adjustments that have been made as new members were added to this "international" family.

She also tells many of the experiences in molding seven youngsters from different backgrounds into one happy family.

The book is written to her son, Tom, now with a home and family of his own —, who helped his mother find the faith by which she lives.

One-half the royalties from "To My Son" are being contributed by Mrs. Rogers to the American Diabetes Assn. One of Tom's little daughters has diabetes.

Business Marks 20th Birthday

An organization which grew from a book table in a local church to a thriving Christian enterprise will mark its 20th anniversary in Pontiac Thursday.

Christian Literature Sales, with headquarters at 39 Oakland Ave. here, will celebrate that birthday with a banquet at 7 p.m. in Hotel Waldron.

Attending the festive dinner will be manager and Mrs. Floyd P. Miles, Rev. and Mrs. William T. Miles, dedicated members of the sales staff, investors and special guests.

William F. Moore of Chicago, executive secretary of Christian Booksellers Assn., will be the keynote speaker.

Other invited guests will include Mr. and Mrs. John W. Hirlinger, Mr. and Mrs. Paul A. Kern, Dr. and Mrs. H. H. Savage, Mr. and Mrs. John A. Riley, and from Wheaton, Ill., Mr. and Mrs. Milton H. Miles.

"As we at Christian Literature Sales celebrates our 20th anniversary, we feel we are truly 'Building with a Purpose'," was the comment of Floyd P. Miles, manager.

HEART OF PROGRAM

"This is not just a slogan, a catch phrase to meet an occasion. It is much more than that. It expresses the heart of our program, the basic reason for our existence as a business.

"Christian Literature Sales is a Christian ministry. Just as men and women are called into the ordained ministry or led into the mission fields, in the same way we feel that the Lord has called us into this work," he said.

A little over 20 years ago, Christian Literature Sales was just a book table in Pontiac's First Baptist Church. Brothers William and Milton Miles had operated the table for more than a year, when they felt the guiding hand of God.

For the Miles brothers, Floyd, Milton and William, this came through being laid off work at the Pontiac Motor Division in 1938. Floyd suggested they start a Bible book store.

BORN IN 1938

With $100 of merchandise and a borrowed $75 for operating expenses, Christian Literature Sales was born on April 23, 1938 in two rented rooms above Jacobsen's Flower Shop. Little by little the business grew until a move was necessary.

"The mezzanine behind Cunningham's Drug Store was the next step in God's plan," said Floyd. "We served the community here for eight years before moving to a ground level building formerly part of an auto part business."

In December of 1948, a five-year lease was signed for the location at 67 Oakland Ave.

The realtor who signed the Miles brothers to the lease offered to design a building to suit their needs and lease it to them for 10 years. Bound by their lease at 67 Oakland Ave., Floyd and his brothers refused.

Later when the lease was up, the offer was repeated and accepted with the new property and present Christian Literature Sales at 39 Oakland Ave.

"We never could have borrowed enough money at the bank to build a place like this," Floyd Miles says. "This man trusted us, and wanted to help us. We feel that all through this, God has opened the way."

Course for Teachers, Dream of Brothers

"A dream which may become a reality this fall is a full-fledged teacher training course," stated manager Floyd P. Miles when asked about the future of Christian Literature Sales. "It will serve churches too small to put on a training program.

"Mrs. Glora Luck, a graduate of the Evangelical Teacher Training Course, is qualified to teach this as a credit course," he added.

"We also look for a continuing advance into the great potential of audio - visuals" Mr. Miles said. "Step by step we are building a mail order service. With improved mailin glists, we hope to make this department a valued part of our program."

Men's Day at Newman

Dr. J. L. Leach of Flint will be the speaker for the annual Men's Day at Newman AME Church. The service will begin at 11 a.m.

Questions That Must Be Answered
by Clarence W. Kerr
Here is a book of QUESTIONS and ANSWERS that really matter—written by one of the nation's leading Presbyterian ministers. He asks these important questions in the light of Scripture:
"How Can I Know the Will of God?"
"Why Does God Permit So Much Evil?"
"How Can I Improve My Disposition?"
"How Can I Overcome My Bad Habits?"
"Why Do the Righteous Suffer?"
10 vital questions — 10 Biblical answers

THE LIVING BIBLE
Chapter by Chapter
By Amos R. Wells
The Living Bible covers the entire Bible, a chapter a day, with a personal devotional meditation on each of the 1,179 chapters. Many helpful ways of using these meditations are given in the preface for individuals and families. Church and Sunday school teachers may follow the course with their classes and ministers draw from its subjects for Bible talks and sermons. It constitutes a devotional commentary on the entire Bible. By means of it the Scripture becomes The Living Bible. $2.00

THROUGH THE BIBLE IN IN A YEAR
By Amos R. Wells
This volume contains a course in Bible-reading completing the entire Bible in one year with a portion for each day and with daily suggestions for meditations and for further study. It furnishes the stimulus and aid needed to read the Bible through in a definite, systematic way. $1.50

I LEFT JEHOVAH'S WITNESSES

William J. Schnell
former zone servant for Jehovah's Witnesses in Ohio and Pennsylvania

Mr. Schnell has written a simple, powerful, and impelling story of his association with this movement, his rise to positions of authority, the hopelessness of his situation, and remarkable conversion in 1954, after an entire night of prayer. This is vividly told in his book, Thirty Years A Watch Tower Slave, Confessions of A Converted Jehovah's Witness. The price is only $2.95:

You owe it to yourself to read this book. Sooner or later you will be confronted by members of this sect. You will be glad you have this information. Buy a copy today.

'Thin-O-Paque,' Best Bible Paper Yet Produced

A new Bible paper, "Holman thin-O-paque," has just been announced by the A. J. Holman Co., publishers of fine Bibles since 1839.

"As a Bible publisher, we are constantly seeking ways and means of producing thin books without sacrificing the strength, whiteness or opacity of the printing paper," says a spokesman for Holman. "After testing a number of formulas in recent months, we are confident that our new 'thin-O-paque' is the finest Bible paper yet produced."

A large print Verse Reference Bible with a dictionary-concordance totaling 1500 pages printed on "thin-O-paque" will be only one inch thick and weigh slightly over one pound.

The A. J. Holman Co. is America's oldest and largest exclusive Bible publisher.

200 Members to Attend Detroit Stake Conference

Elder El Ray L. Christiansen, an assistant to the Council of Twelve Apostles, Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints (Mormon) of Salt Lake City, will address a conference of the Detroit Stake in Dearborn today and tomorrow. More than 200 will be attending from the Pontiac church.

The general sessions of the conference are scheduled for 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. Sunday.

An educator by profession and a musician, Elder Christiansen is president of the Salt Lake Temple and has also served as president of the Logan Utah Temple.

Included in the stake are 12 wards (local congregations) in Ann Arbor, Dearborn, Detroit, Pontiac, Flint, East Lansing, Saginaw, Jackson, Mt. Clemens, Toledo, Ohio and two in Canada.

Each ward and stake is self governed by lay members who serve voluntarily. The worldwide missionary system is also self supporting. Most missionaries are young year terms in full-time proselyting work.

In Mormon philosophy, the church is not only a place to worship but a source of recreation, education and cultural development.

We at Christian Literature Sales are sincerely grateful on this, our twentieth Anniversary. Grateful to God for His blessing and to you, the pastors, laymen and general public for your patronage. All have made possible our growth from the little one room, second floor, store of 1938 to our present location with 4,800 square feet of floor space. The one thing that justifies our existence and growth is our service to you. Day by day, week by week, and month by month in the years ahead our honest hope is that our store will be increasingly effective in serving you.

Step by step we are building new services and improving the old. As you take advantage of our services . . . you make possible our continued growth.

Thank You,

Robert "Bob" LANDRY

for City Commissioner District 7

The Primary Election proved that the vast majority of the voters in district 7 want a change! Yes, by a substantial margin.

WHY?

1. Because we need a man with a new outlook!
2. Because we need a man to be active at all meetings!
3. Because we need a man who will take a position!
4. Because we need a man who will be the voice of the voters in District Seven!
5. Because we need a man who will keep his people informed.

Your Vote For Robert "Bob" Landry

Will give you new, young, and capable leadership on the city commission — it will assure you a voice in civic affairs that is neither a slave to pressure groups nor obligated to professional political job seekers. You may be assured that Robert "Bob" Landry is an independent candidate and thus is able to vote according to the dictates of his own conscience for the best interest of the voters of district 7 and the city at large.

Hollywood Headlines

Oscar, 30, Clearer Thinker Than 10-Year-Old Emmy

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Emmy is 10 years old and Oscar is 30, but there's more difference between them than two decades.

The TV Academy show this week again pointed out why the Emmies will probably never reach the stature of the Oscars.

No one can argue with this year's awards. Jack Benny was long overdue for recognition. The Academy itself realized this and gave him a special award, just in case he didn't win as best entertainer.

Dinah Shore certainly has the most imaginative of the variety shows and was a popular winner.

Father Knows Best has long been a sleeper—a steady, consistent program that shows the American family in good taste, unlike some other family shows. Robert Young and Jane Wyatt were well received as best actor and actress in a series.

Likewise, Peter Ustinov and Polly Bergen did fine jobs in single performances, and there was no complaint about awards to the defunct Seven Lively Arts (best new series), Phil Silvers Show (best comedy), Playhouse 90 (best dramatics), Ed Murrow (news commentary), etc.

The trouble is that there are too many awards.

For the life of me, I have never been able to determine which is the most important award in the Emmies. Best actor in a single performance? Best actor in a series? Best entertainer?

There is none of this confusion with the Oscars. One picture is named the best and that's that. One actor and one actress are chosen for star performances. Two supporting players are named.

There's no question that these are the top Oscars.

But the very nature of television defies singling out the important awards.

Entertainers can't compete with dramatic actors, so there must be a category for each. It's ridiculous to pit actors in a single performance against actors who play the same roles every week. Again, a diversity of awards.

The Emmy categories aren't quite as silly as they have been in previous years, though there are some dilles. For instance, lumping musical, variety, audience participation and quiz shows into one category.

Despite such incongruities and despite a mishandled show Tuesday night, Emmy will doubtless continue as long as her older brother—or longer.

There seems to be no stopping television.

Mounties Arrest 'Jesse James (?)'

SYDNEY, N. S. (AP)—Police searching for the masked gunman who robbed an express train mail car as it sped toward Sydney yesterday arrested a 41-year-old man and announced recovery of the stolen goods today.

The man, who was not identified, was picked up shortly before dawn as he entered his uncle's house at Bucklaw, a farming community in central Cape Breton Island.

Thirty Mounted Police constables with dogs had conducted an all-night search of the Orangedale area, where the gunman apparently jumped off the train after the robbery. Railway officials said soon after the holdup that they believed the gunman was a former employe who knew mail car routine.

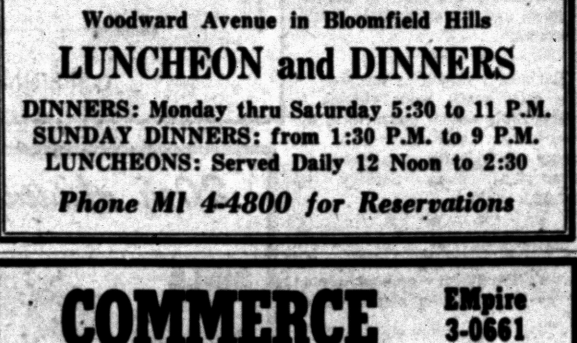

$57 Million Paid

LANSING (AP)—State bonus payments to Korean veterans now total $57,373,555, the state adjutant general's office reported. There have been 214,767 claims allowed with an average payment of $275.

Fix Todd's Estate at $3 to $5 Million

NEW YORK (AP)—Showman Mike Todd's estate today was estimated unofficially at between three and five million dollars. He left half in trust for his widow, screen star Elizabeth Taylor, and bequeathed the other half outright to his son, Michael Todd Jr.

Todd's will was filed for probate in the New York County Surrogate's Court. Todd, 48, perished in a New Mexico plane crash March 21.

The will was dated April 16, 1957, and named his son as executor.

NEW RECORD—A new American Intercollegiate record for the spring medley relay was set in the Kansas relays yesterday by three runners in the prelim heat of the event. First was Gail Hodgson of Oklahoma University whose time was 3:19.5. Other marks were Don Loadman of Houston in 3:19.6 and Mike Fleming of Nebraska in 3:20. Old record was 3:20.2.

'We Looked Terrible,' Says Tigers' Manager

DETROIT—"We looked terrible," said manager Jack Tighe, "and I can't criticize anybody else because I looked as lousy as the rest."

It was a disappointing climax to a perfect day for a baseball opener at Briggs Stadium where nearly 47,000 watched the Tigers host the Indians.

Tighe questioned his own strategy when he permitted reliefer Tom Morgan to pitch to Minnie Minoso with one out and a runner at second base.

He decided against an intentional pass and Minoso slammed the first pitch into left field to score what later proved to be the game winning run.

"Morgan told me he was sure he could get Minoso out," said Tighe.

It was the second straight year that the Indians spoiled Tighe's home opener.

After rapping out 38 hits in three games in Chicago, the Tigers could muster only five hits against Herb Score's southpaw pitches.

"I was wild," said Score, "but I'm glad the skipper stuck with me. I've got my first one, now maybe the others may come easier."

Bobby Bragan went out to the mound only once despite Score's early wildness.

"It turned out all right," said Bragan, "so we're happy."

Tighe said he has not been surprised that his team has been playing well.

"I think everyone knows what this team is capable of doing," said the manager. "It's just a question of getting some pretty good pitching and some base hits out of fellows like Ray Boone and Reno Bertoia.

"Now, just because we've won a couple of good ones and lost a couple, I haven't seen anything to make me change my mind about the club. We could go a long way."

60 Tickets Go to Waste for Tiger Opener

DETROIT (AP)—Two men who had 60 tickets to the Detroit Tigers home opener didn't get to use them. Police picked them off base.

Recorder's Judge Joseph A. Gillis said William G. Steele, 21, of Dearborn, and Ronald R. Caldwell, 21, of Dearborn Township, admitted they stole the ducats March 22 from a lumber company safe in Detroit.

Gillis said the pair told him yesterday a 16-year-old accomplice threw 32 of the tickets down a sewer. Police recovered 28 more and Tiger officials agreed to issue duplicates of the others.

Steele was held under $3,000 bond and Caldwell was released on $1,000 personal bond pending sentence on burglary charges.

All-America Grid Awards Presented

DETROIT (AP) — The Associated Press presented All-America football certificates last night to five players from Michigan colleges and universities.

At a dinner in Detroit, awards were made to Dan Currie and Walt Kowalczyk of Michigan State, Jim Pace of Michigan, Tom Taylor of Albion and Dave Trippett of Hillsdale.

Bruno Kearns, sports editor of the Pontiac Press and chairman of the Michigan AP Sports Writers' Assn., presided.

SPORTS

HAPPY TRIBE — Cleveland manager Bobby Bragan has a few kind words for pitcher Herb Score (right) after the Tribe defeated the Tigers 7-5 in the Detroit opener at Briggs Stadium yesterday. Minnie Minoso (left) singled in the 8th to put Cleveland ahead. Score showed good speed in winning his first game since the eye injury last summer.

Score Is Wild but Still Gets First Decision

Tribe Outfielder Gets Four Hits to Spark 7-5 Victory

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

DETROIT — There's something about Briggs Stadium and the Detroit Tigers that appeals to Cleveland's sophomore outfielder Roger Maris.

He, along with Minnie Minoso and fireballer Herb Score, spoiled the Detroit opener before 46,699 fans by pacing Cleveland to a 7-5 victory yesterday afternoon.

Maris drove in three runs on four hits including a two run homer which tied the score at 2-2 after Al Kaline had put the Tigers ahead with a two-run blast in the first inning.

Last year it was Maris who broke up a 2-2 game in the 11th inning with a grand slam homer at Briggs Stadium, and during the season he was personally responsible for hanging four losses on the Tigers with three game-winning homers and a sacrifice fly.

He batted only .235 in 1957, but yesterday five Tiger pitchers were able to keep him off the base paths only once in five trips.

Although he gave up only five hits, Score had streaks of wildness. The Tigers however were unable to add a couple hits to the eight walks Score gave up plus four Tribe errors.

It was Score's first victory and complete game since he was put out of action by a line drive to the head last May. Even with his wildness he had enough stuff on the ball to strike out eight Tiger batters.

Billy Hoeft who started on the mound, was followed by Vito Valentinetti, Bob Shaw, Tom Morgan and Lou Sleater. Morgan suffered the loss when in the 8th inning, with the score at 5-5, Minoso drove in the tie breaking run. It was Minoso's third hit and he then scored on Rocky Colavito's single to make it 7-5.

The wildest part of the game came in the 6th frame when Detroit got its fifth run. Morgan bunted a third strike and forced Jim Hegan at second. On the attempt for the double play Chico Carrasquel threw past first and Morgan started for second. First baseman Colavito then threw into center field for a second error and Morgan raced for third. When Gary Geiger threw past third for the third error, Morgan came home with the tying run.

But for the next three innings, Score set nine Tigers down in order without trouble.

The crowd, which sat in balmy 70-degree temperatures, was the largest for opening day since 1949 when 53,000 watched the opener.

At Mansfield Meet; Maples Score Early

Chiefs Among Favorites

By H. GUY MOATS

MANSFIELD, Ohio — Two Michigan teams broke into the scoring column here Friday at the very start of the tremendous schoolboy track and field classic when the 27th Mansfield Relays was given a new record in the first event.

Close behind four-mile relay winner Akron North were Flint Central 2nd and Birmingham 4th. Mt. Lebanon, Pa., one of the top rated squads, was 3rd and Cleveland's Rhodes school 5th.

The 4-mile relay was the only event on the opening card and the 18:49.2 time was better than 10 seconds under the mark set in 1956 by MQT, Lebanon. Central's were good times, but far back of the winners.

The win gave Akron a 6-point total, Indians 4, and Birmingham 2.

But the big blow was under way today when it was expected that at least six marks would be broken, including the 100-yard dash in which Chiefs' Bobby Manning, in his first really big competition, is pitted against at least two other sprinters who have been under 9.8 this season.

If Manning gets by the preliminaries, and Otis Drayton of Cleveland Latin also survies, this race could be the meet's "spectacular."

Pontiac was hoping for points from the hurdles, high jump, the mile and half mile, but competition will be terrific in this afternoon's finals.

Birmingham's relay runners were Jim Reilly, Bob Benson, Dick Boy and Rich Riley. Central's team included Gary Crenshaw, George Friederichsen, Wyley Rogers and little Bill Milum.

Today's events started with the century, with Manning, Marc Turner and possibly Jim Kellar in action. Fred Brooks and Charley Barge were working in the high jump and Danny Sowell, Jim Hawkins and Keller were due for tests in the hurdles, while Joe Hill was in the 220-yard trail.

Latest figures last night on team and individual totals, said meet director Harry Mehock, were 133 and 1,673 respectively. They included four state titlists, with at least a dozen or more individual state champions, among them Chiefs' Larry Beamer (half mile) and Rog

These boys today reversed their events.

Vote Trott 'Most Valuable'

Hal Trott, star forward for the Class A Knights of Columbus quintet, has been named "Most Valuable Player" in the City Basketball League for the 1957-58 season.

Trott, head basketball coach at Bloomfield Hills High School, will receive the Pontiac Press MVP trophy as his reward. The Press makes the award annually and last year's winner was Jim Bates, former Walled Lake teacher.

The selection committee awarded the honor to Trott on the basis of ability, team control, self control under pressure, maintenance of high team morale, fair play, cooperation with officials, acceptance of decisions and sportsmanship.

Upwards of 400 players took part in classes A, B, C and D during the recent season with 225 competing at the adult level. Many of them gave Trott some stiff opposition in the voting for the MVP award.

The K. of C. scoring ace maintained a 16.25 average for 12 games with 28 points his top single game performance. Trott, 33 years old, lives at 6294 Greer Rd.

Ford Stops Orioles as Bombers Take Lead

Yankees Return to Old Spot

FROM OUR WIRE SERVICES

Don't look now, but the New York Yankees are back in their accustomed spot in the American League baseball standings.

That old familiar spot, of course, is first place. The Bronx Bombers, who make an annual habit of winning American League pennants, returned to the top of the heap Friday in their 1958 home opener.

It's still too early in the year to concede the Yankees another flag, but if they continue to receive stalwart pitching and timely hitting like yesterday's performance, it's going to be a long season for seven other AL clubs.

Southpaw Whitey Ford pitched a nifty five-hitter as the Yanks started their home schedule with a 3-1 decision over the Baltimore Orioles. It was the Yanks' 3rd victory in four games.

In a slugging duel at Kansas City, the Chicago White Sox were their hitting clothes better and hammered out an 11-7 triumph over the Athletics to spoil the '58 home debut of the A's.

The White Sox blasted loser Alex Kellner and four Kansas City relief hurlers for 14 hits, including homers by Jim Landis, Ron Jackson, Luis Aparicio and Bubba Phillips.

Only 23,463 fans filled the 67,000-capacity Yankee Stadium to watch New York's lone major league entry down the Orioles.

Ford, in his '58 debut, struck out six batters, walked only two and faced just 16 men as he shackled Baltimore without a safety during the last five innings.

The Yankees won the game with two runs in the 6th inning off Billy Loes on a walk to Mickey Mantle, Bill Skowrn's double, Jerry Lumpe's sacrifice fly, Norm Siebern's walk and a single by Bobby Richardson.

Each team scored once in the 1st stanza, then Ford and Loes dueled on even terms until the Yanks' 6th-inning clincher. The AL champs collected eight hits as Baltimore suffered its first loss of the season.

Baltimore Ace Would Rather Be Sub on Yanks

NEW YORK (AP) — Billy Loes is the ace pitcher of the Baltimore Orioles but take it from him, he'd rather be a journeyman on the New York Yankees' staff.

"But," he said almost sadly, a pitcher doesn't have a chance of being traded to the Yankees if he has a good year.

"Maybe I ought to have a bad one. Look at Bobby Shantz. He had a bad year with Kansas City and winds up with the Yanks."

Pontiac Netters Lose

The Pontiac tennis team was blanked in singles and doubles dropping a 7-0 decision to Saginaw Arthur Hill in a Saginaw Valley League match here yesterday.

Bruins Not Downhearted; Play at Home Tomorrow

BOSTON (AP)—The Boston Bruins still had their upset hopes today while preparing for a "must win" Sunday night in the sixth game of the Stanley Cup championship series with the Montreal Canadiens.

The Bruins, who finished the regular National Hockey League campaign in fourth place far behind the powerful Canadiens, refused to concede Montreal its third straight Stanley Cup.

"We're down in games, but not downhearted," said Boston Coach Milt Schmidt. "We lost a tough one in Montreal and it hurt. But we'll be out there fighting to square the series Sunday at the Garden."

The confidence of the Bruins reached Montreal where Canadiens' Coach Toe Blake warned his charges not to take the Boston team lightly.

"I said they would be tough at the start of the series and no one would believe me," Blake said. I'm not kidding now. I won't feel good until we win the fourth game."

Despite the 3-2 loss in overtime in the fifth game Thursday at Montreal, all of the Bruins expressed confidence they can win two straight—at the Garden and then on the Canadiens' home rink Tuesday—for Boston's first cup championship in 17 years.

"We can do it and we aren't conceding anything," said fiery winger Jerry Toppazzini after the Bruins returned home by plane yesterday. "Don Simmons has held up for us and we'll get him some goals."

Simmons has been the star of the series, turning aside 167 Montreal shots in the five games. He stopped 45 Montreal shots in the last game before Maurice "The Rocket" Richard connected at 5:45 of sudden death overtime.

"The only difference in the game was that one shot," Schmidt said.

Eaglets Spoil Track Opener for Mikes

Orchard Lake St. Mary ruined the debut of the St. Michael team and Milford won its 3rd straight dual outing in area track events yesterday.

The Eaglets romped to a 76⅓ to 32⅓ victory at home as Pete Krystek totaled 12¼ points and Andy Zanbrzycki 9¼. Bill Flanagan set a new St. Mike record by winning the 220 in 23.1⅓ seconds and also took the 100 for 10 points.

Milford walloped Howell 73-36 with nine 1sts and seven 2nds. Andre LaVoy helped make it easy for the Redskins with victories in the broad and high jumps and the high hurdles and a strong relay showing. Bob Hoyt shotput heave of 46 feet, 9½ inches set a new MHS record.

Al Krol Shoots Ace

Al Krol of Mt. Clemens, one of the area's leading Publinx golfers, fired a hole-in-one yesterday at Utica's Sunnybrook Golf Club. Krol aced the 163-yard 3rd hole with an 8-iron shot. It was the 1st ace of his career and he carded a par 70 for the round.

Thoroughbreds Start

CHICAGO (AP) — This city's 175-day thoroughbred racing season starts Saturday with the opening of a 19 - day spring meeting in Sportsman's Park.

LONG WAY OFF — The right field spectators seated in the Los Angeles Coliseum needed field glasses yesterday to watch the game between the Dodgers and the San Francisco Giants. A record National League crowd of 78,672, which was shy of the big saucer's capacity of 92,500, watched the home team (LA Dodgers) beat the Giants, 6-5.

Doctoring Your Golf

By DR. CARY MIDDLECOFF

Diagnosis: Off-center Hit.

Treatment: Leaving the ball short of the cup on a putt is nearly always caused by failure to strike the ball a solid blow. Seldom does this exasperating fault stem from the other possible cause — failure to swing the putter hard enough.

To putt well, you must make solid contact between putter and ball. Concentrate on bringing the middle of the face of the putter square against the middle of the ball. That's what I mean by a solid blow. You can tell when you've made solid contact by the feel and the sound.

Your muscular sense — or "touch" — will generally insure that you swing the putter hard enough to send the ball to the hole. To insure that you hit the ball solid, rivet your eyes on the back of the ball and keep them there until the putt is on its way.

No Changes Seen as Norris Quits IBC

Truman Gibson New President of Boxing Club

Resignation of Prexy of Fight Organization Comes as Surprise

NEW YORK (AP) — Now that Jim Norris has resigned as president of the far-flung but trouble-plagued International Boxing Club, what changes are in store for the organization?

None, at least for the present, it was indicated today.

Truman Gibson, the new president, said he would maintain the status quo for the present.

"We will have to wait until the Supreme Court makes its ruling," Gibson, a 46-year-old attorney, said. "Until then, no changes will be made in our operations."

Gibson was referring to the fact that the government last July found the IBC of both New York and Chicago, the Madison Square Garden Corporation and Norris guilty of monopolizing championship fights.

It directed the IBC of New York and Chicago to be dissolved. But the Supreme Court has agreed to hear the IBC's appeal from the verdict.

Another question that also appears to be answered:

Now that Norris is out, will heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson be willing to fight for the IBC? Patterson's manager, Cus D'Amato, has resolutely refused to have anything to do with Norris.

D'Amato, however, still seems to be at war.

Said he:

"The only move that will bring about an improvement in the boxing situation is for the IBC to give up one of its two weekly boxing telecasts and restore competition."

Whether Gibson, who was elected executive vice-president only last fall, can change D'Amato's mind remains to be seen. D'Amato is a stubborn fellow as the IBC has found out.

While the move came as a surprise, Norris resignation probably was in the works for some time. After he suffered a heart attack last summer the 52-year-old multi-millionaire was urged by close friends to drop some of his activities.

In his letter of resignation, dated April 12, Norris said that his physicians had advised him to quit as head of the IBC, but that he had postponed it until he renewed the TV contract for the Friday night fights.

However, some observers pointed out that not only was the government causing his troubles, but now District Attorney Frank Hogan of New York has launched an investigation into boxing that could cause him more strain.

Norris was reported to be fishing somewhere off the Florida Keys and was not available to elaborate on his written statement.

78,672 Fans Set New Attendance Record

LA Wins Home Opener, 6-5

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The decision is still out on the Los Angeles Coliseum's screen test.

Some college kids cleared the 42-foot high, 140-foot long barrier in left field with ease a couple of weeks ago, and the Los Angeles Dodgers and San Francisco Giants put 32 shots over it in batting practice yesterday.

But of the three homers hit in actual combat, only one got lost behind the screen. And, ironically, the screen checked what would have been a home run in either New York's Polo Grounds or saved a 6-5 decision for the Dodgers in their home debut.

Rookie Jim Davenport's third hit (he's 10-for-18) went for only a double off the screen in a ninth-inning Giants' rally that fell short of a tie when Davenport missed third while racing for home on rookie Willie Kirkland's triple.

While you could argue either way about the screen at the Coliseum, where a crowd of 78,672 set a major league record for a regular season single game, there were no questions about two shots that won for Cincinnati and Milwaukee.

Rookie Vada Pinson's first home run was a grand-slammer that gave the Redlegs a 4-1 victory at Pittsburgh. And Johnny Logan belted a bases-loaded job off Jack Sanford, the National League's top '57 rookie, for a 4-2 Milwaukee decision over Philadelphia last night. The unbeaten Chicago Cubs rapped winless St. Louis again 11-6.

Hank Sauer's second homer of the day for the Giants was a high pop over the screen, which starts at the foul pole, 250 feet from the plate. His first was a kosher, 340-footer to left center, past the screen. So was rookie Dick Gray's which proved the clincher in the seventh for the Dodgers.

Gray's homer was off Johnny Antonelli, middle of three relievers after loser Al Worthington. Carl Erskine won it with Clem Labine's relief in the ninth.

Pinson, up from class C, hit his slam after Ron Kline issued his only walks around a two-error play in the third. Ex-Pirate Bob Purkey was the winner with Hal Jeffcoat's relief in the ninth. The Redlegs got just four hits, only one off rookies George Witt and Curt Raydon and ex-Red Don Gross over the last six innings.

Two walks and Frank Torre's single loaded the bases for Logan's second major league slam in the sixth at Philadelphia. Bob Buhl won with a five-hitter.

Rigney Back With Giants After Sickness

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Bill Rigney's tummy is better and he's back with his San Francisco Giants.

The San Francisco manager complained of a stomach upset during the Dodger-Giant game Thursday night in the bay city and spent the night in an Oakland hospital.

He rejoined the team here last night. Coach Herman Franks acted as manager during Rigney's absence.

Walled Lake Golfers Defeat St. Frederick

Walled Lake golfers won their second match in as many starts by defeating Pontiac St. Fred at Edgewood Country Club, 165-181.

Medalist honors went to Jim Agne who fired a 38. Other Walled Lake scoring had Bill Dingel with 41, Bob Young with 43 and Fred Harris with 43. For St. Fred, Joe Keller had 42, Charles Deshaine and Frank Palopole had 46 and Mike Reed with 47.

3 Tied for Lead

Derby Open Looms Tight

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — A real horse race finish loomed today for the Kentucky Derby Open Golf Tournament, with more than a score of swingers in challenging position.

On the inside track, tied for the lead with 10-under-par 134s, were Paul Harney, an old hand at tourney play, and newcomers Tony Lema and Bill Collins.

Behind them, the field was bunched heads apart. At the halfway mark of the 72-hole playoff, just six strokes separated the first 22 golfers.

Harney, the Worcester, Mass., stroker, 10 pounds heavier after a recent operation for appendicitis, was a wizzard from tee to greens yesterday. His putter rarely failed him.

Collins, a surprise leader the first day with his course-record-equalling 65, added a 69 yesterday and gave every indication he intended to keep his Grossingers, N.Y. colors in the race all the way for $2,800 first prize.

Lurking one stroke back of the leaders were two dangerous campaigners, the veteran Chick Harbert from Northville, Mich., and Cincinnati's rising young star, Tom Nieporte.

Gary Player of Johannesburg, South Africa, who is "playing better than I have in a long time," was another stroke back, along with George Bernardin of Miami Beach.

Three strokes off the pace was Don Fairfield of Casey, Ill. Bob Toski of Miami was on his heels one more stroke back.

Jack Fleck of Rochester Country Club moved back into contention by adding a 68 to his 72 of the first round and is tied with eight others with 140.

The leaders:

Tony Lema	67-67—134
Paul Harney	68-66—134
Bill Collins	65-69—134
Tom Nieporte	68-67—135
Chick Harbert	66-69—135

It's still only a possibility but local basketball fans may be able to watch Pontiac's two high school teams in action on successive nights some weekends next winter.

Busy Tom Dodson, who is handling the future athletic plans of the new Pontiac Northern along with his athletic director duties at Central, has hopes of arranging some Saturday night action for Northern. Most of the PCH games are on Fridays.

Present plans call for the new school to play the majority of its games on Tuesdays since it will have no league affiliation. A total of 14 contests have been scheduled thus far against A and B schools with the big one being against Art Van Ryzin's 1958-59 Chiefs.

Dick Hall is anxiously looking forward to his chance to be a head coach. He likes the same fast break and run, run, run style of play employed by Forddy Anderson at Michigan State. Should provide the fans many thrills and give the city a total of four outstanding prep representatives. Northern will have its own home court with seating capacity for 2,000 to 2,500.

Speaking of Pontiac Central, alumnus Hayes Jones got back into the track swing today in the Ohio Relays at Columbus. The Eastern Michigan Olympic hope will be the Drake Relays next weekend and three duals before competing in the IIAC, NAIA, National Collegiate and National AAU meets. The latter two will be in California in June.

Lansing Pair 1st in ABC

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—The two-man division has again proved to be the most vulnerable department in the 55th American Bowling Congress Tournament.

The leadership in the doubles category was exchanged twice yesterday. There has not been a new name hoisted to the top of the singles, doubles or open team division standings since April 11.

Dick Selgo and Don Bredehoft, Port Clinton, Ohio, enjoyed some extremely transient glory when they assembled a 1,335 series to take command of the doubles.

Along came George Wakulsky and Edward Smrek, Lansing, Mich., on the next squad and beat them out by one pin with 1,336. The sparse afternoon crowd was thrilled when Smrek got a turkey in the final frame of the last game and slipped past the Port Clinton duo.

Smrek totaled 694 for the outing and got 642 pins in support from his partner.

Jerry Gerzine of Milwaukee became the youngest 1,800 shooter in ABC history yesterday. The 15-year-old son of Ed Gerzine, 1955 ABC singles champion rolled 636-542-643—1,821 all-events aggregate.

Waterford Has 3 Softball Loops

Three leagues are planned for softball players this summer by the Waterford Recreation Department and neighborhood or subdivision teams are invited to participate in the program.

The first league will be for advanced teams which will compete in full uniforms. The second league will be for less advanced teams utilizing less skilled pitching personnel and using only similar shirts for uniform requirements.

The third league for men over 30 requires no uniform and is for players lesser skilled with the desire to compete.

Information can be obtained by calling the Waterford Recreation department.

EXPLORER'S SIGNALS

J. L. VOORHEES

Those signals tell secrets of space to our scientists; those "Beeps" confirm or deny theories, they might be signals to survival. While on my way to the Bank I heard the signal of an old friend: "Good morning," was his cheery greeting. I heard the signal of a dog as he found his master, a sharp, happy bark. Two children began to signal to two other children; their signals were obvious — basketball. I saw a young woman wave, turned and saw that signal answered by an older lady across the street; the younger woman rushed across the street and smothered the older lady with hugs and kisses.

M. E. SIPLE

The gentle signals of our telephone bring greetings from far and near; we gently signal to the car ahead we intend to pass, or warn a pedestrian of our approach. Explorer "Beeps" are the audible signals of America, telling the world we want Peace but our biceps are taut, ready to defend or bring terrible retribution to an aggressor. I'm proud!

Slate Charles Andrus for City Traffic Club

Charles Andrus of the Grand Trunk Western Railroad will be the guest speaker at the 6:30 p.m. Monday meeting of The Pontiac Traffic Club.

Andrus is claim prevention inspector for the railroad. The event will be held at the Waldron Hotel, and is open to anyone engaged in receiving and shipping freight.

STARTING TOMORROW AT 2:01 A.M.

you'll be able to dial more of your own Long Distance calls

Tomorrow—April 20—is the big day! Your Direct Distance Dialing service here in Pontiac will be e-x-p-a-n-d-e-d.

Then you'll be able to dial calls yourself to any of hundreds of communities in Central, Western and Northern Michigan, and in 23 other states. It'll be fast, convenient, fun.

You'll just dial 1 1 2 to connect your phone to Direct Distance Dialing, as Pontiac people have been doing.

Then—this is NEW!—dial an AREA CODE to route those calls going outside Southeastern Michigan. (Your Direct Distance Dialing booklet shows the codes you'll use.)

Then dial the number you want.

Why not call those fond relatives and close friends tomorrow? The usual low Sunday rates will be in effect all day.

Remember: There's no change in dialing from Pontiac to places in Southeastern Michigan nor in dialing within your local calling area.*

DIRECT DISTANCE DIALING

Another step in the continuing program to bring you more and better telephone service.

JUST POSING — Little Marcia Karwas took her posing almost too seriously; she wouldn't relax. Seated in a large lounge chair, she can see the television set or look out the window at the lake. At the time this picture was taken the lake was still frozen. Walls in this room are sandalwood. The floor is oak. Curtains have a white background with a multi-colored print. The gray sofa faces the fireplace which is out of the picture at the right.

IN CHEROKEE HILLS — The first of the three houses built by the brothers, this 44-foot long cement block home is painted pink. Trim is white. Note the initials on the shutters. Six months after the basement was dug, the Ward Newmans moved in even though the house was not done. There are four girls in the family: Ruth Ann, 16; Sandra, 11; Jacklyn, 5; and Brenda, 3.

Your Neighbor's House

Cooperation Builds Three Ranch Homes

Pontiac Press Home Editor

Stepping out of the door of the new house, the man drew back his arm and threw the object in his hand as far as he could into the brush and weeds of the yard. For all anyone knows, the plastering tool Lyle Saum tossed into oblivion still is there. No one cares.

For 23 months out of 48 he and his brothers-in-law, Ward Newman Jr. and Henry Karwas, had spent every spare minute building houses for their three families. Mr. Saum had done all the plastering and he never wanted to see anything connected with it again. It was his first and last experience.

Last summer when we asked for readers to tell us about interesting houses, a former neighbor, Mrs. Ward Newman, Sr. told us of the tremendous task her children had assumed. She was proud of the way her son and her two sons-in-law had built their own homes. We thought you might be interested in the saga of the three houses.

The name Newman is a familiar one in the Pontiac area. For many years it has been connected with the grocery business. Mrs. Saum has in her possession the large bell her grandfather used to ring on his grocery delivery wagon.

As each Newman child married he and his spouse lived in a small apartment. When the children came, the apartment became too small.

PRIMITIVE LIVING

First to get their own home were the junior Ward Newmans. So anxious were they to have more room that they moved into their 44 foot long cement block home when it was a mere shell. "They were the brave ones," says Mrs. Newman's sister-in-law, Ruth Karwas. The floors weren't even laid.

The Newmans have a pleasant location on Voorheis road, north of Elizabeth Lake road. Their 70x170 foot lot is spacious. The house is painted pink with white trim and shutters. Glass block is used around the front door.

Now with four daughters, the Newman's are beginning to feel crowded again. They have a large living room and three bedrooms, each big enough to accommodate a double bed. But they talk of having more room to spread out.

In the basement there's a large recreation room. Here the whole family indulges in their collective hobby—model railroading.

But it is the kitchen that is Mrs. Newman's pride and joy. Trim cabinets offer good storage space and working counters. Walls are papered in a small kitchen design. Curtains are perky and white.

If Mrs. Newman ever moves, it will be into a house that is completely finished. As it is, she still has no doors on the bedrooms.

WILLING TO WAIT

The Lyle Saums went at it differently. With only one child they were less crowded in the apartment. Because of this and because Mrs. Saum was determined to have everything finished, they waited the longest to move. Actual building took eight months.

The Saum house is also on Voorheis road, but nearer Huron street. It is cement block, painted white with green trim. The Saums have a deep lot with fruit tres, berries and asparagus in the back.

With the exception of the digging of the basement and pouring of the cement, all work was done by the three men. The house is smaller than the Newman's, having only four rooms. But there are doors on all the rooms.

After 17 years in an apartment with no closets, the Saums now revel in 11 in their house. Each bedroom has two. There's even a special one for card tables.

When it came time for the "baby" of the family to have a house, the men started in their by now familiar grind of working every free minute. Friends and relatives who happened by to see how things were progressing were dragged in to work.

The wives spent all their "free" time at the house site. Picnic meals became commonplace. It was grueling work and no one minimized it.

NO TIME OFF

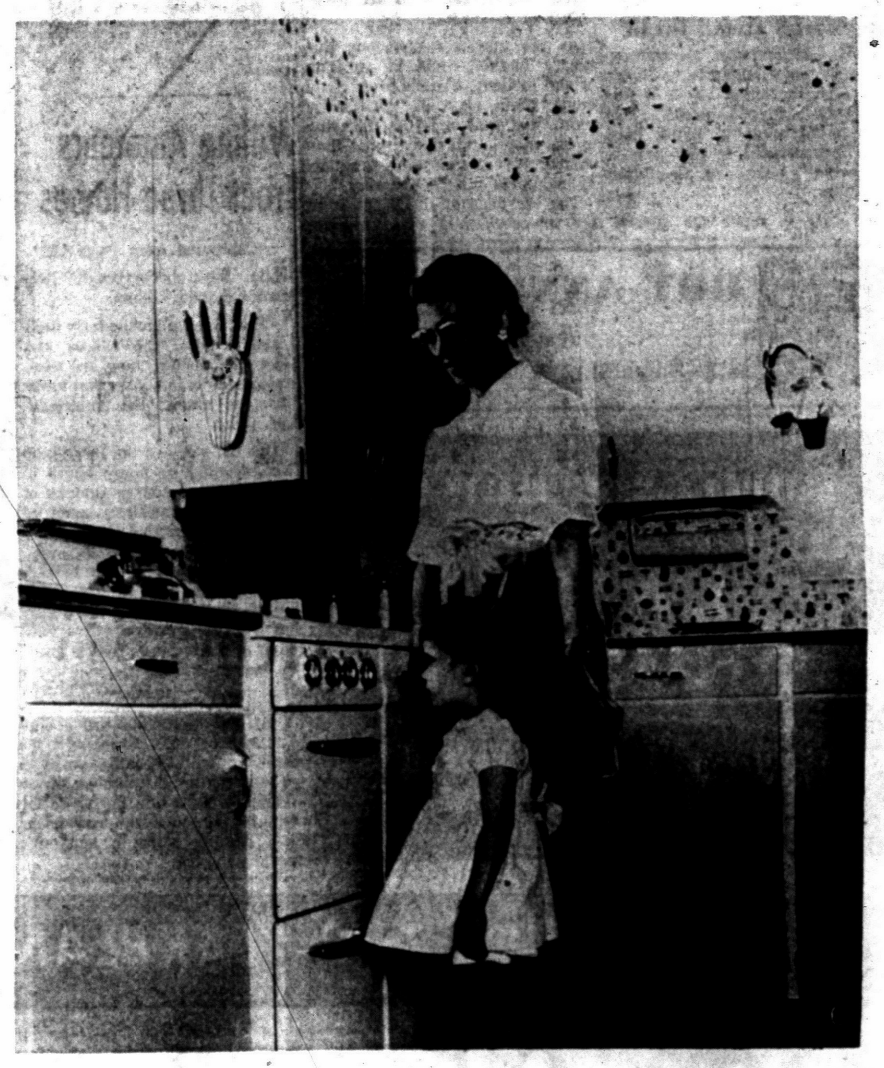

Henry Karwas is a school principal. The only nights he took off from house building were those on which he went to PTA. For nine months, seven days a week, he lived building.

Choosing four acres on Mohawk Lake, the Karwas' made sure they would have room for their three children to play. Their white cement block home is due for bricking some day. There are also plans for a future family room and a garage.

But they have three good sized bedrooms, a large living room and a kitchen with eating area. They have the only fireplace. Built of ledgerock, it has a brick hearth and built-in book shelves on either side.

SOURCES OF PRIDE — Both her youngest daughter, three-year-old Brenda, and her attractive kitten are sources of pride to Mrs. Ward Newman Jr., of 2992 Voorheis road. Small figures on a light background make the wallpaper appropriate for a kitchen. Out of picture range there is space for a breakfast set. Windows on two sides provide cross ventilation. They are dressed up with perky white curtains.

ON VOORHEIS ROAD — Smaller than the other two houses, the Lyle Saum house is made of the same cement blocks, painted white. Trim is green. Although they are hard to see in this picture, each shutter has an "S" cut into it. This house has the garage attached at one side. The Newmans have one at the back of their house in the basement. The Karwas' have none. This four-room house was completed in eight months.

SPACIOUS BEDROOM — This is the master bedroom in the home of the Lyle Saums of 2794 Voorheis road. Windows on two sides give plenty of light and two views. The golden fibreglas curtains match the blonde maple furniture. Walls are blossom pink. Shag rugs are also pink. The taffeta spread is a rosy beige. Floors are natural finished oak. That comfortable looking rocker with the needlepoint pads is oak too. This room has two large closets. And there's a door on the bedroom.

ON LAKE ANGELUS LANE—This is the Henry Karwas house on Mohawk Lake. The last of the three to be built, it has a white exterior. Footings are in so that someday the house can be bricked. Karwas and his brother builders spent nine months on the construction work. There are three children in the Karwas family: Mark who is seven, Marta who is five and three-year-old Marcia.

Inner Sanctum for Dad Feature of This Ranch

Houses often are designed with special needs of mother or the children in mind.

But what about Dad, the breadwinner?

It is not often that Dad has been given the special consideration he is due in a home. So, fathers and husbands, everywhere, meet Samuel Paul, a father and architect, who has designed an unusual, L-shaped house with a special area just for you.

Paul's design, designated X-2 in the House of The Week series, does not neglect the needs and interests of the rest of the family.

However, as the architect explains, "there are times when Dad wants peace and quiet." And with this in mind, Design X-2 includes a special room just for Dad.

THREE MAIN LIVING AREAS

Dad's special room, an artfully-designed inner sanctum, has been placed in the "quiet" area of this eight-room ranch house. Two other main areas of living have been incorporated in the plan — a "formal" area and an "informal" area.

In order to reach the special room, one must walk through the bedroom hall into a secondary hall, thence into Dad's inner sanctum.

Father's study is laid out with built-in shelving and a desk. It also has a retreat terrace which is reached by sliding doors. The terrace is enclosed with substantial fencing on two sides and by a stone wall in front.

The rest of the quiet area of the house consists of three bedrooms, one the master bedroom with private bath. The quiet area is separated from the informal area by the more formal dining room, living room and foyer.

A decorative buffet separates the foyer from the dining room and the living room has a raised hearth fireplace. Off the family room, in the informal area of the house, there is a large family terrace for summer living.

Cathedral ceilings, with exposed wooden beams, are designed for Dad's room, the master bedroom, the dining room and the living room. Conventional ceilings are used elsewhere.

WALLS OF GLASS PANELS

Glass panels are used in Dad's room and the master bedroom, extending up from the built-in units to the cathedral ceiling.

The informal area of the house constitutes the family room, kitchen, laundry and an area next to the two-car garage for a workshop or hobby room. These elements are located in one integrated block so that the entire family can work and play together as desired.

As the architect envisions this area, "mother could be working in the kitchen, the children could enjoy their play in the family room, and Dad could be tinkering in his shop — all doing what they desire, but at the same time enjoying each other's company."

The entrance of the house is at the intersection of the two arms of the "L" and is reached by passing through a front garden. There is a central foyer with direct access to all areas.

The architect has created a pleasant ensemble of exterior materials. The exterior walls are of board and batten. The roof is of white marble chip. The low-pitched roof has a large overhang.

There is a strong horizontal accent of stone in the front and extending around the retreat terrace.

The stone provides interesting relief to the front elevation. The sliding aluminum windows and the awning windows integrate with the wood and the stone to create the exterior ensemble.

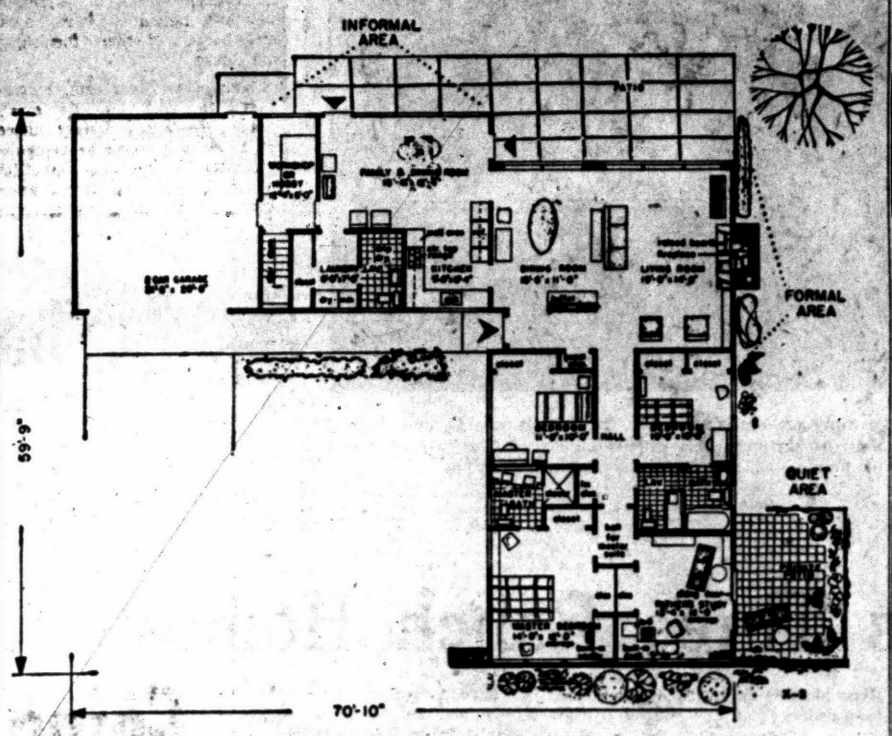

If you are interested in a study plan of this house, send 35 cents in coin (no stamps accepted) and ask for House of the Week Plan HW-X2. Address all requests to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac 12, Michigan.

Statistics

Design X-2 has eight rooms, including three bedrooms, plus a laundry room, a workshop or hobby room and two outdoor patios. The living area has 1,844 square feet. The two-car garage and workshop area have 544 square feet. The overall dimensions of the house are 70 feet 10 inches by 59 feet 9 inches. A minimum plot of 85 by 100 feet is recommended. There is a basement under the living area and crawl space under the bedroom wing.

L-SHAPED RANCH HOME — L-shaped in its arrangement, this eight-room ranch house has three main living areas, a quiet area, a formal area and an informal area. Its entrance, at the intersection of the two arms of the "L", is reached through a front garden. The exterior walls are of board and batten.

THREE AREAS SEPARATED — A formal area separates the informal area from the quiet area. This floor plan uses a central foyer from which there is direct access to all areas of the house. A decorative buffet separates the foyer from the dining room. The bedrooms and father's study are in one wing.

Willing Amateurs Erect Three Homes

This is not a particularly dramatic story. The houses are not spectacular; they are simple ranch type homes that have become almost the American standard.

But the story of the three men who devoted so many hours to building three houses smacks of the old-time American spirit of cooperation. In the early days, when a family needed a house, everyone pitched in and helped build it. That spirit died down for a while. Now with the popularity of the do-it-yourself movement it has revived. That is good to know.

Open-end mortgages are a simple method of financing the modernization of a bathroom in an old house, the installation of an additional bathroom, the up-dating of a kitchen, and the conversion of a heating plant to automatic operation.

Build In King Size Bedroom Storage

One of the most elegant and useful built-ins conceived for bedroom use is the king-size bureau which is built to take up one whole wall, or a large section of one wall. It is four to five feet tall, about two feet deep, and can contain as many as thirty drawers of varying sizes along a wall about ten feet in length. This is as much drawer space as would be afforded by five standard dressers, but can you imagine fitting five bureau into ten or twelve feet of wall space?

Any carpenter — or even the home handy man — can construct this lovely built-in of one of the easily worked softwoods like western red cedar. Cedar has long been popular for bedroom built-ins and paneling because of its deep, restful reddish-brown coloring and beauty of grains.

The top drawers of this bureau should be only half as wide and less deep than the lower drawers and reserved for lingerie and accessories, and you'll probably want the bottom drawers quite a bit deeper than usual so that extra blankets and other bulky items can be kept here.

Patio Deck Laid Like Checkerboard

Checkerboard patterns make an interesting variation for wooden patio decks. The pattern comes from arrangement of decking in squares with each adjoining square laid at right angles to its neighbor.

The size of the square depends upon the over-all size of the patio deck, but generally is about three or four feet. The deck is usually built of a durable, long lasting wood such as Douglas fir, and 2x4s form most deck surfaces.

Closet Caddy Fits Corner

A hat-and-purse caddy can rescue lazy closet corners and give them a useful function.

Easily built of ordinary building materials, the caddy consists of several pie-shaped shelves held together by a simple framework. On the shelves may be perched hats, purses, gloves, mittens, scarves and other closet miscellany that usually can't be found when wanted.

As illustrated, the corner caddy has 1 by 2-inch lumber at the outer edges, rabbeted to receive the foot-wide pieces of Masonite ⅛-inch Tempered Presdwood which form the two sides set at right angles to match the closet corner. The sides are fastened with glue and screws to the wood.

Serving as a center support is a spine of ¾-inch quarter-round. Each of the "Masonite" shelves, situated one foot apart, is cut in the shape of a quarter-circle. Four holes are drilled, two on each of the straight edges, so the shelf can be fastened with screws to the support, ½x¾-inch base shoe molding held with glue and screws, with the rounded edge down. All screws are counter-sunk.

The point of each pie-shaped shelf is indented slightly with a file so it will fit around the spine molding. Exposed edges of the shelves are beveled lightly with a sandblock or file. The corner caddy may be primed and painted or left unfinished.

Height of the one illustrated is 6 feet, but the dimensions may be altered to fit any size closet.

CLOSET CADDY — To rescue lazy closet corners, build a corner caddy. The pie-shaped shelves can hold hats, purses, gloves and other closet miscellany. The one illustrated above is six feet tall, but the dimensions may be altered to fit any size closet.

Laundry Equipment Back in Own Room

Kitchens seem to be losing favor as laundry areas for three reasons: (1) Many housewives do not like the idea of soiled linens in the same room used for food preparation, nor do they want cooking odors pressed into clean clothing; (2) Kitchens in ranch houses as well as in split-levels are more or less remote from bedrooms, requiring unnecessary carrying of clothing to and from a kitchen-laundry; (3) In many new homes, kitchens are being merged with family rooms and space needed for laundry equipment is in snack bars and recreational purposes.

The compactness of the modern laundry appliance lends itself to complete enclosure in wall cabinets in garage, multi-purpose room or large bathroom. In new ranch houses built without basements, separate laundry rooms are located adjacent to the bathrooms. A separate laundry of this type can have its own windows, ventilating fan and drip-dry floor drainage, while economizing on plumbing lines because of its location.

Asphalt tile is a floor covering that is impervious to moths, carpet beetles, silverfish, earwigs, termites, carpenter ants and moisture, say flooring engineers.

Tint Oak Floors to Match Decor

NEW YORK, N. Y. — Looking for an unusual decorative idea to lend distinction to your rooms? Tinted oak floors may be the answer.

The trade magazine, Flooring, reports that a Hawthorne, Calif., contractor is doing a lively business in coloring hardwood floors to match new furniture finishes or to harmonize with wallpaper, drapes or bedspreads. The contractor, Jerry Richardson, points out that the possibilities for variations in treatment are limitless, since fine hardwood floors can be tinted any hue of the rainbow.

"I look for this type of custom work to catch on more and more," he says, "as homeowners grow increasingly desirous of expressing their own individualities in the color schemes of their furnishings and floors."

Richardson does not recommend the treatment for every home. He favors it only where he believes it would be compatible with the decor. A beautiful house, he explains, should have beautiful floors. The color effects are achieved by application of oil colors mixed with wood filler. Best results are obtained, Richardson adds, when the floors are of clear grade white oak.

A spokesman for the National Oak Flooring Manufacturers' Association comments that while tinted oak floors can be strikingly attractive, floors finished to reveal the beautiful natural color tones of oak boast more decorative versatility. They harmonize with any desired change in color plan.

Gypsum wallboard, a form of plaster covered with strong paper on both sides, is inexpensive and fire resistant and now can be obtained with special finished surfaces that require neither papering or painting.

Loan Decision Called Excellent

A decision of the Federal Home Loan Bank Board to make "longer-term", advances to savings and loan associations was hailed today as —

1. A constructive anti-recession move; and

2. An important step toward securing the home credit necessary for the "housing boom" of the 1960's.

The words of praise came from Norman Strunk, executive vice president of the United States Savings and Loan League, in a bulletin sent to the League's 4,400 member savings and loan associations.

Strunk was commenting on an announcement last week by the Federal Home Loan Bank Board — federal supervisory agency for savings and loan institutions — that district Home Loan Banks have been authorized to make five year loans to savings associations for loan expansion purposes.

"This is a major step toward increasing the usefulness of the Home Loan Bank System to savings and loan institutions, and through them, to American home buying families," said Strunk.

Under the Board's announcement, district Home Loan Banks could make five year loans up to 5 per cent of a savings and loan association's savings. This would be in addition to the 12½ per cent of its savings an association could already borrow from the Bank.

The new advances by the Banks to savings associations would have a fixed, five-year maturity, as contrasted to the present "short-term" advances, typically one year in length, which are principally used for seasonal purposes.

Young Parents Use Hardboard to Redecorate

Redecorating in homes with small children can be an expensive and frequently needed job. However, many young parents have found a work-saving and money-saving solution to this problem.

In their children's bedrooms, staircases, living and dining rooms they have simply covered the vulnerable portions of the walls, the wainscots, with Masonite in its smooth form or in one of the new textures. Applied right over the existing wall, the hardboard can absorb terrific childish abuse without damage.

Youngsters won't injure themselves on the splinter-free surface, either. Redecorating can be postponed with wainscots that continue to look neat despite hard usage.

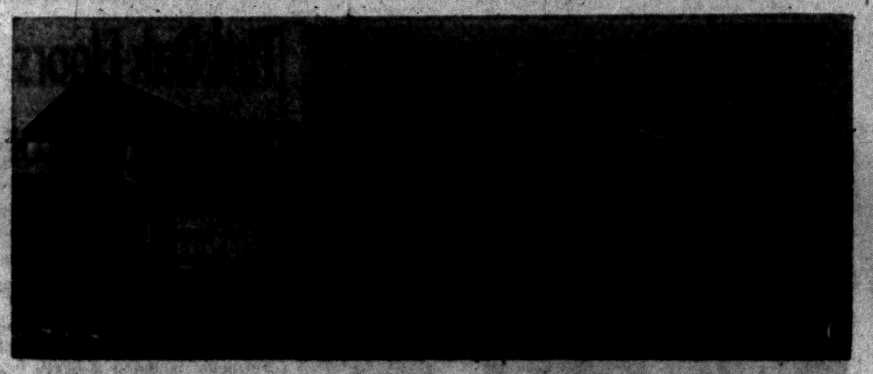

Especially suitable for wainscots subjected to the wear and tear of young children are hardboards with the appearance of weathered wood. Handsome and durable, this paneling can simply be waxed, or it may be painted in one color or two tones. Another textured hardboard has a rugged, leatherlike appearance and wearing qualities.

If the upper walls are papered and the lower ones are covered with "Masonite," the family with growing kiddies has solved its cleaning and decorating problems until the brood reaches the age of reasoning.

Check Paint Thickness Before Adding New Coat

If you're going to repaint the outside of your house, check the thickness of a paint chip from previous paintings. Excessive thickness causes chemical changes in under layers of paint. The result may be blistering or cracking, and then the new paint is likely to flake off.

Should the chip of paint be twice as thick as, say, the edge of a dollar bill, the old paint coating may have to be removed before repainting. If it is four times as thick, the old paint should certainly be removed.

WOMEN'S CONGRESS HOME — Designed to please the women of America who have expressed their ideas of home planning in two Women's Congresses, this model is open at 2516 West Walton boulevard. The house has living room, family room, kitchen, one and a half baths and three bedrooms. Rooms are "zoned" for quiet and active family living. A carport with tool storage and a mud room inside the back door are other features. Ladd's Inc., constructed the house.

Decorating Has Two Elements

Everything in a room has pattern and texture — so you should use those two elements carefully. To give a room that well-planned look, be sure to avoid serious "clashes" of either patterns or textures.

Patterns are formed by every object in the room — the outline of a table or desk is a pattern, and so is the shadow it casts. In addition, there are more dominant patterns, such as a floor of ceramic tile or the grain in wood.

Textures, on the other hand, are generally felt as well as seen.

In planning the decor of a room avoid using two strong conflicting patterns close to each other. An overstuffed chair with a figured fabric should not be used next to a wall with heavily figured wall paper.

Whenever possible, use contrasting textures where contrast in color or strong pattern might destroy the unity of the room arrangement.

Interior decorators are now mixing both periods and styles without hesitation, but still they avoid an unbalanced look in furniture arrangement. It is in perfectly good taste, for example, to use Italian Provincial furniture in a dining space with a modern ceramic tile floor, which is easy to clean.

On the other hand, a colorful ceramic mosaic floor is suitable with a contemporary decor. If throw rugs are used on this type of floor, they should be of a solid color to contrast the patterns.

In smaller rooms, large pieces of furniture such as chairs and sofas should be placed parallel with the walls. A feeling of height can be achieved by hanging pictures at eye level — but be sure the picture itself does not conflict with the wallpaper.

SETTEE BORDER — To give real class to a simple garden without too much expense, build an ornamental, functional bench like this along what might be a stark and uninteresting walk. You need use only ordinary Douglas fir dimension lumber which you can either stain or leave natural to weather to an attractive gray.

Light Woods Favored

The light-toned woods favored in school construction include birch, gum, maple and oak. Most architects specify a natural finish to bring out the attractive hardwood grain pattern.

PIE WEDGE CABIN—Lives there a family in these United States that hasn't often wished for its very own summer home? Well, here's an idea for one that will fit most any budget. This A-frame design is simple, inexpensive, and most of the work can be done by the family. The framing is sturdy 2x6 Douglas fir reaching clear to the ridge pole. Sheathing is fir shiplap with shingle roof, and deck is 2x4 fir set on husky fir timbers. Some of these homes have been built for as little as $1,000.

1957 Set New Record

NEW YORK — Construction contracts in 1957 totalled $32,173,412,000, two per cent ahead of the 1956 total, according to F. W. Dodge Corporation.

While strictly comparable figures are not available for years before 1956, a Dodge official said that 1957 "undoubtedly set a new all-time record."

The 1957 figure was the first annual construction contract total ever released for the United States, since the Dodge statistics prior to 1957 covered only the 37 states east of the Rockies. Back data on the 48-state basis were compiled for 1956, in order to make possible comparisons with 1957.

December contracts, Dodge reported, totalled $1,982,342,000, a decrease of four per cent below December of 1956. An increase in contracts for residential buildings was more than offset by declines in non-residential and heavy engineering contracts.

According to Dodge vice president and economist George Cline Smith, "the 1957 total undoubtedly set a new all-time record for dollar volume of construction contracts. While statistics do not exist which would absolutely prove this to be a fact, we do know that 1957 exceeded 1956, on a 48-state basis, and we can judge from the earlier 37-state contract figures that 1956 far exceeded any earlier year."

In December, residential building contracts totalled $758,550,000 an increase of nine percent over December, 1956. Non-residential building contracts amounted to $698,912,000, a decline of eight per cent from the previous December, and heavy engineering contracts, at $584,850,000, were down 13 per cent.

For the year as a whole, residential building contracts amounted to $13,039,005,000, one per cent ahead of 1956; non-residential building, at $11,293,149,000, was up one per cent; and heavy engineering, at $7,841,258,000, was up four per cent.

Age Terrazzo Floors Then Seal With Wax

Terrazzo, because of its marble like qualities of durability and moisture resistance, is gaining wide spread acceptance especially for decorative but rugged entrance halls. It consists of about 70 per cent marble chips in a cement mixture which is ground and polished.

Terrazzo, like concrete, should be sealed after an aging period of approximately six months. Varnish or lacquer should never be used to seal because either will discolor the marble. A self-polishing floor wax, such as vinyl floor wax, will fill the pores and make a smoother surface.

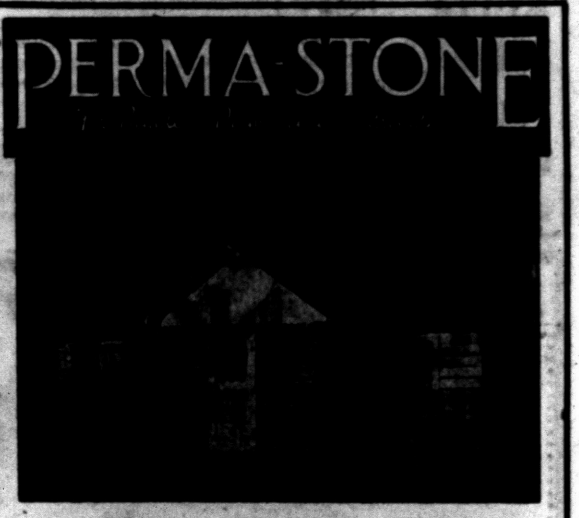

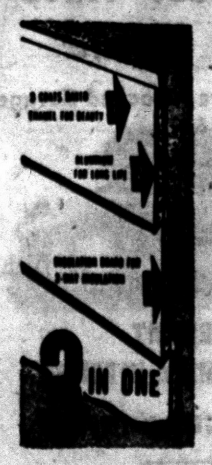

The word window is derived from the Old Norse "vind auga" —meaning "wind eye."

The placing of draft shut-off devices in chimneys and flue passages is a dangerous practice and therefore forbidden in all fire codes throughout the country, is the warning sounded by the Plumbing and Heating Industries Bureau.

Booklet Shows Magic of Color Illusions

That may sound ridiculous, but is more sensible than you might at first think. The truth is that certain shades of paint and certain combinations of color give an illusion of distance, breadth and height. "How to Make a Small House Seem Larger" is the name of a booklet that is filled with ingenious and original ideas for utilizing paint colors.

Send your name and address to National Paint, Varnish and Lacquer Association, 1500 Rhode Island Ave., N.W., Washington 5, D. C. for a free copy.

Do not stir varnish before using it. Do not shake the container either. Such practices create bubbles that may remain in the dried varnish film.

Women Told, 'Ask Questions' Before Buying

Homemakers faced with the problem of helping their husbands buy a new home will save themselves some heartaches and pocketaches if they ask themselves—and the builder—the right questions as they inspect model homes.

A check list prepared by home designers offers 10 points to keep in mind by families shopping for a home.

1. How much room do you need for your family?
2. Does the design of the house lend itself to ready expansion?
3. Is the exterior built of durable materials such as concrete foundations and asphalt shingles of established reputation?
4. If a garage is not included with the house does the size of the lot allow for later addition?
5. Is the house properly insulated so that it will be comfortable in hot and cold weather?
6. Is the kitchen well ventilated and of good size?
7. Are electrical outlets where you need them? Is there enough current in the house to handle the many appliances used in today's homes?
8. Is there a full basement that you might utilize in part as a laundry room?
9. Can financial terms be arranged within the reach of your pocketbook without the purchase becoming a burden?
10. Finally, do you know and approve of the builder's reputation?

Air Cells Insulate

Why is wood a good insulating material? Because the structure of wood is composed of myriads of tiny dead air spaces which retard the passage of heat and cold. That is why wood is never as cold as metal in winter or as hot in the summer.

WOOD PRESERVATIVES — Application of wood preservatives by the home handy man is no longer the messy, smelly chore that it used to be.

Many New Products Help Preserve Wood Surface

If steps, fence posts and other portions of your wooden belongings that come in contact with the ground or other moist surfaces show signs of decay, chances are that you have only yourself to blame for the condition.

Today's wood preservatives are less smelly, less messy to apply than those available years ago, and they're not too expensive.

Door sill's wooden steps, the bottom of the garage door, wooden garden furniture—all are subject to rot.

Brush or spray preservative on surfaces that come in contact with moisture and allow application to soak in thoroughly before applying a second coat.

Protecting these articles is no rainy-day job. Apply preservatives during a warm spell, after the sun has dried every bit of dampness out of the wood. And don't put off the task. Be sure that it's finished before painting time rolls around this fall.

The newer preservatives have a built-in bonus for you. Carefully selected for a particular job, they will take a coat of paint without bleeding; that is, their color won't stain the paint.

If you must use that old standby, creosote, apply a coat of aluminum paint over creosoted surface before adding your decorative coat. The aluminum paint acts as a sealer and prevents bleeding.

Consult your dealer, and read labels carefully, before choosing a particular preservative.

Preservatives containing copper naphthenate are green in color and act as their own decorative coating; they can also be covered with other paint successfully.

For below-ground preservation, a pentachlorophenol-and-oil preparation works well.

Joints in which dampness could gather and take a long time to dry out should be treated with preservative. Points where wooden fence rails and posts join and where rungs and ladder rails meet are examples also of areas that should receive treatment.

Brush or spray preservative on large surfaces. A brush or oil can may be used in making applications on smaller areas.

Wood that extends below ground is reached more readily with an oil can that has a long spout and the same long-spouted can is ideal for reaching other hard-to-get-at points.

To treat fence posts prior to placing in the ground, stand them in a container of preservative solution. Try to round up an old can, such as a large store-size pretzel can, or an OLD pail.

Creosote is particularly hard to remove from a container, so bear this in mind when treating your fence posts. Shun the homemaker's wash bucket if you would lead a happy life for the rest of the summer.

If you were so unwise as to set your fence posts before coating with preservative, or if the posts are beginning to show signs of rot, drill small holes at about a 30-degree angle into the base of each post. Fill holes with preservative from that handy oilcan, and repeat this treatment every two weeks for at least three applications.

Brush preservative on exposed portion of each post to insure years of usefulness before it must be replaced.

18 POPULAR FENCES — PATTERN 386

THE FINISHING TOUCH for many of today's homes is a fence of just the right type to harmonize with the house. Pattern 386, which makes suggestions for the right fence to use and shows how to build 18 different kinds is 25c.

This pattern is one of five in Homestead Improvement Packet No. 30 all for $1. A big value. Orders under $1 add 10c service charge.

(The Pontiac Press) Pattern Dept. Bedford Hills, New York.

Double Purpose Area

If you have a carport attached to your house you have the makings of an unusual outdoor living area. A carport has several advantages as an outdoor recreation center! it's easily accessible to the house and protected from sun and rain. A practical note of color can be added with a floor of durable and weather-proof ceramic or quarry tile. A carport-patio is an ideal spot for outdoor party-giving.

Outdoor Power Source Is Handy Man's Friend

The cardinal point to remember in planning outdoor lighting facilities for your yard is this: everything MUST be waterproof.

Use conduit (metal tubing), weatherproof wire, weatherproof outlets and boxes. Use exterior type switches and fixtures.

But, before doing any work or before purchasing supplies, determine what lights and outlets you will need.

A patio, an outdoor grill, the location for tables and chairs, steps and gates that might be hazardous in the dark — all should be illuminated.

Consider outlets, too, to provide power for tools and leisure-time equipment.

It's wise, too, to check your community's electrical code to determine circuit loads and wire sizes permitted.

A 15-ampere fused circuit can handle a maximum load of 1,800 watts, a 20-ampere circuit a load of 2,400 watts.

If you have only done indoor wiring up to this point, you know that a 15-ampere circuit calls for 14-gauge wire, a 20-amp circuit 12-gauge wire. (The smaller the wire the larger the number.)

Outdoors, where wires are stretched over longer distances, heavier wire must be used.

For 15-ampere circuits use No. 14 wire up to 50 feet; No. 12 wire up to 200 feet; No. 10 wire beyond that distance.

On 20-ampere circuits, use No. 12 wire up to 150 feet ; No. 10 wire beyond that.

While a single light, perhaps two, can safely be run from a basement junction box, it's a good idea to add an additional, fused circuit to your present circuit box.

CAUTION: DON'T WORK ON LIVE CIRCUITS OUT OF DOORS. Be sure fuse is removed from any circuitry before you do any work on it.

Adding a new circuit to the junction box is a job for the professional electrician, and you may want him to bring the wires through the foundation, too. Tackle only those portions of the job that you feel qualified to perform.

If you run wires through a wall, use conduit. In fact, use conduit wherever wire rubs against any surface and there is danger of wire becoming frayed or cut. Never bring wires through a window or door where opening and closing will make damage almost certain.

Underground wires should be enclosed in conduit. Lead-covered cable, where permitted, makes an acceptable installation. Bury deep enough so that a spade won't hit installation accidentally.

If you run wires overhead, keep them at least eight feet off the ground. Use insulated supports about every 15 feet. Make certain that you use wire with a weatherproof covering.

Switches and outlets, properly installed in outdoor type boxes, should be at least 18 inches from the ground. They can be fastened to the wall or to a fence post. Fasten securely with special cable or pipe clamps.

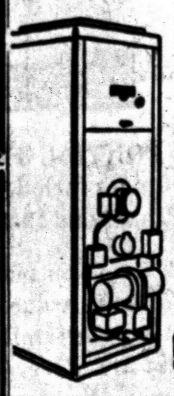

Once all wires, conduit and boxes are securely anchored you can connect switches and fixtures. While solderless connectors are acceptable indoors, solder-and-tape connections are mandatory outdoors, because of wind and weather.

After all connections are made —NOT BEFORE—place a fuse in the new circuit.

Opposes Ike's Defense Proposals

Rep. Vinson Is Ready to Fight

WASHINGTON (AP) — Weeks before President Eisenhower's proposals for a more centralized control over the armed services were made public, an associate of Rep. Carl Vinson (D-Ga) told a reporter:

"The old man's getting ready for the fight of his life. I think he'll find it."

On Wednesday, "Uncle Carl" Vinson, looking like the 74-year-old prosperous farmer that he is, fired his first salvo.

He took the floor of the House and blasted away for an hour at Eisenhower's proposals.

Vinson, long a champion of the individual services, contended they would lose their identity under the Eisenhower plan and Congress would "surrender . . . its constitutional responsibilities" to prescribe their separate roles.

There were even some untypically barbed references to the President — listing aspects of the present defense arrangements now criticized by Eisenhower but which Vinson said Eisenhower himself had instituted or recommended in earlier years.

When Vinson finished, Republicans as well as Democrats stood and applauded him. And not a word was said in rebuttal to his speech.

This doesn't mean, of course, he has won the fight. But it does say something about the respect and influence the crochety, tough-fisted chairman of the Armed Services Committee commands in the House.

A city-bred tourist passing Vinson in a Capital corridor would notice his slight, cane-flourishing strut, the steel-rimmed glasses halfway down a big nose, obscuring a pair of remarkably keen blue eyes.

The city tourist might snicker at this exterior. Not so Vinson's colleagues, nor the top brass of the services, those who testify at Vinson's committee hearings. They have had a chance to see what's inside.

It may or may not be true that Vinson once dismissed the possibility he might become secretary of defense by saying he preferred to run the Pentagon from Capitol Hill.

It is true that practically no legislation affecting the services passes without his approval. The reason may be that Vinson usually sees eye to eye with the individual military services, especially the Navy. But another reason may be that from years of dealing with him, the services have learned what they can expect to have enacted and what they needn't waste time trying for.

Vinson, a widower, was born in Milledgeville, Ga., Nov. 18, 1883. Elected to Congress first in 1914 and regularly re-elected thereafter, he served 15 years as chairman of the old Naval Affairs Committee. When the Defense Department was established, and the old Military and Naval Affairs committees were merged, Vinson took over as chairman of the combined group.

There is no question who runs the 37-member Armed Services Committee.

Members joke about it — somewhat ruefully at times — but a session with Vinson intent on getting the business done in a hurry is one of the best sights on the Hill.

Not long ago, a congressman appeared as a witness and started off easily, "I don't see the need of taking up much of the committee's time. . . ."

"Fine. Thank you very much," said Uncle Carl. Crash went the gavel. Next witness.

Vinson once told a younger congressional protege his secret of running a committee: "Never let them all get mad at once. You lose control. It's all right if they get mad one at a time."

Ezra Pound, 72, to Be Released

Treason Charge Against Poet Dismissed; Will Leave Mental Institute

WASHINGTON (AP)—The treason indictment against poet Ezra Pound, 72, was dismissed today, opening the way for his early release from a mental institution.

The bearded Pound has been confined to St. Elizabeth's Hospital since 1946.

The treason charge was based on pro-Axis, anti-American broadcasts made by Pound from Italy during World War II.

The indictment was dismissed by Chief Judge Bolitha J. Laws in U.S. District Court when the government, in effect, joined in a motion asking this action.

Pound sat among spectators during the brief court proceeding. Mrs. Pound, a gray-haired woman who has been a frquent visitor at the hospital in the years her husband has been confind there, sat at the counsel table.

Pound wore a threadbare blue striped coat, unmatching blue slacks, and a light sport shirt open at the throat with the tails sticking out from his trousers.

Both Pound and his wife declined to talk with reporters. But Thurmond Arnold, an attorney who spoke for Pound, said Mrs. Pound plans to take her husband to Italy. Pound had lived in Italy 21 years before he was seized by American troops in 1945.

About 37 million are enrolled in U. S. schools and colleges.

BIBLICAL QUIZ

QUESTION: Who was the original Biblical speed demon?

ANSWER: Sometimes a man is remembered for only one thing while all the other things he did are largely forgotten. And this is true of Jehu, a Biblical king.

Jehu could drive a heavy chariot so fast that even at a distance people knew who was holding the reins. In time, his name came to be applied to anyone who was a fast driver. "He's a regular Jehu," people would say.

But Jehu was more than a fast charioteer. The prophet Elisha knew that the young man was a bitter enemy of the heathen god Baal. Elisha sent a young prophet to anoint Jehu to be king. Jehu was surprised but accepted the responsibility of destroying the followers of Baal. He carried out the mission with the same speed and decision he showed in driving his chariot, slaying the followers of the heathen god and destroying their idols.

FOR YOU TO DO: Look up Jehu in your Bible. He is mentioned in I Kings and II Chronicles. Paste this picture on cardboard and color Jehu's clothing in bright colors, make the chariot golden yellow with gayly colored wheels. The foreground is green, but the hills are brown and barren. The clouds are white against a blue sky.

Ike Giving Up His Trout Rod for Golf Clubs

THURMONT, Md. (AP)—President Eisenhower switched from trout rod to golf clubs today after a temporary layoff of some 150 construction workers to insure quiet at his mountain top hideaway.

Eisenhower drove to his Camp David retreat, about 65 miles north of Washington, early Friday afternoon for a weekend rest.

A short time later the White House said a construction project underway at the presidential lodge was halted so the President wouldn't be disturbed by the noise.

Reveals Vision Defects

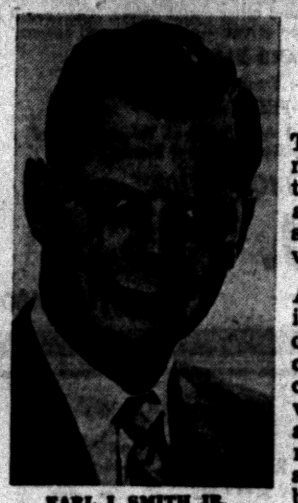

NEW YORK — A recent vision survey of 3,000 licensed drivers in 25 states revealed that 22 per cent were substandard in depth perception, 21 per cent had poor acuity, and 10 per cent fell short in field vision.

TO MY FRIENDS and NEIGHBORS

EARL J. SMITH JR.

Thank you for giving me this opportunity to enter your home and personally present myself and my views in your behalf.

An important decision is awaiting the voters of this district—the choice of electing a commissioner who will represent fairly and unbiasedly the needs of our district and city as expressed by you, the voters.

In times past, some elected candidates from our district have ignored campaign promises, obviously having made commitments primarily to acquire votes and to gain support from our citizens. I have always been defiant of this practice and I sincerely attempt to prove to my supporters that I will carry out all of the concurrent issues for the benefit of the district and city as a whole. With this in mind, I would like to present my position.

Municipal improvements are always a necessity in any progressive city, however I feel a definite continuation of "pay as you go basis" must be retained.

Many times matters arise of great public interest, matters involving each citizen directly. On these problems I plan to contact voters in our district by direct mail with return answer cards. In this manner, you can assist in making the decisions which will truly express your wishes.

I am gravely conscious of the requirements of a city commissioner and I will represent my district and city to the utmost of my ability. I would welcome your support at the polls on April 21st.

Sincerely, with thanks,
EARL J. SMITH

Plan Dedication at City Hospital

20-Member Committee Appointed to Prepare for Open House

A 20-member committee has been appointed to plan the May 11 dedication of the Pontiac General Hospital addition. Members will plan the ceremonies and open house that will follow during National Hospital Week.

Appointed to the committee by Willis M. Brewer, chairman of the Hospital Board of Trustees, were:

Mrs. B. B. Roush, James Clarkson, Harold B. Euler, Cecil J. Cosgrove and Charles Yeager, who all are trustees; Mrs. Rappaport, Mrs. William Bedard, Mrs. H. Guy Bevington and Mrs. Helen Reese, all of the auxiliary; Mrs. Emma Howard, Mrs. Ross Stockwell and Mrs. Clark J. Adams, members of the Oakland County Hospital Assn.

Representing the city will be City Manager Walter K. Willman. Named from the hospital administrative staff were Carl I. Flath, director, Miss Shirley Dovre, his administrative assistant, and Donald Carros, personnel director.

Dr. John J. Mara, chief of staff, named himself and three other medical staff members to the committee. They are Dr. Harold Furlong, Dr. Clifford Ecklund and Dr. Ferdinand Gaensbauer.

Pupil to Spend Holidays in Jail After Speeding

ADRIAN (AP) — Harry Schlatter, a 17-year-old Adrian High School student will spend the next 11 weekends and a good part of his summer vacation in jail.

He pleaded guilty to a felonious driving charge before Judge Rex Martin.

Police said he ran a stop sign at high speed last October and struck another car injuring Miss Carolyn Muench, 22. She spent 70 days in the hospital for treatment of injuries.

Judge Martin sentenced Schlatter to 70 days in jail. He ordered him to spend each weekend in jail from 5 p.m. Friday to 7 p.m. Sunday until school is out, then serve the remainder of his term as a full-time prisoner.

3rd Charter Ballot in 3 Years

Southfield Votes Monday

SOUTHFIELD TOWNSHIP—For the third time in three years, Southfield Township residents Monday will go to the polls to vote on a proposed city charter.

At the same time, they'll elect a mayor, clerk, treasurer, municipal judge, associate judge and a seven-member council.

Thirty candidates are in the race for the 12 posts. Those elected, however, will take office only if the charter is adopted.

Charter approval for the new city of Southfield would reduce the township to about eight square miles, an area which includes the villages of Westwood, Franklin and Bingham Farms.

There are four candidates for mayor. They are Donald L. Swanson, Thomas M. Costello, Philip A. Maloney, and Allan M. Bulloch.

Swanson, 37, who is manager of the Michigan State Fair, has been referred to as "the mayor without a city." He was elected mayor in an election two years ago but couldn't take office because voters rejected the charter. He is a former charter commissioner and was a member of the Township Board of Trustees in 1956-57.

Costello, 30, is another officer without a city. He was elected to two city councils, but each time the charter was turned down. A lawyer, he is a township trustee and secretary of the charter commission.

Maloney has been a member of two charter commissions. He is a township trustee, member of the Board of Education and the Township Planning and Advisory Board. Maloney, 50 is president of the Berkley Kellering Co.

Bulloch, 37, is a justice of the peace in the township.

There are 17 candidates for the council: Charles A. Nagler, J. Richard Touchton, Emanuel Christenson, O. David Edwards, Thomas J. Grady, Charles F. Marando.

Others are Mrs. Jean McDonnell, Dr. Philip J. Maloney Jr., John J. Hollywod, William F. Mueller, George W. O'Jibway, Dr. I. J. Silverman Neil C. Jenkins, C. Hugh Dohany, Leonard J. Blaszak, T. Neal McGregor, Robert F. Wuerful and Joseph J. Hartigan Jr.

Seeking the city clerk's post are Patrick G. Flannery, Arthur C. Becker and Mrs. Florence E. Thomas.

Clarence A. Reid and Claude A. Petaldin are running for municipal judge. There is one opening.

For the post of associate justice, candidates are John H. O'Brien, Dale C. Campbell and S. James Clarkson.

Clara Lane is the only candidate for treasurer.

Martha's Free-Lancing With Men and Acting

BY EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Blonde, beautiful Martha Hyer now finds herself so successful in Hollywood films and TV in every way that she can have almost any man she wants—but she doesn't want any . . . any one, that is.

WILSON

"With men, I think one says they're 'playing the field,'" I said to Martha over a cocktail the other day. "When it's a woman who's playing the field, what do you call it?"

"Free-lancing," smiled Martha over her scotch sour. "I'm free-lancing personally as well as professionally."

Miss Hyer had been free-lancing, then, if that's the word, with Sydney Chaplin, Gene Kelly and assorted other Hollywood and Broadway males. And, while she favors marriage as an institution, she wants none of it for herself right now.

"Right now I'm at a point that you work for," she said. "I'm going to enjoy the freedom — and the fun and the excitement — all that I can."

'You'd like to get married someday?" I asked.

"Yes . . . don't forget I was married once . . . when I was 21. This now is like a wonderful holiday."

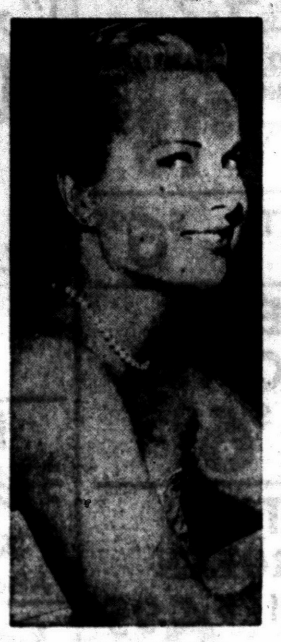

"A vacation between marriages?" I inquired. Smilingly, she said I was taking it too lightly. We switched to the subject of her personality and looks.

"I finally got around to being me," she announced.

"When I came out here, the trend was all Audrey Hepburn. So I got a turtleneck sweater and flatheel shoes and all that bit. Nothing happened.

"Then I tried the Marilyn Monroe routine with the tight sweaters and again nothing happened. Then I tried being a redhead and that didn't help.

"Finally I was able to get back to the way I looked and dressed in college." (Martha who's from Fort Worth, attended Northwestern, being attracted there by its excellent speech course.) "That meant I was dressing like a lady. I'm very happy to be a lady again."

MARTHA HYER

Martha's played love scenes with Cary Grant, Jerry Lewis, David Niven and Bob Hope—and considers that screen romance comes easier with Hope (as in their current picture, "Paris Holiday") than with a dramatic actor.

"Comedians usually don't consider themselves great lovers. A dramatic actor will be thinking during a love scene about camera angles and whether the audience is going to see his better side. He'll be tense.

"Anyway, making love in public, with cameramen and directors and sometimes even columnists hanging around, is no fun. Somebody asked me what I was thinking about when I kissed Cary Grant and I had to tell the truth. I was thinking about my next line."

THE WEEKEND WINDUP

Edie Adams' act in Las Vegas kids Jayne Mansfield, who just closed there. Edie is tosed through the air by a Mickey Hargitay-like muscle man, while husband Ernie Kovacs narrates nonchalantly. Zsa Zsa Gabor is passing up film offers, hoping for a Broadway show . . . Peter Lambda, who did the nude statue of Linda Christian, did a sculpture of Lena (Jamaica") Horne—clothed.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Jack Herbert explains why he doesn't like to come home late: "It's very hard on my wife's voice." . . . That's earl, brother.

TV SERVICE EXPERTS

When your TV set needs service, be sure you get highest quality replacement tubes and buy only the tubes necessary to restore your TV set to good operation. If you prefer to service the set yourself, have an OCEA expert technician test your tubes on high quality professional equipment. Only an experienced Service Man can correctly analyze tube troubles. Avoid purchasing unnecessary replacement tubes because of low-grade "guesswork" tube testers. Your OCEA Service Dealer will be glad to advise you on your service needs.
