85th Congress Racing to Adjourn

Hart Accorded Big Ovation by State Dems

By GEORGE T. TRUMBULL JR.

GRAND RAPIDS—United States senatorial candidate Philip A. Hart stole the show from his old boss, Gov. G. Mennen Williams, as Oakland County and other state Democrats met here Friday night and today.

The Dems were to pick what looms as an uncontested slate of incumbent candidates for their fall ticket.

Hart's name held the spotlight throughout the corridors and lobby of the Pantlind Hotel, headquarters for what State Democratic Chairman Neil Staebler called one of the largest delegate conventions he has seen. Strangely enough, Williams, running for an unprecedented sixth term, took a back seat.

"Maybe that's because the party feels he's a cinch and we can then push all the harder for our home-town boy," declared one Oakland delegate.

Hart, a former resident of Oakland County, and his wife, Janie, received the warmest standing ovation dished out to visitors to the Oakland caucus in the Pantlind Ballroom.

Williams was expected but did not get to the short and contest-free Oakland session.

Hart's campaign got a big boost from convention keynoter Paul M. Butler, National Democratic chairman. Butler told a banquet crowd last night that Sen. Potter is really a coattail politician."

PHILIP A. HART

"He attached himself first to Sen. Ferguson, then to Sen. McCarthy and later to Sen. Bricker in their hunting for domestic subversives," Butler said.

"When that pastime lost its popularity," he went on, "he attached himself to President Eisenhower's coattails. Now he denounces Sherman Adams, repudiates the Eisenhower anti-recession lethargy, and pictures himself as a fighter against sin and the devil."

Butler's barrage against Potter—and he got in a few pokes at other Republicans and their administration—was typical of a "what else can we do" atmosphere among the confident Democrats.

Norwegians Plan Hearty Welcome for Skate Today

BERGEN, Norway (AP)—Norway's second-largest city prepared a hearty welcome today for the USS Skate amid foreign controversy on whether nuclear-powered vessels are safe in heavily populated areas.

Britain joined Denmark in saying they should be kept away from large cities because a collision or similar accident might endanger the populations.

But the man who built the only atomic submarines afloat, U. S. Rear Adm. Hyman Rickover, said they are designed to avoid all possible accidents, including collisions.

The seafaring Norwegians, who are working on an atomic-powered cargo ship, lined up an army band and a navy detachment on the dock to greet the Skate on its first landing after poking around in the ice under the North Pole.

Denmark cancelled the Skate's visit on recommendation of its atomic energy commission, which said nuclear reactors should be kept away from large concentrations of people.

The British Admiralty explained that the Nautilus visited the small channel port of Portland, England, last week instead of a larger British harbor because of this desire to keep nuclear vessels away from major cities.

Nautilus is now heading for New York City on what may be a record time undersea voyage.

When it arrives Monday the sub is scheduled to sail up the Hudson River to mid-Manhattan, then go back down the river and around Manhattan island to the Brooklyn Navy Yard.

Reds Expected to Negotiate on Nuclear Ban

Officials Say Russia Will Agree to Discuss Prevention of Tests

WASHINGTON (AP)—American officials predicted today Russia probably will accept President Eisenhower's proposal to start negotiations Oct. 31 on a world-wide system to prevent sneak nuclear weapons tests.

Eisenhower offered yesterday to suspend U. S. nuclear tests for at least one year, provided such negotiations got under way.

His only other condition was that Russia continue its 4½-month-old halt in Soviet tests. The Russians announced the halt after completing a test series.

In a statement and a note to the Kremlin, Eisenhower called for talks in New York under United Nations auspices. Results would be reported through Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold to the U.N. General Assembly and the Security Council.

In Russia, radio Moscow and the Tass news agency reported Eisenhower's proposal without comment. There was no comment from Soviet officials.

VOICE PRAISE

But Rep. Chet Holifield (D-Calif) objected strongly to a part of the Eisenhower statement that left the way open for resumption of tests unless, among other things, there was satisfactory progress toward disarmament. Holifield said such a condition could kill the plan.

U. S. officials said their expectation of Soviet acceptance was based primarily on results of a seven-week Geneva meeting of scientists from the United States, Russia and six other countries on both sides of the Iron Curtain.

TECHNICALLY POSSIBLE

The scientists agreed it was technically possible to create a worldwide system of inspection stations, reportedly about 180, to make sure nobody cheated on any agreement to ban nuclear tests.

Britain also offered to suspend its tests after a projected series is completed this fall, and to participate in detailed diplomatic talks to set up the monitoring

Kierdorf Free on Bond; Due in Court Monday

Former Teamster official Herman Kierdorf posted $25,000 bond and was free today pending a court appearance next week on a charge of possessing a gun silencer.

Kierdorf, who lost an earlier attempt to get the bond reduced, posted the amount yesterday through the Pontiac bonding firm of Guy Carter and Carmen Mitchell, and was released from the Oakland County Jail at 5 p.m.

Kierdorf was unsuccessful yesterday afternoon in an attempt to have Madison Heights Justice Hendrik J. Smit reduce his bond, when he appeared for examination. He was ordered to appear for arraignment in Circuit Court Monday.

Testimony at the hearing of the 67-year-old ex-business agent of Detroit Teamster Council 43 was given by four persons—his neighbor, John Tyler; Tyler's daughter, Judith; Madison Heights Police Chief Robert E. Richardson; and Det. Sgt. Wallace Van Stratt, director of the state police crime laboratory in East Lansing.

Justice Smit dismissed a motion by Herman's attorney, William F. Dohany, to drop the charge and ordered the ex-Teamster boss to be held in custody under the same bond he had set Wednesday.

At the examination, Tyler, of 29079 Spoon St., Madison Heights, gave testimony that possibly shed light on Herman's disappearance from Aug. 4 to Aug. 17.

He said that about 5:15 p.m., Aug. 4, Herman came to his house from St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, where his nephew, Frank, lay dying from burns.

Tyler testified that he told Herman Aug. 4 that Richardson earlier that day had picked up Herman's cache of two pistols, a silencer, two telephone receivers and some dynamite caps from Tyler's home.

"Doc (which Tyler said is the neighborhood nickname for Herman) started to say something to me about 'a fellow' after I told him about the police. Then he turned suddenly and walked out."

That evening Herman disappeared and has given no account since his voluntary surrender Aug. 17 of his whereabouts during the 13-day absence.

Tyler testified that one pistol and the silencer were brought by Herman to his house in a brown briefcase "for safekeeping" sometime early in July, "before Herman went to Washington to testify (before the Senate Rackets Committee)."

HERMAN KIERDORF

The remaining items were brought by Herman to the house on the morning of Aug. 4 in a white paper bag, according to Judith, 15.

Richardson said he discovered the arsenal that day when he went to the Tyler home to ask for the whereabouts of Herman to take him to the hospital. He said Judith showed him the two containers and upon examining their contents, he took them into custody.

Tyler testified that last fall he kept the same briefcase for Herman for about "ten days or two weeks." He said Herman gave it to him "to keep for awhile," just before Herman went to Washington at the time Frank was testifying before the committee.

Both Herman and Frank testified before the committee and both pleaded the fifth amendment, Herman in July and Frank last fall.

A bread deliveryman and member of Detroit Teamster Local 57, Tyler said he became suspicious upon hearing over the radio that Herman was pleading the fifth amendment before the Washington committee.

"I got to wondering," said the fellow-Teamster. Tyler said he examined the contents of the briefcase, saw what was in it, then closed it up and did nothing until Herman came home.

Tyler said that while he had the briefcase open, he fitted the silencer onto the tip of the German Walther P.38 semi-automatic that was with it and discovered that the two fit together.

Tyler, Richardson and Sgt. Van Stratt demonstrated in court how the two exhibits worked.

It's Touch, Go on Winding Up Session Today

Lawmakers May Be Forced to Stay Over Into Next Week

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate leaders said today it is "touch-and-go" whether the hard-working 85th Congress can wind up its election year second session tonight.

As the Senate convened at 10 a.m. (EDT), Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson told newsmen it was imposible to say whether the half dozen major bills still awaiting action would force Congress to stay over into next week.

He listed the 3½-billion-dollar foreign aid bill, the 6 billion independent agencies appropriation, and a Lake Michigan water diversion bill as the main barriers to adjournment.

Republican Leader William F. Knowland said "it's touch and go" on adjournment tonight.

SPEECHES LONG

But their efforts were hampered by long-winded Senate speeches and a delaying regional fight over a bill to permit Chicago to divert more water from Lake Michigan for sewage purposes. As time ran out on the 8th Congress, the chances for many secondary bills also went down the drain.

The big problems still to be resolved involved foreign aid, military construction and independent agency money bills, and legislation to raise the debt limit, boost railroad retirement benefits, provide a missile-age education program and extend the renegotiation law.

The Senate wound up a 14½-hour session at 11:58 p.m. (EDT) after passing the debt limit increase bill and returning it to an impatient House.

That left the $3,518,000,000 foreign aid appropriation bill as the Senate's pending business for today. But there was more talk and a House-Senate conference to follow before this measure is completed.

Faubus Keeping 'Alert' Posted

Governor Eyes Score of Measures Designed to Prevent Integration

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Gov. Orval Faubus today kept Arkansas legislators on the alert for a special session while he examined a score of prospective antiintegration measures.

Atty. Gen. Bruce Bennett prepared the bills on his own initiative and Faubus asked for copies yesterday. Bennett said he did not think it proper to reveal the nature of the proposals.

Supreme Court Justice Charles Evans Whittaker may hold the answer to whether racial integration must be resumed at Little Rock's Central High School when it reopens Sept. 2.

But the answer will not come before next Thursday, probably later.

There was speculation at the state Capitol that most of the measures concerned the closing of integrated schools under certain conditions and possibly the establishment of private schools.

One of the proposals reportedly would give the governor the power to shut down an integrated school whenever he felt such action was essential to public peace.

Bennett told newsmen he also had drawn up several measures to restrict the activities of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People in Arkansas.

Faubus said his decision to summon a special session hinged mainly on the outcome of efforts by the NAACP to get the Supreme Court to restore integration at Little Rock.

Meanwhile, the Negro children involved in the furor over renewed integration at Central High marked time as registration for the 1958-1959 term began.

Auburn Heights Resident Killed

Clayton M. Snook Jr. Struck by Vehicle in Avon Township

An Auburn Heights man, Clayton Morris Snook Jr. 41, was killed early this morning when struck by an eastbound auto on Auburn Rd., just east of Greenwood St., in Avon Township.

Oakland County sheriff's deputies said Snook, who lived at 3184 Auburn Rd., was dead on arrival at Pontiac General Hospital at 4:15 a.m.

He suffered a fractured skull, according to Oakland County Deputy Coroner Dr. Edward Elder Jr., who pronounced Snook dead.

The driver of the car, Thelma Pringle, 47, of 3855 Mildred St., Rochester, said she saw something in the road next to a stopped auto which had a turn signal blinking.

As she approached, she said, she thought it was a dog. When the object attempted to rise she realized it was a man but couldn't stop in time to avoid hitting him.

County Considers Three Uses for Its Contagious Hospital

Three proposals for the use of the vacant Oakland County Contagious Hospital were made yesterday before a special committee of Oakland County supervisors named to chart the building's future use.

The building was used by Pontiac General Hospital during expansion work there. Contract with the city expired yesterday. Contagious disease patients are being cared for at Herman Kiefer Hospital in Detroit.

Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital offered to lease the building from the county for $25,000 a year; Probate Judge Arthur Moore suggested it become a mental health center; and the county health director, Dr. John Monroe, suggested it be used to rehabilitate elderly persons now in nursing homes.

Pontiac Osteopathic's offer, included the setting up of a contagious unit on its seventh floor where the county could send patients with contagious diseases who now go to Herman Kiefer.

Harry H. Whitlow, Osteopathic Hospital director, said the Contagious Hospital building would be remodeled to accept emergency cases, lightening the load on Pontiac General and St. Joseph Mercy hospitals.

The offer also included maintenance costs of the building to be paid by Pontiac Osteopathic giving the county $25,000 a year net in income.

Whitlow said medical doctors who sent patients with contagious diseases to Osteopathic would have the full use of all the hospital's facilities.

Judge Moore asked that the building be used to accept mentally ill emergency patients, screen patients to decide if they are seriously ill enough to go to a state hospital, and offer clinical and out-patient treatment to the mentally ill.

He noted that there is no such facility in Oakland County today depite the growing need. He said he has 45 mentally ill persons under care of his court today who are awaiting beds in institutions.

Dr. Monroe pointed out that the county now has supervisory authority over nursing and rest

UAW Agrees to Wage Freeze

Two-Year Pact Signed for 1,200 at Kelvinator Grand Rapids Plant

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—The United Auto Workers Union has agreed to a two-year wage freeze for some 1,200 employes at the Kelvinator appliance plant of American Motors Corp. here. A rival union branded the agreement a sellout and a doublecross.

Edward L. Cushman, AMC vice president in charge of industrial relations, confirmed last night that the contract was signed two weeks ago. He said announcement of the agreement was withheld pending conclusion of other UAW negotiations.

A Detroit paper said the secret pact was made after AMC decided to consolidate its appliance business in Grand Rapids, shutting down plants in Detroit and Peoria, Ill. If the move is not completed within six months, the UAW can cancel the new contract, the newspaper said.

In addition to the wage freeze, the new contract provides for a reduction in paid relief time permitted workers and a bonus in lieu of paid vacations.

The agreement does not affect the company's automotive division workers.

'A Lot of Trash'

Rips Panther Myth

By JERRY CHIAPPETTA

ALL OUTDOORS (UPI)—Michigan's panther myth was exploded today by a high Conservation Department official.

Dr. Stanley Whitlock, assistant director of the Game Division, said: "Our mountain lion and black panther reports are like flying saucer stories — Plenty of sightings, but never anything produced."

He said it has been more than 100 years since a legitimate mountain lion, puma, cougar or whatever you wish to call it has been found in Michigan. "We have never—I repeat, never—found one of these big cat sightings to be true," he added emphatically.

"The whole thing is a lot of trash. Most of these people who say they came face to face with a big cat don't even know what a mountain lion or 'black panther' looks like."

Although the facts strike close to the hearts of all mountain lion lovers, investigations have wiped away all "hope" there are giant meat-eating felines roaming the outdoors of this state.

"The only known mountain lion in Michigan," Dr. Whitlock said, "is in Dearborn where a bar owner has one in a cage."

Whitlock said the department has refused to grant the bar owner, Andy Palmer, permission to release the cat in the Upper Peninsula as the target of a big hunt.

Asked about the latest "panther" sighting near Mount Clemens, the game officials said flatly: "I don't believe it."

The report said State Police found "two cat-like tracks measuring almost six inches across" and that

Pontiac Ex-GI Indicted in Cuba

Accused of Kidnaping, Robbing Manager of Club in Havana

A Pontiac ex-GI and his companion were indicted Friday by a Havana, Cuba, court of charges of kidnaping and robbing the manager of Havana's American Club, Aug. 6.

Edward W. Keehn, 20, who formerly lived with his mother, Mrs. Edith M. Keehn, at 183 Pingree Ave., and another ex-GI Dean Gleaves, 22, of Portland, Ore., were arrested Aug. 11 in Camaguey.

Bail was set at $10,000, plus $5,000 for civil responsibility, for the defendants at their arraignment.

The two are accused of kidnaping Mario Merendi, 68, and robbing him of $400 cash. Merendi was found 24 hours after the incident bound and gagged in a ditch near Mantanzas.

Keehn enlisted through the Pontiac Army Recruiting Station in February, 1957. He dropped out of Pontiac Central High School a month earlier with only a year left to go before graduating.

Police said Keehn and Gleaves were discharged recently from the U. S. Army and wanted to use the money to join Fidel Castro's rebels.

They were driving Merendi's car when police picked them up but told officers they had rented it from an unidentified party for $25 under the impression it was a taxicab.

They told interrogators that they were on their way to Santiago to join the rebels hiding out in the hills of eastern Cuba.

U. S. and Cuban authorities are reportedly checking into the possibility of rebel recruiting of American ex-soldiers.

Youthful Killer Attends Funeral

Flint Judge Arranges for His Presence at Mother-Sister Rite

FLINT (UPI) — Fifteen-year-old Roger St. Pierre who shot his mother and sister to death Thursday "because they would be better off in heaven" attended their double funeral today in Flint.

Genesee County Probate Judge William E. Doran made the necessary arrangements for the youthful killer to visit the Zelley Funeral Home and attend services at Glenwood Cemetery in Flint.

At a preliminary hearing yesterday, Judge Doran ordered young St. Pierre confined to the psychiatric ward of Hurley Hospital where he will be examined by several psychologists and a psychiatrist. They will make a report to the judge Wednesday.

"What do you think of the murder, Judge? Am I sane or what?" asked the bluejean-clad, Bible-clutching youth yesterday. The judge said, "That's what the doctors will try to find out."

Roger admitted that he shot his mother, Martha, 44, and his 19-year-old sister, Donna, several times with a 12-gauge shotgun in their home on the west side of Flint.

Roger asked for pencil and paper so that he could "make arrangements for a nice funeral." Asked about the motive for the crime, he said:

"No motive, judge. It was just a financial matter."

8 Persons Killed in State Traffic

Kalamazoo Boy Is Hit Running Onto Street in Front of Home

By The Associated Press

Eight persons were killed in Michigan traffic late Friday or early today, one of them a small boy struck by a car in front of his home.

One of the victims was an unidentified woman, about 45 years old. She was killed today when the car she was riding in left M51 and hit a tree in St. Clair County six miles northwest of Port Huron. The driver of the car, William Balla, 42, of Melvin in Sanilac County, was seriously injured and could not be questioned immediately.

John C. Lawler, 57, of Wayne, was killed today when his car left Telegraph road in Dearborn Township, careened 300 feet and hit a tree.

A 41-year-old Pontiac factory worker, Clayton M. Shook, was hit by a car today while crossing a street in Auburn Heights.

Tobe E. Peters, 68, of Detroit, was killed Friday night when he walked into the path of a car. It was the 94th traffic death in Detroit this year compared with 111 in the same period a year ago.

Mrs. Dorothea McNulty, 38, of Mount Clemens, was killed Friday when a truck forced her car off the road. The woman's car got back on the highway, hit another auto and overturned.

Conservationist Blasts Michigan's Panther Myth

the animal leaped an eight-foot fence "with cat-like grace."

"It was probably a dog, if it was anything," laughed Whitlock. He added seriously:

"Look, if we had a real panther or mountain lion in the state we would have continuous reports of deer or cattle being killed and there would be solid tracks. These big animals don't live out of garbage cans.

"The nearest natural environment for mountains, for example, is over a thousand miles from here. They like the hot mountain area out west. There may be a big cat that escaped from a zoo or circus, but we'd know about it. There have been no such reports recently."

He explained away the big cat of the Upper Peninsula as a "publicity stunt" pulled by local residents as "maybe a tourist attraction or just a gag."

Dr. Whitlock also pointed to game laws that make it illegal to bring any foreign animal into the state without expressed permission. "Of course," he said, "many vacationers returning from the west could easily bring in a mountain lion and we'd never know it until it grew too big and had to be turned loose."

About a year ago, this writer investigated the "black panther" of the Pontiac area and found it to be a wild Tennessee coon dog. The animal was owned by Gilbert Bell of Drayton Plains. Bell's dog, "Junior," was long-legged, jet black dog with a long curved tail and a "cat-like" gait.

After the story of the lost dog was published, stories of a black panther of Oakland County stopped!

UAW OKs Contract Freezing Wages

improves American Motors' position in relation to its competitors in the appliance industry.

The contract was sharply criticized by Harry Forest, secretary of Local 9 Mechanics Educational Society of America, representing AMC appliance workers in Detroit.

"This is a sellout by the UAW and a doublecross by the company," Forest said.

He charged that the UAW sold out so it "could get 1,300 jobs moved to Grand Rapids." The company had advised the MESA local that it would not transfer any of its members from Detroit to Grand Rapids, he said, adding:

"They said there are enough UAW workers off in Grand Rapids to handle all of the new jobs."

Meanwhile, in Lansing an attorney general's opinion today held the key to settlement of a dispute over American Motors Corp.'s bonus-jobless pay plan covering employes of its Kelvinator Division in Grand Rapids.

Bethel B. Kelley, attorney for the automotive and appliance firm, reasserted yesterday that the plan is "legal, proper and ethical."

Ragsdale Cites 'Callous Disregard'

Strikes Slow Production of New Models by Big 3

DETROIT (UPI) — The big three auto companies today struggled to produce 1959 model cars while strikes around the nation shut down four of their plants.

The strikes in Michigan, Ohio and Illinois involved 5,500 workers and negotiations yesterday brought two other shutdowns in Ohio to an end.

About 1,400 General Motors' Fisher Body Division workers in Mansfield went back to work following successful negotiations between GM and the United Auto Workers and another 105 workers resumed their jobs at GM's Packard Electric Division in Warren, Ohio. The Mansfield walkout started Thursday and the Warren shutdown lasted only yesterday.

But at Flint, 1,400 members of Local 599 were still idle today amid charges by Buick Division General Manager Edward T. Ragsdale that local officials showed "callous disregard" for them in calling the strike. About 1,000 workers at the Ford stamping plant at Chicago Heights, Ill., remained out of work for the fourth day in their grievance while UAW-Chrysler troubles continued.

A rift at the Jefferson-Kercheval Chrysler Plant involving 1,400 went into its fourth day and another strike — also involving 1,400 — has kept Chrysler's Twinsburgh, Ohio, plant closed since Wednesday.

Ragsdale said more than 11,000 hourly rated workers would be effected if the strike at the Buick engine plant continues.

The Jefferson-Kercheval Plant has not assembled a Desoto or a Chrysler since the walkout began there and Chrysler said the shutdown of the Twinsburg stamping plant would begin effecting Detroit-area assemblies next week.

In Detroit, UAW Vice President Leonard Woodcock, director of the union's GM department, said, "Time for handling grievances never was adequate at General Motors. This is true during normal production, but the problem is sharply intensified at the start of new model production. Many more problems and grievances invariably come up at such times."

Woodcock charged there were hundreds of grievances which UAW committeemen could not investigate or settle because of the corporations' action in cutting the time for this in half while the workers are under a "no contract operating policy."

Osmun will direct the solicitations of the government, professional and educational groups. Gabert will supervise the collections from the food, automotive and public service groups.

Hoerath heads up the collections from retail and finance groups.

Napley will direct two groups, general and construction, with the aid of two group chairmen and 16 unit captains.

County Studies Three Plans for Hospital homes and that many elderly people are being given straight custodial care in such institutions who with rehabilitation and training might be sent home.

The committee, headed by Fred W. Smith, of Royal Oak, stressed that its primary function was to decide what the greatest need in the county is and to look at the cost and feasibility after.

Charles Davis, assistant corporation counsel, warned that the county could not operate a general hospital unless it limited such a facility to indigent patients only.

Other spokesmen, including George Williams, business manager of the County TB Sanitarium, said a return to a contagious type hospital operation would never pay for itself and it would stay largely empty.

Congress Rushing to Adjourn Today

eign trade measures, Democratic leaders still placed results ahead of the hour of adjournment.

House Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex) called this "about the most fruitful" session in which he had ever served. Majority Leader Johnson was equally pleased with its showing.

Before the late Senate slowdown developed, that body had sent to the White House both the $279,500,000 depressed areas bill and an 18-month extension of the farm surplus disposal act. It also had returned four other key bills to the House for final action.

These were the debt limit, railroad retirement, renegotiation and education measures.

Hart Given Ovation at Dems Convention served Carlos Richardson, Oakland County Democratic Committee chairman from Waterford Township.

He was referring to the Oakland caucus which lasted in the large ballroom for one hour and fifteen minutes. The only trace of a floor fight came when the 161-member delegation sought a member on the state committee on resolutions.

Nominated for the job were Charles D. Arnold of Hazel Park, and Dan Oley of New Hudson. After each spoke for a minute, a vote was taken and Arnold came out the winner, 75 to 39.

An expected debate over whether the local delegation would vote by unit rule failed to materialize. Robert P. Scott, Pontiac delegate, called for an unanimous vote to agree on the unit rule.

After Billie S. Farnum, assistant to Secretary of State James M. Hare, and from Waterford Township, explained the difference between unit rule and individual delegate voting until rule was approved.

Chairman of last night's caucus was Leslie H. Hudson, who will oppose U. S. Rep. William S. Broomfield Nov. 4. Faye Moskowitz of Huntington Woods was elected vice chairman; Farnum, member of state credentials committee; Francis J. Stephenson, Farmington Township supervisor, member of state committee on order of business, and Arnold, member pr resolutions committee.

The 3,500 Democrats expect no opposition for renomination for Hare, Sandford A. Brown, state treasurer; Frank S. Szymanski Auditor general; or Paul L. Adams, attorney general.

The Oakland delegation has the largest voice of any Congressional district among the 18 in the state. The 161 delegates have 114 votes which comes as a result of several delegations in the county having one-half and one-third votes.

Today the convention will draft its 1958 platform.

Whispered rather quietly last night around the hotel was a pending demand of the anti-Williams faction, state Democratic Club of Michigan, Inc., that it be heard on the floor today.

While most delegates paid little or no attention, Staebler promised they would be heard, but only if they are duly elected delegates.

It is believed that Michael T. Mohardt, the club's unsuccessful candidate Aug. 5 for lieutenant governor and a Detroit real estate dealer, was such a delegate here. The dissident group has been meeting nearby at the Morton House.

Say Reds Will Agree to Discuss A-Ban

system conceived by the scientists at Geneva.

It was learned authoritatively that this was the thinking behind the Eisenhower proposal:

An end to nuclear tests is no disarmament measure in itself. But it may provide an opening wedge to achieve genuine disarmament.

Red China and other countries might be called into the negotiations for discussion of putting monitoring stations on their territory. But negotiations would initially be only among the United States, Britain and Russia—the only countries now possessing nuclear weapons.

Any system of preventing sneak nuclear tests would have to include Red China to be effective.

RESEARCH TO GO ON

The Atomic Energy Commission and the Defense Department would continue nuclear weapons research not involving actual explosion. This is because officials fear Russia might cut down the U.S. atomic lead if such work did not go forward and the negotiations proved fruitless.

The Day in Birmingham

Ask for Aid in Smashing Ring of Housebreakers

BIRMINGHAM — Bloomfield Township Police are asking residents to cooperate in breaking up a gang of juvenile "housebreakers."

Police Chief Norman Dehnke said five juveniles have been picked up by police and have described two more members of the gang. They claim they do not know the boys names nor where they live.

Several residents whose homes have been ransacked have described two boys matching descriptions given by the quintet.

Both are between 14 and 17 years old. One is short and fat, his companion, tall and thin. The latter is described as "appearing ill."

Dehnke said these two have gone to doors asking for a drink or to get directions to some other community. They have also posed as magazine salesmen. Within a day or two of their visit, these homes have been ransacked.

"Anyone seeing this pair will do their neighbors and us a favor if they will call police headquarters at once," Dehnke said.

He said the area of their activities is bounded by Square Lake, Long Lake, Franklin roads and Club drive.

The first strip of the Derby Road paving east from Adams road has been completed.

The finished paving, scheduled to be done before school opens, will eliminate the mud and traffic problem which hindered Derby Junior High School students last year.

Norman Wolfe, Birmingham school co-ordinator, said "there will be no changes in school board bus schedules this year.

Any adjustment in schedules will be made as the need arises, he added.

Buses are to arrive at elementary schools at 8:50 a.m. and leave at 3:35 p.m. Barnum school buses will arrive at 8:20 a.m. and leave at 3:30 p.m.

Arrival and departure times at Derby Junior High School are 8 a.m. and 3 p.m. and at the high school, 7:50 a.m. and 3:16 p.m.

Wolfe also reminded area motorists that the new state law requiring all autos to stop while a bus is loading or unloading, will be effective Sept. 13.

Identify Fluid Used in Arson

Police Continue Probe Into Mystery Burning of Thon Apartment

The fluid used to ignite the apartment of the woman friend of Teamster official Leaun Harrelson last Wednesday has definitely been established as No. 2 naphtha.

Det. Sgt. Ormand O'Farrell, fire marshal for the Redford Post, State Police, said the fluid is used in many household cleaners and spot removers readily available at any grocery or hardware store.

Pontiac police are continuing a methodical questioning of friends and relatives of the pretty 28-year-old waitress, Mrs. Mary Ann Thon, and Harrelson.

Yesterday, a friend of Mrs. Thon was placed in a lineup at police headquarters and viewed by the two men who saw the arsonist leave the rear of the apartment building at 60 Douglas St. where she lives.

Both witnesses failed to identify the suspect and he was released.

Detectives James Bale and Robert Wachal, assigned to the case, said today that the arson appeared to be the work of someone with a personal grudge against Mrs. Thon or Harrelson rather than a Teamster Union-connected affair.

Harrelson is president of Pontiac Teamsters Local 614 and was questioned in the Frank Kierdorf human torch death.

Train Traps 2 Boys on Trestle, One Hurt

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Two boys were trapped by a train halfway across a railroad trestle over the Huron River yesterday.

One, 15-year-old Robert Norris, was hit by the locomotive and hurled 50 feet into the river below. He was seriously injured. His companion, John D. LaMay escaped harm by inches.

The Norris boy, of Lodi Township, was rescued from the river by Jack Wirth, 27, of Ann Arbor, who jumped from the riverbank and swam 60 feet to pull the boy to shore. He revived Robert with artificial respiration.

The Ann Arbor railroad freight came within inches of the LaMay boy, of Ann Arbor. He stood on a small platform at the side of the trestle as the train roared past at 35 miles an hour.

Little Rich Boy Provides Poem for His Requiem

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The poor little rich boy provided his own requiem — a simple poem of faith.

The lad was Timothy Getty, 12-year-old son of oil multimillionaire J. Paul Getty, said by some to be America's richest man.

Timothy's poem was read at his funeral yesterday. Somehow it brightened the little Church of the Flowers in a way adult speakers couldn't.

Getty himself did not attend. His former wife, Mrs. Louise Dudley Lynch Getty, the boy's mother, was present.

Timothy was a friendly, outgoing boy, a bit on the philosophical side, perhaps because of illness. He underwent several operations for a brain tumor.

While recuperating in New York he met Roy Campanella, Los Angeles Dodger catcher who suffered a broken neck in an auto accident. Campy gave the boy a baseball.

"Why didn't you sign it," asked Timothy.

"I have a little trouble writing," said Campanella.

The boy paused. "I'll pray for you," he said.

Facing his last operation — a minor one to remove scars of previous surgery — he wrote a poem about God and winning each fight. But he lost his own fight last Sunday when his heart failed after the operation.

His mother was at his side. Getty was in Europe. He said the fact he could not attend the boy's funeral caused him "particular grief."

The highlight of the Christian Science rites was the reading of Timothy's poem:

"God protects me through the night.
"God will help me win each fight.
"Because His love is oh, so dear,
"I know in God I cannot fear.
"God will show me, day by day,
"If I follow in His way."

Envoys' Immunity Bothering Britons

LONDON — Diplomatic immunity is worrying a lot of British citizens. Thousands of people now in the country can punch a policeman, maim a pedestrian, steal, assault, shoplift or even murder. And there isn't a thing the law can do about it.

These privileges are being abused, it is claimed, and the system should be overhauled. Not only diplomats but their wives, servants, employes, clerks, chauffers and typists are covered by the diplomatic privilege "umbrella."

Legally they can do no wrong. Commentators say that judges and politicians both feel that Britain is being "taken for a ride." It has only 1,700 nationals abroad enjoying such protection while in Britain the number has grown to nearly 6,000. They are "immune from suit and legal process," and pay no taxes or customs duties.

Injections Add Inches to Girl

Dwarfed Child Given Growth Hormones of Dead Man's Body

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Doctors at the University of California medical school here have caused an undersized child to grow three inches in six months by injecting human "growth hormone" taken from the body of a dead man.

The patient was an 11-year-old girl who was only three feet eight inches tall. By normal standards she should have been four feet 10 inches. Her dwarfed condition was caused by a gland failure that resulted from an infection at the age of six months.

Dr. C. H. Li, a hormone research specialist, extracted the human "growth hormone" from pituitary glands taken from the bodies of dead humans. After the first six months of startling growth from the injections, the girl is still growing, at a slower rate because the doses of hormone have been reduced.

The stiking success of the experiment, which has freed this young girl from a dwarf life, was reported by Dr. Li today at a Madison, Wis., conference on chemical organization of cells.

The scientist cautioned that as yet the treatment of pituitary dwarfs with human growth hormone is extremely limited. Dr. Li said he has only been able to obtain enough for this single patient. She receives 2½ milligrams per day.

Structural differences bwtween human growth hormone and that obtainable from cattle and other animals has so far prevented the animal hormones from being successfully used on human dwarfs.

Dr. Li said that at present the greatest hope for widespread treatment of pituitary dwarfs lies in research through which animal hormones may be broken down sufficiently to isolate the growth factor from other elements which so far have made the application of animal hormones to humans unsatisfactory.

Bridge Dummy Used First in 1903 Game

LONDON — According to playing-card historians, the dummy in bridge originated in 1903 when three British Civil Service officers were stationed at a lonely post in India with no fourth bridge player within 100 miles.

One suggested bidding for the fourth hand, which would then be played as a face-up dummy. The others liked the idea and called the game Auction.

Denying Rumors Princess Grace Pregnant Again

MONTE CARLO, Monaco (UPI) —Princess Grace is not pregnant again, a source close to the royal palace said today.

The denial was issued because of a batch of new rumors that Prince Rainier and his American wife were expecting their third child early next year.

"Prince Rainier has authorized me to say that these rumors are entirely without foundation," the source said.

The prince and princess are planning a trip to the United States in the fall to visit Grace's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John B. Kelly, of Philadelphia.

Call Mothers' Union 'Narrow-Minded'

LONDON — The 500,000-strong Mothers' Union of Britain is under fire from the clergy.

Although it is a Church of England body, vicars and rectors are criticizing what they call its narrow-mindedness. Said C. O. Rhodes editor of the church's newspaper: "This revolt has been boiling up for years. It is because divorced and unmarried women may not join the Mothers' Union. It defends itself by saying it is not a women's organization for all, but one dedicated to maintenance of the ideals of marriage.

"This is nonsense. We have the situation where the Young Wives' Fellowship, a daughter church organization, is open to all, but an older woman cannot transfer to the Mothers' Union. The divorced or unmarried mother is barred."

Four Tons of 'Sneezes' Removed by Children

TRAVERSE CITY (UPI)—Children in Grand Traverse and Leelanau counties have removed more than four tons of "sneezes," officials of a ragweed pulling campaign said today.

The ragweed campaign is held each year in the two counties "to keep our breezes free from sneezes" and a number of prizes are awarded to children who participate.

So far, 118 boys and girls have brought more than 8,000 pounds of the sneeze-provoking weed to weighing stations in Traverse City and Lake Leelanau.

Runaway Boy Steals to Eat, Lives in Woods

RIVERHEAD, N.Y. (AP) — "When I got hungry I broke into a house and stole food and whatever money I could find. It was either that or go home, and I couldn't do that."

It was a 13-year-old boy talking to police yesterday. The boy was found living in a burlap and oil cloth tent in nearby woods.

The youth admitted to 13 burglaries in this area, most of them in the last five days.

The boy, not identified, said he has not seen his father, a small-time thief, since he was three years old and that his mother also has a criminal record.

The youngster was sent to Nassau County Children's Shelter.

Wear Yellow Clothes, Hunters Are Advised

NEW YORK—According to the Better Vision Institute, it's a bad idea for hunters to wear red, because many people have the kind of color blindness that confuses red with green. Recent tests indicate that everyone—normal or color-blind—sees yellow and golden-yellow most clearly, so hunters who wear yellow appear to stand the best chance of keeping safe.

Express Appreciation

J. L. VOORHEES

Expressing appreciation buys more happiness than anything else and it doesn't cost a cent.

Prove this statement. In the next ten minutes express your appreciation for the delicious meal your wife has prepared; you'll see what I mean. The next time you go into a store, tell the sales person, "Thanks for your courtesy," and watch her, or his eyes light up. The telephone operator's voice is happy as she quickly completes your call; express your appreciation. A neighbor calls, just a friendly greeting; tell her that call made you happy. You have a friend who needs consolation; give it. Your constructive thoughts are as necessary as food, for such they are—mental food.

Express appreciation as the occasion arises and find yourself in possession of a reward far greater than gold, or jewels, or any material wealth.

It Seems to Me...

Potter Will Need Eisenhower's Support in Coming Election

There seems to be a difference of opinion as to whether President DWIGHT D. EISENHOWER will assist CHARLES POTTER in Michigan during the coming election.

An "unimpeachable source" said that he wouldn't. Then this self-same Delphic oracle conceded that he might; at least he'd relent sufficiently to confer a left handed blessing upon the Wolverine incumbent. "Pressure from Postmaster General Arthur Summerfield" was assigned as the reason for assisting, but I have a different idea even though I believe in Summerfield and feel that he is very close to the President and always close to the situation in Michigan.

Early in the SHERMAN ADAMS imbroglio, Senator POTTER issued a forthright statement in which he suggested "ADAMS should go." That was easy to understand—then—and now. If anything, the accumulated evidence since that date has pointed more clearly towards a definite exit for the Presidential aide. GOLDFINE has been no part of a bargain for the Republicans. However, that situation shouldn't jeopardize an all-out election battle and a Senate seat in Washington. DWIGHT D. EISENHOWER will surely evaluate things in their proper perspectives.

Washington observers believe The President will tour the nation in October, appearing wherever he seems most needed to support faltering party candidates or those who are in jeopardy.

That includes Potter.

He's fighting for his life.

The Dems have indicated quietly that they intend to "pour it on" in support of their Oakland County candidate, Phillip A. Hart. Hence, Potter will need all the help he can get from every available source. The GOP will have to pull out all the stops and give it the full treatment.

Many people think EISENHOWER'S failure to spend an additional day in Michigan cost Republicans the control of the Senate in 1954 when HOMER FERGUSON was inched out by PAT MCNAMARA. Incumbent FERGUSON sensed the tremendous drive against him and the party understood FERGUSON'S precarious position. They importuned EISENHOWER to make a quick tour where his presence would do the most good.

But IKE was adamant.

He gave it lip service and his constituent was nosed out. Ultimately, it cost the GOP control of the United States Senate. About twelve more hours in Michigan and a whirlwind appearance in certain strategic areas could have switched the ballots of a few thousand citizens, and then Michigan and the nation would have been spared the weak and vapid PATRICK.

Senator Potter denies that the President "has it in for him." He says relationships are cordial and friendly. I hope that's correct. If the President leaves the White House on a political tour, Michigan warrants a real visit. Let's don't have mere lip service.

That was costly before.

It could be again.

Michigan might prove a pivotal state in Washington alignments.

And in Conclusion . . . . .

Jottings from the well thumbed notebook of your peripatetic reporter:

My wife says there's been too much femininity in this department so today we concentrate on the men. . . . . JOHN F. KENNEDY tops all current Democratic polls for the 1960 nomination. G. Addled adages are having a run in the East. (Sample): "to err is human; to give in, divine." . . . . . My old pal Bob Hatt says in 1932 the Cranbrook Institute of Science boasted 30 visitors on a real good day. During a busy time in 1958, the number tops 1,000. . . . . And speaking of that area, the Bloomfield Hills School had 46 students in 1930. Next month it anticipates 2,800. . . . . "Changing Times" comes up with this on our own "CHUCK" ADAMS: Advertising students at Long Island University were quizzing the Vice President of Bloomfield's MacManus, John & Adams Agency.

"Can you tell us how to get a job, Mr. Adams?" one student asked.

"It's simple," came the reply. "When I decided to embark on an advertising career, I simply went to the head of one of the nation's largest advertising agencies and asked: 'Do you suppose you could find a place in the organization for me, Dad?'"

The POWER of FAITH

by Howard Brodie

HOW AMERICANS WORSHIP
The Buddhists .4

If it seems strange to see Buddhism listed as an American faith, remember that freedom of religion has attracted to our shores many peoples who have brought with them from distant lands their unique beliefs.

With more than half a billion followers, Buddhism is the world's most widespread system of worship. Its temples have arisen in some of our larger cities, as have Mohammedan mosques and other exotic edifices.

As a religious artist intent on seeing how Americans seek God, I recently visited a Buddhist temple in Los Angeles. There, in a setting of oriental magnificence, incense burned fragrantly on an altar. A gong sounded somewhere in the depths of the beautiful structure and an organ played softly. The minister, in bright red robes and with beads draped on his hands, led the congregation in prayer:

"I am the link in Lord Buddha's golden chain of love that stretches around the world. I will try to be kind and gentle to every living thing. I will try to think pure and beautiful thoughts, to say pure and beautiful words, to do pure and beautiful deeds."

Dr. Peale Reflects on World's Fair

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

What nice folks they are, these European people. For several days now, I have tramped the roadways of the Brussels World's Fair with massed thousands of them. I like these people.

The architecture, of course, is modernistic. The profuse fountains, with ever changing lights, are fabulous. Packed Express-Expo trains weave through the crowds. Overhead the Tele-lifts clatter. Towering above everything is the vast Atomium. Here is the symbolism, the power and might, of the atomic age.

But through it all tramp the plain people of the world: farmers and small village folk, none too stylish, with rough hands, big shoes, big-eyes. Lots of Germans and Swiss, some French, many Dutch, innumerable Belgians, a few Americans. They look and wonder and maybe think, "what will the atomic age bring?" Who knows? But one thing is sure; the same old human problems will be theirs, the same old hopes and dreams. And perhaps the greatest dream of all—the dream of peace.

This crowd, it seems, has a world-wide interest. And presently one begins to realize that Russia and America are only two countries in a world community. This, incidentally, may be a concept of some significance.

You walk up a vast flight of steps to enter the Russian building. The interior is dominated by a huge statue of Lenin. A large picture of the Soviet founder addressing a crowd of revolutionaries covers the entrance wall. The place is filled with big machinery. Three automobiles are shown, the doors and hood of which are locked. It is widely rumored that no engines are beneath. Only one of the cars is currently in production.

We had some curious experiences in the Russian building. Mrs. Peale asked an attendant the price of a fur—and, incidentally, their best exhibit is of furs, although the styling, as in all garments, is inferior.

The big hit of the exhibit was the fashion show. Huge throngs watched models trip down the ramp over the big pool. A conservative but smart shirt-waist outfit with flouncy skirt drew the outfit drew the biggest hand.

"Does eating meat, particularly the internal organs of animals, load the system with uric acid? Is animal protein more harmful than vegetable protein?" (W.O.F.)

Answer — Animal protein is as wholesome and healthful as vegetable protein. The protein of milk, cheese, eggs and lean meat is "complete," that is, will support life and promote growth. The protein of beans, peas and gelatin is "incomplete." Some of the protein in wheat is "complete," some "incomplete."

There is no reason for excluding from the diet or restricting the intake of foods from which uric acid may be derived. The theory that "uric acid" caused "gout" or "rheumatism" was exploded when precise chemical analysis of the blood was introduced to diagnois many years ago. Case Records of a Psychologist:

Offers Clever Fund-Raising Idea

Rev. James Lafferty of the Church of God in Green Bay, Wisconsin, certainly has an enterprising Ladies Association. Many people will contribute more to churches than they are now offering, if you can inject some fun of suspense into the matter. So modernize your financial psychology.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case Y-396: Earlier this year I received a clever little poem.

It came to me from Green Bay, Wisconsin, and was signed by the Ladies Willing Worker Band of the Church of God, whose pastor is Rev. James R. Lafferty.

DR. CRANE

Here's the interesting poem:

"We're sending you this apron gay;

"Please do us a favor this very day.

"Send us a penny for each pound you weigh

"To help our church its debt to pay."

A small apron about the size of a man's hand was enclosed with the verse, as a souvenir.

I wish to commend this ingenious plan of injecting a fresh idea into the fund raising for churches.

Not all ideas are original in this world but if you can dress them up in a little different "package," then you increase both their eye-appeal and curiosity value.

DEAN WIGMORE'S PARTY

At our Northwestern University Law School, the students once held a big dance.

And the door charge was based on weight. The students had a scales available and each man had to have his girl weighed. He was to pay ½ cent per pound as their admission charge.

But if she refused to step on the scales, then he paid a standard charge of $1.

Our great Dean John H. Wigmore gallantly paid double for his charming wife, saying it wasn't necessary for her to stand on the scales for he deemed her worth twice as much as any fee they assessed him.

Many Young People's Societies of churches have likewise used this same weigh-in plan. It is a lot of fun, for it causes giggling and mild arguments, which break the social ice and help promote easy conversation.

NEW CHURCH PSYCHOLOGY

Maybe some churches might oppose the following idea, but it has worked very successfully on many occasions.

One Young People's Society needed to raise some money to finance a trip by several of its members to a summer church camp.

So it sold tickets to a church supper, and netted a small profit thereon, since much of the food had been donated by various mothers of the teenagers.

As a further means of adding a little additional income, the young folks had filled a hat with slips of paper each one of which bore a number from 1 to 50.

The hat was passed around and all who were willing to do so, were invited to pull out a number and then contribute the stated amount for the collection basket.

If you had picked a slip with 23 thereon, you paid 23 cents, but if you drew a three, you had to drop only 3 cents into the basket.

It added the zest of keeping folks in suspense. And many of the older members added extra money later, even though they drew low numbers like 5 cents or 7 cents.

But at the moment, they gleefully gloated over their good fortune and teased others who drew high numbers, like 49 or 50.

The way in which you "package" ideas for fund raising adds as much zest as salt does to food.

Many people will contribute more than at present if you can make the process fun. So I wish to praise the Church of God at Green Bay for thus streamlining its fund raising.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 4c stamped self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

'Fishermen, Paint Boats Brighter to Insure Safety'

Much has been said about the safety of fishermen and residents on Union Lake from the terror of speed boats. Much of it is true.

However, as a resident who doesn't own a fast boat and who isn't an avid fisherman, may I add a word of advice to fishermen? Many fishermen use row boats that are painted gray, some even gray-green. Then the occupants dress in drab colors, which make them blend in with the color of the lake, particularly in early evening.

The driver of a fast boat cannot see the row boat until very close, which may be the cause of many being swamped. It seems to me if a speedboat collides with a row boat so painted, the blame should face more on the row boat than the speed boat.

Hunters are cautioned to wear bright colors. Should not fishermen have some bright colors on their boats so they may be easily seen by motor boat drivers?

Japan Cheers Atom Ban; France Cool to Proposal

LONDON (AP) — The U.S. British offer to join Russia in a one-year halt of nuclear weapons tests while a test control system is negotiated evoked cheers from atom-bombed Japan, applause from Western Europe and deadpanned acknowledgement from Russia.

But France, believed to be pushing close to its first A-bomb test, was cool to the offer. The government indicated France would go ahead with a nuclear blast as soon as it was able.

The offer is being examined, Paris said, but France "will stick to its positions and to its program" until general agreement is reached on manufacture of new nuclear weapons and destruction of existing stocks. These two points were not covered in the offer.

Moscow radio and the Soviet news agency Tass carried President Eisenhower's offer without comment.

At the same time, Tass gave the Soviet government full credit for the agreement in Geneva Thursday that a system of detecting nuclear blasts is possible. This East-West agreement paved the way for the U.S.-British offer.

Moscow morning newspapers published factual stores on the announcement without commenting. Most observers in the Soviet capital predicted the Russian press would withhold its comment until tomorrow.

"The decision of the Geneva conference reflects the efforts undertaken by the Soviet Union on the question of the detection of atomic and hydrogen weapons tests," Tass said.

Japan's Premier Nobusuke Kishi hailed Eisenhower's announcement as a "step toward a quick international agreement against nuclear tests, which Japan has long desired."

Some British newspapers expressed relief at the Anglo-American offer. The laborite Daily Herald hailed it as "the greatest victory of hope for the human race since the H-bomb aws invented."

The independent Daily Express urged Britain to keep together her team of nuclear scientists, "if possible, to develop H-power for Britain's prosperity (and) if necessary, to resume nuclear weapons testing for Britain's defense."

Britain touched off a small balloon-borne H-bomb high over Christmas Island in the mid-Pacific yesterday and termed the test a success. The blast was part of a series scheduled long before the ban announcement.

OUTWARD TO THE STARS

(6)—Historic 'Beep'

By Don Oakley and Ralph Lane

In 1945, when the Allies overran the German rocket base at Peenemunde, they were amazed at the progress achieved. Fortunately for the world, Germany had been far behind in developing an atomic bomb. Some 100 V-2s were shipped to this country, along with much equipment and many of the German scientists.

For the space age, the period from 1945 on was one of intense research in many fields. One stirring achievement was the first contact with another heavenly body — radar was bounced off the Moon in 1946.

(1) In 1947 the first of a series of rocket planes, the Bell X-1, broke the sound barrier. Later, the X-2 and Douglas Skyrocket pushed the speed and altitude records higher, probing the limits of the atmosphere.

(2) In 1949 a WAC-Corporal rocket, attached to the nose of a captured V-2, attained a speed of 5,100 miles an hour and rose 252 miles. The first man-made object had briefly touched outer space.

(3) Best American-designed rocket was the Glenn L. Martin Company's Navy research vehicle, Viking. It was a direct forerunner of the complex and sophisticated Vanguard. Viking No. 11 set an altitude record for single stage rockets in 1954 — 158 miles.

(4) The ordinary man in the street remained unconcerned with the bewildering number of different types of rockets and speculations about interplanetary flight. Then a strange new object in outer space, picked up by tracking instruments like that shown above, brought a sudden awareness of the rapid approach of space travel. On October 4, 1957, the first Sputnik was launched. A tiny "beep-beep" with a Russian accent promised the day when man himself would venture into the limitless space surrounding his Earth.

Says Terrorist Unit Behind Bombings

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass) charged today that terrorists, operating as an organized unit, are behind a wave of 47 bombings in civil rights disputes.

"It appears that this defiance of law and order is part of an interstate conspiracy," Kennedy said in a speech prepared for the Senate.

He said:

"The bombings follow a discernable pattern, and they seem to be directed at those of our citizens who have expressed their constitutional right to free speech, freedom of assembly, freedom of religion, and freedom of vote."

Kennedy announced he was introducing a bill to let the FBI move in and investigate such attacks.

He said the Justice Department has been handicapped because, under existing law, it can't move in on such cases without first having some evidence of an interstate conspiracy.

Contestants Play for Keeps

Pleasant Parlor Games Creating TV Headaches

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK, (AP)—Take a simple, pleasant parlor game, like Ghost, put it on television with hundreds of dollars at stake, and the result is a major headache for the show's producers. Contestants start playing for keeps, not sport.

That is the situation currently confronting producers of the show "Top Dollar."

The game around which the show is built is old, familiar Ghost: the first player choses a letter with which to start a word and the other players add one letter at a time until a complete word of five or more letters is spelled out.

The object of the game is to have the word end with a letter supplied by an opponent.

Recently one Top Dollar contestant was finally defeated after winning more than $15,000 over an 11-week period. It had become obvious that Mrs. Rhode Montorsi, the big winner, had not only learned huge chunks of the dictionary but was playing Ghost with skill and a definite system.

The use of Q, X and Z had been banned as starting letters, and upon Mrs. Montorsi's departure from the show, so were M, N, J and H.

The producers found that if the first player knew both the contents of Webster's New World Dictionary and the system, it was possible to "control" the word so it would end with the opponent's letter in a two-man game.

For example, a skilled Ghost player might start with the letter J. The opponent might add the letter A. The first person would then call for an E. Thus, with JAE, the first player has eliminated all but one word found in the show's official dictionary: jaeger, a gull-like bird.

This rule change has not solved Top Dollar's game problem. Mrs. Alice Young who defeated Mrs. Montorsi and later walked out in the middle of the show in protest of the change in rules, insists that eliminating M, N, J and H as starting letters merely has passed control over to the person in second position.

"Of the 19 letters with which you can start the game," she told me, "only the letter S is not controllable from the second position when two are playing the game.

"The person who goes first cannot control any word now: the person who goes second can control any word except one which begins with S."

Defense Bill Signed by Ike

President Rips Congress for OKing $39.6 Billion, More Than He Wanted

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower, with a critical blast at Congress for giving him more than he wanted, has signed the $39,602,827,000 defense appropriation bill.

In a statement accompanying his signing of the measure yesterday, Eisenhower criticized Congress for:

1. Giving him more than one billion dollars above the amount he said he feels is necessary to maintain the nation's security.
2. Placing mandatory minimum strengths on the Army's reserve components.

Eisenhower said the mandatory floors for the reserve orces introduced rigidity into the defense structure and would make it hard to follow the flexible course recently approved by Congress in the Defense Reorganization Act.

"Moreoever," Eisenhower said, "such restrictions are wasteful of money and resources at a time when essential programs are placing mounting demands on both."

The bill provides money to maintain 2,580,000 uniformed regulars, 300,000 Army reserves and a National Guard averaging 400,000 men. In each instance, the levels topped those proposed by Eisenhower for this fiscal year ending next June 3. Eisenhower could impound money for manpower levels bigger than he wanted.

The Air Force will get $17,877,624,000, compared with a requested $17,652,854,000; the Army $8,992,859,000, compared with $8,953,535,000; the Navy and Marine Corps, $11,359,427,000, compared with $10,870,181,00 requested.

Confident Living

Giving Part of Earnings to God's Work a Blessing

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

"It's too bad," the man sitting next to me at the luncheon said, "that there isn't a simple formula for solving one's problems."

DR. PEALE

"Oh, but there is," I told him.

"Well, I'd like to have it. Please give it to me," he replied doubtfully.

I told him to take the menu in front of him, turn it over to the blank side and write down the formula. "Number one," I began, "pray twenty-five times a day."

He looked at me in surprise. "I'm not where I can pray twenty-five times a day."

"It's not so hard. You can use fragments of time to say quick prayers. It's not necessary to stop everything to offer formal prayers. Pray when you get out of bed in the morning. Say a prayer at breakfast. Before you leave for work, have a brief prayer with your wife and family. Then, on your way down the street have a little talk with God. On the bus you can sit there and pray. When you are going to write a letter, before you begin quietly think a sentence prayer that you may say the right thing. When you pick up the telephone, ask the Lord, under your breath, to help you say what's right. So go through the day with a series of such "flash" prayers. Add them up; and twenty-five times in the day you have prayed. Don't you think you can do that?"

"That's a new slant. Sounds sensible. I'll try it," the man said.

"Next," I continued, "every night before going to bed, read a chapter from the Bible." I suggested that he read beginning with Matthew, Mark, Luke and John; then some of St. Paul's Epistles; and then, one by one, the Psalms. A chapter a night does wonders in reconditioning your thinking, I told him, because as you get into bed your mind becomes quiet, and what you read then will sink in and work in your mind while you are asleep.

He had been telling me earlier about how much money he wanted to make and I asked him, "How much are you giving to your church now?"

"I gave a dollar the last time I was there."

"When was that?"

"Easter," he said, in embarrassment.

I told him he had been coasting along quite some time on that one dollar and explained to him about the Old Testament law of tithing. The Bible says, if you tithe, blessings flow into your life. And that means giving ten per cent of your income to God's work.

He asked with a grin whether it wouldn't be all right if he settled for five per cent. But I told him it would have to be ten and that, moreover, he would have to start going to his church as least three Sundays each month.

Well, he wrote all this down, folded up the menu and put it in his pocket. "Tough formula," he remarked, "but I need something. Life's slipping on me."

A year later I got a letter from him. He said that I had been right; what I had given him really worked. It was indeed a formula for solving all problems. "In fact," he wrote, "my problems no longer seem so difficult. I've got hold of new power, fresh insights."

He was particularly enthusiastic about the practice of praying twenty-five times a day and said it was the most wonderful thing that had ever come into his life. "I have come to believe," he wrote, "that God is actually with me. And, as for reading the Bible one chapter a day, I never knew before, Doctor, what wonderful answers to my problems I could find in its pages."

This man had discovered an old truth. He had learned that a person can, with the Lord's help solve all his own problems. And so, with the help of God, can you.

Mud-Hut Living Is Rich Experience for Area Pair

Mission Students Visit Mexican Jungles

Roger Carr and John Whaley, missionary sudents and members of Sunny Vale Chapel, have just returned from spending the past nine weeks on a camping-out trip to Mexico, where they visited the mission field and observed the missionary's life.

Leaving Pontiac on June 17, the boys originally had planned to go as far as Ecuador. But a stone from a passing truck broke the windshield of their car; a brand new tire blew out; the clutch plate and rear oil seal needed replacing; and a rock in the road broke the tailpipe causing hot exhaust gas to start a fire in the trunk.

The youths dug deep into their pockets to pay for repairs and watched their not-too-fat wallets grow steadily slimmer.

Both time and money slipping away, they crossed the border and arrived at the Wycliffe Bible Translaters' Headquarters in Mexico City.

A conference with the director of Mexican missions, convinced Roger and John that it would be wise to forego the Ecuador visit and spend the summer deep in the interior of Mexico.

Two days down the Pan American Highway brought the students to Ixtapa, a town in the state of Chiapas. A missionary Aviation Fellowship pilot flew them 100 miles back into the jungle to the Wycliffe Training Camp.

LIVE IN MUD HUT

A mud hut with thatched roof and dirt floor was Roger's and John's home for the next six weeks. Here they assisted with the building, clinical work and general maintenance of the camp.

Their summer activities included a visit to two tribes of fairly primitive Indians, the Lacandoan and Tzeltel.

Flying further into the jungle, the boys were met at the airstrip by a group of Christian Tzeltel Indians who led them two miles through the jungle to their village.

During the stay of a day, they had the privilege of speaking through an interpreter in the Indian church. The boys said the whole village was made up of believers except one family.

At the village of the Lacandoans, the boys were told missionaries had little results.

As a result of the trip, the students say they have been able to choose the phase of missionary work in which they would like to specialize.

In September, Roger Carr will attend Letourneau Technical Institute in Longview, Tex., to study for a career in missionary aviation.

John Whaly will enter Bob Jones University where he will study for linguistic work.

Be not overcome with evil, but overcome evil with good.

Whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap.

Seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness,; and all these things shall be added unto you.

International Bible Quiz Won by Crippled Israeli

By ERIC GOTTGETREU

JERUSALEM (AP)—A crippled, 30-year-old Jew whose family name means "The Wise Man" won the first international Bible quiz competition this week.

Amos Haham, a synagogue reader in a poor, Orthodox section of Jerusalem, defeated Bible experts from 14 other nations in answering questions about the Old Testament.

The official prize was a glass jar nearly 2,000 years old from a tomb at Beth Shearim, in the northern part of the Holy Land. The contest was sponsored by the Israeli Broadcasting Service and the committee for clebrations of the nation's 10th birthday.

The last question asked the three finalists from France, Brazil and Israel gave Haham some trouble. The question: Where in the Old Testament besides the five books of Moses is there mention of the Menorah, the seven-branched candelabra that is the Israeli state emblem?

"Kings, Chronicles, Zachariah, Ezekiel," Haham said, then paused. He shook his head and went on, "I think in connection with King Zedekiah — but I am not sure." The five judges headed by an Israeli Supreme Court justice marked him correct.

It was a moment of celebration all over Israel. An estimated 750,000 persons were listening by radio at the contest's ending after midnight. The crowd of more than 2,000 in the Hebrew University outdoor amphitheater where the finals were held included Israeli President Izhak Ben-Zvi and Premier David Ben-Gurion.

Ben-Gurion, a noted biblical scholar himself, told newsmen he perhaps could have answered 40 per cent of the questions, "but this is something that demands daily study in the style of Amos Haham."

Mostly self-taught, Haham has been an obscure employe of the Institute for the Blind. Since a childhood accident he has been partially paralyzed in the left side and he has a speech impediment.

When unofficial prizes began to flood in after he won the Israeli eliminations for the world contest, Ben-Gurion sent him to his own doctor. A trade union has promised him a two-room apartment in place of his tiny bare room.

The other two finalists were Mrs. Simone Dumont, a Protestant publisher of children's books in Paris, and Miss Irene Santos, a Seventh Day Adventist who teaches in a high school in Rio de Janeiro. Mrs. Myrtle Davis of Buford, Ga., a Baptist who represented the United States, tied for seventh place.

Advises Direction to Understand Bible

LAFAYETTE, Ind. — If you want to read the Bible intelligently don't start with the Bible, start with a book about it.

This is the advice of a man who has spent half a century studying and teaching the Bible. The Rev. Dr. Allen Wherli, professor of Old Testament studies at Eden Theological Seminary in Webster Grove, Mo.

Dr. Wehrli addressed a meeting of the United Church of Christ's National Conference on Christian Education at Purde University.

"The Bible was written 3,000 years ago," Mr. Wehrli said. "You couldn't understand any other book that was written 3,000 years ago without some explanation of it. You can't understand the Bible."

Rap Mixed Marriages

BERLIN, Germany (AP) — Germany's Lutheran bishops have issued a strong statement warning against marriages between Catholics and Protestants as an obstacle to their achieving full spiritual harmony and keeping faith with their beliefs. "People who marry members of a different confession," the statement said, "shoulder a heavy burden."

God hath not given us the spirit of fear but of power, and of love, and of a sound mind.

College Fashions Shown

"Fashions From Outer Space" were featured at the Mademoiselle Back-to-College Fashion Show sponsored by Pontiac Panhellenic Association Thursday evening in the auditorium of Central High School.

"Campusphere" fashions will be dominated by the long and lean silhouette this fall, the experts predicted. And the trapeze is also with us.

The collection showed everything from dorm lounging outfits — knickers and nightshirt robes — to campus coats — the classic boy coat (polo coat) is still the collegian favorite.

Color — very bright — was the accent everywhere. Shock orange, rocket red and zenith blue were seen in the new bulky knit sweaters and pleated skirts as well as in Bermuda shorts and slacks.

New this year for campus queens are tights of stretch nylon — they give the leggy look so much in vogue this season.

Other new styles shown in the collection were doublets (vest or jerkin) that reached the hipline, and fake furs with the real fur look.

The collection also showed how scholars could dress on pin money — including date dresses.

Dental Care for Beauty

The gal who's smart about beauty is the one who gives as much thought and care to her teeth as she does to her hair and makeup. For the fact is that a sickly smile can ruin the effects of the other two.

In her teens, a girl doesn't give much thought to her teeth unless she suddenly pops a lot of cavities. Then she starts taking care.

In her twenties, she is bound to have dental work and this is the point at which she is forced to face the fact that if she doesn't want to lose her teeth in her mid-years, she'd better take care of them.

Taking care of them means using dental floss as well as a toothbrush. Your dentist has probably told you this. Now is the time to heed his good advice.

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: My employer's daughter is going to be married soon and an invitation to the wedding and reception has been posted on the bulletin board for all the employees. We would like to know if it is necessary for each and everyone of us to formally acknowledge this invitation.

"I do not intend to go to the wedding or reception but feel it is only courteous to answer the invitation. There are others who feel that it is not necessary to acknowledge a "blanket" invitation. Your opinion on this will be much appreciated."

Answer: No it will not be necessary to answer the blanket invitation to the wedding, unless an answer is requested on the posted invitation.

"Dear Mrs. Post: I've been discussing the question of whether or not it is obligatory for a man to wear a hat to church in the summertime and we'd like to have your opinion about this. It is argued that since in Christian churches a man takes off his hat anyway upon entering church, that it should not be necessary for him to wear one."

Answer: In a city street on Sunday, he naturally should wear a hat. But in the country there is no need for his wearing one — unless it is a very windy day which would make his hair too untidy for church.

Mrs. B. E. French (left) of Bloomfield Hills and Mrs. Charles Livingston, also of Bloomfield, were on hand for the luncheon and bridge party.

Keeps Pants Wrinkle-Free

To give cotton pants — long or short — a really well pressed look without ironing, use two pants hangers.

Clip the waistband in one hanger, clip the other hanger onto the bottom of the legs, upside down. Hang the pants in the closet this way until you're ready to wear them.

The weight of that bottom hanger helps smooth out any wrinkles that might linger after washing and drying.

Dear Abby . . .

Better Fence This Boy In

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

ABBY

"DEAR ABBY: I have a 5-year-old son who keeps falling out of bed. He slept in a crib up until now and he can't get used to sleeping in a bed, so he falls out of bed and lands on his head. My husband says to put him back in his crib. My mother says to tie him down, but I am afraid he will strangle on the cord because he moves around a lot when he sleeps.

"My neighbor lady says a sleeping child will never hurt himself if he falls out of bed, even if he lands on his head, and he will learn fast from his own bumps and bruises. I'm all confused. Please tell me what to do."

ALL CONFUSED

DEAR ALL: Don't put a 5-year-old back in his crib and don't, for goodness sakes, tie him down. Put chairs around the open sides of this bed and pad the floor. He CAN hurt himself (and seriously) if he falls out of bed and lands on his head.

"DEAR ABBY: I am the second wife, having married a man whose first wife divorced him because she wanted another man. We are on good terms and his first wife and her husband live upstairs from us.

"When my husband brings me flowers or a plant or any kind of a gift, he brings her one just like it. I like the woman, but I get hurt when he does this. Even she told him it wasn't right but he does it anyway. We run into each other carrying the same purses and when it rains we are both in the same raincoats and the whole thing is getting on my nerves and I can't take any more. Have you any suggestions?"

HURT

DEAR HURT: If your husband brings you a gift and he has one just like it for Wife Number One, refuse to accept it. Then, he will know you mean business.

Slow Down

Keep Cosmetics Cool During Heat

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

In many areas an August sun is bearing down — causing discomfort and irritability. Here are some tips for keeping cool and well-groomed in a heat wave.

1. Try not to hurry. This heats us up.

2. Keep your cologne in the refrigerator. You will find it refreshing to dash this ice cold fragrance on the insides of your wrists and elbows, on your throat and temples. Many women also like to keep their lubricating cream in the refrigerator since it becomes very warm in hot weather.

2. Keep your lipstick in an air-cooled room, or if you do not have one, keep it in the refrigerator in sizzling weather. It is impossible to apply lipstick attractively if it is runny. It cakes if it is too cold. Let it set out of the refrigerator a while before using it.

COOL HANDS

3. Either wear your hair shorter during hot weather or adopt a hairdo which gets it off your neck and ears. This is not only more comfortable for you, but it looks more attractive because it looks cooler.

4. The hair sprays are a boom in the wilting season. They keep the hair well-groomed and add body to fine hair which falls flat in humid times.

5. Use one of the leg make-ups. Stockings are about the hottest item of clothing we wear.

6. Since we perspire much more in the summertime we should double the number of times we bathe daily. If your custom has been one bath, take two. Also apply deodorant twice a day instead of once. It takes unusual care to avoid perspiration odors. Wintertime routine is not enough.

Change your lingerie much more frequently, also your stockings. Nothing is more refreshing to a woman than a foot bath followed with bath power and clean stockings and a change of shoes.

7. Leave off the calorie-packed foods and eat less than you usually do. You need less food in hot weather.

8. Drink more fruit juice and water in order to make up for perspiration loss. Unless there is some medical reason for not doing so, use a little more salt in seasoning. You have more salt loss in torrid weather.

9. Take advantage of the informality of summertime by wearing comfortable clothing.

10. If you are in truly tropical weather and have no air-conditioning, wet your gown with alcohol and sleep under a fan. If sleeping under a fan gives you a cold or stiff muscles or joints, use the circulating type fan.

Luanne White Becomes Bride of Donald M. Scott

White gladioli and pink asters banked the altar of Immaculate Conception Church for the wedding Saturday morning of Luanne Audrey White and Donald Malcolm Scott. The Rev. John M. Fackler officiated at the Nuptial High Mass. The double-ring ceremony was performed before 400 guests.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Peter N. White of Three Rivers and Mr. and Mrs. Daniel M. Scott of East Rutgers street.

The bride wore an imported gown of Chantilly lace and silk organza over taffeta, featuring a Sabrina neckline accented with lace, iridescent sequins and seed pearls and an Empire bodice. The skirt formed a chapel train.

A matching queen's crown of lace, embroidered in sequins and seed pearls, held her fingertip veil of pure silk imported English illusion. She carried a cascade bouquet of gardenias and stephanotis with ivy.

Mrs. Anthony Montagano of Elkhart, Ind., was matron of honor with the bride's cousin, Joyce Kowal, and the bridegroom's sister, Eileen Scott, as bridesmaids. They wore identical ballerina-length dresses of white chiffon with cummerbunds of pale and dark pink. Their pink hats were formed of leaves outlined with pearls and they carried ballerina bouquets of pink and white asters.

Linda Clausen was flower girl.

Patrick Scott, the bridegroom's brother, was best man. Ushers were Richard Bunce and Daniel Scott, another of the bridegroom's brothers.

Mrs. White selected a dress of Wedgewood blue Alencon lace over taffeta, with matching accessories, and she wore a white orchid corsage. Mrs. Scott wore a dress of beige silk over taffeta. Her corsage was of pale pink roses and ivy.

Spadea's american designer pattern

Toni Owen 1352

No fashion curriculum will be complete this fall without at least one split level suit that is very much of a current event. Toni Owen's version gets an A plus for its cleverly designed skirt.

Toni calls it scissored pleated which translated means overlapping panels with shaped inverted box pleats in between. The hem may be a little higher than the ones to which you are accustomed, but everyone is wearing them shorter and finding it a younger look. The unlined jacket has dolman sleeves that are so easy to wear and to fit, and a collared neckline set low and away to make the most of your face.

Choose a suiting cotton, tweed, flannel, mohair or one of the new mixtures of yarns that are called "transition fabrics." From this size chart select the one size best for you.

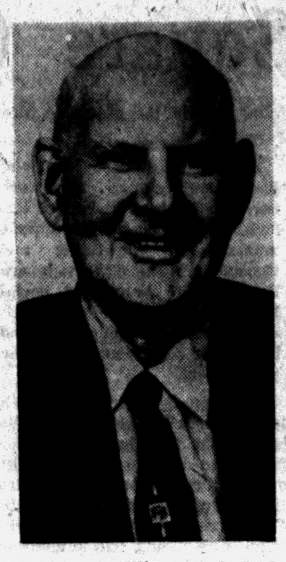

Sizes	Bust	Waist	Hips Inches	From Length Nape of Neck-to Waist
8	33	23	34	16¼
10	34	24	35	16½
12	35	25	36	16¾
14	36½	26½	37½	17
16	38	28	39	17¼
18	40	30	41	17½

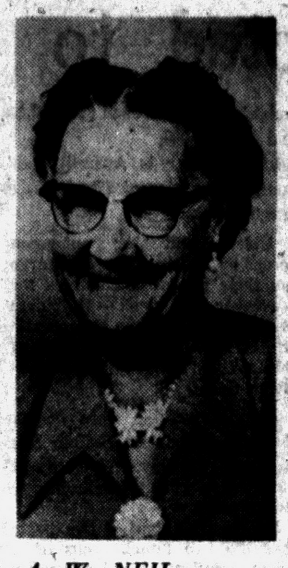

Size 12 requires 3⅞ yards of 54 inch material for two piece dress.

To order Pattern No. 1352, state size, send $1.00—for TONI OWEN label, send 25 cents. For new 96 page Pattern Book No. 15, with many chemises, send $1.00.

Address SPADEA, Box 535, G.P.O., Dept. P-6, New York 1, N. Y. If paid by check, bank requires 4 cents handling charge.

Millionaires Expected to Square Off Over New York Governorship

By CLAIRE COX

NEW YORK (UPI)—An historic political battle of the millionaires is shaping up in New York State.

In one corner is financial heavyweight Nelson A. Rockefeller, weighing in at between $100,000,000 and $200,000,000.

In the other is Averell Harriman, registereing at $75,000,000 to $100,000,000.

Unless something unforseen crops up, they are due to emerge as their parties' candidates for governor next week — Harriman for re-election on the Democratic ticket and Rockefeller making his political debut on the Republican ticket.

The Democratic state convention will be held in Buffalo Monday and Tuesday. The Republicans will meet at the same time in Rochester.

By Tuesday night, it is expected that the two famous sons of famous families will be squaring away for an all-out battle for votes in November.

Harriman and Rockefeller stand on opposite sides of the political fence—and they have spent much of their lives on opposite sides of the Hudson River. The great Harriman estate is on the west shore of the Hudson, not far from Tuxedo Park. The vast acres developed by the late John D. Rockefeller are on the east side, near Tarrytown.

But the early backgrounds of the two were similar. Both were born to wealth and inherited tremendous fortunes — Harriman's amassed in railroading and Rockefeller's in oil. Both are listed in the New York Social Register. Both have well-developed senses of public duty and have worked tirelessly for the government.

Harriman is older than Rockefeller. He is 66, while Rockefeller is 50. But they have been on a first-name basis since they first met in the Roosevelt administration, when Harriman worked in the Commerce Department and Rockefeller was laying the groundwork for the Office of Inter-American Affairs.

Rockefeller was regarded as a boy wonder of international affairs for his work for President Roosevelt. Harriman got off to a comparatively late start, after switching from the Republican to the Democratic party.

Middle-aged Harriman had a long business career before he entered government. He started by running the Union Pacific Railroad, founded by his father, E. H. Harriman. He also established his own private bank and went into the shipping and airline businesses.

At 37, Harriman became an 8-goal polo player, at 45 he started skiing, and at 50, he turned diplomat, and at 62 he ran for his first political office, governor of New York. He has been secretary of commerce, ambassador to Great Britain and Russia and an international troubleshooter for two presidents.

After he left college, Rockefeller went to work in the "family" bank, then the Chase National. Then he helped run Rockefeller Center when it was built it the 1930s. After that, his time went more and more to government service which has included undersecretary of health, education and welfare and special assistant to President Eisenhower.

Rockefeller never has taken a cent for his government work. Harriman accepts his $50,000 annual salary as governor of New York, however. He figures that he is still a working man, even if he is rich.

Despite their families' great wealth, there were aspects of both men's upbringing that were austere. Both were given rigid religious training. Both scraped their way through college on severely restricted allowances—Rockefeller at Dartmouth, where he was a Phi Beta Kappa, and Harriman at Yale.

Neither man dresses like a million dollars. Harriman seldom wears a hat. Rockefeller's clothes are likely to appear to be in need of a good pressing.

Either one is satisfied to eat a quick sandwich at his desk if he is busy. Harriman has been known to content himself with a handful of peanuts for his midday meal.

The Rockefeller and Harriman names have been linked not only in government work in Washington, but in philanthropy. The Harrimans and the Rockefellers both have given extensive land holdings to the Ualisade Interstate Park that runs along the Palisades on the west shore of the Hudson.

Harriman gave his father's 100-room mansion, Arden House, to Columbia University for special conferences when Dwight D. Eisenhower was president of the school. The Rockefellers have launched a Tarrytown project to buy and preserve early American landmarks for the public.

Both Harriman and Rockefeller have strong views on the responsibilities of wealth.

"It is the duty of everyone, rich or poor, to work," Harriman has said.

Rockefeller has equally definite views.

"We have the responsibility," he says, "to participate to the extent that we can in local, state and national affairs. It's as simple as that."

27,200 Draw SS Benefits

Payments in Oakland $20,483,676 in Year, District Office Reports

Old-age, survivors, and disability insurance benefits are being paid to 27,200 Oakland County residents at the rate of $20,483,676 a year, William E. LaRock, manager of the Pontiac district office of the Social Security Administration, announced today.

In the last year for which figures were available, the amount increased about 25 per cent, LaRock said.

The average payment to a retired worker in Oakland County is $76.80, which is $12.22 higher than the national average and $5.72 higher than the Michigan average.

More than 476,000 Michigan residents are now receiving benefits at the rate of over $339 million a year.

LaRock pointed out that while social security payments are intended primarily to provide a basis for economic security for individuals, the substantial amounts now being paid have a definite leveling effect on business cycles, since the benefits are mostly spent immediately on consumer goods.

LaRock said that each month 13,400 retired workers receive $1,029,076 in benefit payments, according to the latest available figures. About 4,600 wives and dependent husbands receive $187,788, 3,388 widows and widowers receive $192,102, and $210,198 is paid for 4,452 children in the county. In addition, 938 widowed mothers receive $54,750 a month, 382 disabled workers receive $30,795, and 38 dependent parents are paid $2,264.

Change Some Bus Routes to Secondary Schools Here

Although no changes will be made in the bus routes for elementary schools in Pontiac, there are some in the secondary schools, Dr. Dana P. Whitmer, superintendent, announced today.

Students who attend Washington Junior High School from the Middlebelt-Square Lake roads are to be transported by bus No. 39 which replaces No. 5. The time scheduled has also been changed to fifteen minutes sooner and the first stop will be at St. Joseph and Chata streets at 7:35 a.m.

Eastern Junior High School students living in the Doris road area will take bus No. 27 instead of 28. The time will remain the same as last year.

Dixie Highway area pupils who will attend Pontiac Central High School will use bus No. 29 which replaces No. 5. The time will remain the same as last year here also.

New runs will be required this year due to the opening of Pontiac Northern High School, according to Whitmer.

Pupils from the Dixie Highway area will be transported by bus No. 28 and the first pick up will be at Silver Lake road and Dixie at 7:25 a.m.

This bus will then travel down Dixie and stop at last year's corners, turn around at Scott Lake road and pick up at regular stops as they return.

The last stop will be made opposite Silver Lake road at approximately 7:35 a.m.

Students who will attend Northern and live in the Lake Angelus area will be transported by bus No. 28 which will stop at previously established pick up areas until a regular route is established.

The first stop on this route will be at Collier road and Baldwin avenue at 7:45 a.m. Bus No. 28 will then travel out Baldwin avenue to Alberta drive, left on Alberta to Lake Angelus road, then to Baldwin avenue and finally the new high school.

Students living in the Brown, Bald Mountain and Squirrel roads vicinity will be transported to Northern by the same buses operating in this area and the same time scheduled in use when school closed in June will be in effect.

For further information call FEderal 2-4210, the Pontiac Board of Education Transportation Dept.

Cook or Crook? Limp Gives Pandy Away

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Police discovered Tom Pandy's limp was caused by a lump — of money in his shoe.

They noticed that Pandy, 67, appeared straight and chipper each morning.

But as the day wore on, he limped — more and more.

Yesterday afternoon, two policemen asked Pandy to bare his feet.

They found about $50 in bills and coins in his socks.

Charged with making book on horse races, Pandy pleaded:

"I'm a cook. I only make book for my friends."

Do-It-Yourself Owners to Dedicate Homes

OGDEN, Utah (AP) — Proud citizens and federal officials gather here today to dedicate Washington Terrace, a unique do-it-yourself project for home owners.

Built as a World War II housing project, the 1,400 homes were sold to the occupants in 1950 after the tenants banded together to form a corporation.

Homes were remodeled, some were added and others moved, all under Utah's first federal urban renewal program. The corporation formed by the tenants is wholly free of debt and residents of Washington Terrace could turn it into Utah's sixth largest city if they choose to incorporate.

Hollywood Headlines

Jack Linkletter Making TV Splurge on His Own

By BOB THOMAS
AP Motion Picture Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—If there's a busier 20-year-old in the country this summer than Jack Linkletter, I'd be surprised.

Jack is the earnest young sprig of that celebrated author, financier and man-about-TV, Art Linkletter. Jack is making a splurge on his own this summer, heading up the improbably named quiz show Haggis Baggis.

Plus which, Papa Art went fishing in the New Mexico wilds and Jack ventured here from New York to take over a week of the daytime House Party show.

The Haggis Baggis show has been renewed for the fall. Jack will do it from Hollywood then, meanwhile finishing up his last year at the University of Southern California. All this, and he's married and expecting a family addition in November.

Unlike some scions of famous stars, Jack is a realistic fellow who knows where he's going.

"I like the emcee business and I want to stay with it," he remarked. "It's stimulating work, and I think I'm getting good training for it. I had my own radio show at 15. I've appeared on the House Party once a week and taken over for Dad when he goes on vacation.

"This summer I had the amazing fortune to have my choice of five different shows. The reason was that quiz shows flooded the networks, and emcees were in demand.

"I'm happy for the opportunity, but I think it's a mistake to put so many quiz shows on in the summer. All the new ones are sustaining, and that creates a problem. Without a sponsor, you have to promote merchandise to give away to contestants. That means you've got to give a one-minute plug for each item, and your show gets cluttered up.

"But there's one good thing about the flood of quiz shows: at least they're live. The rest of the network time is filled with reruns."

Jack has had the benefit of his father's 25-year experience in the emcee dodge. Ever since Jack started in the business, Art has been giving the lad critiques on his performance.

Collector's Rare Pennies ($40 Worth) Fly Away

DALAS, Tex. (AP) — Attorney Ben Henderson, a coin collector, came in possession of four rare pennies valued at $40. He rubbed them with olive oil and placed them on a window sill so the sun would turn all of them the same color.

A few minutes later he saw pigeons flying away with them.

Rev. Walker to Replace Rev. Walker on Pulpit

GREENVILLE, Ala. (AP) — Greenville's First Christian Church will change ministers after Sunday's services.

The Rev. Paul Walker, a native of Arcadia, Tex., will succeed the Rev. Paul Walker, who was born in Falkville, Ala.

Skunk Gassed to Death

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—When policeman H. D. Bayless was called out to remove a skunk plaguing a local housewife, the kitty took refuge in a garage. Bayless backed his scout car into the garage, left the motor running, closed the door and sat down to wait. The skunk keeled over quickly.

Ryukyus to Adopt U. S. Greenbacks

NAHA, Okinawa (AP)—Lt. Gen. Donald P. Booth, U.S. high commissioner of the Ryukyu Islands, announced today that American greenbacks will become the official currency in the Ryukyus.

No specific date was given in the announcement but it was understood that the change will be soon.

Booth said initial steps already have been taken to retire the B yen, a special blocked yen which has served as Ryukyuan currency since the end of World War II. One U.S. dollar is worth 120 B yen.

Last April 11 military payment certificates were replaced by greenbacks as the medium of exchange for U.S. military personnel on Okinawa. MPC were distinctive military money bills which could be spent only in post exchange and military installations.

Okinawans have been cautioned of the possibility of using greenbacks. One newspaper warned it might "drain the island of dollar resources and allow wealthy foreign competition to compete unfairly with local merchants." Booth said the change would be beneficial, however. Some Americans thought the change was bound to stimulate trade.

Sleep Illness Becoming Epidemic in Far East

TOKYO (AP) — Deadly encephalities — sleeping sickness — is reaching epidemic proportions in Japan and South Korea. Health agencies report 202 dead and 1,128 ill, mostly in Korea where only 24 of the known cases recovered.

So far no Americans have been reported affected. U.S. military medical authorities have warned all Americans not to expose themselves to mosquitos, which are believed to spread the virus.

About one-third of the world's land area was once covered by forests.

'My Fair Lady' Chorus Girl a Hit Filling Lead Role

LONDON (AP) — A $70-a-week chorus girl in the hit musical "My Fair Lady" won rave notices today for her stand-in performance in the show's feminine lead role.

Tonia Lee, 24, stepped in for star Julie Andrews with six hours' notice yesterday when Miss Andrews was stricken with tonsillitis.

Miss Lee, who had never rehearsed lines with star Rex Harrison, played the role of the cockney heroine, Eliza Doolittle, without a hitch.

Newspapers hailed her performance as a "triumph," "wonderful," "an achievement." The audience got her out for five curtain calls, and Harrison said: "You were wonderful. We never had a moment's worry."

Miss Lee commented: "I had whole families of butterflies in my tummy. . . ."

Seek to Revise Teamster Rules

Monitors Propose New Set of Regulations for Local Elections

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new set of rules for the election of local officers of the scandal-scarred Teamsters Union has been recommended by the union's court-appointed monitors.

Among other things, the regulations proposed yesterday would make ineligible for office any union member convicted of a serious crime until a year after his right to vote in state elections had been restored.

Another provision would deny candidates for union office the use of union funds or facilities except on terms of complete equality with other candidates. A spokesman said this was intended to prevent incumbent officers from taking advantage of their local staffs and treasuries.

The monitors advised James R. Hoffa, international president of the union, to publish the rules by Aug. 27 and locals to adopt them by Sept. 15. If Hoffa ignored the recommendations, the monitors would go into federal court and apply for an enforcement order.

The recommendations were approved by Monitors Martin O'Donoghue and Godfrey Schmidt.

L. N. D. Wells, a Teamster lawyer and the third monitor, dissented, calling some of the proposals ill-advised, cumbersome and unworkable. He argued the monitors have no power to amend the union's constitution, even on a temporary basis.

The monitors, with Wells again dissenting, also recommended the expulsion of Glenn W. Smith, president, and H. L. Boling, secretary-treasurer of Chattanooga Local 515 of the Teamsters.

Smith and Boling were alleged to have been involved in an attempt to fix a criminal case in Tennessee.

It's Hot in South but Chill Nips Other Sections

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

An autumn-like chill nipped a broad stretch of the country from the northern Plains to New England today while the South basked in hot and mostly humid weather.

Thundershowers dampened scattered sections of the midcontinent and the Deep South.

Temperatures in the 50s and 60s were common from Kansas and Virginia northward, with a few 40-degree readings in the northern Great Lakes region.

Across the Southland, temperatures ranged from the 90 and 100-degree levels in the desert Southwest to the 80s eastward to the Atlantic Coast.

Readings in the 70s were general along coastal sections of the far West, and the forecast indicated another day of 90-degree temperatures for the Pacific Northwest.

There were widespread but light showers over the Rockies and central Plains. Scattered thundershowers across the Mississippi Valley and light drizzle along coastal sections of the Pacific Northwest completed the rain pattern.

The damp picture in the upper Mississippi Valley was expected to spread into the western Great Lakes and the mid-Mississippi Valley during the day. Scattered thundershowers also were on tap for the Rockies and in the Southern tier of states from Arizona eastward to the Atlantic.

Behind Those Jeans Are a Couple of Stars

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — A uniformed chauffeur called for "Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence" at their East Side apartment the other day—but was quite disappointed as he led the couple to his long limousine.

WILSON

"You ARE Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence?" he asked, skeptically.

Wearing well-scuffed rehearsal clothes and looking like a couple of teenagers, Steve Lawrence and Eydie Gorme insisted that they were.

The chauffeur shrugged and grunted but his manner seemed to say, "How DARE you ride like that in MY limousine?"

That, at least, is the way Steve and Eydie tell it. Married last Dec. 29 in Beldon Katelman's cottage in Las Vegas, at a ceremony distinguished by the attendance of Comedian Joe E. Lewis in Chinese pajamas and a yamalka, they're now substituting on TV for the guy who brought them together—Steve Allen.

EYDIE & STEVE

"Steve and I felt," Eydie said at rehearsal the other afternoon, "that we could do a much better show in the Brooklyn studio."

"We were taking cabs out there," Steve said, "till Eydie kissed the sponsor's product on camera—"

"And they've been sending limousines since!" Eydie said. "We go out in jeans and slacks and that's what bugs the chauffeur."

"Do you have many beefs, a husband-and-wife working together?" I asked them.

"It's better this way," Eydie said. "When we're not working together we're at opposite ends of the country." Steve nodded. "When we'd been married about 10 days, I had to go to Havana to work."

NBC would like them to continue on TV together after finishing Steve's stint.

"But we don't know," Steve said. "We've been compiling a secret list of people we'd like to work with. But everybody we want will probably be with somebody else. We might possibly wait—"

Anyway, the marriage is winging along beautifully—and will doubtless outlive the memory of Joe E. Lewis arriving in such unconventional wedding attire.

THE WEEKEND WINDUP . . .

At a dinner party for Liz Taylor (reports Army Archard) Arthur Loew Jr. called for attention and asked Liz dramatically, "Shall I tell them, or will you?" He then announced: "Dinner is served!" . . . Roxanne (The Wiggle) Arlen and comic Joe E. Ross, linked romantically in the columns, just met for the first time. (She said, "We might as well go out together since they had us almost engaged!"

School 'Hush Hush' as Slippers Worn

KILLYCOMAINE, N. Ireland — To protect the children's health and save the costly floor of the gymnasium, the 300 boys and girls of the secondary school at Killycomaine, Northern Ireland, now take off their shoes when they enter the new school.

They slip into cozy slippers, mostly soft-soled sandals, and the school is surprisingly quiet. David Riley, principal, says: "There is no compulsion about it, but all the parents seem to be in favor of the idea."

Some pupils arrive with cold, wet feet after trudging from nearby farms, it is explained, and anyway the gymnasium is to be used as assembly hall and dining room and should be protected.

Communists Offering Relief to South Koreans

TOKYO (AP) — Communist North Korea has offered relief goods to South Korean unemployed and orphans, Pyongyang radio said today.

The broadcast said North Korea offered rice, cloth, maritime products and footwear.

South Korea refuses to recognize the Red regime in North Korea and was not considered likely to accept the offer.

Time Stops, Goes Back

STOCKPORT, England (UPI) — Time stood still for a brief moment yesterday, then the hours rolled back. Jarred by a thunder clap, the electric clock in a house here stopped for a moment. Then the hands swept inexorably backward.

Told Alcoholics in Russia Given 'Shock Cure'

MOSCOW—A method of curing alcoholics by making them anxious has been used successfully in Russia physicians visiting Moscow have been told.

Psychologists think it might be worth trying as a "cure" for certain types of criminals. To bring about a feeling of anxiety, severe electric shocks are used. The alcoholic can be made to associate the sight, smell and taste of liquor with feelings of extreme anxiety—by continually giving him severe shocks in association with liquor.

Eventually a direct connection is established in his mind between the liquor and the anxiety reaction. In the same way, some doctors believe, a thief, for instance, might be "cured." Once a thief can be made to feel guilty about stealing, the way to a cure is opened, they say.

Ann Miller and Oilman Sail Off on Honeymoon

LA JOLLA, Calif. (AP)—Dancer actress Ann Miller and Texas oilman Bill Moss are honeymooning aboard a yacht today.

They were married last night in the La Jolla Union Congregational Church before 100 guests.

Miss Miller, 35, formerly was married to investment broker Reese Milner. They were divorced in 1947. Moss was divorced in 1955 from actress Jane Withers.

Strike Brings Grain to Halt

Elevator Workers Shut Arteries, Putting Crops in Danger of Spoiling

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — The strike of elevator workers that has shut down grain-handling plants here and at the major terminals on Lake Superior "means multi-million dollar losses to the farmer and shippers," the Minneapolis Grain Commission Merchants Assn. said in a special advisory last night.

"This action by the labor chiefs to shut off vital arteries of grain movement results in as large a loss as possible to farmers and shippers because of the harvest pressure that now exists."

A complete embargo on grain shipments was established by railroads serving Duluth, Minn., and Superior, Wis., where 2,300 loaded cars already were at the docks.

Another 2,000 awaited unloading in Minneapolis when the American Federation of Grain Millers pulled some 300 members of Local 182 off their grain-handling jobs in support of wage demands.

With country elevators bulging from record harvest, there was no place farmers could take their grain. Combine crews still were ranging fields in the vast Minnesota-Dakota wheat country, and commission men said growers probably would have to dump the grain on the ground and take a chance on the elements unless the walkout is ended soon.

Shipping activity was reported halted at Bismarck, N.D., where local storage is filled beyond 90 per cent capacity. The situation was blamed for a three-cent drop in wheat prices.

Union spokesmen said hourly pay boosts of from 15 to 22 cents are sought against a management offer of 10 cents. Grain shovelers, largest group in the local, now get $2.18 per hour.

Charles A. Lavalley and James Beach, federal conciliators, said they hoped to meet today with union and management representatives in an effort to reach a settlement.

No talks were scheduled in Minneapolis, where negotiations broke down earlier this week.

Golf Clubs Shudder at Invading Women

LONDON — Old golfing die-hards in Britain to whom their club once was an oasis of escape from womenfold, now are facing sad economic facts.

Grudgingly, they have had to admit women players. Now they may have to admit the rest of the family. Many clubs are running at a loss. Shall they expand on the lines of an American country club, with swimming pool and dance floor to attract the younger fold, or will they cut their coat according to the cloth — and economize?

Most British clubs, except municipals or those for artisans, are accustomed to ever-growing standards of comfort. But now they find they cannot afford the dining room, shower room, games room, or even the library, unless they get a "swinging increase" in subscriptions.

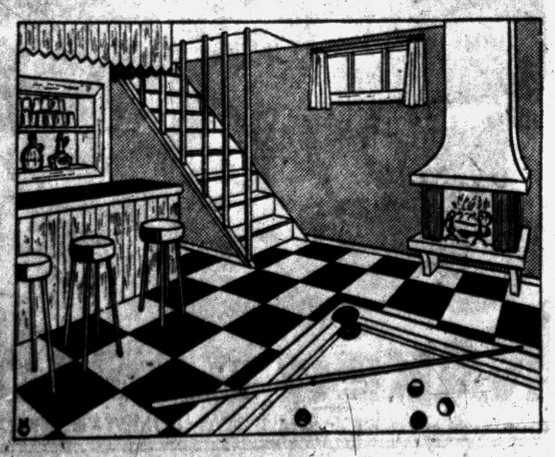

Poacher Misses by a Tail

VARALLO SESIA, Italy (UPI)—Marco Marsiglio, 35, missed by a tail in trying to devour the evidence when approached by a fish warden. Warden Anselmo Bertoli grabbed the tail of a 12-inch one-pound trout Marsiglio was trying to swallow and charged him with fishing out of season.

Pontiac Press Photos by Tom Gorie

COOL LOOKING HOUSE — Even the exterior of the George Olson home in Elizabeth Lake Estates looks cool. The siding is aluminum, painted gray. Trim is aqua. The Olsons designed their home and had Don Frerick construct it. They did the finishing work inside. Mr. Olson also put on the aluminum siding.

background for LIVING

PENINSULA SINK — In the counter which separates kitchen and dining room Mrs. Olson has her sink. Floor and walls in the two rooms are the same. Walls are pink, the floor pink and gray. Woodwork, and cupboards are natural finished birch. Counter tops are pink Formica. The wall behind the stove and the soffit are papered in aqua and gold.

UNUSUAL DIVIDER — On top of the planter there are brass poles stretching between ceiling and the top of the half wall. These hold birch louvers which move freely, allowing the passage of light and air. When closed, they make a solid "wall." The center section is a framed shelf which holds a handsome vase. Mr. Olson designed and built this dividing wall.

Your Neighbor's House

George Olson Home Custom Designed

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

The day was simmering hot. The gray house with its aqua trim actually looked cool on the outside. Inside, the promise was fulfilled: it was a cool house — air-cooled. This air conditioning is but one of the features the George Olsons incorporated in their house plan.

The Olson house, story and a half structure, is set on a corner lot in Elizabeth Lake Estates. It's about a year old now. The Olsons were Estates residents prior to the time they built their new house, living on Exmoore.

In addition to George and his wife, Nellie, there is seven-year-old Barbara and the family's black French Poodle, Peppy. Peppy had to supervise all our comings and goings. Barbara's cousin, Diana Dietrich, was also present.

In addition to planning the house, the Olsons did all the interior finish work, including the pickled birch woodwork. They still have the basement recreation room to complete. Don Frerick of Pontiac was the builder.

LOUVERED DIVIDER

The divider wall between vestibule and living room is interesting. Designed and built by Mr. Olson, it consists of a half wall with a planter top. Between planter and ceiling there are movable louvers mounted on brass poles. These may be turned in any direction or closed to make a solid "wall." In the center is a framed shelf.

The living room is carpeted in beige tweed. Walls are sandalwood; the ceiling is white. This almost square room has two picture windows, one at the side, the other on the front. Draperies are beige with a brocaded design.

A modern tweed-covered sofa is set against the back wall. On either side are twin blonde lamp tables with wrought iron lamps. Two wine colored armless chairs make a second seating area on the side wall. In the corner between the windows there's a green lounge chair with matching ottoman. A number of TV tables set around the room have butterfly decorated tops.

The dining rom has a pink and gray vinyl tile floor. This is arranged in a step design and continues on into the adjoining kitchen. Walls are pink. Curtains are aqua with pink, black and deeper aqua figures. All window sills are marble.

In the wall next to the vestibule there are built-in shelves. The table is blonde. Chairs have rose seats and beige backs.

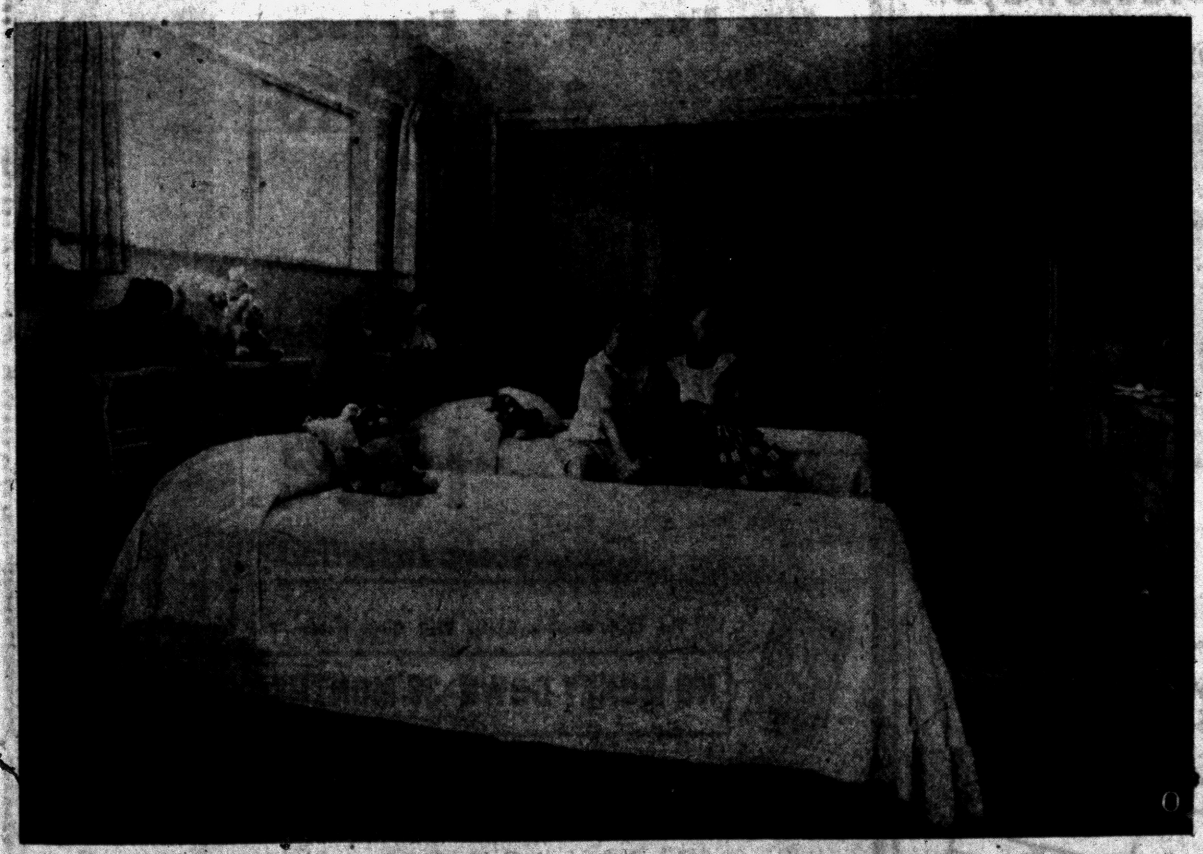

The sink is placed in the counter separating dining room and kitchen. Above are cupboards opening on both sides. There are also drawers on the dining room side of the base cabinet.

Counter tops are pink Formica. The cupboards themselves are natural birch.

Behind the stove and on the soffit there is aqua and gold paper. The curtains are similar in color to those in the dining room.

Behind the kitchen is the utility room. This room is painted pale yellow. The floor is corktone tile. In addition to the usual appliances, Mrs. Olson keeps her freezer and her sewing machine

AQUA ROOM — Barbara's room is aqua and gray. The walls and trim on the curtains are aqua. Carpeting and bedspreads are gray. Barbara and her cousin, Diana Dietrick of Watkins Lake, keep tight hold on Peppy, the poodle. The end of the room from which this picture was taken is full of every imaginable toy a little girl could desire. Some of Barbara's stuffed animal collection can be seen on the two beds.

There will be a pickup in home building in the U.S. in 1958, says H. V. Simpson, executive head of the West Coast Lumberman's Association. Don't let a clogged filter rob your gas-fired forced warm air heating system of the efficiency it was made to produce, reminds the Gas Appliance Manufacturers Association. Changing filters often enough, and keeping register and grill faces clean insure good performance.

Keep Tile Scuff Proof

Asphalt tile is waterproof, durable, greaseproof, and termite-proof, but unless it receives proper protection, the surface will not be scuff proof or childproof. Constant protection with wax is most important and the only type of floor wax that should ever be used on asphalt tile is a self-polishing kind such as vinyl floor wax. This new wax is easy to apply and is highly water repellent and scuff resistant.

You can prevent damage to the exterior paint on your house by installing a ventilating fan in the kitchen and laundry room.

in this room. She has ample cupboard space here.

There's a lavatory off the back hall, near the door to the garage. The house has a full basement.

HDDEN TV

In the den the floor is carpeted like the living room. Walls are lettuce green. Draperies are beige and aqua. One wall contains a big sliding door closet. The television set has been put into one side so that it is easily accessible or just as easily shut off from view. Furniture consists of a brown and beige swivel arm chair and a yellow leather sofa.

Stairs to the bedrooms go up from the kitchen. They are carpeted in gray tweed. Light is let in on the stairs through a set of open shelves.

Bathroom at the head of the stairs is beige and green. Tile and counter tops are beige; the walls are green except for one wall papered in beige. Curtain material matches the wallpaper.

The Olsons' bedroom has gray tweed carpeting like that on the stairs. Walls are soft green. There are windows at one end of the room and at each side of the bed. Curtains which are green with a bit of gold in the leafy design go all the way across the wall behind the bed.

Beige quilted spreads cover the twin beds which have a common headboard. This is the bookcase type with sliding door cabinets at each end. Twin chests are wheat finished birch.

The closet is the depth of the room and has two mirrored doors. She has the bigger side of course, with shelves and two hanging spaces. But he has a walk-in section also. It's a dream closet.

Barbara's room is the same size with a sliding door closet. She has blonde twin beds and a blonde dresser with brass pulls. Her spreads are gray, as are the curtains. Aqua fringe trims the latter. The walls are bright aqua.

Watch Out for the Boom

Housing experts contend that the huge war-baby crop of the forties will set off a chain reaction in the sixties when it reaches the home-buying stage.

To determine just how extensive that reaction can be, statisticians have figured out what 100,000 housing starts means to related industries.

Every 100,000 starts could mean 120 million asphalt shingles, 470 million bricks, 10 million square feet of linoleum, 450 million feet of gypsum board, 200,000 tons of steel and 300 million square feet of rock wool insulation.

Appliance manufacturers will get the call for 100,000 refrigerators, 32,000 garbage disposal units, 7,000 air conditioners, 127,000 bathtubs, 20,000 home freezers and 55,000 kitchen exhaust fans.

The statisticians also figure that most of these materials and appliances will go into homes costing from $12,000 to $20,000.

Improvements in building techniques, greater use of economical but durable materials such as gypsum board, and faster tools such as power nailers will enable the home buyer of today and tomorrow to get more for his money, the building materials experts say.

One prominent New Jersey builder says that these improvements enable him to build for $8.50 a square foot whereas 10 years ago he was building at $10 a square foot.

Wax Improves Floor Beauty

Has your new flooring passed the wax test?

Most man-made flooring materials take waxing beautifully but it's still a good idea to be on the safe side and select a flooring which is best improved and most easily maintained with wax.

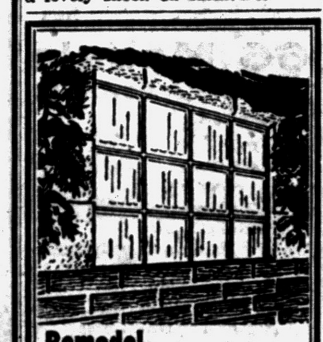

Experts in modern methods of housekeeping are agreed that waxing is the easiest of all methods of floor maintenance. Surveys have shown that today's homemakers are saving themselves hours of household chores with the use of wax maintenance for both floors and furniture.

Among the newest of the floorings that gain in beauty with an application of wax is a cork linoleum that looks remarkably like inlaid hardwood parquet. There are two patterns available, one in blonde wood and the other in light mahogany.

The vinyls also take wax beautifully, the wax not only improving their appearance but also serving as a protective coating. And, of course, there is nothing like wax to develop the mellow and much-to-be-desired patina on a wood floor. Many homemakers, who take pride in the beauty of their floors, are treating their wood floors merely with a light stain and then with regular applications of wax to develop the appearance of old wood, so cherished by decorators and flooring experts.

Heat Pump Eliminates House Chimneys

Electricity lets him do it.

With the chimney gone and electricity at work, the architect also eliminates furnaces, radiators, flues, ducts, pipes, fuel storage areas, service charges and all the annoyances that accompany ordinary heating systems.

The electrical industry has developed a heat pump you can install in a closet, anywhere downstairs in the cellar, out in the garage, behind the barn, or in the utility room.

It's practically noiseless, causes no soot, and is as safe as your electric light bulb. The unit heats in winter and cools in the summer, uses only air as fuel. Set the thermostat for the temperature you want throughout the house or in any room. The heat pump does the rest.

HOW IT WORKS

When heat pumps came on the market a few years ago, they were quite large—designed mainly for industrial use. Thousands of factories installed them.

Electrical engineers now have brought them down in size and cost so they are ideal for the home. The electrical industry anticipates some 3,000,000 homes will be heated and air-conditioned by heat pumps before 1970. The newest heat pump measures less than two by two feet in size for indoor installation.

Heating by heat pump does away with worries of leaks in pipes, boilers or tanks. The rattling radiator is a thing of the past.

Actually, heating by electricity is simply conditioning of the air in your home. Your electric heat pump warms the air, or cools it. Whether it's warm or cool, the air is always fresh.

You have no yearly furnace-cleaning nor maintenance worries. There are no parts to break down and you need no replacements in your electric heat system.

Lighter Sliding Doors

To provide easy access to aluminum-screened patios or sun porches, several companies have introduced new lines of sliding glass doors. Framed in aluminum, such doors give a room the advantages of outdoor living without sacrificing wintertime protection. The aluminum frames never chip or peel, and their light weight assures easy operation.

Improve Patio With Planter

A large planter for the patio or lawn will provide for a mass display of potted plants and protect them from dogs and playing children.

The open bottom allows for drainage.

First make the legs, which are 14-inch lengths of 4 by 4-inch lumber, covered on the lower ends with a square of 1-inch lumber.

The sides and ends are made of 1 by 8-inch lumber, the sides being 11 feet 2-9/16 inches long, and the ends 37 inches long. These are butt joined, using 6-penny finishing nails.

Then add the legs, one at each end and two spaced evenly in between. Fasten the legs from the inside of the planter, using 3-inch, number 6, flathead wood screws, two in each board.

The sill around the top of the planter is made of two 12-foot lengths, with mitered corners joined with ⅜-inch dowel. Fasten the mitered sill to the top of the legs with 3½-inch number 9 flathead wood screws, counter-sunk.

The planter may be finished by painting to harmonize with walls or fence colors, or may be given an oil or varnish treatment.

Youngsters Like to Climb on Monkey Bars

Adjustable bars can be elevated as the youngsters grow.

The ladder is of 2 by 4-inch straight-grained ulmber and 1¼ flagpole stock. Glue the rungs in place, and pin each with an 8-penny finishing nail. Then bore ½-inch holes in each rail, 11 and 39 inches from each end.

Make the posts; the distance between the third and fourth hole is 12 inches.

Set the posts with the unit assembled, except for the braces. Make sure the posts are plumb and the tops all in the same plane. Then measure the distance for the braces.

Allow the concrete to set well before the unit is used. Finish with clear outdoor varnish or by oil treatment.

Soaking Loosens Paper

When the old wallpaper must be removed, soak the walls with water and a large brush, using a putty knife or similar tool to scrape off the paper. For stubborn jobs, add a ready-made chemical preparation to the water.

Adequate Ventilation Dries Out House

If you have a new home, you may be living in a house that is almost literally "all wet!" But don't be alarmed, if you have adequate ventilation.

The fact is that many gallons of water may be evaporated from the walls and masonry of a new home during the first year after its construction. Some of that water probably will condense in crawl spaces, in the attic, and in exteriior wall areas unless proper ventilation is provided to remove it, the Metal Ventilator Institute reports. Condensation such as this often is what causes paint to blister and peel soon after the happy home-owners move in.

Roof ventilators and ventilators at the ends of dormers or in walls beneath the ridge of the roof, or even under the eaves, plus grill ventilators in the walls of crawl spaces, are safeguards.

Sump Pumps Will Dry Up Basements

Because insurance companies in many areas are no longer offering coverage of damage to property caused by flooding of basements, protection against such hazards is now entirely up to home owners.

This applies to damage to property, real or personal, caused by floods, backing up of sewers, or water entering through windows or the result of seepage.

The result is that property owners, especially in areas where sewers are inadequate, are seeking the best mechanical protection they can find against damage during heavy rains.

A sump pump is usually the answer to this problem, says the Plumbing-Heating-Cooling Information Bureau. Also known as a cellar drainer, a sump pump operates automatically when the water in the sump in which it is installed reaches a pre-determined level.

The water from the sump pump or cellar drainer may be discharged into a sewer or it may be dissipated in the back yard, the alley, the garden, or other convenient place.

Wood Cells Unchanged

You can't tell the age of a tree by the cellular structure of the wood, says T. K. May, technical director of the West Coast Lumbermen's Association. The cells never change no matter how old a tree grows or how long a piece of lumber remains in use.

Malaya and England have about the same areas.

Dirt Bounces Off Walls

Children's rooms often show the battle scars of an indoor winter siege. One way to avoid this next winter is to use rubber tile or rubber sheeting at the strategic levels The material resists scuffs and dirt and works well both on walls and floors.

Most stubborn stains in the cement between ceramic tiles in your bath or kitchen can be cleaned up with simple hair bleach.

BOW WINDOW — Stone and vertical boards are used for the front exterior of this ranch home. The entrance is recessed. A feature with special appeal to women is the extra-wide bow window in the living room.

UNDER 1,500 SQUARE FEET — Eight rooms, plus 2½ baths and a combination mud-laundry room, are included in this house based on a study by Cornell University. It is a composite of all the best features turned up during the survey of home buyers.

Ranch House Is Keyed to University Survey

By JOHN O. B. WALLACE

Home buyers, a Cornell university survey has shown, fall into four specific requirements and preferences. The unusual ranch home shown here is a composite of the desired features disclosed by this survey.

Designed exclusively for the House of The Week series by one of America's foremost architects, the plan has been designated X-20.

The Cornell survey, aimed at promoting better house design throughout the United States by determining what people want in their homes, revealed that the types of homes sought by buyers can be described as:

(1) The economy house, (2) the family house, (3) the personal house and (4) the prestige house.

Taken into consideration by the survey were the interests, wants, enjoyments and living habits of home buyers.

With this information in hand, the House of The Week asked Architect Rudolph A. Matern to develope a plan incorporating the best features wanted by all four buying groups.

The result is interesting and practical. Matern says of design X-20:

"My aim was to have it satisfy not one or two of these groups, but all four. Because of this, the finished plan can well be called 'the most satisfying home in the country.'"

The following highlights of design X-20 confirm the accuracy of the architect's description:

It is an economy house because there are eight rooms, 2½ baths and a laundry-mud room in less than 1,500 square feet.

The open plan of the kitchen; the family room and the living rooms reduces costs and simplifies decoration.

Excellent circulation from both front and rear entrances cuts down through-room traffic and reduces cleaning, wear and tear costs.

"THE FAMILY HOUSE"

It is a family house because the large family room opens to an outdoor living area and the kitchen and family room open into each other for more informality. The indoor play area, in the family room, and the outdoor area on the terrace both may be supervised from the kitchen.

The hall bath is large and has twin lavatories plus combination shower and tub. The family may dine either on the terrace, in the family room or in the more formal dining room. The house has plenty of light, ventilation and closet storage space.

"THE PERSONAL HOUSE"

It is a personal house, too. For those who desire privacy in their family living, there is a comfortable room for reading or listening to records. This may be the family room for group use or the fourth bedroom which can be alternately used as a den. The bedroom area has privacy and quiet.

The kitchen is designed to be the center of cooking, eating and living activities in the combination family room and kitchen.

The rear terrace has a back wall for privacy. A trellis covers the terrace, creating shade and interesting light patterns. A roll-away awning may be installed for more positive weather control.

"THE PRESTIGE HOUSE"

There are prestige features as well. The master bedroom has space for twin beds. The second bedroom may be used for guests. There are separate, imposing dining and living rooms.

The living room has a bow window and a log-burning fireplace. The dining room has a built-in china cabinet.

Statistics

Overall dimensions of design X-20 are 69 feet 4 inches by 27 feet 7 inches. A lot 100 by 100 feet is recommended. Living areas have 1,495 square feet. The garage has 250 square feet. With only minor modifications in the plan, the house could be built without a basement in warmer climates although the plan as shown calls for a full basement under all living areas. For warmer climates, the fireplace also could be eliminated.

Store Logs Outside in Simple Rack

Logs and kindling for the outdoor fireplace can be stored high and dry on an easily-constructed log rack.

The rack is made of 2 by 4-inch lumber, securely fastened together with ⅜-inch lag screws.

The rack is 6 feet long. If a longer rack is needed, additional bracing will be necessary, or 2 by 6 inch lumber should be used.

Predrill the holes for the lag screws, using a ⅜-inch drill in the members which will take the shank of the screw, and a ¼-inch drill in the members that will take the lag threads.

In placing the rack, make sure that the two leg bases and the rails are level, otherwise the log load will be an unnecessary strain on the rack.

New Finishes Popular

Color-flecked and multi-color finishes continue to have good acceptance. In industrial and architectural usage, such colors are sprayed on. Such colors have been developed to resemble leather, cork, granite and many other materials. In addition these finishes are sprayed on TV sets, radios, furniture and home appliances.

In Madagascar—So Far, So Good

De Gaulle Gains in Fight to Keep French Africa

TANNANARIVE, Madagascar (UPI)—Premier Charles de Gaulle appeared today to have won the first round of his battle to keep French Africa linked to the motherland.

After a full day of conferences and public appearances on this French island off the East African coast, De Gaulle prepared to fly to Brazzaville in Equatorial Africa on the second stage of his eight-day tour of French African possessions.

Informed sources said he would take with him assurances that Madagascar will continue to be a member of the French union. Local political leaders stressed in conferences with the visiting premier that they wish the island's destiny to be linked with France in the future.

De Gaulle has thus won the first major victory of his tour, which was undertaken to explain to African political leaders the new constitution he puts before the nation Sept. 28.

The constitution — in which De Gaulle offers French colonies a choice between complete independence and continued close cooperation with France—had come under fire from local political leaders.

The premier's talks here appeared to have won over the Madagascan political chiefs to the idea that continued cooperation with France is necessary.

Observers forecast tougher sledding for De Gaulle when he gets to Equatorial and West Africa, which are politically more developed.

His American-built special plane was scheduled to fly to Brazzaville shortly after lunch today.

Yesterday was another day of triumph for the French premier, with cheering crowds flocking to see him everywhere he went on the island.

Natives in the picturesque wide-brimmed hats and Mexican-style ponchos which are a feature of the island lined the streets to cheer De Gualle and packed a new 100,000-seat stadium to hear him speak.

In a speech to the members of Madagascar's six territorial assemblies, De Gaulle warned that "secession" from the French union would automatically end French economic aid to the island.

Informed sources said Madagascan politicians had no such breakaway in mind. While wanting to continue their adherence to the French union they intend, however, to press for a greater measure of independence.

Call on Hoffa to Back Code

Union Monitors Seek Guarantee of Honest Elections in Locals

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Court-appointed Teamster Union "monitors" have called on Teamster President James R. Hoffa to back a temporary 16-point code to guarantee honest election of local union officials.

They also demanded ouster proceedings against two officers of a Tennessee local involved in an allege dattempt to use $20,000 of union funds to "fix" a criminal case.

The monitors directed that a hearing be held by Sept. 10 on the ouster prodeedings and recommended that Hoffa immediately suspend the two officers — Preisent Glenn W. Smith and Secretary Treasurer H. I. Boling of Chattanooga Local 515 — pending outcome of the charges.

The monitors were appointed to oversee the union as part of a comprise settlement in a case brought by 13 rank-and-file teamsters who sought to block Hoffa's election as union president.

The 16-point code would bar persons convicted of major crimes from union office for one year after they regained state voting rights. Complete records of union elections would be impounded and preserved for one year.

Oklahoma City Equality Sought

Negro Children Used in Drive to Get Served at Restaurants

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Oklahoma City is ready to accept Negroes on an equal basis with whites, an official of the National Assn. for Advancement of Colored People said here last night.

"These people are Christian people and we love them," said Mrs. Clara Luper, advisor for the city NAACP Youth Council.

Mrs. Luper is supervising a drive by Negro children to win for their race the right to be served with whites at restaurants and fountains in the city.

The movement has met with partial success already, and Mrs. Luper is confident businesses throughout the city will accept Negroes in the near future.

"Oklahoma City is ready for a change," she said. "We are getting plenty of white support.

"The merchants are afraid it will hurt their business to serve Negroes. But they're wrong, and we hope to show them that."

The Negro youths started their "sitdowns" Tuesday night, seeking service first at the fountain in the downtown Katz Drugstore.

Thursday, the store started serving Negroes at its fountain, and yesterday the group of children — ranging in age from 6 to 17 — moved to food counters in the Kress Variety Store and Brown's Department Store.

Kress promptly served the youths, but Brown's did not. The 36 Negro children sat for six hours in Brown's luncheonette, ignored by waitresses.

Some read magazines, while the younger ones took out crayons and colored in their books.

"We'll be back at Brown's tomorrow," promised Mrs. Luper.

Kermit Hardwick, general manager of Brown's, declined to comment on the store's policy against serving Negroes food and drink — a policy that has been citywide until this week.

There has been no violence or disorder since the "sitdowns" started.

Asked why she was sure of victory, Mrs. Luper said: "We're depending on Christians to come to our rescue — white and black. If Christianity fails, then we surrender."

Dems in Delaware Choose Candidates

DOVER, Del. (AP) — Former Gov. Elbert N. Carvel has been nominated by Delaware Democrats to seek the U.S. Senate seat now held by Republican John J. Williams.

Delegates to yesterday's biennial nominating convention also nominated former Rep. Harris N. McDowell to seek another term in the House of Representatives. McDowell is expected to oppose Republican Harry G. Haskell, who defeated him two years ago.

The state GOP will nominate its candidates next Wednesday.

The convention avoided bitterness on what was expected to be a touchy issue—civil rights. A section of the platform adopted last night says the Democratic party is committed to support and advance the rights of all individuals regardless of race, color or creed.

Lions Capitalize on Browns' Mistakes

Detroit Scores 17-7 Win Over Clevelanders

Exhibition Victory Is 14th in 18 Contests With Paul Brown

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

DETROIT — The Cleveland Browns made too many mistakes and an alert Detroit Lions' team capitalized on them.

This was the expressed consensus of rival coaches Paul Brown and George Wilson last night at Briggs Stadium where the Lions continued their mastery over the Browns, 17-7.

It was the 14th victory in 18 exhibition and regular season games for the Lions over the Brown-coached Clevelanders.

"You can't make such simple mistakes and miss such scoring opportunities and expect to win," said Brown.

In the Lions dressing room, Wilson said, "We perked up from last week, we were moving better and our defensive line did a fine job."

With Leroy Bolden, a pro-rookie from Michigan State and Jimmy Brown a second-year veteran doing most of the running, the Browns showed a strong ground attack with crisp blocking early in the game, but once in pay dirt territory, the offense bogged and the Lions defensive wall tightened.

Detroit scored first midway in the first period when Jim Martin booted a 42-yard field goal after rookie Dave Whitsell intercepted Milt Plum's pass.

Seven plays after the ensuing kickoff the Browns went 84 yards to score when Plum bootlegged to his right and hit Darrell Brewster with a nine yard touchdown pass. Lou Groza made it 7-3 with five minutes left in the quarter.

Bolden ran the ball three times in the series and gained 9, 20 and 15 yards.

Cleveland got the ball back on a pass interception on the Detroit 37 but two personal foul penalties by ex-MSU end Bill Quinlan (he was ejected for the second one) forced the Browns back.

Bolden again broke loose to the Detroit 27 from he and Brown alternated and carried to the one. Two tries by Billy Reynolds got nothing and Detroit took over.

Forcing Detroit to punt, Cleveland again came back into scoring territory, but this time Groza's field goal attempt from the 34 was wide in the second quarter.

Unable to move Detroit again gave up the ball and once again the Browns pushed to the 9-yard line. Terry Barr smeared Plum for a five yard loss and Plum's fumble lost 10 more yards.

Groza missed his second field goal attempt from the 24 yard line and Detroit had the ball on its own 20.

Bobby Layne then came into the game and in 11 plays climaxed by John Henry Johnson's two-yard smash, the Lions scored and Layne coverted to make it 10-7.

The key play on a fourth down and one situation was Layne's bootleg and then a pass to Danny Lewis 21 yards to the nine.

The Browns took possession after a punt when Detroit's opening series in the second half was stopped. Plum hit Bolden for a 36 yard pass play and a play later on the 4-yard line, Plum tried to pass. He was hit by Cronin, the ball sprung loose and defensive end Bob Long grabbed it on the 12 and raced 88 yards down the sidelines for the final taily.

The long-legged Long had four Browns catching up with him near the Cleveland 20 but Barr delivered a key block on the 15 to help the cause.

Top Michigan 'Skeeters' Begin Title Test Today

By H. GUY MOATS

First day's action in the 100-entry Michigan Skeet Assn. 1958 championships was under way today at Oakland County Sportsmen's club fields. The premier skeet event for state devotees of this fast-growing shotgun sport includes all four guns, in all the usual classifications. It will conclude Sunday evening when the champions, determined in the two-day's blasting at the flying clay "birds," receive their rewards.

Three of the defending titlists are OCSC marksmen, and reside in the Pontiac area.

Pontiac's Bob Thiefels is the defending 20-guage champion. He will be shooting in defense of his 1957 crown, in today's firing, over a 100-target route. Thirteen-year-old Eddie Brown of Birmingham, a sensational performer in the recent National and World tourney here, (sub-junior) World tourney here, (sub-junior titlist), was expected to again go after the titles he and brother Leland (junior champion at Grand Rapids in 1957) hold.

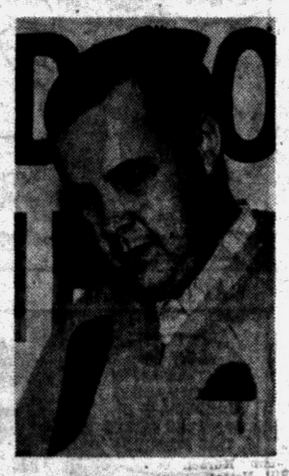

Among the other veteran titleholders of 1957 back for another try for top honors in the "state" is sharpshooter Ains Borsum of Baldwin, high-over-all a year ago.

"If conditions are as good as promised for today and Sunday, we'll probably mark up a lot of MSA records," secretary Bill Ellis said early today.

Incidentally, Ellis indicated that he would not remain as MSA secretary-treasurer during 1959. Bill and Mrs. Ellis have in mind a long stay in Mexico (around Monterey) during the winter, and if it materializes, the jaunt will keep him away for some months. "The whole idea of the proposed trip," Ellis said, "is to benefit my health."

A's Sell Dickson to Yanks

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — From washup to World Series in less than 12 months is the apparent accomplishment of the American League's oldest active hurler, Murry Dickson.

Kansas City officials announced the veteran righthander's sale to the New York Yankees yesterday. Less than a year ago, Dickson had been regarded as "through" when he was handed an unconditional release by the St. Louis Cardinals.

The frail-appearing 42-year-old learned of the transaction in Washington last night and said he was "flattered that the Yankees have shown some interest in me. I'll give them my best and I'm looking forward to a chance at a fourth World Series."

Dickson, who has a 9-5 record with the Athletics this season, will report to New York immediately.

In return, the Athletics will get a "satisfactory player" and an unannounced amount of cash next spring, an Athletics spokesman said.

Dickson, a native of Leavenworth, Kan., was sold to make room for an 18-year-old second basement, Louis Stephen Klimchock of Hostetter, Pa.

Klimchock, playing with Pocatello, Idaho, is leading the Pioneer League in hitting with a .390 average. He has hit 24 home runs, scored 108 runs, got 173 hits for 274 bases, and batted in 112 runs. He bats left-handed, throws right.

Klimchock started in pro ball last year at Grand Island in the Nebraska State League. He will join the Athletics in Boston Sunday.

Denver Puck Team Pulls Out of WIHA

DENVER (AP) — The University of Denver Friday pulled out of the planned Western Intercollegiate Hockey Assn. and announced its ice team will play an independent schedule this winter.

Coach Murray Armstrong said his national champion Pioneers will go it alone because they have been unable to book games with four other would-be members of the proposed new collegiate hockey league. He identified the four as Minnesota, Michigan, Michigan State and Michigan Tech.

Battling Pike Nearly Dunks Woman Angler

When a 30-inch-long northern pike grabbed a night-crawler on the hook of Mrs. Helen (James) Watkins' fishing line, it really started something. The battling pike put up a hot scrap, reported the Pontiac woman (559 Montana), who was fishing at Wildwood Lake with her family on Thursday.

"That fish (it weighed in at 7½ pounds) nearly pulled me into the lake," the fisherwoman said. "I don't know which was the most tired out — me or the fish," she added. Anyway, it was the angler's biggest fish. She used a cane pole and fished from the bank

She got a lot of "advice" how to land her prize from her family, including three children!

Misses 2 Field Goals

Groza's Toe Must Be Losing Its Automatic

DETROIT — Lou Groza's toe must be losing its automatic power.

The famous veteran of the Cleveland Browns, who holds most every field goal and extra point kicking record in the National Football League had a couple rare moments last night against the Lions.

He missed two field goals.

And he missed them at distances and at positions on the field from which most people often conceded him three points. His first attempt was from the 34 and his second from the 24. Both were wide to the left.

In 1953 Groza had a perfect 23 field goals for 23 attempts, while last year he made 15 of 22.

"He misses a few from midfield but I never thought he would miss those two," said Lions' coach George Wilson.

Wilson spouted praise on some of his players for their defensive work. Linemen Gene Cronin and Darris McCord along with Bob Long were singled out.

Rookie Dave Whitsell from Indiana did an outstanding job as defensive halfback. He recovered a fumble, intercepted a pass and made several key tackles to stop Cleveland offensive moves.

Michigan State's Jim Ninowski, who wrecked the Lions in the All-Star game, saw action during the entire fourth quarter was not effective with his passing.

For the Lions offensively, rookie Ken Webb saw plenty of action and made a good account of himself.

Boys' Club Not Show's Sponsor

Pontiac Boys' Club today announced that it is not sponsor for the Sept. 8 professional boxing program at Wisner Stadium.

Show plans were announced by boxing instructor Johnny Ferro, and the Boys' Club was mentioned as sponsor, and sharer in the proceeds.

Today, club president Dean Beirer said the organization has no part in the affair, as a sponsor. "Due to a regrettable error the club has been mentioned as a sponsor for the Sept. 8 boxing show at Wisner Stadium," said Beirer. "However, the club is in no way connected with the event. The connection was unauthorized."

Quast, Romack Meet in Finale

DARIEN, Conn. (AP) — The Women's National Amateur golf championship came down to a pulchritude-packed final today between a 20-year-old college girl who wants to win but won't devote her life to it and a veteran of 25 who thinks its time to settle down and get a job.

The rivals in this 36-hole match over the hilly, 6,467-yard Wee Burn course were Anne Quast, the Stanford University senior from Marysville, Wash., and Barbara Romack of Sacramento, Calif., a former champion who says she's going to spend next week looking for a job in the public relations field.

CHAMPION—The last putt finds the cup, as Mrs. Samuel E. Gawne rounded out her women's 1958 championship effort at Bloomfield Hills Country Club, (above, left), yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Gawne defeated Mrs. S. E. Knudsen for her 3rd Bloomfield Hills championship in the last four years. Mrs. Gawne regained the links crown she lost in 1957 (she was runnerup) to Mrs. Hanley Dawson, after having captured it the two previous years. The Hills golfing queen has been playing the game for about eight years. Yesterday's final round was set for 18 holes.

Tigers Skid to 5th Spot

Orioles Shove by to Fourth With 2-1 Win

Detroit Gets Dozen Runners on, but Can't Bring 'em Home

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Detroit Tigers have no trouble getting on base. It's getting back home that bothers them.

At least that was the story last night as the Tigers took their second straight beating at the hands of the Baltimore Orioles, 2-1. They got 12 men on base, but brought only one home.

In contrast, Baltimore had only five hits. But in scoring two runs the Orioles captured more than a ball game. They moved past Detroit into fourth place in the American League standings and gained a 10-9 edge over the Tigers in games played this season.

Detroit started out by scoring its run in the first inning when, with two out, Frank Bolling was safe on a throwing error by Bobby Boyd. Singles by Gail Harris and Al Kaline brought Bolling home.

Boyd scored Baltimore's first run in the fourth when he was doubled home by Bob Nieman. The Orioles' second and winning tally came in the sixth when Gene Woodling, leading off, slammed out his 13th homer of the year.

Jim Bunning took the loss, his eighth against nine victories. Credit for the win went to Connie Johnson, who has six triumphs in 13 games.

Johnson had the aid of three doubleplays and clutch pitching by Jack Harshman, who relieved him in the eighth.

Rival Hurler Spoils Terry's Perfect Game

Stops Senators, 1-0

United Press International

Close but no cigar.

That's how it was for both Ralph Terry of the Athletics and Sad Sam Jones of the Cardinals.

Terry pitched a one-hitter and barely missed a perfect game in beating the Senators, 1-0, last night, while Jones came within six outs of a no-hitter and then had to settle for a three-hit 9-1 victory over the Phillies.

The "villain" who spoiled Terry's bid was his pitching rival Russ Kemmerer. Kemmerer connected for a clean single in the third inning and was the only Washington runner to reach base as Terry did not walk a man and faced only 28 batters en route to his eighth win.

Kansas City scored the only run of the game in the third on Bob Cerv's triple and Harry Simpson's double.

Jones, the free-wheeling, toothpick-chewing fireballer, tied the major league record of 14 strikeouts in a night game as he held the Phils hitless until Rip Repulski led off the eighth inning with his 11th home run.

Jones was bidding for the second no-hitter of his Major League career, having pitched his first against the Pirates, May 12, 1955, while still a member of the Cubs.

Gene Green hit a three-run homer for the Cards and Gene Freese belted one with the bases empty to help Jones record his 11th triumph. Stan Musial had two doubles to set a National League record for 2,167 total bases.

The Yankees, back on the right track again, ran their American League lead to 12½ games with an 8-5 decision over the White Sox; the Red Sox defeated the Indians, 4-3, and the Orioles topped the Tigers, 2-1.

Pittsburgh crushed Chicago, 8-2 and Cincinnati beat San Francisco, 7-3. The Braves and Dodgers were idle.

Mickey Mantle clouted his 36th homer in the Yankees' victory while Elston Howard and Gil McDougald also homered. Sherm Lollar's homer in the sixth helped the White Sox to a 4-3 lead but the Yanks clinched the win for reliever Duke Maas with a four-run rally in the 7th. Early Wynn was the loser.

Frank Malzone slammed his 12th homer for the Red Sox in the fourth inning off loser Hoyt Wilhelm and then drove in the deciding run with an eighth-inning single. Ike Delock went all the way for his 12th victory, giving up 10 hits to the Indians, including Rocky Colavito's 29th homer.

Hank Foiles' two-run homer and three hits by Bob Skinner were the key blows in the Pirates' victory over the Cubs. The Pirates clinched the contest with a four-run outburst at the expense of rookie Marcelino Solis in the third inning. George Witt gained his seventh victory, Vern Law relieved him in the sixth.

The Redlegs won their game from the Giants with a five-run rally in the eighth inning. San Francisco led 3-2 until the eighth when Jerry Lynch tripled and George Crowe singled to tie the score. Frank Robinson doubled and Ed Bailey followed with another double that drove in the tie-breaking runs.

Brooks Lawrence, who had lost nine straight, was credited with his seventh victory in relief of starter Joe Nuxhall. Marv Grissom was the loser.

Grand American Names Its 1st Canadian Champ

VANDALIA, Ohio (AP) — A Canadian held the Grand American handicap trapshoot title today, but a heart-broken 16-year-old kid from Illinois is getting a lot of cheers too.

The new champion is 66-year-old Emerson Clark, a foundry superintendent from Preston, Ont., first to carry the coveted crown across the Canadian border.

The kid is Robert V. Nolan of Lewistown, Ill., who posted the only perfect score in the record-breaking field of 2,214 and didn't win a thing.

Dave Hill Leads Michigan Open

Kalamazoo Pro Sets Pace With 1st Round 67

Only 15 Golfers Can Equal or Better Par on Opening Day

By BILL CORNWELL

GRAND BLANC — A slender, wiry youth with all the confidence in the world was leading the pack today when the $5,000 Michigan Open golf tournament entered its 2nd round at Atlas Valley Country Club.

Dave Hill, 21-year-old assistant professional at the Elks Country Club in Kalamazoo, carded seven birdies Friday while shooting a blazing five-under-par 67 for a one-stroke advantage.

Hot on his heels at the close of yesterday's opening 18-hole round was Harold Brink, the time-tested amateur campaigner from Grand Rapids who picked up five birdies on his way to a score of 34-34—68.

Big John Barnum, Blythefield pro who hails from Belmont, occupied 3rd place with 34-35—69 and 4th spot belonged to Lansing's Lou Wendrow, former State Amateur champion who had a pair of 35s for a total of 70.

Bracketed at 71 and still very much in contention were defending champ Wally Burkemo of Franklin Hills, Eldon Briggs from Detroit Golf Club and Detroit's Joe Zakarian.

Eight others, including two amateurs, were tied with par 72s. Among those at even par were Rochester's Jack Fleck, playing in his 1st Michigan Open tourney and young Art Berry of Pine Lake.

The long-driving Hill, a native of Jackson who made quite a name before turning pro last May, attacked Atlas Valley's 6,400-yard course in his usual affirmative manner and the result was decidedly rewarding.

An offensive-minded golfer who bubbles with optimism, Hill toured the Atlas Valley layout in 32-35 against par 36-36.

A six-foot, 135-pounder with a rapid backswing, Hill added a deft putting touch to his long game and the combination paid off in seven "birds," two more than any other player could collect.

He one-putted nine greens and took 28 putts altogether. There were only two bogies on his scorcard.

An early starter—he was the 14th man off the tee—Hill's dazzling round withstood the challenge of 151 others who finished yesterday.

Only Brink and Wendrow came close to matching Hill's birdie output as the rifled five apiece. Barnum, ex-State Open King, birdied four holes.

Par was a difficult obstacle for the state's best shotmakers. Only 15 players were able to equal or better regulation figures in the 1st round of the 72-hole event.

After today's 18 holes, the field will be cut to the low 60 golfers plus ties for the 36-hole championship drive on Sunday.

Solons May Ask Change

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Washington Senators, after 58 seasons in the capital, may ask permission soon to shift to Minneapolis.

Club President Calvin Griffith refuses to be pinned down.

Griffith denied yesterday reports he already had decided to seek American League approval of a transfer.

But, to the relief of Minneapolis interests hoping to bag a major league franchise, Griffith added he hasn't made up his mind one way or the other.

Whether other American League club owners would tolerate a move out of Washington was still another question.

Several, including Tom Yawkey of Boston and Del Webb of New York, have declared the American League ought to remain in the capital for reasons of prestige. They also contend that despite skimpy attendance in recent years Washington is a sound baseball city.

Swedes Cool to Track Tourney

STOCKHOLM (AP)—The sixth European track and field championships have moved into their final two days with many sports fans wondering why the Swedes aren't turning out in great numbers to Olympic Stadium.

In the first four days there hasn't been a single capacity crowd and this is a stadium that holds only 27,000.

The Russians now have eight gold medals to four for their nearest competitors, Poland and Britain. The Soviet athletes have a combined men's and women's point total of 153 to 78 for Germany, 57 for Great Britain and 56 for Poland.

Shaw's Win, Spencer and Elks Lose Openers

One Pontiac team pulled out a close one while the other lost a heartbreaker as the state softball regionals got under way last night.

Shaw's Jewelers had to come from behind to nip defending state champion Allen Park 2-1 in Class AA at Allen Park while the Elks hine was dropping a 1-0 Class A verdict to Port Huron in a 11-inning mound duel at Flint.

Spencer Floors of Waterford also fell into the loser's bracket by bowling to Port Huron 6-0 in "D" play at Flint.

Shaw's was slated to meet Wyandotte this afternoon at 1 with the winner slated to play again at 9 p.m. and the loser at 7:30.

The Jewelers put together three of their five hits with an error to pull out their verdict in the 6th. Vern Keebaugh and Lou Seay, who had two hits, and Hesse got the big safeties to back Jake Mazur's strong hurling.

Al Crawford of Spencer ruined a no-hitter by beating out a roller with two out in the 7th. Waterford meets Flint tonight.

Gerry Armstrong scattered six hits after beating Flint on a two-hitter earlier to drop the Elks. Loser Lynus Grant had also scattered six until a single and double in the 11th ended it.

The locals missed a golden opportunity to win it in the 7th with two on when a line drive went foul by inches. Ralph Alee had two of the losers' bingles. Lodge 810 will meet Flint tonight.

TUCSON, Arizona — Tom Grace of Birmingham leads Michigan golfers in the 13th annual International Jaycee Junior Golf champion ships with a 220 total, 11 strokes behind leader Jerry Greenbaum of Atlanta, Ga.

Grace shot a 38-35 for a 73. Pete Green of Franklin shot a 38-37—75 for a 224 total, while Chuck Newton of Ann Arbor shot a 40-40—80 for a 232 total. Grace had five one-putt greens while Green sank a 15-foot putt for his best effort of the day.

Greenbaum was cast as favorite today as 108 teenagers began the final round.

The steady-stroking Atlantan, who birdied three times, fired a par 70 yesterday for a three-round total of 209, two strokes up on Biff Lovett of Portland, Ore.

Jerry was tagged the man to beat as pre-tourney favorite Buddy Baker of Florence, S. C., skidded 4-over-par for a three-round 214. Baker was tied at third by Chuck Courtney of La Jolla, Calif.

Wins 'Lefty' Title

Playing as Pine Lake Country Club's representative in the annual Detroit Golf District's left-handers championship, Andy Anderson fired a fine 41-39—80 over Western Golf Club layout to win, yesterday.

Anderson said the course "played long" but he managed to card "birds" on par-4 No. 4 and par-5 No. 14. The field included some 50 golfing "southpaws."

Former Cleveland president Bill Veeck says he will make another attempt to buy the Indians along with ex-Tribe star Al Rosen and other businessmen.

'59 Cars Will Bring Startling Innovations

Look for Swivel Seats, Non-Glare Mirrors

By DAVID J. WILKE
AP Automotive Writer

DETROIT (AP)—One of the nation's leading auto makers will offer something new in front seats with its 1959 line.

The seats will be called swivel units. They are so designed that they will swing outward at a 40-degree angle at the touch of a lever after the door is opened. Pressure on the cushion returns the seat to normal position.

The manufacturer says the device offers an invitation to back into the lower cars. He adds that it should be a great boon to tight-skirted women drivers and tall men.

Another device coming in 1959 models is a rear view inside mirror that automatically tips to a non-glare level when bright headlights strike it through the rear window.

The mirror probably will have considerable appeal in the new models with their increased expanse of rear window glass. Many 1959 models have rear windows reaching well into the roof as well as farther around the rear quarter panels.

NEW GM DEVICE

A new device just announced by General Motors' New York State Products Division is intended to overcome rough engine idling and stalling due to high under-hood temperatures.

The device, attached to the carburetor, has a thermostatically controlled valve which opens an air bleed to the manifold. This permits extra air to pass through the engine when excessively high temperature increases vaporization.

It will be an inexpensive extra-cost item. It is said to facilitate starting and improve efficiency when the engine is hot.

Several other carburetor refinements have been made by different auto makers. All are designed to increase fuel mileage. In some instances they reduce the fuel mixture richness once the car has gained full momentum.

Other devices seek to gain more complete combustion to reduce the amount of fuel waste through the discharge of unburned hydrocarbon.

These and numerous other advances will get broadside promotion by the car makers when the new models reach the market in mid-September and early October.

Also to be accented in the promotion will be substantial advances in suspension, car leveling devices and braking systems generally.

It is not much of a secret that several of the auto makers have stepped up compression ratios and horsepower in their 1959 models. Because of the agreement to soft-pedal higher speed and power potentials these advances may not be given as much emphasis as other improvements.

However, one car maker is increasing compression ratio to 10.5 to 1 and adding another 10 horsepower to an already high power output engine.

With air-conditioning, power braking and power steering equipment added in recent new models, the under-the-hood compartment of the average 1959 model is packed almost to capacity.

JET INSPECTOR — Before distributing several bushels of peaches in the enlisted men's dining hall at Selfridge Air Force Base, Bonita Brookshear, of 1651 Playsted St., Waterford Township, the 1958 Romeo Peach Queen, inspected this F86 jet fighter. 1st Lt. Shutdown Target Date Looms Near Reuther, the Champ; Will He Win Again?

By TOM DYGARD

DETROIT (AP)—Can Walter Reuther, the champion, come through with another victory?

The answer is near.

Mid-September, the time that Reuther himself set as the shutdown date, is just around the corner.

The big auto companies that Reuther jousts with—and the more often, the better—are swinging into production of 1959 models.

The half-million employes of General Motors, Chrysler and Ford who are members of Reuhter's United Auto Workers Union, still are without a contract.

"Time is on our side," said Reuther three months ago when the UAW contracts with the big companies expired. He meant that he knew the 1958 models didn't sell well and the auto makers were hoping for a better market in 1959. Therefore, his big weapon — a strike — would command more respect in the 1959 model year.

Reuther won his last outing with the big auto companies. That was in 1955 when the radiant smile on his face and the grim look on the face of Ford's John S. Bugas at the settlement announcement left no doubt about the winner.

But can he do it again?

This time he faces an auto industry that is coming out of one of its poorer years. In 1955 it was doing fine and looking forward to greater things. This time the auto companies appear united with each of them giving about the same response to the UAW's applications of pressure.

There is speculation that if Reuther strikes one, the others will shut down. In 1955 they split with Ford falling first, all alone, and setting the pattern for the industry.

Today, after a total of almost 1,000 hours of talking—or staring—in nearly 300 meetings, both sides at all three companies say they are exactly where they started on the important issues.

"The attitude of all three companies has been 'to Hell with you' and they are sticking to it," said a UAW spokesman. "We want to bargain. But the companies won't talk about any of the issues. Sometimes it seems they are not even listening to what we say."

From the other side of the table, a representative of one of the companies said:

"They always say, 'You make us an offer and we'll begin bargaining up from that.' They consider our offer the bottom starting point."

When negotiations opened almost five months ago, the UAW laid down a long list of proposals—a share of the profits, higher wages, improved pensions and greater unemployment benefits, among others.

The companies answered with words like extremely unrealistic, inflationary, totally unacceptable.

They said the package would amount to an increase of more than 70 cents an hour per auto worker. Under the old contract their average hourly wage was about $2.43.

The companies countered with their offer—extend the present contract two years. This, they pointed out, would amount to a pay increase of 16 cents an hour because of productivity improvement boosts and cost of living allowances.

Reuther rejected the offers and the companies withdrew them after the contracts expired.

Reuther likes short-term contracts because they give him a chance to come back sooner for a try at improving them. But an extension of the old contracts wasn't what he had in mind.

At that point the slow-rolling negotiations stalled. None of the companies has made a new offer. Chrysler and Ford say flatly that the original UAW proposal is still on the table and unaltered. GM, however, says the UAW has trimmed perhaps one-third from the cost of its first proposal. But, it adds, that is not enough.

The negotiators meet four or five days a week but, as a spokesman for one company put it, "Nothing has changed but the date."

To Him, It's No Yolk

LANDRUM, S.C. (UPI) — It was no new experience when truckdriver John B. Hicks of Highland, Mich., ran off the road yesterday with a load of 30,000 eggs. Hicks told ambulance attendants who were taking him to a hospital that he had cracked up cargoes of eggs in accidents this month in Canada and Ohio.

See Jordan-U. A. R. Relations Warming

AMMAN, Jordan (AP) — Premier Samir Rifai said today Jordan would be willing to consider resuming diplomatic relations with the United Arab Republic if President Nasser takes the initiative.

Rifai also indicated he was willing to meet with Nasser, who has tempting to overthrow the government here and assassinate King Hussein.

The Premier's conciliatory statements at a news conference came amid other indications that long-frozen relations between Jordan and the U.A.R. were warming up. Friendly messages were exchanged with the U.A.R.-dominated Arab League and prospects were seen for reopening of Jordan's border with the U.A.R. province of Syria.

Naval Minesweeper Runs Aground in Japan

YOKOSUKA, Japan (AP)—The U.S. inesweeper Prestige, with 68 men aboard, ran aground and sprang a leak in Japan's Inland Sea today. It was not believed in any danger of sinking.

The 665-ton vessel reportedly struck a rock near the northern end of the Naruto Strait, known for its dangerous whirlpools.

The Navy said its fleet tug Tawakoni was en route to aid the minesweeper. The Japanese Coast Guard said it had dispatched four patrol boats.

Justice Not Blind but the Judge Was

ATLTNTA, Ga. (AP) — Claiming he knew nothing of his young wife's record of court convictions when they were wed, retired Georgia Supreme Court Justice C. W. Worrill is seeking a divorce.

In a suit filed yesterday in Fulton Superior Court, Worrill said his 27-year-old wife is running him.

The couple was married five months ago and separated Aug. 17.

Worrill, 72, declared that his wife "was convicted of various crimes of moral turpitude" prior to their marriage. Court records show that Mrs. Worrill before her marriage was convicted five times on bad check charges.

There are about 350 different types and styles of pencils.

It's a Fact!
The OSTRICH DOES NOT BURY ITS HEAD TO HIDE.
An African explorer states that the ostrich does sometimes thrust its head in the sand, but not for the purpose of hiding, but because it is seeking for water, which it frequently finds beneath the sand of the desert.
