Probers Take No Action on Calling Clifford

Decision on McCarthy Request Is Left Up To Counsel Jenkins

WASHINGTON (A P)—Investigating senators took no action today on a proposal to call Clark Clifford as a witness in the McCarthy-Army hearings. They left the final decision to Special Counsel Ray M. Jenkins.

Sen. Jackson (D-Wash.) said he offered in a closed meeting of the Senate Investigations subcommittee a formal motion to call Clifford, a former legal counsel for former President Truman.

Sen. McCarthy had told the subcommittee yesterday that Clifford was a "necessary" witness. McCarthy contended that Clifford had joined forces with Sen. Symington (D-Mo.) to talk Secretary of the Army Stevens into making formal charges against McCarthy.

Jackson's motion was shunted aside when Sen. Dirksen (R-Ill.) offered a substitute which would permit any principal in the controversy to name a prospective witness and have the decision to Jenkins as to whether to call him.

The Dirksen motion was approved by a 4-3 party line vote. Sen. Mundt (R-SD), presiding at the public and televised hearings, told reporters he had agreed that "of course I will call Clifford" if it appears that Clifford's testimony is essential.

Sen. Potter (R-Mich.) said the Republicans voted down Jackson's motion because they regarded it as "a phony issue" involving a change in the rules for calling witnesses.

Potter said that McCarthy renewed at the closed-door meeting his request that Clifford be subpoenaed.

"If we vote on every witness to be called," Potter said, "it is changing the rules."

Potter also said that McCarthy and Symington engaged in a discussion along the lines of their public clash at the hearing yesterday afternoon. He said the subcommittee listened to them but took no action.

Jackson said that ways of shortening the hearings by limiting testimony and the number of witnesses were discussed at the closed meeting but that "no decision was reached."

Mundt said Joseph N. Welch, special counsel to the Army side, told the senators "he would be perfectly satisfied" to let the hearings end after testimony by McCarthy, Cohn and Carr.

Mundt said McCarthy objected vigorously to that, demanding repeatedly the calling of both Clifford. (Continued on Page 2, Col. 2)

Teams Hit Targets at 600 Miles an Hour in Air Force's 1st World Series of the Air

By JOHN W. FITZGERALD
Assistant to the Editor

NELLIS AIR BASE, LAS VEGAS, Nevada — Forty-five miles from Las Vegas on the sun-baked desert at Indian Springs Gunnery Range top United States Air Force jet aces started the initial day of the first All Jet Gunnery Meet Monday.

The breath-taking speed and precision of this meet, which would make any golfer jealous, certainly was a turn about for your reporter who spent 13 hours Sunday in an Air Force C 47 from Scott Air Base, Illinois, to Nellis Air Base here in Las Vegas.

Bucking 40 and 50 mile an hour head winds the C 47 transport slowly poked its way across six states carrying 14 news representatives.

A dust storm over parts of Texas and Arizona added to the slowness of the trip. Normal time for the distance would have been six or seven hours but due to the wind and dust our speed was cut at times to barely 100 miles an hour.

Time Eases Tornado Memory

By HAZEL A. TRUMBLE
Dogs, too, have tales to tell about the disastrous dates in history that have left their marks on mankind—for instance June 8, 1953, in Flint. On that evening a tornado spread death and destruction over a residential area in that city.

If "Red" could talk, he would narrate a story that goes something like this:

"One year ago today I was a carefree young Irish Setter, living the luckiest dog's life any canine ever experienced. My home, although it was supposed to be outdoors in a nice new kennel, somehow turned out to be a lovely home on Coldwater road in Flint.

"My master was a perfectly swell guy. Always remembered the bone and would offer a gentle pat on the head when what I really should have received was a firm reprimand—couldn't seem to resist chewing his slippers.
"And my mistress, well, she was not only easy on the eye, but she had that special gentle quality that made this young dog heart of mine feel I was completely accepted as a member of the family.

"And then it happened.
"On that day a year ago at 8:45 p.m., I had decided to sleep out in my doghouse inasmuch as it was so warm and muggy.

"My story is written in the hearts of hundreds of lonely survivors and on gravemarkers of the several hundreds they mourn.
"Within a few seconds, the tornado placed me among the many animal orphans whose families had been swept away and whose homes had been leveled.

"I don't remember anymore until I awoke. Someone had picked me up and placed me in the Genesee County Animal Welfare Society shelter along with dozens of other homeless dogs. I wasn't even a hero, like some of the others who had led rescue parties to their buried families.

"All I wanted was an occasional sip of water. No food at all. Then I would fall asleep again, hoping each time to wake up and find I had just had a bad dog dream.

"Every time the door opened, I hoped they had come for me—but they never walked through that door.

"Several days went by and I heard the shelter people telling how I cried and groined in my sleep, but they said they could find no broken bones or cuts. They said the hair on my nose and around my collar had turned completely white overnight. I couldn't explain to them that it was just homesickness that bothered me.

"One day I did open both my eyes when visitors came and I saw Mr. and Mrs. J. Gardner Lewis, 5819 N. Adams Road, Birmingham. They had come for me in answer to a newspaper story someone had written about me. I knew right away they wanted me and I wanted to go with them.

"Once, last November, I had a visitor at my new home. It was (Continued on Page 2, Col. 8)

The contempt hearing against officers and members of Teamsters Local 614, AFL, brought by the Pontiac Cab CO., May 5, was re-opened today before Oakland County's three Circuit Court judges.

Cab company attorneys, who charge the union with ignoring an injunction against interference with company operation, submitted photographs of pickets around company cab stands at Saginaw and Pike streets and at 430 Orchard Lake Ave.

Headed by Mrs. Lucile G. Cornell the cab company charges the union with strongarm tactics in trying to organize drivers.

Presiding Judge Frank L. Doty adjourned the case May 18 in order to hear scheduled criminal cases.

Bidault Claims Progress in Indochina Peace Talks

GENEVA (A P)—French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault said today some progress has been realized at the Indochina peace conference and "the results achieved show us the path to future agreement."

In a speech obviously aimed at public opinion in France, where Premier Joseph Laniel's government is fighting for its life, Bidault laid heavy stress on what he called his "effort at conciliation."

The French foreign minister led off the semi-public debate of the nine-party parley, which awaited a major policy declaration by Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov later in the day.

British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden also planned to speak.

Bidault's speech was primarily a review of the proceedings to date. He acknowledged that all major issues remained unsettled, but expressed hope that solutions might soon be in sight.

Munitions Truck Burns, Explodes

Trailer in Gas Station
Catches Fire, Goes Off
Near Chattanooga

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn.—A trailer truck loaded with 19,000 pounds of naval detonator fuses caught fire and blew up at a service station near here early today. The hundreds of explosions which followed were heard miles away.

Heavy blasts continued for three hours after the midnight fire.

No one was reported injured, although a crowd estimated at 1,500 by a Hamilton county patrolman swarmed to the vicinity which was showered with metal pieces of the fuses.

Police issued warnings to residents of the suburban community of Tipton to not pick up unexploded fuses. Some were found a quarter mile away.

The truck driver, William Layton, 28, of Richmond, Ky., said the load was being moved from the Naval ammunition depot at Macon, Ga., to the Navy depot at Richmond. He said flames suddenly enveloped the vehicle after several gallons of gasoline were pumped into the truck.

Agents of the FBI and military intelligence personnel were reported investigating the incident.

Traffic was being detoured because of wreckage scattered over the highway and because hundreds of the fuses were still lying around. The service station was damaged heavily as were parked vehicles in the area and other buildings.

Roger M. Kyes Returns to GM, Made Director

On Vice President List;
Will Be Top Man Over
Truck, Dayton Plants

Roger M. Kyes, who gave up his post as general manager of GMC Truck & Coach Division and as a vice president of General Motors to become deputy secretary of defense under Secretary Charles E. Wilson, has returned to GM.

He was re-appointed a vice president of the corporation yesterday afternoon and for the first time placed on the board of directors. He will be group executive in charge of the GMC Truck & Coach and the Dayton and Household Appliance Divisions.

He also will serve on the operations policy committee and the administration committee of GM.

The announcement after a board meeting quashed rumors that the 45-year-old industrialist would leave General Motors for a top post with another auto maker.

In his old job Kyes was the head of one of GM's operating divisions. He now is group executive in charge of seven operating divisions — the four Dayton, Ohio divisions, two household appliance divisions and the GMC Truck and Coach Division here.

In addition to the GMC Truck & Coach Division, these include, in Dayton: Frigidaire, Island Manufacturing, Moraine Products and Delco Products; and the Packard Electric in Warren, Ohio, and the Delco Appliance at Rochester, N. Y.

When Kyes resigned the No. 2 defense post he said he had agreed to fill the $22,500 job with the Defense Department for only one year and that year ended last Feb. 2. Kyes remained on the job until May 1 at the request of Wilson, former GM president who left the company to become secretary of defense.

GM directors also elected Ivan L. Wiles, Buick general manager, and Thomas H. Keating, Chevrolet general manager, as directors.

Wiles and Keating also were named to the operations policy committee with Kyes. Their elections are effective immediately.

Mr. Peepers Wed Again—in Real Life

BOZMAN, Md. (A P)—Wally Cox, who went through a make-believe wedding ceremony recently on television as the shy, bumbling Mr. Peepers, was married here yesterday for real.

Cox shooed off newsmen, said he would deny it, then took Marilyn Gennaro, 20-year-old, red-haired Broadway dancer, as his bride. Cox gave his age as 29.

Flanked by a dozen close friends, the couple was married in an open-air ceremony at the waterfront home of Donald Seawell, New York attorney for many theatrical stars.

Guatemala Cuts Civil Liberties

Red-Supported Regime
Suspends Constitutional
Rights for 30 Days

GUATEMALA (A P)—Guatemala's Communist-backed government ordered a 30-day suspension of constitutional guarantees today.

The action was taken at an extraordinary session of President Jacobo Arbenz Guzman's Cabinet.

It followed three weeks of rising tension following U. S. objections to the delivery of a large shipment of arms from Communist Poland to the Central American country.

Among the civil rights suspended was the constitutional article establishing freedom of expression and the press.

The Cabinet said it was imposing the suspension in view of the "current situation." A week ago Arbenz charged a well-financed plot of "serious proportions" had been uncovered against his government.

New fears of trouble were aroused last night when a two-engine mystery plane showered anti-Communist leaflets over a town in western Guatemala and also flew over the capital.

Another such plane—or the same one—dropped leaflets on the capital May 26 and dived on the city several times before it disappeared.

Railroad Man Comes to Aid of Auto Driver

GRAND RAPIDS (A P)—Pedestrians who witnessed the incident seemed to feel they had a minor victory to their credit Monday.

A muffler dropped off a car at a busy intersection where Grand Trunk Western Railroad tracks cross at Plainfield and Leonard.

The owner parked and came back to retrieve it. But each time he sought to dart out into the street whizzing cars drove him back. The other drivers wouldn't give him a chance.

Then the railroad crossing watchman took a hand. He turned on the flasher signals. Traffic ground to a halt, expecting a train.

As the man retrieved his muffler, passers-by raised a cheer. Then the lights stopped flashing and traffic resumed its hustle.

Planes, Troops Smash Buildups Close to Hanoi

Commies Are Massing
for All-Out Assault on Vital Delta

HANOI, Indochina (UP)—French air and ground forces today destroyed two large Communist troop and supply bases so near Hanoi that smoke rising from the rubble could be seen from the city.

Warplanes furnished to the French by the United States wiped out a Red base only seven miles from this imperiled city by dropping 50 tons of bombs, the French High Command announced in disclosing for the first time how near the Reds had advanced.

The bases were built up by small organized units, but the main force of Red troops, the conquerors of Dien Bien Phu, was reported halted temporarily by bombed-out sections of Highway 41.

The high command declined to give details of the destruction of the second base, located 7 1/2 miles southeast of Hanoi.

American-made B 26's unloaded 1,000-pound bombs on the first base, near Seno, east of Hanoi, and fighter planes followed through with delayed-action bombs.

French ground troops rushed into the base after the bombing mission had been completed but encountered little resistance. They killed 11 rebels who put up a fight.

Reconnaissance planes took pictures which the high command said showed the base was "100 per cent destroyed."

French military sources said the bases had been prepared for many weeks to serve as stepping stones for Red Gen. Vo Nguyen Giap's grand offensive against the delta later this month.

Within the delta perimeter, a massive column of Red regulars and guerrillas was reported building bases similar to the ones destroyed today, awaiting the signal for the mass assault.

In another Red River Delta action rebel soldiers attacked the important village of Tanh Phu, 25 miles west of Hanoi, in a region densely populated by Indochinese Catholics.

Catholic militiamen repelled the attack and killed 30 Reds, the high command said.

The air raids on nearby Red bases were announced amid these major developments on Indochina.

Birmingham Commission Passes Budget for 1954-'55, Approves 1.85 Pct. Interest

From Our Birmingham Bureau
BIRMINGHAM — City commissioners walked out of last night's City Commission meeting with a glow of satisfaction on their faces: passage of the 1954-'55 budget came off without a hitch, and interest on the sale of the $225,000 fire station general obligation bonds was pleasantly low.

The $1,335,855 budget shows an increase in tax rate of one-half mill, raising the rate from last year's $19 per $1,000 assessed valuation to $19.50. Money-wise, the budget is $1,171,405 higher than its predecessor.

Northern Trust Co.'s low bid of $27,300.75 as total interest on the bonds for two new fire stations was readily accepted by the lawmakers, who were swayed by an interest rate of only $1.85 per cent.

City Manager Donald C. Egbert commented that he did not know of any bonds recently sold with as low an interest rate.

Also on the brighter side, an informal hearing on the proposed off-street parking lot in the area bounded by Merrill, Woodward, Brown and Pierce found the majority of those attending in accord.

A 50-50 method of sharing the assessment on the $27,300 lot was basically agreed upon by the city and property owners attending.

Commissioners will hold a committee session Thursday to review the proposed off-street parking ordinance, and Oscar Gunderson, traffic engineer, will bring up to date a traffic survey made of the city.

Property owners in the area will receive a detailed report outlining the assessing method and amount.

These items will all be discussed at a future hearing.

In keeping with their annual tradition, members of the American Assn. of University Women will pack up their sandwiches and head for the Bloomfield Hills home of Mrs. Irving MacKenzie at 12:30 p. m. tomorrow.

Mrs. Even, who lives in Ann Arbor, is a practicing attorney, a board member of the National AAUW and vice president of the northeast central region. She is the twin sister of Detroit's AAUW president.

This closes the season until fall.

Annual potluck dinner for the entire church will be sponsored by the Women's Society of Embury Methodist Church tonight. The family night supper will get under way at 6:30 and will be followed by a program.

Hostesses for the dinner are the executive board of the Women's Society.

New officers will be elected when the Lions Club meets for a noon luncheon at the Community House tomorrow.

A spokesman for the club reported that close to $2,000 was netted in the recent White Cane Week drive, when Lions raised funds through the sale of miniature canes, and solicitations and canisters.

Contracts have not yet been let, but Holy Name Church officials hope that construction of the new $600,000 church will begin by the 15th of this month. The Alumni Home and the church are to be demolished.

All permanent equipment and furnishings have been moved to the auditorium, where activities will be held until completion of the new building. Parishioners have been asked to pledge at least $300.00 at this time.

Maverick Dies in Texas at 58

Former Congressman
Fought Gobbledygook,
Was Zealous Dem

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—Maury Maverick, champion of the underdog, enemy of gobbledygook and zealous Democrat, is dead.

The 58-year-old former New Deal congressman and stormy mayor of San Antonio died yesterday after 10 days in a hospital for a heart ailment. He left mourners on each side of every political fence.

Sheriff Owen Kilday, whose brother Paul defeated Maverick for Congress, said: "We were bitter political enemies but good personal friends. He did an awful lot for San Antonio."

Maverick, whose friends said he never side-stepped a fight from the time he first went to Congress in 1934 until he died, had a tongue as sharp as the cactus in the country he loved.

He coined the word "gobbledygook" in a letter to Franklin D. Roosevelt in which he blasted the involved phraseology of New Deal directives. Later he wrote magazine articles about it and, some say, FDR issued an order for simpler government language.

Maverick was a descendant of trail blazers into the Old West and in his 58 years had packed experience as lawyer, hobo, business executive, congressman, political reformer, author, tax collector, mayor and leader of his faction of the Democratic party in Texas. He lost a bitter fight for recognition at the 1952 Democratic convention in Chicago when the delegation headed by Gov. Allan Shivers was seated. Maverick headed a "loyalist" faction sworn to support the Democratic nominee.

The squat, dynamic man said his career as a hobo may have formed the basis for organized relief which this country had during depression days. He roamed the hobo jungles in tattered clothes "to get to the root of unemployment" and took his finds and gave them to the national government. He suggested establishment of camps for migrants, homes for juvenile delinquents and a broad-based relief plan.

Accused Killer Released to Sit in New Legislature

SEOUL (AP)—A South Korean national assemblyman accused of attempted murder was released from prison today so he can sit in the new Assembly which opens tomorrow.

The Seoul district judge ruled the prosecution can investigate police accusations against Kim To Han, an independent assemblyman, without his detention.

Kim, 36, is accused of attempting murder when he fired a pistol in a quarrel with a business rival.

First professional race track in America was built in 1754, near Wetumpka, Ala., and was owned by Charles Weatherford.

Frenzied Cow Creates Havoc in Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—An 800-pound brown cow, headed for someone's dinner table, leaped over a five-foot fence on the way to a slaughterhouse here yesterday and created havoc for half an hour. The animal bowled over a small boy and charged policeman

Charles McCready. The cop fired one shot, but then held further fire as a crowd gathered.

Police reinforcements arrived and also John Przychocki, a slaughterhouse worker, armed with an electric prod pole and some rope. The pole and rope only served to excite the cow further and she ran into an alley.

As a last resort, police drove full speed at the cow with a patrol wagon, knocked the animal to the ground and then ended it's life with a bullet.

Deny Oppenheimer Right to Argue Case

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Atomic Energy Commission has confirmed that Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer can present written — but not oral — arguments for study by the commission when it reviews his security case.

A special AEC board last week ruled that Oppenheimer, pioneer atomic researcher, was a "loyal citizen" but, by a 2-1 vote, held he is a security risk who must be barred from further access to nuclear secrets.

Oppenheimer had asked permission to present both written and oral arguments for the AEC review. The AEC last night officially confirmed earlier reports that only written arguments would be allowed.

The American Medical association was established in 1846.
