Jet Flashes Across Continent in Fastest Time Ever Recorded

Noted Publisher James M. Cox Dies in Ohio

Led Democratic Ticket in '20 National Election; Lost to Harding

DAYTON, Ohio (INS)—Funeral arrangements were completed today for publisher James M. Cox, 87, who was the first person to serve as Ohio's governor three terms.

Cox, also the Democratic nominee for president in 1920, died last night at his home in Dayton. He had been in failing health for some time but remained active in his publications until two weeks ago.

The Cox newspaper chain included The Dayton Daily News and the Dayton Journal-Herald. Only a month ago Cox spoke at the opening of a new plant housing the two Dayton papers.

Cox went into a coma after suffering a stroke Friday and never regained consciousness.

Cox, whose career was in the best American tradition, was born on a farm near Jacksonburg in the southwestern corner of Ohio, on March 30, 1870. He was the descendant of an early American family.

In almost legendary fashion, Cox started as a printers devil to

But Plane Fails to Travel Faster Than Sound

Marine Pilot's Attempt Only 9 Minutes Short of Beating Sonic Waves

FLOYD BENNETT FIELD, N. Y. (INS) — A Navy jet plane crossed the nation in the fastest time in history today but missed by nine minutes an attempt to go from California to New York faster than sound.

Marine Corps Major John Glenn Jr., 36, reached Floyd Bennett Field outside New York City at 12:27.2 P. M. EDT.

This gave him an elapsed time of three hours, 23 minutes.

To match the speed of sound, Glenn would have had to complete the 2,460-mile flight in three hours, 14 minutes.

The old transcontinental speed record was three hours, 44 minutes, set in 1955 by Lt. Col. Robert D. Scott in a Republic F84F.

SET RECORD

Glenn set his record in a Crusader F8U-1.

A second plane in the Navy's dramatic "Operation Bullet" came to grief at its first air refueling attempt over New Mexico, and was forced to come down, landing safely at Albuquerque. This plane was piloted by Naval Lt. Cmdr. Charles Demmler, 33.

Glenn, from New Concord, Ohio, and Demmler, of Hastings-on-Hudson, N.Y., took off in quick

Toll Road Meeting Sought by Higgins

Michigan Turnpike Authority Chairman George N. Higgins, of Ferndale was in Lansing today in a bid to include a toll road in Michigan's highway plans.

Higgins hoped to arrange a meeting of the authority and its financial backers with new State Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie and his staff.

Higgins and Mackie were expected to huddle today in a preliminary conference.

ROAD IS FEASIBLE

Wall Street bankers have told Higgins that a toll road is financially feasible only if its anticipated traffic is not drawn off by competing free highways in the turnpike corridor.

The authority's present proposal is a 76-mile road from the Detroit Industrial Expressway through the northeast corner of Pontiac to the southeast edge of Flint.

Higgins believes that a toll road is the least expensive method of putting a new, north-south traffic artery through Oakland County. He hopes that Mackie will designate the road as part of the interstate highway system from Toledo to the Straits of Mackinac.

ZIEGLER IN WAY

Up until this spring the authority was stymied by former highway commissioner Charles M. Ziegler's plans to build a free expressway roughly paralleling the turnpike route. Ziegler's road was planned as part of the interstate system.

However, Higgins hopes that Mackie, who took office July 1, will reverse this stand.

★ ★ ★

Mackie, who has said he is approaching the controversy with "an open mind," has given no indication yet what his answer will be.

Cheasty Sought Job With Hoffa

So Says Witness for Defense in Teamsters Conspiracy Trial

WASHINGTON (AP) — A defense witness in the bribery-conspiracy trial of James R. Hoffa testified today that John Cye Cheasty sought out a job as a lawyer for Hoffa.

The witness, Max Lurie, a Miami attorney, said Cheasty told him by telephone on Feb. 7 that he needed a job "very badly."

Lurie is a law associate of Hyman I. Fischbach.

Fischbach and Hoffa, Midwest boss of the Teamsters Union, are accused of conspiring to bribe Cheasty to get a job on the staff of the senate rackets investigating committee and feed to Hoffa confidential information on its operations.

Lurie testified that Cheasty, whom he had met earlier, telephoned Fischbach on Feb. 7 and after talking with him asked that Lurie come on the line.

He said Cheasty told him he understood Lurie and Fischbach were going to represent Hoffa and the Teamsters Union in connection with the Senate investigation.

Lurie testified that Cheasty said he would "like to become associated with you in that work." He further quoted Cheasty as saying he could be of "great help" in view of his experience. Lurie said he told Cheasty that Hoffa would have to approve his employment.

Lurie's version was in conflict with Cheasty's testimony Cheasty said he had never discussed employment with Fischbach before Feb. 12, when Fischbach called him from Washington and told him he had a job for him.

Arraign Suspect in Trunk Murder

Elevator Operator Calls Death Clear 'Accident,' Says Record Proves It

NEW YORK (AP)—A young man charged with New York's sensational "trunk murder" insisted at his arraignment today that the record shows clearly his claim that the killing was an accident.

★ ★ ★

This account already has been given police by Edward J. Polakowski, 26-year-old would-be actor who was accused of shooting James F. Malloy, 53, and stuffing Malloy's body in a small trunk.

Polakowski maintained to officers that he had only meant to frighten Malloy because Malloy was seeking to collect a loan at heavy interest rates.

Taken to Felony Court for arraignment on a homicide charge, Polakowski said he had no money to hire a lawyer. The court then appointed Benjamin Schmier of the Legal Aid Society.

★ ★ ★

Schmier spoke with Polakowski. "I did not intend to make a statement at this time, but the defendant wishes me to make one so that the record will show in the future," Schmier said, "that from the outset he said that this shooting was an accident, that he never intended to kill the deceased and that he merely wanted to frighten him but that the deceased leaped at the gun."

When Schmier concluded, the courut ordered Polakowski held without bail for a hearing July 26.

56 Missing at Sea in Airline Crash

THE HAGUE, Netherlands (AP)—Native boats and launches from the Dutch destroyer Kortenauer searched the sea off northwest New Guinea today for 56 persons missing in the predawn crash of a big Dutch airliner.

Eleven Dutch passengers and the Dutch stewardess were rescued.

KLM Airline said the missing included 53 Dutch and 3 Britons. Four of the survivors were seriously injured.

There were 17 children aboard the plane, but KLM could not say immediately how many of them were missing.

The Lockheed Super-Constellation, carrying 59 passengers and a crew of nine, plunged into 600 feet of water shortly before dawn five miles off Biak Island.

One early report said the plane was in flames when it crashed, but a KLM communique did not metion a fire.

The plane, the Neutron, was on a regular flight to Amsterdam by way of Manila, Jakarta, Bangkok, Rangoon, Karachi, Beirut and Rome.

Most of those aboard were civil servants or navy men and their families.

Among the rescued were two entire families, one with three children and one with one child, and a father and one of his six children. Six of the eight families aboard had children.

Biak Island is the largest of the Schouten group off the northern coast of Western New Guinea, a Dutch colony.

Abbott Denies He'll Leave Show World

VENTURA, Calif. (AP)—Bud Abbott, who owns a ranch near here, says that his split with Lou Costello doesn't mean that he's retiring from the entertainment world.

Abbott yesterday verified Costello's disclosure that the famous team was separating. Costello also had stated that Abbott planned to devote his time to raising horses.

★ ★ ★

"I'd starve to death, ranching," Abbott said. "Why I only have two animals on the place—one milk cow that went dry and one horse. And the ranch is up for sale."

Abbott is the slenderer and older — by 10 years, at 61 — half of the team. He said that the parting was amicable.

"Lou said he wanted to try it alone and I told him to go ahead, and that I would work out something for myself," said Abbott. "I've got to work to keep groceries on the table, and there's only one type of work I know—entertainment."

Rackets Group Broadens Probe

New Targets Include Wide Variety of Abuses by Labor, Management

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Rackets Committee today broadened its probe to cover a wide variety of labor - management abuses.

The expanded agenda — including investigations of union and company political activities — seemed aimed at creating background for eventual amendment of the Taft-Hartley labor relations law.

Chairman McClellan (D-Ark) announced after a committee strategy session yesterday that the eight-man group had voted to study such matters as union picketing and boycotts as well as employer interference with union organizing.

The committee's new 11-point program appeared to mark a swing from investigations which so far have concentrated heavily although not exclusively on improper use of union funds.

It was indicated future hearings will continue most of the summer and remainder of the year and will probably deal with many phases of labor-management problems.

McClellan disclosed the committee, after cleaning up a few matters today in its Teamsters and Bakery Workers Union investigations, will launch a new set of hearings tomorrow dealing with the United Textile Workers of America.

STILL COMPETES

That is a former AFL union which still competes within the AFL-CIO with the former CIO Textile Workers Union of America.

McClellan's statement said the hearings will concern "the use of union funds in the purchase of homes" in a Washington suburb for UTW President Anthony Valente and Secretary Treasurer Lloyd Klenert "and the purchase of clothing, furniture and costly vacations in fashionable resort areas by Klenert."

Born 12 Years Ago Today Over New Mexico Desert

Atomic Power Main Hope for Future of World

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
AP Science Reporter

Soft dawn light stole over Alamagordo, tinting mountains sleeping unchanged for hundreds of years.

Then in sudden shocking fire and fury the mountains trembled, blazed under the brightest light seen on earth.

In that instant, man's future changed irrevocably.

For this was the dawn of the atomic age, 12 years ago today on the New Mexico desert. Man had set off his first atomic explosion. In that instant was born the new age of atomic power for war or peace.

Three weeks later more than 78,000 men women and children died under the atom at Hiroshima. Three more days, and 39,000 perished at Nagasaki. Quickly, the bloodiest war in human history ended.

OBLITERATION POSSIBLE

Today, this brief dozen years later, West and East stand armed with atomic weapons which could obliterate the world's cities and peoples.

Statesmen seek a path to disarmament. Ordinary folk hope these awesome weapons can mean an end to war. Awesome they are, A-bombs and H-bombs as vastly superior to that first Alamagordo explosion as a sleek modern car is to a horse and buggy. Atomic shells for cannon... warheads of atomic terror for rockets... missiles that span whole oceans.

Radioactive fallout, the poisonous dust from bomb tests, worries and puzzles millions... housewives and scientists, butchers and diplomats. Is fallout dooming unborn generations, is it shortening or damaging our own lives? Nations seek an end to tests, all started with that secret explosion 12 years ago.

These are worrisome fruits from the power of the atom.

But the atom also is being controlled to supply electricity and power to build civilization and make life easier. Several dozen peacetime atomic power stations are being built or already operating around the world. The atom is coming to the rescue of nations—like Britain—already hungry for lack of cheap or enough coal and oil.

MORE AND MORE POWER

The atom is driving submarines, faster and farther than ever before possible. It soon will power airplanes and surface ships, some day trains too.

The atom is giving us new and better products. It has saved industry millions of dollars through tell-tale radioactive atoms made in atomic furnaces. Radioactive atoms are measuring engine wear detecting leaks in oil pipe lines, inspecting welds and castings, doing dozens of new jobs.

★ ★ ★

Rays from radioactive atoms are combatting cancer and other diseases, solving secrets of the human body. Radioactive atoms are helping farmers, devising more efficient fertilizers, promising more disease-resistant plants.

For four years from Alamagordo, America enjoyed an atomic bomb monopoly.

REDS SHOCKED US

Russia rudely shocked us awake with her first A-bomb test in 1949, raced us closely to achieve a super-weapon, the H-bomb.

In 12 years, the United States has detonated 72 A-bombs and H-bombs or devices, Russia at least 24 and likely more, Britain 10.

Russia scored with the first real power-producing atomic plant. Britain is counting heavily on power from the atom within a few years. We have more than a dozen civilian A-plants rising or planned. Other nations are tapping the atom for peaceful growth. With natural fuels facing depletion, the atom is a main hope for the world's future.

Plane Victim Flying Home

Grand Rapids Woman Hurt in Moscow Crash Gets MATS Airlift

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) — Mrs. Margaret Tremper, of Grand Rapids, Mich., seriously injured June 14 when a Polish airliner crashed near Moscow, left here by air today for the United States.

She was aboard a Military Air Transport Service four - engine medical evacuation plane that left Rhein Main Airbase for McGuire Air Force Base, N. J. Officials said MATS would airlift Mrs. Tremper from McGuire on to Grand Rapids.

With Mrs. Tremper on the evacuation plane was her husband Lawrence, a Grand Rapids osteopath. He flew to her bedside two weeks ago. A daughter, Michelle, 13, also was injured. She flew home last week.

Nine persons were killed and four injured when the Russian-built Polish airliner crashed during a landing attempt at Moscow after a flight from Warsaw.

Mrs. Tremper was flown out of Moscow last Friday by the U. S. Air Force plane that took U. S. Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson to the Soviet capital. She has been hospitalized since then in the Air Force hospital at Wiesbaden.

Sally Sharp Wins Match Play Opener

Sally Sharp of Forest Lake, defending women's state champion, began her title defense this morning with a 4 and 3 victory over Mrs. Jane Israel of Norwood as match play began in the Women's Amateur State Tournament at Orchard Lake Country Club.

Sally meets Margaret Watkins in her next match. Mrs. Watkins defeated Mrs. R. G. Martell 2 and 1 in the top bracket of Monday's qualifying.

Miss Sharp finished her 1st match with a par four on No. 15. She wound up with an 80 playing out the round in an effort to break 79. A missed four-foot putt on No. 18 spoiled the try.

The big upset of the 1st day's matches was the defeat of Mrs. Rylma Marquardt of Gowanie. She fell to Mrs. Harley Higbie of Detroit Golf Club, 2-up.

Another match that finished at noon saw Mrs. E. O. Reynolds of Lansing win 1-up over Helen Grinnell of Lochmoor.

Why does the air seem to thin out before a rain? What actually happens to the air?

The thinning out of the air before a rain is sometimes real, sometimes fiction. In coastal areas, the arrival of turbulent and unstable air clears up the salt haze that is apparent on clear days, and caused by evaporation. Visibility increases and the air seems thinner.

Sometimes it is, and the old weather saying, that sea gulls sitting rather than flying indicate rain, is often right. Inland, air doesn't always thin out before a rain either. A lowering cloud ceiling, and the arrival of moving or unstable air, seems to thin the air.

The lower cloud ceiling makes noises sound clearer, or nearer, and the mixing effort of moving air clears away smoke or haze. But the rule to remember, at the coast or inland, is that cold or cooler air is heavier—denser—than warm air.

So the arrival of a warm front, or warmer, moist air, can and does bring about a thinning of the air.

become publisher of a group of metropolitan papers; his interest in politics led him from a congressman's secretary to congressman; and he was a governor, serving in 1913 to 1915 and 1917 to 1921, who ran for president.

ACQUIRED PAPERS

Over the years, Cox acquired the Miami, Fla., Daily News, the Atlanta Journal, and the Atlanta Constitution, and a number of radio stations.

Cox, a former farm boy and school teacher in his formative years, was chosen as standard bearer at the Democratic convention of 1920 with Franklin D. Roosevelt as running mate.

He was defeated by another Ohio publisher, Warren G. Harding. The principal issue was the League of Nations and Cox remained a strong advocate of the League although after his defeat he devoted himself solely to his publications.

In 1893, Cox married Mayme L. Harding of Cincinnati. They were divorced in 1910. In 1917 he married Margaretta Blair, of Chicago.

Two sons, James Jr. of Dayton, and John of New Rochelle, N. Y., survive the first marriage. Two daughters, Mrs. Robert Chambers, of Atlanta, Ga., and Mrs. James Glover, of Honolulu, were born to the second. Also surviving are five grandchildren.

Burial will be private in Dayton Wednesday with memorial services at Christ Episcopal Church.

New Railroad Yard Defended

Retired Engineer Says Selected Site Is Best of 4 Offered

The Grand Trunk Railroad's plans for a new switch yard in Pontiac's north side were defended in Circuit Court today.

★ ★ ★

The railroad's chief engineer in planning the project testified that the site west of Baldwin avenue and south of W. Walton boulevard was selected only after four other proposals were rejected because of inconvenience and cost.

ENGINEER TESTIFIES

The engineer, Norman J. Laird, who has since retired, indicated that the site on which the railroad and city finally agreed last November after almost a year of negotiations, was the best one to serve Pontiac industry.

★ ★ ★

Nine residents of the neighborhood near the proposed yard have brought suit against the railroad and city, claiming a switchyard would be a neighborhood nuisance in violation of zoning and a cause of home value depreciation.

★ ★ ★

Laird said that two alternate sites proposed during negotiations by a city engineering consultant sloped too much in the wrong direction to make a switchyard practical.

★ ★ ★

A proposal to enlarge the present Oakland avenue switchyard called for three grade separations over city streets that would have cost $3,000,000, with 85 per cent of the cost to be borne by the city, Laird said.

★ ★ ★

Another grade separation, costing between $1,500,000 and $1,750,000 would have been necessary if the fourth proposal, between Joslyn avenue and the railroad, was adopted, Laird said.

★ ★ ★

The city and railroad already have agreed on the yard. A set of safety and anti-nuisance regulations agreed upon in May set the machinery in operation for construction of the $750,000 project.

★ ★ ★

The residents are asking Circuit Judge George B. Hartrick for an injunction blocking the construction. Judge Hartrick refused a temporary injunction when the suit was filed May 20.

STREAKED EAST

Glenn, the first off, was in the air and streaking east at 6:05 a.m. PDT, or 9:05 New York time. Demmler took off 18 minutes later.

★ ★ ★

Although Demmler's plane was out of the race quickly, Major Glenn almost through the entire flight had what seemed a good chance to get to New York faster than sound, which meant an average speed of 760-plus miles per hour.

At the halfway point, 10:45 a.m., he was halfway across the nation and two minutes ahead of the better-than-sound schedule. This was after his second refueling.

But by the time of his third and last refueling from jet air tankers over the vicinity of Columbus, Ohio, just before noon, Glenn had lost some headway.

1,000 MILES

At times during the flight, flown most of the way at altitudes above 50,000 feet, Major Glenn hit speeds of better than 1,000 miles per hour.

Maj. Glenn was welcomed at Floyd Bennett by Asst. Secretary of the Navy for Air Garrison Norton and Lt. Gen. Verne J. McCaul, director of aviation for the Marine Corps.

The F8U-1 jet was officially timed over the control tower at the Naval Air Station in Brooklyn by National Aeronautic Association timers F. H. Wilkinson, of Garden City, L. I., and William Zint, of the Bronx.

The Korean War pilot, who now has flown across the nation faster than any other man, shot down three MIGs in nine days in the closing months of the Korean conflict.

The pilot is married and has two children — Carolyn, 10, and Dave, 11.

His "Crusader" fighter took off from the Los Alamitos Airport, 20 miles from Los Angeles, at 6:04.12 a.m. (PDT) and 43 minutes later his craft, which had been whistling along at a speed of over 1,000 miles per hour, "slowed down" to around 300 m.p.h. so that he could refuel from a flying "gas tank."

Radar trackers reported him over Shaptuck, Okla., 740 miles from his start, one hour after his plane hurtled from the starting line.

The veteran Marine Corps officer, the winner of 17 air medals, passed the half-way mark in his epic West-East flight at 10:45 a.m. (EDT) when he scooted past Hutchinson, Kas., two minutes ahead of his scheduled three-hour-and-14-minute cross-country flight plan.

He "wasted" seven minutes near Emporia, Kas., when he refueled from a second navy tanker.

Links Kasper, 7 Defendants

Clinton Policeman Tells of Frequent Meetings Witnessed at Night

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—A government witness described today a series of night meetings, linking segregationist John Kasper with seven other defendants in the Clinton segregation trial.

The witness was Jess Braden, 50, a Clinton policeman.

His testimony in U.S. District Court was the strongest so far in support of the federal government's contention that 14 Tennesseans conspired with Kasper to defy a court order against interference with desegregation of Clinton High School.

Braden said he saw Kasper in Clinton frequently anywhere from 7 to 11 at night, even after 12. "Once I saw him at 3 a.m."

U.S. Dist. Atty. John C. Crawford Jr. asked the officer if he saw other defendants with Kasper.

In a dramatic identification scene, the policeman pointed to the line of defendants inside the courtroom rail.

★ ★ ★

He named Lawrence J. Brantley, Alonzo Bullock, Clyde Cook, William Barkebill, Clifford Carter, W. H. Till and Mrs. Mary Nell Currier.

The defense fought hard to prevent the identification, arguing that the policeman had not fixed the times definitely, and that he merely pointed at "that bald-headed man" when he identified Carter.

Braden said he saw these people with Kasper, and others whom he did not know in a restaurant in Clinton. He estimated they averaged one meeting a week "all through August to December first."

★ ★ ★

This was the period of the violence which finally forced the temporary closing of the high school after Negro students had been admitted.

Braden, a powerfully built man, tieless and in a white shirt, stood up in the witness box when he identified the accused persons.

Defense objections became so fierce that U.S. Dist. Judge Robert L. Taylor, with a sharp edge in his voice, said to Robert L. Dobbs, chief counsel for the 14 Tennessee defendants: "There will be no more remarks like that, Mr. Dobbs."

Gov. Williams Battles Unemployment

Proposes 'Earnest Talks' With Automobile Leaders

LANSING (AP) — "Maybe it is time for some earnest talks with automobile leaders."

With these words, Gov. Williams served notice yesterday that he intends to do something about unemployment in Michigan.

He described the situation as "a public emergency."

★ ★ ★

Williams cited disheartening reports from the Michigan Employment Security Commission and the Governor's Emergency Industrial Production Commission showing a slow, but steady, increase in the number of jobless workers in recent months.

MESC figures placed the total at 195,000 May 15, equal to 6.7 per cent of the state's labor force.

Walker L. Cisler, president of the Detroit Edison Co. and chairman of the governor's commission, predicted in a report made public 11 days ago that the total would rise to 235,000 by Aug. 15, largely because of layoffs for model changeovers in the automobile industry.

TRACE TROUBLE TO AUTOS

Most of the trouble, the governor said, seems to be traceable to the automakers.

MESC records show a decline of 50,000 jobs in the manufacturing industry between November, 1956, and May, 1957, and 27,000 of these, Williams said, "are directly attributable to lower payrolls in the auto industry."

At the same time, he said, nonmanufacturing employment mounted to a new high of 1,280,000 in May.

★ ★ ★

Cisler's report indicates that although employment is falling in the auto plants, output is expected to be about the same as last year.

"If this is a reflection of automation or other labor-saving methods in the auto industry, maybe we will have to do a really mammoth job of retraining workers to enter other industries," Williams said.

As a start in easing the unemployment load, the governor said he would ask the MESC for a report on the sources of the biggest layoffs.

LIMIT EMERGENCY

"Then maybe we can take some effective steps to limit the emergency," he said.

Next, he said he would try to arrange some "earnest talks" with automotive industry and labor leaders.

"Over the last few years we have had several of these auto industry recessions," Williams said. "It is intolerable that this great and wealthy and fundamentally sound community should have to go through these periodic tribulations."

DIANE ERICKSON

Waterford Girl on New Quest

Township Queen Eyes Miss Michigan Crown at Muskegon

"Miss Waterford Township," Diane Erickson, left today for the Miss Michigan Pageant to be held at Muskegon Wednesday.

She was accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Leslie C. Erickson of 6465 Monrovia Ave., Waterford Township, and president of the Sports and Builders show in March, Donald Arsen.

Sponsored by the JCs in the Diane was chosen from a group of 13 local beauties. She was judged on her talent, grace and charm, intellectual ability and personality as well as physical beauty.

13 BEAUTIES

The winner of the Miss Michigan contest will have the opportunity of competing with other girls at the Atlantic City contest in September for the title of Miss America.

During her four-day stay in Muskegon, Diane will be entertained by officials of that city in a parade, yachting trips and on other scheduled activities. About 19 girls are expected to be registered, Arsen said.

★ ★ ★

Diane graduated from Waterford Township High School last year, and is employed at the Liberty Loan Company on Huron street as secretary-receptionist.

This is the second year that the Junior Chamber of Commerce, local JCs have sponsored a beauty contest. Last year's winner was Joyce Phipps of 9011 Gale Rd.

Potter Asks Hearing on Lake Subsidies

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Potter (R-Mich) today urged a "prompt" House hearing on a Senate-passed bill to give Great Lakes shipyards the same government subsidies now received by Atlantic, Pacific and Gulf Coast shipbuilders.

★ ★ ★

In a letter to Chairman Bonner (D-NC) of the House Merchant Marine Committee, Potter said the scheduled 1959 opening of the St. Lawrence Seaway makes the change needed.

★ ★ ★

"It is only logical that the deep-draft vessels which will travel that water route (the St. Lawrence Seaway) should be constructed at Great Lakes ports," Potter wrote.

He added the Navy Department considers increased shipbuilding on the Great Lakes "advantageous to the Navy in the event of future mobilization."

"Even if defense needs were not involved," Potter told Bonner, "the question of fairness would indicate that Great Lakes ports should receive their proper share of the shipbuilding of the nation."

★ ★ ★

Potter said the measure would "pave the way" for "new prosperity for Michigan and Great Lakes ports."

The Day in Birmingham

Derby Sidewalk Question Meets Lengthy Discussion

BIRMINGHAM — City officials and residents are not in accord concerning the need of sidewalks along Derby road. Residents pointed out last night that the original builders in the area had deliberately omitted sidewalks for the appearance of greater lawn area.

They repeated that they had no objections to pedestrians using the lawn area to walk on nor for children attending vicinity schools to ride their bicycles across seeded sections.

They maintained, too, that sidewalks would be an influence toward drawing children to the street and increase rather than decrease the danger to them.

City officials said that they agreed with members of the school board on the necessity a sidewalk for safety sake. They pointed out the fact that with Pembroke Elementary and Derby Junior High School in the vicinity, they feel there will be a number of children walking through the section.

They said that while they agreed with residents that the cost would be unpleasant, they felt no child's life could be risked for the sake of saving money or for the beautiful lawn area.

Residents countered this by saying that there were probably not more than half a dozen children walking through there. They suggested that the program be dropped and brought up again when peedstrians use increases.

After lengthy discussion commissioners decided that insofar as only four officials were present, the question would be postponed until the meeting of July 29. Residents may again appear at that time to voice protests although commissioners gave them no assurance that their wishes would be followed.

Officials did tell residents that the walk would carry an estimated cost of $2.50 per front foot. There is an alternative way for installation if the necessity is proved. Residents may install the walk themselves or the city may come in and do it assessing back to the property owner. Another method would be the creation of a special assessment district.

An amendment to the zoning ordinance was passed last night granting a Business C zoning to properties along 14 Mile road. The area covers about two and a half blocks. It is currently zoned by Business A.

Properties immediately to the north are a better type of single family residence while the area to the south apart of the city of Royal Oak, also is single family. Currently occupying the rezoned stretch are medical clinics, churches and two gas stations.

The question of motor scooters, their hazards and annoyance factors were brought before commissioners last night after one member had received several calls from residents.

★ ★ ★

Police Chief Ralph W. Moxley said that state law permits licensing of boys and girls at the age of 14 to operate vehicles of not more than five horsepower. There is nothing, he said, that the city can do to spot them unless they can get state action.

★ ★ ★

Moxley pointed out, however, that in his opinion, parents should do all they can to discourage the use of scooters. He said he felt that they were the most dangerous of any type of motor vehicle on the streets today.

Rosary services will be at 7 p.m. tonight in the Ted C. Sullivan Funeral Home, Detroit.

Ike 'Hands Off' on Rights Bill

Sen. Knowland Reports President Doesn't Insist on Passage As Is

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower today was reported adopting a hands-off policy toward possible Senate changes in the administration's civil rights bill.

Sen. Knowland (R-Calif) said he does not expect the President to take any public stand.

★ ★ ★

"President Eisenhower has never insisted on acceptance of the House bill as it is," Knowland said in an interview. "He does not regard that as his prerogative. It is a matter for the Senate to decide."

★ ★ ★

The Senate will vote later in the day on Knowland's motion to bring the House-passed bill officially before it.

Knowland, commanding a coalition of Republicans and Northern Democrats who expect to pass a civil rights bill, said he recognizes the House measure may need some "clarifying" amendments.

★ ★ ★

Sen. Russell (D-Ga) has raised the spector of "bayonet rule" enforcement of all civil rights under one provision of the bill. Knowland said this provision may need "clarifying."

"It was never intended or implied that federal troops would be used to enforce civil rights under this bill," he said.

Russell has picked up support from Senators Anderson (D-NM), Mundt (R-SD) and others for limiting application of the measure to cases involving voting rights.

Can Revolutionize Electronics

Introducing 'Spacistor'

WALTHAM, Mass. (AP) — Paste this word in your memory: "spacistor" (pronounced space-sister). It's the name given to a "startling scientific breakthrough" announced today by a team of scientists at Raytheon Manufacturing Co. They say it can change many things in the world of electronics in the years to come.

★ ★ ★

The team of physicists at Raytheon, which among other things is one of the world's leading makers of transistors, say spacistors will be able to do things that transistors just can't do—to benefit guided missiles and rockets, radars and communications equipment—and TV sets.

★ ★ ★

The spacistors are tiny and light—they'll operate at temperatures where transistors are unreliable. They don't need much electricity. They respond more rapidly than transistors. They don't use critical materials and have theoretically unlimited life. Some of these qualities are the kind TV engineers will be looking for when they develop the "flat" picture tube and want a very lightweight chassis for a TV set you can hang on a wall —something like a picture.

Angry Youth Kills Sister, Wounds Parents in Fight

VIRGINIA, Minn. (AP) — An 18-year-old youth, angered, police said, because his parents shut off a record player, fatally shot his 4-year-old sister and critically wounded his mother last night.

His father suffered minor wounds and another sister was injured as she attempted to disarm him.

Police Lt. Ernest Johnson said the youth, William Niemi Jr., whom he described as a "problem boy" recently released from a state training school, admitted firing on his family with a pistol and a shotgun.

The 4-year-old child, Mary, was slain in her bedroom crib "because she was screaming all the time," Johnson quoted Niemi as saying. Mrs. Niemi was shot twice and was reported in serious condition. Her husband, 41, was shot in the arm by a pistol shot when he fled from the house to summon police.

Marilyn, 15-year-old sister, suffered facial burns when her brother fired on her as she sought to disarm him. When police entered the home, Marilyn was lying at the bottom of the steps gripping tightly and lying on the shotgun.

Johnson gave this sequence of events from the boy's oral statement.

William had been drinking during the evening while his parents were visiting relatives in a nearby town. They returned home about 11:30 p.m. and Niemi cut down the volume of the record player his son was using.

A few minutes later Mrs. Niemi turned off the machine, and her son stormed from the house. He got a .38-caliber pistol from the garage and as his mother appeared on the rear porch, shot her down. The elder Niemi, reading in the kitchen, rushed to his wife's aid and was greeted with a new burst of shooting. Wounded in the arm, he ran to a neighbor's to summon help.

★ ★ ★

The ammunition for the pistol exhausted, the youth went upstairs got the shotgun and killed his young sister before Marilyn rushed and disarmed him.

When police and deputy sheriffs arrived, the youth threatened them from the top of the stairs by swinging a tire chain but was quickly subdued.

Niemi was held without charge.

Waterford Supervisor Says Million and Half Gallons Pumped

Supervisor Elmer Johnson told Waterford Township Board members at last night's meeting that more than a million-and-a-half gallons of water were pumped out of the Whitfield Estates Subdivision after last week's downpour.

At the time pumping operations ceased, there was 11 inches of muddy water standing on the surface of Homestead avenue, Johnson said.

Johnson and Anderson Engineers made surveys yesterday and rough estimates will be presented at next Monday night's meeting, Supervisor Johnson said.

Township firemen worked for more than 100 hours pumping water from the subdivision to Maceday Lake directly to the north of the subdivision.

Other business last evening involved a lengthy discussion and explanation regarding the 1956-57 audit report presented by auditor Eugene Moore. Purpose of the public audit presentation was to acquaint members with all township accounts.

The Rural Zoning ordinance has again been tabled for further study before the board takes action.

Clerk James Seeterlin's request for bids for a permanent fence around the Waterford Village cemetery was also tabled for further study.

Opponents Won't Budge in Northville Hospital Fight

DETROIT (AP) — Officials of controversial Northville State Hospital and leaders of the legislature held their ground today in the squabble over what led to the escape of six youthful inmates Saturday.

Hospital officials and legislators met two hours yesterday after charging each other with responsibility for conditions that led to the escape. Both sides came away with their minds unchanged.

★ ★ ★

The six youths overpowered a guard, looted a narcotics cabinet and escaped Saturday. Four were recaptured shortly. The other two surrendered at the hospital Sunday.

BLAME CUTBACKS

Dr. Robert Yoder, assistant in charge of the hospital at the time of the break, blamed legislative cutbacks that he said forced the institution to operate with an insufficient security force.

He said the outbreak was "a result of what can happen when there isn't enough staff."

State Sen. Porter (R-Blissfield), who said he called the meeting of legislators and doctors "to straighten out the doctors", criticized what he called faulty administration.

NO ENTRY

After the two-hour meeting a spokesman said the hospital would continue its new policy of not admitting mentally disturbed patients between 10 and 18 years old.

Dr. Yoder issued the order Sunday, saying, "We simply cannot manage adolescent patients with the number of attendants alloted to us by the legislature."

At Lansing, Gov. Williams said the shortage of personnel at Northville caught members of the Republican - controlled legislature "in a flood of their own making."

He said he may call a special session of the "Little Legislature" to discuss possible special funds to hire additional employes at mental institutions.

Northville authorities asked for $4,229,550 for salaries during the 1957-58 fiscal year, Williams said, and got $3,625,782 from the legislature.

The co-called "Little Legislature," comprised of members of the appropriating committees of the House and Senate, is empowered to act in emergencies between regular sessions of the legislature.

★ ★ ★

Along with Porter and Yoder, those attending the meeting included State Rep. Phillips (R-Port Huron), State Rep. Eaton (R-Plymouth), Charles F. Wagg, director of the State Department of Mental Health, and Dr. Philip N. Brown, medical superintendent of Northville State Hospital.

Engineer Says City Projects Are on Schedule

Pontiac's four million dollar public improvement program is progressing according to schedule, Lewis M. Wrenn, city engineer, announced.

★ ★ ★

"The heavy rains have caused considerable delays in our blacktopping work," he said, "but it still looks like we can complete the program except for probably a few projects."

The biggest single project, storm sewers for the Perry Park subdivision, is expected to be ready for bids soon. It, along with a $75,000 relief sewer for West Huron, will total $425,000 Wrenn said.

★ ★ ★

The public improvement program includes water mains, curb and gutters, major street paving, blacktopping, sanitary, storm and combined sewers, sidewalks, and grading and graveling.

★ ★ ★

The major street paving projects include the city's share of the Telegraph road underpass-relocation job, and the widening and paving of Perry street. Contracts for the latter State Highway Dept. work have not been let as yet, the official said.

Graham Crusade May Be Extended

NEW YORK (AP)—The executive committee of the Billy Graham crusade meets today to decide whether to extend the crusade an additional two or three weeks.

★ ★ ★

The New York crusade, scheduled to end Saturday, already has been extended once. When it started May 15, the windup was set for June 30.

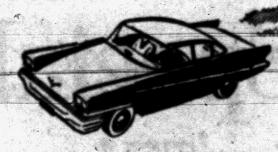

★ ★ ★

A spokesman for the evangelist said yesterday that he and the committee were "praying over the matter to decide whether the Lord is leading them to extend the meetings."

★ ★ ★

In line with the recent schedule allowing Graham a rest on Monday nights, there was no crusade meeting at Madison Square Garden last night.

Junior Editors Quiz on PORCUPINES

QUESTION: Can a porcupine shoot its quills?

ANSWER: Sometimes it seems as if the porcupine does because its quills are lightly attached to its skin and come out easily at the touch, but actually it does not "shoot" them.

The porcupine is a brown and white animal with sharp bristles all over his body. He is very slow in his movements and does not like to fight. Because of his quills he does not need to.

Sometimes a young dog foolishly attacks a porcupine. In no time at all, the dog is running home howling with a faceful of painful quills.

The Indians ate porcupine meat and used the quills to make bead work. They dyed the quills in various colors and sewed them into designs on their clothing.

★ ★ ★

FOR YOU TO DO: The Indian boy in this drawing is wearing porcupine quills on his head band and on the front of his shirt. Color them in the bright hues the Indians liked, and save for your Indian picture collection.

Will Circle Globe in 40-45 Hours

Passenger Jets Coming

ROME (INS) — Within two years jet passenger planes will be circling the globe in 40 to 45 hours of flying time.

★ ★ ★

Ten years ago, when Juan Trippe, pioneering president of Pan American World Airways, inaugurated the world's first regular 'round-the-world service, the elapsed flying time was more than 100 hours.

★ ★ ★

This time is now reduced to an average 80 hours on Pan American's 'round-the-world service.

Thus, jet planes will cut in half the present flying time.

Pilots, station managers and all officials connected with flying on world routes are keenly concerned about what will happen when jets move into the picture.

★ ★ ★

One big headache facing the lads who do the planning and the ones who do the actual work is what fields can be used by jet airliners.

It is an open secret that many of the fields where propeller-driven planes now land cannot be used by jets without considerable alteration.

But engineers feel that this problem, though a real one, can be licked.

One thing is certain, many of the present day stops can be bypassed by jetliners because they will not need refueling as frequently as propeller-driven planes.

Undoubtedly, those cities which cannot furnish fields for jet landings and takeoffs will still be served by conventional aircraft in order that passengers can fly to the nearest jet landing places to catch faster planes.

Don't Let This Happen To YOU! ....

Thousands of dollars in cash were lost in the recent hurricane as the accompanying news story states. This should be a warning to everybody who keeps large amounts of currency and other valuable papers at home.

Put Your Dollars to Work

By SYLVIA PORTER

This time, the dispatch came from the devastated area of Lake Charles, La.: "Searchers digging for bodies in the debris left by Hurricane Audrey said today they had found thousands of dollars in cash that had been horded by Cameron residents distrustful of banks . . ."

How wrong, how uneducated, how self-cheating can people be!

The losses of lives, homes, major possessions of all kinds in that stricken area stagger the imagination. But to add to all this, staggering losses in savings hoarded in currency at home — that simply is not understandable in this era in our country.

And thus, in this pitiful dispatch lies another warning to the other countless hundred of thousands who keep large amounts of currency at home, either because of fear, ignorance, prejudice, plain laziness or any other reason.

★ ★ ★

For even if these disaster victims had kept their cash at home in the form of United States Savings bonds and the bonds had been swept away and destroyed, they would have been completely protected against loss.

This, though, is only part of the story. Hoarding savings at home means you get no return from it at all. You could be putting your hard-earned money to work — safely — and letting it earn an income for you.

What your dollar will earn for you will depend on where you decide to deposit it or how you decide to invest it.

Pakistan's Leader Official U. S. Guest

Pakistan's Prime Minister H. S. Suhrawardy is being warmly welcomed in this country as a staunch ally and statesman of unusual ability.

Since the partition of the Indo-Pakistan subcontinent 10 years ago his homeland has been divided into two sections separated by 1,200 miles. The eastern part has the great bulk of the population and the western, most of the land area.

★ ★ ★

Last September Mr. Suhrawardy was carried into office by the victory of an opposition party, the Awami League, in East Pakistan and has used his political skill to hold East and West Pakistan together. A few weeks ago he won an overwhelming vote of confidence within his own party over criticism of steps taken at Karachi endorsing the Baghdad Pact and U. S. defense commitments.

★ ★ ★

In the April issue of Foreign Affairs Mr. Suhrawardy had this to say of his determination that Pakistan should have its first nationwide general election next March:

"Warning voices sometimes tell me that Pakistan is not ready for democratic process . . . there is no alternative way of bringing about rapport between authority and people, no other avenue to national fulfillment . . . Dictatorship would not combat corruption; it would erect corruption into principle . . . Politics is essential for the cohesion of the state and . . . the politicians are its servitors."

★ ★ ★

Much of Pakistan's progress can be attributed to its political leadership supported by American aid. President Iskander Mirza and Prime Minister Suhrawardy have done much to implement democratic processes.

Pass Up Hichhikers

New attention has been called by J. Edgar Hoover, head of the FBI, to the dangers incurred by motorists who pick up hitchhikers. Mr. Hoover knows what he is talking about. His department makes detailed studies of all crime, how it begins and how it is carried out.

★ ★ ★

"Picking up a hitchhiker is a dangerous, blind gamble," says Mr. Hoover. "Life and death are the possible stakes."

He warned that vicious youthful hoodlums, fleeing criminals and sex maniacs are increasing in number. He cited one example, that of William Edward Cook, who shot to death a family of five who had been kind enough to give him a lift on the highway. He threw their bodies into an abandoned mine shaft and drove away in their car.

★ ★ ★

Hoover cautioned motorists against the belief that they can spot criminals, or potential criminals, by their appearance. Even experienced law enforcement officers are unable to do this, he added.

★ ★ ★

Director Hoover's warning should be heeded. The American tradition of extending a helping hand tempts many motorists to take a chance. But the increasing dangers of picking up hitchhikers have become too serious and too frequently encountered to be ignored.

George H. Kimball Jr.

Pontiac and Oakland County is indebted to George H. Kimball Jr., who died suddenly last week following a stroke, for advancing the work of many worthwhile civic enterprises.

Like his father before him, he was ever ready to carry his part in any project, designed for a better community or meant to create a better life for his fellow men.

★ ★ ★

While secretary of the Pontiac Board of Commerce, prior to 1937, he was closely identified with the business life of the city. But his interests carried also into other fields. He was active in both the Oakland County and Pontiac YMCAs and helped establish the Birmingham 'Y'. His interest in young people also found an outlet in helping to establish boys' and girls' camps and in 4-H Club work.

★ ★ ★

He continued his interest in affairs about him during the later years of his life and pursued his objectives with an untiring zeal that stamped him as among the area's outstanding citizens.

David Lawrence Says:

Supreme Court Not 'Last Word'

WASHINGTON — This is the week when the American Bar Assn. is meeting in New York, and already there are the usual tirades against those lawyers and laymen who have had the temerity to criticize recent decisions of the Supreme Court of the United States.

LAWRENCE

The misleading theory that the Supreme Court is the "last word" and that, once the court has spoken, there is no right of criticism or any opportunity to secure a reversal has been widely propagated.

Actually, Congress has authority over the Supreme Court and can nullify its decisions at will in many instances by the simple method of specifying by law what cases the Supreme Court may or may not pass upon thereafter. The Constitution says:

"In all cases affecting ambassadors, other public ministers and consuls, and those in which a state shall be party, the Supreme Court shall have original jurisdiction. In all the other cases before mentioned, the Supreme Court shall have appellate jurisdiction, both as to law and fact, with such exceptions, and under such regulations as the Congress shall make."

This means that Congress can issue a set of "regulations" in which it can be stipulated, for example, that the Supreme Court may not review or accept for appeal any cases involving testimony taken by committees of Congress relating to contempt or refusal to answer.

SPECIFY BY LAW

The Congress also could by law specify that no cases shall be received by the Supreme Court for appeal involving local law-enforcement problems, such as the right of the Federal government or a state or city or county government to question before or after arraignment persons arrested and suspected of crime.

Congress can specify that these shall be hereafter decided by lower courts or specially constituted tribunals.

It is not generally realized that Congress has the power to create or abolish lower courts. The Constitution says:

"The judicial power of the United States shall be vested in one Supreme Court, and in such inferior courts as the Congress may from time to time ordain and establish. The judges, both of the supreme and inferior courts, shall hold their offices during good behavior, and shall, at stated times, receive for their services a compensation which shall not be diminished during their continuance in office."

Not only does the Congress have power to specify by law what "good behavior" means, but also what the District Courts and the U.S. Circuit Courts of Appeals shall rule upon. Through its power to "ordain and establish" special courts, Congress can deal with particular problems that may arise.

The Constitution, indeed, gives a very narrow jurisdiction over cases to the Supreme Court and gives the widest jurisdiction to Congress to declare what cases the highest court may properly undertake to review.

If, therefore, the Congress wishes to pass a law stating that the Supreme Court shall not review any cases involving schools or educational problems, this can be done without violating the Constitution.

EDUCATION TO STATES

Education can be left to state courts, and, when a Federal question arises, it can be given to Federal District Courts for final judgment.

The people, therefore, have a right to appeal to their elected representatives in Congress to take steps to curb what they believe is the recklessness and arbitrariness of the Supreme Court. It is an inherent right which the people have to express themselves on these points.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Pain in Pit of Stomach May Mean Appendicitis

"But I made sure," says Mrs. Yankee Wiseacre, reciting the history of her son's illness, "that the pain wasn't on the right side before I gave him the magnesia. Appendicitis pain is in the lower right side of the abdomen, isn't it?"

DR. BRADY

No, it isn't, ma'am, except in rare instances. Your mistaken idea led you to give a laxative or physic. That is not only inadvisable but, in the opinion of many good physicians and surgeons, dangerous treatment for bellyache.

★ ★ ★

The pain, distress, or bellyache in acute appendicitis is in the middle—not in the lower right side.

I say pain, distress, or bellyache because I remember the only discomfort I felt when I had appendicitis was of steadily increasing tension in my midst, as though something were about to burst. At operation only 18 or 20 hours after the very first of the discomfort, the appendix was found gangrenous.

But from the time the doctor arrived and gave me a hypodermic of morphine (I suppose), which was followed hours later by anoci-association preparation (morphine and scopolamine) to make me indifferent, the eight days in hospital seemed so pleasant that I was ashamed to accept so much solicitude.

PAIN IS CENTERED

In many instances acute appendicitis pain, although first felt in the "pit of the stomach"—the depression below the lower end of the breastbone—does later settle in the lower right quadrant.

★ ★ ★

The things to remember about acute appendicitis:

1. The pain at the beginning of appendicitis is in the middle.

2. Do not give laxative, physic, or cathartic if the patient has bellyache.

Well, then, what can one do?

Do nothing. Or put the patient in bed with heat to the feet and, if the patient doesn't object, heat to the belly too. Or call the doctor.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Country Parson

"I guess it's just as well it's so difficult for some men to see their own faults — it might be too discouraging."

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Crane Explains Nagging Women

Nagging women aren't limited to wives. Janet is a nagging sweetheart. Although she is engaged to Jerry. She goes out of her way to irritate him. And the more he meekly reasons with her, the worse she gets. Scrapbook this case and its follow-up tomorrow.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case V-338: Janet J., aged 22, is engaged to a very cultured genteel accountant.

"Jerry is his name," she began, "and he almost worships the ground I walk on.

"But whenever he is around, I just feel spiteful and mean. And I seem to go out of my way to embarrass him.

"Dr. Crane, what is wrong with me, anyway. I'm sure no man could ever be nicer to me than Jerry, but I just torment him and criticize him all the time.

"And he just ignores my naughtiness. I wish he would really paddle me some day till I came to my senses."

DR. CRANE

Janet is a classical case of a young engaged woman who craves more physical dominance.

She feels that Jerry is so mild he borders on the effeminate. So she tries to irritate him into anger, hoping thereby to make him explode.

★ ★ ★

And one reason why she subconsciously wishes him to blow his top, as it were, is the hope that we will then seize her roughly and shake her till her teeth rattle.

She wants more manhandling but he is so gallant and chivalrous that he never lays a hand on her, except dutifully to take her elbow when they cross a street.

When a man picks a sweetheart, he often regards her as a facsimile of his mother in a younger model.

Well, when a girl selects her mate, she often subconsciously chooses a man who is likewise a duplicate of her father except in a younger edition.

★ ★ ★

But girls have usually stood in some awe of their male parent. He is often the one who applied the hairbrush during their childhood and thus punished them when they were naughty.

★ ★ ★

So they usually retain a submerged respect for the greater physical strength of the male sex.

SISSY SWEETHEARTS

When they reach the late teens and thus begin to date, they expect a man to be dominant.

Oh, he doesn't need to order them around constantly or be bossy and a tyrant.

★ ★ ★

But somewhere in their social relationships girls expect him to lay down the law.

And they don't admire him if he lets them outbluff him or trample him under their feet.

Women are thus inclined to be masochists. That means they crave a mild amount of punishment and expect the male sex to be sadistic enough to give them a whipping when they deserve it.

Once a girl learns that she can rule her man and get away with infidelity, reckless spending via charge accounts, etc., she loses some of her inherent respect for her mate.

For normal women can't fully admire sissy males. The tang goes out of the kisses of such men.

JANET'S DILEMMA

Janet thus nags and affronts Jerry in the vague hope that he will explode and teach her the normal feminine respect for the greater physical dominance of the human male.

But he doesn't do so, which simply infuriates her further. That's why she adds insult to injury.

For she senses that his meekness verges on effeminacy. So she tries to force him into a more masculine role. See tomorrow's follow-up.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

The recent decision of the Supreme Court concerning the Girard case was summed up pretty well by the comment of Senator Jenner: "It is sorry indeed to think about the concern the Court has recently demonstrated for the rights of criminals, traitors, witnesses before Congressional Committees, and contrast it with their lack of concern about American servicement's rights."

Woman Is Irate About Drive-In

May I ask what this world is coming to? Wednesday night we took a few kids to a drive-in show. One of the girls had to get the money from her piggy bank and all she had was pennies. The ticket man absolutely refused to take the pennies, saying, "I'll be darned if I'll count out 80 pennies."

That wasn't quite bad enough, but just the week before we took my sister-in-law who is 11 years old. They refused to look at her birth certificate because, I quote: "Lipstick and everything!" That theater will no longer get our business.

Suggests Saving Uprooted Trees

Isn't there something that can be done with the trees that are being uprooted by the railroad to build the switchyard in the north end? It is a mighty sin the way they're cutting them down and then burning them. They could at least give (or even sell) the wood for fireplaces or something, but why just destroy them? I'm sure the City could find a spot to transplant them so they could make the place a little prettier.

Worried Mothers Receive Answer

I have an answer to those worried mothers. They say cussing teenagers are always annoying them. If they stopped and thought of what they say, teenagers would be sorry, for they aren't to blame for the way they're brought up.

They said teenagers are reckless drivers and are running down children. If they'd teach children to heed safety rules, this wouldn't happen. Naturally, some teenagers are to blame, but not all.

Don't forget your children will be teenagers soon.

'Reducing Arms Different Now'

Reducing arms expenditures is far different from what it was in years gone by. Then we had allies and even Russia pretended to be friendly. Today we stand more or less alone. It's our job and the world banks on us.

Says Pontiac Is Pretty Nice Town

People are very prone to complain about their home town, and I've heard people say that Pontiac is unattractive. But I was driving around the other day and it was a rare sight to see a home that wasn't well cared for. Nearly all the yards looked nice and most of them had flowers planted. Some of the homes weren't expensive, but they looked nice just the same. I think Pontiac's a pretty nice town.

Non-Resident

Is Appreciative After Comments

I never realized how lucky I am to have a mother-in-law like mine until I read some of the letters on the subject in The Press. There has never been a time when I have needed her, be it day or night, that she hasn't been willing and happy to listen to my troubles or help in any way she possibly can, even though she has many troubles of her own. I couldn't even begin to tell how much she has helped me during the fine five years of my marriage.

He's Completely Satisfied With His Wife of 17 Years

Rossano Brazzi Isn't Available, Girls

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK (INS) — Rossano Brazzi, the Italian movie hero whose wooing of Katie Hepburn in "Summertime" increased his country's tourism by 70 per cent last year, sailed into New York the other day with his wife of 17 years.

★ ★ ★

Those three little words, "with his wife," are recorded here to save Brazzi from loss of life, limb and locks of hair.

Before the words had got out, he was met at the dock by dozens of swoonish American females, one of whom had traveled 17 hours on a coach train from Georgia, who wanted plaintively to know:

"If you could love Katharine Hepburn so much, couldn't you give just a little to me?"

★ ★ ★

Brazzi, for this interview, is sitting amiably in a suite at the Hotel Pierre. The decor blends nicely —the gray-white upholstery matching his hair at the temples, the walnut desk simulating his outdoor complexion—and his wife is all the way in the next room, doing her toenails and laughing in tinkles.

SENSE OF HUMOR

"She always laughs," he says, grinning. "My wife has a wonderful sense of humor. After 'Summertime,' some girls came from America to Rome to visit us. One of them, a very nice woman of 50 or 52, followed us all the way to Venice and we tried to be nice to her.

★ ★ ★

"We dined her and tried to reason with her but finally on a terrace one night she breaks down and cries and tells Lidia (Mrs. Brazzi) that she wants me to marry her. Lidia is wonderful — she soothes her.

"But eventually she laughs, never to another one's face."

Brazzi's three best-known movie roles to date, in "Three Coins in the Fountain," "Summertime" and the upcoming "Interlude," have required him to make love —sincerely and broodingly — to young American women.

This qualifies him as an expert on the compelling question: Can the American spinster, seeking romance, find a man like himself by traveling abroad in the sweet summertime?

"Ah, I tell you, in America and in Italy and even in Africa, men and women are the same and so is the feeling," he says, shrugging. "Love is all over the world the same.

"However, I will say that the American girls who come to Rome after dreaming about it will not be disappointed . . . The idea and the moonlight is so strong that even if they don't find romance, they go back and think they have found it.

NO OTHER WOMAN

"But how would I know really. I have never been with—" Brazzi raises his voice and barks it toward the bedroom — "any other woman EXCEPT MY WIFE."

She laughs. He says happily, "See?"

★ ★ ★

Rossano and Lidia were first married in 1940, secretly and against the wishes of both their families. He was the son of a wealthy bologna manufacturer, she the daughter of a titled Florentine. "They killed us, but we wouldn't stop," he recalls.

Two years ago it looked, even to the most discerning relative, like the marriage was soldered to stay, so they celebrated it again "to let the families in on it."

Beside the facts that she has a sense of humor and, apparently, well-groomed feet, we found out little about Lidia.

★ ★ ★

But presumably she's a wife of the unselfish and sans jealousy variety who dotes on husband, even when husband is being bombarded on all sides by potential "other women."

New Treatments Aid Vets in Hospitals

WASHINGTON (AP) — New rehabilitation treatments are enabling many "severely disabled" oldsters to leave Veterans Administration hospitals, and in some cases go to work, the VA said today.

A VA spokesman said the technique has been effective on victims of strokes, hardening of the arteries, arthritis, multiple sclerosis and other conditions. Most of them otherwise would have lived out their remaining years in the hospitals, he said.

★ ★ ★

Dr. A. B. C. Knudson, director of the physical medicine and rehabilitation service at the VA central office here, said the program has been applied to aging veterans who could not get out of bed without assistance, to others who could not use wheelchairs, and to some who were "too confused" to get about the hospital alone.

Knudson said an individual program of rehabilitation was laid out for each veteran-patient after maximum benefits had been gained by medical and surgical treatments.

★ ★ ★

Physical, corrective and occupational therapy, "along with visits of volunteers from the community helped the oldsters gain interest in living and in making friends," Knudson said.

Adjective-Loving Congressmen Never Use 'You'

WASHINGTON, July 15 (AP)—If you are a member of Congress, and you wanted to compliment a colleague by saying, "You are exactly right," you could be called down for being out of order.

Parliamentarily speaking, "you" is a naughty word.

★ ★ ★

In the House, proper talk calls for "the gentleman from Wyoming" or "the gentleman from Alabama."

In the Senate it's "the senator from Mississippi." The adjective-loving senators usually make it "the distinguished senator from Mississippi" although this is redundant since officially the Senate doesn't admit there is such a thing as an undistinguished senator.

★ ★ ★

This comes up today because the House has been having skull practice on the proper rules, with Rep. Brooks Hays (D-Ark) acting as coach.

"It is never proper to say 'you' in addressing another member," the gentleman from Arkansas said.

He didn't say why "you"—such a handy, time saving pronoun in most conversations—is against the rules.

Boy Scout at Jamboree Handcuffed by Trade

VALLEY FORGE, Pa. (AP)—David Eiseman thought he had made a good trade for a pair of handcuffs at the Boy Scout Jamboree here until he tried to get them off. The bent key wouldn't work.

★ ★ ★

Six policemen tried their own keys, hairpins and paper slips for an hour without success. Finally someone thought of bending the key back into shape and the handcuffs parted.

Eiselan, 14, hasn't said whether he plans to swap the handcuffs off immediately.

Student Wins Scholarship at Will-O-Way

A Waterford Township High School student won the first Will-O-Way Apprentice Theater scholarship award, for a four-week training course at the playhouse on Long Lake road.

The presentation was made to 17-year-old Dayton Thomason of 102 Calvert, Pontiac, yesterday.

Thomason will be a senior in high school next year and was chosen for his interest and talent, according to Barbara Marks, an official of the school. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Thomason.

★ ★ ★

He will study next Tuesday in learning the techniques of show business. The course will include dramatic training, basic speech, scenery, lighting, costumes, and radio and television instruction.

2 Glib-Tongued Men Talk Way Into Car

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Two young men with glib tongues and neat suits started out with nothing but nerve and wound up with an expensive 1956 model car.

★ ★ ★

Police, who still were looking for them, gave this account:

They went to a car lot, tried out a 1955 model, said they didn't like it, then tried another. When the salesman got out to guide them through the lot, they drove away.

They went to a second lot, told the salesman they wanted to trade their car in for a newer one, then drove off while "trying it out."

★ ★ ★

They pulled the trick at two other car lots, making off with successively better models until they found the one they liked best.

Ousted Russians Blasted Again

Defense Boss Zhukov Says Trio Committed 'Illegal Acts'

LONDON (AP) — Soviet Defense Minister Georgi Zhukov has accused the three purged Kremlin leaders of responsibility for "illegal acts" committed under dictator Joseph Stalin.

Zhukov made the charge against Georgi Malenkov, V. M. Molotov and Lazar Kaganovich in a speech yesterday in Leningrad, Moscow radio broadcast the speech today.

★ ★ ★

The army boss, who became a member of the new ruling party Presidium Nikita Khrushchev set up along with the purge, also made an oblique call for the expulsion of Malenkov, Molotov and Kaganovich from the Communist party.

He declared that the trio "had not only lost the right to pretend to the role of leaders of the party and state, but even to the name of fully fledged members of our great Communist party."

★ ★ ★

The three veteran Reds have been ousted from their government and party posts but as far as is known still are members of the Communist party. Malenkov has been exiled to manage a power station in Central Asia, and a Soviet spokesman said new jobs were being found for Molotov and Kaganovich.

Potter Wants Mayflower II to Visit Lakes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Potter (R-Mich) has asked sponsors of the Mayflower II to send the reproduction of the Pilgrim ship through the St. Lawrence Seaway to Great Lakes ports next year.

Potter said today the first reaction of Warwick Charlton, one of the sponsors, was "very enthusiastic." Charlton is to discuss the proposals with trustees of the Mayflower II project in London, the senator said.

The Mayflower II, skippered by Cmdr. Allan Villiers, retraced the route of the Pilgrims from England to Plymouth, Mass. It later sailed down the Eastern seaboard to New York.

In a letter to Charlton, Potter suggested that the vessel drop anchor in various Great Lakes ports to dramatize the opening of the St. Lawrence Seaway for ocean-going vessels next year.

★ ★ ★

"The channel from the deep-water port of Montreal through the Great Lakes is being opened for ocean shipping in one of the most ambitious and dramatic projects of all time," Potter wrote.

Balenciaga Scorns Tricks of Other Paris Designers

By ROSETTE HARGROVE

PARIS (NEA) — Twenty years ago a 40-year-old Spaniard, Cristobal Balenciaga, put up his shingle in the swanky Avenue George V and went into the high fashion business. Today Balenciaga is considered by most people in the business as the greatest creator of women's fashions in history.

He has also been called the "designers' designer" for the very good reason that most of the silhouettes and trends he has launched have influenced the world of fashion.

★ ★ ★

This he has accomplished with practically no publicity. He happens not to believe in its power. Last year he decided that fashion writers would not be allowed to see his collection until four weeks after he had shown to the buyers.

STILL IN BUSINESS

People held their breath and wondered whether the man was big enough to be so independent. Balenciaga is still in business as Paris prepares for another opening, July 29.

★ ★ ★

He was born in a fishing village called Guetaria, near San Sebastian. His father was a sea captain, his mother a dressmaker. She worked for some of the ladies of the Spanish court who spent the summer in the then fashionable resort.

At 10 he created his first model — a coat for his dog, complete with set-in sleeves. He learned his first lesson in the "architecture" of dress when the pup ran off and the garment burst at all the seams.

★ ★ ★

But both Papa and Mama agreed their son was a born dressmaker and at 14 they sent him to Barcelona as apprentice to a fashionable tailor.

GOES TO PARIS

Two years later he had managed to save the third-class fare to Paris. He decided then that one day he would have a fashion house of his own in Paris. He achieved his dream 24 years later.

★ ★ ★

From the day of its opening the Paris house flourished, even through the war years. Today he employs some 350 workgirls, 20 saleswomen and 6 mannequins.

The world's best-dressed women and the most important American and European buyers have passed through his salons where the decorations have scarcely changed in 20 years.

★ ★ ★

It has been said that a woman does not go to the house of Balenciaga just to buy clothes. She is likened to a priestess who takes part in a sacred rite.

And those who come to see his collection out of curiosity are soon discouraged by the indifferent, not to say distant attitude of his staff.

CARRIAGE TRADE

Balenciaga creates primarily for the carriage trade, ignores current trends. Every year silhouettes are launched which liken women to insects, plants, flowers or letters of the alphabet. Balenciaga disdains these tricks so popular with Christian Dior.

His aim is to clothe women to emphasize their personality. This is probably one of the reasons why he chooses mannequins who, when not frankly ugly, are definitely impersonal.

They stalk through the long, narrow salons almost "at the double" and make one think of Amazons who must have parked their javelins just behind the silk curtains through which they appear.

This season like every season it is anybody's guess what he will do with waistlines and hemlines for fall and winter.

Typical Balenciago magic is a $30,000 necklace to hold the drape of this flesh-pink flecked organza bodice of a short evening dress. His best trick, however, is showing styles to buyers four weeks before the press gets a look.

As a matter of record, he has never set the former where it normally should be—but always a few inches above or below.

★ ★ ★

As for hemlines, he plays with them like a cat with a mouse. Last season he startled observers by showing several skirts which just barely covered the knees.

NEVER STATIC

"Fashion should never be static," declares Balenciaga. "To create you must be something of an architect — for proportions — a painter—for color range—with a little of the poet and the musician to visualize a woman when she walks, moves or dances."

★ ★ ★

Who are the women who buy Balenciaga? Not necessarily only millionaires' wives. Many fashion-conscious women consider it a sound investment to buy one suit or one evening dress, knowing that it will be in fashion for at least two, if not three years. Besides the timeless quality there is also the assurance of perfect execution.

The apostle of simplicity — although he says that a simple dress can look positively vulgar on a woman if it is not her style—lets his imagination run riot in some of his evening gowns.

★ ★ ★

It is here that the Spanish background emerges in dramatic "infanta" gowns or dresses that might have stepped down from a Goya painting. Balenciaga is the one man who can impart a sort of glow to a dead-black dress.

RIDICULOUS HATS

Only Balenciaga can afford to show the extravagant, often ridiculous and definitely unbecoming hats which accompany his models and which he seems to have created with his tongue in his cheek.

★ ★ ★

But here again, the probability is that the towering flower pots, lampshades, space helmets or "circus" headpieces with waving feathers or abstract bits of nonsense will be found the following season to have influenced the thinking of Parisian modistes.

Costumes for Theater Go Dramatic

By OLGA CURTIS
INS Women's Editor

NEW YORK (INS)—The outfit a woman wears to the theater should be as dramatic as the show, says designer Fernando Bosc.

So the Spanish designer's fall ideas for Frederic Harvey feature show-stopping dinner and theater clothes.

Street-length sheaths take on floor-length trains. Other sheaths are covered by satin cloaks, and the cloaks have trains.

COVER UP JACKET

There are also costumes which offer a jacket for lobby cover-up, and low necklines accented by rhinestone shoulder straps for dimmer theater wear.

The sheath is Bosc's favorite for daytime, too. He likes it with an easy waistline, a hint of blousing or front draping. Over it he puts batwing cocoon-shaped coats in seven-eighths length.

Wilson Folmar of Edward Abbott also advocates evening clothes that stop traffic. The Abbott collection has every kind of eye-catcher, from the dress that shimmies with fringe at the hip to a jacket-costume of royal blue and gold brocade, lined with gold satin.

Shoulder Pads Are Here Again

NEW YORK (INS)—Drag out the shoulder pads you cut out of your dresses years ago, ma'am.

We're wearing shoulders again.

★ ★ ★

The broader, wider shoulder — done either by dropped seams or with padding — is one definite feature of new styles for fall, 1957.

The fall fashions, that were displayed to fashion writers from all over the nation at New York's National Press Week shows, indicate a return to the 30s.

And styles of the 30s had wide shoulders, bloused tops, dolman and kimono sleeves, big belts, lots of fur trim, bias-cut skirts. There was also a lot of bead-and-sequin glitter in evening dresses those days.

★ ★ ★

None of these style ideas is expected back in full force; the indications are that it all adds up to a further loosening of the sheath dress.

Pointed Shoes Spark Revolution

NEW YORK — Fresh and famous from their conquest of America, the fabulous pointed-toe shoes are exploding a major style revolution around the world.

★ ★ ★

Buyers from at least four continents — Europe, South America, Africa and Australia — have flown to the U. S. in recent weeks to take home pointed-toe shoes and lasts, the National Shoe Institute reports.

One of the leading U. S. makers of pointed-toe lasts explains that 12 per cent of his volume already was going abroad.

BEHIND IN ORDERS

"We could sell several times as many of the new lasts overseas," he said, "but we're running 12 weeks behind on pointed-toe orders from American manufacturers."

★ ★ ★

Just a year old this month, the pointed-toe-style and its tapered-toe sister have dominated the fashion world faster than any new design for women in three centuries of American shoemaking.

At the first of this year a survey of nine leading manufacturers showed only one producing more than 30 per cent of his spring orders in the most-pointed-toe style.

TREND GROWS

No less than six of the same nine manufacturers, however, are producing more than 30 per cent of their fall shoes in the most-pointed toes. One firm reported 75 per cent and another 80 per cent.

★ ★ ★

The unprecented speed and strength of the pointed-toe revolution — with its full impact still to come in the second half of this year — has led to drastic revision of National Shoe Institute production forecasts.

Ann E. Merseles Weds

A white mousseline de soie gown embroidered with Alencon lace at the portrait neckline and on the flared skirt was worn by Ann Elizabeth Merseles for her Friday evening wedding.

★ ★ ★

Her fingertip veil of silk illusion was secured to a shell headpiece of Alencon lace. White orchids and stephanotis formed her bridal bouquet.

Ann, daughter of Mrs. Ralph Manuel of Bloomfield Hills and Theodore Merseles of Darien, Conn., exchanged vows with Lt. John Nathan Follansbee in an 8:30 o'clock ceremony performed in Christ Church Cranbrook by the Rev. Lester Dobyns.

John is the son of Col. and Mrs. Conrad G. Follansbee of Arlington, Va.

ATTEND BRIDE

Gowns of silk organza fashioned with lace bodices were worn by Mrs. Gordon Michael O'Neal of Louisville, Ky., matron of honor, and Ann Oliver, Jacqueline Brozo, Ellen Flint, Judith Earle and Gail Baldwin, bridesmaids.

★ ★ ★

The honor attendant's gown was of mint green and the other attendants wore pink. The headpieces matched their gowns and they carried arrangements of carnations and roses.

Barbara Carney wore a pink silk organza frock and carried a basket of garnet roses and daisies for her duties as flower girl.

ASSIST BRIDEGROOM

Capt. Conrad G. Follansbee Jr. of Wayne, Pa., served his brother as best man. Seating guests were another brother, David Follansbee; Craig Merseles, brother of the bride, and four U. S. Military Academy classmates of the bridegroom, Lt. Gordon M. O'Neal, Lt. Norman Vaughan, Lt. Jay Toole and Lt. Edward Soyster.

Following a reception held at Orchard Lake Country Club, the newlyweds left for a motor trip through Canada. They will reside in Ft. Benning, Ga.

Banded Petticoat Adds High Style to Home Sewing

NEW YORK (INS) — Home sewers who want a custom-made look in new clothes can achieve it with two designer tricks: The banded petticoat and the decorated jacket lining.

The banded petticoat is merely a silk underskirt sewn right into your dress. At the hemline, it's banded either in part or all around with fabric to match the dress.

Result: When you slit the dress for walking, you see matching fabric underneath instead of underwear.

Hotel Sheraton-Cadillac of Detroit was the setting for the wedding Sunday of Carol D. Kampner and Richard K. Dubin. The bride's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Irwin Kampner, and the bridegroom is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Lew R. Dubin.

MRS. RICHARD KENNETH DUBIN

Carol Kampner Weds

Carol Denise Kampner became the bride of Richard Kenneth Dubin at 6 p.m. Sunday in the Founder's Room of the Hotel Sheraton-Cadillac, Detroit. Rabbi Israel Goodman of Congregation B'nai Israel performed the ceremony.

★ ★ ★

Mr. and Mrs. Irwin Kampner of Ogemaw road are the bride's parents, and the bridegroom is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Lew R. Dubin of Milwaukee.

The bride chose a gown of white nylon tulle featuring a portrait neckline and long sleeves. The skirt, ending in a chapel train, was appliqued with taffeta roses in a panel effect.

A crown of seed pearls held a French silk illusion veil. The bride carried an arrangement of white orchids, phalaenopsis and stephanotis on a Bible.

MATRON OF HONOR

Mrs. Burton Kampner, the bride's sister-in-law, served as matron of honor. She wore a cotillion blue taffeta gown with a bodice of gathered chiffon, and she carried a bouquet of white orchids.

Barbara Leeds of Chicago and Betsy Lee of Milwaukee were the bridesmaids. They wore gowns identical to that of the honor attendant and carried bouquets of white butterfly roses.

Franklin Dubin, the bridegroom's brother, assisted as best man. Seating the guests were Burton Kampner of Detroit, Louis Natenshon, James Geisenfeld and Joel Lee of Milwaukee.

★ ★ ★

A dinner and reception were held in the Crystal Ballroom of the Hotel Sheraton-Cadillac following the ceremony.

GOWNED IN BLUE

The bride's mother chose a tiered sheath lace dress in Dior blue. Mrs. Dubin wore a misty blue lace and chiffon dress.

★ ★ ★

For traveling to Miami Beach the new Mrs. Dubin changed to a navy silk shantung ensemble with blue accessories. The couple will live in Milwaukee.

Orientation for new students and their mothers began Friday at Temple Beth Jacob. Among the students entering are Jay Kershenbaum, Marc Chircip, Joan Hartley, Joan Whittan and Carole Warrick (left to right).

Exercise While Plucking Blossoms

Gardening Can Help Your Figure

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

It is true in more ways than one that you reap what you sow. This is certainly true of MOST gardeners. I think I already have confessed in this column, however, that I once sowed zinnias and a palm tree came up! This is the first time I have admitted that sometimes nothing comes up.

★ ★ ★

I have learned about a lot of things since living outside the city proper. For instance, one year either there are very few rabbits or they aren't eating flowers that year. The next year there are either dozens or the vogue is to eat everything from sunflowers to creeping myrtle.

And this is one of the bad years for me, so far as rabbits are concerned. Already some of the bachelor buttons, the carnations and the zinnias have had their heads chopped off, regardless of the fact that I have put everything known to man and advertiser on them.

If you have any ideas please let me know before they are all gone. All I can do until then is to feel thankful that rabbits never eat roses! Not yet anyway!

★ ★ ★

As you can tell from where you are, if I have any talents, gardening is not one of them, although I keep trying. BUT I can tell you a few things which will be helpful, not in growing flowers but in benefiting from gardening so far as your figure and well-being are concerned.

BEND THE KNEES

For instance, when you work on your flowers bend the knees and keep the back straight and lean forward from the hips. Do not allow the shoulders to round or the head to protrude forward any more than necessary. When you rise, make your thighs do the work by keeping your back erect.

This is the lazy way to do your gardening. You, however, may combine your work with beneficial exercise by stooping with the back and knees straight and bending at the hips.

★ ★ ★

Also, when you work outdoors remember to hold your abdomen in. This in itself is a good exercise. When you reach up toward a vine or a bush lift your rib cage up, too.

If you have privacy in your garden you can pick flowers in a figure-molding manner. I suggest that you have privacy or otherwise people might think you a bit crazy. Stand with your feet separated, facing the flowers.

Pick a blossom and lift it high over your head. Drop it in a basket. Continue, keeping your legs straight and reaching up in between bends.

★ ★ ★

You can turn your side toward the flowers and do side bends while plucking them. Of course all of this takes more time but it is fun and you get your daily dozen while gathering your bouquet.

Remember also to wear gardening gloves and to protect your face with a large hat.

Take It 'Cool'

Large women will appear larger in white, light and bright colors. They should by all means, avoid red. But they needn't confine themselves to navy blue and black. There are many cool, dark colors that are flattering.

Check Drying Time

Experience is the best teacher when establishing exact drying times for orlon, nylon or acrilan blankets, synthetic fabric garments or stuffed toys dried in your automatic clothes dryer. Frequent checking of such items the first few times they are dryer-dried will determine correct drying time needed for best results.

Tile Table Surface

Summer is time to putter around, either on the golf course or at home. Maybe you want to match table-tops to rubber flooring patterns. The trick of repeating the tile pattern in the table top is one of illusion. It gives a low-ceilinged room the illusion of greater height by holding the eyes to the floor.

Teener Needs Manners, Not Her Own Telephone

By RUTH MILLETT

"We had a private telephone installed in Betty's room," said 14-year-old Betty's mother, "so that she can stay on the telephone all day if she wants to without bothering us. It's the perfect solution if you have a teenager in the house."

It's just ducky for Betty's parents. But what of the parents of her friends?

With no one to tell her to cut calls short or know when she is ringing some number every 15 minutes, Betty and her private telephone are making life hectic for her friends' parents.

Also, with a telephone in her own room, Betty can make after bedtime calls when she feels like it. And she feels like it often enough to be annoying.

If a teenager misuses a family telephone, why encourage her to use a telephone even more by giving her a private line?

Wouldn't you think it would dawn on parents that she might be annoying the parents of the friends she is forever calling and keeping on the line?

★ ★ ★

All parents whose teenagers misuse the telephone have to do is to make a few rules—and make them stick. No 30 and 40-minute conversations. No calling their friends at mealtime or after 8 or 9 at night.

No bothering any family with repeated calls. No telephoning on Sunday afternoon when the man of the family is probably trying to take a nap or have a little peace and quiet in his own home.

Any teenager who makes a nuisance of himself with his overuse of the family telephone ought to be taught some manners, not given a telephone of his own.

Home Typing Just Isn't Profitable

By ANNE HEYWOOD

Certain misconceptions exist in the job world, as in most others—certain false ideas which circulate so universally that we have to watch ourselves to keep from believing them.

★ ★ ★

Here are a few that have appeared in my mail.

1. The idea that you can make money typing, addressing and filling envelopes at home.

Such work exists, but the fastest typist in the world is lucky to make a couple of pennies an hour at it. It is easier to make money doing anything else in the world.

★ ★ ★

Also, some firms victimize you by offering such work if you will send a sum of money as a "deposit." Beware of them.

Don't under any circumstances think you'll make money addressing envelopes at home.

MORE THAN CHARM

2. The idea that jobs as receptionists require only that you greet people charmingly.

Most receptionist jobs require a good deal more than that. You'd better have additional skills if you want such a job.

★ ★ ★

Sometimes the receptionist also handles the switchboard, types on the side, or does some filing.

Only 1 in about 100 reception jobs requires no additional skill. For these few, the competition is enormous and the most beautiful and well-dressed girl is apt to win.

3. The idea that all jobs in the travel field are fascinating and romantic. The travel business gives us visions of far places and tropical moons, but the people who work in the field never leave home.

For the most part, they're stuck at a desk figuring the timetables, schedules, prices and stopovers for the customers.

★ ★ ★

If you like to travel, get a job that pays well and travel on your vacations.

THE RIGHT PEOPLE

4. The idea that contacts with the right people will get you the right job. Contacts may get you the initial interview, but if you're wrong for the job they won't hire you, no matter whom you know.

★ ★ ★

Also, you can get that initial interview yourself, without any contacts, if you know what you want and learn how to write a good letter.

"It isn't what you know, it's who you know," is the great American legend. More than that it's the disgruntled refrain of the person who doesn't know the art of job-hunting.

If you have this trouble, send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope care of The Pontiac Press and I'll send you my pamphlet, "How to Get a Job Without Contacts."

Keep Purse Dainty

If your summer handbag is one of those transparent ones, make sure that what you carry about in it is pretty to see. Women who stuff such handbags full of grubby handkerchiefs and broken pencil stubs are defeating the very purpose of the handbag.

Keep That Date

If another couple is counting on you and your husband to go with them to a party, don't feel you can back out at the last minute if something more interesting comes along or you don't happen to feel in the mood.

MR. and MRS. WILLIAM H. SCHACK

Together with their five children, 16 grandchildren and four great-grandchildren, Mr. and Mrs. William H. Schack of Birmingham will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary on July 17. The Schack's sons include Harry of Birmingham, Seymour of Mapleleaf avenue and Lawrence of Pontiac Lake road. Mrs. Viola Liebertz of Berkley and Mrs. Leland Dennis of South East boulevard are daughters.

Proper Makeup Best Advice

Switch to blue, even if you go back to black the other six days of the week, advises a beauty counselor who says the lapis-lazuli woolens the sapphire chiffons, the turquoise velvets are pretty enough to make a woman look like a walking jewel, and are also wonderful to make up to.

★ ★ ★

He tells you how: in a capsule for night and day:

If it's sapphire or turquoise, and it's an evening dress, wear a rosy make-up foundation (no yellow overtones to be color-drained by electric lights). For red contrast, your lipstick should be spectacularly red.

Use blue eye shadow, a blue eyeliner, brown lash make-up.

If it's a daytime woolen in lapis-lazuli, make up to your skin tones, using a high fidelity color in a fluid makeup foundation.

★ ★ ★

Wear clear pastel rouge (NO blue in cheeks), the red contrast of lipstick, blue eyeshadow and brown lash makeup.

At Will-O-Way
'Bus Stop' Pleases Audience

Local boy makes good — again. Danny Simpson, graduate of Pontiac High School and Michigan State University, opened last night in the role of Bo Decker in Will-O-Way's production of "Bus Stop."

★ ★ ★

As the brash young cowboy who's fallen in love with a night club singer, Danny stamps, shouts and flails his way through the play. The plot is familiar to many who saw the movie version. Briefly, it concerns what happens to some bus passengers stranded all night in a small Kansas restaurant during a spring snowstorm.

★ ★ ★

With the exception of the sheriff, the lives of all in the play are changed by the night's happenings. The young waitress is both thrilled and disillusioned by her contact with the professor who can quote reams of poetry — and does.

Danny's wife, Janet Simpson, takes this part, while the professor is Burton Wright. Mr. Wright will be remembered by Will-O-Way habitues for his role as Sheridan Whiteside in "The Man Who Came to Dinner."

Grace (Mady Correll), the owner of the restaurant, and Carl, the bus driver (Barney O'Rourke), find one another during this enforced delay in the storm.

LIKES MILK

The audience was an appreciative one. On more than one occasion they stopped the performance with their applause. Many viewers wondered how Danny Simpson ever downed a full quart of milk at one sitting.

Director Merrill always takes special pains with his sets. The one for "Bus Stop" is completely realistic, even to the stale doughnuts in the case!

"Bus Stop" will play through July 27 when there will be two performances, one at 5:30, the second at the usual time of 8:40. On Monday, July 29 "The Loud Red Patrick" will begin a two weeks' run.

Ethel C. Roehm Becomes Bride in Holy Name Rite

Holy Name Church of Birmingham was the setting for the 11:30 a.m. wedding today of Ethel Carolyn Roehm and Robert Peter Larson.

★ ★ ★

For her wedding the bride chose a petal pink gown of peau de soie fashioned in Victorian style with a basque waist, cap sleeves and garlands of re-embroidered Alencon lace on the full skirt which flared into a chapel sweep.

She wore a shell cap of Alencon lace which held a matching petal pink fingertip tiered veil of illusion. The bride carried a cascade of pale pink roses and white orchids.

BRIDAL ATTENDANTS

Mrs. Victor White of Lansing served her sister as matron of honor. The other attendants were Maureen Garwood, Judy Turner, Sue Savage, Helen Colwell, Patty Harman and Mrs. Robert Holcomb.

★ ★ ★

They all wore ankle-length gowns of white nylon over pink taffeta and large white picture hats. The attendants carried pink roses with ivy.

Richard Birely of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., served as best man. Seating the guests were John Kasten of Franklin, David Campbell, Bing Nunnelly, Larry Royster, Robert McDaniel and a brother of the bride, David Roehm.

A reception was held at Bloomfield Hills Country Club.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Walter Roehm of Franklin, and Robert's parents are Mr. and Mrs. August Larson of Franklin.

MRS. ROBERT P. LARSON

★ ★ ★

The bride's mother chose a navy lace dress and a small navy velvet hat. She pinned white orchids to her purse. Mrs. Larson wore an aqua lace dress with matching hat and a corsage of white orchids.

The new Mrs. Larson changed to a powder blue shantung sheath with a bolero, white hat and navy accessories for traveling to Florida. The couple will live in Ulrichsville, Ohio.

Launder Shoelaces

Baby's white shoelaces stay spotless when laundered in your washer and automatic clothes dryer along with a regular load of clothes. It's smart to place laces together in a mesh bag so they won't be "all tied up" in the rest of the laundry.

To Dry Dyed Clothes

If some of your favorite summer cottons have been dyed, you can still dry them the fast way in your automatic dryer. Take care to dry tinted or dyed items separately, or colors may transfer. After drying, wipe out dryer drum with a damp cloth.

The ever-popular shirtwaist is back in floral printed cotton, dotted swiss, organdy and cotton satin.

Bob Considine Says:

O'Donnell Exemplifies the Great AF

DETROIT (INS) — Came here for a dinner honoring the 50th anniversary of the Air Force and the 40th anniversary of the drying out of a mud cake that became the great Selfridge Air Force Base.

★ ★ ★

The guest of honor, among a great conglomeration of alumni of Selfridge, was Lt. Gen. Emmett O'Donnell. I smetimes wonder if the public in general realizes what a bargain it is getting in a man like O'Donnell. I know of few, if any, men as beloved and respected in this land as Gen. O'Donnell.

Like a number of other outstanding public servants he works for the salary of the boy who who hands the fats to Mickey Mantle, but if the war gong rang 10 minutes from how he — and his ilk — would be the ones we'd turn to in utter supplication to save tens of millions of American skins.

Gen. O'Donnell, as he pointed out in his abbreviated remarks before the Michigan Aero Club, is but one of Lord knows how many Selfridge alumni who won a star.

★ ★ ★

A TRUE PIONEER

Another star at the dinner was Col. Tom Lanphier Sr., Selfridge base commander in 1925, one of the true pioneers of our air power. He and a handful of men in planes you and I wouldn't fly in today helped to demonstrate back in those days that the airplane was a weapon that could take its place with the warship and the artillery piece.

★ ★ ★

When Billy Mitchell sank a battleship, Lanphier was demonstrating that groups of airplanes could fly considerable distances, like from Selfridge to San Francisco, without spending weeks on the ground having engine parts replaced. In the great scheme of things, that was just as important as sinking an immobilized battleship.

Gen. O'Donnell was one of a group that took the Air Force, or whatever it was called at that time, out of the realm of romantic fiction and helped to make it what it has become today — the realistic muscle that keeps the peace of the world.

Air generals, gathered from all over kingdom come, got to their feet the other night here to acclaim that fact.

It's interesting to dwell on the fact that the bulk of our great airmen sprang from a field named for a man who dreamed mightily of air power and was to be its initial victim.

Thomas Etholen Selfridge, born in California, educated at West Point when MacArthur and Wainwright were there, eventually found himself as the Army's representative and tester of an odd flying contraption which had been sold to the Signal Corps by the Brothers Wright.

DIED IN CRACKUP

Our total investment in air power at that time was $25,000. Lt. Selfridge died in a crackup Sept. 9, 1908, at Ft. Myer, Va. Orville Wright, the pilot, survived.

★ ★ ★

But because Selfridge dared, and showed the way, many lived and persevered and built up a striking force that has no counterpart in the history of arms.

The honored guest at the Aero Club's dinner — the general they call "Rosie" — is among these. It was an honor to be with him and his peers.

Harpsichords Built in State

Michigan Man Makes Instruments Popular in Middle Ages

MT. CLEMENS (AP) — You might laugh when Norman Scheck sits down at his harpsichord.

Cigarette dangling from his lips, wearing a loud striped sport shirt, he looks more like a rock 'n' roll fan than an enthusiast of 16th Century music.

BUILDS THEM

But Scheck, an organ builder by trade, not only plays the harpsichord skillfully. He builds them as well.

He sees nothing incongruous about the current revival of the harpsichord's popularity.

The 37-year-old Scheck lives in a modernistic studio-apartment two miles north of Romeo that in itself contrasts sharply with the old world atmosphere of the harpsichord in his den.

"It is our compact living of today that accounts for rekindled interest in the harpsichord," he says.

★ ★ ★

"The instrument is small enough to fit into any room without bulkiness. It provides the music of a piano without taking up half the space. People like its tinkling sound, adaptable to both classical and modern music."

Scheck has built eight harpsichords, spending about three months of spare time labor on each.

He patterns them after early models but omits the ornate carvings or painting that decorated the instruments of the middle ages.

THREE MODELS

He builds three models, ranging from 44 to 49 notes. Unlike the piano, the harpsichord is voiced at one pitch made louder by rapid manipulation of the keys rather than by harder pounding.

The harpsichord keyboard plays by operating jacks holding quill or felt points which pluck the wire strings. In contrast, the piano strings are hammered by felt pads to produce notes.

Scheck's workshop is a converted stable downtairs from his living quarters. For relaxation he likes to head for his den and play his modern-day harpsichord.

"It's the ultimate in keyboard music," he says.

Police Heated Up by Air-Cooling Systems in Cars

PHOENIX (AP) — Police officers are pretty burned up at air-cooling systems in automobiles.

The reason: Motorists can't hear their sirens.

One officer complained, "On a hot call nowadays, you might as well blow your whistle as your siren.

★ ★ ★

"They roll up the car windows, turn on the refrigeration, switch on the radio and ride along in heat proof comfort. But they can't hear a thing."

Ambulance and fire truck drivers voice the same complaint. They say Phoenicians "never were good at heeding emergency sirens, but now the situation is getting awful."

Swedish Ship Picks Up 22 in Indian Ocean

STOCKHOLM (AP) — The Swedish tanker Justus Waller cabled her owners in Goteborg today that she had picked up 22 survivors from the 3,389-ton Panamanian-registered freighter Clarisse in the Indian Ocean.

★ ★ ★

The message did not give the Waller's position or any details about the fate of the Clarisse, a 25-year-old vessel owned by P. Vrangos of Trieste.

The 11,285-ton Waller is en route from the Persian Gulf to Durban, South Africa.

Enchanting Mexico Offers Variety of Summer Events

SANTE FE, N. M. (INS)—Visitors to New Mexico—"The Land of Enchantment"—will find a colorful variety of interesting events the next few months.

Besides the state's planned events there are many outstanding points of scenic and historic interest. Aztec Ruins National Monument, in the northwest corner of New Mexico, contains part of an extensive Indian ruin, occupied during the 12th and 13th centuries.

There is an unusually large liva —or ceremonial chamber—which has been restored.

Bandelier National Monument, 45 miles west of Santa Fe, is dotted with hundreds of ruined homesites of prehistoric Indians.

CUT IN CANYONS

The area is cut through by deep canyons, the most famous being Frijoles Canyon. Four ruined pueblos are on the floor of the canyon.

White Sands National Monument contains the world's largest deposit of surface gypsum, drifted into huge dunes.

In El Morro National Monument, in western New Mexico, visitors can examine famed Inscription Rock, bearing the carved inscriptions of early Spanish explorers, wayfarers and the settlers of the southwest, the earliest date being 1605.

The Lincoln State Monument, in Lincoln, New Mexico, known as the Old Lincoln County Courthouse is a building from which Billy the Kid made his daring escape on April 28, 1881, after killing his two guards.

But the oldest public building in the United States is located in Santa Fe—Palace of the Governors State Monument — constructed in 1610 and used as the seat of the Spanish captains-general under the viceroys in Mexico City until 1821.

It also served as the capitol of New Mexico for some 300 years.

One of the most colorful events, the Gallup Inter-Tribal Indian Ceremonial held in mid-August each year, brings some 30 Indian groups from the southwest and some mid-western states together to compete in arts and crafts, ceremonial dancing, singing and rodeo contests.

'Too Much Equipment' Gets Her Leading Role

LONDON (AP)—Rochelle Lofting, rejected as a chorus girl because she made the others look flat-chested, blossomed out today as the star of a new show.

"My vital statistics," said the chestnut-haired beauty, "are 42-20-36, and sometimes I long for a nice little figure of about 41-19-35."

Rochelle hails from suburban Hammersmith. She was graduated from school two years ago with what she thought was enough equipment and background to go on the stage.

"Enough equipment?" asked the first theatrical manager when she applied for a job. "You've got too much."

She kept on applying until she landed a job in the chorus, but after a few days she was told: "Sorry, you'll have to go. Your figure makes the other girls look as if they have no figures."

Rochelle turned next to drama and took some acting lessons.

"I got a few little parts," she said, "but it was the same old story, my statistics. The leading ladies objected to me. I dwarfed them, I think."

Desperate, she didn't know which way to turn.

"Then one day I said to myself, 'The only answer is—be a leading lady.'"

She tried that idea on a number of producers before she finally found one who agreed with her theory. He gave her the lead in a comedy called "Glamour Girl."

The show played the provincial cities of Britain and Rochelle did so well with the audiences that the show has been brought to London.

"They may say things about my figure," said Rochelle, "but they can never say I've got an inflated ego."

Gun Wounds Claim Girl, 9

Becomes Third Victim of June 25 Shooting Over Swapped Wives

TERRE HAUTE, Ind. (AP)—Nine-year-old Regina Whitaker died yesterday from gunshot wounds suffered in a shooting which claimed the lives of her mother and brother less than a year after the father had swapped wives with a friend.

★ ★ ★

Regina had been in critical condition at Union Hospital here since the shooting on June 25. Her father, Thomas Whitaker, a 36-year-old truck driver, is in Vigo County Hospital charged with murdering his ex-wife, Mrs. Alma L. Martin, 36, and his 11-year-old son Jack Whitaker.

The shooting took place in the suburban home of photographer Stewart Martin, a former friend of Whitaker. Martin and Whitaker married each other's wives last year after obtaining divorces.

Martin also was wounded in the shooting.

Prosecutor John R. Jett said he will ask the court to call the grand jury to consider Regina's death, and said he will ask for another first-degree murder indictment.

Whitaker has already been indicted on two first degree murder charges in connection with deaths of his wife and son.

Whitaker told police the shooting was the outcome of a court ruling giving Mrs. Martin custody of the two children.

Propose Prison Term for Juvenile Weapons

BOSTON (AP) — Juveniles carrying switch knives or brass knuckles would face five years in prison under proposed changes in Massachusetts laws regarding possession of weapons.

State Sen. John F. Paker of the Public Safety Committee said: "These would-be imitators of movie tough guys will find their careers cut short by mandatory sentences if they decide to continue carrying such favorite juvenile delinquent accessories as brass knuckles and switch knives. We intend to take the thrill out of it."

Wixom Village Approves Charter

Honor Milford Leader's GOC Work

By REBA HEINTZELMAN

One of the highest awards given to a Michigan resident by the United States government has been presented to Melvina Eberle, of Milford, for her outstanding work in the Ground Observer Corps.

With more than 20,000 full hours of GOC work to her credit, the citation came as a complete surprise, at a "routine" meeting held in the Grand Rapids Filter Center.

Maj. Gen. Benjamin J. Webster, commander of the 30th Air Division, said in making the presentation:

★ ★ ★

"Mrs. Eberle is truly a dedicated person. Her inspiring efforts have foreshadowed every major Ground Observer Corps advance, in the Oakland County locale."

★ ★ ★

Chosen as the "Volunteer of The Year" by government officials last September, Mrs. Eberle has been responsible for the recruiting of more than 50 per cent of all volunteers in Oakland County.

★ ★ ★

She has been directly responsible for the establishment and continuing efficiency of many strategically located observer posts, Major Webster said.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Eberle's various activities are marked with a sincerity and zeal, not commonly encountered in any field, according to official records.

★ ★ ★

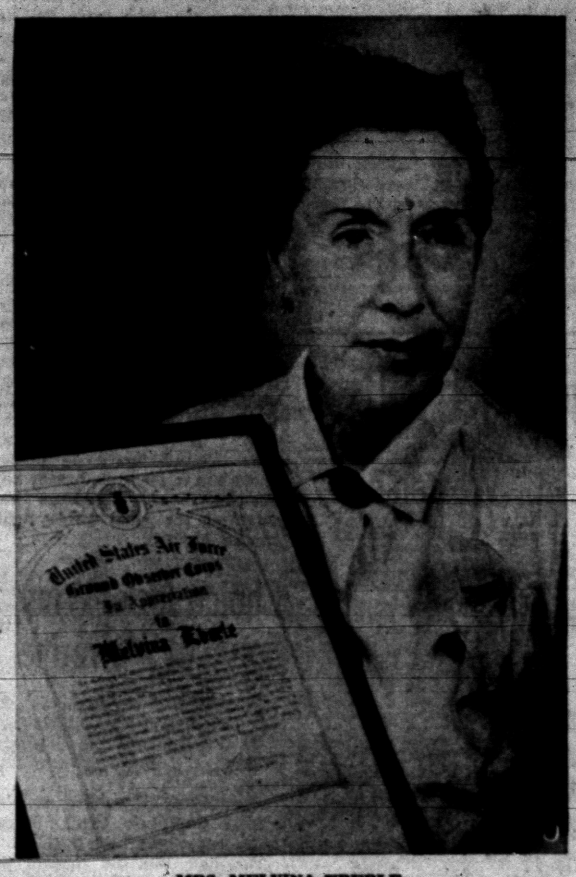

These projects have included fund-raising and advertising campaigns, recruiting, training sessions and speaking engagements throughout Oakland County, during the last seven years. She has traveled more than 15,000 miles at her own expense.

With the establishment of the Milford Corps, five years ago, Mrs. Eberle set up the very first 'round-the-clock' post in Michigan. It was also one of the first in the United States, to operate on a 24-hour basis.

★ ★ ★

Reason for Mrs. Eberle's untiring work stems from her terrific "love of her country."

She said, "Words cannot express the appreciation that I feel for living in these United States. If I can help preserve this wonderful country from enemy attacks, by active work with the GOC, then that's what I will continue to do."

Season to Start Aug. 5 at Ionia

Three-Day Harness Racing for Pacers and Trotters Set

LAPEER — Highlights of the three-day harness racing season at the Ionia Free Fair, August 5 to 10, will be the performance of the four divisions of $20,000 added Michigan Futurity for Michigan bred two and three year old pacers and trotters.

The four divisions of the race, which will feature $5,000 added purses for each division are being sponsored by Ionia concerns: the County National Bank, First Security Bank, Ionia Manufacturing Co., and Meijer Supermarkets.

About 70 colts are expected to be on hand for the Futurity, which should increase the number of horses participating in the harness season at Ionia to its highest level.

Facilities are available for about 130 horses at the fairgrounds.

For colts to be eligible for the Michigan Futurity, they must have been bred by a Michigan registered standard bred sire, owned by a Michigan resident and nominated for the race.

Stadnik Victor in Official Race

Abram Gets Top Vote for Council; Installation to Be Monday

WIXOM — This booming community officially became an incorporated village yesterday when residents approved a proposed charter by a margin of 52 votes.

Final tally showed 201 votes in favor of the charter and 149 against it.

The special election was marked by tight races in the battle for village positions. Voting took place at one precinct only, Wixom School.

In the race for village president, Joseph T. Stadnik emerged the victor by the scant margin of three votes. Stadnik received a total of 169 votes, three more than his nearest rival, Wesley E. McAtee. Everett N. Pearsall, only other candidate for the post, garnered 89 votes.

The battle for six seats on the village council attracted considerable interest because of the narrow margin which separated seven contestants for fifth and sixth positions.

The fight for fifth and sixth places was extremely close with only 10 votes separating seven candidates. Mrs. Lottie E. Chambers and Gunnar E. Mettalla won seats on the council with vote totals of 153 and 149, respectively.

Only one vote separated Mettalla from his nearest competitor, Edward R. Wendt. Paul DePodesta, with 147 votes, was right behind Wendt.

DePodesta was followed by Del H. Bourgeois, 146; Joshanna Ware, 144; John S. Ryding, 143; James F. Sereno, 130; Vernon M. Spencer, 99; Norman Brackett, 95; and Reece Lacy, 61.

Almost 90 per cent of the 502 registered voters took part in the election. A total of 443 electors either appeared at the polls or sent in absentee ballots.

Elected village officials will be sworn into office at a meeting to be held at 8 p.m. Monday at Wixom Elementary School.

Stadnik, having the honor of being the first village president, issued the following statement:

"The elected officers, with cooperation from all sides, can make Wixom a great industrial and residential area — a good place to live. I wish to thank all my supporters and I would like the cooperation of everyone. It is with great humility that I accept the job and I thank God for the opportunity to serve the people."

He also added that the door of his home at 48438 14-Mile Road will always be open to everyone.

Stadnik is secretary of the Wixom Civic Assn.

Up Patrolmen's Paychecks

Increase Romeo Water Rate

ROMEO — Village council members last night authorized an increase in water rates to provide extra income to be placed in the sinking fund for repairs and capital improvements on water facilities now serving this community.

★ ★ ★

The recommendation for new rates was made by village engineer John J. McMahon, after a study of existing mains and anticipated demands to be made upon them. Cases pointing up the need for additional facilities were the new high school and civic youth center now under construction at the western end of town.

Primary needs listed were a new storage tank and well.

The pumping, as of last month, averaged 265,000 gallons a day, McMahon said. He added that the rate increase as adopted, would amount to about 75 cents a month for the average home owner. The new price scale will become effective with the Oct. 1 billing.

A minimum charge for 10,000 gallons or less per quarter will be $5 as compared to the present rate of $3. For 10,000 to 25,000 gallons, the rate will be $5 for the first 10,000 plus 30 cents per 1,000 gallons over that amount. Other regular rates and service charges will also be raised proportionately.

★ ★ ★

Acton on new subdivision regulations recommended by McMahon was tabled until a special session set for July 29 to allow council members time to study them.

★ ★ ★

Romeo's three patrolmen were granted a $5 per week pay hike, and village president Joseph E. Rymill completed his appointments by naming the electrical and heating commissioners.

Discuss System of Orion Radio

Council Meets Monday; Revises Boating Rules, Aids Police Work

LAKE ORION — A light agenda faced the Village Council as they met last night and discussed how to revise the present radio system so it meets the 24 hour need and is less obtrusive to other business.

Moving the radio to a smaller petitioned area, and hiring of three eight hour operators was suggested.

The amendments to the boating ordinances concerning water skiing were revised and presented to Harry Slater, village attorney for approval.

The parking meter money was designated partly for police work at last night's session.

★ ★ ★

William F. Warner of Parkview was granted permission to tap on village water if he puts in 400 feet of pipe to his lot line in addition to the work on his own lot, and pays a $70 fee.

For the service, before 400 guests the bride chose a net gown with Chantilly lace, bodice, portrait neckline, and long, pointed sleeves.

The floor length skirt billowed over white satin, and featured a knee length peplum with touches of the lace appliqued along the edge. Police Battle Appointed Chief

Royal Oak Township Officers Ask Injunction to Hold Back His Salary

Royal Oak Township has become the second Oakland County community with troubles involving its police chief, police officers and civil service board.

The township and civil service board were ordered yesterday by Circuit Judge George B. Hartrick to show cause at a July 22 hearing why an injunction should not be issued to prevent newly-appointed Chief Lawrence Johnson from drawing his $5,500-a-year salary.

6 FILE SUIT

Six officers have filed suit against Supervisor Elwood Dickins and the civil service board challenging Johnson's appointment as chief June 21.

★ ★ ★

They allege that the civil service board failed to hold competitive examinations, thus depriving them of an opportunity for the top job.

They further say that Johnson, who was appointed by Dickins, is a non-resident and therefore unqualified for the post. They claim he has never been a member of the force before, and therefore does not meet in-service requirements.

Judge Hartrick ordered Dickins to show cause why Johnson should not be removed from office and ordered the civil service board to explain why no competitive examination was held.

★ ★ ★

The township civil service is set up under the same Michigan law as Pontiac's, which has promised an early hearing on charges by the Pontiac Police Officers Assn. that Chief Herbert W. Straley should be ousted.

Shallow Drain Ditches Work Well, Cost Less

WASHINGTON (INS) — Shallow surface drainage ditches frequently give much better service for draining wet spots in fields than tile lines. They also cost less.

The problem of badly-drained areas in fields was pointed up for many farmers this year when excess rainfall struck their farms.

The Rev. Fr. George E. Ging performed the nuptial mass at St. Joseph Catholic Church before the altar flanked by palms, baskets of white carnations, daisies and altar vases of white glads and carnations.

The bride's headpiece was fashioned of lace with tiny leaves outlining the cap traced in pearls. Her fingertip veil cascaded over the tiered embroidered skirt. Her round bouquet of roses and stephanotis was centered with a white orchid.

Grace Haddrill, sister of the bride, was the maid of honor. Mary Hunt of Lake Orion, Betty Jane Smith, of Detroit, and Mrs. Mary Miller of Lake Orion were bridesmaids.

Three Area Golfers Qualify for Publinx

10 Gain Berths for Tournament at Hershey, Pa.

Two Pontiac Players, Birmingham Ace Enter National Field

Michigan Publinx golfers found it tough breaking par of the private courses at Birmingham Country Club and Plum Hollow where the qualifying rounds were held Monday for the National Public Links tourney in Hershey, Pa.

Ten players from the Publinx field of 189 qualified for the national tourney July 29-Aug. 3.

Three area players, including Mike Andonian and Ron Rothbarth of Pontiac and Tim Baldwin of Birmingham, were among those who earned the trip East.

Five players, headed by Baldwin, were tied with low scores at 149. The former Birmingham high ace had a 75 at Birmingham in the morning round and a 74 at Plum Hollow in the afternoon.

★ ★ ★

Tied for first place also were Ron Nicoll of Detroit, Cass Jawor of Detroit, Doug Wilson of Ann Arbor and Roy Cullenbine of Detroit.

Rothbarth carded a 72 at Birmingham and came through with a 78 in the afternoon round. He was tied at 150 with Jay Law, who posted the best round of the day by adding a 69 at Plum Hollow to his morning score of 81.

State publinx champion Andonian had his putter desert him as he missed four short putts in the morning round. He finished with 77-74—151 for the day.

Baldwin started the morning round at Birmingham by getting birdies on the first two holes with six and eight-foot putts. He was 1-under for the first time. Par at both courses was 36-36—72.

Another Pontiac publinx ace, Roy Iceberg, had a 41-38—79 at Birmingham and a 38-40—78 at Plum Hollow. He took a double bogey and triple bogey on the 4th and 5th holes in the morning, and on the 16th in the afternoon he three-putted eight feet for a double bogey.

6 Champions in Race

From the looks of the championship flight pairings and the list of former Women's Michigan Golf Association champions that appears therein, Miss Sally Sharp, defending titlist, knew this morning she had a very tough row to hoe, if she retains her crown.

Sally, Michigan State coed, who won the crown last year at Muskegon, just looked on yesterday while the big field of more than 100 feminine shotmakers battled for the top 15 places. Sally had the opening date of match play today with Mrs. Jane Israel of Knollwood, who carded 86 yesterday over the long-playing Orchard Lake Country Club's 6,186-yard, par 76 (for Monday only) layout. Par goes up one, today, with the field playing No. 9, a par-fiver, where it was unplayable yesterday.

Mrs. Harold (Rylma) Marquardt won the qualifying medal in a champion-studded field, with 40-41—81. Rylma had putting trouble on early holes, but got squared away later in the event. Mrs. Susie (Keith) LeClair of Ann Arbor was runnerup with 45-38—83. Miss Carolee Evertse of Greenridge CC, Grand Rapids was the last to get in the "charmed" list, with 89.

Rylma won the title in 1953. Other former champions in the top-flight, for today's first match play include Mrs. Harley Higbie of DCG, five times a champion. She won last in 1932; Mrs. Don Weiss of Flint, who won four times; Mrs. Betty Jane (Courtright) Wilson of Ann Arbor, who won in 1951; Mrs. Fonnie Reynolds of Lansing, champion in 1954. A double bogey on the final hole spoiled a share of the medal for Mrs. Reynolds, who had 83 yesterday.

Miss Evertse landed her berth in the top flight by virtue of a playoff with Mrs. Frank L. Thompson of Oakland Hills, and Mrs. B. D. MacFarlane of Detroit Country Club. The Grand Rapids girl carded a par-5 on the first extra hole.

Medalist Rylma Marquardt meets the veteran Mrs. Higbie in her first match. Betty Wilson opposes Miss Evertse, among the spotlighted matches of the first round of play.

Miss Sharpe was exempt from the qualifying test.

Compare Aaron With Greatest

BROOKLYN (AP) — Milwaukee's Hank Aaron, who leads the National League in home runs and runs batted in and is second in batting has blossomed into baseball's greatest righthanded hitter since Rogers Hornsby, his manager, Fred Haney, declared today.

★ ★ ★

Aaron's 15-game hitting streak was snapped last night by Brooklyn hurlers Don Drysdale and Ed Roebuck, who held him hitless in five trips to the plate.

"Aaron is the best hitter in the game today," asserted Haney, who once played with Ty Cobb, "and he hasn't even reached his full maturity yet. I said in spring training that Henry would improve on his league leading .328 mark this year and I was right. Now I predict that in another year or two they'll be talking about him in the same breath with Hornsby, Harry Heilmann and some of the other great right-handed hitters."

Choice Jester Wins Sprint at Wolverine

DETROIT (AP) — Choice Jester, the 7-10 favorite, won a nine-sixteenths of a mile sprint for pacers at Wolverine Raceway here last night.

The 12-year-old gelding won by a nose over Lela Frost. Royal Atom was a head back in third.

The race was the first of its kind ever held at Wolverine Raceway.

The winner, owned by Vane Saul of Liberty Center, Ohio, was piloted by Don McIlmurray and covered the distance in 1:08 1-5.

Jewelers Whip CIO Local, 6-1

Shaw's Jewelers broke up a 1-1 pitchers' battle with five runs in the 6th to post an important 6-1 victory over CIO Local 594 in a Class A baseball battle between the loop's top two teams at Wisner Field last night.

By winning, the Jewelers extended their record to 12-2. The setback dropped the CIO 2½ games behind.

Winner Steve Kebler and Jim Wagner were locked in a mound duel until the big 6th when Shaw's put together five hits, a walk and a wild pitch to win easily. Shortstop Dave Kringe of the victors led all the hitters with a single, double and triple.

Injured Hartack Wins 2 Races

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It takes something more than an injured back to keep Willie Hartack, the nation's leading jockey, out of the winner's circle.

After losing with Iron Liege to Clem and Conn McCreary in last Saturday's Classic at Arlington Park, Hartack came back yesterday with two winners at the Chicago oval to run his total for the year to 187. He also had a second and a third.

Hartack, still wearing a brace to protect his back injured last Wednesday, brought home two favorites—Conteban at $3.80 in the fourth and Jean's Pride at $4.20 in the seventh.

Report on Dodgers Called 'Premature'

NEW YORK (AP) — "Premature" was the word today for a report that an engineering survey has found the construction of a new ball park to keep the Brooklyn Dodgers in Brooklyn would be "practical" from the city's standpoint.

The story was published yesterday by the New York World-Telegram and Sun, which added that the three-man Brooklyn sports authority will urge immediate approval of the project at the next meeting of the Board of Estimate July 25.

Mayor Wagner, however, said he knew nothing about the report.

CLEVELAND (AP) — Herb Scores and his new bride flew into Cleveland early today and the Cleveland Indians' star southpaw said he hopes his doctor will give him a go-ahead to work out tomorrow afternoon.

But the 24-year-old strikeout king doesn't believe he will be ready to pitch for the Tribe until mid-August. He anticipates a conditioning program tougher than Spring training.

Champ Burke May Miss PGA

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—The professional Golfers Assn., an organization normally subject to the uncertainties and confusion that go with the democratic form of government, opens its 39th championship tournament Wednesday without the assurance there will be a defending champion.

★ ★ ★

Jack Burke, Jr. winner of the PGA and Masters championships last year, planned to try out an injured left arm Tuesday and decide whether he will be able to start the long match play grind tomorrow.

★ ★ ★

"I don't see any sense in going out there and playing just for appearance's sake," said Burke.

Burke, who had to quit the Open championship last month after 36 holes because of an injury to his right hand, hurt his left arm recently in a fall at his Houston, Tex., home. The arm has been giving him considerable pain.

Meanwhile Gene Littler, one of the two pros who had been on a "standby" basis for this tournament, received an invitation to compete as a replacement for Jimmy Clark, who withdrew yesterday because of illness.

★ ★ ★

That left pudgy Bill Casper next in line in case Burke withdraws.

Littler and Casper came under a special provision, adopted by the PGA members last winter in an effort to make their tournament more attractive to the public but never fully explained.

★ ★ ★

The member pros, who really run the show, authorized the executive committee to invite a few pros who weren't eligible but were among the top money winners. But they didn't set up fool-proof machinery and didn't anticipate that the increased prize money—$40,000 total and $8,000 for first place—would attract so many entries from players who were exempt from qualifying.

The result was that the PGA found itself with 134 qualified players for only 128 places in the all match play tournament.

Tennis Tourney Resumes Today

FOREST HILLS, N. Y. (AP) — Pancho Gonzales meets Ken Rosewall and Tony Trabert clashes with Pancho Segura today when the Tournament of Champions resumes at the West Side Tennis Club.

★ ★ ★

At the moment, Gonzales is co-leader in the roundrobin with Lew Hoad, each with a 1-0 record.

They don't play each other until Sunday and promoter Jack Kramer said he hopes they both go down to the wire undefeated.

★ ★ ★

"I purposely made up the schedule so they'd meet at the end," he admitted. "If they both go through undefeated and the championship depends on the outcome, it will be a great match."

Kentucky Junior Tennis Tourney Starts Today

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—The nation's best young tennis players today are slated to begin competition for six championships in the Kentucky Junior Invitational Tourney.

A record field of 208 is entered in the event, sponsored by the Louisville Boat Club. The tourney ends Sunday, when champions in both singles and doubles in all six divisions will be decided.

George (Specs) Toporcer, former infielder with the St. Louis Cardinals, has been sightless since 1951. Lecturing and writing about baseball is his livelihood these days.

GLEN COVE, N.Y., (AP) — Herb Flam of Beverly Hills, Calif., wound up his immediate business in the East by winning the Nassau Bowl Invitation Grass Courts Tennis title and then left today for Chicago to defend his National Clay Courts crown.

Flam, the nation's No. 2 ranked player, won the Nassau Bowl title with a 6-2, 4-6, 6-3, 6-2 decision over Dick Savitt of East Orange, N. J.

The singles finalists paired for victory in the doubles, defeating Mike Green of Miami Beach, Fla. and John Cranston of San Marino, Calif., 6-2, 6-2, 3-6, 5-7, 6-4.

Pontiac Bout for Crawford

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

The date has been set for Michigan's young welterweight sensation, Mickey Crawford of Saginaw, to make his first pro appearance in Pontiac.

Promoter Julius Piazza, meeting last night with members of the Iraq Grotto, who will sponsor the fight, announced that Crawford would meet Sammy Rodgers at Wisner Stadium Tuesday night, Aug. 13.

Rodgers, also a Michigan fighter who was once the state AAU boxing champion from Benton Harbor, is now fighting professionally out of Chicago.

Crawford and Rodgers have had one outstanding common opponent. Last week in Saginaw, Crawford won his 17th pro bout in 18 starts by gaining a split decision over Pat Lowry.

★ ★ ★

The decision was booed by hometown fans as Crawford took the worst physical beating of his pro career, but still managed to come back and gain the verdict.

Rodgers also met Lowry a little over a year ago in Grand Rapids, and in that fight the crowd showed displeasure over the decision which went to Lowry.

Putting Crawford and Rodgers together in the ring will match a similarity of styles. Unlike Lowry, who is known as a puncher, the two opponents for the Pontiac bout are faster moving fighters with the jab as their primary weapons.

The fight was originally supposed to take place July 25, but because of a nose injury suffered by Crawford last week, it was postponed.

It took several stitches to close the gash on Crawford's nose. The popular young Saginaw fighter also had an Aug. 5 fight scheduled in New York which was to be nationally televised.

However, manager Art Greenwald indicated he would hold to the Pontiac commitment with a delay and arrange a later date for the New York appearance.

★ ★ ★

Piazza is also arranging an attractive preliminary card for the Aug. 13 feature. Ossie Groom, now a professional after going to the National AAU meet last year, and Ducky Dietz, classy Detroit fighter, are expected to be on the card.

Fight fans agreed the card in Saginaw last week was one of the best programs seen in the state for some time.

Bicmar's Grant Pitches No-Hitter, Shaw's Win

There was plenty of excitement on the local softball front last night as Bicmar hurler Lynus Grant flipped a no-hitter, Shaw's allowed three runs but won its 14th game in 15 tries, Pontiac Police moved back into a 1st-place tie in the International League and Dostal Foundry won for the 1st time taking 10 innings to do so.

Grant had men on base in five of the seven innings on walks and errors but had only five balls hit to the outfield in blanking Birmingham 6-2 in the American League. Bicmar scored all its runs in the 1st frame.

Elks 810 scored the most runs Shaw's has allowed in one game all season in league play but bowed 6-3. Winner Jake Mazur fanned 12 and had a shutout until the 6th. He belted a three-run homer and a single to pace the hitters. The Elks have scored five of the six runs garnered off Jeweler hurlers in loop games. They won a 2-1 verdict earlier.

A nifty two-hitter put the Policemen right back in the top slot. Elmo Burgess hurled the gem beating Deni's 4-0 after he was staked to a big early lead.

★ ★ ★

Dostal broke an eight-game drought when two singles and a fielder's choice scored the deciding run in a 6-5 conquest of State Hospital. Pete Manning was the victor in relief.

McKay Gains 3rd Round in Tourney

CHICAGO (AP) — Barry McKay of the University of Michigan, seeded No. 7, moved into the third round of the men's singles of the National Clay courts tennis tournaments here today.

McKay, who received a first-round bye, trimmed Donald Dell of Bethesda, Md., 6-1, 6-4, yesterday.

In a first-round match, Jerry Dubie of Hamtramck, Mich., defeated Paul Coehn of Berkeley, Calif., 6-1, 6-2.

Richard Leslie of Battle Creek, Mich., won a second-round match with David Nelson of Chicago, 6-3, 6-0.

In other second-round matches Gordon Fleming of Flint, Mich., turned back Dan Topping Jr., of Los Angeles, 6-4, 6-3, and Leslie Dodson of Detroit beat Merrick Lathrop of Chicago, 6-0, 6-1.

Waterford No-Hitter

A five-inning no-hitter and some impressive home run hitting featured softball play in the Waterford kids' leagues yesterday.

Jerry Caldwell flipped the no-hitter as Gulf Service walloped Nubrite Plating 15-3. Jim Hoke batted in six runs with two homers. Bill Bryce also homered twice as Rogers Electric of the Little League handed Elizabeth Lake Estates a 17-2 beating.

Errors Help Lakeland to Win Over White's

Lakeland Pharmacy took advantage of seven errors in the last two innings to score eight runs in a 9-1 trouncing of White Brothers Realty in a Waterford Softball League game last night.

The win moved Lakeland within one-half game of 1st place. Pharmacy hurler Don Herr struck out 10. The loss dropped White Brothers below .500 at 7-8.

Dyna Is Overall Race Winner

MACKINAC ISLAND (AP) — The Dyna, a 58-foot yawl, is the overall winner of the 1957 Port Huron-to-Mackinac Island yacht race.

Dr. Mike Tappert of Detroit, race chairman of the sponsoring Bay View Yacht Club of Detroit, declared the Dyna the winner last night even though some yachts still were out on the calm waters of Lake Huron.

With the handicap system used in the annual 235-mile race, a yacht could win without crossing the finish line first.

The Dyna, owned by Clayton Lewis of Sturgeon Bay, Wis., was the second across the finish at 11:37 a.m. yesterday. Sabre, an entry in the racing division, was first. Entries in the racing division were ineligible for the overall championship.

The Dyna also won the Class A division.

The apparent second-place boat in the overall competition was the Pompadour, a German-made craft that formerly carried Adolph Hitler as a guest when it was the property of a Nazi industrialist.

Phillies Grab NL's Lead

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Real quick now, who hasn't been in first place in that National League nonsense this season?

Only two clubs (New York Giants and Chicago Cubs) now that Philadelphia's long-frustrated Phillies have taken over by winning 12 of their last 14.

★ ★ ★

They grabbed a half-game edge over the St. Louis Cardinals last night by beating them 6-2. It was rookie Jack Sanford's 12th victory, tops in the NL.

Brooklyn's Dodgers, also on the rebound, won their fourth in a row by battering Milwaukee 20-4 to climb within four percentage points of the third-place Braves.

The Giants defeated the Cubs 5-3.

Just one game was scheduled in the American League and the Washington Senators walloped Kansas City 10-3.

Sanford, a 28-year-old fast-balling right-hander who bummed around in the minors for seven years, joined castoff Jim Hearn with three victories in the Phillies' streak, which has jumped them from fifth place since July 1.

★ ★ ★

All the Cards managed off Sanford was five hits, two by Al Dark, who tripled and scored the first run and homered for the other.

The Phils, who have pressed to second place six times previously only to be repulsed, swept the three-game set from the Cards with just six hits, but four were for extra bases.

The Dodgers really had a ball, walloping 16 hits, five of them home runs, adding 10 bases on balls and scoring nine runs in the eighth on just five hits.

Winner Russ Kemmerer and Lou Berberet hit two-run homers and Faye Throneberry connected for a solo shot for the Senators, who were out-hit 12-11. Wally Burnette lost it.

Oh yeah, if you were wondering about the Pittsburgh Pirates in that first-place quiz, forget about it. They were in a four-way tie opening day.

Tighe Benches Kaline for NY Game

DETROIT (AP) — It was about this time last year that the Detroit Tigers rose up from their second-division doldrums and started socking every team in the American League.

It was too little and too late for the Tigers, who still finished in fifth place, but their surge made them the winningest team in the second half of the American League season.

Hopeful that a doubleheader victory over the Baltimore Orioles Sunday signalled the start of a similar second-half spurt, manager Jack Tighe will send his Tigers against the New York Yankees here tonight.

The game, first of a three-game series, will pit the Tigers' Frank Lary (4-11) against the Yanks' Bob Turley (4-2).

The Tigers will take on the Yankees without all-star rightfielder Al Kaline. Although he played briefly Sunday, Kaline is suffering from an ailing foot. Tighe decided to bench him because of that and because of his lowly batting average.

Kaline, one-time American League batting champion, is hitting only .281. He has hit only six home runs and batted in only 35 runs in 80 games.

Tighe will put Bill Tuttle in center field and J. W. Porter in right field. Tuttle came out of a season-long batting slump Sunday with seven hits.

At stake for the Tigers in the Yankee series is a new hold in the first division. They now are in fifth place, 12½ games out of first place and one game behind the fourth-place Cleveland Indians.

Tighe, a freshman major league manager, expressed his oft-repeated hope Sunday that the double victory over the Orioles meant his Tigers were ready to perform in the style that was predicted for them before the season.

Pre-season guessers gave the Tigers a good chance of giving the Yankees a hard run for the American League pennant.

★ ★ ★

So far, mainly because the expected hitting strength didn't show up to help the surprisingly good pitching, the Tigers have managed only to climb to the lower reaches of the first division.

The Tigers hold a 6-5 edge over the Yanks so far this season.

Phils Revel in High Spot

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — For the first time in over three years, the Philadelphia Phillies looked down on the rest of the pack from first place today, and a club executive said "The front office is just as surprised as any fan."

★ ★ ★

Philadelphia's decisive 6-2 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals last night pushed the Phillies on top by a half game, the first they've headed the National League since May 18, 1954. And at that time they shared the lead with the Brooklyn Dodgers.

★ ★ ★

Beaming proudly, Phillies General Manager Roy Hamey expressed joy last night as the last of an overflow crowd of 33,906 fans streamed out of Connie Mack Stadium.

★ ★ ★

"The front office is just as surprised as any fan in the stands at the heights the club has attained" Hamey said.

★ ★ ★

"But let me say that our players feel they are just as good as any of the five contending teams. With the hustle we're displaying now and the fact that we're out of our hitting slump, we'll be in there all the way now."

★ ★ ★

The vacillating Phillies were five games behind after a five-game losing streak just two weeks ago. Since then they've caught fire, winning 12 of their last 14 games and nine of their last 10.

Mrs. Porter Is Western Leader

OMAHA (AP) — Medalist Barbara Romack Porter hopes to crack her Women's Western Golf Tournament losing jinx by winning the championship.

★ ★ ★

The attractive Sacramento, Calif., blonde with a long list of titles, including the 1954 USGA amateur, has played in the Western Amateur six times since 1950. She didn't get by the first round five times and lost in the second round the sixth.

This year, however, may be different. The 5-feet-4, 108 pound young lady belted out a three-under par 70 Monday that tied the record low medalist score in the 57-year-old tournament.

Junior Loop Teams Have Scoring Ball

High scoring was the order of the day again yesterday around the various city junior baseball leagues with the exceptions of a pair of two-hitters and a 5-4 contest.

Cranbrook's Larry Demrick hurled a Class D two-hitter beating Nicholie 7-2 as Mike Minton blasted three hits, while Dave Jones of the Pontiac Boys' Club had the other in an 'E' tilt. He defeated the West Side Kiwanis nine 3-1 with 13 strikeouts.

In an unusual mound gem that backfired, Leslie Smith and Tom Cordingly combined for a one-hitter but the White Sox dropped a 5-4 verdict to the Auburn Heights Boys' Club in the Midget American League. Several walks and nine errors made it possible.

Other scores:

California Yacht 1st Finisher at Honolulu

HONOLULU (INS)—The 83-foot sloop Barlovento, owned by Frank Hooyka of La Canada, Calif., glided past a searchlight beam off Diamond Head last night to become the first official finisher in the Los Angeles-Honolulu Yacht Race.

The Barlovento crossed the finish-line at 10:02 p.m. (1:02 a.m. Tuesday PDT) but because of the handicap nature of the race may not be the winner.

The Barlovento was the lone yacht starting from scratch on July 4 at Los Angeles Harbor.

Twenty-three players named White have played in the major leagues.

Althea Gives Chicago's Tennis Fans Real Show

CHICAGO (AP) — Wimbledon Champion Althea Gibson, determined to win her first major U. S. tennis title, put on a rousing performance yesterday in the first round of the National Clay Courts Tournament.

★ ★ ★

The lanky star from New York City breezed past Lois Smith of Glenview, Ill., 6-0, 6-0, with grim determination.

★ ★ ★

The lack of confidence which has usually plagued her in big tournaments in this country was gone.

★ ★ ★

"She was sure of herself out here," said her coach Sid Llewellyn. "You don't bring a youngster from nowhere and beat a talented player. Althea knew this."

★ ★ ★

Althea went to the showers after her match without comment. Llewellyn said she had made him promise that he wouldn't allow her to be bothered with anything but tennis.

★ ★ ★

All seeded players eased to victory with the exception of Neale Fraser, the No. 2 foreign seed from Australia. Fraser ran into trouble before disposing of Paul Wilkins of Beaumont, Tex.

Shaw's Win 3 Road Games by Shutouts

Shaw's Jewelers, now sporting a 20-4 season record in softball counting last night's league victory, won three shutouts away from home last weekend.

★ ★ ★

The win string started with a 4-0 triumph at Madison Heights. The others came in a doubleheader sweep at Flint as Shaws beat the strong Shively Bros. nine twice, 6-0 and 1-0.

MONDAY'S STARS

PITCHING—Jack Sanford, Phillies, stopped Cardinals 6-2 on five hits, striking out seven, for his 12th victory that hoisted the Phils into the National League lead.

HITTING — Charlie Neal, Dodgers, hit two home runs and drove in three runs as Brooklyn walloped Braves, 20-4.

GMC super-stamina leads to big savings

Warner of Philadelphia—one of America's top three ready-mix outfits—uses GMC's to swing 2½ extra yards every trip

No, you're not seeing double—this GMC has FOUR wheels up front! With the extra axle—added locally—the trucks handle 18-ton legal payloads.

From light-duties to 45-ton giants, GMC makes a full family of trucks. In both gasoline and Diesel models, every one is a Blue Chip GMC Money-Maker!

GMC MONEY-MAKERS

IT TAKES PLENTY of truck backbone to haul 18 tons of concrete. But Warner Company took advantage of GMC's enormous reserve strength—had an extra front axle installed locally for the desired weight distribution—and they have mixers that swing 9-yard loads!

That means each of their GMC FWX660's is hauling, in two trips, almost as much payload as their previous trucks delivered in three. Multiply that by the 26 GMC's in Warner's fleet, and you'll see how delivery costs take a nose dive.

This performance is sort of a GMC tradition. Everywhere, that extra stamina is letting owners take extra-profit loads—often over impossible roads—always with notable freedom from breakdown—and do it with low running costs.

There's a GMC, from pickup runabouts to 45-tonners, with that same inborn toughness your kind of truck-work can gain by. See your GMC dealer.

The nation's Capitol building in Washington has a length of 751 feet and a width of 350 feet, including the structure's major approaches.

About 55 per cent of all pedestrians killed in city traffic were found to be using the public streets for crossing between marked intersections.

Hal Boyle Says:

Basie Doesn't Believe in Boredom

NEW YORK (AP)—William Basie, a man upon whom immortality has smiled in his own lifetime, believes in living every day as if it were Saturday night.

"I've never been bored," said Bill, better known as Count Basie, dean of "jump swing," who will be 53 next month and has been pounding a piano longer than he can remember.

Basie, a genius at his type of music, is the son of a Red Bank N. J., caretaker. He took only a few 25-cent lessons as a boy, rocketed to the top of the jazz world more than two decades ago, and stayed there ever since.

★ ★ ★

His band, named as "the best" four years in a row in a poll of critics made by Downbeat Magazine, has made three transatlantic tours. It recently completed an extended engagement at the Waldorf-Astoria, the first Negro band to be featured at that swank hostelry.

Basie has survived the postwar jinx that struck down many big name bands, but if you ask him how he has remained on top for so long, he replies as if surprised:

"The top? That's the place we're scuffling to reach. The big problem is to hold on to what you've got."

★ ★ ★

He likes his gin straight and takes life the same way. He expresses himself best in rhythm, not in words, and he speaks with a cautious modesty and courtesy.

"If I've learned one thing," he remarked, "it's this: Don't forget people. If you pass them going up, they're going to be still around, remembering, when you pass them going the other way."

Basie, composer of several hits, started as a $3 a night tune pounder in a Chinese restaurant on the Jersey coast. He began to reach the big time in 1935 when he took over Benny Moten's band at the old Reno Club on 12th St. in Kansas City.

★ ★ ★

Basie loves to recall those vanished days when 12th St. was a nationally famous jazz lane, and every other door opened into a cabaret where dance hostesses drank "catfish cocktails" and entertained the customers.

"In those days when they opened a club," said Basie, "they took the key to the door and handed it with a $5 bill to a cab driver and told him, 'Ride as far as that'll take you, then throw the key away.'"

Many old-time jazz men think the musicians they played with in their youth—the fabulous players of the fabulous 1920s—have never been equalled. Not Basie.

★ ★ ★

"The kids today think much better," he said. "They're better technicians. Their brains are well advanced. They think faster.

"But the old song writers did seem to put more into their songs than you find in many songs written today. They wrote them on the wall to stay—and we're still going back to them."

He believes the greatest figures in jazz in his lifetime have been Duke Ellington, Satchmo Armstrong, Tommy Dorsey and Benny Goodman.

And the greatest jazz tunes?

"Well, 'St. Louis Blues' is the all-time tune. That's the national anthem as far as I'm concerned. And 'Some of These Days' and 'Twelfth Street Rag,' and—I think I'll stop with them."

Treat Old Age While Young

Scientist Calls Senility Disease Made Up of Deficiencies, Illnesses

MERANO, Italy (AP)—Old age is a disease, a leading scientist said today, and the time to start treating it is before you even suspect you are aging.

The critical period starts at about 45 years, added Dr. Enrico Greepi of Italy, president of the International Assn. of Gerontology.

Greppi, himself 65, said old age can be considered "a disease consisting of deficiencies and illnesses—a chronic and fatally progressive disease."

Like any other disease, Greppi said, it can best be treated from its start with certain detectable symptoms allowing for diagnosis and preventive medicine and treatment to slow the process.

These symptoms, Greppi said, are not baldness or graying hair, but such signs as a tendency to grow fat, or become nervous.

"Overnutrition is one of the elements hastening old age in some people," Greppi emphasized.

He described the 45-60 period as the critical age when physical and mental changes reach their climax.

"The mental attitude of a man of 50 toward old age can be self-damaging," he explained.

The 60-70 period, Greppi said, is one of only gradual aging and relative stability of mental attitudes and physical condition—"A period after the pilot has weathered the storm." He called the years after 70 the period of senility.

★ ★ ★

"Old age is a fate we must accept," Greppi said. "We gerontologists must not be asked to bring along a theory on how to achieve new youth. It would be undignified and morally wrong."

The only scientist to suggest to the congress the possibility of a rejuvenating treatment is Dr. Anna Aslan of Bucharest. So far she has not appeared in Merano.

Three Russian gerontologists arvied here today. About 450 scientists from 30 countries are attending.

Hearing Postponed in Election Appeal

A hearing on three Circuit Court suits brought by a trio of unsuccessful candidates in the South Lyon spring election was postponed yesterday until July 25.

Candidates Rex W. Kinne, Charles Sinelli and Mrs. Florence Renwick want the court to void the election of their opponents.

Kinne ran for mayor against Albert Weinburger. He says that a recount, by which Weinburger won by two votes, was improperly conducted.

Kinne also claims that 38 absentee ballots were illegally distributed.

Sinelli brought suit against Raymond Sweet. First returns had Sinelli the winner in a council race, but the recount indicated a tie. Sweet won the council seat in a drawing.

Mrs. Renwick, beaten by Bernard Snell for Justice of the Peace, contends that nominating petitions were improperly circulated.

Comedian's Son Wins Dismissal of Drunk Charge

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Charles Chaplin Jr. won a dismissal of a drunk charge because a benevolent judge believed it was his first offense. But, said police, that wasn't quite the case.

Municipal Juudge Robert Clifton yesterday said he was dismissing a charge against the 32-year-old Chaplin because "I don't want to start a record on you." The son of the actor had been arrested early Sunday during a loud argument at a swimming pool party.

But it turned out, later, that Chaplin already had a record—in the adjoining jurisdiction of Beverly Hills, where he was arrested on drunk charges in 1948 and 1949.

Informed of his oversight, Judge Clifton said he had before him only the Los Angeles Police Department records. "I thought he was a first offender," he said.

Chaplin, who spent 12 hours in jail, went to court ready to plead guilty. "Sure I was drunk," he said. "The whole party was."

Woman Movie Producer Is Sure 'Dino' Will Click

By JACK LEFLER

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Bernice Block, the newest of less than half a dozen women producers in Hollywood, has just completed her first production—"Dino," a down-to-earth story of the rehabilitation of a juvenile delinquent.

★ ★ ★

Looking down from the cloud she's been riding since release of her picture, she recalled today the struggle before she reached her goal.

Without any formal theatrical training but with a strong interest in sociology and psychology, the strikingly pretty Miss Block started trying to edge into the highly competitive producing field four years ago.

Her first venture was a television series. She had money of her own for financing and a good story but the project failed to come off.

All she got out of two years work was experience in the ways an independent producer must operate.

She learned how to acquire a story and line up a good screen writer, director and cast. With that package under her arm, she goes to a studio to persuade it that her story is worth financing, filming and distributing.

★ ★ ★

That's what she did with "Dino" and that's what she intends to do with her new undertakings.

The young producer's first picture stars Sal Mineo, who has had a quick rise to popularity; Brian Keith; and Susan Kohner. It is being distributed by Allied Artists.

"Dino" cost $300,000 to produce. Miss Block says she'll make money and be satisfied with a 1½-million-dollar gross, but feels it will go higher.

★ ★ ★

She already is deep in future production plans. She has acquired two screen plays, a biography and a novel about which she is truly excited.

Roy Rogers Shops for Adult Westerns

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Roy Rogers, idol of millions of kiddies, said today he is shopping for an adult Western series and has closed down his TV production office as a retrenchment move toward that goal.

★ ★ ★

"Actually," Rogers told a reporter, "I don't know where they get this adult Western tag. I've been watching some of my old movies on television and they're as adult as any of them."

★ ★ ★

Roy said he closed his office at Goldwyn Studios because "it was just $4,000 a month going out the window."

Rogers still has a year to go on his contract with NBC, but General Foods, his sponsor for the last six years, dropped the show last month.

Dali Painting Irks Greek Millionaire

PARIS — Salvador Dali, the famed surrealist artist, has been at work in Paris on a portrait of Stavros Niarchos, the Greek millionaire shipping magnate. To Niarchos' surprise and dismay, Dali decided to depict him rising naked from the sea. "I am painting him emerging from the Mediterranean surrounded by fantastic mythological characters.

It expresses my opinion of his personality," Dali said. Niarchos was represented as being angry when he heard about Dali's plan. "Dali made some sketches of me when we met last year," he said, "I did not know he was going to use them in a portrait." But the artist says he just did sketches of the Greek tycoon's head "and used my imagination for the rest. It is the most sensational portrait I have ever done."

Attorney Plans to Quiz Fishermen Swamped in Wake of Aquarama

DETROIT (AP) — U. S. Atty. Fred W. Kaess says he wants to question persons who reported their small boats were swamped in the wake of the Great Lakes cruise ship Aquarama.

He said he asked the U. S. Coast Guard yesterday to bring in the nine fishermen in two rowboats and a family of three in an outboard who complained they were swamped when the Aquarama passed them in the lower Detroit River Sunday.

★ ★ ★

He also said he planned to talk to Capt. Morgan Howell of the Aquarama.

All the passengers of the small craft were rescued. A woman in one of the fishing boats, Mrs. Helen Swanek of suburban Lincoln Park, suffered head injuries and bruises.

The 10,600-ton Aquarama, a converted ocean-going freighter, carries passengers between Detroit and Cleveland. It has been involved in harbor accidents at both cities since it opened service this season.

★ ★ ★

J. Lee Barrett, president of the Aquarama line, expressed regret about the swampings, but added:

"The Aquarama is kept within reasonable rates of speed. There are many persons who operate small craft, however, who place themselves in jeopardy by coming too close to the large ships."

Radio's 'Tonto,' John Todd, 80, Dies in Detroit

DETROIT (AP) — John Todd, who played Tonto on the Lone Ranger radio serial nearly two decades, is dead.

A teacher of speech and dramatics at the Detroit Music Conservatory since live radio broadcasts of the Lone Ranger were discontinued about two years ago, Todd died Sunday at a Detroit Hospital. He was 80.

★ ★ ★

He was the only regular portrayer of the Lone Ranger's trusted Indian companion during the more than 2,500 half-hour radio shows sent out on the network from Detroit's WXYZ.

The role on television now is played by Jay Silverheels.

Todd's voice still is that of the faithful Tonto for many radio listeners. Transcriptions of the old Lone Ranger programs still are being broadcast over hundreds of stations.

Todd, who looked more like an English squire than an Indian, once gave way briefly to a real Indian who was hired as an understudy. A deluge of letters from children complaining that he didn't sound like an Indian," sent the Indian to another job and Todd resumed his regular schedule.

NEVER JOKED ABOUT ROLE

Todd, a vaudeville and Broadway musical comedy performer before he took the Tonto role, never joked about the characterization. He took his role seriously and always tried to portray the Indian as high-principled and loyal.

A native of Pennsylvania, Todd joined WXYZ in Detroit in 1933. The Lone Ranger was born in Detroit shortly afterward and later was carried on a national radio hookup.

Record Sales for Schering?

Kidder, Peabody Study Expects 1957 to Be 7th Straight Year of Profits

NEW YORK (INS) — Wall Street hears:

Study of Schering Corp. forecasts 1957 will be the seventh consecutive year of record sales. Earnings are expected to top last year's peak and may run as high as $8 vs. $7 last year according to Kidder, Peabody.

Rally Follows Weak Opening

CHICAGO (AP) — A slight rally developed in wheat and soybean futures on the board of trade today after a weak opening.

Wheat absorbed hedge selling pressure easily, as it has done in recent sessions, and then moved fractionally ahead. Corn and oats were weak in early trade due partly to generally favorable weather and a bearish private oats crop report.

Near the end of the first hour, new style wheat was ½ higher to ½ lower, July $2.14⅝; corn was ⅛ higher to ⅜ lower, July $1.29⅛; Oats were ¼ to ⅝ lower, July 67⅝; rye was unchanged to ½ lower, July $1.33½; soybeans were two cents higher to ½ lower, July $2.47; and lard was unchanged to 13 cents a hundred pounds lower, July $13.72.

Canadian Dollar Continues to Climb

NEW YORK (AP) — The Canadian dollar continued its upward climb yesterday, topping its U. S. counterpart by a nickel and 5-64ths of a cent.

★ ★ ★

This is the biggest edge the Canadian dollar has held over the U. S. dollar since November, 1933, just before the United States went off the gold standard. Then the Canadian dollar was worth $1.05⅝ in U. S. money. Today it crept up to $1.05 5-64, a gain of 1-32nd of a cent since Friday.

★ ★ ★

A rush by U. S. companies to invest their funds in Canadian industry has contributed to the Canadian dollar's rising value in recent years. The increasing number of Canadian bond flotations in the United States has also been a major factor, along with demand for Canadian dollars overseas.

Urges Building Up of Canadian Ports

WINNIPEG, Man. (AP)—An Ontario labor leader says two American Great Lakes ports, Duluth and Superior, will reap the benefits of the St. Lawrence Seaway unless the Canadian government takes immediate action to build up the port facilities of Fort William and Port Arthur.

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

"The only available harbor frontage available is owned by the Canadian Pacific and Canadian National railways," Ostling said. "Former trade minister (C. D.) NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market made a vigorous spurt at the opening today but lost its steam as profits were taken.

Key stocks remained ahead from fractions to around two points, but some early gains were converted to losses.

Some big opening blocks in motors and aircrafts were traded at higher prices, but in later dealings prices were below their best.

★ ★ ★

Youngstown Sheet was ahead about a point. Ford rose about a point. Douglas Aircraft was ahead more than a point. United Aircraft gained about a point and Boeing a fraction.

Homebuilding Lag Continued in June

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government reported today the lag in the nation's homebuilding pace continued through June.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics reported housing and apartment starts declined from 102,000 in May to 97,000 in June, but said the decrease was seasonal. The seasonally adjusted annual rate for June was 970,000 units, about the same as in May.

A continuing decline in housing starts had been expected in some quarters to lead to lower down payment authorizations for FHA-financed housing, as permitted in new legislation signed by President Eisenhower last week.

In Memoriam 2

IN LOVING MEMORY OF DOROthy Boice, who passed away one year ago today.
We do not forget you,
Nor do we intend.
We think of you often and will to the end.
And dear to our memory, you ever will be.
Sadly missed by her family, Elsie, Lorraine, Thomas and Ora.

IN MEMORY OF PRESTON HIBler, who passed away July 16, 1944.
They say time heals all sorrow,
And helps us to forget;
But time so far has only proved,
How much we miss you yet.
God gave us strength to fight it,
And courage to bear the blow;
But what it meant to lose you,
No one will ever know.
Sadly missed by the Hibler family.

Earl Wilson Appointed Beauty Contest Judge

By EARL WILSON

LONG BEACH, Calif.—Well, old buddy-buddy, guess where I am now. You never could.

They got me making like a beauty expert this week. I'm one of the judges at the Miss Universe contest.

Is my wife with me? Are you kidding? She allows me perfect freedom—as long as I don't get more than 10 feet from her.

This assignment is no lark. For one thing we have to get into a dinner jacket every hot night.

We're very conscientious because what is beauty anyway?

★ ★ ★

You take Judge Tom Kelly, the photographer who took the Marilyn Monroe calendar shot.

Tom and I are both slavish to the form divine. We might not consider the facial bone structure as important, say, as certain other departments.

Our head judge, Vincent Trotta of New York, an artist, is a devotee of symmetry.

He's horrified if a girl's ankles don't come together perfectly. He's death on knock-knees and pigeon-toes.

He draws a perfect figure which he gives to the judges and we're supposed to look at that.

★ ★ ★

Personally, I'd rather look at the girls.

Our other judges lean toward facial beauty, refinement and such, so the winner's got to be great. Still no winner'll satisfy everybody. Because beauty's indefinable.

Take masculine beauty. I asked some girls recently why William Holden's supposed to be so dreamy.

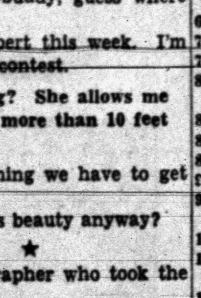

"He's just another big hunk of guy," I said.

"Well I like hunks," one female said.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

The late Jimmy Dorsey's "So Rare" disk sold a million; Mom Dorsey accepted his gold record . . . Dorothy Lamour's summer stock show had to be rewritten to explain her busted leg.

Dave Garroway's secretary, Nancy Jones, marrying NBC's Moscow correspondent Irv. Levine—is taking 96 pairs of nylons back to Russia . . . One reason Imogene Coca likes a local restaurants: It has no TV set . . .

SARA

Sara Halevy, the Yemenite singer, is a talented artist, too; her work'll be displayed there.

Bob Hope, who did only two personal appearances last year, will make five in the next eight weeks . . . Sarah Vaughan stayed at the "Band of Angels" opening long enough to pose for pictures, then ducked out the rear. Mrs. Clark Gable, recovered, will go hunting with him next month in Canada.

★ ★ ★

EARL'S PEARLS: A fellow who's been taking a drink every night for 30 years insists it can do him no harm, as long as he's careful not to let it become a habit.

★ ★ ★

WISH I'D SAID THAT: "When you're pushing 50, that's exercise enough . . . That's earl, brother.

Carney Sought for Spectacular

'Senator Claghorn' and Del Sharbutt Forming Comedy Team

By JACK O'BRIAN

NEW YORK (INS) — Milton Berle is expected to do five NBC-TV shows next season, possibly guest shots, though Uncle Milt prefers his own programs — Jimmy Durante will do three next year, Martha Raye, several . . .

Phil Harris still has two years to go on a $150,000 a year NBC contract for which he doesn't have to do anything buy pay taxes . . .

CBS is dickering with Art Carney to star in "Rip Van Winkle" for a Du Pont spectacular.

Kenny Delmar, erstwhile Sen. Claghorn, and announcer Del Sharbutt are forming a comedy team, with Leonard Levenson writing the jokes.

Eddie Bracken's "Masquerade Party" emcee job has made him a hotter acting bet again, with more offers than he can accept.

SPONSOR NEEDED

The Frank Sinatra show needs a co-sponsor, and it's a tough half-hour budget — $85,000 per week.

CBS-TV is tossing a pile of production at its "Seven Lively Arts" including seven different directors; one of them is Sidney Lumet, Gloria Vanderbilt's personal genius . . .

Lux Theater lists among its reasons for leaving the air the inability to get the rights to recreate plots of old movies . . .

Producers of the "Casey Jones" TV film series coming next season discovered that Casey's fireman, Sim Webb, who jumped from the Cannonball Express in time to escape Casey's fate that April day in 1900, still is living . . .

Steve Allen has a better and more professional show than Ed Sullivan but we still can't see him as a "comedian."

'FIRE FIGHTERS'

Ed Byron finished his pilot film based on the New York Fire Dept., "Fire Fighters" . . .

Because Studio One didn't pay actor Walter Kinsella for using Walter's photo as the picture of a fictional dead man, the next meeting of AFTRA (radio-TV performers' union) will make provision to cover payment for such public misuse of its members' flat faces . . .

Peter Lind Hayes' big idea to televise night club shows via closed circuit to other nightclubs around the country was a good one except that the American Guild of Variety Artists, Pete's union, immediately insisted each performer should get a full week's pay for every club thus close-circuited, and that short-circuited everything.

NBC signed the Mello-Larks to a two-year deal . . .

More women watch TV than men or children . . .

Radio-TV paid the big leagues $7,300,000 last year; even more this season . . .

TV Maker to Probe Questionable Sets

CHICAGO (AP)—A major television manufacturer is to re-exam-17-inch portable metal set as a result of the electrocution of a 6-year-old boy in his home Sunday.

★ ★ ★

The General Electric Co. announced in a statement last night in Syracuse, N. Y., that it was sending engineers to Chicago to conduct an investigation into the circumstances surrounding the death of the boy, Howard Erenstein Jr.

★ ★ ★

Howard and Pearl Erenstein, the boy's parents, testified at an inquest yesterday in suburban Skokie that their son brushed against an aluminum cart on which the portable TV rested as he reached to get a knife from a drawer.

★ ★ ★

There was a crackling sound the boy fell to the floor, the parents said. A coroner's physician said it appeared the boy's body was "grounded" by moisture on the kitchen cabinet.

Oodles of Poodles (50) Break Up His Marriage

LONDON (AP)—Oodles of poodles were blamed by 46-year-old John Lintern for the breakup of his marriage.

Lintern told the judge his wife Nancy had 50 poodles, gave them the run of the house and told him to get out when he protested that the place "smelled like a kennel."

The judge granted Lintern the divorce.

Michigan Flier Unhurt After Ditching Plane

IWAKUNI, Japan (AP) — Marine 1st Lt. Earl R. Williams of Grand Haven, Mich., escaped injury today when engine trouble forced him to ditch his AD6 Skyraider plane into the sea 45 miles east of Iwakuni.

Japanese fishermen picked up the 24-year-old pilot and a Naval air-sea rescue helicopter returned him to the Iwakuni base. He was examined at the base hospital and released.

Gives Instruction to Teachers

County Aids Poor Readers

By MAX E. SIMON

What can Oakland County educators do about poor readers in the public school system, readers seemingly beyond help from their teachers?

The challenge posed by this question has been taken up by the County Board of Education's Reading Service, which was formed to probe and solve reading and study problems of children in the county's 31 school districts.

75 METHODS

Harry T. Hahn, director of the reading service, asserts, "Every child can be taught to read. There are 75 ways to help youngsters overcome reading difficulties and all of them should be tried before a teacher decides that a student is beyond aid."

Then why the difficulty in teaching certain children to read?

"Reading is a highly abstract skill which the student cannot learn by imitating his teacher," Dr. Hahn explained. "It's a mental process and teachers can't peer into the minds of their students.

"What we attempt to do is to give teachers new insights into reading instruction."

During the past year, the reading service staff tested and prepared extensive reports on 240 children, ranging in grade level from one to 12, who had been referred to them by schools throughout the county.

A large majority of the students, Dr. Hahn said, had average or better intelligence but could not read beyond the first-grade level.

GUIDANCE NEEDED

"These children had learning problems which were not necessarily a result of poor instruction. They were typical of a small percentage of young people needing careful guidance through elementary and secondary school stages," he said.

Upon completion of testing, the reading service prepared recommendations for re-teaching to the teachers and parents of the children.

Consultations were held with teachers to explain the value of instructional techniques not only for the child tested, but for all children who might have similar reading and study problems.

In many cases, staff members took charge of classrooms to demonstrate to faculties various phases of the teaching process.

The reading service does not give instruction to children, except in connection with training teachers to meet problems that arise in classes.

COMPREHENSIVE PROGRAM

Instead, the staff works closely with local school authorities to establish a comprehensive program of instruction for children with reading difficulties.

Besides testing children referred by the schools, the reading service holds small group conferences with teachers, sets up special workshops, and conducts research activities.

Twenty-nine short courses were offered to teachers on specific problems, running from six to 16 weeks. Specialists were called upon from outside of Oakland to lecture on various topics.

Some district authorities have called upon the service to provide training for teachers within their schools to qualify them as corrective or remedial teachers. Therefore, the staff makes provisions for "internship" or directed teacher-training.

★ ★ ★

An extensive library, including psychological tests is maintained at the service, with particular emphasis on corrective and remedial materials. It is also used as a repository for reports of projects carried on inside county schools so that results can be referred to by other educators.

The reading service exercises no supervisory functions over the local districts, but furnishes assistance upon request.

Fiscal Policies of Ike Probed

Dem Senator Charges President Hasn't Brains to Understand Them

By RICHARD WESLEY

WASHINGTON (AP)—The administration's fiscal policies, which Sen. Kerr (D-Okla) says President Eisenhower doesn't have the brains to understand, get a further airing today.

★ ★ ★

The Senate Banking Committee scheduled a closed meeting to consider a bill by Sen. Capehart (R-Ind) which would establish a presidential commission to study and report on the nation's monetary and financial practices.

Establishment of the commission originally was asked by Eisenhower, but the Senate sidetracked that move in favor of a study by its Finance Committee.

Capehart and Kerr tangled on Eisenhower's proposal and other subjects in Senate debate yesterday after Kerr declared: "No man can help Eisenhower study the fiscal policies of this government, because one cannot do that without brains and he does not have them."

Capehart jumped up to declare that Kerr should be ashamed to make such a statement "in the presence of schoolchildren in the gallery." This drew applause from onlookers in the public gallery rimming the Senate floor.

"I didn't say the President has no brains at all," Kerr told Capehart. "He is uninformed about the fiscal policies of this administration."

Traffic Judge Delayed by Ticket for Speeding

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Judge Samuel Wiesenthal, appointed last week to hear traffic violation cases, was almost late for his first day on the bench yesterday.

He was trying to settle a speeding ticket given him last October. Notations showed the case was reset four times.

Wiesenthal asserted the delays were not his fault. He said he tried twice to pay the fine, but clerks couldn't find the complaint.

He said he didn't get it paid yesterday either.

Iowa to Decide Legality of Nudist Camp in State

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — Iowa Attorney General Norman Erbe today faced a question on whether nudists camps are legal in the state.

Hancock County authorities want to know because their county has one.

At Garner, Hancock County Sheriff L. M. Brower indentified the nudist camp as La Dell Park, operated by Lavern Velau on a former farm near Klemee, Iowa.

Velau has agreed to stop operating the nudist camp until the legal situation is cleared up, Brown said.

The American Sun Bathers Assn., Inc., national nudist organization, heard about the possible legal peril of its Iowa advocates and wrote Erbe daring him to rule that nudists camps are illegal.

German Artist Leaves for Europe via Raft

NEW YORK (AP)—A 24-year-old German artist set sail for Europe yesterday on a raft made of airplane wing tanks.

Wolfgang Kraker vaon Schwarzenfeld of Munich said he hoped to make the solo crossing in 30 to 40 days. He has no radio.

The voyage is a return trip for Von Schwarzenfeld. Last year he sailed across the Atlantic to Miami, Fla., on the two-masted raft.

Law Revised for Disabled Veterans

By RAY HENRY
Associated Press Writer

Veterans disabled from military service may now collect Veterans Administration (VA) compensation and full Social Security disability payments if they qualify for both.

Congress has just cut a provision from the Social Security Disability Program—passed last year—which made it impossible to collect the full amount of both. The disability program went into effect July 1.

The provision knocked out of the law required that VA compensation be deducted from any Social Security disability payments for which a disabled veteran might be eligible. If this provision had stayed in the Social Security law, here's an example of what would have happened:

Suppose a veteran received a partial disability in World War II which is rated at 40 per cent. For this he collects $66 a month. And, suppose he was further disabled in an auto wreck and qualified for $108.50 a month in Social Security disability payments.

The most he could actually collect from Social Security would be $42.50, because the $66 in VA compensation had to be deducted from the $108.50 he qualified for in Social Security disability payments.

NOT ELIGIBLE BEFORE

In all cases, under the "deduction" provision, a veteran who was rated at 60 per cent or more disabled wouldn't have been eligible for any Social Security disability payments. Any veteran with such a disability receives at least $109 a month from the VA. The highest monthly Social Security disability payment is $108.50.

★ ★ ★

Now that the "deduction" provision has been knocked out of the Social Security law, here's what happens: A veteran with a disability from service for which he's getting VA compensation can also collect any Social Security disability payments for which he may be qualified.

For example: A veteran with a 40 per cent service disability may collect $66 a month, plus the full amount of Social Security—up to $108.50 a month. Thus, his total payments for being disabled could run as high as $174.50 a month.

★ ★ ★

Congress did not change a provision in the law which requires the deduction of other federal disability payments from any Social Security disability payments to which a person may be entitled.

VA PENSION

Included among the other federal payments is VA pension. VA pension is paid to wartime veterans who are permanently and totally disabled from disabilities having no connection with military service and who have only a small yearly income.

Thus, a veteran receiving a VA pension will have it deducted from any Social Security disability payments to which he may be entitled.

Congress did extend for any year the time in which some totally disabled persons may apply to have their Social Security records frozen. The right to apply for the disability freeze now will run out on June 30, 1958.

Even on Civil Rights

Dirksen Swings to Ike

By INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE

Sen. Everett McKinley Dirksen is a hard fighter. He fought hard against the nomination of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower for President in 1952. And he is fighting hard today for President Eisenhower's civil rights bill.

The Illinois Republican, a veteran of more than 22 years in Congress, has become one of the Eisenhower administration's most vocal spokesmen on the Senate floor.

That is partly because he now holds the position of GOP "whip" or assistant minority floor leader. But even before he was elected to this post, the 61-year-old midwesterner had moved away from the anti-Eisenhower, right-wing faction of the late Sen. Robert A. Taft and closer to the middle-ground area staked out by Eisenhower.

Taft chose Dirksen to make the speech placing his name in nomination for the GOP presidential nomination in Chicago in 1952.

The nation's television viewers may remember how Dirksen, reflecting the bitterness of the Taft-Eisenhower battle, pointed his finger directly and scornfully at New York Gov. Thomas E. Dewey—an Ike leader and delegate—and recalled his 1948 presidential defeat.

But like Taft, Dirksen pitched in and worked for Eisenhower in the campaign that followed. He now is in the position of being the man most likely to succeed Sen. William F. Knowland, Calif., as GOP floor leader when Knowland retires in January, 1959.

One of the Senate's best speakers, widely traveled and well-read, Dirksen spent 16 years in the House, during which he became an expert on government as a member of the House Appropriations Committee in the Senate, and on the Judiciary Committee.

He retired on January, 1949, because of an eye affliction. But when this condition improved, he returned to politics in 1950 and was elected to the Senate, defeating then majority leader Scott W. Lucas, Democrat.

He now serves on the Appropriations Committee in the Senate, and on the Judiciary Committee.

A native of Pekin, Ill., and a graduate of the University of Minnesota law school, Dirksen is a World War I overseas veteran and a lawyer.

Briton Fined for Giving Hot Match to Baboon

EXMOUTH, England (AP)—Charles Woolacott, 49, was fined 25 pounds ($70) yesterday for giving a lighted match to a zoo baboon.

Witnesses testified the baboon snatched an unlighted cigaret from Woolacott, who then lit a match and handed it to the animal, saying: "You'd better have a light too."

Woolacott was convicted of "causing an animal unnecessary suffering."

The average length of a new born infant is now about 20 inches, an increase over previous years.
