GOP Sees Cobo in Race for Michigan Governor

Flames Destroy Former Auto Foundry

GUTTED BY FLAMES — A 50-year-old landmark in Romeo was destroyed by flames in a $100,000 blaze Saturday. High winds fanned the flames out of control as 10 pieces of fire-fighting equipment fought the fire. One fireman was slightly injured. The W. Rumsey Co. waste mill processed rags into wiping cloths for industrial uses. Cause of the fire has not yet been determined. A fire of undetermined origin caused slight damage to an adjacent warehouse six months ago.

Two Pontiac Press Photographers Awarded Certificates for Excellence

Pontiac Press photographers James Mahar and Edward Vanderworp were presented certificates for excellence in photography from Michigan State University as a highlight of the Eighth Annual Michigan Press Photographers Convention Saturday at East Lansing.

The pair won the first two places in series competition for outstanding achievement with all papers in the state having circulations of 25,000 or over turning in entries.

Mahar's special page layout entitled "Lamb Goes to School," which appeared in the Press last spring, was named the best in Michigan.

Vanderworp was runner-up with his "Birth of a Baby" pictures in the Press Society Section last October. Large prints of the winners were on display at the convention.

Vanderworp also was honored for sports pictures drawing honorable mention in this category. His top sports photo was of the Wolverine Women's Open in May, 1955.

All prize-winning photos were taken with Speed Graphic cameras having electronic flash. The contest runs each year from the end of one convention to the beginning of the next. It is sponsored by the Michigan Press

Association, the MSU School of Journalism, and the Michigan Chapter of National Press Photographers.

Mahar is The Press' Chief Photographer and is now in his eighth year with The Press. Vanderworp is serving his fourth year as a staff photographer.

Other classifications included picture portfolios, features, spot news, color, general news, personalities and pictorial.

Three Area Men Die in Mishaps

Four Others Injured in Fatal Crash; Firemen Find Victim in Home

Two area men died on the highways and another was killed in a house fire during the weekend.

Robert Caldwell, 34, of Rochester, was killed in a two-car accident. Arthur P. Anderson, 64, of Troy crashed his car after suffering a heart attack. Clifford Christian, 22, suffocated as fire swept his Southfield Township home.

Four people, one a Pontiac man, were hospitalized after a Sunday morning two-car crash in Shelby Township, Macomb County, in which Caldwell was killed.

The Macomb County Sheriff's deputies said Caldwell apparently lost control while driving at "a high rate of speed." Deputies said he sideswiped the car of Joan Tessmen of Utica and overturned into a ditch.

William Morris of 408 Osmun St. received a broken left wrist. Three other passengers were hurt and taken to St. Joseph Hospital in Mt. Clemens. They were: Richard Bearis, Rochester, forehead lacerations; James Wood, Fairhaven, head cuts; and Rawleigh Wilson, Rochester, forehead bruises.

Troy police said the Anderson vehicle ran off the road into a drainage ditch on Sixteen Mile Road Saturday.

Redford State Police and the Southfield Township Fire Department are investigating the cause of fire at the Christian home.

Early Ford Profits for '56 at $73 Million

DETROIT (AP)—The Ford Motor Co. made a net profit of $73,700,000 in the first three months of 1956.

Henry Ford II, company president, said it was the second best first quarter in the company's history, being topped only by $102,500,000 in the first three months of 1955.

Ford stock was placed on public sale for the first time this year. The president said first-quarter earnings amounted to $1.37 a share, based on the average number of shares outstanding during the last three years.

Ford blamed the drop in profits in this year's first quarter to a decline in sales in the auto industry as a whole. Ford's sales totaled $1,203,100,000 but were 14.7 per cent below the first quarter of 1955.

Romeo Factory Gutted by Blaze

Report $100,000 Loss as Fire Sweeps Through Processing Plant

Fire of undetermined origin gutted a 50-year-old Romeo landmark Saturday afternoon.

The damage to the W. Rumsey Co. waste mill was estimated at about $100,000 by co-owners Henry D. and John H. Ramsey.

Efforts to save the brick and stone structure were hampered by high winds which fanned the flames. Volunteers concentrated on playing water on frame houses across the side street which were endangered.

The company processes rags into wiping cloths for industrial use.

Ten pieces of fire equipment were called to fight the blaze which was visible from 20 miles away.

The Bradley and Chubb coal shed, some 400 yards away, caught fire from flying sparks. This blaze was put out immediately, causing little damage. Another spark set fire to high grass behind the Church and Church Co. lumber yard. That too was brought under control

On the scene at the height of the fire were volunteers from the Harrison and Shelby Township Fire Departments and the Romeo and Armada village departments.

Only fireman injured was Will Jarvis of Harrison Township, whose hand was pierced by wire. He was treated by a local physician.

Edison crews were called to cut "hot" wires periling hundreds who witnessed the spectacular conflagration.

A transformer caught fire and fell to the ground, causing an electrical blackout in the village for about an hour.

High School Band Wins Top Rating at State Festival

The 85-piece Pontiac High School band under the direction of Dale C. Harris brought home a first division rating in state Class AA competition held at Michigan State University in East Lansing Saturday.

The band has received no rating other than first division since it began attending the state festivals in 1933. The only other class AA band to receive a first rating in the 1956 Michigan School Band and Orchestra Festival was Muskegon.

All four judges gave the local band members number 1 ratings.

The required march played by all Class AA schools was a tone poem, "Mannen Veen" by Wood. The warm-up march chosen by Pontiac was "Debonair" by Royal, composed especially for the Pontiac band. A free selection was "Fantasy on Themes of Frescobaldi" arranged by Mohaupt.

Other Michigan schools in the Class AA league are Owosso, Flint Central, Midland, Benton Harbor and Muskegon. More than 4,000 musicians competed in the event.

Clawson, a Class B band, won a first division rating as did Ferndale's high school orchestra.

Khrushchev Reveals Red Missile Plans

Angered Soviet Boasts About H-Bomb Power

Claims Russia Launched Aerial Nuclear Weapon in December Test

BIRMINGHAM, England (AP)—Communist party boss Nikita Khrushchev boasted today the Soviet Union will soon have guided missiles with H-bomb warheads which could "hit every point in the world."

Khrushchev made this statement in warning jeerers in the West: "Never shake your fist at a Russian."

Speaking in Russian without notes at a Chamber of Commerce luncheon, he showed he was nettled by booing crowds who met him and Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin here on the sixth day of their 10-day visit to Britain.

The full impact of Khrushchev's words seemed lost in the bustle of the luncheon, but an official translation by the Soviet news agency Tass underlined his implied threat:

"We shall have in the near future a guided missile with an H-bomb warhead which can hit every point in the world."

FROM A PLANE

Khrushchev disclosed, too, that the Russians have already exploded an H-bomb from a plane. He claimed the Soviet Union was the first nation to do this.

"I am quite sure that we will quickly have a guided missile with a hydrogen bomb that can fall anywhere in the world," Khrushchev said in a Russian-language speech as reported by the British Industries Fair, co-hosts at the luncheon.

A translator read out Khrushchev's speech in English, sentence by sentence as it was being delivered. Most Western newsmen here did not hear the translator read out the clause "that can fall anywhere in the world."

But a BIF official text, based on a shorthand writer's version of the oral translation, included it. Premier Bulganin indicated last December the Soviets already had guided missiles capable of intercontinental flights.

Khrushchev said he had seen people shaking fists at him and Bulganin since their arrival in Britain. Then he launched into a vivid account of Soviet strength.

Wipes Out His Family

SLAYS HIS FAMILY — Police surround 11-year-old Robert Curgenven, of Mansfield, Conn., who told them yesterday he shot his father, mother and brother after he received a spanking. Here he shows the police where he hid the .22 rifle he used.

11-Year-Old Youth Kills 'Nagging' Parents, Brother

MANSFIELD, Conn. (AP)—An 11-year-old boy, aiming awkwardly because of poor eyesight, shot to death his entire family—mother, father and older brother.

He told police they picked on him and he feared he would be sent to reform school.

Fifth-grader Robert Curgenven said he killed the three late Saturday afternoon at the family's rural home here, 30 miles east of Hartford.

He slept in the farmhouse that night, then reported the killings to a neighbor Sunday morning.

One night last week his father spanked him because he wouldn't put out his bedroom light and go to sleep, Robert said.

After telling his story to police yesterday, Robert was committed to the state hospital at Norwich for a 30-day mental examination.

Robert is built stockily but he has poor sight in his right eye and wears glasses. He said he had to sight the rifle with his left eye.

RELOADED EACH TIME

He told State Police Lt. Harry Taylor he reloaded the .22 caliber rifle after every shot, carrying spare bullets between his teeth.

First he killed his brother, Richard Jr. He walked into the barn where Richard was milking a cow about 5:30 p.m.

"I'm going to shoot you," he told Richard. But he said Richard paid him no mind and snapped: "Get out of here."

When Richard resumed milking, Robert fired a shot that caught the brother in the hand. The brother flung a milking can at him and Robert fired again—hitting him in the stomach.

Robert backed out the barn door

Politics, Love Highlight Editors' Parley in Capital

Some 400 editors assembled this last week in Washington, D.C. to discuss problems of news of the day. According to form, a day at an editors meeting still finds politics, romance and celebrities top news.

In capsule form this was the finding of John W. Fitzgerald, editor of The Pontiac Press:

Adlai Stevenson spoke for 30 minutes at noon Saturday and President Eisenhower for the same length of time in the evening.

At the noon luncheon on Saturday Stevenson commanded a standing ovation and charged the U.S. has lost all initiative in the military struggle with Communism.

President Dwight D. Eisenhower in a slightly more dramatic setting with the stage set for a radio and TV broadcast said, "The United States could take some comfort in the recent changes of the Russian foreign policy. The shift in the red tactics does offer a degree of comfort," President Eisenhower said.

In a somewhat lighter vein Pontiac Press columnist Earl Wilson, just back from Monaco, reported the wedding of the Prince and Grace just like any other wedding. Both parties apparently devoted.

Augmenting a full day of politics and romance, Eddie Fisher wound up the day with some of his latest lyrics.

On a serious note the editors returned home this weekend still pondering Republicans vs. Democrats plus romance.

Party Leaders Expect 'Draft' to Draw Mayor

Detroit Chief Assumes 'Wait and See' Attitude Concerning Petitions

LANSING (AP) — Detroit's Mayor Albert E. Cobo dominated the Republican governorship picture today. Party leaders were certain that he would respond to a draft.

Vacationing in Tucson, Ariz., Cobo told the Associated Press today he was taking a "wait and see" attitude toward circulation of petitions to put him on the Aug. 7 primary ballot. Cobo said he would have "no statement" on his candidacy until it is determined how the petitions are going.

Cobo's pre-eminence among possibilities for the Republican nomination as governor was even greater than when backers two month ago were talking up a draft that fizzled.

This time, a more influential group of GOP leaders uniting divergent party factions were ready to get started without delay in actual circulation of nominating petitions.

Their plan crystallized early Saturday—a few hours before a meeting of the Republican State Central Committee which put finishing touches on plans for the state convention May 5 in Detroit.

John B. Martin Jr. of Grand Rapids, a former state auditor general, erased himself from the list of prospective gubernatorial aspirants by getting on the draft Cobo bandwagon.

Another, State Rep. George Sallade of Ann Arbor said the boom for Cobo ended consideration for his entry into the race. Congressman Gerald Ford of Grand Rapids took himself out of the picture earlier in the week.

Friends of Paul D. Bagwell, a Michigan State University faculty member, rapped the state party leadership for being "out of touch" with the rank and file and urged Bagwell for the gov-

Dulles Appeals for World Unity

AP Board of Directors Hears Secretary, Then Presents Annual Report

NEW YORK (AP) — Secretary of State Dulles appealed today for positive unity in the free world in the face of Soviet soft talk, and called for development of the North Atlantic Treaty alliance into something more than a military pact.

"The time has come to advance NATO from its initial phase into the totality of its meaning," Dulles said in a speech prepared for The Associated Press annual luncheon.

Directors of The Associated Press reported today an increasing demand at home and abroad for the "factual, objective and intelligent news reporting" of The AP.

Referring to the elections at home and tensions and struggles abroad, the directors said, "This is a year for great reporting."

At a morning session the membership elected directors. Results of the election will not be known until late tonight.

Terms of the following AP directors expired this year:

Robert McLean, Philadelphia Bulletin; Norman Chandler, Los Angeles Times; Paul Miller, Rochester (N.Y.) Democrat and Chronicle; Robert B. Choate, Boston Herald; and James M. North Jr., Fort Worth Star-Telegram, all representing cities of more than 500,000 population; and Harry F. Byrd Jr., Winchester (Va.) Evening Star, representing cities of less than 50,000.

* * *

All were renominated except Chandler. He was ineligible for renomination because of an AP bylaw limiting all board members, except the president, to three consecutive terms. McLean is the president.

Harold A. Fitzgerald, publisher of The Pontiac Press and member of the AP board of directors, is attending the meeting.

Graham Has One Chance to Escape Death

DENVER (INS)—Legal experts conceded today that John Gilbert Graham, 24, accused of dynamiting an airplane causing death to 44 persons, has one slim chance of saving himself from the gas chamber.

* * *

They say that chance revolves around Colorado's peculiar law in circumstantial evidence. The Colorado law states a conviction based on circumstantial evidence alone cannot support the death penalty.

Defense Attorney John J. Gibbons reiterates during the interrogation of prospective witnesses:

"All this boy Jack Graham wants is a fair shake of the dice—a fair and impartial trial."

The trial today entered its seventh day—with the jury on the verge of being finally chosen. Opposing lawyers indicate that all they need is to find one more "acceptable" juror. In the box, tentatively accepted, are six men and six women and a woman alternate. It is the prosecution which is choosy about the final juror.

Graham is accused of sabotaging a United Airlines mainliner which exploded near Longmont, Colo., last Nov. 1, killing all on board. He is specifically charged with the murder of his mother, Mrs. Daisie King, one of the ill-fated victims.

IMPORTANT BEARING

The circumstantial evidence angle is likely to have an important bearing on the case when the courtroom drama begins to unfold with the taking of testimony.

Prosecutor Bert Keating's case connecting Graham with the murder is all circumstantial except for a confession the sullen youth has now repudiated.

If the alleged confession is tossed out, Keating may have to settle for a life sentence at hard labor as the maximum penalty.

Young Graham is charged with having deliberately planted a 25-stick dynamite time-bomb in his mother's luggage just before she took off in the plane from Denver. He had taken out $37,500 flight insurance on her life. The plane blew up eleven minutes after takeoff.

All the evidence revealed thus far which connects Graham with the airplane explosion is circumstantial except for the repudiated confession. No one saw him plant the bomb in his mother's suitcase.

BOUGHT DYNAMITE

A Kremmling, Colo., storekeeper identified Graham as the man who bought 20 or 25 sticks of dynamite, two electric caps and some wiring three days before the explosion.

A Denver salesman said Graham bought a timing device from him five days before the blast and that it was the type which could have been used to detonate the bomb.

Another Denverite claimed Graham worked for him at one time in his electrical repair shop. The state is expected to try to show that the defendant thus had received training which would have enabled him to assemble dynamite and a timing device into a deadly weapon.

But no one saw Graham place the bomb in the plane luggage. The defense probably will exploit this angle to the utmost to impress upon the minds of the jurors that the only direct evidence is the alleged confession.

* * *

Colorado's law on circumstantial evidence is almost unique among state criminal statutes. Most states, including New York and California, require only that the elements of the crime of murder be proved beyond a reasonable doubt.

May Charge Dad in Fender Ride

Two Girls Are Injured When Hit by Truck They Fell From

A Waterford Township father who allegedly ran over his daughter's leg and injured her playmate when the pair were pitched off the fenders of his car at 6 p.m. Saturday, was to appear in the Oakland County Prosecutor's office today, township police said.

Facing possible criminal charges is Charles R. Womack, 32, a truck driver who lives at 2733 Newberry Rd. He admitted he was giving the girls a ride "to get the breeze" while on the way to a drive-in movie, Police Chief Frank Van Atta said.

Womack's daughter, April 9, is listed in satisfactory condition in Pontiac General Hospital. Authorities said she suffered compound fractures of the left leg.

The other girl, Phyllis Dunn, 11, of 58 Union St. was released after treatment for minor bruises, they said.

Police said Womack claimed he was traveling about 35 miles an hour on Newberry, which is a gravel road, when the car struck a bump, lurched and the girls were pitched forward. April was riding on the right fender, he said, and Phyllis on the left.

and Richard stumbled after him. Again Robert fired and again he hit him in the stomach. The brother crumpled to the ground and Robert fired the last time at his brother—a shot into the head.

* * *

Reloading, Robert went to the farmhouse where he saw his mother, Beatric, 41, through a bedroom window. He said that when she saw him aiming the rifle she shouted something that sounded like "hey." Robert shot her dead with one shot, police said—just above the heart.

IN THE HEAD

Robert said he slammed another round into the rifle chamber, and his father, Richard, 42, ran out of the house toward him. "Hi Dad," Robert said—and fired a shot that hit in the abdomen. Although wounded, the father shouted to him:

"Give me that rifle."

* * *

Robert said he loaded once more—the last time, for the next shot caught his father in the head, and he fell to the ground dead.

DIDN'T SLEEP WELL

Taylor quoted Robert as saying he covered the bodies with blankets and went into the house. He ate something and went to bed about 9 p.m., but he said he didn't sleep very well. He got up at 9 a.m. Sunday.

It wasn't until 11 a.m. that he went to the home of a neighbor, John E. Powers, a placement officer at the University of Connecticut.

* * *

Powers said that at first he didn't believe the boy's story. He said he seemed quite normal and talked "in a normal way." But Powers went to the farmhouse and found the three bodies.

9 Solons Attack Provision in Bill

House Public Works Members Rip Section of Highway Measure

WASHINGTON (AP)—Nine members of the House Public Works Committee, including Chairman Buckley (D-NY) today strongly attacked a provision of the big highway bill allowing payments to utilities for relocation costs.

* * *

They said it would cost the taxpayers 1½ billion dollars.

Five members, including Rep. Dondero (Mich), the top committee Republican, also criticized a section allowing the federal government to set wage floors for workers engaged in the proposed highway construction.

They called it a dangerous invasion of states rights and said it might cost from two to four billion dollars.

* * *

These "supplemental views" were made public as the committee reported to the House on the 51½-billion-dollar, 13-year highway building bill authored by Rep. Fallon (D-Md).

None of the signers indicated opposition to the measure as a whole. Most of them voted for it when the 32-man committee approved the bill last Friday.

* * *

But their severe criticism foreshadowed a fight when the legislation hits the House floor, probably late this week. The bill is a major item before the present Congress.

Syrian Leaders, Dag to Confer

U.N. Official on Peace Mission to Middle East Lands in Damascus

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — Dag Hammarskjold arrived today for talks with Syrian leaders in the next stage of his mission to bring peace to the Middle East.

The U.N. official was greeted at the airport by Syrian and U.N. officials and a Syrian army guard of honor. Shortly after his arrival, he went into conference with Premier Said Ghazzi.

* * *

Hammarskjold goes next to Jordan in his effort to restore peace between Israel and its Arab neighbors of Egypt, Jordan, Syria and Lebanon.

Egypt and Israel agreed last week to a cease-fire.

An Israeli army spokesman announced in Jerusalem that shots were fired from Syrian territory last night at Israeli fishermen on the sea of Galilee.

Israeli Premier David Ben-Gurion of Israel told his Parliament that Israel is ready to "examine all avenues leading toward permanent peace" if Hammarskjold "finds in any of the neighboring countries a sincere inclination toward peace."

He credited the U.N. official with reducing tension along the Arab-Israeli borders but warned that "the danger of an Arab war of aggression against Israel is by no means over."

The Israeli Premier called upon the United States and other nations to sell Israel defensive arms to achieve "a balance of arms between Israel and the Arab countries."

Dem Leader to Use Ike Speech Tonight

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson announced plans today to be a "generous fellow" and give over some of his national television and radio time tonight to the voice of candidate Eisenhower of 1952.

* * *

Johnson has been given time by the networks to make the Democratic reply to President Eisenhower's speech of last Monday in which Eisenhower explained his veto of the farm bill.

"I'm a generous fellow, and I'm going to let the President have some of my time tonight," the Texan told reporters. "I'm going to let him say again some of the things he said in 1952 when he was Gen. Eisenhower, if we can get hold of the sound tracks."

The speech is to be on all radio networks at 10 p.m. EST; on the ABC-TV network at the same time and on NBC-TV at 11:30 p.m. Johnson said.

Two Area Men Injured

Ike Offers Test to Red Leaders

'Fix Stalin's Wrongs,' President Tells Soviet 'Seekers of Peace'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Eisenhower administration is developing its own test of the widely advertised peaceful purposes behind Russia's new look foreign policy.

* * *

The heart of the challenge as defined by President Eisenhower is that Russia's leaders should wipe out the "wrongs of Stalin" which he said still prevail against other nations. He said those wrongs include the division of Germany and Korea, the European satellite regimes and the uncertainty of peace in Asia.

A BRAIN TRUST

Eisenhower laid out his ideas on Soviet relations in a speech before the annual dinner of the American Society of Newspaper Editors Saturday night.

* * *

He proposed creation of a sort of brain trust to advise the government on foreign policy—a "rotating advisory board" of private citizens, he called it.

"RIGHT OF EACH"

At the same time he renewed his appeal for a long-range U.S. foreign aid program, an issue now pending before Congress. He said that as a former colonial subject of the British Empire, the United States understands and respects the views of nations more recently free and accepts "the right of each nation to choose its own path to the future."

The United States must maintain a foreign aid program "so long as freedom is threatened and armaments are not controlled," he said.

"The future alone," he said, "can show whether the Communists really want to move toward a just and stable peace."

He noted that since the death of Stalin the men who run the Soviet Union are operating as a collective group but "dictatorship it still remains."

MORE BASIC CHANGES

In foreign affairs, he said, the Bulganin-Khrushchev regime apparently has cut back on "violence and hostility" and relies more on political and economic weapons.

* * *

"More basic changes in Soviet policy will have to take place before the free nations can afford to relax their vigilance," he said.

Two Receive Injuries as Auto Leaves Road

Two persons suffered minor injuries in an accident at Hiller and Commerce Roads, West Bloomfield Township, Saturday at 7:15 p.m.

Roy Hutchinson, 23, 833 Woodland Dr., the driver of the car which went off the road, told police he lost control while passing another vehicle.

Back and leg abrasions were suffered by Lyle O. Lynn, 21, of Keego Harbor. Hugh R. Hutchinson, 20, 833 Woodland Dr., had lacerations of the left ankle.

Pair Admits Theft, Sale of Two Auto Radiators

Two Pontiac men pleaded guilty this morning in the theft of two automobile radiators last week.

James Andritsif, 23, of 36 Lewis St. and Carl Wainwright, 18, of 197 Sander S. Anderson St. were sent to jail for 30 days after failing to pay $20 fines and $15 costs imposed by Waterford Township Justice Willis Lefurgy.

Township police said the pair confessed selling the radiators to a service shop. They were stolen from a garage on Elizabeth Lake road, police said.

The Day in Birmingham

Voting on Assessments for City Parking Lots

BIRMINGHAM — Assessments for the three parking lots being planned by city commissioners will be voted upon tonight at a commission meeting.

Lot 3-A north of Hamilton, Lot 3-HH south of Hamilton and Lot 4 at Forest and Brownell, will be financed 40 per cent by private owners and 60 per cent by the city, if tonight's assessments are approved.

The city's share of the financing is to be paid, as is being done by Parking Lot No. 1, by funds fed into parking meters, both in lots and on the street. Lot No. 1 is taking in about $1,000 a month with its 231 car spaces. Lot 3-A will have 175; 3-HH, 53; and Lot 4, 66 spaces.

The right of way and pavement for Ferndale and Park streets come up for another necessity hearing tonight. The decision has been postponed numerous times.

Commissioners tonight will hear plans for a May 2 Michigan Municipal League meeting here and will receive the notification of the special election on annexations of two properties from Troy Township and Troy city.

The two parcels had remained in Troy Township although the Twining property is at Adams just south of Villa, and the Lambert and Socony property is west of Woodward on the Royal Oak borderline. Troy City and Township and Birmingham elections are slated.

Begun in 1933, the division of funds between Bloomfield Hills and Birmingham after the two cities incorporated has been completed.

Assessor Elmer Haack says tax sales and 10-year contracts are among reasons for the two-decade delay. In the splitting of properties, the Hills got the township hall, now its municipal building, and Birmingham received Springdale Park.

Police converged on Wrigley's Market Saturday to capture William Ronnie Kincer, 17, of Miami, Fla., but his companion, Edwin R. LaMay, 26, 246 N. Saginaw, escaped. He was arrested later by Pontiac police, who are investigating stolen auto parts found in LaMay's car before they return him to Birmingham.

Kincer is being questioned on larcenies. He was caught by Birmingham Police after a carry-out boy in the market spotted him with store items in his pockets and gave chase. Kincer, police said, fled so quickly he lost his shoes in the flight.

Three cars stolen last weekend were all recovered. A youth, reportedly about 17, took a car from Harold Turner's used car lot, but fled when he had a minor accident at the first intersection.

A car owned by Jack Cook, 112 August, Pontiac, taken from the city parking lot, was found by Bloomfield Township police in the middle of a street, with lights still on.

Royal Oak police found the car of Carrow Zeta, 154 S. Hunter, with its front end smashed in, on 13 Mile road at the Grand Trunk viaduct.

Four homes were ransacked completely over the weekend, but only $1.50 and some records were reported missing.

High Twelve Club members will fete their ladies at a dinner meeting Tuesday night at Devon Gables, instead of the regular Monday meeting.

Officials to Eye GI Mortgages

Veterans Affairs Heads Will Answer Questions at Local Meeting

A group of answer-seeking veterans from the Pontiac area are expected to meet Wednesday night to lodge complaints against the builders of their GI mortgaged homes.

The meeting is scheduled for 8 p.m. at the Amvets Post 16 at 86½ N. Saginaw St.

On hand to answer some of the veterans' questions will be Charles Ward, state veterans' affairs director, Floyd E. Cremer, deputy director of veteran's affairs for Oakland County, and two members of the City Commission.

Millard L. Nicholson, senior vice commander of the Amvets' post, said committee would be set up at the meeting to carry the complaints to higher "levels" if necessary.

According to Nicholson, the builders have "failed to live up to their contracts in 90 per cent of the cases."

Women Get Jail Terms on Shoplifting Counts

Three women are serving sentences in the Oakland County Jail on simple larceny charges after pleading guilty to stealing clothing from a Northland store Saturday afternoon.

Floree G. Lindsey, 38, Clara B. Lindsey, 25, both of Royal Oak, and Betty McBurnett, 29, of Hazel Park, admitted to taking miscellaneous clothing valued at $80.

Farmington Township Justice Allen C. Ingle conducted the hearing. Clara Lindsey and Miss McBurnett were jailed for 50 days, while Floree was committed for 60 days.

A tiny white and silver job, the vehicle will accommodate two, though they'll have to climb in and out via the cockpit. The car actually exists, though not on the moon, for it's to be shown at the International Automobile Show in New York's Coliseum in early May.

Butler Predicts Dems Will Ease Tax Bite

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP)—Chairman Paul M. Butler of the Democratic National Committee, predicts the Democratic - controlled Congress will do "something in the way of a tax revision for the average man" before the current session ends.

* * *

He did not elaborate on the "tax revision" forecast in his address last night at a Jefferson-Jackson Day dinner.

Butler also predicted a Democratic victory in the 1956 presidential and congressional elections "if the leaders of the Democrat party fight together and not among themselves."

* * *

He did not go into detail, but his remark was seen by many as a reference to the fight for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Autherine Lucy Weds Minister

Expelled U. of Alabama Coed Draws Big Crowd at Dallas Ceremony

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—A shy, nervous Autherine Lucy married her poised and smiling college sweetheart, the Rev. H. C. Foster, 27, here yesterday.

The big auditorium of the St. John Baptist Church was jammed with Negroes and a few whites who craned their necks for a view of the ceremony.

* * *

The 26-year-old Birmingham, Ala., secretary who was the first Negro to enter the University of Alabama then was expelled after a series of race riots, quietly said "I do" amid the glare of television floodlights and flash bulbs.

The Tyler, Tex., student minister's "I do" was loud and clear.

Microphones hidden in the bower of white carnations over the couple picked up the proceedings for TV and radio reproduction later.

* * *

After a seven-minute ceremony the groom and bride kissed. A ripple of applause ran through the crowd in the high-ceilinged church. Photographers asked for another kiss but the bride refused and the crowd laughed politely.

After a brief reception at the home of the Rev. E. C. Estell, church pastor, the couple left on an automobile trip in east Texas for a honeymoon.

On May 6 the bride is scheduled to begin a tour of Texas sponsored by the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People in interests of a membership campaign.

* * *

After that, she said, she hopes to continue her education at the University of Alabama or some other Southern College. The couple will call Tyler their home. He preaches at two rural Negro Baptist churches there.

Harry Says No Politic Fireworks Till 4th of July

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (AP) — Harry S. Truman said today he isn't planning any further political fireworks until the Fourth of July.

* * *

The former President, playing a "neutral" role in the presidential primary race between Adlai Stevenson and Estes Kefauver, said his only concern is that the Democrats come up with a nominee "who can win".

"I'm not planning any further political speeches until the Fourth of July," he said. "Then I may make a series of them. But I'm not ready to announced the places and dates yet."

* * *

Truman is making plans for a visit to Europe next month to receive a degree at Oxford and visit on the Continent. Before he takes off, he will attend a dinner in New York at which Gov. Averell Harriman, an "inactive" candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, will receive an award.

"But I'm not going to make a political speech," Truman said.

That Goes for Cigarette Puffers, Too

Do You Smoke a Cigar? —You're Just a Big Baby

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—The man who enjoys puffing on that big fat cigar merely is indulging in an adult version of thumb sucking.

* * *

And the same goes for the cigarette smoker and the gum chewer, said Dr. Maury Massler, head of the children's department at the University of Illinois' College of Dentistry.

Massler, speaking to the annual Oklahoma State Dental Assn. convention, urged parents to use more understanding in dealing with problems of thumb sucking and nail biting in children.

* * *

He said every person needs some habit to relieve tension and give relaxation. "It is a method of relieving the inner tensions that build up," Massler said.

"Kids who bite nails, although it is not socially acceptable, are releasing the tension they live under," the Illinois dentist said. He emphasized that it is perfectly normal.

* * *

The man who puffs contentedly on a cigar "is sucking his thumb" and the man who chews vigorously on his stogie "is a nail biter," Massler said.

Massler claimed it was no accident that people chew gum or smoke, citing research which he said shows that gum chewing started when the typewriter was invented. The need to use both hands ruled out nail biting or hair twirling as a release for stenographers.

* * *

"Parents should recognize the fact that every infant sucks his finger when he has nothing else to do," Massler advised. "But if he continues to suck his tumb past the weaning age and persists after 3 or 4 years, the dentist should begin to worry about it."

Cypriots Attack Patrol; British Soldier Killed

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP)—A British soldier died today from wounds received when a military patrol was ambushed east of Limassol during the night. Two others soldiers were wounded.

* * *

The attackers fired 10 shots and tossed a bomb as the patrol drove by a wooded area.

The Briton was the 72nd person killed in Cyprus since the campaign for union of this British-held island with Greece erupted into violence a year ago.

In Ktima, on the west coast, police questioned six youths in connection with a grenade attack on another security force vehicle.

Both incidents occurred in areas where the British have imposed tight controls.

Ike Cautiously Hopeful Over Peace Prospects

For us an outstanding feature of President Eisenhower's foreign policy address to the Nation's newspaper editors was his restrained optimism about peace prospects.

After reminding his hosts that when he last addressed them three years ago, the Korean war was in progress and the chance for a just and enduring peace seemed hopeless, Mr. Eisenhower said:

"Today . . we have reason for cautious hope that a new . . . peaceful era can emerge from a haunted decade and the world breathes a little more easily."

★ ★ ★

As he had done on previous occasions, the President told the Russians that they would have friendly relations with the United States any time they asked. But he warned that the USSR must "correct existing injustices and genuinely pursue peaceful purposes in its relations with other nations." At the same time he emphasized that the free world must maintain a protective shield against aggression.

★ ★ ★

Briefly the President reiterated his Middle East policy. It is to seek, through the United Nations whenever possible, to prevent resort to violence. He added that, while not taking either side in the dispute, "we are determined to support and assist any nation in that area which might be subject to aggression."

Another highlight was the President's eloquent and persuasive plea for his program of foreign aid, especially that part he says will have to be furnished on a long term basis. With sincerity and conviction ringing in every word, he said that "foresight and self interest" will compel us to help the 650,000,000 people in 18 nations which have gained independence in the past decade.

★ ★ ★

"We cannot doubt," said Mr. Eisenhower, in concluding on a reassuring note, "that the current of history flows toward freedom. In the long run dictatorships and despotism must give way. We can take courage from that sure knowledge."

Weekend Driving Risks

Figures compiled by The Travelers Insurance Companies reveal weekend fatalities played a big part in making 1955 the bloodiest year in the Nation's highway history.

All told 37,800 motorists lost their lives and 2,158,000 were injured in traffic accidents. Of the deaths 15,730 occurred during weekends and more than 20 per cent of all fatalities came on Saturday. Thus, the inescapable conclusion is that Saturday is the most dangerous day of the week for motorists.

★ ★ ★

Traffic experts blame this fact on the driving habits of the American people. Every highway carries its share of those who want to arrive at their Saturday destination in time for dinner even if the last 60 miles has to be covered in an hour.

Another conclusion compelled by the statistics is that excessive speed is the most dangerous of all driving mistakes. Last year it was a factor in 12,700 deaths and 702,560 injuries.

★ ★ ★

It also is worth noting that more than 27 per cent of all drivers involved in fatal accidents last year were under 25 years old. This is a greater number than ever before although that group comprises only 14 per cent of all licensed motorists.

How to reduce this terrible slaughter is one of our greatest unsolved problems. What certainly is needed is the unceasing co-operation of everyone in possession of a driver's permit.

Forest Fire Warning

With the opening of Michigan's trout season April 28, only a few days away, it is timely and fitting to warn anglers and all other outdoor enthusiasts against the danger of forest fires.

The need for such warning is emphasized by the fact that the year's first fires already have caused avoidable timber losses. Although the weather in some areas of the State still is more like Winter than Spring, a total of 928 acres of woodland already has been damaged by 60 fires.

According to the Conservation Department these fires have burned over 592 acres in the southern half of the Lower Peninsula, 191 acres in the northern half and 145 in the Upper Peninsula.

As anyone who has lived in Michigan for any length of time should know, nine out of ten of these fires need not have happened. Lightning does start some, but Conservation officials know from bitter experience that 90 per cent of all forest fire losses are the result of human carelessness.

★ ★ ★

Once again we urge everyone to help keep Michigan's magnificent woodlands green. Make sure that your cigaret or cigar stubs, or pipe ashes don't start any fires. Above all, spare no effort before you leave to ensure that your campfire is completely quenched.

The Man About Town

Heads for Million

Directory Will Show the Big Growth in Our County

Head: What if you use you should not go in debt over.

An advance peek at the proofs for the 1956 edition of the Oakland County official directory, put out by reveals some quite amazing figures. It shows that our public utility corporations are so sure that the county's population is headed for the million mark that they are budgeting enormous sums to be ready for that figure. The census of 1950 gave us only four-fifths of that number, but actual installations by these same corporations now show that we are away above 600,000. The directory points out that this growth is principally outside the limits of our cities and villages. It lists several hundred officials on the national, state, county, city, village and township levels, and is for free distribution.

County Clerk Lynn D. Allen

"I Tell You I Smell Something Burning

David Lawrence Says:

President Indirectly Urges Russians to Wake Up and Revolt Against Rulers

WASHINGTON — There's more than meets the eye in the speech delivered by President Eiseenhower before the American Society of Newspaper Editors. It is perhaps an oversimplification to say that Eisenhower actually called upon the people of Soviet Russia to revolt against their rulers but it is certainly clear from what he said that he hopes they soon will rebel. In fact, the President, by an implicit reference to historical trends, as much as says that revolution in Soviet Russia is "inevitable."

The news dispatches already justify the assumption that there's something of an incipient revolt going on now. An Associated Press correspondent traveling in Tiflis, in the province of Georgia in Central Russia says.

"Reliable Georgian sources said that up to 100 Georgians may have been killed when troops opened fire on surging pro-Stalin demonstrators who tried to seize the Tiflis post office last March 9. The sources said that the city was an armed camp for days after the rioting. Troops and tanks patrolled the streets and a midnight curfew was clamped on."

Eisenhower made two speeches to the editors—the first a prepared document and then some extemporaneous comments largely intended to confront the tariff protectionists in America with the prospect that unless they see things differently Japan may be forced to trade with Red China.

THEME OF REVOLUTION

But it was the deliberately planned strategy of the prepared speech which will evoke worldwide comment. The sensational passages were carefully separated from one another in what was designed, for reasons of tact and diplomacy to make it appear that the President was discussing abstractly the theme of revolution as it related to the states in Asia which had in recent years won their freedom. Eisenhower's first mention of "revolution" came, for example, as he referred to April 19th as the 108th anniversary of the Battle of Concord when the shot was fired that was "heard 'round the world," and when, he added, "our forefathers started a revolution that still goes on."

After some general observations on how unsafe these new nations are, the President issued a plain warning to them about the dangers of the Communist dictatorship. Then, without naming Soviet Russia specifically, Eisenhower said in a paragraph that ought to be read 'round the world:

"The prospects of peace are brightest when enlightened self-governing peoples control the policy of nations. Peoples do not want war. Rulers beyond the reach of popular control are more likely to engage in reckless adventures and to raise the grim threat of war. The spread of freedom enhances the prospect for durable peace."

RULERS EVIDENT

It was evident what rulers the President meant, because earlier in the speech referring to Soviet offers of economic aid to Asia, he had said: "The Communists conceal the terrible human costs that characterize their ruthless systems of dictatorship and forced labor."

The climax of what may be considered a sensational appeal to the peoples of Soviet Russia over the heads of their rulers came at the very end of the President's address—again in carefully couched phrases, as he said:

"A Soviet government genuinely devoted to these purposes can have friendly relations with the United States and the free world for the asking. We will welcome that day.

"We cannot doubt that the current of world history flows toward freedom. In the long run dictatorship and despotism must give way. We can take courage from that sure knowledge. But as a wise American, Justice Holmes once said: 'The inevitable comes to pass through effort.' We should take these words to heart in our quest for peace and freedom. These great aspirations of humanity will be brought about—but only by devoted human effort."

★ ★ ★

Then Eisenhower, in his concluding sentences, deliberately referred again to the Battle of Concord, describing it as a "symbol of the faith, the courage, the sacrifice on which the victory of freedom depends."

Nitroglycerin Tablet Faked Brady in His Younger Days

By WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

Having just recovered from, as nearly as I can remember and in the chronological order of occurrence, duodenal (peptic) ulcer, divertuculosis, carcinoma of the head of the pancreas, pyelonephrosis, and finally angina pectoris—the angina was a contribution of a retired obstetrician who made the diagnosis when I thumped my breastbone piteously to describe my agony one day on the bowling green.

"Aha," exclaimed my crony, "this will stop it"—he gave me a nitroglycerin tablet, I promised to take the tablet if the distress grew worse, and I thanked him for the suggestion—as a matter of fact, it seemed to stop my fretting, for I have great faith in nitroglycerin. I'm sure it is not used nearly enough by persons subject to anginal or coronary difficulties. These poor geeks should always carry a vial of nitroglycerin (glyceryl trinitrate, glonoin) tablets in pocket or purse and put one under the tongue upon the slightest manifestation of distress; or perhaps take one regularly every two hours every day.

I took my tablet (I think the doctor said it was 1-100th grain) just experimentally when I became extremely excited about the way one of the clowns in a wrestling match was making a monkey out of the referee. I found the tablet fairly potent—it gave me a brief few moments of throbbing headache and a red face. But unfortunately the angina had shifted to the spleen before I took the tablet, and of course when the trouble reaches that stage, you may just as well light your pipe, sit back, relax and say: Quiet please. That's all I ask—quiet, silence, one minute of it. And if there's anything left after the administrators, assessors, tax collectors, and other officials have taken what they want, I beg and command, every penny of it shall be given privately to families who need it as badly as we did when I was a boy on Chapel Street in Canandaigua, and especially do I forbid chrome, marble, bronze, mahogany granite, or other pagan displays when I turn up my toes. I tell you I want just one minute of silence—which is costly enough—and then leave everything in the hands of God.

Now that I have recovered from that complication of diseases, I'm feeling downright sheepish. I really should have become suspicious when the bellyache moved hither and yon from day to day. Actual organic lesions sometimes are a bit vague at the outset, but they're not so fickle after they get going. Only about the time my medical friend gave me the nigroclycerin tablet did it dawn on me what really ailed me—radiculalgia, intercostal neuralgia pain in various areas of the abdominal wall supplied by the intercostal nerves (sensory nerves arising from roots in the spinal cord and passing around the trunk between the ribs.)

I am submitting this report of my case as a thesis which should qualify me for a new degree—D. F.—to designate the doctor who doctors himself.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Voice of the People

'Does Pontiac Have Money That's Burning Pockets?'

Does the City of Pontiac have more money in the treasury than it knows what to do with? By the looks of some recent "projects," me thinks that money burns their pockets.

First they went through the expense of removing the stop signs from some of the lesser streets and replacing them with "Yield Right of Way" signs. This writer has had some mighty close calls because some drivers just don't yield.

This is especially true at Mechanic and Douglas intersection. In fact, many drivers don't even know what the sign means. I think if the street is worth yielding for, it is worth stopping for. And how many motorists stop dead even at a stop street? Not many. Everyone knows what STOP means.

But the dilly of them all is the recent change whereby no-parking signs face the street. You can't see what it says until you pull up beside it. Then you have to twist your neck far to the right to read it.

If this is an improvement, why not face the stop signs toward the street? With the old way you can see the sign for quite some distance.

Do we need a high-priced traffic engineer to spend the taxpayers' money on such projects? I think they should be stopped from turning any more signs and turn the others back to their old position.

'Why Is There Warning on Fluoride Toothpaste?'

The proponents of fluoridation are still trying to condition the people's minds to having fluoride added to our water.

If it is safe as they claim it to be, why does a leading manufacturer of toothpaste to which fluoride has been added caution "Children under age six should not use it as excessive consumption of fluoride from foods or drinking water can cause a stained appearance when his permanent teeth appear."

If children under age six used a toothpaste containing fluoride and should swallow some in addition to fluorides obtained from water or foods, the possibility of staining would increase.

Why take this chance with your children's teeth when a few less sweets and pop in addition to other methods of prevention would do just as well?

Pravda Makes Top Reds Sound Like English Idols

By JOHN H. MARTIN
INS Foreign Director

Russia's top traveling salesmen are getting a cool but diplomatically correct reception in Britain, but you would never know this if you read the Soviet Press.

A special correspondent for Pravda, as quoted by Moscow radio, said that "the England of men of goodwill has welcomed with joy the guests of honor from the Soviet Union."

Pravda said that Soviet Premiere Nikolai Bulganin and Red party boss Nikita Khrushchev received "joyous hurrahs" and "sustained applause" from the "thousands of persons" greeting the pair.

The Communist Party newspaper no doubt in a delicate position in publishing news about its bosses, added that "people gathered in the streets, in the windows, graciously waving their hands, applauding in a friendly fashion, as flowers and confetti flew through the air."

★ ★ ★

The B-K arrival was not like that at all. There were curious onlookers when the two arrived. But there were no cheers, and the only flowers provided were those put up by members of the local Soviet colony.

SOMEWHAT WARY

In fact, a London police official noted that the Soviets were somewhat wary, getting out of automobiles and into buildings quickly.

He commented wryly that he did not know whether this was unusual or whether it came from long practice in Moscow.

Behind their smiles Bulganin and Khrushchev probably are sore at the British arrangements for the tour.

A British Foreign Office press chief supplied reporters not long ago with a detailed timetable of the tour of Bulganin and Khrushchev, who made merry last winter by attacking Britain during their tour of India and Burma.

The press chief forgot, intentionally or otherwise, to tell reporters that the detailed tour program was not meant for publication.

GUNMAN'S GUIDE'

What resulted is that readers were supplied with a "complete gunman's guide," as the Manchester Guardian called it.

★ ★ ★

And there are thousands of potential gunmen living in Britain as refugees from lands overrun and subjugated by the Soviet Union.

Many of these embittered refugees have lost track of their families deported by the Soviets who now talk often about friendship and co-existence, but who have done nothing to correct the tragedies inflicted on East Europeans.

BY DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case R-337: Prof. A. B. Mackey is typical of our foremost teachers of psychology in American colleges and universities.

"Dr. Crane, this past year I was a freshman," said one of Professor Mackey's students.

"I took a course in practical psychology under Professor Mackey and used your psychology book as the basic text for the class.

"From that course I fell in love with psychology. And since I plan to be a missionary, I realize the vital importance of psychology in my chosen life work."

Please note the statement that Professor Mackey makes his students fall in love with psychology:

That is the true test of a great teacher. For all educators should have such an enthusiastic attitude about the subject which they are teaching, that they try to convey that same zeal to every student.

TEST FOR GOOD TEACHERS

Good teachers also realize that they must tie in their material with the daily dilemmas of their students.

★ ★ ★

Too much of our past cirriculum has been pointed toward problems of the distant future. Since many students don't see the practicality of such courses they are bored and thus must force themselves into studying.

Students are primarily interested in themselves, now. In fact, that is the basic secret of all human interest.

For we adults, as well as children, are primarily interested in ourseleves at this very moment.

Thus, every inch that a teacher gets away from our own epidermis, we begin to lag in enthusiasm.

And every second that the teacher moves away from the present moment of time, our enthusiasm likeswise wanes.

Whether you are a salesman of automobiles or of ideas in the classroom, you must focus on the fundamental interests of your prospects and pupils.

★ ★ ★

So keep the spotlight on your prospect's epidermis, now! Remote goals are of vital importance, but you must transpose them so they are linked with the prospect at this very moment if you wish to maintain high motivation.

TRANSPOSED PROBLEMS

When Joe Bunting, famous newspaperman, was teaching school in his youth, he encountered a big fellow who was the "problem" of the school system.

This student was over six feet tall and had already driven two previous teachers from the job.

So Mr. Bunting used some good psychology on the boy, who was interested almost solely in baseball.

Mr. Bunting gave him a rule book of baseball, and thereafter transposed all arithmetic problems to the baseball diamond.

He had the student compute the area of the infield and the speed in miles per hour of a pitched baseball, etc.

"Dr. Crane," said Mr. Bunting, "this boy had absolutely no interest in arithmetic if it dealt with computing interest on bank loans or on how many men could dig a ditch in three days if five men could finish it in eight days.

"But as soon as I transposed the problems of arithmetic to the baseball diamond, he would almost literally eat up the arithmetic assignments. So I got along famously with him. And he became one of my best rooters."

Topnotch teachers are like Professor Mackey and Joe Bunting, for they have a sincere interest in their pupils and transpose the problems to the immediate realm of the pupils.

That instantly increases their motivation. And without high motivation, learning lags.

So send for my "Test for Good Teachers," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus 20 cents. Use it for teacher ratings in your school system. Discuss it in P-T-A meetings, too.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Philippine Legislator Charged With Fraud

MANILA (AP) — The Philippines' only woman legislator, Sen. Pacita Madrigal Gonzalez, was formally charged today with misusing $157,000 in U.N. and Philippine government welfare funds.

* * *

The 38-year-old woman was accused of falsifying public documents and diverting funds and property of the U.N. International Childrens Emergency Fund, the U.N. Appeal for Children and the Philippine Social Welfare Administration.

* * *

A presidential investigation commission charged Mrs. Gonzalez misused the money while she was social welfare administrator. She refunded $110,000 to the government in February. She denied the commission's charges last month and accused it of persecuting her.

My Mail Tells Me So Many Useful Things

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

* * *

That contact lenses aren't new. They were worn during the French Revolution—not so much to help vision as to change the color of the eyes, thus helping serve as a disguise.

That 30 per cent of contact lens wearers today are men and—ah, vanity—half of them are in the advertising field.

That it used to take five hours for grandma to cook a major dinner for a family of four, but a mother can now do it in a single hour.

TWO CAKES A WEEK

That the Folding Paper Box Assn. estimates modern packaging and new ways of preparing food give the average housewife a month's free time every year she didn't used to have.

That the average family eats two cakes a week—but not the average family in my house.

* * *

That men's custom tailoring originated in Germany, but Merrie Olde England popularized the bow tie.

That the dandies of Paris used to send their finery across the British Channel to Dover to get it laundered properly.

* * *

That Bermuda shorts were once known as "Spanish kettle drums."

That when men wore long, tight-fitting hose a gentleman—as a mark of gallantry—would let the lady of his choice wear a new pair of his hose for a week before donning them himself.

* * *

That Americans spent more than 18 billion dollars on travel last year here and abroad, not including the cost of those "wish you were here" postcards.

U. S. NEEDS CARE

That about eight million American school children have defective vision—one out of every four children needs eye care.

That Algae, a new athletic porpoise at the Marine Studios in Florida, can leap 15½ feet above the water.

That American industry is booming so greatly the nation may require a 123 per cent increase of electrical power within ten years.

COSTS FARMERS

That, no matter how often you think it is wrong, the U.S. Weather Bureau forecasts the weather correctly 80 per cent of the time.

That the new emphasis on a slimmer waistline has cost American potato growers much of their domestic market.

* * *

That in Minnesota last year six trees were planted for every man, woman and child in the state.

That baseball players in 1835 ran clockwise—first base was where third is now.

SHE COULD SHOOT

That coffee has become the most important item in world trade with the exception of petroleum products.

That the real name of Annie Oakley, history's most famous female marksman, was Phoebe Annie Moses. At 50 she could still hit with her rifle six glass balls thrown into the air simultaneously.

That the shortage of male college graduates has led many business firms now to send scouts to the campuses of women's colleges in search of likely new management talent.

That whoever named the Begonia did a mighty poor favor to a mighty pretty flower.

70,000 Poles Slated to Receive Amnesty

VIENNA, Austria (AP) — Poland's Communist government, which recently booted out two of its top purgers, says it is preparing to amnesty more than 70,000 political and criminal prisoners.

* * *

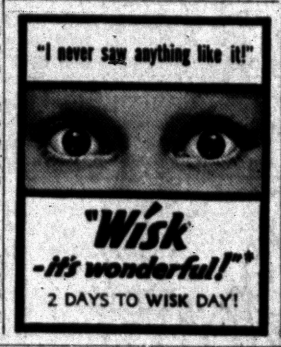

Warsaw radio said parliament is putting the final touches to a law which will authorize release of 30,000 prisoners and reduce the sentences of the others.

The amnesty will also apply to Polish refugees in the West, provided they return to their country by July 22, 1957.

The move came in the wake of the ouster last week of Justice Minister Henryk Swiatkowski and Prosecutor General Stefan Kalinowski.

4,000 Homeless

FUKUI, Japan (AP)—Four thousand persons lost their homes today in a fire which destroyed 600 of 2,700 houses in the hot spring resort town of Awaramachi, 11 miles north of here. One person was killed, one was missing and about 20 injured.

Finland will have its greatest pulp and paper plant, a $130,000,000 facility to produce 160,000 tons of newsprint and 160,000 tons of chemical pulp and kraft paper at Tornio on the Gulf of Bothnia.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery

Finds Healing Substance That Does Both—Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain—without surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne*)—the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called *Preparation H. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H suppositories or Preparation H ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug stores. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

P.S. DOCTORS PRESCRIBE SPECIAL LAXATIVE TO EASE PAINFUL ELIMINATION WHILE SHRINKING PILES

The makers of Preparation H also make Petro-Syllium®, a special type laxative prescribed by doctors for hemorrhoid sufferers. Softens hard dry stool and assures easy elimination without pain. Ask for Petro-Syllium.

Independence, Mo., Poses Question:

Should Susie Leave Small Town Security?

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (INS) — This is the kind of small town that makes you wonder the age-old puzzlement: Should Susie stay home and marry the merchant's son, or should she go traipsing off to the big city to see — as Susie puts it—"life!"

* * *

Why, everything is here, the local folk will tell you. The apple tree is in the backyard as it should be, the white organdy curtains are plump at the windows, and the First Methodist Church is comfortably located on the corner of Main street.

You can always find a job here, because they know you. The boys are handsome (if, to be sure, in limited supply), and Dr. Johnson is the best doctor in the Midwest. He brought Susie into this world and he'd like, by George, to deliver her children too.

The bridge club meets on Wednesdays, the forsythia is in bloom, the cattle are contented, and the people are the most friendly you'll find anywhere.

So what is this thing Susie's searching for—"life!"

* * *

This is an old war story now, the battle of the older generation to protect the younger generation from running away from calm contentment into the shakier world of excitement. The young men, when they begin to strain at the silver cord, are usually released, sadly but swiftly.

DANGEROUS CITY

But the girls—oh no, darling. The city might eat you up. Probably would. Isn't it better to be a big fish in a little pond than a little fish in a big pond!

* * *

Maybe they are right, too. Surely here are the best apple trees, the frothiest curtains, the easiest-to-obtain jobs and the friendliest people, and contentment.

Contentment is as hard to find as a needle in the smokestacks of the big cities and, if that's what Susie really wants, there are pills she can take or men she can marry who will calm her wild dreams of adventure.

* * *

There are, however, certain types of young women who should be let go of. They may have talent that would remain unsatisfied in the little theaters of Independence, or ambitions that would starve in the clerk's office of the First National Bank.

* * *

Or they may, for reasons that they are born feeling that way, want to escape the intimacy of a small town. New York City, with its eight million humans, has more personal privacy than an isolated farm family.

OWN THOUGHTS

The first thing that most girls want when they come of age in a loving family is a room of their own. The logical follow-up is that they want thoughts and dreams of their own; and someday they become so bold that they want to walk down a street without telling anyone why or when or how they happen to do it.

* * *

Curiously enough, there is less independence to be found in Independence, Mo., than there is in the big city.

No one can say who's right in this struggle but, if the battle's fought fairly, Susie's got to win.

If she'd like to desert the apple tree in the backyard and sit under a potted palm in El Morocco for a change, maybe she's crazy.

But it's her "life."

TODAY'S ASSIGNMENT FOR:

A FUNNY NAME FOR A FLOWER
"Dutchman's Breeches"

Wherever you live you will find wild flowers. In the country they grow in the shady woods, in the open fields and along the roadside. Even in the cities some wild flowers poke their faces between bricks and stones, and in city parks they often flourish.

A great many of them have quaint names. This week we shall show you pictures of some of these, and in the background something the name suggests.

Dutchman's Breeches! That's a funny name for a flower. But if you look closely at the little blossoms you will see it is quite a good name. They hang on the stem like a row of little Dutch pants hung out on a line to dry, ankle end up, waist band down, swinging in the breeze.

The plant grows five to ten inches tall with thickly clustered feathering leaves. A slender stalk rises from the clump carrying four to twelve little breeches, white or faintly pink, yellow at the top, and each flower less than an inch long. In early spring, as soon as the snow melts ,the leaves come up, and the flowers, which have a delicate fragrance, appear in April and May.

The little Dutchman in the background was suggested by the flower. You can color these panels and make a wild flower scrapbook of them.

Harriman Vetoes Bill Easing Bar Drinking

ALBANY (AP)—Gov. Averell Harriman has vetoed a bill which would have permitted bartenders to serve a man apparently, but not actually, drunk. The bill would have changed the word "or" to "and" to read "persons actually and apparently" intoxicated could be refused drinks.

The Associated Press incorrectly reported the governor has signed the measure.

The bill was intended to eliminate complaints of some persons whose appearance indicated intoxication, but who actually were stone sober.

These are friends in need but expensive indeed!

Their services cost money—and, though it's worth every penny these indispensable gentlemen charge, sometimes even well-budgeted families just don't have the money right at the time it's needed.

Whenever this happens to you—remember, there's a solution just as close as your nearest HFC office. The folks at Household are experts in family finance, so it's a very logical place to take your money problems. If you have a steady income and can repay in regular monthly instalments, you have the principal requirement for borrowing at HFC.

A quick look at this sample payment table tells you loan amounts, and repayment schedules. For prompt, courteous attention, phone or drop in.

Ellender Hands Ultimatum to Ike

Dem Promises Action on Soil Bank Program on an 'If' Basis

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Ellender (D-La) said today President Eisenhower can get quick congressional action on another soil bank bill "if he agrees to a few additional provisions."

* * *

Ellender, chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee, said in an interview that these would include:

1. A ceiling under cotton acreage allotments at about the level of this year, 17.4 million acres, plus special protection for small cotton farmers.

* * *

2. An increase to 51 million acres in the basic commercial corn allotment eligible for price supports.

* * *

3. Some compromise system of supports for oats, barley, rye and grain sorghums, the chief livestock feed grains in addition to corn.

* * *

"These would offer a fair compromise for the vetoed bill without including mandatory rigid supports or dual parity," Ellender added.

IN OMNIBUS BILL

The provisions Ellender named, along with the soil bank, were included in the omnibus farm bill which Eisenhower vetoed a week ago today. The President expressed opposition especially to the bill's provisions for higher, rigid price supports and other price-raising requirements which he has said would increase surpluses.

* * *

In the House, meantime, Republicans sought to include authorization for the soil bank program in a bill to appropriate $1,200,000,000 for its operation this year. The House Appropriations Committee, contending no further authority is needed, approved the money bill last week and based it on a 1935 conservation law.

Road Spending Triples

WASHINGTON — A record $7,600,000,000 was spent to construct, repair, and improve the nation's highways in 1955, three times the sum spent in 1946 and $2,600,000,000 above the amount spent for such purposes in 1952.

DEMOCRATS GATHER — One of a series of Teas for TV given by members of the Oakland County Democratic Committee was hosted by Dr. and Mrs. Howard H. McNeill at their home on Hickory Grove road, Bloomfield Hills on Saturday. The 4 until 8 p. m. affair was held to raise funds for the purchase of television time for Democratic state and national candidates. Lt. Governor Philip A. Hart and members of the state administrative board were honored guests. Pictured as they discussed matters prior to the gathering were Everett Spurlock, executive director of the Urban League of Pontiac; Mr. Hart, Dr. Howard McNeill and William Babcock, chairman of the Pontiac Hospital board of trustees.

Stock Market Wizard, 10, Cops $100,000 on TV

TUJUNGA, Calif. (AP)—Ten-year-old Leonard Ross, the wizard of Wall Street information, isn't a genius, he "just worked and studied," says his father.

* * *

William Ross, 56, a Los Angeles accountant, said yesterday that Lennie, who won $100,000 on the NBC-TV "Big Surprise" show Saturday night, is really more interested in politics than the stock market.

However, the father said he let his son select some of Mrs. Ross' stock last year and "They've earned at least 10 per cent."

* * *

As for the $100,000 the father said: "It's all his. I don't get any of it." And what if Ross Sr. hit Lennie for a loan?

"Hah!" said the father. "He'll probably be protected by some stone-hearted bankers looking after a trust account. They might not consider me a good risk."

* * *

The boy answered five complicated questions about the stock market Saturday night, becoming the fourth contestant to capture the top money. Lennie said in New York he would give some of the money to charity, see that his grandmother gets a trip to Montreal, his father some new hi-fi recordings and his mother a tape recorder.

Freighter Collision Probe Opens Today

DETROIT (INS)—An inquiry got under way in Detroit today in the collision of two giant lake freighters which crashed in the St. Clair River last week.

* * *

Meanwhile, lake traffic flowed cautiously around the sunken ship, the A. M. Byers which lies across a vital river channel north of Detroit.

A preliminary investigation indicated the steering gear of the E. M. Ford apparently was out of control as the two huge ships collided.

* * *

The sunken vessel was carrying nearly 10,000 tons of crushed limestone. It was being unloaded today in an attempt to float the craft.

Swiss law required pencils to be sharpened before they are sold.

Family of Seven Dead as Fire Razes Home

ROME, N.Y. (AP) — A fire that flashed through a two-story frame home in this Mohawk Valley city last night snuffed out the lives of a family of seven, including five children.

* * *

The victims were Alex Skibitski, 47, his wife Angela, about 41; and their children. Barbara, 10; Peter, 8; Suzanne, 7; David, 5; and Mary Ann, about 3.

All apparently were asleep when the fire broke out.

* * *

The father's body, in a kneeling position, was found on a sofa in the living room. The rest of the family, all in nightclothes, were found upstairs, the mother holding her youngest child.

Slated for Promotion, Fireman Killed in Duty

GROSSE POINTE (INS))—A 53-year-old Grosse Pointe sergeant in the fire department who was to be recommended for promotion to lieutenant today died in a fire yesterday.

An autopsy was scheduled today on the body of Charles Van Coillie to determine if he died from a heart attack, smoke inhalation or from electrocution. At the time he collapsed he was reaching into a hole chopped in the floor of a burned out home. Wiring ran near the hole.

Japanese Politician Bans New Members

TOKYO (AP)—Japan's ruling Liberal-Democratic Party today rejected a swarm of prospective new members — prostitutes and brothel keepers anxious to block passage of a government - sponsored anti-prostitution bill.

* * *

Shigemasa Sunda, national organization committee chairman of the party, said: "I intend to refuse such persons or groups whose aims and actions run counter to the benefit of the country."

* * *

The newspaper Asahi said more than 100,000 brothel keepers and inmates had planned to join the party. The National Venereal Disease Prevention Society, which advocates legal prostitution, had circulated pamphlets asking each madame to sign up at least three new Liberal-Democrats by May 20.

Acrobatic Thieves, Yet!

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Acrobatic thieves with axes took several watches and rings from the Mullins Credit Store — and earned them. They smashed through a skylight, chopped through an attic floor and jumped 12 feet into the store. Then they broke into three glass showcases. They left by the rear door.

Warm Weather Crooks

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) — In the future, when an Anne Arundel County policeman wants a weekend off, he may pray for cold weather.

Police in this populous area south of Baltimore generally keep busy in the warm, gentle climate of southern Mayland. One weekend, for instance, was like summer in parts farther north. Twenty burglaries were reported.

The county had its first real cold snap the next weekend. Total burglaries: zero.

Massachusetts Primary Ready

Light Vote Forecast; Presidential Candidates Not Listed on Ballot

By CORNELIUS F. HURLEY

BOSTON (AP) — A light vote is forecast for tomorrow's Massachusetts presidential primary, a prosaic one except for a write-in campaign for U.S. Rep. John W. McCormack (D-Mass) as a favorite son candidate for the presidential nomination.

* * *

Some of the principal supporters of Adlai Stevenson, the 1952 Democratic nominee, however, are urging Democrats to write Stevenson's name in the preference poll, which is not binding on the delegates.

38 AND 40 VOTES

Many of the Democratic delegate candidates who have announced their support of McCormack as a "favorite son" listed Stevenson as their choice for the presidential nomination, however.

The Republicans will have 38 convention votes this year and are electing a delegation of the same number, each with one vote.

* * *

The Democrats, with 40 convention votes, are choosing a delegation of twice that number, each with a half vote.

IKE SOLID CHOICE

The Massachusetts primary is the first held this year in which the names of the presidential aspirants do not appear on the ballot.

Voters may write in their preference for the presidential nomination on each party's ballot. There is no provision for indicating a choice for vice president.

* * *

President Eisenhower is the solid choice of most of the Republican delegate candidates, and it is assumed he will dominate the write-in on the GOP ballot.

While Stevenson backers still ask Democratic voters to endorse the 1952 candidate for another shot at the presidency, his chief rival, Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn), has urged his supporters to endorse McCormack as a favorite son.

Two Gunmen Killed in Police Gunfight

PARKERSBURG, W. Va. (AP) — Two gunmen were slain and a third was wounded yesterday when a police ambush in a darkened bakery here erupted into a blazing gun battle.

Shot to death were Eddie Taylor, 54, Parkersburg, and Dearman Lott, 44, Palestine, W. Va.

Lt. J. Norman Mehl, head of the Parkersburg Detective Bureau, identified the wounded man as Ronnie Roberts, about 21. Found outside the bakery, where he had crawled despite shotgun wounds in the chest, he was reported in satisfactory condition today.

Apparently tipped that a ring of safecrackers planned to move in on the bakery, Mehl set up the predawn ambush with Sgt. W. R. Radon and Detective C. H. Swain.

Thieves Steal Rowboat —and $12,000 Yacht

CONOWINGO, Md. (AP)—Stolen: one yacht, value about $12,000. And one rowboat, too.

State Police said the rowboat was stolen Saturday night from a boatyard 10 miles up Northeast River, and apparently was used by the thieves to get to the yacht, moored down river. The 42-foot yacht, owned by Richard K. Barries of Charlestown, Md., was reported last seen off Turkey Point on Chespeake Bay—towing a rowboat.

Operation Costs Double

BOSTON (AP)—Mrs. Alice Roche went home yesterday after three weeks to Massachusetts General Hospital following an operation. She found everything moveable had been stolen, including chairs, tables, electric appliances, a radio three clocks, all personal clothing and the bed clothes. Her husband has been out of town on a construction project.

Adlai Tests Ike in Pennsylvania

Strength of President in Quaker State Primary Faces Potent Dem Bid

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The focal point of interest in tomorrow's Pennsylvania primary election will be a test of the relative strength of President Eisenhower and Adlai Stevenson.

Eisenhower is, in effect, unopposed on the GOP side of the ballot. Sen. William F. Knowland of California also is listed, but only because he was unable to withdraw his name in time when Eisenhower announced his candidacy.

Stevenson's name will stand alone on the Democratic ballot. His principal opponent for the nomination, Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, did not seek to have his name entered formally here and made no serious bid for write-in votes.

Statistically, this is the prior basis for comparison of the Eisenhower and Stevenson vote tomorrow:

* * *

In the 1952 general election, Eisenhower polled 2,415,789 to 2,146,269 for Stevenson. The state administration then was Republican. This year there is a Democratic governor for the first time since 1934.

In the 1952 primary, Eisenhower polled 873,785 votes to 96,160 for Sen. Kefauver, whose name was on the ballot. Stevenson received 3,678 write-in votes.

In 1952, there was a battle for the GOP nomination with Eisenhower's strongest opposition coming from Harold E. Stassen and Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio. Such a contest tends to increase the vote.

* * *

This year, there is a similar fight, but between Democratic hopefuls Stevenson and Kefauver.

On paper, the GOP has a 455,000 edge with 2,683,410 registered to 2,238,659 for the Democrats. In 1952, the Republican edge totaled almost a million.

Voters cannot cross party lines in the primary.

Young Boy Killed in Freak Accident

CHICAGO (AP)—A 2-year-old who fell against the gas pedal of his mother's car set off a chain reaction that killed an older boy playing behind a six-foot brick wall.

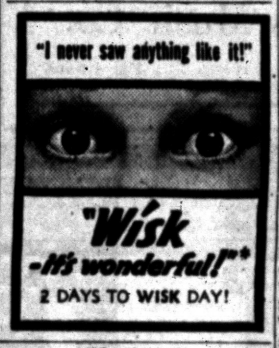

* * *

Mrs. Winifred Breakey, 36, told police she was driving her three children home from church when the youngest, James, fell to the floor and struck the accelerator. The car bounced over a curb and struck the brick wall at the entrance to the Trumbull Park housing project on the Far South Side. Flying bricks killed James Buchanan, 9, behind the wall.

* * *

Mrs. Breakey was charged with reckless homicide.

Say Adlai Needs California Win

Backers Claim Primary Victory Spells Success in Nomination

WASHINGTON (AP)—Adlai Stevenson's backers apparently believe that if he can win the California primary he will ride into the Democratic presidential nominating convention with more first-ballot votes than anyone else.

* * *

Some of his friends indicated today that while they are not slackening their efforts, they are not counting heavily on the May 18 Oregon and May 29 Florida primaries.

In Florida, the Stevenson forces seemingly will be happy to get an even break with Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee in any division of the state's 28-vote delegation. They contend they are fighting an uphill battle in a write-on contest with Kefauver for Oregon's 16 votes.

* * *

But in California, where the 68-vote delegation goes as a unit to the winner of the June 5 primary, they are prepared for a desperate battle.

Since it is the last contested primary before the convention opens in Chicago Aug. 13, it may have strong psychological effect on delegates chosen in conventions in other states.

* * *

With 68 votes from California, Stevenson's other first-ballot strength would come largely from Illinois, with 64 votes, Pennsylvania with 74, New Jersey with 36 and Massachusetts with 38. He has scattered delegate strength already enlisted in some other states. That would seem to assure him 300 or more. Nomination requires 686½ votes.

Even if Kefauver should win all of Florida's 28 votes and Oregon's 16, he seems unlikely to reach 300 on the first ballot. His present strength lies primarily in Minnesota with 26 votes, New Hampshire with 8, Wisconsin with 28 and Tennessee's 32.

* * *

A California victory, however, could make Kefauver the first-ballot leader if many states cast "favorite son" votes.

Stevenson, who brought his campaign to Washington for an indirect clash with President Eisenhower in weekend foreign policy speeches, invades New York later this week after a day's rest here.

Eisenhower's proposal for establishment of a kind of brain trust to advise the government on foreign policy got only a lukewarm endorsement from Stevenson, who accused Eisenhower last night of "misleading" the American people.

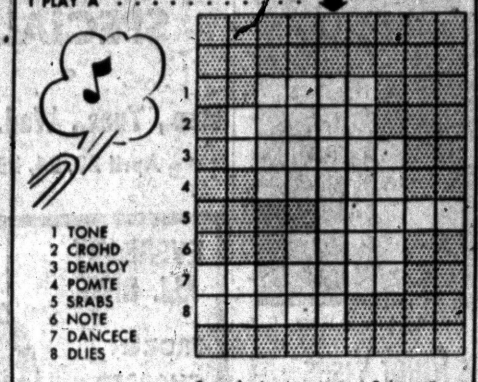

Kefauver said of the Eisenhower proposal:

"There has been a crying need for a long time to use the most able people, regardless of party, in making and administering foreign policy."

Reds Denounce Stalin's 'Trial by Confession'

MOSCOW (AP)—The standard Soviet practice of trial by confession—which served Stalin so well in erasing his foes—has been denounced in Russia's leading law journal.

The magazine Soviet State and Law labeled the procedure a "glaring violation of . . . socialist legality." It roundly criticized the late Andrei Vishinsky, who prosecuted the famed purge trials of the 1930s at which many veteran Bolsheviks were convicted on their own confessions and put to death.

Vishinsky subsequently served as chief Soviet delegate to the United Nations. He died in November 1954.

* * *

The unsigned article said Vishinsky's legal theories had turned into "unimpeachable dogma." It called on judicial workers to "make a deep and manifold study and throw light on the questions of guarantees and the means of insuring legality in the matter of guarding the rights and interests of citizens of the U.S.S.R."

In line with the current campaign to take the emphasis away from Stalin, the Soviet Union paid enthusiastic homage to Lenin yesterday—the 86th anniversary of his birth.

23 Girls Seek Reserve Title in Beauty Contest

A bevy of beauties are vying for the title "Miss Naval Reserve of 1956."

Some 23 contestants already are entered, according to Lt. Cdr. Bernard A. Woessner, commander of the reserve training center, and more are expected by the May 8 deadline.

Ten finalists will be selected in a contest at 8 p.m. that day in the Oakland Theater, 35 S. Saginaw St. Pictures of the girls are on display in the theater lobby.

The queen and two attendants will be chosen a week later, Woessner said.

The winner will get a trophy and a $50 savings bond. The two runners-up will win $20 gift certificates, and $5 certificates will be presented to the other finalists, Woessner said.

The new queen will act as official hostess in Pontiac reserve activities, Woessner said. She will be crowned by last year's queen, Beverly Dodd of Drayton Plains.

The contest can be entered by girls 17 years of age or older, married or single. A picture must be submitted to the training center at 469 E. Blvd. S.

MacDowell Ends Season Saturday

Putnam Directs, Schmidt Assists in Finale

The MacDowell Male Chorus presented its last public performance of the season Saturday evening at Pontiac High School. The precise and diligent direction of George Putnam was shown in another performance of beauty by the group with Oscar Schmidt as associate conductor and accompanist.

Beginning with the chorus "Hail Friends of Music" to the very last number on the program, the audience was impressed with the precision of timing and accuracy of tone evident in the presentation.

MacDowell soloists on the program were Ralph Bergemann, who sang "Marry a Woman Uglier Than You" by de Paur assisted by the chorus. Carl Matheny was soloist for "The Lost Chord" and William Betts and William Bower collaborated with their talents and presented the Noble Cain number "I've Got a House in Baltimore."

Effective lighting heightened the drama of the chorus's presentation of Richter's "The Creation." The audience was hushed as the shading of tone and volume of the singers told the story of creation ending with the line "and there was light" with the auditorium going from darkness to semi-light and ending in sudden flooding of light.

Composers represented in the program were George Gershwin, Mozart, Jerome Kern and Romberg and Lawrence.

In all the program was beautifully executed and a credit to the city of Pontiac.

Guest artists Hildred Kronlokken and Thomas Tipton were superb, both in solo numbers and in their selection of three duets, all numbers from operettas familiar to the American public.

More Than 200 Delegates From State, Ohio Expected

More than 200 delegates from a dozen different YWCAs in lower Michigan, the northernmost edge of Ohio and vicinity, will be guests of the Pontiac Young Women's Christian Assn. Wednesday for what is known in the YWCA as a "Neighborhood Conference."

* * *

Such conferences are held only once in three years, and 54 are being held about this time, in various sections of the United States. It is the first time the Pontiac YWCA has been hostess to such a meeting.

The week of April 22-29 being National YWCA Week, most of the conferences are held within those dates. Wednesday is World Membership Day.

Since the Pontiac Y's home on Franklin boulevard could not possibly house such a delegation, the YWCA has "borrowed" Central Methodist Church for the day, through the intercession of Mrs. W. S. Dawe, YWCA Membership chairman, and an active member of the downtown Methodist Church. Women of the Church, under the leadership of Mrs. Charles H. Crawford, will serve luncheon to the delegates, with Dr. Milton H. Bank, pastor, offering the invocation.

Speaker at the luncheon will be Mrs. John K. Ormond of Birmingham, who is a member of the YWCA National Public Affairs Committee. Her topic will be "Social Responsibilities of the YWCA."

The local YWCA building will be the scene of a morning coffee for the incoming delegates, from 8:30 to 9:45 a.m., with Mrs. Joseph L. Bennett in charge, assisted by Mrs. Fred Haushalter, Ora Hallenbeck, Amy and Cora Krueger, and various other members.

HOSTESS CORPS

Mrs. Dawe and a corps of hostesses meanwhile, will be at the church to welcome and assist those delegates who must report for preconference sessions with Mrs. Maude Pino, general chairman of the conference and president of the Detroit YWCA, and Barbara Locke of the Dearborn YWCA, staff program chairman.

The opening session, at 10 a.m., will be addressed by Mrs. Robert Claytor of Grand Rapids, YWCA national board member, who will speak on "What Is the YWCA?" Two other national board members, Mrs. George A. Schemm of Detroit and Mrs. Alvah Peterson of Columbus, Ohio, will assist Mrs. Claytor during a symposium on national emphasis for the current 3-year cycle in the YWCA of the U.S.A.

Discussion groups and workshops will fill much of the day, with Mrs. William Genne of Flint giving a summary late in the afternoon. The closing worship service will be led by Mrs. Sam Davidson of Bay City, assisted by Mrs. W. Henry Sink, church organist.

Women of the church will serve tea before the delegates depart.

Representatives of all age groups in the "Y family," from Y-Teens to Golden Agers, will be among the delegates. Largest delegation will be that from Detroit, which has almost 90 registered.

Grand Chief Visits Pythian Members

Mrs. Eleray Thomas, most excellent chief, presided at the Thursday meeting of Mizpah Seven, Pythian Sisters at Fellowship Hall. Mrs. Murray White Wanty of Ann Arbor, grand chief, made her official annual visit.

Candidates receiving the degree of the order were Mrs. Eugene Allan, Mrs. Charles Lennon, Mrs. Reino Perkio, Mrs. Mary Sillett and Lynda McCurdy. Guests were present from Oxford, Ann Arbor and Clawson.

Serving on the refreshment committee were Mrs. Lewis Ellis, Mrs. Cal Dureen, Mrs. William Cowie and Mrs. Claude Mapes.

Pontiac Press Photo

The three boys, members of Memorial Baptist Church of Prospect street, play as a trumpet trio for church services, programs and are active in the Fellowship of Baptist churches. They are usually on hand to help with the music for the Sunday evening "Sing-spiration." Photographed reading from left to right are Glyn and Eugene Stone of South Sanford street and Douglas Brown of Going street. Besides their musical activities, they work in the Sunday School and youth groups.

Helen Wiedman Married Saturday

Wearing a gown of pure silk that fell into a chapel train, Helen Wiedman became the bride of Robert E. Andrews.

* * *

The fitted bodice was accented by a bateau neckline of embroidered lace applique. The lace detail was repeated in the waistline of the bouffant skirt.

Her cloche headpiece of pure silk, trimmed with seed pearls, secured her fingertip veil of illusion. She carried a family Bible centered with a white orchid, and stephanotis and ivy.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph G. Wiedman of Avalon street. He is the son of John H. Andrews of Churchill road.

SATURDAY EVENING

The wedding ceremony was performed Saturday evening by the Rev. Theodore Allebach of Oakland Avenue United Presbyterian Church.

Jo Ann Crisp was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Shirley Booth and Sharon Wiles. Carol Wiedman, sister of the bride, was junior bridesmaid and Susan Andrews was flower girl.

The maid of honor was gowned in yellow nylon over taffeta with a scoop neckline and bouffant skirt and matching accessories. She carried a cascade bouquet of aqua carnations.

MRS. ROBERT E. ANDREWS

Helen Wiedman and Robert Andrews were married Saturday at Oakland Avenue United Presbyterian Church. Helen is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph G. Wiedman of Avalon street. He is the son of John H. Andrews of Churchill road.

Bridesmaids were gowned in a style similar to the maid of honor's in a shade of aqua and carried yellow carnations. The flower girl also wore aqua in a miniature styled after the bridesmaids. She carried a basket of yellow and white rose petals.

John D. Andrews served as his brother's best man and ushers were Don Trulu and Jerry McHaney.

For the reception held in the church parlors Mrs. Wiedman wore a mint green dress of silk over taffeta with patent accessories and a corsage of pink camellias.

The bride changed to a gray suit with pink accessories and wore the orchid from her bridal bouquet for their wedding trip to Miami. The couple will make their home on Scott Lake road on their return.

. Thin strips of green pepper added to mashed steamed yellow squash (seasoned with salt, pepper and butter) make the vegetable look extra pretty and add pleasing flavor and crunchiness.

Photographs Are Taken at Reception

Guests Asks About Propriety of This Practice

By EMILY POST

A reader writes me as follows: "I went to a wedding which was held recently at a large, fashionable hotel. It was a very elaborate wedding and quite perfect in every detail.

"However, one thing struck me as not being quite correct, and I would like to know what you think about it. The wedding guests were seated at small tables of 10.

"During the reception a photographer came around and took pictures of each table and after the pictures were developed he returned and asked each guest at each table if he (or she) would like to order one to keep as a souvenir of the wedding. I have never before encountered anything like this and would very much appreciate your opinion."

Answer: It is entirely acceptable and not at all unusual. At a wedding people are dressed in their most becoming clothes and sitting next to their special friends, and a picture of the group is likely to be very pleasing. There is no obligation for the guests to buy a picture if they don't want one. (Nine times out of ten however, they do.)

"Dear Mrs. Post: The following question came up for discussion the other day and we would like you to answer it for us. Is it, or is it not, in good taste for those in mourning to use red nail polish?"

Answer: Vermilion or crimson would not be in best taste, but either diluted to a softer tint is entirely proper.

Teach Child to Admit Limitations

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

A cold kept Max home during the four days his teacher introduced his classmates to fractions. Back at school, he couldn't understand her explanation of some subtraction examples.

* * *

Panic began to mount in him. Later, his homework assignment scared him so that he just "forgot" it over the weekend. But on Monday night, as he struggled under new problems, he was close to tears.

Noting his distress, his father didn't offer to teach him fractions. Instead, he said, "You couldn't be in school listening to Miss Wells while you were home in bed, could you? Of course you can't do this homework.

"Instead of being afraid to say so, remind Miss Wells tomorrow that you were absent last week—and ask her what she wants you to do about this work you missed.

* * *

Max did. Miss Wells told him to remain after school to receive special help on fractions. When he got home, he was very happy. Why? Because he'd learned some arithmetic? No. Because he'd lost some fear of admitting a limitation.

CAUSES AGITATION

This fear is nearly always the cause of children's agitation over homework.

* * *

Which is why helping them with it is not always helpful. Oh, we may get Max's homework handed in for him; but his real problem—his fear of saying "I can't do it" to an unreasonable demand—has been left untouched.

Yet we all have to learn to say it sooner or later. This world often makes unreasonable demands upon us.

Just as Miss Wells expected Max to subtract fractions with no knowledge of them, so the world will ask us to solve other people's problems for them, prove how smart we are and perform similar unreasonable tasks.

* * *

If we don't know how to say, "No, I can't do this," it can keep us just as stirred up as Max over Miss Wells' unreasonable demand.

TRUST ADAGE

In America, many of us tend to be ashamed to admitting any limitation. We trust the old adage, "Where there's a will there's a way."

Its glorification of undisciplined human will power in the place of reverence for God's makes any failure the unforgivable sin for us.

Unfortunately, some failure is the experience of everyone. The conflict between the total success we demand of ourselves and what we can actually produce keeps us in a constant state of nervous tension.

It affects children, of course. So I believe in encouraging them to speak the simple, innocent, realistic phrase "I can't do this" without fear whenever it is needed.

When wrapping paint brushes in paper to store away, be sure the bristles all lie flat. If the bristles are bent and held that way they will take on this shape and will never straighten out.

More Than 200 Delegates From State, Ohio Expected

More than 200 delegates from a dozen different YWCAs in lower Michigan, the northernmost edge of Ohio and vicinity, will be guests of the Pontiac Young Women's Christian Assn. Wednesday for what is known in the YWCA as a "Neighborhood Conference."

* * *

Such conferences are held only once in three years, and 54 are being held about this time, in various sections of the United States. It is the first time the Pontiac YWCA has been hostess to such a meeting.

The week of April 22-29 being National YWCA Week, most of the conferences are held within those dates. Wednesday is World Membership Day.

Since the Pontiac Y's home on Franklin boulevard could not possibly house such a delegation, the YWCA has "borrowed" Central Methodist Church for the day, through the intercession of Mrs. W. S. Dawe, YWCA Membership chairman, and an active member of the downtown Methodist Church. Women of the Church, under the leadership of Mrs. Charles H. Crawford, will serve luncheon to the delegates, with Dr. Milton H. Bank, pastor, offering the invocation.

Speaker at the luncheon will be Mrs. John K. Ormond of Birmingham, who is a member of the YWCA National Public Affairs Committee. Her topic will be "Social Responsibilities of the YWCA."

The local YWCA building will be the scene of a morning coffee for the incoming delegates, from 8:30 to 9:45 a.m., with Mrs. Joseph L. Bennett in charge, assisted by Mrs. Fred Haushalter, Ora Hallenbeck, Amy and Cora Krueger, and various other members.

HOSTESS CORPS

Mrs. Dawe and a corps of hostesses meanwhile, will be at the church to welcome and assist those delegates who must report for preconference sessions with Mrs. Maude Pino, general chairman of the conference and president of the Detroit YWCA, and Barbara Locke of the Dearborn YWCA, staff program chairman.

The opening session, at 10 a.m., will be addressed by Mrs. Robert Claytor of Grand Rapids, YWCA national board member, who will speak on "What Is the YWCA?" Two other national board members, Mrs. George A. Schemm of Detroit and Mrs. Alvah Peterson of Columbus, Ohio, will assist Mrs. Claytor during a symposium on national emphasis for the current 3-year cycle in the YWCA of the U.S.A.

Discussion groups and workshops will fill much of the day, with Mrs. William Genne of Flint giving a summary late in the afternoon. The closing worship service will be led by Mrs. Sam Davidson of Bay City, assisted by Mrs. W. Henry Sink, church organist.

Women of the church will serve tea before the delegates depart.

Representatives of all age groups in the "Y family," from Y-Teens to Golden Agers, will be among the delegates. Largest delegation will be that from Detroit, which has almost 90 registered.

Grand Chief Visits Pythian Members

Mrs. Eleray Thomas, most excellent chief, presided at the Thursday meeting of Mizpah Seven, Pythian Sisters at Fellowship Hall. Mrs. Murray White Wanty of Ann Arbor, grand chief, made her official annual visit.

Candidates receiving the degree of the order were Mrs. Eugene Allan, Mrs. Charles Lennon, Mrs. Reino Perkio, Mrs. Mary Sillett and Lynda McCurdy. Guests were present from Oxford, Ann Arbor and Clawson.

Serving on the refreshment committee were Mrs. Lewis Ellis, Mrs. Cal Dureen, Mrs. William Cowie and Mrs. Claude Mapes.

The three boys, members of Memorial Baptist Church of Prospect street, play as a trumpet trio for church services, programs and are active in the Fellowship of Baptist churches. They are usually on hand to help with the music for the Sunday evening "Sing-spiration." Photographed reading from left to right are Glyn and Eugene Stone of South Sanford street and Douglas Brown of Going street. Besides their musical activities, they work in the Sunday School and youth groups.

Helen Wiedman Married Saturday

Wearing a gown of pure silk that fell into a chapel train, Helen Wiedman became the bride of Robert E. Andrews.

* * *

The fitted bodice was accented by a bateau neckline of embroidered lace applique. The lace detail was repeated in the waistline of the bouffant skirt.

Her cloche headpiece of pure silk, trimmed with seed pearls, secured her fingertip veil of illusion. She carried a family Bible centered with a white orchid, and stephanotis and ivy.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph G. Wiedman of Avalon street. He is the son of John H. Andrews of Churchill road.

SATURDAY EVENING

The wedding ceremony was performed Saturday evening by the Rev. Theodore Allebach of Oakland Avenue United Presbyterian Church.

Jo Ann Crisp was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Shirley Booth and Sharon Wiles. Carol Wiedman, sister of the bride, was junior bridesmaid and Susan Andrews was flower girl.

The maid of honor was gowned in yellow nylon over taffeta with a scoop neckline and bouffant skirt and matching accessories. She carried a cascade bouquet of aqua carnations.

Bridesmaids were gowned in a style similar to the maid of honor's in a shade of aqua and carried yellow carnations. The flower girl also wore aqua in a miniature styled after the bridesmaids. She carried a basket of yellow and white rose petals.

John D. Andrews served as his brother's best man and ushers were Don Trulu and Jerry McHaney.

For the reception held in the church parlors Mrs. Wiedman wore a mint green dress of silk over taffeta with patent accessories and a corsage of pink camellias.

The bride changed to a gray suit with pink accessories and wore the orchid from her bridal bouquet for their wedding trip to Miami. The couple will make their home on Scott Lake road on their return.

MRS. ROBERT E. ANDREWS

Helen Wiedman and Robert Andrews were married Saturday at Oakland Avenue United Presbyterian Church. Helen is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph G. Wiedman of Avalon street. He is the son of John H. Andrews of Churchill road.

Thin strips of green pepper added to mashed steamed yellow squash (seasoned with salt, pepper and butter) make the vegetable look extra pretty and add pleasing flavor and crunchiness.

Hoedowners Have Dinner Dance Event

A dinner dance held at the CAI building Saturday climazed the dance season for members of the Hoedowners Square Dance Club. Howard Hatfield, retiring president, served as master of ceremonies for the evening.

Callers were Harvey Gilchrist, Ted Hoyt, Roy Burch, Ben D'Arcy, Walter Anderson, Robert Crites, DeWitt Hart and Fred Froded.

Mrs. Glen Hartung and Mrs. Howard Hatfield arranged the decorations and arrangements of spring flowers that centered the tables. A basket of daffodils centered the speaker's table, with a china doll holding a bouquet of flowers placed on either end of the table.

Guests for the evening were Dr. and Mrs. Rudolph Jamnik, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Whittaker, Mr. and Mrs. Nick Manzella, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Mora and Mrs. Gibson.

You can extract more juice from lemons and oranges and do it more quickly too if you warm them for a few moments under the hot water faucet before squeezing. Don't worry, you won't lose the vitamis.

Photographs Are Taken at Reception

Guests Asks About Propriety of This Practice

By EMILY POST

A reader writes me as follows: "I went to a wedding which was held recently at a large, fashionable hotel. It was a very elaborate wedding and quite perfect in every detail.

"However, one thing struck me as not being quite correct, and I would like to know what you think about it. The wedding guests were seated at small tables of 10.

"During the reception a photographer came around and took pictures of each table and after the pictures were developed he returned and asked each guest at each table if he (or she) would like to order one to keep as a souvenir of the wedding. I have never before encountered anything like this and would very much appreciate your opinion."

Answer: It is entirely acceptable and not at all unusual. At a wedding people are dressed in their most becoming clothes and sitting next to their special friends, and a picture of the group is likely to be very pleasing. There is no obligation for the guests to buy a picture if they don't want one. (Nine times out of ten however, they do.)

"Dear Mrs. Post: The following question came up for discussion the other day and we would like you to answer it for us. Is it, or is it not, in good taste for those in mourning to use red nail polish?"

Answer: Vermilion or crimson would not be in best taste, but either diluted to a softer tint is entirely proper.

Teach Child to Admit Limitations

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

A cold kept Max home during the four days his teacher introduced his classmates to fractions. Back at school, he couldn't understand her explanation of some subtraction examples.

* * *

Panic began to mount in him. Later, his homework assignment scared him so that he just "forgot" it over the weekend. But on Monday night, as he struggled under new problems, he was close to tears.

Noting his distress, his father didn't offer to teach him fractions. Instead, he said, "You couldn't be in school listening to Miss Wells while you were home in bed, could you? Of course you can't do this homework.

"Instead of being afraid to say so, remind Miss Wells tomorrow that you were absent last week—and ask her what she wants you to do about this work you missed.

* * *

Max did. Miss Wells told him to remain after school to receive special help on fractions. When he got home, he was very happy. Why? Because he'd learned some arithmetic? No. Because he'd lost some fear of admitting a limitation.

CAUSES AGITATION

This fear is nearly always the cause of children's agitation over homework.

* * *

Which is why helping them with it is not always helpful. Oh, we may get Max's homework handed in for him; but his real problem—his fear of saying "I can't do it" to an unreasonable demand—has been left untouched.

Yet we all have to learn to say it sooner or later. This world often makes unreasonable demands upon us.

Just as Miss Wells expected Max to subtract fractions with no knowledge of them, so the world will ask us to solve other people's problems for them, prove how smart we are and perform similar unreasonable tasks.

* * *

If we don't know how to say, "No, I can't do this," it can keep us just as stirred up as Max over Miss Wells' unreasonable demand.

TRUST ADAGE

In America, many of us tend to be ashamed to admitting any limitation. We trust the old adage, "Where there's a will there's a way."

Its glorification of undisciplined human will power in the place of reverence for God's makes any failure the unforgivable sin for us.

Unfortunately, some failure is the experience of everyone. The conflict between the total success we demand of ourselves and what we can actually produce keeps us in a constant state of nervous tension.

It affects children, of course. So I believe in encouraging them to speak the simple, innocent, realistic phrase "I can't do this" without fear whenever it is needed.

Applesauce Glazes Pork Loin Roast

Mrs. Hefner Adds Spicy Fruit Mix to Meat in Oven

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Pork has been on the bargain counter for months. You can entertain a large group without breaking the bank, if you serve a pork roast. Do try Mrs. Guy Hefner's recipe for an Apple-Glazed Pork Loin.

Mrs. Hefner is a homemaker whose main interest outside her home is in doing church work. She is, however, a member of the Fashionette Club. Three grandchildren add enjoyment to her life.

1 tablespoon flour
1 teaspoon salt

Shed Extra Poundage Before Hot Weather

BY JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

It's time to get the anti-freeze out of your car and the extra pounds off of you! If warm weather is not already with you it is just around the corner.

* * *

Why not treat yourself as kindly as you do your car? Those extra pounds heat you up about as much as the anti-freeze would your car. Overweight is always uncomfortable but it is espicailly so in hot weather.

For one thing, your heart has to work harder in order to pump blood through the blood vessels in your extra pounds. Also, there are all sorts of summer discomforts such as prickly heat and chafing which harass the overweight woman.

In order to be comfortable in hot weather we wear lighter clothing; even less restricting, lighter undergarments and foundations. It is sheer joy to wear the attractive playclothes and swim suits if you feel comfortable in them, and you won't if you do not think you look attractive in them. That's just the way we woman are!

* * *

So your Aunt Josie is here with help. I always run my 9-Day Reducing Diet about this time every year. You can lose from 5 to 10 pounds in nine days if you will stick with the diet which is appearing in The Pontiac Press daily.

Here are the menus for tomorrow so that you can shop for the essential items today—

TUESDAY

Breakfast
Half grapefuit
One thin dry piece of whole wheat toast, Black coffee

Mid-Morning
Glass of tomato juice

Luncheon
Green salad with lemon or reducing dressing,
One slice lamb roast (don't eat the fat)
One glass skimmed milk
One thin dry piece of whole wheat toast

Mid-Afternoon
Glass of tomato juice

Dinner
One piece of lean meat, steak or roast (five or six ounces)
One-half cup squash (yellow preferable)
One-half cup string beans
One glass skimmed milk,
One apple

Even five pounds will make your belts tighter and 10 pounds can make the difference between an average figure and a truly lovely one. Why not get in there and pitch and get it over with?

If you would like to have my complete 9-Day Reducing Diet in a convenient booklet, send 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

Tomorrow: "A New Figure Would Be A Splendid Spring Tonic."

On the first day of the 9-Day Diet a glass of tomato juice is permissible at mid-morning.

When water gets dangerously low, the marbles will bang away noisily, warning you to replenish the water and save bottom from burn.

The town of Suez, Egypt, will be converted into a tourist resort, Cairo learns.

Wesleyans Elect Officers

Hatred of Dusting Inspires Hobby

By ANNE HEYWOOD

There is a Greek proverb that goes something like this: "Despise not the day of small things."

* * *

It used to irritate me a good deal. So many days were full of silly chores, meaningless details and the downright unpleasant tasks of life.

" 'Despise not the day of small things', indeed!" I used to mutter to myself and wonder what that philosopher would do if he had to cope with the supermarket, the budget, the dusting and the ironing.

But now, looking back on it, I can see that it made more sense than I thought—that, in spite of the silly chores, I was learning and growing and developing.

* * *

I thought of that the other day, when visiting a young couple I know. They have three little children and yet the wife, Mrs. B., has time to engage in her quite lucrative hobby, ceramics.

"It isn't easy," she told me, "but it's worth it. The money I make pays my wonderful part-time woman who takes the children for me every afternoon. So while there's no financial profit, there's so much pleasure—for the kids as well as me—in my having this part-time hobby."

* * *

She went on to explain that she specializes in lovely lamp bases and had several neighborhood shops which take as many as she can make. She has a small kiln and works religiously every afternoon.

Along about here, I noticed that her husband was grinning and chuckling under his breath.

"Tell her how you began this project," he suggested.

By this time, Mrs. B. was grinning, too.

* * *

"Well," she admitted, "it wasn't a very glamorous beginning.

"It started a couple of years ago, one of those rainy days. The babies were finally napping and I had to use that moment of peace for the dusting.

SORRY FOR SELF

"I hate dusting, always have. I was feeling sorry for myself and tense—you know the feeling.

* * *

"Then I came to a ghastly fancy lamp which had been a wedding present. We both hated it and it was a horror to dust.

"So you know what happened—while I was dusting it, I accidentally broke it into a million pieces. A psychiatrist would say it was no accident, I know.

"Well," she concluded, "I decided then and there that I would make a lamp to replace it, a pretty lamp that would be easy to dust.

"I had a friend who was studying ceramics, so I joined her class. It took a lot of doing, but it turned out to be a wonderful break!"

Women Really Don't Know Too Much About Washing

1. Women tend to use bleach in an emergency, to correct accumulated grayness, for instance, and so tend to overbleach in one big dose. The right way is to use bleach every time they wash. Less is required, there's much less danger of any damage to fabrics and the results are much better.

2. Women don't read labels. If they did, and bought a quality bleach made by a reputable manufacturer, and then followed the instructions given on the label, they could bleach with safety and assurance of results.

3. Most women do not understand that a chlorine bleach, properly used, is far less damaging to cotton and linen fabrics than the abrasive wear resulting from rubbing and scrubbing to remove heavy soil, or than the old-fashioned sun bleaching.

4. Many women think they can only use a chlorine bleach on white fabrics. They confuse "bleaching" with "color-removal." The property of a chlorine bleach in removing heavy soil and in brightening color-fast cottons and linens is a boon to the homelaunderer, once she discovers it.

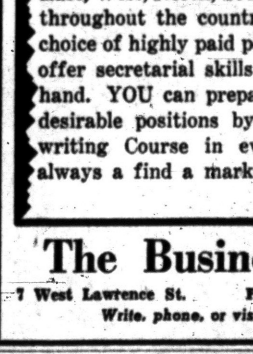

5. There is tremendous interest on the part of women in the fact that chlorine bleach used regularly every time they wash really does help keep nylon, Dacron and Orlon garments white. Chlorine bleach does not harm those fabrics.

6. The current advertising of some detergent manufacturers that "no bleach is needed" has led to much confusion. Most women don't know anything about brighteners or fluorescent dyes, or, if they do, don't know that their role is to create an optical effect of whiteness. If they once understand that a bleach removes soil while a brighter just covers it up (and only temporarily at that, because after a series of washings, the soil comes through the brightener again).

Texan Quail Sets Record for Egg Laying

TYLER, Tex. (AP)—There's a little old momma quail that's got this whole town talking.

* * *

Bernice, as she's called, started laying eggs about 10 months ago and forgot to stop, according to George C. Stodghill, state quail hatchery superintendent here.

The 282 eggs Bernice has produced is an unofficial national record, Stodghill says.

* * *

"She's still layin' them and there's 29 more days to the laying season," he says. Ninety per cent have hatched.

Stodghill says Oklahoma previously claimed the champion hen with 100 eggs during a laying season.

Social Problem Faces Eskimos

DEW Line Construction Chases Game, Lowers Living Standards

OTTAWA (AP) — The advance of civilization into the Canadian Arctics created a delicate social problem for the federal government—the transition of a primitive race to the white man's modern ways.

* * *

Involved are the 9,350 Eskimos who live in the northwest territories, northern Quebec and Labrador. Most affected are the 6,900 in the territories, where mining development in the last 10 years and now defense construction—has brought an onrush of modern living.

SOCIAL PROBLEM

Defense preparations, chiefly construction of the DEW (Distant Early Warning) radar line by the United States, has accentuated a social problem which started to develop with the end of World War II.

Before the war there was sufficient game in the territories to give the Eskimo a reasonably good living, by his standards. But this no longer is true, and the Eskimo must be given an opportunity to earn a livelihood in the white man's economy which threatens to engulf him.

* * *

Northern Affairs Minister Jean Lesage said in an interview that transition of the Eskimo race is inevitable, that if Eskimos are to survive more and more must give up their nomadic way of life.

Poetry, Drama Through Camera's Eye

A Chinese philosopher once said that one picture is worth 10,000 words. Apply this adage to the 1955 prize-winning presentations of Press Photographers James Mahar and Edward Vanderworp and you'd have something approaching the scope of two short novels.

One picked a nursery rhyme, the other the miracle of birth—subjects as far apart as fancy and reality—but the way in which Mahar and Vanderworp portrayed them to Press readers brought them first and second place awards in recent statewide competition at the Michigan Press Photography Conference (See Page 1.)

Mahar's picture story of a modern-day "Mary" and her lamb appeared in a May issue of the Press, and had as its "co-star" Alice Peterson, of 89 Marshall St.

The tale begins with Alice, in her role as Mary, feeding her pet to fortify it for a visit to Longfellow School where classmates in the sixth grade faithfully followed through with appropriate laughter.

A more serious aspect of living was carried out in Vanderworp's account of stages in the birth of Pamela Lynne Meduna, daughter of Pontiac residents Mr. and Mrs. Anton Meduna. The series appeared in an October, 1955, issue of the Press.

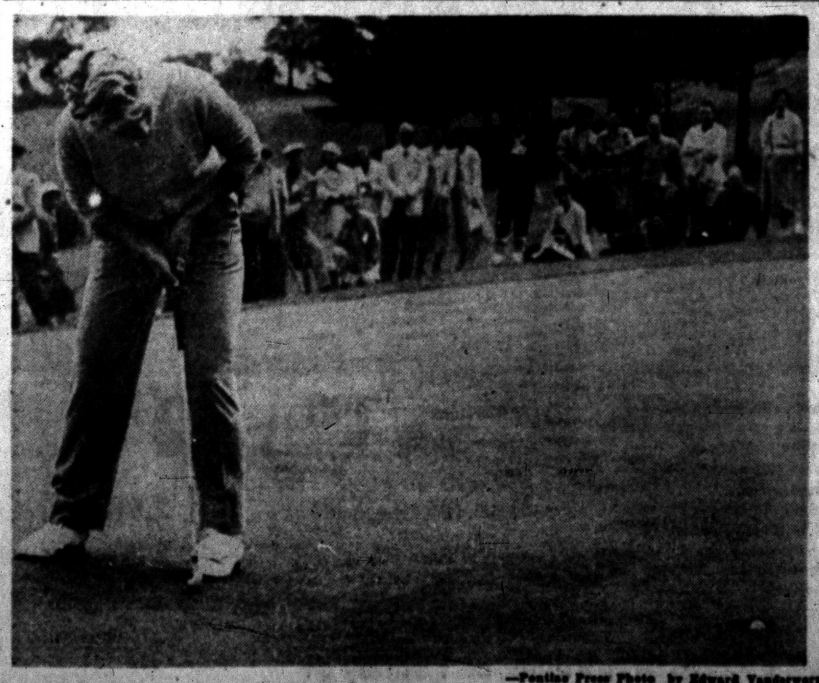

The heart-warming story of a young mother, her anxiety before the birth of her first baby and the joy afterwards, was widely discussed among local readers.

Vanderworp also was awarded an honorable mention prize for his shot of a successful putt by Marlene Bauer on one of the greens at Forest Lake during last May's Women's Wolverine Open. The ball is shown at the right as it drops into the cup before the eyes of a crowd of spectators.

The awards were made following the two-day annual conference in East Lansing. Twenty other newspaper photographers won similar prizes.

The Story of a Birth

FAR LEFT: The mother-to-be checks into Pontiac General Hospital where she will later be shown to a room by Nurse Mrs. Jack Lanway.

CENTER: Newly-born Pamela Lynne Meduna is "foot-printed" by Irene Barnes, nurse. The operation is accomplished immediately after birth to establish the identity of the new arrival at the hospital.

Bob Considine Says:

Book Sheds Light on Controversial Nixon

NEW YORK (INS) — For a fellow who didn't seem to have a friend a few weeks back, Vice President Nixon seems to be doing okay. First there was that warming write-in for him in the New Hampshire primary. Then a step-up in the President's expressed estimation of him.

* * *

And then two biographies, Ralph de Toledano's "Nixon," published by Holt, and now "This Is Nixon" by James Keogh, associate editor of Time and former city editor of the Omaha World-Herald.

"This Is Nixon" is not as intimate an account of the vice president and his work as Toledano's — which already is involved in a skirmish in the literary and political world. Keogh's approach is more analytical, though invariably friendly.

It concedes that the man "Is one of the most controversial and lease understood" figures on the American political scene.

* * *

It examines what he has said and written about military preparedness, statism, labor and management, social reforms, pressure groups, civil rights, farm subsidies, taxes, conservation, federal aid, etc. etc. etc.

A CLICHE TO SOME

Keogh concedes that Nixon's basic philosophy, when described, will appear to some as "an unbearable cliche." It is this, the author contends: "His philosophy is based on the principle of freedom of enterprise and of opportunity, under the law."

Nikita Khrushchev paid Nixon a compliment during West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's visit to Moscow last year. Khrushchev griped repeatedly about "this fellow Nixon" in his remarks about the U.S.

Keogh recalls this in a chapter devoted to the proposition that Nixon is not the irresponsible Red-baiter his enemies say he is. He chooses Nixon's tacit calldown of Sen. Joe McCarthy in 1954 as a prime sample:

"The President and this administration insist that, whether in the executive branch or in the legislative branch of the government, the procedures for dealing with the threat of communism in the United States must be fair and they must be proper.

* * *

"Now, I can imagine some of you will say, 'Why all this hullabaloo about being fair when you are dealing with a gang of traitors?' As a matter of fact, I have heard some people say, 'After all, we are dealing with a bunch of rats. What we ought to do is go out and shoot them.'

"I agree they are a bunch of rats. But just remember this, when you go out to shoot rats, you have to shoot straight, because when you shoot wildly it not only means that the rats may get away more easily—but you make it easier on the rats. Also, you might hit someone else."

CRITICIZED QUOTES

Keogh dusts off some of the quotes which have made Nixon the prime target of Democrat orators. During the '52 campaign he called Adlai Stevenson "a garrulous Galahad . . . Adlai, the appeaser who got a Ph.D. from Dean Acheson's college of cowardly Communist containment."

He called Harry S. Truman "that piano-playing letter writer" on whom Stevenson had a "mouselike dependence." Did he ever call Truman a traitor, as the former President has charged?

"A painstaking study of the record provides a definite answer: No," Keogh writes. "What Nixon did was to charge that Harry Truman and other leaders of the Democratic administration failed to recognize, to face up to and to act effectively against, the Communist conspiracy at home and the Communist menace abroad.

"Consistently and clearly, he said he was not charging disloyalty but blindness and politics-as-usual in the face of grave danger."

* * *

Summing up, Keogh says, "some men fear him. Those who do are, in considerable part, people who believe that his patriotism and his ambition are too intense, or who misunderstand him. Some men cannot stomach him.

"He represents a generation of Americans, now coming into their own, who grew out of the same times and much the same circumstances as he did.

"On Inauguration Day 1957, Richard Nixon will be 44. Given average life expectancy, he will be on the American scene for at least another quarter of a century. That expectancy adds up to six presidential elections.

"Considering how far he has come and how much he has done in just one decade of public life, that is indeed a prospect to appall his foes and hearten his friends."

WELL DONE — Joel Shaefer, 13, returns to his home in Chicago and his mom's proud welcome. A Boy Scout and a polio victim, Joel has just completed 13½ hours of walking to fulfill requirements for a hiking merit badge and the Eagle Scout rank. Hiking 20 miles along the historic Lincoln Trail from New Salem to Springfield, the scout used crutches most of the time.

Jersey's Meyner Emerges as Dem Veep Possibility

WASHINGTON (UP)—Gov. Robert B. Meyner's show of strength in last week's New Jersey presidential primary has revived speculation he might figure prominently as a competitor for the Democratic vice presidential nomination.

* * *

Although the only active contest so far is for top place on the 1956 Democratic ticket, nearly a dozen governors and senators, and at least one mayor, have been mentioned for the second spot. That place was occupied in 1952 at a Southerner, Sen. John Sparkman of Alabama.

A BIG FACTOR

Of course, talk about a vice presidential nominee for the party out of power rarely reaches the serious stage until convention time, and after a decision has been made on a party standard bearer. The presidential candidate usually has a lot to say about a running mate. Geography is another big factor.

* * *

For exxample, Gov. Meyner, whose unpledged delegate slate crushed one favorable to Sen. Kefauver of Tennessee in last Tuesday's New Jersey voting, would appear to have a better chance to be on a ticket headed by a Midwesterner such as Adlai Stevenson, or even Kefauver, than on one topped by Gov. Averell Harriman of New York.

OTHER "CHOICES"

Other vice presidential nomination possibilities include some who also have been mentioned for top honors as follows:

Gov. G. Mennen Williams, four-term governor of Michigan. Gov. Frank G. Clement of Tennessee. Sen. Albert Gore, also of Tennessee. Both Clement and Gore would be disqualified, for all practical purposes, if Kefauver won the presidential nomination.

* * *

Mayor Robert F. Wagner of New York City, a Stevenson backer. Sen. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota, another supporter of Stevenson. Gov. George M. Leader of Pennsylvania. Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas, who says he's willing to become Texas' "favorite son." Sen. John F. Kennedy, of Massachusetts. Gov. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine and Gov. A. B. (Happy) Chandler of Kentucky.

Long Way Back Home

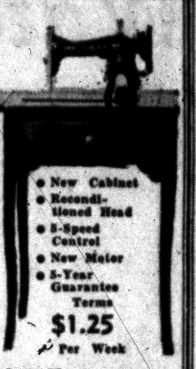

BOZEMAN, Mont. (UP) — A flag from the Philippines—a prize of war — has taken the long ride home. In World War II, a Japanese soldier seized it. Later M. Sgt. R. R. Holden took the flag back and brought it with him when he returned to Montana State College on the science faculty.

When Juan de Rodriques, a Filipino provincial governor, returned to his alma mater, Montana, to receive a doctorate of laws honorary degree, Holden presented the flag—to take it home.

The Census Bureau predicts 21 million Americans over 64 in 1975.

Event at Walled Lake High School Shows 100 Per Cent Increase

WALLED LAKE — In announcing that the Scout-O-Rama was a "rousing success," Earl L. Gruber, general chairman, estimated that nearly 14,000 persons filed into Walled Lake Senior High School last Saturday for the third annual event.

Staged by the Ottawa District of the Boy Scouts of America, the Scout-O-Rama consisted of many displays of Scout activity along with a 10-act stage show.

To emphasize the growing popularity of the event, Gruber compared this year's record-breaking crowd to the throng of 5,000 at the 1955 show — an increase of more than 100 per cent.

He added that not one mishap of any consequence was reported to Scout officials during the activity, a tribute to the cooperation received from police and fire departments of the area.

Madison Heights Plans Court Suit on Fund Split

ROYAL OAK TOWNSHIP — The financial settlement between Madison Heights and Royal Oak Township has hit a snag here.

Both groups at the beginning of the settlement meeting agreed to an 86 per cent-13 per cent split of assets and liabilities, setting Dec. 10 as the official day of separation.

Madison Heights, formerly the only remaining portion of the township east of Woodward, became a city Dec. 9, 1955.

Difficulties began at the meeting when the township refused to give Madison Heights advance money on taxes.

The Madison Heights City Council said it will seek court action to cause "immediate settlement" of the separation and will ask the court for an injunction to freeze all township assets, and for an independent audit of township books.

The plan is to have the sewer tier into the Pontiac system, according to a 1935 agreement between the township and the city of Pontiac.

Previous hearings have been held on the Sylvan Shores project. Opinions pro and con on assessments as they have been set up will be heard at tonight's meeting. If final approval is given, the board's next step would be to advertise for bids.

Collect Balance on Field Lights

Students Bring in Cash, Promises by Deadline in Goal for Graduation

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP — Waterford Township High School students — with today as the deadline to collect the balance of $25,000 for athletic field lights — brought in $2,000 in cash and promises of another $2,000 to be in the mail today or available tonight.

The students staged a concerted drive this weekend for $3,800 still needed.

Saturday they fanned out over the township in a canvass of people who had made pledges. Sunday students manned phones and called all Orlando numbers in a telephone campaign.

Whenever a promise was received, the call was relayed to students stationed at key points who immediately went out on collection calls, thus speeding up the fund-raising process.

Since the full sum must be in the school board office before closing time today, the Junior Trip Club unanimously voted to lend $1,000 and the school faculty promised the advance the balance from the tennis court fund. Both loans are to be repaid from the $2,000 promised for tomorrow.

Lights on the athletic field are needed for June 13 to accommodate a capacity crowd expected at the high school's largest graduation.

Students had thought the $21,200 previously collected would be sufficient to start the work of installing lights. They learned last Thursday that the full $25,000 would be needed, and staged the all-out drive in last ditch plan to reach their goal.

Detroit Clerics Deplore Racial Biases in Area

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Council of Churches says that "while significant advance has been made in providing equal rights for minority groups in the Detroit area, we humbly confess that much remains to be achieved."

* * *

The council, representing 600 Protestant and Orthodox churches, also said in a weekend statement:

"Churches especially need to examine themselves in the pure light of Christian teaching. It ill behooves the Christian community to preach to the outside world until it has put its own house in order.

"We humbly acknowledge violations of human rights are not confined to any one section of the country. Our indignation over what has happened elsewhere should not blind us to the shortcomings of our beloved city.

"So long as mob violence threatens any family taking up its rightful residence in a metropolitan Detroit neighborhood or minority groups suffer discrimination in any other way, we need turn our attention first to our transgressions."

* * *

The statement was signed by each of the 11 members of the council's committee in charge of public announcements. They include the Rt. Rev. Richard S. Emrich, bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of Michigan, who last week publicly attacked the segregation stand of Mayor Orville L. Hubbard of Dearborn.

Chapter No. 10 (Condensed) ... The Truth About Cancer

Cancer Kills More Children Than Any Other Disease

By DR. CHARLES S. CAMERON
Medical and Scientific Director of the American Cancer Society

Cancer is rare in children, yet not so rare as most people think. And its infrequently is no measure of its importance, for it takes the lives of more children between the ages of one and fourteen than any other disease.

Only accidents kill more youngsters than cancer does. It is extremely uncommon during the infant period, although babies have been born with it.

Cancers of almost every kind occur in young children, but the sarcomas—tumors arising in the supporting tissues—are more numerous by about nine times than carcinomas of covering and lining tissues.

Diagnosis of cancer in children is often more perplexing than it is in grown-ups. Since children's tumors are comparatively rare, they are less understood and less readily suspected.

Because of the child's inability to express clearly complaints or observations, diagnosis is usually delayed until the tumor has become big enough to be noticed by a parent, and usually this is too late for cure.

How concerned should parents be about it then?

Vague as it sounds, the best advice is to take the middle of the road. Be neither unmindful of the possibility of cancer in children, nor alarmed and overly solicitous. But be aware.

COMMON TYPES

Cancer may arise in any organ in the child, but it has a preference for a certain few.

The tumor in the eye is called retinal giloma. Almost all victims are less than four years old, and many have not yet reached their second birthday.

Usually only one eye is involved. But in one out of every four or five cases, both eyes are affected.

First sign is widening of the pupil in one eye, making the size of the two pupils unequal. This dilated pupil may resemble a squint. Somewhat later, the eye assumes a peculiar pearly glint which doctors term "the white reflex" and which laymen often refer to as "cat's eye." Actually, this whitish gleam is the tumor itself seen through the dilated pupil.

More than half of the young patients are permanently cured, and in about half of those who are cured it is possible to preserve vision.

The earlier the diagnosis and the smaller the tumor, the greater the prospects of cure and conservation of sight. Treatment is by removal of the affected eye or by X-rays.

Lately, the use of a new drug seems to increase the sensitiveness of retinal gliomas to the destructive action of irradiation.

THE KIDNEY

Nearly a fifth of all the cancers of childhood arise in the kidney. Almost all of these are "Wilms Tumor" (named after the doctor who first described them in detail).

The usual first sign of this disease is the presence of a tumor or mass in the abdomen or flank.

As a rule, parents notice some enlargement of the abdomen, more prominent on one side than on the other.

This type of kidney tumor is usually treated by a combination of surgery and irradiation. It is now possible to cure about half the children suffering from Wilms Tumor.

NEUROBLASTOMA

Another common abdominal tumor in children is the neuroblastoma. This arises in the fibers of the sympathetic nerve structures behind the abdominal cavity.

These tumors do no usually grow so large as Wilms Tumors, but they too are dangerous, because they have a tendency to spread early to the bones, especially those of the spine and skull.

In fact, earliest symptoms of these tumors is likely to be pain due to such secondary deposits.

Neuroblastomas respond well to X-ray treatment. But by the time they are discovered, almost always they have already begun to spread like fire. So cures are few and far between.

Malignant tumors of bone—bone sarcomas — are also among the tumors that show a predilection for children. They are found more often between the ages of five and twenty-five than at any other time of life.

WARNING FOR PARENTS

Pain is an early symptom of bone sarcomas. It often comes and goes. Of course, it is natural for parents to regard such complaints lightly, especially when they are made by a perfectly healthy looking child. The pains are ascribed to a bruise or a sprain, to rheumatism and "growing pains."

When should parents take such complaints seriously enough to take the child to the doctor?

The safest answer is: When the complaints persist beyond a week, if there is no distinct injury to provide a reasonable explanation. Even if the cause seems clear, an injury severe enough to be followed by pain for a week means that the child should be taken to the doctor anyway.

The second most important signal of bone sarcoma is a swelling caused by the expanding tumor. Sometimes this swelling may actually precede the onset of pain.

With very actively growing tumors, the veins in the adjacent skin may become prominent.

Since most bone sarcomas do not respond well to X-ray therapy, they are usually treated by surgery when there is no evidence of spread of the disease to distant organs. (The lungs are the commonest site of metastases.) And, since so many of these bone tumors occur in extremities, amputation is often necessary.

This is a bitter decision for parents to make. And yet the alternative—a limb or a life—leaves little room for hesitation.

BRAIN TUMORS

The nervous system gives rise to a variety of malignant tumors occurring characteristically in the young. Certain brain tumors are encountered as often in children as in adults, and one variety is seen only in children.

The symptoms of a tumor of the brain vary, depending on the exact location of the tumor.

If a tumor arises in parts of the brain at some distance from important and vital nerve centers and nerve pathways, it may grow quite large without producing any signs of disease.

In a very general way, any one of the following symptoms may give the first warning of brain tumor, and several of them may be present together:

1. Disturbances of vision. The child's vision may be blurred, or he may complain of "seeing double." Or the field of vision may be narrowed, so that the child can perceive only the object on which his eyes are directly focused.

2. Disturbance of motion. Brain tumors may interfere with muscular coordination. For example, the patient may have a tendency to stagger, or be unable to walk straight.

3. Disturbances referred to the digestive tract. Vomiting without preceding nausea may develop. Typically, it occurs suddenly, without warning.

4. Disturbances of personality or consciousness. The patient may appear less alert than usual. Spells of drowsiness may come on from which it is hard to arouse him fully. Epileptiform seizures are not uncommon. They may vary from momentary loss of consciousness so brief as to be barely noticed, to full-scale convulsions.

5. Pain. Headache may be the chief or only disturbance present. At first it may be only occasional, mild, and brief, not noticeably different from the common headache that has made aspirin so popular. But if it is due to a tumor of the brain it will gradually come on more often, increase in severity and persist longer.

OTHER TYPES

Somewhat less common among children's tumors are the sarcomas originating in the soft connective tissues such as muscle, the linings of joint spaces, and the coverings of nerves.

Most of these tumors metastasize early or infiltrate the surrounding tissue so widely that surgical removal is frequently followed by regrowth in the same area.

Nor do they respond satisfactorily to irradiation. For these reasons, the chances of curing them are not good.

Finally, there are the tumors of children that occur in the regions of the head and neck. A number of growths in this group arise in the breathing passage behind the nose—just above and behind the soft palate (the space called the nasopharynx). Others begin in the tonsil or near-by throat. Still others may be found in the structures of the mouth.

MOUTH-BREATHING

There are only two important first signs of these tumors: obstruction to breathing and a lump in the neck. Of course, if a tumor is situated where it can be readily observed, as in the roof of the mouth, it may be noticed before it has produced either of these signs. But most tumors in this area are not so easily seen.

WHAT CAN PARENTS DO?

Remember that cancer is rare in children, yet it occurs often enough to justify a healthy awareness of its possibility. And healthy awareness is based on knowledge of the signs and symptoms of the common childhood tumors.

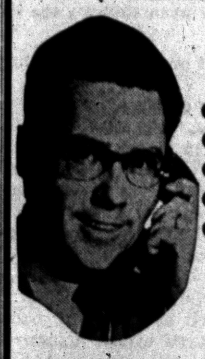

Once you have learned these symptoms, drop them out of everyday thought. But use them when and if the occasion arises.

Avoid at all costs preoccupation with the prospect of cancer. Avoid alarmism, and fussy concern over all the simple ills that are the lot of children.

Much of the neurosis seen in grownups springs from an overly emotional and overly intense parental concern for the child's well-being.

Prince's Family Name Slips Past Hotel Clerks

By EARL WILSON

MONTE CARLO — President Eisenhower is doubtless very important in the United States, but the Prince and Princess outranked him here and the only publicity he got was when somebody said, "Oh, there goes Conrad Hilton, Ike's representative."

★ ★ ★ ★

When Prince Rainier and New York detective Frank Cresci went from Palm Beach to Miami and Sarasota a few months ago, they were incognito and made reservations under the name of "Cresci and Grimaldi"—the latter being the Prince's family name.

At the Ringling Hotel in Sarasota, so the tale goes, the clerks upon studying the names of "Cresci and Grimaldi" said:

"That must be one of Johnny North's new Italian acrobatic acts."

"This wedding," observed one cynical America, "will set the U.S. back $150,000,000 in foreign aid."

You appreciate American reporters when you watch the foreign boys writing fiction as news. A reporter for the Istanbul Express told a flock of London newsmen how Jack Kelly had won heavily at the gambling casino and given the bartender "a $5 tip to show how rich he is." The Londoners copied it all down avidly. Actually Jack Kelly and his wife Margaret had gone to bed early—staying away from the casino.

MRS. KELLY

Actress Rita Gam's honeymooning bridegroom, Thomas Guinzberg of the Viking Press family, was discussing his Monte Carlo gambling luck with his bride. "We took quite a lot of money out of there," he said—but Rita doubted that it was quite a lot. "Three hundred bucks is a lot to take out of any gambling casino," he maintained happily.

The French have never quite understood the game of dice. A French woman told me she spent an evening "playing scraps." Gently I corrected her, saying she'd been "shooting craps." She thanked me, saying, "Oui, oui, I was shooting scraps."

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

EARL'S PEARLS . . . A modern employe is one who wants a job with the responsibility of an office boy, the hours of a retired worker and the salary of an executive.—Albert Levenson, Medford, Mass.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: A Broadwayite explains that his girl friend's measurements are 36-26-36-26. She has very thick ankles.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: "Hollywood's divided into two classes those who own swimming pools and those who can't keep their heads above water." Art Moger, Boston.

Jack Paar claims that Grace Kelly's poodle, Oliver, was originally named Prince—but she changed it for sentimental reasons.—That's earl, brother.

Israeli Says Danger Exists in Holy Land

FLINT (AP) — A member of the Israeli Parliament maintains that "explosive factors still endanger" peace despite the present cease-fire in the Middle East.

Itzhak Ben-Aharon says Arab pledges cannot be taken seriously.

Ben-Aharon addressed more than 300 Jewish community leaders at Flint yesterday in an emergency regional conference of the United Jewish Appeal.

The present cease-fire is no victory at all for either Israel or the United Nations, he said.

The conference was called to speed support of the organization's drive to finance rehabilitation in Israel. More than $55,000 was raised at the meeting.

2-Nation Search Begun for 'Lost' Society Couple

BOSTON (AP) — A ...ion search was in progress for a prominent Philadelphi... ...ston society couple, long unreported in Mexico.

* * *

ONLY A LETTER

Mrs. Whiteney said her daughter and son-in-law left for Mexico two years ago to make up a tour for a travel agency and have not been heard from for a year and a half. With them was their son Christopher, who would be 3 now.

Mrs. Whitney said the last word she received from the couple was a letter 18 months ago from Cuernavaca, Mexico.

The FBI said today the hunt was touched off when the automobile of Mr. and Mrs. Page was found abandoned a few days ago in Cuenavaca, a resort town 50 miles south of Mexico City.

Stevensville Resident in Fatal Dixie Wreck

PACHUTA, Miss. (AP) — Weldon English of Stevensville, Mich., was fatally injured Saturday in a two-truck collision on U.S. 11 two miles north of Pachuta.

Ernest McKim of Birmingham, Ala., the driver of the other truck, was not seriously injured.

Police said English's truck rammed into the rear of McKim's truck and burst into flames. Flames prevented McKim and another truck driver from reaching English.

Veterans Facing Pension Change

Proposal by President Will Alter Benefit Plan for 22 Million

WASHINGTON (AP) — Veterans' pensions would be tied in with social security payments and gradually eliminated under a proposal offered yesterday by President Eisenhower's Commission on Veterans' Benefits.

* * *

The proposal was one of 70 made to the President in a lengthy report which, if adopted, would greatly change the benefit program now covering the nation's 22 million veterans.

* * *

The recommended changes involve GI insurance, disability compensation, survivor benefits, widows' pensions, readjustment benefits, Veterans Administration structure, discharge benefits, GI loan privileges and servicemen's benefits.

BRADLEY HEADS GROUP

The commission was headed by retired Gen. Omar N. Bradley and spent more than a year studying the veterans' program. Bradley formerly headed the VA.

The report did little to chart the actual impact of the recommendations it contained, but the proposals apparently would lower or cut out many of the payments now being made to veterans, servicemen and survivors.

The recommendation to tie in veteran's pensions with social security, for example, would reduce some pensions since more than half of the 700,000 pensioned veterans are drawing social security payments. These, under the commission's recommendation, would be deducted from pension payments. Maximum combined payments would be $70 a month for a single veteran or $105 a month for one with a dependent wife.

* * *

The proposals are bound to stir up controversy because they conflict sharply with the benefit programs advocated by various veterans' organizations.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The organ played the traditional wedding tunes. A church packed with guests craned their necks for the bride to walk down the aisle.

The groom fidgeted.

* * *

The Rev. James Inglis, there with book open, was ready to marry his son, Robert Inglis, 24, and Miss June Wilson, 19.

It would have been a beautiful wedding but for one thing. The bride never showed.

The bride's mother explained: "She was scared. The wedding's been called off indefinitely."

The mother said that her daughter was home in bed.

"She almost had a nervous breakdown. And I'm pretty sick myself," the almost mother-in-law added.

Enters Guilty Plea to Lesser Charge

One of two Pontiac men who stood mute last Nov. 14 on charges of feloniously assaulting two other men with a stick agreed to plead guilty to assault and battery today.

He is Wilmer Brown, of no fixed address, who was accused of the felony with Herbert Ransom, address not given. No sentence date for Brown was set. Ransom's plea of mute continues.

Hollywood Headlines:

'There's Nothing Wrong With Marilyn's Lungs'

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD (INS)—The London Press is trying to picture Marilyn Monroe as Camille, clad in a beautiful white robe, reclining on a couch, dying of tuberculosis. However, according to R. Nathan Headley, Marilyn's physician, she doesn't have tuberculosis, she just has a nasty cough which is slow to respond to treatment.

The London paper called the press department at 20th Century-Fox to ask for X-rays of Marilyn's lungs so that they could print them and prove their point. Naturally, such is not forthcoming.

Dr. Headley says Marilyn will not be well enough to return to work Monday for "Bus Stop." But he hopes to have her on the set sometime next week. After tomorrow the picture must close down.

I've got news for all those who are depending on Anita Ekberg's measurements as an attraction. Anita is not going to get fat. She's dieting—and why shouldn't she?

She told me she will probably marry Anthony Steele in Florence in about two weeks, or possibly sooner. She finishes "Back From Eternity" on Tuesday and meets her bridegroom-to-be in Florence, where he's making a picture.

"I have only two weeks," said Anita sadly, "and then I have to be back for the Martin and Lewis picture 'Hollywood or Bust'."

I spent a delightful afternoon with Anita on the "Back From Eternity" set and watched her emote and saw a few scenes of John Farrow's picture which, believe me, is filled with suspense and drama.

'I USED IT BEFORE'

The Lanvin representative, E. Cournand, telephoned from New York that he had brought me a replica of the bottle of perfume that had been presented to Grace Kelly with her crest by the Lanvin Co. Monsieur Cournand was at all the wedding festivities.

Lanvin is related to Princess Antoinette, Prince Rainer's mother, so they have been named purveyors to her serene highness.

It's my favorite arpege that was Grace's wedding gift. I've worn it for 20 years.

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD: The twosome of the week, Tab Hunter and Linda Darnell at the interlude.

Mrs. Cary Grant (Betsy Drake) flew out Saturday to catch a boat for Spain. She will join Cary, who has 103 shooting days on "The Proud and the Profane."

All Barbara Rush's best clothes were borrowed without permission by her sister Ramona, who left Wednesday with their mother for a six weeks trip to visit relatives in Norway.

Part of Connie Bennett's routine when she opens at the Hotel Pierre in New York will be to rib her long ago feud with her sister Joan. Even I'd forgotten that one.

Yul Brynner left Cedars of Lebanon Hospital today but he has to take his trip to Europe in slow stages, spending the night in Chicago, resting in New York and Paris before going to London for "Anastasia."

The 25 Korean orphans brought here for "Battle Hymn" were put on the boat for home Friday by Ross Hunter with clothes, money and many gifts. They love America, poor tots, and hated to leave.

Nancy Sinatra gave the William Perlbergs a farewell dinner Saturday night. They left today, and sail for Europe on the SS United States on the 25th.

Mrs. U.S. Navy, '56 Sought by Reserve

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—The Fleet Reserve Assn. is launching a contest to find "Mrs. U.S. Navy of 1956."

* * *

The contest is open to wives of enlisted men. Each of 34 naval stations will select its representative for the finals here Sept. 15. Each contestant must write an essay on "Why I am proud to be a Navy wife."

The winner will be given $2,500 and a trip to Hawaii and several American cities. The association in its weekend announcement said Navy Secretary Charles S. Thomas has approved of the contest.

Patients to Display Ceramic Handiwork

A tea and ceramic sale will be held at the Oakland County Infirmary on Telegraph Road starting at 1:30 p.m. Wednesday.

* * *

The event under the sponsorship of the Social Service department of Christ Church Cranbrook, Bloomfield Hills, will feature ceramic work done by the patients during the past year.

* * *

Co-chairmen of the affair are Mrs. Franklyn MsDonald and Mrs. Gordon Daugharty both of Christ Church. Teacher of the ceramic class is Mrs. Adele Davis.

* * *

The general public has been invited to see the selection of handcraft work for sale. Patients, in addition to the ceramic work, sell aprons and rugs they weave.

Quiz Ex-Detroiter in Double Slayings

MIAMI (INS) — Arthur D. Rogers, 23-year-old former Detroiter sought for questioning in the slaying of an 87-year-old widow and her eccentric son, was held in Miami today.

Florida police said Rogers is a suspect in the slaying of Mrs. Ada K. Williams and her son, Alfred, 66, on Nov. 30.

The widow and her heir to a $5 million fortune were clubbed to death in their Detroit home. Police theorize they were killed by a burglar.

Rogers' name was injected into the case by two youths who were arrested when they broke into a school last December.

The boys told police Rogers was at a party with them behind the Williams home. "He disappeared for about three hours," they said, "then returned acting funny."

Fine City Man Guilty of Assault With Knife

Charged with assaulting another Pontiac man with a knife last Dec. 30, Johnathan P. Messer of 34 Bellevue Ave. was found guilty Friday by a circuit court jury.

No date for Messer's sentencing by Judge Frank L. Doty was immediately set.

THE POWERHOUSE

By Jimmy Powers

Across the Tappan Zee Bridge, past Nyack and through the snowy Catskills, your gypsy reporter went tooling along to Syracuse where he ran into sun-tanned Carmen Basilio.

★ ★ ★ ★

"Isn't that new Thruway a remarkable piece of engineering?" asked the former world champ. "There's only one big problem they haven't been able to lick—the slaughter of so many deer.

"I'm a hunter. I like Florida. I like the hot sun, and the sea, and I had a good time yanking fish out of the bay. But this is God's country for year-round living, even if the winters are long.

"There's 23 inches of ice on Oneida Lake. Last year, this time, it had disappeared all together. I like rabbit-hunting and, even on days when game is scarce, I get a kick out of tramping through the woods and open fields sniffing that wonderful air sifted through acres of pine trees.

★ ★ ★ ★

"They had a story down there I was going to move to Florida. Nothing to it. I'll never leave New York state. It has too much to offer."

Basilio is philosophic about the decision that went against him in the Johnny Saxton fight in Chicago.

"He ran like a thief all through the fight. I hit him some good crunching shots in the belly in every round. They seemed to give him a basketful of points for escaping my leads, and me nothing for thumping body blows. He'd stick-and-run, stick-and-run all night.

"How can you deal a really damaging blow if your body is flying desperately in one direction and you're trying to move leather in the other? They've got to be no account taps. Yet, that won him the world title on the cards that count. I appreciate all the writers who scored me the winner. I just wish they were in there as officials."

OCSC Girls Win Rifle Title

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Grand Rapids, Pontiac and Grand Haven produced regional champions Saturday at the sectional matches of the Junior National Rifle Tournament at the University of Michigan range.

* * *

Grand Haven High School's four man team won the scholastic team title firing a 725 out of a possible 800.

It was the 7th regional title in nine years for the high school marksmen.

Grand Rapids' Kent League No. 1 team won the non-scholastic team title with a 743 out of a possible 800. Kent League No. 1 is the National Defending Champion in its class.

Blanche Wilson girls of Pontiac captured the girls team title with a 738x800. Team is composed of Nancy Newman (193), Margaret Cappel (189), Janie Martini (189) and Nancy Johnson (167).

Paul Gogulski, 18, of Grand Rapids fired a 191 out of a possible 200 to take the individual title; Margaret Cappel, 16, won the girls individual title with a 187x200, and Ned Neilson, 13, of Grand Rapids won the sub-junior boys title firing a 179x200.

The scores will be entered in competition with winners of some 55 regional tournaments for the national titles.

Area Skaters Pass Difficult Dance Tests

A half dozen young devotees of the whirling wooden wheels skated off some difficult dance tests Sunday at Rooladium. The dance tests followed Saturday's 4th period final races at the roller rink.

Of the seven major relays on the program, Manhattan, Villanova and Yale each won two. New York University won the other.

Fine Hurling Marks 'Double' for PHS Nine

Heikkinen's Club Is Winner of Tilts at Port Huron

Two shining mound jobs Saturday afternoon at Port Huron gave Ed Heikkinen's Pontiac High School baseball club its 2nd and 3rd wins of the season. Victories moved Chiefs into the "black ink" of the ledger, leaving their status at 3-2.

Jim Jones hurled a brilliant one-hitter to blank the Big Reds 3-0 in the first game. Only hit of the contest for Port Huron was Dick Turner's single in the 6th. Turner is Red's fine right-hander who was touched for seven safeties.

In the afterpiece Arnold Larson fired a 7-hitter at Port Huron to win 5-4. Chiefs collected nine hits off Dennis Barth and Gary Smith.

Jones' near-no-hit-no-run effort was a smooth job. He was on top the batsmen practically all the way. Excellent play afield was an important factor on the win. PHS making only one error.

Clay Williams scored Chiefs' 1st run in the opener. Jones and Williams counted in the 2nd.

Pontiac led early in the 'cap, but the Hurons tied it up in the 3rd. Chiefs collected the winner in the 4th when Williams counted on a double play try.

Indicating the good job the PHS hurlers turned in is the mark of 16 strikeouts, one walk by Jones, and 10 SO's for Larson. Larson also retired the last 10 batters to face him.

Johnson was Chiefs big artillery with two doubles and three singles. McIlrath had 3 in 4 trips.

Bottle Barrage

Giant Outfielder Raps Philly Baseball Fans

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Philadelphia lost the Athletics last year and the city's fans don't deserve to have the Philadelphia Phillies either, according to New York Giants outfielder Whitey Lockman.

Lockman, the object of a beer can and bottle barrage in the ninth inning of yesterday's second game, said "I wish you'd put this in the paper. The Philadelphia fans are the worst in the world. They don't deserve major league baseball."

The barrage, the third in the past two years by Phils' patrons, broke out as the Phils were coming to bat for the last time, trailing 9-4. Lockman left the outfield to exchange his regular cap for a solid protective helmet.

* * *

The reason for the outbreak was unknown but apparently some of the fans were furious over the Phils' poor showing in the game, which they eventually lost 9-7.

Lockman, the vent for their rage, said, "I wouldn't mind getting hit by a regular bottle. But when they break the tops off and throw them at you, that's too much."

Giant Manager Bill Rigney said he was sending a letter of protest to National League President Warren Giles over the fans' behavior.

Phillies officials were apologetic.

Director of Promotions Frank Powell said "There's only one thing we can do—call in the police."

And police were summoned from the street to augment the regular park force as the bottles and cans started littering the left-field area.

Those fans who threw the beer cans apparently brought them into the park. The Phils sell no beer at Connie Mack Stadium.

Legislation is pending before the Pennsylvania General Assembly to permit sale of beer in the Pittsburgh Pirates' and Phils' playing fields. Club officials say that if the legislation passes, the beer will be dispensed in paper cups only.

Chiefs Capture Ohio Relays on 1st Try

BY H. GUY MOATS
Pontiac Press Special Writer

MANSFIELD, OHIO—In its first Mansfield prep relays visit here, Pontiac High School track stalwarts Saturday became the 1st invader from outside Ohio to capture top honors.

Those brilliant young athletes who are Michigan's defending state champions, compiled their meet winning total of 34½ points on two first places, four seconds, tie for 3rd, a 3rd and a 5th place.

They battled a heavy, gusty wind and cold, and during late afternoon, a chill rain, plus a determined Mt. Lebanon, Pa., team that hung in the competition until the 13th event. At that time the Pennsylvanians came within a half point of knotting the total (18½-18) with Pontiac.

But victory in the high hurdles, and the broad jump boosted the Chiefs' total out of reach of the field of 96 other teams.

Mt. Lebanon was second with 24; Ohio Lakewood 22; Cleveland John Rhodes 19; Akron North 17½; Pittsburgh (Pa.) Cath. Central 17; Cleveland John Adams 13; Flint Northern 11; Springfield 10; Shaker Heights, Cleveland 10.

Victory for Coach Wally Schloerke's crew was paced by the sensational performances of Hayes Jones. Jones collected 16 points, almost half of the PHS total. He would have had 18 but for a mishap in the finals of the 180 yard low hurdles.

Leading the field of six finalists and running on the inside of the track, Hayes was thrown off stride after skimming the last barrier. He almost fell, but recovered his balance to finish inches back of Dick Saffron of Cleveland Rhodes.

Too eager spectators crowded Jones as he topped the hurdle. His lead was a good three yards and in all probability he could have hung up a new record. In his preliminary Hayes hit 19.4, to equal the record.

The polished Jones first took the limelight when he clipped the 120 yard high sticks in 14.8 seconds, and his stature grew as he took the broad jump with a 22 foot 11 inch effort.

Hayes' total was the meet's individual best.

Pontiac's four 2nd places were fine efforts. Bill Douglas finished on the heels of the winner in the 880, after a splendidly run race. He was caught in 2:03. Both Chiefs' relay teams either equalled or broke the meet record, but still finished second.

Chiefs' 3:31.3 in the mile relay bettered the record, but a Mt. Lebanon, Pa., quartet was 1.3 seconds faster, a mere step or two. PHS equalled the mark in the half mile relay but was edged at the tape by Lakewood, Ohio, by half a second, in record time of 1:31.0.

Perry Williams came through with a fine race to grab 3rd in the mile against one of the finest young milers this observer has seen in many a moon. Gary Weisiger of Mt. Lebanon barrelled around the track for a record 4:29.5.

Hud Ray set a new PHS high jump mark with his 6-4½ leap for a 3rd place tie. Little Alex Barge whose jumping is really sensational, went out at 6-2, a very respectable effort. Winner was Howard Nourse of Springfield, Ohio, with a meet record 6-6½ jump.

Freeman Watkins came through with fine 5th in finals of the century, against very tough competition.

* * *

Chiefs' relay teams, in order of running — half mile — Watkins, Charley Robinson, Jimmy Shorter and Charley Spann; mile — Archie Brooks, Robinson, Spann and Shorter. The medley team did not place.

Flint Northern's shuttle relay team won its event, with Cleve Harrington, Len McGee, Reg Gillard and Jim Moore. The time, 59.6 seconds, is a new record. Bill Wyatt of Inkster was 5th in the 440; Chuck Kiser 4th in the 220 and Chuck Calloway 4th in the 100. Berkley's Jerry Myer was 4th in 5th in low hurdles and Monroe was 4th in the medley relay.

Pontiac brought back four beautiful trophies and 15 medals.

* * *

The 3-foot high championship trophy will be displayed Tuesday at the Furtney Drug store near Eastern Junior High. Dick Furtney took a carload of trackmen in his car to the meet. Other trophies to be placed in the school's collection included the 1st place award and trophies for most track points and for most field points.

Coaches Schloerke, Ray Lawery and Dean Wilson were delighted with the squad's performance. Principal Francis Staley, who went along, got a big kick out of the meet and the work of the PHS team.

Chiefs go to Central Michigan College Saturday for the annual outdoor meet in which they are defending champs. A full squad of 35 will make the trip. Other tests in the immediate future are the dual May 1, with Northern; Saginaw Valley, May 4; MHSAA regionals, May 12 and the state championship, May 19. Chiefs are defending titlist in SVC and state.

Here are the events in which the flying Chiefs compiled their winning total:

100 yard dash—Freeman Watkins, 5th (won his heat at 10.7). Winner, Ed Adams, Akron North, Ohio. Time 10.4 seconds.
120 yard high hurdles—Won by Hayes Jones. Time 14.8 (won his preliminary at 14.8, going away).
Mile run—Perry Williams 3rd. Time 4:46 (his best time of year). Won by Gary Weisiger, Mount Lebanon, Pa. Time 4:29.5 (new record).
Half mile run—Bill Douglas. Time 2:03 for 2nd place. Event won by Pat Murphy, Pittsburgh Cath. Central. Time 1:59.
180 yard low hurdles—Hayes Jones, 2nd. Time, 19.5 (ran 19.4—equals record to win his preliminary heat). Winner, Dick Safran, Cleveland James Ford Rhodes. Time 19.3.
High jump—Hudson Ray tied 3rd at 6 feet 4⅝ (new PHS record). Winner Howard Nourse, Springfield, Ohio. Height 6 feet 6¼ (new record).
Half mile relay—Pontiac 2nd place. Time 1:31.5 equaled meet and PHS record. Winner Cleveland Lakewood. Time 1:31 (new record).
Mile relay—Pontiac 2nd. Time 3:31.3 (betters meet record). Winner, Mount Lebanon, Pa. Time 3:30 (new record).

Yankees Cool Off Red Sox With 3 Straight

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Robin Roberts to win 20 games is as close to a sure thing as you get in baseball. After one week of the 1956 season, Mr. Roberts has a head start toward a seventh straight year in the select circle.

The ace of the Philadelphia Phillies insists he never sets a goal but just does his best for the good of the ball club.

Roberts doesn't put too much stock in low-hitters. With him a "winning game" in which he gives nine hits is a better job than a lost one-hitter.

The first two starts for Roberts in the new season illustrate the point. He barely staggered through against Brooklyn opening day, yet he won it. In yesterday's first game at Philadelphia, he needed a tight effort to beat Johnny Antonelli's three-hitter. Roberts gave the New York Giants five hits but Antonelli threw one bad pitch—a three-run homer by Ted Kazanski—and the Phils won 3-1.

The Giants climbed on Curt Simmons, making his first start, and batted out a 9-7 edge in the second game. It was a disappointing effort by Simmons, who is trying to make a comeback after a season of arm trouble. Willie Mays hit a three-run homer off reliefer Bob Miller in the ninth.

* * *

Don Newcombe got on the beam with a three-hitter as Brooklyn downed Pittsburgh 4-1 in a game called by rain in the seventh. Milwaukee remained in the National League lead by slugging St. Louis 13-5 in the second game after St. Louis took the first 10-4 on an eight-run sixth-inning.

The New York Yankees cooled off the Boston Red Sox, taking three in a row at Yankee Stadium to tighten their grip on the American League lead. Five Red Sox errors and homers by Don Larsen, Yogi Berra and Joe Collins added up to a 13-6 Yankee victory although Boston overcome an early lead to tie at 6-6 at the end of the sixth.

* * *

Billy Pierce of Chicago shut out Kansas City with three hits, 3-0, in a quick turnabout by the White Sox, who were slugged 15-1 by the A's on Saturday.

That line about Lemon pitching his first complete game in almost a year sounds like a mistake, but a check of the records shows it is correct, the once-great right-hander of Cleveland threw only five complete games in 31 starts last season, although he wound up with an 16-10 record. These figures only emphasize again the importance of the relief work of Don Mossi and Ray Narleski during the second half of the '55 season.

In the American, Mickey Mantle continued his slugging with a two-run double that boosted his runs-batted-in total to 13, just one ahead of teammate Berra. Kaline, the 1955 batting king who has been in a slump, broke out of it with a pair of homers, and Pierce won his second straight.

Calvin, Kazoo Split

KALAMAZOO (AP) — Calvin College and Kalamazoo College split a doubleheader Saturday. Calvin won the second game 14-1 after dropping the opener 13-3.

St. Fred Nine Bows, 9-5

St. Frederick's baseball team dropped its 2nd start of the season Sunday at Center Line, bowing to St. Clements, 9-5, in a Suburban Catholic League game.

St. Clement garnered nine hits off the combined offerings of Dick Doyon and Ed Kast and scored two runs in the 1st inning, two in the 3rd, three in the 4th, and one each in the 5th and 6th. Richards and Binekowski made two hits apiece for the winners.

The Rams could muster only four safeties off the slants of Wanannen, one a bases-loaded triple by Paul Caghy in the 4th inning. Kast with two safe blows and Doyon's lone hit completed St. Fred's offensive punch.

St. Fred's golf team won its 2nd match over the weekend, defeating Bloomfield Hills at Stoneycroft, 297-338.

Secrets of Better Golf

By Patty Berg

The average player will use a full 8-iron shot when approximately 120 yards from the green. When accurately played an 8-iron is a good scoring club for the player who is not a particularly long hitter.

With this shot, you should be able to nestle the ball up as close as possible to the hole, thus canceling or equalizing your opponent's long drive. Your proficiency with an 8-iron has a great deal to do with the number of putts necessary for you to get the ball in the hole.

Basically, your stance is the same as for your other shots, except that this stance is open. The short irons, such as the 8-iron we are discussing, require accuracy rather than distance. Opening your stance gives you a more complete view of your target.

Since this shot does not require as much pivot or body action, your feet will be closer together at the address. Draw the left foot back slightly from the line of flight and distribute your weight evenly over both feet.

You will be standing closer to the ball in this shot due to the shorter shaft in the club.

I use the same grip as described in the driver series—overlapping. The hands are close in toward the body at the address and should be slightly ahead of the ball. Avoid a loose grip, for the shock of hitting an iron is greater than in the case of a wood.

The ball should be played off the heel of the right foot and your knees should be flexed.

At the address you will probably have the feeling of being over the ball more than with your longer clubs. This is due to the shorter length of the shaft. However, do not make a point of leaning over the ball. If you do you will lose your balance and shank the ball.

The distance between you and the ball should allow you to maintain your balance throughout the swing.

Two Auto Racers Die

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Two well-known auto racers died violent deaths yesterday in separate races in California.

Walt Faulkner of Long Beach, Calif., was crushed to death when his 1956 Ford went out of control in a qualifying trial at the West Coast Speedway at Vallejo and rolled over several times. Promoter Fred Agajanian said Faulkner was thrown partially out of the car because his waist belt held but his shoulder strap snapped.

* * *

Ernie McAfee 37, of Beverly Hills, Calif., died instantly when his powerful Ferrari crashed into a tree at 75 miles per hour on a sharp hairpin turn in the first fatal accident in seven years of road racing in the National Sports Car Races at Pebble Beach.

* * *

Officials said his brakes locked. His Ferrari fishtailed at high speed, sped off the road and demolished itself against a tree.

Driver George Amick of Los Angeles was injured and knocked out of the 500-mile Indianapolis classic Memorial Day when his 1956 Ford also sped out of control at Vallejo and rolled over several times. All of his harness straps held. He suffered a broken left wrist and possible concussion.

Faulkner like Amick had planned to compete at Indianapolis. He had been racing since 1938 and has driven in four Indianapolis races, finishing fifth in 1955. He was third in the 1952 Mexican road race and placed second the next three years.

* * *

Troy Ruttman of Fresno, who lapped the field, won the 100-lap Vallejo race on a ⅝-mile graded clay track in 47 minutes, 39.75 seconds. Les Snow, Bloomington, Ind. was second and Marshall Teague, Daytona Beach, Fla. third. All drove 1956 Chevrolets.

* * *

At Pebble Beach, Carroll Shelby, of Dallas won the Del Monte Trophy event for modified cars of over 1500 CC. He averaged 71.74 M.P.H. for 100 miles over twisting, narrow roads. Phil Hill of Santa Monica, Calif. was second and Jack McAfee was third. All drove Ferraris.

Lose 5-1

Cranes Dropped at Flint

Cranbrook's seven errors and effective seven-hit pitching by Flint Northern's Bob Starr proved too much for the Cranes as they dropped a 5-1 decision to the Vikings at Flint Saturday.

Three runs in the 1st inning on four errors and a wind-blown double by catcher Al Miller wrapped up the verdict for Norther. It was the Flint nine's 11th straight victory and 4th this season.

Bob Pearson and Dave Cooper collected three hits each for the Cranes. Dave Campbell started on the mound for Cranbrook and was tagged with the loss. Bruce Richards came on in the 5th to finish for the Cranes, whose season mark now stands at 2-3.

Tiger Bats Sing in Split With Tribe

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Manager Bucky Harris of the Detroit Tigers has elected to pitch Paul Foytack, a 25-year-old fast-baller, against the Kansas City athletic tonight.

Harris would like to dredge up a starting pitcher from his wealth of second-line men, and if Foytack has conquered his wildness he could be the man.

Besides, neither Virgi Trucks nor Billy Hoeft, who have been bothered by sore arms, are yet ready to take on starting assignments as first-liners. Nor does Harris want to push too early the veterans Steve Gromek or Ned Garver.

Foytack walked 36 men in relief stints in 22 games with Detroit last season, and as a result his earned run average ballooned to 5.22. He won none; lost one.

* * *

Harris saw some superb performances from second-liners yesterday as the Tigers split a double header with the Indians at Cleveland, 6-4 and 2-5.

Bud Black hurled four scoreless innings, allowing only two scratch singles, in the 1st game. Pete Wojey, acquired from the Brooklyn Dodger chain via the draft, toiled in both games and gave up only one run on two infield hits in four innings.

Black got credit for the 1st game. The run Wojey yielded, as it turned out, didn't hurt the Tigers' cause in the second game.

The standoff gave the Tigers a 2-2 record for their four - game series with the Indians. And the result left Cleveland Detroit tied for 6th place in the American League with 2-4 marks.

Detroit, outhit only by the Chicago White Sox in last season's campaign, finally got its home-run bats working in unison yesterday.

Al Kaline clobbered Bob Feller and Ray Narleski for two two-run homers in the first game. Wayne Belardi, who pinch-hit for Wojey in the 6th, also hit for the Circuit. So did Harvey Kuenn—right behind Kaline's first homer, which made three round-trippers for Detroit in the 6th.

* * *

Hits were 10-apiece in the first game. In the second Detroit outhit the Tribe, 9-7, but four double plays kept winner Bob Lemon out of serious trouble.

Ray Boone got his first home run in the 1956 campaign in the 9th of the nightcap. Detroit's only other 2nd-game run came in the 1st when Bill Tuttle and Earl Torgeson drilled singles, with Tuttle taking 3rd on Torgeson's. Kaline slammed into a double play, but Tuttle scored.

Belardi, who pinch hit for starter Dick Marlowe in the 5th of the second game, got a single to give him a two-for-two batting mark for the day. He was left stranded the second time.

Bases on balls proved Marlowe's undoing. He gave up five in all, one right ahead of a home run ball he served ex-Detroiter Vic Werts in the 1st inning. The Tribe never was headed after Wertz's smash and Marlowe was charged with the loss.

Narleski was the first game loser.

Hoeft gave his ailing left arm a gingerly workout in pitching the 9th inning of the second game and set the Indians down in order.

Young Reno Bertoia handled 11 chances afield perfectly, participating in one of Detroit's two double plays in the first game, but at bat he went 0 for 8 and his batting average dropped to a mere .136.

The throw to third came from Bill Tuttle after Gene Woodling's single. Umpire is John Rice. The Tigers won the first game of the doubleheader, 6-4.

Brown Family Dominates Big Skeet Tourney

They really "did it up brown" Sunday at the 3rd annual OCSC Oakland Open Skeet Tourney at Waterford. This is a literal statement.

UM Scrimmages

Kramer Scores Six TD's

ANN ARBOR (AP)— Converted right halfback Ron Kramer scored six touchdowns Saturday in the University of Michigan's first full offensive scrimmage of spring practice.

Kramer, a star end last season, scored on runs ranging from 8 to 90 yards. On one 50-yard run, he got a key block from Tom Maentz, with whom he teamed at end in 1955.

Fourteen touchdowns were scored by the varsity in the heavy workout.

* * *

John Herrnstein, ranked as the No. 1 fullback candidate did not participate in the scrimmage. He is suffering from an ankle injury.

Defensive opposition was provided by reserves and sophomore players.

Head Man Entrains for Derby After Default Win

NEW YORK (AP)—Head Man entrained today for Louisville and the Kentucky Derby after capturing the Wood Memorial by default on an afternoon that most of the Derby candidates "should of stood in bed." All except No Regrets, winner of the California Derby, perhaps.

* * *

The grey colt, Head Man, owned by C. V. Whitney will join Career Boy, another big Whitney Derby threat, the D.&H. Stable's Needles, current favorite for the May 5 classic, Calumet's pair of Fabius and Pintor Lea, and assorted others already down in the Blue Grass country.

* * *

The Wood at Jamaica, and the Chesapeake at Laurel, Md., often are termed stepping stones to the classics, but there was plenty of stumbling about Saturday. It was altogether an unsatisfactory day for trying to piece together a Derby pattern as far as Eastern horses were concerned.

Out on the West Coast, however, it was a different story. W. E. Britt's No Regrets ran a powerful mile and one-eighth in the $35,000 added California Derby at Tanforan and earned a trip to the Derby. He'll head for Louisville Tuesday. A decision still is to be made on George Lewis' Lucky G. L., who was beaten a nose by No Regrets.

Golf Ace, a "mental case" according to his trainer, finished first in the $61,000 Wood Memorial Saturday, beating Head Man to the wire by 2½ lengths, but was disqualified for fouling.

* * *

At Laurel, the 99-1 shot Frosty Mr. who like Golf Ace wasn't nominated for the $125,000-added Derby, ran off with the $20,000 Chesapeake Stakes. Mrs. Cecil B. Fischbach's colt chilled a field that included four Derby eligibles. Another non-Derby colt, Kingmaker, was second, while Born Mighty, who could have made it a triple Whitney entry at Louisville with Career Boy and Head Man, finished third.

OL Wins 4th Straight Meet

Eaglet Thinclads Trim Monroe CC in Taking 11 of 13 Events

Winning 11 of 13 events, Orchard Lake St. Mary's track team raced to its 4th straight victory Sunday at Monroe with an 85 2/7 to 23 5/7 triumph over Monroe Catholic Central.

* * *

Gerry Leszczynski won three events and placed in another to score 18 points for the Eaglets. He captured the shot put and the 100 and 220 dashes and took 2nd in the broad jump.

Stan Majewski and Pete Madelans followed with 14 points apiece. Majewski won the broad jump and 180-yard low hurdles and tied with Madelans for victory in the 120-yard high hurdles. Madelans won the high jump, tied for 2nd in the pole vault and finished 2nd in the 180 lows.

Catholic Central managed to win only the mile and 880-yard relay and a disqualification prevented the Eaglets from winning the latter. Central was shut out in four events—the broad jump, shot put, and both hurdles.

The Eaglet thinclads will meet Waterford and Southfield in a triangular meet Thursday at Orchard Lake.

Patty Leading Money Winner

DALLAS (AP)—Patty Berg, the sturdy veteran from St. Andrews, Ill., had her first tournament victory of the year and was leading the money winners as the women's golf tour moved on to Spartanburg, S.C., today.

* * *

Miss Berg won a playoff over Betsy Rawls of Spartanburg and Marlene Bauer Hagge of Asheville, N.C., yesterday to win first money of $1,350 in the $7,500 Dallas Women's Open. They had tied over the 72-hole route with 291. On the first extra hole Miss Berg sent a 10-foot putt down while Miss Rawls and Mrs. Hagge missed theirs.

* * *

The next tournament is the Peach Blossom Open at Spartanburg and Miss Berg will step to the tee as leading money-winner of the year with slightly more than $6,000. She replaced Louise Suggs of Sea Island, Ga., in the money-winning race.

Miss Rawls and Mrs. Hagge each won $855. Winding up in a tie for fourth with Mickey Wright of San Diego, Calif., was Miss Suggs. Each had 295.

Miss Rawls had the day's best score — a two-under-par 69—to forge into the first-place tie. Miss Berg shot a 70 over the 6,218-yard Glen Lakes course and so did Mrs. Hagge.

Numerous Records Broken at Kansas

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP) — Eight meet of stadium records—nine if you include a special high school event—were bettered and another tied in the 31st Kansas Relays, but the big attraction was the world's two greatest shotput men, Parry O'Brien and Bill Nieder.

More than 3,500 turned out early Saturday morning to watch O'Brien, of Southern California and Travis (Calif.) Air Force Base fame, and Kansas' Nieder begin their preliminary throws in the shot. O'Brien, whose official world record is 60 feet, 10 inches had the best put—60-2½.

* * *

Nieder, however, was credited with a new KU Relays record of 59-7⅞. The event was a closed affair, O'Brien participating as an added attraction. The two great athletes, only men who have ever beaten 60 feet, will meet again at the Drake Relays this weekend.

Racing in Illinois

CHICAGO (INS) — Thoroughbred racing returns to Illinois today when Sportsman's Park launches its Silver Anniversary season.

Besides the featured $10,000 inaugural handicap, the 10,000 expected fans will see for the first time, the many improvements the management has made in the racing plant.

Florida Closes Richest Season at Race Tracks

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Florida's richest and most thrilling thoroughbred racing season on record ended Saturday with the $15,000 Hallandale Handicap highlighting the final program at Gulfstream Park.

* * *

All four tracks in the state showed gains in both attendance and pari-mutuel play over previous seasons, with Gulfstream leading with a whopping gain of 17.6 per cent in betting.

* * *

More than two million persons attended the races and poured $176,157,785 through the betting windows.

Vikings Take 11th Place at Hastings

Walled Lake's track team scored 10 points Saturday at Hastings to take 11th place in Class B at the annual Hastings Relays. All of the Vikings' points were tallied in the three relay races.

The team of Jim Wilson, Lowell Martin, Bill Hosley and Jerry Avery took 3rd in the two-mile relay for six points. The foursome of Ed Bode, Dick Barnett, Laurrie Passmore and Dick Woodworth finished 5th in the 880-yard and sprint medley relays for two points apiece.

Mt. Pleasant's thinclads won the Class B title with St. Louis taking 2nd. Reed City was the Class C winner.

Cincinnati's Redlegs set a new team record for home runs in 1955 when they clouted 181 four baggers.

Vossler Misses 1 Foot Putt

Maxwell Wins Hot Springs Tourney

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP)—Billy Maxwell, who was a boy wonder as an amateur, played like an old pro yesterday in winning the $15,000 Hot Springs Open Golf Tournament—his biggest triumph so far.

The 26-year-old Maxwell has been a "promising youngster" for several years on the pro circuit, and he "arrived" yesterday when he birdied the final hole for a 72-hole total of 272 and a one-stroke victory over Ernie Vossler of Fort Worth, Tex., and George Bayer of Cincinnati, Ohio.

* * *

Maxwell, from Odessa, Tex., was a star among a group of stars as a collegian when he played for North Texas State College. He graduated to professional golf after winning the National Amateur at a tender age.

His game had collapsed after early leads in the St. Petersburg, Fla., and Miami Opens during the recent winter tour, and he seemed to think he would never be able to put together four good rounds.

This time he opened with an eight-under-par 64 to take the lead which he held or shared all the way as he followed up with scores of 69, 70 and 69 over the par 36-36—72 layout.

Maxwell started yesterday only a stroke ahead of Bo Wininger of Oklahoma City, the defending champion, and Bayer, the long-knocker, was remarkably steady with three straight 68's and a 69.

* * *

The genial Texan needed a birdie to win on the 510-yard 18th, after Bayer and Vossler had eagled that hole. Maxwell calmly drove his 180-yard second shot to within 15 feet of the hole and he was all smiles when he walked onto the green.

"I never did see that ball," he said. "Believe me, I was happy when I walked up there and saw where it was."

He putted to within about a foot of the hole and tapped it in to take the $2,400 check.

Vossler missed a one-foot putt on No. 17 that would have given him a tie for the top and sent the tournament into a playoff. His 66 still was the best round of the day.

Wininger, troubled by a crick in his neck, shot a 70 and finished fourth at 274. Cary Middlecoff of Dallas, Tex., finished in a tie for fifth with hometown pro Pete Fleming at 277.

Stocks Slowed by Profit-Taking

NEW YORK (AP) — Profit-taking in the early afternoon today cut back early firmness in the stock market.

* * *

Prices were well under their best in most areas of the list, and there were few decisively higher divisions.

Trading was spirited at the opening of the market, and then it slowed. However, the pace was around 2,500,000 shares for the day. That compares with Friday's total of 2,320,000 shares.

* * *

Aluminum shares were quite strong today and showed gains of 1 to around 5 points. Reynolds Metals was the star performer in active dealings.

The steels, motors, coppers and oils were mixed. Railroads and aircrafts were higher. No division was entirely depressed.

* * *

Higher stocks included Bethlehem Steel, Studebaker-Packard, Boeing, Douglas Aircraft, American Telephone, Anaconda Co., Aluminum Ltd., Kaiser Aluminum, Alcoa, Baltimore & Ohio and Texas Co.

* * *

Ford Motor held steady in reporting first quarter earnings equal to $1.37 a share as against $1.93 a year ago.

W. R. Grace and Cosden Petroleum were off between 1 and 2 points as directors agreed to give one and 1/40th shares of Grace for each share of Cosden.

At noon the Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up 60 cents at $189.30. On Friday the average was ahead $1.30 with railroads strong.

Michigan Nearly Has 3rd State University

DETROIT (AP) — Michigan all but has its third state university today.

Gov. Williams signed a bill last night which will make Wayne University a state institution July 1. The signing took place in the school's general library as part of a short ceremony.

The next step in the plan to make the school Wayne State University is the formal approval of the Detroit Board of Education which has operated the school.

The bill provides for a three year transition period, in which the school will be governed by a board of state and city officials, and operated on gradually increasing state appropriations.

* * *

By 1960, the school expects to have a $20,000,000 capital improvement reserve. At this time it will take a position as an independent institution with its own governing board, similar to the University of Michigan and Michigan State University.

Detroit Union Leader Bludgeoned to Death

DETROIT (INS)—Detroit detectives widened their search today for clues to the murderer of a 38-year-old union official found stabbed and beaten to death Sunday in his car.

* * *

Homicide Detective Walter Stapleton said Lemuel (Larry) Wilkinson was described by his wife, Barbara, as "a heavy gambler who had run up a lot of debts."

Wilkinson was financial secretary of the Dearborn Specialties Foundry Unit of Local 600, UAW.

He was killed by blows with an iron pipe and 11 ice pick stab wounds in his chest. He was discovered by a passerby behind the Brewster housing project.

* * *

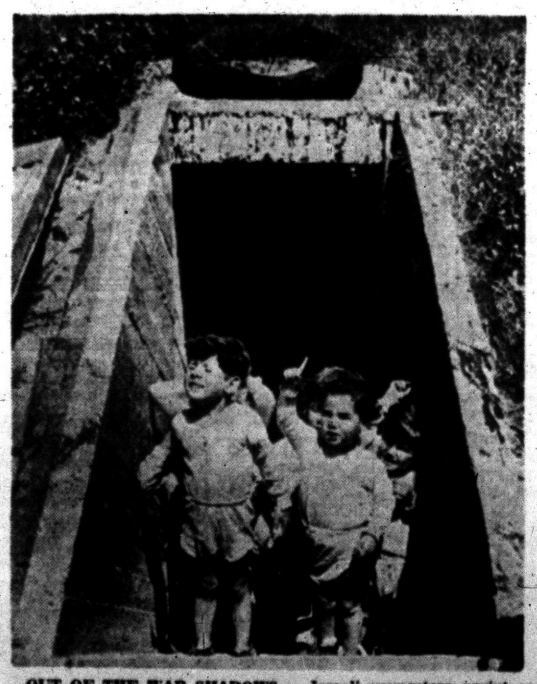

Detectives said they were spreading out to check Wilkinson's gambling and union acquaintances to dig up clues.

Week-Long Air Search for Pollocks Called Off

BUFFALO, N. Y. (INS) — A week-long search for Broadway Producer Gordon Pollock and his wife has been called off.

The air search started when Mr. and Mrs. Pollock disappeared during a flight from Detroit to the east. They were believed down in or near Lake Erie.

Col. John A. Dorman, Buffalo group commander for the Civil Air Patrol, said the search was suspended on orders from the 46th Air Rescue Service.

OUT OF THE WAR SHADOWS — Israeli youngsters squint on emerging into the sunlight from the darkness of an underground shelter in the Gaza strip area during current tense military atmosphere. These children, who spend much of their time in danger of Egyptian shelling, were evacuated from their nursery minutes before it received a direct hit from a mortar earlier this month.

All Catalina Racers Recovered From Fog

SAN PEDRO, Calif. (INS) — All of more than 30 outboard boats that became lost in a pea soup fog during a race from the mainland to Catalina Island were accounted for today.

* * *

The last of the missing boats straggled into Oceanside, 80 miles down the coast, last night, ending a huge Saturday night and Sunday search.

Actor John Derek was among those who became lost with his boat. He drifted for 11 hours before he was sighted by one of the amphibian planes. A Coast Guard patrol boat towed his craft to Avalon Harbor, Catalina Island.

Two hundred and nine outboard craft took part in the race in which the boats became lost. Thirty-three of them, with 60 to 100 persons aboard, failed to reach Avalon.

* * *

Ultimately all of them either reached land at other points on their own or were located drifting at sea, out of fuel, and were towed in.

No Honky Tonkin' for Uncle Bud (He's Only 102)

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — When you're 102, says Uncle Bud Clagg, "you don't do much honky-tonkin'. There are other things."

* * *

There's always the back fence gossip with other retired oldsters in the neighborhood and long discussions on fishing and hunting.

Uncle Bud, who celebrates his birthday today, says "I don't know who will win the coming election, but I hope the right man gets to be president." He then makes it plain he thinks the "right man" is Adlai Stevenson.

* * *

A native of Bellefontaine, Ohio, he worked 44 years for the Pennsylvania Railroad, never missing a day because of illness.

Uncle Bud doesn't follow any strict rules for longevity. He eats no special foods. Nor does he smoke any more. But he still takes a little wine "to keep my blood circulating."

Margaret Gets Rolling Pin —From 'Thoughtful Friend'

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (AP) — A rolling pin is among the wedding presents Mrs. Harry S. Truman will be packing off to daughter Margaret and her new husband, who will be in New York after their two-week Nassau honeymoon.

* * *

The 32-year-old daughter of former President Truman was married Saturday to Clifton Daniel, Jr., 43, assistant to the foreign editor of the New York Times.

The ceremony at Trinity Episcopal Church was attended only by members of the families and close friends.

Truman and his wife relaxed yesterday after the hubbub of the wedding and the reception afterward in their big old-fashioned home. The Trumans will leave in May for several weeks abroad.

Yesterday morning they drove Daniel's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Daniel Sr., who had been their house guests, to the Kansas City Municipal Airport for their return flight to Zebulon, N.C.

* * *

Late in the afternoon Margaret called to say they had arrived in Nassau.

Margaret and Cliff will live in her Hotel Carlyle apartment in New York until they find a larger place they like. She is continuing her concert and radio-TV career.

Albert McCleery, who produces NBC's Matinee Theater, said she is to appear June 6 in the role of an old-maid schoolteacher in "Autumn Crocus." McCleery said she took the script with her on her honeymoon.

Among the wedding presents were cookbooks. Margaret's mother hinted her daughter could use them.

The newlyweds have table silver to set 12 places plus the extra serving spoons and otherpieces in a "bead and scroll" pattern. It was given them by the Trumans and other members of the bride's family.

Their China, imported from Austria, was the gift of Gov. and Mrs. Averell Harriman of New York. From Mrs. Perle Mesta, Washington hostess and former minister to Luxembourg in the Truman administration, came a set of antique English pearl handled fruit knives.

Mrs. Truman wouldn't say who sent the rolling pin.

Antarctic Isles Coming to Life

Weather Stations and Radio Towers Sprout on Lonely 'Dots'

WASHINGTON — Some of the earth's windiest and loneliest islands are now coming to life, in man's mounting invasion of the bottom of the world.

From the "Roaring Forties" to the "Screeching Sixties" of Antarctic seas, dots of lands known chiefly to explorers and whalers are sprouting weather stations, radio towers and outpost settlements of half a dozen nations, the National Geographic Society says.

France has sent men to Amsterdam and Kerguelen Islands in the southern Indian Ocean, as well as to Antarctica's Adelie Coast. Recently these onetime dependencies of Madagascar were given autonomous status as the "Southern and Antarctic French Lands," with their own budget and representative council in Paris.

On Kerguelen, 2,750 miles southeast of the Cape of Good Hope, gale winds blow 300 days a year, volcanic heat produces nine-month fogs, and "normal" weather is often too wild for ships to anchor. Yet plans reportedly have been drawn for a major airfield on Kerguelen.

* * *

Discovered in 1772 by the French navigator, Yves Joseph de Kerguelen-Tremarec, the archipelago comprises some 300 islands, the largest nearly the size of Corsica. M. Kerguelen and other early visitors agreed on an apt name: "Land of Desolation." Its chief vegetation is an odd cabbage, and the principal inhabitants are sea elephants, penguins, and wild white dogs.

Some 860 miles northeast of Kerguelen, another French base and 1,500 cattle cling to a 3,000-foot volcanic peak on Amsterdam Island, discovered by the Dutch explorer Van Diemen in 1633. Near-by St. Paul, where the world's most remote lobster cannery operated from 1908 to 1939, now is untenanted, as are the dangerous Iles Crozet northwest of Kerguelen.

To the south, there was an Australian weather station on Heard Island until 1954, when it was moved to the Antarctic continent. Farther westward, Prince Edward and Marion Islands hold South African outposts. But Norway's Bouvet, beyond in the South Atlantic, offers no foothold on its one smothering glacier cap.

Boudoir Prowler Lays Low, Halts Burglary Spree

The "Bedroom Burglar" apparently laid low over the weekend, Pontiac police believe the sneak-thief, whose tactics earlier this month have earned him that nickname, may have been scared off by recent publicity.

They had warned residents of the southeast side, where the man prowled two straight weekends, to be on the lookout, keeping doors locked to thwart his pattern of crime.

The man had entered at least 11 homes through unlocked doors to steal billfolds from bedrooms while the occupants slept, police say.

Joan Crawford Advises How Not to Treat Girls

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — Gather 'round, men, if you want to get the straight information on the 10 best ways to lose a girl.

Not that you're going to lose your dearest as a result. This may help you to hang onto her.

This should be the real stuff because it comes from seductive actress Joan Crawford. While imparting this invaluable data, she relaxed in form-fitting, black satin evening gown.

She took a lip-pouting puff on her cigarette, strained her bodice with a deep inhalation and set down the following pitfalls for Romeos:

1. Unpunctuality. "The ideal date doesn't keep his girl waiting. If he arrives on time, it's friendly. If he arrives a minute or two early it's flattering."

* * *

2. Lack of attention. "Nothing is worse than being escorted by a table hopper, who leaves a girl alone in a restaurant while he circulates around."

* * *

3. Lengthy goodnight. "If a girl is a wage earner, she needs eight hours of sleep to prepare for her job next day."

* * *

4. Last-minute calling for a date. "Between close friends, occasionally this is permissible. But it's not a thing to be done frequently. No one likes to be a last-minute choice."

* * *

5. Failure of a guest who attends a party to write a thank-you note to the hostess or telephone his appreciation.

* * *

6. Perfume for men. "Perfume on men seems to me an unnecessary affectation."

* * *

7. Telling old stories is strictly unfunny and perhaps boring.

* * *

8 The professional Don Juan is out—a girl likes sincerity.

* * *

9. Being a professional comic. "I like a fellow to have a sense of humor, but I don't like him to sound like a stage comedian."

* * *

10. Bragging. "A girl with any intelligence can compute a man's value without his self-salesmanship."

Half-Hour Films to Be Stressed

Columnist Fears That Series Will Crowd Out Creative Shows

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP) — On Broadway you pay $6 to learn whether you think a drama critic's judgment of a play is sound. On television you merely have to twist a dial.

* * *

In the theater, critics hold the power of life or death over a play. But what has been most popular with the public in television this season, according to the audience rating systems, has not always been most popular with the critics.

ON PUBLIC'S SIDE

CBS-TV programming plans for next season, which were leaked recently, indicate that if a line were to be drawn between public popularity and critical popularity the network is on the side of the public.

* * *

About a dozen new filmed half-hour weekly series are planned, slotted or in the making at CBS. They run the immemorial gamut of filmed half-hour weekly series — with some off-beat themes thrown in: crime, comedy, adventure and so forth. There always will be room for such pleasant events as "I Love Lucy" and the Phil Silvers Show. But by the time CBS finishes placing all its half-hour shows, basically stereotypes of other half-hour shows, is there going to be room for much else?

* * *

It may seem unfair to pre-judge. But pre-judgment is necessary to a heavily committed policy from which there can be no withdrawal. CBS seems certain of financial success. It is increasingly apparent that sponsors like film; they feel they can control its direction without hasseling with writers and directors as often happens on live dramatic shows.

YAWNS PREDICTED

In its policy, obviously based on close analysis of its current success among "the top ten," CBS seems to be saying that the public wants to be amused and can be easily amused. But to this critic the situations, emotions and ideas of the weekly half-hour filmed show are becoming increasingly limited. A TV viewing public with rapidly maturing tastes will yawn at the stereotyped half-hour show in time.

* * *

True, CBS has announced "Playhouse 90" for next season. A weekly 90-minute dramatic series, it holds promise.

It still will have Ed Murrow—with the outside hope he'll be given more time. True, it will have some good live dramas, such as it has had on "Ford Star Jubilee" and other regular dramatic shows this year. But what else will it have in the way of creative television programming?

* * *

The basic concept of good television is that it's essentially a live medium. Live means living, growing, inquisitive, experimental, adaptive and eager for change.

Let's hope that CBS has not finished announcing its plans for next year.

Unregistered Gun Brings $75 in Court Fine, Costs

Max A. See, of 2580 Dixie Highway, who pleaded guilty April 16 to possession of an unregistered gun, was fined $25 with $50 costs Friday by Oakland County Circuit Judge Frank L. Doty.

Originally charged with carrying a concealed weapon without a permit, See agreed to plead guilty to the lesser charge.

Julia Meade Says Video Stirs Interest in Fashion

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—"Television has done more than anything yet conceived to make American women clothes-conscious," says Julia Meade.

* * *

Miss Meade, young, blonde and beautiful, should know. Twice a week she comes before the cameras to speak the commercials for sponsors of "The Ed Sullivan Show" (CBS-TV) and "Your Hit Parade" (NBC-TV). Several hundred times a week she receives comments and queries from women viewers. Although she advertises cars and coiffeurs, most of the women correspondents are concerned with clothing.

QUITE AN AUTHORITY

As a model and a well-dressed young lady who travels around the country a great deal, Miss Meade has become quite an authority on women's clothing both on camera and from the viewpoint of the nation's home audience.

* * *

"Even in the smallest towns these days women are acutely aware of what is fashion," she says. "They know styles and they even know the names of designers. It's become very desirable for clothing designers to have a credit line on television because it seems at least a million women will remember the name."

* * *

DRESS FOR COMFORT

"American women try to be stylish, but basically they dress for comfort. . . . The good all-American idea of a suit is still the most popular — and the most sensible. . . . The sheath dress is more popular — and the most sensible. the fashion magazines hats are being worn down on the forehead this season. But most women put them on the back of their heads. They look quite charming. . . . The worst thing a woman can do is to wear too much jewelry. When they glitter they aren't smart. . ."

* * *

The wife of Oliver Worsham Rudd Jr., a commercial artist, Miss Meade appeared on Broadway in "The Tender Trap" last season. Shes considering other stage offers— provided they leave time for the commercials.

In adopting compulsory military service, Egypt has provived that young men not needed in the armed forces shall join "National Works Battalions."

NEW YORK—The earliest steamboat was built in France in 1780. A small steam craft built in England in 1802 was found efficient for freight and passenger service.
