Truck Plant Orders Total $6 Million

Transport Firm, Army Contracts Announced Here

Government's Purchase Largest in History for Stake Body Model

Six million dollars worth of new truck orders have been received by GMC Truck & Coach Division, Philip J. Monaghan, general manager, announced today.

Included is a U. S. Army contract for $5,600,000 worth of 2½-ton stake body trucks, the largest single order ever placed by the government for such a truck model.

Eastern Freightways, Inc., has ordered 40 GMC highway tractors valued at $400,000, Monaghan said.

The trucks ordered by the Army are standard commercial models weighing 21,000 pounds and powered by 155-horsepower gasoline engines.

They are considered different from the 2½-ton tactical military trucks recently ordered from the division by the Detroit Ordinance Tank-Automotive Command, the general manager said.

In the commercial stake truck, two of the four wheels are power driven. The tactical vehicles have power in all six of their wheels.

Headquartered in Carlstadt, N.J., Eastern Freightways becomes the first big fleet in the northeastern section of the country "to go the twin Hydramatic route," Monaghan said.

The cab-over-engine units will be powered by gasoline engines developing 225 horsepower, according to A. S. McEvoy, manager of GMC's fleet division.

GMC is scheduled to begin making deliveries on the Army contract next month, Monaghan said. Production will be handled by the division's current work force.

Missile Expert Named Air Chief by Eisenhower

WASHINGTON (INS)—Assistant Defense Secretary Donald A. Quarles, an expert on guided missiles, was named by President Eisenhower today to be secretary of the Air Force.

The 61-year-old Quarles, an engineer with Bell Telephone Laboratories before he was named to his present post in 1953, was given a recess appointment to succeed Harold E. Talbott.

Quarles was recommended by Defense Secretary C. E. Wilson.

Quarles has been the assistant defense secretary for research and development, a position which placed him in charge of all military research, including guided missiles.

BULLETIN

STUTTGART, Germany (INS) — The U. S. Air Force said today that 67 American soldiers were killed today when two troop-carrying "Flying Boxcars" collided in flight and crashed in flames.

The two 3-119 Air Force transport planes were flying in a formation of three when one on the left veered and rammed the middle one.

Both burst into flames and crashed immediately.

Several helicopters were dispatched from Echterdingen Air Force Base to the crash scene.

The identity of the men aboard was not learned immediately. Even after an Air Force check next of kin will be notified before the names are released to the public.

East Orion 4-H Float Is Winner

Annual Parade of Clubs Held at Annual Fair Last Night

Members of the East Orion 4-H Club rode in triumphant tour of the 4-H fair last night, as their float was chosen winner in the annual parade of clubs.

The float depicted the 4-H pledge, a theme that several other organizations also developed in the colorful parade.

The pledge devotes "my head to clearer thinking; my heart to greater loyalty; my hands to larger service; my health to better living."

Some 2,500 4-H clubbers are exhibiting everything from pigeons to pot holders, and area business firms have the latest in home and farm equipment on hand.

The Milford 4-H float placed second in the evening competition, which lent a little extra oom-pa-pa to the concert which was presented by the Milford High School Band later.

The annual pig scramble last night drew the interest of both 4-H members and their families, and many non-farm visitors who had never seen how quick moving a young pork chop on the hoof can be.

In dairy judging yesterday, the title of grand champion of all breeds went to the Holstein Longhaven Winterthur Lady, owned by Janet Long of Milford.

Lakefield Montvic Fobes, owned by Richard Foster of Clarkston, was named reserve champion. The dairy showmanship award went to Helen Miles of Birmingham, with her Windrow Stormy's Janet. Stuart Hutchins of Rochester took second honors, and Janet Long of Milford, third.

Pontiac Safari Station Wagon Becomes No. 500,000 Today

PRODUCTION MILESTONE — The 500,000th 1955 Pontiac rolled off the assembly line at Pontiac Motor Division here today. The historic Pontiac, a Star Chief Safari custom station wagon, above gets final inspection approval from Buel E. Starr (right), general manufacturing manager, as he turns the inspection card over to R. M. Critchfield, Pontiac general manager. It is the first time Pontiac has produced a half-million cars in a single model year.

500,000th Unit Rolls Off Line at Plant Today

Record Sales Indicate Continued High Pace to Meet Demand

Pontiac Motor Division has produced more than 500,000 units of its 1955 line of cars, and production is still moving along at a brisk pace.

Pontiac's half-millionth 1955 model car, a Star Chief Safari custom station wagon, came off the assembly line today setting a new production record for the division, R. M. Critchfield, general manager and GM vice president, announced.

"It is the first time in the 29-year history of Pontiac Motor that production has reached 500,000 units in a single model year," Critchfield said.

"The unprecedented popularity of the all-new 1955 Pontiacs has pushed sales higher than any sales rate we have ever experienced.

Despite record production, the Pontiac sales force has been keeping ahead of the supply of finished cars, division spokesmen indicate.

"During the last 10 days in July, Pontiac dealers across the nation sold as a total more new Pontiacs than during any 10-day period in their history. We sold 21,626 new Pontiacs in the July 21 to 31 period with the month's total reaching 50,003 new units.

"Sales for July were appreciably more than the total number of Pontiacs built during the month, despite the record production rate."

Critchfield predicted his company would build over 550,000 new Pontiacs during the 1955 model run. He said Pontiac's previous high production record was set during the 1950 model year when 446,429 new Pontiacs were produced.

In contrast to the more than a half million 1955 cars to be built, the division produced 76,783 in 1926, Pontiac's first.

Pontiac Airport Gets U.S. Aid

State, City to Match $30,000 Fund to Pay for New Runway

A new runway enabling larger planes to use Pontiac Municipal Airport came a step nearer reality today with the announcement of a federal grant of $30,000 to improve the local field.

Homer D. Hoskins, airport manager, said the money will be matched by the state and city to pay for hard-topping a 4,000-foot east-west runway which will make field easily accessible to two-engine aircraft.

Clearing, draining and grading of the new runway area is now under way. The work is being financed through an earlier federal grant of $6,000 and sums of $18,000 each from the city and state.

Hoskins said actual construction of the runway will begin early next year.

The U.S. grant to Pontiac was part of $20,000,000 in federal airport aid given to 205 communities under the new budget which went into effect July 1.

Michigan airports will receive approximately $1,100,000 more this year and $1,600,000 in each of the next three years.

Connie Battering Carolinas

WILMINGTON, N.C. (AP)—Hurricane Connie, losing some strength but still plenty powerful, battered the Carolina coast today.

Winds just under hurricane force of 75 miles an hour, and towering waves broke up fishing piers and filled the air with flying debris in many exposed areas. The hurricane's eye, now packing winds of about 100 miles an hour, moved at a steady 6 to 7 miles an hour toward the resort beaches between this port city of Wilmington and Myrtle Beach, S.C. At the present rate the eye would reach shore about 9 p.m., EST.

It was about 110 miles southeast of Wilmington at 11 a.m.

Huge waves tore at natural and artificial sand dunes thrown up after hurricane Hazel's death-dealing swipe through the same area last October. Hurricane flags flapped from Cape Romain, S.C., some 50 miles northeast of Charleston, to the Virginia Capes.

(See general story on hurricanes on page 23.)

MENACING VIRGINIA

Connie still menaced much of the seaboard north of Virginia. But the Boston Weather Bureau said she was no threat to New England for at least the next 36 hours.

The Wilmington airport reported gusts of 72 miles an hour—only three miles below official hurricane force—at 11 a.m. At Frying Pan Shoals near the mouth of the Cape Fear River gusts up to 92 miles were recorded.

Connie's central winds have reached as high as 135 miles an hour. Storm forecasters warned that although the eye seems to be spreading out slightly the hurricane still is highly dangerous. Hurricane winds licked out 100 miles to the northeast and east and 50 miles to the southwest. Gales extended 300 miles to the northeast and 150 to the southwest.

SIX FOOT TIDES

The pounding waves came in on tides that ran four to six feet above normal in some places and were expected to go nearly twice that high.

Few persons remained on the ocean front in the Carolinas as Connie drew steadily closer. Sand piled up in the streets and extensive street flooding was reported.

Communication lines went down in many areas making it increasingly difficult to guage the effect of the severe gales preceding Connie's real punch.

While Connie pounded the mainland, another tropical storm was reported developing in the Atlantic about 400 miles northeast of San Juan. The Miami Weather Bureau said the fourth storm of the year, named Diane, already has winds of 50-60 miles near the center and gales outward for 100 miles. It is expected to grw stronger, moving generally northwest at about 14 miles an hour.

Williams' 'Old Man Ike' Allegation Brings Immediate Political Reactions

Gov. G. Mennen Williams' statement that President Eisenhower, 64, is an "old man" who "may die before the campaign starts" touched off a bit of a political storm. Some criticism came from within the Governor's own Democratic party.

Williams said he was surprised by it all.

The Michigan governor made the statement in an interview in Chicago, where he is attending a National Conference of Governors. After a brief flying trip to the Ionia Free Fair he returned to Chicago and explained:

"All I meant is that President Eisenhower is an old man and that if he is re-elected he would become the most aged president in our history."

He added that, "I meant that all of us are mortal, and that even young Senator Blair Moody died while campaigning."

LOCAL REACTION

Chad. M. Ritchie, chairman of the Oakland County Republican Committee, says,

"I have heard and read a number of asinine statements by Williams, but this one surely takes the cake. I am sure that he could very well use the mature judgment that comes with the age and experience of our President.

"It is a regrettable fact that he would make use of a meeting of the governors as a sounding board for his own political ambitions. His statement is political chicanery of the highest order. He makes very clear his feelings regarding people in the age bracket of President Eisenhower, even to the point of belittling his own fellow Democrat, Gov. Harriman of New York."

Carlos Richardson, chairman of the Oakland County Democratic Committee, in commenting on the remark says, "I agree with Gov. Williams in regard to the uncertainty of life. Even Williams himself may not be living next year—or tomorrow. However, as our age advances we all are in more danger of the ending of our lives. Should he be elected for another term, President Eisenhower will be at quite an advanced age to hold such a high office."

STATE REACTION

Said Sen. Charles E. Potter (R-Mich):

"This outburst will not deceive

Film Scenarist Dies

HOLLYWOOD (AP)— Death has claimed Jane Murfin Crisp, 62, scenarist and co-author of "Smilin' Through" and "Lilac Time." She was the former wife of actor Donald Crisp. They were divorced in 1944. She died yesterday.

Baby Girl Born in Parked Auto as Dad Assists

"Doctor" John A. Franklin was back at the relatively peaceful job of operating a crane at an Oxford gravel pit today.

The 38-year-old 6-footer had a hectic, if brief, role yesterday as mid-wife when he helped his wife, Mary, 34, deliver a five-pound baby girl in their auto parked beside a road near Walled Lake.

Mother and daughter are reported in good condition at Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital.

The Franklins were hurrying to the hospital from their home at 550 Wolverine Dr., Commerce Township, when Mrs. Franklin called a halt at Haggerty and W. Maple Rds.

In eight minutes, she delivered a fine 5-pound, 3-ounce girl. Minutes later, they were again speeding toward the hospital.

"I ran a couple of red lights after looking to see no one was coming, hoping to pick up a policeman," Franklin said. "But I took no chances."

Franklin said he had witnessed a birth before and "knew what to do." He admitted he was "pretty shaken up about it."

Our Opinion of Ike

On this page today Gov. G. Mennen Williams asserts that Dwight D. Eisenhower is "too old to run" again for the Presidency. The Press would like to call your attention to our own opinion of Dwight D. Eisenhower which runs as the lead editorial today on page 6.

21 Dead in Ohio Blast

ANDOVER, Ohio (AP)—A roaring blast and swirling flames tore a path of death last night through a row of buildings on the village square. Many of the victims had taken refuge there from a storm.

There were 21 bodies accounted for, most of them in a makeshift morgue inside a garage three blocks away. The injured numbered at least 18. In the confusion, there were reports of at least 2 persons missing.

The center of the disaster was the Gateway Restaurant in this village in the resort area of Pymatuning Lake, along the Pennsylvania border. The restaurant and a dairy store were in a 2-story frame building which disintegrated with a force that shook the whole town. It has a population of about 1,200

Through the sodden ashes and debris the squads of silent firemen worked in a drizzle until 8 a.m. today. Then they stopped for rest and food.

At 2 a.m. they had pulled the 17th body from under the sagging and blackened timbers which had fallen into the cellar. After that, they had been able to recover only portions of bodies.

Debris showered Main Street in front of the restaurant, ripping up sections of the street and wrecking several automobiles. Then the flames whipped on to other buildings.

No one was certain what caused the explosion. Firemen, however, speculated that accumulated gas was set off either by a bolt of lightning or a spark from electrical equipment in the basement, flooded by the heavy rains.

Today, tired firemen and volunteer rescuers still were searching for more bodies. They worked through the night with searchlights and emergency generators, as the storm had knocked out power lines and telephone communications.

In a makeshift morgue, set up three blocks from the scene, Ashtabula County Deputy Coroner H. K. Lynne was attempting to identify the bodies. Many were burned beyond recognition, and Dr. Lynne said it may take days to identify all of them.

The fire itself was brought under control in four hours as firemen from 20 nearby Ohio and Pennsylvania towns rushed equipment to the stricken village.

Traffic was snarled through much of the night by the effects of the explosion and hordes of curious motorists who drove to see the fire. Law enforcement officials threw a cordon around the community and the state highway patrol said martial law had been declared there at the request of the Andover mayor. Sixty troops were sent to the village to enforce it.

There was no official estimate of property damage, but it was expected to run into the hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Adlai Throwing Out Hints He'll Likely Be Candidate

CHICAGO (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson was all but an officially announced candidate today for the Democratic presidential nomination next year.

In an informal and unusual news conference last night, the 1952 Democratic nominee made it plain to all who came to question that he will announce in November he is running again.

Without committing himself finally at this time, Stevenson outlined what he regards as a possible winning Democratic campaign against President Eisenhower.

The Stevenson campaign credo, as revealed at a crowded news conference after a cocktail party and dinner given by former Democratic National Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell, was this:

1. Eisenhower has "sharply reversed" the previous GOP foreign policies in favor of "bold and vigorous" action at the Geneva Big Four conference but those policies could change for the worse again at any moment.

2. While the Eisenhower administration now seems to agree generally with the Democrats in Congress that action is needed on education, health, housing and highways programs, the Republicans only make promises "and the Democrats believe in action."

3. He has "some misgivings" about the threat offered by the Republicans to federal development of natural resources and what he said is the Eisenhower administration's opposition to "the Democratic concept of government for all of the people and not the few."

Commitment Faces Abductor

Mental Institution Ahead for Patrick W. Duggan, Taylor Says

Patrick W. Duggan, 21-year-old Pontiac mason who confessed abducting two young women here Monday night, will be committed to a mental institution as a criminal sexual psychopath, Asst. Prosecutor George Taylor said today.

The action came after Pontiac psychiatrist Dr. L. Jerome Fink told Taylor that Duggan had shown sexual psychopathic symptoms during an earlier examination.

Taylor said that papers are being drawn up to have Duggan committed under the Criminal Sexual Psychopath Act.

Dr. Fink said he had examined Duggan last May when he was charged with attempting to rape an 18-year-old girl at knifepoint. Duggan is currently serving two years' probation for the offense.

Taylor stated that Duggan made a full confession to him and Detective James LaPonsie this morning, telling them where to find the gun he used in forcing the two women to commit "grossly indecent acts" during the 2-hour abduction. The gun, a .35-caliber revolver, was found in Duggan's apartment at 56 Matthews St.

The women, one a 21-year-old mother and the other 18, reported the kidnaping Tuesday afternoon, stating that Duggan had forced them into his panel truck at about 11 p.m. as they walked at Whittemore and Center Sts. Both were released physically "unharmed at about 1 a.m.

Both women said they delayed reporting the incident because they feared for their lives. They said Duggan told them he would kill them if they reported him.

Duggan was arrested by Pontiac Police Tuesday night near his apartment, after the women described their abductor and his truck.

Williams' Allegation Causes Reactions

many people, Democrats or Republicans."

"It is significant to me," Potter added, "that the Governor has given this judgment at a time when public opinion polls show that the President has an unprecedented edge in popularity.

"I am sure this public approval is not hurting the President's health."

Detroit Mayor Albert E. Cobo, which some Republicans are seeking to persuade to run for Governor, paraphrased Lincoln's comment about Grant:

"If President Eisenhower is an old man, this country needs a lot more like him."

He added that "it should be beneath the dignity of a public official to make such comments about the President of the United States."

Republican governors attending the Chicago conference joined in the criticism.

Sen. Patrick V. McNamara (D-Mich), who is 61, commented: "Privately, I agree with the Governor. But I would not have said such a thing aloud."

Williams told a reporter at Ionia that he "didn't say anything I haven't said before."

Office Is Ransacked

Entrance was gained by a rear window, police said. They are investigating the report.

School Board Turns Down PHS Football Broadcasts

Pontiac High School football games will not "take to the air" this year, declared the Pontiac Board of Education Wednesday night in reaffirming its previous policy of non-broadcast games.

It is the belief of the school staff, it was reported, that broadcasting football games could have two possible adverse effects:

1—Football can be over-emphasized to the point that it assumes importance in the minds of pupils which is out of proportion with its value. Educationally this is undesirable.

2—Attendance at games might be adversely affected, if people have the choice of listening at home or going to the game. It would be preferable to make arrangements that would fill the stands with paying customers than to develop a radio listening audience.

Louis Schimmel, president of the board, said that "No facet of the overall educational program should be overemphasized that it might get out of gear with the rest of the system."

VOTE UNANIMOUS

Dr. Walter L. Godsell made the motion to continue the board's non-broadcasting policy and it was supported by Rev. J. Allen Parker. It had unanimous board endorsement.

Dr. Otto C. Hufziger, administrative assistant in charge of building for the Pontiac schools, reported that the construction on the new junior high school on Perry St. was slightly ahead of schedule. This school will be ready for academic occupancy by February of 1956. The balance of the school is scheduled for early spring completion.

The Linda Vista school, to be located between Perry and Mt. Clemens Sts. off East Blvd. is now out for bids and the board set Aug. 19 at 5 p. m. as the award date.

C. Henry Haberkorn of H. E. Beyster and Associates, architectural firm under contract to design this school, said that bid documents require substantial occupancy of the building on Feb. 15, 1956.

BUILDING FIREPROOF

According to Haberkorn, this building will be of fireproof construction by the use of pre-cast pre-stressed concrete roof sections. It may prove to be a "first" in elementary school construction and if cost estimates are accurate, he reported, it will provide considerable savings in insurance and maintenance costs.

This architectural firm has been retained to design the junior high school, the Lake Street school, multi-purpose room additions to eight Pontiac schools and the Daniel Whitfield school addition.

Dr. Hufziger said that contracts for the Whitfield and Lake Street School said the building would be completed Aug. 12 and 22 respectively.

Village of Franklin Rejects Toll Route

Franklin Village President H. A. Roseberry has informed Michigan Turnpike Authority Chairman George N. Higgins that Franklin still opposes the toll road route as planned.

"We do not accept the proposed route, nor approve the bisecting of our village," said Roseberry.

The MTA Monday gave general approval to the route from Pontiac south through Franklin to Eight Mile Road, subject to minor engineering changes.

Storage Space Problems Face County Clerk

The storage - space problems of Oakland County Clerk Lynn D. Allen have been increased by an order from the State Supreme Court's judicial committee to keep a running account of all Circuit Court cases.

Allen has been hard pressed for a place to store the official county records for some time. Now the situation is becoming almost impossible.

He has had to use the naturalization room in the courthouse for storage. It is now full to the point where only a 5-by-10-foot space is left to conduct hearings.

The Supreme Court's order requires Allen's office to go back to 1950 and catalog all cases, show the court's last action on each and set up a running index.

Data obtained is expected to aid in shifting less busy judges to help out in overloaded circuits, Allen explained.

"The project is undoubtedly a worthy one, but where I'll find space for another constantly growing set of files I don't know," he stated.

Gorilla at Detroit Zoo to Be Hospital Patient

DETROIT (AP)—An ailment which frequently bothers human infants is sending a baby gorilla named Maximo to a hospital for people today.

Maximo, a new arrival at the Detroit zoo, is to undergo an operation to repair a ruptured navel. And he'll have a regular surgeon for the job.

Frank G. McInnis, zoo director, said the use of a surgeon and a regular hospital was the natural thing in the case of a gorilla.

"His anatomy is much the same as a human's," McInnis said. "So we treat him that way."

Transport 11 Airmen to California Today

HONOLULU (AP) — Eleven U.S. airmen leave Hawaii in two transport planes late today, heading for California and reunions this weekend with loved ones they haven't seen for years.

The airmen, freed in Hong Kong last week after 32 grim months as prisoners of the Chinese Communists, are due at Travis Air Force base, northeast of San Francisco at 8 a.m. (10 a.m. EST), Friday.

At Travis they will be transferred to other planes and whisked to airports nearest their homes.

They are relaxing in balmy Hawaii. They reached here in excellent spirits, and were greeted by two of Hawaii's prettiest maidens, armed with flower leis and quick to present the traditional aloha kiss.

Spencer Weaver, owner of several elegant restaurants, hosted the entertainment at his nightclub, a home in 1944 when President Roosevelt conferred there with Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

Fire Results in $2,500 Damage to Home Here

A fire causing $2,500 damages to a house owned and occupied by Allen Rawdson at 48 Crawford St. was fought for over an hour yesterday morning by the Pontiac Fire Department.

Firemen said the fire was caused by defective wiring in the home and that it started in the rear bedroom.

No injuries were reported by the department.

Funds raised will be used to buy gifts and finance rehabilitation programs for hospitalized veterans and local children whose fathers were killed during World War II or in Korea.

Collaborating in the drive will be Jimmy Dey Post 12, GBU Post 701, Bemis-Olsen Post 113 and Wright-Fournier Post 161.

Man's Will Leaves Sum to Royal Oak Masons

A Royal Oak man, who died July 7, has left his $8,400 estate to Royal Oak Masonic Lodge 464, according to his will filed in Oakland County Probate Court.

The deceased, William A. Harper, formerly of 206 S. Lafayette, directs that a trust fund be set up "for the use and benefit" of the lodge.

City Partially Lifts Bans on Sprinkling of Lawns

BIRMINGHAM — "The heat's off," and because of it, so are the added sprinkling bans that took effect here July 15.

City Engineer L. R. Gare said yesterday, "We are removing the temporary restrictions, those which prohibit sprinkling between the hours of 9 a.m. and 6 p.m., but the others still stand."

By "others," Gare was referring to the odd-even regulations, which must be adhered to during the rest of the summer. This permits residents living at odd or even - numbered addresses to sprinkle on odd or even days of the month, respectively.

"We anticipate no such heat wave as we've just experienced," said Gare with reference to long range weather forecasts.

"However, should temperatures get up into the 90's again we appeal to residents now to restrict their sprinkling during the day."

Gare said lifting of the July 15 order will hold "at least for the time being and we hope for the rest of the summer."

Assessment figures for Parking Lots 1 and 2 were presented to the City Commission by Elmer Haack, city assessor, at a committee meeting held last night, and a three-step formula was decided upon as an equitable basis for guiding the lawmakers in setting assessments.

The next move calls for a series of small informal hearings with individual groups having something in common assessment-wise.

A map of the assessment district for Lot No. 1 will be explained in detail and the commission will listen to all sides and make necessary adjustments, Commissioner James C. Allen said today.

Assessments will be based on: 1. distance from the lot, amount of frontage and area, and desirability of position; 2. present use of the property; and 3. possible future use of non-commercial property for business.

Roughly, the assessment district for the first lot begins at Maple and Bates, extending east behind the first tier of lots on the north side of Maple to those on the east side of Woodward.

The line travels south on Woodward, then west to include lots on the south side of Daines, almost to Purdy, down the south side of Brown to Henrietta north to Martin, west to Bates, and north to rejoin Maple.

The 205 active members of the Spaceman's Reading Club, the summer reading program for boys and girls at Baldwin Public Library, will be treated to three movies at 2 p.m. tomorrow.

Youngsters will see "The American Cowboy," "Lewis and Clark," and "Circus Day in Our Town." Personal invitations have been extended to participants.

Following the shows, planet systems each child made during the course of summer reading, will be presented.

Pleading guilty when he appeared before Justice John J. Gafill yesterday on a charge of leaving the scene of a property damage accident, Henry C. Rohl, 81, 231 Baldwin, paid $10 costs and was placed on six months probation. His driver's license will also be held by the court during that period.

The will of Mrs. Victor C. Koch, daughter of Detroit News Publisher Warren Scripps Booth, has been filed in Oakland County Probate Court.

Mrs. Koch, 29, of 880 Lakeside Dr., Birmingham, died July 17. Her estate is estimated to value $150,000. It includes a total 821 shares of stock in The Evening News Assn., The Booth Newspapers, Inc. and the James E. Scripps Corp.

The will leaves Mrs. Koch's autos, jewelry, clothing and other personal effects to her husband.

Remaining assets are to be set up in a trust fund from which her three children will benefit equally. They are Victor C. Jr., 6, John Booth, 3, and Sara Ann, one month.

Guardsmen Put Out Grayling Forest Fire

GRAYLING (INS)—Four thousand national guardsmen from Michigan fought a two-mile square forest fire for more than eight hours last night before bringing the blaze under control.

The fire was believed to have been started by high explosive artillery shells.

None of the guardsmen was seriously injured but several were overcome by smoke.

The men, armed with picks, shovels and axes, isolated the burning area and then broke it down into hundreds of small blazes which they systematically put out.

The fire was the worst in many years, according to veteran guardsmen who have been coming to Grayling for the past eight years.

Hoover Fishing at Favorite Spot

Ex-President Heads for McKenzie River After Rites at Oregon Home

NEWBERG, Ore. (AP) — Herbert Hoover headed for his favorite fishing stream — the McKenzie River in southwestern Oregon — after seeing his boyhood home dedicated as a national shrine yesterday.

Hoover observed his 81st birthday at ceremonies dedicating the house where he came as an orphan 70 years ago.

He spoke bareheaded in the hot afternoon sun to a crowd estimated at 5,000. Hoover showed no sign of fatigue and seemed pleased with the simple ceremonies arranged for the occasion.

Although he did not remember many of his former neighbors — he was 15 when he left Newberg for nearby Salem — he mingled with the crowd, greeting everyone who approachd him.

At the ceremonies, he told of his early days in this area and praised the heritage left by the builders of Newberg and the small towns over the nation.

He praised the lives of his aunt and uncle, Dr. and Mrs. Henry John Minthorn, to whose home in this Quaker community he came after the death of his parents. He said the spirit of Minthorn, a country doctor and a religious educator, lives on in the nation.

The Minthorn house was restored by friends of the former President, who organized the Herbert Hoover Foundation.

Hoover got around to the modern scene by noting, "During the last score of years our American way of life has been deluged with criticism. Altogether, if we look at the criticisms alone, we seem to be in a very, very bad way."

But, he said, "We should lift our eyes unto the hills from whence cometh our help. We should occasionally mention something good about ourselves."

Some criticism, he said, "comes from the fuzzy-minded totalitarian liberals who believe that our creeping collectivism can be adopted without destroying the safeguards of free men.

"It comes bitterly and daily from the Communists at home and abroad who would overthrow our American system. And it even comes from free nations whom we have tried to help."

Learn Cloth Weaving Methods of 3,000 B.C.

NEW YORK (AP)—Scientists at the American Museum of Natural History are learning how cloth was woven 3,000 B.C. in Central Asia, although all vestiges of the cloth decayed thousands of years ago.

They do it by examining tiny pieces of broken pottery rested against a piece of fabric while wet by some ancient potter. From these lasting impressions, they can deduce what the cloth was made of and the skill of the weavers.

State Winding Up Galbraith Testimony

MCALESTER, Okla. (AP) — The state was expected to wind up its side of the Dr. Ben T. Galbraith murder trial today with a visit by jurors to the scene of the March 17 tragedy.

Galbraith, a 34-year-old McAlester heart specialist, is accused of the murder of his wife, Mary Katherine, and their three children.

Prosecutor James P. Whyte said he would request permission for the all-male jury to visit the ruins of the Galbraith house before closing his case.

The bodies of Mrs. Galbraith and the children, Frank, 7, Jere, 5, and Sarah Ann, 4, were found in the ashes after fire destroyed the residence.

Defense attorney James Rinehart said he would attempt to subpoena the tape-recorded version of the Galbraith confession. Rinehart said he wanted to play the recording for the jury to show that the young physician was under the influence of drugs and was insane when he made the confession.

Fined on Two Counts

Paul T. Trager, 21, of 30 N. Midland Dr., charged with illegal passing and speeding, paid a total of $45 in fines and $20 in court costs yesterday after pleading guilty on both counts. Te appeared before West Bloomfield Township Justice Elmer C. Dieterle.

Pontiac Officer Is Reassigned by Air Force

Lt. Col. Donald E. Matthews of Pontiac has been assigned by the U.S. Air Force to headquarters, Allied Air Forces Central Europe (AIRCENT), NATO's largest air command.

MATTHEWS

In Fontainebleau, 40 miles southeast of Paris, he will service as operations staff officer in the air rescue and navigation branch, working in close conjunction with officers and airmen from England, Canada, France, Belgium, and the Netherlands, as well as from the United States.

AIRCENT's mission under the North Atlantic Treaty Organization is to protect the air approaches to Central Europe from attack. Its high performance jet aircraft, with atomic capabilities, stand as a deterrent to aggression.

Matthews came to AIRCENT from Orlando AFB, Florida, where he was plans staff officer in the air rescue squadron there.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wentworth S. Matthews of 13 Fenelon Court in Pontiac. His wife, Mrs. Rita Matthews, and their four children are with him in France and have made their overseas home near the headquarters.

Matthews holds the Distinguished Flying Cross and the Air Medal with three clusters. He graduated from flight training school in 1942 and served in the Middle East theater during the war.

Chiang Claims Chinese Reds Obey Soviet Wish

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Generalissimo Chaing Kai-shek, declining an invitation to speak in Los Angeles, said that Red China's release of imprisoned American fliers was ordered by Russia.

"The Chinese Communists on instructions from the Kremlin have decided to put on a peace mask," the Chinese Nationalist leader cabled the Greater Los Angeles Press Club today. The club had invited Chiang.

United States Gaining In Her World Position

This newspaper is very happy over President Eisenhower's representation of the United States in recent world meetings.

For once, we didn't prostrate ourselves before England and Russia and look upon them with awe and sublime adoration. In the past, the head of this country has been swept off his feet by the presence of the "world figures."

President Dwight Eisenhower realizes the position of his own country in the scheme of world affairs and is aware of the importance of his own words and his own ideas. In the past, our representative has been carried away too much by association with these great men. It seemed to be regarded as a "rare privilege." We prefer to believe that it is a "rare privilege" for the other countries to confer with the United States of America.

We are not the largest nation in the world, but we are the greatest and the most important. No one—here or elsewhere—makes any mistake about that.

President Eisenhower has made a great representative. He adds materially to our world prestige. He strengthens our position in the world of nations.

We've gained standing.

We've gained respect.

The President of the United States is the most important man on this globe. The current incumbent appreciates this great position and the grave responsibilities that go with it. He measures up to the requirements. The nation is fortunate to have Dwight D. Eisenhower in the White House at this crucial time in history.

Even the incidental fact that he is a great world soldier has added significance with one nation which has more respect for the sword than it has for the Bible or the Fellowship of Man. The head of our country is primarily a God-fearing man for which we are devoutly thankful. But beyond that, he knows more about conducting a winning military campaign in—well, let's say Russia—than any other living person.

Good!

Dwight Eisenhower is one of our greatest blessings.

Federal Reserve Boost in Discount Rate Wise

Action of Federal Reserve regional banks in raising their discount rates should not cause any alarm.

Rather, it should have the effect of reassuring everyone of the Administration's intention to keep the Nation's economic recovery within safe limits. There should be similar satisfaction with the Administration's previous action to slow credit expansion when mortgage requirements for veterans' housing were tightened mildly.

The Reserve Banks which raised the discount rates from 1.75 to 2 per cent are Chicago, Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Dallas, Kansas City, San Francisco and Atlanta. The Cleveland bank increased its rate to to 2.25 per cent.

The discount rate increase means that member banks will have to pay a higher interest rate for money they borrow from their regional Federal Reserve Bank. This in turn will have the effect of putting member banks under pressure to tighten up on their own loans to business which will act as a brake on credit expansion.

Thus within a year the country has progressed from a situation of relatively easy credit to one of prudent restrains. The object is not to stop inflation for, according to the cost of living index, we are not in a period of inflation.

Yet there are a few warning signs. In some industries output has begun to reach the limit of capacity. Consumer buying of heavy goods and homes has been increasing rapidly and installment credit has reached the all time high of $25 billion.

What confronts our Federal Reserve Governors and Treasury Chief is a dynamic economic condition. Fortunately they are determined to keep a credit policy which will make the maximum possible contribution to the maintenance of stability.

Pontiac Area Recreational Spots Drawing Big Crowds

Insanity: Not a sign of when you talk to yourself—but watch out when you start to listen.

The hot weather is responsible for record breaking crowds at the state parks and other recreational spots in the Pontiac area. Among Michigan's 60 state parks, Cass Lake is in third place in attendance, and holds first place among the inland parks. According to its facilities are taxed to the utmost on many days. At Kensington Lake,

Superintendent David Laidlaw

says all records are being topped, and

Manager John Reagan

at Pontiac Lake, reports its extensive beach is crowded at the rush hours. At Rochester Park,

Manager Jack Butterfield

says the crowds are running away ahead of last year. The same reports come from the many other recreational spots in this area. In the words of formerly of Pontiac, who writes me from his home in Detroit, "We still come out to Oakland County when we want the best swimming in the world."

Winthrop Ashton,

It is refreshing to learn that at most of our recreational spots, vandalism is reported to be much less than in some previous years.

of Walled Lake accuses MAT of not always using the word "only" in its proper place to convey the meaning we desire. He admits that with all writers it is the most misplaced word in the English language. As an example, he suggests its use in the eight possible places in the sentence

"She told me that she loved me," and ponder on what a difference it can make.

Arnold Westman

of Huron Gardens, says he found the last word in gas station courtesy. At a Marquette station, after waiting a long time in line, he was obliged to drive away. On arriving home he found that somebody at that station had taken his license number, and wrote him a letter of apology.

While it borders on a nasty crack, I like the sentiment expressed in a letter over the signature,

"Veteran of Two World Wars," which says, "If Russia wants to adopt our way of raising hogs, they'll have to treat their pigs better than their peasants."

And Away We Go!

David Lawrence Says:

Both Adlai and Harriman Have Strikes Against Them in Scramble for Dem Nod

WASHINGTON—"Adlai or Averell?" This is the $64 question which the Democratic party has to answer soon. Will former Gov. Stevenson of Illinois or Gov. Harriman of New York State become the Democratic presidential candidate in 1956?

There are some handicaps which each faces from a strictly political viewpoint. Politicians say that a divorced man alienates large groups of Catholic voters—and the former Mrs. Stevenson isn't making things any easier for her ex-husband by giving interviews about him.

Many of the big-city organizations of Democrats, who can be influential in controlling state delegations at a national convention, are well aware of the political implications of divorce. It is supposed to have beaten Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. for attorney general in New York State last autumn.

Nor is Gov. Harriman immune. He, too, was divorced once. He is, moreover, a multi-millionaire with large holdings in the Union Pacific Railroad which he inherited from his father, the late E. H. Harriman. Maybe the campaign will introduce the chant "What's good for Union Pacific is good for the country," and so on.

LIKED BY UNIONS

But the New York governor prides himself on being more "liberal" or radical than Adlai Stevenson on domestic matters. Despite Gov. Harriman's previous associations with railroad management, he stands well with the railroad unions.

The Democrats do not mind rich men in their ranks provided they dedicate themselves to a policy of "soaking the rich." The late President Franklin Roosevelt hobnobbed with Vincent Astor and other men of wealth like Myron Taylor but, except for the usual appointments to diplomatic posts, it didn't affect his radical approach or preachments of class warfare.

In Democratic party politics it is evidently important to be radical nowadays. The theory is that it doesn't matter how mad the Conservatives in the South may get, they'll have to vote Democratic anyhow. It didn't work that way in 1952, but that was when the South thought Ike would respect states' rights and wouldn't go as far on the segregation issue as he has gone since then.

In the North Stevenson has allied himself with the radical organization—"American's for Democratic Action"—which played so influential a part in shaping the last Democratic presidential campaign. But Gov. Harriman, alert to the dangers of this so far as conservative Democrats are concerned, hasn't stuck his neck out on the ADA question and seems anxious to avoid too close a tie-up.

BOTH SLIP UP

The real difficulty is that neither Harriman nor Stevenson has sensed the mood of the country so far as reflecting the protests or murmurs on public issues.

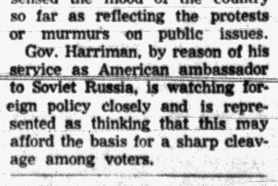

Gov. Harriman, by reason of his service as American ambassador to Soviet Russia, is watching foreign policy closely and is represented as thinking that this may afford the basis for a sharp cleavage among voters.

Thus, the fraternization of Eisenhower with the Soviet's top tyrants at Geneva recently could, if the situation changes to one of disillusionment on the part of the American public, lead to taunting remarks such as greeted President Truman when he referred to Dictator Stalin as "good old Joe."

Harriman is known to have made rapid strides in political orientation since he served as secretary of commerce in Washington, and he is said to be keenly aware of how to take advantage of any weaknesses in the Eisenhower armor.

But the fact remains that, so far as any positive, constructive, alternative policies go, neither the Stevenson nor Harriman speeches ring any bells with the electorate. Political trends in the past indicate that it isn't always necessary to offer any alternative proposals on either domestic or foreign policies, especially if there is a negative mood in the country — that is, if the voters are "against the in's." There are times when the electorate doesn't much care who the other candidate is—they want primarily to get rid of the party or president in power.

Tank of Oxygen Makes Impressive Bedside Sight

By WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

Inhalation of pure oxygen (from a tank) reduces the pulse rate, abolishes the shallow, hurried breathing and prevents the muscle stiffness which is likely to follow hard boxing bouts of men not in good training. Oxygen is of little or no help to athletes in good training.

I haven't seen everything yet, but from what I have seen and read, I'd say rushing an oxygen tank to the bedside and administering the gas by inhalator or by keeping the patient in a tent is a beautiful gesture.

I hasten to add that good medical authorities still advocate the administration of oxygen by inhalation (gas mask, tube in nostril, head tent, bed tent or oxygen chamber) in acute coronary thrombosis, angina pectoris, severe bronchial asthma, the night dyspnea (inability to get enough air) of some disorders of circulation, edema (accumulation of fluid) of the lungs and as a relief for air hunger in chronic bronchitis (winter cough) with emphysema (ballooning of the air-cells of the lungs from loss of normal elesticity).

IMPRESSIVE SCENE

Avowedly an oxygen tank at the bedside makes a scene as impressive as the chromo peddled by the AMA—Spoonful Every Hour—a farcial gesture, in view of the part that organization has played in breaking down the code of medical ethics and promoting trick specialists and "clinic" racketeering.

If I were the patient or the patient's physician I'd say: "Well, all right, let's try it. If it gives any relief, fine. If it doesn't, we can send the tank and inhalator back to the store."

So I believe the administration of oxygen by inhalation has a narrowly limited therapeutic or remedial value. Even in the resuscitation of victims of asphyxia a mixture of carbon dioxide and oxygen or air (5 to 7½ parts CO2 with 92½ to 95 parts O or air) is more effective than pure oxygen.

'HOW TO BREATHE'

Now readers who have conned Little Lesson 21, How to Breathe (ask for it by number or title and inclose 25c with a stamped, self-addressed envelope) understand, I hope, why one cannot actually increase the absorption of oxygen by "deep breathing."

For the benefit of wiseacres, tightwads and knuckleheads, let me explain that physiologists have proved that any and every spurt of deeper or faster or forced breathing is inevitably compensated by a following period of shallower or slower or quiet breathing, even by a period of no breathing, so that the normal level of oxygen and carbon dioxide in blood and tissues is restored in a few moments. This is physiology and not just a notion of mine.

Here by way of a reply to a good many letters from gullible geeks of all grades of ordinary intelligence, I beg to state that among the beneficial effects I ascribe to daily practice of the Belly Breathing exercise there is no mention of increased absorption of oxygen. The exercise does good rather by improving the circulation. A piece to follow will explain how Belly Breathing promotes better circulation.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long, pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to the Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Mich.

Wants Confiscated Assets Returned to Germans

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

It seems to me that a closer study of the editorial on July 21, "A Closed Issue," could lead to a directly opposite conclusion.

If I know him, the American taxpayer does not want to save money if it involves invading the sanctity of someone else's private property.

The German government has not yet been able to begin to compensate its citizens for their losses from Russian confiscation. It is not politically realistic to assume that victims of U.S. confiscation will receive any priority.

The article says the Allies agreed in the Paris Reparations Agreement to take and keep these assets in lieu of reparations. Reparations were warranted, yes. But from private property, no.

As for breaching the Paris Reparations Agreement, the improper parts of any agreement are best honored in the breach. A negotiated change is possible.

The German government did cede these assets under the Bonn Convention, but what the Convention really says is that the German government will 'raise no objection.' In other words, the Adenauer government is merely recognizing its powerlessness.

Even though some of the proceeds of this property has already been spent for governmental purposes, let's make it up and repay it. Are we losing our moral grip?

Abe Lincoln Turns Out Silver-Tongued Oratory

By ED CREAGH
For Hal Boyle

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP) — Almost 6,000 men had been killed in the battle. Hundreds more were dying by the day. Gettysburg — a peaceful bustling town today — was a charnel house in 1863.

So, to bury the dead, a cemetery was started. And a consecration ceremony was decided upon. That called for an orator. Edward Everett was the silver-tongued choice of all concerned.

Would he come? He would, he informed the committee, but he was a busy man. Couldn't they put the ceremony off a month or so?

They could and did — for Edward Everett. Then, pretty much as an afterthought, they sent an invitation to the President of the United States.

He came — on the date selected by Edward Everett.

Abraham Lincoln and his party came by train, after a horse-powered switch from one railroad to another at Baltimore. He walked from the station to David Wills' house in the village square.

There he stayed the night. He knew he would be called upon to make a few remarks so he brought some notes from Washington. He didn't think much of this first draft so he called in the reigning expert, Edward Everett was not the first nor the last outside consultant called in to help on a presidential address.

In the end, though, it was Abe Lincoln's speech.

He wrote it, painstakingly, on a little oval table you still can see in a little room over a drugstore here in Gettysburg.

But he didn't get to deliver it on schedule.

For one thing, the parade to the cemetery was late in starting. Then Edward Everett was a half-hour late arriving at the cemetery. He had been out inspecting the battlefield.

Every school child has been told what happened next. Everett spoke for two hours.

"Standing beneath this serene sky," he began, "overlooking these broad fields . . . ."

It got pretty deadly before he was through.

Abraham Lincoln pumped Everett's hand and then spoke his own few words, starting "Fourscore and seven years ago . . . ."

It is a tribute to his audience that those who could hear the President applauded — six times, according to the Adams Sentinel and General Advertiser's correspondent on the scene.

A few hours later, Lincoln stopped by at the Presbyterian church — where another Republican president, Dwight D. Eisenhower, sometimes worships today. Lincoln didn't stay for the end of the church exercises. His train to Washington was waiting.

Few people remember that, in the midst of all this tumult, Lincoln made another speech. A crowd gathered outside the Wills house and clamored for him. Finally, his tired figure loomed up in the doorway.

"I appear before you, fellow citizens," he said, "to thank you for the compliment. The inference is a fair one that you would hear me for a while, were I to commence to make a speech.

"I do not appear before you for the purpose of doing so, and for several substantial reasons. The most substantial is that I have nothing to say."

("Laughter," reported the newsman on the spot.)

"In my position," he went on, "it is somewhat important that I should not say foolish things."

("If you can help it," a heckler interrupted, according to the same observer.)

"It very often happens," concluded the President, "that the only way to help it is to say nothing at all. Believing that is my present condition this evening, I must beg you to excuse me from addressing you further."

What ever became of Edward Everett, anyway?

THOUGHT FOR TODAY

For what thanks can we render to God again for you, for all the joy wherewith we joy for your sakes before our God.—I Thess. 3:9.

Orphan Girl, 13, Seeks Advice on How to Shake Off Bad Habit of Telling Fibs

Molly is a victim of a childish habit that most people eliminate by the time they enter grammar school. But thousands never do grow up emotionally, so they carry such juvenile behavior into adulthood. Learn how to teach yourself good habits.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case P-310: Molly J., aged 13, is an orphan girl.

Dr. Crane, I have lived in several homes," she began diffidently. "But somewhere along the line, I have developed the bad habit of telling" lies.

"Now I am trying to be a Christian, so this habit is causing me a lot of unhappiness and distress.

"And this bad habit keeps me from winning friends, too. I have read your column for a long time, but I have never learned how to quit telling fibs.

"So will you please help me?"

BREAK BAD HABITS

Telling fibs is a carry-over from childhood. It really belongs in the category of bed-wetting, stealing, and other juvenile habits.

Before kindergarten age, children often steal without realizing the full significance of their behavior, for property rights are a more adult type of idea.

And children may wet the bed or tell lies, for these reactions are also typical of toddlers.

But when we enter grammer school, we are supposed to be sufficiently mature to realize property rights. "Yours" vs. "my" should then be well entrenched habits.

"Make believe" should likewise be easily separated from "true."

TRAITS CLING

But many children carry along these toddler traits into later years. You readers may not realize it but thousands of men were washed out of military service for bed wetting.

To break a bad habit, work up a lot of resolution. Vow to yourself, or to your family, that you are going to break your slavery to the bad habits.

Then penalize the bad and reward the good: As regards fibbing, when you have let a falsehood slip from your lips, grit your teeth and go back to the person with whom you were talking.

Apologize and tell that person you made a mistake. Then give the true facts.

This immediate apology will embarrass you. It may cause some temporary shame or humiliation.

So much the better: For this will penalize you so deeply that you will soon learn to tell the truth.

A toddler seldom touches a hot stove but once; Intense pain, whether by fire or humiliation, works a cure rapidly.

LAWS OF LEARNING

It is also helpful to keep a record day by day. Write down all the errors. Then indicate whether you corrected your mistakes.

This will help make you vividly conscious of your bad habit and thus help place you on guard.

You are half cured when you are immediately conscious of your error as you are engaging in it.

Furthermore, the habit of telling the truth does not mean you should blurt out all you know on every occasion.

PARRY QUESTIONS

Occasionally, people ask you for information that is none of their business. In such a case, don't tell a fib, but parry the question, as by shrugging your shoulders and saying: "Well, that's hard to answer. What do you think?"

This reversal of the question is a clever way to steer conversation and keep mum on things that you deem imprudent to discuss publicly.

Send for my booklet "How to Carry on an Interesting Conversation," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus a dime.

It will help you win friends and raise you rrating as "date bait," as well as parry personal questions.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and a dime to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his psychological charts.

TODAY'S ASSIGNMENT FOR:

IN A POTTERY TOWN IN OLD MEXICO—4

Chico the Burro

Pancho the potter could hardly run his home pottery without the help of Chico and Toto, his burros.

They bring the clay, haul water and firewood, besides carrying the finished pieces to market.

Here Chico is saddled and waiting beside the cactus fence of the patio.

He has two small saddlebags, a bright new saddle blanket woven by one of Pancho's sisters and a double saddlebag. Pancho has put a couple of ears of corn in one end to give Chico a treat on the trip. In the other he has a sandal he is taking to the village shoemaker as a pattern for a new pair.

The big jar decorated with camellias will be packed in a bag with straw and tied on the saddle. It's a special order and gets special care.

Paste this picture on cardboard and when dry color it with crayons. The burro is gray with red bridle and reins. The saddle, saddlebags, blanket and big jar are brightly colored. The cactus fence is green; the stones are tints of several colors.

Cut out the large piece. Fold the pavement forward. Fold the jug forward and fold the other end back. Cut out the double saddlebag, fold it in the middle and hang it over Chico's back. Now Chico's ready for market.

Discover New Livestock Feed Taken From Lake

MANHATTAN, Kan. (INS) — As the result of a Missouri fish raiser's discovery, farmers may harvest their livestock feed from ponds and lakes in the future.

A. J. Stephens, owner of the Basswood Gardens near Platte City, Mo., had used Elodea, a plant which grows in fresh-water lakes and ponds, for years to provide cover for his young fish.

It is the mosslike plant which grows in most goldfish bowls. Later in the season each year he would drag much of the material out of his lakes. He found it worked as well as a mulch for roses and other flowers—and that livestock seemed to do well on it when it was fed as hay.

He happened to mention this to a Kansas State College scientist, but the latter was not impressed until he ran a chemical analysis. Then he discovered the chemical content, except for a protein, compared favorably with dehydrated alfalfa meal.

And in a test with 16 weanling pigs, Elodea was found equal, or superior to the alfalfa meal. Those getting the Elodea averaged 1.75 pounds daily gain as compared with 1.57 pounds for those receiving the alfalfa meal, when fed at about three per cent of the total ration.

Elodea was found to be rich in riboflavin, a growth-promoting vitamin. Kansas State scientists say it has possibilities of commercial production, and they are testing it as chickenfeed.

'Mean' Pooch Heeds Minister's Good Advice

GOLDSBORO, N.C. (AP)—A Goldsboro minister was working in his yard when a small dog ran up and began to bark and snap at his cuffs. The minister scolded the animal, telling him he was the meanest dog he had ever seen and suggested that he needed to go to church.

The following Sunday after the minister had completed his sermon the little dog trotted down the aisle.

He paused briefly, turned around and jogged out of the church.

Total Business Failure Overshadows Clever Tot

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—Choate Kirby, 7, who lives near the Tulsa entrance to the Oklahoma City-Tulsa turnpike, noticed a lot of travelers were throwing empty pop bottles along the shoulders. He decided he could make some spending money picking up the bottles. To get into the fenced super-highway Kirby found a culvert big enough for him and his wagon.

Business was good for a few days until patrolmen found the boy pulling his loaded wagon along the shoulder. They warned him his business was illegal and closed him down.

When Railroad Decides to Cut Operations—Wow

OKARCHE, Okla. (AP)—When the railroad decided to cut its operations here, the railroad did it literally.

The old frame railroad station was neatly sliced into three portions.

The center and smallest part remains for station agent-telegrapher Joe Owens. The two ends were removed.

Such rates shall be subject to review and change any time upon petition therefor being made by either the said Township or by said Grantee.

French Art Philatelist Famed for Stamp Copying

JEAN DE SPERATI — "I am an art philatelist . . ."

AIX-LES-BAINE, France (NEA) —Seventy-one-year-old Jean de Sperati has a claim to fame unique in the world—that of being the only man capable of producing perfect copies of rare stamps.

There are some 300 million stamp collectors in the world—about 600,000 in France.

De Sperati, in his early youth a salesman in a cham grocery store in Paris, had always collected stamps.

He became such an expert that last year the British Philatelical Association paid the Frenchman thousands of dollars for a promise never to reveal his secret process for producing perfect copies of rare stamps. If the secret leaked out, it was believed it might ruin the stamp-collecting hobby.

At 71, with eyesight failing and realizing that he could no longer maintain the high standard he set himself, de Sperati handed over all his equipment and most of his stamps, many of them finished products.

"I only kept a few for my personal satisfaction," he declared recently. De Sperati has lived in Aix-les-Bains for many years and built himself a comfortable villa called "Moonshine," overlooking the renowned spa.

NO LAW HINDERS

The only law governing the stamp faker, a specialist declared, is that of supply and demand. According to the market he adds the precious "surcharge," or washes out things which detract from the stamp's value.

He discolors, rejuvenates, ages or repairs a stamp to make it worth 100 or 100,000 times its face value. But faking stamps is a very touchy job, calling for extensive technical knowledge.

During the German occupation, stamps became a handy way for camouflaging capital. By the same token, with the advent of scores of amateur stamp collectors, the fakers flourished. The completely faked stamp however soon disappeared from the market—it was too difficult and too costly to reproduce.

There are some stamps valued at anything from a few hundred dollars to more than $30,000 apiece. What is more, their values are steadily increasing. And as all philatelists know, stamps represent the most valuable portable property in the world, a factor of paramount importance in times of war and international upset.

When de Sperati was hauled before the Customs authorities in 1942 for illicit exportation of capital—he had sent a collection of rare stamps to Portugal — and fined $900 — he shook the philatelical world.

"I a man 'art philatelist,' " he said. "These stamps which you think are originals are merely copies and I sell them as such."

It is true that when he sold his stamps to collectors he always wrote "facsimile" on the back in indelible pencil. But these marks were easily rubbed out by the unscrupulous. Enormous sums have been paid for de Sperati copies by big collectors who thought they were buying the genuine stamps.

As in every realm of art, stamp fakers now rarely fool any but the gullible and inexperienced collectors. Experts today have all the scientific means at their disposal to detect the authenticity of a stamp.

Eight Universities Work on Model Atom Smasher

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — They are trying something new in atom smashing at the University of Michigan. Eight midwest universities—Michigan, Illinois, Iowa, Indiana, Purdue, Minnesota, Wisconsin and Iowa State, are sending scientists to work on a model atom smasher combining two old principles which never have been used together.

The model will use a fixed magnetic field through which the atomic particles will move. Then oddly-shaped magnets will be stationed along the way to keep them on the track. They hope to produce more particles and move them faster than in present machines.

If the small 300-kilowatt machine works, they plan to build a machine of 20 billion electron volts. They hope to increase the amount of atomic work done in Midwest universities. Most work is now done on the East or West Coasts.

Solon Set to Get at Council Files

Rep. Celler Determined to Break Secret Aura in WOC Investigation

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Celler (D-NY) said today he will subpoena "everybody in sight," if necessary, to penetrate what he called the "aura of secrecy" around the Commerce Department's Business Advisory Council.

Celler is chairman of a House Judiciary subcommittee on monopolies investigating the role in government of "WOC's," or business men serving without compensation in federal agencies while continuing to draw salaries from their private firms.

Secretary of Commerce Weeks and the council's executive director, Walter S. White, refused yesterday to give the subcommittee access to the council's files and records. White said the files are in the department's custody and he could not produce them without violating the law.

The BAC is an unofficial group composed of some 165 officials of the nation's large corporations to advise the secretary of commerce on national business policy. It was established in the 1930s and has continued through Democratic as well as Republican administrations.

Celler said that unless Weeks agrees to testify personally on the council's role, he will subpoena "a whole slew of people" to get at the facts.

Auctioneer Appeals False Ad Decision

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP)—An auctioneer convicted of falsely advertising five paintings as the works of celebrated French artists is appealing his $250 fine and suspended 60-day jail septence.

A jury decided July 13 that Roy J. Goldenberg had made misleading statements in newspaper and catalog advertising, but that he had not made the statements with deliberate intent to defraud.

Goldenberg's attorney filed notice of appeal yesterday after Municipal Judge Henry H. Draeger levied the fine.

The auctioneer testified at the trial that he believed the paintings involved here authentic works.

Broad Jumping Bovines Give Rancher Bad Time

WEWOKA, Okla. (AP)—Seven itinerant cows who can start from a flat-footed position and jump over his fence — sometimes — have Hughes County rancher Earl Clark almost tearing out his hair.

Clark said the cattle wandered up to his ranch more than a month ago.

The rancher said the strays amuse themselves by juping his fences. He wouldn't mind if they cleared all the time. But he said sometimes from a flat-footed position, they don't make it, and the fence is bowled over.

'GI Joe' Joins Exclusive Circle of British Royalty

HASTINGS, England (INS)—GI Joe has joined Britain's most exclusive circle of crowned heads and famous names.

A Hastings, Sussex County, inn keeper has hung out a sign with the portrait of a smiling GI as the registered name of his place.

This is quite an honor for America's GI Joe.

British breweries and pub owners for centuries have used the names of former monarchs, leading statesmen or national heroes for their inn signs — the "King Alfred," the "Duke of Wellington," the "Lord Palmerston," etc.

You can now add "The GI."

The ad read: FOR SALE—Large dog house, $15. Poker Table, $15.

ROSSANO, Italy (AP) — Friends crowded into the tiny home of Agostino Capoverde near here yesterday for the baptism of his twin son and daughter.

Driver Waives Exam, Faces Arraignment

Hubert Benton, 49, of Walled Lake, waived examination when he was arraigned on a manslaughter charge yesterday before West Bloomfield Township Justice Elmer C. Dieterle.

Benton, who was bound over for arraignment in Circuit Court, was returned to Oakland County Jail on $2,500 bond.

He was the driver of a car which Monday night struck and killed 14-year-old Milton D. Andrews, of Commerce Township, while Andrews was riding a bicycle near his home.

Benton, according to Oakland County Sheriff's deputies, fled the scene and was arrested after his car was forced to stop by another motorist who witnessed the accident.

'Sgt. Friday' Changes Into Super-Salesman

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW ORLEANS (INS)—In the boom days of movies, a star wishing to promote his latest epic could merely clomp through Times Square on an arc-lighted elephant and be assured that he had it made. A movie queen could sip a few bubblies with John Gilbert and accomplish the same end.

Today, however, it's tough. An elephant with a movie star aboard is lucky to get a mention in "Mammals Monthly," and even the most involved love life will not lure folks from their cozy TV sets to their corner cinema.

No, a movie star these days has to give more.

And Jack Webb, the "Dragnet" man of television who has just made a movie, is giving his more. He has recruited an airplane, fitted it out with a crew, a valet and a bride (his, naturally), and is making a grass roots trip through 31 cities in 30 days.

"I know that such an extensive sales tour has never been made before," said Webb, eating crabmeat surrounded by press agents. "And sometimes I wonder" — he sponged his forehead with a napkin — "if such a tour will ever be made again."

Webb had been touring for eight days when he showed up here in New Orleans, where a scene from his "Pete Kelly's Blues" was filmed in a local graveyard, and if he was wearing of signing autographs and making jovial curtain speeches at small town premieres, he scarcely showed it.

NO WIFE BEATER

"I have not beat my wife yet," he said, and the lovely Grace Kelly-like Dorothy Webb stood up and exposed her arms to confirm a bruiseless condition. "Nor have I snapped at my publicity friends from Warner Brothers," and five press agents bowed their heads, as in prayer.

"But it is a bit wearing," Webb conceded, "having to answer the same questions time and again. I am particularly exhausted trying to think up polite ways to respond to that funny old query—'Are you a millionaire?'"

He has finally settled, he says, on a warm sad smile and the simple but effective word: "Huh-uh."

Webb's gargantuan tour of the country, which includes most of the big cities of the U.S. except New York, is not only to promote a movie. It is also to demonstrate to the people that the star of their top-rated TV show "Dragnet" is not just a cop named Friday.

PERILOUS EXPERIMENT

"Making this movie was an experiment perilous for me," he explains. "When you're typed in a role as I have been, you wonder whether anybody is going to accept you in any other part. I couldn't sit back at home and pray. I had to get out and see for myself if my transition from a cop to a jazz cornetist would work."

He still doesn't know whether it will or not. But by November, when he goes back to being a police sergeant on TV for 55 more winter weeks, he will have the box office figures. If they're good, he'll be relieved because it'll mean that Jack Webb isn't a rubber stamp actor who can never give up his Dragnet badge and try other roes.

If the box office indicates the country doesn't want its hero-cop to play a hot cornet, there are other things Webb can do, and well. Like directing, producing and hopping around the country signing autographs for big-eyed small-fray.

Meantime, he is doing one of the most strenuous selling jobs in movie history, lost two pounds in eight days, is doing as cheerfully as can be expected, and has seen "Pete Kelly's Blues" about 30 times in his role of star-director-producer-salesman.

"And after all those times, does it bore you a little?" we asked.

"What do you think?" said Webb.

Red China May Free 40 U.S. Prisoners

GENEVA (AP) — A Chinese Communist source said today his government and the United States are "near agreement" on the release of 40 Americans held by Peiping and only details remain to be worked out. There was no official confirmation of the report, however, from either the Americans or the Reds.

The Chinese source spread his report after U. S. Ambassador U. Alexis Johnson and Peiping envoy Wang Ping-Nan met for an hour and a half. It was the fifth of their secret talks here on the American prisoners and Chinese students the Red regime claims the United States is keeping from returning home.

The two ambassadors announced they would meet again Saturday morning. A U.S. spokesman would say only that Johnson and Wang continued their discussion on the repatriation of civilians.

Wholesale Foods Show 3c Price Hike in Week

NEW YORK (AP) — There was a slight rise this week in wholesale food prices as measured by the Dunn & Bradstreet index.

The index stood at $6.24 compared with $6.21 a week ago. In the same week a year ago the figure was $7.10.

The index represents the total cost at wholesale of one pound each of 31 foods in general use.

Higher were hams, bellies, lard, butter, eggs, steers, hogs and lambs. Lower were flour, wheat, corn, rye, oats, barley, sugar, coffee, cottonseed oil and cocoa.

At last estimates, Turkey had 116 daily newspapers.

Upper Peninsula Sees Straits Bridge Extending Far Beyond Mackinac Area

By JERRY SULLIVAN

MARQUETTE (AP)—How far will the Mackinac Bridge reach into the Upper Peninsula?

The $100,000,000 bridge, which will be over five miles long, including its approaches at St. Ignace and Mackinaw City, is expected to extend, figuratively, far to the north and west.

George E. Bishop, secretary manager of the Upper Peninsula Development Bureau at Marquette, puts it this way:

"The bridge will bring the two peninsulas of Michigan at least 100 miles closer together."

He explains: "It takes an average of two to three hours to cross the straits by ferry boat, including waiting in line. That's equivalent to 100 miles of driving.

'LIKE AN ACCORDION'

"The bridge will act like an accordion, squeezing the two parts of the state closer together."

The bridge is scheduled to open on time for deer season, 1957.

Dr. David B. Steinman, bridge designer, has predicted that traffic over the straits will double in the first year of the bridge's operation, then continue a steady growth.

That has set a lot of people in the Upper Peninsula figuring.

Bishop predicts that the Upper Peninsula's tourist industry, already worth $60,000,000 a year, will double with the increased traffic.

ALL-YEAR RESORTS

"Upper Michigan has tremendous potential as an all-year resort center," said Bishop. "It is already popular from summer through the autumn color and the deer season. Some day winter sports and spring fishing will attract nearly as many people as the cool summers."

Frank J. Russell Jr., Marquette publisher and hotel owner, has a more conservative prediction. "We don't look for any phenomenal development overnight," he said. "Rather we expect a steady expansion based on our timber and mineral resources,—plus the recreation industry.

The northern peninsula, he believes, is at least 15 years behind its neighbor, Wisconsin, in developing tourist facilities.

"As a wilderness playground," he said, "you can't top upper Michigan. But for tailor-made resort accommodations—it's another matter.

"The biggest question is: Where does the capital come from? How many people are going to sink $200,000 in a motel that will be filled only a few months of the year?"

NO OPPOSITION

At Ironwood, on the Wisconsin border, where local people opposed the bridge, City Commissioner Walter Olson expressed what seems a general opinion there: "Well, the bridge won't hurt us."

Ebasco Services Inc., of New York, which surveyed economic possibilities of the Upper Peninsula for the Michigan Economic Development Commission, singled out an unexpected resource of the area as its greatest potential.

"The most important single resource of the Upper Peninsula," said the Ebasco report, "is its people."

The 190-page report listed golden opportunities in forestry and wood products, in mining, the tourist industry and agriculture.

But in the final analysis, it came back to the people.

FULL DAY'S WORK

"Here is a labor force of workers who believe in giving a full day's work for their day's pay," the report said. "Workers in Upper Peninsula plants have 10 to 15 per cent greater productivity than workers in comparable plants in large metropolitan centers.

It is not difficult to sense this independence, even among the people of the hard-hit Copper Country. Ask a worker who has been on strike all summer, and who is trying to support a family of six on $25 a week in welfare money, plus a monthly allotment of government surplus food, how he is getting along.

"We're getting along just fine," he answers, looking you square in the eye.

Looking at the worst possible conditions in the whole peninsula, and seeing that look in a worker's face, you get a feeling that the future holds nothing but good.

Rattle Kills Baby

Report Steel Firms Can't Meet Demand

NEW YORK (INS) — The magazine Iron Age has reported that steel producers are wielding a heavy blue pencil on customer allotments in a desperate effort to restore a semblance of order to the market.

The publication noted that steel mills are going through one of the worst periods in recent years from a production and customer relations standpoint. It said that it is as hard on the mills as it is on consumers.

As Iron Age explained it, the steel companies were caught flat-footed by the continued strength of a market they thought would ease during the summer. Instead, it reported that incoming orders still are running 10 to 15 per cent ahead of capacity.

About 35 per cent of the people of Japan are under age 15.

Tourists Still Flock Despite Divorce Ban

CHARLOTTE AMALIE, V.I. (AP)—Quickie divorces are out, but the Virgin Islands are still riding a high tide of tourist business.

These small Caribbean islands in the last year have attracted 110,000 visitors who spent about 6½ million dollars along the narrow, steep streets of St.Thomas Island.

The death blow was given the divorce business early this year when the Supreme Court in Washington upheld a District Court's invalidation of a law granting divorces after six weeks' residence. Those seeking divorces spent $700 or more during their six-week stay.

But summer travel to the tropics is on the increase. All the large hotels now stay open year round.

Snarling Dog Pack Kills 21-Month-Old Alaska Tot

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — A 21-month-old boy was mauled and killed by vicious dogs yesterday.

He was Danny Betz of suburban Birchwood Park. His mother, Mrs. Lavelle Betz, found him in the midst of a snaring dog pack. He died an hour later in a hospital. His body was covered with deep gashes, the hospital said.

IT TAKES WIND—Little Edward Leedham, six-year-old son of a Kansas State College music instructor, blows up a storm in a talent exploration class at the Interlochen, Mich., National Music Camp. Carl Werner, music instructor at Webster Groves, Mo., holds the tuba while Edward musters a big puff.

Two Pontiac Explorer Scouts to Attend 8th World Jamboree Later This Month

Two Pontiac Explorer Scouts will join some 1,561 scouts and adult leaders at the eighth World Jamboree at Niagara-on-the-Lake, Ont., from Aug. 18 to 28.

About 10,000 Scouts and leaders of 28 nations will camp together, representing most scouting countries of the free world.

Dennis Jenks and Larry DeMilner, both Eagle Scouts, were chosen to attend from 700 Explorers in Clinton Valley Council.

A 10th grade student at St. Michael's School, DeMilmer is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin DeMilner, 3704 Lincolnshire, Lincoln Heights. He is a member of Explorer Scout Ship No. 5, sponsored by the First Congregational Church.

Jenks is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bigelow, 1011½ Dwight St., and is a member of Troop 244, sponsored by Grace Lutheran Church. Jenks plans to attend Pontiac High School this fall.

In competition held at Eastern Junior High School, the two explorers won over 22 other finalists

After attending a pre-Jamboree training camp in Indiana this week, the two boys will tour the eastern part of the U.S. and visit the International Exposition at Toronto before arriving at Niagara-on-the-Lake.

The eighth World Jamboree is significant in that it's the first time such an event has been held in the Western hemisphere.

The United States contingent consists of Explorers between 14 and 17 years of age. Each has a record of good leadership and camping experience, and is in good physical condition.

Special demonstrations and displays by scouts of several nations will provide a panorama of scoutcraft and camping skills.

The first World Jamboree was held in London in 1920, and was attended by 18,000 scouters from 27 countries.

Takes New Post

HARBOR SPRINGS (AP) — Max Hamilton has resigned as principal of Harobr Springs high school to take a post as superintendent of schools at Pickford in the Upper Peninsula. He will be succeeded at Harbor Springs by William Walker.

Bee-Swatting Speeder Produces Proof Positive

ELMIRA, N.Y. (AP)—Mrs. Henrietta B. Hewitt, 63, pushed down too hard on the accelerator of her car as she swatted a bee that flew down her neck.

Pleading guilty to a speeding charge in Recorder's Court yesterday she produced as evidence a slip she said she was wearing at the time. It had a squashed bee in the lace.

Impressed, Judge Henderson Riggs fined her $5 instead of the usual $20.

Earl Leaps to Defense of Beauty Contest Girls

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—I wish all you intellectual readers of mine—who can't put my column down till you've finished it to the last drip—would quit being lofty and snooty about girls who enter beauty contests.

Great beauty is God-given like Sinatra's voice or Willie Mays' sprint.

Why shouldn't a girl take advantage of her beauty — if Sinatra uses his voice and Willie Mays his speed? Still, the Brittle Set curls its lip at beauty contentants. And so some girls make up yarns about an idiot aunt sending their picture in, "I was so-o-o-o- surprised," the little fibbers'll tell you.

MYRNA HANSEN

Then some folks feel all beauty queens are brainless.

I guess Mary Healy, an ex-Miss New Orleans; Bess Myerson and Lee Ann Meriweather, who were Miss Americas, and Myrna Hansen, an ex-Miss United States, have riddled that snobbishness somewhat.

Seeing as how you forced me to talk about it, did you know there are 30 top contests a year, costing $36,000,000 to promote—and that 18 new doll faces will be here competing for the United Artists-Miss Exquisite Form title . . . Frankly on their "shape."

Beauty contests, anyway, are now Big Business.

Some 17,250 legitimate "Queens" of something or other are picked each year excluding the Miss Waffle Irons and the Miss Pajama Bottomses. The United Artists-Miss Exquisite Form contest gives $75,000 in prizes, including a $10,000 Hollywood contract.

BEVERLY JANSEN

One girl has copped 67 titles in 15 months, about one a week.

The Boston entrant, Beverly Jansen, who's taking pre-law at Bryant College, Providence, R. I., has only a measly 7 or 8 titles.

I've judged at both Miss America and Miss Universe which makes me about as well-rounded as the girls. They are the highest-type young ladies in the world.

Nor are beauty queens forgotten as once upon a time. Jinx Falkenberg, Kyle MacDonnell, Linda Darnell, Dorothy Lamour and Joan Blondell have been beauty winners. Miss Blondell, an Atlantic City runner-up, once said she was glad she didn't win, for in a year she'd have been forgotten.

Today's crop won't be forgotten. They're a surprising bunch.

I asked Myrna Hansen what her plans were before she became Miss United States and got into Hollywood.

"Why," she said, "I loved horses and had entered college in Colorado. I was going to become a veterinarian."

★ ★ ★ ★

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Liberace says, "The only female the reporters haven't paired me with so far is the Statue of Liberty."

Howard Hughes' asking price to lend out Jane Russell for a movie is $300,000 . . . Lana Turner and Lex Barker will build a home in Acapulco. That's earl, brother.

No Matter What He Remains Staunch Dem

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Henry G. Gilmer, who says he was born in a southwest Virginia log cabin almost entirely surrounded by Republicans, is retiring as State Comptroller of Virginia after 14 years.

A staunch Democrat, he says he disregarded the advice of his father to stay away from politics. In the Old Dominion he has a reputation for picking the outcome of political contests. He is 74 and has been active in politics for nearly 40 years.

Province Reaps Seaweed Profits

Plant's Useful Products Spur Growing Industry in Nova Scotia

WASHINGTON — Nova Scotia is looking to lowly seaweed as a growing source of wealth.

Many sea-bordered lands cash in on seaweed for use in anti-biotics, fertilizers, and human and animal foods. Nova Scotia saw its seaweed industry burgeon during World War II. Seeking further expansion, the province has systematically surveyed harvesting areas and located good stands along many of its coasts, the National Geographic Society says.

The Nova Scotia Research Foundation is cooperating with buyers and processors to stimulate seaweed output. Fishermen have been urged to make seaweed harvesting a supplementary occupation.

Irish Moss, or carrageen, is perhaps the best known seaweed to Americans. It is found off Nova Scotia's coast and along Prince Edward Island in the Gulf of St. Lawrence. Children know one of its chief uses: the making of blancmange, long popular as a dessert in Europe and the United States.

USES VARIED

Seaweed, like the soybean and corn, turns up in widely varying concoctions around the world.

The extract, carrageenin, is used as a stabilizer in chocolate milk, ice cream, salad dressings, soda fountain syrups, tooth paste, cough syrup and hand lotion. German technologists transformed Norwegian seaweeds into edible sausage casings.

Dulse, a coarse red seaweed, is eaten raw and dry as a salad in Iceland, Scotland and other northern countries. It serves also as a thickener of gravies, soups and sauces.

Purple laver, another red seaweed, is eaten by the Chinese. It is used in American Chinese restaurants as an ingredient of soup. Some Pacific Coast Indians also eat seaweed. The Japanese in America once imported Japanese kelps as a food item, finding the Oriental forms more tasty than the American kelps.

North Europeans have long used easily obtainable seaweeds as livestock provender. In winter and sometimes even in summer sheep and cattle graze on Ireland's coastal seaweeds. Processed kelp products are bought extensively in America for stock feeding.

Physical Basis for 'Pain in Neck' Claims Doctor

KANSAS CITY (INS) — Dr. S. Charles Freed of San Francisco claims there is a physical basis for the saying, "He is a pain in the neck."

Dr. Freed wrote in the official publication of the American Academy of General Practice that anger, anxiety, apprehension and fear cause a contraction of the voluntary muscles of the body, and especially of the head and neck. This results in a headache.

He explained that "persons, like animals, have a 'flight or fight' reaction when alarmed.

"Animals tense their muscles at the moment of deciding whether to fight or flee," he said. "Humans ordinarily do not have that freedom to fight or run, although they undergo the same basic muscular contractions."

Dr. Freed believes, despite claims that persons who develop tension headaches have a specific type of personality, that "practically anyone who is subjected to sufficient emotional strain will develop similar head or neck pains."

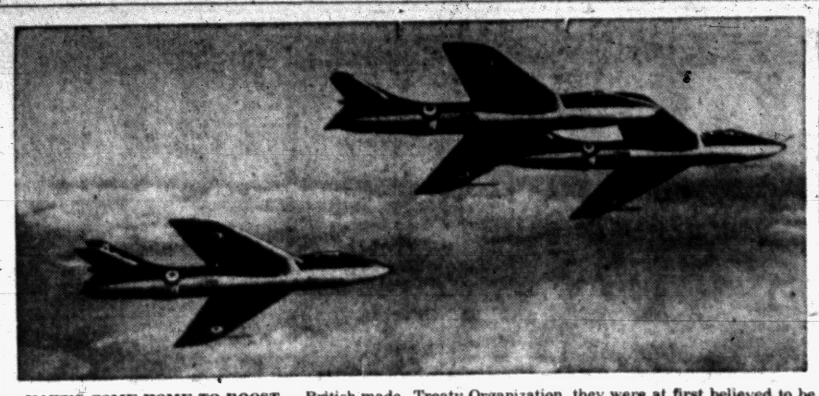

The doctor said recent experiments showed a combination of aspirin and a sedative proved successful in 64 per cent of a group of severe tension headache cases studied. Other types of treatment include psychological, involving a discussion of the patient's problems and use of mild hypnosis, and prysical therapy massage, diathermy and heat to reduce the rigidity of the muscles.

Sneaky Snakes Gang Up on Poor Housewife

BLOOMSBURG, Pa. (AP) — "Keep your eyes open, there may be another one around," the state road worker told Mrs. Ario Sweppenheiser after he killed a 35-inch rattlesnake in her back yard with a shovel.

Still a little nervous, the woman started out her back door only to find a bigger rattler coiled on the steps. Carl Hunsinger, a neighbor, shot it. It measured 40 inches.

HAWKS COME HOME TO ROOST — British-made Hawker Hunter jets — 140 million dollars' worth — are being bought by the United States for use by the Royal Air Force, according to a Defense Department announcement. On order since 1953 under the United States off-shore procurement program which is designed to build up armament of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, they were at first believed to be intended for the new German air force. The 465 planes will replace some 400 F-86 Sabre Jets the United States assigned to the RAF in 1952 and 1953, at a "critical time" in Britain's airpower build-up. Sabre Jets will be assigned to other countries, according to a department spokesman.

Leap Year System

According to our present calendar, every year divisible by four is a leap year, with the exception of those years divisible by 100 but not by 400. Thus, the years 1700, 1800 and 1900 were not leap years.

Rehabilitation Center for Alcoholics Opens

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—Dr. John F. Jellema has been appointed physician for the new Grand Rapids Alcholics Rehabiliaion Center, expected to open late this month.

Morris Barrett, director of the center, said Dr. Jellema will serve on a part time basis at a salary of about $4,000 a year. The city and the Michigan State Board of Alcoholism share operating costs of the center, which carries a budget of about $60,000 a year.

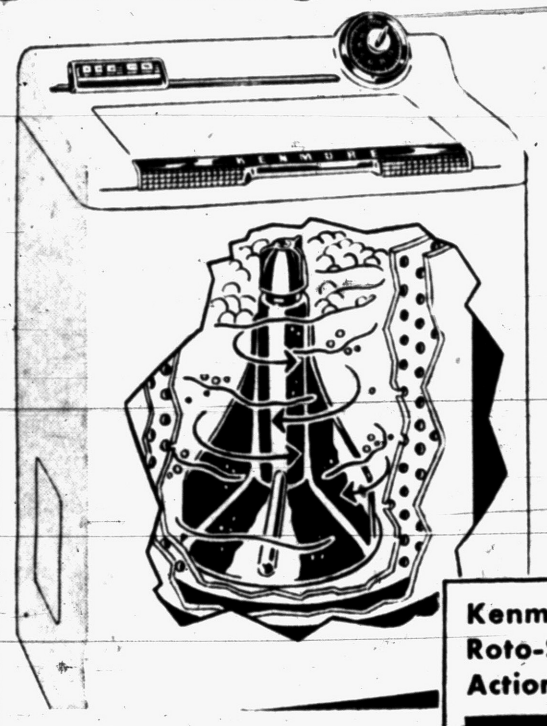

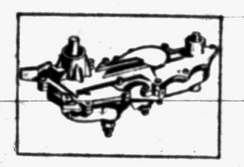

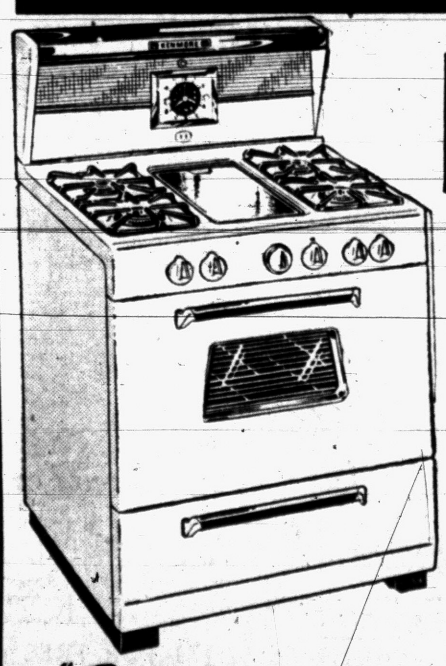

The project, first of its kind in Michigan and rare elsewhere in the nation, already has a waiting list, Barrett said. He added that appointments of a qualified social worker, receptionist and four attendants will be announced before the center begins operations.

Tower at Gettysburg Reopened to Tourists

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP) — An observation tower on Gettysburg battlefield, near President Eisenhower's farm, was reopened to tourists last weekend.

The tower was closed, at the request of Secret Service agents, shortly after President Eisenhower began spending considerable time at the farm. Agents observed privately that the tower was close enough to permit someone with a high powered rifle to take a pot shot toward the President's farm home.

Officials would give no explanation for reopening of the tower, although it probably will be kept under surveillance during Eisenhower's visits here.

IN THE DAYS OF DAVY CROCKETT — Told by an Old Scout

Now when Travis came to Anahuac he found a force of Mexican soldiers stationed there. They were commanded by a renegade American who liked nothing better than shoving citizens around. This stirred up Buck's dander, as you can well imagine.

This renegade (don't rightly recollect his name) had a reputation for downright meanness. He'd been caught, the story went, stealing slaves. In Davy Crockett's days, too, you see, there were some bad folks. Anyway, the law stuck the renegade in jail.

Before the fellow could be brought to trial so people might get the straight of the story, he sawed his way out of jail and high-tailed it to Mexico. There the renegade fought on the Mexicans' side in their revolution against Spain and made himself out a big "hero."

The renegade's high-and-mighty actions got Buck Travis boiling mad. He called meetings of the citizens, told them they had certain rights and they should use force, if need be, to preserve them. Buck knew his law from A to Z and guns didn't scare him.

Berserk Nuclear Reactor Shuts Down Automatically

CHICAGO (AP)—A nuclear reactor, allowed to run wild in more than 200 experiments, has shut itself down automatically each time before excessively high temperatures could destroy it.

Details of the experiments, conducted at the Argonne laboratory in suburban Lemont, were to be given today in Geneva, Switzerland at the international conference on peaceful uses of atomic energy.

The tests have demonstrated an important safety factor for industry which is getting ready to go into the field of atomic energy to supply electric power.

The laboratory has stated that the reactor, known as Borax 1, literally blew its top in the tests, demonstrating the automatic control possible.

The scientists actually tried to destroy the reactor in a test on July 22, 1954. The power was shot up suddenly and a column of dark gray smoke shot out of the reactor to a height of 80 feet. There was a sharp detonation.

Although the reactor was damaged, the explosion was a relatively mild one, comparable to a few pounds of TNT. There was no atomic explosion.

Soviet President Absent at Public Gatherings

MOSCOW (AP)—Western observers have noted the continued absence from public gatherings of Nikolai Shvernik, former President of the Soviet Union. Recurring reports say that he is ill.

Shvernik is now chairman of the Central Council of Trade Unions of the U.S.S.R. When the body opened its third plenary meeting here recently, Vice Chairman L.N. Solovyev presided.

Bob Considine Says:

Brazilian Government Parallels Our Style

RIO DE JANEIRO (INS)—Brazil is perhaps more closely allied to the U. S. politically than other Latin American neighbors. The constitution calls for universal suffrage and the secret ballot. The streets shudder these days and nights with amplified political songs every bit as tuneless and cluttered with rudderless lyrics as our own. Walls are plastered with the smiling faces of three leading candidates for the chair of President Cafe Filho, who retires January 1 without (1) a pension such as we give our chief executives when we turn them out to pasture, and (2) without regrets.

The visitor also finds familiar overtones here of a dormant or dead U. S. mistrust of its politicos. The other night a rich Brazilian coffee magnate said to me:

"My family has been in this country for almost 500 years. We are sensitive to Brazilian traditions and culture. I have many close friends among your leaders and I agree that your form of government is close to ideal. Yet I'd much rather see our military take over our country for a time until we can get a better set of politicians or the political wisdom of the masses increases. A free election October 3 would be a calamity.

"Our people seem to have no taste politically. It is especially bad in Sao Paulo, filled more and more by new people who don't know the old Brazil and care less. They'd just as soon elect a football player if they trusted him enough." He said "football player" like an epithet.

President Cafe Filho has given his solemn assurances that there will indeed by an election on October 3, but several influential newspapers are plugging for military rule. They argue generally that the election of the popular team of Juscelino Kubischek and Jango Goulart, now favored to win, will mean a return to the political philosophy of the late president and dictator Vargas.

VARGAS SUICIDE

Vargas committed suicide a year ago in the wake of the assassination by his bodyguards of an air force major who happened to be at the side of the intended target, a vigorous anti-Vargas newsman.

The Brazilian army brass recently criticized the calibre of Brazilian politicians, an opinion rather widely held by our own military but vigorously muted. The chief difference between us and Brazil, however, is that there seems to be general acceptance of the belief that the Brazilian army holds veto power over the decision to be made by the voters in October.

The only question in the minds of people I talked to is whether the army will risk the censure of the free world by invoking that veto.

Brazilian newspapermen (and radio and TV people) are not required to pay income taxes, a status they share with the country's teachers. The newsmen pay no real estate taxes either, unless they buy more than one house or building. They are liable to none of the heavy duties placed on such imported luxuries as automobiles.

The Press Club of Brazil in downtown Rio puts all U. S. counterparts to shame. It is housed on the top six floors of a club-owned 13-story building, modern and functional. Initiation fee for working reporters is $5. Dues are 50 cents a month. Steak dinners cost 50 cents. There is a free hospital, library, recreation rooms, theater and penthouse club and gardens.

The grand old man of Brazilian journalism, Herbert Moses of "O Globo," secured the land free from the mayor of Rio and won a check for $200,000 from Dictator Vargas as the initial contribution to the building fund. The rest, to quote an old Brazilian proverb, is history.

Brazil gets more military jet training than it gets military jets. We've permitted it to buy a few obsolete F-84s and T-33 trainers. North American and Canadair would like to sell it some F-86s but Brazil doesn't have enough dollars. In exchange for coffee it has picked up some British jets, as did Argentina with meat.

Venezuela is the jet power of South America. It bought its fleet of British Canberra bombers with oil, a more persuasive currency than either coffee or meat.

There are at least 150 species of the maple tree.

Businessmen Are Giving Greater Amounts for School Campaigns

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (RNS)—Businessmen are giving increasingly larger amounts to colleges that conduct united financial campaigns, Dr. Samuel J. Harrison of Detroit told a fund-raising clinic at the 11th annual Institute of Higher Education here.

The institute was jointly sponsored by the National Council of Churches, the Methodist Board of Education's division of educational institutions, the Presbyterian Church in the U. S. (Southern), the Methodist Woman's Division of Christian Service, the Methodist University Senate, and Scarritt College of Nashville.

Dr. Harrison is executive director of the Michigan Colleges Foundation, the first such agency to be formed.

"Since our group was incorporated in 1949," he said, "the foundation movement has spread to 40 states."

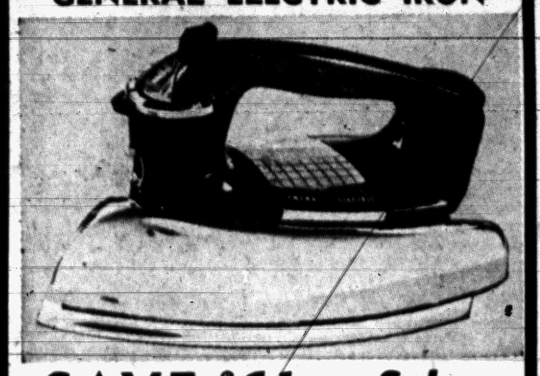

Citing the Michigan group as an example, Dr. Harrison pointed out that it received $205,475 last year, when its membership had risen to 14 colleges. In 1950, its first year of operation, the foundation obtained $9,580 for its then five members.

"Our 14 colleges have more than 7,700 students and a combined faculty of 630," he said. "We are seeking to raise $350,000, or 5 per cent of their total annual budget of $7,000,000 this year."

Saving Lives Becoming Regular Habit for Modesto, Califorina, Fire Chief

MODESTO, Calif. (NEA)—Saving lives has gotten to be a wonderful habit with Jack Stone, fire-chief of Modesto. When he fished four-year-old Wanda Horton out of an irrigation canal last year and revived her with artificial respiration, it was his fifth lifesaving act in eight months.

Five days earlier Stone had revived a woman who had fallen into the same canal. The winter before, he had restored breathing for three members of a family overcome by gas fumes from an unvented stove.

As a result, Stone topped the 1954 recipients of the American Red Cross Certificate of Merit. The awards go to persons trained in Red Cross techniques of first aid or water safety who perform life-saving acts by use of these methods.

Since 1910, when Red Cross first aid instruction began, 16,300,000 certificates have been issued for completion of junior, standard, advanced, and instructor courses, according to A. W. Cantwell, national director of safety services for the Red Cross.

A total of 10,300,000 certificates in swimming, lifesaving, small craft, and water safety instructor training have been issued since 1914, when the water safety program started.

163 GET AWARDS

Last year, 163 certificates of merit were awarded. Men and boys outnumbered women and girls more than five to one. But the youngest was a girl, nine-year-old Joyce Neylon of Stockton, Calif. She plunged into a river and rescued a five-year-old playmate.

Another heroine was Marilyn Baker Haar, 18, of Savannath, Ga. She was a one of a party of five whose motorboat overturned in the Atlantic, trapping its companions in the below-decks compartments with only inches of breathing space above them. She pulled out her four companions, supported two in the water because they could not swim, and instructed all four to cling to the capsized boat until rescuers arrived.

Barbara Edwards, 14, of Croyden, Pa., heard cries from a neighbor's yard. She ran outdoors to discover that Jimmy Wert, 19 months old, had fallen head first into a large pickle crock filled with water. Barbara, remembering her first aid training received in school a year before, promptly applied artificial respiration and restored the child's breathing.

D. L. Fletcher, 20, Nebraska telephone lineman, was placing a cross-arm on a telephone pole near Omaha when a broken insulator released a high-tension line. The across his own safety strap, brought him to the ground, and immediately applied artificial respiration.

SAVES LINEMAN

His foreman, John D. Hodges, 44, climbed the pole and, working within inches of the fearful wire, lifted the 190-pound Fletcher to his shoulder. He then released the unconscious man's strap, laid him across his own safety strap, brought him to the ground, and immediately applied artificial respiration.

Several of the certificate recipients were credited with preventing accident victims from bleeding to death.

One was Sister Mary Geraldine of the Order of Notre Dame, teacher in a parochial school in Beverly, Mass. When a pupil accidentally thrust his hand through a glass door, severing an artery in his wrist, she applied a tourniquet made of a necktie and a ruler to control the bleeding.

At White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., Mrs. C. E. Hanna was standing on a table, hanging curtains. The table collapsed, and Mrs. Hanna, in falling, thrust her arm through the window, severing an artery.

Her cries attracted Howard Southern, X-ray technician, who came to her assistance. He controlled the bleeding, put Mrs. Hanna in his car, and drove her to a hospital.

Famed Alphorn Sent to England

Horns of Every Shape Are Used by People in Isolated Regions

WASHINGTON—The deep voice of the alphorn, famous for its echoes in the high mountains of Switzerland, will soon be heard in an unexpected role—calling school time in rural England.

The traditional Swiss alphorn is made of a young pine trunk, split lengthwise, hollowed out and bound with wood fiber, says the National Geographic Society. Some are 18 feet long.

Broadening to an open-mouthed curve at the end, the alphorn looks like a giant smoking pipe. Usually the tree from which it is formed has grown on the side of a precipice, developing the special curve that gives tone and volume. Blown while resting on the ground, the horn gives out a blast resembling the hoarse cry of a foghorn. It can be heard for miles.

Around the world isolated peoples often communicate by horns. In the lofty Himalayas, Buddhist lamas call followers to religious festivals by blowing a huge instrument remindful of Europe's alphorn but without its curve.

The aborigines of Australia delight in their didjeridoo, a big bamboo stem, taller than a man, whose core has been burned out by fire sticks. Ornately decorated, it produces weird, far-reaching humming noises as the operator mouths words and vibrates his lips.

Araucanian Indians of south-central Chile still cling to their ancestors' trutruca, another long bamboo tube, this one ending in a cow's horn. When its woody pieces have been dried, split, rejoined and covered with a piece of horse intestine, it moans a rhythmic monologue essential to Araucanian ceremonials from birth to burial.

New Reno Hotel to Spurn Games

Fishing, Hunting to Be Major Attractions of Holiday Resort

RENO, (INS) — A group of Nevada and California financiers, millionaires in their own right, are staking a $2,000,000 gamble on the premise that not everybody who comes to Reno likes to gamble.

They broke ground in Reno last month for a 200-room luxury hotel along the banks of the bubbling Truckee River that will be unique among Nevada resort hotels — it will have no gambling, no floor show or night club.

The new Holiday Hotel will, instead, cater to two lucrative but often neglected classes of Reno visitors — the businessmen and the sportsman.

"There are," says Norman Biltz, "a million pheasant shooters to one crap shooter."

SPEAKS WITH AUTHORITY

Biltz is a man who speaks with authority — his vocation and avocation for nearly three decades has been luring contented millionaires to Nevada to live. In the process he has become one himself, eight or ten times over.

His diverse activities have included real estate, the contracting business, oil, borax and uranium, ranching and the establishment of new industries. All of that has won him the title of "Duke of Nevada."

Associated with him in the building of the Holiday Hotel are his partner in real estate holdings, engineer, banker and lobbyist Johnny Mueller; shipping and lumber magnates R. Stanley Dollar, Senior and Junior; and Reno, automobile dealer Marsh Johnson, a partner with Biltz in the Nevada Air Products Co., a subcontractor for Douglas Aircraft.

SPORTSMAN KING

The sportsman will be King at the Holiday. He will be shown where to fish — even how, if necessary. His catch will either be cleaned and served to him, or frozen and packaged with the Holiday label ready to be carried home. The same will be true of game.

The hotel's 200 rooms will each have a lanai-type balcony and it's theoretically possible for persons in the rooms lining the Truckee to fish off their own front porch — the Truckee is a famed trout stream even in the section that bisects the heart of Reno.

"We don't want Reno to become known as a one sport area—gambling. Gambling actually keeps out several classes of substantial and interesting citizens and we are really in the middle of what is a sportsman's paradise."

Korean Protest Rallies Abate

World Opinion Pressure Dampens Rash Attitude Against Truce Teams

SEOUL (AP)—Organized Korean demonstrations against the Neutral Nations Supervisory Commission virtually halted today as free world opinion came crashing down on President Syngman Rhee and his government's threats against the truce teams.

Crowds were still milling around at the five ports of entry throughout South Korea where the truce inspectors are stationed. But most of the demonstrations consisted of shouting and waving banners.

A U.S. 8th Army spokesman reported "all quiet everywhere."

Demonstrators, once numbered in the thousands, had dropped off to 200 at Inchon, Kunsan and Taegu, 300 to 600 at Pusan and 100 at Kangnung.

The government again today cautioned against violence.

I five days of riots, 22 American soldiers and 80 Koreans have been injured, none seriously.

This morning, the reactions poured in from Washington and London. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles said the United States would fulfill its armistice obligation to protect the truce commission and admonished the Korean government to move with caution in attempting to drive the NNSC from the Republic of Korea.

Daredevil Octogenarian Will Stick to 'Cycles

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — G. W. Wilkinson is 80 and wants no part of automobiles.

"I don't feel safe," he said.

When he wants to get out, he rides his motorcycle — just as he has been doing for 53 years. The only accident he's had was when he was 77. A car hit him but he turned his wheel so he was only "knocked across the street."

"Only trouble was," he explains, "another car was coming the other way and knocked me against a fence, broke my nose, cracked three ribs and split my head open. But I got right back on my motor when I got out of the hospital."

Talk to 'Em, Boy

ROANOKE, Va. (AP) — A farmer is entitled to a little conversation" when he pays a fee to a veterinarian. That's what Virginia's Commissioner of Agriculture Parke Brinkley told a meeting of veterinarians here. Don't just pocket the fee and leave, but tell the farmer what's wrong with the animal, Brinkley said. He said it was good public relations.

Flood Rages on Jap Isle

SAPPORO, Japan (AP)—Torrential rains sent flood waters swirling yesterday across 4,000 acres of farmland and through more than 2,000 farm homes in central Hokkaido.

Kyodo news agency said there were no reports of death or injury.

Today's Tots Lack 2 Vital Needs in Daily Diet

MANHATTAN, Kas. (INS) — A survey, conducted recently among a group of nine, 10, and 11-year-old Kansas children, shows that only one in ten has a diet conforming fully to the recommended nutrients allowance.

Abby Marlatt of the department of foods and nutrition at Kansas State College, who directed the survey said diets were studied for 645 children representative of students in 18 elementary schools in small towns and rural areas.

Miss Marlatt added:

"In general, the average child's diet meet the requirements for adequate nutrition, with the exception of calcium and ascorbic acid."

She pointed out that the best source of calcium is milk, but the survey showed only three of every ten children were getting the minimum amount, three cups a day.

Four of every ten children were short on ascorbic acid, which is gotten principally through citrus fruits.

Miss Marlatt said school lunch programs, by providing each child with a half pint of milk a day, improved calcium intake, but increased the ascorbic acid consumed only slightly. She added.

"This indicates that even school lunch programs cannot make up for inadequate diets at home."

Despite the diet inadequacies revealed in the study, researchers observed no outward signs of nutritive deficiencies among the children and discovered they were larger and heavier than children of the same age in 1940.

Michigan Medical Convention Planned

The group is the largest in 13 conventions booked for September, the start of the city's winter convention season.

Miss Thalia VanHoosen, assistant convention bureau manager, said a total of 6,000 visitors during the month probably will spend $450,000 in the city.

Detectives Say Youth Is Dead

Evanston, Ill. Boy Scout, Missing Since July 5, Believed 'Not Alive'

MUSKEGON (AP) — Two Detroit detectives experienced in missing person cases say they believe Peter Gorham, 12-year-old Evanston, Ill. Boy Scout who disappeared July 5, is dead.

Chief of Detectives Marvin G. Lane and Inspector R. Cochill told a meeting of law enforcement officials here last night they based their contentions on an interview with the boy's father, Frederick A. Gorham, who came here from Evanston to consult with police.

They said the father's description of his son's characteristics convinced them that "any boy so devoted to his home, parents and church associates" would have contacted his parents by now if he were alive.

Peter last was seen hiking with a group of Scouts at camp Wabaningo near Duck Lake in Western Michigan.

Several persons have reported seeing boys answering Peter's description but none has given police any tangible clue to his whereabouts.

Fire Prevention Man Saves Flaming Auto

KALAMAZOO (AP) — Emmett T. Cox, of Chicago, is a field representative of the western actuarial bureau, which promotes fire prevention.

And for that, Charles Snyder of Kalamazoo can be thankful.

Snyder was cruising along U.S. 12 oblivious to anything wrong last night. But Cox, en route from Chicago to Detroit, saw something wrong as he pulled up behind Snyder.

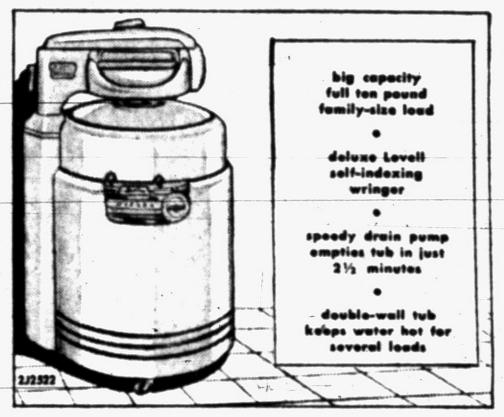

Forcing Snyder to the curb, Cox grabbed a fire extinguisher, which he carries as standard equipment, and put out a fire in the rear of Snyder's car. The blaze apparently had been started by the exhaust pipe.

See Flying Black Donut, Waterford Trio Reports

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP — A report of a flying saucer or, more specifically, a "flying donut" seen over Waterford Township about 8:25 p.m. last night has local police baffled.

Three of the four adults who saw the "huge black ring" a few moments after sunset think it might have been an object from another planet. One says it "definitely was not a flying saucer," but admits the weird sight has him guessing.

The object was first seen by Mrs. Evelyn Velsey, of 6208 Adamson Rd., who rushed to her neighbor, Mrs. Bernice Jozwik, of 6151 Adamson. Mrs. Bernice Roth, 3173 Airport Rd., also saw the phenomenon. All three women watched the object, which they described as "solid black, in the shape of a circle."

Mrs. Jozwik's husband, Francis, a technical writer with GMC Truck & Coach Division, also was called out to see the flying disk.

"It definitely was not a flying saucer," he said. "But what it was has me puzzled."

"It was a thin perfect circle, solid black—it looked like it might be solid metal—with an open center. I watched it for four to five minutes, and my wife and the neighbors watched it longer.

"It appeared from the direction of Maceday Lake and traveled due east at about 150 miles per hour, I'd say. At first I thought it was about 100 feet in diameter, but it went into a cirrus cloud where it changed shape and appeared elongated and then square.

"Cirrus clouds travel at a height of 8,000 to 10,000, so I realized then it was farther away than I thought and must be at least three quarters of a mile in diameter, with an open center of about half a mile.

"It came toward us and then suddenly faded out."

Officials of McMath Hulbert Observatory at Lake Angelus said they had not seen the object and were unable to give any explanation as to what it might be.

You Mean They Exist?

$30 Million Due State for Roads

Federal Funds Must Be Matched 50-50 by Michigan

WASHINGTON (AP)—Michigan will receive 30 million dollars in federal highway aid in the fiscal year beginning next July 1.

The highway aid is that regularly authorized in the past by Congress. Bills for a big new program were considered at the last congressional session but not passed.

As usual, with certain exceptions, the federal funds must be matched on a 50-50 basis by the states for work on primary, secondary and urban systems. The federal governemnt supplies 60 per cent of the money for the interstate network.

Michigan is among seven big states, led by New York and Texas, that get 35 per cent of the total 875 million dollars in federal-aid money. The others are California, Pennsylvania, Illinois and Ohio.

BREAKDOWN GIVEN

The Michigan apportionment includes $9,858,361 for primary roads; $6,017,283 for secondary roads; $8,072,113 for urban and $6,205,304 for the interstate system. The total aid amounts to $30,153,061.

The nation's primary road system covers 215,594 miles of rural roads and 18,812 miles of urban highways that make up nearly all of the country's main roads.

The interstate network of 40,000 miles covers the most highly traveled portions of the primary system. The secondary or farm-to-market roads cover 482,972 miles and are those routes not on the primary system that best serve transportation needs of the rural population.

In announcing the new apportionment Secretary of Commerce Weeks said the allotments were being made five months ahead of the time limit set by Congress.

Area Police Are Seeking Missing Ortonville Boy

Area police are seeking a 14-year-old Ortonville youth reported missing since Saturday night.

Jimmy Hoover, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold T. Hoover, was reported wearing grey slacks and a pink T-shirt trimmed in black when last seen at his home at 5947 Oakwood Rd.

The youth is described as weighing 125 pounds, 5 feet tall with dark hair and eyes and a dark complexion.

Relatives believe the youth might be seeking employment on a farm.

Attorneys Here Advocate Statewide Speed Control

Two local attorneys, experienced in handling accident cases from both the defense and prosecution sides, today advocated two steps which they feel will cut down on the appalling number of traffic deaths in Michigan.

Chief Assistant Oakland County Prosecutor George F. Taylor and Pontiac attorney Bernard Girardrecommended a statewide speed limit and increasing size of the State Police traffic patrol.

"Most fatal accidents are caused by cars traveling at high speeds," said Girard. "Indiana has had success in cutting down serious traffic mishaps by enforcing a 55 mile-per-hour speed limit during the day and a 50 limit at night.

"We would need more State Police to make sure motorists abided by a general restriction."

Motorists found guilty of a second speeding offense at ten mile or more over the limit should be given a jail sentence, Taylor stated.

He also advocated that fines for driving offenses should be made uniform all over the state.

"A driver can be fined $5 in one place and $40 in another for the same offense." Lack of uniformity in punishments tends to make motorists feel they can "get off easy," Taylor added.

"In today's heavy traffic, it will almost always take two hours to cover 100 miles no matter how fast a person attempts to go," Girard said.

Royal Oak High Pupils Protest Renaming School

A group of Royal Oak High School seniors last night presented petitions containing 1,648 signatures to the board of education against changing the name of their school.

The board July 21 resolved to rename the present high school after U.S. Rep. George A. Dondero (R-Royal Oak) and name a new high school, under construction at Crooks and Thirteen Mile Rds., in honor of Board President Clarence Kimball.

Senior class secretary, Joan Coulton, 17, explained the students' position.

"This is not a protest against Mr. Dondero," she said, "but the students feel we should have been allowed to participate in any renaming. It affects our school tradition and we feel we should have something to say."

The board's action in renaming the old school, located on Washington street between Eleven and Twelve Mile Rds., was done without advance notice, she asserted.

Royal Oak School Superintendent James C. Covert said the matter had been discussed editorially in area newspapers prior to the board's action.

During the meeting, Board President Kimball offered to resign, but was dissuaded by the other members.

Nurse at State Hospital Injured in Auto Mishap

Pontiac State Hospital nurse Hisel Ferguson, 35, of Waterford Township, was reported in good condition at Pontiac General Hospital today with a broken knee suffered when her car struck an incinerator at Cooley Lake Road and Lake Vista Road yesterday.

She told Waterford Township Police she lost control of her car in loose gravel on a turn.

Two Are Sentenced in Municipal Court

Municipal Court Judge Cecil B. McCallum yesterday sentenced one Waterford man for furnishing beer to minors and a 20-year-old Waterford youth for illegal possession of beer.

Noble Lee Collie, 29, of 2829 Buick St., Waterford, pleaded guilty to a charge of furnishing beer to a minor and was fined $25 and sentenced to five days in Oakland County jail.

Robert Lee Conway of the same address pleaded guilty to a charge of possession of beer and was sentenced to 30 days and fined $100.

Sylvan Council Will Examine Facilities Bids

Sylvan Lake's City Council will meet informally tonight to review bids for water system facilities received at its official meeting last night.

Purpose of the meeting is to examine "with a fine tooth comb" the bids for two pump houses, pumps, equipment and a 150,000-gallon water storage tank, said City Manager Ernest L. Ethier.

At last night's meeting, the council set a public hearing for 7:30 p.m. Aug. 24 concerning rezoning a parcel of land on Orchard Lake road from business-retail classification to lumber-wholesale and retail.

Ethier gave his second progress report on the city's new water system and stated that 30,000 feet of mains have been laid by the contractor.

The manager also read a letter from the Michigan State Highway Dept. district traffic engineer recommending that a traffic signal be installed at Orchard Lake and Middlebelt Rds. The letter was a copy of one sent to the engineer's superiors in Lansing.

Pontiac is setting

because Pontiac offers the greatest all-around value in America!

Visit your nearest Pontiac Dealer and

In public ceremonies at Washington, D. C., tomorrow, the 500,000th Pontiac—a magnificent Safari Station Wagon—will be presented to the A.A.A. for use of Prof. A. E. Neyhart, father of the Driver Training Program in America's high schools. In 1936, Pontiac pioneered in making available dual-control cars and Pontiac Dealers donated the first 12 used in this vital safety program.

Believe Your Eyes...and Your Ears

TAKE A GOOD LOOK at this true likeness of the gorgeous new 1955 Pontiac—and then listen carefully to what your eyes have to say.

You may be a bit incredulous as your eyes start to talk—because you may have heard that certain Pontiac models are priced right down with the lowest. And what your eyes are about to say has never been said about a low-priced car before. Listen:

"This is easily the most beautiful car in America.

"And it's not only the most beautiful—it's the most distinctive. No other car looks even remotely like it. We've seen 'em all—and they all look alike, in varying degrees—except this one.

"We could pick this car out of a pack of hundreds—hundreds of yards away.

"And this beauty goes all the way through. We've seen it with the doors open, and it's a vision to behold."

Now rest your eyes for a moment—and let your ears report.

"I took a five-mile drive—and came back and bought it.

"It rides like a million dollars—and handles superbly. It's the smoothest car I ever drove!

"General Motors certainly outdid itself with this one. It's a real standout in every way—even among the most expensive cars."

Now, please listen to us—for there is a lot more to the Pontiac story than you have yet seen or heard.

We refer to how wonderfully easy it is to buy a new Pontiac. Pontiac is at an all-time high in popularity and sales success—and we're out to set an even higher sales record this month. So we will make it very, very easy for you to join the hundreds of thousands of new-car buyers who are now enjoying the unique pleasures of owning a Pontiac.

We simply say: If you take the wheel and get our facts and figures, you are almost sure to become a Pontiac owner.

U.S. Farmers See Red Dams

Vast Hydro Projects Included on Itinerary of Visiting Americans

KUIBYSHEV, U.S.S.R. (AP)—American farmers who came to the Soviet Union to teach the Russians corn-hog culture and learn about Soviet agriculture are going home well-informed on dam-building and hydroelectric power.

The farmers were to leave by plane today for Tashkent, fabled city of Central Asia. There they will see some of those virgin lands Communist party boss Nikita S. Khrushchev has been opening to grain culture with hundreds of thousands of workers recruited from the cities.

The Americans split into two groups to make the most of their visits to Kuibyshev and Stalingrad. Some took in farms, others the vast hydroelectric stations and dams on the Volga.

Soviet Agriculture, official organ of the ministry of agricultur, reported Asa Clark of Pullman, Wash., was so impressed by Stalingrad's hydroelectric station that "on the way back from Stalingrad he was observed busily employing his mathematics on the plant's capacity."

Clark has been one of the most popular members of the American party. He has kept busy firing questions and answering Russians' queries with hospitable advice on American farming methods.

Pravda, Izvestia and other Soviet papers today published a Tass dispatch from Minneapolis applauding the hospitality of Minnesotans to the Soviet farm delegation visiting the United States.

Grand Haven Man Dies in Fiery Truck Crash

GRAND HAVEN (AP) — John L. Tiles, 32, of rural Grand Haven, died Tuesday in the fiery crash of his gravel truck west of Eastmanville in Ottawa County.

Deputies said the truck ran off a curve, struck a tree and burst into flames with the driver trapped in the burning cab.

U.S. Storekeeper Methods Inspire Most Europeans

PORTLAND, Ore., (INS)—European merchants are behind the times, in the opinion of a Portland chain store owner, Fred Meyer.

Meyer spent three months in France, Italy, Spain, Germany, Switzerland, the Netherlands, Denmark and England and decided that merchants there are at least 20 years behind America in business and merchandising methods.

"Tradition and public dislike of change seems to be the main reason. There appears to be little effort on the part of merchants to introduce self-service" and the other changes that have been so effective in cutting costs and raising living standards in America in the last 40 years.

"European merchants seem to look upon proprietorship as a goal to achieve for easy living and they want no part of the hard work or investments involved in expansion or changing to modern methods.

"Questions as to the reasons for this are shrugged off with the explanation that such things may be right for America but they won't work in Europe."

Man Burned to Death

City Manager Quits

MARQUETTE (AP) — James A. Clulo's requested resignation as city manager was accepted by a 4-1 vote of the Marquette City Commission Tuesday. Clulo had been city manager six years and for three years before that he was city engineer. The commission gave no reason for asking his resignation. Only Mayor Harold W. Alholm voted against acceptance.

Need Heavier Wiring

MANSFIELD, O., (INS) — American home owners face a $2,500,000,000 bill for new home wiring in order to safely meet their ever increasing demand for electric current, Westinghouse engineers estimate that more than 34,000,000 houses today need heavier, more adequate wiring at an average cost of approximately $150 per home.

Hurricanes Today Are More Unpredictable

By DAVID L. BOWEN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

This week the season's first big hurricane, nicknamed Connie, boiled up from the tropics. Today it was hovering off the Carolinas, capable of moving inland anywhere along the coastline or veering off into the Atlantic.

Although 20 years ago it would have caused little excitement except in the Gulf states and along the lower half of the eastern seaboard, the first big blow of 1955 was carefully watched from the tip of Florida all the way to the Canadian border.

It was under close surveillance because hurricanes in recent years have broken from their traditional tract along the eastern seaboard. With increasing frequency they have held a steady northward course bringing them disasterously ashore along the upper half of the Atlantic coast, instead of turning harmlessly out into the Atlantic.

Last year three brutal hurricanes, tracked on the right-hand panel of the accompanying map, rampaged across the middle Atlantic and northeast coasts. Their total damage is reckoned at more than 750 million dollars. Hundreds of persons in the United States and Canada were killed.

Weather Bureau scientists have advanced a theory which accounts for this unusual hurricane behavior.

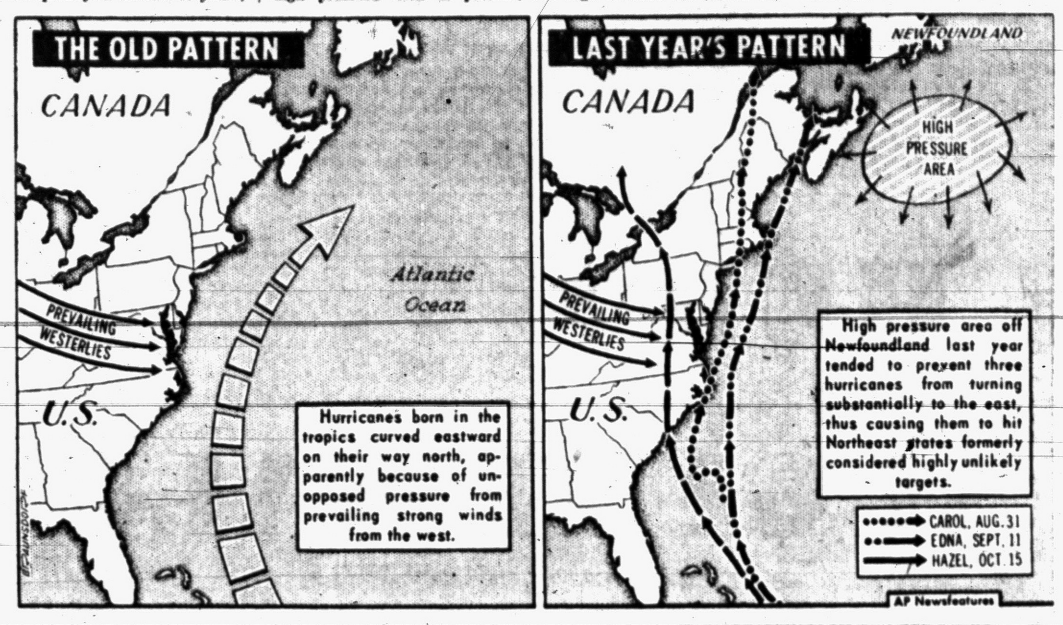

The theory developed by the Weather Bureau holds that over the past 20 years there has been a fundamental distortion of weather forces in the East. Jerome Namias, head of the bureau's long-range forecasting section, says a great deal more research is necessary to complete the picture, but advances this outline based on evidence now available:

Frequently in the last 20 years, an area of high pressure has been noted over the North Atlantic off Newfoundland. This high pressure area is usually accompanied by a distortion of the pattern of high altitude polar air streams. The normal course of this stream in the fall is a fairly even line across the upper part of the United States. When the high pressure area is present, the stream is characterized by huge undulations, making it appear on a map of the world like gigantic moving snake.

The northern peak of one loop usually falls somewhere near the Rocky Mountains and the next above the high pressure area in the Atlantic. In between, the stream of high altitude air bends far to the south and then comes north almost parallel to the Atlantic coast. It is not known whether the pressure area is the result of the polar air stream's undulations, or the undulations the result of the pressure area.

Whatever the relations between the two, the high pressure area and the northward flow of high altitude air west of it have a substantial effect on northeast weather.

As the left-hand panel of the map shows, the typical eastern seaboard hurricane pattern of the past saw the vast whirling masses of air curve gently toward the east as they moved northward from tropic breeding grounds, thus missing the coastline.

HIGH PRESSURE AREA

The Weather Bureau theory is that last year the high pressure area off Newfoundland prevented the hurricanes from bending to the east. Imbedded in the near due-north movement of high altitude air accompanying the high pressure area, they were pulled northward over the Middle Atlantic and New England states at a high rate of speed.

The high pressure area causing the northeast so much hurricane trouble is not expected to recur indefinitely. Such weather phenomena have been observed elsewhere, and usually disappear in a period of years. The Weather Bureau experts say the high off Newfoundland is ripe for disappearance.

Before Connie opened the 1955 hurricane season some three weeks ahead of schedule, the Weather Bureau's experts reported that the high had not been particularly active this year.

On that basis, one official made the guarded prediction that if this situation continued, it would be unlikely that this year's hurricanes would repeat last year's performances.

King-size cigarettes now account for more than 22 per cent of the total annual sales, according to studies by the tobacco industry.

BOSTON (AP)—The Coast Guard cutter McCulloch today brought ashore 43 men evacuated from an Air Force radar platform at sea — including a dozen spilled into the water during a perilous transfer to the McCulloch.

Left behind on the "Texas tower" artificial island were 60 workmen who gambled their lives on their faith that the platform they are building 100 miles off Cape Cod can withstand hurricane Connie's worst.

Cmdr. Louis F. Sudnik of Dedham, Mass., skipper of the McCulloch, said about a dozen men were dunked in the Atlantic yesterday transferring to one of the cutter's boats. The men were lowered four at a time in a bucket-like carrier resembling a rubber boat with railings. Sudnik called it a "doughnut."

As for the 60 men remaining aboard the radar platform—with its three permanent legs now imbedded in the ocean floor on Georges Shoal—Cmdr. Sudnik said their chances to ride out the hurricane are "in the hands of the Lord."

Sudnik said no rescue craft dare venture near the tower in heavy seas.

The 10 million dollar radar platform is the first of a string to be built out in the Atlantic for the Air Force. Its radar is intended to provide early warning for the East Coast in event of an enemy attack.

Ike Travels by Auto Due to Hurricane

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP) — President Eisenhower, warned off by the threat of hurricane Connie, travels back to Washington by automobile today instead of by plane.

Flight plans were abandoned late yesterday when Weather Bureau reports indicated some possibility that the Gettysburg-Washington area might be hit by at least the fringe of the hurricane.

The President arranged to return to Washington for conferences with key administration officials. They include Adm. Robert B. Carney, who is retiring Aug. 17 as chief of naval operations and as a member of the Joint Chiefs of Staff; Secretary of State Dulles; Atty. Gen. Brownell; and Secretary of Welfare Folsom.

It quite likely will be the Chief Executive's last opportunity to meet with those officials until he returns from a Colorado vacation, probably about mid-October.

Ike Promises to Support Safe Driving Campaign

WASHINGTON (INS) — President Eisenhower has thrown his support to a nationwide safe driving campaign, Nov. 20 to Dec. 1.

Eisenhower told Harlow Curtice, president of General Motors Corp. and chairman of the President's Committee for Traffic Safety, that he will be "happy to participate" in the campaign.

Highlight of the safety drive will come Dec. 1—"S-D (safe driving) Day."

Straits Bridge to Use 46,000 Miles of Wire

MACKINAW CITY (AP) — Some 46,000 miles of wire will be used on the 99 million dollar Straits of Mackinac bridge, the United States Steel Corp.'s American Steel & Wire Division reported today.

American is making the wire needed for the two 8,362-foot long main cables as well as the 368 vertical hanging suspender ropes which will support the weight and stresses of the roadway spans.

The division has made wire for some of the country's largest suspension spans, including the San Francisco - Oakland Bay bridge, the Tri-Borough bridge and the Bronx-Whitestone bridge.

Nearly 12,000 tons of special high carbon steel rods slightly narrower than a pencil in diameter will be used in the main cables.

When spun into place on the span these two main cables will each be two feet in diameter and well over a mile and a half long between anchorages.

Some 23 million pounds of .196-inch wire will be needed to assemble these cables.

The wires will be spliced into strands and laid parallel. The cross section of each main cable will consist of over 12,000 individual wires.

DEAD-LOAD TENSION

After these 24-inch cables are erected and are near their "dead-load tension," the compacted wires will be coated with a preservative and covered by spirally wrapped wire, to seal out moisture.

All materials produced for the bridge construction are tested and inspected through all stages of fabrication. Final tests will be conducted on both ends of each of the more than 60,000 coils of wire incorporated into the main cables.

The wire will be shipped to the bridge site in five-foot coils. It will be spliced and spooled onto reels of 32,000 pounds capacity.

USE FERRULES

Coupling is accomplished by the use of mechanical fittings called "ferrules." These "ferrules" are cylindrical steel fittings about 2 inches long, and about ⅝ inch in diameter. The inside diameter is threaded left and right from either end, and receives threaded wire ends that dovetail and lock in the center of the ferrule. The ferrule acts as a turnbuckle when tightened, drawing the wire ends together.

A total of 368 suspender ropes, hung at 39 foot intervals throughout the length of the bridge, will connect the roadway truss to the main cables.

These ropes will be 2¼ inch in diameter and will be made up of six strands of 19 wires with a total weight of nine pounds per foot.

During the process of fabrication into suspender assemblies, these ropes will be stretched out and held at a tension of over 115 tons. The tension will be maintained until the rope is thoroughly compacted and further structural stretching has been removed. This operation is called "prestressing" and not only removes the stretch from the rope but provides a means for accurate measurement of lengths.

Total production of suspender ropes will measure approximately 100,000 feet. Before they are used as suspenders, however, they are temporarily used as supporting ropes for the catwalks on the bridge during the main cable wire spinning.

At the ends of each rope, forged steel button-type sockets will be installed. These cylindrically shaped sockets are the actual connections that tie the suspenders to the bridge floor.

Starting Young

Rival Firms Run Taxis

GRAND HAVEN (AP)—City Council and Spring Lake Village Council have agreed unanimously to allow open competition between the two taxicab firms now serving the Tri-cities area of Grand Haven, Spring Lake and Ferrysburg. City Cab Co. of Grand Haven and Village Cab Co. of Spring Lake pureviously were restricted to fare pickups in their own communities.

Pebble Disrupts Travel

GRAND HAVEN (AP) — The U.S.-31 swing bridge at Grand Haven was stuck for eight hours Tuesday, causing a water traffic jam of gravel tugs and pleasure craft until highway department crewmen found the trouble — a small piece of gravel which had dropped into the gears.

Atomic Survival III

Find You Can Crouch Safely in Trench 2 Miles From Blast as Big as Hiroshima

AP Science Reporter

NEW YORK (AP)—A brilliant silent eerie light, like nothing you've seen before, marks the beginning of an atomic blast.

If it ever comes, don't look at it, or you might be blinded for life.

If you sense such a flash, duck, fall flat or jump behind some protection. You could be injured by being knocked down by the blast, or by flying debris.

Out in the open, you have a better chance if you fall flat. And a still better one if you could duck behind a ravine, behind any little hillock, into a hole. In town, fling yourself behind the protection of some building, if there is time.

In Nevada, hundreds of persons have crouched quite safely in trenches within two miles or less of atomic blasts as big or bigger than those exploded over Japan. These people would undoubtedly have been safe even closer.

The light comes first, and with it, simultaneously, the flash of heat and the X-rays unleashed by the bomb. They are all quickly gone. Next comes the blast.

If you're in an automobile, open the windows a bit and fall flat on the seat or floor.

Autos have been exposed to test bombs. With windows closed, windows and windshields often were blown in, and broken glass could cut occupants. Tops were caved in. But with windows slightly open, this damage often did not happen.

Underground shelters are, obviously, the best protection. But even shelters that stand above ground could save many lives in areas outside the immediate center of destruction. Concrete shelters—usable as toolsheds or spare storage rooms near homes that lacked strong basement shelters—stood up well despite being within a half mile or so of the atomic blast in Nevada last May.

Animals survived that blast in those shelters. These animals now are being observed to learn whether humans in such shelters might have suffered harm from the blast effects, or from radiation.

The heat flash is one hazard of atomic blasts. An intense heat wave reaches out, capable of giving skin flash burns, or setting fire to highly ignitable materials. The intensity—the ability to cause burns—falls off extremely rapidly with distance from the bomb.

Generally speaking, anything which is dense enough to cast a shadow can give protection against the flash burn.

The heat flash can start fires. So can a blast which might knock over a kerosene lamp or even a candle.

Danger from fires started by pilot lights on gas stoves may be very minor. In one test home in Nevada, the blast blew out the pilot light on a kitchen gas stove, with no fire or damage.

Closed venetian blinds in one test stopped the heat flash, preventing fires of draperies or furniture. The blinds were blown down by the blast arriving some seconds later.

One atomic specialist gives this advice:

"If you see or sense that intense light, duck, and count to 10. If you reach 10, you have survived. Then you can check to see whether you have suffered any injuries."

There still could be hazard from radioactive fall-out.

Dog Names Changing Throughout Country

CHICAGO, (INS)—Fido, Rover, Towser and Prince— chances are that if you call out these names they won't mean a thing to the nation's dog population.

A food company, reporting on the names of dogs submitted in an annual contest, said canine owners have virtually eliminated these old standbys in naming their pets.

Fido and Rover weren't even mentioned in the roster of contest entrants. These days the most popular names for dogs are Blackie, Smoky and Skippy, followed by Pal, King, Spot and Tuffy.

Towser and Prince, also old-time favorites, were few and far between in the pets entered in the contest.

The cod is one of the most prolific of fish, a female 38 to 40 inches long producing up to three million eggs.

Red Farmers See Ford Co.

3 Members of Group Visit Giant Rouge Plant at Dearborn Today

DETROIT (AP) — The three members of the Soviet farm delegation visiting here set out this morning to visit the giant Ford Rouge plant at Dearborn.

Ford officials planned to show them the factory foundry, the final assembly line, the plant steel operations, and then take them to the Dearborn engine plant cafeteria. After lunch they were to see the Dearborn engine plant.

In the evening they were scheduled to depart by plane for Chicago to rejoin there eight other members of their group who were flying from Minneapolis to Chicago in the late afternoon.

Altogether there are twelve Soviet farm chieftains in the group.

The Soviet farm chiefs include besides Matskevich the deputy minister of the farm equopment and tractor industry of the U.S.S.R., Alexander Yezhevsky, and the head of a big farm machinery and tractor station, Nikolai Bogach. They went "window shopping" along one of Detroit's downtown streets last night.

They had their dinner late in the evening at a smorgasbord restaurant.

District Lutheran Synod May Split With Missouri

SAGINAW (AP) — Undertones of a threatened break with the Lutheran Church Synod of Missouri were apparent today at the 33rd biennial meeting of the Evangelical Lutheran Joint Synod of Wisconsin and other states.

The Rev. Oscar Naunnans of St. Paul, Minn., president of the Wisconsin Synod, voiced strong inferences in his opening report yesterday that his group strongly disapproves of doctrinal practices of the larger Missouri Synod.

Rev. Naunnans spoke to the 250 delegates representing the 325,000-member Synod following the unanimous re-election to a two-year term as president.

French Girl Parachutist Holds World Jump Record

DRESSED FOR JUMP — Colette holds equipment she designed.

PARIS (NEA)—When she was a little girl in Normandy, Colette Duval was considered an irrepressible tomboy. For six months during the war, she was the mascot of a French infantry unit. At 16, she took up gliding; at 20, she made her first parachute jump.

Today at 24, Colette holds the women's world record for delayed drop jumping and the record for jumping with an oxygen inhalator, both accomplished in a free fall from almost 22,000 feet to 1,300 feet, where she pulled the rip cord.

Since parachuting is a luxury sport, Colette earns the money to pay for it by modeling Paris creations in a swank Avenue Matignon salon in Paris. Every Sunday from May to October she spends jumping. "Often," explains Colette, "I have been so black and blue I could hardly show evening gowns."

Colette is one of about 1,000 'chutists in France, where it's a popular sport among enthusiasts from every social class. Only in Russia is the 'chuting practiced on a wider scale as a sport.

MODELS TOO

Despite her success as a model, Colette has no interest in clothes. Nor is she interested in domestic life. "If I married I would have to give up parachuting," she explains. Her parachute, which has seen her through 150 jumps, is her best friend.

She has designed and patented a new friend—an apparatus she carries with her on jumps that combines chronometer, altimeter, oxygen tank and spare parachute.

A year ago she turned professional and gets from $75 to $100 per jump at meetings all over France. But her big dream is to jump from 32,500 feet so she can break the world record, now held by a Russian.

"It's so much freer up there than on the ground," says Colette.

HITTING THE SILK — Colette gets ready to collapse parachute on which she rode to a women's record delayed drop.

AEC Lets Contract for Atomic Engine

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government has let a contract for the design and development of an atomic power plant suitable for a small submarine.

The Atomic Energy Commission's announcement yesterday gave no hint of the size, but it apparently would be much closer to that of the conventional sub than either the 2,900-ton Nautilus or the 3,200-ton Seawolf. The average fleet-type submarine has about a 1,700-ton displacement.

The contract went to Combustion Engineering, Inc., of New York.

Cadets Must Cruise

Every cadet of the United States Coast Guard Academy at New London, Conn., must make four voyages in the bark Eagle, a square-rigged school for seamanship. Launched in 1936 at Hamburg, the 1,900-ton steel three-master originally bore the name Horst Wessel, says the National Geographic Society.

Auto Parts Fabricator Dies After Heart Attack

DETROIT (AP) — Don S. Devor, 66, vice president of Houdaille-Hershey Corp., died of a heart attack today while cruising on the Detroit river with a group of business friends. He had been suffering from a heart ailment several months.

Devor was aboard the 65-foot cruiser "Dee-Gee," owned by the Detroit Gasket Co., when he collapsed. His home was in suburban Grosse Pointe Park.

Houdaille-Hershey is an auto parts manufacturer.

Eastern Sailor Leads in Snipe Trophy Event

LAKE ALLATOONA, Ga. (AP) — Harry Allen of Westport, Conn., continued in championship form yesterday to lead in the first race for the Heintzerling Trophy, signifying the National Snipe Sailing Championship.

Allen handled his boat with great skill in out-sailing 23 other skippers in the championship bracket.

Half of State Drownings Persons Under Age 20

LANSING (AP) — Nearly half of Michigan's drowning victims during the first six months of 1955 were under 20 years old, the State Health Department said today.

Of the 133 drownings through the end of June, 63 were 19 years old or younger. Thirty-one of the victims were under nine years old.

The department said there is "some slight encouragement" from the fact that there were 22 fewer drownings during the first half of this year than in the same period last year.

The department urged swimmers and boaters to follow safety rules.

Dog Leads Drug Agents to Dope Peddler Suspect

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Narcotics agents arrested a suspected narcotics peddler yesterday by following his dog.

State Inspector Louis Noel said a customer would put a bill in the dog's mouth and it would trot off and then return with narcotics.

Agents planted marked money with an informer — then followed the dog.

Chief Legislative Drafter of Michigan to Resign

LANSING (AP) — Mrs. Frances F. Royce, legislative bill drafter at the State Capitol and legal adviser to State Police, has announced her intended resignation to become effective Dec. 31.

Mrs. Royce, chief of the drafting Section of The Legislative Service Bureau, has been in state employment for 26 years.

Hospital Drive Uses Formula of Giving

DOUGLAS (UP) — Douglas Community Hospital, seeking funds in an expansion drive, believes it first may be better to give than to receive.

Nearly 2,000 letters, each containing a dollar bill, have been mailed to Western Allegan County residents. Fund drive officials say the letter asks that the bill be returned with a contribution for the hospital.

They said the plan has been used previously with fewer than 30 of the dollars failing to return, accompanied by contributions.

Big Bank Holdup Cracked by FBI

Nab 2 in Queens Job; Issue Other Warrants; None of Loot Recovered

NEW YORK (UP)—The FBI says it has cracked the largest cash bank robbery in history, seizing two men as alleged members of a smooth-working quartet who held up a Queens bank to the tune of $305,000.

Warrants were issued for two other men thought to have been the ringleaders in the carefully planned holdup. A fifth man has been held as a material witness.

Arraigned yesterday and charged with violating the National Bank Robbery Act were James McCoo, 36, and Frank Cocchiaro, 34, both of Astoria, Queens — not far from the looted Woodside, Queens, branch of the Chase Manhattan Bank.

McCoo, accused of taking part in the robbery, was held without bond. Cocchiaro was held in $50,000 bail, charged with aiding and abetting the stickup.

Cocchiaro's wife, Mildred, was a teller at the Woodside bank when four bandits appeared on the morning of April 6 and made off with their record haul without firing a shot. Mrs. Cocchiaro since has resigned.

Asst. U.S. Atty. Paul W. Windels said none of the stolen money has been recovered. Windels also said that the holdup was partly an inside job but did not point a finger at any employe.

Redmond (Ninny) Cribbins, 48, alias Mike Malloy, and Thomas (Duke) Connelly Jr., 30, both veteran criminals, are sought for questioning.

Vincent W. Kritil, 28, a Fire Island bartender described as "knowing" Cribbins and Connelly, is held in $40,000 bail as a material witness. Windels said he feared for Kritil's life if he were freed on bond. Aurthorities said Kritil has no criminal record.

A bank employe identified a rogue's gallery photo of Cribbins the day after the robbery.

BASEMENT LAUNDLEE PLENTY BLISEE — That's the nearest we can come to translating Bingy Yimms' remarks as he emerges from underground with yards and yards of freshly laundered garden hose in a section where San Francisco's new freeway is under construction. It's the silly season's best explanation of what's been happening to the numerous garden hoses across the nation which have been burrowing out of sight toward China.

Baby Falls Three Stories Into Arms of Waiting Youth

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UP) — A 22-month-old boy fell from a third-floor roof, dropped through the arms of a youth trying to catch him, and was injured seriously yesterday.

The child, William Nevitt, fell in an apparent effort to retrieve a toy pistol he had dropped from the roof.

His mother, Mrs. Ardena Nevitt, gave this account:

She went to the roof to sleep, after which the child apparently climbed out the window to join her.

Mrs. Ilene Cook and her brother, Jimmy Payton, 18, first floor residents, were standing outside talking when a toy pistol fell at their feet. They looked up and saw a child's legs dangling over the roof edge.

Just then William fell. Payton reached out to catch him, but the child slid through Payton's arms and struck the concrete pavement.

Thugs Flee as Secretary Brandishes Boss' Gun

RICHMOND, Va. (UP)—A gun-toting secretary thwarted a holdup here yesterday—because her huntsman boss had left the weapon lying around the office.

Mrs. Adlee E. Craddock, 23, was working on some books in the mezzanine office of an appliance firm when a voice rang out below:

"This is a stick-up. Come on down with your hands up."

Mrs. Craddock obeyed—but not before reaching for a nearby shotgun and waving it at the men. The intruders fled.

School Board Lets Contracts

Dairy, Fuel Bids OKed at Walled Lake; Site Purchase Authorized

WALLED LAKE—Fuel oil and dairy contracts were awarded at the recent meeting of the Walled Lake Board of Education. Fuel oil will be supplied by the Commerce Oil and Products Co. and the Enterprise Oil and Gas Co. of Detroit; and gasoline by the Standard Oil Co.

The Farmington Dairy will furnish milk for the cafeterias, and the Detroit Creamery, dixie cups.

Resignations were accepted from the following teachers: John and Olive Kremkow, Carol Hulsizer, Marian Mathews, Desdemona Perrin, Verna Schroeder, Joan Vannorsdall, and David Walsh.

New contracts were signed for Frances Pulley, junior high physical education; Allen Lewis, junior high science; and Thomas J. Meier, sixth grade. Superintendent Clifford H. Smart stated that he still needs five elementary teachers to complete the roster.

Smart was authorized to complete the deal for an elementary school site on the Shaw property at Pontiac trail and Decker roads providing school attorney, Archie Leonard approves the deed and title.

The board also authorized the sale of the final $275,000 in bonds voted for school construction in the 1954 election.

After inspecting the progress of the additions under construction, Smart revealed that the Glengary and Walled Lake elementary additions should be ready for the opening of school, but the high school gymnasium and Commerce addition would not.

President Joseph Long called a special meeting for Aug. 22 at which time board of education policies, discussed and tabled at Monday's meeting, will be reconsidered.

Keego Council Defines Clerk's Duties, Consolidates Three Other Posts Into One

KEEGO HARBOR—In a quiet meeting last night, the Keego Harbor City Council defined the duties of the city clerk, and consolidated three other city posts into one office.

After a stormy meeting last week over the clerk's duties, last night the council ruled that the clerk must have the minutes of the previous meeting on hand, along with a financial report and a complete agenda.

The clerk's right of hiring had been questioned in earlier sessions. This right was upheld, and he will be allowed to hire his own office personnel, as long as he remains within the budget limitations.

Clerk Ed Hermoyian was instructed by the council to take bids on all purchases, and the council limited him to authorize up to $250 during one month for any single purpose.

In other action, the board combined the positions of building inspector, with the electrical and plumbing inspectorships. John Sellman, present building inspector, will hold the office.

Sellman was also named city assessor.

The council announced the traffic violation bureau will be open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily, and from 9 a.m. until noon Saturday. An evening hour will be announced later.

Taylor said today that sufficient proof to secure a warrant is lacking, and that nothing new has been introduced since the case was thrown out of court in 1953.

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP — A certificate of merit was presented to Louis Dorman Jr., civil defense director of Waterford Township, at the regular township board meeting this week.

Township Supervisor Lloyd Anderson made the presentation on behalf of the Oakland County Civil Defense Division, in recognition of Dorman's participation in the CD program.

The board voted to pay $40 as the township's share of cost of posting speed limit signs on Lansdown road, and also voted to pay half the cost of the Silver Lake drain.

A July report on building permits showed a total of 198 permits valued at $1,322,786. Of that total, 118 were for homes, and 2 for commercial valued at $51,000. The latter included an office building at M59 and Josephine valued at $27,000 and a four - story building between Pontiac Lake road and Tull road at $24,000.

Other permits included 37 for additions and remodeling, 30 garages, 8 garages and breezeways, and 3 for moving buildings.

Last Day to File Water Petitions

Proposed New System Would Serve Southeast Avon Township

ROCHESTER — Today marks the deadline for filing petitions for a proposed Avon Township water system in the southeast corner of the township.

Approximately 650 parcels of land would be included in the water system, at an estimated cost of $385,000. Some 15 circulators of petitions have been working to procure signatures, and it was reported Wednesday at the township board meeting that the required 65 per cent of owners already had signed.

If approved, the system probably would be financed through both revenue bonds and special assessments on property in the area to be serviced.

It was estimated that special assessment bonds spread over a 10-year period would raise $235,000. The balance of $150,000 would be raised by revenue bonds, payable from the water revenues.

Estimated special assessments have been computed on a basis of availability or readiness-to-connect charge, plus an amount charged per front foot. For a 100x200 foot lot, the readiness to connect charge is figured at $148, and front foot charge at $150, making a total assessment of $298. This is based on a front footage of 100 feet.

A notice received by township Supervisor C. E. Miller from the Oakland County Health Department reported approval of the well at Wabash Street, following an Aug. 1 test.

45-Year Separation Ends for 6 Brothers

HOLLADAY, Uah (AP)—Six brothers, who hadn't been together in 45 years, are enjoying a family reunion at the home of Carl Fischer here. All were born in Denmark. The first one came to this country 45 years ago and four others followed at intervals during the next 10 years.

But Victor Fischer, now 70, remained in Denmark, where he operated a barber and beauty shop. Now retired, he's here for a six-month visit.

Also at the Fischer home here are Oswald, 67, from Woodlawn, Calif.; Albert, 65, Attica, Mich.; Henry, 59, Socita, Calif.; Robert 52, Portland, Ore., and the host, Carl, 55.

Argentine Will Ignore 'Foreign Power' Action

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—The Argentine Chamber of Deputies turned down an opposition request last night that it investigate whether warships of a "big foreign power" trailed the Argentine fleet during recent Atlantic maneuvers.

The surprise request was made last week by Radical party Congressman Oscar Alende in a bill to Congress. Alende didn't name the power, but congressional circles said he meant the United States.

Both British and American spokesmen denied their Navy's ships were in the South Atlantic during the Argentine exercises.

Open House to Conclude YMCA Summer Fun Club

The Pontiac YMCA will close its Summer Fun Club activities Friday night with an open house, which will feature a swimming demonstration by boys and girls who participated in Club activities.

It will give parents an opportunity to see what the youngsters have accomplished as members of the Club, as about 250 are expected to attend, said George Balch, club director.

Handicrafts done by the youngsters will be on display, and parents will see a trampoline demonstration and join in song-fests.

The first assembly will be from 7 to 8 p.m. for the boys, and then from 8 to 9 p.m. for the girls' parents. Assemblies will be held in the Green Room, while other events are scheduled for the pool and gymnasium.

With an enrollment of some 250 youngsters, the Summer Fun Club this year was well attended. Five weekly treks were enjoyed by the group, who journeyed to Windsor, Ont., Bob-Lo, Detroit Museum and recreation areas.

Besides Balch, physical director Floyd Wainscott, and craft-shop director Maureen Slosson were two of the regular staff members who supervised the children on their journeys.

Balch said that without the 12 high school youths who assisted the staff as leaders, the program could have never been activated.

Penalty Not Stiff Enough, Traffic Violator Says

OMAHA (AP)—Francis W. Warner of Omaha paid fines in County Court yesterday of $1 for not having a vehicle registration certificate and $5 for driving with only one license plate.

Then he turned to State Safety Patrol Lt. J. R. Emery and said "I don't think you are very efficient!"

"Why not? I arrested you," replied Emery.

"Yes, but I think you should have put me in jail," Warner shot back.

Russia Denies Swedish Report of Submarines

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, (AP)—Russia says no Soviet submarines have been operating in Sweden's territorial waters or their vicinity.

Swedish authorities have reported sightings of unidentified foreign submarines off the Swedish coast five times during the past four weeks. The local press hinted the subs were Russian.

The Soviet denial was contained in a note made public yesterday by the Swedish Foreign Ministry.

Mobile Blood Test Unit Attended by 50 Persons

The mobile blood testing unit at the Lakeside Housing Project Tuesday was attended by 50 persons, and future stops were announced today by Dr. John D. Monroe, Oakland County health director.

Persons 14 years or older are eligible for the free blood tests, which are designed to detect unknown or inadequately treated cases of syphilis, Dr. Monroe said.

The program is also being used to determine the efficiency of case reporting, and is sponsored jointly by the City Health Dept. and the Michigan Dept. of Health, which owns the mobile unit.

Staffed by one technician and a clerk to take names, the unit will stop in the Bagley-Wesson St. area Friday and Saturday.

The crew will remain at Lakeside Project today and tomorrow. Persons will be tested from 1 to 8 p.m., depending on the turnout, he explained.

Dr. Monroe emphasized that the work did not concern blood typing, which is handled by the local Civil Defense authorities and other agencies.

"In testing blood for abnormalities, all replies by mail will be strictly confidential. If tests prove to be positive, the individual will be notified in about two weeks. If not, he has nothing to worry about," he pointed out.

The actual test takes but a few seconds and is painless.

It is the first program of its kind in the Pontiac area, and is part of a Detroit survey taken last year.

Besides the county health department, several Pontiac industrial plants do their own blood typing, employing full time doctors for physicals and plant mishaps.

Closed Caucuses Under Study for Security Council

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The United States is taking a hard look at a suggestion for more closed Security Council meetings as part of the current drive for secret diplomacy in the U.N.

A delegation source said today the question is being studied carefully here and in Washington. He pointed out that Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., chief U. S. delegate, has always favored the open forum idea in the U.N., which he has said produced dramatic results by enlisting the force of public opinion.

U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold has been plugging what he calls "quiet diplomacy" since the 10th U.N. anniversary meeting in San Francisco in June. He says it should supplement the U. N. "conference diplomacy" which he argues falls short of world needs.

How to Celebrate Sandwich Month

Whopperoo Is Hearty Delight

Pack Variety of Food Into Long French Loaf of Bread

How do you make a Whopperoo sandwich? Well, you assemble just about everything you think belongs in a sandwich and set to work with a long loaf of French or Vienna bread.

Split the bread lengthwise and spread lower half with butter or margarine. Then begin to stack: Crisp lettuce, sliced tomatoes, sliced cheese, sliced sweet onion, sliced canned luncheon meat. Be generous so that every bite will include some of each.

Spread cut side of remaining half of bread with butter, mustard, then chili sauce, and cover the stacked filling. Wrap securely in foil or waxed paper.

Chill and take to chosen picnic spot. To serve, slice off generous 4-6 inch hunks for a meal-in-one. Pass the coffee or iced drinks.

WHOPPEROO — Whopperoo is a version of the famed New Orleans Poor Boy sandwich. Canned luncheon meat, sliced cheese, tomatoes and onion make a mouth-watering, mouth-stretching combination.

Look for These Items to Stock Your Shelves

As new canning seasons approach, last years pack is usually placed on sale. In most cases there is real economy in stocking your shelves at this time.

Items to look for:
Tuna, Green and Wax Beans, Corn, Tomatoes, Pineapple.

Whip a half cup of cream and fold into chilled lemon pie and pudding mix (made according to package directions). Serve over sliced bananas and oranges.

Youngster Grows Squash for Babies

No one wants to squash that rumor about the 11-year-old who briskly came calling on the Gerber Produce Division manager one morning long before 9 at the company's Fremont headquarters.

The young man was businesslike. He wanted a grower's contract. He got it . . for two acres of squash.

Young Leroy, already in high school, is in an agricultural class where each boy is required to complete a project "on his own."

Some went in for raising a calf or other livestock this summer. But Leroy heard about babies and their appetites and decided to help feed them the practical way.

Another classmate shared his enthusiasm and went in for raising green beans for baby food.

The student growers neither expect nor receive special favors. Just like any grower, they have been working with Gerber field men to improve yields—from soil preparation time through harvest—and all reports say the youngsters are doing a grand job while they learn new skills. Making a neat profit, too.

New Sandwich Spread

Here's a new sandwich idea: Mix cream cheese with drained crushed pineapple and chopped mint leaves and use as a spread between slices of nut bread.

Serve Fish Fillets With Shrimp Sauce

Serve fish fillets with this sauce for flavor and nutrition.

Shrimp Sauce

½ pound shrimp (cooked and deveined)
4 tablespoons butter or margarine
4 tablespoons flour
2 cups milk
1 teaspoon lemon juice
2 tablespoons drained capers
Salt and pepper

Cut shrimp in half so they have the same shape but are flatter. Melt butter in 1-quart saucepan; stir in flour over low heat.

Add milk; cook and stir constantly over moderately low heat until thickened and bubbly. Stir in shrimp, lemon juice, capers and salt and pepper to taste.

Cantaloupes Put Zip Into Ordinary Meals

Cantaloupes turn even the most humdrum of meals into something special. Their distinctive flavor and comparatively short season have always identified them with luxury fare. This, despite the fact that modern distribution now makes them thrifty buys during the summer.

A plus in these delicious melons is that they are extremely nutritious. They are a fine source of several vitamins. Vitamin A is found in particularly large quantities in the bright orange or yellow meat.

For those who are counting their calories, cantaloupes are a boon and a blessing.

Serve Appetizer Salads in the West Coast Manner

That distinctive West Coast style of serving appetizer salads as first courses at dinner can be two nice blessings in diguise! Example?

Let's say you are a housewife who likes to serve carefully timed steaks and chops. You wonder how to manage when actual mealtime varies somewhat? Here's a fine plan:

When the group gathers, but before they sit down to eat, you put the meat in the preheated broiler, checking time. Now, while appetites are keenest, serve first course salads in California style.

For this, almost any fresh raw vegetable may be cut and fixed simply. Serve carrot strips, tiny bits of cauliflower, some radish roses, spring onions and thin slices of cucumber. (Notched, natch!)

Fresh green salads are easy to fix if you buy California Iceberg head lettuce. For really fine salads, just cut chilled heads into fourths. Then combine half mayonnaise and half chili sauce for both a salad dressing and appetizer dip.

DON'T BE DOUBTFUL

You may say doubtfully, "The salad course first?", but we say confidently, "Just try it!" For, while the crisp salad course is being eaten, the meat broils on its first side. Then, whoever brings in servings of clear soup or broth can easily flip over the meat too.

While crackers and butter are passed to accompany the soup course, the meat finishes broiling. Now, you are ready to serve that main course, piping hot, just as juicy or well done as you want it! That's blessing one: Time when you need it.

The appetizer salad course has a second merit that meal planners do appreciate. Maybe your family tends to fill up on meat and potatoes? You've noticed it? Then they perhaps skip the vegetables that contain such important minerals and vitamins?

To avoid meal time arguing and fussing, try this simple change in timing. Start each dinner in this Western way and the family, without even giving it a thought, will begin eating raw vegetables and salads . . . a new healthy habit. Isn't that a blessing too?

Sign of Good Cantaloupe

Yellow undercoating is one of the things to look for in buying cantaloup, says the U. S. Department of Agriculture. This means the melon has ripened on the vine. But, they caution, beware of soft spots which may indicate spoiling.

In buying apples, purchasers should remember that under Michigan law the grade, size, variety and name and address of the grower or packer must show on the container.

Combine Pineapple, Apple and Celery

If you want to spend the morning swimming—and still serve a fine lunch, there's a salad recipe in the current issue of a home magazine that just fills the bill.

It's an apple, celery and pineapple salad that you can mix before you go out to play, and it will stay crisp and ready until you return.

There's cheese mixed in also, adding heartiness and eye appeal. And, because it's sweet you won't need much dessert.

Just combine the following ingredients, chill and serve on salad greens:

1 cup of diced apples
1 cup diced celery
½ cup canned diced pineapple
1 lemon juiced
½ cup American cheese
1 teaspoon sugar
Salt to taste
2 tablespoons of mayonnaise

Preparation time is only 10 minutes and it will serve from four to six people.

Cherry Waffles Bring Luxury to Brunch Table

Want a luxurious dish for Sunday brunch? Fold chopped pitted sweet red cherries into a light-as-a-feather waffle batter.

Bake waffles and serve with butter, powdered sugar and a garnish of whole cherries with stems left on.

And no one will object to cherry muffins! Just add chopped pitted sweet red cherries to a rich muffin batter; serve hot with butter. Orange sections can go along with the cherries if you like.

Fill sponge-cake cups with prepared vanilla pudding and pie filling mix; top with pitted halved sweet cherries and a dollop of sweetened whipped cream.

Dip sweet red cherries in a fritter batter and fry in deep fat. Serve with a foamy lemon sauce.

Pickle Sandwiches Are Cool Summer Treat

Cool-looking food served with elegance is the keynote for Summer luncheons. Petite pickle sandwiches, small enough to look dainty and large enough to be substantial, are perfect for special occasion luncheons.

Crisp zesty pickles will add an interesting flavor and crunchy texture to sandwiches ranging from tiny morsels to the he-man variety. Serve sandwiches often during August — the sandwich month, and be sure there are pickles in or beside every sandwich.

Rosy Pickle Egg Rounds

3 hard-cooked eggs, chopped
¼ cup finely chopped green pepper
¼ cup finely chopped canned pimiento
½ cup chopped sweet gherkins
2 tablespoons chili sauce
2 tablespoons mayonnaise
Salt and pepper to taste
Buttered bread rounds

Combine eggs, green pepper, pimiento, pickles, catchup, mayonnaise, salt and pepper to taste; mix well and chill. Spread on bread rounds and garnish with additional gherkins, as desired. Makes 1 cup.

Pickle Crab Delights

1 6½-ounce can crab meat
2 tablespoons finely chopped onion
½ cup chopped sweet fresh cucumber pickles
¼ cup finely chopped celery
1 3-ounce package cream cheese, softened
2 tablespoons sherry (optional)
½ teaspoon salt
Pepper to taste
Buttered bread squares

Drain and flake crab meat. Add onion, pickles and celery; mix lightly. Combine cheese and sherry; blend well. Add salt and pepper. Chill. Spread on bread and garnish with additional pickles, as desired. Makes about 2 cups spread.

Pickle Pate Ribbon Sandwiches

1 4½-ounce can liver spread
1 tablespoon finely chopped onion
¼ teaspoon sage
¼ cup drained sweet pickle
1 tablespoon chili sauce
2 slices crisp cooked bacon, crumbled
Salt to taste
20 slices white bread

Combine liver spread, onion, sage, pickle relish, chili sauce and bacon; mix well. Season with salt and chill. Trim crusts from bread and spread 15 slices with liver spread mixture. Put 3 slices bread together to make 5 sandwiches. Top with remaining 5 slices bread. Wrap tightly in waxed paper and chill. Cut into ¾-inch slices to serve. Makes about four dozen sandwiches.

PICKLE SANDWICHES — An assortment of dainty pickle sandwiches and chilled bowls of vichyssoise are perfect for hot weather luncheons. The little rounds are spread with egg salad; the squares boast a flaky crab mixture; while the ribbon slices have a meat spread in them.

Fill Cream-y Puffs With Sweet Cherry

"Glamour in a puff" is the best way to describe these delicious cream puffs filled with a sweet cherry filling.

Merry Widows

½ cup butter
1 cup boiling water
1 cup flour
¼ teaspoon salt
4 eggs

Melt the butter in the boiling water. Add the flour and salt and cook, stirring vigorously. When mixture forms a ball that does not separate, remove from the heat. Cool slightly. Add eggs one at a time. Beat hard after each addition until smooth. Drop dough in strips one inch wide and four inches long onto a greased cookie sheet. Bake in a hot oven, 400 degrees, for 40 minutes. Makes six.

Remove from the pan with a spatula and cool on a rack. Split apart way open and fill with mixture of:

2 cups pitted dark sweet cherries
1 cup cream, whipped
2 tablespoons sugar
¼ teaspoon almond extract
¼ cup toasted almonds

Sprinkle with powdered sugar. Serves six.

Spicy Almond Float Has Novel Flavor

For a spicy, different flavor, try this one. The addition of ice cream adds to the flavor and gives it a smooth, creamy quality.

Spicy Almond Float

1-3 cup sugar
¼ teaspoon ground cinnamon
1 quart cold milk
1 teaspoon almond extract
½ teaspoon vanilla
1 pint vanilla ice cream

Combine sugar and cinnamon; add milk and flavorings and stir until sugar is dissolved. Pour into tall glasses and top each with a generous spoonful of ice cream. Makes six servings.

Celery Needs Pepper

Next time you eat crunchy stalks of celery add some ground black pepper to the salt you dip it in. The flavor of the pepper is delicious with the celery.

Try Buttermilk Shake for Cool Refreshment

Here is a buttermilk drink that is cool and refreshing. You can serve it with a flair when friends drop in.

Buttermilk Shake

Put 3 cups chilled buttermilk, one-half cup cold lemon juice, pinch salt, one-half cup sugar, one-eighth teaspoon lemon rind, 2 small servings of ice cream into mixer.

Shake thoroughly. Serve with a dash of ginger. Makes three servings.

A pint of fruit when used as ice cream or pudding topping will serve from four to six people.

Stuffed Eggs Crown Shredded Romaine

Pimiento-stuffed Egg Salad

Shell eggs and cut each in half lengthwise. Remove yolks; mash yolks with pimientos, mayonnaise, onion powder, salt and pepper to taste. Pile back into egg whites.

With a fork, beat olive oil,

6 hard-cooked eggs
3 whole canned drained pimientos
3 tablespoons mayonnaise
Onion powder
Salt
Pepper
4 tablespoons olive oil
4 teaspoons garlic wine vinegar
1 teaspoon prepared mustard
1 quart knife-shredded romaine leaves (packed down)

garlic vinegar and mustard together in a large bowl until combined. Add romaine and salt and pepper to taste; toss well.

Serve stuffed eggs on top of mixed greens. Makes four servings—three stuffed egg halves to a portion.

Add Cinnamon to Icing

When devil's food cake is on the menu, top it off with your favorite creamy chocolate frosting, but add half a teaspoon of ground cinnamon as you add the sugar. The flavor of the chocolate and the cinnamon are wonderful together.

Add Blueberries for an Unusual Summer Bread

Combine blueberries and orange juice in this unusual summer bread.

Blueberry Orange Loaf

2 cups sifted flour
1 teaspoon double-acting baking powder
½ teaspoon baking soda
½ teaspoon salt
¾ cup sugar
1 cup blueberries (washed and picked over)
1 egg
¾ cup orange juice
1 tablespoon grated orange rind

Sift together the flour, baking powder, baking soda, salt and sugar. Dry blueberries on paper towels. Mix gently into flour mixture.

Beat egg until yolk and white are combined; beat in orange juice to combine; stir in grated orange rind. Fold dry ingredients plus blueberries and egg mixture together lightly.

Turn into greased loaf pan (about 8½ by 4½ by 2½ inches). Bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven until lightly browned on top and cake tester inserted in center comes out clean — about 50 minutes.

Turn out of pan onto cake rack; when cool, place in a paper bag with ends twirled closed for an hour or so before slicing.

Enjoy Lemon Cooler for That Quick Pickup

For that quick pickup after ironing or gardening, this will satisfy. Combination of lemon and ice cream makes it refreshing, tasty and nutritious.

Lemon Cooler

Put 1 cup ice water, one-fourth cup lemon juice, one-quarter cup sugar, pinch of salt, 1 large serving of vanilla ice cream into mixing bowl and beat just long enough to blend. Makes one serving.

For Stiff Meringue

When recipe directs you to whip egg whites until they are "stiff but not dry," beat the whites until they stand in stiff peaks whose points do not lop over. The air bubbles in the egg whites should be tiny and even.

Substantial Pancakes Made With Corn

These corn pancakes are the substantial kind!

Corn Pancakes

1 cup sifted flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
4 teaspoons sugar
2 eggs
⅔ cup milk
2 tablespoons butter or margarine (melted)
2 cups corn kernels (cut from cobs of leftover cooked corn)

Sift together the flour, baking powder, salt and sugar. Beat eggs until thick and lemon-colored; add milk and beat enough to combine; stir in melted butter and corn kernels. Stir sifted dry ingredients and egg mixture together lightly. Fry pancakes in small amount of hot butter or margarine in heavy iron skillet; drop just enough batter from mixing spoon so you can fry six pancakes at one time in skillet that is about 10 inches in diameter. When one side of pancake is golden brown, turn and brown other side. Serve at once. Makes 18 pancakes.

Sauerkraut Places Salad in Extra-Special Category

You've probably often wished for a magic touch to give new interest to your salads. Sauerkraut can be the ingredient that puts a salad into the extra-special class.

Kraut, in addition to tasting good and being good for you, makes the preparation of salads a cinch. There's no washing of greens and no waste. Simply open a can of kraut and combine with the rest of the ingredients—it's as simple as that.

Here are some new recipes to start you off.

Kraut Salad Supreme

1 No. 2 can sauerkraut, drained
1 cup cauliflowerets
½ cup diced carrot
½ cup chopped onions
1½ cups diced processed Swiss cheese (about 1-3 pound cheese)
6 slices crisp cooked bacon, crumbled
2-3 cup French dressing
Crisp salad greens

Cut sauerkraut into short lengths. Combine sauerkraut, cauliflowerets, carrot, onions and cheese. Chill.

Just before serving, add bacon and French dressing to kraut mixture; toss lightly but thoroughly. Serve with crisp salad greens. Makes four to six servings.

For that quick lunch: Heat slices of ham and place on toast. Top with canned whole cranberry sauce and serve as open sandwiches. Good with a mixed green salad.

For Leisurely Traveling Take Sandwich Essentials

Pontiac Press Food Editor

Like many families in Oakland county, we take a vacation trip. By the time this appears in the paper, we'll be well on our way—up the eastern shore of the state to the Straits, then on to the Soo and west to Tahquamenon Falls.

I'd like to share with you a little of my food planning for this trip. As we did last year, we expect to eat all our lunches in parks or on the beach. It's fun, it saves money, and it gives us more interesting lunches.

We travel in a leisurely fashion because it is a vacation, and we don't have to get anywhere at any set time. We stop often, whenever there's something interesting to see or when our legs need stretching. The Six-Year-Old and Miss Teenager do not always find the back seat big enough for the two of them. A short stop releases tensions.

Before we left I tried to organize my thinking about food. Last year we shopped daily just before it was time to eat. This year I bought lunch materials in Pontiac and packed them in the car.

We have the usual picnic icebox and keep it filled with ice from roadside self-serve stands. But we have a supply of food that does not need chilling. Of course, we carry a thermos of ice water in the car, as well as paper cups.

STANDARD LUNCH

Our standard lunch is sandwiches, milk, fruit and perhaps cookies. Bread keeps nicely in its plastic bag and needs replenishing only every few days. Even without ice, margarine doesn't get too soft; in a glass jar it doesn't hurt anything else.

Peanut butter and jelly are old standbys and keep indefinitely. We all like deviled ham. A can of that sees us through one lunch with no leftovers to worry about. The same is true of a can of boned chicken or turkey or a small can of shrimp.

Since the Six-Year-Old is perfectly happy with a lunch of canned baked beans, we carry along a supply. He devours a miniature can of them, hot or cold at one sitting.

We don't bother with lettuce on our sandwiches. Uncertain refrigeration makes keeping it crisp a problem. But a jar of pickles gives us that needed green stuff.

Store cheese doesn't spoil like cream or cottage cheese might. We've a wedge of that wrapped in aluminum foil. Mustard and catsup complete the sandwich supplies.

When we pass a store at a convenient time, we get milk. But we're carrying a package of instant dry skim milk and one of the new instant chocolate milk powder. Miss Teenager and I always drink skim milk at home; the Six-Year-Old doesn't care; the Better Half is agreeable. Most parks have safe drinking water, usually very cold. Mixing milk for lunch is no problem.

Best of all, there are no dishes. We use paper plates, cups and napkins and plastic "silverware," all of which can be tossed away. That's a housewife's dream of a real vacation.

If and when it rains, we have to give up and go to a restaurant. Weather permitting, we'll have a whole week of picnic lunches. The can opener is our most valuable piece of equipment.

Guacamole Salad Is Mexican Favorite

This unusual salad is practically the national dish of Mexico. It is served with everything, being particularly suited as an accompaniment to spicy foods.

Guacamole Salad

1½ cups cubes peeled tomatoes
½ cup cubed green pepper
½ cup diced onion
2 tablespoons lemon juice
¼ teaspoon dry mustard
Few drops Tabasco sauce
½ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1 ripe avocado, cubed

Place tomatoes, green pepper, onion, lemon juice, mustard, Tabasco, Worcestershire and avocado in blender in order indicated. Cover container and turn on.

Run until avocado just pulls in, about 10 seconds. Serve immediately over lettuce, or as a sauce for meat. Makes four to six servings.

Frosty Drinks Beat the Heat

Hard play and exercise make hungry and thirsty youngsters. During the day they need an energy pickup, and nothing is more satisfying in summer than a cooling drink and cookies.

Bottles of carbonated beverages, in convenient sizes, are fine refreshers at any time.

Orange, grape and black cherry true-fruit flavored, are favorites with children and, of course, cola cream soda and pale dry gingerale are always in demand.

These beverages are all good mixers, and with a supply in the refrigerator, along with fresh fruit milk, cream and ice cream on hand, you are ready to concoct many delicious sodas and floats.

Here are two sodas that will make a hit with children and you'll find that adults will "go" for them, too.

Chocoberry Malted

3 heaping teaspoons sweetened chocolate flavored malted milk
¼ cup sweetened pureed strawberries
Pale dry gingerale

In a tall glass, combine malted milk and pureed strawberries with a small amount of gingerale; mix to a smooth paste. Fill glass with ice cold gingerale. Stir gently to mix.

Chocola Soda

1 pint chocolate chip or chocolate ice cream
4 tablespoons chocolate syrup
Cola beverage

Divide ice cream and chocolate syrup among four tall glasses. Fill glasses with ice cold cola. Stir gently to mix.

Lemon Ice Cubes Lend Zest to Tea

Know the way to add that extra little touch to cool refreshment? It's this sort of kitchen magic that helps make your reputation as an imaginative hostess. So simple, too!

Serve iced tea with flavored ice cubes; here's how to make them.

Lemon Iced Tea Cubes

3 cups cold water
3 tablespoons loose tea or 9 tea bags
3 tablespoons sugar
¼ cup lemon juice

Bring water to a full rolling boil. Remove from heat and immediately pour over tea. Brew four minutes uncovered. Stir and strain. Stir in sugar and lemon juice. Pour into ice cube tray and freeze. When serving iced tea, add three or four iced tea cubes to each glass.

Note: Use freshly drawn cold water in making the tea for the punch.

Dish Features Flavor-Mates

The hostess with the mostes' know-how realizes that her luncheon goal is tast foods served attractively. Flavor-mates like spicy pimientos, fluffy rice and hard-cooked eggs not only provide delicious taste contrast, but their brave colors make a pretty presentation in Pimiento-Rice-Egg Casserole.

Served up in a handsome chafing dish, this easy luncheon is certain to do any hostess proud.

Pimiento-Rice-Egg Casserole

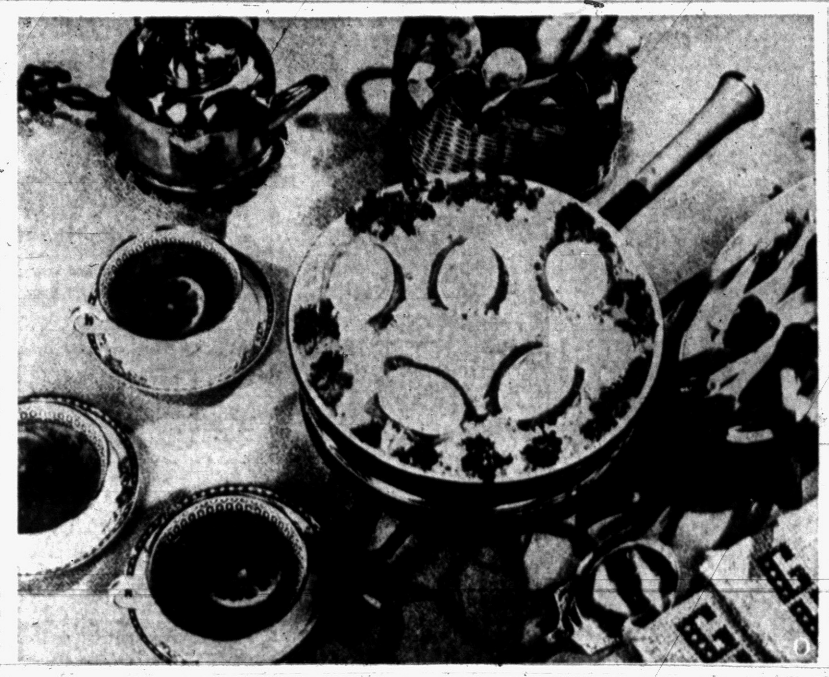

1 can or jar (4 ounces) whole pimientos
4 or 5 hard-cooked eggs
1¼ cups uncooked white rice
1 cup chicken consomme
2 cups cold water
1 teaspoon butter or margarine
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon celery salt
Parsley

Put the water, rice, seasonings and butter into a heavy saucepan and bring to a boil quickly. Reduce the heat to simmer, cover the pan tightly, and cook the rice for 15 minutes; then uncover it and let the steam evaporate.

Slice two or three eggs and cut the pimientos into large pieces. Spread half the rice in the bottom of a 2-quart chafing dish or casserole, topping it first with a layer of sliced eggs and next with a layer of pimiento pieces.

Add another layer of rice and nestle the rest of the eggs, cut in half, in pimiento cups made of big pieces of pimiento. Pour the chicken consomme over this and heat it in the chafing dish until bubbly hot or in a 350 degree oven for 15 to 20 minutes.

Garnish the casserole with sprigs of parsley. It will make four to five servings.

PIMIENTO-EGG-RICE-CASSEROLE—Your chafing dish is one means by which you can beat the heat of cooking. Feature pretty flavor-mates, pimientos and eggs, bedded down in fluffy white rice. Serve with relishes and a cooling salad for a summer luncheon.

Hickory Chips Add Flavor to Crisp Pop Corn

More and more people are discovering a new kind of outdoor cooking fun — popping pop corn over charcoal.

The freshly buttered and salted pop corn is an excellent accompaniment to all kinds of cooling summer drinks, but the most fun of all is the gayety that comes in the popping of corn over the coals . . . especially with one of the old-fashioned type open wire poppers . . . so you can see it pop.

Any kind of heavy pan skillet can be used.

The secret of success is discovering just how hot a fire to have, and how far to keep the live coals from the popper. This is a matter of experimentation on your own barbecue grill. Generally speaking, a medium-sized bed of white live charcoal, about four inches from the popper, works quite well.

Hickory Smoked Pop Corn

To impart a tantalizing flavor of hickory to the pop corn, add one or two hickory chips to the coals. To keep the wood from flaming, first soak it several hours in water. In this way you get the hickory smoke without flame which would scorch the pop corn in an open wire popper. Then, just salt and butter the popped corn in the regular way. It's a new, different kind of pop corn treat — really delicious.

Lobster Tails Need No Thawing – Cook

What's defrosting for dinner tonight? Nothing; but the home maker can still have a wonderful rock lobster entree on the table in less than 10 minutes from the time she opens the freezer chest! Rock lobster tails don't need to be thawed before they are boiled. Frozen six ounce tails cook in nine minutes and everybody knows what a treat they are, served plain boiled with melted butter or in a cream sauce.

To make certain that the makings for a rock lobster dinner are always handy for homemakers the distributors of South African rock lobster have just introduced a five-pound "Home Freezer" pack.

That's enough rock lobster tails for three delicious dinners for a family of four hungry people or for a dozen very lucky unexpected guests. The homemaker will feel lucky, too, to have this easy-to-prepare seafood from far-off South Africa right at her fingertips whenever she feels in the mood for a really exciting and interesting dinner.

Printed on the new package is the exclusive South African Rock Lobster Association "Timetable" for preparing the tails, and basic recipes for broiling, baking in foil, boiling and pressure cooking.

Fortify Creamed Soup

When you serve a cream soup to your family, use a cup of milk for each portion when you prepare this soup. This way you will be including generous amounts of valuable nutrients in your family's diet.

Cold, Crisp Salads

An easy way to add zest to summertime salads (or anytime salads) is to put salad plates in the freezer a few minutes before placing on the tables. Perfect insurance for crisp, tantalizing salads.

Plan Attractive Garnishes for Sandwich Meals

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

Since August is Sandwich month, perhaps you would like an idea or two for what to serve with your sandwiches.

What you serve depends upon when you serve. If French toast sandwiches, or bacon and egg rolls are on the breakfast menu, you won't serve much else but fruit and a beverage. It's those other meals about which we're concerned.

We usually garnish the sandwich plate with pickle slices, olives, radishes or perhaps tomato wedges. If you have some of the gaily colored cocktail picks, put an olive on one end and stand a pick upright in club sandwiches. Pickles may be slices, sticks, chunks or relish. Onion rings are the perfect accompaniment to hamburgers or other meat sandwiches.

Garnishes that might not occur to you as spontaneously as the above are pickled beets, hard-cooked eggs, cheese sticks, carrot curls or sauteed mushrooms.

Fruit salad is an excellent go-with for sandwiches. Use fruit that contrasts well in taste with the sandwich filling, and you've a whole meal on a plate. Try peach halves filled with blueberries. Peel a slice of melon, add a few peach or pear wedges and top with a scoop of sherbet.

Late summer evenings are apt to be cool. If you're serving sandwiches after an evening of cards, put a cup of hot soup on the plate with a sandwich. It will be a welcome change, especially for those who don't want coffee after the dinner hour.

Another sandwich mate is cabbage salad. None of this limp, nondescript stuff that you sometimes get in a restaurant. Try a mixture of half and half French dressing and mayonnaise with which to mix the cabbage. If you care to spend a little more time in preparation, make old fashioned Cole Slaw.

Old-Fashioned Cole Slaw

½ cup vinegar
2 tablespoons sugar
½ cup sweet cream
2 cups shaved or shredded cabbage
1 teaspoon salt

Stir together vinegar and sugar until sugar is dissolved. At serving time, beat sweet cream slowly into vinegar. This dressing will thicken like cream. Add salt to cabbage. Pour dressing over cabbage. Mix well and serve.

Try Apple Turnovers

If you have pastry left over the next time you bake a pie, make tiny apple turnovers to serve instead of cookies for dessert. Cut a small square of pastry, fill with a dab of applesauce that has been liberally sprinkled with cinnamon, fold over and bake in a hot oven.

Sea Food Combines With Pickle in Salad

Refreshing salads are the answer to warm-weather menu problems. They are sure to appeal when appetites are beginning to lag.

Pickle Sea Food Salad

½ pound shrimp, cooked, shelled and deveined
1 6-ounce can lobster
1 6½-ounce can crab meat
½ cup mayonnaise
¼ cup chili sauce
¼ cup chopped sweet fresh cucumber pickles
1 tablespoon minced onion
1 teaspoon prepared mustard
1 teaspoon horse-radish
¼ cup finely chopped celery
Water cress

Chop shrimp. Remove any bone from lobster and crab meat. In a bowl, combine shrimp, lobster and crab meat; chill. In another bowl, combine remaining ingredients except water cress; mix well. Combine sea food and pickle mixture; mix lightly but thoroughly. Arrange on water cress and serve.

Try Deviled Stuffing Dish

Alternate tomato slices in greased casserole with generous layers of deviled stuffing made simply by combining 2 cups packaged stuffing mix, ½ cup milk, 1 egg beaten, ½ teaspoon grated lemon rind and 1 family size can deviled ham. Casserole should bake in moderate oven about 35 minutes. Serve with a summer salad.

A dairy cow drinks from 12 to 15 gallons of water a day.

Pork Is in High Favor

Pork remains in high favor. Consumers will find ham — fresh and smoked or canned — at prices well below last year's level. The demand for spareribs keeps prices high. Again shoppers are reminded that the Boston butt (cut into steaks) or the rib-end loin roast cost less and give more lean meat per serving.

Make sure when you serve lamb that it is either piping hot or well chilled.

Try Cool Salad of Baked Beans

Summertime is salad time and a navy bean salad can be a nutritious main dish or a delicious side issue to a colorful buffet of cold cuts for an easy, hot-weather meal. Easiest of all is to open a can of your choice brand of baked beans and start from there.

If you prefer your own baked beans, you can cut preparation time by boiling them til they're tender, then bake with your favorite combination of ingredients 45 minutes to an hour.

Pressure cooking also saves time. Bring up pressure over low heat to 15 pounds, holding it at that pressure from 5 to 10 minutes. Take off heat and let pressure drop gradually.

Bean Stuffed Tomato Salad

A delightful salad is made by hollowing out firm, red-ripe tomatoes and filling cavities with well-seasoned baked beans without tomato sauce.

If a hot vegetable is preferred, heat the stuffed tomatoes in a 350-degree oven until tomatoes are tender and beans heated through.

Refreshing Bean Salad

½ pound boiled navy beans
1 large onion, sliced
¼ cup parsley, chopped fine
3 tablespoons olive or salad oil
3 tablespoons vinegar or lemon juice
Salt and pepper

Mix beans, sliced onions, parsley, oil, vinegar, salt and pepper. Serve on crisp lettuce leaves. Garnish with tomato and olives or top with a generous spoonful of sour cream mixed with chives.

Baste Grilled Meats With Barbecue Sauce

Arrange thick slices of canned ham and luncheon meat and canned frankfurters on grill. Baste with Tomato Barbecue Sauce. Grill meats, basting often with more sauce, until browned on both sides.

Tomato Barbecue Sauce

1 can (1 pound or 1 pound 4 ounces) tomatoes
1 can (8 ounces) tomato sauce
1 large onion, chopped
3 tablespoons brown sugar
2 tablespoons vinegar
2 tablespoons diced green pepper
½ lemon, thinly sliced
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
1 to 2 teaspoons chili powder
½ teaspoon salt

Combine all ingredients; simmer 15 minutes. Makes 3 cups sauce.

Two Types of Parsley

Use curly parsley in salads, sandwich fillings, cold meat and fish dishes and as a garnish. Use the minced Italian-type parsley in foods that are being cooked.

Relish Lends Extra Zing to Popular Deviled Eggs

Barbecue Relish is the third "special" relish introduced by a world-famous pickle packer in three years.

Two years ago—just at the beginning of picnic season—Hot Dog Relish, a tangy combination of mustard and pickle relish, was introduced. Last year, Hamburger Relish, a kind of old-fashioned chili sauce with relish added, made its bow.

Although the names of the trio might make one consider them one-purpose items, the flavor of each goes well with just about any meat, fish or fowl. Your choice would depend on whether you preferred a mustard, tomato or candy-like base.

Here are some recipes you might like to try:

Easy Deviled Eggs

6 hard-cooked eggs
¼ cup hot dog relish or hamburger relish
3 tablespoons mayonnaise or cooked salad dressing
½ teaspoon salt

Sliced shelled eggs in half lengthwise; remove egg yolks; mash. Combine yolks with remaining ingredients; use as filling for whites; chill. Makes six servings.

Macaroni Salad

1½ cups elbow macaroni
1½ cups chopped celery
1-3 to ½ cup finely chopped onion
6 radishes, thinly sliced
2 tablespoons minced parsley
½ cup finely chopped dill pickle or ¾ cup finely chopped candied dill strips
¾ cup grated sharp process cheese, if desired
1 cup mayonnaise or salad dressing
2 tablespoons salad or apple cider vinegar
2 teaspoons prepared mustard
1½ teaspoons salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper

Cook macaroni in boiling, salted water until tender. Drain; rinse. Combine with next six ingredients. Make dressing by combining mayonnaise and remaining ingredients. Combine with macaroni mixture.

Chill; serve on lettuce leaf. Garnish with grated cheese or parsley. Makes six servings.

Tenderoni Substitutes for Potatoes in Salad

Tenderoni may be substituted for potatoes in the recipe for potato salad. It gives an interesting variation if yours is a family which likes to have this type of salad frequently during the summer.

Cook and drain one-half package of tenderoni and combine with the other ingredients. Makes four to six servings.

How to Ripen Tomatoes

When you want to ripen home-grown tomatoes (the ones you buy in the store), put them in the basement where the temperature is 55-70 degrees. Under-ripe tomatoes become watery in the refrigerator.

Make Pretty Punch With Four Juices

This is one of the best-tasting and prettiest of all punches. Easy to make with frozen or bottled juices.

1 pint cranberry juice cocktail
1 cup orange juice
Juice of 2 lemons (6 tablespoons)
½ cup pineapple juice
4 tablespoons sugar
1 to 2 cups water

Combine all ingredients. Serves four to six.

Combine chicken and lobster in a salad with celery and well-seasoned mayonnaise. Serve on water cress.

Serve Spread of Blue Cheese

This spread is delicious on crackers when it is served with a tomato juice cocktail.

Blue Cheese Spread

1 package (3 ounces) cream cheese
½ firmly-packed cup blue cheese (about ¼ pound)
2 tablespoons cooking sherry

Leave cream and blue cheese at room temperature in small bowl of electric mixer to soften. Add cooking sherry and beat until smooth and fluffy.

If electric mixer is not used, force blue cheese through fine sieve to make smooth; then blend with cream cheese with mixing spoon; blend in sherry.

Serve with crisp crackers as a spread-your-own.

Try Small Meat Balls in Hot Vegetable Soup

Here's how to make a can of vegetable soup into a main dish for luncheon or supper. Form your favorite meat-cake mixture into little balls and brown them well in a small amount of fat. Drop the miniature meat balls into the hot soup just before serving.

Round out the meal with bread and butter, a big bowl of green salad, and a simple dessert. There's a nourishing, appetizing menu for a summer day.

Leftover Vegetables Make Grand Salads

Leftover canned vegetables—carrots, peas, green beans, corn, lima beans — make wonderful summer salads and sandwich fillings.

Toss together with your favorite salad dressing and add shredded cabbage or lettuce, and a few chunks of ripe tomato. Serve as a tossed salad or make into sandwiches.

Sparkling Salad Is Pink and Green

Here's a cool sparkling salad you will want to serve to your summer luncheon guests. The pink of the shrimp and the pale green of the cucumbers barely peek through the gelatin mixed with mayonnaise and gently flavored with vinegar to give it a "lift."

1 package lemon-flavored gelatin
1½ cups hot water
½ cup vinegar
1 No. 1 can shrimp, diced
1 cup mixed green vegetables, diced
1 large cucumber, diced
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon paprika
½ cup mayonnaise

Dissolve gelatin in hot water. Add vinegar. Chill until slightly thickened. Mix together shrimp, cucumber, salt, paprika and mayonnaise and fold into gelatin. Turn into ring mold. Chill until firm. Unmold on to platter. Fill center with diced fresh vegetables. Garnish with pickle fans, radish roses and parsley, if desired.

For porch treatment, we suggest this good way to fix the club rolls you can buy at the bakery. No time at all needed to get these Combination Baby Subs ready, whether the summer cook does it herself or has helpers.

Add pickles and olives, corn on the cob, fresh fruit and iced tea or coffee, and you are all set.

Combination Baby Subs

6 club rolls
¼ pound butter or margarine
2 tablespoons prepared mustard
2 small tomatoes (sliced)
1 medium-sized onion (sliced)
¼ pound sliced cooked ham
¼ pound cheddar cheese (sliced)

Slash rolls into thin diagonal slices just to the bottom crust but not through. Cream butter with mustard. Spread butter mixture on cut surfaces of rolls.

Insert a slice of tomato and one of onion in one gash; place a slice of ham and one of cheese in the next gash; continue alternating this way.

Place filled rolls on rack in broiler pan; broil until cheese is bubbly and tinged with brown. Makes six servings.

Add Luscious Cherries to Rich Biscuit Dough

We ran across this recipe in an old cookbook of the take-a-handful-of-flour era. Sounds like a delicious suggestion for using sweet juicy cherries.

"Make a rich biscuit dough using thick cream slightly soured. When baked, split and add a generous helping of dark pitted cherries. Top with sweet cream thick and cool from the springhouse!" Sounds like as good eating now as it must have been when springhouses instead of refrigerators kept the cherries cool and fresh!

A quart of frozen fruit will supply fruit for a nine-inch pie.

Icebox Cookies Allow You to Bake in Cool Comfort

Like to take the steam out of summer cookie baking? Here is a solution: Refrigerator cookies, made in stages, with an eye to the weather.

The dough for refrigerator cookies can be made quickly and in extra-large batches during the cool of the morning or evening. Then it can be stored in the refrigerator for as long as two weeks.

Small amounts can be baked as needed and, by taking advantage of cool breaks and rainy days, there is no need to suffer with oven heat.

A word of warning on flavor in these refrigerator cookies: It will pay to make sure your flavorings are fresh and of the best quality. Storing the batter in the refrigerator puts the flavor to a real test.

This is especially true of vanilla. Make sure you use a good, pure vanilla extract. The pure extract has much greater flavor stability than other types of vanilla flavorings.

USE MILK CARTON

A simple container for storing the dough in the refrigerator can be made from an empty milk carton. Just cut out one side of the carton.

The wax-coated cardboard is watertight and if the container is wrapped with aluminum foil after it is filled, it will be airtight enough for the cookie batter.

Children love all sorts of cookies, but they are especially attractive to striped ones. A delicious refrigerator cookie can be made by adding chocolate to one third of a basic vanilla cookie dough and a few drops of red coloring to another third. The remaining third is left simply flavored with the pure vanilla extract.

The three batches of dough are patted, one on top of another, into an empty milk carton.

When the mixture is thoroughly chilled, it can be cut like a loaf of bread, with attractive, striped cookies resulting.

TRI-COLORED VANILLA COOKIES
(Refrigerator Cookies)

2¼ cups sifted all-purpose flour
¾ teaspoon double-acting baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
¾ cup shortening
¾ cup sugar
1½ teaspoons pure vanilla extract
1 egg
1 square unsweetened chocolate
8 drops red vegetable coloring

Sift first three ingredients together. (Set aside for later use.) Cream shortening, sugar and pure vanilla extract together until fluffy. Beat in egg. Gradually stir in flour mixture.

Divide dough into three parts. Remove one side from a cardboard milk container, leaving the ends and other three sides intact. Rinse with cold water and wipe dry. Pat one part of the dough over the bottom. Blend in melted chocolate to one of the remaining parts and pat, uniformly over the white layer.

Mix 8 drops red vegetable coloring to the rest of the dough. Blend until the dough is colored uniformly. Pat evenly over chocolate layer.

Wrap the container in aluminum foil or waxed paper. Chill until firm enough to cut (eight hours or overnight or several day). Tear sides from the container, place the chilled dough down on a board. Slice one-eighth inch thick.

Place on ungreased cookie sheets. Bake five to six minutes in a pre-heated oven. Yield: three dozen cookies.

Serve This Dressing on Seafood Salads

This dressing is delicious served on seafood salads. It lends an epicurean touch to cold, crisp wedges of lettuce or to other vegetable salad combinations.

Cucumber Whip Dressing

1 medium-sized cucumber
½ cup heavy cream, whipped
1 tablespoon lemon juice
¼ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
Dash of cayenne pepper
3 tablespoons wheat germ

Peel, then grate cucumber; drain off juice. Blend lemon juice and seasonings gradually into whipped cream. Fold in cucumber pulp and wheat germ. Serve on seafood salads, sliced tomatoes, lettuce wedges or vegetable salads. Makes 6-8 servings.

Three medium sized tomatoes usually weigh about one pound.

Try This Easy Dressing for Ripe, Juicy Pears

Mix this easy, breezy dressing to serve with ripe Bartlett Pears: For 4 or 5 servings, cut up 8 marshmallows; mix with ¼ cup undiluted frozen concentrated orange juice and ½ cup mayonnaise; chill.

Arrange wedges of chilled pears on lettuce, around a mound of cottage cheese. Heap with dressing and sprinkle with salted peanuts or almonds. Grand with buttered toast or nut bread and coffee or tea.

Delightful Pear Treat

Delightful treat for the pear season! Make a syrup of 1 cup water and 1½ cups sugar, bring to a boil and drop in ¼ cup preserved ginger, slivered, four pounds sliced or quartered pears, and 3 or 4 lemons, thinly sliced. Cook until pears are tender; chill and serve with sausages, or your favorite roast.

Ever marinate ripe olives in garlic-flavored French dressing? After draining the olives, before serving, the dressing may be used in a salad.

Versatile Tomato Cubes

Peeled and seeded tomatoes, cut into cubes are delicious served with a cocktail sauce such as is used with a shrimp cocktail. Marinate the tomatoes in a tangy French dressing. Drain and cover with the sauce. Serve cold.

Honey Dressings Top Off Cool, Colorful Fruit Salad

If there is one time of the year that cries out for salads, it is in the warm months. The crisp crunch of a lettuce leaf is a cooling sound.

Honey and lemon juice or equal parts of honey and lime juice go equally well on any fruit salad; keep a little jar of one or the other blended together in the refrigerator ready for instant use. Here is a selection of other favorite dressings for fruit salads.

Honey Coconut Salad Dressing

1 egg, slightly beaten
⅓ cup honey
Dash of salt
3½ tablespoons lemon juice
½ cup cream, whipped
⅓ cup coconut, toasted

Combine egg, honey, salt and lemon juice in top of double boiler. Cook over boiling water until thickened, stirring constantly—about five minutes. Fold carefully into whipped cream. Chill.

Just before serving, fold in toasted coconut. Serve with fruit salad. Top with additional toasted coconut. Makes 1½ cups dressing.

Honey Fruit Dressing

2 egg yolks
⅓ cup honey
⅓ cup lemon juice
¼ teaspoon salt
6 marshmallows (cut in pieces)
1 cup cream, whipped

Beat egg yolks and add honey gradually. Add lemon juice and salt. Cook over low heat stirring constantly until mixture thickens. Add marshmallows and stir until melted. Remove from heat. Just before serving fold in whipped cream.

Cottage Cheese Dressing

½ cup sour cream
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 tablespoon honey
½ cup cottage cheese (creamed)
½ teaspoon salt

Put ingredients in bowl and mix well. Makes 1 cup. Delicious on fruit salads.

Creamy Fruit Salad Dressing

3 tablespoons honey
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 teaspoon grated lemon peel
½ cup whipping cream

Combine honey, lemon juice and grated lemon peel. Fold into the whipped cream just before serving on chilled fruit salad.

This dressing cannot be stored. It separates on standing. Yield: Approximately 1 cup.

Honey Celery Seed Dressing

1 teaspoon dry mustard
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon paprika
⅓ cup honey
1 cup salad oil
¼ cup vinegar
1 teaspoon grated onion
1 tablespoon celery seed

Mix dry ingredients in mixing bowl. Add honey and blend well. Add oil and vinegar alternately, beating well with rotary egg beater after each addition. Add onion and celery seed. Yield: About 1 2-3 cups dressing.

Honey French Dressing

½ cup lemon juice
½ cup honey
½ cup salad oil
1 teaspoon salt

Shake in bottle or jar to blend ingredients. Shake again before serving. Variation: Crumble with a fork one-quarter pound of Roquefort cheese into small pieces. Add to 1 cup of Honey French Dressing.

Hamburger Stuffies Sport Zesty Filling

Grilled Hamburger Stuffies have a new twist, too, for they feature a delicious surprise filling with lots of flavor.

Hamburger Stuffies

1 pound beef chuck, ground
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
¼ teaspoon monosodium glutamate
1 teaspoon minced onion
2 tablespoons heavy cream
1 cup packaged stuffing mix, rolled fine
2 tablespoons melted butter
2-3 tablespoons tomato juice

Combine beef, seasonings and cream. Divide meat and shape into eight thin patties. Mix remaining ingredients to make stuffing. Add tomato juice to stuffing. Place spoonfuls of filling on half of patties and top with remaining patties to make four hamburgers. Press edges together to seal in stuffing. Grill on each side until done.

Cream Scones Feature Bran

Bran cereal is fast becoming a popular cooking ingredient. Take this recipe for Bran Cream Scones for example. It's a "bran" new way of preparing this popular bread with whole bran cereal contributing a special nutty flavor.

Made according to the quick method, it requires a fast mixing and a fleet baking time. Serve any season of the year with tea as an afternoon refreshment.

Bran Cream Scones

1¾ cups sifted flour
4 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon sugar
½ cup whole bran
¼ cup butter or margarine
2 eggs
1-3 cup light cream
1 teaspoon water
2 teaspoons sugar

Sift together flour, baking powder, salt and sugar; add bran. Cut in butter. Reserve small portion of egg white; beat remaining eggs and add to first mixture with cream. Stir until combined.

Turn onto floured board, knead lightly, and roll out to three-quarter-inch thickness. Cut into triangles, or with fancy biscuit cutter; brush with egg white mixed with water and sprinkle with sugar.

Bake in very hot oven (450 degrees) about 15 minutes. Yield: 12 scones.

Cool, Chill Surprise

When the children clamor for something cool to eat here's a delicious surprise. Cut up chilled fresh California oranges and sprinkle with a mixture of cinnamon and sugar. It's packed with good nutrition, and what's more they'll love every bite.

Overcooking Creates Soft, Flavorless Fish

If your family, like many American families, does not care for fish, the chances are that they simply do not care for fish cooked as they have eaten it.

It's easy to overcook fish. If you don't realize that the connective tissue softens rapidly during cooking, and that the protein of fish is almost as delicate as that of eggs, you will probably overcook it . . . resulting in a flavorless and unappetizing serving.

You will find that fish, like meat, is best if cooked at a low temperature. When sufficiently cooked, fish loses its transparency and flakes easily when the fibers are separated with a fork, but it is still moist and firm. It's a good rule to "cook as briefly as possible and serve promptly."

Frozen sandwiches thaw in about three hours—ideal for carrying to the picnic—but they should be eaten soon after thawing.

Season Liver Well for Sandwich Filling

Season liver well for a sandwich filling and your family will be bound to like it.

Chopped Liver Sandwiches

1½ cups chopped cooked liver
6 slices crisply cooked bacon (crumbled)
½ cup chopped sweet pickles
¼ cup finely chopped onion
½ cup finely chopped celery
¼ cup mayonnaise or mayonnaise-type salad dressing
2 teaspoons prepared mustard
Salt, pepper
Sliced bread
Butter

Mix liver, bacon, pickles, onion, celery, mayonnaise and mustard; add salt and pepper to taste. Use as a filling on buttered bread slices for sandwiches. Makes about 2 cups filling.

Boned and rolled roasts require approximately 10 minutes per pound more cooking time than roasts with the bone left in.

Cereal Used in Chicken Loaf

Here is a new and different chicken loaf for you to try . . . we think your family, from 6 to 60, will really enjoy it. The thickening in the loaf is the easily used and satisfactory ingredient, quick-cooking rice cereal.

The sauce is very simple . . . your favorite white sauce with the addition of good broiled mushrooms and a bit of ginger.

Add some buttered French green beans, a tossed salad and your favorite dessert.

Baked Chicken Loaf

2 cups chopped cooked chicken or turkey
½ cup diced celery
½ cup diced onion
1 egg, beaten
1 cup chicken broth, or bouillon
½ cup quick-cooking rice cereal
1½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
1 tablespoon minced parsley

Put chicken, or turkey meat, through food chopper with celery and onion. Add beaten egg, the broth or bouillon, rice cereal, salt, pepper and parsley. Mix well and pack lightly in greased loaf pan, about 8x4 inches.

Bake until firm, about one hour, in moderately hot oven, 375 degrees. When done, turn out on hot serving platter.

Cut in slices and serve with a hot sauce made by combining 1 cup medium white sauce, the contents of a 3-ounce can sliced broiled mushrooms and 1 teaspoon ginger, then heating together. Yield: Six servings.

Dish Fit for Company

Here's a luxurious company dish: Season heavy cream with garlic powder; mix with cooked cleaned shrimp, cooked rice and cooked green peas. Add sliced water chestnuts if you like. Heat in a large covered skillet and serve with a crisp salad and crusty rolls.

Good seasonings for cream of tomato soup: Worcestershire sauce, celery salt, chopped green onions.

Pistachio Sauce Sparks Sundae

Are you a pistachio fan? It seems that Kathy Nolan, who played Wendy in Peter Pan, decidedly is.

"Any flavor so long as it's pistachio," she said, adding, "My favorite sundae is made with vanilla ice cream, pistachio sauce and lots and lots of pistachio nuts scattered over it."

Pistachio Sundae Sauce

Mix 1 box of instant vanilla pudding into 1 cup of light (white) corn syrup.

Stir in 2 tablespoons water and 2 teaspoons pistachio flavoring. Serve over vanilla ice cream topped with a sprinkling of pistachio nuts.

Chocolate Mint Sundae Sauce

Mix 1 box of instant chocolate pudding into 1 cup light (white) corn syrup. Stir in one-fourth cup water and 2 drops oil of peppermint. Serve over chocolate ice cream.

Maple Nut Sundae Sauce

Stir 1 package of instant vanilla pudding into 1 cup light (white) corn syrup. Stir in 2 tablespoons water. (For thinner sauce use one-fourth cup water).

Stir in three-fourths teaspoon maple flavor. Serve over ice cream and top with chopped nuts. Makes 1¼ cups.

Extra Rich Maple Sauce

Prepare Maple Sauce. Stir in 2 tablespoons melted margarine or butter.

Add Cantaloupe Balls

Cantaloupe balls are a delicious addition to a tossed green salad. They may be marinated in a lemon-sparked French dressing for several hours in the refrigerator and added to the crisp greens just before serving. Use the marinade as the dressing for the greens, of course!

Stock Freezer With Cherries

Though Big Cherry Time is but a few weeks long, you can extend it well through winter if you stock that freezer now with jar after jar of sweet cherries.

Then you can enjoy the luxury of out-of-season fruit next winter, and give a gay lift to many a winter-weighted meal.

To Freeze Cherries

Freezing sweet cherries is so simple that even the most amateur homemaker can do it successfully. First, select firm, fresh, ripe cherries. Wash, stem and pit them, if desired. You may leave them unpitted for salad and dessert garnishes, but for cocktails and tossed salads, pitted cherries are much preferred.

Once these preliminaries are taken care of, pack the cherries in moisture-vapor proof containers or in glass freezer jars, and cover with 40 per cent syrup.

This syrup is in the proportions of 1½ parts sugar to 2 parts water. Add one-fourth teaspoon ascorbic acid or other anti-oxident for each cup cold syrup.

When filling container, leave one-half inch space at top for expansion. Place a piece of crumpled freezer paper on the top of cherries to keep them below level of the syrup. Seal and freeze immediately. If cherries are not pitted, prick in three or four places with a fork to permit sugar absorption.

Then, next winter "spring" a delightful fresh cherry salad for Thanksgiving dinner . . . or whenever the occasion requires something special.

Be sure to serve those cherries while still partially frozen . . . while there are still ice crystals apparent on them. It's a taste treat to make even the most sophisticated gourmet glow.

Chiffonade Dressing Ideal Over Lettuce

Fine Western-grown Iceberg lettuce, now so plentiful and inexpensive in the markets, is a perfect answer to your salad problems when served alone in wedges with your favorite dressing.

If you have no particular favorite, try this special chiffonade dressing developed by Barbara Clinton, home economist for the Western Growers Association.

Chiffonade Dressing

Add 1 cup French dressing slowly to one-quarter cup mayonnaise. Chop finely 1 tablespoon of onion, 2 tablespoons of pimiento and two hard-cooked eggs. Stir into the dressing.

Returning from the main lodge at Camp Sherwood, near Lapeer, bearing food supplies for the evening meal are Gayle Colley of Rochester (left) and Norma Carrick of Holly.

Pontiac Press Photos

"A watched pot never boils," but not discouraged by the old adage and watching in eager anticipation are counselor Linda Sjogren, of Rochester (left), and Barbara Magnus of Bloomfield Hills, known in camp circles as "Ricki." The campers were photographed at Camp Sherwood, the Northern Oakland Girl Scout Camp, near Lapeer.

Girl Scouts Work Hard for Roundup

Primitive Unit Aids Campers Qualifying for Session

Buckling down to an intensive camping practice this summer in preparation for the Girl Scout Senior Roundup in 1956, are nine girls from the Northern Oakland County Council of Girl Scouts.

Plans for this primitive unit have been in the making for the past two years, and incorporated into the camp program this year. Older Intermediate and Senior Girl Scouts in the Council will have a chance to qualify for the national Senior Roundup which will be attended by 5,000 Girl Scouts and adults from all parts of the United States.

The camp site chosen is an out-of-the-way spot mid-way between two established camp units at Sherwood. Wood choppers blazed the trail, cleared the area, chopped fire wood and tents were pitched.

As we entered the camp, the girls had returned from their day's activities on the waterfront, each girl working to improve her swimming, boating or canoeing. Shining faces and slicked back, dampened locks were much in evidence.

Eagerly the "Ridgeway nine" (as they have named themselves) pointed out the innovations that changed this wooded area into a comfortable spot to live, play and work. We could scarcely keep up with the girls as they flitted from their improvised table, to a latched wash stand complete with natural lay-of-the-land drainage, to the tool rack in the tree for long handled tools, and on to the cooking area which was ready in anticipation of the night meal.

NUTRITIOUS FOOD

Too many cooks will never spoil their broth, for each has his own job to do. They told of a super apple pie baked in a reflector oven the night before and of ever popular camp-stew which fills the basic requirements of any nutritional expert.

The pack girls arrived bearing all the provisions for a complete meal from the main lodge below. The responsibility of the complete meal starts with them. Kabobs were to be the main stay for supper, turned out by cooking potato slices, meat and onions alternating on a stick.

Project for the day was the start of a quadpod. We were quite fascinated by the many uses this piece of equipment will have when completed. It is stripped down poles, notched and lashed together to form a table, corner chairs and even a bed! When the Senior Roundup rolls around, girls from all over the nation will ship them to the location dismantled, then assemble them again for camp use.

Anyone familiar with Sherwood's traditional song of Old King Cole and his Sherwood family knows that there are six verses . . . but Ridgewood, only two weeks in existence, has already changed that by adding its own verse. They sang this to us as we bid them farewell on the path leaving the scene of the camp site.

Postnuptial Party Fetes Newlywed

Mrs. Charles Wixom was feted at a post-nuptial shower Wednesday evening at the Woodland avenue home of Mrs. Charles Koella. Co-hostesses were Mrs. Carroll Osmun and Mrs. John Niggeman.

The honoree is the former Sue Stolpe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Stolpe of Starr avenue. Charles is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Wixom of Lakeland avenue.

The couple exchanged their vows July 23 at All Saints Episcopal Church.

An arrangement of assorted white flowers and lighted tapers decorated the refreshment table at which Mrs. Stolpe presided.

Guests at the kitchen shower were Mrs. Stolpe, Mrs. Wixom, Beth Netherell of Ypsilanti, Mrs. Arthur Truesdell of Wayne, Mrs. Robert Evans, Mrs. Earl Bartlett, and Mrs. J. A. Rammes and Mrs. Charles B. Wixom, grandmother of the bridegroom.

Others were Mrs. C. Gerald Smith, Mrs. Michael Ashley, Mrs. Bruce Wixom, Marilyn Hanby, Marilyn Shearer and Marian Lingle.

Church Group Has Cooperative Dinner

The Philathea Class of the Oakland Avenue United Presbyterian Church met at the home of Mrs. Edward Schultz of Rattalee road for a cooperative dinner Tuesday evening. Mrs. Ernal Lloyd conducted the business session and Mrs. Ralph Osborne was in charge of devotions.

Four guests and 20 members were present. Mrs. Osborne will open her home on Ellwood street for the next meeting.

Bonnie Newmarch of Pickering road (right), smallest member in the unit at Camp Sherwood, surprised even herself by felling her tree before the photographer was on the scene. Stripping the branches in preparation for a quadpod, is Dorothy Staley of Clarkston.

It's Vital to Return Call of Neighbor

Etiquette Demands Visit but Gift Is Not Necessary

By EMILY POST

A wife tells me: "My husband and I have recently moved into a new house in a new neighborhood. Several days after we moved in, a neighbor came to call and brought a box of homemade cookies. I would like to know when I return this call if it would be proper to bring her something.

"Also, if one does not have anything in common with a new neighbor, would it be a gross breach of etiquette not to return her visit?"

Answer: It is very important that you return her visit with apparent pleasure but it is not at all expected that you take anything to her.

"Dear Mrs. Post: I'm going to spend part of my vacation in the town in which my fiance works. I'm staying at the house of friends of his, a young married couple with a small child, who are strangers to me.

"I know from him that they haven't much money and I wondered how I could pay my way. I don't want to hurt their feelings but I would feel a lot better about staying there if I could defray the expense of my visit."

Answer: Just write and tell him how you feel and let him tell his friends what you have said and make arrangements for you. If they refuse, don't press it.

"Dear Mrs. Post. In the all-coach trains, where one sleeps at night in the same seat one occupies by day, but is not separated from other people, may a woman change into a negligee or housecoat to keep her dress from looking slept in?"

Answer: Take an extra, comfortable dress that you could change in, in the ladies room, but the negligee or housecoat really would be unsuitable.

The group met originally as teenagers to enjoy wholesome summer fun.

Marks 25th Anniversary

In August 1930 a group of teenage boys and girls, 24 in number, began gathering at Elizabeth Lake for swimming and summer fun.

School called them in the fall but the ties remained, and they gathered every weekend.

The months grew into years and mutual respect, faith and loyalty meshed the group closer.

Each year this group with their respective husbands, wives and children have met the first Saturday in August at the Hugo deBeauclair cottage on Elizabeth Lake. Saturday marked the 25th anniversary of the group.

Members from Pontiac were Mr. and Mrs. Winston Bancroft, Glenn Van Atta, Charles V. Kuhne, Mrs. C. J. Parish, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Moore, Mrs. Albert Tallenger, Mrs. Ralph Price and Mr. and Mrs. Russell deBeauclair.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne DeBeauclair, Warren deBeauc'air, Jack MacNamara, Mrs. Norbert Carriere, Mrs. David Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Lekich, Harold Heyer, Archie McCallum and Francis VanHorn are also Pontiac members.

Out of town members included Mr. and Mrs. Charles V. Kuhne, Daytona Beach, Fla.; Mr. and Mrs. Glenn VanAtta, Baltimore, Maryland; Mr. and Mrs. David Campbell, Pittsburgh, Pa.; and Mrs. and Mrs. Archie McCallum, Cleveland.

Cool Table Settings Chase Away Heat

Greet the warm weather with cool table settings that are a breeze to take care of! The new plastic tablecloths and place mats are pretty enough for company, and come clean with the mere wipe of a sudsy cloth.

You'll find them in hand-screened prints, leaf motifs, and nature patterns—in a lovely range of cool pastels to suit any setting.

Don't Lure Pests

Even a temporarily empty house can become a home to rodents and insects, so vacationers should be sure to close stove dampers and place a screen or board over the fireplace opening to keep pests out. No food supplies should be left around to lure them.

Engaged?—Pick Tableware

As soon as you are engaged, it's time to decide what china, silver and glassware to select. This is not a decision to be entered into lightly, because these are things you will live with the rest of your life.

If you choose tableware that has good design, you won't need a "set" for this occasion, a "set" for that occasion. Well-designed tableware will look beautiful on any table, whether it be the picnic table in the backyard, or one in the most elegant dining room.

By merely varying the accessories and linens, you can have a beautiful table setting for any occasion, using the same china and glassware and silver.

Good design can be found in every price range, in patterns to suit every taste. Some of the patterns look traditional, others modern. But remember that good design always cuts across the line of "periods" in home furnishings.

Modern is not synonymous with "informality" nor traditional with "formality." China and glass that is modern in feeling can set an elegant table, and traditional tableware can help to create an informal one.

As for silver flatware, remember that your sterling silver will live far beyond your own lifetime.

Popularity Just Doesn't Happen Overnight

By ELIZABETH WOODWARD

It's a lovely dream that doesn't come true. A girl just doesn't wake up some fine sunny morning to find herself the belle of the ball. Not if she grows up with a group of boys who see her all the time year in and year out.

The belle business isn't sudden. It's the result of a lot of subtle changes that happen gradually. It can seem sudden if she goes away for a while, makes all the changes, then comes back to make a dramatic impression on the old crowd.

Being popular with the boys takes a bit of buildup, getting ready, setting the stage. It takes a longer or a shorter time depending on the raw material the girl has to work with. But making the most of what's given is what I call getting set to date. And it's what I'd recommend to this girl.

"Dear Miss Woodward: I'm 15 now and my parents won't let me date until I'm 16. What I'm wondering is whether at that time the boys will take an interest in me and ask me for dates?

"My friends tell me I'm fairly pretty. They've all been dating since they were 13. I'm going to start high school in the fall and I feel that my parents are being unfair in their rule. Is there any way you can help me out?"

Answer: Your freshman year needn't be a complete dud just because you consider it the "last long mile" before you're 16. Things are going to happen, beginning in the fall; new things, exciting things. Even your parents will realize that the whole deal is different.

The normal school routine will include activities that assume boys and girls together. Unless your family wants you to be excluded from some of the interesting parts of the school program, they'll have to consider seriously some of the requests you bring home.

So why not start right now getting set? Spend the rest of the summer getting your hair and skin in shape, watching your posture and your diet, so that you'll look blooming and attractive in the fall.

And when school starts make up your mind to take part in everything that's going on. Spend busy, constructive hours doing things with your new friends. And show them that you want to be friendly. Chatter, laugh, be gay, helpful and happy. (An excellent impression you'll be making.)

The boys will notice and take an interest. They'll ask you to the school affairs. And your family is quite likely to give you permission to go.

A year of that will give you the poise you need, and a bit of experience, so that when real date invitations come your way you will be old enough, in more ways than one, to handle them.

Trash Is Gobbled by Gas Incinerator

A gas disposal unit is a wonderful thing to own. It not only takes care of garbage, but you can toss everything that's burnable into the incinerator besides. Newspapers, magazines, discarded wrappings, cardboard containers, all disappear quickly.

These, of course, are standard uses, but many people have discovered that they can incinerate old shoes, hats, clothing, too!

Honeymoon at Mackinac

Honeymooning at Mackinac Island are Mr. and Mrs. Richard Garrison.

The bride is the former Sharon Pietz, daughter of Mrs. Frank Pietz of Maynard court and Frank Pietz of North Jessie street. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Burmond Garrison of West Brooklyn avenue.

The First Baptist Church was the setting for the Saturday evening double ring ceremony performed at 7 o'clock by Dr. H. H. Savage before an altar banked with white gladioli.

A gown of tycon crystallette was worn by the bride. It was fashioned with a fitted bodice, hoop skirt and short train. Her finger tip veil fell from a crown of sequins and seed pearls. Around her neck she wore a double strand of pearls.

A cascade arrangement of white roses centered with a white orchid was carried by the bride.

Mrs. Ezio Bisogni, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Her gown was of mint green net over crystallette, with a matching jacket. She carried an arrangement of white carnations and yellow roses and wore a matching headpiece.

IDENTICAL GOWNS

Bridesmaids Lyn Garrison, sister of the groom and Mrs. Stuart Bost, cousin of the bride, wore identical gowns, except for color. They were fashioned like that of the maid of honor.

Their flowers were of carnations and roses and their floral headpieces matched their bouquets.

Saundra DeFlorio wore a yellow gown of net over taffeta, and carried a tiny bouquet of yellow roses for her duties as junior bridesmaid.

Wearing a matching yellow gown was Terri Lynn Pietz, sister of the bride, who acted as flower girl.

Serving his brother as best man was Robert Garrison. Stuart Bost and Edward Johnson seated the guests.

A reception was held in the church parlors, immediately following the ceremony.

When the new Mrs. Garrison left for her honeymoon she was wearing a navy blue princess style cotton dress, trimmed in white. Her accessories were white and she was wearing a white orchid from her bridal bouquet.

They will reside on West Brooklyn avenue.

Old Recipe Is One for Unusual Pie

Mrs. Beatrice Vogel Serves This Treat Hot For Dessert

Pontiac Press Food Editor

Today's recipe is for an unusual pie that you can bake while you're eating dinner, then serve hot. Mrs. Beatrix Vogel says this is a very old recipe, one her mother gave her.

Mrs. Vogel, who hails from Indiana, has been teaching Math at Pontiac High School for the past two years. She works with a church guild and shares as many activities as possible with her teenage daughter. She likes to sew and knit; is currently engaged in making an afghan.

CRUMB PIE
By Mrs. Beatrix Vogel

1 cup dark corn syrup
1 cup hot water
1 teaspoon soda
Pastry to fill two 8-inch pie tins

Add hot water to corn syrup and dissolve soda in it. Pour mixture into the two pastry-filled pie tins, dividing equally. Have ready the following mixture:

3 cups flour
1 cup light brown sugar
½ cup butter or margarine

Mix together to make crumbs and place on top of the hot liquid, dividing the crumbs between the two pans. Bake 10 minutes at 450 degrees, then 20 minutes at 350 degrees. Serve hot. Makes 2 pies.

Sponge Is Buffer

A small cellulose sponge, tied around the knob of a door which opens against another door or a piece of furniture, serves as an admirable emergency bumper until you can buy one that's specially designed for the job.

It's later than you think when work is no longer play and play is getting to be work.

National Secretary Group Has Annual Picnic Outing

The Pontioak Chapter of the National Secretaries Association International held its annual picnic at the Williams Lake home of Mrs. George Korn, Wednesday evening.

Chairman of the affair was Edythe Perry.

Plans were formulated for study courses to assist those who are trying to qualify for Certified Professional Secretary or improve their secretarial skills.

Mrs. John Duncan of Walled Lake was appointed educational chairman. The purpose of CPS is to elevate secretarial personnel throughout the country; to define more clearly the status of secretarial work in the business structure; to establish educational standards for secretaries and promote them through an examination.

Other reasons are to give secretaries an educational goal; to gain recognition; to assist employers in selecting secretaries; to assure that only qualified persons will be considered for positions; to assist schools and colleges in training programs and to broaden the scope of training for top-level positions.

Mary Eleanor Lockman, president, announced a board meeting is scheduled for Sept. 7, at the home of Mrs. Loretta Collins in Royal Oak.

Shabby Clothes Detract from Woman's Charm

Shabbiness and shoddiness are liabilities all women should avoid in their clothes.

But this is most especially true of mature women. A shabby hat or a lagging hemline can, more quickly than anything, make a mature beauty look like a caricature of herself.

Bedraggleed flowers on a hat are terribly conspicuous, as in a tired veil or woven gloves.

One doesn't have to have a maid and a full-time tailor to keep these things in line.

Inexpensive variety stores carry a full array of veils, artificial flowers, fake pearls and all the little needed things that wear out easily.

They should be replaced frequently. If one makes big purchases wisely, a suit or a dress will last many seasons.

But the fragile accessories that point it up or make it seasonal won't last at all.

In these fragile matters, there should never be a question of "will it do another time?" If there's any doubt, it won't do.

Some women with foresight keep a hatbox full of such little accessories, all new. They pick and chose for the occasion and the weather.

Others may not have the space to spare but certainly have no excuse for not taking an occasional tour past the notion counter to keep these things fresh and crisp.

Gelatin Trick

You can hurry the setting of a gelatin dessert or salad by this method.

Dissolve the gelatin in a little hot water and use icewater for the remainder of the liquid called for in the recipe. Or, use ice cubes which will make the setting even faster.

Pastor Answers Heretic Charges

Minister Makes Public Accusations of Lutheran Church

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The Rev. John Gerberding, second small town Lutheran pastor ordered to a church trial on charges of heresy, made public yesterday the eight charges the church spelled out against him.

Rev. Gerberding, 33, of Menomonee Falls in nearby Waukesha County, was accused by the Northwest Synod of the United Lutheran Church of "preaching and teaching doctrines and opinions" in conflict with official doctrine. He issued a general denial of the charges and said "the thing now is to win the trial."

The minister appeared before a synod investigating committee last week. He was told then he will stand trial here Aug. 30.

The formal charges, which Pastor Gerberding made public yesterday, accuse him of "denying the divine authority of the Holy Scripture contrary to the witness of the Scripture itself and contrary to Lutheran confession." He refused to detail the other seven allegations except to say they were "derivative from the first one." He claimed they did not accurately describe" his ministry.

Salute to Talbott Depends on 'Connie'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Subject to the vagaries of hurricane Connie, a jet power-packed farewell salute by the Air Force awaits departing Secretary Harold E. Talbott today.

If the hurricane leaves the Washington area alone and the weather clears by this afternoon, Talbott will take an aerial salute from about 100 airpanes, including a fight of supersonic fighters and possibly one or more giant B52 intercontinental bombers.

Talbott resigned a week ago Monday amid controversy over his outside activities. He leaves the government service officially on Saturday, but plans to fly out of Washington tomorrow.

This evening the Air Force will hold the indoor part of its farewell to Talbott. Gen. Nathan Twining, chief of staff, and all the senior air commanders have been invited to Washington to say their personal farewells at a dinner.

Fund Deficiency Halts Geriatrics Investigation

LANSING (AP) — A special committee of the Legislature set up to study problems of the aged will apparently not be able to operate this year because the Legislature failed to appropriate money for its expenses.

Atty. Gen. Thomas M. Kavanagh held that the committee could not draw on the general appropriation for either House or Senate.

Dog Exiled by Court Gets New Masters

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—Ike the collie has a new home. He had a choice of dozens.

Because of a set-to with a tiny chihuahua, the 4-year-old collie was evicted by court order from the home of his master, 7-year-old Stanley Pulaski.

Stanley and his sister Janice, 5, got Ike four years ago as a Christmas present from their mother. Last June Mrs. Harry F. Wells, a neighbor, said the dog bit her chihuahua. She took the case to court.

Municipal Judge Robert B. Burns ordered the dog kept on the Pulaski property and cautioned them not to let him romp unattended.

Mrs. Wells testified in court Monday she had seen Ike roaming through the neighborhood alone. Another neighbor backed up her testimony.

Despite the tearful pleas of Stanley and Janice and 10 other children, Judge Burns ruled yesterday that Mrs. Pulaski must find a new home for Ike five miles or more from the Pulaski home—and within 48 hours.

Yesterday, dozens of offers came from Grand Rapids homes and others outside the city. The Pulaskis decided on the William F. Friskey family, whose children, Dennis, 9, and Thomas, 6, promised to give Ike a good home and loving care.

In 1954 there were 25,294 thoroughbreds racing in the U.S., a new record.

Lowly A's Ravel Chisox, Push Tribe on Top in AL

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Whoever thought the Kansas City Athletics would have a voice in the American League pennant race? Yet it's been the A's who have had the big say in the snarled flag chase over the past two weeks.

In that span, Lou Boudreau's sixth-place also-rans have thwarted the big contenders in five of nine meetings. And last night, they rapped the Chicago White Sox out of first place with a 5-4 decision, leaving the way clear for Cleveland to claim the lead for the first time since May 21 as Ralph Kiner smacked a ninth-inning grand slammer to trim Detroit 6-4.

That left the Tribe two percentage points ahead of the White Sox, who in turn are four points to the good over New York after the Yankees' 3-2, 13-inning victory over Boston. The defeat sent the Red Sox two games behind.

The A's, who took two of three from Boston and split a four-game set with the Yanks before matching Chicago 1-1 in their three-game series, belted the Chisox for two first inning runs on back-to-back triples by Vic Power and Enos Slaughter. Hector Lopez then put them beyond reach with a home run and single that made it 5-2.

Chicago had just four hits in seven innings off winner Alex Kellner, one a two-run homer by Minnie Minoso, while the A's were belting Harry Byrd. Then when reliefer Tom Gorman opened the eighth, the Sox got two more runs, one on Bob Nieman's homer, before the righthander fanned Minoso with the bases loaded.

An error by Billy Klaus and a drawn-in outfield that enabled Andy Carey to line a run-scoring single over the head of Ted Williams, broke up the Yank-Red Sox duel. Don Larsen, making it three straight since returning from the minors 11 days ago, took it over Frank Sullivan after New York had matched Grady Hatton's two-run single in the second with a pair in the third.

Rain postponed Washington at Baltimore in the only other American League game on tap.

In the National, Brooklyn topped New York 5-4 in a game called in the seventh by rain; St. Louis put second place Milwaukee 15 games back, 7-2; Pittsburgh edged Philadelphia 3-2 in 10 innings, and Cincinnati took two at Chicago, 7-2 and 6-3.

Gil Hodges drove in three runs with a double and a single as the Dodgers packed their scoring in the first two frames. Karl Spooner won in relief after Roger Craig went wild in a two-run Giant fifth.

St. Louis smacked 11 hits, three each by Stan Musial and Alex Grammas, while Tom Poholsky held the Braves to six. Musial got his 1,000th extra base hit with a double.

Ted Kluszewski hit his 37th homer (his 200th lifetime) and the Cubs' Ernie Banks tied Brooklyn's Duke Snider for the major league lead with his 38th in the second game as the Redlegs snapped Chicago's six-game winning streak. Rookie Don Gross won his first major league decision in the opener.

Double Does It!

Musial Adds to Stature on 1,000th Extra-Baser

MILWAUKEE (AP)— Stan Musial bagged the 1,000th extra base hit of his relatively short career with a double Wednesday night and further cemented his place among baseball's greats.

Only eight other major league ball players hold membership in one of baseball's most exclusive fraternities and most of them took 20 years to make it. Stan now is in his 13th full year with the St. Louis Cards.

"I guess that double I hit off Lew Burdette in the first inning rates among my dozen all-time thrills," a smiling Stan said after the Cards beat Milwaukee 7-2 to end a lengthy tailspin.

"After all," the modest slugger added, "there are some pretty fine ball players in that group."

The "group" comprises Babe Ruth, Mel Ott, Lou Gehrig, Ty Cobb, Tris Speaker, Rogers Hornsby, Honus Wagner and Jimmy Foxx.

Ruth holds the leadership with 1,356 extra base hits in a career that spanned 22 years. Ott, also with 22 playing years behind him, is the National League king with 1,071.

All of the others with the exception of Gehrig played 20 or more years. The late Iron Man went over the 1,000 mark during 17 years with the New York Yankees.

Musial said with luck he should pass Ott's senior circuit record some time next year.

"I should add 15 or 20 more extra base hits this year," Musial said. "And with some luck and if all goes well 70 or so next season."

Jets, Realty 9's Play Second Draw in Playoff

Darkness Again Stops 'A' Game After Seven Frames With Score 2-2

The current song hit "Somethin's Gotta Give" could very well apply to the rivalry between the L. C. Anderson Jets and Don Nicholie Real Estate in the Class A City Baseball League.

After battling to a 1-1 tie Tuesday in a game halted by darkness after eight innings, the two city foes went at it again Wednesday night at Wisner Field in the 2nd round of the Class A playoffs.

When darkness intervened after the 7th the score was different, but the result was the same. The Jets and the Realty nine had struggled to a 2-2 deadlock and will meet for the 3rd time tonight in an attempt to end the stalemate.

An error, sacrifice, and Judge Booker's single tallied the Jets' 1st run in the 1st inning. Auburn tied it in the 2nd on John Wert's double and Fred Foster's single, then took a 2-1 lead in the 3rd on successive singles by Howard Wiley, Ed McNamara, and Jack Cole. Singles by pitcher Jim Williams, Fletcher Davis, and Eugene Cox and a fielder's choice scored Lou Seay with the tying run in the 7th.

Vernon Rains started on the mound for the Jets, but pitched only one inning before Williams took over. The two hurlers allowed six hits while the Jets made four safeties off the offerings of starter Dick Lewis and Albie Roman, Tuesday night's pitcher, who relieved in the 7th frame.

Basilio Booed by Crowd as He Wins Slow Contest

NEW YORK (AP)—Boos are a new experience to Carmen Basilio. On his way to the welterweight championship of the world there were only cheers for the native son of Canastota, N.Y.

But Wednesday night at Madison Square Garden boos rang in his ears for the first time as he whipped Italo Scortichini in a non-title 10-rounder. They were not directed especially at the champion but more at both fighters as the fight became dull in spots.

"The boos bothered me," he said after the fight in his dressing room as handlers patched up the slice under his right eye.

"Never before when I fought, did I ever hear boos. I tried to make a fight of it but he ran. I was over-anxious to please the fans. Maybe I was reaching too much. Anybody who fights him, had to miss. I licked him and that's what counts.

Basilio, making his first start since he won the title by stopping Tony DeMarco, June 10, wasn't quite up to par. The two-month layoff showed. Still he controlled the action all the way, except for sporadic bursts by the swarthy Italian.

The crowd of about 2,500 jeered and stomped for action in the slow middle rounds. They jeered again when the decision was announced.

Skeet Fields 'Front Yards' Taking Shape

Grass Adds to Looks of Layout; Arms Men See Record NSAA Event

By H. GUY MOATS

Activities at Oakland County Sportsmen's Club in preparation for the 1955 National Skeet Shooting Association's championships are moving at increased tempo these days. Date for the country's biggest skeet extravaganza is Aug. 28—Sept. 4.

One of the "dressing-up" jobs that will add to the good looks of the front line of action—the skeet fields themselves—is well along.

Green grass where dusty sand and gravel was noted a year ago, has come up well during the spring and summer, and sets off the shooting stations very nicely. It also adds to the comfort of the shooters.

A half dozen automatic traps have been installed, part of the more than a score to be used during the week-long tournament. OCSC shooters who have worked under them like the automatic "bird throwers" very much. In the 1954 championships, traps were hand-operated.

OCSC officials who have talked with representatives of two of the big firearms companies, have been told to expect a much bigger show this year, over last fall's fine event. The 1954 NSSA tests were described as probably the biggest in the association's history.

Most of the 1954 champions will be back to defend their titles, and shoot for new ones, says Howard Shelley, OCSC manager and publicitor.

"We have reason to believe that most of our 1954 champions and other top shooters will be back. Also, we expect to have two teams from Puerto Rico, led by the 1954 champion-of-champions, Col. Salvador T. Roig of San Juan."

Col. Roig and his team last year stole the show with their spectacular shot-gunning. They took home many fine trophies and cash awards.

Col. Leon Mandel and Mrs. Carola Mandel of Chicago, colorful and capable competitors, will also be here again. Mrs. Mandel is one of the country's highest rated feminine skeet gunners. She took many honors here a year ago.

WEDNESDAY'S STARS

PITCHING—Don Larsen, Yankees, beat Boston 3-2 over 13 innings for his third straight victory since recall from minors 11 days ago, blanked Red Sox from second inning on, retiring 18 men in order in one stretch.

BATTING—Ralph Kiner, Indians, carried Cleveland into first place with grand-slam homer in ninth that beat Detroit 6-4 and gave him 1,001 runs batted in.

Duffy Leans on Sophomores

EAST LANSING (AP)—The Green and White football team will be mostly a green team this fall.

Coach Duffy Daugherty is counting heavily on his sophomore reserves to better the Michigan State University football record on only three wins against six losses in the 1954 season.

Daugherty has sent out letters inviting a squad of 74 players to report for the early fall drills starting Sept. 1.

Daugherty rates as a sophomore any player starting his 1st full season of football play. Figuring on that basis, he counts 47 sophomores, 14 juniors and 13 seniors on the squad.

Daugherty figures only nine of his lettermen as regulars.

These include Jim Hinsley and John Lewis at end, Embry Robinson and Buck Nystrom at guard, Norm Masters at tackle, Joe Badaczewski at center, Earl Morrall at quarterback, Clarence Peaks at halfback and Jerry Planutis at fullback.

Scholastic troubles have knocked out several key players. The most serious loss is senior tackle Carl Diener of Saginaw, one of the few really experienced linesmen on the squad.

Guard Don Cutler of East Jordan and halfback Rex Corless of Coldwater also are ineligible until they catch up to their studies.

How is Daugherty regarding this season:

"Call it watchful waiting," he said. "I don't want to get out the crying towel because I'm not a pessimist, just a realist.

"We're going to have to play a lot of sophomores," he said. "The showing the sophomores made this spring was encouraging but sophomores are unpredictable. We hope to improve as the season progresses and make it a good one."

Experience-wise, Daugherty is in best shape in the backfield. Pat Wilson, who directed the team this spring, is expected to give Earl Morrall a battle for the number one quarterback selection. Morrall was out for baseball in the spring.

Right half should be up for grabs with Walt Kowalczyk, Lou Costanzo and Rudy Gaddini among the aspirants.

Lewis and Jim Hinesly head the list of ends where quite a lot of promising talent is available. Robinson, Badaczewski, Nystrom and Masters will ballast the line, which should average out at slightly less than 200 pounds.

Ganzel's Homer, Triple Turn Tide for Mates in 'B' Battle

Bicmar came from behind to edge the Knights of Columbus, 5-4, in the Class B City Softball League playoffs Wednesday night at Beaudette Park. Setback eliminated K. of C. from the post-season tournament.

Losers erased two 1st-inning runs by Bicmar with four of their own in the same stanza to hold a 4-2 lead until the 5th. Jack Ganzel clouted a two-run homer for Bicmar to tie the score and set the stage for the winning run in the top of the 7th.

Again it was Ganzel who delivered the key blow as he blasted a triple with two men out and trotted home on Jim Colegrove's single. John Helisik, pitching star in the playoffs thus far, took over on the mound for Bicmar in the bottom of the 7th and mowed down the opposition to preserve the victory for starter Hank Dudzinski.

General Motors handed Riteway Softwater its 1st playoff defeat, 7-2, at Beaudette, behind the three-hit pitching of Lynus Grant and Doug Hall. J. C. Jenkins, Fay Douglas, and Grant led a nine-hit attack against Roger Reynolds with two safeties each. One of Jenkins' hits was a two-run homer in the 3rd inning.

Giles Realty crushed Avondale, 15-5, in a girls' league tiff at North Side. League leaders pounded out 15 hits in the runaway contest, including a home run by Nancy Milton.

Gingellville's girls upset GMC, 8-7, after stopping a 7th-inning rally one run short of tying. Gingellville made 12 hits in its surprise win.

Playoffs continue tonight with Riteway meeting Bicmar in a 7 p.m. tilt at Beaudette, followed by an exhibition game between Louie's Tavern and Franklin Products. Avondale meets Shaw's Jewelers in an 8:30 scrap at North Side to determine 2nd place in the girls' league.

'Magic Number' Drawing Close for Brooklyn

If Dodgers Win 28 of Last 42 Games They Will Take Flag

BROOKLYN (AP)—Don't look now but clinching day for the Dodgers is drawing close. The magic number is down to 28.

If Brooklyn wins 28 of its remaining 42 games, it would still take the National League flag even if the second place Milwaukee Braves swept the 42 games left on their schedule. Or to put it another way, any combination of 28 Dodger victories or Braves' defeats will enable the Brooks to wind up in the World Series.

To eliminate the third-place Giants, Brooklyn would have to come out on top in only 24 games. Then if New York took all of its 40 games, Leo Durocher's men still would finish with 99 victories, one less than the Dodgers.

Midget Kings Win District Playoffs

Pontiac's champion Boys Club team in the Knothole division of the Junior Baseball Leagues added new laurels to its crown Wednesday by winning the midget district playoffs at Columbia-Joslyn's south diamond. Boys Club now enters the state finals Monday morning at Jackson, meeting the winner of the Ecorse-River Rouge game.

Roseville Twin Pines fell a 5-0 victim to a 3-hit whitewashing by Darrel Thorpe, who fanned eight batters along the way. Boys Club picked up five hits off two Roseville pitchers, including a triple by Mike Duff and a double by Bob Rabaja.

Rabaja hurled a 7-hitter and clouted a home run as Boys Club drubbed Center Line, 19-7. The city Knothole kings cracked a total of 13 hits and scored six runs in the 1st inning and five more in the 4th to make it a one-sided affair.

Kiner Hits 13th 4-Bagger, Joins Select Group

Blow Ties Veteran Up With DiMaggio for 4th Among Sluggers

CLEVELAND (AP) — Ralph Kiner, nearing 33 and the end of his major league playing career, today joined a select group of stars who have hit 13 or more grand slam home runs.

The veteran Cleveland outfielder hit No. 13 last night in a dramatic ninth inning as the Indians defeated the Detroit Tigers 6-4 and moved into first place in defense of their American League title.

The blow, hit off southpaw Al Aber after he had been fanned by the same pitcher in the seventh inning with the bases loaded, tied Kiner with Joe DiMaggio for fourth place among the major league sluggers.

Only Lou Gehrig, Jimmy Foxx and Babe Ruth ever hit more. Unless he breaks out all over with grand slammers, Gehrig's record is beyond his reach for the former Yankee Ironman hit 23 during his career. But Kiner is within striking distance of Foxx and Ruth. Double X hit 17 and the Babe 16.

Before he sent Aber's first pitch soaring over the left field fence, Ralph had been tied with Hank Greenberg, Rogers Hornsby, Rudy York and Ted Williams with 12. It was Kiner's first grand slam homer since 1953 when he tied Hornsby's National League mark. His greatest output of homers with all bases occupied came in 1949 when he hit four.

Last night's homer, the 14th of the year and the 365th of his career, also boosted Kiner's runs batted in figure to 1001. Only five other active players have driven in that many. Del Ennis of the Phillies reached the 1,000 mark Tuesday night.

U. S. Stars Begin Trials for Olympic Aquatic Team

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—American Olympic officials probably will have their eyes on Philadelphia's John B. Kelly pool for the next four days as the nation's top women aquatic stars compete in the National AAU Senior Outdoor Swimming and Diving Championships.

Uncle Sam should get a pretty good idea of who's who in his female swimming world as soe 700 competitors churn through the Olympic-size pool in picturesque Fairmount Park. The results of the meet should provide a definite line on the possible makeup of America's 1956 women's Olympic swimming team.

Defending champions in 12 of 14 title events, including a pair of 1954 triple crown winners, will be on hand at 6 p.m. (EDT) tonight for the start of the mermaid show which runs through Sunday. Distaff swimmers from Canada, Mexico and Hawaii as well as the United States are scheduled to splash it out.

Golf's Richest Tourney Gets Under Way Today With $50,000 'Pot O' Gold' Luring 105 Players

CHICAGO (INS)—The lure of a $50,000 1st-place jackpot drew 105 of the world's outstanding male golfers to Chicago's Tam O'Shanter Country Club today for the opening round of the richest tournament ever staged.

The annual chase for the pot o' gold in the 9th world tournament of golf got under way shortly after dawn and the fairways were expected to be crowded with players until late in the evening.

Golfers from 21 countries are competing for the gigantic jackpot and an additional $57,000 in tournament tours that goes to the eventual winner.

The world tourney—the finale to George S. May's "folly of the fairways," is divided into four divisions. A total of $171,000 in prizes will be distributed to the finishers in the men's and women's ranks in both pro and amateur divisions.

The 72-hole tourney has attracted a huge field of golf hopefuls. Doug Ford of Kiamesha Lake, N. Y., has been conceded the favorite's role by virtue of his brilliant play the past three weeks.

The 33-year-old one-time amateur baseball player, however, will be swinging against the biggest names in golf—American and foreign. Only bantam Ben Hogan's and Bobby Locke's names failed to appear on the list of entries.

Included in the male ranks are Cary Middlecoff, this year's leading money winner and owner of the 1955 Masters' and Western Open crowns. Middlecoff, who also registers out of Kiamesha Lake, will team up with Ford and Roberto de Vicenzo of Mexico City in one of the top threesomes teeing off.

Jack Fleck, the U. S. Open titlist who failed to qualify after the halfway mark of the All-American, will try his luck again.

In the women's pro ranks, Patty Berg of St. Andrews, Ill., will defend her world title. The 36-year-old Minneapolis-born golfer, won last week's women's All-American crown.

The male foreign contingent will have one of the finest fields ever to compete in a Tam tourney. Topping the list will be Australia's Peter Thomson of Melbourne.

A total of 69 women took part in the four-flight, 18-hole tourney. Mrs. Fox and Mrs. Boyer attaining their honors in the championship flight. All other winners were from Detroit. Mrs. P. W. Morrow won the 1st flight with 92, Mrs. G. C. Peterson took the 2nd with 102, and Mrs. Margaret Semran won the 3rd with 108.

Who's in Singles?

Aussies, Italians Make Draw Today; Down-Under Selections Are Uncertain

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The draw for the 3-day interzone Davis Cup final between Australia and Italy will be made today and the big question is who will play in the singles matches for the Aussies.

Australia and Italy open the battle for the right to meet the United States in the Challenge Round later this month with a pair of singles matches Friday. The Americans won the cup Down Under last year.

Harry Hopman, captain of the Australian team, has been silent on his singles selection. In recent interzone matches he has used Ken Rosewall and Rex Hartwig. Lew Hoad, young star of the Aussie cup team, has been passed over. There have been rumors that Hoad was in Hopman's "doghouse."

The Australians whipped Japan at Glen Cove, N.Y., last week, but looked poorly in victory. Hartwig, who played in place of Hoad in the singles, was unimpressive although he won both of his matches. Hoad teamed with Rosewall in the doubles and won handily. Just what Hopman will do about the singles position for the important Italian matches is anybody's guess.

However, Wednesday Hopman said that Hoad was over the mental complex that has upset his tennis for the past 18 months.

Hopman made his statement in a telephone interview from Philadelphia with Ernie Christensen, Sydney Sun tennis writer. The Australians meet Italy in the interzone finals this weekend.

"Lewis' form is better every day and he could quite easily be at his peak by the Challenge Round against America assuming we beat Italy," Christensen quoted Hopman. "The boys are fit and well, keen and playing good tennis."

The two teams met for the first time Wednesday in ceremonies at city hall as Philadelphia officially welcomed the players. Replicas of Independence Hall were presented to Hopman and Vanni Canpele, Italian captain.

Hartwig, Hoad, Rosewall, Neale Fraser and Ashley Cooper of the Australian team were on hand as were Fausto Gardini, Giuseppe Merlo, Orlando Sirola and Nicola Pietrangeli of the Italian team. Gardini is the Italian tennis champion.

Both captains expressed the opinion the matches would be closely fought.

Browns Given 2 TD Edge Over Stars

CHICAGO (AP) — The Cleveland Browns are two-touchdown favorites to take the College All-Stars in their big battle at Soldier Field tomorrow night, but it may not be that easy.

After four years of famine, the last collegiate victory was the 17-7 defeat of the Philadelphia Eagles in 1950, promoters of the game (Chicago Tribune Charities) have introduced a streamlined all-star organization in an effort to turn the tide.

The new policy, announced last year after the all-stars' 31-6 defeat by Detroit, finds a hard-bitten crew of old pros led by Curly Lambeau of Green Bay Packer fame calling the shots instead of college coaches, as in former years.

Assisting Lambeau is Steve Owen, once head man of the New York Giants footballers; Hunk Anderson, creator of those tough-old-time Chicago Bear lines, the Hamp Pool, until recently head coach of the Los Angeles Rams.

Those veteran coaches have substituted the wide-open, predominantly passing game of the pros for the more stereotyped play of the collegians. They also have hand-picked 49 huskies for the job at hand, rather than permitting 70 or 80 all stars to cluter up the camp as in previous years.

This hand-picked "professional model" aggregation recently hung a 9-6 defeat on the Chicago Cardinals in a practice game.

"The time has been short," said Lambeau, "but we'll be ready for the Browns. I think our scrimmage with the Cardinals gave the college boys a pretty good idea of what to expect from the pros—and what they have to do against the pros."

The game was expected to be played under fair skies in a 60-degree temperature. It will be televised nationally (8:30 p.m. EST—ABC).

Lambeau pronounced the collegians in good condition physically, the only exception being L. G. DePre of Baylor, ace kicker. He is suffering a bruised leg but is expected to see action.

Coach Paul Brown and the Cleveland party were due to arrive in Chicago today and planned to work out at Soldier Field.

Brown said he is regarding the all-star game seriously and will use his best players. However, if the score permits, he later will test some of his rookies under fire.

Lambeau announced he will start an offensive backfield unit of Ralph Guglielmi of Notre Dame at quarterback; Dick Moegle of Rice and Dave Middleton of Auburn at halfbacks, and Wisconsin's Alan Ameche at fullback.

Lions Ducat Sales Set NFL's Record

DETROIT (AP)—General manager Nick Kerbawy says the Detroit Lions have established a National Football League record in season ticket sales.

Kerbawy said yesterday ticket sales for the 1955 season have reached 32,096, compared with a record of 32,000 reported by the Washington Redskins in 1946.

Season tickets for the Lions will be sold for another month and Kerbawy predicted they might exceed 34,000.

557 Entries All-Time Mark for PKC Show

Great Danes Biggest Single Breed; Event at Wisner, Aug. 21

Steadily moving up as one of the country's finest unbenched dog shows, Pontiac Kennel Club's 1955 outdoor show, Aug. 21, already is a record-breaker.

Show has always attracted some of the finest animals in the Midwest, and the highlighted feature of the judging windup is the award of the Pontiac Press best in show trophy.

With the entry list now closed, club official Ed Kraft reported today a total of 557 dogs entered, a substantial gain over the 1954 exhibition. Surprisingly, the largest entry for a single breed is that of the Great Danes, with 43 entries.

As in other years the working group represented the largest classification, with 188 dogs. Sporting group, always a strong classification, is 2nd highest, with 108. Non-sporting group has 73, terrier and toy groups 55, and the hounds, 52.

Entries include 65 different breeds.

Kiner's Grand Slam in 9th Dumps Tigers

CLEVELAND (AP) — Al Aber is ready to go along with Abe Lincoln's famous saying that you can fool some of the people some of the time.

The lefthanded relief artist of the Detroit Tigers came in last night in the 7th inning with the bases loaded and one out for Cleveland. He promptly fanned Ralph Kiner and erased Vic Wertz on an infield grounder.

But along came the 9th, with the Tigers ahead 4-2, and Hoot Evers led off with a single. Hank Foiles, a pinch hitter like Evers, also singled and the Indians filled the bases when Al Smith beat out a bunt for a 3rd single.

Up came Kiner. Aber fired one pitch and Kiner promptly planted it over the left field fence for a grand slam homer and a 6-4 victory for Cleveland. Coupled with Chicago's loss, the win moved the Indians into 1st place in the American League.

The blast was Kiner's 14th homer of the season and the 365th of his major league career. The four runs gave him a lifetime total of 1,001 batted in.

The loss was the 3rd in a row for the staggering Tigers who have one more game here today before heading home.

Loss dropped the Tigers seven full games off the pace of the now leading Indians.

They led 1-0, then 2-1, and then 4-2 before blowing it. The loss was Aber's 2nd against five victories.

Detroit took the lead in the 4th on a double by Earl Torgeson and a single by Ray Boone. Cleveland tied it in the last of the 4th on Al Rosen's 17th home run, the 1st hit off Tiger starter Jim Bunning.

Then Detroit again went ahead in the 5th.

Again it was a home run that tied it, this time by catcher Hal Narragon, whose 5th inning drive hit the right field foul pole. It was his 1st homer in the majors.

Boone tripled to start the 6th but was left stranded. But in the 7th Torgeson hit over the right field fence with Kuenn aboard and the score was 4-2.

Narragon and Dale Mitchell singled in the Cleveland 7th and pinch hitter Ferris Fain walked. Bunning stayed long enough to retire Smith on a short fly and then Aber came in to quell the uprising.

But by the 9th his magic was gone and so was the game.

'Frost' Will Race in Wolverine Test

Sea Eagle, bay gelding owned by the Saunders Mills Stable of Toledo, Ohio, won the $5,000 Ensign Hanover stake at the Wolverine Raceway last night.

The race was the feature of the grand circuit program.

Sea Eagle's time of 2:04 in the 2nd dash brought him the winner's purse after Irish won the 2nd dash. Each victory was by three-quarters of a length. Irish's 1st dash time was 2:05 4-5.

Hambletonian winner Scott Frost will run in the $10,000 Victory Song trot tonight. Child's Hanover, only horse to beat Scott Frost this year, will try to do it again.

Top-Rated Stars Continue to Win in Newport Event

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP)—The Newport Invitation Tennis Tourament was down to the quarter-final round today with the No. 1 rated players still in running for the title but with the seeded ranks otherwise fairly well riddled.

Defending champion Ham Richardson of Baton Rouge, La., the No. 1 domestic seed, was paired against Straight Clark of Pasadena, Calif., the 1954 runner-up, in the top match of the day.

Denmark's Kurt Nielsen, No. 1 foreign seed and runner-up to Tony Trabert for the Wimbledon title, faced the dangerous Herb Flam of Beverly Hills, Calif., in the other match involving ranked players. Flam is seeded fourth and Clark fifth on the U.S. list.

The other matches send Australia's ninth-ranking player, Mal Anderson, against Atsushi Miyagi, Japanese Davis Cupper and unseeded Cliff Mayne of Berkeley, Calif., against 20-year-old Bob Wilson of Britain.

Anderson turned in the big upset Wednesday when he eliminated second-seeded Gil Shea of Los Angeles 8-6, 6-4.

Cezar Retains Title

Sam Snead's Golf Clinic

Don't overthink — take one step at a time.

Nobody can think of all parts of a good golf swing while swinging. And you shouldn't try. As you acquire skill, most of your swing becomes automatic. You don't hear the clock ticking — or mother calling that it's getting late and you must come in now, do you? Your stance, grip, hip and shoulder pivots, will be things you just do correctly because you know why and how — and because you've practiced them until they are habits — good habits.

You will begin to pick out your flaws. Let's say you are today's pictured player and that you usually slice.

Pribably your slice is due to your hands being ahead of the clubhead at impact. Then, when you swing, think of that. To end that slice, make sure you pour more hand-wrist action into the shot during the last third of your downswing. Then your clubhead will be even with the hands at impact — as it should be. Then watch your ball in straight flight —no slice.

Pile Up Hit Margins in 26-Blow Double Win Over Cubs

CHICAGO (AP)—If Cincinnati continues its consistent hitting, five of the Redlegs may finish the season among the top 10 hitters in the National League.

After Wednesday's 26-hit double victory over the Chicago Cubs, four Redlegs were listed among the league's best and a fifth, second baseman Johnny Temple, was closing in on the .300 mark with a .297 average.

The four Rhinelanders among the leaders are Ted Kluszewski, .317, Wally Post, .313, Smokey Burgess, .305 and Gus Bell, .302.

Carpenter Shines in Lion Scrimmage

YPSILANTI (UP) — Scrimmages aren't as reliable as regular games in showing up the strengths and weaknesses of a football team, but like military training exercises, they help the general to plan his strategy.

General Buddy Parker, head man at the Detroit Lions base of operations here, picked up some facts worth knowing yesterday after watching his 44-man squad romp through its 1st full-scale scrimmage of the season:

1. The Lions should field one of their best offensive lines in years.

2. Hustling Lew Carpenter, who operates at fullback and halfback, likely will shine in the Lions offensive show again this year.

Carpenter scored three touchdowns in the 1½ hour scrimmage yesterday. He sprinted 40 and 67 yards on scoring runs and took a 67-yard touchdown pass from Harry Gilmer, Bobby Lane's new stand-in at quarterback.

Gilmer, obtained in a trade with the Washington Redskins during the summer, handled most of the signal calling and Layne sat on the bench. The former Alabama ace completed 11 of 21 passes for 185 yards.

The offensive team scored four touchdowns and the defensive units scored twice, once on an intercepted pass by Jim Roshto and again on a fumble recovery by Jim Cain.

Parker's praise for his offensive line came after Carpenter rambled for his three touchdowns.

"The veterans seem to be smarter and charging better than any line I've had," he said.

The Lions' defensive units is filled out except for either a middle guard or defensive tackle. Jim Ricca, another former Redskin who weighs in at about 260 pounds, is slated to replace the even more huge Les Bingaman, who retired from professional football at the end of the 1954 season. Ricca, however, may be shifted to tackle, leaving the middle guard spot vacant.

The two hopefuls for the vacancy are rookie Jim Salsbury of UCLA, who is training for the College All-Star game tomorrow night at Chicago, and veteran Walt Jenkins, who performed at defensive end yesterday.

Parker also had words of praise for Leon Cunningham, Bob Miller and Sonny Gandee, who shared linebacker chores during the scrimmage. Lee Riley, Dom Fuxxi and Jim Roshto, three rookie backs, drew additional kudos.

Charles Hatch, an end from Utah State, left camp yesterday. A team spokesman said he probably would have been cut soon.

Campy, Ashburn in Tight Battle for Hitting Lead

NEW YORK (UP)—The race for the National League batting lead between Roy Campanella of Brooklyn and Richie Ashburn of the Phillies was locked tighterthanthis today.

Both Campanella and Ashburn are batting .329, the circuit's top average. But broken down just a bit further, Campy has the lead—.32927 to .32924.

Ashburn had three hits in four trips against Pittsburgh Wednesday night while Campanella had one safety in three at bats against the Giants.

Tigers Buy Southpaw

DETROIT (UP)—The Detroit Tigers announced Wednesday their Jamestown club in the Class D Pony League has purchased Ralph Fortson, a 22-year-old lefthanded pitcher, from Olean of the same league. He has a 10-4 record.

Fortson, whose home is Newark, N.J., is the sixth Negro player in Detroit's minor league clubs.

Larsen, Discard of Yanks, Returns as Pitching Power

NEW YORK (UP)—Two years ago Marty Marion suggested Don Larsen throw his pitching toe-plate as far as he could and try his hand as an outfielder.

A year ago, still a pitcher, he lost the most games in the major leagues. Just three months ago, a thoroughly disgusted Casey Stengel shipped him as far off as he could—to the New York Yankees' further-most farm club, Denver.

Today, the same Larsen, sometimes known as "Losing Pitcher Larsen," suddenly has emerged as the fellow Manager Stengel is counting on to become the saviour of the New York Yankees' frayed pitching staff.

Larsen, only 11 days out of minor league exile, has turned in three straight victories, his last coming Wednesday when he cooled off the blistering Boston Red Sox with a masterful 13-inning performance. The 26-year-old right-hander permitted only five hits, none fn the last six innings as he eked out a 3-2 triumph in a brilliant pitching duel with Frank Sullivan.

By his own admittance, it was not only Larsen's best pitched game as a Yankee but the best of his entire major league career. He's won only 14 games all told, three of them coming last year when he dropped 21.

Air Force Golfers Lead Army Tourney

LANGLEY AIR FORCE BASE, Va. (UP)—The Air Force, away and winging from the very start, went into the third round of the Inter-Service Golf Tournament here today sporting a 14-stroke lead over the runner-up Army team.

Two Air Force lieutenants, Ray Terry of Jacksonville, Fa., and Miller Barber of Texarkana, Tex., set the pace yesterday, each touring the Langley course in one-over-par 72s.

Miss Breit Sets Pace in Women's Net Test

WILMINGTON, Del. (UP) — Barbara Breit, sixth-seeded woman player in the country, led a five-player California contingent into the quarterfinals of the second annual Delaware Girls Grass Courts Tennis Championship today.

Miss Breit won her third-round match with Audrey Arnold, Redwood City, Calif., yesterday, 6-0, 6-4.

There are 33 minor leagues at the start of the 1955 season.

By DOROTHY MANNERS

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — Dorothy Malone literally bounces out of the arms of Liberace and into the embrace of Jeff Chandler, cinematically speaking, of course. The pretty gal from Texas reports on the Universal-International lot to join Jeff in "Pillars of The Sky" before her love scenes with Liberace in "Sincerely Yours" are out of the Warner lab.

Missy Malone is delighted that her role with Jeff is on the meanie side. She plays the sweetheart who jilts him and then leaves the husband to track her former love to the northwest.

Director George Marshall will have his cast and crew in Le Grande, Oregon, Monday morning to start the location shots.

Our boy, Bob Hope, breezes home over the weekend rarin' to go on "That Certain Feeling" at Paramount. Bob has been enjoying a prolonged vacation in Portofino with Dolores and the children and now it's time to forget those lazy hours and get back to work.

Although Bob has never had any objections to his own singing, he's delighted that Panama and Frank have signed the one and only Pearl Bailey to sing the title song and also act in the movie.

In this very funny story, Bob plays a "ghost" cartoonist who actually draws the comic strip which brings fame and fortune to smoothie George Sanders.

HOLLYWOOD IN SHORTS: Van Johnson called on the Vikings to donate blood to his good friend, beloved musical comedy star, Elsie Janis, who underwent major surgery at a Beverly Hills clinic today. Van had his blood tested but it was not the right type.

When Ray Anthony's band plays Sioux Falls, S.D., he has a date to meet Mamie Van Doren's family.

That's all today.

Warm Weather Assists Disease Carrying Bugs

DENVER (INS) — The Colorado State Medical Society is warning that while warm summer days are nice for human living, they're good for disease "bugs" too.

Most of the organisms of human and animals disease thrive best and multiply most rapidly under conditions of warmth. This, say the doctors, is the reason why good sanitation is particularly important in the summer, and doubly so in rural areas where water and sewage systems are uncontrolled.

While sanitation is a year-round job, special precautions should be taken when the weather is hot.

Food must be protected from spoilage and contamination. There must be no possible linkage between water and sewage systems. Fly and rodent populations around the house and grounds should be held to a minimum.

The doctor say that in addition, Summer with its myriads of disease organisms place an added premium on cleanliness to avoid sickness. Hand - washing before meals become even more important. Baths are needed more often.

Governors Seek Highway Plan

Want Compromise on Construction Acceptable to Congress

CHICAGO (AP) — The nation's governors searched today for a compromise highway construction program that might be palatable to a Congress which rejected President Eisenhower's proposals and Democratic substitutes.

Although the governors listened to praise last night from Britain's Ambassador Sir Roger Makins for Eisenhower's role at the Geneva Big Four conference and turned to a discussion of mental health problems today, their minds obviously were on the roads issue.

Makins told the governors at the state dinner of this 47th annual conference of the chief executives that at Geneva Eisenhower had succeeded "in laying, let us hope for once and all, the ghost of the idea that the Americans are a pack of war mongers."

Gov. G. Mennen Williams, Michigan Democrat, told his colleagues in a prepared address that "the problem of mental health is still one of the biggest faced by the people and the states."

President Eisenhower told the governors in a message yesterday he is ready to cooperate with them in attempting to solve the highway and school construction programs. After a discussion, the governors named a resolutions committee to take up the road issue.

The makeup of this committee seemed pointed toward some sort of compromise on highway financing. Most of the members called for quick action to get road building started but they differed in methods.

World's Fastest Man Is Careful Auto Driver

ALAMAGORDO, N. M. (INS)—The "world's fastest man" took a tip from supersonic travel to add to the safety of his own car.

Air Force Lt. Col. John Paul Stapp set a record of human endurance at Holloman Air Force Base last December. He traveled 632 miles per hour on a rocket sled which was braked to a halt in one and one-half seconds.

Compared to that speed, the colonel is standing still when he drives his automobile. But Stapp cardfully fastens himself to the car seat with a safety belt whenever he ventures onto the highway.

One of the largest herds of elk in the world lives in the famous Jackson Hole country of northwest Wyoming, and steps have been taken to preserve the safety of the herds.

Do-It-Yourself Hits Hollywood in Film Form

By JAMES BACON
(For Bob Thomas)

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The "do it yourself" craze finally has hit moviemaking.

The reason is Andrew and Virginia Stone, a husband and wife team who have made a real suspense thriller for $71,000. By Hollywood economics that is something less than peanuts—shells, maybe?

Called "The Night Holds Terror," the picture is a real sleeper. Best proof of this is that Columbia Studios has allotted a quarter of a million dollars just for advertising a $71,000 picture.

Andy reveals that the studio had outlined a $295,000 budget for his script on a "B" picture basis, i.e., using old sets, stock footage and quick shooting.

"That's the absolute minimum the picture could have been made for inside a studio sound stage," he reported.

So the Stones used their own studio — a station wagon and a couple rooms in their home. It's a real do-it-yourself operation.

Andy is producer, writer, director. Virginia is feateur editor, cutter, casting director, wardrobe woman (designer and purchaser) and location scout.

They used no sound stages. All shots are made in actual locations. If the scene calls for a restaurant, Virginia contacts the owner, pays him a $100 fee and shoots the scene in a real restaurant—often with the regular customers.

If the shot calls for a moving automobile, they shoot it in a moving automobile-sound and all. This is usually considered impossible by most producers. Usually, technicians build a car interior and shoot the scenes on a sound stage. Synchronized film supplies the traffic atmosphere.

One of the best scenes in "The Night Holds Terror" shows how the telephone company helps police in tracking down a ransom phone call. The whole scene, with telephone company technicians acting their everyday jobs, was shot in a major exchange of the Pacific Telephone Co.

"How can you get more realistic than that?" asks Andy.

Although the Stones work with 15 people, less than a third of the crew used on a normal movie, they claim they have no union problems.

"I get nothing but cooperation from the Hollywood unions. They know my problems and I know theirs. I hire all union crews and pay over-scale. There's a thrill in making pictures this way and the crew gets as much a kick out of it as we do."

Leave Well Enough Alone

JACKSON, (AP) — County supervisors wanted to do away with costly cleaning of the county building's ornate brass doors. They asked bids on four new automatic glass doors. When bids were received, supervisors decided brass is just fine. The new doors would cost $6,854.

British Invading U.S. TV Screens With Necklines

NEW YORK (INS) — An American actress has turned Paul Revere to warn that "the British are coming," but she claims they've traded in their Redcoats for plunging necklines.

Jean Darling, who was a child star in the "Our Gang," movies of several decades past and today is a quite grown up actress and singer, says that Americans are beginning to copy what they see of the British vie made-in-England television programs.

She cited such shows as "The Vise," "Douglas Fairbanks Presents" and 'Sherlock Holmes," commenting:

"I thought the extreme plunging necklines on American television went out with roller derbies and wrestling but now we seem to have a whole new invasion of plunging necklines. Th only difference is that this time they are British necks.

" 'The Vise' seems to feel that the only way to appeal to American viewers is to have all men talk like Anthony Eden and all the girls dress like Marilyn Monroe.

Sicilian Farmer Scoffs at Danger on Etna Slope

ZAFFERANA ETNEA, Sicily (AP)—Giovanni Barbagallo farms on the side of a volcano.

Year after year he has felt the earth tremble beneath his feet, seen flames lash 500 feet into the air high above his farm, watched the red glow of lava creep down upon his orchard. Why does he stay?

The 60-year-old farmer shrugged as he watched the latest eruption of Mt. Etna.

"It's a living.

"I inherited the farm from my father before me. If I left, I would be unemployed. There would be nothing for me to hand on to my sons."

Danger? The bronzed farmer thought a moment.

"I have seen too many eruptions to give much thought to the danger.

"The worst is the work. It's hard farming up here. It is backbreaking hard.

"There's a sort of family tradition, following the old pattern, like all of us who climb the mountain to our farms from Zafferana or Milo or Fornezzo or Passopisciaro or Linguaglossa.

"I was only 10 when I first started making the climb, to help my father.

"I can never tell you of the weariness, the long, long walk up trails twisting through the hard, lava beds.

"Most of the way is by half light. We start long before dawn. We have to carry blankets and food for a week on our backs, to avoid making the trip daily."

Giovanni plants mostly rye, between rows of his apple and nut trees.

"It's not ordinary farming," Giovanni explained. "You can't use a plow on Etna. Her hide is too tough and too old. You have to spade by hand, with muscle. But the volcanic soil is rich. Crops are good."

Farm Population Falls 11.6 Per Cent in 5 Years

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government estimates the nation's farm population declined 11.6 per cent in the five years ended last April 1.

The number living on farms this year was put at 22,158,000 compared with 25,059,000 in 1950 in a survey issued yesterday by the Census Bureau and the Agriculture Department. The nation's total population increased from 151,132,000 to 164,595,000 in the same period.

Musician Dave Rubinoff Sued for Maintenance

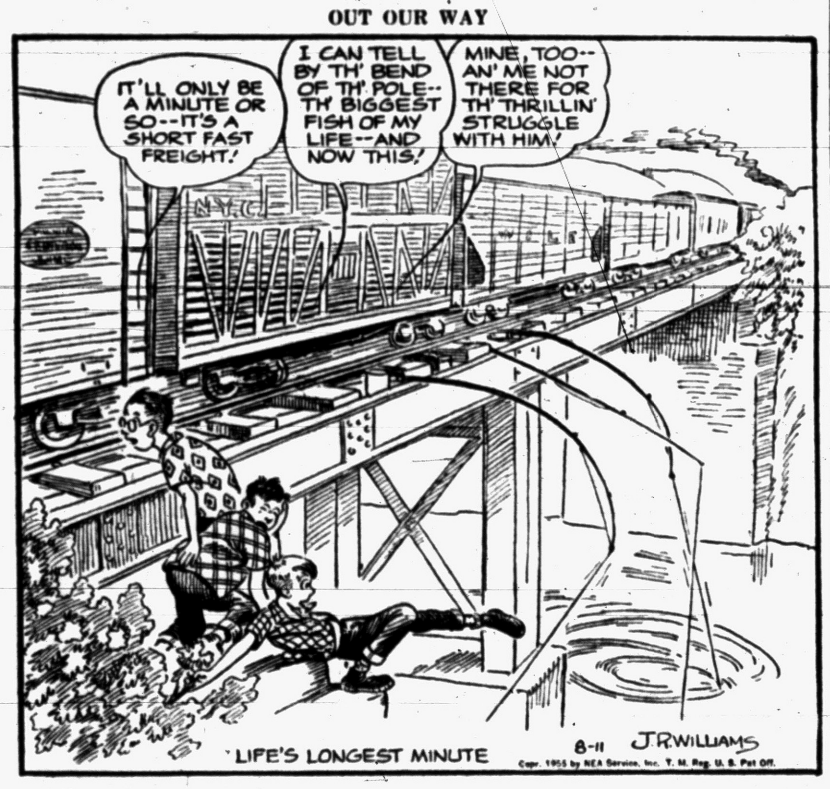

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A separate maintenance suit has been filed against musician Dave Rubinoff, 58, by Mrs. Mertice Rubinoff, 41, who also is his booking manager.

She alleged cruelty and asked custody of their 10-year-old son, Rubin. The couple married in 1942 in Bangor, Me.

Calumet 'Final' Offer Refused

Rejection Vote, 801-507 Continues Copper Mines Strike in Upper State

HOUGHTON (AP)—Having turned down a "final" offer, CIO United Steelworkers continued today their 14-week-old strike against the Calumet division of Calumet & Hecla, Inc.

The strike, called to support wage demands in a new contract, has idled 2,200. Calumet operates five copper mines and a smelter in the Keweenaw Peninsula of upper Michigan.

Calumet & Hecla directors authorized President Endicott R. Lovell to liquidate the Calumet division if unable to settle the strike. There was no immediate comment from him on the union's rejection.

Al M. Koski, president of Steelworkers local 4312, said the rejection vote was 801 to 507.

In what the company said was its "final" offer, it proposed to give an immediate 8 per cent wage increase, plus another 4 per cent a year hence. With fringe benefits, Calumet estimated the increase would be slightly more than 15 cents hourly.

The company has declined to give an average wage to union workers, saying the variety of job classifications makes it impossible.

A 2½ million dollar suit was brought against the union by Calumet following the May 1 walkout of its miners. It claimed the strike illegal and said mines and furnaces were damaged when the steelworkers walked out, leaving them unattended. The suit still is pending.

News in Brief

Pontiac Fire Department reported a fire in the rear seat of a car belonging to William M. Lyons of 814 Monticello Ave. caused $50 damages last night. The department said the car was insured.

Charged with driving without an operator's license, Eugene L. Johnson, 21, of 183 W. Rundell St., was fined $5 and $5 costs yesterday by Avon Township Justice Luther C. Green.

Pleading guilty yesterday before Municipal Court Judge Cecil B. McCallum on a charge of reckless driving, David Hogan of 54 Crawford St. was fined $100.

Soybeans Take Sharp Fall Off

CHICAGO (AP)—Feed grains and soybeans dropped sharply on the Board of Trade today in the market's initial response to yesterday's Agriculture Department crop report.

During the heavy early selling new seasonal lows were set by all corn futures, by September and December oats, by December and May rye and by all soybeans except September.

Wheat held up quite well. It was off around a cent early, largely in sympathy with the rest of the market, but on the recovery it got back slightly above the previous close. No new seasonal lows were set in wheat.

Wheat near the end of the first hour was ¼ to ½ higher, September $1.94¼; corn 1⅞ to 2¼ lower, September $1.28⅞; oats ½ to ¾ lower, September 57; rye ½ lower to ½ higher, September 98; soybeans 2 to 3 cents lower, September $2.23¼, and lard 8 to 13 cents a hundred pounds lower, September $10.67.

Market Makes Quiet Advance

NEW YORK (AP)—The Stock Market made a quiet advance today, following along the lines of yesterday's modest rise.

Gains ran to between 1 and 2 points at the best. There also were some minus signs of that size.

Showing the best gains were the steels, coppers, aircrafts, and rubbers. Motors were mixed as were the chemicals, railroads, and airlines.

United Aircraft was higher on a good earnings report, and Superior Steel gained a point in early trading following a good profit showing.

Combustion engineering was up between 1 and 2 points on the announcement that the Atomatic Energy Commission had given it a contract to design and develop an atomic power plant for a small submarine.

Yesterday's market made a grudging advance with the Associated Press average of 60 stocks up 40 cents to $169.70. There were, however, a few more losers than gainers in the list.

The bond market was lower at the opening.

Best Kept Secret—Questions for $64,000 Quiz

Queries Locked in Bank Vault

Originator Louis Cowan Guards Data Against Premature Disclosure

NEW YORK (INS) — One of the nation's best kept secrets is held today by a former publicity man.

The man who knows—and isn't telling—the guarded questions and answers to "the $64,000 question," is Louis G. Cowan, a soft-spoken idea man, ex-press agent and owner of the king-size give-away TV quiz show with the biggest audience rating in the country.

An estimated 30 to 45 million persons were looking in on the program last Tuesday night when a middle-aged, modest Bronx cobbler named Gino Prato passed up a shot at the top prize and collected "place" money of $32,000.

Cowan, one of the most successful "package" producers in the business, has been the target for threats and blandishments alike in unsuccessful attempts to find out what the giant jackpot $64,000 question is.

The questions, which are kept in a vault of a local bank, are not destroyed when the contestant decides to take his winnings without going for the jackpot.

Also, each succeeding question does get tougher. There had been rumors that the final question, as a sort of surprise, would be the easiest. "Not so," declared Cowan.

OBSERVE LIFE

Ask him to what he attributes his success and he'll quickly say "observing life."

He said the birth of his first child gave him the idea for "Quiz Kids," which ran for 14 years.

The same type of thinking led to "The $64,000 Question." He was reading about the attempts to climb Mt. Everest and eventually thought about ever-increasing rewards for those who scale the intellectual peaks of a quiz show.

It also resulted in his developing "RFD America," a show about farmers. Cowan said he bought a small farm and got tremendously interested in the role of the farmer.

Starting next week Cowan moves into the CBS-TV network as a creative producer. It will be a full time association under which Cowan leaves behind him his more or less free-lance activity to devote himself to the one network.

WON PEABODY AWARD

While better known for the more flamboyant "$64,000 Question," Cowan won the coveted Peabody Award for the top cultural program, "Conversation," on NBC radio.

Asked to explain the almost overnight tremendous success of his show, Cowan replied:

"The greatest thing TV has to offer is reality; seeing the real thing happen, like watching a baseball game or a national convention. The audience is watching the real thing, with no predetermined outcome. Our program is constructed along that line. It has excitement, the heroic struggle against an intellectual Mt. Everest and—finally—the reward for those who make it."

Getting to be a contestant for the "$64,000 Question" is like applying for a job at a top-secret atomic energy plant.

Cowan said the contestants are "screened" as thoroughly and conscientiously as possible. They must fill out written questionnaires inquiring about their schooling, books they like to read, hobbies, etc. Even references are required. The investigators then talk to the "possibles" on the phone to hear how they sound, and finally check up on the person in his or her community.

QUIT PUBLICITY

Cowan said he decided to quit the publicity field because he grew tired of that "whimsical type of existence" and wanted a "tangible" existence. Having put "Kay Kyser's College of Musical Knowledge" on the air while handling his publicity, Cowan decided producing shows was for him.

When Pearl Harbor came, Cowan went to work for the War Department, putting on such shows as "Command Performance," "The Army Hour," "Chaplain Jim" and "G. I. Jive," a disc jockey show for troops.

After a stint as head of the New York office of the Office of War Information, Cowan moved his family to New York in 1946, where he has lived ever since.

Colorado Flood Forces Families to Flee Farms

BRUSH, Colo. (AP)—Floodwaters fedby the heaviest rainfall in this northeast Colorado area in 20 years forced at least 150 farm families from their homes today.

A cloudburst dumped up to four inches of rain and hail on prairie grassland south of here.

Another cloudburst, described as the worst since 1921, lashed a mountain resort southwest of Colorado Springs yesterday, temporarily stranding about 300 tourists and causing damage estimated in thousands of dollars.

A woman identified as Mrs. Nathan E. Scott of Marion, Ind., was believed drowned when a crest struck a bridge nine milessouth ofhere and carried the car in which she and her husband were riding one mile from the highway.

Her husband, the Rev. Nathan E. Scott, was rescued by Jack Weisbart of Brush, a feed lot executive, who pilotred an outboard motorboat to the swamped vehicle.

Family Does Things All at One Time

JOHNSTOWN, Pa. (AP) — The Alonzo Brendlinger family believes in doing things in a big way.

The five Brendlinger children all entered the hospital the same day to have their tonsils out. The family of patients included Shirley, 15; Joyce, 12; James, 10; Kenneth, 8, and Daniel, 6.

The term "methodist" was applied in derision to followers of John Wesley at Oxford and, adopted by them, became the name of the church.

Ford Suggestion System Pays Off Great Dividends

DETROIT (INS)—Louis R. Morone and Joseph Terhorst, employes at Ford's giant Rouge plant, are proving that ideas pay off.

Morone, a tool inspector, is the national champion idea man participating in Ford's employe suggestion plan. Married and the father of four children, Morone has collected $10,228.33 for ideas suggested during the last six years.

Most of Morne's suggestions deal with machine tools and their maintenance. The first Ford idea man to top the $10,000-mark, he explained his winning formula.

"When there is trouble on the job, I see what I can do to eliminate it."

Terhorst, a die tryout man, submitted his first idea in March, 1954, and since then has turned in 102 suggestions. He collected 14 checks in one day for $443.64 to run his 15-month awards to $3,240.61. In May, 1954, he collected $1,500 for figuring out how to get one more stamped part out of a sheet of steel.

Ford has paid out a total of $3,168,236 in idea awards since the suggestion plan was inaugurated in 1947. A one-month record was set in May, 1955, when $100,755 was given out.
