From Mariner Flight

AP Photofax

Still Can't Tell if Life Exists on Mystery Planet

First Picture Unclear, but More on Way; Scientists Hail Result

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Man's first close-up picture of Mars shows a remarkably earth-like desert area — but gives no hint of an answer to whether the mysterious planet could harbor life.

The poorly defined picture snapped as Mariner 4 flew within 10,500 miles of Mars Wednesday was released last night while the U.S. spacecraft was relaying its second picture across 134 million miles of space.

Almost half the picture showed only the dark void of space, with but a small portion of the edge of Mars visible in the streaked and smudged frame.

The portion of the planet outlined in the picture, snapped at an extreme angle at the start of a north to south run, is apparently a bright desert with an even brighter area in the center.

★ ★ ★

Bordering the desert-like area are smudges which could be low-lying hills, darker-colored soil or possibly even vegetation.

PICTURE STREAKED

Scientists said the picture, streaked with lines representing improper radio signals, was not clear enough to warrant speculation about the cause of differences in shadings.

To the unscientific eye, however, it could have been a photograph taken from a very high altitude of one of earth's deserts bordering a jungle region.

Despite lack of detail, scientists at Jet Propulsion Laboratory were elated, calling the unprecedented electronic image a tremendous technical achievement.

"I did not expect this or any of the other 20 pictures we may get from Mariner 4 to give a final answer to the controversy over whether there may be some form of life on Mars," said Dr. Robert B. Leighton, chief of the team of scientists who will study the photographs over the next several weeks.

SMALLER DETAILS

"However, I believe we have seen a few markings, smaller details than anyone else has ever seen," he told a news conference.

He said the picture showed markings as small as three

South Viet Asks More U.S. Troops

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) —South Viet Nam's military government asked U.S. Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara today to increase American forces in the country.

Assistant Defense Secretary Arthur Sylvester said the Saigon government's top leaders made a detailed request in a session with McNamara that lasted more than two hours.

Sylvester said Chief of State Nguyen Van Thieu, Premier Nguyen Cao Ky and Defense Minister Nguyen Huu Co did not ask for a specific number of troops but put their estimates of Americans needed in terms of "force levels."

McNamara and his fact-finding party made no comment of commitment on the request, Sylvester said.

★ ★ ★

McNamara arrived earlier today with Henry Cabot Lodge, ambassador-designate and the U.S. Army chief of staff, Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, to assess whether more U.S. soldiers are needed for the war against the Viet Cong.

OVER-ALL BUILDUP

Sylvester said an increase in American forces is being considered in terms of an over-all buildup which would include an increase of 100,000 Vietnamese troops. This would bring the Vietnamese armed forces to well above 600,000 men.

The secretary said he would spend four or five days reviewing field operations and determining, in talks with Vietnamese and American officials, whether additional U.S. combat units are needed in Viet Nam.

An appraisal of the use of American fighting men was one at his "prime mission," McNamara said.

★ ★ ★

McNamara denied that the Joint Chiefs of Staff had unanimously recommended an increase in American combat troops.

★ ★ ★

He did not mention other U.S. forces. But he reiterated the American commitment to provide whatever is needed to defeat the Communists and said, "We propose to fulfill that commitment."

A report from Washington two days ago said the Joint Chiefs of Staff had unanimously recommended U.S. troop strength in Viet Nam be increased to 179,000 men by the end of the year. There now are somewhat less than 75,000.

Scheduled Next Week

Foster Trial May Stall 2 Cases

The first-degree murder trial of Carl F. Foster may delay the start of two other major cases scheduled to begin next week.

The trial, being heard without a jury before Circuit Judge Frederick C. Ziem, entered its fourth day this morning with the likelihood that it would continue for several more days.

On Tuesday, Ziem is to begin hearing an important civil rights case, and on Thursday he is to preside over the Madison Heights Steren Assembly Club gambling case in Manistee.

If the Foster trial runs beyond today, Ziem said he would probably set aside hearing motions which are usually scheduled for Monday and continue the case that day.

Should it be longer, the judge stated he would adjourn the civil rights case until August and postpone the gambling trial on a day-to-day basis.

★ ★ ★

In the civil rights case, Bloomfield Township builder William J. Pulte is questioning the authority of the Civil Rights Commission to hold a hearing in connection with his refusal to sell a parcel to a Negro in a Beverly Hills development.

21 DEFENDANTS

The gambling case involves 21 defendants arrested in a raid on a private club in October 1963.

The trial was transferred to the northern Michigan community after the defense attorney Carlton Roeser claimed that the incident had received too much publicity.

Chief witness in the Foster murder trial yesterday was Dr. Richard E. Olsen, pathologist at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

★ ★ ★

Olsen performed the autopsy on the body of Mrs. Foster, 14 months after she was ruled a suicide victim on Feb. 28, 1964. Foster is accused of killing her.

PREVIOUS TESTIMONY

Olsen's testimony was substantially the same as he gave at a coroner's inquest and at Foster's preliminary examination.

He said that Foster's wife, Angela, 25, was strangled to death manually and did not die as a result of a clothesline being placed around her neck.

When Mrs. Foster was discovered by her husband she was hanging from a waterpipe in the basement of their home.

★ ★ ★

PLEADED GUILTY

He pleaded guilty to manslaughter in the strangulation of Mrs. Crook and was sentenced to 10-15 years in the state prison at Jackson.

Olsen testified that Mrs. Foster was "dead or dying when she was hung; more probably that she was dead."

He said that it was his opinion that marks on her throat were those made by a thumb and fingers while she was being "throttled."

★ ★ ★

Color slides of the autopsy were projected in the crowded courtroom while Olsen described each one in detail and why it was significant.

★ ★ ★

Foster's court-appointed attorney Joseph Hardig asked Olsen if the marks he referred to as fingermarks could have been made by knots. Olsen answered with a positive "no."

"Nothing else could cause the bruises but fingers," said Olsen.

Olsen noted that the embalming fluid in Mrs. Foster's body had made the marks more evident than at the time of her death.

Bill Is Signed on Uninsured

Early Amendments Promised by Backers

LANSING (AP)—Gov. George Romney today signed the motor vehicle accident claims fund bill after winning promises of early amendments from its chief legislative backers.

The claims fund will protect persons against financial losses resulting from accidents caused by uninsured drivers.

★ ★ ★

The amendments promised, said Romney, "will eliminate a great number of small claims but will maintain coverage for the major injuries caused by uninsured motorists in this state."

Insurance companies opposed the bill and said claims against it would exceed revenues.

The fund will be financed this way:

The owner of each insured vehicle will pay $1 each time he secures vehicle license plates.

The owner of each uninsured vehicle will pay $25 each time he secures his plates.

★ ★ ★

An estimated $18 million will be put into the fund during its first year, to begin Nov. 1.

Persons sustaining damages from an uninsured motorist can file with the secretary of state for reimbursement from the fund. He collects if the uninsured driver was responsible.

The fund director, meanwhile, will then suspend driving privileges for the accident-causing uninsured driver until that driver has taken steps to repay the fund for the fund's payment to the victim.

Thousands Bid Adlai Farewell

WASHINGTON (AP) — "A vast company — we friends of Adlai Stevenson" — paid homage with a brief, solemn memorial service at Washington National Cathedral today.

President and Mrs. Johnson headed 2,000 notables from all branches of government, the diplomatic corps and citizenry attending the final Washington rites in the huge Episcopal church.

The ceremony conducted by Stevenson's pastor from Springfield, Ill., Dr. Richard Graebel, and the eulogy by his old friend, federal Appeals Court Judge Carl McGowan were brought to countless other Americans by nationwide television and broadcast.

Stevenson's casket—draped with an American flag and flanked by standards bearing the flags of the United States and of the United Nations where he was the U.S. ambassador—lay in the nave of the cathedral at a center point called "The Great Crossing."

The tone of the ceremony — homage to a friend of man — was set in Judge McGowan's opening sentence:

★ ★ ★

"We are a vast company — we friends of Adlai Stevenson."

CLOSING PRAYER

And the Rev. Mr. Graebel, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church in Springfield, brought the religious rite to a close with the prayer:

"May the Lord give you peace the world cannot give or take away."

Johnson, sitting in the front row with Mrs. Johnson, their daughter Luci, 18, and Vice President and Mrs. Hubert H. Humphrey, took no active part in the ceremony. Mrs. Johnson, an Episcopalian, knelt for the prayers but the others did not.

★

The audience joined in singing the Star-Spangled Banner to conclude the 40-minute ceremony.

CATHEDRAL BELLS

Then, to the slow tolling of the cathedral bell, a military honor guard wheeled away the casket for a flight to Springfield. The body will lie in state at the Illinois Capitol there over the weekend.

To the strains of "Faith of Our Fathers" by the Marine Band, a military detail of nine pallbearers carried the casket down the cathedral steps to a hearse.

Waiting crowds quietly watched the motorcade move away.

School Board Reelects Chief

Reorganization Held by Waterford Group

John D. Boardman, 58, of 4413 Forest was unanimously reelected president of the Waterford Township Board of Education last night as the seven-member group reorganized for the forthcoming school year.

Also reelected at last night's meeting were Treasurer Don-

BOARDMAN said W. Porter, 47, of 3736 Mariner and Chaplain Robert E. Field, 49, of 147 S. Avery.

A new member, Mrs. Virginia Ross, 44, of 6101 Adamson, was elected secretary.

It was the first official meeting attended by the housewife who defeated seven other candidates to gain a four-year term last month.

Mrs. Ross also was chosen Recreation Board representative along with Porter.

Mrs. Dorothy B. Barningham, outgoing secretary, was appointed representative to the Oak-

Moscow Talk Objective Is Hinted

W. AVERELL HARRIMAN

MOSCOW (AP) — U.S. Ambassador W. Averell Harriman hinted broadly today that his mission to Moscow is intended to prevent any Soviet misunderstanding of the American position in Viet Nam which might expand the war there.

Harriman gave the hint in a Red Square interview after it was learned he is tentatively scheduled to have a second meeting with Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin next week.

They met for three hours in the Kremlin yesterday and Harriman later said he had cabled to President Johnson "some significant information."

There were signs here and in Washington of a major American effort to break the Viet Nam deadlock. But in the interview, Harriman emphasized the need for understanding by Washington and Moscow of what the other is doing.

★ ★ ★

"I have always said, as President Johnson has said, that our guard must be up but our hand must always be out," he asserted. "We always ought to be ready to negotiate and ready to try to settle our differences.

BE CLEAR

"We must be careful to make our positions clear — that they (the Russians) understand ours and we understand theirs."

★

Former Premier Khrushchev and the present premier, Kosygin, "have no desire to become involved in nuclear war," Harriman said.

"It's too dangerous not to make very effort to reach understandings and settle issues one by one that come between us."

Harriman said Viet Nam "is not a subject between us and the Soviets but between North Viet Nam and South Viet Nam."

NO DESIRE

"North Viet Nam had shown no desire to accept President Johnson's proposals for unconditional discussions," Harriman added.

★ ★ ★

This indicated to some observers that Harriman held no hope that Moscow would be able to influence Hanoi and his whole emphasis was on understanding between Moscow and Washington.

Chance of Rain Over Weekend in Pontiac Area

Rain may usher in the weekend in the Pontiac area.

There is a possibility of scattered thundershowers today, tonight and tomorrow.

High today will be 82 to 88 with little change on Saturday. Tonight's low will be 55 to 60.

Sixty was the low temperature reading preceding 8 a.m. today. The mercury had climbed to 82 by 2 p.m.

Demonstrations Banned in Politically Torn Athens

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — Greece's new Premier George Athanasiades - Nova banned demonstrations in Athens today as he tried to form a government and resolve the country's worst political crisis since the Communist Civil War.

★ ★ ★

The no-demonstration order was aimed at George Papandreou, premier until King Constantine replaced him Thursday before Papandreou made his announced resignation official. The ex-premier vowed to fight his way back to power and called on the Greek people to demonstrate against Athanasiades-Novas and any other members of Papandreou's Center Union Party who joined the new government.

★ ★ ★

The new premier's interior ministry quickly ordered police to break up any disturbances.

Informants said Papandreou was trying to stem a mass defection of his party members by demanding an oath of personal allegiance from Cabinet ministers who had served under him.

JOIN GOVERNMENT

So far two members of the party had joined the new government, John Tombas as interior minister and Stavros Costopoulos retaining his old post as foreign minister. It was reported that three more members of Papandreou's cabinet would be sworn in later today.

Such defections could mean the breakup of the now dominant Center Union party and new national elections.

Constantine, 25, incensed by Papandreou's campaign to purge the army of politically active officers, swore in Athanasiades-Novas after Papandreou, 77, broadcast a statement that he was resigning. The new premier was president of Parliament.

"I said I would resign tomorrow, tomorrow!" cried Papandreou, 77, when informed of the king's unprecedented move.

★ ★ ★

Denouncing the new premier as a traitor, Papandreou charged that Constantine's action "had the form of a ridiculous coup d'etat."

"From today," said the veteran politician in a statement, "a new unrelenting struggle for democracy begins. I assure the people that we shall return to office."

Mars Desert Shown in First Mariner Shot

miles across, indicating it was some 50 times sharper than those made by telescopes.

A laboratory spokesman said there was little likelihood that the second Mariner picture would be released today.

★ ★ ★

Processing time will be longer than for the first, because scientists want to make it cleaner. It probably will be released Saturday, the spokesman said.

The success of the $200-million Mariner Mars exploration program gave the United States a prestigious first in space. A Soviet attempt to photograph Mars failed last April when radio signals stopped coming back from Zond 2, launched two days after Mariner 4 went aloft Nov. 28.

★ ★ ★

Leighton predicted the best of Mariner 4's pictures being radioed to earth slowly over a 10-day period could show surface markings as small as one and one-half miles in length or diameter.

If there are canals and great cities on Mars as some scientists have speculated the later pictures might detect them, but the lack of sharpness in last night's photograph makes this doubtful.

★ ★ ★

The first photograph showed light wisps just above Mars' horizon which resembled clouds, but Leighton said he thought these were due to false signals in the transmission.

Dem Guest to Be Farnum

Congressman Billie S. Farnum will be the guest of honor Sunday at the Pontiac Democratic Club's 14th annual picnic.

★ ★ ★

The picnic will be held at Jaycee Park, Joslyn and Walton, and is open to the public, according to club Chairman Charles Nasstrom. It will begin at noon and continue to dusk.

Invitations have been sent to local and state Democratic officials.

Farnum, whose 19th Congressional District includes Pontiac, is scheduled to speak about 4 p.m.

★ ★ ★

Nasstrom said that refreshments will be available at the park and that games and events are planned for children.

★ ★ ★

Among the special guests will be Detroit Lion tackle Roger Brown, who will be officiating at some of the events.

Training Precedent

Navy Planes Join With Guard

By DON PEMBER

GRAYLING — The time is H-hour plus 30. The infantry attack on the aggressor-held outpost has stalled as the enemy prepares to mount an armored counterattack.

★ ★ ★

The company commander, 1st Lt. David MacGillis of 259 W. Columbia, Pontiac, and the Naval liaison officer at his side, confer for a moment. Then the Navy man reaches for the radio.

"Bumble Bee 2, this is Dogwood 1. We have a target for you . . ."

In a few moments, four dark blue Navy A4-B Skyhawk jets appear overhead. They circle the target and then bank into steep dives, firing rockets and 20 millimeter cannon shells at the aggressor armored vehicles.

★ ★ ★

This scene could be taking place in Viet Nam, but it isn't. It is a training exercise to be undertaken Wednesday by Pontiac National Guardsmen.

AIR SUPPORT

"We have been told that this is the first time in history that Naval air support has been used by any National Guard troops during a training exercise," MacGillis said.

The Pontiac unit, Company A, 2nd Battalion of the 125th Infantry, is one of nine infantry and artillery units to take part in this type of training this year.

The operation is being undertaken, not only to give the infantrymen training in working with air support, but to accustom the soldiers on the line to seeing and hearing jet fighter planes attack nearby targets, according to Maj. Gen. Cecil Simmons, commander of the 46th Infantry Division.

★ ★ ★

The Navy Skyhawk jets are the same type being used daily against the Viet Cong.

TOP STRENGTH

"Nearly all the 120 men in the company will participate in this maneuver," MacGillis said.

The three platoons will be led by 2nd Lts. Elmer E. Claycomb, 887 Walnut, Lake Orion, and Edmond B. Terry, 7371 Larkmore, Berkley and acting platoon leader M. Sgt. Billie J. Flippo, 4283 Seedon, Waterford Township.

First Sgt. Clarence J. Pizzala Jr. of 775 First, will be acting executive officer during the operation, MacGillis said, and the platoon sergeants will be M. Sgt. Glenn A. Simpson, 1284 Woodlow, Waterford Township and M. Sgt. Evert B. Austin, 1809 Cole, Birmingham.

★ ★ ★

"We will make an initial assault on an enemy outpost under the cover of artillery fire from the 2nd Battalion of the 119th Artillery from Jackson," MacGillis explained.

CALL FOR JETS

After an initial success, the attack will become bogged down and, as the aggressor force mounts a simulated tank counterattack, the Navy jets will be called upon for air support.

The planes will fly here from the Glenview Naval Air Station in Chicago. They will be piloted by Naval reservists from that area.

The air-supported ground assault will be the highlight of the two-week encampment for the Pontiac guardsmen.

★ ★ ★

The company arrived in Grayling Saturday and began training Monday.

PLACE MINE FIELD

Today, the company installed and breached a protective mine field during the morning.

This afternoon, the rifle platoons will attack a fortified position.

A commanders' inspection will be held for all units in the 46th Division tomorrow morning in preparation for the memorial services and the division review Sunday.

Gov. George Romney, commander in chief of the Michigan National Guard, will review the division on the parade grounds.

With reorganization of the National Guard in sight, this could be the last time the men of the 46th will march together as a unit.

Mrs. Barningham, who had served five consecutive one-year terms as secretary, was renominated for the position last night, but made a request that the nomination be withdrawn.

Boardman, a right-of-way buyer for the Oakland County Road Commission, was first elected to the board in the 1960 school election, outpolling seven opponents.

★ ★ ★

The life-long resident of Waterford Township is married and the father of two daughters. He attended Pontiac Junior College.

EXPERIENCE

Boardman had experience with two parent teacher associations prior to his election to the board in 1960.

Porter and Field also will be serving second terms in their respective offices.

Porter is sales manager for the Michigan Bell Telephone Co. in Pontiac, while Field is assistant chief engineer in charge of trucks at GMC Truck & Coach Division.

Motorcyclist Hurt in Traffic Mishap

John F. Coulson, 18, of 1220 Vaughn, Bloomfield Hills, is in good condition today at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital after sustaining a skull fracture in a traffic mishap yesterday.

Riding a motorcycle, Coulson struck the rear of a car driven by Vernis R. Ward, 26, of 4401 Louella, Waterford Township, in an 8 a.m. accident at Squirrel and Henrydale, Pontiac Township.

Coulson told police that Ward's car made a turn in front of him and he hit the vehicle in the rear. Ward told officers that he did not see Coulson.

Record School Aid Bill Is Signed by Romney

LANSING (AP) — Gov. George Romney today signed the state's record $524.1 - million school aid bill.

The governor said the bill was $27.5 million higher than his recommendation. But, he said the increase could be managed "mainly as a result of increased revenues in excess of earlier expectations."

Maid Guilty in Robbery

A former Commerce Township maid pleaded guilty yesterday in U.S. District Court to the $2,100 robbery of a suburban Grand Rapids bank.

Mrs. Hazel V. Foster, 47, was charged with armed robbery of a branch of the Central Bank in Grand Rapids last May.

Judge Raymond W. Starr remanded Mrs. Foster to jail in lieu of $20,000 bond and set July 29 for sentencing.

Ex-Press Secretary Now at Mayo Clinic

ROCHESTER, Minn. (UPI) — George Reedy, who resigned last week as press secretary to President Johnson, is undergoing treatment for a foot ailment at the Mayo Clinic, a clinic spokesman said today.

Reedy said he resigned because of the foot ailment. He arrived here Wednesday with his wife and two sons. The family had spent last weekend at the President's ranch in Texas.

Italy-France Tunnel Opens

Shortcut Through Alps Took 6 Years to Build

CHAMONIX, France (UPI)— A 150-year-old dream became reality today when the presidents of France and Italy opened a seven-mile-long road tunnel linking their countries through the heart of snow-capped Mont Blanc, the highest mountain in Europe.

★ ★ ★

The tunnel is the longest of its kind in the world and is considered an engineering marvel.

It cost $60 million and took six years to build. Eight hundred workers were injured and 23 killed during construction.

President Charles de Gaulle of France and President Giuseppe Saragat of Italy came to this flag-bedecked little Alpine town, each from their own capital, to open the tunnel which will bring the two countries closer together.

★ ★ ★

The link cuts 137 miles off a trip between Paris and Rome, and will bring Milan, Turin and the other big industrial cities of northern Italy within easy driving distance of Lyon and the French capital.

ENTER POLITICS

Politics intruded into the day's festivities, however.

After driving together through the tunnel to Courmayeur on the Italian side, De Gaulle and Saragat planned to talk about the current crisis in the European Common Market.

And for three days French ski police scoured the slopes around 15,771-foot Mont Blanc to make sure DeGaulle would be safe. The French president has been the target of several assassination attempts in the past.

★ ★ ★

A massive security force of more than 10,000 armed troops and police guarded the two presidents.

★ ★ ★

A final search for possible bombs in the tunnel was made this morning.

Birmingham Area News

New Officers Installed for People to People

BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — The Birmingham area chapter of People to People installed officers for the coming year last night at its first annual meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Yevich of 5721 Kenmoor acted as host and hostess for the affair, which consisted of a cooperative dinner and swimming party.

Installed as president by Mrs. Vaskey Nahabedian of 520 Aspen, Birmingham, outgoing president, was Magnus von Braun of 3318 Tothill, Troy.

New vice presidents are Robert L. Berwick of 570 Aspen, Birmingham, and Marsden Adams of 38 Madison, Clawson.

Mrs. J. Cole Brown of 876 Stanley, Birmingham, was installed as secretary and Mrs. Robert Leonhard of 304 Barden, Bloomfield Hills, is the new treasurer.

Mrs. Glenn Bedel of 2231 Garland, Sylvan Lake, and Mrs. Kenneth Peterson of 1175 Crestview, Bloomfield Township, were in charge of arrangements for the meeting.

People to People is an organization of families who play host to foreign visitors through contacts with the State Department.

It was organized by former President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

BIRMINGHAM — Twenty-three teachers and administrators are enrolled in the Birmingham Community Resources Workshop running from June 28 to July 23.

The workshop meets daily from 8 a.m. to noon and is directed by Fritz Pinis, a former principal of Adams School.

Sponsored by Michigan State University, the course deals with teaching resources in the community and how these can be more effectively utilized in teaching.

★ ★ ★

The group has visited Berry Door Industries, Beaumont Hospital, Cranbrook Science Institute, Grinnell's piano factory in Holly, Jacobsons, and McManus, John & Adams advertising agency.

Speakers for the workshop include Florence Willetts on the history of Birmingham architecture, James Flack on the history of Birmingham, and Knowles Smith on the outlook of the Birmingham - Bloomfield economic potential.

The public is invited to an open house July 22 from 10 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. at Derby Junior High School.

Teaching projects which each participant is preparing for his teaching assignment next year will be presented.

Single Red Rocket Orbits 5 Satellites

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet news agency Tass said the Soviet Union launched five orbiting satellites today with a single rocket.

The satellites were numbers 71, 72, 73, 74 and 75 in the unmanned Cosmos series, which the Soviet Union has been sending up to probe the space around the earth.

Tass said the five Sputniks, like the others in the series which started in March 1962, carried scientific instruments and radio transmitters to send back information.

LBJ Doubts Story on Adlai

Quoted as Opposed to Dominican Policy

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson does not believe Adlai E. Stevenson described U. S. intervention in the Dominican Republic as "a massive blunder from beginning to end," the White House says.

Bill D. Moyers, press secretary, told newsmen Thursday "I think the President feels it's a disservice to the memory of any public official of Ambassador Stevenson's character and ability to quote him after he is dead and cannot answer." Stevenson died Wednesday in London.

* * *

The remark was attributed to Stevenson by David Schoenbrun, an American broadcaster in Paris, after Stevenson's death. Schoenbrun reported the U. N. ambassador made the comment at dinner in Paris last Friday with him and W. Averell Harriman, ambassador at large.

Harriman, now in Moscow, said Stevenson "never made a statement of this kind in my presence." He said the dinner was at a restaurant and included other persons. Schoenbrun said he was standing by his story and that Harriman was present during the conversation.

QUOTES STATEMENT

The Schoenbrun story quoted Stevenson as saying "for six weeks, I had to sit there in the United Nations and defend the policy of my country in Santo Domingo although it was a massive blunder from beginning to end."

Moyers said Cabinet members — and Stevenson had that rank — may have disagreed with proposed administration policies, but once the decision was made they supported them.

* * *

He said Johnson does not believe Stevenson would say one thing to him and to the Security Council and another to reporters.

He said Johnson is as confident that he had Stevenson's loyalty and support as he was that President Kennedy had the same loyalty and support.

* * *

As to Johnson's opinion of the Schoenbrun story, Moyers said, "He does not believe it."

New Warrant Is Issued for Ex-Rep. West

DETROIT (AP) — A new warrant has been issued for the arrest of former state Rep. Daniel West, already sought by federal authorities on income tax charges.

The latest warrant was signed Thursday by Recorder's Court Judge Gerald Groat when West failed to appear on two election fraud charges.

* * *

State, county and city police, in addition to FBI agents, joined in the search for West with the issuance of the new warrant.

"To my knowledge, this constitutes the largest manhunt in the history of this state for a man who is not charged with committing a crime of assaultive violence," said Groat.

Private detectives hired by a Detroit bondsman also are looking for West. His failure to appear may cost bonding agencies $12,000. A reward of $500 has been offered for information leading to West's arrest.

West was reelected to a second term in the legislature last November, but was refused a seat when it was disclosed he had posed as an attorney to conceal his record as an ex-convict.

Shortage of Police Ends Target Firing

DETROIT (AP) — Increased crime and a shortage of policemen in Detroit have resulted in a temporary suspension of a ruling requiring police officers to qualify yearly in weapons marksmanship.

The police department is 181 men short of its authorized strength.

Suspension of the rule was tied in with the closing last week of a police target range. Police Commissioner Ray Girardin said he closed the range because he could not spare the 90 men who were taken off active duty daily to go to the range for qualification.

Johnson Curbs Wiretapping

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has prohibited any wiretapping by his administration except in cases where it is essential to protect the national security, the White House says.

Bill D. Moyers, White House press secretary, said Thursday the President believes "it must not be condoned or tolerated under any other circumstances and never, never without the approval of the attorney general." This approval must be obtained in advance, he said.

* * *

Moyers said Johnson laid down that rule soon after he became President and emphasized it again recently in a message to Cabinet officers and agency chiefs.

* * *

Moyers had been asked by a reporter about Johnson's view of a Senate investigation that has heard testimony that special Internal Revenue Service agents used unauthorized wiretapping or "bugging" in four cases in the Pittsburgh area.

PUBLIC INTEREST

"I know that the President feels that what the Senate committee is doing is in the public interest and that it is doing a service for the country," Moyers said.

Winding up three days of hearings Thursday, the Senate group was told by Internal Revenue Commissioner Sheldon Cohen: "I will not tolerate wiretapping or 'bugging' by our people."

Cohen has been commissioner only since January, and he said appropriate punishment will be meted out to the agents who did the unauthorized snooping "as soon as the degree of responsibility is determined."

He said all listening devices and two-way mirrors will be removed from rooms used by IRS agents for conferences with taxpayers. But in the case of bribe offers, he said agents may use devices to record them.

BROKE IN

Cohen said the agents involved broke into a Washington, Pa., attorney's office and planted a microphone behind a bookcase.

"It certainly was a violation of our regulations," Cohen said. "I will in no way countenance that."

However, Cohen refused to turn over to the Senate investigators affidavits submitted to him by the agents involved in the bugging activities.

The committee plans to look into wiretapping in Boston next Monday, and later will deal with other cities, including Philadelphia.

Service Held for Nigerian

ANN ARBOR (AP) — More than 150 persons, including 20 Nigerians in native costumes, attended funeral services in Ann Arbor Thursday for Abraham Adedire.

The 26-year-old Adedire was a Nigerian student at Michigan State University. He died Tuesday five months after receiving a kidney transplant from his mother, Mrs. Asabi Adedire, in an operation at University of Michigan Medical Center.

Earlier plans to send Adedire's body to his native town, Ife, Nigeria, were changed. Burial was at Marion, home town of the widow, Mrs. Margaret Adedire. The couple had two children.

Cause of Adedire's death was not announced, pending results of an autopsy.

Retiring as Head of Ford Foundation

NEW YORK (AP) — Henry T. Heald is retiring next Dec. 31 as president of the Ford Foundation after directing the giving away of $1.7 billion of the foundation's funds.

Heald, who will be 61 next November, has headed the foundation since 1956.

A successor has not yet been appointed.

Atomic Energy – V

Fantastic Future for Nuclear Power Predicted

(Editor's Note—This is the last of a series of dispatches telling the story of atomic energy on its 20th birthday. The report was written from Washington, D.C., one stop on a 10,000-mile tour.)

* * *

By ROBERT COCHNAR
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Of the thousands of people involved in the development of atomic energy, two men hold the heaviest responsibility. One is a scientist, the other a politician.

Congressman Chet Holifield, D-Calif., probably knows more about atomic energy than any other layman in the country.

He is chairman of the Joint Committee on Atomic Energy and has been a member since 1946.

Dr. Glenn T. Seaborg is perhaps the most distinguished nuclear physicist in the country. He is chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission and has been close to the atom since he won his doctorate at the University of California in 1937.

* * *

The careers of these men are totally dissimilar, yet both recognized the vast economic potential of atomic energy long before the nuclear bandwagon started rolling.

NOBEL LAUREATE

Seaborg is a Nobel Laureate and a basic scientist who helped develop the first atomic bomb. He is also one of the discoverers of the transuranium elements—plutonium, neptunium, americunium and the rest.

Holifield, before he entered Congress in 1942, was a manufacturer of men's clothing. But he has been a member of the President's Evaluation Commission on Atomic Bomb Testing and congressional adviser to three international conferences on the peaceful uses of atomic energy.

Both have been observers and participants in the tremendous advances made during the short history of atomic energy.

* * *

Says Seaborg: "For those of us who find our greatest satisfaction in rising to the challenges presented by the future, it is hard to think of a field of endeavor that will be more exciting than the nuclear industry in the years between now and 1980."

EVEN GREATER

Holifield, in an interview, adds: "It's nothing short of amazing to look back on the last 20 years and see what atomic energy has done. And we're going to see even greater development in the next decades. We've got 20 years of solid technology under our belts."

Let's take a look at the atom in 1980 — just 15 years hence, keeping in mind that even the most conservative predictions made in the past have not kept pace with the actual advances made.

According to the Federal Power survey, fully 19 per cent of all electrical power generated in the United States in 1980 will be nuclear power.

* * *

Further, says AEC Commissioner John G. Palfrey, "at the turn of the century, nuclear power will be supplying a large part — commonly taken to be half — of all the electricity generated in the United States." And private industry, the AEC maintains, will be generating the power with no financial help from the federal government.

ANOTHER USE

Another use for nuclear power, one which Congressman Holifield believes "is a lot more important than putting a man on the moon," is in desalting ocean water for human consumption.

Right now, high costs prohibit the construction of large-scale nuclear desalination plants, but Dr. Seaborg contends that "if the nuclear desalting program expands as it should, by 1980 we will begin to see desalting plants contributing significantly to water supplies for urban domestic and industrial use."

The deserts will bloom. The U.S. government has already agreed to construct a nuclear desalination plant in Israel, a program which could thwart a potential war between water-starved Israel and her Arab neighbors.

* * *

The unharnessed explosive power of the atomic bomb can also be used in time of peace.

COOPERATING

Researchers at the University of Iowa and Army scientists are cooperating on a study to determine if nuclear blasts could be used to construct a new interoceanic canal across Central America.

Nuclear explosives can probably do the job faster and more economically than conventional explosives.

A few weeks ago, the AEC and the El Paso Natural Gas Co. completed a report which shows that underground nuclear explosives in natural gas fields may increase the fields' total gas production about seven times.

* * *

Nuclear-powered submarines and ships have already demonstrated that the atom can be used for propulsion. Dr. Seaborg believes that nuclear-powered naval and merchant vessels "will be commonplace by 1980." Atomic batteries may also be powering cars and trucks.

IN SPACE

Nuclear power has been in space since 1961 and, Seaborg says, "it is in this endless vacuum that one of the most significant advantages of the atom will be seen.

"As our space units advance in their sophistication and we demonstrate their reliability, it is reasonable to expect that by 1980 reactor units will be supplying power to large manned satellites.

"Unmanned scientific missions to Mars, Venus and Mercury with nuclear units aboard will have become almost commonplace."

* * *

If this were not enough, Seaborg and Holifield believe that within the next decade man will harness another source of atomic energy infinitely more powerful than the biggest atomic bombs.

BY FUSION

The power — already demonstrated by the hydrogen bomb—is released when the nuclei of two atoms come together, or fuse, and trade material.

Other particles come out of the collision with extremely great force. In the case of fission (today's atomic power), the nuclei are split and energy is released.

Scientists hope to use this energy as heat in a fusion reactor power plant when they have learned to control the fusion process, as they have done with fission.

* * *

Fusion offers a possibility for insuring tremendous world supplies of energy in the future, since the main source of fusion fuel is the ocean's practically limitless supply of water.

IN ONE GALLON

The energy found in one gallon of sea water would equal the energy which could be produced by burning 300 gallons of gasoline.

Former AEC Chairman Lewis L. Strauss made a remarkable prediction in 1954, a prediction which has not, as yet, been completely fulfilled.

But few doubt — particularly the scientists of the Nuclear Age — that Mr. Strauss' future, thanks to the atom, is not far away.

* * *

His prediction:

"It is not too much to expect that our children will enjoy in their homes electrical power too cheap to meter, will know of great periodic regional famines only as matters of history, will travel effortlessly over the seas and under them and through the air with a minimum of danger and at great speeds, and will experience a life span far longer than ours, as disease yields and man comes to understand what causes him to age.

"This is the forecast for an age of peace."

Mohair comes from Angora goats. The animal is a native of Asia Minor.

Educators to Study 17 Federal Programs

Representatives from the Pontiac, Hazel Park, Oak Park and Ferndale school districts were to meet to study the 17 existing Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO) programs today with James McNeely, executive director of the Oakland County Commission of Economic Opportunity.

Earlier this week McNeely met with representatives of all but three of the county's 30 school districts in an effort to more effectively coordinate OEO programs which are financed with 90 per cent federal monies and 10 per cent local funds.

It was decided that the Oakland County Commission directly coordinate all school programs under OEO.

Also, applications for aid, previously submitted separately by the school districts, will be handled by the commission.

* *

Applications will be made for extension of all worthwhile existing programs which expire Nov. 30, according to McNeely, and for creation of new programs.

EXTENSION OF HEAD START

One proposed new program, actually an extension of Operation Head Start, would provide year-around training for preschool children instead of the current summer limitation.

* * *

The Pontiac, Hazel Park, Oak Park and Ferndale school districts have been engaged in the full OEO program which includes summer enrichment programs, remedial reading, family counseling and study centers.

Five other county school systems currently offer Operation Head Start, but are not involved in the total program.

Johnson Asks Cuts in Federal Spending

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has called for cuts in government spending to offset the rising cost of his "Great Society" programs and the war in Viet Nam.

Johnson said Thursday that spending on major programs aimed at his "Greaty Society" goal has pushed the budget up by $4.5 billion, but total government outlays will increase only $2 billion because of improved efficiency and reductions in less essential programs.

* * *

But things will be tougher in the coming year, he said.

"We are facing sharp increases in spending from programs enacted during the past two years," he said. "For two years in a row, the January budget has been able to forecast reductions in the spending. This will not be the case next year — even before taking into account the rising costs of our rising Viet Nam operations.

CURRENT BUDGET

The current defense budget is $49 billion.

Johnson made his budget cutting plea to a task force created to seek money-saving measures, and told its members: "Let me worry about the political problems — I'll make those decisions."

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Reserve Board has reported another increase in industrial output and employment during June.

* * *

It said the June index of production rose fractionally to 141.9 per cent of the 1957-59 average and was 8 per cent above the same month last year.

The increase was attributed primarily to a rise in production of materials. The output of most consumer goods and business equipment showed little change.

The increase last month was about the same as that reported in May and in April.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A U.S. government survey says Red China made deep inroads last year into the Soviet Union's sphere of influence among Communist parties in nations not under Communist rule.

And early this year, the report said, Communist parties in four nations outside the Red orbit — Indonesia, India, Japan and New Zealand — showed strong pro-Chinese tendencies.

* * *

In addition, pro-Chinese parties were formed in Australia, Belgium, Brazil, Burma, Ceylon, Colombia, Mexico, Paraguay and Switzerland, the report said.

Noxious Fumes Kill Hamtramck Brothers

HAMTRAMCK (AP) — Leon Barton, 38, and his brother, Matthew, 40, of Detroit were killed by noxious fumes while cleaning an oil pit Thursday at a school in Hamtramck, police said. The brothers were employes of American Tank Service of Ferndale, police said. The fumes occurred when an ammonia-type cleaning fluid they were using contacted oil residue in the tank.

Adlai E. Stevenson

Death, ultimate fate of both great and lowly, claimed one who had long played a leading part on the stage of global affairs.

STEVENSON

ADLAI E. STEVENSON, since 1961 U.S. Ambassador to the United Nations, was stricken in London Wednesday while on a state mission.

The shocking and unexpected demise of the 65-year-old statesman ended a career of public service distinguished by steadfast devotion to the ideals of America and the exemplification of personal integrity of the highest order.

★ ★ ★

A native of California, Stevenson was born to a life of public service, his father having served as vice president under Grover Cleveland.

He entered government service as a young attorney in the early days of the ROOSEVELT New Deal. After filling various wartime executive posts, as an assistant to the Secretary of State he helped structure the United Nations organization in 1945.

In 1948 STEVENSON ran for governor of Illinois, and was elected by the largest majority in the state's history. That fact and the impressive record of his administration put him in line for the Democratic nomination for president in 1952.

Though defeated in the election of that year and again in 1956 by Republican DWIGHT D. EISENHOWER, he waged campaigns praiseworthy for high intellectual tone and freedom from demagoguery.

★ ★ ★

Adlai Stevenson has well earned the accolade of "well done, thou good and faithful servant" from a grateful America. His passing will be deeply mourned by the world's multitudes and his name given significant place in the history of our times.

Cracks Seen Widening in the Common Market

Grave doubt is dawning in the minds of international observers on the future of the European Common Market.

Formed eight years ago by six nations, it was designed not only as a potent economic entity but as the forerunner of eventual political and social confederation of the Continent.

★ ★ ★

All went well as compatible and beneficial tariffs and trading practices were evolved among the member nations — until the utopian concept ran afoul of special national interests.

With the exception of the metamorphosis of the individual American colonies into a confederation to gain freedom from Great Britain and later to form the United States, there have historically been no enduring instances of nations subordinating national sovereignty to a supranational authority.

The catalyst of common threat — economic or military — that initially leagues countries in a common front disintegrates as the emergency passes and national self-interest reappears.

★ ★ ★

Such were the forces that wrecked the League of Nations and now threaten the United Nations as it appears to be slowly drifting towards the shoals of dissolution.

The disruption within the European Common Market is, of course, considerably aggravated by the intransigent and finagling Charles de Gaulle, president of France. France is the keystone of the ECM and her threatened withdrawal, should it materialize, would critically dilute the union — if not finish it off.

It is such long-term ineffectiveness of countless attempts by nations around the world to band together for over-all benefits with mutual good will that makes the relative solidarity and harmony of America's 50 states the governmental miracle that it is.

★ ★ ★

Let us pay solemn tribute to the great ideal that spreads its blessings across our continent — and thankfully cherish it.

THE wife should have four spacious closets for her clothes; the husband should have two—one for his best clothes, the other for his old comfortable clothes with a substantial lock on it to keep his wife from throwing them away.

Stevenson Was Victim of Fate

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON — Adlai E. Stevenson — civilized, gentle, and articulate — was the ideal politician to a lot of people but, unfortunately for him, never to enough people.

And he appeared at the wrong time and against the wrong man.

He truly represented something too seldom seen in American political life—the thinker — when he ran against Dwight D. Eisenhower and lost the presidency to him twice.

The 1952 race wasn't a time for thinking. It was an emotional time. The country was tormented over the Korean War and split to its roots by McCarthyism with all that it meant in bewilderment, suspicion and revulsion.

SELF-EXAMINATION

What Stevenson offered, with his probings and often painfully polished language, was a self-examination of the American conscience at a moment when Americans apparently felt they needed something else.

That something else was a return to tranquility, of cohesion instead of division and of proven strength in leadership to eliminate misgivings. Eisenhower symbolized all those needs.

Eisenhower, proven commander and national hero, could be expected to restore sanity even if he had to knock heads together. And he was a friendly man who could be trusted not to engender new antagonisms.

★ ★ ★

But Eisenhower probably could have beaten Stevenson under any circumstances, as he proved by winning again in 1956. Against someone else, Stevenson might have done better.

ROUGH ON IKE

Yet, while Stevenson seemed a little in awe of Eisenhower in the first campaign, and minced a bit, in 1956 he was rougher on Eisenhower than John F. Kennedy was on Richard M. Nixon in 1960.

And in 1956, he did worse than in 1952.

He had all the instincts of the lamb while all the first-line presidents at one time or another had to show the teeth of a tiger.

★ ★ ★

Here he was both indecisive and self-conscious, qualities which often appeared later.

SELF-CONSCIOUS

And in writing his campaign speeches, he was extremely indecisive and self-conscious, endlessly changing and rearranging as if wanting to make sure his literary hat would be on straight in the mirror of history.

All this affected him adversely in the kind of public attention his thoughts got, for it slowed down and scrambled the transmission of speeches to newspapers around the country.

But, despite these defects, he remained in American life a shining figure until he died, without malice, a man of good will, kindness and infinite concern for the people of his own country and the world.

He was a gentleman and a gentle man.

David Lawrence Says:

Diplomacy Loses a Real Master

LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—Adlai Stevenson by his intense dedication to public service undoubtedly exhausted his energies and shortened his years.

Stevenson in many ways resembled William Jennings Bryan, who likewise was an unsuccessful presidential candidate and who also died at the age of 65.

Both Stevenson and Bryan were remarkable orators, and frequently seemed to be concentrating their whole physical and mental faculties as they spoke extemporaneously.

Adlai Stevenson ran for the presidency twice. In 1960, Stevenson had remarkable support for a third presidential nomination and, but for the more influential political organization behind the Kennedy candidacy, might have had a third chance at the presidency.

But it is not so much in the field of politics as in the area of diplomacy and foreign relations that Adlai Stevenson has made his mark for posterity.

★ ★ ★

Few people realize the scope of the tasks performed by the U.S. ambassador to the United Nations. He deals not with one government but with several governments simultaneously.

NEW DESIGNATION

Indeed, the post might well be designated as "U.S. Secretary of State for the United Nations."

Adlai Stevenson had a remarkable facility of expression. He could make extemporaneous speeches that were not unlike those of Woodrow Wilson, whom he greatly admired.

Stevenson was especially adept in replying to the Communists, who have so frequently, with their distortions, endeavored to misrepresent the position of the United States in world affairs.

★ ★ ★

He not only was impressive in his public appearances but performed very effectively in his diplomatic contacts and particularly in his private conferences with the representatives of many foreign governments.

NOT DOWNHEATED

Despite the many discouraging aspects of the U.N. in recent months, Stevenson was not downhearted.

He felt that a crisis was coming and that it was up to the United States not to desert the U.N. but to continue to fight tactfully from within the organization to see to it that the Communist influence did not become dominant or destructive.

★ ★ ★

It will be difficult for President Johnson to replace him.

Certainly it will be necessary to find someone in the diplomatic service who is capable not only of conducting diplomatic conversations but also in presenting in public and over television the viewpoint of the United States at the gatherings of the U.N.

LOGICAL CHOICE

The American ambassador to Great Britain, David K. Bruce, might be a logical choice to head the U.S. delegation to the U.N.

The President will have to make an early appointment because the U.N. is in the middle of one of the most fateful periods in its evolution, and the United States government can hardly leave the post vacant very long.

Foreign governments will watch with interest to see who will succeed Mr. Stevenson at the U.N. for, though representatives there from other countries differed with him, Adlai Stevenson was universally respected and regarded as a sincere and conscientious representative of the United States.

LBJ Is Keenly Interested in Bill to Assist Business

By RUTH MONTGOMERY

WASHINGTON — President Johnson, like the master chef who has a finger in every pot, is keenly interested in Commerce Secretary John T. Connor's bill to do for business and industry what the respected agricultural extension program has long done for the American farmer.

RUTH MONTGOMERY

In fact, the proposed state technical services act of 1965 was one of the principal subjects discussed when LBJ made that surprise visit recently to Connor's office.

The bill has since been unanimously approved by the Senate Commerce Committee, and corresponding House hearings have been completed.

The main purpose of Connor's bill is to "place the results of costly research and development in the hands of those who will benefit," and to put manufacturers and subcontractors in a better position to compete with foreign plants which modernized after World War II — usually with the help of Marshall Plan dollars.

At a proposed cost of from $10 million to $40 million a year, the federal government would match state funds in setting up regional centers to distribute scientific and technological data to business and industry.

APPROVED PROGRAM

To qualify for federal matching funds, a governor would name a state agency or university to administer an approved technical services program.

Any college with accredited programs in engineering or business administration could participate, by putting their laboratories to work in solving problems of individual plants which require modernization or technological improvements to compete in world markets.

For instance, seminars and demonstrations of new metal-welding techniques might be held.

The centers could make available technical reports, abstracts, bibliographies and computer tapes to businesses throughout the state. Managers could be introduced to the use of computers in planning market surveys and distribution operations.

We are living today in a revolution brought on by galloping technology.

Connor considers it "urgent" that this great outpouring of scientific data be brought to the grass roots, through cross-fertilization between the academic and industrial communities. It goes without saying that LBJ thinks so, too.

Reader Gives Prediction of Outcome in Viet Nam

The United States has confronted the Communists in ten countries. Nine of those countries are now Communist, and in Korea the United States managed a draw. Score? Nine losses and one draw.

★ ★ ★

Now, Henry Lodge will talk South Viet Nam into a coalition government with the Viet Cong. In return the United States will allow China into the United Nations.

★ ★ ★

The American people will be told we have won in Viet Nam and the reason China will be allowed in the United Nations is in the interest of peace because China now has the A-bomb. Our troops will come home and we will suffer another lost country to communism.

Resident Asks Questions About Satellites

For several weeks I have been observing the satellites crossing our skies, as I'm sure other residents have. On most any clear night you can see one usually traveling North to South, and sometimes West to East. They give a light usually brighter than any of the other stars, travel slowly, and appear to zigzag.

Logic Lapse

'My President'

The Oregonian

Washington cynics are laughing sardonically about a speech Jack Valenti, former Houston advertising executive and now aide to President Johnson, made in Boston last week about his boss. One commentator wrote that Mr. Valenti compared God favorably with LBJ.

That was an exaggeration. But the President's right-hand man and good friend did line Mr. Johnson up with such stalwarts as Abraham Lincoln, Winston Churchill and "Antaeus, whose mother was Earth."

Speaking to the convention of the Advertising Federation of America, Mr. Valenti tried to picture "the full spirit of the man" that "never seems to be captured." His bold brush strokes appear to have been laid on with a trowel.

Mr. Johnson, he said, is a "sensitive man, a cultured man, a warm-hearted and extraordinary man" who came to the White House "possibly the most experienced and best trained of any chief executive."

Every day the President uses courage, a sensitive intelligence and an instinct for rightness with "abundance and sanity," according to his aide.

A faith akin to that expressed in the Twenty-third Psalm is revealed in the concluding paragraph of the Valenti speech: "I sleep each night a little better, a little more confidently because Lyndon Johnson is my President. For I know he lives and thinks and works to make sure that for all America and, indeed, the growing body of the free world, the morning shall always come."

★ ★ ★

No soap was ever peddled with more effusive language than that. Some think the panegyric was delivered to offset the sometimes unflattering picture of Mr. Johnson drawn by Theodore White in his new book, "The Making of the President 1964."

Proposal

The Los Angeles Times

The Committee for Economic Development, a blue-ribbon organization of businessmen, has come up with the best approach yet toward a solution to the vexing problems of East-West trade. If the proposed OECD machinery becomes a reality, it will mark a tremendous stride toward a Western unity which has been sadly lacking in this field.

The fact that highly influential European and Japanese businessmen favor such co-operation is encouraging. Although the Johnson administration may find fault with individual parts of the CED proposals, they certainly deserve serious consideration.

From "Birds of Western Australia" we learn of these varieties: the Fluttering Shearwater, the Restless Flycatcher, the Noisy Miner, the Long-toed Stint, the Wandering Tattler, the Pallid Cuckoo.

We had always thought of stint as meaning a job of work, and had not wasted much time whether we went at it with long toes, short toes, or no toes at all. We shall have to ask the Wandering Tattler which is the preferred method, and he, no doubt, after soliciting a judgment from the Pallid Cuckoo (sicklied o'er by the pale cast of thought) should be able to tell us.

Bird Danger to Planes Increasing, Says Aviation Safety Expert

OTTAWA (AP) — "Birds are as much a hazard to jet aircraft as shoals and reefs are to shipping," says a Canadian aviation safety expert.

"The danger wasn't too noticeable in the past when planes were slower and flights were fewer. But 600-mile-an-hour jets and the tremendous increase in the number of flights have brought a corresponding increase in the danger," M. S. Khuring, chairman of Canada's Associate Committee on Bird Hazards to Aircraft, said in an interview.

Only a small percentage of plane crashes have been attributed to birds striking aircraft or being sucked into jet engines. Investigation proved that two crashes of commercial airliners in the United States were caused by birds — at Boston in 1960 and at Baltimore in 1962. The accidents claimed 79 lives.

But Khuring's committee thinks the danger is increasing as jet aviation increases and has called for increased international cooperation to eliminate "the piecemeal research and considerable duplication" in current studies of the bird menace.

Canada's committee, established in 1962, was one of the first in the world to attack the problem on a national scale. West Germany and New Zealand have similar programs.

★ ★ ★

Britain and the United States also are busy on research. But they have no central body coordinating it.

★ ★ ★

Kuhring said the committee is encouraging the elimination of dumps near airports and is trying to find an alternative for grass to keep soil from blowing away.

Man Lives as Desert Sun Claims Mate

CHANDLER, Ariz. (AP) — Lost under a blazing sun, stumbling for water, young Cheryl Ebeling, 19, died almost within sight of her home.

Her body was found Thursday, 18 hours after she and her husband, Richard, had abandoned their car stalled in sand.

★ ★ ★

"I called back to my wife, 'Come on — it's just a little ways now,'" Ebeling said. "When I looked back, she wasn't there."

The couple, married last August, drove into the desert southeast of Phoenix early Wednesday to hike and hunt for rocks. Their car bogged down six miles from the community of Olberg.

START WALK

Ebeling, 26, said they had given up trying to free the car by noon and, under the 105-degree sun, started walking back toward Chandler some 20 miles away.

"Sticks looked like rattlesnakes, and rattlesnakes looked like sticks," Ebeling recalled.

★ ★ ★

Truman Lovelis, a sheriff's investigator, said Ebeling told him he decided to walk toward Chandler because he thought he was closer to a telephone in that direction.

"I made a decision, apparently the wrong one," he quoted Ebeling as saying.

SURVIVES ORDEAL

Another sheriff's officer said Ebeling survived the ordeal in good shape except for sunburn and did not require medical attention.

After four miles, Ebeling said his wife was lagging 50 yards behind him when he climbed a small hill and spotted Chandler-area homes below and Phoenix in the distance.

"I called to tell her the news," he sobbed. "I walked on, thinking she was following. But that's when I should have turned back."

Ebeling reached a telephone, and he and his mother returned to seek Cheryl. During the night, about 50 law enforcement officers joined the search. The young woman's body was found beside a bush the next morning. She was clutching a small shrub for shade.

★ ★ ★

A coroner's jury ruled she had died of dehydration caused by exposure to the sun.

Latin Strife Puts Damper on OAS Confab

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

Events in Ecuador and neighboring Colombia can mean that the scheduled Organization of American States conference, if it opens at all three weeks from now, will be greeted by a monumental lack of enthusiasm.

Political turmoil in Ecuador, an impending government crisis within a week in Colombia, nervousness in Brazil — the prospective host nation — and opposition to the meeting in influential circles all add up to an inauspicious setting for a new inter-American conference.

News Analysis

* * *

The conference would substitute for one the OAS has been unable to hold for years, for one reason or another. No time seems to be a good time for OAS conferences. But some Latin-American politicians are known to feel that this particular time would invite disaster for the OAS.

On paper, according to the OAS Charter, a regular "international conference" to serve as the "supreme organ" of the inter-American system must be held once every five years.

The OAS was formed in Bogota, Colombia, in 1948, and managed to hold its first international conference six years later in Venezuela. None has been held since.

What was to open in Rio de Janeiro in May would have been a "special" meeting, but the Dominican Republic crisis interfered and it was postponed until Aug. 4. Now, apparently, the Brazilian regime considers it a matter of national prestige to be host to that meeting, whatever the consequences, since it coincides with the 400th anniversary of Rio de Janeiro.

* * *

There are other obstacles. Ecuador is being rocked by rioting, spurred basically by a regional conflict between the coastal businessmen of Guayaquil and the hinterland politicians of Quito, where the military regime has tried to impose an unpopular new customs and tariff law. This, coupled with public impatience and a unanimous demand by political parties for a return to constitutional government, promises a period of lively turmoil for the nation of five million.

In neighboring Colombia, President Leon Guillermo Valencia has a variety of political and economic troubles. He has been facing demands that he resign. At the least, a combined assault by politicians, labor unions and other elements is seeking a thorough reshuffle of the Valencia Cabinet and a basic revision of government policies.

These two situations alone would be enough to raise doubts about the wisdom of an OAS meeting at this time, but there are other factors.

The United States, particularly in the light of the Dominican crisis, has wanted some sort of action to perfect peace-keeping machinery within the OAS. It will meet stiff opposition from influential nations if it tries to set up an inter-American military force. Anything less than that is apt to be meaningless.

Opponents of a conferenence at this time say that if the OAS meets and does nothing, its prestige will suffer new blows. If it meets and tries to set up some new machinery, it is apt to run into an opposition which will tend to pull it apart.

Rent Subsidy Bills Through Both Houses

WASHINGTON (AP) — The program for low-income families heavily disputed rent subsidy bills today appeared certain of becoming law after it won approval of both branches of Congress.

The Senate Thursday passed 54 to 30 a $7.5-billion housing bill containing a modified version of the rent program.

★ ★ ★

The high priority administration measure was sent to conference with the House, which passed it June 30 by a 245-169 tally.

Democratic leaders said they expected a compromise would be worked out easily since the differences are relatively slight.

PROGRAM ALTERED

President Johnson received most of what he asked in the big bill although the rent subsidy program was different from the one he first proposed.

In addition, the Senate, like the House, knocked out his recommendations for a package of aids to help in development of new towns near metropolitan areas.

★ ★ ★

The rent subsidy program survived by seven votes, 47 to 40, when Republicans tried to strike it from the bill in the Senate. In the House, it was saved by six votes.

As originally submitted, the program was designed to aid families with incomes too high to be eligible for low-rent public housing but still too low to be able to afford decent private housing. But it was altered by both House and Senate to cover only those families in the public housing income range. The argument was made in both branches that millions of these families do not have decent homes yet, so that subsidies should not be paid those with higher standards of living.

25 PER CENT

Under the Senate bill, a family receiving a rent subsidy would have to pay 25 per cent of its income for housing. The subsidy would be the difference between this amount and the economic rent which would make it possible to finance the apartment project by nonprofit-type private organizations.

★ ★ ★

Administration forces in the Senate Thursday cut the amount of funds allotted to the program to make available $350 million for expenditure over the next four years. The same change was made in the House. Johnson had asked $500 million for the four-year period.

The bill's managers estimated this lower sum would make it possible to build 375,000 new units by 1969.

Jury Picked to Hear Flint Murder Trial

FLINT (AP)—A jury of seven men and seven women was selected Thursday to hear the first-degree murder trial of William W. Morgan in Genesee County Circuit Court.

Morgan, 27, of Flint is charged with the drowning death of John C. Atkins, 42, of Knoxville, Tenn. Atkins' body was found weighted by a rock in the Holloway reservoir near here Oct. 17.

HUNG JURY — Gareth Martinis (left) is shown with his attorney, Maurice Edlebaum, outside the Bronx County Courthouse in New York City yesterday after his trial on vehicular homicide charges ended in a hung jury. Martinis, the son of a New York State judge, was charged in the deaths of five persons in a traffic crash on the Henry Hudson Parkway in New York City two years ago.

Jury Deadlock on Judge's Son

Tried on 5 Vehicular Homicide Charges

NEW YORK (AP) — A jury deadlock has ended the trial of Gareth Martinis on five vehicular homicide charges. The presiding judge will rule next week on whether there should be a retrial.

Jurors reported Thursday that they were "hopelessly deadlocked" on an 8 to 4 vote for acquittal of Martinis, 25, son of Acting State Supreme Court Justice Joseph A. Martinis.

★ ★ ★

The defendant told newsmen: "I am gratified that there are some people who believe in my innocence, and I am innocent!"

Supreme Court Justice Samuel J. Silverman, who presided at the five-week trial, said he would rule next week on whether Martinis had been subjected to double jeopardy. Whichever way Silverman rules, an appeal is likely.

DEFENSE CHARGE

The defense charges double jeopardy — trial of a person on a charge of which he already has been acquitted.

Two years ago, three colleagues of the defendant's father — who then was serving in the Criminal Court — acquitted young Martinis on charges of drunken driving, reckless driving and leaving the scene of an accident.

★ ★ ★

The three Criminal Court judges, who conducted a three-day trial without a jury, voted acquittal after five minutes' deliberation.

Life for Police: a 'Bit' of Ear Lost in Career

DETROIT (UPI) — Siegel G. Clore, 43, was held for investigation of mayhem yesterday after he bit off a piece of an ear of a policeman who arrested him for erratic driving.

Police said Patrolmen Bernard Beeman and John Ryan were trying to get Clore into their scout car when the suspect grabbed Beeman in a bear hug and bit off one-quarter of the lower part of his right ear.

★ ★ ★

Ryan drove Beeman to Receiving Hospital where doctors sewed the severed part of his ear back on.

Clore also was taken to the hospital for treatment of abrasions and bruises.

The number of workers employed by the nation's construction firms increased by 300,000 between 1961-64 to a total of 3.3 million.

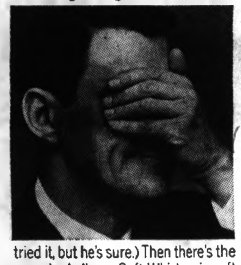
Have you hardened yourself against Soft Whiskey without even tasting it?

There are two types of characters who are certain Soft Whiskey doesn't work. There's the guy who's sure it's nothing but a gimmick. (He hasn't tried it, but he's sure.) Then there's the guy who believes Soft Whiskey is soft (he hasn't tried it either), but thinks if it's soft, it's weak.



First of all, Soft Whiskey isn't just something we cooked up overnight. Distillers have tried to make a Soft Whiskey for years. Even we flopped in thousands of tries before we had it.

Secondly, Soft Whiskey is 86 proof. It does what any 86 proof does. It just does it softer. Soft Whiskey goes down gently. It sort of swallows softly, but carries a big stick. (Incidentally, one way we soften Calvert Extra is by distilling in small batches instead of giant ones.)

It's a lucky thing for us the skeptics are few and far between. (We've had phenomenal success.) Then why all this trouble to convert them?

Quite frankly, after all the work we've been through, we refuse to give up on anybody. We haven't hardened ourselves against them.

Illinois in Ranks of Spanking States

NEW YORK (AP) — Several states allow teachers to spank Johnny if he's bad, but in some cases the law places a limitation on how much pressure may be applied to the seat of his pants.

California, Georgia, Illinois, Kansas, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania and New York are among the states that permit school spankings.

★ ★ ★

Illinois became the latest one when Gov. Otto Kerner signed into law Wednesday a bill permitting teachers to spank unruly pupils.

★ ★ ★

"This legislation was urged, not to allow teachers to beat children but rather to provide a defense against harassment suits," said Kerner. "One of the greatest hindrances to teaching is a pupil who taunts a teacher's inability to enforce discipline and threatens to sue if the teacher approaches."

NO BEATING

"This bill," said Kerner, "will not allow child-beating or brutality any more than the present law allows a parent to beat or brutalize his child."

The legal counsel to the California Board of Education said discretion about spankings is left to the 1,300 local school districts.

A spokesman for the California board said there no doubt is some paddling of pupils since the law is permissive. He said, however, that if punishment is believed excessive, a parent would have legal grounds to bring civil or criminal action.

SWAT ONLY

The Berkeley City Board of Education last week placed a limitation on corporal punishment to "a swat with the hand on the seat of the pants." Prior to the limitation, regulations permitted "slapping, paddling or using a ruler."

Before swatting in Berkeley schools, however, permission must be obtained from the school principal and the punishment must not be imposed in the presence of other children.

New York state law permits teachers to use "reasonable force in a moderate degree" to restrain or correct a pupil. But some school systems, including New York City's, have rules against corporal punishment.

In Georgia, under a law enacted in 1964, corporal punishment is optional with local school boards. If paddling is permitted, the punishment may be administered in the presence of the principal or another teacher and it cannot be excessive or unduly severe.

ATLANTA SAYS NO

In Atlanta schools, paddling is banned.

"In principle, I'm against it," said Dr. Everett Devaughn, of the Atlanta schools' administrative department. "I think children can be dealt with in some other way, and if not, they should be referred to the parents."

★ ★ ★

Kansas has no law authorizing or prohibiting spankings. The general practice is that spankings are administered in lower grades, usually with witnesses.

In Pennsylvania, the public school code says that every teacher, principal and vice principal can exercise the same authority as to conduct and behavior over the pupils as parents or guardians.

Massachusetts has a common law rule that a teacher may use whatever punishment is deemed necessary.

★ ★ ★

Haskell W. Freedman, former chairman of the Newton, Mass., school committee, and now attorney for the Massachusetts Teachers Association, said: "The teacher stands in place of the parent. He can administer corporal punishment if the given school committee allows."

Midwest Area Storms Subside

Seven States Lashed; Most of Nation Is Dry

By the Associated Press

Severe thunderstorms which lashed seven states in the Midwest diminished in most areas, with early morning activity confined mostly to sections of Wisconsin and Northern Michigan.

Generally dry weather was reported in most other parts of the nation.

★ ★ ★

Thundershowers which broke out Thursday from Virginia to Texas ended and skies were clear from Maine to Texas. Heaviest rainfall — four inches — doused Springfield, in southwestern South Carolina.

STORM BELT

The Midwest storm belt extended across sections of the Dakotas and Nebraska through Iowa, Minnesota, Wisconsin and northern Michigan. Heavy rain, hail and strong winds swept many sections.

Winds up to 80 m.p.h. lashed Cairo and Broken Bow in central Nebraska in a severe thunderstorm. Funnel clouds were sighted in parts of Minnesota, Wisconsin, Nebraska and North Dakota. Hail and gusty winds hit suburban areas of Milwaukee early this morning.

★ ★ ★

Cooler air moved into the Northeast but hot and humid weather continued in most of the Southeast. It also was hot in the Southwest and interior sections of the Far West, with pleasant temperatures along coastal areas. The mercury early today dropped to 94 at Needles, Calif., after reaching 106 Thursday. One of the lowest marks was 47 at Houlton, Maine.

Maintenance Workers at U-M Walk off Jobs

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Approximately 200 maintenance employes at the University of Michigan walked off their jobs for a short time Thursday. None of five unions involved had authorized the walkout. The men returned to work after U-M agreed to hear Monday their complaints, apparently over wages.

For His Country, Against Cong

Viet Sergeant Fights Out of Love, Hate

By HAL BOYLE

DA NANG, South Viet Nam (AP) — Some men fight out of hate, some fight out of love.

Nguyen Van Ham, 23, a sturdy, handsome Vietnamese sergeant, fights for both reasons.

BOYLE

"I hate the Viet Cong, and I love my country," he said.

"I have killed three Viet Cong. When I shoot them, I don't know why, but I feel very good."

"I love life very much because I am young. It looks to me like a rose. But I don't know how it will be later."

Sgt. Ham is hardly a typical Vietnamese soldier. He is a Catholic, has a high school education, and now serves as a battlefront interpreter with the Da Nang special sector forces here. But his story illustrates both the wartime plight and the long-term hope of Vietnamese youth.

"I was 8 when they — the Viet Cong — shot my brother," he said. "I came across his body in the street. I cried and cried. Not long after that they came to our house at 2 in the morning. They asked my father for 1,000 piastres. He refused.

BURIED ALIVE

"They took him away. I was a young boy and could do nothing. We heard six years later that they had buried him alive in a well. From that time on my mother, who had been very sad, never remembered anything again at all. She died six months ago."

At 20 Sgt. Ham joined the Vietnamese rangers as a volunteer. He worked with an intelligence platoon and infiltrated enemy territory wearing Viet Cong garb.

★ ★ ★

"But at night we killed them," he said. "Once we got a cash bonus of 5,000 piastres for ambushing a V.C. platoon with 18 men.

"I still want to go more often into the field and kill the Viet Cong. Now I no longer think so often of my father and brother. That was a long time ago.

LOVE COUNTRY

"I just think it would be bad if the V.C. take over Viet Nam. I love my country. If I didn't, I would desert. I have had some commanders I did not like.

"But I am proud to be Vietnamese, and all I want is for the country to get peace as soon as possible. My country is beautiful. When you stand on the high hill, and look down over the rice paddies and the trees, it is very nice."

★ ★ ★

The sergeant, whose nickname is "Hung," which means "hero" or "strong man," is engaged to a girl still in high school in Saigon. She hopes to get a job with the French consulate after they marry.

"We want to have three children, but it will be hard for me to support a family on my salary," he said.

ABOUT $47

Ham gets 3,400 piastres a month — about $47. He pays 500 piastres a month for lodging and 1,200 a month for two meals a day. He tries to save at least 1,000 piastres a month for his marriage.

The sergeant is well-regarded by the Americans with whom he works. "He's got savvy — and he's got courage," said one officer.

Ham has a pretty good opinion of Americans, too. He likes in his time off to see old war movies, especially those with U.S. Marines in them.

Impressed by Press at Press

Puerto Rican Newsmen Visiting

Groups of visiting Puerto Ricans have been working in Pontiac the past two weeks learning to operate The Pontiac Press' high-speed Goss Headliner press.

Tomas Quinones, Felipe Morales, and Emilio Fuentes spent last week working here, while Frederico Muriente, Jose Figueroa and Rafael Nazario are working this week.

The visiting pressmen, all from San Juan, Puerto Rico, are participating in week-long training sessions here to prepare themselves to operate similar presses to be installed at their newspaper in Puerto Rico.

They man the presses at El Mundo (The World) in San Juan, Puerto Rico. El Mundo production manager, Carlo Aponte, accompanied the visitors here.

El Mundo, circulation 80,000, publishes a morning and an evening edition on a 30-year-old Hoe press. The Puerto Ricans turn out 40,000 papers during an eight-hour shift on their old four-unit press.

70,000 AN HOUR

New presses will enable the Puerto Rican newspaper to publish 70,000 papers in an hour and run multicolor for the first time.

According to Quinones, youngest of the visiting pressmen, working conditions are similar at The Pontiac Press and El Mundo.

However, The Press operates with 13 pressmen, while its Puerto Rican counterpart has eight running its presses.

* * *

THEY'RE SIMPLER

"Yes, they're simpler to operate," Quinones said.

Ken Erb, pressroom foreman here, said that the visitors appeared impressed by the speed of the giant presses.

During their stay, the visitors have also enjoyed a Tiger ballgame, a party and several auto plant tours in their off-duty hours.

* * *

All three of last week's visitors had been in the United States before, but were glad that their current visit was in the summer time and not in the winter.

TOO COLD

"It's too cold," said Quinones.

The weather in Puerto Rico stays warm the entire year.

One of this week's trio, Figueroa, is not a pressman as such, but works in the stereotype department at El Mundo.

This department prepares the page cylinders that go on the presses to print the newspaper.

OBSERVE PRESSES — L. Z. Monroe (right) production superintendent, pushes the button that activates the giant presses that print the Pontiac Press every day. These visiting Puerto Ricans, (from left) Frederico Muriente, Jose Figueroa and Rafael Nazario, are learning how to operate the presses in order to return home and run similar presses there.

Jaycees Allocate $3,000 for Stadium

Waterford Township Jaycees have allocated $3,000 to initiate the development of a complete athletic stadium facility at Waterford Township High School.

* * *

According to Richard Womack, Jaycee publicity chairman, the allocation would be sufficient to pay for construction of a new track and bleachers.

* * *

This is one of approximately 40 projects planned by Waterford Township Jaycees during the next 12 months.

* * *

Other projects include installation of "Welcome to Waterford" signs on main highways, erection of a marquee for the Community Activities Inc. building and renovation of the new Waterford Boy's Club site on Blaine Island, Maceday Lake.

Also, the Jaycees are planning to set up a display of important historical documents in the library and schools and prepare a "history of Waterford Township" filmstrip.

Now in their 11th year, the Waterford Township Jaycees boast a membership of 87, according to Womack.

* * *

The club will be operating on a proposed budget of $15,500, the major portion of which is underwritten by the annual Home and Sports show, Dinner Bell tickets, summer fun books, peanut machines and "Millionaires Night."

HONOR MEMBERS

Honors bestowed on club members this year include appointment of Michael Patterson as state Jaycee treasurer, Ronald Rogers as Region "D" national director and Ted McCullough as district 10 vice president.

Also, Jack Ryan was named state chairman of the mental health and retardation program.

* * *

Young men between the ages of 21 and 35 who live or work in the Waterford Township area are eligible for membership.

* * *

JCs Call for Volunteers to Fix Up Island for Boys

Waterford Township Jaycees are sponsoring a work day from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. tomorrow on Blaine Island on Maceday Lake in an attempt to clean up the area for summer use by the Waterford Boy's Club.

The land, recently donated to the boy's club by Oakland University, is in need of repair, according to Waterford Township Waterford Township Jaycees.

Facilities include a large lodge with kitchen and sleeping facilities, a summing area and a vacant building.

"We hope to get 200 men out there," said Darwin Johnson, chairman of the project.

Volunteers are asked to bring rakes, rotary lawn mowers, brooms, saw or hammers along with picnic lunches.

* * *

Map Plans for Police at Schools

City and school officials are mapping plans to institute a police counseling program in Pontiac's two senior high schools this fall.

Cost of the program will be shared equally by the two governmental bodies. Total cost is estimated at $18,000.

This represents the cost of wages and fringe benefits for the two policemen to be assigned to the high schools.

Essentially, the program calls for a policeman to be stationed full-time during the school year at each high school, handling police problems that arise there.

School Supt. Dr. Dana P. Whitmer said that a 10-week trial program this year at Pontiac Central High School was an overwhelming success.

CITE BENEFITS

He said that Pontiac Central officials had nothing but praise for the program and cited several benefits.

Whitmer said that there was an immediate decrease in theft cases and this continued. Improvement also was noted in traffic control around the school and building security was also improved.

The problem of outsiders loitering in and around Pontiac Central also decreased. In fact, this previously serious problem almost ceased entirely, he said.

Whitmer said that the program provided a coordination of information between the school and police, giving police information on the in-school behavior of youngsters and furnishing police with information on outside happenings.

The policeman handles only those cases referred to him by school officials. His role is primarily a preventive function, said Whitmer.

During the trial period, the superintendent said that there was no general announcement made of the policeman's presence, but the informal student grapevine soon spread the word.

Whitmer said Flint schools have a similar program of stationing police in school buildings.

In Flint, police are assigned to both junior and senior high schools.

Pontiac Man Reelected to Board Post

New officers were elected last night by the Pontiac General Hospital Board of Trustees.

Aleck Capsalis, 221 Ottawa, was reelected to a second one-year term as board chairman, while Robert T. Flynn, 138 Ogemaw, was elected vice chairman.

CAPSALIS

Reelected as secretary was Mrs. B. B. Roush of 328 W. Iroquois, while Harold S. Goldberg, 1079 James K, was elected to a full term as treasurer. Goldberg had replaced Robert A. Armstrong as board treasurer during the year.

The one-year terms run through June 30, 1966.

* * *

Capsalis has served on the hospital board since August, 1961. He served one year as vice chairman and was elevated as chairman last year.

Capsalis is personnel director for Bendix Corporation Research Laboratories Division in Southfield.

Latin-American Group to Host State Members

Members of the newly organized Pontiac chapter of the Latin-Americans United on Political Action will be hosts to the state organization Sunday at the First Christian Church, Huron and Osceola.

At the 4 p.m. afternoon meeting, Pontiac's Mayor William H. Taylor Jr. will give the welcoming address, and Victor Hernandez, state president of LAUPA, will be the speaker, according to Thomas Chavez, chapter president.

The meeting will be followed by a dinner at 6 p.m. at the church.

The new chapter is a social, fraternal and political organization for Spanish-speaking citi-

Waterford School Budget Viewed at Public Hearing

The required public hearing on Waterford Township's tentative $7.2-million school budget was conducted last night at the regular meeting of the board of education in spite of Gov. Romney's delay in approving a state aid bill.

The bill, which would provide Waterford Township schools an additional $496,000 allocation—including $300,000 for wage improvements — has been passed by both branches of the state legislature and awaits only the governor's signature to become law.

According to James Den Herder, assistant superintendent of Waterford Township Schools, final approval of the budget will be sought at the next regular meeting Aug. 19.

The budget, an increase of $561,232 or approximately 8 per cent over last year's, was originally approved by the board in April.

A huge chunk of this figure ($495,161) is earmarked for instruction, nearly half of which is designed to meet contracted teacher increments.

OTHER BOOSTS

Other large increases in the preliminary budget are slated for operation ($116,544); fixed charges, including payment of health insurance benefits ($54,500) and transportation ($41,048).

The only decreased expenditure in the proposed budget is for capital outlay, which plummeted from $374,222 to $211,000 because of last year's purchase of data processing equipment.

Deadline for the governor to act on the state aid bill reportedly is today.

When he makes a decision on the bill, then Waterford Township school administrators will be able to prepare a revised budget.

World News Roundup

20 Drown as Rains Hit Central Korea

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — Twenty persons drowned, 18 were missing, and at least 40,000 persons were driven from their homes by floods today after torrential rains battered central Korea, police and news reports said.

Up to 15 inches of rain pounded the region Thursday night.

A U.S. Army air strip near Munsan-Ni, 20 miles north of Seoul, was evacuated.

ROME (AP) — A parliamentary committee investigating the 1963 Valont Dam disaster that claimed nearly 2,000 lives recommended Thursday night that Parliament take steps to ensure the safety of persons living near major water basins.

The committee said it was unable to fix blame for the tragedy Oct. 9, 1963, in northern Italy. A huge chunk of mountain fell into the dam basin, sending tons of water over the dam lip. Longarone and other villages below were wiped out.

The report said that experts had been unable to "give a conclusive interpretation concerning the causes of the disaster" because the slide "presented absolutely exceptional characteristics."

The report was adopted by a 19-8 vote.

ZERMATT, Switzerland (AP) — Bad weather forced the cancellation of a mass assault by 56 distinguished alpinists from seven countries on the 14,774-foot Matterhorn today.

The climbers and 30 Swiss guides intended to climb the route which British alpinist Edward Whymper followed in the first conquest of the Matterhorn 100 years ago.

BRUSSELS (AP) — The executive commission of the European Common Market said today the three Benelux countries have failed to live up to an agreement guaranteeing working women the same pay scale as men.

The report said Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg have not complied with the Rome treaty calling for non discrimination in the six members of the European Economic Community.

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — A boycott by opposition lawmakers forced the National Assembly's foreign affairs committee to postpone the start of debate today on the Japan-Korea amity treaty.

A spokesman for the ruling Democratic Republicans said the government party would go ahead with the committee debate Monday with or without opposition members.

Legion Confab Opens

LANSING (AP) — The three-day Michigan American Legion convention opens here today with some 5,000 persons expected.

'64 Paralytic Polio Hit a Record Low

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — The final count of paralytic polio cases in the United States during 1964 was 91, the lowest yet recorded, the U.S. Public Health Service said today.

The figure is less than a third of the cases reported in 1963, the previous record low year, the service said in its weekly morbidity and mortality report.

Geographically, the cases were scattered, the report said, with no county reporting more than two cases during any month.

6 Encores Go to Van Cliburn

INTERLOCHEN (AP) — Pianist Van Cliburn played a rare six encores—including part of the work which made him famous — in a benefit performance at the National Music Camp Thursday night.

A sellout audience of 4,000 called Cliburn back repeatedly with standing ovations following his scheduled rendition of Franz Liszt's Piano Concerto in E-flat major.

* * *

In his first curtain call, Cliburn played the first movement of Tchaikovsky's Concerto No. 1, the work he played in 1958 in Moscow to win the Tchaikovsky iano competition.

Sharp Quakes Hit California

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Two sharp earthquakes shook a wide area of Southern California within hours of each other late Thursday and early today.

The latest tremor was felt at 12:46 a.m. today and rattled doors and windows in parts of Los Angeles, the San Fernando Valley, Hollywood, Pasadena and as far south as Long Beach.

Dr. Charles Richter, seismologist for the California Institute of Technology, said the epicenter was 30 miles from Pasadena in an undetermined direction.

Thursday, an earthquake said by Richter to have its epicenter 30 miles east of Pasadena shook windows in Riverside and San Bernardino counties at 6:17 p.m.

NOT SERIOUS

Thursday's quake was rated at 2.7 on the Richter scale while today's tremor had a reading of 3.7. Neither were of sufficient magnitude to cause serious damage, Richter said.

No injuries or damage was reported, police said.

Civitan Club Contributes to Projects

Several civic organizations are richer this month as a result of contributions by the Pontiac Civitan Club.

Camp Fire Girls Trust Fund was the recipient of a gift of $1,000, according to Nathan Bressler, chairman of the Civitan Project Evaluation Committee.

The Oakland County Society for Crippled Children received $250.

Oakland University-Interfaith House, received $500 for books on religion. The Boy's Club of Pontiac gets $650, and the Foreign Student Exchange, Pontiac Northern High School Chapter, $200.

"This is part of the Civitan club's program to improve citizenship through increased knowledge, improved character and participation in civic affairs," Bressler said.

In Waterford District

State Aid Drops School Tax

Waterford Township School District taxpayers will be assessed a slightly lower tax rate this year than last, despite an 8 per cent school budget increase.

The reason for this is that more state funds will be allocated Waterford Township Schools even if the current state aid bill, which would bring an additional $486,000 into the system's hands, is rejected by Gov. Romney.

Township school district taxpayers will pay on a basis of $67.17 per $1,000 assessed valuation for 1965 compared with $67.77 in 1964.

The $2,379,799.56 current operating tax levy was established by the Waterford Township Board of Education last night as recommended by Supt. Dr. Don O. Tatroe, who was unable to attend the meeting.

* * *

It was only one of several of Dr. Tatroe's recommendations approved by the board.

Other approved recommendations included:

- Authorization to appropriate up to $1,000 toward the establishment of a Metropolitan Educational Research Association, an organization comprised of metropolitan area school districts in the state for the purpose of research on general educational needs and fiscal requirements.
- Reappointment of Marshall E. Smith as legal counsel for the school district in the forthcoming school year.

* * *

- A request of Kasler Electric Co. to lower the retainage percentage from 10 to 5 per cent in its electrical contract for Waterford Township High School.

BANKS NAMED

- Designation of the Pontiac State Bank and Community National Bank of Pontiac as legal school depositories.

A recommendation to increase by $400 the salary of Theodore Wicks, coordinator of the school system's building program, was tabled and referred to the personnel committee.

Approval of the $314,175.86 National Defense Education Act application for the 1965-66 school year was granted by board members after Roy Alexander, secondary schools coordinator, informed them how it would be spent.

* * *

Alexander said that 56 per cent of the sum will be provided from federal funds, while the remaining 44 per cent will come from school district money — expected to be obtained from the $486,000 state aid bill yet to be signed by Gov. Romney.

EQUIPMENT

Alexander indicated that $312,813.80 of the sum will be spent for equipment and books.

Primary schools will be allocated $140,783.90, including $50,000 for Mason Junior High School, which opens this fall.

In other business, the board approved 1965-66 contracts for 16 teachers, accepted purchases totaling $9,866.27 and discussed the apparent poor condition of the tile floor at Crary Junior High School.

* * *

After hearing representatives from Schurrer Construction Co. reveal that the tile had met specifications, board members decided to refer the issue to the school architect and building committee.

Dean Salley, chairman of the citizen's committee, presented a report listing recommendations of the group for school improvements.

Included among the recommendations were construction of a large auditorium for joint use, by the secondary schools in the system, a swimming pool for instructional purposes, a planetarium in a new secondary school and more outdoor recreation facilities for secondary schools.

Assignments Made

2,896 Admitted to OCC

Officials of Oakland Community College (OCC) reported last night that 2,896 students have been admitted to the college with 1,822 already being assigned to specific education programs.

College officials had estimated 3,000 students would begin classes this fall at the new school.

Of those assigned to programs, 529 so far have entered the college transfer courses, while 399 have been admitted to technical programs.

Pontiac's two high schools have contributed 143 prospective community college students with 69 from Pontiac Central and 74 from Pontiac Northern.

In other business last night, the college board of trustees authorized the president to take bids for conversion of a laundry building on the Highland Lages campus into instruction space.

The board further directed the president to accept the low bid if the bids are reasonable.

This authorization was granted because of the time needed to have the facility ready for fall classes.

* * *

The board in other business approved the purchase of $26,800 worth of equipment for the two college campuses.

2 Bandits Take $400 in Holdup of City Market

Two men, one armed with a pistol, robbed Bert's Market, 1022 Baldwin, of $400 last night.

Mrs. Lillian Campbell, 41, a clerk at the store, said one of the men came into the building at 10:35 p.m., displayed a gun and demanded all the money in the cash register.

The accomplice stood in the doorway of the store during the robbery, according to Mrs. Campbell, of 240 W. Ypsilanti.

The pair fled south on Baldwin.

Sheppard's Attorney Makes Freedom Plea

CINCINNATI, Ohio (UPI) — An attorney for Dr. Samuel H. Shephard today asked a federal court to permit Sheppard to remain free on bond while he appeals his wife-slaying conviction to the U.S. Supreme Court.

Ohio Atty. Gen. William Saxbe has said he will ask the court to overrule Sheppard's plea and order him returned to Ohio Penitentiary to resume his life sentence for the 1954 slaying.

Hunt Officer in Woods

LA MACAZA, Quebec (AP) — Quebec provincial police searched the woods near here today for one of their fellow officers reported taken into the woods by a group of armed men. Another man was injured in the incident when a gun discharged.

Ask Pay Hike From County

Pay increases for personnel in Oakland County's equalization department will be sought to close the gap between the present departmental wage structure and what some other employers pay.

Edwin C. Sage, director of the equalization department, yesterday called for a minimum 10 per cent increase for the 16 department employes.

Sage's request to the Oakland County Board of Supervisors' Equalization Committee for salary adjustments will be referred to the Salaries Committee of the Board of Supervisors.

Any change by the Salaries Committee now would have to be recommended by the Ways and Means Committee for inclusion in the final budget proposal scheduled for presentation to the full board in September.

Contract Let for Addition at Clarkston

The Clarkston Board of Education last night awarded contracts for sale of $1.5 million in general obligation bonds and for a new addition to Bailey Lake Elementary School.

Six bids were received for the bond sale, with First of Michigan submitting the low bid of 3.57021 per cent. High bid was 3.60712 per cent.

Schwantz Construction Co. of Bloomfield Hills submitted a low bid of $185,000 for construction of the new nine-room addition to the elementary school.

Anderson Plumbing and Heating of Clarkston was awarded the mechanical contract with a low bid of $68,125, while Keasey Electrical Co. of Waterford Township was granted the electrical contract with a low bid of $16,650.

Dr. L. F. Green, Clarkston school superintendent, indicated construction on the new addition will begin within 14 days, according to the contract, and will be completed for use during the 1966-67 school year.

The Channel Islands are located in the English Channel off the coast of Normandy. Most have a mild, sunny climate and are favorite vacation spots.

Too Hot to Handle?

Desert Spa Aims for Year-Round Living

AP SPECIAL REPORT

By DIAL TORGERSON

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)— What do people do in a desert resort when summer comes and the temperatures blazes up past 100?

Residents of this plush spa on the California desert thought they had it figured out long ago:

* * *

Shut the place down and get out of town.

There was a time when, in July and August, they would have rolled up the sidewalks except that they were too hot to handle.

GROWING TREND

But that was before the days of air-conditioning—and a growing trend to turn Palm Springs into something it never has been before: A year-round city.

The Chamber of Commerce which is behind the campaign, doesn't expect to rush Palm Springs pell mell into the 12-month calendar. It hopes first to extend the winter season, which now simmers to a halt in April.

* * *

It may have to be a hard sell. The average May high is 94. In June it's 102. There's not much even the Chamber of Commerce can do about July — average high 108 — or August — 106.

Years ago Palm Springs became a caretaker's town after Easter, when everyone who could do so promptly left for cooler country. Almost everything but the police and fire department closed.

TESTING MATERIAL

Palm Springs is a testing ground for new materials in building, new insulations, design innovations to make summer survival not only practical but pleasant.

* * *

You'll notice swimming pools built on the north side of a house, instead of the sunny south side, where most people prefer them. A shaded pool stays cooler. To keep the decking around the pool from getting too hot to walk on, architects are experimenting with knobby surfaced concrete to diffuse the heat.

* * *

Buildings have few windows facing the sun, and wide, overhanging eaves to protect those which might otherwise be exposed.

Cars, of course, are usually air-conditioned. Tinted glass and light colors are popular because they help keep the interior cooler.

AT POOLSIDE

Much of the city's social life is at poolside. There are 18,000 so-called permanent residents and the city has 3,400 pools — more per capita than any other U.S. city. In residential areas about every other house has one.

* * *

People who want to play tennis or golf do so at twilight or among the long, cool shadows of early morning.

* * *

Then comes September. Temperatures begin to drop. After Labor Day — traditional end of the summer season at Southern California beach resorts — the first tourists roll into town.

* * *

By fall's first long weekend, there are 100,000 people in town and there's a traffic jam five miles long on Palm Canyon Drive. Palm Springs has once more caught up with the calendar.

Evening dress of ice blue diagonal satin sweeps out from beneath a close bodice. Its bolero jacket glitters with embroidery of gold and silver and crystal drops. The whole is outlined with narrow gold cord and closed at back with tiny buttons. By Roxane for Samuel Winston.

From the Larry Aldrich Fall '65 collection, designed by Marie McCarthy . . . A cocktail costume of white puffy brocade is fashioned into an A-line shift and topped by an elegant little jacket bound with emerald beading.

For the Pattullo-Jo Copeland Fall '65 collection . . . Jo Copeland designs a dinner dress of black crepe in a skimmer silhouette, with a deep flounced portrait neckline of black taffeta over a black velvet ruffle. A single red rose nestles at one shoulder.

Pink and green beading form a bib and outline the hem of this oyster white gown of Ducharne imported crepe . . . from the Fall '65 collection by Branell.

Elegant Evenings Ahead in Shapely Ensembles

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor

NEW YORK — The uniform for the fashionable keepers of the night watch come fall and winter will be the jeweled, floor-length evening dress.

Or, for a choice, all's well too for the woman who wishes to slip into a black wool or silk crepe also reaching the floor.

★ ★ ★

Both are the dominant fashions for the winter evenings, spent at home or doing the charity ball bit, and in each the silhouette remains basically a willowy one. Major exception — chiffon formals which call for yards of that billowy fabric.

ELEGANT EVENINGS

Evening fabrics spell luxury, with a king's ransom in the cutting rooms and en route to stores of velvets, chenille textured laces, caviar beading (new term for jet beads), warp print silks, heavy satins, and a glittering array of metallics.

Add on yards of trim of ostrich and fur, both the flat broadtail and fluffy fox.

★ ★ ★

The opulence showed throughout collections of the New York Couture Group of designers.

Designers bat not an eyelash at quoting wholesale prices ranging up to $1,000 per garment for dresses beaded and rhinestoned from neck to hem.

★ ★ ★

But lest some of the prices scare you off, any number of the handsomely jeweled numbers are within the more modest clothes budget.

COMPLETE LOOK

New looking for evenings are the costumes, with jackets or floor-length coats buttoned and trimmed with stones matching those on the dresses beneath.

★ ★ ★

A favorite combination: wool coat sweeping the floor in color coordinated with the glittering dress beneath.

Many of the long formals have overblouse tops jeweled, coupled with soft clinging skirts of solid shade crepe or chiffon.

Larry Aldrich's designer Marie McCarthy coined a new term for formal wear in her "Sweater" dresses, the top jeweled, the skirt plain.

★ ★

Aldrich, president of the couture group, reflected a general fashion trend among New York manufacturers — toward the fuller skirts, the softer looking silhouettes.

He upbraided those who would promote kookie fashions and said, "I believe the time has come for the couture to stress clothes that are elegant, feminine. . ."

★ ★ ★

The Hannah Troy collection did just that, too. Many of her daytime dresses were simply-cut, unadorned skimmers that could go on into informal evenings.

For dressy occasions, she showed brocade dinner suits, with sable trims. Short dance dresses were bordered at the hems with wide swaths of ostrich.

"Hotsie" and "must see" are the terms heard about town to describe Hannah Troy's acclaimed collection. This little dance dress shows why. In a provocative black netting of Du Pont nylon, over a diamond pattern of rhinestones, it has a boa hemline of black net ruffling, almost deep enough to look like a nineteen-twenties skirt.

At Meadow Brook

Music Scores Again

By JOHN C. TOUSLEY

Phylis Curtin, soprano, was the featured guest artist for the second week at Meadow Brook Music Festival.

Sixten Ehrling conducted the Detroit Symphony last night in a concert made up entirely of works from the 19th and 20th Centuries.

Again playing to a capacity crowd, the orchestra began the program with Sibelius' Symphonic Fantasy, "Pohjola's Daughter."

★ ★ ★

The Fantasy, based on the Finnish poem "Kalevala," is rich in orchestral color and beautiful motives.

The orchestra did a creditable job of reflecting the wide range of images that told the story.

SYMPHONIC NUMBER

Carl Nielsen's Symphony No. 2, "The Four Temperaments," was inspired by a comical picture Nielsen saw in a bar, in which the four temperaments were depicted in exaggerated fashion: The Choleric, The Phlegmatic, The Melancholic, and The Sanguine.

★ ★ ★

The orchestra handled with great skill the themes which jumped suddenly from section to section.

In the slow movement the sonority of the strings was outstanding, and in the final movement the full orchestra brought the symphony to an exciting climax.

SOLOIST

Guest soloist Phylis Curtin was featured in the next selection, "Bachianas Brasileiras," No. 5, for Eight Cellos and Soprano, by Heitor Villa-Lobos.

The number was a strenuous undertaking for all involved, including the audience.

In both sections of the suite the voice is used as an instrument, often substituting vowel sounds or humming for words, in an effort to merge the voice with the cellos.

Arthur Honegger's Two Pieces for Orchestra were next on the program.

The first selection, a symphonic poem called "Summer Pastorale," was a peaceful, flowing number, skillfully performed by the orchestra, with many instruments moving in solo passages.

Especially noteworthy was the beautiful tone quality of the French Horn section.

★ ★ ★

With the playing of the second Honegger piece, the Prelude for "The Tempest" of Shakespeare, the orchestra suddenly roared to a climax. The tempo was moving, the dissonance strong, and the orchestra at full strength.

Maestro Ehrling drew forth a most inspired performance.

PUCCINI

Phylis Curtin returned to conclude the concert with three of Puccini's most beloved arias: Vissi d'arte, from Act II, "Tosca"; Mi chiamano Mimi, from Act I, "La Boheme"; and Un bel di, from Act II, "Madame Butterfly."

In the beautiful melodies of Puccini, Miss Curtin's superb voice was exhibited in its full stature.

The Detroit Symphony and Mr. Ehrling are to be commended, as well, for their sensitive accompaniment of the soloist.

Teen Prexy Likes Large Families

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Mary Louise Driscoll is 17 years old and likes large families, bowling and southern fried chicken.

The brown-haired blue-eyed Buckingham, Va., lass is the new national president of the Future Homemakers of America.

★ ★ ★

She plans a career as a fashion designer, and hopes to enter the Richmond, Va., professional institute after completing high school next year.

WANTS A SHOP

"My goal is to own my own fashion shop someday. But I plan to get married, too," she said.

Does she date? "I sure do," she said.

★ ★ ★

"I date about once a week, but sometimes it's only once every two weeks. I enjoy movies, parties, dances and bowling."

★ ★ ★

Miss Driscoll is a good hand in the kitchen. "I cook right much for my family," she drawled.

"I like southern fried chicken, by my specialties are desserts."

"I think a girl should consider marriage when she's 22 or 23 years old," said Miss Driscoll, who stands five feet, seven inches tall.

She added, "I'm all for large families."

IDEALS

Miss Driscoll, victorious in Wednesday's election over Sonya Fox, 17, of Cornersville, Tenn., says a future homemaker "should accept responsibility, be friendly, honest, cooperative and courteous.

Club Hears Dietitian

Mrs. Clyde Anderson opened her home on Elizabeth Lake to the Better Home and Garden Club Thursday for a cooperative luncheon.

★ ★ ★

Esther Kuxchau, dietitian at Henry Ford Hospital, spoke to the group and made "flowers" from garden vegetables, a Japanese art which she learned in Hawaii. She is the author of several books on the subject.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. A. B. Leddick, Ethel Chase and Clara Beach of Clarkston were the club's guests.

Committee for the day was made up of chairman, Mrs. Anna J. Frericks, assisted by Mrs. Joseph Phillips, Mrs. W. E. Campbell and Mrs. E. K. Vanderlind.

★ ★ ★

The group will tour General Motors Technical Center on Thursday.

★ ★ ★

Bride Wears Tiered Lace for Nuptials

Adas Shalom Synagogue was the setting for the evening vows taken recently by Barbara Ann Brenner and Samuel Edward Hartman.

Rabbis Jacob E. Segal and Herbert Eskin performed the ceremony.

The bride chose a gown of white tiered lace over silk and her illusion veil fell from a satin Watteau bow encrusted with seed pearls.

ORCHID IN CENTER

A white orchid centered her bouquet of white rosebuds.

Marilyn Weiss was maid of honor along with bridesmaids, Phyllis Jacobs, Fay Goodman and Mrs. Larry Hoffman.

Ushers included William Hartman, Laurence Brenner, Sheldon Zager and Allen Brenner.

★ ★ ★

An evening reception was held for the couple in the synagogue social hall. Following this, they left on a honeymoon to Los Angeles and San Francisco, Calif.

The bride's parents are the Marshall Brenners of Detroit.

VFW Slates Dinner

A cooperative dinner at 1:30 p.m. Sunday will be held for members and auxiliary of Oakland County Barracks No. 49 Veterans of World War I. The event will take place in the Cook Nelson American Legion Hall on Auburn Road.

917 Cards, Doesn't Include Christmas

Sender Wants Thanks

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Since January 1, 1960, I have sent 917 greeting cards. I am not counting Christmas and Easter cards. (I sent 3,455 of those.)

★ ★ ★

I mean get-well, sympathy, birthday, graduation, wedding, anniversary and new baby cards. I go through our local newspaper to be sure I haven't overlooked a birth, engagement, accident or death. I am on a limited income and can't afford to send presents, but I spend as much time shopping for appropriate cards as most people do in the selection of gifts. My question: Aren't people supposed to acknowledge cards? Only 16 out of the 917 people I sent cards to bothered to let me know that they received them.

ABBY

I am listed in the telephone directory. If I am wrong to expect thanks, please tell me.

IGNORED

★ ★ ★

DEAR IGNORED: Well-bred people acknowledge cards with a telephone call, a note or a verbal "thank you" — should they see the giver before having had the opportunity to call or write.

★ ★ ★

However, the giver who is motivated by pure thoughtfulness will send the card and forget it. To keep a ledger on "thanks receivable" suggests that the giver is unduly interested in placing the burden of gratitude on casual acquaintances.

However, the laziness and boorishness of those who fail to acknowledge a thoughtful gesture is inexcusable.

★ ★ ★

Troubled? Write to Abby, in care of The Pontiac Press. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

★ ★ ★

For Abby's booklet, "How To Have A Lovely Wedding," send 50 cents to Abby, in care of The Pontiac Press.

Recent vows were taken in Adas Shalom Synagogue Detroit, by Barbara Ann Brenner and Samuel Edward Hartman. Their parents are the Marshall Brenners of Detroit and the Rudolph Hartmans of Glendale Avenue.

MRS. S. E. HARTMAN

Personals

A daughter, Cynthia Elizabeth, was born July 7 to Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Chope, Shelagh Girard) Bloomfield Hills. Grandparents of the infant are the A. C. Girards of Bloomfield Hills and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Chope, Birmingham.

★ ★ ★

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Lucas (Gail Blamy) of Dearborn Heights announce the birth of a son, Michael John on July 15. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. John F. Blamy Jr. of Bloomfield Village and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lucas of North Marshall Street.

★ ★ ★

Mr. and Mrs. Henry S. Willard of Wellston, Ohio are expected as houseguests of the Edward Maiers of Illinois Avenue.

Mrs. Willard is the former Virginia Maier. Coming with their parents are the Willards' three children, Henry, Nancy and Simon.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. John Ward of Cairo, Ill., is here visiting her granddaughter Mrs. J. Patrick Kane of Orchard Lake.

★ ★ ★

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Hanna and children of Anaheim, Calif. are visiting her parents the George Schroeders of Hammond Lake. While here, they will also spend some time with Mr. Hanna's mother, Mrs. Charles Irons of Lake Orion, and his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Jaryis of Sylvan Lake.

A 10 a.m. Mass celebrating 50 years of marriage will be given Sunday in St. Michael's Catholic Church for Mr. and Mrs. Albie LaBarge of North Cass Avenue. From two to five, an open house reception will be held at Maurice's. The couple has eight children, Mrs. Leonard Degg, Mrs. Arthur Visniski, Albie J. Jr. of Livonia, Clement, Joseph, Robert of Ludington, Mrs. Carl Hudson of Ferndale and the late Mrs. Clarence Bulla. There are 26 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Manipulating Money Is Not a Crime

By MARY FEELEY
Consultant
in Money Management

One thing all of us need is to get smarter about how to manipulate money.

If you think that word manipulate suggests a fast operator or a little sleight of hand where handling money is concerned, you're wrong.

MARY FEELEY

The real definition of manipulating is "handling skillfully." Many people today just don't realize all the perfectly legitimate, morally justifiable ways there are of using what money they have to best advantage.

You may be able to make plenty of money. But what you do with it, and what you make it do for you, determines what you actually gain from it in the long haul.

SHOP FOR BEST TERMS

When you buy other people's money, do you arrange to pay it back at the most advantageous rate — for you? If you need a loan, shop around and get it where you can make the best business arrangement.

Shop for a mortgage as carefully as you would for a car. On savings, get as much income and as much security as you can possibly buy at the price.

It's your duty as a citizen to know the prevailing income tax provisions and exemptions. Remember that there's a sound reason for every little exemption.

It's to keep you solvent, and if possible keep you off the welfare rolls! New tax benefits are continually being introduced.

You're expected to make use of the tax provisions — they're not "tax dodges." Read the newspapers to keep abreast of tax law changes. Also, in the future, have your returns examined by an accountant or an IRS office expert.

Now let's consider that vital element in our lives — consumer credit. Under this heading comes instalment buying, charge accounts, car payments, etc.

If it doesn't disturb or destroy your savings, or earn you a reputation as a bad risk, credit helps provide you with things you need and want, and also puts you on a regular budgeting basis which keeps you from frittering away your earnings.

It's interesting to note that University of Michigan statisticians have found that a substantial number of instalment buyers are people who have enough money in the bank to pay cash for their purchases!

You can gain some tax savings through various ways of giving money, and through handling interest from insurance policies in the most advantageous way.

For example: If you want to set up a savings, or trust, plan for a child, there's a structure called the Uniform Gifts to Minors Act, under which you serve as custodian.

★ ★ ★

The money you place in the bank belongs to the minor, not you — therefore you don't have to pay a tax on the income the money earns. The tax liability falls upon the owner of the account — the minor — whose income can be expected to be less than $900 a year.

Therefore no tax payment is required on the earnings until the minor has an income large enough to be taxable under our present tax laws.

If you need more insurance protection than your present policies provide, you can use accrued dividends to buy more insurance. Or you can use the earnings of your present policies to reduce the premiums, and need pay no tax.

Of course, if you need the dividends, then you may find it wiser to take the cash and pay the tax on the interest.

If you want to take advantage of the gift tax, in order to benefit some family member — or anybody else, for that matter— and at the same time reduce your estate in order to cut down the inheritance tax, you can give away $3,000 per year per donee, with no tax penalty.

You'll be wise to discuss your estate problems with a lawyer, tax expert or bank trust officer —or all three.

Many readers ask about annuities. Many money - wise people think a good time to buy annuities is at the time of retirement. Usually by then, people have accumulated enough funds to provide a good annuity.

The more you put in, of course, the more you get out every month.

Now let's get around to our old reliable, Social Security. No retirement plan is complete without figuring in the advantages of S.S. New legislation coming through will affect many beneficiaries.

You should inform yourself as to how it may affect you.

One last word — in case you say "Where am I going to find out all these things I ought to know?"

Well, you never hesitate to ask anybody on the corner how to get to Third and Main Streets. The local banker, accountant, librarian, merchant, Internal Revenue office, Social Security office, your insurance agent, can all help.

Or if it has to do with new legislation, write to your congressman or senator. They'd glad to hear from a constituent.

October vows are planned by Marjorie Elizabeth Kitchens, daughter of the Raymond Kitchens of Frankson Street, Avon Township, and Airman 3.C. Vincent A. Trzcinski, son of the Edward Trzcinskis of Mohawk Court. She attended Cleary College and her fiance was a former student at Wayne State University and South Macomb College. He is stationed at Sheppard AFB, Wichita Falls, Texas.

Polly's Pointers

Pills Rolled in Food

DEAR POLLY — I have an easy way to give a pet a pill when it is necessary to do so. Roll the pill in a small amount of chopped meat or the pet's favorite dog food and it will be taken without any fuss.—ANITA GIRLS — So easy, but how many of us have thought of doing this?

DEAR POLLY — To give new life to a faded-looking comforter, place it between two inexpensive new sheet blankets and tack through all three thicknesses with yarn, or quilt a design if you prefer.

★ ★ ★

Bind all around the edges and you will have a good bed cover for several more years.

★ ★ ★

(Polly's note — I have made a comforter-size "pillowcase" type cover out of printed cotton or silk, slipped the worn comforter in it and sewed the open end together.

★ ★ ★

(Put flat on the floor or bed and catch all together in either way suggested by our reader.)

★ ★ ★

When bath towels become thin in the middle, cut off the good ends and make aprons for the little ones, using other scraps of material for belt, ties and pockets.

These good towel ends will also make bibs, slumber slippers and wash cloths that can be hemmed and edged with crochet or bias tape.

To see the stitches more easily, always use light-colored needles when knitting with dark wool and dark needles with light yarn.

You can make your pet several cute collars, in different colors, from plastic belts that are no longer used. Measure the animal's neck, cut to fit and use the same buckle.

★ ★ ★

Punch holes where needed and decorate any way you like.

When your little girls need a quick end-hair turnup, use the plastic twisters saved from vegetable bags and bread wrappers.

★ ★ ★

They will stay tight and do not seem to harm the hair. These are very good when traveling. —LILLIAN

DEAR POLLY — I have a silk dress which has been cleaned several times, so I decided to wash and press it. It came out very limp and wrinkles easily. Is there anything I can use to make it stand up better?—IMELDA

How about this, girls?—POLLY.

Plan Trip? Try Packing Tips

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Women's Editor

Whether you're about to take off for a European jaunt, a week at the World's Fair or thre weeks touring the West, you have the same problem —packing.

The old saying is, "Take twice as much money and half as many clothes as you think you'll need."

* * *

Having been taught to pack by a father who had been a traveling salesman in his youth, we consider we pack a pretty neat suitcase. The only trouble is that we try to get too much in it.

There are tricks to everything. Let's review some of those for packing.

• Fill the corners. This keeps things from moving around.

• Put shoes and other heavy items so that they'll be on the bottom when you pick up the suitcase.

• Fill shoes with socks, underwear or small cosmetic items.

• Use plastic baks to hold shoes, nylons and cosmetics that might stain or spill.

START WITH SHOES

After you have placed shoes strategically against the back (bottom) of the suticase, or against the sides, fill in the center with any heavy item, then top with lingerie and sweaters.

Dresses and blouses go on top in suit cases that do not have special hangers.

See that all clothing is buttoned and zippers closed. Tissue paper between the folds helps prevent wrinkling.

* * *

Many knit articles can be rolled to save space without harming the clothes.

* * *

We hope you aren't taking any hats that can't be rolled or folded. If you do, they should go in a separate hat box.

* * *

Before you pack that suitcase, we hope you have coordinated your wardrobe so well that you are taking clothes that can be dressed up or down and are suitable for most occasions.

* * *

Mix and match items are excellent. And a single color scheme is almost essential if you're going to keep accessories and shoes to a reasonable minimum.

* * *

It's far better however to take several pairs of shoes to keep your feet from tiring than to have a different outfit for every day.

White Rochelle lace over taffeta was worn by Lillian Bessey of Tawas City for her recent marriage to James M. Proper, son of the Lawrence Propers, McKinley Drive. Rev. Guy Kramer performed the ceremony in the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints. Daughter of William Bessey, Tawas City, and Mrs. Harry Haight Jr., East Tawas, the bride wore a pearl tiara with imported illusion veiling and held a bouquet of red and white roses. After a church reception, the couple left for Mackinac Island.

Use These Reminders for Pool

By the Emily Post Institute

You may be among the thousands of Americans who go to work in a "car pool."

It is a practical and economical arrangement, and it means that other members of pooling families may frequently have the family car.

For those who belong to, or about to join, a car pool, there are several basic rules of courtesy to be observed.

• Be on time! Your tardiness may cause three or four or five others to be penalized for their late arrival at work.

• Don't carry quantities of articles, and if you must take a package or two, don't pile them where they will obstruct the driver's front or rear view.

• Don't open or close windows without asking permission of the other passengers.

• Don't bring an extra passenger without asking the driver if there is room beforehand. Some drivers do not object to three in the front seat, for example, but to others it might be a considerable annoyance.

• Ask the permission of the other riders before smoking. When you do smoke, make sure that a window is opened, if only a little, to allow the smoke to escape.

• If you are a woman, don't use the rear-view mirror to fix your make-up. Carry a compact with a mirror or a small mirror in your purse.

• If you must carry an umbrella when it rains, shake it well (and your raincoat, too) before getting in the car to avoid soaking your neighbor.

• If you are not planning to use the car pool, let the driver know in advance so that he does not go out of his way to pick you up or wait for you unnecessarily before continuing his trip.

Why Grow Old?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Once in a while I like to call your attention to a few of the many helpful cosmetics available.

Women who have been interested in the flattery of makeup (millions and millions and millions of them), have known for a long time that they can do a much better job on their lips if they use a lip brush.

However, this seemed rather laborious and therefore the majority of women have not bothered to develop any skill in the use of the brush.

NEW PENCIL

Now there is a colored lip pencil with which you can outline your lips with no trouble at all.

You can propel the crayon to the desired length and when it becomes blunt with takes care of the situation.

There is value in outlining the natural shape of your lips, or improving on nature a bit if best, and then filling in. Otherwise the shape of the lips is not clearly defined, for better or for worse.

* * *

If your lips are too thin, pull the line out just a bit. If they are too full pull the line in a little. If your lips are too long, do not take the color all the way to the corners of the lips. If they are too short extend the color to the corners of the lips.

Just a slight change in lip makeup can make a world of difference in the way you look, as every makeup expert and photographer knows!

There is also another advantage to outlining the lips. Many women who like the fashionable and delightful soft beiges and pastels, especially in summer find that they are not definite enough, that the whole impression is "blah."

If these milder shades are given more definition with a bit stronger color in outline, but one which blends with the shade of lipstick you are using, this will not happen.

If you would like to have the names of the products I have described today, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

Meringue Dessert Is Chocolate Flavored

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

Mrs. Richard Jorgensen has a favorite recipe she serves at club meetings or card parties. She tops it with whipped cream, but ice cream would be fine during the summer.

The Jorgensens have four children. Mrs. Jorgensen is active in the Jaycee Auxiliary and in PTA.

BROWNIE PIE
By Mrs. Richard Jorgensen
3 egg whites
¾ cup sugar
¾ cup chocolate wafer crumbs
½ cup chopped nuts
½ teaspoon vanilla

Beat egg whites, add sugar gradually and beat until stiff. Fold in rest of ingredients.

Bake in a lightly buttered 9-inch pie tin 35 minutes at 325 degrees. Let cool 3 to 4 hours.

Serve garnished with whipped cream or ice cream. Makes 6 servings.

Dr. and Mrs. John V. Wilkes of Rochester announce the engagement of their daughter Janet Louise to Marine Sgt. John E. Akerley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis C. Akerley, Birmingham. September vows are planned.

The Orville Templetons of New Hudson announce the engagement of their daughter, Sharon Denise to David J. Edwards, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Edwards of Walled Lake.

The Lawrence Suttons of Afton, Mich. announce the engagement of their daughter Alice Jo to Gary Richard Rollison, son of Mrs. Richard Rollison of Riviera Terrace and the late Mr. Rollison. An Oct. 16 wedding date has been set by the bride-elect, who formerly attended Central Michigan University.

Mr. and Mrs. Goldie Taylor of Briarvale Drive announce the engagement of their daughter, Sharon Lynn, to Raymond T. Butler III. Her fiance is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond T. Butler Jr. of Old Salem Road, Avon Township. No wedding date has been set.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter H. Schroeder of Sylvan Lake announce the engagement of their daughter, Barbara Anne, to Michael M. Meyers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Augustus T. Meyers of South Cass Lake Road. August 28 vows are planned.

Be Bold Enough to Grow Brave in Color Choice

The "in" color for home furnishings this year is bold. According to such authorities as the Textile Dye Institute, advances in designs and dye quality have convinced consumers that bold colors are not only more interesting but more practical.

Bright prints (particularly floral designs) and other splashy patterns are often setting the color scheme for a whole room. Good American made dyes and fabrics in combination, make it possible to decorate with courage and color.

So next time you buy fabric for draperies or slipcovers . . . be bold enough to choose brave patterns, smart enough to make sure they are colorfast.

Clothing Capital

Seventy per cent of all women's and children's wearing apparel in the nation is manufactured in New York City.

Teach Your Tot to Tie His Shoes

Prepare your pre-school age child for some of the things he will have to do for himself after he starts school.

Teach him how to button his clothing, tie his shoes and work with handicraft materials such as crayons, scissors and finger paints.

They Last Best

To make freshly cut flowers tougher and longer lasting, cut in the late of the evening.

Remove foliage from the lower two thirds of the stems, place flowers in water up two-thirds of the stem and set in a cool, dark, draft-free place overnight.

Advertisers, Take Heed

CHICAGO (AP) — If you want a quick hint of a woman's disposition, take a gander at her figure.

Dr. Joyce Brothers, a psychologist, says there are three types of female personalities, and they're all detectable by the portliness, sexiness or thinness of her figure.

★ ★ ★

Pointing at the roundish and pleasant-looking woman with small hands and s m a l l feet, Dr. Brothers observed:

"She is probably a moderate, reasonable and diplomatic person—a good customer who would never return a guaranteed product unless she found it seriously defective. She is something of a conformist."

★ ★ ★

Dr. Brothers, speaking to the Advertising Age Creative Workshop Thursday n i g h t, then told of the type who "is impulsive, egotistical and eats up flattery like cotton candy" —the svelte gal with a lithe, curvaceous body. "She runs like the plague from an ad that urges her to buy a product, because it's popular," Dr. Brothers said.

BIT OF A SNOB

"She wants to be admired for her taste and to stand out. Ads with snob appeal hit her right in the pocketbook."

★ ★ ★

The third type — thin usually — prefers factual, conservatively worded ads. "She doesn't want to be assumed and distrusts overstatement," Dr. Brothers said.

Large Field in Men's, Juniors' Events

County Tennis Open Starts at Oakland U. Saturday

The sixth annual Oakland County Open tennis tournament sponsored by The Press and Pontiac Recreation department will begin Saturday with men's singles and junior's doubles.

Sunday morning the junior singles will take place and Sunday afternoon, the men's doubles will get under way.

The tournament, to be played on the Oakland University courts, will have two early matches starting at 10:00 a.m.

* * *

There were no seeds made in the tournament, being an open event, and byes were awarded by draw from the hat.

The large field of players will necessitate continuous play through 5 p.m. Saturday and 6:00 p.m. Sunday.

Matches are scheduled on the hour and players are required to register at least 10 minutes before their match. Due to the tight schedule, a six-minute default rule will be in effect.

A player on court need wait only six minutes for his opponent and then claim default if he fails to appear. Only five minutes of warmup will be permitted in the opening rounds.

SUPPLY BALL

Each player in singles and each team in doubles must supply at least one new ball for their respective matches. Balls will be available for purchase at the courts.

Balls will be supplied from the quarterfinals to the players, which are to be returned to the registration desk afterward.

In the event of rain, Saturday's schedule will be played Sunday, and Sunday's schedule will be arranged so as to start play next Friday evening.

Players must note that tournament officials reserve the right to default any player for reasons of lateness or unsportsmanlike conduct.

Oakland University has permitted the use of its locker room facilities for the players.

Sunday's schedule will be printed in Saturday's Press.

Orioles' Strategy Backfires

Kaline's Single in 10th Gives Tigers Victory

Pilot Dressen Sees Better Things Ahead in Season's 2nd Half

DETROIT (AP) — Manager Charlie Dressen hopes the things he witnessed Thursday night were only an inkling of better things to come for the Detroit Tigers.

Al Kaline's single in the 10th inning scored Jerry Lumpe with the winning run in a 5-4 triumph over the Baltimore Orioles.

* * *

"They walked Norm Cash (after Lumpe doubled to open the inning) hoping we would have Kaline bunt," Dressen said. "Then, they could walk Willie Horton and hope for the double play.

"Well, all I got to say is that if you can't win with your best hitter up there, you are in trouble."

CLUTCH HIT

Kaline's clutch hit was only one of the good things Dressen saw as the Tigers started the second half of the season.

Norm Cash showed the All Star break didn't bother his hitting as he collected two hits including a solo homer off the facing of the third deck in right in the seventh inning.

* * *

Terry Fox and Fred Gladding turned in tight — though sometimes shaky — relief jobs after the Orioles knotted the score on Brooks Robinson's two - run homer in the eighth.

The hit by Robinson, who scored the Orioles' first two runs, chased Mickey Lolich who was looking for his 10th win.

Fox gave up singles to Sam Bowens and John Powell but worked out of the eighth by getting Jerry Adair to bounce into a double play and Dick Brown to ground out to third.

LEADOFF DOUBLE

Gladding who got the win was touched by a leadoff double in the Baltimore 10th but got out of it without allowing the runner to advance.

Dressen may have to use Ray Oyler or someone else at shortstop since Dick McAuliffe injured his right elbow swinging at a pitch the first time up. He will be out a couple of days.

Kaline, who doubled off the screen in center his first time up, said he didn't see how he got a hit to knock in the winning run.

"(Stu) Miller pitched the ball low and away, a good pitch in this park. I just hit the ball to right like Charlie said."

Special events highlight the last two games of the series with the Orioles and an afternoon clash with Washington Monday.

The annual Father and Son game, matching the Tigers against their sons, will be played Saturday.

Free baseballs will be given to all children 14 and under Sunday and the fourth Ladies Day of the season will be held Monday.

SPORTS

Cash Swings More, Makes Boss Happy

DETROIT (AP) — Norm Cash's swinging —even when he strikes out trying to hit high pitches--is one of the things that has pleased Manager Charlie Dressen in the past few weeks.

* * *

"He struck out going for high ones in Kansas City and that tickled me," Dressen said. "As long as he keeps swinging, he's dangerous.

* * *

"Look at some of the other top hitters around. They are all big swingers."

* * *

When Luis Aparicio stole second base in the fifth inning, it was his first stolen base since May 30th.

Twins' Lead Is Same After Split With A's

By the Associated Press

The Minnesota Twins had no idea that Haywood Sullivan's slingshot was loaded.

Sullivan's Kansas City Athletics finessed their way past the meatgrinding Twins 3-2 in the second game of a twi-night doubleheader Thursday night as major league baseball swung back into action following the All-Star break.

American League-leading Minnesota tore into Sullivan's last place Athletics for an 11-3 first game victory in the kind of mismatch that reminded you of David and Goliath.

* * *

Maybe the Twins wore themselves out running around the bases in the opener but when the second game reached the ninth inning Sullivan and the A's were still within hailing distance, trailing only by 2-1.

STARTED RALLY

Ken Harrelson, who homered in each game for Kansas City, opened the ninth with a walk and when John Blanchard singled, the A's had runner at first and second with none out. Sullivan fingered his slingshot.

A sacrifice moved the runners up a notch but then Al Worthington fanned Nelson Mathews. Sullivan aimed.

Tom Reynolds, a .208 hitter, was A's last hope. The young outoutfielder lined a double off Sandy Valdespino's glove in left field, scoring Harrelson and Blanchard with the tying and winning runs. Pop went the slingshot.

The split kept Minnesota's lead at five games with Cleveland moving into second place with a 6-3 victory over Boston. Baltimore slipped to fourth by dropping a 5-4 10-inning decision to Detroit. Chicago defeated Los Angeles 5-2 and New York nipped Washington 2-1 in 12 innings.

Until Sullivan started shooting up the place, Tony Oliva was the hero of the night for Minnesota. The defending batting champion belted two home runs in the first game and drove in both Twin runs in the nightcap.

CLUTCH SINGLES

Fred Whitfield tagged a three-run homer and Joe Azcue and Pedro Gonzalez delivered clutch singles as the Indians ended their six-game losing streak.

Azcue's bases-loaded single broke a 3-3 tie in the sixth and then Gonzalez followed with a two-run single that wrapped it up for Cleveland.

Chicago's three-run eight inning beat the Angels with Dave Nicholson's two-run triple the big hit. Don Buford had a homer with one on for Chicago.

Oldest Players Ousted in National Tourney

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The "kids" had the 40th National Public Links Golf Tournament all to themselves today for the grinding 36-hole semifinal over North Park golf course's 6,781 yards of man-killing hills.

Pairings for the two matches had Leo Zampedro, 24-year-old Warren, Ohio, fireman, meeting Al Bailey, 19-year-old State College of Iowa student, and Arne Dokka, 21-year-old Far West intercollegiate champ, playing Jim Schroder, 21-year-old San Francisco marketing student who is making his first appearance in a national tournament.

Winners of today's matches will meet in a 36-hole finale Saturday for the James D. Standish Cup and exemption from qualifying for the National Amateur later this summer.

Zampedro made it to the semifinals Thursday by defeating Wendell Kop, 30 - year - old Hawaiian telephone company engineer, 2 and 1. Zampedro had defeated medalist Stan Popkoski, 43 - year - old Pittsburgh real estate man, in the morning.

AMATEUR CHAMP

Bailey, current Cedar Rapids and Mason City, Iowa, amateur champ, eliminated Art Roney, 47-year-old Pittsburgh truck driver, 3 and 2.

Schroder, whose father is the San Francisco city accountant, disposed of Rafus Grier of Dayton, Ohio, 5 and 4. He had eliminated defending champ Billy McDonald of Topeka, Kan., 2 and 1 in the third round.

Third Round

Leo Zampedro, Warren, Ohio defeated Stanley Pooloski, Pittsburgh, 3 and 4.
Alan Jon Bailey, Cedar Rapids, Iowa, defeated Richard E. Heyl, Falls Church Va., 6 and 5.
Wendell Kop, Hawaii, defeated Dennis Ewing, Dallas, Tex., 3 and 1.

STILL CONTENDING — Angelo Lotti (dark shirt) of Birmingham Country Club and Tony Lopucki of Washtenaw started their first round of the 20th Birmingham Invitational with a 1-up victory over Ted Panaretos and John Callahan, but it took a great rally, four birdies on the last five holes to do it. Lotti and Lopucki were runners-up last year in the tournament.

First Round Upsets in Birmingham Meet

By BRUNO I. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

The 20th annual Birmingham Invitational golf tournament has turned into a cat and mouse affair.

The only difference is that some of the favored cats are being chased by the underdog mice as the second round of the match play event started today.

* * *

When the first round began there were six top GAM honor players plus some low handicap golfers among the contenders.

The top name on the GAM list Bud Stevens and Elmer Ellstrom rallied to defeat Fred Ewald, another member of the honor roll and Len Jarosz 4-2.

Two down at the time, Stevens proceeded to birdie four straight holes, six through nine, and Ellstrom then birdied the 10th to go three up. Stevens was six under par for the day.

Big Tom Draper, however, was a loser for the second straight week in the opening round of invitational play, despite the efforts of his partner Harry Hyvonen who had three birdies and an eagle for a 69 on his own ball.

They lost 2 and 1 to George Springer and Dr. John Sigler of Birmingham.

HONOR PLAYERS

Another honor roll player Chuck Kocsis of Red Run and partner Floyd Burdette, were 3 and 2 winners over brothers Jim and Bill Stephenson, while Jim Smith, also on the GAM list, and Len Trotta won over club players Dave Paul and Chuck Granader 1-up.

Kocsis-Burdette and Smith-Trotta go against each other today.

* * *

Another upset was the 4 and 3 defeat of Mike Andonian and Jack Andrews to Chuck Byrne and Jim Brisson.

Last year's runners-up Angelo Lotti and Tony Lopucki scored a 1-up triumph over Ted Panaretos and John Callahan when Lopucki proceeded to birdie four of the last five holes.

Rollie Weyand and Harry Nederlander whipped John Panelli and Frank Broad 5-4 and last week's Forest Lake champ George Linklater and Don Dawson defeated Tom Lowery and Earl Burt, 3-2 with the winners going against each other today.

Defending Champion Sets Pace in Yankee Tourney

GRAND BLANC (AP) — Defending champion Ruth Jessen set the pace for the 2nd annual Yankee Women's Open Golf Tournament by firing a one-under-par 71 in the pro-am warmup Thursday.

Miss Jessen of Bonsall, Calif., took a 35 on the first nine holes and then bogied the last two holes of the back nine for 37.

* * *

The $15,000 tournament opened with the first of three rounds of medal play today. The winner will get $2,250.

Thirty-six pros and 12 amateurs entered the competition at Atlas Valley Country Club.

SECOND BEST

Sandra Spuzich, professional golfer from Indianapolis, carded a 35-37—72 for Thursday's second-best score in the $1,500 pro-am.

She was followed by women's U. S. Open champion Carol Mann of Towson, Md., with 37-36—73.

* * *

Kathy Whitworth of San Antonio, Tex., also fired a 73.

Four pros were bunched at 74 in the pro-am. They were Gloria Armstrong of Alameda, Calif.; Patty Berg of West Chicago, Ill.; Susie Maxwell of Tulsa, Okla., and Marilynn Smith of Runaway Bay, Jamaica.

FIRST BIRDIE

Tourney officials picked the winning pro-am team on the basis of which one got the first birdie, after four teams tied for first place with each going the distance in 61 strokes. Each team included a professional and an amateur woman player and two men amateurs.

* * *

Pro Sandra Palmer of Fort Worth, amateur Nadine Van Harn of Flint, and Bert Hendrickson and Al Blockmon, both of Grand Blanc, won the pro-am trophy.

Pair of Golf Veterans Have Youthful Foes

JACKSON (AP) — Veterans Mrs. Keith LeClair and Mrs. Herbert Zoerhoff met youthful Sharon Miller and Patti Shook in semifinals of the Women's State Golf Tournament today.

* * *

Miss Shook, 22, of Saginaw birdied four of the last eight holes and finished with a record-setting, 4-under-par 70 Thursday.

She birdied the 12th, 13th, 16th and 17th holes in defeating Joyce Kazmierski of Grosse Ile, 2 and 1, on the Country Club of Jackson course.

* * *

Miss Shook was paired today with Mrs. Zoerhoff, 27, of Grand Rapids, who eliminated Janice Elias of Grand Rapids, 4 and 2.

Miss Miller, 24-year-old defending champion from Battle Creek, defeated Barbara Rohn of Ludington, 4 and 3.

The 33-year-old Mrs. LeClair, Ann Arbor golfer who has won the tournament twice, defeated Sharon Wilder of Grand Rapids, 2 up.

Fair Point Leader at Flat Rock Oval

The top 24 drivers in the Flat Rock Speedway late model point standings will battle it out for the mid-season championship on the quarter-mile paved oval Saturday night.

Joy Fair of Pontiac, the current point leader, set a new track record of 14.02 seconds—an average of 64 miles per hour —in qualifying last Saturday night. If he can come close to that he should win the pole position for the start of the lucrative 50-lap mid-season feature.

In this event, the fastest qualifying car starts on the pole while in regular races the fastest car starts in 12th spot.

U.S. Davis Cup Captain Disciplines Young Netter

CHICAGO (AP) — George MacCall's tough disciplinarian role as non-playing captain of the U.S. Davis Cup squad made the National Clay Courts Tournament the backdrop today for a rebellion by America's premier tennis family.

MacCall, who earlier this year benched the nation's top ranked player, Dennis Ralston, Thursday ruled potential No. 2 Davis Cupper, 18-year-old Cliff Richey, out of the pending American zone showdown with Mexico.

MacCall, from Los Angeles, made his drastic stand against the up-and-coming Richey at the River Forest Tennis Club, just 24 hours before his planned announcement of his Cup line-up today.

* * *

MacCall, who came here to view America's top talent in the Clay Court show, admitted he considered Richey for the No. 2 singles spot behind Ralston.

REACH IMPASSE

But he ran into an impasse when he suggested that Cliff's father, George Richey, a Dallas teaching tennis pro, fade into the background during preparation for the Cup tangle with Mexico at Dallas, beginning July 31.

* * *

The whole Richey family, including Cliff's sister, Nancy, 22, nationally top-ranked women's player as well as his parents, said in effect that papa knows best and should stick to his close supervision of the brilliant young player.

* * *

Even while MacCall was scratching Richey from his Davis Cup list, Nancy was named to the Wightman Cup squad for the fourth time.

* * *

Nancy is defending champion in the women's phase of the Clay Courts meet which ends Sunday. Cliff hopes to join his sister in a family sweep to match their title triumphs in the Western Open at Milwaukee last weekend.

QUARTER-FINALS

Nothing, however, is going to keep young Richey from trying to win the Clay Court title. He meets rugged Ron Holmberg today in quarter-final play.

* * *

While Cliff tries to beat Holmberg today, sister Nancy, meets Roberta Alison of Alexander City, Ala. Miss Richey is trying for her third straight crown.

* * *

Also playing a women's quarter-final match will be Stephanie DeFina of Hollywood, Fla., and Nancy Reed of Gaithersburg, Md.

Dodgers Stay Close

Joe Nuxhall Boosts Reds

By the Associated Press

Put Sandy Koufax and Don Drysdale together, and they barely come out ahead of Joe Nuxhall.

But Nuxhall has the Cincinnati Reds in first place in the National League, and the best Koufax and Drysdale can do for the Los Angeles Dodgers is second.

Nuxhall kept the Reds three percentage points ahead of the Dodgers Thursday night, stopping Philadelphia 3-1 on eight hits. Drysdale, meanwhile, pitched a three-hitter as Los Angeles whipped the Chicago Cubs 5-0.

The triumph for Nuxhall was his fifth straight, all having come in Cincinnati's last eight victories, or since June 29. In the same period, Drysdale and Koufax, who own 29 triumphs between them overall, have combined for six of the Dodgers' eight victories.

The streak of the left-handed Nuxhall, who will be 37 in two weeks, started in a 7-5 decision over Pittsburgh, June 29.

COMPLETE GAME

Then, after pitching his first complete game of the season against Philadelphia July 4, he came back in relief against the Dodgers three days later and helped the Reds into first place. His fourth consecutive victory came in a start against Milwaukee July 10.

While going the distance against the Phillies for the second time in less than two weeks, Nuxhall, now 6-2 gave up only a home run to Dick Stuart in the fourth inning.

In other NL games, Milwaukee outlasted Pittsburgh 8-6 and St. Louis edged New York 6-5.

In the American League, Minnesota mauled Kansas City 11-3 before losing 3-2, Cleveland defeated Boston 6-3, Detroit nipped Baltimore 5-4, in 10 innings, Chicago downed Los Angeles 5-2 and New York edged Washington 2-1 in 12.

Nuxhall helped himself by doubling home a run and scoring in the sixth inning. Tommy Harper drove in two runs for the Reds while Vada Pinson and Leo Cardenas each collected three hits.

FOURTH SHUTOUT

Drysdale brought his record to 14-8 while winning his third straight and recording his fourth shutout. He also singled across two runs in the fifth inning when the Dodgers scored all of their runs. Maury Wills singled in another run and stole his 56th base.

The Braves jumped to a 9-0 lead after four innings, but it took clutch relief pitching by Dan Osinski to snuff out a Pittsburgh rally in the sixth. Osinski struck out Andre Rodgers for the final out after the Pirates had erupted for five runs, two on Jim Pagliaroni's single.

* * *

Gene Oliver and Rico Carty each singled in a pair of runs for the Braves while Ed Mathews drove in two with his 17th homer.

Dick Groat's third hit, a seventh-inning double, drove in two runs and lifted St. Louis past New York. The hit climaxed a comeback that wiped out a 5-0 lead the Mets built mainly on two-run homers by Ed Kranepool and Charley Smith.

Defeat for State Netter

CHICAGO (AP)—Charles Derley of Rochester, Minn., and Steve Wilkinson of Iowa City, Iowa, defeated Karl Hedrick of Ann Arbor, Mich., and Tony Lieberman of Philadelphia, 4-6, 6-4, 7-5, in Thursday's third round doubles play in the National Clay Courts Tennis Championships.

6 Collegians Pacing Field in Trans-Miss

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Six collegians made today's quarter-final round of the Trans-Mississippi Amateur Golf Tournament look like a youth movement.

But the man who shot the best golf to get there was Dick Norville, 37-year-old oilman and tournament veteran from Oklahoma City.

* * *

He had four straight birdies, a par, an eagle and another birdie and was six under par Thursday for the 13 holes it took him to dispose of Roger Brown of Arkansas City, Kan.

* * *

The other "post graduate" contender is Jim Colbert, 24-year-old Kansas City insurance man who won the Kansas State Amateur Tournament this year and was Missouri champion in 1964.

Norville's rival today was Jim Wiechers of Menlo Park, Calif., and Santa Clara College. Colbert drew Dennis Elkins of Albuquerque and the University of New Mexico.

* * *

The other two matches involve a square-off between Oklahoma State University and Arizona State. George Boutell of Phoenix was paired against Bob Dickson of Muskogee, Okla., and Joe Porter III of Phoenix opposed Jim Hardy, another Oklahoma State golfer from Hutchinson, Kan.

The winners play 36 holes Saturday and the 36-hole final is Sunday.

Talbott Wins, 3-1

Upset in 'A' League

Huron-Airway's title hopes were dampened a little last night as the team dropped a 3-1 decision to cellar-dwelling Talbott Lumber in city Class A baseball action.

* * *

The loss knocked the defending champion H-A squad (8-5) into third place in the league race, a game and a half behind the leader, Pontiac Business Institute (9-3).

Talbott hurler Clark Rouse scattered six hits and kept the H-A hitters well under control. H-A nicked him for its only run in the second inning when Mike Marcum walked with the bases loaded.

The winners pushed across two runs in the opening inning on two hits and a walk.

First baseman Dick Miller knocked in one of the runs with a single and the other came home on an error.

Talbott picked up its final marker in the fifth when Mike Miller walked, stole second and scampered home on Rouse's single, his second hit of the game.

Miami's Entry for AFL Still Being Weighed

MIAMI (UPI) — If the American Football League likes the terms of an offer for leasing the Orange Bowl for the next 10 years, Miami may wind up with an AFL team in 1966.

* * *

The city commission, which operates the stadium, voted unanimously Thursday night to make the offer to AFL Commissioner Joe Foss, who came here last month to discuss with Mayor Robert King and other high officials a lease arrangement.

* * *

The lease terms were described then as the only real hurdle to a franchise for Miami.

* * *

Milt Woodard, an assistant to Foss, said in New York after hearing terms of the commission's offer that the AFL Executive Committee would now take up the question of a team for Miami, "and probably will be favorable since this was negotiated by our subcommittee on expansion."

League Race Still Close

One-Hitter in City AL Softball Loop

Spencer Floors rode the one-hit pitching of Floyd Hicks to a 9-0 victory last night over Town & Country in Pontiac American League softball action.

In a second AL game, league-leading 300 Bowl (13-2) gained a forfeit victory over Elks No. 810 (4-11).

The victory for Spencer (12-3) kept the team a game behind 300 Bowl in the race for the league championship. Town & Country owns a 1-14 record.

Spencer pushed across two runs in the first, added two more in the second and ran the count to 9-0 with five in the fifth.

* * *

Bill Hayward led the Spencer attack with a pair of singles and drove in two runs.

LONE HIT

Pete Landino's single in the third inning was the lone hit off Hicks.

* * *

In Waterford Township action, Dixie Bar (8-7) was awarded a forfeit decision over Midget Bar (4-11) and Richardson Dairy (14-1) scored three runs in the 10th inning to pin a 5-2 setback on Huron Bowl (6-9).

* * *

A bat-throwing incident led to the forfeit win for Dixie Bar.

Trailing 13-5 going into the seventh, Midget Bar scored eight runs to tie the game, but with two out, a Midget player tossed a bat after an umpire's call and the player was ejected.

Midget had no one to fill the position and under league rules the team must have a full lineup, so the game went into the book as a forfeit.

Pitcher Jerry Thomas doubled home the tying run in the seventh inning and scored the winning run in the 10th inning for Richardson Dairy.

* * *

Deadlocked at 2-2, Thomas led off with a walk, moved to second on another walk and scored on a single by Chuck Young for the lead run.

Two more runs came in on two throwing errors by Huron Bowl.

Eight Players in Putt-Putt Semifinal Field

Eight players moved into today's semifinal round of The Pontiac Press Carriers' Putt-Putt tournament at the Putt-Putt course on Dixie Highway in Drayton Plains.

* * *

Two of the eight golfers will fall by the wayside today and the other six will battle in the finals tomorow at 2 p.m.

Leading the field today was Tom Schraw with a 108-hole score of 224, six strokes ahead of Tom Brown (230).

* * *

Others in the field were defending champion Gene Bauer (232), Steve VanRoekel (233), Jeff Rattledge (233), Brad Ginter (233), Mike Biallas (234) and Randy Reith (237).

The British Know How to Break-In a Pipe. So Do We

1. Before you smoke your pipe for the first time, use your finger to moisten the bowl inside with a little water, or with a solution of honey and water.

2. Fill the bowl ½ to ¾ full with tobacco while the bowl is still moist. Fill every second pipeful to the top in the beginning. Smoke every pipeful all the way to the bottom of the bowl. The tobacco should be packed firmly but never too tightly.

3. Light your pipe to insure even burning of the tobacco by applying the flame evenly over the entire surface of the tobacco, after all sulphur has been burned off the match, if you use one. As the tobacco catches fire it will rise and should be tamped down. Re-light it and tamp it back several times until your pipe is thoroughly lighted. Avoid scorching the rim. Always smoke your pipe slowly and wait until it is cold before lighting it again. Rotate your pipes.

'65 Hunting Decision Is Due Today

TRAVERSE CITY (AP) — Michigan's 1965 hunting regulations take final shape today, with the State Conservation Commission deciding on such proposals as a wild turkey season and a bear-hunting ban in Lower Michigan.

The seven-member commission heard recommendations Thursday from Conservation Department game experts.

*

After years of criticism for allowing too much killing of antlerless deer, the commission heard criticism for not enough doe shooting.

* * *

Sterling Nickerson of Kingsley, who said he owns most of 3,300-acre South Fox Island in Lake Michigan, said a growing deer population threatened deer starvation and forage damage unless some does are shot.

* * *

H. D. Ruhl, chief of the department's game section, said antlerless deer hunting is allowed only after damage exists.

MOVING SOUTH

Extension of antlerless deer hunting areas to cover parts of Allegan, Montcalm, Clinton, Gratiot, Saginaw and Ingham counties is one of the recommendations before the commission.

* * *

Legislation passed this spring allows the first wild turkey season since pioneer days and the first quail season since 1911.

* * *

Department game men recommend a Nov. 6-14 turkey season with 400 permits in Allegan County and a Nov. 11-15 quail season in St. Joseph, Branch, Hillsdale, Lenawee, Monroe, Wayne, Washtenaw, Jackson, Calhoun, Kalamazoo, Eaton, Ingham, Macomb and St. Clair counties.

Oakland County is expected to be added to the quail hunting list.

They also recommended another elk season. Michigan last year permitted the first elk season east of the Mississippi since before the turn of the century. The season would be Dec. 8-16, with all of last year's 300 licensees ineligible to try again.

* * *

Reason for the proposed two-year ban on bear hunting in Lower Michigan is what the department considers a seriously low bear population. The recommendation would leave the Upper Peninsula bear season unchanged.

Field Behind Aussie in Canadian Open

TORONTO (AP) — It was more like a sick bay than a golf tournament as the field was cut to 74 from 144 in the $100,000 Canadian Open Golf Championship Thursday.

The survivors, who managed to shoot two-round scores of 146 or better, started out today in pursuit of an ailing Australian.

* * *

Bruce Devlin, now playing out of Hilton Head Island, S.C., teed off Thursday with a sore left shoulder, the remnants of a throat infection that bothered him in last week's British Open, and varicose veins.

* * *

He shot a four-under-par 31 on the front nine, the lowest nine-hole score he's had in his four-year professional career, and followed it up with a par 35 on the back nine for a 66 and the second-round lead with a 134.

ONE BEHIND

One stroke back was Jack Nicklaus of Columbus, Ohio, who had a red-hot 66 to go with a first-round 69 for 135. Joe Campbell, of Peridido, Fla., the first-round leader with a 66 Wednesday, shot a 70 to stay within two strokes of the lead with a 136.

Devlin, 27, said his shoulder pained him three times in the first round but he was unable to find a doctor to examine it Wednesday night and simply rested it.

The soreness disappeared during the second round.

Devlin wears knee-high elastic socks both on and off the course because of varicose veins and plans to have them examined in Houston in August.

The Australian ace, who has earned $52,545.28 on the tour without scorig a victory in 19 starts this season, wasn't over par once, had four birdies and capped his round with a fine recovery shot on the 18th hole.

On that one, a blind approach shot left him up against a tree 40 feet from the pin. But he pulled out his putter, knocked the ball within one foot of the hole and one-putted for a par 4.

Dorsett Catalina

A sturdy hull, the prettiest lines of any craft around, and a snug cabin to shelter you from the rains! What more does a fun-loving weekend sailor need for exploring the waterways? The Catalina is as much as you can find on a 16 foot hull. Two people can sleep in the cabin and there's extra sleeping room out on the spacious cockpit deck for those who like to camp out for the night. Choose a Johnson outboard to move you around with speed, safety and comfort. More fun than a frisky tiger kitten!

TEEING OFF

By FLETCHER SPEARS

If anyone suggests to you that men and women are equal, ask 'em then why can't Mickey Wright hit that little golf ball as far as Jack Nicklaus.

Mickey Wright, as the golfing set will tell you, is the Arnold Palmer or Jack Nicklaus of the Women's Professional Golf Association.

Jack Nicklaus, you'll recall, is that burly Ohio youngster who's won about everything there is to win for a male professional golfer.

It's true that Mickey can't hit the ball as far as Jack, but then it's also true that Mickey is a lot prettier than Jack.

And Miss Wright's face is one of those that was missing as the first round of the Yankee Women's Golf Open started this morning at Atlas Valley Country Club near Grand Blanc. Mickey's retiring from the tour.

But there are a number of other names in the field that the golfing fan should recognize — Ruth Jessen, maybe, the defending champion; Kathy Whitworth; Carol Mann, who won the U.S.G.A. Open a week back; or Marlene Hagge or Sandra Hayne or Clifford Ann Creed.

NO CHANCE

At present the LPGA wouldn't stand much of a chance in a popularity contest with the PGA, but the gals are gaining.

An area which the ladies would like to equalize a bit is the prize money, where there exists a big dollar difference.

Some progress was noted in the money area recently when television gave the gals some video time in the U.S.G.A. Open at Atlantic City Country Club in New Jersey.

ON THE FAIRWAYS

Pontiac has a few golfers who may gain a big share of the headlines in years to come.

One of the best of the young set at present is 15-year-old Gary Balliet who led the Jaycee sectional qualifiers yesterday at Pontiac Country Club with a par 72.

Another is Rod Skelton, also 15, of Waterford, who also played in the Jaycee tournament. And a couple of others — Joe Kopeikin and Rick Hurd, both of Waterford.

North Illinois to Withdraw From League

DEKALB, Ill. (AP) — Northern Illinois University is withdrawing from the Interstate Intercollegiate Athletic Conference IIAC because of plans to expand its athletic program.

"In light of the new grants-in-aid programs at Northern we feel we should withdraw from the conference no later than June 1966," Dr. Fred Rolf, athletic board chairman said today.

* * *

He said the other IIAC schools —Illinois State, Western Illinois, Central Illinois and Central Michigan — have been notified. Conference rules require a year's notice on withdrawals.

There have been rumors that Northern plans to step up in class by applying for admission to the Mid-America Conference. That conference includes Miami of Ohio, Ohio University, Marshall, Kent State, Bowling Green, Western Michigan and Toledo.

Balliet Paces Qualifiers in Jaycee Sectional Golf

Fifteen-year-old Gary Balliet of Pontiac fired an even par 72 yesterday to pace the qualifiers in the Jaycee sectional golf tournament at Pontiac Country Club.

Four players in the field qualified for the state tourney which is scheduled for July 26 and 27 at Benton Harbor.

Making the trip along with Balliet will be Rod Skelton and Joe Kopeikin of Waterford and John Grace of Grosse Pointe Shores.

Grace and Kopeikin qualified in the age 16-17 division and Balliet and Skelton led the 14- to 15-age group.

* * *

The husky Balliet and Skelton had an easy time in the 14- to 15-age class.

BEST-BALL TITLE

Balliet, who teamed with his father, Tom, recently in winning the Pontiac Best-Ball championship, toured the 6,305-yard course in 36-36—72, picking up a pair of birdies and a couple of bogies.

* * *

Skelton had trouble on the front side, shooting a 40, but he came back with a one-under 35 on the back nine, a round that included an eagle-2 on the 310-yard, par-4 13th hole.

Gaining a berth in the state play was a little more difficult for Grace and Kopeikin, who carded 73s and wound up in a tie with Rick Hurd of Waterford.

In a playoff, Grace birdied the first hole to win one of the berths and Kopeikin and Hurd continued until the seventh hole before a double bogey knocked Hurd out of the tourney.

Winner of the state tournament at Benton Harbor will advance to the finals in Houston, Tex., in August.

Spahn Takes Lone Long Walk to Locker

NEW YORK (UPI) — Warren Spahn arrived alone at the ball park shortly after noon.

He planned it that way purposely.

* * *

It's hard saying good-bye even to fellows you've only known six months.

The team bus had left the park at 10:45 a.m. and taken the Mets' players to the airport where they boarded a plane for St. Louis.

Spahn parked his white, four-door sedan in an area outside the park reserved for the players, turned off the ignition and walked toward the main entrance of Shea Stadium, which was deserted now except for a few club employees.

The 44-year-old left-hander, given his release on Wednesday, opened the glass door at the entrance, cheerfully greeted attendant Teddy Decker, made a left turn and headed for the empty Mets' clubhouse.

Once he was inside, Spahnie immediately began cleaning out his locker.

Four pair of spiked shoes . . . two rather battered, brown baseball gloves . . . and some other personal belongings.

"I didn't especially want to do this while the guys were here," said the man who has won 366 games during his major league lifetime.

ONE CALL

"I called Roy McMillan to say good-bye Wednesday night and I'm sure I'll see the rest of them along the way somewhere. This isn't exactly new to me. Emptying out my locker, I mean. I've done this sort of thing before, but generally at the end of the season," he added.

It was now nearly 24 hours after his release and Spahn said some of the shock had worn off. Not entirely, though.

"When this thing first happened I was quite put out about it. But you adjust. I slept okay Wednesday night. I might talk baseball in my sleep sometimes but I don't toss and turn. I don't think so anyway.

"The only thing I feel badly about are some of the innuendoes I've heard and read. Like I didn't get along with Casey (Stengel), which was absolutely untrue. And like there were cliques in the clubhouse and I was the ringleader. Also untrue.

Ron Clarke Competes in 5,000-Meter Run

PARIS (UPI) — Ron Clarke will continue his assault on the track record books tonight when he tries to become the first man to run 5,000 meters in less than 13 minutes.

Before Clarke left on his current tour of the United States and Europe, he set his goal on smashing four mythical distance barriers.

barriers.

The 13-minute barrier for 5,000 meters is the most difficult he aimed for, but the other three have all fallen before the powerful Australian.

* * *

Clarke set a world record of 13:00.4 for three miles at Compton, Calif., on June 5 on his way to a 5,000-meter record of 13:25.8.

He then broke the 13-minute barrier for three miles with a 12:52.8 clocking at London Saturday night.

AAU-NCAA Battle Heads for Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — A war which even a general couldn't solve is now headed for a Senate hearing room.

Sen. Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., said Thursday his Senate Commerce Committee plans a look into the long-standing jurisdictional dispute between the Amateur Athletic Union (AAU) and the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA).

* * *

The late Gen. Douglas MacArthur once served as a middleman between the two athletic groups. He brought peace, but it was only temporary.

Magnuson's decision to conduct hearings — he set no date — on the matter brought favorable reaction from spokesmen for both organizations.

NCAA Rules Against Shot Putter's Entry

HOUSTON (AP)—Randy Matson, world shot put record holder, said Wednesday the AAU-sanctioned Wichita Track and Field Meet is definitely off limits to him.

Matson was hoping the NCAA would make an exception in his case since he needed the practice before he competed against the Russians July 31-Aug. 1.

Tigers' High Choice Gets Contract for '66

DETROIT (UPI) — Right-handed pitcher Nick Ross, 19, Inkster, has signed a 1966 contract with the Jamestown club of the New York-Pennsylvania League in the Detroit Tiger organization.

"How Long Is It Since You Were Happy About The Service Work On Your Car?"

Much too long if what most people tell me is true. And I believe it is. Every day, folks who have read our ads, come in and ask if I really mean what I say about giving you better service workmanship, materials and at fair prices.

They tell me that every service job they've had lately has been worse than the one before. That's why we're determined to deliver better service on every job no matter what the make or model car. The reason is quite simple. That's the one thing, above all else, that brings people back when they're ready for another car, new or used.

And that's the only sure-fire way to build a business like this. And that's exactly what I mean to do with better service for everyone, every time.

Yank Escapes Cong Captivity

'Special Forces GI Prisoner 20 Months

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. Army Sgt. Isaac Camacho of El Paso, Tex., a Special Forces soldier, has escaped to safety after 20 months as a captive of the Viet Cong, a military spokesman announced today.

Camacho was the first American known to have escaped Viet Cong captivity. Thirteen other U.S. servicemen are still held by the Viet Cong, the spokesman said.

★ ★ ★

Camacho was taken prisoner Nov. 24, 1963, when several hundred Viet Cong overran a U.S. Army Special Forces camp at Hiet Hoa, in Hau Nghia province about 25 miles northwest of Saigon. He was last seen leaving a sugar cane field and running down a dirt road.

The spokesman said Camacho reappeared Tuesday and was apparently in good condition. The spokesman refused to give details of the escape, saying such information might harm other U.S. prisoners held by the Viet Cong.

★ ★ ★

He said Camacho was no longer in South Viet Nam but refused to say where he had been taken. He said he was still undergoing a medical examination.

Until Camacho returned, U.S. military authorities had no knowledge of his whereabouts or whether he was dead or alive, the spokesman said.

Detroiter Brownell to Quit Post in '66

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit Board of Education today was faced with the task of finding a school superintendent to replace Samuel Brownell after August, 1966.

★ ★ ★

Brownell announced Thursday he would not renew his contract with the school system when it expires next summer. He told the board of education in 1956 when he was hired that he thought 10 years in a school system is enough for any superintendent.

Adolph Engler, president of the association, said the public is invited to attend the show and see some of the finest Holstein cattle in this part of the state.

Police Warn Trucks Driving in Oxford

OXFORD—Village Police have been instructed to start "getting tough" with operators of gravel trucks which cause excessive noise and smoke in the village.

Village Manager Robert W. Smalley said the village council has received innumerable complaints about the noise and smoke of gravel trucks as they come through town from mining operations north of the village.

The council has instructed police to stop flagrant violators and ticket them for excessive noise and smoke.

They may also be ticketed if they drop any of their load on the pavement, Smalley said.

Break-In at Tavern Nets About $3,000

LAKE ORION — About $3,000 was taken from Barney's Tavern, 36 W. Flint, in an early morning robbery today.

Police said someone broke in through the front door between 3:15 and 5:30 a.m. and ripped off the bottom of the safe.

The exact amount taken has not been determined.

Plan Program of Swimming

WIXOM — The city council voted Tuesday night to try a swimming instruction program for children of the city for two weeks, possibly at Totem Pole Day Camp. The date for the program has not been set.

The contract for garbage pickup was awarded to the B. M. Robinson Co. of Birmingham, which submitted the lowest bid.

In other business, the council authorized Mayor Wesley McAtee to enter into a contract with the department of economic expansion for planning services in updating the central business district plan.

Tax Levy Is Same as 1964 in Dublin

WHITE LAKE TOWNSHIP — The Dublin Board of Education has approved a tax levy of 28 mills, the same as last year. The total includes 22.7 mills for operating expenses and 3.3 mills for debt retirement.

The board also decided to hire a reading consultant for the coming school year.

New furniture for the Dublin school was approved. Planned are 256 new student desks and eight teacher desks.

S. Lyon School Board Reelects Its Officers

SOUTH LYON—Members of the board of education named the present officers, who were reelected to the board in the June 14 election, to another term.

Continuing as president will be Wilford W. Heidt. Other officers reelected are Mrs. Vane Chenoweth, secretary; and Alfred B. Ueker, treasurer.

EXPERIMENT TIME — Billy Peternel, a 13-month-old Pittsburgh lad, was experimenting with a water sprinkler recently and got a squirt of water smack in his left eye. He blinked, apparently concerned and wondering just what happened.

Area Firm Gets School Pact

NOVI — The board of education has awarded a contract to O'Dell, Hewlett and Luckenback Associates of Birmingham, architects, for completion of the addition to the Novi Secondary School.

The addition is expected to be finished sometime in the fall of 1966.

This is the final stage in the two-stage building program of the district to construct the school to house grades seven through twelve. It presently has facilities for grades seven through nine.

Grade 10 will be added a year from this fall with the completion of the addition. These students will constitute the first graduating class three years later.

The Novi Secondary School building originally opened in September 1964.

The board has accepted the bid of National Bank of Detroit for a state aid loan of $55,000. The interest rate to be charged is 2.18 per cent.

Club Women Set Barbecue for Meeting

TROY — The first meeting of the season for the Troy Business and Professional Women's Club will be a western round-up and barbecue at the home of Mrs. Andrew Lang, 934 Harris, at 6 p.m. Wednesday.

Entertainment will include square dances by the "Dudes and Dolls" of Royal Oak, a mystery trick rope artist, a sing-a-long and music by guitarist Wilma Baker of Troy.

Prizes will be given for the prettiest and funniest western costumes.

Members of District 10 of the BPW will be guests. All business and professional women in the area are invited to attend.

Reservations must be made by Monday by calling Mrs. Lang, Mrs. Ross Cowsert or Mrs. Alfred M. Neill.

Romeo School Board Reelects Officers

ROMEO — Incumbent officers have been reelected by the board of education.

Walter W. Sewell was reelected president; Mrs. Ruby K. Wills, secretary; and Raymond W. Wilson, treasurer.

The board will continue to meet the second Monday of each month.

Discuss Idea of Forming C. of C. in Union Lake

UNION LAKE — About 20 business and professional people met at Clifford Smart Junior High School in Walled Lake last night in an attempt to form a Union Lake Chamber of Commerce.

"In a way they seemed reluctant to form a chamber," said William Ridenour, president of the Union Lake Junior Chamber, "but there seemed to be a lot of response to the idea."

He explained, "They felt a citizens coordinating committee first should be established to get various groups in the area interested in joining a chamber of commerce."

They hesitated to call it the Union Lake Chamber of Commerce because there had been some trouble in the past when there was talk of incorporating the area, Ridenour said.

* * *

Therefore, the coordinating committee idea was suggested. They believed this procedure might get more response.

* * *

There are between 30 and 40 people out of a possible 160 who are now willing to join a chamber, according to Ridenour. He called this "a pretty good cross section."

The next meeting will probably be in September, he said.

Area Country Club Broken Into Today

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — The Twin Beach Country Club, 7625 Glascott, was broken into early this morning and an undetermined amount of liquor and money was taken.

According to police Sgt. Glenn Helgemo, the thieves broke a glass window on the side of the building to enter.

Vending machines were damaged and the lock broken off the liquor cabinet, police said. Cash was taken from a till behind the bar.

As they fled from the building when an alarm sounded, the thieves dropped whiskey, beer and cigarettes on the grounds, police said.

Strawberry Festival Scheduled Saturday

ADDISON TOWNSHIP—Township firemen will hold their 16th annual strawberry and ice cream festival from 2 to 8 p.m. tomorrow at the township fire hall in Leonard.

Proceeds will be used to buy new equipment to improve communications with rescue units. Chairman of the festival is Chief Elmer E. Powell.

MCC Position for State Man

ROCHESTER — Robert Miller of Battle Creek has been appointed field representative of Michigan Christian College.

Miller has worked for the college for several months on a part-time basis, planning and executing various youth rallies in Michigan.

The college will sponsor a city-wide rally in Chicago next summer in which more than 10,000 persons are expected to participate.

Wolverine Lake Stump Removal Will Begin Soon

WOLVERINE LAKE — The Village Council has awarded a contract for removal of stumps from the lake to Marine Divers of St. Clair Shores.

* * *

Work is expected to begin next week after certain corrections are made in the contract.

The village plans to lease five acres of property of the Huron Clinton Metropolitan Authority in the vicinity of Glengary and Benstein roads for recreational facilities for children of the village.

A weed-cutting program on lots in the village is slated to begin in August.

* * *

In other business, the council gave the Multi-Lakes Realty approval to construct a Shell gasoline station at Commerce and Oakley Park roads.

Romeo Men to Head Area Hospital Board

ALMONT — James H. Hough, 74240 Fisher, and Dr. John C. Nott, 130 Bradley, both of Romeo, were elected chairman and president respectively, of the board of trustees of Community Hospital recently.

James Wade, 7692 E. Bordman, and John Bartholomew, 187 Turner, Romeo, were chosen vice president and secretary. James D. Ligon, 5968 Sand Hill, was reelected treasurer.

Predicts High Farm Income

Freeman Says Future Bright for Agriculture

By United Press International

Net farm income in 1965 will be the highest it has been since 1953, according to Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman.

* * *

In a progress report to Congress, Freeman said prospects are bright for continued advancement of the rural economy during the last half of the 1960s. His remarks were prepared for the Senate Agriculture Committee.

Freeman said if present farm policies and programs continue, "We will by the end of this decade secure parity of income for the family farmer with adequate resources, parity of opportunity for those Americans who live in the countryside, and at the same time be able to provide more nutritious food to more people at less real cost throughout the nation."

Farmers are earning better incomes this year than at any time in the past 12 years, Freeman said, and American consumers proportionately are spending less of their income for food than ever before.

* * *

Freeman estimated net farm income this year would total almost $13.5 billion, highest since 1953.

OVER FORECAST

He said this is almost one-half billion dollars greater than previous forecasts and $1.8 billion more than net farm income in 1960.

Farm exports are holding at record levels and surplus stocks of farm commodities now are near necessary levels, Freeman said.

More than 40 million Americans are receiving a better diet through direct distribution of food, and the food stamp, school lunch and disaster feeding programs, he added.

* * *

Freeman said prospects for keeping the farm picture bright depend on the continuing stability of the nation's economy and on what Congress does to the President's food and agricultural proposals now being considered.

* * *

Freeman said he believes the legislation would increase farm income and that "by the end of the decade we will have agriculture's house in order."

There were 8,941 weekly newspapers in the nation last year compared with 8,151 in 1963. Weeklies are read by an estimated 24 million Americans.

LESLIE CARMEAN

2 County Students Go to Camp Seminar

Two Oakland County high school students are attending a young people's citizenship seminar this week at Camp Kett near Cadillac.

Leslie Carmean, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Carmean of 1701 Hadley, Brandon Township, and Paul Hoxsie, son of Mr. and Mrs. Llywellyn Hoxsie of 37 E. Washington, Clarkston, were chosen to attend the seminar by the citizenship committee of the county Farm Bureau.

Miss Carmean is a senior at Brandon High School and Hoxsie is a senior at Clarkston. Both plan to attend college after graduation.

They are being sponsored by the service clubs in their communities, the county Farm Bureau, local Farm Bureau groups and the Farm Bureau Women's Committee.

* * *

They will give reports on their seminar activities to their sponsors when they return.

SECOND SEMINAR

This is the second citizenship seminar to be held in Michigan.

Only one other state has such a program, which is designed to help students become better citizens, become better informed and more cognizant of their duties and responsibilities as citizens.

The program includes films, discussion groups and a mock county political convention in addition to planned recreation.

Board Plans Hearing on Rezoning Bid

BRANDON TOWNSHIP — The township zoning board will hold a public hearing July 29 to consider rezoning 27 acres of land near Bald Eagle Lake from agricultural to commercial.

The hearing was prompted by a request from Edward Masters of Clarkston, who wants the zoning change in order to build a ski lodge.

It is his third request. The last two were turned down by the zoning board.

Masters wants to build a modern ski lodge with a bar and a restaurant, four tow lines and a chair lift. He estimates cost of the project at $500,000.

Gerald Bandy, chairman of the zoning board, said the previous requests were denied because of opposition from residents who feel the lodge would bring heavy traffic and noise to the area, and because there is no primary road leading to the site.

New Officers Elected by Board of Education

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — The board of education ing elected new officers for the coming year.

They are Mrs. Axel Kjolhede, president; Kern Murphy, vice president; Mrs. Frances M. Leaf, secretary; and Don V. Somers, treasurer.

May Withhold Crop

Cherry Growers Call Rallies on Prices

TRAVERSE CITY (UPI) — The Cherry Growers Action Group has called two separate rallies for tonight in a last-ditch effort to enlist growers of red tart cherries in a withholding action.

Mrs. Betty Brey, a spokesman for the group, said pledges have been received from 296 growers to withhold an estimated 44.24 million pounds of cherries from the market. It was hoped that the figure would be greatly increased after the rallies tonight in Traverse City and Onekama, she said.

Mrs. Brey said there were signs to indicate the drive may be effective, even though only about a week remains before harvest time.

For one thing, she said, many buyers seem willing to pay more than the current 4.8 cents per pound for cherries if their competitors go along. For another, expressions of support have been received from growers throughout the state, she said.

But Paul Blumefeld, secretary of the organization, has estimated that between 75 and 100 million pounds of cherries must be kept off the market to boost the price up to six cents per pound, the break-even point for most growers.

ALMOST DOUBLE

That would mean almost doubling the pounds pledged in the next week.

Mrs. Brey, the sister and executive secretary to Paul Johnson of Empire, chairman of the group, promised that whatever happened the withholding campaign would be done in a "dignified" manner.

"We don't believe the whole cherry crop in Michigan is worth one life. We believe in reason and not violence," she said.

* * *

Rallies will be held at 8 tonight in the Traverse City Junior High School and at the Onekama High School. A similar rally was held yesterday evening at Acme.

* * *

Cherry growers have been hard hit by recent bumper crops that have left quantities of processed cherries still in stock. Two years ago, the federal government helped by buying up cherries for the school lunch program.

FOUND DEAD — Mrs. Eleanor Lindsay Schieffelin, 47, sister of Rep. John V. Lindsay, candidate for mayor of New York, was found dead in the swimming pool at her home in Laurel Hollow, N.Y., yesterday. Her son, John, 17, who found her body in the pool in the early morning, said she often took midnight swims. The death was tentatively ruled accidental.

Ex-Viet Leader Is Under Arrest

Sentenced to Death After Coup Attempts

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Usually reliable sources reported that Col. Pham Ngoc Thao, leader of two unsuccessful coup attempts and under sentence of death, was arrested in a Roman Catholic monastery near Saigon today.

Thao had been the object of an extensive manhunt. A military tribunal sentenced him to death in absentia on May 7.

* * *

The arrest was not confirmed by any official source. But reliable informants said government agents picked up Thao about sunrise as he was eating breakfast in the Phuoc San Monastery, in the Saigon suburb of Thu Duc.

Execution of Thao almost certainly would spark a major new Catholic upheaval. Thao is a Catholic, and most of the officers and civilians who worked with him in his coup attempts also are Catholics.

COUP LEADER

Thao was a top leader of attempted army coups on Sept. 13, 1964, and again on Feb. 19 against the government headed by Lt. Gen. Nguyne Khanh.

Both attempts failed, largely because of efforts by the current premier, Brig. Gen. Nguyen Cao Ky. Since the Feb. 19 attempt, in which Thao actually held Saigon for one day, he has been in hiding.

* * *

Thao apparently made no effort to leave Viet Nam or the Saigon area. He was seen in the streets occasionally and apparently was not worried about being found.

Thao, now 43, held important posts on both the Communist and anti-Communist sides. He joined the Communist-led Viet Minh during the war against France, serving at one time as commander of the Viet Minh's 181st regiment and later as commander of Viet Minh intelligence.

Says Mississippi Senator

'Don't Use Prison Labor'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. James O. Eastland has dismissed as "all bunk" allegations by a Negro farm worker that he operates his Mississippi plantation with paroled convicts.

* * *

And the chairman of the House Labor subcommittee which heard the testimony Thursday ordered it — and references to two other members of the Mississippi congressional delegation — stricken from the record.

* * *

The Negro worker, Andrew Hawkins, had told the subcommittee in a morning session that Eastland, Mississippi Democrat who heads the Senate Judiciary Committee, uses prisoners paroled from nearby penitentiaries to chop cotton on his delta farm.

Hawkins, 46, active until last month in trying to unionize delta field workers and truck drivers, said of Eastland: "He gets his labor through the parole boards."

BAD CONDITIONS?

Hawkins said conditions on Eastland's farm are so bad his workers operate stills on it, selling the moonshine to supplement their meager pay.

* * *

Earlier, Hawkins and the Mississippi Freedom Labor Union's vice president, Aaron German, 19, read statements telling of delta field workers getting 30 cents an hour for 10 hours a day and urging they be included in any broadening of federal minimum wage coverage.

Asked if "public officials" maintain those kind of farms, Hawkins named Eastland and two other Mississippi Democrats, Sen. John C. Stennis and Rep. John Bell Williams.

* * *

On their farms, he said, "conditions are the same, if not worse."

Eastland fired back an immediate disclaimer.

* * *

"It's all bunk, just bunk," he told reporters, adding he knew of no instance in which prison labor was used on his farm.

Rooney Riding High

'The Mick' Is Still Spry at 44

By JAMES BACON
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD — "Gosh, I've been happily married for seven years now. I wonder what's wrong?"

So says Mickey Rooney who has been in divorce court more times than a bailiff.

* * *

The Mick once said: "The only thing I regret about my life is the alimony."

But now he is so happy that he doesn't even regret the alimony anymore.

GOING STRONG

Rooney will be 45 on Sept. 23 but he's still Andy Hardy. His energy and enthusiasm are boundless. And so is his talent.

"I'm different now. Barbara and I have four lovely children. I love my family. I love my home. And we go to church every Sunday.

* * *

"I believe I have found true happiness."

As for his career, he's riding high. He just finished "How to Stuff a Wild Bikini," and he is joining with Eddie Fisher to bring "Paint Your Wagon" to the screen.

OWNS RIGHTS

Fisher owns the movie rights to the first of the Lerner-Loewe musical comedy hits.

"I'm also going to star in and direct a Broadway play, I get a book of my life coming out in the fall — and I haven't been in bankruptcy court for a couple of years now," Rooney said.

* * *

At that, he glanced at his watch.

His book should be something if he goes into his five marriages in any detail at all.

AVA GARDNER

His first wife was Ava Gardner. She was an unknown contract player at MGM, Mickey as Andy Hardy the biggest box office star on the lot.

The late Louis B. Mayer, then MGM boss, kind of put two strikes on that marriage. He sent a press agent along on the honeymoon to make sure that the studio's prize property was carefully shielded.

* * *

Rooney was 21, she 19. The marriage lasted eight months.

Then in 1944, after a week's courtship, Rooney married a girl who grew on him. He was in the Army at the time.

MISS BIRMINGHAM

She was Betty Jane Rase, the Miss Birmingham of 1944.

"Betty was only 16 when I met her. She seemed to be just the right size for me. Not long after the marriage I got sent overseas and Betty moved to my home in Beverly Hills.

* * *

"After two years, I came home and rang the doorbell. I looked straight ahead at the woman who answered the door but all I could see was the buckle of her dress.

"Then I bent my head back and my eyes traveled upwards to a pretty face. I said: 'Is Mrs. Rooney in?' She said: "I'm Mrs. Rooney.'

GROWN 6 INCHES

"She had grown six inches."

In fact, Mickey never had a wife he didn't look up to.

Martha Vickers, No. 3; Elaine Davis, No. 4 and Barbara all lower over Mickey — he's 5-feet-2. But Barbara is closer to his size than the others.

Not long ago, Rooney's son, Tim, now 18, came to court with his mother, Betty Jane, for approval of a television contract. At that time, he was nine inches taller than his dad.

"He practically looked into my belt buckle," said Tim.

Some Nations 'Beauty-Shy'

Miss Universe Entries Tell of Home Customs

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — In Italy, pretty girls are used to public attention and in Portugal, they are not. Yet beauties from these countries, and 70 more, are getting plenty of it here.

"My country is not so used to beauty contests," said raven-haired Maria do Carmo Paraise Snacho, Miss Portugal in the 1965 Miss Universe pageant. "Many are against girls making a show of themselves.

* * *

"It is against the nature of our women to make a spectacular."

"Bathing suits, for instance, we wear at the beach for swimming. But to wear them in front of many people in a parade? No."

WORE A SUIT

Maria, a 5-foot-7 brown-eyed airline receptionist, wore a bathing suit in the Miss Portugal competition and will here. Another contestant may not, however.

Miss Malaysia, Patricia Augustus, 19, was not allowed to wear a bathing suit in her home competition at Kuala Lumpur. The Selangor State government banned swimsuits for beauty contests "to maintain our Asian morality."

Patricia paraded instead in a flimsy, thigh-length short-sleeved dress resembling baby-doll pajamas.

Miss Universe officials said the problem of swimsuits and various country's customs has cropped up before, but that each time the ruling is the same: To be considered for Miss Universe, the girl has to wear a swimsuit.

ITALIAN WAY

"Pretty girls in Italy are used to being noticed," said Miss Italy, actress Erica Jorger. "That is to say we are probably more used to being noticed in public than in some other countries. It is our way."

Erica, 21, a brunette from Milan, said she won the Miss Italy contest, and was on her way to Miami Beach, before she had time to tell her mother, Irene Jorger, that she even entered. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Eric Jorger, live in Merano, South Tyrol.

"I imagine they must know by now," said Erica. "I've sent many postcards. It's a wonderful, wonderful experience. I'm sure they'll be happy too."

LONDON (UPI) — Television interviewer Derek Batey stood on a plastic carton of milk during a program last night to prove it would withstand 224 pounds pressure. The carton gave way, covering the embarrassed Batey in milk and splashing the liquid around the studio.

SLIMS DOWN — Happy Humphrey of Macon, Ga. has lost nearly 600 pounds. Once known as the world's largest wrestler, he weighed 802 pounds in September of 1962. He now weighs 232.

AP Photofax

Happy Humphrey His Happiest

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) —Happy Humphrey weighed 802 pounds three years ago, and he was so fat he had to sit up to sleep.

Today, fresh from a dieting research program, he is almost 600 pounds lighter and says the difference has changed his life.

* * *

"For the first time in my life I can cross my legs," said Happy, crossing them. "Look at this.

"I can do things now that I could never do before. I can hunt and fish and swim. And for the first time in 15 years I can sleep lying down. I was so big that I used to have to sleep sitting at a 45-degree angle.

STORE CLOTHES

"I can even wear store-bought clothes now," said Happy, whose real name is William J. Cobb.

The Atlanta Constitution told in a copyrighted story today how Cobb, 39, had suffered a heart attack in 1962 while wrestling under the name Happy Humphrey.

* * *

A physician in his home town, Macon, Ga., told him to reduce.

Cobb managed to get his weight down to 644 pounds before becoming a volunteer patient in June, 1963, at the Medical College of Georgia's Clinical Investigation Unit.

RESEARCH PROJECT

Dr. Wayne V. Greenberg was conducting a research project to determine which diets are most effective and whether it is better to nibble all day or take your calories in one dose.

Cobb lived at the hospital under precisely controlled conditions until last April, when his weight had dropped to 227 pounds.

* * *

During his stay, Cobb never ate less than 1,000 calories a day. He dieted in 56-day cycles.

For 28 days, he was given three meals a day and a bedtime snack, with the same food served every meal. For the next 28 days, he ate the same food but all at one meal.

ALTERNATE DIETS

Three diets were alternated in cycles, one mostly fats, another mostly carbohydrates and the third predominately protein.

Dr. Greenberg said final data had not been compiled but the protein diet seemed most effective. While on that diet, Cobb ate ground beef twice a day.

* * *

He weighs 232 pounds and says he can't recall not being fat.

"When I was born, I weighed 18 pounds," said Cobb. "Later, I wore a bedsheet for a diaper. When I was 12 years old, I weighed 300 pounds.

GROCERY BILL

"Eating to me was like drinking is to some people. I couldn't stop. My grocery bill ran from $25 to $30 a day.

"I have eaten a 14-pound turkey with all the trimmings at one sitting," he said. "And I could put away 15 chickens at a time."

The loss of weight has brought a remarkable change in Cobb's physical appearance.

Before he started reducing, he was 6 feet tall. Now he stands five feet nine. His shoe size was 13 triple E, now it's 10E. His waist measured 101 inches around, now it's 44. He wore a size 30 collar before, a size 17 now.

HARD TO STOP

Cobb said he tsill finds it difficult not to eat too much.

"It just takes will power," he said. "You can't tell yourself you're never going to eat like that again. You've just got to take it one day at a time, day by day."

House OKs Capital Subways

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House yesterday gave the go-ahead for a $431-million, 24.9-mile subway system for the nation's capital. The project was seen as a pacesetter for other cities which now use private cars and buses to move commuters.

* * *

Passage of authorization legislation by the House ended a 10-year battle by supporters of the rapid transit proposal. They were opposed by highway contractors and the operators of the city's privately owned bus company.

* * *

The projected subway would link the Capitol, the White House and the Pentagon, which is across the Potomac River in Virginia. Two branches would push through the city's heaviest populated areas to Maryland suburbs.

Housing Bill 'Ayes' for Hart, McNamara

WASHINGTON (AP) — Michigan Democrats Philip A. Hart and Patrick V. McNamara voted with the majority Thursday as the Senate approved 54-30 the multibillion-dollar omnibus housing bill and sent it back to the House.

Hart and McNamara earlier voted to oppose an amendment which would have eliminated a rent-subsidy provision from the bill. The amendment failed 47-40.

Pesticide Residue Checked Closely

A session at the New York State Agricultural Experiment Station at Geneva emphasized efforts to assure people of a safe food supply.

The "Pesticide Residue Analysis Workshop" drew chemists and quality control personnel from the food industry to a school for use of gas chromatography as a method of measuring pesticide residues.

Gas chromatography is an analytical technique for measuring minute particles of chemicals. It can break a compound down into its basic components.

It can measure 1 part pesticide residue in 13 billion parts product. This is the equivalent of 1 ounce of residue in 100,000 tons of food product.

Sniff Test High at Night

You can perform a sniffing test with heliotrope, petunias or mignonette, drinking in their fragrance during the day and again at night.

The difference is noticeable.

Renovate Beds After Harvest

Strawberry beds to be renovated should be free of insects, disease and heavy infestations of serious weeds such as quackgrass, sorrel, purslane, crabgrass and chickweed.

If you have an infestation of these weeds, dig up the planting after harvest.

Prompt and proper renovation is essential. Mow the old leaves immediately after the last picking. Mow as close to the ground as possible without injuring plant crowns.

If renovation is not completed after harvest, do not mow the leaves when the beds are renovated.

* * *

Following mowing, broadcast 12-12-12 fertilizer over the bed at a rate of 10 pounds per 1,000 square feet.

Narrow the rows to 8 to 12 inches in width. Then the remaining plants six to eight inches apart.

Irrigate the bed, especially on light textured soils.

Look for Mites on Ornamentals

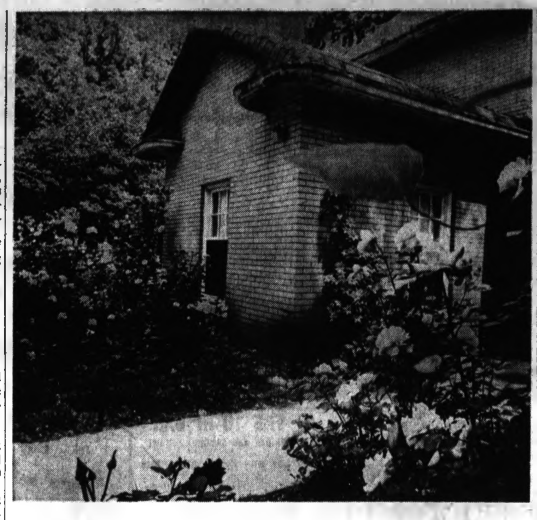
Red mites can be found on fruit trees, raspberries and ornamental shrubs.

Examine the first and second leaves of new shoots. Look at the undersides with the aid of a small hand-lens or magnifying glass.

* * *

If you find eggs or several adult mites, spray with Kelthane. Use Kelthane only once a month.

Spray during early July and again in early August.



ROSE FANCIER—Mrs. G. A. Flessland of 118 State raises roses for a hobby. This year, her efforts were rewarded with an exceptional harvest of blossoms. Mrs. Flessland finds that clematis and roses are ideal companions in the garden.

Proper License Is a Must for Spray Applier

Make sure the person you hire to apply pesticides on your property is licensed by the Michigan Department of Agriculture's Plant Industry Division to do this work.

The person licensed to do this type of work for hire has established to the Division's satisfaction his qualifications to perform this type of service. Agricultural Director G. S. McIntyre says pesticides improperly applied can fail to give satisfaction, can be unduly costly, and may even prove harmful.

In the state there are many holders of licenses entitling them to apply economic poisons for hire.

Persons who hold these licenses have proven their qualifications to the satisfaction of the Department's Plant Industry Division. These qualifications include their knowledge of types of pesticides and the recommended strengths at which they should be applied.

* *

Other knowledge required includes precautionary measures that should be taken, the timeliness of applying pesticides, and the need for adequate and complete coverage in order to achieve the effects desired.

Persons needing this service are perfectly within their rights in asking a prospective applicator to show his credentials that he is licensed to perform this type of service for hire.

Let Plants Vacation in Back Yard

Before you go on vacation, prepare your house plants for a summer in the garden. But remember to sink the pot in a shady spot if the plant is one that can't take full sun.

If your plant needs a larger pot, do the repotting before you settle it in the garden. Keep it out of direct sunlight for a few days until the roots take hold.

The repotting is quite simple. If the clay pot seems to be too small, shift the plant into one about an inch larger.

Don't be overgenerous. The pot should just comfortably fit the roots without crowding.

* * *

RELATIVE SIZE

Give thought also to the relative size of the plant and pot. The plant should neither look top heavy nor lost in an oversize container.

Cover the drainage hole in the new pot with a piece of broken clay pot or aluminum screening.

Cover this with an inch of pebbles, then a layer of equal parts of sand, sterilized potting soil and peat moss.

* * *

To remove the old plant intact from its pot, place your hand over the soil, with the plant stems protruding between the fingers.

Turn the pot upside down, rap the pot rim on a hard surface or tap the bottom and the entire earth ball should come out easily.

Set the earth ball on the cushion of soil in the new pot, fill in soil all around it, pressing down firmly with your hand to eliminate large air pockets.

* * *

There should be space at the top of the pot for watering.

Before you sink the pot into the garden, or take it back into the house, give it a booster shot of water soluble plant food.

If you put the pot into the garden, spread pebbles at the bottom of the hole to improve drainage and turn the pot every week or so during the summer to help the plant keep a good posture.

The top of the pot should be an inch above the surface of the ground.

Put Plants in Plastic While You're Away

Going away for a week this summer? You won't have to worry about your house plants if you place each freshly watered plant, clay pot and all, in a plastic bag and tie it at the top.

Kept out of direct sunlight your plants will be in tip-top condition when you return.

Ways to Conserve Moisture

Drought Plagues Gardeners

By EARL ARONSON
AP Newsfeatures

In many parts of the country the drought has been so critical that water for gardening has been rationed. You may use it only certain days of the week, or certain hours of certain days.

How may we keep our flowers and vegetables alive? We asked horticulturists of a major garden tool manufacturer and a maker of watering equipment for suggestions.

The former said you don't need fresh water all the time to keep your garden alive. Secondary water sources and moisture conservation techniques can be used effectively, we were told. And:

- Bath and dishwater may be used safely if not for too long a period.

Where tubs and clothes washing machines have rubber hose drains that can be directed into receptacles, save the water. (Or dip out with pails).

- Limited quantities of soaps and detergents in water will not prove harmful. Just don't use water any longer than is absolutely necessary.
- Pull all weeds promptly, by the roots when possible, since they compete with plants for water.
- In planting, prepare the soil as deeply as possible. For vegetables, lift the top layer of soil one shovel deep and break up the earth underneath.

Add an inch or two of humus material and 3 to 5 pounds of fertilizer per square foot to encourage deep rooting.

Then return the top layer and plant the seeds, adding more humus and fertilizer if necessary.

WATER ROWS

The rows should be watered after planting, then covered with a double thickness of newspaper to encourage germination of seeds.

This also will prevent drying out until the seedlings are up.

Protect all plants large enough to handle with a mulch — black polyethylene plastic, wood or bark chips, peat moss, grass clippings, ground corn cobs, partly rotted leaves, rice or cocoa hulls, pine needles.

- For indoor plants, use leftover water heated for tea or coffee and unfinished glasses of water ordinarily poured down the drain.

Even under normal water supply conditions, one horticulturist said, home gardeners should not water every night.

This is wasteful and encourages roots to stay nearer the surface, where the water supply is smaller, creating the danger of drying out.

The sprinkler-maker advises that if you are limited to a single hose or sprinkler, water thoroughly only the lawn and garden areas most important to you.

This avoids "under-watering" the entire turf.

Sprinkling without penetration is of little value to the grass. So pick your plots and water well.

WATER TIMER

An automatic "water timer" that attaches to any faucet or sprinkler is of value in an area such as mine, where garden watering has been restricted to 6 a.m. to 9 a.m., or 8 p.m. to 11 p.m.

Without an automatic device that features a dial that may be set at light, average or heavy, you must be on hand to shut off the supply.

This means getting up early, arriving late at work or staying up beyond your normal bedtime to get full benefit of the available water.

The timer permits sprinkling after you have retired. It measures the water supply.

Peach Borer; Two Species

There are two species of peach tree borers present in Michigan, the regular peach tree borer and the lesser peach tree borer.

Peach trees are the primary host, but both species will also attack cherry, nectarine, apricot, plum and prune.

Malathion will kill both species. Sprays should be applied at 10- to 14-day intervals throughout the season to control the lesser borer.

These sprays also control plum curculio and oriental fruit moth. Thorough spray coverage of the bark and injured areas is necessary.

* * *

Regular peach tree borers are controlled by spraying Malathion during mid-July, early and mid-August to the trunk of the tree and thoroughly drenching the trunk and surrounding soil area.

DDT applied to the trunk of the tree in July and August also controls the regular peach tree borer but not the lesser borer.

Leave Stub on Cedars

When pruning a cedar tree make sure you do not cut the limbs too close to the trunk of the tree, or you will have a loose knot.

Always leave at least a six-inch stub to allow the cut portion to heal over and form a firm knot.

Trees other than cedars heal faster and can be pruned closer to the trunk.

Never allow youngsters or inexperienced persons to operate power mower.

Insect Tape Is Effective

A roll of tape will make this summer's picnics a "picnic" if ants and other crawling insects bug you.

A pressure-sensitive tape containing an insecticide that a bug won't cross has been developed by Dura-Mask, Los Angeles tape manufacturing subsidiary of Earl Scheib, Inc., nationally-known auto repainting company.

The tape, less than an inch wide, has an insect repellent included in the adhesive formula, Earl A. Scheib, company president, stated.

"By merely placing the tape around all four edges of a picnic table, a family can make sure ants or other crawling insects won't get on the table and into the food they are eating," Scheib said. "The new tape also can effectively keep such insects out of cupboards and other areas of the home if strips are placed across spots where they enter."

Tapes are sold to other industries for re-merchandising to consumers, Scheib said. The company was established less than two years ago primarily to produce masking tapes for use on the nearly quarter-million cars painted annually in the approximately 100 Earl Scheib shops from Los Angeles to New York, but expanded production has permitted development of specialized pressure - sensitive tapes for other industries.

SCARLET BEAUTY—Mrs. John Menard of 134 Lake Angelus holds out the elongated stems of her cactus plant to better display its scarlet blossoms. The blooms, centered with white stamens, measured five and six inches across. Mrs. Menard started the plant from a slip five years ago. Blooming for the first time last year, it had eight flowers. This year the number of blossoms totaled 18.

Flower Arrangements for Everyone

The editors of Better Homes and Gardens have revised their Flower Arranging Book with the goal of making it still more useful and challenging than its predecessor.

It begins with a new explanation of the centuries-old art of flower arranging, showing how simple elements of design and shape can be used as guides to beautiful arrangements.

Four styles of flower arrangements are described with text and pictures. Oriental, with emphasis on simple but exact line; Traditional, symmetrical arrangements with generous quantities of flowers; Modern and Abstract, which stress line and informality.

Over 300 photographs, 200 in full color, show how to create the four basic styles.

Another section shows how to design flower arrangements for each season of the year, how to force flowering branches in spring, how to use summer flowers, how to combine new and different materials for fall arrangements, and how to make attractive winter bouquets using dried and fresh materials.

Table arrangements are featured in another section of the book, showing how to decorate a buffet-supper table with flowers, how to plan table settings for social events, and how to decorate party tables to carry out special holiday themes.

The fifth section of the Flower Arranging Book contains concise information about accepted practices governing the entry of flower arrangements in exhibits and contests, based on the Handbook of the National Federation of States Garden Clubs. This section is illustrated by nine pages of prize-winning examples and includes many tips on how to win a prize.

Noted flower arrangers cooperated with the editors of Better Homes and Gardens in producing this new edition. Among them are award-winning Mrs. Tomoko Yamamoto, an expert on the Oriental style; Miss Edna Pennell, creator of Traditional arrangements; and Mrs. Tommy Bright, an expert of the modern style.

Mrs. Yamamoto was the first woman to be named "Flower Master" by the Emperor of Japan. Miss Pennell is the flower arranger for restored Colonial Williamsburg, Virginia.

She regularly designs Traditional arrangements to add beauty to that historic city and is an expert in the preparation and use of dried flowers and foliage. Mrs. Bright has a national reputation as a designer and as a teacher of contemporary design.

This is the second edition of Better Homes and Gardens Flower Arranging Book, which has sold 806,000 copies

The new edition is casebound, has 160 pages and features a washable, laminated, full-color cover.

Lawn Browned Out? Don't Give Up, Paint Up

Browned-out grass, the most familiar lawn problem of all, may be a thing of the past — if the chemists at Luminall Paints have anything to say about it.

Taking the position that all good gardeners deserve a beauty break, they've come up with a colorant-in-a-can that actually looks like natural growth.

Not that grass paints are new.

Professionals have known about them for years, which is why hotel lawns and nurserymen's acres always look so green. Houston's Astrodome stadium is the latest to climb on the paint-it bandwagon — not that your garden is likely to have its special problems.

What's different about Lawn Tint is that its green is natural — as opposed to the artificial tinge of typical colorants — and it won't harm children or pets, or inhibit natural growth.

* * *

Better yet, if the brown spots on your lawn are caused by drought or insect damage (if you're typical, they are) you can apply Lawn Tint at the same time as curative treatments.

TREATMENTS WORK

The treatments will work as well as ever — and you'll be spared looking at spotty off-color lawns while your grass is being restored to good health.

And if treatment takes months, don't worry. Lawn Tint lasts that long — so much so that you may be the last one in your neighborhood to have a green lawn, even after the natural growing season has ended and normal brown patches are popping up all around you.

The secret of the whole thing is in proper application: a fine spray on a newly-mowed lawn, raked clean of all clippings and cuttings.

To make it easy, local dealers are letting consumers use hand and power sprayers without charge. You can even get a free quart — more than you need to cover an average lawn — with the purchase of the company's exterior house paint.

* * *

If you can't find a convenient local dealer, you can get the names by writing to Luminal Paints, Inc. 3850 West Side Avenue, North Bergen, N.J. 07047.

* * *

Who knows. This summer, we may just give up the crabgrass battle, paint the place green . . . and relax.

Stop Methoxychlor in Spray Mixtures

If you are mixing your own spray chemicals, you can stop using methoxychlor now.

In its place, use Sevin. Or if you are using one of the "trade-name" mixtures, the addition of Sevin may be a benefit to you.

* * *

At this time your spray mixture should contain Captan to control apple scab, brown rot of stone fruits and cherry leaf spots; Malathion for sucking pests (aphids, plant bugs, leaf hoppers, etc. and many chewing insects); Sevin to control chewing insects (caterpillars and pests that cause worms inside fruit) and Kelthant which is specific for mites.

These chemicals should be applied every two weeks until one week before harvest.

Japanese Beetles Checked by State

More than 20,000 traps have been placed throughout the state to capture Japanese beetles. The beetles emerge from the soil at this season to feed on field crops, fruits, vegetables, lawns, and even ornamentals.

* * *

If the 20,000 traps yield no more beetles than they did last year, workers will be delighted in the Michigan Department of Agriculture's Plant Industry Division and the USDA's Plant Pest Control Division. It will mean that the eradication program operated jointly by these agencies is paying off handsomely.

With the exception of the badly infested area around Battle Creek, it was necessary to treat with insecticide only 1,504 acres in all Michigan last year. But at Battle Creek it was different.

Here 12,434 acres were treated with dieldrin to destroy the pest beneath the ground, where it spends 10 months feeding on rootlets before emerging.

* * *

Japanese beetle traps are bright yellow and somewhat resemble a lantern. They are suspended about three feet above ground on rods. Baited with aromatic oils the traps attract beetles from 500 or more feet. The aromatic oils are not poisonous but should not be taken internally.

LOCATE PRESENCE

Traps merely locate the presence of Japanese beetles and indicate areas where insecticide application should be made. They are not considered control devices in themselves. Traps are placed in yards, parks, in fields, or along highways.

Many of this year's traps will be placed in the metropolitan Detroit area. There also will be significant numbers located in Berrien, Lenawee, and Monroe Counties as well as greater Battle Creek.

Traps also will be placed extensively in Saginaw and Muskegon Counties with lesser numbers scattered in other parts of the state.

Laymen often mistake rose chafers for Japanese beetles. Japanese beetles are slightly larger but have copper-colored wings and metallic green heads. Tiny white dots under the wings are a positive identification.

Thin Peach Crop for Larger Fruit

Remove peaches so that the fruit left on tree is at least eight inches apart.

Also, water peach trees enough to keep soil moist. These two practices will improve size of fruit.

Junior Editors Quiz on MICHELANGELO

QUESTION: Why is Michelangelo regarded as such a great artist?

★ ★ ★

ANSWER: Michelangelo was born in 1475 near Florence, Italy. In those days of the Italian Renaissance, civilization had become more stable and great interest was shown in art and culture.

The wonderful sculptures and buildings of the Greeks and Romans were being rediscovered. Young Michelangelo was in love with ancient art, but felt he could do something even finer.

It is difficult to believe that the famous Pieta, which we illustrate, was carved by this genius when he was only 21. Study the tenderness of feeling, the religious emotion, expressed by the statue, showing the body of Jesus held by the Virgin Mary.

★ ★ ★

There is something else, too: the thing artists call rhythm or design. Your eye moves in and out following the graceful swinging forms.

Later, the artist made this rhythmic design even stronger. It became so full of action that statues and painted figures seemed almost bursting with life.

Many critics feel that Michelangelo, by using such powerful design, expressed more life and intensity than any other artist, and so they rank his work among the greatest achievements of mankind.

★ ★ ★

FOR YOU TO DO: Fortunately for America, the wonderful Pieta is being exhibited again this summer at the World's Fair in New York. If you can't see it in person, watch for articles on the Fair and you may find some more pictures showing different views of the Pieta.

20 Years of Changes in London

By LEO BRANHAM

LONDON (AP) — Anyone who returns to London after an absence of 20 years is in for a delightful and surprising experience. Except for centuries-old landmarks, one has difficulty in recognizing much of today's bright and busy London from the dreary, battered British capital of World War II.

Blocks of rubble and bomb craters have given way to office buildings and apartment houses, soaring to heights unheard of 20 years ago. A few bomb-leveled areas have been cleared of debris and are used as parking lots. The harsh outlines of the crumbling walls and of ruined structures framing some of these lots are softened by clumps of wildflowers blooming in the crevices.

* * *

When I was here before, the tallest building was the 11-story University of London. The tallest building today is the 43-story British General Post Office.

* * *

I took a sentimental journey to Edgeware Road, near the marble arch corner of Hyde Park, where several American correspondents lived during part of the war. The surrounding area was badly hit by Nazi bombs.

AREA REBUILT

This area of bombed-out London has been entirely rebuilt. A 22-story building is nearing completion.

London's traffic appears almost as heavy as New York's. Traffic often stalls for a few blocks. But not a single horn is honked in a traffic snarl-up.

* * *

The biggest change in London traffic is the great number of motor scooters darting around the streets. A magazine says there are 600,000-700,000 on the roads in the United Kingdom, one-third of them in London.

* * *

Another very definite change is the human traffic. The tourist invasion of London is expected to be the largest in history this year. The British Travel Association and the London Chamber of Commerce predict a general increase of 10 per cent in tourism this year over last.

BETTER DRESSED

Londoners are much better dressed now than 20 years ago. My wife, however, observes that British women must have greater fortitude for fashion than New York women because they are still buying needle-pointed shoes.

The London Mod fashion has been a revelation, and a shock, to my son, Robbie, 15. Even he blanched at first sight of the long male hairdoes, curling — with obvious aid from curlers — or straggling limply down over the shoulders.

* * *

On the subject of trousers, score one for parents. Our son has no quarrel with the snug fit of the fegs of British styles, but oh, low blow, the length! Right down to the shoe tops the lads wear 'em here.

Robbie goes along with an American teen-age feeling that several inches above the ankle is the desirable stopping place. He was properly squelched during purchase of a pair here when he complained they should be shorter.

The salesman, eying the ones he was wearing, said firmly, "Never that short."

And that was that.

Trading Dull

Stock Mart Mixed, Indecisive

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market was mixed and indecisive in dull trading early this afternoon.

Fractional gains and losses were the rule for most key stocks. Quite a few showed no change.

* * *

The opening was quite active, with a number of fair-sized clocks changing hands. After this initial flurry, however, the market faded into the doldrums.

* * *

The trend began to get lower in late morning but a little buying corrected this and the list became a jumble of plus and minus signs, with market averages conflicting.

DEFENSE TALK

Aerospace issues were mostly off following their gains early this week on prospects of beefed-up defense spending. Mail order-retail issues were firm. Most groups were thoroughly mixed.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off .1 at 325.0 with industrials off .2, rails up .1 and utilities off .1.

* * *

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up .33 at 881.31.

General Motors held firm and there were fractional gains for such stocks as Union Carbide, Polaroid, General Electric, Pennsylvania Railroad and Eastman Kodak.

* * *

Prices were mixed in dull trading on the American Stock Exchange. Avco Corp. was off 1. Down fractionally were Asamera Oil, Syntex and National Video "A". General Cinema and Siboney were unchanged. Gainers included Computer Sciences, Draper and Kaiser Industries.

Corporate bonds were mixed. U. S. Government bonds were unchanged to slightly higher.

Water System Bids Opened

Lower but Still High in Pontiac Township

New bids on the proposed Pontiac Township water system—lower than original proposals but still above cost estimates—were opened yesterday by the Oakland County Department of Public Works.

The bids were referred to the DPW's consulting engineers for study and a recommendation to the Board of Public Works at its July 28 meeting.

Yesterday's construction bids included three sections of the four-section project.

A bid of $363,420 by Harbedian Co. for Section 2 of the total project was the only proposal accepted of the original bids submitted last month. Rebidding was ordered on the balance of the work.

* * *

The total of yesterday's low bids on the three remaining sections was $60,000 below the original bids but $195,000 over cost estimates.

Bids on Section 1 ranged from $510,000 to $542,000 with Greenfield Construction Co. the low bidder.

Sterling Construction Co. was low bidder on Section 3 with a proposal of $175,000. The high bid was $188,000.

* * *

Bids on Section 4 ranged from $264,000 to $269,000 with Bay Construction Co. low.

The proposed water system will include 22,640 feet of 16-inch water main, 20,180 feet of 12-inch main, 54,940 feet of eight-inch main and 27,310 feet of six-inch main.

The DPW is acting as agent for the township in the water system project.

Auto Profits Study Sought by Reuther

DETROIT (AP)—United Auto Workers President Walter Reuther has called for a study of auto industry profits.

In a letter to President Johnson's Council of Economic Advisers, Reuther said Thursday that auto prices in the United States may go up as a result of the U. S.-Canadian auto agreement.

* * *

"The industry's inflated profits clearly demonstrate it could and should cut prices," Reuther wrote.

"Our best protection against price increases is the companies' fear of an informed and aroused public opinion... Even the announcement of a ... study... would inhibit increases on 1966 models."

* * *

Reuther said the auto industry was the one above all others in which prices "could and should go down—apart from any effect of the (federal excise) tax cut."

Wheat Stays Firm on Board of Trade

CHICAGO (AP)— Wheat continued its generally firmer trend but other commodities were generally steady to weak at the opening today of the Board of Trade.

Soybeans were ⅛ to 4¾ cents a bushel lower, July $2.86-83; new standard grade wheat ⅛ lower to ¾ higher, July $1.42¾; corn ¼ to ⅝ lower, July $1.28¾-29; oats ⅛ higher to ⅛ lower, July 66 cents.

How's the Economy?

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK—Business activity is slowing down. Business activity has climbed to still another high. You can hear both these versions of where the economy stands today. And both are right.

DAWSON

It all depends on how you present the current statistics — and on the inherent contrariness of statistics themselves. If you are confused by the conflicting interpretations, it could be that the bulls and bears are, too.

* * *

There are many measures of the U.S. economy. The one considered the most comprehensive is the Gross National Product — the dollar value of all goods and services produced.

In the first quarter of this year, the GNP had what the slide-rule boys called an "abnormally large rise", a jump of $14.2 billion over the fourth quarter of 1964, to an annual rate of $648.8 billion. That's a mighty big jump and a mighty active economy.

CLIMBS AGAIN

The preliminary estimate for the April-May-June quarter just released shows the annual rate now has climbed to $658 billion.

How they interpret these figures is how you separate the bullish from the bearish.

* * *

The bullish will note that another record has been set with this $9.2 billion advance. They also are chortling because this gain, too, was abnormal in the sense that predictions had been for only a $6 billion or a $7 billion rise. In other words, the best-ever second quarter was not only better than what had been billed as a freakishly high first quarter, but also was unexpectedly better.

The bearish concentrate on the difference between the $9.2 billion gain in the last three months and the $142 billion one in the first three. The latest advance also trailed the average $10 billion gain the first nine months of 1964. This would show that the rate of economic growth is slowing down, and that a new stimulant should be found.

TRICKY FIGURES

But the statistics can be tricky.

It's always hard to compare any quarter with the preceding one. The seasons change the figures. Retail sales rise before the December holidays. Heating fuel sales rise in winter, air conditioning use goes up in summer. Vacations change both production and spending patterns.

* * *

Shipping strikes scramble the export statistics. Weather can make or ruin factory, transportation, farming conditions. But one quarter's shortage can be made up with a bigger spurt in the next.

The last three quarters have been particularly beset by unusual circumstances. The final three months of 1964 saw the GNP's rise slowed by the auto industry strikes. The first three months of 1965 saw the GNP inflated by a rush to catch up on auto production and sales. It also saw rising steel production due in part to an attempt by users to build stockpiles because of a threatened steel strike May 1.

The most recent three months saw the auto production and sales continuing at a record pace, although the strike-caused shortages had been overcome. This second quarter of 1965 also saw steel production continuing at record speed because the strike threat was put off till Sept. 1 — but also because steel consumers were using up the metal in their own booming businesses.

Successful Investing

BY ROGER E. SPEAR

Q) "Among my investments, I have 20 Chicago Pneumatic Tool, 40 Bastian-Blessing and 10 Wrigley's Chewing Gum. I am about to retire and would like your advice as to whether to switch from Wrigley to Bastian-Blessing. Has Bastian a better future so far as future dividends are concerned?"
S.D.

A) Both Bastian-Blessing and Wrigley are fine situations for income, although there has been no growth evident in either issue for many years.

Wrigley is, of course, stronger and better known nationally, but there seems little opportunity for a dividend increase in the foreseeable future. Of the present indicated rate of $4.25 annually, $1.25 represents extras paid last year. This amount may possibly be lowered in 1965, since the company is believed to be undertaking large capital outlays.

Bastian makes fountain food equipment and control devices for LP gas. The dividend seems secure and might even be raised if the current uptrend in earnings continues. I believe you would be justified in shifting from Wrigley into Bastian.

Q) "Why do brokers sometimes recommend over-the-counter stocks? I should think it would be better for investors to stick entirely to issues listed on one of the big exchanges."
J.B.

A) The market in which a stock trades should be an entirely secondary consideration when making an investment. Many of the shares listed on the major or regional exchanges got their start in the over-the-counter market, and were picked up there by astute buyers long before they were listed.

Avon Products, a fairly recent addition to the Big Board, had its biggest gains by a wide margin curing the preceding years when it was traded over-the-counter. There are good values in all markets, but in OTC stocks the analyst has the biggest field to work in.

Must Show Desire to Do Better

Student Should Ask Aid From Counselor

By LESLIE J. NASON, Ed. D.

Dear Dr. Nason: My 15-year-old son is a high school sophomore with grades hovering in the 70s. According to the counselor, he has a high I.Q.

I have been advised by the high school that his schedule next year is made up of typing, math, business law, etc.

It does not include a language or chemistry. I realize he is not meeting college requirements.

I would appreciate it if you would offer me suggestions as to what course of action I should follow to get my son to be studious.

Mrs. G. R. A., Philadelphia, Pa.

★ ★ ★

High school counselors are not unreasonable when they require that your son show enough interest and perseverance to make grades higher than 70s before they will let him undertake college preparatory courses.

Actually, he may not know how to study effectively.

Have your son take the initiative and request help from the counselors. If, in discussing the matter with them, your son sees that with new study procedures he can accomplish at a higher level, he may be willing to give it a try.

Only if he shows desire to become a better student can they help him plan his studies and bring about the needed improvement.

Dear Dr. Nason: I would appreciate information on courses in mathematics for an adult. I would like to get a degree in psychology, but must have knowledge of algebra and geometry as a prerequisite.

★ ★ ★

Are there any summer courses or comprehensive basic courses available?

M.B., Scarsdale, N.Y.

★ ★ ★

Thousands of courses of every description are offered for adults. Many are available during the summer. Make your inquiry directly to the office of your local superintendent of schools.

Dear Dr. Nason: I have been a housewife-mother for the past nine years and am now faced with the problem of finding a place for myself in the world.

With a limited background of formal education (high school, commercial diploma), and eight years of secretarial work, I am no longer interested in resuming this sort of work and am eager for a more fulfilling career.

Can you advise me of some of the training programs being offered to women with backgrounds similar to my own? How can I seek further information?

S.H.F., North Babylon, N.Y.

Start at your nearest state employment office. Ask for an aptitude test and for information regarding the available programs. Also inquire at your local board of education and nearby colleges. Get a clear picture of complete programs and your chance of success in each, then decide.

(You can write to Prof. Nason in care of The Pontiac Press.)

By JACOBY & SON

It isn't often that one bridge hand leaves all four players upset but this one did. South managed to make all the tricks at the three spade contract and wanted to know why North wouldn't raise him after he bid three times. North wanted to know why South couldn't have pulled himself together and bid game by himself.

JACOBY

★ ★ ★

East wanted to know what his partner was opening the bidding with and West wanted to know why his partner had discarded a diamond and chucked three tricks.

The bidding was a trifle unusual but there isn't scope in one bridge article to discuss anything except the fact that North bid perfectly. When it comes to the play I have to sympathize with West.

He opened the king of hearts. Dummy's ace won the trick and South started on his spades. East dropped a heart on the second spade and a club on the third spade. On the fourth spade lead West threw away the eight of clubs and East let go his deuce of diamonds.

Of course, he ha dan excuse. He said that his partner had never raised hearts. West wanted to know why East could not have thrown away a second club. East replied that his partner had not rebid clubs until after he was raised. Then East wanted to know why West hadn't discarded the eight of hearts.

At this point West rushed out of the room. I can't blame him. East's arguments were so illogical that there was no point answering them.

Full NY Investigation Ordered in Killing of Negro by Officer

NEW YORK (AP) — Brooklyn Dist. Atty. Aaron E. Koota has ordered a "thorough investigation" into the fatal shooting of a Negro ex-convict by a white rookie policeman attempting to arrest the victim on a disorderly conduct charge.

Koota directed his chief assistant, Elliott Golden, to prepare evidence for the grand jury starting Monday.

* * *

At least 100 persons witnessed the battle Thursday in which Nelson Erby, 28, was fatally shot and patrolman Sheldon Liebowitz, also 28, with one year on the force, was wounded in the arm with his service revolver.

Koota said it could not immediately be determined whether Liebowitz or Erby was holding the gun when it discharged.

The shooting occurred at the busy intersection of Nostrand Avenue and Fulton Street in the Bedford-Stuyvesant section of Brooklyn.

Almost a year ago, at the same spot, there was an outbreak of racial violence that lasted three days. At least 200 stores were damaged then, 122 persons were arrested and three men were shot as looters.

* * *

The violence in Brooklyn and earlier rioting in Harlem was touched off by the fatal shooting exactly a year ago today of a Negro boy, Thomas Powell, 15, by a white police lieutenant, Thomas R. Gilligan. The boy allegedly had threatened the officer with a knife. Gilligan was subsequently cleared of any wrongdoing.

No violence followed Thursday's incident.

Herbert Callender, field secretary for Congress of Racial Equality said that 15 persons he had spoken with about the shooting claimed the policeman's efforts to arrest Erby were not "done properly."

"I'm not saying we're going to riot," said Callender. "That's not the way to do it."

NOTICE OF SALE

of $1,335,000.00 Preliminary Loan Notes of City of Pontiac, Michigan.

July 7, 1965

Sealed proposals will be received by the above-identified local public body corporate (hereinafter called the "Local Public Agency") at Pontiac City Hall, 450 Wide Track Drive E., in the City of Pontiac, Michigan, until, and publicly opened at one o'clock, P.M., Eastern Daylight Savings Time, on July 29, 1965, for the purchase of $1,335,000.00 of notes of the Local Public Agency to be known as "Preliminary Loan Notes (Fourth Series B)," being issued to aid in financing its Urban Renewal Project designated Project No. Mich. R-44. The United States of America, acting by and through the Housing and Home Finance Agency, has agreed to make a loan under Title I of the Housing Act of 1949, as amended (42 U.S.C. 1450 et seq.), to the Local Public Agency to assist the latter in undertaking and carrying out such project. By authority of said Act and with the agreement of the Local Public Agency, the said Notes are to be unconditionally secured as to the payment of both principal and interest by the United States of America. The full faith and credit of the United States will be pledged to such payment under an unqualified payment agreement endorsed on each of the Notes. Under said Act, such agreement is required to be construed by all officers of the United States separate and apart from said loan agreement and is incontestable in the hands of a bearer thereof.

The notes will be dated August 24, 1965, will be payable to bearer on February 18, 1966, will bear interest from their date to their maturity at the rate or rates per annum fixed in the proposal or proposals accepted for the purchase of such notes, will be issued in such denominations, and both principal and interest thereof will be payable at such incorporated bank having trust powers or incorporated Trust Company, as the purchaser designates in the proposal. Such Bank or Trust Company must be a member of the Federal Reserve System, or of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, and must have an unimpaired capital and surplus of not less than the aggregate principal amount of notes designated in the proposal or proposals submitted by the purchaser; provided, however, that such unimpaired capital and surplus need not exceed One Million Dollars. The notes will provide that they are not valid until after such Bank or Trust Company has signed the agreement, appearing on each note, to act as paying agent. The notes will be transmitted to such Bank or Trust Company for delivery to the purchaser upon receipt and disbursement by such Bank or Trust Company of the purchase price thereof in accordance with instructions from the Local Public Agency. After taking delivery of the notes, the purchaser shall obtain the signature of such Bank or Trust Company upon the notes as aforesaid. All fees or charges, if any, of such Bank or Trust Company shall be paid by such purchaser.

Said notes will be special obligations of the Local Public Agency and will be secured by a requisition agreement between the Local Public Agency and the United States of America under the terms of which agreement the United States of America agrees to lend the Local Public Agency prior to the maturity of said notes an amount sufficient to pay the principal and interest of all said notes and agrees to cause so much of the proceeds of such loan as shall be sufficient to pay the principal of and interest upon any of said notes to be deposited at the respective Bank or Trust Company at which said notes are payable for the benefit of the holder or holders thereof. Under the proceedings authorizing said notes, the proceeds of such loan payment will be irrevocably pledged first to the payment, at maturity, of the principal of and interest on said notes.

The validity of the Preliminary Loan Notes and of said requisition agreement will be approved by Messrs. Dickinson, Wright, McKean and Cudlip, 800 First National Bank Building, Detroit, Michigan, and such attorney's opinion will be furnished to the successful purchaser without charge.

All proposals for the purchase of any of said notes shall be submitted in a form approved by the Local Public Agency and shall be enclosed in a sealed envelope, addressed to the Local Public Agency, which should be marked on the outside "Proposal for Preliminary Loan Notes." Copies of such form of proposal may be obtained from the Local Public Agency at the address indicated above. Proposals may be submitted subject to completion pursuant to telegraphic instructions or proposals may be submitted in their entirety by telegram. Telegraphic instructions or proposals must be received by the Local Public Agency at or before the time above specified for the opening of proposals. A telegraphic proposal should identify and be made pursuant to the Notice of Sale, identify the notes, and specify the principal amount, interest rate, premium, denominations, and place of payment of the notes covered by the proposal. In view of certain statutory and policy limitations, no award of the notes will be made at an interest rate per annum which is not less than Three and Seven-Eighths per centum (3⅞%).

Proposals may be for all or any part of the notes, and separate proposals will be required for each part of said notes for which a separate interest rate is bid. The interest rate specified for each part of said notes shall be a multiple of one-hundredth (1/100) of one percent (1%). Said notes will be awarded at the lowest interest rate or rates offered in the proposals, without reference to premium; provided, however, that, as among proposals specifying the same lowest interest rate, award will be made on the basis of the highest premium per dollar principal amount of notes specified in such proposals. No bid for less than $50,000 principal amount of said notes or for less than par and accrued interest (which interest shall be computed on a 360-day basis) will be entertained, and the Local Public Agency reserves the right to award to any bidder all or any part of the notes which such bidder offers to purchase in his proposal, upon the basis of such proposal; provided, that if less than $50,000 principal amount of notes is to be awarded to any bidder, such bidder will be relieved of the obligation to purchase such notes upon written notice to the Local Public Agency within two days after notification of such proposed award. If only a part of the notes bid for in a proposal are awarded by the Local Public Agency, the premium, if any, offered in such proposal shall be prorated, and said notes will be issued in denominations in the order of the lowest denominations specified in such proposal; provided that one note may be issued in a smaller denomination than is otherwise specified. The further right is reserved to reject any or all proposals.

SECTION 102(g) of the Housing Act of 1949, as amended (42 U.S.C. 1452), provides as follows: "Obligations, including interest thereon, issued by local public agencies for projects assisted pursuant to this title, and income derived by such agencies from such projects, shall be exempt from all taxation now or hereafter imposed by the United States." In the event that prior to the delivery of any of the notes to the successful bidder therefor the income received by private holders from obligations of the same type and character shall be taxable by the terms of any Federal income tax law hereafter enacted, the successful bidder may, at his election, be relieved of his obligations under the contract to purchase said notes.

Science Quiz

By BOB BROWN

PROBLEM: The dipping wire.

NEEDED: Fifteen feet of number 20 bell wire, a metal lid, some water and a strong electric current from a storage battery of a very large train transformer.

DO THIS: Make a device such as is shown in the larger drawing and suspend it from the coiled wire as shown. The point of the loose wire in the device should barely touch the lid. Connect one side of the power source to the lid and the other to the wire which is coiled. Place some water in the lid.

WHAT HAPPENS: The device suspended from the coil will move up and down.

HERE'S WHY: As current flows through the coiled wire, the magnetism created moves the turns of the coil closer together and this raises the point from the lid, thus breaking the circuit. When the circuit is broken, the coil releases again and the point comes back down again to make contact.

Water in the lid prevents burning of the lid to some extent. In a laboratory, this is avoided by having the point of the wire dip into mercury. An iron rod or bolt mounted inside the coil will enable this device to work better on less current.

A collection of the "Science For You" experiments is in book form and sold in better bookstores. It is called Science Circus.

Earl Goes Into War Dance Over Ohio's 'Indian Maid'

By EARL WILSON

WILSON

NEW YORK — Should our beauty queens come on TV wearing some ugly national costumes . . . Or should they trip down the runway in tight-swinging cocktail dresses?

This isn't as hot an issue as Viet Nam. But I bristled when I saw "Miss U.S.A." (Sue Downy of Columbus) in an Indian maid outfit at a Miss Universe party at Tavern-on-the-Green.

"Ohio's my state, too," I reminded the bosses testily. "I don't remember Ohio being principally an Indian reservation."

"Indians were all over Ohio," replied the Ohio gift to "Miss U.S.A."

"Yeah? Where?" I asked.

"There were Maumees around Toledo, Shawnees around Lancaster and Columbus, you must have heard of Wapak and his wife Koneta who became Wapakoneta near Lima . . . and Tuscarawas, Wanesville, Seneca, Delaware, Pickaway, Wyandot . . .

"And even you," she added, "must have heard about the Cleveland Indians . . ."

"And even the Cincinnati Redskins!" I said.

★ ★ ★

Because, like I was saying, if we've got the greatest teams in the country, why do we have to hide our Indians under a wigwam and why don't we go out and brag a little especially if we may win a few bucks betting on this and that, you know what I mean?

THE MIDNIGHT EARL IN NEW YORK . . .

Sammy Davis will run for the presidency of AGVA, the entertainers' union; he'll oppose veteran Jack Haley . . . Joey Bishop, still using a cane after a back ailment, told Lenny Kent at the Phone Booth (via long distance) he'll be here Saturday to sub for Johnny Carson . . . Martha Raye may go to Santo Domingo after her GI tour in Viet Nam . . . Pat Boone's new record company, Penthouse, signed Groucho Marx's dtr. Melinda.

Ginger Rogers' Oregon ranch was badly damaged by floods . . . Fidel Castro sent scouts to Europe to sign cafe stars—he wants Latin American tourists in his Havana hotels and night clubs . . . The Micheline Muselli Pozzo de Borge who'll make her movie debut soon is Mrs. Alan Jay Lerner . . . Quincy Jones, one of Frank Sinatra's favorite arrangers-conductors, will open his own company to make TV commercials.

★ ★ ★

WISH I'D SAID THAT: The average office has numerous calculating devices. Some are machines, some are secretaries.

REMEMBERED QUOTE: "One of the greatest mysteries of life is how the boy who wasn't good enough to marry your daughter can be the father of the smartest grandchild in the world." —Anon.

EARL'S PEARLS: Two famous American institutions can be recognized by their orange tops—Howard Johnson restaurants, and Lucille Ball.—Shelby Friedman.

Pat Henry reports his brother got a job creating women's bathing suits—and the way they're wearing them, he may design himself out of work. . . . That's earl, brother.

Opera Company in Australia Is in Trouble Again

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP) — Joan Sutherland's opera company ran into more conductor trouble Thursday night when George Tintner fell off a bicycle and broke his leg.

Tintner, 48, collided with a car as he was pedaling home from a rehearsal of "L'Elisir D'Amore." He said he did not expect to be able to conduct again for 10 days.

★ ★ ★

Brando's 'Ex' Guilty of Slapping Policeman

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A jury of eight women and four men has convicted actress Anna Kashfi of battery for slapping a police officer last December during a child custody row. Sentencing was delayed until Monday.

The jury decided yesterday that Miss Kashfi, 29, struck police Sgt. E. H. Hall, 39, last Dec. 7 when he served a court order giving temporary custody of her son to her ex-husband, actor Marlon Brando, 40.

Jujube trees are popular in China where the fruit is used for flavoring and in confectionery.

A Hearing Aid Model That Is Actually a Pen!

We are very proud of our hearing aids that look like fashionable eyeglasses! In order that any hard-of-hearing person who does not know about how amazing they are, we have had Qualitone make up models of their latest ones as ball point pens.

These pen models are actual-size replicas of the Hi-Fashioned — Qualitone's finest, most attractive and smallest eyeglass hearing aid. We will give one absolutely FREE to any hard-of-hearing person (including those who already have a hearing aid) sending in this ad—or for whom it is sent in by a friend or relative.

See for yourself, in the privacy of your own home, how inconspicuously it might be worn as part of your eyeglasses, especially when you select the color to match your eyeglasses. Enjoy writing with it! It's yours to keep, FREE.

(If you are not hard-of-hearing and would like one of these attractive pen/models—that look like our Qualitone Hi-Fashioned" hearing aids—please enclose $1 with the ad.) These pen/models are available while the limited supply lasts, so we suggest you send for yours now. No obligation. Tear out this ad and send it in today with your name and address.

Tips on
UHF ANTENNA INSTALLATION
WE HAVE FOUND THAT:
★ VHF Antennas are generally not satisfactory for UHF Reception.
★ Although indoor UHF Antennas may work, a good outdoor UHF type will provide clear, stable pictures.
★ Separate lead-in wires from each antenna are for superior to combination UHF-VHF Antennas with one lead-in.
★ Low-loss UHF special type lead-in wire is superior to the ordinary flat type wire.
★ Some types of 2-set couplers will not pass UHF signals only certain brands are acceptable.
SEE YOUR TESA of OAKLAND COUNTY SERVICE DEALER WHEN PLANNING a UHF or VHF ANTENNA INSTALLATION.

AT REST IN CATHEDRAL — An honor guard from the military services stands watch at the flag-draped casket of U.N. Ambassador Adlai Stevenson in the Bethlehem Chapel at the Washington National Cathedral. The chapel altar is in the background through the Gothic arches.

LBJ Leads Dignitaries

Capital Says Farewell to Adlai

WASHINGTON (AP) — The mighty of the nation paid the capital's final tribute today to Adlai E. Stevenson.

President Johnson led the distinguished company of dignitaries assembled in sorrow at the National Cathedral in a memorial service for the U.S. ambassador to the United Nations.

Plain citizens by thousands already had paid their respects, filing in silent procession throughout the night past the statesman's flag-draped casket in a simple little chapel of the great cathedral.

The file — old and young, men and women — was still moving through the Bethlehem Chapel when the time came for a military honor detail to carry the casket up one flight to "The Great Crossing" of the cathedral for the ceremony.

★ ★ ★

The spot is the intersection of the cross formed by the architectural layout of the cathedral.

And it was there that some 2,000 invited notables, led by Johnson and his wife, assembled for the rites and a eulogy by an old friend of Stevenson, Appeals Court Judge Carl McGowan.

Dr. Richard Graebel, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church in Springfield, Ill., where Stevenson formerly served as governor, flew in to preside at the ceremony.

McGowan in the eulogy centered more on the theme of Stevenson as the friend of man than as the statesman and political figure.

The world lost a friend, he said, when Stevenson died of a heart attack Wednesday in London.

But he said Stevenson "died as he would have wished, engaged in his country's business and mankind's."

The Stevenson family had chosen McGowan to deliver the tribute. The two men had been long-time friends and McGowan had been a prime mover in persuading Stevenson to run as a presidential candidate.

"We are a vast company—we friends of Adlai Stevenson," the judge said in his eulogy.

He said Stevenson was a voice "speaking in the accents of reason" and people all over the world of high and low degree, of varying color and religion, "listened to that voice with unabated interest and unabated respect."

He said the echoes of Stevenson's voice "are likely to be sounding down the corridors of history for a long time.

"For it is the essence of faith to believe that the world in its advancing age will set no less store than have we upon reason, upon intelligence, upon gaiety, upon charity, upon compassion and grace—all these things, and more, of and with which this voice has spoken to us so often and so clearly in the past."

S. Viets Ask for More Yank Troop Support

U.S. Leaders on Tour of Strife-Torn Nation Give No Commitment

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — South Viet Nam's military government asked U.S. Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara today to increase American forces in the country.

Assistant Defense Secretary Arthur Sylvester said the Saigon government's top leaders made a detailed request in a session with McNamara that lasted more than two hours.

Sylvester said Chief of State Nguyen Van Thieu, Premier Nguyen Cao Ky and Defense Minister Nguyen Huu Co did not ask for a specific number of troops but put their estimates of Americans needed in terms of "force levels."

McNamara and his fact-finding party made no comment of commitment on the request, Sylvester said.

★ ★ ★

McNamara arrived earlier today with Henry Cabot Lodge, ambassador-designate and the U.S. Army chief of staff, Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, to assess whether more U.S. soldiers are needed for the war against the Viet Cong.

OVER-ALL BUILDUP

Sylvester said an increase in American forces is being considered in terms of an over-all buildup which would include an increase of 100,000 Vietnamese troops. This would bring the Vietnamese armed forces to well above 600,000 men.

The secretary said he would spend four or five days reviewing field operations and determining, in talks with Vietnamese and American officials, whether additional U.S. combat units are needed in Viet Nam.

An appraisal of the use of American fighting men was one at his "prime mission," McNamara said.

★ ★ ★

McNamara denied that the Joint Chiefs of Staff had unanimously recommended an increase in American combat troops.

★ ★ ★

He did not mention other U.S. forces. But he reiterated the American commitment to provide whatever is needed to defeat the Communists and said, "We propose to fulfill that commitment."

Photo Unclear but More Are Being Radioed

Question of Life on Planet Still Unknown; Scientists Hail Result

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) —Man's first close-up picture of Mars shows a remarkably earth-like desert area — but gives no hint of an answer to whether the mysterious planet could harbor life.

The poorly defined picture snapped as Mariner 4 flew within 10,500 miles of Mars Wednesday was released last night while the U.S. spacecraft was relaying its second picture across 134 million miles of space.

Almost half the picture showed only the dark void of space, with but a small portion of the edge of Mars visible in the streaked and smudged frame.

The portion of the planet outlined in the picture, snapped at an extreme angle at the start of a north to south run, is apparently a bright desert with an even brighter area in the center.

★ ★ ★

Bordering the desert-like area are smudges which could be low-lying hills, darker-colored soil or possibly even vegetation.

PICTURE STREAKED

Scientists said the picture, streaked with lines representing improper radio signals, was not clear enough to warrant speculation about the cause of differences in shadings.

To the unscientific eye, however, it could have been a photograph taken from a very high altitude of one of earth's deserts bordering a jungle region.

Despite lack of detail, scientists at Jet Propulsion Laboratory were elated, calling the unprecedented electronic image a tremendous technical achievement.

"I did not expect this or any of the other 20 pictures we may get from Mariner 4 to give a final answer to the controversy over whether there may be some form of life on Mars," said Dr. Robert B. Leighton, chief of the team of scientists who will study the photographs over the next several weeks.

SMALLER DETAILS

"However, I believe we have seen a few markings, smaller details than anyone else has ever seen," he told a news conference.

He said the picture showed markings as small as three miles across, indicating it was some 50 times sharper than those made by telescopes.

The success of the $200-million Mariner Mars exploration program gave the United States a prestigious first in space. A Soviet attempt to photograph Mars failed last April when radio signals stopped coming back from Zond 2, launched two days after Mariner 4 went aloft Nov. 28.

Leighton predicted the best of Mariner 4's pictures being radioed to earth slowly over a 10-day period could show surface markings as small as one and one-half miles in length or diameter.

If there are canals and great cities on Mars as some scientists have speculated the later pictures might detect them, but the lack of sharpness in last night's photograph makes this doubtful.

The first photograph showed light wisps just above Mars' horizon which resembled clouds, but Leighton said he thought these were due to false signals in the transmission.

AMC Chief Says Drivers Major Road Death Cause

WASHINGTON (AP)—The chief of American Motors Corp., yesterday urged stricter curbs on bad drivers, declaring them the major highway killers rather than defective automobiles or lack of safety devices.

Roy Abernethy, AMC president, made this recommendation in a senatorial hearing which in earlier session focused mainly on how manufacturers can build more safety into their cars.

Abernethy told the government operations subcommittee:

"The good motorist is entitled to protection from those who should be restricted in their use of the motor vehicle."

Sen. Abraham A. Ribicoff, D-Conn., subcommittee chairman, agreed drivers certainly are a major factor in a highway death total expected to reach 50,000 this year

★ ★ ★

But this makes it more important to have vehicles as nearly foolproof as possible, he said. He added:

"We don't intend to make the industry a whipping boy or the driver a whipping boy."

ON THE STAND

Abernethy followed General Motors and Chrysler executives to the stand. Ford Motor spokesmen were to have testified today, but the hearings were recessed until Tuesday so senators can attend memorial services for U.N. Ambassador Adlai Stevenson

Abernethy said all the factors involved in traffic safety, including better cars and better highways, must be given attention but stressed the driver's role, saying:

"Authorities believe that more than 85 per cent of the highway accidents involve the attitude, behavior and judgment of the human being at the wheel . . .

★ ★ ★

"We must eliminate tolerance, anywhere, for lack of driver training and reach out for adequacy in the standards of training required."

Abernethy said any new laws "must have teeth" and must be strictly enforced.

Predict Rain for Weekend

Rain will usher in the weekend in the Pontiac area.

Scattered thundershowers are forecast today, tonight and tomorrow.

High today will be 82 to 88 with little change on Saturday. Tonight's low will be 66 to 70.

Sixty was the low temperature reading preceding 8 a.m. today. The mercury had climbed to 76 by 1 p.m.

2 Cases Face Delay Due to Murder Trial

The first-degree murder trial of Carl F. Foster may delay the start of two other major cases scheduled to begin next week.

The trial, being heard without a jury before Circuit Judge Frederick C. Ziem, entered its fourth day this morning with the likelihood that it would continue for several more days.

On Tuesday, Ziem is to begin hearing an important civil rights case, and on Thursday he is to preside over the Madison Heights Steren Assembly Club gambling case in Manistee.

If the Foster trial runs beyond today, Ziem said he would probably set aside hearing motions which are usually scheduled for Monday and continue the case that day.

Should it be longer, the judge stated he would adjourn the civil rights case until August and postpone the gambling trial on a day-to-day basis.

★ ★ ★

In the civil rights case, Bloomfield Township builder William J. Pulte is questioning the authority of the Civil Rights Commission to hold a hearing in connection with his refusal to sell a parcel to a Negro in a Beverly Hills development.

21 DEFENDANTS

The gambling case involves 21 defendants arrested in a raid on a private club in October 1963.

The trial was transferred to the northern Michigan community after the defense attorney Carlton-Roeser claimed that the incident had received too much publicity.

Chief witness in the Foster murder trial yesterday was Dr. Richard E. Olsen, pathologist at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

★ ★ ★

Olsen performed the autopsy on the body of Mrs. Foster, 14 months after she was ruled a sucide victim on Feb. 28, 1964. Foster is accused of killing her.

PREVIOUS TESTIMONY

Olsen's testimony was substantially the same as he gave at a coroner's inquest and at Foster's preliminary examination.

He said that Foster's wife, Angela, 25, was strangled to death manually and did not die as a result of a clothesline being placed around her neck.

When Mrs. Foster was dis-

School Board Reelects Chief

Reorganization Held by Waterford Group

John D. Boardman, 58, of 4413 Forest was unanimously reelected president of the Waterford Township Board of Education last night as the seven-member group reorganized for the forthcoming school year.

Also reelected at last night's meeting were Treasurer Donald W. Porter, 47, of 3736 Mariner and Chaplain Robert E. Field, 49, of 147 S. Avery.

A new member, Mrs. Virginia Ross, 44, of 6181 Adamson, was elected secretary.

It was the first official meeting attended by the housewife who defeated seven other candidates to gain a four-year term last month.

Mrs. Ross also was chosen Recreation Board representative along with Porter.

COUNTY BOARD

Mrs. Dorothy B. Barningham, outgoing secretary; was appointed representative to the Oakland County Board of Education.

Mrs. Barningham, who had served five consecutive one-year terms as secretary, was renominated for the position last night, but made a request that the nomination be withdrawn.

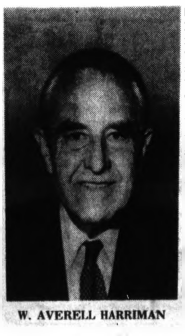
Hints on Moscow Talk Objective



W. AVERELL HARRIMAN

MOSCOW (AP) — U.S. Ambassador W. Averell Harriman hinted broadly today that his mission to Moscow is intended to prevent any Soviet misunderstanding of the American position in Viet Nam which might expand the war there.

Harriman gave the hint in a Red Square interview after it was learned he is tentatively scheduled to have a second meeting with Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin next week.

They met for three hours in the Kremlin yesterday and Harriman later said he had cabled to President Johnson "some significant information."

There were signs here and in Washington of a major American effort to break the Viet Nam deadlock. But in the interview, Harriman emphasized the need for understanding by Washington and Moscow of what the other is doing.

★ ★ ★

"I have always said, as President Johnson has said, that our guard must be up but our hand must always be out," he asserted. "We always ought to be ready to negotiate and ready to try to settle our differences.

BE CLEAR

"We must be careful to make our positions clear — that they (the Russians) understand ours and we understand theirs."

Former Premier Khrushchev and the present premier, Kosygin, "have no desire to become involved in nuclear war," Harriman said.

"It's too dangerous not to make very effort to reach understandings and settle issues one by one that come between us."

Harriman said Viet Nam "is not a subject between us and the Soviets but between North Viet Nam and South Viet Nam."

NO DESIRE

"North Viet Nam had shown no desire to accept President Johnson's proposals for unconditional discussions," Harriman added.

★ ★ ★

This indicated to some observers that Harriman held no hope that Moscow would be able to influence Hanoi and his whole emphasis was on understanding between Moscow and Washington.

Demonstrations Banned in Politically Torn Athens

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — Greece's new Premier George Athanasiades - Nova banned demonstrations in Athens today as he tried to form a government and resolve the country's worst political crisis since the Communist Civil War.

The no-demonstration order was aimed at George Papandreou, premier until King Constantine replaced him Thursday before Papandreou made his announced resignation official. The ex-premier vowed to fight his way back to power and called on the Greek people to demonstrate against Athanasiades-Novas and any other members of Papandreou's Center Union Party who joined the new government.

* * *

The new premier's interior ministry quickly ordered police to break up any disturbances.

Informants said Papandreou was trying to stem a mass defection of his party members by demanding an oath of personal allegiance from Cabinet ministers who had served under him.

JOIN GOVERNMENT

So far two members of the party had joined the new government, John Tombas as interior minister and Stavros Costopoulos retaining his old post as foreign minister. It was reported that three more members of Papandreou's cabinet would be sworn in later today.

Such defections could mean the breakup of the now dominant Center Union party and new national elections.

* * *

Constantine, 25, incensed by Papandreou's campaign to purge the army of politically active officers, swore in Athanasiades-Novas after Papandreou, 77, broadcast a statement that he was resigning. The new premier was president of Parliament.

"I said I would resign tomorrow, tomorrow!" cried Papandreou, 77, when informed of the king's unprecedented move.

* * *

Denouncing the new premier as a traitor, Papandreou charged that Constantine's action "had the form of a ridiculous coup d'etat."

"From today," said the veteran politician in a statement, "a new unrelenting struggle for democracy begins. I assure the people that we shall return to office."

Foster Trial May Delay 2 Other Cases

covered by her husband she was hanging from a waterpipe in the basement of their home.

* * *

PLEADED GUILTY

He pleaded guilty to manslaughter in the strangulation of Mrs. Crook and was sentenced to 10-15 years in the state prison at Jackson.

Olsen testified that Mrs. Foster was "dead or dying when she was hung; more probably that she was dead."

He said that it was his opinion that marks on her throat were those made by a thumb and fingers while she was being "throttled."

* * *

Color slides of the autopsy were projected in the crowded courtroom while Olsen described each one in detail and why it was significant.

* * *

Foster's court-appointed attorney Joseph Hardig asked Olsen if the marks he referred to as fingermarks could have been made by knots. Olsen answered with a positive "no."

"Nothing else could cause the bruises but fingers," said Olsen.

Olsen noted that the embalming fluid in Mrs. Foster's body had made the marks more evident than at the time of her death.

Dem Guest to Be Farnum

Congressman Billie S. Farnum will be the guest of honor Sunday at the Pontiac Democratic Club's 14th annual picnic.

* * *

The picnic will be held at Jaycee Park, Joslyn and Walton, and is open to the public, according to club Chairman Charles Nasstrom. It will begin at noon and continue to dusk.

Invitations have been sent to local and state Democratic officials.

Farnum, whose 19th Congressional District includes Pontiac, is scheduled to speak about 4 p.m.

* * *

Nasstrom said that refreshments will be available at the park and that games and events are planned for children.

* * *

Among the special guests will be Detroit Lion tackle Roger Brown, who will be officiating at some of the events.

FRANCE TO ITALY — Cars pass each other at the France-Italy border in the seven-mile-long Mont Blanc auto tunnel from Chamonix, France, to Courmayeur, Italy. The presidents of the two countries joined in official opening of the tunnel today.

Italy-France Tunnel Opens

Shortcut Through Alps Took 6 Years to Build

CHAMONIX, France (UPI)— A 150-year-old dream became reality today when the presidents of France and Italy opened a seven-mile-long road tunnel linking their countries through the heart of snow-capped Mont Blanc, the highest mountain in Europe.

* * *

The tunnel is the longest of its kind in the world and is considered an engineering marvel.

It cost $80 million and took six years to build. Eight hundred workers were injured and 23 killed during construction.

President Charles de Gaulle of France and President Giuseppe Saragat of Italy came to this flag-bedecked little Alpine town, each from their own capital, to open the tunnel which will bring the two countries closer together.

* * *

The link cuts 137 miles off a trip between Paris and Rome, and will bring Milan, Turin and the other big industrial cities of northern Italy within easy driving distance of Lyon and the French capital.

ENTER POLITICS

Politics intruded into the day's festivities, however.

After driving together through the tunnel to Courmayeur on the Italian side, De Gaulle and Saragat planned to talk about the current crisis in the European Common Market.

And for three days French ski police scoured the slopes around 15,771-foot Mont Blanc to make sure DeGaulle would be safe. The French president has been the target of several assassination attempts in the past.

* * *

A massive security force of more than 10,000 armed troops and police guarded the two presidents.

* * *

A final search for possible bombs in the tunnel was made this morning.

Navy Planes Join With Guard

By DON PEMBER

GRAYLING — The time is H-hour plus 30. The infantry attack on the aggressor-held outpost has stalled as the enemy prepares to mount an armored counterattack.

The company commander, 1st Lt. David MacGillis of 259 W. Columbia, Pontiac, and the Naval liaison officer at his side, confer for a moment. Then the Navy man reaches for the radio.

"Bumble Bee 2, this is Dogwood 1. We have a target for you . . ."

In a few moments, four dark blue Navy A4-B Skyhawk jets appear overhead. They circle the target and then bank into steep dives, firing rockets and 20 millimeter cannon shells at the aggressor armored vehicles.

* * *

This scene could be taking place in Viet Nam, but it isn't. It is a training exercise to be undertaken Wednesday by Pontiac National Guardsmen.

AIR SUPPORT

"We have been told that this is the first time in history that Naval air support has been used by any National Guard troops during a training exercise," MacGillis said.

The Pontiac unit, Company A, 2nd Battalion of the 125th Infantry, is one of nine infantry and artillery units to take part in this type of training this year.

The operation is being undertaken, not only to give the Infantrymen training in working with air support, but to accustom the soldiers on the line to seeing and hearing jet fighter planes attack nearby targets, according to Maj. Gen. Cecil Simmons, commander of the 46th Infantry Division.

* * *

The Navy Skyhawk jets are the same type being used daily against the Viet Cong.

TOP STRENGTH

"Nearly all the 120 men in the company will participate in this maneuver," MacGillis said.

The three platoons will be led by 2nd Lts. Elmer E. Claycomb, 887 Walnut, Lake Orion, and Edmond B. Terry, 7371 Larkmore, Berkley and acting platoon leader M. Sgt. Billie J. Flippo, 4293 Seedon, Waterford Township.

First Sgt. Clarence J. Pizzala Jr. of 775 First, will be acting executive officer during the operation, MacGillis said, and the platoon sergeants will be M. Sgt. Glenn A. Simpson, 1284 Woodlow, Waterford Township and M. Sgt. Evert B. Austin, 1809 Cole, Birmingham.

* * *

"We will make an initial assault on an enemy outpost under the cover of artillery fire from the 2nd Battalion of the 119th Artillery from Jackson," MacGillis explained.

CALL FOR JETS

After an initial success, the attack will become bogged down and, as the aggressor forces mounts a simulated tank counterattack, the Navy jets will be called upon for air support.

The planes will fly here from the Glenview Naval Air Station in Chicago. They will be piloted by Naval reservists from that area.

The air-supported ground assault will be the highlight of the two-week encampment for the Pontiac guardsmen.

* * *

The company arrived in Grayling Saturday and began training Monday.

PLACE MINE FIELD

Today, the company installed and breached a protective mine field during the morning.

This afternoon, the rifle platoons will attack a fortified position.

A commanders' inspection will be held for all units in the 46th Division tomorrow morning in preparation for the memorial services and the division review Sunday.

Gov. George Romney, commander in chief of the Michigan National Guard, will review the division on the parade grounds.

With reorganization of the National Guard in sight, this could be the last time the men of the 46th will march together as a unit.

Motorcyclist Hurt in Traffic Mishap

John F. Coulson, 18, of 1220 Vaughn, Bloomfield Hills, is in good condition today at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital after sustaining a skull fracture in a traffic mishap yesterday.

Riding a motorcycle, Coulson struck the rear of a car driven by Vernis R. Ward, 26, of 4401 Louella, Waterford Township, in an 8 a.m. accident at Squirrel and Henrydale, Pontiac Township.

Coulson told police that Ward's car made a turn in front of him and he hit the vehicle in the rear. Ward told officers that he did not see Coulson.

Romney Signs Bill on Uninsured Drivers

LANSING (UPI) — Gov. George Romney today signed into law the uninsured motorist bill that will pay claims resulting from auto accidents caused by uninsured motorists.

Romney said early amendments will be sought for the bill which was opposed by spokesmen for the Michigan insurance industry.

Negro Police Chief for Town in Georgia

CRAWFORDVILLE, Ga. (AP) — A Negro has been hired as police chief of this small northeast Georgia town which has been the target of civil rights demonstrations for two months, Sheriff M. B. Moore said today.

* * *

In an action unprecedented in Georgia, Jesse Meadows was appointed police chief and officially assumed his duties yesterday. Negro and white pickets continued demonstrations today in a boycott of white merchants while Meadows patrolled the streets.

Birmingham Area News

New Officers Installed for People to People

BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — The Birmingham area chapter of People to People installed officers for the coming year last night at its first annual meeting.

It was organized by former President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

BIRMINGHAM — Twenty-three teachers and administrators are enrolled in the Birmingham Community Resources Workshop running from June 28 to July 23.

The workshop meets daily from 8 a.m. to noon and is directed by Fritz Pinis, a former principal of Adams School.

Sponsored by Michigan State University, the course deals with teaching resources in the community and how these can be more effectively utilized in teaching.

* * *

The group has visited Berry Door Industries, Beaumont Hospital, Cranbrook Science Institute, Grinnel's piano factory in Holly, Jacobsons, and McManus, John & Adams advertising agency.

Speakers for the workshop include Florence Willetts on the history of Birmingham architecture, James Flack on the history of Birmingham, and Knowles Smith on the outlook of the Birmingham - Bloomfield economic potential.

The public is invited to an open house July 22 from 10 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. at Derby Junior High School.

Teaching projects which each participant is preparing for his teaching assignment next year will be presented.

Single Red Rocket Orbits 5 Satellites

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet news agency Tass said the Soviet Union launched five orbiting satellites today with a single rocket.

The satellites were numbers 71, 72, 73, 74 and 75 in the unmanned Cosmos series, which the Soviet Union has been sending up to probe the space around the earth.

Tass said the five Sputniks, like the others in the series which started in March 1962, carried scientific instruments and radio transmitters to send back information.

Elegant Evenings Ahead in Shapely Ensembles

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor

NEW YORK — The uniform for the fashionable keepers of the night watch come fall and winter will be the jeweled, floor-length evening dress.

Or, for a choice, all's well too for the woman who wishes to slip into a black wool or silk crepe also reaching the floor.

* * *

Both are the dominant fashions for the winter evenings, spent at home or doing the charity ball bit, and in each the silhouette remains basically a willowy one. Major exception — chiffon formals which call for yards of that billowy fabric.

ELEGANT EVENINGS

Evening fabrics spell luxury, with a king's ransom in the cutting rooms and en route to stores of velvets, chenille textured laces, caviar beading (new term for jet beads), warp print silks, heavy satins, and a glittering array of metallics.

Add on yards of trim of ostrich and fur, both the flat broadtail and fluffy fox.

* * *

The opulence showed throughout collections of the New York Couture Group of designers.

Designers bat not an eyelash at quoting wholesale prices ranging up to $1,000 per garment for dresses beaded and rhinestoned from neck to hem.

* * *

But lest some of the prices scare you off, any number of the handsomely jeweled numbers are within the more modest clothes budget.

COMPLETE LOOK

New looking for evenings are the costumes, with jackets or floor-length coats buttoned and trimmed with stones matching those on the dresses beneath.

* * *

A favorite combination: wool coat sweeping the floor in color coordinated with the glittering dress beneath.

Many of the long formals have overblouse tops jeweled, coupled with soft clinging skirts of solid shade crepe or chiffon.

Larry Aldrich's designer Marie McCarthy coined a new term for formal wear in her "Sweater" dresses, the top jeweled, the skift plain.

* * *

Aldrich, president of the couture group, reflected a general fashion trend among New York manufacturers — toward the fuller skirts, the softer looking silhouettes.

He upbraided those who would promote kookie fashions and said, "I believe the time has come for the couture to stress clothes that are elegant, feminine. . ."

* * *

The Hannah Troy collection did just that, too. Many of her daytime dresses were simply-cut, unadorned skimmers that could go on into informal evenings.

For dressy occasions, she showed brocade dinner suits, with sable trims. Short dance dresses were bordered at the hems with wide swaths of ostrich.

"Hotsie" and "must see" are the terms heard about town to describe Hannah Troy's acclaimed collection. This little dance dress shows why. In a provocative black netting of Du Pont nylon, over a diamond pattern of rhinestones, it has a boa hemline of black net ruffling, almost deep enough to look like a nineteen-twenties skirt.

Pink and green beading form a bib and outline the hem of this oyster white gown of Ducharne imported crepe . . . from the Fall '65 collection by Branell.

At Meadow Brook

Music Scores Again

By JOHN C. TOUSLEY

Phylis Curtin, soprano, was the featured guest artist for the second week at Meadow Brook Music Festival.

Sixten Ehrling conducted the Detroit Symphony last night in a concert made up entirely of works from the 19th and 20th Centuries.

Again playing to a capacity crowd, the orchestra began the program with Sibelius' Symphonic Fantasy, "Pohjola's Daughter."

* * *

The Fantasy, based on the Finnish poem "Kalevala," is rich in orchestral color and beautiful motives.

The orchestra did a creditable job of reflecting the wide range of images that told the story.

SYMPHONIC NUMBER

Carl Nielsen's Symphony No. 2, "The Four Temperaments," was inspired by a comical picture Nielsen saw in a bar, in which the four temperaments were depicted in exaggerated fashion: The Choleric, The Phlegmatic, The Melancholic, and The Sanguine.

* * *

The orchestra handled with great skill the themes which jumped suddenly from section to section.

In the slow movement the sonority of the strings was outstanding, and in the final movement the full orchestra brought the symphony to an exciting climax.

SOLOIST

Guest soloist Phylis Curtin was featured in the next selection, "Bachianas Brasileiras," No. 5, for Eight Cellos and Soprano, by Heitor Villa-Lobos.

The number was a strenuous undertaking for all involved, including the audience.

In both sections of the suite the voice is used as an instrument, often substituting vowel sounds or humming for words, in an effort to merge the voice with the cellos.

Arthur Honegger's Two Pieces for Orchestra were next on the program.

The first selection, a symphonic poem called "Summer Pastorale," was a peaceful, flowing number, skillfully performed by the orchestra, with many instruments moving in solo passages.

Especially noteworthy was the beautiful tone quality of the French Horn section.

* * *

With the playing of the second Honegger piece, the Prelude for "The Tempest" of Shakespeare, the orchestra suddenly roared to a climax. The tempo was moving, the dissonance strong, and the orchestra at full strength.

Maestro Ehrling drew forth a most inspired performance.

PUCCINI

Phylis Curtin returned to conclude the concert with three of Puccini's most beloved arias: Vissi d'arte, from Act II, "Tosca"; Mi chiamano Mimi, from Act I, "La Boheme"; and Un bel di, from Act II, "Madame Butterfly."

In the beautiful melodies of Puccini, Miss Curtin's superb voice was exhibited in its full stature.

The Detroit Symphony and Mr. Ehrling are to be commended, as well, for their sensitive accompaniment of the soloist.

Teen Prexy Likes Large Families

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Mary Louise Driscoll is 17 years old and likes large families, bowling and southern fried chicken.

The brown-haired blue-eyed Buckingham, Va., lass is the new national president of the Future Homemakers of America.

* * *

She plans a career as a fashion designer, and hopes to enter the Richmond, Va., professional institute after completing high school next year.

WANTS A SHOP

"My goal is to own my own fashion shop someday. But I plan to get married, too," she said.

Does she date? "I sure do," she said.

* * *

"I date about once a week, but sometimes it's only once every two weeks. I enjoy movies, parties, dances and bowling."

* * *

Miss Driscoll is a good hand in the kitchen. "I cook right much for my family," she drawled.

"I like southern fried chicken, by my specialties are desserts."

"I think a girl should consider marriage when she's 22 or 23 years old," said Miss Driscoll, who stands five feet, seven inches tall.

She added, "I'm all for large families."

IDEALS

Miss Driscoll, victorious in Wednesday's election over Sonya Fox, 17, of Cornersville, Tenn., says a future homemaker "should accept responsibility, be friendly, honest, cooperative and courteous."

Club Hears Dietitian

Mrs. Clyde Anderson opened her home on Elizabeth Lake to the Better Home and Garden Club Thursday for a cooperative luncheon.

* * *

Esther Kuxchau, dietitian at Henry Ford Hospital, spoke to the group and made "flowers" from garden vegetables, a Japanese art which she learned in Hawaii. She is the author of several books on the subject.

* * *

Mrs. A. B. Leddick, Ethel Chase and Clara Beach of Clarkston were the club's guests.

Committee for the day was made up of chairman, Mrs. Anna J. Frericks, assisted by Mrs. Joseph Phillips, Mrs. W. E. Campbell and Mrs. E. K. Vanderlind.

* * *

The group will tour General Motors Technical Center on Thursday.

* * *

Members also are readying materials for a Country Store, planned for September at the Genesee Avenue home of Mrs. Alfred Rothweiler.

Bride Wears Tiered Lace for Nuptials

Adas Shalom Synagogue was the setting for the evening vows taken recently by Barbara Ann Brenner and Samuel Edward Hartman.

Rabbis Jacob E. Segal and Herbert Eskin performed the ceremony.

The bride chose a gown of white tiered lace over silk and her illusion veil fell from a satin Watteau bow encrusted with seed pearls.

ORCHID IN CENTER

A white orchid centered her bouquet of white rosebuds.

Marilyn Weiss was maid of honor along with bridesmaids, Phyllis Jacobs, Fay Goodman and Mrs. Larry Hoffman.

Standing as best man for the groom whose parents are the Rudolph Hartmans of Glendale Avenue, was Lee Larson.

Ushers included William Hartman, Laurence Brenner, Sheldon Zager and Allen Brenner.

* * *

An evening reception was held for the couple in the synagogue social hall. Following this, they left on a honeymoon to Los Angeles and San Francisco, Calif.

The bride's parents are the Marshall Brenners of Detroit.

VFW Slates Dinner

A cooperative dinner at 1:30 p.m. Sunday will be held for members and auxiliary of Oakland County Barracks No. 49 Veterans of World War I. The event will take place in the Cook Nelson American Legion Hall on Auburn Road.

917 Cards, Doesn't Include Christmas

Sender Wants Thanks

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Since January 1, 1960, I have sent 917 greeting cards. I am not counting Christmas and Easter cards. (I sent 3,455 of those.)

* * *

I mean get-well, sympathy, birthday, graduation, wedding, anniversary and new baby cards. I go through our local newspaper to be sure I haven't overlooked a birth, engagement, accident or death. I am on a limited income and can't afford to send presents, but I spend as much time shopping for appropriate cards as most people do in the selection of gifts. My question: Aren't people supposed to acknowledge cards? Only 16 out of the 917 people I sent cards to bothered to let me know that they received them.

ABBY

I am listed in the telephone directory. If I am wrong to expect thanks, please tell me.

IGNORED

* * *

DEAR IGNORED: Well-bred people acknowledge cards with a telephone call, a note or a verbal "thank you" — should they see the giver before having had the opportunity to call or write.

* * *

However, the giver who is motivated by pure thoughtfulness will send the card and forget it. To keep a ledger on "thanks receivable" suggests that the giver is unduly interested in placing the burden of gratitude on casual acquaintances.

However, the laziness and boorishness of those who fail to acknowledge a thoughtful gesture is inexcusable.

A daughter, Cynthia Elizabeth, was born July 7 to Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Chope, Shelagh Girard) Bloomfield Hills. Grandparents of the infant are the A. C. Girards of Bloomfield Hills and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Chope, Birmingham.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Lucas (Gail Blamy) of Dearborn Heights announce the birth of a son, Michael John on July 15. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. John F. Blamy Jr. of Bloomfield Village and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lucas of North Marshall Street.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Henry S. Willard of Wellston, Ohio are expected as houseguests of the Edward Maiers of Illinois Avenue.

Mrs. Willard is the former Virginia Maier. Coming with their parents are the Willards' three children, Henry, Nancy and Simon.

* * *

Mrs. John Ward of Cairo, Ill., is here visiting her granddaughter Mrs. J. Patrick Kane of Orchard Lake.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Hanna and children of Anaheim, Calif. are visiting her parents the George Schroeders of Hammond Lake. While here, they will also spend some time with Mr. Hanna's mother, Mrs. Charles Irons of Lake Orion, and his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Jarvis of Sylvan Lake.

Talbott Wins, 3-1

Upset in 'A' League

Huron-Airway's little hopes were dampened a little last night as the team dropped a 3-1 decision to cellar-dwelling Talbott Lumber in city Class A baseball action.

* * *

The loss knocked the defending champion H-A squad (8-5) into third place in the league race, a game and a half behind the leader, Pontiac Business Institute (9-3).

Talbott hurler Clark Rouse scattered six hits and kept the H-A hitters well under control. H-A nicked him for its only run in the second inning when Mike Marcum walked with the bases loaded.

The winners pushed across two runs in the opening inning on two hits and a walk.

First baseman Dick Miller knocked in one of the runs with a single and the other came home on an error.

Talbott picked up its final marker in the fifth when Mike Miller walked, stole second and scampered home on Rouse's single, his second hit of the game.

Miami's Entry for AFL Still Being Weighed

MIAMI (UPI) — If the American Football League likes the terms of an offer for leasing the Orange Bowl for the next 10 years, Miami may wind up with an AFL team in 1966.

* * *

The city commission, which operates the stadium, voted unanimously Thursday night to make the offer to AFL Commissioner Joe Foss, who came here last month to discuss with Mayor Robert King and other high officials a lease arrangement.

* * *

The lease terms were described then as the only real hurdle to a franchise for Miami.

* * *

Milt Woodard, an assistant to Foss, said in New York after hearing terms of the commission's offer that the AFL Executive Committee would now take up the question of a team for Miami, "and probably will be favorable since this was negotiated by our subcommittee on expansion."

'65 Hunting Decision Is Due Today

TRAVERSE CITY (AP) — Michigan's 1965 hunting regulations take final shape today, with the State Conservation Commission deciding on such proposals as a wild turkey season and a bear-hunting ban in Lower Michigan.

The seven-member commission heard recommendations Thursday from Conservation Department game experts.

* * *

After years of criticism for allowing too much killing of antlerless deer, the commission heard criticism for not enough doe shooting.

* * *

Sterling Nickerson of Kingsley, who said he owns most of 3,300-acre South Fox Island in Lake Michigan, said a growing deer population threatened deer starvation and forage damage unless some does are shot.

* * *

H. D. Ruhl, chief of the department's game section, said antlerless deer hunting is allowed only after damage exists.

MOVING SOUTH

Extension of antlerless deer hunting areas to cover parts of Allegan, Montcalm, Clinton, Gratiot, Saginaw and Ingham counties is one of the recommendations before the commission.

* * *

Legislation passed this spring allows the first wild turkey season since pioneer days and the first quail season since 1911.

* * *

Department game men recommend a Nov. 6-14 turkey season with 400 permits in Allegan County and a Nov. 11-15 quail season in St. Joseph, Branch, Hillsdale, Lenawee, Monroe, Wayne, Washtenaw, Jackson, Calhoun, Kalamazoo, Eaton, Ingham, Macomb and St. Clair counties.

Oakland County is expected to be added to the quail hunting list.

They also recommended another elk season. Michigan last year permitted the first elk season east of the Mississippi since before the turn of the century. The season would be Dec. 8-18, with all of last year's 300 licensees ineligible to try again.

* * *

Reason for the proposed two-year ban on bear hunting in Lower Michigan is what the department considers a seriously low bear population. The recommendation would leave the Upper Peninsula bear season unchanged.

Bruce Devlin, now playing out of Hilton Head Island, S.C., teed off Thursday with a sore left shoulder, the remnants of a throat infection that bothered him in last week's British Open, and varicose veins.

* * *

He shot a four-under-par 31 on the front nine, the lowest nine-hole score he's had in his four-year professional career, and followed it up with a par 35 on the back nine for a 66 and the second-round lead with a 134.

ONE BEHIND

One stroke back was Jack Nicklaus of Columbus, Ohio, who had a red-hot 66 to go with a first-round 69 for 135. Joe Campbell, of Peridido, Fla., the first-round leader with a 66 Wednesday, shot a 70 to stay within two strokes of the lead with a 136.

Devlin, 27, said his shoulder pained him three times in the first round but he was unable to find a doctor to examine it Wednesday night and simply rested it.

The soreness disappeared during the second round.

Dorsett Catalina

A sturdy hull, the prettiest lines of any craft around, and a snug cabin to shelter you from the rain! What more does a fun-loving weekend sailor need for exploring the waterways? The Catalina is as much as you can find on a 16 foot hull. Two people can sleep in the cabin and there's extra sleeping room out on the spacious cockpit deck for those who like to camp out for the night. Choose a Johnson outboard to move you around with speed, safety and comfort. More fun than a frisky tiger kitten!

League Race Still Close

One-Hitter in City AL Softball Loop

Spencer Floors rode the one-hit pitching of Floyd Hicks to a 9-0 victory last night over Town & Country in Pontiac American League softball action.

In a second AL game, league-leading 300 Bowl (13-2) gained a forfeit victory over Elks No. 810 (4-11).

The victory for Spencer (12-3) kept the team a game behind 300 Bowl in the race for the league championship. Town & Country owns a 1-14 record.

Spencer pushed across two runs in the first, added two more in the second and ran the count to 9-0 with five in the fifth.

* * *

Bill Hayward led the Spencer attack with a pair of singles and drove in two runs.

LONE HIT

Pete Landino's single in the third inning was the lone hit off Hicks.

* * *

In Waterford Township action, Dixie Bar (8-7) was awarded a forfeit decision over Midget Bar (4-11) and Richardson Dairy (14-1) scored three runs in the 10th inning to pin a 5-2 setback on Huron Bowl (8-9).

* * *

A bat-throwing incident led to the forfeit win for Dixie Bar.

Trailing 13-5 going into the seventh, Midget Bar scored eight runs to tie the game, but with two out, a Midget player tossed a bat after an umpire's call and the player was ejected.

Midget had no one to fill the position and under league rules the team must have a full lineup, so the game went into the book as a forfeit.

Pitcher Jerry Thomas doubled home the tying run in the seventh inning and scored the winning run in the 10th inning for Richardson Dairy.

* * *

Deadlocked at 2-2, Thomas led off with a walk, moved to second on another walk and scored on a single by Chuck Young for the lead run.

Two more runs came in on two throwing errors by Huron Bowl.

Eight Players in Putt-Putt Semifinal Field

Eight players moved into today's semifinal round of The Pontiac Press Carriers' Putt-Putt tournament at the Putt-Putt course on Dixie Highway in Drayton Plains.

* * *

Two of the eight golfers will fall by the wayside today and the other six will battle in the finals tomorow at 2 p.m.

Leading the field today was Tom Schraw with a 108-hole score of 234, six strokes ahead of Tom Brown (230).

* * *

Others in the field were defending champion Gene Bauer (232), Steve VanRoekel (233), Jeff Ratliedge (233), Brad Ginter (233), Mike Biallas (234) and Randy Reith (237).

Like Tobin, Mrs. Rote Has Golf Title Ideas

Mrs. Tobin Rote is one wife who isn't overly concerned about her husband's golf as an entry in the Birmingham Invitational now going on.

* * *

She has her own title thoughts. Yesterday Mrs. Rote teamed with Mrs. Walt Montague and fired a best ball score of 67 to lead the Red Run Women's Invitational with a 36 hole total of 133.

The British Know How to Break-In a Pipe. So Do We

1. Before you smoke your pipe for the first time, use your finger to moisten the bowl inside with a little water, or with a solution of honey and water.

2. Fill the bowl ½ to ¾ full with tobacco while the bowl is still moist. Fill every second pipeful to the top in the beginning. Smoke every pipeful all the way to the bottom of the bowl. The tobacco should be packed firmly but never too tightly.

3. Light your pipe to insure even burning of the tobacco by applying the flame evenly over the entire surface of the tobacco, after all sulphur has been burned off the match. If you use one. As the tobacco catches fire it will rise and should be tamped down. Re-light it and tamp it back several times until your pipe is thoroughly lighted. Avoid scorching the rim. Always smoke your pipe slowly and wait until it is cold before lighting it again. Rotate your pipes.

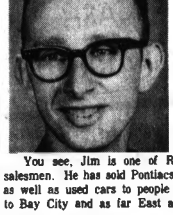
You Ought to Know . . .



Jim Barnowsky.

And you probably do if you live anywhere within 75 miles of Lake Orion, drive a car and/or like music.

You see, Jim is one of Russ Johnson's outstanding salesmen. He has sold Pontiacs, Tempests and Ramblers, as well as used cars to people all the way from Pontiac to Bay City and as far East and West.

One of Jim's ingenious sales techniques is his free pick up and delivery service to his customers. Jim also keeps the Russ Johnson name along with Pontiac, Tempest and Rambler, before the public with his popular activity as a disc jockey at High School and College hops.

He is also Manager and Booking Agent for Bobby and the Quintels (a Rock 'n' Roll Combo). The five boys are all under 15 years of age.

Jim, a Pontiac native who lives with his family at 132 E. Rundell St., is a graduate of St. Michaels High School, Pontiac. He is active in the Lake Orion Jaycees and a member of the Board of Directors of the Pontiac Optimist Club and the Knights of Columbus.

If you're in the market for a car, new or used, it will pay you to drop in and talk to Jim. He has a knack of letting you do the talking. Then he shows you exactly what you've been looking for.

You can reach him at 693-6266, 693-6871 or FE 2-5796. Better still, stop by and say "Hi" to Jim. You'll be glad you did.

Opening Flurry Slows

Prices Mixed as Trading Lags

NEW YORK (AP) — Prices were mixed early today as stock market trading lagged prior to the weekend.

Much of the preweekend dealings were taken care of Thursday, brokers said. After a flurry at the opening the pace of trading slowed considerably.

* * *

Most airlines were unchanged, Eastern being traded actively as a big secondary offering of its stock was released.

Motors, steels, oils, rubbers and farm implements were narrowly mixed. Aerospace issues and chemicals were lower.

IBM was up about 2. Xerox slipped more than a point despite record profits.

Opening blocks included:

General Motors, off ¼ at 96⅛ on 4,400 shares.

After its opening, Whirlpool sold on a block of 33,000 shares, off ⅛ at 37¼.

* * *

Thursday the Associated Press average of 60 stocks closed unchanged at 325.1.

Prices rose on the American Stock Exchange. Fractional gains were made by Data-Control Systems, Mead Johnson, and others.

British House OKs Tax Bill

6-Vote Victory Margin Lets Laborites Relax

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Wilson's Labor government relaxed a bit today after the House of Commons passed its omnibus tax reform bill by a six-vote margin.

Thursday night's 291-285 vote ended 22 days of long and arduous debate during which the government's tiny majority was constantly threatened. The Conservative opposition fought the bill every inch of the way.

* * *

The bill was sent to the House of Lords, which has no power to change revenue measures.

It was the greatest reform of Britain's complex tax system since the income tax was introduced in 1910.

CALL FOR TAX

The bill calls for a long-term capital gains tax and a corporation tax, both on the American model.

The corporation tax will be levied beginning next year. Chancellor of the Exchequer James Callaghan has promised that the rate will not exceed 40 per cent. The tax is weighted to favor companies that plow back profits into growth investments.

* * *

The capital gains tax on property held more than a year is 30 per cent. The American equivalent is 25 per cent. Labor pushed it to meet complaints by unions and other wage-earners that capitalists' profits from stocks and property were tax free.

Conservatives contended that the bill was badly drafted, and the business community expressed considerable uncertainty about the future. This uncertainty was reflected in the London stock market, which for months has been listless.

'NOT ANTIBUSINESS'

Callaghan, seeking to allay fears, has said: "There is nothing antibusiness about this bill. This measure and the general attitude of the government toward business enterprise in this country is to stimulate and encourage it."

The new taxes also will shift the balance against overseas investment to conserve Britain's currency reserves and protect the pound sterling.

Auto Profits Study Sought by Reuther

DETROIT (AP)—United Auto Workers President Walter Reuther has called for a study of auto industry profits.

In a letter to President Johnson's Council of Economic Advisers, Reuther said Thursday that auto prices in the United States may go up as a result of the U. S.-Canadian auto agreement.

"The industry's inflated profits clearly demonstrate it could and should cut prices," Reuther wrote.

"Our best protection against price increases is the companies' fear of an informed and aroused public opinion . . . Even the announcement of a . . . study. . . would inhibit increases on 1966 models."

Reuther said the auto industry was the one above all others in which prices "could and should go down—apart from any effect of the (federal excise) tax cut."

* * *

The industry is earning "far higher than the average profits," Reuther contended.

There was no immediate industry comment.

How's the Economy?

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK—Business activity is slowing down. Business activity has climbed to still another high. You can hear both these versions of where the economy stands today. And both are right.

DAWSON

It all depends on how you present the current statistics — and on the inherent contrariness of statistics themselves. If you are confused by the conflicting interpretations, it could be that the bulls and bears are, too.

* * *

There are many measures of the U.S. economy. The one considered the most comprehensive is the Gross National Product — the dollar value of all goods and services produced.

In the first quarter of this year, the GNP had what the slide-rule boys called an "abnormally large rise", a jump of $14.2 billion over the fourth quarter of 1964, to an annual rate of $648.8 billion. That's a mighty big jump and a mighty active economy.

CLIMBS AGAIN

The preliminary estimate for the April-May-June quarter just released shows the annual rate now has climbed to $658 billion.

How they interpret these figures is how you separate the bullish from the bearish.

* * *

The bullish will note that another record has been set with this $9.2 billion advance. They also are chortling because this gain, too, was abnormal in the sense that predictions had been for only a $6 billion or a $7 billion rise. In other words, the best-ever second quarter was not only better than what had been billed as a freakishly high first quarter, but also was unexpectedly better.

The bearish concentrate on the difference between the $9.2 billion gain in the last three months and the $142 billion one in the first three. The latest advance also trailed the average $10 billion gain the first nine months of 1964. This would show that the rate of economic growth is slowing down, and that a new stimulant should be found.

TRICKY FIGURES

But the statistics can be tricky.

It's always hard to compare any quarter with the preceding one. The seasons change the figures. Retail sales rise before the December holidays. Heating fuel sales rise in winter, air conditioning use goes up in summer. Vacations change both production and spending patterns.

* * *

Shipping strikes scramble the export statistics. Weather can make or ruin factory, transportation, farming conditions. But one quarter's shortage can be made up with a bigger spurt in the next.

The last three quarters have been particularly beset by unusual circumstances. The final three months of 1964 saw the GNP's rise slowed by the auto industry strikes. The first three months of 1965 saw the GNP inflated by a rush to catch up on auto production and sales. It also saw rising steel production due in part to an attempt by users to build stockpiles because of a threatened steel strike May 1.

RECORD PACE

The most recent three months saw the auto production and sales continuing at a record pace, although the strike-caused shortages had been overcome. This second quarter of 1965 also saw steel production continuing at record speed because the strike threat was put off till Sept. 1 — but also because steel consumers were using up the metal in their own booming businesses.

Q) "Among my investments, I have 20 Chicago Pneumatic Tool, 40 Bastian-Blessing and 10 Wrigley's Chewing Gum. I am about to retire and would like your advice as to whether to switch from Wrigley to Bastian-Blessing. Has Bastian a better future so far as future dividends are concerned?"

S.D.

A) Both Bastian-Blessing and Wrigley are fine situations for income, although there has been no growth evident in either issue for many years.

Wrigley is, of course, stronger and better known nationally, but there seems little opportunity for a dividend increase in the foreseeable future. Of the present indicated rate of $4.25 annually, $1.25 represents extras paid last year. This amount may possibly be lowered in 1965, since the company is believed to be undertaking large capital outlays.

Bastian makes fountain food equipment and control devices for LP gas. The dividend seems secure and might even be raised if the current uptrend in earnings continues. I believe you would be justified in shifting from Wrigley into Bastian.

Q) "Why do brokers sometimes recommend over-the-counter stocks? I should think it would be better for investors to stick entirely to issues listed on one of the big exchanges."

J.B.

A) The market in which a stock trades should be an entirely secondary consideration when making an investment. Many of the shares listed on the major or regional exchanges got their start in the over-the-counter market, and were picked up there by astute buyers long before they were listed.

Avon Products, a fairly recent addition to the Big Board, had its biggest gains by a wide margin curing the preceding years when it was traded over-the-counter. There are good values in all markets, but in OTC stocks the analyst has the biggest field to work in.

156 Cong Die in Attack on Viet Outpost

SAIGON (UPI)—Heavy losses on both sides were reported today in a savage battle 30 miles south of Da Nang. An American spokesman said 156 guerrillas were killed.

The battle began yesterday when a large force of perhaps 1,000 guerrillas attacked an outpost near Hoi An City, then ambushed reinforcements as they arrived.

U.S. Army helicopters and South Vietnamese fighter-bombers counterattacked and chased the Viet Cong for 5½ miles "like a bunch of halfbacks in a broken field," according to one American pilot.

Most of the guerrillas were killed in the air strikes.

Military authorities refused to reveal government casualties under new censorship policies, but the spokesman said "heavy losses on both sides have been reported."
