

Romney Offers $1.15-Billion Budget

LANSING (AP) — Gov. George Romney today recommended a general fund budget of $1,153,200,000 for fiscal 1967-68 accompanied by a 2½ per cent personal income tax.

Romney said his budget, the first billion dollar-plus spending program ever proposed by a Michigan governor, represented a $128-million increase over spending for the current fiscal year.

The governor released two separate messages—one dealing with his budget recommendations, the other outlining a new tax program.

Romney said the proposed legislation "embodies provisions for reform and additional revenue," adding that "the need for both is obvious."

In addition to the personal income tax, Romney proposed a 5 per cent tax on corporations, and 8 per cent tax on financial institutions and a 3-cent increase in the cigarette tax, all of which he said would yield $343 million in 1967-68.

He also proposed tax cuts totaling $88 million, including repeal of the business activities tax, a $10 per person cut in sales tax, a 10 per cent property tax reduction starting in 1968 and an increase in intangibles tax exemption from $20 to $100 a person.

The proposed tax program plus proposed cuts would result in a net of $255 million in new revenue in 1967-68, Romney said.

Romney's estimated revenues included a beginning surplus of $38 million along with $932.9 million in revenue from present sources and a net of $255 million in proposed new revenue.

He estimated his spending and taxation programs would result in a $72.7-million surplus at the end of 1967-68.

EFFECTIVE DATES

The proposed income tax would become effective July 1, 1967, the corporate income tax on Jan. 1, 1968. The cigarette tax increase would start July 1, 1967.

More than half of Romney's proposed spending — $605.6 million — would go for education. He said this represented a $40.9-million increase over this year's school spending.

Other major proposed spending areas included mental health, $147.6 million, an increase of $21.7 million; and social services, $159.4 million, a boost of $22.1 million.

Other spending increases proposed included a boost of $8.2 million for conservation, $8.4 million for capital outlay projects, $4 million for the State Police; $1.6 million for the judiciary; $1.5 million for public health activities and $1 million for civil rights programs.

EXPLAINS TAX PLAN

In explaining his proposed income tax plan, Romney said: "Only a small surplus of $38 million stands between us and a new state deficit."

Citing falling auto sales, he said it is possible the present surplus may be wiped out early in the new budget year. "We need new revenues and we need them quickly," he added.

Romney said the erasing of the $38-million general fund surplus was not the fault of recommended new programs.

He attributed the bulk of the anticipated deficit to a $129-million gap "between today's revenues of $936 million and current expenditures of $1.05 billion."

REAPPROPRIATING

"Even if we took the extreme step of reappropriating this year's budget a deficit of $53 million would result," he said. "If this procedure were followed we would fail to provide $94 million necessary to meet built-in costs of providing services for our increasing population."

Peace Settlement Is Goal—Soviets

LONDON (UPI) — The Soviet Union intends "to secure a peace settlement" in Vietnam but has warned that any American escalation of the war will lead to increased Russian aid and volunteers for North Vietnamese forces, it was learned today.

The current Soviet stand in Vietnam was revealed last night by Soviet Ambassador to Britain Mikhail Smirnovski in a meeting with representatives of the British Council for Peace in Vietnam.

The statement quoted Smirnovski as saying Vietnam would be discussed by Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin and British Prime Minister Harold Wilson when Kosygin visits London next week.

It said the Russian envoy told the Council, "The Soviet government intends to secure a peace settlement, taking into account the views of The National Liberation Front (political arm of the Vietcong) and the Democratic Republic of Vietnam (Hanoi), including the five points of the former and four points of the latter, as a basis for discussion."

The statement said Smirnovski made clear that Russia was not authorized to negotiate on behalf of the Vietnamese people.

INCREASE RUSSIAN AID

The statement said Smirnovski also declared:

"If America mounted its military presence in Vietnam and extended its bombing attacks on North Vietnam, the Soviet government would seriously consider the need to increase its technical aid to the Vietnamese and the provision of liberty to its citizens, as would the governments of Communist countries in East Europe, to volunteer for service with the Vietnamese forces."

The statement said Smirnovski warned there could be "no approach to (peace) negotiations unless the American government stopped its bombing of North Vietnam and convincingly accepted the terms of the Geneva agreements, including the withdrawal of its troops and those of its allies and the right of the Vietnamese people to determine their own future political and social pattern."

It said the Soviet envoy added that "The National Liberation Front must be directly represented in the negotiations as the real representatives of the people of South Vietnam."

Quints Are Born in NY; One Dead

NEW YORK (AP) — Four surviving quintuplets born to a $106-a-week postal clerk and his wife after five years of a childless marriage were reported in fair condition today.

One of the infants, a girl who was the fifth delivered last night, was still-born.

Dr. Morton A. Schiffer, director of the department of obstetrics and gynecology at Brooklyn Jewish Hospital, said the chances of the remaining three girls and a boy surviving are "pretty good."

"They all look in very good shape," he said. "One baby is small (a girl who weighs 2 pounds, 10 ounces) but it looks to be in good shape."

The mother, Mrs. Lionel Harris, 31, a registered nurse, said from her hospital bed, "I am so excited and happy. I am really thrilled and look forward to raising one big happy family."

Dr. James Seley, the Negro family's private physician, said Mrs. Harris had taken fertility pills for about four months before becoming pregnant.

The Groundhog Turns Grouchy

By ED BLUNDEN

At least one groundhog didn't emerge today for his annual ceremony. He was found on a nearby county farm, his burrow almost completely hidden by recent snows. Luckily he was a talking groundhog. Here's how it went:

Knock, Knock.
Huh, (groan). Who is it?
It's the inquiring reporter, Mr. Groundhog, here for my annual interview.

A guy can't get any sleep around here. I just got to bed last November.

Yes, but you're supposed to emerge today, look around and if you see a shadow, folks can expect six more weeks of winter.

EAT GRASS

Poppycock. We groundhogs eat grass. Where's the grass, buddy?

But how will people know what to expect if you don't come out?

Look at the forecast in the paper, that's what I do.

Say, I never thought of that. Look fellow, it's the middle of winter, I'm going to sleep at least six more weeks. If you were smart, you'd do the same thing. Good night!

No Answers to Ad

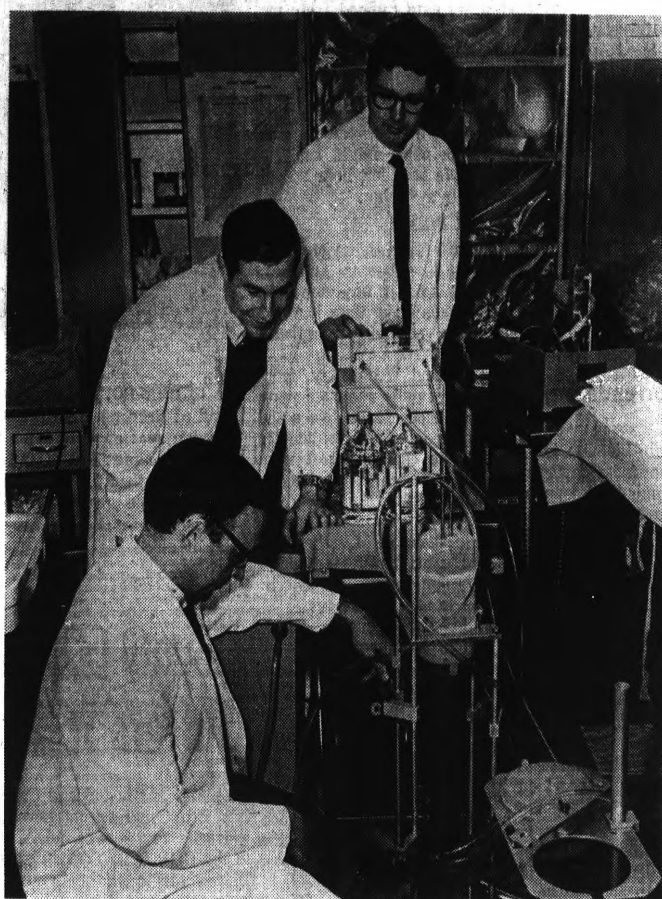

BRUNDIDGE, Ala. (AP) — Army Spec. 4 Jerry McWaters, who is serving in Vietnam, placed an ad in his home town newspaper seeking a replacement. So far as can be determined, he's had no takers.

The Brundidge Banner carried this ad:

"Brundidge boy in Vietnam would like replacement. Must meet qualifications. Must be male between 18 and 30 years old.

"Must like rugged outdoor life; must like rain, mud and C-rations. Must be in good physical condition, and be able to drive a 2½-ton truck.

"Above all must not be too nervous and must like staying away from home. If you think you can qualify, please contact me."

Sheldon Gold (center) and Dr. George Sehl, both residents at Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital.

Pontiac Research Project Could Link MDs and DOs

By L. GARY THORNE
Asst. City Editor—Suburban

Research may eventually be the professional umbilical cord that links doctors of medicine and doctors of osteopathy. This at least would appear as a possibility based on recent local happenings.

It doesn't amount to amalgamation, but it does appear to be a professional kinship of sorts.

Specifically, the research is the budding program at Pontiac State Hospital under the over-all directorship of Dr. Donald Dawson, formerly of the University of Chicago.

Now known as the Pontiac Medical Research Laboratories, the Dawson project is to eventually involve the staffs of both medical and osteopathic hospitals in the area.

Two residents from Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital, Dr. George Sehl and Dr. Sheldon Gold, were the first DOs in the area to formally join the research program, according to Dr. James Powell, director of medical education at Pontiac Osteopathic.

30-DAY PROGRAM

Drs. Sehl and Gold just completed a 30-day training program at the research laboratories, learning the use of a variety of laboratory machinery.

MDs currently making use of the Pontiac State Hospital, under the tutelage of Dr. Dawson, include a group of 10 resident physicians from Pontiac General Hospital.

Dr. Robert Tupper, director of medical education at Pontiac General, explained that staff members were making only intermittent use of the research program at the present time.

However, a more definitive program is to be worked this spring, said Dr. Tupper.

New Snow Hits Chicago; Food Supplies Low

By The Associated Press

Snow-stricken Chicago reeled under the onslaught of a second major storm today and buyers picked market shelves clean of dwindling supplies of meat and milk.

The new four-inch coating of white in the Chicago area on this Groundhog Day brought the total accumulation on the ground to 30 inches.

The new snow, expected to run its course today, was accompanied by freezing rain and high winds which caused drifts in some areas.

But the bad weather failed to halt the mad pace of shoppers who scrambled to lay in supplies because of the new storm.

"It's panic, that's what it is," said an executive of one downtown grocery store. The executive had been pressed into service to push carts.

SHOPPERS BATTLE

All around him shoppers battled to get to diminishing supplies of milk and meat. The bread long had been gone.

As the snow fell outside, reminding many of last weekend's paralyzing blizzard, shoppers shoved, ran, grabbed, cursed, pushed and knocked others out of the way to get to food supplies.

"They're buying like there weren't going to be any groceries any more," said one store manager.

Another manager said: "People really are loading up — cereals, meat, everything they can get their hands on. The harder it snows, the more they come in."

'SURVIVAL KITS' A liquor store salesman said shoppers were showing a preference for survival kits. "The usual survival items," he added, "Wine, Beer, Whisky, Gin and Vodka."

Hazardous driving conditions prevailed throughout the Chicago area and officials pleaded with residents to leave their automobiles home unless it was absolutely necessary to drive.

O'Hare International Airport maintained near normal operations and Midway Airport was closed for a short time.

Snowfall Adds to Toil, Trouble

Traffic-heavy Pontiac and most other areas in southern Oakland County were hampered but not hamstrung by the second overnight snowstorm to hit the region in less than a week.

All major thoroughfares were reported open and passable, with city and county road officials crediting all-night work by public works crews with clearing the five-inch snowfall in time for rush-hour traffic.

A heavier deluge of snow, however — as much as eight inches in northern Oakland County and the Lapeer area — forced school closings in Holly and blocked off most roads in southern Lapeer County.

The new blanket boosts Pontiac's total snowfall to 46 inches for the season. Last winter (November through April) 23.5 inches fell on the area.

The U.S. Weather Bureau predicted only flurries of snow tonight, followed by falling temperatures as low as 10-16 degrees.

TEMPERATURE DOWN

The mercury, which read 26 at 8 a.m. in downtown Pontiac, slid to 23 by 1 p.m.

The latest snowfall will add two days to highway clean-up operations, however, according to Oakland County Road Commission Engineer Paul VanRoekel.

"Close to 15 per cent of our equipment is still undergoing repairs from last week," he said. "We've still got at least a week's work in clearing out county roads, particularly in subdivisions."

Public works officials in Pontiac, where road crews have worked around the clock since last Thursday, reported no traffic tie-ups and very few accidents.

Calls from city residents still home-bound by last week's storm were being handled on a priority basis.

Takes Self-Preservation to Quell This

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

DEAR MRS. LAWRENCE: I understand so well what you wrote about the "shark" people. I have a new office supervisor who needles me every chance she gets. I earn good money, have held my job three years and don't want to resign it. But after one of these sneering remarks of hers, I get sick to my stomach.

The other girls say that they don't know how I take it. I recently asked for help at a psychiatric clinic but was told its waiting list was too long...

ANSWER: Go back to it and don't leave until you have seen a doctor.

Psychiatrists adore patients who really mean business, who are determined to have what they've got to give. So when some subordinate squasher in a clinic tells us we can't see a doctor, we're polite but pay no attention.

In the meantime, you'd better start wondering if it's really this sneering office supervisor who makes you feel sick. Because I'm pretty sure it isn't. I think it's you yourself who makes you feel sick—nauseated, not by her sharkish sneers but by your own tolerance of them. I think that they sicken you of your own self because you see this tolerance of them as evidence of cowardliness—your disgusting fear of heroically standing up to her and telling her where to get off.

I think they make you feel, "Here I am again, Rabbitty

Rabbit that I am, putting up with abuse that I should heroically fight and gloriously defeat."

And, indeed, you may be in determination.

part a Rabbitty Rabbit. But you're also a very smart girl. If cowardice is included in your fear, so also is self-preserving

Why Grow Old?

by JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Even though directions come with most false eyelashes many women have trouble putting them on. Since these are rapidly becoming almost as usual a cosmetic accessory as lipstick, perhaps some more information is in order.

Many false lashes come already trimmed and shaped, especially the more expensive ones. If the ones you have are not already trimmed, remember that they should be longer toward the outer ends and gradually shorter toward the inner ends.

Do this carefully because you can always cut a little more off, but you cannot add more length.

This is another important factor, whether you shape them yourself or have someone do it. The lashes should not be uniform in length. Your own lashes are not. Have them a little uneven.

Some lashes have adhesive bands ready to attach while others come with surgical glue. You can apply this with a toothpick or the tip of an orange stick. Your eyelids should be clean. If you wish to use eye shadow, do so after the lashes are in place.

Pick a lash up with tweezers at the outer end of the lash and then press the false lash along your natural lashline, beginning at the inner corner and continuing to the outer corner of your lid. When the lashes are firmly fixed, you can use a liner.

Unless you are skilled perhaps a cake liner is better than a pencil, because the pencil may dislodge the lash.

This is one procedure. However, many experts use a soft pencil liner before attaching the lashes and seem to have no trouble. Actually, this seems simpler to me than the method I have described above. Now apply mascara as you usually do.

Paris during its busy season is filled with tourists, sometimes so many that all there is to see seems to be other tourists. In the off-season, on the other hand, the city empties out, relaxing with a sigh till spring brings new hordes of tourists.

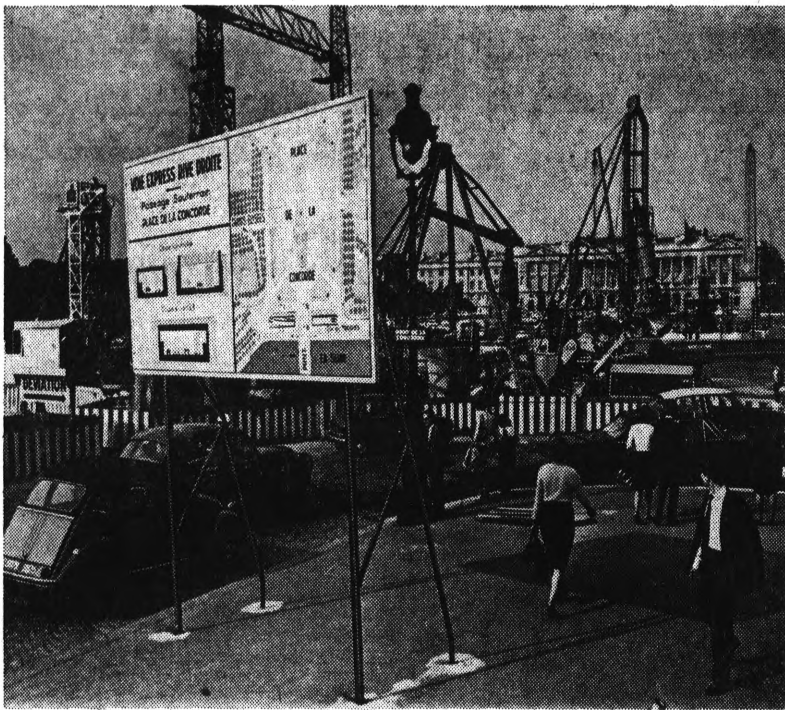

But from late fall to early spring Paris is for Parisians, many of whom are unnoticed by tourists during the busy season. Or if not unnoticed they stand out more clearly

Tied to 2½ Pct. Income Tax

Romney Budget: $1.1 Billion

LANSING (AP) — Gov. George Romney today recommended a general fund budget of $1,153,200,000 for fiscal 1967-68 accompanied by a 2½ per cent personal income tax.

Romney said his budget, the first billion dollar-plus spending program ever proposed by a Michigan governor, represented a $128-million increase over spending for the current fiscal year.

The governor released two separate messages—one dealing with his budget recommendations, the other outlining a new tax program.

Romney said the proposed legislation "embodies provisions for reform and additional revenue," adding that "the need for both is obvious."

In addition to the personal income tax, Romney proposed a 5 per cent tax on corporation, an 8 per cent tax on financial institutions and a 3-cent increase in the cigarette tax, all of which he said would yield $343 million in 1967-68.

He also proposed tax cuts totaling $88 million, including repeal of the business activities tax, a $10 per person cut in sales tax, a 10 per cent property tax reduction starting in 1968 and an increase in intangibles tax exemption from $20 to $100 a person.

The proposed tax program plus proposed cuts would result in a net of $255 million in new revenue in 1967-68, Romney said.

Romney's estimated revenues included a beginning surplus of $38 million along with $932.9 million in revenue from present sources and a net of $255 million in proposed new revenue.

He estimated his spending and taxation programs would result in a $72.7-million surplus at the end of 1967-68.

EFFECTIVE DATES

The proposed income tax would become effective July 1, 1967, the corporate income tax on Jan. 1, 1968. The cigarette tax increase would start July 1, 1967.

More than half of Romney's proposed spending — $605.6 million — would go for education. He said this represented a $40.9-million increase over this year's school spending.

Other major proposed spending areas included mental health, $147.6 million, an increase of $21.7 million; and social services, $159.4 million, a boost of $22.1 million.

Other spending increases proposed included a boost of $8.2 million for conservation, $8.4 million for capital outlay projects, $4 million for the State Police; $1.6 million for the judiciary; $1.5 million for public health activities and $1 million for civil rights programs.

EXPLAINS TAX PLAN

In explaining his proposed income tax plan, Romney said: "Only a small surplus of $38 million stands between us and a new state deficit."

Citing falling auto sales, he said it is possible the present surplus may be wiped out early in the new budget year. "We need new revenues and we need them quickly," he added.

Romney said the erasing of the $38-million general fund surplus was not the fault of recommended new programs.

He attributed the bulk of the anticipated deficit to a $129-million gap between today's revenues of $896 million and current expenditures of $1.05 billion.

REAPPROPRIATING

"Even if we took the extreme step of reappropriating this year's budget a deficit of $53 million would result," he said. "If this procedure were followed we would fail to provide $94 million necessary to meet built-in costs of providing services for our increasing population."

Evening Speech OK'd by House

LANSING (AP) — The House of Representatives passed a resolution today permitting Gov. Romney to deliver his planned tax reform and budget message to a joint legislative session tonight.

House Democrats delayed action on the usually routine measure yesterday, saying they wanted to read Romney's speech before they consented to grant his request for an unusual night session — during prime television time.

"If the governor's speech is nothing more than a political message," said House Democratic leader Joseph Kowalski, "we see no reason why the Legislature should meet in a special night session to provide a backdrop for a political television show."

Republicans promised Democratic leaders would be able to read the text of Romney's speech before voting on the resolution.

Peace Is Goal, Say Soviets

LONDON (UPI) — The Soviet Union intends "to secure a peace settlement" in Vietnam but has warned that any American escalation of the war will lead to increased Russian aid and volunteers for North Vietnamese forces, it was learned today.

The current Soviet stand in Vietnam was revealed last night by Soviet Ambassador to Britain Mikhail Smirnovski in a meeting with representatives of the British Council for Peace in Vietnam.

The statement quoted Smirnovski as saying Vietnam would be discussed by Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin and British Prime Minister Harold Wilson when Kosygin visits London next week.

It said the Russian envoy told the Council, "The Soviet government intends to secure a peace settlement, taking into account the views of The National Liberation Front (political arm of the Vietcong) and the Democratic Republic of Vietnam (Hanoi), including the five points of the former and four points of the latter, as a basis for discussion."

The statement said Smirnovski made clear that Russia was not authorized to negotiate on behalf of the Vietnamese people.

INCREASE RUSSIAN AID

The statement said Smirnovski also declared:

"If America mounted its military presence in Vietnam and extended its bombing attacks on North Vietnam, the Soviet government would seriously consider the need to increase its technical aid to the Vietnamese and the provision of liberty to its citizens, as would the governments of Communist countries in East Europe, to volunteer for service with the Vietnamese forces."

The new four-inch coating of white in the Chicago area on this Groundhog Day brought the total accumulation on the ground to 30 inches.

The new snow, expected to run its course today, was accompanied by freezing rain and high winds which caused drifts in some areas.

But the bad weather failed to halt the mad pace of shoppers who scrambled to lay in supplies because of the new storm.

"It's panic, that's what it is," said an executive of one downtown grocery store. The executive had been pressed into service to push carts.

All around him shoppers battled to get to diminishing supplies of milk and meat. The bread long had been gone.

As the snow fell outside, reminding many of last weekend's paralyzing blizzard, shoppers shoved, ran, grabbed, cursed, pushed and knocked others out of the way to get to food supplies.

"They're buying like there weren't going to be any groceries any more," said one store manager.

Snowfall Adds to Toil, Trouble

Traffic-heavy Pontiac and most other areas in southern Oakland County were hampered but not hamstrung by the second overnight snowstorm to hit the region in less than a week.

All major thoroughfares were reported open and passable, with city and county road officials crediting all-night work by public works crews with clearing the five-inch snowfall in time for rush-hour traffic.

A heavier deluge of snow, however — as much as eight inches in northern Oakland County and the Lapeer area — forced school closings in Holly and blocked off most roads in southern Lapeer County.

The new blanket boosts Pontiac's total snowfall to 46 inches for the season. Last winter (November through April) 23.5 inches fell on the area.

The U.S. Weather Bureau predicted only flurries of snow tonight, followed by falling temperatures as low as 10-16 degrees.

TEMPERATURE DOWN

The mercury, which read 26 at 8 a.m. in downtown Pontiac, was 27 at 2 p.m.

The latest snowfall will add two days to highway clean-up operations, however, according to Oakland County Road Commission Engineer Paul VanRoekel.

"Close to 15 per cent of our equipment is still undergoing repairs from last week," he said. "We've still got at least a week's work in clearing out county roads, particularly in subdivisions."

Sheldon Gold (center) and Dr. George Sehl, both residents at Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital.

Asst. City Editor—Suburban

Research may eventually be the professional umbilical cord that links doctors of medicine and doctors of osteopathy. This at least would appear as a possibility based on recent local happenings.

It doesn't amount to amalgamation, but it does appear to be a professional kinship of sorts.

Specifically, the research is the budding program at Pontiac State Hospital under the over-all directorship of Dr. Donald Dawson, formerly of the University of Chicago.

Now known as the Pontiac Medical Research Laboratories, the Dawson project is to eventually involve the staffs of both medical and osteopathic hospitals in the area.

Two residents from Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital, Dr. George Sehl and Dr. Sheldon Gold, were the first DOs in the area to formally join the research program, according to Dr. James Powell, director of medical education at Pontiac Osteopathic.

30-DAY PROGRAM

Drs. Sehl and Gold just completed a 30-day training program at the research laboratories, learning the use of a variety of laboratory machinery.

MDs currently making use of the Pontiac State laboratories, under the tutelage of Dr. Dawson, include a group of 10 resident physicians from Pontiac General Hospital.

Dr. Robert Tupper, director of medical education at Pontiac General, explained that staff members were making only intermittent use of the research program at the present time.

However, a more definitive program is to be worked this spring, said Dr. Tupper.

Meantime, the research facilities appear to be in good shape.

Quints Are Born in NY; One Dead

NEW YORK (AP) — Four surviving quintuplets born to a $106-a-week postal clerk and his wife after five years of a childless marriage were reported in fair condition today.

One of the infants, a girl who was the fifth delivered last night, was still-born.

Dr. Morton A. Schiffer, director of the department of obstetrics and gynecology at Brooklyn Jewish Hospital, said the chances of the remaining three girls and a boy surviving are "pretty good."

"They all look in very good shape," he said. "One baby is small (a girl who weighs 2 pounds, 10 ounces) but it looks to be in good shape."

The Groundhog Turns Grouchy

By ED BLUNDEN

At least one groundhog didn't emerge today for his annual ceremony. He was found on a nearby county farm, his burrow almost completely hidden by recent snows. Luckily he was a talking groundhog. Here's how it went:

Knock, knock.

"Huñ, (groan). Who is it?"

"It's the inquiring reporter, Mr. Groundhog, here for my annual interview."

"A/guy can't get any sleep around here. I just got to bed last November."

"Yes, but you're supposed to emerge today, look around and if you see a shadow, folks can expect six more weeks of winter."

"Poppycock. We groundhogs eat grass. Where's the grass, buddy?"

"But how will people know what to expect if you don't come out?"

"Look at the forecast in the paper, that's what I do."

"Say, I never thought of that."

"Look fellow, it's the middle of winter, I'm going to sleep at least six more weeks. If you were smart, you'd do the same thing. Good night!"

Book on 1966 Being Offered

Readers of The Press will soon be able to obtain the Associated Press's annual volume of living history—"The World in 1966."

The book—jammed with news stories and pictures from the past year—is being offered to Press subscribers for the third straight year.

This year's edition—priced at $3.50 a copy—promises to be better than ever.

It will contain 40 color pictures—twice as many as last year—and there will be increased emphasis on black and white photos. Also, the "you were there" articles were written more often than not by Associated Press staffers who actually were there.

The Press will provide a coupon shortly which will enable readers to order the book directly from the Associated Press.

Interim Report Due on Apollo 1 Blaze

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The space agency's deputy administrator meets today with the board of review that reportedly is far from pinpointing the cause of the mysterious fire that killed the three Apollo 1 astronauts.

Dr. Robert C. Seamans of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration flies here to receive an interim report on the flash fire that raged through the Apollo spacecraft during a launch pad test last Friday.

He was scheduled to arrive at the Cape Kennedy air strip about 10 a.m. EST.

TWIN CRAFT

To aid the investigators, a twin of the ill-fated Apollo was flown here Wednesday night from the North American Aviation Co. in Downey, Calif.

If necessary, the board of review will place Apollo 1 and its duplicate side-by-side — meticulously dismantling both, comparing them part by part.

The board reportedly has found no major suspect area after questioning witnesses and studying data radioed from the spacecraft during the test Friday.

Among many things, the board is considering the possibility that some foreign, highly-inflammable substance such as grease or paper might accidentally have been left near a heat source in the cabin.

FLASH POINT

In a 100 per cent oxygen environment like that in Apollo 1, the flash point of any combustible is much lower than it would be under normal atmospheric conditions.

Throughout Wednesday, technicians carefully removed parts of the launch escape tower and other pieces in preparation for taking the charred craft from atop its Saturn 1 rocket on Launch Pad 34.

Wednesday night, they removed debris from the blackened cabin seats, piece by piece, cataloging each bit.

NASA Administrator James E. Webb Wednesday discussed the tragedy in a Washington talk to a women's group, the Washington Club.

"We have the greatest confidence in the capabilities of the spacecraft systems that have developed through the scientists and universities of this nation, the engineers and production people, the people in the government laboratories," he said.

Answering critics of a 100 per cent oxygen environment, Webb noted that this system had been used safely through six Mercury and 10 Gemini manned flights.

Dixie Dems Likely to Hold Key in House

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite their second party caucus defeat — this one on restoring seniority to Rep. John Bell Williams — Southern Democrats still are likely to hold a balance of House power in this session of Congress.

Williams, a 20-year House veteran, said the vote against him Wednesday "ran the South out of the Democratic party." It almost certainly did not ease the way for liberals to deal with the Southerners on legislation.

The Democratic caucus two years ago stripped Williams of his No. 2 ranking on the House Commerce Committee after he backed Republican Barry Goldwater for president in 1964.

Williams' attempt to regain his ranking failed 134 to 100.

SECOND REBUFF

It was the second time this session that the caucus rebuffed a Southern Democrat. Last month, party members assigned a New York liberal, Jacob H. Gilbert, to the ways and means committee over Omar Burleson, a conservative Texan.

Both caucuses were controlled by a group of liberals known as the Democratic Study Group.

CIRCUS-BOUND — Diane Heizer, a special education pupil at Herrington Elementary School, gets her ticket for a ringside seat at yesterday's Shrine Circus from Richard L. Doud, vice president of the Pontiac Shrine Club. The club took more than 2,000 youngsters from Pontiac area special education classes, Oakland County Child Guidance Clinic and Pontiac State Hospital on the 16th annual outing to the Detroit circus.

County GOP Suffers Split

Republicans in Oakland County's 19th Congressional District will send two sets of delegates to the GOP State Convention in Detroit this month as a result of an intraparty fight.

The split developed when a substitute slate of candidates backed by conservatives won over a moderate-supported delegation at the district's convention Tuesday night at Walled Lake High School.

When the moderates failed to gain a roll call on the 53-52 stand-up vote, the meeting was adjourned by District Chairman Christian Powell, a West Bloomfield Township attorney, on a motion by Pontiac attorney Richard Kuhn, a conservative leader in the county.

Moderates, headed by Dale A. Feet of Waterford Township, former county GOP chairman, protested the move, saying it violated parliamentary procedure, and continued the convention after Powell left the meeting.

The slate they approved will also attend the state convention Feb. 24.

NOT RUMP CONVENTION

"As far as I'm concerned it was not a rump convention since the meeting was improperly adjourned," said Feet.

Feet said he filed a protest yesterday with the Republican State Central Committee, and the decision as to which group of 57 delegates will be certified at the state convention will be up to the credentials committee of the party.

Powell said yesterday that the motion to adjourn was in order.

The 18th Congressional District convention also was held at the Walled Lake High School the same evening and the slate of 110 delegates from the district was approved.

pear to be a common ground sometimes sought by often warring MDs and DOs. The professional kinship may have earned the tacit approval of the respective professional associations.

"It's not an amalgamation factor," said Dr. Powell. "I think it's just that each is recognizing the other in his field. We have to work together for the full care of the patient."

He added that joining the research program appeared to be the first formal connection between local MDs and DOs, although there has been much informal cooperation on a variety of public health care efforts.

Dr. Powell mentioned that he has worked on MD committees for the campaign to end measles, antipolio drives, the poison kit drive and the visual perception committee.

Commenting on the joint use of the research facilities, Dr. Kenneth Vandenberg, president of the Oakland County Medical Society, said:

"The medical community supports all efforts that are incident to the advancement of the medical profession in its dedication to be of service to mankind."

"To teach his knowledge to whom so ever seeks" is the professional essence of the code of ethics," said the society president.

"We encourage the extension of education as offered at our local research center," he concluded.

Still in the toddler stage, the Pontiac State research program is slated to become more sophisticated with closer ties to area hospitals and educational institutions, involving both MDs and DOs.

Hudson Store Exec Named

George J. Geigle of St. Clair Shores has been appointed store superintendent of Hudson's Pontiac store, according to Joseph L. Hudson Jr., president of the J. L. Hudson Co.

Geigle, who has been assistant store superintendent of services, for the downtown Detroit store, will assume his new duties immediately.

The full-line Pontiac store is scheduled to be in operation about mid-1967.

Geigle joined Hudson's in 1939 as a stockboy. He spent the next five years in the Navy, and returned to the store in 1946 to rise to his present position.

"Any country not directly involved could contribute to a settlement," Kennedy told newsmen.

Japan Warrior Objects on Display at Cranbrook

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — Some 200 objects used by the famed Samurai warriors of Japan are on display at the Young People's Art Center of Cranbrook Academy of Art Galleries.

A 12th century general's baton, swords, iron stirrups with silver inlay, a armor mask, matchlock rifle, wood block prints and a sketch book of a sword maker are on display.

The collection was gathered by Millard J. Holbrook II of Portland, Ore., a graduate student in metal-smithing at the academy. It demonstrates the development of art work used by the Samurai from the 15th to 18th centuries.

The show will last through February. Guided tours are available.

BIRMINGHAM — J. Hector Nimmo of 527 W. Frank has been installed as president of the Birmingham Kiwanis Club.

Other officers are Robert W. Montgomery, first vice president; Ralph R. Watts Jr., second vice president; Jack A. Daugherty, treasurer; and Darryl Bruestle, secretary.

A report on the progress of team teaching will be heard by the Birmingham Board of Education at their regular meeting 8 p.m. Tuesday at Evergreen School.

The new manager of the secretary of state's office, 292 Park, is Frank A. Crowley, a businessman from Clarkson. He was appointed last month.

Crowley announced license sales are far behind last year and urged residents to get theirs as soon as possible to avoid a deadline jam-up.

Guerrillas Hit Laos Airfield

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—Between 20 and 30 Communist Pathet Lao guerrillas raided the airport of Laung Prabang, the royal capital of Laos, early today and destroyed six T28 fighters and two helicopters, a spokesman for the royal Lao army announced.

The spokesman said three other Laotian air force planes were damaged, five or six persons were killed and five to eight others were wounded.

It was not known whether any of the raiders were among the killed or wounded.

Vietnam Hero Beats Death Once Again

SAIGON (UPI) — Capt. William Bill Carpenter flirted with death again yesterday and won.

The former West Point football "lonesome end" won battlefield glory in June when he called down a U.S. fiery napalm air strike on his surrounded paratroop company's position to hold off Communist hordes successfully until help came.

Carpenter again braved the threat of fiery death yesterday by pausing to pick up a helpless comrade and carry him from a crash-landed transport plane awash with gasoline, American sources told UPI.

The C123 transport had left Saigon's Tan Son Nhut Air Base carrying Carpenter to a secret base on a new assignment.

THREAT OF FIRE

But the bounce had ripped off a wheel, torn open the fuselage and sprayed fuel from a shredded line. One spark in a crash landing meant a possible fiery holocaust.

The pilot radioed Tan Son Nhut to get ready. At the huge base, a runway was sprayed with flame-suffocating foam.

The pilot told his passengers to jump out and run the moment the C123 halted. Carpenter looked at a fellow passenger, a major.

The major had suffered a broken ankle in the bounce.

The crippled craft made a screeching belly landing. All but two men dashed out to escape the possible flames.

Marines Start 2 New Drives

68 Cong Said Killed; More Surrendering

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — U. S. Marines today reported killing 68 Communist troops in the initial phases of two new drives in the northern part of South Vietnam.

In action elsewhere, American, Korean and South Vietnamese units claimed nearly 150 enemy dead in a series of clashes up and down the country.

U. S. military headquarters announced that 131 Americans were killed and 822 were wounded in action last week, a small increase over the previous week's toll of 123 killed and 716 wounded. South Vietnamese headquarters listed 157 government troops killed last week, a sharp drop from the 340 of a week earlier. A total of 979 enemy killed was reported by the Americans, a big drop from 1,681 the week before.

MANY SURRENDER

U. S. officials reported a high rate of surrender by the Vietcong and its sympathizers continued in January. In the first 28 days of the month, officials said, 2,272 came over to the allied side.

Enemy forces also increased last week, U. S. headquarters said, to an estimated 284,000. This was 3,000 more than the estimate the week before, but there was no explanation of the increase.

In the iron triangle northwest of Saigon, where a force of some 30,000 U. S. and South Vietnamese troops last week ended a 19-day scorched-earth operation to eliminate the Vietcong stronghold, a small security patrol of the U. S. 1st Infantry Division suffered heavy casualties in a clash with a Vietcong squad. The U. S. patrol was of squad size, a U. S. spokesman said, or from eight to 14 men.

Review of Shakespeare Offering

Fernald's 'Labour' Is Not Lost

By JANET ODELL

Pontiac Press Women's Editor

What Shakespeare said in the language of the Elizabethan age still has a timely ring — women who put their minds to it can twist men around their little fingers.

"Love's Labour's Lost," the second production of the John Fernald Company at Oakland University's Meadow Brook Theatre, opened last night to a house two-thirds full. The curtain was delayed for some 400 theatre lovers who defied heavy wet snow.

The King of Navarre, played by Terence Scammell, and three of his lords — George Guidall, Victor Holchak and Booker T. Bradshaw Jr. — vow to devote three years to study and not to see women at all during the time.

Bound on a political mission for her father, Barbara Caruso as the Princess of France, arrives with three ladies-in-waiting, Roni Dengel, Jill Tanner and Angela Wood.

The men are smitten; the women are provocative; the vows are forewarned and the ladies have the last word in the affair.

EARLY WORK

In this early play of Shakespeare some characters anticipate those in later plays.

There's a play within a play as in "Midsummer Night's Dream." Like Puck in that same play, Eric Berry as Don Adriano de Armado, a lovesick Spanish cavalier, concludes "Love's Labour's Lost" with a poem addressed to the audience.

Berry, Guidall and Joshua

Bryant as a clown particularly delighted this reviewer.

Curt Dawson and John Cameron as schoolmaster and curate have a debate that, slow and a bit incomprehensible at the start, gathers momentum and becomes one of the funnier portions of the play.

NEWCOMER

The newcomer to the company, Roni Dengel, is lovely, both in features and in voice.

If for no other reason than that the players were enjoying themselves, the audience did too. A bit passive during much of the play, they rewarded the company with prolonged applause at the end.

The play is done on the type of stage for which Shakespeare wrote, an approximation of the 16th century Globe Theatre in London.

Yank Likely to Ask Czechs for a Suspended Sentence

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia (AP)—A Massachusetts travel agent sentenced to eight years imprisonment for heading a spy ring 16 years ago is expected to ask for suspension of his sentence and expulsion from his native Czechoslovakia.

Vladimir Kazan-Komarek, 42, a naturalized American from Wellesley, Mass., displayed no emotion when the Communist court gave its verdict Wednesday behind closed doors.

"He is satisfied with the verdict," his local lawyer, Dr. Václav Patracek, told a newsman. "We will not appeal it."

Under Czechoslovak law, however, the defense can ask the court to suspend the balance of the sentence and expel the defendant from the country. Informed sources said such a motion would probably be filed at once.

WIRE FROM SENATOR

Sen. Edward W. Brooke, R-Mass., wired the Czechoslovak ambassador to the United States, Karel Buda, asking him "to impress upon your government the importance of suspending the sentence and the expulsion of Mr. Kazan-Komarek from Czechoslovakia." Some U.S. officials in Washington said the case would provide ammunition for opponents of the Johnson administration's efforts to improve relations with East European Communist governments.

Kazan-Komarek's father-in-law, Donald Hunt of Wellesley, said the family had expected the verdict but was "still optimistic."

Kazan-Komarek, head of a travel agency in Cambridge, Mass., was hauled off a Soviet airliner last Oct. 31 when it made an unscheduled stop in Prague on a flight from Moscow to Paris.

The Soviets and the Czechoslovaks said the landing was made for "technical" reasons. The U.S. State Department expressed doubt the plane would have landed at Prague—nearly 100 miles south of the Moscow-Paris flight route—unless there was connivance to deliver Kazan-Komarek to the Prague authorities. The State Department filed a strong protest with the Czechoslovaks and retaliated by denying visas to most applicants from Czechoslovakia.

'AMERICAN RING'

The three-judge court convicted Kazan-Komarek of organizing and directing an antistate group as the paid agent of a foreign intelligence service from late 1948, after the Communists took over Czechoslovakia, until December 1950. Czech sources said the spy ring was American.

The court said Kazan-Komarek operated in West Germany and France as well as Czechoslovakia. He was charged with smuggling out people "in whom the foreign intelligence service was interested" and bringing two radio transmitters and arms into the country.

Antistate activities in Czechoslovakia are theoretically punishable by death, but this penalty has not been invoked since Stalin's time. The maximum prison sentence could have been 15 years.

The court said it took into account the fact that more than 16 years had elapsed since Kazan-Komarek engaged in espionage.

TAVERN SCENE — The Clarkston Village Players rehearse for their presentation of "A Touch of the Poet." Many of the stage props used in the play are authentic antiques, borrowed from area residents. For O'Neill Play

Curtain Going Up in Clarkston

CLARKSTON — The Clarkston Village Players will present their first performance of "A Touch of the Poet," by Eugene O'Neill tomorrow night.

Chet Smith, director, calls the play "A passionate work, full of emotion." He said "It's an ambitious effort by the players. I'm pleased with the way rehearsals have gone and I'm sure the audiences will find the play a little different than the pub-licum dished out on television."

All seats are sold for tomorrow's premiere, but seats are available for the performances (February 10, 11, 17 and 18, all at 8:30 p.m.).

The drama is set in America on the East Coast in the early 1800s. It concerns an Irish family and their encounter with the established gentry of New York.

The play has been described as part of a goal dramatist O'Neill had of a series of 11 plays that would depict American life from the past through the present. "A Touch of the Poet" would have been the third in the series, which was abandoned by O'Neill later in his life.

OWN MERIT

He is said to have preserved this play because it stood on its own merit. It was first presented in New York in 1957 and ran on Broadway for 284 performances.

Smith said the Players will try to capture the sense of tragedy in O'Neill's work. "We hope to make it an emotional experience," he said.

The Players have put a lot of work into preparing their playhouse for this, their second effort of their sixth season. The interior has been freshened up and extra dressing rooms, stage carpentry and decorations added.

The playhouse is an old depot on White Lake Road next to the railroad tracks. It seats exactly 80, none of them very far from the small stage.

CURTAIN

An antique curtain, inherited from previous Clarkston theatrics, has been refurbished and adds to the nostalgic decor. The building is owned by the group and rests on land owned by the railroad. The Players hold a $25-a-year lease.

The performers are mostly

Hospital Employees Ratify 'Contract'

LAPEER — State hospital employees here ratified a contract yesterday which they claim has the agreement of the Michigan Department of Mental Health and which that department said does not exist.

The "contract" does not specify wages and hours.

A further meeting has been called for 8 p.m. Wednesday by the Michigan State Employees Union State Home Local 567 to formulate a supplement to the "contract," including such items as seniority, hours and pay.

"What happens after that depends on what the state does," hospital employees have said.

Ratification by the employees has left the Michigan Civil Service Commission in the position of having half a contract when it doesn't even recognize collective bargaining for employees.

OTHER ELECTIONS

Other ratification elections, including one at Caro State Home today and at Pontiac next week, are scheduled throughout the month of February.

Bank Reports Large Resource, Deposit Increases

TROY — Troy National Bank reports a large increase in resources and deposits over the last year.

Increases of 29 per cent in resources and 25.8 per cent in deposits were made. Total resources were put at almost $25 million.

Profits of $3.16 were paid, which is 9.84 per cent of the book value, the bank said.

The bank opened a second branch office at 15 Mile and Coolidge during the year and is planning a third branch at 16 Mile and Coolidge.

Supervisor Named; Probe Set

By JANICE KLOUSER

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — A three-week vacancy in the supervisor's chair has been filled with the appointment last night of trustee John F. Warren to replace Duane K. Sanford.

In relatively quick fashion, the board last night named Warren, a business executive, and announced a five-member citizens committee would be formed to further investigate Sanford's "reasons" for resigning as supervisor.

The board did not comment on the "reasons."

Warren of 6245 Willow will fill the position until the term expires in April. If another supervisor is not found in the meantime, he could be reappointed in April to fill Sanford's elected term which would expire in April 1969.

The board accepted Sanford's resignation "with regrets" after reading a lengthy letter in which he outlined in greater detail his previous reasons for quitting the post to which he was elected last November.

CHARGES

The board's citizens committee is "to more clearly ascertain the reasons" for the resignation and to review all other pertinent factors concerning his decision.

In his original letter of resignation, Sanford charged, among other things, "harassment of department heads by various board members" and a lack of authority vested in the supervisor.

The board refused to accept his resignation until he more fully explained the charges.

One of his major complaints, he said, concerned the areas of responsibility and authority.

'CONFIDENCE'

"As the elected supervisor of the community," he said, "I feel that this places the confidence of the electorate in my ability to run those aspects of the township government which fall within the supervisor's area."

These, he said, include the assessing, building, police, water and sewer functions and normally the fire department which is presently excluded "because of ordinance provisions."

"The approved budgets for these activities should, I feel, fall within the supervisor's authority to administer," he said.

"However, in reality, there are many unwritten rules and regulations regarding salary administration, general expenditures and personnel policies, that in many cases it is unclear where the authority truly lies.

'HARASSMENT'

He said he views the role of the board as a legislative and policy-making body and cannot understand some administrative functions being carried out by the board or its individual members.

Concerning his "harassment of department heads" charge, Sanford praised the assessing department for a "very conscientious job" but said these

Ousted Officer to Get Hearing

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — Sgt. Glen Helgemo, who was suspended from the Township Police Department three weeks ago, will be given a hearing at 7 p.m. Feb. 17.

Five charges were made against Helgemo but the board would not release them as public record until he has a chance to see them.

The hearing will be before the township board and the police appeals board. It will amount to two hearings as the members of the two boards are the same in each instance.

Residents Urged to Store Survival Food

LANSING (AP)—Every home should always be stocked with survival food to meet emergencies such as the recent snowstorm which all but buried southern Michigan, the State Department of Agriculture says.

Ball says last week's blizzard left many homes stranded for as much as four days. Ball's department is responsible for protection of the public food supply in case of emergency or disaster.

He said survival foods should include dried, powdered and canned staples needing no refrigeration. These should be stored in a cool, dry place protected from insects, rodents, water and fire.

Emergency rations also should include liquids, Ball said, since floods, tornadoes or other disasters may make usual water supplies unsafe.

Regional Okay

STURGIS (AP)—Glen Oaks Community College said Wednesday its request for $81,721 in federal funds to implement student loan and work study programs, has gained preliminary approval from the regional office of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare in Chicago. The national office in Washington, D. C., still must approve the grant.

Everything Is 'Fine' for Driver Now

DETROIT (AP)—Carlyn J. Kalnits fought City Hall and won. Last April, the suburban Township mother of three refused to accept a suspended license of $10 set by Municipal Judge John H. McCartney of Wayne County Circuit Court. The case came up Wednesday.

Armed with maps drawn by her husband, Atis, a layout and design trainee at Ford Motor Co., time tables and driving manuals, she went before Judge Thomas J. Foley.

"I've got statistics from the road commission on time intervals for lights changing from green to amber to red," Mrs. Kalnits said.

Jaycees Crown State Junior Miss

Like an invigorating breath of spring is the annual visit to Pontiac of a bevy of beauties entrancing as you'll ever see. The young ladies, here from all parts of the State, compete for the crown of Michigan's Junior Miss under a auspices of the local Junior Chamber of Commerce.

KATHIE

Selection of the pick of the crop — an ever increasing dilemma for judges — and the pageant that highlights it has been a yearly local event since 1859.

That year, a year after the national Junior Chamber of Commerce adopted the Junior Miss project, 16 state hopefuls made the trip to Pontiac. This year saw 37.

The winners of the 50 state titles move on to Mobile, Ala., in March to compete for the national title. Michigan's Junior Miss won it two years ago, when a Stevensville Miss took Mobile like GRANT took Richmond.

Junior Miss competition is limited to high school seniors, who are judged in four categories of excellence. Beauty is by no means the decisive factor.

Scholarship and cash awards go to state winners and a breathtaking package of scholarship and personal-appearance benefits awaits the lucky lass who wins nationally.

KATHIE FLISS, of Lenawee County, was chosen last weekend to carry Michigan's banner southward. The Press adds its voice to the chorus of best wishes that will accompany her.

Our Jaycees and area families who have extended hospitality to the contestants during their Pontiac stay rate highest praise for making the Junior Miss Pageant the prestigious production it has become.

Guilty Verdict Disperses Stench of Baker Case

One of the more reassuring developments originating in Washington in recent times was the conviction Sunday of BOBBY BAKER on seven of eight charges covering theft and fraudulent income tax procedures.

All told, the convictions add up to 48 years in jail and $47,000 in fines.

The three-week trial culminated a string of revelations and criminal charges involving the 38-year-old figure who rose from page boy to Democratic majority secretary of the Senate. During his rise he contrived close ties with the capital's top political and business figures while amassing a fortune in the millions.

Because of the sensitivity of the area in which BAKER moved and the ramifications of his operations, many believed his influence would shield him from a public trial. Indeed, the report of a Senate committee which had investigated BAKER and his maze of financial transactions was notable for its leniency.

Now, however, a reprehensible character has been brought to justice, and with it clear indication of the basic integrity of the American system of jurisprudence.

The Press commends the Baker jury on its verdict, Judge Oliver Gasch on the able conduct of the trial and Justice Department Attorney William O. Bittman on his competent prosecution of it.

A Private Foreign Aid Program to Watch

"Give a man a fish," says an old proverb, "and you feed him for a day. Teach a man to fish and you feed him for a lifetime."

The proverb could well be updated in farming: "Teach a man modern agricultural technology and you feed not only him but many others, and in doing it strengthen the base from which all the other arts of civilization proceed."

It is with this idea in mind that an American company has launched a first-of-its-kind project to improve farming efficiency in retarded areas of the world. It is experimenting with a four-level aid program to Colombia.

The program includes:

- Four fully paid scholarships to Michigan State University, one of the foremost agricultural schools in the world;

- The loan of tractors and matching equipment to Colombian agricultural training institutions;

- Mobile educational vans, which will give mechanized equipment training demonstrations throughout Colombia;

- Classroom teaching aids — charts, movies, slides and brochures — for use in Colombian schools.

If successful, the program will be extended to other countries in Latin America, a continent with the highest population growth rate in the world and where "teaching a man to fish" may mean the difference between peaceful progress or violent upheaval in our lifetimes.

Oh For The Days When He Had A Stand-In

David Lawrence Says:

War Critic Has Good Hindsight

WASHINGTON — It's tough to be an American military commander these days, especially in Vietnam.

No matter what the enemy does in attacking by mortar fire or bombs the villages and towns where American soldiers and villagers are stationed, news reports tell our armed forces that prominent persons in America are saying the United States shouldn't retaliate by bombing the enemy's strongholds, as this might be a "psychological" mistake.

Edwin O. Reischauer, who recently resigned as American ambassador to Japan, testified before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee on Tuesday. He said of the bombing of North Vietnam:

"Here is a psychological blunder on our part: the notion that we bring them to the negotiating table by making it painful enough."

OPPORTUNITY FOR STUDY

He has had an opportunity to study the currents of opinion in Asia and says that he agrees in general with the American objectives but differs somewhat in how they should be attained.

Reischauer is a good "Monday - morning quarterback." He says the United States should not have gotten into Vietnam in the first place. He refers to 1954, when Vietnam was divided.

The United States, however, issued its protest then and warned the world that sooner or later a catastrophe would come because aggressors were still grabbing territory and infiltrating other countries.

Unquestionably, it would be helpful if Asians took care of their own affairs and Europeans did likewise. But in a world in which military and economic power is still decisive, aggression against small nations can hardly be ignored.

PRESENTS PARADOX

Reischauer presents a paradox when he says: "We should not sponsor political, social or economic change in Asian countries, though we should be responsive to requests from them for aid in carrying out such changes, whenever we judge that these changes would help in the healthy development of these countries and that our aid could usefully contribute to this end."

But if the United States doesn't sponsor social or economic changes and doesn't promise its aid, what other country will do this for the Asian continent?

Reischauer says the United States "should not seek to play the role of leader in Asia, rallying allies to our policies, but should attempt to withdraw to the role of a friendly outside supporter of individual or collective Asian initiatives."

This is precisely what President Johnson has tried to do. Nothing would please the American government more than to have the Asians take care of their own affairs.

at Saigon's Caravelle Hotel last month.

Among those present was Francois Sully of Newsweek. He surprised her a bit by taking a number of pictures of her.

"What's this all about?" she laughed. "Are you doing my — what you call — necrology?"

"You mean obituary?" Sully said pleasantly. "Yes, obituary is what I mean to say," said the pretty girl. And the ridiculous talk turned to more realistic topics.

Mannamed Louis F. Drewes, of Hemet, Calif., wrote President Johnson his peace plan recently and sent me a copy of it, plus the original of the reply he received from Washington.

"Drop leaflets containing a white flag and the pledge to give each defector $1,000. The thought of being able to buy a piece of land and freedom would be a great temptation. Since it has cost us about $1 million for each North Vietnamese enemy casualty, it would be a bargain."

"As each North Vietnamese surrenders with his white flag and leaflet, have somebody stamp his arm with a vegetable coloring ink."

"Then send him to the place where he gets his money. There, he should be stamped again with a 'paid' mark, so that he couldn't collect twice."

"If you should like this idea, I will remain quiet and let it be your idea."

CHANGES SEX

Asst. Sec. of State Dixon Donnelly promptly replied, and changed Mr. Drewes' sex in the process:

"Miss Louis F. Drewes 40390 Mayberry Ave. Hemet, Calif. Dear Miss Drewes:

President Johnson has asked me to reply to your recent communication concerning Vietnam.

The President always appreciates the helpful interest of his fellow citizens in making their views known to him. You may be sure that your comments have been fully noted. Sincerely yours,

Lab on Space Research Costly

By RAY CROMLEY WASHINGTON (NEA) — The tragedy of the space program is that too little of the money and scientific manpower have been put into basic research and state of the art research.

"There would not have prevented accidents such as that, which caused the death of astronaut White and Roger Chaffee. But it would have made them less likely."

That is, too effort has been put into learning more of the physical laws governing space flight, electronics, gravity in space, the interaction of different sensors with electronic and mechanical components.

"Too little work has been put into finding the principles needed for developing superior components or into the basic relationships between components in systems as complicated as those used in rockets and spacecrafts."

"Too little is known about gases, including pure oxygen and its characteristics. Too little is known about sparks and

To what legal recourse can property owners resort when they feel their taxes and assessments are unreasonable, specifically township taxes?

MILFORD TOWNSHIP TAXPAYER

REPLY

Your township office tells us you should go before the Board of Review. A group of three appointed by the Township Board, they meet in the Township office the first Tuesday following the first Monday in March (March 7 of this year) to set up a schedule for their hearings. When that schedule is established, it will be advertised in the Milford paper. The Board of Review stays in session until everyone has been heard.

DOT Ready to Begin Operations

By JAMES MARLOW Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON — About 50 people in a few offices at one end of the 8th floor of a Washington office building are busy pulling together the pieces of the 12th and new, second government department called DOT for short.

Although Congress created MARLOW the Department of Transportation last October, it isn't now scheduled to be in business before March 1. When it is, it will have 31 government agencies, and bureaus under its wing, and 90,000 employees.

This makes it a very big department but, because of the way Congress set it up, it will be a long way from being one of the strongest arms of the government.

DOT will be mainly a moral force, a persuader, and a coordinator in the scrambled and tangled fields of air, rail and road transportation.

The various agencies and bureaus making up DOT will be ones dealing with railroads, airlines, buses, and all types of transportation except those on water because Congress did not include the Maritime Administration.

AGENCIES

Among the agencies that are included are the Bureau of Public Roads, the Coast Guard and the Federal Aviation Agency.

But Congress didn't turn over to DOT the rule-making and regulatory powers that belong to the Interstate Commerce Commission, the Civil Aeronautics Board, the Federal Power Commission or the Maritime Administration.

This may make DOT look like a weakling among the government department giants.

But it can make recommendations to the President on what is needed in transportation. Then, when he accepts recommendations and offers them to Congress as his policies and programs, they should have tremendous weight.

PLANNING JOB

All this means is that DOT has the job of planning for the present and the future in American transportation, which gets more mixed up by the day and is expected to double in 20 years.

The continuing, pressing problem is the general demand for transportation which runs parallel to the country's economic growth. In this century four new systems of transportation were developed: autos, trucks, airplanes and pipelines.

Since few new systems are being imagined for the 33 years left before the end of this century, one of DOT's main tasks will be to figure out how the country can do better with what it has.

In short, DOT's job is to develop a national transportation policy. Boyd believes it will take a year to get his new department fully organized and on the road.

Quits Medicine... It Pays Off

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — First he was a violinist. Then he became an eye doctor.

BOYLE
Business.

Relatively little known to the general public, Jules C. Stein, now 70, is the philanthropic financier who founded and is presently chairman of MCA, Inc., holding company for a $200-million-a-year entertainment, real estate and banking empire.

It is the parent firm of Universal Pictures, Universal Television, Decca Records, and several other enterprises.

SIDELINE

Stein, son of a South Bend, Ind., dry goods store owner, worked his way through the University of Chicago and Rush Medical College playing the violin and saxophone. After a year at the University of Vienna he became chief resident ophthalmologist at the Cook County Hospital.

"As a sideline, I was booking bands," he recalled. "At that time bands often played in the same spot for years."

"I conceived the idea that bands ought to move around more from place to place — the idea of the traveling band."

The idea proved an instant bonanza. Stein founded the Music Corp. of America in 1924, and a year later gave up the practice of medicine.

His firm, in addition to booking bands, began to manage individual performers in vaudeville, motion pictures, radio, and eventually television.

TOP NAMES

"Over the years we handled 600 bands including Guy Lombardo's, and represented about 75 per cent of the great artists in the entertainment field," Stein said.

"Among them were people like Edgar Bergen, Bette Davis, Clark Gable, Jack Benny, Jimmy Stewart, George Murphy and Ronald Reagan."

Stein, a small, slender, white-haired man with genial brown eyes and a chipper manner, chuckled drily as he recalled the temperamental problems of dealing with some of the stars he helped make famous.

"My medical background often stood me in good stead because some of my clients also became patients. I found sometimes that the more neurotic an artist was, the greater also was his talent," he said.

DIFFERENCE

"Their greatness was exemplified by their difference from normal people. In my opinion you shouldn't go into the artistic or medical fields unless you are warm or sensitive in personality. Great artists may often be emotional, but they aren't cold-blooded."

"There is plenty of room for cold-blooded businessmen. Some say I am," Stein smiled. "But I'm not. Some people are frightened of me perhaps because of my position. But I've always felt that the bigger the man the easier he is to reach."

MCA was forced to divest itself of its talent-management functions. Since then, MCA has roughly doubled its annual gross income.

As a hobby, Stein has accumulated 18th century English furniture. But his chief interest in life aside from his work is eye research.

As chairman of an organization called Research to Prevent Blindness, Inc., he has helped raise more than $10 million in the last seven years for some 30 medical colleges and ophthalmological institutes across the country.

"Some 30,000 Americans go blind each year," he said. "And since it has been found that 75 per cent of blindness is preventable, that means that the sight of 22,500 of them can be saved if proper steps are taken. I feel that is something worth doing."

The seven Trucial Shaikhdoms of the Arabian Peninsula cover about 32,000 square miles. Each maintains treaty relations with Great Britain which undertakes to preserve their independence and territorial integrity.

LOAD UP — Ann Strait and her husband Noyce of 412 Iroquois load up with the help of pilot Walt Baker (right) of 5901 Dixie Highway, Waterford Township. "Early to

It's Just 'Plane' Fun

STORY, PHOTOS
By EDWARD R. NOBLE

The Jet Set "shooshes" away to exotic beaches and gilded resorts, but Michigan's ever-increasing "Prop Set" is finding adventure and relaxation only an hour away from home.

Skis are tucked neatly into ski tubes of small planes and, within a few minutes after a restless flight over snow banks and clogged roads, devotees of the slopes feel the brisk northland air brushing across their ruddy cheeks.

Are you in a hurry to ski? If so, to join the "Prop Set" you need only a small plane and gasoline money. For the busy or harassed executive who wants to get away from it all for even a few hours, northern Michigan by plane is something new, enjoyable, relaxing and fashionable.

At Boyne Mountain for example, there's a small landing strip within a few hundred yards of the foot of the slopes.

So you wake up some morning and want some fresh mountain air to perk up your lagging spirits? Okay, load the skis in the plane and take off. Within an hour of Pontiac you ease the plane down and strap on your skis. A few hours later, you're back home refreshed and ready to tackle what comes next.

Many other ski areas in Michigan are now clearing small landing strips adjoining the resorts. And with small planes, it's an easy matter to find a suitable field near the slopes that may intrigue the "Prop Setter" as he "whishes" over.

Most all ski resorts now feature a shuttle service to and from the landing strip. It's an indication of how popular the prop-ski fad is becoming.

It's not necessary to own a plane to join the "Prop Set" or even be a pilot. Rent one. If you are a pilot, the cost of renting a small plane can be as low as $14 per hour. Split four ways, it isn't much. It takes less gas to fly to northern Michigan than it does to drive . . . and it's safer.

The Pontiac Municipal Airport says there are from 150 to 200 private planes hangared there — a sizable increase over last year — which is straining its already overtaxed facilities. Many of the planes are used for skiing weekends.

Pictures here show some of the possibilities of a "Prop Weekend." The skiers shown came to Boyne Mountain by rented plane. This type of plane carries six persons including pilot. Thus, Boyne Mountain becomes a fast, inexpensive and yet thrilling trip.

Some say flying is safer than driving. And it's a cinch you won't have to worry about skidding off the road. Gather your group, grab the plane and you're off to a memorable and exciting experience!

RADIO MESSAGE — Prior to landing, Pilot Ralph D. Hudson, 3920 Dill, Waterford Township, of Aerodynamics, Inc., contacts the tower on the aircraft's radio for field conditions as well as landing instructions.

THERE'S ALWAYS TIME — With a fast, comfortable, relaxing trip home in the offing, there's always time for "that one more run." Mrs. Charles E. Wilson, Jr., 5961 Lahser Road, Birmingham, and Donald E. Weiss of 202 Cherokee are no exceptions as they grab the chairlift and head for the top. They know full well that upon placing their skis on the plane, there's no worry about driver fatigue on the home trip this time.

SKI SIGHT—The ski slopes look inviting from the air. Earthbound ski travelers are still over three hours away, but not our winged fun seekers.

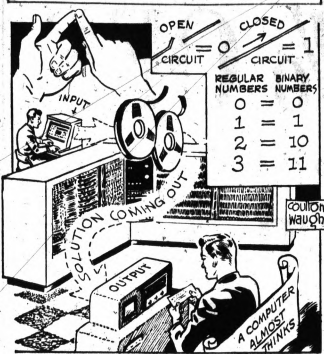

PLOT COURSE—A conference with pilot Walt Baker (left), Linda Kehus of 570 N. Pinegrove and Donald E. Weiss produces a homeward course for the flying skiers on their prop weekend. The skiers on their way home face only a few snowy cloud banks.

Junior Editors Quiz on COMPUTERS

QUESTION: Why is a computer so smart?

ANSWER: The familiar adding machine is a kind of computer. But since 1946, machines have been built which solve mathematical problems through the use of electricity, permitting such amazing speed that they seem to think.

Using magnetized rolls of tape and tiny magnetic rings, information is stored which may be consulted in 10 millionths of a second.

Suppose you wanted the answer to five minus three. You could hold your five fingers straight, turn down three and count the rest, getting two. "Digital" computers use the same idea, but with tiny electric circuits instead of fingers.

If there is a break in one such circuit (open) this might represent zero. If the circuit is complete (closed) so the electricity can run through, this might be one.

Most computers use "binary" numbers, making all the regular numbers out of combinations of one and zero. A certain number of the little circuits will flip open or shut. With its incredible speed, the computer will count the ones remaining and give the answer on a printed card.

He's Tower of Strength at London Playboy Club

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON — Mark Russell, political scientist in residence at the Marquee Lounge here, has just returned from a tour across the waters where he delivered a series of lectures at the Playboy Club in London.

Russell's forte is explaining the American political system — to Americans.

"Politics makes strange postmasters," he is wont to remark, which just about sums the whole thing up.

It was felt that his incisive discourses, which quickly cut through the meat of politics to lay bare the gristle, would be ideally suited to explaining the British economic system to the British.

So when the Hugh Hefner chair of philosophy became vacant at the London club, Russell was given a three-week tenure.

Upon his return, I paid him a call and said, "I understand you were a big hit in England. I didn't realize their austerity program was that severe."

CUT DOWN

"Yes," said Russell. "They are having to cut down on everything. Even the sightseeing tours are curtailed. The most famous London address is No. 10 Downing St., but as an economy measure the guides now point out 9 Downing St."

I asked Russell what in London had impressed him most.

"The police," he said. "They carry whistles instead of pistols. When a London policeman is pursuing a criminal, he takes out his whistle and shouts 'stop or I'll too!'"

Russell met a number of interesting people, including the man who trains seeing-eye dogs for English prison guards and the drive-in restaurant chef who created "Anne Bolyburgers."

BROWSED MUSEUMS

For cultural enrichment he whiled away the hours browsing through London's many fine museums and its many fine private collections of stolen art.

During his visit, a group of London governesses rented one of the stately homes of England for their annual convention.

In the vicinity was a prison whose inmates had formed an orchestra. One evening the warden permitted them to play a concert for the governesses.

Before the concert ended, the magician caretaker discovered that several valuable pieces of silver were missing. He notified

Scotland Yard, which assigned an inspector to the case.

NONE LEFT

After determining that none of the prisoners or governesses had left the premises, the inspector concluded the silver must still be somewhere in the house.

FIRST FILM TOGETHER—Henry Fonda (left) and James Stewart are making their first movie together despite the fact that they've known each other since 1932 and have roomed together on several occasions. Fonda plays a villain and Stewart a sheriff in "Firecreek."

New Film Is First Together

Stewart and Fonda Reminisce

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The studio limousine swings off the freeway and glides through softly rolling green hills, studded with gnarled sprawl of ancient oaks.

James Stewart, a very much-alive legend of Hollywood, is being delivered for a day's work at the Albertson Ranch, location for his latest movie, "Firecreek." At the ranch entrance, he hops out, unfasts the gate, and looks after the car passes through.

As the limousine bounces over the unpaved road, Stewart talks about his costar, Henry Fonda. Surprisingly, they have never appeared together in a full-length feature before.

"Oh, Hank and I go back to—well, to the year I got out of Princeton (1932)," Stewart reminisces. "I went up to Cape Cod to appear with the University Players, and Hank was there playing with another bunch—the Cape Players it was."

ROOMED TOGETHER

"That winter we both went down to New York to see if we could get work as actors. We roomed together, along with Myron McCormick and sometimes Josh Logan or Kent 'em. And we couldn't poison 'em Smith. Oh, we had some pretty crazy times."

The car arrived at the location, a tiny Western town put up especially for the movie. Fonda saunters over.

"How'd it go 'morning?'" asks Stewart.

"Lousy," Fonda growls. "All I had was one crummy scene where that little kid was playing in the mud. All week long that kid has been playing in the mud. But when we try to get one lousy, 30-second scene, the kid walks away! We tried everything, and he won't play in the mud."

BLACK STUBBLE

Fonda wears a thick black stubble that is supposed to underscore his villainy. For the first time in his 32-year career, he is playing a heavy.

"I gotta shoot Jimmy Stewart in the leg!" he says with a disparaging whistle. "Migawd, that's like attacking motherhood."

The two share many memories, and they rake over a few as they stand in a corral, waiting to be called for filming. There was the time they had a house together in West Los Angeles when both were bachelors.

"That was the one with the cats," remembers Fonda. "We started with two and they proliferated until we had 35, all of them wild. The place was getting black with fleas, and it was real awful. We couldn't catch 'em. And we couldn't poison 'em because they'd die under the house and stink up the joint."

BOW AND ARROW

"One day I came home from work and found Hank on the porch with a bow and arrow," says Stewart, laughing at the memory.

"I thought maybe I could shoot 'em with an arrow, then they couldn't get under the house because the arrow would still be sticking in 'em," explains Fonda. "But I never could hit one of the damn things!"

They told about when they both returned from the war to find themselves sold as clients to M.C.A. The two stars invited the top brass of the giant agency to a swank dinner at an elegant Beverly Hills club. But dinner never arrived.

Fonda and Stewart feigned indignation and loaded the agents into an ancient school bus. They toured Beverly Hills, got arrested by a fake cop, stopped at someone's garage for entertainment, ending with a gag-filled dinner at Chasen's. The pair guffaw as they remember it.

IMPROVE WITH AGE

"Do you suppose," says Fonda, "that all the things we tell about really happened, or do they get better each time we tell them?"

"A little of both," says Stewart. "A little of both."

War Causes Labor Trouble for E. Europe Reds

By LEON DENNEN
Foreign News Analyst
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON — It may be of small comfort to President Johnson, but the Communist leaders of East Europe are also having their difficulties over the war in Vietnam.

For the past several weeks they have been trying to combat sporadic strikes by workers who refuse "to work on die" for their North Vietnamese "brothers."

According to Western intelligence, such strikes have occurred recently in Poland, Czechoslovakia and Russia's Black Sea ports.

In the Soviet port of Odessa, merchant seamen who work on ships that go to North Vietnam are reported to have staged a short strike for special "war bonuses" and increased "war insurance."

They returned to work only after Moscow sent a special emissary who agreed to consider their demands.

MOST SERIOUS

The most serious outbreak of wildcat strikes and protest demonstrations occurred in Poland due to the regime's increased efforts to make forced collections for North-Vietnam.

Poland's regimented press, as usual, did not report the strikes.

Western correspondents who were aware of them did not see the information abroad apparently for fear of being expelled from Poland.

But reliable information is now available that strikes occurred in the automobile tire factory of the city of Olstyn, the precision tool plant of Blonie and in the synthetic yarn factory of Zyradow.

FORCED TO CONTRIBUTE

Polish workers are forced to contribute two full work days as a "voluntary donation" to North Vietnam.

Besides this, there are also additional money collections and blood donation drives.

The Communist leaders insist that such a cause as the Vietnam war cannot have a specified "upper limit" on donations and that money collections and "voluntary work pledges" cannot and will not be a subject of negotiation and bargaining.

The real reason for the strike in Olstyn was low pay, because the tire factory is presently producing a new experimental line and this has diminished production premiums.

MET WITH PROTEST

Therefore, the Polish government's demand that workers donate their Saturday wages (of eight working hours) for two weeks to the cause of North Vietnam met with protest which subsequently resulted in a four-hour strike.

The walkout ended after Olstyn's local Communist leader agreed to reduce the extra work pledge to two Saturdays of four hours each.

He also agreed not to take any disciplinary action against the strike leaders.

The strikes in the precision tool plant of Blonie and the synthetic yarn factory of Zyradow were staged in protest against "donations" for North Vietnam deducted from paychecks of all employees, although they had already contributed two extra days' work.

HAD TO GIVE IN

In this case Red authorities tried to intimidate the strikers by threatening them with the loss of their jobs and imprisonment.

Nevertheless, the apparently frightened authorities had to give in to the strikers' demands, fearing that the walkout might spread to other cities.

The "donations" previously deducted from salaries were returned to employees.

Hanoi's Predawn Bustle Illustrates Effect of War

By BILL BAGGS
Editor of the Miami News
Copyright 1967 by the Miami News
Distributed by the Associated Press

HANOI, North Vietnam — Hanoi is a city which rises early. Before six in the morning, the dark streets sound with tooting autos and shoes moving across the sidewalks. Bicycles glide out of the darkness and show themselves in glimpses under the pale streetlights, and then they move on into the darkness.

The moon, cold and yellow, yet floats in the sky, lingering above the trees which form a kind of green roof over much of the city.

This is a city at war, an undeclared war against the American bombers which cause air alerts several times each week, and which have bombed the city more than once. Army lorries, the same tired green the world over, rattle and grumble along the morning street. Now a soldier then you see a line of soldiers marching, not training, but moving off to some destination.

WAR IS EVIDENT

The war is evident in the toilet of your room in the Thong Nhat Hotel. The old name of the hotel was the Metropole. The new words, Vietnamese words, "reunification house."

In the bathroom, you find single pieces of toilet paper stacked in a small box. The ceiling light on the elevator is turned off. The mixture of French and Vietnamese cultures blend nicely, and without any grating contrast.

In its 80 years of colonial rule here, the French built the formal and stately residences and government houses, and the Vietnamese have pocked the city with thousands of one-man aid raid "shelters."

At the Museum of Art, the director, touring you through, spends much of his attention on explaining and emphasizing that the Vietnamese art and Chinese art are completely different; that Vietnam has its own peculiar culture.

The difference between Vietnam and China, so prominently close to Hanoi, also can be seen on the streets. Talking to a person who just returned from a tour of China, you learn that 300 million copies of the teachings of Mao Tse-tung have been published and that every family is expected to have one and read it. Enormous pictures of Mao Tse-tung glare upon visitors from the various public buildings.

SMALL PICTURES

Not so here. You see small pictures of Ho Chi Minh, president of the Democratic Republic of Vietnam, inside public buildings and often inside shops. But none on the streets.

A visitor in a book store was told they didn't have any of the books by Ho in English. It appeared they had no editions in French, either, and French is the second language in the city.

The only rationing in this war city is for people on welfare. The department stores usually open at 6 a.m. and close, two hours later, at 8 a.m. The explanation is that customers are discouraged from walking around in Hanoi during the hours when American bombers are likely to visit. But the stores are loaded with consumer goods. A respectable pair of shoes cost the equivalent of five American dollars.

The city is cold now. The temperature has been residing in the low 40s for a week, and you wear a steady chill on your bones, because there is no heat in the hotel, or anywhere, and hot water is available for only a few hours of a day.

The schools have moved out of Hanoi and, indeed, only about one-half of the normal population is left in the town since the bombing started.

The grammar schools are being run out in the interior, and so are most of the high schools, and the university, in various classes, has been scattered around the rural areas of Vietnam.

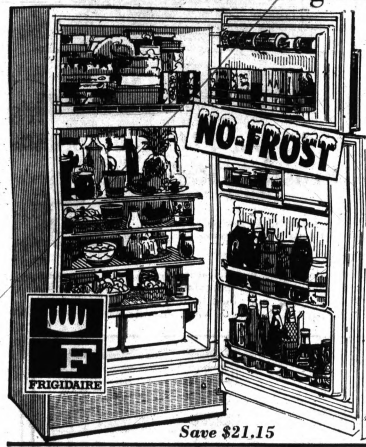

The Vietnamese are convinced the bombings are going to continue. They are so convinced they have even dispersed their breweries around the countryside, and also their factories which manufacture the very popular cigarettes here. A visitor is impressed that he has never seen as many chain smokers as in Hanoi.

Thus the war is everywhere to be seen and heard here in Hanoi. You hear it in almost every conversation. And, you see it with the green trucks and the soldiers and the bombed neighborhoods.

Captain Docks Liner Without Aid of Tugs

NEW YORK (AP) — "It was a great thrill, but it is not something I would want to do every day," said the skipper of the Queen Elizabeth after smoothly docking the world's largest passenger liner without the aid of tugs.

The Queen Elizabeth, almost as long as the Empire State Building is high, is normally nursed to her berth by six tugboats.

But New York Harbor tugboat crewmen are on strike, and no help was available when the 1,031-foot, 83,673-ton liner arrived Wednesday from Southampton and Cherbourg.

So Capt. Geoffrey Thriplington Marr, commodore of the Cunard Line, handled the risky task alone.

He did it without putting a scratch on the hull — without dislodging a barnacle from the pier. A number of smaller liners have docked and sailed without tugs since the strike started Sunday in a contract dispute, and none of them dented its bow in berthing.

Marr took his ship about a third of a mile north of her Hudson River pier and made a large, slow U-turn. The port anchor was dropped, and used as a fulcrum to swing the ship around, with two lines made fast to the pier.

Marr explained to a newsman later: "The original plan was to pull in on a knuckle of the pier. But conditions were ideal, with winds at seven knots, the tide had started to slacken at just the right moment, and there was no need to use the pier to swing the ship around."

"Good show," a knot of cooks and stewards cried from the promenade deck as the liner was made fast to her pier and the gangways went up.

"Well done, sir," a first-class passenger shouted.

"We were thankful it was a lovely day," said Marr, 57, who has been at sea for 40 years.

Marr said it was "a bit harrowing" when one of two lines holding the Queen Elizabeth to her pier parted with a loud snap. But the other line held and the tricky maneuver was completed without a hitch.

Praise for Marr was expressed by many of the 1,100 passengers and 238 crewmen and by longshoremen on the pier. The docking took an hour and 20 minutes. With tugs, the job is usually done in 45 minutes.

A sudden twist of wind or tide could have sent the liner crashing, slow U-turn. The port anchor was dropped, and used as a fulcrum to swing the ship around, with two lines made fast to the pier.

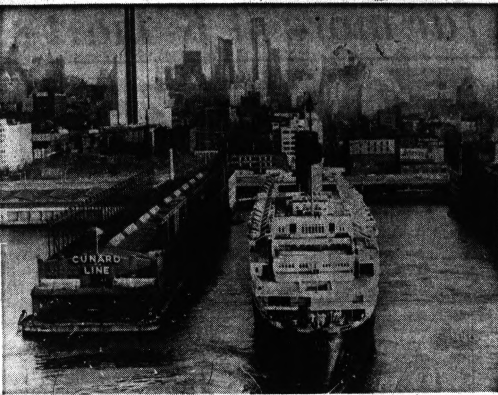

NOT A SCRATCH

Peoria Judge Refuses Shift in Speck Trial

CHICAGO (UPI) — The judge who will hear Richard Speck's trial on charges of murdering eight young nurses yesterday refused to shift the trial from Peoria to another Illinois city.

Circuit Court Judge Herbert C. Paschen, emerging from secret hearings on a bundle of defense motions, ordered that the trial proceed as scheduled in Peoria Feb. 13.

The judge announced that closed hearings on other pre-trial motions would continue and expressed a regret over news stories about reported actions in the secret hearings.

"Some people may find themselves without press credentials if this kind of thing continues," he said.

Paschen referred to reports that Speck's attorney, public defender Gerald Getty, had moved in secret to have the testimony of a nurse who escaped the July 14 massacre suppressed.

Mysterious Planet Mars May Have Heart of Cold

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Men visiting Mars some day may find the mysterious red planet has a heart of cold.

A warm, heart, or core—preferably of molten iron—is necessary if a planet is to form mountains, oceans, continents and an atmosphere, two scientists report.

But, says geophysicist D. L. Anderson of the California Institute of Technology and R.H. Phinney of Princeton University, Mars is really a cold fish at heart.

There's still hope of change, give or take a half billion years.

SLOWPOKE

They said their calculations indicate Mars is an evolutionary slowpoke as planets go. Earth, they said, apparently developed from a cold solid body—like Mars—to a planet with a zoned interior and variable surface features.

Theory has it, they said in an interview, that the earth's molten core is the result of tremendous pressure from gravitational forces, the constant force

Pair Burns Home to Prevent Slide

SAN ANSELMO, Calif. (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. Edward Selza ordered their $40,000-hillside home burned to the ground Wednesday because they feared it might slide down a rain-soaked slope onto other houses.

At the Selzas' request, firemen chopped a hole in the roof, poured oil into it and set the residence ablaze.

Last month was the wettest January in 15 years in the area. From Jan. 29 through Tuesday, 9.52 inches of rain fell. All over the San Francisco Bay area, road crews are still digging away slides caused by the deluge.

Youth Admits Lying in Tale of Knife Attack

City police have halted investigation of an apparent assault after the 16-year-old "victim" of a stabbing admitted he lied to investigators in telling them he was attacked.

Robert J. Lessard of 138 Glenwood was taken to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital one week ago with a knife wound in the side.

Lessard, who first told investigators he was attacked without provocation by a Negro youth, later said he suffered the injury while "playing" with a friend. The youth told police he made up the original story so as not to get his friend "in trouble."

SPRING

INTO THE LIGHT LOOK

New direction: take winter to the first sign of spring, and turn light. That's the look you'll see everywhere in menswear, as our top designers take a new view of new hues: brighter shades, bolder colors, clearer tones, crisper contrasts—not loud, but lively—with even the classics a few notches lighter. Biggest news: stone white making the background for black plaids, checks, and patterns. You'll see the light in suits and topcoats and sportswear ensembles by the country's pacesetting makers: GGG, Petrocelli, Eagle, Louis Roth, Hart Schaffner & Marx, Austin Leeds, Botany 500, Hammonton Park; in fact, in all our fine brands. And in sport coats and slacks by a host of excellent makers. This year, see spring in a new light . . . and see it at its best at HHS.

Actions by You May Convince Parents Later

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: I am a boy, 15 years of age. Almost 16, really. I recently got kicked out of school until my parents had a talk with the principal. Well, because of that, my dad says I can't get anything that requires a license to operate until I am 18. No car, no motorcycle. Nothing with wheels.

Abby, I know I did wrong. I am sorry and I even said so, but my father doesn't believe me. How can I get him to change his mind and lower the line? Please give me some suggestions; man, two years is a long time to wait.

SORRY

DEAR SORRY: Go about your daily life, proving at every opportunity that you are a more mature, responsible boy than you have shown yourself to be previously.

Study harder, be especially courteous, willing to help around the house, and in general start a self-improvement program. I promise you, it will be noticed, and if you change your ways, your father may change his mind.

DEAR ABBY: Our only son is a wonderful young professional man who practices in another state. He recently became engaged to a girl who lives where he practices. We have met her and have nothing against her.

Our son telephoned about a week ago, saying he wanted to bring the girl and her mother home because the mother "wanted to meet me." I discouraged him, saying it was too soon, and that I preferred to wait until spring before having them here.

Today I received word that they are coming! I was shocked to think that they would set aside the formalities and would come without my personal invitation.

I am certain our son must have been pressured into it. I shall of course be hospitable, but what do you think of people who would come without a personal invitation from the hostess?

WONDERING
DEAR WONDERING: After a couple have announced their engagement, it is never "too soon" for the families to meet. (In fact, they usually meet BEFORE.) Whether you admit it or not, you don't care for the girl, and your preference to "wait" reveals your reluctance to accept her.

If you don't want to lose your "wonderful son," you'd better come down off your high horse, mother, and put those formalities aside.

DEAR ABBY: I was walking down the street when I happened to come upon a pitiful sight. A little boy, he couldn't have been two years old, was all harnessed up on a leash like a dog. And this leash was attached to a clothesline. The poor darling looked so unhappy!

Finally I rang the doorbell and the mother came to the door. I told her that leashes were for dogs, not children, and she said, "Is that so? Do you want to watch him for awhile?" Then she slammed the door in my face. I have told this story to several of my friends and they all seem to think I had no business ringing the bell. What is your opinion?

LOVES CHILDREN
DEAR LOVES: Unless the child was exposed to some possible danger, I would vote with your friends.

DEAR ABBY: I am 36 and my husband is 59. We have been married for 16 years and have five children. My husband doesn't allow us to go to movies, parties, or anywhere that has entertainment. We don't own a TV, and the children can't go to any school activities if there is dance music.

My husband doesn't believe women should drive cars and I am so tired being cooped up all the time in a four room house with those religious programs going full blast. The only time we ever go out is on Sundays—to church. I love church, but don't you think we need something else?

NERVOUS
DEAR NERVOUS: Yes, Your husband sounds like a sick man, but his kind is usually the last to admit it. YOU go see a doctor (for your nerves, I'm sure they could use it) and describe your hostility to him. Then ask for his recommendation.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "HORSEY DIVORCEE WHO'S LIVING ON LOVE." "Take some vitamins—just in case."

Yearly Gala for Nurses on Saturday

The annual "Scholarship Ball" sponsored by St. Joseph Mercy Hospital Nurses Alumnae Association will begin with dinner at 7:30 p.m. in Kingsley Inn Saturday.

Dancing will continue until 1 a.m. at the semi-formal affair, reports chairman, Mrs. Robert Holm. Her cochairman is Mrs. Donald Lumsden.

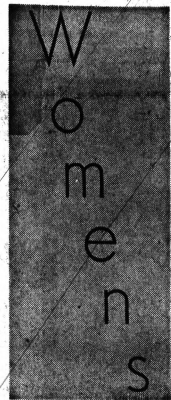

Others helping with arrangements, for the benefit which makes possible a scholarship to nursing school for a local girl, include Mesdames: James Greene, Gellert Miller, Joseph Smith, Philip Thelsen, Max King and Miss Marion Ballard. Tickets and information about the event which is open to the public, will be available at the Nursing Office within the hospital.

August vows are planned by Susan Mary Dorais, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas C. Dorais, Beverly Hills, and Michael Clark Zerafa, son of the Vincent S. Zerafas of Darcy Drive. He is an alumnus of University of Detroit where his fiancée is a senior.

SUSAN MARY DORAIS

What Type of Dress Is Best?

By ELIZABETH L. POST
Dear Mrs. Post: I have a problem and I think you can help me. We are having a catered cocktail party in honor of an artist who painted my portrait. We are so proud of the painting that we want our friends to see it and also to have them meet the artist.

The party is from three to six. My daughters and I thought I should wear a hostess gown or hostess pajamas; my husband thinks that it would be out of place to wear either one. Please advise me, Lucy Tenbeck.

Dear Mrs. Tenbeck: What a wonderful reason for a party! On such a festive occasion, if it were an evening party, a hostess gown would be lovely, but not for three o'clock in the afternoon.

Neither would I wear hostess pajamas for such a formal affair even though they are so popular now. Stick to a cocktail dress, as spangly and gay as you wish, and you and your guests will all be more comfortable.

Spring Nuptials Are Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Richard O. Ruppel of Bloomfield Hills announce the engagement of their daughter, Pamela Charlotte, to Thomas H. Risk Jr., son of Mrs. Thomas H. Risk of West Maple Road, and the late Mr. Risk.

The April bride-elect attended Central Michigan University where her sorority was Zeta Tau Alpha.

Her fiancé is presently a senior at Ferris State College where he is vice president of Alpha Delta Sigma professional advertising fraternity.

"Disciplining Children" will be the topic discussed by the Maceday Gardens extension study group when they meet Monday at the home of Mrs. Ernest Novodny of Second Avenue at 8 p.m.

New Plans Are Unveiled at Meadow Brook School

New and exciting plans have been announced by the Meadow Brook School of Music at Oakland University as it approaches its third annual six-week summer session, June 25-Aug. 6.

The school's underlying philosophy is to provide aspiring musicians an opportunity to study and live in a truly professional atmosphere. As a specialized summer activity of Oakland University, the school is an important segment of the University's growing commitment to the performing arts.

Five distinct study institutes have been designed for "Summer '67."

The school operates concurrently with the increasingly acclaimed Meadow Brook Festival, the summer residency of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra.

SHAW IS DIRECTOR

This year, for the first time, both the Meadow Brook Orchestra and the Choral Institute will be under the directorship of Robert Shaw, renowned director of the Robert Shaw Choral, an associate conductor of the Cleveland Orchestra and conductor of the Atlanta Symphony Orchestra.

New facets of the program this year are a Chamber Music Institute for superior instrumentalists interested in surveying repertoire and refining the subtle techniques of chamber music playing, and a Vocal Institute especially designed for the solo singer. They will be added to the three previously successful institutes, Orchestra, Choral and a second two-week Early Music Institute presented by the New York Pro Musica.

The latter offers to a limited number of singers, instrumentalists, conductors and scholars an opportunity to study the music and performance of the French Medieval, Flemish and Early Tudor eras.

COMPETITION

All students are admitted on the basis of competitive audition; choral conductors on the basis of conducting experience. The school is open to any aspiring performer—music students who have completed their junior year of high school, undergraduate and graduate college students, professional teachers and musicians.

Financial assistance in the form of scholarships is available to high school and undergraduate students establishing such need. Also, a limited number of teaching assistantships are being offered in the Vocal Institute for qualified singers.

For each of the first two years of its existence, Meadow Brook attracted nearly 500 students from 35 states and nine foreign countries. Forty percent of the total enrollment consisted of high school seniors, 20 percent of college students and 40 percent of postgraduates.

Craftsmanship Is Featured

The second biennial Michigan Craftsmen's Council Exhibition, opening Sunday, will run through Feb. 26 in the galleries of the Bloomfield Art Association in Birmingham.

Work of Michigan craftsmen in fields of ceramics, weaving, metal work and other crafts will be featured.

William Woolfenden, director of the Archives of American Art, judged the entries and selected outstanding work for special awards.

Michigan residents have donated $1,000 in prize money.

Some 250 craftsmen have submitted more than 1,000 pieces of work.

By MURIEL LAWRENCE
DEAR MRS. LAWRENCE: I understand so well what you wrote about the "shark" people. I have a new office supervisor who needles me every chance she gets. I earn good money, have held my job three years and don't want to resign it. But after one of these sneering remarks of hers, I get sick to my stomach.

The other girls say that they don't know how I take it. I recently asked for help at a psychiatric clinic but was told its waiting list was too long.

ANSWER: Go back to it and don't leave until you have seen a doctor.

Psychiatrists adore patients who really mean business, who are determined to have what they've got to give. So when some subordinate squashes in a clinic, tells us we can't see a doctor, we're polite but pay no attention.

In the meantime, you'd better start wondering if it's really this sneering office supervisor who makes you feel sick. Because I'm pretty sure it isn't. I think it's you yourself who makes you feel sick—nauseated, not by her sharkish sneers but by your own tolerance of them. I think that they sicken you of your own self because you see this tolerance of them as evidence of cowardliness—your disgusting fear of heroically standing up to her and telling her where to get off.

I think they make you feel, "Here I am again, Rabbit"

Rabbit that I am, putting up with abuse that I should heroically fight and gloriously defeat."

Ballroom Dance Class Starts Friday at 'Y'

Beginning Friday at the YMCA on Mt. Clemens Street is a special Adult Ballroom Dance class. The instructor will be Dolly Dibley, well-known area dance instructor. Classes will meet each Friday evening from 7:30 to 8:30 for the next eight weeks. The course has been designed for beginners but couples who would like to review their dancing technique may attend.

Also being taught at the YMCA will be a class in "Self-defense for Women."

While not a Judo course, some of the principles of Judo will be taught. The class has been designed for adult women but high school girls are invited to join.

There is no charge for YMCA members, while a fee is required for non-members.

Why Grow Old?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Even though directions come with most false eyelashes many women have trouble putting them on. Since these are rapidly becoming almost as usual a cosmetic accessory as lipstick, perhaps some more information is in order.

* Many false lashes come already trimmed and shaped, especially the more expensive ones. If the ones you have are not already trimmed, remember that they should be longer toward the outer ends and gradually shorter toward the inner ends.

Do this carefully because you can always cut a little more off, but you cannot add more length.

This is another important factor, whether you shape them yourself or have someone do it. The lashes should not be uniform in length. Your own lashes are not. Have them a little uneven.

Some lashes have adhesive bands ready to attach while others come with surgical glue. You can apply this with a toothpick or the tip of an orange stick. Your eyelids should be clean. If you wish to use eye shadow, do so after the lashes are in place.

Pick a lash up with tweezers at the outer end of the lash and then press the false lash along your natural lashline, beginning at the inner corner and continuing to the outer corner of your lid. When the lashes are firmly fixed, you can use a liner.

Unless you are skilled perhaps a cake liner is better than a pencil, because the pencil may dislodge the lash.

This is one procedure. However, many experts use a soft pencil liner before attaching the lashes and seem to have no trouble. Actually, this seems simpler to me than the method I have described above. Now apply mascara as you usually do.

James A. Malcolms Repeat Wedding Vows

A recent ceremony and reception in the Oakland Avenue United Presbyterian Church marked the vows of Sue Ann Thompson and Spec. 4 James A. Malcolm.

Parents of the newlyweds are the Rick Thompsons of Elm Street and the James M. Malcolms of Ellwood Avenue.

The bride wore white crepe with tiered illusion veil and carried a white orchid on a Bible.

Marcia Anne Thompson attended her sister and James M. Malcolms was best man. Rick Howells and Brent Fletcher seated the guests. The bride who is attending the Career Academy in Milwaukee plans to join her husband later at his base in Mannheim, Germany.

New Covers. Aid Ironing

The specially constructed heat-resistant nylon used for astronaut suits has been adapted for ironing board covers that won't char or burn even if a hot iron is left face-down.

These covers, which are super-durable and can be machine-washed in hot suds, are said to facilitate ironing.

Honeymoon in Quebec for Koelbs

The Palmer Wheeler Koelbs left for a ski honeymoon in Quebec after Tuesday vows in the Central Methodist Church and dinner-reception in Harvey's Colonial House. Mr. and Mrs. Harmon E. Williams of Au Gres are parents of the former Rouleau Gave Williams of North Pontchartrain Drive, White Lake Township.

The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Carl Koelb of Weston, Mass., and the late Mr. Koelb. White eyelid lace over taffeta, with satin trim, fashioned the bride's steeple-length sheath gown worn with a white fur hat. She carried white Cymbidium orchids and feathered carnations on a fur muff.

Attendees at the six o'clock ceremony were Michal Bright of Rochester and Blake Munson of Weston, Mass.

Knit Smart Chanel Coat for Newest Spring Look

By JUDY LOVE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Point your knitting needles in fashion's most important direction! For knitters who want a first-class wardrobe, all paths point to Paris and one of the most famous fashion landmarks — the House of Chanel.

"La look" that's yours for the knitting is Chanel-inspired design. Now is the time to start your spring planning and your finest knits should have a French flavor.

SLIM, SMART

Gabrielle Chanel offers you ideas that promise a slimmer, smarter silhouette. Chanel, the miracle maker of fashion, has been influencing the world of women and what they wear for several decades. She made her debut in fashion circles as a milliner, back in the '20s. During the heyday of great ornate hats Chanel defied the times and advocated small, simple head-hugging designs.

She made sun-tanned skin fashionable. When Chanel bobbed her hair, Paris and the world clipped along after her. The lady also is responsible for slingback shoes and ropes and ropes of costume jewelry.

The Chanel look — her famous straight-line silhouette, often a slim skirt topped with a braid-edged straight jacket — is a classic today.

SIMPLE LINES

The simplicity of Chanel-inspired fashion carries over to coats and toppers, too. For you knitters, this means the easy, fluid and flattering lines of Chanel can be worked into the best looking coats — knee-length or cropped — that you've ever owned.

The trim, slimming cardigan coat pictured here is a good example of knitting with a French accent. This particular open-patterned stitch is a cinch for experienced knitters — but you must know your Ps and Qs! (It's not an easy pattern, but if you're a skilled knitter, you'll enjoy the compliments it will bring this spring.)

If you're a less-skilled knitter, don't despair! Paris and Chanel are still yours to command. The leaflet giving you complete, clear directions for the open-look, lacy-patterned cardigan topper, also offers a number of French-inspired shorties that's easy to knit with big needles. Directions are for the new '40s style, but you can knit it any length you prefer, of course. Simply add more rows of basic stockinette. The classic Chanel coats are adaptations from the Bernat Fashion Workshop.

Both of these smart hand-knits are slimming styles and can be made from size 10 to 20. So here's a winner to make everyone happy.

For leaflet $1.00 featuring two handsome spring coat patterns, send 50 cents to Stitchin' Time, in care of The Pontiac Press, P.O. Box 563, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y.

A June wedding is being planned by Elizabeth A. Brinker, daughter of the Audie L. Brinkers of Ferry Avenue, and Pfc. James Don-Daschio Burns Jr., son of Mrs. Geraldine Bryant of Los Angeles, Calif. He is stationed with the Marine Corps in Vietnam.

Mrs. Andrew R. Cooper Jr. of Capri Drive, White Lake Township, and George C. Yerge Jr. of Troy announce the engagement of their daughter, Charlotte K., to Seaman Fireman James Ralph O'Neal, USNR. His parents are the Ralph O'Neals of Whipple Lake Road, Independence Township.

Old Kitchen Idea Comes Back

Country kitchens of the past lacked many conveniences but featured one which is about to make a comeback.

Invariably, mats of braided carpeting were spread in front of the stove and work table to give comfort to tired feet.

Today's women are going their ancestors one better by covering entire kitchen floors with washable carpeting.

Made of nylon — sometimes with vinyl backing — these durable floor coverings can be scoured repeatedly with soap or detergent suds.

Easily Dries Rugs

When drying rugs, hang them on the line with clamp-type trouser hangers. They will come out flat after drying.

Pescadores: Formosa Bastion

By SPENCER MOOSA - MAKUNG, the Pescadores, Formosa Province in — The Pescadores, an archipelago in the Formosa Strait, were used by the Japanese in 1941 as a springboard for their invasion of South-east Asia and the South Pacific. Two hundred and eighty years earlier, in 1661, they were used by forces from Mainland China as a staging point for invasion of Formosa and expulsion of the Dutch conquerors of the island.

The forces were led by Cheng Cheng Kung, better known abroad as Koxinga, who is a smug patron saint of the Formosans as St. Patrick is to the Irish.

Today the Pescadores are a increasingly strong bastion for the defense of Chiang Kai-shek's Formosa.

NAMES

The Pescadores (Fishermen's Isles), which acquired this name from Portuguese navigators, is known to the Chinese as Penghu.

The archipelago consists of 64 islands with a total area of 50 square miles.

The islands, 21 of which are uninhabitable, are spread over an area of about 600 square miles.

The Pescadores form one of the 16 counties into which Formosa Province is divided.

CAPITAL

The capital is Makung, by far the largest island in the group.

It is 25 square miles in size, or half the area of the entire archipelago.

The population of the islands is officially listed as 110,790 and is the densest of all the countries of Formosa.

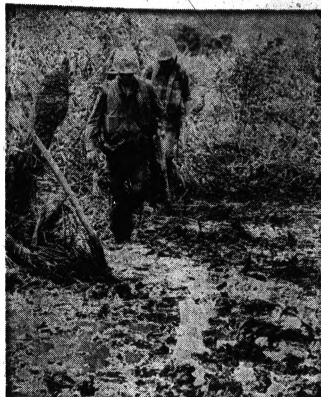

WATER

The islands provide only one-third of the people's food needs. The rest comes from the other provinces of Formosa.

Making is of great strategic importance to the Chinese Nationalists both for defense and offense.

ANOTHER ENEMY—As bad as, and sometimes much worse than, the hard core Vietnam veterans infesting the Mekong Delta of Vietnam is the deep, slippery, sliding mud and silt. Here U. S. Marines find the going really tough as they move through the mangrove swamps of the Thanh Phu Peninsula, 55 miles south of Saigon, in the first major thrust into the delta recently.

Tiny 'Dead Sea' Is Found Off North Carolina Coast

By Science Service

BEAUFORT, N. C. — A poisonous, miniature "dead sea" in which animal life is nonexistent has been discovered off the coast of North Carolina.

Less than 30 feet below the surface is more than 60,000 square yards of putrid sediment giving off a gas that has killed every living creature in the area.

The basin, called Cape Lookout Bight, is one of four known major areas in the world's oceans where nature has polluted the water to such an extent.

The other three are some of the Norwegian fjords, a basin off the coast of Venezuela and the Black Sea.

The poisonous ocean "desert" was accidentally discovered during tests of new bottom-sampling equipment by a 118-foot research vessel called the Eastward, now being used for a joint research program by Duke University and the National Science Foundation.

OFFERS THEORY

One theory of the lifeless area's formation is that of Dr. Robert Menzies, director of the Duke-NSF study. He believes that when a man-made inlet was opened between the bight and Core Sound, organic material, washed out to sea in rivers, piled up around the bight, virtually cutting off the ocean currents.

The currents were a source of oxygen. When they became greatly reduced, the organic material was able to burn up the limited oxygen faster than it could be replenished.

The result is that hydrogen sulfide, a toxic gas that smells like rotten eggs, is being formed on the bottom and animal life has disappeared. Hydrogen sulfide will not form in the presence of oxygen.

There may be other such areas forming off North Carolina's coast in spots which, while not "dead," have dangerously low oxygen content.

BALANCE UPSET

Increased industrial wastes or other organic materials being dumped into rivers might easily upset the precarious balance, Dr. Menzies said.

The area is more than just a tragedy of water pollution, however, he believes. Conversely, it could also be a valuable natural laboratory that could offer a unique opportunity to study the formation of undersea life.

By simple altering the bight to let in fresh currents, a fresh supply of oxygenated water could be allowed to start circulating. "Once oxygen is present," Dr. Menzies says, "it is safe to predict that this ocean floor will be quickly populated by species of animal life of benefit to man, such as clams and shrimp."

He intends to ask that a study of Cape Lookout Bight be made part of the International Biological Program, a multinational project similar to the International Geophysical Year of 1957.

Tattoos Lead to Trouble for Pontiac Man

A nationwide search for a suspected kidnaper — bearing unusual tattoos — resumed today after Pontiac police questioned and then released a city man with similar tattoos on his hands.

The 21-year-old local man was temporarily taken into custody when a doctor became suspicious of the words "love" and "hate" marked on the man's hands.

Robert Rolston, 30, of Versailles, Ind., named in a federal fugitive warrant, was described in a bulletin to law authorities as having nearly identical markings, including a tattooed star on the back of one hand.

The local man, who went to the hospital for treatment of a broken finger, was released after successfully establishing his identity.

Science Confab Set in Detroit

DETROIT (AP)—About 5,000 science teachers and scientists are expected in Detroit March 17-21 for the National Science Teacher Association convention and discussions of science programs.

Rene J. Dubos, a member of the Rockefeller University in New York and winner of the $25,000 Arches of Science Award for 1966, will address a banquet session of the convention.

A tombstone in a cemetery in Taddington, England claims that William Hewel, the man buried beneath it "departed this life November the 19th, 1718, Aged 218."

Survival for the Unfit

Crime Is Hope for Vietnam Children

SAIGON, Vietnam (NEA) — From the beginning the bored, brittle, blank-faced children of this nation have a rough go at existence.

A quarter of them die in infancy. Half fall before five years.

And as for the ones who survive the first 10 annals of life, at least 10 per cent are certain of contracting pulmonary tuberculosis.

But that's only the first decade. The remaining 27 years of life expectancy in this land are often worse. Poverty, war, cruelty, slum living . . . a kid learns the brutal way here and the only law that endures in all the human decay is to eat or be eaten.

Small wonder then that hundreds of thousands of hopeless, hapless Vietnamese youngsters have been more or less raised as social cannibals.

WHOLE GENERATION

Delinquents, they're called. And there is a whole generation of them.

They are easily identified. In the downtown streets they stand near the pub doors in small, ragged clusters — and pick the pockets of the American soldiers who stagger by.

In the side districts they sit on garbage cans at the foot of dark houses and yell out lewd propositions to the street-walkers.

In the alleys they gather in bands to flirt, savage, acts against an unsuspecting citizenry in the name of revenge, reward or kicks.

UNSMILING

And in Saigon police stations, they sit unsmiling on benches, suspected of robbery, rape, murder or collaboration with the enemy.

Statistically, the outlaws do not represent the majority of young people in Vietnam. But they may one day. In the capital alone, the guess is that 200,000 children are jail bait.

One of the latter is a boy named Tu Dinh, age 12. He shines shoes, among other things is stealing equipment off U.S. military trucks.

He was caught doing just that recently.

"Let me go," he pleaded. A Vietnamese policeman hit him in the mouth.

The boy cried. The cop pushed him down. The boy got up and fled. The cop roared.

It is hardly a laughing matter, of course, and the local government says it is doing all it can to correct the situation, which means, in the political vernacular of Vietnam, nothing.

In truth, local authorities can't afford much more than zero. Saigon's annual budget, for example, is only about $9 million, of which two-thirds goes toward official salaries. The remainder allotted for city betterment total about $1 per resident.

The educational system is somewhat encouraging. Saigon's schools teach nearly 150,000 youngsters a year. Yet even this is woefully inadequate. Many children learn to read through sex magazines.

U.S. OVERBURDENED

The United States, already overburdened with local grief, still tries to help the kids. U.S. missions care for some of the younger delinquents and U.S. dollars help some of the older ones.

Yet the irony is, Americans often do more harm than good. Begging children would not remain if Yanks refused them handouts; young pimps would not function if foreign residents shook their heads; youthful black marketers would not prosper if GIs would quit giving away millions of canned rations every year. But the Americans won't, the meaning as it may be, sometimes is turned in the wrong direction by Vietnamese children.

AMERICAN INFLUENCE — Saigon streets show plenty of American influence. Trouble is, the American influence, well,

kids will, and the problem worsens.

Money must be had for cigarettes and opium trips. Business must be solicited for 20,000 Saigon prostitutes. A viper has to expand as the inflation does if he expects to survive in this country.

Life is too short here as it is, a kid can expect only 37 years.

And more and more of them are doing whatever is necessary to get even that.

Every American should read "Your Men At War," a collection of Tom Tiede's fine stories from Vietnam. To get your copy, simply send $1, your name and address, to "Your Men At War," in care of The Pontiac Press, P.O. Box 489, Dept. (first three digits your Zip No.), Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019

'Pulse' Vote on Tax Is Viewed

DETROIT (AP) — "Do you feel that state fiscal needs and local tax relief now require a state income tax?"

Voters in Dearborn Heights Feb. 20 primary election are likely to find this question of their ballots.

Democrat Alex Pilch, freshman state representative for Dearborn, wants to put this question on the upcoming ballot to find out how voters would react to a state income tax.

Such a vote, said Pilch, would help state legislators make up their minds on the problem of fiscal reform.

Pilch made the proposal in a letter to Dearborn Heights Mayor John L. Canfield and the city council, who have to approve it before it can go on the ballot.

The vote would have no legal significance, said Pilch, but it would be "a good way of taking the pulse of the people."

CHILDREN HUDDLE — What are these children doing huddling in the street? Nothing constructive usually. Certainly not playing. In Vietnam survival leaves little time for children's games.

A PROBLEM — The problem of what to do and where to go for the children of Saigon often ends up this way — pulling pranks on passersby. And worse.

TRENTON (AP)—Mrs. Mary Brown, 55, of Carleton died Wednesday in a Trenton hospital of injuries suffered Tuesday night in a two-car crash on Will Carleton Drive in Huron Township, Wayne County.

Delay Ordered in Big ABC-IT&T Merger

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Communications Commission, acting at the Justice Department's request, has ordered a delay in the proposed $20-billion merger of American Broadcasting Co. and International Telephone & Telegraph Corp. The department says the merger could have antitrust implications.

The action came Wednesday on a 5-2 vote only hours after commission spokesmen had said they expected to make no immediate decision in the case.

The commission gave the department until Feb. 15 to state the precise issues it wants considered and the witnesses it wants called. The order set Feb. 22 as the deadline for ABC and IT&T to present evidence favorable to the merger.

FINAL DECISION

The order indicated the FCC would reach its final decision sometime after March 6, the deadline it set for final receipt of evidence from the department.

In ordering the delay, the FCC chastised the Justice Department for tardiness in raising its objections.

The commission originally approved the merger last Dec. 31, one day after receiving a department letter saying it was not considering court action to block the consolidation on antitrust grounds. The merger originally was scheduled to take effect Wednesday.

The department on Jan. 18 asked FCC reconsideration of the case, saying it believed the commission had inadequately considered all aspects.

IT&T spokesmen expressed confidence Wednesday night the merger will again get a green light, adding that "the possibility of such anticompetitive consequences raised by the department are indeed truly speculative."

ABC spokesmen applauded the delay order, calling it an effort to clarify the issue and in the public interest.

The proposed merger would involve a stock transaction of between $350 million and $400 million and would make the consolidated company the 20th largest in the United States in total assets.

House Unit to Hear McNamara Again

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Armed Services Committee is preparing for a renewal of its running battle with Secretary of Defense Robert S. Mc-Namara over controversial Pentagon policy on antiballistic missile defense and advanced manned bombers.

The committee announced Wednesday it plans three separate sessions with McNamara, probably later this month, on the Nike X missile system, the advanced manned bombers and the fast deployment logistic shipbuilding program.

The hearings, kicking off the committee's annual review of the nation's defense posture, are virtually certain to bring a renewal of disagreements between committee members and McNamara.

The congressmen generally support funds for missile defense and the advanced bomber but oppose the secretary's shipbuilding program.

CLOSED SESSION

McNamara comes before the committee in a closed session today. But the agenda is supposed to be confined to the administration's request for $4.7 billion, in additional defense authorizations for the remainder of this fiscal year, mostly for the Vietnam war.

The bill includes money for procurement of equipment, additional research and military construction. It represents part of the $12.3 billion supplemental

No Conclusion Offered by FBI in Blast Report

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI)—The police department yesterday said it has received the FBI report on the Orbit Inn explosion which killed six persons Jan. 7 but added it had no comment.

The FBI report, which offered no conclusions, was based on evidence accumulated at the scene of the blast which rocked the downtown section after midnight.

It stated, in part: "Although some of the parties possessed damage typical of that produced by bombardment by high velocity particles such as produced by detonated dynamite, these items were not covered by typical dynamite residue."

In effect, the FBI said the explosion was similar to a dynamite blast but it could find no clear evidence of dynamite itself.

Lt. Paul Gulas, chief of detectives, said the police department was still investigating the explosion and not ruling out any possibility, including suicide or murder.

BIZARRE PLOT

Dist. Atty. George Franklin said he was certain the explosion was part of a bizarre suicide plot.

Bomb experts theorized the blast came from the room occupied by Richard J. Paris, 38, Hollywood, and his wife. Investigators learned Paris had purchased 50 sticks of dynamite and eight blasting caps in Arizona the day before the explosion.

Detroit Youth Fatally Shot

DETROIT (AP)—John New, 15, was shot fatally Tuesday night at the rear door of an East Side home into which the owner reported two youths were attempting to force entrance.

John Jordan, 59, said he was awakened, heard glass breaking, got his shotgun, went to the rear door and fired at two figures outside, police said.

After the New boy fell wounded, Jordan reported the second youth fled down an alley and escaped.

Six New GOP Senators Form 'Study Club'

WASHINGTON (AP)—The six newest Republican senators have formed an informal study club to inquire into national issues but deny it will serve as a base for any challenge to Senate GOP leader Everett M. Dirksen.

Most of the half dozen, generally classed as moderates, say they won't go along with Dirksen's opposition to the U.S.-Soviet consular treaty, to expansion of East-West trade and to an open housing provision in any civil rights bill.

But, individually, they deny they plan to join forces with GOP moderates of new seniority who have made it clear they are not going to follow the Illinois senator's lead on some domestic and foreign policy matters, including the consular treaty.

There has been some private grumbling among these more experienced moderates that Dirksen often takes more conservative positions than they think is justified by majority GOP opinion in their states.

INFORMATION
Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., said the new GOP members are particularly interested in getting background information on which to base their individual positions on major issues.

"There is no thought of challenging Sen. Dirksen's leadership," he said. "He and I have differences of opinion on several issues and we discuss them frankly. He has never tried in any way to get me to change a stand I have taken."

He said Dirksen has accepted an invitation to meet with the group soon.

Sen. Mark O. Hatfield, R-Ore., agreed in a separate interview with Percy's assessment of the group's objectives. He said he had not been subjected to any attempted "arm twisting" when he opposed Dirksen.

RELATIONSHIP

Sen. Howard H. Baker Jr., R-Tenn., said he isn't going to let the fact that he is Dirksen's son-in-law influence his vote on specific issues. He said he leans toward support of the consular treaty.

Hatfield and Percy are regarded as "doves" on the Vietnam war. Dirksen generally has supported President Johnson's course and in the past has urged even greater escalation of military efforts than the President has been willing to undertake.

The GOP study group already has been briefed by Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Central Intelligence Agency director Richard Helms. Members plan to invite other Cabinet members to meet with them.

"We have an awful lot to learn about our new jobs," Percy explained. "We want to get the arguments on both sides of every issue and decide for ourselves how to vote."

Besides Percy, Hatfield and Baker, other members of the group are Sens. Edward W. Brooke, R-Mass., Robert P. Griffin, R-Mich., and Clifford P. Hansen, R-Wyo. All members except Griffin are freshmen. He was appointed to a vacancy in the Senate after the death of Sen. Edward W. Brooke.

NASA Scientist Says Life Could Exist on Jupiter

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Only a hundred years ago, learned men were certain in their minds that no life could exist at the bottom of the deep oceans.

For one thing, nothing alive could possibly withstand the fantastically great water pressures down there in the depth. And, of course, life as we know it simply could not thrive in the utter dark and unimaginable cold of the sea floor.

Well, nevertheless, there is life on the ocean beds—a lot of it. It may look strange to inhabitants of the dry upper world. But strange or not, there it is.

What about the other planets? Venus appears to be too hot for life, Mars perhaps too dry, Jupiter too cold, and so on.

LARGEST PLANET

Give a second thought to Jupiter, by far the largest of the sun's planetary family which includes the extravagantly lush earth.

Could life ever have got started on Jupiter, which soars at an average distance of 483 million miles from the warm-giving sun (compared to 93 million miles for the luxuriant earth), and where the cloud top temperature is 300 degrees below zero Fahrenheit?

Life on Jupiter? Obviously not. But just a moment please. In a recent day-long briefing at the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) a couple of scientists battled around the question of whether frigid Jupiter could generate and sustain life.

Dr. Robert Jastrow, a director of NASA's Goddard Institute for Space Studies in New York, said Jupiter's atmosphere appears to be like that of the young earth where according to current theory, ordinary chemicals were transformed by solar ultraviolet light into the organic prelife molecules from which real life evolved.

China Desires Sino-Soviet Break—Russia

MOSCOW (UPI) — Soviet officials believe Red China hopes to force the Kremlin to break diplomatic relations by means of wild embassy rioting and other anti-Russian provocations in Peking and elsewhere, informed sources said today.

The sources said the Russians were convinced nothing would please China more than for Moscow to take the initiative in making the formal break.

But despite the unprecedented outrages against Soviet officials in Peking and Chinese anti-Soviet demonstrations in four other countries, the Russians apparently do not want to give the Chinese a propaganda coup by making the first move.

Relations between the two Communist giants have already plunged to the lowest point in the Sino-Soviet feud.

Informed sources Wednesday reported Soviet plans to recall most of its diplomats from the Chinese capital, leaving only a skeleton caretaker staff behind to run its embassy.

KREMLIN DEMAND The Kremlin will demand that the Chinese embassy here also be trimmed to skeleton status, they said.

The Soviet cut in its embassy staff had become necessary because seven days of rioting and other hostilities sponsored by Chinese authorities had made it impossible for Soviet diplomats in Peking to function, sources said.

Soviet press reports have told of hair-raising medieval humiliations against Russians in Peking. Russians have reportedly been beaten with sticks, cursed, burned in effigy, dragged out of buses, spat and urinated upon.

Kremlin warnings that it would take unspecified "necessary measures" to stop the abuses went unheeded by Peking officials and other demonstrators.

By leaving a caretaker embassy in Peking, the Russians would be able to take advantage of any change in the Chinese government that would lead to a renewal of more tolerable diplomatic ties between the two countries.

January Road Toll in State Below '65

EAST LANSING (AP)—Traffic mishaps in Michigan killed 118 people during January, 29 fewer than in the same month a year ago, State Police provisional figures indicate.

The State Police Department added the total for the month was below the 1965-66 average for January, which is 134. It said last week's road-clogging snowstorm probably helped cut the traffic toll.

Recording of delayed death reports, police added, have raised the 1966 highway death toll to 2,284.

Moon Sighting Part of Pakistan Political Rift

KARACHI, Pakistan (AP)—A seemingly insignificant controversy over what night the new moon put in its appearance over Pakistan at the end of the Moslem fasting month Ramadan carried tones of dissatisfaction with President Ayub Khan's government.

A moon-sighting committee appointed by the government reported that it was sighted Wednesday night, Jan. 31, so Moslems could break their day-long fasts and embark on their annual festival of prayers, banquets, gift-giving and merriment.

But a large number of mosques were padlocked the following day. Many ulamas—Moslem priests—then reported sighting the Eid moon Thursday night and announced the fast could be broken Friday, the 19th.

Political observers saw significance behind the controversy.

They said the government wanted to make sure the moon was sighted Wednesday but the opposition made sure the sighting was a day later since celebration of Eid on a Friday is inauspicious and bears bad omen for rulers.

The government arrested five of West Pakistan's top religious leaders last Sunday under defense of Pakistan rules.

The potato made its debut as a foodstuff in Spain in 1565 and was imported from South America.

Gl's Goodwill Effort Ends in a Shambles

By TOM TIEDE

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

PHUONG THAM, Vietnam — It all began innocently enough.

Pic. Paul Leaird wanted to do something nice. "For some of the helpless Vietnamese," he put it.

So he wrote home:

"Please send toys and clothing."

And home wrote back:

"Son, they're on their way."

After a bit, five boxes arrived at the base camp of the First Air Cavalry Division.

Leaird's parents had enlisted the aid of the Colgate, Okla., American Legion.

Hundreds of items were collected, and all of them packaged for the villagers of Phuong Tham.

There were shirts, socks, old trousers, stuffed animals, wind-up toys, plastic sundries — perhaps $100 worth of merchandise.

Leaird was elated. And so were his superiors.

Every little bit helps and the whole theory of this war is to win the friendship of the helpless millions in the bookends.

Thus, 19-year-old Paul Leaird received permission to distribute his gifts. He got a truck, a driver and a bodyguard. And off they went.

The road to Phuong Tham was wet and mud caked three and four inches thick in places. But as the truck slipped its way into town, dozens of village youths sloped through the mire to greet them.

"Hi you! Hi you!"

"O.K., me, too."

"Halo, halo."

Cute little helpless bumpkins.

The jeep stopped near the village square and within moments scores of friendly villagers gathered around.

Leaird tried to make his presentation formally to the village chief, but in vain.

Nobody wanted speeches. Just gifts.

Immediately, some of the overwrought climbed into the truck.

The bodyguard pushed them back as best he could. And the village chief did his best also.

He stood up and shouted:

"Di, di, di, di!"

Get back, get back!

But nobody did. If the chief expected parents to control their rambunctious youngsters, he got just the opposite.

It was, in fact, the parents who needed controlling. Children who tried to get to the toys were whopped by mother's backhand.

Everybody was grabbing. Arguments started. Pushing and shoving. Survival of the fittest. A couple of boxes were dragged away.

Two old men in their late 70s engaged in a frantic feud over possession of a stuffed rabbit.

One had one ear and the other the other. There was screaming and moaning and the tearing of fabric.

A lady swatted a neighbor to get first crack at a clock.

Grabbing it, she looked immensely satisfied. She wound it up and it said: "Hickory, dickory, dock." She was bruised but happy.

As the items disappeared, one of the GLs noticed his poncho was missing. Also his rifle.

He retrieved them from an old gal who, instantly, waded back into the melee for something else.

Finally, even the village chief gave up. But not before first grabbing a toy for himself. It was a beetle family — daddy, mommy, and two young bugs.

"Hey, hey, hold it!"

But it was no use.

At length the young soldier stopped yelling. His eyes grew wide. He reached firmly out for the remainder of the gifts, picked them up and threw them as high as he could.

"Let's get out of here."

On the road, the driver licked his wounds. The bodyguard made a personal inventory. They were red-faced and flustered.

And Leaird? He sat perfectly still. From time to time he shook his head solemnly and mumbled:

"It's the damndest thing I ever saw."

Christian And Jew Worked Together To Rebuild Sofia

Bulgaria During WW II

Where Jews Were Protected

By TOM A. CULLEN
European Staff Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

SOFIA, Bulgaria (NEA) — There were 50,000 Jews in Bulgaria when World War II started and there were 50,000 there when it ended. Bulgaria refused to sacrifice a single Jew to Hitler's gas chambers. It was the only country in Europe to take such a stand.

After the agonies of Auschwitz and Belsen, the story of Bulgaria's resistance to the Nazi death camps is a refreshing one. To keep the memory of it alive the Jewish center here is planning to open a museum.

It will be different than most museums of its kind. There will be no mounds of clothing, nor little piles of gold teeth and human hair in jars as one finds at the Auschwitz museum.

In Sofia, the accent will be on the solidarity between Christian and Jew in fighting Hitlerism, in itself a novelty.

All the activities of the trade unions and the professional organizations, as well as the Orthodox Church, in thwarting Hitler's anti-Jewish policies will be featured in displays. There will be photographs, copies of clandestine newspapers, protests that were sent to the Bulgarian king, Boris III.

SCOURING EUROPE

Haim Oliver, a screen writer and leader of the Jewish community, has been scouring Europe for exhibits to add to the new museum, which is being financed by the Bulgarian government.

"Bulgaria was free from anti-Semitism because the Bulgarians themselves had been under the Turkish yoke for 500 years, and they knew what slavery was," says Oliver.

"Also, there were not enough Jews in Bulgaria to influence its economic or cultural life."

They were never forced to live in ghettos, or to separate themselves from other people, that is, until King Boris signed the anti-Communist pact with Hitler in 1940.

NUREMBERG LAWS

"The Germans occupied Bulgaria in 1941, and after that they sought to enforce the so-called Nuremberg laws against the Jews. Jews were required to wear a yellow star on their sleeves, to live in ghettos. Their food rations were cut; they were restricted to certain jobs and to making their purchases in certain shops."

"Enforcement broke down from the very beginning," says Oliver. "Bulgarian Christians, with no tradition of anti-Semitism, supply ignored the existence of the ghettos and continued to trade in Jewish shops. The whole thing became a farce."

Hitler made two attempts to liquidate Bulgaria's Jews, both of which failed. The first was in March, 1943, shortly after the Gestapo conference at Wannsee at which the so-called "Final Solution" was adopted.

PEOPLE FURIOUS

The Gestapo began by rounding up the Jews in the town of Vustendil, where the Jews numbered 950 out of a population of 25,000. The operation was conducted in great secrecy, but the townspeople were furious when they learned what was happening.

That same night they dispatched a delegation to Sofia to protest to Parliament. They were so successful in lobbying that 43 deputies, including the vice president of the Chamber of Deputies, signed a petition to the king. The Nazis

The second attempt was made in May, 1944, when Sofia's 25,000 Jews were ordered to report within three days to a village on the Danube for deportation to Polish death camps.

As soon as news of the deportation order leaked out, a wave of protest swept Sofia. This time the Metropolitan of the Orthodox Church added his voice to the general outcry.

There was a pitched battle in the streets the day the Jews were due to be deported, with Christians joining Jew on the barricades.

New Sanctuary for Kangaroos

By Science Service

SYDNEY, Australia—The New South Wales Government will establish a new national park on 273 square miles of semiarid grazing country near Broken Hill, 700 miles west of Sydney. The land will become the third largest national park in the state and the first sanctuary for kangaroos and emus in the entire 98-million-acre western division of NSW.

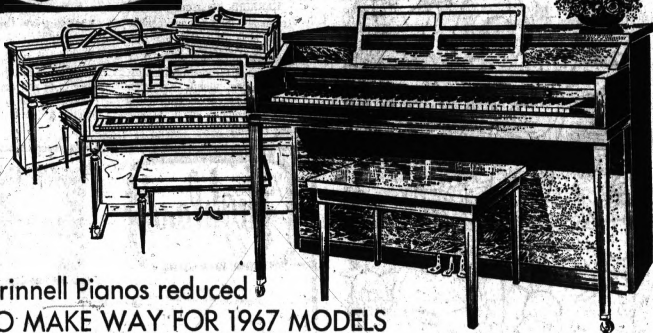

The minister for land, T. L. Lewis, said the park would be opened as soon as possible.

The area, around Lakes Mendoc and Cawndilla, will probably be named Kinchega National Park after a grazing station (ranch) which will become part of it. Kinchega is an aboriginal word meaning source of water, or well.

The land now carries abundant pelicans, ibis and other water birds, and scattered herds of kangaroos and emus, which will be able to breed in ideal conditions in their natural habitat.

Tax-Sharing Drive Gets New Look in State

LANSING (UPI) — Girded with an idea and $2.45 in postage, a Michigan legislator is setting out to amend the U.S. Constitution as it's never been done before.

If he's successful, billions of federal income tax dollars will go tumbling back to the states to be used how and when they please.

The idea of kickback of federal income taxes isn't a new one, but Republican Rep. Frederic J. Marshall has given it a new twist.

He's trying to stir up the states into demanding a constitutional convention to draft an amendment requiring it.

AMENDMENT SIMPLE

The amendment he wants drafted is a simple one:

"There shall be returned to each state 4 per cent of the gross individual and corporate federal income tax paid by such individuals and corporations in the same proportion in which such federal taxes are collected to be used by the states in such manner as may be prescribed by the legislature of each state."

Marshall, a farmer and former sheriff from the tiny community of Allen, submitted the proposal to the Michigan Legislature yesterday — and at the same time fired off letters to the governors of the 49 other states asking them to stimulate similar actions in their legislatures.

Most of the nation's governors, and particularly Michigan's Gov. Romney, favor tax-sharing on tax-credit plans to pour back federal dollars into the states from which they've been squeezed.

Congress so far has avoided proposing a tax statement. Under the constitution, the only other route open is for two-thirds of the states — 34 of them — to ask Congress to call a convention. This has never been done before, so Marshall also is proposing the guidelines under which such a convention would be held.

His plan is for three delegates from each state to meet in Constitution Hall in Philadelphia to write the amendment and nothing else.

But he's quite candid in admitting he thinks that, if 34 states clamored for a convention, Congress would take the easier way out and submit the amendment for ratification itself rather than bother calling a meeting.

HOLD CONFERENCE—President Johnson yesterday conferred with Rep. Carl Perkins, D-Ky., chairman of the House Education and Labor Committee. Perkins was named chairman after the post was taken away from Adam Clayton Powell.

Cuban Exiles Eye OAS Seat

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Cuban exiles, eager for the seat in the Organization of American States scored by Fidel Castro, will call a convention to select a representation.

Leaders apparently discarded

Dr. Enrique Huertas, who has emerged as a key figure in the movement, conferred Wednesday night with exile delegates seeking to determine a formula for attaining inter-American recognition.

Francisco Alabau Trelles, former Cuban supreme court justice, attended the closed-door session.

MANY IN EXILE

He said: "It was concluded that it would be difficult to hold elections among thousands and thousands of Cubans in exile, in the United States, Latin America, Spain and other countries. Instead, it was decided to call an assembly of all exile organizations so they can determine their representation."

Huertas, 39, president of the Cuban Medical Association in exile, said after the assembly: "I have not participated in any meeting about a government in exile. We must be very careful about setting up any denominations."

Associates interpreted Huertas' statement as meaning the conference concerned itself with means of selecting representatives rather than a "denomination" such as an exile government.

But Virgilio Sanchez Ochoa, president of the Cuban Pro-Government Committee, said seven-eral Latin-American countries were being asked if they would harbor an exile government.

The United States has said it

Brake Defect Detected in School Buses

DETROIT (AP)—General Motors Corp. says that it found and fixed a defect that could have caused brake failure in 12 new Chevrolet school buses.

The buses were in use, transporting children, when the defect was discovered, a GM spokesman said Wednesday.

The spokesman said the buses were among 800 medium-duty Chevrolet truck chassis recalled for inspection of front brake hoses. The buses are built with the truck chassis.

In testing the truck chassis, GM learned that hoses installed on some early production trucks were the wrong length and could rub against the inner fender skirt during full turns.

HOSE WEAR
This wear on the hose could lead to loss of braking power on front wheels, the spokesman said.

No cases of brake failure were reported, he said. Truck owners were asked Monday to return their vehicles to dealers to have adjustments made where necessary.

CLOTHES, MORE CLOTHES — Two Owen Elementary School sixth graders, Joseph Horiski and Charlene Newman, find themselves buried in their work as they pile up contributions to Pontiac School District's annual clothing drive. Joseph, 203 W. Longfellow, and Charlene, 85 E. Princeton, are among youngsters at the district's 36 schools who collected 39,587 pounds of clothing this year.

Children Respond to Needy in Pontiac School District

Needy children in the Pontiac School District now have 39,587 pounds of clothing available to them — thanks to the generosity of their more fortunate classmates and neighbors.

Pupils at Eastern Junior High School were the top contributors in the district's 12th annual clothing drive.

They gathered 5,972 pounds of clothing, an average of more than six pounds apiece.

Pontiac Northern High School came in second with its total contribution of 5,436 pounds, averaging nearly three pounds per student.

The total for the district was 18,587 pounds over this year's goal. Last year, 39,000 pounds were collected.

The clothing has been delivered to the two clearing agencies for the school system, the Dorcas Society of the Seventh Day Adventist Church, 168 Mount Clemens, and the Salvation Army, 118 W. Lawrence.

When teachers discover pupils who are in need of shoes or clothing, the parents of the needy youngsters are contacted and issued a requisition slip which can be exchanged for articles at one of the two agencies.

Many Animals Allegedly 'Just Can't Stomach Us'

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — "Nature endowed us, like the Man has a distinctive body odor shrews, with something of ei- ther a nasty taste or smell," he says, and that has been the se- cret of his success at survival. Man stayed alive for millions of years, while other animals fell prey to hungry carnivores because, says Dr. Louis S. B. Leakey, a noted anthropologist and paleontologist, man's smell and taste literally turns the stomachs of predatory animals.

Salvation Army to Change Image

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif. (AP) — The Salvation Army wants to change its image of "a group singing and preaching on the street corner," its western territorial commander says. Lt. Commissioner William J. Parkins said: "That approach was fine 50 years ago when you could find people on the street corners. But you never see any one standing on street corners anymore. They're all home watching television or listening to the radio."

Leakey said he came to this conclusion by observing chimpanzees and baboons. He said leopards and other predatory cats steal baboon babies "nearly every night," while leaving the chimps — man's distant cousins — alone.

"Man is not cat food. The chimps aren't cat food either," Leakey said.

Leakey, 63, is on a six-week visit to this country, where he will address medical and scientific meetings in New York, Chicago, Boulder, Colo., and San Francisco, before returning to his work in Olduvai Gorge, Tanzania.

River Controversy Rolls On

WASHINGTON (AP) — The controversy over the Colorado River rolled on today despite a Johnson administration proposal to drop consideration of two dams near the Grand Canyon.

Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall announced Wednesday the administration decision to support a $719-million central Arizona project which would draw water from the Colorado River without any revenue-producing hydroelectric dams or study of importing additional water into the Colorado.

Chairman Wayne N. Aspinall, D-Colo., of the House Interior Committee predicts the administration proposal "will not pass" in Congress.

Aspinall's committee last year approved a bill, representing months of negotiations among the seven states of the Colorado River basin, calling for a $1.7-billion development package including the central Arizona project and five upstream projects in Colorado and New Mexico.

CONSTRUCTION

Last year's bill called for construction of Hualapai — formerly Bridge Canyon — and Marble Canyon dams in the Grand Canyon region of the Colorado. These were to guarantee that Arizona's new use of Colorado River water would not reduce California's share below 4.4 million acre feet a year. The bill also provided for preliminary studies of works to divert surplus water from other basins into the Colorado River.

With intense opposition from the Pacific Northwest — a potential source of supplemental water for the Colorado — and from conservation organizations battling dam construction affecting the Grand Canyon, the bill never reached a vote in the House or Senate.

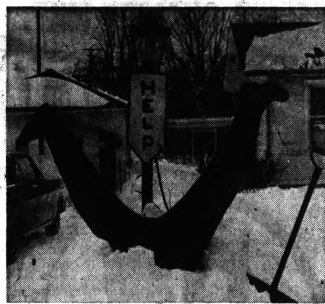

Udall told a news conference Wednesday that two basic considerations prompted solid administration support for the new plan — elimination of controversy among the states and lower cost.

Chairman Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., of the Senate Interior Committee greeted the administration proposal with cheers. Without referring specifically either to the elimination of the dams or the proposed importation of water to the Colorado, Jackson said the new plan "is a sound basis for agreement in Congress on a program which can go forward without the disputes between states and regions which have plagued previous proposals."

But the new proposal opened old wounds from previous interstate battles over the Colorado River — the last major water source in the nation's fastest growing and most arid region.

UPSETTING SITUATION—Residents of Niles, who have developed sore backs and blistered hands from shoveling snow, need only look in the yard of Mrs. Donald Vandenburg to be thankful they have survived so well. Mrs. Vandenburg fashioned this "monument" as a tribute to shovelers who haven't given up despite the recent heavy snows.

Money-Making Machine Proves Bad Investment

DETROIT (UPI) — A sad, but wiser, investor told suburban Garden City police yesterday his $7,500 was dumped into a bathtub filled with greenish liquid as a money-making machine turned a $1 bill into a $5.

Authorities later arrested one of two men, who supposedly "invented" the machine, on a charge of conspiracy to cheat and defraud.

Jeremiah E. McBain, 38, suburban Redford Township, said he was contacted by another victim who told him of the fabulous money-making machine, but said he didn't have enough money to satisfy the investors.

McBain, a freight terminal employee, borrowed $7,500 and Garden City police yesterday marched off to witness a demonstration of the machine.

The money was dumped into the bathtub, he explained, but after the machine cranked out a $5 bill one of the investors told him the machine had run out of "bleaching paper."

McBain said he wound up firing a shot from a gun he had brought "just in case" as the inventor was making a getaway.

Spy in Home
During Year

Food traditions play the key role in the Chinese New Year, according to The Kitchens of Chun King in Duluth, Minn.

One week before the old year ends, legend says, the God of the Kitchen departs for Heaven to report on the behavior of each family during the past year.

The people look upon the Kitchen God as a kind of benevolent spy. To mark his departure, the front of his picture which usually hangs over the stove of every Chinese home.

Accompanied by the sound of fire crackers, which are supposed to chase away the evil spirits, the family smears the lips of the image with honey, sugar, or melted candy so that only sweet words will emerge.

Then, the picture is taken down, placed on a paper chariot, and set afire with a flame from the oven.

It is believed that this chariot of fire will carry the Kitchen God swiftly along his spiritual way to Heaven.

A week later, on New Year's Eve, the family again. This time they welcome the return of the Kitchen God with displays of delicious food and the cheerful sound of fire-crackers.

FAR EAST FRUIT SALAD

1 can (5-oz.) chow mein noodles
1 cup canned Mandarin orange sections, drained
2 cups grapefruit segments, drained
1 1/2 cups pineapple chunks, drained
1 can (5-oz.) water chestnuts, drained
1/4 cup French dressing
1/4 cup sesame seeds, optional
Make beds of chow mein noodles on six individual salad plates. Arrange drained orange sections, grapefruit segments, pineapple chunks and water chestnuts on noodles. (Water chestnuts can be used whole or sliced; if using whole water chestnuts, halve large ones.) Top with French dressing.

If desired, sprinkle salad with sesame seeds which have been toasted in a small skillet over low heat, and stirred until golden brown. Makes six servings.

You'll want to serve tea, of course — green tea. For dessert, make Chinese Almond Cookies.

CHINESE ALMOND COOKIES
2 1/2 cups sifted flour
1 cup sugar
1/2 teaspoon soda
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 cup butter or margarine
1 slightly beaten egg
1 teaspoon almond extract
1/2 cup whole blanched almonds

Sift dry ingredients together into bowl. Cut in butter or margarine until mixture resembles corn meal. Add egg and almond extract; mix well. Form dough into ball.

Roll out to slightly less than 1/4 inch; cut with 2-inch round cutter. Place on ungreased cookie sheet about two inches apart.

Place an almond half on top of each cookie. Bake 15-20 minutes at 325 degrees. Makes 50 cookies.

This recipe is from Better Homes and Gardens "Meals with a Foreign Flair."

Horseshoe Salad
1 can (1 pound) sliced beets
1 to 2 tablespoons prepared white horseradish
1 package (3 ounces) lemon-flavored gelatin dessert
1 tablespoon cider vinegar
Romaine, sliced cucumber and (if desired) commercial sour cream.

Drain beets; cut into thin strips; sprinkle with horseradish; reserve.

Add enough water to the beet juice to make 1 1/2 cups; heat to boiling and pour over gelatin dessert mix; add vinegar; stir to dissolve gelatin. Chill until thick but not set; beat until frothy. Fold in the beet mixture.

Turn into 8-one-half cup molds. Chill until set. Unmold. Garnish with romaine and cucumber and if used, top with sour cream. Makes 8 servings.

TOASTY BACON SANDWICHES—Bacon and pineapple sandwiches are a perfect choice for satisfying appetites stepped up by brisk winter weather. Crispy flavorful bacon combines with broiled pineapple and zesty Cheddar cheese for a hearty and warming treat. Serve mugs of steaming hot chocolate to round out this wintertime snack.

Pork Steaks Are Simmered in Skillet

"All the savory flavor of any pork cut," is the way pork blade steaks could be described. "All the bonus nutritionally that pork provides in being the best natural sources of thiamine," says Reba Stagg, home economist, in speaking of these same steaks.

Often called the "moral vitamin," thiamine or vitamin B1 must be supplied daily since it's not stored by the body.

It's a pretty platter, too, which this pork steak dinner supplies with golden brown meat topped with onion, green pepper and tomato slices, all set on a bed of noodles.

Popular Pork Steaks

4 pork blade steaks, cut 1/2 to 3/4-inch thick
2 tablespoons lard or drippings
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
4 slices onion, cut 1/4-inch thick
1/2 to 1/4 cup water
4 green pepper rings, cut 1/4-inch thick
4 slices tomato, cut 1/4-inch thick
1 package (8 ounces) medium noodles, cooked and drained

Brown steaks in lard or drippings. Pour off drippings. Season meat with salt and pepper.

Place a slice of onion on top of each steak and add water. Cover tightly and cook slowly 45 minutes. Place a slice of green pepper and a slice of tomato on top of each steak. Cover and continue cooking 15 minutes more or until done.

Serve steaks over cooked noodles, pouring juice from steaks over the noodles. 4 servings.

Use in Salad

What to do with leftover brusks? Before putting away the cooked sprouts in the refrigerator, add a little Spanish olive oil and a few dashes of wine vinegar. Let the sprouts marinate in this dressing, covered, until the next meal. Dressed this way, they make a fine "cooked salad."

Use New Pudding

Layer Filling in Tarts

Jump o-sized mint patties, that's what these delicious little tarts are. Made from the new pineapple cream pudding and pie filling layered and topped with mint-flavored sweet cooking chocolate, these are as enjoyable as eating a stack of mint patties after dinner.

Pineapple cream is the newest flavor of pudding and pie filling. Could be that all the pudding and pie fillings—chocolate, chocolate fudge, vanilla, coconut cream, banana cream, and butterscotch—originated from flummerys.

An old 1895 book on "The Spirit of Cookery" says, "A flummery is a preparation, the principal constituent of which is a kind of flour or starch made soluble or expanded in milk." The flour or starch thickening in pudding and pie filling is cornstarch.

"A flummery is sent to table with a tasty sauce, such as liquid custard with liqueur or cold sauce of raspberries, currants, or cherries; or cream or milk sauce with flavor of almonds or vanilla, or wine sauce."

Mint Patty Tarts
1 package (3 1/2 oz.) pineapple cream pudding and pie filling
1/2 package (9 squares) sweet cooking chocolate
1 tablespoon butter
1/4 teaspoon mint extract
5 baked tart shells, cooled

Prepare pudding mix as directed on package. Cool 5 minutes, stir in egg occasionally. Meanwhile melt chocolate with butter over low heat, stirring constantly. Remove from heat and stir in mint extract.

Spoon cooked pudding and melted chocolate alternately into tart shells. Drizzle chocolate over the top. Chill about 2 hours. Makes 5 servings.

Try This Way

Mix a cheese cake pudding with raisin bread. Prepare instant cheesecake mix according to package directions, then fold in raisin bread cubes and spoon into fancy little dessert glasses. The graham cracker crumbs that come in the package get sprinkled over the top of each "pod".

Bit of Lemon Is Fine for Fish Bacon, Fruit and Cheese Make Fine Sandwich

Everyone knows that all fish is better dressed with fresh lemon, but here's a new way to get the best flavor yet—add lemon before cooking.

Mix the grated lemon peel with the cornmeal (it takes only a second or two, but what a difference it makes) before you dip the fish into it. This way that crisp coating has a refreshing tang all its own—no wonder it tastes so consistently good.

In addition to fish fillets, small frozen whole trout or scallops will benefit from this delicious new coating.

Southern Fish Fry
5 or 6 small sand dabs or perch frozen or dressed fresh
Salt and pepper
1 egg
2 tablespoons water
1/4 cup cornmeal
1 tablespoon grated lemon peel
1/4 cup butter or margarine
Lemon halves or wedges

Thaw fish if frozen; sprinkle with salt and pepper. Lightly beat egg with water; combine cornmeal and lemon peel.

Dip fish into egg mixture, then cornmeal. Heat butter in large skillet. Fry fish in butter over moderate heat until brown; turn and brown other side or until easily flaked with a fork. Serve with lemon halves or wedges.

When winter-sharpened appetites call for a hearty snack, these toasty bacon and pineapple sandwiches will answer the call loud and clear. They're delicious open face sandwiches that can be put together quickly and served hot for an excellent cold weather treat.

The simple to assemble sandwiches start off with toasted sandwich bread for a base, then have crisp slices of bacon added and are topped off with broiled slices of pineapple and shredded Cheddar cheese.

A few bacon crumbs to garnish finish up the preparation and then it's time to enjoy the very appealing flavor combination.

Bacon and pineapple sandwiches are great for snacks served along with mugs of hot cocoa, but there's no reason they can't be the basis for a light supper just as well.

Individual molds of gelatin salad on lettuce, some potato chips and carrot curls together with the hot sandwich would make an especially appetizing plateful for a supper buffet.

Toasty Bacon and Pineapple Sandwiches
18 slices bacon
1 No. 2 can sliced pineapple (10 slices)
1 cup shredded Cheddar cheese

5 slices sandwich bread
Butter
Pan fry bacon until crisp. Drain on paper toweling. Break three slices into crumbles for garnish.

Drain pineapple slices on paper toweling. Place five pineapple slices on cookie sheet, then overlap each with remaining five slices. Top with shredded cheese.

Broil for about two minutes or until cheese is melted and bubbly. Meanwhile toast and butter bread.

To assemble sandwiches: arrange three slices of bacon on each piece of toast. Using spatula, lift two slices of pineapple onto bacon. Garnish with bacon crumbles. Serve hot. Makes 5 sandwiches.

Ever try adding poppyseed to French dressing? Good served over crisp greens.

Art Museum Buys Picasso Etchings

PORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — The Fort Worth Art Center Museum has obtained Pablo Picasso's "Suite Vollard," a series of 100 etchings commissioned by the late dealer-publisher Ambroise Vollard.

Spokesmen said it was the most expensive item ever obtained by the museum, but the price was not disclosed.

Opening lead—5

By OSWALD AND JAMES JACOBY

Here is a hand which shows the partnership of Eric Murray and Sammy Kehela at its best. They open light and bid four card majors so that Murray's one heart opening as North is unusual but not unreasonable in their styles. Kehela's diamond response necessitated a raise from Murray. This was enough to get Kehela to bid four clubs as the start of slam exploration. Eric signed off at four diamonds but Sammy went on to five.

He finessed the queen of clubs at trick one. Then he led a spade at his ace, ruffed a club, led a heart to his

TODAY'S QUESTION

Instead of responding three hearts to your opening two-heart bid your partner jumps to four hearts. What do you do now?

Answer Tomorrow

Astrological Forecast

By SYDNEY OMARR

For Friday

"The wise man controls his destiny."

ARIES (Mar. 21 - Apr. 19): Indirect approach gains best results. Be tactful; maintain poise. Don't rush heading into projects. Take time to think.

Taurus (Apr. 20 - May 20): Compensation down from past efforts. Be in luck. Your efforts will be rewarded.

Gemini (May 21 - June 20): Fulfilling desires could prove expensive. Know this and apply a degree of self-discipline. Extravagance, including indulgent papers unless you understand contents.

Cancer (June 21 - July 20): Impatience can be detrimental. You appear in a hurry to expand. But today try best to study alternatives. Also be aware of motives. Friend may not be revealing all.

Leo (July 21 - Aug. 22): Romance and ability to be creative — these emphasized today. Jovian indicated — could bring favorable results. Stress harmony. Good will be dispensed. Don't force issues.

Virgo (Aug. 23 - Sept. 22): Income opportunities activated. Study properly. You may possess something others require. Marketing procedures improved. Review various possibilities.

Libra (Sept. 23 - Oct. 22): Friend may support you in personal investment. Handle your end of responsibility. You may hear from someone who has been discharged. Obligations. Later, you can reveal your secret.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 - Nov. 21): Fine for transacting affairs at distance. Now, that proper planning results in success. Favorable completion of projects. Expand influence, make known your views.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 - Dec. 21): Obtain hint from LIBRA messages. Be prepared for unusual requests. Account today on friends, hopes, wishes. Take initiative. Be original. Exercise independence of thought.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 - Jan. 19): Opportunity time to break embarrassing habits. Accent maturity. Don't hurt yourself with actions which cause fatigue, depression. Kemetic sincerity.

Aquarius (Jan. 20 - Feb. 18): Social activity stressed. Be with congenial persons. Surprise-likely at party tonight. Fine for dining out, attending theater — with special person.

Pisces (Feb. 19 - Mar. 20): If you are aware of details you save money. Otherwise unnecessary spending could result. Know this and check sources. Minor matters need PERSONAL supervision.

5 Priests Arrested in Farm Wage Drive

RIO GRANDE CITY, Tex. (AP)—Ten persons, including five Roman Catholic priests, have been arrested in the drive by a Rio Grande Valley farm union for a $1.25-an-hour minimum wage.

Starr County officers made the arrests Wednesday, charging the 10 men with disturbing the peace. They were released in their own recognizance.

The arrests occurred as the priests and union men walked to the edge of a lettuce field at La Casita Farms, the focal point of the strike that began last June. The Most Rev. Humberto H. Madeiros, bishop of the Brownsville diocese, criticized the priests for taking part but reiterated his concern for the plight and poverty of our working men.

LAYMEN'S STRUGGLE
Bishop Madeiros, of Latin American descent like most of the strikers, said he believes the "present struggle should be carried out to a successful conclusion by the laymen who are Catholics and are struggling to see that justice is done to them."

He added, however, that "the clergy must not take on the role of the layman."

The arrested priests were active in a march to Austin last summer to present farm workers' wage demands. They are the Revs. Sherrill Smith, 45, William Killian, 40, Marvin Doerfler, 32, D. J. Heiderman, 31, and Henry W. Hays, 35.

Union members taken into custody are Gregoria Solis, 22, Leonor Garza, 28, Ismael Diaz, 23, Benito Rodriguez, 26, and Antonio Oredain, 36.

CHURCH EDITOR
Father Killian is executive editor of the Alamo Messenger, a newspaper published by the San Antonio archdiocese in South Texas.

Oredain is national secretary-treasurer of the United Farm Workers organizing committee, the union which has directed strike activities in this area and at Delano, Calif.

ALL FREED
Justice of the Peace B. S. Lopez freed all the demonstrators in their recognizance. He told them he would not free them in that manner again on the same charge.

Big Mat Match Between PNH-Walled Lake

Clutch Basket Keeps Drugmen Undefeated

John Saum's short jump shot with two seconds to play gave Drayton Drug a 63-62 victory over upset-minded Bob's Five and kept it unbeaten in the Waterford Township men's recreation basketball American League last night.

Genesee Welding surprised Powell's Trucking, 72-65, and Spencer Floor pulled away from Day's Sanitary, 81-55, in the other township titles.

The city men's recreation National League action saw The Packers mudge the Unbeatables, 64-60, and the All Stars trip McDonald's Drive-In, 71-62.

Bob's Five apparently had its upset win when Dick Lippert scored a basket with 11 seconds to play to go ahead of the drug-men, 62-61. Then Saum snatched the victory away.

Mike Mathis tallied 23 points and Mike Shipman 22 as Genesee dropped Powell's. The winners scored 27 points in the last quarter with Mathis leading the surge with 11.

Spencer Floors posted 51 markers in the second half to defeat Day's. Charley Brown noched 22 for the winners.

Next week's Position round will have Genesee meet Powell's at 6:55 p.m., Spencer playing Drayton Drug at 8:20 and Day's tangling with Bob's at 9:45 p.m.

The Packers retained second place in the city league action by outscoring the Unbeatables, 36-32, in the second half.

The All Stars stayed a game behind the Packers and moved within percentage points of third place by outpacing McDonald's in every period.

Melting Track Halts Sledgers

World Championship Runs Postponed

ALPES D'HUEZ, France (AP) — The World Bobsledding Championships, scheduled to begin here Saturday, were postponed Wednesday because of a melting track and competitors expressed concern the course would be inadequate for the 1968 Winter Olympics.

"If these championships have to be called off, there might be no bobbing in the next Olympics," said Eugene Monti, nine-time world champion from Italy. "This could mean the kiss of death for this sport."

Bobsledders from 12 nations, including the United States, are gathered for the two-man and four-man events on a 1,500-meter mile-chute built especially for the Olympics.

No date was set for the postponed championships.

Arthur Hill 5 Romps

Center Tom Thon scored 33 points last night in pacing Saginaw Arthur Hill (7-3) to a 71-52 victory Flint Northern (1-7) in a Saginaw Valley Conference game.

In another SVC game, Bay City Central (9-7) downed Bay City Handy (0-9) 72-50.

Both Squads Are Unbeaten

Rate Vikings, Huskies Among State's Best

A couple of Michigan's top wrestling squads will be on display tomorrow night when Pontiac Northern and Walled Lake move onto the mats at PNH.

Both move into the match undefeated in dual competition and both are ranked among the top four Class A squads in the state — Walled Lake third and PNH fourth.

Coach Bill Willson and the PNH Huskies noosed out Walled Lake when the two met in the Oakland County Invitational Tournament last December.

But dual competition differs from tournament action so it's difficult to establish a favorite as the two prepare for the In-Lakes League showdown.

Walled Lake, coached by Rick Schneider, owns an 8-4 record in dual action this season and the Vikings are undefeated in their last 26 matches.

Willson and the Huskies have rolled up a 9-0 record to date.

Other pairings, all tentative, have Ted Threlkeld (PN) vs. Tim Russell at 95; Tom Kell (PN) vs. Rick Russell at 103; Bill Green (PN) vs. Jack Garner at 112; Ben Moon (PN) vs. Terry Stevenson at 120; Jon Knibbs (PN) vs. Bob Helmer at 127; Ron Washington (PN) vs. Rick Hyde at 133.

Others have John Willson (PN) vs. Tim Harrison at 138; Bob Harris (145) vs. Denis Fitzgerald at 145; Al Morris (PN) vs. Howard Heath at 154; Ken Carr (PN) vs. Steve Fogle at 165; and Frank Latertey (PN) vs. Dennis Brandt at 180.

10 Trapshooters Have Perfect Aim

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Clear skies and a lack of wind made the clay pigeons easier to hit Wednesday as 10 marksmen shot perfect scores in the second day of the 20th annual Sahara Mid-Winter Trapshooting Tournament.

Perfect scores of 100 in Class AA were fired by Ray Scheer, Arlington, Neb.; Gaylen Jensen, Fairbault, Minn.; Harry Copsey, San Antonio, Tex.; Ken Jones, Condon, Ore.; C. E. Barnhart, Kansas City, Mo.; and Gene Sears, El Reno, Okla.

Tied with 100s in Class A were C. H. Crutcher, Mission, Kan.; Fred Kessler, Granville, Ill.; and Robert Estabrook, Omaha, Neb.

The only perfect score in Class B was Robert N. Lee, St. Paul, Minn.

In Hope Classic

Unknown Takes Golf Lead

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)—golf, Billy Casper, might well be the best position of all. He led unknown nationally have a way of leading in the early rounds of the $10,000 Bob Hope Desert Classic. The picture was familiar as the second round got under way today.

Jay Dolan III, from Leicester, Mass., shot a 66 Wednesday to lead his 135 rival pros — and their 498 amateur partners — into the second round with a two-stroke margin.

Jay Dolan III? He is 27. His father owns a golf course in Massachusetts. He has been a pro since 1961. And his best finish ever was a second place in the Doral Open last year.

Casper three-putted one green and shanked a shot on another hole for the only two bogies he registered.

Sixty players made or broke par, with 39 in the latter category.

Two-time winner Arnold Palmer was seven shots back at 73 and Jack Nicklaus had a 75, while the remaining member of the current Big Three of pro golfers was 10 strokes back at 83.

Natural Snow Blankets Area Resorts' Slopes

If you can get there, your favorite resort (especially in southeast Michigan) has good skiing.

Resort operators, who don't rely on natural snow, nonetheless received a big boost last week from the heavy snowfall after mild weather had depleted much of the ground cover at Oakland County resorts.

Still, it took almost three days for the skiers to make it to the slopes due to the paralyzing urban conditions.

Today's additional accumulation again will cause some delay in heading for the slopes but all resorts are operating with good-to-excellent conditions. Teeple Hill will open Saturday.

Mt. Holly's annual Open Ski Meet is set for Saturday. Elsewhere around the state, Sugar Loaf Mountain will have the Detroit Metropolitan Ski Council's individual championships Saturday and Sunday.

The races are open to any skiers belonging to a club in the Detroit Ski Council. Sugar Loaf will have reduced all area ticket rates this weekend for all the skiers.

The eighth annual Saginaw Bay Snow-Planners meet will be at Bay City and a Snowmobile Safari and Rally is planned for Oscoda Saturday.

Nordic Skier Not Hampered by Start

TRAVERSE CITY (AP)—Italian Franco Manfroi, last to leave the starting gate, beat legitimate Giacinto Stilla and Mike Gallagher of Stowe, Vt., to take the 12-kilometer Nordic cross country ski race Wednesday.

Manfroi was clocked in 40 minutes, 48 seconds by timer John Norton of Traverse City, an Olympic official of Stowe, Vt., to take the 12-kilometer Nordic cross country ski race Wednesday.

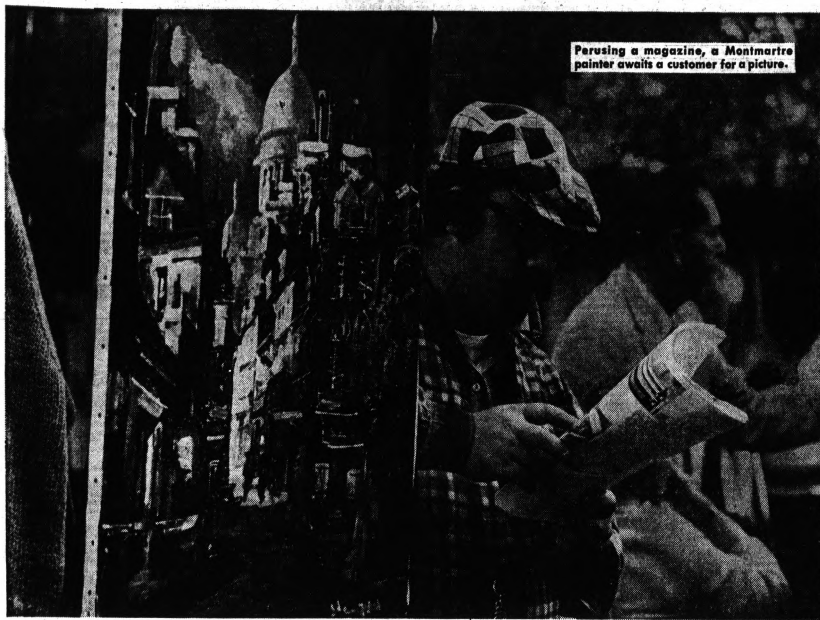

Under Olympic rules, contestants left the starting gate at one minute intervals. Manfroi was the last to leave and the first to finish.

PARIS OFF-SEASON

Paris during its busy season is filled with tourists, sometimes so many that all there is to see seems to be other tourists. In the off-season, on the other hand, the city empties out, relaxing with a sigh till spring brings new herds of tourists.

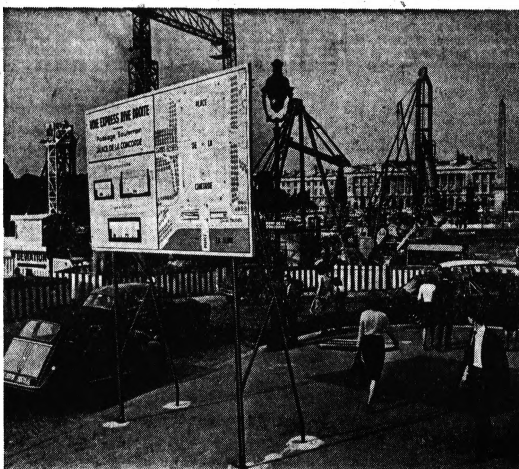

But from late fall to early spring Paris is for Parisians, many of whom are unnoticed by tourists during the busy season. Or if not unnoticed they stand out more clearly against their natural backgrounds, uncluttered by swarms of camera-toting outsiders come to see and flee on a whirlwind tour.

A stroll through the French capital at such a time brings to light familiar and not-so-familiar sights that often are overlooked in a typical tourist's day. Then even the looks on lovers' faces take on new beauty, and the sight of an old accordionist becomes more touching.

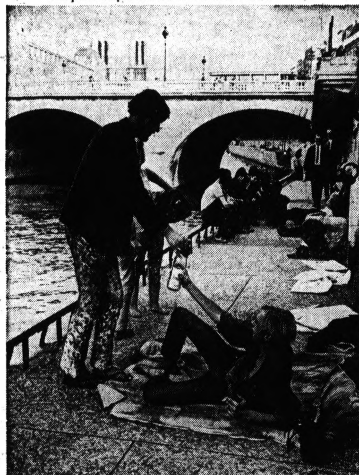

A gypsy guitarist plays for pay in one of the picturesque bistros of northern Paris.

Construction causes congestion in Paris, too, as work proceeds near the Place de la Concorde on a new freeway along the banks of the Seine.

Preclaimed by their odd attire, beatniks on the banks of the Seine share a bottle.

The face of a Flea Market dealer in china and metalware reflects years of haggling.

This Week's PICTURE SHOW by AP Photographer Jean-Jacques Levy

Nightmare Lingers Long After Sinking of Lake Ship Morrell

HARBOR BEACH (AP)—Lake Huron is barren now, winter barring the huge freighters and tankers that sail her often treacherous waters nine months of the year.

But all ships have not deserted the lake.

Some, that once too often challenged the bitter weather that closes Huron and most of the other four inland seas, remain on the bottom.

One such vessel is the ore freighter Daniel J. Morrell which split in half and sank during a storm last Nov. 29 in the worst Great Lakes disaster in eight years.

Twenty-eight men died in the tragedy that since has generated millions of dollars in law suits, a call for stricter safety measures and a vow from the lone survivor never to return to sea.

NIGHTMARES

That survivor is Dennis Hale, 36-year-old father of four, who said today he still has nightmares about the 36 hours he spent adrift on a tiny raft shielded from ice and snow by the bodies of three mates whom he watched die one by one.

"I dream about it," he said in a telephone interview from his home in Ashtabula, Ohio. "I have a hard time getting to sleep. Sometimes it's 3 or 4 a.m."

Hale, who spent three years as an able seaman on the Great Lakes, was hospitalized for weeks and still is under a doctor's care.

He complains of having no feeling in his frost-bitten hands and toes except when the weather is cold. Then his hands tingle.

WON'T SAIL AGAIN

Hale said he would never sign aboard another ship.

"I don't want to put my family through anything like that again," he said. "I figure I'll get my high school diploma or some college and get a job ashore."

The union contract with Bethlehem Steel Corp., owner of the Morrell, provides some money for convalescence and Hale has received a $150,000 out-of-pocket settlement. It is one of 10 suits, totaling more than $4 million.

Hale still ponders his miraculous survival which also amazed doctors at the time.

He agrees with the medical opinion that excess weight may have helped. He weighed 220 when the ship went down, but lost 25 pounds in the hospital.

Since the sinking, searchers have recovered 22 bodies, 20 lifejackets and two lifeboats and have located the stern section of the ship in 200 feet of water some 25 miles north of this Michigan Thumb community.

Divers have been inspecting the stern which was found by underwater television cameras that showed at least one lifeboat was never launched. The forward section has not been found.

A Coast Guard hearing, convened within days of the tragedy, has been recessed indefinitely.

CONFLICTING TESTIMONY

Testimony so far has been conflicting. Some witnesses said the 60-year-old, 600-foot vessel was leaky and unsafe. Others said she passed all recent inspections with flying colors.

The average age of a lake's freighter is 40 years. A sister ship that passed the Morrell only hours before she broke up made port safely but was found to have an 18-inch crack in steel plates amidships, a suspected result of stress. Her papers were lifted.

Despite the advanced age of many lakes' vessels, fresh water is said to prolong the life of a ship.

Even so, U.S. Rep. John Dingell, D-Mich., mindful that

1,300 have lost their lives in ship disasters on the lakes in the past 60 years, says he will introduce legislation in Congress to enforce stricter safety measures and help modernize the lakes.

"There must be a limit and I cannot help but wonder whether we are watching the aging of our lakers closely enough," he said recently.

"Many other carriers operating on the lakes are similarly aged as the Morrell and are rapidly becoming obsolete."

California Officers Try Accommodations

RIVERSIDE, Calif. (AP)—They took me down in the cell block. The door closed with a click. I heard the key turn. It gave me a sinking feeling."

Patrolman Charles Wooten of the suburban Covina police force was telling Wednesday about his stay in the Riverside County Jail as a "forgery ring suspect."

Wooten and 16 other Covina police officers spent all of Wednesday night as prisoners in the jail.

They didn't have to. They'd committed no offense. They just wanted to test the accommodations.

PROOF IDEAS

Their verdict: Sleeping quarters were a little crowded. It's awkward eating breakfast with a tablespoon, time goes very slowly, and the jailers were good guys.

The experiment was the idea of a couple of University of Southern California professors who also went to jail—and Covina Police Chief Fred Ferguson who are conducting a study of ways to improve police-community relations.

Ferguson said he wanted to give his officers some insight into how a prisoner feels.

The experiment was kept a secret from the sheriff's deputies who staff the jail.

"We didn't tell anyone but the sheriff, the undersheriff and the chief corrections officer," said Ferguson.

"The jailers thought we had arrested a large forgery ring and Covina didn't have a jail big enough to hold them all," he added.

The 17 officers, two professors and two women employed as dispatchers on the Covina force went through the routine booking procedure. They were fingerprinted, photographed, deloused and given jail clothing and mattresses.

Sgt. Gerald Lavers said he was surprised at the courtesy of the jailers.
