Air Force Missile's Secret Nose Cone Missing in Atlantic

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The Air Force hurled a two-stage missile some 5,000 miles out across the south-east Atlantic last night, but today there were doubts that its top secret nose—needed for study—would be recovered.

Because some of the telemetry equipment aboard the Thor-Vanguard combination failed to function, the missile's course could not be followed as accurately as had been planned.

However, the Air Force confirmed that the nose cone had attained intercontinental range—possibly 5,500 miles.

This meant it was the longest flight any American ballistic missile has yet attained. It required only about 30 minutes to travel to the Ascension Island area off the African coast.

The Soviet Union has made claims of intercontinental ballistic missile flights at full range. The only U.S. missile that previously has flown full intercontinental range is the jet-powered Hawk which requires about eight or nine hours for the flight.

The Thor-Vanguard was the most widely seen U.S. missile ever launched.

CLIMBS HIGH
On a brilliantly clear evening just at dusk, it climbed so high so quickly yesterday that the sunlight caught it, turned its vapor trail to a long and beautiful serpentine, and spotlighted the missile itself for minutes.

The mission was to launch the highly advanced and elaborately equipped cone 30 miles up in space and then 5,500 miles southward to a previously selected impact area near Ascension.

The launching was emotionally successful, and the flight appeared—after some initial excitement—to be perfect.

Some of the telemetry reporting equipment in the second stage failed.

Signs to Welcome Tourists to State

LANSING (AP)—"Welcome to Michigan Water Wonderland" is what the signs will say when tourists come to Michigan this summer.

State Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie said 20-by-seven-foot overhead panels will carry the words of greeting on major U.S. trunklines at state borders.

Other signs, 12 by six feet, will be erected along other major routes that carry almost all in-bound traffic, he said. The signs also will carry a large replica of the new Straits of Mackinac Bridge. An interchangeable panel in the upper right hand corner will boost various tourist attractions of timely interest.

The first panel will plug the Michigan Week celebration May 4-10. A subsequent panel will promote the Mackinac Bridge Festival in June.

Spring Brings Marriage Questions

Can't Wed Mother-in-Law

LANSING (AP)—In case you've been worrying about it, you can't legally marry your mother-in-law in Michigan.

Sec'y. of State James M. Hare reported today that this was among a flood of queries concerning Michigan marriage laws that have been received with the coming of spring.

An 1846 law provides:
"No man shall marry his mother, grandmother, daughter, granddaughter, stepmother, grandfather's wife, son's wife, grandson's wife, wife's mother, wife's grandmother, wife's daughter, wife's granddaughter, nor his sister, brother's daughter, sister's daughter, father's sister, or mother's sister or cousin of the first degree."

Hare cited as other frequent questions:
How old do you have to be to marry?
At least 18, except that girls between 16 and 18 can marry with the consent of their parents or legal guardian.

Can an out-of-state minister perform marriages in Michigan?
Yes, if he is legally authorized to do so in his own state and complies with Michigan statutes.

How much is the marriage license?
Two dollars, please.

Knowland Tries for Showdown on Union Issues

Bucks Both Parties in Effort to Force Vote on Regulating Labor

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.) bucked a coalition of Democrats and Republicans today in an effort to force show-down votes in the Senate this week on broad proposals to regulate labor unions.

Knowland, Senate Republican leader, said he will give his colleagues a chance to "show whether they want to do something about the abuses within the labor unions with which the country now is familiar."

Knowland's proposals, including requirements for secret ballots, are designed to give union members more control within their unions. They are generally opposed by labor leaders.

His announced plan to offer them as amendments to a less controversial bill for regulation of employee welfare and pension funds caused a delay in consideration of that measure.

But the Senate decided to go into early-and-late sessions to resolve the issue.

Knowland faced consolidated opposition from the Democratic leadership and Republicans who like to class themselves as liberals.

Sen. Ives (R-N.Y.), one of the latter and a member of the Senate Labor Committee which approved the pending bill, said in a separate interview he believes at least a dozen Republican votes will be cast against Knowland's proposals.

High Winds Endanger Troops in Big Jump

'Grab the Chute' First Warning of Jump Trouble

By CARL MAY
Nashville Tennessean Reporter

FT. CAMPBELL, Ky. (AP)—The gusts of wind that whipped dust into the faces of onlookers made it difficult to light a cigarette and provided the first hint of what was to come.

"I'd hate to be jumping today," one reporter muttered as he scanned the cloudless sky for the first wave of planes in yesterday's mass jump by nearly 1,300 paratroopers of the 101st Airborne Division.

The big planes appeared and the battle-trained paratroopers began pouring out in a stream of mushrooming silk. It seemed to be a routine jump—until the men neared the ground.

Watching men thudding to the ground on all sides was an awesome, unforgettable experience.

One soldier shouted as he sailed past me, "Grab the chute. Grab the chute."

As the men were freed, they rushed to aid their fellow-sufferers—if they were able. Finally everyone stopped moving.

Helicopters clattered in and the injured were moved out one by one. It was all over and the troops were lucky. Or so we thought.

Minutes later, the news came. Five troopers were dead. They had been hurled against rocks and trees at the north edge of the massive jump zone.

"Sure it's rough," one grizzled sergeant said. "But it's the sort of thing you have to expect sometimes. It's part of the job."

St. Joseph to Graduate Class in Leadership

Thirty-eight St. Joseph Mercy Hospital employees, comprising the first hospital-sponsored leadership training class, will graduate tonight.

Ceremonies will be at 8 p.m. at the McAuley School of Nursing, 126 Fulton St. The 14-week course was conducted by Dale Carnegie instructors.

The hospital said it is the first one in the country to sponsor such a course for its employees.

Group Drops 5-Cent Rate, OKs 1-Cent Hike on Letters

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate-House conferees met again today to try to finish work on a postal rate and pay increase bill from which they have eliminated the 5-cent letter stamp.

The conferees voted yesterday to knock out the 5-cent temporary rate on out-of-town letters inserted by the Senate in its version of the bill.

They accepted a straight 4-cent charge voted by the House last year.

The vote was a defeat for President Eisenhower and Postmaster General Summerfield, who had asked for a permanent 5-cent rate on the intercity mail along with 4 cents on other letters.

One Republican senator said he believed the bill, if passed, would run into a presidential veto because of these actions of the conferees.

Knocking out the 5-cent stamp, approving a pay raise for the 500,000 postal employees far beyond what the President proposed, and making the pay boost retroactive to Jan. 1. The administration had opposed any retroactivity.

The pay increase approved by the conferees would total about 257 million dollars annually compared with 320 million in the Senate bill and 160 million recommended by the President.

The compromise pay plan would give each employee a 7½ per cent boost. In addition, those in the bottom six grades would get an extra 2½ per cent for three years and employees in Grade 7 would receive 1½ per cent more for the same period.

The conferees also moved from the bill a Senate provision to give free mailing privileges to U. S. servicemen overseas.

Pontiac Driver Hits Tree, Dies

Lloyd Irwin Killed as Car Misses Curve on Bald Mountain Road

A Pontiac man was killed last night when his car apparently missed a curve on Bald Mountain road, a half-mile south of Silver Bell road, in Orion Township.

Lloyd V. Irwin, 39, of 695 Sterling Ave., was dead on arrival at Pontiac General Hospital. His car hit a tree on the left side of the road as he was driving south.

Irwin, who was unemployed, lived with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Len Irwin.

The Oakland County Sheriff's Dept. was informed of the accident at 8 a.m. today, but it apparently occurred during the night. The car light switch was on and the dash clock was stopped at 4.

1,300 of Airborne Unit in Kentucky Maneuvers; Two Oakland Men Hurt

FT. CAMPBELL, Ky. (INS)—The Army revealed today that five men were killed yesterday in the mass drop exercise here at Ft. Campbell by the 101st Division.

One hundred thirty-seven paratroopers were injured, but not seriously. Six were from the Detroit area. Eleven are from Michigan.

Two of the Michigan men injured were Pfc. Curt Gordon of Royal Oak and Kenneth Hawkyard of Madison Heights.

More than 1,300 participated in the jump.

Military spokesmen said gusty and shifty winds near ground level blew the falling paratroopers from the landing zone. Some fell into adjacent woodland, and others into rough and stump-studded terrain.

The maneuver covers several days of an exercise by the streamlined division and marked the first mass air jump of this type since the famed World War II unit was reorganized into a pentomic division, equipped for atomic warfare.

The 101st rocketed to fame during World War II as the "nuts" division. It got that designation when its

Another Jump Saturday

FORT CAMPBELL, Ky. (INS)—Army spokesmen said today that maneuvers will continue at Fort Campbell despite the death of five paratroopers. Another mass jump is scheduled for Saturday and military officials said the remainder of the 1,300 men of the famed division who came through unscathed in yesterday's mishap, blamed on freak ground winds, will participate in it.

acting commander, Brig. Gen. Anthony J. McAuliffe, issued the word "nuts" in reply to a demand for surrender by the Germans.

Maj. Gen. W. C. Westmoreland, division commander, gave the go ahead for the jump despite the wind measurement at eight knots at ground level. Jumps are not permitted beyond 12 knots. He jumped with the troops without injury and said later:

"The exercise itself was a very successful jump." But that was before the extent of the mishap became known.

Seeks Word From Other Communities on Huron Pipeline

City Awaits Support for New Water Supply

By GEORGE T. TRUMBULL JR.

The City of Pontiac wants to know "who's going to be on the team" of the Southeastern Michigan Water Authority before committing itself to a contract, City Manager Walter K. Willman declared yesterday.

"We will continue to sit tight until we learn what the several communities south of us getting water from Detroit plan to do," he said.

Willman's statement followed one of Authority Chairman Howard K. Kelley before the Bloomfield Hills Rotary Club yesterday noon. He said he was "puzzled" why Pontiac hadn't joined the authority.

The authority was created to bring water from a Lake Huron intake five miles north of Fort Huron. A $116,000 study financed by participating Oakland and Macomb counties declared the $150,000,000 project feasible from both engineering and financing angles.

Kelley, mayor of Royal Oak, remarked yesterday that the first spadeful of dirt will be turned in late fall in the enormous project.

ONLY TWO SIGN

However, he said only two communities—Troy and Utica—have signed resolutions of intent to use water from this system. He approximated 60 would be in the fold later.

The authority was born to provide water to Southeastern communities where ground-level supplies have been dwindling year by year.

Whether a number of municipalities in the South Oakland area will join into the system even though tied under a 30-year contract of the Southeastern Oakland County system with Detroit, is the big question Willman wants answered.

The second question is, will Detroit and Flint join in, Willman added.

"It might not be financially feasible for us to say yes without these others," he remarked.

Bloomfield Hills Rotarians, meeting for their weekly luncheon at the Fox and Hounds Inn, learned the cost of water would be from $1.05 to $1.14 per thousand cubic feet under this system.

What the actual rate would be, Kelley said, would depend on how many communities sign up.

He said he will meet with Detroit officials Tuesday to see if that city desires authority water on a standby basis. He will then attempt to have Flint sign on the dotted line.

"If we get these two big ones as anchors for our system Pontiac will join," the chairman pointed out. Willman was inclined to agree.

"If Kelley can work out something with Detroit and those several areas getting water from there now," Willman added, "this would change our whole picture."

Kelley's own city of Royal Oak is one such community tied to a 30-year contract with Detroit.

Planned in the new system is 43 miles of an eight-foot pipeline from the lake intake south to a point near Auburn Heights. From this larger line would go laterals to participating areas.

Lawmakers in Lansing this session smoothed the way with a bill allowing revenue bond financing of $50-million-or-above projects.

dropped the men from a height of 1,250 feet. Newsmen who were present joined in aiding the injured. Standby helicopters were called to the drop zone, two miles long and a mile wide, to bring the injured to hospitals. First aid was administered on the ground.

Many of the soldiers were dragged across the landing area when they were unable to collapse their chutes. Several said it was the worst jump they had ever experienced.

Gen. Westmoreland, who himself was dragged some distance on the ground, said:

"I couldn't run as fast as my chute was going."

"The injuries sustained resulted from an increased wind velocity or gusts following the drop," the general added. Authorities declined to estimate the velocity of the gusts.

What is the most common gas in the layer of air above us?

Nitrogen makes up most of the layer of gas that is our weather and our air. In fact, nitrogen comprises about 78 per cent of the atmosphere's content. Oxygen, which we need to sustain life, is the next most plentiful element in the air.

All other gases, including helium, make up one per cent, or thereabouts, of the air around us. Oxygen begins to thin out so much at 10,000 feet that a supplemental supply is advisable if you are to be above that altitude any length of time.

All our weather—clouds, rain, lightning, etc.—occurs at below 40,000 feet usually, and always below 50,000. The height is greater at the equator and less at the poles, where there is less centrifugal force from the spinning of the earth.

Milford Man, 61, Facing Charges of Halting Mail

A Milford man who used his body as a blockade to halt a mail truck appeared in Detroit Federal Court yesterday on the charge of obstructing delivery of the United States mail.

Sixty-one-year-old Walter H. Garling of 2167 Dean St. stood his ground in the road April 16, and forced mail carrier Pete Pelliccia to back up and go around him, Pelliccia said.

Not to be easily fooled, Garling got in his car and pursued Pelliccia, causing him to stay his appointed rounds and seek police assistance, he added.

According to Milford Postmaster Vincent Boyle, Garling has accused postal workers of destroying his mail for the last year. Garling, a retired city of Detroit employee, said he was not getting social security checks.

Garling was released on $5,000 bond, with the hearing to be continued Tuesday.

Icebreaker Plows Path for Ships Through Ice Jam

FORT HURON (AP)—Continued mild weather is expected to bring an end soon to giant ice jams which continually have blocked the St. Clair river to navigation this season.

Ship traffic through the narrow waterway has been on an on-again off-again basis in recent weeks because of giant ice floes surging into the head of the river from Lake Huron.

The coast guard icebreaker Mackinaw ploughed a path through the ice-jammed river once again yesterday. The Mackinaw shoved its way through the ice many times this year, but the ice refroze almost as quickly as it was broken.

The ice jam the ship fought its way through yesterday was described as one of the worst of the season.

MSU Psychiatrist Lists Reasons

Read Paper to Ease Hate?

EAST LANSING (AP)—Most people read the newspaper strictly for news. But some people may be newspaper readers to relieve inner hatreds.

Dr. Byron Casey, Michigan State University psychiatrist, listed several off beat reasons why people may be newspaper readers in an analysis of reader habits.

Casey emphasized that the vast majority of people read newspapers to keep advised of local and world affairs and find out what other people are doing and thinking.

"Not infrequently," he added, "people develop an emotional attachment for their newspaper. They actually are miserable when they are denied it—as during a prolonged strike."

But some readers with intense dislikes, he said, search avidly for accounts of accidents and catastrophes "and harbor the unspoken wish that so-and-so down the street" might some day be caught in a disaster.

"The reader concentrates his hostility on the unfortunate stranger who is being written up and it relieves his hatred of his wife's second cousin," Casey said.

He explained that some people find it pleasant "to feed on their own self-righteousness."

"When a politician in the news makes a mistake," he said, "we experience much satisfaction because we know that we, if we were politicians, would never make such a 'dumb mistake.'"

Fishing Rights Parley Sets Six Mile Limit

At a Territorial Waters conference of 86 nations in Geneva, a tentative agreement was reached whereby rights would extend six miles to sea. The United States has proposed an additional six miles be restricted to nations which had fished such waters for the past 10 years.

For 165 years the U. S. has insisted on a three mile limit, the range of a cannon, except for the Prohibition period when we made agreements with various countries by which they recognized our right to conduct anti-smuggling activities up to 12 miles off shore.

The Russian delegation wanted the limit set at 12 miles. This would have made the Baltic Sea a Russian lake and, on the other side of the world, would have restricted Japanese fishermen. By such proposal, however, Russia was made to appear a friend of small nations, most of whom feel that the greater distance would help them.

These nations would like to keep foreign fishermen from their own coastal fishing grounds. Ecuador, Peru, Chile and El Salvador claim territorial rights extending 200 miles. Peru has taken foreign tuna clippers and whalers into custody away out in the Pacific and exacted $3 million in fines for their release.

The new agreement could work a hardship on Israel. To reach its new Port of Elath on the Gulf of Aqaba ships pass through the Strait of Tiran which is less than 12 miles across. On one side is Egypt, on the other Saudi Arabia, both hostile to Israel.

Where national jurisdiction ends and free passage begins has become an increasingly touchy international question. We are glad to see that a start is being made to restore some uniformity and so reduce commercial losses and friction between nations.

The World's Refugees

A recent issue of International Conciliation reports on the work of governments and the United Nations in the field of refugee problems.

The study, supported by the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace, calls this the "century of the homeless man." It is estimated that this era produced 40 million refugees. Some of them are:

The 18 million German refugees and expellees from former German areas east of the Oder-Neisse, Poland, the Sudetenland, 4 million of whom were killed. The 2.8 million Germans from East Germany who fled to the West. The 920,000 Arab refugees in Gaza and Jordan who fled Palestine. The 193,000 Hungarians who fled Red tyranny in 1956.

Israel has absorbed more than 400,000 Jews from Yemen, North Africa and Iraq and the 20,000 who fled Egypt. Hong Kong has 700,000 refugees from Communist China and about 15,000 Europeans. Finland got 400,000 from the Karelian Isthmus on ceding it to Russia. After the war Turkey opened its borders to 350,000 Bulgarians of Turkish descent.

When India became independent some 8.5 million Hindus and Sikhs left what is now Pakistan for India and 6.5 million Moslems left India for Pakistan. In Indochina hundreds of thousands of Vietnamese fled to South Viet Nam when the north was taken over by the Communists. The same is true of Korea.

The amazing thing, the report points out, is that millions of these people have become assimilated. Millions of others, of course, have not been or haven't yet attained the professional or economic status they had before they became refugees.

Reading of this report makes us all the more thankful for our own security and for the fact that we have been able to offer homes to at least a few of these refugees.

The President said the economy could not be stimulated by "just spending federal money." Such talk is he losing faith in the long held and widely practiced theory that almost any national ill can be cured by blowing in large amounts of the taxpayers' money?

The Man About Town Fuss With Nature

Some People in This Area Are Making It Do Stunts

Greuchy: A woman who sees a new spring hat or dress just like her own.

Pink forsythia blooms are on a bush in the yard of

Mr. and Mrs. Randall Leeson of Drayton Plains. Irrigation with some cherry juice changed them from yellow. Parsnips from the garden of Jeffery Alliman of Rochester are even sweeter than usual. He fertilized them with sugar.

First to report home grown radishes "of substantial eating size" is

Green corn plants already tasseled out are growing in the garden of Herman Sinnett of Auburn Heights. He planted the corn indoors early in March, and moved it outside this week.

Proud of his self-control, gained by a hard experience,

Randall Robertson of Waterford phones that this is the first spring since he was old enough to read that he isn't being bugged by the pretty pictures in the seed catalogs.

Like the great majority in our city, 94-year old

Robert H. Dawson of 20 Wenonah Drive, who usually votes in every election, didn't do so Monday.

Just the other day celebrating his 35th anniversary in such work was

City Manager Walter E. Willman who came to Pontiac in that capacity in 1950.

My good friend over at Vermontville, Harold Mulcahey, invites my readers to that village's annual Maple Syrup Festival on Saturday. This reminds me that we have thousands of maple trees in the Pontiac area that have plenty of sap in reserve—if we'd only go after it.

Forever off my list is a Detroit newspaper, for the heading,

"Old Man Drowned" on a news story. He was 60.

Slipping back to the old days in journalism is the evening paper in one of Florida's biggest cities, which refers to its competitor as

"The Morning Mistake."

Statistics recently completed on a nationwide basis by that magazine with a reliability for such things, Changing Times, show that six out of every ten students who enter college never graduate. I'm sure Pontiac can show a better rate than that.

A letter drifts in from

Jerry Waitrous, now of Toledo, which states that he was a "car tunker" for the railroad in Pontiac 50 years ago. Whenever a train stopped here he walked along its side striking each wheel with a hammer. The sound would warn him if it was cracked. Car wheels now do not crack, and that job is almost obsolete.

David Lawrence Says:

Nuclear Bomber Debate Not Ended

WASHINGTON — There's a bit of mystery as to just why the Soviets went to the United Nations Security Council to spread a propaganda which blames America for keeping bombers constantly in the air as a precaution against possible attack.

The withdrawal of the topic from the council by the Russians for the time being does not by any means end the debate.

Back of the latest episode is a highly interesting story of changes in Soviet military strategy. Up to March 1955 it was largely defensive and based on the use of conventional forces. Since that date, however, the Soviet military journals have been proclaiming what has been called "preventive war."

This is to be differentiated from "preventive war," by which is meant the old doctrine that one power must attack the other long before it becomes militarily strong enough to inflict defeat.

An interesting article on the Soviet strategy appeared in the January 1958 issue of "Foreign Affairs," published quarterly by the Council on Foreign Relations of New York City. In that article, Herbert S. Dinerstein, who is on the staff of a non-profit organization that conducts research for the U.S. Air Force, wrote:

"The strategy of fighting a preemptive war—getting in the first blow against an opponent poised to strike—is advocated by General Rotmistrov and officially adopted in 1955, is essentially a strategy of the second-best. For under these conditions, it is the opponent who chooses war; the Soviet Union simply makes the best of it in seeking by earlier action to blunt the opponent's first blow."

"As long as the Soviet Union has no hope, in its first strike, of hitting the opponent's striking forces effectively enough to preclude retaliation, the initiation of war is an act of extreme desperation."

Since that time America has adapted her own strategy to the new circumstances. General Norstad, the top commander of NATO, said on Dec. 13, 1957:

"As we go along and add missile launchers, there will be increasing numbers of places an aggressor would have to destroy in one blow. No aggressor can do this. It is impossible. The retaliatory capability of our western forces could not be destroyed by simultaneous surprise attack either now or in the future."

This, however, requires constant alertness by the Strategic Air Command of the United States and the similar command in NATO.

The "first blow" dilemma is described by Secretary of Defense McElroy in a copyrighted interview this week in "U.S. News & World Report," when he says:

"The thing which makes our problem more difficult than his (the enemy's) is that we are committed not to strike the first blow. Under those circumstances, for the fellow that will make up his mind only after he sees these weapons coming in his direction, the cost of defense preparation is considerably increased because of the necessity of much more rapid reaction to an actual strike than if he were doing the striking himself."

The secretary was asked about meeting the "first blow" of the enemy, and replied:

"Of course, what we have to do is to observe it far enough out so that we will have our forces in the air on the way to deliver our own destructive counterblow to him. ... We don't think that we can stop all of them, so we assume that some of them will get through. "We haven't, of course, at the present time any anti-ballistic missile capability, so that if he (the enemy) had them—the long-range missiles—today they would all get through. But he doesn't have the quantities of missiles he would require to deliver such a blow to this country."

Dr. William Brady Says:

Hospital Rules Inhuman? Then Have Baby at Home

Many a mother has told me, says a pastor, that she felt her husband had not been fairly treated by her doctor, when their baby was born in the hospital.

Oh, well, the doctor has an alibi for that. It is his hospital "rules." Being a beneficiary of the scheme he washes his hands of it—and the customers are generally too timid to resent the contemptuous, patronizing, officious, arrogant, overbearing behavior of doctors, nurses, superintendents and every other hospital "authority."

If a woman feels her husband isn't fairly treated by the hospital people, she asked for it, didn't she? This is a free country. People aren't required to sacrifice their dignity when they have a baby. Have they no home fit for the birth of a baby?

I have said here many times that home is the safest place to have a baby. No physician of standing, no medical authority, no hospital superintendent, no statistician has challenged the statement, because it is true.

On taking a peek into the "monkey cage" or the hospital corridor, where expectant fathers are kept during the star chamber proceedings, one can't repress a shudder. This is America?

SOME BRIGHT SIGNS

The picture is not all gloomy. I am happy to note numerous signs of the re-humanization, let us say, of childbirth in America. Among them are:

1. The steadily increasing wish or demand of prospective mothers for NATURAL CHILDBIRTH, which, I believe, is directly or indirectly attributable to the book, Childbirth Without Fear, by Grantly Dick Read, M.D., published by Harper & Bros., $2.75 at book dealers, or available at the public library.

2. The introduction of "rooming-in" into up-to-date hospitals—the practice of keeping the baby with the mother, who attends the baby's needs without permission or supervision of nurses. Rooming-in, of course, does away with the plastic glass show window nursery for the newborn, which is still a feature of the more backward institutions.

3. The practice of sending mother and baby home two or three days after childbirth. This is better for all concerned than was the older practice of keeping mother and baby in hospital for 8 or 10 days.

Women usually look upon sex as synonymous with love. Men don't. So don't let a young fellow's mad protestations of affection lead you into a premarital experiment.

A typical male may also relish the home cooking of a certain woman. After he is full to the brim and sipping his coffee, he may feel relaxed and happy, but he may still have no special love for the cook.

The same thing happens in the erotic realm. A man may be satiated with physical affection, yet have no special fondness for the erotic "cook."

Ammon, King David's son, demonstrated this perfectly. He was so infatuated with the beautiful Tamar that he actually became sick with his desire.

He would have protested undying love for her and agreed to anything to get her in his arms.

But when he finally tricked her into an illicit affair, what happened? He was nauseated by the very sight of her afterwards, so he had his servants throw her out into the street! (II Samuel, Ch. 13).

Ammon shows the classical difference between sexual infatuation and true love.

So be sure your attraction is based on far more than physical magnetism and sex appeal. For that can vanish almost instantly.

SEX DIFFERENCES

Men crave far more erotic calories than women and this has been true ever since the beginning of history.

In ancient days, the problem was partially remedied by polygamy. Thus, patriarchal Jacob had Rachel and Leah, plus their two maid servants, as his four wives.

Nowadays we know that monogamy is far superior on moral, economic and child psychology grounds.

But the modern husband still has the craving for a small harem, just as Jacob did. So how can the one wife decreed by modern custom, meet this dilemma?

Boys in prisons must have a job when they go before the parole board before they can get a parole. With so many people out of work, who will give these boys in prisons a job so they can get back in society? There should be a place here just for parolees for them to seek a job. What do you think?

'Health Service Not the Villain'

Great Britain's taxes are higher than here, but not because of the national health service. 1958 estimates for this were a total of 740 pounds, or $41 per head of population. This is a reasonable price for a year's medical expenses and includes cost of routine examinations, medical and dental, and doctor's prescriptions.

The real villain is war. The last one's fantastic cost to Britain is still being paid for, and duplication of American projects such as the H-bomb is very costly. Add to this stupidity of Russ affairs and you find the real reason for unpopularity of present British government.

I left there two years ago and nothing was rationed then. Could someone tell me what is rationed? Gasoline was, for a short time, but that was only temporary.

Wandering Lamey

'How Can They Praise Williams?'

How can so many who claim to be intelligent be ignorant enough to praise G. Mennen Williams? He complains because a bill giving some whisky and cigarette tax to schools passed without his signature. He's acting like a spoiled child because he can't get anywhere with his intangible tax on stocks and bonds. Why should people who worked, saved and invested have to help save Michigan for people who squander their money?

Last year Williams was out of Lansing approximately 300 days of the year. If he's so interested in the state that elected him, why doesn't he spend some time here trying to get industry back, instead of squandering taxpayers' money for traveling expenses?

The minute he announces his bid for the presidency I'd be willing to write every paper in the country telling them he can't sell Michigan or keep what's here, so how could he solve the international situation?

Smartness is intelligence. And that is quite all right. But those who are smart alecks are ... Indeed a sorry sight. There are the ones who far exceed. The brains considered par. And those who are not half as smart. As they pretend they are. Smartness is the quality. Of being really smart. As there is natural genius. Humility of heart. Because no genius ever rose. From pride and bold conceit. Each victory in life must stand. Upon its own two feet. And so the moral is to play. The best and noblest part. As one is talented, and not. To try to be too smart. Case Records of a Psychologist:

Crane Tells of Sexual Differences

Opal and Ed want a briefing on the sexual aspects of marriage. Idealism and respect for each other, plus a good sense of humor, are important assets for building a happy home. But divorces usually start in the bedroom, so they are smart to get all the facts early. Send for the sex booklet below. It goes into more detail.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE
CASE X - 388: Opal and Ed are the engaged couple mentioned yesterday.

"Dr. Crane, we'd also like some specific sex advice," they added.

"Our pastor said you addressed his state ministerial convention a year ago and gave a talk on marriage problems."

"He thought we should have it direct from you, so would you please tell us what we need to know?"

SEX PROBLEMS
Sex is not the only important factor regarding happy marriage. For a young couple must respect each other and hold high ideals and have an adequate income to keep a home intact.

But most divorces start in the bedroom, so it is certainly wise to get the full facts regarding marital relations.

Women usually look upon sex as synonymous with love. Men don't. So don't let a young fellow's mad protestations of affection lead you into a premarital experiment.

A typical male may also relish the home cooking of a certain woman. After he is full to the brim and sipping his coffee, he may feel relaxed and happy, but he may still have no special love for the cook.

But when he finally tricked her into an illicit affair, what happened? He was nauseated by the very sight of her afterwards, so he had his servants throw her out into the street! (II Samuel, Ch. 13).

So be sure your attraction is based on far more than physical magnetism and sex appeal. For that can vanish almost instantly.

SEX DIFFERENCES

Men crave far more erotic calories than women and this has been true ever since the beginning of history.

Nowadays we know that monogamy is far superior on moral, economic and child psychology grounds.

But the modern husband still has the craving for a small harem, just as Jacob did. So how can the one wife decreed by modern custom, meet this dilemma?

She must feign interest and affect more ardor than is natural so she can thus function as a one-wife harem. She needs to serve as several women to keep her modern husband happy.

That isn't difficult if she is warned in advance and realizes that it isn't selfishness in her husband that makes him more demanding.

God Almighty simply designed the male to demand more food, both of the gastric as well as the erotic variety. So adapt yourself accordingly.

Women are also comparatively frigid as measured by the male standard but they do have some erotic appetite. Most husbands even in this modern age, have very little appreciation of this fact or how to solve the problem.

So send for the booklet "Sex Problems in Marriage," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus 20c (non-profit).

It is often as valuable for middle-aged couples as for newlyweds like Opal and Ed.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long stamped self-addressed envelope and be sure to send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

New Yorkers 'Foozly' With Spring's Arrival

By PHYLIS BATTLE

NEW YORK (INS) — It is spring in New York, and the whole wonderful ridiculous world is foosly.

Foosly is not a word that is known perhaps on the greener side of the Hudson where the other world than New York stretches on and on to the Pacific.

But foosly is a reality here. It is a contraction of foolish and woozy, and everybody has the contraction's condition here in the spring. Except policemen.

Policemen are tolerated; which, as every foosly dimly understands, is a combination of tolerance and confusion at the wimsey and wayward ways of New York in the spring.

See how nature works its wondrous drugs upon this sometimes most thriving of cities . . .

The early morning air, seeping through valleys of concrete until they unload their souvenirs of industry upon the windowills of millions of bedrooms, is unbearably fresh.

In winter, New York air is unreasonably cold and gutty; in summer, unreasonably hot and dirty; in spring, it is sweet like country air and the dirt on its walt is only a soft reminder of the good earth.

Birds do not enter here, except in the horse and child pasture called Central Park — but the pigeons are always with New York, and usually despised for their gutter waddling.

Now, with the sun bouncing spots off its brain, the strange, new New Yorker pauses to admire a pigeon, as though he suddenly were cute and tiny and red-breasted.

Offices, and the people who should be in them but are not, turn foosly, and little is accomplished on the first day of balmy atmosphere.

Casper Loses Title of Bachelor Capital

CASPER, Wyo. (AP) — Casper has promoted itself right out of its own claim as bachelor capital of America.

Two years ago Casper proudly boasted more single men per single woman than any other city in the country — and used it as a talking point for young women secretaries.

A special census this fall reversed things. The census shows 17,612 males and 17,864 females. Now the Casper Chamber of Commerce has another ideal pitch — trying to lure single men to the city.

In mid-afternoon, when tickers tick in winter and gasps clack in summer, these yawning disinterest in the late lunch.

The people of New York, who used to go to Ebbets Field or the Polo Grounds when the time of the booky came, of a spring day, now roam the streets looking vaguely upwards, like tourists. Only they are looking for a cloud, not an Empire State.

New York children are impossibly inconsistent in the spring. They do not rock or roll, they wander. They sit. They seem to eat three ice cream cones and drink five cokes in one day, and they do not look as if gang warfare had got beyond the city limits of Chicago.

Lovers are the foosliest of all. They just sort of stand there looking like June Allyson.

Bars do business as usual, as wire started in 1874.

there are a number of persons in New York who cannot tolerate the sunlight, or who find the spring smells are nostalgic more of gin and tonic than a well-spent youth on the farm.

From any building in town, looking in any direction, one can see the city gardener surveying his ivy-covered fire escapes; and peering into the windows of the New Yorker, one observes the once-a-year beauty of the housewife whose husband — for no reason but to make her happy — has brought her a bunch of sweet peas.

Foosly, indeed, the whole thing. But all this shall pass, to be replaced by disdain and dyspepsia. Ask any pigeon.

Too Many Pigs, Cry Irish Critics

DUBLIN, Ireland — The Government of Eire is hearing criticism, in Dublin, of its latest plan to help put them on their feet by giving each one a female pig. But there are too many pigs in Ireland already, critics are pointing out—20 per cent more than a year ago — and likewise in other European countries.

Denmark's market is glutted with bacon and pig breeding is being limited, they say. In Britain, farmers are turning out too many (subsidized) pigs and in Germany, where the pig population has increased by over a million, an eat-more-schwein campaign is under way.

Already, the critics say, Irish bacon has the lowest price rating on the British market.

Artist on Wheels

Changes View Early

LAGUNA BEACH, Calif. (U)—From the view window of his cliff-top home, R. Stephens Wright can look 40 feet down and see fish darting back and forth in the crystal-clear waters at Laguna Beach.

From his desert home 100 miles away he views the panorama they call Palm Springs—the desert, the mountains, the Joshua trees—across a landscaped courtyard where a fountain bubbles in the cool night air.

Wright is a nationally known portrait artist. He has wealth and social position. There's nothing unusual about the fact that he has two vacation homes.

But here's what is unusual: they're both the same home. It's a trailer.

Wright is one of the four million Americans who live in trailers all or part of the time. Of course, he isn't typical—he's listed in both the national and Southern California social registers, and few society types are trailerites. But then, among trailer folk, who is typical?

They have more in common with the small than they do with one another. They come from all social and economic strata, and a trailer park cross section would show as many different people as you'd find, say, in a big apartment house. They have this in common: they wear their homes like fancy coats, and take them anywhere they like.

Wright, for instance, spends the summer in his 36-footer at Treasure Island, a fashionable but not exclusive park on the bluffs at Laguna Beach, some 50 miles south of Los Angeles.

When the first cold wind of winter blows in off the Pacific, Wright calls a trailer moving firm. For $50 they move his home 100 miles to winter quarters at Palm Springs' Skyridge park, where trailers are parked MOBILE LUXURY—Artist R. Stephens Wright relaxes on the patio beside his trailer home in a modern trailer park at Laguna Beach, Calif.

In four-home squares around of the courtyard."

Wright has enough money to keep the trailer for vacations and weekends—his permanent home is in Pasadena. But there are many Southern Californians of modest means who could afford to be his trailer-park neighbor.

"The space costs me $75 a month at Laguna and $55 a month at Palm Springs," said Wright. "Of course, in Palm Springs I have to chip in to help pay the gardener who takes care of the courtyard."

Wright says his trailer's greatest convenience is its lack of a trailer like Wright's costs about $4,000. There are 220,000 such "mobile homes" in California alone—some 1,225,000 in use across the country. Some Treasure Island trailers have $4,000 cabanas attached and boast color television, telephone. Between portrait jobs—he does about a dozen a year—he likes a place to relax.

It's a Cribbage Term

NEW YORK—The expression, "left in the lurch" comes from the card game cribbage, in which a player is left in the lurch, or "lurched," if he fails to round the halfway mark on the cribbage board before his opponent wins.

Tito to Maintain Independence

Top Yugoslav Theorist Sees No Bowing to Moscow Dictates

LJUBLJANA, Yugoslavia (U)—Yugoslavia's leading Communist theorist served further notice on the Kremlin today that President Tito will stick to his policy of independence despite the new Soviet pressure to bow to Moscow's dictates.

Vice President Edvard Kardelj, Yugoslavia's No. 2 man after Tito, went before the Yugoslav Party Congress to appeal for approval of the draft party program that denoted the new crisis in relations between Moscow and Belgrade.

Kardelj's speech, while firm in tone, lacked the sting of the addresses by Tito at the opening congress session Tuesday and by Alexander Rankovic, another vice president, yesterday.

Rankovic made the bitterest attack on Kremlin communism since Soviet-Yugoslav relations began improving after Stalin's death. His accusation that Yugoslavia's Red neighbors were re-summing a policy of pressure against Tito's regime caused all the Soviet bloc ambassadors present except Poland's to quit the session in protest.

The ambassadors were back in their seats today. Western observers thought their return and Kardelj's milder tone would keep the Moscow-Belgrade crisis from getting worse even if relations did not get better.

The Communist envoys are attending as observers rather than official delegates to signify the Kremlin's disapproval of Tito's continued insistence that Moscow cannot order the road along which communism will develop in other countries.

Attends Twins' Parties —3,000 Miles Apart

PASADENA, Calif. (U)—A mother from New England attended birthday parties for her twin daughters even though the twins live 3,000 miles apart.

Mrs. Fred Cowden, 83, started yesterday with one twin, Mrs. Marjorie Burgess, in New Bedford, Mass. At noon she caught a plane in Boston and flew non-stop to Los Angeles, where she was met by the other twin—Mrs. Marian Beal of Pasadena.

Birmingham Firm Wins M24 Contract

The A & A Asphalt Paving Co. of Birmingham has been awarded the contract for the widening and resurfacing of Opdyke (M24) from Square Lake road north to Walton boulevard.

The State Highway Dept. announced that the Birmingham firm was low bidder for the job with a bid of $282,446.

Contracts for 19 state trunkline projects, covering 85 miles of work and totaling $11,285,582, were awarded yesterday in Lansing in the second-biggest letting in the department's history, according to Commissioner John C. Mackie.

Four of the projects are part of a $7,000,000 emergency program planned to ease unemployment in Michigan this spring. The Opdyke project, which will cover slightly over five miles, is one of the four emergency projects.

Crippled Plane Lands

NEWARK, N.J. (U)—An Eastern Airlines plane with one of its four engines out of operation landed safely at Newark Airport yesterday. The plane, bound here from Boston, had 29 passengers and a crew of five aboard.

Economy Flights Across Atlantic to Bar Caviar

MONTREAL (U)—A sandwich is made largely of bread and doesn't contain caviar or pate de foie gras—even when it's flying the Atlantic.

A definition was given yesterday by the International Air Transport Assn. Pan American World Airways had complained that four European airlines were competing unfairly on economy flights by serving sandwiches that were actually smorgasbord on bread.

Association rules allow the airlines to serve passengers only cold sandwiches on the low-cost economy flights which began April 1. The new definition says the sandwiches may be open or closed but must be cold, cheap, unadorned and self-contained. Instead of the base for a plate of cold cuts, fillings cannot include such delicacies as caviar, smoked salmon, oysters, lobster, game, asparagus or pate de foie gras.

There are about 900 Seminoles living in Florida.

Yugoslav Leader Not Easy to Unseat Khrushchev Gang Trying Hard to Knock Off Tito

By JOHN H. MARTIN
INS Foreign Director

Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev and his minions are trying hard to knock off Yugoslav President Marshal Tito, who straddles the East-West fence.

The former Croat metal worker is not easy to unseat — and he has tackled bigger men than Khrushchev. Take dictator Stalin, for instance.

CALLED TRAITOR

It is ten years since Tito broke with the Kremlin—meaning Stalin. He was accused of being a traitor to Marxist-Leninist principles, which were embroidered by Stalin. He was accused of many things which cannot be easily translated into western terms. But what they all boiled down to was the fact that Tito refused to take Stalin's orders.

To this day, despite cap-scrapping antics by Khrushchev and his recently demoted traveling comrade, Nikolai Bulganin, the Yugoslav "heretic" has refused to bow to what Moscow considers good for him.

Tito has been boycotted by the Kremlin and the satellite sides in the current Yugoslav Communist Party Congress in Ljubljana. He is accused of "revisionism."

BEGIN TO DOUBT

"Revisionism" in the communist dictionary means only one thing—that satellite leaders and their followers are beginning to doubt the automatic Kremlin teaching that anything that is good for the Soviet Union is good for all other peoples.

Here lies "treason" to Moscow under the label of "revisionism." To a Communist the latter term embodies a lot; to western ears and to the ears of those in uncommitted nations the term "revisionism" is vague. That is the way with communist dictionaries.

But the great anger in Moscow today reflects the true meaning of the term. Tito has refused to knuckle under to Moscow's view of what is right for world welfare.

TITO SCRAPING

Tito has done some scraping himself. He has bowed to the Moscow propaganda that Kremlin suspension of nuclear tests is an example to be followed by others, that Moscow's cry for a summit meeting should be heeded.

But Tito also has praised, greatly, the United States for its understanding and its aid at a time, beginning in 1948, when Stalin actually encouraged the on Tito, and the U.S. helped him out of the chaos. When Tito praises, ever so gently, it angers Khrushchev monumentally.

It will be a long time before Khrushchev and Tito ever get together. In fact, the anger of the two is so deep that it is unlikely that they ever will get together.

Gum has been a possession of the United States since 1898.

Asphalt Lake Holds Many Old Secrets

PORT OF SPAIN — One of Trinidad's tourist attractions is Pitch Lake, 114 acres of asphalt at La Brea Point, 56 miles from the capital, Port of Spain. The lake looks something like a wrinkled elephant hide, its folds filled with water. It contains prehistoric bones and fossils.

Although it is safe to walk on the lake, occasional movements of the asphalt disgorge the secrets it has swallowed.

Once a full-grown tree slowly rose straight up from the lake. Scientists who examined it identified it as four to five thousand years old.

It finally reached a height of 10 feet above the surface, then tilted, collapsed at a 30-degree angle, and sank silently back out of sight.

Fails to Foil Intruder

CINCINNATI (AP) — Walter Goforth should have stayed in bed. Goforth told police he broke his leg while trying to capture a bird that flew into his bedroom during the night.

Disposing of the Loot

ORANGEBURG, S. C. (AP) — Thieves know no bounds, apparently. An auto equipment store was broken into here. The only item missing was an ice-cold watermelon taken from a refrigerator and eaten on the spot.

Most cigarettes contain about 10 per cent of sugar content.

JUNK-YARD SATELLITE—That good old American ingenuity is not a thing of the past is proved by Walter Merker, 22, a Chicago schoolboy, and his homemade model of Explorer I, America's first satellite. The exhaust was once a flower pot; the nose cone was a soup ladle from which the handle was cut off; the casing was an electric dryer vent, with a liberal sprinkling of old stovepipes; and the crossbands over the radio units were cut from scrap aluminum with household scissors.

Released Lions Give Vent to Killer Instinct

LUCKNOW, India — Three lions turned loose in India's new wild game sanctuary at Chandraprabha quickly quieted fears that being caged for over a year would accustom them to artificial feeding.

Shortly after they were left alone they killed two buffaloes which had been provided for them. The lions, a male "Raja" and two females, had been captured in the Gir forests of Saurashtra when India decided to open a new sanctuary for lions, to make sure of their preservation. The three were released from cages in the Chandraprabha reserve, Lucknow reports. They emerged majestically, not even looking at the goat and calves especially provided for them.

They are now in a 25-mile square tract surrounded by high fences and temporarily watched by armed guards.

When in Dublin... Dial 'B' for Beauty

DUBLIN, Ireland—A 20-year-old Dublin girl, a dress designer who goes simply by the name of "Clodagh" has developed a successful new line—a home beauty service. It's for both women and men and anytime from 9 a. m. to 11

p. m. those who need a little "freshening" have only to dial a certain number to have a beautician at their disposal.

"Three London-trained beauty experts are on the staff," she said. "It's a top-to-toe beauty treatment we are offering, including pedicure, manicure, facial, makeup, back massage and hair spray sets. On the men? We are limiting that service to manicures and face massage." Clodagh also plans to launch a new perfume this year.

Fair-Trade Laws Meeting Obstacles

CHICAGO — According to Commerce Clearing House, national reporting authority on tax and business law, fair-trade laws used to control resale prices have been wholly or partly invalidated by court decisions in more than a fourth of the 45 states which have enacted them during the past 27 years.

Nearly half the rulings by high state courts on the validity of the laws have been adverse.

A survey shows that the fair-trade laws have been tested in the high courts of 28 states, with successful defense in 15, partial defeat in 10, and defeat in three.

The laws of five other states were challenged in lower courts, with successful defense in two, partial defeat in two, and defeat in one.

India Wheat Increasing

NEW DELHI — India's wheat crop of 1957 is estimated at 340,000,000 bushels, an increase of 6 per cent over the large 1956 crop and about 50 per cent over the 1945-46 average.

Lakes Ships to Use 8-Channel Phones

CHICAGO — The radiotelephone, over which weather reports covering all the Great Lakes are now made four times daily, first appeared on the Lakes in 1934 when a two-channel set was installed on the steamer William C. Atwood

(now the Thomas E. Millage). Four years later 30 ships had radiotelephones, and by the time the United States entered World War II most of the Lakes freighters were so equipped. The latest 100-watt AM phones have eight channels. New VHF sets now in use provide interference-free communication within a 50-to-60-mile range. VHF is being used by 153 Lakes ships, including tugs.

Nixon's Many Tasks Make 'Average' Day Impossibility

By PETER EDSON
Last in Series

WASHINGTON (NEA) — It's impossible to describe an average day for Vice President Richard M. Nixon. They're all different.

You have to take an average week, or an average month, says his staff, to show how he works and what he gets done.

LIMITS SPEECHES

He tries to limit himself to one major speech a month. This will be something he works on—hard—to outline a major administration policy.

It usually involves a trip out of town. In January, it was two trips to New York, the first for a Republican fund-raising dinner, the second to present the Silver Quill Award to Ben Fairless.

In February the vice president made a week's swing through Arizona and California. It involved a stag dinner for GOP leaders in Phoenix and a Greater Los Angeles Press Club dinner. Also, he got in a day's meeting of the Committee on Government Contracts, which he heads, and numerous receptions, luncheons, political rallies, and a visit to an aircraft laboratory.

In March it was his speech before the National Nuclear Energy Congress in Chicago. In April it was an address to the American Newspaper Publishers Association in New York, just before leaving for South America on a good will mission.

Getting Nixon's schedule down to the average week, when he's in Washington, it will involve three formal morning meetings at the White House.

On Tuesday he meets with the President and Republican congressional leaders; on Thursday, with the National Security Council and on Friday with the cabinet.

There are other irregular and unscheduled meetings at the White House, with the President or Sherman Adams and his staff. Nixon sees Secretary of State John Foster Dulles frequently, and is also briefed at the Pentagon or in his own office on military affairs.

Nixon makes infrequent visits to the various cabinet-level departments for conferences with the secretaries when they have some particular problem to discuss.

The purpose of all this is to keep the vice president fully informed on all major issues in government.

Reports that the vice president was taking over more of President Eisenhower's responsibilities, since his most recent illnesses, somewhat overstate the case.

Nixon has only two administrative functions. He is chairman of the President's Committee on Employment Practices—the old FEPC program. And this year he is coordinating all efforts to get the President's foreign aid and trade program through Congress.

The point is that the President can't delegate his constitutional powers unless the recent memorandum on Presidential inability to carry out his duties is put into effect, and the Vice President takes over temporarily as his successor.

Reports that the vice president had also been given greater freedom to express his personal views, even if they differed with administration policy, likewise overstate the situation.

The vice president has always had this freedom. But he has made it his rule to follow the President's policies in every detail.

The vice president holds no regular press conferences. He can't. The President holds the formal press conferences, and he gives the official answers to all questions.

In addition to his formal speeches, the vice president makes two or three informal, unprepared talks every week at luncheons or dinners or evening meetings. But they are always scheduled so that Nixon has every other evening at home. Two or three nights out in a row, he has found are too much.

Nixon can make these impromptu remarks without effort. As the Republicans' major whistle stopping orator in both 1952 and 1956, he has been asked almost ever conceivable question on every conceivable subject. He has the answers down pat, and he reels them off without a moment's hesitation.

Nixon took up golf several years ago. When he works at it seriously he can get his score down to the high 80's. But he's lucky if he can play twice a month.

He hasn't been known to play cards since he has been vice president. And he doesn't go hunting. He doesn't have time.

Small World Indeed

STERLING, Colo. (U) — Edward Haan found out for himself that it's a small world. He had a minor automobile accident. First person to the scene was Don Haan—no relation to Edward.

Sweden, Britain Enter Atom-for-Peace Pact

STOCKHOLM—A 10-year agreement between Sweden and Great Britain on the peaceful uses of atomic energy has been signed in Stockholm.

It provides for the free exchange of information on atomic reactors and will enable Sweden to buy research reactors in Britain and send research workers to study at British institutions.

Survival of the Fittest

FREMONT, Ohio (U) — An unidentified woman called police to complain that every time she's away from home a neighbor's big dog comes over and evicts her little dog from his doghouse.

Big Producer Noted

MAGNOLIA, Ark. (U) — Southern State College at Magnolia thinks it has finally found the hen that laid the golden egg. Poultry Professor Ralph Fall reports that one of the school's hens laid 40 eggs during one month. The hen produced 20 of the eggs in ten-day period.

Group Aiding Castro Reported Disbanding

HAVANA (U)—Exiles who landed in western Cuba to attempt opening a new front in Fidel Castro's revolt are reported disbanding for lack of arms and ammunition.

More than 50 reinforcements for Castro's fight against President Fulgencio Batista landed from a yacht 17 miles south of the city of Pinar del Rio April 12. They had sailed from southern Mexico and were joined by 30 more who came out of the mountains. The yacht and an arms cache in a farmhouse were seized by government troops. The men fled to the mountains and six rebels were killed.

Dispatches from eastern Cuba, where Castro's revolt has been centered for the past 17 months, said 42 rebels had given up and 12 were killed in the past 48 hours.

Seeking Best Libel Lawyer to Sue Rainier

NICE, France (U)—Sir Bernard Docker says he's going to get the best libel lawyer he can find to sue Prince Rainier's Monaco for having him and his wife kicked off the French Riviera.

"This affair will cost Monaco 200 million francs (almost half a million dollars)," raged the British industrialist.

"They are fools," snorted his blonde wife, Lady Norah Docker, of the gold-plated Daimlers, marble championships and other headline-grabbing pursuits.

Lady Docker's current appearance in the limelight—from which she has been absent for some time—began Sunday. Monday charged she insulted Prince Rainier and Princess Grace by tearing up a small paper Mon-can flag at the Monte Carlo casino.

The tempestuous Englishwoman said she didn't mean to insult the Prince and his American-born wife, but she was disappointed that she couldn't take her 19-year-old son to the palace reception

Sunday in honor of Rainier and Grace's new son.

"Young Docker didn't have an invitation, and the palace said even if his ma and pa had sent christening gifts worth more than $1,000, sonny couldn't join the hundreds of invited guests.

Vies With 'Horror' Bill

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (U)—A double feature "horror" bill at a downtown theater had competition last night. A 15-pound snapping turtle was let loose in the orchestra by a practical joker. Screams echoed through the theater until he was coaxed into a box.

Better Uranium Probe

LONDON—Highly sensitive uranium-lusting equipment that can be mounted on a jeep or similar vehicle has been developed by a London electric products manufacturer. A key part of the instrument is a device called a scintillation probe, used for pin-pointing the location of the uranium ore being sought.

Mexico's great oil resources were taken over by the Mexican government during March of 1938.

The second phase of Saturday night's program, to begin at 10:30 p.m., will be ballroom dancing to stereophonic music.

A fitting climax to the three-day event, will be the Sunday matinee between 3 and 5 p.m. Sunday.

Highlighting the program will be a guest appearance by the Detroit Edison's Co. vocal quartet, "The Windjammers."

Another featured artist will be Romeo's own Anton Patti, violin virtuoso who was a member of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra before becoming concertmaster of the Mount Clemens Symphony. He will be accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Chris Gaensbauer of Pontiac.

Also participating in the musical will be Ashbury McKinnis, formerly of Jamaica, who will accompany himself singing religious songs on the electric guitar.

David Hemela, 16-year-old Romeo High School student, will play a medley of tunes on the organ as will Lila McLeod and her sister, Mrs. Robert Betham.

Some 5,000 tickets have been distributed to high schools and clubs in the area. Each entitles the holder to attend any one of the four scheduled events.

Aids Convicted Owner of Death Car Loaned to Lake Orion Youth

The unprecedented involuntary manslaughter conviction stemming from the Feb. 4 Detroit expressway-death of a Lake Orion youth will be appealed at Wayne County expense.

The convicted man, William Marshall, 33, of River Rouge, petitioned for county funds on grounds he had none of his own. County officials yesterday said the Michigan Supreme Court ought to rule on his unusual conviction and agreed to pay legal fees.

A jury had found Marshall guilty March 23 of manslaughter for handing over the keys of his car to a friend who he knew had been drinking heavily.

The friend, Neil McClary, 19, of 499 Joslyn Rd. drove the wrong way on the Willow Run Expressway and killed himself and another driver, James Coldiron, 29, of Taylor Township. Their cars collided head-on.

The jury decided Marshall was morally responsible, in part at least, for the accident. This is what was unusual about the conviction.

Circuit Judge Horace W. Gilmore, who tried the case, approved the petition for funds. So did Executive Judge Frank Fitzgerald and Prosecutor Samuel H. Olsen, who had advocated the conviction.

Judge Gilmore has not yet sentenced Marshall.

Orion School Bidding Opens

Architect on Webber Addition Takes Look at 4 of 11 Prices

ORION TOWNSHIP—Bids from 11 contractors on the two-room addition to Webber School were opened by the Lake Orion Community School Board last night. The four lowest were taken under advisement by Pete Terapata, architect.

They were: Frank Stewart and Son, $33,682; Frank Rewoldt and Sons, $33,713; Arthur Linney, Inc., $34,700, and Chissus Construction Co., $36,400.

Architect's fees of about $2,000 would bring all of them slightly above the $35,000 allocated by the county.

The highest bid was $40,700.

Geraldine Campbell was appointed to take the 1958-59 school census, in other business at the meeting.

The board also studied the need for a receiving unit for disaster calls in the Civil Defense weather warning and disaster communications setup. The Federal Government pays half of the cost, making it about a $159 investment.

The board approved installation of a receiver at the central office from where the general warning could be made. Members hope, however, that some "civic-minded" organization would see the need to purchase it without expenditure of school funds.

Wesley Allen was given a 5-year appointment as agent of record for the school system. He presented a single brochure with easy index of the 13 policies covering buildings, contents, buses and personnel.

The board approved purchase of a tape recorder for use in the high school; six science tables for the general science room, made necessary by increased enrollments in this field; and some basic maps for American History classes.

Boundaries Set for New Schools

W. W. Abbott Is Named Owen Principal; More Teachers Needed

School boundaries for the next year were adopted last night by the Pontiac Board of Education at a meeting before the Hawthorne School PTA.

Major changes were in the south and northwest sections of the school district where new schools have been built.

Twenty-one students now going to Wever will attend Alcott School. They live north of Columbia and west of Stanley streets.

Thirteen others from Wever will return to the Owen School they originally attended. They live on W. Ypsilanti street. Students in the Sallee Woods Subdivision will be bused to the Hawthorne School next fall.

Boundaries were set for the Franklin School now under construction. It will include territory now part of the Wilson and Whittier Schools.

The board also heard a report on teacher recruitment for next year from Assistant Superintendent Philip Proud.

He said the system now lacks 50 to 60 elementary teachers with little hope of getting them. He urged that qualified teachers in Pontiac who have quit teaching be asked to resume their profession to ease the shortage.

ABBOTT PROMOTED

The board also accepted the retirement of Violet Crawford, principal of the Owen School, and named W. W. Abbott as her successor. Abbott is now assistant principal of Washington Junior High and was principal of Crofoot School.

A wage schedule for maintenance employees was adopted which allows qualified foremen and journeymen to attain maximum pay in 12 months instead of the seven years formerly required.

The board heard a request from Pontiac Central Playcrafters that the auditorium at Pontiac Northern High be named in memory of the late Mary E. Parrish, speech instructor at Pontiac Central. It took the matter under advisement.

The board also adopted rules for the use and rental of school facilities to the public.

What Recession, Asks Pontiac Millwork

Reports Business Is Booming

A refreshing note on the current employment situation is provided by the story of a little-known but important industry near Pontiac which maintains full employment and sees nothing but full production ahead.

The Pontiac Millwork Co., 2055 Pontiac Rd., Pontiac Township, hasn't heard of the recession. According to its board chairman and founder, William Downes, it has enough orders on the books right now to keep its 75 employees busy for the next nine months and new orders are pouring in.

The firm does custom door and cabinet work for schools, churches, public buildings and hospitals in a four-state area — Michigan, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois.

In addition, it recently began to nationally market a line of doors called Pon-Craft. These are doors finished in Formica or Texolite in any wood or color.

Started in 1908 by Downes, the firm is now valued at around $750,000. It receives the majority of its orders from architects and general contractors and is not tied to the fluctuating home building industry.

It has sales representatives in Champaign, Ill., and Findlay, O., in addition to Pontiac.

During the summer, the firm hires about 15 temporary laborers to aid in the stacking of wood mainly, but its permanent force consists of highly skilled men.

Secret Nose on Missile Reported Lost in Ocean

without all the telemetry equipment "I wouldn't give two bits right now for our chances of finding the nose cone. There's an awful lot of water in the south Atlantic. But the outlook may brighten tomorrow."

The rocket, a Thor 1,500-mile missile into the nose of which the second stage of a Vanguard satellite rocket had been set like a candle, took off at 7:10 p.m.

It rose beautifully, a luminous pillar in the glow of brilliant floodlights. For about a minute and 20 seconds after launching, when it was some miles overhead, the yellow flame of the missile appeared to explode in a shower of red debris.

For an agonized moment many watchers on the ground thought the rocket had blown apart. But almost instantly the right steady light of its fiery tail could be seen again, twinkling along into space.

The Air Force said the flash of light had occurred at burnout and falling away of the exhaust first stage, exactly according to program.

Van Horn Trial to Open Tuesday

Judge Rules Confession Admissible as Evidence in Rape Slaying

Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem will be allowed to enter the confession of accused rape-slayer Billy Ray Van Horn as evidence when the first-degree murder trial opens Tuesday.

Oakland County Circuit Judge H. Russell Holland this morning denied a defense motion to throw out the confession on the grounds it was taken illegally 22 hours after Van Horn's arrest on Jan. 24.

Judge Holland ruled that the confession and all statements given to police are admissible, as the 24-year-old unemployed welder had been warned of his constitutional rights.

"The record negates any suggestion of third-degree tactics," the judge said.

Court-appointed attorney Brakie J. Orr contended in his suppression request that his client had been jailed unlawfully, and that there was an unnecessary delay before he was arraigned four days after his arrest.

Judge Holland ruled otherwise. "The record is barren of any suggestion that arraignment was delayed (either necessarily or unnecessarily)."

Van Horn is charged with killing Mrs. Hazel Murdock, 39, in her Waterford Township home, after she reportedly told him never to enter the Murdock home after he had been drinking. She and her husband had been attempting to curb his excessive drinking.

S-P Corp. Scores New Sales Rises

SOUTH BEND, Ind. — Studebaker-Packard Corp. officials announced yesterday the company has scored successive sales rises in four consecutive 10-day periods.

Harold E. Churchill, president, said there was a 5 per cent increase in the first 10 days of March over the last 10 days of February; and 18.89 per cent boost in the second 10 days of March over the first, and an 11 per cent rise in sales during the last 10 days of the month over the second.

Churchill said sales of the company's low price car, the Scotsman, have been rising steadily during economy contests in which a Scotsman two-door sedan chalked up a cross-country mileage record for full sized cars, averaging nearly 34 miles a gallon on a coast-to-coast run.

JON PATTERSON

Waterford Youth Wins Optimist Speech Contest

A Waterford Township High School student walked away with first prize in the Optimist zone oratorical contest held yesterday at Sheraton-Cadillac Hotel in Detroit.

Jon "Tim" Patterson, 16, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Patterson, 1530 Lochaven Rd., West Bloomfield Township, defeated eight other contestants from South-eastern Michigan.

The 10th grade student represented the Pontiac Optimist Club. This marks the second successive year that a representative of the local club has won the zone contest.

It also is a feather in the cap of Patty Looman, speech instructor at the high school who prepared both last year's and this year's winners.

Patterson has qualified for the district finals at Holland, on May 2. He will compete against six other state finalists for the right to represent Michigan in the Optimist International Oratorical Contest in Dallas, Tex., later this summer.

The topic of yesterday's speakers was "A Salute to Our Generation."

Owns Only 100 of 6½ Million Studebaker-Packard Stocks

Raises Fuss at Shareholders Meetings

By DAVID J. WILKIE
AP Automotive Editor

SOUTH BEND, Ind. — Sol A. Dann, Detroit attorney, who has enlisted previous meetings of Studebaker-Packard Corp. shareholders to renew his opposition to management at today's annual meeting.

Dann, owner of 100 of Studebaker-Packard's outstanding 6,440,455 shares of common stock, said he will challenge the vote by which Curtis-Wright Corp. was given a contract to manage Studebaker-Packard. A similar motion was rejected last year, more than 92 per cent of the votes cast being against the motion.

per cent of the industry's volume in the first quarter of 1937, dropped to 0.77 per cent in this year's initial quarter.

But it has introduced what its president, Harold E. Churchill describes as a "hard and lean" operations policy. It reported 1936 losses were reduced to $11,135,310 as contrasted with a loss of $43,318,257 in 1935 before special charges of 60 million dollars.

Churchill says the "hard and lean" program still is in effect. S-P has had frequent shutdowns this year to hold down dealer inventories. In this it apparently has been successful.

So far this year it has built approximately 12,000 cars; its sales are estimated roughly at 11,000. At the same point last year its output came to approximately 24,000 units and retail sales to about 15,700 units.

Through the Curtis-Wright agreement, Studebaker-Packard acquired rights to market the former's built Mercedes-Benz line of cars and to use engineering features of Mercedes-Benz. It apparently has abandoned a plan to market a small wheelbase, 100-horsepower car.

Instead it is promoting its Scotsman model, selling at under $2,000. With this conventional size, high fuel-mileage vehicle, S-P has units in every price field, ranging up to $13,000 for the top Mercedes-Benz model.

He addressed the Independence hall meeting sponsored by the American Committee for the 10th Anniversary of the State of Israel.

After returning here later in the day, he will go to Albany tomorrow to address the 89th convocation of the Board of Regents, which runs the state university system, and to accept an honorary degree.

Truman was asked to comment on GOP National Chairman Meade ALCORN's statement that the Republicans do not expect to win the Senate this fall but do expect to win the House.

Said Truman: "Well, it's nice to be an optimist."

He was told former President Hoover also is getting an honorary degree in Albany. It will be accepted by Allan Hoover, because his father is recuperating from a gall bladder operation.

Truman commented, "I'm sorry that he won't be there. We all ways have a lot of fun when we get together."

Reminded that he and Hoover compose the total membership of the smallest club in the United States, Truman replied: "Yes he's the president of it and I'm the secretary."

Security for You

Retiring Shaves Expenses

You and your wife need about $200 a month to retire and live modestly these days.

The figure could vary $20 or $30 a month either way depending on a number of things. But, it's about as close as anybody is going to come as an average. I arrived at it after wading knee-deep in government statistics, budgets and crystal balls.

The $200 could go higher if you need unusual medical care. It could vary some depending on the size of your home, whether you live in a city or a farm area, whether you rent or own your home, whether you can grow some of your own food.

Here's a rough idea of how your monthly budget would look with $200 to spend:

Item	$ Cost	% of Budget
Food	$64	32.0
Clothing	12	6.0
Rent or home upkeep (inc. heat)	53	26.5
Utilities	7	3.5
House furnishings	6	3.0
Laundry, cleaning supplies	6	3.0
Transportation	4	2.0
Medical Care	14	7.0
Life Insurance	5	2.5
Recreation, tobacco, newspapers, books	20	10.0
Personal care	4	2.0
Gifts, contributions, misc.	5	2.5

Of course, this budget shouldn't be taken as rigid. It does, however, offer guidelines for what is necessary today to live "modestly."

It would be very unusual of any retired couple were able to fit its money needs under the budget in exact dollars and cents.

For example: One couple may have to spend more on food because special health food is necessary. Another may be able to get by on less for housing because home upkeep is low. The budgeted allowance for tobacco may not be necessary for another couple because neither smokes.

Here are some factors which may make it possible to live on less when you retire than while you were working:

Taxes will be lower. Your federal, state and Social Security taxes will be reduced or wiped out because of special breaks in tax laws given to persons over 65.

—Lower transportation costs: You won't have to travel to and from work, cutting down bus or car costs. You may even be able to sell your car and use public transportation when you want to go somewhere.

—Work expenses will stop. You'll no longer have to buy your lunch at work, tools of your trade or pay the expenses of belonging to business associations or clubs.

—Clothing costs will be smaller. You will no longer have to buy the expensive clothing you needed for work or attending parties or other gatherings.

Chances are you can think of other ways to save. They all add up to the possibility of getting by on less in retirement.

European Gypsy Queen Dies in Her Tribal Tent

LENDINARA, Italy (AP) — Mimi Rosetto, regent Gypsy queen of central Europe and the Near East, died today in her tent, surrounded by the elders of her tribe.

The 56-year-old woman's followers insisted she be taken from the "exile of the hospital" in this north Italian town Monday night when it became obvious she was sinking. Three days ago Mimi stopped responding to antibiotic treatment for a kidney ailment. After puffing regularly on her clay pipe and taking hourly slugs from her bottle of plum brandy in the hospital, she lapsed into a coma. Since then she had spoken only a few words. A spokesman said she did not designate a successor and the tribal council of elders will begin meetings to consider candidates.

Next in line is pipe-smoking Marika, one of a five-member regency council that took over when Mimi fell ill.

Stormy winds and rain lashed the queen's tent and those of her followers during her final night. Her bed was ringed by 12 candles, symbolizing her ebbing life, as a local priest administered the last rites of the Roman Catholic Church.

Patient Uses Self-Hypnosis for Operation

JOHANNESBURG, S.A. — Peter Schutte, 24, made history in a hospital of Johannesburg, South Africa, by undergoing a 90-minute operation, without anesthetic, under self-hypnosis.

Physicians thought he was the first person anywhere to have had a major operation under self-hypnosis. Peter had long wanted to try it, and finally got a surgeon to agree. "I lay on the table relaxed," he said, "and allowed the thought to enter my mind that I would feel no pain at all, and I did not, although I knew what was going on."

He had been operated on twice before, under anesthesia. After this operation the doctor said, "Schutte had instructed him: 'Now you are going to wake up, very slowly . . . wake up . . . wake up.'"

Vice President of GM Says Buyers Confused as to True Retail Costs

WASHINGTON (INS) — General Motors Vice President William F. Huftader endorsed a proposed law today that would require honest price tags on new cars.

Huftader said the law would make a "real contribution to the re-establishment of sound business practices in our industry."

He made the statement before a Senate subcommittee on auto marketing practices.

The GM vice president in charge of the Distribution Staff commented: "We are all aware of the conditions which have developed in the industry in the last few years as a result of price-packing. These conditions have become progressively worse."

"Today the customer, who desires to purchase a new motor vehicle, is confused as to the true asking retail price . . ."

The law would require posting on all new cars the suggested factory retail price and certain other information about the vehicle.

Chrysler took a neutral position yesterday on the proposed Monroney bill requiring full disclosure of price information on new cars.

Charles L. Jacobson, Chrysler vice president in charge of dealer relations, was the first big three representative to testify before the Senate subcommittee.

Position Bias Barred

SAN FRANCISCO — A fair-employment-practices ordinance has been adopted by San Francisco. Supervised by a seven-man commission, the ordinance prohibits an employer or union from denying a job or promotion on the basis of color, creed, or national origin. Under the law, employment applications cannot ask for such information, nor can advertisements for employees show any bias.

Thermometer Versatile

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. — A resistance thermometer being made by a Cambridge firm for measuring surface temperature can be used in the presence of radio-active fields, high humidity, water, alcohol, salts, and other substances that normally render temperature transducers ineffective.

Which Way to Turn That Clock?

Daylight Saving Time to Confuse Nation

By INTERNATIONAL NEWS
About half the U. S. goes on daylight saving time at 2 a.m. next Sunday, thus depriving some 80 million Americans of exactly one hour in which to figure out whether they push their clocks back or forward.

It won't do much good to tell them now that their clocks should be set AHEAD. They'll forget by Sunday anyhow.

CHAOS EXPECTED

The thing to do is assure them that confusion goes with daylight saving like tick goes with tock. Panic will accomplish nothing.

Be calm, like the folks over at the National Railway Publications Co., who have kept their heads despite having to compile a list of exactly who goes on DST Sunday and who doesn't.

"The list won't be finished until after daylight saving starts," a man reported today. "Every year it gets worse. Kentucky votes for daylight saving but the legislature won't let them have it. Some towns in Indiana get it; others don't. What a mess!"

MORE DST

One thing he's sure of, though, is that there will be more DST in this country this year than last, as a greater area of the Middle West joins most of the East and West Coasts in adopting "fast time."

But if there's confusion over who goes on daylight saving next Sunday, there's absolute chaos over when it ends.

For some, standard time returns on the last Sunday of September, the 28th. Most of the others get back to normal on the last Sunday of October, the 26th. However, there was at least one town in Illinois last year that kept right on going until December.

Daylight saving is one of those countless inventions credited to Benjamin Franklin. They say he first proposed it in Paris in 1785 in order to save on candles.

In 1916, England and Newfoundland introduced DST as a war measure. The U.S. followed suit in 1918, mostly to save on electricity.

After World War I, nationwide daylight saving in the U.S. was repealed, but some northeastern states fooled around with the idea anyway. World War II really made the thing popular.

DISLIKED ON FARMS

Not with most farmers, though. Their traditional argument against DST has been that the cows don't know what time it is. City folks tend to favor DST because it gives them an extra hour of sunshine after work.

Of course, going on daylight saving next Sunday means it will take only an hour to get from 1 a.m. to 3 a.m., a new speed record. But it will also cut one hour out of the supply of sleeping time.

This has raised some resentment, and there is a movement afoot—started herewith—to let people decide for themselves what hour they would most like to do without.

A father-to-be, for example,

Costly Fuel Being Used to Warm Statehouse

BALTIMORE (AP) — Before approving a recommendation that Maryland coal be used to heat state offices when economically feasible the Legislative Council's finance committee discussed other fuels.

"What do we use for heating the Statehouse?" asked one committee member.

"Hot air," snapped Chairman Boone (D-Balto County).

China Nationalist Spies Face Death on Missions

By BELMAN MORIN
TAIPEI, Formosa (U) — This man has no name.
He hides by day and works at night. If he is caught, he will be killed. Nobody will admit they ever heard of him, much less knew what he was doing.
He is a spy for the Chinese Nationalists.
This correspondent talked with him in a governmental office on Formosa. The interview was on condition that no details that might identify him would be reported.
He told this story:
He has been going into Red China for more than three years as part of an espionage network operating continually among the Communists.
His last mission took him to South China. He operated from a mountainous region "between Fokien and Kiangsi provinces." There he set up posts.
A post is a village or collective farm where he has accomplices. They are farmers or laborers. They hide him and provide him with food.
They also gather information, primarily military and economic intelligence. "But we also learn all we can about living conditions and public morale. That is very important."

He is a kind of coordinator of intelligence.
"I move around from place to place, getting the reports of the people in the posts. I put these bits of information together to form a composite picture of a given area."
"Sometimes I leave instructions to look for some specific thing, let's say when the Communist's move new troop units into a place. We want to know the number of the unit, where it came from, equipment, morale, commanders, and so on."
"My mission is to collect and coordinate this data."
He has had only one close escape.
"The Communists discovered one of the posts. Somebody must have talked. I don't know. Anyway, they warned me in time and I did not go near there."

Rejects Latest Ike Proposal

Move by Khrushchev Raises New Doubts on Summit Sincerity

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON (U)—Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev has rejected a proposal from President Eisenhower to start new disarmament negotiations by opening East-West talks on arms control measures.

The turnaround, in a Khrushchev letter to Eisenhower made public last night, is the latest in a series of Soviet moves which have raised grave doubt here as to whether Moscow is presently prepared to enter any serious negotiations with the West on terms it does not dictate.

To explore Soviet intentions further on this point, the United States, Britain and France have decided to urge the U.S.S.R. to agree promptly to joint diplomatic talks in Moscow on summit conference arrangements and issues.

The Khrushchev letter got prompt attention from Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles, who met at the White House late yesterday. Press secretary James Hagerty said it was a reply to a letter from Eisenhower to Khrushchev of April 8 and that it did not contain anything new.

Later, acting on behalf of the White House, the State Department said that Khrushchev's letter rejects the main point of the President's letter of April 8, in which Eisenhower had urged that the Soviet Union agree to technical disarmament studies covering control measures for both nuclear and conventional armaments.

Jury Can't Decide About 'Speed Trap'

A Justice Court jury couldn't decide yesterday whether there is a "speed trap" within the village of Orchard Lake.

The six-member panel, all women, was dismissed by West Bloomfield Township Justice Elmer C. Dieterle when it failed to reach a verdict after three hours deliberation on a speeding case.

The Village had asked the jury to find Ralph E. Schumaker, of 4004 Farhill Dr., Birmingham, guilty of driving 55 miles an hour in the 35-mile zone on Pontiac Trail (M-218) March 10.

Schumaker, who admitted going "about 45" when stopped by village police, contended it wasn't his fault he was exceeding the speed limit. He argued the speed zone is insufficiently posted by the state.

Schumaker alleged that village police take advantage of drivers who are confused by this. No date for a re-trial was announced.

Politicians May Argue, but Unemployment Pay Inadequate

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — What's an unemployment dole? While Democrats and Republicans argue about it, one thing is certain: the present unemployment pay system is inadequate.

This recession proves it. So does the agreement by Democrats and Republicans to do something about it. But what they propose is a temporary cure. The end result may be some permanent improvements in the system.

House Democrats have come up with a plan which would provide government money outright, a gift, to extend unemployment pay not only to the jobless people who've used what they're entitled to under state laws, but also to many never eligible under the present system. President Eisenhower yesterday called that a "dole. . . nothing else."

Under Eisenhower's own proposal to extend expired benefits, the money from the government would be a loan to the states, to be repaid in cash or higher taxes.

This is the background: This country—which had lagged far behind Europe in providing some kind of pay for people who lost their jobs through no fault of their own—began its unemployment insurance system in 1935. It was upheld by the Supreme Court in 1937.

It works this way: employers in all states—and employees, too, in a few states—are taxed. A fraction of the tax goes to the federal government. The rest goes into the individual states' funds.

The states then use this money to give weekly payments to workers who lose their jobs. The amount each unemployed worker gets, and how long he gets it, varies from state to state. For example:

Payments range from a minimum of $3 a week in Mississippi to a maximum of $45 in Alaska and from a minimum of 16 weeks in Florida to 30 weeks in Pennsylvania. Thirty-one states have a maximum of 26 weeks.

Repeatedly, before this recession hit, Eisenhower asked the states to provide unemployment pay for 39 weeks everywhere. He was ignored. About 43 million workers are covered by the system if they lose their jobs.

But millions of workers are not covered and therefore can draw no unemployment benefits if they lose their jobs. For example: farm workers, the self-employed, domestics, and employees of nonprofit organizations.

Right now there are about 5,200,000 people out of jobs. Many thousands of them have exhausted all the unemployment pay due them. Perhaps as many as 2,100,000 more are not covered and are ineligible for unemployment pay. The Democratic plan would cover most of them too. Eisenhower wouldn't.

This is what Eisenhower proposes to do about it:

Congress should vote 600 million dollars to be given the states as a loan to extend—for those jobless workers who have used up all their benefits—their unemployment pay for half as long again as their state law allows. That would mean another 13 weeks at the same rate in a state with a maximum of 26 weeks of payments.

Democrats on the House Ways and Means Committee approved a bill—which means nothing unless passed by the full House and Senate—to extend jobless pay for 16 weeks in all states.

They figure the cost to the federal government would be more than twice what Eisenhower asked for—$1,575,000,000—but the money

Express Doubts on Military Plan

Key Men in House Still Fear Overconcentration of Defense Power

WASHINGTON (AP) — Key House members expressed doubt today despite President Eisenhower's new assertion that his military reorganization plan would not permit overconcentration of military power.

Secretary of Defense McElroy was called back for more testimony before the House Armed Services Committee.

Rep. Hardy (D-Va.) said he was scared "plumb to death" by the administration proposal.

Eisenhower wants among other things to increase the powers of the chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff and to expand the Joint Staff, a group working under the military chiefs.

At his news conference, Eisenhower denied again—angrily, this time—that his reorganization proposal could make possible control of the military forces by any one man.

He said that while the plan calls for operational commands under the direct authority of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, "the services themselves are not weakened in any respect, in all their tasks of recruiting, training, keeping a reserve, getting their manufacturing, procurement, all the rest of it, and all the mass of the appropriations are made directly to them."

When McElroy was asked to cite an example of a service military chief delaying or hampering the assignment of forces to an established unified command, he replied that he "didn't want to talk about such things in the open."

Gen. Nathan F. Twining, chairman of the Joint Chiefs, likewise shied away from getting too specific on this point, saying only that there had been some difficulty with an unspecified service regarding the "air defense setup."

Girl, 6, Has Suffered 78 Fractures; Seek Cure

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A little girl who has had 78 bone fractures during her six years is back in the hospital today.

Charlotte Valenti is undergoing treatment that doctors hope will protect her brittle bones, a congenital defect known as osteogenesis imperfecta.

Doctors are placing rods down the long bones in her legs. They hope to protect her against more bone breaks until her teens, when her bones may harden. She has spent her entire life in bed.

New Publishing Association Head

Politeness, Courtesy Keys for John Stewart Bryan

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — D. Tennant Bryan, incoming president of the American Newspaper Publishing Assn., was a World War II naval officer in the Pacific when he was put in charge of Richmond's two daily newspapers to succeed his late father.

And a source of repeated comment by his associates on the Richmond News Leader and the Times-Dispatch is the absolute absence of any quarter deck attitude.

Politeness and courtesy are the hallmarks of the 51-year-old publisher who moves into the ANPA presidency 20 years after his father, John Stewart Bryan occupied the position. His dealings with elevator girl, printer or top executive is an almost daily demonstration.

"I've been here 10 years," said a newsman of the morning Times-Dispatch, "and I've never been able to maneuver myself behind Mr. Bryan in going through a door or on to an elevator."

"He conveys the impression that required or demanded," said one top associate.

"He despises unpleasantness and feels there's no excuse for rudeness in business as well as in social contacts. But those of us who know him well know there's a great degree of firmness along with those unfailing good instincts."

Bryan is also board chairman of the Tampa (Fla.) Tribune.

Bryan is a slender man, well-tailored in a subdued Ivy League manner. He has, like his father and publisher grandfather, Joseph Bryan, taken a leading role in state and local civic affairs.

ginia's old aristocratic families. He attended private schools and the University of Virginia where his father—later president and chancellor of William and Mary—had headed the board of visitors. After college he worked in various departments of the newspapers before he became a vice-president.

Although seldom seen in the rooms of his papers, Bryan keeps in close personal touch at almost daily informal luncheons in the board room.

Refuse to Patch Up Hard Feelings

Ex-Counterspy, Ex-Red Debate

DALLAS (U) — Former FBI counterspy Herbert Philbrick offered to patch up hard feelings with the boss of the old Daily Worker, John Gates, yesterday but it was no go.

Gates held memories of a stretch in the Atlanta pen for conviction of conspiracy toward the government. Philbrick's testimony helped put him there.

They argued a few pros and cons of communism during a panel discussion before an overflow crowd of more than 3,400 students at Southern Methodist University. The school said the talks would give the students an insight into communism and help them combat it.

"I was sent to prison for my ideals," Gates said. As for the conspiracy angle, he said that was "catch-all to put people in prison for their ideals."

Backstage before the talks, photographers tried to get the two to pose together. "I will but I don't believe Mr. Gates is willing," Philbrick said.

"He's a fake and a phony," Gates snarled at newsmen. Philbrick moved in to give photographers their shot and Gates did a disappearing act behind some stage props.

Philbrick offered to shake hands after it was all over. Gates ignored the outstretched palm and turned away.

Billed as a case study of the Communist conspiracy and blast-

"This will be a bonanza for the northland," said S. Stuart Woodfill, commission chairman and boss of the Grand Hotel on Mackinac Island.

"We should have 350,000 visitors to Mackinac Island this year, 50,000 more than last year," he said. "Roughly 175,000 of those should be 'exposed' to Fort Mackinac, and of those about half should be willing to pay the 50 cent fee we plan to charge for admission to the fort."

For their money, Woodfill said, tourists will see "a brand new show."

Plans call for waitresses in colonial costumes to serve pastry made from 18th century recipes at a new tea room in the fort.

New displays for the fort museum will be rounded up on a loan basis from museums through the state. Push-button tape recorders will describe them.

Paper mache mannikins, dressed in colonial attire, will be on display. Archaeological diggings on the fort's parade grounds may be ordered.

Dr. Eugene Petersen, director of the State Historical Museum, will direct the project with the help of the State Historical Commission.

Only $50,000 in bonds will be sold this year, Woodfill said, "since that's all the money we can spend this summer and we want to see how the public receives our pilot project."

"For me, the day the Daily Worker died, it was the end," he said. "The party will exist only as a living corpse in an advanced stage of decomposition. The party is dead beyond recall."

Gates said he was no longer a Communist, having quit the party two days after the Daily Worker folded, but a democratic Socialist.

Restoration Work Approved

Old Fort Mackinac to Get 'New Look' for Tourists

LANSING (U) — "Project Mackinac" is ready for launching.

The Mackinac Island State Park Commission gave it an unofficial go-ahead yesterday, reaching tentative agreement on a $125,000 bond issue for restoration work on old Fort Mackinac.

Within five years, it is hoped two other sizeable bond issues will finance reconstruction of Fort DeBade on the St. Ignace side of the Straits and more work on Fort Michilimackinac in Mackinaw City.

Admission charges will pay the costs.

Aim of the program is to turn the Straits of Mackinac region into one of the nation's top tourist meccas.

"We should have 350,000 visitors to Mackinac Island this year, 50,000 more than last year," he said. "Roughly 175,000 of those should be 'exposed' to Fort Mackinac, and of those about half should be willing to pay the 50 cent fee we plan to charge for admission to the fort."

For their money, Woodfill said, tourists will see "a brand new show."

Plans call for waitresses in colonial costumes to serve pastry made from 18th century recipes at a new tea room in the fort.

New displays for the fort museum will be rounded up on a loan basis from museums through the state. Push-button tape recorders will describe them.

Paper mache mannikins, dressed in colonial attire, will be on display. Archaeological diggings on the fort's parade grounds may be ordered.

Dr. Eugene Petersen, director of the State Historical Museum, will direct the project with the help of the State Historical Commission.

Only $50,000 in bonds will be sold this year, Woodfill said, "since that's all the money we can spend this summer and we want to see how the public receives our pilot project."

Woodfill said he was hopeful the entire bond issue could be paid off in four or five years, although bonds will be issued on a 15-year basis.

Actual work awaits Gov. Williams' signature on a bill authorizing the project.

Public schools now need 220,000 more teachers, the report said. Only about 85,000 of this spring's qualified graduates are expected to enter the teaching field. That leaves a net shortage of about 135,000.

The number of graduates qualified to teach in grade school is estimated at 44,000, the same as last year. The number qualified for teaching in high school is estimated at 72,000 — about 5,000 more than last year.

On the basis of past records, the NEA reckons that about 73 per cent of the qualified graduates will actually enter the teaching profession. Many potential women teachers will get married and start raising families. The military will grab off a number of potential men teachers. Higher paying jobs in private industry will lure both men and women into other fields.

Most educators feel, however, that if the recession should continue into the late summer or fall, the teaching profession will get many spring graduates who might otherwise be lost to industry. Some past graduates might be pushed into teaching also.

The report noted that the number of graduates qualified to teach science and mathematics is up nearly 19 per cent from last year's graduating class.

The report acknowledged a real need for science and math teachers. But it said the primary need today is for competent grade school teachers.

Heikkila En Route Back After Swift Deportation

HELSINKI (INS) — William Heikkila, the one-armed draftsman deported from the United States last week because of Communist party links, left Helsinki by plane today to return to the United States.

Heikkila was to fly to London and then to San Francisco by the polar route. He is due in San Francisco Friday morning.

Heikkila's return was ordered when the Immigration Department conceded it had erred in suddenly deporting him to his native Finland in secrecy. But the 52-year-old man faces a renewal of government efforts to have him deported permanently.

Easier Credit Taking Hold

Effectiveness of Move to Fight Slump May Be Offset by Rising Prices

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (U) — The first of the anti-recession moves—easier credit and cheaper money—is beginning to take hold today at the grass roots level.

Its effectiveness is in doubt still because, for one thing, it is partly offset by the stubbornly rising cost of living.

It's easier today for business and individuals to borrow—and then spend. It's harder for individuals to balance their budgets and buy more—an anti-recession move of whose effectiveness there is little doubt.

Since last fall, the Federal Reserve Board, in a series of moves, has given the banks a sizably larger amount of money to lend and it has forced interest rates down.

Business and individuals have been led to the trough of easier credit and cheaper money. It is still to be seen whether they'll drink.

Business is still borrowing large sums, both on short-term loans from the banks and on long-term issues sold to investors.

Authorities hope that easier credit will lead corporations to revive expansion plans and business ventures and thus bolster the slipping economy.

Individuals have been borrowing less, especially for such sizable purchases as new cars and new houses. Washington officials hope easier credit will change that and help industries involved.

But what to do about the rising cost of living is a tough and often touchy problem. Higher prices are as widely blamed as dwindling incomes for what decline there has been in consumer buying—and a reversal of this trend is devoutly sought.

Latest government figures put most of the blame for the continuing rise on the higher prices for food and services.

Suburban House Is Home Where Buffalo Roam

CRANFORD, N.J. (U) — Raymond L. Aumack's pleasant suburban house has become a home where buffalo roam.

To the astonishment of neighbors and the delight of children, a 1,300-pound bison named Pat has been grazing on Aumack's front lawn for the last several days.

Pat is the pet of Mr. and Mrs. Larue Olson, Whitewood, S.D., who brought him East in a trailer when they decided to visit the Aumacks.

Pat, whom Olson has trained since lassoing him in Montana six years ago, is particular and won't take food from anyone but his master, so the Olsons had to bring him along.

"An odd house guest," said Mrs. Aumack, "but very quiet and less trouble than a dog."

Patie's Just a Rat to Hackensack Police

HACKENSACK, N.J. (U) — Dog Warden James J. Collins has been making his rounds with a white rat perched on his shoulder.

Collins befriended the rodent after he found him walking along the street. He named him Patie.

Patie hasn't made such a hit with Collins' fellow police officers.

World Fair Introduces Boom in Brussels

BRUSSELS, AB — Visitors to the 1958 world's fair should arrive in Brussels with high prices, courage for equipped with plenty of cash, rides with the city's speed-demon courage, patience and strong feet, taxi drivers, patience for waiting in long lines at the fair, for good and strong feet to tramp the exhibition's 550 acres.

"There is a service charge of 15 per cent which replaces the tip."

At the fair grounds there are four ways of visiting the exhibits: by motorized trains that rumble through the grounds, by motorized rickshaws, by two-man gondolas that glide along cables suspended over the heads of the crowd, and by foot.

Junior Editors Quiz on FOLKLORE

QUESTION: Was there a real Casey Jones?

ANSWER: Since earliest history, man has used songs to tell stories and recall great events. At first these songs were passed on by word of mouth from generation to generation. They were a form of early history. Later, they were written down and became a part of a nation's folklore.

Many, like the legends of Paul Bunyan, are not real. But most of what are called the "railroad songs" are based on real happenings in the days when the railroads were helping unite the country.

Such a one is "Casey Jones." John Luther Jones was a fine engineer, a man of great resourcefulness and daring who remained cool in an emergency. He died in 1900 when his train collided with another one. Jones remained in the cab of his steam locomotive after shouting at his Negro engine wiper, Wallace Saunders, to jump. Saunders, who was a devoted friend of the engineer, wrote the original version of the now famous ballad. Later a chorus was added and the song became popular in vaudeville.

FOR YOU TO DO: The engine of the "Cannonball" was a steam locomotive. You don't see them much any more. Visit the railroad station in your town and maybe you will see one, but more likely you will see diesel or electric locomotive.

(The $10 award for this question goes to Ted Eaker of Akron, Ohio. Mail your question on a postcard to Violet Moore Higgins, AP Newsfeatures, in care of The Pontiac Press. Tomorrow: Did Mrs. O'Leary's cow start the Chicago fire?)

In November an American reserved a double room with bath for himself and wife at a good but not swanky hotel. He was asked to pay $40 francs ($10.00) in advance.

On April 4 he was notified that with an increase in prices authorized by the government, the room would now cost $63 francs ($15.75). The price includes a service charge of 15 per cent, taxes, and a continental breakfast of tea or coffee and rolls.

But, you'd better tip just the same.

Breakfasters wanting fruit juice, eggs, bacon or ham pay extra. Taxi drivers of Paris long have been regarded by many foreigners as eccentrics. One of their eccentricities is breakfast speed.

Brussels taxmen seem to come from the same mould. The big difference is they have new automobiles, mostly American and German, capable of greater speed. Just before the World's Fair opened April 17, the starting fare was increased from 7 to 10 francs—20 cents.

There is a local ordinance compelling a taxi user to tip a minimum of 15 per cent. But if you stick to the minimum, you'll get more than a dirty glare. Tip 20 per cent and the cabbies are polite; 25 and they smile; 30 and they bow; 40 and they bow and call you monsieur.

Despite dozens of restaurants, there still are not enough. The restaurant at the American Pavilion has had a lineup every day since the fair's opening.

The prices range from 50 cents for a prime beef hamburger, $1.50 for dixie style barbecued half spring chicken, and 20 cents for coffee.

Half Right Not Enough

DENVER, Colo. (7) — Eugene E. Walters of Bowling Green, Ohio, made a flying trip to Denver to attend National Jewish Hospital's food industry dinner at the Plaza Hotel. On his arrival, he found Denver has such a hospital but that the Plaza Hotel where the dinner was held is in New York City.

The motorized trains do not stop. From them the visitor sees only the exterior of the pavilions. The gondolas also trundle along fixed routes with no halts. The rickshaws halt as often as you like. They carry two persons, and the charge is $1.20 for each person per 30 minutes.

No admission is charged at the various exhibits, but this, of course, does not hold for the sprawling amusement park section and other amenities such as parking your children.

Buying a cocktail, whisky, gin or brandy is no problem in Brussels, but it's a costly process. Spirits are legal at private clubs, however, and these seem to in-

U.S. Ships Employ 60,000 Seafarers

NEW YORK — Twenty years ago the net worth of the subsidized segment of the American merchant — marine industry was $76,000,000. Now it is $600,000,000.

Shipping flying the American flag pours more than five billion dollars a year into the American economy in direct payments and indirect contributions.

Some 60,000 seafarers are employed on United States ships. They get the highest maritime wages in the world and have the best working conditions. Total direct employment in this industry, including shipyards, is more than 200,000.

Probe Jets Stunting Close to Airliners
LOS ANGELES (U)—The Air Force has ordered a formal investigation of reports of jets stunting dangerously close to commercial airliners.
Aerobatics on a civil airway, if verified, would mean a court-martial that could lead to the stunting pilot's dismissal from the Air Force, a spokesman said.

Egyptians Give Facial to Sphinx
Antiquities Department Using Plastic Surgery to Hide Scars
By JULIE SMITH
Airways Travel Writer
CAIRO—The Sphinx with her inscrutable smile is getting a facial. Plastic surgery, performed by the Egyptian Department of Antiquities, will hide the disfiguring scars of time, sand and vandalism.
When the beauty treatment is done, the 4,500-year-old guardian of the Pyramids and the Nile Valley will have a complexion as good as new.

FACE OF TIME
Though referred to as "she," the Sphinx is thought to bear the face of King Chephren, builder of the Second Pyramid. The body, 240 feet long, is in the form of a recumbent lion. The massive head towers 66 feet into the desert sky. Its gigantic proportions, imperishable eyes, sensitive mouth and high cheekbones have made the Sphinx an object of speculation and admiration through the centuries.
The mystery of how the Sphinx was built, why and by whom has never been completely solved. The lion in Egyptian mythology is often the guardian of sacred places, but how this conception arose is not known. Behind her mask of serenity, the Sphinx has guarded her secrets well.

Sophocles wrote of "The Sphinx and her enigma." Emerson said, "She broods upon the world." Novelist Robert Hitchens had this to say: "He who created it looked beyond Egypt, beyond the life of man. He grasped the conception of Eternity and realized the nothingness of Time, and he rendered it in stone."
Scholars claim that the Sphinx was hewn out of living rock 2,500 years before the birth of Christ. Though it is probable that the Sphinx served as a royal portrait, its original purpose was forgotten 1000 years after it was completed. The colossus, for example, was identified as a sun god and worshipped as "Horus in the Horizon" during the New Kingdom, circa 1570 B.C.
The original face was carefully carved and painted red, but the lion's body was crudely blocked out and overlaid with plaster. Through the ages, the giant figure was badly damaged. Vandals broke off the nose, cracked holes in the head, and knocked out chunks of the body in a futile search for buried treasure.
The Sphinx suffered drastically, too, at the hands of the Moslems who abhorred images in any form. The Mamelukes took pot-shots at the head, and the ravages of wind-blown sand did the rest. Both the Sphinx's beard and a cobra emblem on the forehead were carried off to the British Museum in London.

Many bits and pieces, scattered across Europe, now repose in showcases and museums despite the demand of Egyptologists for their return to Cairo.

Study Weather With Grenades
Arctic Region Blasts in Upper Atmosphere Reveal New Findings
WASHINGTON (U)—Scientists are studying the upper atmosphere near the arctic regions with something new in the way of thermometers—explosive grenades shot from a rocket.
The new technique was described today by the U.S. Committee of the International Geophysical Year in announcing a highly successful season of rocket probes of the upper atmosphere over far northern Canada.

To get the information, the committee said, the scientists had to develop what it called ingenious techniques to measure the temperature and density of the atmosphere and the vertical distribution of pressure.
That's where the grenades were put to use.
The work was conducted by firing rockets into the ionosphere between 46 and 180 miles above the earth's surface—a portion of the atmosphere which the committee said is out of reach of balloons and, for the most part, below the level of satellite orbits.
"Although the rocket is the only means of attaining the right heights," its great speed does not allow an ordinary thermometer probe to come into equilibrium with the atmosphere," the committee said.
"It therefore becomes necessary to calculate temperature indirectly from pressure, density or velocity of sound."
The IGY scientists used 18 explosive grenades ejected from a rocket at timed intervals.
"On the ground," the announcement said, "an array of sensitive microphones is spaced 1,000 yards apart in the form of a cross. Each microphone 'hears' the burst at a slightly different time. By noting the time taken for the sound to travel from rocket to ground, average temperature of the air can be computed, and the difference in arrival time at the various microphones yields a measure of average upper level wind velocity and direction."

Students Feeling Short-Changed Over Bermudas
LOS ANGELES (U)—Banning Bermuda shorts at Los Angeles City College has brought these protests by male students:
"Doesn't seem fair," John Zinda, 20, said. "A person can wear jeans and a T-shirt, even a dirty shirt..."
"Some of the drama students are allowed to go around in bears," said Biggie Pennino, 21. If the shorts were allowed, then school officials would have to decide exactly how long they should be, said Wendell Black, dean of special services.

Swiss Office to Handle Claims on Germany
LAUSANNE, Switzerland (U)—An office has opened in Lausanne to coordinate claims against West Germany for non-German property confiscated by the Nazis.
The claims are to be filed with the Bonn government before June 1. The West German Parliament passed a restitution law last year.
The office is run and financed by an Austrian-born Israeli lawyer, Hans Deutsch, who negotiated the return of the Nazi-confiscated properties of the Rothschild family.

Israelis Holding 'Birthday Party'
Dance in Jerusalem's Streets in Marking End of Decade as Nation
JERUSALEM, Israeli Sector (U)—Israelis danced in the streets until dawn today to celebrate the 10th anniversary of their nation's founding.
The festive celebrations today of the Jewish state's first decade included a military parade through Jerusalem for which troops and armor had been brought into the city. Israeli officials apparently planned to ignore Jordan's protests that the concentration of military equipment violated the 1949 armistice dividing the city between Israel and Jordan.
The nationwide birthday party was touched off by a 10-gun salute broadcast the length of the 8,050-square-mile nation. It was the signal for fireworks displays and street dancing by many of the nation's almost two million Jews.
Loudspeakers carried polkas to the crowds in Jerusalem. In Tel Aviv more than 1,500 entertainers gave free variety shows at six stages erected in main streets.
Some 10,000 tourists were in the crowds that packed Tel Aviv for a large fireworks display. Cabinet ministers, rabbis, diplomats and specially invited German guests joined in the holiday spirit.
Almost every house in Tel Aviv was decorated with flags and bunting. Huge murals of Bible scenes and heroes hung across the main streets.
The anniversary officially began yesterday morning. A two-minute silence was observed throughout the nation at 10 a.m. and memorial services were held in synagogues.

Winkle Up' Winston Demands of Mayor

LONDON, England—Sir Winston Churchill fined two aldermen of Hastings, England, 10 cents each for forgetting their winkles, the other day. This was because they are all members of the 58-year-old Winkle Club, whose members are pledged always to carry with them a replica of the Hastings periwinkle.

Sir Winston was entertaining a group in his London home where he received "the freedom of Hastings." After the ceremony he whipped a gold-plated winkle from his pocket and declared: "I've not forgotten this—winkle up."

Started but delighted, the mayor and other officials reached for their winkles. But two had left them home and were fined.

Contractors to Put Up 'Arty' Fence at Gallery

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—There will be no dull dark green fence like that contractors usually put up around construction for the new building of the More Institute of Art, Science and Industry.

The institute got unanimous consent from the Art Commission to paint the eight-foot fence with a colorful design of spring and summer flowers.

Building Looms in Waterford

By REBA HEENTZELMAN

When John Bexell of Waterford Township brought his wife and two babies to the United States from Sweden some 35 years ago, he never dreamed that years later he would be making the same type of implement that his father and fore-fathers had created.

Bexell, with his son Bert and three helpers, construct and produce weaving looms in a shop at 2678 Dixie Highway.

that are shipped to universities and individuals all over the world.

It all began when Bexell's wife, Marie, started to work as a weaver of upholstery, drapes and rugs for Mrs. Elsie Saarinen at the Academy at Cranbrook in 1929.

At that time, there were only a few old obsolete looms in operation at Cranbrook, and Mrs. Saarinen asked Bexell if he could design and build a new loom. Before that, the looms were shipped into the United States at a high duty-rate from other countries.

"Just as a challenge," Bexell went to work on the project, hand chiseling, and pounding the different wood parts into shape with a mallet.

He had no blueprints, or plans—"only those in my head," he said. He added, "I helped my father put so many weaving looms together when I was a boy, that I could never forget any detail in building another one."

Finally the first American-Swedish loom was completed and the Bexell fame began to put on display at Cranbrook. Officials there ordered several more, and the Bexell fame began to spread.

From that time on, father and son have been re-designing and improving looms until now, they can produce everything from dainty linen handkerchiefs to deep-piled 12x18 foot rugs.

The biggest order the company ever produced was from the government in 1939, for 400 looms. These were used for rehabilitation work, and it took three years to complete the order.

Foreign students from all over the world, studying at Cranbrook, are still using the Bexell looms at the institution, and often order one to take home with them, after graduation.

Makes Good Inspection: Trapped Inside 46 Hours

JERSEY CITY, N.J. (AP)—James Drones, making a routine inspection of a refrigerator car, got a pretty good look at it. He was sealed inside it for 46 hours.

Drones, 40, hopped into the car at Newark Monday, only to have the door slide shut behind him. His shouts and pounding were of no avail until a conductor, also making a routine check, finally came upon him Wednesday.

He was treated for exposure at Martland Medical Center, where his condition was listed as "not serious."

McNeal's Ranks Swell

FARNHAM, Va. (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Charles McNeal think maybe they have some kind of record. They've been married 63 years, have 11 children, 60 grandchildren and 80 great-grandchildren — 151 descendants in all.

LOOMING IS BOOMING — In a small Waterford Township shop, a father and son team make weaving looms of six standard sizes. John Bexell, watches his son Bert put the finishing touches to a small loom which was designed by John's grandfather in Sweden, years ago.

Broiled Chops Spring Treat

What could be more refreshing than a Springtime meal that introduces new tastes for winter-tired palates? With delicately flavored lamb chops highlighting the menu, the meal is as exciting as the first glimpse of a budding tulip.

Lamb chops can be cut from the loin, leg or shoulder section of lamb. Each of these chops is easily recognized. For example, shoulder chops contain either the round or blade bone — the round bone chops have the most meat, the least bone.

The lean, tender texture of lamb allows the meat to be prepared by dry cooking methods — it's easily roasted, broiled, or pan-broiled. For quick-cooking, broil lamb chops cut $\frac{1}{4}$ to 1-inch thick. The flavor of lamb blends well with many seasonings; try sprinkling chops with garlic or celery salt instead of salt and pepper.

How To Broil Lamb Chops
Preheat the oven for broiling. Slash the edges of the fat in several places to prevent curling during broiling. Place the meat on a rack so the top surface of the meat is approximately 2 to 3 inches from the source of heat for 1-inch thick cuts. Broil one side to the preferred doneness, season, turn, and broil the other side.

Chops cut 1-inch thick should be well done when cooked 7 to 8 minutes per side. To test for doneness, cut a small gash close to the bone and note the color of the meat. Season and serve.

Sharp Tomato Sauce

Combine 2 egg yolks with 1 tablespoon fresh lemon juice, 1 tablespoon tomato catsup and a dash of both, ground black and cayenne pepper. Cook over low heat or in top part of a double boiler over hot water until slightly thickened, stirring constantly. Gradually add $\frac{1}{4}$ cup butter or margarine, 1 tablespoon at a time.

More Men Help Buy Weekly Groceries

Who buys the food for your family, asks the Consumer Marketing Information Agent. A study made last year in 1500 metropolitan New York supermarkets and grocery stores shows that 40 percent of the shoppers were men, alone, or with their wives.

Why do men go food shopping? Fifty percent do it for convenience, reports Mrs. Josephine Lawler. Twenty-six percent do it because they are needed to carry packages. Twenty-two percent do it because they are the only family member capable of driving a car. The men of the nation enter the marketplace to share in buying of $45 billion worth of food a year.

Cheese Base for Chip Dip Can Be Varied

During the Lenten season, home-makers are always looking for light, easy-to-fix dishes.

Philadelphia Dip for Chips
1 large package cream cheese (8 oz)
1 teaspoon onion, grated
1 teaspoon salt
 $\frac{1}{4}$ cup milk or coffee cream (approximately)
Beat ingredients until smooth and soft as warm butter. Put in serving bowl and place in refrigerator until ready to use.

1 (12 ounce) container creamed cottage cheese
 $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon onion juice
4 tablespoons sour cream (optional; omit)
Crumble Roquefort cheese and add to cottage cheese; mixing well. Stir in onion juice. Add enough sour cream to give good dipping consistency. Serve with potato chips, crackers or crisp raw vegetables.

Baked Banana Dessert

Brush peeled bananas with melted butter, sprinkle generously with salt; add dash of white pepper and nutmeg. Bake in 375 degree oven for about 15 to 18 minutes. Then roll baked fruit in hot marmalade or preserve (your favorite kind) and macaroon crumbs. For extra flavor, you can serve with a hard or flaming sauce.

Stuff Hamburgers With Chutney, Bacon

Intiguing way to stuff good old hamburgers.

Bacon-Stuffed Hamburgers
1 pound ground chuck beef
2 slices, bacon
4 tablespoons chopped chutney
1 tablespoon butter
Salt
Pepper

Make 8 thin flat patties of the beef. Cook bacon in heavy 9- or 10-inch skillet very slowly until crisp, turning as necessary; remove to paper towels to drain. Put 1 teaspoon of the chutney in center of each of 4 of the patties; break bacon to fit length of patties and pile over chutney; do not crumble bacon. Place remaining 4 patties over topping; mold edges of patties together well.

Four bacon fat from skillet and wipe pan. Heat skillet thoroughly; add butter; when butter is melted and hot, add stuffed hamburgers. Brown rapidly on both sides, cooking to desired doneness. Sprinkle both sides of patties with salt and pepper during cooking. Makes 4 servings.

Tart Gelatine Salad

Make up a package of lemon-flavored gelatin, adding a couple of tablespoons of lemon juice; when slightly thickened fold in sliced celery, halved seedless grapes and chopped canned pimiento. Turn into a square pan and chill until set; cut in squares and serve on crisp salad greens with a creamy dressing.

Cheeses Blend Into Tangy Roll

To compliment your guests—and stir their admiration—this snack will highlight your party and prove completely adequate as well as gratifying the next time you have friends in for just a nip. It is fun to make and you will be proud when they ask you for the recipe.

You better have a few copies handy because they are bound to want to know "How on earth did you do it."

Sherry Cheese Rolls

1 pound American, Cheddar or process cheese

1 (3 oz.) package pimiento cream cheese
1/2 cup sherry wine
2 tablespoons mayonnaise
1/2 cup finely chopped peanuts
1/2 teaspoon garlic powder
Dash of cayenne
Paprika

Have both the American Cheese and the cream cheese at room temperature. Grind or grate the American cheese; add the cream cheese, sherry, mayonnaise, nuts, parsley, garlic powder and cayenne; blend well. Shape into 2 rolls about 1 1/2 inches in diameter; wrap each roll in waxed paper; chill in refrigerator overnight. Just before serving, dust rolls with paprika and cut in thin slices. Serve with crisp salted crackers.

Stir some flaked coconut into that bread pudding and then sprinkle more coconut over the top before it goes into the oven.

Fruit, Mint Sauce Ideal on Lamb

Its delicate flavor makes a roast leg of lamb a fitting meat suggestion for early springtime dinners. And the sauce for the lamb should sparkle with the arrival of spring, too.

Here is a recipe for a fresh mint and fruit sauce in which slices of cooked lamb are heated. It is sweet and spicy and blends well with the flavor of the meat.

Fruit Sauce for Lamb

Mix 1 tablespoon cornstarch with 1 cup water. If you have some lamb gravy, substitute it for 1/2 cup of the water. Stir in 1/2 cup currant jelly, 1/2 cup orange juice, and 1/2 cup minced fresh mint leaves. (A teaspoon dried mint may be used instead.) Cook until thickened, stirring to prevent lumping; add about 8 slices cold cooked lamb and continue cooking until they are heated through. Serve the sauce with the slices, 4 servings.

New Deal for Cauliflower

Very Chinese, very sweet and tender cauliflower, if you keep flowerets whole. Chop the stalks and cook five minutes, uncovered, in one cup of water. Drain, add one-fourth cup of butter to the pan, cover and reduce the heat. Steam for fifteen minutes or until tender. A sauce of salad dressing blended with an equal part of chili sauce and tiny bit of sugar, adds a pleasant last touch.

Prune Pie for Spring Light, Airy

A light dessert, such as this prune pie, is a nice choice for springtime eating. The crust is tender and flaky, typical of pastries made with lard, the most economical shortening. The prune whip filling has a delicious tinge of lemon.

SPRINGTIME PRUNE PIE Pastry

1 cup sifted flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup lard
2 to 3 tablespoons water

Sift flour with salt. With a pastry blender or two knives, cut in half the lard until the mixture resembles coarse corn meal; cut in remaining lard until mixture is the size of small peas. Sprinkle water over mixture, a teaspoon at a time, and blend with a fork until all ingredients are moistened. On a lightly floured board, roll the dough into 1/4 inch thickness. Place in an 8-inch pie pan and flute edges. Prick bottoms and sides. Bake at 450 degrees 12 to 15 minutes.

Filling

1 pound dried prunes
1/2 teaspoon grated lemon rind
1 tablespoon lemon juice
Sugar
4 egg whites
1/2 teaspoon salt

Cook prunes as package directs, pit, and force through food grinder or colander. Makes 1 1/2 cups. Combine prune pulp, lemon rind and juice, and 1/2 cup sugar. Beat egg whites with salt until stiff; gradually beat in 1/2 cup sugar.

Fold egg white mixture into fruit mixture. Fill the baked pie shell. Bake at 350 degrees F. 20 minutes. Cool and refrigerate two hours before serving. Six servings.

Bake a Luncheon Dish

Arrange cooked and seasoned fresh broccoli in individual ramekins or casseroles over which place slices of cooked turkey or chicken. Top with cream of mushroom soup diluted with milk or light cream. Sprinkle buttered bread crumbs over all and bake in a preheated moderate oven (375 degrees F.) until crumbs brown.

A little sugar in that milk-and-egg mixture for dipping slices of bread for French toast will help make the toast a good brown color when it is fried.

New Fruit Duet Quick to Prepare

Red Cherries With Grapefruit
1 can (1 pound and 1 ounce) red tart pitted cherries in extra heavy syrup
3 large grapefruit

Have cherries chilled and empty into a bowl with syrup. Peel grapefruit so no white membrane remains; cut sections away from dividing membranes. Add grapefruit sections (but not the juice) to cherries.

Compote may be refrigerated for half an hour or so but do not allow to stand too long before serving. Makes 6 servings. Nice spooned into sherbet glasses. The grapefruit sections will take on a slight pink tinge.

Michigan Smelt Tops List of Bargain Foods

"Spring has sprung" and with it comes changes at home and in the food market. The Michigan smelt run is bringing larger supplies of this tiny flavor-filled fish. Fresh produce increasing in quantity includes asparagus, green beans, dry onions and strawberries. Meat prices remain about the same as last week with some cuts of pork, beef and veal being featured.

MEAT FOR YOUR MEALS

Whether you dip smelt or buy them, they are good eating when fresh. Fresh smelt have a rich flavor because of oil in the flesh. Since this flavor is lost when the oil evaporates, insist on fresh fish. Use them quickly.

The delicate flavor of smelt make them one of the choicest panfishes. Usually eaten fried, they are rolled in flour, corn meal, or cracker meal and fried in plenty of fat. A mixture of 1/4 butter and 3/4 other shortening or bacon grease gives excellent flavor. Fry golden brown, about six minutes.

Smelt are one of the easiest fish to clean. If you buy dressed smelt, inspect and wash carefully before using.

Ground beef makes welcome news! At 49 cents a pound in many stores, this is six to ten cents less per pound than the average price for the past three weeks.

A rib-end pork roast may be your choice for a family meal at 39 to 53 cents a pound. That is 20 to 27 cents a serving. Or ask the meat retailer to cut the rib-end roast into "country-style" backbones. Cook as you would spare ribs.

You will find a wide variation in veal prices due to store features and differences in quality. Veal is very lean meat with little waste. To improve flavor and to keep it from drying while cooking baste with fat when roasting. Add liquids or sour cream when braising.

Lower prices on spring lamb are expected within two or three weeks. Economy is the buy-word when you select lamb breast. This can be stuffed and roasted with a bread dressing. Or make a barbecue sauce and cook it in the oven.

PRODUCE PROJECTION

It's spring, and there is plenty of evidence to prove it in the produce department. Quantity of several spring vegetables is increasing, but quality depends to a large extent upon the weather. Rains in the south and in California have damaged broccoli, cauliflower, celery, green onions.

Asparagus is in the fresh vegetable spotlight with prices lower than last week. Choose the greenest stalks with tightly closed spears. The white woody part at the base of the stalks is waste. At 17 to 23 cents a pound, how much of the pound do you have left for the price?

Green beans are being shipped from several areas. The result—plenty of beans at reasonable prices of 17 to 29 cents a pound. Ten cents will buy a lot of food in a can—if you are buying corn, peas, beans. Ten cents will buy a pound of fresh cabbage, carrots or potatoes.

Pineapple, bananas, and grapefruit wear the crown-tops in the fresh fruit department.

EGGS AND DAIRY

The egg market is about the same as last week. Large grade A eggs average between 49 to 55 cents per dozen.

Cottage cheese is one of the best protein buys. A rounded half cup of cottage cheese will give the same protein as an average serving of meat. You may choose the dry or creamed cottage cheese. The creamed type has fresh cream mixed in to add moisture and flavor. You may choose between small and large-curd cottage cheese.

Tart Cherries Give Muffins Color

Let someone say, "red tart cherries." You think of cherry pie of course. But cherries rate more attention suggests the Marketing Information Agent.

Cherries can turn your regular muffin recipe or mix into a special hot bread. Just drain a one-pound can of red tart cherries. Dry on absorbent paper. Measure three-fourths cup of cherries to use for muffins.

Prepare muffin batter. Fold in well-drained cherries. Make a topping of grated lemon rind and sugar. Sprinkle the mixture over the muffins just before they go into the oven.

With the left-over cherries and juice, make a cherry sauce to serve with chilled canned pears. Thicken cherry juice with corn starch. Flavor with cinnamon and sugar. Add the remaining drained cherries.

Glaze to brush on rolls and bread before baking; slightly whipped egg white with two tablespoons of water makes a shiny light finish; and egg yolk mixed with two tablespoons of water makes a shiny golden brown finish.

'You Must Have Imagination!'

By JANET ODELL,
Pontiac Press Home Editor

"Some people just don't have any imagination." That is the accusation one creative cook makes. Despite a low food budget, Mrs. G. E. Kitson of Rochester is doing a good job of feeding her family.

The Kitsons are all too typical of many Oakland county families today. Mr. Kitson's work has been cut to three days a week. The family is receiving surplus government food. It is this food that requires the use of imagination on the part of Mrs. Kitson.

Among the foods received in the past two months have been flour, both white and whole wheat; cornmeal; rice and beans; dry milk; cheese and butter. By using all of these she gets Mrs. Kitson figures she has cut her food bill about $20 a week.

There are six children in the Kitson family, all under the age of eight. None is a fussy eater. They like vegetables. Casserole main dishes are more welcome to them than hamburgers.

Everyone in the family drinks milk, including the parents. Mrs. Kitson buys whole milk at the store, then mixes it half and half with liquidified dry skim milk. For breakfast she makes cocoa from

Q. What is the name of this cut of meat?
A. Boneless Lamb Sirloin Roast.

Q. Where does it come from and how is it identified?
A. It comes from the sirloin section of the carcass. This section is completely boned and then shaped into a small compact roll weighing approximately 2 to 3½ pounds. The roast is sewed together with twine.

Q. How is it prepared?
A. It is roasted in a slow oven (300 degrees) allowing approximately 40 to 45 minutes per pound.

Egg Thickens Lamb Stew With Rice

Want to try a new stew?

Spanish Lamb Stew With Rice

2 pounds lamb shoulder (in one piece and bone in)
2 tablespoons kitchen bouquet
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 tablespoons salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1/2 teaspoon dry mustard
4 cups water
1 cup thinly sliced onion
1 large green pepper (sliced)
1 cup tomato paste
2 tablespoons sugar
1 cup thinly sliced raw carrot
1 cup converted-type rice
1 egg
1/2 teaspoon olive oil
1/2 teaspoon wine vinegar

Brush lamb with kitchen bouquet. Melt butter in Dutch oven over moderate heat; add lamb and brown on all sides. Place rack under meat. Mix salt, pepper and mustard; sprinkle over meat. Add water, cover tightly and cook slowly until lamb is barely tender—about 1 hour.

Cool lamb slightly; remove meat from bone; cut meat in 1-inch cubes. Return meat to liquid in pan. Add onion, green pepper, tomato paste, sugar, carrot and rice; stir well. Cover and cook over moderate heat until rice is done, about 20 minutes.

Just before serving beat egg enough to combine yolk and white, then blend with olive oil and vinegar; stir into lamb and rice mixture. Do not cook after adding egg. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Never wash eggs before they are ready to use because the natural protective coating on the shell helps to preserve the egg.

LOVES VITAMIN C NATURALLY

Mrs. Houston Levers says... "Laura never fusses about taking vitamins when she gets them naturally in TreeSweet Orange Juice! She loves it... and we know this naturally pure juice is naturally more nutritious. Just two small glasses a day give her all her vitamin C...the natural way!"

skim milk and homemade chocolate syrup.

PLENTY OF VITAMIN C

Fruit juice for breakfast and plenty of tomatoes, tomato juice and tomato soup assure the Kitsons of their vitamin C. They get their protein from the meat casseroles, from cheese and peanut butter sandwiches for lunch. Ground-up liver is also used for sandwich spread.

Mrs. Kitson doesn't remember when she didn't know how to cook. She loves to bake. The only mix she uses is one for angel food cake. She makes her own mixes for biscuits, muffins, pancakes or Johnny cake. These she bakes for breakfast several times a week.

Desserts may be pudding, pie or cake. In the summer there is often a gelatin dessert. A favorite topping for puddings and molded desserts is whipped dry milk.

In her imaginative use of whole wheat flour and cornmeal Mrs. Kitson rates high. She uses cornmeal as an extender in meat or salmon loaf. She substitutes it for white flour in such things as gingerbread.

Hot cereal rather than the prepared dry kind is what appears on the Kitson breakfast table. One of the most unusual ways of using whole wheat flour is as a cereal.

Bring four cups of water to a rapid boil. Add 1½ teaspoons of salt. Mix two cups whole wheat flour with two cups cold water. Mix thoroughly to get out all lumps. Add slowly to boiling water, stirring constantly.

COOK SLOWLY

Lower heat and continue cooking at least 30 minutes, or until mixture loses its raw taste. For variety add raisins, grated apple or chunks of pineapple.

Chocolate Adds Color, Flavor to Oat Cooky

Good chocolate flavor in these crisp cookies.

Chocolate Oatmeal Cookies

2 cups sifted flour
1/2 teaspoon baking soda
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 cup sugar
1/2 cup shortening (soft)
1 egg
3 tablespoons milk
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 squares (2 ounces) unsweetened chocolate (melted)
1 cup quick-cooking rolled oats

Sift together the flour, baking soda, salt and sugar into a mixing bowl. Add shortening, egg, milk and vanilla. Beat until smooth—about 2 minutes. Stir in cooled chocolate, then rolled oats. (Chill if necessary for easy handling.)

Roll out to 1/4-inch thickness on lightly floured board or prepared pastry cloth with stockinet-covered rolling pin. Cut with floured 2-inch round cookie cutter. Place about 1 inch apart, on ungreased cookie sheets.

Bake in moderate (375 degrees) oven about 10 minutes. Remove with spatula to rack to cool. Makes about 3 dozen. Store in tightly covered container.

Note: Cookies may be frosted with 2 cups sifted confectioners' sugar blended with 2 tablespoons butter or margarine (soft), 2 tablespoons strong brewed coffee. Sprinkle frosting with 1/2 cup finely chopped nuts.

why pay more?

Kitson's way of adding moisture and a different flavor to many foods. She puts it in muffins, in Johnny cake and in spice cookies.

By experimenting Mrs. Kitson succeeded in making a good tasting chocolate cake with whole wheat flour.

Whole Wheat Chocolate Cake

Place in bowl and beat 5 minutes:

1/2 cup cooking oil
1/2 cup sugar
2 eggs

Sift together into the above batter:

1 1/2 cups whole wheat flour
1/2 cup white flour

1/2 cup cocoa
1/2 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon salt

Four in bowl:
1 1/2 cups water
1 teaspoon vanilla

Beat 4 minutes at medium speed, if mixer is used. Bake in greased and floured pans at 350 degrees. Nine - inch layers will take 35 minutes. A 9x13 loaf cake needs 40 minutes.

One too Mrs. Kitson makes of the rice she gets in a meat loaf. She layers the following mixture between two layers of any meat loaf mixture. She sautes a chopped onion until light brown, then adds 2 cups cooked rice and a beaten egg.

Whenever Mrs. Kitson has cornbread left over, she makes it into pudding.

Cornbread Pudding

4 cups cornbread cubes
2 cups milk
1/2 cup butter, melted
1/2 cup sugar
2 eggs, slightly beaten
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup raisins
1 teaspoon cinnamon

Scald milk and pour over cornbread. Cool and add rest of ingredients. Pour into buttered baking dish. Set in pan of hot water. Bake one hour at 350 degrees. Serves 6.

Mushrooms Baked Right in Meat Loaf

Every homemaker can talk about her favorite meat loaf recipe and there are probably as many meat loaf recipes as there are homemakers. However, this meat loaf boasts of two very basic principles... simplicity of preparation and flavor appeal.

Beef-Mushroom Loaf

2 pounds ground beef
1/2 cup milk
1/2 cup soft bread crumbs
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1 package (1 1/2 ounces) dehydrated onion soup
1 can (4 ounces) mushrooms, stems and pieces
1 cup catchup
2 eggs, beaten

Pour milk over the bread crumbs. Add salt, pepper, soup, mushrooms and liquid, catchup and eggs. Mix thoroughly. Pack in a 5x9-inch loaf pan. Bake in a slow oven (300 degrees) for 1 1/2 to 1 3/4 hours.

Fresh Orange Sundae

Cut large chilled oranges in half crosswise and section as you do for grapefruit. Snip out center cores. Brush surfaces with butter or margarine and pop under broiler until slightly brown. Top each with a scoop of pineapple or lemon sherbet and garnish with fresh mint.

To cut up fresh pineapple, slice crosswise into rounds, pare away rind and eyes, remove core and cut into wedges.

Can Include Olives in Perfection Salad

Here's a salad that will go with meat or meatless meals, and looks especially cool for summertime eating.

Lemon Perfection

2 3-ounce packages lemon flavored gelatin
3 cups hot water
1/2 cup bottled lemon juice
1/2 teaspoon salt
3 cups finely shredded cabbage
3 cups sliced celery
16 large stuffed olives, chopped fine
2 small sweet pickles, chopped
Parsley for decoration

Dissolve gelatin in hot water. Add lemon juice. Chill. When partially set, add rest of ingredients. Pour into lightly oiled 1 quart mold or individual molds. Top each portion with a sprig of parsley. Pass dressing.

After the hearty kind of winter meals, everyone enjoys zesty, spring-like dinner main courses. A tasty fish entree, served in a carbonated beverage which acts

1/4 cup grated Parmesan cheese
Make up corn muffin mix according to package directions using the egg and milk; fold in minced parsley. Turn into greased baking pan (8x8x2 inches); sprinkle with grated Parmesan. Bake in hot (400 degrees) oven 25 minutes, or until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean. Cut into squares in pan immediately; remove with spatula and serve with butter at once.

An easy and delightful spring dessert may be made by adding 1/2 cup of crushed peanut brittle to 1 cup of apple sauce, then topping your favorite ice cream with this tangy, crunchy combination.

Butter Cook Cabbage for Tender Eating

Add a colorful garnish to quickly-cooked cabbage.
QUICK-COOKED CABBAGE
4 cups finely shredded cabbage (lightly packed)
1/2 cup boiling water
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
Salt
White pepper
1 drained pimiento (cut in thin strips)
Place cabbage and boiling water in medium-sized kettle; add butter. Bring to boiling quickly; cover tightly. Boil gently, lifting cover and stirring once or twice, until cabbage is just tender — 5 to 7 minutes. Drain off any liquid and reserve for use in soup. Garnish with pimiento strips. Serve at once. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

You can use some of the mixtures for stuffed green peppers in halves of acorn squash; cover the squash with aluminum foil for the first half of the baking period.

Spiced Rhubarb Dessert Sweetened With Sucaryl

Fools and showers belong to April, and so do tender, pink stalks of rhubarb. With this tangy fruit displayed in plenty at markets everywhere, it's a sure sign that spring is in full swing. And here's a dessert that's in tune with the season . . . Chilled Spiced Rhubarb. Sweet and vivacious in flavor, this refreshing dessert is thrifty, quick to pre-

When sweetened with Sucaryl, this dessert adds up to just 11 calories per serving; 307 calories when sweetened the ordinary way!

Spiced Rhubarb

1 1/2 pounds rhubarb
1/2 cup water
1/2 cup vinegar
1/2 teaspoon ginger
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon cloves
4 tablespoons sucaryl solution

Cut rhubarb into 1-inch pieces. Do not peel pink, tender rhubarb. Place in a large saucepan with remaining ingredients. Cover and simmer for 20 to 25 minutes, or until rhubarb is tender. Chill before serving.

Makes 8 servings. Each serving contains 11 calories; trace protein; no fat; 3 grams carbohydrate. If made with sugar, each serving would contain 203 calories.

Sugar Topped Biscuits

Add 1 tablespoon grated orange rind and 1 tablespoon sugar to standard baking powder biscuits; roll 1-inch thick and cut with small cutter; if desired, dip a sugar press gently into top of biscuit before baking.

Will Can of Fruit Serve Your Family?

Have you ever looked at a can of fruit or vegetables and wondered how far it will go? Take time to get acquainted with common can sizes and the quantity of food in each. It will save you time in shopping and comparing reminds the Marketing Information Agent.

The most common size can for fruits and vegetables is the No. 303. This holds two cups of food and liquid. Since the average serving of fruit or vegetables is one-half cup, the No. 303 can will serve four people.

The No. 2 can holds two and one-half cups or five one-half cup servings. The No. 2 1/2 size can holds three and one-half cups or seven servings.

Learning common can sizes will make it easier to compare costs at the grocery store.

Use the liquid from devalued canned shrimp in preparing your shrimp dish—it is nutritious and flavorful.

Serve Food to Kids in Unusual Ways

If the younger generation in your house indicates a lagging interest in food, it may be because the fare is either too juvenile or too adult. We've seen it happen. With the highest standard of living in the world, we ought to have the best balanced diets. But it doesn't always seem to work that way. We neglect fruits and vegetables.

Children like food which "means something." For example, hollow out part of a baked potato. Fill it with creamed dried beef and peas. Cut a mel from a piece of cheese which will stand up.

Stick it on a wooden pick. If you want, three mushrooms on the potato boat can be the sailors. Down it will go!

You can toast sesame seeds by putting them in a heavy skillet, covering it, and shaking the pan over low heat.

General Kebab Rule

Tender, flavorful lamb is ideal for kebab cookery, the popular method of cooking foods on skewers. Cut 2-inch chunks of shoulder, loin, or leg of lamb, arrange alternately on skewers with mushrooms, green pepper squares, and small whole onions, and oven broil for ten to fifteen minutes.

"JUNKET" RENNET-CUSTARD

And no wonder! Here's the only dessert with the magic rennet enzyme in it. It's a light, refreshing, milk dessert that's even easier to digest than milk itself—thanks to magic rennet. Comes in 7 delicious flavors that delight the young and old.

"JUNKET" (Reg. U.S. Pat. Off.) is the trademark of Chr. Hansen's Lab., Inc. for its rennet and other food products.

Lemon Juice in Bottles Handy Standby

That handy bottle of lemon juice in the kitchen can do more than flavor foods; it can cut corners in food preparation and serving. Here are some tricks with lemon you may have forgotten but which were tried and true even back in Grandma's day:

1. When you slice bananas, avocados, or raw apples in preparation for a recipe, and want to do this work in advance, a sprinkling of bottled lemon juice over the fruits will prevent discoloration until you are ready to use them.
2. If you decide on the spur of the moment to bake a certain cake, and the recipe calls for sour milk but there's none in the refrigerator, you can convert a cup of sweet milk into sour in seconds by adding one tablespoon of bottled lemon juice.
3. When salad dressing or mayonnaise needs thinning and you want to avoid using cream out of deference to the family's calorie count, add bottled lemon juice instead.
4. Here's a trick the finest restaurants use when they serve lobster: provide each guest with a fingerbowlful of lukewarm water, to which lemon juice has been added. This works like magic in removing seafood aroma and melted butter from the fingers.

Wash Before Storing

Vegetables that wilt or spoil easily should be washed as soon as you bring them home from the market. Lettuce and cabbage should be rinsed under running water, drained thoroughly and stored in a hydrator or other moisture-proof container in the refrigerator.

Fix Anise Puffs Quick as Wink

One sign of a good hostess is the ease with which she can prepare a meal or snack when friends drop in unexpectedly. And should you probe, you'll find her secret lies in her well-stocked file of easy-to-make, quick recipes which she maintains for just such hurried preparation.

One spur-of-the-moment recipe, recently developed by Sugar Information, Inc., is Anise Puffettes, an Italian version of the ever-popular doughnut. It takes less than an hour to prepare, from assembling the ingredients to sugaring the cooked dainties. And, by the time your fresh pot of coffee has perked, those golden-brown, deliciously flavored treats will be ready to serve.

Anise Puffettes
 1 1/2 cups flour
 Dash of salt
 1 tablespoon baking powder
 1/4 cup sugar
 2 eggs, slightly beaten
 1/2 cup water
 1 teaspoon anise flavoring
 2 cups salad oil
 1/2 cup sugar
 Sift flour, salt, baking powder and 1/4 cup sugar. Combine eggs, water and anise flavor. Add to dry ingredients and blend thoroughly.
 Drop by tablespoon into hot fat (350 degrees). Fry 2 or 3 puffs at a time, turning each puff once, until golden brown (about 2 minutes).
 Drain on absorbent paper and roll in sugar while hot. Yield: 18 puffs.
 Sprinkle the insides of tea and coffee cups with a little mild powdered cleanser and rub gently to remove any brown spots.

Tabasco Sharpens Meaty Spring Dip

Here's a "Spring tease" dip designed to please the guests during these gradually warming days. It is easy to prepare and delicious with potato chips.

1/2 cup finely chopped bologna
2 tablespoons chopped pickles
1/2 cup chopped ripe olives
2 tablespoons chopped sour pickles
1/2 cup mayonnaise
Dash dry mustard
Dash dry tobacco sauce
Grated cheese

Mix first four ingredients with enough mayonnaise to make mixture of dip consistency. Season to taste. Put in serving bowl and top with grated cheese.

Grapes With Fish New

Delightful fish course: poach fillets and use some of the stock along with cream for a white sauce. Add seedless grapes to the sauce and heat but do not cook the grapes; serve this luxurious offering over the fish.

Excellent Flavor Comes From Onion

Wax Beans Lyonnais

2 tablespoons butter
1 medium-sized onion (cut into thin strips after quartering)
1 package (about 5 ounces) cut wax beans
1/2 cup boiling water
1/2 teaspoon salt
Freshly-ground pepper
Melt butter in 6- to 8-inch skillet over low heat; add onion strips. Cook until golden colored, stirring often. Meanwhile put beans, boiling water and salt in 1-quart saucepan. Bring rapidly to boil, separating beans if necessary.

Cover and boil gently just until tender, about 8 to 12 minutes; do not overcook. Drain beans. Mix with onion; reheat if necessary. Add pepper to taste. Makes 4 small servings.

The time meat needs to be broiled will depend on its thickness rather than its weight.

Layer Banana Slices in Coffee Pudding

A quick banana treat for the grownups in the family is this easy-to-make pudding.

Banana Coffee Pudding

1 tall can (1 1/2 cups) evaporated milk
1/2 cup water
1 package vanilla instant pudding mix
1 tablespoon instant coffee
2 bananas
Use fully-ripe bananas — yellow peel flecked with brown. Combine evaporated milk, water, pudding mix and instant coffee powder in a quart jar or container. Cover and shake briskly for 1 minute, or until well mixed. Layer at once with banana slices in sherbet glasses. Yield: 6 servings.

If the pudding is to be served to youngsters, use caffeine-free instant coffee instead of regular instant coffee.

Chopped left-over meats can add interest to creamed vegetables or they can be used in vegetable salads.

Hearty Ham 'n' Egg Dish Pleases Brunch Guests

Brunch is the answer to several problems! For visiting guests, it's a delightful way to chat with old friends... and for their hosts... an informal way to entertain on a warm, lazy Sunday morning.

Starting with a variety of fresh or stewed fruit, you can go on to a hearty dish which is sure to please even the huskiest man. It's this recipe for Chicken a la Benedict: In a skillet, cook 1/2 cup diced cooked ham in 1 tablespoon butter until lightly browned. Stir in 1 can (10 1/2 ounces) chicken a la king and 2 tablespoons chopped parsley. Heat; stir often. Meanwhile poach 4 eggs. Butter 4 racks or slices of toast; top each with an egg. Spoon chicken a la king over eggs. 4 servings.

For oven-browned potatoes to serve with a roast, parboil potatoes and add to roasting meat in oven the last half hour of cooking time, turning to brown evenly.

Dear Abby . . .

That Was No Lady, Mister!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

"DEAR ABBY: My husband had a cheap affair with a lady 18 years older than himself. They met when he saw her standing on a street corner with a lot of bundles and he picked her up and gave her a ride home just like that. This is my problem. "My husband says he sees nothing wrong with picking up a woman regardless of her age and giving her a ride home. I say: No gentleman picks up any woman he doesn't know and gives her a ride home, bundles or no bundles. And no lady accepts rides from strangers. Please answer this and make it good and strong."

WAITING TO HEAR

DEAR WAITING: You are right. No gentleman would have approached a strange woman to offer her a ride, and no lady would have accepted.

"DEAR ABBY: With summer coming I have the same old problem. I don't like to participate in summer sports such as tennis or swimming because I look terrible in shorts and a bathing suit. I am very popular in the winter because I look good in my clothes. What should I do?"

BOW LEGGED

DEAR B. L.: Stay in your clothes, and remember summer, for you, should be a "slack" season.

"DEAR ABBY: I am a boy 14 and my problem is that I wrote a poem about how much I liked a girl and like an idiot I showed it to a friend of mine. He asked if he could take it to his next class and copy it.

"I let him take it but he didn't copy it, he showed it to all the kids. They are all making fun of me and I can't look them in the face now. They are also teasing the girl and she is mad at me. What should I do, Abby?"

DEAR RIDICULED: Pretend that the teasing doesn't hurt you and they will let up in a hurry. Use this experience as a good lesson!

"DEAR ABBY: How does a 14-year-old girl tell her father that his table manners are terrible? He chews with his mouth open and talks with food in his mouth. If we have mashed potatoes and vegetables, he mixes them up together on his plate and it is enough to make you want to leave the table.

"He uses a piece of bread to mop up the gravy and then he picks his teeth at the table. Outside of that he is good father. How can I correct him without getting hit?"

FOURTEEN-YEAR OLD DAUGHTER

DEAR FOURTEEN: Get him in a good mood . . . sit on his lap and whisper these little complaints SOFTLY into his ear. If this doesn't work . . . look the other way. He's your father, manners or no manners.

DEAR ABBY: There is a man who lives in the apartment below mine who snores so loud he keeps me awake nights. He is a bachelor, therefore there is no one who can give him a poke to make him change positions. What can I do?"

COUNTING SHEEP

DEAR COUNTING: Why don't you find this fellow a nice girl to marry?

CONFIDENTIAL TO "SHAP": Never change a winning pitcher (or pitch). You're doing all right.

CONFIDENTIAL TO IRENE: The bases are loaded and so was your boy friend. Call it a "forced run" if you like, but if he doesn't remember who was on first, walk the bum.

For a personal reply, write to ABBY in care of this paper, enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Guild Stages Style Show

An airport scene was used for Guild Seven's "Around the World" style show and bridge party, held Wednesday in Stevens Hall, All Saints Episcopal Church.

In keeping with the travel theme, Mrs. LaVon Ryden, accompanied by Mrs. Lloyd Clancy, sang several selections.

Fashions by De'Cor shop were modeled by Mrs. Standish Sibley, Mrs. Ted Carlson, Betty Seymour, Barbara Cole, Mrs. Clare Hinckley, Mrs. George Watters and Mrs. Margaret Long. Mrs. Harold Steinbaugh and Mrs. James M. Doyle assisted the models.

Mrs. Wilma Thomas Dickinson (right) of Mohawk road was photographed with one of her guests, Mrs.

Village Woman's Club to See Plans

Mrs. James J. Nance, president of the Village Woman's Club, has called a special meeting Friday at Cranbrook to give members a first look at the long awaited plans of the proposed clubhouse.

Those working on the building committee under the chairmanship of Mrs. Robert Budd, are Mrs. Martin L. Butzel, Mrs. George McCormick Jr., Mrs. H. Gray Muzzy, Mrs. Edward Rothman, Mrs. Malcolm Welty, Mrs. E. Wright Yount, Mrs. Brooks Marshall, and Mrs. Louis Colombo Jr.

CHARTER SIGNED IN 1956

The club's charter was signed April 13, 1956 and the property in Bloomfield Hills was purchased for the future club house.

The Junior Auxiliary of the club is presenting a fashion show and tea at Birmingham Community House Tuesday at 2 p.m.

Mrs. Nicholas Martin Jr. is chairman of the event. Assisting her are Mrs. James Ladd, Mrs. Jack Waters, Mrs. James Foster, Mrs. J. B. Gillette, Mrs. Charles Jones, Mrs. Scott Hayes, Mrs. Charles MacGregor, Mrs. Vincent Secontine and Mrs. F. J. Whitcroft.

Modeling will be Mrs. Ferd Brock, Mrs. Maynard Andree, Mrs. William Vasu, Mrs. John Sclaro, Mrs. Charles Wilson, Mrs. Sherman LaMeasure, Mrs. Charles Jones, Mrs. Harry McDonald Jr., Mrs. Robert Swanson, Mrs. Robert Campbell, Mrs.

Richard Miner and Mrs. Bruce Smith.

Proceeds from the show will go to the building fund and to one of the group's philanthropies.

The bow-tied chemise may or may not be a chemise. A wrap-around drawstring can be tied for a molded fit. Loosen the drawstring and you have the unfitted chemise.

Mrs. Margaret Long (right), general chairman for the event, balances a tea cup as she chats for a moment with Mrs. Joseph Flynn, chairman of

Reveals Bridal Party

Karen Beth Sampson has announced attendants for her June 7 wedding to Donald L. Hagadone. Nancy Schumann will act as maid of honor while Alice Riemenschneider, Kathie Armstrong and Mrs. George Hoffman will be bridesmaids. Debbie Cover is to be junior bridesmaid, and Diane Cover, flower maid.

Arnold Hagadone will serve as his brother's best man and Jack Sampson, Douglas Birkett, George Hoffman and James Arnold will seat the guests. Gary Hagadone will be junior usher, and Michael Hudson, ringbearer.

HONORED AT SHOWER

Miss Sampson, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur A. Sampson of Pioneer drive, was honored Wednesday evening at a shower given by Mrs. Robert Brown and Mrs. Charles Page in the latter's Monterey boulevard home. The prospective bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clare Hagadone of Opdyke road.

Grandma Had It Easy

Hand Care Simple but Constant

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

There is nothing more prominent about a woman than her hands — unless she has a 40-inch bust-line! Few women have this measurement without a corresponding 33 (or more) inch waistline, fortunately or unfortunately, I leave that for men, historians and philosophers, to decide.

Anyway, let's get back to hands. Modern woman uses her hands in many ways which were unknown to her grandmother. The latter's heaviest work was often her needle work and she was proud of her white soft hands. She had more help with the housework, and did not indulge in detergents or sports or sunbathing.

Today the feminine hand can wield a tennis racket or golf club, do the laundry, wash the dishes, sew, garden, and still look lovely across the dinner table. Of course modern hands are given great care and fall heir to many current beauty aids. Here are a few suggestions for you:

1. Wear cotton gloves when doing your house cleaning. Otherwise the dust and dirt dig into your hands and cause them to become rough. Wear these also when gardening or doing any outside work.

2. Always wear rubber gloves when the hands are to be in soapy water. The detergents and many soaps used for household duties are hard on the hands. Remember, too, that hot water is irritating. Use warm water whenever possible.

3. Always massage a good hand lotion or cream into the hands after washing them. Keep several bottles of lotion scattered about the house so that you will have one in every bathroom, and on each floor. This habit certainly will pay you pleasant dividends.

4. Use a creamy soap, one that is not too alkaline.

5. If you do your own housework, do not wear your nails too long. You will be sure to break one or two off and that is much less attractive than shorter, well rounded nails which are all the same length.

6. Every woman needs a nail brush and some cuticle cream even if she gets her manicures at a beauty salon.

HANDS ARE TELLTALE

Hands reflect our mood and habit of thought. They can be jittery, habit of thought. They can be flustered or clenched and tense. Many women are awkward with their hands. Study charming women you know and watch the actresses of the stage and screen to see what they do with their hands, why they appear so graceful.

If you would like to have my exercises for the hands, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 12. Address Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

College Can Train for Marriage Too

By RUTH MILLETT

Most of the girls I know who are planning on going on to college," says a high school senior, "are going just because their parents expect them to."

"They aren't really interested in anything but getting married, but most of them are afraid to tell their parents that."

Parents of any daughter who does get up the courage to say, "What's the use of my going to college?—I don't want a career—I just want to get married and have a home and children," shouldn't be thrown into a tailspin of disappointment. Instead, they ought to try to sell her on the idea of a college education on her own terms, by saying something like this:

"Of course, you want to get married. That's right and normal. But if you intend to marry and create a home for a husband and children you are going to need a good education."

Then they should explain: "You'll need an education to better understand your husband and children. And unless you have taken the opportunity to enrich your own life through learning, how can you create the kind of home atmosphere that encourages your husband and children to make the most of their abilities and opportunities and to enjoy all the riches open to those who enjoy using their minds?"

"Higher education isn't wasted on a girl whose one and only ambition is to be a homemaker. For then it not only enriches the life of an individual—but of a whole family."

"So, actually, what we want for you isn't too different from what you want for yourself. We, too, want you to have a husband, a home and children."

"But we want you to wait to decide on who your husband is going to be until you've had a better preparation for living than you have at 17 or 18.

"And we would like to see you bring to the career of homemaker all the knowledge and understanding and appreciation that we think a college education will give you."

The roundup's purpose is to give Scouts an opportunity to work with girls of different backgrounds and stimulate interest in new frontiers.

Pick Bracelets to Match Build

Care in selecting clothing and accessories doubles the overall picture of attractiveness a woman gives. In choosing bracelets, buy those that match your physical structure.

This is true of other jewelry, too. Persons with large arms should not wear too tight bracelets. These merely draw attention to the arm's size.

Loose Waves Minimize Nose

Once baby curls disappear, young women experiment with hair styles. But many never seem to find the right combination to flatter their face shape or camouflage nature's mistakes.

For example, hair pulled back severely from the face makes a large nose seem larger. Use loose waves to soften this large feature.

Corsage in White Always Suitable

If you are going to send a girl a corsage to wear to a formal and have no way of knowing what color dress she is planning to wear, white flowers are a good choice. It's a shame for a young man to spend money on flowers that, instead of pleasing a girl, make her think you lack good taste.

Boy Can't Give Suit to Girl

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: I have a daughter who is a junior at college. She has been going 'steady' for a year with a boy who goes to the same college. He is a nice young man and we thoroughly approve of him and hope that some day after they both finish school they will marry.

"Last night my daughter called me on the telephone and was very excited over a birthday present she had received from him. When I asked her what it was she said, 'a new spring outfit' (suit and blouse). I was flabbergasted and said she could not possibly accept apparel from a boy friend. She said it was also from his parents.

"She dresses very well and has all the clothes she could possibly need, so the shock was even greater. She asked me if I thought she should return it. I didn't know what to say so I thought I would write to you and ask your advice.

"I don't want his parents to think we are snobbish or hurt them or the young man in any way, but I certainly don't want her to keep the present if it will bring criticism upon her. What do you advise in this situation?"

Answer: You are absolutely right in your feelings that she cannot accept articles of clothing from a man. If you wish, tell her that you have asked me and I say she must return this present.

"Dear Mrs. Post: My daughter thinks I should wear a black arm band on my business suits to show proper respect for my wife who has just passed away. I want to do the correct thing but I feel this would be very conspicuous in the office. What is your opinion?"

Answer: While entirely correct and above criticism, I have to agree with you that it would be conspicuous in a business office, and if you come into contact with customers it would be wiser not to wear the band. You should avoid wearing colored neckties, shirts, handkerchiefs or socks.

These Statistics Are Crazy, Man, Crazy!

How Do You Rate as Teenage Quiz Expert?

By EUGENE GILBERT

Gilbert Youth Research Co. Adults usually admit they don't know all the answers on teenagers, but few teenagers realize how little they know about themselves and others of their kind.

Think that's far fetched? Then test yourselves with this little questionnaire that I have put to hundreds of groups made up of business people, parents, teachers and youths.

Not one person in 700 came up with answers 100 per cent correct.

The adults averaged only 43 per cent, and the teenagers graded even lower—33 per cent.

Try it yourself, without first reading the answers.

This quiz is based on facts supplied by The Bureau of Census and the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare. Here, with some elaboration, are the answers:

1. The peak age for marriage of women in the U.S. is 18. And here are some other enlightening statistics: 33 per cent of all 18 and 19 year old girls are married; 48.1 per cent of all first brides are young women under 25; and 38 per cent of all brides are under 20. About 4 in 10 of my listeners gave me the correct answer on this.

2. The median age of marriage for women in the United States is 20.3. This indicates the vast number of persons who marry young. And if you think the median age is rising, you're badly mistaken. The median age was 21.6 in 1940 and back in grandmother's time, 1890, it was 22. I got correct answers from 3 out of 10.

3. One-third of the first children in families are born to mothers 20 and under. Ten years ago only one-quarter of the first children were born to mothers under 20.

Certainly, this is an indication of the extent to which teenagers are assuming responsibilities of marriage and bringing up families. In the next generation, it will be difficult to distinguish between mother and daughter. Only one in 10 came through on this.

4. Sixty per cent of the first children in families are born to mothers 24 and under. The average on correct answers was 2 in 10.

5. The total population of the United States will increase 25 per cent between 1950 and 1965. This estimate is based on projections of birth rate figures and spot check of population increases since the 1950 census. About 7 in 10 gave me the correct answer.

6. The teenage population (13-19) will increase 78 per cent between 1950 and 1965. This is due to the huge increase in the birth rate during and after World War II. The first ones of the war baby crop are moving into their teens now. High schools, already crowded, will be terribly overcrowded within the next few years. The score once more was about 2 in 10.

7. The young adult (25-39) will decrease 6 per cent between 1950 and 1965. Here is an interesting fact revealing the shift of median age in the young adult market. The decrease in the 25-39 age group can be blamed on the lower birth rate of the depression years, which created a sort of valley in the population trend. Practically nobody guessed this correctly.

THE QUESTIONNAIRE

Sewing Hints Presented

"Short Cuts in Home Sewing" was the program presented when members of the Professional Homemakers Club met at the Georgeland street home of Mrs. Donald Montney. Mrs. William Bergemann assisted with the Tuesday program.

Information for the demonstration was received at a meeting conducted by Luella Nault, home demonstration agent. Sewing hints regarding timesaving fabrics, patterns, dressmakers' carbon, trimming seams, making belt buckle guides, and gathering by machine were shown by Mrs. Montney. Mrs. Roland Hudson was presented with a pressing ham.

Members were told the proceeds from a white elephant sale held to raise money for the club.

The next meeting will be a cooperative dinner at the Hira street home of Mrs. Richard Lasho on May 13. Mrs. Walter Wittkopf will be cohostess.

Actress' Makeup Is Wrong for Girl

Many teenage girls try to model themselves after favorite actresses. They do this by exaggerated hair styles and makeup without considering that an actress has the aid of experts.

A young girl should seek advice on what becomes her in hair styles and makeup, not what enhances another person.

Cuts Price of Luncheon Special Supports Ike-Baruch Policy

By ARTHUR EDSON
AP Feature Writer
WASHINGTON (U) — President Eisenhower and Bernard Baruch got unexpected support today in their campaign to keep prices from going up.

A restaurant man in New York's Times Square has announced that for a year he will hold the Ike on one item: The Baruch Special, a complete lunch featuring chili con carne, will go for 99 cents. It was priced at $1.30.

All right, so it isn't much. It's a start, isn't it?

You may recall that Baruch told Congress he thinks it would be dandy if all concerned pledged to the President that no wages or prices would be increased for a year.

And Eisenhower said he had peeked into economic history and found that even during a depression prices sometimes go up. "But," he said, "it is a thing which you would hope would not be occurring."

The restaurant man with whom this will not be occurring, at least in the chili con carne department, is Al Newman, a former zipper salesman who married into Resoff's Restaurant.

Now 40 and the father of four—he brought his brood to the capital for some sightseeing—Newman gets enthusiastic when he talks about his business.

Restaurant men are almost always interesting to talk to. Probably it's because they deal directly with their customers, and if they aren't quick at sizing up people, they're quick at going broke.

Newman, for instance, has been proving again an old point, that the ridiculous advertisement often gets better results than the serious one.

He has had a lot of fun with such ads as these:
"Service at Resoff's is still bad. Meet me at the automat."

"A doubtful distinction, but we have the only chef in the business who brings lunch from home."

"Our Indian curry is so authentic two cobras showed up for lunch."

As for the restaurant business, Newman reports:

That although most eating spots push steaks, the biggest margin of profit is in something like veal cutlets.

That the Agriculture Department killed off one of the restaurants' best items when they developed the small turkey. "Now everyone eats turkey at home."

That all sorts of gooey desserts go over big, but "in our place pineapple pie is a dog."

That skinny people, who could stand a little more weight, don't care for rich food, and that fat people, who shouldn't care, do enormously.

"We're in the theatrical district," he said. "The late Francis Sullivan, the British actor who must have weighed 400 pounds, used to come in each night after 'Witness for the Prosecution.' He was a fat roast man, and then he'd wind up with a white Neesleirod pie—solid whipped cream, pure unadulterated calories."

"Or take Art Carney. A skinny guy. He wants a dry hamburger, a couple of string beans and a cup of coffee."

Gather Around TV Set for Community Sing

War Criminals Paroled

TOKYO (U)—The United States has paroled seven more Japanese war criminals from Sugamo Prison. They were serving sentences ranging from 30 years to life. Their release reduced the number of Japanese still held in Sugamo to 24.

JAIL BIRD — Most "jail birds" — even those with short sentences — end up singing "If I Had the Wings of an Angel," before long. This inmate who has been behind bars of the Oakland County jail all his life merely chirps "I'm Just a Prisoner of Love" as he looks to his watchful mother.

Mama Pigeon chose a corner between the pane and bars of a second floor window for her 'stool pigeon' nest. Junior has never known freedom, but deputies and prisoners expect him to crash out soon.

Gen. LeMay Believes Threat of War Growing

NEW YORK (U)—Gen. Curtis E. LeMay said today the threat of general war increases each day as the Soviet Union grows stronger.

But Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor said general war is less likely than limited wars because of the nuclear strength of both sides.

Taylor, Army chief of staff, and LeMay, Air Force vice chief of staff, prepared their remarks for the convention of the American Newspaper Publishers Assn. Adm. Harry D. Felt, vice chief of naval operations, also joined in the military discussions.

"Where before they (the Soviets) had no capability for general war," LeMay said, "today they have a nuclear stockpile, 25,000 operational aircraft, and a strong scientific and technical research and development program. The danger of general war is on the increase as these capabilities are moulded to fit their desire for world domination."

LeMay and Taylor differed on "mutual deterrence" — the idea that with each side able to destroy the other with nuclear weapons, neither will start a war.

"The Air Force believes in deterrence," LeMay said. "We do not, however, believe in the false security that derives from believing the myth of mutual deterrence."

Taylor expressed the view that "under such condition, we are probably justified in assuming that neither side would voluntarily start a general atomic war," but he added: "It does not follow that the Soviet bloc will renounce other forms of aggression as a means of gaining their ends. It would rather suggest that they will prefer lesser forms of military activity pursued at an increased rate of occurrence."

Felt spoke out strongly for the Navy's fleet ballistic missile system, in which intermediate range Polaris ballistic missiles are to be fired from submerged nuclear submarines off the coast of an enemy.

All three officers agreed on the possibility of limited war, including the possibility that limited war could grow into general war.

And each of the three said his service is ready to fight the small, tactical war as well as the big, strategic one.

Three-fourths of the world surface is covered by water.

Brain Surgeon Can Ease Effect

Shaking, Stiffness of Parkinson's Disease in Some Patients Ends

PHILADELPHIA (U)—The brain surgeon's knife can save some patients from the shaking and stiffness of Parkinson's disease, a Boston neurologist said today.

But some of the Parkinson symptoms—loss of automatic action like swallowing, blinking and facial expressions—defy surgery, said Dr. Robert S. Schwab.

Some Parkinson victims lose the ability to do two or more things at once, he said. This is one Parkinson symptom which is not helped by surgery.

Dr. Schwab was one of several speakers on Parkinson's disease before the American Academy of Neurology today. Earlier he described the disease in an interview.

Parkinson victims may have very active minds, but they lose a whole section of abilities to make automatic movements. They become poker-faced, without the ability to make simple expressions as they talk, unless they concentrate on making the expression.

The Parkinson patient must think to swallow the saliva that collects in his mouth.

Dr. Schwab, on the staff of Massachusetts General Hospital, believes that Parkinson's disease afflicts some 300,000 Americans, and that only a small percentage of these would respond to surgery. The causes are probably brain damage by encephalitis or influenza or an unknown sort of brain degeneration.

Overpowered by Loot

PATERSON, N.J. (U)—Charles Alfier, 36, tried to carry a cash register out of the Guarantee Meat Market but the machine was too heavy. It fell on him, pinning his leg to the floor. Police charged Alfier with burglary after he was found, still downed, when the store opened.

Military Tattoo Brings Halt to Men's Drinking

LONDON — The military tattoo originated in the 17th Century when British troops were campaigning in Holland and Belgium. At 9 p.m. a lone drummer would appear in the village square and his beating, called taptoe — which British Army slang changed to tattoo — was a signal for all the bartenders to stop serving drinks.

The first military tattoo for show was held in Aldershot, England, in 1868. So intricate is the marching that it takes about two years to plan a tattoo.

From the Press Box

BY BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

Back in the steel country around New Brighton, Pa., Byrum Cable a mill worker came up with a novel plan for developing a jump shot for his 8th grade son who stood 5-feet-8.

Byrum took a long handled shovel into the back yard with him where he had a basketball net hooked to his barn.

His son Barney shot at the basket day after day and became a deadeye, but the senior Cable wanted the boy to have the all-important jump shot.

That's where the shovel came to the rescue. Barney was forced to shoot over the shovel and his jump shot became deadly.

In the 1957 NIT tournament won by Bradley, all the pro scouts drooled after watching Cable who now stands 6-feet-7. Observers said he was a brilliant prospect for the pro ranks even as only a college junior. He was touted college basketball's best choice as the number one draft choice.

This year Bradley, the defending champion failed to make the grade in the NIT and Cable wasn't at his best, although still an outstanding player.

Instead of being the top draft choice, Detroit still managed to nab Cable behind all other teams. It certainly was surprising to see his name bypassed 10 times before his selection.

Piston coach Red Rocha expressed he was happy in landing Cable, and we are inclined to believe the Detroit cage pros still got the best choice even for being at the bottom of the draft rotation.

DRIVE TO PROMOTE TENNIS

The U.S. Lawn Tennis Association has allied itself with President Eisenhower's committee on youth fitness program by organizing the Tennis Educational Foundation.

The TEF hopes to realize financial aid from individuals and corporations for the purpose of organizing tennis clinics and Little Tennis Leagues and for the development of tennis teaching towns.

Tennis talent is needed, especially for America's dwindling prestige in the Davis Cup and many other outstanding championships.

DITTO FROM THE PRESS BOX

Speaking of tennis, the four new courts at Pontiac Central are expected to be laid and rolled next week and completed within the week.

Pontiac Central's All-Sports banquet May 14 will have many of the city's service clubs participating, along with outstanding stars from all fields of sports on the guest list.

Tomorrow's Pontiac Central-Flint Northern track meet at Wisner could be the "dual meet of the year" in class A ranks. The two teams are the top contenders for state honors this year.

Pontiac, Northern Squads Meet in Track Showdown

By H. GUY MOATS
There's going to be a big showdown, come Friday afternoon at the Wisner Athletic Field.

For many years Pontiac High and Flint Northern have been red-hot rivals in all prep sports. But none of these rivalries has held so much intensity as that in track and field. Chiefs and Vikings have long been "the teams to beat" in Valley track circles, and never has that designation been more correct than at this time.

So, when Coach Norb Bader marshals his athletes on the Wisner layout, Friday, the resultant competition may well be a true picture regarding the 1958 SVC championship.

Winner of this showdown will be odds-on favorite to grab the conference title later in the season. It could also provide a clue to Chiefs' chances of a successful defense of their state Class A title.

Only loss this season, for Dean Wilson and Ray Lowry's squad, was in the CMC indoor meet — and Northern did it — by less than one point. On the credit side of the ledger, PCH won the Huron Relays outdistancing a fast field that included Northern, then turned in a smashing victory at Mansfield, Ohio, last weekend, where Vikings were far behind the champions.

Wilson today looked for a tight, highly interesting battle. "Nobody discounts Northern at any time," says the coach. "They've got lots of talent and this could be a very close meet."

Highlights probably will center on the dashes and hurdles, and in the mile and 800, where both squads are strong. Bob Manning in the sprints and Danny Sowell and Jim Hawkins in the hurdles face hot competition from Dennis Wright and Reg Gillard.

Co-captains Larry Beamer (mile) and Rog Coats (800) oppose fast Vikings in Harvey Martin and Chiefs hold an edge in the high jump, but Vikings may be better in the pole vault. Relays are a tossup.

Meet gets under way at 4 p.m.

Little Chiefs Gain Opening Track Win

Outstanding individual performances by speedsters Bill Radcliffe and Al Howze sparked the Pontiac Central junior varsity track team to a 69-34 victory over Royal Oak Kimball in its opener yesterday.

Radcliffe compiled 12 1/2 points by winning the 100 and 220 and finishing 3rd in the broad jump. Howze took both hurdles for 10. Joe Payne was next with a 1st and two 3rds.

Ken Smith, John O'Day, Bill Lee and Frank Bloer were other PCH winners. The victors also won the 800 relay.

Wing Is Still Alive in 'M' Grid Machine

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Michigan's long cherished single wing formation isn't dead after all.

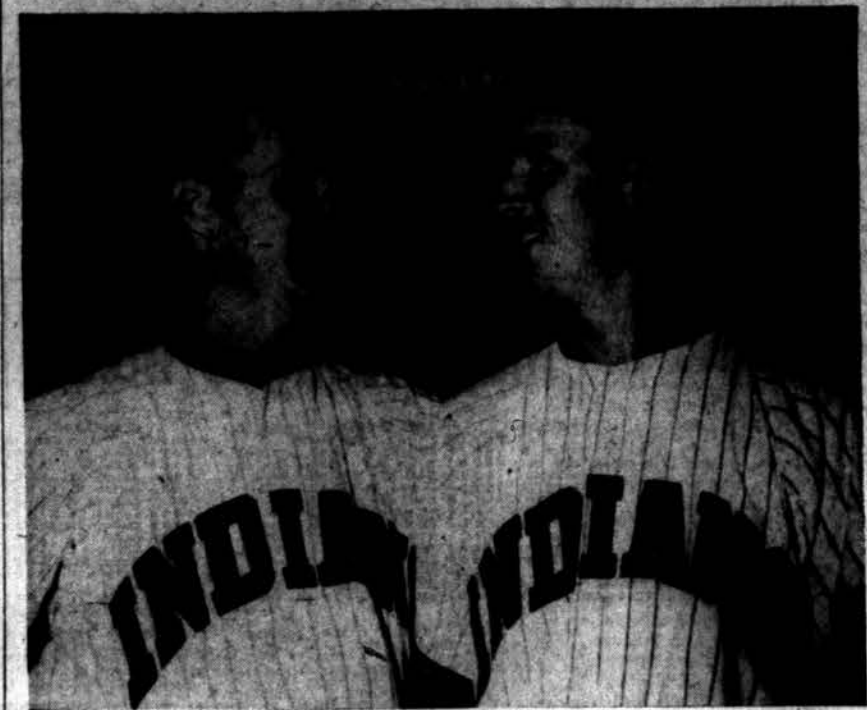

It's beginning to stir from its coma. That's the word from football coach Bennie Oosterbaan.

"We're going to put in some more T formation stuff," Oosterbaan said, "and then go to work on the single wing before spring practice ends."

The attack that carried Michigan to national and Big Ten championships a decade ago was stowed in mothballs after a few games last season. It returned only casually later as Oosterbaan installed a pro-type offense complete with flankers and a slot back. Injuries were the official explanation for the demise of the single wing.

To function smoothly, the single

Score Answers All Questions

By INTERNATIONAL NEWS

A long, up-hill fight that began for Herb Score last May 7 is over, and the brilliant Cleveland southpaw is completely confident that he is as good as he ever was.

It was last May that a wicked line drive off the bat of New York's Gil McDougald crashed into Score's eye. For days, it was feared Score might lose the sight of the eye and for long months the answer to whether he would regain full use of the eye was in doubt.

Throughout spring training and the early days of this season, Score did not once give an overpowering performance so typical of him.

But yesterday all doubts vanished and all questions were answered.

The 6-foot-2, 185-pound native of Rosedale, N. Y., was positively magnificent as he blanked the Chicago White Sox, 2 to 0, doing out three singles and striking out 13 batters.

The whiff total was the individual high of the season. He now has 27 strikeouts, indicating he once again will be the strike-out king of the league as he was in 1955 and 1956, his first two years in the majors.

Washington's surprising Senators junked the Yankees' winning streak at six, coming from behind for a 10-inning 5-4 victory.

Boston ended its losing string at five with a 7-5 victory over Baltimore.

The Senators stopped the Yankees on a run — scoring single by Jim Lemon, who was 3-for-4 and knocked in their first two runs in the third with a triple off Johnny Kucks. Ryne Duron, unscathed on in three previous relief bits, was the loser.

Washington had 11 hits, one Norm Zaichin's solo home run. The Yankees had 10 hits, but left 12 men on base as Mickey Mantle and Yogi Berra went hitless.

Pete Runnels, 3-for-3, singled home the clincher for Boston in the sixth and added a cushion run in the eighth. Ted Williams, Jackie Jensen and Frank Malzone had RBI hits in a three-run fifth that cracked a 2-all tie against loser Chuck Beamon. Tom Brewer won his first, with relief in the ninth.

St. Mary's Thinclads Win Triangular Meet

A collection of seven first places, plus a few other counters yesterday afternoon gave Orchard Lake St. Mary High thinclads a 59 1/2-point victory over Oak Park, 48, and Bloomfield Hills 29 1/2.

The triangular meet was held at Bloomfield Hills, and rain that fell most of the event slowed times considerably.

Oak Park took four and Hills two firsts. Andy Zambryczki won the 440 and broad jump for Eagles and Ray Kovachech for Oak Park took the dashes as the only double winners.

Patient's Complaint: Poor Chip Shots.
Diagnosis: "Wishy-Washy" Stroke.

Treatment: Getting the ball up close to the hole on chip shots calls for a stroke that's crisp and decisive, smooth and unhurried. These terms may seem contradictory but they're not.

Decide firmly on the pattern of the shot you mean to play — where it should hit and how far it should roll, then let this pattern dictate your choice of club.

Take the club back on a straight line away from the ball. Hit down and through the ball — crisply, firmly, confidently. Follow through straight toward the target. Keep your eye on the back of the ball until the shot is hit.

Be firm and resolute about the whole operation. Think the shot out before you hit it. And once your plan is made, stick to it. A wishy-washy attitude makes for a wishy-washy stroke. Neither has any place in golf.

Hurt Arm Trying to Throw Over Fence

Dodgers Dock Snider's Pay After Freak Injury

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Duke Snider, the Los Angeles Dodgers' home run champion and highest priced performer at $42,500 a year, was taken off the payroll last night because he hurt his arm throwing a baseball over the 106-foot-high Memorial Coliseum rim.

Snider, who has been hobbling all spring after an operation to remove cartilage and a bone chip in his knee, suffered the arm injury during a bit of horseplay before the warmup for the game with the Chicago Cubs. His elbow was badly strained.

Manager Walt Alston was so incensed over the incident that he announced Duke would be docked until he could get back into the lineup.

This disciplinary action infuriated Duke.

"Why I've been throwing balls out of National League parks ever since I came into the league," he told newsmen. "Tonight, everyone stood around watching Don Zimmer and I try to throw the ball over the rim. Nobody said anything about quitting at any time. Tonight I hurt my arm and suddenly it's all wrong."

Duke admitted it was a foolish thing to do. One of Duke's throws cleared the 106-foot-high rim in

Alston read the riot act in the Dodger clubhouse just before the game and when the players went onto the field Snider informed the manager his arm still pained him.

"You can still play left field," Alston snapped. "You won't have much throwing to do from there."

Snider demurred and Alston had to put Junior Gilliam, who was hitting only .188, into the left field slot.

Zimmer wasn't reprimanded. Alston explained "Zimmer wasn't hurt. He could play if we needed him."

Michigan's Last Hope Eliminated

Dick Whiting Defeated by Chapman in Amateur Golf Tournament

PINEHURST, N. C. — Dick Whiting of Lathrup Village, Michigan's last hope in the North and South Amateur golf tournament, went down to defeat Wednesday at the hands of Pinehurst's Dick Chapman, once a runner-up in this event.

Chapman, who has won the U. S., British, French and Canadian amateur titles, eliminated Whiting, 2 and 1, to move into today's quarter-final round. Chapman's opponent is John Ward of Fayetteville, N. Y.

Bob Cochran of St. Louis, who upset Billy Joe Patton yesterday, meets Jack Penrose of Miami in another quarter-final match. Other quarter-finals today are: Bill Hyndman of Abingdon, Ill., vs. Alex Welsh of Rockford, Ill., and Herb Durham of Dallas, Texas, vs. Arnold Blum of Macon, Ga.

All former North and South champions have been eliminated. The last two in the field departed yesterday when Durham upended defending champion Bill Campbell of Huntington, W. Va., 1-up, and Hyndman scored a 6-5 victory over Charles Dudley of Greenville, S. C.

Two bases on balls to Jim Hegan and Harvey Kenna, Foytack's sacrifice and four singles by Frank Bolling, Martin, Al Kaline and Charley Maxwell drove in Detroit's first four runs.

Glenn Cox, who followed Maas, filled the bases in the fifth with one out when Martin singled. Kaline and Ike Boone walked. Walt Craddock came in and got Maxwell on a pop-up but Martin scored on a passed ball before Hegan struck out.

Detroit got another run in the seventh when pitcher Carl Duser balked with Kuenn on third. Detroit wrapped it up with two more in the ninth off Virgil Trucks when Billy Hunter dropped Bolling's pop-up for a two-base error. Maxwell and Hegan were on second and third.

The second game of the two-game series will be played here today. Bob Shaw (0-0) is scheduled to start for Detroit and Jack Urban (1-0) for the Athletics.

Foytack Gains Second Victory as Maas Loses

Win Puts Detroit Just 1 Game Behind Yanks in AL Race

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The amazing Detroit Tigers are running rapidly up the road back to the top of the American League standings.

After sharing top billing for a brief period earlier this season, the Tigers slipped but stopped at about mid-point and began fighting their way back up the ladder again.

The latest victory in Detroit's successful drive came last night as the Tigers whipped Kansas City 5-2. The win put the Tigers only one game behind the league leading New York Yankees who lost to Washington, 5-4.

Former Kansas City ace Billy Martin played a key role in helping Detroit score its sixth victory in nine starts. Martin played only 5 1/2 innings but that was enough to allow him to score twice and collect a double and two singles as the Tigers shattered the Athletics' three-game winning streak.

The Tigers collected four runs in the third inning, one each in the fifth and seventh and two more in the final round. The Athletics were able to score only once in the sixth and again in the ninth.

Right-hander Paul Foytack held the Athletics to six hits and collected his second straight pitching victory. Former Detroit pitcher Duke Maas started for the A's but was pulled in the third after the Tigers collected four runs.

Kansas City sent four more pitchers to the mound after Maas, who was given the loss. The Tigers collected a total of 13 hits off the five Athletic hurlers.

Two bases on balls to Jim Hegan and Harvey Kenna, Foytack's sacrifice and four singles by Frank Bolling, Martin, Al Kaline and Charley Maxwell drove in Detroit's first four runs.

Glenn Cox, who followed Maas, filled the bases in the fifth with one out when Martin singled. Kaline and Ike Boone walked. Walt Craddock came in and got Maxwell on a pop-up but Martin scored on a passed ball before Hegan struck out.

Prep Front

By CHUCK ABRAH

The monthly Bulletin published by the Michigan High School Athletic Association contains a section that proves valuable the year round for prep athletic directors and coaches. It is labeled—Games Wanted.

School officials in every part of the state pay close attention to those pages in arranging their future schedules.

It actually serves the same purpose as a want-ad section in a newspaper listing the various schools seeking games in the different sports. Most schools fill in their open dates through this means.

Pontiac Central, Pontiac Northern and Rochester are the Oakland County schools listed in the April issue among those trying to line up future foes.

Tom Dodson is trying to arrange a football game for Central next Oct. 25 here and several football and hoop contests for Northern. Northern has three open grid dates in both 1959 and '60 and two for basketball next December.

Rochester's Jay Elford Lopes to schedule a home-and-away grid series for the next two years for the Falcons with either another Class B school or a small "A" team.

SKIIPPING AROUND—Frank Fink off to another good start with 28 points in two dual track meets for Walled Lake... Warren Cawley has 43 in three starts for Farmington... Flint Central appears in a class by itself in the Valley golf loop... Rugged John Zeeman of Milford had swatted three homers in the last two games going into today's contest at Holly.

Thieves looted some of the locker rooms during the Massillon Relays. Pontiac's Jim Keller lost a jacket and shoes... Jim Amel a valuable assistant to busy John Coleman in keeping Waterford's golf team going... Clarkson has two sets of brothers in its baseball lineup. They are Dave and Neil Gaddis, Leroy and John Parks.

Transfers Barry Armstrong and Bill Jordan are a help to Bloomfield Hills' track team. Armstrong, a sophomore from Redford Union, won the mile at Keego and has done as low as 5:06 in practice. Jordan moved here from the state of Washington. He is a senior 440 relay specialist... Royal Oak schools, Dondoro in the Border Cities and St. Mary in the Suburban Catholic, are seeking title repeats in baseball.

Waterford, Cranbrook Win Baseball Games

Victories in area prep baseball games, Tuesday, were turned in by Waterford and Cranbrook. Skippers defeated Van Dyke 5-1, and Cranbrook dumped Detroit Catholic Central 3-1.

Games were on winners' diamonds, the Skipper-Van Dyke tilt a conference test. Skippers won in the bottom of the 5th. Jim Lowry was the winning pitcher, Bob Smith the loser. Victory was Skipper's 2nd without a loss. Cranbrook led their win quickly, with all three runs coming in the 2nd on errors and walks. Ken Strickland's single and Larry Dietrich's squeeze bunt, Win gave Cranbrook a 4-1 mark.

During the last three basketball seasons Dartmouth teams won 19 games each campaign.

'M' Golfers Beat Titans
ANN ARBOR 28 — Michigan won its first dual golf match of the season yesterday, defeating the University of Detroit 22-5. Roger Barron of Michigan won medalist honors with a 77.

Strong Balance Seen in Big 10 Grid Race

CHICAGO (AP) — Spring football drills now in progress in the Big Ten indicate that the conference will be strongly balanced next fall with Ohio State and Michigan State again the prime title contenders.

"Everyone but possibly Indiana and Northwestern rate a chance," said MSU coach, Duffy Daugherty in an Associated Press survey. "There should be great balance. It looks next to impossible for any conference team to go through the season without being beaten."

Woody Hayes of Ohio State agrees that there are more potentially strong teams in the making for the 1938 campaign.

"Wisconsin and Purdue must be rated higher than a year ago, and I don't know of any team that should be rated lower," he said. "It should be a real scramble."

Ohio State, Big Ten champion with undefeated records in three of the last four years, has also starters returning from its victorious Rose Bowl team, including guards, Aurelius Thomas and Bill Jekka. Top rookie prospects for these spots are Husky-born Oscar Hansen, 215, of Hamilton, Ohio, and Ernie Wright, 220, Toledo.

Hayes has a veteran backfield, including a splendid All-American fullback candidate, Bob White. The Buckeyes first line averages 218 pounds and the second line averages a staggering 244, bulwarked by 304-pound Birtho Arnold, a tackle.

Michigan State, whose loss to Purdue kept the Spartans from a share of the 1937 title, has 24 lettermen back but lost 19. Topping the veterans are captain Sammy Williams, a 6-5, 255-pound end, and Blanche Martin, shifted from left half to fullback.

Daugherty says that he lacks the experienced depth he has had in recent years and will have to depend on a lot of newcomers. Best looking rookies are guards Fred Boylen and Mickey Walker, quarterback Ike Grimaley and fullback Dan Ane.

Iowa has seven starters returning from its 7-1 team last year, and replacements are needed for such standouts as end Jim Gilbons and tackles Alex Karras and Dick Klein. Most promising freshmen are Willie Fleming, speedy halfback from Detroit; Al Miller, a 6-5 end from Flint, Mich., and quarterback Mitchell Ogles, a service veteran from Gary, Ind.

Purdue and Wisconsin, who shared fourth place in 1937, are loaded with lettermen. Purdue has 28, giving it more experience and depth than in several years. Wisconsin has 27, backed by some fine fledglings who include guard Alex Muszykowski, end Don Vander Velden and center John Gotta.

Illinois has 22 letter winners to work with. One of the Illini's big problems is finding a quarterback to replace Tom Haller, who signed a baseball contract.

Michigan lost eight starters, including All-American halfback Jim Pace, Minnesota, Northwestern and Indiana face rebuilding jobs.

The Hoosiers' Phil Dickens, returning to head coaching duties after a season of suspension for recruiting violations, has joined the side—saddle T and installed a single wing attack.

Bowling Banquet

The Motor Inn Class B league will hold its annual banquet to night at the V.F.W. Hall at the corner of Saginaw and Rapid streets. Honored will be the champion Wrigley's Market team, captained by Emory Toth and the Hi-Low Doubles team winners Al Roth and Jack Whitehead.

Skippers Seek 4th Dual Victory

The Waterford track team went after its 4th dual victory in five starts today playing host to Inter-Lakes League rival Farmington. A total of eight 1sts, three by big Bill Loveland and a pair for hurdler Bill Cole, paced the Skippers to a 62-2-3 to 48-1-3 triumph over Royal Oak Kimball Tuesday. Mike Harris starred for the losers.

53½-Foot Buddha Weighs 452 Tons

NARA, Japan — Nara's chief attraction for tourists is the Great Buddha statue, completed in 749 A.D. and still the largest statue ever cast in Japan. It was started in 743 and had to be cast eight times before it was satisfactory. It is 53½ feet high, weighs 452 tons, its face is 16 feet long and its hands 6.8 feet long, the thumbs alone measure 4.8 feet.

The statue, in Todaiji Temple, sits on a 10-foot-high bronze lotus which in turn rests on a 7-foot-high carved stone pedestal.

Science Seeks Ocean Treasure

Metals, Chemicals, Food Abound in Sea; Await Profitable Reclamation

WASHINGTON — Science is breaking into the richest treasure house in the world — the sea. Oceans cover about 70 per cent of the globe and hoard many things prized by men. For example, there is enough gold in sea water to make every man, woman, and child on earth a millionaire — if it could be taken out easily.

Silver and other precious metals, useful chemicals, and a rich supply of food other than fish are all locked in the sea, awaiting the development of economical processes to release them.

Some are being extracted now. Brine has provided salt for centuries. Magnesium is used in the manufacture of airplane and rocket parts. Ocean-given bromine makes possible high-test gasoline, and goes into sedatives, photographic chemicals, dyes, and other products.

WATERY FARMS
Scientists look toward the day when the sea's fertility can be put to systematic use. They foresee farming the sea in the manner of land agriculture. This is being done now with oysters and mussels, which have the advantage of not moving about after they are planted.

One of the most important things in the sea is plain water, which, in the words of President Eisenhower, is "becoming our most precious natural resource."

Desalted, ocean water could solve many problems of shortage. The old dream of making the desert bloom would become reality all around the world.

American cities, wrestling with the task of supplying water to ever-growing populations and industries, would have an inexhaustible source. The situation is acute in some areas. More than 1,000 towns and cities in the United States must ask residents to use less water in dry spells. In parts of Texas this year drinking water was sold in jugs — at 50 cents a gallon.

LAST WATER HOLE
Vast dam systems have been built to trap and transport water for drinking and irrigation in the American West. Now the Pacific Ocean, "the West's last water hole," is being eyed thirstily. It is not too hard to distill pure water from the sea, but at the moment it is expensive. Where other factors are more important than cost, desalting goes on now. Many Navy vessels distill their own water from the sea. In waterless, oil-rich Kuwait, American-made distillation plants turn out millions of gallons a day.

Wilson Asks Who Has Right to Judge Lana?

NEW YORK — Who of us wants to judge Lana Turner's right to her child? I don't.

One thing I remember: In all my interviews and quick chats with her, she never failed to make an affectionate reference to her daughter and to ask me, "How's Slugger?"

When Cheryl wasn't yet a year old, Lana came to N.Y. and proudly told me, "I just bought her first prayer book here. She's remarkable — beautiful, intelligent and has red hair."

Just last year when we discussed our kids again, Lana bragged, "Cheryl's 13 and 5-foot-8 ... what is it that we FEED them?"

It's hard to believe that a mother who had her daughter so constantly on her mind didn't love her very, very much.

Judy Garland checked into a hospital using the name "Frances Luft" (her real name's Frances Gumm). Husband Sid Luft says: "She's in for a checkup ... she's rundown and wants to get some vitamins and eat properly for a few days." ... Jack Paar's amused at pot-shots by the envious. A year ago he was out of work — today the hottest guy in the country, able to massacre any enemy.

Would you call those dresses that are half chemise and half tulle a "chepeze"? ... Marilyn Mitchell, the sexy-looking singer who dated Joe DiMaggio, has since been discovered by Ed ("Fair Lady") Mulhare.

FAN MAIL: "There is nothing more irritating than men in the public eye who constantly brag about 'my wife.' It started with Eddie's Ida, Bogey's Baby, your B.W., Allen's Jane, J. Paar's Marian and last but not least P. Lind Hayes' Mary whom I cheerfully despise. He's so lucky-schmucky about it, he'd die if he didn't mention her once a minute. No doubt women are the dominant sex but it's kinda hard to see our strong and definite personalities succumbing to this line of thinking. It's up to you guys to show you are 'Men'." (Unsigned).

Fresh from a "Sgt. Bilko" filming, and still in GI uniform, Comedian Joey Ross went to see "My Fair Lady" — and promptly got bawled out by a regular Army lieutenant for not saluting him ... At a party given by Peggy Kent, somebody mentioned (I think it was me) that England's Sabrina has a 41-inch bust. Up spoke Countess Irene de Kornica: "What size brain does she have?"

THE MIDNIGHT EARL ... Joanne Dru and Lew Ayres canceled wedding plans ... Bing Crosby'll do two live TV's next year. Bernard Baruch plans to visit Winston Churchill in June.

Bennett Cerf wants to publish Mrs. James Jones' novel but she says, "One writer in the family's enough" ... Charlton Heston's shelving 15 pounds before starting "Ben Hur" ... Inger Stevens' ex-husband is romancing Ambassador Lodge's daughter, Lilly.

Believe Four Arrests Clear Up Burglaries

Four burglaries and one attempted burglary are believed cleared up with the arrest of four youths, one a juvenile, yesterday by Pontiac detectives.

Anderson and the juvenile are charged by police with breaking into a garage at 775 Kenilworth St. owned by Russell Marion, a housemover.

Stolen on March 8 from the garage were a chainsaw, a paint sprayer and a case of motor oil. The saw and sprayer have been recovered, the detectives said.

Ordinary steel is iron with a small amount of carbon and manganese. Other types of steel, however, may contain nickel, chromium, molybdenum, vanadium or wolfram.

Oil Refinery Fire Battled in Virginia

NEWPORT NEWS, Va. (INS) — A spectacular fire raged at the Standard Oil Company Esso Refinery at Newport News, Va., early today, hours after five huge oil storage tanks were destroyed by flaming explosions during unloading operations.

No one was reported injured. Newport News firemen were aided in battling the flames by fire boats of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad, the Coast Guard and the Navy at nearby Norfolk, Va.

A tanker that was unloading fuel was moved safely from the scene after the blasts near the Newport News boat harbor.

Burglars Can't Crack Service Station Safe

Burglars broke into the Woodward and Earle Service Station, 732 S. Woodward Ave., last night and attempted to break open the safe, but failed.

They took $150 in pennies from the cash register and a .38 caliber revolver.

AMANDA BLAKE

But Role Makes Her Neck Ache

Even With High Heels, She's Dwarfed by Star of 'Gunsmoke'

By ERSKINE JOHNSON
HOLLYWOOD (NEA) — The girl known as Kitty in the Long Branch Saloon finds little time for laughter.

Life is intense and perilous in the Long Branch and in the city called Dodge, where Marshal Matt Dillon maintains Western "Gunsmoke" law with compassion and fast draws.

But the stumpy red-haired girl known as Amanda, who plays Kitty, is full of gay laughter in the city called Hollywood, where life is intense, too, but where there is no compassion and no law on the trails to movie and TV stardom.

Gorgeous, freckled Amanda Blake laughed up her life and her career for the movie day.

Amanda surprised CBS by telling me, "I've been married twice," when all along her official CBS biography listed only one, ending in divorce. Not to mention that Amanda mentioned her two ex-husbands while trying to explain to me why, as a divorcee, she wears a wedding ring!

RIVAL NETWORK
She dismissed the two marriages while laughing. "I don't know why I married the first time and I don't like to talk about the second because he's a director for a rival network."

The wedding ring she wears makes her "feel a little safer because I live alone. I've even been thinking of marketing 'Kitty Wedding Rings for Girls Who Are Frightened.'"

Search for a deeper explanation of a wedding ring on an attractive bachelor girl in Hollywood and she will only add, with twinkling eyes and voice:

"It's a real nice mental crutch." Amanda Blake's role of Kitty in "Gunsmoke," the nation's No. 1 rated TV show (CBS, Saturday, 10 p.m.), she likes to tell it, "is looking up all the time."

The high heels she wears in scenes with 6-foot, 6-inch Jim Aronson help a little, she laughs, "but I still get neckaches looking up at him. I always say the scenes like best are when we're sitting down."

MOVIE CAREER
There was a time before TV when Buffalo-born Amanda, of English-Scottish descent, had a movie career that looked as if it was headed for dizzy heights.

After little theater and radio acting, she won a 1948 MGM film contract and because of a resemblance she was hailed as "another Greer Garson."

MGM always had a stable of young players called "the threats." If a star refused to play a role against studio orders, the star was reminded, "We've been grooming someone who is just your type, you know."

"I'm not sure whether I was kept as a 'Garson threat,'" Amanda told me, "but I studied acting at the studio's expense for a year before they gave me a second lead with Joel McCrea in 'Stars in My Crown.'"

TV was eager to have her, too. She won starring roles in all of Hollywood's filmed dramatic shows and even helped Red Skelton clown it up several times.

HUNCH ABOUT KITTY
News that CBS was planning a filmed TV version of its hit radio show "Gunsmoke" found Amanda sitting in a producer's office as a prospective Kitty. "I had a hunch about Kitty," she says. "I just had to have the role." That was in March of 1955.

Amanda became Kitty and today "Gunsmoke" and its millions of fans make no secret about it. Her hunch was a lucky one.

'Israel After Ten Years' to Be Told by General

Brig. Gen. S. L. A. Marshall, editorial writer and military critic, will speak on "Israel After Ten Years" at 8:30 p.m. Friday in Temple Beth Jacob, when the Jewish Community of Pontiac joins Jews throughout the world in celebrating the 10th anniversary of the founding of the State of Israel.

General Marshall served in World Wars I and II and more recently in Korea. He also was present during the Sinai campaign in 1956. Rabbi Nathan Herschfield stated the public has been invited.

Free copies of the St. Petersburg Independent are given away on any day when the sun does not shine by 2 p.m., but this condition occurs only about four or five times in a year.

La Rosa's Act Called 'Poor'; Pay Refused

PORTLAND, Ore. (INS) — The $10,000 pay check singer Julius La Rosa took with him after entertaining at the Home Show is no good.

Al Learman, producer of the show, said he had stopped payment because La Rosa's performance was disappointing. He said he gave La Rosa "every chance to up-bet his act," but that La Rosa was uncooperative.

Learman said he had sent a $10,000 check to the American Guild of Variety Artists to be held in escrow until the question of guarantees to La Rosa is settled.

In San Francisco La Rosa said he was surprised at Learman's action. He said the show hadn't gone over so well, but that "such shows and club affairs all over the country aren't doing as good as usual these days."

Bob Considine Reports:

Sir Chris Said: Ich Bin Ein Alter Berliner

BERLIN (INS) — British Ambassador Sir Christopher Steele, all very ruddy and old school tie, said an amusing thing to assembled East and West reporters at a Foreign Press Assn. luncheon yesterday.

He said: "Ich bin ein alter Berliner. Meine frau und ich haben etwa neun Jahre unseres Lebens hier verbracht—vor dem Krieg, nach dem Krieg, während der Luftbrücke."

When the cheers subsided we learned that the American ambassador, Mr. Bruce, will be here shortly to turn over to the West Germans a remarkable edifice—partly financed by U.S. capital—called Congress Hall, which sits on the edge of the East-West demarcation line like an upturned Uncle Sam's hat whose front and back rims have sagged to the ground to support the crown.

The war is so over.

But everywhere the eye roams, especially on the Communist side beyond the Brandenburg Gate, one sees jagged tombstones of allied bombing or bared scrubbed places where sometimes reasoning men and women representing a highly developed culture were swept up by and revealed in the dreams of a crazy housepainter with a twitching Charlie Chaplin mustache.

The crazy man's "thousand year" dream has a curious tombstone, an enormous block of cement turned crazily on its side and sprawled obscenely over what was once the bunker he ultimately shared with Eva Braun, whom he killed with shots through her breast.

In West Berlin his name is cursed much more than it is in West Germany that lies 110 miles across Communist-controlled land. Here, they finish the 30-year task of cleaning house, and build as many new places as they clean.

The great change, of course, is the attitude of the conquerors. It is at once a mark of commendable mercy to the vanquished and the ability of the Germans to walk away from utter defeat after many black deeds and regain the respect of those who paid a heavy price to defeat them.

Perhaps the abrupt changes of a few short years have been further telescoped for this writer because only a few hours divided his trip through a Nazi torture camp the Belgians have preserved at Breda, near Antwerp, and Sir Christopher's booming approval of things West German.

True, he was praising the administration of a man who was always a rugged opponent of Nazism. Yet still it gives a man pause to witness what once was a great passion against a country turned to praise and aid, the same passion a fellow has when he travels these days in Japan.

Congress Hall, by the way, was dedicated by former U.S. ambassador to Italy Clare Boothe Luce, whose work as procurator helped accomplish for that country what other men and women of good heart have done for the remaining members of the one-time Axis.

An interior of daring design holds a fine theater, a convention hall and an exhibition area.

Just across the line can look upon western affluence just as they now can see the top of the new Berlin Hilton which opens in November and one of those moving news flash signs which tells them the truth they cannot very well get in "Neues Deutschland."

It is a land of startling contrast which must tear and rip the "have nots" to a great degree. We will tell you more about that later.
