Bone Find Ages Man by 800,000 Years

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP)—Man may be older than he thinks — by 800,000 years, Prof. Bryan Patterson, a paleontologist at Harvard University, said in announcing a startling fossil discovery yesterday.

Patterson said he came upon a fossilized chunk of an upper arm bone while walking near Lake Rudolph, the African nation of Kenya.

"I found it about 4 p.m. on a hot afternoon lying on the surface," he said. "I saw this thing and said 'ho-hum, another damn knuckle thing.'"

A few hundred steps later, "a light went on inside my head," Patterson said, "and I thought, 'By God, this must be it.'"

It was. Special measurements showed the bone was about 2½ million years old — give or take 200,000 years.

Up to now, scientists have proof of man existing about 17-million years ago. It is based on the discovery of man-like fragments in Tanzania several years ago by African paleontologist Louis Leakey.

CLEAR UP DOUBTS

Patterson said Leakey's discovery was called "Injantropus," or the "Nutcracker Man."

After Patterson made his find in August 1965, a Harvard computer cleared up any doubts by him and other scientists that it may have been a bone from a chimpanzee or other ape.

He said the bone structure was closer to modern man's than those of apes or even Leakey's discovery.

10 More Hunted in Australia, Called HQ for $5-Million Ring

NEW YORK (AP)—Seven persons have been arrested in connection with an alleged $5-million international narcotics operation described by authorities as a "regular milk run" on which couriers concealed heroin in corsets they wore.

Ten more suspects are being hunted in Australia, said to be the headquarters of the alleged ring.

U.S. Atty. Robert M. Morgenthau said the ring bought heroin from a Chinese source in Hong Kong at $1,600 a kilogram and sold it to wholesalers here at $1,000 an ounce, or about $34,000 a kilogram. A kilogram equals 2.2 pounds.

Under arrest are three Australians and four alleged United States distributors of heroin for the ring.

Morgenthau said the Australian ring members smuggled the heroin into the United States in small quantities. He said they used fraudulent passports and made frequent trips.

5 IN NEW YORK

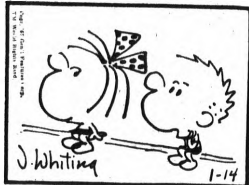

Four men and a woman were arrested in New York.

Two ex-policemen from Sydney were seized in Miami Beach, Fla., as they were about to leave for the Bahamas to make connections for a flight to Australia, the U.S. Treasury Department said.

The Treasury Department said authorities uncovered information about the ring a year ago. Then, last month, during an Australian probe into false passports, detailed data on the narcotics operations came to light.

Roy Lawrence Peake, 24, of Hong Kong was arrested Jan. 8 in Honolulu, accused of carrying two pounds of cured heroin.

GOP Hopes to Block Proposed Tax Boost

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans in Congress will try to head off President Johnson's proposed tax increase, their House leader says.

Rep. Gerald R. Ford of Michigan also said the GOP seeks Social Security benefit improvements without raising the payroll levy.

Ford called for development of an antimissile program to match the Soviet Union's, for continuing air strikes against military targets in North Vietnam and improving the program for pacifying the South Vietnamese countryside.

Ford's views, amounting to a preview of the Republican "State of the Union" program to be made public Thursday, were given in question and answer form in the Republican Congressional Committee publication "Newsletter."

"Republicans will try to reduce nonmilitary spending to the point where the 6 per cent surtax proposed by the President will be unnecessary," Ford said.

'MISTAKE'

Describing Johnson's proposal for a tax increase as a tragic mistake, Ford said "the President has yet to present solid evidence that it is necessary and I believe the burden of proof rests on the President."

"Most top economists I have talked with are deeply concerned that a tax increase might aggravate some of the recessionary tendencies that are already apparent in the economy," he said.

Johnson has proposed an average 20 per cent increase in Social Security benefits without as yet discussing methods of financing it.

Ford said: Republicans will support an increase. But the 20 per cent over-all average increase would mean a sharp increase in Social Security taxes — taxes which already rose automatically the first of this month 4 per cent.

Two Killed in Separate Accidents

A Pontiac Township woman and a Troy man were killed early today in separate auto accidents.

Killed when her car was struck by another auto at 2:16 a.m. at the intersection of Columbia and Joslyn was Mrs. Charles Wood, 45, of 1588 Vinewood.

The accident was witnessed by a Pontiac police officer who arrested Eli Couch Jr., driver of the second car.

Couch, 19, gave his address only as Feneley Court. A warrant charging him with negligent homicide is sought by police.

MINOR INJURIES

Patrolman Carl Gajewski, who was driving north on Joslyn behind Mrs. Wood's car, said he saw Couch's car, eastbound on Columbia, go through the red light at the intersection.

Couch and a passenger in his car, Delbert Hall, 19, of 12822 Spencer, Milford Township, both suffered minor injuries.

Mrs. Wood was dead on arrival at Pontiac General Hospital.

Killed in a 2:45 a.m. collision on Big Beaver was George C. Simpson, 35, of 90 Tacoma.

The driver of the other car is in critical condition at William Beaumont Hospital. Police said his identity is not yet known.

NEAR AIRPORT

The accident occurred just east of Daley near the Big Beaver Airport.

Police said there were no witnesses to the crash.

PHILADELPHIA BLAZE — Firemen on ladder at right carry down the covered body of one of nine members of the same family killed when fire engulfed their three-story brick row house in Philadelphia this morning. Mr. and Mrs. John Drumm and their 10 children were trapped in the upper part of the house when the fire apparently broke out on the first floor. Three of the Drumm children escaped.

The three were boyhood buddies. When they grew up, that's how they enlisted in the Marines, under the "buddy

Power Company to Start Center

Construction of Consumers Power Co.'s new Pontiac division service center will begin within a few days, Charles F. Brown, Pontiac division manager, announced today. He said the center should be completed by the spring of 1968.

The 27-acre rectangular-shape site for the new center is on the south side of Featherstone near the western edge of the Grand Trunk Railroad tracks.

The $3-million service center will include office and warehouse space totaling some 128,000 square feet.

Other facilities will include yards for storing gas and electric equipment, car ports, and parking lots for employees.

MacKenzie, Knuth and Klein, Architects Inc., of Flint have planned room for expansion. Builders are J. A. Fredman Co.

DOWNTOWN FACILITIES

Brown emphasized that the Consumers retail store and customer-relation facilities would remain in the lower floors of the downtown office.

He explained the need for a new center:

"The amount of customers has almost doubled since 1960 and we have also added more employees due to the expanded volume of business, we have outgrown the old service center."

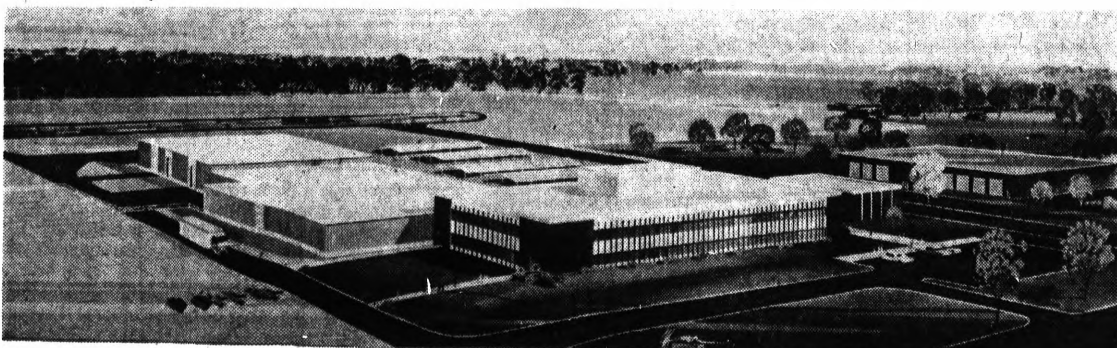

"The new service center allows us to consolidate most of our operations in one area — in order to better serve our existing customers and keep pace with the projected growth of the community," Brown added.

Consumers Powers currently handles 14,600 electric customers within Pontiac City limits. The company also handles some 60,000 customers in the Pontiac area.

NEW ONES

"And we are getting some 4,000 to 5,000 new ones every year," Brown said.

The old service building at 55 Wessen has been sold to the city and should be vacated by April 1, 1968.

Nine in Family Killed by Fire

Other Blazes in U.S. Fatal to Six Children

By The Associated Press

A flash fire roared through a Philadelphia row house early this morning taking the lives of nine members of the same family — the third multiple death blaze to occur in the nation within a few hours.

Three children in the family escaped the burning home, located a few blocks from Girard College in the North Philadelphia section of the city.

Neighbors, who stood in a light rain as firemen sorted through the blackened wreckage, said the fire broke out about 6 a.m.

Within seconds, said the neighbors, the house was a mass of flame. Some said they tried to rush for the front door but the intense heat drove them back.

Elsewhere, in New York and Ohio, apartment fires claimed the lives of six children last night.

FOUR SUFFOCATE

Four children, all members of the same family, died when their apartment was swept by fire on the East Side of Cleveland. Seven persons were injured in the blaze.

The children ranging in age from 3 to 8, suffocated. Twenty persons leaped to safety from the three-story building.

A soldier home from Vietnam and two policemen caught some of them. A mailman rescued three youngsters from a fire escape.

Two brothers perished in New York when a blaze struck their Coney Island apartment while their mother was shopping. The boys' younger sisters were reported in serious condition at Coney Island Hospital, suffering from smoke inhalation.

Reds Release American on $22,222 Bail

MOSCOW (AP) — A young American sentenced to three years in a Soviet labor camp, Buel Ray Wortham Jr., was released today on 20,000 rubles — $22,222 — bail pending an appeal to the Russian Federation Supreme Court.

A Leningrad court granted bail, the U.S. Embassy announced after its consular officer, Harlan G. Moen, had telephoned from Leningrad.

The court ordered that Wortham of North Little Rock, Ark., appear when the appeal is heard by the Supreme Court in Moscow, probably at the end of this month or early next month.

Wortham was convicted last month of three counts of selling dollars illegally on the Leningrad black market and of stealing a statue from his Leningrad hotel.

Wortham was free when Moen telephoned, the embassy said in Moscow. Wortham and Moen are expected to come to Moscow by overnight train from Leningrad and Wortham will live at the embassy.

Chinese Military Unit Hits Anti-Mao Army HQ, Arrests 'Scores'

TOKYO (AP) — A Red Chinese military unit has stormed a hideout of military officers opposed to Communist Chairman Mao Tse-tung and arrested "scores" of the officers, a Japanese newspaper reported today.

It appeared to be the first report of violence within China's 2.5-million-man People's Liberation Army over Mao's purge of his opponents. Peking radio reported earlier that an "acute and complicated" struggle involving a small but influential group of anti-Maoists had built up within the army.

Other Japanese reports said President Liu Shao-chi, the top anti-Mao leader, recently demanded before the Communist Central Committee a retraction of his "self-criticism" widely publicized last December.

The reports said the demand could indicate that Liu was confident of maintaining his power and that he had launched a counterattack against Mao and Defense Minister Lin Biao.

OFFICERS ARRESTED

The Peking correspondent of Mainichi Shimbun said the officers were arrested last Tuesday in Lanchow, a city of more than 150,000 persons 700 miles west of Peking on the Yellow River.

The correspondent quoted a wall poster put up in Peking and signed by "the 750th Lantzu Regiment." The regiment is stationed in Lanchow.

The poster reportedly said the captured officers were "black military elements" loyal to Gen. Liu Chih-chien, ousted by Mao's supporters as director of the Military Revolution Committee and No. 2 man in charge of ideological matters in the army. The officers' documents were reported confiscated.

Whirlwind D.C. Politicking

Romney and Lodge Discuss Vietnam

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gov. George Romney met with Henry Cabot Lodge, U.S. ambassador to South Vietnam, Friday for an hour-long talk on that war-torn nation.

The discussion was the highlight of a whirlwind round of politicking by Romney to offices of prominent Republican leaders in Washington.

Romney, who says he has not yet decided whether to run for the Republican presidential nomination in 1968, visited the capital to attend a dinner at the Women's National Press Club.

The Michigan governor said Lodge filled him in on recent developments in the Vietnam War. Lodge, former senator from Massachusetts, was the GOP vice presidential candidate in 1960.

Before making a tour of the Senate Office Building and the capitol, Romney held an off-the-

Fights Flare Throughout S. Vietnam

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — Sharp fighting flared up and down South Vietnam today, and the big American drive in the "Iron Triangle" pushed Communist losses beyond 450 men.

There were no major engagements reported, but the U.S. and Vietnamese commands listed many small clashes and these other developments:

- Two U.S. planes went down in combat, one over North Vietnam and the other in the south.
- A Norwegian motor ship and a U.S. Navy minesweeper boat collided in a river 30 miles southeast of Saigon and the Navy boat sank with the loss of three of her seven-man crew.
- U.S. B52 heavy bombers struck at a suspected concentration of North Vietnamese troops less than a mile south of the demilitarized zone.
- Bad weather continued to hamper U.S. air raids over the Communist north but pilots attacked coastal targets and reported putting 54 junks and barges out of action.

Township Delegates Back Tax

LANSING (AP) — The 900 delegates at the convention of the Michigan Townships Association have indicated almost unanimously they would favor a state income tax if property taxes were reduced substantially.

Joseph Parisi Jr., the association's executive director, said Friday he asked for a show of hands and was "shocked to see almost all the hands go up" in support of an income tax.

"When I asked for a negative vote, not more than 10 hands were raised," he said.

Parisi said he took the vote after a legislator asked him how township officials viewed a statewide income tax.

LEGISLATION SOUGHT

In a formal resolution, the delegates urged legislation to prohibit cities from taxing the incomes of nonresidents who work in the city.

'66 County Budget $112,000 in Black

Daniel T. Murphy, chairman of the Oakland County Board of Auditors, said yesterday that the county emerged from its 1966 operation with an excess of $112,000.

This budgetary saving will be applied to the $398,895 deficit the county carried into 1966 from its 1965 budget, reducing the deficit to $286,895.

Speaking at a meeting of the ways and means committee of the County Board of Supervisors, Murphy said that the 1966 excess was due mainly to a reduced obligation in the amount of Medicare funds the county had budgeted for payment to the state.

Last summer Murphy expressed concern that the county, with its January, 1966, deficit carryover, might end up with a $750,000 total deficit by the end of the year.

Cost cutting on county operational functions the balance of 1966 was called for by Murphy in an effort to avoid a deficit increase.

PROPERTY TRANSFER

Murphy also told committee members that paper work in conjunction with the transfer of county property for the Pontiac Municipal Airport should be completed early next month.

The committee agreed that the 65-car capacity parking lot adjoining the building at 1 Lafayette will go to the city when the land switch is consummated.

In other action the committee ruled against increasing the county's appropriation of $6,500 this year for emergency aid to the Royal Oak Township recreation program.

Did Welshman Discover U.S.?

'Landed in Alabama Long Before 1492'

By EDDY GILMORE

LONDON (AP) — Did a Welshman discover America 322 years before Christopher Columbus, in what is now Alabama, near Mobile?

British historian Richard Deacon has made out a strong case for the Welshman, Madoc Ad Owain Gwynedd.

In a scholarly but sprightly written book to be published by Frederick Muller of London on Feb. 23, Deacon says:

"Though Columbus still takes pride of place as the best-known and authenticated discoverer of America, it seems even with a slight study of the history of this subject that other and lesser-known explorers have equal claims to be considered."

GIVES ACCOUNT

Over 269 pages Deacon plumps for Madoc.

Deacon's book, "Madoc and the Discovery of America," gives this account:

The Welshman sailed from Rhos-on-Sea in north Wales and landed near Mobile. He returned to his homeland and then pushed off again, the second time for Lundy Island, in the Bristol Channel between north and south Wales.

This time the Welshman also landed along the southern shores of America, went up the Alabama River and other streams and disappeared in the wilds of present-day Tennessee. Descendants there were Welsh Indians, speaking a language sprinkled with Welsh words and sentences of Welsh construction.

NOT PROVED

What about the recent Vinland map?

"It does not prove that Leif (Erikson) discovered America, despite Yale University's claims that the map was made some 50 years before Columbus' voyage in 1492," writes Deacon.

Deacon then asks: "Did he (Madoc), unheralded and unknown to the writers of history, arrive in the new world 322 years before Columbus? Was he the first of the great transatlantic explorers?"

"Or is this a faded myth from the mists of Celtic legend, or a gilded and faked piece of evidence fabricated at the behest of the Tudors through jealousy of Columbus?"

PROS AND CONS

Deacon pours out the pros and cons and when he's finished the evidence seems in the Welshman's favor.

Serving in the British navy during World War II, Deacon sailed a small flat-bottomed boat from Norfolk, Va., to North Africa.

"I came to the conclusion," he says, "that if we could cross the Atlantic in a keelless craft, such a voyage was perfectly possible in Madoc's day."

Anyhow, the Daughters of the American Revolution have erected a marker of Madoc's landing on Alabama's coast which says:

"In memory of Prince Madoc, a Welsh explorer, who landed on the shores of Mobile Bay in 1170 and left behind, with the Indians, the Welsh language."

What do you expect for $1409?

If you expect 4 doors, and a 7 cubic foot trunk, and bucket seats, and a heater-defroster system, and 4-wheel disc brakes, and 4-speed full synchromesh transmission and a 4-wheel independent suspension system, the Dauphine should come as no surprise to you, because all that comes with it.

But we expect that's much more than you expected.

I'd like to talk a little more about entertaining — especially my favorite type of informal evening. To me the pleasantest way to entertain your friends in the winter is at a fireside party.

Almost all of us who have six square feet of yard available have given barbecues in the summer, cooking the dinner on some sort of grill over open coals.

There is no reason that an equally delicious meal cannot be prepared in the same manner in the winter by the simple expedient of placing the grill from your oven across your andirons and cooking your meat over the fire, just as you would outdoors.

No other equipment is necessary and you have all the marvelous flavor of charcoal broiled meat as well as the stimulating sight and smell of the roasting meat to tantalize your guests' appetites.

ELECTRIC

If you wish to be a little more elaborate, electric spits, which come complete with frame to set on the andirons, are easily available, and they are not expensive. With one of these, your menus become practically limitless.

What more superb sight could greet your guests than a fat capon, a roast of beef, a leg of lamb or even a suckling pig sizzling and crackling as it slowly turns on the spit!

For cooking right on the grill, steak is, of course, the obvious and most common favorite. But you can surprise and delight your guests by grilling swordfish which has been soaked in milk or marinade to prevent drying, or a leg of lamb, boned and split as evenly as possible by your butcher, and laid out flat like a steak.

Another menu which is superb over the fire is "kabob." A kabob is simply made up of chunks of meat or fish on a skewer, interspersed with a variety of foods — mushrooms, tomatoes, green pepper, folds of bacon, onions — anything your imagination can suggest. To add a truly elegant touch, pour a bit of brandy over the kabob just before serving, light it, and serve them as they flame.

When using a spit, the coals should be pushed toward the back of the fireplace and a pan placed under the meat to catch the drippings. A slow-cooked roast drips a good deal of fat, which is delicious, and desirable to save as a base for a gravy, but which stains the stones of the fireplace if allowed to drip and run. The drippings also cause too high a flame if allowed to fall directly onto the coals.

I have frequently been asked if the inevitable spatters of grease do not damage the floor, the hearth, or the rug. The answer is yes, but it can easily be remedied. Buy a square of oilcloth, and lay it over the rug or floor, as close to the fire as is safe, and you'll have no problem.

New up-shape in coats is seen in a high-line design by Kasper for Joan Leslie that can face the worst of spring showers since it is protected with "Zepel" rain and stain repeller. Made of navy and white chevron-striped duck, the coat is small and narrow at top, has an empress back panel for controlled flare at the hem and comes with a companion dress.

Skirts Will Diminish and Slacks Continue

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON

NEW YORK (AP) — Skirts will continue to diminish. Pants will be acceptable to everyone, even maitre d's. Paper will revolutionize utility fashions, but not necessarily couture fashions. Nearly every designer will have a hand in improving the chic or archaically dressed men.

All this was made clear at a luncheon meeting of America's most influential apparel makers Friday. The discussion among some 200 style reporters was the closing session of a week long preview of spring fashions called the American Designer Series.

Although Gaston Berthelot, French couturier for New York's house of Christian Dior, expressed hope that the opening of European collections next

Discussion on Change of Role

Mrs. Jane Greenwall of Oakland University was guest speaker before the Pontiac Opti-Mrs. Club Friday evening. Her topic was "The Sociological Changes in the Role of Women."

Hostess for the group was Mrs. Leon Bigger of Prescott Street with Mrs. H. A. Miller and Mrs. Richard Wolfe assisting.

The Pontiac Opti-Mrs. Club voted to join the Pontiac Federation of Women's Clubs.

A tour of the Pontiac Motor Division plant is being planned in February.

week might promise some hemline surprises, Americans, and particularly Oleg Cassini, offered the consolation that the eye would eventually get used to the escalating skirt.

"As skirts get shorter we will concentrate on the leg as a whole," said Oscar De La Renta, who does so with glittering knee pants, tights and silver stockings in his current collection.

AMAZING RUDI

He complimented Rudi Gernreich, creator of the topless bathing suit, for paving the way with bright leotards and striped stockings to complement his dresses. His latest collection concentrates the eye on the leg by means of pasties and decals from chin to thigh-high hem line.

The belted waistline will return, Donald Brooks promised. "We have had all the little shifts we can stand. I think we will all go back to what nature intended a modern woman to look like."

As for pants — party kinds or slack suits — designers feel that they have done such a good job of retaining the femininity that all objections will be withheld, even by headwaiters at posh places.

Because workmanship is costly, paper is not practical for high fashion, insisted Gernreich. But he is convinced that it is tomorrow's answer to utilitarian and travel clothes.

Disposable paper shirts for men would be ideal, if properly packaged, decided John Weitz.

Anniversary Celebration

Mr. and Mrs. George F. Dingel of Coats Road, Orion Township, will honor guests Sunday at a family party celebrating their 58th wedding anniversary which was Jan. 9.

The 2 to 5 p.m. affair will be of a daughter and son-in-law, in the North Lapeer Road home the Alton Hartsells.

The Dingels have nine children, 17 grandchildren and 12 great-grandchildren.

Talk Is Highlight

The January program for the Oakland County Women's Christian Temperance Union in the Central Methodist Church featured a talk on "Narcotics and Alcoholism" by Mrs. Allen Walker of Owosso, state president.

Special music was provided by Dr. Theodore Aurbach, minister of music at the church and the Mary Morton Union.

Consider Whatever Is Best for Mother and Your Family

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My wife's widowed mother has made her home with us for the past 22 years. She was not a built-in baby sitter for our children, neither was she a servant. (Fortunately we have always had help.) I will not say my wife and her mother got along "famously" — they had their differences, but my wife always deferred out of respect. I never interfered.

Lately my mother-in-law's mind has been affected, and her health is failing. She has made such a madhouse out of our home that our teen-age children can no longer have their friends over. My wife and I have discussed putting her mother in a fine rest home, but my wife's only worry is, "What will people say if I send my own mother away to be cared for by strangers?" If you have a comment on this, I would like to see it in print.

SILENT IN EUGENE

DEAR SILENT: Elderly people who pose a problem in the homes of their children, should, for their own sake as well as for their children's, be cared for in a rest home, if possible. Of all the reasons for refusing to send her, "What will people say" is by far the poorest.

DEAR ABBY: I am the secretary of a man who employs 22 people. He planned a dinner party at his home to honor a retiring employee and he set the date for Friday. One woman spoke up and said if the party were to be on a Friday he should postpone it until after the first of December so everybody could eat meat! A few others joined in and agreed with her. My employer and his wife entertain graciously and I am sure they would have made ample provisions for those who couldn't eat meat on Friday. (Maybe they planned on serving fish to everyone for all I know!)

Anyway, my boss was so disgusted he abandoned the idea of the party, and he and his wife entertained the man alone and bought him an expensive gift.

Now the employees are miffed. They feel that the boss promised them a party and he "cheaped out." What is your opinion?

GIRL FRIDAY

DEAR GIRL: I think your boss was unfair to have punished all the employees for the boorishness of a few. Now those employees who wish to pick a bone with him, have their choice of fish or meat — any day in the week.

L. J. Hansens Are Wed in Friday Rite

Off on a honeymoon at Clearwater Beach, Fla. are the Larry John Hansens (Joyce Arlene Livingstone) after their marriage and reception, Friday, in the First Methodist Church.

Parents of the couple are David Livingstones of Lakewind Drive and the Melvin Hansens of Lansing.

The bride's Empire sheath gown of white crepe was styled with Alencon lace bodice and hemline. A heart-shaped cluster of jeweled medallions capped her illusion veil.

Her bouquet held white roses and feathered carnations.

Jean Livingstone and Mrs. John Cork attended their sister as honor maid and bridesmaid along with Mrs. James Livingstone, Linda Leonard and Mrs. James Kimmel of Kalamazoo.

With best man William Lott of Lansing, were ushers James Livingstone; Dennis Sibrt, Kalamazoo; Melvin Gruhn, Lansing, and Robert Kodish of Chicago.

The couple who are graduates of Western Michigan University will be living in Lansing.

Parents of the couple are the Donald W. Schneiders of Sedgefield Drive and Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Collins of Grand Rapids.

Alencon lace on the Empire bodice and Victorian sleeves accented the bride's classic gown of ivory peau de sole styled with Watteau train. Her tiered illusion veil fell from a petal headpiece.

Phalaenopsis orchids encircled with Stephanotis and ivy were arranged in a semi-cascade.

With Judith Heady of Ann Arbor, maid of honor, were bridesmaids Mrs. Mitchell Phillips, Livonia; Bonnie MacLean, and Mrs. John McGonigal, both of Ann Arbor.

Joseph O'Donnell of Williamsville, N.Y. was best man along with the ushers John McGonigal, Richard Schneider and Frank Clappison of Farmington.

The bridal couple are alumni of the University of Michigan.

Nancy Jeanne Schneider, daughter of the Donald W. Schneiders of Sedgefield Drive, and Charles William Collins of Chicago, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Collins of Grand Rapids, spoke vows today in St. Hugo of the Hills Church, Bloomfield Hills.

Clashes between youthful Red Guards, mobilized by Mao Tse-tung to "purify" China and bolster his own leadership, and workers have been reported from several major cities. Basis of the turmoil appears to be a power struggle within the Communist hierarchy. Key figures in one camp are Mao; Lin Piao, armed forces chief and Mao's heir apparent, and Chiang Ching, Mao's wife. The opposition is believed led by President Liu Shao-chi; Teng Hsiao-ping, Communist party general secretary, and Tao Chu, chief party propagandist. Grace Takenaka is just a little Japanese maiden doing missionary internship at First United Missionary Church, 149 N. East Blvd., but she has big plans for the future.

After completing studies at Missionary Internship School in Farmington, she will leave for Brazil to serve as a missionary.

But first she will enroll in a school near Sao Paulo, Brazil, to study the Portuguese language. Then she will be placed in the area under the United Missionary Society.

I expect to continue to crochet for my friends and look forward to long hikes in the country, and working with the children, she said.

Born in Winfield, B.C., Canada, Grace is one of seven children. Her father arrived in Canada from Japan at the age of 21 and has become a naturalized citizen. Her mother was born in Canada.

Grace's father is a truck gardener in the Okanagan Valley, British Columbia.

At the age of 12 Grace said she was inclined toward the work of foreign missions.

"After I was graduated from high school I attended Mountain View Bible College in Didsbury, Alta., where I received a Bible diploma in April 1965.

"During a missionary convention in September of the same year I felt definitely led to enter foreign missions in the country of Brazil."

IN COURT OFFICE

Grace went on to say "After graduating from Bible College I worked as a clerk-typist in the court-clerk office in Calgary, Alberta, until last August when I came to the Missionary Internship at Farmington."

The internship program is designed to spot possible problems before a missionary is sent overseas and to correct them. It is also a test period for helping missionary candidates adapt to the rigors of missionary work.

Grace's duties include conducting primary worship, for children in first to fourth grades, evangelism classes, visitation and follow-up calls and secretarial work.

She works under the direction of Rev. Kenneth Pennell of First United Missionary Church and makes her home with the Rev. and Mrs. J. C. Schott, 632 Benson while working in Pontiac.

The Rev. Mr. Schott is assistant pastor of the church.

Congregation Adopts Plan

Services in Mason Junior-High School

The Christian Church of Drayton Plains adopted in December a regular mission program which guarantees an amount of $25 per week as a minimum for giving.

Members worshipping presently in Mason Junior High School, plan to have a missionary speaker at least once every three months and to give the total offering every fifth Sunday to missions.

Two young men of the congregation are currently enrolled in Christian Colleges. The church hopes to encourage other youths to consider the Christian service as a vocation, Pastor Merritt Baker said.

Future plans call for securing property on which to build a permanent home in the Waterford Township area.

The congregation is in the process of being incorporated by the State of Michigan as a nonprofit society.

The church office is located in the minister's home, 2807 W. Walton.

The Christian Church of Drayton Plains started in the home of Howard Cagle on June 19. Some 60 persons then gathered in the Cagle home the following Sunday to begin worship services.

Bernard Cagle, son of the Howard Cagles, served as minister until the congregation called Merritt Baker, then pastor of Central Christian Church, Pontiac. He assumed leadership in July.

Grow Plants Under Lights

Use artificial light to grow better house plants. Place your plants under fluorescent tubes. A Pennsylvania State University correspondence course tells you how.

Have fluorescent tubes in movable or permanent fixtures. Fastened to the lower side of an unused bookshelf, tubes give light to plants placed on the next lower shelf.

A single tube seldom gives enough light. Mount a number parallel. Paint the shelves white to increase reflected light.

Set up fluorescent light units in your main living room. Hallways and closets are good. Basements are excellent if not too cool.

Commercial lighting units are available for indoor gardening. Some come as enclosed cases with doors to control temperature and humidity.

Movable carts, equipped with fluorescent fixtures and trays, in decks one above the other, are on the market.

Study the correspondence course to learn more about care of plants indoors.

Send your name and address with $3.00 to House Plants, Box 5000, University Park, Pennsylvania 16802. A course copy will come to you by mail.

GAIN ROOM—This family took their patio indoors, converted it to a needed family room. Paved slab became the floor, covered with resilient tile. Wood frame walls were easy to erect and panel with straight grain cedar boards. Large windows retain garden atmosphere.

Enjoy Year-Round Comfort

Bring Patio Inside This Winter

What do you do with the patio when summer is over? Some people ignore it. Some wrap it in dreams of next summer's sun. But others take it indoors with them, for year-around use.

For those who need an extra room — family room, bedroom, or whatever — bringing the patio inside is a grand idea, for it's neither hard to enclose nor to replace with another outdoor living area.

Often an existing patio — the kind that's built as an appendage to the house — isn't the best for outdoor living. But frequently it's in an ideal location for a family room or child's bedroom.

One family who made the conversion to a family room simply covered the patio slab with resilient tile, then added a good area rug to make a comfortable walking surface.

Since the area nestled in an ell of the house, adjoining kitchen on one side and front hall and living room on the other, it was easy enough to connect the new space to the existing house.

ROOF EXTENDED

Around two sides, stud walls were built and a pitched roof was extended out from the present house roof. Large fir beams were left exposed as a design element for the family room's ceiling.

The wall between family room and kitchen was removed, with a bank of new kitchen cabinets built as a divider and a pass counter. Then the front hall was opened to form a continuous passage into both family room and kitchen.

Inside the family room, two walls were paneled with 1x6 inch tongue-and-groove cedar boards finished clear to let the cedar's golden brown coloring warm the room.

A big brick fireplace was centered on one outside wall and flanked on either side with windows reaching almost from floor to ceiling. These capture a lovely view of the garden and retain a bit of outdoor atmosphere.

Furnishings were purchased with comfort in mind. A sofa and occasional chairs covered in tight-weave wool take wear without showing it and contribute sharp blues and greens in contrast to the warm tones of cedar and brick.

Overseas Mail Rates to Rise

WASHINGTON (AP) — Postal rates for mail going overseas will be increased 13 percent effective May 1.

A Post Office spokesman, in making the announcement Friday, said a final decision on whether to increase domestic postal rates "is still under review."

A domestic increase would require congressional action, whereas the postmaster general has authority to set rates for international mail. International postal rates were last increased six years ago. Domestic rates went up in 1963.

The major increases announced Friday include a 2-cent rise, from 13 cents to 15 cents a half ounce, on airmail letters to the Caribbean area. Airmail to the rest of the hemisphere remains at 15 cents.

Airmail to Europe and North Africa will go from 15 cents a half ounce to 20 cents, but the 25-cent airmail letter rate to the rest of the world will remain unchanged. Surface mail rates for overseas points will go from 11 cents to 13 cents and post cards from 7 cents to 8 cents.

Exempted from the increases is mail to Canada and Mexico where postage rates are the same as for domestic letters. Mail to servicemen in Vietnam also is unaffected since it is sent under domestic rates to military post office addresses.

2 GIs Won't Have to Pay Fare to Viet

TRAVIS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — Two soldiers who thought they would have to pay $295 each to get back to Vietnam today are en route to Saigon today aboard a U.S. Air Force jet.

A reinterpretation of a new Army regulation put Spec. 4 Edward McGarry, 19, of Poland, Ohio, and Spec. 5 Michael F. Tomsich, 22, of Ely, Minn., on a special mission C141 out of Travis Air Force Base Friday.

The two GIs had volunteered for six months of additional duty in Vietnam to be served after completing their regular one-year tour. But after 30-day leaves in the United States the two showed up too late last Saturday to catch a regular Military Airlift Command flight.

The Army booked them on a commercial flight according to procedure. The $295 cost would have been docked from their future pay.

Then the Army said — in the words of a Pentagon spokesman — "Hold up, boys — we'll get you there."

The confusion stemmed from a new order authorizing government-paid travel for volunteers for extra Vietnam duty. The order went into effect before McGarry and Tomsich left Vietnam on leave but after they had volunteered.

"Nobody really knew what was going on," Tomsich said. "Now everybody will be informed."

He and McGarry were waiting at San Francisco International Airport Thursday afternoon for a commercial flight when the Army changed its mind.

German Magazine Rejects Appeal on Serialization

HAMBURG, Germany (UPI) — A West German magazine has turned down a last-ditch appeal by a close friend of Mrs. John F. Kennedy to stop serialization of an uncensored version of William Manchester's controversial book, "The Death of a President."

"There is no cause for abridging or changing the manuscript," Henri Mannen, chief editor of Der Stern, said last night.

He made the statement after a two-and-a-half hour meeting with William Vanden Heuvel, an attorney and close friend who flew here yesterday morning in an attempt to persuade Nannen to delete certain passages to which Mrs. Kennedy had objected.

Der Stern bought an unabridged version of the serialization for $72,000, but refused to cut the sections which Look magazine agreed to delete under threat of a lawsuit by the former first lady. William Attwood, editor-in-chief of Look, also took part in yesterday's talks with Nannen.

Mrs. Kennedy was reported to be "very upset" about the plans of the West German magazine to continue publishing the events during and after the assassination of President Kennedy in 1963.

Der Stern has already published the first installment of Manchester's book last week and it was sold out in two days. But the passages in the serialization said to be offensive to Mrs. Kennedy were contained in the second and third parts of the series.

Der Stern, which has a circulation of more than two million in Germany, will publish the next installment Tuesday. Copies of the magazine are available in many U.S. cities.

Police Call for Help as 300 Get Unruly

Pontiac police, pelted by snowballs and pop bottles last night by an unruly crowd of some 300 after the Pontiac Central-Flint Northern basketball game, called the sheriff's department for help.

The crowd on the corner of Huron and Franklin had begun to thin when two sheriff's cars arrived and then it quickly dispersed.

School officials could cite no reason for the disturbance other than the tension built up in the game that Central won 59 to 57.

Welcome

Does the Uncomfortable Pew Fit You?

We hear a great deal these days about "the comfortable pew."

Many of us might like to wrap ourselves in a "faith" that would shelter us from the problems of our day.

But Unitarian Universalists are not seeking comfort. (Some even accuse them of seeking the hair-shirt). What are the things for which religious liberals are looking?

Unitarians have a deep respect for the many different views and practices of religion. More than that, Unitarians recognize we live in a world of great ethical and moral problems. They believe religion is irrelevant unless it can confront these problems.

They are deeply concerned with the great issues of human destiny, yet skeptical of neat packages wrapped around "God" and "man" and "faith" and "death" and "good" and "evil."

They revere the human spirit and see in it a mighty potential for growth.

Their's is a religion that is searching and raising questions, rather than laying claim to all the answers.

They are moved by the wonder of the universe.

If you think the uncomfortable pew may fit you, come visit Birmingham Unitarian Church.

Reflections

CHANGE YOUR WORLD

They laughed when Jules Verne said back in 1866, "I'll sail my ship under the sea..." yet we sailed the Nautilus under the Polar Ice in 1958.

Patrick Henry, 1775, said, "Give me liberty or give me death"; we gave him a place in history. Words may change the course of world affairs. We greet a friend, "Good Morning." Those two words are crammed with a promise—a good will message. They may be the vitalizing force to take him out of the doldrums. Remember, as Jules Verne and Patrick Henry changed our world with words, so might you change your immediate world.

Junior Editors Quiz on HAILSTONES

QUESTION: How do hailstones and snowflakes differ in their formations?

ANSWER: In the middle and upper parts of high thunderstorm clouds, there are often many little drops of water which remain liquid even when the temperature around them is below freezing.

When ice particles form in the cloud and when one of these strikes a water drop, the water flows over it and freezes at once. These ice pellets (white arrows) may be lifted by strong updraughts within the cloud, dropped and lifted again, a number of times. They may hit more water droplets and get several shells of ice (cross section).

When too heavy to be lifted, they drop as hailstones (black arrows) sometimes the size of a baseball. Hailstones may do a great deal of damage.

A snowflake does not need the special conditions of the thunderstorm cloud to form. It is made when the water vapor in the air crystallizes into a shimmering, six-sided ice crystal—no two of which are said to be ever alike.

Snowflakes may form by themselves very high up in a cloudless sky if it is cold enough. They are often the result of the water vapor in clouds freezing around minute specks of floating matter like soil or ash. If falling through warmer air, snowflakes may change to rain.

FOR YOU TO DO: Take a bit of black velvet out when it's snowing and match some flakes. Look at them quickly through a magnifying glass before they melt.

De Gaulle, Kiesinger End Two Days of Talks

PARIS (AP) — President Charles de Gaulle and West German Chancellor Kurt Georg Kiesinger today wound up two days of talks that both hope will launch a new era of good feelings between Bonn and Paris.

The visit was Kiesinger's first trip abroad since assuming office Dec. 1. The 61-year-old chancellor has pledged to try to revitalize the 1963 Franco-German cooperation treaty without harming relations with Washington.

After the initial meeting of the two leaders Friday, it appeared the emotional aspects of Franco-German rapprochement following World War II had given way to a more practical view.

The French described the talks as frank and cordial. The Germans said the discussions were to the point and free of any philosophical discourses.

In a television interview, Kiesinger said he and de Gaulle were not in accord on all problems, but that there was a wide area of common ground.

At a French Foreign Ministry dinner Friday night, Kiesinger said, "We do not expect anything spectacular but the realization and application of the French-German treaty."

The French have been cool toward the pro-American policies of Kiesinger's predecessor, Ludwig Erhard. Bonn and Paris still have conflicting views about what Paris calls West Germany's special relationship with the United States.

At the dinner, Kiesinger conceded that Bonn may well be to blame for the decline in relations since Chancellor Konrad Adenauer left office in 1963.

On Greek Island

Global Medical Center

WASHINGTON — The sun-drenched Greek island of Kos is turning into a doctor's paradise.

An international medical center will be completed late in 1967. The center on the 111-square-mile Aegean island associated with Hippocrates will include a "palace of medicine," a medical school, clinics, and laboratories.

The project is supported by the Greek government and private funds.

At five-year intervals, according to plans, doctors will gather on Kos to exchange views at a Congress on Medicine and Surgery. "For the first time in history," a spokesman said, "top medical scientists from many countries have found their common grounds from which they will tell the world of their efforts against pain and death."

HOME OF MEDICINE

In a sense, world doctors will be coming to their spiritual home, the National Geographic Society says.

Hippocrates (c. 460-370 B. C.), the so-called "Father of Medicine," was probably born on Kos; he reputedly practiced and taught there. The temple-hospital of Asklepios was the Mayo Clinic of its day.

The Boy Scouts of America was founded on February 8, 1910.
