Raincoats Ready? Expect Showers for Thursday

Chances are our sunny skies of the past week will become cloudy tonight with showers dropping in some time Thursday. The low will be a mild 55 tonight.

For the next five days temperatures will average near the normal high of 60-64 degrees. Thursday will continue in the 40s. Thursday but temperatures will turn cooler Friday with only minor day to day changes thereafter.

Hits Union Drive for Registrants

Denouncing registration efforts by unions as making a "mockery" of union claims of nonpartisan political action, the Republican chairman of Oakland County has called upon the legislature to change election laws "to outlaw such flagrant attempts to manipulate the registration process for partisan purposes."

Quemoy-Matsu Issue Now Big in Campaign

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon is back in his home territory today, confident he now has an issue that will help push him into the White House.

Nixon will spend three and a half days in his native California, and it's almost certain that in each speech he will insist he is right — and Sen. John F. Kennedy, his Democratic foe, is wrong — about policy for Quemoy and Matsu.

Today he has a comparatively light schedule; a trip out to Burbank to record television film clips and a couple of picnics late in the afternoon and tonight, at Long Beach and at Knott's Berry Farm.

Thursday comes the third round of the big television debate between Nixon and Kennedy.

Nixon has gone halfway around the world to latch onto his issue, two tiny islands, off the coast of China. He is sure to hammer away at this theme.

That Kennedy is wrong — and engaging in "naive and woolly" thinking that could lead to war — when he says the defense line should be pulled back to the sea.

Herbert G. Klein, Nixon's press secretary, said Tuesday night the campaign seems to be settling down to international issues, and two hours would provide plenty of time to explore them.

What's in store for the county wasn't revealed, either by Mackie or any of his top aides. "We've been so busy the first five years that we haven't definitely settled on the projects," Mackie said in a press conference following the tour.

Red China Ally Felled by Young Right-Winger

TOKYO (AP) — A fanatic right-wing student who today assassinated the Socialist party chairman, Inejiro Asanuma, an avowed friend of Communist China and the militant leader of Japanese opposition to the U.S.-Japan alliance.

The assassin, a slender Otaya Yamaguchi, 17, stabbed Asanuma twice with a foot-long samurai sword as Asanuma spoke to a political forum on clean campaign practices.

Members of the audience hurled the youth to the floor and carried him off to police headquarters.

A leftist throng of 10,000 marched on police headquarters and broke into the offices of Prime Minister Hayato Ikeda, demanding Ikeda's resignation.

Police reported that the young killer confessed he had plotted the assassination for the past three days and said he had no accomplice.

Police said he told them Asanuma was a traitor who was trying to sell Japan to the Communists.

The assassination, first of major political figure in postwar Japan, shocked a nation which had only four months ago elected from left-wing disorders and violence surrounding the passage of a new military treaty with the United States.

Hot Rodders Pick Wrong Guy for Drag

"To hot-rodgers who wanted 'the drag' with the flashy white convertible on Woodward Avenue Tuesday evening realized they had picked the wrong driver."

It was the wrong man, all right. An irate George F. Taylor, Oakland County prosecutor, informed Royal Oak police yesterday that his new car had attracted more than one teenage hot rodder between 11-Mile Road and Birmingham.

Four cars sidled up to him on his northward journey, Taylor told Capt. James Soule, and four times youngsters within them raced their motors as he sped to a meeting of police officers and judges.

Taylor said Soule's reply was to call a court order to determine if a crackdown is needed. As far as Taylor was concerned, a study wasn't necessary.

Honor Boys Club Teams Friday Night

Boys who take part in the summer baseball program at the Pontiac Boys Club will be feted at an annual party at the Pontiac Federal Savings & Loan Association building on West Huron Street Friday at 6 p.m. The firm sponsors the baseball activities.

Wool and human hair are rich in sulphur content.

bers of the Detroit Tigers are expected to be the honored guests. Henson, a young baseball fan who recently had a deformed foot amputated, will be made an honorary member of the Boys Club. Awards will be presented to the top teams. The Tiger players will talk, answer questions and sign autographs.

Dick Wilson will serve as toastmaster for the program.

New Voters Help Jack, Henry Jackson Boasts

INDIANAPOLIS (UPI) — Democratic National Chairman Henry Jackson said Tuesday heavy voter registration around the nation is helping Sen. John F. Kennedy's presidential bid.

"If the election were held today, Kennedy would win, and he's gaining strength," Jackson said at a news conference. He estimated that 70 to 80 per cent of new registrations are Democrats.

Nikita Nearly Scuffles With Spaniard at U.N.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI) — Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev almost tangled last night with a Spanish delegate who shouted and shook his finger in the Russian leader's face.

When Khrushchev ended a belligerent, arm-waving harangue that nearly threw the General Assembly into turmoil, Jose Luis Perez Ruiz, a secretary of the Spanish Embassy, approached the Soviet premier as he took his seat.

Ruiz shook his finger to Khrushchev's face and shouted what some observers translated as "We don't like you."

Khrushchev angrily leaned forward and waved his finger at the Spanish official, and shouted back.

Johnson Gets Russell Boost

Lodge Enters Full Day of Campaigning in NY Before Going South

By United Press International
Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson's folksy bid for the heart and hand of Southern voters got a shot in the arm today from Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., one of the South's top legislative strategists.

His nephew Robert Russell, a member of Johnson's whistle-stop retinue, gave Georgia voters the gist of the senator's feeling at an Atlanta rally Tuesday night.

Georgia Gov. Ernest Vandiver introduced Johnson there and Sen. Herman E. Talmadge, D-Ga., was one of the crowd, estimated by police at about 2,000 which crowded onto the tracks.

Republican vice-presidential candidate Henry Cabot Lodge had a full day of campaigning in New York planned today.

REVIEWS PARADE

Tuesday he campaigned in California and boarded a jet plane for New York.

Lodge will review the annual Columbus Day parade and Tuesday night will attend a street rally in Harlem. Thursday he was scheduled to visit Norfolk, Va., and Winston-Salem, N.C.

As the Democratic vice-presidential candidate rolled his campaign train southward, Johnson's aides, with Russell's blessing, made public a letter from the Georgia legislator describing Johnson as "the ablest legislator who has served in Congress for the last half century."

"Lyndon Johnson is capable of filling with notable distinction any position in the gift of American people," Russell said.

His letter was written to the president of Mercer University in Macon, Ga., where Johnson is to speak tonight.

Before drafting the letter, Russell's statements on the presidential campaign had been confined to a one-sentence statement that he planned to vote Democratic as usual.

While the letter made no specific mention of previous campaign candidate John F. Kennedy, its tone and substance was clearly a significant step by Russell.

Nixon Sure Debates Will Stay

By MERRILMAN SMITH
LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Backstage at the political campaign: Approaching the third "great debate" on television from here Thursday night, Vice President Richard M. Nixon is firmly convinced that this form of face-to-face interchange between presidential candidates has become a feature of American political life.

The Republican candidate is well aware that the situation might become complicated in a race between an incumbent president and a challenger, but he still believes the pattern of TV debates will continue.

In the past, there has been some what of a tradition in American politics that an incumbent president did not debate an opponent or even appear on the same platform with a contender for campaign purposes.

Nixon believes the impact of the present series of joint appearances with Sen. John F. Kennedy has changed the traditional patterns of the past.

He said in Milwaukee the other night on a local TV show, "pressures from the public now will be such that I think for all campaigns in the future the two presidential candidates will appear together on television."

If the vice president is right, this could produce quite a change in political organization — a change indicated even this year in the great debate over makeup, air conditioning, lighting and scenery that marked the second Nixon-Kennedy appearance.

By 1964, the makeup man may be a bigger cog in a presidential campaign organization than the speech writer.

Remember the exclamations with President Eisenhower added TV star and producer Robert Montgomery to his staff? Just think how

U.S. to Prod Russia About Missing Men

ANN ARBOR (UPI)—U.S. Rep. George Meader said he has been informed that the State Department intends to prod Russia for more information on the fate of two American tourists missing in Russia.

The missing men are Mark Kaminisky of Ann Arbor and Edwarda burg, and Harvey Bennett of Bath, Maine.

Meader said he had been told by the State Department that it is Stephen A. Douglas, who managed instructing U.S. Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson in Moscow to press nothing more than a pitcher of for a speedy reply from the Russians on U.S. inquiries about the men.

With color television growing rapidly, future presidents may have to employ their own fashion designers to achieve the right color balance in costume for campaign debates.

These possibilities are no more far-fetched than a public address system amplifier would have seemed to Abraham Lincoln and Stephen A. Douglas, who managed to debate rather effectively with nothing more than a pitcher of water in the way of production assistance.

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — Scientists today studied radio data in an attempt to find out what caused a high-altitude fizzle in the maiden flight of an advanced-model Atlas missile — half of an air force "doubleheader" space effort which flopped Tuesday.

The Atlas, a new "E" version equipped with the most powerful military rocket engines ever built in the free world, fell far short of its planned 5,000-mile goal after an apparently normal launch. About two hours later, the Air Force fired its first Samos "spy in the sky" satellite from Point Arguello, Calif. The 2,000-pound satellite, designed as a replacement for the U2 spy plane, failed to go into orbit, although its Atlas booster appeared to perform normally.

More launches of both the Atlas "E" and the Samos satellites after Friday as scientists have pinpointed the difficulties responsible for yesterday's setbacks.

Reminded to Tear Down Illegal Political Signs

LANSING (AP)—All political advertising signs found within the highway right-of-way should be removed immediately, the State Highway Department reminded its maintenance crews Tuesday.

The department also asked county road commissions which maintain state highways on a contract basis to do the same.

Show-Stopper Judy to Undergo Surgery

NEW YORK (AP)—An operation on star Judy Holiday's throat has been tentatively scheduled to be performed the latter part of this week.

Miss Holiday's attorney, Arnold Kravaker, said the surgery might take place "Thursday or Friday, or perhaps next Monday." In the meantime she is being given tests and treated at an unnamed hospital.

The ailment, described only as "a throat condition," caused Miss Holiday to withdraw last week from a Broadway-bound play.

"Laurette." The production, which was trying out in Philadelphia, was subsequently canceled.

Kravaker said that more information about the ailment might be disclosed following the operation. He said the name of the hospital was being withheld "to protect her from autograph hunters."

South African Minority Takes Backward Step

In a referendum for white voters only, South Africans approved Prime Minister HENDRIK VERWOERD's proposal to form a republic. The 1.8 million whites settled the future of 15 million people in the Union, including their domestic affairs and their relations with the rest of the world.

As a republic, South Africa could apply for readmission to the Commonwealth, which Dr. VERWOERD has indicated it would. However, its racial discrimination laws would appear to bar readmission which can only come by unanimous vote of the other members including India, Pakistan, Ghana, Nigeria and Malaysia.

The root issue goes back 60 years when English settlers demanded citizenship in South Africa and the Boer Assembly refused. War resulted in which the Dutch (Afrikaners) were defeated. The Boers, incidentally, received very favorable terms.

Dr. VERWOERD's Nationalist party, which never has had a clear electoral majority, is opposed by Sir DE VILLIERS GRAFF's United party made up of South Africans of British descent and some Afrikaners who have pro-British leanings. The United party fought against turning South Africa into a republic (fearing a fascist state), favored a modified form of racial segregation and court reviews of the constitutionality of laws.

Americans are directly interested in the outcome. Over $800 million of U.S. money is invested in South African agriculture, industry and mining. Our exports to the Union are valued at $342 million a year. Newly independent African nations also will be watching our reaction to the referendum.

If Dr. Verwoerd interprets the results as an endorsement of his racial policies and police state tactics, worse days are ahead for this stubborn man, who hasn't felt the winds of change sweeping Africa, and for his country.

Holy Bible's Importance Observed October 17-23

Figures show the Holy Bible holds the all time record sales title of any book. Fifteen million Bibles are sold in the United States alone each year. Prices will range from $1 to $300 depending on the book.

What many may not know is that the Bible is sold a great deal by door-to-door salesmen who earn up to $30,000 a year. They indicate that the market seemingly is never exhausted. This is good.

The arrival of National Bible Week coming October 17 to 23 calls attention to the many dedicated groups that will be working to circulate the Holy Scriptures throughout the world.

According to the American Bible Society, the entire Bible has been published in 215 languages; the complete New Testament in 273 additional tongues; and at least a Gospel or other whole book of the Bible has been published in 648 languages.

During 1959, this one society distributed at home and abroad 1.1 million Bibles, 1.8 million New Testaments, and 14.7 million Gospels and other portions all at or below actual cost.

In its 143 years, the Society has supplied more than 43 million copies of the Scriptures to the U.S. armed forces, most recently to the nuclear submarine fleet.

What better reading could any of us have than the Bible? If we were to follow just a part of what we learn from reading the Holy Bible we would all make far better citizens.

The slogan for this year's National Bible Week observance is: "The Bible—Strength of Our Nation." The forthrightness and meaning of this statement is something we should all deeply believe in.

The Man About Town

Frost Not So Bad

Most Crops Had Reached a Point of General Maturity

Columbus: A man who'd hardly recognize the place in such a political campaign.

We've had some heavy frosts in the Pontiac area, but the damage is not serious. Most farmers report that their corn, potatoes and other fall crops were ready for it.

While very little corn has been harvested, the damage is slight. The frosts make practically as good silage as when green. The only loss is in the breaking of the dry leaves in handling.

With potatoes, most fields are actually helped by the frosts, as they dry up the vines and make digging much easier. However, in some fields the tubers had not reached a ripened maturity, and might have grown a little larger.

David Lawrence Says:

Dems Exploiting 'Religious Issue'

WASHINGTON—Who is exploiting the so-called religious issue now? This question arises because the Democratic National Committee and some labor union organizations are spending many thousands of dollars to broadcast, over various television stations, the speech made by Sen. Kennedy a month ago at Houston, Tex.

But it was President Franklin D. Roosevelt, a Protestant, who sent a special envoy to the Vatican, and President Truman, another Protestant, who asked Congress to authorize permanent diplomatic representation by this government at the Vatican.

Also, in the current campaign, Henry Cabot Lodge, the Republican vice presidential nominee, has announced that he favors federal aid to parochial schools in the form of money for textbooks and bus transportation, which is something that Sen. Kennedy opposes.

Does all this mean that a Protestant in the White House would do more for Catholic causes than a Catholic who is president?

It has been widely reported that the so-called religious issue is being talked about a good deal in the South, but less of a factor in the North. Yet, of the stations selected for the paid broadcast, most of those chosen by the Democratic National Committee and its labor union auxiliaries are in the North, including New York City where there is a heavy Catholic population.

This has brought up the question as to whether there now is a campaign effort to keep the issue alive and to take advantage of the natural resentment many Catholics feel when the so-called religious issue is raised.

The Kennedy forces have been criticized hitherto for allegedly using the issue to prove that a Catholic can gain votes by it.

Thus, at the 1956 national convention of the Democratic party at Chicago, when the Massachusetts senator came within a few votes of winning the vice presidential nomination—there had been circulated among the delegates a staff memorandum prepared by the Kennedy managers claiming that the nomination of a Catholic would be politically a distinct advantage to the party.

GAVE VOTER BREAKDOWN This memorandum gave statistical details of voting strength in several areas where there is a large number of Catholics in the population.

Sen. Kennedy himself has said a number of times in the current campaign that he doesn't want anyone to vote for him because of his religion.

There is an understandable resentment, however, over the raising of the so-called religious issue.

Sen. Kennedy, in the prepared statement which he read at the opening of his Houston speech, declared that "if this election is decided on the basis that so many millions of Americans lost their chance of being president on the day they were baptized, then it is the whole nation that will be the loser, in the eyes of Catholics and non-Catholics."

Dr. William Brady Says: Modern Birth Methods Date Back to 19th Century

"My first delivery was a pleasure, as it was natural," says a Connecticut reader. "My second, they knocked me out and said the baby was coming too fast. I still haven't found out if it was for the baby's good, for my good or for the doctor who couldn't get there in time. But I know I'll never again go to a hospital."

A California reader says she arrived in the hospital about 11 p.m. "A sleepy doctor came to examine me. He told me angrily to stop bawling down with the pains. I waited all night and early morning alone and frightened."

A Pennsylvania reader says: "... but that wasn't the worst DR. BRADY performed. I heard that there were some babies in the nursery with diarrhea and they were having difficulty trying to prevent spread of it to other babies. My baby got it and then they thought I could care for the baby better at home ... but he had chronic diarrhea for a year and he was never healthy and happy as my other children were—they were born at home."

Infectious (communicable) diarrhea is just one of the hazards of hospital childbirth. 19th century hospitals, which are hospitals that make a practice of snatching the newborn baby from mother's arms and filling the unwanted offspring in the show window alongside the other abandoned waifs, like deserted puppies in a pet shop window for the amusement of passers-by.

A nurse's aid, near-nurse or probationer busily moves from one pup—I mean one infant to another, passing around whatever germs are present. This is how infectious diarrhea is spread from one infant to another.

And infectious diarrhea has killed too many newborn babies in 19th century show window "nurseries."

Doctors who refuse to attend childbirth unless the patient goes to the hospital chub, if they will make hospitalization less hazardous for mother and child by insisting on "rooming-in"—that is, keeping the newborn baby at the mother's side and under her care, with a minimum of interference by nurses and other hospital attendants. Of course this means closing the newborn nursery permanently, and the old timers will hate to see it go.

A Texas reader says: "I begged for the day-shift doctor. He finally came and ordered me taken to the delivery room."

The nurse scolded me and ordered me to pant like a dog, as she held a stethoscope against the baby's head and pushed back on it. I

'Election Defeat Could Be Profitable to Kennedy'

It's a strange thing to say, but I believe Sen. Kennedy would profit by defeat in the coming election. He would get his mind out of the glamour of the top position in our government and think before he makes statements and promises. He would then be more mature and successful in any other line of endeavor he pursues, because he does have talent for oratory.

On the other hand, Vice President Nixon with his humility in this campaign, would prove to himself and to the people of the U. S. that a campaign can be won without slandering. He has great courage. We need his calm firmness, which carries as much weight both here and abroad in this crucial hour, for president of this great nation.

Lists Differences in Socialist, Dem

To inform "Steamy" of the differences between a Socialist and a Democrat I have listed some of the more salient points of the Socialist Workers Party's platform: (1) No taxes on incomes under $7,500 a year (2) No federal party for 48 hours (3) Immediate integration of schools (4) Support the Cuban revolution (5) Immediate disarmament (6) End to all forms of racial discrimination in both public and private services (7) Recognize the government of the People's Republic of China.

I would like to urge the working people of this community to give their support to the ticket of Farrell Dobbs and Myra Tanner Weiss on election day, for they represent the only American political party that is dedicated to the interests of the working people.

Rigid De Gaulle Makes Life Rough for His Allies

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign Editor

The world may change by President Charles de Gaulle never changes.

De Gaulle, confident of his mandate from the French people and equally confident of his own inflexibility, faces massive problems with an imperturbable will that less men admire and envy.

But even his friends must occasionally sigh and say with the Sir Winston Churchill of nearly 20 years ago that the greatest cross they have to bear is the Cross of Lorraine, the symbol by which De Gaulle identifies himself with Joan of Arc, the maid of Orleans.

In recent days, the world has seen the Soviet Union throw its most massive guns against the United Nations, a foundation stone in the foreign policy of both the United States and Great Britain.

There is majority agreement that Soviet proposals for reorganization of the United Nations would destroy its already limited effectiveness and transform it into an arm of the Kremlin.

Yet, through ridicule and outspoken contempt, De Gaulle has demonstrated he, too, is ready to destroy it.

Equally, he has demonstrated his readiness to destroy the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO), the West's main line of defense against Communist encroachments.

On the one hand, he contemptuously describes the United Nations as the "Disunited Nations" and promises to disregard any action bearing on Algeria.

On the other, he seeks to submerge the wishes of NATO's small members, demands a veto in U.S., British and French use of nuclear weapons and insists that French NATO forces must remain under his control.

Each contains the seeds of destruction. De Gaulle's friends will concede to him a right he refuses to grant, the right to dissent.

It should come as no surprise for that has been De Gaulle's way since the grim days of France's fall in World War II.

No nation can dictate to De Gaulle, for his nation shall be defended.

Over great opposition at home and from the Algerian settlers of European descent, he has declared a policy of self-determination for Algeria.

Other former French African possessions have availed themselves of the same opportunity and this year have taken their places among the new, free nations of Africa.

On his record, De Gaulle will keep his word on Algeria.

But, meanwhile, also on his record, he opens himself to charges of furthering a decaying colonialism. And by his unbending attitude he makes it difficult for his friends to come to his defense.

When skies have angry overtones ... And hear the wild winds cull ... I love to walk on bitter days ... When it is damp in fall ... When I can breathe the bracing cold ... And hear the wild winds cull ... I love to walk on darkened days ... When lampposts light the way ... When everything is gray and slick ... And coldness comes to stay ... I love to walk on all these days ... When autumn comes to life ... But I would turn it even more ... If also did my wife.

Menopause Fear Causes Belittling

Myrna opposes everything her husband says. And she has even started belittling all her neighbors and accusing them of hating her. But Myrna's behavior is just a "smoke screen" to cover up a widespread terror of women past 40, as scrapbook this clinical case. And send for the sex booklet below.

CASE F-483: Myrna F., age 44, is a pain in the neck to her husband.

"Myrna disagrees with everything I say," he complains. "I say, 'This is a pain in the neck to her husband.'"

"And he infuriated if I try to tell her what she is doing."

"In fact, the word 'No' acts like the proverbial red flag to her."

"She seems determined to prove me wrong about everything. It is almost a mania with her."

And his attack on other kids was based on his secret belief that he was inferior to them because of his meanness.

Myrna tries to belittle them. And she imagines that everybody is against her. Her suspicions are becoming so chronic, I wonder if she isn't losing her mind."

Daddy of Super Routes Turns 20

Time Takes Tiny Toll of Turnpike

HARRISBURG, Pa. (UPI)—The Pennsylvania Turnpike, that father of the nation's system of high-speed toll roads, is 20 years old, and whisking more and more traffic east and west each year through some of the country's most beautiful scenery.

The turnpike turned 20 the first of this month, and since its opening Oct. 1, 1940, has been driven by more than 200 million vehicles.

Even at its age, the turnpike still attracts the sightseeing driver—the one who will get on and drive a few interchanges just to take in the scenery.

That's particularly true at this time of year when the trees are turning every imaginable color and the views driving through the Alleghenies are nothing short of spectacular.

Even rolling along at speeds which allow you to measure distances in minutes instead of miles, you don't have much chance to miss the scenery—towns and built up areas are few and far between.

The turnpike also goes into two major Pennsylvania resort areas, the main route to the Bedford mountain vacationland, and the Northeast Extension into the famous Poconos.

Turnpike driving, in Pennsylvania and in many other states that followed its lead, is pretty much taken for granted now. But the Pennsylvania Turnpike was something of a seven-day wonder when it first opened.

Having traveled the original 160-mile stretch from Irwin, outside Pittsburgh, to Carlisle, near Harrisburg, as long as 19 years ago, one can still remember the driver's unbelieving reaction at driving onto the dual highway and catching sight of the sign reading: "Speed Limit 70." And that was a bit of a come down from the original no-speed-limit policy.

The speed limit has changed several times since then—it's 65 miles an hour now—and so has the turnpike. The highway was extended east to Philadelphia and the Delaware River, and west to the Ohio line, spanning 359 miles across the state.

Then the Northeast Extension was built from near Philadelphia 110 miles to Scranton.

Plans for a northern cross-state turnpike with extensions lifting off both ends in several places were dropped after 1954 passage of the Federal Interstate Highway Act, which provides public money for road construction.

The turnpike's $338 million construction cost was financed through sale of bonds, which are repaid from tolls.

An official of the Turnpike Commission estimated that to start from scratch and duplicate the highway today would cost nearly $1 billion.

IT'S A BARGAIN

The traveler gets a relative bargain on the Pennsylvania Turnpike, paying only about one cent a mile, while on some toll roads the cost goes to nearly 2.5 cents a mile. And although other tolls have gone up since 1940, the toll rate has never been increased.

Admittedly, after 20 years, a 27-mile stretch of original pavement between Blue Mountain and Carlisle is showing its age.

But otherwise the turnpike is snoring riding the rest of its length. The last of the original paving will be replaced by next year or the year after.

This year more than 30 million vehicles will have traveled the turnpike in a 12-month span. Some doing for a super highway that critics said would be a financial flop when it was first planned.

If it had flopped, there wouldn't

Navy Puts Clamps on Polaris Testing

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—For the first time in nearly three years, newsmen will be barred from reporting a U.S. ballistic missile shot. The Navy offers no explanation why information will be withheld on a series—of Polaris—submarine launches.

The atomic submarine Patrick Henry waits at nearby Port Canaveral to cruise submerged to an undisclosed position far out in the Atlantic. There it will begin a series of shots aimed at increasing the range of the Polaris missile.

The Navy said it will not inform the press in advance of the launches, nor will it report test results.

When protesting newsmen asked why, the only answer was that the firings "will approximate operational conditions by elimination of certain restrictions necessarily imposed to protect populated areas."

Great Britain Protests Detention of Diplomats

LONDON (UPI)—The British Foreign Office disclosed Wednesday that Soviet militiamen detained two British diplomats for taking photographs of department store shoppers in the Ukraine. A spokesman said Britain was protesting to the Soviets over the incident, which occurred Sept. 28 in Odessa.

New Nation Far From Being a Congo

Nigeria Clamors for U.S. Trade

By GARE KAMOWITZ

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
NEW YORK (NEA)—Alongside its independence banner, Nigeria is putting up an "open for business" sign.

As Ghana has done before, and as other African nations indicate they will do when they gain independence, Nigeria is trying to lure American trade to its shores.

And although steeped in tribal tradition, the newly independent are using good, old-fashioned American traditions in their business campaign—the sales pitch, the hard and soft sell.

In many ways, for example, a Nigerian Independence fete in New York was similar to an American trade convention.

MAKE PITCH

Brochures were distributed which any chamber of commerce would be proud of. One is titled "What Nigeria's Independence Today Means to Your Company Tomorrow."

And behind their bright smiles and underneath their tribal robes, Nigerians in business suits made their pitch.

They invited businessmen to a type of function that usually is graced solely by diplomats and members of the press.

Except for a complimentary feast to the British Queen, the affair stressed Nigerian-American ties. The featured guest speaker was not a Britisher, but an American Congressman, New York's Adam Clayton Powell.

Ask a Nigerian about the British Commonwealth, or the Communist bloc, and he'll immediately tell you how much he loves America. To a Nigerian, the key word is not neutrality, communism or capitalism; it is "stability."

"Nigeria is one; don't talk about three separate regions please," one member of the consulate here said. Nigeria is a federation of three regions, each in various stages of industrial development.

They impress upon you that what happened in the Congo to outside business interests will not happen in Nigeria.

More Speakers Listed on U.N. Policy Debate

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)

Thirteen speakers remain to be heard in the U.N. General Assembly's policy debate. Frederick J. B. Boland, assembly president, declared the speakers' list closed with these nations still to be heard: Mali, Sweden, Ceylon, Costa Rica, Laos, Cameroon, France, El Salvador, Union of South Africa, Mexico, Nigeria and India.

The speaker says: "There is no, and there will not be, confederation or further nationalization in Nigeria. We want to trade with you, not expropriate your property."

As the show goes on, Americans are stopped by Africans of other lands, ready to promote Africa as a continent and their own nations as prospective business sites. A man from Basutoland, a tiny British colony entirely surrounded by the Union of South Africa, in a bright blue robe, says:

"Come to Africa. We need you. We need technicians, scholarship exchanges, Africa must learn what America is; you must learn what Africa is. Personal exchange will do far more to promote good will than will government exchange."

For further information, the Nigerian brochure informs you, you can write or call Mr. Samuel O. Odi, head of trade and investment at the Nigeria Office in New York.

"The only way to have a friend is to be one"

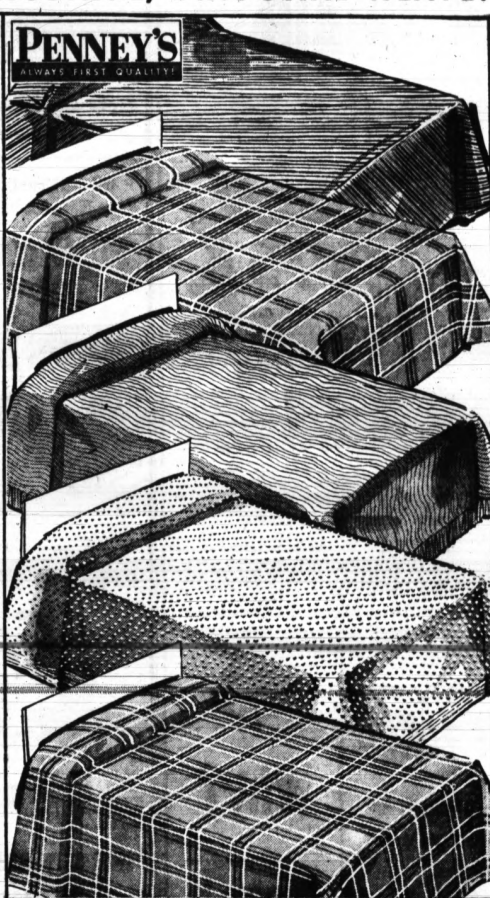

And I can't think of a better way of being a friend than to offer you the finest Kentucky Bourbon for less than you'd expect. That's the Dant way since 1836. Bye now, Newt Kook, President Dant Distillery Co., Dant, Ky.

PET DOCTOR

Q. Our eight-year-old dog is suddenly drinking large amounts of water and is losing weight. Are we correct in suspecting diabetes? Mrs. L.A.I., of Baldwin, Me.

A. The symptoms you describe ARE indicative of diabetes Mellitus that occurs in dogs. There is also increased urination, and some cases emit a peculiar, acetone-like odor. Accompanying eye trouble is not unusual with this disease either.

Diabetes is caused by a disease of the pancreas which prevents the dog from producing enough insulin to keep his blood sugar at an even level. Part of the treatment is total abstinence from sweets.

Although severe cases require insulin or one of the new anti-diabetic drugs, mild cases are often treated with just a bland diet of meat and milk fed three times a day.

Diagnosis should be confirmed by a urine and blood examination, for if this disease is not treated, there will be progressive weakness, eventual coma, and death.

AAA Head Gives Warning Against Freeway Foes

CLEVELAND (U)—Frederick T. McGuire Jr., president of the American Automobile Association, warned 1,000 motor club delegates at the organization's 38th annual meeting Tuesday of what he called a current campaign against freeways in favor of public transit interests.

McGuire said the campaign is being carried on by "some mass public transit interests, some planners, some theorists including sociologists and economists, some dissident groups displeased with one phase or another of a highway project, at least one industrial concern, and some public officials who would rather see the urban highway program wrecked or indefinitely delayed than have one penny come from a source other than the pockets of highway users."

Sorry, Mr. K -- Doesn't Go That Way

Love My Interpreter... Love Me?

NEW YORK (UPI)—Fan letters were pouring in today for a one-shot television star from Moscow, the handsome Russian who is the voice of Nikita S. Khrushchev in New York.

Victor Sukhodrev, 27, is the Soviet premier's English-language interpreter. When he is good he is very good and when he goes, it's a lulu.

But through it all, in fair Khrushchev temper or foul, Sukhodrev does his job of expressing in clear, crisp English what Khrushchev is saying in Russian.

Sukhodrev is handsome enough to be in show business and to some extent he was, for two hours Sunday night while he translated for Khrushchev on the latter's TV appearance in New York.

Fame is new to Sukhodrev who goes unnoticed in Moscow. But since Sunday night Americans have written him "asking whether I use shorthand and how I learned English."

"No proposals or movie offers yet," he added.

He is married to an actress, Ina, his second wife. He has a 5-year-old son by his first marriage.

He uses a homemade shorthand of abbreviations in both Russian and English when he works.

His nearly flawless English, delivered in almost an American accent, was acquired in London from 1934-35 while his father was a member of a Soviet trade mission there.

Sukhodrev polished up his linguistics with five years study in Moscow's Foreign Language Institute.

He went into the foreign ministry translators pool and soon wound up as "tongue" for numerous Russian leaders.

This is his seventh trip to the United States.

To illustrate the importance of his work, there has been trouble three times on this trip because of misunderstandings of words.

Once Sukhodrev translated "sit" as "force," making it appear that Khrushchev would use force to have his way. Later, the word was corrected to the more proper "strength."

On his TV show, Khrushchev bristled when Sukhodrev translated for him: "The interrogator David Suskind said he was 'baying at the moon.'" The phrase in Russian sounds more offensive.

Similarly, Suskind bristled when Khrushchev suggested he "throw that garbage" out of his mind.

In Russian, garbage has no bad connotation, said Sukhodrev. Khrushchev meant "clear your head of cobwebs," he said.

"Slips are unavoidable," he said. "I'm a human being, not a machine. I don't translate word for word, I translate the thought."

His dark wavy hair never seems to get ruffled, even when reporters shoot questions at him.

He said he translates in the first person to get across the flavor of the speaker and tries to give the same inflection as Khrushchev.

To relax, Sukhodrev reads American detective stories.

SCRAMBLER—Telephone "scrambler" converts speaker's voice into unintelligible jargon for everybody but a person with an identical device at the other end of the line. It's designed to frustrate wire tappers and eavesdropping in general. Alan B. Simpkins demonstrates in Palo Alto, France. They're sold in matched pairs.

Two towers as tall as 60-story buildings support the 4,200 foot central span of the Golden Gate bridge.

Eichmann's Lawyer Finds Him Looking Well

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP)—Lawyer Robert Servatius saw his client Adolf Eichmann Tuesday for the second time and said he found him contented and looking well. Servatius has been retained by Eichmann's family to defend him on charges of directing the mass extermination of 6 million Jews during World War II.

Cocaine was used in the first spinal anesthesia.

Journey Into Crime

Gentle Scoundrel Baffles Police

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the 13th installment of an international crime column from "Journey Into Crime," a new book by Don Whitehead. (See time Pulitzer Prize winner.)

By DON WHITEHEAD

Crime is not always greed and terror. Karl Peglow was a legendary figure in German counterfeiting, and yet it wasn't wealth he sought. His ambition was nothing less than world recognition as an artist. How well he succeeded is told here.

"On your feet, Peglow," the guard ordered. "The Chief wants to see you."

Karl Peglow scrambled to his feet, a rumped, formless, middle-aged man with a wispy mustache and vague, near-sighted eyes. He followed the guard down the corridor, trying desperately to think why he should be summoned before prison authority. Usually it means trouble and Peglow wanted no trouble.

He was shown into the office of Herr Schmidt, who said in a normal bellow, "Well, Peglow..."

The voice made Peglow cringe inside. Loud, rasping voices always did.

"...are you a mechanic?"

Peglow, taken by surprise, stammered, "I am an artist."

Schmidt's laugh boomed out and Peglow blushed again.

"Artist?" Schmidt said. "Yes,

I know. You are an artist at counterfeiting. But I hear you can repair radios. Can you?"

Peglow said he knew something about radios, if they weren't too complicated.

"Good," Schmidt said, rising.

"Come with me."

As they walked toward Herr

Schmidt's home near the prison,

Schmidt explained he had a good radio but something had gone wrong with it.

This wasn't surprising, he added,

because his wife kept the damned thing blaring low songs from morning until night.

Schmidt led Peglow into the living room of his home. "There it is," he said. "You will find tools in the basement. I'll be back at 5."

"And don't get any smart ideas like running away." His thick fingers gripped Peglow's neck

A FELON IN LOVE

Peglow soon found the trouble,

a broken connection which could be repaired in a few minutes. He was starting to work when he turned and saw a woman standing at the door, her hands nervously smoothing her apron. She was small, trim and middle-aged.

She had obviously been a pretty creature before life had given her that frightened look.

"I'm Frau Schmidt," the woman came into a low voice. "Don't mind me. Go on with your work." She came into the room and sat in a chair near him, looking as though she would take flight if he made any sudden move.

Peglow fumbled with the radio.

"I am a prisoner," he said gruffly.

"But you need not be afraid."

"I'm not afraid," she said.

Peglow said, "I'll have the radio fixed soon. Then you can enjoy listening again to the love songs."

"How do you know what I listen to?" she said. "Did my husband tell you?" Peglow nodded. She said in a flat voice, "One must have companionship—even if it is only the sound of a radio."

Peglow felt a curious sense of apprehension and understanding.

Soon they were telling each other of their past.

Her name was Anna, and she did not seem to think it shocking that when his dreams of becoming

But all these defects became apparent to the unskilled eye only upon a close comparison with legitimate bank notes.

STILL A MYSTERY

Police began the slow task of checking on the activities of ex-convicts and others known to have counterfeited currency. But weeks of effort led only to failure. The identity of Herr X remained as much a secret as ever.

Suddenly the passing of the 10 mark notes stopped. Then a new 10 mark counterfeit note turned up, indistinguishably better in detail than the first series.

A few months later, the central bank at Oberhausen, Westphalia, found a counterfeit 20-mark note which could not be spotted as a phony by the average person without a magnifying glass.

Director Hans Diekhof of the Bundeskriminalamt stepped up the efforts to track down Herr X.

But as 1955 came to an end, there still was no clue.

The hunt was all the more difficult because the counterfeit passed only enough of the false notes to meet his needs. In more than two years, the notes had totaled only $10,497.60 in value.

Then someone told police of having overheard a woman boasting that she would soon have an unlimited supply of 20-mark notes to sell at a fat discount. Police found the boastful woman had once been implicated in the sale of bogus rationing cards. The man who supplied them to her was named Karl Peglow.

Early in the evening of Feb. 19, 1954, two policemen knocked at the Peglow door. The door was opened by Peglow, a flannel nightgown hanging about his bare shanks. Behind him stood Anna, her eyes full of fright.

Peglow protested his innocence, but a search disclosed a hand press, cameras, photographic equipment, and the plates Peglow had used to turn out his works of art.

State officers were present when the Oakland County Dental Auxiliary held its annual membership luncheon Tuesday at the Kingsley Inn. President Mrs. Lewis Gach (at left) of Birmingham greeted new member Mrs. Duane Bigsby of Avondale Avenue and officers Mrs. Oliver C. Applegate of Ann Arbor, state president; and Mrs. Donald A. Kerr of Ann Arbor, state corresponding secretary.

It's Hats On to Auxiliary

Mrs. Keith Schachern of Miami Road, Mrs. Bruce Hubbard of Cherokee Road and Mrs. Peter Hoogerhyde of Chipewa Road.

Dental Unit Sees Top Styles

The annual membership luncheon of the Oakland County Dental Auxiliary featured a fashion showing of fall hats. The setting for the Tuesday afternoon affair was the Kingsley Inn.

Mrs. Raymond Walmoth of Birmingham narrated the showing of hats from Shiller's Hat Shop.

Project chairman Mrs. Ronald Jenkins of the ways and means committee presented a plan for a telephone bridge Nov. 15. Proceeds will be used for dental education in the Oakland County area.

State officers were present and honored at the luncheon.

Church Official to Address Unit

Mrs. John T. Fuller, district secretary of evangelism of the Methodist church, will speak when Adiragete Methodist Church's Women's Society of Christian Service meets at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the church.

"A Christian's Responsibilities" will be the topic of discussion. Hostesses will be Mrs. Arthur Lightcap and Mrs. Cordie Herlim.

Top Tenor Starts Musicales Year

By CHRIS GAENSBAUER
With a tradition of opening its season in October with an outstanding musical artist, program committee members of Pontiac Tuesday Musicales provided members and guests with an artist Tuesday who will be difficult to top.

Soloist was Richard Miller, tenor, of the University of Michigan School of Music. Before taking up a teaching position there, he developed a broad background as a concert and oratorio soloist.

Although still a young man, he has had over 275 operatic performances.

This wealth of experience is most evident in his singing.

He has a fine voice with a wide range and excellent control. His diction in English, French, Italian and German is excellent.

In addition, he can produce a tender, lyrical tone, as in his final number, "Night," by Gretchenoff, or a rafter-ringing climax as in "Meadow" by the same composer.

Mr. Miller has tremendous vocal power, but he uses it with discretion and economy.

'31 Reunion Due

St. Frederick's High School's 31st reunion dinner will be held for a reunion dinner Oct. 22 at the Knights of Columbus Hall.

Five Pages Today in Women's Section always letting the music itself dictate the quality and quantity of sound. Perhaps his most obvious talent, aside from the voice itself, is the extreme dramatic intensity with which he endowed every song.

In his first group of songs by Handel, Mr. Miller displayed the fine lyric quality and straightforward florid singing associated with this composer. Yet he did not ignore the dramatic elements. Singing two French compositions by Henri Duparc with sensitivity and brilliance, Mr. Miller also did an aria of Puccini with verve and brilliance and a tone almost too big for the room.

Completing the program were art songs by the master of German lied, Hugo Wolf. His encore was "On What A Beautiful Morning" from "Oklahoma."

Assisting Mr. Miller at the piano was pianist Charles Fisher of Ann Arbor. It might be said that he costarred with the singer. The program was a taxing one for a pianist and Mr. Fisher was not only technically adept but played some of the most sympathetic accompaniment this listener has heard.

In addition he delighted the audience with two piano solo-schubert improvisations, opus 30, 2 and 3.

Mr. Fisher will return in April as duo-pianist with Eugene Bossart.

GUESTS INTRODUCED
Guests introduced by new president Mrs. James Forman were Francesco DiBlasi, conductor of the Pontiac Symphony, and Stewart Pigman, producing director of the Detroit Theater Arts.

Program chairman of the day Mrs. Roland Gexoux was assisted by door hostesses Mrs. B. B. Kimball and Mrs. K. K. Kreitz.

Presiding at the tea table were Mrs. D. B. Hogue and Mrs. Ferdinand Gaensbauer.

Chairman of the social committee was Mrs. N. W. Gray assisted by co-chairman Mrs. Charles Ulligan and Mrs. C. H. Allen. Mrs. W. O. Kline, Mrs. C. E. Patton, Mrs. F. R. Wood, Mrs. F. G. Schlichter and Mrs. Ericson Lewis.

Mrs. P. H. Kemp and Mrs. A. C. Kirby were the floral committee.

MARIA STRAUGHAN

February rows are planned by Maria Straughan, daughter of the Maitland E. Straughans of Arcadia, Calif., and Ted E. Wiersma, son of the Theodore E. Wiersmas of West Iroquois Road. Both are University of Arizona graduates.

Golden Agers Ready Supper

A cooperative supper has been set for 6:30 Friday at the Waterford Township Community Center by members of the Golden Age Club.

Members and friends have been asked to take table service and a "favorite dish to pass" for the dinner.

Hostesses Mrs. Florence Wallace, Mrs. Oneita Portwood, Mrs. James Pugliese and Mrs. Beatrice Stevens assures everyone there will be plenty of fun and activity for those "past 50."

Needlework Guild Plans Ingathering

Mrs. Edward P. Barrett of Pine Tree Trail, president, opened her home Tuesday morning for a coffee for the Pontiac Chapter of Needlework Guild of America Inc.

The occasion was a meeting of officers, section presidents and directors to plan the group's annual ingathering on Nov. 10 at First Presbyterian Church.

Mrs. William G. Isgrig will be in charge of receiving garments that day with section presidents checking in their directors' items.

The Queen Mary Section will serve British pastries, coffee and tea at 10 a.m. to directors bringing their collection of clothing and linens. All members of this group are of English, Welsh, Irish and Scottish descent.

Mrs. Basil E. Brown gave a brief summary of the local chapter's history.

Although the ingathering is held annually in the First Presbyterian Church, the "needlework guild" is a non-nominational organization. Anyone may join who will promise to contribute, each year if possible, two new garments: the same size, buttons, sleeve, pillow cases, and towels, or money that articles might be purchased.

Clothing may be made at home or purchased. Needed garments include infant clothing, socks, sweaters, skirts, shirts, caps, dresses, pajamas, boy's trousers, underwear, mittens and jackets.

Outing flannel night clothes for elderly men and women will be welcomed as will outing flannel sheets.

Assisting Mrs. Barrett were Mrs. William G. Isgrig, Mrs. Robert G. Isgrig, Mrs. John A. Riley, Mrs. Donald Stearns, Mrs. Williams Rogers, Mrs. Elwood R. Bigler and Mrs. Benjamin Jerome Jr.

Section presidents and directors of the Pontiac Chapter of the Needlework Guild of America Inc. receiving report sheets at a morning coffee in the Pine Tree Trail home of Mrs. Edward P. Barrett were (from left) Mrs. Donald Jacobs, Mrs. Basil A. Brown and Mrs. William J. Dunseith, Mrs. Elwood R. Bigler is seated.

Stabafa Club Has Initiation Ceremony

New members are Judy Bos, Carolyn Gaensbauer, Stephanie Hardenburgh, Nancy Nichol, Donna Darrow and Dona Sharlette.

Others are Rose Tripp, Denise Patton, Nancy Ward, Monica Calhoun, Nancy Lee and Lucy Smith.

The club also extended greetings to a new club sponsor, Mrs. R. L. Bronsel, who will assist Mrs. Basil Brown. Barbara Griffin is junior sponsor.

Sue Rogers of Miami Road was hostess for the club's recent initiation tea.

Annual Dinner Set

The Webber Club's annual dinner and bake sale is slated Thursday at noon in the Gale Road home of Mrs. Tipman Nelsley.

Pattison of Rochester discuss the annual ingathering of the Needlework Guild on Nov. 10 at the First Presbyterian Church. Theme for the annual collection of garments is "One to wash and one to wear."

Cindy Hiltz of Ottawa Drive, club vice president; Janie Bigler of West Iroquois Road, copresident; and Mrs. R. L. Bronsel of Pioneer Drive, sponsor, observed approvingly.

Mothers Reveal Gifts

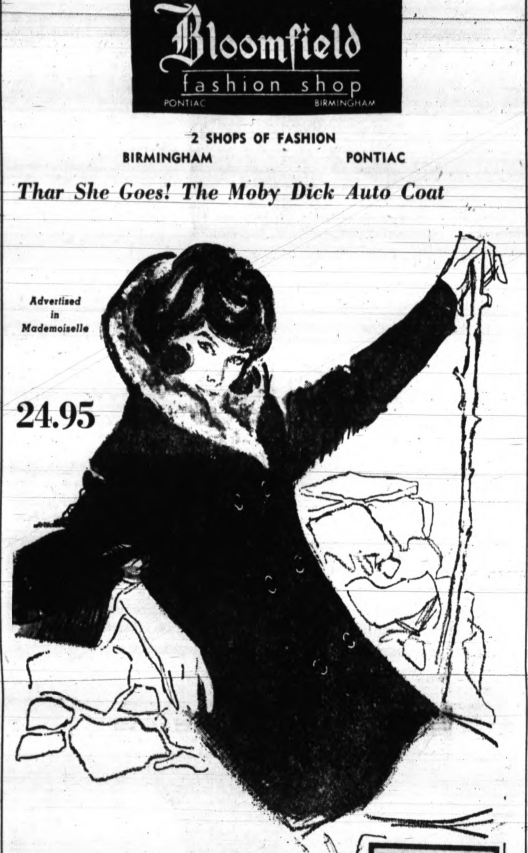

Pontiac Navy Mothers' Club members have voted to contribute again to the Pontiac Symphony Orchestra, the Christmas gift fund for patients at Battle Creek Veterans' Hospital and Ward 13 at Battle Creek Hospital.

When members met Thursday at Pontiac Navy Training Center, letters of appreciation were read from Mrs. Laura Williamson for contributions to the Battle Creek Hospital the past year and from Mrs. Estelle Showmaker for contributions to the Dearborn Veterans' Hospital.

Mrs. Vinton Ball has received candy for the club's sale. Members are handling the purchases which also may be made at the annual dinner Nov. 5. Mrs. Ball also has decorative napkins which members will sell.

Mrs. William Christie and Mrs. Mark Kinney are planning the menu for the annual dinner. Mrs. Vidal Gozales will direct advertising and sale of tickets which may be obtained from members.

KARLA MAE STODDARD

Keep It Light
(NEA) A new necklace idea from Paris is this: Two or three rows of big, round, heavy beads hanging right down to the waistline. In this country, the idea will probably be copied in lightweight beads.

June vows are planned by Karla Mae Stoddard, daughter of Mrs. Ruby Stoddard of Waterford and A. W. Stoddard of Bloomfield Hills, and James A. Lowery, son of Dr. and Mrs. A. J. Lowery of Union Lake.

Joy Christina French of Birmingham exchanged wedding vows and rings with Seaman J.C. William C. Gerber III Friday evening in the Yale Avenue home of the bridegroom's parents.

The Rev. Frank M. Brammon officiated.

Daughter of Mrs. Signe French of Birmingham and the late Mr. French, the bride was given in marriage by her uncle John German.

Her street-length dress of white silk tulle and Chantilly lace, styled along princess lines, was worn with fingertip veiling of silk illusion caught by a pearl tiara.

White carnations comprised the colonial bouquet.

CARRIES PINK CARNATIONS
Joanne Robinson of Birmingham, the bride's attendant, in cotton blue silk tulle, carried pink carnations.

Larry Bradford of Pontiac was best man.

After a home reception, the bride changed to a blue Italian wool knit costume suit for a Northern Michigan honeymoon.

MRS. W. C. GERBER III

The couple will live in San Diego where the bridegroom is stationed. For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. French chose a green silk print. Mrs. Gerber appeared in green and burgundy sheer printed nylon over silk tulle. Both wore shoulder corsages of carnations.

HAIR STYLING TO DISGUISE A LONG NECK
A long neck can be graceful or awkward and much depends on your hair.

Near shoulder length is most flattering. This gives you a wide variety of styles. New and flattering is the look of loose waves with ends turned slightly up for a casual effect or turned under page-boy for special occasions. Swirl your hair off the face with a slightly lifted effect. Center oil center part or no part at all will give you variety. Let it wave gently and turn up (or under) just before it hits the shoulder.

Youth can take more curl and fuss unless glasses demand simplicity.

Make up your mind that the ponytail or chignon is not for you.

Receives Papal Blessing at Morning Marriage Rite

A Papal blessing was bestowed on Ann Elizabeth Stefan of Detroit and John A. Schuster who were married Saturday morning in Our Lady Queen of Hope Chapel, Detroit.

The Rev. John Hrobowsky celebrated the high nuptial Mass.

The Armand J. Stefan of Detroit and Williams Lake were hosts for a breakfast-reception at Glen Oaks Country Club.

An Old sash trimmed with soft fabric roses gave back interest to the bride's bell-shaped "Blanchet gown of bouquet tulle, styled with chapel train.

Appique of seed pearls outlined the scoop neckline of the princess bodice.

CORONET OF PEARLS

Her fingertip veil of French silk illusion was held by a coronet of pearls. Ivy foliage was combined with an orchid and stephanotis for the cascade bouquet.

Mary Kay Walsh was maid of honor, with Mrs. Eugene Glyn, Mrs. Howard Hughes, Sharon McCillis and Susan Heisey, bridesmaids.

Gowned alike in autumn gold mink pour de soie with soft tulle draped bodice and bell skirts, they carried crescents of bronze chrysanthemums, wheat and bittersweet. Their crystal headpieces were of velvet leaves.

Son of the LeRoy E. Schusters of Motorway Drive, Waterford Township, the bridegroom had his brother James as best man.

Thomas and Robert Schuster served as groomsmen with William and John Stefan, brothers of the bride.

Pontiac Artists to Hear Famed Sculptor Speak

The Pontiac Society of Artists will make its first fall meeting at 7:30 p.m. Friday in the Adin Shelly Library a public affair. Program chairman Mrs. Herbert Single, assisted by Mrs. Byrrh Bonhoush—and Mrs. Michael Goddahan, has invited Beaver Edwards, nationally known sculptor from the Scarab Club, to speak.

Two pieces of Mr. Edwards' work—St. Francis and Brotherhood of Mankind—are located at White Chapel Cemetery. He is also noted for his assistance to plastic surgeons in building and sculpturing artificial parts for accident victims.

Allemanders Pick President

James McCollum is serving as president of the Allemanders' Square Dance Club. His co-officers for the 1960-61 season are Roy MacAfee, vice president; Mrs. Charles March, secretary; Mrs. Royce Huskins, treasurer; and Donald J. Smith, immediate past president.

Board members are: Donald Shaw, Ed Baker, David Slater and Mrs. Fred Huber.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Joan will lead the club in square and novelty dances. The club met for its first dance of the season Saturday at John D. Pierce Junior High School.

Abby Discovers:

No Pity for 'Cinderella'

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: Regarding "Cinderella" and her "strict, old-fashioned" parents. She about "strict" God for her parents who care enough about her to put a time limit on her dates. I didn't turn into a "pumpkin." I turned into something much worse, because I was—

ABBY

TURNED LOOSE AT 13 (Pontiac, Mich.)

DEAR ABBY: This is for the 14-year-old girl who signed herself "Feels Like Cinderella" because she had a 12 o'clock curfew on all dates. "I am, also 14 and I am not permitted to date at all! My parents say I can't date until I am 16 and I don't think they are "strict and old-fashioned." They are doing this for my own good and I love them for it.

PLENTY OF TIME (Huntsville, Ala.)

DEAR ABBY: Maybe "Cinderella" would be interested in knowing that I am 17 and am not allowed to stay out later than 11:30 unless it is a very special occasion. What can a 14-year-old girl do after "IT TAKES A LONG TIME TO GET A DATE" I agree with you, Abby. No girl that age should stay out past 11.

"IT AND MALE" (Stockton, Calif.)

DEAR ABBY: Please tell "Cinderella" this: I am 15 and just started to car date. Last Friday night I went out with a 17-year-old boy. Just as we were leaving my house, my mother said, "Be in by twelve." My date said, "She'll be in by 11 because I have to be in by 11:30."

WORSE THAN CINDERELLA (Wheeling, W. Va.)

DEAR ABBY: In the fairy tale, "Cinderella," I'll be "Cindy" lost her slipper. The modern 14-year-old Cinderella, who complained because she had to be home by midnight could eventually lose her head. "PRINCE CHARMING" Tong Duchon-Ni, Korea

DEAR ABBY: I have news for Cinderella. If she is only 11 and can stay out until midnight, she is growing up much too fast. I am 14 and have to be in bed with lights out by 9:30 every night. I think you will find that girls who get a reputation for being fast are the ones who started to date early.

"WILLING TO WAIT" (Anchorage, Alaska)

DEAR ABBY: I am 20 and am engaged to be married in June to a boy who is 21. We both live in this city and attend the local college here. He is allowed to come to my house only three nights a week and he has to be out of the house by 10:30.

If we date, I must be home by midnight. I don't think my parents are unreasonable. I realize they made these restrictions because they know what's best for me and I am grateful.

WILL HAVE A WHITE WEDDING (Denver, Colo.)

DEAR ABBY: Tell "Cinderella" I am 19 and a sophomore in college and I have to be in at 12 on weekends and earlier on week nights. The boys don't mind. At least it hasn't hurt my popularity any. CAROL (SEATTLE, WASH.)

Don't Water Down

NEW YORK (UPI) — Past-teen-age males: Water will not keep hair down long and it tends to dry the scalp. For that reason, an oil-based hair tonic is considered best. With this, you can use all the water you want because the oil-based tonic replaces the oil that water removes from hair and scalp.

Federation Hears Talk on History

Dr. Sarah Van Housen Jones was guest speaker at the City Federation of Women's Club meeting Monday in the Biltmore Avenue home of Mrs. Harry Arnkoff.

Program chairman Mrs. Chadd Mollinger introduced the speaker whose general talk covered the early history of Stoney Creek and the Rochester area where the Van Housen farm is located, women's place in the world of today as compared to the years before their franchise, and the founding and early years of Michigan State University.

Assisting Mrs. Arnkoff were members of Temple Beth Jacob Sisterhood, Mrs. Harold Chapman and Mrs. Meyer Simon.

The federation's next regular meeting will be in January at the home of Mrs. Merrill D. Petrie.

Bride-Elect Is Honored at Linen Shower

Mrs. Albert Flynn honored bride-elect Ann MacDonald at a linen shower Friday in her North Elm Road home, Birmingham.

Miss MacDonald, daughter of Charles MacDonald of Grille Road and the late Mrs. MacDonald, will marry Lawrence Timm Nov. 25 at First Presbyterian Church. The Rev. and Mrs. Harold Timm of Chicago are parents of the prospective bridegroom.

Mrs. Anthony VanLinden presided at the tea table.

Places were marked for Mrs. Frank Mowbray, grandmother of the bride elect; Mrs. VanLinden, Lee Patterson, Mrs. James Jones, Mrs. Carroll Brand, Mrs. Dale Hanum and Miss MacDonald's sorority sisters at Michigan State University; Frances Karris of Detroit, Dee Demmer of Royal Oak and Frances Brant of Ecorse.

It's Nothing to Sneeze At

How to Prevent a Cold

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN
This time of year we battle the "cold war on two fronts!"

Being human you probably will have from time to time this year, the blustery winter months being the worst. Although the common cold is the most prevalent of all diseases, its prevention and cure still baffles the medical profession. No one is immune but good health habits build up resistance and make you better able to fight off the bugs to which you will be subjected.

Lack of sleep, overfatigue, over-heated houses, stores and offices, improper diet or bad habits in cleanliness, sparse clothing in cold winds, sudden and extreme changes in temperature—all of these predispose you to colds.

Overeating and overfatigue are two main factors in your defeat.

SUSCEPTIBLE

Also many women find that they are particularly susceptible during the days just preceding their menstrual periods. Therefore, you should take special care of yourself at those times. This will save you many a sniffle!

Most women take their daily bath for granted, but fail to use measures which prevent spreading or catching a cold.

It is most essential that you wash your hands often, particularly before cooking or eating, but also whenever they have been in contact with any germ-laden article.

GREAT AID

This is a great aid in holding the casualty to one in your home. Far too often, due to carelessness, the whole family becomes victim of a germ one member brought home. A quick rinse of the hands in not

When fighting the "cold war," it is essential that you wash your hands often, particularly before cooking or eating, but also whenever they have been in contact with any germ-laden article.

Enough. They should be treated fully washed and rinsed in boiling water. As a matter of fact, it is better to keep them apart from the utensils used by the rest of the family.

The person who has a cold should be isolated as much as possible. Keep the doors of his room closed and air it out periodically.

Cider Gives Applesauce Tangy Autumn Flavor

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

It's fun to get a recipe from someone who's just discovered a new way of preparing a certain food. Mrs. Kenneth Lehman of Wallis Lake called in to tell us about her good applesauce. We pass her recipe on to you.

Mrs. Lehman is active in church work, teaches Sunday School and works in PTA. She has two children in junior high school.

CIDER APPLESAUCE

By Mrs. Kenneth Lehman

1 cup sugar
1 cup water
1 large cooking apple
Peel and core apples. Cut into half-inch slices. Stir sugar into cider. Add apples and simmer until fruit is transparent. Stir gently, but don't get the apples mushy. Makes 6 servings.

To Entertain Study Unit

Mrs. Alexander Brede of Shanklin Drive, Wallis Lake, will entertain the study group of Oakland County Branch of the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom Thursday.

Members of the league who have lived and taught in world troubled spots will review recent happenings in the United Nations at the desert luncheon.

Mrs. Brede taught with her husband in China, where for five years he was head of the English department in Nanking University. Another member, whose physician husband has taught in the Belgian Congo and India, also will participate.

Mrs. Annabelle McLaughlin, Birmingham chairman, will give a review of a new Quaker publication on the United States Socialist Republic.

Prize winners were Mrs. Earl Brobst, Mrs. Anderson Bee, Mrs. Marion Chandler and Mrs. Eva Gibson.

Mrs. Orenica will open her home on Center Street for the next meeting, a Halloween costume party.

Reply Due? It Depends on Wording

By EMILY POST

Dear Mrs. Post: Recently I gave a tea at my house to introduce my new daughter-in-law to my friends. The invitations were informal, personal notes. Because to my mind a request for a reply is almost as insulting as asking to behave correctly, I omitted any such request and later had reason to regret it. While some of the guests did reply, there were a great many who did not.

I heard later that those who sent no reply did not think it was necessary because I did not ask for one.

Am I wrong in thinking that any invitation deserves the courtesy of a reply whether one is asked for or not? Just to clear up this point in my mind, will you be good enough to enlighten me?

Answer: If your personal notes began, "Will you come . . ." they required answers just as surely as any invitation with RSVP. Invitations on which your name is engraved to a reception, afternoon tea or a cocktail party, and so forth, without an RSVP need not be answered.

Dear Mrs. Post: I am going to be the maid of honor in a friend's wedding shortly. I am rather dark-skinned to begin with and throughout the summer have acquired a beautiful coat of tan. I very seldom wear stockings except during the very cold winter months. I would like to know if it would be proper for me to go without stockings.

Answer: I am sorry but it would not be proper.

Dear Mrs. Post: Does it matter on which side of himself a man seats a lady, when they are at such places as a cocktail lounge or the two of them dine alone in a restaurant? I mean, is it necessary that she always be seated on his right?

Answer: Although seating her on his right is correct, at a cocktail lounge, this is not important at all, nor at dinner in a restaurant if the seat on his left is the more desirable. Moreover, seating on right is a foreign — rather than an American — exception.

Teach Children: Muscle Not Always Ruler

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

She's a small, slender woman, but her son is a big, big boy for 13 years of age.

That summer he behaved well on weekends because then his father joined them at their mountain place. But during the week he was a pest.

He ignored requests to wash before meals. Often he was insolent. He swaggered about like a lord of creation, leaving fishing tackle and wet swimming trunks wherever it pleased him. Then came the climax. After supper one muggy evening he announced his intention of canoeing over to the island in the middle of the lake and spending the night there.

"YOU STOP ME!"

She said, "You can't. There's a squall coming up."

"Who's going to stop me?" he said. "You?"

"Yes, me," she said.

"Try and do it," he told her.

So she did. She walked over to the child who towered over her and struck him across the face. He pushed her and she fell down. She got up.

She walked over to him again and repeating, "You are not going over to the island tonight," struck him again. He knocked her down. As she struggled back to her feet she said:

"You can knock me down a hundred times because you are bigger than I am but you are not going to the island tonight."

Then she hit him again and he began to cry.

Only later did she discover that she'd broken a blood vessel in his forehead so muscular hand.

It didn't matter. For she'd also broken her child's illusion that she was afraid of his physical strength.

He still retains his respect for her.

I am for striking an older child for only one reason—to disabuse him of his impression that we fear his physical strength.

I don't enjoy writing about hitting children. It seems to be a dangerous subject.

Whenever I have written about it I have evoked mail that hails me as a fellow lover of sadistic violence. Nevertheless, I have written this column, and what you read into what I have said is your problem, not mine.

Russian People Should Rough It Like K Does

NEW YORK (AP)—When Soviet Premier Khrushchev packs up his shirts and socks and heads for home Thursday he ought to carry on Long Island, away at least some pleasant memories—mainly of living it up in a style even American millionaires can hardly afford.

At Khrushchev's disposal were four of the most magnificent residences this country has to offer. All are now owned by the Soviet Union.

Whether Khrushchev pulled on his hat in only two, 1919 and for many years was the residence of the Pyne banking and realty family. The Soviets bought it in 1949 for a half-million dollars.

The Long Island estate at Glen Cove, one of the few of its size left on the North Shore "Gold Coast," also was purchased some years ago for Soviet weekend relaxation.

It was developed in 1912, reportedly at a cost of about a million dollars, by the late Charles Pratt, a founder of the Standard Oil Co. He gave it to his son, the late George DuPont Pratt, as a wedding gift.

The Soviets also have another country estate retreat on Long Island, a 60-room mansion at Upper Brookville, and a town house of many rooms adjoining the Park Avenue headquarters.

Heart-Lung Surgery Can Use Bank Blood

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Ordinary stored bank blood now can be used in place of freshly drawn blood for operations involving heart-lung machines, a team of surgeons reported.

A simple chemical treatment is all that is needed to make the stored blood safe in these operations, the group reported in a paper before the American College of Surgeons.

Untreated stored blood is poisonous to the isolated heart. It is safe in ordinary transfusions where it is mixed with and greatly diluted by the patient's own blood. But a heart is paralyzed in a few minutes when flooded with the unmixed, untreated stored blood, the group said.

The simple addition of calcium renders the stored blood nonpoisonous, said Dr. Andrew V. Foote, Dr. Michael Trede and Dr. James V. Maloney of the University of California Medical Center at Los Angeles.

Report That Virus May Be Cause of Some Cancer

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The Clinical Congress of the American College of Surgeons received reports Tuesday giving support to a belief among many scientists that some cancers may be caused by viruses.

Nobel Prize winner Dr. Wendell Stanley, of the University of California at Berkeley, asserted flatly that viruses can cause cancer in animals, and that this is "directly pertinent to the human cancer problem."

Not all physicians are so sure. team from Roswell Park Memorial Institute, Buffalo, N.Y., reported on experiments that appeared to strengthen Stanley's position.

Son of Count Killed

ALGIERS (AP) — Francois de France, 25, second son of the Count of Paris, pretender to the French throne, was killed today fighting Algerian nationalist rebels in the Kabylie Mountains.

Ford Meets the Author of His Childhood Stories

COLOGNE, Germany, Oct. 11. Henry Ford II walked through a crowd of West Germany's wealthiest men Monday and shook hands warmly with a white-haired, 80-year-old — the author of Ford's favorite childhood bedtime stories.

The occasion was a party celebrating the 30th anniversary of Ford's German plant here in Cologne.

Among the millionaires, Ford had as his special guest Count Felix Von Luckner, Germany's famous World War I sea raider and blockade runner.

Von Luckner told of his adventures in the book "The Sea Devil," and the elder Henry Ford read it to his grandchildren.

ASKED FOR MORE

In 1927 Henry II, then 9, asked his grandfather for more of the Count's stories. Stymied, Ford told an aide to find Von Luckner.

After a hectic search, the count was found in a New York hotel. He had just come to the United States for a lecture tour.

"Henry told me about his grandchildren and how disappointed they were that there was no sequel to

"The Sea Devil," and he invited me to Detroit," Von Luckner recalled.

"I told him I would be happy to go, especially because 'You did one thing that is really marvelous.'"

Ford asked what that one thing was, and Luckner replied:

"You made a lady out of Lizzie," a reference to the nickname for Ford's Model T.

Ford's advertising man, present at the meeting, exclaimed: "Heaven's, this sentence is worth millions."

The slogan "Ford Made A Lady out of Lizzie" became known around America, and Ford and Von Luckner became close friends.

The Count became a periodic guest at Ford's home in Detroit.

Russ Ship Delivering Rolled Metal to Cuba

MOSCOW (AP) — The steamship Samos sailed today from Novorossiysk on the Black Sea with a cargo of rolled metal bound for Cuba.

The Soviet news agency Tass said Novorossiysk is also the site of oil loadings destined for Cuba. The Soviet Union and Cuba agreed a few months ago on an oil-sugar trade program.

Tass said 15,000 tons of rolled metal, manufactured at Nizhny Tagil in the Ural Mountains, was turned out on a rush schedule for Cuba.

To manufacture a perfect lens for eyeglasses requires about 363 different operations and skills.

Campus Romance for State Candidates

Mrs. Alice Swainson, attractive blonde wife of Michigan's Democratic lieutenant governor and gubernatorial candidate, was born in Detroit on March 31, 1927, and graduated from Mackenzie High School after attending public schools in Detroit.

She met her husband while they were attending Olivet College and they were married in the summer of 1946.

The Swainsons lived out of state while her husband was earning his A. B. and law degree from the University of North Carolina but

St. Mary's Hospital Guild, PTA, Lawyers' Wives of Michigan, and the Sigma Beta Sorority Alumni Association.

STUDIED DRAMA

Tall, dark-haired Mrs. Edith Bagwell met her husband, now the Republican candidate for governor, while both were attending the University of Wisconsin.

She was a junior studying speech and drama when they were married in 1938 and her husband Paul was a graduate student and part-time teacher.

A short time later he accepted a teaching post at Michigan State University and the Bagwells have been in Michigan ever since. The Bagwells live in a $30,000 home in a shaded residential section of East Lansing within walking distance of the university.

They have two children, Judy,

MRS. BAGWELL

a sophomore at Stephens College in Missouri; and Tim, a paratrooper with the Army in Germany.

Mrs. Bagwell takes a major role in her husband's campaign activities, but between campaigns she likes to bake and paint.

Mrs. Bagwell, 41, attended Michigan State after her marriage to get a teacher's certificate and she taught in an elementary school in Lansing until her husband ran for office in 1958.

She has served as director of the family life program for the Michigan Council of Churches and possess a 10-year service pin for work with the Red Cross.

Cancer Takes Cellist

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP)—Julius Jerome Michel, 76, concert cellist and former director of the Calcutta, India, music conservatory, died Monday of cancer. He was born in Lyon, France, and came to the United States in 1935.

Still Shows Affection

NEW CANAAN, Conn. (AP)—A 1949 model car with California license plates was found abandoned

Monday night on the Merritt Parkway with a note that said: "Please give it a decent burial." State troopers towed it to a garage.

MRS. SWAINSON

returned to Detroit in 1951. They now live at Plymouth and have two sons and a daughter.

Mrs. Swainson's background attests to her hobby of music. She now sings with the Plymouth Civic Chorus after a stint with the Detroit Civic Light Opera Co. in 1946.

She even sold classical music records in a department store at one time and plays the piano. Other interests include water sports and oil painting.

A bit timid about campaigning she nevertheless finds the prospect of becoming Michigan's first lady "challenging."

"It is a great opportunity to see this beautiful state and meet the wonderful people living here," she said.

Mrs. Swainson keeps busy with many other activities including work in the Muscular Dystrophy Association, Michigan Association for Emotionally Disturbed Chil-

Air Guardsmen Fail in Nonstop Mark Try

HONOLULU (UPI)—Two air national guardsmen from North Dakota failed in their bid for a new nonstop record for light aircraft today when one of the tiny planes landed on Wake Island and the other crashed in the ocean three miles off shore.

The Coast Guard here said the pilot of the ditched plane was spotted in the water, and a Navy crashboat was en route to pick him up.

It was not immediately known which of the two pilots crashed.

At the controls of the planes were Capt. Charles Finnegan, 30, and Lt. Duane Stirling, 27.

Son of French Pretender Killed in Algerian Melee

ALGERIA (UPI)—Francis of France, second son of the pretender to the French throne, was killed Tuesday fighting the Algerian rebels in the wild hills of Kabylia.

Francis, 25, was one of 11 children born to the count of Paris and his wife, the former Princess Isabelle D'Orleans-Bragance.

The count of Paris, also known as Henri de France, is a direct descendant of the last of the French king Louis-Philippe who was exiled in 1848.

Ann Arbor Authorizes Plans for New City Hall

ANN ARBOR (UPI)—The Ann Arbor City Council has authorized Alden B. Dow Associates, Midland architects, to draw plans for a proposed city hall here.

The council agreed to pay the Midland firm $3,500 for the preliminary plans and drawings and promised to award the firm 6 percent of the project cost if the voters approve a bond issue to finance the project and it is completed. Estimated cost of the city hall is $1.6 million.

2 Michigan Cities Contest Finalists

NEW YORK (UPI)—Grand Rapids and Traverse City were listed today among 22 communities across the nation which are finalists in this year's competition for the All-America Cities Award.

Names of the finalist cities were announced by William Collins, president of the National Municipal League. The competition is co-sponsored annually by the league and a national magazine.

The cities chosen for the finals have been invited to present an account of their achievements before the All-America Cities jury at the National Conference on Government in Phoenix, Ariz., Nov. 14-15.

The cities will be judged according to the outstanding action taken by their citizens to solve major community problems.

Guns Salute Makarios

EPISKOP, Cyprus (AP)—Archbishop Makarios, once deported from Cyprus on charges of fomenting terrorism against the British, got a 21-gun salute here Tuesday as he reviewed British troops at this base on the newly independent island republic of Cyprus.

It was his first visit to the base and the first time Makarios, president of the new republic, has received an honor from the British army.

Use Carbonated Beverage to Marinate Ham Steak

Rotisseries, built-in fireplaces, are blended with the pineapple and lemon-lime carbonated beverage is stirred in. This popular beverage makes an unusually tasty marinade liquid as it is flavored with natural oils of lemons and limes, nice complements to the ham. Marinate the meat in the citrus spiced sauce for a few hours before grilling time.

A new idea for grilling ham steak outdoors is to marinate it in a spicy pineapple sauce, then brush the remaining sauce over the meat as it cooks. Marinating makes any meat more tender and this marinade adds a flavorful accent as well.

Ham and pineapple are natural food partners and this recipe gives directions for an out-of-the-ordinary way to accent them. Spices

Combine ingredients (except ham steak) and mix thoroughly. Place ham steaks in a shallow pan and pour sauce over and around them. Set in refrigerator to marinate for 2 or 3 hours (or overnight) turning ham over once or twice. Grill steaks over hot coals or under broiler until tender, basting once or twice with remaining sauce. Yields about two cups sauce.

Bubbly Lunch

For a quick and nourishing lunch broil a can of Maine Sardines until the tasty little fish are bubbling hot. Spread toast with prepared mustard and top with the sardines, alternating with slices of crisp bacon. Sprinkle with chopped pickles and lemon juice, and listen to the requests for seconds.

Bit of Orange Can Help Gingerbread

This gingerbread is lightly spiced so the orange flavor will come through.

Orange Gingerbread

1 1/2 cups sifted flour
1/2 cup butter or margarine
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup brown sugar
1/2 cup molasses
1/2 cup orange juice
1/2 cup orange zest
1/2 cup baking powder
1/2 cup baking soda
1/2 cup salt
1/2 cup vinegar
1/2 cup water
1/2 cup oil
1/2 cup eggs
1/2 cup raisins
1/2 cup nuts
1/2 cup fruit
1/2 cup seeds
1/2 cup herbs
1/2 cup spices
1/2 cup flavorings
1/2 cup essences
1/2 cup extracts
1/2 cup oils
1/2 cup vinegars
1/2 cup alcohols
1/2 cup syrups
1/2 cup honey
1/2 cup maple syrup
1/2 cup agave nectar
1/2 cup coconut oil
1/2 cup coconut milk
1/2 cup coconut cream
1/2 cup coconut flakes
1/2 cup coconut shavings
1/2 cup coconut chips
1/2 cup coconut butter
1/2 cup coconut sugar
1/2 cup coconut flour
1/2 cup coconut oil
1/2 cup coconut milk
1/2 cup coconut cream
1/2 cup coconut flakes
1/2 cup coconut shavings
1/2 cup coconut chips
1/2 cup coconut butter
1/2 cup coconut sugar
1/2 cup coconut flour

Sift together the flour, baking soda, salt, ginger and cinnamon. Cream butter and sugar; beat in eggs thoroughly, one at a time. Add orange-rind, salt, molasses and boiling water together. Add dry ingredients to creamed mixture in four additions, alternating with molasses-water mixture; begin and end with dry ingredients and beat only until smooth; batter will be thin.

Turn into prepared pan; bake in moderate (375 degrees) oven until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean — 25 to 30 minutes. Turn out on cake rack; strip off paper. Serve hot with whipped cream. Makes 9 servings.

Potato salad on the menu? You'll need to cook 5 medium-sized potatoes (in their skins) to peel and dice to make about three cups.

Creamy Chicken Cooks in Skillet

Range-top chicken, easy to cook!

Chicken With Mushroom Sauce

1 small butter-fryer
1/2 cup flour
1/2 cup salt
1/2 cup pepper
1/2 cup paprika
1/2 cup butter or margarine
1/2 cup onion, sliced—mushrooms
1/2 cup heavy cream
2 to 4 tablespoons sherry

Have chicken cut into 10 pieces. Mix flour, salt, pepper and paprika; coat chicken with mixture. Brown chicken in butter in large skillet; cover tightly and cook until tender, turning as necessary. Remove chicken. Add 1/2 cup liquid from mushrooms to skillet; stir over low heat to get up browned particles. Mix in drained musrooms, cream and sherry. Add chicken and reheat but do not boil.

Jack's Islands Idea Shocks Free China

originally was a thrill, becomes in time a chore and a fear. There are an awful lot of people in this civilization who jump when a telephone rings—and not in joy, but nervousness. That tingling to them is synonymous with a problem.

The increased use of the telephone is unavoidable. You can't fight progress. But there are more and more people who have more and more telephones in more and more rooms who also are asking to have unlisted numbers.

They do this to protect their reach for privacy. In business there is also a tendency toward putting a hired ear between your own ear and the phone. Anyone who picks up his own phone and answers it when it rings is behind the times.

I would phone up Dr. Alexander Graham Bell in heaven and complain about this except for one thing. I'm sure the reply would be: "Dr. Bell is not available now. Can I take a message?"

Jack's Islands Idea Shocks Free China

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—Nationalist China recoiled sharply Tuesday to the view of Democratic presidential candidate Sen. John F. Kennedy on defending the offshore islands.

Defense Minister Yu Ta-wei said curtly that the Nationalists will "fight like hell for Quemoy and Matsu" because they are "an integral part of the only China that the United States recognizes."

During a political debate in the United States Friday, Vice President Richard M. Nixon said the islands lie "in the area of freedom."

Nixon said that as president he would never force the Nationalists to give them up; that the question is one of principle. The vice-president's words were in disagreement with a Kennedy statement that Kennedy believes in some American military leaders' defense of Formosa but thinks it strategically wrong to try to defend the outer islands.

The Spaniards brought the grape to Florida in the 16th century, Kennedy said that according to fruit to Mexico.

Idaho and Montana are separated by the Continental divide which also extends through parts of Wyoming, Colorado and also into New Mexico.

Television Phones Ring a Bell

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Dr. Alexander Graham Bell did a great thing when he invented the telephone. It served people apart. It brought them by wire closer together across county and continent.

It seemed for a while that the telephone was the greatest sociological instrument ever devised.

It made the world a universal "Hello."

There are those who now believe the telephone has an even greater future by marrying it to television. I don't mean to explore here the possibilities of pay-TV by wire.

What I mean to discuss is the possibility you can phone people and see them as you talk to them personally.

This prospect may sound like a fine scientific achievement, but I think its real appeal is to teenagers rather than grownups.

Teen-agers seem to have a fascination for each other's face and voice which to the average grown-up is repellent. They could use the teaming of electronic voice and electronic sight to enjoyment. No one else I know can.

The truth is that the telephone rather overdid its ability to say "Hello" to everybody and anybody.

Certainly, like the Pony Express and the telegraph, it was a dramatic victory in communications. But the better it got, the more problems the telephone created.

It became an instrument to invade the greatest and most indispensable communication a man can have—the communication of his own thought to himself, which needs no wires. But it does demand privacy.

The telephone is a great instrument of many purposes. It saves the housewife from walking to stores. It speeds business decisions. It is the voice of reach to friends. In an emergency it is a cry of help that brings quick aid. It knits the lonely; it joins the gossip; it keeps, in occasional and needed reunion, the loyalties of farflung families.

But the telephone does other and more dismal things, too. People you call up and would prefer not to hear you have to do so. People you don't want to hear from again have this invisible choice to your ear.

Strangers call you up and ask you to do things you don't want to do. Answering a telephone, which

Small Cookbooks Pay Large Dividends

Pontiac Press Home Editor

Cookbooks are beginning to come in batches. Must be that fall starts the entertaining season anew and publishers think their new cookbooks will meet with popular approval.

Today we want to tell you about two inexpensive cookbooks. The first one we mentioned in one of our stories from the Food Editors' Conference, General Foods "All About Home Baking" (Random House, $1 with certain bookstore).

Almost 30 years ago General Foods put out a cookbook with the same title. As a bride I considered it the last word in baking information. I still use some of its recipes. I expect to use many of the recipes from the revised edition.

Times and ingredients have changed. This book takes into consideration. Chocolate chips and finely grated coconut are but two of the new ingredients used in the recipes. In 1933 a recipe for pizza would not have even been considered. Of course one is included in the new book.

Although the home economists at General Foods still believe in making cakes from scratch, they realize that many women prefer cake mixes. So they have included a chapter on "The Mix-Made Cake."

They give suggestions on how to make mix cakes more exciting. General information on baking is given in the opening chapter; this will be a handy reference for both new and experienced cooks. So will the chapter on frostings which has diagrams for cake decorating.

Here's the recipe we're going to try first:

Hot Milk Sponge Cake

2 cups sifted cake flour
2 tablespoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
4 egg whites
2 cups sugar

3 teaspoons vanilla OR 1 tablespoon grated orange rind
1 cup milk
2 tablespoons butter or margarine

Sift flour, baking powder and salt together. Beat eggs in large deep bowl until very thick and light—about 5 minutes. Gradually beat in sugar. Add vanilla. Add flour to egg mixture, a small amount at a time, blending by hand or at low speed of electric mixer.

Bring milk and butter just to a boil. Very quickly stir into flour mixture, blending thoroughly. (Batter will be thin.) Pour quickly into a 13x9x2-inch pan which has been greased and floured on bottom only. Bake at once in 350-degree oven for 30-35 minutes.

Half of the recipe may be baked in an 8x8x2 pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 25-30 minutes.

Betty Crocker's Party Book (Golden Press, New York, $1) is a situation cookbook. Spiral bound to lie flat, it has hundreds of suggestions for parties.

"The book doesn't stop with recipes—it suggests such things as decorations, tablecloths to make for special occasions, invitations and games for children's parties. It is lavishly illustrated, both with drawings and colored photographs. We think that children should have a lot of fun with this book. They will be able to make a number of the recipes easily. With a little help from mother they could prepare Goblin Franks for a Halloween party.

Goblin Franks

1/2 cup sifted flour
1/2 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon dry mustard
1/2 teaspoon cayenne
1/2 cup corn meal
1/2 cup shortening
1/2 to 3/4 cup milk
1/2 cup water

Sift flour, baking powder and seasonings into bowl. Stir in corn meal. Cut in shortening. Stir milk in lightly to make a soft dough. Divide dough into two parts.

Roll each into a rectangle about 12x8 inches. Divide dough into 4 parts (4 parts to each half). Place mince lengthwise on dough, moisten edges of dough, roll up, and seal edges with a fork.

Place on baking sheet; sprinkle with paprika. Bake 15-20 minutes or until lightly browned. Serve as a finger food with a dip of catsup or chili sauce.

Choice of Food Endless in Making Kabobs

For kabobs (meat, vegetables and fruit threaded on skewers) for broiling choose food of approximately the same size so that it will cook in the same length of time. Meat suitable for kabobs includes cubes of lamb, cooked ham, tender steak, frankfurters and luncheon meat.

Among vegetables are tomatoes, mushrooms, caps, green pepper cubes, precooked or canned tiny potatoes and onions. Pineapple chunks are also a popular addition.

Breakfast Soup Satisfies Appetites

When minutes count at breakfast, it's time to try soup for breakfast. Soup is ready in four fast minutes, has pleasing variety of flavors and is good nutritious food for beverage, as you wish. The big dividend comes with the proteins, vitamins and minerals contained in various soup—they're the agents that can help give us drive to make the most of the morning ahead.

It has been proved that people who eat a good breakfast work better, think better, react faster and are happier and healthier. A good hot breakfast warms us from head to toe and quickly revitalizes sleepy spirits. That's why soup with its versatile flavors, good food values, is being recognized as an important breakfast food.

One high school youngster recently dubbed soup his "secret energy breakfast." Tom fixes his own breakfast each morning—he often opens a can of favorite condensed soup, blends it with milk and heats it while he finishes dressing.

To satisfy his great (and wise) fondness for hard-cooked eggs he chops one fine and sprinkles it over the bowl of soup. The egg-topped soup, topped French Bread, and a "breakfast dessert" of stewed or fresh fruit topped with coconut keeps his hearty appetite content until lunch.

Sausage and Apple Bites Dress Up Pancakes

Here's an idea for a "wake-em-up" breakfast. Combine browned pork sausage meat and chopped apples with pancake batter. To make these sausage-apple cakes, pan-fry a little pork sausage meat until browned, breaking up with a fork as it cooks.

Drain off fat and stir one-half cup of cooked meat, one-half cup finely chopped apples and two tablespoons sausage drippings into each standard recipe of pancake batter (two cups). Cook on griddle as usual and serve with hot syrup.

Gingerbread Keeps Its Same Appeal

The inviting spicy taste of Gingerbread Cake is a treat anytime and anywhere. Serve it plain or dress it up with a scoop of vanilla ice cream or butter cream frosting for dessert. It's easy to wrap and pack in the school lunch box, too.

Sift together 2 1/2 cups sifted enriched flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon soda, 1/4 cup sugar, 1/4 teaspoon ginger, 1/4 teaspoon cinnamon and 1/4 teaspoon ground clove. Combine 2 beaten eggs, 1/4 cup molasses, 1/2 cup buttermilk or sour milk and 1/4 cup melted shortening. Add to flour mixture all at once, mixing thoroughly to a smooth batter.

Turn into well greased 8-inch square pan; bake in a moderate oven (375 degrees) 40 to 45 minutes. Makes 1 8-inch square cake.

Pimiento Breads Are New Party Nibbles

Happy is the hostess who finds party nibbles that can be prepared far in advance and yet draw delighted praise from her guests. The mild spicy flavor and bright red color of pimiento make them a perfect answer to the hostess' quest for something new to serve.

Here are four suggestions for pimiento pick-ups. The crisp Pimiento Pennies can be varied with your choice of herbs, spices or seeds. The Pink Pimiento Dip may be served with potato or corn chips, or slightly altered for a tasty sandwich spread to serve with a Tower of Bread (made simply by anchoring thick slices of French bread with a skewer).

The Pimiento Pinwheels and the Pimiento Cheesewiches are also tasty morsels to precede a party dinner or perk up your tea table.

Sift flour and salt into bowl; add pimientos. Work in shortening and butter or margarine; moisten with cold water and mix. Shape up into a ball; wrap and chill for 1 hour. Place pastry on a lightly floured cloth or board; roll out paper thin for very crisp pennies, about 1/8 inch thick for flaky pennies.

Use a very small round cutter to cut into pennies; place on ungreased baking sheet. Sprinkle rounds with various spices and seasonings—a dash of cayenne to some; a few caraway seeds on some; top others with a sprinkle of celery seeds, or a little grated cheese; top poppy seeds or sesame seeds on a few; top a few with a dash of coarse ground black pepper for a "bitzy" surprise.

Other suggestions are chili powder, curry powder, dill salt, allspice, oregano. Bake in a pre-heated hot oven (450 degrees) 6-7 minutes, or until golden crisp. Makes 6-8 dozen, depending on size cutter used.

Pink Pimiento Dip
1 can or jar (7-ounce) pimientos.
2 tablespoons grated onion.
1/2 teaspoon garlic lemon rind.
1/2 ounce package cream cheese.
1/2 teaspoon salt.
Mayonnaise or commercial sour cream.

Mash drained pimientos; combine with onion, lemon rind, cream cheese, salt and pepper. Blend until smooth and creamy. Blend in mayonnaise or thick sour cream until dip reaches desired consistency.

One-half to 3/4 cup of either mayonnaise or sour cream added to the other ingredients makes a rich, creamy dip — easy to pick up on a chip or cracker.

Taste and add additional seasoning if needed, after all ingredients are blended. Makes about 1 cups dip.

Pimiento Pinwheels
Drain and mash 2 pimientos. Mix mashed pimientos with 1 can (1 1/2-oz.) chicken, turkey, tongue or liver spread, 2-3 tablespoons mayonnaise, 1 teaspoon minced onion (optional). Remove crusts from 6-8 slices soft white bread, press slices flat with a rolling pin. Divide pimiento filling between bread slices; roll up, wrap and chill.

To serve, hold each little roll firmly and use a sharp knife, roll bread knife, with a saving motion to cut roll into little "roll-up" sandwiches. Makes 3-4 dozen depending on thickness of "roll-ups" cut.

Pimiento Cheesewiches
Open and drain 1 can or jar (4-oz.) pimientos. Sift each pimiento and spread flat on paper towels.

Pat to dry with another paper towel. Make a sandwich with 2 slices of cheese and about half the pimiento, repeat to make second cheese-pimiento sandwich. Wrap separately and chill.

To serve, cut each cheese-pimiento sandwich into squares or fingers; stick with a toothpick for easy picking-up and eating. Each cheese-pimiento sandwich will make 12 little squares.

Homemade Biscuit Mix
Quick and Economical
You can make your own biscuit mix to keep in the refrigerator for quick biscuits, muffins or gems. Recommended proportions are 8 cups sifted enriched flour, 1/2 cup baking powder, 4 teaspoons salt, 1 cup lard for soft wheat flour or 1 1/2 cups lard for hard wheat flour.

Sift flour with baking powder, salt and lard in large mixture bowl. Stir until dry ingredients are moistened. Bake in greased loaf pan (9 by 5 by 3 inches) in moderate oven (350 degrees) over 1 hour or until no batter is a fine even crumb. Turn out closely and keep in refrigerator on wire rack to cool. Store in tight, unopened container overnight before slicing thin.

Make Prune Bread With Rye Flour

Health Prune Bread
1 1/2 cups sifted rye flour.
1 1/2 cups sifted whole wheat flour.
1 1/2 cups sifted dark brown sugar (free of lumps).
1 cup whole-rye flour.
1 egg.
1 cup water.
2 tablespoons butter or margarine.
1/2 cup chopped walnuts.
1/2 to 1 cup chopped drained pitted prunes.

Sift flour, baking powder, baking soda and salt; stir in sugar and rye flour. Beat egg slightly; add buttermilk, water and melted butter. Beat to combine. Add flour mixture, walnuts and prunes; stir until dry ingredients are moistened.

Bake in greased loaf pan (9 by 5 by 3 inches) in moderate oven (350 degrees) over 1 hour or until no batter is a fine even crumb. Turn out closely and keep in refrigerator on wire rack to cool. Store in tight, unopened container overnight before slicing thin.

Boiled Dressing Best Kind for Chicken Salad

Make old-time boiled dressing for this salad and there will be plenty left for other uses.

Old-Time Chicken Salad
1 1/2 cups whole chicken (cooked, skinned, boned).
1/2 cup finely diced celery.
1/2 cup finely diced radish.
1/2 cup finely diced onion.
1/2 cup finely diced carrot.
1/2 cup finely diced cucumber.
1/2 cup finely diced tomato.
1/2 cup finely diced lettuce.
1/2 cup finely diced parsley.
1/2 cup finely diced dill.
1/2 cup finely diced chives.
1/2 cup finely diced basil.
1/2 cup finely diced oregano.
1/2 cup finely diced thyme.
1/2 cup finely diced rosemary.
1/2 cup finely diced sage.
1/2 cup finely diced marjoram.
1/2 cup finely diced tarragon.
1/2 cup finely diced fennel.
1/2 cup finely diced anise.
1/2 cup finely diced dill weed.
1/2 cup finely diced chervil.
1/2 cup finely diced tarragon.
1/2 cup finely diced fennel.
1/2 cup finely diced anise.
1/2 cup finely diced dill weed.
1/2 cup finely diced chervil.

Some authorities think the expression "bring home the bacon" stemmed from an old English ceremony called the "Dummock Fitch." The monks of Dummock in Essex, England, would give a fitch of bacon to any man who knelt before the church door and swore that "for 12 months and a day I have never had a household brawl nor wished myself unmarried."

The celebration is mentioned in Chaucer's writings. Others credit the expression to the custom of awarding the pig to the winner of a greased pig chase. The man who caught the slippery animal literally brought bacon home from the fair.

Bringing Home the Bacon Has Multiple Meaning

Remove from heat. Stir in 1 tablespoon butter and a dash of cayenne. Makes 2 1/2 cups. Refrigerate in covered jar.

President Wears His Heavy Mantle Well

(Editor's Note: The final evaluation of the Eisenhower administration will be made by the nation's voters. But as the President nears the end of his term, it is worth noting the many ways in which he has worn his heavy mantle well. This is the first of a series of articles by a veteran Washington reporter Ray Crowley.)

By RAY CROWLEY

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Seventy is a landmark in any man's life, but in the life of Dwight D. Eisenhower, the landmark is historic. On Friday, the day he celebrates his three score years and ten, he can reflect that no other U.S. president has reached that age in office.

The man he sees in his bedroom mirror is remarkably youthful for his age. And yet the countenance is not without deeply-etched souvenirs of nearly eight years of national and international responsibility.

As the presidency has etched itself upon Dwight Eisenhower, so he has made his own imprint upon the office he must soon turn over to a successor. It will not be the same office he took over from Harry Truman. It will be less personal, more institutional, more like a symbolized ruler.

President Eisenhower is more reputed to be a deeply reflective individual and so it is conjectural whether he will try to see himself for a few moments, at this notable birthday anniversary, in historical perspective. Nevertheless it is inevitable that students of the American form of government will do just that as we near the end of the Eisenhower years in office.

What will they see?

Apart from the strife of politics, Mr. Eisenhower will pretty much agree that President Eisenhower had more power in his "lame duck" years than might have been expected. He used his symbolism as a "man of good will" to good effect at home and abroad.

By skilful threat or use of the veto and by capitalizing on the conservative Republican-Southern Democratic coalition in Congress, he maintained the power of the presidency in the so-called struggle between the executive and legislative branches.

Although political patronage continued, Eisenhower virtually abolished the traditional system as it operated in the White House. The influence of the GOP national chairman upon the party's own administration declined sharply.

He caused the vice presidency, at the same time, to gain new power and prestige. Future vice presidents may follow in the path set by Richard M. Nixon.

At home, Mr. Eisenhower has attempted to put the presidency above politics. His success has been mixed. In part this is so because he, himself, grew more and more undecided as time went on as to how to handle a president should be.

Before the Eisenhower years, the president ran foreign policy, agricultural policy, patronage and military policy. He assigned secretaries to conduct day-to-day operations.

But big as U. S. government had become, Cabinet members walked in and out of the president's office virtually without appointment. Phone calls were frequent. Some, if not all, Cabinet members were close personal friends of the president.

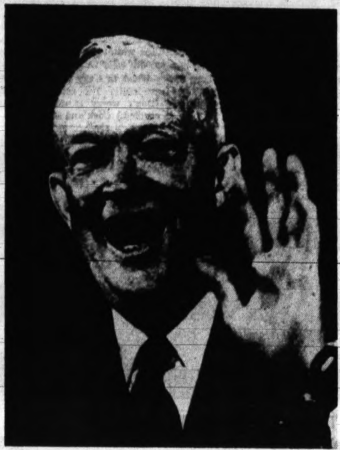

But Mr. Eisenhower delegated foreign affairs, military, agriculture and the rest to his cabinet officers and to committees. He expected, and got, completed staff work—army or business-concern style. By and large these Cabinet officers were not his intimates. Except for a few, his relations were not closely personal. He had his close personal friends outside of the cabinet and largely outside the government.

He took the presidency out of the details of government. For this, he has been both blamed and praised.

Mr. Eisenhower took the first steps toward becoming a president more in the European sense than the traditional American. Before Mr. Eisenhower, the U.S. president was more like a prime minister and president combined.

For a while, Sherman Adams, in a partial way, took the place of prime minister. When Adams left, Mr. Eisenhower set to work on developing a plan for two deputy presidents, whom he proposed to call chief secretaries of the Cabinet. These men would, in effect, be the day-to-day working prime ministers of the U.S. government.

YOUNG AT HEART — President Eisenhower, who will turn 70 Friday, becoming the first to reach that age in office, is remarkably youthful in outlook and physical condition. The cloak of responsibility has not weighed him down, as is evident in this picture, taken at the Republican National Convention in Chicago this July.

Sides Trade Blasts in National GE Strike

SCHENECTADY, N.Y. (UPI)—An electrical workers national strike against General Electric Co. dragged into its 11th day today with both sides accusing the other of unfair labor practices.

Chief Justice Charles M. Hughes of the New York Supreme Court scheduled a hearing here on an injunction sought by GE to restrict the number of pickets at the Schenectady plant, largest operated by the company. An estimated 70,000 members of the International Union of Electrical Workers (IUE) who went on strike at GE plants Oct. 1 ignored a request by Rep. Samuel S. Stratton, D-N.Y., to resume production until Nov. 1 under a "new formula."

GE said 44 of its 155 plants were affected by the strike. The Union contended 66 plants were tied up.

Stroke Kills Agriculturist ALEXANDRIA, Va. (AP)—Webster G. Reed, 63, a retired official of the U.S. Department of Agriculture, died Monday of a stroke. Prior to coming to Washington in 1945 he was assistant inspector in charge of the Chicago office of the Bureau of Animal Industries. He was born in Marble Rock, Iowa.

Mrs. Meir Challenger Nasser at the U.N. to Meet Ben-Gurion

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI)—Israeli Foreign Minister Mrs. Golda Meir has challenged the Arab world to meet with Israeli leaders to settle the Palestine problem by peaceful talks.

In a speech to the U.N. General Assembly, Mrs. Meir bluntly told United Arab Republic President Gamal Abdel Nasser, one of the world's leading neutralists, not to confine himself to "lofty speeches on world disarmament and peace."

She urged him and other Arab leaders to practice what they preach and meet with Israeli Premier David Ben-Gurion for Palestine peace talks.

Mrs. Meir said Israel is in favor of "complete disarmament under mutual inspection and control" for Israel and the Arab world with which it has been technically at

'NOT IMPRESSED'

"We are not impressed by lofty speeches on world disarmament and peace by leaders who do not practice at home what they preach abroad," she said.

"... I ask from here the president of the United Arab Republic (Nasser): Is he prepared to do as he advises President Eisenhower and Chairman Khrushchev to do, namely to meet and negotiate?"

"Is he prepared to meet Mr. Ben-Gurion, the prime minister of Israel, for negotiations of peace or at least an agreement on non-aggression?"

SPIRIT AT 78 — Flashing her best birthday smile, Mrs. Frank D. Roosevelt holds a rose given to her during a reception Tuesday in New York on her 78th birthday. But she had little time for celebrating. The energetic elderly stateswoman dashed around to keep a long list of appointments that would tire an active teen-ager.

Both Women Are Used to Working Hard

Bentley, McNamara Find Wives Helpful While They're Pounding Campaign Trail

By United Press International also enjoys needlepoint, "when Mrs. Arvelia Ann Bentley, wife I'm not campaigning."

Mrs. Bentley attended public schools in Antigo and planned to go on to college and become a home economics instructor. However, her father's death and mother's illness prevented her from this goal.

After caring for her mother for several years, Mrs. Bentley worked six months during World War II for Western Electric in Chicago. She came to Owosso in 1946 as manager of the Owosso City Club and served in this capacity until 1952.

It was here she met her husband, a member of the club, and they were married on Nov. 3, 1952, four days after her husband was elected to his first term in Congress.

Mrs. Bentley, a life-long cooking enthusiast, is well known in Owosso for her culinary skills and the International Club of Washington.

Although she finds campaigning throughout the state "much more hectic" than the political trail in her home Eighth District, Mrs. Bentley finds helping her husband in his campaign "very exciting."

The Bentleys have one son, Clark Henry, 6, and three children by his former marriage, Alvin Jr., 19, Helen, 17, and Michael, 15.

CAME FROM UP

Mrs. Mary Lucille McNamara, wife of the incumbent Democratic U.S. senator, was born in 1899 in Calumet, in the upper Peninsula and spent most of her early life in this region.

She and her husband were working at H. Kelly and Co. heating firm in Detroit when they met in 1928. The senator was a supervisor and she was a secretary at the time.

"In a moment of weakness," as she puts it, the senator proposed in 1932 and they were married the same year.

Mrs. McNamara continued to work for five years following their wedding, as a secretary in an interior decorating firm and an insurance company. Then, after "leading a life of leisure" for a few years, she says, she did volunteer work in Detroit from 1942 to 1944.

Mrs. McNamara served as manager of the senator's Detroit office from 1954 until Sept. 1 of this year. She is currently assisting him in his campaign for re-election.

(Sen. McNamara's first wife died. He has two children by his first wife and 11 grandchildren.)

Candidates for Governor Level Countersalvos

By The Associated Press

Lt. Gov. John B. Swainson, Democratic gubernatorial candidate, blasted the Republican party platform Tuesday, calling it "naïve," "promises repudiated in advance by past performance."

Swainson's rival, Paul D. Bagwell, said Tuesday that "if I don't get behind the sales-tax increase then my opponents' program of a personal income tax will be adopted."

Swainson toured the Bay City, Saginaw area and Bagwell traveled by motorcade through five Northwestern Michigan counties.

"The 1960 Republican platform, contrasted with the Republican legislative record of the last two years, represents the height of hypocrisy," Swainson said at Saginaw.

"It is a crassly cynical document that promises the very things the Democrats have tried to enact into law, only to see them killed by the Republican majority."

"It is a brazen hoax, a complete contradiction to the record of performance of public officials elected from the Republican party."

Swainson also said Republican legislators have blocked Democratic measures to expand community colleges, set minimum salaries for teachers and increase state aid to local schools.

Bagwell reiterated the stand on taxes he made Monday night on a televised debate with Swainson. He contrasted his positive support of a sales-tax increase against what he called Swainson's reluctance to spell out an alternative tax program.

In the race for Michigan's Senate seat, Democratic Sen. Patrick V. McNamara said Tuesday at Detroit the Republican administration had distorted the national economic picture by what he called juggling of employment figures.

His opponent, Rep. Alvin M. Bentley, disappointed over the turnout for his appearance at Monroe Tuesday said he feared for the Republicans' chances in Michigan in the Nov. 8 election.

Only about a dozen persons War-showed up. They heard Bentley say he would be extremely pessimistic if a situation of lethargy were not corrected quickly. He said he found a parallel situation elsewhere in Michigan.

McNamara, meanwhile, charged that Republicans had manipulated the latest employment figures in what he called "an effort to hide the unpleasant truth."

"There is no way that the administration can cover up the fact that more than one in every 20 American workers is unemployed—or that millions more are underemployed and don't even show up in the statistics," McNamara said.

Movie actress Ilona Massey was in Detroit Tuesday to campaign for Bentley. Her husband Donald Dawson, a former aide to President Truman—was in South Carolina, campaigning for Lyndon B. Johnson, the Democratic vice-presidential candidate.

McNamara and Bentley are scheduled to debate campaign issues tonight over radio and television at 10:30.

Charges Hushing Up of 'Kitchen Debate'

ABOARD THE JOHNSON CAMPAIGN TRAIN at Sen. Lyndon Johnson urged his South Carolina whiststop campaign listeners in Spartanburg Tuesday to write the White House and ask, "why they are keeping this record of the (Nixon-Khrushchev) conversation in Moscow such a secret."

The event did not suggest what the administration had left unreported in silent motion pictures of the two Vice Presidents Richard M. Nixon and the Soviet premier.

He broadly accused the Republicans of withholding facts from the people for eight years on such things as how foreign aid money is spent and why the administration has "accepted high bids" on government contracts.

LOOSE PLAY—Norm Ullman (7) of the Detroit Red Wings looks for a loose puck which Boston defenseman Perry Flaman managed to recover after falling on the ice in the first period.

Red Wings Thankful for Tie

Detroit Rallies in Final Period to Knot Boston

McKenzie, Delvecchio Click to Produce 3rd Deadlock of Season

BOSTON (UPI)—The Detroit Red Wings are still winless but last night they were thankful for another tie.

The Wings trailed by two goals going into the final period when they rallied to earn a 3-3 stand-off with the Boston Bruins. It was the third Detroit deadlock in four games.

Alex Delvecchio scored the clincher on a power play at 14:45 of the third period. Delvecchio fired through goalie Don Simmons' legs after taking passes from Norm Ullman and Gordie Howe.

The Wings moved into position to gain the tie at 5:59 of the third period when Jack McKenzie deflected Pete Goggin's shot over Simmons' stick to make the score 3-2.

Leo Bolvin opened the scoring for Boston on a 30-foot screen shot at 16:43 of the first period.

Ullman tied the score at 5:41 of the second session but the Bruins surged ahead on Doug Mohns' third goal of the season. Horvath made it 3-1 when he beat goalie Hank Bassen with Warren Godfrey in the penalty box.

Bassen was in the net for the Wings for the first time this season.

The Wings said regular goal tender Terry Sawchuk was fit but they wanted to use the 27-year-old Bassen since he was being carried by the club.

Irish Stress Pass Defense in Preparations for MSU

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—There feasts by Michigan State should be little doubt about the first order of business this week in Saturday.

Notre Dame's football training camp, with old nemesis Michigan State coming up Saturday.

It was pass defense and more pass defense after the Irish had proved vulnerable to the long pass for the second straight week.

At the same time, it seemed a good idea for the Irish to try to make opponents' pass defense a little less effective.

Purdue intercepted three Notre Dame passes while completing five of its own seven for 121 yards. Purdue won 31-19.

North Carolina last Saturday collected five Notre Dame passes, running one back for a touchdown, and its own Ray Farra completed six of 15 passes for 115 yards and another touchdown. The Tarheels won 12-7.

This leaves Notre Dame, which won its opener from California, with a 333 record—and it was unhappy about a 500 finish last season. As a matter of fact, as Terry Brennan discovered, a 600 mark was considered humiliating the year before.

An uncommonly long hospital list over two seasons has been one of the main reasons for Notre Dame's spluttering. The Irish potential was badly blunted when halfback Bill Mack and tight end John Powers were knocked out for the season in the Purdue game.

Notre Dame still has a fine runner in right halfback Bob Scarpitto, who almost ran down Parkhill Jim Miller from behind two weeks ago—and Purdue fans would have sworn that couldn't be done.

YONKERS, N.Y. (AP)—For the first time an American trotter has beaten the best of European trotters at 1 1/4 miles.

It happened in the $64,300 Gotham Trot at Yonkers Raceway Tuesday night when Su Mae Lad won by three lengths off a fourth quarter surge.

Land's Hairois II, the 1960 European champion, and France's 1959 champion, both Association exhibition Tuesday, broke stride and finished out of the money.

way in 3:11. He went off the second choice to Hairois and paid $7.30. Great Lullwater was second. The order of finish for the rest of the field, was Senator Frost, Jamlin, Tyson Scott, Silver Sound, The Silk, Hairois and Steaming Demon.

Hot Shooting Royals Top Pistons, 117-96

CINCINNATI, Mich. (AP)—Cincinnati took an early lead and won by three lengths off a fourth quarter surge.

Land's Hairois II, the 1960 European champion, and France's 1959 champion, both Association exhibition Tuesday, broke stride and finished out of the money.

In chalking up his fifth straight victory, Su Mae Lad led all three of its opponents.

Elliott Molding Swift Backfield

ANN ARBOR — University of Michigan football coach Bump Elliott appeared to be putting together one of the fastest backfields in the nation today for the meeting with Northwestern Saturday.

Elliott moved UPI's Midwest Back of the Week Dave Rainey into his top unit along with Benjie McRae and Ken Turwand, both fresh off the injured list.

Sophomore quarterback Dave Glinka called signals for the speedsters.

Rainey, who made the 100 yards in 9.8 seconds, got his first chance as a top unit halfback on the basis of his two-touchdown performance against Duke last Saturday which earned him regional honors.

McRae, a 97 man in the 100, and Turwand, who covers the distance in 10.3, were injured in the Michigan State game Oct. 1 and saw no action last Saturday.

The backs ran through light offensive drills yesterday and worked against Northwestern offensive and defensive patterns.

Dennis Fitzgerald, who is Michigan's hardest-working football player, appears to have practiced himself right out of a job.

Doctors yesterday blamed a virus, apparently brought on by fatigue, for a sudden illness which befell the 24-year-old ex-Marine and reduced his efficiency in last Saturday's Duke game.

"Denny is just plain tired," said Dr. A. W. Coxon, team physician, "and that may have made him more susceptible to the virus."

Dr. Coxon said Fitzgerald complained after the Duke game in which he caught a pass for one of U-M's scores, that "he didn't feel well."

He said blood tests are being taken to confirm the exact nature of the illness.

Elliott and Coxon agreed that Fitzgerald, whose greatest moment this year was his 99-yard scoring jaunt against MSU, apparently had become a victim of fatigue.

"I can understand it," said Elliott. "He never gives anything less than all he's got. It's hard to keep up a pace like that and not suffer."

Titan 4th in Punting

DETROIT (AP)—Tom Marshall of the University of Detroit kicked fourth in punting this week in major college football. In 11 punts he averaged 44.3 yards.

Lions Turn to Movies

The Detroit Lions — unable to triumph on the football field—have turned to the movie screen in an effort to win a game.

The Lions hope a movie of Sunday's game with the San Francisco 49ers will convince National Football League commissioner Pete Rozelle Detroit won the game instead of losing it 14-10.

Edwin J. Anderson, Lions president, formally protested yesterday that San Francisco's last-second winning touchdown was illegal. Anderson, in a telegram to Rozelle, said movies showed the touchdown was illegal because a player was downfield at the time.

He said time already had run out when R. C. Owens caught an 18-yard pass from John Brodie in the Detroit end zone for the winning score. He said the movies of the game showed 49er lineman Ted Connolly on the 15-yard line when Brodie threw the ball. A lineman has to remain at the line of scrimmage until a pass is thrown.

Anderson said a copy of the movie had been sent to Rozelle and asked that if Detroit's claim of illegality was correct "we respectfully request that the 49ers' last touchdown be nullified and that you, as commissioner, award the game to Detroit by the score of 10 to 7."

But Detroit's request got little encouragement from Rozelle.

The NFL commissioner said, "I haven't seen the films yet but there is neither precedent nor machinery for changing the result of an NFL game."

Detroit head coach George Wilson said wrong calls by game officials were responsible in a large part for his club's second straight league defeat.

"Why should we be punished for something that we didn't do?" Wilson complained. "This may hurt our entire season. If we don't win that game, there's no telling how far we'd go."

The Lions swing back into action Sunday when they journey to Philadelphia for a game with the Eagles.

Murry Breaks Record but PNH Loses Meet

Pontiac Northern's Ed Murry broke the course record but it wasn't enough to keep the Huskies from losing to Rochester 27-29 Tuesday afternoon.

Murry covered the two-mile PNH course in 11:36. This bettered the 11:38 record he set last week. Other PNH runners in the top eight were Gary Holtz 5th, Tim Kline 6th and Ted Lorenzen 8th.

Leading finishers for Rochester were Owen Patke 2nd, Ed Wright 3rd, Doug Sloan 4th and Tom Nigher 7th. The Huskies now have a 1-3 record.

Huskies, Vasefor Collide Friday Chiefs Try Again for 1st SV Win on Wisner Turf

By BILL CORNWELL
Pontiac Central's rapidly-improving football team takes another crack at victory No. 1 in the tough Saginaw Valley Conference Friday evening.
Frustrated, yet not too keenly disappointed after last week's come-from-behind 20-20 tie with Arthur Hill before a hostile Homecoming crowd at Saginaw, the Chiefs head north for the 2nd straight week, this time to meet an unpredictable Saginaw outfit.
Central's record is better than the Trojans' at this time, but the Chiefs cannot take the upstairers for granted by any means even though their performances have been more impressive.

Saginaw, coached by former Saginaw High and MSU grinder Jim Blenkhorn, is a hungry outfit, to say the least.
Lean times have fallen on the Trojans in the Saginaw Valley after a long period of title contention or championship conquest. The Trojans failed to win a Valley game last year and had only one victory for the entire campaign. They have sputtered badly so far this year, although they are showing definite signs of improvement.
Coach Paul DeBortoli's Chiefs sport a 2-1 record compared to Saginaw's over-all mark of 1-3-1.

Central owns non-conference triumphs over Waterford and Wyandotte prior to the league deadlock with Arthur Hill. The Trojans' lone victory came at the expense of Alpena in the 1959 season game. Since then, they have tied Bay City Handy and bowed to Midland and Flint Northern.
Northern handed them a 34-6 trouncing last week in their Valley opener. Northern looks as highly-rated Bay City Central's top contender for the league crown.
Bay City, undefeated, untied and unscorched-upon in four starts, is a heavy choice to whip Arthur Hill Friday night when the two schools clash at Bay City in the only other scheduled SVC game.

Runnerup Position May Be at Stake; Keego 11 Goes to Northville
There seems to be very little chance of anyone catching or defeating Wallied Lake this fall in the Inter-Lakes Conference football race.
The Vikings, the league race is boiling down to a mad scramble for runnerup honors and Pontiac Northern and Waterford will have their sights set on 2nd place Friday night when they butt heads at Wisner Stadium at 6 o'clock.
The PNH-Waterford battle looks like a real tossup in every sense of the word and takes top billing on this week's high school grid program in the Oakland County area.

Demrick 2nd in County Newton's Point Lead Cut

Jack Newton keeps rolling along as Oakland County's scoring leader. But his edge has been sliced despite another two-touchdown performance.
Building Tom Demrick of Cranbrook rung up 19 against Avon Lake to take over sole possession of 2nd place with 46 behind the West Bloomfield star.
Demrick has played one less game as has teammate Dave Schultz. Schultz ranks 3rd along with Dick McCauley of Pontiac Central with 36 points. McCauley also has been in three contests.
Troy halfback Dion Caza has 35, Biff Jones of Bloomfield Hills 31, Norm Smith of Wallied Lake and Royal Oak St. Mary are tied at 30. The latter has scored all his points in games against St. Michael and Orchard Lake St. Mary.

got 18 apiece Friday. Bob Ennis tallied all 14 for Holly at Clarkson.
Nineteen different schools are represented among the top 34 point-getters in the county. Cranbrook has three on the list, East Pat and Ferndale two apiece.
Pat Owens, the pride of Capac, still heads the area group and has gone ahead of Newton with a 57 total by scoring three TDs.
Powerful Roseville fullback Ron McClellan has 42 and Roger Lomerson 39. McClellan and John Jakubak each garnered 18 last week.

The Flint powers are engaged in "outside" games. Central collides with city rival Flint Northwestern Saturday, both at Flint's Atwood Stadium.
Bay City now is in the driver's seat in the drive for a Valley title. The championship showdown looks Nov. 11 when the Wolves battle Northern at Flint. No other Valley club appears capable of stopping the mighty Wolfpack.
Flint Northern and Flint Central were SVC co-champions last year, but Central's hopes of repeating were virtually squelched a week ago at Bay City when the Wolves romped to a 26-0 triumph.
PNH and Saginaw will begin their Valley duel at 8 p.m. The Chiefs are slight favorites at this time.

If comparative scores mean anything—which they seldom do—the two squads are just about as even as imaginable.
PNH and the Skippers have met only one mutual opponent—Wallied Lake.
The Vikings defeated both teams by a two-touchdown margin. They wallowed the Huskies, 33-14, and trounced Waterford, 27-7, after having great difficulty with each club for the 1st half.
Waterford has a one-point edge over PNH on this basis of comparison, but that is due to one more conversion which means absolutely nothing here.
The Huskies will be outwitted in the line, which they have been by every foe they've faced this season, but they'll have an edge over the Skippers in backfield speed.
Right now it appears that this weight vs. speed factor will be the issue Friday. The question stands: Can Northern's speed overcome Waterford's weight?

NEW YORK (AP) — In fourteen hundred ninety-two, Columbus sailed the ocean blue.
He landed exactly 493 years ago today amidst great confusion. Some of the confusion still exists but it is concentrated primarily among football forecasters. So great was the confusion last week that 17 incorrect picks were scattered among 34 others that were exactly on the button. That cut the season's average to .730.
This week's selections:
Mississippi over Tulane: The Rebels' Jake Gibbs is an outstanding quarterback and has accounted for 333 yards, personally, in Mississippi's four straight triumphs this year. He's too much for Tulane to handle.
Iowa over Wisconsin: two teams that have done better than expected but the Hawkeye speed will prevail.
Ohio State over Purdue: Bob Ferguson, the Ohio State fullback—is 217 pounds of pure dynamite. The Bolshakovs present a leaky defense.
Syracuse over Penn State: A Syracuse official called the players on defending national champions "fat and complacent" after their tiebreaker with Holy Cross. Penn State will play the penalty.
Navy over Air Force: a personal duel between the Middle's Joe Bellino and the Falcons' Rich Mayo. Bellino will get the more help.
Missouri over Kansas State: with the greatest of ease.
Baylor over Texas Tech: by about two touchdowns.
Clemson over Maryland: the Carolina Tigers get revenge for the 28-25 setback of a year ago. It could go the other way.
Kansas over Oklahoma: Oklahoma has lost only one conference game in 13 years. The second loss defeat will be delivered Saturday.

with John Hadl and Bert Coun doing the heavy work.
Minnesota over Illinois: the home field and Joe Salem give the edge to the revived Gophers.
Texas over Arkansas: all teams in the Southwest Conference are offense minded but nobody has scored on Texas in its last three games.
Washington over UCLA: Bob Schlorerf gave the edge to the Huskies, but the edge is razor-thin.
Michigan State over Notre Dame: Red Mack's injury boosts the Irish.
Tennessee over Alabama: you'll hear the tackling in this one a mile from the stadium.
Auburn over Georgia Tech: a toughie.
East: Detroit over Boston College, Boston Univ. over George Washington, Harvard over Columbia, Dartmouth over Holy Cross, Penn over Brown, Pittsburgh over West Virginia, Princeton over Colgate, Rutgers over Bucknell, Yale over Cornell.
Midwest: Cincinnati over Wichita, Indiana over Marquette, Iowa State over Colorado, Michigan over Northwestern, Army over Nebraska.

Bill Hopkins, chief naturalist for the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority, announced today that over 2,200 persons visited the Nature Center at Kensington Metropolitan Park near Milford on Sunday, Oct. 9.
This record-breaking attendance replaces the figure of 2,060 which was recorded on Oct. 12, 1959.

Purchase of Athletics Is Nearing Completion
KANSAS CITY (AP) — Sale of the Kansas City Athletics to a group of local investors appeared near completion Tuesday night but none of the principals would comment publicly.
One source, which asked to remain anonymous, said arrangements for the sale, believed to involve slightly more than 3½ million dollars, are virtually complete.
In New York, another group attempting to buy the club indicated a sale was near to Kansas City interests.

Conservation Questions Answered by Candidates

LANSING (UPI) — It is a well-known fact that special interests often determine the way a citizen votes as much, or perhaps even more, than does his party affiliation.

Gubernatorial candidates Paul D. Bagwell and John R. Swainson recently submitted their stands on conservation at the request of the Michigan United Conservation Clubs. The MUCC boasts a membership of more than 50,000 in 3 clubs across the state.

The organization urged its members to study the candidates' views and vote for the one who would best further his individual interests as an outdoorsman if elected.

The MUCC asked the two major party candidates their views on several questions of prime interest to the Michigan outdoorsman. Generally both the Republican and Democratic candidates agreed in their answers — each came up with the answer designed to satisfy the interest of MUCC members.

Bagwell and Swainson agreed on the game and fish protection fund, which came from fish and game license fees, should be used solely for conservation purposes.

The MUCC received a fence-riding answer from both candidates on a question of whether Michigan needs a more adequate, effective and forceful anti-litter law. The two-fold question also asked whether Bagwell and Swainson would be willing to support legislation to "effectively control" roadside bill-board advertising.

Swainson said he would be in favor of a "thorough study" of the litter problem. He said "more education" was needed to keep public places clean, along with more strict enforcement of existing laws.

Bagwell would favor any "practical anti-litter law, properly enforced." He said he learned state police had a problem of enforcing the existing law because many people aren't aware of the rules. He also advocated a "comprehensive public education program" on the problem.

On the billboard question each termed as "excesses" highways littered with advertising signs. Both candidates called for "effective" legislation which would allow reasonable leeway to advertisers and Reports to the department indicated hunters found ruffed grouse and woodcock numbers were generally higher than during the opening days of the 1959 season. Heavy foliage kept down the shooting season in the first week of the current small game season, however, the reports indicated.

World's Best Anglers Challenge Union Lake Fish

Eight Foreign Nations Enter Top Fishermen

Contest Is Arranged for Area Residents on Opening Day

Those lunker bass, pike and rainbows lurking in the depths of Union Lake are going to have lures dragged in front of their noses by the world's best fishermen Sunday.

About 70 anglers from the United States and 8 foreign nations will begin their quest for the world fresh water championship at 7 a.m. from Dunham's Sporting-Goods Shop. The 1st and 2nd stops on the 3-day tour will be at Union Lake.

Lakes and streams near six northern Michigan communities will be fished before the world champion is crowned Oct. 24 at the Bonnie Brook Country Club.

A local contest has been arranged for residents of the Union Lake area Sunday. Marty Jensen of Union Lake, state co-chairman, said those wishing to enter should register at Dunham's before 7 a.m. Sunday. Awards will be given to the top anglers. Should one of them come in with a larger catch than the daily winner in the world tour, he or she will be invited to compete in the 1961 world tournament.

Contestants for the international competition are scheduled to begin checking into the Hines Park Motel in Plymouth Sunday. A reception dinner is planned that night at Topinka's Road House. A movie will be shown later at the World Series of Fishing Tour headquarters in Birmingham.

About 6 a.m. Sunday, the competitors will meet at the Cooley restaurant in Union Lake for breakfast. Rules will be explained and maps showing the various depths of the Lake bottom distributed. Box lunches will be supplied. Union business men will be handed each fisherman as he prepares to leave the dock. The anglers must come off the lake at 3 p.m. The starting and closing apply at each stop on the tour.

Ten state champions will be on the tour. Others include outdoor writers and invited challengers. Foreign countries sending champions are Ireland, Sweden, Costa Rica, Mexico, Union of South Africa, Iceland, New Zealand and Canada. Claude Rodgers of Virginia, world champion fishing champion, is expected to be on hand.

Each angler will be awarded one point for each ounce of fish he brings in. The fishing on Union Lake will be for panfish, lunker bass, northern pike and rainbow trout. The combined catch will be weighed.

A bonus system has been devised. A contestant gets a 25 per cent bonus for using 8 to 10 pound test line and a 50 per cent bonus for 5 pound test and under. A 5 per cent penalty will be imposed for each fish lost after being secured by the angler. The penalty limit is 25 per cent. Two contestants will be in each boat.

Scott Outboard Motors is shipping new motors for the tour and will also award trophies to daily winners. The Ford Motor Company has donated the giant trophy which goes to the over-all winner. The 1st day winner at Union Lake will be announced Sunday evening during a banquet at the Edgewood Country Club.

Refuge Land Leased to Private Company

Conservation interests and private industry stand to benefit from an 18-year timber cutting agreement signed last week by officials of the conservation department and the Packaging Corporation of America.

Under the long-range program, to take place on a 3,700-acre block of timber in the northwest corner of Gladwin County, Ogemaw state forest, the Packaging Corporation is guaranteed continued cuttings at a constant, predetermined level each year.

At the same time, its cuttings will create and sustain a variety of game habitat conditions and timber age classes. Special emphasis will be given to maintaining the block as a public grouse field area.

chairman; Marty Jensen, state co-chairman; all of Union Lake; and Ily Peskin of Bloomfield Hills, international executive director. The large trophy in front of the sign goes to the world champion.

Detroit River Patrol

Watch-Dog System Protects Waterfowl

LANSING (UP) — Thanks to a new watch-dog system, ducks which begin checking into the Hines Park Motel in Plymouth Sunday are pretty well protected now from industrial and municipal wastes that can spread sickness and death among waterfowl.

The water resources commission put the 19-foot boat into operation early this summer following a springtime die-off of some 12,000 ducks near Grosse Ile. The blame was laid on raw sewage entering the river from Detroit's disposal system.

Since then, the operator has detected a good-sized oil leak from an industrial firm that could have done considerable damage had it gone unchecked. Other instances of pollution on a smaller scale also have been discovered.

Currently, the boat plies the river about twice a week, but the rate will be stepped up as waterfowl migrations increase during the fall, according to Francis B. Frost, water resources engineer. When the river freezes, a helicopter will be put into service, he said.

State conservation authorities are cooperating with the commission, which put up $40,000 for a combination research and monitoring program. The legislature will be asked next year to allocate funds to make the program permanent.

Researchers will determine the effects of various pollutants on waterfowl. Wild ducks will be subjected to samples of sewage and industrial waste as well as chemical pesticides.

A similar program was ordered after oil and phosphorus discharges in the river killed about 25,000 ducks in the later 1940s.

Investigators discovered that oil deposits on duck plumage caused them to lose their buoyancy and forced them to seek refuge on the ice where they gradually froze or starved, unable to return to the water.

Ducks preening themselves were sickened by the oil and quickly lost weight.

Pollution last spring took a heavy toll among swans, red-heads and canvasbacks. The latter two species already were in short supply and were scratched this year from the list of legal targets for hunters.

The Detroit River, lined with municipalities and industries, poses the only major pollution threat to waterfowl in the state.

"The area is important as one of the northernmost wintering grounds for ducks," said Merrill Petoskey, waterfowl specialist with the state conservation department. "Probably between 60,000 and 150,000 ducks spend the winter there and during the migrating season I have seen as many as 250,000."

Industrial waste in Lake Erie near Monroe also can be troublesome during low water periods in the summer.

REMEMBER TO HUNTERS — With the fall hunting season under way, hunters are again being urged to use safety and caution in the field. The pictures above are a couple of do and don't reminders. In the top photo the hunter crossed a fence while his companion held the wooden gun used for the demonstration. In the lower photo two hunters discover a mimed woods dress, designed to let him slip up on game, may lead to hunting tragedy.

Pheasant Contest Opens for Small Game Season

The small game season in southern Michigan opens Oct. 20 at 10 a.m. and so does The Pontiac Press pheasant contest.

A $50 United States savings bond will be awarded to the hunter bagging the heaviest pheasant during the regular season which ends Nov. 10. The reward for the longest ringneck is a $25 savings bond.

Joining pheasants on the legal list the same day will be rabbits, squirrels, ruffed grouse, woodchuck and raccoon. Grouse are legal until Nov. 19 and rabbits to March 1. The squirrel season closes the same day as pheasants. After opening day, the shooting hours will be 6 a.m. to 7 p.m., except on coons, opossums and migratory birds.

Four townships are closest to hunting in Oakland County. They are Bloomfield, Farmington, Southfield and Waterford.

The winners in last year's pheasant contest were Lester Schooner of Birmingham with a 43-inch ringneck he bagged the opening day and Jim Filhart of Orionville who had a 3 pound, 11 1/2 ounce rooster.

The rules are unchanged.

Only full-time Oakland County residents are eligible. The ringnecks can be taken anywhere in Michigan with a shotgun or bow and arrow.

Entries in the heaviest division must not be dressed out. Dressed birds will not be acceptable for weight honors. They must come off the lake with limit catches of bass. Night-crawlers and minnows are the best bait. The rainbows haven't started to hit. They aren't biting on Square Lake either.

Many fishermen put away their gear for the year when hunting season rolls around. This is a big mistake. October is one of the best months of the year for fishing.

Duck hunters had good shooting the first couple of days. Then the ducks became scarce. One sad point is the number of hunters who refuse to observe the opening and closing hours.

A large number of violators could be heard banging away in the Orionville recreation area last weekend a half hour after the sunset closing time.

Flies Only Waters

LANSING — Conservation De-Black River, Otsego and Montcalm counties, and the Michigan Department of Natural Resources are making no major change in their original portion of the main stream proposals on "flies only" trout of the Au Sable River, Crawford fishing regulations which return for County, as requested by several Conservation Commission action to parties last month. Department of day and Thursday at the Higgins officials feel that research has no recommendation on sections of the East Branch of the Au Sable River, Lake County, River.

Their latest suggestion is based of these regulations as man on a recent review of earlier agreement tools.

Other proposals presented in September which the Commission requested at last month's meeting, recommending "flies only" waters on sections of the East Branch of the Au Sable River, Lake County, River.

Plan Rustic Dining Room, Gourmet Shop

Albans Sprucing Up Old Red Barn Just Off M24

By LEE WINBORN

Schenck Editor

The old red barn just off M24 between Lake Orion and Oxford is being converted to a new use—a rustic public dining room and gourmet specialty shop.

Retaining the original character of the building, Mr. and Mrs. T. G. Alban of Lake Orion are remodeling the 2½-story structure to cater to discerning diners everywhere—but especially to skiers who frequent the three lodges in the area during the winter months. The lower level will contain every type of delicacy to tempt the epicure's palate, to tempt the epicure's palate, to tempt the epicure's palate.

where patrons can purchase specialties of the house. The second floor is being finished off as the main dining room, with a high-beamed ceiling and balconies under the giant rafters at each end.

both in the remodeling and furnishings. The stairways are made of hand-hewn beams, and the table legs in the dining room will be covered with rope.

The barn, which was on a 160-acre farm plot originally purchased by the government from the Cherokee Indians for $300 back in the early 1800s, formerly was right on the through highway.

A year ago, however, the road was straightened and the farm buildings bypassed.

Now the Albans plan to have electric street lamps erected from the main road around the curve in front of the barn and back to the highway, providing a well-illuminated entranceway.

The two old street lamps now in front of the building were gifts of one of the Albans' patrons in Birmingham, C. Y. Newcomer of 1196 Lakeside Drive. They are converted to gas.

In addition to remodeling the barn, the Albans have purchased the little old house where the offices of the Oxford Lumber and Coal Co. were located for many years. It was built in about 1903.

The white frame structure, which already has been dubbed "The Gingerbread House," will be moved to a site across the gravel driveway on the north side of the barn.

It will house an antique and gift shop to be operated in conjunction with the barn.

The cement block basement being built now as the foundation for the tiny house will be used for storage of tools and equipment.

More than 100 acres in the field, beyond, and eventually the Albans may erect other buildings in keeping with their original idea of an early American shopping and dining center. They may be art studios, craft shops and other similar enterprises.

The barn project is due for completion sometime next month. One of its outstanding and unusual features is that the entire building will be electrically heated, a novelty in that type of structure.

Building contractor is Davenport Enterprises of Clawson. Cost of remodeling is about $30,000, including the leveling of a parking area for about 75 cars on the south side of the Country Cousin.

The nature center at Kensington Metropolitan Park near Mill Creek was visited Sunday by a record 2,230 persons, Bill Hopkins, chief naturalist for the Hummel-Clinton Metropolitan Authority, reported today.

The record-breaking attendance replaces the 2,050 figure recorded Oct. 12, 1958.

The nature center, first opened in 1957, features seasonal exhibits on various phases of natural science. Nature trails are nearby. Last year, more than 48,000 persons visited the center.

"GINGERBREAD HOUSE" — That will be the name given to this tiny house when it is moved next door to Alban's Country Cousin and remodeled as a gift and antique shop. Built in about 1903, it formerly housed the offices of the Oxford Lumber and Coal Co. in Oxford.

Report on City Incorporation Eyed by Oxford Councilmen

OXFORD — Village councilmen last night decided to take up the study of city incorporation for the study of the city as proposed by the councilmen.

The seven-man citizens advisory group, which was appointed by the council last December, reported that city incorporation would provide a better tax base and an increase in services.

Incorporation would benefit both villagers and Oxford Township residents who would be included in the new city, the committee said.

The proposed city of Oxford would be nearly twice the size of the present village.

Ray Road from Stony Lake to Oxford Road would form the northernmost limit of the city as proposed by the committee.

From Ray and Oxford roads, the line would run south to the present village limits, then east to the lake on the north side of Lakeville Road to the east side of Oxford Lake and then south on a section line to Drainer Road.

On Drainer Road, the southern city limit, the line would continue west to a point near the New York Central Railroad tracks and then due north to its starting point at Ray Road and Stony Lake.

The new city would include the major industries, American Aggregates, Inc., and Syncro Corp., which would greatly add to the tax base.

Benefits for present village residents as contained in the report would include:

BENEFITS LISTED
An increase of approximately $10,000 in tax returns at the present millage rate because of the increased population and higher property valuations, resulting in a better tax base, increased services and lower per capita costs.

Elimination of the tax for township operation.

Only one valuation on property with only one assessor and board of review and only one office at which to pay taxes.

Representation by a supervisor who would insure presentation of the city's needs and desires to the county board of supervisors.

Registration and voting at only one location, the city hall, in all decisions.

A broader base of population from which able men, now outside the village, could be called upon to serve the city in public capacities.

"The effect of these benefits would be a simplification of local government with the resulting convenience for present residents of the village," the report stated.

"Since most of the duties of the township are also being performed by the village at present," the report continued, "the city's cost to carry on these functions should be negligible with an elimination of duplication of services."

Benefits for township residents who would be included in the proposed city are:

FOR THE TOWNSHIP:
The committee also said benefits would be available for township residents who would be included in the proposed city. They include:

Protection of ordinances and enforcing authority which the home rule villages and cities can legally provide.

A lower fire insurance rate due to guaranteed fire protection.

Police protection, snow removal, street maintenance, street lights and, in the future, sanitary sewers.

A saving of $12 in most cases on rubbish and garbage collection with more frequent pickup and additional village DPW services.

A responsive, well organized local government to serve the increasing needs of the local areas.

The committee said that these increased services should offset the increase in taxes for township residents.

Milton Francis is chairman of the citizens advisory group, which is made up of four village residents and three from areas considered for incorporation.

Dr. D. C. Davidson is co-chairman and secretary. Others on the committee are Lee VanWagoner, Ted Pearson Jr., Clarence Burs, Roe V. Sausser and Keith Curtis.

Announce Goal in White Lake

Church Reveals Plans to Raise $17,000 Over Two-Year Period

WHITE LAKE TOWNSHIP — A $17,000, two-year building fund goal has been announced by the recently organized Christ of the Lakes Lutheran Church.

Following the completion of the pledge campaign next week, a building committee will proceed with plans for the construction of the first church unit.

The first building, to be constructed on a 5-acre site on M59 near the entrance of the Twin Beach Subdivision, is expected to be started late next year, according to the Rev. Ivan C. Rose, pastor of the church.

The building goal was adopted at a congregational dinner Monday, held at the Shepherd of the Lakes Lutheran Church in White Lake.

Guest speaker at the dinner meeting was the Rev. John W. Miller, pastor of Epiphany Lutheran Church in Plymouth.

Wayne Johnson has been named general chairman of the fund drive. Committee members are Richard Phillips, William E. Cook, Mrs. Elmer Lofness and Mrs. Carl Sheldorf.

LATHRUP — The City Council here has given the green light to Ann Arbor engineers to accept bids for the construction of the first portion of a sanitary sewer system.

The building of the sewage system will end a 6-year sewage pollution problem of the Rouge River. The firm of Ayres, Lewis, Norris and May is taking the bids for the estimated $235,000 sewer.

Lathrup has been for some time in contempt of court over its sewage problem, and had up to Nov. 1 to show cause why the pollution in the river should not be remedied.

Councilmen also have agreed to the terms of a contract with the Ann Arbor engineering firm for a preliminary study of a solution to the city's storm water problem.

A report on the study has been promised to the council by Dec. 1. Lathrup will ask its residents early next year to approve bonds to pay for the storm water system. It will be the third such vote in as many years.

Seeks Parents' Cooperation

Clarenceville Board Acts to Quell School Vandalism

FARMINGTON TOWNSHIP — The Clarenceville Board of Education, in an attempt to halt a rash of school vandalism, is seeking the cooperation of parents in warning children of the consequences.

"Every effort has been made to discourage unauthorized entry and vandalism in schools," said School Supt. Louis E. Schmidt.

"However, there are continual minor, as well as major, problems involved in damage to school property."

Schmidt said every effort will be made to determine who is responsible for the damage to school property, and that restitution is made.

COMMUNICATION LIST STEP
"It is the wish of the board of education that the first step will be communication between youngsters and parents in an attempt to reimburse the district for the cost of damages," Schmidt explained.

"However, should this prove ineffective, the school board will then take steps involving such agencies necessary in resolving the problem."

Within the last several months, Schmidt said, the school district has experienced considerable damage to school property.

During the summer the plant life was damaged by vandals.

Time in contempt of court over its sewage problem, and had up to Nov. 1 to show cause why the pollution in the river should not be remedied.

Councilmen also have agreed to the terms of a contract with the Ann Arbor engineering firm for a preliminary study of a solution to the city's storm water problem.

and fish in junior high school science room aquarium were killed when someone contaminated the water, the superintendent said.

Recently the senior high school was entered, with equipment destroyed and a number of windows smashed.

Schmidt estimated that within the last four months about $2,000 in damage has occurred to school property. Some of it has been covered by insurance.

Schmidt said every effort will be made to determine who is responsible for the damage to school property, and that restitution is made.

COMMUNICATION LIST STEP
"It is the wish of the board of education that the first step will be communication between youngsters and parents in an attempt to reimburse the district for the cost of damages," Schmidt explained.

"However, should this prove ineffective, the school board will then take steps involving such agencies necessary in resolving the problem."

Within the last several months, Schmidt said, the school district has experienced considerable damage to school property.

During the summer the plant life was damaged by vandals.

Time in contempt of court over its sewage problem, and had up to Nov. 1 to show cause why the pollution in the river should not be remedied.

Councilmen also have agreed to the terms of a contract with the Ann Arbor engineering firm for a preliminary study of a solution to the city's storm water problem.

A report on the study has been promised to the council by Dec. 1. Lathrup will ask its residents early next year to approve bonds to pay for the storm water system. It will be the third such vote in as many years.

Avondale School Budget Higher

Hiking Salary Schedule Ups Figure for '60-'61 by $87,194

The Avondale Board of Education has approved an operating budget of $50,719 for the 1960-61 school year, according to School Supt. LeRoy R. Watt.

This year's figure is an increase of $87,194 over the 1959-60 operating budget which was $383,525.

However, the higher budget was necessary because of a new salary schedule approved for teachers in the school system this year, Watt said.

Starting salary for teachers this year is $4,400, which is $200 more than the 1959-60 pay for beginning faculty members, the superintendent reported.

Maximum pay is $6,400. There was no maximum set last year.

The board also approved a budget in order to take advantage of matching funds available under the National Education Act, he said.

Watt said expenses have increased some $63,000 because of the hiring of new staff members, adoption of the new salary schedule for every teacher in the system.

"The new salary schedule was put into effect," Watt said, "because it was necessary to have the Avondale school system on a competitive basis with other systems."

The electrical code was revised to meet the standards set up in the national electrical code of uniform rules.

In another action, the township board advanced $2,000 to the Oakland County Department of Public Works for preliminary engineering studies of the Grand River sanitary sewer arm, which is proposed to be connected to the Farmington Interceptor.

Once the bonds are sold for the project, the funds will be returned to the township.

W. Bloomfield Boys Club Elects Officers Thursday

KEEGO HARBOR — The West Bloomfield Boys Club held its annual meeting at 8 p.m. in the Veterans Building.

Seven officers, including a director, are to be named to the 21-member ruling board.

All terms are for three years.

Rummage Sale Slated

WALLED LAKE — The Crossroads Presbyterian Church, 1505 Welch Road, will hold a rummage sale Friday from 6 to 9 p.m. and Saturday 9 a.m. to noon.

The sale is sponsored by the Women's Association. Proceeds will be used to purchase useful items for the building.

Lathrup Works on Problem

Taking Bids on Sewers

LATHRUP — The City Council here has given the green light to Ann Arbor engineers to accept bids for the construction of the first portion of a sanitary sewer system.

The building of the sewage system will end a 6-year sewage pollution problem of the Rouge River. The firm of Ayres, Lewis, Norris and May is taking the bids for the estimated $235,000 sewer.

Lathrup has been for some time in contempt of court over its sewage problem, and had up to Nov. 1 to show cause why the pollution in the river should not be remedied.

Councilmen also have agreed to the terms of a contract with the Ann Arbor engineering firm for a preliminary study of a solution to the city's storm water problem.

Farmington Twp. Alters Two Laws

FARMINGTON TOWNSHIP — Amendments to two ordinances were adopted last night by the township board.

Brought up-to-date by the revisions were the building and electrical codes.

Added to the building ordinance were regulations regarding the moving of houses within the township. The amendment calls for a bond and an inspection when the house is moved to its new location.

The electrical code was revised to meet the standards set up in the national electrical code of uniform rules.

FUNNY FACES — Little Leslie Brooks, 3, center, watches her brother Gordon, 6, have make-up applied for his clown role at the Lee Brooks School Parent-Teacher Association's fall roundup Saturday. The children will sell balloons. Applying the grease paint is Karol Miller, a teacher at the school. A roast beef dinner will be served starting at 5 p.m.; then the classrooms will be open for other activities.

Panama President
OKs March on Zone

PANAMA CITY (UPI) — President Roberto F. Chiari has endorsed the idea of a symbolic "march through the Canal Zone" which may avert a repetition of last year's anti-American rioting in Panama.

The city council is organizing the official parade for Nov. 4, Panama's Flag Day, to reaffirm this country's "titular sovereignty" over the strategic strip administered by the United States.

The symbolic raising of the Panamanian flag over the zone last month helped to ease the anti-American bitterness which exploded into violence last November, on the anniversary of Panama's independence.

Other than his interest in canals, submarines and ships, Robert Fulton also patented in 1794 a mill for polishing marble.

Proposes 'Skid Row' Ban in City's Renewal Area

By PETE LOCHMILLER

A ban on "skid row" businesses in the downtown area was proposed last night to the City Commission as a condition for the future of Saginaw Street bars.

Robert A. Stierer, assistant city manager and urban renewal coordinator, recommended a firm policy aimed at preventing the reappearance of "skid row" conditions once the west side of Saginaw between Pike and Patterson has been cleared through urban renewal.

"The city should attempt to prohibit any 'skid row' type business from relocating or locating in downtown Pontiac within the proposed renewal area," Stierer recommended in a four-page memorandum under study by the commission today.

Stierer said the policy should be aimed at "bars and taverns, pawnshops, low-cost lodging houses and low-cost restaurants." The city should use its licensing and inspection powers to enforce the ban, Stierer said.

The urban renewal coordinator said the commission from now on should call upon the planning department for recommendations whenever any of the businesses he described want licenses, or license transfers, either within the downtown area or without.

"It would be the function of the Planning Department to analyze whether the proposed use is appropriate in the plan for the area and whether the proposed use will have a blighting influence on the neighborhood, or further contribute to the decline of an already declined neighborhood."

CONCERN EXPRESSED

Stierer's proposals came as a result of concern expressed by the downtown property management firm of Dawson-Butterfield, which urged that "something be done to prevent urban renewal (from) merely multiplying blighted areas by the establishment of other 'skid rows' in other parts of the city's downtown business district."

The Dawson-Butterfield concern provoked replies by representatives of two downtown bars. Speaking were attorney David L. Saks, 5 Bloomfield Terrace, owner of Ivan's Bar at 42 S. Saginaw St.; attorney H. Malcolm Kahn, representing Charles A. Gerston, 286 Ottawa Dr., owner of the Central Bar, 12 S. Saginaw St.; and John W. Bell, attorney for the Dawson-Butterfield firm.

PLANS RELOCATION

Utley expressed surprise over management firm's concern, saying that Saks had been planning to relocate and that Dawson-Butterfield "were the ones that solicited my client for the purpose of renting to them."

Utley said Saks had been negotiating for two weeks for a place in an existing building or in a new one.

"We planned to find a place first, then come to you for approval," he told the commission. Kahn replied mainly to what Bell called the main concern of Dawson-Butterfield, that Gerston has received city and state approval to move the liquor license from the Central Bar to another he operates at 21 E. Pike St., the Gridiron Bar, licensed only for beer and wine.

Mayer Philip E. Rowston said the subject would be studied. "This is a problem that has concerned the commission and must be approached now that urban renewal is upon us," he said.

Expansion Eyed by Consumers

Plans 2-Year Investment of $57 Million; Rate Hearing in 3rd Day

LANSING (AP)—Plans to invest $57 million in new gas facilities in Michigan during the next two years have been announced by Consumers Power Co.

A hearing on the company's application for a $13.5 million annual rate increase is now in its third day, before the State Public Service Commission.

John F. Simpson, vice president in charge of gas operations, said the utility would go forward with expansion plans despite decreased earnings. The additional cost of natural gas purchased from pipeline suppliers was given as main reason for the decrease.

Consumers serves some 520,000 customers in 30 southern Michigan counties.

Lansing yesterday joined eight other intervenors in the case. Lapeer, Fenton, Bay City, Royal Oak, Flint, St. Louis, Wayne County and the Michigan Utility Rate Payers Association were previous intervenors.

A Lovers' Fair is held in Aron, Belgium, on the 1st Thursday of January. It features a giant called "Hellechman" who acts as matchmaker.

Gore, a member of the Senate Atomic Energy Committee, said improvements in the centrifuge method promise so much saving that atomic weapons manufacture now limited to the United States, Britain and the Soviet Union with France just getting into the field, might come "within reach of as many as 20 or more nations."

Disarmament or control agreements would be proportionately complicated, he said.

But AEC, asserting it is conducting research of its own on the process, says "it has yet to be proved" that the method is cheaper than the admittedly expensive gaseous diffusion process now used by the United States.

The centrifuge process is a technique for separating the bomb fuel, uranium 235, from the heavier isotope of uranium 238.

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—Edgar G. Contini, chief engineer of the American Transit Association here, told the 79th annual meeting of the association that the automobile is a monster which would strangle urban transportation.

Contini, an architect who specializes in city planning, declared "indirect subsidies" to automobiles such as expressways, public parking facilities and the multimillion-dollar highway program, he said "ultimately public transportation must be considered as a form of public utility."

Wilbur E. Smith, transportation authority from Washington, D.C., told the delegates that congestion and lack of mobility caused by 71 million autos on the road today — 2 1/2 times more than at the end of World War II — "results in declining business and employment, which diminish urban tax receipts."

Britain Ready to Launch 1st Nuclear Submarine

LONDON (AP)—Queen Elizabeth II will launch Britain's first nuclear submarine next week. Built with U.S. help and with a U.S.-trained crew, the submarine Dreadnought will have an American reactor to power it.

Experts who've measured it say a wink takes a fortieth of a second, says H. C. Diehlbach. Do you know a quicker way to get into trouble? ... An optimist is a fellow who starts warning up the motor of the car when his wife says she's almost ready. —Earl Williams.

Building Soars Over a Million in Waterford

Building in Waterford Township soared well over the million-dollar mark last month and was some $100,000 higher than in August, according to building department reports.

Permits for 44 new houses totaling $702,858, accounted for the largest portion of the $1,075,348 figure. More than $113,000 was commercial, and a permit was issued for a church on Pontiac Lake Road costing $95,000.

A $95,000 hangar is under construction at the Pontiac City Airport; a $6,000 poultry house on Pontiac Lake Road; a $5,500 storage building on Hatchery Road; a greenhouse on Scott Lake Road and a barber shop on Pontiac Lake Road.

The township's valuation, as equalized, has dropped more than a million dollars compared to the same period last year. This year's figure is $5,985,502. In 1959 at this time the valuation was $7,048,792.

Endowment Exec Dies

SCARSDALE, N.Y. (AP)—George Garland Allen, 86, chairman of the trustees of the Duke Endowment since 1953, died Monday after a long illness. The Duke Endowment is a charity foundation established by a member of the famous American tobacco family. He also was a director and honorary chairman of the board of Duke Power Co. and was a former president and board chairman of the company.

Points Black Picture of Hubby—Wins Divorce

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—Joby Baker is an actor by vocation—and a painter by avocation. The trouble, said his avocation-wife, Joan Blackman, was that he wanted to make his avocation a vacation. He seemed content to stay around the house and paint all day, and let me pay all of the household expenses," she told a divorce court Tuesday—and won the divorce. They were married in May 1959. An Italian developed a crude camera in 1938.

Foreigners Out to Build India's First A-Plant

BOMBAY, India (AP)—India's department of atomic energy invited bids Tuesday to build the country's first atomic power station designed to produce 300,000 kilowatts from two nuclear reactors. Keen competition among the Soviet Union, Britain, France and the United States is expected for the estimated $107-million project.

Lawmaker's Wife Dies

WASHINGTON (AP)—Anne Bel Thacher, wife of former Rep. Maurice H. Thacher, 74, died Monday of injuries suffered in a fall Sept. 12 at Plymouth, Mass.

Her husband, also a former governor of the Canal Zone, served five terms in the House in the 1920s and early 1930s. She was born in Frankfort, Ky. High-pitched sounds can extinguish a flame.

Four Arsonists Plead Guilty

Admit Taking Part in Fire at Lord's Furniture Store in 1959

Four accused arsonists of a furniture store fire in Pontiac admitted pleading guilty yesterday to the prosecution wrapped up its case against them in Circuit Court. The four were Leonard Schultz, 34, Nathan Wolfe, 40, both of Detroit, and Sidney Cohen, 41, and Aaron, 30, both of Oak Schultz admitted taking part in the fire on Nov. 14, 1959, fire at the old Lord's Furniture & Appliance Co., 125 W. Huron St.

John and Aaron, owners of the store, admitted earlier that they had paid an arsonist to set the store on fire, planning to use the money to pay debts.

They named Schultz as the arsonist and Wolfe as the co-arsonist.

Circuit Judge William J. Beer, who opened the trial of the four men before a jury of 10 women and two men last Thursday, set sentencing for Nov. 14—exactly one year after the fire. Maximum sentence for arson is 10 years.

The four remain free on bond, pending sentence.

Assistant Prosecutor Richard P. Condit had rested the people's case with the four men in the noon yesterday. He had called 10 witnesses to reconstruct the fire.

After an afternoon battle with the attorneys, the four men returned to the court to enter their pleas of guilty.

Police Protect Witness in Trial of Tab Hunter

Glendale, Calif. (AP)—Police protection has been given to a witness in the trial of Tab Hunter on drug cruelty charges.

Joanne Elliott, a waitress, said Tuesday an unidentified man had telephoned her "it would be unwise to testify against Tab" and then called a few days later and told her it would be worth $2,000 for her not to testify.

Penama President OKs March on Zone

ANAMA CITY (UPI)—President Roberto F. Chari has ordered the idea of a symbolic march through the Canal Zone, which may avert a repetition of 1959's anti-American rioting in Panama.

One city Council is organizing the official parade for Nov. 4, Panama's Flag Day, to reaffirm the country's "total sovereignty" over the strategic strip administered by the United States.

War Becomes 'Catastrophe'

NEW YORK (UPI)—Spokesmen for Premier Khrushchev watered down his belligerent answers to questions outside the Russian Embassy here Tuesday night.

Understanding the premier's replies on the spot was Victor Sukhodrev, his permanent interpreter. Khrushchev, looking tired, somber and grim, said of the American-sponsored U.N. Assembly decision to send his disarmament question to committee:

Those that support the U.S. position can certainly celebrate a victory. They have put off again a decision on disarmament and come closer to the possibility of war.

"That is not a victory for the forces of peace, but a victory for the forces of war."

"Now we will have to compete in the manufacture of arms."

NOT NOW BUT SOON—This giant swath through the rich forests in Berrien County gives some idea what Oakland County will have to undergo when the State Highway Dept. within months begins work on the $34 million interstate freeway northeast of Pontiac. It will be part of Interstate 75 linking Detroit with South St. Marie. First contracts for work in the county will be let Dec. 7.

12 road improvement projects drawn up by county road officials and presented to him in June might be followed. But Mackie wouldn't be pinned down on which and how many of the projects would be included in his $800 million program for 1962-1967.

The first term Democratic commission did, however, report his preference that Orchard Lake road (M18) between M28 (Telegraph road) and the Orchard Lake-Pontiac Trail intersection should be widened to four lanes.

During the inspection trip, Laird pointed out that because of the many lakes in northern Oakland County, costs usually average 10 percent higher, and builders encounter more headaches because of the swampy soil.

Contracts for the 15-mile section from M15 northwest to the Oakland-Genesee County line are scheduled to start in the third quarter of 1961.

The section of the four-lane divided highway, one of four major chunks of freeways to criss-cross Michigan, through the populated sections of Southeastern Oakland County is still in the design stage, although the route has been pretty much determined, Mackie said.

Emphasis will be placed on construction of state routes in urban areas, such as Pontiac, during the next five years of highway building, the commission said.

Pontiac city officials have promised from Mackie's office that at least the eastern half of its perimeter road, or the business route of Woodward avenue (U.S. 10), will be included in the 1962-67 construction period.

Doty and Dondoro to Head Group Pushing Breakkey

Former Congressman George A. Dondoro and retired Circuit Judge Frank L. Doty have been named to head an Oakland County committee working toward the election of Am Arbor Judge James R. Steak Jr. to the State Supreme Court.

Stake Jr. is the State Supreme Court.

Pontiac attorney David C. Pence is Oakland County finance chairman. Other members of the Oakland committee include William C. Alley of Birmingham and O. E. Hunt of Bloomfield Hills.

Committers from Oakland, Wayne and Washtenaw Counties were appointed recently at a dinner held at Devon Gables restaurant in Bloomfield Township.

City Won't Ban Tankers in Loop

Decides to Negotiate Agreement With Firms on Safety Standards

The City Commission last night shelved the proposed ban on tankers downtown, agreeing instead to let the oil companies have the lion's share of the money to prove that they can live up to the city's safety standards voluntarily.

The tryout was recommended by City Manager Walter K. Willman, who said it had the endorsement of the five department officials who had originally urged the ban.

Industry representatives, who were present at last night's commission meeting, had argued that a law would be "impractical," but that its intent could be accomplished through "cooperation."

Willman said an agreement would now have to be made between the city and the oil and trucking industries.

The ban was the main feature of an ordinance regulating the transportation of explosives and flammable liquids. It would have barred downtown tankers, except with police permission to make deliveries.

Highway tankers, not delivering to Pontiac, would also have been banned from entering the city.

Probers Find Electra Had Lost Power in One of Her Engines

BOSTON (AP)—The turbo-prop Electra, which plunged into Boston harbor 14 seconds after take-off last week had lost power in one and possibly two port engines—but no structural defects were involved, the chairman of the House Aviation Subcommittee says.

Rep. John Bell Williams, D-Mass., said his subcommittee found no reason to order other Electras grounded. The Boston crash, which killed 62 persons, was the fifth involving the Lockheed Electra since the planes went into service two years ago.

Williams said the crash could have happened to any turbo-prop plane.

He said the subcommittee, which held an 8½-hour closed-door hearing in Boston, found no conclusive evidence that birds sucked into the air intake caused the engines to fail. That is the view of Gen. E. R. Quesada, head of the Federal Aviation Agency, who testified at the hearing.

Bell said there is ample evidence of birds in great number which might have caused the crash, but no proof that a flock of starlings was to blame.

Dead starlings were found scattered over the airport runway after the ill-fated Eastern Air Lines plane.

The welcome home for Hayes Jones, former Pontiac Central High School track star who won a bronze medal at the Olympic Games in Rome this summer, has been scheduled for Friday, Oct. 21.

It will take place at half time during the football game between Pontiac Central and Flint Northern at Winder Stadium, Mayor Philip E. Rowston announced last night.

A committee, headed by E. W. Watchpocket, president of the Pontiac Junior Chamber of Commerce, was appointed by Rowston to prepare the welcome.

Hayes Jones had originally had been set for Rowston for the following week, but Jones said he could not be present then.

Khrushchev is reported coming to the United States to head a delegation to Cuba—this time—mainly because he is to head backfire against the Soviet Union everywhere in Latin America.

Soviet security chiefs are also understood to have warned Khrushchev that mounting unrest and anti-Communist plotting in Cuba might imperil his personal safety.

And Khrushchev's scheduled early October visit to North Korea has been postponed, Moscow radio reported Tuesday night. It said he will make the visit at a date to be announced later.

Tuesday afternoon Khrushchev, as expected, for a meeting of heads of governments from March or April to discuss "general and complete disarmament."

The American election, he said, made discussion now fruitless.

School Enrollment Rises 10 Pct. in Bloomfield Hills

BIRMINGHAM — Enrollment in the Bloomfield Hills school system has increased more than 10 percent over last year, according to a report issued today by Supt. Eugene L. Johnson.

Student enrollment at the senior, junior and elementary levels this year stands at 5,613, an increase of 552 pupils over the 5,061 enrolled in September 1959.

The senior high school shows an enrollment of 739, and the junior high school has 888 students attending classes.

The six elementary schools in the district have a total enrollment of 1,986. Of the elementary schools, Vaughn has the highest enrollment with 526, followed by Wing Lake, 372.

Johnson noted that class sizes range from 18 to 40 pupils; that 1,386 of the elementary schools, Vaughn has the highest enrollment with 526, followed by Wing Lake, 372.

A careful study of age groups, Johnson said, reveals it is impossible to adjust classes to an equal number of students.

Five Birmingham teachers and administrators have been appointed to serve during 1960-61 on the Michigan state curriculum planning committee by Lynn M. Bartlett, State Superintendent of Public Instruction.

Edwin W. Crandell, Marian Elementary School principal, was appointed to the curriculum research committee. Dorothy H. Adams, Adams School third grade teacher, will serve on the conservation committee.

Named to the instructional materials committee was Margaret Grazer, Derby Junior High School librarian.

Also selected were Catherine Reed, coordinator of student teaching, to curriculum planning and Velma Ruby, mathematics consultant.

Yule Cards Arrive Late ... or Early?

DETROIT (AP)—Greeting cards and letters mailed in 1960 brought Christmas early—or was it 20 years late—to the Leo Wessinger family of Highland Park.

One of the cards was from Mrs. Wessinger's aunt, Mrs. Anna Zink of Alpena, who died 21 years ago.

Another was from Wessinger's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Wessinger of Milford. Joseph Wessinger died five years ago.

One of Mrs. Wessinger's friends also wrote to say she was expecting a baby. "That baby, Laren, now is in the U.S. Marine Corps," Mrs. Wessinger said.

The woman also inquired about Mrs. Wessinger's baby girl Martha, who, 20 years later, is employed as a secretary.

Mrs. Wessinger, who has lived at her present address since 1935, said: "The strange thing about the entire incident was that our mailman didn't notice he was delivering obsolete mail. The envelopes had either 1½-cent or three-cent stamps on them, too."

Said Detroit Postmaster Edward L. Baker: "It's an extremely rare case, but not improbable."

Ordering an administration assistant to investigate, Baker said it was possible the mail was received by the wrong person, who 20 years later decided to put it into a mailbox.

Doty and Dondoro to Head Group Pushing Breakkey

Former Congressman George A. Dondoro and retired Circuit Judge Frank L. Doty have been named to head an Oakland County committee working toward the election of Am Arbor Judge James R. Steak Jr. to the State Supreme Court.

Stake Jr. is the State Supreme Court.

Pontiac attorney David C. Pence is Oakland County finance chairman. Other members of the Oakland committee include William C. Alley of Birmingham and O. E. Hunt of Bloomfield Hills.

Committers from Oakland, Wayne and Washtenaw Counties were appointed recently at a dinner held at Devon Gables restaurant in Bloomfield Township.

Decides to Negotiate Agreement With Firms on Safety Standards

The City Commission last night shelved the proposed ban on tankers downtown, agreeing instead to let the oil companies have the lion's share of the money to prove that they can live up to the city's safety standards voluntarily.

The tryout was recommended by City Manager Walter K. Willman, who said it had the endorsement of the five department officials who had originally urged the ban.

Industry representatives, who were present at last night's commission meeting, had argued that a law would be "impractical," but that its intent could be accomplished through "cooperation."

Willman said an agreement would now have to be made between the city and the oil and trucking industries.

The ban was the main feature of an ordinance regulating the transportation of explosives and flammable liquids. It would have barred downtown tankers, except with police permission to make deliveries.

Highway tankers, not delivering to Pontiac, would also have been banned from entering the city.

ALGIERS (AP) — Francois de France, 25, second son of the Count of Paris, pretender to the French throne, was killed today fighting Algerian nationalist rebels in the Kabylie Mountains.

Ford Meets the Author of His Childhood Stories

COLOGNE, Germany — Henry Ford II walked through a crowd of West Germany's wealthiest men Monday and shook hands warmly with a white-haired, 80-year-old — the author of Ford's favorite childhood bedtime stories.

The occasion was a party celebrating the 30th anniversary of Ford's German plant here in Cologne.

Among the millionaires, Ford had as his special guest Count Felix Von Luckner, Germany's famous World War I sea raider and blockade runner.

Von Luckner told of his adventures in the book "The Sea Devil," and the older Henry Ford read it to his grandchildren.

ASKED FOR MORE

In 1927 Henry II, then 3, asked his grandfather for more of the Count's stories. Shyly, Ford told an aide to find Von Luckner.

After a hectic search, the count was found in a New York hotel. He had just come to the United States for a lecture tour.

"Henry told me about his grandchildren and how disappointed they were that there was no sequel to

"The Sea Devil," and he invited me to Detroit," Von Luckner recalled.

"I told him I would be happy to go, especially because 'You did one thing that is really marvelous'."

Ford asked what that one thing was, and Luckner replied:

"You made a lady out of Lizzie," a reference to the nickname for Ford's Model T.

Ford's advertising man, present at the meeting, exclaimed: "Heaven, this sentence is worth millions."

The slogan "Ford Made A Lady out of Lizzie" became known around America, and Ford and Von Luckner became close friends. The Count became a periodic guest at Ford's home in Detroit.

Russ Ship Delivering Rolled Metal to Cuba

MOSCOW (AP)—The steamship Simon sailed today from Novorossiysk on the Black Sea with a cargo of rolled metal bound for Cuba.

The Soviet news agency Tass said Novorossiysk is also the site of oil loadings destined for Cuba.

The Soviet Union and Cuba agreed a few months ago on an oil-sugar trade program.

Tass said 13,000 tons of rolled metal, manufactured at Nizhny Tagil in the Ural Mountains, was turned out on a rush schedule for Cuba.

Campus Romance for State Candidates

Mrs. Alice Swainson, attractive blonde wife of Michigan's Democratic lieutenant governor and gubernatorial candidate, was born in Detroit on March 21, 1927, and graduated from Mackenzie High School after attending public schools in Detroit.

She met her husband while they were attending Olivet College and they were married in the summer of 1948.

The Swainsons lived out of state while her husband was earning his A. B. and law degree from the University of North Carolina but home in a shaded residential section of East Lansing within walking distance of the university.

They have two children, Judy,

a sophomore at Stephens College in Missouri; and Tim, a paratrooper with the Army in Germany.

Mrs. Bagwell takes a major role in her husband's campaign activities, but between campaigns she likes to bake and paint.

Mrs. Bagwell, 41, attended Michigan State after her marriage to get a teacher's certificate and she taught in an elementary school in Lansing until her husband ran for office in 1958.

She has served as director of the family life program for the Michigan Council of Churches and possess a 10-year service pin for work with the Red Cross.

MRS. BAGWELL

returned to Detroit in 1951. They now live at Plymouth and have two sons and a daughter.

Mrs. Swainson's background attests to her hobby of music. She now sings with the Plymouth Civic Chorus after a stint with the Detroit Civic Light Opera Co. in 1948.

She even sold classical music records in a department store at one time and plays the piano. Other interests include water sports and oil painting.

A bit timid about campaigning, she nevertheless finds the prospect of becoming Michigan's first lady "challenging."

"It is a great opportunity to see this beautiful state and meet the wonderful people living here," she said.

Mrs. Swainson keeps busy with many other activities including work in the Muscular Dystrophy Association, Michigan Association for Emotionally Disturbed Chil-

STUDIED DRAMA
Tall, dark-haired Mrs. Edith Bagwell met her husband, now the Republican candidate for governor, while both were attending the University of Wisconsin.

She was a junior studying speech and drama when they were married in 1933 and her husband Paul was a graduate student and part-time teacher.

A short time later he accepted a teaching post at Michigan State University and the Bagwells have been in Michigan ever since.

Air Guardsmen Fail in Nonstop Mark Try

HONOLULU (UPI)—Two air national guardsmen from North Dakota failed in their bid for a new nonstop record for light aircraft today when one of the tiny planes landed on Wake Island and the other crashed in the ocean three miles off shore.

The Coast Guard here said the pilot of the ditched plane was spotted in the water, and a Navy crashboat was en route to pick him up.

It was not immediately known which of the two pilots crashed.

At the controls of the planes were Capt. Charles Finnegan, 39, and Lt. Duane Stirling, 27.

The Coast Guard identified the ditched plane only by the number 8187E.

Son of French Pretender Killed in Algerian Melee

ALGERS (UPI)—Francois de France, second son of the pretender to the French throne, was killed Tuesday fighting the Algerian rebels in the wild hills of Kabylia.

Francois, 25, was one of 11 children born to the count of Paris and his wife, the former Princess Isabelle d'Orleans-Bragnac.

The count of Paris, also known as Henri de France, is a direct descendant of the last of the French king Louis-Philippe who was exiled in 1848.

Ann Arbor Authorizes Plans for New City Hall

ANN ARBOR (UPI)—The Ann Arbor City Council has authorized Alden B. Dow Associates, Midland architects, to draw plans for a proposed city hall here.

The council agreed to pay the Midland firm $3,500 for the preliminary plans and drawings and promised to award the firm 6 percent of the project cost if the voters approve a bond issue to finance the project and it is completed. Estimated cost of the city hall is $1.6 million.

2 Michigan Cities Contest Finalists

NEW YORK (UPI)—Grand Rapids and Traverse City were listed today among 22 communities across the nation which are finalists in this year's competition for the All-America Cities Award.

Names of the finalist cities were announced by William Collins, president of the National Municipal League. The competition is co-sponsored annually by the league and a national magazine.

The cities chosen for the finals have been invited to present an account of their achievements before the All-America Cities Jury at the National Conference on Government in Phoenix, Ariz., Nov. 14-15.

The cities will be judged according to the outstanding action taken by their citizens to solve major community problems.

Use Carbonated Beverage to Marinate Ham Steak

Rotisseries, built-in fireplaces, metal grill units—all had lots of use these past weeks of hot weather. Even with cooler days not so far away, outdoor meals still lead the list of favorite parties.

A new idea for grilling ham steak outdoors is to marinate it in a spicy pineapple sauce, then brush the remaining sauce over the meat as it cooks. Marinating makes any meat more tender and this marinade adds a flavorful accent as well.

Ham and pineapple are natural food partners and this recipe gives directions for an out-of-the-ordinary way to accent them. Spices

Combine ingredients (except ham steak) and mix thoroughly. Place ham steaks in a shallow pan and pour sauce over and around them. Set in refrigerator to marinate for 2 or 3 hours (or overnight) turning ham over once or twice. Grill steaks over hot coals or under broiler until tender, basting once or twice with remaining sauce. Yields about two cups sauce.

Bubbly Lunch

For a quick and nourishing lunch broil a can of Maine Sardines until the tasty little fish are bubbling hot. Spread toast with prepared mustard and top with the sardines, alternating with slices of crisp bacon. Sprinkle with chopped pickles and lemon juice; and listen to the requests for seconds.

Skillet Cooked Vegetables Please

A symphony of flavors!

Vegetable Get-Together

4 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 large onion (cut into thin strips)
1 pound (2 medium-size) string beans
1 yellow squash (cubed) and sliced in thin rounds
3 medium-sized tomatoes (each cut into 8 wedges)
1 green pepper (cut into thin strips)
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon white pepper
1/2 teaspoon sugar
1/4 teaspoon ground all-spice

In large skillet, cook onion until golden in 2 tablespoons of the butter. Add remaining butter, remaining vegetables, salt and pepper, stirring a few times, until squash is tender — about 10 minutes. Makes 6 servings.

Bit of Orange Can Help Gingerbread

This gingerbread is lightly spiced so the orange flavor will come through.

Orange Gingerbread

1 1/2 cups sifted flour
1/2 teaspoon baking soda
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon ginger
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 cup butter or margarine
1/2 cup sugar
2 eggs
2 tablespoons grated orange rind
1 cup dark molasses
1/2 cup boiling water

Grease the bottom of a baking pan (9 by 9 by 1 1/4 inches); line bottom with waxed paper; grease paper.

Sift together the flour, baking soda, salt, ginger and cinnamon. Cream butter and sugar; beat in eggs thoroughly, one at a time. Add orange rind. Stir molasses and boiling water together. Add dry ingredients to creamed mixture in four additions, alternating with molasses-water mixture; begin and end with dry ingredients and beat only until smooth; batter will be thin.

Turn into prepared pan; bake in moderate (375 degrees) oven until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean — 25 to 30 minutes. Turn out on cake rack; strip off paper. Serve hot with whipped cream. Makes 9 servings.

Potato salad on the menu? You'll need to cook 5 medium-sized potatoes in their skins; to peel and dice to make about three cups.

Creamy Chicken Cooks in Skillet

Range-top chicken, easy to cook!

Chicken With Mushroom Sauce

1 small broiler-fryer
1/2 cup flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1/2 teaspoon paprika
1 cup butter or margarine
1 can (3 ounces) sliced mushrooms
2 to 4 tablespoons sherry

Have chicken cut into 10 pieces. Mix flour, salt, pepper and paprika; coat chicken with mixture. Brown chicken in butter in large skillet; cover tightly and cook until tender, turning as necessary. Remove chicken; add 4 cup liquid from mushrooms to skillet; stir and dice to make about three cups.

No Napping Backache Means a Good Night's Sleep

Napping backache, headache, or muscle aches and pains may come on with colds, flu, or other ailments, or day to day stress and strain. And folks who get tired and cranky sometimes suffer from backache too. With that restlessness, you're not sleeping well. If you are miserable and were out to have fun, your vacation, or even your work, is ruined. Don't let a little cold or flu ruin your vacation or work. Get a good night's sleep. Backache means a good night's sleep. Get a good night's sleep. Backache means a good night's sleep.

Both Women Are Used to Working Hard

Bentley, McNamara Find Wives Helpful While They're Pounding Campaign Trail

Mrs. Avelle Ann Bentley, wife of the Republican representative from Owasco and candidate for senator, was born in Antigo, Wis., on Aug. 5, 1923.

Mrs. Bentley attended public schools in Antigo and planned to go on to college and become a home economics instructor. However, her father's death and mother's illness prevented her from this goal.

After caring for her mother for several years, Mrs. Bentley worked six months during World War II for Western Electric in Chicago.

She came to Owasco in 1936 as manager of the Owasco City Club and served in this capacity until 1932.

It was here she met her husband, a member of the club, and they were married on Nov. 8, 1932, four days after her husband was elected to his first term in Congress.

Mrs. Bentley, a lifelong cooking enthusiast, is well known in Owasco for her culinary skills and the International Club of Washington.

Although she finds campaigning throughout the state "much more hectic" than the political trail in her home Eighth District, Mrs. Bentley finds helping her husband in his campaign "very exciting."

The Bentleys have one son, Clark Henry, 6, and three children by his former marriage, Alvin Jr., 19, Helen, 17, and Michael, 15.

CAME FROM TP

Mrs. Mary Lucille McNamara, wife of the incumbent Democratic U.S. senator, was born in 1899 in Calumet in the upper Peninsula and spent most of her early life in this region.

She and her husband were working at H. Kelly and Co. heating firm in Detroit when they met in 1928. The senator was a superintendent and she was a secretary at the time.

"In a moment of weakness," as she puts it, the senator proposed in 1932 and they were married the same year.

Mrs. McNamara continued to work for five years, following their wedding, as a secretary in an interior decorating firm and an insurance company. Then, after "leading a life of leisure" for a few years, she says, she did volunteer work in Detroit from 1942 to 1944.

Mrs. McNamara served as manager of the senator's Detroit office from 1954 until Sept. 1 of this year. She is currently assisting him in his campaign for re-election.

(Sen. McNamara's first wife died. He has two children by his first wife and 11 grandchildren.)

Bentley, McNamara to Be on TV Candidates for Governor Level Countersalvos

By The Associated Press

U. S. Gov. John B. Swainson, Democratic gubernatorial candidate, blasted the Republican platform Tuesday, calling it "pusy" and promises repudiated in advance to past performance."

Swainson's rival, Paul D. Bagwell, said Tuesday that "if we don't get behind the sales-tax increase, then my opponents' program of a personal income tax will be adopted."

Swainson toured the Bay City Saginaw area and Bagwell traveled by motorcycle through five Northwestern Michigan counties.

"The 1960 Republican platform, contrasted with the Republican legislative record of the last two years, represents the height of hypocrisy," Swainson said at Saginaw.

"It is a crassly cynical document that promises the very things the Democrats have tried to enact into law, only to see them killed by the Republican majority."

"It is a brazen hoax, a complete contradiction to the record of performance of public officials elected from the Republican party."

Swainson also said Republican legislators have blocked Democratic measures to expand community colleges, set minimum salaries for teachers and increase state aid to local schools.

Bagwell reiterated the stand on taxes he made Monday night on a televised debate with Swainson. He contrasted his positive support of a sales-tax increase against what he called Swainson's reluctance to spell out an alternative tax program.

In the race for Michigan's Senate seat, Democratic Sen. Patrick V. McNamara said Tuesday at Detroit the Republican administration had distorted the national economic picture by what he called juggling of employment figures.

His opponent, Rep. Alvin M. Bentley, disappointed over the turnout for his appearance at Monroe Tuesday, said he feared for the Republicans' chances in Michigan in the Nov. 8 election.

World's Best Anglers Challenge Union Lake Fish

Contest Is Arranged for Area Residents on Opening Day

Those lunker bass, pike and rainbows lurking in the depths of Union Lake are going to have lures dragged in front of their noses by the world's best fishermen Saturday.

About 70 anglers from the United States and 8 foreign nations will begin their quest for the world's fresh water championship at 7 a.m. from Dunham's Sporting Goods Shop. The 1st and last stops on the 9-day tour will be at Union Lake.

Lakes and streams near six northern Michigan communities will be fished before the world champion is crowned Oct. 24 at the Bonnie Brook Country Club.

A local contest has been arranged for residents of the Union Lake area Sunday. Marty Jensen of Union Lake, state co-chairman, said those wishing to enter should register at Dunham's before 7 a.m. Sunday. Awards will be given to the top anglers. Should one of them come in with a larger catch than the daily winner in the world tour, he or she will be invited to compete in the 1961 world tournament.

Contestants for the international competition are scheduled to begin checking into the Hines Park Motel in Plymouth Saturday. A reception dinner is planned that night at Topinka's Road House. A movie will be shown later at the World Series of Fishing Tour headquarters in Birmingham.

About 5 a.m. Sunday, the competitors will meet at the Cooley Lakes restaurant in Union Lake village for breakfast. Rules will be explained and maps showing the various depths of the Lake bottom distributed. Box lunches, supplied by Union Lake businessmen, will be handed out. Fishermen will be expected to leave the dock. The anglers must come off the lake at 3 p.m. The starting and closing times apply at each stop on the tour.

Ten state champions will be the latest. Other outside outdoor writers and invited challengers. Foreign countries sending champions are Ireland, Sweden, Costa Rica, Mexico, Union of South Africa, Ireland, New Zealand and Canada. Claude Rogers of Virginia, world salt-water fishing champion, is expected to be on hand.

Each angler will be awarded one point for each ounce of fish he brings in. The fishing on Union Lake will be for panfish, black bass, northern pike and rainbow trout. The combined catch will be weighed.

A bonus system has been devised. A contestant gets a 25 percent bonus for using 8 to 11 pound test line and a 50 percent bonus for 5-pound test and under. A 50 percent penalty will be imposed for each fish lost after being seen by the angler. The penalty limit is 25 percent. Two contestants will be in each boat.

Scott Outboard Motors is shipping new motors for the tour and will also award trophies to daily winners. The Ford Motor Company has donated the giant trophy which goes to the overall winner. The 1st day winner at Union Lake will be announced Sunday evening during a banquet at the Edgewood Country Club.

Refuge Land Leased to Private Company

Conservation interests and private industry stand to benefit from an 18-year timber cutting agreement signed last week by officials of the conservation department and the Packaging Corporation of America.

Under the long-range program, to take place on a 3,700-acre block of timber in the northwest corner of Gladwin County, Ogemaw state forest, the Packaging Corporation is guaranteed continued cuttings at a consistent, predetermined level each year.

At the same time, its cuttings will create and sustain a variety of game, habitat conditions and timber age classes. Special emphasis will be given to maintaining the block as a public grouse field trial area.

chairman; Marty Jensen, state co-chairman of Union Lake; and Hy Peskin of Bloomfield Hills, international executive director. The large trophy in front of the sign goes to the world champion.

Detroit River Patrol

Watch-Dog System Protects Waterfowl

LANSING (UPI)—Thanks to a new State water resources authorities watch-dog system, ducks which sail the Detroit River are pretty well protected now from industrial and municipal wastes that can spread sickness and death among waterfowl.

The water resources commission put the 19-foot boat into

Doves Safe in Michigan

Flocks of mourning doves have finished their southward flight through southern Michigan. No sportsman lifted his gun at these birds.

"They can fly 60 miles per hour, offering a real challenge to any sportsman," says Dr. George A. Petrides, wildlife researcher at Michigan State University. "In the nation as a whole, hunters probably bag more doves than all other migratory game birds combined."

Michigan raises thousands of doves. Thousands more pass through each fall on their annual

Pheasant Contest Opens for Small Game Season

The small game season in southern Michigan opens Oct. 20 at 10 a.m. and so does The Pontiac Press pheasant contest.

A $50 United States savings bond will be awarded to the hunter bagging the heaviest pheasant during the regular season which ends Nov. 10. The reward for the longest ringneck is a $25 savings bond.

Joining pheasants on the legal list the same day will be rabbits, squirrels, ruffed grouse, woodchuck and raccoon. Grouse are legal until Nov. 19 and rabbits to March 1. The squirrel season closes the same day as pheasants. After opening day, the shooting hours will be 6 a.m. to 7 p.m., except on coons, opossums and migratory birds.

Four townships are closed to hunting in Oakland County. They are Bloomfield, Farmington, Southfield and Waterford.

The winners in last year's pheasant contest were Lester Schoonover of Birmingham with a 43-inch ringneck he bagged the opening day and Jim Filhart of Orionville who had a 3-pound, 11½ ounce rooster.

The rules are unchanged. Only full-time Oakland County residents are eligible. The ringnecks can be taken anywhere in Michigan with a shotgun of bow and arrow.

Entries in the heaviest division must not be dressed out. Dressed birds will not be acceptable for weight honors. The longest birds will be measured from tip of the beak to the end of the tail. A strap tape will be used in measuring. Following the body contour is not acceptable.

All entries in both classes must be brought to The Pontiac Press for weighing, measuring and photographing between 8 a.m. and 1:30 p.m. Monday through Friday and from 8 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. on Saturdays. No entries will be taken Sundays.

The contest deadline is at 11:30 a.m. Nov. 12, two days after the regular season closes.

There is some good news from Union Lake for contestants in the world championship fishing contest. Many anglers have been coming off the lake with limit catches of bass. Night-crawlers and minnows are the best bait. The rainbows haven't started to hit. They aren't biting on Square Lake either.

Many fishermen put away their gear for the year when hunting season rolls around. This is a big mistake. October is one of the best months of the year for fishing.

Duck hunters had good shooting the first couple of days. Then the ducks became scarce. One sad point is the number of hunters who refuse to observe the opening and closing hours.

A large number of violators could be heard banging away in the Orionville recreation area last weekend a half hour after the sunset closing time.

Flies Only Waters

No Big Changes Forecast

LANSING — Conservation Dept. Black River, Otsego and Montclair officials are suggesting money Counties; and an additional major change in their original total portion of the main stream proposal on "flies only" trout of the Au Sable River, Crawford fishing regulations, which return to County, as requested by several Conservation Commission action to parties last week. Department of day and Thursday at the Higgins fields (that research has lake conservation school).

Their latest suggestion is based on a recent review of earlier agreement tools.

In the only change from last month, the Commission is recommending that 50 feet be added to "flies only" controls are not proposed "flies only" waters on recommended on sections of the East Branch of the Au Gres Manistee River, Lake County; River.

Generally Agree

Conservation Questions Answered by Candidates

LANSING (UPI)—It is a well-known fact that special interests often determine the way a citizen votes as much, or perhaps even more, than does his party affiliation.

Submaterial candidates Paul D. Bagwell and John B. Swanson recently submitted their stands on conservation at the request of the Michigan United Conservation Clubs. The MUCC boasts a membership of more than 50,000 in 3 clubs across the state.

The organization urged its members to study the candidates' views and vote for the one who would best further his individual interests as an outdoorsman if elected.

The MUCC asked the two major party candidates their views on seven questions of prime interest to the Michigan outdoorsman. Generally both the Republican and Democratic candidate agreed in their answers — each came up with the answer designed to satisfy the interest of MUCC members.

Bagwell and Swanson agreed monies in the game and fish protective fund, which come from fish and game license fees, should be used solely for conservation purposes.

The MUCC received a fence-riding answer from both candidates on a question of whether Michigan needs a more adequate, effective and far-reaching anti-litter law. The two-fold question also asked whether Bagwell and Swanson would be willing to support legislation to "effectively control" roadside billboard advertising.

Swanson said he would be in favor of a "thorough study" of the litter problem. He said "more education" was needed to keep public places clean, along with "more strict" enforcement of existing laws.

GOP nominee Bagwell said he would favor any "practical anti-litter law, properly enforced." He said he learned state police had a problem of enforcing the existing laws because many people aren't aware of the rules. He also advocated a "complete public education program" on the problem.

On the billboard question termed as "eyesores" highways littered with advertising signs. Both candidates called for "effective" legislation which would allow reasonable leeway to advertisers and

Plan Rustic Dining Room, Gourmet Shop

Alban Sprucing Up Old Red Barn Just Off M24

By LEE WINBORN

The old red barn just off M24 between Lake Orion and Oxford is being converted to a new use—a rustic public dining room and gourmet specialty shop.

Retaining the original character of the building, Mr. and Mrs. T. G. Alban of Lake Orion are remodeling the 2½-story structure to cater to dining diners everywhere—but especially to those who frequent the three lodges in the area during the winter months. The lower level will contain every type of delicacy to tempt the epicure's palate, from delicate spices to imported English coffee.

At the rear near the new kitchen wing will be a carry-out counter where patrons can purchase specialties of the house.

The second floor is being finished off as the main dining room, with a high-beamed ceiling and balconies under the giant rafters at each end.

The owners, who also have a similar operation in Birmingham, called simply Alban's, are retaining the rustic atmosphere both in the remodeling and furnishings.

The stairways are made of handhewn beams, and the table legs in the dining room will be covered with rope.

Formerly Markwood's Old Red Barn, the ancient structure now has a new name, Alban's Country Cousin. The Albans purchased the building and 10 acres

In March and began work on the project immediately.

The barn, which was on a 160-acre farm plot originally purchased by the government from the Cherokee Indians for $300 back in the early 1800s, formerly was right on the through highway.

A year ago, however, the road was straightened and the farm buildings bypassed.

Now the Albans plan to have electric street lamps erected from the main road around the curve in front of the barn and back to the highway, providing a well-illuminated entranceway.

The two old street lamps now in front of the building were gifts of one of the Albans' patrons in Birmingham, C. Y. Newcomer of 1196 Lakeside Drive. They are converted to gas.

In addition to remodeling the barn, the Albans have purchased the little old house where the offices of the Oxford Lumber and Coal Co. were located for many years. It was built in about 1903.

The white frame structure, which already has been dubbed "The Gingerbread House" will be moved to a site across the gravel driveway on the north side of the barn.

It will house an antique and gift shop to be operated in conjunction with the barn.

The cement block basement being built now as the foundation for the tiny house will be used for storage of tools and equipment.

Horses will graze in the fields beyond, and eventually the Albans may erect other buildings in keeping with their original idea of an early American shopping and dining center. They may be art studios, craft shops and other similar enterprises.

The barn project is due for completion sometime next month. One of its outstanding and unusual features is that the entire building will be electrically heated, a novelty in that type of structure. Building contractor is Dave Enterprises of Clawson. Cost of remodeling is about $30,000, including the leveling of a parking area for about 75 cars on the south side of the Country Cousin.

Incorporation would benefit both villagers and Oxford Township residents who would be included in the new city, the committee said.

The nature center at Kensington Metropolitan Park near Milford was visited Sunday by a record 2,230 persons, Bill Hopkins, chief naturalist for the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority, reported today.

The record-breaking attendance replaces the 2,060 figure recorded Oct. 12, 1958.

The nature center, first opened in 1957, features seasonal exhibits on various phases of natural sciences. Nature trails are nearby. Last year, more than 48,000 persons visited the center.

Set Farm Talk in RO

ROYAL OAK — Members of the Royal Oak Organic and Farm Club will meet at 7:45 p.m. tomorrow to hear a talk on "Organic Facts" by Howard Larsen at the First Baptist Church, 309 N. Main St.

Watt said expenses have increased some $63,000 because of the hiring of new staff members, adoption of the new salary schedule for every teacher in the system.

"The new salary schedule was put into effect," Watt said, "because it was necessary to have the Avondale school system on a competitive basis with other systems."

FARMINGTON TWP. Alters Two Laws

FARMINGTON TOWNSHIP — Amendments to two ordinances were adopted last night by the township board.

Brought up-to-date by the revisions were the building and electrical ordinances.

Added to the building ordinance were regulations regarding the moving of houses within the township. The amendment calls for a bond and an inspection when the house is moved to its new location.

The electrical code was revised to meet the standards set up in the national electrical code of uniform rules.

"GINGERBREAD HOUSE" — That will be the name given to this tiny house when it is moved next door to Alban's Country Cousin and remodeled as a gift and antique shop. Built in about 1903, it formerly housed the offices of the Oxford Lumber and Coal Co. in Oxford.

Report on City Incorporation Eyed by Oxford Councilmen

OXFORD — Village councilmen last night decided to take up the study of city incorporation for Oxford which has been recommended in a report by a citizens advisory committee.

The seven-man citizens advisory group, which was appointed by the council last December, reported that city incorporation would provide a better tax base and an increase in services.

Incorporation would benefit both villagers and Oxford Township residents who would be included in the new city, the committee said.

The proposed city of Oxford would be nearly twice the size of the present village.

Ray Road from Stony Lake to Oxford Road would form the northernmost limit of the city as defined by the committee.

From Ray and Oxford roads, the line would run south to the present village limits, then east to the lake on the north side of Lakeville Road to the east side of Oxford Lake and then south on a section line to Drahner Road.

On Drahner Road, the southern city limit, the line would continue west to a point near the New York Central Railroad tracks and then due north to its starting point at Ray Road and Stony Lake.

The new city would include the major industries, American Aggregates, Inc., and Synerco Corp., which would greatly add to the tax base.

Benefits for present village residents as contained in the report would include:

BENEFITS LISTED

An increase of approximately $20,000 in tax returns at the present millage rate because of the increased population and higher property valuations, resulting in a better tax base, increased services and lower per capita costs.

Elimination of the tax for township operation.

Only one valuation on property with only one assessor and board of review and only one office at which to pay taxes.

Representation by a supervisor who would insure presentation of the city's needs and desires to the county board of supervisors.

Registration and voting at only one location, the city hall, in all elections.

A broader base of population from which able men would come to serve the city in public capacities.

"The effect of these benefits would be a simplification of local government with the resulting convenience for present residents of the village," the report stated.

"Since most of the duties of the township are also being performed by the village at present," the report continued, "the city's cost to carry on these functions should be negligible with an elimination of duplication of services."

Benefits for township residents who would be included in the proposed city are:

FOR THE TOWNSHIP:

The committee also said benefits would be available for township residents who would be included in the proposed city. They include:

Protection of ordinances and enforcing authority which the home rule villages and cities can legally provide.

A lower fire insurance rate due to guaranteed fire protection.

Police protection, snow removal, street maintenance, street lights and, in the future, sanitary sewers.

A saving of $12 in most cases on rubbish and garbage collection with more frequent pickup and additional village DPW services.

A responsive, well organized local government to serve the increasing needs of the local areas.

The committee said that these increased services should offset the increase in taxes for township residents.

Milton Francis is chairman of the citizens advisory group, which is made up of four village residents and three from areas considered for incorporation.

Dr. D. C. Davidson is co-chairman and secretary. Others on the committee are Lee VanWagoner, Ted Pearson Jr., Clarence Forest, Joe V. Sasser and Keith Carter.

Announce Goal in White Lake

Church Reveals Plans to Raise $17,000 Over Two-Year Period

WHITE LAKE TOWNSHIP — A $17,000, two-year building fund goal has been announced by the recently organized Christ of the Lakes Lutheran Church.

Following the completion of the pledge campaign next week, building committee will proceed with plans for the construction of the first church unit.

The first building, to be constructed on a 5-acre site on M24 near the entrance of the Twin Beach Subdivision, is expected to be started late next year, according to the Rev. Ivan C. Ross, pastor of the church.

The building goal was adopted at a congregational dinner Monday, held at the Shepherd of the Lakes Lutheran Church in Walled Lake.

Guest speaker at the dinner meeting was the Rev. John W. Miller, pastor of Epiphany Lutheran Church in Plymouth.

Seeks Parents' Cooperation

Clarenceville Board Acts to Quell School Vandalism

FARMINGTON TOWNSHIP — The Clarenceville Board of Education, in an attempt to halt a rash of school vandalism, is seeking the cooperation of parents in warning children of the consequences.

"Every effort has been made to discourage unauthorized entry and vandalism in schools," said School Supt. Louis E. Schmidt.

"However, there are continual minor, as well as major, problems involved in damage to school property."

Schmidt said every effort will be made to determine who is responsible for the damage to school property, and that restitution is made.

COMMUNICATION 1ST STEP

"It is the wish of the board of education that the first step will be communication between youngsters and parents in an attempt to reimburse the district for the cost of damages," Schmidt explained.

"However, should this prove ineffective, the school board will then take steps involving such agencies necessary in resolving the problem."

Within the last several months, Schmidt said, the school district has experienced considerable damage to school property.

Avondale School Budget Higher

The Avondale Board of Education has approved an operating budget of $950,719 for the 1960-61 school year, according to School Supt. LeRoy R. Watt.

This year's figure is an increase of $87,194 over the 1959-60 operating budget which was $863,525.

However, the higher budget was necessary because of a new salary schedule approved for teachers in the school system this year, Watt said.

Starting salary for teachers this year is $4,400, which is $200 more than the 1959-60 pay for beginning faculty members, the superintendent reported.

Maximum pay is $6,400. There was no maximum set last year.

The board also increased the budget in order to take advantage of matching funds available under the National Education Act, he said.

Watt said expenses have increased some $63,000 because of the hiring of new staff members, adoption of the new salary schedule for every teacher in the system.

"The new salary schedule was put into effect," Watt said, "because it was necessary to have the Avondale school system on a competitive basis with other systems."

Farmington Twp. Alters Two Laws

FARMINGTON TOWNSHIP — Amendments to two ordinances were adopted last night by the township board.

Brought up-to-date by the revisions were the building and electrical ordinances.

Added to the building ordinance were regulations regarding the moving of houses within the township. The amendment calls for a bond and an inspection when the house is moved to its new location.

The electrical code was revised to meet the standards set up in the national electrical code of uniform rules.

In another action, the township board advanced $2,000 to the Oakland County Department of Public Works for preliminary engineering studies of the Grand River sanitary sewer arm; which is proposed to be connected to the Farmington Interceptor.

Once the bonds are sold for the project, the funds will be returned to the township.

Lathrup Works on Problem

Taking Bids on Sewers

LATHRUP — The City Council here has given the green light to Ann Arbor engineers to accept bids for the construction of the first portion of a sanitary sewer system.

The building of the sewage system will be a 6-year sewage pollution problem of the Rouge River.

The firm of Ayres, Lewis, Norris and May is taking the bids for the estimated $250,000 sewer.

Lathrup has been for some time in contempt of court over its sewage problem, and had until Nov. 1 to show cause why the pollution in the river should not be remedied.

Councilmen also have agreed to the terms of a contract with the Ann Arbor engineering firm for a preliminary study of a solution to the city's storm water problem.

A report on the study has been promised to the council by Dec. 1. Lathrup will ask its residents early next year to approve bonds to pay for the storm water system. It will be the third such vote in as many years.

W. Bloomfield Boys Club Elects Officers Thursday

KEEGO HARBOR — The West Bloomfield Boys Club will elect officers at its annual meeting tomorrow at 8 p.m. in the Veterans Building.

Seven officers, including a 21-member ruling board.

All terms are for three years.

Anyone attending the election meeting can cast a vote, according to Director Carl Missett.

Voters in the district approved three mills for operation in 1956, according to School Supt. Kenneth W. Stanley.

Teachers' salaries have remained the same since the 1958-59 school year, he said.

The schedule inaugurated then calls for a starting salary of $4,500 for a teacher with a bachelor's degree and $4,800 for those with masters.

With increments over a 10-year period, a teacher holding a bachelor's degree may earn a maximum of $5,600 and with a master's, $5,800.

An increase in teachers' pay would bring the district into line with others in the area, Stanley explained.

Rummage Sale Slated

WALLED LAKE — The Crossroads Presbyterian Church, 1505 Welch Road, will hold a rummage sale Friday from 6 to 9 p.m. and Saturday 9 a.m. to noon.

The sale is sponsored by the Women's Association. Proceeds will be used to purchase useful items for the building.

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—There was much to do when Gracie Allen retired from show business. Not generally known is the fact that her show friend, Mary Benny, has also virtually retired for almost a decade.

This was disclosed by Jack Benny as he prepared to kick off his 11th and most strenuous season on TV. He'll face it without Mary.

She had been scheduled to appear in the first show. "I needed a scene in which someone would hold me for going on TV every week, and Mary was the only one who could do it because she is the only woman who has a close relationship with me," Jack explained.

"But I could see she was getting more and more nervous as the show got closer. So we wrote her part rather than subject her to the strain. She gets nervous, even without an audience."

"Actually, Mary never was crazy about performing. During our last days on radio, she did all her work at home, and the script girl read her lines with me before the audience. The people never minded, once I explained the situation to them."

While Mary has given up performing, she's still an important member of the Benny team. "I always take decisions to her, because she has great insight," Benny said.

Benny is embarking on a weekly TV grind though he is 27 years beyond his legendary 39. He doesn't need the money. He doesn't need the fame. So why does he do it?

"I think it makes more sense in building an audience," he explained. "Before, no one knew exactly which week I was on. I didn't even know myself. It was hard to maintain a rating, because she would like the alternate show, and vice versa."

"Besides, I like to work. I've always been a little show crazy. Bob Hope and I often agree which of us is the worse in that regard. We both hate long vacations."

The schedule still leaves him time to play golf three or four times a week (though he grouched about the loss of daylight saving) and to play fund-raising concerts, as he will next month in Cleveland, Cincinnati and Indianapolis.

"I think it's working that keeps me young," he observed. "If I had quit a couple of years ago, I'd be an old man by now."

WONT FACE CAMERAS—Mary Livingston was slated to appear Sunday on the kickoff show for her husband Jack Benny's 11th season in television. But as show time drew near, she got very nervous so Jack decided to write her part out rather than put her under more strain. Mary has been out of show business since the last days of Benny's radio series when she read her part from their home.

Polaris Show Blasts Off With Stark Human Drama

By Fred Danzig
NEW YORK (UPI)—When it comes to underwater excitement on TV, forget about "Aquanauts" and "Sea Hunt."

I'll take the one-hour special titled, "The Year of the Polaris," which served to launch the 1961 season for the "CBS Reports" series in a smooth, interesting, intensely dramatic, human and inspiring fashion.

Polaris, of course, is the name of that ball-point intermediate range ballistic missile that rides underwater in a nuclear submarine, and has rewritten the defense manual.

The missile's first stage, so to speak, is the submarine, which is a portable launching pad capable of firing 16 Polaris missiles at targets from secret underwater locations.

With Edward R. Murrow as the reporter-narrator, the film showed the missile without detracting came into being after a number of false starts, heartbreaking disappointments and determined efforts to conquer every obstacle, be it manmade or natural.

There were film clips of the Navy's early experiments in large inland tanks, on dry land, in waters off the California, Florida and New York coasts, and finally, of the missile's successful launch on July 20, 1960, when two Polaris missiles were launched off Cape Canaveral from the nuclear sub George Washington.

The Navy men, showing the film and the inexpressible joy, excitedly cheered and cried, "Hoo, hoo," or "straight into the pickle barrel" as Polaris poured upward and onward.

Murrow interviewed the key anonymous designer of the first number, in which a huge fountain, complete with moving statue, dominated the screen. It got a little noisy after a while as O'Connor's splendid analysis but not before some eye-catching hits were worked in.

And Previn's deliberate, fuzzy-to-funke piano sounds, were fine, and so often were submerged by the orchestra. As for humor, O'Connor and his sidekick Sidney Miller ran through their famous imitations of show biz stars. The act looked like a standard variety spot aimed at David Susskind and the "Open End" format.

Titled "Open Mouth," the skit aimed its cutting edge at Susskind's propensity for utilizing a Brodianaglan lexicon. Unfortunately, Susskind himself did a valiant job last Sunday when he brought Nikita Khrushchev to the "Open End" cameras.

The CHANNEL SWIM: Broadway producer Leland Hayward has agreed to direct TV programs for activities for Tevo, Inc., licensed by the Zenith Phonovision Pay-TV System, which was proposed for a test in the Hartford Conn. area.

"CBS Reports" will study America's control of her wealth in "Money and the Next Period," scheduled for Thursday, Oct. 27. A future "CBS Reports" to deal with aviation safety.

Dave Garraway will be the star of a fall-hour variety special, "Dave's Place," scheduled for Friday, Nov. 18 on NBC-TV. The $40,000 jackpot won by Frank Sinatra last Sunday on "The Tonight Show" Monday night represents the richest cash prize ever awarded to a bowler.

Three columnists, Shellie Graham, Irv Kupcinet and Hy Gardner, will sub for ailing Walter Winchell on this Sunday's ABC-TV half-hour newscast, "Tuesday World" will star in "The Mormons," a CBS-TV "Dane Grey Theater" production Dec. 5.

East Boasts Top Farm Land

Real Estate Market Gives Corn Belt Nod Over Other Areas

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Agriculture Department's evaluation of the current farm real estate market shows that the highest priced farms—including buildings and land—are in the Eastern Corn Belt.

In the year ended March 15, lands rated as "good" in the Eastern Corn Belt sold for an average of $44 an acre. "Poor" land in the same area averaged $14 an acre.

Prices of $50 or more an acre were not uncommon in Eastern Illinois and in other local corn belt areas with top-grade land. The department said prices above $500 per acre were less frequent last winter and early spring than they were a year or so ago.

Choice irrigated land in the Mountain States was priced at the $300 to $400 per acre level. The highest prices for land for strictly agricultural purposes were reported for the Pacific Northwest in California. In March, 1960, avocado groves averaged $47.50 per acre, followed by Valencia and Navel orange groves at $2.50.

Florida citrus groves ranged between $2,000 and $2,500 per acre. The department said the feed, hay and forage, and tobacco groups showed the largest advances from a month ago. Only cotton showed a decline.

The average American eats about 10 pounds of fish a year, but New Yorkers average 30 pounds.

Parents attending the Parent-Teacher-Student Association meeting next Wednesday at Waterford Township High School will have a preview of homecoming activities for the following weekend.

At 8 p.m., parents, seated in the bleachers, will participate in a pep assembly.

At 8:30 p.m., parents will go to homecoming where they will receive their students' daily schedules.

For the next hour they will have an opportunity to visit with teachers and see materials to be used during the year.

Refreshments will be served in the cafeteria.

Nikita's Talk Played Up by Moscow Newspaper

MOSCOW (AP)—Nearly the entire Tuesday front page and the whole second page of the Soviet newspaper Izvestia were devoted to the transcript of Premier Khrushchev's interview with David Susskind on the "Open End" TV program in New York Sunday night.

"I think it makes more sense in building an audience," he explained. "Before, no one knew exactly which week I was on. I didn't even know myself. It was hard to maintain a rating, because she would like the alternate show, and vice versa."

Comics Make Money by Insulting Audience

By Earl Wilson
NEW YORK—The time has actually arrived, in this craziest of all possible worlds, when our best people go out nights and spend buckets of money—to hear themselves insulted.

"You idiot!" screams a fat bald comedian at them—and they're flattered. They break up laughing.

Jack E. Leonard, "The First Angry Young Man," and Don Rickles, "The Insulting Sultan," are now indulging this very profitable entertainment gimmick.

Ethel Merman was one of the most prominent insultees recently when the new masochism was launched on a citywide basis with the two stars trying to out-insult each other after a diet dinner consisting of nasty pills.

Rickles merely commented, concerning her great voice, that she yells.

"Sorry to yell louder than you do!" he roared at her, ringing under. Ethel squealed happily.

He commanded that Keely Smith stand up. She did. Doing a sketch about Gertrude that was never quite clear to me, he told her, "Say 'Chief, I love you, darling.'"

"Chief, I love you, darling," she complied.

"I believe you," he said—and everybody broke up.

Johnnie Ray was insulted No. 1 at the Blue Angel—next to the management itself. Fat Jack E. Leonard declared that the decor (of that narrow room) was "Early Calistophobia," added that the air-conditioning seemed to be coming in through a hot water boiler, stated that Johnnie Ray has a wonderful voice ("It's too bad it's in Vic Dancone's throat") and further revealed that he is very happy just now "because I have made a two-year television deal."

The two joints were jammed and will be for several weeks. Such is our night life now, you have to go out on the town and get insulted—to retain your self-respect.

Crop Report Sights Record Production in '60

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department's harvest time report said prospects remain favorable for a record total crop production this year.

A near frostless September, even in northern areas, allowed late crops to gain needed maturity, the department said.

Open weather in the South and along the Atlantic Coast after the September hurricanes minimized crop losses.

The department's production index for all crops based on Oct. 1 estimates registered a gain during September to reach a record of 121 per cent of the 1947-49 average.

The department said the feed, hay and forage, and tobacco groups showed the largest advances from a month ago. Only cotton showed a decline.

The average American eats about 10 pounds of fish a year, but New Yorkers average 30 pounds.
