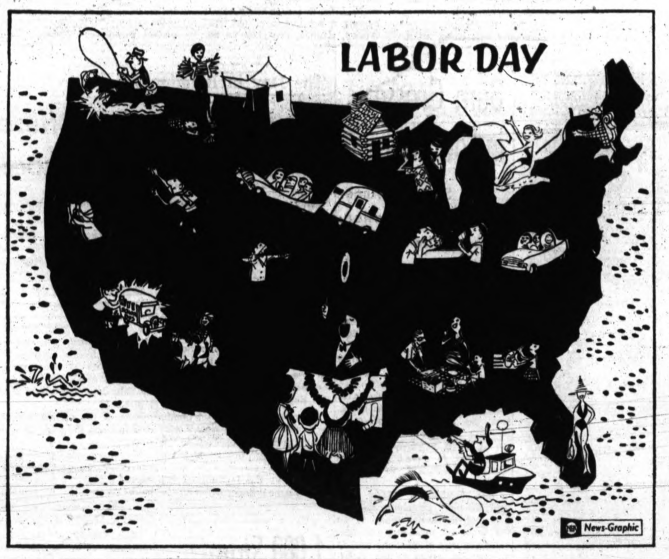
Boat Flips, Traps 12 Underwater in Union Lake



Labor Day Observations Across the Nation

11 Passengers Escape Death; Child Perishes

Fast Action of Nurse, Witnesses Keep Death Toll From Record

BY DICK SAUNDERS

A raft-type pontoon boat became a grotesque cage of death yesterday when it overturned on Union Lake trapping its 12 passengers under water for several terrifying minutes.

A 14-month-old Detroit boy, Frank Dzbanski Jr., of 2108 Burns St., drowned and six other persons were treated for shock at Pontiac General Hospital as a result of the mishap.

Sheriff's deputies said only fast action by an off-duty nurse and many witnesses on the crowded lake kept the death toll from reaching record proportions.

The 8x16-foot homemade boat, owned and operated by Roy Dick, 28, of 32944 Sheridan St., Garden City, had a 3-foot-high, fence-type railing on all four sides.

Witnesses said about 4 p.m. the boat was less than 70 feet offshore in front of Dick's summer cottage at 7780 Barnsbury St., Union Lake, when it was rocked by waves causing most of the 12 aboard to slide to one side.

The boat overturned.

"It wasn't more than 5 feet deep there," Dick said. "The top of the railing rested on the bottom and everyone was trapped inside like birds in a cage."

FORCED GATE OPEN

Dick was able to force open a small gate in the railing at the rear of the craft and swim to the surface.

He began pulling bodies through the gate, handing them to witnesses many of whom rushed into the water fully clothed.

One of the bodies was his 13-months-old son, Kenneth, who was unconscious and near death. Rescuers barely succeeded in reviving the boy. He was reported in satisfactory condition at the hospital today.

First to reach the capsized boat was Samuel Little of 3744 Wedell, Dearborn, one of Dick's guests. Little was sitting on Dick's lawn when the craft overturned.

"It was unbelievable," he related. "People carrying bodies to shore, some trying to apply mouth-to-mouth respiration as they walked.

"Soon there were bodies with people working over them all over the lawn."

NURSE SUMMONED

Mrs. Patricia Fulton, of 2588 Littletell St., West Bloomfield Township, a nurse at Pontiac General Hospital, was summoned by her father, Frank Sterling of 2410 Gillham St., whom she was visiting.

Sterling's home is about a block from the scene.

She arrived before deputies or firemen and immediately began helping volunteer rescuers.

"I just started going from victim to victim taking pulse readings," she said. "Some of the pulses were very thin — a woman on the dock and one of the babies up on the grass.

"One of the children wasn't responding well to artificial respiration. I told the man working over him to use the mouth-to-mouth method."

Sgt. Donald Kratt, director of the sheriff's water patrol, credited Mrs. Fulton, the widowed mother of four, with "probably saving the lives of at least three victims.

"One of our men was working on a child with a resuscitator. The victim was nearly purple when she rushed over.

'STARTED SLAPPING CHILD'

"She took the mouthpiece off the child," Kratt continued, "and started slapping its face until it began crying. She told the man to keep slapping the child, 'you must keep him crying.'"

Other victims who were treated at the hospital were the Dzbanski boy's parents, Frank Sr., and Sadie, both 45; two sisters, Diane,

Holiday Traffic Toll Hitting Record Pace

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The nation's traffic deaths since the start of the long Labor Day weekend today appeared running at a record pace for the holiday period.

Accidents on the highways took an extremely heavy toll Sunday as millions of motorists were on the move in summer's last three-day holiday.

The traffic death toll since the start of the holiday period at 6 p.m. local time Friday soared to 355 including over 200 since early Sunday morning.

In other violent deaths, 17 were in boating accidents, 30 drownings and 54 in miscellaneous type accidents, for an over-all total of 456.

Michigan counted at least 22 traffic fatalities. Boating accidents claimed six. Two other persons drowned and two others died in miscellaneous accidents.

The National Safety Council, in a preholiday statement, estimated between 410 and 490 persons may be killed during the 78-hour holiday period which ends at midnight tonight.

MAY REACH 500

With the sharp increase in fatalities Sunday, the council said if the rate continued the toll may reach 500, surpassing the record Labor Day death count of 461 in 1951.

The third six-victim car crash of the holiday period occurred Sunday in a head-on collision of two cars near Roosevelt, Utah.

Four persons lost their lives Sunday night when three cars collided on a mountain highway near Craig, Colo.

★ ★ ★

Earlier, a head-on crash killed six persons in two cars near Litchfield, Minn., and six other persons lost their lives when two cars collided in a driving rainstorm near Weiner, Ark.

Five elderly persons were killed in a crash of their car with two trucks in Schuyler, Neb.

Three young persons and two truck drivers were killed in a head-on collision between a car and a trailer truck on the West Virginia Turnpike south of Charleston.

Traffic deaths last Labor Day weekend totaled 386, only the third time in the last 12 years that the toll was below 400. The record low toll for the holiday in recent years was 246 in 1946.

Deaths of Over 20,000 Feared in Iranian Quake

From Our News Wires

TEHRAN — A saddened and weeping Prime Minister Assadollah Alam inspected sections of Iran's earthquake area today and was informed that the death toll had passed 10,000 and might go higher than 20,000.

★ ★ ★

Officials with his party said after he returned from the six-hour, 200-mile trip into the devastated area that he was told:

"Many more than 10,000 have died. Maybe 20,000, maybe more."

The U.S. Embassy announced that no Americans were among the dead or injured.

Alam and his aides were staggered by the amount of destruction caused by the series of tremors which first struck a 13,600-square-mile area Saturday night.

The quake knocked out communications and damaged roads so badly that rescue teams had not reached half the stricken communities.

The shock, which lasted only one minute, crumbled towns and villages over a 23,000-square-mile area centering around Takistan, 100 miles northwest of Tehran and about 20 miles southwest of the major rail city of Kazvin.

The Iranian Red Cross said the quake killed 3,000 of the 4,000 inhabitants of Dan-Isfahan near Takistan and up to 300 in Vavyek, 170 miles southwest of Tehran. It said many more thousands were injured.

'An Iranian newsman telephoned from Saveh, 80 miles west of Tehran, that seven villages had been wiped out in that area with a death toll of 355.

The injured crowded hospitals and schools in Karaj and Kazvin, on the edge of the disaster area.

One train brought 108 injured to Tehran Sunday night.

PREMIER WEEPS

"This is a very bad situation. We can only beg God to help us in this calamity," the premier said back in the capital.

At one point on his tour—in a village near Ghazvin—Alam buried his head in his hands and wept openly.

Everywhere the party went they saw mounds of crumbled and broken mud bricks that had once been the homes of villagers.

Dr. Hossein Khatibi, head of the Red Lion and Sun Society—Iran's Red Cross—said there were strong fears that the toll would continue to climb because of the inaccessibility of some of the stricken areas.

The quake area lies to the west and southwest of this capital of 2 million inhabitants.

★ ★ ★

Tehranis felt the first shocks Saturday night but there were no injuries nor reports of property damage in the city. People fled into the streets in panic, however.

The young prime minister's party was met everywhere by weeping, bewildered peasants.

Hellion Wanda's Toll 134 in Hong Kong

HONG KONG (AP) — The toll from Typhoon Wanda, Hong Kong's worst storm in a quarter of a century, rose steadily today as rescue workers continued digging into flooded and demolished homes.

The government reported at least 134 dead, 41 missing, 515 injured and 46,550 homeless. Local Chinese newspapers estimated more than 300 were killed.

Wanda hit the refugee-crowded British colony with winds of 160 m.p.h. Saturday. Damage was estimated unofficially at between $2 million and $4 million.

The dead included five Royal Air Force men whose bodies were found Sunday night near a camping sight on a neighboring island.

Most of the dead were refugees from Communist China. Some drowned when a 6-foot tidal wave flooded their flimsy fishing village shacks. Others perished as winds and landslides swept away squatter huts perched on Hong Kong's steep hillsides.

The tidal wave swept over Shatin, near the Red Chinese border, leaving half the town under water.

The gusts blew down 90 per cent of the huts in one squatter village and destroyed a fishing fleet in the New Territories.

Hong Kong's usually placid harbor turned into a raging cauldron that grounded three ocean freighters, tore seven others loose from their moorings and sank hundreds of sampans and junks.

★ ★ ★

The storm damaged the homes of many Americans and Europeans as it blew out windows of modern apartment buildings overlooking the harbor. Authorities reported considerable damage to military establishments. Hong Kong Airport, closed down during the storm, also suffered some damage.

CROWNS PEACH QUEEN — Doing the honors of crowning the 1962 Romeo Peach Queen Wallyne Ragel, 20, of Roseville, is U. S. Rep. James G. O'Hara, D-Utica. The coronation ceremonies Saturday night highlighted the 30th annual Romeo Peach Festival that closes tonight. O'Hara was the queen's official host in Washington, D. C. just two days before where she went to present peaches to House Speaker John McCormack.

Faces Charges in Driving Death

Detroiter Is Released on Bond; Fenton Auto Dealer Dies in Collision

A 51-year-old Detroit man is charged with manslaughter and leaving the scene of a two-car collision in which Fenton auto dealer William McDaniel was killed Saturday on Dixie Highway near Foster Road, Independence Township.

Miraculously, three passengers escaped with minor or no injuries from McDaniel's car which overturned five times, throwing McDaniel out.

Uninjured was the Detroit driver Harold Quay, who stood mute Saturday before Waterford Township of the Peace Patrick K. Daly and was released on $500 bond pending examination Sept. 9.

★ ★ ★

According to State Police, witnesses saw Quay's car hit McDaniel's in the rear while attempting to pass. McDaniel's car went out of control into a ditch, shot out of it and was struck again by Quay's car, state police said.

THROWN FROM CAR

After the second collision, McDaniel's car overturned several times throwing out McDaniel, who was driving. Quay's car did not stop, witnesses said.

Quay's car was stopped a few minutes later on Dixie Highway near Parkinson Road by Waterford Patrolman Al Dowd who had just heard a description of the Quay car over the police radio.

Dowd quoted Quay as saying he didn't stop because he didn't think the noon accident was serious.

★ ★ ★

The three McDaniel car passengers were treated and released at Pontiac General Hospital.

They were McDaniel's son, William, 13, who suffered a broken nose and cuts on the forehead; a friend of McDaniel, Frank Churchill, 44, of 15292 Benfred, Linden, suffering abrasions and his son, Lynn Churchill, who apparently was not visibly injured.

Soviet Cuba Aid an Old Story

Plan to Send Military Equipment, Experts Doesn't Surprise U. S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. officials believe the Soviet Union's announcement that it will send military equipment and technicians to Cuba merely confirms what has been going on for a long time.

The Soviet statement Sunday said arms and technical specialists will be provided to meet "the threats of aggressive imperialist quarters with regard to Cuba." Type and amount of arms and men were not specified.

★ ★ ★

A State Department spokesman said the Soviet communique appeared to be an attempt to make legitimate what the Soviet Union and other Communist bloc nations have been doing for several months—supplying Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro with military assistance.

"What they say about delivering arms and sending technical specialists to train troops is exactly what they are doing," said the spokesman.

He said the Moscow communique seems to mean such aid will continue.

There was no immediate White House comment on the Russian announcement, which came shortly after the departure from Moscow of Cuban Economic Minister Ernesto Guevara and militia leader Emilio Aragones Navarro.

★ ★ ★

Moscow's announcement of military aid to Cuba followed recent statements by U.S. officials that some 20 Soviet ships have unloaded a large assortment of military hardware in Cuba.

★ ★ ★

So far, U.S. officials have said, about 3,000 Communist bloc military technicians have landed in Cuba but they contend there are no indications that Soviet combat troops are included.

Showers Due to Alter Weather Scene Tonight

Pontiac area residents can expect partly cloudy and warm weather to continue through the holiday, with scattered showers arriving tonight, the weatherman predicts.

★ ★ ★

Following tonight's low of 62, tomorrow's outlook will include considerable cloudiness and cooler temperatures with a few scattered showers. Tuesday's high will be 73.

The lowest temperature recorded preceding 8 a.m. was 60 at 5 a.m. By 10 a.m. the mercury had climbed to 68, with a high of 82 predicted for the day.

$30,000 in Jewelry Taken From Home

Burglars took about $30,000 worth of jewelry and an undetermined amount of cash last night from the home of Ferdinand L. Alpert at 1260 Ardmoor Drive, Bloomfield Township police reported this morning.

Sky Shield Improves Free World Defenses

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP)—Mock air battles waged at supersonic speeds over the North American continent will be of lasting benefit to defenders of the United States and Canada, says the commander of the North American Air Defense Command.

More than 1,600 aircraft carried out the grim make-believe warfare Sunday in Operation Sky Shield III while virtually all civilian planes were cleared from the air from 2 p.m. until 7:30 p.m. Pontiac time.

This is the third time in as many years that Norad has matched its intricate defenses against the might of a simulated aggressor employing fleet bombers and mythical intercontinental ballistic missiles.

Norad and Defense Department officials never have made known their highly classified evaluation of the exercises. But they say each Sky Shield operation has led to the development of new techniques and electronic devices that improve the defense posture of the free world.

Gen. John K. Gerhart's statement came at the end of a 5½-hour exercise in which U.S. and Canadian interceptors, directed from Norad's headquarters here, rose to challenge simulated attacks carried out by B52 and B47 bombers of the United States' Strategic Air Command.

In case any aggressor nation might have picked the time to make a real attack, about a third of SAC's bombers were held ready for action.

Some 40 mythical ICBMs were launched at North American targets, complicating the problem of defense forces.

★ ★ ★

In an accident not related to the defense exercise, a civilian aircraft crashed at Everglades, Fla., killing its two occupants. The crash occurred during the time when nonmilitary aircraft were supposed to be grounded.

★ ★ ★

It was the only report of mishap during the drill, in which a Norad spokesman estimated 3,000 sorties —single plane flights — were flown. More than 800 Norad units were active, including electronic detection stations on the Distant Early Warning, the Mid-Canada and the Pine Tree lines along the top of the continent.

★ ★ ★

The spokesman said a quarter-million men and Army, Navy and Marine units of the United States and Canada participated.

★ ★ ★

The maneuver was based on a three-prong striking force of 1,000 bombers and support craft streaking along the East Coast, into the heart of the continent and down toward the Rocky Mountain region and Pacific Coast.

★ ★ ★

A few civilian craft on essential missions were permitted in the air during the exercise. These included planes fighting forest and brush fires in California, a plane hunting a boy lost in a boat near Ottawa, Canada, one plane in the East directing heavy automobile traffic caused by the Labor Day weekend and three mercy flights in the Southeast.

★ ★ ★

Military estimates were that 1,800 commercial flights in the United States were cancelled or delayed, along with 130 in Canada and 31 of foreign airlines.

Air lines took the opportunity in many cities to hold open house celebrations, inviting the public to inspect commercial planes.

Students Riot in Oregon

SEASIDE, Ore. (UPI) — Helmeted soldiers patrolled the streets of this riot-torn town last night while hundreds of students danced the twist on the beach sand in the moonlight.

The weird contrast marked the tension that has taken over this town of 3,900 since some 1,000 students rioted Saturday night.

A rumor circulated that a new outbreak was brewing.

National Guardsmen, armed with ax handles, paced the nearly deserted streets in pairs, watched quietly from windows, and waited on rooftops. Some 70 state and city policemen patrolled the town.

★ ★ ★

Few students were on the streets. They were gathered on the sand in front of an ocean-side teen-age club where they danced the twist to the music of a small combo.

★ ★ ★

They writhed eerily in the soft moonlight and the light of a few bonfires. Single men were observed moving among the dancing couples.

HOPE HOSTILITY SUBSIDING

Later, police halted the music and the students slowly began to disperse. Authorities were hopeful the belligerance in this resort, a favorite spot for students at the end of the summer, was subsiding. They said it appeared small groups of agitators were unsuccessful in trying to incite another outburst.

The police and guard patrols continued.

The uneasy lull came after new rioting yesterday afternoon and evening. The students spent the day milling on the beach, then suddenly charged at riot squads on the other side of the seawall at the end of the main street. They were repulsed with ax handles and tear gas.

Some 60 of the young men were under arrest. About 40 remained in jail, overflowing the city jail into the county jail.

★ ★ ★

HAMPTON BEACH, N.H. (UPI) —More than 100 persons were arrested in a series of disturbances last night in this New England resort town.

Authorities said college age youths were responsible for the incidents.

State police in Concord, N.H., said the disturbances started yesterday evening with fires in mail boxes, a rash of false alarms, a fire burning in the street and youths lying in the street to prevent fire trucks from passing.

Then a crowd of 15,000 people was reported gathered in front of the Hampton Beach Casino in a potentially riotous situation.

All available state and local police in Rockingham County were called to the scene, in addition to members of the shore patrol regularly assigned to the area. About 150 police, backed up by fire trucks, dispersed the crowd.

COLLARS RIOTER — Bloody faced volunteer fireman Hugh McKenna collars one of the estimated 1,000 college-aged youths who rioted through the resort town of Seaside, Ore., last night. McKenna had been cracked on the head with a beer bottle. More than 60 persons were jailed.

Crucial Mariner Motor to Be Activated Today

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI) —A spectacular United States space triumph over Russia and the possibility of discovering life on Venus could be decided today in a fateful showdown maneuver by Mariner 2 a million and a half miles from earth.

Sometime within a few hours after 9 p.m. (Pontiac time) scientists at Caltech's Jet Propulsion Laboratory (JPL) will flash a solitary signal to the spacecraft in a scant 7 seconds, ordering its robot "electronic brain" to execute a crucial "midcourse maneuver."

The Mariner's midcourse motor and other guidance devices must perform a perfect change-of-course to successfully swing the 447-pound spacecraft within the 10,000-mile exploration range of the mysterious cloud-veiled planet by early December.

The final move in preparing the Mariner for the manuever was successfully completed last night. The process, called earth acquisition, was designed to stabilize the craft's attitude so a high gain directional antenna would be permanently "fixed" on the earth.

Previously the Mariner 2 was in communication with the earth through an omni-antenna which is only effective for 8 million miles.

Since the distance to Venus will be about 36 million miles, the directional antenna, capable of transmitting over 64 million miles, had to be brought into position and "fixed" upon the earth.

Weather Down to Freezing in Plains, Rockies

By The Associated Press

It was chilly this morning in the northern plains and Rocky Mountain region with freezing weather in some areas.

Seasonable temperatures prevailed in most other parts of the nation. Showers dampened areas in the northern plains and the Southeast.

★ ★ ★

Northerly winds fanned cold Canadian air into the northern plains and Rockies. The mercury dropped to 32 in Great Falls, Mont., Sunday night and readings in the 30s were general in nearby areas.

Area Child, 4, Falls From Boat, Drowns in Lake

Cindy Heliker, 4, of 36310 14-Mile Road, West Bloomfield Township, drowned Sunday in Island Lake, three miles east of Brighton.

The girl toppled from the rear of a 15-foot boat occupied by her father, Starr, and a friend, Leslie Mitchell.

The two men who were at the front of the boat pulled the child from the water immediately but could not revive her.

ATLANTA (AP) —Three men were chased from Atlanta's traffic court early Sunday. A night watchman said they were trying to break open a safe.

Guerrillas Stop Algeria Army

ALGIERS (AP) — The Algiers guerrilla command claimed that its troops repelled attacks by regular army forces at two points south and west of Algiers early today.

Lt. Ali Allouache, spokesman of the guerrilla Wilaya (zone) No. 4 controlling Algiers, said the regular forces supporting Deputy Premier Ahmed Ben Bella attacked at dawn at Ain Boucif, 75 miles to the south, and Charon, 150 miles west of the capital.

★ ★ ★

Allouache said the defending guerrillas put up determined resistance and the regulars withdrew after brief engagements.

★ ★ ★

The reported clashes continued a pattern of brief, indecisive engagements between the Wilaya 4 guerrillas and regular army troops which entered the wilaya territory in central Algeria Saturday to end the guerrilla command's rebellion against Ben Bella.

100 CASUALTIES

In Algiers, however, more than 100 persons were reported killed or wounded in a two-hour battle Sunday night between guerrilla troops and supporters of Ben Bella.

Allouache said the regulars south and west of the capital were "feeling out our defenses all around our borders to try and find a point of weakness."

Ain Boucif is an outpost on the Sahara fringes, some 30 miles east of Boghari where a skirmish between the two forces ended with a local cease-fire Sunday.

★ ★ ★

The bulk of the regulars at Boghari—about 600 men — withdrew and tried to encircle Boghari by moving up a desert track to Ain Boucif.

★ ★ ★

Charon is a small market town on the Oran-Algiers highway some 15 miles west of Orleansville. The reported engagement there indicated that Orleansville remained well inside the defense perimeter of Wilaya 4.

Allouache said heavy rifle and machine-gun fire continued for some hours at both Ain Boucif and Charon, but he had no information on casualties on either side.

Thant arrived last night after a week in the Soviet Union, Poland and Czechoslovakia. He will fly back to New York tomorrow.

Raps Romney at AFL-CIO Rally

Swainson Praises Labor Movement

By The Associated Press

Gov. John B. Swainson, a Democrat seeking re-election, declared today that "the Democratic party and the labor movement in this country are the spearheads of progress."

★ ★ ★

His remark came in a speech prepared for delivery before an AFL-CIO sponsored rally, culminating a parade to the Michigan State Fairgrounds.

At the fairgrounds, Swainson was flanked on the speakers rostrum by Sen. Patrick McNamara and Mayor Jerome Cavanagh, both Democrats.

Without mentioning his Republican rival George Romney by name, Swainson said at one point, "my opponent in this campaign has said 'The real disease is AFL-CIO domination in this state politically.'"—then added:

★ ★ ★

"Well, let me just say that if the labor movement in Michigan is a disease, I for one, hope it is contagious.

Blind, unreasoning, reckless, vengeful opposition is the only role the Republican Party in Michigan knows how to play. If a program will help people, the Republican party will kill it."

JIBES AT ROMNEY

Then Swainson took another jibe at Romney, saying:

"I am not surprised that the Republican candidate for governor is ashamed to put the word Republican on his campaign literature. I am not surprised that he was careful in 3,600 words of a half-hour television show not once to use the word Republican. I am not surprised that just two years ago he said he was not a Republican."

Romney, who was snubbed by AFL-CIO promoters of Detroit's Labor Day celebration, horned in on it anyway.

The Republican nominee for governor planned to be on hand as Labor Day paraders assembled at Woodward Avenue and Seven Mile Road "to shake hands."

And then his schedule called for him to "walk to the band shell at State Fairgrounds for hand-shaking," while Democrats sound off from the speakers rostrum at the parade's end.

Romney requested a platform place, but didn't get it from Al Barbour, president of the Wayne County AFL-CIO and arrangements chief for the occasion. Barbour said plans had been laid already and didn't include him.

Klan Shows Anger Against Integration; Plans Albany Rally

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Ku Klux Klan crosses flamed in 14 north Louisiana towns and at the state Capitol in a blazing demonstration against integration during the Labor Day weekend. The Georgia hooded order planned a large rally tonight at racially troubled Albany.

A Louisiana Klan spokesman, who declined to reveal his name, said the Saturday night cross burnings were intended to show the KKK has reactivated in Louisiana and is "publicly demonstrating resentment to integration."

"Our forefathers fought and died for their principles and beliefs and we stand ready to do the same, if necessary, to preserve our way of life," he said in a statement given to the Vicksburg (Miss.) Post.

At Baton Rouge, five fire trucks were called out to douse a 4-foot cross that blazed in front of the 32-story state Capitol building. Crosses also flared before three Negro schools and a Negro minister's house in north Louisiana.

ANNOUNCES RALLY

In Georgia, the grand dragon of the United Klans of America Inc., said a 7 p.m. rally would be staged in Albany "to show that the white people of the South are tired of federal and northern intervention."

Grand Dragon Calvin Craig predicted there would be more than 1,000 persons at the meeting on private property just outside the city limits of Albany in southwest Georgia.

Craig said Klansmen in Florida, Alabama, Tennessee and South Carolina had been asked to attend the rally.

11 Escape Death as Boat Turns Over

Those revived at the scene who didn't require hospital treatment were another of the Dzbanski's children, John, 3; Margaret Zahara, 55, of 2105 Burns, and Ida Benedict, 63, of 9636 Manor St., both Detroiters; and Martha Stisser, 62, of 5744 Wedell, Dearborn.

The Dzbanski boy was dead on arrival at the hospital at 4 p.m. All were guests of the Dicks.

★ ★ ★

West Bloomfield Township Police assisted at the scene. Also answering the call were rescue units from West Bloomfield, Commerce Township and Union Lake fire departments.

'LIKE DISASTER AREA'

Deputy Stanley Clark, first to arrive, said the Dick's lawn "looked like a disaster area when I got there."

Kratt later explained that the raft had three pontoons and was powered by a five-horsepower motor.

"Two pontoons were in the rear, one on either side," he noted. "The third was in the center in front and being centered it gave the boat a tendency to tip if weight was unequally distributed on it.

"That's why it flopped over when the people on one side slid over to the other side."

Witnesses said most of the passengers were fully clothed and the children weren't wearing life jackets.

"Being trapped," Kratt added, "the life jackets might not have made much difference. It was an unusual accident and a miracle they all weren't drowned."

Residents to Be Offered 7 Courses at 3 Schools

BIRMINGHAM — Seven courses will be offered area residents late this month at three local schools by the University Center for Adult Education.

★ ★ ★

The series is a joint venture of Wayne State University, University of Michigan and Eastern Michigan University.

Three courses will be conducted at Seaholm High School while two each will be taught at the Cranbrook Institute of Science and at Cranbrook School for Boys, Bloomfield Hills.

"Introduction to the Art of Music," "Cultures of the New World" and "Current Developments in U.S. Foreign Policy" are scheduled in Birmingham.

Studies at the Institute of Science will be "Introduction to Geology" and "Identification of Michigan Mushrooms."

The courses at Cranbrook School for Boys will be "Readings in the American Novel" and "Music in History."

Registrations for these classes may be made from Sept. 10-22 at the University Center's office in the Rackham Educational Memorial Building, Farnsworth at Woodward Avenue, Detroit.

The office is open weekdays from 8:30 a.m. to 8:30 p.m. and on Saturdays from 8:30 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Most of the classes are scheduled to begin the week of Sept. 24.

The Retail Board of the Birmingham Chamber of Commerce has started a program designed to get more cooperation in establishing more uniform store hours, reports manager Charles Mortenson.

The variety of store hours presently observed annoys some shoppers and may be hurting the entire business area, he said.

Mortenson also said that the C. of C. board of directors will meet twice a month during September and October to keep up with increased activity. The board has been meeting once a month.

Birmingham Chapter 220, Order of Eastern Star, will sponsor a Nancy Richard Hat Party on Friday from 1 to 3 p.m. at the Birmingham Masonic Temple.

There will be more than 200 assorted fall hats on sale.

1,000 Storm India Embassy

Indonesian Mob Hurls Rocks, Protests Insult by Sports Official

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — More than 1,000 rock-throwing rioters attacked the Indian Embassy today. They broke windows and furniture, smashed art objects and attempted to rip down the Indian flag.

★ ★ ★

Then 4,000 flocked to the plush new Hotel Indonesia, seeking an Indian sports leader they accused of insulting President Sukarno and the Indonesian nation. Some were wearing military-style uniforms.

'INDIANS GO HOME'

Many shouted "Indians, go home."

It was a violent climax to the political controversy that has shaken the Asian Games — the Eastern Olympics.

No injuries were reported among embassy personnel or the demonstrators, some identified as members of the government-backed National Front.

The demonstrators were protesting what they called an insult by G. D. Sondhi, 71-year-old Indian vice president of the Asian Games Federation.

Soviet Nuclear Blast Rocks Arctic Skies

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Soviet Union has fired another nuclear test blast in the arctic atmosphere, the Atomic Energy Commission reports.

The AEC said Sunday night the explosion in the vicinity of Novaya Zemlya was in the intermediate yield range, between 20,000 tons and one million tons of TNT. The shot was the ninth announced by the AEC in the current Soviet series.

Hold Man in Knifing at Home in Pontiac

Eddie Womack, 25, of 87 Bagley St., was reported in fair condition today in Pontiac General Hospital where he was admitted yesterday after suffering a stab wound in the chest.

★ ★ ★

Police are holding Leroy Bruton, 28, of 433 Howard St., charged with the stabbing during an argument between the two men in the basement of Womack's home.

Bruton will be arraigned on the charge tomorrow.

JFK Interrupts Weekend to Visit His Father

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — President Kennedy interrupted his Labor Day weekend today to take a Mass., for a visit with his ailing helicopter flight to Hyannis Port, father, Joseph P. Kennedy.

★ ★ ★

The President planned to join his father for a cruise on the family yacht, Marlin, and return to Newport late in the afternoon.

The President went to sea Sunday despite rain and clouds, boarding the Coast Guard ocean racing yacht, the 62-foot yawl Manitou, with Mrs. Kennedy and a large party of guests for two hours on the water.

Russ Defy Request for Berlin Rerouting

BERLIN (UPI) — The Russians today defied a Western request to avoid the American sector and sent their armored cars today through the U.S. Army Checkpoint Charlie.

American military police escorted the three heavy armored cars carrying guards to the Russian War Memorial in the British sector and made no move to interfere with it.

The Russians yesterday were asked to take a direct route through the British sector to the monument, but Western officials said the armored cars would not be banned immediately.

They said the Russians would be given a brief time to answer a Western note.

Just when the armored cars would be banned from passing through Checkpoint Charlie at the Friedrichstrasse crossing point on the East-West Berlin border was not disclosed.

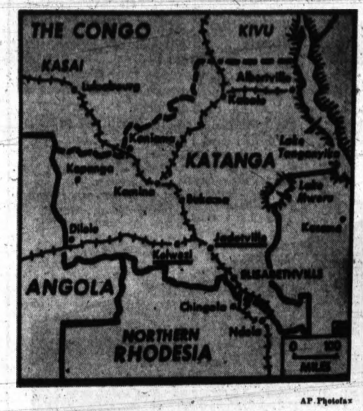
The armored cars, escorted by a Russian sedan, were held up only a minute today at the American checkpoint and then allowed to proceed.

The Russian convoy was escorted by two American military police sedans. One rode in front of the convoy and the other behind it.

★ ★ ★

The Russians yesterday were told to use another border crossing point after an armored car rammed an American MP sedan escorting the Russian convoy.

European Copper Workers in Katanga Refuse to Quit



AP Photofax

RICH MINE AREAS — Map locates Katanga town of Kolwezi, site of the three most important copper mines of the Union Miniere du Maut Katanga. From Kolwezi the raw ore is taken by rail to the electrolysis plant and smelter at Jadotville, also underlined.

By PETER GROSE

KOLWEZI, Katanga (AP) — After two rounds of Katanga-U. N. warfare, the Union Miniere du Haut Katanga offered to release any of its mining engineers who wanted to return to the safety of their homes in Europe.

It has 700 European employes in this placid company town. Exactly two chose to leave.

This is a place where Union Miniere really counts, at the copper and cobalt mines of President Moise Tshombe's province.

Warnings have been sounded at U. N. headquarters that the world's third largest copper producer will have to cooperate before peace can settle over the Congo.

Such storm-cloud declarations seem a long way off as little trains chug out of the open-face mines loaded to the brim with treasures of pale green mud.

Kolwezi is the site of the Union Miniere's three most important copper mines. From here the raw ore is taken by rail to the electrolysis plant and smelter of Jadotville, 75 miles away.

The ore is dissolved in acid solution and transformed by electric current into rough sheets which are thrust into great furnaces. Out of little spouts comes the molten copper, 99.5 per cent pure, looking like a sort if irridescent orange juice pouring into a bar mold.

A sharp blow of an African's hammer impresses the company hallmark "UMK" onto the finished bar. Another $90 worth of Katanga copper moves onto the world market.

"It's obvious that Katanga and Tshombe wouldn't amount to much without us," says a Union Miniere official. "Where the U. N. and the United States in particular go wrong is in deducing that therefore we — and not Tshombe — thought up the Katanga secession."

That much said, this and most other Union Miniere officials call Tshombe a statesman among African leaders. Tshombe was a businessman before entering politics, they point out with a gesture to the inevitable photograph of the Katanga president on office and shop walls.

To the outside world the Union Miniere may seem an abstract and rather sinister thing, a little group of European financiers plotting deals around a table.

To the people here Union Miniere is a way of life. It's the landlord, the boss, the school superintendent, the doctor.

The Union Miniere population is over 100,000 in Katanga, including the wives and children of 21,000 employes.

Maps of Elisabethville designate one whole district "Union Miniere," works and plush residential streets where the families live.

"They don't go out of their own part of town much," said a Belgian businessman downtown. "They don't really have to — everything they need is laid out for them."

Hospitals, schools, whole towns — like Kolwezi — are built by a Union Miniere construction subsidiary.

Each important production center is managed by a single man, representing the board of governors. In Kolwezi he is a 39-year-old metallurgical engineer named Jean-Jacques Saquet. He arrived from Belgium in 1948, and moved to Kolwezi in 1961 to preside over the opening of the Luilu electrolysis plant.

★ ★ ★

There copper ore is taken automatically through the stages of purification. The whole plant is managed by a few technicians in a control room.

"It would be foolish not to concede that our future is somewhat in doubt," Saquet says. "We had to decide whether to keep advancing and expanding in confidence or gradually retrench in expectation of bad days ahead.

"All along the line we chose the former. We're going ahead with new works and projects and every week two or three new technicians arrive to keep up with the added demands in specialized manpower."

★ ★ ★

Seventy per cent of Union Miniere's production income last year went to Katanga public authorities. But production and revenues continue at their pre-independence highs. Officials say Union Miniere this year should produce at least last year's 293,509 tons of copper and perhaps top last year's 8,326 tons of cobalt.

★ ★ ★

This resilient success is partly due to the devotion of the company's staff, which knows that Union Miniere will take care of its own.

Another reason is the extraordinary benevolence of nature. Only recently did Union Miniere have to dig underground for profitable copper.

Even now the most productive veins are close to the surface. Easy open-face methods of extraction account for the bulk of Union Miniere's production.

Rivers nearby enabled Union Miniere to build its own system of dams and harness hydroelectric power, enough for its own vast operation and the adjoining copper belt of Northern Rhodesia.

Leaves $20,000 to Brides of His Birthplace

NEWARK, N.J. (UPI) — James N. Panos died a bachelor, but he remembered the brides in his native village of St. Andreas, Greece.

His will — filed for probate — leaves a $20,000 fund to be used to provide dowries "for the worthy and needy girls of the town."

The 77-year-old immigrant accumulated a personal fortune of more than $79,000 in the 42 years he worked as a waiter in Newark's Robert Treat Hotel.

Panos also left another $20,000 to finance the education of public school graduates who cannot afford higher learning.

Dixie Election to Follow Order

Alabama Legislature to Be Picked According to U.S. Court Mandate

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Unless the U.S. Supreme Court intervenes, Alabama on Nov. 6 will elect a legislature reapportioned by the first federal court order of its kind in the nation's history.

Democrats, traditionally in the majority, have taken the first step to comply with the historic judicial decree by nominating new candidates in counties which gained or lost representation.

Voters in 21 of the state's 67 counties chose 26 nominees in a special primary Tuesday, and left 12 others to be nominated in a runoff Sept. 11.

* * *

Republicans, making a strong bid to regain the one House seat in Winston County which they once held and to take others away from the rival party, have already put up nominees for six out of 35 seats in the Senate and 21 out of 106 in the lower chamber. They may nominate still more.

DECISION APPEALED

The unprecedented decision handed down six weeks ago by a three-judge panel in Montgomery —the first in the nation actually reshuffling a legislative assembly —has been appealed to the Supreme Court.

Whether the high court, reconvening in October, will rule on the appeal before the general election in November is problematical. But Justice Hugo Black has refused to interfere with the primaries.

Six counties gained a total of 19 House seats under the historic reapportionment decree, and 19 others lost one each, to leave the membership at the present level.

Since all counties in the state had nominated House and Senate candidates in the regular primaries last May, it was necessary to choose new nominees where the number was changed by the judicial order.

But when the time came to vote last Tuesday, withdrawals had left some candidates unopposed, and primaries were necessary only in 21 counties.

Foundation to Earn $100,000 Per Year

GRAND HAVEN (AP) — Administrators of the Loutit Foundation say it will produce an annual income of $100,000 for charitable, religious and educational purposes.

The foundation was established in 1958 by the late William R. Loutit with its income derived from the estates of Loutit and his father William H. Loutit, pioneer residents of Grand Haven and Spring Lake.

Foundation President Paul A. Johnson said assets of the estates total in excess of $3 million.

The elder Loutit was a lumber pioneer active later in other industries, once served as mayor of Grand Haven, was a member of the State Conservation Commission and was active at the turn of the century in state highway development. He died in 1948.

Swainson Heads for UP Tour Last of Week

LANSING (AP) — Gov. Swainson takes his campaign for reelection back to the Upper Peninsula this week, with a four-day swing through 11 counties.

The governor's tour will open Wednesday in Ironwood and wind up Saturday in Escanaba.

During the four days he will attend rallies, make speeches and confer with county and local democratic organizations in Wakefield, Hessemer, Ontonogan, Iron Mountain, Republic, Negaunee, Ishpeming, Manistique, Munising and Eben Junction.

Highlights of the tour will be a television appearance on WLUC-TV in Negaunee on Thursday and an address before the Michigan, Wisconsin branch of the American Association of Foresters in Munising on Friday.

MACAO (AP) — Roman Catholic churchmen and educators here feel they have scored a victory over the Chinese Communists in a battle for the minds of youth.

★ ★ ★

A private survey shows 41 per cent of Macao's 47,489 students attend Catholic schools while 28 per cent go to Communist or pro-Communist schools and the rest attend government and Protestant schools.

Macao is a Portuguese colony on the south China coast.

The Rev. Patrick Shaules, an American Jesuit priest, said this battle for minds is "as grim and vital as that in the jungles of Viet Nam."

★ ★ ★

"Here," he said, "we can't use physical force. We must fight with ideas.

"In most points of contact between Communists and non-Communists around the world there is a clear-cut division and obvious tension—a wall in Berlin, the strait in Formosa, even barbed wire in Hong Kong. But here both sides compete peacefully."

★ ★ ★

Communists monopolize at least 80 per cent of Macao's trade. Three of the four Chinese-language newspapers are Communist. Only one of the 11 theaters is non-Communist.

ATTENDANCE REQUIRED

The Chinese Communists also control the best-organized labor unions. Members' children are required to attend Communist schools, which are free.

Nearly all the non-Catholic schools in this colony were Communist-infiltrated in 1953. Enrollment in Catholic schools was less than 8,000.

Teachers openly taught Communist propaganda. The Macao government did not interfere, presumably for fear of upsetting the delicate political equilibrium here.

Hundreds of students went to mainland China every year for further study.

★ ★ ★

The religious authorities launched a campaign in 1954 to combat this influence.

Catholic schools charging nominal fees sprang up. Well trained teachers were imported from Hong Kong, Manila and Formosa to give young students what the Catholics call a proper education.

★ ★ ★

The tide turned gradually. Donations of American surplus food and reports of spreading hunger in Communist China helped. Each student in Catholic schools was given rice, flour and bread daily.

★ ★ ★

The East-West struggle focused on Green Island, 40 yards from Red China, where two primary schools, one Catholic and one Communist, stand side by side separated by a rickety fence.

TRIED TO INFILTRATE

The Communist school started trying to infiltrate the Catholic school with junior-grade agents, printed propaganda and a loud-speaker campaign of anti-American and anti-Nationalist propaganda across the school fence.

The Catholic school weeded out the infiltrators and set up a public address system of its own, booming anti-Communist propaganda back across the fence.

★ ★ ★

Children from each school joined in rousing political songs.

When the political tug-of-war started each school had a few hundred students.

Today well over 1,000 students are in the Catholic school, some 300 in the Communist school.

The Catholic schools have stopped distributing free food but their enrollment keeps rising. Many pro-Communist schools have closed due to lack of students.

★ ★ ★

Only two students returned to Red China this summer while 122 went to the Nationalist stronghold of Formosa.

A Communist teacher indicated the fight is not over yet, at least in propaganda.

"The Catholic schools," he said, "are teaching their students something which does not exist while our schools teach them facts—what Red China has achieved since liberation."

"Wait until we have a good harvest. We'll fight back."

A Laugh for Labor Day

"Says here, Khrushchev predicts the downtrodden American Worker will soon overthrow his capitalistic oppressors."

It Seems to Me . . . .

Handful of Russians Keeps Entire World Uncomfortable

Both the proposed bans on nuclear tests and the Berlin situation are increasingly aggrevating. KHRUSHCHEV and his minions should be tossed into the yawning maw of a seething volcano—weighed down by anvils.

★ ★ ★

Less than one tenth of the people on earth out of 2.8 billion keep civilized nations in a ferment that is wholly unjustified. And to make it worse, it isn't the whole 210 million Russians that are the agitators.

It's the tramps at the top.

Probably a band of 200 includes the active, assertive stinkers that lead the 210 million around by the nose—willy-nilly. And it's mostly "willy."

They don't object.

★ ★ ★

The head Red is apparently getting ready to abolish the post of "Soviet Commandant in Berlin." This means the central and responsible authority would vanish. The allies would have to deal with ghosts, shadows and the "East Germans," whatever that means.

★ ★ ★

No one could say "yes" or "no" with any authority. Our government would lack a responsible source and we'd deal with the "East German government." KHRUSHCHEV wants to compel the Western Allies to recognize an entity which they have consistently refused to accept.

★ ★ ★

Every sensible nuclear bomb provision that the allies suggest is promptly brushed aside by the Russians who propose a plan based on "national honor" and "the sanctity of the spoken word" and a lot of incidental drivel.

Why in the world should so few keep an entire globe upset, uneasy and disturbed?

Romney Appeals . . . .

Looking back in the light of a week's perspective, the Republican convention becomes even more impressive.

★ ★ ★

The solid impact which candidate Romney made on his associates is growing and the enthusiasm increases. The convention expected a lot from the new leader and he faced a sizeable task just to "measure up." But the Gubernatorial candidate swept past that high level and attained new heights. Looking back, several things stand out:

Romney was at his best.

This "image business" is real.

The delegates sense victory.

Workers are fired up.

★ ★ ★

All conventions aim at these objectives and they are invariably attained to some degree. But the 1962 Republican gathering shattered all GOP records in recent years for contagious enthusiasm and a conviction of an impending sweep at the polls.

★ ★ ★

"There's absolutely no comparison between the two top candidates," a delegate declared in retrospect. "We have the man that appeals. Compare him with his opponent. Or better, compare him with his actual opponent—GUS SCHOLLE. What a big difference there is in ability, understanding, knowledge, experience and personality."

★ ★ ★

One hard-headed GOP observer asserted to your peripatetic reporter: "If we win by less than 150,000, it will be a feather in the Dems' cap. Swainson's victory two years ago came by the proverbial cat's whisker and now we have the strongest candidate offered by either side in more than a decade."

★ ★ ★

It will be a whirlwind campaign. Hang onto your hat and watch the passing parade and the roadside fireworks in The Pontiac Press as the big guns swing into action.

It will be an action packed campaign.

How Petty . . . .

Britain is a dogged stickler for protocol, but there are limits.

★ ★ ★

Take the instance of our Vice President Johnson and Princess Margaret in Jamaica. Photographers wanted to snap the two together.

Natural?

Normal?

★ ★ ★

But the British pedants insisted our Mr. JOHNSON didn't rate such official recognition. Their MARGARET was enshrined on a diplomatic level that precluded photographic recognition with a mere Vice-President.

★ ★ ★

Now let's get tough.

Our Mr. Johnson is Number Two. If the President dies, he's the head man. Any way you stack the cards, you can't rate Margaret better than fourth. Hence, it was Margaret who was outclassed, outshone and who stood in reflected glory.

The protests should have been ours.

Toward the end of a protracted lunch session, cunning dexterity did maneuver the pair into juxtaposition and the bulbs flashed. I doubt whether anything as silly as this would take place in London. And to the islanders who strained at gnats.

Phooey!

And in Conclusion . . . .

Jottings from the well-thumbed notebook of your peripatetic reporter:

Don't think that it's cute to suggest you have a time bomb in your airplane baggage. Nearly two dozen people are serving short terms in jail (including one smartaleck girl) and Insiders' Newsletter says several dozen more face tough prosecution . . . . . Strong protests around the country forecast sharp decreases in KENNEDY's foreign aid bill. Congressmen are privately saying a year hence it will be hacked again . . . . . Sign in Wisconsin theater: "Adults, 90 cents — Delinquents, 40 cents." . . . . . WILLIAM SCRANTON, Scranton, Pa., is the central figure in a statewide boom for the GOP Presidential nomination in the next campaign. He has rapidly become the behind-the-scenes boss in Pennsylvania politics.

★ ★ ★

I can't prove it, but I'll bet a sugar cookie that if Romney is elected, Senator McNamara will resign shortly, so Swainson can name a Democratic Senator in his place . . . . . Trusted scouts advise me Gwin Yntema rates mention as one of the area's most attractive girls. Gwin, you're tapped . . . . . Russian military activity in Cuba is causing talk from coast to coast. Official Washington is mum. What's cooking? . . . . . Teacher asked the class to write the names of the nine greatest men in history. Willie was very slow. "Please hurry," said she in exasperation. Willie nodded: "I can't decide on the third baseman."

GWIN

CHRISTOPHER MORLEY says dancing is great training for girls. It teaches them how to learn what a man's going to do before he knows himself . . . . . In 1909 the WRIGHT brothers signed a contract for six "flights" in New Jersey for $10,000. Each flight had to last three minutes or it didn't count . . . . . Invited Here by State Department

Latins to See State Ballot Battle

By GENE SCHROEDER

LANSING (UP)— Michigan's red-hot political campaign — already attracting nationwide interest — will soon gain international attention as well.

★ ★ ★

From south of the border on Sept. 21 will come a contingent of young Latin American politicians to watch how Yankees wage political wars without bloodshed in deciding who they want to run their government.

★ ★ ★

The pilot project will bring some 40 politicians, ranging in age from 20 to 35 years, to the United States for a period of six weeks.

During that time they will split up into three groups and be exposed to day-by-day campaign activities in three key states — Massachusetts, California and Michigan.

The visitors represent a wide spectrum of political beliefs, and some will be from nations where bullets sometimes count more than ballots.

★ ★ ★

But the U.S. State Department hopes their exposure to our system will help them understand how our form of democracy works and how Americans think.

Named as co-ordinator of the Michigan group is Donald Stewart, a 38-year-old graduate student at Michigan State University.

Stewart and his wife Zee, a Brazilian, will share the task of getting the visitors acquainted with the political candidates and moving them around the state.

"The idea of this project is not to get them to change their ways necessarily," said Stewart, "but it's to help them understand us."

He explained that every Latin American country except Cuba was invited to send two politicians.

★ ★ ★

"Some of the representatives might even be antagonistic and ask loaded questions," he said, adding that he hopes to have speakers who can provide the answers.

TO HEAR ALL SIDES

Stewart said that during the first three weeks, the visitors will have a chance to meet and hear all shades of American political opinions.

Invited to speak to the Latin Americans will be spokesmen for not only the Republican and Democratic parties but the minority parties as well.

"We also intend to invite people from the John Birch Society, the Americans for Democratic Action, Socialists, Leninists, Trotskyites, the Roman Catholic Church, the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People and others," he said.

Stewart explained that the idea is to expose the visitors to every possible point of view that might have some influence on the elections.

The Catholic Church plays an important role in some Latin American countries, he said, and it is hoped that the visitors will learn the church position in the United States.

★ ★ ★

Stewart said the young politicians will spend the final three weeks of their visit on the road with the candidates, probably splitting off into pairs. Half will travel with Democratic nominees, the remainder with Republicans.

★ ★ ★

After the elections in the three states, the entire group will meet in Washington to discuss and evaluate their experiences, according to Stewart.

Dr. Harold Hyman Says:

Yes, Some Can Lose Leg Because of Smoking

Q—From a retired Army colonel: Is it possible for a man to lose a leg because of smoking? I am 77 years old and never heard of such a thing.

A—It isn't often that a retired first lieutenant gets a chance to talk back to a colonel, so here goes.

Yes indeed, sir, a man can lose a leg because of smoking. And sometimes both legs.

Usually the disease is called thrombo-angiitis obliterans. Meaning clots that form within an artery and close off entirely.

★ ★ ★

Formerly the disease was thought to occur only in Jews of Russian-Polish descent who were addicted to native cigarettes.

Now we have learned that it may occur in such as the European royalty who are neither Russian nor of Jewish descent, but who smoke ordinary cigarettes.

Q—Recently my grandson gave me what he calls a "goof ball" when I was feeling low in mind and spirit.

And I must say it lifted my spirits and made me feel peppier. Can you tell me what "goof balls" are? How I can get them? And whether they will do me any harm?

A—"Goof balls" are usually made up of a drug called amphetamine sulfate or some related compound.

The trade name with which you are most apt to be familiar is Benzedrine. Properly used, amphetamine is a most valuable drug. It can only be purchased on doctor's prescription.

Unhappily, there is a black market in the drug that is sold, as "goof balls," to motorists, such as truck drivers, who are fatigued by their journey.

And to juvenile delinquents, drug addicts, criminals and ordinary citizens who use them to overcome the effects of overdoses of sedatives, sleeping medicines, tranquilizers or narcotics.

The federal government has cracked down on peddlers who were found to be selling the drug to school children and other teenagers.

While properly used, Benzedrine and related product are most helpful.

Improperly used or abused, they are dangerous because they stimulate "continued activity beyond the point of exhaustion by eliminating the protective effects of fatigue and drowsiness."

They produce a release from inhibition that may lead to errors in judgment, criminal acts, dangerous driving and episodes of temporary violence.

Recalls Many Benefits of Labor Movement

(In keeping with our policy of running guest editorials from time to time, our Labor Day message has been written by Gerry Kehoe, President, UAW Local 596, GM Fisher Body.)

By GERRY KEHOE

I have long been saddened by the observation that too many union members never think about the accomplishments of their union and of the labor movement in general except on a day such as this.

KEHOE

They take their benefits for granted and often express a "what-have-you-done-for-me-lately" attitude. They are often unwilling to participate in the affairs of their local. They don't attend meetings; they don't serve on committees; they fail to vote during strike or contract ratification meetings. Yet they are often the first to criticize.

★ ★ ★

We have come a long way since the Twenties and Thirties. Our first contract with General Motors — consisted of one page that did nothing more than extend recognition to the union. No benefits were spelled out, yet it was widely hailed as a tremendous victory for labor. In 1920, a GM worker, with no union to help him, earned an average straight time hourly rate of 70 cents. Sixteen years later, he was still getting only 77 cents. Then came the UAW. As of today, the rate is $2.87.

In 1936, fringe benefits were unheard of. There were no paid vacations, and illness or accident meant major catastrophe. Layoffs were frequent, seniority nonexistent and speedups were forced on workers. Unemployment compensation, workmen's compensation and SUB were unheard of.

The worker's only security lay in his ability to curry favor with the foreman or to work cheaper than the next fellow. He was an anonymous clock card number.

★ ★ ★

Today, our members have: overtime pay, vacation pay, holiday pay, vested pensions, sickness, accident and life insurance benefits, hospitalization insurance, fully paid by the company, call-in pay, night shift premium, equal pay for women, annual wage increases (improvement factor), cost-of-living escalator clause, SUB, anti-discrimination clause, arbitration of grievances, right to strike over production standards and health and safety factors, automatic rate progression, union shop, seniority, transfer and promotion rights, protection for the skilled trades, health insurance coverage for laid-off workers and their families and for retirees, separation pay and moving allowances, jury duty pay and many, many other benefits.

Through political action and voting strength the labor movement was wholly or partly responsible for such achievements —considered commonplace today —as free public education, the elimination of child labor and of sweat shops, the reduction of the work week from 72 hours to 40 hours or less, minimum wage legislation, unemployment and workmen's compensation benefits, establishment of the right to strike and to picket, social security benefits and reforms.

Many younger members take these things for granted. They think that these benefits were handed on a silver platter. They do not know that brave men and women unionists had to battle for every one of these gains, that some men died for this union cause, that blood was shed in many parts of the Country, that women and children were beaten and gassed and that unarmed pickets had to stand up to heavily-armed police, National Guardsmen, deputy sheriffs and Pinkertons in defense of their rights.

These members do not know of the epic sitdown strikes which laid the foundation for the growth of our union.

★ ★ ★

Perhaps it is our own fault. Perhaps our older members have failed to get their story across. Perhaps the union's educational channels have not been fully utilized. Perhaps too many of our public schools fail to go into the history of American Labor in their history and civics classes.

★ ★ ★

This lack of knowledge of our past, combined with the relative well-being of union workers today, protected as they are by good contracts, has led to apathy, indifference and a lack of spirit by some of our members. Yet, the spirit of the Thirties is needed. True, we no longer need to fight bloody battles on the streets, but the enemies we face today are just as dangerous.

★ ★ ★

Instead of National Guard bayonets, we face unemployment. Instead of tear gas, we face job-eating automation. Instead of clubs, we face competition from abroad and a lack of job security at home. Instead of jails, we face the unfinished business of organizing the millions of workers not yet organized.

Our long-range goals of full employment and a greater share of the fruits of our advancing technology will be achieved only if union men and women show the same spirit of determination and dedication they showed in days past, only if those steadily employed will extend a helping hand to those steadily unemployed, only if those who have reaped the benefits their fathers fought for will in turn fight for our new goals to benefit the next generation.

★ ★ ★

If I may be permitted to paraphrase President Kennedy's great Inauguration Day words: "Don't ask what your union can do for you, ask what you can do for your union."

Tables Turned

Daily Oklahoman

Give former Oklahoma newspapermen Walker Stone and Paul Miller credit for turning the propaganda tables on Nikita Khrushchev.

★ ★ ★

The two men, top officials of the Scripps-Howard and Gannett papers, respectively, were among touring newsmen who interviewed the Soviet boss. As usual the Red leader did the talking, using the gambit of answering questions to make speeches. For years this has given him a news forum in America that he would not have had otherwise.

★ ★ ★

Khrushchev said removal of allied troops from Berlin would expedite lessening of East-West tensions and that inhabitants of the beleaguered city desired removal. Walker and Miller, using different interpreters to assure less injection of personal ideas into translation, had many interviews with Berliners. The consensus was that allied troops were "protectors" and their continued presence was greatly desired.

★ ★ ★

By making the survey, which except in Red circles will be accepted on its face value, the native Oklahomans put the lie to Khrushchev's statements. By releasing information in the guise of a letter to the Soviet leader they got a propaganda advantage with the strength of truth. Any rebuttal will come only in Soviet publications.

For years astute Khrushchev has cleverly used American news agencies' competitive desire for "exclusives" to put his story across. By granting few interviews he makes this look like a favor. Yet he does not answer questions. He makes speeches — which the interviewer usually relays. Most of the time the "interviews" are reserved for mass media or big name editors. We unwittingly aid Khrushchev in telling his story. Our outlets give credibility that his own media lack.

Relief—Deluxe

Chicago's American

The state has opened an investigation into what looks like a widespread and shameless relief fraud — the use of welfare money to buy television sets, hi-fi record players, food freezers, and other expensive luxury items.

As it now looks, the frauds are carried out through independent door-to-door salesmen who buy the merchandise wholesale and peddle it to relielers on time payments. The salesmen who are their own credit agency, know practically to the minute when every customer's relief check is due and are there on the dot, ready to cash the check and deduct the monthly payment.

The fraud on the public is obvious. Relief allotments are intended for essentials—food, shelter and clothing — to help recipients out of a desperate situation. They are not meant to provide costly entertainment at taxpayers' expense.

To make such purchases at all, a relief recipient must either be getting extra, undeclared income from somewhere, or be misusing his allotment check.

★ ★ ★

The situation calls for thorough investigation. State Auditor Michael J. Howlett says his department has started one.

Ted's Record

St. Louis Globe-Democrat

Ted Kennedy's candidacy in the Massachusetts Senate race may prove too thick a bone to be swallowed by even the hardiest New Frontiersman.

★ ★ ★

Perhaps the worst choice for public office since Caligula made his horse a consul, Ted boasts this record: He was booted out of Harvard for cheating; he served a few months as assistant D. A. in Boston; he acted as John Kennedy's campaign manager in the Rocky Mountain States, which voted overwhelmingly for the Old Frontier.

His assets: Good looks, a lovely wife, money and a brother in the White House. His lone political scalp, that of State Attorney General Ed McCormick, was taken at the Democratic convention where he won delegates with visions of Federal plums and post offices dancing in their heads. "If you send me to Washington, my voice will be heard," he argued convincingly.

The place for Teddy may well be at the helm of his father's yacht, atop a ski jump, or sloshing in a dinner jacket in the Attorney General's pool. It is certainly not in the United States Senate representing the state that gave the nation the Adamses and Daniel Webster.

Against Defining Doctrine of Papal Infallibility

U.S. Bishops Heard Often at 1st Vatican Council

By JULES LOH
AP Staff Writer

America's Catholic bishops will take with them to the Second Vatican Council next October a background of lively participation in this rarely used form of church government.

★ ★ ★

At the last council, a century ago, 46 prelates from the United States participated. Some — notably Bishop Augustin Verot of Savannah, Ga., and Bishop Edward Fitzgerald of Little Rock, Ark., — treated the staid assembly to some forthright examples of yankee determination.

Bishop Fitzgerald was one of only two participants who said "non placet" (I am not pleased) on the final vote to adopt a definition of papal infallibility. The other was an Italian, Bishop Aloisio Riccio of Cajazzo.

Bishop Verot also was opposed, but he made his reputation mainly through fiery speeches on lesser issues.

BLASTS RACISM

He thought it was a "disgraceful spectacle" for priests to hunt with guns and felt there should be a church law against it. He wanted the council to take a strong stand on racial justice and proposed a canon "anathemitizing any who dare to assert that blacks are not of the human family."

★ ★ ★

One historian, E. Cuthbert Butler, O.S.B., characterized Verot as "the enfant terrible of the council. He was a frequent and lengthy speaker . . . who succeeded in raising frequent laughs. He was often in conflict with the presidents (of the assemblies) because of these sallies, but he received their rebukes with irrepressible good humor."

Verot, campaigning for reform of the breviary, the book from which priests are obliged to read daily prayers, complained, "Some things in it cannot be read with gravity and reverence. As St. Augustin's explanation of the 38 years the sick man at the pool of Bethsaida had been in his infirmity—I must confess I can never read this without distraction."

President: "Let the right reverend speaker speak with greater reverence of the holy fathers."

Verot: "I do wish, Eminence, to speak with all reverence of the holy fathers; but sometimes even Homer dozes."

AGAINST DEFINING

The biggest issue of the First Vatican Council—whether to define papal infallibility—was not even on the proposed agenda when the assembly convened in 1869.

The main point of controversy wasn't whether the Pope was infallible when speaking on matters of faith and morals (only 15 of the 601 bishops present were opposed to the doctrine) but whether it was advisable to define the doctrine at that time.

Most of the Americans felt it was not.

Archbishops Peter Kenrick of St. Louis and John Purcell of Cincinnati and Bishop Michael Domenec of Pittsburgh led U.S. opposition. They claimed, one observer reported, "that the definition would be an insurmountable obstacle to the conversion of Protestants in the United States."

According to this writer, Domenec felt that "if there be no setback, in 30 or 40 years the number of Catholics will be greater in North America than in Italy; and they will be not merely nominal, but real practicing Catholics. The only calamity that can destroy so fair a hope would be the doctrine of papal infallibility." (Present count: Italy 49 million Catholics, practicing and nominal; North America 50 million.)

★ ★ ★

Bishop Martin Spalding of Baltimore and a half dozen other U.S. prelates favored the definition, but wanted it to be framed without using the word "infallible."

Kenrick, Domenec and the outspoken Verot held out to the end, but went along with the majority on the final vote. All the dissenters, however, pledged their support of the decision after the council adjourned.

Tight Red Bus Driver Gets Death in Fatalities

MOSCOW (AP) — A death sentence has been given to a Leningrad bus driver who crashed his vehicle into a sidewalk beer garden, killing five patrons.

The newspaper Leningrad Pravda said the driver, B. Kuleshov, drank a bottle of vodka while driving. After the accident, he hastily backed out of the beer garden and roared off, but was caught.

Denies Post Office Workers Have 'Crush' on Packages

Postiac Postmaster William W. Donaldson today denied postal employes use steam rollers to crush parcel post.

"The U.S. Post Office operates about 85,000 vehicles of various types but no steam rollers," he said in a press release.

He said he was commenting on tongue-in-cheek accusations made by recipients of crushed parcel post that, "It must have been run over with a steam roller."

The greatest single cause of damage, according to the post office department, is structural weakness of cartons which collapse under the weight of other mail.

★ ★ ★

"In fact, every effort is made to avoid damage to mail while it is in the custody of the post office," Donaldson said.

The release suggests a number of "dos" in mailing fragile contents.

1—Select a container that is the right size and strong enough to retain and protect the contents from weight of other mail.

Boxes or cartons of corrugated or solid fiberboard, or kraftboard, are recommended. Small articles may be mailed in a chipboard carton if it is of sufficient strength to withstand the pressures of other mail.

Suit boxes or shoe boxes do not provide adequate protection and are not recommended.

2—Sufficient cushioning material should be used to protect the contents from outside impact.

If two or more items are mailed in the same cartoon, each should be wrapped and cushioned to avoid damaging one another.

Fragile items should be cushioned with at least two inches of shredded paper or excelsior on all sides.

3—Parcels containing fragile or delicate articles such as glass, chinaware, radios, etc., should always be marked "Fragile."

★ ★ ★

4—Place a complete and legible address on one side of parcel only. If address labels are used, secure them to clean uncoated wrapper or carton, and as an added precaution against loss, enclose a duplicate label inside the parcel.

TAKE TIME

"A few extra moments spent in properly preparing a parcel for mailing will greatly enhance the prospects of its delivery in good condition," the release states.

Patrons desiring to know more about the art of proper packing are invited to ask for a free booklet entitled, "How to Pack and Wrap Parcels for Mailing," at the Pontiac main post office, 735 W. Huron St.

Securities License Examinations Slated

LANSING (AP) — Effective today a single session will be held each month for examination of applicants for builders, real estate and securities licenses, the Michigan Corporation and Securities Commission announces.

In the past, the commission has examined applicants several times each month.

FLEET'S TIED UP — This cat seems to be waiting for a handout as it surveys the fleet of tuna boats tied up in the harbor at San Pedro, Calif., Twenty boats, with an estimated 6,000 tons of tuna aboard, are waiting to be unloaded while fishermen are disputing with canners about the price of fish. The canners reduced the price of Blue Fin tuna from $270 to $250 per ton. A spokesman for the canners said that Blue Fin are being caught off southern California faster than canners can handle the fish.

Information Leaks Out

Congressmen Playing Sneaky Pool

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A swimming pool is a rather difficult thing to conceal.

You can't very well hide it under your coat without leaving at least a suspicious bulge. Nor does it help any to try to pretend that it is merely a bird bath or a fish pond.

I am therefore unable to understand why so much secrecy was involved in plans to install a swimming pool in the new $100-million office building that our congressmen are erecting for themselves.

House officials who for so long denied that any pool was contemplated must have known that sooner or later there would be a leak of information if not of water.

★ ★ ★

It was Republican Rep. Alvin E. O'Konski of Wisconsin who finally let the cat out of the bag, or, if you prefer, the plug out of the drain.

During debate on a public works bill this week, O'Konski detected a certain amount of inconsistency in complaints by some lawgivers that federal funds might be used to finance community pools.

"We certainly should not deny others what we furnish ourselves," he opined, going on to say that in the new office building there would be "a nice, fancy, expensive swimming pool" for members of Congress.

A few discreet inquires then elicited the information that plans for the pool were approved recenty at an unannounced meeting of the building commission.

The way the matter was handled seems to indicate that certain parties wood just as soon we taxpayers didn't know about the aquatic project.

'WE DON'T MIND'

Good heavens, fellows! What do you think we are? Cheapskates?

Of course we want you to have a pool. Our only regret is that you aren't making it larger.

The plans call for it to measure 20 by 60 feet. That doesn't provide much room for skin diving and water skiing.

Any soreheads who might be inclined to carp about the expense should be silenced when they learn that Dr. George Calver, the capitol physician, recommended the pool on medical grounds.

★ ★ ★

He is reported to have told the building commission that a place to swim would help our lawgivers keep fit.

This will be especially true a few years from now if companion plans to build a subway from the office buildings to the Capitol come to fruition.

At present, House members must walk the distance. But when the subway goes in, they will ride back and forth, and thus be deprived of the exercies.

The swimming pool should take up the slack nicely.

HONORS NEWSMEN — Spectators look up at a memorial to war correspondents, about 150, who covered the Civil War for both the North and the South. The monument is atop South Mountain, scene of one of the battles of the war. On Sept. 13, Gov. J. Millard Tawes of Maryland will unveil plans for a National Journalism Hall of Fame to honor correspondents of wars since then.

'Study on Communism' Written by FBI Chief

WASHINGTON (UPI) — FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover has written a new book called "A Study of Communism" which is described as a handbook on the nature of the Red movement.

The publishers, Holt, Rinehart and Winston, said the book is designed for the general reader as well as for high school and college students. It will be published October 1.

Cows for Comrades

CALGARY, Alta. (AP) — Officials said the largest single shipment of purebred cattle ever to leave Canada—300 Alberta and 60 Ontario Herefords—will go to the Soviet Union Sept. 10.

Arctic Regions to Be Studied

Health Service Seeks to Find Out How One Can Function in Cold

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The public health service (PHS) has announced the award of a research grant that may eventually lead to the establishment of complete permanent colonies in the frozen north.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Laurence Irving of the University of Alaska, who received the $291,024 grant, hopes to find out why it is that denizens of the arctic — both human and animal — are able to function normally in weather that would literally paralyze the nonarctic resident.

His aim is to find a means by which men used to more tropical climates may acclimatize themselves to that they can work and play in the subzero temperatures of arctic Alaska and other arctic and antarctic regions.

The PHS pointed out that in the past the men who have gone into the polar regions have had to leave their families behind them.

★ ★ ★

The service noted that the establishment of stabel communities for intercontinental communication and scientific and military observation requires a more normal society in which the men will be able to have their wives and children with them.

State Conservatives Plan Organization

LANSING (UP)—Plans for a Sept. 15 organizational rally for a new political group to be known as the Conservative Federation of Michigan have been revealed here.

★ ★ ★

The rally will be staged at the Jack Tar Hotel in downtown Lansing. According to Charles Harmon of Cassopolis, one of the proposed group's leaders, it will seek membership from among Michigan residents "of the conservative conviction."

★ ★ ★

Harmon, 43, owns the Cassapolis County Abstract Office and is a former village president.

★ ★ ★

He said the group hopes to enlist a membership of 10,000 by March 1, 1963 and has as its aims "a grass roots campaign" to promote the political conservative viewpoint.

To Repeat Story in Scuttling of Ketch Bluebelle

MIAMI (UPI) — Terry Jo Duperrault, who lost her entire family in the mystery scuttling of the ketch Bluebelle last Nov. 12, will be asked to repeat her version of the sinking before a federal court in January.

★ ★ ★

Terry Jo, now 12, was the lone survivor of the sinking in which five persons died.

She will be asked to testify at a hearing to decide who will get $40,000 life insurance on Mrs. Mary Dene Harvey, one of the victims of the sinking and wife of Bluebelle skipper Julian Harvey.

Terry Jo's father, mother, sister and brother also lost their lives in the sinking.

★ ★ ★

Harvey committed suicide when he learned that Terry Jo had survived after floating on a raft in the ocean for four days.

The Coast Guard later gave an opinion that Harvey has committed wholesale murder.

115 Earthquakes Strike in Italy During August

ROME (UP) — The National Geophysical Institute in Rome has reported that 115 earth tremors were registered in Italy in August.

★ ★ ★

The worst occurred Aug. 21 when shocks from Naples to Bari in southern Italy resulted in the death of at least a score of persons and destruction estimated in the millions of dollars.

July Tax Collections Up 8 Pct. Over '62

LANSING (UP) — The Michigan Department of Revenue says sales and use tax collections on business done in July increased by 8 per cent over the same period in 1962.

Revenue Commissioner Clarence W. Lock says taxes collected during August, which represent the tax on business done in July, totalled some $39.9 million. The total in July a year ago was $36.9.

Some $700,000 of the tax figure reflects the new telephone tax not in effect a year ago. Business activities tax collections are up approximately $2.4 million and sales tax collections are up by $5.9 million.

★ ★ ★

Lock said tax collections from automobile sales accounted for slightly more than half the increase in the receipts from sales taxes.

Consumers Gets N-Reactor License

WASHINGTON (UP) — Consumers Power Co. has obtained a license to operate its nuclear reactor at Big Rock Point in Charlevoix County.

The Atomic Energy Commission announced Friday that it licensed Consumers to operate the plant at its initial rated power capacity of 50,000 electrical kilowatts and to conduct research. The license was issued after an AEC examiner found the plant could be operated without endangering public health and safety.

Operation is not to start until the commission finds that construction has been completed in conformity with the construction permit.

To Weigh Fishing Rules

LANSING (UP) — Fishing regulations for 1963 will be considered at the Conservation Commission's Sept. 6-7 meeting at the Sheraton-Cadillac Hotel in Detroit.

Post Office to Get Four New 'Scooters'

Some lucky mailmen will soon have smiles on their faces when four new "scooters" are put into use. The new vehicles, manufactured by Cushman Motors, will give aching feet some relief and provide quicker service.

H. S. Davis, assistant Pontiac Postmaster, said that some additional walking routes will be converted to "Mailster" routes. Nineteen other "Mailsters" are now in service.

★ ★ ★

The twelve volt battery and better flooring in the new vehicles will serve the Post Office better in the winter time. The "Mailster" can carry 500 pounds of mail and parcel post packages.

38,000 Men Are Jobless in Ulster

North Ireland Looking Anxiously to U.S. Industry

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) —Unshaven, worried men loiter about Belfast's windy street corners. Northern Ireland has 38,000 jobless men — a twelfth of the total labor force.

Nearly half have had no job for three months. One in 10 hasn't had steady work in two years.

The shipbuilding and textile industries, foundations of Northern Ireland's economy, are in decline. The aircraft industry is sick. The linen industry is a shadow of its past pre-eminence.

Ulstermen are looking for healthy new industries to replace the ailing ones. A team of government men has the job of selling Northern Ireland as a site for American industry.

Already 16 American firms have moved in, attracted by cut-rate offers. At least 3,000 Ulstermen are employed in these industries, ranging from nylon stockings to machine tools.

'SITTING ON FENCE'

"There are still quite a number of American firms sitting on the fence," said one spokesman." They can't decide yet whether to come here or not.

"What's holding them back is the common market negotiations. If Britain does join the six, Ulster surely will become an even more attractive proposition for American industry wanting to move its operations closer to the European market."

American enterprises operating in bright new plants include Hughes Tool, Monsanto, Du Pont, National Distillers, International Telephone and Telegraph.

★ ★ ★

These companies, and others like them, together have invested about $70 million in Ulster, the British-tied northern corner of Ireland.

The sports goods firm of Spalding is established in Monkstown, in County Antrim. Not far away, at Cranmoney, Camco of Houston, Tex., is turning out oil well drilling equipment.

SKILLS COUNT

To the south, at Newry in lovely County Down, the New York firm of T. J. Stevenson and Co. employs hundreds of people in its big cotton and rayon-spinning plan The old skills of the Irish textile workers count well here.

On the coast of County Down, at Bangor, Oneida Ltd., produces cutlery.

In Belfast Norton Tool Co. turns out industrial abrasives.

This area, with a population of less than 1½ million hails its advantages in brochures and statistics.

First, it has this reserve pool of idle labor, much of it highly skilled and talking English — their own brand of richly ronded English.

You can move, in build your factory and equip it. The government will pay a third of what you spend, subject to an annual limit.

★ ★ ★

Or there's the package deal. The government will build a factory, up to 300,000 square feet, and rent it to you. The government makes a financial grant towards labor training and a machinery grant as well.

"And after that," officials say, "we leave you aloe. There's no government meddling. No hidden strings. All we ask is that you try to reac h a certain employment target."

Clairmont Transfer to Serve Santa Claus

ESCANABA (AP)—Clairmont Transfer Co. of Escanaba, already serving Christmas, Mich., has added Santa Claus, Ind., to its routes.

The truck firm has just received Interstate Commerce Commission permission to lease the operating rights of Jasper & Chicago Motor Express, Inc., of Jasper, Ind.

Spain's Bishops Set Labor, Social Unit

MADRID, Spain (AP) — Spain's Roman Catholic bishops have set up a special commission to spearhead church activities on the labor and social fronts, church leaders report.

★ ★ ★

The new social commission was described as a move to assure a unified church stand in Spain on social and economic policy set by Pope John XXIII, who has urged employers to restrict profits and assure adequate wages.

★ ★ ★

Some priests supported the workers in last spring's wave of strikes in the coal mining regions, a move reportedly opposed by some conservative leaders in the church.

MSUO Lists Adult Education Classes

Eighty courses, from jazz to opera and from physics to digital computer programing, will be offered by Michigan University Oakland's Division of Continuing Education during the fall term, beginning Sept. 24.

The noncredit adult courses are in the liberal arts, the fine and creative arts, foreign languages, business and professional development, science and mathematics, public administration and applied and special skills.

Eight courses are offered in the daytime, including four which meet on Saturday mornings.

Understanding of Architecture is scheduled for Saturdays so that husbands and wives can attend the lectures and field trips together.

The course will examine architecture artistically, sociologically and psychologically, focusing on single family homes.

Course fees are reduced in all liberal arts, fine arts and language courses for husbands and wives. Fees are also reduced for persons 65 or over.

Three other Saturday morning courses are Family Studio in Art for Parent and Child, which is open to children 8 or older who are accompanied by a parent; Study Skills Workshop for high school seniors, college students and adults; and Casein Painting, which affords the opportunity for work in a brilliantly colored medium.

New this term will be conversation seminars in French, German, Russian and Spanish for those with some knowledge of a language interested in increasing skill in speaking it.

For the first time MSUO will offer three introductory courses concerning electronic computers: Digital Computer Programing, Fundamentals of Electronic Digital Computers and Introduction to Data Processing. These are part of an expanded program of business and professional development courses.

For further information phone FE 8-7211, ext. 2147, or write Continuing Education, MSUO, Rochester.

Fall term continuing education courses are as follows:

Japan Lawmakers OK Paying for Aid

TOKYO (AP) — By overwhelming voice vote, Japan's upper house approved Saturday a bill paving the way for payment of $490 million to the United States for post-war aid. The lower house approved the bill Aug. 23.

The bill was one of the most controversial issues in the current parliament. The Socialists opposed it, contending U. S. aid during the immediate postwar period constituted relief grants.

The bill calls for payment of the U. S. aid debt in 30 installments over a 15-year period. It is expected to be ratified by the Japanese government by mid-September.

Indians Looking to White Father for Help

By RUTH MONTGOMERY

WASHINGTON— America's first families are looking to the Great White Father for relief.

The latter, better known as John F. Kennedy, waged a stiff campaign for the Redman's vote in 1960. The payoff will not come for another year, but since July 1 the Commerce Department's area redevelopment administration has earmarked three-quarters of a million dollars for technical studies of 19 Indian reservations which it classified as depressed areas.

The studies range from recreational potentials to the processing of reindeer meat, and are aimed at creating new jobs for America's rapidly increasing Indian population.

The old wives' tale about the "vanishing Red Man" is so much hokum. The Indian population is growing at a faster clip than any other group in the nation, and the Navajo tribe is multiplying at nearly twice the national rate.

To complicate matters, more than fifty Indian reservations have been officially declared depressed areas, which means that they need public assistance.

The Eisenhower administration was working toward a goal of gradually ending the federal wardship of Indians, and absorbing them into general society. Two tribes in Oregon and Wisconsin were, in fact, terminated in the late 1950s.

The Kennedy administration, on the other hand, is hiring a number of private firms to survey the reservations and recommend projects that could keep the tribes intact and make them self-supporting on the reservations.

One of these will study the tourist potential of New Mexico's Acoma Indian Reservation, the oldest inhabited community in America, which is close enough to Highway 66 of TV glamor fame to lure curiosity seekers and lovers of folk lore.

Another will investigate the recreation possibilities for Nevada's Pyramid Lake Reservation with an eye to Indian-operated marinas, motels and lakeside resorts.

* * *

The feasibility of setting up a reindeer meat, fish processing, tannery, and fur production operation in Kotzebue, Alaska, is also being looked into at a survey cost of $50,000.

* * *

This fascinating village, situated 50 miles above the Arctic Circle at the tip of Baldwin Peninsula, is considered the Eskimo capital of Alaska. The goal is to create 400 new Indian jobs and to expand the reindeer herds.

Some of the other surveys include a look-see at the industrial potential of the Salt River Reservation near Phoenix in Arizona, a $63,000 technical assistance study of potential mineral development on seven Indian reservations in Minnesota and Wisconsin, a $76,800 study of the feasibility of mining sodium phosphate on the Colville Indian Reservation in Washington, and a check of timber resources on the Blackfeet and Rocky Boy's reservations in Montana.

A $50,000 study is currently under way to expand the market for Alaskan native arts and crafts, and the Navajo Indian Reservation is being surveyed for establishing a meat processing industry.

The Navajo area in Arizona, New Mexico and Utah has historically been an area of unemployment, and the average per capita income is less than $500 annually, despite its astronomical birthrate.

The American Indian population in 1492, at the time of Christopher Columbus' first call on the New World, was estimated at 846,000, although there were no census takers around at the time.

After being exposed to the so-called culture of Western Europeans, the population by 1885 had dropped to 294,574. Since then it has steadily risen to approximately 350,000.

There are occasional signs that Indians still do not consider White Americans as other than visiting foreigners. As a matter of fact, the Acoma Indians of New Mexico have asked for a peace corps, just like independent African and Asian nations.

The Great White Father, surprised by this information at a recent press conference, became somewhat ensnarled with his syntax but gamely replied: "Whether we should particularly do it with the Indians, I think is worth looking at."

NIGHT PILOTS — Flying squirrels are fairly common in the U. S. The little squirrels are nocturnal and soar at 15 to 20 miles per hour from tree to tree seeking food. At left, flying squirrels are seen resting on a stump. Black line on side is special gliding membrane which turns them into a square glider, capable of a variety of aerial acrobatics. At right, seldom seen — much less photographed — is the flying squirrel in full daytime flight.

Trench Mouth Not Fungus Infection

Q. What is the best cure for trench mouth? Is it the same as fungus growth?

A. Trench mouth (Vincent's angina) is an infection of the mouth and throat due to a spiral-shaped germ, often in association with a spindle-shaped germ. It is not the same as a fungus infection. There is usually pain on swallowing, gland enlargement, and a yellowish-grey membrane in the mouth and throat. Saliva flows freely and the breath has a bad odor. The infection, which is easily passed from one mouth to another, can be cleared up by good dental care and with drugs used or prescribed by your physician or dentist.

Cancer — Up or Down?

Q. Is cancer on the increase in this country?

A. We are glad you specified "this country" because the figures vary widely according to location. Life insurance statistics show the following: Fifteen years ago there was little if any sex difference in cancer deaths. Since then, cancer deaths for white females have decreased 15%; for white males, they have increased 8%; and for non-white males they have increased 34%. This change is largely due to the enormous increase in lung cancer among males (140%) during this period.

Syretts Honeymoon at Cape Cod

The David Syretts who were wed Saturday in Christ Church Cranbrook, departed on a Cape Cod honeymoon after a garden reception at the home of the bride's parents, the John W. Blanchards, Bloomfield Hills.

Rev. Robert Patterson performed the late afternoon rite before an altar banked with white delphinium and daisies.

★ ★ ★

The bride's classic gown of white ribbed silk ottoman with jewel neckline, was styled with Kabuki sleeves and softly pleated skirt with sweep train. Illusion silk veiling was held in place by a crown of ottoman silk and pearls. Amazon lilies and Stephanotis comprised her bouquet.

SISTER IN PARTY

Attendants included the bride's sister, Mrs. C. Richard Cadigan, Webster Groves, Mo., matron of honor; and bridesmaids Kathryn Kyes, Deborah Hoey, Lydia Moore, Boston, and Jean Wilkinson, Summit, N. J.

Nippon daisies and ivy were carried in complement to their gowns of willow green silk organza over taffet, styled with wide scoop neck and rolled collar forming two deep points in the back. Their headpieces were matching green velvet leaves.

John and Matthew Syrett seated guests at their brother's wedding. They are the sons of the Harold C. Syretts of New York City. Completing the usher list, were the bride's brother John D. Blanchard, and C. Richard Cadigan. Nicholas Davis of Princeton, N. J., was best man.

★ ★ ★

The new Mrs. Styrett is an alumnus of Kingswood School Cranbrook, Skidmore College, Saratoga Springs, N. Y., and Columbia University, New York City. Her husband is a graduate of Putney School and Columbia. They will live in New York City.

Betsy Blanchard, daughter of the John W. Blanchards, Bloomfield Hills and David Syrett, son of the Harold C. Syretts, New York City, exchanged vows Saturday in Christ Church Cranbrook, Bloomfield Hills.

MRS. DAVID SYRETT

Karen/Kay Anderson and David J. Bishop exchanged vows Saturday evening in the First Methodist Church, Clarkston. Parents of the couple are State Representative and Mrs. Lloyd L. Anderson of Lineolnshire Street, Waterford Township and the Everett M. Bishops of Monroe.

MRS. DAVID J. BISHOP

Repeat Vows in Clarkston

Karen Kaye Anderson and David J. Bishop exchanged vows Saturday evening in the First Methodist Church, Clarkston, before Rev. William Richards.

A reception for 250 guests in the Coral Reef Room of Airway Lanes followed the ceremony.

The couple departed for a honeymoon in Mackinac Island and northern Michigan. They will reside in Spartan Village, Michigan State University, where both are students.

Parents of the couple are State Representative and Mrs. Lloyd L. Anderson of Lincolnshire Street, Waterford Township, and the Everett M. Bishops of Monroe.

The bride approached the altar wearing a floor-length peau de soie gown. A silk cabbage rose accentuated with seed pearls secured her silk illusion veil. She carried a cascade of blush pink cymbidium orchids with white feathered carnations, Carol Ambling roses, and traveling ivy.

Maid of honor was Lois Lake of Muskegon. Bridesmaids were Sharon Strassburg, Barbara Coe, and Mrs. Timothy Throne of Corunna. They wore cotillion blue moire sheath gowns with flared overskirts.

Their headpieces were cabbage roses of variegated blue with silk moline veils. They carried market baskets filled with blue carnations, white daisies, and ivy.

The bridegroom's niece, Laura Schuster of Monroe, was flower girl.

★ ★ ★

Performing the duties of best man was Robert Bishop, the bridegroom's brother. Ushers were Charles Wilson of Kalamazoo and Harry Herkimer of Monroe, and Gregory Bishop, the bridegroom's nephew. Ring bearer was a nephew of the bride, Ray Anderson of Clarkston.

The mother of the bride chose a beige brocade sheath dress and wore cymbidium orchids. The bridegroom's mother wore an olive green brocade dress with cymbidium orchids.

WCTU to Meet

Dora B. Whitney group of the Women's Christian Temperance Union will meet Sept. 11, 1 p.m. at the Sherbourne Drive home of Mrs. Clyde E. Anderson in Waterford Township.

Invite Churchwomen

All women of the First Baptist Church are invited to the Sept. 7 meeting of the Wayside Gleaner Society. Mrs. Harry Haggard will be hostess to the gathering in the church and Mrs. Margaret Putman, chairman. Esther O'Neil of Child Evangelism will be the speaker for the meeting.

All bauxite produced in Jamaica last year was exported to the United States while Jamaican aluminum went mostly to Canada and Norway.

Martha Hoyt and John W. Kinsella exchanged vows Saturday at her home with Rev. George A. Milne officiating. Parents of the couple are the Joseph B. Hoyts of Woodridge, Conn. and Mr. and Mrs. Philip J. Kinsella of Ferndale Street.

MRS. JOHN W. KINSELLA

Son of Pontiac Couple Weds in Connecticut

John W. Kinsella of New Haven, Conn., son of the Philip J. Kinsellas of Ferndale St., Pontiac, claimed Martha Hoyt of Woodbridge, Conn. as his bride Saturday afternoon. For the wedding in Woodbridge the bride's home was decorated with white gladioli and greens.

Rev. George A. Milne of the First Church of Christ, Woodbridge, officiated.

Parents of the bride are the Joseph B. Hoyts of Woodbridge.

The bride chose an off-white satin brocade street length gown and a shoulder length veil of silk illusion caught in a satin brocade bow. She carried a yellow tea rose and Stephanotis cascade bouquet.

ATTENDED BRIDE

Attending the bride was matron of honor Mrs. Lawrence Hegarty of Norfolk, Va. in a smoky blue velveteen dinner dress. Her crescent bouquet was of yellow and whity chrysanthemums.

± ★ ★

His brother's best man was Philip J. Kinsella Jr. of Hamden, Conn. Ushers were Jonathan T. Hoyt and J. Bixby Hoyt Jr., both brothers of the bride.

Wearing a charcoal grey outfit, the bride and her husband departed for a Caribbean honeymoon, after which they will reside in Mount Carmel, Conn.

The mother of the bride chose a navy blue silk faille dress and the bridegroom's mother wore a wedgewood blue outfit.

The new Mrs. Kinsella attended Pembrook College and her bridegroom the University of Michigan.

Area Young People

Frances Hayes sailed on the SS America for France Aug. 16. Her sister Alice, who has been teaching and traveling in Europe for the past year, met her and the sisters vacationed together in Paris.

Reversing the situation this year, Alice returned to her home on Lowell Street and Frances remained to teach and travel. They are the daughters of Mrs. Howard Hayes of the same address, and the late Mr. Hayes.

Louis Schimmel, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Schimmel of West Iroquois Road, recently returned from a month's tour of Europe. He and his sister Jane, who teaches school in Frankfurt, Germany, toured the continent and Scandinavian countries.

Personals

Mrs. Erin Woolf from Greenway, Ark., attended her granddaughter, Ruth Ellen Jackson's wedding to Kenneth A. Backus Friday evening in the Sashabaw United Presbyterian Church. Also coming from Arkansas for the wedding were the Reed M. Perryman's of Calico Rock.

★ ★ ★

Leaving for a five-day trip to Washington, D.C., Tuesday evening will be Mr. and Mrs. L. Thomas Conley of Draper Avenue.

Cpl. Conley completed four years service with the Marine Corps Military Police as of Friday. Mrs. Conley, the former Karen Elaine Bowman, and her husband have two daughters.

★ ★ ★

Three representatives of the Equitable Life Assurance Society of the United States and their wives returned from a company conference at Boyne Mountain last week.

Attending from this area were: District manager Talton R. Clark, of Birmingham and representatives John Radenbaugh of Elizabeth Lake Road, Waterford Township, and Richard Mineweaser of St. Joseph Street.

The conference was held in the interest of demonstrating new marketing procedures to the top executives and salesmen, in addition to receiving recommendations for product improvement from the field men.

Say 'No,' Abby Advises

Don't Drop Your Rules

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Is a divorced woman supposed to sit home unless she is willing to go as far as her date expects her to? I have been going with a divorced man who behaved like a perfect gentleman the first two dates.

But in spite of my efforts to keep him in line I finally had to fight him off. I told him not to call me again if that was the way he was going to act.

When he called me again and asked me to go out I assumed he was coming back on my terms. Instead, after another wrestling match he asked me why I accepted another date with him if I hadn't changed my mind.

Does this mean if I want to behave myself I have to sit home? Please answer as this is getting to be the story of my life. DISILLUSIONED

DEAR DISILLUSIONED: Don't judge ALL men by the octopus you describe. Once you have told an aggressive date your limits and rules, ASK him if he is willing to stay within them — otherwise no date.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: I hope you won't send the man with the butterfly net after me when you read this. My husband and I have been married eight heavenly years. We have five lovely children. Our marriage is solid as a rock. We eloped and had no wedding to remember.

I have always envied brides who had white church weddings and a honeymoon. Could I possibly do this now? All I want is to walk down the aisle in a wedding gown and veil, be married by a preacher, have pictures taken and go on a honeymoon. (Of course we'd take the children.)

Please don't throw this away and call me silly.

STILL ON A PINK CLOUD

DEAR STILL: Why not? Do it on your anniversary. But don't wear white. Make it pale pink to match those clouds.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: My husband is impossible to live with. He's a heavy drinker, a poor provider and selfish on top of it. Don't say go to a priest. I have been to seven. And don't tell me to get him to join A. A., as he has joined eight times.

P. S. He says that people who write to you are nuts.

HAD IT

DEAR HAD IT: There is NO help for a man who refuses to help himself. And, unfortunately, it is the woman who has promised to take him for better or worse who gets the worst of it.

P. S. If people who write to me are "nuts," it's people like your husband who drive them there.

Some Pontiac area residents go away for this last holiday before school and cold weather write "Thirty" to their fun. Others, like the William Spalding family of Mikewood Street, Waterford Township, are spending a leisurely time on their own back porch. It looks as if 18-year-old Mike (left) might be fixing up a date. His twin, Thomas, has already left. Pat and Dick have plans for making some kind of mechanical contraption if their mother can prevent baby sister, Kathy, from grabbing the pieces. Dad just concentrates on his book. All in all, it looks like a successful Labor Day at home.

By The Emily Post Institute

Q: Is it a must, as my mother insists it is, to keep the left hand in the lap throughout a meal?

I think it looks very awkward to sit with the left hand in the lap while eating and that it is better, and entirely proper, to rest it on the table's edge. May I please have your opinion on this matter?

A: Many people do find it awkward to sit throughout a meal with one hand lying limp in the lap and find it more natural to vary the position of the hand somewhat — sometimes holding it against the table's edge and sometimes leaving it in the lap.

Actually there are very few times when the left hand is not busy holding the fork while cutting food or holding a piece of bread.

★ ★ ★

Q: When salad (such as lettuce and tomato) is served, is it permissible to cut the tomato and lettuce with a knife? I think it is but a friend of mine insists that it is most improper to cut salad with a knife and that a fork alone is correct. Will you settle this, please?

A: If the salad cannot be cut easily with a fork alone, it is entirely proper to use a knife.

The mistaken belief that it is not proper to cut salad with a knife traces back to an earlier day when there were no stainless steel knives and comparatively few people had silver-bladed ones and the vinegar in the salad dressings turned an ordinary steel knife black upon contact with the vinegar.

MRS. EUGENE A. ZAFFINA

Phyllis Anne Upchurch and Eugene Zaffina exchanged vows Saturday morning in St. Benedict's Catholic Church with Rev. R. W. Thomas officiating.

Parents of the couple are Mrs. E. D. Clubb of Tilden Avenue and the late Ural M. Upchurch and Mr. and Mrs. Dominic A. Zaffina of Henry Clay Avenue.

An evening reception was held for 300 guests at the American Legion Hall, Auburn Heights.

The bride's floor-length gown of silk brocade swept into a chapel train. Hand rolled silk illusion veiling was fitted to a Juliet half crown of lace. She carried a white orchid and Stephanotis atop a white prayer book.

★ ★ ★

Matron of honor was Mrs. Richard Weir of Drayton Plains. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Donald Genereux, sister of the bridegroom; and Mrs. Carl Widdis.

They wore purple velvet sheath dresses with satin overskirts and had matching bow headpieces. They carried colonial bouquets of white and purple carnations. Flower girl was the bride's niece, Robin Anne Spry.

Performing the duties of best man was Joseph Zaffina, the bridegroom's brother. Ushering were Garry Crake and Richard Fitzpatrick.

The mother of the bride wore a green silk Shantung dress with white Cymbidium orchids. The bridegroom's mother chose a brown print silk jersey with flowers identical to Mrs. Clubb's.

Favors Engagement

ANN ARBOR (UPI)—A University of Michigan professor has defended the engagement period before marriage as the last opportunity "to see what it feels like to be almost married but not quite."

Prof. Robert O. Blood Jr. said the engagement period is not an obsolete social custom.

"In any society, ritualization of the transition from single youthfulness to married adulthood adds strength and stability to the institution of marriage," Blood said in his book "Marriage," just published.

Blood, a sociologist who specializes in the study of marriages and family relations, said the engagement period lasts so long that we rarely think of its as a ceremony.

"However," he said, "the girl's ring on her finger, picture in the paper, and round of showers merit the use of the term even though the male partner is marginal to the process."

He said the engagement fulfills three major purposes. It serves notice of serious intent; it's the last chance to protest the marriage, and it "sets the wheels of planning turning at full speed."

Deathless Labor Day Weekend Amazes Historians

By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK — A fable:

Historians in this year of 1984 A.D. are still puzzled by the Labor Day weekend of 1962. As is well known not only in the U.S. but inside the American colony that has been established near the big Russian state on the moon, the Labor Day weekend of 1962 was marked by a complete absence of traffic deaths.

For many years before that particular weekend, and each year since, about 400 Americans have died on the roads, at the beaches and elsewhere during the three-day holiday period.

But throughout that weekend, back in 1962, no one person met violent death. The National Safety Council shamefacedly withdrew a publicity release predicting that 383 persons would be killed, mostly by cars.

Newspaper picture pages were dropped temporarily for want of wreck photos. A great number of editorials written in advance, so the writers could race to the beach, had to be scrapped because they deplored the carnage on our highways.

Subsequent studies indicate that one cause for the only death-free weekend since the advent of the automobile may have been that — through some implausible stroke of coincidence — all drivers obeyed the traffic laws.

Prof. Wolfgang Zilch, who devoted years of study to the phenomenon before his breakdown from frustration, observed:

AFTER YEARS OF STUDY

"I must reject the theory that mass obedience of the traffic rules that existed in 1962 was primarily responsible for the deathless weekend.

"Equally important may have been the possibility that millions of drivers drove onto the high highways that weekend without first stupefying their reflexes and coordination with a few shots of booze.

"On the other hand, it could have been caused by the simultaneous comprehension on the part of millions that a ton or two of automobile hurtling along at a mile a minute can be just about as lethal as a projectile of the same size.

"I have explored the possibility, too, that the mystifying weekend may have resulted from a sudden, widespread realization that it did not matter very much whether the drivers reached the places where each was going at 12:10 or 12:20.

"It is sheer conjecture, of course, but on that weekend I feel there must have been a wholesale burst of courtesy, an armistice on drag races, an unusual number of coffee stops, an inclination to stop for a good night's rest before plunging on, and a dawning comprehension that life is too precious to imperil it by taking a crazy chance.

"It can never be calculated how much anguish was spared, how much money saved, by the deathless Labor Day weekend of 1962.

"Dozens who were seemingly destined to die that weekend lived to build enduring monuments, write indelible prose, paint works that will laugh at time, marry, raise families, help a friend, forgive a foe.

★ ★ ★

"It seems rational to guess that the motorists of that fabled three-day period took the unusual precaution of looking at their tires before starting out, and replacing worn ones.

"Those who drove through the rainstorms that affected several parts of the U.S. may very well have cut their normal speeds by 10 or even 15 miles an hour.

"It is further possible that all drivers dimmed their brights at night when cars approached from the opposite direction. An extensive recent poll of senior citizens who were alive back in 1962 brings to light a series of memories of little acts of compassion that week end.

"One octogenarian spinster told me, 'You bet your sweet life, Buster, there was something daffy about that Labor Day weekend of '62. A cab driver, making a turn across an intersection, actually stopped and let me cross.'

"Retired lifeguards have said, in recalling the weekend in question, that parents seemed to pay an unusual amount of attention to young children playing in the water.

Teen-agers, some have added, were curiously docile that weekend at scattered beaches. Nobody seemed to want to show how far out he could swim, or how many twists he could do off the high board, or how he could stand on his head while water skiing.

"Undertakers were hit so hard that some were forced to drop down from Cadillac hearses to Buicks. Hospitals had room for the nonreckless patients. The health and accident insurance companies lowered rates.

"Many millions of dollars, countless dreams, a torrent of good thoughts have been generated by those who were presumed ticketed for death, but who lived to see, to embrace, to be a vital part of the most exciting decades in the history of the world."

End of fable.

Tourist Spending Drops in Miami

MIAMI (UPI) — Tourism fell off sharply in Miami during July and August with an estimated loss of more than $11 million in possible spending by vacationers, it was reported.

Tourist officials blamed the decrease on a flight engineers strike that grounded most Eastern Air Lines Flights, and a "combination of circumstances," including general business conditions and a sizeable drop in convention business.

Lions Stack Cards, 19-14; Meet Again in St. Louis

BY BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

OMAHA, Neb. — The Detroit Lions had the Cards stacked up pretty much their own way Saturday night and they will be trying to pull the same trick again this week.

Milt Plum went all the way and dealt the Lions a 19-14 victory in Omaha. The two teams meet again Friday night in St. Louis in the final exhibition game of the season and whether or not Plum will be the dealer once more remains to be seen.

Most likely he will be in as much as coach George Wilson wants Plum to get all the experience he can with the Lions' system before the season opener in two weeks at Tiger Stadium against Pittsburgh.

Plum threw 34 passes, most of them of the short variety, and he completed 19 for 154 yards. One was a nine yard touchdown to Jim Gibbons. In the first half, Plum did not appear to be as sharp, however several easy aerials dropped out of the hands of receivers.

FAKE FIELD GOAL

The Lions started the scoring on Wayne Walker's 39 yard field goal, which was set up on a fake field goal try a few moments earlier.

With the ball on the 32 and Morrall holding, he saw that the Cardinals threw up a tight 11 man line on the field goal attempt. He checked off the field goal signals and stood up and threw a 12 yard pass to Johnny Olszewski for the first down on the Card 22.

Two big penalties mixed in the series pushed the ball back and Walker then was forced to kick his 39 yard field goal.

Sam Etcheverry got the Cardinals moving and with four seconds left in the period, fullback Mal Hammack went over from the two. Key play was a 28 yard pass to Joe Conrad.

TWO POINTS

An intercepted pass by Yale Lary started the Lions moving again, but the drive stalled on the Cardinal 9 after 11 plays.

Three plays later, Roger Brown, Alex Karras and Dave Lloyd hit Etcheverry behind the goal for a safety and St. Louis led 7-5.

Dick LeBeau made a fine interception of a Cardinal pass on his own 40 and he raced to the Card 18. In three plays, Detroit scored with Jim Gibbons taking a 9 yard scoring pass with only 35 seconds left in the half, to make it 12-7.

LeBeau then intercepted another Etcheverry pass as the half ended.

Holding penalties stopped the Lions' offensive several times during the second half, once after a 19 yard run by Plum which was nullified and again on a 25 yard pass play to Tom Hall for a TD which was called back.

On the third bid, Larry Wilson intercepted for the Cardinals and he raced 65 yards for the touchdown to give St. Louis the lead, 14-12, in the final quarter.

A good runback by Tommy Watkins, 32 yards on a punt to the Cardinal 28 set up the winning marker. Watkins carried four times and Ken Webb dove over from the one. Walker's point made it 19-14.

St. Louis got to the Lions 29 with 24 seconds to play but lost the ball on downs without another play getting underway.

A crowd of 13,519, near capacity for the Omaha Stadium, watched the game played for charity.

The Lions played without the services of Gail Cogdill and Nick Pietrosante. Terry Barr and Larry Vargo saw only limited action.

Yanks, Top Pursuers Win

By The Associated Press

In six of the last eight years, a New York Yankee has won the American League's most valuable player award. Yogi Berra, Mickey Mantle and Roger Maris each have claimed it twice.

It looks like the honor will go to a Yankee again this year but it probably won't be Yogi, Mickey or Roger.

★ ★ ★

Most likely candidate for the coveted award is the littlest Yankee of them all. He is Bobby Richardson. The 5-9 second baseman, the most consistent performer on the pennant-bound Yankees, gave another demonstration of his worth Sunday. He crashed a ninth inning double that drove in the winning run in his team's 2-1 triumph over the Kansas City Athletics.

ROLLING ALONG

The victory enabled the Yankees to maintain their four-game margin over second place Minnesota, a 5-2 winner over Boston. Los Angeles, third place Angels defeated Washington 4-2 to remain 4½ lengths behind the Yankees whom they engage in a four-game series starting with a doubleheader today.

Chicago's fourth place White Sox outslugged Detroit 10-8 and Baltimore took a doubleheader from Cleveland 4-3 and 2-1 and swept past the Tigers into fifth place.

Richardson, 27 last month, is enjoying his best of six seasons with the Yankees. Already he has reached his high mark in hits, 173 (which also leads the league); home runs, eight; runs batted in, 51, and doubles, 29.

WINS OWN GAME

Minnesota's Jim Kaat became the first American League lefthander to win 15 games, limiting the Red Sox to eight hits. Kaat also excelled at the plate. With the score tied at 2-2, he opened the ninth with a bunt single, moved around to third on hits by Lennie Green and Vic Power, and scored the tie-breaking run on Rich Rollins' sacrifice fly. Harmon Killebrew's double drove in two insurance runs.

★ ★ ★

Leo Burke, a utility infielder-outfielder purchased from Dallas Saturday, smashed a three-run homer in his first game with Los Angeles to highlight the Angels' triumph. Blanked by Don Dudolph through five innings, the Angels snapped Rudolph's scoreless streak at 31 consecutive innings when Earl Averill singled home Jim Fregosi with the first run.

Strong pitching by Milt Pappas, Hector Brown and Hoyt Wilhelm featured Baltimore's two victories over Cleveland. Pappas turned in a five-hitter for his 12th triumph in the opener. Dave Nicholson's homer and Jerry Adai's two run scoring hits were the key blows for the Orioles against Jim Grant.

Brown blanked the Indians in the nightcap through seven innings and was relieved by Wilhelm after serving two singles in the eighth. Wilhelm induced Chuck Essegian to hit into a double play, then held off the Indians in the ninth after a run had scored. Russ Snyder and Gu Triandos drove in the Orioles' runs in the nightcap.

Locals Drop 2 Straight; Rochester 'C' Softball Entry Eliminated

Pontiac's baseball representative and a Rochester softball entry got wiped out of state competition over the weekend after opening with victories.

★ ★ ★

Jackson downed Huron-Airway 5-2 Saturday and Muskegon blanked the Pontiac nine 5-0 yesterday in the Michigan Amateur Baseball Tournament at Battle Creek.

Maybee and Lansing cut down Grissom Chevrolet Saturday in Class C softball, McNeil Insurance of Rochester is in "B" at Scottville and Shelby Oil of that village in Class D at Owosso.

Flint plays unbeaten Allen Park Wednesday at Port Huron for the Class AA softball title. Flint nipped Jackson 1-0 in 14 innings yesterday.

Ed Estes singled across two unearned runs in the 2nd to give Pontiac an early baseball lead over Jackson but the winners came back to take command by the 4th. Don Sacket was the loser.

★ ★ ★

Muskegon wrapped up its verdict with a two-run 2nd. Pontiac left two on in the 4th and had men on 2nd and 3rd with no outs in the 6th yet failed to score. Bob Rabaja, the top H-A hitter of the tourney, opened that frame with a single and Chuck Johnson doubled. A double play helped preserve a shutout, Jim Ray was the loser. Pontiac was out-hit a total of only 16 to 13 in the defeats. Jackson and Muskegon were matched today with the winner gaining the finals against Battle Creek.

Billy Welu Leads Albany Qualifiers

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Billy Welu of St. Louis fired six-game blocks of 1372 and 1298 Sunday for a two-day total of 5222 and led 16 qualifiers in the $20,000 Professional Bowlers Albany Open.

Punk Limmer of Albany shot into second place with 5214, followed by Lindy Faragelli of Wayne, N.Y., with 5181.

Andy Marzich of Long Beach, Calif., captured the 16th qualifying position by beating Eddie Patterson of El Paso, Tex., 412 to 394, in an extra rolloff after both finished with identical scores of 5033.

★ ★ ★

Giants in Green Bay Today Remembering '61

Packers Still Nightmare in NFL

By The Associated Press

The New York Giants return to the scene of one of their wildest football nightmares tonight when they visit Green Bay, Wis., to battle the National League champion Green Bay Packers in an exhibition scrap.

★ ★ ★

It was in the proud Wisconsin community where the Giants met the vaunted Packers last Dec. 31 for the 1961 NFL crown and came away with a humiliating 37-0 spanking.

Nobody's been able to master the Packers since that memorable afternoon. Green Bay has marched past four pre-season foes and is one of two remaining undefeated NFL clubs. The other is Cleveland.

The Giants haven't fared too well so far this exhibition season. They've won one, a 31-24 triumph over the Los Angeles Rams; tied one and lost one.

Minnesota's Vikings, fired by quarterback Fran Tarkenton's brilliant passing, put the only blemish on Baltimore's exhibition record yesterday by spanking the Colts 24-13.

Cleveland remained unbeaten Saturday night with a last-ditch rally that nipped the rams at Los Angeles 26-24. The Washington Redskins ended an 18-game losing streak in exhibition action Saturday night by edging the Chicago Bears at Norfolk, Va., 29-28.

In other NFL games, the Philadelphia Eagles routed the Pittsburgh Steelers at Hershey, Pa., 34-14, the Detroit Lions trimmed the St. Louis Cardinals at Omaha 19-14, and the San Francisco 49ers bombed the Dallas Cowboys at Sacramento, Calif., 26-7.

AFL GAMES

The only activity in the American Football League Saturday night saw the San Diego Chargers clip the New York Titans at San Diego 14-9 and the Buffalo Bills squeeze by the Boston Patriots at Boston 7-6.

Tarkenton tossed two touchdown passes in the third quarter against the Colts at Minneapolis-St. Paul, erasing a 10-3 advantage Baltimore held at the half.

★ ★ ★

Cleveland waited until the final 57 seconds to beat the Rams. With time running out, quarterback Jim Minowski found John Brewer with a 21-yard pass that produced the Browns' second fourth-period touchdown and nailed down the decision.

Washington's Norman Snead hit Fred Dugan with passes of 17, 36 and 8 yards for touchdowns and Bob Khayat kicked field goals of 37, 19, and 22 yards in upending the Bears, who haven't won in four tests.

Substitute quarterback King Hill came to Philadelphia's rescue in the second quarter against Pittsburgh and hit Tommy McDonald with payoff passes good for 48 and 26 yards.

Nineteen points in the final quarter produced San Francisco's victory over Dallas. After Tommy Davis broke a 7-7 deadlock with a 33-yard field goal on the last quarter's first play, John Brodie came up with the big blow, a 65-yard pass to Bernie Casey for six points.

Maxwell Dallas Leader

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Billy Maxwell, the Texas red head, was in a very strong position today to win his first golf tournament in a year. He could ask nothing better than a 4-stroke lead going into the final round and that's what he boasts in the $35,000 Dallas Open.

Maxwell fired a 2-under-par 68 for a 54-hole total of 206 Sunday to move from second into the lead as tempestuous Tommy Bolt, the angry man of the links, skied to a 78 and fell down to a tie for 17th at 215. Bolt had led at the halfway mark with 137.

Johnny Pott, the Dallas Open champion in 1960, was in contention with a par 70 that gave him 210 and second place. Jack Nicklaus, the National Open champion, shot a 68 to tie Juan Rodriguez, the Puerto Rican, for third at 211. Rodriguez had a 69.

OVER A YEAR

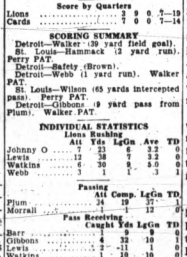
Maxwell has won six tournaments on the PGA tour since starting in 1954. His last victory, however, was in the Insurance City Open at Hartford, Conn., in August of last year. This year his best showing has been a tie for third place. He has, however, banked $22,416.12.

★ ★ ★

Billy's great approaching was the story of Sunday's round. He was getting so close the law of averages gave him a large percentage of his putts. He had putting trouble on only one hole where he took three strokes and he had another bogey when he drove into a rut on an asphalt walk.

★ ★ ★

There were eight sub-par rounds over the 6,636-yard Oak Cliff Country Club course with a 66 by Buster Cupit of Fort Smith, Ark., low for the day. It pulled Cupit up to 212—a tie for fifth place with Bruce Crampton, who had a 72.



Jock Shurrock, 47, has been named skipper of the Australian challenger Gretel for the America's Cup sailing races.

★ ★ ★

Physical examinations for Rochester junior high athletes will be at 9 a.m. Thursday in Central Junior High.

★ ★ ★

In the All-Ireland curling final Sunday at Croke Park in Dublin, Tipperary defeated Wexford 3 goals 10 points (19 points), to 2 goals 11 points (17 points) to retain the championship.

★ ★ ★

Joy Fair of Pontiac, driving a 1962 Pontiac, finished 9th in the 250 mile race at State Fair yesterday.

★ ★ ★

Mike Seremjian won the Edgewood Country Club men's championship yesterday with a 6 and 5 victory over Ed Novak. Seremjian was runner-up a year ago in the championship flight.

Colavito's Bat Is Silenced by Chicago Shift

Bengals Play Twice in Baltimore Today After Drop to 6th

DETROIT (AP)—The ability to hit lots of home runs has made Rocky Colavito the highest paid player on the Tigers.

And the Rock has been earning his $50,000-plus well. His home run production this season is plentiful—an average of one every 16.3 at bats.

★ ★ ★

He has 31 homers. But they were nothing compared to the one Colavito wanted to hit so badly yesterday.

A homer by Colavito would have climaxed a dramatic rally in the bottom of the ninth and brought the Tigers a stirring victory. "Instead, Colavito grounded out to shortstop and the Tigers lost 10-8 to the Chicago White Sox.

SHIFT BOTHERS ROCK

After his game-ending grounder, Colavito sat quietly in front of his locker for 40 minutes.

"That shift," muttered Colavito. "I hit the ball hard twice and the shift stopped me. And it may have stopped me again the last time up."

The White Sox deploy three infielders on the left side of second base against Colavito. Luis Aparicio was deep and right of his normal shortstop position when he fielded Colavito's grounder for the final out. Hit by another batter, and it probably would have been a single.

★ ★ ★

The defeat dropped the Tigers from their fractional hold on fourth all the way to sixth. The Baltimore Orioles, whom the Tigers meet twice tonight, moved into fifth while Chicago regained fourth.

Until the ninth, Eddie Fisher restricted the Tigers to four hits. Chico Fernandez' 17th homer in the fifth had accounted for the only Tiger run.

The Tigers suddenly erupted against Fisher at the start of the ninth. Billy Bruton singled and Al Kaline hit his 22nd homer. Colavito and Vic Wertz singled and Fernandez' force out brought in another run.

★ ★ ★

Fisher got Steve Boros for the second out. But Dick Brown's hopper to third was fumbled by Sam Esposito. Pinchhitter Bob Farley singled home the fourth run of the rally. Fisher was replaced by Dom Zanni. Dick McAuliffe lined a pinchhit double for a run. Dean Stone relieved Zanni with the score 10-6 and runners on second and third.

Bruton drove in two more runs with his second single of the inning and Turk Lown came on to face Colavito. Lown induced him to slap a slider to Aparicio and it was over.

★ ★ ★

Don Mossi and Phil Regan will be the Tiger starters in the Labor Day twi-night doubleheader at Baltimore. Chuck Estrada and Dick Hall will pitch for the Orioles.

Norm Cash's injured finger has recovered enough to let him accompany the Tigers on the four-game roadtrip.

Drysdale Likes New Home

By The Associated Press

If the Los Angeles Coliseum was Nightmare Alley for Don Drysdale, splendiferous new Dodger Stadium is Dream Street for the sidearming right-hander.

★ ★ ★

For the four seasons that the Coliseum served as temporary home for the Dodgers, Drysdale complained loud, long and often about the weird baseball layout at the mammouth arena—particularly the notorious left field screen, just a chip shot away from home plate.

He claimed he couldn't win there, and while this was stretching things a bit, it is a fact Drysdale spent those four years trying futilely to live up to his potential as one of the game's very best pitchers.

BLANKS BRAVES

But in the Dodgers' sumptious new setting in Chavez Ravine, Drysdale has blossomed. He spun a neat five-hitter Sunday, beating the Milwaukee Braves 8-0 for his eighth straight victory at Los Angeles. That made his home record for the season 12-2 and ran his over-all 1962 mark to 23-7.

And it also maintained the Dodgers' National League lead at 3½ games over the San Francisco Giants, who move into Los Angeles for a vital four-game series opening today. The Giants kept pace Sunday by trimming Cincinnati 6-4 on Felipe Alou's two-run homer in the ninth inning.

★ ★ ★

Also in the National League, Joe Christopher's two-run pinch single in the ninth gave the New York Mets a 4-3 decision over St. Louis and Houston took eighth place away from Chicago with a 3-1 victory over the Cubs. The Pittsburgh Pirates and Phillies were rained out in Philadelphia.

Drysdale, registering his 18th complete game of the season but only his first shutout, struck out five, did not allow a walk and doled out five singles. Meanwhile, the Dodgers nicked loser Bob Shaw for one run in the second inning, then jumped on the right-hander for four more in the fourth —two of them coming in on a single by Drysdale.

2 MORE THEFTS

Maury Wills stole two more bases, making it 76 for the mercurial Dodger shortstop, only four shy of the league record set by Bob Bescher of Cincinnati in 1911.

Alou clinched the Giants' victory when he blasted one of reliever Jim Brosnan's pitches some 425 feet over the centerfield fence at Candlestick Park following a single by Willie Mays in the ninth. Mays' 41st homer and one by Jose Pagan helped the Giants build a 4-1 lead but the Reds pulled even in the eighth when Frank Robinson singled in one run and Leo Cardenas doubled in two more.

Billy O'Dell won his 16th, giving up 11 hits but going the distance. The loss dropped the third-place Reds 7½ games back of the Dodgers.

★ ★ ★

An error by St. Louis second baseman Julio Gotay helped the Mets load the bases in the ninth, setting the stage for Christopher's game-winning hit off Bobby Shantz. Gene Oliver tagged Al Jackson for a homer in the last of the ninth but the New York southpaw struggled through with a complete game. One of the 12 hits he allowed was a pinch single to Stan Musial, who moved ahead of Tris Speaker into the No. 2 spot on the all-time hit parade with 3,516. Ty Cobb is the record holder with 4,191.

★ ★ ★

Rookie Ken Hubbs of the Cubs set a major league fielding mark for second basemen but sloppy fielding still cost the Cubs the game. Houston scored its three runs—all unearned — in the eighth on Carl Warwick's Single, an error by pitcher Bob Buhl, Johnny Temple's bunt and doubles by Roman Mejias and Bob Aspromonte.

Pontiacs, Fords Top Favorites in Stock Race

DARLINGTON, S.C. (AP) — Ford and Pontiac drivers were favored in today's $32,800 Southern 500-mile Stock Car race here, with a pair of Plymouth races given an outside chance.

The Pontiac contingent was headed by Fireball Roberts of Daytona Beach, Fla., Junior Johnson of Ronda, N.C., and Bobby Johns of Miami, Fla. Roberts and Johnson were in the front row of the starting field of 43 cars. Johns occupied a second row position.

Nelson Stacy of Daytona Beach, last year's winner, and Fred Lorenzen of Elmhurst, Ill., were favorites among Ford drivers.

Highly-rated by racing observers were the Plymouth duo of Richard Petty of Randleman, N.C. and Jim Paschal of High Point, N.C.

Apparently Had Heat Stroke

SMU Gridder Dies After Practice

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Southern Methodist University center Mike Kelsey died Sunday after suffering an apparent heat stroke during football practice and at least five other Southwest Conference gridders were hospitalized by similar attacks.

★ ★ ★

Kelsey, a 20-year-old, 200-pound junior from Corpus Christi, died in Baylor hospital without regaining consciousness after he collapsed Saturday. His temperature shot to 110 degrees and death was attributed to a heat stroke although the football practice was conducted in 77-degree weather. A spokesman for SMU said no autopsy was performed.

Kelsey's death was the first in college football in the nation this season but was the second among college and high school players in Texas.

SECOND IN TEXAS

A 16-year-old end for San Felipe High School in Del Rio, Paul Rodriquez, suffered a dizzy spell and collapsed during practice Thursday. He died Friday.

At Austin, University of Texas guard Reggie Grob was described as being in serious condition after he collapsed Saturday during a workout in 95-degree weather.

Coach Darrell Royal said that although Grob had regained consciousness, he remained in the intensive care ward of an Austin hospital because of a kidney misfunction apparently caused by the heat stroke.

★ ★ ★

Two other University of Texas players—guards Jim Basselman and Lee Hensley—were hospitalized after being felled by the heat during practice but were to be released today.

OUT 2 WEEKS

Two Texas A&M players—end Ronnie Carpenter and guard John Brink—were hospitalized Saturday after collapsing in hot and humid weather as Southwest Conference teams opened fall training. Carpenter is expected to be out of action for at least two weeks.

Royal said Sunday night that as result of the heat strokes, the Longhorns will break all future practice sessions into 30-minute periods and that during breaks each player will be required to take a salt tablet with every 8 ounces of water.

★ ★ ★

"We know now we haven't been getting enough salt," Royal said.

Assistant SMU coach Charlie Driver said that during a defensive drill Saturday "Mike held up his hand to me and said coach, I can't go."

Driver said that Kelsey collapsed soon after reaching the sideline.

Teammates said that Kelsey seemed to be in top physical shape when the workout started but assistant coach Herman Morgan said Kelsey appeared ill during an offensive drill and asked to be excused. But he later rejoined the practice for the defensive drill.

An attending physician said that "all indications point to a heat stroke" but he added that a heat stroke was unusual "no hotter than it was."

Members of the SMU football coaching staff and squad will be honorary pallbearers when funeral services for Kelsey are held today at the Highland Park Methodist Church.

His 29th double came off Orlando Pena with one out in the ninth and scored Tony Kubek from first base to snap a 1-1 tie. Trailing 1-0, the Yankees tied the score when Pena committed a bases-loaded balk with two out in the sixth.

Katona Wins at State Fair

Willis Driver Paces 35-Car Field to Set Track Record

DETROIT (AP) — Iggy Katona of Willis, Mich., set a new track record today and became the only man ever to win the 250-mile new car race at the Michigan State Fair twice. He pocketed $2,000 first prize money with his 1962 Ford.

Katona's time for the 250 miles was 3 hours, 18 minutes and 26 seconds, breaking the mark of 3:34.06 he set in winning in 1961.

Katona also paced the 35-car field in qualifying with a speed of 83 miles an hour around the one-mile dirt oval, which he circled in 43.22 seconds.

★ ★

Jack Bowsher of Springfield, Ohio, was runner up in the 250-mile event. Trailing in order among the 13 other finishers were: Jim Cushman, Columbus, Ohio; Johnny Roberts, Saginaw, Mich.; Paul Parks, Columbus, Ohio, and Keith Ploughe, Indianapolis.

Harold Smith of Dayton, Ohio, a pre-race favorite, went through the fence on the north turn and demolished his car in a qualifying attempt. He suffered only a facial cut.

Ken Julian of Detroit went through the south wall on the 84th lap. Billy Meyers of Pittsburgh hit the front wall on his 112th lap and Gail Hippley of Salem, Ohio, turned upside-down on the 233rd lap. But none of the three drivers was injured.

Waterford Will Have Touch Football League

Formation of a touch football league for adults was announced Saturday by the Waterford Township Recreation Department.

The program will be open to adults in the Waterford Township or school district area. Games will be played under the lights during the week at the Drayton Plains ball park.

An organizational meeting is scheduled September 17 at 7:30 p.m. at the Recreation Department office, 5640 Williams Lake Road. Plans for the season will be outlined at this time. Interested teams and players can obtain a complete set of playing rules by contacting the office, OR 4-0376.

Davis Cup Preview in Tennis Nationals

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP)—It was preview time at the National Tennis Championships today when Mexico's Rafael Osuna took on Sweden's Ulf Schmidt in a second round match.

★ ★ ★

The two will meet again next month in the Davis Cup interzone semifinal in Mexico City and they were expected to pull out all stops today to get the obious psychological advantage.

"This will be a very important match for me," said Osuna, a student at Southern California. "I figure if I can beat him, he might not be so confident when he gets to Mexico City."

FEW TRICKS

"I'm taking each match as it comes," observed the experienced Schmidt, who once held the United States indoor championship. "I know Osuna is a good boy. But I have a few tricks of my own."

Both Mexico and Sweden were upset winners of the American and European Zone finals, respectively. Sweden was expected to go down before the powerful Italians. The Mexicans were supposed to be sitting ducks for the United States.

★ ★ ★

The winner of the Mexico-Sweden match is almost certain to make the challenge round against Australia. On the way, the only obstacle would be India, the Far Eastern Zone winner.

Osuna is seeded No. 4. Schmidt is not seeded.

STOPPED BY RAIN

Officials hoped to get the entire second round completed after Sunday's rainout. This means that some players will go into action twice because there were half dozen matches going on when the rains came.

★ ★ ★

All the other seeded men appeared to have clear sailing. Rod Laver, the Australian left-hander who is seeking an Australian, French, British and United States grand slam, tangled with Eduardo Zuleta of Ecuador in the second round.

★ ★ ★

Defending champion Roy Emerson had a date with Arthur Ashe of Richmond, Va., a junior Davis Cupper, and Chuck McKinley, of St. Ann., Mo., seeded No. 3 behind Emerson, figured to have no trouble with Andres Lilis of Poland.

★ ★ ★

Fred Stolle of Australia, No. 5, crossed rackets with Gordon Fobes of South Africa; Jan-Eric Lundquist of Sweden, No. 6, played John Sharpe of Australia. Nicola Pietrangeli of Italy, No. 7, didn't show up.

Frank Froehling of Coral Gables, Fla., No. 8, was involved in a rained-out match with Larry Nagler of Studio City, Calif. They were tied at two sets each and 2-2 in the fifth.

Top match in the women's division sent second-seeded Mrs. Karen Hantze Susman of San Diego against always-dangerous Mimi Arnold of Santa Barbara, Calif. Mrs. Susman is ranked behind Margaret Smith of Australia, who already has gained the third round.

Mickey Wright Fails on Putt for Record

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP) — Mickey Wright scored a 70 Sunday to fail, by inches, to become the first ever to score three straight rounds in the 60s in a Ladies Professional Golf Association Open championship.

★ ★ ★

Miss Wright's 70 came after opening rounds of 68 and 68 in the tournament at Esmeralda. That gave her a 54-hole score of 206 and an 8-stroke lead on the field with 18 holes to play.

If the Dallas blond scores 71 or better Monday she will better the all-time LPGA scoring record which she set in 1960 at 278.

★

Miss Wright's bid for a 69 or better looked nearly a cinch after she turned Esmeralda's more difficult front in 33, 3-under-par. But she three-putted the 11th and, while she had a string of excellent birdie opportunities on the remaining holes, she could not convert a birdie putt.

★ ★ ★

On the 18th, trying for another shot at a birdie, her second shot trickled off the back of the green and up on a slope behind it. Her next shot, a down hill chip with a wedge, was perhaps the most difficult of the day, but she executed it perfectly.

Then, needing only a 2½-foot tap for a par and the 69, she missed the putt and walked into the clubhouse shaking her head.

Fourth Straight for Century 21

Indiana Win Gives Muncey 3rd Crown as Driver

MADISON, Ind. (AP)—If Century 21 exposition is as successful as the boat of the same name, Seattle can run that monorail track on up to Nome.

★ ★ ★

Bill Muncey piloted Century 21 to its fourth straight victory on the unlimited hydroplane circuit Sunday, retiring the Indiana Governor's Cup with a third straight triumph on the three-mile Ohio River course.

Ron Musson and Miss Bardahl, another Seattle combination, beat Muncey to the finish line in the 15-mile windup heat but officials ruled Musson had jumped the gun and he had to make another lap.

Musson could have done no more than tie Muncy for total points in the regatta and Muncey would have won anyway on the best total time.

DRIVING TITLE

Muncy and "21" also have won the Gold Cup, Diamond Cup and Spirit of Detroit races for the aircraft engine-powered hygros this season. With only two more left, at Washington, D.C., and Lake Tahoe, Muncey has clinched his third straight national driving championship.

★ ★ ★

The final lap over the river, dotted with debris from two successive overnight rain storms, was only 98.813 miles an hour. Muncey had run 104.19 in beating Musson in a Saturday heat.

State Ski Board Eyes Standard Code

United Press International

Skiing, Michigan's fast growing winter industry, will be governed by rules based on the American Standards Association code, it was announced this week.

The newly formed state ski area safety board which met in Lansing last week and approved the code, said that Michigan ski area operators have been urged to study it and to bring their resorts into "reasonable conformity" before the Michigan board requires inspections.

The board has not been confirmed by the Senate yet, but it is acting as a "de facto" body in the interim.

The board, chaired by Fred W. Bocks Jr., Cadillac, was appointed after several skiing accidents happened involving tows and lifts. Joe Kosik of Rochester is on the board.

The American Standards Association code for the operation of skiing resorts contains about 30 pages of recommended practices dealing with equipment, operation and inspection.

The code includes all means of transporting skiers, including aerial tramways, chair gondola, T-bar and J-bar lifts and skimobiles and platter lifts as well as rope tows.

The state safety board is expected to make changes in the ASA code which will be referred to in the licensing of ski resort operators.

ROPE TOWS

Under the ASA code, dealing with rope tows, "The operator or a trained person shall inspect the tow the first thing each day of operation to see that it is operating propery and that all safety features are functioning."

"Attendants and engine operators shall be trained for the duty. The full length of the tow shall be under the continuous visual surveillance of one or more trained attendants who shall have easy access to a device for stopping the tow.

"A system of communication between designated points for the use of attendants shall be provided when required. When only the minimum of required attendants are on duty, the attendant or attendants shall not have other duties that prevent then. from being in a position to view the tow when skiers are in motion on it," the code provides.

★ ★ ★

The code specifies that tows be located far enough from such terrain features as overhanging ledges and electric power lines and that the path be free of all obstructions for a distance of three feet on either side of the normal uphill path.

★ ★ ★

The code calls for a "minimum distance of five feet between the uphill rope and the return rope poles at the loading point and a minimum distance of three feet between the uphill rope and any pole located between the loading and unloading points."

The ASA recommends that rope speed should not exceed more than 1,500 feet per minute for regular use.

Under a section on brakes and stops, the code states that all tows driven by electric motors shall be equipped with automatic brakes or manually operated brakes under the control of the operator.

The code also recommends that "on the uphill side of the unloading area, there shall be a safety gate or other device installed across the tow path so that any skier in contact with and being pulled by the hauling rope will contact it and actuate it in such a manner as to stop the tow.

"The safety gate shall be so located and so actuated that it will stop the tow before the skier contacting the safety gate has traveled more than two thirds the distance between the safety gate and the first sheave or other obstruction."

SAFETY GATES

The code states that safety gates and other safety stops should be so set up that even if they fail, the power will be cut off and the tow stopped to prevent persons from being dragged up into the machinery.

The ASA is the American clearing house for standards activity on the national level. It is a federation of more than 100 trade associations, technical societies, professional groups and consumer organizations. The ASA serves to eliminate duplication of standard activities and to bring together conflicting standards into a single, nationally accepted standard.

SETS RECORD — Second baseman Ken Hubbs of the Chicago Cubs set a major league record yesterday by playing in his 74th straight game without making an error.

Cub Rookie Ken Hubbs Has 74 Errorless Tilts

CHICAGO (AP) — Ken Hubbs will not be able to vote in his native California's hotly contested gubernatorial race this fall.

★ ★ ★

But the rookie Chicago Cub second baseman established a fantastic major league fielding record Sunday when he played his 74th consecutive game without an error.

Hubbs, who will not be 21 until December, wiped out the mark of 73 straight errorless games for a second baseman set by Bobby Doerr of the Boston Red Sox in 1948.

NO BREAKS

"It's amazing," said Charley Metro, head coach of the Cubs. "In the entire streak he didn't have more than a couple of questionable calls and not once did he get a break."

Hubbs, who is the National League's prime candidate for rookie of the year honors, admitted the pressure was tremendous. "I'd be a liar if I said the pressure wasn't mounting with every play," he said.

★ ★ ★

But he handled seven chances in a 3-1 loss to Houston witnessed by his parents who came in from California to witness their son's achievement.

Since making his ninth and last error on June 14, Hubbs has handled 396 chances flawlessly. This leaves him 18 short of the record 414 accredited to Doerr. However, there is some question as to whether Doerr's record is 414 or 411 and an audit of American League records soon will clarify the situation.

AVERAGE .260

Hubbs, who has 144 hits this season and trails only Billy Williams and George Altman in this department for the Cubs, has a .260 batting average.

"Not bad for a rookie," says Metro.

★ ★ ★

"But he should be doing better," says vice president John Holland. "He's been making mistakes recently but because of the fielding record we decided not to bring anything else to his attention. We'll work on his hitting now."

Hubbs says his most immediate goal is to finish the season without making another error. This means tacking at least another 26 games to the record.

Miss Gunderson Women's Champion

ROCHESTER (UPI) — JoAnne Gunderson, winner of the Women's Amateur golf championship a third time, reiterated today that she has no intention of turning professional because "golf is a sport and a game to me."

The 23-year-old Miss Gunderson, who comes from Kirkland, Wash., won the tile Saturday by trouncing Ann Baker of Maryville, Tenn., 9 and 8, in a scheduled 36-hole final match on the Country Club of Rochester Course.

She is the sixth woman to win the amateur title three times. Miss Gunderson previously won in 1957 and 1960.

"I was at my peak, by far," said Miss Gunderson after the lopsided victory over the 17-year-old Miss Baker. "I played better there than in any previous tournament. It was one of those days when everything turned out right."

Pontiac Wins Race

DUQUOIN, Ill. (AP) — Defending champion Paul Goldsmith of St. Clair Shores, won the 100-mile U.S. Auto Club national championship stock car race and $3,940 at the Dequoin State Fair yesterday. He took the lead immediately and never trailed. His time was 1:12:54.03. Goldsmith drove a 1962 Pontiac.

Lawrence Tech Student Is Winner in CU Race

Al Myers, 20-year-old Lawrence Tech student from Berkley, won his 7th straight outboard marathon Sunday in the CU class of the River Rouge marathon on the Detroit River.

Myers has taken part in seven long distance races this year and has won them all.

★ ★ ★

Choppy waters knocked 33 racers out of the 64-boat field, including national champion Ray Lenk. Mickey Worzniak of Wyandotte won two AU heats. Bob Moore of Royal Oak, Dick Sherwood of Southfield and Gerry Van Conant of Royal Oak were 1-2-3 in the 36 class.

Pittsburgh 'Slow' Finalist

CLEVELAND (AP)— Pittsburgh was left the only undefeated team in the two-loss-and-out world slow pitch softball tournament here, whipping Detroit 12-11 yesterday.

Electronics U.S. Moon Race Ace in Hole

By RAY CROMLEY

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The United States trails the Soviet Union in manned space flight because too many top National Aeronautics and Space Administration scientists have spent their time on minor refinements and too much NASA effort has gone for minor improvements.

This is the private view of key Department of Defense and space scientists.

They believe top-flight NASA mathematicians, physicists and engineers for years have been working in boxes on special projects aimed at little gains, not breakthroughs.

The space effort has been frittered on a myriad of projects. The NASA men have not been banded together in a team driving hard toward major objectives.

* * *

When the man-in-space directors have wanted a mathematician, they've found it difficult to pry him from the little project he was working on.

Bright physicists have quit because they were spending time in minor alleys.

Part of the problem is said to be the old-time slow-motion heritage of the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics — NASA's predecessor.

NACA was a research group which spent much of its effort on detailed improvements in airplane structures, wind tunnel experiments and flight problems.

Different research facilities moved independently at their own deliberate speeds, often without relationship one to another.

IN NO HURRY

When NASA was organized in 1958, it took over a good chunk of these men and this philosophy. Despite the influx of top talent and the outnumbering of the oldtimers, it was difficult for a new "let's get it done now" philosophy to prevail.

The United States failed to match the Russians in large space boosters. The shots that put the two Russians in near-equal orbits were powered with 850,000-pound-thrust first-stage boosters.

The currently used American Atlas booster has a 360,000-pound-thrust first stage.

The U.S. has test-fired a Saturn C1 first stage with a thrust of 1.5-million pounds. It is planning a Titan III with a first-stage thrust of 2.5 million pounds and a Saturn C5 with a first stage of 7.5 million pounds.

It is not known what larger boosters the Russians are now working on.

D. Brainerd Holmes, who came in as NASA man-in-space boss last year, is now in the midst of reorganizing the man-to-the-moon program as a task force, with the single-purpose drive of the Navy's successful Polaris missile-submarine program.

GOING WELL

Holmes said he is happy about the way things are whipping into shape, with his top team agreeing on the "best" approach to licking the moon venture so they won't fritter away their effort in side channels in the future.

Holmes was confident the problems of concentrating his top brains in one channel would give the program the drive it needs to succeed.

He thinks he has the authority he needs to do the job. He believes he has a sound program.

But these things take time to whip into shape. So space scientists here expect the space race with Nikita Khrushchev is going to get worse before it gets better.

* *

These U.S. scientists say to look for some—or all—of these possible Soviet space firsts in the next five years:

The first manned space station to orbit the earth.

The first rendezvous of two space ships.

The first landing of scientific instruments on the moon.

Some major new exploit with space probes to Venus and Mars.

The first successful shoot-down of an earth satellite.

RED LEAD LIMITED

But neither the NASA nor defense space scientists believe the Soviet feat of orbiting twin spacemen nor their achieving any or all of these other possible space spectaculars means the Soviet Union will beat the United States in sending a man to the moon and back.

In fact, the scientists say that with these exploits, the Soviet possibly may approach the end of H_2 man-in-space lead, if all goes well in the U.S. program.

The key to victory in the man-to-the-moon-and-back race will be in the development of mammoth boosters and the perfection of highly compact sophisticated electronic systems.

The U.S. scientists estimate that a 7.5 million-pound-thrust booster is the most practical size for the first stage.

If the compact sophisticated electronics is not developed, the booster must be so much larger as to be impractical, man-in-space boss Holmes believes.

U.S. scientists think we may be ahead in the compact electronics. No one knows who is ahead in booster development.

The Soviet Union probably has been working on the next step in "big" boosters a longer time. The Reds presumably are ahead.

They certainly have now an operational booster much larger than any operational American rocket. But the U.S. has test-fired a 1.5 million-pound-thrust booster. There's no report the Reds have matched this. No one knows, actually.

The Russians have shown excellent reliability in their space shots thus far.

But they've been operating with tried and tested rocket types that have been in use for a long time.

The Reds have been very accurate in their guidance. But this is relatively simple when you have rockets so large they can carry the man in orbit, with a great deal of power left over to carry heavy amounts of electronic and other equipment.

This extra weight-lifting ability makes it possible for the Reds to use relatively simple, relatively large, tried and true electronic systems.

To fit within the weight-lifting limits of the smaller U.S. rockets, American scientists have had to design tiny electronic systems so new and sophisticated they break down with greater frequency.

In fact, the weight limits require the design of a system so overloaded that the equipment must perform to the peak of capacity for the operation to succeed perfectly.

The real test for the Russians will come when they have to strip down their capsules and their electronic systems to meet the weight problems inherent in a man-to-the-moon-and-return shot even with 7.5 million pounds of thrust take-off.

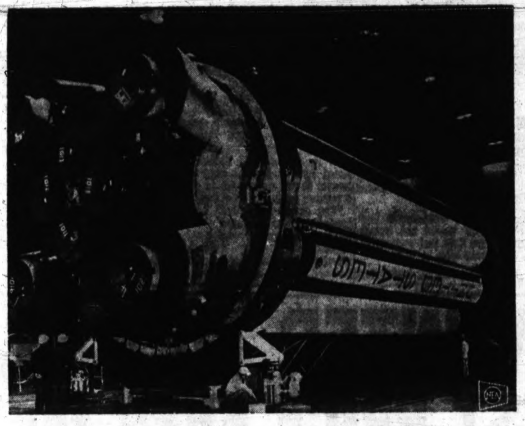
This, thinks Holmes, will separate the space men from the space boys.

Then U.S. scientists will know whether the Russians have made the electronic advances needed to win the moon race. If they can't solve these electronic problems quickly, they may have to shift to a 12 million-pound-thrust first-stage rocket.

That would be too large to be practical in the moon race of the 1960s, Holmes and his aides believe.

* * *

This is why Holmes and his fellow NASA scientists figure they may have a very good chance of winning the man-to-the-moon-and-back race.



SATURN BOOSTER—Test firing has already been completed on the Saturn C1 rocket, developing 1.5-million pounds of thrust. Scientists aim to increase this power sharply.

Focus on Health

Test Shows Swedish Drug Stops Colds

By The Associated Press

A drug to combat colds, a question about high protein diets, and a study of mental stress and tooth decay figure in the medical news:

An antivirus drug, nicknamed ABOB, often can prevent or suppress respiratory infections of the common cold type, a Swedish physician reports.

In tests in an industrial plant, ABOB was credited with reducing absenteeism from colds by 50 per cent, when workers took the drug at the first sign of symptoms. In another experiment when it was taken as a preventive, the incidence of colds was reduced by 30 to 40 per cent, says Dr. John Haglind of Koping, Sweden.

Earlier studies had found the Swedish-developed drug effective in protecting against influenza, he says.

A medical research team takes issue with the idea that a high protein diet allows the body to store up reserves of protein, useful later on if diseases strike or you have to go hungry. Such diets are being recommended for that reason.

* * *

There is no scientific evidence, from rat experiments, that the body can bank proteins, report Drs. L. Emmett Holt Jr., and Elias Halac Jr., and Charlotte N. Kajdi, A.B., of New York and Baltimore. The person recovering from illness often does need more protein. Short-term studies have not uncovered any harmful effects from eating more protein than the minimum actually needed, but that doesn't rule out the possibility there could be long-term effects, they say.

WORRY AND TEETH

Mental stress and strain somehow may make teeth more susceptible to decay, at least in some adults, says an Australian dentist.

Dr. Philip R. N. Sutton of Melbourne checked records of hundreds of people and found that an outbreak of tooth decay frequently followed times of great mental worry or stress. But he says the findings thus far are only suggestive, not conclusive.

Await Opening of Soo Bridge

Project Idea Follows Traffic Jams From 'Mighty Mac'

SAULT STE. MARIE (UPI) — From canoes, to ferries, to a brand new international bridge spans 300 years in a single sentence but it tells the story of the third over-the-water link between Michigan and Ontario, the new Soo Bridge.

The 2.7-mile span is scheduled to open late this fall and people in this area have eagerly waited its completion since the idea was conceived back in 1959.

The impact of the $100 mill-Mackinac Bridge provided the impetus for the idea of a third span. The Blue Water and Ambassador bridge are the other two.

Vacationers poured over the "Mighty Mac" at a furious clip and many of them headed for the Soo. Once there, the traffic backed up because of the slowness of the car ferries which were limited to 15 vehicles apiece.

Bridge advocates engaged in bitter arguments with the tunnel advocates and finally the Michigan legislature stepped in and created the International Bridge Authority.

Canada countered with the St. Mary's River Bridge Co. and things proceeded.

The bridge, when completed, will be 13,000 feet long and will arch over the American and Canadian ship canals, the U. S. Power Canal and the St. Mary's River rapids.

Vehicles on the bridge will soar 124 feet above the Soo locks.

* * *

Construction of the $20-million link began more than two years ago and some of the worst winter weather in recent memory plagued steel work for a time.

EASY TO TELL APART — You want to know how to tell 10-year-old George Harris from his twin Jerry? Just look at their feet. The boys, who live near Diamond in southwest Missouri, were dressed identically for the first day of school — only George went without his shoes. Shoes pinch, you know, after a summer of fishing and swimming and carefree barefooted days. So George just neglected to wear them.

County in UP to Launch Drive for $250,000

NEGAUNEE (UP)—The Marquette County Economic Development Corp. will kick off a $250,000 fund raising drive at a dinner here next Thursday night.

Funds are being sought by the newly formed corporation for a number of projects under the program of the Area Redevelopment Administration.

The government agency provides 10-per cent of financing for projects it approves.

486 Prisoners Give Money to Support Orphan

PENDLETON, Ind. (UP) — The 486 prisoners at the Indiana Reformatory work for only a nickel to a dime a day but they are chipping in to support an orphaned little girl in far-off Korea.

★ ★ ★

Their foster daughter, whom they formally adopted last June through the Foster Parents Plan, Inc., is Hwang Jung Sook, 8.

They raised $45.64 this week as a Christmas gift for her. They previously had collected $180 to support her for a year.

The Pendleton Reflector, the institution's monthly newspaper, printed in its current issue an open letter sent to Hwang Jung Sook in reply to one she had written to thank the prisoners and tell them of her school life.

★ ★ ★

"We have done so little," the imprisoned men wrote, "and you make us feel so big. Really, you are the one who deserves the thanks, for you have opened many hearts and made them bigger and purer than they were before."

Florida Now Tops in Orange Market

LAKELAND, Fla., (UPI) — Florida has replaced California as the leading supplier of fresh oranges to United States markets, according to a current report of the Florida Citrus Commission.

Dr. W. E. Black, director of economic and merchandising research for the commission, said Florida supplied 50.2 per cent of the fresh orange market last season.

Communists Backing Catholic Candidate

Reds in Chile Test Their Strength at Polls Today

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP)—Two years ago the Communists almost won the presidency of Chile. Two years from now they will try again.

★ ★ ★

An interim test of their strength comes today when they back a Roman Catholic candidate in a special congressional election.

Seemingly full of confidence, the Reds are making their bid in a traditionally Conservative district.

The candidate they are backing is Sergio Recabarren, a 43-year-old lawyer running in a three-way contest to fill a House seat vacated by the death of a Conservative deputy.

OPPOSITION

President Jorge Alessandri's right-of-center coalition government is supporting Gustave Monckeberg, a 49-year-old doctor and Conservative who is a political newcomer.

The third candidate is Bernardo Leighton, 53, a moderately leftist Christian Democrat and minister of labor and education in previous governments.

The Alessandri government, with a clear working majority in the House of deputies, is not threatened. But a Communist victory — or even good showing— could give the Reds a propaganda boost for 1964 elections.

Like Castro at the beginning, the Reds in this predominantly Roman Catholic republic claim there is no incompatibility between Communism and the Catholic Church.

SOFTER LINE

Recabarren has taken a slightly softer line than the Red hierarchy in an attempt to attract votes of independents but his basic platform follows the Communist line.

He wants nationalization of industries, the biggest being the American-owned copper and nitrate industries. He also urges redistribution of wealth among the poor.

The Communist party was outlawed 12 years but became legal in 1952. It is a small but well oiled political machine. The Communists have a majority — but not absolute control — in the leadership of the labor union movement. They get support among university students, young intellectuals and peasants.

★ ★ ★

There are only 16 Red deputies in the 147-seat House. However the Communist - backed presidential candidate, Senator Salvador Allende, was beaten by only 34,000 votes by Alessandri in 1958 out of a total ballot of 1.25 million.

★ ★ ★

Allende is expected to make another try in 1964 with backing from the Popular Action Front.

Agriculture Dept. Will Buy Turkeys

WASHINGTON (AP) — The shrdl hrdlu culture Department has announced that it will start buying turkeys soon to help stabilize producer prices.

The turkeys will be distributed to the school lunch program.

The department said details of the purchase program will be announced next week.

Turkey prices dipped sharply last year on the basis of a record crop. Despite an indicated reduction of 15 per cent in this year's crop, prices will continue below levels considered desirable by the department.

Indonesia's government has set aside $61,340,000 for the construction of harbors, part of the Republic's eight year plan.

For School Control of Interns, Residents

CHICAGO (UPI — Intern and resident training should be the responsibility of medical schools instead of hospitals, the director of Johns Hopkins Hospital has said.

Dr. Russell A. Nelson, in the current issue of "Hospitals," the journal of the American Hospital Association, said hospitals "must be prepared to give up single responsibility" for intern and resident training.

"I propose extending the university's influence to more hospitals and more clinical and training settings and thereby elevating the educational performance and environment in our participating hospitals," he said.

★ ★ ★

Intern-residency training should be considered "an educational endeavor, not hospital service activity," he said.

Shriver Will Speak

LANSING (AP) — Robert Sargent Shriver, director of the U. S. Peace Corps, has been scheduled to speak to the Michigan Association of School Administrators at Mackinac Island Sept. 14. Shriver is a brother-in-law of President Kennedy.

The United States ranks second only to the United Kingdom as the largest importer of agricultural products.

Swainson Aids Boy Seeking State Lumber

LANSING (AP) — A 14-year-old Muskegon boy has asked—and received—the help of Gov. Swainson in his plans to build a clubhouse.

Swainson ordered Att. Gen. Frank J. Kelley to determine whether there is any reason why Victor Christian Jr. cannot have some old lumber which rests on state-owned property near his home.

Victor wrote Swainson to explain that the property came into state hands after the man who lived on it died.

"The lumber is just sitting there rotting," said Victor. "I am 14 years old and would like to have it to build a clubhouse."

Swainson, who has two sons of his own—Peter, 13, and Stephen, 14—told Victor he hoped Kelly "can work something out."

Where Do We Go From Here?

Give a Little Extra on Job to Get Ahead

By LESLIE J. NASON, ED. D.
Professor of Education,
University of Southern California

If you learn to do homework quickly and accurately it will save you time all the rest of your life.

You never really stop doing homework, you know. When Dad makes out a report for the boss, he's doing a form of homework. Reading and learning are intimately involved in all worthwhile jobs.

DR. NASON

With homework as on the job, it's the person who gives a little extra who gets ahead.

Here are some little extras I suggest you resolve to do this year at homework time to help clinch your knowledge of the subject under study and improve your grades:

Make practice sketches before you make drawings for life science or maps for history. Your final drawing will look sharper and the practice sketching will fix details in your mind and set them in their proper relationship to the whole.

KIND OF PROBLEM

After you finish a set of problems in math or science, take a minute to ask yourself: "What kind of problems are these? How are they solved? How can I recognize that this is the method of solution when I read such a problem in a test?"

At the end of a reading assignment take the time to summarize what you have learned and ask yourself: "Where are we in this subject? Where do we go next?"

Even when you have no assignment, it pays to study for a few minutes. If you look ahead for the general pattern of things to come, it will help you listen effectively in class.

* * *

When you have finished a translation in a foreign language course you are ready to do some very important learning. Read the material aloud several times until you are reading at conversational speed. You are training your ears to hear the foreign language words at the same time your mind brings up pictures of their meaning. You are learning to think in the language.

* * *

Give yourself a chance to do creative work. If you are preparing a long report, try these steps:

Read about the subject and recite to yourself until you are sure you have a general understanding. Then review your reading for quotations or examples.

Allow some time for these ideas to get set in your mind, then write your report.

First, write a few general sentences. Go back and rewrite, filling in the examples and quotations.

If homework takes too long, find the cause and remedy it as you go.

There are many causes for slow reading. If you move your lips or form the words in your throat, or hear the words as you read your reading will slow down.

If you are slow getting started try to think ahead. Decide just what you are going to do when study times comes around. A plan will get you started quicker than merely saying you are going to study.

* * *

If you are slow doing arithmetic assignments, practice writing numerals until you can write them clearly, easily and rapidly.

Few students realize it actually saves time to write the work neatly.

Named Math Editor of Teacher Publication

Dr. David Wells, Oakland county director of mathematics education, has been named mathematics editor of "School Science and Mathematics," the official publication of the Central Association of Science and Mathematics teachers.

The announcement of Wells' appointment was received at the Oakland County School District offices today.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

BY OSWALD JACOBY

Deal 28 of the World Championship meet represented the last hand of the second session of the match. Italy picked up four International Match points to cut the American lead to a mere five IMPs.

JACOBY

West had a natural heart opening bid. The American North chose to double whereupon Garrozzo of Italy preempted to five clubs. He was not vulnerable and could not be hurt much.

South doubled, but the American North took it out at five diamonds and played the hand there.

It was a wise decision. He went down one at five diamonds, but there was no way to defeat East at five clubs.

The other table the bidding proceeded as shown in the box. North's one spade overcall apparently had something to do with the Italian style and the bidding proceeded along merrily and accurately up to West's four heart bid.

West had already bid and rebid his heart suit and because his hand was minimum in high cards he might have passed South's four diamond call. In that case East might well have gone to five clubs. Had he done so it is a cinch that he would have played that contract either doubled or undoubled and America would have made a nice gain instead of incurring a loss when West went down one at four hearts.

Astrological Forecast

By SYDNEY OMARR
For Tuesday

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19): The more you can do to SERVE others, including accountants, clients, personal associates, the more you make of this day. Be vibrant, creative, willing to take a chance on your own abilities. Avoid ultraconservatism.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20): No time to be extravagant where luxury items are concerned. If you are considering new purchase, THINK about it, but defer action. Day to attend to details, including budget matters. Satisfaction gained by BEING ORDERLY.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21): One who previously attempted to take advantage of you now is in unfamiliar position of having to ask a favor. Be gracious and diplomatic. But don't ask for additional punishment by being overly lenient. Use native Gemini wit!

CANCER (June 22 to July 21): Favorable lunar aspect points to romance, creative activity. Day for change, travel, variety and time to INQUIRE. Ask questions. You may discover that one who SUPPOSEDLY knows the answers actually knows very little. BE PRECISE.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21): Lunar aspect not high. Means that when CAUTION should be key. Good time to sum up, to rid yourself of emotional, financial burdens. Face facts as they EXIST. Temptation is to imagine persons, situations as you WISH they could be. This must be overcome.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22): If you make a point of "surprising" you could discourage the very persons you try to impress. Much in your favor if you state position clearly, do your job well and then relax. Otherwise, you create tension which defeats purpose.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22): Secret desires should now be brought out in the open and discussed with those in a position to help. Freak, original approach can aid to a tremendous extent. Your judgement of persons, situations apt to be "on the button."

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21): Cycle up, meaning you can impress superiors and make loved ones happy. Try to patch up recent differences with one close to you. Otherwise, you brood and have numerous sleepless nights. Good for new starts, new contacts and a new MENTAL OUTLOOK.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): You could be surprised by favorable news concerning job or ambitions. Inferiors in authority could seem to favor which you are able to fulfill. Remain discreet. Do what must be done QUIETLY. Let leave the fanfare to others.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Refuse to be "used." Tendency is for "flashy" associate to try to talk you into abverse position. Listen calmly. Remain friendly. But be firm in standing up for your ideals. Right will prevail.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Like Taurus, take time to be CAREFUL. You may find yourself involved in plan which aids at community improvement, but demands too much time, expense. Take conservative view. Realize that time, as well as money, must be subject to intelligent PLANNING.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Wishful thinking perhaps your greatest fault today. Take time to analyze, somewhat let intuitive intellect flow forth. You could receive attractive proposal but don't spend money based on it. Others could be well-meaning, but not have MATERIAL means.

IF TUESDAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY you can set your "feet on the ground" this month. You can prepare for a new, more vital way of life. Enjoy new hobby, widen circle.

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Cycle up for LIBRA, SCORPIO, SAGGITARIUS. Special word to TAURUS and AQUARIUS: Being impatient may spur you to take definite step. But PATIENCE would be wiser course.

30-DAY FORECAST — Above normal temperatures and near normal rainfall are forecast for the Pontiac area for the next 30 days, according to these maps based on those supplied by the U.S. Weather Bureau.

Rail Talkers Hold Labor Day Session

CHICAGO (AP) — Representatives of the Chicago and North Western Railway and its striking telegraphers scheduled Labor Day peace talks today as the five-day work stoppage on the nation's third longest railroad tightened its pinch on segments of the Mid-west's economy.

Both sides clung resolutely to their rival positions in a three-hour negotiations session Sunday and federal mediator Francis A. O'Neill Jr. held out little hope for a quick settlement.

O'Neill said the daily sessions, which started Friday, one day after the walkout, have been fruitful in that the negotiators are discussing specific points in a presidential emergency board report on the dispute issued in April.

Soviet Union President to Visit Outcast Tito

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — Leonid I. Brezhniev, Soviet president, will pay an official visit to Yugoslavia from Sept. 24 to Oct. 4, Tanjug has announced.

The official Yugoslav news agency said an invitation extended to Brezhnev by President Tito "has been accepted with gratitude." It is a return visit for one Tito paid to the Soviet Union in 1956, the agency added.

News in Brief

His body will be at the Sharpe-Goyette Funeral Home.

Split Up Twins on Faculty to Avoid Confusion

HOPKINSVILLE, Ky. (AP) — It's the twins on the faculty and not among the students that could have led to confusion this year in Christian County schools.

There are three sets of identical twins but each set has been assigned to a different school.

"We didn't want to make it too confusing," said Supt. T. W. Stewart.

Twins Murrel and Earl Webb of Arlington are vocational agriculture teachers at Christian County High School. Patricia and Phyllis Meacham of Hopkinsville are elementary instructors at Millbrooke.

And, Mrs. Billy Wagoner and Mrs. Robert Cavanah, the former Iona and Lavona Litchfield, are teaching in elementary grades at Crofton.

State Traffic Kills 148 During August

LANSING (AP) — Michigan counted 148 traffic deaths in August, 18 less than the 166 during the same month last year, state police provisional figures show.

The total was one more than the average for the month for the last five years.

Provisional figures show 995 traffic deaths during the first eight months of the year, compared to 1,008 in the like period last year. This represents a drop of 5 per cent.

Hoover Dam and its power plant in Nevada cost about $114 million.

Successful Investing

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. "I'm a school teacher nearing 60 and have no intention of retiring before 70, when I will get my maximum pension. No one is dependent on me, but I have some nephews to whom I would like to leave a remembrance. About $7,000 in savings banks should see me through most illnesses. An old aunt, who was so tough I thought I would pre-decease her, died and left me $3,000. I would value your advice as to investing this money. Some risk — wouldn't bother me one bit." L. J.

A. I judge from your letter that you are a fairly tough-minded person yourself. I'm going to suggest that you buy two established growth stocks, and put a portion of your funds in a less seasoned issue that appears to be developing a strong earning uptrend. In the first category I would include Sears, Roebuck and Bristol Myers, and in the second, I suggest California Liquid Gas.

★ ★ ★

Q. "I'm saving money to go into business for myself but it's very slow. A friend advised me to buy Cenco Instruments for quick profit. I bought a hundred shares and saw it go down. Would you advise me to keep it?" S. B.

A. It is very difficult for me to impress on my readers that the stock market, except under roaring bull market conditions, is a very difficult place to make a fast dollar.

★ ★ ★

In many instances, otherwise sensible people put into stocks, in a lighthearted manner, substantial sums which they wouldn't dream of investing in any other form of property without thorough and painstaking investigation.

★ ★ ★

In your case, I think you've been fortunate. While volatile and subject to wide moves, Cenco is a good stock. I would keep my shares and count myself lucky this time.

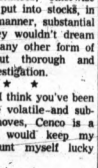
Chrysler Appoints New Chief Engineer

Chrysler Corp. Engineering Division has announced the appointment of Giovanni Savonuzzi of Birmingham as chief engineer of automotive research. He succeeds the late David M. Borden.



SAVONUZZI

Savonuzzi formerly was assistant chief engineer of gas turbine research. He previously served as director of engineering and styling for the Ghia automobile firm in Torino, Italy.

★ ★ ★

He was the designer of the first tubular frame for racing and sports cars and the Chrysler Dart "idea" car of 1956.

★ ★ ★

He resides with his wife and two daughters at 1039 North Woodward in Birmingham.

Business Notes

AC Spark Plug Division of General Motors announced the publication of Action Time, a man's magazine. The new publication will make its debut Sept. 10 with distribution of 200,000 copies.

The new magazine will feature stories on hunting, baseball, hobbies and service station management. It will be issued six times a year to station operators, garage owners, oil and tire company executives and AC warehouse distributors.

Card Arrives 43 Years Late in Ontario

CHATHAM, Ont. (AP) — A post card sent to a Chatham address 43 years ago finally arrived Friday.

The card, posted July 5, 1919, from Orchard Beach, Maine, bore the stamp: "Mail for Toronto requires postal zone number."

It was sent by A. S. Orr to congratulate his daughter, Miss L. C. Orr of Selkirk Street, on her promotion at school.

Gordon Corbett, who has lived at the Selkirk Street address for the last 27 years, said he has never heard of Miss Orr.

"We did check around with some of the neighbors, and they remembered the Orrs, but no one knew where they moved," he said.

U.S. Purchases Canadian Gold

'62 First Year in 5 That Neighbor Sold Metal to America

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Austerity statistic: For five years, the Canadian government did not sell the United States one ounce of gold.

★ ★ ★

But in a three-month period this year, $190 million in gold was transferred from Canada to Ft. Knox.

★ ★ ★

The period was April, May and June, the months that Canada's balance of payments difficulties reached crisis stage.

Figures released by the U. S. Treasury Department do not specifically indicate when the gold flow took place, or whether the $190 million was a single transaction.

But it would appear that the heaviest flow took place during June, when Canada was trying to maintain its recently-devalued dollar at the level of 92.5 cents in terms of U. S. dollars.

At the end of March, Canada's gold stock was $964 million according to U. S. government figures. It dropped by $363 million at the end of June.

★ ★ ★

It was near the end of June that Canada's total reserves — gold and currencies combined — hit a low point of about $1.1 billion.

On June 24, Canadian Prime Minister John Diefenbaker announced the austrity program of tariff boosts, spending cuts and international loan and credit arrangements totaling $1.08 billion, including $650 million from U. S. agencies.

The Canadian-U. S. movement was the heaviest U. S. gold transaction with another country in the second quarter, and bolstered U. S. gold stocks against demands being made by other countries.

Group Plans to Improve Social Studies Courses

Teachers from eight Oakland County school districts this week will begin a research project to improve the content and sequence of social studies courses.

★ ★ ★

The educational research team will work under the guidance of Dr. Myles Platt, director of social studies for the Oakland County School District.

Platt said this was the first time such a program has been developed with the financial support of participating school districts. Authority for the project was granted in January by the Oakland County Board of Education.

The team will be assisted by scholars in the fields of geography, history, economics, sociology, political science and anthropology, Platt said.

Its mission, he added, is "to reframe the concepts and content of these disciplines for teaching in each grade of school."

The new concepts will be tested in classrooms by educational specialists, he said.

Stressing the importance of social studies, Platt said:

"The social studies teacher must teach a body of knowledge and help the child develop certain skills such as map reading, researching, and reporting.

"But throughout the social studies, the child is expected to develop concepts and attitudes that will improve his function as a citizen of a democracy. No other school subject is called upon to do this."

Teacher-researchers who will work in the project are Robert G. Payne, Milford High School; William R. O'Brien, Southfield Senior High School; Mrs. Jane Perkins, Washington Elementary, Ferndale School District; Mrs. Sally R. Holmes, Shiawassee School, Farmington School District; Miss Rosalie A. LaLonde, Oxford Junior High School; Dahryl L. McClain, Hazel Park High School; Mrs. Helen Jesse, Eastern Junior High School, Pontiac, and Mrs. Norma Kitzman, Clarenceville Schools.

3 Films on British Navy Sail Into View

American Moviegoers to Be All at Sea

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD — The new movies c . . .

During the next few months, moviegoers are going to wonder how the British navy ever found time to fight the French around the end of the 18th Century. It would seem that the fleet's officers and men spent most of the time fighting each other.

Three sea epics will be sailing into the nation's theaters and will inevitably face comparison with each other. The first of the films, "Billy Budd," sets a fast pace. Coming up is the dramatically titled "Damn the Defiant!" with Britishers Alec Guinness, Dirk Bogarde and Anthony Quayle. This is reported to be well-done sea stuff, complete with stiff-backed officers, muttering crew and stirring battles.

THOMAS

These two films, both made in England, are being hurried into release before the big daddy of sea movies, "Mutiny on the Bounty," hits the market. The prior two were filmed probably for little more than a tenth of the "Bounty's" $20 million cost.

But money isn't everything. For all its lack of scenic grandeur—most of the film is played on one ship in calm seas—"Billy Budd" is a crackling good movie, especially for the thoughtful movie patron.

The story comes from Herman Melville's short novel "Billy Budd, Foretopman." It is basically a tale of good and evil, but it is not a mere morality play. Goodness, as evidenced by the ingenuous Seaman Budd, and evil, in the form of the sadistic master-at-arms Claggart, are convincing portrayals.

So is the captain of the HMS Avenger, who stands between the poles and must make a decision —to destroy the position of good, as it turns out.

MAN IN MIDDLE

The man in the middle is Peter Ustinov, whose hand on the helm of the Avenger is sometimes unsure. But he is expert at piloting "Billy Budd." Besides playing a leading role, he produced, directed and co-wrote.

His great achievement in "Billy Budd" is evoking a memorable performance in the title role by a young British actor, Terence Stamp. His fetching, tow-headed innocence is perfect for the role. He is an immediate star, this handsome 26-year-old Terence Stamp.

Walt Disney again has good news for the families searching for a movie attraction to see together. He is bringing back one of his most successful cartoon features, "Lady and the Tramp," and combining it with a new live-action film, "Almost Angels."

"Lady and the Tramp" was one of the most felicitous of the Disney features, if not the funniest. Humor was largely bypassed for warm characterization, a good score and a sentimental fable.

"Almost Angels" is also strong on sentiment, being an account of life in the Vienna Boys Choir. The youngsters sing beautifully, act tolerably and provide an air of innocence the screen has seldom seen since the Deanna Durbin pictures.

Glenn's Marine Buddy Takes Over TV Spot

By EARL WILSON

Col. John Glenn probably doesn't watch much afternoon TV but maybe he'll make an exception when a practically unknown Fort Lauderdale saloon comic, Woody Woodbury, takes over for Johnny Carson on ABC's "Who Do You Trust?" Sept. 10.

WILSON

They've been buddies since their Marine days in Korea . . . and Woody m.c.'d a testimonial recently for Johnny at Canaveral.

"Did you hear what Johnny's mother said?" Woody said at the tribute. "How do you like a son who'd go around the world three times and not even write his mother a postcard?"

Those were wild days in Korea, claims Woody, who was a major.

"One day there was a party and some officers yelled out, 'Cardinal Smith has just landed.' A major over in the corner mumbled, 'Is he a full Cardinal or a Lieutenant Cardinal?'"

That's Woody's type of material—kooky, silly stuff, he calls it.

Woody'd left his little Fort Launderdale club, the Chartroom, to work a few weeks at "Mr. Kelly's" in Chicago, in June.

★ ★ ★

Jack Minor, an advertising hotshot, who'd formerly been with Chrysler, brought in Hollywood TV producer Don Fedderson—and abruptly told Woody they wanted him to replace Carson when Johnny goes over to "Tonight."

★ ★ ★

Woody won't be giving up Fort Lauderdale. "I'll tape five shows in three days in New York—Monday through Wednesday," he says. "I'll be back at the saloon Wednesday through Saturday." Mostly he tells jokes while sitting down at the piano.

"I've worked so long sitting down," Woody says, "I don't know how I'll do standing up."

School Mixing Grows in Texas

Quarter of 1.92 Million White Pupils to Attend Integrated Facilities

DALLAS (UPI) — White and Negro students will sit together in a larger number of classrooms this week when 2.3 million Texas children start the fall semester of public school.

★ ★ ★

Nine years after the U. S. Supreme Court ordered an end to public school segregation, about one fourth of the 1.92 million white pupils will attend integrated schools.

Some 5,000 of the state's 305,000 Negro pupils will be in the same classrooms with white children.

Eight Texas public schools, all in small towns, will admit Negroes to classes with white pupils for the first time this fall. Some 155 Texas districts have ended segregation. About 600 retain separate schools for the two races.

★ ★ ★

In Dallas, where integration began last fall, only about one in 1,000 Negro students will attend integrated classes. Sixteen Dallas Negro first graders spent last year in classrooms with white students.

The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People estimates they will be followed by another 30 Negro first-graders next week.

There are an estimated 46,000 Negro students in the Dallas independent school district.

Fort Worth remains the largest Texas city maintaining segregation. About 20 per cent of the city's 74,000 students are Negroes.

Federal Judge Leo Brewster has ordered integration of Fort Worth classrooms, but the order is under appeal to the Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans and no integration is expected this week.

★ ★ ★

The eight school systems to integrate for the first time next week represent the largest number to approve the move by local election since the Texas legislature in 1957 passed a referendum act.

In most cases, voters chose to desegregate local schools rather than spend money for new separate facilities for Negroes.

CAB Approves Cut in Jackson Air Service

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Civil Aeronautics Board has authorized North Central Airlines to cut its service to Jackson, Mich., from two daily Detroit-Chicago roundtrip flights to one until the Jackson Airport is made suitable for use by Convair aircraft.

The board said its order permits the Airlines to start Convair service to the other cities on the Route—South Bend., Ind., Kalamazoo and Battle Creek, Mich. —instead of waiting for the expansion of facilities at Jackson. They are expected to be completed about Oct. 1.

North Central now provides Jackson with two DC 3 round trips daily, and plans to start Convair service on the route Sept. 4.

U.S. to Give Thais Water Project Loan

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — The United States has agreed to loan Thailand $11.1 million for three irrigation and flood control projects in the northeastern region of Thailand.

U.S. Ambassador Kenneth T. Young and Finance Minister Sunthorn Hongladarom signed the agreement.

The loan will be drawn from the development loan-fund payable over the next 30 years at 3 per cent interest.

When completed in 1967 the projects will provide irrigation for 83,300 acres of land planted to rice and sugar cane. Construction is scheduled to start in 1963.

MSU Food Scientists Will Travel to London

EAST LANSING (AP) — Four Michigan State University food scientists will travel to London for the Sept. 18-21 International Congress of Food Science and Technology.

The chairman of MSU's food science department, B. S. Schweigert, will make the trip with G. A. Borgstrom, A. M. Pearson and I. J. Pflug.

West Germany's Economic Boom Could Be Fading

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) — West Germans are wondering are they watching their "economic miracle" fade away?

"We have long since ceased to be a model for others," commented the influential Frankfurter Allgemeine. "Rather, we are gradually becoming a frightening example."

Many an alarm has been sounded this summer, against inflation, overexpansion, wage increases, government interference and similar portents.

A few big bankruptcies give some substance to these warnings. The steel and shipbuilding empire of Willy Schlieker ran out of money last month.

The stock market is down 25 per cent from four months ago. Exports and industrial growth are slowing.

* * *

So far, the wage earner has felt no pinch. Jobs remain plentiful. West Germans spend as much as ever. Production and sales of consumer goods remain at high level.

PRODUCTION GROWTH

The latest federal bank report shows an industrial production growth of 4.9 per cent in the second quarter this year. It would be an enviable rate in the United States, but in West Germany, whose expansion was twice that for a decade, the slowdown is noticeable.

Overexpanded companies with shaky finances, after thriving from the force of the boom, now feel the pinch. Schlieker's industrial empire is a case in point.

Schlieker handled steel allocations for the Nazi war machine. That landed him before a post-war de-Nazification court, but it also gave him inside knowledge of the steel business. He started on his own in 1949, became a multimillionaire shipyard owner.

By last year Schlieker's string of 13 companies was doing a business of more than $170 million per year.

News last month that he sought settlement with his creditors collapsed a spectacular self-made-man legend.

German bankers and businessmen, more noted for pessimism than optimism, have not signaled a general economic retreat in the face of Schlieker's difficulties or the bankruptcy of Opal Strumpfwerke, the second largest firm making women's stockings.

They predict a few more companies, not quite strong enough to survive the leveling off, will head for settlement courts.

Germany still exports more than it buys, but the margin is getting smaller. The present concern is to keep it from shrinking more.

Last month, Economics Minister Ludwig Erhard called for moderation, warning that a price-wage spiral could price Germany out of international trade and deal the economy a fatal blow.

The federal bank reports industrial wages for May were 12.3 per cent above last year. In the same period, two of Germany's chief competitors, the United States and Britain, held labor increases to 3.7 and 2.6 per cent respectively.

Full employment gives labor a strong hand. Despite importation of 650,000 foreign workers there are still 500,000 unfilled jobs. When Schlieker's yard closed down, other shipyards posted men at the gates to offer jobs.

Figures recognized by both employers and labor show automobile workers earning the equivalent of 95 cents an hour, with highpaid men getting $1.12. Steel workers average $1.10 plus substantial fringe benefits and a month's pay for Christmas bonus.

Red Spacemen 'Swim' Around Inside Cabins

MOSCOW (AP)—A Soviet scientist says that cosmonauts can swim in space like a swimmer in a pool of water.

Writing in the government newspaper Izvestia, physicist A. S. Povitsky said that cosmonauts can swim "by pushing the air as does a swimmer when he pushes the water."

Povitsky continued: "In principle this is fully possible. We shall even add that a cosmonaut can swim in his cabin with the same velocity as a swimmer in a pool. The difference lies only in the acceleration."

He said cosmonauts Nikolayev and Popovich "completely learned the technique of swimming" during their recent flights.

700 Cuban Farmers Go to Russia for Study

MOSCOW (AP)—The Tass news agency says that 700 young Cuban farmers have sailed from Havana for the Soviet Union to study farming for a year.

A similar group of 1,000 spent a year of study in the Soviet Union last year, learning about cotton and rice growing and farm machinery operation.

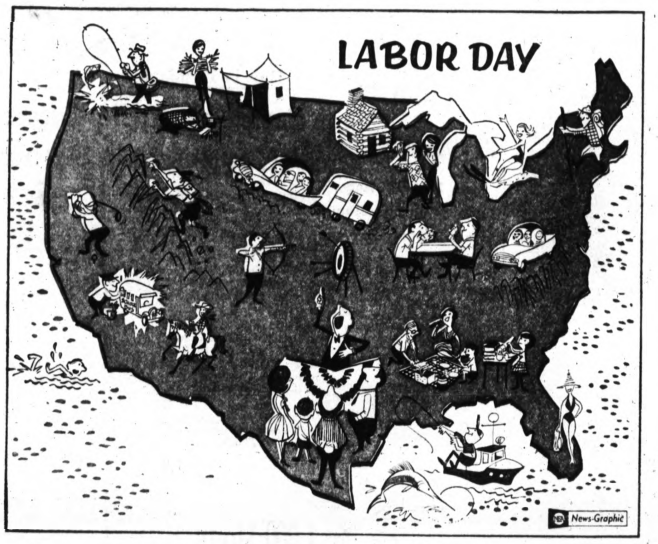
Boat Flips, Traps 12 Underwater in Union Lake



Labor Day Observations Across the Nation

11 Passengers Escape Death; Child Perishes

Fast Action of Nurse, Witnesses Keep Death Toll From Record

BY DICK SAUNDERS

A raft-type pontoon boat became a grotesque cage of death yesterday when it overturned on Union Lake trapping its 12 passengers under water for several terrifying minutes.

A 14-month-old Detroit boy, Frank Dzbanski Jr., of 2108 Burns St., drowned and six other persons were treated for shock at Pontiac General Hospital as a result of the mishap.

Sheriff's deputies said only fast action by an off-duty nurse and many witnesses on the crowded lake kept the death toll from reaching record proportions.

The 8x16-foot homemade boat, owned and operated by Roy Dick, 28, of 32944 Sheridan St., Garden City, had a 3-foot-high, fence-type railing on all four sides.

Witnesses said about 4 p.m. the boat was less than 70 feet offshore in front of Dick's summer cottage at 7780 Barnsbury St., Union Lake, when it was rocked by waves causing most of the 12 aboard to slide to one side.

The boat overturned.

"It wasn't more than 5 feet deep there," Dick said. "The top of the railing rested on the bottom and everyone was trapped inside like birds in a cage."

FORCED GATE OPEN

Dick was able to force open a small gate in the railing at the rear of the craft and swim to the surface.

He began pulling bodies through the gate, handing them to witnesses many of whom rushed into the water fully clothed.

One of the bodies was his 13-months-old son, Kenneth, who was unconscious and near death. Rescuers barely succeeded in reviving the boy. He was reported in satisfactory condition at the hospital today.

First to reach the capsized boat was Samuel Little of 3744 Wedell, Dearborn, one of Dick's guests. Little was sitting on Dick's lawn when the craft overturned.

"It was unbelievable," he related. "People carrying bodies to shore, some trying to apply mouth-to-mouth respiration as they walked.

"Soon there were bodies with people working over them all over the lawn."

NURSE SUMMONED

Mrs. Patricia Fulton, of 2588 Littlefell St., West Bloomfield Township, a nurse at Pontiac General Hospital, was summoned by her father, Frank Sterling of 2410 Gillham St., whom she was visiting.

Sterling's home is about a block from the scene.

She arrived before deputies or firemen and immediately began helping volunteer rescuers.

"I just started going from victim to victim taking pulse readings," she said. "Some of the pulses were very thin — a woman on the dock and one of the babies up on the grass.

"One of the children wasn't responding well to artificial respiration. I told the man working over him to use the mouth-to-mouth method."

Sgt. Donald Kratt, director of the sheriff's water patrol, credited Mrs. Fulton, the widowed mother of four, with "probably saving the lives of at least three victims.

"One of our men was working on a child with a resuscitator. The victim was nearly purple when she rushed over.

'STARTED SLAPPING CHILD'

"She took the mouthpiece off the child," Kratt continued, "and started slapping its face until it began crying. She told the man to 'keep slapping the child, you must keep him crying.'"

Other victims who were treated at the hospital were the Dzbanski boy's parents, Frank Sr., and Sadie, both 45; two sisters, Diane,

Holiday Traffic Toll Hitting Record Pace

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The nation's traffic deaths since the start of the long Labor Day weekend today appeared running at a record pace for the holiday period.

Accidents on the highways took an extremely heavy toll Sunday as millions of motorists were on the move in summer's last three-day holiday.

The traffic death toll since the start of the holiday period at 6 p.m. local time Friday soared to 353 including over 200 since early Sunday morning.

★ ★ ★

In other violent deaths, 17 were in boating accidents, 30 drownings and 54 in miscellaneous type accidents, for an over-all total of 456.

Michigan counted at least 22 traffic fatalities. Boating accidents claimed six. Two other persons drowned and two others died in miscellaneous accidents.

The National Safety Council, in a preholiday statement, estimated between 410 and 490 persons may be killed during the 78-hour holiday period which ends at midnight tonight.

MAY REACH 500

With the sharp increase in fatalities Sunday, the council said if the rate continued the toll may reach 500, surpassing the record Labor Day death count of 461 in 1951.

The third six-victim car crash of the holiday period occurred Sunday in a head-on collision of two cars near Roosevelt, Utah.

Four persons lost their lives Sunday night when three cars collided on a mountain highway near Craig, Colo.

★ ★ ★

Earlier, a head-on crash killed six persons in two cars near Litchfield, Minn., and six other persons lost their lives when two cars collided in a driving rainstorm near Weiner, Ark.

Five elderly persons were killed in a crash of their car with two trucks in Schuyler, Neb.

Three young persons and two truck drivers were killed in a head-on collision between a car and a trailer truck on the West Virginia Turnpike south of Charleston.

Traffic deaths last Labor Day weekend totaled 386, only the third time in the last 12 years that the toll was below 400. The record low toll for the holiday in recent years was 246 in 1946.

Deaths of Over 20,000 Feared in Iranian Quake

From Our News Wires

HEHRAN — A saddened and weeping Prime Minister Assadollah Alam inspected sections of Iran's earthquake area today and was informed that the death toll had passed 10,000 and might go higher than 20,000.

★ ★ ★

Officials with his party said after he returned from the six-hour, 200-mile trip into the devastated area that he was told:

"Many more than 10,000 have died. Maybe 20,000, maybe more."

The U.S. Embassy announced that no Americans were among the dead or injured.

Alam and his aides were staggered by the amount of destruction caused by the series of tremors which first struck a 13,609-square-mile area Saturday night.

The quake knocked out communications and damaged roads so badly that rescue teams had not reached half the stricken communities.

The shock, which lasted only one minute, crumbled towns and villages over a 23,000-square mile area centering around Takistan, 150 miles northwest of Tehran and about 20 miles southwest of the major rail city of Kazvin.

The Iranian Red Cross said the quake killed 3,000 of the 4,000 inhabitants of Dan-Isfahan near Takistan and up to 300 in Vavyek, 170 miles southwest of Hehran. It said many more thousands were injured.

An Iranian newsman telephoned from Saveh, 80 miles west of Tehran, that seven villages had been wiped out in that area with a death toll of 355.

The injured crowded hospitals and schools in Karaj and Kazvin, on the edge of the disaster area.

One train brought 108 injured to Tehran Sunday night.

PREMIER WEEPS

"This is a very bad situation. We can only beg God to help us in this calamity," the premier said back in the capital.

At one point on his tour—in a village near Ghazvin—Alam buried his head in his hands and wept openly.

Everywhere the party went they saw mounds of crumbled and broken mud bricks that had once been the homes of villagers.

Dr. Hossein Khatibi, head of the Red Lion and Sun Society—Iran's Red Cross—said there were strong fears that the toll would continue to climb because of the inaccessibility of some of the stricken areas.

The quake area lies to the west and southwest of this capital of 2 million inhabitants.

★ ★ ★

Tehranis felt the first shocks Saturday night but there were no injuries nor reports of property damage in the city. People fled into the streets in panic, however.

The young prime minister's party was met everywhere by weeping, bewildered peasants.

Hellion Wanda's Toll 134 in Hong Kong

HONG KONG (AP) — The toll from Typhoon Wanda, Hong Kong's worst storm in a quarter of a century, rose steadily today as rescue workers continued digging into flooded and demolished homes.

The government reported at least 134 dead, 41 missing, 515 injured and 46,550 homeless. Local Chinese newspapers estimated more than 300 were killed.

Wanda hit the refugee-crowded British colony with winds of 160 m.p.h. Saturday. Damage was estimated unofficially at between $2 million and $4 million.

The dead included five Royal Air Force men whose bodies were found Sunday night near a camping sight on a neighboring island.

Most of the dead were refugees from Communist China. Some drowned when a 6-foot tidal wave flooded their flimsy fishing village shacks. Others perished as winds and landslides swept away squatter huts perched on Hong Kong's steep hillsides.

The tidal wave swept over Shatin, near the Red Chinese border, leaving half the town under water.

The gusts blew down 90 per cent of the huts in one squatter village and destroyed a fishing fleet in the New Territories.

Hong Kong's usually placid harbor turned into a raging cauldron that grounded three ocean freighters, tore seven others loose from their moorings and sank hundreds of sampans and junks.

★

The storm damaged the homes of many Americans and Europeans as it blew out windows of modern apartment buildings overlooking the harbor. Authorities reported considerable damage to military establishments. Hong Kong Airport, closed down during the storm, also suffered some damage.

Honored at Romeo Festival

CROWNS PEACH QUEEN — Doing the honors of crowning the 1962 Romeo Peach Queen Wallyne Ragel, 20, of Roseville, is U. S. Rep. James G. O'Hara, D-Utica. The coronation ceremonies Saturday night highlighted the 30th annual Romeo Peach Festival that closes tonight. O'Hara was the queen's official host in Washington, D. C. just two days before where she went to present peaches to House Speaker John McCormack.

Faces Charges in Driving Death

Detroiter Is Released on Bond; Fenton Auto Dealer Dies in Collision

A 51-year-old Detroit man is charged with manslaughter and leaving the scene of a two-car collision in which Fenton auto dealer William McDaniel was killed Saturday on Dixie Highway near Foster Road, Independence Township.

Miraculously, three passengers escaped with minor or no injuries from McDaniel's car which overturned five times, throwing McDaniel out.

Uninjured was the Detroit driver Harold Quay, who stood mute Saturday before Waterford Township of the Peace Patrick K. Daly and was released on $500 bond pending examination Sept. 9.

★ ★ ★

According to State Police, witnesses saw Quay's car hit McDaniel's in the rear while attempting to pass. McDaniel's car went out of control into a ditch, shot out of it and was struck again by Quay's car, state police said.

THROWN FROM CAR

After the second collision, McDaniel's car overturned several times throwing out McDaniel, who was driving. Quay's car did not stop, witnesses said.

Quay's car was stopped a few minutes later on Dixie Highway near Parkinson Road by Waterford Patrolman Al Dowd who had just heard a description of the Quay car over the police radio.

Dowd quoted Quay as saying he didn't stop because he didn't think the noon accident "was serious.

★ ★ ★

The three McDaniel car passengers were treated and released at Pontiac General Hospital.

They were McDaniel's son, William, 13, who suffered a broken nose and cuts on the forehead; a friend of McDaniel, Frank Churchill, 44, of 15292 Benfred, Linden, suffering abrasions and his son, Lynn Churchill, who apparently was not visibly injured.

Soviet Cuba Aid an Old Story

Plan to Send Military Equipment, Experts Doesn't Surprise U. S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. officials believe the Soviet Union's announcement that it will send military equipment and technicians to Cuba merely confirms what has been going on for a long time.

The Soviet statement Sunday said arms and technical specialists will be provided to meet "the threats of aggressive imperialist quarters with regard to Cuba." Type and amount of arms and men were not specified.

★ ★ ★

A State Department spokesman said the Soviet communique appeared to be an attempt to make legitimate what the Soviet Union and other Communist bloc nations have been doing for several months—supplying Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro with military assistance.

"What they say about delivering arms and sending technical specialists to train troops is exactly what they are doing," said the spokesman.

He said the Moscow communique seems to mean such aid will continue.

There was no immediate White House comment on the Russian announcement, which came shortly after the departure from Moscow of Cuban Economic Minister Ernesto Guevara and militia leader Emilio Aragones Navarro.

★ ★ ★

Moscow's announcement of military aid to Cuba followed recent statements by U.S. officials that some 20 Soviet ships have unloaded a large assortment of military hardware in Cuba.

★ ★ ★

So far, U.S. officials have said, about 3,000 Communist bloc military technicians have landed in Cuba but they contend there are no indications that Soviet combat troops are included.

Showers Due to Alter Weather Scene Tonight

Pontiac area residents can expect partly cloudy and warm weather to continue through the holiday, with scattered showers arriving tonight, the weatherman predicts.

★ ★ ★

Following tonight's low of 62, tomorrow's outlook will include considerable cloudiness and cooler temperatures with a few scattered showers. Tuesday's high will be 73.

The lowest temperature recorded preceding 8 a.m. was 60 at 5 a.m. By 10 a.m. the mercury had climbed to 68, with a high of 82 predicted for the day.

$30,000 in Jewelry Taken From Home

Burglars took about $30,000 worth of jewelry and an undetermined amount of cash last night from the home of Ferdinand L. Alpert at 1260 Ardmoor Drive, Bloomfield Township police reported this morning.
