Clergy Makes Direct Appeal to Gaca Killer

Slayer Offered Asylum Until He Is Turned Over to Police

By JOSEPH K. SFAIR

Oakland County Sheriff Frank W. Irons, who Saturday called upon clergymen and churchgoers to aid in the investigation of the slaying of Barbara Gaca, was joined today by five clergymen making direct appeals for the killer to surrender.

The appeal is a long shot, they believe, but they also confide that perhaps in a moment of thought and reason by the killer, he may possibly surrender.

Offering the killer asylum until he is turned over to proper authorities, the five clergymen advise the killer that he is mentally ill and needs help.

Anyone of the five clergymen will assume responsibility of his surrender, helping him to reach the proper agency safely for help.

If you're the wanted person or know of him, the following messages should be thought over carefully.

First to offer his appeal, the Rev. Edward D. Auchard of the First Presbyterian Church, urged:

"You may be able to avoid for a time the police. You cannot escape yourself. A person capable of such an act is surely mentally sick. You need help. You need to protect yourself and others from the violence you may inflict.

"Let me invite you to turn to your minister, priest or rabbi. He will go with you to the law enforcement officers or mental health institution. You can help to make sure that justice will be done without violence. If you have no pastor of your own, you can contact me or one of the other clergymen joining in this appeal to your conscience and humanity."

Threat by Mob Forces Closing of 4th Exchange

Acid Squirted in Eyes of Policeman as Tension Grows in 3 States

ATLANTA (AP)—Tension mounted today in three states where mobs battered down a Southern Bell Telephone Co. exchange door, forced the closing of another exchange and squirted acid into a policeman's eye.

There was growing unrest elsewhere in the nine state Southeastern area as the CIO Communication Workers of America strike continued for the 29th day.

The Easter weekend was marked by widespread violence, the cutting and shooting of more cables and the arrest of at least 17 persons. Company officials announced the dismissal of 19 strikers, bringing to 44 the number fired since the walkout started March 14.

At Clinton, Tenn., Sheriff Joe Owen said a mob of about 300 persons smashed the telephone exchange door after he read a temporary injunction banning mass picketing.

Tom Stokes, Southern Bell district manager, reported the door was quickly replaced with a metal one. No injuries or arrests were reported.

At Birmingham, Ala., 15 persons were arrested as police broke up a noisy crowd. Police Commissioner Robert Lindbergh charged the mob with developing into an "explosive situation" and said gatherings of large crowds, can't be tolerated.

Police Chief G. L. Patten said acid was squirted into the eyes of officer E. S. Elam. He was taken to a hospital where attendants said the acid appeared to be some kind of paint thinner and apparently had not permanently harmed his eyes.

Southern Bell reported that the Middleboro, Ky., exchange was forced to close, leaving the town of 15,000 without phone service. It was the fourth exchange to shut down because of threatened violence since the trouble began. Others were shut earlier at Lafayette, La., and Maryville, Tenn.

The Atlanta area experienced a rash of cable cuttings, bringing to 140 the number of such incidents reported in the area.

W. A. Smallwood, CWA district director in Atlanta, said the union knew nothing about these or other incidents.

Pontiac Physician Urges Priority on Polio Vaccine

A voluntary priority system for allocating the first commercial supplies of Salk polio vaccine was proposed by the State Medical Society Saturday for use if the vaccine is approved.

University of Michigan researchers will announce Tuesday whether the vaccine has been proven successful.

Dr. Robert H. Baker of Pontiac, president of the medical society, said in a letter to all members that voluntary controls would be necessary only until drug manufacturers can catch up with the expected public demand.

If the vaccine is approved, the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis will use much of the available supply to vaccinate first and second grade children.

A system is needed to handle what is left and available to private physicians, Dr. Baker said.

He suggested that those supplies be allocated in this order: To children below first grade level and more than 1 year of age, to school children in grades 3 through 8, to pregnant women.

Dr. Baker urged a campaign to educate the public in the necessity for temporary controls over the vaccine.

Red Delegates Crash Into Sea

Report Airliner Down With Chinese Flying to Afro-Asian Meet

LONDON (INS)—Unconfirmed Singapore radio reports said today an Indian passenger plane carrying Chinese Communist delegates and reporters to the Afro-Asian conference crashed into the South China Sea off Sarawak.

A spokesman for the Air India Lines in London and a spokesman at the Chinese Communist embassy said they had no news to verify the reports.

Radio reports monitored in Singapore said the plane flying from Hong Kong to Jakarta sent three distress signals giving its position as 108 miles north of Kuching, Sarawak.

The Singapore Ship Service radio began late today repeating half-hourly a message instructing ships in the area to watch for an overdue plane possibly down in the sea.

The plane was believed to be carrying a 15-man secretarial staff and attaches for the conference called to promote good will and cooperation among Asian and African nations. Top Chinese delegates, including Premier-Foreign Minister Chou En-Lai were not aboard.

Reports from Jakarta earlier today said that the first plane carrying Chinese Communist delegates and journalists for the conference opening April 18 at Bandung, outside Jakarta, was expected in Jakarta tonight.

Youngsters Rolling Eggs on White House Lawn

WASHINGTON (INS)—President Eisenhower is slated to welcome youngsters and their parents in his own "back yard" today when the traditional Easter Monday egg roll gets under way on the White House lawn.

With good weather promised and with the chief executive himself scheduled to make an appearance, a "full house" is certain to turn out for the long-established egg roll on the executive mansion's south lawn.

The idea first started at the White House in 1878, and has become almost an annual fete. With time-out for the years of World War II and a few before, it was revived by the Eisenhowers in 1953.

Last year, when the President and the first lady were out of town, only 11,500 children and adults visited the grounds but today, with Eisenhower himself doing the welcoming, more than double that number is expected.

Mrs. Eisenhower had also planned to welcome the moppets and their parents, but is still at the Eisenhower farm home at Gettysburg, Pa., where she is recovering from a recent respiratory illness and supervising the interior decorating.

Nearly 28,000 persons turned out for the 1953 egg roll and the President and his grandchildren nearly caused a mob scene when they attempted to stroll through the crowd.

Any child 12 or under who is accompanied by an adult will be admitted to the south lawn when the huge iron gates swing open at 9 a.m. for the all-day affair.

White House groundkeepers, wise in the ways of youngsters, have already erected sturdy snow fences to keep the small fry from stepping out of bounds. All the shrubs and flower beds are protected and—at least equally important—the President's putting green as well.

Stevenson Speech Set Tonight Over Radio

CHICAGO (INS)—Democratic leader Adlai Stevenson will make a major policy address tonight at 9 C.S.T. over a nationwide radio hookup.

The 1952 presidential candidate is expected to air foreign policy differences between himself and President Eisenhower.

Play to Make a 'Calypso' but Don't Overlook Tricks

By OSWALD JACOBY

Calypso is a game of points, and the side that scores more points wins the game. If you try to win as many tricks as possible, you will also get your fair share of the calypso and you will win most of the games. If you concentrate so hard on calypso that you lose sight of the tricks, you will wind up on the short end of the score.

The winning style in calypso consists in using your trumps and your partner's trumps to best advantage and in preventing the enemy from making the best use of theirs.

Now let's see how you can obtain these advantages. If you lead even the deuce of your own trump suit, that card will be treated as though it were the ace. You will win the trick unless some other player trumps. It's a big advantage to turn your deuces into aces, and you should therefore look for chances to lead your own trump suit.

There's another way to use your trumps wisely—to trump when you cannot follow suit to some other player's hand. When you trump, you will win the trick unless some other player overtrumps.

The other side of the picture is that you have no advantage at all when somebody else leads your trump suit. You can then win the trick only if you play the highest card, provided that nobody else trumps. You cannot trump, for you can only follow suit with your own trump suit. If you play the deuce of your trump suit, you will only lose the trick; your deuces don't improve but stay simple deuces when somebody else leads your suit.

These are the two basic principles of calypso: You have an advantage when you lead your suit or when you trump some other suit; but you are at a disadvantage when somebody else leads your suit.

The next pointer comes easily from these basic principles. Don't lead your partner's suit except in very unusual circumstances.

As we have just seen, he will be at a disadvantage when his suit is led by somebody else (including you), and you don't want to thrust disadvantages on your partner. In the same way, he shouldn't lead your suit, unless he has nothing else to lead.

One other principle: It does pay to lead an opponent's suit. You enjoy putting an opponent under a disadvantage. The ace of an opponent's suit is one of the best possible leads.

Oakland County Area Farmers Receive Honors

Blaze Destroys 2 Barns, Garage

Fire at North Branch Does $20,000 Damage to Sbresny Farm

NORTH BRANCH — Two barns and a garage were destroyed by a $20,000 fire of undetermined origin on the farm of Henry Sbresny, 3318 Barnes Rd., Burlington Township, Saturday.

Mrs. Sbresny sighted the blaze in a garage, and backed out a burning trailer full of grain and fertilizer.

The barns were entirely destroyed, along with their contents, tractors and combines, and two cows.

Flaming roofing from one of the barns was carried to the neighboring farm of Albert Hodgkinson, and set a hay stack afire. This spread to the basement of the Hodgkinson house.

The North Branch Fire Department saved the home.

Sbresny was away from home at the time of the blaze. His loss was partially covered by insurance.

Shuman is fully sold on the value of a college education for any youth who chooses to make farming his career, but he says the opposite line of thinking is all too common today.

In his opinion, such training is not an absolute requirement, but he also points out that few other professions call upon an individual to have so many skills or to make so many sound decisions.

Here's how Shuman sees it:

DOWN AT THE MOUTH—The fighting spirit of the bulldog breed ebbed out of Gripsey Squire John at the Sydney, Australia dog show recently, for more than one reason. He didn't win a prize, he was miserable with a toothache, and he felt even worse when owner W. J. Howell wrapped a towel around his head. Even a bulldog's grip on life can slip once in a while.

In the farm bureau leader's opinion, the future in farming is unlimited if the idea is banished that anyone can farm and increased emphasis is laid on education and training.

Shuman says the possibilities for applying atomic knowledge to agriculture holds vast possibilities for increasing production efficiency and thus raising living standards of tomorrow's farmers.

But he thinks these benefits will be available only to those who have the intelligence, training and education to deal with the tough new problems that will arise in the atomic age.

The AFBF president sums up: "Well trained youth on the farm is one crop of which we need not fear a surplus."

Methodist Church in Troy to Show John Wesley Film

TROY TOWNSHIP — A color movie depicting the life of John Wesley, founder of the Methodist Church, will be shown at 7 p.m. Tuesday at the Troy Methodist Church. The feature length film was produced by the Methodist Radio and Film Commission.

The Rev. Robert Paul Ward explains that while the film is being released to Methodist churches only, the public is invited to see the picture at Troy Methodist Church on Square Lake road east of Livernois road.

Milk Production Tests Concluded

Clarkston, South Lyon, Metamora Animals Cited by Associations

Several Oakland County area cows have been honored recently for completing milk tests, along with other cattle gaining mention.

A new record placing sixth in milk production among the 10 highest of the Guernsey breed in her class has just been completed by the registered cow, Churn Creek's Honor's Nobby.

The 10-year-old is owned by James A. Beresford, of Tyrone Farms, Metamora.

Nobby produced 16,550 pounds of milk and 680 pounds of fat in 365 days, on two times daily milking, according to the American Guernsey Cattle Club.

A registered Jersey bull, Sybil Owl Clemence has qualified as a tested sire, the American Jersey Cattle Club has disclosed.

Ten tested daughters of Sybil Owl Clemence produced an average of 8,977 pounds of milk containing 503 pounds of butterfat on a twice daily milking, 365 day test.

Mrs. Myrtle E. Hess of Lone Cedar Farm is the owner of Sybil Owl Clemence.

The nine-cow herd of DeForest B. Thompson of South Lyon has completed a year's testing under the official Herd Improvement Registry program of the Holstein-Friesian Assn. of America.

The average milk yield under twice a day milking was 11,588 pounds, with a 431 pound average butterfat yield for the year. This amounted to 17 quarts daily from each cow.

Listed as one of the outstanding production records in the state by the Holstein-Friesian Assn. is that of Lakeland Winterthur Berdene, of Lakeland Farm, Clarkston.

Winterthur Berdene produced 21,147 pounds of milk, and 807 pounds of butterfat during the test period, on twice a day milking. This averages 27 quarts of milk daily.

The unanimous election of Dr. H. G. Kobrak of Clarkston to membership in the Ayrshire Breeders' Assn. has been announced by the national secretary of the organization.

The ancestors of the herd of dairy cows owned by Kobrak trace back to the heather-covered hills of County Ayr, Scotland, from which the breed derives its name.

Youth, 14, Kills Pal With Crude Spear

DETROIT (INS) — A 14-year-old Detroit boy accidentally killed his best friend with a homemade spear yesterday.

Ronald Lee Brandon and John Gunnerson, 14, his best buddy, along with two other boys, went polliwog hunting in a vacant lot after they had shed their Easter finery for blue jeans.

Brandon said the boys were running toward a mound when he decided to throw his spear—a five-foot length of floor moulding with an eight-inch rat-tail file for the spearhead—to one side of Gunnerson.

Gunnerson swerved from his path and the spear hit him at the base of the neck. He was dead on arrival at Mount Carmel Mercy Hospital.

Rochester Youth, Oxford Girl Get Music Awards

Two Oakland County youths have been awarded tuition scholarships to the National Music Camp at Interlochen.

Recipients are Kay LaDouceur, of 18 Pontiac St., Oxford, and Steve Seiffert, of 1921 Washington Rd., Rochester. Kay plays the oboe, and Steve the French horn.

The scholarships were announced by Orien Dalley, conductor of the Youth Symphony and music director of the University of Michigan Broadcasting service, during a concert by the group in Detroit Saturday.

The scholarships are made possible by the James Foster Foundation of Ann Arbor, to talented musicians of the Southern Michigan Youth Symphony.

Langtry, who was alone in the car, was killed instantly, and the car was demolished, according to State Police of the Romeo Post.

The accident occurred on West Romeo Road about one-half mile from his home. There were no witnesses to the crash, but a driver passing the scene summoned the police, who were unable to determine the cause of the accident.

Funeral service will be held at 2 p.m. Thursday at the Roth Funeral Home, with burial in Romeo Cemetery.

Funeral arrangements are pending at Roth's Home for Funerals. Langtry, who was a tool and die maker at Hamill Manufacturing Co., Washington, leaves his wife, Janet, a daughter, Patty Jo, parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Langtry, two sisters, Mrs. John Sewell and Mrs. Howard Johnson, and a brother, Louis, all of Washington. Also surviving is his grandfather, Joseph H. Langtry, of Kingsville, Ont., and grandmother Mrs. Maude Grower, of Moose Jaw, Sask.

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP — The township board of trustees has adopted a recreation department budget for the coming year, and changed the meeting date of the board.

The budget approved, $23,699.13, was the figure recommended by the department.

Monday morning board of trustee meetings will be a thing of the past. The board has decided to change to Monday evening sessions, beginning at 7:30 p.m.

In other action, the officials canvassed the recent election, and declared elected those candidates announced as winners previously.

Plumbers' bonds for Wilfred Fleming, Ezra Mason and F. J. Temple and Sons were renewed, and a bond accepted from Beckman and Newberg of Detroit.

"Five Years of Labor Peace Made that Headline Possible"

The headline on that newspaper points up the fact that General Motors and their employees have enjoyed five great years.

We could name several reasons. But one of them certainly traces right back to the historic contract worked out by the U.A.W. and General Motors in 1950.

That turned out to be a good contract for all concerned—as the record of the past five years will show.

It has been a record measured in 128,000 more jobs—higher pay per hour—steady employment—plant expansion—and increased sales.

These benefits have been enjoyed across the board—in the 64 cities and 19 states where GM plants are located. But let's look at the hometown figures.

WHAT HAPPENED RIGHT HERE IN PONTIAC

These are the figures for this one community:

JOBS INCREASED BY 5,222

In January 1950, GM employed 25,561 people in Pontiac. The total today is 30,783.

PAYROLLS INCREASED $37,468,065

During 1950, wage and salary payments to GM Pontiac employees totaled $117,637,462. In 1954, our annual payrolls in Pontiac had climbed to $155,105,527.

But a lot of folks find it hard to think in millions. So let's look at this record another way.

44c PER HOUR WAGE INCREASE

The GM wage formula—fair to everyone, as a good formula should be—provides for two types of increases which come automatically. Since 1950, the Annual Improvement Factor increase, assuring a higher standard of living, added 22c an hour. In the same time, the cost-of-living allowance, protecting the buying power of an hour's work, added 22c more.

FIVE-YEAR AVERAGE—40.1 HOURS A WEEK

This figure is also important, because it indicates that employment has been stable. One reason that earnings have been good is that there has been practically no work lost due to strikes in GM plants in Pontiac during these five prosperous years.

PLANT EXPANSION

GM increased plant area in Pontiac by 2,018,640 square feet in the past five years.

DID YOU KNOW THAT—

$5,164,006 in sickness and accident benefits have been paid to Pontiac GM plant employees in the last five years.

$8,955,875 worth of hospital care has been received by Pontiac GM employees and their families since September 1, 1950. This came through Blue Cross and Blue Shield coverage paid for equally by GM and GM employees.

$4,758,867 in death benefits have been paid to beneficiaries of 959 Pontiac GM employees since 1950.

1,234 GM Pontiac retirees are receiving monthly pension checks. A GM plant employee, whose wife is 65, may actually receive a total retirement income of $200 or more a month from the GM plan and Federal Social Security combined.

NEW CONTRACT NEGOTIATIONS ARE UNDER WAY

Representatives of GM and the U.A.W. are meeting now to negotiate changes in the current five-year agreements.

We at GM have taken our place at the bargaining table with an open mind. As in the past, we are determined to work hard in an effort to negotiate a new agreement which will be fair and of mutual benefit to the public, our employees, the union and the company.

As these negotiations begin, all the facts and figures on this page add up to a few simple but important reminders.

Every one of us who is a member of the GM team can be happy that we have a winning combination that benefits all concerned.

There's every indication that this can be the best year of all.

It's just plain common sense to keep the ball rolling straight through 1955.

Considine Says:

Cheops' Solar Boat Being Restored

CAIRO (INS) — Some of the venerable Egyptologists are inclined to scoff, but the most exciting diggings in recent years have been in connection with the Cheops solar boat. It is virtually the property now of a young architect and part time archaeologist named Kamal Mallakh, who is a descendant of Max Schmeling.

We had a look at the boat the other day and there's not much question about it: It will attract new tens of thousands of tourists to Cairo. Which will be perfectly all right with the new regime, which is tourism conscious to the hilt.

Dr. Mallakh explained the boat and its history to us one blindingly bright afternoon outside the dull-looking wooden shed which now houses over the excavated boat and houses also the crude but efficient derrick which lifted the great stones that guarded it for 4,750 years.

The boat is but one of five built for use by the soul of Cheops, in whose memory the nearby pyramid was constructed over a 20-year period by himself and his successor.

To simplify the complicated theocracy of the time (over-simplify it, I'm sure.) Cheops was to sail into the beyond with the sun, which the ancients believed was reborn each dawn, grew to manhood at noon, and passed out like an old man at sunset. At noon or thereabouts the soul of the pharaoh was to transfer from the kid's boat to the man's boat.

It is the kid's boat which Dr. Mallakh has found. When he gets around to it he'll dig up the man's boat, which he feels certain is immediately to the west of the boat he has found, as befits the legend. He has already scraped away the sediment of time down to the heavy blocks of limestone that serve as its enduring roof.

The boat is littered with small limestone splinters and the dust of the sail that was made of mats and papyrus. But there is ample evidence that it is as sound as say, the Nautilus. Cheops' people chose stout cedar from Lebanon and joined it delicately and solidly with wooden nails. To the slight dismay of his elders, who consider him lucky and not too knowledgeable, Dr. Mallakh has been given permission to take the boat apart, plank by plank, chemically treat each bit of wood, and put it back together again.

In time a museum will be built around it and it will sit there under glass (and air conditioned, in its remarkably white trench dug from the solid rock of the hill on which rest the best known pyramids of the world. The mast will be partly raised, for apparently the first time, but there will be no effort made to reproduce the sail which was to have aided Cheops in his flight to sunset.

Dr. Mallakh is the boat's No. 1 fan and can talk about it by the hour. He likes to relive the moment of its discovery.

"There was only a small hole dug through the great rock over its center," he recalls. "One had to wait until noon to see what was below, but already I knew. I could tell from the perfume of the wood that the boat was there in the darkness, as it had been since that ancient dynasty. It was not only a historical moment. It was a hysterical moment." He waits for his laugh.

"Then as the sun reached his height I looked through a window into the world of 5,000 years ago and saw this rare, intact prize. You see it today for no reason. In time the tourists will pay to see it and will be pleased."

Dr. Mallakh has been puttering around the area since he was 11. He learned first about the possibility of solar boats from a Roman travel writer named Herodotus, who dropped by 500 years before Christ, and French and German archaeologists pinpointed the location of the boat he has discovered.

After that it was just a matter of digging and lifting off the blocks, and, of course, continuing in favor with the people downtown. Dr. Mallakh gives the Cheops pyramid a break now and then in his talks, looking up at the incredible pile that climbs to the blue sky above the sunken solar boat.

"You continue to believe it was built by slave labor," he'll complain. "It was not. The farmers of Egypt at that time were forced into unemployment for one third of the year by the flooding of the Nile. What to do with them?

French to Probe Fall of Dien Bien Phu Fort

PARIS (AP) — The French government has launched an investigation into the causes of the fall of the Indochina fortress of Dien Bien Phu almost a year ago.

The government's official gazette said a board of five officers has been set up to determine the responsibilities of all who took part in the battle that resulted in victory for the Communist-led Vietnamese last May 7.

The fall of the fortress led to an armistice and loss of North Vietnam to the Vietnamese.
