Violent Storm Sweeps Over City and State

M'Carthy Bars Probers From Examining Files

Tangles With M'Clellan Over the Withholding of Informers' Names

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senator McCarthy today blocked senators investigating his row with the Army from getting files on work done by G. David Schine until names of informants have been deleted from them.

His stand touched off another angry exchange during which Sen. McClellan (D-Ark) accused McCarthy of being "unfair" and demanded that the Eisenhower administration make known its position on "pilfered" classified information.

McCarthy said he wouldn't let Democrats on the hearings committe get the names of his informants since, he said, McClellan had made it clear last week that he feels government workers who give him (McCarthy) information "about Communists, about traitors" should be prosecuted.

McCarthy told McClellan he will never give him the names of people who give him information "unless and until he assures me those names will not be used."

His anger up, McClellan said he never asked for names of confidential informants and that he had never said he would make them public.

McClellan said the great national issue is this: Wehther a congressional committee, if it is denied secret government papers on its request or subpoena, has the right to get them "by theft."

"I hope we keep this a government of law and order," McClellan said.

The Arkansas senator demanded that the Eisenhower administration make clear its legal stand on this issue.

He said he hoped the issue wouldn't rest on whatever "one man or one senator might happen to think about it."

The angry row blew up after Roy M. Cohn, on the witness stand in the McCarthy-Army hearings, produced a big box of files designed to back up his testimony that Pvt. G. David Schine did a lot of work for the McCarthy subcommittee after he entered the Army.

Cohn gave the files to special counsel Ray H. Jenkins, but McCarthy insisted Cohn had no right to turn them over.

McCarthy demanded time to examine the records during the noon hour, and served notice that "I will not turn this material over to the committee now."

McClellan demanded a ruling by Chairman Mundt (R-SD) as to whether the documents have in fact, been placed in evidence.

"I want this understanding," McClellan said. "Anything filed before this committee (as evidence) this senator is going to look at if he wants to . . . I'm not going to ask Sen. McCarthy if I can or not."

McCarthy shot back that McClellan "will not get the names of any confidential informants" from McCarthy's list.

In the course of the exchange that followed, McCarthy repeated what he has said before—that President Eisenhower made a "grievous error" in extending former Presi-

Martians Fail to Keep Date at Girl's Home

ALBUQUERQUE (AP)—If the Martians won't come to 9-year-old Linda Sue Russell, she's going to build a space ship and go to them.

Last week little Linda Sue, a pert, impressionable youngster, wrote a letter to the Martians telling them to come to her house Sunday night.

"What business I am writing about is to stop the earth people from fighting," Linda Sue wrote. "All they have is war, war, war and I'm getting tired of it, so be here."

Linda Sue even enclosed a hand-drawn map telling the Martians to land their space ship at a nearby playground. She said she would leave her window open and promised "I will never tell anybody about you."

But the Martians didn't show.

"I felt sort of mad because they didn't come," Linda Sue said. "When I grow up and become a scientist, I'm going to build a spaceship and go and see them.

"As soon as I'm 12 I can start studying for it."

What Linda Sue wanted to tell the Martians was to "scare the people on earth."

"That's what I want them to do," she said, "because there's too much war. If the people on earth are scared by maybe the Martians making the ground shake, they'll stop fighting because maybe then the Martians will break up the earth and we'll have to talk peace with the Martians."

Mrs. Arthur Russell, Linda Sue's mother, says her daughter is quite serious in her plans to see the Martians.

"She was so displeased when they didn't come," Mrs. Russell said, "that she decided what she had to do was to go and see them. She's sure she can build a space ship after she's a scientist."

Election to Show Farm Sentiment

South Dakota Primary to Echo Voters' Views on Price Props

PIERRE, S.D. (AP)—The nation watched the South Dakota primary election today for possible clues as to how the farm belt feels about flexible price supports, as advocated by the Republican administration.

Both Democratic candidates for nomination for governor, that party's only statewide contest, have injected national issues into their campaigns by accusing the GOP of backing "unsatisfactory farm legislation."

Democratic leaders, laying stress on the rigid 90 per cent parity payments now being made as opposed to the flexible program, also have been striving for a larger than usual vote as a "signal of protests" to Washington.

Party chieftains expected a turnout of some 35,000 Democrats for the primary, about 15,000 more than two years ago, as a result of this drive.

E. F. McKellips, Alcester banker, was favored for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination over Ed. C. Martin of Chamberlain, a rancher. By agreement, the two made no personal campaign attacks on each other and bought no radio time for their speeches.

TOKYO (AP)—Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, U.S. 8th Army commander, left Tokyo today for the United States via Honolulu.

Trees and Wires Down Here After Heavy Blow

SNAPS CABLE—This tree in the backyard of Kelley Spencer, 24 James St., crashed onto a telephone cable during last night's savage thunderstorm. Scores of phones were knocked out by falling trees and branches. The wind was clocked at 50 miles an hour at the height of the storm.

Ferguson Sides With President

Joins Ike in Battle With Sen. McCarthy Over 'Usurped' Power

WASHINGTON (INS) — Another high Senate Republican leader sided with President Eisenhower today in the battle over what the White House has called "usurpation" of executive authority by Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy.

After visiting Eisenhower at the White House, Senate GOP Policy Committee Chairman Homer Ferguson (Mich) declared that members of Congress "should not invite everybody who has a complaint to come first to Congress."

During the Army-McCarthy hearings, the Wisconsin Republican has called on federal employes to come to him with any information they might have about corruption or subversion.

On Saturday, Senate GOP leader William F. Knowland (Calif.) and Sen. Alexander Smith (R-NJ) both criticized McCarthy for his stand.

Today Ferguson declared: "I look at this thing as a joint task that can only be solved by joint effort.

"The way I feel is that congressional investigations should work with the executive.

"I am sure the President and all under him, if requested, would furnish all the necessary information so that Congress can do its proper investigating. We should not invite everybody who has a complaint to come first to Congress."

Ike Invited to Vacation on Mackinac Island in '55

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today was invited to spend his 1955 summer vacation at Mackinac Island.

The invitation was extended at the White House by members of the state's congressional delegation and the Michigan Legislature, which recently passed a resolution urging the President to go to Michigan next year.

ELM DAMAGES GARAGE—Snapped off by strong winds, the top of this large elm last night crashed onto the roof of a garage at the home of Robert C. Bowden, 124 Whittemore St. The tree is 105 inches around at the base. Damage has not yet been estimated.

Boy Anglers Worm Way Into Fish Tank

SAN PEDRO, Calif. (AP)—Adults couldn't seem to get a nibble but two small boys in a boat in the outer harbor hauled in fish hand over fist yesterday.

Someone, no doubt a jealous adult, investigated and then the police arrived. Seems the boys, 12 and 14, were fishing in a floating tank in which many varieties of fish, some rare, were being kept alive to be put into an aquarium now under construction.

The police salvaged what they could of the boys' catch and tossed them back into the tank. The boys were taken to the Juvenile Bureau, given a little talk about fishing in a private tank, then were released to their parents.

Traffic Claims 20 Victims

Michigan Counts 35 Dead Over Memorial Weekend

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

At least 35 persons lost their lives by violence over Michigan's long Memorial Day weekend which opened under warm, sunny skies and ended in a violent wind and rain storm.

Traffic accidents claimed 20 lives, nine persons were reported drowned, and six died in fires, falls and other accidents.

The toll was well above last year's Memorial Day death count of 12 traffic victims, 8 drownings and 5 miscellaneous accidents.

So far, the nation counted 355 persons killed in auto accidents from 6 p.m. Friday until midnight Monday. In addition, 92 persons drowned and 76 others were killed in miscellaneous mishaps.

The sudden rain and wind storm added to the heavy traffic hazards faced by thousands of motorists returning Monday night from northern parts of the state.

Lightning was blamed for the death of one motorist near Ada.

The list of latest reported deaths:

Wiley W. McClellan, 67, of Detroit, was fatally injured Monday when his car collided with a bus from Selfridge Air Force Base at Harper and 13-Mile Rd. on Detroit's east side.

Capt. Lloyd W. Smith, skipper of the ore carrier James E. Ferris, fell overboard and drowned Monday while his ship was on a downbound passage in the St. Mary's River near Detour.

John Warburton, 69, of Kalamazoo, died at Kalamazoo's Bronson Hospital Monday of injuries suffered in an auto collision near the city Friday night.

Tornadoes Skip Through Kansas

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Several tornadoes skipped through eastern Kansas and western Missouri yesterday, causing heavy farm damage in a few areas but no personal injuries.

One twister cut a 20-mile swath, leveling scores of farm buildings from Sark, Kan. to Fort Scott, Kan.

President Asks $1.1 Billion for U.S. Defenses

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower today asked Congress for an extra defense appropriation of $1,100,000,000 for military construction.

The only indication of just where the money would be spent came in the White House announcement that $503,000 of the total would be used for Army construction of a communications system in Alaska.

Murray Snyder, assistant presidential press secretary, said the over-all amount includes the expense of constructing sites for Nike guided missiles, and for troop housing.

Fallen Trees Block Roads; but 1-Inch Deluge to Benefit Farm Crops

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A wind borne rainstorm swept across southern Michigan Monday night damaging buildings, power lines, communications, and bringing the threat of tornadoes to scattered communities.

The violent storm was blamed for at least two deaths.

John Knox, 41, of Swartz Creek, was killed when lightning struck a big elm tree on the edge of M21, three miles east of Ada. The tree fell on Knox's car. The victim's wife, Frances, 42, and two young children were hospitalized in Grand Rapids.

A bolt of lightning killed 68-year-old Joe Haines near Benton Harbor. Haines, a itinerant fruitpicker, was sitting in his one-room home.

The lightning bolt glanced off a tree, pierced the roof of the home, and struck Haines. His wife, Irene, 48, sitting on a bed beside him, was unharmed.

A dozen communities were isolated from telephone service at the peak of the storm.

High winds reaching to gusts of 58 miles per hour in the Grand Rapids area struck at the peak of the homebound Memorial Day weekend traffic.

State Police reported fallen

Oakland County mopped up today after high winds and thunderstorms Monday night blocked dozens of roads with falling trees and left 700 families without lights.

The thunderstorms rode 50-mile-an-hour winds into Pontiac, dumping an inch of rain on homecoming vacationers and thirsty crops.

They ended a day of unsettled weather that had seen temperatures rise to 84—the warmest day this year by two degrees.

The U.S. Weather Bureau predicts partly cloudy and cooler weather, however, with a low of 54 to 58 degrees tonight and a high Wednesday of 70 to 74.

But Monday morning's low, 61 degrees, was lower than this morning's 64-degrees. The mercury hovered at 64 at 8 a.m. and rose to 70 by 2 p.m. today.

Monday night's rain "was a blessing" for local farmers, county agricultural agent Edmund W. Alchin said today.

"It may have come too late to bring in a top hay crop," he said, "but other crops will benefit greatly. It definitely broke the drought."

But the high winds that carried the rain were anything but a blessing to road crews and utility companies.

Detroit Edison Co. said falling trees took down two main supply lines. One fallen line cut off power to 500 West Bloomfield and Commerce Township homes from 8:30 until 11 p.m.; the other darkened 100 Walton boulevard area buildings, including the Haven Sanatorium and Danish Old People's Home, from 9 pm. until after midnight.

Lightning blew out fuses in six other transformers supplying a few homes each.

Consumers Power Co. said Pontiac damage was lighter, with only about 30 to 40 homes left without power. Much of the city's trouble was caused by branches that took down drop lines running from poles to customers' homes.

Michigan Bell Telephone Co. said some 25 Pontiac telephones were dead Monday night—95 in the Auburn avenue area and 30 along Orchard Lake road just outside of town. A falling tree at the home of Kelley Spencer, 24 James St., took down phone lines, power lines and one of the lines that supplies city fire alarm boxes.

Several families said their oil tanks were blown over.

An elm tree, 105 inches around at the base, crashed down on the roof of a garage at the home of Robert C. Bowden, 124 Whittemore St., causing an unestimated amount of damage.

L. O. Hamby, 30 N. Sanford St., said two fruit trees in his back yard were split down the middle by strong winds and toppled into the driveway of his next-door neighbors.

Security Council Meets Thursday

U. N. Group to Discuss Thailand's Request for Survey of Asia Crisis

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The United Nations announced today the Security Council will meet at 9:30 a.m. (EST) Thursday to take up Thailand's appeal to send U.N. observers to check on the war crisis in Southeast Asia.

The meeting was arranged after consultations between Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., chief U.S. delegate who is president of The Security Council for June, and other delegates on the 11-nation council.

It was requested Saturday by Thanat Khoman, Thai delegate to the U.N. who said large-scale fighting has taken place in the immediate vicinity of Thailand and his government feels there is a possibility of an invasion by foreign troops. Some of the fighting in Indochina has been near the border of Thailand.

Khoman has said he hopes the council will agree to send a group of representatives from five countries to Thailand for a survey. He also wants this group to go into Indochina and then make recommendations to the Security Council for action. His proposal has the support of the United States.

Social Security Revision Would Extend Coverage

WASHINGTON (AP) — Legislation to add an estimated 10 million persons to the social security rolls and to boost benefits and taxes comes before the House today for debate and almost certain passage.

Drafted by the House Ways and Means Committee and embodying in large part recommendations by President Eisenhower, it was docketed under "take it or leave it" procedure. It cannot be amended on the floor.

The legislation has little if any opposition. The Senate has not acted.

Besides extending social security coverage to large new groups, the legislation would provide for increased benefit payments, larger annual contributions by employers and employes, and a more liberal income test for people already receiving payments under the 17½-year-old program.

A major provision would boost from $3,600 to $4,200 the maximum annual wage on which both benefits and taxes are based. At the present rate of 2 per cent — for both workers and employers—this means an additional payment of $12 annually into the social security fund by each covered worker making $4,200 or more and by his employer.

The new benefit structure would boost monthly payments now being made to an estimated six million persons by a minimum of $5. The new monthly

President Attacks 'Dividers' of Nation in Columbia Talk

NEW YORK (AP) — President Eisenhower last night deplored division within America on how to fight communism. He called for "more knowledge and intellect and less prejudice and passion."

A "crusade of truth" is needed both at home and abroad, he told a dinner highlighting the 200th anniversary of the founding of Columbia University.

"Through knowledge and understanding," he said, "we will drive from the temple of freedom all who seek to establish over us thought control—whether they be agents of a foreign state or demagogues thirsty for personal power and public notice."

The President mentioned no names in denouncing "would-be censors and regulators" and those who "divert our attention from the main battle" in opposing communism—an over-all goal on which he said Americans are united above all others.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty was asked whether the President had referred in the speech to Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis), with whom the administration has differed sharply in recent weeks.

"I am not going to try to interpret the President's remarks," Hagerty answered.

McCarthy could not be reached for comment.

The speech was a major statement of the President's views on how communism should be combatted. His voice grew thick with emotion when he referred to "demagogues" and "division." Those parts of his speech were thunderously applauded by his listeners.

The nationally televised speech was heard by some 1,800 alumni, faculty members and friends of Columbia University who jammed the ballroom of the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel and another 400 who overflowed into an adjoining dining room. A score of college presidents were in the audience.

It was a homecoming of sorts for Eisenhower, who was Columbia's president from 1948 until shortly before his inauguration last year. Applause interrupted the 30-minute speech 21 times.

After stating that America is completely united in opposing communism, the President added:

"Yet, my friends, and I say this sadly, is there any other subject that seems, at this moment, to be the cause of so much division among us?"

In addition to criticizing those who cause "division," the President attacked "doubters" who "begin to fear other people's ideas" and "begin to talk about censoring the sources and the communication of ideas."

"The honest men and women among these would-be censors and regulators may merely forget that the price of their success would be the destruction of that way of life they want to preserve," he said.

"But the dishonest and the disloyal among them know exactly what they are attempting to do—perverting and undermining a free society while falsely swearing allegiance to it."

He cautioned against allowing "ourselves to be persuaded that every individual—or party—that takes issue with our convictions is necessarily wicked or treasonous."

When that happens, he said,

Birmingham City Manager Marks 25 Years Service, Honored by Commission

From Our Birmingham Bureau

BIRMINGHAM — City Manager Donald C. Egbert hadn't planned on attending two meetings in the commission room of the Municipal Building today.

He knew about the City Commission meeting at 8 tonight. But the one at 4:30 came as a surprise.

Ushered into the room, he was greeted by all the familiar faces he works with every day.

Today, Egbert marks the end of 25 years of service to the city, 18 of them as city manager. That in itself is somewhat of a record.

Birmingham was a sleepy village of 9,250 population when Egbert arrived June 1, 1929 to take up duties in the building inspection department.

He climbed the ladder rapidly, working in the engineering department and earning the titles of building inspector and city assessor.

In December, 1936, he was named city manager.

In 25 years, Egbert has seen Birmingham change from a village to a city, double its population, triple its budget.

No one had parking problems in 1929, and no one in his right mind would have built a terrace or an industrial plant out in the "country." All this, he has successfully coped with.

Egbert, 51, is married to the former Maicie Dowd. He has one son, Dwight N., and two grandchildren.

To mark the 25th anniversary, he was presented with a pair of leather-encased field glasses.

Holding its last meeting of the season, the Laymen's League of the Unitarian Fellowship will have Dr. B. Hjalmar Larsson as guest speaker following a 6:30 dinner tonight at the Community House.

Larsson, former chairman of the Laymen's League at Church of Our Father in Detroit, will show slides and talk on his recent trip to Europe. Highlight of the speech will be a description of the Nobel Prize award ceremonies which he attended.

The public is invited to attend the program, starting at 8 p.m.

trees blocked US112 near Hillsdale for a short time Monday night. Other roads blanketed with holiday motorists also became temporary impassable.

The storm moved in across Lake Michigan and reached Detroit about 9:30 p. m. Winds tore off a porch on an east side home, tore down a tree which fell across a parked car, destroyed a garage, and broke a glass window in an east side store.

A small tornado reportedly struck at Coldwater Lake near Coldwater. The baby twister skipped across the lake and struck a vacant cottage at Idlewild Beach, ripping off the roof. High winds also damaged other cottages near the lake.

What witnesses described as two small tornadoes dipped into Washtenaw County. One hit in the yard of the Robert Gilbert farm, six miles west of Ann Arbor, felling seven trees, one of which blew across Gilbert's house. Another wrecked a chicken house and lifted a brooder house off its foundation at the Clarence Trolz farm, 18 miles west of Ann Arbor.

H. S. Gresley, of Hillsdale, was injured and his car wrecked when the vehicle hit a tree blown across a road west of Hillsdale. Fallen trees blocked U. S. 112 in northern Hillsdale County for two and a half hours.

Telephone and power lines were torn down in the northern half of Van Buren County, and a number of barns wrecked or damaged in the vicinity of South Haven and Grand Junction.

Hail accompanied the winds and rain in Berrien County, breaking a number of windows and signs.

Lightning set a fire at the Marvel Refining Co. in Grand Rapids. A garage and six trucks were burned.

The storm first hit Grand Junction and Bangor in the South Haven resort area.

The high winds lashed across the Jackson area, destroying one house and a garage. No personal injuries were reported.

Michigan Bell Telephone Co. reported the storm temporarily cut service to Hopkins, near Grand Rapids, the Irish Hill area near Ann Arbor, and Onsted.

Emergency units were sent to the stricken areas until normal facilities were repaired.

Mother Runs Over Daughter With Car

A 5-year-old Troy Township girl is reported in fair condition at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital today with chest injuries sustained when her mother accidentally backed over her with the family car Monday.

The victim, Marilyn Sue Allen, of 3530 Woodcrest, fell from the car and rolled under the wheels as the mother, Mrs. Denzel Allen, backed from the driveway of their home, Oakland County Sheriff's Deputies said.

Hospital Treats Three After 3-Car Accident

BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — A three-car accident Sunday night on Telegraph road near Golf drive sent three persons to Pontiac General Hospital, for treatment.

Treated for forehead cuts were Mrs. Kathleen J. O'Brien, of Detroit, and Gail Ann Kimberlin, 3-year-old daughter of Ivan Kimberlin, of Inkster. Mrs. O'Brien's daughter, Mary, 4, was released after examination.

Police said Mrs. O'Brien's husband, Daniel P., 48, was driving too close behind an auto driven by Wallace R. Conklin, 58, of Keego Harbor. O'Brien's auto hit Conklin's, spun around and was struck by the third car driven by Kimberlin.

Grand Rapids, drowned Monday when a motorboat tipped over in Spring Lake, near Grand Haven.

William Dorva, 20, of Detroit, apparently became tired while swimming Monday and drowned in the Huron River, near South Rockwood.

Sixty-four-year-old Enor Schollin, of Foster City, died Monday of injuries suffered in an auto collision near his home Saturday night.

Julius Valentino, 28, of Detroit, went on a fishing trip and drowned Sunday when his boat flipped on Lake Gogebic in Gogebic County.

A. Peter Carroll Jr., 20, of Adrian, was killed Sunday night when his car struck a tree near Adrian.

George Putnam, 44, of St. Clair Shores, drowned Sunday night when he fell overboard from a motorboat on Lake St. Clair.

Ignacy Mucha, 65-year-old Kalamazoo member of the VFW suffered a heart attack while marching in a Memorial Day parade and died en route to Bronson Hospital.

John Knox, 41, of Swartz Creek, was killed Monday night when lightning struck a big elm tree on the edge of M21, three miles east of Ada, and toppled it on his car. The victim's wife, Frances, 42, and two young daughters were hospitalized at Grand Rapids.

Mrs. Joseph Rucinski, 38, of Stambaugh, was fatally injured and five others were hurt Monday in a two-car collision on U.S. 2, near St. Ignace. The injured included the victim's husband and two children.

Mrs. William Williams, 30, of Ironwood, died Monday of burns suffered Sunday when a camp stove exploded in her home. Police said she apparently was attempting to fill the stove when it blew up.

Joe Haines, 68, of Ponchatoula, La., fruitpicker, was killed Monday when a lightning bolt pierced the roof of a one-room tenant home southeast of Benton Harbor. His wife, Irene, 48, sitting on a bed beside him, was unharmed.

Mary Casazza, 76, of Benton Harbor, died early Monday of injuries suffered Sunday night when she was struck by a car driven by Herman Reimer, 48, of Benton Harbor on U.S. 12, three miles east of Benton Harbor. Reimer was not held.

Marva Evans, 17, of Muskegon, was killed Monday when her convertible ran off a rural Oceana County road and overturned near Shelby. Two other Muskegon girl companions, Beatrice M. Harris, 15, the driver, and Patricia Dennis, also 15, were reported in serious condition at Shelby Memorial Hospital. Muskegon Police said they had been asked by relatives of the Harris girl to stop the car because she did not have a drivers' license.

minimum would rise from $25 to $30.

Maximum monthly benefits for a retired worker would be hiked from $85 to $98.50.

Those increases, affecting persons already receiving benefits, would become operative two months after the bill becomes law.

Most of the other changes would become effective next Jan. 1.

For covered workers not yet retired, the maximum monthly benefit would go up to $108.50. It now is $85. The top for a retired worker and his wife, if she is over 65, would jump from $127.50 to $162.75. The maximum payable to any one family would be raised from the present $168.75 monthly to $200.

Persons already retired but having small earnings from part-time work would get a break. Existing law cuts them off from benefits for any month in which they earn more than $75 in covered employment. The proposed new law would let them earn at least $1,000 a year from covered or uncovered employment. Above that, they would lose one month's benefits for each month in which they earned more than $80.

High winds in Royal Oak tore Berkley Motor Sales' display sign loose and smashed it against cars in the lot. Clawson reported a big plate glass window was blown from a drugstore there.

City Forester William Aho and Oakland County Road Commission said crews worked until well after midnight clearing trees that blocked city and county streets.

Aho said falling trees or limbs blocked Whittemore street near Perkins, Shirley street near Chandler and partly blocked East Pike street at Roselawn. Other large limbs went down at Tasmania and Chandler avenues.

The road commission said fallen trees completely blocked Crumb road between Haggerty and Welch roads; Nine Mile east of Griswold; Newton road south of Richardson; Keith road at Willow; Willow road at Hoover; and Elizabeth Lake road near Cooley Lake road. Commerce road from Orchard Lake road to Keith and M 218 (Pontiac trail) between Walled Lake and Wixom were partly blocked by several fallen trees.

Crews worked until after 3 a.m. clearing highways, the road commission said.

Monday morning's rain in northern Michigan started some vacationers home early. Pontiac Police, Michigan State Police and Oakland County Sheriff's department said traffic flowed smoothly and was no heavier than for "an average warm non-holiday weekend."

The three police organizations reported 36 accidents in this area over the weekend, none serious except the crash that took the life of two-year-old Bobby Dwaine Posey Sunday night.

Oakland County's parks reported the heaviest crowds of the year. More than 105,000 people crowded into Cass-Dodge Park Four, Kensington Metropolitan Park, and Highland and Pontiac Lake recreation areas. Kensington's crowd of 60,000 was the biggest, with Sunday the heaviest day at all four areas.

President Criticizes America's Dividers

"then indeed we are approaching the end of freedom's road."

He also warned against confusing "honest dissent with disloyal subversion," noting that "we are descended in blood and spirit from revolutionaries and rebels—men and women who dared to dissent from accepted doctrine."

Turning to global matters, the President said America is committed to two far-reaching policies:

"First and foremost, we are dedicated to the building of a cooperative peace, based upon truth, justice and fairness.

"Second: to pursue this effectively, we seek the strengthening of America—and her friends—in love of liberty, in knowledge and comprehension, in a dependable prosperity widely shared, and in a military posture adequate for security."

In such policies, he said, "there is no iota of aggression, no intent to exploit others or deny them their rightful place and space in the world."

* * *

He said his administration knows that "every negotiation with the Communists would be fraught with traps and pitfalls." But he said, "Positive, determined day-to-day toil would pay real dividends among free nations."

Theft Conviction Brings Probation and $150 Costs

Junior Ray, 20, of 164 Baldwin Ave., was placed on three years probation and assessed $150 costs today by Circuit Judge Frank L. Doty for breaking and entering a Waterford Township grocery store May 1.

Ray pleaded guilty May 17 to stealing 106 cartons of cigarettes, several cases of beer and wine from the store at 6891 Williams Lake Rd. and selling the loot for $100.

M'Carthy Withholds Schine Work Files

dent Truman's ban on divulging security information and that Congress is "not bound by any presidential secrecy order."

McCarthy also lashed out at Atty. Gen. Brownell, who ruled recently that a purported summary of a 1951 FBI espionage report produced by McCarthy could not be made public because it would do "Irreparable damage" to the nation's security.

McCarthy said that in the Harry Dexter White case Brownell has declassified previously secret documents to support his charges that there had been laxity on the part of Truman in promoting White after the FBI raised the question of whether White was a Communist spy.

"If the attorney general can declassify documents to expose the dead spy, then he should declassify documents to catch a live spy," the Wisconsin senator declared.

McClellan read testimony in which FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover was quoted as saying confidential documents offered by McCarthy should not be made public.

McClellan said he was "trying to settle a basic point of law. . . . I don't want any of your confidential information. . . . I will not set myself above the law."

McCarthy said he did not consider he was setting himself above the law, but was following his oath as a senator and chairman of a Senate investigating committee.

McClellan said he was not interested in putting McCarthy or anyone else in jail, but told McCarthy there is a basic issue he wanted settled.

The issue, McClellan said, is basic to maintaining the security of the nation.

Cohn told the senators at one point that some of the papers in the files have a "security classification" which was stamped on them by the departments from which they were obtained. He mentioned the Central Intelligence Agency and the State Department.

Earlier today, Cohn denied he ever threatened to "wreck the Army" and bring about the dismissal of Secretary Robert T. Stevens if Pvt. G. David Schine was sent overseas.

"Ridiculous and untrue," Cohn said of this earlier testimony by Army Counselor John G. Adams.

Cohn, 27-year-old chief counsel to the McCarthy subcommittee, denied too that he ever asked that Schine be assigned to the New York area—disputing testimony of both Adams and Stevens.

In the course of a hammering cross-examination from special counsel Ray H. Jenkins, Cohn disclosed he had referred the name of Schine's regimantal commander at Ft. Dix to the McCarthy staff for investigation.

He swore this action as to Lt. Col. Earl L. Ringler was not related, however, to any concern over Schine's treatment at Dix.

He said he took the action because he had been told Ringler was not in sympathy with the McCarthy subcommittee's work and had referred to it as "a witch hunt" and a "red herring."

Cohn's order for a check on Ringler was brought out during questioning of the McCarthy aide about an assertion from an Army witness that Cohn once said Ringler and Capt. Joseph Miller had been uncooperative where Schine was concerned and that he (Cohn) would not forget their names.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery

Finds Healing Substance That Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

New York, N. Y. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to stop bleeding—without surgery.

In case after case, pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place.

Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!"

The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—discovery of a world-famous research institute.

Now this new healing substance is offered in ointment form under the name of Preparation H.® Ask for it at all drug stores—money back guarantee. ®Trade Mark.

Earnest New Englander Has FHA Cleanup Task

WASHINGTON (AP) — Norman P. Mason, a man with a New England conscience, has taken charge of the Federal Housing Administration.

Mason was chosen by President Eisenhower to be acting FHA commissioner while the agency itself, the Justice Department and two Senate committees try to clean up FHA's tarnished reputation.

Mason, a lumber dealer from North Chelmsford, Mass., already has sent to Capitol Hill a dozen recommendations for tightening the housing laws and regulations to prevent the bilking of householders by home-improvement firms, and the gleaning of "windfall" profits by big-scale builders.

But he says he was almost as badly shocked, on coming to Washington, to learn that FHA has been pledging the credit of the United States to help home owners buy barbecue pits and tennis courts on the installment plan.

"Swimming pools and barbecues may be home improvements," he said in an interview, "but I don't think that's the kind of housing credit FHA was meant to insure."

So along with the other recommended FHA reforms, he has asked Congress to make him the judge as to whether such luxuries warrant FHA insurance of bank loans financing them.

Mason, a smallish but solid man of 57 with candid, crinkly eyes, has learned a lot about housing since the day when, at age 15, he went from high school into his father's hardware and lumber store in Plattsburg, N. Y.

He also learned quite a lot about people and he now says:

"I know the morale of FHA's people must be badly shot after the resignations, dismissals and investigations. It's natural for the staff people to wonder whose head will be chopped off next. I'd feel that way too.

"I feel it's my responsibility to restore morale quickly. We also must demonstrate to the public that we're still in the business of encouraging good housing.

"We're going to look at the applications very carefully from here on, but we're not going to slow up the housing program a bit."

Mason plainly prefers North Chelmsford, where he could get some gardening and golfing done, to Washington. He also knew when he came that the FHA job was, in his words, "a hot spot" in which Eisenhower's first appointee, Guy T. O. Hollyday, lasted just a year before the White House forced resignation.

Why did he come, then?

"This answer sounds hammy even to me," he replied, "but I'll tell you: I feel that this country has been very good to me and I owe it a lot.

"I don't mind risking my reputation in Washington because I don't want anything for myself. They won't ever have to chop my head off. I'll go home when they tell me."

If he turns out to be a success, he says, "it will be because I've got a lot of friends who'll tell me what's going on around the country." Many are members of the National Retail Lumber Dealers Assn., of which Mason is a former president.

A tireless correspondent, Mason for years has been firing mimeographed letters to lumber folks from every point in his travels. The points have been far-flung, for he has seen a lot of country as a director of the United States Chamber of Commerce, an adviser to a long list of government agencies ranging from the old War Production Board to the White House, and head of the governing board of the Building Research Institute of the National Adacemy of Sciences.

FHA probably will have less authority when he leaves it than when he took over.

Gift of Flowers Works Into Huge Public Headache

BATON ROUGE (AP) — A gracious Japanese gift to American ladies at the 1884 Cotton Exposition in New Orleans has grown into a beautiful multi-million dollar headache for Louisiana.

The gift was a water hyacinth—one to each woman visitor. The ladies took them home and placed them in vases. The plants outgrew the vases and were transferred to fish ponds and streams. Now they blanket bayous and streams in bright purple.

The federal government estimates loss due to clogged waterways at 50-55 million dollars per year in Louisiana. The water hyacinths also kill off fish, deprive migratory birds of winter quarters and menace navigation. The drinking water supply is cut down, Gov. Robert Kennon says, and mosquitoes breed in the stagnant pools created by the current choking-plants.

Each year the U. S. Corps of Engineers ask Congress for special appropriations to cut the waterways in Louisiana clear of the pretty pest.

Report Says Costs Incorrectly Stated

CHICAGO (UP) — Most American businesses have been understating their operating costs and overstating their annual incomes, according to a study made by Northwestern University's Business Executives Research Council.

The report said annual financial statements of companies have failed to take into consideration inflation of the past decade.

It estimated that for the period 1946-52, corporate profits were overstated by $41,000,000, or nearly one-third.

In the case of a Chicago manufacturing firm, which reported a $63,000,000 profit in 1951, the study found that adjustments for price level changes would have cut this profit to $41,800,000.

A Chicago candy company with a reported profit for 1951 of $183,700 would have had its profits cut to $146,400 after inventory and depreciation adjustments to compensate for changes in the price level.

Problems Eyed by Clubwomen

3,000 Delegates Attend Federation Convention in Denver

DENVER (AP)— The confused international situation . . . segregation in the South . . . integration of foreign-born populations in the big cities . . .

Those are problems on the minds of women leaders meeting in Denver for the 63rd annual convention of the General Federation of Women's Clubs. The 3,000 delegates here represent some 11 million members in the United States and 42 foreign countries. Sessions begin today.

Some of the leaders said in interviews they expect to come up with answers to those problems.

On the international scene, Mrs. Zaio Woodford Schroeder of Grosse Pointe, Mich., sees women "adding a sense of balance in solving those problems."

"They won't straighten out the international situation any more than men," Mrs. Schroeder emphasizes. "But women are biologically pacifists and they can contribute important influences on the world problems."

Mrs. Schroeder, chairman of the federation's Department on International Affairs, said, "Women are numerically the majority and are becoming very eager to assume leadership."

"Southerners will meet the problem in their own way," said Mrs. Chester E. Martin of Atlanta, Ga. "Time will take care of the problem," she added in reference to the Supreme Court's ruling outlawing segregation.

"We must bring leaders of the foreign-born populations into the federation," Mrs. Harold Milligan of New York City said. She declared big cities have been dodging the problem too long.

Pup Lives High

KEENE, N. H. (AP) — Mrs. William H. MacDonald was cooking lunch in her kitchen one day recently. Hearing a noise, she walked into the dining room, found her purse open and the 6-month-old puppy, Rags, cheerfully munching on learly $100 in bills.

'MISS BERLIN'—Kaete Holtz, 19, won West Berlin beauty title and will vie for all-Germany honors leading up to 1954 "Miss Universe" contest at Los Angeles, Calif.

Helicopter Rescues GI on Mt. McKinley

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP) — A Brooklyn soldier injured May 16 in a fall on towering Mt. McKinley was evacuated by Air Force helicopter early today and flown here for hospitalization.

Doctors said the soldier, Pfc. George Argus, whose hip was broken in a 1,000-foot fall that killed a companion, was alive but unconscious when lifted from the mountain by a helicopter pilot who "squeezed every inch out of the altimeter" to reach him on the ice of Muldrow Glacier.

Phone Menagerie

REGINA (AP) — Regina's new telephone book could be called a "Who's Zoo." Among the listed names are Badger, Bear, Boa, Bull, Fisher, Fox, Hogg, Jackel, Kidd, Lamb, Lyons, Marten, Mink, Steer, Tiger and Wolf. There are plenty of birds — Crane, Dove, Duck, Eagle, Finch, Hawke and Heron, not to mention Swift, Thrasher and Titmuss. Also Fish, Herring, Kippers, Pike and Sturgeon.

Presbyterians Vote to Unite

Assembly of Southern Church OK's Joining 2 Northern Units

MONTREAT, N.C. (AP)—The 94th General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the United States (Southern) yesterday voted to join with the Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A. and the United Presbyterian Church.

Assemblies of the two Northern branches had voted for union last week.

The move for union of 3½ million Presbyterians was started by the Southern Presbyterians and represented 16 years of planning. Plan after plan had been submitted and rejected.

This General Assembly might well become the most outstanding in Presbyterian history. Only last Saturday it landed a blow at Jim Crowism and asked its churches to let down racial bars.

It thus became the first major denomination to endorse with action the recent decision of the U.S. Supreme Court on segregation. Before either action becomes effective, it must have approval at the presbytery level.

The desegregation matter is left up to individual churches and the union plan needs the approval of three fourths of the 84 presbyteries in the 16-state section. In the other two branches it requires two-thirds approval.

Commissioners favoring union gave much credit to Dr. James A. Jones, pastor of Charlotte's Myers Park Church, for a favorable vote on the minority report from the Committee on Interchurch Relations.

The committee had split 16-22 on its recommendation.

Dr. Jones told the assembly that "if Jesus Christ meant business when he taught his disciples to recite 'Thy kingdom come, Thy will be done on earth as it' is in heaven,' be sure of our decision today."

Later, on a proposal for a secret ballot, Dr. Jones said, "There is no secret ballot from God . . . It now is the time to stand up and be counted."

Dr. John R. Richardson, pastor of Atlanta's Westminster Church, headed forces against unification. He said such a step would cause the individual churches to "lose their present reality."

Police Quiz 3 in Fatal Shooting

2 Restaurant Burglars Who Shot, Killed Captor Sought

DETROIT (UP)—Detroit Police today questioned three men in the fatal shooting of a World War II veteran who tried to stop a restaurant burglary Monday.

The three men, who were not identified, were taken into custody shortly after 31-year-old Harvey Hamburger, a Detroit accountant, was slain.

Police said Hamburger attempted to stop a man and a woman, from robbing a midtown restaurant. The bandits fled after shooting Hamburger.

Police said Hamburger and a woman companion saw the burglars at work while passing the restaurant.

The veteran ran to his nearby home, grabbed a pistol and returned. He entered the restaurant and held the burglars at gunpoint awaiting the arrival of police.

But, hearing a car approach and thinking it was the police, Hamburger made a fatal mistake. He took his eyes off the pair to look out the door. Three shots rang out and Hamburger toppled dead.

The burglars fled the building just as a police car pulled up. Several shots were fired at them by officers. However, the pair managed to escape, although police believe the woman might have been wounded.

Giant Carrier Receives Big Welcome at Seattle

SEATTLE (UP) — The giant aircraft carrier Franklin D. Roosevelt received the biggest welcome of her career on a stop-over here on the way to a 40 million dollar face-lifting job in the Puget Sound Naval Shipyard. Navy officers estimated 100,000 people swarmed aboard during a Sunday afternoon "open house." Cars jammed the streets for miles.

The carrier, too big to go through the Panama Canal, had to come around South America.

Niles Resident Drowns Trying to Rescue Son

TURKEY RUN STATE PARK, Ind. (UP)— Harry Stanley Maslo, 32, of Niles drowned Monday in Goose Creek as he tried to save his son and another boy who had stepped into deep water.

The son, Fred, was rescued by Maslo's wife, Elaine, 30. The other boy was rescued by a bystander.

The family had been spending the holiday weekend at the park.

Bob Considine Says:

Army-McCarthy Hearings To Hit Champagne, Filet

WASHINGTON (INS)—This will be Stork Club week in the McCarthy-Army smearings.

Reason for the expected plugs for El Storko is that the Democrats on the Senate Investigations subcommittee have a hunch that Private Schine tended to hie himself immediately to the aforementioned club whenever sprung loose from KP and similar patriotic duties during his basic training period at Fort Dix, N. J.

Since this is now largely a political trial, an effort will be made to prove that Sen. McCarthy wilfully countenanced the demands on the Army by Roy Cohn, his counsel, that Schine be given time off "for committee work" though Schine's work (it will be charged) was done mainly with glamor girls, knife, fork and lifted pinkie at Sherm's place.

When the boys knocked off for the long weekend last Friday Cohn promised to produce samples of the work Schine did for the committee after the man in the white whiskers and the star-spangled pants tapped him on the shoulder last November.

The Army, which has been free to admit that it was eager and willing to spring Schine for committee work, would also like to prove that, once sprung, he was less concerned with saving the country from Communist infiltration than he was with the fleshpots.

Joseph N. "I'm just a little old country lawyer" Welch made it quite plain to Cohn at closing Friday that he didn't want a ton of committee records dropped on him. He wanted only Schine's contribution after November 3 . . . documents with the Schine imprimatur upon them.

Cohn mentioned something about Schine's anonymous contribution to an annual report. Welch shook his head. No, he complained, he was just after Schiniana, pure and undefiled by collaboration.

The Democrats feel as of now that they've got McCarthy up a tree on this one. But the junior senator from Wisconsin will not be easy to cage, if indeed treed. This is a most important phase of the smearings. McCarthy knows that if it can be proved that Schine was, indeed, a hard-working consultant during his leaves of absence from basic training it will acquit him of the Army charge that he used "improper" means to get those leaves for Schine, and it will show up those who are now attempting to break him.

The Army is said to have as a possible witness a limousine chauffeur who is ready to testify that he repeatedly hauled Schine and Cohn to the Stork, sometimes with McCarthy.

We'll be hearing a lot about filet mignon and champagne at the Stork during the week, especially if Ray Jenkins has much to do with the questioning. The bulldog-faced special counsel either has it in for both edibles or loves same. Certainly, he's fascinated by them, and will want to know more about what seems to have been of inhaling them.

Anyway, the smearings now need to be covered by the night club editors.

Red Abuse Irks Austrians

The conduct of occupied Austria under stepped-up Russian mistreatment deserves commendations and support of the free world.

Among other things, Soviet High Commissioner Ilyichev has accused Austria of flirting with the idea of Anchluss (union) with Germany. He also charged that Austrians are rearming and carrying on anti-Soviet intrigues.

On May 19 Austria's parliament proved it had not succumbed to Soviet intimidation by flatly rejecting Ilyichev's charges. In addition, Chancellor Raab made full answer to the Soviet official's accusations.

He pointed out that Austria's previous experience with Anchluss precluded any thought of further experiment with it. He expressed concern over the increasing number of attacks by Soviet personnel on Austrian citizens in the Vienna area.

Austrian anger toward Russia has been increasing since Foreign Minister Molotov made it clear in February that the Reds intend to continue the occupation. At the same time he blasted native hopes for an early conclusion of the long overdue peace treaty.

By now Ilyichev must have abandoned his hopes of pressuring the Austrians. He should have seen the light when many deputies walked out of parliament rather than listen to Communist party puppets. In the words of one Austrian leader, that walkout means that the country "has been lost to Communism once and for all."

A Dangerous Bill

A House committee has been holding hearings on a bill to ban interstate transmission of advertising of alcoholic beverages in the press and over radio and television.

Several cities of this measure have attacked it on the ground that its backers are trying to restore prohibition through the legislative back door. Our objections to this bill are the same we cited against a similar measure our State legislature wisely let die in committee some weeks ago.

In our opinion such a ban would violate the freedom of the press amendment by establishing censorship of advertising. We believe that if that succeeded, the inevitable next step would be an attempt to censor news.

The position of the American Newspaper Publishers Association is that it always should be legal to advertise anything that may be legally sold. Rep. Celler, Dem. NY. states the issue logically. He pointed out that it would be improper to deny the right to advertise to an industry Congress has licensed, taxed and made legal.

This bill was introduced by the late Rep. Bryson, Dem. S. C. January 7, 1953. A similar bill was offered in the upper chamber by Sen. Langer, Rep., N. D., April 14. Senate hearings are slated for June 21.

This is a dangerous bill and never should get out of committee.

War on Emus Renewed

The emu, that flightless bird of cross word puzzle fame, is facing new trouble in Australia after having escaped extinction by a narrow margin.

About five years ago the Australians discovered that their half-century campaign of poisoning and trapping had worked too well. These ostrich-like creatures which reach a weight of 130 pounds were all but wiped out.

Alarmed, zoos and bird sanctuaries started a breeding campaign. This proved so amazingly successful that countless thousands of these giant birds are roaming the wheatlands again at heavy cost to the growers.

The situation became so desperate that the Western Australian government is planning hundreds of miles of fences to protect the crops and banish the birds to the desert areas.

A measure of the emu's toughness is shown by what happened on an army attempt to ambush them. At a waterhole where thousands of unsuspecting birds gathered, machine guns were turned on them. But their thick feathers and tough hides proved such good armor that only a dozen emus were liquidated.

Whether the new plan succeeds or not, it at least doesn't threaten to wipe out the bird which decorates Australia's coins and coat of arms.

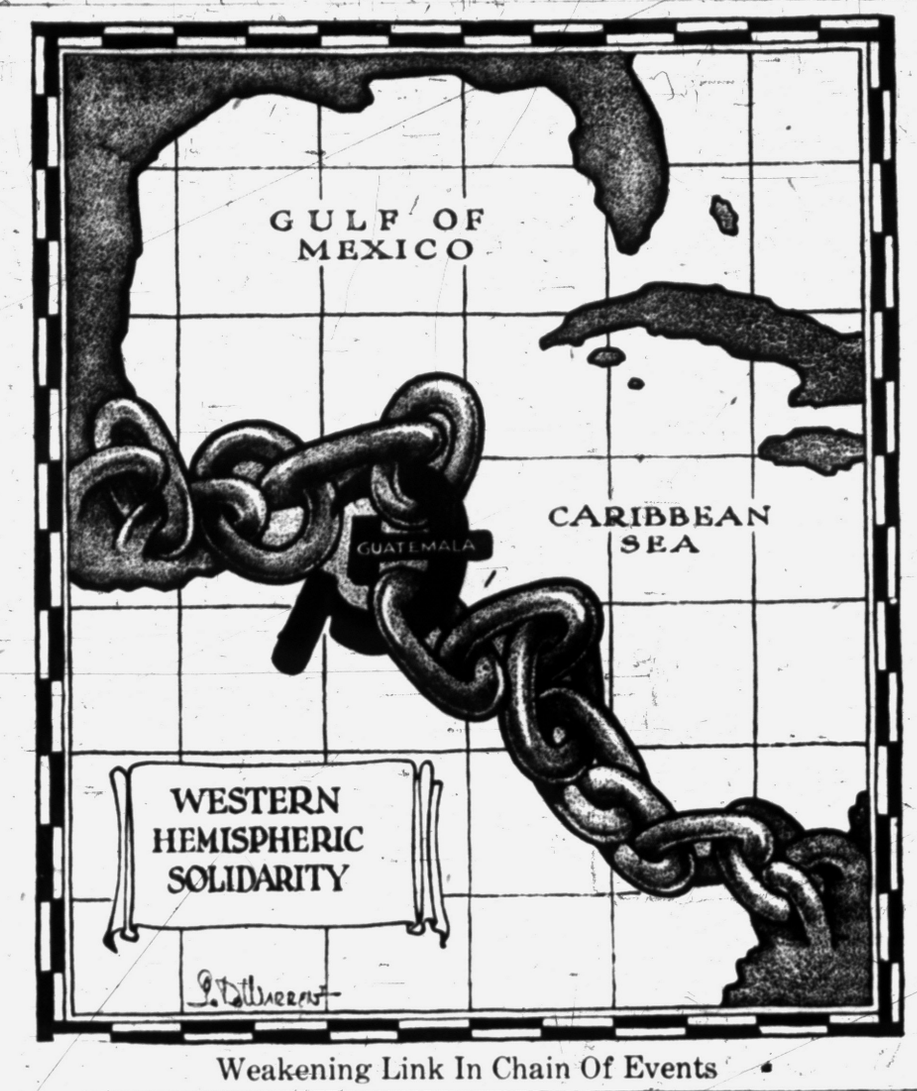

"A true index to intelligence is the extent of a person's vocabulary," asserts an educator. We doubt this. We hear a lot of ignorance expressed in polysyllabic words.

"I am a woman of 45 and weigh 285 pounds. Would riding horseback cause bowlegs?"—Letter to medical column. We should think it would—if she means the horse.

"A bee has to travel 5,000 miles in order to gather a pound of honey."—Newspaper filler. There must be days when a bee gets terribly tired of being a bee.

The Army-McCarthy hearings have become so disgusting that even the Democrats have ceased to enjoy them.

You can get a fairly good idea of how uninformed or ill-informed a person is by noting how many things he's "agin."

100,000 Marriages a Year Needed in United States

What's your verdict concerning Dr. Larry and Lois? Don't you feel as frustrated as I do? Then try to enlist the cooperation of some wealthy person who wants to protect America by helping stimulate 100,000 new marriages per year among the loyal, intelligent citizens who now lead lonely lives. Let's help launch a Scientific Dating Bureau.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case L-320: Dr. Larry J., aged 31, is a talented dentist.

"Dr. Crane, I've been in practice for 7 years," he began, "and I haven't much opportunity for social affairs.

"I'm unmarried, but should like to have a wife and a home of my own with several children.

"But I haven't time to shop around blindly or act like a playboy and travel just for romance.

"So could you give me the name of a suitable young woman between 25 and 30, whom you would deem a likely prospect?

"I'm a Presbyterian and enjoy sports. I also like to read. And I am not a brute or a drinker. I don't even smoke. So please put me in touch with a suitable girl."

One of the best ways to combat Communism is to help good Americans like Dr. Larry find a suitable wife so they can rear 3 or 4 children in our American tradition of religion, "free enterprise" and our republican form of government.

But I am not able to handle this crying need, though thousands of topnotch men like Dr. Larry come to me for such advice. And talented young women, including college coeds, do likewise.

For medical ethics will not permit a doctor to reveal one patient's case to another. So my hands are tied, though I have on my desk this very minute a letter from Lois who would probably make an ideal mate for Dr. Larry.

"Dr. Crane, I am 29, and a kindergarten teacher," Lois began. "I also teach a Sunday school class in the Presbyterian Church each Sabbath.

"My fiance was killed in the Korean War four years ago, and I have only recently regained a normal outlook on life.

So I am beginning to realize that I ought to marry and rear some children of my own.

"Could you possibly suggest somebody for whom I would make a good wife?

"I don't drink or smoke. I enjoy sports and music. Enclosed is my latest picture. I'll leave it up to you, Dr. Crane."

And the picture of Lois showed a very good looking girl who would be a credit to any professional man.

But I can't send Dr. Larry's letter to Lois nor vice versa. So I wring my hands in frustration and grief that two such fine people are living not 150 miles apart, yet unable to meet.

At least 100,000 such romances could be developed every year, with a resulting 250,000 healthy, intelligent children in our Sunday schools within the following 5 or 6 years, without further work by church leaders.

Thus, a Scientific Dating Bureau would be the very best kind of home missinary project for the combined churches.

Just introduce eligible people, and Cupid will take care of the rest.

Our hectic modern age demands a formal and very respectable Bureau to do this original introducing. And enough money must be on hand to permit field agents who would check and double check upon the prospects by personal house calls.

I have lost my last six private secretaries to men who wrote to me just as Dr. Larry has done.

One married a lawyer; another a physician; a third married a high school teacher. The fourth became a clergyman's wife and the last two are brides of scientific farmers.

These men are all superior prospects, not the misfits or culls, for the 100,000 extra marriages would involve school teachers, nurses, office secretaries, talented widows, and other desirable women, as well as worthy men.

Praise Policeman Who Stopped Traffic, Helped Elderly Man Cross Saginaw St.

(Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests, unless the letter is critical in its nature.)

We would like to shake the hand of the motorcycle policeman who stopped speeding cars on South Saginaw Street Saturday evening to let an elderly man with a cane cross the street safely.

He no doubt saved the man's life and that's one that wasn't added to the holiday victims.

Admirers of Kindness

James Clapp Recalls Storm of May, 1896

News of tornadoes, cyclones, and such bring back an evening in May 1896 when a hired man on our Lum farm observed a peculiar sky, and called my attention to masses of clouds that were rumbling toward each other. Next day, we learned of the tornado the previous evening which did an estimated million dollars worth of damage and caused nearly 50 deaths.

A few mornings later we were summoned by a neighbor to see the wreckage and we started to travel to Clarkston. It took us four to five hours to get to Oxford, after dinner in Pontiac, then by late afternoon the next day we were in Clarkston.

As we returned home we noted the blackest cloud bank we had ever seen. It looked like another tornado to us. When that cloud reached us, it was just like a blanket thrown over us and I could not even see my driving mare in front of me.

We walked to a nearby farm, stabled the mare and bedded down for the rest of the night. That night it seemed as though the sky had dropped on us.

Reader Claims Second Coming of Christ Near

This writer agrees wholeheartedly with retiring President Branson of the Seventh Day Adventist Church. I am not a member of this church but I do believe with all my heart that the second coming of Christ is very near.

The Bible prophesies are being fulfilled day by day so let the United States watch, believe and pray that we will be ready.

Come-Back

The butcher's shop was crowded with customers when a woman rushed in and pushed her way to the counter.

"Give me a dime's worth of cat meat, quickly," she cried rudely.

The butcher was about to tell her to take her turn when a gentle old lady said, "It's all right—serve her first. I think we can wait if she's that hungry."

Catch the Vandals!

Damage in Our Recreation Areas Brings Drastic Action

Daffynition

June: The month of those "rare" days, following May when too many were raw.

Vandals in the state parks and other recreational places in the Pontiac area are due for apprehension and stiff punishment. A typical example is at the Rochester-Utica park where, according to everything possible was broken in a building the other night, including 32 panes of glass. Similar instances, though not as serious, are reported from other such places. However, a 24-hour vigil now is maintained at many of these places.

Superintendent Guillame,

Monday morning surely was the "rest period" in the big weekend holiday. A driver on the Dixie Highway northwest of Pontiac passed only 15 cars in ten miles. But it was different Monday evening.

Those who were in charge of the recent Pontiac clean up week feel thankful to

Mrs. Melvin Sipperley

of Auburn Heights for her original poem in regard to our accomplishments.

Regarding that item in this column about the motorist who picked up a pheasant that had been killed by another car,

"A Constant Reader,"

under a Milford postmark, makes a good suggestion. It is to the effect that every motorist whose car strikes an animal or bird should stop and remove the carcass from the road.

Word comes from my Milford scout that 75 two-men teams will participate in the canoe paddle-push race next Sunday at two-o'clock between that village and Kensington Lake, about eight miles as the Huron River winds its course. Awards will be made by director of the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority.

Kenneth L. Hallenbeck

Pontiac's system of an organized display of the flag in the downtown section is winning much praise for our city. In a number of other Michigan cities, the colors are shown on holidays in only a hop skotch fashion.

Oakland County furnishes the source of what makes possible the new 23,000-acre waterfowl refuge on the Shiawassee River near Saginaw. According to editor of the Michigan Conservation Magazine, it is one of the largest in the nation. This river rises in Springfield Township.

Cliff Ketchum,

Who's in Charge Around Washington? McCarthy Evidently Thinks He's the One

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — Who's in charge around here?

Sen. McCarthy didn't ask the question. But he raised it by challenging President Eisenhower's authority to run the executive branch of the government as he thinks best.

McCarthy urged all federal employes—in spite of any Eisenhower order not to give out classified information—to turn over to him any information they might have on graft, corruption, communism or treason.

* * *

This didn't just happen suddenly. McCarthy has been leading up to this, although there's no sign he planned it step by step.

Last Sept. 9 he showed newsmen 70 pages of a 75-page "restricted" Army intelligence pamphlet on Siberia. He described it as "clear-cut, all-out Communist propaganda."

This was a case of McCarthy deciding he knew better than the Army what should be kept secret and what revealed. There are laws against revealing secret information. The Army said he had violated them. Nothing happened.

During the Senate hearings on his fight with Army officials he produced a document on spying in the Army. It was a condensed version of a much longer one which FBI chief J. Edgar Hoover had sent to the Army, marked "confidential." Some unknown person had copied parts of the original and given them to McCarthy.

McCarthy proposed to make it public. Again, McCarthy was deciding what should be released to the public.

Atty. Gen. Brownell said it should not be revealed because national security was involved. McCarthy said: "No human . . . or any other directive which is designed not . . . for the security of this nation but to prevent embarrassment for those responsible for covering up Communists . . . will keep me from making . . . public (this) type of information."

He said an Army officer had given him the document, but refused to reveal the man's name, although it would appear the man had violated the law by giving McCarthy the document. McCarthy assured all federal employes he'd keep their names in confidence if they gave him secrets.

When Sen. McClellan (D-Ark) last week referred to this document, suggesting that McCarthy himself might be guilty of a crime in receiving it, McCarthy was nettled. He said:

"So far as I am concerned, I would like to notify those two million federal employes that I feel it is their duty to give us any information which they have about graft, corruption, communism, and that there is no loyalty to a superior officer which can tower above and beyond their loyalty to their country."

Since McCarthy excluded no one, it can be assumed he was telling the FBI agents to let him know as much as they told Hoover about the most secret investigations.

His sweeping statement can be interpreted as meaning McCarthy trusts no one in the government to protect the nation except, in the end, himself, and that the only way the country can be sure the government is being run right is if McCarthy has all the most secret information about it.

He did more than that. He was urging every government employe to decide for himself, in disobeying presidential secrecy orders, what was good for the country and to tell McCarthy. The senator said he was authorized to receive such information as chairman of a Senate committee which checks on government spending.

The White House promptly said McCarthy was trying to "usurp" the President's powers. One thing is certain: if federal employes carried out McCarthy's request in all cases, the President would have lost control. No official could trust any employe.

Government employes qualified to handle classified information are supposed to have been cleared as loyal by an FBI investigation. If McCarthy has been given an FBI check, it is not publicly known.

But McCarthy is asking for secret information. Yet he would be the first to complain if a government employe, even though he publicly proclaimed himself anti-Communist, was allowed to handle classified material without an FBI check.

Simple Remedy for Chronic Bad Ear Uses Drops of Boric Acid and Alcohol

By WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

New Jersey reader reports that for seven years her husband's long—I mean for seven long years her husband's ear ached and ran.

He consulted many doctors, received aureomycin, penicillin and other expensive treatment, which gave temporary relief, but his ear kept on running.

"One day I noticed an item in your column on chroming running ear," the reader continues, "I sent for your pamphlet" (available to any one who asks for it in writing and provides stamped, self-addressed enveloped).

"The ear drops you suggest in the pamphlet proved simply wonderful.

"In no time at all his ear stopped bothering him, and he can't get over the fact that after all he went through with doctors and their treatments all these years, a simple remedy like yours did the trick; no running ear; no pain . . ."

This is a testimonial. Testimonials, I think, are generally misleading, and ordinarily I ascribe them to J. J. Coincidence and forget 'em, but, after all, maybe this one and hundreds of others like it that I have received through the years, may be worth something to you.

Lest there be a misunderstanding it may be well to give here the full text of the pamphlet on running ear. I didn't conceive the formula for the drops out of my own brilliant mind.

I stole it from another doctor, just as I do most of the helpful ideas or suggestions I pass along to you folks. But unfortunately I can't remember the name of the doctor from whom I swiped it—many years ago.

Here it is: In many cases of running ear the trouble has been relieved for a long time or perhaps permanently by:

(1) Ceasing the practice of keeping ear plugged with cotton, and instead leaving it always open to free ventilation; and

(2) Dropping in the ear each night and morning two or three drops of a solution of 10 grains of boric acid in one fluidounce of pure grain alcohol. Use a blunt medicine dropper and always warm the solution by standing vial in hot water for a while before using.

If your druggist will not provide the solution for you, perhaps your family doctor will authorize it, but it any event to not use anything other than pure grain alcohol. I cannot furnish a prescription by mail.

"Pure grain alcohol" means ordinary alcohol, ethyl alcohol, dilute alcohol, such as pharmacists use for preparing many medicines. A fluidounce of alcohol consists of approximately half alcohol and half water.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long, pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. Brady if a stamped, self addressed envelope is enclosed.

Karachi Editors Arrested in Raid

Police Widen Dragnet After Ouster of East Pakistan Government

KARACHI, Pakistan (AP)—Police stepped up raids in Karachi itself today as arrests in East Pakistan mounted following ouster of the provincial government for "disloyalty."

Police here in the capital widened their drag net last night, arresting Mohammed Abdul Makoor and Ahmad Hassan, assistant editors of the leading English-language newspaper Dawn. The two newsmen were picked up in their offices under the Pakistan Safety Act.

Six Communists were also arrested in night raids throughout the capital. About 15 Reds have been jailed here in the past two weeks, it was disclosed.

Dispatches from the East Pakistan capital of Dacca said 210 arrests were made throughout the troubled province yesterday and more were expected today.

Troops patrolled East Pakistan's main cities to prevent any violence in the wake of the ouster Sunday of Abdul Fazlul Huq, chief minister of the province, and the 13 other members of his Cabinet. The province has been placed in a state of emergency.

Fazlul Huq reportedly was ordered to stay in his Dacca residence to avoid stirring up unrest. The order placed him under virtual house arrest and officials indicated he might be jailed soon along with others of his Cabinet.

* * *

The minister and his Cabinet were ousted by the Karachi government on grounds they were fomenting a separatist movement. East Pakistan is divided from the rest of the country by 1,000 miles of northern India. The area is the home of 40 million of Pakistan's 76 million people and also of the country's major jute industry.

Scientists Dispute Claim of Alchemists on Copper

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (UP) — Modern scientists are shouting "copper" about the mysterious methods of the old alchemists. The alchemists proudly claimed they could make copper harder by heating it.

Paul Estee, head of an optical company's precious metals division, said that if they actually accomplished this feat, the copper couldn't have been as pure as that with which metallurgists work today. So far as the experts know, heating pure copper will soften, not harden it.

"BRIGHTEST" — Gwynneth Muriel Gibson, 18, of Louisville, Ky., was named "brightest high school senior" of the year in the United States by the National Honor Society.

Teacher Shortage to Be Alarming, Says Association

WASHINGTON (UP) — The National Education Assn. reports there will be an "alarming" shortage of teachers when millions of new pupils crowd into the nation's grade and high schools this fall.

In its annual nationwide survey of the supply of teachers, the NEA found that 50,000 new teachers will be needed to handle a sensational rise in high school enrollment.

An estimated 50,000 teachers will be graduated this June, it said, but "many of them will never seek or accept a teaching position.

The association said this will further aggravate the already serious shortage of college-trained elementary school teachers. Elementary schools in the past have been able to draw on an excess of college - trained high school teachers.

The study found that some 85,000 new elementary school teachers are needed next fall but only 35,000 trained graduates will come from colleges and universities this June to help staff grade schools. Many less - well - trained teachers will have to be employed as a consequence.

Student Killed Scaling Building

Oxford University Will Curb Climbing Sport on Campus

OXFORD, England (AP)—Officials of Oxford University moved today to stamp out the time-honored student diversion of roof-climbing by night after 22-year-old Alexander S. Godfrey fell to his death.

Godfrey's body was found early yesterday lying beside Radcliffe Camera, a campus building known to student climbers as "the Oxford Matterhorn."

Wrapped around his waist was a climbing rope. A lightning rod which broke away from a sheer 160-foot wall aparently caused him to lose his footing.

The building is so difficult to climb that a ragged, unidentifiable garment tied to a spire at the top years ago has never been removed.

Stirred by spring weather, students recently have scaled several other tall buildings by night. At the Indian Institute a bicycle was hung on a weathervane.

Sir Maurice Bowra, vice chancellor of the university, said he had "no desire to curb the adventurous spirit of undergraduates, but strong action will have to be taken to prevent a repetition of what has occurred."

Rep. Ford Demands Curb on Red Hunt

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Rep. Ford (R-Mich) declared in a Memorial Day speech that "this job of ferreting out conspirators in America must be done within the framework of the Constitution or we will become like our enemy."

"This job," he continued, "cannot be done by individuals who seek publicity and personal or political advantage for their efforts."

Ford was accompanied by Brig. Gen. William C. Westmoreland, deputy Army chief for manpower control. The congressman did not, however, directly mention the current feud between Sen. McCarthy, the Republican Communist hunter from Wisconsin, and the Army.

While demanding exposure within the framework of the Constitution, Ford said that a Communist conspiracy still is a great threat to the United States.

He would, however, leave the job to "professionals, men whose only objective is disclosure and punishment of secret operatives loyal to communism."

Crew Members Hurt in Yacht Explosion

TRENT PINES, N. C. (INS) — Two crew members were injured when the 43-foot yacht, Stormy, exploded and burned at a dock in Trent Pines Monday.

Capt. R. L. de Loach, 54, and Willard Alston, 21, both of Morehead City, the only persons aboard the yacht, were burned.

De Loach reported that the Stormy had just returned from participating in a regatta and taken on fuel when the expolsion ripped through the yacht and it was swept by flames.

Copters Comb New York Area for Missing Boat

NUTLEY, N. J. (UP) — A family of six and a 10-year-old guest enjoyed a "perfectly wonderful weekend" on Staten Island while 20 Coast Guard vessels and helicopters combed the New York bay area for them for two days.

The 47-hour search was touched off Saturday night when the Warren Andersons failed to keep a date with the Entienne de Faymoreau family of Nutley at Fire Island.

The two families sailed for Fire Island from Wallington on the Passaic River Saturday morning — the Andersons and their four children sailed in the 36-foot cabin cruiser "Stork's Nest" and the DeFaymoreaus with their four children in a 14-foot outboard motor boat, the "E-O."

Both vessels stopped for gas at the Bayonne Bridge. Ten-year-old Francois de Faymoreau hopped over to the bigger boat at this point, and stayed with the Andersons during the weekend.

The boats missed a connection further on, father De Faymoreau got worried, and called for the search. The Andersons spent the weekend at Great Kills, Staten Island, and came home.

Said the surprised Mrs. Anderson: "We saw Coast Guard helicopters several times . . . but we thought they were searching for someone else.

College President Has Cart and Horse Trouble

LOGAN, Utah (UP) — Dr. Henry A. Dixon, new president of Utah State Agricultural College, will always remember his inauguration, and for more reasons than one.

In his inaugural address, Dr. Dixon told the audience he had already spent six months on the campus with never an unhappy day. Then for emphasis he repeated, "Yes, I've never had a happy day there . . . I mean, unhappy day."

When the audience laughed, Dixon explained that he is Welsh and that the Welsh are always getting "the horse before the cart."

Then the audience really laughed.

Dingoes Wreck Sheep Industry

Australian Killer - Dogs Slaughter Thousands of Animals Yearly

SYDNEY, Australia (UP)—Dingoes, the vicious killer-dogs of the Australian "outback," are on the hunt again, and graziers predict they will slaughter more than half a million sheep in the winter months from May to August.

Hundreds of cattle, kangaroos and emus also will fall victim to the powerful-shouldered, wolf-like killers, despite the guns, traps and poison baits which professional "doggers" will pit against their cunning.

The wild dogs would cause even worse damage except for a 400-mile long dingo fence which separates the fertile pastures of western New South Wales from the semiarid heart of Australia, and keeps out thousands of dingoes. The Queensland government also plans to build a 3,400-mile-long dog-proof fence soon.

In the state of Queensland alone, dingoes are estimated to do $4,480,000 worth of damage to the sheep industry a year, and graziers will pay up to $336 for the scalp of a well-known killer. The normal price on the head of any dingo is $8.96.

Over the past 20 years dingoes have cut the sheep population of "outback" Queensland from 24,000,000 to 13,000,000. To a nation like Australia, whose biggest export is wool, this kind of slaughter presents a grave problem.

Usually a dingo will hunt alone, but in times of drought or fire, when food is scarce, packs will form. One of the most distressing features of the killer's methods, as far as graziers are concerned, is that it often hunts for sport rather than for food.

One dingo has been known to kill 16 sheep in a night and leave the carcasses untouched. In New South Wales, a family of two adult dingoes and two pups one night killed 50 sheep. The dingo will round up a flock of sheep, keep them running until the weaker ones are exhausted, then kill them.

Special Class Helps Teenagers Learn Driving

CHICAGO (UP) — A suburban high school has replaced the desks in a classroom with small stationary cars to teach teenagers to drive.

The Oak Park and Forest River High School installed a driver trainer system developed by a casualty and surety company.

Fifteen small classroom cars equipped with full-size steering wheels, dashboards and other controls are used. The students respond to situations on a movie screen and their actions are checked electronically. There are 22 movie strips. One includes a scene in which a crash must be avoided.

The company said the system was tested in a New York City high school, but the Oak Park school was the first to buy a complete installation.

The school hopes to extend driver-trainer to all students with the new equipment. Its program calls for 36 hours of classroom work, including 24 hours at the wheel of the training device. An additional eight hours of driving the family car under supervision of parents is required.

The American golden-eye duck is commonly known as the whistler because of the sound made by its wings during flight.

More than 22 million couples have married since 1940

Today a larger proportion of our population is married than ever before

ABOUT one-third more people are married than in 1940. And, of the 38 million married couples living together in the United States today, over half were married in the last 14 years.

This great increase in the number of families in America has brought about a great demand for new homes, household furnishings, automobiles and other goods. And with the trend toward larger families, there have been more children to feed, clothe, and educate. As a result, these families now have much more to protect.

And the life insurance business is keeping pace and is constantly growing more flexible to meet their new needs.

The life insurance companies have developed new ways for young couples to protect their needs more adequately. For example, through policies that call for a relatively small premium outlay in the first few years but are designed to give permanent protection . . . or through family income plans that give extra protection for the years of greatest need.

Throughout their married lives, millions of couples also use life insurance to meet many other needs—to make sure the mortgage will be paid off, or to assure funds for their children's education, or to provide retirement income.

A suggestion: Have your needs or circumstances changed? Have you looked over your life insurance to see how it fits in with your present way of living and the goals you and your family have set for yourselves?

Duff Says McCarthy Inviting Anarchy

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Sen. Duff (R-Pa) says Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) has issued "an invitation to anarchy" in calling for federal employes to provide him with information about alleged subversion in the government.

And Duff said he would "unqualifiedly" vote to censure the Wisconsin senator, because he thinks the senator has challenged the integrity of the Senate itself.

Appearing on a television interview, Duff said the current hearings involving the disputes between McCarthy and the army have changed into a contest between McCarthy and the President.

He said now is the time for the Senate to "step into the picture by passing rules and examining cases where legislative committees have got out of hand."

Chimp Picks Cage Lock, Releases Buddies at Zoo

BOSTON (AP)—A female monkey at Franklin Park Zoo picked the lock of an adjoining cage and released two male monkeys yesterday.

The monkeys bounded through a crowd of about 100 fleeing persons, bit John Bosco, 6, and threatened several others.

The birdhouse section was emptied of all onlookers before caretakers could round up the pair of males 20 minutes after their escape.

Screaming Mynah Birds Insist on Royal Hawaiian

By LAURA Z. HOBSON-

HONOLULU (INS) — Money isn't everything, they say, but I had to fly 5,000 miles to hear the saga of the rich hotel and the mynah birds, which seems to prove it.

The din made by mynah birds at dawn's early light is the craziest, shrillest, most aggressive racket ever heard in a tree. Compared to mynah birds, starlings are as sweet as larks or nightingales.

I had read about mynah birds but my first personal acquaintance with them took place on the beach at Waikiki, where a bunch of them swell happily in the expensive foliage outside the expensive windows of the Royal Hawaiian Hotel.

Normally this hostelry is for vacationing movie stars and millionaires; at the moment, by the grace of a milestone in commercial aviation, it's also the resting place for various members of the press.

After a couple of mornings of bursting eardrums from the bigmouths outside, I idly remarked to John C. Fischbeck II, the Royal's manager, that he must get an earful from his hotel guests.

Which was enough to get me one from John C. Fischbeck II; for eight years, he said, he's done battle with the mynah birds, trying to break their lease on his expensive trees. For eight years, he's been unable to dispossess them.

"I've been in a lot of deals with them," he said. "The latest was stringing up those aluminum streamers you see at gas stations on the mainland, twisting and glistening in the sun.

"An authority in ornithology assured me the constant motion would scare those birds right off the property. So what happened?. They roosted on the streamers and yelled."

Other remedies failed as dismally. Since the mynah bird chorus also gives out at the chic cocktail hour, Fischbeck tried shooting off big firecrackers and Roman candles.

All kinds of money went up in smoke, but hush-hush money for mynah birds is so much birdseed. "When the fireworks were over," the manager said, "I rushed out to look the trees over. Those birds were sitting there laughing."

Flushing them out with powerful jets of water from fire hoses affixed to the Royal's roof was the next strategy in the running battle. At six one afternoon, the signal was given and the hoses discharged their duty with military precision.

A snafu of signals downstairs, however, brought the water roaring down on several beautifully garbed ladies in the driveway. This time the mynah birds had hysterics—as did the ladies.

"Just last week," Fischbeck said, Arthur Radford—he had a new suggestion to pass on. But I gave up. I'm right up a tree and I admit it."

I asked if the Moana hotel, also on the beach, and the Halekulani, had to fight this same criminal racket.

"Their rates are lower than ours," he said. "Those birds just aren't interested."

Things are strange in Honolulu, the crossroads of the Pacific, and one soon accepts that as incontrovertible. Those flying alarm clocks just can't be brow-beaten or bribed by commerce. And even the richest movie star can't buy their silence.

If even the long green can't save you from the screaming heebie jeebies, you do finally find yourself muttering, "Mynah isn't everything."

Indochina Peace Inches Along

French and Vietminh at Geneva Are Arranging Negotiation Dates

GENEVA (AP)—The snail's-pace progress toward an Indochina cease-fire inched along today with French and Vietminh military representatives scheduled to meet for talks to arrange opening of actual negotiations later this week.

Meanwhile, the nine-party conference on the Far Eastern battleground was in recess for a day, snarled over Communist proposals for a "neutral" commission to police any truce that may be achieved.

The French-Vietminh meeting today was called to work out preliminary details of negotiations—expected to begin Thursday — on the question of zones in which the rival forces would assemble if and when a cease-fire is effected.

In the subsequent talks Col. Jules Fleurant is to represent France and Ta Uang Buu, Vietminh vice minister of defense, will attend for the Reds.

New difficulties over the cease-fire question arose yesterday when the full Indochina conference came to grips for the first time with the problem of policing an armistice.

The Communists proposed establishment of a Korea-type police body—part Communist, the rest non-Red — for Indochina. The Soviet Union nominated Communist Poland and Czechoslovakia, along with India and Pakistan. The West quickly objected, charging that the Korean Neutral Nations Supervisory Commission had failed to work because of vetoes by its Communist members.

The conference planned to continue discussion also on other issues, including proposals for exchange of prisoners and prohibition of reinforcements from outside.

Red Revolution to End by 1973

Document From China Predicts Timetable for Control of World

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress has been shown a document—purportedly submitted to Moscow by the Chinese Communists—predicting that by 1973 "world revolution will be an accomplished fact."

The memorandum, according to Senate Majority Leader Knowland (R-Calif), purports to outline Chinese Communist leader Mao Tse-tung's program for revolution.

Knowland inserted the document in the Congressional Record recently without disclosing where he obtained it.

Supposedly taken to Moscow in March, 1953, by Chinese Foreign Minister Chou En-lai, before the Korean War ended, the document says that "until we are certain of victory" a course leading to war should be avoided.

It says the United States should be "isolated by all possible means."

The paper predicts:

Communist victory in Indonesia in two years, with Burma and Thailand joining the Red orbit soon after.

A "peaceful revolution" in Japan by 1960 with a "mere show of force" by the Soviet Union and China.

By 1965, possibly, Communist control over India by peaceful means," then alliances with Arabic countries and the Philippines, followed by revolution "over the whole continent of Africa."

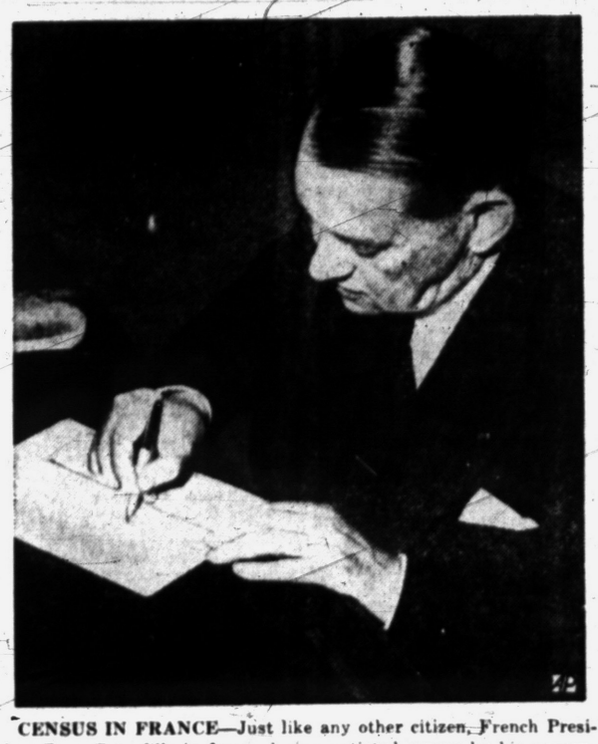

With Asia and Africa "disconnected with the capitalist countries in Europe, total economic collapse to follow in Europe with capitulation there a "matter of course."

"Crushing economic collapse and industrial breakdown will follow the European crisis," the memorandum continues. "Canada and South America will find themselves in the same hopeless and defenseless condition.

"Twenty years from now, world revolution will be an accomplished fact. If the United States should ever start a war, she would do so before the liberation of Japan, the Philippines and India."

South Carolina's capital city, Columbia, is one of the few planned state capitals in the nation: the site of the city having been picked and many of the streets laid out before the construction of any type was begun.

CENSUS IN FRANCE—Just like any other citizen, French President Rene Coty fills in forms during national census by his government which last year estimated population at 42,470,000.

Baptist Pastor Hits at Sinking Morality

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The Rev. Grady C. Cothen, Oklahoma City minister, says morality has fallen to a frightening level "because nothing seems wrong any more."

He told a pastor's conference of the Southern Baptist Convention Sunday that "we live in an atmosphere that condones sin of all descriptions and actually seems to approve wrong if committed by persons of high estate."

About 25,000 persons are expected here for the Southern Baptist Convention which opens Wednesday and continues through Saturday. There are about 5,000 ministers attending the pre-convention pastors' conference and about 6,000 women here for pre-convention meetings of the Women's Missionary Union, an auxiliary group.

Bell, Union Closer to New Contract

DETROIT (AP)—With mediators reporting "definite progress," union and management representatives were scheduled to meet today in further efforts to halt a possible strike of 18,000 Michigan Bell Telephone workers.

Walter Mehler, state labor mediator, reported "definite progress" was made over the weekend in separate meetings with management and the CIO Communications Workers of America.

Demands in the current dispute remained a secret. However, the union has taken a strike vote which has been regarded as a mere formality since there has been no indication of an actual walkout during contract negotiations.

Man, 59, Hiking From New York to San Francisco

DES MOINES (AP)—John F. Frey, toughened by hikes in his mountainous native Switzerland, likes to walk.

He likes it so well he is walking "every inch of the way" from New York to San Francisco, roughly 3,030 highway miles.

"This is something I've wanted to do for years," said the 59-year-old professional lecturer. "When I was a little boy I always read about the United States and marveled at the size of the country. The idea came to me that I'd like to walk across it."

He took to the open road April 1 and had completed 1,258 miles of the journey when he stopped here last night. He averages 21 miles a day. By mid-November, he hopes to reach San Francisco.

Escaped Killer, 18, Calls Ex-Landlady

DETROIT (UP) — Charles Bashlor, 18, an escaped Florida convict-killer, called his former Detroit landlady yesterday and bragged that "I've got a date with a lovely young girl" and that he would call her again.

Bashlor has been hunted by police since his escape from a prison at Chattahoochee, Fla., May 22. He was serving life for the 1951 slaying of a Jacksonville banker who was slain when he surprised a burglar ransacking his home. Bashlor was captured in Detroit.

While he talked with the landlady, Mrs. Leona Ramthun for 20 minutes, police tried to trace the call but were unable to do so.

Fruit Researchers Add 3 New Cherry Varieties

GENEVA, N. Y. (UP)—A 40-year search for better sweet cherries at the New York state agricultural experiment staion has led to introduction of three new varieties, Seneca, Sodus and Gil Peck.

More than 2,000 seedlings from 100 or more crosses have led to cherries with improved color of flesh, texture, season of ripening and size and quality of fruit, according to Robert C. Lamb, a Cornell University fruit breeder at the station.

72 Auto Carrier Trucks Leave Detroit Together

DETROIT (INS) — Seventy-two automobile transport trucks, the largest over-the-road shipment since World War II, left Detroit this morning for Atlanta, Ga.

The haulaway vehicles, dispatched in groups of five, each a thousand feet apart, left a stretch of the Edsel Ford Expressway, near Grand River, at 7 a.m.

Ray Van Beckum, president of Commercial Carriers, Inc., said the caravan will maintain the thousand foot interval throughout a trip to Cincinnati, then will go by barge to Guntersville, Ala.

The trip for the 14-mile-long caravan will take five days and the cars, new Dodges, will be delivered directly to dealers' showrooms by the sixth day.

Company accident prevention officials, insurance patrol cars and local and State Police will provide an escort along the route, according to Van Beckum.

Reduce Tank's Glare

HIGH POINT, N. C. (UP)—When a large water storage tank "glared" at them, residents filed 23 civil suits against this city totaling more than $200,000. Officials are taking the cheap way out with $2,500 worth of drab paint to cover the tank's aluminum surface.

NEW YORK IMPORT SHOW—Mrs. Dean Barnett demonstrates three-wheel scooter by Lambretta of Milan, Italy, which has speed of 34 m.p.h., and can carry over 600 pounds.

Benson Defends Farm Program of Flexible Aid

ST. LOUIS (UP) — Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson today described the administration's proposed program of flexible farm price supports as one "that will be sound for farmers in the short-run and in the long-run."

The present program of rigid supports "taxes the American people for abundance only to deny them the full benefits of abundance," he said in a speech prepared for a meeting of the St. Louis Chamber of Commerce.

Benson said he will not heed the warning of some that the administration's program is poor politics.

"There should be no room for narrow partisan prejudices in this dealing with something that affects the welfare of all farmers — of all business — of all working people — of all consumers."

The secretary said there is nothing new about flexible price supports and that they have been a part of the government's farm program for many years.

Electricity Sales by U. S. Assailed

Business Official Raps Government 'Invasion' of Private Enterprise

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (UP)—The president of the Edison Electric Institute (EEI) today invited the government to pack up and get out of the power business.

Walter H. Sammis, of Akron Ohio, head of both the institute and the Ohio Edison Co., said the record shows the American people can wisely and safely entrust the electric power business to private enterprises.

In a speech prepared for delivery to the annual EEI convention, Sammis assailed what he called the "unfairness and the inequalities of government power competition" with private utilities.

"Propaganda has been for years disseminated skillfully, often by government officials, creating the fear of impending power shortage," he said, "or creating the fear that the job of supplying the nation's power requirements is too big for private industry . . ."

But the real facts show, he said, that private enterprise can "provide this country with an ample supply of power for all needs at reasonable rates as determined by regulatory authorites."

In his talk to the 3,000 utility executives at the convention, Sammis said the government was turning out only 3-10ths of 1 per cent of the nation's power 20 years ago. Today the total is 11 per cent.

Will-O-Way Will Launch 'Straw-Hat' Season With 'The Four Poster'

Leonard Blanzy Claims Patricia Kendall As Bride

A floor-length gown of white Chantilly lace over white satin was chosen by Patricia M. Kendall when she spoke her vows with Leonard J. Blanzy Saturday in First Presbyterian Church.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sherman L. Kendall of Ortonville and he is the son of Michael J. Blanzy of Baldwin avenue.

The bodice of the bridal gown featured an illusion neckline and long lace sleeves forming points over the wrists. A white satin cap embroidered with seed pearls held an illusion fingertip veil. She carried a bouquet of white roses with a center corsage of white roses and carnations.

The bride's sister, Mrs. Ivan Scherbarth of Detroit, was matron of honor. She wore a ballerina-length gown of orchid tulle over taffeta and an orchid tulle headpiece. She carried a fan-shaped bouquet of yellow roses and white carnations.

Mary and Diane Kendall, young sisters of the bride, were bridesmaids wearing pink ballerina-length gowns of tulle over taffeta styled like the honor matron's. They wore pink tulle headpieces and carried fan-shaped bouquets of pink roses and white carnations.

Floyd Blanzy, the bridegroom's brother, was best man. Ushers were Mr. Scherbarth and Emile Swiecicki.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Kendall wore a blue nylon dress with black accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

After a reception in the Groveland Grange Hall, the bride changed to a brown suit with yellow and brown accessories for the wedding trip to Washington, D.C.

Five new members were initiated into Esther Court 13, Order of Amaranth, Friday evening.

Initiated were Mrs. Frank W. Clift, Mrs. Lawrence Lacy, Mrs. Harold Schingeck, Wilma Pfahlert and J. C. Norton.

Birthdays for May were remembered served by Mrs. Earle Hoskins, Mrs. John Seliman and Gladys Holliman. Guests were present from Detroit, Lincoln Park, Bay City and Fort Meyers, Fla.

Mrs. Oak Hostess to Missionary Unit

Mrs. Leola Oak was hostess to Ruth Missionary Circle of Joslyn Avenue United Presbyterian Church Thursday.

Mrs. Gloria Hoyt gave devotions, Mrs. Oak spoke on the "Prayer Cycle" and Mrs. Francis Hoisington and Mrs. Peg Miller discussed foreign missions.

Marital Comedy Opens on June 8 at Playhouse

The coming of June means the beginning of "straw-hat" theater, and Will-O-Way playhouse is ready for the season with its first production.

"The Four Poster" has been chosen to start off a summer season of light comedies June 8 at the playhouse in Bloomfield Hills.

Written by Jan DeHarton and directed by William Merrill, the play will star Burton and Bette Wright in the story of 35 years of married life, beginning with the time Michael first carries Agnes over the threshold in the mid-1890s.

Mr. Wright, production director of a Detroit television station, was last seen at Will-O-Way in "Here Today." He also appeared there in "The Royal Family," "Boy Meets Girl" and the "Male Animal."

Bette Wright, star of the recent Will-O-Way plays "Blythe Spirit," "Over 21" and "Handle with Care," has also appeared in several popular radio serials.

The heartwarming comedy of married life will run at Will-O-Way Playhouse from June 8 to June 20.

Film Colony Cooperates With Pastor

Churchgoing Stars Are Eager to Help Religious Cause

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Women's Editor

Some of Hollywood's top stars are devoted churchgoers, eager to help the cause of religion, says the Rev. S. Franklin Mack, executive director of the Broadcasting and Film Commission of the National Council of Churches.

Back from the film capital after supervising production of the National Council's latest film, "City Story," Dr. Mack is impressed by the wave of religion which he says is sweeping Hollywood, and by the gratitude of famous stars at being asked to participate in church films. He says:

"Hollywood churches are jammed with actors and actresses leading normal, Christian lives. Only these are the things you never hear about. The stories that make headlines are the scandals of the film colony, which involve only a small minority of the people who make our movies, but which have given the world a wrong impression.

"We have found that most of the stars we have approached to work in religious films are tickled to death to help. They are delighted that their special talents can be of use to the cause of the churches."

Jane Russell, for instance, is a Sunday school teacher. Jimmy Stewart has offered to do church films, Glenn Ford, James Dunn, Ruth Warwick, Warner Anderson and Arthur Shields, brother of Barry Fitzgerald, are among those who have appeared in movies sponsored by the National Council of Churches.

"When we went out to Hollywood to do this latest film," Dr. Mack says, "we called the churches in Los Angeles and Hollywood and got names of actors who were members of their congregations, in order to give them a chance to take part, if they wished. The response was overwhelming. Most of the actors we talked to seemed almost pathetically grateful to be asked."

ANNE MARGARET PERKINS

Graduated Saturday from Ann Arbor Unit, Mercy School of Nursing, Detroit, was Anne Margaret Perkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Charles Perkins of Dakota drive. Graduation exercises were held at the Detroit Institute of Arts.

Stand Erect to Look Good

NEW ORLEANS (UP) — A beauty authority who would never dip a shoulder to a slouching position herself charges that most American girls are sad-looking victims of the "fashionable 1954 slunk."

Mrs. Lillian Lewis, a tiny, blue-eyed woman whose job it is to make every girl act like a queen, explained her term "slunk" as the shuffling feet and turtle-head type of carriage.

"The best way to get rid of the slunk is to be vain," Mrs. Lewis said. "A lot of women are vain, it's true, and still have the slunk.

Mrs. Lewis, a former teacher of dancing and dramatics, now is the "trainer" of Mardi Gras queens.

As a trainer, Mrs. Lewis, who travels and lectures a great deal, has been lashing out for years at poor posture. But she says it seems worse today than ever.

"There seems to be too much emphasis on athletics among young girls," she said. "And the girl who says she has as good a carriage as her mother or grandmother, just hasn't stopped to take a half-way look."

"Walk like you're glad you're alive," she advised, "and you'll look alive. The slouch will fade away.

"If a girl thinks tall and stands tall, she can wear a bargain counter dress and look like a million dollars. Most girls never seem to stretch a foot muscle at all anymore. Why you'd think the foot were hinged at the ankle."

The ankle and leg should be used as one continuous section for smooth walking, Mrs. Lewis believes, adding that a little more muscle put into it would help.

In a tribute to men, Mrs. Lewis says they seldom succumb to slovenly posture.

"Maybe it's because Uncle Sam gets them in the army," she says, "but there's nobody to drill the girls in walking."

Her recipe for improved posture: "Remember it's all in your mind. Do something about it when you catch yourself slunking at the dinner table, the theater lobby or at tea. With a little vanity, a girl can sink the slunk."

DR. RAYMOND SCHROEDER

A doctor of osteopathy degree was awarded Saturday to Raymond Schroeder, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Schroeder of Rosedale avenue, Sylvan Lake. Dr. Schroeder received his degree from Kirksville College of Osteopathy and Surgery at Kirksville, Mo.

July Bride-Elect Showered With Personal Gifts

Betty Rendleman, bride-elect of Archiell J. Roy Jr., was honored at a personal bridal shower given by Mrs. B. E. Wyatt Friday evening in the home of Mrs. Wyatt's parents on Kimball street.

The daughter of Mrs. Ruth Rendleman of Detroit, Betty will speak her vows with Archiell on July 17. He is the son of the A. J. Roys of Kimball street.

Guests at the shower were Mrs. Rendleman, Mrs. Edward Johnson, Mrs. Eugene Spurlin, Mrs. Joseph Byers, Mrs. Louis Richter, Mrs. Wayne Shepherd, Mrs. Walter Shepherd, Mrs. Betty Felice, Carol Lumbaugh and Mrs. Roy.

Link-by-Link Bracelet Can Match Ring

Add Diamond Shine to Old Wristwatch

Little-by-little does it, if you want a diamond wristwatch and have no more than a little old "ticker" on a worn band to begin with.

Jewelers are now equipped to convert any standard wristwatch into a diamond bracelet, step by step, and all you pay at a gulp is $35 to $85.

The design of your new dressed-up watch bracelet can match your diamond engagement ring, too. This was worked out so that the generous-hearted bridegroom could start a diamond wristwatch for his bride on her wedding day and add jeweled links on successive birthdays and anniversaries.

This solves the man's gift problem and should help him hold his wife until he gets a complete line of diamonds around her arm, anyway!

The link-by-link look grows on you in this manner: You may begin with any wristwatch in gold or white gold. The watch case is taken off its present band and fancy new end-pieces are added at both sides, where the watch joins the bracelet. These end-pieces come in white gold salted with small diamond brilliants.

At the same time you get a shiny, new white-gold-filled snake bracelet. White gold enhances the white gleam of the gems, and the watch, even at this stage, is pretty enough for a bride in her bridal gown.

This transformation costs about $35 to $65 depending on the number and size of the diamonds in the end-pieces. The jeweler does the job with his little pliers, or the watch may be airmailed to the firm that makes the jeweled segments. Within 24 hours it is flying back to you, and with a professional polish that makes star dust look dull!

Next step is to add a pair or two of diamond links on either side of the new end-pieces and shorten the snake chain accordingly. The links are designed so that the bracelet looks beautiful at any stage.

Any of three designs may be chosen, the diamond-set links costing about $32.50 to $45 the pair. Have two pairs added at a time, if possible.

The "watch with a beautiful future," as it is called, may be planned when the engagement ring is chosen and started later as a wedding gift.

There are three styles of bridal rings with motifs that match the proposed diamond bracelet. Styles of bridal rings with motifs. The betrothal ring in white gold with solitaire (single stone) of about one-fifth carat costs around $100; with a somewhat larger center stone and two side stone, about $150.

Make a Shrug

You can bring your strapless evening gown up to date very easily. One way would be to make an abbreviated shrug. Depending upon the color and fabric of your shades and material or contrast them.

No! No! Don't Pack That Bag Out of Shape

If you know how to care for your luggage, part of your travel cares will be "in the bag." Here are seven good rules to follow in keeping your luggage in fine shape for springtime motoring:

1. Keep your luggage clean. Dirt, grease, acid and smoke fumes are injurious to leather and fabric finishes.

Clean your luggage with a damp cloth and mild soap after each using or at least twice a year. Rub with a dry, soft cloth and apply saddle soap lightly.

When thoroughly dry, remove excess soap and polish with a good neutral wax.

2. Protect your luggage with covers. A zippered cover, available in many fabrics and colors, protects your bag and dresses it up as well.

3. Don't store your bag in places of extreme temperature or dampness. Heat absorbs the natural oils, and dampness encourages molding, mildewing and warping.

4. Close your bags securely before putting them away. Avoid storing them partly open. Cover them with luggage covers, if you have them.

5. Avoid overloading your bags. Over-stuffing may strain a bag out of shape.

6. Never oil locks or hardware. To do so may cause springs to break or stain the lining or leather.

7. Have repairs made without delay. "A stitch in time saves nine" applies here.

Couple Wed in Lutheran Ceremony

Betty Bergstrom, Fred Millis United This Afternoon

Fred H. Millis claimed Betty Constance Bergstrom for his bride this afternoon at Grace Lutheran Church.

Spring flowers decorated the altar as the Rev. Otto G. Schultz performed the service before members of the family. Betty, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elof C. Bergstrom of North Johnson avenue, was gowned in a costume dress of imported white linen lace over pink satin.

The dress top and jacket were trimmed with rhinestones and pearls, and a white linen lace cap held her shoulder-length veil. Her bouquet was composed of white valley lilies and a white orchid.

The bride's aunt, Mrs. Alfred J. Hansen, attended her in a turquoise organza dress fashioned with an empire waistline. White accessories and a nosegay of pink roses completed her ensemble.

James E. Grissom of Wing Lake attended the bridegroom, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John D. Millis of Chippewa road.

For the 4 o'clock ceremony the bride's mother chose a linen dress in champagne color with fawn-colored accessories. Mrs. Millis wore brown silk with coral and white accessories. Both mothers chose corsages of cymbidium spray orchids.

After a family reception in the home of the bridegroom's parents, the couple left for a wedding trip to Washington, D.C., and Cuba. For traveling, the bride wore her wedding ensemble with the orchid from her bouquet. On their return the newlyweds will reside on State avenue.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Cranbrook School and Michigan State College.

Safe Driving Is Matter of Good Habit

Safe driving is not only a question of proper attitude, but a matter of habit. Even if you are a good driver, daily practice of the following rules will greatly reduce your chances of accidents:

1. Check your car regularly. Many accidents could be averted by better car maintenance. Remember to have your brakes, head and tail lights and tires checked at regular intervals.

2. Check your own attitude and condition. Don't drive when you're too tired or emotionally upset. Remember also that some medicines and pills may produce temporary drowsiness.

3. Consider weather conditions. Wet, snowy, icy and foggy roads are accident hazards.

4. Carefully obey traffic laws. Remember that lawful driving is also safe driving. Stop, don't just slow up, at stop signs; don't enter an intersection on a yellow light; always signal your turns.

5. Watch for road signs. These helpful markers were placed there for your benefit, so make the most of them every day.

6. Always pay close attention to your driving. Never forget that you are at the wheel and that driving is your only concern.

7. Don't speed. If you are driving at a sane and legal speed, you are in control if the unexpected occurs.

Barn Dance Held by Merry Mixers

Hal Brown's barn in Clarkston was the setting Friday evening for the annual barn dance of Merry Mixers Dance Club.

Callers for the evening included Lee Kaines, George Sweazy, George Chamberlain, Warren Allen, Paul Bond, Mr. Brown, Bob Bunce and Bruce Allen.

Ex-Alcoholic Lillian Roth Revels in New Success

NEW YORK (UP) — Success, the attractive singer said fervently, is a lovely thing.

The living room of her hotel apartment was disarranged, the phone rang constantly, the valet brought in a billowing white evening gown covered with a bulging white paper sack. And through all the confusion, the singer smiled serenely.

"It's all so fast and nice and wonderful," she said, and it was hard to believe this was Lillian Roth, the Cinderella star of the 20's who skidded into alcoholism and obscurity.

This week her name glitters in Broadway lights over the famous Palace Theater, oldtime showcase for top vaudeville performers where the singer last played 23 years ago, at the peak of a million-dollar career.

"Then I was 19. The boy I was engaged to died during that appearance, and right after that I began my first drinking," the singer recalled unemotionally.

The desk in one corner of the living room was stacked with identical books, just arrived from the publisher, with white paper jackets that read, "I'll Cry Tomorrow," by Lillian Roth.

Her husband, Burt McGuire, was in the adjoining room talking on the telephone about selling movie rights to the book, which tells in absorbing, frightening detail how the singer drank steadily and increasingly for 14 years until she ended in a mental hospital at 34, broke and disgraced.

"I would love a dramatic actress to play my part, but there is some discussion of using a singer instead," Miss Roth said. "I feel there is more to the story than showing how you can reestablish yourself as a personality. It is also establishing yourself as a person. I think it would take a very good actress to show that."

Asked if she had considered appearing in the part herself, since her youthful ambition was to be a great dramatic actress, the singer grinned.

"I always say I'm not my type," she said. She actually does look far different than her new fans expect after hearing her story. At 43, she is slim, handsomely dressed and with the kind of fresh, smooth complexion that usually means constant care, plenty of sleep and healthful food.

She gets top nightclub bookings now, has a recording contract and seems about to be a successful author. Her book is being published this month.

"I have two kinds of mail," she said seriously. "Some of the letters are from people with a drinking problem who need help. Others are from ministers and priests who thank me for the encouragement I've given other people.

In her spare time, she and her husband, whom she met when she turned to Alcoholics Anonymous for help eight years ago, help alcoholics rebuild their lives.

"You don't get a miracle pill and then you're a new person," the singer said. "And nobody stands alone. If I'm a success again on that Palace stage, there are lots of people who should be taking bows."

Flat-Templed Look Featured in Sunglasses

Designers have been introducing some effective new approaches in sunglasses. A new trend is towards gold-filled, flat temples with paddle-shaped plastic tips. The gold gives sparkling balance to the shell-rim portion and is proving extremely popular.

The fitter has a selection of different styled bridges to blend with special facial features. His selection of the right bridge size depends upon the shape, length and width of your nose. MR. and MRS. R. ZIMMERMAN

MR. and MRS. C. WELLS

United in marriage in a double wedding ceremony Saturday at St. Vincent de Paul Church were Bonnie Jean Scholtz and Robert Zimmerman and Bettie Jane Scholtz and Charles F. Wells. The brides are the twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Scholtz of Illinois avenue. Robert's parents are the Edwin Zimmermans of Wall street, and Charles is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Wells of Farmington.

Twins Gowned Alike for Double Rite

St. Vincent de Paul Church was the setting Saturday morning for a double wedding ceremony which united Bonnie Jean Scholtz and Robert Zimmerman and Bettie Jane Scholtz and Charles F. Wells.

The brides are the twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Scholtz of Illinois avenue. Robert is the son of the Edward Zimmermans of Wall street, and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Wells of Farmington are Charles' parents.

Identical gowns of embroidered Chantilly lace and tulle over summer satin were chosen by the twins. The headpieces, fashioned of Chantilly lace and seed pearls, held illusion veils. Tiers of ruffles graced both sides of the skirts, which ended in cathedral-length trains.

They carried twin cascade bouquets of white carnations with a demure cluster of flowers in the center.

For her duties as maid of honor, the brides', sister, Donna Marie Scholtz, wore a gown of embroidered organdy over pastel taffeta with a matching sash and headpiece.

The bridesmaids included Patricia Becker, Margaret Becker and Jean Ritter. They wore gowns identical to the honor maid's. Their flowers were tinted bouquets of daisies with matching streamers.

Bette Link of Brown City wore a gown of pale pink organdy with a matching headpiece as flower girl. Dennis Fitzgerald was ringbearer. Arthur and James Fitzgerald were altar boys.

Donald Zimmerman was best man for Robert and Charles and the other attendants included Dick Ebel and George Getschman, both of Detroit, and Leo Modcinski.

Mrs. Scholtz wore a powder blue lace dress with navy accessories and a corsage of red roses; Mrs. Zimmerman wore a navy dress with navy and white accessories, and Mrs. Wells chose aqua lace with matching accessories and a yellow rose corsage.

After a reception in Hotel Pontiac immediately following the ceremony, the new Mrs. Zimmerman donned a navy blue linen suit with white accessories for the wedding trip. She will reside with her parents until Robert returns from service.

The new Mrs. Wells wore a gray suit with red and white accessories for a honeymoon in Canada and the Eastern states. Upon their return they will reside in Livonia.

The button-down dress — a summer pretty in drop-stitch voile contrastingly lined with pink organdy—is ideal for dressy occasions.

Reception Honors Missionary Family

A farewell reception was held recently by members of First Baptist Church for the George Kennedy family who will soon return to missionary work in the Belgian Congo.

After a song service led by Dr. H. H. Savage, a vocal solo was presented by Mrs. Earl Bates of Bowie, Ariz., a former Pontiac resident. Ponnie Davis was the accompanist. Mrs. A. B. Edwards and daughter Barbara Presented a vocal duet.

A greeting was extended by Stanley Donaldson, Ervin Richards, Floyd Miles and Mrs. Savage.

The Kennedy children, Charline, Joanne and Billie, presented a song in the native dialect of Africa and Mr. and Mrs. Kennedy spoke on their work.

Paper Shower Will Give Bride-to-Be Ideas for Easier Housekeeping

Noodle Dish Will Serve 10 or More

Mrs. Clark Uses Novel Nut Topping on Casserole

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

A recipe that serves 10 people to start with, and that can be doubled or tripled without any trouble, is a good recipe to have.

Mrs. Alex Clark Jr. says it is wonderful for serving large groups. She makes it in her electric roaster and brings it to the table in the roaster pan.

Mrs. Clark was one of the founders of the Birmingham alumnae group of Alpha Xi Delta sorority. Substitute teaching, acting as a den mother and working in PTA more than fills her days.

NUTTY NOODLES
By Mrs. Alex Clark Jr.

2 pounds ground round steak
1 medium onion, cut fine
1 medium bottle of stuffed olives (about 60 olives)
1 can mushroom soup, diluted with 1 can milk
1 8-ounce package finest egg noodles
½ pound American cheese, grated
¼ pound mixed salted nuts—cashews are especially good
1 can chow mein noodles

Cook noodles. Grate cheese. Brown meat and onion together. Add noodles, olives and soup. Place half of the noodle mixture in casserole, cover with grated cheese, add the rest of the noodle mixture.

Bake 30 minutes in a 350 degree oven. Spread chow mein noodles and nuts together over the top and bake 30 minutes longer. Serves about 10 people.

Season Should Determine Scent of Your Perfume

Glamor is far from being the property of the young. In fact, someone has said that a woman who isn't glamorous when she's pas. 50 has never been glamorous at all.

The older woman preserves her glamor by keeping physically fit and by choosing her clothes and cosmetics with care. Her smart grooming and healthy good looks keep tell-tale birthdays well hidden.

But for giving herself the special lift of youth, she has found there is nothing quite so dependable as fragrance. She makes it her constant companion.

As for selecting the scent, age should not become the prime consideration. If a woman has always preferred the most exotic perfumes, she shouldn't feel compelled to forego them for a delicate, floral fragrance.

Season, not birthdays, should influence her choice of fragrance. If she prefers the heavier perfumes, it's not advisable to wear them at this time of year.

As warmer weather comes upon us, the lighter, more delicate fragrances are in order. They complement both season and clothes better than a heavy fragrance.

A point for you to remember about perfume is that what is delightful on your friend may not be on you. Skin chemistry is an important factor in selecting fragrance.

Consequently, you should never buy a perfume or cologne for the first time without trying it. Ask the saleswoman to put a few drops on the inside of your wrist to it.

Egg Dish for Baby

If baby refuses to eat eggs in any form, try this recipe: To a coddled egg add a crumbled zwieback and a dash of salt. Make the crumbs very fine. The combination will have much more flavor than eggs served lain.

To help you achieve a fresh feeling from your bath there is a new bath oil in lavender fragrance. A perfect hot weather choice, a few drops scent the water with refreshing and stimulating fragrance and keeps the water free from oily residue.

Mary Margaret McBride Says:

Neighborly, Warm Feeling Evoked by Bess Truman

At a literary tea party in Washington the other day I ran into an old friend from Missouri. She has lost weight and looks gayer, handsomer and 10 years younger than she did when I called on her eight years ago at her temporary Washington home.

I never have known exactly what the etiquette of a receiving line is, but I doubt if you're supposed to stop, gasp, and say "How on earth did you do it? I'm trying to but I don't make any headway!" —especially when the person you're addressing is the wife of a former President of the United States and the remainder of the line is composed of that ex-President and two other former First Ladies.

In retrospect, I realize that I probably committed a gaffe of the first order but my excuse is that I don't get around often to such affairs and anyway Mrs. Truman just looked so neighborly that I was carried away by a warm, affectionate impulse.

Bess Truman always makes me feel fond and MARY McBRIDE as if I've known her always. I remember standing by her box when Harry Truman was being nominated for vice president at the Democratic convention in Chicago, and suddenly being violently partisan, though I think Mrs. Truman herself was of two minds about that business as well as what happened later.

She had been First Lady for only a short time when I went to see her at the White House I remember she showed me all through the house, exactly as if it were Independence, Mo. Afterwards we sat down to talk and were still at it when Mrs. Truman, hearing a voice in the hall, called, "Is that you, Margaret?" Come on in and show Miss McBride your dress."

So Margaret came in, modeled the dress she'd worn as bridesmaid that day and told us of the wedding. When I left, Mrs. Truman helped me on with my coat, said it was pretty, took me to the front door and stood there to wave goodbye.

I thought then and I think now how nice it is that real people are just the same wherever you find them.

Mr. and Mrs. Truman had come to Bess Furman's and Martha Strayer's party the other day in Washington as had Mrs. Woodrow Wilson and Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, to honor an old friend, Edith Benham Helm, who served as White House social secretary for three presidents' wives.

Let's give Mrs. Helm's book a good plug," urged Mr. Truman, holding up a copy of "The Captains and the Kings," as he sat down with Mrs. Roosevelt before my microphone.

"The nicest thing about this book is that there is nothing disagreeable about anybody in it," said Mrs. Roosevelt.

"That's the way I want my book to be," said Mr. Truman.

South Carolina was the only state in the union whose signers of the Declaration of Independence were all natives of the state and college men, educated abroad.

Manners
MAKE FRIENDS

Does a bride-to-be let her bridesmaids decide the kind of dresses they want to wear? No, the bride decides what they shall wear.

It will probably be the only time other girls will be dressed especially to make a flattering background for her.

Disconnect Iron Before You Leave

Never take a chance on leaving your iron plugged in when you are called away from the chore momentarily. Minutes have a way of multiplying rapidly and a fire could easily be the consequence.

More fires are caused in this way than result from any other electric appliance.

Facts Given on Window Air Coolers

Conditioners Are Harder to Install in Casements

By HUBBARD COBB

This is about the time of year when it begins to get warm, and when it begins to get real warm people think about buying a window air-conditioner. With this in mind we've collected a few minor facts about window air-conditioners.

Our first item is directed at people who live in homes with casement windows, for this type of window presents something of a problem when it comes to installing a window unit.

One solution is to purchase a unit designed to fit in a casement window. If you already have a unit and have metal windows they can be converted (if they are wide enough) to take the unit.

An alternate suggestion here is to remove the existing casement frame and install a special type which will take the window unit.

When you buy a three quarter or 1 ton conditioner you really should have it connected to a 220-volt line instead of the standard 110-volt line. This will eliminate a lot of trouble with fuses blowing out just at the wrong time.

The efficiency of a window unit can be improved by locating it on the shady side of the house or in a window that gets shade from a tree or nearby building.

The heat that the unit removes from the room must, in turn, be removed from the unit by the outside air. The cooler the outside air, the better it will be able to remove the heat from the unit.

Each air-conditoner is equipped with a filter to remove dust and dirt from the air. These filters have to be cleaned or replaced from time to time or they will become so clogged with dirt as to decrease the efficiency of the unit.

Units should not be turned on when the temperature is below 60 degrees for when it is this cool the unit frosts up.

Don't Give Dutch Treat Stag Party

Omit Entertaining if the Guests Must Supply Drinks

By EMILY POST

A letter this morning tells me: "My husband has been asked to be the best man at a friend's wedding. He would like to give a stag party for the bridegroom-to-be.

"Since we are of moderate means and this will be quite a strain on us financially, we are wondering if it would be possible to ask the men to bring their own liquor to the party. My husband does not drink but most of the other men do."

Answer: If your husband is unable to give the party completely, then it would be best not to give it at all. He can't possibly invite guests to a party and then ask them to supply any part of its hospitality.

Dear Mrs. Post: My fiance died two weeks ago from injuries received in an automobile accident. At the wake, and also at the funeral, I of course wore black.

I would like to know if I should continue to wear black, and if so, for how long? I also would like to know if I should now change my engagement ring from my left to my right hand. Your help in this mater will be much appreciated.

Answer: It is entirely a question of your own feeling. It would be correct to wear black for, at shortest time, six months.

As for your ring, there is no reason why you should change it from your left to your right hand, unless you think you will feel less sad if you do so.

Dear Mrs. Post: I have just recently remarried after having been a widow for 10 years. Most of our close friends know of the marriage, but for personal reasons we have made no public announcement of any sort.

Very soon we will be leaving on a belated honeymoon and I would like to send announcements to everyone at that time. I would like to know if announcements should be sent to those who already know of our marriage.

Answer: It is certainly not necessary to send announcements to those whom you have told personally of your marriage. It would be better, however, to send an unnecessary duplicate than to risk sending none.

Don't Count On Money From Verse

By ANNE HEYWOOD

Judging by my mail, about half the women in America are trying to write verse.

Sometimes they have done it since their teens, sometimes they have just recently begun, with placecard rhymes for their club luncheon tables.

Some of them aim at best-selling lyrics, some want to sell greeting card verses, and some hope to rival Edna St. Vincent Millay.

But whatever the ultimate aim, there are a few things which must be considered, carefully and seriously.

Poetry and verse are the very hardest kind of thing to sell. They are fun to write, and much pleasure and growth can be gained from doing it as a hobby.

But don't, please don't, count on making much, if any, money from it.

Mrs. J. K., a woman in her late 50s, wrote me a letter which frightened me.

"I have been writing verses for six months now," she tells me, "and my friends all agree they are marvelous. I have sent them to some magazines, but so far nobody has bought any.

"But I intend to continue, because I need an extra $25 a week to supplement my insurance, and I know I can sell that much if I just keep at it.

"Have you any suggestions?"

In the first place, if you honestly need an extra $25 a week in order to live, don't hope to make it from verse.

Get a part-time job doing something you like and know how to do, something which will bring you predictable money. Even if you get to be a very skilled verse writer, you can never be sure of hitting the markets regularly enough to make any money.

Keep your verse writing for a hobby. It can be a very interesting one, which can bring you much pleasure, a continued sense of growth and a self-fulfillment, as well.

Even if it is a spare-time hobby, go about it intelligently. Get a subscription to one of the writers' magazines, because they frequently tell what markets exist for verse. Get a good rhyming dictionary. One of the best is Cement Wood's "Unabridged Rhyming Dictionary."

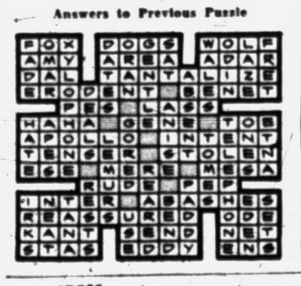

And, if song lyrics interest you, get a copy of Oscar Hammerstein's "Lyrics."

Keep experimenting, keep learning the craft, and you will have much fun.

But, never count on making any money out of it, or you will gravely regret it.

Girl Told Boy Shuns Her 'Cause She's Easy to Get

By ELIZABETH WOODWARD

"Dear Miss Woodward: I'd give an eye-tooth to have Jerry for a boy friend. I've been with him three or four times and he always speaks when he sees me, but he never asks me for a date.

"Even though he's with somebody else he's always nice to me, so I figure he must like me a little.

"Recently I was told by a friend that the reason he wouldn't go with me was because I have always been easy to get. If this is so I'd like to know how to change his opinion of me and maybe someday have him as a boy friend."

This little tip from a "helpful Henry" has you in a swivet. You've apparently taken it as the gospel and straight from the horse's mouth. It was Jerry himself who in a moment of intimate discussion of all the girls around told your friend this thing! You've translated it to suit yourself.

Your consternation and puzzlement are clear in your words "if this is so . . ." You clutch at the comment as something tangible you can do something about. Yet you wonder how it has anything to do with you.

I'm wondering if Jerry ever said such a thing, even in idle conversation. And on what first hand knowledge would he base such a remark? Couldn't it be the supposition of your helpful friend, and consequently have nothing to do with the case?

You know your dating attitude better than I do. But I know what it means to be "easy to get." It's the sour-grapes comment of a boy who only goes steady about a girl who goes out with different boys. With tongue in cheek he says it to mean that she'll go out with anybody.

It also can mean that after a couple of dates with her she'll eat out of his hand. It takes practically no time flat for her to fall on her face and begin adoring the guy forever. That's tongue in cheek, too—and means that it doesn't take much to win her over.

It also can mean that the girl is a very eager beaver about necking. It takes no coaxing, no persuasion, no promises to be faithful—it's just plain easy.

You know which of these shoes, if any, fits you.

But you also know how little the comment may have to do with you. In which case there's no point in making yourself sick over it.

There's nothing wrong in a girl accepting any and all invitations that come her way if she wants to. There's nothing wrong (just weak-minded) in a girl falling fast. Necking with everybody will make some boys draw near and others steer clear.

Accept that comment for what it's worth. And try to get acquainted with this guy Jerry. Show him a friendly, attractive personality that is warm with real interest.

Make your casual little chats add up to knowing each other better. Maybe it's never entered his head that you might be worth dating. You can plant the idea, can't you?

The back-swept hairdos with free-flowing waves that are so popular this spring are especially good for girls whose faces are square or round. Bangs and a few strategically placed curls can be added for the long-faced girls.

Hams to Revive Forgotten Isle

Ship Accident Recalls Jinx Associated With Atoll Near Mexico

WASHINGTON—The "Island the World Forgot" is being remembered briefly as radio amateurs of the Americas listen for short wave signals from a tiny coral outcrop in the eastern Pacific.

Clipperton Island, a lonely atoll 670 miles southeast of Acapulco, Mexico is to go on the air if an expedition of U. S. "hams" reaches its goal. Their storm-battered schooner, engines disabled, had to radio recently for rescue aid, however.

Their distress call indicated that the isle still carries a jinx. For on that insignificant speck of rock amid empty ocean occurred not only piracy and shipwreck, but also one of the most fantastic and tragic stories in the annals of adventure.

Although France now owns Clipperton, until 1931 its claim was contested by Mexico.

In 1914, amid political upheaval in Mexico and the outbreak of World War I, supplies for the colony on Clipperton, numbering at least 30 men, women, and children, somehow were forgotten. Ships simply stopped coming.

After a year the desperate garrison commander, Captain Ramon de Arnaud, took the only three men still strong enough to pull oars and set out to row to the mainland, 675 miles away. They were never heard from again.

A hurricane struck soon after. Then the lighthouse keeper went insane, murdered the remaining men, and set himself up as king. One of the women he sought to enslave killed him with an axe as he slept.

On July 18, 1917—after three years of isolation — Clipperton was visited by the U.S.S. Yorktown while on Naval patrol. Three women and eight children survived. Their terrible story was pieced together as they were taken to the mainland. But because war still raged abroad, the tragedy received little notice at the time.

From 1943 until the end of World War II, a U.S. Navy weather station was maintained on Clipperton.

Mexico long mapped the ocean outrider as the Island of Passion (Isle de la Pasion), following a legend that sailors of Cortez, landing there in the 1500's, fell into a fight among themselves. In 1765 the island reputedly became the lair of John Clipperton, freebooting renegade mate of the English navigator William Dampier.

The island was forgotten until 1858 when a French ship landed a boat to hoist the imperial colors of Napoleon III. Mexico protested, but did nothing else for 40 years. Then in 1897, a year after another French man-of-war visited the island, it sent a gunboat of its own.

Ownership of the island grew more controversial after a British company received a concession in 1906 to work phosphate deposits there. The question was referred to the International Court at The Hague with no result, and then to the King of Italy for arbitration. After thinking it over for 22 years, the Italian monarch awarded Clipperton to France.

Other than the U.S. Navy weathermen, however, only a few shipwrecked fishermen have lived on Clipperton since the tragedy of 1917. All that remained in 1949 were a few rails from the phosphate era, a ruined building or two and a rusted steel jetty at the edge of the reef, washed by surf.

MR. AND MRS. FATSO OF '54—Speranza Gorini, 345 pounds, left, tries to embrace Felice Alberani, 440 pounds, but finds the task difficult. It was all part of a celebration in Turin, Italy, at which the admission was a minimum 720 pounds. After the feast, they were named "Mr. and Mrs. Fatso of 1954."

Cow on Exhibit in Hotel Lobby

State's Holstein Queen Shown in Grand Rapids as Part of Convention

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—The queen of Michigan's Holstein dairy cows was provided quarters today in the lobby of the Pantlind Hotel, a prize exhibit of the annual convention of the Holstein-Friesian Assn. of America.

Some 1,500 of the nation's top Holstein breeders are expected to attend the convention which ends Thursday with an auction of more than 100 outstanding Holsteins from the United States and Canada.

Michigan's Holstein champion, Lakefield Wintherthur Hello, won top honors Monday at the state's annual black and white show in nearby Lowell. The cow is owned by Gilsted Farm, of Belding.

Reserve champion female honors went to 4-year-old Lakefield Forbes Delight owned by Lakefield Farms, of Clarkston.

Reserve champion bull was Clyde Hill Kinf Forbes Rock, jointly owned by George Pardonnet, of Corunna, Lakefield Farms, and Russell Woodard, of Owosso.

Two Ionia teenagers, James Reisbig, 18, and his sister Nancy, 15, won first and second and top boy and girl honors in the showing and fitting contest for 4-H Club members.

Three cows with lifetime production records of more than 100,000 pounds of milk were recognized at the show.

Memorial Day Saves Waldorf in Flag Problem

NEW YORK (AP)—Memorial Day solved a protocol problem for the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel yesterday.

In residence there were President Eisenhower, here to deliver a speech; Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia; Prime Minister Adnan Menderes of Turkey; Maj. Gen. Fermin Gutierrez de Sota, Spanish deputy chief of state; and Rear Adm. Anibal O. Olivieri, Argentina's secretary of the Navy.

The hotel usually honors a guest of such rank by flying their nation's flags. But this time there weren't enough flagpoles.

After a look at the calendar, the hotel's general manager, Harold K. Hastings, declared the United States flag should fly alone.

On Memorial Day, he said, "you fly but one flag."

Adventists in Accord With Local Unions

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Some 1,500 agreements have been reached with local unions to permit Seventh Day Adventists to hold jobs without belonging to the unions, delegates to the church's General Conference were told yesterday.

Carl B. Haynes, head of the church' Industrial Relations Commission, said the agreements are in line with the Adventist program to "stand apart from both management and labor groups."

"We do not try to antagonize labor because we agree that the objectives of organized labor are good and right," Haynes said. He added that under the agreements, Adventist workers contribute the equivalent of dues and assessments to union welfare and relief funds, and stay home when a strike is called.

Nationalists Claims Reds Arming Vietminh Fliers

TAIPEH, Formosa (AP)—A Chinese Nationalist news agency said today Communist Vietminh forces in Indochina will have a Russian-equipped air force by the end of this year.

The Interior Ministry's Ta Tao agency said 1,200 Vietminh cadets have completed two years of training at a Chinese air force academy near Nanning and Russia has promised to provide planes late this year.

Three thousand additional cadets have started training at Nanning, Ta Tao said.

Non-Red Affidavit Signed by Batchelor

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—One of the U. S. soldiers who first refused repatriation while a prisoner of the Communists in Korea has signed a non-Communist affidavit.

Cpl. Claude Batchelor, 22, of Kermit, Tex., signed the affidavit yesterday at Fort Sam Houston's post prison. It clears the way for him to collect about $4,000 in back pay.

Batchelor's civilian counsel, Joel Westbrook, said part of the money would be used in the corporal's defense. The rest, the lawyer said, will be used to bring Kyoto, Batchelor's Japanese wife, to this country from Tokyo, where she is living with her family.

Batchelor is imprisoned while the Army investigates the possibility of court-martialing him on charges of collaborating with the enemy while a prisoner of war.

...but help was on the way

Alone with his two youngsters, George M. Moritz of Battle Creek was suddenly seized with a feeling of overpowering sickness. He had to get help for himself and someone to look after the children.

Fortunately he was able to reach the telephone and dial "Operator." He told the operator of his sickness and gave her his address and telephone number.

Then he staggered to the sofa and collapsed.

The operator, Beverly Kent, who like all telephone operators is trained to handle emergencies promptly and calmly, called the police. In minutes they and an ambulance were on the way. Mrs. Moritz, who was at work nearby, was notified by telephone and returned home.

Plane Crashes, 8 Dead, 6 Hurt

Low Visibility Blamed for Accident in Duluth; Guardsmen Aboard

DULUTH, Minn. (AP)—A Minnesota National Guard plane, bucking low visibility in a heavy fog, plummeted into a gravel pit near the Duluth Airport last night, carrying eight troopers to their deaths and injuring six others, four critically.

"We heard the roar of the plane's engines so close and loud we thought it was coming down our chimney," said Mrs. Russell Westberg, who lives about a city block away.

"Then there were a couple of terrible crashes and everything was quiet."

Lt. Col. Ralph M. Jerome, commander of the 179th Fighter-Intercepter Squadron, said the ship was returning from a practice flight to Indianapolis, where the 14 aboard had seen the annual Memorial Day speedway race.

Jerome said bodies of five men were taken from the scattered wreckage and that three more had died en route or shortly after reaching hospitals. All but one of the victims was attached to the squadron and lived in this area.

Junior Becomes Beneficiary of Own Policy

SPRING HOUSE, Pa. (AP)—Fritz J. Hartman, who still lists his name as "Junior," became eligible today to collect $1,189 as the beneficiary of his own life insurance policy.

He bought the policy in 1901 and stopped paying premiums in 1921. Mutual Life Insurance Co. of New York announced it had offered Hartman the privilege of cashing in the policy on the anniversary date nearest his 96th birthday anniversary, which will be next Oct. 13.

The company said only three persons out of every thousand can hope to reach 96.

Child's Quick Comeback Explains Mother's Loss

BALTIMORE (AP)—Arnold White, one of five children lost within a hectic 90-minute period in Druid Hill Park yesterday, told a police matron his mother once had five children but only had four now.

"Why?" the matron asked.

19 Are Believed Dead in Brazil Plane Crash

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP)—Parachute rescue teams sped today to a mountainside 210 miles northwest of Rio where 19 Brazilians were believed to have perished in the fiery crash of a National Airlines plane.

Meridional News Agency said the plane, carrying four crewmen and 15 passengers, crashed and burned yesterday on Cerro Cipo Mountain, 60 miles from Belo Horizonte.

Good Psychology Halts Suicide Leap

SCRANTON, Pa. (AP)—Quick thinking and a dash of elementary psychology by a Scranton police officer was instrumental in averting what might have been a leap from a mid-city rooftop yesterday.

While a hastily summoned squad of police raced to the fourth floor roof of the Prezioso Building, Mrs. Mayme Orr, 50, climbed the parapet and stood poised atop the cornice.

Down in the street, Sgt. Earl Kugler, who knew the woman, sensed the situation and called out in a gruff voice:

"Get back there, Mayme, or I'll call the wagon!"

Startled, the woman retreated from the ledge and into the waiting arms of several police officers. Police said the woman gave no explanation for the action.

Guardsmen Fire Volley, Then Douse Burning Car

NORTH ANDOVER, Mass. (AP)—A National Guard firing squad performed a double duty at Holy Sepulchre Cemetery yesterday.

The men no sooner fired the traditional volley of shots at Memorial Day exercises when they spotted a fire in a nearby parked car.

Candidates Must File Petitions by June 21 for Clarkston Offices

CLARKSTON — Candidates seeking nomination for the annual Clarkston school board election July 12 must file petitions by June 21, it was announced today.

Three-year terms of two present school board members will be expiring. They are R. E. Spohn, trustee, and Ronald Weber, who serves as treasurer.

Also to be elected is a member to complete the unexpired term caused by the resignation of Jack Murton. Kenneth Thayer is currently filling the vacancy by appointment.

Petitions for securing the required 25 signatures for nomination of school board members may be obtained in the superintendent's office of Clarkston Elementary School.

Polls for the July 12 election will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. in the elementary school. The annual school meeting will be held in the high school following the election.

Woman Injures Leg in Motorcycle Crash

ROYAL OAK TOWNSHIP — The condition of a young Detroit housewife who lost part of her right leg in a motorcycle-automobile accident here Sunday was listed as "fairly good" today at Mount Carmel Mercy Hospital.

Mrs. Jean A. Lalonde, 29, was a rider on a motorcycle driven by her husband, Victor C., 38, when she caught her leg on the bumper of a car they were passing on Eight-Mile road.

Her husband was hospitalized with lesser injuries. The car was driven by Squire McNeal Jr., 18, of 21050 Glenlodge.

New Officers Installed at Leonard PTA Meeting

LEONARD—The final meeting of the school year was held by the Leonard PTA last week and featured the installation of next year's officers and talks by Kenneth Brown of the Oakland County Superintendent of Schools' office, and Mrs. Robert Sanford, of Lake Orion.

Installed as president was Mrs. Robert Zerwick, with Mrs. Clarence Trott as mother vice president and Frank Sandor as father vice president.

Others were George Rachael, teacher vice president; Mrs. Dell Forbes, treasurer, and Mrs. Marvin Schlusler, secretary. Mrs. Edward Johnson, of Pontiac was the installing officer.

Council Discusses Curb, Gutter Project

METAMORA — Plans to install curbs and gutters on M181 through the village were discussed at a recent meeting of the Metamora Village Council by Harold Coonz, deputy chief engineer, State Highway Department.

The proposed installation, costing $4,000, would begin near the western limits of the village and extend to the eastern limits.

Part of the cost would be borne by the state, and if approved by the federal government, part by tthe United States. The project reportedly already has state approval.

School Band Director Conducts Last Concert

LAKE ORION — Director William Bennett conducted his last School and junior high school concert with the Lake Orion High bands last week. Bennett has resigned from the staff and will make his home in Florida.

During the program, he was presented with a deep fryer by Jim Baber, on behalf of the senior band, and a pipe and lighter by Larry Toth, representing the junior high band.

200 Students in Annual Concert at Farmington

FARMINGTON TOWNSHIP — "Make Mine Music" was the title of Farmington High School's annual spring concert Thursday night in the school gymnasium.

Taking part in the event were 200 students. Keith Willoughby directed the girls' vocal part of the program, while David Murray conducted the Boy's Glee Club.

Junior-Senior Banquet Held in Brown City Gym

BROWN CITY — The annual junior and senior banquet was held Friday night in the high school gymnasium with board of education members an dtheir wives as guests.

Talks were given by Supt. James Snyder, Derek Morris, principal, and W. J. Campbell, school board president. A toast of welcome was given by Anthony Pilat, and the response by Alden Barnes, senior class president.

Helen Gillespie Marries John Eck at Southfield

SOUTHFIELD TOWNSHIP — Mrs. Helen Gillespie of San Jose avenue and John L. Eck of Lathrup Village were married at Aldersgate Methodist Church Saturday.

Attendants for the couple were Qroene Campbell and Fred McAninch, also of Southfield Township.

Roosevelt High to Give Annual Show Thursday

KEEGO HARBOR — "Roaring Twenties" will be the theme of Roosevelt High School's annual talent show to be presented Thursday evening in the school gymnasium at 8:30.

Virginia Speer, Marlene West and Robert Nelson wrote the script for the show which features the dances and prosperity of the 20s plus party gaiety.

In charge of costumes will be Loretta Barnard and Marlene West, with stage settings by Janet Halsema, Richard Murphy, Ed Tanner and Sue Zimmerman.

Make-up chairmen are Shirlee Hawver and Miss West, with business arrangements by Edna Castle, Pat Dunaway, Carol Larson, Daniel Patchin, Tom Wyatt, Donald Bradford and D. J. Wallace.

$1,159 in Fishing Gear Is Stolen From Home

Fishing equipment valued at $1,159.05 was reported stolen in a breakin Sunday morning at the Orion Township home of Bob Costello, according to Oakland County Sheriff's Deputies.

Costello, an equipment dealer, listed four outboard motors, two reels and 20 fishing rods missing from the home at 873 S. Lapeer Rd. Entry was made by breaking a front door panel.

PTA Group to Picnic Following Softball Game

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP—The annual Williams Lake PTA picnic will be held Thursday, starting with a softball game between students and their fathers at 5 p.m.

A potluck supper will follow at 6 p.m. Games and races will be held following the supper. Loren Thompson is chairman of the event.

Farmington to Receive Fire Truck in August

FARMINGTON — With the recently announced delivery of a newly purchased fire truck chassis to the equipment manufacturer in Wisconsin, the new vehicle should be ready for use here in August, according to authorities.

It will take approximately 90 days to fit out the truck.

Clips Permit Big Saving

Registrar Improvises Way to Reduce Labor in Posting Grades

DENVER (INS) — Paper clips and a reclaimed adding machine carriage have resulted in a record-breaking, error-proof system of posting the grades of 7,000 University of Denver students.

The new system, developed by Registrar Charles Maruth, is estimated to save the school 4,000 man-hours of labor a year.

Maruth's simple process, using an ordinary (IBM) tabulator, permanently records all courses, grades and point averages of all students in less than 20 hours each quarter.

Only one manual operation is involved in the Maruth method—putting a plain paper clip on each student's permanent record where current grades should be posted from grade cards.

Before the paper clip was introduced, the tabulators could not automatically find that precise spot to start printing. As a result the grades always had to be filled in by hand, which required considerable time and involved frequent errors.

The paper clip on the card sounds an electronic warning to the machine to start at the correct place on the card, which eliminates overprinting and other errors.

Registrar Maruth rigged the reclaimed adding machine roll with a device so the student's number can be transferred from his grade card to the adding machine paper tape, thereby insuring the right grade goes on the right permanent card.

Reward of Well-Doing

KINGSTON, R. I. (UP) — The University of Rhode Island liked the job workmen did in building its new $1,700,000 gymnasium. About 600 workers were invited to attend one of the first basketball games as guests.

Sportsmen's Club Looted by Thieves Last Tuesday

A breakin at the Oakland County Sportsmen's Club at Waterford netted thieves $38 in small bills and an undetermined amount of change, Oakland County Sheriff's Deputies said today.

The thieves, who club officials said broke in last Tuesday, entered through a basement window.

Pooch Swipes Car Keys

JACKSBORO, Tex. (UP)—When Jack County Agent J. W. Hulsey ended a visit with a farm family near here, the keys were missing from his auto. After an hour's hunt, he found the keys in the mouth of a dog which had jumped into the car and swiped them.

U.S. Air Rescue Units Guard Military Air Lanes

KADENA AIR FORCE BASE, Okinawa (UP) — The huge Globemaster transport plane was two hours out of Okinawa when it radioed it was off course and probably would run out of gas short of the island. Aboard were 113 passengers.

Within minutes after the distress call, nine planes had headed north from Okinawa. One was a specially-equipped B-29 superfortress. It was followed by two air force amphibians, two Navy seaplanes and four twin-engined C-47's equipped with pontoons.

At the same time, two crash boats put out from Okinawa. With them went an Army tug and a Navy aircraft tender.

The planes picked up the wandering transport and homed it straight into the runway of this air base. The transport landed with only 12 minutes of gas in its tanks.

Had it run out of fuel over the Pacific, however, the B-29 could have parachuted a motor boat. The other planes could have landed on the water and picked up the rest of the passengers.

It was just another job for the Air Force's air rescue service, a world-wide network of 44 squadrons that stands watch over and under the military air lanes.

The 33rd and 34th squadrons, based on Okinawa, are among the service's most important units. Together they cover the largest single area, 720,000 square miles of Pacific.

Their territory runs 600 miles north and south and about 1,200 miles east and west from Iwo Jima to the coast of Red China. Through this "critical" area flies Air Force traffic to and from Guam, Iwo Jima, Japan, the Philippines and Okinawa, all vital Far East bases.

The 20th Air Force's rescue coordination center on Okinawa works with the squadrons in controlling any plane or ship that takes part in any rescue operations.

The 33rd and 34th perform different jobs. The 33rd's for amphibians, two helicopters and two C-47s handle short-range rescue work, while the four B-29's of the 34th take the long-range missions.

During the Korean war, the 34th sent its planes with the superforts from Okinawa that pounded North Korea two nights out of three. Staying 100 miles south of the battleline, the rescue planes waited for the bombers and then escorted them back to Okinawa.

Each of the 34th's B-29's carries a long motor boat attached to the underside of the fuselage. When a plane ditches in the water, a rescue B-29 drops a boat by means of a 100-foot parachute.

The boat is equipped to feed and clothe 18 persons, and its powerful motor will take them to the nearest land. If the motor fails, the boat's emergency sails will do the trick if they are handled with an elementary knowledge of seamanship.

But equipment is no good unless it saves lives, and the 33rd can point with pride to its record.

Electrolysis Protecting Defense Fleet From Rust

SCHENECTADY, N.Y. (UP) — Vessels of the nation's mothball defense fleet are being "electrocuted" to prevent them from rusting.

An electric circuit is set up through the submerged portions of a ship and connected with a separate metal "anchor." An electrochemical reaction causes the anchor to corrode rather than the vessel.

The process is being used on 2,100 vessels of the national defense reserve fleet. It was devised by General Electric Co. engineers and the maritime administration of the Department of Commerce.

New Way to Stop Bleeding Piles Without Surgery

New York, N. Y.—(Special)—Medical research has developed a harmless, pleasant, quick-acting wonder drug called RECTORAL that it takes internally and goes right to the seat of the trouble. It does away with the old-fashioned messy, disagreeable-to-use ointments, suppositories, etc., that give little or no relief. Usually in just a few days, bleeding with any accompanying irritation and soreness begins to disappear and in a few days more is completely gone. It has been tested in thousands of cases without any return of bleeding, even years afterwards.

RECTORAL can now be obtained without prescription at Simms; J-V; Hallman Drug; Luttrell Pharmacy; Walgreen's; Thrifty; Glankster and Jones; Dunseith; Cole's; Furtney's; Rule; Quality; Keego Drug, Keego Harbor; Drayton Plains; Auburn Heights.

Guatemalan Fugitives Sought

Leftist Regime Hunting Underground Leaders; Embassies Watched

GUATEMALA (AP) —Guatemala's leftist government kept a close watch on Latin-American embassies today for fugitives from a roundup of underground opposition leaders.

Local newspapers said widespread police searches so far had uncovered nothing to support the government's charges Sunday that plans were under way for an uprising and arms had been assembled secretly.

One diplomatic source viewed this as evidence that anti-government forces had "well-organized intelligence" forces, enabling them to learn "an hour or two before the raids that they are coming so they can escape or seek refuge."

Five leading opponents of President Jacob Arbnez's regime already have found asylum in the embassies of El Salvador and Ecuador in accordance with the Latin-American political tradition that sanctuary must be given to political fugitives.

Reliable reports said the government was maintaining a guard on these and other embassies to prevent other fugitives escaping to them.

Guatemalans have been jittery since the United States began blasting their government for receiving a large shipment of arms from Communist Poland two weeks ago.

The newspaper El Espectador said "recruiters" for Col. Carlos Castillo Armas, a leading opponent of Arbenz now living in neighboring Honduras, had been discovered near the Honduran border. Without giving any source for its report, the paper said the government had found evidence of a "vast conspiracy" to build up a rebel army.

Haile Selassie to Get Ticker Tape Parade

NEW YORK (AP) — Emperor Haile Selassie, of Ethiopia, today gets his official New York reception, complete with a ticker tape showered parade through the city's downtown financial district.

The parade will be followed by an official welcome at City Hall and a luncheon at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel.

The Emperor, who has been in town for several days, preceded today's formalities with sightseeing and a visit Monday to Yankee Stadium where he delighted fans with happy informality.

Borrowing a fielder's glove from a batboy stationed just below his box at the baseball game, the dark-skinned, bearded monarch put it on and posed for a nearby amateur photographer.

Then he turned and waved his gloved hand in all directions to the applauding crowd.

PRACTICAL — Parisian designer Andre Ledour created this twosome that will probably make many women happy. It's form-fitting white linen swimsuit, left, that has a side zipper for easier dressing. The strapless swimsuit can easily be converted into a dance frock, right, with the addition of a wide skirt. Multicolored spots decorate both suit and skirt.

Coast Guard Recovers Body of Boating Victim

DETROIT (AP) — Coast Guardsmen recovered Monday the body of Kenneth Anderson, 47, of Detroit, who disappeared with two companions in a rented outboard motorboat in Lake St. Clair May 15.

The body was recovered off Harsen's Island. The body of one of his companions had been recovered earlier. The other is still missing.

Actor Jon Hall Makes More Money Loafing

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—How would you like to earn more money by loafing than working?

That enviable position is enjoyed by Jon Hall, the star of the amazingly popular TV series "Ramar of the Jungle."

"During the past five months, I haven't worked a bit," he tells us. "Yet I've made more money than I could have by working steadily for two years in the movies."

This happy prosperity is afforded by the economics of syndicated TV films. A star can work like a demon for a period, then relax and allow the films to go out and bring in the loot. In the case of "Ramar" the system has been successful beyond the backers' fondest dreams. The jungle show is on 120 stations in the United States. In many places, it draws bigger audience ratings than the top network shows.

Hall has earned his leisure. Since the handsome gent drew his first attention in "The Hurricane" in 1937, he has been working almost steadily in films, largely of the action-adventure type. But about two years ago, he struck a crossroads in his career.

"I was still working—I had a contract for three pictures a year at Columbia," he recalled. "But I wasn't getting anywhere. It's no fun if you don't think you are progressing in your career.

"Rudy Flothow, who was a producer at Columbia, came to me with the idea of doing a TV series together. At first I was reluctant to leave the security of a studio. But the idea sounded exciting, so I took a chance."

Hall's backers took a chance too. They decided they wouldn't merely make the pilot film which is used to sell TV series hopefuls. They figured prospective sponsors would say, "The first film is okay, but what happens then."

So they scraped together $252,000 and knocked out 13 films about Ramar. Hall finished his chore and left in September 1952 to entertain troops in Korea. In the two months he was gone, he kept wondering if the show would sell.

Unknown to him, the show was sold to the first station, KTTV in Los Angeles. When he returned to the States, kids at the airport shouted, "Hey, there's Ramar!"

"When I heard that, I knew we were in," he said.

The show began selling all over the country. Hall went to work turning out a total of 52 chapters at a cost of a million dollars. By now it was a safe investment. The outlay of a million was already covered by the returns before the 52 films were finished. Now the receipts are pure gravy.

This fall Ramar has to go back to work and make another 39 films. Hall doesn't mind a bit. It's not only because he is thinking of the money he's making (he figures the present series will be money makers for another 15 to 20 years). He also likes the action pictures.

Youthful Stars Ready for Olympic Finale

By H. GUY MOATS

With promise of at least one "grudge" contest, and perhaps other unusually interesting competitions, Pontiac's schoolboy Junior Olympics Wednesday reaches the big final stage at Wisner Field.

Going into the finale leaders in the overall competition are Bagley (60 points) in the elementary division and Washington (73 points) in the junior high section. In case of bad weather the meet will be held over one day, co-chairman Ed Graybiel says. Dr. George Petroff is the general chairman.

Tomorrow's track events will undoubtedly be highlighted by the junior high relay event. And the "grudge" angle will be found in this 440 yard battle, between Washington and Jefferson quartets.

In the final Suburban Junior High league meet a week or so back, Jefferson won the relay test. But here's the way of it. Washington's speedy quartet actually finished first, but one of the Braves overstepped his lane and the team was disqualified. Jefferson took home the trophy, and it's pretty certain the Washington crew is going to try to do something Wednesday about recouping for that slip.

It is understood that both schools' quartets will be about the same as those that ran in the league meet.

Just how close this event may be is seen in the times both quartets have turned in league tests. Em Ghianni's Washington four hit 48.6 while J. Andrews' Jefferson crew did it in 48.5. On that 48.5 win the Jeffs crossed the finish line a half step in front of Washington.

The relay record, set in 1952 by Washington, is 50.2 seconds. A new one is in prospect.

There also may be attacks on the 100 and 50 yard marks.

However, the century may produce a new record a bit easier than the 50. Alonzo Harris and Jack Cole's mark of 5.9 is a tough one to crack. Jimmy Williams, diminutive recent PHS track and grid star hold both A-B marks, with 10.5 and 10.7 seconds respectively. Both Jim Hawkins of Jefferson and Alex Barge of Washington have been clocked regularly around 10.9.

Willie Shaw of Washington and Archie Brooks of Jefferson who have been hitting the 75 yard dash in 8.5 and 8.5 seconds will provide a battle in the 50 yard event. Richard Conley of Eastern is another fast boy. Braves' Davis Payne is also a Class B title prospect. He is leadoff for the Washington relay team.

Brooks, and Lessie Watkins of Washington should put on a hot battle for the 75 low hurdle title. And a new mark is not entirely out of the question here, either. Both boys have done the 100 yard distance over the low sticks in 12.4 and 12.6 respectively in league meets. The record is 9.3, set by White of Jefferson in 1951.

Elementary school events are also expected to produce some highly interesting results, with the 200 yard shuttle relay the outstanding feature. Fifty yard dash is the only other elementary school event for the finale.

Opening ceremony for the big, colorful finale is set for 1 p.m. at Wisner Field. Kiwanis president William Emerson will welcome the contestants, coaches, and spectators. Assistant superintendent of schools Cecil Cox will also be heard briefly.

For the first time all spectators and concessions will be back of the field fences. This move was made to keep the track and field clear at all times.

Ray Lowry will be the starter and Wally Schloerke the chief judge. Ralph Norvell will announce the events, and results. Kiwanians and school people will round out the extensive committee handling the meet.

Junior Olympic Final Events

Final events for the Pontiac School Junior Olympics, Wednesday afternoon, include:

JUNIOR HIGH DIVISION

50-yard-dash—records—Class A, 5.9 seconds (J. Cole, 1946, Alonzo Harris, 1950) Class B, 5.9 seconds (E. White, 1950); Class C, 6.3 seconds (R. Denomme, 1946).

100 yard dash—records—Class A, 10.5 seconds (Jim Williams, 1951); Class B, 10.7 seconds (Jim Williams, 1950); Class C, 12 seconds (R. Denomme, 1946 and H. Hatchett, 1951).

75 yard low hurdles—record—9.3 seconds (E. White, 1951).

ELEMENTARY DIVISION

50 yard dash—records—Class A, 6 seconds (Willie DeWalt, 1950); Class B, 6.4 seconds (H. Hatchett, 1950); Class C, 6.5 seconds (M. Turner, 1952).

Stephens Off to Great Start in 14th Season

But Hero-Worshipping Oriole Fans Appear to Overlook Veteran

BALTIMORE (AP) — Baltimore fans, still loyal and searching for a hero to cheer on a losing team, seemed today to have mostly overlooked one of baseball's most active veterans, Junior Stephens.

The 34-year-old third baseman is starting off like a rookie instead of his 14th major league season. He's hitting at a .326 clip after getting five for eight and his fourth homer in yesterday's doubleheader with Detroit. Stephens, whose ability to go the distance was questioned because of doubtful legs, has crossed up that idea so far by being the only Oriole to play in all 40 games.

And he's the only regular to be hitting over the select .300 mark.

However, Baltimore fans have been only mildly demonstrative over Stephens' appearance at the plate. It has been noticeable particularly because they have seized any little sign of individual excellence to go into ecstasy.

Stephens just goes plodding along. As Manager Jimmy Dykes says "You don't notice him until you get somebody on base and you can almost count on him driving them in."

He has driven in 19 Orioles runs, the most on the club.

Stephens, whose proper name is Vernon, has been banging American League pitchers since 1941 when he joined the St.Louis Browns. They sold him in 1947 to the Boston Red Sox where he was a standout until 1953 when the White Sox gave four pitchers for him.

He suffered a knee injury and the Browns got him back where he hit .321 in 46 games last year. He came with the St.Louis franchise to Baltimore with a lifetime batting average of .287 and 1,740. Stephens says golf and special exercise have put his knee back in shape.

Baltimore fans continued through yesterday to "stick with the Orioles." There were 23,709 out for the Memorial Day doubleheader. That raised the total for 19 home dates to 388,609, an average of 20,453.

County Golfers Spend Busy Holiday Weekend

By JACK SAYLOR

Oakland County's golf addicts turned out in force over the 3-day holiday weekend, although the weather was somewhat less than ideal for two of the three days.

High winds undoubtedly deterred many players Saturday, while Monday morning's rain held down the total rounds for that day. However, the fine weather Sunday helped the area clubs to a good weekend.

Pontiac Municipal course had over 1,000 players, while 650, 18-hole, rounds were played over Frank Syron's Pontiac Country Club layout. Play was steady at Edgewood with over 500 rounds recorded.

Ken Wilson, Bald Mountain Golf Club manager, reported the best Saturday ever at the hilly course between Pontiac and Lake Orion, and play was heavy Sunday. Many golfers also showed up Monday afternoon after the rain ceased.

Play also was heavy at Highland Golf club, and Morey's called the weekend "very good."

Silver Lake, Twin Lakes and Stonycroft Golf clubs, a trio of popular 9-hole courses, also reported busy weekends, with Sunday ruling as the best day.

Members and guests at Oakland County's many private clubs also did plenty of golfing over the holiday, with tournaments and special events featuring the weekend play.

California's Gray Ghost, Determine, Back in Action

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP)—California's little gray ghost, Determine, is slated to make his first appearance since winning the Kentucky Derby in the $25,000 added Debonair Stakes at Hollywood Park this weekend.

Andrew Crevolin's colt, pointing toward such fixtures as the $50,000 Westerner and the $100,000 Gold Cup Handicap later in the meeting, is an eligible for the 7-furlong Debonair.

The Debonair has some other interesting eligibles, too, including the Irish importation, the Pie King, who has yet to race in this country.

Hollywood won't resume racing until Thursday, which will give the track time to count the proceeds of yesterday's Memorial Day program.

The track, counted 64,662 patrons, second highest to the record of 72,186 set on Memorial Day, 1948. Last year's attendance was 61,215.

The betting handle hit $3,354,103, as compared to $3,419,472 the same day last year. However, the handle yesterday would have been larger except for the fact that the track ordered refunded the sum of $144,149 which was brought about when the 4-5 favorite in the second race, Myrtlemoud, fell in the starting gate just before the flag went up. The filly was injured, scratched from the field and all money bet on her ordered refunded.

Rain as Good as a Victory

Spartans and Ohio Split Twin Bill, but MSC Has Advantage

EAST LANSING (AP)—A forecast of continued rain today could send Michigan State as the midwestern delegate to the NCAA baseball "Little World Series" at Omaha, Neb., June 10-14.

Spartans split a doubleheader with Ohio University yesterday. Michigan State won the 1st game, 14-10, and then dropped the seven-inning nightcap, 7-0.

The Athens, O., team matched the rubber match today—weather permitting. A flip of the coin decided that the Spartans should be the home team and if the game is rained out they would be the automatic winner.

The Athens, Ohio, teammatched Michigan State until the 7th inning of the 1st game. Then the roof fell in. Spartans went on a nine-run scoring spree, recording eight hits as 13 men went to bat.

Two homers accounted for a total of seven runs in the opener. Johnny Matsock hit a three-run home run for Michigan State in the 3rd inning and Dick Fishbaugh, of Ohio, rapped a grand slam blow in the 7th.

Greatest, Least Colorful All-Around Star Is Musial

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK (AP)—Unquestionably the greatest but least colorful all-around player in baseball is Stanley Frank Musial of Donora, Pa., and the St.Louis Cardinals.

This extraordinary hitter, superb outfielder, speedy base-runner and remarkable team player has, in a dozen seasons, established himself as one of the all-time greats of the diamond.

Musial hasn't any of the color that marks a Ted Williams, a Babe Ruth, a Leo Durocher or a Rogers Hornsby. His color is only his crisp, machine-like rocket hitting, his efficient fielding, his keen judgment on the basepaths, his determined slides.

Now in his 34th year, with six batting championships and three most valuable player awards behind him, "Stash," as he is known to his friends and teammates, gives promise of enjoying what may be his greatest of all seasons.

Certainly Musial is off to the finest start of his career with the possible exception of 1948 when he led the league in every offensive department except home runs and reached his batting high water mark of .376. Through the first six weeks of 1954, Stan compiled a .370 batting average and was out front in home runs, runs batted in and total bases.

Stan's tremendous feat of smashing five home runs in a double header against the Giants on May 2 gave him a record not even achieved by such sluggers as Babe Ruth, Lou Gehrig and Jimmy Foxx. It was after this performance that first baseman Tom Alston, rookie teammate of Stan's, remarked wistfully:

* * *

"Every time I see him hit I'm ashamed to take a bat to the plate."

Alvin Dark, star shortstop and captain of the Giants, a pretty fair hitter in his own right, calls Musial the greatest hitter he ever saw.

Landy to Make New Record Try

Aussie Star Equals 4th Fastest Time; Is Disappointed

TURKU, Finland (AP) — John Landy of Australia, who has been trying to break the four-minute mile barrier for two years, today planned a new assault on the mark during his European tour.

"I certainly will try to make it next week in Stockholm," said Landy. Yesterday, he raced the distance in 4:01.6, equalling the fourth fastest performance ever.

"I should have been able to go under four minutes," he said gloomily. "I guess I started too fast."

Before Roger Bannister of England was clocked in 3:59.4 last month, the best mile times recorded were 4:01.4 by Haegg in 1945 and 4:01.6 by Sweden's Arne Anderson in 1944. Then both were bettered last Saturday by Wes Santee of Kansas who did it in 4:01.3.

'Pontiac Day' to Be Held at Detroit Track

Kiwanians, Optimists, and Their Wives Will Visit DRC Jnne 9

According to plans announced today by the Detroit Race Course, members of two Pontiac clubs and their wives will visit the Livonia oval June 9, for "Pontiac Day".

The DRC has arranged to place the Kiwanians and Optimists, and their wives in a special section, together for the afternoon's racing. They will be at the track for luncheon also.

Track officials say that a race will be named for the visitors, and that afterwards officers and members of the clubs will visit the winner's circle to meet the winning jockey and owner, and to pose for pictures.

Joe Black on Way Back to the Minors

PHILADELPHIA (UP) — Joe Black, National League's "rookie of the year" in 1952 when his amazing relief pitching carried the Dodgers to the pennant, is on his way back to the minor leagues to search for his winning touch.

The Dodgers announced today that they have optioned the 30-year-old righthander, along with reserve catcher Charley Thompson, to their Montreal farm team of the International League.

Harvey, Mieszala on TV

DETROIT (UP)—Larue Harvey, Detroit middleweight, gets the 1st big chance of his professional career tonight in a televised eight-round bout at the Motor City Arena.

The young Detroiter will fight Chester Mieszala of Chicago, a more experienced boxer who feels pretty much at home in the Motor City ring.

700th for Yost

NEW YORK (AP)—Eddie Yost, Washington's "Iron Pony," will play in his 700th consecutive game tomorrow night with Detroit.

Not since Lou Gehrig, baseball's "Iron Horse," ended his incredible streak of 2,130 games in 1939 has any major league player been able to roll up as many as 700 games in a row.

Athletes, Politicians Run to Aid Churches

LONDON (AP) — Eight top athletes and four politicians staged a relay race through London's streets today to help raise cash for Britain's churches.

Roger Bannister, 1st to run a mile in under 4 minutes, and British runners Chris Chataway, Gordon Pirie and Chris Brasher received four 500-pound ($1400) checks from Prime Minister Churchill at 10 Downing Street.

Then the four raced off up Whitehall to Trafalgar Square, where three members of Parliament and a former legislator stood waiting in running togs. The politicians grabbed the checks, raced down the strand and finally handed over to more athletes who carried the checks on to four ancient London churches.

Sam Snead played the best golf of his career when he shot successive rounds of 66 and 65 to win the 90-hole Round Robin Invitation at Westbury, N. Y.

Irked Golfer Scores 'Par'—With a Spade

STEVENSON, Scotland (AP)—Golfer Thomas Bell was found guilty yesterday of holing out 18 times at the Ardeer Course with a spade instead of a putter.

Malicious damage, the law called it.

Witnesses said Bell was suspended from the club for ungentlemanly conduct of a nature not brought out in the testimony.

That night he sneaked on to the links and dug up every one of the greens, removing and hiding the metal cups for good measure.

Base Hit Mileage

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Red Sox and the Philadelphia Athletics got good mileage out of their base hits in the first game of yesterday's doubleheader—30 runs on 30 hits as Boston won 20-10. It was the highest scoring game of the American League season, surpassing Chicago's 14-8 victory over Baltimore.

One Shot, 2 Birdies

COLUMBUS, O. (INS)—Columbus golfer Lee Dienst racked up two birdies on a 263-yard par 4 hole yesterday. His 2nd shot with a five iron sailed up to the green and struck a robin in flight. The putt was conceded and the bird was buried.

Over 500,000 Attend Races

Nation's Horse Players Wager $33 Million Over Weekend

NEW YORK (AP)—Two days of racing across the country over Memorial Day weekend attracted 552,447 spectators who poured more than 33 million dollars through the mutuels, an Associated Press survey showed today. Ten tracks operated Saturday and 11 yesterday.

Hollywood Park operated before the biggest audience—64,662—yesterday. The throng bet $3,354,103. This figure, however, was topped by Belmont Park, whose 56,736 fans bet $3,973,750.

Garden State also went over the three million dollar mark yesterday, but only Belmont topped the figure Saturday.

Darius Now Favored for Epsom Derby Race

LONDON (AP)— Darius, winner of the classic 2,000 Guineas, ousted Rowston Manor as favorite for Wednesday's Epsom Derby at a betting call-over Monday.

Darius, 13-2 Friday, shortened to 9-2 with the big Rowston Manor going out from 6-1 to 13-2.

The French-owned and trained Ferriol, runner-up to Darius in the 2,000 Guineas, came in for a lot of support and closed at 15-2.

Hogan Ill, May Miss Round at Site of Open

FORT WORTH, Tex., June 1 (AP)—Ben Hogan said Monday he didn't know whether he would be able to go to Springfield, N. J., this week to play a round at the scene of the National Open so the nation's golf fans can "Beat Ben Hogan" Saturday.

The National Open champion became ill Saturday and had to withdraw from the Colonial Invitation tournament here. He has a virus infection.

While he is much improved, and is receiving calls at his home here, Hogan still has the virus and explained that since he would have to leave Wednesday if he is to go to Springfield for the round, he may not be able to make it.

Bosox Look Hopefully to Standings of 1948

BOSTON (AP)—Although the Boston Red Sox found themselves in sixth-place today, 11½ games off the pace-setting Cleveland Indians—a glance at the 1948 pennant race gave them encouragement.

On June 1, 1948, Boston was seventh, 11½ games back of the league-leading Philadelphia Athletics. The Red Sox surged back to force a first-place playoff with a Cleveland club managed by Lou Boudreau, current Boston pilot. Cleveland won and went on to win the World Series from the then Boston Braves.

Bosox Face Critical Period

By BEN PHLEGAR
Associated Press Sports Writer

The next 30 days should decide the fate of Boston in the 1954 American League race. Will the Red Sox bloom in June or are they doomed to second division?

After a horrible spring of injuries and bad weather forced Lou Boudreau to go with a make-do lineup that didn't, the new month finds the Red Sox settling in for an 18 game home stand in friendly Fenway Park.

They own a three game winning streak for the first time this season. They've gotten route-going performances from their pitchers in two of their last three contests. And Ted Williams is due to start bustin' out all over after being back in action for two weeks.

If the Red Sox can't move now there isn't much hope they will after the midway point since the first division teams already have a good jump—Boston is 11½ games out of first place—and the pitching staff is sprinkled liberally with untested rookies.

Boston was the only club in either league to sweep a Memorial Day doubleheader yesterday and the Red Sox did it in high style. They buried Philadelphia 20-10 in the highest scoring display of the league season, then mopped up 9-0 in the nightcap.

The Cleveland Indians stayed a game ahead of the Chicago White Sox in first place by whipping the White Sox 6-3 on Jim Hegan's eighth inning home run after losing 6-4 as Bob Keegan posted his seventh victory in eight decisions.

Washington's Senators, who cause the New York Yankees more trouble than an investigating committee, beat the World Champions 1-0 on Johnny Schmitz' three-hitter and pushed the second game into extra innings before bowing 7-6 in 10 as Spec Shea forced home the winning run with a bases-loaded walk.

Detroit rallied in the ninth for a 7-5 victory at Baltimore, then lost 4-2 to the Orioles.

In the National League, rain cut short the holiday festivities, washing out Cincinnati's doubleheader with the first place Milwaukee Braves and cutting the Chicago-St. Louis twin bill to a single seven-inning contest won by the Cubs 14-4 on six home runs, two by Hank Sauer.

Brooklyn beat Philadelphia 5-4 on Gil Hodges' 12th inning home run in a single game. Pittsburgh split with the New York Giants, winning 4-3 after losing on three hits to Ruben Gomez 4-0.

The only significant shift in the standings came in the American League. Boston moved from seventh to sixth and Baltimore from eighth to seventh as Philadelphia dropped to last.

It's Time Out!

"Maybe the skipper does pamper him, but the kid's terrific and it stopped his slobberin' about wishin' he was back on the farm!"

Twin Exhibition Set for Thursday

Plans were announced today for a double-header softball exhibition card for Thursday, June 3, at the North Side park.

Shaw's, the city's top softball club, will tangle with General Motors at 7 p. m. and then take on the CIO 594 club, starting at 8:30 p. m.

Honus Wagner led the National League in hitting eight times. This is a league record.

Pheasant Outlook Good

LANSING (AP) — Michigan pheasant hunters can be optimistic that next fall's shooting will be as good as or better than last fall.

Ralph Blouch, in charge of pheasant research for the conservation department, said that early indications were favorable for another fall crop topping one million birds.

Belmont, Heavyweight Title Bout, National Open, Pennant Races Center Sports Attention on Gotham

By GRANTLAND RICE

NEW YORK — It was Mr. James Russell Lowell, I believe, who asked—"What is so rare as a day in June? Then, if ever, come perfect day."

So far as New York is concerned, this statement is perfect. New York will be the center of the sporting colony most of the route.

This is what will happen in New York and vicinity in June. June 12—The Belmont Stakes. June 17—Rocky Marciano-Ezzard Charles battle for the heavyweight championship. June 17-18-19—The Open Golf Championship of the United States.

On many of these same dates you will find a head-on big-league clash among the Dodgers, Braves, Cardinals and Giants—plus the Indians, Yankees and White Sox.

I am not going to stand up and say whether the Belmont Stakes, the heavyweight championship, the Open Golf championship or the pennant races stand out as the big attraction this month.

They are all tops. The Belmont will be the 1st of the big shows and it is still too early to start any guessing, as no one can tell a day in advance what will happen to a star thoroughbred. Certainly, Porterhouse has his chance if the horse is ready. It may be the added distance will suit Goyamo and Correlation better.

Next in order will be the collision between Marciano and Charles. It is only natural that unwhipped Rocky will be a leading favorite over Charles. But when you mention Charles' superior boxing skill and consider that on this last stand he may lose this timid touch, you must give him some sort of a chance.

The 3rd event that arrives this month will be the Open Golf Championship at Baltusrol in New Jersey. We have in Ben Hogan and Sam Snead, two skillful crafty veterans who are in the forefront of the scene. One of the two should win, but what should happen in golf doesn't always take place.

Snead, still seeking his 1st Open after nearly 20 years of failure, should receive a big boost from his two recent victories in the Masters and the Goodall Round Robin. Hogan is always a tough man to head off. And, in addition to this pair, there are a flock of capable younger players.

Vukovich Wins 500 With Help From Pit Crew

By DALE BURGESS

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Without taking any credit from a great driver in Bill Vukovich's second straight 500-mile auto race victory yesterday, the cold statistics show that his pit crew deserves a big chunk of cash when the purse is distributed tonight.

Jack McGrath, who holds the Indianapolis Motor Speedway qualifying record, set out to run off from the field like Vukovich did last year. He was screaming around the track at an almost impossible 140 miles an hour early in the contest.

Vukovich was 1:09.59 ahead of Bryan and 1:57 ahead of McGrath.

Vukovich had made two pit stops for fuel and tires and his crew got him back on the track with a total loss of 1:42. Bryan had to make three stops and lost 2:04. McGrath stopped three times and lost 3:39, including once when his engine stalled.

Fresno friends of the short, dark and untalkative Vukovich probably will contend, with considerable reason, that if Vukovich hadn't held a full lap lead over Bryan late in the race, he would have been pushing his fuel injector special even faster than his new record of 130.840 m. p.h. He certainly wasn't loafing after starting in 19th place.

McGrath, another Californian from South Pasadena, had a phenominal average speed of 139.860 for the first 50 miles and Bryan was hardly a car length behind him at that point.

McGrath, reported later he was forced to abandon the torrid pace because of magneto trouble.

Jimmy Daywalt, later involved in a spectacular accident, led eight laps; McGrath 53; Bryan 45; Sam Hanks of Burbank, Calif., one, and Art Cross of La Porte, Ind., runnerup to Vukovich last year, two.

Daywalt hit the northwest wall, 11 laps past the midway point of the race, and bounced off into Jim Rathmann's car, in which Pat Flaherty of Glendale, Calif., was driving relief. Neither driver was hurt but the yellow "slow down" light was on 12 minutes.

But weather, pit stops and all taken into consideration, the fact remains that Vukovich has led 436 of the 600 laps in the last three Memorial Day races. And when Bryan began to press him near the 400-mile mark yesterday Vuky grabbed the wheel a little tighter and increased his lead from 20 to 49 seconds in about 30 miles.

Eighteen cars were still running at the finish.

In the money were Troy Ruttman and Duane Carter driving the fourth place car; Mike Nazaruk, North Bellmore, N. Y., fifth; Fred Agabashian, Albany, Calif., sixth; Don Freeland, Los Angeles, seventh; Paul Russo, Hammond, Ind., and relief driver Jerry Hoyt, Indianapolis, eighth; rookie Larry Crockett, Columbus, Ind., ninth, and Cal Niday, Pacoima, Calif., tenth.

The crowd appeared a little smaller than last year's estimated 250,000, possibly because of an early morning rain. The Speedway never discloses its gate.

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Just when the Salt Lake Bees baseball team wanted to look its best it suffered a 31-5 defeat. It was the largest one-team run total in Pioneer League history.

The Bees, a farm club of the Philadelphia Phillies, were leading the league and Eddie Collins Jr., assistant farm supervisor for the Phils, had come to see them play.

Matthews, Cockell Meet With Eye on Title Shot

LONDON, (AP)—Harry Matthews of Seattle tackles Don Cockell, heavyweight champion of Britain, tonight in a 10-rounder with a possible shot at the world title the rich prize dangling before the winner.

The fight is scheduled for 4:30 p.m. (EST) in the 54,000-seat White City Stadium.

The tubby Britain, who is ranked third among the world contenders for Rocky Marciano's crown, is rated a 4-7 favorite and that has him worried.

"They'll expect too much," he complained. "I'm happier when they call me the underdog. It makes me more determined to go in and win."

Most British sports writers have made Cockell their firm choice and the widely read Boxing News commented:

"The outcome of this fight will elevate the victor into such prominence that he cannot possibly be denied the right to style himself a logical contender for the world championship."

Cockell jumped into a contender's spot when he defeated Roland La Starza in London on March 30.

Matthews is down to his best fighting weight of 180 pounds and Jack Hurley, his manager, reported that he has had seven sparring sessions since arriving here on May 21.

Sidelining of Native Dancer Muddles Writer's Selection of 'Horse-of-Year'

By ORLO ROBERTSON

NEW YORK (AP) — The experts who annually select the 1954 turf champions are going to have to do a lot of head scratching this year unless some horse manages right soon to put together a respectable winning streak.

Of course June 1 is a little too early to start nominating 2-year-olds for honors but usually by this time the situation in the 3-year-old and handicap divisions is pretty well settled. It was last year with Native Dancer dominating the 3-year-old division and Tom Fool bossing the handicap aces.

The grey Dancer figured to have his way this year in the handicap class but right now he is on the sidelines nursing a sore tootsie. Just when he'll return to the races not even owner Alf Vanderbilt or trainer Bill Winfrey can say.

And with Vanderbilt's big grey absent, the other members of the division have been beating each other almost with every shift in weights. Straight Face has a claim to the title off his victory in yesterday's Suburban at Belmont Park, after being nosed out by the Dancer in the mile of the Metropolitan Handicap two weeks ago.

Imbros looked like he was going somewhere on the West Coast for Andy Crevolin, but he has been whipped in his last three starts.

Native Dancer can save the experts a lot of brain work if he gets back to work shortly. The Brooklyn Handicap at Aqueduct on July 10 offers the next big opportunity for the grey to show he's still boss.

The 3-year-olds, are in just as much trouble. Right now Determine has the inside track off six straight stake victories on the West Coast and a surprise triumph in the Kentucky Derby.

Over 500,000 See Weekend Baseball

NEW YORK (AP) — Major league baseball attracted 502,876 spectators over the Memorial Day weekend, Associated Press figures showed today.

The National League played to 263,958 while the American League drew 238,818.

The largest crowd was the 47,672 at the Brooklyn-New York game at the Polo Grounds Saturday while the smallest gathering was the 1,412 which appeared at the Washirgton at Philadelphia game also on Saturday.

200 Athletes Entered in State AAU Events

MT. PLEASANT (AP)—Some 200 state amateur trackmen gathered today for the annual Michigan AAU championships at Central Michigan College.

Expected to enter full squads were Michigan Normal, the Interstate Intercollegiate Athletic Conference champion, and Western Michigan, which placed 2nd in the Mid-America Conference meet.

Also entered in several events were the Detroit Police department, Michigan State and the University of Michigan.

Snider's Catch Ruins Strategy of Steve O'Neill

In the eighth inning, the Phillies trailed 3-1 and had two men on base. Shortstop Bobby Morgan, who had homered in his last time at bat, was lifted by O'Neill for pinch-hitter Smoky Burgess, a catcher. Burgess looked at two balls and then lined one over the right field wall for his first circuit blow of the season. It gave the Phils a temporary 4-3 edge.

After Gil Hodges homered in the 12th to put the Dodgers in the lead, 5-4, Snider raced to the left centerfield wall and with his back to the playing field, leaped almost to the walltop to grab a liner from the bat of third baseman Willie Jones. A base hit would have scored two Phillies runners on base at the time and won the game.

4 Champions Named in WIBC's Windup

SYRACUSE, N.Y., June 1 (AP)—Four champions were crowned Monday as the Women's International Bowling Congress tournament ended with final competition in the singles, doubles and all events brackets.

There was no change in the standings as the result of Monday's play.

The doubles title went to the Rockford, Ill., team of Fran Stennett and Rose Caccioch, who posted a 1244.

Team competition had ended last night, with the Marhoefer Weiner five of Chicago in first place.

30 Americans Compete in French Tourney

PARIS (AP)—A field of 30 amateur American golfers, headed by Frank Strafaci, teed off today in an effort to regain the French International Championship won last year by France's Roger Lagarde.

The pairings listed 93 players from the United States, France, Britain, Spain, Canada, Portugal, Belgium, Switzerland, Ireland, South Africa and Italy.

Strafaci of Garden City, N. Y., is the top American in a field largely made up of weekend golfers from all over Europe.

One of the big threats is French ace Henri de Lamaze, who captured the title four years running following its renewal after World War II. The four-day tournament will be played over the 6,400-yard, par 73 St. Germain course.

Trainer George Lentz of the Washington Senators formerly was a trainer for Catholic University and George Washington University.

Wet Grounds Halt City League Game

Monday's scheduled Class A City League baseball game between General Motors and CIO 594 was postponed because of wet grounds at Wisner Field. The game will be made up Friday, June 4.

Tonight's game will be played on the Columbia-Joslyn south diamond and sends the Union nine against the Pontiac Jets at 5:30 p.m. Games also are listed Wednesday, Thursday, with the make-up game slated Friday.

Next Sunday, the 1st of a series of double headers is scheduled at Wisner Field. GMC and Auburn Merchants tangle in the opener at 1:30, with CIO and Oliver Buick meeting in the nightcap.

Huntwork Wins Opener at Pontiac Yacht Club

Judy Kay, skippered by Les Huntwork, won the 1st official sailing pace of the Pontiac Yacht Club season Sunday at Cass Lake. Eighteen boats participated over a 6-mile course.

Monday's races were cancelled because of inclement weather. Huntwork's crew was Hank Callahan and Judy Huntwork. Fred Prince was 2nd in Princess, crewed by Bill Davies and Jane Prince, while Al Oberson's Gizmo was 3rd, with a crew of Bob Greishaber and Bill Bonner.

PYC will race again next Sunday.

Avila's Hitting Prime Factor in Tribe's Success

Indian's 2nd Baseman Tops AL Batting Race With .388 Average

NEW YORK (AP)—The steady hitting of Bobby Avila has been one of the prime factors in the success of the first place Cleveland Indians this season. The Mexican second baseman's sizzling stickwork gives him the top spot in the American League batting race today with a .388 average, 27 points ahead of teammate Al Rosen.

In five seasons with the tribe, Avila has compiled a .297 lifetime batting mark, but now he seems headed for his best campaign. Avila, who will celebrate his 28th birthday June 7, boosted his average six points last week. He collected 12 hits in 29 trips, including five doubles and a homer.

Runnerup Rosen is batting .361 and is the league leader in both home runs with 13 and RBI's with 49. Rookie Bill Tuttle of the Tigers ranks third at .343 Figures include Monday's games.

The National League hitting race is nip and tuck with Stan Musial of the Cardinals holding a one-point edge over teammate Ray Jablonski. Musial, seeking his seventh batting title, gained 15 points and is swinging along at a .374 clip. Jablonski, last week's pacesetter, has a .373 mark and Don Mueller of the Giants is third at .365.

Musial has the most runs batted in, 52, while Hank Sauer of the Cubs heads the home run department with 16.

Sports Briefs

BASEBALL

PHILADELPHIA — Joe Black, rookie-of-the-year for 1952, was optioned to the Montreal Royals of the International League.

TENNIS

MANCHESTER, England—Doris Hart of Coral Gables, Fla., and Shirley Fry of Akron, Ohio, gained the third round in the Northern Lawn Tournament.

RACING

NEW YORK — Straight Face ($4.90) won the $62,500 Suburban Handicap at Belmont Park.

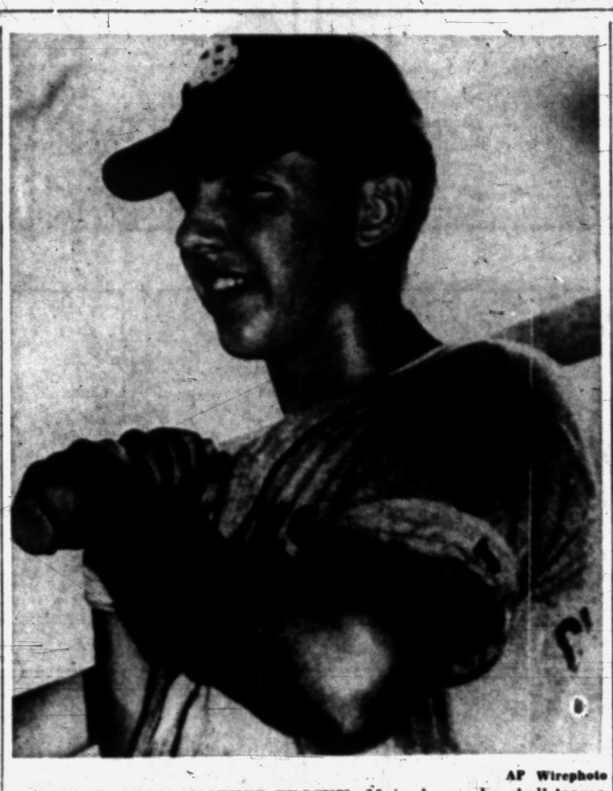

SALEM, N. H. — Jockey Tony Despirito won five races including the Memorial Purse on Soldier's Son ($4.40) at the opening of Rockingham Park.

Phillies Setting Pace in Triples Department

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The Philadelphia Phillie, who led the National League in triples with 62 last year, again are out front in this department.

In a doubleheader at Pittsburgh yesterday, Earl Torgeson, Granny Hamner, Johnny Wyrostek and Richie Ashburn all hit three-baggers to raise the Phillies' total to 21 for the year.

MAJORS SEEK ANOTHER TROSKY—Major league baseball teams hope to put another Hal Trosky on their roster. Hal Trosky Jr., 18 (above), son of the famous Cleveland and White Sox first baseman, is sought by at least 12 major league clubs. Young Hal, also a first baseman, may shun baseball for Notre Dame next fall.

Perez Good, But Must Learn, Old-Timer Says

NEW YORK (AP)—Johnny Kilbane featherweight champ from 1912 to 1923, rates Lulu Perez, current contender, "a very good boy who still has a lot to learn."

Grey-haired Johnny, now 65, watched the flashy Brooklyn kid easily whip Cleveland's Mickey Mars last night on a unanimous decision after 10 fast rounds at St. Nicholas Arena.

"Both Lulu and Mars had better learn how to move," said Kilbane. "They're both too easy to hit. The only way to beat Perez is by leading."

Perez goes to training camp Friday to get ready for his 12-round elimination bout with Percy Bassett June 25 at Madison Square Garden. The winner has been promised a title shot at champion Sandy Saddler in the fall.

As Perez had been out of action for three months, due to a glandular condition, since he stopped ex-champ Willie Pep in two rounds, Feb 26, his handlers were more than satisfied.

Lulu breezed home as a 3-1 favorite should, 10-0 on the card of referee Barney Felix, 9-1 from Judge Americo Schiavone and 8-2 from Judge Harold Barnes.

He floored Mars with a solid right in the fifth round, staggered him in the first, third, eighth and tenth.

Mihalo Claims New 440 Walking Mark

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—A Detroit walker, William Milhalo, 33, claims a new record for a quarter mile.

He walked 440 yards in 1 minute, 7 seconds yesterday and will submit the mark for recognition by the World's Professional Walkers Assn. He said the old record is 1 minute, 26 seconds by M. H. Donovan at Westport, N.Y., on Sept. 15, 1897.

Milhalo plans to start Aug. 8 walking to New York in an attempt to set a transcontinental record of 56 or 57 days. He said the existing record is 80 days, New York to San Francisco, by John Ennis in 1910.

Gracious Host Tough Skipper at Race Time

After being a gracious host to about 70 sailors and guests at a 9 o'clock breakfast, Memorial Day, Commodore Glenn Fries in Jo Dee became a real fighting sailor and brought Jo Dee across the finish line in first place after a stirring race with Jack Berlien's Ramblin Rascal. Only a half boat length separated these Watkins Lake Yachting Association lightnings.

In the Thistle class Kritz Kraft, skippered by Karl Kreitz, came in first, Ted Shadd's Dream Boat was second.

M. Hoskins in the small boat class sailed a very good race for an easy win. D. Glossop took the runnerup spot.

This year's fleet of 22 is the highest in WYLA history and with the interest and enthusiasm shown, a fine season is expected.

Racing Fans Active Monday

Over 33,000 Attend Two Detroit Tracks, Wager $1½ Million

DETROIT (AP) — Holiday racing fans passed more than one and one-half million dollars through the pari-mutuel machines at Detroit's two operating tracks Monday.

A crowd of 27,383 wagered a total of $1,323,069 on the nine-race program at the Detroit Race Course. The crowd bet $185,750 of this on the $15,000 F. M. Alger Memorial Handicap won by G and G Stable's Money Broker.

A crowd of 5,875 braved rain and wind to wager $224,678 on a nine race program.

Nature Beats Man in Thinning Rabbits

DES MOINES (AP) — Rabbits may be the favorite target of American hunters, but the human attention they get doesn't make much difference to the cottontails, an Iowa Wildlife Research unit says.

In a study area, more than half the season's crop of rabbits had been harvested by animal predators and nature before hunting started, and Nimrods accounted for less then 4 per cent of the final bag.

Ted's Average .408

BOSTON—Slugger Ted Williams of the Boston Red Sox sported a .408 batting average today—a shade higher than the terrific .407 with which he wound up the 1953 season after returning from the Korean War. He has four homers among his 20 hits and has batted in 15 runs.

Single in Ninth Breaks 4-4 Tie in First Game

House, Bolling Provide Clincher; but Bengals Drop Nightcap

BALTIMORE (AP) — Detroit shortstop Harvey Kuenn, last season's American League "rookie of the year," couldn't have picked a better time to end a batting slump.

Kuenn, held hitless in 21 prior trips to the plate, pounded a 9th inning single through the box, paving the way for Detroit's split of a Memorial Day doubleheader with the Baltimore Orioles. The Tigers won the 1st game, 7-5, and dropped the nightcap, 4-2.

Kuenn's timely hit broke a 4-4 deadlock, sending rookie Al Kaline home and moving Frank House to 3rd. Kaline had singled and House had been given an intentional pass before Kuenn sent a grounder into centerfield. Frank Bolling followed with a double, scoring both House and Kuenn.

Orioles outhit Detroit in the opener, 14 to 9, collecting their hits off George Zuverink and Ray Herbert, the eventual winner. However, Baltimore left 15 men stranded on the bases.

Vern Stephens put the Orioles out in front 1-0 in the 2nd game.

Then Sam Mele's double, Jim Fridley's triple and Chico Garcia's successful squeeze bunt provided two more Baltimore runs in the 4th inning.

Mele also rapped a triple to drive across an insurance run in the 8th.

Kaline, playing in his old home town, was the day's batting star for the Tigers. The 19-year-old outfielder pounded out four singles and a double in seven trips to the plate.

Detroit winds up the current stand at Baltimore with a night game tonight. Ralph Branca (2-0) is scheduled to start for Detroit. Tigers were to face Joe Coleman (4-4).

Selassie Sees Stengel Tossed Out of Game

Ethiopian Emperor Is Impressed by His 1st Baseball Game

NEW YORK, June 1 (AP)—Emperor Haile Selassi of Ethiopia was an interested spectator at Monday's doubleheader between the New York Yankees and Washington Senators and, among other things, saw Yankee Manager Casey Stengel thrown out of the game by plate Umpire John Stevens.

His Imperial Highness said it was the first time he ever had witnessed a baseball game but added he was impressed by the "extraordinary athletic ability" exhibited by the players and "crispness and fastness" with which the game was played.

Speaking through an interpreter, the Emperor said at first the game was "very confusing." After a while he was able to understand it pretty well, he said.

"This game of yours is not difficult to understand," he said smilingly. "The idea as I see it, is for the person with the—what you call it—bat?—to return to his position after visiting each cushion."

Emperor Selassi didn't see many players "return to his position" during the first game which was won by the Senators 1-0.

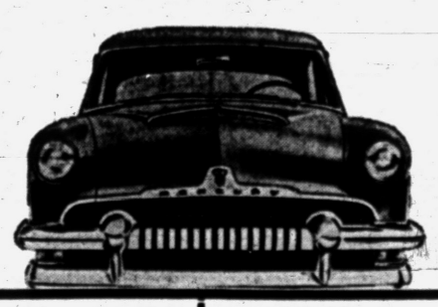

SWIFT KICK—George Resavage of Castle Shannon made the mistake of getting between the ball and Lloyd Monsen with rather painful results. Lifted clear off the ground, either by Monsen's aid or his own doing, Resavage managed to block the ball with his middle. Action took place during the national challenge cup eastern finals in New York.

Girls Told to Marry Boss to Chill His Office Ardor

NEW YORK (AP)—What can the poor working girl do to protect herself against "the overfriendly boss?"

I thought this problem went out about the time "Bessie, the Sewing Machine Girl" was a big hit. But apparently it didn't, and now Congress may have to consider it in revising the Taft-Hartley Act.

An office worker, writing to Patricia Porter of the Boston Traveler, recently raised the question of "how to discourage the office boss from conveniently placing his hands on (a girl's) shoulders, arms or back while discussing business matters."

Admitting that it was a touchy subject and that often such gestures by the boss were completely friendly and an attempt to express their appreciation for work well done, the writer added, however:

"The majority of girls are embarrassed and uncomfortable when it occurs . . . none enjoy it . . . (and) it results more often in strained employer-employe relationship than in a friendly business-like one."

At a drugstore counter where a number of girls from several offices crunch down their malted milk lunches, I made an informal poll on what they thought about this problem of "the overfriendly boss."

Their reaction was mixed—and entirely feminine. Most of them said their own particular boss was more of a querulous old mouse than a wolf.

"It's the junior executives who act like office juvenile delinquents today," said one. "Every once in a while you meet one whose idea of exercise is to ask you to stay late and then chase you ten laps around the water cooler."

"My boss does pinch me every once in a while," said a plump young file clerk, blushing. "But he doesn't mean anything by it. He's the fatherly type. He says he just wants to be sure that I'm not getting undernourished."

"When my boss puts his arm on my shoulder, it's anything but love," remarked a stenographer. "He only does it after one of those four-martini, three-hour business luncheons, and he just wants something to lean on until he can reach his swivel chair. What the guy really needs some days, though, is artificial respiration."

"Heavens, I wish my boss — or anybody else—would put his arm around me," said a secretary. "After 25 years behind the same old hot typewriter, I've forgotten what it feels like."

"I wish my boss would thaw out more," admitted another stenographer. "After all if he were trying to put his arm around me, he'd shut up about what a lousy speller I am."

The girls went into a huddle when I asked them what was the best way to curb an employer who really did insist on getting overfriendly on company time.

"Every time he reached for you," suggested one, "just ask him for a raise. Boy, his arm will flop down as if you'd hit it with a crowbar."

"Well, in the old days I guess a working girl always kept a hatpin handy," said a second. "If my boss bothered me, you know what I'd do? I'd sew half a dozen thumbtacks in the waist and shoulders of my dress—with the points sticking out. Imagine how he'd look after he pawed over three sharp thumbtacks."

The other girls laughed merrily at the mental picture of the boss winning his office purple-heart the hard way. But they all agreed the cynical, middle-aged spinster secretary had an even better answer.

"The best way for a girl to cure an overfriendly boss is to marry him," she said, acidly. "That seems to cool any man down."

Police Find Roof Leak

NEW BRITAIN, Conn. (UP) — A woman phoned police when she became upset over strange noises in her attic. Police solved the mystery. The noises were caused by water leaking through the roof during a rainstorm.

Grains Hold Up, Except Wheat

CHICAGO (AP)—Most grains held up fairy well on the board of trade today but wheat sank under mild hedging pressure. Dealings were fairly active.

July soybeans got off to a good start and that apparently helped the rest of the bean list. Some of the distant contracts eased in early dealings but recovered later in sympathy with the strength in July 1. Feed grains didn't show much change.

Wheat near the end of the first hour was ¾ to 1¼ lower, July $1.91⅞, corn ⅛ lower to ⅛ higher, July $1.53⅛, oats ⅛ to ¼ lower, July 69⅜, rye unchanged to ¼ lower, July 99½, soybeans ½ lower to 7¼ higher, July $3.64 and lard 5 to 52 cents a hundred pounds higher, July $17.92.

Production Upswing Continues at GMC

Continuing a sharp production upswing, GMC Truck and Coach Division last week produced 2,010 vehicles. This compared with 1,999 in the previous week.

Ward's Automotive Reports said the 2,010 figure is the highest since the week ending April 24 when 2,095 trucks were turned out.

Police Continue Search for Restaurant Burglars

Owners of the Dairy Bar at 28 S. Broadway, reported that about $250 was taken from a safe and a cash register by burglars.

Operators of the Village Restaurant, next door at 26 S. Broadway, told police their establishment also had been entered, but that an attempt to reach the cash box in the juke box failed. Nothing was reported taken from the Village Restaurant.

Stocks Follow Irregular Trend

NEW YORK (AP)—Irregular price movements marked the Stock Market today with aircrafts and non-ferrous metals ahead in the early afternoon.

The best gains went to between 1 and 2 points while losses were fractional, and that range of change gave the market a higher tinge.

Trading after the three-day holiday was moderate at a rate around two million shares for the day. Friday's total was 1,940,000 shares, the first time business fell below two million shares in two weeks.

Aircrafts and non-ferrous metals made by far the best showing. Oils were slightly higher, and the rails were ahead on balance because of the strength of a few issues.

The steels were lower after a better start, and many chemicals were easy.

Car, Truck Exports Gain in 1st 4 Months

Car and truck exports in the first four months of this year increased 14.6 per cent over the same period in 1953, according to Ward's Automotive Reports.

The statistical agency said 142,356 vehicles went abroad in the January-April period, compared with 124,231 in the four-month span last year.

The breakdown shows 81,687 cars and 60,584 trucks went overseas. The 1953 count consists of 75,842 cars and 48,301 trucks.

In 1953, exports totaled 325,100 units.

Man's Arm Is Injured in Motorcycle Crash

William O. King, 20, of 57 Mechanic St., was treated at Pontiac General Hospital Monday for arm bruises received when his motorcycle went out of control at the entrance of Dodge Park 1.

King told Oakland County sheriff's deputies the front wheel of the bike hit a loose chain on the roadway.

Sentenced for Breakin

Sylvan Kelly, 17, was placed on three years probation and assessed $150 costs today by Circuit Judge Frank L. Doty for breaking into a grocery store at 6891 Williams Lake Rd. May 1. Kelly, of 140 Marion St., pleaded guilty May 17 to entering the store and stealing several cartons of cigarettes. He was apprehended by police following a minor auto accident.

Robert M. St. John, 17, of 26651 Park Ct., Royal Oak Township, was placed on three years' probation and assessed $150 costs today by Circuit Judge Frank L. Doty for auto theft. St. John pleaded guilty May 17 to stealing a car from a Birmingham auto agency, April 29 and driving to Grand Rapids.

County Building Notice Expected

City Commission May Get Decision Tonight on Land for Site

Pontiac City Commission tonight is expected to receive a communication from Waterford Township containing official notice that the township is willing to detach over 100 acres of its land for use as a site for a new county office building.

Oakland County requested the township's move and has asked Pontiac to annex the property which lies east of Telegraph road near the Grand Trunk Railroad right-of-way.

Other scheduled action includes consideration of a resolution asking the State Department of Conservation to sell to Pontiac seven parcels of property for road improvement purposes.

A report is slated from the city manager on a request from the Pontiac General Hospital Board of Trustees for permission to buy two lots near the hospital.

Applications are expected from the Elks Lodge No. 810 for permission to hold a carnival July 12 to 24 and have a rodeo at Wisner Stadium June 18 through 20.

Other slated action includes:

A public hearing on intention to construct curb, gutter, drainage and related work on Florence from Augusta to the DGH & M Railroad.

A public hearing on a special assessment roll for curb, gutter, drainage and related work on First from Barkell to Fuller.

A resolution to receive a special assessment roll for construction of water main on E. Walton from existing hydrant 800 feet east.

Public hearings on reinstating to the 1954 public improvement program planned construction of curb, gutter, drainage and related work on Barkell from Raskob to Columbia and on Second from Joslyn to Barkell.

Plead Guilty to Theft at Local Dairy Bar

Two Pontiac men pleaded guilty today before Circuit Judge Frank L. Doty to the armed robbery of a soda bar at 228 W. Walton Blvd. April 20.

Lee D. Bates, 20, of 80 Omar St. and Francisco M. Mendez, 26, of 61 Pine St., were returned to Oakland County Jail until sentencing June 14.

The pair admitted brandishing two revolvers and robbing night manager, Mrs. Annie Donelow, 1697 Taylor Rd., of $46. They denied the charge when arraigned before Judge Doty May 3.

Trusty at County Jail Walks Away at 10 A. M.

A trusty serving a 90-day sentence for larceny from a building walked away from Oakland County Jail about 10 a.m. today.

Sheriff's deputies identified the man as Summie Cox, 45, of 831 Inglewood Ave. They said he is 5 feet, 9½ inches tall, weighs 178 pounds, has gray hair and blue eyes, and was wearing blue denim trousers and a blue shirt.

Cox was a trusty on the furnace detail.

Pontiac Auto Production Reaches 8,100 Units

Pontiac Motor division's production reached an estimated 8,100 cars during each of the past two weeks, according to Ward's Automotive Reports.

The output figures for the two seven-day spans were five per cent above the previous week. The division built 35,091 cars in April.

Hit-and-Run Crash Sends Man to Jail

A Brown City motorist, involved in a hit-run accident Monday, is in Oakland County Jail today after he pleaded guilty to driving under the influence of liquor.

Willard Taulbee, 34, was given a 20-day stentence and assessed $120 fine and costs by Orion Township Justice Helmerr G. Stanaback. Failure to pay the fine will add another 70 days to the sentence, Stanaback said.

Oakland County sheriff's deputies said they arrested Taulbee after he fled the scene of an accident involving his car and one owned by D. B. Guthrie of Utica. Guthrie reported Taulbee's license number to deputies after the accident on Gerald road near Harrison in Avon Township.

Dentist-Slayer Waits Charges

Detroiter K. B. Small Held at Allegan After Jealousy Shooting

ALLEGAN (AP) — Formal charges still were pending today against Dr. Kenneth B. Small, the Detroit dentist who Saturday admitted to state police he shot and killed the rival for his wife's affections.

Dr. Small is held in Allegan County jail for investigation of murder pending return from the Upper Peninsula of Prosecutor Dwight M. Cheever. Cheever was grounded in Sault Ste. Marie Monday night while flying his private plane back to Allegan from a holiday weekend.

Formal charges and arraignment of Dr. Small, originly scheduled for today, were expected to be delayed possibly until Wednesday.

State Police said Dr. Small, 31, stalked into a house party at a summer home near Douglas on Lake Michigan and fired two shots that killed Jules Lack, wealthy 45-year-old New York industrialist.

Mrs. Edith Small, 30, was one of four witnesses to the shooting. Her husband claimed she had asked him for a divorce after meeting Lack in Florida last winter.

Dr. Small said his wife had left Detroit Thursday for a weekend with friends in Chicago. He learned of her whereabouts by tracing a telephone call she made Friday to their three children.

After the shooting the dentist gave his gun to a gardener at the summer home owned by Mrs. Vivian Gates of Chicago, and waited for police to arrive.

Sheriff Walter E. Runkel said Dr. Small showed remorse in his jail cell, repeating "I shouldn't have done it; I must have been crazy."

Engineers Engaged for A-Power Plant

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Boston firm, Stone & Webster Engineering Corp., has been selected to perform architect-engineering services in connection with an atomic power plant to be constructed near Shippingport, Pa.

Announcing this today, the Atomic Energy Commission said Stone & Webster would help with the design of the nuclear portion of the pressurized water reactor, projected as the first commercial-sized, experimental plant to produce electric power from atomic energy.

The government will repay Stone & Webster for its actual costs, plus a fee of $1, AEC said.

The Boston firm will be a subcontractor under the Westinghouse Electric Corp., which has responsibility for development and construction of the nuclear portion of the project under a contract with AEC.

The turbine-generator portion is to be designed and constructed by the Duquesne Light Co. of Pittsburgh.

Unidentified Ship Shoots at Island Off South Korea

SEOUL (AP)—South Korean national police said today an unidentified ship machine-gunned an uninhabited island, Takeshima, in the Japan Sea last Tuesday.

The island, off Korea's east coast, is claimed by both Japan and Korea.

French Speed Delta Defenses

Believe Four Vietminh Divisions Heading for Choben Valley

HANOI, Indochina (AP) — The French speeded defense plans in the Choben Valley today as speculation spread that four Vietminh divisions knifing toward the Red River Delta from Dien Bien Phu planned to hit that sector first.

For the past week the French have been mopping up shadow patrols infiltrating into the area 40 miles southwest of Hanoi. Some French sources estimated the enemy's main striking force could reach the valley on the Black River in about four weeks.

French Army sources in Saigon said a fifth rebel division which took part in the Dien Bien Phu capture — the 351st Artilley — already has reached its base 45 miles northwest of Hanoi.

The other four divisions — 304, 312, 308 and 316 — are moving along a mountain route which the French are bombing daily with American-supplied B26s, Bearcats and Corsair fighter planes.

These units are expected to reach their bases in about a week.

The French continued other mop-up operations inside the delta. Yesterday, they reported 52 Vietminh killed and 16 captured in scattered action.

French Union armor and infantry, operating under heavy air cover, routed rebel patrols from a wide area in the Phu Ly sector 30 miles south of Hanoi.

French fighters and bombers also went to the aid of the Chonoi outpost near Hung Yen, 30 miles southeast of Hanoi, where a third big rebel assault was beaten off.

U.S. Exchanges Bread 'Secret' With English

YORK, Eng., (INS)—American Army authorities in Britain today assured British bakers that the art of making American white bread is not "top secret."

Britons who had tasted the bread supplied to U. S. bases around York considered it much superior to the usual English loaf.

"Cloak and dagger" attempts to obtain the valuable recipe from a York master baker who was supplying one of the U. S. camps was unsuccessful.

He would, he insisted, have to receive permission of the American authorities before he could disclose the exact measurements of the ingredients.

Appeals to Captain R. E. Sewell, Eldon, Mo., commanding the company of No. 804 Engineer Aviation Battalion, brought an immediate response. Said the Captain cheerfully:

"Sure, you can have the recipe and the quantities; there's nothing secret about it.

"To make 20 lb. loaves you need one 14½ ounce can of evaporated milk, one gallon of water. Six ounces of lat, 10 ounces of granulated sugar, 15 lbs. of sifted flour and 12 ounces of shortening."

Nurse Remembers 1,500 Babies in Her Career

SAN FRANCISCO (UP)—There have been 1,500 babies in the life of Mrs. Helen Fanwing, a registered nurse who has worked in delivery rooms here since 1900.

She refers to them all as "my babies", and is proud that she how is helping bring second and third generations into the world.

The 77-year-old nurse never has had any children of her own, but the walls of her apartment are covered with pictures of her "children" from infancy to adulthood. Seven of her babies became brides last year.

Is It Human? Big Bone Sent to Laboratory

A 10-inch bone found in a wooded section of Southfield Township yesterday has been sent to the Michigan State Police laboratory at Lansing for a check to determine whether it came from a human skeleton.

Trooper John Hughes of the Redford Post said there is no evidence at this time to indicate it is from a human.

The bone was found by a dog. A State police search failed to turn up any other bones, said Hughes.

Chemist Sees Earth as Dust Collection

DALLAS, Tex. (INS)— Dr. Harold C. Urey, famous nuclear scientist and Nobel prize winner, believes the earth is made of space dust and not a cooled-down piece of the sun.

Dr. Urey, a professor of chemistry in the Institute for Nuclear Studies at University of Chicago, has been studying the origin of the earth since 1946.

He said in a Dallas address that he believes those persons who contend that the earth was a molten bit of the sun thrown into space and lodging itself in an orbit are wrong. He said:

"The earth was formed by the accumulation of space particles and in very low temperatures."

Supporting his theory, Dr. Urey said that there are chemical elements on earth that never were in the sun.

Refinery Blast Burns 3 Men

80-Foot Flames Follow Explosion at Keystone in Detroit

DETROIT (AP) — Three men were burned, two critically, today in a flaming explosion at the Keystone Refining Co. Damage was estimated at $100,000.

The explosion, accompanied by an 80-foot sheet of flame, was in the main cracking unit of the plant. Other units escaped damage.

Those injured were Charles Vincent, 45, critical burns over his entire body; Lee Hogel, 38, critical burns on the face, chest and hands, and Robert Lemke, 28, burn on the left arm. All are Detroiters.

The cracking unit consists of several tanks connected by a maze of pipes in chich crude oil is processed into a variety of by-products including fuel oil and gas.

Man, Woman Draw Terms for Robbery

A Detroit man and woman were sentenced to prison today by Circuit Judge Frank L. Doty for the August 1952 armed robbery of a Ferndale gas station at 21357 Woodward Ave. in which $86 was stolen.

Connie Carver, 23, and Vernon Bruce, 26, no permanent addresses, pleaded guilty to the charge May 17. Miss Carver was sentenced to 1½ to 10 years in Detroit House of Correction and Bruce received a 3 to 10-year sentence in Southern Michigan Prison at Jackson.

Miss Carver's testimony was credited with convicting three men of the armed robbery of the Fox and Hounds Inn last November and Judge Doty told her today that her cooperation with officials saved her an extra 10 years in prison.

Students Donate Books to Combat Communism

DELAWARE, Ohio (UP) — Ohio Wesleyan University students have begun a "battle of the books" to combat Communist propaganda in low-cost text books subsidized by the Russian government in other nations.

Dr. Robert E. Shanklin, assistant geology professor, said the idea began with Dr. Shannon McGune of Colgate University, now a visiting professor at the University of Tokyo, who wrote to him about the many bookshops flooded with cheap Communist texts. He said American texts were available to the students, but that they cost about 15 times as much. He urged that a program be launched to make American books available to the Japanese at low cost.

Dr. Shanklin passed the idea along to his students. They erected posters and passed out handbills urging all students to donate the textbooks they would otherwise sell at the end of each semester to Japan.

Dr. McCune has promised to give the books he receives to students at his and other Japanese universities at a nominal fee of about 50 cents apiece. With the proceeds he has promised to buy Japanese books, journals or maps and send them to the students who donated the American texts.

Man Gets 2-5 Years for Attempted Breakin

Ralph Smith, 31, was sentenced to two to five years in Southern Michigan Prison at Jackson today by Circuit Judge Frank L. Doty for the attempted breakin of a grocery store at 1203 Woodward Heights, Ferndale, last February.

Smith, of 1392 Coolidge St., River Rouge, pleaded guilty May 19. A companion, James Barefoot, 23, of 410 Baker St., Royal Oak, was placed on two years' probation for the same offense May 24. The pair was arrested by police while forcing the door of the market.

First Telecast Called Lullabye

Agnes Moorhead Stars in New Whodunit Play in Summer Series

NEW YORK—A series of eight suspense plays of proven impact will be presented under the title, The Best in Mystery, in the time spot of the vacationing Big Story in the near future.

Thomas F. Vietor of Sullivan, Stauffer, Colwell and Bayles, Inc., advertising agency, is supervisor for the series.

He screened more than 100 filmed mystery dramas before making his selections, several of which never have been presented before in most of the major television areas.

The first telecast, Lullabye, will star Agnes Moorhead, Tom Drake and Bety Lynne. The others, in sequence, will be: Lost Kid, with Elizabeth Patterson, Mary Field Makes a Pass, with Lloyd Corrigan and Jay Novello; Account Closed, with George Nader and Carolyn Jones; The Watchers and the Watched, with Fay Roope and Lynn Roberts; Frozen Escape, with Jorja Cartwright and Morris Ankrum; Death Has No System, with Kim Spaulding and Alex Talton; Victim Ann Norville, with James Milliken and Marilyn Erskine.

Big Story, a documentary series based on actual experiences of reporters in covering their biggest assignments, will return Friday Sept. 10.

Mrs. Berle Dies in New York at 77

NEW YORK (UP)—Mrs. Sandra Berle, who guided the early career of her son, television comedian Milton Berle, and backed up his jokes with enthusiastic laughter, died last night. She was 77.

Berle often quipped that "Mom" was his best fan and he would call her from the audience to take bows with him.

In theaters across the country her high-pitched laugh cued crowds in response to his gags and stories.

A friend of the family reported Berle was in California when he received word of her death and would fly to New York today.

The family spokesman said Mrs. Berle, who had been ill for several days, died of a cerebral hemorrhage.

She is survived by three other sons, Phil of Los Angeles and Jack and Frank of New York, also surviving is a daughter, Mrs. Rosalind Wigderson, of Miami, Fla.

Police Officials Attend FBI-Sponsored Meeting

GAYLORD (UP)—An FBI-sponsored conference of law enforcement officers will meet today at the Otsego Ski Club near Gaylord. Fred H. McIntire, Detroit FBI chief, is in charge of arrangements.

The chief topic to be taken up was interstate problems in stolen goods. Among the speakers were sheriffs Ralph Holewinski of Otsego County and John Kilbourn of Emmet County.

2 Grandmothers to Get Degrees at Columbia

NEW YORK (INS)—Two grandmothers were among 6,400 scheduled to receive degrees today at commencement exercises at Columbia University.

One of them Mrs. Blanche Stanley of New York, finished first in a class of 350 and was elected to Phi Beta Kappa, the college honorary society. She is to receive a scholarship and a degree.

The other, Mrs. Bronia Fink, will receive a master's degree for social work.

Broadway Cuts Lights to Protest 5 Pct. Tax

NEW YORK (UP)—The lights of the Great White Way were doused for 20 minutes last night in a Broadway blackout protesting a 5 per cent city amusement tax.

Broadway's spectacular advertising signs joined the district's theaters and movie houses in their protest at 9 p.m., but while most theater lights stayed off all evening, the signs were switched on again about 9:20.

Mouse Shortage

GENESEO, N. Y. (UP)—Repairmen were called when the sheriff's short-wave transmitter went dead, causing a three-hour blackout in radio communications. Deputy sheriff Guy Davis said they found the bodies of mice inside the transmitter.

WHAT'S NEW?—Inquisitive bear cubs, two of three born in Berlin, Germany, zoo last February, brace themselves against doorway during sunny day outing.

Huge Kilauea Crater Erupts in Hawaii

HONOLULU (UP)—Hawaii's huge Kilauea crater spewed an estimated 10 million cubic yards of fiery lava into the air in its most spectacular eruption of the century yesterday, and some 10,000 sightseers flocked to watch the show.

A wall of flaming lava that shot out in fountains from a half-mile fissure on the crater floor had subsided by noon. As it cooled the estimated 10 million cubic yards of lava formed a saw-toothed ridge across the crater floor 25 feet high and 30 feet wide.

The eruption was safely contained within the huge crater.

Retired Methodist Pastor Rev. George Brown Dies

GRAND RAPIDS (UP)—Rev. George A. Brown, a retired Methodist minister with 41 years of service in West Michigan, died Monday night at Clark Memorial Home. He was 88.

Rev. Brown had held pastorates in Camden, White Pigeon, Evart, Allegan, Battle Creek, Kalamazoo, Coloma, Watervliet, Lyons, Granges, Cassopolis and Paw Paw.

C. of C. to Sponsor Program June 8 on Phone Skill

Employes of local firms will get a chance to improve their telephone conversation skill in a "Thanks for Listening" program, to be held June 8 from 10-11 a. m. at the Hotel Waldron.

Sponsored by the Pontiac Chamber of Commerce, the program will include a motion picture, demonstrations and a question-and-answer period, according to John W. Hirlinger, chamber assistant manager.

"Telephone courtesy pays off in dollars and good will," said Hirlinger, "every business and professional man depends on the telephone for many necessary contacts."

Personal of firms other than chamber members are welcome to attend, said Hirlinger. Reservations should be made in advance, he added.

Architects Must Study Art Forms

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (UP)—Henrik Ibsen's play, "Peer Gynt," was made required reading for 21 Notre Dame students of architecture.

The students then were required to design and build miniature stage sets as a project for a course called "studies in color."

Prof. Paul Jacques Grillo asked his students to read the Ibsen fantasy and to listen to Edward Griegg's "Peer Gynt Suite."

Once familiar with the work of the two Norwegian masters, each student selected a scene from the play. The assignment first called for a sketch and then a model stage set.

Grillo believes it is important to develop artistic imagination in the architecture student along with sound engineering training.

Japanese Climbers Fail to Scale Himalayan Peak

KATMANDU, Nepal (UP)—A Japanese attempt to scale 24,299-foot Mt. Ganesh Himal in the Himalayas has failed, reports reaching here said today.

The 15-man team was reported on its way back to this capital city.

The reports said the Japanese had been forced to withdraw from their third camp and were unable to climb further. An attempt to find another route up the mountain failed.

Tot, 2, None the Worse for Three-Story Fall

DETROIT (UP)—Two-year-old Johnny Berk apparently is none the worse for a tumble from the third-story back porch of his Detroit home Monday.

Doctors at Children's Hospital found nothing wrong with the tot but decided to keep him for observation. Johnny's mother said he fell to the sidewalk when a part of the porch railing gave way.

Elderly Man Injured in Housetrailer Blast

BATTLE CREEK (UP)—An elderly man was critically burned Monday when an explosion and fire destroyed his trailer home at Battle Creek. Guy Perry, 76, who suffered second and third degree burns, told police the explosion came after he had struck a match to light his pipe.

Police believed the lighted match came into contact with some inflammable liquid. The blast tossed him clear of the trailer.

Daughters of GAR Meet

BATTLE CREEK (UP)—The daughters of the GAR began their 34th statewide encampment at Battle Creek today.

Wine consumption in the U. S. has doubled in the last 15 years.

Future Kindergartners, Parents to Attend Meeting

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP—A kindergarten meeting for parents and their pre-school children will be held at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the Waterford Center School.

A film strip, "Preparing Your Child for Kindergarten" will be shown. Mrs. Mary Panks, kindergarten teacher, will give a resume of a typical first day at school. Present kindergarten mothers will have charge of the refreshments.

Harvard, Princeton, and Yale are names of mountain peaks in the Sawatch range of the Rockies in Colorado.

Liquor Ads Under Fire

Wets, Drys Square Off as Proposals Seek Ban on Advertisements

WASHINGTON — The liquor ads in your local newspaper are currently the subject of some lively lobbying by major national groups.

The dispute betwen "drys" and "wets" involves identical bills, sponsored by Rep. Joseph R. Bryson (D-S. C.) and Sen. William Langer (R-N. D.), to ban transportation of alcoholic beverage ads in interstate commerce.

The groups and personalities include:

Dry Bloc Members:

National Temperance and Prohibition Council — Regarded as GHQ of the Dry army, the council plans over-all legislative strategy for 28 religious and lay units participating in the drive. Affiliated with the council are the nation's most powerful Dry organizations.

National Woman's Christian Temperance Union—with 500,000 members, NWCTU says it is stronger today than since prohibition days, and its far-flung field organization is said to be more efficient than ever.

National Temperance League, Inc.—Successor to the old Anti-Saloon League, dominant prohibition group, the league is one of the nation's powerful church federations, is supported by church contributions.

Board of Temperance of the Methodist Church—Unquestioned in power and influence, the board is composed of top Methodist officials.

Wet Coalition

Opposing this bloc is a grouping of powerful liquor, newspaper, labor, and transportation lobbies and organizations. Spearhead of the wet forces is Distilled Spirits Institute. With 35 large industry members, it is the industry's national voice in Washington. These groups claim support in their fight against the Dry bloc from:

American Newspaper Publishers Association, National Editorial Association, National Association of Radio and Television Broadcasters, Magazine Advertising Bureau, Association of National Advertisers, Congress of Industrial Organizations, American Federation of Labor, American Association of Advertising Agencies, Advertising Federation of America, and others.
