Longfellow Building Ravaged

Vandals Fire School

Vandals raged through the Longfellow School, 31 N. Astor St., Sunday shortly after noon and set fire to several rooms, smashed windows and destroyed property.

Firemen found five rooms ablaze and two hall waste paper receptacles on fire. They estimated damages at $1,500 to the building and $1,000 to contents. The fires took 70 minutes to bring under control.

An emergency maintenance crew was hastily assembled by school officials last night and by this morning all classrooms were back in use except one.

The vandals entered the school by prying the lock on a window. They set fire to several large paper mache figures in the auditorium which were made for a school program.

They ranged into five classrooms smashing dolls, igniting paper and throwing pop bottles through windows.

Pencils seemed particularly to have aroused their anger, for they broke dozens of them. They also scrawled remarks on blackboards and teachers' desk blotters.

Adeline Hook, principal, said that the school was fortunate in that the vandals did not enter the office where records are kept or the library where they could have done more serious damage. They also stayed out of the gymnasium and kitchen.

Most of the fires were on the first floor, although one room was ignited on the second floor and another was damaged by smoke from below.

The emergency repair crew replaced windows last night until dark and cleaned up the debris in time for school this morning. In one room, however, the electrical wiring was damaged by the fire and repairs are still being made.

Police say the damage work was obviously by juveniles and are opening an investigation today. Several suspects have already been questioned.

UF Campaign in Last Stretch

Pins Hopes of Victory on Final All-Out Drive by Every Volunteer

Pontiac Area United Fund leaders today pinned their hopes on an all-out, eleventh hour effort to put the 1957 drive over the top by the time the three-week campaign officially ends at noon tomorrow.

Without a successful, last minute surge in contributions, this year's drive seemed destined to fall about $30,000 short of its $612,000 goal, campaign chairman Dr. Dana P. Whitmer said today.

Tomorrow's luncheon to hear final reports and awards has "dim hopes" of becoming a victory luncheon unless the unexpected happens during the final 24 hours of the campaign, Whitmer said.

The luncheon will be at Elks Temple with Harry Wismer, radio and television sports commentator, as guest speaker.

NEED TREMENDOUS EFFORT

"Only a tremendous effort by the UF's 4,500 volunteer workers will turn the trick now," said Whitmer. He urged volunteers to report all remaining contributions to campaign headquarters immediately.

As the drive entered its final day, the giant Industrial Division stood at 80 per cent of its $404,273 goal with more than 90 per cent of the area's industrial employes contacted by the UF, said George Watson, division chairman.

The Commercial Division was about $50,000 short of its $164,280 quota, said its chairman, Carroll Osmun. The Georgraphic Division needed about $4,000 to reach its $21,548 quota, according to Mrs. Ralph T. Norvell, co-chairman.

Emphasizing that the UF goal was carefully calculated to raise the minimum amount of money needed to support the 55 UF agencies next year, Dr. Whitmer indicated there is a possibility the drive will be extended if the goal is not met by tomorrow.

"Time extensions have been used successfully in previous years when the drive failed to reach goal at deadline," he pointed out.

Motorists Stuck; Snow 'Deep in Heart of Texas'

Record Fall Halts Cars, Nips Winter Vegetables but Thrills Kids

DALLAS (AP) — A snow called the heaviest in 30 years struck deep into western and southern Texas over the weekend, stalling traffic, spreading beneficial moisture and giving the kids a thrill.

A record 14 inches of snow paralyzed Concho County in lower west central Texas yesterday. An estimated 300 motorists were stranded, jamming cafes and the two hotels in Eden, Tex.

Laredo on the Mexican border had its first snow in a dozen years.

The tomato crop around Laredo was ruined and the chill weather nipped at winter vegetables in the lush lower Rio Grande Valley area at the southern tip of Texas, but it was too early to assess damage.

Constable A. C. Paris of Eden said 200 vehicles were marooned between Eden and San Angelo. No loss of life was reported nor were any motorists hospitalized.

Paris said all highways were reopened and all the stranded motorists on their way by noon yesterday.

Eden Weather Bureau observer G. H. Stiser said it was the most snow he had seen in 30 years on the job there.

Paris said he thought sheep may have suffered but said there would be no loss to grain crops in the area. The snow melted rapidly as temperatures rose to the low 50s.

Precipitation in the South occurred in association with a weak low in northern Florida. Heavy rainfall hit some areas.

Cook Indian Meal at Chief Pontiac Council Site

Area Boy Scouts Tour Historic Island

Early local history was done in reverse Saturday on Apple Island in Orchard Lake. The idea was conceived by Boy Scout Troop B-26 of Bloomfield Hills, under the direction of Scoutmaster J. D. McMillan.

The members of the troop were ferried to the island in motor boats, where they were greeted by Joe Haas, Oakland County historian and member of The Pontiac Press staff.

An Indian meal was prepared over a campfire on the 35-acre island. Following the dinner, badges and awards were presented and the Scouts toured the now uninhabited island.

The setting is one steeped in local Indian history, as Apple Island was the council setting when Chief Pontiac met with his Indian braves and it was there that his conspiracy of 1763 was plotted.

Asks $5 Million Increase in Nuclear Funds

Father of H-Bomb Tells Probers Cooperation in Military Needed

WASHINGTON (INS) — Dr. Edward Teller, "father of the H-bomb," predicted today Russia will "leave us behind and way behind" in technological weapons unless the U.S. adopts a vigorous and costly program.

Teller testified at the Senate missile-satellite investigation that the Soviet Union already has surpassed the U.S. in development of ballistic missiles and may be ahead in radar.

The scientist, opening witness in the inquiry, said a basic cause of America's lag in this vital field has been that research has been held up "unless we can prove in black and white" that a program will work. He said the U. S. has been "rather foolish" in this view.

Teller declared that the U. S. "waited too long" in development of long-range ballistic missiles. He also warned that the Russians are "willing to take greater gambles in their development program than we are."

LISTS SUGGESTIONS

He offered these specific suggestions:

—An immediate five million dollar—10 per cent—boost in funds for the nuclear weapons program at Los Alamos, N. M., where he is now working. He said this is "badly needed."

★ ★ ★

—Avoidance of a "rapid reorganization" of the missile program. He said this could "rock the boat so that the effort would be retarded" rather than advanced.

★ ★ ★

— Greater cooperation between the military services—as well as between competing companies handling research. Competition, he said, should "not be carried to the point where they are keeping secrets from each other."

★ ★ ★

— Cooperation "across the board" with NATO allies in the defense field. He said this should include "not only Britain but across the board in NATO countries and maybe with other countries."

In calling for the increased funds for Los Alamos, Teller said: "We must be generous with money, in any place it can be applied in an effective manner—and there are many such places."

Democratic Leader Lyndon Johnson opened the Senate missile-satellite investigation today with a warning that Russia's threat to American security is perhaps "the greatest we have ever known."

The Texan called as the committee's first scientific witness, Dr. Teller, "father of the H-bomb," to give the nation a picture of the space age scientific contest.

Johnson, chairman of the Senate Preparedness Subcommittee, said

Heart Attack Takes Life of Painter Diego Rivera

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Diego Rivera, whose violent paints and defiant politics made him a charging bull in the world of art, died of a heart attack early today in his studio at suburban San Angel. He was 70.

Until phlebitis paralyzed his right hand and arm several weeks ago, he was working on three paintings with the zest which characterized his work for a half century. Only members of his family and his physician were present when he died.

He is survived by his fourth wife, Ama Hurtado, and two daughters, Ruth and Guadalupe.

Rivera's most controversial murals are in the Detroit Institue of Art. They show Detroit's mass production industries. Protests centered around Rivera's association with the Communist party.

Rivera had been in and out of the Communist party since 1922. He returned only last year from Russia and proclaimed that Soviet medicine had cured him of cancer.

From his earliest days Rivera expressed defiance in his controversial paintings. At times he wore a pistol while he worked in public.

Unlucky Streak May Snap With $1,200 Pot-O-Gold

If someone told you that you could have $1,200 for just a few minutes of your time, would you say no? Well, it's possible to win that much with Pot-O-Gold.

The puzzle that appears on page 18 is worth that amount for some lucky winner. And a few minutes is all it takes to arrive at a solution and send us your entry. Don't hold back because you "never win anything." Your chances are just as good as the next person's.

However, don't forget to read the rules carefully. Your chances are nil if you mail your entry in an envelop instead of on a postcard, or if you miss the deadline, or if you write in the words instead of the numbers. Follow these few hints and you're well on your way to bulging wallet.

2 County Men Die in Traffic

Waterford Man Killed While Crossing Dixie Highway Near Home

Two Oakland County residents were among the five Michigan weekend fatalities.

Melvin Reddick, 53, of 4274 Dixie Highway, Waterford Township, was killed 9 p.m. Saturday when he crossed Dixie near his home.

He was struck by a car driven by Ralph Mass, 23, of Capac. Mass told Pontiac Post State troopers that he did not see Reddick who was wearing dark clothes.

Walter Lee Viers, 25, of 1128 Birchwood, Troy, was killed in a two-car collision at Dequindre and 16 Mile roads, Sterling Township, at 6:55 p.m. Saturday.

Viers was driving west on 16 Mile road and collided with the auto of Andrew J. Rosnick Sr., 28, of Detroit, going north on Dequindre.

Nixon Warns U. S. of Greater Cold War

WASHINGTON (INS) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon has bluntly warned it would be "foolhardy" to ignore a new Communist cold war offensive in the scramble to keep pace with Russia militarily.

The vice president, who spoke in Philadelphia and Washington yesterday, declared the Kremlin is "launching right now a massive non-military offensive aimed at the overthrow of all free governments."

He said the Red offensive was mapped at the Moscow meeting last week of Communist leaders from 64 nations and was outlined in the "Khrushchev Manifesto" issued by Soviet party boss Nikita S. Khrushchev late last week.

Nixon told the National Council of Catholic Youth at Philadelphia's Convention Hall that the manifesto "lays down a blunt challenge the free world cannot and will not ignore.'

"It would be foolhardy," he said, "for us to brush it aside on the ground that it contains the usual lies and distortions which have characterized such statements in the past."

Earlier, the vice president was the principal speaker at dedication ceremonies opening a $1,600,000 building serving as national

To Leave Building on Perry This Week

Police Rejoice Over Move to New Quarters

By GEORGE T. TRUMBULL JR.

Twenty years ago the City of Pontiac gave its policemen a Christmas present.

It didn't have a big red ribbon around it. Nor was it some of that "green stuff." At the time it was a most welcomed gift. But today the police are about ready to give it right back to the city — and gladly.

The present: the police headquarters building at 8 N. Perry St.

Today, as 120 officers and personnel prepare to move to their new Public Safety Building home Nov. 30, they look back at working in the Perry street edifice with an attitude of "good riddance."

"I always wondered how those sardines felt," expressed Lt. Donny E. Ashley. "Now I know."

Back on a cold Dec. 24, 1937 a force of 65 men crossed Pike street and moved lock-stock-and-barrel into their new home on Perry. City officials told Police Chief George J. Schlamp "this is the force's Christmas present."

Then it was received much as a gift, since the guardians of the peace had been cramped in their old headquarters at 10 S. Mill St., where the Municipal Court is now.

"We've outgrown this place," said Capt. Oliver H. Lemeaux. "We've worked around leaks, the plumbing is ancient, the plaster is chipped, the floors creak . . . and you ask am I glad to move."

'We have waited for that building a long, long time." Lemeaux said as he looked back on the day he was hired as a patrolman on July 1, 1925.

Now it is moving time again. A week hence the force will pick up their belongings, say one last adieu to what one called "the Perry Prison," and move into modern offices in the $900,000 Public Safety Building.

This modern Thanksgiving gift won't only be enjoyed by police, but also by Municipal Court, Violations Bureau and police garage employes. They too will take up residence in the second civic center project.

And they're not restraining the pleasure of leaving their present offices.

"I sat there under a crack in the ceiling for five years waiting for it to fall," exclaimed Leo F. McDonald, Municipal Court clerk.

Six clerks sitting back-to-back, elbow-to-elbow were enough to show they were ready to move, as were the presence of four constables jammed in an 8 by 11 cubbyhole.

The clerk's office and two court rooms showed visibily the wear and tear of 19 years of court traffic. This was the court's first home.

Across Mill street there stands (at last report) an aged building that is on its last brick and timber. This is the sagging police garage, built back sometime around 1912. One look shows its vintage.

"How this place has stood up

Fire Hits Paper in Wyandotte

News Herald Burned but Will Publish This Week Anyway

WYANDOTTE (AP) — A roaring fire raced through the two-story Wyandotte News-Herald building yesterday and at its height threatened an entire business block in this down-river community.

★ ★ ★

The fire, which Fire Chief Floyd Scharf said apparently started in the weekly newspaper's mechanical section, was detected by two employes working in the building.

It raged out of control for five hours.

Mrs. Mahel Pollock, an auditor, and Farmer Sehll Jr., an advertising messenger, said they first smelled smoke and then saw the fire. They fled the building and reported the blaze.

Publisher William E. Kreger, former Wyandotte mayor who bought the paper last September, set the physical inventory loss at $250,000 and said $110,000 of it was insured.

The owner of the building, Charles A. Brethen, estimated the building loss at from $75,000 to $100,000 and said it was insured.

The paper, which will observe its 80th publication anniversary in January, will be published from a Detroit printing plant, Kreger said. It and a sister weekly, the South Gate Independent, have a combined circulation of 26,800 on Monday and Thursday each week.

Besides the newspaper plant, the fire destroyed the second floor offices of two doctors, a hospital insurance company, a barber shop and offices of a real estate firm and a lawyer.

Firemen reported they could not get into the building during the blaze and confined efforts mainly to keep it from spreading.

Beck Jr. to Appeal Larceny Conviction

SEATTLE (AP) — Conviction of Dave Beck Jr., 37-year-old son of Teamsters Union President Dave Beck Sr., on two counts of grand larceny will be appealed and motions for a new trial will be filed, defense counsel Charles S. Burdell said today.

The young Beck was found guilty by a Superior Court jury of keeping for his own use $4,650 obtained from the sale of two Teamsters Union automobiles.

Beck is at liberty on $3,000 bond. His sentence could run up to as high as 15 years.

Neither Beck nor his father would comment on the verdict, on Saturday night.

The senior Beck is scheduled to go on trial in King County Superior Court Dec. 2 on a grand larceny count of keeping $1,900 from the sale of a union-owned automobile.

Burdell said he will move to postpone that trial in view of the result of the trial of Beck Jr. on grounds that the senior Beck could not receive a fair trial at this time.

Four Plead Guilty on Morals Charges

Four women pleaded guilty at their arraignments today in Municipal Court on charges of soliciting for prostitution and accosting.

Ella Lee Coluter, 23, of Detroit, and Dorothy Jefferson, 25, of Detroit, pleaded guilty to soliciting and were fined $100 or 20 days by Judge Cecil B. McCallum. They went to jail when they were unable to pay the fines.

Juanita Swift, 32, of 702 Nebraska St., and Isabelle Jackson, 31, of 133 Jackson St., pleaded guilty to accosting. They were fined $75 or 15 days in jail by Judge McCallum. Miss Jackson paid the fine and Miss Swift went to jail.

The four were arrested Saturday night in the Bagley-Wessen area by vice squad officers.

The Day in Birmingham

Commission Will Conduct Final Hearing on Zoning

BIRMINGHAM — City commissioners tonight will conduct the last of the informal hearings on the proposed zoning ordinance. The discussion will cover miscellaneous provisions mainly concerned with administrative problems.

★ ★ ★

Commissioners also will hear a report of the city's legal representative on the requested ordinance to prohibit real estate sales operations on Sundays. The report warns commissioners that there is always a possibility that the legality of such an ordinance can be questioned.

James L. Howlett, the legal adviser, said, "It is our opinion that the ordinance requested by the Birmingham Real Estate Board could be enacted.

"It should be adopted only with the understanding that there are legal questions which could be raised by persons opposed to it, and with the understanding that there are great practical difficulties in enforcing regulations of the real estate business."

Plans for this city's traditional Thanksgiving services have been completed, with First Presbyterian selected as the host church. The special sermon will be delivered by the Rev. Dr. Robert A. Macoskep, assistant pastor of First Baptist Church.

His topic for the 10 a.m. service will be "Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow."

Dr. Macoskey, celebrating his second Thanksgiving in Birmingham, spent two years in Europe studying at the University of Edinburgh and Germany's University of Tubingen. He preached in many churches in the British Isles and Germany during his stay abroad.

Assisting in the service will be the Rev. Dr. W. Glen Harris of the host church, the Rev. Robert Searls, Birmingham Council of Churches president, and the Chancel Choir of the host church under the direction of Mildred G. Ritter, AAGO.

Birmingham Council of Churches announces the receipt of $2,182.70 during the UNICEF drive conducted by young church people here at Halloween.

Oakland County PEO cooperative is meeting Dec. 2 at the Birmingham Community House for a 10:30 a.m. business session and brunch.

All members unaffiliated with local chapters are invited. Reservations must be made by Friday with Mrs. S. E. Arthur, 26489 Meadowood Court, EL 6-4136. Royal Oak AD Chapter will be the hostess group.

Tom Patterson, inaugurator of a famous Shakespearean festival will be the speaker tonight for friends of the Baldwin Public Library. The 8:15 program in the library auditorium will be on the subject "An Innocent in the Theater."

Girl in Poor Condition After Train-Car Mishap

The condition of Miss Bette M. Morris, 19, of 3995 Avery St., Waterford Township, injured when the auto she was driving was struck by a train Friday night, changed from fair to poor today according to a Pontiac General Hospital spokesman.

★ ★ ★

Miss Morris, who was thrown from her car to the pavement, is being treated for fractured arm and ribs, and multiple cuts and bruises.

The accident happened at the Huron Street crossing near the Grand Trunk Station at 6:24 p.m. Friday.

is the question of the century," exclaimed Mark Fetter, police mechanic of 12 years. "I thought it was going to collapse many times. Just six years ago they had to put in a steel beam when part of the roof caved in."

Fetter and Buck Throndset, a mechanic of 10 years for the city, patiently eye their new garage in the basement of the Public Safety Building.

"I don't think the old place has long to go," said Throndset. "I understand the city is going to tear it down before it dies of natural causes."

This was confirmed by City Manager Walter K. Willman. He added that the police station might be used for storage purposes.

Although he hesitated to admit it, Willman didn't deny that if the station was razed, its ancient next door neighbor, Fire Station No. 1, might collapse with it.

Out of this edifice, and into the new structure on Pike between Hill and Parke streets, will come Fire Chief John F. Schroeder and his administrative staff.

★ ★ ★

Despite the fact that they have a new front on their building, Police Violations Bureau personnel will leave their present Waldron Hotel home at 40 E. Pike St., and move up the hill also.

That has been their home since April of 1953 when they moved from a small office in the Perry police station where the identification bureau is today.

The space where the Violations Bureau is has already been rented, while the Waldron space occupied by the court is still looking for a new tenant.

Still 3 Chances to Catch Glimpse of Sputnik Rocket

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—Michigan sky watchers probably will get their final chance to see the rocket of historic Sputnik I during the week.

That is the prediction of University of Michigan Astronomer William Liller. He points out that the rocket is expected to fall to earth in mid-December.

The rocket will pass over Michigan next week and should be visible to the naked eye through Wednesday, said Liller. The rocket should appear as a high-flying airplane. It will be a single light moving slowly across the heavens from north to south for about a minute.

Liller gave this time table:

Monday approximately 5:58 p.m. appearing low in the northeast.

Tuesday, approximately 6:24 p.m. halfway up in the sky in the northeast.

Wednesday, approximately 6:48 p.m., nearly directly overhead.

Russia's launching of Sputniks I and II has challenged "our superiority and even our equality."

He declared: "We must meet this challenge quickly and effectively in all its aspects."

Johnson said: "We hope to have a clear definition of the present threat to our security—perhaps the greatest we have ever known."

The hearing opened in the crowded Senate Caucus Room at 10:05 a.m. (EST), five minutes late in the inquiry into why America has been lagging in its missile-satellite development programs.

Johnson said "It would appear we have slipped dangerously behind the Soviet Union in some important fields." But he emphasized the inquiry is not so much concerned about "why" this happened as about "what is to be done."

The senator said the committee's goal would not be reached by "running up blind alleys of partisanship."

Johnson added: "It is not necessary to hold these hearings to determine that we have lost an important battle in technology. That has been demonstrated by the satellites that are whizzing over our heads.

"But to me—and I think to every American—a lost battle is not a defeat. It is, instead, a challenge—a call for Americans to respond with the best that is in them."

Johnson said that in some respects the present challenge "is even greater than that which faced America after Pearl Harbor." He said there is not as much time now as there was then to respond to the threat.

He concluded: "But we do have time. We do have determination. We do have will power. I do not believe the facts will invite our people either to a siesta or to hysteria. I believe the facts will inspire Americans to the greatest effort in our history."

Teller told a television audience yesterday that the United States has lagged behind Russia in science and has lost "a battle more important and greater than Pearl Harbor."

He did not speak directly of missiles but said this country is in a "very sad and dangerous" situation now and rebuilding of prestige in science will be a long and hard struggle.

The subcommittee is to hear testimony from Allen W. Dulles, director of the Central Intelligence Agency; Secretary of Defense McElroy; Undersecretary Donald Quarles; and William Holaday, who heads the missile program.

Serious Teens Make Funny Extortion Bid

WARWICK, R.I. (AP)—Police said today they suspect juveniles are involved in an unusual extortion attempt.

Know the Weather

By E. H. SIMS

Do two full moons ever occur in a single month?

Yes, because the complete cycle of the moon is just under the 30-day average length of a month, the full moon comes at a different time each month—but not necessarily on a different day.

For example, full moon fell on both November 7th and December 7th this year. It drops back, gradually, a day at a time most months, occasionally two, always coming a little earlier in the month ahead than it came during the present month.

February is the only exception to this rule and the full moon will come later in March than in February, because of the shortness of February. Next year two full moons will occur in July, on the 1st and 30th. Christmas, next year, will have a full moon—which occurs but twice in the average lifetime.

Two Brothers Killed Riding Double on Bike

SAN JOSE, Calif. (UP) — Two young brothers, riding double on a bicycle, were killed Sunday when struck by a jeep that swerved off Bayshore Highway.

They were Manuel Haro, 12 and his brother Ventura, 10. Robert Guevara, 10, riding alone, suffered head injuries and a broken leg.

Highway Patrolman Thomas Foster said the jeep veered onto the highway shoulder when the driver, Harold S. Cina, 21, reached behind the seat.

Cina was not arrested.

Cheer Sen. Kennedy for White House Bid

BOSTON (AP)—Sen. Kennedy (D-Mass) was boomed for president at an Italian-American gathering last night with Democratic Gov. Dennis J. Roberts of Rhode Island declaring, "I will help hominate him at the 1960 convention."

★ ★ ★

Boston Mayor John F. Hynes declared, "In 1960 we shall greet you as President John F. Kennedy."

Joseph A. Salerno, regional director of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America, said: "Let us start here tonight to place Sen. John F. Kennedy in the White House in 1960."

★ ★ ★

A spokesman for Democratic Gov. Foster Furcolo of Massachusetts said, "The governor wants everyone to know that he will walk hand in hand with Sen. Kennedy in 1958 and 1960."

Hurtles Through Home; Injures Woman

Car Kills Man in His Bed

RESEDA, Calif. (AP) — An automobile hurtled through a house where a family of three lay asleep last night, killing the man, injuring his pregnant wife and narrowly missing their 2-year-old daughter.

The driver, a neighbor, was booked on suspicion of manslaughter. Police said he failed to pass a sobriety test.

The householder, Howard H. Hamilton, 28, an engineer, died en route to a hospital. His wife Carmella, 24, was critically injured.

The crib of their daughter June was shattered, but the child, pinned between a wall and the car, was unhurt.

The driver, Alex J. Magas, 39, a barber, was unhurt.

Police reconstructed the tragedy from witnesses accounts this way:

Magas strucked a parked car and rebounded into the rear of another owned by Roy Webb. He sped away with Webb pursuing him.

Magas sideswiped another car near his home. He passed his own house and continued to where the street came to a deadend.

The Hamilton house blocked the path of his car. It slammed into the front bedroom where Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton were sleeping.

They were dragged under the car wheels as the vehicle plowed through the house into a rear bedroom where little June was asleep. The front of the car emerged from the rear wall into the backyard.

Auto Accident Injures 9 People

Hospital Reports 'Fair' for 3, Satisfactory 5; 1 Driver Released

Eight of nine persons injured in a headon auto accident on Rowland road near Rochester road, Oakland Township, Saturday remained in the Pontiac General Hospital today.

Three members of an Oxford family were listed in fair condition this morning. They were: Jesse N. Headley, 54, multiple face bruises and a possible face fracture; Jessica Ann Headley, 5, multiple lacerations and possible head injuries; and Norma Joan Headley, 27, chest injuries; all of 1940 Lakeville Rd., Oxford.

Those listed in satisfactory condition today were: Max C. Wells, 25, chest bruises; Marion Frances Wells, 20, fractured left arm and rib and facial bruises; both of 833 Heights Rd., Lake Orion; Shirley J. Somero, 35, of 955 Rochester Rd., Avon Township, dislocated right hip, fractured left leg and multiple lacerations; Michael D. Headley, 2, possible head injuries and Sharon Wells, 1, multiple cuts and bruises.

Oakland County Sheriff's deputies report Jerry M. Somero, 17, of 995 Rochester Rd., Avon Township, who was treated for bruises and released, was the driver of an auto which struck the second car. The other driver was Max C. Wells.

The accident happened about 6 p.m. Saturday.

Seek to Promote Travel on Lake Superior Road

SAULT STE. MARIE (AP)—Minnesota, Ontario and Michigan City officials have formed a group to promote international travel on a Canadian highway around the north shore of Lake Superior when it is finished in 1960.

The group, named the Lake Superior International Highway Assn., met here Saturday and named Wallace A. Bryan of Fort William, Ont., chairman.

It will promote travel on a highway from Duluth, Minn., through the Canadian lake - head cities of Fort William and Port Arthur, Ont., to the Ontario Soo.

Before the Spanish introduced the horse to them, Indians on the western plains had only two domesticated animals—the turkey and the dog.

Organization of the Salvation Army dates back to 1878.

Expenses Challenged of Junketing Congress

From all indications many of the Congressional junkets are robbing United States taxpayers of much needed funds. In our current dilemma over expenditures for scientific devices, this seems utterly ridiculous.

This was brought to light in a recent interview with Congressman WILLIAM S. BROOMFIELD. A junket which will fly seven Congressmen over both the North and South Poles was termed a "flagrant misuse of taxpayers' money" by BROOMFIELD.

"Evidently Chairman Oren Harris and his group are suffering from delusions of grandeur or they consider themselves America's answer to Sputnik," said Broomfield.

We heartily agree and feel that some tightening of the reins is necessary to stop this sort of foolishness. A public accounting or audit of all Government travel expenses might be the answer.

If the public were appraised of the amount of tax money spent on this type of travel Congressmen might think twice before taking these trips.

Undoubtedly some travel is necessary in order to keep abreast of world conditions. These trips are not questioned. But when it comes to an around the world junket like the one in question, we have our doubts.

The Arctic-Antarctic trip in question has left New York for Copenhagen, Denmark; then across the North Pole to Anchorage, Alaska. Then on to Tokyo, Sidney and New Zealand. An Air Force transport will take the group to Antarctica and a base near the South Pole.

According to Broomfield, this trip will cost the taxpayers in the neighborhood of $100,000. Apparently no check is made on the expense accounts of Congressmen. Once they are outside the United States they receive a blank check for expenditures.

In a foreign country they use "counterpart funds" which are moneys paid for our aid that cannot leave that specific country. This money is at the complete disposal of the visiting Congressmen and can be spent for anything they wish.

★ ★ ★

In bringing this to light Congressman BROOMFIELD is doing the taxpayers a favor. We feel that our representatives in Washington should be urged to pass legislation to stop this frittering away of taxpayers money.

U.N. Should Support Dutch in New Guinea

"The Netherlands and Australian Governments base their policies with regard to the territories of New Guinea, for which they are responsible, on the interests and inalienable rights of their inhabitants in conformity with the provisions and the spirit of the United Nations Charter."

This statement issued by the two governments clearly sets forth their intention of continuing policies of social, economic and educational advancement for these very backward and in most cases primitive peoples. LOWELL THOMAS' current television series on New Guinea is visual proof of this.

Indonesia, which was granted independence from The Netherlands in 1949, has put forth claims for Dutch New Guinea and is pressuring for United Nations recognition of those demands. The Indonesians have no ethnic nor geographical ties with New Guinea—in fact, no claim at all to support their demands for sovereignty over another Dutch possession. Jakarta already has shown very clearly its inability to govern the Indonesian Archipelago itself.

The violent campaign for annexation of Dutch New Guinea, labeled "liberation" in Indonesia, could be a diversionary tactic to distract attention from the political and social troubles at Jakarta. Such a government does not inspire confidence.

Understandably and rightly the Dutch have said they would not agree to any U. N. recognition of Indonesia's claim. In the past, perhaps for political reasons, the United States has abstained from voting. If the matter again should come before the General Assembly, this country should vote against any such spurious claim.

MEMBER OF AUDIT BUREAU OF CIRCULATIONS

"Never Mind How We Got In—How Do We Get Out?"

David Lawrence Says:

Trouble Ahead for Civil Rights Unit

WASHINGTON — The new commission on civil rights is headed for considerable controversy even before it begins work. A question has arisen as to whether the appointment of Justice Stanley Reed violates the principle of the "separation of powers" in the Constitution.

LAWRENCE

Although retired, an associate justice of the Supreme Court is still eligible under existing law to perform judicial duties. Justice Reed recently served on the bench in the U. S. Court of Claims and could be assigned to sit in other lower court cases if he wished.

Members of the Senate are planning to raise the issue when the name of the former associate justice comes up for confirmation next January as a member of the Civil Rights Commission.

There have been several justices of the Supreme Court who have from time to time served in an advisory capacity to the executive branch, especially in international affairs, such as on arbitration tribunals.

But there never has been an instance in which a former justice—who in retirement still "retains his office," as the statute describes his position in the judiciary—has been appointed by the President to a post in the executive branch that requires confirmation by the Senate.

Various court decisions have held that, when an official takes a second office created under the provisions of the Constitution, he automatically gives up the first one.

Justice Reed is an able and conscientious man, and there are good reasons why President Eisenhower wants him to serve as chairman of the new commission on civil rights.

Under present law Mr. Reed, whether on active or inactive duty, still receives his full salary of $25,000 a year. Office quarters are provided for him alongside the other justices in the Supreme Court Building.

The Constitution is explicit in defining the separate powers of the three branches of the Federal government. The law enacted by Congress Sept. 9, 1957, created the commission on civil rights as a part of the executive branch of the government.

In fact, the Department of Justice is planning to transfer W. Wilson White—now an assistant attorney general—from his present duties on civil rights to function as general counsel for the new commission without even submitting his name to the Senate as required for a new appointee.

This is being done presumably because the commission is considered a virtual adjunct of the Department of Justice. The proposed transfer, however, has aroused some Southern senators.

Senator Thurmond of South Carolina, Democrat, for example, says that the move is designed to avoid going through the process of a confirmation inquiry notwithstanding the fact that an additional post of assistant attorney general was created primarily to take care of the legal work of the new commission. It seems likely that the Senate Judiciary Committee will wish to inquire into Mr. White's qualifications for the new job even though his name isn't formally submitted.

For it is reported that he master-minded the legal moves in the Little Rock case and hence, it is argued, he approaches the task with a preconceived position as to the alleged obligation of the Federal government to use military power to enforce court orders.

The Country Parson

"Some reformers get so wrapped up in their work that they'd be mad if all evil suddenly disappeared and left them nothing to fight."

Dr. William Brady Says:

B-Nutron Tonic for Heart, Improves Muscle Tone

"I have taken two pints of B-Nutron which you recommend in place of digitalis for heart trouble and have just started on the third. Should I stop after using the third pint or keep on taking more.—(G.M.O.)"

DR. BRADY

You can decide about that better than I can. How are you feeling? Fine and dandy? If so, forget it. Or set it aside, in a cool place, not necessarily the refrigerator, until you feel the need of a heart tonic.

B-Nutron is a combination of vitamin B complex with vitamin B-12, iron and manganese.

A true tonic restores enfeebled function. I doubt that digitalis does that, but there can be no question that vitamin B complex does so. That's why I call it the only real heart tonic.

★ ★ ★

The squatting test for vitamin B deficiency is simple enough: Squat on your heels—the position may be painful if your B intake is very low. If you are getting enough vitamin B, you should be able to rise without using your hands.

EAT RAW WHEAT

Of course you may flunk this test for other reasons. Anyway it can do no harm and may get you back on the road to health and functional efficiency if you send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope and ask for the pamphlet Wheat to Eat.

Wheat, as it comes from the thresher, is the richest food source of vitamin B.

Vitamin B, whether you get it in such foods as wheat, oats, unpolished rice, nuts, dried beans, fresh or dried peas, eggs, lean pork, bacon, peanuts, buckwheat, lean beef or whole dried milk; in pill, tablet, capsule or liquid, straight or combined with other vitamins and-or minerals; or in "shots"; is tonic in effect, not only to the heart muscle but also to the muscle coat of stomach and intestine.

It maintains healthy function or restores enfeebled function of heart and artery walls, stomach and intestine. It keeps the voluntary muscles from going soft and flabby.

One way to boost your B intake is by chewing a handful of plain wheat or rolled oats, raw, for lunch every day, provided your teeth or your dentist's are functionally efficient.

The injection of vitamin B under the skin, into muscle or into a vein of a person who is still able to take nourishment seems to be the method of choice when the doctor needs $5.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Gein Case Brings Question—'Which of Us Is Crazy?'

Would anyone know where this country draws the line and determines who is sane or insane? What type of activity or form of behavior constitutes a normal or abnormal person? I refer to this Edward Gein character in Wisconsin.

★ ★ ★

He was found with skulls, parts of bodies, clever little knick-knicks made from human skin. The payoff — his being investigated to find out if he might be insane, abnormal perhaps.

★ ★ ★

The implication to me is that our society considers actions such as this not too far out of line. It all leaves me with the question: who's nuts — Ed Gein or our society?

'Who Said GM Wasn't Wrong?'

In your "It Seems to Me" column three or four weeks ago commenting about GAO picking on GM, you ended with the challenge "Wanna bet" they didn't do it.

Now that they have red facedly admitted the crime and want to return nine million plus, I "wanna bet" they aren't trying to give back anything they haven't already concluded the Justice Department was going to take away from them anyway.

And how about the $100,000 or so of interest accrued on this amount for two or three years? They wouldn't want to fleece the "dear people" out of that. Remember your statement that the government made more mistakes than GM? I feel for you.

Backs Borrowing for Hospital Funds

The importance of immediately providing funds for the completion of the General Hospital transcends all other capital improvements.

As a taxpayer and businessman, I have confidence in the fiscal policies of our municipal management and Commission and endorse borrowing against the 1958 and 1959 taxes in payment of the required equipment and furnishings. Further delay will only cause irreparable damages and substantial losses to our community.

It would have been preferable to issue bonds payable over an extended period of time to avoid temporary postponement of important capital improvements, but that method of financing has been denied by the voters. Therefore, we have no other choice except to borrow the necessary funds.

Monroe Osmun

'Why Should We Help Pay?'

You say all Oakland County should chip in and help pay for the hospital addition. Why should we pay to help finish it and then turn around and pay 20 per cent of our bill to use it? If we have to donate, why not build one of our own?

E. D. S.

Says Only Justice Is Voluntary

There is no law and order and no justice in Oakland County except the voluntary justice that law abiding, decent people maintain of their own will and I can prove it.

'Future War Is War of Brains'

The war of the future isn't a shooting war. Nor is it a chemical or even a germ war. World War III is shaping up as a war of brains. Apparently the side with the best scientific thinking will win the conflict.

The U.S.A. lost the first battle. Let us hope and pray that Uncle Sam will wake up and properly educate the youth of America so that we may lose not too many more battles before we win the war. And make no mistake about it, Peace on Earth is the greatest aim of mankind.

It must be a basic principle that teachers, pupils and parents all buckle down and pull together to improve our educational system. In this war of brains there is no place for students who fail to take schooling seriously. Every minute a teacher spends on disciplinary matters substracts from teaching time.

'Bugs' Baer Says:

How is it we never hear the shillabers paging the old moss-covered status quo? At one time it was the talking point for all the high fidelity tonsils in Washington.

And what was the status quo you ask with carbonated breath? It was an embalmed quirk that happened before it could be prevented.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Injuries in Athletics Are Unusual

Harry simply graduated ahead of his class, so his mother should not grieve unduly. And please heed Coach Lynn Waldorf's comment that playing football is 12 times safer than driving a car! Life is not measured by years but by accomplishment. Jesus thus did far more in 33 years than Methuselah in 969.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case W-355: Harry S., aged 17, was a handsome high schooler.

"Oh, Dr. Crane," his mother tearfully exclaimed, "I feel so terrible.

DR. CRANE

"For Harry died from a skull fracture in a football game. He never regained consciousness.

"And I keep thinking it was all my fault, for I signed the permit slip which the school sends to parents to get permission for our sons to engage in sports.

★ ★ ★

"If only I hadn't signed that slip; But Harry was so enthusiastic about athletics; And he insisted nothing would happen to him, so he persuaded me to give my consent.

"What can I do to stop torturing myself, Dr. Crane."

READ EDGAR GUEST

When our oldest son was killed in a jet plane crash last year, many thousands of you readers sent us letters and cards of sympathy.

Dozens of beautiful poems were included, too, but the one which Mrs. Crane and I liked best was that lovely verse by Edgar Guest, entitled "To All Parents."

It contains the thought that God lends us a child for a little while and we are not to feel angry or unduly hurt if God calls our child back during its youth.

So Harry's mother should remind herself that Harry was happier playing football, than if he had been shunted to the sidelines of life.

Coach Lynn Waldorf, a Christian gentleman and son of a great Methodist bishop, recently commented:

"A boy is 12 times safer practicing football after classes than driving around in a car."

If Harry had been denied a chance to enjoy high school athletics, he might have died in an auto wreck, anyway.

A CODE OF LIVING

"It's better to die happy," runs a modern medical maxim, "than to live sad."

And that is especially true if a person dies while engaged in some constructive activity like school athletics.

For modern sports teach children fair play. They are thus a practical laboratory for ethical organizations like the church, the YMCA and the CYO.

Millions of teenagers gain sturdier bodies and better sense of cooperation by thus indulging in school athletics.

True enough, a boy occasionally suffers an injury and once in a blue moon a player may even die.

But the ultimate good of the millions far outweighs the death of the few; And Coach Waldorf's figurers show that there would be 12 times as many deaths OFF the playing field of sport as ON them;

Besides, the Christian code of living should remind us that accomplishment is not measured by our lifespan;

Jesus died at 33 years of age, yet he made a far greater impact than Methuselah who reached 969.

★ ★ ★

And Harry, too, was a dynamic youth who inspired his family and friends. For he was president of his Hi-Y Club in high school.

And he was also the head of his church Young Peoples' Society.

So Harry led a full life, even though it was brief.

His mother can carry on his good works by teaching a Sunday school class or serving as Sponsor of a Tri-Hi-Y or Cub Scout Pack.

Death is just a graduation from this laboratory school called Earth, so we should not grieve unduly when some of our loved ones are promoted ahead of us.

"In my father's house are many mansions (rooms)," Jesus said, so look ahead expectantly to your promotion day.

Wealthy Oilman Takes Bride

H. L. Hunt, 68, Marries 36-Year-Old Oklahoma Woman in Quiet Rite

DALLAS (AP)—Oilman H. L. Hunt, reportedly one of the world's richest men, married Mrs. Ruth Ray Wright, a former Oklahoma woman, yesterday.

The marriage was a quiet ceremony at the home of Mrs. Wright's pastor, the Rev. McClain Smith of the Lakewood Methodist Church in Dallas.

It was the second marriage for Hunt, 68. His first wife died in May 1955 after a stroke. They had six children.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Grace Ray of Idabel, Okla., told newsmen her daughter was about 36. She said she had known Hunt since meeting him about 15 years ago at Shreveport, La., where her daughter worked in a Hunt Oil Co. office.

Mrs. Ray said her daughter was previously married to an R. E. Wright in New York City. She said she did not know whether her daughter was divorced or widowed.

The bride is the mother of four children, the oldest a son about 15.

She graduated from Idabel High School, where she was a football queen, and attended Oklahoma State University for a year and a half, the mother said.

She said the couple called four times to say they were "thrilled to death." She said they did not mention any immediate plans.

In 1945, Life magazine described Hunt as the richest man in the United States. His holdings recently were estimated at up to 400 million dollars.

4 Crewmen Perish in Alaska Air Crash

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP) — The bodies of four Alaska Air National Guardsmen, killed in the crash of their plane during a snow storm Saturday night on Icy Strait, will be flown to Anchorage today.

★ ★ ★

Their plane crashed near Gustavus, 20 miles west of here on the southeastern tip of the Glacier Bay National Monument.

Five of the seven survivors of the crash are in St. Ann's Hospital here. Two others were released from the hospital.

★ ★ ★

The plane, a C47 transport, was returning seven Alaska National Guardsmen to Anchorage from a conference at San Francisco. The plane took off with seven passengers and crew of four from McChord Air Force Base at Tacoma, Wash., Saturday afternoon.

★ ★ ★

Its last report said it was preparing for an instrument landing at Gustavus during a light snowfall. Hours later a ground search party, composed of nearly all the 32 residents of Gustavus, found the wrecked plane, the four crewmen dead. None of the seven passengers were seriously injured.

★ ★ ★

Killed in the still unexplained crash were Capt. Robert E. Kafader, 37, pilot, Anchorage; 1st Lt. Dennis V. Stamey, 29, Anchorage; S.Sgt. Floyd S. Porter, 29, Anchorage; and S.Sgt. David O. Dial, 34, Anchorage.

Vote on School Bonds

DETROIT (AP) — Residents of suburban Ecorse Township vote today on a proposed $1,900,000 school construction bond issue. Plans called for construction of 26 additional classrooms by 1960.

Fat Kids Watch TV

SOUTH KINGSTON, R.I. (AP) — Prof. Mollie S. Smart, assistant professor of child development and family relations at the state university, told a Parent-Teacher Assn. Meeting that the consistent difference between the normal weight children and the fat ones is that the latter spend more time watching TV.

Male Cooks Called Most Exciting, Artistic

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK (INS) — Men fall roughly into two categories: 1) the solid steak and potatoes type, and 2) the Flamboyant set.

The steak-potato people tend to be conservative dressers, sound if perhaps narrow thinkers and punctual diners. They hug the hearth.

Flambe (flaming food) lovers tend to be dramatic, romantic, insatiably curious, candlelight diners. They prefer to hug the ladies.

"And there are more of them all the time," remarks an astute lady named Carolyn Coggins . . . "all the better for women in general and business in particular, my dear."

Miss Coggins is an authority on the subject by virtue of a gourmet cooking course which she offers, by correspondence, to busy executives. And to the wives of men such as will open their minds, and mouths, to a dish more imaginative than a chunk of cattle, broiled.

COOKS INSPIRED

"I'm pleased to report," she says, "that when you find a non-meat and potatoes man, you find a potential genius in the kitchen. Because when a man gets interested in cooking, he's the most inspired cook in the house—dramatic, excited, artistic.

"Women are interested in making dinners that are new and interesting—conversation pieces, you might say.

"But a man who likes to cook wants to dramatize food. He likes flaming dishes, served on a sword if one's available. He likes candlelight better than women do. Women may be the romantic sex in the moonlight; but in the dining room, they can't hold a candle to a man's flambe."

Miss Coggins, a newspaperwoman for 17 years before she sensed it might be nicer to work over a cold vichysoisse than a hot typewriter, believes that the fast expansion of foreign travel is the chief reason for a new titillation of the taste buds in the U. S.

"Everybody's discovering there are great foods in other parts of the world." And, except for the narrow minded and the flat broke, most Americans are fascinated at the thought of duplicating them at home. So far, French and Chinese cooking are the most popular among her hundreds of correspondence students. "But Danish and Spanish dishes are coming on—very highly regarded.

Among Miss Coggins' most devout advocates of the gourmet cooking course are some of the nation's top business executives, who read her lengthy, illuminating and not inexpensive lessons in planes and trains and conference lulls. Then they practice at home on her exotic recipes nights and weekends.

"MONEY-AHEAD" CONTEST

Fantastic? It's mighty near unbelievable! But true — just read this:

You can win $500 a month for the rest of your life. You can win a gleaming new "Money-Ahead" '58 Plymouth. You can win other valuable prizes.

It's the Plymouth "Money-Ahead" Contest, where a lifetime of financial security is ripe for the taking. Few things are more substantial than money, and a lot of money is the grand prize. But this is a contest where you can win big without hauling down first prize . . . for 18 sparkling new Plymouths and 450 other valuable prizes will be awarded.

Now here's what you do:

Go into your Plymouth Dealer's and ask him for a contest blank. You don't have to be a mental giant to shoot for the big money. This contest is fun, and it's easy.

You simply unscramble seven easy words and terms, like the one you see in the example to the right. Then add your own short version of why you'd be money ahead in a '58 Plymouth. Believe us, there are plenty of good reasons you can use: Torsion-Aire, Total-Contact Brakes, Silver Dart Style, Push-Button Driving, new Golden Commando engines, etc.

Unscramble or scramble — but you better not amble — to your Plymouth Dealer soon. The fun starts Monday, Nov. 25.

Spreads a magic carpet over bumps.

Agreement Reached in Louisville Strike

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UP) — Members of United Auto Workers Local 862 were to meet at 11 a. m. today to consider an agreement to end a 20-day strike at the Ford Motor Co. assembly plant.

★ ★ ★

Negotiators announced yesterday they had reached agreemet on all points at issue in the walkout, which involved 4,200 workers.

★ ★ ★

The local struck Nov. 5 over grievances it listed as involving health, safety and work standards at the plant. Details of the settlement were not disclosed, pending ratification of the agreement by the local.

Machine May Serve Full Meal

Vending Industry Makes Big Plans

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (UP) — The fast stepping vending industry has big plans on the drawing boards.

Engineers are working on a single machine which will serve a full meal, bringing the food from freezing storage temperature to eating temperature in less than a minute. They say this one — to serve hot food on a plastic tray along with cold salads and desserts — may be two or three years away. Cooking speed is the chief unlicked problem.

Also in the pilot state, is a machine that can take a $1 bill and make change rejecting counterfeits. And the Vendo Co. of Kansas City is trying to develop one that can distinguish between $1, $2 and $5 denominations.

Industry spokesmen say vending sales have risen about two billion dollars this year from 30 million dollars in 1925. Today there are an estimated three million machines in use, tended by 5,500 operators.

Vending machines in factories, the enthusiasts say, will make the lunch box and plant cafeteria obsolete. The National Automatic Merchandising Assn. says one out of every five manufacturing plants are using them today.

An automated cafeteria of the North Electric Co. in Galion, Ohio, uses 10 vending machines to serve 33 selections of food and beverages, available 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

Menus are planned a week in advance. They offer choices of three hot and cold sandwiches, three hot main courses, three hot soups, three chilled salads, three ice creams, five pastries, five pies, six cold drinks and three hot.

An apartment house in Minneapolis has machines where tenants can buy milk, bread, eggs, meat, vegetables and butter without going to the store.

The Grand Union store in East Patterson, N.J., on the other hand, has a pilot operation of outdoor vending. Eleven machines offer 58 items to belated or hurried customers.

A man with a hangover in San Antonio can put a dime in the slot and get a whiff of oxygen. A Chicago hotel lets you put a quarter in a slot and start an undulating motion in the mattress which gently rocks you to sleep.

Visa Fingerprinting Stopped by All Nations

WASHINGTON (AP)—The State Department says it no longer requires the fingerprinting of any non-immigrant visitors to the United States, and that no other country requires fingerprinting of such U.S. visitors.

The department announced yesterday that Liberia, eru and Ecuador—the last three countries to require fingerprinting of Americans for non-immigrant visas—had agreed with this country to stop the practice.

Chapter 37

Drake said "We know what happened, but how the devil are you going to prove it? A jury isn't going to believe Mrs. Farrell's story—or will it?"

"That depends," Mason said, "on how much other evidence we can get. And it depends on who killed Rose Calvert."

"What do you mean?"

"The point that Mrs. Farrell completely missed was that Giff was trying to make it appear that Rose's death was a suicide. He entered the room, he found the body, there wasn't any sign of a gun. That was because the murderer had kicked the murder weapon under the bed — unless he threw it there deliberately.

"Probably he dropped it and then had kicked it under the bed without knowing what he had done. Or perhaps he just kicked it under the bed hoping it wouldn't be found right way, or not giving a damn and just wanted to get rid of it."

"You mean, you don't think Gifford Farrell is the murderer?"

"The evidence points to the contrary," Mason said. "Why would Gifford Farrell have killed Rose and then discharged another gun into the under side of the mattress so there would be an empty shell in that gun and then have left the gun on the floor by the corpse?"

"So as to implicate his wife," Drake said.

"But don't you see," Mason pointed out, "if he'd done that he'd have taken the other gun? He wouldn't have left it there."

"Perhaps he didn't know it was there."

'IF HE KILLED HER . . .'

"I'm satisfied he didn't know it was there," Mason said, "but if he had killed her he would have known it was there, because that was the gun with which she was killed."

"Oh-oh," Drake said. "Now I see your point."

"Therefore," Mason said, "Gifford Farrell was a victim of circumstances. He tried to make the crime appear a suicide. He was carrying that gun with him, probably for his own protection. He discharged it into the mattress and dropped it by the side of the bed.

"If Mrs. Farrell hadn't got in such a panic, she would have realized that Gifford was trying to set the stage for suicide. He could very easily have told the authorities that this gun was one he had taken home from the Texas Global, that he had given it to Rose for her own protection, that she had become despondent and had committed suicide.

"But when Mrs. Farrell saw that gun, and saw her husband leaving the room after having heard the shot—which must have been the shot he fired into the under side of the mattress—she became panic-stricken and immediately felt that he was trying to frame the murder on her. So she led with her chin."

★ ★ ★

"And then she tried to frame it on Conway?"

"That's right," Mason said.

"Well, you can mix the case up all to hell," Drake said, "but the trouble is, Mason, you've got too much of a reputation for mixing things up. The jury is pretty apt to think all this is a big razzle-dazzle, cooked up by a lawyer to mix things up so his client won't be convicted. If you can't shake this damned hotel clerk in his testimony that Rose Calvert was the one who checked into Suite 729 claiming she was the secretary for Gerald Boswell, you're hooked."

Mason said, "What I've got to do is find out what actually happened."

"When do we eat?" Myrtle Lamar asked.

Mason said, "Myrtle, you're going to have to feed your own face."

"What?"

"We'll give you money for the best lunch in town," Mason said, "but we're going to be busy."

She pouted. "That wasn't the way it was promised. Paul was going to take me to lunch. I want to have lunch with him."

"I have to be in court," Drake said.

"No, you don't. You're not trying the case — and I'll tell you one other thing, you hadn't better leave me alone, running around here. I know too much now. You've got to keep me under surveillance, as you detectives call it."

Mason laughed, said, "You win, Myrtle. Paul, you're going to have to take her to lunch."

"But I want to see what happens in court."

"Nothing too much is going to be happening in court," Mason said. "Not right away. The district attorney is stalling, trying to find some way of accounting for that bullet in the under side of the mattress. He wants to prove that I shot it there and he's just about ready to call Inskip so they can lay a foundation to involve me in the case as an accessory.

'HE'LL STALL'

"So you can count on the fact that he'll stall things along just as much as he can and this time I'm inclined to play along with him because I want to find out what happened.

"Someone murdered Rose Calvert. I want to find out who."

"Well," Drake said, "don't ever overlook the fact that it could well have been Mrs. Gifford Farrell. She had the room across the corridor from the girl. She hated the girl's guts. She was seen by a chambermaid coming out of the girl's room . . . Good Lord! Perry, don't let her pull the wool over your eyes by telling a convincing story which, after all, has for its sole purpose getting herself off the hook."

"I'm thinking of that," Mason said.

"And," Drake went on, "she's the one who buried the murder weapon down there at the motel. . . . Hang it, Perry! The more you think of it the more logical the whole thing becomes. She must have been the one who committed the murder."

"There's just one thing against it," Mason said.

"What?" Drake asked.

"Circumstantial evidence," Mason told him.

"Such as what?"

"Why didn't she give Jerry Conway the murder weapon instead of the weapon that Gifford had planted there to make the death appear suicide?"

Drake tugged at the lobe of his ear for a moment, then said, 'Hell's bells, Perry! This is one case I can't figure. Things are coming a little too fast for me. Where do I take Myrtle to lunch?"

"Some place not too far from the courthouse," Mason said.

"Well, let me out here. This is a darn good restaurant. We'll take a cab and come to court when we're finished. How much of a lunch do you want, Myrtle?"

"Not too much," she said. "I'll have two dry martinis to start, then a shrimp cocktail, and after that a filet mignon with potatoes au gratin, a little garlic toast, a few vegetables on the side, such as asparagus or sweet corn, then some mince pie a la mode, and a big cup of black coffee. That will last me until evening.

"Believe me, it's not very often that one of us girls gets an opportunity to look at the left-hand side of the menu without paying a bit of attention to what's printed on the right-hand side."

Mason glanced at Paul Drake and nodded. "It may be just as well to keep her out of circulation until the situation clarifies itself."

Blaze in Fairbanks Kills Biologist

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP) — Fire started by an unexplained explosion in a business-apartment building caused the death of a prominent University of Alaska woman about 46.

Damage was estimated at more than a million dollars.

The Lathrop Building, housing the Fairbanks Daily News-Miner, the studios of radio station KFAR and KFAR-TV and two floors of apartments in which 40 persons lived, was burned out above the first floor.

The fire was brought under control early yesterday, about seven hours after it broke out.

★ ★ ★

George Sundborg, editor of the News-Miner, was in his third-floor apartment when "an explosion of smoke" filled the upper part of the four-story building. He raced from his apartment to his office and sent a running account to the Associated Press over his Teletype equipment until smoke and water forced him to leave.

★ ★ ★

He telephoned the rest of the story from a building across the street.

The News-Miner was planning to publish today, using other facilities.

Road Deaths Hit 3½-Year Low

5 Die During Weekend; Same Date Last Year Claimed 24 Lives

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Five persons died in weekend traffic accidents in Michigan—the lowest weekend count in at least 3½ years.

The state police safety and traffic division at East Lansing said the previous low in recent years was six deaths the first weekend in June, 1954.

On the pre-Thanksgiving weekend last year 24 persons died in traffic accidents.

State police had no explanation for the unusually small number of weekend traffic deaths. Traffic flow and enforcement were about normal.

Melvin Reddick, 55, Drayton Plains, was killed Saturday when struck by a car while walking across U.S. 10.

★ ★ ★

Otis Guy, 42, Blanchard, was killed Sunday when his car struck a tree in Isabila County.

Paul Gast, 43, Bridgeman, was killed Saturday night when his car crashed into a ditch near Bridgeman.

Walter Lee Viers, 25, Troy, was killed Saturday in a two-car accident near Pontiac.

★ ★ ★

Murel Wayne McFarlin, 32, Flint, was killed Saturday when his car struck a tree in Genesee County.

Jaycees to Pick Man of the Year

Call for Nominations of Males Distinguished for Leadership

The Pontiac Junior Chamber of Commerce is beginning its annual search for the outstanding young man of Pontiac.

Jaycees announced that nominations for the 1957 Distinguished Service Award (Outstanding Young Man of Pontiac) will be accepted beginning Wednesday. They should be sent to DSA Chairman, Pontiac Junior Chamber of Commerce, Box 210, Pontiac.

The award is given each year to the young man between 21 and 35 years who is judged to have contributed the most to general community welfare and who shows evidence of leadership and personal or business progress.

W. B. Neal, chairman of 1957 DSA arrangements, said the winner will be announced at the Jaycees' annual "Bosses Night" to be held in January.

Last year's winner was James F. Nye, of 883 Menominee Rd., manager of Nye Dairy.

Police Seek 4 Bandits in Theft From Driver

Bandits who stopped a moving car and robbed the driver are being sought by Pontiac police today.

★ ★ ★

Edward S. Yukawa, of W. Long Lake Road, Bloomfield Township, told police he was driving east on South Blvd. near Highland, when four men jumped in front of his car. When he stopped the men made him get out of his car at knife point and robbed him of $8, he said.

★ ★ ★

Yukawa said he saw a chance to break away and ran up the road with the four men pursuing him. At Franklin road and Fildew avenue, he ran to a private house and called the police.

Driver Walks Away From 'Worst' Wreck

NEWBURYPORT, Mass. (AP)—An automobile with a lone occupant hit a soft shoulder on a country road yesterday and here's what happened:

★ ★ ★

It bounded off the shoulder and struck a small tree, throwing the rear seat from the vehicle. It lost its rear wheels 15 feet beyond that. The back part of the body was sheared off 30 feet farther ahead.

★ ★ ★

The car continued another 150 feet where it crumpled up, a mass of wreckage.

City Marshal James E. Sullivan said it was the worst automobile wreck he had ever seen.

Kenneth D. Allard, 22, who said he had fallen asleep at the wheel, walked away from the wreck with only minor cuts and bruises.

Martha Stewart, Son Reported Feeling Fine

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — Actress and singer Martha Stewart and her newborn son, David Shelley III, are reported doing well in Santa Monica Hospital.

The 6-pound, 10-ounce baby was born Saturday. Miss Stewart and her husband, recording official Dave Shelley, also have a 16-month-old daughter, Colleen.

Miss Stewart said that after she returns home from the hospital she will prepare for a return to television acting and to her singing career.

Pontiac Jaycees Vainly Root for the Lions

"Well, that sure was a good play," Norm O'Brien Jr. (left) seems to be saying to Dick Veazey and John A. Benson. Even though the Lions lost in Sunday's game with the Chicago Bears, the Pontiac Jaycees managed to have a good time.

U. S. Gets Best Food and Drugs

But Progress in Products Means New Problems

By GEORGE P. LARRICK
(For Jane Eads)

Two questions frequently asked us are: "Just how good is the American food and drug supply?" "What can consumers do to help the Food and Drug Administration in its job of protecting the public?"

★ ★ ★

These questions are related. The foods, drugs and cosmetics used by the American people are the best that any nation has ever enjoyed in all history.

WORKING HARDER

The food, drug and cosmetic industries are working harder than ever to make further improvements in products, packaging and distribution. Changes are going on all the time. This is progress.

★ ★ ★

But progress also has a way of creating all sorts of new problems. More followup investigation must be done on the potent new drugs that are being released for sale today.

There are more steps in processing today's ready-to-heat-and-eat food products — which means more work for FDA inspectors.

★ ★ ★

There is an increasing use of food additives — small amounts of chemicals which help to keep foods crisp or prevent them from drying out, or becoming rancid or moldy, or which improve the appearance or the flavor.

LAW NECESSARY

This, too, is progress, but a law is needed which will require these materials to be thoroughly tested for their safety before they are tried out on the public.

★ ★ ★

We also need more scientists to research these new materials and problems which affect the public health and pocketbook.

And, of course, we always have that minority group of careless and criminal operators who keep us busy with law enforcement activities.

★ ★ ★

Congress is helping us in two ways—it is supporting an expansion program with increased appropriations and considering amendments to the law to take care of the chemical additive problem.

Learn Techniques of Home Nursing to Be Ready for Illness in the Family

(Editor's Note: Home nursing know-how is essential this winter for every family. Already one wave of influenza has struck; another possibly worse one lies ahead. With hospitals and doctors overtaxed, health authorities urge you to do what you can to care for yourself. NEA Writer Aileen Snoddy had the assistance of New York State Health Department officials in preparing this series of simple, basic home nursing instructions. This is the first of five articles.)

By AILEEN SNODDY
NEA Staff Correspondent

When illness hits a home, the best way to soothe a fevered brow is to know what to do.

Short illnesses usually do not call for hospitalization. In fact, by following simple home care instructions—prepared by experts—you can do your share in not adding another patient to overcrowded hospitals.

Influenza is another of the aches and pains that keep millions of Americans home for a few days each year. This year Asian flu is especially common in many communities. And it brings up an important question: When someone in your family is ill, do you know what to do to make him more comfortable?

A person who is ill needs the same care as one who is well. But this person often doesn't have the strength to help himself. It is up to you, or some member of the family, to help him.

As you all know, an ill person needs lots of rest. But so does the person caring for him. So that everyone is as happy as possible under the circumstances, plan a day's routine so that you both get plenty of rest. This is easier to do if you follow a simple routine of care.

This involves proper procedures in bathing, feeding, taking pulse and respiration and changing a bed of a sick person. Knowing how to do these properly will keep you from landing in bed the minute your patient is up and about.

When a person first becomes ill, call your family physician. Don't try to diagnose and treat the case. A visit from the doctor also will ease the daily routine because he can tell you what the patient should do for himself, such as go to the bathroom and wash himself. And he will leave instructions about medications and any special treatments.

Fit the patient's day into your day. Make him comfortable but don't let him be a tyrant and order you about until you drop from exhaustion. After all, how can you help him when you are at the point of needing help yourself?

There are basic things to consider in taking care of a patient at home:

1. Make the patient as comfortable as possible, in a bed by himself if possible. The room should be warm, but not hot, and aired periodically. When airing, protect the patient from drafts.

2. A patient must eat to recover his strength. However, serve simple foods and fluids frequently. Wash dishes used by the patient in hot, soapy water, and rinse in hot water. Or run them through regular cycles of a dishwasher.

There are times during the day when certain things should be done for the patient. Break a patient's day logically into morning, afternoon and evening care.

Before breakfast, take the patient's temperature, pulse and respiration. Help the patient to the bathroom or to use a bedpan if he is too weak or the doctor advises him to stay in bed. Bathing the patient's face and hands will make him feel better and it will be up to you if he cannot go to the bathroom. Also help him brush his teeth after meals.

After breakfast, the patient may want his bed bath. There is no set time when a bath should be given and a patient may like his at bedtime or in the afternoon. However, even a bath may be tiring for some patients. If this occurs, give him only part of the bath at one time. After the bath is a good time to change the bedclothing.

Afternoon care actually comes just before supper. It includes bathing the face and hands, a back rub and taking the temperature, pulse and respiration.

Now comes the most important period in a patient's day as far as he is concerned. It is making him combortable so he can sleep as naturally as possible.

Offer him some light nourishment, help him to the bathroom if necessary and help him clean his teeth. A change of gown and bedding may be needed. And if the patient is perspiring freely, sponge him. As a final step before saying goodnight, ventilate the room and see that it will be at a comfortable temperature for sleeping.

Next: Taking a patient's temperature.

Dear Tired:

Is He Spouse-Broken?

ABBY

DEAR ABBY: I am a divorcee myself so I have nothing against going out with men who have been divorced, but there is one man who has kept me on the string for over five years now. Some say he is legally divorced and others say he is "separated." He doesn't say. I wasted six years of my life on a fellow who was "separated" but with a divorce in the works and he finally went back to his wife and I don't want this to happen again because I'm not getting any younger. He is a handsome dog and I love him very much, but how can I find out if there is any future in it for me.

TIRED OF WAITING

DEAR TIRED: First—find out if that handsome dog is spouse-broke. Then . . . take it from there.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: I am a girl of 17 and when I go out with boys they get a little fresh. I have never been out with a boy in the last 3 months who has not gotten fresh. I don't let them get away with anything, but my girlfriend completely disagrees with me. She thinks if you want to be popular you should give a boy what he wants. Although I know you will say that I am right, could you please give me a good reason why?

IN DOUBT

DEAR IN DOUBT: Because most fellows who get fresh know that if they can get away with it—anybody else can—and who wants an "easy" girl?

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: I am in love with a jet pilot. I just met him when he finished his training and every time I ask him about his past he says, "That's a long story . . ." He seems so nice and polite and everything. I can't imagine him having anything in his past that he would be ashamed of. Should I insist on knowing or should I just let it go? He is 22 and I am 19.

SUSAN

DEAR SUSAN: No matter how long the story is . . . tell him you want to hear it . . . ALL! Your jet pilot should straighten up and fly right.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: Two years ago I quit a perfectly good job as an Aid at the hospital to take a job caring for a man who was 90 years old. He has one sister who is 87 and he has no living children and neither has she. This old man is very rich and he told me if I came to work for him I would get his house and $5,000 if I stayed with him until he died. His health is getting better and I am not feeling too good. I took the job for less than I got at the hospital because of his promise. His lawyer has hinted around to me that maybe they will put me off and hire a male nurse for him. What about his promise to me? I am 61.

G. J.

DEAR G. J.: If you cannot afford the service of a lawyer, I suggest that you go to your local Legal Aid Society. You need some expert legal advice.

MRS. EDWARD A. BENTLEY

Married Saturday in First Presbyterian Church were Donnalee P. Anderson and Edward Allen Bentley. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albin T. Anderson.

Donnalee P. Anderson Weds in Candlelight Rite

White chrysanthemums banked the altar of First Presbyterian church for the Saturday evening wedding of Donnalee Patricia Anderson and Edward Allen Bentley. The Rev. William H. Marbach performed the candlelight ceremony before 200 guests.

★ ★ ★

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Albin Theodore Anderson of Cass-Elizabeth road, and the bridegroom is the nephew of Mrs. William Edward Swinson of Columbus, Ga.

GOWNED IN SATIN

For her wedding the bride chose a floor-length gown of white satin trimmed with Alencon lace and featuring a portrait neckline. Her cap trimmed in seed pearls and Alencon lace held a full-length veil, and she carried a cascade arrangement of white roses.

★ ★ ★

Serving as matron of honor was Mrs. Harry Hartjen Jr. of Huntington Woods, and Sally Ayling of Grosse Pointe was the bridesmaid. Both wore waltz-length gowns of sea-mist green hand-embroidered silk organza with matching headpieces. They carried colonial bouquets of white chrysanthemums.

Harry Hartjen Jr. of Huntington Woods was the best man. Guests were seated by John Canavan of Birmingham and Arthur Kibiger of Grosse Pointe.

★ ★ ★

To receive guests at a Devon Gables reception Mrs. Anderson chose a waltz-length creation of rose Chantilly lace with matching accessories and a corsage of white and pink roses.

TO LIVE IN SOUTH

Before leaving on a trip to New York City the new Mrs. Bentley changed to a gray suit with matching accessories and a corsage from her bridal bouquet. The couple will live in Columbus, Ga.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Bentley was graduated from Wayne State University and the bridegroom is a graduate of Georgia Institute of Technology.

Preparing Early Makes Yule More Meaningful to Children

By DR. DOROTHY WRIPPLE

Christmas has a way of pouncing out of the fall. It always seems to come before you are ready.

When you wake up to the fact that the big day is just around the corner there is a mad dash to get everything ready. Tempers are likely to snap during mad dashes.

★ ★ ★

This year get going early and make some leisurely preparations with the children. When you start early you'll have time to talk to the children about what Christmas means. It's a wonderful season and children need to be part of all of it—not just receivers of gifts.

PLAN DECORATIONS

About the first of December begin to plan your Christmas decorations. It is of course too early to set up a tree, but you could plan a creche or Nativity scene.

★ ★ ★

Talk about the Christmas story and let the children make animals and figures, trees and houses to represent the Nativity. As you work up a little scene your children begin to feel the spirit of Him whose birthday we celebrate.

Perhaps you won to buy a few figures, but don't buy too many. A homemade scene with figures molded out of clay, with pine cones for trees, will mean more to the children.

★ ★ ★

Your homemade Story of Christ will be worked over and played with for weeks before Christmas.

ADD NEW ITEMS

Plan some other decorations for the house and put them up as the children work on them. Try to add a few new items every day or so.

★ ★ ★

Make a big batch of Christmas cookies. Cut them in interesting shapes and decorate them with bright colored sugar. These can be stored until needed and make wonderful gifts for visiting children during Christmas week, or even before.

Perhaps some of the children would like to send a fancy decorated cookie as a Christmas card to a special friend.

Christmas cards can be planned well before Christmas. As much as you can, interest the children in making their own cards.

SOURCE OF PICTURES

If you have kept those that were sent to you last year many of them will supply pictures which the children can cut out and paste on cards or colored paper.

★ ★ ★

When children buy their cards let them make their own selections, deciding which card goes to which person. Let them sign their own names and stamp the envelopes.

Keep the children interested in doing things for Christmas, doing things for the family, for their friends and taking part in community plans.

★ ★ ★

Their interest in others helps to keep down the pitch of excitement in what is being done for them and it also helps to give them a real feeling of love and concern for others.

This, much more than receiving, is what we want our youngsters to feel about Christmas.

Woman Advised to Explain Situation to Neighbor

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: I think the tenants overhead must be raising future Olympic champions in jumping. We really can't stand the loss of several hours' sleep in the morning. But how, in your opinion, is the best way to register a complaint?

"We asked our superintendent to tell them, but he refused, saying that he can't take sides with any of us. He has, however, confirmed what we suspected, that their children's room is directly over our bedroom. The Overheads are complete strangers."

Answer: I think it best to try to keep discussion of the situation between you and the Overheads. My suggestion would be to telephone or write Mrs. Overhead, which she would have no cause to resent, provided your request is reasonable and made without rancor.

You might say that after talking it over, you and your husband have decided it best to tell her about the early morning jumping in her children's room, evidently just over your bedroom, which makes it impossible for either you or your husband to sleep after 5 or 6 o'clock; and that you would be most grateful for whatever she could do to improve the situation.

"Dear Mrs. Post: When a man and girl go to a cafeteria for something to eat, shouldn't the man precede her so that when they reach the end of the line where the cashier is seated, he can pay for her food? If she goes first, it makes a rather awkward situation."

Answer: She should go ahead of him and when they get to where the cashier is, he merely leans forward and says to the cashier, "This lady is with me, please add her food to my, check."

"Dear Mrs. Post: What qualifies as head covering at an evening wedding?"

Answer: An arrangement of flowers or veiling, a lace scarf or any becoming hair ornament qualifies as head covering and is suitable.

Pam Mason Being Mistreated With Too Much Freedom?

By LEE BELSER

HOLLYWOOD (INS)—James Mason and his wife Pamela, are constantly under fire for the way they're raising their nine-year-old daughter, Portland.

Porty, a brilliant youngster who paints, dances, acts and writes with rare abandon, is, for the most part, allowed to do as she pleases.

"But," said James, " she is a very sensible girl. I don't think she takes undue advantages of her opportunities.

"We happen to be in the theater," he added, "and I think it is much better to allow a child to participate in her family's occupation rather than to grow up as a separate entity and suddenly have it all hit her in the face at the age of 18."

Porty, at the age of nine, is almost as well known as her celebrated parents and equally as competent.

Recently, she was invited on the spur of the moment to entertain at a party hosted by Dean Martin. She rose up out of the audience with icy aplomb, waltzed up to the stage and launched into a dance so sexy it would have turned Sally Rand green with envy.

★ ★ ★

This display, some people felt, was just a little too much.

"I'd be caught dead before I'd allow my child to do a thing like that," one shocked mama declared.

But Pamela Mason brushed this off with:

"We have done what we think best for the sort of life we have to lead.

"Porty has a natural gift for music and rhythm," she added. "I think the black dress she was wearing made the dance look sexier than it really was."

Pamela also volunteered the information that by allowing Porty to express herself to the limit, she had hoped the child might not become an actress.

"After all," she said, "James and I don't think it's the greatest profession in the world."

Pamela called the criticism of their child raising "terribly unfair" and added:

"People say we're too English, rude, boorish and that Portland is our victim. If she were anyone else's child they would not say a word.

"Actually we feel it's more sensible," she went on, "to expose her to as much as possible while she is still under our protection. We feel, in that way, she will be much better equipped to face the world."

The little blonde glamour girl will be in the limelight again soon when she appears with her dad in a new film, "Cry Terror," in which James plays one of his rare sympathetic roles. She's also doing a TV series, "This Is Alice," for Desilu.

Married Saturday in Trinity Lutheran Church, Utica, were Jean Henderson and Lloyd E. Graves. Mr. and Mrs. Ernest W. Henderson are the bride's parents, and the bridegroom's parents are Mrs. Bernetta Graves and C. W. Graves.

MRS. LLOYD E. GRAVES

Jean Henderson Speaks Vows With Lloyd Graves

In a candlelight ceremony Saturday evening Jean Henderson and Lloyd E. Graves were united in marriage. The Rev. Louis G. Heinecke performed the ceremony in Trinity Lutheran Church of Utica before 200 witnesses.

★ ★ ★

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Ernest W. Henderson of Rochester, and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Bernetta Graves of Woodale street and C. W. Graves of Clinton Apartments.

For her wedding the bride chose a floor-length white silk taffeta gown featuring a fitted bodice with lace medalion insets at the neckline and waist, long pointed sleeves and a chapel train.

Her shoulder-length veil was held in place by a cap of lace and seed pearls. The bridal bouquet was of white fugi chrysanthemums, white stephanotis and ivy cascading from a prayerbook.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Donald Lynch of Royal Oak as matron of honor wore a silver blue street-length dress with fitted bodice, flared skirt and midnight blue velvet cummerbund. Completing her costume were a midnight blue velvet headband and a spray arrangement of bronze chrysanthemums.

Mrs. James Henderson of Clawson, bridesmaid, was gowned like the honor attendant.

Gerald Alverson of Rochester was the best man. A brother of the bridegroom, Floyd Graves, and Jack Wilcox of South Bend, Ind., seated the guests.

For a reception in the church parlors Mrs. Henderson chose a toast-colored lace gown with black accessories and an orchid corsage. The bridegroom's mother chose a navy crepe gown with light blue accessories and an orchid corsage.

★ ★ ★

Before leaving on a trip to northern Michigan, the new Mrs. Graves changed to a black tweed dress with red accessories. The couple will live in Rochester.

Mrs. Henderson is a graduate of Western Michigan University where she is affiliated with Alpha Chi Omega sorority.

Allemanders Attend Dance

Over 85 members and guests of the Allemanders Square Dance Club gathered to promenade at the Isaac Crary Junior High School Saturday evening.

★ ★ ★

Caller for the event was Sam Joan. Music was furnished by a local orchestra.

Mrs Clarence Huemiller and Mr. and Mrs. Dave Moran were guests at the dance.

Elizabeth Degg Becomes Bride of Edward E. Sage

St. James Church, Ferndale, was the scene of the wedding uniting Elizabeth Jean Degg and Edward Eugene Sage. Approximately 175 guests witnessed the Saturday morning ceremony.

★ ★ ★

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Laurence A. Degg of Oak Park, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Fred Sage of Kenilworth avenue.

Elizabeth wore a floor-length gown of white Chantilly lace over satin featuring a Sabrina neckline, long tapered sleeves and a bouffant skirt. Her fingertip veil was of French illusion, and she held an arrangement of white carnations. Pearl earrings were her only jewelry.

Joanne Degg, sister of the bride, wore a gown of pink Chantilly lace over taffeta with a floor-length bouffant skirt for her duties as maid of honor. Pink carnations composed her bouquet.

★ ★ ★

The bridesmaids, Mary Ann Urbanck and Mabel Reum of Berkley, wore blue Chantilly lace over taffeta and carried blue carnations. Flower girl Janice Nicholls wore a bouffant floor-length frock of pink net over pink taffeta. Pink carnations were her flowers.

Larry Hall of Oxford served as best man. Ronnie Klobnock and Larry Degg of Oak Park, brother of the bride, seated the guests.

For a 7 p.m. reception at the IOOF Temple, Ferndale, Mrs. Degg wore a teal blue Chantilly lace dress over taffeta accented by a blue sash which formed a bow at the back.

★ ★ ★

The bride chose a two-piece ensemble with black accessories for the couple's wedding trip.

Plain Cooky Made Rich With Butter

Mrs. Lee's Recipe Makes Drop Bits or Pressed Treats

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

We know you are beginning to collect interesting cookie recipes in anticipation of the Christmas season asead. This Vanilla Wafer recipe from Mrs. Edwin Lee of Walled Lake can be for drop cookies or for cookies in a press.

Mrs. Lee's interests, outside of her family, are nature study, painting and drawing. She did a great deal of detailed work on the house she and her husband built.

VANILLA WAFERS
By Mrs. Edwin Lee

½ teaspoon salt
1 cup sugar
1¼ cups butter or margarine
2 eggs
3¼ cups sifted flour
¾ teaspoon vanilla

Mix ingredients together. Do not overbeat. Drop on ungreased cookie sheet. Or chill and force through a cookie press. Bake 10-12 minutes at 400 degrees.

Here's a package of eight patterns that will please all needleworkers, for the patterns are for items that may be made all year 'round. You'll want one for your own use, and others for Christmas-giving to your 'needlework' friends. Price — $1.00.

C-107 contains 8 complete patterns for crochet, embroider, knit and sew items.

Send $1.00, your name, address and the Pattern Number to Anne Cabot, The Pontiac Press, 372 W. Quincy Street, Chicago 6, Illinois.

Have you a copy of our 1957 Needlework Album? It contains fifty-six colorful pages showing many pretty designs; plus directions for making 3 crochet items and a quilt. Only 25c a copy!

Want to Seem Younger? Abide by These 'Don'ts'

Spend More Time Planning the Future Than Remembering the Past

By RUTH MILLETT

If you want to seem younger than you are — Don't wonder out loud what the younger generation is coming to, or cluck about how "silly" their enthusiasms are.

Don't decry change, for no better reason than that you are used to the old way.

Don't turn down spur-of-the-moment invitations simply because it might rush you a little to get ready.

Don't keep comparing the way things are with the way they used to be, always trying to prove the old days were better in every way.

Don't talk about sad things if you can possibly find a topic that will make cheerful conversation.

Refuse to go into detail about the state of your health when you are asked the innocent question, "How are you?"

Don't complain about the noise of children or get in a dither because a neighbor's cat or dog gets in your yard occasionally.

Don't talk about how old you feel.

Don't do more than your share of the talking.

Share your enthusiasms with others only if they seem genuinely interested.

Find all you can to praise and admire in others, and try not to even think about others' shortcomings and faults.

Don't make conversation out of the things you don't like or that irritate you. And try to keep those things to a minimum.

★ ★ ★

Don't feel sorry for yourself when you are lonely. Instead, try to do something for someone who is lonelier or worse off than you are.

Don't spend more time remembering the past than in planning for the future.

Dance Schedule

Members of executive board of New Citizens League of Pontiac met in the Seebaldt avenue home of Mr. and Mrs. Roman Gravilla. Plans were completed for the annual Dance of All Nations to be held Friday in Elks Temple.

The severe sophistication of black can make the petite bundle of femininity look mousy. But softly-draped dark crepe, with the graceful beauty of chic bow placement, and the tiny person becomes the darling of the evening.

June Gudenau, John H. Rivard Exchange Vows

Residing on Henry Clay avenue following their marriage at St. Hugo of the Hills Church are Mr. and Mrs. John Howard Rivard. Mrs. Rivard is the former June Gudenau of Woodward avenue.

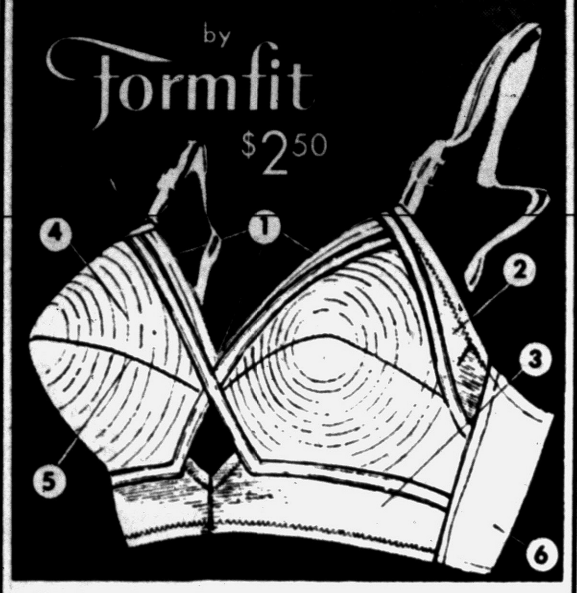

★ ★ ★

The bride wore a navy blue suit with white accessories and a white orchid corsage for the Nov. 16 ceremony. Her matron of honor, Mrs. Eugene Foote, wore a gray suit with black accessories and an orchid corsage.

★ ★ ★

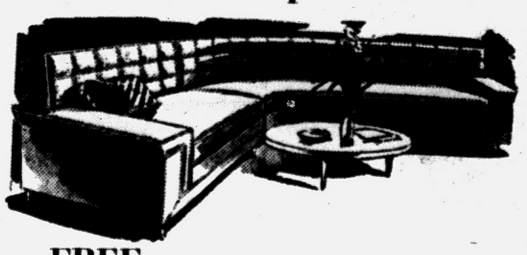

The best man for the occasion was James Hall, at whose Longfellow avenue home the reception was held. Mrs. Hall is a niece of the bridegroom.

Improves Business, Social Relationships

Trained Memory Boasts Many Advantages

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Meeting and talking with Dr. Bruno Furst, distinguished memory expert, was one of the most delightful and interesting experiences I have had. He and Mrs. Furst, herself an expert, estimate that they have about 80,000 students.

* * *

This includes those in their New York City classes at Brooklyn College, Denver University, the McGeorge College of Law in Sacramento, Calif., widely scattered adult education centers and thousands all over the world who learn through correspondence course.

A lot of folks must want to remember a lot of things. Or more accurately, many people are smart enough to realize that one's efficiency and effectiveness in business and public relations, as well as success and happiness in social life and the home, are diminished by the inability to remember.

Just to give you an idea of the variety in types and professions, the following is a list of pupils taken from the Fursts' current classes: Executives of all sorts, an office engineer, a manufacturer, an Oriental rug wholesaler, a laboratory technician, a doctor, a legal stenographer, a registered nurse, a sales representative, a banker, an interior decorator, students, a real estate promoter, lawyers, teachers, an artist, a police sergeant, a hairdresser, a handwriting expert, a professional gambler in Las Vegas, a funeral director, an insurance salesman, and lots of housewives.

* * *

Then there are some famous alumni such as Red Buttons and Rear Adm. Redfield Mason, who won 100,000 dollars on a TV quiz program.

GENIUS UNNECESSARY

I asked Dr. Furst if one must have a superior or better than average intelligence in order to perform the feats in memory which his students are capable of after just 10 short weeks. He assured me that this is not so. He said, "Anyone who can read and write and will practice my technique can do it."

Dr. and Mrs. Furst are nothing like the bald-headed man who was selling hair tonic. They can identify all of their 500 New York City students by name one week after they enroll for the course.

After 10 lessons from Dr. Bruno Furst, the Furst graduates can memorize the gist of each page in a magazine in around 20 minutes.

Dr. Furst also can shuffle a deck of cards, look at them for only a few seconds, and then give the sequence forward and backwards. I would hate to play bridge with him. As a matter of fact he does not play, probably because it would be an unfair advantage. He prefers chess.

At the end of 10 weeks, or 10 lessons, the Furst graduates can memorize the gist of each page in a magazine in around 20 minutes, meet 40 or 50 strangers and remember their names, remember long lists, all sorts of dates, faces, and myriad other facts and information. It is really just short of magic.

To put it simply, Dr. Furst said, "When you hang up your hat you put it on a hook. You must also put things you want to remember on hooks which you have established in your mind. Then when you want to pluck something from your mind you find the right hook and take it off."

ON ONE ENGINE

This interview made me feel as though I am flying on one engine and I could certainly use four!

* * *

This is seriously interesting to me because I believe so completely that the mind must be subjected to mental gymnastics of some sort if it is to remain youthful.

Dr. Furst also said, "There is no good or bad memories—just lazy ones." He convinced me that anyone can learn to remember 80 per cent of what he reads and hears rather than the 10 or 20 per cent it is now estimated the average person remembers.

I inquired as to the ratio between men and women in his classes and was surprised to learn that it is about 50-50. I had thought that many more men than women would be enrolled. I suppose because I had been viewing this mainly as a business asset. On second thought, of course, a good memory is extremely important in the home.

* * *

Thousands of housewives take the Furst memory course. These women find that the ability to remember is a tremendous asset. After being graduated they can remember the names of a group of strangers to whom they are introduced—and keep remembering them. They can also remember all sorts of facts about the families and interests of these strangers.

TREMENDOUS AID

You can imagine what a tremendous aid this is in social life as well as in club work and civic organizations. Some women take the course to improve their bridge game.

* * *

We all know that forgetting details is one reason for fatigue and hecticness in running a home, in housework and child care. So often we have to dash about at the last minute because of this. Imagine being able to remember a list of 20 things without trouble and keeping important dates from a mental calendar as these women can!

The Furst course in memory and concentration also seems to give marital bliss a boost. One woman wrote Dr. Furst that it has made a big difference in her marriage because now she never forgets what her husband tells her to do and therefore he is no longer irritated.

The course even helped one woman remember her husband. She wrote, "I am finding your course very helpful, interesting and well worthwhile. I now seem to collect my thoughts better and much quicker.

"At 11 a.m., I drive to get my husband. He works the swing shift. I used to forget him." This he did not find humorous. He thinks the course is great and is much happier with his shorter waits."

Program Presented by Chorus

First Concert of Season Given at Four Towns

Pontiac Women's Chorus gave its first concert of the season Sunday evening in Four Towns Methodist Church. The chorus offered a program of religious and secular numbers.

In keeping with the holiday season, one of the selections was "Prayer from Hansel and Gretel" featuring the solo voice of June Melkonian.

"Go Tell It on the Mountain" heralded the approaching Christmas season, and the familiar "Through the Years" by Vincent Youmans was included in the program.

SOLO SELECTIONS

Soprano soloist Mary Leonare, accompanied by Charles Wilson, sang a group of songs. George Scott, baritone, accompanied by Eugene Gettler, sang "Songs of Travel."

* * *

A barbershop quartet composed of Elaine Keinert, Velva Wolfe, Dorothy Tallerday and Alice Obsher added a bit of variety to the evening.

George Scott directs the chorus and Mr. Gettler is the accompanist. The group is affiliated with Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department.

Here is a lovely, feminine slip, designed to fit the half-size figure perfectly. Neat panties to match are sew-easy.

Talk on Magazine Given at Hawthorne

A talk concerning the National Parent-Teacher Magazine by Mrs. Raymond Lehman was featured on the program at a get-acquainted luncheon sponsored by the Hawthrone School PTA.

On the same Thursday the fathers of the PTA entertained their sons at a Fun Night gathering.

Dr. Kontz Speaks to Bethany Women

"Here in America" was the topic of guest speaker Dr. Emil Kontz when the Women's Society of the Bethany Baptist Church met recently in the church parlors for a luncheon served by the Martha Group.

Dr. Kontz, pastor of Birmingham's First Baptist Church, and Mrs. Kontz were chosen by the Baptist World Alliance to redeive Hungarian refugees at Camp Kilmer, U. S. Army Reception Center in New Jersey.

CAR Welcomes New Member

Susan Trousdale was received as a new member of Colonel Stephen Mack Society, Children of the American Revolution, when that group met Thursday in the West Iroquois road home of Mrs. Everett Peterson.

Ora Hallenbeck spoke on her recent visit to a DAR school in South Carolina. Tray favors were made by members to be sent to children in local hospitals. Mrs. Frank Allen was a guest.

Beverly A. Hyatt Wears Taffeta Gown for Wedding

Beverly Ann Hyatt and Donald E. Ward were married Saturday evening in Bethany Baptist Church. She is the daughter of Mrs. William Hyatt of Calvert street, and his parents are Mr. and Mrs. Ray Ward of North Genesee avenue.

* * *

For her wedding the bride chose a floor-length gown of taffeta with a fitted bodice and square neckline. The bouffant skirt was accented by a front panel.

A seed pearl crown held her fingertip veil of nylon tulle, and she wore a pearl necklace and earrings. White roses on a white pearl Bible were carried by the bride.

Mrs. Marvin Fletemier, sister of the bride, was matron of honor wearing a ballerina-length gown of coral taffeta.

* * *

Other attendants were Mrs. William Joss, Mrs. Robert Woodworth and Mrs. Duane Hyatt. Their gowns of white taffeta were styled identically to the honor matron's. They carried coal muffs with white feathered carnations and ivy.

Mary Alice Hyatt, niece of the bride, performed the duties of flower girl in a white dotted Swiss dress trimmed in Madrid lace.

ASSIST BRIDEGROOM

Harold Ward, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man. Ushers were Marvin Fletemier of Royal Oak, Ray McGregor, Paul Jankovsky and Robert Ward.

* * *

Mrs. Hyatt chose a lace sheath dress in toast color with pink accessories and a pink rose corsage for her daughter's wedding.

A brown brocade dress with a peach-colored rose corsage was the choice of Mrs. Ward.

A reception was held in the church parlors, following which the new Mrs. Ward changed to a beige wool dress with green accessories for a honeymoon trip to Florida. The couple will reside on Fernberry street.

Sunset Club Meets

Sunset Club met Thursday afternoon at Wilson School. Following a cooperative dinner, John Streit showed travel pictures.

Puzzle Fans! Money Mounts in Pot-O-Gold

Numbers on the Pot-O-Gold till show that the money's mounting rapidly and is now at the tempting sum of $1,200. That's a plump little morsel for so little effort. All you must do is read the rules and clues carefully, write the correct numbers in the appropriate blanks and mail it to us on a postcard. Certainly there could be no one so lazy he wouldn't be willing to invest that little time for such a generous prize.

The new puzzle contains a series of squares which are alphabetically lettered and a corresponding list of sentences with two clue words. Each of the words is numbered. The object is to select the word which you think best fits the clue sentence. You then place the number of that word in the square which has the same letter as the clue sentence.

In other words, you will read the clue labeled A and decide which of the two words makes the most sense in the puzzle square marked A.

Do the same with all other squares. Read all the clues carefully and be sure the right numbers are in the right squares.

8. Winners and correct solutions will be announced each Friday of the week following individual contests. Official keeper of answers will be Frederick C. Ziem, prosecutor for Oakland County. Only the General Features Corp., originators of the puzzles, will know the solutions until after each contest is over. Answers will be delivered to the Press Judges by Mr. Ziem after the final deadline.

9. There is only one correct solution to the POT-O-GOLD puzzle, and only that correct answer can win. The decision of the judges is final and all contestants agree to abide by the judges' decision. All entries becoming the property of The Pontiac Press and none can be returned.

10. Completed puzzles must be addressed to POT-O-GOLD, POST OFFICE BOX 58, Pontiac, Michigan. Winners will be notified either by telephone or in the mails.

But They Have Two Big Problems

Tunisians Like America... and U.S. Arms

By PRESTON GROVER
Chief of AP Paris Bureau

TUNIS (AP)—Tunisia has a population half the size of New York City and it is about as pro-American as you can go in the mid-Mediterranean shore.

At this point a Tunisian would be proud to sport a fez marked made in U.S.A.

And the British at the moment have a share in the popularity of the non-French part of the Western Alliance.

The American and British decision to provide Western arms couldn't help but make this country happy as a lark—at least for a little while. It meant two things.

First, it meant Tunisia had arrived. It got arms from big Western powers without French intervention.

Second, it meant Tunisia was important enough to the West that it could get arms without troublesome dealings with Iron Curtain countries.

It is hard to imagine how important such things can be to a country without coming here. It is a nice country to come to. It is in Africa, which sounds a long way off.

But actually it is two hours by plane from Southern France and 20 minutes from Italy, at the half way point in the Mediterranean between Gibraltar and Cairo.

On every hand you see how important it is for Tunisians to be independent. They have been independent, or almost so, for nearly two years, and the changes are so great since independence that they need enumeration almost one by one.

Yet, after they are listed, two great and troublesome problems remain.

One problem is Algeria, big, sprawling, revolt-torn Algeria lying to the west. Tunisians want Algeria to be independent because they see no other way of ending the rebellion. But they want to see the hand of France remain there. Tunisians would be as afraid of a rampant government in Algeria as they once were of the French.

JOBS SCARCE

The second problem in Tunisia is the starvation economy of the country. There aren't living-wage jobs for half the people who need them, and the prospect of outside French and American aid varies almost with the tide.

The differences since independence are evident in many quarters. First, the people clearly are happier than they were under the French. That is not necessarily to say they are better off.

But for the time being, even though their troubles may be mounting, they like to be their own bosses.

When I first came here three years ago, everything was French, the government, the police, the army, and the drivers of most of the automobiles. Now everything, almost, is Tunisian.

Every shop and building must bear its name in Arabic. Most give the name also in French.

Polygamy, permitted under Islamic law, has been abolished.

One delightful thing to note is that the city is clean. Sidewalks are cleaner than in Paris, in part due to the absence of dogs.

France's main concern is to keep the Mediterranean Bizerta Base, north of Tunis. It is a major Allied base, and President Bourguiba seems disposed to let it remain in control of the French.

Months ago the last French divisions in Tunisia marched off to Algeria to fight the Fellagha. Now there are perhaps no more than 4,000 French, mostly service troops and air force.

The presence of the French here has meant big spending, and for the most part efficient administration. Already the economy has felt the shock.

When the French were in control they invested both private and government money. The French agreed to continue pumping some public money, about $35,700,000, into the country to help out, but this has been suspended. American aid, intended only to supplement the French aid, amounted last fiscal year to 15 million dollars.

The Algerian affair dominates everything in Tunisia. Prseident Bourguiba has pleaded with Algerian leaders to negotiate a settlement without insisting right now on total independence. They don't seem to hear him.

If independence comes to Algeria only in an angry quarrel with the French, Tunisia will be on the side of Algeria.

The French insist that arms delivered to Tunisia might find their way into the hands of the Algerian rebels. Yet foreign minister Christian Pineau said in the Paris Assembly that there was no evidence that Tunisian army weapons had been found in Algeria.

About 1,333 males die for every 1,000 females in the U.S., and the proportion of male deaths to female deaths is said to be increasing.

Extravagant Selznick Eyes Big Job in 'Vanity Fair'

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — David Selznick, who never fools with a minor project, and some people say he never heard the word economy, takes on a big one indeed calling for millions in "Vanity Fair," the William Thackery classic.

A great many people think that David produced this in 1935 starring Miriam Hopkins — but that is not true. It was made by RKO when he was there, but it was not a Selznick production.

Of course, Jennifer Jones will be the star of David's version which is so far along that the script which he co-authored with Louis G. Coxe is completed. Getting back to the subject of money, it will cost a fortune to recreate the big scenes of Napoleon's battle with Wellington at Waterloo after his return from Elba.

First, Jennifer does "Tender Is the Night" for 20th.

Those who know Jack L. Warner only as a witty after-dinner speaker and a producer of motion pictures, do not know of the many charities he and his brother, Harry, quietly support. Jack has helped every worthy cause in this town, no matter what denomination.

That's why I am glad that he's going to receive the Humanitarian Award of 1957 at a dinner at the Waldorf-Astoria in New York on Jan. 21. At the same time, he will be appointed chairman of the National Foundation of Infantile Paralysis in appreciation for what he has done in behalf of the foundation.

The rave notices in the New York Times and New York Tribune over Joan Blondell's performance in "The Rope Dancers," Gilbert Miller's Broadway play, made Joan's many friends very happy.

Joan has always been a fine actress, so this recognition is not surprising. Art Carney also got a pat on the back, as, of course, did Siobhan McKenna, and it looks like this play is in for a long run.

Baltimore Seizes Advantage in West

Browns Hold Eastern Lead

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Coach Paul Brown's gamble on unpredictable rookie talent to revive his Cleveland Browns appears to have paid off. The Browns were a half game ahead today in the race for the Eastern Football Laague.

Fullback Jim Brown, Brown's No. 1 draft choice this season, yesterday gained a record 237 yards rushing and scored four touchdowns. He was the thrust behind Cleveland's 45-31 defeat of Los Angeles.

★ ★ ★

Milt Plum, the No. 2 draft choice, filled in for injured quarterback Tom O'Connell, and guided the division leaders to five touchdowns and a field goal. The Browns have a 7-1-1 record.

Cleveland leads the New York Giants who whipped the Chicago Cardinals 28-21. New York's record is 7-2-0.

The Western Division muddle was dissolved for a week at least when the Baltimore Colts whipped San Francisco 27-21 and the Chicago Bears upset Detroit 27-7. The Colts 6-3 took the lead and the 49ers and Lions both 5-4 fell to second.

Green Bay virtually blasted Pittsburgh's hopes of an Eastern title with a 27-10 lacing and Philadelphia whipped Washington 21-12 in the other NFL games.

Brown, Syracuse's All American in 1956, broke the 223-yard record set last season by Tom Wilson of Los Angeles. He dribbled his way to his longest run of 69 yards. He fumbled as he passed the line of scrimmage, raced two steps, picked up the ball and scored the touchdown putting the Browns ahead 14-7.

O'Connell, the league's leading passer, was injured in the second period. The score was 7-7. Plum completed six of nine passes for 62 yards. The rookie played for Penn State.

★ ★ ★

John Unitas powered a Colt comeback for the third time this season. The quarterback spotted fullback Alan Ameche with an eight-yard touchdown pass with less than a minute to go. It was his 19th scoring pass this year.

★ ★ ★

Y. A. Tittle, 49ers quarterback, kept the 49ers in the game. He plunged for two scores and passed for the third. It was San Francisco's third straight defeat. The Colts' sixth victory was the most they ever have scored in the NFL.

★ ★ ★

Chuck Conerly threw two scoring passes for the Giants and set up two other touchdowns with his passes against the Cardinals. New York led Chicago 28-7 at the half. Conerly tossed touchdowns to Kyle Rote and Frank Gifford. His 70-yard pass play with Bob Schnelker set up Alex Webster's one-yard scoring plunge. He also pitched 41 yards to Ken MacAfee and Webster went over from the 2.

★ ★ ★

The Eagles turned Tommy McDonald, an All America back at Oklahoma last year, into an end against Washington. The ex-Sooner caught two of quarterback Sonny Jurgensen's three touchdown passes. Jurgensen, who played for Duke in 1956, threw the other one to Dick Bielski. Sam Baker kicked four field goals to score all the Redskin points. Bob Waterfield holds the league record with five in one game in 1951. Five others have kicked four in an NFL game.

★ ★ ★

The Packers handed Pittsburgh its fourth loss in eight games, scoring three touchdowns in the second quarter for a 21-3 halftime lead. Green Bay scored with its ground attack, Howard Ferguson running 40 yards for one touchdown. Bert Starr plunged a yard and Babe Parilli scampered five yards for the other Packer touchdowns. Fred Cone kicked two field goals for Green Bay.

Detroit Loses Ground in NFL by 27-7 Defeat

Fumbles Set Pattern for Chicago Victory at Briggs Stadium

DETROIT — Because they ignored their coach's repeated warnings that the Chicago Bears still are the big bad boys from the Midway, the Detroit Lions face another uphill struggle to reclaim National Football League prestige.

The Bears saved their finest game of a drab campaign for the Lions yesterday and made it an overwhelming 27-7 triumph that was every bit as one-sided as the score indicates.

Coach George Wilson said bluntly that the Lions were "looking past the Bears."

With an opportunity to score a pair of important victories in a five-day span, with the traditional Thanksgiving Day classic against Green Bay coming up Thursday, the Lions kicked away the chance to stay on top in the Western Division.

I kept telling everybody that the Bears have tremendous personnel," said Wilson. "I told our boys right before the game they couldn't afford to overlook the Bears. But I'm afraid that's what we did.

★ ★ ★

"Our whole team let down after the first period. I can't put my finger on the cause of it right now. But that Chicago team — the breaks and injuries have been against them—they had to explode sometime."

Fullback Rick Casares personally wrecked the Detroit club, accounting for 116 yards in 28 carries and scoring two touchdowns. The defeat, administered before the usual packed house (55,749), left the Lions deadlocked with the San Francisco 49ers in second place, one full game behind the division-leading Baltimore Colts.

"We're still in it as well as anybody else," said Wilson. "Baltimore has to play Los Angeles twice and Frisco out on the coast."

The Lions were effective for only one period yesterday, striking first on a 77-yard, 13-play thrust that saw the Detroit offensive line boring sizable gaps in the Chicago defense. Gene Gedman went over from the seven for the touchdown and Bobby Layne added the conversion.

That was the end of Detroit's offensive for the afternoon. Twice in the second half Detroit moved inside Bear territory, once to the 16 and another time to the 21. On both occasions Chicago repelled the drive and in all, restricted the Lions to 110 yards in the air and 106 on the ground —all but 3 yards coming in the first half.

Bear coach Paddy Driscoll had a simple explanation for his team's fourth triumph against five setbacks: "We played football for an hour instead of a half-hour."

Owner George Halas said "we looked like the Bears of old. We're not out of this race yet."

Because of their rugged defense and Detroit mistakes, the Bears had to put together just one sustained march to record the victory. It came in the second period and covered 84 yards. Quarterback Ed Brown, who played the entire game on offense, completed passes for 10, 15 and 21 yards at crucial spots in the drive and halfback Bobby Watkins crashed over from seven yards out.

Brown completed only 7 of 14 passes for 86 yards but the way Casares was running over the Detroit middle the Bears needed little passing. The Bears had the better of the kicking duel and kept the Lions bottled up in their own territory.

It was Layne's fumble on his own 14 that led to George Blanda's 10-yard field goal in the second period. Detroit's Yale Lary had to kick from his own end zone moments later and the Bears went 46 yards for their second touchdown of the period.

It took only three plays, Willie Galimore picking up 21 in two carries before Casares exploded over tackle and to the sidelines for 25 yards and the touchdown.

Howe Scores Twice to Spark Rally

Wings Tie Habs, 3-3

DETROIT (AP) — Despite an ice-crunching rally in which they scored three goals in eight minutes, the Detroit Red Wings received another frown from "Lady Luck" last night when they had to settle for a 3-3 tie with the Montreal Canadiens.

The slashing, puck-hungry Wings looked like the Detroit champions of bygone days in the final period as Gordie Howe sparked them to a 3-2 edge with six minutes to go in the game.

Detroit went into the finale with a 2-0 deficit and the contest appeared to be headed toward another defeat for the Wings. Then Howe dashed in twice in the space of three minutes to rifle goals into the Montreal net before 12,834 wildly cheering Olympia Stadium fans.

Minutes later, Howe came through with the 408th assist of his career, tying the all-time National Hockey League record, by helping Norm Ullman score Detroit's third and last goal.

The Canadiens came within a point of the NHL-leading New York Rangers on Don Marshall's equalizer which climaxed a swift passing play.

Montreal got its first two markers in the first and second periods, both times while Detroit had players in the penalty box.

Bert Olmstead slapped the first one in 10 minutes after the game began while Don Poile, Wings' forward, was doing time. The score came during a melee in front of Detroit goalie Terry Sawchuk in which Olmstead and Al Arbour were jabbing at Dickie Moore's rebound. Finally the puck drifted into the net past Sawchuk.

Ex-Red Wing player Marcel Bonin scored the next Montreal goal while Howe was in the penalty box. It, too, climaxed a scramble in front of the cage.

Howe put the Red Wings in the scoring column on an individual play down the left side from which he shot the puck into a six-inch hole near the goal post. He followed it up three minutes later with a short snap off Alex Delvecchio's pass during a power play.

The Canadiens had a 24-21 shooting edge in the contest with 12 of the Red Wings' shots coming in the final period.

Duke Accepts Bid to Meet Oklahoma

GREENSBORO, N. C. (AP)—Duke University will face Oklahoma in the Orange Bowl game New Year's Day in a case of the Atlantic Coast Conference's second best against the champion of the Big Eight.

The Atlantic Coast Conference faculty representatives picked Duke yesterday on the recommendation of the league's bowl committee.

North Carolina State, the ACC's champion, cannot compete in a bowl game for four years because of a National Collegiate Athletic Assn. proba'on imposed against the Wolfpack for basketball recruiting irregularities. against the Wolfpack for basket- Thus the conference selected second place Duke as "its most representative team."

The Blue Devils finished their season Saturday with a 13-21 defeat in the hands of arch-rival North Carolina. The defeat left Duke with a 5-1-1 record in the ACC and an overall mark of 6-2-2.

Lane Seeking Infield Help

CHICAGO (AP) — Frank Lane, baseball's master trader who was recently appointed General Manager of the Cleveland Indians, might have trouble swinging deals in the American League this season.

★ ★ ★

Lane, who yesterday huddled with Vice-President Chuck Comiskey of the Chicago White Sox, has one goal in mind.

"I'm out to get our club a second baseman or a shortstop or both," he said. "I'm willing to trade but I must get what we need and those are our two weak positions."

Lane admitted he'll have trouble trading but hoped to be able to consummate the deals he has in mind.

"Sure I'll have trouble making deals," said frantic Frank, "You always do. I couldn't do anything with Comiskey but we have a lot of time.

"I'm willing to trade (Ray) Narleski or (Early) Wynn for infield strength but I have to get what I want."

The Sox expressed interest in pitchers Don Mossi, Narleski and Wynn but when Lane asked for second baseman Nelson Fox and shortstop Luis Aparicio, the talks ended.

Lane was still disappointed about missing out on infielder Billy Martin who went from Kansas City to Detroit in a multi-player deal.

Navy May Play in Cotton Bowl

Win Over Army Could Cinch Trip for the Middies

DALLAS (AP) — The Cotton Bowl has seven schools in mind for its visiting team but the Army-Navy game obviously is going to decide the issue.

★ ★ ★

President Bob Cullum stresses that he has no formal commitment from Navy that it will play in the Cotton Bowl game in the event it beats Army. But the Cotton Bowl will have a representative at Philadelphia Saturday and it's dollars to doughnuts that if Navy wins there will come an immediate announcement that it will play the Southwest Conference representative in the Cotton Bowl.

Meanwhile, Cullum still has Mississippi (8-1), Mississippi State (6-2), Clemson (6-3), North Carolina (6-3), Tennessee (6-3) and Vanderbilt (5-2-2) on his list of prospects.

★ ★ ★

In addition to the Army-Navy game, Cullum will have his eye on the Mississippi-Mississippi State and Tennessee-Vanderbilt battles Saturday. Mississippi State and Vanderbilt could become top bowl prospects if they won those games.

Lou Little Calls 'em

By LOU LITTLE

Back in September it was noted in one of the first of these articles that increasingly effective ball control would mark college football this season as played by the leading teams.

★ ★ ★

With the last big Saturday now in the record, though Thanksgiving has yet to come and Army and Navy still have to add their important chapter two days later, it has been shown that most coaches, attempting to achieve ball control, tried to develop two units and decided to use the forward pass chiefly as a complement to their running.

★ ★ ★

Though the two-unit idea in the colleges has not come about effectively in most cases, due to lack of manpower, still the story of the season is that the teams with the good records have been primarily running teams.

★ ★ ★

The inability to develop two units because there were not enough players of sufficient ability has caused a few coaches recently to advocate some liberalization of the substitution ruling. They feel that a little more latitude in substitutions would give a tempo of play like that which the two-unit system develops. I am only writing, of course, what has been suggested to me. You may be surprised to know that this request in most instances has come from smaller colleges.

★ ★ ★

Take a look at last Saturday's games. In most games where the opposing teams were at all comparable in strength, the teams whose passing yardage exceeded their running gains were the losers. Notre Dame gained more overhead than on the ground, and Iowa won. Dartmouth gained nearly twice as much in the air as on the ground, and Princeton won. To pick some more, Penn State, Virginia, Syracuse, Southern California—all were among the defeated and all gained more in the air than on the ground.

There were exceptions, of course. North Carolina, beating Duke, and SMU, beating Baylor, were two of them. But the principle holds. When your ground game is weak, the chance of error becomes so great in excessive use of the pass that ball control is destroyed. You have to give up the ball so often that the sustained attack is lost. As a rule you don't score when the other fellow has the ball in his possession.

★ ★ ★

You often note that the passing teams in losing may consistently gain good yardage while not scoring a great deal. Their passing is between the 20-yard lines and the completions are infrequent and do not add up to sustained advances. Usually a team that cannot run the ball is weak also on defense, for the reason, I think that a player who can not block is not likely to tackle well either.

Spartans Pressed by Kansas State

MSU May Fumble Rating

EAST LANSING (AP)—Spartan football followers were wondering today if Michigan State has fumbled away its hold on the slippery title of top college team in the nation.

MSU finished with a successful 8-1 season Saturday by beating Kansas State 27-9.

But Michigan State had to fire in three fast touchdowns in the last 10 minutes after trailing 9-7 going into the final quarter.

The Spartans backs found the football as hard to hold as a greased pig. They fumbled from the opening kickoff right through to the next-to-the-last play and made 13 hobbles in all, losing the ball six times.

Auburn, voted No. 2 last week, finished an unbeaten, untied season by taking Florida State 29-7. Ohio State, in third, polished off Michigan 31-14 to earn even more glamur after winning the Big Ten title and the Rose Bowl bid.

★ ★ ★

All this will be figured in the voting when the sports writers pick the national champions this week.

The 13 fumbles represented a new record for Michigan State, topping an even dozen against Kansas State last year.

"Some people seem disappointed because we didn't win by more than three touchdowns," commented coach Duffy Daugherty. "We made a lot of mistakes but it takes a great team to overcome those mistakes and go on to win. They still are No. 1 in my book."

Michigan State's only sustained march in the first half was an 80-yard touchdown drive directed by Mike Panitch, quarterbacking the second team.

Passes by Panitch, complete for 22 games to Art Johnson and for 14 yards to Tony Kolodziej, were key plays in the advance. Bob Bercich scored from the one.

One of the many MSU fumbles gave Kansas State possession on the Spartan 16 and Keith Wilson scored from the five. Don Zadnick accounted for the other three K-State points by kicking the extra point and trapping Walt Kowalczyk behind his goal for a safety.

Michigan State saved itself from real trouble in the scoreless third quarter by two last-ditch goal line stands. One Kansas State drive was stopped on the one-yard line and a second just inches short of a touchdown.

Kansas State was tiring by the final period and the Spartans finally began to live up their No. 1 billing with lightning scoring thrusts.

Kowalczyk scored the first touchdown from the three, Johnson broke loose from the 28 for the second and Blanche Martin made the third from seven yards out with just 58 seconds remaining.

While waiting for a decision on the ratings, squad members will do some voting of their own tonight. The most valuable player and 1958 team captains will be announced at the annual team banquet.

BUCKEYE STOPPED — Ball carrier Bob White (33) of Ohio State was stopped on this play but not until after a gain of several yards. White did not lose a yard as he led Ohio State to a convincing 31-14 victory over Michigan Saturday at Ann Arbor.

Buckeyes Show Power in Win Over Michigan

Ohio State's Decisive 31-14 Victory Proves Big 10 Title Claim

ANN HARBOR — It was an old slambanger in typical Ohio State and Michigan fashion.

The blocking was crisp and the tackling hard.

Supporters of the victorious Buckeyes went for the goalposts before the game ended and Michigan adherents poured onto the field to stop them. Salvos of punches were thrown in the milling mob at both ends of the gridiron. But Michigan stopped the Buckeyes from pulling the steel goalposts from their concrete moorings.

Ohio State had won a decisive 31-14 triumph. The Big Ten champions proved their right to their third title in four years.

"We deserve to be national champions," coach Woody Hayes said proudly. "We're the best team in the nation."

Choruses of "yea Woody" swepted the Ohio dressing room as Hayes spoke. A year ago, the passageways of cavernous Ohio Stadium echoed with cries of "goodbye Woody." That time Michigan had won, 19-0.

★ ★ ★

For the Wolverines, it ended a lackluster season. They finished in sixth place in the conference, their first time in the second division since 1936 when Harry Kipke was coach. They always were in the top bracket during the coaching regimes of Fritz Crisler and until this season, of Bennie Oosterbaan.

Oosterbaan, concluding his 10th season, refused to say whether Michigan State or Ohio State was better.

The Spartans, who were No. 1 in last week's rankings, overwhelmed, the Wolverines earlier in the season as easily as did the Buckeyes.

"Michigan State was great and so was Ohio," Oosterbaan said. "I can't recall seeing a better team from either school while I've been coach.

"As for who would win if they played, I can't say. They play different styles."

Michigan's players were a bit more outspoken. Almost to a man, they felt the Spartans would win by a shade.

What glory there was against the Buckeyes belonged exclusively to Jimmy Pace, who made his last game one of the best of his star-studded career.

Pace scored Michigan's first quarter touchdown that gave the Wolverines a short-lived 7-0 lead. The tally cinched the Big Ten scoring championship for Pace, snapping a tie with Ohio's Clark. Clark was injured and didn't play against Michigan.

The fleet Michigan left halfback became the first Wolverine since Harry Allis in 1948 to lead the Conference scoring parade. Pace tallied 54 points against league rivals and 60 for the entire season.

Ewbank Pulled 'Flea Flicker'

Colts Won on Old Play

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Baltimore Colts are riding alone at the head of the Westerners in the National Football League today with the help of a "flea flicker.' '

★ ★ ★

What's that? It's a football play. But don't feel left out if you've never heard of it.

Coach Webb Ewbank went back in his memory about 30 years to find it.

"I was staying up nights last week trying to think up something new," he recalled yesterday after the hipper-dipper play aided the Colts in beating the San Francisco 49ers 27-21 and break a three-way tie for first place as Detroit lost to the Chicago Bears.

"I was taking a bath when I suddenly remembered a play we used when I was coaching high school. It was a play designed by the great Coach Bob Zuppke at Illinois. It was called the flea flicker.'

★ ★ ★

Ewbank started coaching at Van Wert High School in Ohio in 1928, so no wonder the play was a surprise to the 50,073 pro fans yesterday and to the 49ers.

It went this way: Quarterback John Unitas took the ball from center and handed off to halfback Cotton Davidson who ran to his right as though to either pass or run. Instead, he lateraled across the field back to Unitas who passed it 32 yards ahead to the other halfback, Lenny Moore. That put the ball on the 49er 11, from where L. G. Dupre went over the goal to tie the score 14-14 at the half.

★ ★ ★

With only three more games to play, neither Coach Ewbank nor Frankie Albert of the 49ers was willing to make any predictions.

"This is a tough business," said Ewbank. "You can have a good team, play interesting games and still lose."

"I'd hate to call a winner at this point,' Albert said.

Settle Southwest Title Thursday

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — Texas A&M and Texas have been battling on the gridiron for 63 years but the sixty-fourth game coming up Thursday is the most important of all in the ancient series.

★ ★ ★

The Southwest Conference championship and two bowl games are bound up in this bitter rivalry that will be renewed Thanksgiving Day for the benefit of 42,000 fans—all that can get into Kyle Field—and a big segment of the television audience of the country.

★ ★ ★

If Texas should beat A&M it might win the conference championship. At the least it probably would get the Sugar Bowl bid. If A&M wins it can either tie for or grab the conference title and would be a certainty for the Sugar Bowl. If either Texas or A&M wins the championship, it will be host team in the Cotton Bowl.

STRIKES AND SPARES
By Joe Wilman

Another question which usually comes up in my bowling classes is, "Where should I keep my left arm during my approach and delivery?"

Try as I may, I still have trouble convincing bowlers that the left arm can be anywhere you want balanced. Balance is the only function of the left arm while you're making your approach or delivering the ball. Other than that, it's an unimportant detail.

Don't be conscious of it at all. It will automatically move into the best position to help you keep your balance. Today we show it extended out to the left as the bowler completes his third step. Its position will vary for individual bowlers. It will also vary throughout the approach and delivery.

The left arm will tend to drop back when you bring your right arm forward to release the ball. Likewise, when your right arm is bringing the ball back in the backswing, your left arm will probably move forward a bit.

Titans Out of Bowl Bid

DETROIT (AP) — Almost everybody said all Detroit had to do to get a bid against Drake in the Sun Bowl Jan. 1 was beat Dayton Saturday.

★ ★ ★

Gamblers, who made Detroit a six point favorite, forgot to tell Dayton Detroit was bowl-bound and the Flyers beat the Titans, 20-10, in a strong comeback.

Detroit's loss may have cost it the bowl trip, and ended a three-game winning streak. But it left coach Wally Fromhart's squad with a 6-3 record — their best in four years. Dayton now is 6-3-1.

Dayton's Claude Chaney rushed 166 yards in 15 carries, including runs of 58 and 43 yards.

With Dayton trailing by three points, the Flyers advanced 61 yards and Chaney scored on Don Zimmerman's pass from the 16 for the decisive TD.

Dayton scored first, following a pass interception returned to the Detroit 29. Chaney plunged from the two.

Two Detroit pass plays brought about a deadlock when Lou Faoro passed to Al Korpak for the score. Then Joe Pascuzzi kicked a field goal from the 15 to put the Titans on top, 10-7, following a Dayton fumble on the Flyer 27.

STUDYING THE PROBLEM — St. Michael coach Bob Mineweaser and quarterback Mike Flynn size up the situation from the sidelines yesterday at Wisner Stadium during the Shamrocks' annual city football feud with St. Frederick. The Mikes won, 19-16, for their 8th successive triumph over the southsiders.

Shamrocks' Grid Mastery at 8 Straight

By BILL CORNWELL

St. Michael continued its football mastery over arch rival St. Frederick Sunday afternoon in an action-packed, tension-filled thriller at Pontiac's Wisner Stadium.

★ ★ ★

Halfback Chuck Steinhelper, one of a galaxy of Shamrock stars yesterday, streaked across the goal line all three times as the Mikes conquered St. Fred for the 8th consecutive year.

The final score was 19 to 16 in this 23rd renewal of a bitter crosstown rivalry and the game was "see-saw, topsy-turvy, and dog-eat-dog" from start to finish.

Playing alert, heads-up football and aided by some questionable St. Fred strategy in the 3rd period, the Mikes rallied to win in a "rock 'em, sock 'em" struggle typical of this series.

St. Mike capitalized on St. Fred mistakes when they hurt the Rams the most, thus enabling the Shamrocks to nail down their 8th straight city parochial championship and gain permanent possession of their 4th Steven Griffin Memorial Trophy.

After a sustained drive of 71 yards for their 1st touchdown, the Shamrocks converted a fumble and a pass interception into two more TD's and further stalled the Rams by pouncing on three other fumbles.

The Mikes scored 1st for a 6-0 lead and the Rams bounced back to go ahead 7-6. St. Mike rebounded for a 12-7 edge, then the Rams grabbed a 14-12 halftime advantage with a touchdown made after the clock had run out.

St. Fred was bottled up into its own end of the field throughout the 3rd quarter and the Shamrocks kept up the pressure until they tallied their winning TD.

The Shamrocks doggedly fought off the battling Rams during a wild 4th stanza. They yielded a safety in the process, but halted St. Fred drives on their own 29, 1 and 20-yard lines.

St. Mike reached pay dirt the 1st time it got the ball. A St. Fred punt rolled dead on the Shamrocks' 29 and they went all the way. Steinhelper ran 8 yards for the counter with 2:02 left to play in the 1st period.

The Rams marched 41 yards to score following a Shamrock punt early in the 2nd period. Quarterback Jim Kennedy sneaked two yards for the tally and Chuck Deschaine kicked the extra point.

St. Fred fumbled and end Ron Call recovered for the Mikes on the Rams' 17. St. Mikes scored in six plays with Steinhelper going the last yard.

The Rams took to the air and with the aid of a penalty seized the lead at halftime. They moved from their own 32 to the Mikes' 18 and the clock expired as Kennedy passed to Tom Derocher on the 10.

But the Mikes were guilty of roughing the passer and penalized 15 yards to the three, giving the Rams another chance. They made it pay off as Kennedy hit Derocher for a TD and Deschaine converted.

St. Fred elected to gamble deep in its own territory in the 3rd quarter, a fatal decision. Jim Fox intercepted Kennedy's aerial on the 12 and went to the five. Four plays later Steinhelper knifed over from two yards out and Bob Mineweaser ran for the point.

In the 4th quarter Steinhelper was tackled in the end zone for a safety after the Rams had fumbled the ball away on the Mikes' one. Another Ram fumble lost the pigskin on the Mike 29 and their last scoring chance died when Jack Lyon was stopped inches short of a 1st down on the Mike 20 with 40 seconds remaining in the game.

Stars were plentiful in this contest. Jerry Ohngren and Ed Lauinger were among St. Mike's standouts while Lyon, Derocher, Don Landry and Dick Kast sparkled for the losers.

The Shamrocks wound up their 1957 season with six victories in eight start and a 3rd place finish in the Suburban Catholic League. The Rams had a final 4-4 mark, their best in many years.

Toronto Whips New York, 5-1

The high-flying New York Rangers are gradually coming back to earth and the rest of the National Hockey League.

Cellar-dwelling Toronto drubbed the Rangers, 5 to 1, last night to narrow New York's lead over second-place Montreal to one point.

Rudy Migay (twice), Dick Duff, Billy Harris and Barry Cullen scored for the Maple Leafs to offset an early Ranger goal by Bill Gadsby and snap a Ranger streak of five games without a loss — three wins and two ties.

Chicago remained in a third-place tiw with Boston, seven points behind Montreal, thanks to a goal by Eric Nesterenko with 48 seconds to play which gained the Black Hawks a 2-to-2 tie with the Bruins. Eddie Litzenberger scored the other Chicago goal while Fleming Mackell and Don McKenney tallied for Boston.

Weight Crown Won by Rhodes of Local 'Y'

Pontiac YMCA weightlifter John Rhodes won the Southeastern Michigan weightlifting championship in the 181-pound division Saturday night at Detroit with a total of 780 pounds for three Olympic lifts.

★ ★ ★

He missed setting a new state press record of 250 pounds when his lift was no tallowed by the judges for hesitation.

Pontiac's Bud Copeman finished 5th in the 165-pound class and his teammate Ken Howell ranked 6th among the 148-pounders.

Arkansas Boss May Move to Kansas

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Coach Jack Mitchell of the University of Arkansas said yesterday he has not received an offer to replace Charles Mather as head football coach at the University of Kansas.

But Mitchell added that he probably would go to Lawrence, Kan., today for a conference with Kansas athletic officials. Athletic director Dutch Lomborg of Kansas announced Saturday the new coach would be named later this week.

Battle for Top Spot, Bowls Certain

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Ohio State, the once-beaten Big 10 champion, laid a bold claim today to the national collegiate football title for 1957.

The only team that appears to be in a position to challenge the powerful Buckeyes, who flattened Michigan 31-14 last weekend, is Auburn, the king of the Southeastern conference and one of the two major unbeaten-untied teams left in the twilight of the campaign. The Tigers and Arizona State of Tempe, a 41-0 winner over College of Pacific, are 9-0 now.

★ ★ ★

Only a week ago, Michigan State was selected over Auburn as the No. 1 team in the weekly Associated Press poll. The Spartans also had been beaten once, but their powerful offense apparently was more impressive than Auburn's touch defense.

Now the Spartans may be eliminted, however, after the tough time they had beating Kansas State 27-9.

Auburn gave its defensive unit some offensive support for a change last week, thumping Florida State 29-7.

Ohio State will meet Oregon in the Rose Bowl and will rule the heavy favorite. Oregon was held to only a co-championship in the Pacific Coast conference, losing 10-7 to Oregon State, which claimed a share of the title although denied a second consecutive trip to the Rose Bowl.

As for Auburn's credentials, the Tigers have only Alabama (2-6-1) between them and a perfect season. Coach Shug Jordan's lads have shut out five of their opponents and permitted the other four just one touchdown apiece.

While it's true that Auburn has not met Mississippi, one of the class teams of the Southeastern Conference, the Plainsmen have effectively disposed of all their opponents, including the likes of Tennessee, Georgia Tech and Kentucky (which whipped Tennessee 20-7 in the big upset of last Saturday).

★ ★ ★

The Southeastern Conference is so big it's impossible for an individual team to play more than a sampling of the other league teams. Auburn is on NCAA probation and is ineligible to play in a bowl.

So the host spot for the Sugar Bowl in New Orleans Jan. 1, usually reserved for the conference king, probably will go to Mississippi—if Ol' Miss, idle last week, gets past ambitious Mississippi State.

The opponent will be determined by the Southwest Conference race. If Rice beats Baylor Saturday, the Owls go to the Cotton Bowl, and Texas A & M probably will provide the Sec's opposition in the Sugar Bowl. Rice whipped Texas Christian 20-0 last weekend. A & M, idle after the 7-6 upset by the Owls, plays Texas Thanksgiving day.

★ ★ ★

The visiting team in the Cotton Bowl will be decided after Saturday's Army-Navy clash in Philadelphia. If Navy wins it, the Middies in all probability will head for Dallas. They say they will be receptive to a bowl bid if they get by Army. Both were idle last week.

The other major bowl—the Orange in Miami—is all set. Oklahoma, which started a new winning streak with a 32-7 victory over Nebraska Saturday, will meet Duke.

Area Hunters Report Several Big Deer, Bear

Area hunters arriving from the state's northwoods and swamp stamping grounds of deer and bear continue to report success. Both bucks and bruins are getting bigger and bigger.

One big buck (200 dressed out) was taken by Preston Kenny, 77 Sycamore, Pontiac, only buck, as far as he knows, downed by his party of seven at Ishpeming. Kenny and Paul Nadeau are home, but the others, Ed Nadeau, Taylor Phillips, Bob Schultz, Wally Johnson and 16-year-old Aubrey Phillips, are still trying. All are from Pontiac.

Good luck, coupled with hard work marked the successful foray of Johnny Morris, 3318 Donley, Pontiac, Elmer Snyder and son Ken of 9015 Bryden, Detroit. The Snyders bagged 8-point bucks, a 259 female bear and cub. Morris also took an 8-pointer. The trio had to learn snowshoeing fast (inside an hour) to bag their trophies as a 30-inch snowfall made use of the "trotters" a necessity, says Ken Snyder, who also reported seeing 16 deer in one group the day they left the northern Porcupine Mountain section.

Says Sports Mix Well

Wrestler Heads Navy Line

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP)—Guard Ton Stremic hopes to put his wrestling skill to work for a Navy football victory over Army Saturday.

★ ★ ★

The 205-pound grappler, undefeated as a Navy heavyweight last year and runner-up for the Eastern and National championship, plays left guard on the football team.

★ ★ ★

Head Coach Eddie Erdelatz calls Stremic "the unsung hero" of the Navy line. And many Navy followers, who have watched him bang opponents around for the past three years, will agree with the coach.

How do football and wrestling mix as sports? "Great," says Stremic.

★ ★ ★

"On the mat you have to think to get in position, look for your opponent's weaknesses and attack them. It's the same thing in football. You size up your opponent, decide just how you're going to handle him and hit him quickly."

★ ★ ★

Stremic says wrestling, which he has done since he was a sixth grader in the Elkins Park section of Philadelphia, develops good balance and quickness for football.

★ ★ ★

"The only handicap is you get called offside a lot," Stremic says. "I go on the count and I move quickly. But I don't believe I've been offside nearly as often as it may have appeared (to officials)."

Army also will have a wrestler in the game Saturday—Bob Novogratz, who also plays left guard. He and Stremic won't be face to face in Saturday's game but expect to meet on the mat in the Army-Navy match next spring.

Junior Editors Quiz on BIRDS

QUESTION: Why doesn't a bird fall from its perch while sleeping?

ANSWER: Like any other animal, birds must sleep. Most of the smaller ones, at least, get their naps while perched on twigs in trees or bushes. Winds may blow, but still the birds sleep on, with no apparent fear of falling.

Their secret, aside from a sense of balance that you and I could never hope for, is the built-in mechanism of their feet. These are so constructed that when they crouch down in a perching position, their leg tendons draw their toes shut to clutch the branch tightly and hold it securely.

★ ★ ★

FOR YOU TO DO: Examine the claws of your pet bird, if you have one, or observe as closely as you can those of a wild bird on a perch. Another thing about those bird feet; they are impervious to cold. That's because only tendons run through them; the warm-blooded muscles are protected by feathers in their upper legs.

Flames Kill Couple Shortly After Party

QUINCY, Mass. (AP)—A man and wife perished early today in a fire at their home shortly after a happy wedding reception for their daughter.

★ ★ ★

The last of 150 guests had left the two-story house when it burst into flames and took the lives of John Thorbahn, 52, and his wife Ann, 50.

A son, John Jr., 22, was burned on the body and was taken to Quincy city hospital in serious condition.

Another son, Peter, 13, escaped injury.

★ ★ ★

The flames destroyed all the wedding presents of the couple, who had been married at First Church of Squantum, Congregational, and had their reception at the Thorbahn residence in the Squantum section of Quincy.

The bride, Carol, 23, and the bridegroom, Thomas Graham, also 23, of Saugus, had left on their honeymoon and were sought by relatives to inform them of the tragedy.

At one time Thorbahn was employed as a reporter for the now-defunct Boston Transcript and for Boston radio station WBZ.

Another Fine New Concrete Highway for Michigan Drivers

Detroit-Toledo Expressway, an example of a fine new concrete highway

New concrete highways are built to last 50 years . . . and more. They will still be "new" long after this youngster can drive his own car.

Concrete Highways for Smoother, Safer Driving

NEW CONCRETE HIGHWAYS give Michigan motorists the smoothest ride ever. These easy-to-drive super roads are designed for 1975, but you can enjoy their comfort today.

They're safe, too. Concrete's gritty texture means more skid resistance, even in wet weather. And at night your visibility is up to four times better on concrete than on light-absorbing asphalt.

These new concrete thruways represent the last word in engineering achievement. Thanks to improved techniques they'll last 50 years and more. Drive one of Michigan's new concrete expressways and you'll agree you never had a smoother, safer ride.

Built to Cost Less!

Economy is a built-in advantage of concrete highways. They are low in first cost and cost far less to maintain over the years. Longer life and less upkeep are premium advantages of concrete.

Wixom Residents Ballot Tuesday on City Status Issue

All Voting Done at Village Hall

Officials List Benefits Basic to Higher Form of Government

WIXOM—A vital issue will be decided Tuesday when voters of Wixom face a question of city incorporation at a special election.

They will decide whether Wixom will become a city or remain a village.

Voting will take place at the Village Hall, 131 North Wixom Rd., from 7 a.m. until 8 p.m.

Village officials pointed out that there would be little difference in the functioning of a city government as compared to that of the present village government.

Joseph T. Stadnik, village president, announced that he and members of the Village Council are solidly behind the proposal for city status.

GROUPS BACK CITY

Also in favor of Wixom becoming a city is the Wixom Civic Association, according to Hilda Furman, publicity chairman for the organization.

Stadnik outlined several reasons why he and the council are supporting the change from village to city status.

Foremost reason was that Wixom could then protect its boundaries from annexation.

LISTS BENEFITS

Also listed as benefits from city status were the following:

1. Saving of township tax.
2. Wixom, as a city, would share in township assets in proportion to the assessed valuation of the city.
3. Wixom would become a completely self-governing city, withdrawing from township jurisdiction.
4. Wixom would be represented at meetings of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors.

Candidates for positions on a 9-man City Charter Commission are Herbert R. Abrams, Jesse Birchard, Eleanor Bourgeois, Delbert Geyer, R. W. Lahti, Wesley McAtee, Gunnar Mettala, Everett Pearsall, Fred Thayer and Stadnik.

Those elected will assume office only if voters approve the proposal that Wixom become a city. If this happens, all future elections will be held in the city, thereby eliminating the need for voters to be registered at a township office.

STAIRWAY TO AID — An unwed mother and her boyfriend hesitantly mount the stairs to the Catholic Social Services office to seek aid. The Pontiac Area United Fund-supported agency not only helps such girls have their babies, but tries to straighten out the personality problems that led to the situation and help her plan her future.

Catholic Social Service Aids Girls to Face Problem

Teens in Trouble Find Guidance

A few months ago Judy, a teen-age girl, came to the Catholic Social Service office, at 53 Franklin Blvd.

Frightened beyond thought and feeling only the compulsive urge to run away to California, Judy haltingly told her story to a social worker—she had been told by a doctor that she was three-months pregnant and she was unwed.

Judy came to the agency only to see if they could suggest a place in California for her to go, but as she talked she felt some of fears begin to wane.

A long talk and the spirit of understanding and helpfulness shown, made Judy realize that running away was not the answer.

★ ★ ★

Judy lived with a girl friend in an apartment and held a job. She went steadily with a young man named Bill who had come to Pontiac in hopes of getting a job so he could save money for college.

When her pregnancy was discovered, Bill was concerned that his college plans were jeopardized; Judy became hurt and angry at his attitude and sent him away.

Judy told her social worker she would never talk to Bill again and did not want to include him in her plans. But after a few interviews, she agreed to ask him to help. Soon Bill was coming to the agency for interviews as well.

Both finally decided they were too confused about their feelings toward each other to marry.

ENTERS MATERNITY HOME

Nine weeks before the baby was due, Judy entered a maternity home. No one knew about it except Bill who visited her there. Before entering the home, she made arrangement with Catholic Social Services to place the baby in a boarding home for four weeks until they were certain they wished it to be placed for adoption.

Before the baby was born, Judy talked at great length with her worker about telling her parents what happened. Finally she wrote them.

At first her parents were highly shocked, but before replying they recovered their composure and then came to see her a few days later.

Working with Judy, Bill and her parents, the social worker asked them to decide what would be done with the baby.

At last, it was left to Judy to make the decision alone. She chose to go ahead with an adoption plan and agreed with Bill that they were not ready for marriage. Her parents accepted the plan.

Judy went home to her parents after the baby was born and six weeks later signed the adoption release. The baby was immediately given to a couple that desperately wanted a child.

Today Judy is back at work and says she is closer to her family than in many years. She isn't seeing Bill, but he comes to the agency occasionally.

It is easy to see Judy misses her baby, and Bill who talks eagerly about school and his part-time job, finds it harder to talk about his hope that the baby is having a happy life.

Neither is sure about each other, but both know they did the wise thing.

ONE AMONG 50

Judy's story, according to Leonard Jaegels, executive secretary of the agency, is but one of some 50 a year that the workers hear.

Most of the girls they see are in their early teens and about 30 of the 50 give their babies for adoption.

"These girls are not promiscuous," Jaegels said. "But all of them have personality and emotional problems that compel them to actually seek pregnancy."

★ ★ ★

"We try to make them see their problems and work with them and their families and often the father to find the best solution," he said.

"When they go to a home during their last weeks, no one knows where they are. We even have outstate letter relay services so they can receive their mail without revealing their address.

"The girl has time to decide what her plans are for herself and the baby and she is not rushed into giving up the child.

"We have families who want to adopt a baby and we match the family carefully.

Supported financially by the Pontiac Area United Fund, the Catholic Social Service does family counseling and fosters home care for infants and pre-schoolers as well.

★ ★ ★

"With UF funds we are able to save many girls from the despair that can ruin their lives and perhaps their babies' lives as well."

Meeting to Debate Southfield Tax Limit

SOUTHFIELD — Residents here will be given a chance tonight to help set a tax limit in the proposed charter for the new city of Southfield.

A public meeting will be held at 8 p.m. in the Lederle School, south side of Nine Mile road between Southfield and Evergreen.

Tonight's meeting was called after more than 30 residents last week objected to the charter setting aside three-tenths of a mill for parks and recreation.

Charter Commissioner Eugene Swem said a tax limit of at least 5.6 mills will be needed to maintain the new city at the township's present rate.

However, this tax rate would mean no increase in present services, Swem said.

Girl Gets Strenuous Joy Ride

Police Bullets Halt Speeder

A Farmington printer took his girl friend for a ride in his sports car Sunday—at speeds more than 110 m.p.h., through two roadblocks and amid a hail of bullets from pursuing Wayne County Road patrolmen.

Mahlon Bradley, 25, of 32926 Lakeland, Farmington, told patrolmen Arthur Torikian and Charles Zuboski he was angry at his passenger, Doyal Quesenberry, 22, of 6416 Mead, Dearborn Township, when they finally caught up to him.

They said Bradley, a printer at the Farmington Enterprise, had eluded 10 police cars in a chase along Telegraph and Joy roads. It started at about 5:30 a.m. at Five Mile and Telegraph and ended when Bradley's Corvette spun to a halt at Southfield and Joy.

Zuboski and Torikian, who began the pursuit, said they fired 10 shots at the sports car.

Bradley was the only person injured. These he received when he struggled with officers at the end of the chase. He was treated at the Wayne County Hospital.

★ ★ ★

Held yesterday in the Wayne County Jail, he had a date with Dearborn Township Justice George Wicklund this morning to face charges of reckless driving.

Morse PTA to Meet

TROY — The PTA of the Morse School will meet at 8 p.m. Tuesday. Alex Tunstall, a member of the school board, will speak on the future expansion program of the school. Kindergarten room mothers will serve refreshments.

Zoning Board to Meet

PONTIAC TOWNSHIP — The annual township zoning board meeting will be held at the Township Hall, 2060 Opdyke Rd., at 7:30 p.m. Dec. 11. Lester Axford is board chairman and Greta V. Block is the township clerk.

Rowden-Murray Rite Held in Lapeer

LAPEER — The Monroe Street Methodist Church was the scene of the wedding of Patricia Louise Rowden to William G. Murray on Saturday evening.

Before an altar decked with Tiffany baskets of white mums, candelabra with cathedral tapers and palms, the Rev. Raymond R. Lamb heard the couple exchange their vows in the presence of 250 guests.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a sheath fashioned of slipper satin. The gown featured a fitted bodice, scoop-draped neckline, long sleeves and wide cummerbund ending in a cathedral train. A metallic tiara held her fingertip veil and she carried white mums and stephanotis tied with satin streamers.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Rowden Jr., and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Murray, Lapeer.

Matron of honor was Mrs. William Kelly, Lapeer, and bridesmaid was Mrs. Donald Murray. They were gowned in identical dresses of garnet-colored chromespun taffeta, ballerina length.

MRS. WILLIAM MURRAY

Assisting as best man for his brother was Donald Murray of Lapeer; groomsman was Harold Huntley and seating the guests were Joseph Armstrong, Milton Anderson, Hugh Ireland and Ronald Bolander.

After a reception in Legion Memorial Building here, the couple left for a honeymoon in New York. They will reside at 748 Calhoun St. upon their return.

Lad Shoots Pal in Quick-Draw Cowboy Game

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—Eugene Keller, 11, was just imitating the cowboys he saw on television when he started a game with a friend to see which boy could draw a revolver quickest.

But Eugene and his friend, Terry Harter, 17, did not know the .22 caliber revolver was loaded, investigators said. As a result, Eugene was shot and wounded critically yesterday.

★ ★ ★

The contest started at a home they were visiting. They took turns pulling the weapon from their belts but the game ended abruptly when it fired in Terry's hand.

The bullet entered Eugene's abdomen and surgeons at Children's Hospital made an emergency operation seeking to save his life.

Methodist Church Expands Commission

WALLED LAKE — Because of the approaching centennial celebration, increasing membership and the need for more space, the finance commission of the Walled Lake Methodist Church has been greatly expanded. Elmer Conrad has resigned as Commission chairman in order to devote more time to the official board which he now heads.

★ ★ ★

Replacing Conrad as chairman is Joseph Martin. Others on the commission are Kenneth McBroom church treasurer; Richard Miles, building fund treasurer; Mrs. Lowell Foster and Mrs. Eloise Riley, church and building fund secretaries; Charles Dill Sr., director of stewardship; Mrs. Russell Ligon, a church organist and membership corresponding secretary; Mrs. James Enzor, promotional chairman, and Rolland Langerman and Ted Johnson.

★ ★ ★

The commission has discussed financial plans which it will present to the official board.

Troy Residents to Fight Dump

Commission Meeting Will Hear Protests of Citizens Tonight

TROY—Residents of this nearly two-year-old, sprawling city have indicated that they have no desire to become the site of the Southeastern Oakland County Garbage and Rubbish Authority's "dump."

★ ★ ★

The sight of the first authority truck depositing a load of ash and unburnable rubbish in a 98-acre gravel pit last week brought the thing to a climax, arousing citizens, especially those living in the 19 Mile, John R, Rochester roads areas.

The board, with the exception of the Troy representative, voted last week to go ahead with plans for the landfill operation, despite the city's opposition.

Donald C. Egbert, authority engineer manager, said the county body is within its legal rights to use the pit, plus another 66-acre tract nearby. He said no ordinance or regulation in the City of Troy affects this operation. He also declared that this is "the one and only" site available in the county.

★ ★ ★

Irritated by the dumping, after commission denial, Mrs. C. B. Blankenship, 2136 Burdick Rd., began a telephone polling of her neighbors. All opposed the authority program. When he heard of this, and Mrs. Blankenship's comment that the authority could have waited until the tally was reported to commissioners, Egbert said it was the job of city officials to arrange a hearing, not that of the citizens.

Tonight's 7:30 commission meeting is expected to attract a large audience of protesting citizens.

The fact that the county health department has said there is no hazard involved makes no difference to them. The fact that the authority assures them there will be no public nuisance, that the fill will be buried beneath quantites of earth, that steps will be taken to avoid water pollution, that only incinerator ash and unburnable materials will be used, that covered trucks will avoid roadside litter and that the authority will start a landscaping program in the spring, makes no difference either.

Troy citizens do not want the "dump" in their city, especially after commissioners have gone on record as against it.

What will come from tonight's session is anybody's guess, but it's a sure thing that it will not be a dull meeting, nor a short one.

Special School Election Slated for Oak Park

OAK PARK—Approval of an 8½ mill tax increase will be asked of school district voters here in a special election to be held Feb. 3. The increase will amount to an additional $16 on each $1,000 of assessed valuation for the major part of Oak Park and small sections of Southfield and Royal Oak Township.

Methodist Club to Meet

WALLED LAKE — The Bible Book of the Month Club, being organized by the Rev. John Mulder of the Walled Lake Methodist Church, will hold its first meeting at 7 p.m. Dec. 8. Thereafter, the club will meet the second Sunday each month.

Golfer Has Real Link With President Ike

DALLAS (AP)—Phillip Collins, 17, a golfing enthusiast, is sporting a battered federoa he thinks once belonged to the country's most prominent linksman.

★ ★ ★

W. C. H. Collins, an Assembly of God minister, said he got the hat from an apartment house porter where he is head custodian.

The Rev. Mr. Collins gave the hat to his son, and no one thought much about it until Mrs. Collins noticed a fading, gold-stamped name inside—Dwight D. Eisenhower.

★ ★ ★

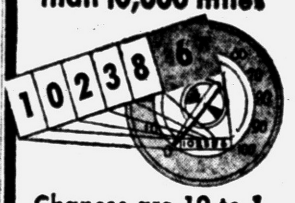

Collins said he traced the hat back to a woman who worked in President Eisenhower's first election campaign and said she was given the hat by Eisenhower.

2 Knife Bandits Rob Pontiac Station Owner

Two knife-wielding bandits robbed a gas station owner of $105 Sunday morning at 1234 Baldwin Ave.

Harley Jennings told police he was moving his car from in front of his station when the bandits grabbed him and took the money from his shirt pocket.

Keego Man Weds in East Lansing

Patricia Ann Moynihan and Paul Marvin Earl exchanged marriage vows in a 10:30 a.m. rite Saturday in St. Thomas Aquinas Church, East Lansing.

Monsignor Jerome V. MacEachin officiated in the presence of 300 guests. Parents of the newlyweds are Mr. and Mrs. Edward A. Moynihan of East Lansing and Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Earl of 2154 Park Dr., Keego Harbor.

MRS. PAUL M. EARL

The bride was gowned in creamy Dupioni silk and Alencon lace with pearls and sequins with a chapel train. A trellis half-hat adorned with pearls and pastel sequins held her fingertip veil of illusion. She carried white roses and cascading white fugi mums.

Bridal attendants identically attired in wool lace and chiffon in coralberry color were her sister, Mrs. Edmund Jenkins of Ann Arbor; Connie Bintz and Jeannine Bints of Fremont, Ohio, and Eugenia Sparrow of Atlanta, Ga.

★ ★ ★

Flower girl was Kathy Gilmer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Gilmer of Pontiac.

Serving as best man was Jim Gilmer of Pontiac. Others were Barrett Alley of New York; Edmund Jenkins of Ann Arbor, Jack Moynihan, brother of the bride and Chuck Pardon of New York.

Following a 5 p.m. dinner reception at the Knights of Columbus House, Pontiac, the couple left for Northern Michigan.

They will make their home at 212 Highland Ave., East Lansing where the bridegroom attends Michigan State University. The new Mrs. Earl is a graduate of MSU.

Clarkston Pair Weds, Plans to Settle in Atlanta

CLARKSTON — A recent ceremony in Clarkston Methodist Church united in marriage Miss Maureen J. Clark and Herbert McKenzie.

The bride wore a gown of lace, net and satin, in floor length. A Juliet cap of illusion, seed pearls and sequins held her fingertip veil of illusion. Her flowers were white chrysanthemums.

Attendants were Pauline Clark, sister of the bride, and Toby Gilbert. Best man was Garnet McKenzie, brother of the bridegroom, and Ed Kleiss of Flint ushered.

A reception followed at the home of the bride's parents. The newlyweds will make their home in Atlanta.

★ ★ ★

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Emery Clark of Maple Dr., Clarkston, add Mrs. Jack Marceau and the late Mr. McKenzie of Atlanta.

MRS. JAMES THOMPSON

WED IN COMMERCE — Mrs. James Thompson was Ann Louise Griffin before her recent marriage to James Thompson in Commerce Methodist Church. Two hundred and fifty guests attended the double-ring rite. Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Griffin and Mr. and Mrs. Russell Thompson of Commerce Township are parents of the couple.

Steamed Pudding Time's Here

STARTING YOUNG — Loraine Milbourn of Mt. Clemens is not quite three years old. But already she is taking an interest in cooking. Here she watches as her mother, Mrs. Don L. Milbourn, measures ingredients for a Thanksgiving pudding. Her grandmother, Mrs. Don C. Milbourn of State Hospital Grounds, supervices.

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Old-fashioned plum pudding with suet is still made in Pontiac. Mrs. Don C. Milbourn of the State Hospital grounds has made it for years. Her pudding can be eaten at once or stored for a time and reheated before serving.

★ ★ ★

This year Mrs. Milbourn is passing on her recipe and baking techniques to her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Don L. Milbourn of Mt. Clemens. Last week the younger Mrs. Milbourn spent several days in Pontiac with her small daughter, Loraine. One of the things they did at Grandma's house was to make pudding for Thanksgiving.

We read what our office cookbook had to say about steamed puddings. Most of them have the same base of flour and suet with variations of fruit and nuts.

In olden days puddings were tied into bags and boiled. Now you fill greased bowls, cans or molds three-fourths full and cover tightly before steaming. Aluminum foil held tightly with a rubber band will serve as a good cover.

Keep the water boiling rapidly all during the steaming time. Remove covers when puddings are done. Reheat before serving.

STEAMED PLUM PUDDING
By Mrs. Don C. Milbourn

1 cup soft bread crumbs
1 cup ground suet
2 cups prune pulp (soak prunes in water to cover, cut fine)
½ cup brown sugar
¼ cup shredded criton (optional)
1 cup raisins
1 cup currants
1 cup flour
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon soda
½ teaspoon nutmeg
½ teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon cloves
½ teaspoon allspice
½ cup molasses
3 eggs, separated

Mi and sift dry ingredients and combine in order given. Fold in well beaten egg whites last.

Pour into greased pudding mold which has been sprinkled with suggar. If Thanksgiving or Christmas garnish is to be molded with the pudding, it should be placed in the mold before the pudding batter is added.

Cover tightly and steam over boiling water about three hours. If fruit jars are being used as molds, seal air-tight immediately after taking from the steamer.

Keep metal molds uncovered but protect from dust. Unless the seal is air-tight, a covered pudding will become moldy.

CARROT PUDDING

1 cup ground carrots
1 cup ground raw potatoes
1 cup suet
1 cup raisins
1 cup currants
1 cup brown sugar
½ teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon cloves
½ teaspoon nutmeg
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon soda, dissolved in 1 tablespoon warm water
1 teaspoon baking powder
1½ generous cups flour

Mix well, pour into greased molds and steam for 3 hours. Serve with any desired sauce.

It's Turkey All the Way and Plenty of Citrus Fruit

If any time is turkey time, Thanksgiving is! The big toms are getting attention with the 20 to 24 pound size and over wearing the lowest price tags. The 16 to 20 pound toms cost about two cents more per pound; the 10 to 16 pound hens about six cents more. The small Beltsville-type birds are scarce and prices are the same as they have been for several weeks—about thirteen cents more per pound than the large toms.

If turkeys have the same raw weight, they will give about the same amount of cooked meat, relates the MSU Marketing Information Agent, Mrs. Josephine Lawyer. For example, a 17½ pound broad breasted hen has about 9½ pounds of cooked meat and a tom of the same weight yields about 9 pounds. Birds weighing over 18 pounds will provide a larger proportion of meat for your money.

Be sure to allow time for defrosting if you buy a frozen bird. Allow 2 to 4 days for defrosting in the refrigerator. Leave bird in the original wrap. For a hurry-up method of defrosting, place the bird (still in the original wrapper) under running cold water. Allow 2 to 6 hours for defrosting, depending upon the size.

Keep the family safe from food poisoning by following safety precautions before and after Thanksgiving dinner. Do not stuff the turkey until ready to put in the oven. And when relaxing around the table with that "I don't think I can move" feeling, this is the signal for a very important move. Move to get the turkey, stuffing and gravy into the refrigerator.

Wrap the turkey in foil or some other wrap or put in a tightly covered container to keep it from drying and losing flavor. Take all the stuffing from the turkey. Store it in the refrigerator in a covered dish. Follow the same rule for the gravy.

Plan to use leftover turkey within 2 to 3 days. The gravy and stuffing should be eaten with 1 to 2 days. Heat thoroughly before serving.

If you have too much turkey left over to use within 2 to 3 days, let the freezer help. Wrap the meat in moisture-vapor proof paper and tuck in the freezer at zero degrees. For best results, plan to use within the month.

PRODUCE — Vegetable supplies are increasing as more shipments arrive from warmer states. Lower lettuce prices are due to heavier supplies. Cauliflower, Brussels sprouts and broccoli are reasonably priced because of quantities available.

Sweet potato supplies are somewhat limited following Louisiana floods. Michigan and Maine potatoes are the thriftier Irish potato choices.

Florida juice oranges are plentiful and low in cost. A limited number of California Navel oranges are arriving in our markets. A maturity law is protecting you by regulating the sugar content and color of California oranges. Tangerines and tangeloes may now be added to the citrus list. Tangeloes are a cross between tangerines and grapefruit.

Eggs and Cheese Build Quick Lunch

Easy-breezy is the lunch order these days. Lunch for the family or lunch to tote needs fast "fixin'."

Be prepared by having plenty of eggs and cheese on hand. These can build a lunch at a moment's notice, says the MSU Marketing Information Agent, Mrs. Josephine Lawyer. A hard cooked egg, still in the shell and packed with a salt shaker is a lunchbox treat. A wedge of cheese not only adds nutrition, but is good nibbling with an apple at the end of lunch.

★ ★ ★

Cheese and eggs help to make a quick lunch at home. Hard cook eggs peeled and halved while hot and covered with a cheese sauce, will give a satisfied feeling all afternoon.

★ ★ ★

Cheese and eggs combine well with other foods. Pair them with bacon bits, with sliced tomatoes or with cubes of any kind of cooked meat. Cheese and eggs not only make the budget look bigger, but they win honors in the easy cooking corner.

Add grated cheddar cheese to that white sauce you are planning to serve over salmon.

Italian Style Breaded Veal Is Delicious

Italian way with veal.

Scallopine

½ cup fine dry bread crumbs
½ cup grated Parmesan cheese
Salt
White pepper
1 large egg
8 paper-thin slices (about 1 pound) tender veal
3 tablespoons (about) olive oil
1 can (8 ounces) tomato sauce
1 medium-sized tomato (skinned and seeded and diced)
¼ teaspoon sugar, basil

Mix bread crumbs, cheese and a dash of salt and pepper together thoroughly on flat plate or waxed paper. Beat egg just until foamy. Dip slices of veal, one at a time, in egg and then in bread-crumb mixture.

Heat 2 tablespoons of the oil in a large (12 inches) skillet until very hot; add as many of the veal slices as will cover bottom of pan. Brown veal well on both sides and by this time — 3 to 5 minutes — meat will be cooked through; remove and keep warm.

Add remaining 1 tablespoon of oil to skillet and brown rest of veal the same way; add more olive oil if necessary. Meanwhile slowly heat sugar and basil to taste. You can use minced fresh or crushed dried basil, or basil seasoning powder. Serve veal with tomato sauce. Makes 4 servings.

Pineapple Mint Parfaits

Careful Cooking Keeps Crisp Broccoli Bright

The abundance of broccoli is one of the happiest happenings of the autumn season. This handsome green vegetable — a cultivated and aristocratic member of the capable cabbage family — is a most generously protective food, nutritionwise.

★ ★ ★

An average helping of broccoli contains 75 per cent of the daily adult requirement of ascorbic acid and 50 per cent of the daily requirements of vitamin A, as well as helpful minerals — all this and heaven to taste! Moreover, broccoli is at peak availability at the time of year when green vegetables are welcome additions to the menu.

★ ★ ★

Choose broccoli when leaves are fresh, crisp and green; when the stalks (tenderly edible when properly cooked) are firm and not too thick; when tiny flower buds are tight and the heads compact. Heads should be rich, dark green, or green with a shadow of purplish bloom.

★ ★ ★

The high flavor and bright color of broccoli are best preserved by a minimum of cooking. If overcooked, the vegetable develops a stronger flavor and brown color due to the action of acids and heat.

TO PREPARE BROCCOLI

Wash broccoli and trim off bits of stem end, but do not remove the stem. (The whole stalk is edible.) Make lengthwise gashes in the stems, almost to the flowerettes, if they are more than ½-inch in diameter.

UPRIGHT METHOD:

Tie in a bunch; stand upright in the bottom part of a double boiler, containing about 1-inch biling water and ½ teaspoon salt. Bring to boiling point and cook 5 minutes. Cover with the inverted top of double boiler and cook 10 to 15 minutes or only until crisp-tender.

SAUCEPAN METHOD:

Prepare broccoli as in above directions. Place loose in a saucepan with 1-inch boiling water and ½ teaspoon salt. Cook with cover off the first 5 minutes and then cook covered 10 to 15 minutes or only until crisp-tender.

Or if desired, leave cover on during the entire cooking period, but lift the lid 3 to 4 times to permit the gases to escape. Cook only until crisp-tender, 15 to 20 minutes.

Wash broccoli and trim. Split large stalks in half or in quarters lengthwise. Place in a saucepan with 1-inch boiling beef or chicken broth and ½ teaspoon salt. Bring to boiling point without cover and cook 5 minutes. Cover and boil 15 minutes or until just crisp-tender.

Drain, if necessary. Add butter or margarine. Cover and let it melt. Sprinkle with black pepper. Serve hot with wedges of fresh lemon or lime. Yield: 6 servings.

Substantially a Fruit Medley

A salad that needs no last minute preparation is a blessing to the cook, especially during the hustle and bustle of preparing holiday dinners.

Cranberry Apricot mold has the quality of being ready to turn out on lettuce leaves just before dinner is "lifted." In other words, it really doesn't require salad dressing, for cottage cheese is folded into the fruit mixture helping to create a substantial salad.

Ground raw cranberries, canned apricots and pecans lend flavor and crunchiness to the mixture.

Serve a Delicate Dessert

The French word for "chestnut" is "marron", and Parfait Marron is made with ice cream and marrons in syrup which are sold in jars by almost all grocery specialty shops. You'll want to cut the whole marrons into smaller pieces.

Then, for a tasteful topping, make up a small bowlful of coffee whipped cream. With plenty of ice cream in the refrigerator, you are ready to assemble an unusual and luscious dessert creation, quite fitting and proper for the Thanksgiving feast.

For an added note of grandeur, you will enjoy serving after-dinner coffee in your daintiest demitasse cups. The black, fragrant coffee lends a final note of graciousness to this traditional family dinner. And it is also the perfect flavor accompaniment to these sweet, delectable parfaits.

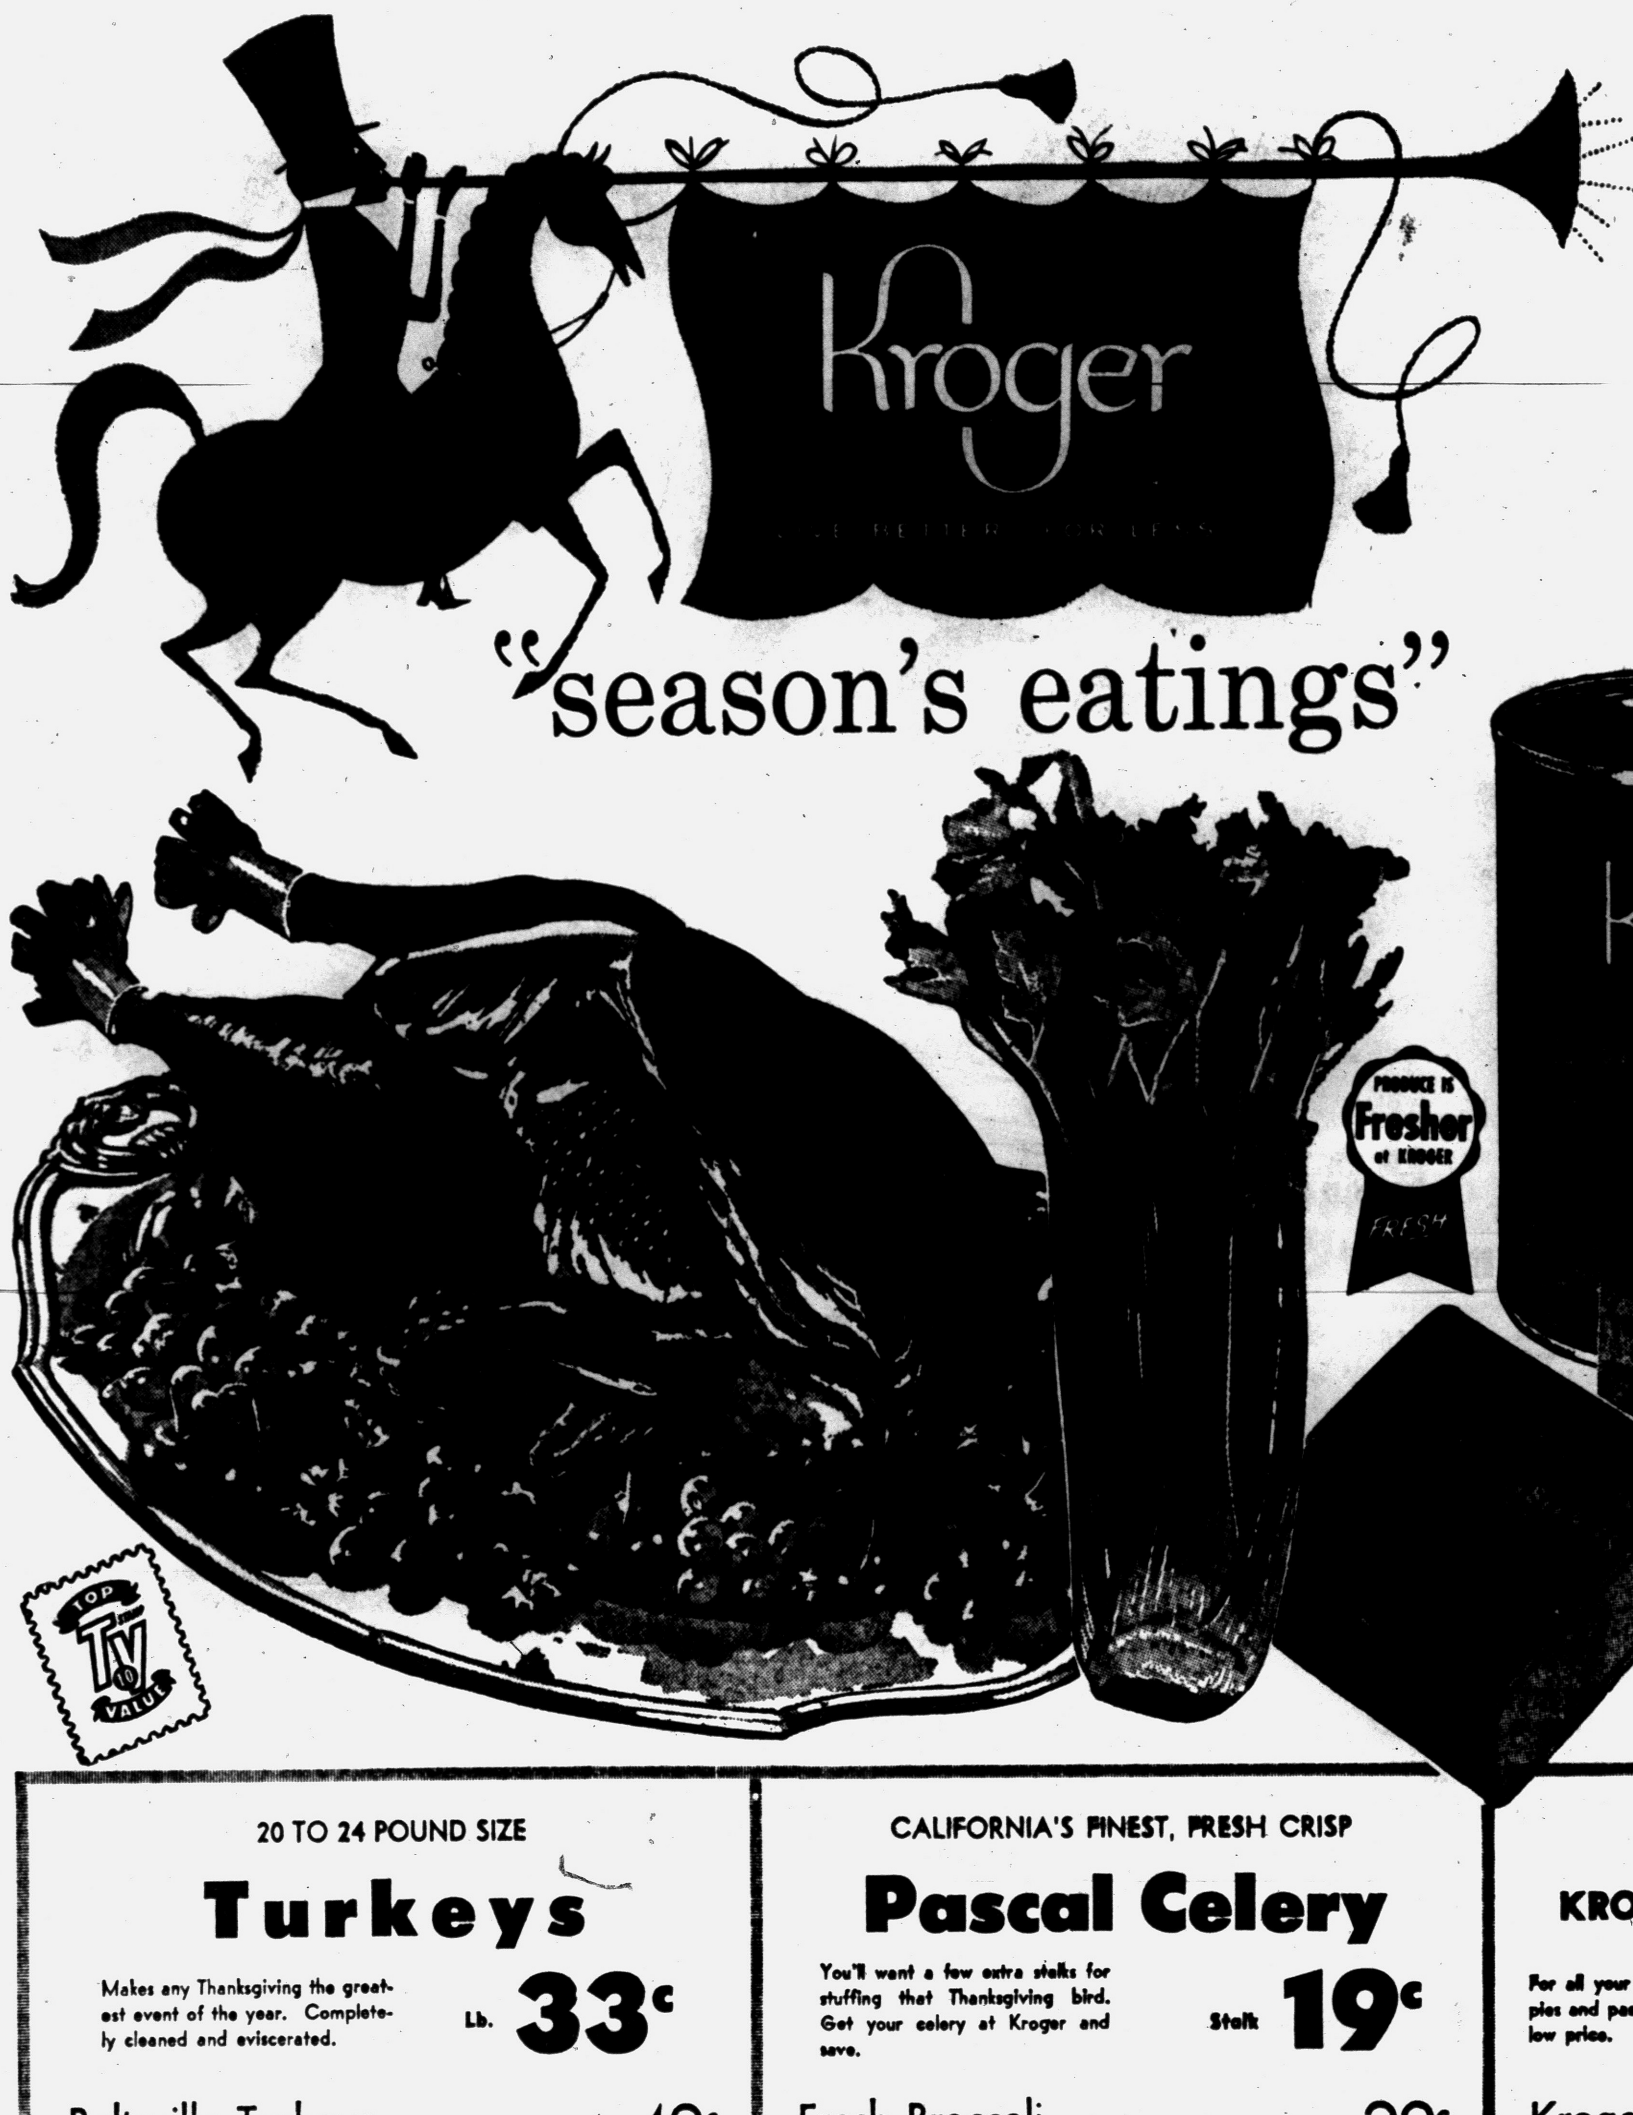

Parfaits Marrons

1 jar marrons in syrup
1 quart vanilla ice cream
1 cup heavy cream
2 teaspoons instant coffee
1 tablespoon sugar

Remove whole marrons from syrup and chop into small pieces, returning to syrup. Spoon alternate layers of vanilla ice cream and marrons in syrup into deep dessert glasses. Top with coffee whipped cream, made by whipping heavy cream until it forms soft peaks, then gradually beating in mixture of instant coffee and sugar. Serves 5 or 6.

Crunchy Cups Hold Chicken

A well - flavored creamed dish such as Chicken a la King or Shrimp Wiggle served in crunchy nut-lined toast cups is easy to make, as well as light and attractive. For real time-saving try frozen Chicken a la King and use the pecans that come in handy one-cup size cans. The pecans are vacuum-packed for really fresh flavor and the lids are re-sealable, too. Here is the recipe for Royal Toast Cups, to fill with Chicken a la King.

TURKEY GOBBLER COOKIES — Crisp, crunchy cookies, full of the holiday atmosphere in there turkey shapes, are easily made and are nutritious. Outline the edges with chocolate or orange frosting for an added touch.

Gobbler Cooky Sure to Please

Even the youngest members of the family expect a special treat for Thanksgiving and Christmas.

We've found some cookies, shaped like turkeys, that will give them a thrill and no tummy aches. They are enriched with instant nonfat dry milk powder.

Turkey Gobbler Cookies

2¼ cups sifted flour
⅓ cup instant nonfat dry milk powder
1 cup sugar
1¼ teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
½ cup shortening, softened
1 egg
⅓ cup water
1 teaspoon vanilla extract

Sift flour, instant nonfat dry milk powder, sugar, baking powder and salt together into large bowl. Adde remaining ingredients. Beat at medium speed with electric mixer for about 2 minutes, scraping sides of bowl frequently or beat vigorously by hand with wooden spoon for 2 minutes (150 strokes).

Divide dough into 3 portions. Wrap in waxed paper. Chill several hours. Roll out on lightly floured board to ⅛-inch thickness. Cut in turkey shapes. Place on well-greased baking sheet.

Bake in hot oven (400 degrees) about 7 minutes or until cookies are browned around the edges. Cool. Decorate cookie edges with chocolate frosting or orange confection frosting.

Guides to Happy Turkeys

You want your Thanksgiving turkey to be happy, don't you?

★ ★ ★

It's well known that happy turkeys make for happy turkey-eating people. So, maybe you'd like a few Guides to Happy Turkeys, offered by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, signposts that take you all the way from buying to carving.

★ ★ ★

How big? Count on about a half pound of turkey for each serving first time around. But of course you'll want a bird large enough to provide some cold turkey sandwiches and other leftovers.

For the best. Insist on a turkey that has been government inspected and graded; inspected for wholesomeness, and graded for quality. Look for the government label, a circle enclosing a shield, with the words "Inspected" and "Graded," the inititals "U. S.;" "Grade A," "B," or "C" to indicate quality; and another helpful piece of information on age and type of bird, "Young Hen Turkey," or "Young Tom Turkey," or for older birds, "Hen Turkey" or "Tom Turkey." A young Grade A turkey usually will be tenderest.

How long, hot hot? For a turkey weighing 10 to 13 pounds, set the oven at 300 degrees and roast 3½ to 4½ hours; longer if the bird is frozen. For a bird of 14 to 17 pounds, 275 degrees, 5 to 6 hours.

How much stuffing? Start the stuffing with one cup of crumbs for each pound of turkey. Substitute dry bread, cornbread or rice if you like.

★ ★ ★

How to carve. Have a sharp carving knife and a two-prong fork. To steady the bird, put a chunk of bread on each side on the platter. Cut off one leg, thigh and drumstick; then slice the white meat on that side. Have an extra plate to take the cut-off pieces.

Low Caloried Buttermilk Packs a Punch

When the man of the house lets out his belt another notch, chances are it's time to start counting his calories.

★ ★ ★

Feed him the nourishing, well balanced foods minus the calorie loaded ones, if you can, suggest health authorities.

★ ★ ★

Fresh milk, for example, is essential to every diet — even for adults. And buttermilk is listed in this category. Buttermilk contains all of the health-giving properties of fresh whole milk, yet has fewer calories.

Today's buttermilk is pasteurized skim milk to which a special buttermilk culture is added. Only the fats have been removed. Thus, it is a healthful, easily digested food containing only about 80 calories per cup.

Try it and see. To vary its tangy flavor, blend in a little of the syrup left after serving canned or frozen fruits.

Chill Liver Pate to Blend Flavors

Looking for some special recipes to use in that Thanksgiving dinner? Well, how about serving this chicken liver pate as an appetizer course along with chilled tomato, grapefruit juice or other cocktails? It's an unusually good recipe, not difficult to make, and comes from San Francisco.

Chicken Liver Pate

One pound chicken livers
1 stalk celery
1 small whole onion
1 small bay leaf
⅛ teaspoon thyme
¼ teaspoon rosemary
2 sprigs parsley
¾ cup Chablis or white table wine, or water
1 cup water or broth
¼ cup soft butter or margarine
1 tablespoon finely chopped green onion
¾ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon dry mustard

Combine livers with whole onion, celery, bay leaf, herbs, parsley, ½ cup wine and water. Bring to a boil; then simmer until livers are tender, about 20 minutes. Drain; chop coarsely, then put through fine blade of food chopper. Blend with butter, chopped onion, salt, mustard and remaining cup wine until mixture is smooth. Add a little more wine if you like a softer pate. Store in a covered jar, several hours or overnight, in refrigerator to blend flavors. Serve with crackers or melba toast. Makes one pint.

Add Avocado to Your Salads for New Interest

Guests for a dinner and you want the salad course to be a little extra? Combine shrimp, walnuts and celery with mayonnaise and serve in avocado half shells. Sprinkle with a little fresh lime juice and garnish with whole ripe olives and spiced artichoke hearts.

Or you can fill the avocados with sliced chicken and pass the mayonnaise.

To surprise the green salad fans, mix an oil and wine vinegar dressing with freshly ground pepper and toss with the crispest of greens. Slice a ripe avocado over the top of the bowl.

Or you can give new flavor to a green salad by sprinkling it lightly with crushed oregano. Then toss with a wine vinegar French dressing and add sliced tomatoes and avocado.

When you want a change from salads as a dinner starter, try a seafood cocktail. Cubes of avocado and shrimp or crab meat are mixed in a zippy cocktail sauce. Serve it icy cold with wedges of lime or lemon.

Instant Cream Blends in Sauce

Filet of sole is a lovely, tender fish and is a great favorite in many homes. However, its bland flavor really calls for an "accent." So today we are recommending an accent that comes in the form of a sauce. A wonderful new sauce made with instant powdered cream. It's grand on fish, croquettes and whenever a bland dish needs to be perked up.

Lemon Chive Sauce

2 tablespoons flour
⅛ teaspoon salt
1 cup water
1 tablespoon butter or margarine (Optional)
½ teaspoon grated lemon rind
1 teaspoon lemon juice
2-4 tablespoons chopped chives

Mix together instant powdered cream, flour and salt, gradually add water. Cook, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens. Add butter, lemon rind and juice and chives to taste. Yields 1¼ cups.

Q. What is the name of this cut of meat?

A. Beef Bottom Round Steak.

Q. Where does it come from and how is it identified?

A. It is the boneless bottom muscle of the beef round. Frequently the eye of round is included in this steak.

Q. How is it prepared?

A. By braising. It is cooked slowly by moist method of meat cookery and requires approximately 1½ hours for cooking. Thicker cuts made from the bottom round can be used as pot-roasts. These cuts require longer cooking time.

PLANTATION WAFFLES — A treat for the family is breakfast in bed with tender Louisiana Yam Waffles, link sausages, fresh grapefruit and milk.

Lazy or Active Breakfast Better With Yam Waffles

If you're wondering when breakfast in bed would be most appropriate in your family, what about the morning after your daughter's first big dance, or her first weekend home from college? What about the time your son brings home a straight "A" report card, or makes the winning touchdown in a crucial game?

Then there's dad's promotion, or the time he makes a hole-in-one . . . and mother takes first prize at the garden show or chairmans a successful club function. These are only a few of the many ways a breakfast tray can be best used to give extra meaning to an important occasion. And it's even more fun if you make it a surprise.

It's little things, like a breakfast tray on special occasions that can bring a family closer together. So why not try it at your home . . . it doesn't have to be fancy, the bread board covered with a cloth will do fine . . . and serve any of these delicious yam waffle recipes.

Plantation Waffles

2 cup sifted all-purpose flour
1½ teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon nutmeg
1¼ cups mashed cooked yams
1 cup buttermilk
1 egg, beaten
5 tablespoons melted butter or margarine

Sift flour, baking powder, salt, cinnamon and nutmeg together. Combine remaining ingredients; blend. Add sifted ingredients; mix well. Bake on hot waffle iron. Makes about four waffles.

★ ★ ★

Yam Nut Waffles

1¼ cup mashed cooked yams
1 egg, beaten
3 tablespoons melted shortening
1 cup milk
1 cup pancake mix
¼ cup chopped pecans

Combine yams, egg, shortening and milk; blend. Add remaining ingredients; mix well. Bake on hot waffles.

Serve Old Food in New Style

"The same old food in the same old way" need not apply to anything on your table.

Both familiar canned beef stew and canned tomatoes are pleasantly different in these two mouth-watering recipes, and together they make a tempting main course for anytime.

Tomatoes Au Jus

1 tablespoon butter, or margarine
2 tablespoons chopped onion
2 tablespoons minced parsley
1 can (16 oz.) tomatoes
Salt, pepper

Cook butter until lightly browned. Add onion, parsley and liquid drained from tomatoes; cook down to about ½ cup. Add tomatoes, and heat. Season to taste with salt and pepper. Three to four servings.

Curried Stew 'n' Noodles

1 cup cooked noodles
1 teaspoon curry powder
1 can (1 lb.) beef stew
1 cup grated American cheese

Arrange drained noodles in bottom of baking dish. Mix curry with beef stew and spoon over noodles. Sprinkle with cheese, and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) about 25 minutes. Six servings. quently until cheese melts. Serve hot over croquettes.

Place soup, milk and cheese in saucepan; cook over very low heat or in double boiler, stirring fre-

New Chip Dip Using Turkey Can Be Broiled

Homemakers always are looking for ways to use leftovers from big holiday feasts, especially the remnants of the "big bird" — the turkey.

Leftover chunks of turkey make an ideal base for a potato chip dip — "Turkey Tang-O Dip for Chips."

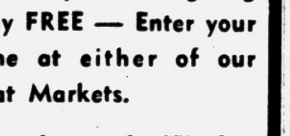

5 ounces Old York Cheese
¾ cup minced cooked turkey
¼ teaspoon Worstershire sauce

Whip cheese until creamy. Add minced turkey and seasonings. Pile on potato chips. Place under broiler flame until cheese starts to melt. Serve at once.

OR

Place cold Tang-O mixture in serving bowl. A small amount of mayonnaise may be added when the dip is served cold.

Cranberry Sauce Adds Color to Food

Cranberries are a truly American treat — older than that famous First Thanksgiving Feast in the Plymouth Colony more than three centuries ago. Cranberries grew wild in the marshes of Cape Cod when the Pilgrims landed. The Indians taught them to make cranberry sauce by cooking the berries with a little sweetening.

Since the days of the Pilgrims, cranberries have been a part of the Thanksgiving feast. Their tart refreshing flavor is excellent combined with crisp ready-to-eat cerials in breads, muffins, cookies and pies.

★ ★ ★

For this holiday season, choose these cranberry favorites — dishes to make your meals the memorable occasions they should be!

Cranberry Bran Muffins

1 cup whole bran cereal
¾ cup milk
1 egg
¼ cup soft shortening
1 cup sifted flour
2½ teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
¼ cup sugar
6 tablespoons whole cranberry sauce

Combine whole bran cereal and milk; let stand until most of moisture is taken up. Add egg and shortening and beat well. Sift together flour, baking powder, salt and sugar. Add to first mixture, stirring only until combined. Fill greased muffin pans 2/3 full.

Press 2 teaspoons of cranberry sauce into the top of each muffin. Bake in moderately hot oven (400 degrees) about 25 minutes. Serve immediately. Yield: 9 muffins, 2½ inches in diameter.

Cranberry Susans

1¾ cups sifted flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
½ cup soft butter or margarine
½ cup brown sugar
¼ cup water
1 teaspoon vanilla flavoring
1 cup corn flakes
2-3 cup jellied cranberry sauce, crushed with fork

Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Blend butter and sugar. Add sifted dry ingredients alternately with water and vanilla, mixing well after each addition. Crush corn flakes into fine crumbs. Stir into cookie dough; mix thoroughly; knead until smooth. Chill.

Roll chilled dough out on lightly floured board to ⅛-inch in thickness. Cut with star or round cookie cutter. Place about a teaspoonful of cranberry sauce on half the cookie shapes. Cover with remaining cookie shapes which have had centers cut out. Press edges together tightly to seal. Place on greased baking sheets. Bake in hot oven (425 degrees) about 10 minutes. Yield: 2 dozen cookies, 2¼ inches in diameter.

When you are laundering slip covers, be sure to brush loose dust from seams and inside pleats before putting in sudsy water.

Price Per Serving Counts With Meat

Do you know a meat bargain when you see one? A bargain depends on more than the price says the MSU Marketing Information Agent, Mrs. Josephine Lawyer. It also depends on the quality and the amount of edible meat. Who eats bone?

Take a look at the meat counter. If blade chuck roast is 40 cents a pound, you can pay 60 cents a pound for boneless chuck and still pay the same for a serving.

Most of us think of short ribs as an inexpensive cut. If you pay 40 cents a pound and get about 1½ servings per pound, this means a serving costs 27 cents.

Figure 3 or 4 servings from a pound of round steak and about 2 servings from a standing rib roast. Number of servings per pound is one guide to a meat bargain.

Wonderful sandwich filling: pimiento-stuffed green olives and walnuts put through the fine blade of the meat chopper and mixed with cream cheese and a little mayonnaise. Try this on white or brown bread.

Oxygen in Sifted Flour Helps Yeast Do Job

The sifting of flour is very important in bread baking. The few extra moments it takes is well worth the time in better baked products. During the sifting process, air is incorporated with the flour.

It was long known by commercial bakers that sifting the flour produces better bread. This is because the oxygen in the air is used by the yeast to do its job, and if the air is not incorporated with the flour, the yeast lacks enough of that particular substance to do its best work.

TURKEY SCRAPPLE — You don't have to live in Philadelphia in order to get scrapple. Make your own with part of the Thanksgiving turkey and whole wheat cereal. It's delicious, economical and easy to serve for a brunch or cocktail party.

Turkey Scrapple a Treat for Elegant Brunch

Take advantage of the last of the finest Thanksgiving turkey of all by entertaining with an elegant Sunday morning brunch. Entertain with leftovers? Why certainly, haven't you always said the last of the turkey was just as good as the first — as long as the last wasn't too long coming?

Make a turkey broth (use chicken bouillon cubes if the soup has long since departed). Cook whole wheat cereal, the kind with wh eat germ added, in the broth and add finely chopped turkey. Pour the mixture into a loaf pan and refrigerate for four hours or overnight. The next morning unmold the loaf, slice it a little less than ¼-inch thick, and fry it crispy brown on both sides.

Incidentally, if it's an evening party and hot appetizers you're hankering for, add a little more poultry seasoning or curry powder to the mixture. Cut the loaf into small cubes and deep fat fry them. Make plenty of these because they keep in a warm oven and your guests will discard inhibitions with the first toothpick.

Turkey Scrapple

3 cups turkey broth
½ teaspoon onion salt
½ teaspoon celery salt
½ teaspoon poultry seasoning
1 cup uncooked instant whole wheat cereal
2 cups finely chopped turkey

Heat turkey broth and seasonings to a rapid boil. Stir in instant whole wheat cereal so slowly, boiling does not stop. Boil and stir for 10 seconds. Remove from heat. Let stand 5 minutes. Stir. Add turkey. Pour into 6-cup loaf pan which has been rinsed with cold water. Cover.

Refrigerate for 4 to 6 hours or overnight. Slice about ¼-inch thick. Brown both sides on hot griddle. Serve hot with turkey gravy. Yield 6 to 8 servings.

Best Ever Popcorn Balls Flavored With Pineapple

Pineapple Popcorn Balls are a variation that will please the young fry. Boil 2 cups sugar, 1 1-3 cups of syrup drained from canned pineapple and 1-3 cup corn syrup until a firm ball is formed when tested in cold water. Add one tablespoon lemon juice and pour slowly over the hot popped corn, stirring to evenly coat all kernels.

When cool enough to handle, press lightly into balls with palms of hands, or a popcorn ball maker. Sufficient for 4 quarts of hot popped corn.

Old Time Sauces Grace Desserts

Around this time of year the old-time food favorites of Grandmother's day appear on the family table. Always rated high on the list of holiday goodies are the traditional puddings filled with delicious candied or dried fruits and nutmeats.

These puddings call for traditional sauces like Brandy and Hard Sauces. A more unusual one is made with maraschino cherries.

Brandy Sauce

½ cup butter
¼ cup brandy or brandy flavoring
1 cup granulated sugar
½ teaspoon nutmeg

Mix ingredients, bring to a boil and serve very hot. Yield: approximately 1¼ cups sauce.

★ ★ ★

Hard Sauce

1 cup butter
2 cups confectioners' sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla extract or rum extract

Cream butter and gradually add sugar, creaming together until light and fluffy. Stir in flavoring. Yield: approximately 1½-2 cups.

★ ★ ★

Maraschino Sauce

¼ cup maraschino juice
2 tablespoons lemon juice
6 cherries, chopped
2 cups confectioners' sugar

Mix fruit juices and cherries; add sugar and beat well. Yield: approximately 1¼ cups.

If you add 4 tablespoons of dry milk to each cup of fluid milk, you make the food about twice as rich in milk value as it is when fluid milk alone is used.

Well, Do You Know How to Cook a Bear?

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

"Mrs. Odell, how do you cook a bear?" That question on the telephone started me on a merry chase one morning last week. It was a day when I was working at home.

★ ★ ★

The reader had already checked the county Extension Service which is always my best resource facility for such matters. They had no information on braisin' b r u i n or doing anything else with him. I took her number and promised to call her back.

★ ★ ★

First, I checked at the office—asked the secretary to look in my file on game; nary a word on bear. Next I looked in every cookbook I own that might possibly mention bear. I found ways of cooking moose, elk, all kinds of small game —no bear.

Then I thought of Harry Pearce of Pearce Floral Company. He has done a great deal of big game hunting in his day. Perhaps he knew how to cook a bear.

He didn't. He had eaten some (and "very good, too") but it seems that Floyd Kent, the real estate man, had cooked it and given it to him.

★ ★ ★

Mr. Kent was next on my calling list. He wasn't in, his secretary said, could she help me? I said, "Sure, if you can tell me how to cook a bear." She laughed, of course, but denied knowing anything about the subject.

She could, however, tell me who probably did cook the bear that Mr. Kent gave Mr. Pearce. A cousin of Mr. Kent's, one Mrs. Lenora Stephens, was no doubt the person I should contact.

Mrs. Stephens works for a local physician. She must get some odd questions over the phone in the course of a day's work. But I think my question surprised her the most of any.

★ ★ ★

Yes, she had cooked a bear for Mr. Kent. It was really very easy. And she'd be happy to pass on the information.

HOW TO COOK A BEAR

By Mrs. Lenora Stephens

Be sure to trim off all the fat. The gamey taste is in this fat. Then soak the bear meat in a vinegar and water solution, about 2 tablespoons vinegar to 1 quart of water. Let stand in this 3-4 hours. Wipe dry.

Then prepare the meat in much the same manner as you would venison or any other large game. Pot roast it, braise it or even broil the steaks. It's good eating, she says.

If the holiday table cloth looks worn and limp, it can be rejuvenated by dipping it into a solution of five parts water to one part permanent starch. It will have a fabric finish and look like new.

Leftover Pumpkin Used in Muffins

Good way to use leftover canned pumpkin.

Phyl's Pumpkin Muffins

1½ cups sifted flour
2 teaspoons double-acting baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup sugar
¼ teaspoon mace
¼ teaspoon cinnamon
1 egg
½ cup canned pumpkin
½ cup milk
1 tablespoon butter or margarine (melted)

Sift together the flour, baking powder, salt, sugar, mace and cinnamon. Beat egg in medium-sized mixing bowl with rotary beater (hand or electric until yolk and white are combined; beat in pumpkin gently, then milk and melted butter. Add sifted dry ingredients; stir just until they are moistened.

Fill buttered muffin-pan wells about two-thirds full; bake in hot (425 degrees) oven until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean — about 25 minutes. Serve hot. Makes 8 large or 12 small muffins.

Slices of cooked pork sausage links are good to add to a pizza topping.

Mining King of Africa Dies

Ernest Oppenheimer, Once World's Diamond Czar, Succumbs

JOHANNESBURG (AP)—Sir Ernest Oppenheimer, South African mining magnate and one of the world's richest men, died today at the age of 77.

★ ★ ★

Oppenheimer, chairman of the huge mining combine, the Anglo-American Corp., had been in failing health for several months. Several weeks ago he had been ordered to a hospital for a rest.

He was not only South Africa's most powerful mining and financial figure but took an important part in the nation's political and national life.

Oppenheimer had a fabulous career after leaving his birthplace of Friedeberg, Hesse, in Germany at the age of 16. Beginning work as an office boy in a London diamond firm, he moved to South Africa and became the world's diamond king. He was knighted for his services to South Africa and the British Commonwealth.

★ ★ ★

He was chairman of De Beers Consolidated Mines, Ltd., which brought stability to South Africa's diamond mining industry. As chairman of the Anglo-American Corp. he played a leading part in developing South Africa's rich gold fields.

His son Harry is a leading figure in the opposition United party. He undoubtedly will assume the heavy burden of his father's mining interests now and his political future is uncertain.

Suffers Nose Injuries

Guynelle C. Ridley, 25, of 262 S. East Blvd., was treated for nose injuries and then released from Pontiac General Hospital yesterday after she was involved in an auto accident.

Pontiac Police report the driver of the auto, Rochard D. Mitchell, 24, of 32 W. Fairmount Ave., was driving east on West Huron street and struck a light post when he apparently lost control of the auto after a wheel hit the curb about 4 a.m. Sunday.

Steady Progress Seen in Fighting San Gabriel Fire

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Fire fighters reported today that they were making steady progress in efforts to control the 25,000-acre San Gabriel Mountains forest fire.

The wind died during the night and the humidity rose, conditions which greatly aided the fire-fighting force of 1,400 men working along a 55-mile perimiter of the huge fire burning to a considerable extent in almost inaccessible terrain.

★ ★ ★

In some of the most rugged sections where the fire was burning within itself, crews were given a rest during the night because the terrain is so rough their work could not be effective in darkness.

★ ★ ★

On the more accessible sections men and tractors and bulldozers continued the job of getting a firebreak gouged out around the fire.

The U.S. Forest Service said the fire has destroyed 25 million dollars worth of watershed. The fire is 30 miles northeast of Los Angeles.

Pontiac Boy Injured in Bike-Car Collision

Phillip W. Carter, 7, of 196 Liberty St., was in satisfactory condition this morning at Pontiac General Hospital after the bicycle he was riding collided with an auto yesterday.

Fontiac Police report the driver of the car was Elizabet A. Blaszekak, 39, of 168 Lincoln Ave.

The accident happened about 1:30 p.m. on Murphy near Newberry street. The boy is being treated for multiple cuts and bruises, according to a hospital spokesman.

Hunt Missing Printer in Blast, Fire Ruins

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Salvage crews still are looking for Allen O. Glore in the ruins of two downtown buildings destroyed by an explosion and fire Saturday night.

Glore disappeared when the roof fell in on the print shop he operated on the top floor of the three-story Sterling Building. Frank Bingham, 55-year-old employe, managed to get to a window and down a fire escape.

The explosion and fire started in the adjoining seven-story Eight-O-Four Grand Building at Eighth St. and Grand Ave. Firemen fought through the night to save nearby structures.

Fire Chief Edgar M. Grass estimated the loss at more than $500,000 and said it was not determined what had touched off the explosion.

Belmoral Action on Tap Tonight

Definite action regarding the approval of the Belmoral Subdivision plat in Waterford Township is expected when the township board meets tonight.

★ ★ ★

The real estate development involving 102 lots is located at Hatchery and Crescent Lake roads. The owners have asked the board to consider approving only 31 lots. This would eliminate the central water system installation which the board has recommended.

The rural zoning changes recommended at a special board meeting last week will be reviewed and sent to the township zoning board for additional recommendations. The zoning board will then set a hearing date and the township board will take final action.

The names of individuals will be considered to replace four members of the township zoning board whose four-year terms expire December 1.

Man Hurt in Blast Is Slightly Improved

H. K. Johnson, injured in the explosion at Pontiac Varnish Co., Nov. 18, is reported today slightly improved at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, but his condition is still critical.

Johnson, 44, of 97 Prall, received third degree burns in the milling department explosion and fire, which took the lives of two fellow workers.

Fractional Gains Made by Wheat

CHICAGO (AP) — Grain futures were mostly steady in very quiet dealings on the Board of Trade today.

Wheat was up fractions in early dealings on some buying credited to commercial interests, but the volume of trading was small.

★ ★ ★

Corn was mixed at the outset influenced by favorable weather for resumption of the harvest and expectations of large arrivals at terminal markets this week.

Large weekend sales of surplus corn by the Commodity Credit Corporation and overnight arrivals of 499 cars of corn at Chicago compared with 293 a week ago, were other factors in the trade.

Soybeans advanced on steadiness in vegetable oils. Oils were influenced by further unsettled weather over the cotton belt. Rye was steady.

★ ★ ★

Near the end of the first hour, wheat was 1/4 to 3/4 higher, Dec. $2.19 3/4; corn 1/8 lower to 1/8 higher, Dec. $1.17 1/8; oats unchanged to 3/8 higher, Dec. 68 1/4; rye 1/2 to 1 1/4 higher, Dec. $1.35; soybeans 1/2 higher to 1 cent lower, Jan. $2.34 1/8, and lard was unchanged, Dec. $12.20.

Death Notices

MORLEY J. NEWMAN

ORION TOWNSHIP — Service for Morley J. Newman, 61, of 2509 Waldon Rd., will be held at 2 p.m. Tuesday from Allen's Funeral Home. The Rev. Aldred Eddy of Oxford will officiate. Masonic graveside service will be conducted by the Orion Lodge No. 46, F and AM. Burial will be in the Perry Mount Park Cemetery, Pontiac.

Besides the Masonic Lodge, he was a member of the Elks, BPOE 810 of Pontiac. He was born, raised and died on a farm that had been in the family since 1837. He leaves his wife; a sister, Mrs. Frank Cobb, and a brother, Gleason, both of Orion Township.

WALTER L. VIERS

TROY — Service for Walter L. Viers, 25, of 1128 Birchwood St., who was fatally injured in an auto accident Saturday morning, will be held Tuesday at 11 a.m. in the Grundy Funeral Home, Grundy, Va. Burial will be in the Family Cemetery. Local arrangements were by Price Funeral Home, Troy.

He is survived by his wife, Arlene; two children, Randy Lee and Bradley, both at home; his parents in Virginia; three brothers, Charlie Clyde of Troy and two in Haysi, Va.; three sisters in Haysi, Va., and two in Madison Heights, Mrs. Olive Rose and Mrs. Maggie Singleton. Another sister, Mrs. Elsie Compton of Detroit, also survives.

Earliest route to the west led through the Cumberland gap instead of the more convenient Hudson valley, principally because the hostile Iroquois Indians lived there.

Waterford Home Gutted by Flames From Chair

Fire spread throughout the $5,000 five-room frame home of Lee Hall, 3130 Defand St., Waterford Township, last night causing at least $1,500 damage, according to township firemen.

They said the blaze was started in a living room chair, possibly from the careless smoking of a cigarette. No one was in the house at the time of the fire.

Twining Talks on World Safety

Tells NATO Scientists Bombers Necessary Until Missiles Ready

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gen. Nathan F. Twining told NATO scientists today that the safety of the free world depends on the maintenance of manned bomber forces until ballistic missile weapons can be perfected.

★ ★ ★

"The problem of maintaining technological superiority" in the face of recent Russian technical advances, the chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff said, is one "for the entire community of free nations."

Twining said development of intermediate and intercontinental missiles is proceeding under "the highest national priority," but he added: "Meanwhile . . . we cannot discard systems of known capability for those not yet in operational readiness. In effect we must travel two roads simultaneously."

★ ★ ★

Twining made the remarks in an address prepared for the North Atlantic Treaty Organization Advisory Group for Aeronautical Research and Development.

Perfection of 1,500-mile range IRBMs and 5,000-mile ICBMs, he continued, "will provide a tremendously improved deterrent instrument for achieving the objective of the free world—a true and lasting peace."

Thinks Reuther Might Make Good President

NEW YORK (AP) — Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt says she thinks Walter Reuther might make a good president.

"I have a high regard for Walter Reuther's intelligence," she said, adding that she believes the president of the United Auto Workers Union has a wide knowledge of the needs of people throughout the world.

Mrs. Roosevelt appeared Saturday night on ABC television interviewer Mike Wallace's program.

Cairo Warns Airlines

CAIRO (AP)—A spokesman for the Civil Aviation Administration said today airlines serving Cairo have been instructed to keep away for two hours Thursday morning from all northern Egypt. The spokesman said the reason for the ban is "maneuvers" but declined to elaborate.

Hits Wrong Bullseye

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Fifteen-year-old Richard Patterson, a sharpshooter with his B.B. gun, hit the wrong bullseye when he put a shotgun shell on the ground, aimed, fired, and exploded it. A bit of the brass rim caromed off Richard's forehead. He was treated at a hospital for lacerations.

'Dream House' Being Built for Blind Triplets

NEW YORK (AP) — A "Dream House" is being built for the 4-year-old triplet children of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Petraglia of the Bronx.

Clutching bright red toy shovels, the children, Gail, Donna and Stephen, dug the first spadefuls of earth yesterday for their new home.

★ ★ ★

A priest, the chairman of the Bronx Junior Chamber of Commerce and about 200 persons were on hand but the Petraglia children could not see them. They have been blind since birth.

★ ★ ★

The one-story brick ranch house is being paid for by the "Dream House" Committee of the Bronx Junior Chamber of Commerce. The Bronx ESCA Club donated the land.

★ ★ ★

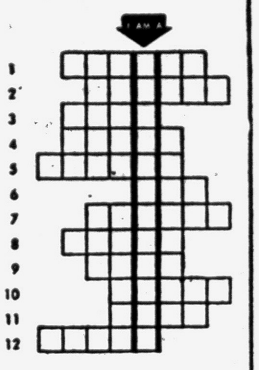

The House, designed without stairways by architect Paul Trapani, is scheduled for completion by Easter. The triplets attend nursery classes at the New York Institute for the Education of the Blind. They are suffering from retrolental fibro plasia, an incurable eye disease.

Her Once-Good English Is Ruined by Movies

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Our old friend, Eva Gabor, used to speak good English — it was Zsa Zsa who slaughtered it — but she's back to a heavy Hungarian accent since making four movies . . . probably due to mingling with puristic producers like Joe Pasternak.

★ ★ ★

"I'm vurking so MOTCH! squealed Eva when we talked of her movie which she calls "Don't Go Near the Vater."

Eva forgot her Hungarian accent the first part of our talk. But she was soon going real juicy and told us of another picture, "The Truce About Vimmen."

"I vouldn't SINK of it!" proclaimed Eva. "Vy cover my curves? Remember ven poor Mr. Dior came out with flat bosoms and nobody vore it? Vy should dey? I vear vot's becoming and to HAL with fashion!"

Spendthrifts Jack Benny and George Burns lost the $50,000 they put in June Havoc's play, "One Foot in the Door," which is closing in Boston. June, who got great notices, was almost in tears. She was about to do a TV series for Burns when she got the show offer. She showed him the script, he put in 25Gs and got Jack excited another $25,000 worth. Now—back to TV for June after "June's Havoc."

Now Quiz Whiz Values Privacy

But He's Accustomed to Public Attention and No Longer Minds It

By DICK KLEINER

NEW YORK (NEA)—Fame and fortune (before taxes) have left Charles Van Doren virtually untouched.

Except for a gift car, the purchase of some clothes and a new esteem in which he holds privacy, this is the same man who went on "Twenty-One" a complete unknown to the public.

"Privacy," he says. "I value it highly these days. There is nothing as wonderful as a half-hour alone. This past weekend my wife and I went up to my folks' place in Connecticut and we were alone.

"It was wonderful. There are two couches flanking the fireplace and we each stretched out on one and read."

★ ★ ★

Then he drove back to New York and parked his distinctive car outside his in-laws' apartment and the kids in the neighborhood recognized it. And dinner was interrupted a few dozen times while autographs were requested and granted.

"And I didn't mind it at all," he says, with his now-famous grin.

USED TO LIMELIGHT

He has, in fact, gotten quite used to the limelight. It took some doing, since he is basically on the shy side, but he's managed. He still says he doesn't actively enjoy all the public attention he gets, but he doesn't mind it.

★ ★ ★

"At first I was frightened and a little disturbed by the autograph people. But I discovered that they meant me no harm.

"I imagine I'd been influenced by all those stories of people being mauled and their clothes ripped. I have yet to be mauled. As a matter of fact, I found it was interesting to meet people—and most people are very nice."

This problem having been resolved, the next was the question of his career.

He had no intention of giving up his teaching at Columbia. But he did have his new job with NBC-TV—he appears almost every week on "Wide, Wide World"—which entails rehearsals and time at the studio and conferences and other inconveniences. This, of course, could conflict badly with his classes.

★ ★ ★

So he arranged with Columbia that he teach only in the mornings.

HOPES FOR MORE

With his afternoons free, he can do the TV that the network has assigned him. And he hopes to do more, althought there is nothing definite here.

★ ★ ★

There has been some talk that he do a radio commentary program, which intrigues him, but this, too, is still in the talking stage.

He remains at the same academic level—instructor—that he was. He still rides the subway ("I find I can read in the subway and I can't in a taxi").

He still isn't sure of his future—he may teach, he may give it up some day, he'd like to do more writing, he enjoys TV work and might do more in that field, he vaccilates as many men of wide talent do.

There is one whim which he feels he can now satisfy.

★ ★ ★

"I like the idea of living high up in an apartment," he says. "I guess it's an eagle instinct. It probably comes from visiting my Uncle Carl when I was a boy. I admired him greatly. And he lived in a penthouse for a while.

STILL LOOKING UP

"As a matter of fact, I found out that that particular penthouse was vacant and I went down to see it. I would have liked to rent it, but the building was rundown and the place badly in need of repair. But I have a feeling I will rent something high up soon.

★ ★ ★

"It will just be for a while. If we have children, we'll either move to a ground floor or else to the country. But I must satisfy that eagle instinct first."

Hearings Start Today

Senate Group Will Ask Why We Lag in Missiles

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — What happened? Now what? And who's in charge

Those are things a Senate subcommittee wants to know as it begins hearings today on why this country fell behind Russia on missiles and satellites.

Here is background—on names, terms and problems—as the hearings unfold. Missiles fall into two main classes: long-range and short-range.

There are two kinds of long-range missiles:

1. The IRBM — intermediate range ballistic missile—which can travel about 1,500 miles. This country has been pushing three: the Air Force Thor, the Army's Jupiter and the Navy's Polaris. None are in production and probably won't be before late next year or early 1959.

2. The ICBM—interconeinental ballistic missile—which can travel 5,000 to 5,500 miles. This country is developing two: the Titan and the Atlas—both Air Force projects. Four years may be needed to get them in production.

★ ★ ★

There are various short-range missiles for use by Army, Navy and Air Force. For example the Nike, shot from the ground, is part of this country's defense against invading planes.

These shorter range missiles will probably play a small part in the hearings.

IRBMs, with hydrogen warheads and fired from Russia, could flatten Western Europe. This country could do the same to European Russia if its bases around the Iron Curtain countries had IRBMs.

The thought that the Russians have them now is enough to jitter American allies in Western Europe.

The much further ranging ICBM could be fired across a continent and an ocean: from Russia to the United States or from here to there. The Russians claim they have the ICBM. But it's questionable they have them in quantity production.

The Russians are ahead in Satellites, as their launching of the two Sputniks showed, particularly in the size of them.

Of equal importance to the committee—besides finding out what caused the American lag—is what is being done to speed missile development now and what is needed.

For instance, Army-Navy-Air Force rivalry over missile development is widely blamed. Some senators on the investigating committee think one man should be made czar of the whole missile-satellite program.

They are not satisfied President Eisenhower has come close to such an arrangement with anything he has done so far.

Children Find Mother Dying, Father Dead

LANSING (AP) — A 35-year-old mother of four was beaten to death and her husband was killed by a gunshot following an argument in the couple's home on Lansing's southern outskirst yesterday.

Mrs. Dorothy Barr died two hours after she and the body of her husband Robert, 38, were found in a bedroom. Mrs. Barr had been beaten on the head by a length of metal pipe.

Ingham County Deputy Sheriff Harry Tift said Barr, a well-to-do plumbing contractor, apparently bludgeoned his wife before shooting himself in the head with a .25 caliber pistol. Tift said the couple had been quarreling for several hours.

The bodies were found by their children: Edward, 17; Gail, 15; Donna, 12; and Linda, 9. Edward said the four were out of the house when the tragedy occurred.

Body Found in Inkster Tentatively Identified

DETROIT (AP)—A body, believed to be that of a factory worker missing since Friday, was found in a wooded area at suburban Inkster yesterday.

Police tentatively identified the body as that of George Frazier, 24, of nearby River Rouge. Police said he had been beaten to death, and was clad only in trousers and socks.

His wife Anna, 23, reported Frazier missing early Saturday. She said he failed to return home from the factory where he was employed.

3-Fold Attack on America's Greatest Health Danger

Prevention, Medical Control by Drugs, Surgery Bring Hope in Heart Disease

(This is the second of five articles in which five top experts in health, medicine and old age report on what has been achieved and what to look for in the battle against disease and in overcoming problems of our senior citizens.)

By ROBERT W. WILKINS, M. D.
President, American Heart Assn.
(Written for International News).

Every year a somber report is presented to the American people by the national Office of Vital Statistics in Washington.

It is an accounting of the deaths that occurred in the preceding year, together with an analysis of these deaths by cause. In this grim breakdown, diseases of the heart and blood vessels have for many years led all the rest.

In 1956 the cardiovascular toll was 843,000—over half the total, more than all the deaths from the next five leading causes combined. About 240,000 of these deaths were of persons under 65, including children.

It is the ambition of those of us who are active in the American Heart Association to change this picture—at the very least, to revise sharply downward the category of premature deaths. This was the task we assumed just about ten years ago when the American Heart Association was formed. Then, as now, its purpose was to coordinate the best efforts of both laymen and physicians in an aggressive attack on America's greatest health danger.

LONG TERM PROJECT

Although the conquest of the heart diseases is necessarily a long-term undertaking, the accomplishments of thep ast decade justify a hopeful outlook.

In the checklist of the past ten years, first place belongs to the magnificent achievements of heart surgery. The earliest operations—to relieve circulatory distress caused by certain inborn defects and to correct valve damage resulting from rheumatic fever—had just begun ten years ago.

Within the past two years, artificial heart-lungs have become a standby of the heart operating room. With their use the heart can be opened widely—it can even be stopped—and defects deep inside its chambers can be repaired under direct vision.

Many conditnons formerly held incurable can now be corrected in whole or in part.

Other types of heart and blood vessel surgery also belong on our checklist. Grafting of blood vessel segments — either natural grafts stored in a blood vessel bank (another innovation of the past ten years) or artificial substitutes made of nylon, orlon and other synthetics—has become a safe procedure.

GRAFTS SAVE LIVES

Surgeons can not cut out sections of damaged or clot-closed arteries in the legs, trunk and elsewhere, and replace them with a graft, restoring circulation to the affected part. Many amputations have been prevented; many lives saved.

Advances in medical treatment during the past ten years, while perhaps less dramatic, are equally important.

We can now prevent most recurrences of rheumatic fever, that heart-scarring scourge so greatly feared by parents because it strikes primarily at the young. Having learned that rheumatic fever is almost always "triggered" by a preceding streptococcal infection such as a "strep sore throat," we now give penicillin or sulfa drugs continuously to those who have had a previous attack of the disease. The recurrence rate, once as high as 50 per cent, has taken a sharp drop.

Antibiotics have made it possible to prevent many cases of the dreaded infection of the heart's lining called subacute bacterial endocarditis. Formerly this disease was almost always fatal. Today, in addition to preventing the disease, we can even cure it with penicillin in seven cases out of ten.

★ ★ ★

We have seen the development, in the past ten years, of a veritable galaxy of new medicines for controlling high blood pressure, a condition affecting millions of Americans.

NEW DRUGS AVAILABLE

On the other hand, other new drugs are now available to overcome the drastic drops in blood pressure known as "shock" or "collapse" which accompany some heart attacks. There are also new drugs that relieve waterlogging or dropsy often seen in heart failure, and still others that abolish irregular heart rhythms that are often very disturbing to patients with impaired hearts.

Anti-clotting drugs have been shown during the past decade to reduce the death rate after a first heart attack by about one-third. Long-term anticoagulant therapy has been reported promising as a preventive of repeat heart attacks and strokes. Finally, there are new chemical agents that may make it possible to dissolve existing clots.

But what about the most important problem of all—the prevention of coronary heart attacks, certainly the most devastating of all heart diseases?

This, unhappily, is not yet feasible until we know more about how and why the coronary arteries which nourish the heart muscle become narrowed and roughened, lending themselves to closure by a blood clot. We suspect that this narrowing of the coronary arteries results from some defect in the way the body handles fatty substances, but we are still a long way from certainty about this.

OVERWEIGHT IMPORTANT

At the same time, these authorities counseled that if Americans paid more attention to avoiding overweight, their hearts would probably benefit.

This year the heart association and its affiliates are spending approximately $7,000,000 in support of research. We call this "investing" the funds provided by the public through the annual heart fund campaign, because it is putting the money where it will bring the biggest dividends.

As I look back on the past ten years, I find another great advance without mention of which this report will be incomplete. It is intangible, to be sure, but it is of great fundamental importance. I refer to the climate of hope that surrounds our determination that an ultimate solution of all heart disease will be found.

This new hopefulness has been created largely, in my opinion, through the ceaseless efforts of the American Heart Association. It has led the public to understand that a diagnosis of heart disease is no longer a death sentence but rather a challenge to be met and overcome.

Finally, if we remember that research is the key, that research in time will surely reveal what today is unknown about causes, treatment and prevention, and if the American people will support the heart association in its research, we will surely gain the victory over the greatest scourge of mankind—heart disease.

Engineer Toots Horn to Put Out Lights

HOPKINSVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Every time the engineer on a passenger train toots his horn at a nearby crossing, the lights go out at the Sports Center.

The reason: in times past, the lights blinded the engineer.

By prearrangement, the horn is a signal for the lights to be switched off until the train passes the crossing.

When it comes out of the tree, rubber sap looks like rich milk. It gets its name "latex" from the Latin word meaning "milk."
