Outline Coming Hospital Vote

Or Board Up Addition, Warns Director

Must OK Hospital Bonds

By GEORGE T. TRUMBULL JR.

If voters say "no!" at the Oct. 28 hospital bond election, citizens can look forward to the four million dollar addition at Pontiac General Hospital being "boarded up."

This was the statement of Carl I. Flath, hospital director, when he appeared last evening to reveal the facts behind the vote at a public meeting called by the Greater Pontiac Community Advisory Council.

CANCEL CONTRACTS

"There is enough money to proceed with the contracts up to a certain point," said Flath, "but after that we have to cancel contracts."

"The consequences of having to board it up would be alarmingly tragic," the director stressed to some 70 council delegates and citizens at the City Hall commission chambers.

Flath, several hospital board members, and city commissioners greeted the curious crowd to answer questions posed by a hospital fact - finding committee of the council headed by Fred V. Haggard, past council president.

VOTE YES

At the conclusion of the two-hour meeting, delegates unanimously called for a "yes" vote on Oct. 28 and ventured out to their respective civic organizations to disclose the facts outlined at Thursday's session.

The committee asked why the addition couldn't have been built with the original $3,000,000 addition approved by voters in November of 1954.

Flath answered by declaring it took 18 months between the time the estimate was made (February, 1954), and when the bids were received (April, 1956). During this time, the director continued, building costs soared in this area 22 points (8 per cent), or enough to increase costs $240,000, "even without the addition of complicating design factors."

In answer to another question, Flath said officials trimmed down to $950,000 the May 20 issue of

Missing Boy, 9, Found Slain

Lad and Grandmother Both Dead; Police Say She Did It

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A 9-year-old boy who had been missing since Wednesday was found shot to death in an abandoned house last night. Lying dead next to him was his crippled grandmother, who loved and wanted him as her own.

Police said she apparently killed him, then took her own life.

Young Ronald Barrett White was found lying in an upstairs bedroom of the deserted home with a bullet in his back. The grandmother, Mrs. Allene Durston

Soldiers Find It Quiet Today in Little Rock

Ike, Gov. Faubus Taut as Each Waits for Move by the Other

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—An escort of soldiers encountered no trouble today in taking nine Negro students into Central High School for a 10th day of integrated classes.

About 100 white students were massed before the front entrance of the school. Three or four of them displayed small Confederate flags but there was none of the hooting or jeering that marked the last two days.

All the Negroes were present today. Yesterday one of the six Negro girls was absent because of illness.

There four regular Army paratroopers met the Negroes and took them the rest of the way into the school.

There was no sign of the 75 white students who walked out of Central High yesterday in what was scheduled as a mass demonstration but turned out to be a flop.

They were either absent today or else inside seeking to make their peace with school of-

Pleasant Football Weather Tomorrow

The weather man must be a football follower too. For tomorrow, he has promised fans going to the Michigan-Georgia game at Ann Arbor, or to other grid contests, a pleasant day. The outlook is partly cloudy and warm.

Very heavy coats may be left at home this Saturday as the mercury will rise to a comfortable 62-66.

The outlook for Sunday is not quite so pleasant. The U. S. Weather Bureau predicts partly to mostly cloudy and a little warmer with showers likely over most of the area.

The mercury fell to a chilly 44 last night in downtown Pontiac. However by 2 p.m. it had climbed to 63.

Swept to Victory

SMILE OF CONFIDENCE — There was no doubt about it, as Jimmy Hoffa's smile shows, as he was swept to the leadership of the International Teamsters election at Miami Beach today. His opponents never slowed the Hoffa bandwagon for a second.

Teamsters Flouting AFL-CIO by Election

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (INS) — The International Brotherhood of Teamsters today elected James R. Hoffa their new president by a 4 to 1 landslide despite a warning that they will be ousted from the AFL-CIO if they do so.

The election concludes the business of the convention which began Monday. The historic meeting, one of the weirdest in trade union history, has been marked by bitterness among rival factions seeking the top teamster job.

When the convention opened, Hoffa was opposed in the presidential race by four candidates. Teamster Vice President Thomas L. Hickey, New York, and Rep. John L. Shelley (D Calif) have since withdrawn, reducing the opposing candidates to two.

Union Vice President William A. Lee, Chicago, and Thomas J. Haggerty, a leader of the Chicago Milk Wagon Drivers, talked of stopping Hoffa on the first ballot, thus paving the way for victory for one of them.

But Hoffa picked up strength as the convention went on.

MIAMI BEACH—On the head of James Riddle Hoffa today was placed the $50,000 crown of the largest labor organization in the country.

The 44-year-old Detroit labor leader's climb to the rich throne of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters climaxed years of battling opponents from congressmen down to the average rank-and-filer.

His fight down here to win the president's chair was probably one of the easiest ones. He smothered his two opponents, William A. Lee and Thomas J. Haggerty, both of Chicago, with an avalanche of votes.

Hoffa attained the majority of 878 votes of the total 1,754 at 12:08, less than three hours after the roll call began.

With the victory it was almost a cinch that the AFL-CIO would make good its threat to throw out the 1,400,000-member transportation workers union from its ranks.

As the votes for their hero mounted in this huge Miami Beach auditorium, members on the Hoffa bandwagon were almost uncontrollable. Outgoing President Dave Beck had a hard time keeping order.

The former vice president of the union was never behind in the roll call balloting. As from the rostrum officers announced each local's votes, spokesmen for the delegations rose and in 99 out of 100 times, handed the votes to Hoffa.

The fiery, little labor leader's dynasty began when he joined the union because "we were getting kicked around." His elevation was rapid. He became the ninth vice president of the IBT when he was only 39 years old.

When he was only 18, he led a short and successful strike at a grocery warehouse.

He plunged much later into the local scene in Pontiac when he was ordered trustee over Local 614. He still holds this post along with numerous others in the Midwest.

Ex-Pontiac GI Kills Boy, 15

Former City Resident Protecting Freight Car in Korea

A U. S. military policeman who shot and killed a Korean boy has been identified as a former resident of Pontiac who grew up in the city.

Raymond L. Bailey, 24, now of Brownsberg, Ind., was guarding a sidetracked railway freight car at Kumchon, Korea, when a group of Korean students passed by.

Bailey called upon them to halt, according to the Korean Transportation Ministry, and then fired a shot that struck 15-year-old Song Joon Won in the stomach.

Bailey's parents were divorced and he later lived with his mother Eileen who had married Carl J. Brown, of Brownsberg. The Browns live on a farm and both work for the state health department. It was Brown who urged Bailey to make a permanent career of the Army.

An Army spokesman said yesterday that Bailey reported some of the youths had been tampering with the door of the railroad car and he fired a shot in the general direction of the fleeing group without intending to hit anyone.

Bailey had to be rescued by the local police from an angry mob of several hundred villagers after the shooting. Neither the Army nor the Korean government has indicated whether Bailey will be prosecuted in the affair.

Chamber Asks Meeting to Know Why City Gets No Highways

John W. Hirlinger, chamber manager, today said the following telegram had been sent to the commissioner:

"Pontiac area greatly disappointed to have been excluded from highway plan. Serious congestion on main highways near Pontiac. We respectfully request privilege of meeting with you at your earliest convenience."

"We are the second largest county in Michigan and I believe the 42nd in the country," said Hirlinger, "and there certainly is no place in Michigan that suffers greater congestion than here. But yet they still leave us out of their plans."

Jewish Services, Fasting to Mark Yom Kippur

Yom Kippur, the holiest day of the Jewish calendar, will be observed in synagogues throughout the world from sunset today until sunset tomorrow.

It is the Day of Atonement, traditionally observed with prayer and fasting, and the climax of a 10-day period of penitence which began with Rosh Hashana, the Jewish New Year, on Sept. 26.

The Day of Atonement ritual is inaugurated on the eve of the holy day with singing of "Kol Nidre," the celebrated prayer in which the worshiper asks divine forgiveness for trespasses and errors committed during the past year.

The liturgy for the entire day contains collective admission of guilt and supplications for the power to overcome sin and wrongdoing. The service is concluded, after a full day of fasting, with the blast of the "shofar" or ram's horn.

Reform Jewish services will be held at Temple Beth Jacob, 79 Elizabeth Lake Rd., at 8:30 p.m. tonight. James Rosenthal will chant the Kol Nidre prayer. Rabbi Nathan Hershfield will speak on the topic, "Alone."

Yom Kippur morning services will begin at 10:30 Saturday and last all day. Rabbi Hershfield will preach on "The Dance of Life."

SERVICE FOR CHILDREN

A children's service will be held at 2 p.m. with members of the confirmation class conducting.

The memorial service is scheduled for 4 p.m. and will conclude with the Neilah, or closing service at 5 p.m. Music will be furnished by the Temple Choir with James Rosenthal and Mrs. Rebecca Gould, soloists.

Orthodox Jewish Services will be held at Congregation B'nai Israel, 143 Oneida Rd., beginning

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt Declares

'Like It or Not - - - U.S. Is World Leader'

By JUDITH L. CLEMENCE
Women's Editor, Pontiac Press

"America is facing world leadership whether we like it or not", Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt warned members of Birmingham Town Hall yesterday.

Just returned from a month-long visit in the Soviet Union, the former U. N. delegate and member of the American Association for the U. N. opened the Town Hall series.

Mrs. Roosevelt addressed 1,500 Town Hall members yesterday and again today. The Birmingham Theater was filled to capacity for her speech.

"A year ago we shared this leadership with our allies, Britain and France, but since the Suez crisis, this leadership has fallen on us," declared Mrs. Roosevelt.

"If the United States is going to accept the challenge of world leadership, it must take the responsibility that goes with it. This includes knowledge of the background of people in the 'slave' areas of the world," explained the 73-year old wife of the late President Franklin Delano Roosevelt.

"We must show these people that we care about them, we must not try to buy their friendship, and we must show them we really don't want war. We can't lead with words, we must lead with deeds," Mrs. Roosevelt said.

Continuing, she said, 'We are at the crossroads and we must face this responsibility of leadership as the rest of the free world has come to depend on us,'

One question asked of Mrs. Roosevelt at a luncheon held later at Birmingham Country Club was: "Do we have an exchange student from Russia?"

She answered: "No, the McCarren - Walter Immigration Act has wrapped the United States in an Iron Curtin tighter and more binding than Russia's."

Mrs. Roosevelt said that Americans may go to Russia, but that it is "next to impossible" for Russians to come to America. "Our simple, immediate need, is to lift our own iron curtain. Because the Soviet Union has set up an iron curtain, I think it is stupid that we do the same."

She urged the lecture audience to "tell our representatives in Congress we're not afraid to meet the Communists. We do not expect to be won over by their ideas. What we do expect," she said, "is that they will be impressed by ours."

She told of a group of 30 women

Prank of Chums Spells His Death on Train Tracks

MOUNT VERNON, N.Y. (AP) — A 14-year-old boy was killed by a New York Central Railroad train yesterday—the victim of a prank played on him by two school chums.

Police gave this account:

Graham ran to the opposite platform, scooped up the books and started back. He apparently was unaware that a northbound express was bearing down on him.

TOOK CARE OF BOY

The boy's father, Thomas M. White of suburban Reseda, said Mrs. Durston had taken care of Ronald in his early years and was "all wrapped up in the boy."

This was the second time in a little more than two months, police said, that Mrs. Durston had spirited the boy away. On July 24, they said, she left a note saying she was "taking the boy for my own" and going on a trip with him to Mexico and Colorado. The note said she was suffering from cancer of the hip and didn't have long to live.

She was stopped on that occasion, officers said, shortly after she drove away with the boy in a taxi. No charges were pressed.

Ronald's mother, Mrs. Evelyn D. White, reported the boy missing Wednesday when she learned he hadn't arrived at school that day. She said she feared her mother might have taken the boy away.

Police began searching for the youngster, but there was no trace of him until Mr. and Mrs. Walter Larson Jr. went to the abandoned house last night to remove some light fixtures. Mrs. Larson's mother had lived in the home until about a month ago. The house is in Woodland Hills, a San Fernando Valley community not far from Reseda.

Know the Weather

By E. H. SIMS

Is it true that clear weather frontal systems from the northwest bring with them a different smell (in the air)?

We commented once before that the air sometimes does smell differently. In the fall, when cooler, clear frontal systems often move in on us and produce football and hunting weather, people sometimes say they smell he odor of the north woods.

And that is possible. The air we have over us today was probably about six hundred miles to the west or northwest yesterday and it may well have been over a fir tree forest or over the great forests of Canada, etc.

And it may have brought with it just a faint odor of these great forests.

Another question was "what is the status of the church in Russia?"

"The church is comparitively free, but emphasis is not on religion. The state takes its place, Mrs. Roosevelt said. "Older people go to church, but there are few young people who attend.

"Yes. According to communist newspapers, it was the only thing that happened in America. You can't buy anything but communist papers in Russia."

Later in a press conference, Mrs. Roosevelt was asked how she remained so relaxed. Her bright blue eyes twinkled and she said, "I don't worry about it. I don't have time to worry about relaxing."

She lives in a small New York apartment by herself and has one maid for cooking and housework. She says she does a great deal of entertaining and just the day before her talk in Birmingham, she entertained 10 people, including three of her sons and their wives.

Teamsters Flout AFL-CIO by Vote

the union's constitution intended as an answer to pressures for reform.

Hoffa's election runs completely counter to the demands of the during consideration of changes in AFL-CIO for a cleanup in the nation's largest union, as a result of disclosures before the Senate Rackets Committee.

The AFL-CIO has named Hoffa as one of the Teamsters officials responsible for abuses in the union. He has been accused of racketeering connections, misuse of union funds, and exploitation of his office for personal profit.

OUST UNION

The federation's Executive Council is threatening to oust the 1,400,000 member union unless it starts cleaning house by the time of the next council meeting in New York City Oct. 24.

Despite the ouster threat, Hoffa says he will fight to keep the Teamsters in the AFL-CIO. He is planning to appear at the New York council meeting with the Teamsters' Executive Board to try to work out an agreement with federation leaders.

Dave Beck, who is retiring as Teamster president, has been granted a leave of absence until his term ends Dec. 1. Hoffa will take over the management of the union Oct. 15.

On the same date, he is to go on trial on a wire tap charge, and is to be arraigned on a perjury charge in a New York federal court. His lawyers will move to have the trial postponed.

Hoffa has prepared a slate of candidates for the vice-presidential posts. His lieutenants confidently predict election of his entire slate. This would give him firm control of the union's executive board, which runs union affairs between conventions.

ficials, who had threatened them all with suspension.

Under suspension for three days, she said she had gone into school seeking to arrange a return to her classes. She said a teacher falsely accused her of making remarks to Negro students as they entered and added the teacher "told me he'd slap me down the front steps."

Two other girls, neither of whom identified themselves, walked out in sympathy with her. Jane said she intended to return to classes Monday and declared: "No nigger can keep me from my education."

Opposing sides were still deadlocked today in their efforts to solve the integration crisis. No one had come up with a new plan under which federal troops might be removed.

MUST COOL OFF

Gov. Luther Hodges of North Carolina, chairman of a group of Southern governors who met with President Eisenhower in an unsuccessful effort to solve the problem, simply said:

"We've got to have a few days to let this thing cool off."

The nine Negroes entered the school Sept. 25 under guard of federal troops flown here under orders of Eisenhower. Paratroopers of the 101st Airborne Division used bayonets to break up crowds of white demonstrators. That was the last of the demonstrations until yesterday's student walkout attempt.

Hoffa Takes Over as Top Teamster

have maintained an on-again, off-again struggle to remove this trusteeship and win "an honest election," which they say has been denied them since Hoffa took over in October of 1953.

During his turbulent career, which includes 17 arrests on minor charges — brawling, traffic violations and investigation of labor practices—he has only three convictions on Detroit Police Dept. records and has never served a day in jail.

He was in the spotlight of Sen. John L. McClellan's (D-Ark) Senate Labor Rackets Committee for many weeks. Investigators say he is still in it and might appear again.

Hoffa's name was put in nomination by John English, veteran union secretary treasurer, who called Hoffa "The champion of the Teamsters."

The convention Thursday seated the last of its delegates. The final count showed the credentials committee, which toiled as long as the candidates, have accredited 1,753. Sixty-five delegates were rejected while 50 withdrew their credentials.

Pontiac Local 614's delegation of Leaun Harrelson, Floyd Harmon, Alvy Bush and Frank Orsini was one of the last groups to be approved. A group of 614 members and the Senate Rackets Committee had questioned the four's legality of being seated.

In probably one of his last acts, Beck announced late yesterday that he would surrender his office to his successor Oct. 15 instead of Dec. 1 as provided in the constitution.

This unexpected move on Beck's part is presumably to help Hoffa, on whose calendar there are a couple of important dates in October. On Oct. 15 Hoffa is expected to appear in New York in connection with wire-tapping and perjury charges. On Oct. 24 he is slated to appear with the Teamsters executive board to answer charges of the AFL-CIO that the transportation workers union clean house or be ousted from the parent body.

The balloting today was to be a lengthy affair. Besides the top post of president, a secretary-treasurer, 13 vice presidents and three trustees were to be elected by roll call votes.

Hoffa has thrown his support behind English for re-election. Hoffa also presented his slate Thursday of his favored 13.

Jurors Honor Judge Doty for 50 Years of Service

The panel of 70 citizens serving as jurors at the county courthouse paid tribute to Circuit Judge Frank L. Doty, who is beginning his 51st year as a barrister.

SURPRISE GIFT

At roll-call in Judge Doty's courtroom the jurors had planned a surprise. When the 74-year-old judge walked to his bench he found a gift to brighten his chambers during the next two years before his retirement.

The jurors, learning that Judge Doty recently had been honored by the Michigan State Bar, had chipped in to purchase a copper planter for Judge Doty's desk. The planter is filled with bright, green foliage.

Judge Doty said he would keep the planter in his office, along with the plaque the bar association gave him to mark his 50 years in law.

Judge Doty was first elected Oakland County Circuit Judge in 1927 and will retire at the end of 1959.

Last year he was one of the few Michigan circuit judges who declined to quit at pension age. Judge Doty decided to give up the pension and stay on the bench until the end of his term.

The Day in Birmingham

Volunteer Firefighters to Be Replaced Next July

BIRMINGHAM — Next July will mark the end of an old institution in Birmingham — the volunteer fire department.

Commissioners, according to City Manager L. R. Gare, have approved establishment of an auxiliary to the fire department, similar to the group working with the police department.

The volunteer department remained after the department became full-time and moved into the municipal building station in 1927. The group of 16 men has dwindled to nine, who answer "general alarms" for major fires in the city. Their last official call was in 1954 when a Birmingham mother and two sons lost their lives in a home fire.

Gare said the auxiliary unit would supplement the regular department in any major disaster. Training of new recruits will be in the hands of the remaining volunteers, headed by Capt. Sam Snell and Lieut. Don Cummings. They will train newcomers not only in fire fighting but in first aid and rescue work, as well as other details which might arise in a disaster.

Vernon Griffith, during his term as fire chief, said the department owed much to the volunteers. He praised their loyalty to the department, and the skill which they exhibited in assisting at major blazes. His successor, Chief Park Smith, has expressed the same feeling toward these men, city residents and businessmen, who have remained with the department to serve their city and their neighbors in time of need.

Ed Kirbert, YMCA executive secretary here, has announced that several new men have been listed among those supervising Gra-Y clubs in the area.

Newcomers include Pete Booth, working with the fifth and sixth grades at Adams school; Fred Sawyer, Baldwin fifth and sixth; Tom Hawkins, Bloomfield Village, and James Keevan, Pierce third and fourth.

Returning to the job this year are Bob Gleason, Baldwin third and fourth, and Joe Pearson, Pie fifth and sixth.

A new group formed at Valleywoods will become active as soon as the gymnasium is completed. It will be under the supervision of Ed Breedlove.

Through error, the name Bloomfield Hills was used in a story concerning a one-mill tax levy for trunk line sewers. The vote next Tuesday will come be residents of Bloomfield Township and has nothing to do with the city of Bloomfield Hills.

By combining three advance swimming classes which had not received full registration, the Birmingham Recreation Board has come up with a plan which will care for 16 more beginning swimmers.

Mrs. William H. Jackson, board chairman, said the advance classes would all meet at the high school, freeing the Barnum and Derby School pools for beginners.

The time extension to 12:30, instead of noon, has been approved by the Board of Education, giving the beginners a full classtime.

Mrs. Jackson added that no more registrations can be accepted for this, the first ten-week series.

Bloomfield Hills to Form Rotary

Group of 27 Votes to Apply to International for Charter

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — Preliminary steps for the organization of a Bloomfield Hills Rotary club have been taken by a group of 27 business and professional men in that city.

Meeting with the Rev. William H. Marbach recently, the group voted to apply to Rotary International for a charter.

Under the sponsorship of the Rotary club of Pontiac, the new group has named William G. Webb, George P. Bassett, Charles J. Van Horn, Harry M. Denyes, Dr. Dale R. Drew and Henry A. Houston as directors.

The Bloomfield Hills group, one of 9,500 throughout the world, will meet each Wednesday noon at the Kingsley Inn.

When official recognition has been given, the charter will be presented by Dr. Lloyd Hirth, district governor, at a special meeting.

A club spokesman said, "One of the distinctive features of Rotary is the practice of welcoming visitors from other clubs. Since we have groups in nearly all our surrounding communities, we should fare well in this category."

Urge 'Yes' Vote on Hospital Bonds

$1,500,000 in the interests of economy. During this cut some $208,000 of presently non - essential equipment was removed from the plans.

This brought a question from Mrs. George Wyman. "What must happen to get these things that have been cut out?" she asked.

Flath answered that he hoped later the funds for this equipment "will come from somewhere."

Judge Clark J. Adams, council president, inquired of the director whether with this reduced $950,000 issue, the addition will become a "going concern." Flath gave an emphatic yes.

An employe of the hospital asked why the hospital project wasn't included in Pontiac's public improvement program. Mayor William W. Donaldson replied that under the city's present millage financing plan, all other civic buildings and improvements, such as sewers, sidewalks, street paving, would have to "stand still for 12 years" if the hospital was in the program.

Donaldson pointed out also that it was impossible to tell now whether the forthcoming bond issue would mean a tax increase. But if a hike is necessitated, he said, it would "probably" be no higher than 50 cents per $1,000 of assessed valuation.

This half mill would come from the unlevied portion of the one mill approved in 1954.

Sherwin Birnkrant, B'nai Brith representative, questioned whether the city had considered an adjustment in personal and real assessments of property as opposed to a tax change.

Mayor Donaldson said this was in the hands of the Board of Tax Review and the city assessor, and not the commission.

A $300 gift was turned over to the hospital by Fred Niedelsen, representing the Tel-Huron Merchants Assn., from members of the association.

Key to Outer Space Flights

U.S. Rushes Work on Nuclear Rockets

By EDWIN DIAMOND
INS Science Writer

WASHINGTON (INS) — Three big Atomic Energy Commission laboratories are quietly pushing forward work on nuclear-powered rockets—considered the key to true interplanetary space flight.

But no tickets to Mars are being printed up as yet. An informed source close to the secrecy-shrouded project told International News Service: "We have been working on nuclear rockets, but we have not made the progress we should be making."

STUDY DESIGNS

Work is underway at the AEC's national laboratories at Los Alamos, N.M., Livermore, Calif., and Argonne, Ill., outside Chicago.

Both Los Alamos and Livermore are conducting officially-described "feasibility studies" on nuclear rocket reactor (engine) designs. This is believed to involve testing of component parts. Argonne is reported to be doing "research and development" work on the nuclear fuel elements that would be placed in the reactor core.

Assignment of similar jobs to Los Alamos and Livermore continues the long-standing scientific rivalry between the two labs, both operated for the AEC by the University of California. In the past, the AEC and the nation have benefitted from this rivalry as each lab tried to be "firstest with the mostest" in new atomic developments.

NEED TALENT

In the opinion of the experts, it will take all the talent and ingenuity the labs can muster to solve the formidable problems connected with atomic rockets.

A reactor core consisting of long, rod-shaped fuel elements made of enriched uranium is used to heat up the rocket's "working fluid." This fluid is likely to be one of the light gases such as hydrogen or ammonia.

Once heated, the fluid expands and is accelerated out of rear nozzles. The hot jet thrusts the rocket forward through space.

That is the theory. In practice, there remain many problems. One is efficient heat transfer from the nuclear reactor to the working fluid. Another is control—there is no human hand to insure that the nuclear chain reaction proceeds at the right pace, neither too fast nor too slow.

Another factor is the materials used: They must be able to stand up under the heat and radiation produced in the reaction. Corrosion is also a danger.

If these difficulties could be surmounted, however, the prize would be worth the effort. Conventional rockets drawing on chemicals for fuel are limited in performance by the amount of fuel they can carry. "Burn-out," the point where fuel is expended, occurs in two or three minutes even in the biggest rockets.

For this reason, the experts are convinced true space travel must await achievement of nuclear rockets.

The AEC studies, however, have a shorter-range objective as well. Part of the research is being supported by Air Force missile funds.

As Sen. Henry M. Jackson (D Wash), a member of the military Applications Subcommittee of the joint congressional Atomic Energy Committee, puts it:

"This is a very important project. Nuclear-powered missiles could reach any place on earth. For our defense we must not lag behind in vital missile development work."

San Marino, a tiny republic of 13,000 people in the heart of Italy, has remained independent for 17 centuries since 302 A.D.

Suspect Ex-Con Passed $175,000 in Bad Checks

CHICAGO (UP) — A 66-year-old man, identified by police as an ex-convict, was seized by detectives last night in connection with passing worthless checks totaling more than $175,000.

Russell E. Fritz, was arrested in the Union Station shortly after he greeted his bride of six weeks on her arrival from Iowa. Two detectives in the station nabbed Fritz when he rushed up to his wife, Elva, 49.

Mrs. Fritz, the detectives said, had helped them trap her husband after she said she learned he had given her a $5,000 bad check as a wedding present. She said they were married last Aug. 23 after a six-week courtship. Police said Mrs. Fritz was unknowingly involved in passing fraudulent checks in Indianapolis and Miami.

Detective Anton G. Wenskus said that Fritz, on the way to Florida with his bride, traded his car in Indianapolis, using a phony check to complete the deal.

In Miami, Wenskus said, the couple moved into an apartment owned by Alfred Seward and Fritz gave Seward three bum checks totaling $175,000 to pay off a note on the apartment building. The detective said Fritz also cashed about $700 in worthless checks using Seward as a character witness.

After the couple left Miami, police said, Seward learned the checks were worthless and notified the FBI. On the return trip to Chicago, Fritz was arrested in Indianapolis on a traffic charge. Mrs. Fritz said she went to the home of a brother in Montrose, Iowa, where she was told by the FBI of the string of bad checks her husband had cashed.

Police and the FBI arranged for Mrs. Fritz to meet her husband on her return to Chicago and they were waiting in the Union Station when she arrived last night.

Mrs. Fritz signed a forgery complaint against him, and her former landlord also signed a complaint charging Fritz with defrauding an innkeeper. Fritz, who was held for further investigation by the FBI, declined to comment on the charges.

Mrs. Fritz said she would take steps to have their marriage annulled.

Housewife Calls Army on Black Widows

BALTIMORE (UP)—Mrs. Richard Thompson, a harried housewife in a suburban housing development invaded by black widow spiders, says she may call on the Army for help.

More than 100 of the insects with the sometimes-fatal bite were found in a section of the Victory Villa development within the last week.

The Baltimore County Health Department sent residents literature on how to deal with the spiders but said the department was not equipped to handle the job itself.

Insurance Firms Gain

NEW YORK — More than 25 per cent of the life-insurance companies in operation in the United States have been established in the past 2½ years. The nation's life-insurance firms increased from 920 at the beginning of 1955 to more than 1,250 last July 1.

College Students Say Goodby to Mr. Chips

BOULDER, Colo. (UP)—The University of Colorado is saying goodby to Mr. Chips.

Mr. Chips is a 600-pound buffalo calf, donated to the school whose student teams are known as "Buffaloes," by a 1932 alumnus, William M. White of Pueblo.

That was last spring. Mr. Chips was boarded at a nearby ranch. He took part in several campus functions.

But leaders of the Associated Students decided their mascot was getting "too big and too unruly." They agreed, sadly, to offer him to a zoo.

Expect Western Arms Request

U.N. Assembly May Get U.S. Proposal for Endorsement of Plan

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — The United States was expected to ask the U.N. Assembly today to endorse Western disarmament proposals by instructing the Disarmament subcommittee to renew negotiations on the basis of the Western plan for arms cuts — and no others.

Informed diplomats said the United States would have no part of amendments asking the Assembly to endorse Indian, Japanese and Soviet proposals for suspension of nuclear weapon tests immediately.

The West has said it would stop atomic tests only if the Soviet Union agreed to a conversion at the same time — under international supervision — of all atomic production to peaceful purposes.

The United States compromised in the Assembly last February by agreeing that the world forum should recommend all disarmament proposals — Western, Soviet and others — for the subcommittee's "prompt attention." As a result, a disarmament resolution passed unanimously.

But now, the diplomats said, the United States feels that any such catch-all endorsement would equate the latest Soviet proposals with the latest Western proposals and give the former more credit than the Americans think they deserve.

Britain, Canada, France and the United States put the new Western plan before the Soviet Union Aug. 29 in subcommittee talks in London. The talks recessed in deadlock Sept. 6.

Object of All-Night Search

Girl, 2, Found Unharmed

POTTSTOWN, Pa. (AP) — Two-year-old Candida (Candy) Streeter, object of an all-night search of some 500 police, Boy Scouts and volunteers, was found today, wet and shivering beside a chicken house about a mile and a half from her home.

Little Candy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Streeter, disappeared about 5:30 p.m. yesterday when she strolled out of a kitchen door and took a walk in the heavily wooded area. Searchlights played on the woods, farm ponds and creeks throughout the night as searchers tramped through waist-high grass and broke through thickets in a frantic hunt for the tiny tot.

This morning, about 8 a.m. Kathy De Board, 16, a student at Conestoga High School, Berwyn, drove her father to work at a place known as the Barnes Estate.

Kathy, accompanied by her small sister, noticed something moving near the chicken house on the estate. She investigated and found Candy. Wet and shivering from exposure, the child was carried into the farmhouse and the Streeters notified. State police took the child to Phoenixville Hospital where she was reported in "fair condition."

Mrs. Streeter, whose husband is the assistant director of the Franklin Institute's Fels Planetarium, said Candy left her brother, Nicholas, 5, in the television room when she wandered off in the dusk of the evening. Another brother, Edward, 7, was off watching a boy employe on the family farm mend a fence.

A spokesman at the hospital said the child was bruised slightly, apparently from falls during her walk, and suffered from exposure. The child was given a complete examination, including X-rays and the hospital report was that her condition was "fair."

Testify Girard Fired at Many

MAEBASHI, Japan (AP) — Two more Japanese farmers testified today that GI William S. Girard fired at other Japanese collecting scrap brass Jan. 30 on a firing range before a blank shell from his grenade launcher killed Mrs. Naka Sakai.

The testimony of Gumpei Sakai, 25, a distant relative of the victim, and Hatsuo Mihara, 24, coincided generally with that of four previous witnesses who also were Japanese scavenging for scrap brass on the firing range in a lull during an Army practice.

Girard, a 22-year-old third class specialist from Ottawa, Ill., has admitted his shot killed Mrs. Sakai but contends it was an accident. He is charged with manslaughter and is being tried in a Japanese court despite protests from some congressmen and newspapers in the United States.

Girard's defense is that he was assigned to guard equipment during the firing practice recess and fired at random. The prosecution maintains that Girard was trigger happy, enticed Mrs. Sakai near him by throwing out shell casings, and then shot her.

Despite their identification of Girard, Mihara, Sakai and several other brass scavengers who were on the firing range admitted under questioning by defense attorney Itsuro Hayashi that they could not remember clearly what happened and that they knew it was dangerous to trespass on the firing range.

OK Hospital Addition

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 4, 1957

MEMBER OF THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Victor E. Nelson

Pontiac has lost one of its outstanding civic and industrial leaders in the passing of VICTOR E. NELSON.

Shortly after his arrival in Pontiac in 1924, Mr. NELSON organized and became president of the Universal Oil Seal Manufacturing Company. Some years later he was active in forming the Nelson Manufacturing Company, which he also headed.

Many years of Mr. Nelson's life were liberally given to the welfare of the people of Pontiac. Any program or movement that was for the betterment of the city would always find support from Mr. Nelson.

For two terms he served on the Pontiac Board of Education, part of that period as its president. Mr. NELSON served two years as a City Commissioner and also acted as Mayor of Pontiac for six months before resigning because of pressure from private business.

Along with his business interests he served as president of the Pontiac Manufacturers' Association for more than 10 years.

To his host of friends and associates he was best known as "VIC", a man always willing to counsel and help out in any worthwhile project.

Aside from his civic activities and business interests, Mr. NELSON'S family came first. For many years he had lived at Watkins Lake and his greatest enjoyment was the family gatherings at his lake front home.

Cordiality and friendliness were his trademark.

He Lifted Us Out of the Mud

It surely is quite proper and fitting that such a widely attended retirement dinner be given in honor of LEON V. BELKNAP.

In his 41 years with the Oakland County Road Commission, the greater part of which time he was its chief engineer, he did more than anybody else to develop our highways from the horse and buggy, mud and sand rut days to their present status.

When he came here in 1916 there was hardly a mile of pavement in the county. Now we have over 600 miles.

There were only about 500 miles of good dirt roads in our county 41 years ago. Now we have over 2,400 miles.

He was largely responsible for delivering us from the old pathmaster system of maintaining the roads (which did little to maintain them), and putting our highways on a businesslike basis.

While his prime project was the Pontiac-Detroit multi-lane pavement, that was only the starter, to be followed by many others in our county.

It was Leon, more than anybody else, who kept up the incessant fight to have our highways built and maintained to keep pace with the other marvelous development of Oakland County.

His progressiveness and inventive genius became infectious with other counties throughout the state, and formed the incipiency for much of the present highway system of Michigan. He became a highway authority.

He designed and put into operation a center line marking machine for pavements that has been adopted on a nationwide scale.

His only regret has been that the building of wider highways to carry the ever increasing traffic has meant the removal of many of our shade trees.

No retiring public official in the history of our county has been more worthy of the honors shown him than is LEON BELKNAP.

Oakland County has been fortunate to have his services, and fortunate to be assured of them in future years in an advisory capacity. At 69 LEON will refuse to rust out.

Powder Puff Race

Our Usual Contestant Not in Competition This Time

Girls: Females between 0 and 14 and 20 and 110.

Mrs. Janey Hart,

is not a competitor in Michigan's annual powder puff aviation derby which flies from Lansing to Traverse City today. As chairman of the event, the wife of our Lieutenant Governor

Phil A. Hart

Mrs. Bernice Trimble

of Flint. A wonderful mother to her eight children, Janey still looks and acts like a veteran youthful flier.

While the autumn foliage display in the Pontiac area has not reached its gorgeous peak, a drive into the country this weekend will be a colorful revelation to you. Take any road you desire. Nature plays no favorites.

A letter just received from

of Rochester says Detroit criticism of the manner in which Oakland County officials perform their duties is merely a case of the pot calling the white lily black.

After watching him for the 41 years that he has been building our roads, I'm sure will not take his retirement like a man mentioned at his recent honor dinner. This fellow reads the obituaries every day, and if his name is not there he does last night's dishes.

Leon V. Belknap

Violets that bloomed at the usual time last spring in the yard of

Pointing out that the opening of the Mackinac Bridge offers a serious problem to the 250 employes of the discontinued ferries,

MEMBER OF AUDIT BUREAU OF CIRCULATIONS

Welcome Relief for the Soviets

David Lawrence Says:

Only Congress Approves Troops

WASHINGTON — Many lawyers are writing to this correspondent from all parts of the country asking when President Eisenhower and the commanding general of the U.S. Army at Little Rock are going to uphold "the supreme law of the land" and cease violating a specific statute passed by Congress which forbids the use of federal troops to enforce court orders.

LAWRENCE

The law in question — known as the "Posse Comitatus Act" — was originally passed in 1878 but was restated and recodified by Congress on August 10, 1956, and now reads as follows:

"Whoever, except in cases and circumstances expressly authorized by the Constitution or act of Congress, willfully uses any part of the Army or the Air Force as a posse comitatus or otherwise to execute the laws shall be fined not more than $10,000 or imprisoned not more than two years, or both. This section does not apply to Alaska."

APPLIED TO ARMY

Originally this law, as passed in 1878, contained a reference only to the army. But in 1956, when all federal laws were recodified to eliminate surplus language and to bring the phraseology up to date, the words "Air Force" were included.

As one lawyer, now retired from a legal branch of the armed services, writes:

"Obviously the only reason for this statute and its predecessor is to insure the people against the use of troops to enforce a court order; otherwise, the law has no meaning whatsoever."

There is, of course, no act of Congress which has "expressly authorized" the use of federal troops to enforce a court order. The three sections of federal law which were cited by President Eisenhower in his proclamation ordering federal troops into Arkansas have been restricted by the above - quoted "Posse Comitatus Act."

NOT EXPRESSED

There is, moreover, no provision in the Constitution by which the use of troops to enforce court orders is "expressly authorized." The Constitution says the president "shall take care that the laws be faithfully executed," but it does not say he can use any means he pleases.

The statutes specify the means whereby marshals and the thousands of citizens who may be deputized to act as assistant marshals can enforce the laws of the United States. This is what is known as a "posse comitatus" engaged in "civil process."

There are those who argue that, since the Constitution itself mentions "the supreme law of the land," the president may take any means he wishes to enforce any law. Here, however, is exactly what the Constitution says:

"This Constitution, and the laws of the United States which shall be made in pursuance thereof; and all treaties made, or which shall be made, under the authority of the United States, shall be the supreme law of the land."

Nothing is said to the effect that decisions of the Supreme Court or orders or mandates of the courts interpreting the Constitution are "the supreme law of the land." As one eminent lawyer writes:

"No federal or state court of record in America has ever held that a decision of the Supreme Court of the United States or that any other federal court is 'the law of the land.'

LAW OF EACH CASE

"Each decision is never anything more than the law of the case actually decided by the court and binding only upon the parties to that case and no others."

Since the Supreme Court has been reversing itself on several Constitutional issues for more than 100 years now, the use of troops to enforce an order on which the court could later be proved wrong might do irreparable damage.

This is why the late Charles Warren, himself an assistant attorney general and regarded as the nation's most noted historian in the field of the judiciary, says in his monumental "History of the Supreme Court of the United States," Page 748, Volume II:

"However the court may interpret the provisions of the Constitution, it is still the Constitution which is the law and not the decision of the court."

Only Congress, therefore, can pass any law that becomes truly "the law of the land." Only Congress can authorize the use of federal troops to enforce a law. Only the people themselves can amend the Constitution.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Snobbery About Doctors Encourages Big Fees

"We are poor people," writes Mrs. M.C.M., "and our doctor bill is far beyond . . ." She goes on to say she had received "shots"—the word is injections—of vitamin B-12 twice a week for over a year.

DR. BRADY

"The lady does not explain whether the injections constitute part of the doctor bill. If they do, I can't feel much sympathy for her.

Of course the lady may plead that she didn't know vitamin B-12, like any other vitamin, is as effective in the natural way, by mouth, as it is injections.

But certainly that's not my fault and so I say let her cry on some other shoulder. Mine is sopping wet from comforting poor souls who have just cause and provocation.

In some instances, I am constrained to admit, it is necessary to have an automobile to get to and from work. Some people can't be content with a $1,000 investment in transportation, though. They plunge deeply in debt to sport a $3,000 car and keep up with the Joneses.

This same snobbishness leads many to turn up their noses at the "ordinary" general practitioner and go directly to the specialist for medical service. They imagine that the specialist's advice or treatment is better than the GP's advice or treatment because it costs more.

Why not, asks Mr. F. C., take definite steps to establish in one or more of our medical centers the sort of medical-school course you have been advocating?

People plagued with high medical costs yet frightened into needless medical attention ought to welcome a campaign to re-establish the role of the family doctor, the general practitioner who bothers to know his patients.

The medical-school course I have been advocating is a four year course, to which students may be admitted upon graduation from high school, and an internship of not less than one year after graduation from medical school (with the degree M.D.) before beginning private practice.

The M.D. degree plus internship should qualify the doctor to practice wherever he or she chooses —without submitting to any further examinations.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Try This System for Conversation

Girls, memorize my advice to Arlene; For you can win sweethearts faster by that "quickie" formula for gay conversation than by all other cosmetic aids combined; Boys are "duck soup" for girls who know the secret of carrying on jolly conversation. The booklet below also contains the long and short formulas.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

DR. CRANE

"Dr. Crane, I am desperately in need of help," she admitted, "for I don't know how to carry on an interesting conversation.

"Boys seem attracted to me, but I lose them by being so tongue-tied.

"Some times they have even asked: 'What's the matter? Has the cat got your tongue?' Or they will inquire: 'Why so quiet?'

"Isn't there any solution to this problem? Some girls have no trouble at all, but I consider it my worst difficulty. I need help!"

H-E-L-P

"Help! Help!" is Arlene's cry.

So she should use that very "H-E-L-P" and thus help herself to popularity.

For "H-E-L-P" is the key to carrying on gay repartee. Each letter of that word stands for a big field of conversation.

As an example, the "H" indicates "Hobbies." Arlene should tactfully probe around by questions until she finds out if her escort ever collected stamps or autographs.

Did he have a coin collection or indulge in trading cards; bottle caps, book matches, etc.?

Girls, most men are rather shy and inept at carrying on conversation so you must go more than halfway.

If you can discover one of your escort's major interests or hobbies, you will have uncovered a "vein" that will be golden in its conversational value thereafter.

SHIFT TO "E"

If the "H" proves to be a dud, then shift over to second gear and employ the key letter "E," which represents "Entertainment."

It includes all fields of sport, as well as the theater, movies, dancing, boating, fishing, etc.

"With those broad shoulders, you must have played football?" Arlene can teasingly inquire.

Remember at all times that the chief thing which will make the boy like you, is your ability to inflate his ego (sense of importance). So be liberal with compliments.

In fact, if you forget all else and even fail to recall what the letters "H-E-L-P" represent in this quick conversational formula, just size up your companion and select one of his virtues or talents which merits praise.

Then give him that praise in liberal doses, too, but fade out of your part of the dialogue with a question mark.

"That's a very attractive tie you are wearing," you can begin, "and it harmonizes so well with your shirt. Did you get it for your birthday? (Or Christmas, etc?)"

To fade out with an interrogation mark, thus "hooks" him gracefully and pulls him back into the dialogue with little conscious effort on his part.

Boys appreciate girls who make it easy for them to converse gracefully and without the intrusion of those embarrassing pauses where you walk along for a whole city block without a word being said:

Many a boy has been so humiliated by those long pauses, that he never felt he dared face the girl again.

So he simply avoided her thereafter, although she was fond of him and he might have become a great admirer of her, too.

Tomorrow I shall finish this "quickie" formula for being a gay conversationalist.

Meanwhile, send for my "Formula for Gay Conversation", enclosing a stamped, return envelope, plus 20 cents (non-profit). It contains a 12-point formula, plus this quickie version.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

'Effects of Troubled World Bother Teenagers Greatly'

The troubled world affects teenagers more than anything else. My heart goes out to them. They really do have a hard road. Parents leave them to courts or organizations or neighbors to raise. Until this generation starts at home, things will not get better for them. They must have a funny picture in their minds.

Two Want Laws to Check Hunters

We like to hunt and think there should be a law to protect Mr. Average Hunter. Every hunter should pass a good sound test before being qualified to carry a gun or bow. Also, any hunter found carrying a deadly weapon while under the influence of alcohol or having such in their possession should be punished to the fullest extent of our laws.

If every hunter would give the farmer or land owner an hour of his free time, there would be friendlier relations and fewer no hunting signs.

Women Answer Letter on Buses

How much responsibility do you assume for your children, Mrs. W.? In the Waterford bus disagreement, we are thinking ahead when lots of children will be walking on roads with no shoulders or sidewalks. Who'll be responsible when they get sick or hit by cars going by, splashing slush and mud all over them? I'd like to see you letting your children walk under such conditions.

Mrs. Russell Elkins Jr.
7188 Wedworth

Mrs. W. doesn't know what she's talking about. In the first place, if you're ashamed to sign your full name, you didn't write in good faith. I don't think you have small children and if you do, you don't know what it is to love them.

I raised two children and lost my son in service for the like of you. I have a granddaughter and I sure don't want her killed for want of school buses. If you live in Waterford and don't know the situation, you should keep your nose out of other people's business.

Tells of Hearing on Amendment

Public hearing will be held Wednesday, Oct. 9 on an amendment to the Sylvan Lake Zoning Ordinance to include a "Planned Industrial Park District" on Orchard Lake road from Inverness east to city limits. Light manufacturing and processing would be permitted. A lumber yard is excluded under the present ordinance and would remain so.

The amendment provides for control of objectionable features of industrial use by setting up performance standards regarding smoke, dust, sound, etc. However, enlarged use of side tracks may follow if suited to an operation which locates there.

The amendment appears to be based on the assumption that this section is unsuitable for residential or business use, that the performance standards will protect neighboring residences, and that land near a railroad is adapted to industrial use. Opinions expressed at the hearing will undoubtedly influence the council's decision.

'Bugs' Baer Says:

A-bomb tests were postponed 11 times because the wind was from the wrong side of the Pentagon.

What do we do in case of war? The general wets his finger, holds it up to calibrate the breeze and the enemy throws a quoit over it.

The strategic command of the climate cabinet has full charge of the atmospherical ingredients. That includes the pollen count for the fifth defense sector and the cholesterol reserve for the army and navy club.

First time that the breeze affected destinies since the windjammers. Those were the days when the intrepid admirals reefed their gold braid and battened down their epaulets.

The massacre of the wax dummies at Yucca Flats was another air-conditioned demonstration of statistical heorism. On the mesa overlooking that foray in chemistry is a monument to the thumbed button.

In the days of sail Columbus hired sailors with big ears. But we thought the internal combustion engine had freed man from time, tides, wind and rain checks.

That's the way it is. If the wind isn't blowing toward the short leftfield fence there's no game today.

City Educators Meet in North

Conference at Higgins Lake Attended by 110 From Pontiac

Pontiac educators will head for the north woods this afternoon to combine a weekend of business with pleasure during the seventh annual Pontiac Educators Conference.

The conference, held at the Higgins Lake Conservation Training School, Roscommon, is expected to be attended by 110 school administrators, teachers, consultants and board members. Parents, P. T. A. Council members and press representatives will also attend.

"Reading Improvement—Kindergarten Through 12th Grade — Everyone's Job" is the theme for the entire weekend.

The purpose of the meetings will be to learn technique and skills in teaching three fundamental areas of reading, according to Kenneth Nagley, principal of Eastern Junior High School and chairman of the conference planning committee.

These areas are: Word attack skills; reading readiness at all levels and research techniques in the classroom.

Dr. Byron H. Van Roekel, associate professor of teacher education at Michigan State University, is scheduled to speak tonight and enter into the discussion groups held throughout the weekend.

Sunday morning, Dr. Thomas Edwards, director of special services and research at Flint Junior Community College, will lecture on research techniques in the classroom.

Consultants from Oakland County schools during the conference include: Dr. Harry Hahn, director of instructional service; Philip Hilaire, director of reading services, and Dr. William Forbes, educational consultant for Oakland County.

Woman Sentenced in Thorpe Case

MOUNT CLEMENS (AP)—Mrs. Josephine Radwill, 34, was sentenced to nine months to five years in prison yesterday for conspiracy in the Floyd and Anne Thorpe embezzlement case.

She pleaded guilty to the charge.

Thorpe and his wife were given seven to 10-year prison sentences Monday after pleading guilty to embezzling $75,166 in state auto license plate fees from a branch secretary of state office operated by Mrs. Thorpe.

Mrs. Radwill's husband, 28, was sentenced Monday to three to 10 years on charges stemming from the case.

Mrs. Thorpe and her husband were accused of taking the money in March of 1956 to finance a life of ease in Mexico.

Waterford Adds Two Policemen

Month - Old Rehiring of Former Patrolmen Brings Force to 7

The economy - pared Waterford Township Police Department regained two full time patrolmen a month ago, it was discovered yesterday.

Township Supervisor Elmer Johnson confirmed the month-old hiring of two additional patrolmen, adding that the hiring was not revealed because it was "unofficial."

He admitted, however, the two men had been on the payroll since September 1.

Waterford Township's police department was reduced from 18 employes to 10, in April and later to 5, in economy measures after the township lost an annual income of approximately $100,000 from justice court costs.

Oakland County Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem had informed justices that their costs should be actual costs of prosecution, as advised in an opinion by Attorney General Thomas M. Kavanagh.

The new officers are not newcomers to the department. Both had been working part time during the summer, after being cut from the force earlier.

They are Jack Hart, 25, of 485 Northfield Ave., and Merrill Finkle, 35, of 6441 Lanman St., Drayton Plains.

A search of the minutes of township board meetings this morning failed to disclose anything about hiring the police officers.

Township Clerk James Seeterlin commented that the township board doesn't have to approve or disapprove of the hiring or firing of township employes.

Township board members Charles Pappas, John Coleman and Dorothy Olson were unavailable this morning for comment.

Johnson explained that the police department operating costs totaled $26,180 from the beginning of the year to September 1.

By the end of the year, an estimated $43,000 would be necessary for township police operation. However it is anticipated that $51,222 will be in the treasury, leaving a balance of $17,237.

With this fact in mind, the Waterford Township board felt justified in re-hiring the two officers, Johnson concluded.

Warsaw Students Rioting Over News Suppression

WARSAW (AP)—Communist authorities today threatened "severe sanctions" against students who took part in Warsaw's first anti-government demonstration since Wladyslaw Gomulka came to power.

Riot police backed by worker militiamen battled about 2,000 students in a melee of tear gas, rubber truncheons and bricks last night outside the Warsaw Polytechnic School. The students were protesting suppression of their newspaper.

30 ARRESTED

About 30 students were reported under arrest. Ten police were injured by bricks rained down from windows of a student boarding house and by paving stones hurled in the streets. Several students were treated for effects of tear gas and bruises from truncheons.

All morning papers carried this warning to the students:

"It is understood the rector of Polytechnic has said severe sanctions will be taken against participants (in the demonstration), including expulsion from college."

The official account said the police had arrested "those who were the most aggressive."

FIRST BREAK

The demonstration was the first break between the Communist party and its officially sponsored Union of Socialist Youth.

The Polytechnic students were in the forefront of the surge for freedom that produced the downfall of the Stalinist government and party hierarchy last year and the return of Gomulka to government leadership.

Seek to Commit Police Attacker

Officers Wound Wild Greenskeeper as He Charges With Knife

No criminal charges will be brought against an Avon Township greenskeeper who went berserk yesterday and attacked arresting officers.

Oakland County Prosecutor Frederick Ziem said this morning his office would seek the recommitment of Ralph I. Baker, 39, 3721 Bendelow, who is now in Pontiac General Hospital recovering from three gunshot wounds.

Baker, who spent eight months at Pontiac State and was released two years ago, became violent yesterday morning after several days without sleep.

He threatened his wife, Wilma, with a 12-inch butcher knife and she ran next door and called the Sheriff's Dept.

Deputy Don Kratt and State Trooper Floyd Gallemore who were first on the scene found Baker on a green of the Rochester Golf and Country Club where he was employed as a greenskeeper.

Baker cursed and shouted at the officers and then advanced on Kratt with his knife. Kratt shot him in the right hand but he kept on coming. Then Trooper Gallemore fired two shots into Baker's right leg, felling him.

Baker is reported in satisfactory condition today.

Quiz Ortonville Knifer Suspect

Couple Suffers Multiple Stab Wounds at Hands of 'Bill Collector'

Oakland County Sheriff's deputies arrested Orzbow Standford, 54, of 486 M15, Ortonville, yesterday for investigation of felonious assault in the stabbing of an Ortonville couple Wednesday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Smith are hospitalized with multiple knife wounds inflicted in an argument over a battery.

Mrs. Smith, 46, of 1550 Granger Rd., told deputies that a man came to their house at 7:15 p.m. Wednesday and said he was from a service station on M15 and Granger. He demanded payment on a new battery purchased by Smith the week before.

Mrs. Smith told him he would be paid Friday, but he demanded the battery back. She said he could have it but he had to first return the old battery Smith traded on the new one, she stated.

The man went to the Smith car and attempted to remove the battery and when she protested, Mrs. Smith said, he stabbed her with a short-bladed knife on the face, shoulder and back. When her husband, 53, came to her aid, the man stabbed him a number of times in the arms, chest and back, she added.

2 Men Seized in Huge Parking Meter Thefts

NEW YORK (AP)—Two men were seized last night in connection with parking meter thefts that police said totaled $150,000 worth of dimes.

Taken into custody were Guiseppo A. D'Orio, 37, of Manhattan, a merchant seaman, and Richard R. Bianculli, 26, Wueens Village, Queens.

Charged with grand larceny and possession of burglar tools, they specifically were accused of stealing 3,000 dimes from 3rd Avenue parking meters. They were picked up on the avenue near 58th Street by three detectives—one dressed as a grocery delivery clerk, another posing as a panhandler, a third walking a dog.

Bianculli was described as an electrician and former dispatcher for the Broadway Maintenance Co., whcih services meters. When the detectives closed in, police said, Bianculli possessed a meter key and $300 in dimes.

Fly Buzzes Ahead, Swatter Pays Fine

DETROIT (AP) — Harold Chandler had to pay $10 for assault and battery because he took a swat at a fly.

The trouble was that Chandler, 31, was in a restaurant at the time and he didn't hit the fly at all. His swat nearly unseated Frieda Mooney, 25, who was sitting on an adjoining stool.

Miss Mooney's escort Fred Boone, 35, wasn't impressed by Chandler's story of the fly. A scuffle resulted.

Knowland Puts Hat Into Race

Both Senator, Knight Ready for Bitter Fight in Gubernatorial Run

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—Sen. William F. Knowland and Gov. Goodwin J. Knight were committed today to a bitter fight to the finish in their contest for the Republican nomination for governor.

"The die is cast," said Knowland.

"This will be no panty waist campaign," said Knight.

The two rivals, who with Vice President Nixon represent California's Republican Big Three, quickly clashed after Knowland announced his candidacy for governor yesterday.

Atty. Gen. Edmund G. Brown, prospective Democratic candidate for governor, chimed in from Monterey that Knowland's entry "seems to give the people a fine choice between an incumbent dead duck and a foolish modern McKinley."

Brown, predicting a vicious Knowland-Knight fight for the GOP nomination, called Knowland a "modern McKinley" because, he said, the senator "has evidenced in all his acts and statements a reactionarism that even the Republican party has long since passed."

Knight seized on Knowland's formal statement and news conference comment which avoided an absolute pledge to stay out of the 1960 presidential race.

The 61-year-old governor spoke of the decision by the Senate minority leader to oppose him as "a hydra-headed bid for the presidency" and called for an "honest, straight forward declaration of intent."

Knowland, 49, did not mention the presidential issue in his reply but said: "Though the incumbent may think that he has a vested right in the gubernatorial post and is the only one qualified to hold it, most Californians do not believe in the doctrine of the indespensible man."

Jurors Being Selected in Soviet Spy Trial

NEW YORK (AP)—The judge and opposing counsel were occupied today with selection of two alternate jurors at the espionage trial of Col. Rudolf Ivanovitch Abel, 55, an officer in the Soviet secret police.

SHOVELS A FORTUNE — Hard work, perhaps, but certainly worthwhile. That's the task 19-year-old Thomas Watson had in a recent contest at New York. Scooping 1,900 pounds of silver dollars in five minutes, Watson walked off with $37,500, an hourly "wage" of $454,800! Not bad for a beginner. Contest was sponsored by Canada Dry beverage company. Brucker Defends 101st in Little Rock

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of the Army Brucker, replying to what he called "many loose and he knows of no unnecessary use of force by U.S. soldiers at Little Rock, Ark.

Mentioning specifically the case of a civilian struck by a soldier's rifle butt, Brucker said in a statement that under the circumstances it was the "elementary duty of this soldier to resist the assault and to retain his rifle."

The civilian, C. E. Blake of North Little Rock, tried unsuccessfully yesterday to obtain warrants against three soldiers he Frank Holt at Little Rock refused to issue the warrants and said he told Blake any complaint should be made to U.S. authorities.

Mothers Guide Kids in Lieu of Stop Lights

They're members of the David Crockett School "mothers patrol," and they're using the whistles like traffic patrolmen. The patrol was formed to see pupils across two busy intersections near the school.

Dr. R. A. Lindquist said the mothers will continue to whistle and take turns guiding children across the street morning and afternoon until the city can install traffic signals, promised in about six weeks.

Wintry Weather Hits Northwest Areas of U.S.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Wintry weather spread across northwestern sections of the nation today with snowfall up to 5 inches and temperatures in the 20s.

More rain and cloudy weather was the dreary picture in the Southeast but it was generally fair in most of the central and northeastern sections of the country.

An intense storm centered near Yellowstone Park in northwest Wyoming generated strong, cold winds which swept across wide areas from the Great Plains to the Pacific Coast.

Cold air continued to spread southward as far as southern Nevada and northwestern Utah, dropping temperatures into the low and middle 30s. However, the core of the cold belt was in the northern Rockies, which were stung by a fresh invasion of icy air in western Montana and northern Idaho.

Fresh falls of snow during the night brought a 5-inch carpet of white at Mullen Pass near the Montana-Idaho border. Snow measured 3 inches at Drummond, Mont. Temperatures were mostly in the 20s in the snow belt, with lows of 23 at Butte and Cut Bank, Mont.

Bob Considine Says:

World Series Recalls 'Writers' Special'

NEW YORK (INS) — A lot of the writers and camp-followers of the 1957 World Series will skip the train and fly between New York and Milwaukee as the scene of play jogs back and forth—assuming it does.

It's a 16-hour sleeper jump by train, only three hours by wind. But those who must fly will miss a lot and perhaps pine a bit for the old days when the only way to get to a scattered series was by train. There were grand and well-stocked special trains for players and for writers and for those who made the pilgrimages at their own expense.

On the Writers' Special, the boys drank or typed with one hand and shook hands with the other.

That was in the days when Postal Telegraph was a hot rival of Western Union. Whenever you looked up, there was a representative of one or the other, elbowing each other for the dubious privilege of wiring your story back home from the nearest whistle stop.

NO HAND SHAKING NOW

Now there's only Western Union, and the guy doesn't have to shake hands with you, an unexpected blessing of monopoly. And now more and more will go by flying machine if the distances are as great as the miles that separate the civic antagonists in this present series. Western Union has devised brilliant methods of handling press copy, through the years, but it has no plans to parachute story-bearing representatives from 19,000 feet as the plane flies over Wissahickon, Pa., or Kinnickkinnick, Wis.

The wonderful old "special" trains could disappear forever from the American sports scene if the Dodgers go to Los Angeles, get hot again, and resume their all but annual series with the perennially blooming Yankees. There are two open dates in the 1957 series set-up, one day to enable the train users to get from New York to Milwaukee and the other to get the players back to New York, if the series goes that long. There could never be two 4-day hiatuses in the course of a Yankee-Los Angeles Dodgers or Yankee-San Francisco Giants series.

COLORFUL MEMORIES

A lot of colorful memories remain of special trains I've ridden. Jim Dawson of the Times liked to get a conductor loaded, undress him, climb into his uniform, and go through the train demanding additional tickets from puzzled passengers who didn't know him or were too far gone to care.

The poker games began with the cars in the home station and were still going strong the next day, with the porter insisting that everybody would be taken to the roundhouse if the train wasn't cleared immediately.

Henry McLemore lost all the dough he had drawn from his office in one of these games, during a jump from Detroit to St. Louis in the '34 series. Next day at the ballpark he noticed a Goodyear blimp cruising overhead. Henry wrote his story as if he were looking down on the field from its gondola, then put in a $200 expense account for "blimp hire."

Tallant Tubbs, the California writer, endeared himself to his peers one special trip by challenging a fellow writer to a duel. "Let's step off this train right now and settle this," Tallant said. The train was doing 85 m.p.h. through Indiana.

But I guess the late Bill Chipman will be the most fondly remembered among the writers who used the rails. Covering a Little World Series one year, Bill took offense at something that had happened to him. He made his way back to the baggage car as the train sped through the night, opened the side door, and dumped out all the uniforms, bats, balls and gloves.

Ah, the dear dead days.

Sheds 'Man's Name,' Now Call Her Jackie

DETROIT (INS) — A 30-year-old Hamtramck, Mich., mother pleaded yesterday to Probate Judge William J. Cody to permit her to change her name.

Mrs. Frances Miles said, "Folks think Frances means a man."

Judge Cody asked, "and what would you like to be called, Frances?"

She replied, "Jackie."

Snake Expert Dies From Bite

Keeps Scientific Record in Detail of the Effects of Reptile's Poison

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Tribune said today that Dr. Karl P. Schmidt, internationally known snake expert who died less than 24 hours after being bitten by a snake, made a detailed scientific record of the effect of the poison from the reptile.

The Tribune, which obtained the death diary, termed it one of the most unusual documents in medical history. It also said it learned a coroner's physician's findings will show Dr. Schmidt's death was caused by three cerebral hemorrhages directly attributable to the venom of the boomslang, or tree snake native to South Africa.

Dr. Schmidt, 67, who was curator emeritus of the Chicago Natural History Museum, was bitten Sept. 25 as he was examining the snake. He died less than 24 hours later.

His death account, the Tribune said, began with a description of the snake, its examination and a statement that he concluded it was a boomslag because of it characteristic behavior when it bit him on the left thumb.

The Tribune said Dr. Schmidt's associates said he made the record with no foreboding that it would be climaxed by death. He and others at the examination felt he had not gotten a lethal dose from the bite. His associates suggested that he "make the record of symptoms that might develop.

Arthur (Artie) Auerback, 34, died yesterday in West Valley Community Hospital of a heart ailment.

He came to Hollywood 20 years ago with the Al Pearce radio show. He joined the Benny show about 12 years ago.

Transport Crashes Near Iwo Jima

OMAHA (AP)—The Strategic Air Command headquarters said today it had received radio reports from Guam that a C47 transport had crashed shortly after takeoff from Iwo Jima yesterday and all persons aboard had been rescued.

SAC said 13 passengers, including author James A. Michener, were aboard the aircraft and the radio reports indicated they had been in the water only a short time before being rescued. None was reported injured, SAC said the reports indicated.

Engine trouble was given as the cause of the crash.

2 Quintuplets Okay

TOULON, France (AP) — Roland and Michele, the two surviving Christofle quintuplets, spent an excellent night in hospital incubators, doctors reported today. The quintuplets were born three months prematurely to Mr. and Mrs. Camille Christofle Wednesday. A boy and two girls died within 12 hours.

'Soapy's Folly' Wins Lawmakers at Last

By ROGER LANE

LANSING (AP) — One of the obstacles surmounted in realization of the Mackinac Bridge dream was resistance in the State Legislature, where critics dubbed the project "Soapy's Folly" — a reference to Gov. Williams.

Generally, opposition stemmed from fears that the expensive structure would prove a white elephant and that taxpayers, rather than bondholders, would wind up holding the bag.

On all vital issues, backers of the bridge won out, but the opposition was vocal and numerically strong enough to give them jittery moments.

CREATED IN 1934

The bridge dream first directly confronted state lawmakers in 1934, and they responded by creating the first Mackinac Straits Bridge authority.

The authority was empowered to investigate feasibility and to issue revenue bonds to finance construction, assuming a favorable finding.

The agency quickly concluded that bridging the straits was feasible and that a structure with two lanes for cars and one railroad track would cost $32,400,000.

Twice in the middle 1930s, it tried unsuccessfully to interest the Federal Government in putting up the money. Thereafter came a succession of difficulties and the Legislature killed the authority in 1947.

ELECTION PROMISE

In the 1948 election campaign, Williams, then touring the Upper Peninsula in his first bid for governor, picked up a newsman's suggestion and pledged a renewed effort to built the bridge.

The next year he created an executive commission on interpeninsula communications, paving the way for re-creation of the bridge authority in 1950.

However, the Legislature restricted the revived agency to further feasibility studies, and directed it to rely on the advice of three eminent longspan bridge engineers.

In January 1951, the engineering experts reported favorably and New York financial consultants to the authority determined that toll revenues would be sufficient to meet construction and operating expenses.

By now, cost of a structure carrying four highway lanes was estimated at $76,300,000, not counting financing which ultimately boosted the price by about 20 million dollars.

Next, doubts about the ability of the rock strata underlying the straits to bear the weight of the bridge were raised, scrutinized by geologists and laid to rest.

STILL SKEPTICAL

The Korean War and the accompanying steel shortage held things up for a while, but in mid-1952 the Legislature — after some show of skepticism — voted the authority financing, construction and operation powers.

When the bonds were ready to offer, the market for them tightened and the authority returned to the Legislature with a proposition to increase their attractiveness to investors.

This consisted of providing for maintenance, once the bridge was built, out of public highway funds. Such a move, it was argued, would cut the level of bridge earnings required to make it pay and represent a show of faith encouraging to bond buyers.

There was hemming and hawing, but finally lawmakers pledged $417,000 a year for this purpose, a total of $16,680,000 over 40 years, although some of them denounced it as a "booby trap" device.

The amount corresponded roughly with the annual loss to the state then being incurred by the Mackinac Straits Ferry Service which the bridge was to supplant.

The Legislature wrote in a reservation that the bonds would have to be sold by Dec. 31, 1953, or the deal was off.

The deadline was beaten by 14 days.

Flint's Mott Building Formally Dedicated

FLINT (AP) — The Mott Memorial Building was dedicated at Flint Wednesday, the fulfillment of a dozen years of planning by a philanthropist and an educator.

The building will serve as a major facility at the University of Michigan Flint College.

The idea for the college was born 12 years ago when Dr. Alexander Ruthven, then president of the University of Michigan, suggested that a branch of the university be opened in Flint. Mott and Dr. Ruthven have been working on the project since then.

The school offers degrees in liberal arts, business administration and teacher education. Classes started last year.

Many Factors Involved in Cancer, Expert Says

DETROIT (INS) — Internationally known cancer researcher Dr. Arthur J. Verwald said yesterday smoke from burning leaves may cause as much cancer as cigarettes.

Dr. Verwald, chairman of industrial medicine and hygiene at Wayne State University Medical School, disclosed that a number of factors, rather than just one, may cause cancer.

The lung cancer specialists said the problem today "is to encourage people to be more conscious of their health."

He added: "Many people are afraid to go to their doctor because they may discover they have cancer. They must learn that many lives can be saved by early detection."

Rockefeller Aid Urged to Curb Faubus Plans

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — The silence of Winthrop Rockefeller in the integration crisis here seems to indicate that the oil millionaire who adopted Arkansas as his home is opposed to the policies of his friend Gov. Orval Faubus.

For the record, the 45-year-old Rockefeller has said nothing so far. His stock answer when asked for comment: "I have no statement to add to an already bad situation."

But at his palatial home on a huge farm atop a mountain near Morrilton, in central Arkansas, Rockefeller has listened carefully to the conflicting and desperate pleas of close friends.

Some have urged him to come out fighting and brand Faubus as a politician who has set the clock back in Arkansas for decades. They want him to resign as chairman of the Arkansas Industrial Development Commission, a gesture which they hope would rally many silent moderates and which might dramatize the schism of thinking in Arkansas.

Other advisers have urged Rockefeller just as strongly to maintain his discreet silence. They say that denouncing Faubus would not help the tinderbox racial picture, and that in view of Rockefeller's short (four years) residence in Arkansas he could be easily labeled as a Yankee meddler.

It was not always so. Former Gov. Francis Cherry said two years ago: "The people of Arkansas wish Winthrop Rockefeller had been born quintuplets. We haven't many rich people in this state but we have plenty rich enough to do the things Winthrop has done. The difference is that he does them."

"And Faubus, the man who gained a stunning victory over Cherry a year previous, found Rockefeller a welcome ally for his political and economic plans in the state—until Faubus called out the National Guard Sept. 2 to block integration at Central High School.

The governor and Rockefeller have worked closely on matters of benefit to both of them.

Faubus chose Rockefeller to head the Industrial Development Commission, which with the aid of Rockefeller money has had success in luring industries to the state.

The tall and husky Rockefeller's chief interest when he came to Arkansas was the 1,500-acre farm and ranch on scenic Petit Jean Mountain, where he raises fine cattle and tries to show how depleted land can be restored to productivity.

Apparently it still is his major hobby although he has widened his business and land interests and given financial support to a model school system in Morrilton.

The man who once was tagged as a "playboy" has made a strong imprint on this state in only four years — and has been mentioned as a gubernatorial possibility by 1960. There has been only one hindrance to his smooth acceptance by the rank and file in Arkansas — the racial question.

In April 1956, Rockefeller remarked in Washington that some Southern states are making a bad impression on the industrial world by their attitude on integration.

Shortly afterwards the segregationists trained their sights on him. When Faubus ran for a second term that summer the salvos fell on both the governor and Rockefeller, who were lumped together by the segregationists as "race mixers."

Faubus won easily after committing himself to a policy of "moderate segregation with plenty of loopholes to spare. He and Rockefeller remained friends despite an occasional public difference of opinion.

To all intents and purposes the friendship or alliance continued until Rockefeller got wind of a report that Faubus was going to call out troops to block integration here Sept. 3. The millionaire then reportedly pleaded unsuccessfully for hours with Faubus on Sept. 1 for the governor to change his mind.

Current speculation is that Rockefeller won't tear into Faubus at this time because he sees no major good from such a move.

"The time is not ripe," a knowledgeable source said today.

Potter Discounts Gloomy Picture

National GOP Workers Say State Organization No Longer Exists

DETROIT (AP) — Sen. Potter (R-Mich) has described as "baloney" a gloomy picture of the Republican Party in Michigan painted by anonymous GOP sources in Washington.

National party workers had said yesterday that for all practical purposes the Republican state organization in Michigan no longer exists.

Potter, the lone GOP major officeholder in the state following a Democratic sweep led by Gov. Williams last year, is up for re-election next year.

Potter admitted in an interview that Michigan Republicans face a "hard fight" in 1958. But, he said, "we are in good position with our financial problems being resolved."

He also said an intensive grass roots campaign is planned to reach party members.

The Washington sources apparently were not from Michigan, the senator said.

"They are on the outside looking in," he said, "and it would be senseless to talk of defeat in an election that still is a year off."

"I intend to be re-elected and I am confident I will succeed," Potter said.

"I'm practical enough to know that a Democratic ticket headed by Gov. Williams is no pushover. That's why I am in the midst of a tour through every county to make sure that we get every Republican voter to the polls."

"Under state chairman (Lawrence B.) Lindemer and national committeeman (John B.) Martin," Potter said, "the party is being knitted into a strong organization with a broad financial base reaching into the precincts.

"They are doing a good job."

Potter, who arrived in Detroit last night, said he plans to tour all 83 counties in his campaign.

Mao Tze-tung Sees American Students

Moscow Radio reported the meeting with the ruler of Communist China but gave no details.

The 42 Americans attended a youth festival in Moscow, then visited China in defiance of a State Department ban.

Outbreak of Flu in Grand Rapids Hits Grid Games

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — An influenza outbreak has resulted in postponement of scheduled weekend football games for four Grand Rapids high schools and one in Hudsonville.

The move was announced yesterday after a special meeting of school principals. It affects Friday night games tonight between Ottawa Hills and Creston and Central High School at Dowagiac. A Saturday night game between Union and South also was postponed until Nov. 22.

Msgr. William J. Murphy, Catholic Central High School principal said last night he would not permit his players and student body to travel to Flint for a Friday night game with Flint Northern. He said the two schools have mutually agreed to reschedule the game at the earliest possible date.

Plan to Build Fieldhouse

SOUTH HAVEN (AP) — The board of education has given preliminary approval for construction of an athletic fieldhouse and four baseball diamonds on the Lincoln School property at a total cost of $20,000.

Flycatcher birds have got the new look. They have long liked their nests. Recently, say bird watchers, they also have been using cellophane.

Is Your Solution Like This One?

The following are the correct answers and explanations for the Pot-O-Gold puzzle which appeared in last week's Pontiac Press.

A. (2) CERTAIN. The home decorator often has trouble finding the particular material she has set her heart on; this includes Curtain fabric and any other type of material.

B. (3) PHASES. The successful lawyer's career would be made up of various PHASES, or stages, which he would remember; as a student, a law clerk, his first Cases, the beginning of success, etc.—all part of the background of his career. PHASES is the inclusive word.

C. (6) SWAGGERING. A man who is Staggering is usually ill or intoxicated. It's not as necessary to avoid him for he's often less of a menace than the SWAGGERING man, one who is boastful and aggressive, in an I-can-beat-anybody mood.

D. (7) HURT. Besides being Heart-broken, the girl who has been jilted has been tossed aside as unwanted. Her heart could mend fast, but it may take months to get over the HURT to her feelings and her pride.

E. (9) CONCEITED. An amateur band that goes over big at the high school dance may be all puffed up and think they're hot stuff. Such limited and local approval hardly qualifies as a test for professional expertness required on TV. The effort by amateurs to get a booking is not as likely to be Concerted—all of them pushing it; every group has one or two members who are natural leaders, and may have dissenters too.

F. (1) REFILL. Since there are many miles of speedy driving ahead as one enters a superhighway, it is best to REFILL the tank. To Refuel does not state so definitely that the tank should be completely filled.

G. (14) ERRANT. Any thief is dangerous whether he's an Arrant one or not—thoroughgoing, notorious. But the factor that would alarm people into locking their houses would be that he was ERRANT, wandering around the neighborhood.

H. (16) LICKS. It's perhaps owing to lack of lime, or calcium, that a toddler LICKS the plaster on the wall. One would question whether he really Likes it. Babies are constantly eating or drinking things they can't possibly LIKE the taste of.

I. (17) REFURNISHING. In rehabilitating an old rooming house, certainly Refurbishing would be needed. The place must be cleaned, and scoured and brightened. But REFURNISHING "may" be necessary also, replacing rickety beds and chairs and shabby carpets.

J. (19) SOCIAL. A Special occasion may be a picnic or a fishing trip, or some event calling for very casual clothes. A SOCIAL event is often thought if in connection with Society (capital S) where a girl would want to make a good impression, and take great pains with her dressing.

K. (21) WORDY. WORDY efforts to reform a bad boy would be ignored. People who talk too much are bores who have few listeners. Worthy efforts deserve respect and if they are tactful, often get it.

L. (24) CURING. A doctor who comes every day During an illness may be coming oftener than is really necessary. Only if he is CURING a severe illness will the anxious family be grateful.

M. (25) IMMINENCE. The expected arrival of a movie star visitor to her home town creates much excitement. Her Eminence, or fame, would be something to which the town was already accustomed; excitement doesn't bubble up indefinitely.

N. (27) CLINCH. A fighter who thinks he is losing goes into a CLINCH to protect himself; he grasps the opponent with his arms. A fighter who would Flinch, or shrink back, would be followed up by his opponent and so gain nothing.

O. (30) SCREAMING. Though SCREAMING and Screeching mean much the same, SCREAMING better describes the high, shrill voices of children playing and squealing. Screeching implies more of terror, or sharpness, as in anger.

P. (31) PALTRY. The dishes won at a shooting gallery are of trifling value; they're more likely to be cups and saucers or plates than Pastry or dessert dishes.

Q. (34) PRECARIOUS. The shrewd man will not often invest money in an uncertain scheme, one that is "liable to be changed or lost at the pleasure of another." A Nefarious scheme—a very wicked one—is unfortunately too often attractive to the shrewd man who would see the chance for vast profits.

R. (36) MUFFLED. Certainly the whole scene is spoiled if one of the actors speaks in such a low tone that he can't be heard. If he's Ruffled, or flustered, it often makes the scene very funny, and puts the audience into high glee.

S. (37) BURGLAR. If a BURGLAR gets arrested without cause (this time!) he knows all the ropes and will demand to see a lawyer. A Burgher is a respectable citizen of the town. He'd insist on proving his identity, without first thinking of the need of a lawyer.

T. (40) DWINDLING. A fortune hunter may drop the girl if he learns there's been some lessening of her inheritance. Whether it was because of Swindling, when someone cheated her, or not, all that concerns the fortune hunter is that she hasn't as much money as he thought.

Paris Firms Moving Into the Countryside

PARIS — In the past two years about 250 French industrial firms have moved from Paris into the countryside. In the same period more than 70,000 new jobs have been created in industries that have uprooted or expanded from their former factories in the Paris area.

Three fourths of the decentralization moves are being made without any call on the Government for financial aid. Sixty per cent of the firms that have decentralized in the past few years have relocated within 125 miles of the capital, many of them in communities of less than 5,000 population.

May Ban Smutty Books

FLINT (AP) — The City Commission has referred to its legislative committee a proposal for a city ordinance which would prohibit the sale of smutty literature in the city. The commission was told of efforts by civic groups to persuade magazine dealers to keep the smutty books off newstands. Most dealers have cooperated, the commission was told.

Hal Boyle Says:

Fur People Important in June Havoc's Life

NEW YORK (AP)—"The fur people are a great part of my life," said actress June Havoc, who keeps and is consoled by seven dogs and two cats.

"They are my companions. I started out with them when there were no 'skin people'—no children my own age—around to play with. Therefore the fur people have been a great part of my life, and still are.

"You know how a hobo, if you give him a handout, will make a mark on the pavement to let other hoboes know yours is a door to knock on? Well, I have a cross like that on top of my head.

"It's invisible to the skin people, but it says to all the fur people, 'This is the place, Charlie!'

"Dogs can see it two blocks away and give me the wink. They know I know."

Miss Havoc has been honored by West Coast humane societies for her work in helping save 265,000 homeless cats and dogs doomed to extermination.

"I helped get them jobs," she said. "I particularly like to find jobs for middle-aged fur people who have lost their former homes. They are truly tragic. Everybody loves a puppy or a kitty—but who ever buys a middle-aged dog or cat?"

"Actors lead a life most people could never stand. They're always in and out of the freezer. They have so many low moments . . . Moments when nobody wants them . . . moments that can annihilate.

June, who is featured tomorrow night on Ed Murrow's CBS network program, "Person to Person," isn't in the freezer at the moment. She is writing her autobiography and rehearsing for a new Broadway comedy called, "One Foot in the Door."

"It feels wonderful," said June, who always keeps her spangles ready to hit the night club circuit when no suitable film or stage roles are on her horizon. "But I'm no idiot. I know I'll be back in the freezer again."

Miss Havoc, who never went to school a day in her life, is proud of the fact that single-handed she has written down the story of her early struggles.

"I wrote 42 pounds of words," she said. "The book carries me up to the age of 14—the wildest years of my life."

June also has the pride in her profession that marks the true craftsman, and this is her goal:

"I want to stay out of the icebox . . . to be independent enough to say at 85, 'I do want that role' or 'I don't want that role' . . . and to die with my makeup on.

"I'm not a frivolous person. Is that too much to ask in this world?"

Iowa Man Piloted Gold-Carrying Plane

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—The Lebanese International Airways announced today that Capt. Bernard T. Kuhlmier, 37, Fort Monroe, Iowa, was the pilot of the airline's plane which crashed into the Mediterranean yesterday.

Kuhlmier and the 30 other persons aboard were killed. The passengers included two Americans but the airline still withheld their identities.

Woman Bitten by Snake but Bottles Up Rattler

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (AP)—Mrs. Norman Martin, 32, found a small snake in the basement of her suburban home yesterday and was bitten on a finger while trying to put it in a bottle.

She completed the capture and, with the 14-inch snake in a jar, asked a neighbor if it was poisonous.

It's a rattlesnake!" Mrs. Harold C. Hedges exclaimed.

Mrs. Hedges gave first aid with a snake-bite kit, then took Mrs. Martin to a hospital. She was released after treatment.

Gets Post in Panama

PANAMA (AP)—Dr. Gilberto Arias, a son of ex-President Harmodio Arias and a graduate of Harvard University, is Panama's new finance minister.

To Buy New Underwear

Maugham Visits London

LONDON (AP)—Author W. Somerset Maugham has returned to London to buy some new underwear.

"The British make the best mens' underwear in the world," said the 83-year-old novelist and playwright. "They have to. The weather, you know. It's rather damp here at times."

Maugham, known to his close friends as Willie, lives most of the year at his villa on Cap Ferrat, a sunny spot on the French Riviera hard by Prince Rainier's Monaco.

"One of them pinched my pen," said the author. "Then he wrote me a charming letter and told me what he'd done. Audacious young men, American seamen."

Last night Maugham heard an opera version of his South Sea Island novel on the life of painter Gauguin, "The Moon and Sixpence," performed by the Sadler's Wells opera company.

"I enjoyed it very much," he said. "I haven't read my book for at least 35 years. Nor am I a musician. But this splendid company brought it vividly back to me."

In the same hotel where he always lives in London, the author whose books have sold over 35 million copies talked about his work.

"My earlier works are rubbish," he said stabbing the air with a long cigarette holder. "I won't allow them to be reprinted."

He added that he had forgotten the names of many of them.

"It's all so long ago," he said, "and I'm a very old party. But of those early ones, only 'Liza of Lambeth' was a success. And it earned me but 20 pounds"—$100 then.

His lined, hawk-like face relaxed.

"I cannot expect to live much longer. I've had a full life. I face what will come calmly."

Asked if he had any immediate plans for the future, the crusty author replied: "Yes. Definitely. To live on."

Siamese Twins Born

ROCKVILLE CENTRE, N.Y. (AP)—Siamese twins joined at the pelvis were born last week in Mercy Hospital here, it was disclosed yesterday. The hospital said that, at the request of the parents, it was unable to release any information on the twins or say whether a severing operation was planned.

2 Women Arrested in Vice Squad Raid

Pontiac police vice squad members raided an alleged house of prostitution last night and arrested Betty Hall, 38, of 205 Hughes, on the charge of operating the house at that address.

Another woman, Leola I. Jones, 22, was arrested on the charge of being an inmate of the house.

Both women were arraigned this morning and pleaded not guilty. Trial was set for Oct. 16.

3 Designers in New York Win Highest Fashion Honors

NEW YORK — A fur designer who fought in the French Underground, a Philadelphia socialite who commutes to New York to design her couture fashions, and a sportsman who creates sports clothes for women, shared American fashion's highest honor, the Coty American Fashion Critics' Awards, last night at the Metropolican Museum of Art.

The award's celebrated "Winnie" trophy was presented to two designers: Miss Leslie Morris, designer of made - to - order clothes for Bergdorf Goodman, New York, and Sydney Wragge of B. H. Wragge, New York designer of ready - to - wear sports clothes and coordinated separates.

A special award of a silver plaque was made to Bergdorf Goodman's fur designer, Emeric Imre Partos, who came to American fashion via his native Hungary and France where he served as a soldier and resistance fighter as well as a couturier.

Grover A. Whalen, representing Coty, presided at the ceremony in the Grace Rainey Rogers Auditorium of the art museum, with the Costume Institute of the museum as co-host.

Recognized Agencies Are Best

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON — If you want to adopt a child the best thing to do is to go to a recognized social agency in your community, or to your state department of welfare.

"In so doing," says the Children's Bureau, "your interests as well as those of the child and his mother will be best protected. Creating a family by bringing children without homes together with couples without children who want to adopt them isn't a matter of slapdash doing."

A FRESH LOOK

The Children's Bureau, "taking a fresh look at the adoption picture today" in studying the role of the agency and social worker, says it is finding encouraging developments which should offset much of the criticism leveled at placement practices in the past.

"We will never have a pat pattern for finding the right parents or right child, but we are learning how to facilitate getting together the individuals who will form this family," said one official.

"More public agencies are developing adoption programs than ever before," says Miss Clare Golden, new Children's Bureau consultant on foster family care and adoptions.

"This is mainly because of the need to plan for more children and a recognition of the fact that more can be placed for adoption that were thought unadoptable at one time."

GROUPS SET UP

The bureau, she said, is trying to stimulate interest in medical, legal, nursing, ministerial, and other professional groups to work cooperatively with different community social agencies, one of whose major concerns is adoption.

The result is that many committees are being set up in various areas to work out the problems together.

Other results listed by the Children's Bureau include:

1. A better appreciation of the importance of the doctor's contribution in considering a child for adoption. More specialists are drawn into cases where there are unusual problems.

2. In many states, a reappraisal of adoption laws. Generally, the focus is to consider advisability of requiring all adoptive placements to be made through recognized agencies; to determine legislative changes to control out-of-state placements; to determine the extent to which legislation should control the right of the mother to place her child.

AID FOR MINORITIES

3. Recruitment of adoptive homes for minority groups. "Adopt-a-Child" in New York is finding homes for Negro and Puerto Rican children; in San Francisco, "MARCH" is recruiting homes for Negro, Mexican, and Oriental children.

At Waterford Civic Concert

Pianist Captures Audience With Brilliant Playing, Wit

By MARY LOUISE LINDQUIST

Stan Freeman thrilled and entertained his audience last night with his brilliant piano playing and rare wit. The piano virtuoso opened the season of the Waterford Township Civic Music Assn. at Isaac E. Crary Junior High School to a capacity crowd.

The first half of his program was devoted to works of the serious mood, followed by a second half of satire, wit, and a unique interpretation of jazz.

SHOWED DEXTERITY

For his opening number, Mr. Freeman played the "Sonata in B Flat" by Mozart. All three movements moved along in true Mozart style of light fast-moving dexterity. To play Mozart well is perhaps the greatest test of a pianist, and Mr. Freeman kept the style clear and delicate.

The following three numbers were works of Chopin. Each of these solos was done with clean technique that did not interfere with the melodic line. From the vast wealth of Chopin's piano music, Mr. Freeman chose the "Waltz in A Flat," "Polanaise in C Sharp Minor," and "Ballade in G. Minor."

With a feeling of perfect peace, the artist played "Gardens in the Rain" and the ever-loved "Claire de Lune" by Claude Debussy. The picture of a quiet summer rain and a beautiful moonlight night were transmitted to the audience by his interpretive playing.

The runs and trills were clear and expressive in Mr. Freeman's rendition of Franz Liszt's "Hungarian Rhapsody, No. 13." He played both delicately and with much strength without indicating any real physical effort. His octaves were as interpretive as his runs.

EMPHASIS ON HUMOR

The second half of the concert covered bits of Mr. Freeman's repertoire of musical stories, show tunes, and amusing musical satires on numerous phases of the American musical scene.

It was a pleasure to hear the familiar melodies played with such artistry and feeling. From Gershwin to Hammerstein, and from New Orleans jazz to rock and roll, Mr. Freeman made his audience feel a part of the musical scene he was painting.

Members of audience were spontaneously enthusiastic over the interpretations of nearly every style of piano playing. They should remember for a long time an evening of combined music, satire, and exceptional talent for entertaining.

CHARLENE MANDEVILLE

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Mandeville of Birmingham announce the engagement of their daughter, Charlene Jean, to Howard Grant Brown. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur S. Brown of Petoskey.

Elected by Sorority

Laurene Patton was named president of Beta Mu Chapter, Epsilon Sigma Alpha when that group met Wednesday evening in the Drayton Plains home of Mary Kay Nelson. Ginny Flath was elected vice president.

It's Best to Use Direct Approach

By ANNE HEYWOOD

Sometimes I think we make such a science of human relations, such a project of getting along with people, that we overlook the fact that the easy, direct way is best.

You can defeat your purpose by being complicated and devious.

For example, one girl I know has a co-worker who gossips too much.

ANALYZING PROBLEM

For months now, my friend has been analyzing the problem and figuring a way to get the girl to stop gossiping, at least while they're both working at their desks, typing.

"I want to wait until the time is just right," she tells me. "After all, it could be a traumatic shock to her, and I don't want that! So I'll wait until some day when she's looking especially well, and then I'll lead up to it—"

Along about here, I lose patience. I'm tempted to say, "Oh, for heaven's sake! Why don't you just tell her you can't work when she's talking and could she hold it until lunch?"

SAID JUST THAT

However, a new girl was put in the office with them, and after a couple of days, said just that. Whereupon, the gossiper cheerfully said, "Okay" and kept quiet!

That's the answer, too, I think, to a letter I have from a girl in Indiana:

"I have a job that I like, at least there are many things about it I like. But my boss is of the old school. He expects me to do the work of three people.

"I'm never out until after 7, lunch is usually just a 15-minute affair and sometimes I have to get in at 8 in order to plow through the day's work.

DIPLOMATIC WAY

"How can I tell him in a diplomatic way that I don't want to work like this?"

Well, who says you have to be diplomatic? Maybe he honestly doesn't know how much work you do or how late you stay. So, tell him.

Or if he does know, and is purposely victimizing you, why be charming? Tell him.

Keep a record for a few weeks of your hours and the amount of work you handle.

Tell him that you can no longer do so much overtime and ask which of the jobs can you give up or does he want somebody else to handle them?

DON'T BE DEVIOUS

Don't be nasty, but don't be deviously diplomatic.

If you're a good worker—which you seem to be — you have nothing to lose by being honest. In fact, you owe your boss honesty!

Boy Shares Winnings at the Races

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: Last week my boy friend took me to the races. He had set aside a certain amount of money for the evening's entertainment. I did not bet on any of the races myself, but helped him to choose the horses to bet on.

"By chance, I picked several winners that evening and as a result he won quite a sum of money. He offered me half of his winnings, which I accepted. Was I wrong to have accepted this money?

"I didn't feel that it was wrong, inasmuch as we both participated in the choosing of the horses. However, some members of my family think that I should not have accepted this money and that I should return it to him. Will you advise me in this matter as I don't wish to be criticized for doing the wrong thing?"

Answer: I certainly agree with your family. After all, it was his money — and I wonder if he had lost whether you would have felt you should share that.

"Dear Mrs. Post: A friend of mine belongs to a well - known club where we go quite frequently for dinner, I have come to know the headwaiter, who is a very friendly person, quite well.

"The other evening I greeted him as follows: 'Hello, John, how are you this evening?' My friend criticized me for this and said that it was in very bad taste to greet him in this way. Will you please tell me if I was wrong?"

Answer: What could be criticized was your "Hello." "Good-evening, John, etc." would have been in good taste, if of course the headwaiter is called John by other frequent diners.

"Dear Mrs. Post: I received a box of double - fold cards ('informals' I believe they are called) for a present. These are larger than an ordinary visiting card, with my name engraved across the face. Will you please tell me just when I may use such cards?"

Answer: They are intended for longer messages which would not fit on an ordinary visiting card. Those whose handwriting is large find them especially convenient.

Start With 6-Point Table of Standards

Parents' Action Can Bring Physical Fitness for Youth

(This is the last of a series of five articles based on the book "Is Your Child Really Fit?" by Bonnie Prudden, publisher of Harper and Bros. New York.)

In Springfield, Mass., there has been prepared a simple table of standards for physical educators. This document sets forth with exceptional clarity an outline for maintaining the iwtness of school children.

1. Physical fitness is the first objective of physical education.

2. Help each pupil develop his own highest level of physical fitness—and stay there.

3. Teach each pupil to keep himself physically fit and desire to stay that way throughout life.

4. Base all educational programs and methods on tests of physical fitness. Adapt the physical fitness program to each pupil's special needs thus determined.

5. Re-test to measure pupil progress, determine the value of programs, and modify future activity as needed.

UNITY NEEDED

The greatest success, of course, comes when the physical educators, the administration and the parents all work together. These are the three legs of the physical fitness stool.

However, there is no question that the quality and attitude of the members of the physical education department can make all the difference in what benefit your child gets from his school athletic program.

The qualities to look for were set forth by Robert J. H. Kiphuth, professor of physical education and director of the Payne Whitney Museum at Yale University:

"He, the educator, keeps himself in good shape, thereby serving as an example and inspiration to his pupils. Teaching by example is not only a way, but the only way to attain an effective development.

MUST BE MODEL

"The instructor inspires his pupils to be as he is—not as he says to be. Of even greater significance, he uses the process of body building to teach discipline, self-control and courage. But he does so by building the body first.

In other words, he is a craftsman. And in his extreme perfection, he is an artist. Those other qualities follow if the body job is done correctly. It can be as simple as that."

In short, he regards his work as an opportunity to build strong, healthy, flexible bodies. And that is your man.

If he even hints at the sort of thinking reflected in a remark made to me not long ago by an official at a school in an average suburban community in the East, then you the parent have the job on your hands.

The remark was this: "I don't believe we'll ever have to get back to muscular activity. We just don't need it any more."

If that is the attitude you find, then ti becomes your duty, to your child and to the other children in your commuinty, to investigate further.

What are the ways to make that investigation?

You will have to go to the school, observe and ask questions. You will find you'll have no trouble in securing an investigation — or permission to visit you child's gym class.

You will want to notice what athletic apparatus is available, and how much it is being used. You will need to find out how often, on an average, children are excused from gym and field sports.

And you will want to observe carefully how much of the gym period your child actually spends in profitable activity.

Now let us assume that what you find convinces you that the physical education program is something less than adequate. To whom do you appeal?

WHAT TO DO?

There is the PTA. These groups are potentially very powerful, but frequently they are not aware of their power, or a little wary of asserting it. Nevertheless, the school officials are always sensitive to the thinking of the PTA.

If you are determined enough, you can gets your PTA to act and the school officials will have to take notice of your complaints.

If, however, both your school officials and the physical education instructors prove reluctant or indifferent to all prodding you can always appeal to the school board.

You can also appeal, in several states, to the Board of Physical Education. In New York, for example, the board demands that every child have a specific number of minutes of physical training a week. If the minimum is not met, the school is in trouble.

Unfortunately it is possible to meet time requirements and still produce a very unsatisfactory program.

Fortunately there are many enlightened people — and their number is growing — who see that the true function of physical education is to develop the nation's greatest resource, its children, to its fullest potential.

Out of their awareness of the physical deterioration of American youth has swept a wave of correction that already is moving far and swiftly to put right a crucial condition.

Problem May Be Hubby, Not His Mother

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

"My mother-in-law doesn't like how I handle my children," writes Mrs. O. "She criticizes me in front of them and orders me around. Should I tell her how I resent this? For my youngsters' sake, I want to overcome the fear and tension her presence arouses in me. . ."

Has Mrs. O. discussed this relative's belittling treatment with Mr. O.? If so, did he support her right to say, "Please don't interfere in my discipline of the children? If you don't like something I do, wait to tell me about it until we are alone."

I think he didn't—or she'd have made this demand for respect for her maternal authority. And having proved her power to resist her mother-in-law's domination, she'd have lost much of her fear of being overwhelmed by it.

So perhaps Mrs. O.'s problem isn't her mother-in-law's domination at all—but her husband's fear of challenging it. Perhaps she maintains resentful silence under it because she dares not risk offending her husband.

If this is the truth, it's better to know it than to go on imagining that her mother-in-law is the problem.

ACTS OF KINDNESS

"My mother-in-law has performed many helpful acts of kindness to us," Mrs. O. goes on. "What's wrong with me that I cannot feel calm and grateful around her? I literally begin to squirm the moment she enters the house."

It is usually by "acts of kindness" that tyrants maintain their power over us. Their purpose is to punish us with a guilty conscience for wanting freedom and self-direction.

We feel their falseness. Our own intuition tells us that they are not interested in kindness at all but in their own power.

So when we squirm in the presence of a tyrant, it's the right, not the wrong thing to do. We want to get away from them. Our squirms are our preparations for flight from their disintegrating wishes.

I expect that Mr. O. has been doing a lot of unconscious squirming himself under his mother's domination. He may need more help than his wife can give to discover this truth about himself.

So I suggest that she seek her clergyman or her local Family Service Association for assistance with his fear of his mother.

Build Up Body, Increase Appetite

Exercises Benefit Thin Persons

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN
(The Friday Question Box)

Q. "I am thin, very thin. I know that bad eating habits are a large cause of this but won't exercises help, too?"

A. It is true that the food intake is most important for the thin person. Not only should the underweight individual have a larger than usual daily calorie count but the diet must be carefully planned since vitamin deficiency is one reason for underweight.

Exercises for building up the bust measurement and the calves usually are needed and mild exercise is a splendid aid since it increases appetite. Most important of all, exercise relaxes nervous tension which is one reason for thinness.

Walking and swimming are especially good. Deep-breathing and relaxing are also beneficial as are any mild exercises, especially those which place the emphasis on stretching.

Mild exercises, especially those which place the emphasis on stretching, are beneficial to the thin woman.

Q. "I am 14 years old and have legs like sandpaper. My legs are covered with small, rough bumps. Could this be an allergy?"

A. Yes, I suppose it could be an allergy. It also could be a vitamin deficiency. You should see your physician about it.

Q. "I am 14 years old and know that I am overweight. My parents and relatives discourage me about losing and tell me that I am just right. What is your opinion? I weigh 140 pounds and am 5 feet 6 inches tall. My bust measures 34, waist 27 and hips 37 inches."

A. You are overweight by the usual standards. If you have a very large frame, you may be only a little overweight. I imagine you should lose at least 5 to 8 pounds by cutting out extras such as cookies and candy bars and rich desserts and sundries.

Your parents probably are afraid you will diet strenuously. You should not do this. Well-balanced meals and an adequate calorie intake are especially important at your age. Also take hip and waist-slimming exercises.

Q. "Has a glass of butermilk the same number of calories that skim milk has? What about powdered fat-free milk?"

A. They are all approximately the same.

Chemical Stops Mold in Cottons

Science has scored again. This time it's against the molding and rotting that fabrics are frequently subjected to in damp storage places, or when atmospheric moisture prevents them from drying completely.

A new chemical has been developed which virtually rot and mold proofs the cotton fabrics to which it is applied.

It is expected to be used initially on such items as military uniforms, tents and hotel linens. All will remain completely washable in hot soap or detergent suds, and are said to retain their mold and rot proof qualities no matter how many times they're sudsed.

Phyllis Herrick Wed

Mr. and Mrs. Millard F. Herrick of Tasmania street announce the marriage of their daughter, Phyllis Irene, formerly of Pontiac, to Boyd E. Winn of Santa Maria, Calif. Married July 27 in Los Angeles, the couple now resides in Santa Monica.

Is Medicine Chest Clean and Sanitary?

Your medicine chest should be kept sanitary and clean. Wash removable shelves, glass eyecups, and bottle stoppers and jars in hot soap or detergent suds, rinse and wipe dry.

Wipe the surfaces of jars, bottles, and tubes with a damp sudsy sponge or cloth—being careful not to loosen vital labels or identification.

And this is a good time to remember that medical and safety authorities advise discarding any medicines which have been around for more than three months.

Hand-Painted China Needs Quick Wash

Hand painted decorations on china and glassware are not usually permanently fired onto the surface. That's why such pieces should be washed quickly by hand with medium-hot soap or detergent suds and rinses. Hot water and soaking tend to fade hand painted colors.

Secret Diets Sound Fine but They Won't Catch On

By RUTH MILLETT

McCall's magazine for September has an article that could revolutionize luncheon an ddinner party conversation.

The article tells how to diet in secret. Yep, in secret. It gives tips on how a dieter can sit down with her family or friends and keep to a diet without anyone's being the wiser.

The method is simple. You take a little of everything that is offered you, eat your small portions and don't go back for seconds.

If you keep your mouth shut, no one is the wiser that you are carefully counting calories.

Wouldn't it be wonderful if the idea of dieting in secret would catch on? Then those who aren't on a diet could go back to enjoying their food without being reminded of the number of calories in sour cream dressing or a slice of apple pie.

But secret dieting, I am afraid, isn't going to appeal to most dieters. If they had to diet without talking about it most of them would probably give up in despair.

EASY TO DISCUSS

For one thing, women who have been on-again, off-again dieters for years find calorie talk an easy form of dinner table conversation.

Then, too, since dieting is a form of self-punishment the only joy connected with it is in letting everyone know how much you are suffering.

And there's always the temptation for a woman who has kept her figure fashionably thin to call attention to it whenever she turns down a hot roll or second serving.

Haven't you noticed that the women who talk the most about dieting are skinny women? They do the most talking about calories when there is at least one plump person present.

The dolman coat and huge collar is for tall women, large or slender. Small figures can't carry that much coat but need smaller collar and sleeves.

The fur coat reaches the peak of luxury with deep capes and huge collars. No definite size collar can be set for all women. It's a matter of modification to keep from looking ridiculously overpowered by too much fur coat.

Keep Skin, Scalp Clean for Beauty

Medical men and beauty specialists may differ on methods of achieving good looks—such as exercise and massage, stimulation and protection. But on one fundamental they all stand pat. If the skin and the scalp are to be healthy and beautiful, they must be clean.

This lively Log Cabin design makes up into a beautiful set for the bedroom—a patchwork quilt plus a matching crochede afghan for that "forty-wink" period. Both are fascinating to make.

Quilt Books now available: Flower Quilts—Q101; Grandmother's Patchwork—Q102; All-Year—Q103; Young Folk's—Q104. Pattern pieces and full directions for making 12 quilts in each of Q101, Q102 and Q103; 10 quilts in Q104. Each book 50c.

Watch Stragglers

Broth Cook Vegetables for Chicken

By JANET ODELL

A delicious chicken and noodle dinner is today's specialty. Mrs. Laura Smithling of Rochester serves this to her husband when he has been doing heavy outdoor work.

Sewing and 4-H club work occupy Mrs. Smithling's time. This past summer she was clothing chairman for the local 4-H Fair.

CHICKEN AND NOODLES
By Mrs. Laura Smithling

Simmer a stewing hen in salted water until tender. Let cool in the broth, then remove from bones. Cut into stock 2 small onions and 2 stalks of celery. Grate 2 carrots into the stock and cook until vegetables are tender.

Add noodles and cook 10 minutes. Add chicken and cook another 5 minutes, or until chicken is heated through. Serve with mashed potatoes or peas or green beans.

Noodles

Salt
Flour (enough to make a dough you can handle and knead)

Knead like bread dough for about 5 minutes. Lightly flour top and bottom and roll paper thin until it looks like a chamois skin. Cut into desired widths. Make about 3 hours before using so that the noodles can dry.

If you are storing some of the noodles, be sure they are completely dry before you put them away.

2 Councilmen Hold LA Key

Pair of City Solons Want a Few Questions Cleared First

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Two city councilmen who have opposed the Brooklyn Dodger transfer proposal say there's a chance they would change their minds if a few questions could be cleared up.

As a result, Mayor Norris Poulson has announced he will invite Dodger President Walter O'Malley or one of his representatives to come to Los Angeles and talk over the deal before next Monday's showdown vote in the council.

Poulson made the announcement after talking yesterday with councilmen Patrick D. McGee and Earle D. Baker. They said their objections to the transaction might be withdrawn if O'Malley or one of his aides came here to clear up several points in a talk with the council.

Poulson said he felt O'Malley would have no reluctance about coming for such a talk himself or sending a member of his staff.

"There is nothing to hide about this deal," the Mayor said.

At next Monday's meeting, the council will hear final reading of the proposed transfer ordinance and then vote on it. Affirmative votes are needed from two thirds of the 15-man council for passage of the transfer.

Reports Employes in Government Drop

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Byrd (D-Va) reported today the number of federal employes dropped 7,031 in August as compared with July.

The decrease more than offset a rise of 6,337 in the federal payroll which took place in July.

Byrd, chairman of the Committee on Reduction of Nonessential Federal Expenditures, said there were 2,400,620 U.S. workers in August as against 2,407,651 in July.

The number was about evenly divided between the civilian agencies, which had 1,246,021 employes in August, and the Defense Department which had 1,154,599 nonmilitary workers.

The civilian agencies had a decline of 1,904 jobs for the month. The Defense Department total decreased 5,127, which included Navy, 2,602; Air Force, 1,395; and Army, 1,115.

Turncoat's Bride Rejoins Him in U.S.

Mrs. Hawkins had cancelled her reservation on the train Wednesday in order to go sightseeing.

She arrived in San Francisco Tuesday from Hong Kong, where she had waited three months for clearance to enter the United States.

Hawkins, who had declined repatriation after being taken prisoner by the Reds during the Korean War, changed his mind and returned from Red China early this year.

She pleaded not guilty at her arraignment this morning, and trial was set for Oct. 16.

Monsieur Chauveron Returns With Soul-Stirring Menus

He'll Assail New York With Gourmet Fare

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK (INS) — If there is any sign in a restaurant window that will cause a culinary snob to turn his back, not to mention his stomach, it is one which reads—"Real American Home Cooking."

The French have the cooking honors sewed up for people with hoity-toity taste buds; and if you take good American eggs from the nest, and truffles, and call them oeufs, you can quintuple your price and nobody complains.

Thus it is that Monsieur Roger A. Chauveron, Frenchman and restaurateur extraordinaire, feels no embarrassment at all as he announces that he is about to open what will be the most expensive restaurant in New York.

"I tell you, frankly," he says, "American home-cooking is good, is all right, for the system, but French food is good for the soul." (And the exchequer.)

"If you eat it all the time, you die. Or get like me." M. Chauveron is rather round. "But what is money when your stomach is rich on a speciale night?"

SOLD COSTLY CAFE

The ebullient Roger originally opened and owned "Le Cafe Chambord" which, until now, has been widely renowned as the costliest restaurant in New York. "Chambord," if approached without extreme caution or a CPA, could break a man.

He sold out this plush eatery in 1950 to return to France, where his family, he says, has been in the fancy feeding business for 300 years and where he owned a 400-year-old estate that once housed "Richard the Lion-Hearted" and his crusading family.

"But I miss people"—customers like the Astors, Rockefellers, Whitneys and friendly, wine-loving Errol Flynn—"so I get together $400,000 or so and come back to start over."

For his comeback, he opens the "Cafe Chauveron" late this month, featuring one garcon to a customer, one captain to every three tables, one chef per dish, and a couple of $50,000 wine cellars which guests will one day be permitted to investigate.

NO DUST ON BOTTLES

Although some of his wines—like actor Flynn's favorite, Romanee Conti, 1929—are valued as high as $1,000 a bottle, the cafe proprietor promises to have some "reasonable price" items on the menu. There will be a special luncheon, for example, for "only $3.50 to $6.50.

"The reason I do this is for the business man, you see. I believe some big businessmen don't like to spend so big money these day for lunch."

Cheapest item on the menu will be eggs, domestic variety, at $2.50. How prepared? Roger raises an eyebrow. "Plain," he says.

Then he lowers his eyebrows and looks at you closely, as he will inspect every head of romaine, every la croustade de Homard that passes through his kitchen doors.

"You worry so always about money. Why?" he asks.

"Well then," says Roger, relieved that he has solved another problem. "You must have your boss pay you more."

Ex-Arizona Governor

Hears Little Rock Talks

By INTERNATIONAL NEWS

An ex-governor of Arizona whose oldest and greatest love is news has been pivoted by the White House to the center of the biggest story in his career.

Howard Pyle, President Eisenhower's 57-year-old assistant on federal - state relationships, has been acting as a sort of middle man between the chief executive and southern governors who are seeking a solution to the Little Rock Ark., school integration crisis.

SON OF MINISTER

Pyle is the son of a Wyoming minister, whose successive assignments took the family to Texas, Oklahoma and Nebraska before settling in Arizona in 1925, where Pyle's father currently is a pastor in Buckeye.

Pyle's first job was as a correspondent for the old Arizona Republican. Later, he joined the radio staff of station KTAR as an announcer, writer and producer.

In the closing days of the war, he handled a pool broadcast for the four major American networks on the arrival of the Japanese surrender party.

AIDE AMIABLE

The amiable, gregarious presidential aide was the first radio correspondent to land in Japan with ground forces and covered the surrender ceremonies on the U. S. S. Missouri.

Some five years later he was elected governor of Arizona. He was appointed to his White House job after his defeat in 1951 by the current governor, Ernest McFarland.

Pyle brought with him to Washington his wife, Lucille, a member of Arizona's widely - known Hanna family. The Pyles' have two daughters, Mary Lou and Virginia Ann.

Pyle made few headlines until he sat in with the President and four southern governors at the Tuesday White House meeting despite efforts of the Democrats, during last year's political campaigns to make him famous.

In numerous speeches, they lambasted him for having told a business group that "the right to suffer is one of the joys of a free economy."

Americans Increase Travel Overseas

The Commerce Department reported today that spending for trips to foreign countries reached a record $1,800,000,000 in 1956, nearly 200 million dollars over 1955.

Of the total, foreign countries received 1½ billion dollars including $1,200,000,000 spent within those countries and 238 millions paid to foreign sea and air carriers for transportation overseas. U.S. carriers received 301 millions.

The department said 1,240,000 Americans spent 680 million dollars, exclusive of fares, in area other than Canada and Mexico, in 1956, as compared with 1,075,000 who spent 592 millions in 1955.

The total cost of all accidents in the United States in 1956 is equal to the total number of dollars in Social Security benefits paid in 1953, 1954 and 1955.

The seniors are planning a dance following the Orion-Oxford game next Friday; and schoolwide plans for floats, queen contests, costumes and halftime activities are being initiated for October 18 when the homecoming game will be played in Orion.

Today is also the start of the informal initiation of Y-teens. Although the antics are kept to a limited degree at Orion, the initiation provides lots of fun.

The Y-teens are considering a plan for joint affiliation with the Pontiac Y.W.C.A., and the election of a representative for the interclub council of the Pontiac YW.

AT WALLED LAKE

When the president of last year's junior class informed his classmates at Walled Lake High School that he would be living in Florida this year, many of them were unhappy. But, John Muth returned to Walled Lake this fall because he found he could not enroll in certain subjects he wanted to take in Pompano Beach, Fla. where his family are living.

This week John was elected president of the senior class. He is now living at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn McClelland, of 1970 S. Commerce Rd., with their son Dennis.

Also re-elected was Judy Holt, secretary and Kay Stewart, treasurer.

Guiding the sophomores this year are Fred Boachmann, president; Carol Anderson, vice president; Karen Tuttle, secretary and Mike Bilas, treasurer.

The seventh graders have enjoyed a series of dinners where students, parents, and teachers meet and talk over some of the problems of the new students at Lincoln Junior High.

The front hall exhibits are bright with a display of vocabulary lists worked out by the 9th grade expression class. They reveal how technical lists of words may be very extensive even in the vocabulary of junior high students. Peggy Cone, Shirley Tinkis, and Loren Fizzard were in charge of the display.

Girls' Service Club with Joan Davis as president arranged for a Big Sister Party on Monday as each member sponsored from one to four 7th graders as their Little Sisters.

Larry Beamer Named President

Elect PHS Student Council Officers

By WILLIAM BANK

Larry Beamer was named president, with Jeanne Johnson assisting him as vice-president. Other officers are Muriel Upton, secretary; Emanuel Williams, treasurer and Lynn Walker, sergeant at arms.

Students have been going places the past week although sometimes it took a little longer to reach the destination than had been anticipated.

A bus carrying PHS students and cheerleaders to Lansing suffered a blow-out in Howell, last Friday. Its occupants were stranded. The bus was taking the students to see the Chiefs tackle the Sexton football team.

The majority of the students had to wait for a relief bus to take them home; however, the cheerleaders were able to make it to the game with friends they hailed down who happened to take the same route to Lansing.

Saturday, while most people were sleeping in, two groups of students left Pontiac for Canada. The first to leave was a Biology Club fossil-collecting expedition headed for Rock Glen Provincial Park near Arconia.

Among the future field trips planned by the Biology Club are tours of the Phoenix Project at the University of Michigan and the Darringer Project at Michigan State University. These projects are aimed at finding and perfecting peaceful uses of atomic energy.

Spots 'Mystery Cat'

SAULT STE. MARIE (AP) — Chippewa County's "mystery cat," which has been seen intermittently since April, was spotted again this week by Delos Ringer of St. Ignace, an airline radio operator. He said the "sizeable animal" was light brown in color and had a long tail. It raced across U.S. 2 in front of Ringers' car.

St. Mike's Students Honor Rev. O'Reilly

By MICHAEL BUCHANAN

Father Michael J. O'Reilly was honored last week at an assembly for his feastday Sunday. He donated several sets of books to the school library recently.

If you are near the science room at St. Michael High School, you better watch out. Sister Dennis and her chemistry class have started to experiment again.

Dust has been a problem this week because of the digging being carried on for the new church. Students that drive to school have dust all over their "bombs" (cars).

The Junior Achievement program started this week for juniors and seniors. The goal of JA is to give teenagers experience and knowledge in various businesses with the aid of counsellors and instructors.

Crossing North, South Poles

To Fly Round-the-World

WASHINGTON (AP) — Plans for a round-the-world air flight crossing both South and North Poles, and named in honor of the late Adm. Richard E. Byrd, were announced today.

It would be the first such crossing of the bottom and top of the world in a continuous series of hops, said Cmdr. Frederick G. Dustin, USN, Washington, an Antarctic veteran and close friend of Byrd's.

Byrd had flown over both poles in separate expeditions.

Dustin said the flight, financed by a group of businessmen, is scheduled to leave Boston about Nov. 10.

One leg would take the crew and sponsors on a never-before-attempted flight from Punta Arenas, Chile, over the South Pole to McMurdo Sound in the Antarctic—a distance of nearly 3,500 miles.

Dustin said permission had been asked to land and refuel at McMurdo, site of the U.S. air base supporting American Antarctic activities during the International Geophysical Year.

Pontiac Senior Appointed to Youth Advisory Council

Pontiac High School senior Carl Code Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Code Sr., 2205 Dexter Rd., was appointed to YAC, the Youth Advisory Council to the Michigan Youth Commission.

The announcement of the appointment of Code, 17, came from Mrs. Charles W. Neldrett, 62 Mariva St., state president of the Michigan Congress of Parents and Teachers, one of 25 co-operating agencies which sponsor the council.

Code is one of two delegates throughout the state representing the Michigan Congress of Parents and Teachers and one of 50 student members throughout the state.

He is the only one from Pontiac ever to be selected for this job.

The council, which meets five different weekends throughout the year, studies youth problems and then recommends legislation to be passed by the Michigan Youth Commission.

They study such problems as: summer employment for teenagers; traffic and water safety and the effects of alcohol on teens.

According to Mrs. Neldrett, Code was chosen "because of his interest in civic improvements and leadership and being an outstanding citizen."

By PATRICIA FOSTER

The life of ease which has been led by Saint Frederick seniors during the past week will come to an end tonight. Next week they will carry their own books.

The festivities or torments of initiation week, (depending upon whether you are a freshman or a senior) will culminate tonight at a dance in the school hall entitled "Freshies First Fling."

It is sponsored by the seniors and will be held from 8 to 11:30 p.m. Admission is 75 cents for singles, and $1.50 for couples. Music will be provihes by a five piece band.

One of the most prevalent quests among the seniors these days is "What are you going to be?" The class has taken the first in a series of Kuder vocational tests.

These tests are a great aid in helping the students reach a decision as to their future occupations at an earlier time.

ELECT COUNCIL

The student council has elected their 1957-58 officers. They are Chuck Maloney; president, Maureen Drake; vice-president, Gail Vitischinski, corresponding-secretary, and Jerri Dobski, recording-secretary.

Plans are in the making for the organization of a Future Teachers Club and the continuation of the Social Workers Club.

SPECIAL FEATURE — Available on all 1958 Pontiacs is this all-transistor miniature radio that can be taken out of the car and operated as a self-contained portable unit with its own tiny batteries and built in speaker. When slipped into the instrument panel-housing (upper left) it automatically connects with the car's speaker and battery system. The handsome leather carrying case (right) is also furnished with the radio.

Optional Feature on '58 Pontiac

All-Transistor Radio Is Portable

S. E. Knudsen, General Motors vice-president and general manager of the Pontiac Motor Division, has announced that a special optional feature on the 1958 Pontiac will be a small all-transistor radio which can be used as a portable unit.

Named the "Sportable," the revolutionary new radio was developed by Pontiac engineers and the Delco Radio Division of GM.

"Being a transistorized radio, the unit is nearly indestructable," said Knudsen.

In the automobile, the radio is automatically connected to the car radio speaker and battery. When pulled from the instrument panel, the pint-sized radio reverts to its own battery supply and built-in speaker.

The entire unit is about eight inches long, five inches wide, and two inches high.

Its midget batteries furnish power for more than 100 hours of playing time at a cost of about one cent per hour.

The new radio can be safely secured in place by merely locking the glove compartment door. It comes equipped with its own handsome leather carrying case.

Japanese Toys Use Lead-Free Paints

TOKYO (UP) — By early next month only Japanese toys decorated with lead-free paints will be going to American and other overseas markets, an inspection director said today.

Yokichi Sato, managing director of the Japan Metal Toys Inspection Assn., a government agency, said a new regulation for toys shipped abroad will be announced in the Japanese official gazette Oct. 15.

He said this step was not taken because Japanese metal toys being made now are considered dangerous, "but to fulfill the requirements of American customers." There have been some charges in the United States that Japanese toys might be harmful to children.

He said that although the paint on Japanese metal toys includes some lead to give them luster, they are harmless because the paint is coated with varnish after being baked at high temperatures to harden it.

In Algeria all who had served in World War I were given French citizenship and pensions for services to their government.

Korean Woman Killed by GI on Hunting Trip

SEOUL (UP) — The U.S. Army said today M. Sgt. Joseph E. Woodin, Fayetteville, N.C., fatally wounded a Korean woman Thursday in a hunting accident.

Woodin fired at a pheasant that flew from a clump of bushes near the village of Paju.

The Army report said he heard moaning and found Kim Ho He, 60, behind a bush. She had been struck by shotgun pellets. She died while being taken to an Army hospital near Seoul.

Want Shorter Week

HILLSDALE (UP) — The city's police and firemen have asked the Common Council for a shorter work week. Firemen now work 73½ hours and want it cut to 66. Police work 48 and want it cut to 40. The requests were sent to committee for further study.

Sues Peruvian Singer

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (UP) — Private detective Fred Otash has sued Peruvian singer Yma Sumac for $1,180.22 he claims is due him for shadowing her ex-husband and manager Moises Vivanco. Miss Sumac, 35, obtained a divorce decree last May 14 from Vivanco, 38. The pair recently reported from Europe that they have re-

Suspect 200,000 Hit by Asian Flu

NEW YORK (UP)—The city has more than 200,000 cases of suspected Asian flu.

Two upper respiratory ailment deaths have been reported, but the exact flu type has not been determined.

Hospital clinics were jammed yesterday, and school attendance still was down about 20 per cent. Teacher absenteeism was an abnormal 7 per cent.

Dr. Herman E. Hilleboe, state health commissioner, said the situation here is "potentially serious, but as of today it is not serious."

Fifteen of the 28 municipal hospitals treated 5,729 cases Wednesday, or 28 per cent more than the day before. Hospital figures for yesterday have not yet been compiled.

Authorities said influenza — exact type unkown—played a part in the deaths of Carla Brown, 9, Brooklyn, and William Dodds, 42, carpenter aboard the British ship Britannica.

Money Grows for Right Entry to Pot-O-Gold

Pot-O-Gold riches are now at $400 for the lucky contestant who comes up with a perfect solution to puzzle No. 70, providing no one wins last week's puzzle. But even in that case, the right answers are worth $125 if he's a Press subsriber.

The new puzzle contains a series of squares which are alphabetically lettered and a corresponding list of sentences with two clue words. Each of the words is numbered. The object is to select the word which you think best fits the clue sentence. You then place the number of that word in the square which has the same letter as the clue sentence.

In other words, you will read the clue labeled A and decide which of the two words makes the most sense in the puzzle square marked A.

FALSE TEETH That Loosen Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Hold false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get FASTEETH at any drug counter.

Mollet Asked to Take Reigns

Former French Chief Skeptical Over Chance of Forming Cabinet

PARIS (AP)—President Rene Coty today asked Socialist Guy Mollet to form the next government of France.

Mollet neither accepted nor refused. He said he would examine the possibilities of forming a government and promised to give his answer within a few days.

Political observers had predicted Mollet would get the nod to succeed Maurice Bourges-Maunoury, who resigned this week after the National Assembly rejected his move to end the Algerian rebellion by giving the North African territory limited home rule.

These same observers predicted also that Mollet would refuse Coty's offer, and that the President's choice then would be either Rene Pleven or Robert Schuman. Both are moderates, advocates of a United Europe and two-time premiers.

Mollet was premier of France for 15 months—a French postwar record—before giving way to Bourges-Maunoury last June. The latter's Cabinet virtually duplicated the Socialist leader's and their policies were about the same.

Mollet told reporters he was "rather skeptical" about his chances of forming a cabinet.

"No new element has appeared since I was thrown out of office some months ago," he said. But he said Coty had insisted, and he would try.

Old Tito Associate on Trial Third Time

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP)—Milovan Djilas, once President Tito's close associate, went on trial for the third time today.

This time the offense was writing that communism, like capitalism, creates an elite class.

Tito's former vice president, wartime comrade and biographer was brought into the District Court at Sremska Mitrovica, a town 50 miles north of Belgrade.

Djilas is serving a three-year sentence at Sremska Mitrovica prison for other writings critical of present communism. He was convicted last Dec. 12.

Djilas' latest charge against communism as it has worked out was made in his book "The New Class," published this year in New York by Frederick A. Praeger. The manuscript was smuggled from the Sremska Mitrovica prison.

The indictment accuses Djilas of writing the book in 1955-56 and having it published in New York.

The prosecutor said the book is designed to harm the reputation of Yugoslavia and undermine the country's Communist system.

France's casualties in World War I were 1,385,000 soldiers and sailors killed. This includes combat troops only, not civilians.

QUESTION: Who was the only Indian vice president of the United States?

ANSWER: The mother of Charles Curtis, who was vice president when Herbert Hoover was president, from 1929 to 1933, was part Kaw Indian. He was born in North Topeka, Kan., on Jan. 25, 1860. When he was a small boy he ran away to his grandmother, who was living in a Kaw Indian camp. She sent him back to Topeka, where he finished school. He studied law and became a lawyer. For four years he was county attorney and then he was elected to Congress in 1893. He served as a Congressman until 1907 when he was elected to the Senate. Except for two years, he served continuously in the Senate until he was nominated for the vice presidency at the Republican national convention in 1928. He was vice president for four years, but he and President Hoover were defeated in their bid for another term. He died in 1936.

Embezzlement Seen Growing Year by Year

SAN DIEGO (INS) — "Stealing by employes is increasing every year in this country and the amount of the embezzling is growing larger annually."

These words came from Bruce H. McBirney of Los Angeles, in a recent interview, before he addressed the Insurance Agents Association of San Diego.

He brought out the fact that many company officers are also turning crooked. A tight labor market lists three motives behind every embezzler's moves. Real or an imaginary need for money, the opportunity to steal, and a weakening of a man's moral fiber.

"The trend of late has been for companies to disregard backgrounds and qualifications of new employes, happy just to get somebody to fill the vacancy," McBirney concluded.

Expert Cautions Use of Penicillin

Says Drug Should Be Administered Only in Clear Case of Need

WASHINGTON (INS) — Government health expert put a warning tag on penicillin today as a study showed that adverse effects are increasing with its growing use.

Dr. Henry Welch, chief of the Food and Drug Administration's division of antibiotics, said the upward trend of severe reactions "shows there should be a clear-cut indication of need before the drug is administered."

However, he stressed, the number of people who have suffered bad effects from penicillin "is still small when it is considered that millions of persons receive the drug each year and that it has saved tens of thousands of lives."

Doctors have realized for some time that many people react to penicillin treatment with outbreaks of rash or severe shock.

On third of these cases, Welch said, were "life-threatening" reactions and 900 of the life-threatening" reactions followed use of penicillin. Seventy-two of these patients died of shock as a result of their penicillin treatment.

He added that no data is available on the number of persons who are allergic to penicillin and that it is not yet possible to determine absolutely whether a patient will suffer a reaction.

Schedule Bear Hunt

ROGERS CITY (UP) — The Presque Isle County sixth annual bear hunt will be held Saturday and Sunday with a record field of hunters due. The hunters bagged five bears in the two day hunt in 1955 but got only one last year. The event will include a bear hunters' ball Sunday night.

Spain will exchange wines for 3,000 tons of chickpeas under the terms of a barter agreement with Mexico, signed in Madrid.

Tarzan Becomes Papa

HOLLYWOOD (UP) — Screen Tarzan Gordon Scott is passing out cigars. His wife, actress Vera Miles, gave birth to a 7-pound, 9-ounce boy late Tuesday night. Miss Miles has two daughters, by a previous marriage.

Marlon Brando Injured

Buddy Adler Set to Sign Fabulous New Contract

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — Right from New York, from the horse's mouth, as we say, I had word that Buddy Adler is to have one of the most fabulous contracts ever given any motion picture producer.

I happen to know that Spyros Skouras discussed the deal with Buddy when he was here a few days ago, and that Charles Feldman and Gregson Bautzer have a date with Skouras to finalize the fine print.

As I understand it, this new deal will give Adler complete say on the 20th Century-Fox lot, and is equal to the contract Darryl Zanuck had for so many years at that studio. The official story should be out soon.

This is a very smart move on the part of 20th, because Buddy has a fine record of having made very good pictures.

Dr. Myron Prinzmetal is writing a new book called "Living With Your Coronary," in collaboration with radio and television commentator William Winter, interestingly enough a former patient of his who is not only living—but working—with his coronary. All Rome is talking about the exciting evening Vittorio Gassman staged at the Quirino Theatre as an associated cultural presentation. The Gimmick is that every seat in the house is equipped with a set of earphones which simultaneously translate what is happening on the stage to the language of the listener.

You just make your reservations in the English, French or Spanish earphone sections, and follow the drama or comedy exactly as it is being played in Italian on the stage. It's a clever idea which could spread.

Those who saw Eddie Fisher's first TV show know that he's launched a new and great career. The hour went too quickly.

One of the highlights was his number with Debbie in which she kids him about the success of "Tammy," and later when she sang it and he presented her with her first gold record.

Eddie's voice never seemed as good. Elaine Dunne, whom I had seen in Las Vegas, is a great assistance on the show, too, and I liked the repartee between Eddie and George Gobel.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: C.V. (Sonny) Whitney and Mary Hosford returned from New York by train this morning.

Mirror Is Seeing-Eye to Detect Shoplifting

NEWARK — A Newark manufacturer has developed a large convex mirror which he says promises to curtail shoplifting. The mirror is mounted on a bracket that permits installation on uprights, cross sections, or island displays in stores. The 26-inch-diameter mirror reflects almost every corner of a store, the manufacturer says, and "sees" above, beyond, and around objects normally hidden from view.

As State President of Women's Clubs

Helen Harris Quits Post

By LEE WINBORN
Press Correspondent

The forthcoming resignation of Michigan State Federation of Women's Clubs president, Helen M. Harris of Muskegon, was revealed at this week's East Central District's convention in Elkton.

Miss Harris told of her recent appointment to the post of guidance counselor in the public schools of Bergenfield, N. J. Her resignation from the top club office will become effective Nov. 1.

She will be succeeded by Mrs. John Ritsema of Sebewaing, MSFWC vice president.

Mrs. Andrew M. Miller of St. Clair was elected president of the district during yesterday's annual meeting. She is a former active — now honorary — member of the Romeo Monday Club.

Other officers are: Mrs. C. H. Watterworth of Elkton, first vice president; Mrs. Fred Barth of Capac, second vice president; Mrs. Ward Atkins, secretary, and Mrs. Sherwood Rice Jr., treasurer.

Mrs. John Upthegrove Jr., of Port Austin, was named Girlstown representative, and outgoing district president Mrs. Roy Richards of Alma was named state representative.

The district bylaws were changed to extend the terms of district officers from one to two years, to conform with state policy.

MMPA Charges Contract Breach

Threatens to Cut Off Milk Supply of Wilson Dairy

Detroit (AP) — The Michigan Milk Assn. has accused Ira Wilson & Sons of a breach of contract and has threatened to cut off the dairy's milk supply.

Glenn Lake, MMPA president, said yesterday after a special meting of the association sales committee, that Wilson was "attempting to cause strife in the market and deliberately wreck the entire price structure of the dairy farmer in the Detroit market."

The MMPA, bargaining agent for most dairy farmers supplying the Detroit market, reached agreements with area dairies last Aug. 1 for a price to farmers of $5 per hundredweight (46½ quarts) for drinking milk.

Lake said only Wilson had violated the six-month contract.

"Wilson's now want to pay some of its farmers one price and others another price," Lake said. "This is positively a violation of the contract we have with Wilson's. It is a clear attempt to pit farmers against each other and to drive the farmer milk price downward."

Lake said the MMPA would give Wilson until Monday to comply with contract terms. The association said it would cut off the dairy's milk supplies Oct. 9 if it doesn't comply by Monday. Wilson is the fourth largest dairy in the Detroit market.

Meetings were scheduled tentatively for Monday night at New Baltimore, Farmington, Adrain, Ovid, Saranac, Mason and Ann Arbor to outline action to dairy farmers.

An intramural program has been set up for Avondale Junior High students. Each home room is represented by a girl's and boy's softball team and a touch football team. Winning teams of the Round Robin Playoffs will receive trophies or prizes.

These same teams will compete in basketball and volleyball later this year.

President Flying to Gettysburg Farm

WASHINGTON (INS) — President Eisenhower took off for a long weekend at his Gettysburg farm today as the impasse continued over withdrawal of federal troops from Little Rock.

The chief executive flew to Gettysburg in his twin-engine Aerocommander, departing from Washington at 9:18 a.m. (EDT).

It was his first visit to the farm in more than a month, since before his Newport vacation.

Newsmen had expected that Eisenhower would go to Gettysburg sometime today, since he had no appointments at the White House, but his early departure caught them by surprise. The White House normally alerts the press in advance so that reporters and photographers can precede the President's plane to Gettysburg.

Harriman Warns Labor

NEW YORK (INS) — Labor racketeers were on notice today to mend their ways or get out of New York State. The warning came from Gov. Averell Harriman following an organizational meeting of a special four-man committee to study labor racketeering and submit recommendations for legislation by the year-end.

Other conference officers are Robert P. Small, of Benton Harbor, president; Harold M. Street, of Muskegon, first vice president; Harold McKessy, of Kalamazoo, secretary, and Ernest J. Rogers, of Jackson, treasurer.

Magazine Prices Missiles

Atlas Costs $4 Million

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Uncle Sam's missiles cost from $4,400 to more than four million dollars apiece, a trade publisher says.

Bennett H. Horcheler of Cleveland, publishing director of the trade magazine Aeronautical Purchasing, told a news conference the magazine's Washington correspondent made these estimates of costs for 15 missiles:

Sidewinder, $4,400; Sparrow III, $40,000; Falcon, $9,000; Nike I, $20,000; Nike II, $80,000-$100,000; Tartar, $40,000; Bullpup, above $10,000; Petrel, $80,000; Corporal, above $100,000; Matador, $100,000; Redstone, $1,000,000; Lacrosse, above $50,000; Regulus II, $430,000; Snark, $1,000,000.

The Atlas, Horchler said, costs more than four million.

Ford May Build Small Economy Car

DETROIT (INS) — A Ford Motor Company official says the firm may build a small economy car in the United States.

Ford Vice President James J. Nance said in New York: "The Ford company is studying foreign car sales with the idea of turning out a small economy car in America. But economy car sales will have to increase to five per cent of the domestic car market before we would consider introducing a similar U. S.-built car."

Foreign car sales in the U. S. in the first seven months of 1957 amounted to 2.8 per cent of the total market. However, some observers feel it will not be long before the five per cent figure is attained.

Pair of All-Oakland County linemen of the past two years have made the grade early at the University of Louisville. Sophomore tackle Larry Cadwell and freshman guard Don Rossoll both tutored by Jim Manilla of Royal Oak are regulars at Louisville. Five ex-Acorns are on the squad.

Former MSU gridder, Billy Wells, has been traded by the Washington Redskins to the Pittsburgh Steelers.

Two ex-Waterford gridders are among five area boys on the Michigan Tech eleven. Big linemen Charles Schack and Max Wigner are the former Skippers at Tech. Schack won a letter last year. Wigner, a 250-pounder, is a freshman as are Pierre Flajole and Pete Moga and Roy Klusendorf of Troy.

Veteran Princeton grid mentor Charley Caldwell may never return to active coaching. He is currently on sick leave.

Applications have been received for about half of the 59,030 special permits to be issued for "any-deer" seasons this fall, the state conservation department reports.

The permits entitle hunters to bag deer of either sex in one of 31 areas designated for the special seasons. Deadline for application is Oct. 10.

Braves Back in Business After 4-2 Victory

NEW YORK (AP) — The Milwaukee Braves are back in business in the World Series, all even with the New York Yankees, but might things have been different if the veteran Enos Slaughter had thrown to the plate instead of to third in the big fourth inning?

The score stood 2-2 and conceivably the Yankees might have avoided further damage instead of bowing as they did, 4-2.

Here was the setting:

Joe Adcock opened the inning with a single to left field, and Andy Pafko dropped one in the same place, sending Adcock to second. At that point Wes Covington blooped a single over Gil McDougald's head. Adcock, a big man and not the fastest base runner in the business, lumbered for home.

Enos Slaughter fielded the ball and threw to Tony Kubek at third in an effort to catch Pafko.

"It looked like Slaughter was gonna throw home instead of to third," said Manager Casey Stengel afterwards. "It looked like a better chance at home."

Instead, Slaughter's peg got by Kubek, who was charged with the error, and Pafko followed Adcock safely across the plate. That was the ball game.

If Adcock had been tagged out at the plate, the game might have taken on a different complection. Slaughter himself, one of the games of baseball players and a never-say-die guy despite his 41 years, shrugged off any second guessing.

The second game of the Series, unlike the first, was packed with drama. Bobby Shantz, the starting Yankee pitcher, got it off to a sparkling start by striking out Red Schoendienst, Johnny Logan, and Ed Mathews in the first.

Then in the second inning Hank Aaron hit a mighty blast to center field. Mickey Mantle stood still for a few seconds, then raced back, but in vain.

"It carried better than I thought," said Mantle afterwards. "I should have caught it. When he first hit it I thought I would easily catch it."

So Aaron raced to third with a triple. Then Joe Adcock hit a single to center that Mantle juggled. Aaron scored with the first run for the Braves and Adcock got to second on the error. Kubek's leaping catch of Wes Covington's drive helped Shantz out of further trouble.

The Yankees came right back in the bottom of the second. With one out Slaughter drew a walk, and went to third on Kubek's single. Jerry Coleman topped a roller down the third base line that probably would have gone foul if Lew Burdette had not scooped it up. As it was Slaughter scored and Coleman got a single.

Johnny Logan hit the first home run of the Series in the top of the third, a towering blow to left field that seem to hang forever in the blue sky and then finally fell into the stands. Again the Yankees came back, this time when Hank Bauer hit almost exactly in the same place where Logan's homer landed.

That was all the scoring, plus of course, the Braves' fourth inning. The rest of the time it was a story of Lew Burdette and his marvelous sinker — a pitch that had all the Yankees chattering after the game.

The best defensive play of the game was Covington's running, backhanded catch of Shantz' drive to left field in second, right after Burdette had misjudged Coleman's roller. This probably cut off two runs, and coupled with Covington's vital hit in the fourth made the rookie both the defensive and offensive star of the game.

Saginaw Hurler Gets Nod Tomorrow

Buhl to Start for Home Fans

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Back home with a split in the two games played at Yankee Stadium, the suddenly stimulated Milwaukee Braves, from manager Fred Haney down, were confident today they would beat the New York Yankees although the odds-makers still made the proud American League champions a slight 6-5 favorite to capture their second straight world series.

Elated by his team's fine all-round performance yesterday that backed up Lew Burdette's brilliant pitching with a 4-2 triumph, Haney plans to throw Bob Buhl, of Saginaw, the last of his big three, at the Yankees tomorrow in the first of three consecutive games at County Stadium. The 18-game winner will be opposed by Bob Turley, New York's hardest throwing pitcher.

A partisan crowd of more than 47,000, encouraged by predicted cloudy but favorable weather, is expected to be on hand for the first World Series game ever to be played in Milwaukee.

Both teams will most certainly present altered lineups from those that staged a terrific battle before 65,202 Yankee Stadium fans yesterday in a game that was still in doubt until Hank Bauer rapped into a game-ending force play to leave the tying runs on the basepaths. It was the kind of a victory that soared the underdog Braves' hopes to a new high and a defeat that caused the glum Yankees to regard the under-rated Milwaukeeans with new respect.

"Those fellows showed our guys they mean business," declared Casey Stengel, the all-knowing New York manager. "This was a big game for them. They're going to be tougher to beat from now on. Mind you, I'm not saying we won't do it but it's not going to be easy. Not from the looks of the way they battled us today."

Taking a cue from his players, who fought the Yankees tooth and nail in the second game, even to the extent of exchanging harsh words and beanballs, the usually mild-mannered Haney hurled a veiled challenge at Casey's crew.

"We know we will win now," he said defiantly. "We're over the hump. We stood up to those guys in their own back yard and held them even. Now they've got to play us three games in our park. I think pitching will be the key to this series and I know we've got the pitching."

In an effort to make use of as much lefthanded batting strength as possible against the righthanded Turley, Haney will open with a revised lineup that will include the spectacular rookie, Bob Hazle, in place of the veteran Andy Pafko, in right field, and probably Frank Toree instead of Joe Adcock, at first base. Del Rice, a .500 hitter in the 1946 World Series for the St. Louis Cardinals, will catch Buhl.

The batting order will also suffer a slight alteration. Wes Covington, the hitting star of the series up to now, with four safeties in eight times at bat, has been moved up from seventh to fifth, with Hazle batting sixth, Toree seventh and Rice eighth.

Stengel said he would not decide on his third game lineup until after this afternoon's practice session but he indicated one or two changes would be made. He was strongly considering playing Jerry Lumpe, his left handed hitting rookie, at third base and moving Tony Kubek back to left field. Otherwise the lineup will remain unchanged.

BRING JOY TO MILWAUKEE — Milwaukee is happy again and this pair helped the cause. Lew Burdette (left) was the winning pitcher as he gave the Yanks seven hits, and Johnny Logan hit a homer and made a diding defensive play in the last inning to save the day. The Braves won, 4-2, to even the series.

Allow Shotguns in Waterford

Township Clerk Clears Up Problem for Area Hunters

Hunting with shotguns in Waterford Township is still legal, according to clerk James Seeterlin.

The clerk's office has been flooded with inquiries regarding this matter, as it was before the last session of the state legislature for action.

Seeterlin explained that the legislature has given the township the authority to call a referendum vote of the people on the issue.

One of the reasons for no township action, Seeterlin said, was that the legislative action came too late for a vote before the opening of this year's hunting season.

Another reason was that it would cost the township too much money to have a special election for only one issue.

"Most likely, the matter of hunting in Waterford Township will be placed on the state Primary election next August," Seeterlin concluded.

Albion Backs Lead MIAA on Offense

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A pair of Albion College backs, quarterback Bob Gamble and fullback Dick Nash, are the early-season passing and rushing leaders of the Michigan Intercollegiate Athletic Assn.

Gamble hit on 9 of 21 passing attempts in Albion's win over Kalamazoo last week and gained 148 yards in the process. The rangy senior from Hudson grabbed the spotlight away from the Hornetts' Bob Urschalitz, who led the league in passing last season.

Nash carried the ball on 28 of Albion's 54 rushing plays and gained 86 yards. Paul Geer of Adrian compiled a better per-carry average, gaining 70 yards in 5 tries for a 14-yard average, as Adrian dumped Olivet 26-0.

Kalamazoo, which has been defeated in its first two starts, must down Alma Saturday to make the 125th anniversary homecoming celebration a solid success at Kalamazoo.

Roll Out Red Carpet

Braves' Fans Give Team Royal Welcome

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The red carpet was rolled out and thousands of cheering fans turned out last night as the Milwaukee Braves returned home from New York to prepare for the first World Series game ever played here.

It was a cool night and a stiff cold wind whipped across Billy Mitchell Airport as the Braves' chartered airliner landed. But the cheers of 6,500 happy fans warmed things up quickly as the plane set down.

One of the first to alight was Manager Fred Haney, who blinked in the glare of spotlights that lighted the ramp, waved to the crowd and declared:

"Things went very much better today. We know now the Yankees can be had. We hope to wrap it up here."

As the players and their wives came down the ramp, each received a great cheer from the throng that packed the promenade deck running the length of the terminal building.

There was a special ear-splitting cheer for Lew Burdette and Wes Covington. Burdette was saluted for his great mound performance in holding the Yankees to seven hits, while Covington was applauded for his spectacular back-handed running catch that cut off a Yankee scoring threat and his hit that scored the winning run in the fourth inning.

From the plane the players trod a red carpet, rolled out by airport attendants, to a line of 30 convertibles waiting to take them to the stadium.

Brundage in Rome

ROME (INS) — Avery Brundage, president of the International Olympic Committee, arrived in Rome from Bulgaria today to discuss plans for the 1960 summer Olympic games, which are to be held in Rome.

Lou Little Calls 'em

While it is true that game statistics are not as important as those figures that show up on the scoreboard at the end of the game, it is still true that they can teach you a lot about football.

Looking over the statistics of contests played thus far, especially those of teams that appear headed for high national rankings, you will find that in nearly every instance the greater part of the ground-gaining has been in the running game.

The forward pass has been used enough to be effective in keeping the defensive teams "honest" in their alignments, of course; enough to keep them from being set up wholly against the running plays.

Any team foolhardy enough to try to stop running plays only would, naturally, be wide open to the pass.

The pass, an important and integral part of the football offense, is being used well, especially because it is being used in proper proportion to running plays.

Take a look at some of these figures from the most recent games. Navy gained 394 yards running and 166 passing last Saturday. Michigan State ran for 441 and passed for 129. Army ran for 341 and passed for 83. Penn State gained 268 running and 79 passing. With Michigan it was 191 and 87; with North Carolina State 178 and 64. There were many more but these were quite typical of the representative teams.

FRIDAY NIGHT

Pittsburgh over Southern California—But it will be no upset either way.

SATURDAY AFTERNOON

Army over Penn State—Two real good teams meet, but Cadets clear first hurdle.

Penn over Dartmouth—It's close but Penn's line may swing it.

Navy over North Carolina—Tarheels alert and improving, but Navy has too many guns.

North Carolina State over Clemson—But State's opportunities must guard against let-down.

Tennessee over Mississippi State—Tennessee will bounce back strongly.

Holy Cross over Dayton — Purple an improved attacking force tomorrow.

Texas A & M over Missouri—But Missouri building, is no easy mark.

SATURDAY NIGHT

LSU line developing and backs are good.

RICE over Stanford—In a contest that will test both pass defenses.

TEXAS over South Carolina—Texas has confidence, momentum in fast start under new regime.

UCLA over Oregon — UCLANS are building well.

Ronnie Knox Suspended

Stepfather to Sue Halas

CHICAGO (AP) — Harvey Knox, stepfather of quarterback Ronnie Knox, says he is going to sue George Halas, owner of the Chicago Bears.

Halas yesterday suspended Ronnie for "wilful violation of rules and regulations of the club." He said the rookie quarterback missed two club practices in 12 days and also did not show up for special quarterback tutoring session three days this week.

"When we are officially notified about the suspension, we'll call in our lawyers and sue for breach of contract and misrepresentation," said Harvey. "We will fight Halas in court, letting the chips fall where they may, until there no longer is any money left in the Knox coffers, if necessary."

Ronnie, with Harvey usually doing most of the talking, has figured in a series of controversies. Ronnie left the University of California after one season with his stepfather charging that Ronnie wasn't played enough and the school did not live up to its outside job promises.

At UCLA, Harvey and coach Red Sanders often were at swordspoint and Ronnie eventually left. He later had a movie contract briefly, played pro ball in Canada and served a stint in California's national guard.

Harvey, when asked if Ronnie would leave the Bears, said: "Halas hasn't enough power or skunk tactics to make the boy quit."

Big California Guard to Miss Spartan Game

Intersectional Contest on National Television Saturday at 4:30

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP)—Proverb Jacobs, the University of California's giant guard, will not be in the Bear lineup for the nationally televised battle with Michigan State Saturday.

Coach Pete Elliott said yesterday Jacobs, who weighs 232 pounds, entered Cowell hospital at Berkeley for a checkup of a condition that indicated a possible kidney disorder.

This first meeting between the two schools is set for the Memorial Stadium turf with the nation watching in the television game-of-the-week. Starting time is 4:30 p. m., EST.

Elliott, in his first year at the Bear helm, has not been quite as successful, having dropped two close decisions to highly-rated opponents — 13-6 to Southern Methodist, and 13-7 to Washington State.

Heading Elliott's backfield corps is quarterback Joe Kapp, a husky 200-pounder, who has excellent support from halfbacks Jack Hart and Darrell Roberts and fullback Art Forbes, all of whom are experienced performers.

Michigan State, with sharp performances from its first two units and good play from a host of other substitutions provided Daugherty with "the finest opening game I have seen here," as it defeated Indiana.

Clawson Blanks Oak Park, 27-0

Acton Scores Two TDs as Trojans Grind Out 3rd Straight Win

Clawson High School's football powerhouse hammered out a 27-0 victory over outmanned Oak Park Thursday night at Clawson. It was the 3rd straight win for the Trojans.

The fighting Redskins held Clawson at bay until the last five minutes of the 1st half when fullback Lowell Acton scored the 1st of his two touchdowns on a 15-yard burst through the middle.

Clawson tallied twice in the 3rd quarter. Quarterback George Almashy sneaked across from two yards out to complete a 67-yard drive and Acton bulled over from the five yard line to finish a march of 38 yards.

The Trojans scored their final touchdown in the last two minutes of play when halfback Dave Rehse scooted across from the 10 yard stripe. Pat Hanes kicked three extra points.

Acton suffered a leg injury midway through the 4th period and was taken to the hospital for treatment.

Tigers Ink Infielder for Class B Farm

Viking Cross Country Team Defeats Falcons

A second place finish by Bill Hosley paced the Walled Lake cross country team to a 24 to 37 victory over Farmington yesterday, John Marsh of Farmington won the meet in a time of 10:12.

Foursomes Begin Play

U.S. Ryder Team in Lead

Doug Ford of New York and Dow Finsterwald of Tequesta, Fla., led in the first of the four scotch foursomes that opened the two-day competition. They made a 3 up lead after nine holes stand up for a 1 up lead after 18 holes of the morning round over the English pair of Peter Alliss and Bernard Hunt. They finished the 18 holes in 68, two under par, while Alliss and Hunt posted a 69.

Art Wall of Pocono Manor, Pa. and Fred Hawkins of El Paso, Tex. were 2 up at the turn over Ken Bousfield and Dai Rees while Ted Kroll of Fort Lauderdale, Fla. and Jack Burke, of Bellaire, Tex. held a 1 up edge over Max Faulkner and Harry Weetman.

Dick Mayer of La Jolla, Calif. and Tommy Bolt of Los Angeles also led at the turn in the last foursome match. They led Christy O'Connor, Ireland, and Eric Brown Scotland, 1 up.

It is 24 years since Britain defeated the United States in the Ryder Cup. Experts say that if Britain does not do it this time, then they never will. The Americans have won the Cup nine times and Britain twice.

Pairings for today's foursomes: Doug Ford, Mahopac, N. Y. and Dow Finsterwald of Tequesta, Fla. vs. Peter Alliss and Bernard Hunt, England.

Wolverines Vie Georgia in 1st Home Encounter

Peach State Gridders Figured to Be Three Touchdown Underdogs

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Tenth-ranked Michigan meets three-touchdown underdog Georgia here tomorrow in a game designed to test the Wolverines for the rocky Big Ten road ahead.

Ticket manager Don Weir predicts 80,000 spectators will sit in on the first game between the two teams. Kickoff for the intersectional battle will be at 1:30 P.M.

Michigan is plagued by nightmarish memories of its opener last week. The Wolverines held off determined Southern California 16-6 but looked nothing like the gridiron giants they had been called.

Georgia, as forecast in the preseason, has shown little strength. The Bulldogs have lost twice, to Texas 26-7 and Vanderbilt 9-6.

Coach Bennie Oosterbaan has worked his Michigan team hard this week in an effort to apply more polish. Toward the end of the week, the Wolverines showed signs of snapping out of their doldrums. They were crackling through their plays with finesse.

They've fumbled 13 times in their two games. This week they've practiced in steady rain every day. Both lines average about 208 pounds. But Michigan is given the edge due to experience.

Georgia has two promising sophomore quarterbacks in Charley Brett and Tommy Lewis. Both are young and still prone to making mistakes, but are said to be Butts' best passers in several seasons.

The Bulldogs also have one of the best pass catchers in Dixie, in righthalf back Jimmy Orr. He led the southeastern conference in receiving two years ago and is on top again this season.

Series Scoring Low

NEW YORK (AP) — The 10 runs scored thus far — five by each team — is the lowest total for the first two series games since 1951 when the Giants beat the Yanks 5-1 in the opener and the Yanks took the second 3-1.

Coleman Leads Hitters

NEW YORK (AP) — Of the regulars, Jerry Coleman, .500, of the Yanks and the Braves' Wes Covington, .500, took the Series fattest batting averages to Milwaukee, but Hank Bauer, New York rightfielder had a Series consecutive hitting streak of nine consecutive games.

Major Hoople Picks 'Em

By MAJOR AMOS B. HOOPLE

Egad! A paean of plaudits has welled up across the land concerning the upsets I have given my gentle readers in advance — but I am not satisfied.

It is impossible for your versatile correspondent to be reconciled with anything but perfection. Therefore he has had to dismiss his chief astronomer, Dr. Vladimir McGrath, who predicted the tie game between Southern California and Oregon State. As you know the Trojans were beaten rather handily.

Dr. McGrath's explanation that he became confused by the label on a bottle of three-star refreshment seemed to me to be lame indeed. I have replaced him with the learned Romney Schultz, Jr.

Juicy upsets for this week are

Flu Bug Takes Toll of Football Games

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

The flu bug has taken its toll of high school football activity as a long list of games around the state scheduled for tonight were either cancelled or postponed.

Pontiac's home encounter with Ferndale at Wisner Stadium, slated for tonight, was called off because of the pesky sniffle-spreader.

During the week, coach Ted Meister at Ferndale indicated that many of his players were stricken with the flu and yesterday when only 14 boys were left healthy on the squad, Meister announced he would not be able to play the game.

Pontiac also had several members of its squad hit by the flu, however, because most of the varsity was intact, attempts were made to get a substitute opponent for tonight without success.

Other area grid teams including Waterford and Holly were playing their games today with only a partial roster.

The Skippers, playing at Farmington this afternoon, will be without its entire starting backfield, including all five of the team's quarterbacks.

Halfback John Herrington, with only two days of practice, will call the signals for Waterford.

Holly will meet West Bloomfield tonight with both teams suffering the effects of the flu.

Twelve prep games were called off in Detroit, and all of the Grand Rapids schools were forced to postpone or cancel their games because of the city-wide epidemic.

Grand Rapids Catholic Central was slated to be at Flint Northern tonight but that contest will not be played.

The Pontiac-Ferndale game has not been definitely reset, however arrangements are being made for possibly playing it the last week of the season. This would be Friday, November 22.

In Detroit, hardest hit was U. of D. High which had its game with Redford stopped by the flu.

Plymouth High, with 19 of 31 players stricken, will reschedule its game with Allen Park, Benton Harbor also postponed its clash with South Bend, Ind., and Hudsonville postponed its game with Freemont.

There were many other games around the state which were doubtful of being played tonight.

Rochester High School had an open date this weekend, but many of its gridders missed practice sessions this week.

Little Trouble Ahead for Grid Powers

Top 10 Teams Have Easy Weekend

If there is trouble brewing for the nation's top 10 college football teams Saturday it doesn't show in the over-all scores of the ranked elevens and their opponents.

In going undefeated in 14 games, the teams comprising the first 10 in this week's Associated Press poll have rolled up a total of 460 points while holding their opponents to 72.

By contrast their opponents this week have won only five, lost 10 and tied three. In the 18 games, they scored only a total of 189 points while yielding 256.

On the basis of scores, not one from top ranked Oklahoma on down to tenth rated Michigan has been really tested. And by the same line of reasoning, it would be on upset if any of them bit the dust Saturday.

The potent Oklahoma Sooner, idle last week after blanking Pitt 26-0, go after their 42nd successive victory with Iowa State (1-0-1) as their opponents. Oklahoma has not been beaten by a Big Eight Conference team since Bud Wilkinson took over the coaching reins 10 years ago.

Second ranked Michigan State, 1-0 after blasting Indiana 54-0 in the Spartans' opener, meets winless California (0-2) in the game that will be seen on the national television screens. NBC will turn on its cameras at Berkeley, Calif., after completion of the World Series game at Milwaukee.

Minnesota, 46-7 conqueror of Washington in its only outing, meets Purdue, 0-1, after losing 12-0 to Notre Dame, in a Big Ten Conference opener for both. Duke, 2-0 with 26-14 conquest of South Carolina and 40-0 victors over Virginia, takes on disappointing Maryland (0-2).

The Texas Aggies, with a 21-13 victory over Maryland and a 21-0 blanking of Texas Tech to show for two starts, meet Missouri, 1-0-1 with a 7-7 tie with Vanderbilt and 35-13 victory over Arizona.

Navy, considered by many experts to be the best in the East after thrashing Boston College 46-6 and William & Mary 33-6, clashes with North Carolina (1-1) while Auburn, surprise 7-0 conqueror of Tennessee in its lone effort, should have no trouble against Chattanooga (1 0-1).

Iowa's Hawkeyes, who showed a great potential in downing Utah State 70-14, are at home to another intersectional opponent in Washington State (1-1). Oregon State, with a 20-0 victory over Southern California and 34-6 victory over Kansas, also steps out of its league for a clash with Northwestern (0-1).

Michigan, figured to be one of the title threats in the Big Ten, entertains Georgia (0-2) after turning back Southern California 16-6 in its only other start.

Although the nation's first 10 teams are favored, an oriental-type bug which causes influenza may have a say on the outcome of the games. Iowa, for one, has been hit hard. Coach Forest Evashevaski called off Thursday's practice because of a flu epidemic and said "We have no idea as to what players will be able to play Saturday."

STRIKES AND SPARES
By Joe Wilman

Today, let's take up the fourth and final step in the four-step approach. If your footwork, arm swing and timing have all been correct up to this point, you should resemble the bowler in today's drawing.

Note how his left leg and right arm are moving forward together in perfect timing. Both knees are bent slightly, allowing him to bring the ball forward in an arc just above the level of the alley bed. The bent left knee also allows him to cushion his slide. It acts somewhat like a shock absorber as you slide to a stop. Your slide, incidentally, can be as short or as long as you like; but when you finish the slide, you should be from two to six inches behind the foul line.

Keep your right arm fairly straight, but don't let it become stiff or tense. Keep it relaxed, yet straight.

Be sure your body continues to face your target throughout your delivery and follow-through.

Howe Scores 2 in Wing Win

CHATHAM, Ont. (AP) — Gordie Howe scored two goals and assisted on another in pulling the Detroit Red Wings to an uphill 5-2 victory over the Edmonton Flyers last night.

The game marked the end of the seven pre-season series between the National Hockey League champions and their No. 1 farm club from the Western League.

The Wings have won four and tied three.

Cummy Burton and Charley Holmes got the Flyers off to a 2-1 lead. But Howe, who evened the first counter, knotted it again midway in the second period.

Forbes Kennedy, Red Kelly and Norm Ullman added the other tallies for Detroit.

Pontiac's Beach 6th in Rushing Yardage

NEW YORK (AP) — Two Michigan football players are among the nation's top ten in total offense and rushing according to the NCAA's statistics of the small college football teams.

Burdette Joins Sain

NEW YORK (AP) — The last Braves' pitcher before Burdette to go the distance in a Series was Johnny Sain, for whom Burdette was dealt by the Yanks along with $50,000 in 1951. Sain turned the trick in the fourth game of 1948 against Cleveland.

Heavy League Activity on Prep Front

League activity begins a "hot and heavy" schedule today as Oakland County area prep football teams enter the 3rd week of the 1957 season.

Conference play heretofore has been spotty, but schoolboy gridders start their title drives in earnest today, headed by a full slate of games in the Wayne-Oakland, Inter-Lakes and Southern Thumb circuits.

The top attraction in the Wayne-Oakland Conference matches Milford and Bloomfield Hills on the Hills' field in an afternoon scrap.

Milford, leading the W-O loop with a 2-0 record, could trip over this one. The contest will feature two of the area's better backs, Pat Kelley of Milford and the Barons' Jim Kearney.

In W-O games under the lights, West Bloomfield plays host to powerful Holly, Clarkston entertains winless Clarenceville and defending champion Northville goes to Brighton.

Walled Lake and Waterford, pre-season favorites to slug it out for the Inter-Lakes crown, open their league campaigns this afternoon and the initiations may be rough.

The Vikings, undefeated in two starts but still unimpressive, invades Southfield to meet a Bluejay squad which has been surprisingly strong thus far. Waterford, whose best effort in two tries has been a 6-6 tie with Lapeer, visits Farmington to face the unpredictable Falcons.

Only two Oakland B contests are scheduled tonight — Madison at Avondale and Lake Orion at Fitzgerald. Troy goes to Roseville for a non-league encounter.

Unbeaten Almont resumes its bid for the Southern Thumb title at New Haven against the team it shared honors with a year ago. Winless Dryden entertains undefeated Brown City while Armada, with two lopsided triumphs to its credit, goes to Memphis.

The other member of the Thumb loop, Capac, sees action tonight in Royal Oak's Memorial Stadium against Madison Heights Lamphere, a school conducting its 1st year of football.

Imlay City opens defense of its South Central crown at home with Millington while Ortonville is playing host to Flint Hoover and North Branch is entertaining Frankenmuth in non-league tilts.

The Class A Eastern Michigan League race will get a rousing sendoff tonight when Birmingham visits Mt. Clemens. Utica's jaunt to Center Line heads a three-game card in the Bi-County League.

Other games of area interest are Lapeer at Owosso, Royal Oak Dondero at Monroe and Royal Oak Kimball at Hazel Park.

LAKER HOPEFULS — Don Bradley, left, 210-pound center, tackle Lou Doyle, center, and end Ken Armstrong are hopeful starters for West Bloomfield as the Lakers face strong Holly in a Wayne-Oakland league game tonight. Doyle missed the Walled Lake game with the flu and may not be able to play at all. Bradley has been nursing a broken toe but should be ready for duty along with Armstrong.

Skowron Still Ailing

NEW YORK (AP) — Bill Skowron, the first of four Yankee first basemen to have played in this series, was still very much in pain yesterday after reinjuring his back in Wednesday's opener. His back is badly twisted and his hips are out of line. The sacroiliac condition could possibly end his career at the age of 26.

Mikes Travel to St. Benedict

Eaglets-Freds Highlight Parochial Card

By BILL CORNWELL

The Pontiac area's three parochial strongholds — St. Michael, St. Frederick and Orchard Lake St. Mary — hope to atone for their football sins Sunday afternoon in Suburban Catholic League action.

St. Mike, with 48 minutes of determined play, may be able to do it. But St. Fred and Orchard Lake meet each other and, barring a tie, only one will be redeemed.

Shamrock coach Bob Mineweaser, unable to hide his disappointment over the 13-0 setback his team absorbed from St. Rita here Sunday, takes his squad to Highland Park to face St. Benedict, the team which routed Orchard Lake, 38-12.

The Rams of Gene Wright, still licking the wounds of a 25-18 loss to St. James at Ferndale, invade Orchard Lake to tackle an ill-tempered band of Eaglets in a contest vitally important to both schools.

All three Catholic elevens had sorry afternoons last Sunday. St. Fred didn't start moving until the 2nd half when it was too late, St. Mike never did get going and the Eaglets were pushed all over the field by St. Ben.

It should have been particularly embarrassing for the Eaglets, proud holders of two straight Suburban Catholic titles and given a fighting chance of capturing the crown again.

"My boys didn't act like they wanted to play ball," said Rev. John Rakoczy, "they had no spirit." Could be he's right, because they spent most of the afternoon in futile pursuit of halfback Larry Gacki, who scored six touchdowns.

Maybe St. Mary felt victimized by the Ravens, who snapped the Eaglets' 19-game winning streak in the final game of the 1956 season. At any rate, it was an unhappy season opener for St. Mary.

Both St. Fred and Orchard Lake are struggling with the flu this week while trying to get ready for Sunday. Half a dozen of Wright's regulars have been ill and the bug invaded the Orchard Lake campus yesterday, sidelining a few players.

Adding to St. Mary's woes is the fact that starting left end Pete Krystek will be out of action with an injury. Replacing him will be Bill Votruba, a junior.

The Mikes will have to be more alert defensively than they were last Sunday if they hope to bottle up Gacki or anything else the Ravens offer. The offense, punchless against St. Rita, must also come into its own.

St. Benedict is unbeaten in two games. The Rams and St. Mike will carry 1-1 records into Sunday's activity.

BRUISING BULLDOG — Hard-hitting fullback Angus Stirling will be one of the boys Oxford must stop tonight to upset the high-riding Romeo eleven. The 180-pound runner tallied two touchdowns last week against Avondale.

Same Finalists Possibility in Senior Amateur

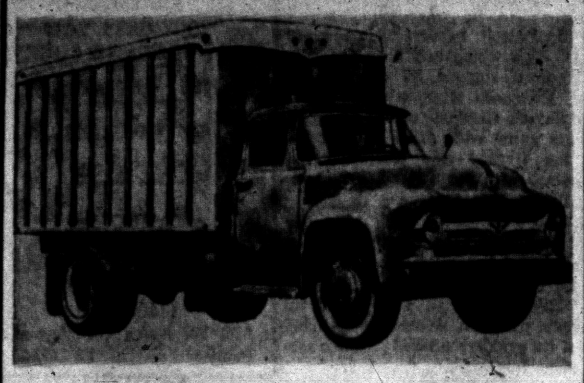

PARAMUS, N. J. (AP)—A repeat of the 1956 final was in prospect today for the United States Golf Assn.'s Senior Amateur Championship.

Last year's finalists, Fred J. Wright of Watertown, Mass., and Clark Espie of Indianapolis both were favored in today's 18-hole semifinal tests at the Ridgewood Country Club.

Wright's opponent was James McAlvin of Lake Forest, Ill., while Espie faced John M. Winters of Tulsa, Okla. Wright defeated Espie, 4 and 3, last year at Duluth, Minn.

The first stadium erected on the site of Michigan State's present 76,000-seat football house was built in 1923 to hold 14,000 people.

Skippers Drop Harrier Meet by Single Point

For lack of one point to tie, or two to win, Waterford High school's cross-country team yesterday afternoon lost its 2nd meet of the season. Skipper harriers were edged 27-28 by Van Dyke.

The differential was Jim Devine, Skipper ace, who was ill, and did not run. His teammate Ed Bartels was first home at 10:31 and Waterford had half of the first 10. Van Dyke's Teaney was 2nd at 10:56.

Skippers meet Milford next Tuesday at Waterford.

WHAT? A GIRL! — The end on the Pee Wee League football team in a little Kentucky town was named Bobby Dickerson, age 13. The opponents were always saying, "When that end hits you, it's like getting hit with a truck." Coach Bill Mohr, after several games, finally realized that Bobby was a girl.

Mickey Having His Troubles on Fly Balls

NEW YORK (AP) — Is Mickey Mantle getting too confident on fly balls hit to him in center field?

It's not that the star New York Yankee outfielder misjudged Hank Aaron's drive into a triple in the second inning of yesterday's second game of the World Series. The fact is that it was the third time at Yankee Stadium this season that it has happened to the "Switcher."

Aaron's drive, that was ruled a three-bagger, led to Milwaukee's first run in the Braves' 4-2 victory. Mickey appeared very confident as he backed up slowly, but the ball fell over his head.

"It carried better than I thought," said Mickey afterwards. "I should have caught it. When he first hit it I thought I would catch it easily."

Yanks Making Errors

NEW YORK (AP) — The Yankees have made the only three errors—by Mickey Mantle, Tony Kubek and Elston Howard. The Braves, meanwhile, have handled 73 chances flawlessly.

Hunting for Grouse Good in Vicinity of Gaylord

By JACK PATTERSON

GAYLORD — After spending yesterday finding out how other hunters were doing we decided to go out this morning with the watersmeet gang and find out for ourselves if there really are any ruffed grouse in the upper. Well, we put in the whole morning and early afternoon fiddling around and finally agreed we'd beter jump into the rough going and get with it.

PATTERSON

The writer shot four birds in about half an hour and should have had another. The only secret it there is any in where to find birds lies in mixed cover—not too much of any one type of vegetation.

Grouse, like people, go for variety in their surroundings. We'd very much have liked to put in some more field time with the boys, but we've got a couple of brothers waiting for up in Lovells and felt it was time to get a move on.

In order to make the earliest possible, move we did. Two hundred seventy four miles in two hundred seventy minutes is, as some wag put it, better than flying — just as fast but closer to the ground.

On the way we reflected that the Mackinac bridge will have the advantage of making such forced draft runs unnecessary.

We didn't see a woodcock anywhere in the upper but learned this evening that they are beginning to show up in numbers in Mackinac county. Frosts the past two nights have probably started the flight birds moving.

We are interested in cheuking some of the L. P. counties to see how bird populations compare with last season's flushing reports. One county, Oscoda, we don't think we'll bother with.

Probably not a bird remains. What with the gang of Clarkston nimrods quartered at Pokahontas park. The list of slayers who, for all we know, may have already wiped out every grouse in the area includes Rolfe Smith, C. R. Anderson, L. F. Greene, C. C. Rockwell, R. L. Jones, R. C. Jones and Ray Jarvis. As if that weren't bad enough for the future of the grouse herd. The list also includes Byron Nolan, Frank Rouk and Keith Hallman.

Relief Pitching Tops

NEW YORK (AP) — The Series' relief pitchers — Bob Grim and Art Ditmar of the Yankees and Don McMahon and Ernie Johnson of the Braves — have turned in 9 2-3 innings of shutout ball. Together, they've yielded only four hits, walked one and struck out seven.

British Soldier Deserted Army to See 5 Babies

PLYMOUTH, England (AP)—Gunner Bartholmew Meehan received 14 days compassionate leave from the British army to visit his wife and their new baby in 1951. He came back six years later.

At a court-martial yesterday on a charge of desertion, Meehan said he just couldn't seem to get away from his wife.

When he wanted to give himself up in 1952, she disclosed that she was going to have another baby. The same thing happened in 1953—and again in 1954, 1955 and 1956.

Upon learning that no child was expectable this year, Meehan told the court, he surrendered to the military police.

Grains Steady in Early Trade

CHICAGO (AP) — Grain futures were steady in early dealings on the board of trade today.

Corn prices held within fractions of previous levels and there was pretty fair demand at the lower levels on resting orders. Overnight the Commodity Credit Corp. sold 1,685,000 bushels of corn for export.

Wheat held about steady with the December andd March deliveries firmer, apparently on a carryover of yesterday's spreading operation. There was little commercial buying and export demand continued flat.

Soybeans attracted professional selling in early dealings and there also were scattered offerings. Some buying was on resting order demand. Overnight receipts at Chicago totaled 579,000 bushels, which is considered very large. Weather for harvesting continued excellent.

Near the end of the first hour, new style wheat was unchanged to ¾ higher, Dec. $2.17⅜; corn was ⅛ to ¼ higher, Dec. $1.20¾; oats were ⅛ to ¼ higher, Dec. 67⅜; rye was ¾ to 1⅛ higher, Dec. $1.28½; soybeans were ⅜ to ½ higher, Nov. $2.27½; and lard was unchanged to 12 cents a hundred pounds lower, Oct. $11.02.

San Marino Reds Blockaded by Italy

SAN MARINO (AP)—Italy's tight blockade threatened today to starve San Marino's Red leaders into submission. They are locked in a fight with anti-Communists.

Food stocks were getting low as Italian police blocked all seven roads into the world's smallest republic. One public market already had closed because it had nothing to sell. The other had only a few potatoes, tomatoes and grapes.

What food reached the 38-square-mile country and its 40,000 people was smuggled in at black market prices by persons skirting the roadblocks and sneaking across the fields at night. Italian police brought up two tanks to the border again last night and used their searchlights to spot smugglers and infiltrators.

San Marino's Communist government still had 70 armed militiamen inside the old stone government house, but was feeling shaky.

Postmaster, Railroads Agree on Mail Rates

WASHINGTON (INS) — Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield and the southern railroads have agreed an a 13½ per cent gross increase in mail pay rates.

The increase, retroactive to Sept. 1, will cost the government an estimated three million dollars a year. The agreement reached yesterday must be approved by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Summerfield said the boost is intended to compensate southern carriers for cost increases since present rates were set in 1954.

Plan Candy Cane Lane

BATTLE CREEK (AP)—Downtown Michigan Ave. will be turned into "candy cane lane" for the Christmas shopping season. Merchants were told that the old Christmas decorations put too much stress on utility poles. The new canes weigh only 10 pounds apiece. Every other pole in the business area will be decked out with one of the canes.

The number of persons 65 and over in the United States has quadrupled since 1900. The total population has only doubled in the same time.

Stock Picture: Quiet, Lower

Pivotal issues took losses of from fractions to around a point, but there was a good scattering of small gainers.

The market was mixed at the opening in fairly active trading, but minus signs increased in later transactions.

Despite President Eisenhower's statement yesterday that he would oppose further cuts in defense outlays, aircrafts continued to lose ground slightly today.

International Nickel and Gulf Oil also were down about a point each. Other losers included U. S. Steel, General Motors, Ford, Goodyear, Kennecott, Allied Chemical and Illinois Central.

Small gains were posted for Chrysler, Baltimore & Ohio, Santa Fe and Twentieth Cenutry-Fox.

Opening blocks included: General Motors, off ⅝—at 40¼ on 6,500 shares; Anaconda off ⅛ at 51¼ on 1,000; and Johns-Manville up ⅝ at 43 on 1,000.

Plymouth Sends 2,200 Workers Home

DETROIT (INS)—A shortage of car bodies today forced Chrysler to send home about 2,200 workers at its Plymouth Assembly Plant on Lynch road.

Work at the Mack Plant resumed today after officials of United Auto Workers Local 212 warned body framing employes the work stoppages were illegal and ordered them to return to their jobs.

School Chums See Promises Come True

One predicted: "Someday I'm going to be the governor of Texas."

Asked the first boy: "When you get to be governor, will you come and speak to my congregation?"

"Sure I will," replied the second.

That promise will be fulfilled Sunday morning when Gov. Price Daniel speaks to Dr. J. A. Lovell's congregation at the First Covenant Church in Dallas.

To cut down speeding in New York, a law was passed in 1652 which compelled drivers to walk beside their vehicles.

Terry Moore Is Now Trying Shakespeare

By EARL WILSON

WILSON

"No one's ever played Juliet right," soliloquized Terry. "Olivia De Havilland got murdered, Vivian Leigh got killed. At least I could come closer to looking 14 years old. "Why," she demanded, "do most Juliets have to be 48 or 50?"

Terry's husband likes to swim and play a little gin, but she hauled him off on a weekend to the Straford, Conn., playhouse, where she made him lap up three Shakespeares in two days.

"Her project is to act," says her husband, analytically. "Often, though, with project people, the penalty's greater than the reward. I'm notifying her now"— he leveled a finger—"that if she doesn't get me one breakfast this month in Panama City, she's fired!"

Terry's rassling Shakespeare with top coaches and may take on the "Wherefore art thou, Romeo" romp next year. She could retire to a life of ease, but she doesn't want to be remembered just for an ermine-trimmed bathing suit.

TERRY

I wish her luck and incidentally I'll probably be doing the Bard bit every night when she starts, because Terry should be able to make Shakespeare popular even with guys who can't read.

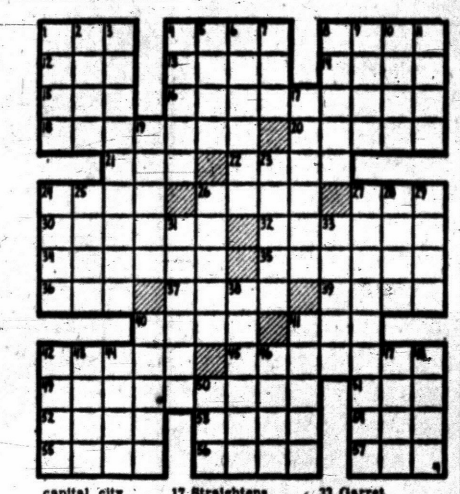

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Harry Hershfield tells of a man who sent the Govt. $500 taxes he'd evaded because he couldn't sleep. "I hope I can sleep tonight," he said, "but if I can't, tomorrow I'll send you the balance." . . . Jack Barry did the "21" show though suffering from blood poisoning; he may be hospitalized . . . Former Yankee Billy Martin reportedly rejected a $1,000 offer to cover the Series . . . Victor Borge will get more than $160,000 for a one-shot TV'er—Feb. 19 for Pontiac . . . There's a shortage of recording rooms here; some disc stars go to Chicago for a single platter session . . . Steve Allen wants Jerry Lester, Dagmar, Milton DeLugg and all the old Broadway Open House crowd on his show soon . . . Frank Sinatra paid $1,000 for the painting that'll adorn his Christmas album . . . Slapsie Maxie Rosenbloom says he'll team with stripper Dixie Evans as a cafe act.

U.S. Tourists Feel at Home

Stations Abroad Blare All Kinds of American Pop Melodies

By WILLIAM GLOVER

Sometimes the words are different (you haven't really lived until you've heard a Danish crooner tackle "Taking a Chance on Love!"), but the tunes that swarm the airwaves are the same songs they've got in Keokuk and Walla Walla:

There are also some surprises for the traveler's pocket set:

String quartets follow cricket from London's BBC;

BLESSED QUIET

The dominant impression gained from eavesdropping on a cross-section of Western Europe's air fare is the overwhelming popularity of American tunes—from "My Fair Lady" back to "Babes in Toyland." London, Copenhagen, Rome, Brussels. The pattern is the same.

As you get on an excursion boat, the radio is blaring "When Mexico Stopped the Rhumba, It Was for Rock 'n' Roll."

The red-white-and-blue pattern isn't aimed at the visitors, of course, but at the home folks who have apparently succumbed unanimously to be-bop, cha-cha, the Ink Spots, Frankie Laine—and most of all to Louis "Satchmo" Armstrong.

He's the man whose records you hear most.

Only Stockholm has a program aimed at tourists directly—mostly weather, news and where to get today's best bargain souvenirs. That is dispatched early, so the score of "Carousel" can start spinning.

A BIT DIFFERENT

Aside from the familiarity of the melody, a traveling Yankee (Southerners are Yankees too to Europeans, and that's that) notes certain differences between the programming at home and on this elder continent.

Because most of the transmitters are state-operated, the commercial plug is absent.

And there are no mystery stories, few kiddie programs, and the quiz shows avoid the frenetic fury of their overseas twins for a more leisurely and erudite tone.

Panelists are still debating on BBC whether Spakespeare wrote Shakespeare.

A diesel-powered freight train came to a sudden and definite stop recently near Flemington, N. J. It had run out of gas. The engineer had to send in to Flemington for 200 gallons of diesel oil to get moving again.

Lanza Embarks on New Career

One-Time Bad Boy in Europe Making Films for MGM

ROME (AP) — Mario Lanza, one-time bad boy of Hollywood, has embarked on a new career in Europe.

The 32-year-old American tenor has lost 60 pounds, getting down to 184 on a diet of salads, veal and sometimes a little cheese. He has just finished work on the first of half a dozen European-made motion pictures for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer—the studio that one suspended and sued him.

His friends say Lanza has gotten his temper under control. Coworkers say he is working hard. His director says his voice is better than it has ever been.

"I'm going to live here at least two years," says Lanza. "It's opened up a whole new life, just being in Europe. I feel I'm going to fit in here."

"He was a sick man," says the singer's friend Irving Aronson of the period in the United States when Mario ballooned in size, failed to fill a Las Vegas engagement and was accused of breaking his movie contract.

Aronson, an MGM employe, has known Lanza 10 years and has been musical adviser on all his pictures. He says:

"Everyone has had mental setbacks. I don't imagine many people in the business world could survive seeing two million dollars go down the drain, like Mario did in Hollywood.

"Mario is a man who can drink

a glass of water and gain weight. He blew up like a balloon and looked bad. How much? Oh, 240 or 245 pounds. Mario knew he looked bad.

In his new picture, "The Seven Hills of Rome," Lanza plays an American television star who comes to Italy searching for an American girl. He falls in love with an Italian girl. In the picture he sings 10 songs.

STREAMLINED FOR ECONOMY — Don't be surprised if that U. S. Savings Bond you buy from now on looks and feels a little different — it's just been streamlined. The new smaller bond is going to have more punch. In fact it has 13 punches — all of which mean something to the Treasury Department. In addition to the smaller size printing saving the taxpayer $500,000 a year, it might also prevent some of those washing machine tragedies, caused when the fellows had to fold the old bond, then forgot to remove it from a shirt pocket. The new bond is 7⅝x3¼ inches.

Faulty Map Causes Break in Gas Service

MILTON, W. Va. (AP)—A gas company employe turned the wrong valves here and this Cabell County community was without service from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m. yesterday.

A spokesman for United Fuel Gas Co. said the Southern Public Service Co., which operates in the Milton area, blamed it all on a faulty map.

A pipeline was being repaired and, according to the map, the work area could be isolated by turning two valves, leaving Milton's supply undisturbed.

But when the valves were closed, the company said, the city's gas supply was interrupted.

Financial Crisis Hits Britain

Run on English Pound Forces Nation to Draw on U.S. Credit

NEW YORK (AP)—The run on the British pound by speculators has pulled her reserve of gold and dollars below the theoretical danger point of two billion dollars. But Uncle Sam stands ready to help as in the past when Britain had one of her recurring financial crises.

This time Britain will draw on a 500-million-dollar credit given her by the United States Export-Import Bank. If the pound needs further bolstering there is also a 750-million-dollar credit approved by the International Monetary Fund.

And Britain herself has taken a drastic move to stop the run by raising the bank rate to 7 per cent. This is the rate that the Bank of England charges for funds it supplies to commercial banks and the rate tends to set the scale of interest in general.

The rate was raised from 5 per cent to fight one of the underlying causes of the run on the pound—inflation. In this country the similar rate—the discount rate of the federal reserve banks—has been raised to 3.5 per cent. Here, too, tightening of money and credit was aimed at the same foe—inflation.

Italy Expands Airports

ROME. — Italy's whole airport network is being rebuilt and improved. At present Rome-Ciampino and Milan-Malpensa are the only airports classified as intercontinental. New airports are being built in Venice, Palermo, and Genoa.

Mutation of Cells Involved

Discover Clues to Cancer

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Researchers at the University of California virus laboratory say two clues—one involving the mutation of cells—might possibly lead them to the cause of cancer.

The search centers on the mutation of cells of the womb sac that surrounds the unborn infant and in tiny particles that appear spontaneously in various malignant cells.

Nobel prize winner Wendell Stanley and Dr. Robley Williams revealed the leads for the first time yesterday in a report to the California division of the American Cancer Society. The society supports their work.

Dr. Stanley said the sac tissues readily grew in test tubes, providing an ideal material in which to cultivate viruses.

As reproduction continues, he explained, parts are placed in other test tubes and they form the nuclei for further independent colonies. Somewhere in this process mutation occurs, he said.

Dr. Stanley and his colleagues found the cells, after several generations, were not identical with those of the parent tissue. They had doubled the number of their chromosomes — the genetic sections that establish hereditary traits.

Dr. Stanley said this phase of the search now seeks the exact moment when the cells become cancer-causing. If the point of change or mutation can be determined, he explained, then microscopic and chemical tests may show how a human or animal cell suddenly turns cancerous.

Dr. Williams told how he found in dozens of different types of cancers during microscopic examinations a seemingly identical particle not present in normal cells. The problem, he said, is to find whether this particle exists in all cancer cells and what it is.

Both Dr. Williams and Dr. Stanley suggest the particle may be a virus, which fits Dr. Stanley's recently announced hypothesis that all cancer is a virus disease.

The sac or amniotic tissue research might fit this theory, Dr. Stanley said, since it is possible the mutation might permit a latent virus to become active at a given point.
