Huskie Criss Has Other Ideas

Tells Senators Hoffa's Local in Detroit Cost Big Financial Loss

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Negro truck driver testified today he has been subjected to costly racial discrimination by Teamster President James R. Hoffa's home Local 299 in Detroit.

An immediate investigation was ordered by the Senate Rackets Committee.

The driver, Ross Hill, of Compton, Calif., told the committee he believes the situation has improved a bit in the last couple of years.

But, Hill said that in the earlier 1950s the local barred all but about six Negroes from its 12,000 membership. The ban, Hill said, cost him severe financial losses.

He said the six Negroes got in only because they were on payrolls of big trucking firms the local had organized and it had to take them.

Hill said he has been told the local now allows a percentage of Negroes but that he doesn't know how many have been admitted.

Sen. Barry Goldwater (R-Ariz), presiding in the absence of Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark), called racial discrimination in a union "one of the most atrocious things."

He ordered the committee staff to send investigators to Detroit to look into the alleged discrimination, saying he would not belive anything the local's officials might say about it in a telephone interview.

Committee Counsel Robert F. Kennedy said the reported discrimination will be one of the

Sees Hope for Berlin Progress

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. officials saw a glimmer of hope today that renewed Geneva talks will at last start removing the Berlin crisis as an explosive threat to world peace.

Christian A. Herter pointed to "some possibility" of reaching agreement with the Soviets in his first formal news conference Thursday as secretary of state.

Herter said he has never been optimistic about successful negotiating with the Reds. But he

If the Soviets come up with the right answers when the foreign ministers resume their conference Monday, he indicated, then there will be progress instead of the deadlock that featured the first six weeks of the parley.

He said the questions are:

1. Whether Moscow is insisting that in case of a temporary agreement on West Berlin, the Allies forfeit their rights to the Communist-encircled city when the agreement lapses;

2. Whether Moscow is demanding a time limit on such an agreement.

Britain, France and the United States have denounced Soviet talk of deadlines as ultimatums or threats under which they could not negotiate. And they say West Berlin must remain free. The Communists are calling for an end to the Allies' postwar occupation of the city.

Herter flies to Geneva Saturday for the conference reopening after a three-week recess.

A final round of advice on how to deal with the Soviets was due today with the arrival in Washington of W. Averell Harriman, one-time Democratic presidential aspirant and a former ambassador to Moscow who recently toured the Soviet Union.

Harriman has already cabled the State Department that Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev talked tough to him in Moscow. He planned to report in person to Vice President Richard M. Nixon, Herter and the Senate Foreign Relations Committee during the day.

Herter smilingly faced a near-capacity crowd of 190 newsmen in the State Department auditorium. He fumbled a couple of questions during the 40-minute session, but came up with answers on a wide range of topics.

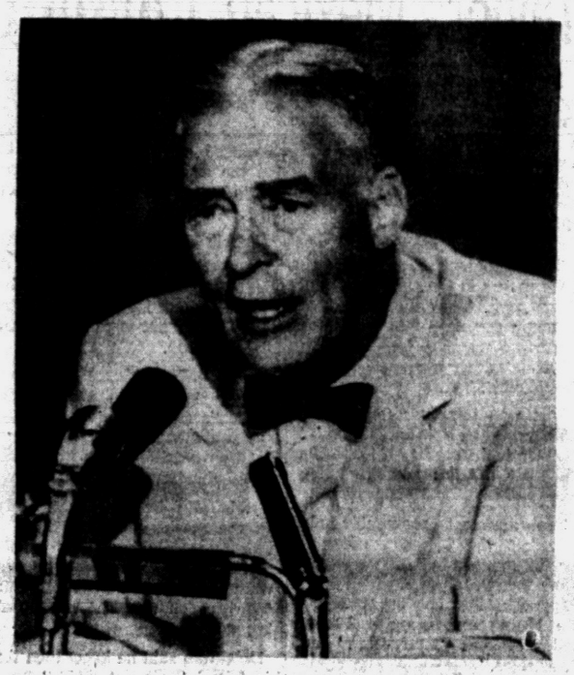

Because of arthritis which makes it painful for him to stand for any long period, he sat on a tall stool instead of standing to answer questions.

Herter caused some surprise by remarking at one point that he thought the Reds were truly searching for a solution at Geneva instead of just making propaganda.

He told the nation when he first returned from Geneva that the Communists had shown no signs of wanting genuine negotiations.

Herter said that when the first round ended at Geneva June 20 the Allies had good reasons to conclude that the Soviets were demanding a deadline of 12 to 18 months and forfeiture of Allied rights on Berlin. Khrushchev had just delivered a tough speech in Moscow.

'AGREEMENT POSSIBLE' — Secretary of State Christian Herter held his first news conference yesterday and told reporters there is still possibility of agreement between the Western Allies and Russia on Berlin's future. Herter leaves tomorrow for resumption of the foreign ministers conference at Geneva.

Chrysler Route Would Link City and Detroit

Few Speak Against $50 Million Extension at Survey Session

By GEORGE T. TRUMBULL JR.

With the exception of a handful of Troy residents, and a few others, most Oakland County residents apparently look favorably upon the proposed extension of the Walter P. Chrysler Expressway through their communities.

Michigan State Highway Department officials traveled from Lansing to Royal Oak yesterday to find out what people thought of the $50,000,000 21-mile route. They liked what they heard—for the most part.

The 2½-hour public hearing in Dondero High School produced mostly pros and a few cons.

Generally, as far as Oakland residents are concerned, it curves its way in a gradual northwesterly direction from Eight Mile road in Hazel Park until it hooks up with the intersection of Lapeer-Opdyke roads outside the northeast corner of Pontiac.

According to Irving J. Rubin, executive assistant to Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie, the section from 11½-Mile road north to this intersection will be completed or under contract by 1962.

The balance of the road south to Eight Mile is slated for completion by 1967.

BEHIND IT 100 PCT.

Heading a three-member Oakland County Road Commission delegation favoring the expressway was Robert O. Felt, chairman.

"We're back of this road 100 per cent," Felt told highway officials. "We urge the general public to support this highway, for if you don't, Woodward avenue will be bumper-to-bumper and so overtaxed you won't be able to move."

It pledged the Chamber's "unanimous support" and said members "respect your judgment and shall continue to give wholehearted support to your plans as published."

This steady stream of favorable comments resulted in a lady in the front row remarking, "I thought this was supposed to be a protest meeting."

However, the favorable comments far outweighed the unfavorable.

Pace Quickens in Steel Talks

Walkout Threat Hangs Over Negotiators as Activity Picks Up

Negotiating activity picked up as time grew closer to a threatened industry walkout at midnight Tuesday.

The industry and union bargaining teams, which met only briefly Thursday, then recessed to re-examine their positions, repeated the process today.

After a brief joint session this morning, the management and union representatives split up with a statement saying "The parties have been exchanging data and have recessed temporarily to gather additional information needed when conferences resume."

A further meeting sometime today was definitely planned but the time was uncertain.

The stated admission that "data" was being exchanged could cover many possibilities. It left an encouraging impression. But there was no word the industry had made any wage increase offer.

Substantial progress must be made before Sunday if costly preparations for banking furnaces and tapering off steel production are to be avoided.

Heroic Boy Snatches Pair From Lake Orion Waters

An 11-year-old boy was cited as a hero today after rowing out into Lake Orion to rescue a Pontiac couple floundering in the water after their boat capsized about 6 p.m. yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kasuba, of 5633 Berkley St., had rented a rowboat with a 5½-horsepower motor to go out fishing in a cove.

Young Harry Joseph Jr. was sitting on his dock playing with a model boat in the water when he saw the Kasubas' boat tip over. He got his own boat and rowed out to the struggling couple.

Mrs. Kasuba, who was wearing a life preserver because she couldn't swim, was near exhaustion when she was rescued. Her husband was able to climb into Harry's boat by himself.

The boy rowed the pair into the dock, where Mrs. Kasuba was treated for shock.

Acting Lake Orion Police Chief Fred Favre said Kasuba was to be arraigned this morning before Orion Justice of the Peace Helmar G. Sjanaback on a charge of operating a motorboat while under the influence of liquor.

Favre said today that he did not know exactly what caused the boat to tip over but suspected one of the Kasubas was standing up.

Harry is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Russell of 19 Bellevue St., Lake Orion.

Mrs. Russell said her son saw both of them leaning over one side of the boat apparently looking for fish.

LANSING (AP) — The Pittsburgh Pirates owner is reportedly ready to ease Michigan's cash crisis by buying its state office buildings. Under the proposed deal, the state would sell the buildings for cash and lease them back from the new owner. The deal does not include the state capitol, built in 1878.

LONDON (AP) — The Soviet Union tonight was reported to have assured Britain privately of its readiness to freeze the Berlin crisis at least until early 1961.

Center Line Worker Drowns in Long Lake

The drowning was the county's fourth in nine days.

Nowakowski, of 8542 Helen Ave., had finished working on a house under construction on the south shore at about 7 p.m. He and his partner, Anthony Jaworski of Detroit, decided to take a swim.

Jaworski told deputies that Nowakowski tried to swim around an anchored boat and then out to a raft about 150 feet from shore when he tired and went under.

Skin-diver William Jackson, a sheriff's deputy, recovered the body in 30 feet of water.

Here's Aerial View of Layout of County Service Center

WILL BE SITE OF NEW COURTHOUSE — Another in the series of aerial photographs The Pontiac Press will run of interesting landmarks in the area is this view of the Oakland County Service Center northwest of Pontiac. Still in the growing stage, the 300-acre Center eventually is expected to house all county office buildings — including the proposed $3,000,000 courthouse. The Center is bounded generally by Pontiac Lake road (left corner) on the south, Scott Lake road (not shown in picture) on the west, railroad tracks on the north (just above No. 7), and a line just east of West Boulevard (the north-south road to the right of Center) on the east. Telegraph road is the diagonal line in the center. This photograph shows (1) the county market; (2) the vacant former Contagious Hospital with the newer Superintendent of Public Schools Office building just south of it and hidden by the trees; (3) Road Commission office and maintenance buildings; (4) new Pontiac State Police Post; (5) Infirmary with the Health Center just south; (6) the intersection of Dixie Highway and Telegraph; (7) Juvenile Home and cottages nearby; (8) the power house (with smoke stack), Social Welfare offices, Animal Shelter, garage and maintenance center; (9) that section of the old Oakland County Poor Farm where the new courthouse will be built. Later on this spot an administrative building and a meeting hall for the Board of Supervisors is expected to be built.

Parched Lawns Due to Continue for Next 5 Days

Gardeners had better not bank on rainfall to freshen their vegetables, flowers and parched lawns for the next five days.

The U.S. Weather Bureau predicts less than one-tenth inch in showers during the period. Scattered showers are most likley Saturday or Sunday.

Tonight will be partly cloudy with a low of 60 degrees.

The outlook for Sunday is fair to partly cloudy and continued rather cool, with a chance of showers. Tuesday and Wednesday will be warm again.

Russian Wives Would Checkrein Drunken Mates

MOSCOW (AP)—A group of Russian women requested authority today to hospitalize their drunken husbands. They also want their men's paychecks while they're taking the cure.

"They may be good husbands all month, but they become unbearable on pay day," the women said in a series of letters published in Pravda.

They asked the authorities to hospitalize husbands by force if necessary whenever wives complain of drunkenness. Their idea is that a simple letter to the officials should result in a drunken husband or son being carted off for the cure.

Detroit-Pontiac Xway Meets Little Opposition

He said before the hearing its expected 1962 completion planned to fit in nicely with the city's proposed loop road, which will probably be under construction the same year, depending on when state funds are available.

Coming to the rostrum to read a two-page criticism of the expressway, as it snakes in an L-shaped path through Troy, was Richard A. Randall, of 475 Kirk Lane, Troy.

He denounced it as a "shadily selected engineering monstrosity."

"In their anxiety to reach a compromise to obtain immediate construction funds from the federal government, they (the highway department) have devised a route which is overly expensive, offers tremendous engineering problems, and has potentially dangerous sharp turns," Randall said.

Randall, a chemical engineer, is a member of the Troy Meadows Home Owners' Assn. which lost out in a lawsuit to block which of two routes of the expressway the Troy City Commission had to choose from. He said yesterday he was speaking as a taxpayer and not for the association.

★ ★ ★

The group had claimed three commissioners voted for the route through the city which would best suit their financial interests. Oakland Circuit Judge H. Russel Holland dismissed the suit in May.

W. L. Whitfield, representing Consumers Power Co., said the expressway as selected "is vital to the whole community."

A letter from Ernest P. Lamb, executive engineer for Chrysler Corp., supported the route as being " a forward looking project."

The corporation owns a large tract of land in Troy on which some day it plans to construct an engineering center.

Some of the highway officials conducting the hearing expressed surprise that more people didn't speak up on the road. They had expected sharp criticism from residents of Madison Heights, Royal Oak, and Hazel Park, where the road slices through heavily residential areas.

There'll be another public hearing July 27 for Hazel Park residents. The Hazel Park Council and Royal Oak City Commission haven't given their official approval of the route as yet. Troy has.

In his prepared introduction, Williams described the development of the Chrysler expressway through Oakland County as providing "a permanent right-of-way corridor for traffic which will serve the needs of the motorists for many years to come."

Actually, the road through Oakland County—when completed—will remain Interstate Route 75. The Walter P. Chrysler name applied only to that section starting at Randolph in Detroit. This section up to Eight Mile road will cost $72,000,000 because of increased right-of-way costs, Rubin said. It is now under construction.

Among the opponents of the route at yesterday's hearing was George W. Rehkopf, pastor of Our Savior's Lutheran Church in Royal Oak. He urged a re-routing "so as to not take our church property."

★ ★ ★

Negro Raps Union for Discrimination

points on which Hoffa will be questioned Monday.

CLAIMS EQUALITY BACKING

Kennedy told the committee caustically that Hoffa claims to be a strong advocate of equal treatment for Negroes and whites.

The committee heard testimony yesterday that Hoffa personally issued a warning that "it might not be healthy" for Negro drivers to haul freight across country into Detroit.

Hoffa many times has denounced racial discrimination and has declared his Union would have none of it.

The story of the alleged color barrier was told yesterday by George S. Maxwell, Cleveland labor relations consultant to an organization of truck line owners who bargain with the Teamsters Union.

Maxwell said Hoffa telephoned him in Cleveland to protest because the Ohio Northern Truck Lines of Youngstown, Ohio, was hiring Negro truck drivers to haul steel across country to Detroit.

Maxwell said Hoffa told him that "Local 299 did not like over-the-road cross country drivers of the colored race coming into Detroit." He said Hoffa warned him "it might not be healthy for them" if any more Negroes drove trucks into the local's Detroit jurisdiction.

Maxwell said he passed along the word, and "presumes" that trucking firms quit sending Negro drivers into the area because he received no further complaints.

★ ★ ★

Kennedy said the committee also would explore more fully charges that Hoffa has bargained away financial benefits that midwestern members of his union had won in labor contracts, and profited personally from doing so.

Cindy Continues to Shower Coast of Carolinas

By The Associated Press

The remnants of tropical storm Cindy continued to pick up showers and thundershowers in the central Carolinas and Virginia today. There were a few other wet spots but clear skies were the rule in the major part of the country.

★ ★ ★

Afternoon thundershowers were indicated in the southern rockies, southern plateau region, the upper Mississippi Valley and parts of the upper Great Lakes. Rain was in prospect later in the day and tonight in New England.

But fair weather was on tap from California northward to Oregon and Washington eastward across the northern and central Rockies, into the central plains, the middle Mississippi Valley and into most of the Great Lakes region and the Ohio Valley.

It was a little warmer in most sections.

Temperatures soared into the 90s Thursday in the warm and humid air from the Gulf states into New England. The high at Albany, N. Y., was 91.

Clash at Inquest Into Gomez Slaying

Taylor, Mexican Consul Cross Swords

Heated words were exchanged by Oakland County Chief Assistant Prosecutor George F. Taylor and a representative of the Mexican government as a coroner's inquest into the death of a Mexican citizen killed by a Pontiac police detective opened yesterday.

★ ★ ★

The argument flared during a brief recess in the Oakland County Courthouse. Taylor criticized the Mexican consul in Detroit, Alberto Becerra Sierra, for the tone of the letter in which Becerra asked for the inquest.

"It was improper to refer to the inquest as a 'brutal killing,'" Taylor told Becerra. He told the Mexican official: "You're being venemous."

The assistant prosecutor also criticized the Mexican consulate for the manner in which the story was released to the Mexican press. Papers in Mexico City bannered the killing and branded Pontiac police officers "murderers" and "assassins."

★ ★ ★

When the Mexican consul denied that his office had fed information to Mexican papers, Taylor said: "Someone in your office said it was done, and someone's lying."

You might be a liar yourself," the Mexican consul retorted.

The inquest was demanded by the Mexican government after Pontiac's Mexican community protested the shooting.

The Mexican, Manuel Gomez, 53, of 38 W. Wilson Ave., was fatally shot by Det. August R. Martinez after he apparently had gone berserk. He attacked the officer with a knife in his tear-gas-filled apartment, police said.

Neighbors called police to the home after the Mexican apparently went berserk.

Two witnesses yesterday changed stories they had given to the Oakland County Prosecutor's Office the day of the shooting.

Angelo Delgardio, who shared the apartment with Gomez, denied yesterday that Gomez had ever threatened him. This contradicted an earlier written statement he had made.

Asked to explain the conflict, Delgardio solemnly said:

"I swear before God and all men that he never swore or mistreated me all the time I knew him."

Delgardio testified that early on the morning of June 22 Gomez was stamping about in his room and when he went to see what was happening Gomez said: "We are on fire and are burning up."

Delgardio said he knew then that his friend "was not right."

Another neighbor, Juanita Martinez, of 40 W. Wilson, also denied that Gomez threatened her.

"Somebody has gotten to these witnesses," Taylor said after the inquest was adjourned. "That's why we take statements immediately after something like this incident."

Two witnesses who were slated to testify failed to appear at the inquest. They are Cipriano Molino, of 381, Baldwin Ave., and Gilbert Hernendez, of 322 Central St.

Taylor said the two were asked to appear by the Mexican consul and that he had no idea of what they were to testify about.

"The Mexican representatives have been very secretive with us," Taylor said.

Also testifying yesterday was Oakland County Deputy Coroner Isaac C. Prevette. He testified Gomez was shot twice, once in the arm with the bullet passing through the chest, and the other time in the chest and heart.

He said he found the body slumped on the floor, the knife still in the firm grip of the dead man.

The inquest moved along slowly with an interpreter translating for Delgardio and Mrs. Martinez.

The inquest will be continued at 9 a.m. Wednesday.

Annexation Measure Faces House Fight

Broader powers of annexation by cities have been added to the modified "Virginia Plan" bill for annexing townships to cities by Rep. Lloyd L. Anderson (R-Waterford Township) as the measure faces its stiffest test in the House of Representatives in Lansing.

Heavy absenteeism in the House yesterday probably saved it from quick death. Opponents mustered a 45-24 vote to pigeonhole it in the City Corporations Committee, 11 votes short of the number required.

Under the plan, visiting circuit judges, appointed by the State Supreme Court administrator, would decide annexation proposals made by city or village governing bodies. One per cent of the affected voters could subject the judge's decision to referendum approval if they did not wish to become annexed.

Anderson's added section to the bill would permit cities to annex other cities and villages as well as townships.

Today for a city to annex a township it takes voter approval of residents of both areas.

An amendment tacked onto the new bill would require that residents of areas considered for annexation initiate the proceedings. A petition signed by eight per cent of the residents would start the ball rolling.

★ ★ ★

Main opposition to the proposal comes from the Michigan Townships Assn. Many Oakland township supervisors have spoken out against it. The Oakland County Board of Supervisors has taken a stand neither for nor against it.

Roars Out of Baton Rouge

Long Plans to Sue 'Time'

WINNFIELD, La. (AP)—Louisiana Gov. Earl K. Long said today he will file suit Monday for damages in excess of $2 million against Time, Inc., for what he claimed were "slanderous articles and pictures" in Time and Life magazines.

He retreated to his tin-roofed farm home in the north Louisiana hills early today, miles from the nearest psychiatrist.

Long pulled in 4½ hours after roaring away from Baton Rouge, the state capital, last night with sirens screaming. He went into the house on his "little pea patch" and immediately went to bed.

He does not look particularly ill, despite reports that his condition is failing.

Predicts Bright Pontiac Future

Urban Renewal Report Tells of Readiness for Progress in City

Pontiac's in good potential shape for progress, according to a report turned in today to urban renewal officials in Chicago.

The city has money; plans and an active citizenry interested in improvements, the report said.

Submitted was a general outline of Pontiac's prospects for future development.

Drawn up by Assistant City Manager Robert A. Stierer, the city's planning staff, and Geer Associates, the city's Birmingham planning consultants, the report went to the regional office of the Urban Renewal Administration of the federal Home and Housing Finance Agency.

TO STUDY PLANS

The federal government wants to study Pontiac's future plans before releasing $1,700,000 in federal funds for the city's first urban renewal project, Stierer said.

"The federal government doesn't want to spend money helping us with one project if we are unprepared to tackle other improvements ourselves," he explained.

The report — called a Workable Program for Urban Renewal — is part of the city's final application for the federal aid, which is to be submitted in full early this fall.

Cited within it were such prospective improvements as the downtown loop highway, which already has won the blessing of the State Highway Department.

Recommended by the Barton Traffic Study, the loop would route U.S. 10 traffic around the downtown business district, making widespread retail improvements possible in the heart of town.

Also cited were plans to expand the Civic Center westward and southward into areas to be cleared through the urban renewal project.

City planners analyzed the neighborhood structure throughout the city and suggested a number of areas where urban renewal could halt the spread of blight, protecting valuable residential areas against deterioration.

The report shows the city is in good financial position to continue its program of neighborhood and capital improvements, Stierer said.

The city has been spending about $900,000 a year in tax money on streets, sidewalks, drains, sewers and public buildings and there is every likelihood it will continue to spend this much or more, the report indicated.

At the same time, Pontiac's bonding potential for capital improvements is largely untapped, it was pointed out.

"There are definite evidences of strong citizen participation in civic improvements," Stierer said.

Cited as the latest example is the 70-member Civic Improvement Advisory Committee which has shouldered the burden of evaluating upcoming projects from the taxpayer's point of view.

Humane Driver Sets Off 3-Car Pileup; Seven Hurt

BIRMINGHAM — A squirrel running across the road in Bloomfield Hills yesterday set off a three-car pileup that sent seven Detroit children to the hospital.

Vivieme Setal, 22, of Detroit, driving a station wagon loaded with youngsters, slowed to avoid the squirrel on Opdyke road, about a half mile north of Woodward avenue.

Joseph V. Barkley, 44, of Detroit, driving behind the Setal station wagon, also slowed down. But a third car driven by Mrs. Helen E. Sturdevant, 40, of Ferndale, rammed into the rear of Barkley's car slamming it into the station wagon ahead. The accident occurred at 3:55 p.m.

Injured in the smashup were Joan Sherman, 7, who suffered a fractured shoulder; Steven Wolock, 7, abrasions of the knee, and his brother, Ronald, 8, laceration of the lip. All were treated at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Pontiac, and released.

Also checked at the hospital and found uninjured were Steven Setal, 6; Sandy Mall, 5; Sherri Maldaver, 6, and Ann Sherman, 9.

No tickets were issued as a result of the accident.

The Detroit Symphony Woodwind Ensemble with Karl Haas, pianist, will be featured in the third concert of the Cranbrook Gardens Summer Music Festival Sunday.

The program will be presented in the Cranbrook House Gardens at 4:30 p.m., and will include works by Haydn, Beethoven and Poulenc.

Other festival concerts are scheduled for July 26 and Aug. 2. Cranbrook Gardens are located on Lone Pine road in Bloomfield Hills.

Mrs. Josephine Lean of 173 S. Cranbrook Rd., Bloomfield Township was unimpressed by the holdup until the bank's branch manager, Henry Crane, told her "It's no joke."

Mrs. Lean raised her arms as high as she could, hoping in vain that someone passing on the street would notice what was happening through the window.

Meanwhile, two hidden movie cameras were grinding away at the scene, unknown to the holdup men.

The bank's cameras, hidden in a back room, are a police anti-holdup device. The film evidence is being examined. A woman bank employe put the cameras into action in touching off a burglar alarm.

However, police doubted the pictures would help much. They said the films were taken with a wide angle lens which made it impossible to pick out the men.

The holdup, carried out efficiently by an armed, well-dressed pair, was at a branch of the Detroit Bank & Trust Co.

Skilled and quick, the robbers are believed the same men who perpetrated four bank holdups in the last 14 months which netted about $30,000 loot.

Taking barely two minutes for their work, the robbers lined up about 15 clerks and customers at gunpoint while ransacking cashiers' cages of bills. They fled in a stolen car, later abandoned.

As the holdup began, Miss Barbara Sharp, a clerk, was in a rear room. She ran to another room and tripped the alarm.

The robbers were described as dark-complected. One was about 5-feet-10 weighing 200 pounds, and the other 6 feet and about 220 pounds.

Seven minutes after the holdup police found the getaway car in a parking lot at Grand River and Southfield. At that point the pair apparently changed to another car.

Bell 2nd Firm to Pass $1 Billion in Earnings

NEW YORK (AP)—American Telephone & Telegraph Co. reported today that 12-months earnings of its Bell System applicable to parent company stock passed the billion dollar mark for the first time.

General Motors Corp. is the only other American business firm to reach that rarified profits plateau. It posted net income of $1,189,477,000 in 1955, a pace it has been unable to hold since.

For 12 months ended May 31, Bell achieved a net income of $1,074,390,000 of which $1,041,533,000 equal to $4.94 a share is applicable to AT&T stock. This compared with $975,517,000 of which $851,574,000 or $4.39 a share applied to AT&T stock for the previous year.

The Bell System, which operates about 80 per cent of the nation's phones, had gross operating revenues of $7,036,389,000 for 12 months compared with $6,481,812,000 for the preceding period.

Did Him One Better

CHICAGO (UPI)—Ted Restke and Philip E. Ryan paced the maternity waiting room together at Mercy Hospital. Restke got the news first, turned to Ryan, and said: "Twins! How do you like that?" Ryan dazedly received his news a few minutes later. "Triplets!" he told Restke. "How do you like that?"

Cuba Prepares to Take Over 2 U.S. Ranches

HAVANA (UPI) — Premier Fidel Castro's revolutionary regime is plunging ahead with plans to swallow up two big American ranches at the risk of losing United States foreign aid.

Announcement that the two ranches were being taken over in Oriente Province coincided with reports that armed soldiers had been stationed at key buildings in Santiago, Oriente's capital, birthplace of the Castro revolution.

Although a number of alleged "counter-revolutionaries" have been arrested in Oriente recently, the reports said the guards were placed on the alert against the possibility of an armed invasion from the Dominican Republic.

(The Dominican Republic has put its armed forces on an alert against the possibility of an invasion from Cuba.)

The two ranches involved in the takeover were the 20,000 acres owned by Lykes Bros., Inc., of Tampa, Fla., and 66,300 acres operated by Sumner Pingree of Hamilton, Mass.

Cuban authorities moved onto the Pingree ranch Wednesday and notified the Lykes ranch manager they would move in there Aug. 1.

In Washington Wednesday, the Senate voted 59-32 to cut off aid to countries which in the future expropriate American-owned property without fair compensation. The measure was an amendment to the foreign aid bill which still must be ironed out by a joint House-Senate committee.

The extent of the Lykes and Pingree takeovers was not defined. A Lykes official in Tampa said the Cuban government apparently intended to assume only management of the ranch land without actually seizing it.

★ ★ ★

Both the Lykes and Pingree ranches have been held under Spanish royal grants dating back to the turn of the century.

COMPENSATION POSSIBLE

Just what compensation might be involved was not clear. The government has said in the past it would issue bonds for seized land payable in 20 years at 4 per cent interest.

The Pingree and Lykes ranches were the first American-owned properties to date to be affected by Castro's massive land reform campaign. They are larger than any of the Cuban-owned farms seized so far.

The prime minister's brother, Raul Castro, commander of the armed forces, flew with Air Force Chief Juan Almeida to Oriente Province yesterday to inspect the area."

Oriente is the province where Castro's own revolution was spawned and launched against Fulgencio Batista, now in exile in the Dominican Republic.

★ ★ ★

(In Port au Prince, Haitian Defense Minister Jean Magloire said his country was prepared to repulse any attempted invasion whether aimed at Haiti or the Dominican Republic. However, he said he regarded such an attempt as unlikely.)

Crime Doesn't Pay, Whatever Your Plan

"My 18-year-old stepson had gone out stealing stuff," said Albert E. Grant, the 33-year-old defendant "I had to do a wrong myself to show him crime doesn't pay."

Superior Judge Raul Castro agreed it didn't pay. He denied a probation plea and sent Grant to prison for seven to eight years.

ELECTRIC HEAT

Rooms can be kept "company clean" all the time.

In every comfort-filled room of the electrically heated home, it's a joy to see that the furnishings you've cleaned stay that way. There just aren't any products of combustion to circulate in the air—so carpet, curtains and furniture keep on looking bright, fresh and clean. Soot-free, smokeless electric heat cuts down on the frequency of major cleaning jobs, such as painting or wall washing.

Since electric heat works like your electric range, it is far cleaner than conventional, fuel-fired systems. To support the combustion process, these other types must constantly draw large masses of outside air—cold, dry, dusty—into the house. Electric heat, the most modern and the cleanest of all heating methods, eliminates this problem and makes good housekeeping a pleasure.

Plus all these other benefits—whether you're buying, building or remodeling

CUSTOM-COMFORT

Keep one room at 72, another at 65. Turn off the heat in a sunny room while you leave it on in the rest. Without starting up a complete heating plant, you can add extra warmth to any room—quickly and quietly.

EFFICIENCY

All of the heat created is usable heat. None is wasted up a flue. And with individual control, there is no need to overheat several rooms in order to raise the temperature in just one.

REDUCED RATE

Residential customers can now take advantage of a new, lower rate—2¢ per kilowatt-hour when monthly electrical use is over 750 kilowatt-hours. Though other living costs have been rising steadily during the past several years, electricity remains one of your biggest bargains—now more than ever, with this new and lower rate step.

EXTRA SPACE

Electric heating units are completely built in. You can put to better use the space otherwise needed for chimney, fuel storage, piping, furnace or boiler.

FLEXIBILITY

Electric heat can replace regular baseboards—can be built into the walls or ceiling. Whether it be one room or the entire home, there is a system to give better heating—electrically.

SAFETY

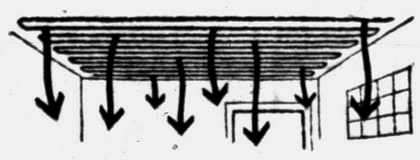

Electric heating systems are designed to distribute heat safely, gently. Concentrations of superheated air are eliminated. There is no combustion process.

CARES FOR ITSELF

Set a thermostat, then forget it. Forced air electric heating systems are long-lived because they use low-velocity fans. There are no moving parts at all in radiant systems. In either type, there is little to wear out, need adjustment or replacement.

YOU CAN CHOOSE from several types of electric heat

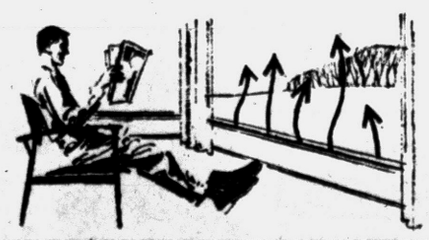

Your choice will be influenced by whether you are building, completely remodeling or simply adding on or finishing off an extra room.

Electric heating units can be installed almost anywhere: They can be embedded in plaster ceilings, set into the floors, built into the walls or used to replace the baseboards.

Whatever type you choose, be sure your home has good insulation, properly installed. Regardless of the heating system used, good insulation is needed for maximum comfort and economy.

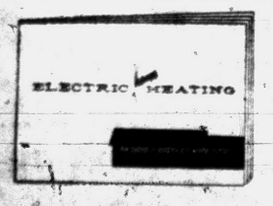

THE ELECTRIC HEAT PUMP

works on an entirely different principle from the units described above. It is a year-round climate control system which heats in winter and cools in summer—automatically. It also filters and dehumidifies the air.

Look for this symbol when you buy. It is displayed by electrical contractors who recognize the importance of quality installation, who have pledged themselves to meet voluntary industry standards.

THIS SIGN ASSURES YOU OF DEPENDABLE INSTALLATION

SHORT OF HAVING YOUR FACE LIFTED this is the modern facial beautifier. A do-it-yourself matter thanks to Lilly Daché. One minute and a tube of magic cream is your passport to new contour and healthier looking skin—all safe, sane, and simple. It works for anyone—male or female—and has just come to town: is easily available.

Now Complete Facial In Just One Minute

by Dorothy Randall
Fashion Editor
Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph

A complete facial in one minute! Nobody but Lilly Daché could come up with anything quite so revolutionary.

Last July when I was in New York covering the couture showings I visited Lilly's salon and watched her personally pat a creamy preparation over ONE-HALF the face of a woman around sixty. The other half she left as it was for comparison.

AT THE TIME Lilly swore her audience (the fashion press) to secrecy. Now she has lifted the ban and I can tell what I saw and know about this discovery.

A fat tube of creamy goo does the magic. You simply smooth it over your face and throat clear to the collarbone.

One minute later you tissue it away. There is no need for pre-cleaning or post-toning.

The astonishing reaction is that facial contours are firmed and lifted. Fatigue lines melt away and puffy spots go. Your face is completely clean without being dry. Plus this, the preparation leaves what Lilly refers to as a "mantle" which, while purifying the pores, guards against blackheads.

Unlike any quick pick-up on record to date, this does not do a pepping job which disintegrates in a short time allowing your face to "fall apart" as Lilly puts it.

YOU'LL NOTICE how new-girl you look immediately. If you stay with this minute-facial regularly you'll find the show-through glow of youth staying with you day in, day out.

There is no danger connected with it whether to eyes or tissues.

The product name—"Quick Change"—in trial size tubes now at $1.50*; in regular tubes at $5*. (*Plus Federal Tax)

'Big Eye' at Palomar Key to Secrets of the Universe

WILSON, Calif. (UPI) — It was 6:15 p.m. Pacific time on Palomar Mountain in Southern California. Dr. Horace W. Babcock was about to participate in a nightly miracle denied to most people.

He was going to peer far back into time. He would do this with the "Big Eye," the 200-inch Hale telescope.

This marvelous creation, the largest telescope in the world, can photograph celestial bodies in still nameless star systems more than a billion light years—or 6,000,000,000,000,000,000,000 (six billion trillion) miles — away.

It can get spectral patterns two billion light years away. In its range lie answers to some of the most basic questions: When and how was our universe born? What is happening to it now? What is its future?

The Palomar astronomers, under Dr. Ira S. Bowen, director, and Dr. Babcock, assistant director, hope within five years to come up with some of these answers.

These men, who work at the Mount Wilson and Palomar Observatories, which are operated jointly by the California Institute of Technology and the Carnegie Institution of Washington, have set themselves an enormous task—to get some idea of the observable universe—of which our earth is a mere spinning speck in a time and space staggering to the imagination.

They also hope to learn how much matter is contained in the universe, and whether it is expanding at a slower rate today than in the past. And they will attempt to look far back in time, perhaps several billion years, and observe how the universe behaved when it was very young.

Dr. Bowen said: "Achieving these objectives, which will mark the culmination of more than 35 years' work, now appears to be possible because of the greater accuracy being developed in the yardsticks that measure the enormous distances in space."

Dr. Babcock, a wiry, dark-haired man, had driven down to Palomar in his station wagon from his Pasadena home. He checked into the "Monastery," the dormitory where the astronomers eat, sleep, study, and relax, in one of the dozen buildings that dot Palomar's peak.

The Hale telescope is in a Pantheon-like structure about the height of a 12-story building.

All day the dome of this structure remains tightly closed to insulate the sensitive apparatus against the sun's heat and the weather. When the sun sinks, the roof shutters are rolled back to expose the vast uptilted frame work of the 60-foot tube.

A bank of electric fans cools the 14.5-ton slab of flawless mirror to the same level as the outside temperature. The telescope is ready to peer into space.

Dr. Babcock, who has been seeking answers in the stars for 13 years, walked up a few steps and entered the narrow, cold telescope room. Adjustment of the telescope for the astronomer to find a star he wants to photograph is a delicate operation. It has been compared to aiming a rifle at, and hitting, a rolling penny 20 miles away.

The astronomer found his stars this night, two identified as HD 32633 and 53 Cam, and began taking time exposures, some lasting as long as four hours.

Probably the most notable contribution of the Palomar telescope in its first ten years was to give a more realistic concept of the size and age of the universe. This has resulted in several upward revisions in the universe's age in the past six years.

"The latest estimate ranges from seven to thirteen billion years for the age of the universe," said Dr. Allan R. Sandage, of the observatories staff. "The large variation is due to uncertainties that still exist in the measurements.

However, the igures are significant because for the first time they are consistent with the age set by geologists based on the decay of radioactive elements in rocks and meteorites."

This Eyeful Won't Cause Concern for Jewelers

TOWSON, Md. (AP) — Linda Johnson got a real eyeful in the mail the other day: four frog eyes.

★ ★ ★

They were sent as souvenirs from her brother, Roger, a student at MacMurray College in Jacksonville, Ill. He suggested that the eyes, dried and wired, would make dandy errings for his sister.

The Burglar Will Never Live This One Down

The 76-year-old woman chased him out the front door, picked up a stick and hit him over the head three times. The thief staggered off but was arrested a short time later.

Hart Indicates He's Not Bound by Party Lines

Just recently The PRESS expressed regret that Senator PHILIP A. HART has been voting a steady party ticket in Washington. At the time of his election we said editorially that we believed he would serve as an independent thinker, with no rubber stamp dangling over his head.

★ ★ ★

No one expects a man elected to office on the Democratic ticket to start voting against his own party as a steady diet. We don't want him to become a Michigan Wayne Morse.

Perish the thought.

At the same time we were confident that Senator Hart would exercise a freedom of spirit in keeping with his education and background. Hence we note with some comfort that on Tuesday he voted independently twice. He voted to cut 300 million dollars out of the foreign aid bill. This will bring a cheer from Michigan taxpayers who are sufficiently saddled with debt and taxation.

They applaud saving money.

Also, he voted for a measure to reduce foreign aid defense by ten per cent. Again he has asserted himself in the interests of economy. This is the self asserting HART that we pictured in Washington.

★ ★ ★

In the meantime, just to keep the record clear, "Senator" MCNAMARA voted against both measures. Ole PAT'S for spending, especially when he harkens to his master's voice.

Law and Order Bow to Romantic Pigeons

How silly can we get?

It seems that law and order have regressed when we find one of our local circuit judges forced out of his courtroom because pigeons were using it for mating.

★ ★ ★

With all the hullabaloo and hurrah in the past about the dignity of the courtrooms, this seems a little absurd. When a kindly judge is forced to continue his cases in his chambers because mating birds and feathers clutter up his desk, it is time the pigeons go.

★ ★ ★

Wild life is fine, but it does have a place.

That place is not using our courthouse as a rookery.

Oil Industry Retains Favorable Tax Spot

Despite the need for added revenue, Congress again has failed to put oil and gas interests on the same tax basis as other Americans.

★ ★ ★

A proposed cutback from 27.5 per cent to 15 on gross income would have netted the U.S. Treasury $325 million a year. Tax conscious Sen. Williams, Republican, Delaware, argued unsuccessfully for the reduction. Sen. Lausche, Ohio Democrat, read a revealing news report on a speech given in Cleveland by Grant E. Judge, partner of Arthur Anderson & Co. of Houston, Texas. Mr. Judge, an expert on gas and oil taxation, spoke at a seminar on deferred compensation and estate planning.

★ ★ ★

"Oil and gas," he declared, "are among the few opportunities by which a person can acquire substantial wealth . . . an individual in the 90 per cent tax bracket can consider Uncle Sam as his partner up to 90 per cent of all losses incurred in exploring for oil and gas. Because of the 27.5 per cent depletion allowance Uncle Sam takes a relatively modest share of the income of successful ventures.

"If you are in the 90 per cent tax bracket you are risking only 10 cents out of a dollar spent on unsuccessful ventures. As to successful ventures, the effective tax rate on income to a 90 per cent taxpayer is about 65 per cent.

"That in a nutshell is the reason that exploration for oil and gas has become so attractive in the last decade. It is the one way that a taxpayer can acquire valuable property through the use of income funds."

This explains why there are so many oil and gas millionaires. The ordinary taxpayer is paying too much of his income to the U. S. Treasury so that this favored group can get a 27.5 depletion allowance.

THE optimum "way of life" might be expressed thus: "I'll let you go your way without hindrance, and you let me go mine without interference."

Cautions Parents Against Child Meeting Mailman

Kids like to "Meet the Mailman" and sometimes loiter around the postal vehicle, climbing under or on the front and rear bumpers. A postal driver has problems when the children meet him. Several accidents have been avoided because the carrier was extremely alert, but other incidents that could have proved fatal have been avoided through pure luck.

★ ★ ★

It is not uncommon for parents or older children accompanied by toddlers under three years of age to be waiting at the mail box. As mama buys some stamps or exchanges greetings, the toddler wanders in front of the car or truck and cannot be seen by the driver. When this happens (and it happens every day) the stage is perfect for a fatal or very serious accident.

★ ★ ★

Reader Denounces Farm Program

Let's get at the right angle of this parity business and paying farmers to let land lie idle. No farmer should be paid for that and no parity price should be above the actual cost of production.

★ ★ ★

This would take the incentive out of the desire to overproduce and would weed out the racketeer who only enters farming to produce for the Government and is in competition with real farmers who must farm for a living.

★ ★ ★

All this hurts the small farmer most because he gets no help from the Government. Most of our present farm program was set up in New Dealism and we are now reaping our harvest.

Voter Discusses Millage Increase

Dublin School uses the "skeleton in the closet" gimmick to frighten voters to vote eight mills for operation. Grades have been eliminated from the school, and they now threaten half-day sessions.

Since when are industrial arts and home economics non-essential? They threaten to eliminate them. With fewer teachers in the school, how can they ask people to vote more money?

Don't be fooled by "only a three mill increase." This is an eight mill increase. Last year your levy for operation was 15.38 mills. Now they ask 23.38 mills.

Inflation Concerns Retired Reader

You cannot end inflation as long as Hoffa, MacDonald and Reuther keep pounding the spiral upward and upward and upward.

★ ★ ★

When I retired and accepted a small pension and social security, it looked like we could live modestly to the end, but folks like me do not have strong-arm men to up our income every year.

Already these rounds and rounds of wage increases have priced our country out of certain world markets. We cannot compete with the Japs and many others.

★ ★ ★

Soon these union leaders will have a wall built around the U.S. and then their members will have an unemployed total that will shake the house down and it is time they were tossed out.

David Lawrence Suggests:

Freedom of Association Is Gone

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower really said nothing novel when he explained at his press conference this week that he favors "equality of opportunity in both the economic and the political fields" for all citizens, and that, if a Catholic happened to be "really a qualified, responsible individual running for office, my vote would never be changed on the basis of his religion."

LAWRENCE

The President has always made it clear that he favors equal opportunity for all citizens where governmental action is concerned. What the President was careful to omit from his comments was any intimation that the individual citizen has lost his right to discriminate in social or personal associations with other citizens.

This right is called "freedom of association," and it has the backing of the latest decisions of the Supreme Court of the United States which, time and again, have drawn a line between the right of individual choice where private schools or clubs or other organizations are concerned, and the citizens' rights in public facilities of any kind.

Indeed, the President recognizes the right of any citizen to allow his religious prejudices, or any other bias, to govern his own vote. When asked whether the electorate would be influenced by a religious issue, Mr. Eisenhower frankly said he doesn't know "whether the thinking of the country has changed" since Al Smith, a Catholic, was defeated for the presidency on the Democratic ticket in 1928 by Herbert Hoover, the Republican nominee.

One of the newsmen at the press conference also ask the President if, "quite apart from the legalisms of the situation," he has "any opinion as to whether racial segregation is morally wrong?"

CERTAIN PHASES

Mr. Eisenhower replied that "certain phases of segregation," such as "segregation by local laws," that interfere with the citizen's "equality of opportunity in both the economic and the political fields"—would seem to him to be "morally wrong."

The whole problem has its roots in the differences of opinion among individuals as to their "freedom of association." In recent years there has emerged a wide acceptance of the doctrine that there should be equality of opportunity in the economic field.

During many decades in this nation's history, however, women, irrespective of color or race, were discriminated against. But today there is a growing feeling that equal pay should be given for equal work to every individual, even thtough this is not generally a legal requirement.

In the political field, equality of opportunity is still affected by the right of the voter to discriminate in his selection of public officials. He need give no reason for his vote, which is secret.

In a sense, Dr. Ralph Bunche, prominent Negro who is a United Nations official, recognized the other day the legality of private discrimination.

While conceding that a private club may exclude whom it pleases from membership, he went on to denounce as "shocking in New York City" the refusal of the West Side Tennis Club to grant membership to himself or to his son. Dr. Bunche has every right to take his case to the court of public opinion, but, followed to its logical conclusion, there can be no conformity by coercion.

If discrimination is to be abolished in every human relationship, it must come from the voluntary acts of individuals. This, to be sure, brings out deep-seated differences of viewpoint about social mixing and its effects in such controversial fields as intermarriage.

It is quite possible that the Supreme Court of the United States someday may strike down as invalid those state laws which today prohibit intermarriage between the races.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Terms 'Arthritis' Hokum in Joint Treatment

A teaching colleague and I regard each other, I think, as well-meaning but not as sound or scientific as we should be about chronic disability.

So my colleague, who is chief of a teaching institution, asks me not to add new names to what is already hard enough to teach medical students and interns; and I answer, "OK — I'll be happy to agree on any name for insidiously developing, long lasting joint disability that doesn't force the trick term 'arthritis' down my throat." I'm afraid my answer made my colleague a quandam colleague, for he hasn't spoken to me since.

DR. BRADY

That's the trouble with the leaders, the spokesmen, the big shots of the profession. They set forth their views autocratically and frown down or, if necessary, sever diplomatic relations with any piker who has the audacity to differ with them.

If the big boys are concerned about what medical students and young doctors are learning it might be wise for them to re-examine the subject of chronic joint disability from the standpoint of reality, without dragging in the shamefully overworked "arthritis" hokum.

I'm probably prejudiced about this, but I have reason to be. I have yet to learn of any one with chronic joint disability getting extraordinary and lasting benefit from medicine purporting to be good for "arthritis." If you know of such a case thru observation or experience, not hearsay, please give me sufficient information to permit investigation.

On the other hand, hundreds of reports from readers assure me that following the nutritional regimen described in Little Lesson No. 12 has brought so much relief from chronic joint disability that they have returned to jobs they had been forced to give up, etc. etc.

Little Lesson No. 12 is titled CHRONIC JOINT DISABILITY. For a copy send me 35c and a stamped, seld-addressed envelope. Now if you (think you) know more than I do about health and the lack of it, this regimen can do no harm, even if it does no good.

—Feeding the Children Dope—

My neighbor constantly gives her young children "baby aspirins" to prevent "colds." Yet her children have them all winter and far into spring. She says her doctor advised her to give each child an aspirin at night to prevent "colds" . . . (Mrs. M.L.W.)

Ans. — It is possible. Some people are woefully ignorant and some doctors take advantage of their ignorance. Send me 35c and a stamped, self-addressed envelope for my booklet CALL IT C R I. Maybe your neighbor will read it and even apply the teachings in it to the rearing of her children.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Discusses Bed-Wetting Problem

Tommy's terror is matched by that of millions of others, including adults. So demolish this monster at once and thus free such victims from tragic slavery. The drunkard cannot be cured very easily till he first has a sincere intention of quitting and so it is with the enuresis victim though the N-Uroclast is a surefire secret weapon.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

"And he is happy to be the drummer of his school band. Indeed, they are so outstanding that they have been invited to visit the state capital next month.

DR. CRANE

"Tommy is eager to go but scared to death, for the band would spend the weekend there.

"Tommy is the victim of enuresis. His classmates don't realize this fact so they can't understand why Tommy is trying to get out of the trip.

"They need him and he would be the happiest boy in our town if only he dared spend the night away from home.

"He is on the verge of a nervous breakdown, seesawing back and forth between desire to go and terror at what might happen."

ENURESIS VICTIMS

Enuresis is a very common nuisance habit. By the age of four years, about 80 per cent of children have taken full control of their urinary bladder, even at night.

But the other 20 per cent are enslaved by uncertainty as to when they may suffer a mishap. Like Tommy, therefore, they are tormented by a secret terror which they can't even explain to their pals.

And, like Tommy, they often learn to fib and fabricate weird excuses to explain why they can't attend summer camp or go on a Scout trip for the weekend.

Hundreds of men were discharged from military service because of this same nuisance habit. And we encounter it among a certain percentage of college students, too.

So face this "monster" that causes unhappiness in millions of folks past four years of age and learn how to demolish it.

HOW STOP ENURESIS

Soon the ignorer of the alarm clock will insist he never heard it. In fact, he will deny that the clock ever went off, yet his family may have watched him reach out and turn it off.

The bed wetter likewise has simply learned to ignore the "ringing" of the pain sensations that come to his brain from a full urinary bladder.

The normal child of four has learned to heed those "alarm" sensations.

Breaking the enuresis habit is exactly like teaching a person who has learned to ignore his alarm clock, to pay heed to it once more.

No sirree! He must awaken of his own accord and walk there under his own power.

Often the victim, if he has that sincere "intention" to free himself, can do so by setting an alarm clock to go off about two hours after he retires.

If he then jumps out of bed and goes to the bathroom, one or two nights will suffice to break him of enuresis.

For a few dollars you can build one out of a couple of dry cells and a doorbell buzzer, so send for my booklet "The N-Uroclast," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus 20 cents (non-profit).

It freed Tommy from his terror in one week.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 4c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

India Asks Its Holy Men to Boost World They Hate

WASHINGTON — The Indian government hopes to persuade the nation's holy men to work for the good of the world they renounced.

Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru has urged the holy men or sadhus to support the government's attempt to raise India's villages from their age-old penury.

The sadhus have vast influence among India's illiterate millions, and can help in breaking down the walls of ancient customs that have hampered attempts to introduce modern agricultural techniques and industrial machinery.

Some leading sadhus have already joined in support of India's five-year plan, but it is uncertain how many others will cooperate in the modernization program. There are hundreds of thousands of sadhus, though no one knows exactly how many, the National Geographic Society says.

RENOUNCE PLEASURES

A sadhu — meaning "one who has renounced"—has given up the pleasures of secular life.

He may have been a prosperous lawyer, doctor or engineer, but when he becomes a sadhu, he leaves his family, position and possessions, and wanders about the country with a begging bowl, dependent on the charity of the people he meets.

By self-denial, he hopes to turn his thoughts from material things. He undergoes long fasts and vigils, in the belief that only through renunciation, penance and meditation can a man approach God.

STAND ON ONE FOOT

The physical discipline may involve breathing exercises, fixing the eyes on the tip of the nose, and standing on one foot with the sole of the other foot against the knee.

Some practitioners of yoga say it leads to a knowledge of the past and the future, to penetration of the thoughts of others and to perception of what is going on in other worlds.

Others claim less for the exercise, but maintain it develops greater self-control and eases tensions. Nehru himself performs yoga exercises.

A sadhu adheres to no dogmas, but follows his guru and the dictates of his own conscience. In this he is deeply Hindu. Sarvepalli Radhakrishnan, the philosopher who became vice president of the Republic of India, once explained:

"Hinduism is not a sect but a fellowship of all who accept the law of right and earnestly seek for the truth . . . Hinduism is a movement, not a position; a process, not a result; a growing tradition, not a revelation."

Some Indians have denounced sadhus as spongers with a distaste for honest work.

RESPECTED BY DEVOUT

Certain sadhus may indeed have dragged their feet in their search for spirituality; others have become conjurers, performing such feats as walking on hot coals or lying on beds of nails.

But devout Hindus greatly respect men who renounce worldly pleasures and are happy to provide the little food they need to stay alive.

To correct abuses, the holy men have formed a professional society, the Indian Organization of Holy Men. With many of them now cooperating with the government, a new era appears to have opened for sadhus.

Save Space, Ears With Stereo Combo

CHICAGO (UPI) — A space-saving combination television set and sterophonic record player was introduced at the summer International Home Furnishings Show here.

The set, manufactured by Hoffman Electronics, contains six speakers for TV sound and input jacks into which an AM/FM turner or record changer can be plugged.

The stereophonic sound system faithfully reproduces either monophonic or stereo recordings, engineers said, while claiming a minimum amount of room space.

SUMMER SWAPPING BEE

Get a 2ND MILLION DEAL now!

59 Ford Galaxie Club Victoria

Because Ford's the first manufacturer to sell over one million '59 cars : : : your Ford Dealer can offer you even greater savings now, on the 59 FORD of your choice!

SPECIAL! NOW! SAVE MORE WITH A SECOND MILLION DEAL

GET A HONEY OF A 2nd MILLION DEAL NOW!

Now, while the Summer Swapping Bee is buzzin' at your Ford Dealer's, you can step into a brand-new, Thunderbird-glamorous 59 Ford the easy way! Ford sales are booming over the million mark! And right now, you can get an extra-generous 2nd Million Deal on any one of the new, comfort-built Fords . . . already lowest priced of the best-selling three!

YOU CAN SAVE UP TO $102.75 ON THE POSTED PRICE ALONE!

By law, every new car now has a label on it showing the manufacturer's suggested retail price. When you check these labels, you find that Ford prices are the lowest of the best-selling three for all comparable models. Take a beautiful Fairlane 500, for example. It is priced $102.75 lower than the major competitive model, when both are equipped the way most people buy cars—with heater, radio and automatic transmission. And the bigger 2nd Million Ford trade your Ford Dealer can make you, now, makes your savings still greater!

SAVE UP TO A DOLLAR ON EVERY TANKFUL OF GAS!

Standard Ford engines—both Six and Thunderbird V-8—deliver top performance on lower-cost, regular gas. That saves you as much as a dollar a tankful even before you start the engine. And you save on oil, too. As standard equipment, every Ford engine has a Full-Flow filter that stretches oil changes 4000 miles apart.

SAVE ON MAINTENANCE!

Economy is built into Fords—inside, outside, from end to end. For Fords are engineered to deliver dependable performance and to last longer. Some of the new saving features you get in the 59 Ford are . . . amazing Diamond Lustre Finish that never requires waxing to keep its beauty bright . . . an aluminized muffler that normally lasts twice as long as the ordinary kind used in other cars . . . a husky 66-plate battery as standard equipment, instead of the usual 54-plate battery installed in other cars.

SAVE WITH YOUR FORD DEALER'S EXTRA-GENEROUS TRADE-IN ALLOWANCE!

Because the World's Most Beautifully Proportioned Cars are also the most popular cars, Ford Dealers can afford to make more generous trades. And they're doing just that during the Summer Swapping Bee. Visit your Ford Dealer and see for yourself how you can save with this 2nd MILLION FORD DEAL . . . now!

Tax Investigators Probe One Another's Returns

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Who sleuths the tax sleuths?

They do.

The tax return of each of the 50,000 employes of the Internal Revenue Service is checked in greater or less detail by another IRS employe, perhaps by several. What's more, it's checked in the same office where the employe works.

Does that mean a tax agent can fill out his return in the expectation that a buddy will go over it with one eye closed?

Officials at IRS headquarters in Washington doubt it. More likely, they maintain, the employe wouldn't dare omit any extra income or claim too many exemptions, since the person who audits the return may know too much about the taxpayer's financial affairs.

Moreover, returns selected for full audit are checked more than once, so that it would be difficult if not impossible for an IRS employe to make a "deal" inside his office. (Tax returns of ordinary taxpayers which get a full audit are also subject to review at several levels.)

Top officials feel their system is effective. They say analysis of IRS employes' returns backs up their belief.

Figures made available to United Press International show that proportionately fewer IRS employes are slapped with back tax claims than are other taxpayers.

Tax people also have less of a tendency to overpay.

Both facts suggest that IRS employes are more careful and more expert in preparing their returns —perhaps even a shade more honest, officials said.

In 1958, the IRS figures showed, 3.8 per cent of all taxpayers' returns got full audits as against 5.0 per cent of those filed by IRS employes.

Of those audited, 61.7 per cent in the general group showed taxes underpaid. In the IRS group it was 24.2 per cent.

In the general group, 9.4 per cent of audits led to refunds. Only 5.0 per cent of IRS employes whose returns were checked completely received refunds.

The 613 IRS employes who ended up on the short end of the audits owed Uncle Sam an average of $106. The 1,442,000 citizens whose returns were deficient owed an average of $478.

Despite reported complaints from the lower echelons of the Revenue Service, top officials contend that the tax laws are applied to IRS people no more harshly than to anyone else. They also have the same rights of appeal.

There is, however, one way in which IRS tax returns do get an extra close look. Attached to each one must be a "red flag"—actually a special card form—which sets it apart.

All "flagged" returns go to a regional analyst who examines them, decides which require only routine checks of arithmetic, which should get a full audit. The 1958 figures suggest that the regional analyst may be slightly more prone to order full audits than the classifiers who process the bulk of the nation's 60 million annual individual returns.

From the regional analyst the returns go back to the IRS district office in which the employe works. There a group supervisor assigns to an agent each return earmarked for full audit. Officials insist this precludes the possibility of anybody checking his own return.

The system keeps most IRS employes on the straight and narrow. But not all. Last year, 14 Revenue Service employes were fired for failing to pay the proper income tax.

'Batory' Barred From New York

By STANLEY JOHNSON

Most of the passengers are Polish-Americans en route to renew family ties in Poland. The atmosphere of the 11-day trip is that of a prolonged Polish picnic near Cleveland.

This correspondent and his wife were the only passengers with non-Polish backgrounds on her last trip. Although the language heard on all sides was Polish, there was a strong reminder of North America. Ships' employes refuse to accept any currency except Canadian or American dollars.

The 14,000 ton Batory was barred from New York harbor after Gerhart Eisler, wanted for contempt of Congress, sneaked out of the United States aboard her in May 1949. He has since gone on to a career as a propagandist in East Germany.

There was more drama when Capt. Jan Owiklinski deserted the ship in England June 23, 1953, with his medical officer and obtained political asylum. Two years earlier there had been a mass flight of eight sailors. These incidents occurred during the worst period of Stalinist oppression in Poland.

There are no echoes of this tumultuous past now.

"It's 46 years since I've seen my mother and five sisters," said Mrs. Julia Kuzek of Philadelphia, one of the 807 passengers aboard. Family, not politics or ideology, was the main preoccupation.

Tears streamed down many faces as tugs pulled the Batory into Gdynia. Bands were playing on the pier. An American flag flew above a welcome sign written in English. Thousands of Poles waved greetings.

Then the realities of life here were brought home to the passengers.

Almost all of them were loaded down with gifts. There were tears again—this time of rage and frustration—as for hour after hour they struggled with customs' officers for the right to bring them in. Meanwhile the trains they hoped to catch to homesteads around the country pulled out, leaving many to wait wearily for the night expresses.

Dutch Elm Disease Increasing in State

LANSING (AP)—Dutch Elm disease is on the increase in central and western Michigan, the State Agriculture Department reported today.

The tree-killing disease appears on the wane in the Detroit area, where it first appeared in the state, a preliminary survey by the department's plant industry division indicated.

"The cities that have been conducting regular spray programs have it on the run," said William S. Cath of the plant industry division. "Others are being hard hit and are just getting extensive spray programs under way."

Cath said the disease, carried by bark beetles, first appeared in Michigan in 1950. He said it is confined to the southern half of the Lower Peninsula and has not reached north of town line 16.

Aims at North American Trade

Rugged Honduras Casts a Tourist Net

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras (UPI) — The "Switzerland of Central America" is making a bid for North American tourists, although you'll still have to rough it a bit if you want to be among the first.

★ ★ ★

Honduras, the most mountainous of Central American countries, is rich in mahogany, bananas, coffee, tobacco and minerals, but most tourists have passed it by.

However, officials hope that the direct air service from Miami and New Orleans recently inaugurated will mean a new page in Honduran economic history.

There is much to see in this sun-splashed city of Tegucigalpa, and an hour's flight takes you to one of the best examples of Mayan civilization — the ruins of Copan.

ARCHITECTURE MIXED

Numerous parks include the Parque Central, fronting the picturesque Cathedral Metropolitana; the Parque Concordia, with replicas of Mayan ruins; and the United Nations Park, high on a mountaintop but easily reached by taxi.

Tourists will find much to keep them busy, but officials concede that improvements will be necessary to attract visitors in larger numbers.

Under consideration are a new airport, a luxury hotel, expansion of facilities at the offshore islands and a gambling casino possibly backed by North American interests.

SAFE IN HOTELS

Food and water are safe in the very best hotels, but cooked foods and bottled water are advisable elsewhere. Popular foods include chicken and rice and steak.

The monetary unit is the lempira, worth 50 cents in U.S. money, which is also accepted everywhere. The lempira is named for a heroic Indian chief who led 30,000 warriors against Spanish invaders.

Biggest tourist attraction in Honduras is Copan, the long dead city of the Mayas. Visitors can fly up in the morning with a picnic lunch and spend the day studying the massive stone pyramids, monuments, altars and courts.

Today they have been cleared of jungle growth and are easily accessible, only a short stroll from Copan's tiny airport.

IMAGES FROWN

The most popular souvenirs—mahogany salad bowls and wall plaques — have carvings depicting the Mayan culture. Other good buys are straw handbags, a type of Panama hat and pottery.

Visitors will want to take along raincoats, especially if they plan to go to the north coast.

Shorts are rarely seen. Don't forget comfortable shoes if you plan to see the ruins or banana plantations.

Prairie Dog Is Vanishing Fast

Cattle Competition and Eating of Crops Leads to Extermination

WASHINGTON—The prairie dog, a sociable little ground squirrel that swarmed in astounding numbers over the Great Plains, is fading away.

At the turn of the century, one Texas "dogtown" covered 25,000 square miles and was home for perhaps 400,000,000 of the cinnamon or buff rodents.

Now only a few towns exist in fairly remote places, the National Geographic Society says.

Prairie dogs have been exterminated because they eat crops and compete with cattle for grass, although some experts believe the extent of their damage has been exaggerated.

THOROUGH STUDY

Prairie dogs are gregarious animals and usually live in colonies. A dogtown isn't one big, happy family, though. There are as many social groups as in a city of people.

Each town is divided into small coteries whose members help each other build burrows, scratch one another's backs, playfully chase and fight friends, and identify kinsmen by touching mouths.

All prairie dogs react immediately to another, higher-pitched bark that warns of a hawk. They scurry at once into their burrows. Just inside is a short side passage where the animal pauses after his retreat to scold the predator.

Hal Boyle Says:

Human Mutations Might Be Improvement

Will the atomic age create a two-headed human race?

Will the man of the future have six eyes, perhaps, and three legs and five arms?

You remember the strange case of the Florida frogs? Unusual frogs were discovered last month near Gainesville, Fla.

They had extra eyes and extra limbs. At first no one paid much attention to them, tolerantly figuring they were probably just a new breed of Yankee tourists, and all Yankee tourists look odd anyway.

But scientists, after studying them, theorized they were home-grown frogs whose ancestral genes had probably gone awry as the result of atomic fallout radiation.

They are believed to be among the first known animal freaks produced by atomic explosions. The extra eyes and legs are known as mutations, and they will presumably now be fixed in the posterity of these frogs forever.

Not all such mutations are necessarily bad for a species, of course. They might even improve the breed—make it better able to face the problems of a troubled world.

Stretching the long arm of possibility a bit farther, what might happen if more and more nations develop hydrogen bombs, and the rate of test explosions is stepped up steeply?

Well, it is likely that in time we might start observing a few dramatic mutations among human beings.

Would that be good or bad for the human race?

A person with three legs would have no particular advantage over a two-legged person, since civilized people don't use their legs much anyway. If pants had three legs in them the cost of suits would go up again. So would the price of a trio, instead of a pair, of shoes.

But imagine walking into a tavern and seeing a customer standing there with one foot firmly planted on the bar rail and two on the floor!

The advantage of a third eye, however, is obvious to anyone. Today it is just what both pedestrian and driver need to cope with traffic.

The advantages of extra arms are even more obvious. How often have you heard a housewife complain she has only two hands? With three, four, five-or even six hands — she could do many more things easily, and housework would become a breeze.

An equally heartening prospect is the possibility that in time atomic radiation might produce people with two heads. There is no telling how much finer a world would emerge if everybody was two-headed, and therefore twice as thoughtful.

★ ★ ★

But as soon as these mutations start appearing — if they do — you can be sure of one thing. A bunch of old fogies will run around screaming: "Stop the hydrogen bomb explosions! We don't want children with two heads, six eyes, four legs and five hands we want our children to look like us!"

★ ★ ★

That's the trouble with human progress. There's always a bunch of fuzzy-minded, stubborn, stick-in-the-mud folks who want to keep things the way they are. They fight any change for the better.

Ex-California Governor Dismayed

Dispute Merits of Portrait

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A hotly-disputed official portrait of ex-Gov. Goodwin J. Knight by San Francisco artist Cameron Booth seems to be a problem for the state finance director.

The state commissioned Booth to do the portrait for the Capitol corridor for $3,500 and began work in Los Angeles five weeks ago. All ex-Governors are so honored in California.

Knight said in Sacramento Wednesday he didn't like what he had seen two weeks ago but would view the nearly finished portrait Thursday in Booth's tiny studio here. He and his wife saw it and vetoed it.

"I am sorry to say that this portrait is not in any way comparable to the other portraits now in the Capitol," Knight said in a statement. "I do not expect this portrait to hang in the Capitol."

"I am an artist first," said Booth. "I stand behind that painting. My name is on it."

"I don't care," Knight retorted, "My face is on it."

About 40 per cent of the radios produced in the U. S. are made for installation into motor vehicles.

Soviet Barnstormer Changes Plans

Kozlov Off to Pittsburgh

CHICAGO (AP) — The barnstorming first deputy premier of the Soviet Union heads for Pittsburgh today and another look at American industry after a stop here occupied mostly by talk about corn and commerce.

★ ★ ★

In a last minute change of plans, Frol R. Kozlov decided he wanted to see the current international trade fair here today. Expansion of trade contacts between the United States and the U.S.S.R. has been one of the main themes of his coast-to-coast tour. The original schedule for his two and a half day stay in Chicago had called for a visit to the International Harvester tractor plant in Chicago.

The party planned to arrive in their chartered DC7B plane at Pittsburgh, about 1 p.m. to be greeted by Frederic Weir, president of the City Council and representative of the University of Pittsburgh.

On the Pittsburgh schedule are a visit to the Homestead works of United States Steel, a dinner to be given by industrial leaders and a Saturday night visit to the nuclear power plant at Shippingport, Pa.

The rest of the original schedule for the Pittsburgh area has been canceled, to permit the chartered plant to take off Saturday night for New York. Kozlov plans to leave early Monday for Moscow in a Soviet jet transport.

Beat Her for Cakes

APPLETON, Wis. (UPI)—William Van Linn, 23, sentenced to two years' probation for beating his wife, told the court he did it because she wouldn't bake him a cake. "Bakery cakes aren't as good as my wife's homemade ones," he said.

Lloyd Syron Out of Amateur

Pontiac Golfer Beaten 3-2 in First Round of Michigan Tourney

PORT HURON — One former champion was eliminated from the Michigan Amateur Golf Tournament early today when Lloyd Syron of Pontiac fell by the wayside in the first round of match play at Black River Country Club.

Syron, who won the state amateur crown in 1957, dropped a 3-2 decision to Tony Majda this morning in his opening match.

Glen Johnson of Grosse Ile, shooting for his fifth title and second in a row, began a successful defense of his championship with a lopsided 6-4 victory over Karl Mueller of Bay City.

There were 32 matches scheduled this morning and 16 more on deck this afternoon that would cut the field from 64 golfers to 16.

Birmingham's Ben Smith, another past champ, captured qualifying medal honors Thursday after a one-hole playoff against Bob McMasters of Royal Oak. Both players finished the two-day qualifiers with 36-hole scores of 141. Johnson was exempt from the trials.

Fail to Approve Water Law Bill

Senate Slaps Measure to Keep State Control Over Boat Operators

LANSING (AP) — Backers expressed confidence the Senate will reverse itself next week and approve a bill to preserve state jurisdiction over Michigan watercraft.

They were jolted yesterday when a House approved proposal to ward off federal entry into the field drew only 17 favorable votes, one short of the passage requirement. Eleven senators opposed it.

Objections were voiced to a provision for deposit of all boat registration revenues in a special new watercraft law enforcement fund. Sen. L. Harvey Lodge (R-Oakland County) said they can be overcome by amendment.

Under the Bonner act passed by Congress in 1958, Michigan must revise its watercraft regulation statute or surrender jurisdiction to the U.S. Coast Guard.

The bill before the Senate would change the present state registration requirement from a permanent to a triennial basis, with payment by boat owners of a $2 fee every third year.

The bill would allow presently registered boat owners to come under a new license numbering system without charge, and extend the area of state control to Great Lakes waters.

The state has until April 1, 1960 to conform with the Bonner Act.

Holdup Men Get Over $30,000 in Bold Stickup

NEW YORK (AP)—Three men pulled a bold daylight holdup of Masters discount store near Rockefeller Center today and escaped with between $30,000 and $35,000 in cash and checks.

Two of the men wore black masks. The third, unmasked and described as having squinty eyes and a large nose, carried a pistol. The three stopped two clerks who were carrying Thursday's receipts to the store's cash room.

"Give me that bag," said the man with the gun. The trio grabbed the money, walked the two employes to the third-floor landing of a stairway and then fled. The store is at 66 W. 48th St.

Store manager Joseph Voschetti was unable to say how much of the amount taken was in cash, but said that normally about two-thirds of such receipts are in cash.

State Civil Rights Group to Report on Problems

EAST LANSING (AP)—The Michigan Advisory Committee on Civil Rights plans to work on a final report on the state's civil rights problems when it meets today at Michigan State University.

The report will be sent in September to the U. S. Civil Rights Commission headed by MSU President John A. Hannah.

A preliminary report by the Michigan group was issued in May. Chairman Charles E. Wilson of Bloomfield Hills said the report indicated "the seeds of tolerence and fair play have been sown" in Michigan.

Start Planning Retirement by 45, Says Federal Man

By FAYE HENLE

An ugly phrase is resounding in the nation. In areas where the fear of unemploymtnt continues greatest you'll hear the refrain: "Grandpa, go home!"

How prepared is Grandpa—or Grandma—financially or mentally to take to the proverbial rocking chair? I fear that the answer is: poorly prepared. That is why I grabbed William C. Fitch, director of the special staff on aging of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, and asked him the following two questions:

At what age should you begin to prepare for retirement?

What are the three most important considerations in setting up a program for later life?

This expert is devoting himself to readying the White House Conference on Aging slated for January, 1961. Here is what he replied:

Begin by setting up a financial program. Find out first what your social security benefits will amount to and how much regular income you might expect from any retirement program set up by your employer.

Next review your insurance policies. You might discover that some of the insurance benefits you are buying are designed to taper off beyond your 65th birthday. You might wish to revise these and the younger you are the easier and less expensive this will be.

Once you've got your fixed income under control, it is time to think about expanding it. Develop a program of systematic savings that will allow you to invest regularly in income producing securities.

Appraise your housing situation. This figures heavily in your financial program. Recognize the sad fact that if you are a couple today, this will not be forever.

Will you wish to keep the old homestead through both your lives? Will you wish to live with your children and how wise would this be? Or, would you wish to relocate?

Although this is the only portion of your financial program that you may wish to do nothing about just yet, it is an integral part of your retirement plan and one you certainly should think about.

Exactly as carefully as you set up your future financial program, set up a health program. This is the age of preventive medicine. If you get good medical care today, you can expect to live longer and happier in later years.

Consider health insurance. Unless you are already covered it might be easier and less expensive for you to get coverage now rather than later.

Your third most important consideration, says Fitch, is the development of sustaining interests; hobbies, educational interests, even plans for service to your community.

He emphasizes intertsts in the plural, warning that as you age, there is the risk that one or another of your faculties might begin to fail and this could interfere with the pursuit of a single interest.

Insurance Broker Elected President of Hospital Board

Who Translated Order?

WATERVILLE, N.Y. (UPI) — The town fathers of this community unanimously adopted an ordinance ordering dogs in the area "to stop barking at night."

The U.S. has more than 26,000 miles of navigable waterways, one-third having a nine-foot depth.

Proposes U.S., Britain Merge

Lord Altincham Says Many Support Union of English Nations

LONDON (AP) — Lord Altrincham has suggested that the United States join the British Commonwealth.

"From the way Chicago greeted the Queen," he said in an interview, "I can't see that American republicanism is terribly strong."

His Lordship is the 35-year-old peer who raised royalty lovers' blood pressures two years ago by criticizing the monarchy. He said, among other things, that some of Queen Elizabeth's speeches sounded as if they were delivered by a priggish schoolgirl.

Altrincham says once the United States joins the Commonwealth, "We'd have to take British out of the name. Otherwise we'd raise people's blood pressure in the States."

He said any union of democratic, English-speaking countries is meaningless without "the biggest, best and richest of them all — the United States."

He thinks the headquarters of the new Commonwealth should be anywhere beside Washington or London.

"I don't think the Afro-Asian countries would accept either of them," he added.

Altrincham said he's spoken to some Americans about joining the Commonwealth, "and they thought it a very good idea."

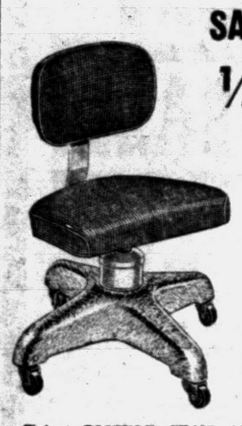

"For heaven's sake," he added, "the American Revolution was such a very long time ago."

The peer is editor of the 76-year-old National and English Review, a magazine of comment. He has run for Parliament twice and lost both times.

Act Saves Wampum for Indians in Maine

OLD TOWN, Maine (UPI) — Descendants of the Indians who taught the white man how to hunt and fish will save wampum under the new law recently passed by the Maine legislature.

The act permits members of the Penobscot and Passamaquoddy tribes to obtain free hunting and fishing licenses for the first time since the state established hunting and fishing regulations.

Under the new law Indians will save $2.75 a year for hunting licenses and $2.75 for fishing permits. The act affects some 1,200 Indians, about half in each tribe.

Herter, Returning to Geneva Talks, Says His Feelings 'Unprintable'

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)— Christian A. Herter—for a secretary of state—is a very frank man. His feelings as he returns to Geneva for talks with the Soviets, he says, might be unfit to print.

Premier Nikita Khrushchev, who prides himself on being brutally blunt, never outdid that one.

Twice at his news conference Thursday—his first since becoming secretary of state — Herter tried to say he was pessimistic about success in the American-Soviet talks which resume Monday at Geneva.

He didn't actually say he was pessimistic. He just said he wasn't optimistic. Just a short time ago at Geneva he finished six weeks of talks with the Soviets and got nowhere.

Then one of the 190 newsmen—who crowded into the State Department auditorium to see him perform where his predecessor, John Foster Dulles, had held forth so often—asked him near the end of the 40-minute conference:

"Mr. Secretary, if you could use only one word to describe your feelings as you head back toward Geneva, what would that one word be?"

Herter grinned. Twice he had used lack of optimism as a euphemism for pessimism. He seemed to search his mind an instant for that one word to describe his feelings. Then he said: "It might be unprintable."

That was a directness alien to the mind of Dulles, who died May 24.

The late secretary, a highly successful lawyer, talked like one. He used his great legalistic skill in getting across American viewpoints, stating policy positions and floating trial balloons. He handled his news conference like a stage manager.

But his sentences and his ideas—and this was the lawyer working—were interwoven with qualifications and implications that sometimes had to be dug out like shrapnel from under the skin.

He was a master at leaving the back door open in case he had to retreat.

★ ★ ★

Yet, unlike the rambling, disconnected, broken sentences and unfinished thoughts of President Eisenhower at a news conference, Dulles' sentences were always, despite twists and turns, grammatically sound and flowing.

★ ★ ★

So is the sentence structure of Herter, a "proper Bostonian" from Harvard. But Herter is easier to follow. His sentences are shorter, more direct. He has a simplicity Dulles lacked.

Dulles ran the State Department out of his hat. Often he gave an impression of arrogance. Herter, who depends on teamwork, seems a less complicated man of good nature and good will.

He was relaxed Thursday, although crippled by arthritis. He smiled easily, was unpretentious, and it was clear he had done his homework in the three years he has been in the State Department.

The 64-year-old Herter was named under secretary late in 1956. He didn't become secretary until April 22. In between those dates he was completely overshadowed by Dulles and probably thoroughly ignored.

So he had time to learn his job. It showed Thursday when he knew detailed background of American problems in Europe and Asia. Nevertheless, it was a pretty drab news conference.

Herter for the most part — and particularly about his lack of optimism on Geneva—simply was restating what he had said or implied before.

His ease in handling the newsmen is no guarantee he will be a good secretary of state. The proof and the test lie before him: He has 18 months in the job before the Eisenhower administration ends.

So far he has shown very little sign of forcefulness. But that proves nothing—yet. He's not the type anyway to come in with a roar. He has a choice: Follow Dulles' policy or try to break new ground.

Dulles' policy was frozen and in many ways unimaginative: He just followed the Truman-Acheson policy of stiff-arming the Soviets on all fronts. That worked all right so long as the Soviet Union was comparatively weak.

It isn't now. American policy may have to prove far more flexible to meet the changing times, new situations, and increasing belligerence of the Soviets. Herter hasn't had time yet to show himself or prove himself.

Deer, Wildlife Flee Blaze

Fire Hits Rose Bowl Area

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—A brush fire near the Rose Bowl blackened 100 hillside acres and threatened many fashionable homes before firemen controlled the blaze Thursday.

Deer, rabbits and other wildlife scurried across well-kept lawns as a score of fire fighting companies from nearby communities fought the blaze in 102-degree heat. Three firemen over overcome by smoke.

Residents from about 30 homes were excavated by firemen, but no structures were damaged. The flames came within 50 feet of some houses. Cause of the fire was not determined.

Monkey Makes Sign Useless in a Hurry

Attendants got them back on a ruse.

Ryke then read the sign — "watch your eyeglasses."

Bank Robberies Rise Sharply

764 Violations in Year Is Increase of 133 Over Previous 12 Months

WASHINGTON (AP) — Bank robbers were busier last year than in any year in history, the FBI reported today.

The report, for the fiscal year ended June 30, showed 764 violations of the federal bank robbery law. They included 445 robberies, 233 burglaries and 86 larcenies.

The total compared with 631 violations in the previous fiscal year and 606 in 1932, at the height of the gangster era.

In a year-end report to Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers, FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said:

"I want to point out that bank robbery has been, and always will be, a crime of the most serious nature.

"Every trigger-happy bank robber is a potential killer and should be treated as such.

"The only way to stem the tide of bank robberies is for witnesses to assist law enforcement agencies in identifying the robber, and this cooperative action must be followed by swift solution, vigorous prosecution, and the imposition of sentences suiting the gravity of the crime."

Hoover reported 11,719 convictions during the last 12 months in FBI-investigated cases, an increase of 262 over the previous 12 months.

He listed a total of $135,408,100 in fines, savings and recoveries in FBI cases during the 1959 fiscal year, and said bureau agents recovered 16,957 stolen motor vehicles during the period.

Classes will begin immediately following registration at the south end of the park beach. A fee of $2.75 will be charged for the 7-week course, according to Recreation Director Tom Belton.

U.S. Studies Gas Tax Hike to Keep Road Program Going

WASHINGTON (AP) — A possible gasoline tax increase was one of several ways studied today to keep work going on the national superhighway network in the years ahead.

An increase somewhat less than the 1½ cents a gallon President Eisenhower proposed still was an important part of several compromise plans ready for consideration by the House Ways and Means Committee.

In advance of today's session, Chairman Wilbur D. Mills (D-Ark) indicated no specific solution was imminent, although a number of alternatives were known to be under study.

Eisenhower proposed last January an increase to 4½ cents a gallon to avoid a threatened deficit in the special highway trust fund from which federal grants are made. House Democrats balked at the plan, and the Senate rejected it as an amendment to another tax measure last month.

Without some assurance of added money, the highway fund will be too small to permit scheduled allocations to the state next month of amounts they can spend in the year starting next July 1. The allocations are made in advance to allow time for the necessary planning. A pay-as-you-go requirement in the highway law limits spending to the amount in the fund.

That requirement was suspended temporarily during last year's recession. Eisenhower has opposed any further suspension or other solution that would draw on regular treasury funds. But hints of a possible compromise developed this week.

Two major compromise plans now being contemplated would provide:

1. A ½-cent increase in the gas tax to bring in an extra 280 million dollars, temporary suspension of the pay-as-you-go requirement, and a two-year stretchout of the program now due for completion in 1972.

2. A one-cent increase in the gas tax worth 560 millions, also with suspension of the pay-as-you-go requirement.

The trust fund is financed from earmarked taxes on gasoline, tires and tubes, diesel fuel, trucks, buses and a highway use tax on trucks.

Currently, the trust fund is expected to go into the red about half a billion dollars by the end of the fiscal year ending June 30, 1961.

★ ★ ★

House Democrats contend a gas tax increase of the size proposed by President Eisenhower is unjustified. They said it would be too much of a burden on the motorist public and the states, which look to their own gasoline taxes for road building revenues.

★ ★ ★

Mills contends the law as originally planned did not contemplate that the program had to be on a day-to-day, penny-by-penny balance, but only that costs and taxes balance out during its lifetime.

But Eisenhower told Congress that any system of borrowing "would only be a refusal to face reality."

Ex-Head of Joint Chiefs Asked for Explanation of 'Pressure' Statement

WASHINGTON (AP)—House investigators ask Adm. Arthur W. Radford today just whom he had in mind when he said interservice rows were encouraged from outside the Pentagon.

Radford is a former chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff who was recalled into part time government service as a defense consultant. He faces questioning by a House subcommittee investigating alleged influences and pressures in weapons buying.

In a television interview June 28, Radford said one reason why defense decisions are not always fully supported by all services is that "there are certain encouragements lent from outside the Pentagon, for one reason or another."

The admiral said he did not mean "Congress alone" but that defense manufacturers also had to be taken into account.

The subcommittee is concentrating now on the role of former highranking officers and civilian defense officials who went to work for industrial firms dealing with the defense department.

Vice Adm. Hyman G. Rickover, the Navy's atomic propulsion chief, reluctantly bowed Thursday to subcommittee orders to name people he said had called on him and tried to influence his programs. Rickover was allowed to submit the information in writing, with the understanding the subcommittee would keep in confidence any names it did not consider must come out in public investigations of possible impropriety.

Develop Better Way to Track Missiles

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — An improved missile tracking instrumentation system designed to range to the moon and beyond was announced today by Convair-Astronautics.

Convair - Astronautics said the Mark II is designed to measure changes in missile position of one-tenth of a foot at distances of hundreds of miles down range from Cape Canaveral, Fla.

Breakfast in most European countries consists of hot cereal, ham and sausage, but in Holland it is likely to be cold meat and cheeses with coffee and chocolate being the only hot items.

Astronauts Morale Down?

WASHINGTON (AP)—Is there a morale problem with America's seven Mercury Astronauts? The House Space Committee means to find out.

A staff investigator was ordered to go to the Langley research center in Virginia, where the astronauts are training for their coming attempt to orbit the earth in a satellite.

The investigator will look into reports that the men are unhappy because they have lost flight time and extra pay since starting their training. All were military test pilots and are reported concerned about keeping their air-

"Stay Alive Longer"

2 Sides to Every Story?

Men to Bark No More

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Women's Editor

Seems as though a new day has dawned for girl reporters.

The 1959 personnel report of the Associated Press Managing Editors Assn. Personnel Committee has a special section devoted to "Tips on Bossing Women," explained as "10 commandments which can be followed by any managing editor to insure topnotch success in dealing with the fair sex."

Now when I first started as a cub reporter, editors didn't worry about such things. My first city editor used to look around the city room, beckon to me and say with disgust:

"Since we haven't got a good man around, I guess I'll have to send you out on this assignment."

SCOOP MEANT GRUNT

All that is to be changed, if the nation's editors heed the APME recommendation, written by Committee Chairman I. William Hill of the Washington Star.

★ ★ ★

1. Measure a woman by her success with a job, not by her sex or your prejudice.

2. Avoid impatience with a woman; she NEEDS to have confidence in you.

3. What ego is to a man, security is to a woman; make her feel safe and needed and she'll make you feel 10 feet tall.

DON'T DESERT HER

4. Never desert a woman in her fear; it is not circumstances a woman fears so much as the prospect of facing them alone.

5. Never lose your temper with a woman; every woman knows the smaller the pot, the quicker it boils.

6. A woman's anger can be atomic in power; when there's a blast-off, direct the force to useful ends.

7. Never forget that a woman never forgets; her memory, compared to a man's, is as a cable to a thread.

8. As a man, provide the reason, the authority and the security to guide a woman in the use of her constant emotional drive.

9. Praise a woman on every possible occasion; her appreciation is fourfold that of man. So is her sensitivity; she requires one-fourth the criticism.

10. Treat each woman as an individual in ways suitable to the time, the place and the woman.

PASTE 'EM UP

I recommend that every newspaperwoman paste a copy of the APME 10 commandments in a prominent place near her desk. When the boss gets tough, just point to it.

Let 'Em Bark Anyway

So We'll Be Generous

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Women's Editor

Now that The Associated Press Managing Editors Association has adopted a code of "ten commandments for dealing with women employes," it seems only fair that women employes should reciprocate with a code for dealing with men editors.

In the beginning every newspaperwoman should bear in mind that even the toughest editors are merely men and that the crustiest exterior may conceal a shy and sensitive heart. Starting with this basic fact, all the rest is easy.

The following ten commandments for getting along with men bosses are not official, of course, but they may serve as a basis for discussion when women reporters get together in a smoke-filled room after the paper has been put to bed:

1. Do not let your own prejudice give you an unfair attitude toward your editor. Remember that some men are as smart as women.

HE'S ALWAYS RIGHT

2. Never argue with a male editor. Remember that he NEEDS to have his ego built up at all times. Help to convince him in little ways that he is always right.

3. Even if your editor misses the biggest story of the year, tell him he's wonderful. At a time like this tenderness and understanding are particularly important to the sensitive male.

4. Never desert your editor in a crisis. Stick around within earshot so he will have somebody to swear at. It is frustrating for a man to have to shout at an empty desk.

5. Always ask your editor's superior opinion before writing a lead or starting an interview. Great-big-he will love to help poor-little-you if you keep the attitude right.

6. Remember that a man's anger is always greatest when he feels he has been wrong. Be quick to assure him that whatever happened was all your own fault and you'll never let it happen again. Shortly after this is a good time to ask for a raise.

7. Never forget that a man always forgets. Always help him to remember important things, such as the deadline for the first edition.

PROVIDE STRENGTH

8. As a woman, it's up to you to provide the strength, the stamina and the drive to see a man through his insecure moments. When he starts showing strain, suggest that there's a situation at the nearest bar that needs his attention. He'll come back beaming.

9. Praise a male editor on every possible occasion. It's rewarding to watch his chest expand.

10. Don't try to treat each editor as an individual. Just remember he's a man, and men are all alike.

These rules, of course, are mere suggestions, but if followed faithfully they should insure topnotch success in dealing with the more difficult sex.

Lobby Was Right Place for Farewell

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: Recently my wife and I and nineteen-year-old daughter went to New York for a short visit and stayed at one of the larger hotels. We had adjoining rooms. While there, my daughter had a date with a young man she knew.

"Knowing that the young people would not be home until after my wife and I had gone to bed, I told my daughter to get her key from the desk and say good-night to the young man at the elevator in the lobby. Both thought me an old "fuddy-duddy" because I insisted on this.

"Perhaps I am behind the times but when I was a young man the proprieties demanded this. Will you please tell me if this has changed?"

Answer: The proprieties have not changed, and the fact that they are on occasion disregarded does not mean approval. Your directions were absolutely corect. The proper place for her to say good-night was at the door of the elevator in the lobby.

"Dear Mrs. Post: I live in a small town where it seems to have become the accepted custom to send wedding and shower invitations to everybody in town, even to slight acquaintances. I enjoy buying gifts for relatives and close friends but I resent having to buy presents for people I hardly know. Would it be permissible to ignore such invitations?"

Answer: You may certainly refuse the invitations of persons whom you hardly know, and very certainly you are under no obligation to send a present.

"Dear Mrs. Post: My daughter is going to be married soon and we have a problem concerning the receiving line. The groom's mother and father are divorced and remarried. The groom is on good terms with both his father and stepfather. We would like to know who should stand with his mother to receive — his own father or his stepfather?"

Answer: His stepfather.

"Dear Mrs. Post: I am going to be married soon and after the rehearsal at church I intend to have a buffet supper at my house for the wedding party. Four of the attendants are married. Is it necessary to invite their wives and husbands to the rehearsal supper?"

Answer: It would seem that at a buffet supper you will be able to have four extra easily, if so you should invite the wives and husbands.

For the next six months the Stephen Oliseck household on Jameson street, Waterford Township, is going to be an extremely happy one. Mrs. Oliseck's mother, Mrs. Ethel Berry of Auckland, New Zealand, center, whom she has not seen for 12 years, will be visiting here until December. Posing with Mrs. Berry are Mrs. Oliseck, left, holding Kimberly Kay, and Colleen Joy Oliseck, right.

Leaves New Zealand to Visit Waterford

Amazing Grandma Zooms In

By MARGARET BROWN

Mrs. Oliseck's 76-year-old mother, Mrs. Ethel Berry of Auckland on the North Island of New Zealand, has journeyed here via ship and plane for a six-month stay.

"We think her trip all alone was quite a feat, considering her age plus the fact that she didn't understand our monetary system," remarked Mrs. Oliseck.

"I just told people, 'You take what you need of my money.' I trusted every one of them." Mrs. Berry is accustomed to transacting in pounds shillings, and pence.

APART SINCE 1947

Mother and daughter had not seen each other since 1947 when Mrs. Oliseck came here as a war bride with her son, Steven, now 14.

Two pretty granddaughters, she never had seen, Colleen Joy, and baby Kimberly Kay, also were on hand to welcome their grandmother, along with Mr. Oliseck, an ex-Marine.

The mother of 11 children, Mrs. Berry informed us that there are an estimated one million Maori, aborigines of New Zealand, in her homeland. "Most of them are very well educated," she commented, "and they're fine people."

She was as proud of the completion of the new Auckland Bridge spanning the harbor of her city as were Michiganites when construction of the mighty Mackinac Bridge was finished.

As one might expect, shipping is a major industry on the British Island dominion.

"There's not much large scale manufacturing," she related, "but Auckland has many business offices employing numerous housewives, as well as single girls."

GRAHAM 'DOES GOOD'

"Oh, and we've recently had your Billy Graham," she added. "About 70,000 persons packed an arena to hear him at one meeting. He's done a lot of good for the people there."

As for her favorite pastime: "Well," she beamed, "I just love the horses. 'Trots,' 'gallops,' I go rain or shine!"

"I'll say," interjected Mrs. Oliseck. "Once she went to the races in defiance of doctor's orders and was meandering around tirelessly when the rest of us were beat." Mrs. Berry smiled impishly at that.

Another of Mrs. Berry's daughters is touring Europe now and will arrive here in August.

"And is she going to be in for a surprise," said Mrs. Oliseck.

Mrs. Berry's Europe bound daughter had told her mother refretfully before departing that the trip abroad might be too strenuous for her. Mrs. Oliseck exclaimed jokingly, "I can't wait to see her face when Mother opens the door."

Don't Like a Wig? Try Half a One

By MARY PRIME

NEW YORK (UPI)—Women who don't have the nerve to wear a wig now can go half way. A Baltimore hair stylist has designed a semi-wig.

"Women aren't ready to wear a complete transformation yet. They resent it psychologically. So I thought that with this, they could show their own hair and not be afraid," said Richard Hartwich, who makes whole wigs and hair pieces in addition to the half-wig.

Called a "halo coif," the new wig is a circular band of hair with an open crown. Elasticized bands allow the coif to adjust to the individual head size. The coif is made of real hair to match the woman's own, which is combed to blend with the wig.

The coif can be brushed forward, backward, up or down in casual or high-style effects. It requires no pins to anchor it, can be set before wearing, and can be worn with either long or short hair.

Hartwich has the bands made by hand by 40 women in Belgium and Germany, then sent to his shop for styling and shaping.

When the coifs were in the experimental stage, his wife, Elfriede, was his model and guinea pig. Now, Hartwich's customers include models and movie stars who must look fashionable at all times. Some women wear the coifs for religious reasons and practicality, he said.

"Women are finding that when it's hot in summer, this is the thing," he added in a telephone interview. "It has complete ventilation and weighs less than an ounce."

The bands range from $45 to $75, depending on type and length of hair.

Hartwich, a veteran of 24 years in the business, began as a 16-year-old apprentice in his father's shop at Aix-la Chapelle on the German-Belgian border. He worked in Brussels, Paris, Berlin, and Amsterdam before opening a shop in Hamburg, Germany.

He has won 12 grand prizes in international contests for creative hairstyling, coloring and marcelling, plus the hairstyling world's championship for three consecutive years (1953-1955) at the International Beauty Show in New York.

Upholds Value of Learning Phonetics

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

As a child I had a stern piano teacher who required me to toil endlessly over the scales in my exercise books. Once, horribly depressed by the sounds I made, I protested the deadly monotony of the steppingstone notes. Glaring at me, the teacher said, "I am paid for giving you music lessons. Now the left hand alone again."

Then came an unforgettable afternoon. I found the family's collection of "Irish Songs" on the piano rack and idly struck the notes I saw on the open page. To my amazed delight I suddenly realized that I was playing my father's favorite "Kathleen Mavourneen"—and playing it with certainty and skill. It was a moment of the most intense self-appreciation.

Yesterday an 8-year-old neighbor returned a borrowed copy of Waldemar Bonsels' classic "The Adventures of Maya the Bee" because, she told me, she didn't "recognize" some of its words.

She's not a stupid child. She's just not been drilled in stepping-stone sounds of the alphabet's letters. So she can't sound them in word combinations as my scales enabled me to explore the note combinations of "Kathleen Mavourneen."

Thus she's denied the self-appreciation that overwhelms a child when phonetic drilling enables him to sound the letters of an unrecognizable meaning.

But today we are so afraid of being bored ourselves that we are scared to death of boring children. We reject the phonetic method because it offers no immediate reward. We give Billy a "sight vocabulary" that enables him to recognize some words as a whole but denies him the skill that would enable him to make all words his own.

In a book on modern methods, a teacher quotes H. L. Mencken on his 8-year-old discovery of "Huckleberry Finn." Wrote Mencken: "It was probably the most stupendous experience of my life. Child though I was, I realized that I had entered a domain of new and gorgeous wonders."

Then the modern teacher carefully refrains from reminding us that Mencken belongs to the generation that was drilled in phonetics.

Calf Exercise

Thin Legs Call for Gaining

To increase the calf: Lift your heels as high off the floor as you can. Lower heels to the floor. Do this slowly, about 50 times morning and night.

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

The Question Box

Q. "I am 17 years old, 5 feet, 8 inches tall and weigh 114 pounds. My legs and arms are very thin. Is there any exercise that will help me gain on my arms and legs?"

A. Exercise can help but what will be even better is a gain in weight. You are quite underweight. You should increase your poundage for the good of your health as well as your figure. The simplest exercise for increasing the calf is this one. Stand tall. Lift your heels as high off the floor as you can. Lower heels to the floor. Do this slowly, about 50 times morning and night.

Q. "What are the measurements for a perfect figure?"

A. These vary with the height and bone structure. It is impossible for everyone to achieve the same measurements, so no definite standard of perfection can be set up. As a general rule there should not be more than two inches difference between the bust and the hips and the waist should be 10 inches smaller than the hips. The calf should be five or six inches smaller than the thigh and the ankle about five inches smaller than the calf.

Remember, that this is a general standard and should simply give you a little idea of what to strive for.

Q. "I am 20 years old. My face still has pimples occasionally. This was much worse when I was younger (it wasn't acne), but I figure they should have cleared up by now for good. Should I see a skin specialist or am I worrying over nothing?"

A. Unless you have many pimples I would not think it necessary to see a dermatologist. Sometimes these haven't disappeared by the age of 20. Give yourself a little more time. Of course this condition could come from infection of some sort, such as diseased teeth, tonsils or adenoids.

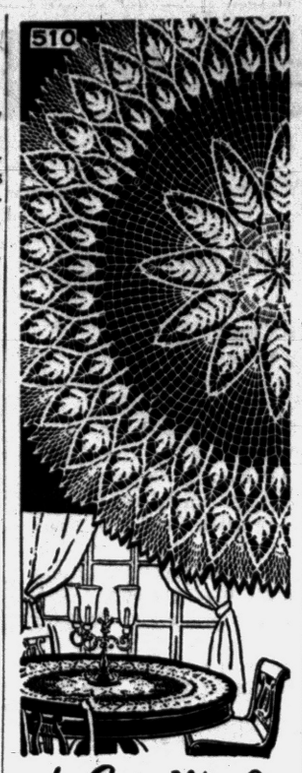

Q. "I need your advice. Please tell me if I am overweight. I am 25 years old, 5 feet 7 inches tall and weigh 130 pounds. My bust measures 36 inches, waist 25 and hips 37 inches. I feel so large. My family says that I am not fat. If I am not, why do I feel this way?"

A. You are certainly not overweight. Perhaps you feel that way because you are setting your goal at movie star proportions. Many young women do this. You must remember that the camera adds about 10 pounds so that screen stars must be slimmer than would be most becoming to you.

Tomorrow: "It May Be Boring, but Our Teeth Need Correct Care:"

Household Hint

Some cases of food poisoning have been traced to infected sores on the hands that rule the kitchen. If you have an infection, try to have someone else take over the kitchen chores. Wear rubber gloves if that isn't possible.

Princess Margaret Dances the Cha Cha

LONDON (UPI) — Princess Margaret danced the cha cha well past midnight today at a champagne party for the 5th Marquess of Dufferin and Ava, one of the heirs to the Guinness brewery fortune.

The Aga Khan and a collection of lords and ladies, most of them the age of the marquess, also were there. The marquess was celebrating his 21st birthday and a present of $159,600 from the money left by his grandfather, Arthur Guinness.

Thomas Hardy, author of the classical "The Return of the Native," lived to the age off 88. He died in 1928.

Man's Faults Result of Your Behavior

By RUTH MILLETT

It's often the wife's fault if—

The children in the family are afraid of their father. ("If you don't behave yourself I'll tell your dad when he gets home" repeated often enough can turn a loving father into the family bogey man as far as his children are concerned.)

The wife has to go to work to "make ends meet." (A really good manager can often get by on the same sized check a poor manager finds inadequate.)

The husband tells his wife practically nothing about his business. (Many a husband has learned through sad experience that if he doesn't want "the girls" to know all the office gossip he had better not repeat it to his wife.)

The husband spends as little time as possible at home. (Some men hate to go home because their wives nag. Others dread going home to a house that is poorly kept and never peaceful. Others are just plain bored at home because their wives never do anything to make the evenings pleasant and entertaining.

★ ★ ★

The husband leaves all the decisions to his wife and refuses to accept responsibility. (Many a wife assumes responsibilities that should be shared by her husband simply because she likes running things herself. And the more responsibilities she assumes the less responsible her husband becomes.)

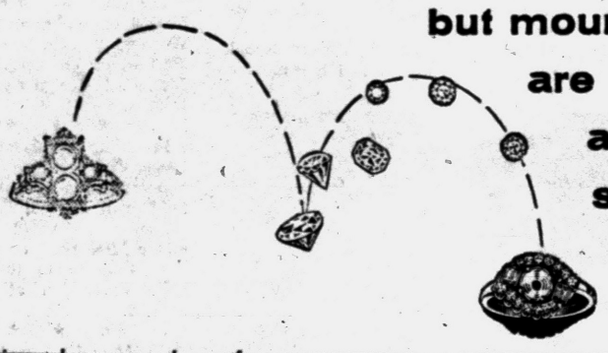

★ ★ ★

FLORENCE M. MALLETT

Mr. and Mrs. Albert E. Mallett of Mt. Clemens street announce the engagement of their daughter, Florence Marie, to Stanley Drapek, son of Mrs. Pauline Drapek of Northview avenue. A September wedding is planned.

Household Hint

For rainy days, mix a finger paint for the children. Mix six tablespoons dry laundry starch with a little cold water. Slowly pour into one quart boiling water, stirring constantly until mixture thickens. Add a drop of oil of cloves and stir well. Divide into small jars and tint the mixture with different food coloring or poster paint.

Keynote Is Harmony

Give a Color Shower

The happy and exciting weeks ahead for the bride-elect will include gay showers, a part of the pre-wedding whirl she'll always remember. If you are a close friend of a bride-to-be, perhaps you are planning a shower, and as the hostess it will be up to you to decide what type of party it will be.

PICK HER FAVORITE HUE

Base your decorations, food and gifts on the bride-elect's favorite color. Without actually telling your friends what to buy as gifts, you can tell them the color to purchase.

Since color is such a large factor in today's market, you can find pastels and bolder hues in everything from kitchen bowls to linens.

Top fashion favorites are the rose and pink tones. This could suggest an "everything's rosy" shower. Invitations could be rose shapes cut from pink paper and attached to the front of pink notepaper with double-face tape. Print details inside.

Gifts could be wrapped in pastel papers and tied with ribbon in shades of pink. Packages can be decorated with ribbon roses or artificial flowers.

The shower motif could be announced by a child's parasol decked out like a full-blown rose. This can be done by taping crushed strips of pink tissue paper to the umbrella top in circular strips to resemble petals.

FOR GOOD FORTUNE

Then a deeper pink ribbon rose can be tied around the center tip with rose-colored bows to decorate the points of the umbrella. Written fortunes can be tied to these bows, and, at the end of the party, each guest may select a bow and read her fortune.

The theme can be carried out in many other ways. Food could include tomato roses stuffed with pink seafood, pink ices or sherbets, pink petit fours or cakes, and pink roses as place favors.

Other colors and flowers can be used, of course. A "lily white" shower or "bachelor button blues" are suggested, or the yellow sunflower could be tamed for the shower table.

The main trick is to find out the color most favored by the bride-to-be. Then, to keep the memory fresh, load your camera with color film and take pictures of the party.

BONNIE B. ENGLISH

Mr. and Mrs. Earl W. Bailey of South Main street in Clarkston announce the engagement of their daughter, Bonnie B. English of Monroe street, to Donald L. Reene, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leon G. Reene of the Pontiac State Hospital grounds. An October wedding is planned.

Tell Them You Object — Abby

Telephone Solicitations Keep Housewife in Nervous Tizzy

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: What can be done about telephone soliciting. I get so annoyed when I must run to the telephone in the midst of bathing the baby. Or am awakened from a much-needed nap to hear someone tell of a special offer the cleaners or photographers are having. I have always given a polite reply, but have been tempted to tell them off.

ABBY

If I removed the receiver from the hook, I'd risk throwing my line out of order. Then, too, I might miss an important call. I have considered complaining to the telephone company. Is there a solution? MRS. S.

DEAR MRS. S. The next time you are annoyed in this way, tell the party calling you did not appreciate being disturbed. When merchants realize that they are defeating their purpose and building ill will, they will discontinue this annoying practice.

DEAR ABBY: This fellow I have been going steady with for three months won't take NO for an answer. He is always wanting to make out. I told him from the start that I have to be careful of my reputation. He said he wouldn't talk. But he has told me about some other girls he made out with. What do you do with a boy who tries to get a girl to break down? JANEY

DEAR JANEY: Break up!

DEAR ABBY: Will you please give me your opinion of how a housewife should dress around the house? It is nothing for me to come home and find my wife in the kitchen, cooking supper, wearing a backless, strapless and almost frontless dress that she wore dancing the previous night. Or a lace sheath with chiffon streamers and a rhinestone choker and long earrings. I'd like to find my wife looking like a real housewife, not like a burlesque queen. I can't tell her—will you? TALKED OUT

DEAR TALKED: If you have told her—she "knows" what she should wear around the house, but doesn't care. Surprise her with some cute cotton cottage aprons or housedresses. If this fails, just thank heavens she is in the kitchen cooking when you come home.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: My husband is the athletic type which I like. He plays basketball, baseball and football on the average of three times a week during each season. I wouldn't mind if he'd come right home afterwards. But if his team loses, all the boys go out to drown their sorrows. If they win, they have a few beers to celebrate. Most of the guys are married, but they all act like they're single. I used to go with my husband but with a small baby it isn't easy now. Any suggestions? ATHLETE'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: It's not "easy" to leave a baby—but sometimes necessary. Get a friend, a relative or a sitter and join your husband. He'll soon get out of the habit of a beer bust after each game.

Beauty Hint

With warmer weather definitely on its way, it is time to pamper your skin. Like most of us, you probably neglected it during winter cover-up months. Women planning outdoor activities should begin smoothing legs and feet for shorts and bathing suit time. When bathing, rub a pumice stone on roughened areas. Massage your feet and legs while applying a lotion or cream.

Molded Shrimp Salad Cool Dish on Hot Day

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

You're entertaining a few and you wonder what to have friends at lunch on a hot day to eat. We suggest Mrs. Charles M. Conat's Shrimp Salad Mold. You can make it the day before and be cool as a cucumber yourself when your guests arrive.

Mrs. Conat enjoys people. She is a member of the Barbara Norris circle of her church and of the Pontiac Garden Club.

SHRIMP SALAD MOLD
By Mrs. Charles M. Conat

1 cup condensed tomato soup
½ cup water
1 package lemon gelatin
1 cup mayonnaise
2 tablespoons chopped onion or juice
2 packages cream cheese
2 cups celery cut fine
½ cup stuffed olives
1 cup cooked shrimp
Diced green pepper, if desired

Heat tomato soup and water and dissolve gelatin in hot liquid. Add mayonnaise and cream cheese which have been combined. Add other ingredients, pour into a mold and chill.

Dressing

1 cup mayonnaise
3 tablespoons chili sauce
1 cucumber sliced thin

He Models Hats for the Ladies and Then Buys

A buyer like himself gets a better idea of a hat's style and value by trying it on rather than having it modeled by "a cute girl," says Davis.

"Get a pretty face and anything looks good, whether the hat is a good one or not. The same can't be said when I try them on though."

He says there's nothing unusual about his job and he thinks men make better buyers of women's hats than women.

"Mind you there are exceptions. But a woman will buy hats for her department store with herself in mind. And that's sometimes not good."

Slate Oakland County School Elections Monday

School elections will be held in five districts in Oakland County Monday. They include:

Brandon, Lake Orion Community, Oxford Area Community, Clarkston Community, and the Novi Community school districts.

Special issues will be decided at this time in the Oxford District and in the Lake Orion District, while all five will see school board posts filled.

Seven men, including three incumbents are vying for positions on the Novi Community School District Board of Education.

Five who will be candidates for two three-year terms are Arthur Heslip, present Board president; Russell Taylor, present secretary; Oliver T. Rose, Robert J. McKeon and George W. Mairs.

Running for a one-year term is William R. O'Brien and Dr. Harold L. Morris who was appointed last December to fill a vacancy created by the resignation of Kenneth Bernard when he moved out of the state.

The five who are candidates for the two posts open in the Oxford district are Ted Pearson Jr. and Harrison E. Specht, both of Oxford, Louis B. Coryell of Oxford Township, Robert L. Trask of Leonard and Mrs. Grace Kurschat of Lakelville.

They are seeking the positions being vacated by Hiram Terry and Mrs. Gerda Houck, who did not file for re-election. Both are for three years.

The Oxford Board of Education is also seeking approval from the voters to sell a strip of land along the west boundary of the Lakeville School property to Mr. and Mrs. Robert McWilliams for $150.

Six men, including one incumbent, are running for the two offices available in the Lake Orion district. They are Albert J. Rhodes, Keith Middleton, Gordon C. Brown, Martin L. Parker, James A. Summers and present Board Secretary Hugh Brady.

The other incumbent whose term expires is Dan Abbey. He did not seek re-election.

Those elected will serve for three years.

In addition to voting for Board members, Lake Orion district voters will be asked Monday for permission to sell the Howarth and Eaton school buildings which are no longer being used.

In the Brandon School District, two men and two women are vying for the two vacancies on the Board. They are Mrs. Ilene M. Sellers, Mrs. Shirley F. Schmidt, Clarence S. Moore and appointee Joseph B. Jencks. The terms are for three years.

The other incumbent whose term is expiring is Mrs. Bernice M. Ware, who was not a candidate for re-election.

Only the incumbent's name will appear on the ballot to fill one post being vacated in the Clarkston district Monday.

Island Queen Paddles Again

Kent Lake Sternwheeler Running After Month's Search for Skipper

MILFORD—Once again Kensington Parks' little riverboat, the Island Queen, is paddling her way around 13 miles of scenic shoreline after being tied up for a month for lack of a skipper.

First, there were rigid Coast Guard tests to be made on the boat which is one of the park's biggest attractions. The little sternwheeler passed these with flying colors.

With a few minor electrical changes and better fire protection equipment installed last May the Island Queen was ready to accommodate an anticipated 25,000 passengers this summer.

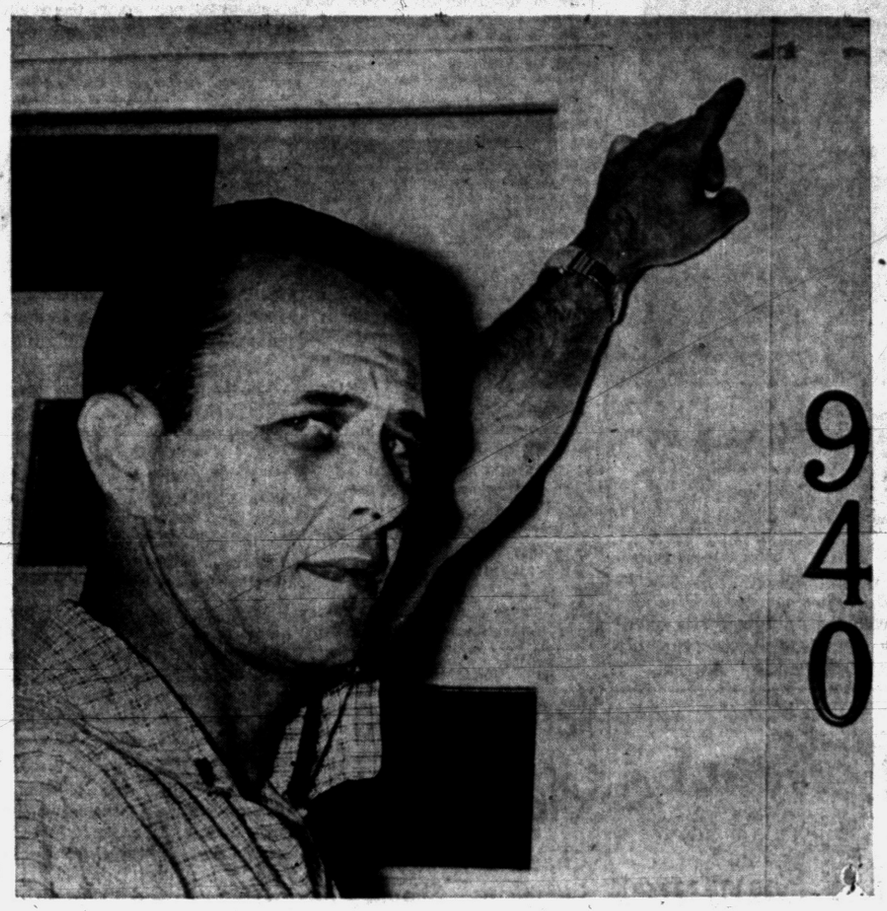

However, the Coast Guard insisted that three qualified and approved operators be hired to man the replica of a Dixieland riverboat. The men were required to have had one year's boat operator experience on a licensed Coast Guard approved vessel.

★ ★ ★

After much screening by Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority officials, Terry J. Thompson of Milford was chosen to captain the boat, along with two other qualified helpers.

Charter trips also are available to park visitors Tuesdays through Sundays before the regular trips start, and after the daily tours end in the evening.

HIS HOUSE HIT — Thomas Umphrey of 940 Sebek Rd., Oxford Township, points to the spot on his front door where a bullet hit and ricocheted off on Wednesday. Umphrey later learned that his house is in the line of fire of the Orion Gun Club, and officials of the club have promised to take corrective measures so that such an incident does not happen again. The bullet narrowly missed a neighbor standing in her yard two lots away, and finally fell to the ground after hitting a fence a few feet from her.

Southfield Finds Another Mistake in Zoning Laws

SOUTHFIELD — This city, already bedeviled with two lawsuits involving a new zoning law adopted in March, now finds that another error was made during the re-adoption of the same law in June.

The new error was made when the city failed to notify the Bell Telephone Co., Consumers Gas Co. and the Detroit Edison Electric Co. of the re-adoption of the zoning law.

Waivers to these companies were sent out yesterday, City Administrator Robert J. McNutt announced this morning.

The lawsuits involve application of building permits for re-zoning land from residential to commercial during the three-week period.

Intersection Had No Traffic Signs

Area Woman's Car Hit Other Broadside; Auto Rolls Into Field

ARMADA TOWNSHIP —. A 55-year-old Detroit storm door and window salesman was killed at 6:40 p.m. yesterday in a two-car crash at the unmarked intersection of Irwin and Capac roads here.

Romeo State Police troopers said Gilbert Applebaum was hurled from his car when it was hit broadside by a car driven by Mrs. Gale Wellman, 41, of 240 W. Whitcomb St., Madison Heights.

Both Applebaum's body and his car, which overturned landing on its top, were found in an open field northwest of the intersection, police said.

The victim's car was 65 feet from the point of impact and his body 28 feet beyond the car, investigating officers reported.

Applebaum was pronounced dead at the scene by Macomb County Coroner Raymond G. Markle. He had a fractured skull and internal injuries.

Mrs. Wellman was taken to the Community Hospital near Almont where she was treated for a cut leg and released.

She was to make a statement to the Macomb County Prosecutor this morning in Mount Clemens, police said.

Claims Injuries Caused by Helping 2 Daughters Launch Outboard Boat

DETROIT (AP) — A Chicago man is asking $100,000 for injuries he says he suffered in helping launch a boat for the daughters of a wealthy Michigan industrialist.

Pearson said he suffered extensive permanent injuries July 10, 1956, when he answered a call for help from Andreae's daughters, 9 and 15, and helped them launch an outboard motorboat in Lake Huron near Lexington.

He said he incurred fractured vertebrae, internal injuries and permanent stiffness of the arms, legs, neck and spine. Pearson asked $6,000 for medical bills, $45,000 for pain and suffering and $49,000 for future pain and suffering.

The suit held that Andreae should not have permitted what it termed "a hazardous situation calculated to entrap innocent persons."

County Boys Start 21-Day Alaska Jaunt

Each one of the boys has earned at least one-third of the expense of the trip, which is by train and boat, with his parents paying the balance of approximately $500.

A Redford teacher, Edward J. Kuhn, of 2295 Lake Angelus Dr., Waterford Township, is carrying on an idea promoted by since-deceased Detroit philanthropist, George E. Buchanan, some 40 years ago. Each year a group of boys signs up for the trip that takes them 8,000 miles through Alberta, Canada, where they can see Lake Louise in the Canadian Rockies setting.

All along the way, various organizations have been scheduled to play host to the boys, and when the travelers reach Juneau, Alaska, the Kiwanis Club will sponsor them on an 18-mile trip on the Glacier Highway.

PRESS JOB HELPS

Robert Roberts, 14, of 5210 Highland Rd., Waterford Township, was the first boy to register for the tour. He earned his specified amount by delivering The Pontiac Press, and needed the profit from his last week's paper deliveries to qualify, Kuhn said.

Another boy on the trip, Walled Lake's David Scully of 7110 Colony St., is 11 years old. He earned his money by working all winter shoveling snow, then cutting grass and doing odd jobs this summer.

Others included in the group are Ronald Cleveland of 31641 Rocky Crest Dr., Farmington; William Ellis, 1315 Hazel St., Birmingham; Stanley Peabody, 12048 Fenton Rd., Fenton; David Jonhson, 385 Golfview Dr., Birmingham; and Joseph Reid, of 122 Elm Park Dr., Pleasant Ridge.

On their return trip, the boys will travel through Rainier National Park, visit the Oregon Centennial Exposition, the gigantic Bonneville Dam and Multnomah Falls. They will return home July 29.

Four Area Girls to Attend Homemaking Convention

Four Oakland County area girls will attend the national convention of the Future Homemakers of America Organization next week in Chicago.

They are: Janet Mather, 16, second vice president at state level and the daughter of Mrs. Walter Mather of 2961 Dearborn St., Avon Township; Judy Anderson, 17, Region Seven president and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andy Anderson, 3905 Hazelton St., Avon Township; Jackie Gebben, 16, regional pianist, of 2336 Liberty Rd., Farmington, and Joan Wilson, 16, of 9316 Six-Mile Rd., Salem.

Judy also attends Avondale High School; Jackie attends Farmington High, and Joan is a student at South Lyon High School.

The girls will arrive in Chicago for the convention Monday and stay until Friday. A total of 2,500 Future Homemakers, including some from Puerto Rico and Hawaii as well as from the 49 states, are expected to attend with their chaperones.

The local area girls will be chaperoned by Mrs. Arthur Swartz of 673 E. Kennett Rd., Pontiac, who is in charge of the Oakland County delegation, a home economics instructor at the Avondale Senior High School and Region Seven advisor.

The Future Homemakers organization is for girls who are enrolled in or have taken a year of homemaking either in junior or senior high school.

Discuss Expansion of U.S.-Red Trade

NEW YORK (AP) — A Soviet official says 250 American businessmen have attended a meeting at which the possibility of expanding Soviet-U.S. trade was discussed.

Mikhail R. Kuzmin, Soviet deputy foreign trade minister said at the Soviet exhibition at the Coliseum here Thursday that he also had talked with Secretary of the Treasury Robert B. Anderson and Asst. Secretary of Commerce Henry Kearns about stepping up trade.

Kuzmin declined to identify the person or firms with whom he had discussed trade. He said the meetings were held at the Coliseum.

"We do not have the consent of our trade partners on publicizing commercial agreements," he commented, "especially since negotiations are still on."

He said American companies had indicated interest in goods displayed at the exhibition and in manufacturing license rights. Soviet products mentioned as potentials for the American market include ores, asbestos, timber, chemical goods, furs, cameras and small cars.

Anti-Pigeon Crusade Shaping in State Capital

LANSING (AP) — Lansing building managers have been asked to join in a campaign to rid the capital of its downtown pigeon population.

"The situation has been getting steadily worse for years," complained Jack Moffitt of the Building Managers Assn., a pigeon-hater for years.

"But now that the old city hall has been torn down—the favorite roost for pigeons—all the other buildings are rapidly taking on a coating of filthy white," he said.

Moffitt urged city fathers to join in the anti-pigeon crusade. The birds breed and roost within a few blocks from where they are born, he said, and so Lansing's flossy new city hall probably will become their next target.

He said a Chicago firm guaranteed to rid the city of 95 per cent of the pigeon population for a $6,000 fee. The birds are trapped, he said, and then gassed.

Fawn Deaths Puzzle Michigan Game Experts

Crewmen of a forest products company discovered 17 dead fawns in the area. Conservation men found three more last month.

Storm Cuts Off Japan

TOKYO (AP)—Japan was virually cut off from the outside world for more than two hours today when a gigantic magnetic storm interrupted all overseas radio links. The only commercial channel operating was a Danish-owned cable running under the sea to Siberia and across to Europe.

THEY'VE GOT THEIR MITTENS — These three little kittens have seven toes on each of their front feet, but this doesn't keep them from looking sad. They've just been taken away from their eight-toed mother, and are very unhappy about the whole deal. Their owner, Hugh Heintzelman of Milford, explained that a normal cat has only five toes, but it's not unusual for some to have six toes. Seven toes assures them of a "better understanding," according to their master. He explained that the mother of these kittens has set an all-time Oakland County record with her eight-toed front feet.

Three Oakland County area teenagers received awards at the 4-H Club's annual conference at Michigan State University in East Lansing yesterday.

Nancy Hutchins, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stuart P. Hutchins, 1062 E. Hamlin Rd., Avon Township, was presented with an MSU scholarship for $250.

Janet Long, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carlos G. Long, 3988 Sleeth Rd., Milford, and Harold Molzon, 18, of North Branch, were two of 10 4-H clubbers to win achievement awards.

Four of these winners will be picked later for a trip to the National 4-H Conference at Washington, D.C.

Nancy, who was graduated from Rochester Senior High School this year, intends to major in Home Economics at MSU.

"This is a great relief for me," she said. "It now insures my going to college."

Active in 4-H work the past eight years, Nancy previously won the 4-H state championship for baking in 1955, after placing first in the county.

Open Beauty Shop at Lapeer Institution

LAPEER — A new beauty shop at the Lapeer State Home and Training School will be dedicated at 2 p.m. Sunday in a ceremony to be held in Cottage 31.

The equipment for the shop, costing $1,500, is a gift from the Girl's Club of the U.S. Rubber Co. Regina LaTessa, president, will be on hand to donate officially the shop to the institution.

Rejects Traps for 5 Skunks in Her Garage

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "We have nothing against skunks; we just don't want them in our neighborhood."

So spoke Wanita Brewer as she rejected as too cruel a skunk trap offered by the city Thursday.

Problem of the exclusive Eagle Rock neighborhood in north Los Angeles: five of the little black and white critters. They've settled in Mrs. Brewer's garage.

A garden hose was no help—when they were squirted with it the skunks deserted the driveway for the garage, good-naturedly.

The Chamber of Commerce was no help. It advised calling the police, who advised calling the humane society. An inspector said:

★ ★ ★

Film Producer's Wife OK After Overdose

Police said it was a possible suicide attempt. But Hecht said: "I really can't believe my wife really meant to take her own life since she left a note to the children asking them to wake her at 8:30 this morning."

Gloria Hecht, 32, was found unconscious Thursday in the couple's Beverly Hills home. Hecht is Burt Lancaster's partner in Hecht-Hill-Lancaster Productions.

Dies of Injuries

DETROIT (AP) — Mrs. Ruth K. Hodgeman, 62, of Detroit, died Thursday night in Henry Ford Hospital of injuries suffered in an auto accident June 27th. Her car and another collided at an intersection near the downtown area.

POST OFFICE Commemorates Soil Conservation

New U.S. Stamp Salutes Soil Conservation March

A new 4-cent postage stamp saluting progress in soil conservation in the United States will be issued Aug. 26 by the Post Office Department, the U.S. Department of Agriculture announced today.

The Nation's first soil conservation stamp will be formally released at the annual meeting of the Soil Conservation Society of America at Rapid City, S. D., Aug. 26. It will go on sale the following day at post offices throughout the country.

The stamp, designed by Walter Hortens of New York and developed in cooperation with the U.S. Department of Agriculture, portrays a modern farmland setting signifying that conservation farming brings beauty as well as bounty to rural living.

In addition, the silhouette of a city in the background symbolizes that urban as well as rural people are highly dependent upon the care and wise use of land as a principal source of food, water, shelter and clothing. A total of 120 million stamps will be printed in three colors, yellow, green and blue.

Issuance of the stamp, officials of the Department of Agriculture said, is a tribute to farmers and ranchers, their local soil conservation districts and to the professional conservationists and other agricultural workers who have helped make the United States a world leader in soil conservation.

First-day "covers" containing the stamp are available through the Postmaster at Rapid City, S.D. Upon request and receipt of addressed envelopes and a remittance to cover the cost of the stamps, the post office at Rapid City will place the new stamp on the envelopes, cancel them with a special cancellation mark used only on that day and at that place, and mail the envelopes on the first day of issue.

New Building System Starts From the Top

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Rudi Van Bylevelt, Dutch architect-engineer, has designed a system of constructing multistory buildings from the top.

It has many advantages, including lower cost, he says.

He and his employer, Frank L. Hope, a San Diego architect, have applied for a U.S. patent on the system.

Van Bylevelt, 43, said he was applying the suspension principles used in great bridges. Standard building materials would be used.

State Education Group Lists Top Membership

LANSING (AP)—The Michigan Education Assn. today reported its membership, districts and chapters have hit a record high.

Dr. E. Dale Kennedy, executive secretary, said the association now has 53,418 members, an increase of 3,012 over last year. Ten new districts and 55 chapters were added during the past fiscal year, bringing the totals to 157 and 327, respectively.

About 85 per cent of Michigan's teachers now belong to the organization, Kennedy said.

28 Graduate Tonight at Little Rock School

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Twenty-eight seniors graduate from Baptist High School tonight in the last commencement of the year for Little Rock's private schools.

The graduates were among the 3,700 students displaced when Gov. Orval E. Faubus shut the city's four public high schools last September to avoid integration.

Three all-white private high schools were established in October. They took care of about 1,100 students. No private schools were set up for Negroes.

More than 10,000 different kinds of paper and cardboard are manufactured for markets in the U. S.

MRS. BOYD BRADLEY

Mr. and Mrs. Gustave Kleinow, of 63663 Dequindre Rd., Washington Township, announce the recent marriage of their daughter, Dorothy Jean, to Boyd Bradley, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Oswald, of Hialeah, Fla. The double-ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Marion Pohly at the home of the bride's parents. The newlyweds are residing in Detroit.

ADMIRE THEIR STAR CACTUS — A beautiful star-shaped flower has burst forth in bloom from a straggly cactus plant grown by Mr. and Mrs. Max W. Wells of 5885 Williams Lake Rd., Waterford Township. The present bloom has chocolate brown, velvety spots on a pastel chartreuse background. It measures five inches in circumference, with the center the size of a quarter. Five tiny stamens protrude fountain-like from the heart of the unusual blossom.

Newly Planted Trees 'Cry' for Water

By WAYNE B. SIEFERT
County Horticultural Agent

Do you have a tree in your lawn that is turning brown? If that tree could talk, it would tell you it needs more water. Sometimes the problem is lack of water in the soil. But with very large trees, it often means a root has died or been cut off. Sassafras, oak, and ash trees sometimes show the same problem.

If the trees are newly transplanted, these symptoms often show the tree is dying. If the tree is two or more years old, dying is not as likely. This often results in dieback of limbs but the tree survives.

How do I think we should save this tree? As an emergency measure, begin to water that area. This doesn't mean a few gallons around the tree, but at least a 10 x 10 foot chunk around the tree. Let the water run at least an hour, twice a week.

In some cases trimming out the tree to remove one-third to ¼ of the branches lightens the load on the roots, and aids survival. Keeping a three-foot cultivated strip around the tree helps to conserve moisture. In the spring, fertilize this young tree.

When an entire lawn goes brown, that probably isn't very mysterious. But when rather small areas begin to brown out, it's time to be suspicious of white grubs. These grubs are the summer stage of the June Beetle, Rose Chafer, and other flying beetles. These grubs are often in colonies. Wherever a colony is chewing away, those plants soon turn brown and die. Often watering temporarily revives them, but as soon as the grass plants grow new roots, the grubs attack again.

GRUBS IN ROOTS

A nice easy test for such a problem is to cut three sides of a square foot chunk, then lift up the sod and look at the roots. Carefully search the soil among the roots and beneath the roots. If you find as many as four small grubs, they are the cause of the brown patches.

Chemicals, like Chlordane or Dieldrin, will destroy the grubs in the soil for a three year period without damage to the grass, children or pets. If grubs are damaging your lawn, contact your local garden supplier, or me for directions to apply these chemicals.

If you have a family of moles in your lawn, the bounty price on them is certainly plenty. Even though it seems a deliberate plan to destroy your flower bed and back yard, they are just going where the hunting is best.

Moles feed on grubs, worms, and soil insects, and their presence shows you have plenty. Trapping will work for a while, but you will always have an occasional visitor. My plan is to starve them out, and they will move into a neighbor's lawn or nearby vacant lot.

A single treatment with Chlordane or Dieldrin will free your lawn of moles, grubs, and rose chafers, and give you a three year protection. These chemicals will not injure the grass or pets.

Old Strawberry Runners Should Be Removed Soon

Most southern Michigan gardeners have picked their last strawberries of 1959, and it's time to remove runners between the rows if you decide to keep your patch over winter, says James E. Moulton, Michigan State University horticulturist.

★ ★ ★

"This year's hot, dry weather made strawberry irrigation especially profitable on many Michigan farms," says Moulton. "Even good irrigated stands may need renovating if runners are too thick."

Michigan growers seldom get more than two or three good crops from a strawberry garden without re-planting in the spring, Moulton observes. Particularly old stands or diseased plants probably won't produce a good crop next year.

The specialist doesn't recommend renovating a strawberry garden with lots of hard-to-kill weeds like quackgrass, sorrel or chickweed.

If you decide to renovate, narrow the rows to eight or ten inches soon after the last picking," suggests Moulton.

TILLER REMOVES RUNNERS

"A rotary tiller removes unwanted runners between rows efficiently," the specialist explains. "Growers can leave an eight-to-ten-inch wide row by removing several fingers from the center of the tiller drum. The tiller works mulch into the soil."

★ ★ ★

Many growers use cultivators with disc coulters attached in place of teeth nearest the row, says Moulton. Enough teeth must be taken off to save the row. Mulch must also be removed to avoid clogging.

★ ★ ★

"Many efficient growers broadcast nitrogen fertilizer on the row by mid-July," says the horticulturist. "Where soil is fine, one heavy application may be enough. About 60 to 100 pounds of nitrogen per acre is recommended."

★ ★ ★

"Light soils require two nitrogen applications on renovated strawberries between now and fall," according to Moulton. "The first application should be broadcast on the row. A side-dressing by mid-August will help new runners grow during the fall."

Healthy Lawns Need Plant Food, Plenty of Water

Many gardeners water their lawns regularly, but neglect to build them up regularly with plant food. No soil is fertile enough to support a thick lawn without the addition of plant nutrients, especially if the grass is mowed once a week.

A lawn should be fed early spring, at the beginning of summer and in the fall. If the soil conditioner or lawn food is bought in large quantities, store it in covered galvanized steel garbage cans. This will protect the supplies from moisture and rodents.

Use a spreader to distribute the lawn food evenly. If a spreader isn't available, put the material in a galvanized steel pail or basket and spread it by hand. Follow the instructions on the package, and do not use more than necessary.

For a lawn to stay green, there must be enough moisture to supplement the lawn food. When watering, run the sprinkler until the upper 4" of soil is wet. The water will soak in to a depth of about 6"

Spray Against Tree Scale by Saturday

EAST LANSING — Sap-sucking lecanium scale crawlers are emerging from egg clusters on ornamental trees and shrubs this week, according to Julius Hoffman, entomologist at Michigan State University.

Hoffman says growers should spray against lecanium scale by the end of this week. The pest infests elm trees, oak trees, roses, arborvitae, and other ornamental plants.

"A malathion-DDT spray mixture controls lecanium scale," says the entomologist. "So does a spray material called sevin.'

The entomologist recommends mixing two teaspoons of malathion emulsifiable concentrate plus two level tablespoons of wettable DDT powder in each gallon of water.

With sevin, the recommended rate is two tablespoons of wettable powder per gallon of water.

COVER BOTH SIDES

Cover both sides of all leaves when you spray, advises the entomologist.

"Spraying around the end of September may kill lecanium scale that you missed this summer," says Hoffman. "The crawlers will then be returning to this year's branch growth for the winter."

Grass Feeding Poor for Trees

Holes Aid Aeration and Stop Soil Compacting Beside Supplying Food

With mature trees it takes more than a light snack to reach the "inner man." Many of their feeding roots are quite deep.

Too many week-end gardeners believe that surface feeding, so beneficial to lawns, will meet the demands of trees also. Nothing could be further from the truth. For one thing, surface feeding is just that—fully adequate for grasses with their surface roots, but of little help to deeper tree roots.

For another, surface feeding alone actually encourages the development of shallow tree roots that are pretty much a menace to lawns, tempers, machinery and themselves.

Left intact, surface roots rob moisture and fertility needed by the grasses. And they are in poor position to supply tree needs in periods of drouth.

All in all, there is no short cut to meeting the needs of both lawn and trees. If you admire that green carpeted look by all means feed the grass with a quality lawn fertilizer. Tree feeding is another matter. Usually it involves a perforation method, requiring closely spaced holes drilled to a depth of a foot or more throughout the tree's entire rooting area.

HOLES AID AERATION

The perforation system usually gets the nod from the tree docs because in addition to supplying nutrients, it aids aeration and thwarts soil compacting. Tree feeding should always be done with tree feeding methods and materials.

A towering leafy and beautiful tree cannot very well be grown by feeding only the nutrients intended for the thin layer of turf covering the area beneath the tree. As might be expected, the proper tree feeding procedure is as unsatisfactory for lawns as grass feeding is for trees.

Plan During the Summer for Next Year's Flowers

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Newsfeatures Writer

CHAPPAQUA, N. Y.—The first tiny tomatoes have just started to form on the window-sill started plants, but it's not a minute too soon to start thinking about fall work in the garden—and next year's annual and perennial beds.

As a matter of fact, this is a pretty good time for most of us to see what's wrong with our garden plan. We usually do pretty well with the early spring bloom and color, and acquire a good basic perennial planting through the years.

But in most gardens, tended by weekend amateurs, there comes an early summer period when our gardens contain mostly green foliage. That is, unless we have bought seedlings to fill in with bloom until our own home-grown ones start producing.

It takes extremely meticulous planning—which turned into action months ago—to have a riot of color in the early summer weeks.

There are, of course, the good standby flowers found in almost every garden: ageratum, cosmos, hollyhock, verbena, phlox, snapdragons, marigold and zinnia—easy to grow and undemanding as to soil.

SPECIAL FLOWERS FUN

But a great deal of the fun of gardening is finding and producing special flowers or special effects. And what they are is the gardener's own personal adventure.

This year, a parsley-loving friend of mine devoted most of her horticultural attention to establishing what she calls her "hors d'oeuvres garden" beside the stone-paved terrace behind her house.

It started with a supermarket purchase of a tiny flat of ready-planted parsley seed. The parsley now forms a low border around the slightly raised garden, behind which are such ingredients of hors d'oeuvres as chives, a number of herbs and—center of attention—cherry tomato vines climbing a trellis where the small red berries will be handy for guests to pick.

My own particular interest this season has been starting a special bed of miniature plants. Early in the season I transplanted into the border a small dogwood and a Chinese raintree seedling from a nursery bed.

Then I added three miniature rose bushes, a tiny fern and then —when the ground had warmed up—I put in dwarf specimens of some popular annuals. Next year I shall have some dwarf bulbs blooming and some of the tiny glads.

This, of course, isn't a true "minigarden," such as some English gardeners achieve with the help of sunken stone sinks. Mine this year is not in any kind of scale, but it's the beginning of a special gardening interest which already has led me to reading and experimenting with the old Japanese art of dwarfing trees.

If it is possible in our climate, I'd like to develop a gill-size replica of a formal garden, complete with tiny hedges and fine gravel walks.

The joy of gardening lies in finding and pursuing such projects—raising the biggest dahlias or the smallest row of box. And no two seasons are ever alike.

Vases Must Be Clean to Keep Flowers Fresh

Here are a couple of pointers to keep cut flowers fresh. First, be sure to wash the vase or container with hot soap or detergent suds each time you change the water.

This removes bacteria, which otherwise multiply and clog the water-conducting tubes of the flowers—a major cause of wilting. Second, remove any foliage below the water line—because submerged foliage decays and hastens flower fading.

Yard, Garden Safety a Must

Check All Equipment; Chemicals Should Be Kept Well Out of Reach

The person who does no enterprising makes no mistakes. Similarly, these same people have little concern about industrial accidents and personal mishaps.

But there is something in the air every year at this time that brings out the enterprising in most of us.

Gardens to be turned, lawns to be rolled and prepared, yard furniture to be painted, garden tools to be spruced up and painted and sharpened, and power equipment to be serviced.

With the summer ahead, the homegardeners and "how-to-do-it" fans will be climbing ladders, juggling tools, sharpening blades and mixing up magical concoctions to make things grow—or die.

Start now to make this summer safe as well as enterprising. Check all the equipment in the garage or basement to make certain it is functioning properly.

TOOLS ARE DANGEROUS

Survey the yard after a day's activity to make certain no upturned rakes or other similar, pointed or sharp-edged tools are left exposed to endanger youngsters and pets.

Keep fuels and chemicals safely out of the reach of inquisitive, sticky little fingers.

Failure to whip the crabgrass problem can be written off as "gardeners luck." Failure to practice safe gardening is just carelessness and lack of consideration for others.

Spray Evergreens Now

NEW YORK (UPI) — Midsummer is a good time to spray evergren bagworms. Entomologists recommend using two or three tablespoons of arsenate of lead per gallon of water.

Testing Your Garden Sense

Q—We have some strawberries in back of the garage which grew tall and spindly, and developed poor, soft berries. Can you advise?

A—Strawberries require lots of sunshine and a well-drained, enriched soil in order to produce good fruit. Shade during a portion of the day, together with a a soil probably strong in nitrogen and lacking in phosphorus, would produce spindly growth and poor berries.

Enlarge Fisher, Chevrolet Plants

Baltimore Installations Will Be Second Biggest in National Network

BALTIMORE (AP) — The size of the Chevrolet and Fisher Body assembly plants in Baltimore will be almost doubled, Edward N. Cole, General Motors vice president, announced yesterday.

"This will make our Baltimore operations the second largest in our national network of 10 combination car and truck assembly plants," he said.

The present facilities cover 1,044,000 square feet. They will be increased by 1,020,000, Cole said, when completed in two years.

Cole said the effect on future employment has not been determined.

The building expansion is a sign of confidence "in the future of our industry," Cole said.

"We in the automotive industry are very pleased with the general business upturn in 1959. In fact it was beyond the expectations of many of the most optimistic executives in our business."

Air-Conditioning Beneficial to Most Hospital Patients

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — A study at Charity Hospital here showed that most patients "were greatly benefitted by air conditioning," which was "particularly important for the patient with heart disease."

Benjamin R. Ebersman, president of a firm (Mathes Co.) which manufactures air-conditioning equipment, said the study included 88 patients in an air-conditioned ward and 75 in a ward that wasn't.

Ebersman said "air conditioning eliminated sweating, fostered a calm and quiet atmosphere, improved morale of both patients and attending personnel, removed allergens from the environment and increased the tolerance of enforced bed rest."

As for cardiac patients. Ebersman said the heart did not have to work as hard in an air-conditioned room as it did when the atmosphere was warm and humid.

Questions, Answers to 10-Year-Old Program

What's the Story on Foreign Aid?

WASHINGTON—(UPI) — Questions and answers about the foreign aid bill:

Q—What is the foreign aid program?

A—A 10-year-old program of U.S. economic and military assistance to help free world nations build sound economies and take part in the free world's defense against the threat of communism.

Q—Why is it opposed by many people?

A—Many people feel the money could be spent better at home. Some believe "you cannot buy friends." Still others point to examples of waste and misamanagement in past projects.

Q—Why keep up the foreign aid program?

A—Supporters contend it is necessary to keep Russia from winning the "economic cold war" with aid to smaller, newer, weaker undeveloped nations and to keep allies economically strong. Another argument is that it helps foreign trade and that most of the money is spent in the United States for American goods. Still others feel that the world's richest nation cannot maintain its position of world leadership without helping less fortunate countries.

Q—Why was President Eisenhower so concerned over congressional cuts in money for military aid?

A—The President, as a former commander of Allied forces in Europe, believes that the aid program is needed to keep NATO strong. A special committee he appointed recommended 400 million dollars more for military aid than the $1,600,000,000 he asked Congress to authorize. The Senate cut his request by 300 million dollars.

Q—What is the biggest disagreement between the Senate and Eisenhower over the entire program?

A—It concerns an organization called the development loan fund. Congress set it up two years ago at Eisenhower's request to make long-term, low-interest loans to help underdeveloped countries grow strong economically. At that time, the President asked that it be financed, like man other government programs, through borrowing by the Treasury so its annual costs would not be charged against the yearly federal budget. Congress refused to go along. The Senate Foreign Relations Committee this year recommended putting the program on a five-year basis with the money to come from Treasury borrowing. But the President withdrew his support. This time, he said, he wanted only money for another year through regular congressional channels. The Senate agreed to this. However, it authorized money for two years instead of one.

Q—How much difference is there between what the House and Senate voted and what Eisenhower asked in foreign aid authorizations?

A—The President requested $3,909,400,000. The House voted $3,542,600,000. The Senate approved $3,543,320,000. But the House and Senate cuts were not in the same places.

Q—Is what Congress finally authorizes for foreign aid the amount that will be spent?

A—By no means. The House and Senate Appropriations Committees will consider the amounts authorized and the two houses of Congress will vote the actual money they think necessary. In past years, this has been less than the amount authorized.

UP Is Setting for New Novel

Boyne City Man Writes Tale of Conflict in Wilds of Northern Michigan

BOYNE CITY (UPI) — Another novel with an Upper Peninsula setting has been published.

Richard Erno, 34, a Boyne City native and now an assistant English professor at Arizona State Teachers College, has written "The Hunt," in which most of the story takes place in the deer country of the UP.

It is a story of a man's struggle to find himself after watching the death of his best friend and suffering from guilt because he might have saved him. The man's death takes place during a hunting expedition of four men and a boy who have more on their minds than deer hunting.

Erno, whose first published short stories were written from a hospital bed in India during World War II, rocked this northern Michigan community three years ago with his novel "My Old Man."

Boyne City became Barton Corners in the controversial story of a conflict between a father and son, and many Boyne City residents recognized their neighbors as members of the book's cast. It made some unhappy and tickled others.

Erno's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Erno, live in Boyne City and a sister, Mrs. Donald Stark, lives in Petoskey.

The most recent novel with an Upper Peninsula setting—"Anatomy of a Murder" by Michigan Supreme Court Justice John Voelker — was a best seller for more than a year and was recently made into a movie.

Hollywood Headlines

Senator's Wife Gets Role; Hitchy's Latest Is Thriller

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD — One of the most attractive women I met when I was in New York is Mrs. Jacob Javits, wife of the U. S. senator from New York. Small, brunette and animated, she came to our table when I was having lunch with Mrs. William Randolph Hearst Sr. at the Colony.

Now the beautiful Marian Javits has turned actress and she's playing a small role in "Who Was That Lady" at Columbia, with Dean Martin, Tony Curtis and Janet Leigh. It came about in a very casual way. She was having luncheon last week with George Sidney and the senator, and mentioned that she had always had the ambition to act. No sooner said than done. George signed her then and there for the Norma Krasna play, and she'll be in Hollywood this month.

A pleasant telephone call from Gov. Albert D. Rosellini who is here for a meeting with our Gov. Brown on the waterways of California. He said he reads my column in the Seattle Post-Intelligencer and he would like very much to extend an invitation to the motion picture industry to make more pictures in the beautiful state of Washington.

The governor said "The Hanging Tree" (Gary Cooper-Maria Schell) was made there in Yakima Valley, and his state will extend a hand to any motion picture company who cares to use the scenic glory as its movie background.

"North by Northwest" is sure to bring your blood pressure up unless you're the kind who never gets excited over these melodramas with a thrill a minute. That old master, Alfred Hitchcock, is at his best in an utterly incredible, impossible spy story sprinkled with Hitchcock humor.

I don't know about you, but I enjoyed this. It took my mind off the heat, and there is no one, but no one, who can dish up these macabre thrillers as gaily and as frighteningly as Hitchy. The casting is very good, too, with Eva Marie Saint a real glamor girl. We have to see her again as a femme fatale. Cary Grant, James Mason, Leo Carroll and Jessie Royce Landis as Grant's fluttery mother all do well by Ernie Lehman's scintillating tale.

There was a real lilt in Shirley Maclaine's voice when she invited me to Las Vegas on July 16 when her husband, Steve Parker, presents his extravaganza of Japanese variety stars at the New Frontier. Shirley said she is going to introduce Steve's show and she is wearing a beautiful Oriental gown sparkling with white sequins. "Makes me a very well dressed 'occidental Oriental'," laughed Shirley.

Another reason Shirley is sparkling is because she won the German award as best actress for "Ask Any Girl." I don't want to brag—but I think I was the first to say this is a great comedy and that we need more movies on this order.

The only private home Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip visited in Chicago was that of the popular Patrick Hoy, president of the Ambassador Hotels. He gifted the royal couple with fancy American toys for their children.

There's a whisper on the 20th lot that "A Tree Grows in Brooklyn" will be remade as a movie musical.

"Wonder if you noticed the gorgeous hunk of man—tall, good-looking, redhead who was painting a house in the same block as yours when you went for a walk?" writes an anonymous neighbor. "He could be your next discovery." Gee whiz, I overlooked him.

Rap Negro Ban by Tennis Club

Officials in New York Call Hearing on Snub of Dr. Bunche, Son

NEW YORK (AP)—Officials of the West Side Tennis Club have been asked to appear July 21 before the city's Commission on Inter-Group Relations to answer questions about the club's reported policy of banning Negroes and Jews.

The hearing is a result of Dr. Ralph J. Bunche's disclosure Wednesday that the fashionable Forest Hills club's president, Wilfred Burglund, had told him neither he nor his son could join the club because they are Negroes.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits (R-NY) said Thursday that he and four other senators had sent a telegram to the U.S. Lawn Tennis Assn. asking that the U.S. tennis championships and the Davis Cup matches be transferred from the West Side club.

There also was a storm of other protests against the club's ban on Dr. Bunche, who is United Nations undersecretary for special political affairs and a Nobel Peace Prize winner.

In announcing the July 21 hearing, Dr. Alfred J. Marrow, chairman of the intergroup relations commission, said it was "unthinkable that major international athletic events for which the general public pays admission should be conducted in this city on the grounds of an institution which discriminates in its membership policy."

"We will therefore use every power in our command to change these policies," Marrow added. He said members of the U.S. Lawn Tennis Assn. also might be invited to the hearing.

★ ★ ★

The commission has no penalty power. The hearing will be closed.

Rope Play Is Fatal

Toledo to Install Mall Downtown as Experiment

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Grass probably will be growing in the streets of Toledo next month.

City council has approved the proposed installation of an experimental mall in four downtown business blocks for at least 45 days starting July 31.

Council also authorized expenditure of $15,000 for the project.

County Commissioner Ned Skeldon, whose commission has been pushing the proposal, said Lucas County would put up half of the $15,000 appropriation if it is legally possible to do so. That question is under study now.

The four blocks to be converted into the mall are Adams street and Madison Avenue between Huron and St. Clair streets. Superior street, lying between Huron and St. Clair, will remain open to traffic.

Under the plan, the area will be beautified with sodded paths, trees, benches, fountains, a bandstand, play areas and other attractions.

3 Thugs Beat, Rob Detroit Bar Owner

DETROIT (AP)—A 60-year-old bar owner was severely beaten last midnight by three thugs who robbed him of $60. Allen Ferguson suffered internal injuries and severe head cuts.

Ferguson told police he was closing up when three young patrons ganged up on him. He said one beat him with a club while the others rifled the cash register.

Michigan Woman Killed in Collision

State trooper Leslie George said the driver of the truck, Walter Hudson of El Dorado, Ark., escaped with minor injuries.

The trooper said Hudson told officers the big trailer truck slipped off onto a shoulder slicked by heavy rain and skidded around sideways when he tried to pull off the highway.

Censor Board Is Overruled

'Anatomy of a Murder' Opens, Uncut, in Chicago

CHICAGO (UPI) — The movie, "Anatomy of a Murder," opened here late Wednesday, delayed but uncut by a week-long hassle with the Chicago Censor Board.

U.S. District Judge Julius H. Miner overruled a censor board's decision that the movie was immoral and obscene after letting his teenage son and daughter see the film.

The five-woman censor board had objected to such words and phrases as "rape" and "army slut" and "I'm going to kick that bitch to kingdom come." It had demanded that they be knocked out before the movie could be shown.

"The Supreme Court reaffirmed its decision that in determining whether a particular picture is entitled to protection of expression under the 14th Amendment, the court may exercise its judicial function," Miner said.

★ ★ ★

"The city has the power to censor films and to deny a permit to those that are obscene and immoral," he said. "But the film in question does not fall within the restrictive provisions of the ordinance."

Within an hour of Miner's ruling, "Anatomy" opened in the Loop.

Chessman Will Battle Again to High Court

SAN QUENTIN, Calf. (AP) — Death row Author Caryl Chessman, his gas chamber sentence reaffirmed for the second time, said he will battle all the way to the U.S. Supreme Court for the 10th time.

Chessman, convicted Los Angeles sex terrorist, announced his determination Thursday in a 15-minute television and newspaper interview at this state prison, where he has served since July 3, 1948.

The state supreme court Tuesday upheld Chessman's death sentence. The U.S. Supreme Court had ordered a rehearing of his complaint that the transcript of his original trial notes was faulty.

He is to be taken to Los Angeles soon for hearing of a new date set for his oft-postponed execution. He said he will ask for a rehearing and exhaust all state remedies before turning again to the U.S. high court.

He has written three books, two of which were published.

Flames Foil 2nd Rescue

ASHLAND, Ky. (AP)—Twenty-seven years ago Thomas Casey was carried unconscious from a burning building. Thursday his home caught fire and he was trapped again. But this time flames drove back a neighbor who tried to rescue him and the 75-year-old man was burned to death.

Honor Hanging Victim

BOSTON (AP) — A six foot statue was unveiled Thursday honoring Mary Dyer, who was hanged on Boston Common nearly 300 years ago for being a Quaker.

Circus Pays Tribute

FORT PLAIN, N.Y. (AP) — Every year, when the circus came to town, George Duffy bought 1,500 tickets for the kids. He was not around Thursday, though, when the Mills Brothers circus arrived. He died a year ago. So they held a memorial service at his grave, and a wreath was laid there—by a circus elephant.

Bob Considine Says:

Meet Bethwell Henry, a Mokil Micronesian

NEW YORK—I want you to meet a Micronesian friend of mine. Never met a Micronesian? Well, you've missed something in life. Reader, dear, meet Bethwell Henry. Interesting name, isn't it? As you can see, he's lean, lithe, crew-cut, Madison Avenue suit, and chocolate colored. Couldn't be nicer.

Let him tell you something about himself:

"Our grandfather's name was Eneri. On Mokil, which is in the Ponape District, we didn't have last names. But then we had to have them. So he changed it to Henry. I got my first name from the Bible. Rebecca's father, I think. Besides, it was the name that good friends of our family had taken in the Marshalls.

"Our land, our water, is made up of the Marshalls, Carolines, the Marianas, and the Palau Island chains. It is about the size of the United States, but, of course, there are not so many people. We are under U. N. trusteeship, and the trustee committee is headed by a wonderful American named Delmas Nucker.

On the commission are the representatives of India, New Zealand, Paraguay, United Arab Republic, Soviet Union, Italy, Haiti, China, United Kingdom, France, Burma, Belgium and Austria. The Russians have been angry at the Americans on the U. N. committee. They say that if there are any more tests of your nuclear bombs at Eniwetok, which is not far from us, it will endanger us, and therefore you should stop." He smiled.

"As a boy—I'm now 25—I heard the 1946 bomb, the first one, at Bikini. Mokil is 500 miles away. Nobody knew what it was, this sound. We had heard louder sounds."

Yes?

"When the Japanese took us, the U. S. Navy bombed and bombarded us. The Japanese had sent my father to Ponape for forced labor in the rice fields and later taught him how to be a carpenter. My mother and my little sister and I went with him. We stayed up in the hills, under the trees. When the bombers or the bombs would come, we would run for a cave nearby. Everybody in the hills had a cave."

How did he happen to go to school?

"Well, I had part of my elementary under the Japanese. On other islands, we heard, they were very harsh. But they did nothing to us; did not bother our culture. There was just discipline: work, go to school.

"Then, when it was over, and I was growing up, Robert Halvorsen, the educational minister of the Ponape district, chose me to go to Mid-Pacific Institute in Hawaii. It was far to go, but my father said, 'Go as far as you can in schooling. I have seen what ignorance does if you are forced into labor.'

"I went through Lahianaluna Technical High Maui, studying agriculture, then the University of Hawaii, majoring in government. My last two years there were on a John Hay Whitney fellowship, for which I am eternally grateful."

Who are the Micronesians?

"A good question!" Bethwell Henry said. "I have learned from friends interested in anthropology that we probably came from Southeast Asia, but there is another theory that we were originally from Peru. We resemble both peoples. Our language root is Polynesian. We have nine languages and many dialects.

"I have served the trusteeship as clerk and interpreter, and now I am going home to teach."

How did he like it here?

"New York is a big city," Bethwell Henry said sighing. "So tomorrow I go to Washington, and then I will take bus and train to Los Angeles so that I may see what a friend has suggested: life in the middle. I will see Chicago, Waterloo—because my friend John De Young, the anthropologist, stays there—Kansas City—because my roommate at the university is from Coffeyville — and Prescott, in Arizona, and the Grand Canyon.

We wished him a safe journey and, in bidding him farewell, asked him if Micronesians were interested in sports.

"I am feeling sad for my favorite baseball team, the New York Yankees," Bethwell Henry said.

Startled, I asked him how in the dear Lord's name he, a Ponapean, had gotten interested in baseball and the Yanks. He seemed surprised by my ignorance.

"When the Japanese had us," he said.

Spending Money on Empty Bases

200 Fighter - Bombers to Leave France, but U.S. Keeps Paying

NANCY, France (AP) — The United States still is spending important money on the three U.S. air bases that are expected to go into mothballs soon in this part of eastern France.

The bases are being evacuated because France won't permit the United States to store atomic weapons here unless they are under French control.

The 200 fighter-bombers will go to Britain and West Germany, along with the men who man the bases. Skeleton crews are expected to maintain and keep the bases ready for an emergency.

The departure of 6,000 airmen from the three bases is bound to have a bad effect on the local economy. About 1,500 residents of the area have been employed at the bases.

A number of other U.S. air bases in France will continue in operation.

The bases being evacuated have had a relatively short and unhappy history. Cracked runways, poor housing conditions, and seemingly unending delays in getting ahead with improvements have been only a few of the troubles.

Construction of the bases was authorized after the outbreak of hostilities in Korea, and was started on a crash basis. The first units moved into tents at Toul in January 1953, and the first plane landed in March of that year.

Changing conditions added to the difficulties. The original runways were 5,000 feet long, but had to be lengthened to 8,000 feet for jets, and then to 10,000 feet for the later jets.

The bases were carved out of farmland and mud was a problem.

From The PRESS BOX

Promoter Bill Rosensohn indicated yesterday that there is an increasing chance the return heavyweight title match will be held in New York.

★ ★ ★

It was little help to the Tigers but Harvey Kuenn kept his hitting streak going last night by getting a single in each game. It is now 22 games.

★ ★ ★

Virgil Trucks is pitching batting practice for the A's hoping to hook on with a Major League club again.

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

Scoring 15 runs in the 2nd inning, Bulman's Hardware handed Olson-Voorheis Drug a 26-3 lacing in Waterford Junior Baseball Thursday. Ryeson's Market downed Gabriel's Market 14-12 in the other tilt.

★ ★ ★

Former Birmingham star Pete Sintz will compete in the Men's National AAU outdoor swimming championships in California this weekend. The Indiana U. sophomore will represent the Indianapolis Athletic Club in the meet.

Michigan Mile Slated Saturday

Classy Field Entered in State's Top Money Race at DRC

LIVONIA, Mich.—The nomination list for the $50,000-added Michigan Mile, the state's richest race, reads like a Who's Who of the turf's handicap division.

Long the high spot of the Michigan racing season, the mile will be run Saturday at the Detroit Race Course.

Heading the nominee roster are Better Bee, owned by William S. Miller, who is a member of the Illinois Racing Board; Etonian, the Bwamazon farm's brilliant campaigner, and Village Idiot, who carries the colors of Alfred G. Vanderbilt.

Neartic, who won last year's running of the Mile for Canada's E. P. Taylor, has been retired from racing. But the master of Windfields Farm will try to make it two victories in a row, sending Grey Monarch to the post in the mile and 1-16 run.

★ ★ ★

State Netters Take Western Honors

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP)—Hugh Curry and Peaches Bartkowicz of Hamtramck, Mich., dominated the finals Thursday of the Western Boys' and Girls' Tennis Championships, for youngsters age 13 and under.

★ ★ ★

Curry, 10-year-old dynamo whose winter home is Orlando, Fla., whipped Zan Guerry III of Chattanooga, Tenn., 6-1, 6-2, for the age 11 and under boys singles title.

Then Curry went out again and edged Mike Fahy of Springfield, Ohio, 6-3, 6-4, for the age 13 and under championship.

Sharon Pritula of Detroit shut out Sudan Gerber, Middletown, Ohio, 6-0, 6-0, to win the girls 13 and under championship. Then the two 13-year-old opponents teamed up to win the girls 13 and under doubles title, 6-1, 6-4, from Susan Dykes and Miss Bartkowicz of Hamtramck.

BEST GAME — Ray Herbert, a Detroit native and former Tiger, hurled his first Major League shutout and struck out 10 in blanking Detroit 5-0 in the opener of a doubleheader at Kansas City last night. KC took the nightcap, 4-0.

Tigers Reach Height of Futility at Kansas City

Whitewash Nats in Pair; Yanks, Tribe Bow

Oriole Hurlers Match KC Gems

Two pitchers combining for a doubleheader shutout over one club is a rarity. Occasionally it happens twice in one season.

But it happened twice in the American League last night.

While Chicago's second place White Sox moved within one game of Cleveland by beating the Indians 4-3, Baltimore's right-handers Milt Pappas and Jerry Walker blanked Washington 8-0 and 5-0 in a twi-night doubleheader. And Kansas City's Ray Herbert and Johnny Kucks each pitched five-hitters while whitewashing Detroit's tumbling Tigers 5-0 and 4-0.

The sweep by Baltimore lifted the Orioles out of a third place tie with the New York Yankees, who were walloped 14-3 by Boston.

The Senators, leading the majors with 101 home runs, managed only one extra-base hit among their 11 off Pappas (9-4) and Walker (7-3)—a first game triple by Bob Allison. Walker allowed only four singles while gaining a 4-0 record over Washington in his brief major league career. He has two shutouts in the majors—both four-hit jobs on the Nats.

★ ★ ★

Both youngsters walked one man and struck out five. Pappas, also pitching his second shutout in the majors and like Walker just 20, was backed by Billy Gardner's two-run homer and Gus Triandos' solo 21st. Bob Nieman hit a two-run homer in the nightcap after Brooks Robinson stole home in the fifth for the only run Walker needed. Russ Kemmerer (5-8) and Pete Ramos (9-8) were the losers.

★ ★ ★

Jim Landis drove in three runs for the White Sox and Bubba Phillips clinched it with a sixth-inning home run off loser Herb Score (9-6). Both the Injuns and White Sox had only five hits, with Pierce (9-10) going all the way for the victory after losing three in a row. Jim Baxes extended the Indians' home run streak to 18 games.

Vic Wertz and Ted Williams each hit his sixth home run for the Red Sox, and Bobby Avila, batting .174, drove in four runs with a pair of homers. Bob Turley (8-8), who one-hit Washington in his last start, gave up only three hits in his 2 1-3 innings—but all were home runs. Frank Sullivan (5-5) was the winner. The Yankees scored all their runs with two out in the fourth on half of their six hits.

NIX FOR NIEMAN — Bob Nieman of the Orioles slides into home plate and catcher Clint Courtney in an attempt to score in the 5th inning of last night's twi-night opener and is out trying to score from 2nd on a single. However, Baltimore tallied three runs in the inning and went on to beat Washington twice.

Blanked Twice for First Time in Seven Years

Ex-Detroiters Herbert, Tuttle and House Plus Cerv Pace 5-0, 4-0 Wins

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Detroit's hope for a quick return to the battle for the American League leadership suffered a knockout blow last night in a doubleheader shutout loss to Kansas City 5-0 and 4-0.

The two defeats, Nos. 5 and 6 in a row for the Tigers, were administered in glittering five-hit performances by pitchers Ray Herbert a former Tiger, and Johnny Kucks of the seventh-place Athletics.

Whitewashed in both games of a doubleheader for the first time in seven years, the Tigers experienced a total collapse in their attack. They fell below .500 for the first time in weeks with a 40-42 record.

The losing streak is Detroit's longest since manager Jimmie Dykes took over the team and led it from a doleful last place into direct contention at one time for the league lead.

The Tigers and the A's conclude their series tonight with either Jim Bunning (7-7) or Paul Foytack (also 7-7) opposing young Howard Reed (0-2), a righthander back up from the minors.

A homer by Bob Cerv in each game was enough last night for Herbert to beat Frank Lary in the opener and Kucks to win from Ray Narleski in the second game.

Cerv hit his first with none on and the second with a man on base in contests that moved along as pitchers' battles until the later innings. The homers were Cerv's 10th and 11th of the season.

A four-run A's rally in the seventh inning settled the first game and a three-run attack in the sixth did it in the second game.

Not since May 25, 1952, were the Tigers shut out both times in a doubleheader. Marv Grissom and Joe Dobson of the Chicago White Sox did it then.

Hitting safely in his 22nd straight game, Harvey Kuenn singled. Al Kaline doubled. With two out, however, Lou Berberet grounded out, leaving both men stranded.

A walk, a single and a sacrifice fly scored Kansas City's first run in the first inning of the second game and the A's were off to their sweep.

Narleski checked the A's until the sixth. Bill Tuttle led off with a home run and Cerv hit his second of the night after Roger Maris had singled. The loss was Narleski's ninth against four victories.

Before the roof fell in on him in the seventh inning, Lary had a two-hitter going in a sharp duel with Herbert.

The Tiger righthander, striking out five men and walking none, allowed a homer to Cerv in the second inning and a single to Frank House in the fifth.

Except for the two hits, Lary was airtight in trying for his tenth victory. Instead, he wound up with his sixth defeat.

Herbert had a few bad spots. But he retired the side in order in four innings. He struck out 10 men. Meanwhile, the A's were cleaning up the bases, leaving only three men stranded.

A two-run single by Herbert figured in the A's big rally when Tiger strategy backfired.

Verdict Today on Inter-Loop Trades

SPORTS

Previous Vote for Rule Was Tabled by Frick

American League Will Start Week Later Than NL in 1960

CHICAGO (AP)—The proposed inter-league trading rule again will be brought before Commissioner Ford Frick today at a joint meeting of the major leagues.

The measure, passed by both the American and National Leagues last December, was pushed aside when Frick asked the two organizations to reconsider.

Both leagues met yesterday and another vote was taken. Their votes will be announced today. If both again approve the measure, it will become law.

The ruling provides for a period in which clubs from both leagues can trade with each other without getting waivers on a player from other clubs in the league.

In the past, if the New York Yankees, for instance, sought to make a trade with a team in the National League, all the players involved had to be waived on by every club in the league.

The American League was in favor 7-1 in December and the National League voted 5-3 for. At that time, the trading deadline was Nov. 20 to Dec. 15.

★ ★ ★

Both leagues announced yesterday their opening dates for the 1960 season. The National League, spread across the continent, will open April 12. The American League will start April 17. Both will close Oct. 2.

★ ★ ★

The National League made no other announcements. The American League adopted and put into effect the suspended game rule. A game halted before nine innings because of curfew, light failure or time limits will be played from the point of suspension. However, if a game goes over nine innings and is halted for any of these reasons, it will be completely replayed.

Cronin and other American League officials said there was no mention of a third league at their meeting. However, Cronin added he thought the subject "might be discussed at the joint meeting."

Giants Beat Hutch, Regain Lead

By The Associated Press

Maybe you remember Roger Craig. He's the big right-hander who made his rookie debut with Don Bessent in mid-1955 and gave the Dodgers a double lift to the National League pennant and their only world championship.

He won 12 in 1956, then lost the touch. So did Bessent, and they wound up in the minors.

Now Craig's back and he's got the touch again. Unbeaten, he won his fourth last night, with 11 innings of three-hit, shutout relief that paid off with a 4-3 Los Angeles victory in 13 innings over Milwaukee—tumbling the Braves from first to third and hoisting the Dodgers to second place.

The San Francisco Giants jumped into the National League lead by a half-game over the Dodgers and a full-game over the Braves, with a 3-2, ninth-inning victory at Cincinnati that ruined Fred Hutchinson's debut as manager of the Reds.

And if that wasn't enough to make headline writers happy, reliever Elroy Face won his 18th in a row, 13th this season, as third place Pittsburgh defeated the Chicago Cubs 4-3 in 10 innings.

Philadelphia and St. Louis split a twi-night doubleheader, the Cards winning 6-2 after the Phillies had taken the opener 11-0 behind Gene Conley's seven-hit pitching.

Craig's brilliant relief job, finally made good by Wally Moon's one-out double, his fourth hit, and Rip Repulski's single, out-dueled a two-man try by Braves' starter Joey Jay and Warren Spahn, the loser in relief. They had blanked the Dodgers after Norm Larker's tying, three-run pinch homer in the third.

Craig, following starter Danny McDevitt, retired 26 of the first 27 men he faced. He walked none, struck out three. Jay singled for the first hit off him with two out in the seventh. Joe Adcock doubled with two out in the 11th. And Wes Covington singled in the 12th.

Spahn (10-9) gave up five hits and struck out five while losing his fifth in a row to the Dodgers, fourth this season.

Willie Mays singled, stole second, then rolled home on Daryl Spencer's single for the Giants' winning run. It came off reliever Tom Acker (1-2), who came on after Don Newcombe, his winning streak still intact at eight, was lifted for pinch-hitter in the eighth. Newk gave up Willie Kirkland's two-run homer in the sixth, but the Reds tied it on Frank Thomas' homer in the seventh off Mike McCormick and Jerry Lynch's pinch-single in the eighth against winning reliever Sam Jones (11-8).

★ ★ ★

A pinch single by Harry Bright won it for the Pirates and Face, who had given up a tying single by Tony Taylor in a two-run Cub ninth after relieving Vern Law. The Bucs had been blanked on two hits until they chased Bob Anderson with three runs in the seventh, two on Don Hoak's double. Bill Henry (5-4) lost it in relief.

Face, the most consistent winner ever among relievers, now has a string of 19 scoreless innings and an 0.80 earned run average while topping the majors in victories.

Gene Freese hammered his third grand-slam of the year and Harry Anderson hit a two-run homer for the Phillies in the opener in support of Conley (7-5). Ernie Broglio (3-6) was the loser. Larry Jackson (8-7) then won the nightcap for the Cards with Ken Boyer's third-inning home run clinching it against Robin Roberts (5-8).

Browns Sign Ex-Buckeye

HIRAM, Ohio (AP) — Joe Cannavino, former Ohio State halfback, was signed to a contract Thursday by the Cleveland Browns after working out for three days at the National Football League team's camp here.

Doctoring Your Golf

By DR. CARY MIDDLECOFF

PATIENT'S COMPLAINT: Getting off balance.

DIAGNOSIS: Too narrow a base.

TREATMENT: A few days ago I wrote of the problem created by spreading the feet too far apart, which sort of roots the player to the ground and restricts his freedom of movement. Now I'm reminded that there is a large class of golfers who cause themselves trouble by going to the other extreme.

If you stand with the feet too close together you're apt to be wobbly at the top of the backswing for the simple reason that you don't have a firm base for the swing.

For the golfer of average build, the feet should be about as far apart as the width of the shoulders when playing the drive. This prescribed width is measured from the insteps. As the club length decreases, the stance narrows. But for the full shots down through the long and middle irons, the narrowing is very slight.

The test to use in this connection is "feel." You should feel that you have a solid base on which to turn without wobbling or teetering at any time during the swing.

★ ★ ★

Arcaro was thrown when Black Hills broke a leg during the running of the Belmont Stakes June 3. The 43-year-old jockey was carried from the track to a hospital suffering from a concussion and other injuries. Within a few days he was promising to return to the track, but he delayed this until he was fully recovered and had a few days of jogging horses.

★ ★ ★

After working three horses for trainer Max Hirsch yesterday, Eddie remarked: "I think I'll put on my sneakers this afternoon and run a mile or so to help my wind. A couple of times out there I was really blowing hard."

Tribe Recalls Lefty Bob 'Riverboat' Smith

The Indians now have 24 players on their roster but will go back to full strength when Catcher Ed FitzGerald comes off the disabled list Friday.

Coach Says U.S. Quartet Can Set World Record

LOS ALTOS, Calif. (AP) — A prominent swimming coach forecast today that the United States can assemble a swimming relay team capable of breaking the world record for 400 meters.

As the National AAU men's senior championships got under way at the Fremont Hills Country Club here, predictions of fast times came from Willis Casey, swimming coach at North Carolina State.

He's also the man who next week will head a 16-man United States squad to Tokyo for a meet with the top Japanese swimmers.

"We have at least five swimmers capable of swimming 100 meters in 56 seconds or less," Casey declared. "With the relay starts, a four-man team should be capable of 3:44 and the record is 3:46.3 by an Australian team last year."

Casey listed Jeff Farrell, formerly of Oklahoma and now in the Navy, Joe Alkire, of San Diego, Lance Larson of the Los Angeles Athletic Club and Carl Wooley and Dick Hanley of the Detroit Swim Club as the five capable of breaking 56 seconds.

They compete tonight in the opening program of the three-evening national meet. Also on the first program are the 1,500-meter freestyle, the 400-meter freestyle and the 3-meter springboard diving events.

There will be 16 members of the United States team for the meet with Japan. It will include the winners of the 10 events here plus six others to be named by Casey.

After competing at Tokyo and Osaka, the team will return to the United States for the Aug. 7 tryouts for the Pan-American Games. The tryouts will be held at Michigan State.

Longshot Pays Off

Edith Grattan, an 8-year-old mare, held on in the stretch and won the featured B Pace paying a whopping $107.60 for $2. The price was the third highest in the history of the track.

9 Races in International Regatta

Coast Speedsters Absent

DETROIT (AP)—Detroit's Gold Cup powerboat fleet will challenge Canada's Harmsworth Trophy candidate Miss Supertest III again Saturday in the International Regatta for unlimited boats on the St. Clair River.

Chuck Thompson's Miss Detroit, Joe Schoenith's Gale V and Gale VI and Jack Schafer's Such Crust III will challenge last week's winner of the Detroit Memorial Regatta.

West Coast boats, prominent in the Memorial Regatta, will not compete tomorrow. They have been sent back to Seattle in preparation for the Diamond Cup Race at Coeur D'Alene, Idaho, July 18.

Bob Hayward will pilot the Canadian boat hoping to repeat his victory last year over the rugged International Cup course.

The unlimited class boats will highlight a nine-race regatta. The Allison-powered hydroplanes will race at 1, 2:20 and 4 p.m. (EST) Limited class inboards will race between heats of the International Trophy race.

Thompson's Miss Detroit was the only Detroit-based boat to come through undamaged in last Saturday's Memorial Regatta.

Such Crust III has been repaired. The huge power boat broke an oil line last Saturday in a pre-race trial and failed to answer the starting gun.

Cleaners Over Grill, 2-1

Guy's Single Wins in 9th

Drive-In Cleaners and Griff's Grill battled through eight scoreless innings last night at Northside Park before the Drive-In team eked out a 2-1 victory in the bottom of the 9th frame to highlight the four-game City League softball card.

★ ★ ★

Richard Guy's single scored Terry Walsh with the winning run to give Jerry Bantin the nod over Algie Black in a tight mound duel. Bantin hurled a five-hit game while Black allowed seven, two by Ed Smith.

Griff's broke the scoring ice in the top of the 9th on a single by Tony Pfeiffer, who made two hits for the evening, and John Thomas' double. The Drive-In squad rallied to win on John Mofield's single, a double by Walsh and Guy's one-base knock.

Lynus Grant pitched four-hit ball and contributed a triple to the Elks' eight-hit assault as the 810 Lodge defeated the Pontiac Merchants, 8-2.

Roger Voorheis also twirled a four-hitter and Wes Roberts clouted a two-run homer to feature Harrison's 4-1 triumph over Buttercup at Beaudette Park.

Big Bear Construction collected 10 hits, two each by Clark Rouse and Stan Poole, to rout the Moose, 13-3, in a contest halted after five innings by the 10-run rule. Jack Avery accounted for all of the loser's runs with a three-run homer in the 5th stanza.

Pirates Thrash Jewelers, 11-5

The Pirates lashed out with a 13-hit attack yesterday to hand Shaw's Jewelers an 11-5 thumping in Class A City League baseball activity at Wisner Field.

John Wert clubbed two doubles and a triple in four official times at bat and knocked in two runs. Dave Cooper, Ed Busch and Bob Lovell each made two safeties with Lovell socking a two-run homer in the 2nd and notching three RBI's.

The Pirates piled up all 11 runs in the first three innings as the Jewelers suffered their 9th defeat in 10 games. Shaw's garnered seven hits.

In a Class B game at Jaycee Park, Griff's Grill and Talbott Lumber fought to a 5-5 deadlock with play being stopped after seven innings due to darkness.

Talbott led all the way until the top of the 7th inning when Marv Evans whacked a two-run triple to tie the score for Griff's. Bruce Johnson homered for the Grill team in the 4th.

Jordan Defends Welter Title Tonight

Champ Seeking KO in Oregon Outdoor Scrap

Boxer Moyer Could Become the Youngest Champion in History

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Don Jordan of Los Angeles risks his welterweight boxing crown tonight against an exuberant teenager who hopes to become the youngest fighter ever to win the title.

The challenger is 19-year-old Denny Moyer, who will be fighting before home town supporters in the scheduled 15-round outdoor bout at the Portland Meadows race track. He is ranked the No. 5 contender by the National Boxing Assn., No. 2 by Ring Magazine.

His uncle, Tommy Moyer, matchmaker and promoter for the bout, said he expects a crowd of 10,000 and a gate of $100,000. Jordan said he has a guarantee of $70,000.

The fight will be on NBC television, starting at 10 p.m. (EDT), except for a 200-mile area around Portland. Weather forecasters said skies will be clear and the thermometer at 72 degrees or warmer.

Both fighters made the usual victory predictions, but with this difference: Jordan said he thinks he can stop Moyer; Moyer said his plan is to outpoint the champion.

Scoring will be by the 10-point must system, which allows 10 points for each round won. The loser gets 9 points or less.

Jordan, who has 14 knockouts in his 45-11 record, is considered the harder hitter; Moyer the faster boxer.

They have been in the ring together before, but it didn't count. Moyer, then unranked, was hired as a sparring partner for Jordan last September. Jordan, who had not yet won the title, was in Portland for a fight with Gaspar Ortega.

★ ★ ★

They sparred a total of six rounds, long enough for each fighter to feel he has solved the other's style.

Ben Smith Qualifying Medalist in Michigan Amateur Golf Test

PORT HURON (AP) — Defending champion Glenn Johnson and medalist Ben Smith led a field of 64 in first-round match play in the 1959 Michigan Amateur golf tournament today.

Smith, 38-year-old Birmingham golfer, won medalist honors yesterday in a one-hole playoff against Bob McMasters of Royal Oak. Both had finished the two-day qualifying round at Port Huron's Black River Country Club and Port Huron Golf Club with 141s. Tournament officials decided on the playoff rather than have co-medalists.

It took a score of 154 or better to make the grade for match competition, with one of the 154s failing in a nine-way playoff. He was Tony Lopucki of Ypsilanti, who went three extra holes before losing to Dr. Fritz Adams of Orchard Lake.

Six of the tournament's seven former champions made the cutoff. In addition to Smith, they were Tom Draper, Birmingham, 145; Lloyd Syron, Pontiac, 147; Fred Turner, Flint, 149; Sam Kocsis, Detroit, 151; and Lou Wendrow, Lansing, 153.

Cliff Taylor of Muskegon made the grade with a first day 76 at Black River and a 68 yesterday at Port Huron. His 68 was the lowest round score in the qualifying play.

Christie Hurls 1-Hit Shutout at Drayton

Pitcher Jim Christie of Nonne's fanned 12 batters and gave up only one hit while shutting out Sno-Bol, 5-0, in Waterford League softball action at Drayton Plains.

Writers Pick 'Trader'

WESTBURY, N. Y. (AP) — Selected by vote of the U. S. Harness Writers Assn., Trader Horn will represent the United States in the $50,000 International Trot at Roosevelt Raceway on Aug. 1, it was announced Thursday.

Despite Good Hurling

256 Runs in 17 City Junior Ball Games

There were 256 runs scored in 17 city junior baseball games Thursday despite some outstanding pitching performances.

A Class F contest matching Baldwin Church and the American Leaguers acounted for 36 of the total as Baldwin won 19-17. Two teams scored 23 runs—the Eagles in a 23-1 romp over Rip's Bar & Grill in "E" and the Aces (Hall) who walloped Preston Bros. 23-0 in Widget play. Deni Gruno pitched four innings of perfect ball in the latter tilt.

Fred Staley came up with quite a mound job for Class D Pontiac Boys Club firing a no-hitter to beat West Bloomfield 7-1. Walks and errors ruined the shutout. He retired the first 15 batters and fanned 11. Lytell-Colegrove and Don Nicholie tied 3-3 in eight innings in the other game. Bruce Norton of Nicholie singled in the tying run in the 7th. Chuck Kirken whiffed 13 for Lytell.

The Moose whipped Pontiac Boys Club 8-2 combining the strong hurling of Mike Kerr and 7 NC boots, B&B Sewers drubbed St. Mikes 18-6 with winner Wes Harden and Harry Lawrence hitting homers among 18 safeties in other "F" games. Harden struck out 12—six in a row.

Also in Class F, Dixie Dairy outscored Willis 15-8, the Tigers downed the Orioles 4-2, and the Metro-Chiefs bombed the Little Eagles by 14-4. Bruce Bigler and Bill McCarthy had three hits each while Rich Ziem and Palmer Sesti slammed triples for the victors.

Bob Adsit tripled and scored the only run as Ultra-Stone nipped Moose 1-0 in a Widget duel. Ricky Lyons won a one-hitter. Tony DeLaRosa shutout East Side with three singles in a 5-0 triumph for the Little Senators. Del Hurlbrest smashed his 4th homer in three days.

Don Lovse walloped a grand slam and then hit one with two on as Baldwin EVB Church drubbed Emerson 19-3. Jay Nash homered in defeat. The Web Mets edged the Wild Dogs, 12-11.

Independence Twp. routed Arnold Drugs 14-0, Auburn Heights Boys Club downed Tel Huron 4-0 and Pontiac Boys Club trounced J&R Auto Stores 16-3 in other "E" action. Bob Wright fired a one-hitter for Auburn. Pete Vasquez sparked PBC with a homer and single.

Patty in Semifinals

ANTWERP, Belgium (AP) — Budge Patty, veteran Los Angeles tennis star who makes his home in Paris, reached the semifinals of the Beerschot Club International Tournament Thursday with a 6-0, 6-0 victory over Ernesto Aguirre of Chile.

Senkowski Bows to Mike Green

MILWAUKEE, (AP) — Mike Green, former U.S. Davis cup player from Miami, Fla., and Australia's Warren Woodcock Thursday won places in the semi-finals of the Western Open tennis tournament.

Green, fourth seeded, ousted eighth-ranked Ray Senkowski, Hamtramck, Mich., 12-0, 6-4. Senkowski had moved into the quarter-finals by beating South Africa's Ian Vermaak, the top seeded overseas entrant.

Woodcock, second ranked overseas player, defeated third-ranked Grant Golden of Chicago, 5-7, 6-4, 6-3.

Remaining quarter-final matches will be played Friday.

10 PYC Lightnings in District Races

Michigan District Lightning championships were underway today in Lake Huron off Tawas Bay, and the Pontiac area was well represented along with a big Detroit delegation.

Pontiac yacht club sent 10 of the speedy craft. The PYC fleet includes Charles Buck's Buccaneer and Ralph Behler's Can-Do, from Pontiac; Phil Smith's Mafia and Dr. Kenneth Wood's Hey Mable (Bloomfield Hills); Claude Bennett's Gizmo and Al Oberson's Gizmo Too (Royal Oak); Andy Roualet Jr.'s Go-Go-Go (Utica); Clarence Holman's Knot Ours (Fenton), and from Detroit, Mack Goodwin's Wind Fall and Larry O'Dell's Bambi III. All are PYC members.

Races continue Saturday and Sunday. There were two events today, two for Saturday, the finale Sunday.

Most of these sailors will also compete in the September Internationals at Cresent Yacht Club, Detroit, whose Hank Cawthra was the winner in 1958.

Hits 709 Series, Then Fractures Thumbs Skiing

A Drayton Plains woman sports enthusiast who had her great day in bowling a short time ago is now sidelined until September with two fractured thumbs.

Mrs. Pauline Welch rolled a 709 series in open bowling at Dixie Recreation on games of 274-189-246 and was mighty happy about it.

★ ★ ★

But her joy turned to sadness a few days later when she was hurt water skiing. "The ropes got twisted around my thumbs," she explained today.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Welch bowled in two leagues during the past keg season and carried a 153 average.

Teeing Off

By BILL CORNWELL

Win, lose or draw, Oakland County can be proud of the size and caliber of its delegation to the National Public Links golf tournament, which starts next Monday and runs through Saturday at Wellshire Golf Club in Denver, Colo.

Six members of Michigan's nine-man contingent to the six-day tourney hail from Oakland County and four of them are Pontiac residents—Mike Andonian, Wally Smith, Bill Pembroke and Charley Baker. Birmingham's Stan Sabat and Veikko Juhola of Clawson round out the county crew.

The remainder of the state party heading for Denver's mountain air is also a talented public links collection. The group includes Cass Jawor of Dearborn, Ypsilanti's Doug Wilson and Jay Law of Grosse Pte. Woods.

Barker gained the No. 1 alternate berth in the 36-hole sectional qualifiers on June 22 at Orchard Lake and Tam O'Shanter Country Clubs and therefore was not scheduled to make the trip to Denver.

But regular qualifier Al Krol of Mt. Clemens, an outstanding Publinx player in this area for several years, could not get away from his job for the journey to the Rockies so Barker moved up to the select list.

Going to the National Public Links event is nothing new for Andonian, Smith, Jawor, Wilson and Law. But it's a completely new experience for Sabat, Juhola, Barker and Pembroke.

The annual Public Links is the only tournament of national scope offered to the man who cannot afford to join a private club. It's John Q. Public's best chance to hit the golfing headlines and he makes the most of it.

A total of 150 players representing all sections of the United State will gather at the Wellshire course, scene of last year's $25,000 Denver Open for the touring pros. Wellshire is 6,617 yards long and has a par of 71.

Thirty-six hole qualifying rounds are scheduled Monday and Tuesday with the low 63 shooters joining defending champion Dan Sikes for match play Wednesday through Saturday. Sikes, a University of Florida law student, is exempt from qualifying.

SHORT PUTTS

There's plenty of Michigan golf activity on the agenda next week to go along with the National Public Links attraction.

The Women's State Amateur Championship is slated Monday through Friday at the Country Club of Jackson. Forest Lake's Sally Sharp, bidding for her 2nd straight triple crown of women's golf in Michigan, is defending champ.

Qualifiers for the Michigan Open are slated Monday at Forest Lake in this area and at Green Ridge CC in Grand Rapids. Green Ridge is host to the State Open July 17-19. The Birmingham CC Invitational will be held July 16-19.

Sub-Par Round Brings Victory

LEESBURG, Ind. (AP)—Mickey Wright of San Diego, Calif., cut four strokes from par on the middle three holes of the front nine Thursday and won a ladies professional golf tournament sponsored by the Tippecanoe Lake Country Country Club.

Miss Wright fired an eagle and two birdies on the fourth, fifth and sixth holes in chalking up a four-under-par 68. Her outgoing score was 32.

In a second place tie, two strokes behind Miss Wright, were Jo Ann Prentice of Birmingham, Ala., with 36-34—70, and Fay Crocker of Wichita, Kan., 34-36—70.

Campbell's 65 Leads West. Open

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Like all the rest of mortal golfers, the professionals make frequent use of that favorite locker room statement which begins: "If only. . .

Today he owned a course record 65 at the Pittsburgh Field Club, and the first round lead in the 60th Western Open Championship. And what was his locker room comment?

"If only I had holed those putts on 17 and 18 it would have been the best round of my life."

said. "On 17 I dropped a nine iron

"I could have done it, too," he shot five feet from the hole and the putt just failed to go down for a birdie. I hit a four iron over the green on 18, chipped back to 12 feet and missed by inches."

Thirteen golfers bettered par 70, and eight more matched it. Second place went to Doug Ford, of Paradise, Fla., whose blistering 30 on the incoming nine added up to a 66 that equalled the old course mark set by Chick Harbert in 1953 qualifying for the U.S. Open.

One shot further back for the start of today's second round were Arnold Palmer, of Ligonier, Pa., and Mike Souchak, Grossinger, N.Y., along with Huston (Paddy) LaClaire, Birmingham, Ala., and Bert Weaver, Beaumont, Tex.

The field of 127 starters will be cut to the low 70s and ties for Saturday's third round, and to the low 50s and ties for the finale Sunday.

'Model Communists' Want Church

Religious Riot in Poland Worries Reds

By ALFRED CHLAPOWSKI

KRASNIK FABRYCZNY, Poland (AP)—Communist authorities still show uneasiness two weeks after a religious riot in this town in southeast Poland they thought was a Communist showpiece.

Orders are out for more arrests in a roundup to check agitation for construction of a Catholic church. Local persons say at least 300 have been picked up, although officials say no more than 20 are under arrest.

"Before we build a church, which would cost millions of zlotys we must build more schools which also cost millions."

Roman Catholic officials said the Communists are reluctant to admit that residents of their "model" town prefer a church to other new buildings.

Communist militiamen armed with submachine guns nightly patrol Lublin, the nearest big city, in fear the unrest will spread there.

The town of 11,000 has no church despite a petition signed by thousands and warnings of church authorities that the people were getting impatient.

In 1957 local Catholics built a shrine in a wood. Last month they roofed it with branches and hung religious pictures and linen draperies in preparation for a children's communion June 28. The police sealed off the area with ropes and the state seal.

On June 26 several hundred Catholics came to sing hymns at the shrine and found the draperies gone. As feeling mounted, they decided to march on the town hall and police station. Along the way the crowd swelled to between 1,000 and 2,000.

The angry marchers smashed windows in the police station and Communist headquarters with bricks. The police admitted using fire hoses to scatter the crowd, and townspeople said they also used tear gas. Reinforcements were brought in from Lublin.

Hospital authorities claimed that there were no injured. But it was one of the most violent outbreaks in a European Communist country in several years.

Irked Over Trujillo, U.N. Official Quits

NEW YORK (AP) — Another Dominican Republic diplomat has resigned to protest the dictatorship of Rafael Trujillo.

Dr. Emilio Cordero Michel cabled his resignation to Trujillo Thursday. He was first secretary of the Dominican delegation to the United Nations.

He sought political asylum in the United States for himself and his family.

Expert on Reds Eyes Retiring

Ex-U. S. Ambassador to Russia, Bohlen, Is Hoping for Top Job

MANILA (AP)—U.S. Ambassador Charles Bohlen definitely plans to retire unless given a top-level State Department job utilizing his special knowledge of Soviet affairs, authoritiative sources said today.

Bohlen was at the Philippine mountain resort of Baguio and unavailable for immediate comment on Secretary of State Christian A. Herter's news conference comment that he hopes the Soviet expert will remain in the State Department.

Bohlen is generally considered the department's leading authority on the Soviet government and its leaders. There was wide - spread criticism when the late John Foster Dulles shifted him from the embassy in Moscow to the Philippines two years ago.

Responsible embassy sources said two things are certain regarding Bohlen's future:

1. He will remain in the Philippines for the time being in hopes of an early completion of negotiations of the U.S. bases agreement and other conflicts in U.S.-Philippine relations.

2. He will only accept a new job in Washington which he feels will make use of his experience and give him some say on the policy level.

The 55-year-old ambassador is eligible to retire this year after 35 years of service. He is not wealthy, and friends say he has felt the financial pinch of being ambassador to Moscow and two years in the high social Philippines.

Bohlen has told friends that he has been talking with State Department officials about his returning in a post concerning Soviet affairs but that there is still nothing definite.

Market Rests From Flurry

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market settled backward in slow trading early today as it took a rest from the vigorous first phase of a summer rise.

Profit taking, switching and reinvestment were apparent in many sectors of the market but there were no real highlights and no particular group action.

Meat packers, which came to life yesterday and rallied in the face of a declining market, were listless.

Actor Mickey Rooney Has Caught the Measles

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Mickey Rooney has the measles.

Slate Cross Dedication at Cross Village Sunday

CROSS VILLAGE (AP) — Dedication of a newly completed 15-foot cross, traditional landmark of this Emmet County village, is scheduled Sunday.

The structure, a work of village craftsman Harry Pinterelli, is placed on a site which legend says is the spot where explorer-missionary Fr. Marquette first placed a cross in 1672. It replaces another cross which had marked the spot since 1908 as a landmark for Lake Michigan sailors traveling through the Straits of Mackinac.

Gold is profitably mined in all but two of Canada's provinces, the output second only to South Africa.

Brothers Break Collarbones, One After the Other

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Joey DeFors, 8, and his brother Douglas, 6, broke their collarbones within 2½ weeks of one another.

Douglas had to be distinctive. He is accustomed to running through his bedroom doorway and diving into bed. He crash-landed the other day when he failed to realize his mother had changed the position of the bed.

The mother said, "It's the first time either of the boys has had a broken bone.

"At least they can keep each other company," she sighed.

New York Hotel Returns Her $15,000 Jewelry

NEW YORK (AP) — A Detroit woman who left a chamois leather pouch containing $15,000 in jewelry in her hotel room here learned last night that her valuables are on the way back to her.

The Essex House Hotel said one of its employes, Mrs. Lillian Chellel, 40, found the jewels Monday in a bureau drawer of the suite occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Michael Taines of Detroit. After ownership was established, Mrs. Taines was told the jewels were being returned.

Corn, Soybeans Leap Ahead

CHICAGO (AP) — On a follow through of yesterday's good demand, corn and soybean futures moved well ahead again today in early dealings on the Board of Trade.

Other grains were steady to firm.

After about an hour, wheat was ⅛ cent a bushel higher to ⅛ lower, July 1.86⅞; corn ¼-½ higher, July 1.22⅜; oats unchanged to ¼ lower, July new type contract 66⅝; rye ⅜ higher to ¼ lower, July 1.25⅜; soybeans ⅜ lower to ⅝ higher July 2.19¼.

Fenton Grocery Store Loses $4,000 in Holdup

FENTON (UPI)—Two bandits today robbed a Fenton grocery store of $4,000.

The bandits grabbed two money bags containing the cash, and fled in a gray Buick hardtop. Witnesses said the license plate on the car began with the letters "KA" but they failed to get the numerals.

The robbery took place at the Cotter and Fox grocery store and police said the loot might be as much as $6,000.

CLYDE C. WILLIAMS

Utica Curtiss-Wright Sales Head Named

The appointment of Clyde C. Williams as general sales manager for the Utica Division of Curtiss-Wright Corporation has been announced by C. D. Harris, general manager of the division.

★ ★ ★

Williams joins the Utica Division after being associated with the Chrysler Corporation for 31 years, during which time he held such positions as liaison official between Chrysler Marine and Industrial Engine Division and departments of the armed forces in connection with the defense program during World War II.

★ ★ ★

He served as manager of the Marine Sales from 1946 to 1951, then as general manager of the entire division until his appointment in October, 1954 to vice president of sales for the Marine and Industrial Division.

Sen. Smeekens Will Try to Untangle Idle Pay Mess

LANSING (UPI)—Sen. John P. Smeekens (R-Coldwater) was to spend the weekend in Washington in an effort to "untangle the bungling" on jobless pay that he blamed on Gov. G. Mennen Williams.

"The gag rule has been invoked in the governor's office," Smeekens said. "He hasn't kept us informed."

Smeekens claimed Williams failed to pass along notice that Sept. 30, rather than June 30, was the deadline for action on a bill to extend temporary federal unemployment compensation pay to more than 28,000 Michigan workers.

It was Smeekens who earlier insisted June 30 was the "absolute deadline" for action.

Williams' office said a telegram received from Sen. Patrick V. McNamara (D-Mich.) this week was the first official word received by the governor that there was still time to act on jobless pay.

Smeekens, chairman of the Senate Labor Committee and author of the GOP version of the jobless pay bill, said he would try to correct the "breakdown in liaison" among officials in Washington, the governor's office and the Legislature.

There was no indication from Williams or Smeekens that the controversy would have been settled had word been received earlier about the deadline.

The basic problem remained.

Democrats want a one-purpose bill to allow Michigan to take advantage of the one-purpose bill Congress adopted to extend jobless pay for 13 weeks.

Republicans want a provision in the bill that would in effect upset a supreme court decision upholding award of jobless pay to Michigan Ford workers idled by a Ford strike in Canton, Ohio.

At Detroit Eastside Home

Ends Family Squabbles by Slashing Wife's Throat

DETROIT (UPI)—A 68-year-old man was held today for climaxing what police called "a long history of family squabbles" by slashing his 64-year-old wife's throat.

Police called to the scene found Mrs. Elizabeth Henson lying dead in a pool of blood on the front lawn of her eastside home. Her husband, Walter, was inside the house at 4408 Pennsylvania Ave.

He said he was sitting on his front porch late last night when he saw Henson come out of the house and assault his wife, who was sitting in a porch chair.

Three butcher knives with blood on them were found in the kitchen sink, according to Det. Lawrence Bleach. He said someone apparently had tried to wash the blood off.

Bleach said there was blood spattered throughout the house and it appeared that Henson first slashed his wife indoors and that she staggered out onto the porch.

Henson, Bleach said, was incoherent when arrested, and mumbled simply:

"She cut me."

"The Hensons had a long history of family trouble," he added.

Michigan Is Planning Four Scenic Highways

GRAND HAVEN (UPI) — Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie said yesterday the state is planning four extensions to the trunkline system that will be primarily scenic routes.

Mackie called "Michigan's five-year, $1,250,000,000 road building program a convincing illustration of Michigan's well-being for "scoffers and skeptics who are trying to sell us short."

"We are studying four major extensions of the state trunkline system when completed, will rank without peer in the nation for scenic beauty and grandeur," Mackie said.

The routes include a shoreline route along the south shore of Lake Superior from Detour to Munising, a distance of about 230 miles; another along the east shore of the Keweenaw Peninsula from Hancock to the Fort Wilkins area; on the west side of the Lower Peninsula from Ludington to Manistee; and from Cross Village along Sturgeon and Cecil Bays to Mackinaw City.

★ ★ ★

"When the arterial expressway program is finished," Mackie said, "the department will place new emphasis on development of scenic shoreline and feeder routes which incorporate new features of roadside easement control to prevent encroachment on natural scenic beauty by nonconforming uses."

Sit in Detroit Restaurant

Labor Leaders Join Pickets

DETROIT (AP) — A delegation of Wayne County labor leaders last night visited a west side restaurant which has been picketed since last March 27 and staged a mild sitdown of their own.

Walter Nau, owner of the Sno-White Restaurant, said the labor officials, including Al Barbour, president of the Wayne County AFL-CIO Council, and Paul Silver, president of United Auto Workers Union Local 351, arrived shortly before dinnertime.

They stayed, sipping coffee, ice tea and eating pies, until 1 a.m. today. Three and four men sat at tables. One man ate four pieces of pie while his three companions, sat, looked and ate nothing.

Nau had been tipped to the visit. He placed a $2.50 a person surcharge on all bills. The charge was designed to discourage the coffee sippers.

Barbour paid a $5.15 bill and left a 50 cent tip.

Last month circuit judge Theodore Souris ordered the city to clear a five-week accumulation of trash from behind the restaurant. DPW workers had refused to cross the picket line to collect the debris.

Forty-four of the restaurant's 49 employes say they have taken no strike vote and have filed suit to remove the picket line which they say costs them wages and tips.

Nau said he broke off negotiations for a new contract with the union over an insurance clause in the proposed agreement.

Influence Trial Jury Disagrees

11-1 Stalemate Blocks Mack-Whiteside Case; Judge Dismisses Panel

WASHINGTON (AP) — The jury in the Richard A. Mack - Thurman A. Whiteside conspiracy case was discharged today after deliberating for more than 30 hours without reaching a verdict.

U.S. Dist. Judge Burnita S. Matthews discharged the jury after receiving a note from the foreman, Robert A. Burner, in which he said the jury stood 11-1.

Mack, former member of the Federal Communications Commission, and Whiteside, a Miami lawyer, were accused of conspiring to rig award of Miami TV Channel 10 to Public Service Television, Inc., a subsidiary of National Airlines.

Burner said the 11 jurors felt the stand of the 12th was "not consistent with reason."

★ ★ ★

The foreman asked for further instructions from the judge. Instead of giving them, the judge called the jurors into the courtroom thanked them, and excused them from further deliberations.

After discharging the jurors, the judge reprimanded Nicholas J. Chase, Mack's lawyer, for what she described as his improper conduct during the trial.

★ ★ ★

But in the long Mack-Whiteside trial, she said, Chase overstepped the bounds of propriety. She added that Chase at times had been "rude, disrespectful and disobedient."

★ ★ ★

She remarked that on two occasions he had called a government prosecutor a liar but said she was taking no action beyond a reprimand in view of the length of the trial, and its stresses and strains.

Missile Has Failed Only Once

Jupiter to Boost Satellite

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — The Army's versatile Jupiter missile, another successful 1,500-mile trip under its belt, now turns its attention to satellite launching.

A 60-foot intermediate range Jupiter roared aloft Thursday night and dumped a simulated warhead on a target area off the downrange island of Antigua.

Just a short distance from the latest launching, technicians are preparing a giant four-stage Juno II rocket for a satellite attempt expected the middle of this month. A Jupiter forms the first stage of the 76-foot missile.

Riding in the nose cone of the Juno II will be this nation's biggest and most complex scientific satellite to date. It is a 91½-pound vehicle designed to perform at least six experiments in space. Among them are a study of the high radiation belt surrounding the earth and several weather probes.

Satellite boosting will be a new assignment for the Jupiter, which has logged 17 successful shots in war weapons tests. It also served as the first stage for space probes Pioneer II and IV and carried monkeys Able and Baker on their historic trip into space and back May 28.

The missile was declared operational two months ago and Air Force troops are expected to man Jupiter launching sites in Italy late this year as part of the NATO defense force.

The Air Force will take over this Army-developed rocket because of a Defense Department order limiting the Army to missiles of less than 500-mile range.

Earlier Thursday, the Air Force static-tested an intercontinental range Atlas, indicating the suspension of this missile's test program may soon end. Actual firing of an Atlas normally follows a static test within 10 day.

The Atlas firing program was suspended last month after five straight failures, including four explosions. The Air Force had hoped to have the missile operational this month.

Union Ban Cancels Youth Band on TV

DETROIT (AP) — Station WWJ-TV yesterday canceled a Sunday program of a young people's band after a union protest.

The program was that of the Metropolitan Symphonic Band, a group sponsored by the Metropolitan Symphonic Parents Club.

Band members range in age from 10 to 19 years. The Detroit Federation of Musicians raised a question over their ages. The band performs without fee.

"At 19, they are not children," said Eduard Werner, union president. "What will they learn on television that they couldn't learn better in a band room?"

The union and the parents group were to meet on the matter.

Rep. Wales Angry, Broke

Will Go Back to Work in Mines Until His Vote Is Needed

IRON RIVER (AP) — Angry and disgusted, Rep. Gilbert L. Wales (D-Stambaugh) says he will not return to his job in the legislature until his vote is needed on an important bill.

★ ★ ★

Wales said he would go back to work in the Wauseka Iron Mine near here to build up his ailing bank account, returning to Lansing when lawmakers appeared on the verge of settling the tax war.

He denied reports that he was quitting his legislative post.

"I haven't quit," he said. "I'm just tired of staying around Lansing and waiting for something to happen."

★ ★ ★

The Upper Penisula Democrat paid up his bill at a Lansing hotel yesterday and headed for home with other lawmakers, who agreed to take a five-day weekend. He failed to clear his desk, however, indicating he would be back — if not next week, before the end of the session.

★ ★ ★

Wales said his expenses in Lansing consumed all $4,000 of yearly salary as a legislator and $1,000 expense account. All but one of his U.S. savings bonds bought with his pay as a miner have been spent to support his family, he said.

★ ★ ★

Wales earns $2.96 an hour in the mines, in addition to a production bonus. His miner's pay has gone as high as $11,000 a year, he said.

Other lawmakers also claimed to be in financial straits as the session dragged into its 116th day with no tax settlement yet in sight.

St. Clair Shores Girl Cops Talent Crown

MUSKEGON (AP) — Mary A. Edit, 18-year-old Miss St. Clair Shores, last night won the talent division of the Miss Michigan contest.

The pretty Southeastern Michigan girl played the piano for her demonstration and was awarded first place over 11 other contestants. Twelve more regional queens will compete in the second division of the talent contest tonight.

Contest judges deadlocked over the winner of the bathing suit division last night calling the contest a draw between Miss Detroit, 20-year-old Ann Marston and Miss Ionia, 18-year-old Anita Marie Haight.

Broomfield Bill Fight on Smut

Would Give Postmaster Right to Delay Obscene Literature

Congressman William S. Broomfield (R-Oakland County) has joined in the war against mailing of "smut" literature.

★ ★ ★

Broomfield h troduced a bill proposing that master General Arthur E. Summerfield be given powers to detain mail for up to 20 days is such action is in the public interest.

★ ★ ★

Last year Broomfield supported a bill which was passed into law permitting distributors of obscene material to be prosecuted at the point of mail delivery.

"We must take active steps to stop these operators in smut who prey on our youths," said Broomfield. "Distribution of obscene photographs and literature is big business. This racket is operating at about $500,000,000 a year."

The Royal Oak lawmaker pushed ahead with it after Summerfield revealed that traffic in obscene material through the mails had doubled in the past five years, and possibly could double again by 1963.

3 Grandchildren of FDR Visit Ike at White House

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Three young grandchildren of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt go to the White House today to meet President Eisenhower.

★ ★ ★

The children are Anna Eleanor Roosevelt, age 11, and her brothers, Michael, 12, and James Jr., 13. All were born after their famous grandfather's death.

The youngsters will be accompanied by James Roosevelt (D-Calif). They are bringing along a copy of Eisenhower's book, "Crusade in Europe," for him to autograph.

★ ★ ★

The children live in Pasadena, Calif., with their mother, Roosevelt's former wife. They have been visiting their father this week and already have taken the regular tourists' trip through the public rooms of the White House.

Sky Objects Bubble Up

GATWICK, England (UPI) — Pilots landing here yesterday reported that unidentified white objects had hovered at their plane's wingtips as they came in. They turned out to be bubbles formed when high winds whipped up a detergent foam from a nearby drainage ditch.

Queen, Philip Visit Mountains

BANFF, Alta. (UPI) Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip are due here today to see Alberta's Rocky Mountain range and Lake Louise.

The royal couple left Calgary, Alta., early today aboard their 16-car train for a scenic trip through the passes and valleys of the mountain range.

The Queen and Prince today were to travel via the Trans-Canada highway to the Chateau Lake Louise for a 40-minute stop. They then were to make a 45-minute drive through the mountains to Field, B.C., to re-embark on the royal train.

The royal couple were soaked almost to the skin at Fort William, Ont., yesterday in the last five minutes of a drive through town to a civic lunch.

But they showed no signs in Calgary that they were any worse for the experience and had not even changed their clothes—a yellow outfit for the Queen and gray suit for Philip.

Calgary Mayor Don McKay, who makes a point of giving visiting celebrities 10 gallon hats, kept to form with the royal visitors who collected two others during a stop in Calgary on their three-week tour of Canada as Princess and Duke in 1951.

Proposal must be submitted on form furnished by the Architects, supplemented by a Bid Bond submitted in accordance with the schedule included in the "Instruction to Bidders," not later than 1:30 P.M. of the same day. In the event the successful Bidder or Bidders fail to enter into Contract with the Board of Education, the amount of the Bid Bond must be forfeited to the Board of Education.

Proposal forms not properly filled out will be rejected.

A check made out to the George D. Mason & Company, in the sum of $10.00, must be submitted as a deposit for each set of Plans and Specifications, same to be refunded when Plans and Specifications are returned in good order.

The Board of Education reserves the right to reject any or all Bids, in whole or in part, and to waive any informalities therein.

AUCTION SALE OF PUBLIC OWNED PROPERTY

In pursuance of the provisions contained in Miscellaneous Resolution No. 3833 as adopted by the Oakland County Board of Supervisors at its meeting held on June 2, 1959, the following described parcel of land is offered for sale, at public auction, under the following terms and conditions hereinafter listed:

TOWNSHIP OF ORION

Single family frame dwelling known as No. 100 E. Scripps Road. Property described on tax roll as: T4N, R10E, Sec. 23—N. 148.50 ft. of E. 366.67 ft. of W. 866.67 ft. of N.E. ¼ (1.25 acres).

Use of the property is restricted to the terms and conditions as set forth in a certain deed dated May 17, 1941, and recorded in Liber 1304, Page 523, Oakland County Register of Deeds records. A copy of such restrictions, title commitment, legal description and Township Zoning will be furnished prospective purchasers upon request.

TERMS AND CONDITIONS

The opening bid at such auction shall not be acceptable if less than $4,500. Successful bidder to make a deposit of at least 25% of total bid upon completion of auction. Balance of full purchase price to be paid within 90 days from date of auction plus 6% interest on unpaid balance.

TIME AND PLACE OF AUCTION

The auction will be held on the above described premises, No. 100 E. Scripps Road, Orion Township, (First house east of Highway M-24) commencing promptly at 10:30 A.M., E.S.T., Friday, July 17, 1959.

This Board, acting as agent for the Oakland County Board of Supervisors, reserves the right to withdraw the above described property from sale prior to date scheduled for auction, or reject any or all bids submitted if deemed to be in the best interest of the County of Oakland.

CBS Varmints Won't Gun Down Ole Matt Dillon

★ ★ ★

Jim Arness, who plays the quick-drawing marshal, and CBS Thursday announced signing a new contract. Arness' old contract was to expire after filming 39 episodes for next season and the show's producers hinted darkly that the marshal might die with his boots on.

★ ★ ★

Under the new contract, Arness will have his own producing company and will produce the "Gunsmoke" series in association with CBS. His company also will produce other programs for the network.

Mustn't Look Back, Advises Von Braun

HONOLULU (AP) — Wernher Von Braun, Army missile expert, says the United States "can fall into a dangerous trap" in the missile race with Russia "if we persist in looking back to see how fast the other fellow is running."

★ ★ ★

"It behooves us to run just as fast as we can and let him worry about keeping pace," Von Braun told a meeting Thursday night of the Assn. of the United States Army, an officer organization.

★ ★ ★

Von Braun said the United States was developing a really big booster rocket larger than "anything the Russians have shown us." He said he was not so sure the United States was behind the Russians in space technology.

Deborah Kerr Divorces Producer Tony Bartley

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—Actress Deborah Kerr has divorced the British television producer, Tony Bartley, charging that he upbraided her and used unkind language.

★ ★ ★

"Sometimes he wouldn't speak to me for days at a time," she said.

★ ★ ★

Miss Kerr, 37, married Bartley, 39, in London Nov. 28, 1945. They separated March 27, 1958. Their two daughters, Melanie, 2, and Francesca, 7, will remain under jurisdiction of the High Chancery Court of London.

Translate Unwritten Tongues

By FRED L. STROZIER

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP) —A young missionary with an ear trained to unknown languages and a fine ability to mimic what he hears approaches the native chief of a savage Amazon tribe.

The chief speaks, perhaps only a few guttural syllables. No facial expression shows the tenor of the remarks. The young white visitor responds, repeating the same sounds he has just heard, without knowing what they mean.

It is as good an opening as any. For the visitor has come to learn unwritten language of a remote tribe and reduce it to writing. His next step will be to train native teachers to spread knowledge of the language among the tribesmen. And finally he intends to translate the New Testament into the tribal language to help missionaries spread the Protestant gospel.

These intrepid pioneers sometimes live for months at a time in South America's wildest jungles. They come prepared for the work by the Summer Institute of Linguistics which is associated with Wycliffe Bible Translators, Inc., of Glendale, Calif.

These linguists in 25 years have spread their work to Mexico, Peru, Educador, Bolivia, Canada, Alaska, Guam, Australia, and Viet Nam.

They are new to Brazil, where 45 of their most scholarly are working with the Brazilian government's Indian Protection Service. The task is enormous. Brazil has 185 Indian tribe's with 40 clearly distinguished language groups already indentified. The linguists work only with tribes whose language has never been written.

Many times they are in danger from their savage hosts. They face wild animals, reptiles and threat to health from untreated water and food. In many instances two young women working alone form a team.

The work in Brazil has just gotten an enormous boost. The city of Orlando, Fla., donated a PBY Catalina amphibian plane for work in the Amazon Basin. The plane has just arrived and will be used in Brazil, Peru and Educador.

Orlando got interested because it has "adopted" the Brazilian town of Goiana, on the central plateau, as its sister city.

The plane is named the Condido Rondon, in honor of Brazil's greatest worker with the Indians.

NAACP Sees South Easing

Annual Report Cites 'Beginning of End' for Desegregation Fight

NEW YORK (AP)—An annual report of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People sees "the beginning of the end" of massive resistance to desegregation in the South.

The report, released Thursday, said Southern segregationists lost ground on every front during 1958. The report also said Negroes were particularly hard hit by the economic recession.

The NAACP said its membership climbed from 312,277 in 1957 to 334,543 in 1958 and that the organization's income from all sources amounted to $1,052,282—the first time it had passed the million-dollar mark.

★ ★ ★

1. The Supreme Court decision on Little Rock schools reaffirming the school desegregation decision of 1954.

2. The election of a liberal Congress, increasing chances of enactment of stronger civil rights legislation.

3. The election in the South of Sens. Albert Gore of Tennessee and Ralph Yarborough of Texas, both Democratic moderates over staunch segregationists.

4. Public reaction to the closing of public schools in Little Rock and in three Virginia cities.

5. Public reaction to the bombing of schools, churches and synagogues.

Expressway Section to Open in Detroit

LANSING (UPI)—The last part of a half-mile section of John Lodge Expressway costing about 4.4 million dollars in downtown Detroit was scheduled for opening today.

The section was on the southbound expressway lane from Howard street south to Larned street. A northbound section covering the same distance was opened to traffic last September.

With opening of this last section, nearly all the nine-mile, 90-million-dollar Lodge expressway is open to traffic. About a half-mile section passing under the exhibits hall is yet to be completed and that should open by mid-November.

What Does Flynn Do Between Wars? Eats

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Errol Flynn and Bob Hope were having dinner—at different tables—and Hope said: "Flynn's just in town between wars."

★ ★ ★

Flynn heard the laughing and came over to a table where two columnists were sitting. He didn't see Hope, who said: "Didn't you think Errol was braver in Cuba than he was in Burma?"

WILSON

Errol leaned over and said to the columnists, "First, I want to ask you, where are your wives?"

"Where are your wives?" retorted one of the witty columnists.

Bob, looking healthy, said he was flying to Scotland to play golf and get some new "cheap" jokes for Jack Benny. Flynn was dining with socialite Dolly O'Brien. There was also a girl at his table, who looked anywhere from 18 to 21. A woman at another table said, "She's no 18 — she's at least 22. Why, she's old enough to be his wife!"

GINA

Gina Lollobrigida told me the European papers reported there "was a beeg love affair between Frank Sinatra and me. Always, if we are not fighting, we must have a big love affair; if we are not having a beeg love affair, we must be fighting." Gina said her husband, Dr. Milko Skofic, didn't mind the phony stories, though. "Because my husband ees right weeth me in Hollywood when we get the call from Europe giving us the news."

Leave It to Beaver Show Most Honest—or Dumbest?

By FRED DANZIG

NEW YORK (UPI) — I discovered last night that even a filmed situation comedy on TV, often called our most childish contribution to world culture, can amaze me.

★ ★ ★

In Leave It to Beaver on ABC-TV, a repeat of "The Pipe" episode dealt with the warm, human story of a small boy and his smoking a pipe.

And there came this line, when young "Beaver" Cleaver, played by Jerry Mathers, is caught smoking: "Smoking can wreck you."

There also was dialogue about the wisdom of not smoking until the age of 21.

★ ★ ★

It sounds harmless, I know, but when you consider that the tobacco industry helps pay a great chunk of the TV industry's bills, you must wonder whether Leave It to Beaver is: (1) the most honest family show on TV or (2) the dumbest.

SHORT SHOTS: The second episode of 21 Beacon Street on NBC-TV was very much like the first.

It offered a contrived plot, complete with Dennis Morgan and his blackboard (on which he diagrams his crime-busting attack): Joanna Barnes managing to get into another villian's boudoir; disguises and ingenious "bugging" setups.

The story dealt with a bank robbery staged by Dennis Morgan & Co. in order to save a client's reputation. (Well, I said it was contrived, didn't I?)

Roberta reminded Groucho that he hadn't mentioned Elvis and Groucho replied: "I seldom do—unless I stub my toe."

Cut Antiaircraft Missile Budget

But 137 Million Dollar Increase for Nike-Zeus Will Offset Reduction

By JOE F. KANE

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon's new cutback on Army and Air Force antiaircraft missiles will cut about 1½ billion dollars from planned missile spending over a period of years, Congress has been told.

Budget Director Maurice H. Stans said that reduction would be offset partly by a 137-million-dollar increase for the Army's Nike-Zeus, an antimissile missile still being developed.

Figures Stans gave to the Senate's Defense Preparedness subcommittee last month showed a 108-million-dollar saving for the fiscal year which ended June 30, and another 81 millions in the current fiscal year. The remainder of the cut will be spread over a period of four or five years in the future.

Stans' testimony, made public Thursday night, listed these spending changes under the master plan:

Nike-Hercules — In the aggregate, a reduction of 469 million dollars in the program, representing a reduction of 15¾ battalions. The Army missile has a range of up to 100 miles and carries an atomic warhead.

Bomarc — The reduction was 740 million dollars over the life of the program, with a reduction of 16 squadrons. The Air Force supersonic interceptor missile will have an eventual range of 400 miles.

Nike-Zeus — An increase of 137 million dollars in the Army missile designed to knock down enemy intercontinental ballistic missiles.

SAGE Direction and Combat Centers — The reduction was 49 million dollars. SAGE is a major defense communications network. There was no reduction in the number of centers, but two of the planned centers will not be built.

Taylor Cyclist Killed

DETROIT (AP) — James Highbaugh, 13, of suburban Taylor, was struck and killed by a car Thursday while riding his bicycle on Ecorse road near his home.

Nine of 10 traffic accidents involve passenger cars.

Knowing How NOT to Tip Is an Art

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK—Knowing how much to tip is a science, we've always said. But knowing how NOT to tip is an art.

One is not born with the ability to step out of a taxicab and pocket all his change. Or to present the waiter with a winning smile, period. It is an art one must analyze, and practice, and polish to perfection. Like a perfect murder.

The top expert on tiplessness in America, and perhaps the world, is a New York gentleman whom we call Mr. C. N., because those are not his initials. He does not want his real initials to get out, as this might lead to a waiters' union investigation.

"The last time I talked to you in 1955 I believe I had saved approximately $2,000," said C. N. cordially this week. "Since then tipping has gone up considerably —or I've been dining at better restaurants, and patronizing higher-priced cabs. In the last four years I think I can truthfully say I have saved at least $5,000 on tips, mainly here and in San Francisco. Although I must confess I got my wife her first mink on tips saved also in Las Vegas.

C. N. eyed her coldly (she saved only $800 last year) and went on.

"The whole success of not tipping is based on the attitude of the non-tipper. One must be able, honestly and dispassionately, to recognize tipping for what it is—a wicked return to the ancient feudal system in which there were masters and slaves.

"It is highly tempting sometimes, the thought of giving a tip, especially when the service has been excellent in a really exceptional French restaurant. But one musn't succumb to the urge. One must remember: If I give money to this fine man, who is my equal in every way, I make him feel like a slave. I will subserviate him."

C. N. sighed wearily. "Unfortunately," he admitted, "some prospective tippees simply do not understand your generous Christian motives. They have been insulted, humiliated and diminished for years by inhumanitarians who throw money their way that they have little dignity left."

When a waiter, untipped, extends a hand—C. N. presses it warmly in both his own and says, "Thank you for excellent service. I always longed to be a waiter myself, but couldn't make the grade."

When a cabbie, untipped, barks, "Hey you ——!", C. N. looks back sadly and remarks, "Pardon me for interrupting, but it was such a delightful ride. Let's not end it this way."

If a barber, valet or porter gives C. N. a quizzical look, he puts on an air of hurried hysteria. "Good heaven, man, did you make a mistake on my hair (or shirts or shoes or shave)?" Then he glances at his watch. "Well, never mind—there's no time for amends now."

C. N. suggests that anyone with the proper attitude can save $1,000 a year (tax free, remember) in tips. But it is harder for a woman to save as much as a man, for the simple reason that "a woman is not expected to tip as much, so she really can't save as much either, you know."

Auto Industry Readying '60 Models

Will Clean Out '59 Cars

DETROIT (UPI) — The auto industry is planning an orderly run-out of its 1959 new car model stockpile, following windup of its production schedules and before introduction of the 1960 models, according ot Ward's Automotive Reports.

With production phaseouts on most makes scheduled between July 17 and August 26, the industry expects to have a maximum stockpile of about 955,000 '59 models by the end of July.

But from then on, with many sales taken directly from inventory, the manufacturers expect the stockpile to drop to around 745,000 units by Aug. 30, and to 320,000 by Sept. 30.

The forecast, says Ward's, is based on expected sales of 1,345,000 '59 models in a period when only 760,000 are scheduled to be produced. That means about 585,000 cars will be taken out of inventory.

Last year, the industry ended its third quarter with 275,000 '58 models on hand. But the year before, auto makers ran into a real cleanup problem when 640,000 '57 models were on hand Sept. 30. In that year, purchasers ran into real bargains as auto dealers scrambled to clean up their old stocks before introduction of the new models.

Ward's said the industry's run-out estimates should be accurate unless a steel strike, scheduled for next week, interferes with buying power and purchaser income.
