Florida, Georgia Carolinas Given Hurricane Alert

Hilda Crosses Yucatan Raising Ominous Tides Off Texas Coast

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The Weather Bureau said today that the southeastern coast from Melbourne, Fla., northward through North Carolina should consider itself under a formal hurricane alert.

Hurricane Ione, a dangerous storm now containing winds above 100 miles an hour, spun slowly northward over the Atlantic from a position about 500 miles east of Miami, and could affect some portion of the alerted area by Sunday afternoon or night.

Cecil Gentry, storm forecaster in the Miami Weather Bureau's hurricane center, said Ione had slowed to a 10-mile forward pace and kicked higher the velocity of winds whirling around her center.

"She is above a 100-mile velocity now," said Gentry, "and still growing.

"She is in a dangerous position where, if she should speed up on her present course, warnings would have to go up rather quickly. The special weekend alert which we gave yesterday for all of the southeast coast should now be considered a formal alert from Melbourne northward."

Gentry said a steamship in the Atlantic, the Dutch freighter Amstel Kroon, was 50 or 60 miles east of the storm's center and was experiencing winds of hurricane force—75 miles an hour or more.

A hurricane hunter plane was nearing the storm and was gauging its new size and velocity.

The American Red Cross alerted disaster specialists at Jacksonville to be ready to move to any spot where Ione may strike. Seven of these specialists were moved to Jacksonville from other areas so they could go up or down the coast as needed.

"Hurricane Condition 1" was ordered by the Jacksonville Naval Air Station. This restricts training operations and causes planes to be sheltered in hangars.

Meanwhile Hurricane Hilda swept westward across the Yucatan Peninsula and was expected to increase in size and intensity after entering the Gulf of Mexico a little north of Campeche.

Hilda entered the Gulf early today with highest winds estimated at 75 m.p.h. near the center. It was moving toward the west-northwest at from 10 to 12 m.p.h., a direction and pace it was expected to follow through the morning.

Utica Water Supply Reported Clearing

Utica should be pumping water from the Clinton River into the homes of 2,400 users again by tomorrow noon, the city water superintendent said today.

Frank Gibbing said the quantity of chrome solution in the river was down to a safe level—three parts per million—by 9:30 this morning after declining continually through the night.

"If nothing goes wrong, we should be pumping by noon tomorrow," he said.

Utica's water supply, drawn from the Clinton, was ordered shut down by the State Health Dept. Thursday night when a quantity of solution used in chrome plating appeared in the water.

Ward Stretches Amateur Margin

Leads Hyndman, 5-Up, at Turn in National Tourney at Richmond

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — San Francisco's Harvie Ward, playing almost faultless golf on a hot, sunny morning, led Bill Hyndman, a Philadelphia weekend golfer, 5-up, after the first nine holes of their 36-hole final for the National Amateur Golf Championship today.

* * *

Ward took a lead by winning the second, third and fourth holes and didn't lose a hole.

Ward shot the first nine of the 6,713-yard, par 35-35—70 James River course of the Country Club of Virginia in 31 with birdies on the second, fourth, seventh and ninth holes. Hyndman had a 36 with a couple of conceded putts.

* * *

Ward had to chip from off the edge of the eighth green to get his halfs in threes. Then on the ninth he fired a beautiful iron shot dead to the pin, about four feet short, and calmly canned his putt for his fourth birdie.

Reds Bow to TV Quiz

CINCINNATI, O. (INS)—The Cincinnati Redlegs, rather than compete with the TV show "$64,000 Question," have decided to join the party. Next Tuesday night TV sets will be installed under the grandstand so fans can dash out and catch the show. The baseball organization figures the move is justified sports-wise since Mrs. Myrtle Power will be up for the $32,000 question on baseball.

Wife Greets Freed Yank With Long, Joyous Kiss

HONG KONG (AP)—A long, slow kiss today ended 5½ years of separation for Lawrence Robert Buol, just released by the Chinese Communists, and his wife Sue, who worked tirelessly to get him out.

"Honey! Bob!" she cried when she saw him an hour and 20 minutes after he was released. "You look wonderful!"

The brown-haired wife raced into Buol's arms with tears in her eyes.

"I want to take you home and dress you," she said, laughing. Buol wore a ragged sports shirt and faded shorts when he crossed into Hong Kong from Red China.

Mrs. Buol, who is Gen. Claire Chennault's secretary at Civil Air Transport headquarters on Formosa, has doggedly sought her husband's release since he was captured on his last CAT flight by the Reds Jan. 15, 1950.

Last year she flew to Geneva to intercede personally with Red China Premier Chou En-lai.

They had been married only six months when Buol was captured.

Sue turned to friends who had accompanied her to the frontier.

"Doesn't he look wonderful!" she exclaimed.

Buol was clean shaven and had a new haircut.

Buol told newsmen "The Geneva conference made it possible for me to come home. In prison I thought of my wife Sue and of getting home. This is the happiest day of my life. I thank everyone responsible for my release. I have no desire whatever to go back to China."

The reunion was the most joyous at the border since the Communists began releasing prisoners. Buol, pale, shifted his weight from one leg to the other, and occasionally leaned on Sue, who squeezed him.

Asked if he was tortured, Buol replied: "Only mentally — not knowing what the situation was was worse than torture."

5-County Water Plan Launched

Detroit Planners Start Study to Solve Problems of Metropolitan Area

Plans for a coordinated study of of water and sewer problems in Oakland, Wayne, Macomb and Washtenaw counties were launched in Detroit yesterday.

The executive committee of the Detroit Metropolitan Area Planning Commission voted to establish a committee to draw-up plans for such a study.

The move was proposed by Edward Connor, a Detroit councilman and chairman of both the Wayne County Board of Supervisors and the Supervisors Inter-County Committee.

Under his proposal, the new committee would prepare the report for presentation to the various counties. The counties would be asked if they wished to participate and how much they would contribute financially to the study.

Laurcence G. Lenhardt, Detroit water superintendent, estimated the study would cost from $600,000 to $1,000,000 but would provide a definite overall plan for solving the problems.

Chinese Send Two Westerners Across Border

U. S. Civilian Released; Italian Prelate Reports Others on Way

HONG KONG (AP)—Continuing their slow-motion turnover of 10 American civilians they had promised to release at once, the Chinese Communists sent a third man across the border to freedom today.

He was Lawrence R. Buol, 34, of Stockton, Calif., who arrived at the frontier after five years eight months imprisonment.

The Reds also released an ailing Italian bishop who said he had been a prisoner in Communist China since 1951.

Buol, former operations officer for the American-owned Civil Air Transport, was in high spirits. He told welcoming American and British officials that his years of confinement had not been too rough physically, but "morally I was treated badly."

"I want to express my thanks and appreciation to everyone, large and small, who contributed towards the amelioration of conditions and to all those responsible for my release," he said.

In Stockton, Buol's father Lawrence said the news of his son's release "sure is wonderful." The elder Buol said there had been no word from his son until last year.

Happily chewing gum, Buol wore a sports shirt and faded knee pants. He said he had lost about 30 pounds during his ordeal but looked fairly fit.

In contrast, the Italian prelate, identified as Bishop Alphonse Ferroni, was so weak he had to be carried across the Schumchun River border.

"I can't believe how any person in his right mind should want to go back there," Ferroni said, motioning in the direction of Red China.

PRELATE REPORTS

The prelate said six or seven Americans had boarded his train at Hankow and probably were now in Canton, 80 miles from Hong Kong.

Buol's release came just 24 hours after the arrival of two other Americans—Walter A. Rickett of Seattle, a Fulbright scholar, and the Rev. Harold W. Rigney of Chicago, Roman Catholic educator. Both had been held since 1951.

Buol was captured at the Mengtze airstrip 140 miles south of Kunming in January 1950. He was a Marine transport pilot in World War II.

A Chinese Communist spokesman charged in May 1954 that Buol was "assisting Chiang Kai-shek's brigades to wage civil war against the Chinese people."

Bentley, Cobo Forces Meet

GOP Parley Delegates Beat Drums for Likely Governor Candidates

MACKINAC ISLAND (AP)—Forces supporting Mayor Albert E. Cobo of Detroit and congressman Alvin M. Bentley of Owosso for the Republican nomination for governor met on the field today for the first time at the Michigan Republican party's "Forward to '56" conference at the Grand Hotel.

Badges declaring "I am for Bentley for Governor" appeared in the conference halls as almost 600 delegates arrived for the conference.

Hadley Walker, former Saginaw County GOP chairman, said he was aware that the purpose of the conference was not to promote individual candidates, but that since Bentley was visiting in Europe his supporters wanted to tell other Republicans how they felt about him.

Walker pledged his group to avoid a "bitter primary fight" and said it would support any other candidate who proved satisfactory to a majority of Michigan Republicans.

BACKS COBO

At the same time Ben Calvin, former Bay County chairman and wealthy Bay City cement manufacturer, was beating the corridor drums for Cobo.

He predicted confidently that Cobo would enter the race by the Jan. 1 deadline which the Detroit mayor has set for his decision.

Neither Cobo nor Bentley was at the conference.

Woman Revives Drayton Youth

Former Hospital Aide Responsible for Saving Drowned Boy's Life

A 4-year-old Drayton Plains boy who apparently fell into the Clinton River while playing was revived by a former hospital emergency ward attendant yesterday.

Larry Graham, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Graham, of 4218 Hatchery Rd., was given artificial respiration by Mrs. Ralph Hornack, owner of a dry cleaning plant near the spot where Larry was found. She was an emergency attendant at St. Joseph Hospital for 11 years.

* * *

The boy was reported in good condition at Pontiac General Hospital today.

Mrs. Hornack, 45, was called by Billy Ayres, 5-year-old son of Mrs. Ernest Ayres, 4271 Dixie Hwy., who discovered the body.

Mrs. Ayres, called by her son, said she saw the boy partially submerged but could not reach him. She called for help and Ernest Keis, who lives next door, came running and pulled the unconscious boy from the water.

Mrs. Ayres, a cardiac victim, began applying artificial respiration. She sent Billy for Mrs. Hornack, who continued respiration until the Waterford Township Fire Dept. arrived.

"When I first saw the boy he wasn't breathing and was ice cold," Mrs. Hornack said. "But I thought the only thing I could do was try. I was told I worked 30 minutes.

Bloodiest Revolt in Nine Years On in Argentina

Predawn Battles Give Loyalists Edge Over Renegade Forces

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — Troops loyal to President Peron claimed today to have crushed two major rebel strongholds in predawn battles and said a strong force was at the gates of a third.

The tide thus appeared to be swinging sharply to the side of Argentina's strongman in the bloodiest rebellion he has faced in nine years of power.

The key points reported seized by the loyalist forces are the big naval base at Rio Santiago in southern Argentina and the army post at Curuzu-Cuatia in Entre Rios province about 32 miles north of Buenos Aires.

A few hours later, the pro-Peron war machine was reported to have rolled up to the gates of rebel-held Cordoba, strategic city of 350,000 in central Argentina 400 miles northwest of Buenos Aires, and demanded that the insurgents surrender.

The loyalist forces, which threatened a powerful attack, were identified as the 4th Infantry Regiment and the 3rd Antiaircraft Group, which had sped to the key point from Santa Fe barracks. Other loyalist troops also were reported converging on the key rebel command.

Another crucial encounter which would play a big part in determining the outcome of the rebellion, fourth attempt to oust Peron since the unsuccessful June 16 naval-led revolt, appeared imminent in the flatlands around the big naval base of Puerto Belgrano and the port of Bahia Blanca. This area is about 325 miles southwest of Buenos Aires.

The government sped troop reinforcements to the scene to back up the 5th Infantry Regiment in the Punta Alta sector. Punta Alta is a city of 26,000 midway between Puerto Belgrano and Bahia Blanca.

Maj. Gen. Franklin Lucero, Peron's "commander of repression," said there was "tranquillity" in the country except at the isolated rebel-held points. He said there were only two key points of insurgent resistance left, Cordoba and Puerto Belgrano.

'Juvenile Decency' Is Goal

Many Pontiac Organizations Combat Delinquency

(This is the final article in a series showing how communities across the nation are combating juvenile delinquency. Today's story concerns Pontiac's methods of meeting the challenge.)

Ten years ago Pontiac's east side was the core of the city's juvenile delinquency. Today it is the heart of a city-wide million dollar program to wipe out the two per cent of juvenile population that authorities term lawless.

The heart is provided in the form of the Boys Club of Pontiac Inc. Bill Coulacos, executive director of the club, had to shut the doors to membership this year at 1,519 boys due to lack of room.

The waiting list now stands at 345 and upwards of 900 are expected to apply by next January.

The membership represents 71 per cent of the boys from 7 to 18 years within a 1½-mile radius of the club that are eligible for membership.

The great work of the club, that provides almost every facility a young boy could want, is illustrated by a petition from north side residents to the United Fund Foundation to build a similar club in that area.

FACILITIES NEEDED

Probate Judge Arthur E. Moore, noted juvenile court authority in Oakland County, and Lt. Walter C. Krause, head of the juvenile section of the Pontiac Police, agree that more facilities are needed throughout the city.

Figures from Krause's office show a slight increase in juvenile cases in the last three years. In 1953, 249 cases of boys from 10 to 17 were handled. There were 182 first offenders, 67 repeaters and 117 went to juvenile court.

The following year 50 per cent of the 260 cases registered went before court. This year to date 85 of 158 boys arrested as juvenile offenders have appeared before Judge Moore.

The increase is attributed to an increase in population, Krause said. The increase calls for an expansion of facilities for youngsters, authorities declare.

The YMCA, the Boy Scouts, religious organizations that sponsor athletic and social events, City Parks and Recreation Dept. and numerous civic groups are carrying a large share of the fight against the delinquency problem.

900 'Y' MEMBERS

George Balch, youth director for the YMCA, said the 'Y' has more than 900 members, who participate in baseball, basketball, swimming leagues.

Emphasis is on community work. By sponsoring Hi-Y clubs in the high schools, the 'Y' enables kids to spend their spare time in club meetings pertaining to social, business and religious activities.

Judge Moore believes the existing problem could be lessened greatly by teaching family living in the schools and by using the schools to compensate for the lack of other facilities in the city.

"The cooperative efforts of the citizens to work with the youngsters instead of sending them to prison is doing the trick in combating the delinquency situation," Moore said.

PRAISES MAJORITY

James Hunt, director of Children's Services for Oakland County, said the public should give praise and attention to the majority, the good kids, as the trouble makers represent the minority.

"Let's give more credit to the kids on a football field," Hunt said. "We believe that there are multiple causes to the juvenile problem and it takes multiple cures. We believe that Pontiac's picture on the subject is not bad at all."

The Oakland County Child Guidance Clinic, the Big Brothers of Oakland County, the Kiwanis Club efforts in boys vocational work and Camp Oakland for underprivileged children greatly demonstrate that Pontiac citizens want to join other cities in boosting juvenile decency instead of juvenile delinquency.

Peron Troops Take 2 Rebel Strongholds

secretary, asserted that "at each moment the situation becomes more favorable for the loyalists."

The state radio said the 5th infantry regiment was in Bahia Vlanca awaiting "important reinforcements" to attack the insurgents. Rebel forces claimed yesterday they had captured Bahia Blanca, a big wheat port.

Eight Argentine naval vessels, which apparently had supported the rebel side, took refuge across the broad Rio de la Plata at Uruguayan ports.

Gov. Salvador Anania of Eva Peron province, which adjoins Buenos Aires province on the west, said today "complete calm" prevailed throughout his territory.

The governor said troops of the 13th Cavalry Regiment in Santa Rosa, provincial capital, and the 3rd Mounted Artillery Regiment from the town of Genera Pico had left early today for Bahia Blanca. He said the troops would join the 5th Infantry Regiment for an attack on naval rebels at Puerto Belgrano and Punta Alta.

The government broadcast claimed the tide was running in the loyalists' favor at all points mentioned.

'Political' Portrait of Nixon Labeled 'Dick McSmear'

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A lithograph depicting a likeness of Vice President Nixon has been removed from the San Francisco Art Festival on grounds that it is controversial.

Harold Zellerbach, president of the City Art Commission, said yesterday he had ordered removal of the color lithograph after receiving numerous complaints.

The lithograph depicts a likeness of Nixon wearing an eye-mask, in one hand was a bucket labeled "Smear" and a paint brush daubed in red. In the other hand was a pumpkin, apparently a reference to the "pumpkin papers" of the Alger Hiss case, which Nixon —as a U.S. senator—investigated.

The lithograph was titled "Dick McSmear." It was priced at $25.

Zellerbach said: "While I defend the right of artists to uninhibited self-expression, the proper form hardly appears to be a municipally-sponsored art festival."

Festival director Felix Rosenthal didn't agree.

The artist is Victor Arnautoff, an assistant professor of art at Stanford University. He said the work was a "political comment on McCarthyism."

Seek to Settle Morocco Crisis

De Latour left for Paris after a last-minute series of talks with the entourage of aging Sultan Mohammed Moulay Ben Arafa, whose delayed departure has been holding up reforms agreed to between the French and Moroccan nationalists.

Tension in Morocco was heightened just before De Latour's departure by a bombing incident. A grenade, thrown from a passing taxi, exploded on the terrace of a cafe, injuring six Europeans.

Ontario Girl Leaps to Death in Detroit

DETROIT (INS) — Police were wondering today why a pretty 22-year-old stenographer from Belle River, Ontario, leaped to her death yesterday from the 29th floor of the Guardian Building in downtown Detroit.

Theresa Caza was killed instantly in the plunge which was witnessed by only one passerby on a busy street behind the building.

John Sloan Jr., 30, an insurance adjuster, said he heard the body strike an iron guard rail at the base of the building and then fall to the pavement. He summoned a traffic officer.

The body was identified by Mrs. Betty Caza, 23, also of Belle River, a sister-in-law employed in the same building.

New York Post Gets Society Support in Plea for Jury Charge

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Post now has the backing of the American Society of Newspaper Editors and two other New York newspapers in a suit to have the transcript of a judge's charge to a jury made public.

The society yesterday filed a motion to be heard as a friend of the court in connection with the Post's appeal of its suit in the appellate division of the New York State Supreme Court.

* * *

Similar motions were filed individually by the New York Tribune and the New York Daily News.

* * *

The action started when Kings County Judge Samuel S. Leibowitz refused to let the Post have a transcript of his charge in the manslaughter trial of Policeman Robert Surrey.

* * *

Leibowitz offered today to join the Post and other newspapers in a petition for legislation to make stenographic minutes available to the press.

* * *

"As the law now reads," Leibowitz told the newspaper, "no one except a party of interest (a principal in the case) has the right to demand transcripts.

"As a judge I am bound by the law as it now stands."

Surrey, a probationary patrolman, was brought to trial after shooting and killing 15-year-old John F. Sterling.

* * *

After hearing Leibowitz's charge, a jury deliberated 10 minutes and then acquitted Surrey.

Leibowitz's refusal to release the transcript of his charge was upheld by the State Supreme Court, which ruled that only litigants in a case have a right to the transcript. The Post's appeal from this decision is now before the appellate division.

Philly Police Under Scrutiny

Commissioner Orders Investigation of Actions in Socialite Death

PHILADELPHIA (AP)— Police Commissioner Thomas J. Gibbons has ordered his personal staff to look into police handling of the investigation of the abortion death of Mrs. Doris Jean Ostreicher, 22-year-old food chain heiress.

* * *

Gibbons said the inquiry was prompted by a statement by Dist. Atty. Samuel Dash that men from the D. A.'s office had found instruments used for abortion purposes when they combed the apartment of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Schwartz last Monday night. Mrs. Ostreicher, an attractive bride of two months died in the apartment the night of Aug. 24.

Two earlier routine police searches failed to uncover the instruments.

INSTRUMENTS FOUND

Dash said the equipment was found in an unlocked cardboard chest of drawers in a hallway. He emphasized, however, that when the police made their initial search —the night of Mrs. Ostreicher's death—they had no inkling of the nature of the case, and on a subsequent visit, they were lacking a search warrant.

* * *

The Schwartz couple is scheduled for a magistrate's hearing Monday on charges of committing the actual abortion. The hearing would be the first legal step toward a possible trial. They also are charged with perjury for denying at an inquest that they had any knowledge of the circumstances leading to the wealthy young woman's death; with conspiracy, and with being an accessory in the alleged crime.

* * *

The dead woman's grief-stricken mother, Mrs. Gertrude Silver, also is charged both with conspiracy and with being an accessory.

Supervisors' Board to Consider Budget

Reports are also slated from the Roads, Salaries and Civil Defense Committees.

1956 Model Production Boosts Weekly Output

DETROIT (AP)—Production gains at Ford and Chrysler, both in 1956 model production, boosted this week's car assemblies to an indicated 122,646 units, Ward's Automotive Reports said today. Truck assemblies also moved up slightly to 18,598.

The agency compares these figures with a revised total of 79,940 cars and 15,038 trucks last week. In the comparable 1954 week 57,716 cars and 13,642 trucks were built.

Separated Twin Improving

Rodney Is 4 Years Old

CHICAGO (AP) — It was birthday No. 4 for Rodney Dee Brodie and the little boy who was born a head-joined Siamese twin made the most of it.

It was a day Rodney nearly missed. Last May the boy was brought to the University of Illinois Medical Center suffering from a deep brain hemorrhage that left him near death for several days.

* * *

But yesterday Rodney was all smiles as he was feted with two birthday cakes, ice cream and toys.

One of the cakes was baked by Rodney's grandmother and the other was supplied by the nurses. With just a little help Rodney blew out the candles.

* * *

Physicians said the boy is improving, but still is not fully recovered from the giant brain hemorrhage that nearly ended his life.

The doctors said Rodney doesn't walk as well as before but that his conversation still is as bright.

* * *

On Dec. 17, Rodney will have another anniversary. On this date in 1952 medical center surgeons separated Rodney from his brother Roger in a 12-hour operation that made medical history.

Roger died a month later without regaining consciousness.

The Day in Birmingham

Nurse Tells Children: Keep Your Pets Home!

BIRMINGHAM — School has started again, bringing many a child's separation from his dog after endless summer hours of play together.

It's a natural temptation to let the pet tag along with his master or mistress, but one which is held partly responsible for the 81 bites inflicted in Birmingham through August of this year.

So with the back-to-schools-days have come the pleas of City Health Nurse Anyce Gillette and Dog Warden Don Graham, "Please leave your pets at home!"

"Parents play an important part in enforcing this rule," said Mrs. Gillette, "but no matter how heartbreaking, it is for the protection of your own and other children, and your dog."

"You should also instruct your children not to pet or play with a strange dog," she advised. "A natural defense mechanism for a dog, should a child rush toward him, is to bite him."

MISTAKEN ACT

"Even worse is if your child is playing on the playground with a group of other boys and girls," she continued. "Their normal exuberation may be mistaken for an alien act by the child's own dog, whose first impluse is to protect his master or mistress.

"All this is not because the dog is cross but because he's responding to a strange situation. In any case, instruct your child to report any dog bite to the school immediately and to you when they return home," she asked.

Graham said he picks up an average of two dogs a day now and added that he is having particular trouble in the Quarton School area.

Progress on the Southeastern Oakland County Water Authority system, which will supply Birmingham with Detroit water, was reported on this week by City Manager Donald C. Egbert.

A 10-million gallon ground level storage tank and a one-million gallon elevated tank are now being constructed near William Beaumont Hospital, as is another one-million gallon tank south of 14 Mile road and east of Edgewood.

Egbert explained that the latter must have an elevation 10 feet above the overflow elevation of Birmingham's tank system. That particular site was chosen because the entire block could be purchased, making it possible to properly landscape the area as a protection to nearby residents.

The Kiwanis Club and YMCA have extended thanks to those who contributed to the success of last Sunday's benefit polo game, at Ivory Field with proceeds enabling both organizations to further their youth work.

Birmingham Ramblers took the game from the Royal Oak Acorns in the last three minutes of play. Davey Williams made the final goal, for a score 10-8.

Participating will be Roger Ulrich of the junior department; James St. Aubin, intermediate; Lloyd Grosscup, senior; and John Fall, who served as a camp counselor.

* * *

Starting Monday, a series of morning coffee hours will be held for mothers whose children attend Quarton School. From 10 to 11:30 a.m. Monday, fifth grade mothers will meet as follows:

Cop Kidnaper Held on Robbery Charges

DETROIT (INS)—An unemployed toolmaker-guitar player, who kidnaped two Dearborn policemen Thursday and threatened to kill them during a 90-minute ride in their squad car, today faces possible charges of armed robberies in the Detroit area.

Clyde M. Stanley will be viewed in a police lineup either today or Monday by victims of recent bank, loan office and bar holdups. He is already in trouble for kidnaping the two policemen, jumping bond on a bad check charge and beating his wife.

In addition, inquires will be made in St. Louis and Chicago, where Stanley visited recently to see whether he may be implicated in any crimes in those cities.

The 38-year-old man admitted no holdups when he was captured yesterday in Detroit. He said, however, he intended to commit some as soon as he killed his wife, Anna, 42.

Judge Wants Cars Held to 70 M. P. H.

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—A Baltimore judge thinks federal legislation should be enacted to require manufacturers to hold the speed of automobiles to 70 miles an hour.

Judge Stanley Scherr, chief magistrate of Baltimore's Traffic Court, brought up the proposal in a speech before the Norfolk Citizens Committee for Traffic Safety.

"It doesn't make sense for cars to be made so that speeds up to 120 miles per hour can be attained," he said.

"All the safety meetings in the world will do no real good until power is cut down on modern automobiles."

Pontiac Man Is Held

Pontiac Police today held Ronald L. Frier, 21, of 208 W. Fairmount Ave., on charges of contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

Officers stopped Frier, who was accompanied by a juvenile, yesterday for a minor traffic violation and discovered three empty and two full bottles of beer in Frier's car.

The juvenile was released on a juvenile bond.

Stymied Older Workers May Get Help From Labor Heads; Ike Joins Cause

WASHINGTON (AP)—"We are going to have a revolution of old men," a visitor in Denver remarked the other day, "and I am going to be in it."

* * *

The speaker was President Eisenhower. Although he was half joking it was the second time in a week the President had referred publicly to the growing employment problem among older folks. One was in a Labor Day statement, the other during a tour of the new Air Force Academy at Denver.

* * *

Too many workers, Eisenhower said, are being denied jobs because they are 45 or older "and this waste of valuable skills and talents must be eliminated."

These are not mere offhand comments. The government has determined to do something about the older worker situation. It has obtained a special fund from Congress and mapped a detailed battle plan against the problem.

The Public Health Service figures the average life span at the beginning of this century was 47, it's now 69, and by 1980 it will be 80 plus. In 1900 there were about three million individuals aged 65 or over, but this figure has grown to 12½ million today and is expected to exceed 18 million by 1980.

Secretary of Labor Mitchell, whose department is taking the whole matter quite seriously, says that by 1975 half the adult population will be 45 or older.

As Mitchell views it, either older people are going to be provided jobs so they may support themselves, or younger people will be saddled with the cost of taking care of them.

* * *

The Labor Department has set out to prove that whatever reasons there may have been in the past against hiring the older worker, they no longer exist.

The department says the nature of jobs have changed: Where considerable musucular strength once was required, the premium now is on qualities peculiar to the older worker: dependability, responsibility, judgment, breadth of experience.

The department contends, also, the older worker himself has changed — a man 45 has more youth and vigor because he has taken better care of himself, and has more skill and education than a person of the same age years ago.

Sports Figures, Ike to Confer

Set Session to Discuss Building Nation's Youth Athletic Programs

DENVER (AP) — President Eisenhower today invited 139 sports world figures, top educators and leaders in other fields to a Sept. 27-28 conference here on building the physical fitness of America's youth.

The purpose of the conference is to get more youngsters out of the spectator grandstands and into active participation in athletics.

The President has expressed concern that lack of such participation is responsible in part for increasing juvenile delinquency, and for failure of so many young people to measure up to selective service requirements.

As announced previously, Vice President Nixon will preside at the two-day conference at Eisenhower's vacation headquarters here. The President will receive the conferees' recommendations and speak at a dinner concluding the sessions.

Those invited to the conference from the sports world include:

Bobby Jones, the former grand slam champion of golf; Gene Tunney, former heavyweight boxing champ; Rogers Hornsby, one-time baseball great and now director of youth activities for the Chicago Park District; baseball Commissioner Ford Frick; Clarence "Biggie" Munn, athletic director at Michigan State University; Kenneth L. Wilson, president of the U. S. Olympic Committee; and Army Maj. Sammy Lee, Olympic diving champion.

Cases of Polio Show Decrease in Pontiac Area

Monroe, Pontiac and county health director. None of the cases were of the paralytic type, Monroe said.

A breakdown of both city and county reports, along with comparative figures for the previous week and a year ago, follows:

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — A proposed health budget for next year totaling $105,753, including an expanded health program of $34,800, has been submitted to the Kent County Board of Supervisors' Health Committee. Salary increases in the proposal are increased $5,000 over last year.

Son, Daughter Find Lost Dad, $11,000

AMARILLO, Tex. (AP)—A son and daughter were due here today to take Pietro Calderaro, and $11,000 he had in a paper sack when officers took him off a bus Thursday, back to Los Angeles.

Mrs. John Corcoran said the money had been saved over a period of years to buy a home. Calderaro, 67, has been reported missing three times since Sept. 9, the daughter said.

Officers took him from an eastbound bus here when other passengers claimed he had caused a disturbance. "That's my money and it's nobody's business where it came from," Calderaro told police.

Kerr Demands Benson Ouster

Senator Says Secretary Is Responsible for Drop in Farm Income

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Kerr (D-Okla) said today Secretary of Agriculture Benson should be removed from office because he is "directly responsible" for the continuing decline in farm income.

Kerr made plain in an interview that he does not think President Eisenhower will fire Benson, long a prime target of Democratic criticism.

* * *

The senator said Benson's removal would require a "political operation"—a Democratic victory in next year's presidential election which, Kerr said, is the only hope for the nation's farmers.

Kerr declared Benson is "still playing hop, skip and jump with the welfare of the American farmer" and is trying "to hypnotize the farmers into thinking they're well off, as he's been doing for 2½ years."

POLITICAL FOOTBALL

The senator was commenting on Benson's news conference statement late yesterday that the farm situation is a real problem but one which the Eisenhower administration inherited from previous Democratic regimes.

The agriculture secretary called for "serious, nonpartisan consideration" of the problem. Without naming names he deplored efforts of persons who, he said, are trying to make a "political football" out of the growing spread between falling prices farmers are receiving for their products and rising prices they have to pay for goods they must buy.

* * *

Yesterday Claude R. Wickard, a secretary of agriculture in past Democratic administrations, kept up his party's attack on the GOP farm record when he told the Wabash County (Ind.) Democratic committee the Eisenhower administration has not kept its pledges to farmers "by any standards."

Love-Spurned Widow Kidnaps Burma GI

RANGOON, Burma (AP) — An attractive 24-year-old widow kidnaped a soldier and carried him off to sea as his commanding officer looked on here yesterday.

The odd elopement took place after Ma Hla Kyi—well-to-do and with many offers of marriage in her books—pleaded with Maung Nyein Maung to return her love.

He refused. The merry widow whipped a dagger out of her sarong and escorted the reluctant Romeo to a waiting sampan.

There was no word of them tonight.

Reunion Brings Brothers Together After 75 Years

LOUISA, Ky. (AP)—Two brothers in their 90's have a lot of talking to do the next few days.

* * *

They were reunited Friday for the first time in 75 years.

It was a time for tears when Paris Blankenship, 90, walked up to the home of his brother, Dan, 95, and introduced himself.

He was returning from a junket in the West that started when he was 15. A job in Minnesota first delayed his return. Travel and other jobs in other states kept him far from home.

* * *

The last correspondence the brothers had was 40 years ago when Paris wrote Dan for money. Dan sent $30.

Paris said he has no plans for the future—not even another trip.

August Housing Up, Labor Office Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Labor Department reported today housing construction spurted ahead in August after a lag in July.

In another index of the homebuilding boom, the Veterans Administration said GI home loan guarantee applications last month hit a five-year high.

Builders started construction on an estimated 123,000 new homes in August, or 8,000 more than in July, the Labor Department said. The August figure exceeded all previous totals for the month exceptin the record 1950 year.

Color Bar Defeated in Arkansas Game

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — White and Negro students played together for the first time last night on an Arkansas high school football team.

* * *

With only three minutes left to be played, William Hays, Fayetteville Negro fullback, entered the game to break the segregation tradition. The crowd didn't react when Hays went into the game, but it cheered him lustily when he carried the ball for a 3-yard gain.

Fayetteville defeated Siloam Springs 27-12.

Negroes were integrated with white students in Fayetteville's school system shortly after the U. S. Supreme Court ruled that racial segregation in public schools is unconstitutional.

He Doesn't Like Things That Make Women Pretty

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—A 12-year-old boy told police he had slashed women's shoes and purses in several Little Rock department stores this week because he didn't "like things that make women pretty."

Police Capt. A. V. Haynie said the boy was arrested yesterday when a department store clerk saw him drop a razor blade when he picked up a shoe from a display.

Haynie said the boy had damaged several hundred dollars worth of merchandise. The child was turned over to juvenile court authorities. His name wasn't revealed.

THE WAY to RICHES
The way to spiritual riches is to do what our Service Clubs do.
Our Service Club Members have a "yen" to build credits for completing civic improvements; they increase their wealth by returning a dot of service to a city that lives and grows, whose very existance begins and ends with assistance (service).
We mustn't forget the person who runs next door to wash the dishes, straighten the house, bring a cookie, bowl of soup or just a cheery word to a neighbor who is ill; there are the men who cut the lawn or clean the walk for a friend on vacation; there are other ways to build riches but I know of none that are as easy.

Constitution Week

Pursuant to a resolution of Congress the seven day period beginning September 17 is being celebrated nationally as Constitution Week.

It was on this date 168 years ago that a majority of the delegates signed our Federal Constitution. Rhode Island was the only one of the 13 states not represented.

★ ★ ★

In the separate conventions chosen in the states to pass on the Constitution, ratification was unanimous or by wide majorities. Delaware was first to ratify. Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Georgia, Connecticut, South Carolina, Maryland and North Carolina followed in that order. Acceptance came only by narrow margins, however, in Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Virginia, New York and Rhode Island.

★ ★ ★

Most of the objectors in 1787 believed the Constitution bestowed too much power on the central government at the expense of the states. After all, the delegates had been chosen not to draft this new constitution, but only to revise the Articles of Confederation. Under those Articles each state had in effect a veto power over almost everything.

Others objected to the Constitution on the ground that it lacked a Bill of Rights. They were promised that one would be added at once. As a result we have the immortal First Ten Amendments which are the real foundation of our civil and political liberties.

★ ★ ★

Observance of Constitution Week is a splendid idea. It gives us Americans a fine opportunity to reread and reevaluate our basic law. So well did the Founding Fathers do their work that in addition to the Bill of Rights it has been necessary to amend the Constitution only 11 times.

Cambodia's Ex-King Wins

Consider Cambodia's abdicated King.

He is no Oriental playboy. Not only did he win his country's freedom from French colonial rule, he led its army against the invading Viet Minh Communist forces. Also he encouraged his diplomats to stand up against Molotov and Chou En-Lai last year at Geneva.

★ ★ ★

Last March in a surprise broadcast from Pnompenh, his capital, Norodom Sihanouk confessed failure as king to crush corruption. Therefore he begged his people to release him "from his gilded cage" by allowing him to abdicate.

After that he campaigned in an American convertible escorted by an attractive songstress and a loud jazz band. His electioneering was done for the Sangkum Party—the Socialist People's Community—which he founded.

★ ★ ★

Several organizatoins including the Indochina Armistice Commission strongly criticized Sihanouk's plans for a referendum on his rule which favored him 99.9 per cent. His plans for election of a new National Assembly also were under attack. But when the recent vote counting was completed Sihanouk had won a landslide victory.

★ ★ ★

Whether or not Cambodia regains its unusual king, there is room for American satisfaction over his victory. Nordodom Sihauouk is one of the ablest of the Far East leaders in the fight against Communism. He stands for a strengthened parliamentary monarchy with a measure of "democracy the people can understand."

Quicker Beef Profits

One of chemistry's latest gifts to mankind is a magic powder with an unpronouncable name, said to speed the growth of beef cattle.

The chemical name of the powder, diethylstilbestrol, has been shortened to stilbestrol. According to the Wall Street Journal, cattle feeders report that animals fed stilbestrol added 3.46 pounds a day in weight.

This is three-quarters of a pound more than gained by a similar group fed the same ration without the additive. More important, the growers said their production costs were cut by five or six cents a pound after paying the added cost of the chemical.

Stilbestrol went on the market only last January. So rapidly has its fame spread, however, that half the cattle feeders in Iowa are using it. If what the feeders and college experts say about it proves true, all the cattle raisers in the country soon will be depending on it for quicker beef profits.

★ ★ ★

Anything that benefits the beef industry, indirectly benefits our entire national economy. One can hope that the savings made possible by this chemical can be passed on to the consumer.

Solons Seek One Agency to Guide Institutions

By JACK I. GREEN

LANSING—The rising row over Michigan's backlog of mentally retarded children is stimulating proposals for a single agency responsible for all state institutions.

• • •

The row was touched off this week when legislative committees were unable to get what they considered adequate data from the State Mental Health Department and the State Health Department to help them resolve a dispute over the conflicting demands of mental and tuberculosis hospitals.

Legislative leaders find themselves in an unhappy position.

None of them yet has indicated any desire to shrug off the problem of ending a 1,221 list of mentally retarded children waiting admittance to state hospitals.

But they are told by some people they should close a TB hospital and convert it to a mental hospital. They are told by others that the state can't afford to close a TB institution, even though there are a lot of empty beds in state and county institutions.

• • •

They are told they should move the old Boys' Vocational School from its site in the heart of Lansing—and they are presented then with demands that the boys' school be converted into some other type of institution, possibly for mental patients.

CONFLICTING ADVICE

They are told they should rent a hospital, build one, expand existing ones and, of course, do nothing because sufficient trained personnel won't be available anyway.

• • •

The lawmakers have just gone through about two years of bitter haggling over the construction of a new prison.

And they see more of these highly technical problems facing them in the future.

Now whether you are inclined to be sympathetic toward the Legislature or not, this is kind of a tough situation for its members. Few of them have the technical and social backgrounds necessary to make these decisions unaided.

• • •

Being more Republican than Democrat, the Legislature does not trust Gov. Williams as a guide in these uncharted woods.

And when they find various state agencies clamoring for conflicting solutions of their problems, the lawmakers are ready to try something else.

WANTS ONE AGENCY

So it is not surprising to find such a hard-headed legislative veteran as Sen. Elmer R. Porter (R-Blissfield) suddenly bursting out that what the state needs is one agency administering all these institutions.

• • •

Porter is chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee and an important legislative cog.

He spoke obviously of mental institutions, TB hospitals, prisons, boy and girl reform schools and similar health and welfare agencies.

The same sentiment was voiced this week angrily by Sen. Lynn O. Francis (R-Midland) when he was unable to get what he considered satisfactory answers from the Mental Health Department.

Francis said maybe it would be a good idea to reorganize all these welfare and social agencies into one department.

Patron Saint of Aviators, St. Joseph, Was Alarming but Warm, Humble Person

By DR. HOWARD V. HARPER

St. Joseph of Cupertina must have been an alarming sort of fellow. He could almost fly. You might be walking along with him, quietly talking, and all of a sudden he wouldn't be there—he had taken a notion to jump up into a tree.

Naturally, St. Joseph is the patron saint of aviators. The saint, however, needed no airplane for his flights. There are many stories of his extraordinary leaps. Once, on Christmas Eve, he was so moved by the carols that, vestments and all, he bounded with a shout from the choir to the high altar and landed there so lightly that the candles did not even shake. From the altar he leapt effortlessly to the pulpit—a distance of 15 feet.

Of course, no one ever got to be a saint just because he was an expert jumper, and certainly it was not this sort of thing that brought canonization to St. Joseph.

He was a strange, humble man who won the hearts of all who met him. His penetrating insights into the depths of men's minds and motivations encouraged princes and cardinals to come to him for advice, while his simple affectionate manner brought many sick people to him for the healing that was in his touch.

Joseph died on September 18, in 1663.

FAST OF GEDALIAH

Monday, the first day following Rosh Hashanah, is the Jews' Fast of Gedaliah.

When the Babylonian king, Nebuchadnezzar, destroyed Jerusalem and carried away most of the nation into slavery (600 B.C.), he left behind a few farmers and their families, under the supervision of Gedaliah, son of Ahikam.

Things were progressing well under Gedaliah's leadership. Farms were being brought back into shape, and there was even some rebuilding going on in some of the towns. But everything was wrecked when a few hot-headed traitors murdered Gedaliah and the small garrison of soldiers Nebuchadnezzar had stationed there. Many of the farmers took their families and fled in terror to Egypt. The rest, 745 in number, were either killed or taken to Babylon, and the country was left desolate, populated only by wild beasts.

According to Jewish belief, man's destiny is written in the Book of Life on Rosh Hashanah, which was last Saturday and yesterday, but the final seal is not put on until Yom Kippur, ten days later. If the wicked man will repent during this interim, the degree will be modified and he will still be given this interim, the decree will be modified and he will still be given a good New Year.

FIRST WOMAN MARTYR?

St. Tecla of Icomium, honored Friday in the Western part of the Church and Saturday in the Eastern, is a person about whom nothing definite is known.

But the scholars' rejection of her story did not prevent her from becoming a very real person in the minds and hearts of the Christians of the first several centuries. There was a period when she was considered the greatest woman in Church history. When St. Jerome, for example, said of a lady named Melania that she was "another Tecla," he was using a common expression of the time that was the highest praise any woman could receive.

The account tells that Tecla was of a noble family in Iconium, that she was converted by St. Paul's preaching, and that she was among his companions on one of his trips to Antioch. That much is not at all difficult to believe.

But legend creeps in with its unusual dramatic additions, saying that she was three times condemned to death and that the executioners were not able to carry out the sentence. She was thrown to the lions, cast into a pit of snakes, and burned at the stake, yet neither beast, serpent nor flame did her any harm. "Facts" such as these caused the book to be questioned.

There are conflicting traditions about her death. The western Church holds that she died peacefully at Seleucia, but in the East she is believed to have been the first woman martyr in Christian history.

Case Records of a Psychologist

Child's Stuttering Habit Will Disappear If Neurotic Parents Will Stop Scolding

Danny's parents will cause him to become a confirmed stutterer if they don't stop making an issue of his speech difficulty. "Toddler stuttering" disappears spontaneously if neurotic parents will leave the child alone. And for advice regarding adult stuttering, study the triangular pattern described below.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case P-342: Danny R., aged 3, is a bright little boy.

"But, Dr. Crane, we are so worried about him," his mother exclaimed.

* * *

"For Danny is beginning to stutter horribly. Everybody notices it, and we are so afraid it might become permanent.

"I've tried to correct him and so has his Daddy, but that seems to make it worse.

"We are at the end of our wits. What do you psychologists advise in such a case for we don't want him handicapped by stuttering all his life?"

Stuttering is a normal and natural stage in the development of children of pre-school age.

* * *

For when bright youngsters like Danny get excited and wish to express themselves, they have a much larger "understanding" vocabulary than their "speaking" vocabulary.

HARDER TO SPEAK

And that is the natural result in learning any new language. If you adults ever studied Spanish or German or French in high school, you may recall that you could understand the written and spoken language better than you could speak it yourself.

* * *

If Danny's neurotic parents will just remedy their own tense personalities and leave Danny alone, he will get over this normal stage of stuttering in a year or two.

For then his "speaking" vocabulary will overtake his "understanding" vocabulary.

If, however, they make an issue of his perfectly normal toddler stuttering and get him self-conscious and fearful, then they can actually "set" that stuttering a a permanent handicap to his personality.

* * *

A cardinal rule of child psychology states that parents should ignore the toddler stage of stuttering and never make an issue of it or "bawl out" the child.

TONGUE BITING

One of the best and quickest remedies is for the stutterer to alter his normal conversational pattern at (3) above, as by biting his tongue between his molar teeth.

* * *

Then keep the tongue imprisoned between those teeth and try to carry on conversation. This simple trick can work wonders in helping free a confirmed stutterer from his nuisance habit of stuttering.

But never entrench ordinary childish stuttering by making an issue of it, as Danny's mother has been doing.

Send for my bulletin on "Stuttering."

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and a dime to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his psychological charts.

Reader Says Chamomile Tea Remedy Closed Varicose Ulcer in Only 3 Days

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
Questions & Answers

Please send me the "Somersaultauqua." Having reached the ripe old age of 60 I feel I should start rolling. Have enjoyed your column for years. Hope your "kinks" are all gone and that you are happily gamboling on the bowling green . . . (Mrs. O. V.)

Answer — Thank you, Ma'am. They are and I am. But why the heck didn't you follow my advice when you were supple? Any one past forty begins rolling at his or her own peril. For instructions send stamped, self-addressed envelope and ask in writing, signed, for the pamphlet on Somersaults — forward rolls.

I have three sons, the oldest and youngest are trained, but the middle one wets the bed two or three nights a week . . . he is only three, but . . . (W. D. V.)

Answer — At that age, and older, I believe, I was in the same predicament. Tell the damp kid he'll make it, all right — and when he does go dry I hope he'll be an absolute teetotaler for the rest of his life, just like Ol' Doc Brady. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope and ask in writing, signed, (a clipping will bring no reply) for the pamphlet The Bed-Wetting Habit.

Two years ago it took three months to heal a varicose ulcer wrapped with silicone and woven elastic bandage. This summer your chamomile tea poultice closed a bigger one in 72 hours! (Mrs P. M. W.)

Answer — Oh, come now. For instruction send stamped, self-addressed envelope and ask in writing for pamphlet on Varicose Veins and Varicose Ulcer.

Please give your opinoin of Pasteur treatment to prevent rabies. (G. L. A.)

Answer — My advice — no. My personal opinion — in no conceivable circumstance would I submit to such treatment. The only advice I'd give in any case is "Do as your physician thinks best."

I've been having trouble with pyorrhea and hope it is not too late. Also slight pain in left arm . . . (C. A. E.)

Answer — It's usually too late by the time that meaningless name is applied to it. Send 25c and stamped, self-addressed envelope and ask for No. 1 Little Lesson Save Your Teeth.

Daughter three months pregnant — second child. She has been taking Iodin Ration for the past year. Should she continue it through pregnancy — and would the coming baby benefit . . .? (Mrs. L. M.)

Answer — She should consult her physician about that. In the pamphlet The Iodin Ration — available on written, signed, request if you provide stamped, self-addressed envelope — I say: One-tenth of a milligram of iodine a day is approximately the minimum required to maintain the health of child or adult. I tell how to get the minimum daily requirement, but that's all.

In the past we used boric acid, with no dire results, in hospital, nursery and home. Yet today we are warned that it is dangerous, and even the doctor advised us to discard it . . . (—, R. N.)

Answer — It was all a false alarm — typical of the way the "science" writers interpret prematurely published "reports" for Yankee readers. The physicians who made the original startling report of "poisoning" of infants by boric acid presumably absorbed through the skin, a few months later retracted.

First druggist told me he had no sulfur. The next two said they couldn't fill out the recipe without a prescription . . . (Mrs. F. W.)

Answer — That's absurd. Any druggist can sell over the counter any of the items the recipe for the acne (blackheads and pimples) lotion calls for, separately or send stamped, self-addressed envelope and ask in writing, signed, (Clippings bring no reply) for the pamphlet on ACNE (Blackheads and Pimples.)

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long, pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to the Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Mich.

Helen Ferguson Outlines Objectives of Dog Week

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

Home in America is the theme for this year's observance of National Dog Week, sponsored by the Dog Welfare Guild, Sept. 18-24. The slogan is Member of the Family.

This year's design by Albert Staehle depicts well the wonderful family unity that is strengthended by 'man's best friend,. An important member of the family as a companion and protector, the dog earns his elevated position.

The splended qualities of the dog must not be overlooked, love, loyalty, watchfulness and courage which he gives with no thought of reward. In an effort to repay in part for the dog's unselfish devotion to man the National Welfare Guild works tirelessly to better the welfare of all dogs, to fight unfair legislation, to expand knowledge of specific dog diseases and to speak courageously as national spokesman for the dog when he needs a companion.

This year's observance will be under the sponsorship of Guy Lombardo, famous orchestra leader.

The seven-point objective of National Dog Week are a good home for every dog; elimination of stray dogs from the streets; better dog owners; teaching of consideration for dogs and all animals; emphasis of the dogs's use as companion; helper and home protector; securing fair laws for dogs and their owners; teaching respect for the rights of non-dog owners.

Cites East Coast Flood as Predicted Tidal Wave

I am always sorry for the underdog, who in all sincerity speaks on behalf of his fellow man, hoping to avert tragedy whenever possible.

Such was the case of Dr. Laughead. He spoke sincerely of a tidal wave and for his mentioning God in the same breath, saying "God showed me . . ." he was made the laughing stock by the country, his colleagues, and brain busters the nation over.

He did err in giving the correct locality, but men ever err, such as happened to him for speaking what had been revealed to him.

In the eastern states it will be a long time before they have their localities back in shipshape after the tidal wave destroyed many sites with many lives lost.

And in the same breath I would like to draw attention to the vast number of denials and assumed correct answers to the phenomenal, strange lights that have been appearing in the sky, as well as the many daylight nights we have been having.

Experience is ever a very good teacher, and before denying the strange sights in the heavens it would be well, for those who have denial uppermost in their minds, to watch the heavens in the night and see the strange shimmer of light as well as other phenomena. Not once but a month will disclose more.

'Provide School Buses for Children's Safety'

It is my opinion for the safety of small children who go to school, buses should pick them up and bring them home. The junior highs and high school have all the buses.

Those children are big enough to take care of themselves. The Linda Vista School now at Emerson does not get out until 4:30, the time when traffic is heavy. The city buses charge a dime and drop them off at Perry which is a good three blocks away.

That is a long way for little children, and a lot of things can happen in three blocks, especially for little girls. But the buses won't go to the school yard to pick them up and they still have to pay the dime. That is 20 cents a day for a child.

I think the little boys and girls are entitled to a little more safety, don't you?

Better Class Tokyo Bars Shut Doors to Foreigners

TOKYO (INS) — Foreigners are being kept out of most better-class Japanese bars, cabarets and night clubs in Tokyo today because of a widespread discriminatory policy which admits "Japanese only."

The discrimination is enforced against any "foreigner" and is not confined to Americans.

* * *

Foreigners, largely, are admitted only to certain bars and clubs which cater almost exclusively to a foreign trade.

Servicemen in uniform are automatically barred from most establishments under any circumstances. Many bars post their own "off limits" signs to enforce this policy.

But civilians in civilian clothing are equally brushed off with a polite but firm "For Japanese only" in most quarters.

POLICY WIDESPREAD

The anti-foreign policy is widespread. Two foreign newsmen, one American and one German, were refused admission to 10 public bars and cabarets in the space of one hour while testing the extent of the policy during the past weekend.

Tests in various parts of Tokyo, including Shimbashi, Ginza, Shibuya and Shinjuku—areas where foreigners are likely to seek nightly entertainment—all resulted in the two newsmen being denied admission.

Igor Oganesoff, correspondent for Business International, and Wolfgang Menge, writer for Die Welt of Hamburg, conducted their test after being barred from the Junjo Bar in Shinjuku.

This correspondent confirmed the foreigner-exclusion policy with visits to four Shimbashi establishments.

LANGUAGE BARRIER

Most establishments, when pressed, explain they do not admit foreigners mainly because of language difficulties.

* * *

For this reason, foreigners are often admitted when accompanied by Japanese.

Japanese themselves often are unaware of the discriminatory policies being practiced against foreigners because they themselves are not exposed to it and foreigners accompanying them often are exempted.

Other reasons given by bar and club owners for excluding foreigners are: That the presence of foreigners, civilians or not, invariably results in inspections by U. S. Military Police which is disturbing to regular patrons; that Americans are usually loud and boisterous and do not know how to mix in Japanese company; and that there is often "trouble" with foreigners who get out of hand.

* * *

Whatever the reason, the impression is clear-cut to a disgruntled American or German who has the door slammed in his face —foreigners are being discriminated against.

Disney's Park Attracting More Adults Than Kids

(A Short Trip with Walt Disney: Part 2.)

By BOB THOMAS

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP)—Walt Disney swung his car up to a side gate of Disneyland and was scrutinized by a guard who then waved him through with "Hi, Walt!"

The creator of the fabulous amusement park was greeted that way by many of his employes as he tramped around the place in an hour's tour. Quite a few of the children recognized him from his TV show and asked for autographs. Before assenting, he would glance around.

* * *

"It's all right to stop if no one else sees you," he confided. "But if you start to draw a crowd around, you can never get out."

He started the tour in Pioneerland, hopping onto a keelboat named the Gullywhumper which was tied along the river shore.

"We used two of these in one of our new Davy Crockett shows," he said, inspecting the craft. "I'm going to fix them up for riding on the river, along with our paddle-wheeler, the Mark Twain. I also want to get some Indian war canoes. The kids'll like that."

* * *

Disney then climbed on the coal car of the freight train and conversed with the engineer. As the train circled Disneyland, he talked of some of his plans for the place—plastic Indians to be hidden along the stagecoach ride, a Mickey Mouse circus at Christmas time, an International Settlement to be sponsored by individual countries.

He walked into the newly opened Davy Crockett Museum, tried to bag himself a bear in the shooting gallery, drank some apple cider. In Fantasyland, he inspected the Dumbo ride. Pausing for a few moments in the Mickey Mouse Theater, he seemed to enjoy the filming of a Donald Duck cartoon.

* * *

In Tomorrowland, he visited a new art exhibit and reminisced about when he studied painting in Chicago—"I was too impatient to get on to other projects." Some tourists wanted him to pose for photos and he did so while watching model airplanes speed in circles.

Disney remarked that the explorer boats in Adventureland have proven the most popular feature in the park. That's the river ride that has wild animals jumping up at you. It cost $400,000 to create.

* * *

The producer stopped for a chocolate milk shake on the New Orleans Waterfront and discussed the first two months' operation of Disneyland.

Is it a success?

"Oh, yes. No doubt about it. Attendance has been very satisfactory. Our only problem is adjusting the attendance, so crowds don't pile up at one time and thin out at others. . . .

* * *

"Right now we've got a lot of bills to pay. We found a million dollars worth of bills we didn't know we had. We'll certainly have a profitable operation, but we won't have the full picture until we've had a year's cycle. We're learning all the time."

A surprise so far: 70 per cent of the patrons are adults. Does he have any disappointments? He said he hadn't, but admitted that his enjoyment of a project was more in its planning than the operation.

Icardi Perjury Trial Date Set

Former OSS Lieutenant Entered Innocent Plea Against Lie Charge

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Feb. 1 date has been set for the trial of Aldo L. Icardi of Pittsburgh on perjury charges growing out of a congressional investigation of the World War II death of OSS Maj. William V. Holohan.

Federal Dist. Court Judge Matthew F. McGuire fixed the trial date yesterday, although Icardi's lawyer, Edward Bennett Williams, asked an April date to permit the interviewing of 52 persons abroad. Williams said he needs to talk to these people in preparing the defense.

Icardi, a former Army lieutenant, has pleaded innocent to charges he lied in telling a House committee two years ago he had nothing to do with Holohan's death by poison and shooting during a 1944 mission behind enemy lines in Italy. Icardi is free in $10,000 bond.

Icardi has been convicted in absentia by an Italian court which sentenced him to life imprisonment for Holohan's slaying. Former Sgt. Carl Lo Dolce received a 17-year sentence from the same court in connection with the same incident. But neither man can be extradited to Italy.

According to testimony at the Italian trial, Icardi challenged Holohan's opposition to equipping Communist partisans. Also figuring in the mystery is a $100,000 gold fund which Holohan reportedly had with him. This money is said to be missing.

Teenager Tells of Dad Killing

Youth Says He Pumped Four Bullets Into Father for Beating Mother

OTTAWA, Ill. (AP)—A prosecutor says a teenage high school boy gave this version of events in connection with the fatal shooting of the youth's father:

"I yelled for him to stop beating mom. He slipped on a rug, got up and started beating mom some more. I yelled at him again. Then I went into the kitchen, got a .22 rifle and came back.

FIRED FOUR TIMES

"He came toward me and I backed up. I told him to stop. When he didn't, I fired once and he kept coming. I fired the second bullet and he kept coming. I fired the third bullet and he kept coming. I fired a fourth time and he stopped and fell on the floor."

Dead, with all four bullets in the body, was Irwin Augenbaugh, 41-year-old farmer of near Mendota.

Held in the LaSalle County Jail after orally admitting the fatal shooting in their farm home Thursday was his son, William, 17, a high school junior.

State's Atty. Harland D. Warren said the mother and son told him William was struck by his father after he returned home late from school. When Mrs. Augenbaugh told her husband to stop beating William, he then started beating his wife.

Warren said Mrs. Augenbaugh related that she and her husband had just returned from a vacation in Wisconsin. She said her husband was drunk and she drove most of the way. She said he was infuriated when the son was absent from the farm and told her: "I'll kill that boy."

The youth is held without formal charge.

Zonta Club Hears Speaker Outline Benefits of College

Ira M. Smith Deplores the Fact That Many Students Cut Short Education

Ira M. Smith deplored the fact that so many of the young people starting college did not finish, and offered several remedies for the situation when he spoke before the Zonta Club of Pontiac at the Hotel Waldron on Thursday.

He first contrasted the college attendance of 4 per cent in 1900 with the 34 per cent enrollment in 1955 of the youths of college age. He then emphasized the money value of a college education, saying that while the average young persons had equal earnings at twenty years of age, at age sixty the college-educated man was 150 per cent ahead in income.

He hailed the new scholarships being offered for qualified students and reminded the group that the first applications needed to be in by October 14 of this year.

Mrs. Ruth Wait introducted the speaker, who was recently the registrar at the University of Michigan.

Mrs. Fotis Takis, president, announced that Mrs. Chadd Mellinger would be general chairman of the card party to be held Oct. 18 at the Roosevelt Temple on State avenue.

Try Stunts to Get Guests Mingling

By ELIZABETH WOODWARD

Vacation's over — with all its big and little excitements. New places visited. New friends made. The pattern of your daily routine at school is beginning to jell.

* * *

Maybe you're surrounded by a sea of new faces if you're starting in a new school. Maybe just a few new faces have been added to the collection of old familiars.

Socially, it's time you got acquainted. A party's just the way to do it. But a mixing and mingling party it should be — otherwise nobody's going to get to know anybody new.

* * *

To that end, here is a collection of stunts for the next aparty you plan. They take chance out of party fun. Try them and see.

Unwind serpentine streamers of different colors, and heap them on a tray with the ends dangling down on the sides.

The girls gingerly take one end of a streamer, while the boys take the other, and they carefully work their way through the mixup to find each other as partners.

JIGSAW PUZZLES

Decide what you want to cup up first. It would be footballs, hearts or silver stars. Cut them out of paper first, one for each couple. Then jigsaw them in half.

Put the matching halves in separate bowls. Girls pick from one, boys from the other, and they have to match their halves exactly to find their partners.

STRING THEM ALONG

Mount a big round hatbox on a broom handle so it can be easily carried and held aloft. Puncture the box on all sides so long strings can be threaded through, the long ends hanging.

The girls are to grab one end of the strings and the boys the other, and keep pulling until they see whom they've "caught" for a partner.

You could cut out a huge football and run strings in your school colors through it. Or you could cut out a pumpkin or a huge red heart or a Halloween witch's face and thread strings in appropriate colors for this stunt.

SCRAMBLES

Write on slips of paper the telephone numbers of all the girls present, but scramble them well. Give a slip to each boy. He'll then have to find out whose number he has. She's his next partner.

Scramble up the middle name of each boy and write it on a slip for the girls to unscramble.

Give out duplicate slips of paper with stunts written on them, one for each girl, the matching slip for a boy. The boys must "assume the angle" as directed on their slips, while the girls try to identify the statues described on theirs.

"Be a violinist"; "Be Rodin's Thinker"; "Be the Statue of Liberty"; "Be a golfer"; "Knit"; "Be a seagull in flight'. You can think of dozens more.

NUMBERS RACKET

Numbers stand for lots of well-known things, so write out the clues on one set of slips, and the answers on the other. They must be matched up, of course.

4711 is cologne; 57 is Heinz varieties; 1066 is the Battle of Hastings; there are 48 states; 12 doughnuts in a dozen; 356 days in a year; 52 cards in a bridge deck; and 32 is freezing. Go on from there.

FAMOUS WORDS

Patrick Henry said "Give me liberty or give me death." Barbara Fritchie said "Shoot if you must —." Mae West uttered a famous invitation.

And there are titles of movies, books and popular songs that everybody knows. Write them down and chop them in two pieces. The halves must be matched for partners.

Embroidered snowflakes highlighted the tulle over satin waltz-length gown worn by the bride. Pointed ruffled tulle finished with a band of satin accented the very full skirt. A cloche of beaded pearls and sequins secured her illusion veil and she wore a strand of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom. Her bouquet was a cascade arrangement of white pompons and stephanotis centered with a corsage of Talisman roses.

The gown was fashioned with a long torso and very full skirt accented by sheer paneling. She carried a cascade arrangement of bronze chrysanthemums with streamers of lovers-knots and plumosa.

Bridesmaid Discovers Date Mixup

Can't Take Part in Two Weddings on Same Day

By EMILY POST

"The early part of this year one of my girl friends became engaged and asked me to be the maid of honor at her wedding. I accepted gladly although no definite date had been set at that time. I only knew it was to be some time this fall.

"Two weeks ago another very close friend asked me to be a bridesmaid at her forthcoming wedding, which is to take place the end of September. Now the first friend called me and told me that she has set a date for her wedding and it happens to be the same day as the other wedding.

"This places me in a rather embarrassing position. I certainly can't take part in both weddings, but what do I do, having already said 'yes' to both? Can you help me?"

Answer: Having already promised the first one, you will have to explain to the second one that you cannot be a bridesmaid for her on that date.

"Dear Mrs. Post: Isn't it ill-bred not to apologize for dialing a wrong number? I have often gone to the telephone and have had the person on the other end hang up without a word of apology after discovering that he (or she) had the wrong number.

"This infuriates me and to my way of thinking is the height of rudeness. Will you please discuss this in your column?"

Answer: I agree with you. I think a person should always say "I'm sorry." All well-bred people would say this instinctively.

"Dear Mrs. Post: I have just received a printed announcement of the opening of a medical office by the son of friends of ours. Will you please tell me if this requires any acknowledgment? My husband thinks we should send flowers for good luck."

Answer: No, you don't do anything. His hope is that when you're sick you'll send for him.

Calls Alcoholism Very Serious

Bishop Tells Prelates to Urge Abstinence to American Youth

HONOLULU (RNS) — The House of Bishops of the Protestant Episcopal Church was told here that alcoholism is the most serious and most pressing problem in American social life.

* * *

"There is no point in American life at which the redemptive force of the church is more imperative than this field," he said.

The Rt. Rev. Edwin J. Randall, retired Suffragan Bishop of Chicago, urged the bishops to tell young people that the safest course is to leave alcoholic beverages alone altogether.

"Cocktail parties are getting to be a real danger," he said. "Young people get the desire for alcoholic liquors there."

* * *

Bishop Randall urged cocktail party hosts to offer non-alcoholic beverages as well as cocktails.

* * *

And he called upon the bishops themselves to be leaders in moral standards for young people.

The Rt. Rev. Henry Knox Sherrill of New York, the Church's Presiding Bishop, expressed the same sentiment. "Perhaps we should take a good look at ourselves," he said.

Calling on the convention to "face the facts" about "the decay of the Church's work in the heart of the city," he said:

"Either let us leave the city and frankly admit we are a church for the suburbia, or let us take up this challenge."

Bishop Burrill said there had been "a lack of real concern on the part of the Church for the teeming millions of people living in the heart of the city. The decay of the Church's work in the heart of the city is only matched by our seeming inability to meet this challenge."

He called for more funds to support missionary work in the nation's cities.

The Church, said the bishop, should "serve the neighborhood, bring in the foreign-born people of other races, the maladjusted, the restless young people."

Mayor Requests Literature Ban on Indecency

BALTIMORE, Md. (RNS) — Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro sent a list of 560 publications to Baltimore book and magazine distributors with the request that they refuse to sell them to youths. The list was compiled by the National Organization for Decent Literature.

The mayor took the action after calling a conference of distributors at which he made a plea that they "police their own industry." He said the city was "going to pioneer in decency."

Mayor D'Alesandro said the list was supplied to him by the Catholic Review, weekly newspaper of the Baltimore archdiocese. He added that the Decency Committee of the National Organization for Decent Literature which compiled its comprises representatives of various faiths.

Speaker Reminds Catholics to Shun 'Worldly Ideas'

ST. PAUL, Minn. (RNS) — The keynote speaker at the 20th annual convention of the International Federation of Catholic Alumnae here called on the delegates to shun worldly ideas of "the crowd" and hold fast to the principles of the Church.

Dr. Elizabeth Morrissy, professor of economics at the College of Notre Dame of Maryland, warned against "accepting blindly and without challenge prevailing ideas and fashions and the world's standards."

She said "fear to be thought different or out-of-date has a powerful influence on our actions and in a world organized on Godless principles it is easy to miss the sign at the crossroads and follow the crowd."

Young African Sings at Confab

Tribal Chieftain's Son Performs at Methodist Youth Convocation

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (RNS) — Eduardo Mondlane, the son of an African tribal chieftain, sang "God Bless Africa" in Zulu and warmed the hearts of 5,000 young Methodists here.

He drew a rousing ovation at the National Convocation of Methodist Youth after his bass solo, "Nkosi Sikelela Afrika," in Purdue University's Music Hall and some serious comment on South Africa's race problem.

Mr. Mondlane, 31, a graduate sociology student at Northwestern University, Evanston, Ill., introduced a screening of the English movie, "Cry, the Beloved Country," based on Alan Paton's novel of the same name.

"Whites own 83 per cent of the productive land in the Union of South Africa and control all of its business and government," he said.

"Natives are pushed around like sheep and forbidden to vote or to organize labor unions. The sense of revenge is natural and inevitable."

"Paton is fighting for the right of all men to come together as sons of God," he added. "Wherever we are, it is our duty to follow Christ's dictum to love our neighbors as ourselves."

Southern delegates applauded with everyone else at the close of the movie, which stars two famous Negro actors, Sidney Poitier and Canada Lee.

Several hundred delegates, returning to informal evening-prayer groups in their rooms in the university's dormitories and in fraternity and sorority houses, sat down on the lawn and sang hymns and camping songs.

Another large group gathered around the piano in the swanky lounge of the Purdue Memorial Union to sing a Negro spiritual.

Church Leaders Advocate New Citizen's Council

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (RNS) — Creation of a citizen's council of clergymen, labor leaders and employers to promote greater harmony in this industrial community is being advocated by church leaders here.

Twenty-five ministers of various denominations made the proposal at a recent meeting with representatives of the Ghamber of Commerce.

Business leaders had invited the clergymen to express their ideas "What's Wrong With Our Town?" at a special informal session.

Among other suggestions made by the ministers was that stores throughout the city remain closed on Sunday.

The clergymen also adopted a resolution designating the weekend of Sept. 16-18 as "The Civic Sabbath." They urged churches to emphasize the need for community leadership by Christians.

Catholic Church Announces Mission

Finest Mansion Serves Clergy

Pennsylvania Dwelling for Aged Missionaries Opened This Month

PITTSBURG, Pa. (RNS)—One of western Pennsylvania's finest mansions is a home for retired foreign missionaries of the United Presbyterian Church.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Earl M. Craig, long interested in foreign missionaries of that denomination, have deeded their luxurious residence near Beaver, Pa., to the United Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions.

Retired missionaries will find a permanent haven in the 22-room house.

* * *

Teachers, Pupils Begin Seabury Series Program

The teachers and pupils of the Church School of All Saints Episcopal Church are beginning a new program in three of their classes.

Known as the Seabury Series, the material is being used in the first, fourth and seventh grades It emphasizes the individual child in the Church School and his relationship with the church, rather than the child filling in a lot of blanks in a pupil's workbook.

The program, which has been subjected to six or seven years of intensive testing and experiments, emphasizes the importance of Christian education in the total life of the parish.

The series provides for classes in teacher training as well as adult class to accompany the classes in the Church School.

Walther Leaguers Meet for Convention

Larry Hannewald, district president and a member of the St. Trinity Lutheran Church, Pontiac, will preside at all business sessions at the annual Michigan District Walther League convention in Saginaw today and tomorrow.

Well-Controlled Abandon Is Clue to Rich Existence

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

One glorious May day, Mrs. Peale and I were driving in West Virginia. We came down a wide highway to a crossroads where a little road meandered off up a valley and into the mountains.

* * *

At the intersection there was a sign with an arrow pointing off to the smaller road. Intriguingly it read "Sunshine Valley."

I turned to Mrs. Peale and asked, "Shall we go up Sunshine Valley?"

And she answered, "Let's go up Sunshine Valley."

I'm glad we made this side trip because it was there that we met Tommy Martin. We had left the car to sit a minute along one of those clean, rushing mountain streams that come down out of the blue misty hills on their way to the sea. We were listening to the sound of the water singing over the rocks and watching it disappear under a bridge when Tommy came into view.

He was about twelve years old and he was sauntering down the road with a slouch hat on his head, boots on his feet, well worn trousers on his legs, bubble gum in his mouth and a fishing rod over his shoulder. He looked us over and apparently he liked us, for he said, "Hi, how are you?"

And then he turned to me as though to an old friend: "Haven't you a pole? Well, come on, I'll fish for both of us." He took me down to where two streams met. There, he said, the best trout were to be found. He waded into the stream, cast his line and up came the most beautiful trout. As he took it off the hook, I asked whether he was using dry flies or lures.

Chewing mightily, he answered, "No, just plain old worms. They're better than fancy lures." And then he explained to me that the trout he had just taken was a brook trout and that he had shot a deer in these woods last winter.

ADULT QUESTION

Then I asked him one of those stupid adult questions, "How come you're not in school?" It was Thursday, after all.

He made some sort of answer which I didn't get, but it sounded vague. And that day as I sat on the bank watching this twelve-year-old boy fishing in a sun-speckled trout stream, I fell to wondering which of the two of us knew more about living, he or I? And I asked him, "Tommy, do you ever worry about anything?"

He looked at me with big brown eyes and answered in his mountain twang, "Worry? Shucks, there ain't nothin' to worry about!" And I went on back to Mrs. Peale wondering if I could ever again be like Tommy Martin.

Well, the truth, of course, is that adult life brings with it certain responsibilities which are inescapable facts of maturity. And we have to live in a world that requires much of us. But isn't it possible for us, no matter what our lot or how heavy our duties, to retain a gay and youthful spirit?

When I say you can leave worry behind you, I do not mean you should be indifferent to human suffering and difficulty. Certainly I do not mean we should maintain a careless disregard for the problems of society. But isn't it possible to so govern your mind and spirit that you can acquire that sense of peace and understanding and power which makes you more effective in the battle of life?

The word "worry" is derived, so I'm told, from an old Anglo-Saxon word meaning to strangle or choke. How well-named the emotion is has been demonstrated again and again in persons who have lost their effectiveness due to the stultifying effect of anxiety and apprehension. A certain well-controlled carefreeness may very well be an asset. Normal sensible concern is an important attribute of the mature person. But worry frustrates one's best functioning.

I hope you can develop Tommy Martin's philosophy, "Shucks, there ain't nothin' to worry about." And there isn't—not as long as we have God. And that's likely to be as long as we live.

Week of October 17-23 to Be National Bible Week

NEW YORK—This year marks the 15th annual National Bible Week, sponsored by the Laymen's National Committee, Inc. The Committee has set aside the week of October 17-23 to recognize the annual all-faiths observance. William J. Grede, Milwaukee businessman, has accepted the invitation to act as national chairman.

Citing the campaign's theme: "The Bible Is the Rock Upon Which Our Republic Rests," taken from a statement of Andrew Jackson's, Mr. Grede has this to say: "What Andrew Jackson said must have come from his experience in American government.

When our nation was established, our forefathers drew on their deep religious convictions gleaned from diligent reading of the Bible. This government was established on the principle that each person is a significant and important child of God—no majority, not even the government itself, may violate the inalienable rights of the people.

"The perplexing problems of our nation and the world—as so frequently suggested by President Eisenhower—will be solved only through the spiritual concepts found in our Bible. It is my hope National Bible Week will stimulate a new interest in the greatest of all books."

National Bible Week, which was first inaugurated in 1941 by the Laymen's National Committe, is observed to encourage the daily reading and study of the Bible, and to urge a frequent attendance at Church, Synagogue and Sunday School by all.

Oil Truck, Car Crash Kills Six in Texas

GRAHAM, Tex. (AP) — A truck loaded with heavy oil field equipment and a car carrying six persons to a high school football game collided near here last night, killing the gridiron fans.

The dead were Fred Masters, 42; Mrs. Masters, 38; L. L. Brown, 26, and Mrs. Brown, 25; Walton Cozart, 14; and Clifton Hodges, 10. All lived at Breckenridge, Tex.

The driver of the huge diesel truck, R. D. Mangrum Jr., 35, of Irving, Tex., was released from a hospital here after treatment for minor injuries.

The automobile had just been driven onto a state highway from a farm road when the accident occurred 12 miles north of here.

Overtime Ticket to Name Restaurant Holdup Man

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Police say the holdup man who took $950 from restaurant Manager Nicco Romans will be nabbed through a parking ticket.

His car, parked in a red zone, was tagged by police who drove off minutes before the holdup man dashed from the restaurant yesterday and escaped. However, officers say he has been traced through his license number on the ticket, and his name will be disclosed when he is caught.

Kim Novak Complains Because She's Young

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—The wife and I had a dinner date not long ago with Kim Novak—and Kim was very sad.

★ ★ ★ ★

Perhaps she was sad to be with a guy pushing 50 and his wife who's pushing him—when she could have been squired by numerous millionaires who have oogled her curves in the magazines—but we wouldn't admit it . . . and we won't yet.

KIM NOVAK

"I'm so young," Kim complained.

She said it in a husky, breathy, gaspy voice.

"That's terrible," I said, pushing my fourth chin up against my third chin, endeavoring to make it appear that I have only triple chins.

"It's an awful weakness!" chimed in my wife. "How do you get it?"

Kim was sitting with us at the Cafe de la Paix sidewalk spot outside the Hotel St. Moritz. Numerous gentlemen bolting by flung darts of admiration—with their eyes—at this twentyish girl with her platinumish hair. Just to keep everything right at home, they also glanced rakishly at my wife.

"Crying, for example," Kim mentioned.

I'd just been hearing Josh Logan proclaiming her greatness in "Picnic"—and how she happened to be in town filming "The Eddy Duchin Story," much of it at Tavern-on-the-Green in Central Park.

"I'm too young," Kim said, "to know how to cry technically."

"How about onions?" I asked.

"Oh, I couldn't use those!"

We were now on our way to a night club. Sitting back in the gloomy darkness of the cab Kim told us how she managed a death scene in "Picnic."

"I have such a wonderful, beautiful death, I wanted to do it well," she said in the same breathy, gaspy voice.

"I thought back to all the sadnesses of my life.

"That wouldn't do it.

"So somebody said I should try to think of myself as dead."

I shivered a little. Just to make sure everything was all right, I patted Kim on the arm. Kim has a very nice pair of arms. And she was quite obviously very much a live and breathing girl.

"I did it so well," Kim continued, "that my hair straightened out . . . my throat rattled . . . and I got cold and clammy."

★ ★ ★ ★

"Lemme outa here!" I said, nervously. Fortunately, we were by now at Shor's, and I gave Kim another pat on the arm just to make sure, you know, that she was all right. You can't be too careful about such things.

"I'll never do that again," she announced.

We went in and talked to the manager about Eddy Duchin, who had hung out in this very place, often at this very table.

"How old are you, honey?" the manager asked her.

"Twenty-two," she said.

"That's where Jimmy Walker used to sit," I said pointing.

Kim looked blank.

"Jimmy Walker?"

Alabama Uses New Race Law

School Placement Act Is Cited in Refusal to Enroll Boy, 6

ANDALUSIA, Ala. (AP)—Alabama's new placement law, enacted to preserve segregated schools, was used for the first time yesterday to disqualify a 6-year-old boy from attending a white school.

The Covington County Board of Education quoted the recently adopted act to exclude the son of a white farm wife from the grammar school at nearby Gantt, Ala., where the mother tried three times to enroll him.

There was no immediate comment from the chubby, sun-tanned mother, Mrs. Ruth Wheeler of Red Level, Ala. But before the board's decision was announced, she had said she would appeal to "higher authorities" if necessary to get the boy, Troy Ammons, admitted to the white school.

The child's race was left unmentioned by the board in a prepared statement announcing its decision. Neither was it discussed at a stormy public hearing before the school board Tuesday.

The reason for the complaints was never made public.

Other parents had boycotted the Gant school since the issue arose Sept. 2, the first day of school. Only four of the 39 pupils registered at the school attended class yesterday, the board said.

The board's statement released yesterday said the Ammons child was offered enrollment in "another school in Gantt." Carroll declined to disclose the nature of the school.

Reminded that the language of the announcement was identical with parts of the new placement law, the superintendent confirmed that the legislative act was used to guide the board.

It gives local school boards broad discretionary powers to determine where each pupil must attend school. Although the act makes no mention of race or color, its sponsor, Sen. Sam Engelhardt, repeatedly spelled out its purpose as the preservation of segregated schools.

$157 Million Lost in Flooded Factories

WASHINGTON (AP) — Industrial plants in the six Northeastern states hit by hurricane-flood last month suffered damage totaling some 157 million dollars, the Commerce Department reported.

In making this first preliminary estimate of actual losses, the department said yesterday silt and debris are still being dug out of hundreds of plants but much equipment earlier reported destroyed has been found in restorable condition.

Connecticut, with 72½ million dollars worth, accounted for nearly half the total losses reported. This does not include damage to homes, highways and other nonindustrial facilities.

U.S. Tax Reports Show Less Tobacco Users

WASHINGTON (INS)—Tax reports show that Americans used less tobacco in all forms—except cigars—during the last fiscal year than in the previous 12 months.

The number of cigars on which tax was paid increased by 57 million to 6,070,235,000.

Some 376,048,061 cigarettes went up in smoke, nearly two and one-half million less than in the previous year. Snuff dropped 160,000 pounds to 39,087,000, and use of chewing and smoking tobacco was off nearly one million pounds to a total of 161,526,000.

Holly Area to Vote on $1,125,000 School Bonding Thursday

Expansion Issue Up to Taxpayers

Construction Would Not Up Current Debt Rate of 9.3 Mills

HOLLY — In a special election on Sept. 22 the question of bonding for $1,125,000 will be submitted to the registered tax paying voters of the Holly Area Schools.

The Board of Education proposes to spend this sum, supplemented by about $80,000 in federal grants, for a new high school and additions to the schools within the area.

That the new facilities are needed finds proof in the rapid growth of the school population. It has increased from an enrollment of 1,400 only three years ago to over 2,000 at the opening of school last week.

Howard F. Chanter, secretary of the board, points out that the bond issue can be retired with no increase in the present 9.3 millage debt rate.

* * *

This was fixed three years ago when the tax base was just over nine million dollars. It now is in excess of 15 millions, and the board figures that the increased receipts of close to $100,000 per year will amply cover the bond retirements and interest.

OTHER AREAS HIGHER

The present bonded indebtedness is so small, and due for early retirement, that if the bond issue is approved it still will be below that which is allowed by law, and much under that of other school areas.

The main question under discussion is the proposed location of the high school building to be financed by the bond issue. Nearly a dozen sites have been suggested, and the board has taken no options nor is it committed to any of them.

A citizens' committee, composed of about 25 residents of the area, has been making a several months' study of the matter. It endorses the proposition, and recommends a site of 87 acres on the Hansard farm, just outside the Holly Village north limits.

SOME OPPOSITION

However, there is some opposition to that site, and nothing of a definite nature in that connection has been decided upon.

Most of the opposition to the bonding issue stems from those who feel that the board should have decided upon a site before the election, and made its purchase contingent on the outcome.

The Holly Area School District comprises over 100 square miles in the northwest corner of Oakland County, and in the five townships of Holly, Rose, Groveland, Springfield and White Lake.

It is made up of what formerly was a dozen or more school districts, each with buildings of its own, and comprises a larger territory than any other school area in the county.

City Withholds Permit to Firm

Reichold Chemical Still Without Order to Build; to Take Up Monday

No progress was made at a closed meeting held Thursday night by the Ferndale city commission, police and fire inspectors, Dr. Gordon C. Harrold, industrial safety consultant and Reichold officials.

Harrold recommends that the new building should have two fire walls instead of one, a standby water tower, an automatic sprinkler system, and an enclosed building with some type of "explosion proof roof."

Reichold maintains that some of the recommendations are not adaptable to the firm's manufacturing processes.

City Manager Wilfrid A. Laking said this morning that the building permit will eventually have to be granted, whether Reichold accepts Harrold's recommendations or not.

The matter will be taken up again at Monday's Commission meeting.

Your Neighbor's House

Son and Daughter Mean Three Bedrooms

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

First a boy . . . then five years later a girl . . . then in a couple of years the two-bedroom house is too small, so they start looking around for something bigger. That's the story of the Davis family.

Francis and Ann Davis, son Timothy (aged eight) and daughter Mary Ellen (aged three) have called 2266 Fairport in Drayton Woods, home for several weeks. In contrast to the home they moved from, they have plenty of room to spread out, and each child has his own room.

The basement was in when the Davis' saw the plans of builder, Elmer Kunse, and decided this was their house. Now, five months later, they are settling down, pleased with their choice.

From the street the house is mostly red brick. The upper part of the bedroom wing has tongue and groove boards painted white. The other three sides of the house, surprisingly enough, are covered with brown cedar shakes. With the attached garage, the house fits comfortably, yet doesn't crowd the 90-foot lot.

Grass, of course, is still a promise for the future, But the extended back yard is already in use with a picnic table under the trees. The lot is 290' deep. One knows that next spring and summer, the planter box under the living room windows will be bright with flowers.

The first impression one gets when entering the Davis home is light. A golden glow seems to come from the handsome wall-to-wall carpeting. It is tweed wool with raised loops, subtly combining several shades of yellow, gold and tan. It ties the living room, dining ell and hall into one harmonious area.

The walls in these rooms, as well as in the kitchen, are painted a rosy beige which adds to the effect of light. The kneehole desk, end tables, chair frames, and a lamp table are all made of birch finished in a golden shade.

The upholstered furniture includes a charcoal gray tweed sofa, two red chairs and one deep green arm chair. The television set and record player are housed in a Chinese cabinet, lacquered green.

Mrs. Davis is pleased that she's able to use her floor-length chromespun draperies from her other house. They're sheer, off-white with a green design.

Over the mahogany dining room table is an interesting, hanging lamp in sunburst design. Trimmed in wood, and brass, it can be raised or lowered to control the light.

In line with the open planning of this part of house, the kitchen is closed off only by a half cabinet wall. A drawer and a cupboard open into both kitchen and dining room. The counter tops are yellow marbleized lineoleum, while the floor linoleum is spatter-printed with flecks of red, green, yellow and brown on a beige background.

BASEMENT STAIRS CONVENIENT

The kitchen opens directly into the garage and gives easy access to the basement stairs. The door to the backyard opens close by.

Everyone in the family is looking forward to the time when the huge basement recreation room is finished. It even has a stone fireplace where the children can hang their Christmas stockings. An efficient laundry room and the oil furnace take up the rest of the space down there.

Tow-headed Mary Ellen has a sunny yellow bedroom, first door down the hall. Both she and her brother have maple twin beds. Hers has a green spread on it to match her green curtains. Place of honor in the room is held by the rocking chair full of dolls.

Tim's room is painted a masculine blue. It looked extremely tidy for a room belonging to an eight-year-old boy. His curtains are made from an antique car printed cotton. All the bedroom windows are placed high enough to allow furniture to be placed underneath. All the closets have sliding doors.

LINEN STORAGE

Space at the end of the hall is utilized for a built-in cupboard and set of drawers, perfect space for linen storage.

Mr. and Mrs. Davis chose the same golden birch furniture for their bedroom. Here the green walls contrast pleasantly with the yellow spread and curtains and the brown shag rug.

Ceramic tile makes bathroom cleaning simple. This one is tiled in peach, with lots of room on each side of the sink and three cabinets built in under it. Mrs. Davis chose a plastic shower curtain with bronze, black and white fish on a printed net.

The Davis home is the third one built by Mr. Kunse from the same general plan. He was assisted in his work by Darwin Catlin.

NEW IN DRAYTON WOODS — The home of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Davis at 2266 Fairport combines red brick with tongue and groove boards painted white in front. The sides and rear are brown cedar shakes. The attached car-and-a-half garage provides storage space for bikes, wagons and gardening paraphenalia.

JUST ONE MORE — Her bright and shining kitchen is a good place for mother to make cookies, Mary Ellen thinks. She was shy about picture-taking until the tray of cookies was used for bait. The fine grain of the birch cabinets blends in beautifully with the yellow counter tops and the rosy beige walls. The counter to the right is the one opening into the dining ell.

CORNER FOR READING — This comfortable looking tweed sofa covered in charcoal gray is an ideal place for reading or watching television. Its color is just right against the rosy wall and with the golden carpet. The storage wall dividing the dining area from the kitchen can be seen in the right background.

Pontiac Press Photos by Jim Maher

SERENITY — It's a serene, sunny room. The light filters in softly through the printed sheer drapes. The birch furniture complements the golden-hued tweed rug, while upholstered chairs add color. Mrs. Davis who is interested in basketry, made the woven waste paper basket next to the desk.

OPEN PLANNING — How well the different areas of living flow into one another, all tied together by the wall-to-wall carpeting, can be seen in this picture. A corner of the Chinese lacquered television cabinet shows at the right.

SPACE TO SPARE — This luxury house contains four bedrooms, two baths, extra lavatory and two-car garage. A large glassed-in porch with a barbecue fireplace adjoins dining room and kitchen. Another fireplace faces the wide bowed window in the living room. A family room den adjoins the kitchen on the garden side. Plan C426AP, designed by Lester Cohen, architect, Archway Press, 117 W. 48th St., New York 36, N. Y., this house covers 3,700 square feet. Overall dimensions are 109 by 64 feet.

Housewives Can Build Own Shower Enclosure

A new kind of bathroom shower enclosure easily put up by the housewife herself has non-shattering sliding door panels made of plastic for beauty and safety. Soap, shampoo oils, bath powders, hot or cold shower spray may be splashed on the panels but they leave no stain, rust or streak when wiped off.

Using only a screwdriver and kitchen knife the smooth sliding double doors can be easily installed to enclose any 5-foot recessed tub. Stretched taut and smooth in aluminum frames, the five-foot high panels seal in shower spray and keep water from dripping or puddling on bathroom floors. Bakelite vinyl resins are extruded to form a flexible, water-resistant track for the sliding doors.

Brazilian production of cement reached an all-time high of 2,439,968 tons in 1954 compared with 2,030,418 tons in 1953.

To ascertain the number of feet of northern hardwood flooring required to cover a given area, it is necessary to find the number of square feet of floor space to be covered and add thereto a certain percentage depending on the face width of the flooring.

For the popular standard face width of 2¼-inch, add 33 1/3 per cent; for 1½-inch, add 50 per cent; for 2-inch, add 37½ per cent. It is good practice to add also 3 to 5 per cent for the customary waste in cutting and fitting.

Space-Jammed Homes Growing

Surveys by the National Warm Air Heating and Air Conditioning Association show that a good many home owners with growing families are worrying about how to find added room in houses already bursting at the seams.

All the while, most of these people are overlooking a generous space potential in their own basements.

Even in the basement of a house measuring 22 feet by 24 feet on its foundation, there is close to 4,000 cubic feet which, with a little planning, can be readily transferred into useable space.

One key that unlocks this useable space is the modern warm air conditioning furnace. Designed around the principle of using a motor-driven blower to provide positive, continuous circulation of air, the new style furnace is much more compact than the furnace of yesteryear.

Because the furnace of today can be located anywhere in the basement—or in the house—the new furnace does not dominate the basement. The basement need no longer be used just for a furnace room.

As a result of the motor-driven blower principle of warm air circulation, the heating man of today can design the system to take advantage of unused space available.

Furnaces can be located in out-of-the-way corners or closets. Ducts can be nested between floor joists to provide maximum headroom in basements.

These new automatic heating systems require little attention. The old dust-and-dirt problems of bygone heating systems have been eliminated.

The world's largest domestic dishwasher stands only 36-inches high and measures just 30-inches wide. It's made by the pioneer steel kitchen manufacturer.

Old Date on Attic Beam

One hundred and fifty years ago an unknown workman painted a date on an attic beam of Woodlawn Mission which is near Mount Vernon in Virginia. The date: "Sep 9 1805." It marked the completion of the mansion at Woodlawn Plantation, the beautiful home of George Washington's nephew, Maj. Lawrence Lewis, and his bride, Nelly Custis. The 2,000 acre tract on which the mansion was built was a gift from Washington to the young couple.

The painted date is still clearly visible as Woodlaw rounds the century-and-a-half mark and celebrates the occasion by having hostesses in Colonial costume receive its daily guests.

Few kitchens look alike, but actually there are only four basic arrangements. All kitchens fall into one of these categories—U-shaped, L-shaped, single-wall, and corridor.

Uncle Sam Soothes Growing Pains

WASHINGTON (INS) — Uncle Sam is stepping up a new program to help city governments overcome an acute case of growing pains.

* * *

The trouble stems from the tremendous postwar housing boom which has taxed to the limit the ability of cities to provide adequate municipal facilities for mushrooming homes in suburban areas.

It's no secret that most urban areas have or are rapidly exhausting the available supply of developed land for new dwellings. In the future, most new housing will be constructed on raw land in undeveloped sections.

That means municipalities will be spending literally billions of dollars on new public works, such as water facilities, streets and schools, to keep pace with the creation of new neighborhoods. The Commerce Department places the need for such facilities in the next ten years at 25 billion dollars.

BIGGEST HEADACHE

City officials and building organizations say the public works problem is their biggest headache. Tax money just isn't available to undertake the necessary planning, much less immediate construction.

But a helping hand is being offered by the Housing and Home Finance Agency through a system of interest-free federal loans to cities to make advance plans for their urgently needed public works.

HHFA officials quickly point out that their so-called "program of advances for public works" is no quick cure to the pressing problem but they say it will help to get the ball rolling on the important projects.

TOWNS STYMIED

Commissioner John C. Hazeltine of HHFA's community facilities administration points out that most cities are unable under their laws to spend funds on local project planning until construction work actually has been authorized by the municipalities.

Hazeltine says that under the expanded program approved by Congress last summer cities will now be able "to bridge the gap between planning and the eventual authorization of fund" for the public works.

Under two previous planning programs in 1944 and 1949, Hazeltine says that the way was cleared for the construction of some three billion, 600 million dollars in new projects.

The new program authorized by Congress calls for planning loans up to 48 billion dollars, which officials say could stimulate new public works in the neighborhood of four billion, 800 million dollars, since one dollar of federal money can provide up to $100 worth of actual construction value.

* * *

So far Congress has appropriated $4,500,000 for the program, a step which has eased restrictions on the operation and permits the lending of a maximum $450,000 in any one state. Additional appropriations are expected next year.

How have the states reacted to the new program? Hazeltine says the large number of inquiries and applications from cities to the HHFA "indicate an acceleration in the interest in public works planning throughout the country."

City Building Permit Figure Hits $585,877

Wicker Basket Chairs Now Appear in Colors

CHICAGO (INS)—Something new is being added to wicker basket chairs—color.

* * *

These chairs, in sizes for both adults and kiddies, were shown at the recent International Home Furnishings Market in silvery blues greens and orchid and in yellow and gold.

A firm at Chicago's American Furniture Mart which displayed the new colors said the chairs have been decorated with a metallic lacquer which has undergone all sorts of weather tests without chipping off.

* * *

The colored basket chairs will cost about one dollar more than the natural wicker ones. They will be in stores next September.

Refinishing Hint

Before refinishing old woodwork which has previously been painted, it needs to be thoroughly cleaned of all dirt, grease and wax. A strong soap and water solution — or any of the specially prepared products designed for this purpose — will remove all normal dirt and grease. Wax can be removed with turpentine, mineral spirits or a special wax removing product.

Real Estate Officers Named at Mackinac

He succeeds Bruce J. Annett, Pontiac. Elected vice president were William V. Louks, Detroit; Eward Tozke, Benton Harbor; Mark H. Piper Jr., Flint, and Donald H. Treadwell, Wyandotte.

Other new officials are Norman O. Stockmeyer, Detroit, treasurer, and Joseph Hertel, Grand Rapids, secretary.

The opening session was addressed by Eugene P. Conser, Chicago, executive vice president of the National Assn. of Real Estate Boards.

DDT Spraying by Planes Costs $1 Each Acre

WASHINGTON — The United States Forest Service started spraying some 2,250,00 acres of spruce-fir forests with DDT from planes this summer in an attempt to save them from serious damage or ruin by the spruce budworm.

Threatened forests are in Oregon, Idaho, Montana, and New Mexico. Some 12.3 billion board feet of lumber, valued at $38,000,000 as it stood in the woods, or $750,000,000 as sawn lumber, was threatened at the start of the battle.

Cost of spraying averages a little more than $1 an acre. The Forest Service said it was the largest aerial-spraying project is had ever undertaken.

LIGHTLY CURTAINED — BUT WITH A SPECIAL SPARKLE — Sheer or semi-sheer curtains are so often the answer for the windows —because the room is so much pleasanter when the sun shines in; and a breeze should come through — but there must be protection against anyone looking into the house. The only trouble is that sometimes the room asks for more interest and perhaps a little more elegance than the ordinary sheer, simply tailored, can give it.

Solvers of this problem are new curtain fabrics that are richly metallic with Lurex yarns. These bright threads of gold, silver, copper, and colored metallics make changes for the new lightweight fabrics. They're sometimes very fine, and they take new flowerlike colors called porcelain tones, which match or contrast with the other yarns of the curtain weaves. Light does something special as it glints through the metallic, and has a new effect on the room.

Open Plan Homes Offer More Space for Living

CHICAGO — American homedwellers continue to discover that more space for living is afforded by open-plan houses. Even when the actual floor space is small, such flexible arrangements permit family activities and entertaining to spill over from one area to the next.

In such households, a sense of orderliness can be maintained by thoughtful furnishing and decorating. As can be expected, large glass areas and the absence of partitioning walls do pose problems in the placement and grouping of furniture.

These problems can be easily solved, however, by utilizing the ingenious pieces of furniture now being designed especially for the purpose. There are, for instance, the modular units which stack, or group, or stand alone. These meet almost any need or situation.

Then there's another innovation in the furniture field which is proving most helpful. It is the simple device of applying a fine finish to chests, desks, cabinets and sideboards on all sides. Thus they may stand away from a wall to designate a division of space. In many instances, these pieces may be grouped with related pieces to serve as room dividers.

To make this possible such designers of contemporary furniture as John Van Koert and Edward Wormley have been paying particular attention to the profile or contour of the pieces they create so they will be attractive from any and all angles, whether by themselves or in free standing groups. This feature is particularly desirable where one room flows into another with little else than the furniture to mark the separation.

There are, of course, other ways to designate the various areas in these modern homes. One of the easiest and most effective devices is to change wall treatments from one space to another. If the house is small, a change in colors and textures should be on the subtle side so eyes won't stop abruptly midway around the interior.

One such subtle gradation could call for painting the walls of a kitchen a light blue-green — particularly if it is flooded with sunlight. Then the walls in living and dining areas might be painted a deeper tone of blue-green with, perhaps, the fireplace or window-wall finished in beige.

Such a color scheme would not only hold the whole of the small interior together but would also tend to give the feeling of cool and quiet spaciousness.

On the other hand, if a large house of this type lacks a warm and friendly atmosphere, chances are that the wall treatments are somewhat at fault. There are a number of ways to paint such walls.

One is to use warm and even intense colors such as mustard or pomegranate, seemingly to draw the walls closer together. Another interesting device is to indicate the various areas with contrasting wall treatments.

As an example, the walls in the living area of a large open-plan home could be painted citron yellow, while the extension of one wall — which serves the dining area — could well be paneled in random-width boards, finished in a low but glowing sheen of sunny brown.

BOULEVARD GARDENS — A new community of 308 two-bedroom brick duplex homes is rising rapidly in Pontiac's east side residential district. There are six exterior designs offered by Green & Sarko Builders in cooperation with Rose-Hill Realty Co.

Duplex Homes Now Available

Boulevard Gardens, a development of 308 two-bedroom brick duplex homes with full basements, is under construction on a scenic hillside in Pontiac.

A model is open on East Boulevard between Mt. Clemens and Perry streets.

* * *

Priced from $11,350, the attractively-designed modern duplexes are offered by Green & Sarko Builders in cooperation with Rose-Hill Realty Co. Gas heat is available in half of the homes.

There is no down payment to veterans, with the buyer paying closing costs only. Liberal FHA terms are offered. Many of the homes are ready for immediate occupancy.

Located in Pontiac's rapidly-developing east side residential district, the community of duplex homes is only five minutes from the heart of the city with its major shopping and recreational facilities.

SCHOOL BUS SERVICE

School bus service is available, and a park with recreational and picnic facilities is located a mile south of Boulevard Gardens on East Boulevard.

Easily accessible are the General Motors Truck & Coach Division, Pontiac Motors and other industrial plants.

Buyers are given a choice of six exterior designs on five curving asphalt-paved streets. All rooms are spacious, and the extra-large kitchen is equipped with modern Youngstown cabinets.

Other kitchen features are a large breakfast area and linoleum covering for the complete floor.

Handsome ceiling-to-floor wardrobe closets are equipped with sliding doors, a built-in shoe rack and built-in storage shelving.

Utilities have been installed at one end of the poured concrete basement, leaving an extra-large area for family recreation activities. There is a spacious fruit closet under the staircase.

Serving as a divider in the duplexes is a solid eight-inch block wall from basement to roof, which eliminates noises and assures complete privacy in each duplex home.

Other features are a ceramic tile bath, large linen closet, built-in telephone stand, select oak flooring, birch flush doors, clothes chute and 30-gallon automatic hot water heater.

New Building in City Drops During August

Construction of new dwellings in Pontiac was up slightly in August, but well below both June of this year and July of 1954. Permits were issued for 84 dwellings valued at $570,230. In July there were some 52 permits for $422,650. In July of 1954 there were 135 new dwellings erected at a cost of $921,800.

Total building permits followed the same pattern. Two hundred and sixty-seven valued at $822,162 represented more than the 239 issued in July, but value was less. July's figures were $1,745,262. Permits last year also went over the million dollar figure in July.

This follows a national trand. Officials in the building business believe the entire housing program is leveling off.

No Water on Hardwood

In normal cleaning, do not treat hardwood floors with water, but dust clean with a soft brush, dry mop or cloth. If soiled or spot stained, rub with a mop or cloth slightly moistened with penetrating sealer, turpentine or furniture polish. This procedure is especially effective in cleaning the tight-grained hardwoods of maple and birch.

Three New Colors

Eight New York artists have come up with three colors that they claim will mix harmoniously with all other colors. They've named the new shades Dawn Yellow, Meridian Blue, and Sunset Copper.

Regular tongued and grooved maple flooring in strip form is now favored for use as wall paneling in modern residences, clubs, taverns and offices.

Oriental Hues Seen in Drapes

NEW YORK (INS)—There is a fascination about things Oriental—particularly for American drapery designers.

The latest drapes all show a strong Eastern influence, using green and blue combinations, bronzed greens or strong shades of red or blue.

An abstract in fortisan and rayon shows brilliant bird-like shapes combined with bronze against a background of black mesh lines.

PERSIAN INFLUENCE

Another new drape has received its inspiration from the crewel rugs of Persia. Using intense shades of henna, Persian blue and turquoise, the curved and pointed shapes of the pattern have striking effect.

The venetian look is also popular this year. A new drapery uses a damask design with metallic pigment overlay for that elegant look in such colors as pink or slate, and cerise, or silver and ivory.

Since strong colors are in vogue, you can buy almost any shade of fabric to blend in with the Oriental look.

Inspect Home Often

Some houses are given the necessary protection against destructive moisture only when an emergency arises — a roof leaks or a pipe bursts. Others are neglected and soon reach a serious state of disrepair. The wise home owner makes regular inspections of his property, sometimes with an experienced craftsman whose training enables him to discover defects not always apparent to the average householder. Much damage may thus be avoided and considerable money saved.

Multiply by Seven

When radiators are painted the same color as the wall behind them, they are far less objectionable to the eye than when given a contrasting color. To figure the amount of surface there is to be painted, measure the front area and multiply by 7.

MILFORD RANCH TYPE — This three-bedroom ranch home is one now open for inspection in Milford. Built by Jack Hyman Building Co., these homes are offered by Gordon Begin for $12,500. The three-bedroom, one-story house is placed on a 50x150' lot. Exterior is of siding with a brick trim. Features include oil heat, tile fixtures in the bathroom, a vestibule entrance, and dining areas in both kitchen and living room.

Attention—Home Builders

Reminder to both the amateur and professional floor-layer: There's very little more work to good workmanship than to poor workmanship — it's lack of care more often than lack of skill that's responsible for bad floor-laying jobs. A fine hardwood floor deserves the little extra care it takes to lay it right.

Handy Glass-Fiber Repair Kit Helps in Making Useful Bulletproof Vests

If you're in the market for a bulletproof vest, don't bother shopping in men's wear at the department stores. Instead, try that body shop (not the mortuary, but the auto body repair establishment) around the corner.

* * *

Chances are the proprietor will have displayed on a shelf a variety of boxes, each labeled "Glass-Fiber Repair Kit." One or more of of those is what you're after. With them you can make do-it-yourself bulletproof vests for the whole mob—or family, as the case may be.

Well, maybe not quite. But the Air Force and Marine Corps have tested shrapnelproof vests made of glass fiber.

In case this type of apparel isn't fashionable in your neighborhood, you will find upon reading the labels that glass-fiber kits are useful for countless other do-it-yourself projects.

Little ones, like repairing tool handles and mending leaks in gutters and downspouts. Or big ones, like building automobile bodies and boat hulls.

Repairs made with a special resin reinforced by glass cloth are said to outlast the mended materials.

Each kit contains a quantity of glass-fiber cloth, a can or bottle of resin, a bottle of resin hardener, a dropper for measuring hardener into resin, mixing sticks and cups and a brush for applying the mixture.

A key item in the kit is the cloth itself. It is woven out of minute filaments of pure glass gathered together into strands. Since it is real glass, glass-fiber cloth is as acidproof, waterproof and weatherproof as a window pane.

RESIN IMPORTANT

The resin in the kit is even more important than the cloth. It is a honey-colored, viscous (like honey, thick and sticky) liquid. When resin hardener is added to it in a measured quantity, an internal heat develops that causes the resin to harden, or "cure."

This resin has exceptional adhesive qualities. When it is reinforced with glass-fiber cloth to make joints, patches, seals and other types of repairs, the result is sensational.

* * *

It's said that a repair which combines the strength of glass cloth with the bonding characteristics of the resin will, in most cases, outlast the repaired materials. That's saying something.

Imagine the things you could repair around the house. Practically anything made of wood, metal, concrete, brick, glass, plastics, fabrics, leather, hard rubber, hardboard, and other materials.

Which means you could mend glass shelves, pipe leaks, furniture, buckets, steel cabinets, wood and metal ladders, cracks in masonry walls, TV antennae, sagging garage doors, and so on, ad infinitum.

Auto body shops are beginning to use glass-fiber repair kits for filling dents, rust holes and tears in auto bodies and fenders.

The resin and glass-cloth combination conforms to compound curves, and does away with much welding, soldering, brazing and leading common to auto repair.

* * *

Here's how you would make a repair using a glass-fiber kit: First, prepare the surface by sanding to remove all dirt, paint, oil or anything containing oil.

Don't use paint remover. Cut glass-fiber cloth with scissors so that it overlaps area to be covered by at least two inches.

Now, mix resin and hardener according to instructions. You have about 30 minutes working time before the plastic begins to jell. Don't attempt to work with it in temperatures under 70 degrees.

Brush a coating of resin on the area to be patched. Apply glass cloth to the area, then another coat of resin over the cloth, rubbing it in well. For additional strength you can put a second or even third coat of cloth and resin on the repair before preceding coats have cured.

When the patch has hardened, sandpaper it smooth, then finish it as you would wood or metal.

Use the Broad Side

Unless a paint brush is specifically designed for "edgewise" use, the broad side of the brush should always be used. Painting with the edge of a brush tends to make it "finger" or divide in clumps. If it is necessary to use a wide brush edgewise, as in a corner, the fingering should be removed at once by giving the brush several strokes broadside. If "fingers" are left in a brush overnight, they will take a permanent set and the brush will be ruined.

Cupboard Hooks Hold Extra Household Keys

An assortment of extra household keys kept on a row of special hooks inside a cupboard door in the kitchen is an aid in keeping the home functioning on an even keel when pocket key rings are mislaid.

Buy a few low cost plastic hooks for this purpose at your neighborhood chain, variety or hardware store.

The trend in showers is toward the smaller type of head which saves water while concentrating the full stream on the body of the bather.

Vacant Garage Makes Superb Day Play Area

SAN FRANCISCO (INS) — To paraphrase the cat and mouse adage, when pop's away the kids can play—in the garage.

* * *

Clean up the garage and neatly arrange those miscellaneous items in built-in cupboards and the garage will go to work for the family as well as the car and become a fine rainy day playroom.

Even if the car stays home all day, a minimum amount of construction and rearranging can vastly increase the storage possibilities of the garage. Summer is a good time to do this as the car can be left outside.

The cleanup campaign starts with the floor which should be greaseproofed through the use of several new compounds on the market. These are powders which are sprinkled over the grease. The grease is absorbed and the powder can be swept away, leaving a clean floor.

Tool storage cupboards, easily made of plywood, not only provide necessary storage space but add a safety factor when the garage is to be used as a children's playroom—it keeps the equipment that might be dangerous out of the children's way.

Garden material storage bins and extra storage cupboards can also be built of plywood in the garage.

Try Glass Balls in Bowl for Stylish Centerpiece

CHICAGO (INS) — A bowl of glass balls is taking the center of the stylish table this year — right in the spot where the old-fashioned waxed fruit used to stand.

Decorators favored a colorful bowl, filled with glass balls, as centerpieces. The balls, just ornamented pieces of the Christmas-tree type, were usually white or jale colors. But under lights, they aded sparkle to the woods of the tables.

Non-Clash Color Used

One of the most complex colors on the market today is called Meridian Blue. It is a mixture of Artists say that because of this blue, yellow, orange and green, it will not clash with any other decorating shade.

Available for use in new homes as well as modernization work are small, receptor-type bathtubs, some of which are made with an integral seat.

Non-Cast Iron Pipes Smash Very Easily

If your home's soil and waste lines are not cast iron, certain precautions should be taken. Indoors, avoid installing heavy built-ins over them and provide an access panel for emergency repairs.

When hanging a heavy picture, aim for a stud, because nails can puncture non-cast iron pipe. should remodeling require opening the walls, check pipes for leaks or corrosion. If bubbles form after brushing questionable pipe surfaces with a soap solution, gas or air is escaping. Prevent trouble later by repairing them immediately.

Outdoors, avoid building driveways or planting trees over house sewers that are not cast iron; otherwise, vehicles might crush them or roots could penetrate the joints and clog them.

The house sewer can be located easily for this purpose. Uusually, it follows the straighest line between the house entry and city sewer connection or the septic tank. The latter is on the downhill side of the house and is quickly located in summer; in winter, it often is marked by a melted patch of snow.

A Home Color Scheme

An attractive small home with a gray roof has siding painted a soft gray blue. Gables, under-eaves and the area surrounding the large living room window are painted white. Doors and another paneled window area are painted a creamy pale yellow.

Antique lavabos are being revived in modern home decor — not to hold water but to hold plants.

'Better Homes' Model Opens

The Better Homes and Gardens 1955 Model Exhibit Home is now open for public inspection in Franklin Woods Subdivision. This house is located just west of Franklin road, about half a mile south of Maple.

* * *

Redesigned to conform with restriction requirements, the home was built by Frankel Brothers and furnished by a Detroit furniture company.

Charcoal, pink and white, with occasional accents of green, are the colors used throughout the house. One wall in the living room and one in the family room have paneled plywood walls. Draperies throughout are made of semi-sheer white material.

The kitchen, designed and installed by a nationally famous electric company, is the only one of its kind in America. It is completely done in pink and features such innovations as a wall refrigerator and an integrated work counter. A pass-through on one wall makes it possible to serve directly from the kitchen to the family room.

All uncarpeted areas are done in vinyl tile. The entrance hall and family room are tiled in charcoal, pink and white in a harlequin design; the daughter's bedroom is floored in strawberry pink tile.

Furniture selected for this model home is neither traditional nor strictly modern, but each piece represents the best of its kind. The older generation will chuckle at the sight of brass beds in the master bedroom; they are back in style.

* * *

Outside living areas are provided for and are screened for privacy by metal and plastic screens. The master bedroom has its own patio, access to which is through 6-foot sliding glass doors.

Maple Floor Research Copies Now Available

Controlling expansion: Single copies of a research report on "Controlling Expansion of Hard Maple Floors" can be obtained now.

The 8-page report is illustrated and contains a map of the United States which shows the expected changes in average moisture content of wood used indoors between January and July.

Those Freeways Even Confusing to Bus Driver

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A big Los Angeles Transit Lines bus startled two motorcycle policemen as it rumbled toward them — on the wrong side of a freeway.

The officers quickly abandoned their pursuit of a speeding motorist, wheeled around and took after the errant bus. They waved it into a freeway exit and arrested the driver on suspicion of driving while intoxicated.

* * *

"I don't know how I got there," they quoted the driver, Thomas Henderson, 44, as saying yesterday. "I was just lost. I always get confused when I'm around those freeways."

Officers C. A. Gillum and W. A. Wallace said Henderson told them he had half a bottle of wine with his lunch.

---

As much as $200 to $300 can be added to the value of the average development home by a judicious program of tree conservation.

Special Paints Used on Heavy Equipment

The rigorous conditions to which heavy road building equipment is subjected create tough maintenance problems. Tractors, scrapers, power shovels and other expensive vehicles must often undergo long exposure to weather when shelter is not available. Their surfaces are also subjected to dirt, rocks and other abrasive elements.

Manufacturers of industrial chemical coatings, members of the paint varnish and lacquer industry, formulate special finishes for this equipment. These finishes have an unusually high degree of durability and touchness. They are applied in the factory by air or electrostatic spraying systems, then are baked under infrared heat. The quality of the resulting finish keeps maintenance at a minimum. In consequence, road equipment spends more time "on the job."

Fall is an ideal time for exterior painting projects. In many areas weather is more constant. Surfaces of various types have a chance to dry out thoroughly. There are fewer insects abroad.

Ceramic Tile Decoration Spreads Across Nation

Summer visitors returning from Europe are bringing back interesting tales of the fascinating mosaic work that adorns the private home, modern as well as traditional. They're asking themselves why more of that work isn't done in this country. The answer is — it is being done. And they're the reason why, by bringing back the good word to this country.

The trend toward new uses of ceramic tile on the exterior of homes isn't restricted to the Southwest either. Colder climes are seeing larger uses of the colorful material. And why not? Ceramic tile is weatherproof, able to resist fierce extremes in temperature.

Hardwood Is Last Task

Don't lay hardwood flooring until plastering and cement work are thoroughly dried, and woodwork and trim are installed. The laying and finishing of hardwood floors should be the last operation in building construction.

Chenille Fabrics Return

CHICAGO (INS) — Chenille fabrics are being revived for use as coverings on living room sofas and chairs.

But the chenilles brought back at the recent International Home Furnishings Market have a new look.

The pile has been sheared so close that the fabric looks textured and has lost its "fuzzy" appearance completely.

When a strange cow is introduced into a dairy herd, milk production can drop off as much as 5 per cent.

Board OKs 152 New Apartments at MSU

EAST LANSING (AP) — Another step in the long range program of building apartment units to house married students has been approved by the State Board of Agriculture, governing body of Michigan State University.

The board approved start of work on 152 new apartment units.

At present, there are 1,556 apartment units on campus.

The board was told that the eventual aim is to construct a total of 664 new units. To make room for the new apartments, 334 of the old barracks-type apartments will be razed, making the total gain 330 new apartments.

Waterford, with 30 odd lakes, has the most of any of Oakland County's 25 townships, but West Bloomfield Township has the greatest water area.

Summer Cottage Reminder Aids

Summer fun at your lakeside cottage can leave it open for a winter of woe if you aren't careful.

The cottage should be made snug against the cold months before you close it up. Good-time signs of the free and easy summer months should all vanish on closing day.

Here are some realistic suggestions:

1. Repair all your roof lakes. If
1. Repair all your roof leaks. If walls and floors next spring.

2. Remove all rubbish from inside and out. It's a breeding place for pests and can be a fire hazard too.

3. If painting is needed, do it this month. Paint is the best preservative for wooden surfaces exposed to weathering.

4. If your porch needs repair, surface it with a really weatherproof material like quarry tile which can't be worn away. Quarry requires no upkeep and is cleaned with just a hosing down.

5. Store all clothing and blankets properly, with plenty of moth balls. Squirrels will be kept away by the odor if you spread enough moth balls around the cottage. They don't like the odor.

6. All remodeling should be done now if, of course, it can be afforded. Don't spoil the start of next year's vacation by weeks of repair.

7. On leaving, close the gas valve, drain pipes, open the main electric switch, cover the chimney top with wire, remove all perishables. Let the wintry winds howl, your cottage is ready.

Try Coat of Pink Paint

A coat of pink paint on tropical cane furniture is not only pretty, it's practical. One exhibitor displayed a roomful of pink cane pieces.

Showroom managers explained that the paint has a practical purpose, too. They said it keep the cane from unraveling and therefore doubles the life of cane chairs.

Pressure of Favorite Heavy on Ward as Final Round of Amateur Begins

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—For nearly a week Harvie Ward has endured the pressure that only Bobby Jones used to know when he was playing in the National Amateur Golf Tournament. Like Bobby, Harvie has reacted like a champion.

Today the pressure still was on Ward rather than on William Hyndman III of Philadelphia as they met in the finals of the 55th National Amateur.

You might think it would be the other way, but look:

* * *

Ward has tried for the title every year since 1947. He made the quarterfinals then and the fifth round in 1950. He's been the favorite here from the start, hailed as the world's best amateur golfer and idolized by the big galleries at the James River Course of The Country Club of Virginia. Every one of his opponents was bearing down.

* * *

Hyndman, the outsider who has had a wealth of golfing experience, was virtually ignored until he began knocking off favorites. He was pleased when he reached the quarterfinals because that meant he'll get to play in the Masters at Augusta, Ga. Even if he loses, Bill has had his day of glory. He's tired, his feet are painful after a couple of 36-hole days, but he's happy and relaxed.

Even Bill Booe of Bridgeport, Conn., a non-entity in big-time golf until this week, put the pressure on Ward in yesterday's semi-finals. He carried Harvie to the 34th green before yielding, 4 and 2. Hillman Robbins, expected to do well, collapsed in front of Hyndman's steady play. Hyndman won 4 and 3.

* * *

Booe had won his quarter-final match in spite of shooting a 12-over-par 82 while Robbins fired a 67 the same day.

Yesterday Billy had a morning 72 and was only five over before he picked up on the 34th. Ward didn't have a birdie until the 27th.

Robbins, highly-regarded, couldn't do anything until the third nine, where he cut Hyndman's margin from six up to three. He was 10 over par for 33 holes.

Knox Passes Aggies Dizzy as Uclans Take 21-0 Win

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Ronnie Knox, a 19-year-old sharpshooter, has played exactly one game of college football, but he's already being plugged as one of the Pacific Coast's great backs.

In fact, even before he tossed three touchdown passes in UCLA's opening 21-0 victory over Texas A&M last night in Los Angeles, Knox was a "known" unknown quantity.

He had starred at thre different high schools, then enrolled at California, only to withdraw and pop up at UCLA, rated the No. 1 football team in the country in the pre-season poll of sportswriters and sportscasters by The Associated Press.

A crowd of 65,334, watched the veteran-packed forces of Coach Red Sanders run all over the youthful Aggies.

But it was Knox who drew the plaudits. In the second period, he pitched a touchdown pass to Johnny Hermann (25 yards), and Chuck Holloway (9 yards), and in the third quarter, he pitched to Jim Decker (23 yards).

* * *

A scattering of other games were played last night. Drake defeated North Dakota State, 28-6, and Davidson turned back Catawba, 26-0, in the most important.

The top game on today's schedule sends Miami against Georgia Tech at Atlanta in the opener of a day-night doubleheader. Not only will it be televised nationally (NBC 2:30 p.m., EST), but it will be the first college football game ever televised in color.

The night half of the twin-bill will send Mississippi against Georgia.

Mikes, Rams Set for Openers

Shamrocks vs. Avondale St. Fred Faces Marine City at Wisner

St. Michael and St. Frederick, Pontiac's two Suburban Catholic League representatives, inaugurate their 1955 football schedules this weekend at Wisner Stadium against two non-league opponents.

Coach Bob Mineweaser's Shamrocks, led by fullback Ron Elmy and four other 1954 regulars, tangle with the Avondale Yellow Jackets tonight under the lights at 8 p.m.

Frank Crowell's Avondale team, riddled by graduation, will field only three of last year's starters. The 1954 Yellow Jackets compiled six wins and three ties for an unbeaten season, including a 26-7 victory over the Mikes.

St. Fred will plunge into the 1955 football wars Sunday afternoon against Marine City Holy Cross, a school which edged the Rams in last year's opener, 19-12. Kickoff time tomorrow is 3 p.m.

St. Fred's curtain-raiser will mark the debut of head coach Gene Wright, former Ram athletic star. The Rams will be seeking their 1st win on the gridiron in 16 games, their last victory coming early in 1953.

Bennie Eliminates Final Scrimmage

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Michigan coach Bennie Oosterbaan would like to get his starting backfield together today for the last full dress scrimmage of fall practice. But with the opening game only a week away, he doesn't dare.

A rash of injuries that hit the tired Michigan squad this week left two fullbacks and two right halfbacks on the sidelines nursing serious and minor hurts.

First stringers Lou Baldacci, fullback, and Tony Branoff, right halfback, can run, Oosterbaan admits, but, he said, "I don't want to take the chance of aggravating their injuries."

Set Major Scrimmage for Spartan Grid Squad

EAST LANSING (AP) — A major scrimmage, under strict game conditions, was planned this afternoon for Michigan State football team.

The gates of Macklin Stadium will be closed to all but members of the football staff and the press.

The clock will be going, a full corps of officials will work the scrimmage and all game rules and regulations will be observed.

Color Television Comes to Grid

Miami, Georgia Tech Clash Today Is 1st Such Spectacle

ATLANTA (AP)—Two of the nation's top-ranked football powers, Miami's Hurricanes and Georgia Tech's Yellow Jackets, met today in the first college football game ever televised in color.

Rated a tossup, the game pitted two teams with strikingly similar powerful ground attacks. Tech calls its bread-and-butter offense the "bely" play; Miami's variation is called the "drive" series. Both are based on deception and when executed properly are difficult to stop.

Miami entered the game as the ninth ranked team in the nation; Tech was tenth.

Good weather was forecast for the game, first of the NCAA's television productions (NBC, 2:30 p.m. EST) of the 1955 season.

Lions Oppose Giants in Home Exhibition

Professional football gets under way Sunday afternoon at Briggs Stadium when the Detroit Lions clash with the New York Giants in an exhibition game for the benefit of fresh air camps. Kick off is at 2 p.m.

Tomorrow's contest unofficially opens the season at Briggs Stadium and winds up the Lions exhibition schedule. Doak Walker and Co. will be confronted with an improved Giant team, sparked by the hard-running Frank Gifford.

Pythians Set Plans for Hunters Banquet

Members of Knights of Pythias Lodge No. 19 are planning their 15th annual Hunters Banquet, to be held in their hall, 18 W. Huron St., on Oct. 11.

The 6:30 p.m. roast turkey dinner will be served to 200 sportsmen by the Pythian Sisters. A sport program is planned. Don Eakle is general chairman, and J. Alvin Wagner will be the toastmaster.

Ryff Beats Lopes

DETROIT (INS)—Frankie Ryff, 4th ranked lightweight, scored a unanimous 10-round decision over Joey Lopes of Sacramento, Calif., in a nationally televised bout last night at Detroit's Olympia Stadium.

The 23-year-old New Yorker bled from the nose and from a cut over the left eye through most of the fight but piled up enough points to win the nod.

High Stepper!

Pontiac High School's fine big band has a real high-stepping drum major these days. Jim Erwin showed his agility in the opening strut down the Wisner Stadium turf last night, during halftime program at the Chiefs-Wyandote game. Erwin lifts a nifty pair of knees, and steps out like a big-timer.

3rd Period Rally Wins for Maples

Birmingham High School's football team, held in check for two periods, fashioned two scoring drives in the 3rd quarter to down a rugged Southfield squad, 14-7, in the 1955 season opener Friday night at Birmingham.

After a scoreless 1st half, two sustained marches produced touchdowns for the Maples in the 3rd period. Right halfback Wayne Geggie smashed five yards through the veteran Bluejay line for the 1st tally and tackle George Huffman converted the extra point.

Near the end of the 3rd quarter Maples struck again to clinch victory. Quarterback Bill Swaney's pass hit halfback John Appleford on the Southfield five to set up the tally. Appleford romped across. Again Huffman kicked the extra point.

Southfield came back in the 4th quarter to score on a 30-yard aerial from quarterback John Moilenen to Sam Manderachia, star end. Conversion attempt was good.

Although the 1st half developed into a defensive struggle, Maples threatened to score by driving inside the Southfield five yard line before the 2nd-period clock ran out, killing the touchdown bid. A 4th-quarter drive was halted when the Bluejays recovered a fumble on their own 25.

Tony DeMarco, welter-weight, and Sandy Saddler, feather-weight, started boxing as southpaws but switched their style when they became professionals.

Yogi's Homer Beats Bosox; Yanks on Top

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The patent for the big home run still belongs to the New York Yankees.

* * *

Combining that talent with the unexpected help of Detroit's Steve Gromek, the starter-turned-reliever, the Yanks are back in first place again in that treacherous American League pennant race.

* * *

A one-out homer by Hank Bauer drew the Yankees even with Boston in the ninth inning last night and after Ellis Kinder, the Red Sox relief marvel, got the second out, Yogi Berra rapped a shot into the right-field stands to win it 5-4. It was Yogi's 27th of the year and his second of the game.

Until the ninth, Kinder had been tagged for only two home runs all season.

Gromek, meanwhile, toppled Cleveland out of the lead with three-hit pitching in six innings of relief as Detroit won 3-0.

New York took over by two percentage points. The Yanks also gained a one-game edge in the all-important "lost" column. New York has won 89 and lost 56, with 9 games remaining. Cleveland, with seven left, is 90-57.

* * *

Chicago's White Sox practically fell out of the fight with a 13-7 thrashing at Kansas City.

Boston played to the hilt the "spoiler" role it shares with Detroit. A three-run surge chased starter Whitey Ford in the eighth and gave the Red Sox a 4-3 advantage. But then, in a twinkling, it was all over.

* * *

Bauer connected on a 1-1 pitch off Kinder, who by baseball standards should be drawing social security. The 41-year-old righthander fed Berra a fast ball and Yogi gobbled it up.

In the process of claiming the lead for the first time since Aug. 30, the Yankees lost Mickey Mantle, who leads the league with 37 homers. He pulled a muscle in his right thigh beating out a bunt against Boston starter Frank Sullivan in the second.

* * *

An official report on the injury will have to wait until Mickey tests the leg today. But Mantle admitted "it doesn't feel good. I guess I'll be out a couple of days."

The Red Sox got only brief service from Ted Williams, who had a badly swollen right ankle after being hit by his own foul ball in a game with Kansas City Wednesday. Ted did make one appearance as a pinch hitter and walked, but the Yankees got out of the inning without the Red Sox scoring.

Mickey's bunt led to the first run off Sullivan and Berra's first homer made it 3-0 in the fifth. Sullivan, who's won 18, has yet to beat the Yanks, who have supplied half of his eight defeats.

* * *

Reliefer Jim Konstantly, although giving up a pinch double to Faye Throneberry that scored the lead run in the eighth, held on for his seventh victory. Kinder meanwhile, lost his fourth straight.

In the other AL action, last place Baltimore swept a pair from Washington, the only club with an edge over Cleveland, 5-4 and 8-7.

The National League champion Brooklyn Dodgers beat New York 4-3 as Gil Hodges homered twice. Willie Mays hit one for the Giants to claim the major league lead with 16.

Robin Roberts won his 23rd as Philadelphia beat Pittsburgh 8-1.

By H. GUY MOATS

In a battle of Indians (Wyandottes and Ottawas), the downriver Detroit eleven scalped Pontiac's Chiefs, Friday night, 25-6.

Both home towns of the embattled gridiron squads, in Wisner Memorial Stadium, were long ago the strongholds of the two famed tribes.

The visiting 'Dots struck hard and fast, in the 2nd and 3rd periods to clinch their victory over a shaky PHS club, that condensed most of its spectacular efforts in the final period.

With an all-veteran front wall that averaged better than 190 pounds, and a set of capable backs sparked by sturdy, close-to-the-ground halfback Sammy Contino, Chiefs were outplayed and outgunned in the 1st half. Coach Ed Graybiel's club came back after intermission to check the 'Dots running game, only to run into an effective aerial attack.

Wyandotte got its 1st tally on the 1st play of the 2nd period. Dick Hoffheins' team had battered its way without a break, from its own 20, following a PHS punt, to the Chiefs one stripe as the opening period ended. Ken Orr jammed over. Orr also connected for the next TD within 6 minutes, on a similar drive, from the five. This push began on the 'Dots 45.

Final tally for the visitors came on a pass play from Contino to big Joe Antolovich, in the 3rd session. 'Dots had taken over on the Pontiac 18, after Casteel's perfect peg to Frank Whitlock was dropped.

The big 'Dot end grabbed the ball out from under the fingers of Chiefs Jim Shorter, and fell across the goal line.

A few minutes previously, Bill Swartz had driven over for the 3rd Wyandotte counter, on a punch from the two-yard mark. The play was set up by a long run by Tom Sadanowics that almost went all the way.

Chiefs lone marker was the most spectacular effort of the game. Speedster Freeman Watkins, although hampered by a sore heel, took off from his own 11, after Chiefs had stopped a 'Dot drive only 6 inches from the goal line. He had a breakaway block from big Bob Holloway then scrambled his way through most of the opposing team, and then just ran over and away from the rest of the field. The TD gallop covered 89 yards, more than half of the total yardage gained by Pontiac.

PHS backs Bob Casteel, Watkins, Charles Spann and Taylor, did a good job against heavy odds. Holloway was probably the most active in the front line, along with Ted Wiersema.

'Dots backs, a half dozen of them, were all good. Joe Sacka, and Antolovich, ends, with pivotman Steve Stieler and Gray Mann, linebackers, were outstanding.

A surprisingly big crowd witnessed the season's opener in Wisner stadium, with the fine PHS band presenting an excellent program on the Indian theme at halftime.

'DOT GET TD — Joe Antolovich (28), Wyandotte High's agile and facile flanker was snapped by the Press camera just as he grabbed a 14-yard pass on PHS' goal line last night. The completed aerial was good for a touchdown, the 4th and final counter in the 'Dots 25-6 victory at Wisner Stadium. In almost identical pose to Antolovich is Chief's Jim Shorter (28).

Horseshoe Pitchers Duel Monday Night

Horseshoe clubs organized by the Pontiac and Waterford recreation departments will meet in season-ending matches Monday night at Oakland Park. Matches will be held under the lights beginning at 7:30 p.m.

About 10 pitchers from each club will compete in both singles and doubles. The winning team receives the traveling trophy, an award created by the two departments. Winner maintains possession of the trophy in a year-to-year basis. Monday night's meeting opens the annual series between the two clubs.

Record for Home Runs Broken by NL Sluggers

NEW YORK (AP)—At least one new line will go into baseball's record book at the end of the season. It will read — most home runs by a league in one season, National League.

Just what the next figure will be is anybody's guess. But the National League sluggers ran the total to 1,206 with nine home runs last night, far past the old mark of 1,197 established in 1953.

Reliefer Hoyt Wilhelm of the Giants beat the Milwaukee Braves three times at the New York Polo grounds during the 1954 pennant campaign.

USAC to Handle '56 Auto Racing

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—The United States Auto Club was in business today preparing to take over supervision of American auto racing next year.

One of its organizers said, "We're going after everything."

The statement came from Judge George M. Ober of Speedway City, who served as chairman of the temporary committee set up to form the new organization.

It pointed up the fact that the Indiana incorporation papers filed yesterday are broad enough to cover every type of auto racing, speed and economy tests, and all the usual auto club services to motorists.

Tempo VIII Regarded as Regatta's Top Boat

WASHINGTON (AP)—Tempo VII, Guy Lombardo's supercharged hydroplane, was rated the boat to beat today in the 24th running of the President's Cup Regatta.

Tempo, winner of the Silver Cup at Detroit earlier this summer, was one of a record field of a dozen big speedboats entered in the race, which was expected to draw 50,000 persons to the banks of the Potomac River today and tomorrow.

12 Red Wings Signed

SAULT STE. MARIE (AP)—Detroit Red Wings hockey club had 12 players under contract today.

General manager Jack Adams signed 11 players yesterday at the Wings training camp. Veteran star Gordie Howe signed before the training season opened.

Among those signing yesterday were veteran forwards Alex Delvecchio and Bill Dineen.

Insiders Picking Rocky, but Call Moore Dangerous

By MURRAY ROSE

GROSSINGER, N.Y. (AP)—A heavy majority of boxing's "insiders," the fighters, trainers and manager, pick heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano to beat Archie Moore in their title fight Sept.

Some hedge somewhat by saying Moore will be "dangerous for five or six rounds" but if it goes beyond that it will be curtains for the 38-year-old light-heavyweight king.

Manager Jack (Doc) Kearns and ex-Manager Tex Sullivan, now matchmaker at New York's St. Nicholas Arena, were the only one of some 20 boxing men we talked to who pick Moore to win. Both are close to Charley Johnston, Moore's manager, so they may be using rose-colored glasses.

"Moore has a good chance of busting him up," said Sullivan. "He'll win if it goes all the way and he could take it by a kayo if he nails Rocky right."

"Archie will win after a rough, tough fight," said Kearns. "They'll both be on the floor before it's over. Archie will win on his superior boxing and expereince."

"Rocky will wear that guy down until there'll be nothing left of him," said Abe Attell, a featherweight champion of long ago. "I've never seen any heavyweight who throws punches like Marciano does for 15 rounds. He's the most tireless heavyweight ever."

"Rocky is just too powerful," said former light-heavyweight champion Bob Olin.

Gromek Feels Sad After Win Over Cleveland

Shutout (3-0) Pushes Tribe Out of Lead in Hot AL Race

CLEVELAND (AP)—"It's the saddest game I ever won!"

That was the surprising clubhouse reaction of Steve Gromek to his brilliant pitching against the Indians last night that dumped his former Cleveland teammates out of first place.

"Sure, I wanted to win real bad while I was out there pitching," he said after hurling the Detroit Tigers to a 3-0 triumph that sent the Indians into second place, two percentage points behind the New York Yankees. "But now that it's over, I don't enjoy the victory very much. I got quite a kick when I beat them right after they traded me away. But this is different. It might cost them the pennant."

The 35-year-old righthander, traded by Cleveland to Detroit in 1953, stopped his ex-mates cold, holding them to three scattered hits in six innings after relieving the injured Billy Hoeft in the fourth. A two-run single by Earl Torgeson with two out in the seventh ended a scoreless mound duel between Gromek and Early Wynn.

Skippers Down West Bloomfield, 58-0

By HARRY REED

Waterford High School Skippers lived up to pre-season "powerhouse" claims last night, as they blasted West Bloomfield's Presidents with a 58-0 scoring spree as the prep grid season opened throughout the area.

The Milford Redskins made sure Oxford didn't get another undefeated season started, as they hacked out a 26-13 triumph.

In other contests, Walled Lake scored late in the game to gain a 7-7 tie with Redford Union.

Halfback Linday Salathiel was the big gun for the high scoring Skippers, racking up 3 TD's. Norm Probert, Bill Clark, Tom Bryce, Ed Clark and LeRoy Vogl each accounted for one. Clayton Roth made four conversions.

The fleet Salathiel opened the barrage after 4 minutes of play, hitting pay dirt on a 40 yard reverse. Offering scrappy resistance at times, the inexperienced Keego youngsters threatened briefly when Waterford fumbled the opening kickoff, but failed to move it from the 26.

Salathiel reached the one on a pass from quarterback Tom Bryce. After a 5 yard penalty, Clark swept around end. In the 2nd quarter, Salathiel scored again on a reverse, and Terry Kaines plunged over from the 5.

Final blow from Salathiel, which broke Keego resistance, was a 95 yard touchdown sprint with a flat pass interception up on the 5. Following a score by fullback Norm Probert, Ed Clark brought the afternoon crowd to its feet with a-twisting ramble through the West Bloomfield team, which climaxed in a score only after Skipper Gary Meeker blocked out the last tackler.

Milford scorers were Jim Davison on a pass from Lee Averill, Gary Himes, who picked up 2 TD's, and Fred Baker. Clyde Groves, a left half, and Pete Earp, a converted tackle now in the backfield, scored for Oxford.

Romeo squeaked by Richmond, 25-21, but was knocking on the door for an insurance marker when the final gun sounded.

Air Force Brass Ordered to Get Healthy Exercise

WASHINGTON (INS)—The Air Force, disturbed by recent heart attacks among its generals has instructed them to take at least one afternoon a week off to play golf or get some equivalent exercise.

* * *

The order was given verbally by Gen. Thomas D. White, deputy chief of staff, who explained that there have been too many deaths from heart attacks brought on by overwork.

Maj. Gen. Dan C. Ogle, air surgeon general, is preparing a letter that will put the instruction into writing for all commands. The Air Force said the letter will stress that it is part of an officer's duty to keep himself physically fit.

Spokesmen said that the order applies to all officers, but it is primarily designed for those over 40.

Several air officers, including Brig. Gens. Donald B. Smith, Jack Roberts and Casey Vincent, have died recently of heart attacks. Two others, Lt. Gens. Bryant L. Boatner and Laurence Craigie, retired after developing heart ailments.

"We don't want deaths and disability from overwork to become an occupational hazard in the air force," spokesmen added.

10-Day Record Toppled by GM

Early September Sales Are Highest in History, Curtice Reports

DETROIT—Retail sales of General Motors passenger cars in the United States during the first 10 days of Septpember were the highest in history for that period, President Harlow H. Curtice announced today.

The all-time sales records were established in both new and used car sales, Curtice said. Sales in both categories for 1955 through Sept. 10 also represented all-time peaks for that period of the year.

All five GM passenger car divisions—Chevrolet, Pontiac, Oldsmobile, Buick and Cadillac—recorded new highs in both new and used car sales for both the first 10 days of September and for 1955 through Sept. 10.

Domestic deliveries of new cars by GM dealers during the first 10 days of the month totaled 103,968, or 148.5 per cent of the figure for the corresponding period of 1954. For 1955 through September 10, new car sales by GM dealers totaled 2,701,040, or 139.7 per cent of the 1954 mark for the same period.

Used car sales by GM dealers for the first 10 days of September were 124,928, which was 129.6 per cent of the total for the same period a year ago. This brought 1955 used car sales through September 10 to 3,478,415, or 129.8 per cent of the figure for the corresponding period of 1954.

Parity Means Fair Deal on Farm

WASHINGTON (INS) — What is parity?

The term is used glibly every day by farmers and non-farmers alike, but most people have only a hazy idea what it actually means—primarily because parity can't be defined in one short sentence.

Webster says it's "the quality or condition of being equal or equivalent," but farm parity means a great deal more than that.

As spelled out by Congress, parity for agricultural products is that price which will give those products equal value or equal purchasing power in terms of goods and services purchased by farmers during an historical base period when they were relatively prosperous.

The years from 1910 to 1914 have been selected as such a period.

Thus the concept is that if farmers today are paying 2½ times what they paid in 1910-14 for such things as food, seed, fuel, taxes and mortgage interest, then they must receive two and one-half times what their commodities brought in the base period in order to achieve parity.

MONTHLY LIST

Each month the Agriculture Department's crop reporting board computes and publishes parity prices for approximately 160 commodities. Month-to-month changes in parity reflect changes in farmers' operating and living costs.

* * *

Congress has from time to time made changes in the formula for computing parity so that at the present time there are actually three formulas—"old parity," "modernized parity" and "transitional parity."

Under old parity, prices were determined by taking the average price of the commodity in 1910-14 and multiplying by the current index of prices the farmers pay. The index in mid-August stood at 279.

If, for example, beef cattle sold for $5.50 per hundredweight in 1910-14, August parity for this commodity would be computed by multiplying $5.50 by 279. The result is $15.34 and one-half cents a hundred.

'OLD PARITY' ITEMS

After Jan. 1, 1950 old parity continued in use for only a few commodities—corn, wheat, cotton and peanuts—with the proviso that no parity price could be reduced more than five per cent in any one year as a result of applying the modernized parity formula.

* * *

Prices determined by this method are arrived at under the so-called transitional parity formula; in other words, they are the result of the gradual shift from old to modernized parity.

Modernized parity provides a method for reflecting more recent price relationships among commodities. It also sets up better procedure for computing parity on some commodities that were unimportant or virtually unknown in 1910-14.

The starting point is the average price of the commodity in the most recent 10 years. This is divided by the index of all prices received for the same 10-year period to obtain an "adjusted base price." The adjusted base price is then multiplied by the current index of prices farmers pay.

* * *

For example, corn sold for an average of $1.49 per bushel in 1945-54 and the index of all prices received in that period was 261.

Consumption of Newsprint at New High

NEW YORK (AP)—Newsprint consumption reached a record high for the month of August and also 1955, according to the American Newspaper Publishers Assn.

Newspapers reporting to the ANPA consumed 384,679 tons of newsprint in August, 6.6 per cent more than the 360,825 tons in the like month a year ago.

For the first eight months of 1955, reporting newspapers used 3,260,187 tons, an increase of 7.6 per cent over the 3,029,784 tons in the same period of 1954.

Trade sources have attributed the increased consumption to higher newspaper circulation and a rise in consumer advertising, resulting in fatter papers.

TODAY'S ASSIGNMENT FOR: JUNIOR EDITORS

READIN' 'N WRITIN' 'N 'RITHMETIC—6.
A Game With Figures

How good are you with figures? And how carefully do you handle money?

It's hard to know the best way to spend the money we earn and are given. Certainly, we can't buy everything in sight just because it appeals to us at the moment. On the other hand, it's good to make a wise purchase of things we need.

Here's a game that will show you how money goes — and how you can save it. Two people may play at the same time.

First paste this page on stiff cardboard. Color it with crayons, making the figures in different bright colors to show up well.

You can see that Jimmy and Joan each have 25 cents apiece. Here and there they increase their money, by earning it or finding it in an unused pocket or being given it by Mother. The big figures in the squares represent the amount of the gain.

But sometimes they see things to buy: a doll or ball or ice cream cone or sailboat. If they want to buy them it means they will have to pay out the amount marked from the money they have.

To play the game one of you is Jimmy, the other Joan. You enter at the point marked IN. Follow the arrows. Add the large numbers to the first 25 cents. When you come to something, decide whether you want to buy it. If you do, subtract the price from your total — and stick to your decision. If you don't buy it, your total remains the same. Which of you will reach OUT with the more money?

Pencil Makers Use Graphites

There's No Lead Found in Manufacture of Vital Writing Implement

WASHINGTON—In these days of peace the pencil is mightier than the pen, at least in numbers. And in two notable instances it was not the pen, nor even the sword, but the pencil that wrote history in wartime.

* * *

Today the same instrument that set down the first drafts of "The Star-Spangled Banner" and the Gettysburg Address sells at the rate of nine to one over all other types of writing tools.

The standard 7-inch model, says the National Geographic Society, is made of 25 or more products from around the globe. It contains wax from Brazil, clay from England, gum from Iran, zinc from New Jersey, graphite from Mexico and Ceylon, and sperm whale oil from the South Pacific.

The so-called lead encased within actually is graphite. Greeks, Romans, and Egyptians used discs of real lead for ruling lines on papyrus, and 14th-century artists made fine line drawings with lead. But since 1564 lead has been associated with writing in name only.

CONTAIN CLAY

Today's school-desk pencil contains 7 parts of clay to 10 of graphite. Harder pencils have more clay. Seventeen grades of hardness are made—from softest 6B to super-hard 9H for tombstone designers.

* * *

Altogether there are 350 styles and types of pencils. Some write on white-hot steel. Others cut into glass. And still others camouflage furniture nicks and scratches.

Surgeons map out operation areas with special skin pencils, while chemists mark their glassware with wax pencils that melt at 300 degrees. Women use one type on their eyebrows and various others for writing on children's boots, jelly glasses, and freezer food packages.

Heaviest consumers are industrial concerns followed by school children and government employes.

'STRANGER AT TWO AREA THEATERS — Olivia De Havilland and Robert Mitchum (above) co-star with Frank Sinatra in "Not As a Stranger." The film opens Sunday at both the Blue Sky and Pontiac Drive-Ins.

'MGM Parade' Provides Entertaining Movie Clips

By JACK O'BRIAN

NEW YORK (INS)—"MGM Parade" in its ABC-TV premiere this week had three fine entertaining snippets of old MGM movies.

* * *

All were good enough to highlight the biggest variety shows anywhere:

Judy Garland singing the adorable "Please, Mr. Gable" sequence from Broadway Melody of 1938 (Judy was 12).

Fred Astaire and George Murphy dancing in Broadway Melody of 1940.

Cyd Charisse in a lithe and exciting dance from her latest MGM movie...

Disneyland got off officially on its right fall foot with "Dumbo," and we were sad only when we had to switch away at the halfway hour...to look in on A. Godfrey & Friends, which returned approximately the same as always, but slower and with even less plan or concept...

Godfrey was breaking in still another TV bandleader, Bert Farber...

Even Julie Harris' excellent neo-Colleen mummery couldn't make the U.S. Steel - Theater Guild drama entirely believable.

It was a mood play needing either more mood or story.

Molly Goldberg went blonde for her TV films.

Judy Garland starts her TV rehearsals at 9 p.m. and goes all night, as she did shooting "A Star is Born." Says Judy':

"I think straighter, sing louder and laugh harder after 9."

---

Lee Ann Merriwether has managed in one year as Miss America to become a nice, natural performer, articulate and attractive as a TV actress, and should have smooth dramatic sailing hereon...

Man, 46, Clears His Conscience in 1930 Murder

VIROQUE, Wis. (AP) —Raymond Kroll, who preferred to sacrifice his freedom rather than live out his life tormented by his conscience, went to prison today to pay his debt to society.

The 46-year-old Davenport, Iowa, man, father of four children, began serving a 7 to 14 year term in the Waupun State Prison for a killing 25 years ago. He pleaded guilty yesterday before Circuit Judge Lincoln Neprud to a charge of third degree murder.

* * *

A former resident of La Crosse, Wis., Kroll told authorities that as a young man of 21, he and a companion never named by police, attempted to hold up a rural resident named Clarence Sutherland.

When Sutherland reached for a gun, Kroll said, he fired a shot at the man and fled. Sutherland received no medical attention for some time and later died of complications.

* * *

Kroll went to Davenport where he married, reared four children and led a life of quiet respectability. He finally decided to turn himself in "to clear his conscience," he told authorities. A mental test found him sane and he was permitted to enter his pleas.

Doomed Killer Naps in Quiet Death Cell

EDDYVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Ed Milam had just two hours to live when he woke Thursday night from a sound sleep.

He stretched out in his cell in the state penitentiary and napped even while preparations were being made for his execution.

Warden Jess Buchanan said yesterday chaplain Paul Jagger found Milam asleep when he went to the cell at 10 p.m.

Milam died for killing Stephen Farmer, a liquor store clerk, during an attempted holdup near Fort Campbell.

Flying Godfrey Gets OK to Set 'Copter on Pier

NEW YORK (AP)—Television star Arthur Godfrey, barred by city regulations Thursday from landing a helicopter atop the new West Side Airlines Terminal Building, now has permission to set down on a Hudson River pier next Tuesday.

The landing two days ago was to have been in connection with the opening of the new terminal but was not allowed "in the interest of public safety."

Yesterday Godfrey was told he could land his craft on the offshore end of the roof of Pier 57, at 15th St.

Law Student's Mother Top Scorer in Bar Test

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Mrs. Mary Joe Carroll, mother of a 19-year-old pre-law student in the University of Texas, was among 121 new lawyers admitted to the bar in Texas yesterday.

Mrs. Carroll, the wife of University of Texas history Prof. Dr. H. Bailey Carroll, made the highest grade scored in the bar examinations.

Nixon Is Preparing Farm Policy Talk

WABASH, Ind. (AP) — The Eisenhower administration's farm policy, shaping up as the top issue of the 1956 campaign and already under heavy Democratic attack, was due for a top level defense this afternoon from Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

He promised to fire back in his speech here at the National Plowing Championships at Democrats who blame the administration for falling farm prices.

3 More War Criminals Freed From Jap Prison

TOKYO (AP)—Three of Japan's remaining seven "class A" war criminals were released on parole today from Tokyo's Sugamo prison.

They went immediately to the Imperial Palace grounds to bow in the direction of the Emperor — a symbolic "reporting" of their freedom. Then they went to the nearby Yasukuni shrine, the memorial for Japan's modern war dead, to bow to the spirits of the deceased.

Their release was approved by the Allied powers this week after each had served 10 years of a life sentence.

Leaves Big Estate

Find Driver Guilty in Deaths of 4 Girls

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—The driver of an automobile that jumped a curb and killed four small schoolgirls last March 14 has been convicted of criminal negligence.

A State Supreme Court jury returned the verdict last night against Emil A. Decina, 33-year-old aircraft worker, after 12 hours' deliberation.

Decina, who will be sentenced Sept. 30, faces a maximum five years in jail or $1,000 fine, or both.

The girls, ranging from 6 to 11 years, were walking home from school. A fifth girl was injured but recovered.
