Champion Lands Hair-Raiser on Moore's Head

Flames Consume Plane After Landing Attempt Fails in Tripoli

TRIPOLI, Libya (AP) — Fifteen persons were killed early today in the flaming wreckage of a British airliner which clipped treetops and crashed as it was landing at Tripoli's Idris Airport.

The British Overseas Airways Corp. announced in London that the dead included 13 passengers and 2 crew members, while 27 passengers and 5 of the crew escaped.

A BOAC spokesman declined to give the nationality of the passengers until next of kin were notified.

The plane, a four-engine Argonaut, left London yesterday afternoon for Lagos, Nigeria, in West Africa. Tripoli, the Libyan capital, is on the Mediterranean coast of North Africa.

Survivors were taken to the British military hospital in Tripoli.

The wreckage of the plane was spread over 100 yards. Ten hours after the crash it was still smoldering.

It was believed that some passengers fell out and that others jumped to the ground as the plane crashed.

BOAC Capt. R. D. E. Griffiths, who took over as pilot of the plane when it landed in Rome, was reported injured — but not seriously.

Area Police Alerted for Prison Escapee

Local authorities have been alerted to be on the lookout for a former Oakland County man who last night walked away from a Jackson Prison farm with another inmate.

He is Sam Jenkins, 23, formerly of Drayton Plains, sentenced to a 2½-14-year term in Circuit Court here in 1953 on a larceny charge.

Jenkins and another inmate, Charles Grundy, 24, sentenced from Eaton County for grand larceny, were spotted by a police officer near Charlotte after they rammed a stolen car into a coal pile. Both were believed armed with butcher knives.

They were seen fleeing on foot northeast on M78 where an extensive manhunt is under way.

Dysentery Stalks Tampico as Gulf Port Fights Flood

MEXICO CITY (AP)—A disease epidemic menaced flood-stricken Tampico today. The outbreak came as the Gulf port battled the ravages of the rampaging Panuco River in the wake of Hurricane Hilda.

The unofficial death toll in northeast Mexico stood at 205, with more expected as the floods continued and isolated sections reported. About 400 were listed as missing and 1,000 injured.

Dysentery, which generally stalks the victims of a major flood, broke out among Tampico's 30,000 homeless, almost a third of the 110,000 population.

Two children died from the disease at a concentration center, and 100 more were reported critically ill.

Doctors asked the capital for emergency aid. Medicine was being flown in along with food and clothing.

The airlift still constituted the only means of supplying the flood-isolated city. President Adolfo Ruiz Cortines flew to the coast for a personal inspection.

Four U.S. helicopters arrived to help in the rescue of persons marooned by the Panuco's floodwaters, which had crept to within 150 feet of Tampico's main square.

The Navy Ministry put property damage at a billion and a half pesos (120 million dollars).

A thousand persons trapped on a hill several miles from Tampico were rescued by government launches. But the swift river current prevented the launches from reaching many other isolated communities. Hope for refugees at these points lay with the helicopters.

About 15,000 persons were reported isolated around Soto la Marina, half way between Tampico and Brownsville, Tex.

The hurricane destroyed virtually all crops in the 75-mile-wide swath it cut for about 150 miles inland. Highways and railroads were washed out, and Tampico's docks and airport were badly damaged.

Several hundred tourists from the United States and Canada were stopped at the northern edge of the disaster area but were able to return home.

General to Form Moor Regency

French Cabinet Passes Problems of Morocco to Resident Leader

RABAT, French Morocco (AP) — Gen. Pierre Boyer de Latour, France's resident general in Morocco, set out today on the tough job of making up a regency to oust balky Sultan Mohammed Moulay Arafa.

The French Cabinet had apparently washed its hands of the Moroccan problem, at least for the time being. It told the general to do what he could and as fast as possible.

The Sultan's palace prepared to receive delegations of tribal leaders coming to affirm their loyalty to Moulay Arafa and their opposition to a regency. He repeated a statement that he has no intention of quitting the throne.

In Paris, Premier Edgar Faure turned to the even more complex and difficult problem of Algeria. Faure hoped to work fast before his political enemies can open up on him when the National Assembly reconvenes early next month.

James Allen Renamed

Gov. G. Mennen Williams has re-appointed James C. Allen of Birmingham as State Corporations and Securities Commissioner, for a term expiring Sept. 20, 1959.

Allen was named head of the commission in 1953, and has been a member since 1951.

Infant's Father Begs for Return

Blanket, Bottle Found as Hunt for 6-Day-Old Boy Intensifies

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The father of a tiny infant stolen from a hospital crib pleaded again today for his son's safe return. Fears increased for the breast-fed baby's life.

* * *

Dr. Sanford Marcus' plea followed intensification of the search after the finding of clues in San Jose.

Rewards totaling $5,000 were offered for the return of 6½-pound Robert Marcus; unharmed. Robert is 6 days old, if alive.

The child's 29-year-old mother, near collapse after the loss of her baby only two days after birth, is not responding to treatment, said Dr. Marcus, 34.

"Return of the baby would make everything all right," he added.

Hundreds of police—more than a third of San Francisco's 1,700-man force—were assigned to the case. They are searching for a buxom blonde woman, 35 to 40 years old, whom hospital attendants saw near the nursery just before Robert was snatched.

BLANKET FOUND

At San Jose, 50 miles to the south, a blanket of a type used at Mt. Zion Hospital, from which Robert was taken, was found.

Mrs. Nina Magnoli found it in her yard, only four blocks from the home of Mrs. Henrietta Guerrero, who told police a buxom blonde with a baby asked her Tuesday to heat a bottle of milk.

Another possible clue was a half-filled bottle with a nipple, found in a clump of bushes in a San Jose parking lot by taxicab driver George Adams.

A milk formula which could keep little Robert alive was broadcast and published.

'Buzzing' Complaints Ignored by Godfrey

CHICAGO (AP)—A Civil Aeronautics Administration investigator said today that Arthur Godfrey has failed to heed his request for an answer to charges that Godfrey buzzed an airliner in his private plane.

Investigator Harry Troxell said he will turn the case over to the CAA's legal section at Kansas City.

Ozark Airlines filed a complaint with the CAA charging that Godfrey on Sept. 7 flew his DC3 plane within 100 feet of an Ozark passenger plane shortly after they took off from Chicago's Midway Airport and then crossed in front of it.

11,500 Musicians to Play at Once at UM Halftime

ANN ARBOR (INS)—The largest massed band performance in the world will be presented by 182 high school bands during halftime at the University of Michigan-Northwestern football game Oct. 15.

Approximately 11,500 band members will participate. Nineteen of the bands are from the Detroit area.

Representative Leslie Hudson Predicts Passage of Highway Safety Measures

Similarity between Democratic and Republican sponsored highway-safety programs should put an agreement within easy reach when the Legislature meets in special session next month.

Of the 14 points contained in the plan announced Monday by Gov. Williams, six are in line with points in the GOP program released the same day, Pontiac's State Rep. Leslie H. Hudson (D) said today.

"With the state's administration, controlled by the governor, agreeing substantially with the Republican-controlled legislature I don't see how the people can go without an accident - prevention program during this special session," Hudson stated.

The special session is tentatively set for Oct. 25-28. At that time, the governor will also ask lawmakers to adopt an emergency program for housing mentally retarded children which has been pushed by Oakland County legislators and Probate Judge Arthur E. Moore.

"These are non-partisan issues and I think politics can be set aside to get the necessary laws passed," Hudson declared.

Safety points on which both parties agree, Hudson said, include:

1. A uniform driver-licensing program.

2. Stiffer penalties for those who drive after their licenses have been revoked.

3. State financed driver education training in the public schools.

4. Additional state police and patrol cars.

5. Legalizing use of drunkometer tests in courts.

6. Additional help to bring the state's central file of traffic violations up to date.

Lonardi Orders Solons Disband as First Decree

Argentina's New Chief Restores Names to 2 Peron Provinces

BUENOS AIRES (INS)—The Peronista-controlled Argentine Congress was dissolved today by Maj. Gen. Eduardo Lonardi, the provisional president who is scheduled to be inaugurated tomorrow.

Lonardi issued a decree at his headquarters at Cordoba, 400 miles northwest of Buenos Aires, as a prelude to his expected triumphal entry into the capital city.

The 58-year-old career army man who had aided in deposing President Juan D. Peron after a decade of power also decreed the re-establishment of the names of La Pampa and Chaco Provinces.

LaPampa had been named Eva Peron after Juan Peron's late wife during his reign, and Chaco's name had been changed to Peron.

Mountains of junked pictures of Peron and Eva Peron were piling up in Buenos Aires and throughout the country as the successful rebels stripped them from public offices and from stores and business firms.

TOLL PUT AT 2,000

It still is impossible to give even an approximate guess of the casualty toll in the armed forces during the revolt that began last Friday and ended with Peron's resignation last Monday.

But it is probably no exaggeration to say that upwards of 2,000 civilians lost their lives throughout the country.

This figure includes an estimated 600 members of Peron's "goon squad," the Alianza Nacionalista, who were rubbed out early yesterday morning in Buenos Aires where they had barricaded themselves into their headquarters.

Lonardi was quoted as having said in Cordoba yesterday that he had no intentions of trying to bring Peron to trial.

He was said to believe the fallen strong man must "be judged by posterity."

Peron himself still was under the protection of the Paraguayan embassy. That nation granted the ex-President political asylum on Monday when a Peronist military junta sued for peace with the insurgent army and navy leaders under Lonardi.

Peron spent yesterday aboard a Paraguayan gunboat at a Buenos Aires dock. He was reported in a state of near physical collapse. This morning, Peron was believed either still aboard the vessel or in the embassy building.

There also were unconfirmed rumors that Peron already had reached Paraguay.

Mother Gives Trial Evidence

Farmhand Says Four Men Took Till Boy Into Barn

SUMNER, Miss. (AP)—A teen-age Negro farmhand testified today that four white men in a pickup truck carried Emmett (Bobo) Till into a plantation barn a few hours after the lad was kidnaped.

He said he heard screams come from the barn and saw John W. Milam leave and re-enter the barn with a pistol on his hip.

Milam and his 24-year-old half-brother, Roy Bryant, are accused of murdering the 14-year-old Chicago Negro boy.

The defense is expected to contend he wolf-whistled or made off-colored remarks to Mrs. Bryant.

The Negro farmhand, 18-year-old Willie Reed, said the barn is on the Clint Sheridan plantation in nearby Sunflower County. Milam's brother, Leslie, is manager of the plantation.

Reed was one of the last-minute witnesses the state rounded up during the last two days. He was the first to support widespread speculation that something concerning the deed occurred in Sunflower County.

AFTER DAYLIGHT

Reed said Till was carried to the barn after daylight the morning the boy was taken from his uncle's home in Money, a small community in Leflore County. The body was pulled from the Tallahatchie River in adjoining Tallahatchie County.

Reed's testimony brought a third county—Sunflower—into the case.

The plantation Reed mentioned is near Drew.

Hurricane Janet Rocks Barbados; Caribbean Bound

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Hurricane Janet, now whirling 115-mile winds around her center, lashed Barbados and drove the weather observer there from his station today as it whirled toward the Caribbean.

* * *

It was centered 1,700 miles east-southeast of Miami at 11 a.m.

Hurricane warnings were hoisted along the Windward Island chain from St. Lucia to Grenada.

Northeast storm warnings flew north of St. Lucia to Dominica, and northwest storm warnings south of Grenada to Tobago.

The Windward Island chain stretches north and south from the coast of South America to the Leeward Islands. These two island chains and the Greater Antilles separate the Atlantic and the Caribbean.

* * *

Bridgetown, chief town on Barbados, reported 60-mile winds as early as 9:30 a.m. and said the weather observer had been forced to evacuate his station.

Janet, 10th tropical storm of the year, was moving toward the west at about 16 miles an hour.

CHICAGO (AP)—Frank Lane, general manager of the Chicago White Sox, sent in his resignation today and asked to be released from his contract Oct. 15.

Bonn Remains Opposed to East

Would See Recognition of Other Germany as 'Unfriendly Act'

BONN, Germany (AP)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer declared today that West Germany would regard it as "an unfriendly act" if any third nation established diplomatic relations with Communist East Germany.

Opening Bundestag debate on his agreement to open such formal relations with East Germany's sponsor, the Soviet Union, Adenauer stressed his government's adamant refusal to acknowledge the legitimacy of the East German regime. The regime was given sovereignty by the Russians in negotiations in Moscow this week.

Adenauer declared the East regime had the support of no more than 10 per cent of the 18 million East Germans. Therefore, he added, it had no right to speak for Germany. Slowly and firmly, Adenauer added:

"If a third state were to establish diplomatic relations with the East German regime we would regard it as an unfriendly act."

The House applauded.

The East German government is recognized only by the Soviet Union and its satellites.

Adenauer was reporting to Parliament on his negotiations with Russian leaders in Moscow which led to an agreement to establish diplomatic relations between Bonn and Moscow. The government is asking Parliament to approve this agreement. An overwhelming favorable vote is certain.

Cloudy, Warmer Predicted for Area

Mostly cloudy and warmer is the U. S. Weather Bureau forecast for the day. The mercury is expected to rise to a high of between 70 and 74 and drop to a low of 56 or 60.

Tomorrow the weatherman predicts cloudy skies with showers and continued cool. The high will be near 70 degrees.

Downtown today's low before 8 a.m. was 54 degrees. The mercury reading was 72 at 2 p.m.

U.S. Disarming Plan Called Key to Global Amity

U.N. Assembly Exhorted to Spark Interchange of Military Blueprints

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles today declared the world may be entering a decade of peaceful change which will spell the end of the cold war.

In a general policy declaration before the U. N. General Assembly he stated that the international atmosphere had improved substantially since the 1954 assembly session and that there was a good chance for constructive decisions during the coming months.

He expressed the belief that the situation was ripe for a solution of the German unification problem and that European security was now better than at any time in history.

The situation in the Far East, he said, also was following a "favorable trend" — thanks to the efforts of the U. N. and other governments and individuals to settle differences between Red China and the United States.

"The will of the world community may have operated to avert another war, the scope of which could not surely be limited," Dulles said.

He appealed to the Assembly to endorse President Eisenhower's proposal for an exchange of military blueprints between the United States and Russia and for aerial inspection on a mutual basis.

SOLID BASIS

This, he said, would provide a basis for a solid advance toward the goal of world arms reduction.

Dulles spoke of the ten years of cold war conflict in which the world was beset by limited wars, subversion, arms races and inflexible attitudes.

"That phase may now be ending," he said.

"I believe that all four of the heads of government, who were at Geneva, wanted that result and that each contributed to it. In consequence, a new spirit does indeed prevail, with greater flexibility and less brittleness in international relations."

He declined to say which country had gained most at Geneva, but declared that if the improved atmosphere is to be permanent all must gain.

"The summit meeting, if it is to be historic, rather than episodic," he said, "must usher in an era of peaceful change."

* * *

He said this era should be one in which governments would renounce the use of war and subversion, accept orderly evolution toward their goals and develop friendly economic intercourse among themselves.

"Let us strive together," he said, "that the next decade shall be known as the healing decade of true peace."

Another Entry for City Pooch Party Saturday

Pontiac Press Photo

POOCH AND MISTRESS — Signing up for the city's annual "Pooch Party" set for 2 p. m. Saturday at Oakland Park are Carol Cox, 229 Mechanic St., and her Airedale, Corky. Awards will be made to dog owners in two divisions, 7 to 11 years and 11 to 17 years. They will be based on grooming, tricks, best informed owner and best pet-owner combination. Registering Carol and Corky is Leonard T. Buzz, of the sponsoring Parks and Recreation Dept. Cooperating in the event is the Pontiac Kennel Club. Competition is open to all breeds, "from mongrels on up," said Buzz.

Child Guidance Opening on Tap

Branch in Birmingham Will Begin Its Work After January 23

The Birmingham branch of the Oakland Child Guidance Clinic will open Jan. 23, it was announced at the organization's monthly board meeting, held yesterday in Pontiac.

Mrs. Winthrop Conrad and Mrs. Steele Sellers, Birmingham representatives, made the announcement to the board on behalf of the Birmingham Junior League, sponsors of the new branch. Location of the Birmingham clinic will be 386 E. Maple Ave., it was reported.

The board also appointed representatives to the Greater Pontiac Community Council, an organization to devise ways to meet community needs and to explain and promote social agencies. Named as delegates were clinic director Madeleine Half and William L. Treanor, board member.

Two student caseworkers were introduced to the board. They are Joann Kennedy and James Fennelly, both working toward masters' degrees at Wayne University.

Chinese Report Raids on Langtao Island

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—The Chinese Nationalists' official Central News Agency today reported that Nationalist commandos Monday "raided" Langtao, a tiny island heretofore depicted as one of their own Matsu group.

The Defense Ministry, asked about this, said it would make inquiries.

Central News said the report came from Matsu, main island in the group.

Langtao, also known as Lorne, is only two fifths of a square mile in area. It is 15 miles off the tip of the mainland's Huangchi Peninsula and is 17 miles northeast of Matsu.

Central News said the commandos found the island unoccupied.

Republic of Korea to Get 50 More U.S. Sabrejets

SEOUL (INS)—The Republic of Korea Defense Minister Sohn Won Yil said today that his nation will receive 50 Sabrejet fighters from the United States by the end of the year.

The ROK air force now has five Sabrejets, one wing of propeller-driven F5F fighters, four C46 transports and ten T33 jet trainers.

Report Typhoon Moving Toward Philippines

TOKYO (INS)—U. S. Air Force weather officers reported today that the season's latest typhoon, Kate, was moving toward the Philippines with maximum winds of 140 miles per hour.

The storm was spotted east of Luzon Island moving in a west-northwesterly direction at the rate of twelve miles per hour.

U.S. Hurricane Victims Get $25,000 From Soviet

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Russian Red Cross and Red Crescent societies have donated $25,000 for the sufferers from flood and hurricane in the eastern United States.

Sergei R. Striganov, charge d'affaires at the Russian Embassy, presented the gift to the American National Red Cross yesterday. He said this is the first time in recent years that a Soviet humanitarian organization has contributed to one in this country.

Slaying Victim Not Detroit Divorcee

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)—Fingerprints have revealed that a slaying victim found in the Mohave Desert last Sunday was not a former Detroit divorcee, as was first believed.

The body had been tentatively identified by a friend as that of Mrs. Martha Dravage, now of Santa Monica, Calif.

Santa Monica detectives said yesterday records showed Mrs. Dravage was arrested last July 27 on an intoxication charge. They showed a record photo of her to associates, who identified the arrested woman as Mrs. Dravage, they said.

Checking, authorities learned Mrs. Dravage's fingerprints were different from those of the slaying victim. Mrs. Dravage's whereabouts are not known.

The woman had been slain with a tire iron or other blunt instrument, Pathologist Thomas Jones said she had been dead at least a week.

Air Force Torture Training Condemned

WASHINGTON (INS) — Rep. Usher Burdick (R-ND) calls the Air Force survival training course "the most diabolical system ever adopted by any country."

Burdick referred to the Steed Air Force base school near Reno, Nev., where selected groups are taught how to withstand torture if captured by an enemy. Many of the school's instructors were prisoners during the Korean War.

The GOP lawmaker said only "midget minds" could have reached the conclusion "that boys inducted into the Armed Forces should be schooled in punishment . . ."

Answer Scheduled to Segregation Suit

Pontiac School Board attorneys will present their written answer in Detroit Federal Court tomorrow morning to a suit filed Sept. 13 charging segregation is being practiced in local public schools.

The suit was started by Pontiac attorney Milton R. Henry. He alleges location of the new Lake Street School so it will have predominately Negro pupils violates two U.S. Supreme Court rulings ordering integration in public school systems.

School officials said no segregation is intended and the school was built in the best location to meet needs. A date is expected to be set tomorrow at which verbal arguments will be heard.

Her 50 Phones Removed After 119,259 Calls

NEW YORK (INS) — Film actress Joyce Gordon had her telephone—plus 49 extensions—cut off today. Too many calls.

The New York Telephone Company acted after Joyce's number was called by 119,259 persons—82,060 got a busy signal—in a 12-hour period Tuesday, the exchange was jammed and subscribers complained.

Joyce answered each of the 37,198 successful callers to her widely advertised phone number with "Hello, honey," and a pitch for a new Columbia Pictures film opening in New York today.

Nation Marks Last Full Day of the Summer

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Cold air from Canada brought a touch of autumn weather to wide areas across the northern tier of states today, the last full day of the summer season.

However, it was summerlike weather in most of the Southland and the Southern Plains. Temperatures were in the 90s yesterday. The day's high was 100 at Yuma, Ariz. The lowest was 13 at Fraser, Colo.

* * *

The cool air moved slowly southward over the northern Rockies and into northwest sections of the plains. Temperatures were generally in the 30s or low 40s this morning.

* * *

Normally cool weather prevailed in the upper Great Lakes region, the Central Plains and in most of the Far West. It also was a little cooler in the northeastern part of the country, including the mid-Atlantic coast as far south as Delaware, as strong northwest winds brought in cool air from Canada. At Mt. Washington, N. H., winds up to 55 m.p.h were reported. It was 21 degrees.

Pontiac Deaths

Mrs. Frank Stonewall

Mrs. Frank (Mable Polly) Stonewall, 78, died this morning at her home, 654 Westbrook Ave. after a two week illness.

She was born in Illinois Aug. 31, 1877, the daughter of Milke Barker. Mrs. Stonewall had lived in the county 17 years, coming here from South Dakota. She came to Pontiac two weeks ago from Keego Harbor to live with her daughter, Mrs. Margaret Cole.

Besides Mrs. Cole, she is survived by another daughter, Mrs. Effie Erhle of South Dakota; three sons, Harvey of Illinois, Melvin and Ralph, both of Pontiac.

Mrs. Stonewall is at the Pursley Funeral Home. Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

Predicts State Going Democrat in '56 Vote

FLINT (AP) — Rep. Hayworth (D-Mich) predicts a strong Democrat victory in Michigan in the 1956 presidential election.

He told the Genesee County Democratic committee last night that the 1954 fall election and the 1955 April election both pointed to continuing party triumphs in the state.

Hayworth spoke against the Harris Bill passed by the house in the last session of Congress. The measure would remove federal controls over the wellhead price of natural gas. The congressman estimated such a move would increase the cost of gas to Genesee County consumers from one to two million dollars.

said she positively identified the body sent to Chicago for burial as her son.

"I looked at the face very carefully. I just looked at it very carefully," the 33-year-old mother said softly.

"I was able to find out that it was my son, Emmett Louis Till."

Mrs. Bradley began crying as Dist. Atty. Gerald Chatham handed her a picture of the boy's body. She pulled off her glasses and wiped her eyes.

She said she was positive the body in the picture was her son.

Lawyers showed her a ring they said had been taken from the body after it came from the Tallahatchie River Aug. 31. She identified it as her son's ring.

The silver signet ring is vital in the state's attempt to prove the body in the river was young Till's.

Wonder Metal —Magnesium

War Baby Mushrooms Into Most Sought-After Commercial Ore

WASHINGTON—Magnesium, the light, silvery metal from the sea, is turning its strange talents to wider and wider uses.

* * *

An all-magnesium jet plane, first of its kind, flies tests this summer. Householders buy magnesium ladders, luggage, lawn mowers, power tools. Photographic flash bulbs blaze with the metal's bright burning. As "martyr blocks," it lures corrosion away from other metals.

A war baby 10 years ago, magnesium now makes baby buggies. It is light—one third lighter than aluminum — and thus highly useful for fast-moving parts of machines. It s strong and rigid, as in new truck and bus bodies. It is easiest of all structural metals to machine.

Magnesium is earth's sixth most abundant element, the National Geographic Society says. And its raw ore, sea water, is inexhaustible.

THE ENTIRE OCEAN

Magnesium salts exist in every drop of ocean. There is enough in all the oceans to give the world's entire land area a shiny six-foot-thick coat of armor.

Today America's magnesium metal comes exclusively from Gulf salt water. Magnesium salts are precipitated, converted, dried and melted in electric vats. Silver-white metal is skimmed off the top like cream.

Close to 70,000 tons of magnesium were produced in 1954, against 106,000 tons at the height of the Korean war. A pound of magnesium now costs 28½ cents. Aluminum, its chief competitor, costs about 23 cents.

* * *

One of magnesium's oddest abilities is to protect iron or steel against corrosion by salt water or damp earth. A block or rod of it is attached to a ship's hull, a buried pipe, or similar structure. By galvanic action, the magnesium will corrode first. The sacrifice block will dissolve completely away before the steel will be harmed.

The Day in Birmingham

Women Voters Group Sets Annual Finance Campaign

BIRMINGHAM—This week's distribution of the League of Women Voters "They Represent You" political directory coincides with Citizenship Week, and is one of the league's contributions made possible through its annual finance drive.

This year's $2,200 campaign gets under way on Monday, with the biennial guide listing national, state and local officials being mailed with solicitations.

Funds are used to underwrite the league's program of voter education, "by promoting political responsibility through informed and active participation of citizens in government," explained a league representative. Mrs. Bernard Magruder is finance chairman.

A non-partisan organization, the league also publishes its Voters Guide before each election, a pamphlet giving background information on issues and candidates, with a statement from each.

Most recently, a survey was made on the effect of foreign trade on local business men. The September issue of "Inside Michigan" summarizes this and other such surveys made throughout the state.

A request this week from Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lambert, 1705 E. 14 Mile Rd., asking that the city annex their Troy Township property adjacent to Birmingham, brought to light a peculiar situation and ended with the City Commission asking for a report on annexation of this and a few other parcels.

City Manager Donald C. Egbert will report back to the commission after investigation into the remaining Troy Township properties adjacent to Birmingham, which will not be included in the incorporation of Troy as a city. The few parcels could continue as a township without their owners consent to annexation.

A 34-year-old mother of two children has come down with polio, increasing the city's 1955 total to six, City Health Nurse Anyce Gillette reported yesterday. The woman is suffering a nonparalytic type and has been released from the hospital, she said.

Coffee hours for mothers of first graders at Quarton School will be held from 10 to 11:30 a.m. tomorrow, when room mothers open their homes as follows:

Mothers of the class of Mrs. Betty Bienemah with Mrs. Howard Linder; those of Mrs. Gloria Edwards' class with Mrs. Donald Frey and those of the class of Mrs. Janet Jones at Mrs. Frederick Matthaei Jr.'s home.

600 German POWs Due for Release by Russia

HANNOVER, Germany (AP)—Six hundred German war prisoners are expected to return to Germany from Russia this weekend, welfare officials disclosed here today.

They are the first of 9,626 prisoners which Premier Nikolai Bulganin promised the West and East German governments to release.

Some of the returnees may stop in East Germany at former homes. Most, however, are expected to continue to West Germany.

Injured Bicycle Rider Rallies at St. Joseph

BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP—St. Joseph Mercy Hospital officials in Pontiac report Carol Bennett, 11-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bennett, in good condition today.

She suffered a fractured skull and broken collarbone Tuesday night when she drove her bicycle out of her driveway at 750 East Square Lake Rd. and was struck by an auto driven by Donald L. Parker, 29, of Detroit.

Adenauer Insult Labeled Untrue

U. S. Officials Refute Charge Bohlen Accused German of Betrayal

WASHINGTON (AP)—U. S. officials say "it just isn't true" that Ambassador Charles E. Bohlen accused German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer of betraying an American secret.

• • •

Bohlen himself, vacationing in Cambridge, Mass., from his Moscow post, declined to comment on the news story, carried yesterday in the Bonn newspaper Abendpost.

The paper quoted Adenauer as saying in an off-the-record talk with six American correspondents that Bohlen made the charge during a "temperamental" exchange with Herbert Blankenhorn, Bonn's ambassador to NATO.

The paper said the incident occurred during Adenauer's recent negotiations in Moscow and involved a Russian protest against the launching of American propaganda balloons from Germany. The report said that Adenauer promised to take up the matter with American authorities and that Bohlen made the charge when he was approached about it.

Man Takes Busman's Holiday With Plaster

He's a plasterer by trade—and his hobby is working with plaster.

He spends much of after work hours casting African masks—putting in plaster what the Africans make of wood.

• • •

Brown tries to catch in the characteristic head types of different tribes what he thinks may be a spiritual theme such as might be caught in music or painting.

He mounts them on expanded metal—a wire mesh—and frames them in shadow boxes.

'Fishy' Finish

ST. LOUIS — Paint manufacturers produce a coating that gives a pearl-like finish by adding a substance derived from fish scales to a paint that protects both wood and metal surfaces. This pearly luster is often applied to fishing lures.

Paper Workers' Total to Double in India

BOMBAY—India's paper-producing industry employs some 26,000 persons, 2,100 of whom are technical personnel.

• • •

The industry is expanding; in the next five years the employment figure is expected to climb to 54,000. The capital investment in the industry at present is $45,610,000.

Nonogenarian Takes 33rd Trip to Peru

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Mrs. Harriet Hamilton, who juts celebrated her 91st birthday is on her 33rd round trip between here and Lima, Peru.

Mrs. Hamilton, who lives in Tampa, visits her nieces, Misses Martha and Esther Villalva, in Lima at least three times a year and has logged more than 170,000 miles of air travel between the two countries.

A native of Peru, Mrs. Hamilton lives in Panama from 1905 to 1930 with her late husband, one of the builders of the Panama Canal.

In former years she traveled to Peru by boat.

Animals Grow Bigger, Better, Experts Report

WASHINGTON — Man's animals, like man himself, show a decided tendency today to live longer and grow larger.

Dogs, for one, enjoy greater expectancy. A dog's life two decades ago averaged out at seven or eight years. Now authorities say the average dog lives 11 to 13 years, thanks to better foods and veterinary care.

Scientific breeding and feeding show even more striking results on the farm, the National Geographic Society says. Beef cattle are beefier, milk cows milkier. Young pigs and chickens grow fast. The entire barnyard stays healthier, boosting longevity.

Whether dogs as a canine family are growing gradually larger is doubtful. Selection of mates can work great changes in a given breed. But the ancient wolflike wild dogs were quite close in size to today's dogs.

Horses are a different story. Eohippus, the Dawn Horse, grew some 45,000,000 years ago scarcely larger than a big tomcat. Its early descendants stood about the size of a fox terrier.

Neither dogs nor cats, no matter how they thrive on today's growth feeds, serums, and wonder medicines, are apt to become giants or to match man in longevity.

Harpers Ferry Now Monument

Plan Museum at Site of Famed John Brown Rebellion

WASHINGTON — A national monument is edveloping at Harpers Ferry where John Brown's rifles once rattled and Stonewall Jackson's cannon roared.

• • •

West Virginia has given 500 acres, including a portion of the town, to the Harpers Ferry National Monument project. Maryland, facing the town across the Potomac River, may donate 800 more.

The National Park Service envisages a museum and restored buildings, tied together by pleasant walks and trails extending to the Civil War trenches on Bolivar Heights directly behind the town, says the National Geographic Society.

Famed mainly for John Brown's abortive raid in 1859, Harpers Ferry clings to a ridged tongue of land above the turbulent meeting of the Potomac and Shenandoah Rivers, 50 miles northwest of Washington. Neighboring hills loom gaunt in winter and soften under dense summer foliage.

The sleepy, ante-bellum community was suddenly aroused on Oct. 16-17 when John Brown's abolitionist raiders, hopeful of a slave uprising, seized the town armory. Virginia and Maryland militia later cornered them in an engine house — but not before several residents were killed, including the mayor.

Dislodgement of the raiders was hindered by fear for the safety of several hostages, among them Col. Lewis W. Washington, grandnephew of George Washington.

The Civil War, partly kindled by Brown's foray, swept quickly to Harpers Ferry. Eying the arsenal and the strategic Baltimore & Ohio Railroad, Jackson struck, only to find them wrecked by the retiring garrison.

During Lee's 1862 invasion of Maryland, Jackson struck again. The defending Union troops capitulated in time to enable Jackson to rejoin Lee's imperiled army for the battle of Antietam.

As a battleground and camp site Harpers Ferry became a shambles. Its few citizens, bereft of their earlier industries, turned for income to a modest resort trade attracted by the lovely mountain scenery. For even then, as now, the onlooker was struck by its startling beauty.

800,000 Fled Ireland

DUBLIN—Between 1845 and 1850, years of famine in Ireland, nearly 800,000 persons migrated from Ireland to America. By 1860 nearly a million more had sailed to the United States. Today Americans of Irish descent number about 20,000,000.

French Socialist Chief Sees Good in Our System

After a closeup look at American free enterprise, GUY MOLLET, leader of the French Socialists, has some good things to say about it.

This is in unexpected and pleasing contrast to opinions voiced over the years by other members of his party. They have had nothing good to say about our system.

Speaking of French capitalism, MOLLET says his country has waited in vain for it to take the risks that are taken under our system. As a result French employers "hide behind customs barriers, protect their prices behind marginal enterprises and beg for government subsidies."

He added that French youth remains without a future because French economy is stifled by a "management lacking courage and which has not been true to its mission." The clear implication in MOLLET'S remarks is that he sees in our system the opposite of what causes the French system to fall short of its mission.

The truth is that France has no free enterprise as we understand that term. In France, Italy and many other countries businessmen believe in restricted markets, monopoly, limited production, guaranteed profits and endless restrictions.

American business, however, is based on enlightened self-interest. It believes that competition, producing for as many people as possible and helping to strengthen the national economy are the best guarantees for its prosperity and survival.

New Scholarship Plan Generously Financed

The general approval which has greeted announcement of the National Merit Scholarship Corporation has encouraging significance.

It reflects widespread appreciation of the Nation's needs for greater means of aiding talented students who otherwise would be unable to obtain college educations.

★ ★ ★

A highly commendable feature of the plan is its provision under which not only the student but the college or university he chooses will benefit. Ample financial backing has been provided for the corporation by the Ford Foundation which contributed $20,000,000 and the Sears, Roebuck and Carnegie Foundations which gave $500,000 each.

★ ★ ★

The corporation's plan is to choose several hundred senior high school students for four year college scholarships beginning next Fall. No group, area, institution or educational field will be favored. Any scholastically qualified high school senior can compete. Besides academic standing, interests, character, personality, etc., will be used.

Scholarship winners will be awarded from $100 to $6,000 depending on need. In addition the institutions they choose to attend, unless tax supported, will get grants to help meet teaching costs above those covered by each scholarship student's tuition.

★ ★ ★

There is real vision in this plan. It creates a new agency through which business and industry can channel support for the Nation's colleges and universities. Finally, it will reduce the national waste of talent resulting from the inability of many capable youths to complete their formal education.

Farewell to Summer

One of the week's events not calculated to arouse enthusiasm anywhere is the departure of Summer.

That health giving, fun providing season departs at 2:42 p.m. September 23. At that precise moment Autumn arrives silently and unobtrusively for a three month stay. In this latitude, however, the end of Summer causes little or no sorrow.

On the contrary, especially in Oakland County there are important compensations. By the beginning of Autumn moderate temperatures have replaced Summer's excessive heat. Within a short time the air will be invigoratingly cooler and the October haze will add new color and interest to landscapes glorified by the changing hues of our woodlands.

At least for a time neither fisherman nor golfers will encounter any climatic handicap to the enjoyment of their favorite sports. Already hunters are preparing for the October 1 opening of the general waterfowl season which continues through December 9.

★ ★ ★

As the days shorten, nights do take on a new chill. Yet, even the picnic season in beautiful lake studded Oakland County continues into late October. In truth, from now until Winter snows make driving hazardous, one can find breathtaking beauty within a few minutes no matter what direction he takes from Pontiac.

So, farewell, Summer! Except during those record hot days, it was nice having you.

"I Haven't Seen Such a Lovely Day in Three Years"

David Lawrence Asks:

Does a President Have the Right to Sell United States Government Documents?

WASHINGTON—Not so long ago the Democrats in Congress were protesting loudly that the Department of State had made public some documents containing personal comments by British and other officials at the Yalta conference. Likewise, the secretary of state was criticized by members of a congressional committee because one of his subordinates let the New York Times have a copy of the Yalta papers in advance of release to all newspapers.

* * *

Now comes former President Truman with the publication in "Life" magazine and in two newspapers of the story of a piece of confidential information the official record of which is the property of the government of the United States.

The document is the text of a transatlantic telephone conversation between Winston Churchill, then prime minister of Great Britain, and the President of the United States, then Harry Truman. It concerned German overtures for surrender in 1945. The conversation was stenographically recorded by government employes, and the transcript now is sold by Truman as a part of his book, which in its entirety is reported to have already brought him $600,000.

Dulles didn't sell the Yalta papers or the personal transcripts of high officials of other governments, nor did anyone get any money for allegedly giving a "scoop" to one or more newspapers. Yet at the time several Democratic senators criticized Dulles severely, and one senator asked whether there was "any official collusion between the State Department and the New York Times in the distribution of the Yalta agreements."

PROBE SUGGESTED

Another Democratic senator suggested an investigation as to whether any law had been violated in releasing the documents to a single newspaper. Another Democrat thought it was a breach of "security" and asked who was responsible for disclosing "unauthorized material."

* * *

Certainly a President who leaves office has a right to pen his memoirs and to sell his reminiscences for profit. There is no impropriety in it. But has he the right to take away and later sell documents that are government property?

The same issue arose during the New Deal administration, when President Roosevelt refused newspapermen the right to make public the texts of press conferences but he later included the text of all the transcripts in a book that was sold while he was in office. These transcripts were the property not of Roosevelt personally but of the government of the United States, just as are any recorded conversations of the President and officials of foreign governments.

Truman took away from the White House many files on what happened during his term of office. Personal letters and communications are the property of the official when he leaves but documents paid for by the government, and particularly communications with foreign governments, cannot by any stretch of the theory of personal property be included.

Former President Truman didn't sell any documents while he was in office, as did Roosevelt, but the question is whether he had a right to take away any public documents whatsoever and sell them after he left office.

The episode probably isn't going to create any political disturbance, but it ought effectively to silence the "conflict of interest" cries which have been heard recently about the Eisenhower officials in the Dixon-Yates controversy. In that case, the director of the budget consulted a man who got no fee but who had advised also a bank with which he had been connected, but the bank also got no fee for its service.

The Democrats have been loud in their denunciation of this as something with a "conflict of interest" taint, but they will have to concede that it doesn't begin to compare in impropriety with the sale of government documents by the former leader of the Democratic Party.

Hal Boyle Says:

Lauren Lists 5 Remarks That Wives Should Avoid

NEW YORK (AP)—"Yes, but—."

"Good morning. How do you feel?"

"What do you think I ought to do about fixing up the living room."

"Don't you think you've spread enough joy for one evening?"

"You're wrong."

* * *

These are five remarks Lauren Bacall says a wise wife should never make to her husband.

When the young, tawny blonde actress married Humphrey Bogart, nearly 25 years her senior, Hollywood cynics bet on whether the match would last 10 months—or ten days.

Ten years and two children later, however, Lauren and Bogie are having more fun together than two merry fleas on a shaggy dog. Somewhat to her own amazement Miss Bacall is now regarded as an authority on matrimony.

* * *

Much has been written on how she tamed "the bad boy" of the movies, and she herself says that's utter nonsense.

"It's foolish to try to change the man you're married to," she said, during a breakfast-luncheon at the "21" Restaurant. "That won't make him better—but it will make him worse."

"Let him run wild. He'll always come home then."

* * *

She glanced cheerfully over at Bogart, who was standing at the bar talking baseball with the bartender and some other close friends. She and her husband had come to town the night before for a fling to celebrate completion of her latest film, "Blood Alley," co-starring John Wayne.

"If a man has been drinking a little bit, it doesn't pay to disagree with him. It only means you'll both be up all night, and you'll end up with circles under your eyes."

* * *

Bogart came over, said: "Hi-ya doin', Sam?" to Miss Bacall, and wandered back to the bar, bourbon and baseball.

"To think I've given that guy one third of my active life," said Lauren, grinning. "But I'm tougher to live with than he is. I'm more selfish. He's very patient with me.

* * *

Miss Bacall said she knew of no single prescription for marital happiness—"I don't believe in formulas; everybody's an individual and has the right to stay one"—but that she believed a wife should join in as many of her husband's activities as possible.

Miss Bacall says it's a mistake to annoy a husband with household matters and gave this reason why a wife should also never ask him how he feels in the morning:

"He knows how he feels. Why remind him of it?"

* * *

What are the five remarks a wife should make most often to her husband to keep peace in the family? Miss Bacall, letting out with another fine belly laugh, gave these:

"Yes, darling, Yes."

"You're absolutely right. I couldn't agree with you more."

"You were perfectly charming last night. No, I'm not kidding. I really mean it. Everyone simply loved what you said."

* * *

"If it weren't for you, how would I have all these lovely things: our nice big house, our beautiful car—even our children?"

"Now don't move. Sit there. You're comfortable. Is there anything I can get for you—like a double-edged saw, or something?"

Miss Bacall's ideas may seem strange to some wives. But there's one thing about them. They work. After 10 years she still has a happy husband.

Urges Public Pressure Against Revised Bible

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

The American Bible Society is waiting for the judgment of Christian people on the Revised Standard Version Bible before again amending its constitution so as to publish the whole R.S.V. Bible.

I urge Christians over the English-speaking world to write the American Bible Society, 450 Park Avenue, New York 22, N.Y., asking the society to cease using the R.S.V. as a basis for translation, to cease publishing and distributing the Bibles, New Testaments and portions, to refrain from further amending its constitution in order to print the whole Revised Standard Version.

Write promptly, by air mail.

Tells Dissatisfied Worker to Look for Another Job

In regards to Dissatisfied Worker, if he isn't getting in on the loot as he calls it, why not quit? I have worked as cook and baker for 10 years and finally gave up the racket myself.

I work in the shop now and have not found a job as hard as cooking and baking. If you're not too old now, quit and get a job in the factory or some place else, but quit the racket now.

If you're too old to change your job, I guess you're stuck.

Healthy Nails, Skin, Hair Depend on Good Nutrition

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

Could you tell me, asks a Boston lady, eh, why toenails die. I go to trim mine and they come off in my hand, particularly the great toe and the middle one. (Mrs. W. L. A.)

Maybe it's because we don't use 'em anymore.

* * *

The finger nails, toe nails, skin and hair are all subject to the individual's nutritional condition, and they get all their nourishment or food as every other part of the body does, from the food one eats, not from any magic cream, oil or other stuff you apply or "rub in," nitwit.

One who has vite has healthy nails, skin and hair. But you can't get or maintain vite on a diet of cheat-food— a diet in which most of the calories are in refined white flour and refined white sugar.

If you don't know what vite means or how to cultivate it, send me 25c clean (free from stickum, glue, etc.) and stamped envelope bearing your address and ask for Little Lesson 16, "The 7 Keys To Vite". Or if that's too steep a price to pay for better health, functional efficiency, better personal appearance and increased longevity, send me just a stamped, self-addressed envelope and ask for the pamphlet "Young Folks and Old Folks."

* * *

As nutritional condition improves the health and appearance of the skin, hair and nails improves. Not overnight, but, say, in the time it takes the nails to grow their full length—three or four months.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 150 words long, pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to the Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Mich.

Parents Often Forget That Toddlers Dwell in a World Inhabited by Giants

Judy, like other toddlers, lives among giants who tower far above her and seem omniscient. That's why she relishes her grandmother's stories—about giants. But the real hero of such stories is always the dwarf or tiny person, for children identify themselves with such underdogs. For a throwback to your own childhood, just read this case today

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case P-346: Judy H., aged 4, is fond of fairy tales.

"Dr. Crane, I wonder if it's right to tell youngsters stories about giants and fairies, etc.," her mother began.

"My husband's mother stays with us. And she is a very dramatic story teller, so Judy gets them by the hour.

"But is it good for children? Don't they develop terror and maybe have nightmares after hearing about giants?"

LIVES WITH GIANTS

Actually, a youngster of Judy's age is surrounded by huge giants and giantesses in her own home.

* * *

Her father is twice her height and about 5 times her weight. And her mother, as well as her grandmother, tower far above her.

When we become adults, we have forgotten this giant world in which toddlers find themselves.

To recall it vividly, just assume that we normal adults are now living in a home where everybody else is 11 to 12 feet tall and weights 600 to 1,000 pounds.

* * *

That's the type of situation in which pre-school children find themselves every day, so they don't need to stretch their imagination at all when they hear stories about giants.

GIANT FURNITURE

Even our homes are equipped with giant furniture from Judy's viewpoint. The dinner table is thus level with her face when she stands beside it.

Climbing into an ordinary household chair is quite an athletic feat, and she can barely throw herself on the bed and then try to pull her legs atop the mattress.

Many windows are so high children can't see out of them, and the pictures are twice as high on the walls as they seem to us adults.

A child can hardly hold a drinking glass, for its small hand is barely able to reach half way around, so don't be unduly severe if your child drops its "giant" glass of milk.

* * *

Suppose we adults used knives and forks that were 2 feet long! That's comparable to what our present silverware looks like to Judy.

JUDY LIKES FARIES

The favorite hero of a child's story is a fairy or tiny dwarf like Tomb Thumb, who then gets the best of those cruel giants.

For Judy can readily identify herself with the weak little dwarf who lives among giants.

Children long for the time when they, too, will grow big and enter the realm of real giants.

That's why they strain so hard to be tall and constantly ask you to measure them. For they yearn to leave the dwarf state and become a free, powerful giant.

Imagine how they must cower in fear when an angry parent descends upon them to spank them or switch them.

To aid your imagination, suppose an angry 12-foot man, weighing 900 pounds turned on you with a baseball bat to switch you adults!

Children not only look upon us parents and teachers as giants, but we also are credited with omniscience. For our greater mental age permits us to make deductions which they can't comprehend.

EXAMPLE CITED

Suppose a little boy knocks over the goldfish bowl while his mother is next door. But he is deligently playing in another room when she returns. When she sees the broken bowl and dead goldfish, she turns upon him in anger.

"Did you do this?" she demands, and in his fright he says "No!" but she spanks him, and he can't understand how she knew he did it.

His limited mental age does not permit him to make the simple deductions which she can perform, so he is ready to believe a little bird must have told her!

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and a dime to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his psychological charts.

Cautions Red China on Formosan Battle

VIENNA, Ga (AP)—Sen. Walter F. George said today Red China should pledge not to use armed force in the Formosa Straits area before any foreign ministers conference is held with that nation.

George has expressed hopes that such top-level talks can be held this year. They would involve U.S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and Red Chinese Foreign Minister Chou En-lai.

The chairman of the powerful Senate Foreign Relations Committee noted that present talks with Red China are on the ambassadorial level and should "by all means" continue.

State Employes to Hold 4th Government Institute

LANSING (AP) — The Michigan State Employes Assn. will hold its fourth annual institute of government Sept. 24 at Michigan State University.

Elmer Was Better Than Empty Doghouse

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK (INS)—This is "National Dog Week" and it is devoutedly to be hoped that our carnivorous friends everywhere are living high off the horse.

* * *

There are dogs and dogs, of course. As Webster puts it in the new intercollegiate dictionary's two-pronged definition, a dog can be either 1. a mammal, or 2. a rascally fellow (colloq.)

But on the whole, most dogs can be lumped into one tidy four-legged category and described as about the most comforting running-mate a person can have in the race for survival.

It's like a friend of mine pointed out, after his dog Elmer had chased cars, bitten two callers, confused the neighborhood by producing a litter, and finally run away...

"Elmer," he said sadly, "had a lot of faults: But she was better than an empty doghouse."

CANDID COMMENTS

In honor of Dog Week, here are some candid comments on canines. They are my own opinions entirely, and do not represent the policies of this newspaper, dog-loving or otherwise:

Dog is not only man's best friend but man's most intuitive critic. If your dog's wag drags or his eyes avert, do not question his loyalty. Question your recent behavior.

I would not particularly enjoy meeting the parents of any child who fears dogs.

It is said that a dog's intelligence is relative to the size of his head, the theory being that the bigger the noggin, the more room for gray matter.

Having lived 14 years with a narrow-headed collie, I doubt this proposition. But then perhaps some of his brains were diverted into his lengthy nose.

Thoroughbred show dogs and Park avenue lapdogs suffer great indignities in the matter of names. The former are pretentiously labeled; the latter are coy.

It takes a child to name a pup honestly —"Spot" when he's spotted, "Tiny" when he's tiny, "King" when he's stately, or "Doggy" when he's just that.

Tests indicate that dogs adopt the traits and attitudes of their masters. If your dog is a scoundrel, chases smaller dogs, barks at girls or hides under beds—know thyself.

Most dogs have sad faces because for hundreds of years they have gotten—often literally—the short end of the stick.

A dog brought into a family strictly for amusement value will soon turn into a lazy, hard-to-handle ham. A dog that is trained to be useful will be an energetic, loyal member of the clan.

Canines have much the same helpless devotions, joys, longings, fears, pains and confusions as children. But fortunately for all of us and all of them, they never grow up and get to understand their feelings and gripe about them.

Dogs, because they don't know any better, are honest.

Men who say they are leading a "dog's life," are anything but.

Apparent Improvement in Traffic Death Rate

NEW YORK—Motor vehicle fatalities in the first three months of this year resulted in death claims under 10,000 life insurance policies, representing death payments of $20,000,000, according to the Institute of Life Insurance

This is the third consecutive first quarter to show the same number of death claims, and the constantly increasing number of lives exposed would indicate some improvement in the traffic death rate.

Skunks Employ Sulphur

Sulphur is an important ingredient that helps give the skunk's secretion its evil odor, says the National Geographic Society. Paradoxically, the skunk's musk provides a component for making perfumes.

Progress Shows in Indonesia

Increases in Education Indicate Advancement for Native Citizens

WASHINGTON — Indonesia is gradually getting a grip on some of its most urgent problems, particularly education.

Sixth most populous among the world's nations, the Far East republic is relying heavily on a spirit of cooperation at the village level in its struggle for survival.

This is how Beverley M. Bowie of the National Geographic Society staff sizes up the situation. His findings stem from a journey of more than 10,000 miles among the 3,000 islands and 79,000,000 people of the archipelago.

Many of the postwar upheavals have altered the map of the Orient. Besides Indonesia, parts of Communist China, coveted Formosa, the independent Philippines, embattled Indochina and the Malay peninsula. The eclipse of Western colonialism is spelled out in changed place names: Batavia, capital of the Netherlands Indies, has now become Djakarta.

What potentialities the future holds can be seen in Sumatra. Its raw materials are of untold value: coal, oil, rubber, tea, coffee, tobacco, water power and plenty of fertile land. But there is also a dire shortage of foreign exchange and pitifully few technicians.

JAVA DISEASE SPOT

As for Indonesia as a whole, its standard of living is little above prewar levels. Japanese occupation, internal strife, disintegration of authority all took their toll.

In east Java alone 50 per cent shiver through at least one malaria attack a year. Nearly 2½ million suffer from tuberculosis and 600,000 are blind. There is one doctor for every 57,000 people.

The shortage of trained personnel runs throughout the economy—lawyers, engineers, agronomists, teachers, plumbers, electricians.

But there is a bright spot. Bowie says that "perhaps the most important fact about Indonesia is that it wants so desperately to learn." It has cut its illiteracy from 93 to 45 per cent and raised the number of primary schools from 13,000 in 1940 to 32,000 today, its high schools from 144, to 2,700 and its student body from 2 million to more than 8 million.

* * *

Not the least of its education problems turned around the multiplicity of languages. The republic had to create a common tongue based on Malay to replace some 40 languages.

Juvenile Delinquency Up Among Philippine Youth

MANILA (AP) — Juvenile delinquency is rising at an alarming rate in the Philippines.

In the first four months of this year, 4,406 juvenile cases were reported to police in the Manila area. There were only 1,289 cases in all 1951, but the curve has been sweeping upward. In 1954, there were 5,604 cases.

THE BERRYS by Carl Grubert

Storage Bins Bulging

Grain Surplus Could Feed America for Next 8 Years

WASHINGTON — Like giant fingers thrust into the sky, the nation's grain elevators loom mightier than ever in these days of grain glut. They are, however, no longer the sole symbols of stored plenty they once were.

The United States has almost a third again as many commerical off-farm elevators as it did only four years ago. Their capacity now totals 2.8 billion bushels. But it also harbors twice as many government-owned steel storage bins with a capacity of 850 million bushels, plus a variety of previously untried structures ranging from circus tents to ships.

Inside all of them are the biggest stores of wheat, corn and other grains collected by man, says the National Geographic Society. The wheat alone, of which the government owns 95 per cent, now adds up to 1,020,000,000 bushels. Turned into bread, it would feed every American a pound loaf every week for the next eight years.

Eighty per cent of the breadgrain rests in country or terminal elevators. The largest single unit of these—with a capacity of 50,300,000 bushels—stands in Oklahoma. Kansas, however, provides the greatest aggregate elevator capacity, outpacing Texas which led the list a few years ago.

SHIPS USED

Wheat not in elevators is either in transit, in bins, or in ships. Until 1949, wheat had not been stored in ships. That year 20 million bushels were put away in the moored Hudson River flet.

Today 81 million bushels cram the holds of 357 Liberty-type vessels in the James and Hudson River fleets, at Astoria, Ore., and Olympia, Wash. Excellent granaries, ships will do even more wheat duty soon.

In St. Joseph, Mo., and Fort Worth, Tex., wheat has been successfully stored in large tents, each with a million-bushel capacity. Petroleum tanks, blimp and airplane hangars, theaters, fatories, and a variety of ware houses have also doubled as bins.

If grain still overruns the larder, other facilities will have to be found. A possibility is suggested in a report from England. In Devon last fall, Lord Clifford of Chudleigh stored his grain in his mansion. Fifty tons were dumped a foot dep through the rooms. The furniture was removed. But left on the walls were portraits of the family's ancestors, there to keep a watchful eye on the lord's hoard.

Vast MSU Collection of Old Farm Items

EAST LANSING—Michigan State University's collection of antique farm equipment turns back the clock 100 years to the era of the horse-drawn walking plow, hand seeder and wheel cultivator.

The university museum spent five years collecting and restoring the old equipment to its original condition before placing it on display for the summer.

These "good old days" are recalled by the survey with the fringe on top: a grist mill, stump puller and three-horsepower sweep.

Other pioneer tools that bring to life the farming past include an 1868 reaper, an 1804 thrashing machine, an 1870 corn sheller and a hand-operated churn with wooden gears.

Workers Repair Constantine Arc

Famed Rome Landmark Shrouded in Scaffolds as Refurbishing Starts

WASHINGTON—Rome's 4th-Century Arch of Constantine will wear scaffolding for months during efforts to halt disintegration which has unloosened chunks of stone and marble.

* * *

A famed landmark, the arch has shown an alarming tendency to crumble from effects of weather and motor traffic vibration. Vegetation thriving on its ancient walls has aided decay. Even so, the arch probably is the best preserved structure of the imperial period.

It was erected after Emperor Constantine defeated Maxentius at the battle of the Milvian Bridge in A.D. 312.

An inscription honors Constantine, who gave Christians religious freedom in A.D. 313.

"To Emperor Caesar Flavius, Constantine Maximus, the Pious, the Fortunate, Augustus, the Senate and the people of Rome have dedicated in triumph this noble arch, because by the inspiration of God and the greatness of his mind, he, by means of his legions and just arms, avenged the Republic, not only on the tyrant, but also at the same time on all his faction."

Natural Arch Is Named

A natural arch in Davis Gulch that empties into southern Utah's Escalante River now bears the name of Dr. John Oliver La Gorce, president of the National Geographic Society. The window of La Gorce arch measures 100 feet wide by some 75 feet high.

Holland Cuts Down Use of Steam Locomotives

THE HAGUE—The Netherlands Railway cut the number of steam locomotives in use on its system from 901 in 1939 to 491 in 1954.

The number of other types of locomotives rose from two to 180. The length of the electrified railway system increased nearly three times in the same period; now more than 42 per cent of the railway is electrified.

U.S. $50 bills carry pictures of President Grant.

OK—but Illegal

EL PASO, Tex. (AP)—City officials said an editorial suggestion of a local newspaper to use treasury money to take care of the drainage problem in city flood areas and replace the money from proceeds of a recent bond issue was a good idea. But it's against the law.

About 40 per cent of U.S. industrial workers do substandard jobs because of visual defects, 90 per cent of which could be corrected, says the Better Vision Institute.

Easier on Expenses

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — A Dallas butcher testified the reason he was living with his former wife was that it was too expensive to be married to her.

He said he and his wife were always having spats. After every one, she'd go to a lawyer.

"Each visit to a lawyer cost me from $215 to $2,000."

They were divorced in 1953 and began their informal living arrangement last year.

His testimony came in a bankruptcy proceeding.

Everything's Gone Up

OMAHA (AP)—Blackstone, the magician, admits he's found something he can't make disappear: Rising costs. Rabbits which he once bought for 10 cents apiece now cost $2, he told a reporter during an appearance here.

LUCKY — Actress Ava Gardner counts herself lucky after having her car flip over her in Spain. She was driving her new Mercedes from Madrid to Barajas airport to meet friends when the car went out of control, careened across a two-lane speedway and rolled over. Shaken, but unhurt, she walked back to her hotel.

'Constellation' Is Enshrined

158 - Year - Old Frigate Placed at Fort McHenry in Baltimore

WASHINGTON — The 158-year-old frigate Constellation is now permanently enshrined at Baltimore's Fort McHenry where the "Star-Spangled Banner" was born.

* * *

The Constellation and the equally famed Constitution (Old Ironsides) were among several warships authorized by Congress in 1794 to combat privateering against American sea-going commerce. The Constellation antedates the Constitution, now preserved in Boston, by over a month. Thus, she is the Navy's oldest ship.

A practical fighting craft, the Constellation was shaped of live oak, cypress and pine procured in many parts of the country. The figureheads were wrought by Willam Rush, a distinguished wood-carver. Through originally established as a 36-gun frigate, she generally carried 38 guns—28 24-pouinders on her gun deck and 10 12-pounders on her spar deck. The usual complement was around 340 officers and men.

Three months' supplies were originally stored, including all types of wine, "portable" soup, slate and pencils, ink powder, candlestick snuffers and tormentors (iron meat forks).

FIRST FIGHT

A first encounter came in 1799 with the big French ship Insurgente, off the island of Nevis, near Puerto Rico. Battered and outmaneuvered, the Insurgente fell prize and was added to the American Navy.

Roaming on, the Constellation captured the Diligent and the Union, small privateers. A year later she silenced the guns of the heavier-armed French ship Vengeance, which managed to escape when the Constellation's mainmast toppled.

During the blockade of Tripoli in 1802, the Constellation once audaciously strove to cut off a fleet of 17 Tripolitan gunboats putting out from shore. She destroyed two and routed a cavalry contingent ashore.

In the War of1812 her gunfire shattered a British attempt ot land on Craney Island Hampton Roads. She resisted Confederate commerce raiders during the American Civil War. Berthed in Boston since 1946, her aging sides have generated controversy: some experts say she is not the original Constellation at all—but rather a ship built in the mid-19th century at Norfolk.

May Rid Fruit Orchards of Cold-Air Smudge

MEDFORD, Ore. (AP) — Experiments in pear orchards here hint that the oily smudge filling the air on cold nights can be eliminated. Experiments from Oregon State College tried burning sawdust briquettes and lengths of waste wood from sawmills to heat the air.

They said the method holds promise, gives clean smoke and the cost is comparable with that of oil.

This Passing Parade Pays Off in 2 Dollars

CAMDEN, S.C. (AP) — Courtesy on the highway paid off for F. B. Mobley.

He noticed in his rear view mirror that an automobile wanted to pass his. He slowed down and waved the driver behind to come ahead.

As the other car passed, two pieces of paper fell out of the window. Curious, he stopped, got out and picked them up. They were two $1 bills.

Businessman Campell Lists Another Campbell

GREENVILLE, S.C. (AP) — Leon Campell has the distinction of being one of the few people who has his name intentionally misspelled in a telephone directory.

Campell's name frequently is confused with the more common one of Campbell. So, in the Greenville telephone directory he has his residence and real estate office listed under the correct spelling of his name, but for persons not familiar with it he also has an office listing under Campbell, Leon.

Persistent Girl Friend

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—In pleading guilty to arson, Rosie Lee Carter explained: She and her boy friend had a fuss and he'd locked himself in his room. She built a fire against his door to smoke him out.

TODAY'S ASSIGNMENT FOR:

JUNIOR EDITORS

OUR FRIENDS, THE BEES—4
An Old Fashioned Beehive

In this old time hive, made of twisted straw, bees attach combs that hang down like very thick leaves in a book.

Each leaf consists of two layers of cells—one pointing one way and one the other, and both slanting slightly upwards so that honey won't spill out. When full of honey, the cells are sealed by the bees with wax. In some of the empty cells, however, the queen bee lays her eggs and the grubs are hatched and turn into full grown bees. To get honey from such a hive, the beekeeper has to kill all the bees with poisonous smoke. This is not only cruel but wasteful.

A hundred years ago an American learned how to make a better hive out of wood. It is square and contains a number of wooden frames. The bees build their combs in these frames. When the beekeeper wants the honey, he lifts out a frame, brushes off the bees, gets the honey out of the comb with a machine, and returns the comb to the hive. That way the bees are not hurt and they do not have to make a new comb.

Beekeepers, as you see in the picture, wear veils to keep from getting stung. They know how to handle the bees without making them angry.

Automation Invades Dayton Schoolrooms

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Automation has hit the grade school student, at least in Dayton. Times was when they could break loose to go clean the erasers. Now machines do the job.

School officials here say most buildings now have standard electric eraser cleaners or easily operated vacuum machines made by shop teachers or maintenance crews.

Now the chalk dust goes into the vacuum bag, instead of Junior's lungs. And gone are the days when, if you were lucky enough to get the assignment, you could adjourn to the fire escape to beat the chalk out of the erasers.

World Coffee Capital

Sao Paulo is the coffee capital of Brazil, whose coffee crop normally accounts for more than half of the world's supply. The State of Sao Paulo produces a third of the nation's farm output as well as more than 55 per cent of its manufactured goods.

Leaves Practical Will

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Two tenants of N.A. Lindberg, who died at 80, were left two months free rent in his will. The rental property was left to relatives.

Feed 3 Million Daily

WASHINGTON—The Army Quartermaster Corps, which has clothed and fed the U. S. Army since 1776, now feeds more than 3,000,000 persons a day.

Its market-center system purchased food valued at $830,000,000 through some 200,000 individual outlets during the past fiscal year. The average cost per meal to the Army is 35 cents.

More than 1,000 buffaloes live in Alberta's Elk Island National Park.

Mileage Isn't Bad—

SHERIDAN, Wyo. (AP) — Sheridan School Superintendent Karl Bell filled in a government surplus application to obtain a walk-in freezer for the school cafeteria.

When the order arrived, he found the school district had been awarded a 1921 surplus fire engine.

The world cattle population is going up. Latest figures show there are about 877 million head of cattle in the world. This is one per cent above pre-war.

Charity Gets $4.5 Billion

NEW YORK—More than 4½ billion dollars is given annually to private philanthropy in the United States. Of this amount, corporate gifts in the latest year for which figures are available amounted to some $400,000,000—somewhere between 8 and 9 per cent of the total contributions.

Farm experts estimate that improved pasture can produce about 100 pounds of stock feed at a cost of about 60 cents.

Presidential Campaign to Be Widely Viewed Drama

Politicians Eye TV Techniques

Wags Suggest Election Speech Review Be Done by Theater Critics

WASHINGTON (AP) — The big brains in politics have a worrisome problem coming up because of television. Its use is going to turn the 1956 presidential campaign into one of the most widely viewed dramas ever played on the American scene.

• • •

The problem is this:

1. What is the best way to present the candidate on the TV screens in millions of homes in a folksy, seemingly unrehearsed manner?

• • •

2. And, how can these appearances be carefully staged and rehearsed to capture all the drama of the moment without the production appearing too slick and contrived?

• • •

It's a real problem. A candidate in these days must be a better-than-fair sort of actor. The most popular political productions seem to be those with the intimate, homespun atmosphere overlaid with by such obvious sincerity that no one can overlook it or fail to be impressed.

• • •

During the 1952 campaign, there was a good deal of talk that "the hucksters" had begun to take over in selling a political candidate to the people. The Democrats particularly leveled the charge against the Eisenhower campaign.

• • •

But there are tricks to every trade and the politicians of both parties have had to turn to the merchandising experts for advice and direction in putting their best TV foot forward.

• • •

Both President Eisenhower and Vice President Nixon have developed a relaxed, informal manner before the television cameras. And Adlai Stevenson, the 1952 Democratic nominee, while not so folksy as Eisenhower and Nixon, is an able TV performer.

• • •

Some wags are suggesting that the 1956 campaign should be reported by the drama critics rather than political reporters. And it could be.

NEW MERCURY—A newcomer to the Mercury line of cars for 1956 is this Custom "Medalist" two-door sedan. The "Medalist" is the lowest priced of the 13 new models offered by Mercury in the Montclair, Monterey and Custom series for 1956. It is powered by Mercury's new high compression 312 cubic inch engine. The cars will be shown by dealers Sept. 29, and will be displayed here by the Central Lincoln-Mercury Sales, Inc., 40 W. Pike St.

Weather Experts Predict Hurricanes Will Revert to Florida in Two Years

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Weather experts believe the barrage of hurricanes slamming into the Middle Atlantic and New England states may soon shift back to Florida.

• • •

Gordon Dunn, chief storm forecaster in the Miami Weather Bureau, said today the current hurricane cycle "has lasted fully as long as it normally does, and on a statistical basis, we would say the trend ought to reverse itself right away—by that meaning in the next year or two."

If this is true, Dunn added, Florida's five-year immunity from hurricanes may be about over.

HAVE REASON

Dunn, who has been conferring with other weather experts in Washington, said weathermen believe they have come up with the reason for the northward shift tropical storms have been following for the past few years.

• • •

Experts believe a high-pressure area known as the Azores-Bermuda High is the "weather control" for the Atlantic and the southeastern United States during the hurricane season.

• • •

Four or five years ago this high-pressure area was displaced "somewhat to the north and west of its normal position and also became a little stronger than average," Dunn explained.

• • •

"At the same time, pressure has been below normal from the Cape Verdes westward across the southern portion of the North Atlantic states.

EXPECT SHIFT BACK

"This pressure distribution is favorable for an above-normal frequency of hurricanes. Secondarily is the fact that it is farther north and farther west.

• • •

"This means that the trajectory of the hurricanes around the periphery of it is displaced farther west than normal, so that hurricanes which would have normally recurved harmlessly off the East Coast of the United States have been forced inland.

• • •

"That's why the South Atlantic coast and particularly the Carolinas have been catching them more frequently."

• • •

Belief that the Azores-Bermuda High will shift back to its old location has only a statistical basis, Dunn said.

• • •

He pointed out that weathermen believe the 1926 to 1950 period, which saw the Greater Miami area hit by 16 tropical storms, including eight hurricanes was abnormal.

Dems to Stress Dollar Economy Under Truman

WASHINGTON (AP)—Campaigning Democrats will stress a contention that the Eisenhower administration "did not come close to matching the Democratic record for sound budgetary performance."

Democratic National Chairman Paul M. Butler made the statement yesterday in sending to party workers a "fact sheet" reporting an estimated three-year deficit of $9,300,000,000 under the Republicans compared with a surplus of $4,300,000,000 during four peace-time years of the Truman administration.

Moroccans Try to Scare French

Some Are Pulling Out While Others Beseech Paris to Get Tough

RABAT, French Morocco (AP)—French farmer Pierre Robin won't bottle much wine this year. Terrorists burned 200 of his vines the other night, within 10 miles of Casablanca.

• • •

Moroccan textile importer Babi Berrada won't be doing any business at all. Terrorists shot him down at the door of his home for disobeying their boycott of French goods.

• • •

French officials say terrorists have actually destroyed only a tiny part of Morocco's great potential wealth. But the terrorists obviously hope the French will be frightened enough to pull out. Some are doing just that. Others are pressing Paris for a "tough" policy to protect themselves.

• • •

If the nationalists get a start on home rule, they may be able to halt the terrorists. It will be some time, though, until businessmen get their confidence back.

• • •

France has made great strides in developing Morocco's wealth. Visitors are always truck by the skyscrapers gleaming white under the African sun. But a few hundred yards away they can find some of the world's most wretched slums, built of scrap lumber and old tin cans. There is plenty of building to do.

• • •

Outside the cities farm and mineral wealth are only beginning to be tapped by modern methods. Many thousands of potentially fertile acres await irrigation. The Khouribga phosphate mines, heavily damaged by nationalist saboteurs last month, are among the world's greatest. Coal, iron, zinc, lead, cobalt, antimony and manganese are also among major exports.

• • •

The nine million inhabitants of Morocco have an annual income equal to not much more than a billion and a half dollars. The half million European colonists who have a large share of this sum are already avid buyers of foreign goods. The Moroccans would doubtless imitate them if they had the means.

• • •

But instead of developing, Morocco's economy is stagnating.

• • •

Fearing taxation and nationalization in France, many French businessmen sent their money to North Africa after World War II. Since terrorism started to develop in Morocco 2½ years ago, the movement has shifted in the other direction.

• • •

Production and exports are holding up fairly well, but imports from France are down. Tourism has few attractions in times like these.

Citizens Can't Recall Single Traffic Death

JOHNSTON, S.C. (AP)—Johnston population about 2,000, has never had a traffic fatality as far as anyone seems to know.

• • •

Also, no one ever has been hurt seriously in the comparatively rare accidents here, it is believed.

• • •

The records came to light when the Junior Chamber of Commerce undertook to put up a sign on Main Street telling the number of days since the last traffic accident and last fatality.

• • •

The JC's traced the records back 13 years without finding a single persons killed or seriously hurt. So 13 years is the time put on the sign.

But Mayor E. R. Mobley, in office more than 20 years, said he is sure that the number of days without a fatality actually could be traced back to the day the first automobile appeared in Johnston.

• • •

"We've never made any special effort at traffic control," Mobley said. There is only one traffic light in town.

Mercury Offers 13 New Models

1956 Cars to Be Shown Public on Sept. 29; Height Is Reduced

DETROIT (AP) — The 1956 model Mercury passenger cars, with new engines, new radiator grilles and lower silhouette, will be shown by dealers on Sept. 29.

Thirteen models will be produced in the Montclair, Monterey and Custom series. There will be a new low price two-door sedan in the Mercury custom series, called the "Medalist." Also added to the custom series will be a new six passenger four-door station wagon.

For standard and overdrive transmissions, Mercury will have an 8 to 1 compression ratio engine developing 210 horsepower. For its automatic transmission cars a 9 to 1 compression ratio engine developing 225 horsepower is provided. A third engine with 8.4 to 1 compression ratio is rated at 215 horsepower.

Dual exhausts are standard on Montclair and Monterey models, and are available on custom models. All cars have 12-volt ignition systems.

Overall height of all models has been reduced by lowering the roof line. Door panels, quarter panels and seats have been restyled. More massive bumperguards and a new hood ornament featuring a bright finish block "M" with a winged effect and a Mercury head in the center have been added to the front end.

New safety features developed for the 1956 Mercury line include a new impact-absorbing steering wheel, with hub recessed six inches below the wheel rim; new door latches designed to keep doors closed in a crash and crash-resistant rear view mirrors.

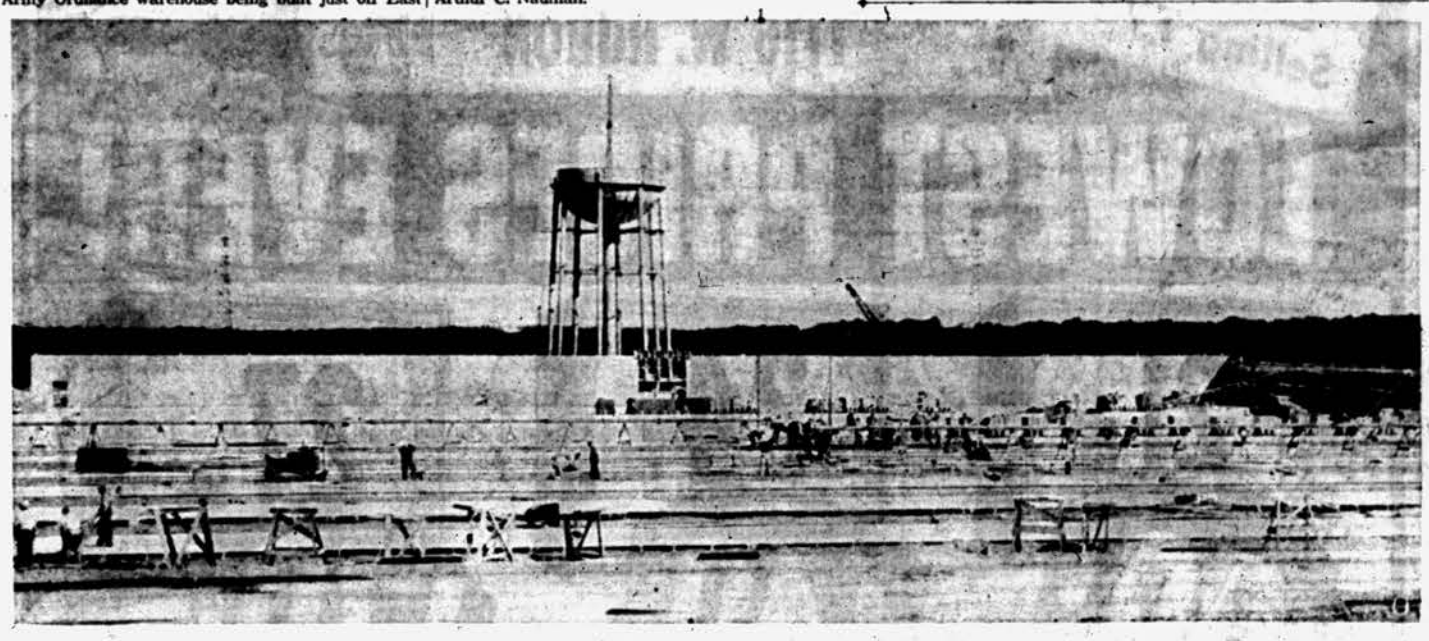

As optional extra-cost equipment safety belts and padded instrument panel covers are offered. Power steering, power brakes, four-way power seats and power window lifts also are optional items.

State Solon Plans Speed Limit Bill

LANSING (AP)—Despite Gov. Williams' reluctance, Sen. Robert E. Faulkner (R-Coloma) said today he will introduce a highway speed limit bill when the Legislature meets next month.

Williams has said he will recommend appointment of a committee to study advisability of a speed law and has indicated in discussions with public officials that he does not think the public is ready for one yet.

Faulkner said he thought Williams had opened the door wide enough for him to submit a bill imposing a flat 60-mile-an-hour speed limit on open highways. The Legislature is limited at special sessions to subjects recommended by the governor.

MILITARY WAREHOUSE UNDER WAY—Construction of an Army Ordnance warehouse to store military production machinery is well under way on a 32-acre site off East South Boulevard, one-fourth mile east of the GMC Truck & Coach Division's plant. The warehouse will store government-owned tools and machines, used in the production of military products by GMC Truck, Pontiac Motor Division, and Oldsmobile Division of General Motors.

In the foreground, workers are laying the floors for one section of the sprawling warehouse. An unfinished, 500,000-gallon water reservoir appears in the background.

The completed structure—the largest of its kind in Michigan—will cover approximately 14 acres, and will be dehumidified to prevent rust on the equipment, according to officials of the Detroit District of the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers.

Footloose Vicki Led Home With Elephant Hook

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Vicki the elephant guzzled tap water and chomped domesticated hay today, having put behind her 11 days of free-lance foraging in the woodlands of Mecklenburg County.

The 6-year-old Indian elephant, who went rambling Sept. 11 from her amusement park home about six miles from downtown Charlotte was run down yesterday by a volunteer posse.

• • •

Her pursuers herded her into an open field and let her exhaust herself with aimless running about. Then they circled her methodically with strands of rope, and when the web was completed snared her feet and got an elephant hook in her ear.

Vicki, once again tractable, returned at a leisurely pace with her captors to the amusement park.

• • •

Elephant man Louie Reed of the Ringling Brothers and Barnum and Bailey Circus wasn't in on the finish. He tired out. But the elephant's owner, Jack Partlow, and her regular trainer, John (Smoky) Strickland, were there to soothe the frightened Vicki and lead her home.

Posse Horsemanship Show to Open Bald Mountain Area Scout Camporee

A horsemanship demonstration by the Oakland County sheriff's mounted posse will keynote a western-style camporee of the Clinton Valley Boy Scout Council this week end at Bald Mountain Recreation Area.

• • •

Sheriff Frank Irons said his posse members have designed a special program to open the 8 p.m. campfire show on Saturday night for 1,000 Boy Scouts of northern Oakland and Macomb Counties.

First council-wide campout in five years, the event is expected to be the largest of its type ever held by the Scout group. Called "Roundup '55," the camporee kicks off local participation in a nation-wide program to "round-up" new members to Scouting.

• • •

Bill DeGrace, Pontiac district vice chairman and camporee campfire director, said other features of the show will include the playing of specially recorded messages to the Scouts from cowboy stars Lone Ranger and Roy Rogers.

Inasmuch as the "old West" had plenty of Indians, Grace Lutheran Church troop 244 will perform an elaborate Indian ceremonial. William P. Pascher of Gingellville will direct singing of western songs and Larry DeMilner of Congregational Church Explorer Ship Five will report on the recent Boy Scout World Jamboree.

Kenneth H. Sanderson of Westacres, camp chief, said the Scouts are scheduled to arrive Saturday morning at the park to put up their tents on a hilly, 50-acre campsite. Entrance to the campground is off Kern Road.

During the afternoon, troops will compete in first aid, knot tying, pony express riding and fire building contests.

Carrying out the western theme, the Scouts will don cowboy garb, instead of uniforms. And they'll camp in four sections, called ranches, with names such as the Diamond W.

• • •

Each of the four organizational districts of the council will staff one of the ranches. Glenn Lackey is ranch foreman of the Pontiac group, and assisted by Norton Graham, Harry Boorn, Charles Pettit, Gilbert Pierce, Roger Lawrence, Leon Lackey, Louis Mumbrue, Edward Markham and Dave Hewitt.

• • •

Park Manager William Rathburg has asked all troops to bring their own charcoal for cooking fires. Water will be provided from a milk tank truck. Oxford's Mayor Ted Pearson is directing first aid and fire protection.

• • •

On Sunday, the Scouts will attend field Mass and church services, arranged by Jerry Black of Oxford, assistant camp chief. These observances will be followed by district meetings and a general closing ceremony for the presentation of special pins to candidates who attend with troops.

• • •

The camporee is open to the public, and parents are particularly invited to the campfire show on Saturday night.

Crucial Testing of Big Carrier Is Slated Today

ABOARD CARRIER FORRESTAL (AP)—This is the crucial testing day for Uncle Sam's newest and mightiest warship as the Navy prepared to open up the supercarrier Forrestal to full speed.

• • •

If she passes the test, the "okay" label is expected to be given the 59,000-ton vessel, which failed her first sea trials last month because of mechanical trouble.

• • •

Preliminary tests yesterday were successful. They took place as the ship zig-zagged through moderate seas off the Virginia Capes at speeds ranging up to 25 knots an hour.

• • •

Three weeks ago, the vessel developed mechanical trouble stemming from an inadequate lubricating system. The Newport News Shipbuilding and Drydock Co., the builder, thinks the trouble has been corrected.

Mink Blue Jeans Display Highlights Cowboys' Garb

By JULIUS GOLDEN

ALBUQUERQUE (AP) — Davy Crockett, as any red-blooded American boy knows, had his fur cap.

* * *

And it seems that every woman, as many a hard-working spouse knows, dreams of a fur coat.

Well, men, your day has come!

When the little woman shouts for the fur and the young'un choruses for a genuine Davy Crockett coonskin cap, draw yourself up proudly, give 'em a stoney-eyed stare, and proclaim:

"Now look here! I haven't even paid the first installment on my mink blue jeans. My jeweled cowboy buckle is being readied and what good would that be without my six pairs of cowboy boots—a paltry $1,000 a pair."

* * *

This year, at the New Mexico State Fair, ranchers will have a chance to see a $10,000 wardrobe for the cowboy (at least they're billed that way, even if rodeo queens do wear them). The mink jeans have been making the rounds of the country at the biggest state fairs. But Simon Goldman, who sets up the display in the dairy building, added the rest for a complete ensemble.

"I wanted something real unusual and outstanding," he said. "I'll probably have to hire a couple of guards."

The entire outfit is valued at $10,000.

The bluue jeans, costing $3,500 are lined with silk.

"They had to get 22 matched skins to make the blue jeans," Goldman said. "You have to admit, they're luxurious if you like mink."

* * *

The cowboy buckle, made entirely of gold and silver and richly studded with jewels, was fashioned by a silversmith. It costs $1,000. The boots come in sets of six pairs, $1,000 a pair, and a Stetson hat will run $100.

Actually, none of the pieces is for sale. But they're pretty to look at.

Crane Transfers Sick Man From Tower to Cutter

BOSTON (AP)—A workman stricken ill on the "Texas tower," a man-made radar island 110 miles east of Provincetown, was taken to the Massachusetts General Hospital early today after he was taxied ashore by the Coast Guard.

* * *

The man, believed suffering from appendicitis, was identified by the Coast Guard and hospital personnel as Ralph Oxenrider of Winthrop.

He was accompanied on the rough sea voyage aboard the Coast Guard cutter Cook Inlet by Dr. Joseph Barlow, the tower physician, and Joseph McCormack, another member of the tower personnel.

The transfer to the Cook Inlet was made by placing Oxenrider into a basket and then swinging the basket onto the vessel at the end of a line from a huge crane.

* * *

A Coast Guard plane had twice tried to drop medical supplies onto the tower platform so Dr. Barlow could operate. A 40-mile-per-hour wind carried them into the rough sea.

Makers of Cotton Cloth Hunting Better Resin

Mission Accomplished

Nebraska's Flag Found

OMAHA (AP)—Frau Elsa Taake is an expert with the embroidery needle. Because she is, this story unfolded:

Frau Taake decided she wanted to make an embroidered writing case for the North Atlantic Treaty commander in chief, Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther.

And it being that Gen. Gruenther comes from Nebraska, Frau Taake of West Berlin decided she should embroider Nebraska's state flag into the case design along with the NATO coat of arms and the U.S. flag.

So she wrote the adjutant general of the U.S. Army forces in Europe asking a color reproduction of Nebraska's flag.

He didn't have one. But he figured the adjutant general at Washington would have it. So on went the request.

The adjutant general at Washington didn't have one. But he figured the chief of the Nebraska Military District at Omaha would have one. On went the request.

Col. John R. Dey, the Nebraska district boss, who told the story last night, didn't have one. But he figured Nebraska Adj. Gen. Guy N. Henninger would have one. On went the request.

Gen. Henninger didn't have a color reproduction. But he had an answer. He sent Col. Dey his own real Nebraska flag from Lincoln.

And now Donald P. Christensen, a civilian engineering employe of the Nebraska district, is busy with brush and paint making the color reproduction that Frau Taake wants.

* * *

It will go out in the mails next week to keep Frau Taake's needle busy.

And down the line the word can be passed: "Mission accomplished."

Modern Medicines Linked to Ancients

BUFFALO, N.Y. (INS)—Modern antibiotics, derived from special earths, have their foundation in ancient Greece.

Physicians there used six varieties of earth as medicines for their patients.

These earths usually were dug only once a year with a special ceremony. The spot from which they were taken was put under guard for the rest of the year.

The earth then was formed into small blocks, each being stamped with the symbol of the area from which it came—perhaps the first identification marks to be put on medicines.

Fear Pervades Stockbridge

Town Uses Precautions Against Reoccurrence of Brutal Murders

STOCKBRIDGE (AP) — The lock and the gun have replaced the open door and friendly handshake in this central Michigan community, blanketed by a fog of fear since the hammer-slaying of a farm couple Sept. 3.

* * *

The town lies only 18 miles from the state prison of Southern Michigan at Jackson, the world's largest walled institution.

Stockbridge people didn't worry much about their neighbors until the night when the battered bodies of Howard Herrick, 63, and his wife Myra, 62, were found at their farm five miles away. A bloodied ball-peen hammer lay nearby.

The discovery touched off a nationwide search for Nealy Buchanan, 31, who escaped from the prison the day before the murder.

HOMES ARE LOCKED

Buchanan has not been found. In the past two weeks, fear has sifted past the locked doors and into the heart of a town which once welcomed strangers.

Hardware stores say their stocks of locks have been exhausted and ammunition sales are booming.

Husbands are teaching their wives how to handle shotguns and rifles. Farmers in the area have taken on the vigilance of pioneers.

Children behave as if they have been listening to ghost stories, refusing to go upstairs to bed. Widowed women have quit their homes to live with relatives.

A TENSE TOWN

The town has been converted into a tense arena of false alarms, rumors and scares.

For days after the murders were discovered, sheriff's posses combed the area around Stockbridge. Since then, the searches have ended—but officers are standing by to resume the hunt.

The signals to take up the search are fleeting things. Noises in the nights, shadows, a watermelon found half-eaten in a field.

* * *

The village is hoping and praying—that the Herricks' murderer will be found. Not for vengeance, but only so Stockbridge can open its doors again and extend a friendly hand to the world.

About 7 per cent of the world's jute, used for making burlap and twine, is grown in East Pakistan.

Dead Seagulls Serving to Ward Off Intruders

BLOCK ISLAND, R.I. (AP)—Two seagulls, killed by a plane at Block Island airport, are serving to keep other seagulls off the runway.

Ike Seeks Help in Farm Crisis

Agricultural Advisers Asked for Ideas to Hold Up Sagging Income

By OVID A. MARTIN

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Eisenhower administration looked to the National Agricultural Advisory Commission today for suggestions on how to bolster sagging farm income.

* * *

The 18-member bipartisan body of farm leaders began a two-day quarterly meeting with that as its major problem.

Secretary of Agriculture Benson said the commission will go over proposals for aiding farmers by channeling more money into their pockets.

IDEAS WILL HELP

The secretary said last week that the administration will offer specific recommendations to Congress. Suggestions of the commission doubtless will help formulate administration proposals.

* * *

The group is expected to give serious consideration to a proposal that the government offer farmers substantial payments for retiring upwards of 35 million acres of surplus land from the production of cash crops.

The commission also may pick up proposals that the government adopt a multiple-price system for such export crops as cotton, wheat and rice. Opposed heretofore by Benson, such proposals would support domestic prices of these crops at relatively high levels while allowing them to move into export markets at lower prices.

Dean William L. Myers of the College of Agriculture at Cornell University is chairman of the commission.

Geriatric Section Seen in Stores of the Future

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va.—Folks have been talking about cars, planes, and houses of the future—what will a drug store look like in 1980?

Dan Rennick, editor of American Druggist, says that among other things it will feature a Geriatric Products department—a section devoted to drugs, foods and other supplies needed by the aged.

The proportion of persons over 65 is increasing so rapidly, Rennick says, that by that time the oldsters will constitute more than 10 per cent of the nation.

He estimates there will be nearly twice as many people 65-and-older than there are today.

The store will also have a waiting room for customers waiting for prescriptions and, for the most part, the store will feature self-service since there will be a shortage of clerks.

Printing Foreign Papers Banned by India Cabinet

NEW DELHI (AP)—The Ministry of Information said today the Indian Cabinet has approved a press commission recommendation banning the publication in India of editions of foreign newspapers.

Officials said the action was taken after a request from the New York Times for permission to publish an Asian airmail edition in India, preferably in Calcutta.

Dress Shop 'Fire'

LOS ANGELES (AP)—There's one dress shop here that may be having a different sort of fire sale soon. A skunk got loose in the shop and fired several times before he was trapped by three policemen. They clapped a box over him, wrapped him up tightly in protective plastic, and later had the final shot.

Barber Reveals Pleasant Switch

Commies' Cutter Now Surrounded by Women While Molding Styles

LOS ANGELES (INS) — An ex-GI, who spent part of his time in Korea shaving the heads of surly communist prisoners of war, now has much prettier and more co-operative subjects on which to practice his tonsorial talents.

* * *

Ferdinand Von Berg, 24-year-old former Army medical corpsman of Los Angeles is living the dream of every war-weary GI. All day long he is surrounded by women.

He is a student of cosmetology and hair-styling at a Los Angeles technical school and whiles away the hours molding the coiffures of lovely ladies.

But things weren't so pleasant in Korea when he was assigned to delouse and cleanup captive North Korean officers in an American prison camp. Von Berg was tagged for the job because he had learned barbering.

You'd think that a job like that would be a safe and easy one in the midst of war, but the way Von Berg tells it, it sounds like something above and beyond the line of duty.

FRANTIC CATS

He said the fanatic prisoners were as co-operative as an alley cat about to be shampooed. They had to be forcibly restrained and would kick, scream and create all sorts of a fuss when he tried to cut their hair.

They even bit him several times so badly that he required medical aid. He said they were worse wounds than the one he got while earning five battle stars.

* * *

As if that was not enough, the captives added insult to injury. "They stank and spat and called the Americans capitalist, warmongering imperialistic dogs," he said. "And their hair was full of microscopic livestock."

Wants Army Career

CHICAGO (AP)—Dr. James Robert Bridges of Kahoka, Mo., 92, a captain in the Army Medical Corps in World War I, has applied for a reserve commission, 5th Army Headquarters announced. Bridges offered to serve "for the rest of my life," or as long as the Army desires. Since World War II he has been examining draftees in his home county.

May Use Oldest U. S. Coal Mine

Ancient Hopi Deposits May Be Utilized to Generate Power

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—The oldest coal mining district in the United States may soon be put into large-scale production for the first time.

Dr. John Hack of Harvard University reported the ancestral Hopi Indians of northern Arizona heated their shelters with coal in 1200. Now their large deposits may be used to generate electrical power.

The Harvard group decided prehistoric Americans realized the value of coal about the same time as the English. The British used it to bring about the industrial revolution. The Indians discarded it in favor of wood and sheep dung.

Dr. George A. Kiersch of the University of Arizona is heading a group of geologists and technicians making an inventory of the wide variety of mineral resources of the Navajo and Hopi reservations. They are also trying to find commercial uses for the materials.

Original estimates made 40 years ago placed mineable coal on the reservations at eight billion tons. Kiersch said work done the past couple of years has reduced this estimate to something in excess of two billion tons. It is a good, average grade bituminous coal.

Plans for a power plant in the reservation are now on the planning boards.

Coal seams in the land of the Hopi generally range from two to eight feet in thickness. A few beds 12 to 20 feet thick are known. Most coal production in the U.S. comes from seams three to six feet thick.

Arizona isn't going to rival the nation's leading coal-producing states. Seams of the eastern U.S. extend for tens of miles. Reservation seams run for thousands of feet only. Then the thickness narrows until they are only a few inches wide.

• • •

Hopi coal mines seem to have been abandoned after the Spaniards arrived. The newcomers brought axes. This made it easier to cut wood for fuel than dig coal.

Weak Husband Calmly Leaves Wife in Trunk

CHICAGO — John Vedeckis, 72, isn't the kind to get excited. Vedeckis was calmly standing around a neighborhood candy store telling friends how his wife, Anna, 75, had fallen into a trunk the day before.

"Did she hurt herself," they asked.

"I don't know," he replied, "she's still there."

They rushed to the house and there she was, trapped in the trunk with only her arms and legs protruding. Vedeckis explained he wasn't strong enough to pull her out, so he went to sleep.

Mrs. Vedeckis was hospitalized for examination.

Panama Isle's Bees Don't Have Stingers

PANAMA—On Barro Colorado Island, the Smithsonian Institution's wildlife preserve and biological station in the Canal Zone, there is a race of honey-making, stingless bees.

Some of their honey is excellent, but much of it is "nauseating" according to those who have tasted it.

The bees build no nests of their own, but share those of ants and termites. They apparently see primarily with ultraviolet light reflected from flower petals.

It has been estimated that a jet engine with afterburners makes a noise equivalent to that of 1½ billion people all talking at once.

HE'S LOST HIS DRIVING PERMIT—Three-year-old Jeff Owen of Cleveland, Ohio, is a pretty upset guy. After all, he's had his driver's license suspended. It's all because of an accident he had last June with his tiny "dump truck." A neighbor, pulling out of his driveway, backed into Jeff's vehicle, knocking Jeff to the ground. The neighbor's insurance company came across with $41 to pay the hospital bill and buy Jeff a new dump truck. That's how the s tate Bureau of Motor Vehicles got wind of the mishap. Apparently thinking a real dump truck was involved, the bureau demanded an accident report. Jeff's dad, thinking it was all a mistake, ignored the demand. The bureau became indignant at this slight and recoked Jeff's driving permit. "It's a cryin' shame," wails Jeff.

Reds Apologize to U.S. Visitor

Russians' Explanation of His Picture-Taking Jumbled, Solon Says

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Rep. Joe Holt (R-Calif) said today a Soviet note of apology for a Russian officer's pistol waving during the congressman's recent visit to the U.S.S.R. distorted the facts of the incident.

* * *

Holt released a slightly paraphrased text of the Soviet note, plus a statement of his own and pictures that he took in a Moscow suburb.

He said he had received State Department permission to issue the Russian note. The State Department indicated yesterday it was willing to accept the Soviet apology, although not the Russian version of what happened.

* * *

The note from the Soviet Ministry of Foreign Affairs accuses the congressman of taking photos "with clearly tendentious intentions." It says Holt asked one girl to pose with her hand outstretched, as though begging, and tried to take pictures near a military structure Aug. 31. The note continued:

"One citizen, N. I. Ryzhova, then called upon the officer, a Lt. Lt. Masyagin, for help. Lt. Masyagin asked Holt and an Embassy official to come with him to his headquarters to await a superior officer who would rule on their credentials.

* * *

"When the Embassy official refused and instructed the chauffeur to drive off, the officer insisted, with drawn gun, that they stay. Arrival of a superior officer cut short the incident. After inspecting their documents, he begged their pardon."

* * *

Holt said, while the Russian note claims the behavior of its citizens was correct, "the demeanor of the soldiers and local leaders was definitely anti-American and unfriendly."

Freed Pilot Takes Second Honeymoon

HONG KONG (INS)—Lawrence R. Buol, one of the nine American civilians released by Red China in the past week, left Hong Kong with his wife today for a second honeymoon in Honolulu.

Buol, a civilian pilot for the U.S.-owned Civil Air Transport in the Far East was captured in 1950 and imprisoned for more than five years.

His wife, Sue, was at the Hong Kong border for his release.

No other Americans crossed the border today. Thirty-two more civilians were scheduled for release in the near future.

Alaska Glaciers Assist Science

Katmai Twins Disclose Data on Ice Age Growth and Development

WASHINGTON — Two young glaciers, the only ones whose birth dates are accurately known, have been found nestling inside the crater of Katmai Volcano on the Alaska Peninsula.

• • •

Although crater glaciers are cradled by other slumbering volcanoes along the Aleutian chain, they are rare outside Alaska. The Katmai twins are the first of any type whose life histories can be pinpointed. They are probably the youngest glaciers known, the National Geographic Society says.

Called cliff glaciers, they hang below the crater's rim separated from the regional snowline,, reports Dr. Ernest H. Muller, Cornell University geologist.

While many North American glaciers are 4,000 or more years old, Katmai's crater glaciers came to life since 1912 when the mountain blew its top in the second greatest of all recorded volcanic explosions. Four weeks after the cataclysm the National Geographic Society launched the first expedition to study Katmai's devastation.

3 MILE CRATER

The eruption of Katmai left a crater three miles wide and 3,500 feet deep. Large sections of the mountain's north and south walls collapsed into the cooling caldron. Snow piled up on shelves notching the slides.

In the late 30's or early 50's the lower layers of snow were compressed into ice. Glaciers formed when additional snow pressure turned the ice to an outward-flowing plastic mass.

The exact conditions that produce this extraordinary companionship of ice and warm water are not known.

• • •

Thousands of Lilliputian glaciers spot Alaskan mountains. They contrast with the vast ice fields of the Far North and Alaska's 1,500-square-mile Malaspina glacier, one of the world's largest outside of Arctic regions. The greatest ice rivers, some over 100 miles long, flow from Antarctica and Greenland ice caps.

Study Compares U.S. and British Eye Care Habits

NEW YORK — Recent studies made in the United States and England reveal an interesting comparison of eye-care habits.

• • •

In a nation-wide American survey, it was found that 67.6 per cent of all adults wear glasses and that the average number of pairs owned by each person is 1.5.

Average age of frames now in use is 3.0 years, while average age of lens is 2.5 years.

These figures show a slight but healthy improvement has taken place since a similar survey was conducted in 1948.

At that time, 67.3 per cent wore glasses, owned 1.4 pairs, average age of frames was 3.7 years and that of lenses 2.8 years.

The English are tied with Americans in average eye-glass ownership per wearer and those questioned expect to wear their glasses for about the same length of time, 2.75 years. But—only 50 per cent of their adults wear specs.

Construction Firms Flip $93,900 Coin

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—The flip of a coin recently decided which of two construction firm should get a school contract. Each had bid $93,900 for a six-room addition to Weaver School.

• • •

Puzzled board of education officials didn't know what to do. So officials of the B. G. Danis Co. and Henry Stock and Son Co. agreed to flip a coin. A silver dollar was furnished by a school official.

The Stock company got the contract. As a consolation prize, the Danis Co. was allowed to keep the silver dollar.

Oil-Laden Texans Find Black Gold in Garbage

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Houston may get oil production from one of its city garbage dumps, no fooling.

City Atty. Will Sears said he has received one firm offer to lease the Holmes Road dump for oil exploration. He said he was checking state statutes to determine the technical requirements.

The attorney noted that three oil wells, one within 300 feet, are in the vicinity of the dump and told the City Council he would make recommendations within a week or two.

Violence on TV

MARSHALL, Tex. (AP) — An excited telephone operator called police, told them a receiver was off the hook at a local residence and that she could hear sounds of violence. Police found out she was 100 per cent correct. They found the family clustered about a television set watching a shoot-em-up program.

First Confederate Flag Flown From U.S. Warship

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—The Stars and Bars waved in the blue off this port yesterday as a ceremony was held aboard the carrier Ticonderoga honoring Robert E. Lee and the new 30-cent Lee stamp.

It marked the first time the Confederate flag has flown from an American warship.

The skipper of the Ticonderoga is Capt. Andrew Jackson— a native of Mississippi.

Never Lower Your Guard

RENO, Nev. (AP)—William Powell's tool shed had been broken into twice in recent weeks so he armed himself with a pistol and an automatic shotgun and settled down to spend the night in the shed. But he made the mistake of stepping outside for a while. When he returned, the pistol and rifle were gone, along with an electric grinder.

Doctors Evolve New Type Pills

Multi-Purpose Tablets Have 'Built-In-Memory' to Aid Patients

NEW YORK—Taking pills every "four hours" may be a thing of the past. They're now putting out pills "with a built-in memory"; the medicine being put into "extended action tablets" which produce their effects evenly through the night.

The tablet consists of two parts. The outer coating, or shell, contains one dose. This dissolves in the stomach immediately and passes into the small intestine, where it is effective for three or four hours.

Then the inner core of the tablet takes over. It is equal to two old-fashioned tablets. Passing into the small intestine intact, it dissolves slowly. It's like a piece of hard candy in the mouth, only it takes hours to dissolve, not minutes.

Often a doctor prescribes a medication because he wants the patient to benefit from the sustained effect, round-the-clock, over days, weeks or even months. Under the new regime, one tablet each morning and one at night does the trick.

St. Louis Police Can't Say on License to Drive Hay

ST. LOUIS (AP)—A woman phoned the Missouri Highway Patrol office and asked if her husband needed a chauffeur's license.

"What type machine does he drive," asked Sgt. D. R. Reichmann.

"Oh, it isn't a car," the woman said. "He drives a horse and wagon for hay rides."

Neighbors Suspicious as Van Unloads Slots

EL MONTE, Cal. — Neighbors watching a moving van unload in front of Mrs. Patricia Shedley's home were slightly startled when the driver unloaded 11 slot machines.

• • •

Sheriff's Vice Squad officers rushed to the scene. Van driver David Diaz has an explanation:

In Bremerton, Wash., he had loaded Mrs. Shedley's furniture for transport here. In Tacoma the van picked up the one-arm bandits for delivery in Las Vegas, Nev.

To get Mrs. Shedley's furniture out of the van, Diaz and his helper had to first remove the slot machines. "How was I to know it's against the law to haul the machines through California?" he asked.

Old Trooper Says Show Business Is Too Rugged

ROCKFORD, Ill. (AP)—Once billed as the singing bartender, Buddy Morris now is a non-singing bartender in a Rockford tavern.

Morris wrote finis to his show business career that dates back to 1921. Now 48, he once sang with Wayne King's orchestra and was popular in the 1930's and '40's.

Morris says he quit show business because "show business is too rugged And it isn't show business any more."

Today's Rockets—Precursors of the Future

(This is the third of four articles on the practical possibilities and problems of space travel by a science writer who visited secret U.S. rocket and guided missile bases and talked to the world's foremost space scientists.)

By EDWIN DIAMOND

WHITE SANDS, N. M. — The balloon launchings are made in the northern states since previous work has shown the middle latitudes are the best "hunting grounds" for cosmic radiation.

• • •

Holloman scientists are tight-lipped about the space mice and monkeys sent up in rockets. But further studies are known to be under way.

In the meantime, Col. Stapp has a proposal for a "practical" trip to the moon. He explained it:

"Perhaps we can attach a small drone rocket to our first moon-bound vehicle. This rocket might be designed in such a manner so as to return to earth with a sampling of the moon's surface.

"Other equipment could be designed and placed in the drone rocket to record valuable temperature, moisture and radiation information.

"This information would be as good as a human 'Columbus' could get—and we could be reasonably sure we would get it back to earth.

• • •

"Sending a man to the moon without the information could be like putting some one down in Death Valley with no food, water or horse."

ROCKETS AWKWARD

However, with all their power and precision, today's rockets are comparable to the first awkward plane Orville and Wilbur Wright built in a bicycle shop 52 years ago.

The Wright brothers' plane represented a revolutionary breakthrough when it went 120 feet in 12 seconds from Kill Devil Hill, near Kitty Hawk, N. C., on Dec. 17, 1903.

Today, a United States Air Force B-36 can fly 10,000 miles nonstop and drop a 10,000-pound load along the way. The B-36's wingspread alone is twice the length of that first Kitty Hawk flight.

• • •

The proposed space satellite approved by President Eisenhower will be another revolutionary breakthrough. But rocket experts expect the space crafts of the future to dwarf the spaceball vehicle in power and performance just as the B-36 towers over the Kitty Hawk plane.

NUCLEAR POWER PLANTS

Nuclear power plants are considered the next—and most important—breakthrough in space flight.

They are important because any interplanetary vehicle must carry its own fuel supply. A vast amount of fuel is required to propel present rockets, and that limits flights. Nuclear engines would make possible crew-carrying ships able to range over our and other solar systems.

Powder and liquid rockets are not new of course—the former dates back to 13th century China.

LIQUID BETTER

Liquid propellants are better but more expensive than solid propellants, according to Charles Mansur and Lowell Randall, two rocket engineers in the Army Ordnance Laboratories at White Sands Proving Grounds, New Mexico.

Mansur was an associate of the late Prof. Robert Goddard, the father of American rocketry. Both he and Randall are propulsion specialists — and both are convinced "present chemical means of rocket propulsion will not get you all the way in interplanetary flight."

Said Randall:

"We have reached about 50 per cent of the efficiency limits of liquid chemical propellants. This means we are nearing the ceiling on rocket performance unless we can find some other form of power.

• • •

"Perhaps a nuclear reactor, which does not require the big fuel load of present conventional rocket motors, is the next step. Of course, there is much of the rocket 'art' we still do not know, but it is the feeling here that you will have to go outside the chemical field for new sources of energy."

CHICAGOANS AGREE

Two Chicago propulsion specialists, Stephen J. Fraenkel and Vincent Cushing of Armour Research Foundation, Illinois Institute of Technology, also look toward a nuclear power plant as the solution to long distance rocket travel.

Cushing believes any real interplanetary travel is "tied in closely with the development of a nuclear power plant." With such a plant, Cushing declares, there would be two important advantages. He said:

"Getting 'out of this world' with conventional chemical fuels is dependent on the initial velocity of escape. This means you need a big blast-off with its attendant tremendous G-pull (gravity pull) on your human crew.

"With a nuclear power plant, take-off could be one of gradual acceleration—it would be as uneventful inside the craft as it is sitting here in this office talking to you.

"In addition, the great amount of space taken up by the chemical fuels could be used for payload—equipment and passengers—aboard a nuclear-powered ship."

CRASH PROGRAM

To achieve such a power plant, Cushing recommended a "crash" program similar to the Manhattan district project which led to the development of the first atomic bomb. He said:

"Given a few billion dollars and from two to five years, scientists not only could design but build a nuclear-powered engine suitable for interplanetary flight.

"This would be a gamble only in the sense that no one could predict the eventual final form or size of the atomic engine. About its feasibility, however, there is wide agreement."

• • •

Fraenkel agreed and added:

"If such an atomic engine were in existence, and especially if it could be planned to travel at speeds approaching that of light, then the exploration of other solar systems might not be out of the question."

There is evidence that Soviet Russia is interested in the U. S. rockets.

RUSSIANS TRY KIDNAP

Grigori Tokaev, a Russian engineer who defected to the West, has declared he was under orders from the Kremlin to bring Dr. and Mrs. Saenger to Moscow by persuasion or force.

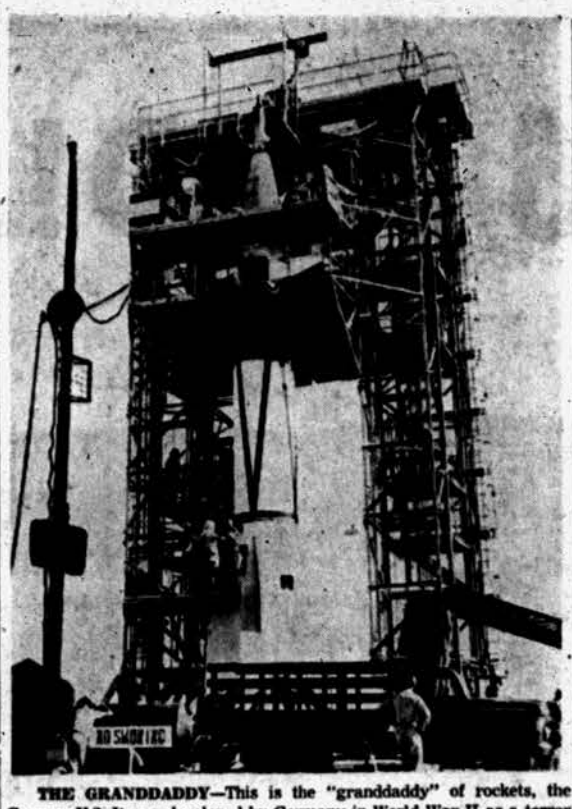

Tokaev's mission failed and the Russians do not have the foremost photonic power expert in their employ. Dr. Saenger is not overlooking the possibility that the Russians may be "hot on the trail."

And what about the United States?

Informed sources say the U. S. is also "hot on the trail", at perhaps two key research laboratories, one in the southwest, the other in the far west.

According to the experts who can comment, neither the U. S. nor the U. S. S. R. has reached the mechanical "working stage"—as yet.

(Tomorrow—When will man rocket out of this world?)

THE GRANDDADDY—This is the "granddaddy" of rockets, the German V-2. It was developed by Germany in World War II as a terror weapon. Scientists in the U. S. have fired the V-2 more than 100 miles above the earth.

Plywood Stove Operates With Magnetic Coils

LON GBEACH, Cal.—A "house of tomorrow" built recently near Long Beach features a kitchen range built of hardwood plywood.

This highly unusual cooking th taset up eddy currents in the cooking utensils. These currents do the actual cooking.

Tiny Motor Developed for Usage in Aircraft

LYNN, Mass. — A tiny motor, smaller than a man's thumb, has been developed for aviation use in the Lynn instrument department of a national electric concern.

The device is said to be rugged enough to withstand high-altitude flying in temperatures down to 67 below zero.

It already is being used to power a braking mechanism in an aircraft gyrocompass system. The motor weighs 1.2 ounces and has a maximum speed of 19,250 revolutions a minute.

Ft. Custer Hospital Eyed

LANSING (AP) — Gov. Williams asked the federal government today to let Michigan use the empty station hospital at Fort Custer to house about half of the 1,200 mentally retarded children now on hospital waiting lists. Williams addressed the request to Secretary of Defense Wilson.

Here Tomorrow! NEW '56 FORD!...The fine car at half the fine car price!

With new 202 h.p. Thunderbird Y-8

...with new Thunderbird styling

...with new Lifeguard Design

Now you can have the new 202-h.p. Thunderbird Y-8 engine . . . with its instant response and wealth of reserve. It's available in Fordomatic Fairlane and Station Wagon models. In Fordomatic Customline and Mainline models you can have the "GO"-packed 176-h.p. Y-8. And Ford's new 137-h.p. Six is available in all 18 models.

The new '56 Ford looks like the Thunderbird, too! You'll find the same graceful lines . . . the same long, low silhouette . . . the same dashing appearance . . . styling which helped the fabulous Thunderbird to win America's heart. You can drive the '56 Ford anywhere and everywhere, with assurance that it "belongs."

For '56, Ford brings you the greatest safety news in a generation. At the same time, Ford brings you a car so new in power, so stunning in style, so fine in concept you'll agree it's your soundest new-car buy.

Ford's safety news is new Lifeguard Design—the result of more than two years of testing and research by Ford to learn and do something about the main causes of serious accident injuries.

In cooperation with universities, medical associations and safety experts, Ford learned that most serious injuries were caused by drivers being thrown against the steering post, occupants being thrown forward against hard interior surfaces, or being thrown out of the car.

To provide extra protection against these hazards Ford developed the new Lifeguard features described at the right. They combine to bring you the first major contribution to driver and passenger safety in automobile accidents.

When you visit your Ford Dealer's and learn Ford's full Lifeguard story . . . when you see Ford's many "safety firsts" . . . you'll know that Ford has done something definite and important for the protection of you and your family.

But there is still more wonderful news! Now, Ford brings you the successor to the V-8 engine . . . the modern deep-block Y-8 . . . developed by the organization that has built more V-8's than all other makers combined. Ford's advanced deep-block design means extra-smooth, extra-quiet "GO" . . . contributes to longer engine life . . . makes for greater savings.

Ford creates fresh styling news too! It has breathtaking Thunderbird beauty . . . delightful new colors . . . rich new Luxury Lounge interiors . . . and quality workmanship throughout.

In added protection . . . responsive performance . . . brilliant styling . . . and inherent quality . . . you're certain to agree that Ford is the fine car at half the fine car price.

Ford's new Lifeguard design features are a new Lifeguard steering wheel, with deep-center design, to act as a cushion in event of accident . . . Lifeguard double-grip door locks designed to reduce the possibility of doors springing open under shock . . . optional Lifeguard padding for instrument panel and sun visors to help lessen injuries from impact . . . optional seat belts to help keep occupants in their seats for added safety.

See the '56 FORD tomorrow at your local Ford Dealer's

City Council Boo Boos

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit has cut the speed limit on trucks of more than 5,000 pounds to 45 miles an hour on its expressways. The City Council overlooked a state law limiting trucks to 45 when it originally set an expressway limit of 55 for all vehicles.

Health Budget Drops

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—Lewis M. Dekorne, chairman of the health committee of the Kent County board of supervisors, has approved a tentative health budget for next year of $69,768. The figure is $1,500 less than this year's budget. However, Dekorne said a planned expansioin of health services totaling $12,900 will be submitted as a separate request later.

Hollywood Headlines

Marion Marlowe Returns—This Time With Success

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Tall, shapely Marion Marlowe of St. Louis has returned to Hollywood under different circumstances from her last visit.

* * *

Today she is headlining at a big new night spot, has signed for a leading role in a movie and is negotiating for more. When she was last here, she was a carhop at a drive-in restaurant.

Moral: It pays to get fired.

As any TV fan can tell you, Marion was one of the so-called Arthur Godfrey Friends. She got the ax.

It turned out to be a disguised blessing. The soprano was immediately signed for several appearances on the Ed Sullivan Show. She will be featured prominently in "The Ed Sullivan Story," which Warners is going to film.

She also was hooked up to high-salaried dates at such spots as the Chez Paree in Chicago, Dunes in Las Vegas and the new Beverly Hilton here. She was lunching on the balcony of her swank seventh-floor suite at the Hilton as she reminisced about her previous assault on Hollywood.

"It was back in 1947 or so," she remarked. "I had just graduated from high school in St. Louis. I heard Monogram was making a picture based on the life of Tchaikovsky. They were looking for a girl who was tall, brunette and could sing. I qualified for all three.

"A friend of mine sent my picture. The studio wrote back for me to come to Hollywood—at my own expense, of course.

"So I came out. I sat around for five months doing nothing.

* * *

But Marion didn't return in defeat to St. Louis. She stayed in Hollywood, living at the Studio Club and hustling hamburgers at a drive-in. The girl across the hall was also struggling for a start in films—Marilyn Monroe.

Marion's sole job was a six-week date at Ciro's as part of an act called The Smart Set. Another member was Mitzi Gerber, later called Gaynor. The engagement was canceled after four weeks.

"I had no luck at all," she said. "I couldn't even get in to see the people who could get me in to see the people who could give me a job."

Finally she snapped at the chance to go to London in a show called "Sauce Tartere."

Marion came back to this country, got a big buildup, then the gate from Godfrey. However, she's enjoying her new-found freedom, both financially and professionally.

Income Tax Form for 1955 Will Be Easier to Fill Out

WASHINGTON (INS)—You will get a break on your 1955 income tax.

It will not be a tax cut, but a number of changes have been made in the tax forms which should mean fewer headaches next year.

After months of brooding over taxpayer gripes, the Internal Revenue Service has announced the new forms for the 1955 income tax.

There is an improved punch card form for those earning less than $5,000 a year from wages or salaries, and a shorter form for those with incomes of $5,000 or more from wages or salaries, except $100 or less.

Those with more than $100 of income, not subject to the withholding tax, will have to chew their pencils as much as before. But the Internal Revenue Service estimates that about 60 per cent of the nation's taxpayers, or upwards of 40 million, should benefit from the improvements in the tax forms.

SIMPLE PROCESS

Some 30 to 35 million of the more than 60 million taxpayers can simply fill out the punch card and mail it to the regional Internal Revenue director's office after attaching the withholding tax forms.

* * *

The director's office then would figure out the tax and send the taxpayer a refund or a bill in 40 to 45 days, depending on whether his withheld tax was greater or less than his real tax.

Those who earn less than $5,000 from wages or salaries, including combined income for husbands and wives, if they choose, may use the so-called short form 1040, which is only part of the first page of the regular form.

If their wages or salaries total $5,000 or more, they will use only the first two pages of the long form 1040 instead of all four pages as before. This result is obtained by combining all the required information on the first two pages.

GIMMICK HELPFUL

Also, the instructions which are mailed with the tax form contain a gimmick helpful to husbands and wives filing joint returns.

Instead of having to divide their income in half, figure their tax from the regular rates and multiply by two, as they have had to do for years, they will find a ready-made tax table for two, which will enable them to figure their tax in one calculation.

* * *

Incidentally, the Internal Revenue has dropped the color stripes used on the 1954 mailed kits, which classified income as above or below the $10,000 bracket.

Dock Union Leader Sponsors Red Film

HILO, Hawaii (AP)—Harry Bridges' International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union is looking for a place to show the movie "Salt of the Earth," which the House Un-American Activities Committee labeled Communist propaganda.

* * *

Ernest B. De Silva, public school superintendent, barred the film from the Hilo High School and auditorium.

Maj. Gen. Fred W. Makinney, adjutant general of the Hawaii National Guard, refused to permit a showing in the armory where the ILWU territorial convention is being held.

Dead Ferry Skipper Blamed for Sinking

HAKODATE, Japan (AP)—A marine court of inquiry today blamed the dead skipper for the 1954 typhoon sinking of the huge government railways ferry Toya Maru.

* * *

A total of 1,172 persons—56 of them Americans—drowned. It was the worst sea disaster since the Titanic sank in 1912 with 1,517 dead.

After seven months of hearings, the Hakodate local marine accidents inquiry agency, a government body, blamed Capt. Heiichi Kondo for putting to sea in a typhoon.

Bard's Theater Liked

Some 300,000 persons visit the Shakespeare Memorial Theater at Stratford on Avon every year, says the National Geographic Society. The theater was completed in 1932. In 1769 David Garrick organized the first Shakespearean festival in Stratford.

Grandma Gets Mad —Ends Up in Jail

TRAVERSE CITY, Mich. (AP)—Deputy Sheriff Bill Box said Mrs. Myrtle R. Schlotthauer, a 61-year-old grandmother, blew her top when she learned repairs to her car had not been completed and:

Scratched the face of an auto mechanic, knocked another off his feet with a right to the jaw.

Clouted an arresting patrolman on the head with a wrench.

Kicked out the window of her cell at Grand Traverse County Jail, severing an artery and injuring a tendon.

Police said she was jailed to "cool off" and was charged with drunk and disorderly conduct.

Work Starts in October on Grand Circus Garage

DETROIT (AP) — Ground breaking ceremonies at Grand Circus Park next month will signal construction of a $4,100,000 underground garage for 1,050 cars. It is part of a $16,100,000 parking program planned by Detroit officials.

The City Council yesterday approved leasing the park site for 40 years to the H. K. Ferguson Engineering Co. of Cleveland, which will construct and operate the facilities.

Egyptians Will Oust Coptic Church Head

CAIRO, Egypt (AP)—The Egyptian government is going to oust 85-year-old Patriarch Anba Youssab II, controversial head of the Coptic Church in Egypt and Ethiopia, whose suspension was ordered by his own hierarchy.

* * *

The church is an ancient Christian body simi x8ing. the Greek Othodrox Church. The Coptic archbishops and Congregational Council voted to suspend the old man from his lifetime post but he refused to quit. The Egyptian Cabinet decided last night to back the lesser church leaders.

* * *

The patriarch has been under fire for more than a year from Coptic leaders who dislike his administration of church affairs.

Birds, Beasts Flock to Assist Lovesick Camel

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The birds and beasts are flocking to the aid of Cecil, the lovesick camel.

* * *

Cecil is the lone camel in the Dade County zoo at Crandon Park on Key Biscayne. He appeared to be ailing recently, and a veterinarian examined him.

Nothing wrong with Cecil except lovesickness, said the vet. He longed for a wife.

* * *

A fund was started to buy Cecil a mate. People gave some money. Then someone got the idea of letting his pet send in a few pennies. The thought spread swiftly.

* * *

To date, 53 parakeets have donated $17.80 to Cecil's bridal fund. Twenty-six dogs contributed $5.76; one monkey $2; eight cats $1.10; one parrot $3; one guinea pig $10; two canaries 20 cents; one turkey 15 cents; a screech owl 25 cents and three wild birds 20 cents.

Cecil's bridal fund now totals $743.26, about half what's needed.

City Council Boo Boos

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit has cut the speed limit on trucks of more than 5,000 pounds to 45 miles an hour on its expressways. The City Council overlooked a state law limiting trucks to 45 when it originally set an expressway limit of 55 for all vehicles.

Health Budget Drops

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—Lewis M. Dekorne, chairman of the health committee of the Kent County board of supervisors, has approved a tentative health budget for next year of $69,768. The figure is $1,500 less than this year's budget. However, Dekorne said a planned expansioin of health services totaling $12,900 will be submitted as a separate request later.

Hollywood Headlines

Marion Marlowe Returns—This Time With Success

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Tall, shapely Marion Marlowe of St. Louis has returned to Hollywood under different circumstances from her last visit.

* * *

Today she is headlining at a big new night spot, has signed for a leading role in a movie and is negotiating for more. When she was last here, she was a carhop at a drive-in restaurant.

Moral: It pays to get fired.

As any TV fan can tell you, Marion was one of the so-called Arthur Godfrey Friends. She got the ax.

It turned out to be a disguised blessing. The soprano was immediately signed for several appearances on the Ed Sullivan Show. She will be featured prominently in "The Ed Sullivan Story," which Warners is going to film.

She also was hooked up to high-salaried dates at such spots as the Chez Paree in Chicago, Dunes in Las Vegas and the new Beverly Hilton here. She was lunching on the balcony of her swank seventh-floor suite at the Hilton as she reminisced about her previous assault on Hollywood.

"It was back in 1947 or so," she remarked. "I had just graduated from high school in St. Louis. I heard Monogram was making a picture based on the life of Tchaikovsky. They were looking for a girl who was tall, brunette and could sing. I qualified for all three.

"A friend of mine sent my picture. The studio wrote back for me to come to Hollywood—at my own expense, of course.

"So I came out. I sat around for five months doing nothing.

* * *

But Marion didn't return in defeat to St. Louis. She stayed in Hollywood, living at the Studio Club and hustling hamburgers at a drive-in. The girl across the hall was also struggling for a start in films—Marilyn Monroe.

Marion's sole job was a six-week date at Ciro's as part of an act called The Smart Set. Another member was Mitzi Gerber, later called Gaynor. The engagement was canceled after four weeks.

"I had no luck at all," she said. "I couldn't even get in to see the people who could get me in to see the people who could give me a job."

Finally she snapped at the chance to go to London in a show called "Sauce Tartere."

Marion came back to this country, got a big buildup, then the gate from Godfrey. However, she's enjoying her new-found freedom, both financially and professionally.

Bullfrogs May Take 3 Years to Mature

MIAMI—The time required by toads and frogs for development from tadpoles into adults varies considerably.

The small frogs, such as the spring peepers, and the toads are generally transformed by the middle of June. Bullfrogs may not change the first year; probably 50 per cent do not become adults until the following spring.

In the most northern states they often require three years to reach maturity.

'Take Eleven' Expression Originated With Chileans

When North Americans pause for a rest, they "take eleven."

The expression originated in South American colonial days when Chilean soldiers were given their ration of "aguardiente" brandy every evening at five. This became known as "eleven" or "once" pronounced "on-seh," because of eleven letters in "aguardiente." Today, many Chileans, at teatime, still call it "tomando once" or "taking eleven."

Is Ink Democratic?

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP)—The statehouse employment situation gets a little funny at times.

Came a plea recently to mimeograph the governor's speech to the 1955 legislature. Typists were needed. Lala Ortiz, secretary to Revenue Commissioner Mike Gallegos, said there were too many Republican typists and not any Democrats in the statehouse.

She thought the Democratic governor's speech ought to be handled only by Democrats. The windup was the speech was typed by girls in the State Education Department, headed by a Democrat.

GOSPEL SHIP — Tugboat carries religion to Maine islanders.

God's Tugboats Mark 50 Years

Vessels Carry Religion to Isolated Islands Off the Maine Coast

(AP Newsfeature)

BAR HARBOR, Maine — Fifty years of service by God's Tugboats were celebrated here when the Maine Seacoast Mission Society marked its anniversary.

* * *

Founded in 1905 by two Scotch clergymen from picturesque Mount Desert Island, the nonsectarian society started with a 26-foot sailing sloop bought by the ministers and progressed to the 72-foot motor vessel owned today.

Some call the present boat the Sunbeam, its regular name. Others call it "God's Tugboat."

The Revs. Angus and Alexander MacDonald conceived the idea of a seagoing mission service to Maine's many offshore islands. They interested others. Thomas Searles of Bar Harbor, treasurer since 1905, is the only member of the original society still alive.

* * *

Although its primary purpose is to provide religious teaching, the society doubles in brass using its boat as a water taxi for missionaries, seagoing moving van for island families. Santa's aquatic sleigh at Christmas, ice breaker, hopsital ship and a general emergency vessel which often augments the Coast Guard's work.

Thirteen workers carry on the society's labors under the direction of the Rev. Neal Boustield.

The work is financed from contributions by individuals and groups all over the country.

Wage Earners Living Longer in United States

NEW YORK — According to the mortality in 1954, the average length of life of America's wage-earners and their families climbed to within a tenth of a year of the Bibical three score years and ten.

This record is derived from experience among industrial policyholders. The average length of life of these insured persons is now 69.9 years.

The current figure is one year greater than that for 1953 and five and one-half years above that of a decade ago.

Improvement has been more rapid for industrial policyholders than for the general population of the United States. In 1911-12 the average length of life among these insured was 46.6 years, or about six and one-half years less than for the population as a whole; at present the two are on a par.

Air Force Base Helped by Civilian Fire Company

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — MacDill Air Force Base has eight fire companies but it had to call on the Tampa Fire Department for one emergency. A giant B36 bomber dropped in with a request for help in repairing a radio antenna wire, broken off near the connecting point with the tail section, five stories up in the air.

Since MacDill doesn't have a B36 repair stand and its fire companies didn't have a ladder tall enough to do the job, the base had to get the city's aerial truck to hoist the repairmen up.

Bob Considine Says:

Inquiring Photographer--A Dangerous Job

NEW YORK (INS) — Artie Aidala is an inquiring photographer for the New York Daily Mirror. He plants himself on a street corner, armed only with a question ("Are Bachelors People?") and a rolleiflex. Then he braces the people he thinks will stand still and fires away with both question and camera.

* * *

"It's an interesting job, stopping people on the street," he said. "You get some strange answers, particularly the ones you can't print.

"Some people think you're daffy, you know, like those screw-loose guys are always walking around New York. I stopped a nice motherly looking lady the other day, put the question to her, and she looked back at me like a house dick. Then she said out of the side of her mouth, 'Keep Moving, Buster. Keep Moving.'

"Another lady listened to the question and gave me a twenty minute answer. I said fine, now I'll take the picture for the paper. She started to scream bloody murder. I got out of there quick. That's the occupational hazard of the job, I guess. Some dame might scream or yell for a cop and all of a sudden some brave bum about six feet eight is breaking your camera over your coconut.

"But it's a great job."

THEY'RE ALL ALIKE

Funny thing happened to a cab I was speeding to the airport in. It caught on fire. The driver and I baled out, leaped back and salvaged a bag, and did what we could to put out the blaze. But there was a plane to catch. Paid the guy off and cocked a thumb at the line of cars blurring along the parkway.

A car jammed on its brakes, skidded about 50 yards, backed up and the guy yelled, "Hop in." Then he took off at break-neck speed. I told him I had been headed for Idlewild. "Sorry I can't take you there," he said as we rounded a curve at 85. "I've got to be in court at ten o'clock."

"Sorry," I said above the roar of the wind. We were now traveling just under the speed of sound. "Nothing serious, I hope."

"No," he said, "just speeding."

I KNOW THAT GUY

Nice bloke came over to me at the International Boxing Club offices in the Garden the other day and said as follows:

* * *

"Boy, you sure have gone a long way since you were around the fight beat. When I read that stuff of yours from Korea, with Eisenhower, I said, 'I know that guy. Used to be around the fight beat.' Then there was the coronation stories, and I said, 'I know that guy. Used to be around the fight beat.' Said it many times as I followed you. Now, I'd like for you to meet my brother. Brother, come over here. I want you should know my old friend Bob Brumby."

TOM CAME TO HELP

Rocky Marciano made it a ritual always to have breakfast, on the day of a fight, with Arch Ward, sports editor of the Chicago Tribune. Ward, who died several months ago, was a kind of father confessor to the heavyweight champion. Ward's Golden Gloves tournament launched Rocky on the road to the title."

* * *

"All through this training session for Archie Moore I felt that something was wrong," the champ told Vincent X. Flaherty of the Los Angeles Examiner the other day. "Then I knew; I wouldn't have breakfast with Arch this time. So I called his boy Tom. Tom Ward came on for breakfast and the fight."

Gas Output Weighs Twice That of Steel

NEW YORK—Although natural gas is lighter than air, the nation's gas production in 1954 totaled 235,000,000 tons—2½ times as heavy as the year's total steel production.

Gas supplies 25 per cent of the country's total energy requirements compared with less than 4 per cent 35 years ago.

Consumption has doubled since World War II and pipeline mileage has nearly doubled along with it, rising to a total of 425,000 miles.

Paratroopers on Sub?

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—Paratroopers on a submarine?

A Navy sentry at Convoy Escort piers scratched his head and looked again. No fooling — they were on the deck. The paratroopers, from the Third Army were taking part in reconnaissance submarine indoctrination and launching of rubber boats on troop transport submarines.

For over 60 years Oakland County's Board of Supervisors had only 25 members, one for each township.

Ticklish Burro Falls in Love With Milkman

FAIRFIELD, Conn. — Milkmen and postmen have always had trouble with dogs along their routes — but not John Renchansky, a milkman. His troubles came from an affectionate burro.

* * *

It was about 6:30 one morning when Renchansky got tired of the pesky burro following him from house to house and sought the aid of the law.

Two policemen tried to shoo the burro home, but she refused to leave her new-found pal, Renchansky. Police telephoned the burro's owner, Edward Sterling. "She likes to have her nose tickled," said Sterling.

Policeman Ambrose Smith tickled the borro's nose. The animal deserted Renchansky and followed Smith.

Smart Counterattack Ruins Pesky Mosquitoes

DOVER, Del. (AP) — Mosquitoes who settle down to launch their pesky attack around the Air Force Base at Dover were just plain asking for it, the Air Force figures.

* * *

The Air Force retaliated with a counter air attack—and then some—called "Operation Mosquito."

* * *

A C47 was equipped for aerial spraying, flew low and splashed the mosquitoes with a mixture of insecticide and light oil. The casualties were beyond calculation, the Air Force said.

What Do You Think?

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Hermann Hospital has a contest to name the father's waiting room on the maternity floor. Some of the entries: Heir Point, Stork Club, Pappy's Paternity Pacing Parlor, Papa-teria.

World Is Getting Warmer and Warmer

Someday Michigan May Rival Florida for Sunshine

CLEVELAND (NEA) — Think it was hot last summer? No wonder. Over the past 50 years, America has been getting warmer and warmer.

* * *

And you'd better get used to the heat. It looks as though the country is going to get hotter still—maybe much hotter.

This isn't a question of tomorrow's weather, of course. Your town may have a cold spell in August, and a real bristler of a frigid winter.

But the climate, which is the cumulative record of the weather over a period of years, decades, and centuries, seems to be changing. As climate changes go, it's happening at a startlingly rapid rate.

SCIENTIFIC ESTIMATES

Over the years ahead, our summers are probably going to be longer and our winters milder, with less and less snow and ice.

Fifty years from now winters in most parts of the United States and even some of Canada may be marked by only occasional short freezes.

* * *

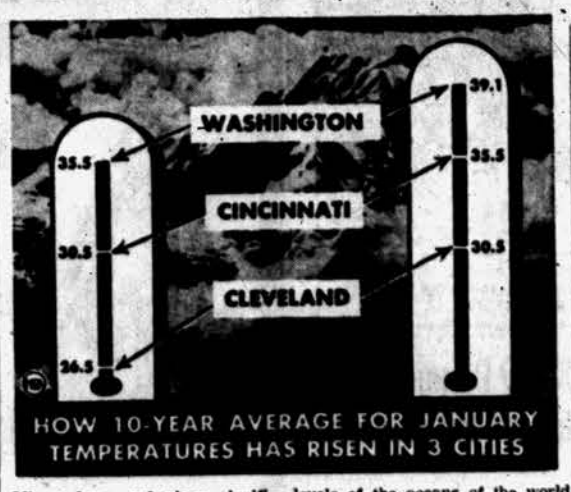

These are estimates made on the basis of the work of some of the top scientific minds in America.

Since the U.S. Weather Bureau began collecting reliable figures from all over the country about 60 years ago, the normal mean temperature has climbed by about two degrees.

* * *

The change hasn't been uniform. It has been felt far more, for instance, in the north than in the south.

Temperatures in Cleveland, for instance, have climbed by three degrees in 80 years of official records, while temperatures in Miami have not risen significantly.

HOW 10-YEAR AVERAGE FOR JANUARY TEMPERATURES HAS RISEN IN 3 CITIES

In two regions, the Great Basin and central Canada, there even seems to have been a slight cooling-off in the past 40 years.

* * *

But in general the trend is up. Cleveland, which used to have average January temperatures of 26.5, for the past 10 years has enjoyed the 30.5 average that used to be typical of Cincinnati.

Cincinnati, meanwhile, has climbed to the old Washington, D. C., mid-winter level of 35.5, while Washington Januaries have soared to a 10-year average of 39.1.

LITTLE MEANS A LOT

Two degrees may not sound like much. But scientists believe that an increase only that great all over the world would be enough to melt every scrap of ice at both the North and South Poles. That much melted ice would raise the levels of the oceans of the world by 180 feet.

* * *

Here are some of the important developments that scientists equate with the trend toward warmer weather:

In Greenland the ice has retreated beyond limits it is known to have occupied for 500 years. In the Alps, hotels built 50 years ago to take advantage of a sweeping view over a glacier are now out of sight of the ice in the summertime.

In the Southwest, continued water shortage is partly due to man's own impact on the land. But climatologists believe the extended nature of the drought has a direct tie with the melting of the Arctic ice pack 3,000 miles to the north.

* * *

In Canada, almost every year farmers push the boundary of wheat culture northward. A longer growing season, milder winters, and hardier plants combine to supply the reasons.

In northern waters, Greenland Eskimos are reported to have given up seal-hunting, because the seal have disappeared toward the Arctic.

NEW STORM AREAS

New storm patterns have brought hurricanes and tornadoes to New England, and violent tidal inundations to England and Holland.

* * *

Skeptics still insist that grandfather's idea about the winters getting warmer is all in his head. The statistics show otherwise.

But the heat wave that seems to be advancing across the country is bringing with it a real danger to industry and to agriculture—drought. Most of the scientists who are predicting warmer weather believe that the current dry spell in the Southwest will spread farther and farther north and east.

This brings up a definite possibility that the southwestern states will grow too dry to support the populations now living there. The tremendous expenditures made on irrigating the semi-arid lands may turn out to have been wasted if those lands turn into deserts.

Only one area in the country has an assured permanent supply of fresh water for unlimited use. That is the Great Lakes basin, located around the largest reservoir in the world.

BOON TO MICHIGAN

Should the United States grow drier, industry is likely to "migrate" to the shores of the Great Lakes to take advantage of perpetual drought insurance.

The combination of an assured water supply and the new St. Lawrence Seaway may turn the Great Lakes states into the most populous and prosperous region in the country.

A recent study shows that the average time it takes to get court action on a U.S. court case in which there is no jury is 4.6 months.

CRAZY, MIXED-UP BIRD — "Hey, you in the fur coat. Can't you do something about this heat?" That's what "Baby," the robin who came to dinner and has stayed ever since, seems to be saying to its playmate, Tom. They both live in the home of Mrs. Marion Gibson in Cincinnati. The robin is discouragingly tame and all efforts to give it the bum's rush have been scorned. By this time it prefers hamburger to worms. It bosses the cat around. To top it off, it's afraid of other birds.

Much Egyptian farmland is 20 to 30 feet higher than in the time when the pyramids were built because of continuing deposits of silt from the Nile floods, says the National Geographic Society.

Ninety per cent of the earth's air is found below 10 miles above sea level.

Jury Probes Threats Against Negro Pupil

TAHOKA, Tex. (AP)—The grand jury probing reported threats against a 16-year-old Negro enrolled in formerly all-white Tahoka High School recessed last night with indications its investigation was about completed.

Dist. Atty. Mitchell Williams said the investigation was centered more on vandalism than against "possible threats" against the student, Andrew Nance. Three automobiles belonging to the school board president were damaged the night the board decided to let Nance attend white classes.

Nance said three white men threatened him with personal harm if he continued in the school where his white class mates have elected him vice president of the junior class.

GIs Land Big Shark Off Honolulu Dock

HONOLULU (AP) — Marine Sgt. Richard C. Lawrence and Air Force Sgt. Charles Hoke, fishing from the Ft. Weaver dock, yesterday landed a 15-foot shark weighing 1,800 pounds. The battle lasted three hours.

The sergeants said they used a two-foot hammerhead shark as bait.

"You use that kind of bait and rig when you expect to catch big ones," Lawrence said.

Soybeans Put in Glue

PORTLAND, Ore.—A thousand railroad-car loads of soybean meal are shipped to the West Coast each year to be made into glue for use in manufacturing fir plywood for interior use.

DANIEL BOONE

By Russ Winterbotham and Ralph Lane

Shawnee Chief Blackfish, on his way to attack Boonesborough, surprised Boone, who was collecting salt near Salt Lick in 1778.

After the surrender, Chief Blackfish said the terms did not apply to Dan'l, who was forced to "run the gantlet," a mild form of torture.

Traffic Optimist Sees Non-Stop Route From Coast to Coast by the Year 2000

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21 (AP) — Those who fret at the traffic that clogs almost every major highway today were handed this simple solution:

Stick around. By the year 2000, everything should be better. By then, a family may drive pleasantly from coast to coast and never see a traffic light.

President Eisenhower, a man who does not spare the horsepower on his automobile trips between here and his Gettysburg, Pa., farm said in a statement yesterday to the American Automobile Assn.

"I hope all of you will continue to speak up again and again for prompt action on a highway adequate for modern living."

So, to learn what we are speaking up for, let's look into the future with J. P. Buckley, chief highway engineer for the Automotive Safety Foundation.

First, a diagnosis by our highway doctor on what's wrong with what we have now.

"Much of it," Buckley said, "was built for the horse and buggy era." Additional miles were put in when cars were smaller and slower. Only a relatively few miles, he said, have been built with the modern car in mind.

Still, enough has been done for Buckley to make these predictions about 2000 A.D.:

Automobile traffic will increase fantastically, but because of fine expressways, there will be little congestion.

On these expressways cities will be by-passed or the road will be so built that it will hardly be necessary to slow down.

There will be no traffic lights on these major roads.

Large lakes will be bridged. Mountain ranges will be tunneled.

Opposing traffic will be separated. One-way streets and highways will be the rule.

Sleet? Snow? It will melt as it hits the highway.

Headlights? Won't need them on major roads. They will be illuminated as bright as day.

Disabled cars—a major source of tieups today—will be whisked away by helicopter.

Cities will use three-level highways. Underground parking will be common. New office buildings will have parking facilities on each floor.

* * *

Eisenhower's plan calls for a network of 40,000 miles. Buckley thinks this is a good start, but by 2000 A.D., he feels, 100,000 miles of superhighways will be needed.

All right, all right. What about the cost?

"Tremendous," Buckley said.

But he feels the increasing importance of the automobile in the next 50 years will leave no alternative. And the longer we wait, he says, the more it will cost, since areas are building up right now that should be saved for cloverleafs and access roads.

But Buckley is an optimist.

"We can do it, and we will do it," he said.

Giddy with the good news, your correspondent left Buckley's office and hailed a cab.

Detroit Dedication Talk

DETROIT (AP)—Made up like Abe Lincoln, Broadway Actor Andy Duggan will recite the Gettysburg Address at the dedication of the $26,000,000 city-county building Friday. The address will highlight the official opening of the modernistic marble and glass office building on Detroit's river front.

8,819 Pennies Prove to Be Illegal Tender

DOWNEY, Calif. (AP)—When Raymond P. Vinzant lost a Small Claims Court judgment of $88.19 to Anthony J. Rivera he tried to pay off in pennies, but Rivera refused, claiming the coppers aren't legal tender.

Vinzant dumped the 8,819 pennies from a bucket onto a sidewalk, saying: "Here's your money." A crowd gathered as the men disputed the question of legal tender and sidewalk lawyers popped up all around with free advice.

Municipal Judge A. Daniel Boone was consulted and he expressed the opinion Vinzant had not paid in legal tender, so sheriff's deputies ordered Vinzant to clear the sidewalk. He had to scoop up his coppers and put them back in his bucket.

India produces 54,888,000 pounds of mica annually.

Be Sure Lunches Are Nutritious

IS IT MINE, MOMMY?—Five-year-old Nancy Chapman watches her mother, Mrs. Harry Chapman, spread a sandwich. She is looking forward to next year when she too will carry a lunch box like her older sisters and her brother. The Chapmans live on Maybee road.

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Now that school is in full swing, thousands of Oakland county mothers get up every morning, vaced with the task of filling one or more lunch boxes. City children in the elementary grades usually come home for lunch. But older students and many of the county's bus-riding pupils carry ttheir lunches.

There is, of course, the hot lunch program in most of the schools. However, for one reason or another, numerous children do not buy their lunches. So the burden falls upon Mom.

The Harry Chapman family on Maybee road represents both kinds of lunch eaters. Diane, who is in the tenth grade, eats at the school cafeteria or fixes her own lunch before she catches the bus. Her junior high school sister, Linda, goes only half days, so has lunch at home. Nancy is in kindergarten and looks forward to having a lunch box of her own next year. The only boy, Jim—in fourth grade—takes a lunch his mother prepares each day.

Jim, fortunately, says Mrs. Chapman, is easy to please. He's just interested in quantity. She sends a sandwich, fruit or a vegetable, something sweet and money for milk at school.

By comparison, Mrs. Chapman has an easy task. We know some mothers who pack five and six lunches every day. They are the ones who must work on a production-line basis. Enlisting the aid of older children helps speed the task.

If your children like variety in their sandwiches, plan them by the week. You might have one meat, one fish, one cheese, one peanut butter and one fancy bread on the list. As colder weather comes on, substitute a thermos full of stew or baked beans occasionally.

We would urge you to take pains with those school lunches. Your child must do half his day's work on what you send along for him to eat. He needs some form of protein in that lunch, and a jelly sandwich won't give it to him. If he likes jelly sandwiches above all other kinds, make sure that you also include a wedge of cheese, a hard-cooked egg, or some meat to eat out of hand

Make sure too that the bread you use is enriched. Whole grain breads are preferable. Milk, of course, has an important place in every school lunch. With the government subsidy, it is so cheap that no child can afford not to drink it at school.

Remember also the element of surprise keeps interest in lunch high. Just an extra bit of thought on mother's part will please the junior miss or your wild Indian. Only you know what your child likes best to eat. Tempt his appetite with that, give him the essentials for good nutrition, and he'll breeze through the school year.

Children Will Enjoy Banana Tuna Salad

If your youngsters come home to lunch, they will enjoy a nourishing Banana Tuna Salad and you will enjoy its ease of preparation.

Bananas go so well with a great variety of foods that you can include this favorite fruit of youngsters in main dishes, desserts, breakfasts, lunchbox treats, and snacks, without the youngsters minding one bit.

In fact, mothers of young children are well aware that bananas are an essential in the family fruit bowl, because the children find them such fun.

Banana Tuna Salad

1 cup diced ripe bananas* (1 to 2 bananas)
½ cup diced pineapple, canned or fresh
1½ cups flaked tunafish
½ cup diced celery
2 tablespoons finely chopped pickles
1½ teaspoons salt
1 tablespoon prepared mustard
1 tablespoon mayonnaise
Salad greens

*Use fully ripe banana . . . yellow peel flecked with brown.

Combine bananas and pineapple. Add tunafish, celery, pickles and salt. Add mustard and mayonnaise. Mix lightly. Serve on a crisp lettuce cup or with other salad greens. Makes four to six servings.

Prepare Sandwiches With Frozen Bread

Sandwiches for lunch can be made in the morning on frozen enriched yeast-raised bread slices.

The bread will thaw by noon and will keep the filling fresh.

The favorite cold sandwiches are: Ham, egg salad, cheese, tunafish, salmon, chicken.

Top Baked Apples With Sour Cream

How about purchasing some good baking apples from your market to make baked apples, deliciously topped with sour cream.

Party Baked Apples With Sour Cream

¼ cup dark corn syrup
¼ cup water
¼ teaspoon ground cinnamon
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
2 tablespoons sugar
4 tart apples, unpared
1 cup sour cream

Combine syrup, water, cinnamon, lemon rind, butter or margarine and sugar. Bring to boiling temperature over low heat, stirring until sugar is dissolved.

Wash and core apples. Pare the top third of each apple. Place apples in shallow baking dish. Pour hot syrup mixture over apples.

Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) 30 to 40 minutes or until apples are tender, basting frequently with the syrup mixture. Serve hot or cold topped with sour cream. Makes four servings.

Frozen Applesauce

To 1 cup of fresh applesauce, add 1 cup light cream, one-third cup sugar and one fourth cup lemon juice. Stir until sugar is dissolved. Then freeze until firm, turn into a chilled bowl and beat. Refreeze.

Appeal to Dieters With Coffee Whip

You can have your dessert and watch calories, too!

Coffee Whip

1 envelope unflavored gelatin
¼ cup cold water
1½ cups very hot strong coffee
½ cup sugar
⅛ teaspoon salt

Sprinkle gelatin over cold water to soften. Add very hot coffee, sugar and salt; stir until gelatin and sugar are dissolved.

Chill until slightly thicker than consistency of unbeaten egg whites. Beat with rotary-type beater (hand or electric) until light and fluffy and double in volume.

Turn into six individual molds. Chill. Unmold at serving time.

Crunch Cookies Perfect to Pack in Lunchboxes

These cookies in a lunchbox will rate cheers.

Crunch Cookies

1¼ cups sifted flour
½ teaspoon baking soda
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup butter or margarine
¾ cup sugar
1 egg
½ teaspoon vanilla
½ cup finely chopped walnuts
½ cup semisweet chocolate pieces (chopped)
½ cup (about) finely crushed cornflakes

Sift together the flour, baking soda and salt. Cream butter and sugar; beat in egg and vanilla thoroughly. Stir in sifted dry ingredients until blended. Stir in walnuts and chocolate.

Roll a tablespoon of the cookie dough (it will be soft) between the palm of your hands to make a ball; now roll in the crushed cornflakes. Cookie dough may be chilled before rolling into balls if desired.

Flatten and place 2 inches apart on a greased baking sheet.

Bake in moderate (375 degrees) oven about 10 minutes or until cookies are browned. Remove to cooling rack with spatula.

Store in tightly covered container. Makes about 2½ dozen large cookies.

Sauce for Apple Pie

Something new has been added to that well loved dessert—apple pie from the bakery or food shop. Topped with Lemon-Butter Sauce it takes on a sumptuous air. Make a hard sauce by blending one-fourth cup butter or margarine with three-fourths cup confectioners' sugar. Add a beaten egg, a teaspoon grated lemon rind and a tablespoon lemon juice. Beat well for extra fluffiness. Serve sauce, chilled, on top of warm apple pie.

Handled cups for either hot or cold beverages may be selected, as well as matching paper napkins.

Family Will Love Broccoli Casserole

Here's another economy dish the whole family will enjoy.

Broccoli Casserole

2 pounds broccoli
1 can tuna (7 ounces)
1 can mushroom soup (10½ ounces)
½ cup milk
½ cup grated American cheese

Cook broccoli in a small amount of boiling salted water until tender, or about 10-15 minutes. Place a layer of the cooked broccoli in a shallow buttered casserole. Cover with a layer of tuna.

Dilute soup with milk and pour over tuna and broccoli. Sprinkle all with grated cheese and bake at 350 until mixture bubbles and is lightly browned. Serves four.

Vegetable Casserole Complements Cold Beef

If, after a hearty meal of pot roast or a special rib roast, you find yourself with cold beef left over here's a quick vegetable idea that's delicious when served with cold roast beef.

Just combine 1 pound cooked new potatoes, well drained, with 2 pounds of garden fresh peas that have been cooked in a small amount of boiling water.

Save any liquid from the peas and use to dilute a can of mushroom soup. Mix the slightly diluted soup with peas and potatoes; place in a baking dish and sprinkle with buttered crumbs or grated cheese. Bake at 350 degrees for about 30 minutes.

Pineapple Prune Bread Fits Into Every Occasion

Versatile is the word for Pineapple Prune Bread for it fits into every occasion. You'll love its spicy-sweet flavor and the crunchiness of the walnuts.

This fruit bread is wonderful for sandwiches in picnic basket or lunchbox, for afternoon or evening snacks with cool drinks—and a perfect partner for a luncheon salad.

It should be sliced thin, of course, and requires only the simplest of fillings such as a bland cream chese.

Made with refreshing pineapple tidbits and chopped prunes, it retains a fresh moistness in the baking and slices beautifully.

Here's the easy technique for making Pineapple Prune Bread — good to the last morsel:

Pineapple Prune Bread

1 cup boiling water
1 cup uncooked, dried prunes, pitted and chopped
2 teaspoons soda
1 cup pineapple tidbits
1 cup syrup from pineapple and water
3 tablespoons salad oil
1 cup sugar
1 egg
1 teaspoon vanilla
4 cups flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup chopped walnuts or pecans

Pour boiling water over chopped uncooked prunes; add soda. Drain pineapple tidbits thoroughly and add enough water to syrup to make 1 cup; pour over prunes. Allow to stand while mixing batter.

Combine salad oil, sugar and egg thoroughly. Stir in vanilla. Sift flour, measure and sift again with baking powder and salt. Add to creamed mixture alternately with liquid from prunes and pineapple.

Then add prunes, pineapple tidbits and nuts. Spoon into two 5x9-inch loaf pans and bake in a slow oven (300 degrees) for one hour. Makes two loaves.

Put Yeast in Freezer

You can put compressed yeast in your freezer. But when you are ready to use it, thraw it at room temperature and use it at once. Test it before using, however; if it crumbles between your fingers, it's still in good condition.

Quick Breads Feature Bran

These two quick breads are quickly made and quickly consumed. Both are delicious accompaniments for soup or salad luncheons and are equally tastly served as a breakfast bread.

* * *

One is made with grated American cheese and caraway seeds. The other is rich with the addition of jam, any flavor you prefer. Both are made with wholesome whole bran cereal.

* * *

Prepared according to the quick method, these breads require few steps in preparation and comparatively fast baking time.

Caraway Cheese Muffins

1½ cups sifted flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
¼ cup sugar
1 cup grated American cheese
1 cup whole bran cereal
2 teaspoons caraway seeds
1 egg, slightly beaten
2 tablespoons melted shortening
¾ cup milk

Sift together flour, baking powder, salt and sugar. Add cheese, bran and caraway seeds; stir lightly. Combine egg, melted cooled shortening and milk; add to dry ingredients, stirring only until combined.

Fill greased muffin pans two-thirds full. Bake in moderately hot oven (400 degrees) about 20 minutes. Yield, 12 muffins, 2½ inches in diameter.

* * *

Bran Jam Bread

2 eggs, well beaten
¼ cup melted shortening
¾ cup milk
1 cup jam
1½ cups sifted flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
¼ teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon salt
¼ cup sugar
1½ cups whole bran cereal

Combine eggs, cooled melted shortening, milk and jam; beat well. Sift together flour, baking powder, soda, salt and sugar. Add to first mixture together with bran, stirring only until combined.

Spread in greased 9½x4¼-inch loaf pan. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) about one hour. Cut in squares and serve hot. Yield: One loaf.

Canned Spanish Rice Featured in Croquettes

Cook one-half pound of bacon until slices are nice and crisp. Heat 1 can of Spanish rice as directed on the can. Serve on warm platter garnished on top with slices of bacon.

Rice Croquettes

One can of Spanish rice mixed with 1 cup leftover ground or chopped-up meat, salt and pepper to taste.

Chill this mixture for about one hour, then shape into croquettes, roll in cracker crumbs, beaten egg, then cracker crumbs. Fry in deep fat. Drain and serve with tomato sauce.

Canned Shrimp Make Meals Easy to Prepare

One of nature's beauty foods, the coral curls of canned shrimp keep their sea-fresh taste and fit into so many meals with little effort. They are ready to eat. All the work of peeling and precooking is done. There is no waste.

Canned shrimp lend their wondrous good flavor to many foods, likewise. They add gusto to soups, salads, Spanish rice, casseroles or cheese sauce served on toast.

For a hearty, quick supper, heat canned shrimp in tomato soup and serve. With crackers, a salad and dessert, here is a splendid meal for Lent or anytime.

Leftover mashed potatoes mold around one or more canned shrimp with a few pats, then roll in crushed flaky dry cereal and fry to golden brown delectableness. Call them Sea Surprises, for people enjoy biting through the crispy crust to reach the meaty shrimp nestled in the potatoes.

A dinner for the boss or to celebrate any occasion becomes festive when it stars with shrimp cocktail fixed quick as jet flying with canned shrimp topped with a sauce of catsup, horseradish and a bit of minced celery.

Ever sirve French toast with a sprinkling of lemon juice and confectioner's sugar? Good!

CALLING BREAKFAST TO ORDER — Open the morning session at the women's club with a cheerful new breakfast idea. Serve soup with Danish blue cheese slicelets, and hear the "ohs" and "ahs" of your fellow members. It's ultra-simple to serve, too, and a sure-fire draw to swell the attendance.

Pork Sausage Sold in 3 General Forms

There are three general types of pork sausage on the market. Bulk sausage, of the standard types and of the more spicy kinds, may be purchased in cloth rolls or plastic wrappings and it has no natural casing.

Country style sausage has a hog casing of large diameter, coarsely ground, and is processed in one continuous length. It may be purchased for 49 to 57 cents per pound.

The same ingredients and seasonings are found in the small breakfast links, but they are processed in sheep casings, are more finely ground, and are in the individual links. Prices run from 55 to 65 cents per pound.

Kabob Challenges Burger as America's First Love

The kabob has challenged the hamburger! Surely no other type of cookery has gained such rapid acceptance and not even the casserole can claim more variations.

* * *

The kabob, or meal-on-a-skewer, is the delight of the imaginative cook. The rules are simple. Select foods that cook in the same length of time and flavors that complement.

Of course, the meats must be the broiling type and, therefore, tender and cut for relatively quick cooking.

Another wise suggestion is to avoid overcrowding the skewer. Leave space for the heat to reach all sides of the meat so that the crusty brown flavor gives savor to the combination.

Kabob 999

Select thin-sliced cooked ham or minced ham loaf, horseradish, franks, big cabbage leaves, aged American cheese, canned or cooked small onions, and small tomatoes.

* * *

To assemble, spread the ham with horseradish and fold two two sides of the ham over the center portion. Cut franks in half and dip into French dressing, catsup, or barbecue sauce.

Dip cabbage leaves into warm water, if necessary, to make them pliable. Put a spoonful of shredded cheese and a dab of mustard in the center of each leaf and fold to make a secure bundle.

Now thread onto each long metal skewer first the cabbage bundle, then the franks, onion, and ham. Cap the tip with the tomato.

Brush all with melted butter and broil over hot coals. Turn to give all sides a chance to brown.

* * *

Since all these foods are edible without cooking, 10 minutes' broiling should do the trick.

Soak Burn in Cream

Burn yourself while doing the canning? Try soaking the burned area in cream off the top of the milk for instant relief. This tip comes from a woman who just discovered this remedy for a burn.

Pickle Success Depends Upon Vinegar Quality

Success in home canning pickles is due in great extent to the kind of vinegar used. A high grade cider vinegar will produce good results.

* * *

Tough pickles are caused by using too strong a vinegar.

* * *

Shriveled pickles are caused by using too much salt or too much sugar.

* * *

Soft pickles are the result of too strong a vinegar, too weak brine or overcooking.

* * *

Hollow pickles are thought to be caused by using imperfect or not-fresh cucumbers.

Beef for a King Easy on Budget

Entertaining on a budget? Try our tested recipe for Beef for a King featuring plentiful beef with economical instant nonfat dry milk. You may say this is hamburger by another name, but it glorifies ground beef in a satisfying main dish that is easy to prepare.

In other words, this is a time budget recipe as well as an economical ally of the homemaker on penny-watching days.

Beef for a King

6 tablespoons butter
1 cup chopped onions
1 cup chopped celery
2 (3-ounce) cans whole or sliced mushrooms
3 pimientos, sliced
1 quart liquefied nonfat dry milk
½ cup flour
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
1½ cups (10-ounce package) frozen cooked peas
1 pound ground beef

Melt four tablespoons of the butter in a large skillet over low heat. Saute onions and celery until slightly browned and tender. Add mushrooms with liquid and pimientos; cook until most of mushroom broth has been reduced.

Pour liquified nonfat dry milk into top of double boiler. Sprinkle flour, salt and pepper over surface. Beat with rotary beater until just blended. Add sauteed vegetables an dpeas. Cook, stirring constantly, over hot water until mixture is thickened.

Shape beef into 1-inch balls. Brown in remaining butter, turning to brown all sides. Add to hot creamed mixture. Serve in toast cups, or over rice or Chinese noodles, or with potato chips. Makes eight servings.

Herbs Will Give Different Flavor to Old Recipes

ORONA, Maine (INS)—Like to add some new flavors to your old recipes?

* * *

If so, Dr. Kathryn S. Briwa, Extension Service foods specialist of the University of Maine, suggests that by using tiny amounts of culinary herbs you can obtain a number of rich and delicious flavors.

Some of the herbs grow wild, others can be raised in the garden, and all can be bought at most food stores. Common ones that grow in most gardens are chives, parsley, dill, mint and horseradish.

Others can be just as useful in preparing food with a little different flavor, such as basil, caraway, chive, dill, peppermint, parsley, rosemary, sage, summer savory, sweet marjoram, tarragon and thyme.

* * *

Dr. Briwa explained that most of us know herbs by association, such as mint with lamb or in tea, dill with cucumbers, tarragon with vinegar, and caraway with rye bread.

Soup Breakfast Will Win Cheers From Clubwomen

Here's a sure-fire way to swell the attendance at the next morning session of your women's club or committee meeting. Try it when it's your turn to have the neighbors in for a morning sewing bee.

* * *

Start your meeting with a delectable, but simple breakfast. What to serve? There's such an easy, smart answer. Soup for breakfast has been the idea of the year. There is no limit to the number of combinations you can make with canned soups.

If you have a tureen, by all means use it for serving. Fill a smaller dish with rainbow sour cream for a garnish. Blue cheese slicelets and a bowl of cut fruit will be ample refreshments.

For a chilly fall morning serve piping hot "Peasant" Soup and tiered sandwiches.

Creamy Chicken-Tomato Soup

Combine equal parts of chicken and tomato soups with milk (or instant non-fat dry milk) according to instructions on the can. Heat through but do not allow to boil. Cook over very low heat for five minutes.

To make rainbow sour cream, reserve and chill one-fourth cup tomato soup; carefully swirl into sour cream in a dish to create a swirly striped effect. Garnish with parsley.

* * *

Slicelets

Cut the crusts from pumpernickel bread; butter lightly; mix equal parts of Danish blue cheese, cream cheese and cottage cheese with enough sour cream to spread easily. Season with one-fourth teaspoon celery seed to 1 cup mixture.

Spread generously on pumpernickel and cut in fancy shapes. Top with shrimps or cubes of pressed ham.

* * *

"Peasant" Soup

Combine equal parts of vegetable soup and bean with bacon soup and water according to instructions on the can. Simmer about five minutes.

Sprinkle a small dash of allspice over each cup of soup. Serve with a plate of brown and white tiered sandwiches.

* * *

Danish Blue Cheese Tiered Sandwiches

Cream one-fourth pound unsalted butter, one-fourth pound Danish blue cheese, a 3-ounce package cream cheese with enough cream for spreading consistency. Spread on lightly buttered brown and white bread from which the crusts have been removed.

Build two or three slices high; make some sandwiches in combination brown and white tiers. Cut in finger widths.

Wrap in a damp cloth; cover with metal foil (they will stay moist and fresh for hours in refrigerator).

Lemonade Used in Creole Sauce

A good sauce is every cook's dream — and here's a recipe for Creole Sauce that makes Shrimp Creole and other tasty dishes delightfully easy to prepare. Best of all, it's a sauce that you can keep on hand in your freezer, ready to use at any time.

* * *

The secret is frozen lemonade. This pure California lemon juice, already frozen with sugar, lends just the right lemon-sweet tang.

Every good cook knows the value of lemon, and in a spicy sauce such as this you would ordinarily add sugar. In frozen lemonade, the lemon juice and sugar are already blended, in just the right proportion.

Once you've tried this recipe, you may want to double or triple it for freezing in quantity.

Creole Sauce

½ cup diced green pepper
1 cup diced celery
6 tablespoons butter
1 (4-ounce) can mushrooms
2 (No. 2) cans tomatoes
½ teaspoon garlic salt
4 tablespoons catsup
2 tablespoons minced parsley
1 (6-ounce) can frozen concentrate for lemonade

Cook green pepper and celery in butter until tender but not brown. Add remaining ingredients and cook slowly for 15 minutes. Cool, pour into containers, and freeze. (Suggest sauce be packaged in quart containers, since that would be normal serving for four to six.

When ready to use, heat sauce and serve with cooked shrimp and steamed rice.

SHRIMP CREOLE — Cooked shrimp on a bed of steamed rice is served with a tasty sauce that's made with frozen lemonade. Make the sauce in quantity and freeze some for later use. Serve it with any dish that calls for a Creole Sauce.

Macaroni-Tuna Salad

Cook 4 ounces of shell macaroni in boiling salted water, rinse and cool. Combine with 1 can flaked tuna, three fourths cup diced tart apples, 1 medium onion, chopped fine; one half avocado, diced, and 1 tablespoon lemon juice. Mix with a French dressing, chill and serve as is, or on crisp lettuce.

For a breakfast treat, butter slices of orange-nut bread; toast under the broiler.

Beef, Pork Expected to Be Plentiful, Thrifty

More meat is in prospect for this fall season of 1955 than ever before and prices, especially for beef and pork, are expected to be continuously attractive values at the retail meat counter. It's the law of supply and demand again.

On July 1 there were 13 per cent more cattle being fed to high quality beef than a year ago. The grass-fed beef cattle from the Western ranges and pastures also have started to market.

The pork supply may be about 8 per cent up from a year ago and 20 per cent better than two years ago. That's because of a 9 per cent boost in the pig crop farrowed last spring, and those pigs are already going to market.

Herbs Add Flavor to Food, Make Exciting Jellies

Pontiac Press Food Editor

Have you ever wandered into the herb garden at Greenfield Village on a warm summer's day? It is a quiet, orderly place that's wonderfully fragrant. Each herb is tidily labeled for visitors to learn the different varieties.

All of us can't have such a complete herb garden; most of us wouldn't use that many herbs. But many of you, I know, have tiny patches of herbs and use them. You dry them, make "bouquets garni" for soups and stews, and experiment with them in numerous ways.

The word herb comes from a Latin word meaning grass, green stalks or blades. Most herbs used in cooking are leaves of plants although saffron is used in bud form.

Keep herbs tightly closed and use sparingly. The idea is to enhance the flavor of the food, not hide it. Start with just a pinch, add more if you think the flavor should be more pronounced. About ½ teaspoon of a dried herb, or ¼ teaspoon of a powdered herb is enough.

This is the season for making apple jelly. Why don't you try adding herbs to some of this jelly, thus discovering an entirely new taste sensation? Herb jellies with meat are delightful.

While fresh herbs are to be preferred for making jelly, you can obtain good results with dried ones. If you are lucky enough to have a scented geranium plant, put one leaf in the bottom of the glass before pouring in the jelly. I like to color rose-geranium jelly pale pink. It makes pretty tea sandwiches.

Use your regular apple jelly recipe, adding herbs in this proportion: ½ cup fresh herb (leaves and tender stems, packed tight) for each cup of apple juice; ½ to 1 teaspoon dried herb or 2 drops oil of herb. When oil is used, add it just after jelly comes off the stove. Simmer the fresh or dried herbs with the apples before straining the juice.

Vary your grape jelly by adding basil or thyme as in this recipe:

Grape and Herb Jelly

½ cup boiling water
1 tablespoon dried basil or thyme
1½ cups grape juice
3 cups sugar
½ cup liquid pectin

Pour boiling water over basil or thyme. Cover, and let stand 5-10 minutes. Strain. Add more water, if needed, to make ½ cup. Add grape juice and sugar and heat to boiling. Add pectin, stirring constantly. Boil for ½ minute. Skim and pour into glasses. Seal with paraffin.

Herb vinegars are easy to make; they simply take time. One of the following recipes uses plain cider vinegar for the base, the other calls for wine vinegar.

Mint Vinegar

1 quart cider vinegar
1 cup sugar
2 cups washed fresh mint leaves

Heat vinegar and sugar together in agate or enamel kettle; crush leaves and add. Stir with enamel spoon, crushing mint against bottom of kettle. Boil about 5 minutes. Strain and pour into sterile bottle. Cork well. Makes about 1 quart.

* * *

Tarragon Vinegar

2 cups fresh tarragon leaves
1 pint wine vinegar
2 cloves
½ small garlic clove

Wash tarragon, drain, break or crush slightly in a bowl. Add vinegar, cloves and garlic. Cover; let stand 24 hours. Remove garlic. Cover; let stand in cool dark place 2 weeks. Strain through cheesecloth or filter paper. Pour into sterile bottles. Cork tightly. Makes about 1 pint.

Other herbs may be used in place of tarragon. Omit garlic and remove cloves after 24 hours.

Baked Apples Are Delicious With Any Meal

Baked apples go along with any meal. They are a breakfast fruit, a dessert fruit or a meat accompaniment—it's all the way you serve them.

They may be baked with just a little sugar when a tart fruit is wanted; increase the sugar for dessert or put fillings in the cavities for baked apples in a special style.

Rome Beauties are the "first" among baking apples, but any good all-purpose apple needs no apologies. Winesaps are good, so are Golden Delicious and Newtowns.

Hot breads topped with apple slices are coffee time treats — whether coffee time is in the morning or late at night.

* * *

Eat apples between meals for energy-giving snacks. Eat them before meals if you are a calorie watcher who wants to shed a few pounds. Eat them for health — the apple a day.

An apple for teacher is sure to establish a friendship, so polish them till they shine like wax and tuck one in your pocket to be slipped with pride onto her desk.

Fall Upside-Down Cake Doesn't Require Cooking

An uncooked upside-down cake is a new fall twist to this favorite dessert that does three things for you.

It gives you a glamor dessert that's fun to serve and fun to eat; it's so easy to prepare, it frees your time for getting the children off to school, and it makes wonderful use of your choice of all the fresh fruits on the market.

* * *

We used a combination of peaches and pears, peeled and sliced fresh into a serving bowl, to make one version of this uncooked upside-down cake.

Over the fruit we put cookbook quality packaged doughnuts (made from cake batter), from our grocer's ready-to-eat cake department. We allowed one doughnut per serving.

Maraschino cherries, dropped in whole, here and there, gave the dish a dash of color.

* * *

To keep the fruit from darkening, it was dropped into a lemon juice solution as it was peeled. Fruits were sugared lightly before placing in the serving bowl.

PREPARED AHEAD

The dessert was made ahead of time, so that juices would develop and moisten the doughnuts. You can make it hours ahead of time and keep it in your refrigerator.

* * *

To give tang to bland fruits, you can stir fruits together with a lemonade concentrate.

Other fruits combine equally well with the doughnuts, so choose your family's favorites. You might use fresh peaches, and pineapple with halves of purple plums for garnish.

Or you might choose peaches and cantaloupe, both bland, and about the same color, and pick them up flavorwise with tart grapes and plums.

* * *

Try this flavorful dessert once, and you'll count it a favorite from then on for its ease of preparation and its good flavor.

Meat 'Sandwiches'

Add finely minced onion to seasoned mashed potatoes. Place a serving of the potatoes between two slices of canned luncheon loaf. Bake "sandwiches" in a moderate oven for about 20 minutes.

Sliced Avocado Adds New Taste

If you are tired of the old familiar combinations, branch out into new fields and try something different. This California Club sandwich is just the thing. Smooth, creamy slices of avocado provide a perfect contrast to the crispness of bacon and the tang of tomato.

California Club Sandwich

18 slices enriched toast
Butter or margarine
1 avocado
Lemon juice
Lettuce
12 slices crisp bacon
12 slices tomato
Mayonnaise

Spread 6 slices toast with butter or margarine. Peel and slice avocado. Arrange avocado slices on buttered toast and sprinkle with lemon juice. Top with lettuce. Spread both sides of 6 slices toast with butter or margarine and place on avocado and lettuce. Top with bacon and tomato. Spread remaining slices toast with mayonnaise and place on tomato. Makes 6 sandwiches.

CALIFORNIA CLUB — Here's a new idea from the west coast. Make club sandwiches, substituting sliced avocado for the usual slices of chicken or turkey. Try this novel sandwich the next time you entertain your bridge club.

Wrap Fish Sticks in Mustard Toast

From all accounts, fish sticks are among children's favorite foods, which helps to account for the phenomenal popularity of this easy-to-prepare product. The newest wrinkle from the National Fisheries Institute for serving the fish stick is wrapping it in toast spread with mustard.

The result is so delicious that when a platter of toast-wrapped fish sticks is set before the small fry, their elders will swipe a stick or two to eat with their coffee.

Fish Sticks in Mustard Toast

For each box of fish sticks, cut the crusts from 10 thin slices of bread. Roll the bread with a rolling Pin. Brush both sides of the bread with melted butter and spread the top side with prepared mustard.

Place a stick on the mustard side diagonally, and wrap the bread around the stick, securing the corners with a toothpick. Place on a baking sheet and bake in a 350-degree oven until bread is toasted.

Budgetwise Cuts of Beef Highlight Savory Dishes

Careful cooking and imaginative seasoning can make welcome budget dishes out of the less expensive cuts of beef. Here are two recipes from our family files.

Pepper Steak

2 tablespoons shortening or beef suet
1 pound round or flank steak
1 teaspoon salt
1½ cups chopped green pepper
¼ cup flour
1 small onion, chopped
1½ cups chopped green pepped
1 cup water

Heat shortening in a heavy skillet. Cut steak into strips, 1-inch wide. Roll in flour seasoned with the salt and pepper. Brown in hot shortening. Add onions and saute. Add green pepper and water.

Cover. Simmer until tender. Add more water if necessary. Makes four servings.

* * *

Stuffed Beef Rolls

4 cubed minute steaks, ¼-inch thick
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon ground black pepper
½ cup chopped onion
½ cup chopped celery
½ cup chopped dill pickle
1 teaspoon chili powder
8-ounce can (1 cup) tomato sauce
2 tablespoons shortening
½ cup water

Sprinkle steaks with a mixture of the salt and black pepper. Combine onion, celery, dill pickle, chili powder and 3 tablespoons of the tomato sauce.

Place a rounded tablespoon of the mixture on each steak. Roll up tightly. Fastern edges with a toothpick. Brown all sides in the shortening.

Place in a baking pan. Combine the remaining vegetables and pickle mixture with the water and pour over meat rolls. Cover. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) until tender, 40 to 50 minutes.

Remove the beef rolls to a serving dish. Pour the sauce over all. Makes four servings.

Fill Your Cupboard With Jelly, Jam for Winter Days

"Sugar and spice and everything nice" means grapes and plums, too, when it comes to what sweet spreads are made of.

* * *

And little girls, little boys, in fact the whole family will be glad later in the year, when those cold winds blow, that you have some homemade Spiced Plum Jelly to serve—especially with meat dishes that need a little perking up.

And while you're at it, consider combining plums with grapes in a jam, too. It's a delightful variation to keep on your jelly shelf with your sweet spreads, and so good at breakfast time.

* * *

Right now when so many fruits are to be had for so little, it's time to look ahead and prepare for fall and winter with these short-boil recipes:

Spiced Plum Jelly

5½ cups juice (about 8 pounds ripe plums)
¼ to ½ teaspoon each allspice, cinnamon and cloves
7½ cups (3¾ pounds) sugar
1 box (2½ ounces) powdered fruit pectin

First, prepare the juice. Crush about 5 pounds fully ripe plums. (Do not peel or pit.) Add 1½ cups water; bring to a boil and simmer, covered, 10 minutes. Add spices to fruit.

Place in jelly cloth or bag and squeeze out juice. Measure 5½ cups into a very large saucepan.

Then make the jelly. Measure sugar and set aside. Add powdered fruit pectin to juice in saucepan and mix well. Place over high heat and stir until mixture come to a hard boil. At once stir in sugar.

Bring to a full rolling boil and boil hard one minute, stirring constantly. Remove from heat, skim off foam with metal spoon, and pour quickly into glasses. Cover jelly at once with one-eighth-inch hot paraffin. Makes about 12 medium glasses.

* * *

Grape and Plum Jam

4 cups prepared fruit (about 1½ pounds each ripe grapes and plums)
7 cups (3 pounds) sugar
½ bottle liquid fruit pectin

First, prepare the fruit. Slip skins from about 1½ pounds fully ripe Concord or other loose-skinned grapes. Bring pulp to a boil and simmer, covered, five minutes. Then sieve to remove seeds. Chop or grind skins and add to pulp.

Pit (do not peel) about 1½ pounds fully ripe plums. Cut in small pieces and chop. Add one-fourth cup water; bring to a boil and simmer, covered, five minutes. Combine fruits and measure 4 cups into a very large saucepan

Then make the jam. Add sugar to fruit in saucepan and mix well. Place over high heat, bring to a full rolling boil, and boil hard one minute, stirring constantly. Remove from heat and at once stir in liquid fruit pectin.

Skim off foam with metal spoon Then stir and skim by turns for five minutes to cool silghtly, to prevent floating fruit. Ladle quickly into glasses. Cover jam at once with one-eighth-inch hot paraffin.

To Ice Shadow Cake

Want to make a shadow cake of the kind sold by many fine bakeries? Frost a layer cake with white frosting. Then melt a couple of squares of unsweetened chocolate with a teaspoon of shortening. Drizzle the melted chocolate-and-shortening mixture along the top edge of the cake so that it runs down the sides at inch intervals. Use a small spoon for the drizzling.

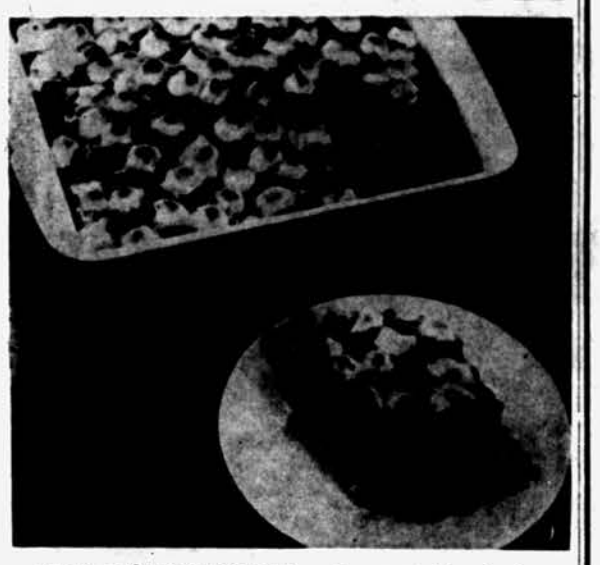

Make Clam Pancakes for Unusual Meal Treat

Try Clam Pancakes for a delicate but filling meal treat. Use prepared pancake mix following package directions. Make batter from 1 cup pancake mix (use part clam liquid and part milk).

Stir in drained clams (7½-ounce can), a small onion, grated, and 2 tablespoons of minced parsley.

WHITE ANKLETS and children's undies need not be a washing problem. It's easy to remove grimy soil and stains with Roman Cleanser Bleach. It makes clothes clean, snowy-white, sanitary—without the work or wear of hard rubbing. For stubborn stains, see directions on Roman Cleanser Bleach label.

MINIATURE MARSHMALLOWS — The newest idea of a famous food manufacturer, these tiny bits of sweet fluff have any number of uses. In the picture above they have been used for a quick Broiled Frosting. A mixture of brown sugar, cream, melted margarine, chopped nuts and the marshmallows is spread over the baked cake, which is then put under the broiler for a minute or two.

Bite-Size Marshmallows Add to Cooking Pleasure

A leading food manufacturer has introduced the perfect marshmallow—a miniature kind—for salads, cookery and desserts. The new product, which comes packaged in 10½ ounce polyethelene bags, is being test-marketed here.

* * *

It's an amazing fact, but a measuring cup will hold about 100 of these miniature marshmallows! They are bite-size and just right for adding to fresh fruit salads and molded salads.

These marshmallows are excellent for making refrigerator desserts like marlows. The marshmallows give a tempting new look and taste to puddings made from packaged mixes. Cooked puddings should be cooled to room temperature before the marshmallows are added.

This is only a beginning of their many uses For an easy, handsome garnish, what could be better than these tiny marshmallows atop cookies, chocolate pie, confections, sweet potato casseroles?

* * *

And how the youngsters will love a whole raft of these marshmallows floating atop hot chocolate! There is marshmallow for every spoonful of chocolate—and these miniature marshmallows float like mad! Chocolate cream cheese fudge never looked more appealing than when miniature marshmallows are added.

One of the most interesting ways you can use these marshmallows to advantage is in a quick Broiled Frosting for your favorite cakes.

After the cake is baked, spread it with a mixture of brown sugar, cream, melted margarine, chopped nuts and miniature marshmallows. Then it is placed under the broiler for a minute or two until the marshmallows are golden brown.

* * *

Miniature marshmallows are another of the modern products that simplify meal preparation and give more glamour to food service at the same time.

Broiled Marshmallows Frosting

3 tablespoons margarine or butter
½ cup light brown sugar firmly packed
2 tablespoons cream
½ cup chopped walnuts
1 cup miniature marshmallows

Cream the margarine. Add the sugar gradually and blend well. Stir in the cream. Add the walnuts and marshmallows, mixing lightly.

Spread on top of a 9-inch square cake which has not been removed from the baking pan.

Broil slowly about 5 inches below the heat for two or three minutes, until the top is bubbly and lightly browned.

Sausage Goes Well With Fall Menus

Sausage tunes your meal to fall. Both bulk pork sausage and sausage links are especially appropriate for casseroles or one-dish meals that appear on menus this time of year.

* * *

If you plan to use bulk pork sausage, Reba Staggs, meat expert, suggests you brown it slightly first to bring out the flavor. Then combine with the remaining ingredients.

A dish with an Indian summer flavor is made of sausage and canned whole kernel corn. Combine the corn, browned sausage links and chopped green pepper. Top with buttered crumbs, then bake.

Or make a meaty tomato dish by adding browned pork sausage to baked scalloped tomatoes.

* * *

Sausage links go well with baked beans. Cook the links over the beans and be sure to serve traditional brown bread to round out your menu.

Sausage patties are excellent served with creamed noodles or a combination apple and sweet potato casserole.

Today's Costlier Coffee Is Not So Good to Last Drop

NEW YORK (NEA)—Wholesale coffee bean prices are boiling down. A pound that cost 95 cents in April went down to 53 cents before simmering up slightly again.

* * *

But if you think this means anything to you and your daily brew, forget all about it. You can put the five-cent cup of coffee in your memory book. Hardly any restaurateur or diner proprietor is going to pass the saving on to you.

Why should he?

In the few years since the 10-cent cup has been standard fare, there has been no decrease in America's coffee consumption. In fact, statistics show that 5,000,000 new coffee drinkers have joined the ranks since 1950.

Besides, statistics also show that with higher prices and higher consumption, there has been no increase in the number of pounds of coffee America buys.

* * *

The Pan American Coffee Bureau has drawn the obvious conclusion: This nation has learned how to stretch coffee.

And the average American who used to drink 2.67 average cups of coffee each day, now drinks 2.67 average cups of hot brown water each day.

60 PER POUND

Two years ago, your counterman was following the bureau's recipe of 45 cups from each pound of coffee. Today, the odds are that he's making closer to 60 cups from a pound that is dropping lower in price than it has been in three years.

* * *

At the executive office of one leading restaurant chain, however, the purchasing agent put it this way:

"Sure, prices are lower at wholesale. But we've got high operating costs and higher costs of labor. We can't drop our price back to a-nickel-a-cup."

At the commissary of a chain whose coffee shops are well-known coast-to-coast, a vice president said:

"Sure, prices are lower at wholesale. But nobody is lowering the cost of cream. We put cream in the coffee, don't we?"

And from one empire of restaurants whose coffee today is so weak you can hardly get it out of the cup, comes this tentative suggestion.

"No. We're not going to lower our prices. Why not? It's none of your business."

* * *

In some few communities — mostly in the North-Central and Northwestern states—coffee is still a nickel.

But for most of the nation, who has at least one coffee-break in a restaurant each day, the price will still be a dime and the motto will still be:

"It's not so good to the last drop, so leave a little in the cup."

Serve Yellow Bananas Flecked With Brown

Bananas for children to eat "as is," and with cereal or milk, should have yellow peel flecked with brown, indicating fruit at peak of flavor, ripeness, sweetness and digestibility. The combination of bananas and milk is recommended by nutritionists as a perfect snack.

Served to children as an after-school snack, banana and milk will give the youngsters what they need, for the banana allays hunger pangs but does not spoil appetite for dinner, and it is a quick energy pickup after the school day.

Boneless Beef Cubes Are Best for Grinding

When buying beef for grinding, ask your meat retailer to grind boneless beef cubes, the meat used in preparing stews. Extensive experimentation has found that ground beef containing 25 per cent fat produces the finest hamburgers and loaves.

Beef cubes generally contain just the right proportion of fat. Save round steak for favorite braised steak dishes.

When you buy fall or winter squash, remember to choose one that is hard and firm, with good color, free of blemishes, and fairly heavy for its size.

Cold Chicken Lends Itself to Savory Dishes

Simmer a nice fat hen on top of the stove is our advice. It gives you such a comfortable feeling to know you have cold chicken on hand in the refrigerator for salad or sandwiches.

Season the water in which you cook the bird with an onion, a few celery tops, a carrot, salt, peppercorns, a bay leaf and a couple of whole cloves.

Not too much water, mind; you want a good rich stock. Use the stock for a fine cream of chicken soup.

Your chicken sandwiches will taste perfect if they are made with fresh white bread, crisp lettuce and old-fashioned homemade cooked salad dressing. (It used to be called boiled dressing — remember?)

Or serve perfect club sandwiches — sliced chicken, crisply cooked bacon, sliced garden fresh tomatoes, lettuce and mayonnaise piled between slices of toast.

Green olives are a must with either sandwich; put them in tiny lettuce cups at the sides of the plates.

Green olives—the pimiento-stuffed kind—also give tang to our chicken salad and special cream of chicken soup.

With the chicken salad serve tiny hot cheese rolls and iced or hot coffee. (Nice for a few friends who are coming in to lunch and to play a round of bridge.)

The hot soup makes a good starter for a company supper whose main course is ham.

Company Chicken Salad

2½ cups diced cooked chicken
1 cup diced celery
½ cup sliced pimiento-stuffed green olives
2 tablespoons French dressing
1-3 cup mayonnaise
½ cup chopped blanched toasted almonds
Lemon wedges
Tomato wedges
Additional sliced pimiento-stuffed olives
Salad greens
Additional French dressing (if desired)

Mix chicken, celery, one-half cup sliced olives, two tablespoons French dressing and mayonnaise; chill. Just before serving, mix in toasted almonds.

Garnish with lemon and tomato wedges, additional sliced olives and salad greens. Additional French dressing may be passed if desired. Makes four servings.

Chicken and Olive Cream Soup

1 quart rich well-seasoned chicken stock
½ cup finely diced celery
3 tablespoons flour
½ cup light cream or top milk
½ cup sliced pimiento-stuffed green olives
Salt, pepper

Heat chicken stock and celery to boiling. Add cream to flour gradually, stirring until smooth after each addition. Stir into chicken stock.

Cook and stir constantly until slightly thickened and boiling. Add olives and salt and pepper to taste. Serve very hot. Makes about five cups.

Note: A generous dash of pure monosodium glutamate will help give flavor to the chicken stock and the cream soup.

Salad Combines Elbow Macaroni and Mushrooms

Hearty, easy, fine eating, this macaroni salad is ideal to have in the refrigerator over a weekend—great for a cookout, too.

Macaroni Mushroom Salad

4 ounces elbow macaroni
3-ounce can sliced broiled mushrooms
½ cup well-seasoned French dressing
1-3 cup mayonnaise
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 teaspoon prepared mustard
½ teaspoon salt
2 cups celery, sliced diagonally
1 cup unpeeled sliced cucumber wedges
1 cup sliced radishes

Cook macaroni in boiling salted water until tender. Drain, rinse under cold water and drain again. Drain mushrooms, saving broth for some future use in gravy or sauce, and place in suitable container with macaroni. Add French dressing and mix thoroughly.

Cover and chill for several hours turning ingredients occasionally. Drain off any excess French dressing. Combine and add mayonnaise, lemon juice, mustard and salt.

Just before serving add crisp vegetables and toss salad lightly together. Makes four to six servings.

Biscuits and muffins reheat beautifully when they are tightly wrapped in aluminum foil and put into a moderate oven for about 20 minutes.

Sauce Glorifies New Ice Cream

The simplest of desserts is ice cream, but new pineapple ice cream can be given drama of presentation. Brought to the table for all to admire, the pint-sized blocks are accented with a crushed pineapple sauce. Thin, leaf-shaped cookies with chocolate icing give color and flavor contrast.

• • •

Pre-packaged pineapple ice cream will be available in pint and half-gallon cartons during the fall at food, drug and confectionery stores.

Ice cream is a family standby, and a new flavor introduction such as pineapple keeps up the surprise element.

Party Pineapple Dessert

1 can (20 ounces) crushed pineapple
¼ cup light corn syrup
⅓ cup sugar
3 pints pre-packaged pineapple ice cream

Drain pineapple; if necessary, add enough water to make one-half cup. Add corn syrup and sugar; cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until sugar is dissolved. Boil five minutes. Cool; add pineapple.

To serve, open pre-packaged ice cream; place on chilled serving platter. Put several spoonfuls pineapple sauce over top.

Place *Leaf Cookies around edge of platter. Pass remaining sauce. Yield: 12 servings.

• • •

Leaf Cookies

½ cup butter or margarine
½ cup sugar
1 egg, well beaten
½ teaspoon vanilla
1¼ cups sifted all-purpose flour
½ teaspoon baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
1 package (1 cup) semi-sweet chocolate morsels
3 tablespoons shortening

Cream butter. Add sugar gradually and cream thoroughly until light and fluffy. Mix in egg and vanilla. Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Add to creamed mixture and blend well.

Place leaf stencil on cookie sheet; spread cookie dough over cutter with spatula. Lift cutter carefully to keep shape of leaf.

Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 10 minutes. Cool.

Melt semi-sweet chocolate morsels and shortening over hot, not boiling water. Carefully spread on cookies; place on waxed paper to harden. Yield: 3 dozen cookies.

Michigan-Grown Vegetables Offer Thrift, Flavor

Many Michigan-grown vegetables offer economical choices in good eating.

• • •

More oval shaped Katahdin and Chippewa potatoes are offering dollar stretching value at 2½ to 4 cents a pound. Both acorn and buttermut squash are more plentiful with many priced as low as 5 and 10 cents each. Shoppers will like the smooth fine flesh, and the small seed pocket of the butternut variety.

Green vegetables, rich in vitamins, can be budget-savers. Look for good buys in cabbage, green peppers, green beans and cucumbers.

High on the shopper's list at this time of year, is Michigan eggplant. Its quality is good, its price low. The onion is another low-priced vegetable that is practically a daily requirement. Onion quality and quantity are gradually improving.

• • •

Michigan apples should be chosen by variety for the most satisfactory use. Wolf River is an excellent variety for baking; Greening is excellent for pies or sauce; McIntosh and Johnathan are good for all uses.

Eat and Count Calories With New Chart Plates

NEW YORK (INS) — You can count your calories as you eat your food now, thanks to a new dinner plate which uses a calorie chart as a pattern.

The new plate, a $1.50 novelty, comes in two versions—a calorie chart in black letters printed on a white plate with gold rim, or a calorie chart in black printed on a white plate decorated with red roses.

Either plate lists the calorie content of most foods.

PEAR-IN-APPLE PIE—From California comes this suggestion for a delicious fruit combination in a pie. Pears and apples blend together in the filling. The unusual garnish is made from ready-sliced cheese cut in pear shapes.

Put Pears in Apple Pie for Surprise Fall Treat

This is a good pear year. Bartlett pears are in season for such a short time that it behooves us to take advantage of them, using them in as many ways as possible.

• • •

For a different fall pie combine fresh pears and apples. Make your pie in the usual manner, but serve it with distinction. Top it with ready-sliced cheese in pear shapes.

Use a free-hand pattern cut from paper and mark around it with the tip of a paring knife. Arrange on top of the pie just before bringing it to the table.

Pear and Apple Pie

3 or 4 apples, pared and diced (about 3 cups)
2 or 3 ripe Bartlett pears, diced (about 2 cups)
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 cup sugar
3 tablespoons flour
½ teaspoon cinnamon
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
Pastry for 2-crust, 9-inch pie

Toss coarsely diced apples and pears with lemon juice. Mix sugar, flour and cinnamon, add to fruit and mix well. Set aside while you roll out the bottom crust and line pie pan.

Heap fruit in crust and dot with butter or margarine. Moisten edges of lower crust, cover with top crust and crimp edges to seal.

Cut a few small slits in decorative design in top crust to let steam escape. Bake at 450 degrees (hot) for 10 minutes, then turn down heat to 350 degrees (moderate) and bake 40 to 50 minutes longer, until done.

How can you tell when this kind of pie is done? That's easy. First, you'll begin to smell its wonderful fragrance. Then, when you peek in the oven, you'll see that it is beautifully browned and that its rich syrup is bubbling up through some of those slits.

Better lay a piece of foil on the lower rack of the oven to catch any overflow. Cool pie.

Then just before serving, warm it slightly and serve with cheese. Even your friends who talk about dieting will enjoy it to the last crumb.

Special Cheese Sandwiches Are Easily Prepared

Open-face broiled sandwiches are easy to prepare and taste so good!

Special Broiled Cheese Sandwiches

½ pound cheddar cheese
½ cup mayonnaise
¼ cup coarsely broken walnuts
¼ cup diced canned drained pimiento
8 slices bread

Grate cheese medium-fine. Mix with mayonnaise, walnuts and pimiento. Toast bread on one side only under broiler until golden brown.

Spread cheese mixture on untoasted sides, covering edges well. Place on aluminum foil. Broil about 4 inches from heat until lightly browned and hot through.

Serve at once, removing carefully to plates with wide spatula or pancake turner.

Foil is suggested for broiling to save washing broiler pan as cheese mixture may run over a bit. Makes four servings — two slices for each portion.

Chili Con Carne Prepared Quickly

You can prepare this version of chili con carne in jigtime.

Quick Chili Con Carne

1 tablespoon butter or margarine
1 pound ground chuck beef
1 can (1 pound) stewed tomatoes
1 can (1 pound) red kidney beans
Chili powder
Garlic powder
Thyme
Salt, pepper

Melt butter in 10-inch skillet; add ground beef. Cook over moderately low heat, breaking up meat with a long-handled fork so it is in crumbles, until beef loses its red color.

Add tomatoes and kidney beans (including liquid in cans); mix well. Add chili powder, garlic powder, thyme, salt and pepper to taste.

Simmer about 20 minutes so flavors will blend and sauce will thicken. Makes four servings.

Note: Chili con carne powder may be substituted for the chili powder, garlic powder and thyme if desired.

Sausage and Squash Dish Offers Flavor Contrasts

Quick-to-prepare sausage links that can be heated, ready to serve in as little as three minutes, are the perfect choice to add variety and goodness to meals.

They're delicious teamed with waffles or eggs for a nutritious breakfast or with vegetables for a tempting main dish for lunch or dinner.

Because the sausages have been pre-cooked at the peak of freshness, there's no waste or excess fat. A half pound of the links will provide four or five meaty servings and, should you decide not to use them right away, they may be satisfactorily stored in the home freezer for a period of a few weeks.

Convenient and tasty, these sausage links also offer many new recipe ideas for preparing the plentiful fresh vegetables now on the market. An interesting duo is mild-flavored zucchini squash, stuffed with a savory tomato filling, and topped with the juicy sausages.

Bake in a casserole in a moderate oven (350 degrees) for about 30 minutes or until squash is fork tender. Then, the sausage-topped squash is ready to highlight your menu with only hot rolls, a refreshing fruit salad and beverage necessary to complete the meal.

• • •

Another sausage-vegetable combination that's sure to please is Sausage and Creamed Cabbage. Here's the recipe along with the easy directions for making the novel Sausage and Squash Bake.

Sausage and Squash Bake

1½ pound package brown 'n serve sausage
10 zucchini squash
1 cup tomato juice
¼ cup fine bread crumbs
1 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon sugar
⅛ cup water

Slice an elongated oval portion off the top of the zucchini squash. Scoop out the center of the squash and mix this portion of squash with tomato juice, bread crumbs, salt and sugar. Place this mixture in the hollow portion of the squash. Top with a sausage.

Place squash, sausages up, in a flat casserole. Add water. Cover. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) for about 30 minutes or until squash is fork-tender. Then, the sausage-topped squash is ready to highlight your menu with only hot rolls, a refreshing fruit salad and beverage necessary to complete the meal. Serves five.

Sausage and Creamed Cabbage

1 package (½ pound) brown 'n' serve sausage
4 cups shredded cabbage
1 can (1½ cups) cream of celery soup

Boil cabbage in salted water five minutes. Drain. Stir in soup. Cut sausage links in half and add to mixture. Stir lightly. Heat 5 to 10 minutes. Serves four or five.

Variation: Pour the mixture into a buttered casserole. Top with bread crumbs, and bake in a hot oven (425 degrees) 10 minutes.

Beef and Chicken Prices Are Lower This Weekend

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Good buys in beef and chickens and a tendency toward lower prices for other meats is the news from the nation's food stores for weekend shoppers.

• • •

Frying chickens again will be a popular feature at reasonable prices. In the beef line, you'll find worthwhile buys in chuck roast, steaks, and, here and there, prime ribs.

Smoked hams will be featured rather widely. Other pork items mentioned by a number of stores include loins of pork, smoked picnics, fresh hams, and pork butts. Where pork chop prices are changed from a week ago, lower prices predominate.

While legs of lamb won't be featured particularly, you may find price tags down a few cents from last week.

Some meat specialists say you may see lower prices on most meats next week because pork, beef and lamb all came down at wholesale this week. Price-cutting should be notable on pork cuts since they took the sharpest drop.

BEEF SEASON ON

The U.S. department of agriculture notes that the beef season is under way, with plenty of all cuts and grades coming to market. This year, beef production is expected to reach a new high of 13¼ billion pounds. Top quality meat from grain-fed cattle and lower, economy grades from grass-fat animals offer a choice for every taste and pocketbook.

The USDA offers these tips on beef:

"Lower grades are truly budget savers. Long, slow cooking and a flair with seasonings will make the finest stew, meat loaf or pot roast from the lower graded meat.

"Beef marked U.S. good or U.S. commercial will not be as tender and juicy as a comparable cut graded U.S. choice or prime, but it is every bit as nutritious. The top grades are the best buy when you want steaks and oven roasts—the cuts that require shorter cooking time."

• • •

You can expect to pay more for eggs this weekend. One big chain is hiking prices from two to seven cents a dozen on top grade A whites.

New Prospecting Plan

PARIS (INS) — The French Atomic Research Commission has opened two large regions to prospectors in the hope that someone wil lstrike a uranium bonanza. Frnace has preferred to offer private indfividuals and corporations the right to prospect in its provinces, rather than retain the mineral rights for a governmental organization.

PLENTY AT STAKE — Wrestler Tarzan Moreno rides the horns of a bull as he keeps the animal from goring a young Mexican girl tied to a stake in a daring performance at Reynosa. Maria Bonita narrowly escaped death when the bull made several approaches before Moreno could distract him.

Smoking Lamp Is Lit —but Lighter Is Fine

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UP)—A cigarette lighter was presented to Rear Adm. George C. Dyer at a civic luncheon honoring him on his retirement as commandant of the 11th naval district.

The admiral promised he would carry it always in his pocket. He refrained from telling the gathering of wellwishers that he doesn't smoke.

Ducks Don't Duck, Now

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (UP)—Ducks will no longer have to duck when they swim in Gainesville's duck pond.

A 2½-foot alligator has been eating them wholesale for the past two weeks but City Policeman C. A. Roberts finally dispatched it with a rifle shot.

Use Some Soft Soap

BRANSON, Mo. (INS)—The latest thing in the way of bait for catching channel catfish in the Ozarks is plain, white laundry soap. George Morris, hatcheries superintendent fo rthe Missouri Conservation Commission, said he hear fishermen were landing catfish weighing up to eight pounds by baiting their hooks with gobs of soap.

Bulganin Sends Top-Level Note

Dispatch to Ike Being Studied; Copy to Eden Talks Disarmament

WASHINGTON (AP)—A personal message from Russian Premier Nikolai Bulganin to President Eisenhower was under study today while a U. N. Disarmament subcommittee marked time in New York.

• • •

Officials here declined to discuss the message beyond confirming that it had been sent through the State Department to the President's vacation headquarters in Denver. They said they understood copies went also to British Prime Minister Anthony Eden and French Premier Edgar Faure.

London dispatches said a message to Eden dealt with disarmament.

Meantime a U. S. spokesman at United Nations headquarters in New York disclaimed knowledge of the message but announced a one-day postponement of the Disarmament subcommittee meeting. That group had been planning to wind up its talks today. The talks have been stalemated in recent days.

The United States has been pushing President Eisenhower's plan for free aerial inspection and an exchange of military blueprints.

Banker Indicted on 25 Counts of Embezzlement

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Roscoe D. Coon, horse-loving vice president and cashier of a desert town bank that closed July 25, has been indicted on 25 counts of embezzlement, misapplication of funds and false entries.

"This is the most fantastic embezzlement case which has ever come before local authorities," said U.S. Atty. Laughlin E. Waters. "Apparently the shortages go back to 1953, and we have been unable to find evidence that any other person was involved."

• • •

Federal authorities said the Joshua Monument National Bank — the only one in the desert community of Twentynine Palms — closed after an audit showed a shortage of $678,000.

• • •

Waters said Coon, who owns at suburban Altadena and Twentynine Palms, was arrested at the Del Mar race track where he had a racing stable valued at about $150,000.

The Federal Deposit Insurance Corp., which insured the bank's deposits, has obtained an injunction preventing Coon from disposing of any of his assets.

School Shifts in Japan

TOKYO—Japan is so short of classrooms that a double-shift system is in effect at nearly 6,000 elementary schools and 1,200 junior high schools.

Arctic Radar Supply Operation Is Over

WASHINGTON (AP)— The Navy points with pride to a "great victory" over arctic barriers in taking supplies to the nation's northernmost radar outposts.

• • •

Vice Adm. F. C. Denebrink, commander of the Military Sea Transport Service, said yesterday this summer's shipments to build the distant early warning (DEW) radar defense line marked the first use of the historic Northwest Passage to move men and supplies.

• • •

Denebrink said not a life was lost among the 18,647 people aboard 126 ships in the three-month operation. He said quite a few ships did suffer damage and ran aground, but repairs were so efficient that all but two vessels were heading homeward under own power after rounding Point Barrow, Alaska, this week.

West Michigan Petitions for Children's Hospital

LANSING (AP) — A five-county delegation carried to the capitol its plea for a children's mental hospital in western Michigan.

The group gave Gov. Williams petitions bearing 10,000 names from Kent, Ottawa, Muskegon, Mason and Oceana counties and appeared before a legislative committee investigating mental health problems.

THE WILLOWY WISP has a natural bent — in any direction

The WISP is a retailer who can be talked into almost anything – when it comes to the kind of national advertising support he thinks he wants from the makers of the products he sells.

He's not sure where he's going because he's always being led.

He's absolutely sold on newspapers for his own advertising but lacks the foresight to urge manufacturers to use it, too.

Fortunately the WISP is a rare creature.

Most successful retailers know that a manufacturer's advertising can help them most effectively in their daily newspapers – where it stands shoulder to shoulder with their own advertising.

Most retailers, big and small, know that newspapers are the action medium – the place where people seek out advertising when buying decision time is at hand. That's why local advertising in newspapers stacks up to over $2,000,000,000 a year – nearly six times the amount local advertisers put into radio, more than eleven times the amount they put into television.

Advertisers, local and national, placed more linage in newspapers the first six months of 1955 than in any similar period in the history of advertising.

One reason is that smart retailers and smart manufacturers realize that nowhere can they advertise together so productively as in the newspaper.

All business is local . . . and so are all newspapers!

This message prepared by BUREAU OF ADVERTISING of American Newspaper Publishers Association, and published in the interests of fuller understanding of newspapers by

Columnist Hears From Two Sides of Triangle

By ELIZABETH WOODWARD

Coincidences sometimes happen, even to a columnist like me. Many a letter has said, "I feel sure I'm the boy that girl was talking about. I didn't know she . . . etc. etc. Please tell me the name of the girl who wrote to you about me." (Which, of course, I don't do.)

Many another letter has come from a mother alerting me to the arrival of a letter from her daughter. (To make it easier for me to see both sides of the question.)

But the stories in the following two letters run so close, it's the tightest coincidence ever. Let's have 'em together.

"Dear Miss Woodward: About nine months ago I dated this boy and liked him very much. He said he liked me, too, but after dating me for about a month he broke off with me. He said I was too young and when I got older he'd come around.

"Now he's going with another girl and wants her to marry him. But I think he still likes me because she's jealous of me. Do you think he's just going with her until I'm old enough, or does he really like her and should I give him up?"

• • •

"Dear Miss Woodward: I've been going with him for seven months now he tells me he loves me and wants to marry me soon. But he always talks about this girl he dated for about a month and drives past her house every night I'm with him.

"When anyone mentions her name he gets embarassed, starts singing songs they liked while they dated, and doesn't pay any attention to me. He tries to tell me he never really liked her — that he loves only me!

"I think he only stopped seeing her because she's younger than he is and he still likes her and wants to take her out later on. What do you think?"

Answer: Now if only the he of this tremulous trio had put his thoughts on paper, we'd have it locked in a box, wouldn't we? He's the only country not heard from — and the vital missing link, at that.

The younger miss had a month of fun with him, and was told it would have to be put on ice until she was older. That sort of promise is too flimsy to take seriously. Particularly when he whirls headlong into dating an older girl to whom he talks marriage.

What undoubtedly started out as teasing has the current girl friend in a swivet. The position of the former girl friend has assumed undue importance. She's allowing it to threaten a known thing, which is her relationship to the boy during these past months.

Neither girl is sure which way he's going to jump. Neither girl should pin serious hopes on him.

As time passes he will make himself and his intentions clearer. Until he make it obvious which girl he really wants, the one who has him has him!

The Junior League Follies, a project paramount with Birmingham's Junior League, is discussed by Mrs. George Squibb, president, Mrs. Robert Craig, chairman of the Follies; and Mrs. Winthrop Conrad, chairman of the child guidance committee. Proceeds from the Follies, to be held in November, will be used for a child guidance clinic in Birmingham.

Director Hired for League Follies

The Junior League of Birmingham has engaged a professional director for the staging of their first Junior League Follies. The Follies will be presented Nov. 9 and 10 in the Birmingham Theater.

The League hopes proceeds will supply much needed capital for a child guidance clinic in Birmingham. Local agencies have endorsed the project. The League anticipates beginning work on the Birmingham Branch of the Oakland Child Guidance Clinic by January, 1956. Mrs. Winthrop Conrad is chairman of the committee for the clinic and Oliva Viola has been engaged as supervisor.

The initial activity for the Follies will be a talent party Oct. 18 at the Bloomfield Hills Country Club. At this party, the show will be cast and plans for rehearsals each afternoon and evening from then until the show time will be made. Following the last performance, on Nov. 10, there will be a cabaret party at Oakland Hills Country club under the direction of Mrs. W. H. Klenke Jr. and Mrs. Harry Swan.

COMMITTEES READY

Committees for the Follies have already been set up and are making pre-show plans. Mrs. Robert Craig is the general chairman. Assisting her are Mrs. Robert Taylor and Mrs. Harvey Kresge, advertising; Mrs. Avrel Mason, costumes; Mrs. Robert Fife, flowers; Mrs. Richard Hintermeister, make-up; Mrs. John Bagby, production; Mrs. Url Grannis Jr., program; Mrs. Maxwell Matthews, publicity and Mrs. Marvin Scott and Mrs. Thomas Yarnell, properties.

Other committee chairmen are Mrs. Carl Underhill, patron; Mrs. Frank Allen, art; Mrs. Edward Lerchen, Mrs. William Baldwin and Mrs. Rudolph Eberstadt, rehearsals; Mrs. David White; Mrs. Nelson Noland, Mrs. John Hoppock, Mrs. John Sanders and Mrs. Richard Wallace, talent.

Mrs. Paul McKenney is in charge of tickets, Mrs. R. Jamison Williams, stage ads; Mrs. Robert Martin, treasurer; Mrs. Robert Hall, ushers, and Mary Taylor and Ann L'Hommedieu, secretaries.

The October meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. William Hoyt of Otter avenue.

Couple Happier Sharing Expenses

By ANNE HEYWOOD

When a husband and wife both work, how should they handle the budget? That problem, judging by my mail, causes more family battles than anything else.

* * *

In the first place, it's a relatively new problem. Women haven't been working — married women, at least—for long enough to have established precedents and to have a comfortable feeling about the whole thing.

On the one extreme, I know a woman who feels that the money her husband makes is their money, but the money she makes is her own.

She spends it all on clothes for herself and lets all family expenses come out of her husband's salary.

* * *

The other extreme is a woman I know who works a five-day week, does all the housework, alone and unaided after hours. Both of these couples are heading for big trouble and actually jeopardizing their marriages.

NO RULE OF THUMB

There is no rule of thumb answer, of course, because a lot depends on the family setup.

* * *

For example, take the young couple, recently married.

She wants to continue her job for a while, until they have a family. Too often, they spend both salaries on living expenses, live pretty high and save hardly anything.

Then one of two bad things will happen.

Either they'll get so used to living high that they keep postponing a family. After all, it'll mean living on half as much money and having double the expenses. Eventually, it's too late and they remain childless.

Or, when they do have the family and the wife gives up her job, the terrific lowering of income and upping of expenses will throw them for a loop.

BEST ANSWER

The best answer here, of course, is to use the husband's salary for living expenses, with the wife taking from her own salary just enough for carfare and lunches, saving the balance against the day when she has a baby and gives up her job.

* * *

For the older couple, whose children are grown up before mommy returns to work, there is one good, basic rule:

Let the husband handle rent—or mortgage—and all fixed living expenses, while the wife's salary goes partly for retirement savings and partly for running expenses.

A man likes to feel he is paying for the family's way, but food and minor day-to-day expenses fall more naturally into the woman's domain.

* * *

But the big thing — the crucial thing—is that they be perfectly honest with each other and that they work out some kind of realistic plan, so they'll both know where the money goes.

Church Role in Japan Told by Fellowship Speaker

Pontiac Press Photos

Photographed at the First Congregational Church luncheon Wednesday were Mrs. James P. McCormick of Highland Park (left to right), Mrs. Carl McClure, president of the Women's Fellowship of the Detroit Association of Congregational churches and Mrs. Stanley Kipp of Doris road, chairman of the day. Mrs. McCormick, guest speaker, told of her experiences as an exchange teacher in Tokyo.

Detroit Fellowship Meets in Pontiac

"What the Church is Doing in Japan" was the topic for guest speaker Mrs. James McCormick of Highland Park Wednesday at the Women's Fellowship of the Detroit Congregational Assn. held at the First Congregational Church.

Women from 19 Detroit area churches attend the fall session presided over by Mrs. Carl McClure, Mrs. Oscar Lundbeck, president of the local fellowship, gave the welcome.

Morning sessions were devoted to workshops led by committee chairmen. Social action, friendly service, missionary education, Christian education and spiritual life were several subjects discussed in the sectional meetings. Other workshop topics were stewardship, publicity and program.

The Rev. Lawrence Graves led the devotional service after a luncheon served by the Women's Fellowship of the Pontiac Church. Mrs. William Hurlburt was kitchen chairman and dining room chairman was Ora Hallenbeck.

* * *

Immediately preceding the afternoon session, Mrs. Carl Leonard sang "Beside Still Waters" accompanied by Charles Wilson.

Mrs. McCormick, guest speaker, is the wife of James McCormick who served in Kyoto, Japan, as a Fulbright teacher from Nov. 1953 to June 1955. Mrs. McCormick's talk was of Japanese people as she saw them through her work with citizen living abroad with her the church and as an American family.

Lydia Circle Meets With Mrs. Morgan

Lydia Circle of the Christian Women's Fellowship First Christian Church met at the home of Mrs. J. P. Morgan on Riviera Terrace Tuesday.

Devotions were given by Mrs. William Tompkins who used as her theme "Giver of Life."

The program, "Facing New Worlds," was given by Mrs. John Appleton.

Assisting the hostess were Mrs. Morgan and Mrs. John Graham.

Insurance Women Plan Card Party

Plans were completed for a card party to be held in October, when members of the Pontiac Women's Insurance Assn. met at the Hotel Waldron Wednesday evening.

Barbara Hess will be general chairman of the affair.

The Detroit association banquet will be held Oct. 12 at the Hotel Statler and Beatrice Dodge, president, will represent the local association.

Guests at the meeting were Mrs. Vera M. Daniels, Mrs. J. C. Metty, Joan Bowhall and Barbara Hagerman.

2 Named to Attend Pythian Convention

Mrs. Clarence L. Smith and Mrs. Randall Wilson will represent the Fannie E. Tompkins Temple 41 of Pythian Sisters at their state convention being held at Muskegon Sept. 22-24. The announcement was made at the meeting of the group held Tuesday evening.

It was also reported that the Temple sent three girls and a councilor to the Michigan Pythian Recreation Center at Burt Lake for a week's vacation during the summer.

Plans were completed for the annual Hunters Banquet to be held by the Knights of Pythias Oct. 11.

Committees Are Appointed by Alpha Chapter

Alpha Chapter of the Beta Theta Phi sorority met Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Orben D. Wilkins on Waldo street.

Rocky KO's Archie in 9th to Retain Crown

NEW YORK, (AP)—Heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano's awesome, meat-grinder destruction of gallant, ancient Archie Moore in one of boxing's great battles may have been the invincible Brockton blaster's last fight.

* * *

This was the one the indomitable Rock of Brockton wanted to win more than any other since he knocked the crown off Jersey Joe Walcott's brow three years ago in Philadelphia. He won it in typical fashion with a relentless, bull-dozing attack that smashed Archie's crumbling defenses in 1:19 of the ninth round of a bitter battle.

* * *

Now, with the light-heavyweight king out of the way, there were no more worlds for boxing's Caesar to conquer and he mulled over retirement.

"No, no, he's not quitting," said Manager Al Weill when asked for his comment. "There are other challengers who should get a shot. There are Bob Baker, Nino Valdes and Hurricane Jackson. He could fight one of them in June."

The swarthy champion and the shrewd, little man who guided him to the top will announce their decision at a press conference.

* * *

If this was Rocky's finale, he made it one they'll long remember. He came off the floor like he did in the memorable first fight with Walcott, and ground down the crafty, cocky master of the art of self defense with a relentless assault to the inevitable finish.

* * *

A smashing left hook to the jaw ended the 38-year old master craftsman's fierce resistance, leaving him a collapsed heap in his own corner.

Out to become the first light-heavyweight champion ever to ascend to the heavyweight throne, Archie gave it all he had in the beginning when he floored Marciano for a four-count in the second round with a right to the jaw.

For a while it looked as if the crowd of 61,574, which contributed to a handsome $948,117 gate in the Yankee Stadium, was going to see an astonishing upset.

* * *

Rocky blinked his eyes. It was only the second time in his career that he had been floored, and a worried expression appeared on his face, just as it did when Walcott decked him in their first fight.

* * *

Archie went after the champ with another right to the jaw but Rocky's head was clear now and he moved in close. Archie's big moment was gone even though he had Rocky bleeding from the nose and bruised under the right eye before the hectic round was over.

In the third Rocky established his pattern of victory. He started maneuvering the crafty Moore to the ropes and ripped him in close with both hands. It didn't matter whether the heavy blows landed on Archie's arms, shoulders, head or body. Rocky just fired away in his primitive fashion, discarding the polished moves that had been drummed into him in training camp.

* * *

There was a slight cut over Rocky's left eye and blood dripped from his nose, but that only served to spur him on. Try as he would from then on, Archie couldn't get away from the rope traps Rocky set for him with his bulling drives.

The pressure was hot on Archie in the fourth and fifth rounds and in the sixth his aging legs betrayed him. Rocky's old "Suzy Q" overhand right shook him all over, buckling his knees. Another long right dropped him for a count of four. Rocky swarmed all over his stricken foe, smashing him down for eight.

* * *

For one minute of the seventh, Archie seemed to have dipped into his fountain of youth. He smashed over two rights to the jaw that momentarily stopped Rocky's furious drive and brought roars from the fans. But midway in the round, time and Rocky caught up with Archie again.

The 19-years of fighting caught up with the poised craftsman in the eighth. For a short while he called on his last reserves and tried to make a last stand. He nailed Rocky with sharp punches but it was like using a bean-shooter against a tank.

* * *

Rocky was ready for the kill in the ninth and everyone in the park, including Moore, knew it had to happen. Springing forward like a lion after a sheep, Rocky forced his game foe to the ropes and let loose with everything he had. Moore, his back to the ropes in his own corner, somehow found strength to fire two hard shots to Rocky's jaw. Then it happened. A short, perfectly timed left hook thudded against Archie's jaw and he crumpled in his corner, a soggy left mitten over one rope.

* * *

It was all over. Archie went the way he wanted to if he had to go—counted out.

Moore still has his 175-pound title, the respect of Marciano and those who saw the classic, and a $241,187 purse—the largest of his career. Rocky, too, earned his fattest check. He will receive $482,374.

* * *

It was the ninth largest gate in boxing annals and the heftiest in the regime of James Norris' sprawling International Boxing Club empire. The theater-telecast to 129 theaters coast-to-coast earned an approximate $1,125,000 of which $350,000 went into the IBC coffers to be shared with the fighters. Radio added another $35,000.

END OF THE ROAD — Referee Harry Kessler waves heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano to neutral corner as challenger Archie Moore falls to canvas, a KO victim of Rocky at 1:19 of 9th round of title fight at Yankee Stadium last night. Moore had hit the deck four times previously in bruising battle.

Not Yet Licked?

Lopez Still Isn't Ready to Call His Tribe Dead

CHICAGO (AP)—The Cleveland Indians have been just about counted out of the American League pennant race after last night's loss to the Chicago White Sox but Al Lopez, the Tribes' manager, refuses to concede.

"We're not going to quit fighting," Lopez told newsmen after the Indians were beaten by the Sox last night, 7-2. The loss left the Indians 3½ games behind the Yankees, who won over the Washington Senators, 7-3. The Sox trail the Indians by 3 games.

* * *

Cleveland has three games to play, at Detroit Friday, Saturday and Sunday. New York had four to play, a doubleheader Friday, and single games Saturday and Sunday, all with Boston. Even if Cleveland won all three, and New York lost all four, the Indians could just tie for the lead. But Lopez said:

* * *

"Anything can happen. The Yankees could lose four in a row, just like that, as we did. As long as we've got a chance, we'll be trying. That's about all I can say. The Yankees have four tough games in Boston."

Lefty Jack Harshman cooled off the Indians at Comiskey Park last night as the Sox scored two runs in the sixth and five in the eighth.

The third place Sox knocked out starter Bob Lemon, who was seeking his 19th victory and is observing his 35th birthday today. Lemon was seeking his fourth consecutive 20-victory season. His record is 18-10.

Irish Installed One TD Favorite Over Mustangs

Better Running Backs, Physical Shape Good, SMU Mentor Says

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—Notre Dame is a one-touchdown favorite over Southern Methodist in their football opener Saturday and Mustang Coach Chalmer (Woody) Woodard explains why.

"Notre Dame has better running backs than last season and physically is as strong as in 1954," said Woodard, whose Mustangs lost to the Irish, 26-14, last year and 40-14 in 1953, his first season as head coach.

In a long-distance comment, Woodard asserted:

"We're lucky to be playing Notre Dame in an opener because with additional seasoning the team will get tougher."

* * *

Woodard was referring to newcomers in an Irish rebuilding program that must replace almost an entire line lost from the 1954 Notre Dame team which fashioned a 9-1 record.

Southern Methodist scouting reports, based on the Irish spring game, rate new quarterback Paul Hornung a better passer than Ralph Guglielmi, graduated All-America star.

A Mustang side who witnessed the spring game rated soph left half Aubrey Lewis, 185-pound track sprint ace from Montclair, N. J., as a better ball carrier than graduated Joe Heap.

SMU is well acquainted with the other two Irish backfield starters, fullback Don Schaefer and right half Jim Morse, who gained 180 yards by rushing between them against the Mustangs last season.

* * *

The Mustangs, however, plan to do much more than just show up for Saturday's contest which will be televised in the Midwest (2 p.m. NBC).

Large Field Preparing for Meet at Jackson

JACKSON (AP)—Nearly 350 horses are working out daily at the Jackson Raceway in preparation for a 30-day meeting starting Monday night, Leon Slavin, president of the Jackson Trotting Assn., said today.

Among horses that will appear at the meeting are Rhythmic Song, winner of the $10,000 Detroit Derby at Hazel Park; Royal I Frisco, Josedale Chief, Miss Titan and Pastime Lawrence.

The meeting will end Oct. 29.

Big Kill in Montana

BILLINGS, Mont. (AP) — In the 12 months ending June 30, federal predatory animal hunters killed 3,110 predators in Montana. The total included 1,541 coyotes, 1,447 bobcats, 120 marauding bears, one mountain lion and a wolverine.

Rocky's Family Urges Champ to Quit Ring

NEW YORK (AP)—Rocky Marciano is a fighter today with the world at his feet and nothing but worry in his heart.

"There is a lot of pressure from my family for me to retire," the heavyweight champion said concernedly. "My mother wants me to quit. So does my dad, and my wife.

* * *

"It has been a pretty bad ordeal for them. I don't know what I should do."

Then the swarthy son of a Brockton, Mass., shoemaker added:

"Personally, at this point I don't feel I should retire."

Marciano, his left eye gashed and blood spewing from a battered nose, picked himself off the canvas last night and hammered out a ninth-round knockout over one of the toughest foes of a 49-fight career, 38-year-old Archie Moore.

* * *

To 61,574 spectators at Yankee Stadium and to millions who saw and heard the feat by modern communication, the well-named "Rock" established himself as one of the game's greatest champions.

* * *

"No, no, he's not quitting," insisted Al Weill, peppery little manager of the champion.

"I think he is seriously considering it," said Al Colombo, boyhood pal and one of Rocky's closest associates.

"I've got some thinking to do on it," said Rocky himself.

Marciano's mother always has grieved that her strong young offspring should have taken up a career of violence. When he fights, she never listens. She slips off to a quiet church and prays.

* * *

The father, a modest Italian immigrant now retired from his shoe factory job, encouraged Rocky's ring career but recently has felt his son has reaped enough reward.

A devoted husband and father of a 3-year-old girl, Marciano has felt keenly about neglect of his wife and family forced on him by rigid training routines.

Marciano spoke blandly, almost inaudibly, of the stiff right-hand punch by Moore which sent him slumping to the deck in the second round and of his own savage assault which felled the challenger four times before putting him away for good.

* * *

"Sure, it stung me," Rocky said of Moore's knockdown blow. "I was blacked out for a second. But I snapped out of it quickly. I was up at the count of four."

Was Moore the toughest of all his 49 victims?

Marciano hedged. "One of the toughest," he said. "I'd have to include Jersey Joe Walcott (the only other man ever to floor him) and Ezzard Charles. But Moore certainly was the cleverest."

Government Seeks to Take $52,097 'Cut' From Archie

By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK (INS)—The government acted last night to attach for $52,097 in 1955 income taxes heavyweight boxer Archie Moore's purse from his fight with Rocky Marciano.

Internal revenue agents from Toledo and New York walked into Moore's dressing room immediately after last night's Yankee Stadium bout and served him with a "notice of levy."

Moore's level adviser, former OPA administrator Mike DiSalle, promptly took the papers, said he would contest the action and remarked:

"The two fighters (Moore and Marciano) paid enough this past year to offset President Eisenhower's salary.

"Why, Moore doesn't even know what he's going to make this year.

"You've got to remember," he continued, "this man's promotional expenses run very heavy and his manager, Charley Johnston, has shown no indication of his waiving his percentage."

The notice of levy was based on Moore's income through Sept. 21, a date that covered his 20 per cent of the net of last night's million-dollar-plus gate (including theater TV).

DiSalle commented:

"As far as I know this is the 1st time a fighter was even assessed in his dressing room for taxes on a current year."

Then the one-time mayor of Toledo commented:

"I'd be interested to know if Rocky Marciano got the same notice of levy."

Moore has engaged in three bouts this year, including last night's. In one of them—against Nino Valdez of Cuba in Las Vegas—Moore netted, according to DiSalle, only about $6,500.

Sidelights on Big Title Tilt

NEW YORK (AP) — The 61,574 spectators who saw Rocky Marciano knock Archie Moore out in the 9th round of their heavyweight title fight in the Yankee Stadium last night was the 10th largest turnout in ring history, according to the books . . . records, of course, aren't kept on some of those middle and far east brawls which sometimes attract a quarter of a million . . . the listed record is for the second Gene Tunney-Jack Dempsey fight in Chicago in 1927—120,757.

Like a baseball player whose ambition is to participate in a world's series, referee Harry Kessler always had hoped to be the 3rd man in the ring at a heavyweight championship bout . . . an independently wealthy engineer, Kessler's work was flawless.

Marciano closed at 4-1 and there was practically no betting . . . it also probably was the 1st time since Heaven knows when, that the ancient Moore entered the ring the underdog . . . the fight brought more than $1,000,000 into the till of the International Boxing Club counting the theater television and radio . . . the best previous for the IBC was $99,2630 for the Randy Turpin-Ray Robinson middleweight title bout in 1951.

Had Moore won, he would have made history two ways. He would have been the oldest fighter ever to win the heavyweight title (38) and he would have been the 1st to move directly from light heavyweight king to heavyweight champion . . . Moore has been a pro boxer 19 years and it wasn't until last October that he got a fight in Madison Square Garden . . . he's had three times Rocky's experience with 145 fights . . . he's been stopped only five times.

Ted Williams, the Boston Red Sox slugger, flew in "to get my man Rocky home" . . . add effects of TV on sports: There were hundreds of women waiting for the rush seats at $5 per copy when the gates opened . . . before TV there wouldn't have been a dozen.

Pontiac JV's Top Port Huron

Hawkins, Brooks Lead Pontiac Little Chiefs to Second Victory

Pontiac High School Junior Vasity marked up its 2nd victory of the season yesterday when they handed the Port Huron JV's a 28-0 defeat on their home field.

Pontiac dominated play from the opening kickoff as they marched 70 yards for the 1st marker with Jim Hawkins sweeping end for the final 20 yards. Pontiac muffed the extra point attempt making it 6-0.

Archie Brooks made it 12-0 climaxing a 30 yard drive by Pontiac as he plunged over for the last seven yards. Dick Whitmer converted for a 13-0 lead. Brooks added his 2nd touchdown later in the 2nd period and when Pontiac missed its point try the scoreboard read 19-0 for Pontiac.

Jim Hawkins' 2nd TD, and a short pass in the 3rd period brought the score to 26-0. When Richard McDonald trapped a Port Huron back deep in his end zone, the final score read 28-0 for Pontiac.

Pontiac Jayvees travel to Hamtramck next Thursday to seek their 3rd win.

Former Irish Stars Clash on Gridiron

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — When Indiana comes here to play Notre Dame on Saturday, Oct. 1 it will mark the 1st time in six years that two former Notre Dame athletes will be leading rival teams in the same game.

Bernie Crimmins, who played for the Irish in 1939, 1940 and 1941, coaches Indiana while Terry Brennan, a four-year regular at Notre Dame through 1948, coaches the Irish. In 1949 former Notre Dame players met as coaches when Dr. Eddie Anderson led Iowa against Frank Leahy's Irish. Leahy won, 28-7.

State Elk Herd Growing by Leaps and Bounds

LANSING (AP) — Michigan's elk herd appears to be growing, the State Conservation Department reported today.

Until recently, the herd numbered only about 300 animals, most of them located in the Pigeon River State Forest near Gaylord.

The latest estimate places the strength of the herd at 600. Elk have been reported southwest of Alpena and in the Hubbard Lake area.

The herd grew from seven animals released in the Pigeon River State Forest in 1918.

Real name of Tony De Marco, welterweight champion until stopped by Carmen Basilio in his 1st defense, is Leonard Liotta.

Flyers Top Wings Last Night, 3-1

SAULT STE. MARIE (AP) — The Edmonton Flyers handed the Detroit Red Wings their 1st exhibition hockey defeat in four years.

The Flyers rallied to win 3-1 last night. It was the 1st loss ever suffered by Detroit on the ice of the Soo's Pullar Stadium.

"We were outhustled," said manager Jack Adams. "There'll be some changes made."

Big Double Payoff

DETROIT (AP) — The daily double combination of Litning Ranger and Monti Maiden paid $340 last night, one of the largest of the current Wolverine Harness Raceway meeting. It was the 1st victory of the year for both horses.

Maples Seek 2nd Victory as Cranes Open '55 Card

Birmingham High School's football team goes after its 2nd victory of the infant season Friday night with neighboring Cranbrook furnishing the opposition. The game is scheduled on the Birmingham premises at 8 p.m.

Tomorrow night's contest will be the last non-league encounter for Carl Lemle's Maples before they open their Eastern Michigan League campaign Sept. 30 at Mt. Clemens. Birmingham inaugurated its 1955 season last Friday with a 14-7 win over Southfield.

Lemle will field the same squad which started against the Bluejays a week ago with one possible exception. Dave Griffith may get the starting call at right tackle in place of George Huffman. Dale Burrows will get the nod at quarterback.

Friday's tussle will begin the 1955 season for the Cranes, who face a rebuilding program under head coach Fred Campbell. The Cranes, who compete in the Inter-State Prep League, lost 15 lettermen from last year's team which compiled a 4-4 record.

Only three letter winners are back in the Cranbrook camp, all anchored in the line and headed by center George Gary of Pontiac, this year's captain-elect. The others are end Pete Bedford and tackle Al Sanborn.

Fisher Local Plans Annual Golf Tourney

Annual medal play golf tournament members of the Fisher Local No. 596, UAW-CIO, has been set for Saturday, Oct. 6, at Pontiac Country Club.

Event will be over a 18-hole route, and about 100 players are expected to take part.

No. 596 golfers wishing to file entries may do so at the union's hall, at any time.

Davey to Meet Kennedy

LANSING (AP)—Chuck Davey, continuing his comeback campaign, will battle Bay City welterweight Alan Kennedy Oct. 15 in a 10-round bout at Civic Center here.

Co-promoters of the show are Morrie Ramont and Jack Stein of Lansing and Motor City Fights of Detroit.

Davey decisioned Pat Manzi of Syracuse, N.Y., in his 1st comeback fight Aug. 22 at Saginaw.

Washington Senators Should Be Paid for Services When Winning Yankees Split Up Series Melon

WASHINGTON (AP) — When the New York Yankees get around to clinching the American League championship, it would seem only fitting and proper that they cut the Washington Senators in for some of the cash.

For when you come right down to it, the Senators just about gave the Yankees the pennant.

* * *

They did it by clobbering the runner-up Cleveland Indians 13 times during the season while only defeating the Yankees six times.

* * *

Had the Senators played the same kind of ball against Cleveland that they played against New York, the Indians already would have hoisted the championship flag.

No one can offer a reasonable explanation of how the last place Senators contrived to play a reasonable facsimile of championship baseball against the Indians.

On his last trip here, the Indians' manager, Al Lopez, said he couldn't understand why Washington was deep in the second division. "They play like champs against us."

* * *

Against the Yankees, the Senators looked more like chumps. They blew a zillion scoring chances in dropping a 7-3 decision to the Yankees last night. They were given eight bases on balls and collected seven hits, but managed to score in only one inning.

* * *

Five times the Yankee infield pulled off double plays to cut down a budding Washington rally.

Manager Casey Stengel and his Yankee collaborators were properly cheerful last night after they had won their eighth straight game, the Yanks' longest winning streak of the season.

* * *

But no one was in a hurry to celebrate. Most of the players seemed more concerned about the outcome of the heavyweight championship fight than the Cleveland-Chicago baseball game.

Area Grid Campaign Gains Momentum

By H. GUY MOATS

With approximately 30 games on the card, including several today, and others Saturday and Sunday, the Pontiac area prep football campaign for 1955 swings into high gear Friday night.

Top contest is the Wisner Memorial Stadium meeting between Pontiac High's victory-seeking Chiefs and the victorious Waterford Skippers.

There's a lot of interest generated in this encounter. Much of it stems from the overwhelming 58-0 win with suburban club turned in against West Bloomfield (Keego Harbor) in its opener a week ago. The Chiefs took it on the chin from a big and unexpectedly strong Wyandotte eleven, 25-6 in the Pontiac premiere.

Both clubs are anxious to win. Skippers would like to change results this time, from the 39-0 defeat handed them last fall, and at the same time extend their wins to two. PHS certainly will shoot to get on the win road this time.

Coach Ed Graybiel of the Chiefs concludes his pre-game workouts today with a light "polishing" session, similar to that of Wednesday, when an intensive "skull session" was an important feature.

Dave Freeman, Skipper mentor, also let up on the hard work yesterday and will take it easy again today.

Both squads are ready, physically. All minor injuries suffered in opening games last week have responded to treatment. But, says Graybiel, some of his crew have been slowed up a bit, and additional bumps could hit the affected players hard.

Starting lineups for both Chiefs and Skippers will be about the same as in the openers, the coaches said today.

Area clubs in most instances are getting pre-league tests out of their systems in Friday's games preparatory to beginning the grind of league title campaigns.

Among some of the possibly top games Friday are the Walled Lake (I-L League) and West Bloomfield (W-O League) at Walled Lake; Southfield Bluejays (I-L League) at Detroit Wilbur Wright; Berkley Bears at Alpena; Farmington at Rochester; Milford at Clarenceville and Brighton at Clarkston in the 1st Wayne-Oakland loop contests.

Two other area schools get their campaigns under way with Friday games. They are Cranbrook, which faces the good Birmingham team at the Maples' field, and Shrine, opening against St. Gregory of Detroit, Sunday on the Gregorian field.

Clubs seeking to continue their winning ways, in the above list are Milford, which dumped Oxford 26-13, Clarenceville which tripped Farmington 7-0.

FISHING TROPHY — On his 1st try at sailfishing, Pontiac Motor dealer Henry (Hank) E. Gotham brought in a fine 114-pounder during a recent trip to Acapulco, Mexico. Gotham is at right in picture. At left is Charles Copeland, assistant sales promotion manager for Pontiac Motors. He took the 41 pound dolphin shown on the rack. The other "sail" was landed by Mrs. Loren (Mary) Kirkpatrick of Metropolis, Ill. Her husband is the Metropolis Pontiac dealer. Mrs. Gotham and Mrs. Copeland accompanied their husbands on the trip, made as rewards for top sales programs in the PMC national "turn on the heat" program. Gotham's fish was 9 feet 10 inches long. The other was 100 pounds, 9 feet 4 inches long.

Hoeft Through for This Year, Bucky Reports

DETROIT (AP) — Billy Hoeft is through with baseball for the 1955 season.

Manager Bucky Harris acting on the advice of a team physician, yesterday ordered the brilliant young southpaw out of the Detroit Tiger lineup for the rest of the season.

Hoeft, the American League's 3rd-ranking hurler in the won-lost column with a 16-7 record, pulled a tendon in his left elbow in a game last Friday at Cleveland.

Dr. Arthur Wright recommended that Hoeft's arm be given an extended rest.

Keglers interested in bowling on Thursday nights at 9 o'clock should call Leonard Biallas at FEderal 2-2027. Openings are available on two teams for bowlers with a 750 to 850 average. Former "B" league members are invited.

Unrated Boxer Beats Dykes

Johnson to Get Match With Bobo Olson as Result of Bout

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—George Johnson, a hard-hitting but unrated middleweight from Newark, N.J., beat out an easy 10-round decision over Miami's Bobby Dykes last night and may have earned a non-title bout with champion Bobo Olson.

• • •

Promoter Chris Dundee had promised an Olson match here Oct. 26 to the winner and Johnson, a 2-1 underdog, proved himself a better puncher than Dykes, the sixth-ranking middleweight.

It was the 32nd victory in 38 fights for Johnson, who has flattened 22 of his foes. Dykes suffered the 18th loss in his career of 126 battles.

Dykes weighed 163¼, Johnson 157.

WEDNESDAY'S HOME RUNS

Martin, Yankees; Lopes, Athletics; Boone, Kuenn, Tigers; Thompson, Rhodes, Giants; Thomas, Pirates; Logan, Braves; Bell, Kluszewski, Reds; Baker, Wade, Cubs; Musial, Frazier, Cardinals.

Second Division Finish

Tigers Miss Top 4 for Fifth Year; Boone Leads RBI List on 3-Run Homer

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Tigers will finish in 2nd division for the 5th straight season but the possibility was still alive today that they will miss the top four by only a single game.

Tigers took the day off today before their final three games. They've won their last six and finish off the year against Cleveland starting tomorrow in Briggs Stadium.

If Detroit could keep its winning streak going through Sunday and if the rampaging Yankees sweep their four game series in Boston the Tigers would wind up one game behind the 4th place Red Sox.

They can't go any higher.

Briggs Stadium still will figure in the pennant race. The Indians have a minute chance to tie the Yanks for the flag. To do it they would have to whip the Tigers in all three games and Boston would have to beat the Yankees four times running.

As it stands, Tigers are only one game shy of their longest winning streak of the year. They defeated Kansas City 10-1 yesterday with an eight-run outburst in the 1st inning.

Ray Boone took over the runs-batted-in lead in the American League as he knocked home three with a two-on home run in the 1st inning. Harvey Kuenn also homered in the opener as Kansas City rookie Mike Kume went down to his 2nd loss.

Dick Marlowe held the Athletics scoreless until the 9th. Then he got careless and Hector Lopez belted his 15th homer into the left field seats.

Al Kaline's league-leading batting average held at .341 as he collected a pair of singles in five trips.

Frank Lary, Ned Garver and Bob Miller will pitch against Cleveland.

Shamrocks, Rams Clash Sunday

St. Michael and St. Frederick, arch foes from Pontiac's north and south sides, will collide Sunday afternoon at Wisner Stadium in the 21st renewal of their football rivalry. Game time is 3 p.m.

At stake when the two cross-town schools meet will be the Steve Griffin Memorial Trophy, an award donated by Miss Rose Griffin in honor of her brother who was active in city athletic activities for many years.

The traveling trophy, emblematic of the Pontiac parochial championship, goes permanently to the 1st school to win three times. The Mikes retired the award last season, thereby putting a new trophy up for grabs.

St. Fred's, under new head coach Gene Wright, is smarting under the sting of five straight shellackings at the hands of the Shamrocks. Particularly cutting was last year's 34-0 rout by Bob Mineweaser's charges for the most lopsided margin in the history of the series.

The Rams last victory over St. Mike's was a 26-7 verdict in 1949. Winless in their last 17 games, the Rams would probably be willing to consider the 1955 season a success if they could upend the Shamrocks on Sunday.

* * *

In addition to the traditional importance of the contest is the inauguration of the Suburban Catholic League campaign for both teams. The Shamrocks edged Avondale, 7-6, in Saturday's non-league opener, while the Rams fought to a 13-13 tie, their 2nd during the victory-famine string of 17, in Sunday's non-loop starter against Marine City Holy Cross.

Hoople Defies All to Outpick Him

Major Hoople, the grand old man of OUR BOARDING HOUSE, defies all readers to beat his football predictions which will appear every week on the sports page of The Pontiac Press.

The Major has bestowed upon himself the title Master of the Upset—and those who have followed his forecasts in other years know that he has picked some amazing results.

Watch for the Major's first card, covering games of Saturday, Sept. 24. It is one of our outstanding gridiron features.

Accent on Youth for MSU Opening Against Hoosiers

EAST LANSING (AP) — The accent will be on youth when Michigan State opens its 1955 football season Saturday against Indiana.

Exactly half of the traveling squad — 19 of 38 — will be sophomores.

The 19 sophomores is the largest number Michigan State has carried in any road trip in recent memory.

To give some experience to the squad, there are 12 seniors and seven juniors.

Only two of the sophomores, tackle Pat Burke and halfback Walt Kowalczyk, are scheduled to start against Indiana.

"We'll be playing a lot more of them, though, as the season goes along," Daugherty predicted.

In the line, MSU is taking along seven ends, seven tackles, six guards and three centers. In the backfield there will be four quarterbacks, three right halfbacks, five left halfbacks and three fullbacks.

"Every player we're taking has earned his spot," Daughtrty said. "The sophomores we're carrying asserted themselves in the early season practice."

"There are still a lot of question marks," Daugherty said, talking about the Indiana game. "We'll sure know a lot more after Saturday."

Tempo of practice tapered off sharply as days edged by toward the opener.

Pass defense was stressed again Wednesday afternoon. After the rest of the squad was excused, the specialists worked on extra point boots and kickoffs.

BOB SYKES

Ex-PHS Player Rejects Pro Bid for Education

There's at least one Pontiac youngster who would rather get an education than become a professional baseball player.

When a pro offer comes along these days, it's usually a tough job to pass it up. But that's what former Pontiac High School 3rd-baseman Bob Sykes has done.

Baltimore Orioles (scout Tony Stiel) offered Bob a Class D contract. Bob considered the offer then decided he would accept, instead a scholarship at a Tennessee college.

Last week Bob enrolled at Austin Peay State College at Clarksville, Tenn. He's working on a predental course. The 19-year-old infielder was among the tryout players in the recent Oriole school here. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Sykes, 97 Pine Street.

Lions Continue Player Battle

Injunction Against Two Gridders to Aid Club in Proving Point

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit Lions say they will continue to press an injunction against Gil Mains and Tom Dublinski in Canadian courts.

Mains, a lineman, and Dublinski, a quarterback, skipped to the Canadian League at the end of last season to play with the Toronto Argonauts, but Mains returned to the Lions last week.

The Lions contend both violated an option clause in their contracts under which a player signing with a National Football League club not only agrees to play for the specified time but also gives the club a one year option on him.

A club spokesman said the Lions would carry their injunction against Mains and Dublinski "to prove" their point in case the matter comes up again.

The spokesman said it will be the 1st time that an American football contract will be ruled upon in a Canadian court.

WEDNESDAY'S STARS
By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

PITCHING — Jack Harshman, White Sox, turned back the pennant-fading Indians 7-2 with a five-hit job for his 5th straight victory and 11th of year, walking 7, but stranding 7 and striking out 7.

BATTING—Gus Bell, Redlegs, drove in eight runs in 13-5 decision over Braves, swatting a grand-slam home run, a bases-loaded double and two singles in four trips.

Magic Number for Yanks, 1

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Yankees' magic number for the American League pennant now is one.

One more Yank victory, or Cleveland defeat hands New York its sixth flag since 1949.

Cleveland, with only three games remaining, is 4 games behind with a 91-60 record. The Yanks, with 4 games left, have a 94-56 mark.

The worse New York can do is tie for the flag. To do so, the Yanks would have to lose all 4 while the Indians sweep their 3.

Brittany Club Holds Weekend Fun Trial

The 1955 Michigan Brittany club's all-age trophy will be up for grabs at the "fun trial" arranged for this weekend at Pontiac Lake Recreation area.

This event is one of three features on the day's program, Sunday, beginning at 8 a.m. Dogs will be handled entirely by amateurs. The trial itself is restricted to club members.

Besides the all-age there will be a puppy match and derby.

Sparrow Properly Named

GARDEN CITY, N. Y. (AP) — Guy Sparrow is aptly named. As soon as he finished playing baseball for Lake Charles, La., in the Class C Evangeline League he joined the New York Knickerbockers for the National Basketball Assn. campaign. He's a 6 foot 5 forward who averaged 23 points a game with the University of Detroit last season. The Knicks made him their No. 1 draft choice.

Eighty Long Lakes—Pair Hunt for One

MARQUETTE (AP) — Though 80 Michigan lakes are named Long Lake, a Detroit doctor and a sales man would be happy to find one.

"We've been looking for three days," bristled the doctor. We hear it's jumping with fish. We found Herman's Lake, Fish Lake, Wheelbarrow Lake, Triangle Lake and Round Lake. We even found Lost Lake. And we'll find Long Lake too, even if it takes us our entire vacation."

Ann Arbor Boy Bolsters UM Quarterbacks

Bennie OK's Lousma; Greenwood Gets Test at Halfback Spot

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Michigan coach Bennie Oesterbaan, his football stable full of capable quarterbacks, has found another—a sophomore who may some day prove the best.

For now, at any rate, Jack Lousma, a 6-foot, 187 pounder from Ann Arbor, is relegated to the 4th spot in the quarterback section.

He ranks behind Chicago's Jim Maddock, Bay City's Jack Greenwood and Jim Van Pelt of Evanston, Ill. But his sharp passing arm and his defensive ability have singled him out from the mass of the reserve squad and are carving him a position with the Wolverines varsity.

In the changing picture of the Michigan football team, only two days away from its opener with Missouri, Lousma can still go farther. He played quarterback with unbeaten Ann Arbor High.

"He's coming along well," Ooserbaan says noncomittally. "He's still got a lot to learn."

Lousma's appearance with the blue squad isn't the only late change with Michigan rapidly looking like a team that could field a new unit every quarter.

Greenwood, called the best passer on the field last season by backfield coach Don Robinson, is being tried occasionally at a very familiar position.

A quarterback since he came to the Wolverines, Greenwood now is running from left half, a position in which he made his mark at Bay City Central High school.

In this position, though, he ranks behind Grand Rapids' Terry Barr, Detroit's Tom Hendericks and possibly on a par with speedy Jim Pace of Little Rock, Ark.

Oddly enough, Greenwood's talents are Pace's faults and vice versa.

Ten Commercial Hunting Areas Open in Ohio

There will be six and one-half months of pheasant hunting in Ohio this season for sportsmen willing to pay for their favorite recreation.

Ten commercial pheasant hunting preserves are open to the public from Sept. 1 to March 15. Two areas feature tough pass-shooting at mallard ducks.

The Ohio legislature legalized commercial preserves with extended seasons in 1951. Since that time the number of grounds has greatly increased, accommodating shooters who otherwise have no easily accessible hunting areas.

Under the Ohio law, the ringnecks must be full-winged and able to care for themselves in the wild upon release.

Only Miracle Can Snatch Flag for Tribe

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Cleveland's wonderful one-hoss shay, falling apart all at once, was piled on the American League junk heap today with only a miracle capable of pushing it any farther along the pennant road.

* * *

It will take a large miracle to bar the New York Yankees from their sixth championship in seven years. With four games remaining, starting with a twinbill at Boston tomorrow, the Yanks need win but one more to clinch it.

* * *

They can drop all four and still win it should the Indians, now four games back on the all-important "lost" side, drop even one of their three remaining games.

* * *

The once-frantic pennant scramble practically came to a close last night as New York pounded Washington 7-3 and the Tribe took a 7-2 lashing from the Chicago White Sox—who became also-rans 24 hours earlier.

At worst, New York can tie for the flag after winning eight straight.

* * *

Manager Al Lopez' pale-faced Injuns, who have had only a nodding acquaintance with base hits in their collapse, got just five safe blows off Jack Harshman last night. The Sox, meanwhile, shelled Bob Lemon, once the Mr. Big of the Tirbe's big three.

Harshman, a flop as a first baseman with the New York Giants a few years back and twice beaten by Cleveland this season, won his fifth straight and 11th of the year. He walked seven, but left seven stranded and fanned seven.

* * *

An error by rookie shortstop Bill Harrell, injected by Lopez in a try for more hits, opened the way to a five-run eighth inning for the White Sox as Lemon lost his 10th.

New York wound up with a 16-6 season mark against the last place Washingtons—who put the burr under the Indians' blanket by cracking the Tribe in 13 of their 22 meetings.

* * *

In the other AL games, Baltimore left the cellar behind by beating Boston 8-7 in 13 innings, and Detroit clubbed Kansas City 10-1. The Orioles now have won seven straight, while the Bostons have dropped seven in a row for their longest slump of the season. The Tigers have won six straight.

The New York Giants, world champs a year ago, clinched third in the National League standings by peppering Pittsburgh for the second straight day in a doubleheader 7-2 and 7-3.

* * *

Willie Mays was injured in the second game, crashing the bleacher wall in the Polo Grounds while trying for another of his sensational catches. He was carried off the field but is expected back in the Giants' lineup tomorrow.

Gus Bell drove in eight runs, with a grand-slam homer and bases-loaded double, as Cincinnati walloped Milwaukee 13-5. Chicago beat St. Louis 7-4 with Randy Jackson hitting a bases-loaded triple in a four-run 13th inning.

Millers Gun for 10th Win After Blasting Rochester

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP)—The Minneapolis Millers, American Assn. champs, will be gunning for their 10th straight post-season victory and a quick conquest of their first little world series title.

The Millers made it nine straight in playoff competition by pasting the International League's Governor's Cup holder, the Rochester Red Wings 8-3 last night.

* * *

A chilled crowd of 8,685 saw the Millers blast five Rochester hurlers for 11 hits, including three-run homers by catcher Carl Sawatski and leftfielder Monty Irvin.

Righthander Al Worthington survived some early inning wildness to go the route for Minneapolis. Rochester starter Duke Markell couldn't get past the third inning with his wildness. He walked 5 batters and 4 of them scored against him. Sawatski climaxed the scoring off the righthander with his third-inning homer.

Tony Jacobs, fifth Red Wing hurler, was the victim of Irvin's blast in the ninth inning.

Rochester scored once in the third on a walk and a bloop double. Worthington hurled four-hit ball until the ninth, when three hits and an error cost him two more runs. The Rochester defeat ended a six-game winning streak held by the International League's fourth place finishers.

* * *

Minneapolis which has never won the junior series and were only participants once before will send Al Konikowski (10-8) or Jim Constable (1-9) to start the second game, Dixie Walker, Red Wing manager, will go with his veteran righthander Ellis (Cot) Deal (7-4) in an effort to even the series at 1-1.

Pros Expected to Batter Par in Golf Test

Charles River Course Looks Made to Order for Sponsors Tourney

NEWTON, Mass. (AP)—Par-shattering performances were expected to be the order of the day as 53 of the nation's top golfers lined up today for the opening round of the $43,000 Sponsors' Tournament at the Charles River Country club.

The well-groomed 6,431-yard, par 72 Charles River Course appeared made to order for such standouts as Julius Boros, Cary Middlecoff, Bob Toski, Doug Ford and the others.

* * *

Most of the entrants predicted a low sub-par score necessary to win the top money of $10,000 in the 72-hole medal play. The pros will play 18 holes daily with the wind-up scheduled for Sunday.

Other "name" golfers competing include Jackie Burke, Art Wall, Ed (Porky) Oliver, Marty Furgol, Jim Turnesa, Frank Stranahan, Tommy Bolt, Ed Furgol, Gene Littler and Mike Souchak.

* * *

The few top golfers among the missing include Sam Snead, Ben Hogan and Jack Fleck.

The tournament consists of three events in one. A beer company sponsors one championship. The PGA tournament sponsors an association championship rotated from one tournament to another each year. The third is a special $1,500 competition for New England PGA members. The latter is over 36 holes and winds up tomorrow, leaving the course to the big pros the final two days.

Bach Goes to Columbia

NEW YORK (AP) — Joe Bach's last three football seasons have been spent coaching the Pittsburgh Steelers in the National Football League. This season the 54-year-old former Notre Dame athlete will help Coach Lou Little of Columbia sharing line coaching duties with Johnny Bateman.

Bowling Clinic

By BILLY SIXTY

In bowling you actually thumb your way to the top. There are three types of ball delivery, and in them all the thumb plays the guiding role. You roll a straight ball, you hook it with right-to-left spin, or you reverse (back it up) with left-to-right spin. You begin with the straight ball because you concentrate first on direction.

Nothing difficult about it. The thumb, as sketch shows, is at ball-center, and through the swing, from beginning to release, it points at the head pin. The fingers, as you see, are directly behind the ball. The ball is pushed away and swings straight back, without elbow break and without wrist turn. You take your stance approximately in line with the No. 3 pin, so that the ball will be released about 5 or 6 boards in from the gutter.

You don't try for score, mind you. You work on coordinating your footwork and swing into a smooth, easy operation. Your target is the head pin, and you follow-through with each delivery. Reach out for direction.

Minor Injuries All for Willie, X-Rays Reveal

NEW YORK (AP) — Willie Mays, the New York Giants' flashy centerfielder, had only a stiff back and a bruised hip today to show for his run-in with the bleacher wall at the Polo Grounds yesterday while attempting another of his sensational catches.

The 24-year-old star crashed the wall in full flight trying to stab a 450-foot triple by Pittsburgh's Dale Long.

* * *

Willie, who leads the majors with 50 home runs and who on Tuesday matched a major league record by hitting seven in six consecutive games, was carried off the field. X-rays proved negative and he is expected to play tomorrow. The Giants are idle today.

Crowd of 50,000 Expected to View Little Brown Jug

DELAWARE, Ohio (AP)—A crowd of 50,000 is expected to watch 17 of the country's sharpest three-year-old pacers run for $66,608.83 in purse money at today's harness race classic, the Little Brown Jug.

The mile race over the Delaware County Fairgrounds half-mile track will be run in two divisions—9 horses in the first and 8 in the second.

* * *

The first five in each division will come back for a third heat. If neither of the two previous winners place first, winners of all three heats will race to decide the 10th annual "jug" winner.

The outcome of the deciding mile has 10 per cent of the purse riding with it. If a pacer wins in straight heats, his owner can pick up $24,645.24. The remainder will be spread among the first five horses in each of the three heats.

Leading contenders for "Jug" honors are Quick Chief, owned by Farmstead Acres, Brookville, N.Y. and Meadow Ace, owned by Newport Stock Farm Stable, South Plainfield, N.J. Both are co-favorites at 8-5.

* * *

Behind the two favorites, bracketed at 3-1 odds, were Sea Eagle, Reed's Knight, Hal O'Matic, and Dottie's Pick. The prices range upwards to the 50-1 quoted on Newport Dean.

* * *

The "Jug", after today's race, will have paid off $553,550 in purses since its inception 10 years ago when the owners' payoff came to $35,358. Last year's Jug, won by Adios Harry, had the largest purse to date, $69,332.

Women Golfers Shoot for Cup

Downey and Riley Lead Field of Champions Against Challengers

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — The Women's Trans-Mississippi Golf Tournament maneuvered into a solid hole-for-hole battle today as five former champions sought to uphold their reputations against a formidable field of challengers.

Holding the upper hand in quest of the silver anniversary tournament title were Mary Ann Downey of Baltimore, who won medalist honors with a two over par 76, and Polly Riley of Fort Worth, Tex.

* * *

Miss Downey in the top half faced tough opposition from Marjorie Lindsay, the 1950 trans champion from Decatur, Ill.; Mrs. Trace DeMoss Smith, runnerup in 1950 from Miami, Fla.; and Mrs. Margaret Williford, three-time Oklahoma champion.

The five former winners hoping to find a new trophy in their struggle against the tough 6,370-yard par 37-3—Twin Hills Country Club course are the Misses Downey, Lindsay, Riley and Mrs. Patti Blanton of Enid, Okla., and Mrs. Edean Anderson Ihlanfeldt of Seattle, Wash.

Hausman Clips Barbers' Field

Bob Hausman, who cuts hair at Frank Hill's shop on East Huron in Pontiac, fired rounds of 74-77—151 Wednesday over the Glen Oaks Country Club layout to win the 1st annual Michigan barbers' golf tournament.

Champion's score card for the 36-hold medal-play tourney set a new record, bettering the previous 18-hole mark held by Pontiac's Perc Secord.

Hausman's total topped his nearest competitor, George Dimitroff of Royal Oak, by six strokes. Dimitroff posted rounds of 80-77—157. Everett Arthurs, barber at the Cranbrook school in Bloomfield Hills, took 3rd with 87-79—166.

Runner-up Dimitroff had his moment of glory yesterday as he bested Hausman in the driving contest. The Royal Oak linksman uncorked a 325-yard blast to win by 25 yards.

George Nault, another Royal Oak golfer, won the pitching contest with an approach to within eight feet of the cup from 150 yards out. Perc Secord captured putting honors, stopping one six inches away from 50 feet.

Although a small field of 30 shooters took part in the state tourney, the barbers were pleased with the results and plan to make it an annual affair. Harold L. Austin of Flint has offered to hold next year's event there.

Robert Scott, former hair-cutter in Pontiac and now a member of the state board of examiners of barbers, presented awards to the winners.

Yanks Have Fewer, Better Hurlers Than the Brooks

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Yankees will take fewer but sounder pitching arms than Brooklyn into the World Series next week and even with Don Newcombe going for them, the Dodgers will have a tough time matching Casey Stengel's staff.

* * *

At one time or another during the regular campaign, Carl Erskine, Johnny Podres, Billy Loes and Karl Spooner came down with arm miseries. Erskine hasn't looked good in his recent starts for the Brooks. Neither has Podres. There's no reason to believe they'll come back against the Yankees.

Brooklyn's hopes for its first series victory appear, then, to rest with Newcombe and Clem Labine, the bullpen ace. Newcombe has had a great year, winning 20 games against only five setbacks. He'll likely start at least two games against the Yanks. Labine also figures to see lots of action.

* * *

Stengel probably will go with lefthanders Whitey Ford and Tommy Byrne in the first two games in Yankee Stadium and righties Bob Turley and Don Larsen in the next two at Ebbets Field.

* * *

Casey, as always, will be playing the percentages here. With Brooklyn having a predominantly right-handed batting lineup, southpaws figure to give the Dodgers more trouble in the spacious Yankee ball yard than they would in Ebbets Field, where the home run targets for righties are much easier to hit.

Nashua Early Favorite for Sysonby Stakes

NEW YORK (AP)—Although he'll be tackling older horses for the first time, the Belair Stud's Nashua was established the early favorite today for Belmont Park's race of the year Saturday, the $100,000-added Sysonby Stakes.

The big 3-year-old belter from Belair was quoted at 6-5 for the mile and one eighth affair, in which he's expected to meet three tough 4-year-olds, William G. Helis Jr.'s Helioscope, the King Ranch's High Gun, and the Maine Chance Farm's Jet Action.

130,000 Will Hunt Waterfowl

State Figures That Many Going Out After Ducks, Geese

LANSING—An estimated 130,000 persons will hunt ducks and geese in Michigtan during the Oct. 1-Dec. 9 general waterfowl season this year.

Michigan was 4th most popular waterfowl hunting state in the nation last year, topped only by California with 177,000 hunters, Texas with 152,000 and Minnesota with 144,000.

All told, 2,182,000 persons hunted waterfowl in the U. S. and its possessions in 1954; some increase is expected this year.

The information came from the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service annual summary of duck stamp sales.

University of Mississippi apparently doesn't believe in field goals. The Rebels last made one against LSU in 1931 and lost, 26-3.

Lane Wants Confab With Mrs. Comiskey

CHICAGO (AP)—Frank Lane, who says he definitely is through as general manager of the Chicago White Sox, and the club's vice president, Chuck Comiskey, both are in harmony on one point today.

Each wants Mrs. Grace Comiskey, Sox president, to call a meeting as soon as possible to make the issue final.

Lane wants to leave because he thinks a rift between himself and the Sox heir, apparent, young Comiskey, cannot be healed.

Court Rules Family Can Keep Tigers

DETROIT (AP) — The Briggs family may retain ownership of the Detroit Tigers Baseball club and Briggs Stadium — at least for the time being.

That was the decision yesterday of circuit judge Thomas F. Maher, who ruled on a legal technicality in a trust fund set up by the late Walter O. Briggs Sr.

He told trustees of Briggs' estate that, in effect, it is up to them to decide whether a baseball team is a wise investment.

The trustees, who sought the ruling, are Walter O. (Spike) Briggs Jr., president of the Tigers; Harry Sisson, a director of the club, and Peter J. Monaghan, a club attorney.

The Briggs Commercial and Development Co., holding company for the estate, will be dissolved Oct. 27. On that date the trust fund — for Briggs and his four sisters — goes into effect.

• • •

Until Maher's ruling yesterday the family had thought the club would have to be sold because of the liquidation of the holding company.

• • •

Briggs and four partners tried to buy control of the team last week but his four sisters turned down his 2½ million dollar offer for their share of the assets.

Judge Maher said the Briggs family now "will at least have a breathing space in which to decide what to do about the ball club."

• • •

At the time the elder Briggs' will was drawn up, provisions of the trust required the trustees to "invest in securities considered proper and legal for savings banks."

Judge Maher said the savings bank act was repealed in 1937, so that the question of whether the baseball properties were proper investments for the Briggs trust did not apply.

• • •

Sisson said Judge Maher's decision did not determine whether the Briggs family will sell the Tigers.

"Whether the ball club is such an investment (proper and legal) is a matter for future determination," he said. "It was not decided by the suit. But the suit certainly did not make it necessary for the family to sell the club, now anyway."

Another Government Dam Feeds Power to Northwest

By JIM HUTCHESON

SEATTLE (AP)—Power has begun to flow from another great government-built dam on the Columbia River.

The newest of the barriers which are turning the mighty stream into a series of lakes is Chief Joseph Dam, 51 miles downstream from Grand Coulee.

With the longest powerhouse in the world, the 169-million-dollar Chief Joseph project is destined eventually to become a power producer second only to gigantic Grand Coulee itself.

The first three 64,000-kilowatt generators at Chief Joseph (named for a famed Pacific Northwest Indian warrior) have been carefully tested by the Army's Corps of Engineers, which supervised construction. First electricity for commercial sale flowed into the vast Bonneville transmission network this week.

The 2,000-foot powerhouse is designed to hold a total of 27 giant generators. A new one will go on the line every three months.

Chief Joseph becomes the fourth big government dam on the Columbia. A fifth, The Dalles Dam, is about 25 per cent complete. Four smaller federally built dams were dedicated earlier this summer—Lucky Peak, Albeni Falls, Lookout Point and Dexter. As the accompanying map shows, others are in the planning stage. Some will be on the Columbia itself; some of its far-flung tributaries in four states.

* * *

Yet still the cry is for more power. The total estimated cost cost of projects listed for possible construction starts during the next year exceeds a billion dollars.

New industries in the fast growing Pacific Northwest have gulped the increasing flow of electricity as rapidly as it has developed. Aluminum plants have become a major consumer. The region that hardly knew what aluminum looked like little more than a decade ago new produces more than half the nation's supply of the metal.

The aluminum reduction process consumes tremendous quantities of electricity. Cheap power has been the lure to bring the industry west.

Despite the plans for vast expansion in power production facilities in the region, leaders in the power industry predict an acute shortage by 1960 or 1961.

* * *

Development of the region's power potential has proceeded against a background of multi-sided controversy: (1) the continuing political-economic controversy over the public power-private power issue; (2) a fish vs. dams dispute which has created the unique situation of the Washington Game Department and State Power Commission arrayed on opposite sides in a court fight over a proposed City of Tacoma project; (3) a lack of agreement between Canada and the United States over waters that cross the international border.

The Canadian-U. S. issue has blocked a major storage dam in Montana and has prevented agreement for United States capital to finance developments in British Columbia.

On the national scene, the Eisenhower administration's advent brought a "partnership" thesis into the power situation. Under the proposal, power aspects of the big multi-purpose dams would be financed by public or private agencies which would get the power. The federal government would finance the part of the costs assessed to flood control and navigation. It became a major political issue in the region last year.

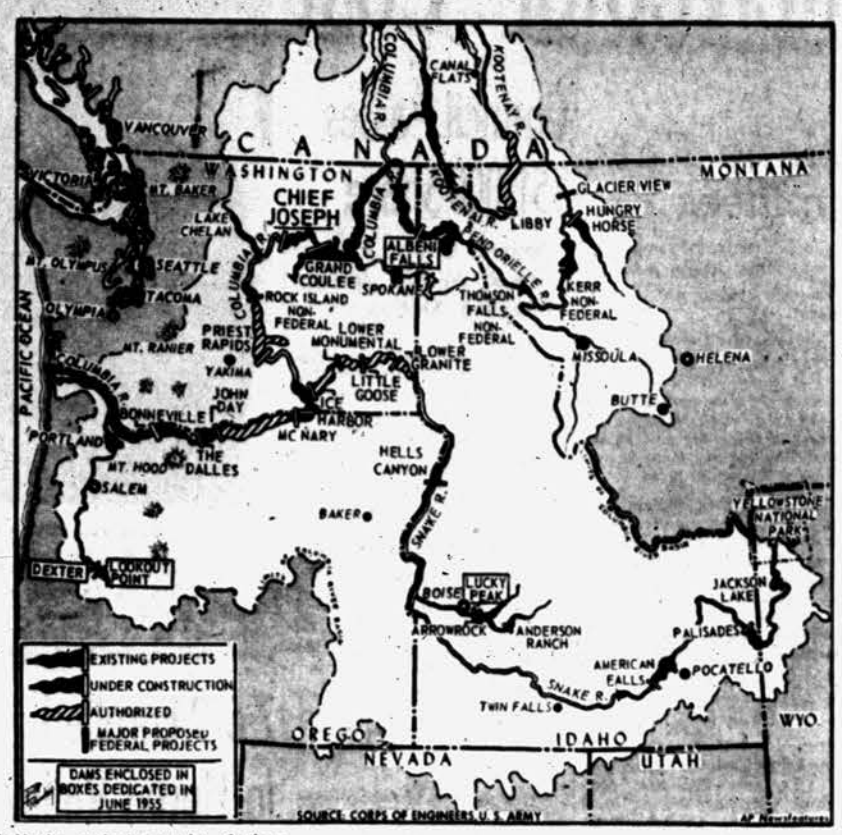

* * *

One major Columbia River proposal, the 310-million-dollar John Day Dam, has been considered as a major possibility for that procedure. However, the latest dam on which there has been a "go ahead" signal from Congress is a federal project. It is the 110-million-dollar Ice Harbor Dam on the Snake, the Columbia's main tributary. Congress authorized one million dollars for the start of work at the site.

But private power has won a major victory in the biggest contest of all over a power site. The Federal Power Commission recently gave an OK for the Idaho Power Co. to build three low dams on the middle Snake River.

Public power advocates have waged a long fight to assure the site for one high federal dam in Hells Canyon, between Idaho and Oregon. As Congress adjourned recently, a bill for federal financing of the proposed high dam still awaited final action.

Meanwhile, amid the furore of controversy and the roar of machines in dam construction, a new element is waiting offstage to test its reputation as a power producer of the future. It is the atom. The little fellow is worth watching.

Sintered Metals Move

KALAMAZOO (AP)—Detroit Sintered Metals Corp. has announced plans to transfer its operations to Kalamazoo. The company has purchased a 40-acre tract at the municipal airport for $40,000 for a plant an doffitce site. Company officials said production of bronze and iron parts from powdered metals is expected to begin in January. The plant will employ about 50.

Crafty, Nocturnal Bats Pitch Tent to Beat the Heat

WASHINGTON—Ever see a bat pitch a tent?

* * *

The Smithsonian Institution says the tent-pitching bat, the Uroderma, is strictly nocturnal, so chances are, you won't catch him in the act.

The tent-maker cuts and bends a large palm or coconut leaf into the form of a tent in which it spends the day.

Several animals share the same tent, fanning each other with their wings — it is reputed — when the interior of the tent gets too hot for comfort.

Curiously enough, both of the trees whose leaves are used for tents have been introduced into the Jungle, and it is possible that the tentmaking technique has been "invented" by the bats.

Oregon Limits Value of Derby Awards

SALEM, Ore.—The Oregon Legislature has virtually put an end to the many fish derbies which usually attracted thousands of fishermen during the big fall salmon runs.

Previously, fishermen flocked to the many coastal streams and bays to compete for thousands of dollars worth of prizes in fish derbies which State game officials and conservationists said were killing off the salmon runs.

The lawmakers approved a bill limiting derby awards to buttons, ribbons, emblems, plaques and trophies.

Norma Jean King Weds Plymouth Man in Milford

MILFORD—Norma Jean King, daughter of Mrs. Delbert King and the late Mr. King of Milford, was given in marriage recently by her brother, Gerald L. King, to Donald Frank Gottschalk. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Gottschalk of Plymouth.

The bride wore a floor length gown of chantilly lace with a portrait neckline outlined with tulle over taffeta. The fitted bodice began ruffles of lace cascading down the back of the gown and forming a chapel train.

Her fingertip veil was held in place with a crown of seed pearls and lace. The bride carried a white orchid with streamers of tiny mums centered on a white prayer book and a pearl rosary which was a gift from the groom.

Helen King was her sister's only attendant.

Robert Gottschalk was his brother's best man and Melvin King and Basil Barrett seated the guests.

A reception for 200 guests was held at the Walled Lake VFW Hall.

Since their wedding trip to Northern Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota, the young couple have returned to their new home on Haggerty Road in Plymouth.

Carver School Holds Hearing

Suspended Principal Files Counter-Charges at Meeting

ROYAL OAK TOWNSHIP—Suspended principal Mrs. Adelaide Long met charges with counter-charges, at the George Washington Carver school board hearing, in the Carver School Tuesday night.

Mrs. Long has been charged by Otis Eaton, chairman of the Citizens Improvement League, with accepting a bribe from Julius Mallard in return for a teaching job in the George Washington Carver school.

Mrs. Long charges, she was issued a contract as principal at the April 11 board meeting for the school year 1955-56; which has not been rescinded.

The April board meeting has since been declared nil and void by the present new board, because the public was barred by armed guards from attending.

The decision of the board on Tuesday's hearing will be handed down at a meeting next Tuesday in the George Washington Carver school

Waterford Plans PTSA Meeting

Area Parents to Learn Student Routine Oct. 19 at Open House

WATERFORD — An open house is planned by the Waterford High School Parent Teacher Student Association (PTSA) executive board for Oct. 19. At this time the parents will take the students' places in the various classes.

Teachers will explain, on this occasion, what is expected of the students and answer questions regarding their particular subjects. Classes will begin at 7:30 p.m. with each class being 10 minutes in duration. Five minutes will be allowed for passing time.

At 9 p.m. an assembly will be held at which time Thad Carr, principal, will address the PTSA for the first time.

The Boys Ensemble under the direction of Helen Davis will present several numbers.

LEARN STUDENT ROUTINE

The PTSA is anxious for as many parents as can to take advantage of this opportunity to acquaint themselves with their youngsters' school, teachers, and their course of study.

Officers for PTSA are: President, Kenneth Young; vice-president, Mrs. Gordon Bryce; secretary, Sylvia Clark; and treasurer, Barbara Graham.

* * *

Standing committee chairmen announced by the president are: Mrs. Emma Green, hospitality; Mrs. John Harken, membership; Mrs. Raymond L. Cole and Sylvia Clarke, publicity; and Mrs. Paul McCoy, refreshments.

* * *

The purpose of PTsA is to encourage understanding of school policies by parents but not to seek to direct the administrative activities of the school or to control its policies;

To bring into closer relationship and understanding student, parent and teachers;

To promote understanding of problems facing the high school and to initiate projects, generally recognized as beneficial to the solving of such problems and

To interpret the policies of the high school to the general public.

Firm Still Seeks Building Permit

FERNDALE — No building permit has yet been granted to Reichold Chemicals Incorporated, to rebuild plant No. 101 destroyed by fire August 5.

Feelings ran high at Monday's commission meeting.

Chief problem still to be ironed out is how to eliminate odors from the manufacture of phthalic anhydride, made by Reichold, to which residents of Ferndale and adjacent Pleasant Ridge, have complained about for years.

Reichold officials are studying industrial consultant Dr. Gordon C. Harrold's recommendation that all stacks be done away with, and the commission's recommendation that the new buildings be enclosed, to prevent fumes from escaping.

Council Passes $51,000 Share

Amount City to Pay on Sewer Would Include Pumping Station

KEEGO HARBOR — Apportionment of the cost for the Farmington interceptor sewer was approved by the Keego Harbor City Council Tuesday night. The City will have to pay $51,000 which includes the cost of the pumping station. This share was computed by the Oakland County Drain Commissioner, Ralph A. Main.

The Council directed Louis Doyle, chairman of the planning committee, and Edward Hermoyian, City Clerk, to make an appointment with the city of Detroit to examine a used grader that is up for bids.

They also directed the City Clerk to prepare the necessary form in order to submit the city garbage and rubbish collection for bids.

The resignation of Arnold Soper, Justice of the Peace was accepted by the Council. The Council has 30 days to elect a new justice.

It was decided that the cost of street lighting will become effective July 1, 1956 and that the cost would be spread on the general tax roll.

A purchase list of traffic enforcement signs submitted by Police Chief Calvin Baxter was unanimously approved.

Local well drillers have not yet complied with provisions of Ordinance 7, requiring registration of all well drillers operating within the city.

Two local men engaged in that business stated that to their knowledge no other municipality requires such registration. The ordinance also requires chlorination of all new wells and an analysis of the water. Thomas Dillon, City Attorney, stated that he felt that these regulations were vital to public health.

Set Rally Program at Lakeland Church

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP—The Annual Rally Day program of the Lakeland United Presbyterian Sunday School will be presented at 9:30 a.m. Sunday. 2,679 Enrolled in Huron Valley

Expected to Pass 2,700; Schools Convert Dining Rooms for Class

MILFORD—Total enrollment in the Huron Valley schools is still increasing as the third week of the school year nears its end.

As of Tuesday of this week, the total was 2,679 and Superintendent Harold Hansen expects that by another week, it will have reached and passed the 2,700 total which was estimated before the opening of school.

Over 1,700 students were registered from kindergarten through the sixth grades, with 405 in junior high, and 569 in high school. This is an increase of 206 over last year's first week enrollment.

To make room for the heavy enrollment, the vocal music and band room at Highland was converted to elementary use. One corner of the cafeteria at Highland has been blocked off and is being used as a classroom.

Several high school classes are using the dining room in the old elementary building.

With the exception of the kindergarten classes, all work is on a full-day basis, according to Arthur Burklund, elementary co-ordinator.

Headquarters for Civil Defense to Stay in State

BATTLE CREEK (AP) — After one year of operation here, the Federal Civil Defense Administration appears ready to make Battle Creek its permanent home.

* * *

Despite proposals to the contrary, an FCDA spokesman said yesterday there is every indication that the agency can operate efficiently here despite the distance from Washington.

National Civil Defense headquarters were transferred to Battle Creek from Washington, Sept. 1, 1954, to minimize the danger of damage from atomic attack.

National headquarters is in constant contact with its branch at the nation's capital through direct communication facilities, the spokesman said. He also pointed out that CD Administrator Val H. Peterson is in Washington much of the time to maintain close cooperation with other government agencies.

* * *

The question of whether Civil Defense headquarters should remain in Michigan came up last spring at hearings conducted by Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn). Peterson at that time asked that the agency be given a year in Battle Creek before any decision was made on whether to locate here permanently.

'Possum Ain't So Dumb —That Basement's Cool

CHICAGO (INS) — The temperatuer was so hot in Chicago that Jack Balkin believed at first he was seeing things when a 'possum tried to break into his basement, through a window.

He asked police to catch they pesky critter. They did and then asked Balkin why the 'possum tried to enter his house.

"Oh," He replied, "I've got air conditioning."

Archambeau Picked for Association Post

William Archambeau of 74 Newberry, was named to the board of directors of the Michigan Beer and Wine Wholesalers Assn. yesterday in Grand Rapids, and the group's convention.

Those present heard Gov. G. Mennen Williams talk on his proposed highway safety legislation, and all high schools should have voluntary driver training programs.

The 642 members attending elected Richard Prestage of Battle Creek president for 1956.

9 Million Use L-P Gas

NEW YORK — Nearly 9,000,000 American consumers, mostly in suburban, resort, or farming areas, burn liquefied-petroleum gas compared with 5,500,000 six years ago and fewer than 1,000,000 in 1940. L.-P. gas made its commercial debut 32 years ago.

Says Dopesters Run Hospitals

Williams to Investigate Narcotics Charge Made by GOP State Senator

LANSING (AP)—Gov. Williams has ordered an investigation of a Republican senator's charge that "dope addicts" are employed at state mental hospitals in "administrative" jobs.

* * *

The accusation was made yesterday by Sen. Lynn O. Francis (R-Midland) as part of a running attack on Charles A. Wagg, state mental health director.

Francis is chairman of a legislative committee on mental health problems. He has been criticizing Wagg in relation to programs Williams will submit to the Legislature next month to take 1,221 mentally deficient children off hospital waiting lists.

Francis said his charge proved that Wagg is incompetent.

* * *

Wagg testified before Francis' committee that he knew of no narcotics addicts among the state's 7,500 mental hospintal employes.

NO APOLOGIES

But, Wagg said, he had "no apologies to make" for the fact that his agency had employed persons with a history of difficulty with alcohol or drugs.

"We took them," Wagg said, "with our eyes open after clearing each one of them with the state board of registration in medicine. It is not our policy to say that a man must forever be lost to society and be condemned for life because he once had these problems if we feel that he is cured and can make a contribution with his special skills."

Williams told newsmen: "It has been no secret that the state has hired some physicians who were alcoholics or had been, although I know of none who had been drug addicts.

* * *

"One of the state's biggest problems," the Governor said, "has been the difficulty of getting enough money to hire competent staffs and as a consequence administrators have been driven to these extremes. Certainly there is no mystery about it because it was discussed quite openly several years ago."

Six Area Bankers to Attend Convention

Six Pontiac area bankers and business executives and their wives will be among the 7,000 expected to attend the 81st annual convention of the American Bankers Association, scheduled Sept. 25-28 in Chicago.

Representing Pontiac banks will be Robert R. Eldred, senior vice president of Community National Bank, and Milo J. Cross, president of Pontiac State Bank, with their wives.

Attending from Birmingham will be Herbert H. Gardner, president of Birmingham National Bank; B. A. Best, general finance manager of Ford Tractor and Implement Division, with their wives; and Irving B. Babcock, president of Dearborn Motors Credit Corp.

Ferndale will be represented by F. Earl Steele, vice president of Ferndale National Bank, and his wife.

Stock Split at Chrysler Is Hinted by Publication

NEW YORK (AP)—The Journal of Commerce said today that directors of Chrysler Corp. "are in virtual agreement to split the stock of the company."

* * *

Quoting a "highly placed" Chrysler official, the Journal said the company thinks its cars would sell better if the stock had wider distribution. Directors have not yet agreed on timing of the move, it added.

"A stock split offers a quick solution to the problem of adding more holders to the stock list," the publication said.

"At the end of 1954, there were 89,307 listed holders of the 8,702,264 shares outstanding. Many more individuals actually held the stock, however, since shares bought on margin or not delivered by brokers to their clients remain registered in the broker's name."

American Motors Shuts Western Assembly Plant

DETROIT (AP)—American Motors Corp. has ended its auto assembly operations in California and will confine its car production to Wisconsin.

E. W. Bernitt, vice president, announcing this yesterday said the company plant at El Segundo, Calif., which accounts for 8 per cent of Amerian's production, will be sold.

The last of 1955 model Ramblers came off the assembly line at the plant yesterday, he said. The company also manufactures Nash and Hudson cars.

Insects Want In

UNION, S. C. (AP) — Union County's old rock jail, built in 1823 and modernized in 1954, now is being screened.

Sheriff Rochelle Boyle said he is not expecting an unusual number of occupants but that he just is trying his best to keep insects out.

Grocery Money Buys Dog Food; Wife Walks Out

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — James F. Lower, a rubber worker, got rid of 14 of his 17 dogs after the neighbors complained, but he still neglected his wife for the remaining three, the wife testified yesterday in winning a divorce.

She told Judge Cland V. D. Emmons:

"I asked him to bring home groceries, and he brought a bag of dog food instead."

The judge asked her if she meant her husband cared more for the dogs than for her and she answered:

"That's it exactly. He sleeps with them on his bed."

Married five years, the Lowers had no children.

Polio Cases Reported in Last Week: 1,950

WASHINGTON (AP) — New polio cases reported last week to the Public Health Service totaled 1,950, continuing the slight weekly decrease first recorded early this month.

In its weekly report today, the Health Service noted too that the total included 13 delayed reports from Missouri.

The total was 59 below the 2,009 new cases in the week ended Sept. 10 and was 724 under the 2,674 in the comparable 1954 week.

For 1955 thus far there have been 20,165 cases, compared with 23,998 up to this time a year ago.

Pure White Daffodil to Grow in Virginia

GLOUCESTER, Va. (AP)—Virginia has a beautiful visitor from Ireland, and hopes she will like her new abode.

She is a pure white daffodil, a type so rare that only two bulbs of her species have been allotted the United States this year. Only six of the bulbs are in existence.

The daffodil, called the "Empress of Ireland," will make her home on the Litte England (would the Irish like that?) plantation in southern Gloucester county. She is expected to bloom next spring. The only other similar bulb is owned by a Staten Island fancier in New York. They are valued at $200 but are not for sale.

Soy Races Up in Active Trade

CHICAGO (AP)—Soybeans raced up for gains which extended to more than three cents at one time on the Board of Trade today. Dealings became very active on the advance.

* * *

Other grains couldn't come close to matching the strength in soybeans. After a slightly higher opening, selling pressure increased and prices slid back. Wheat fell under the previous close.

More rain in parts of Illinois, additional strength in soybean meal futures and a general belief soybean yields were not running as high as expected were behind the demand for beans.

Poultry

DETROIT POULTRY

DETROIT, Sept. 22 (AP)—Prices paid per pound f.o.b. Detroit for No 1 quality live poultry up to 10 a.m.

Heavy hens 26-27, light hens 17; heavy roasters (over 4 lbs) 30, heavy broilers or fryers (2½-3½ lbs); whites 29, gray crosses 28-30, Barred Rocks 30-31, capon-ettes (5-6 lbs) 38-39; ducklings 31.

Market steady on hens. Light receipts of good quality 5-6 lb colored hens short of a good demand. Young chickens about steady. Receivers generally restricted arrivals of broilers or fryers to anticipated needs so moderate offerings and demand were about in balance. Light receipts of caponettes were moving out in small lots to a fair fill-in demand. Some turkeys received earlier in the week still unsold.

CHICAGO POULTRY

CHICAGO (AP)—Live poultry steady on hens barely steady on young stock and caponettes; receipts in coops 601 Tuesday 685 coops, 169,604 lbs.); f.o.b. paying prices unchanged; heavy hens 2s 3-5 lb light hens 18.5-19.5; broilers or fryers 27-28; old roosters 13.5-14.5; caponettes under 4½ lb. 33-34, over 4½ lb. 36-38.

DETROIT EGGS

DETROIT, Sept. 20 (AP)—Eggs, F.O.B. Detroit, cases included, federal-state grades:

Whites—Grade A, jumbo 67-71, weighted average price 67½; extra large 65; large 63-64, wtd. avg. 63½; medium 50-54, wtd. avg. 50; small 35-36, wtd. avg. 35. Grade B, large 56-57, wtd. avg. 57½. peewees 29.

Browns—Grade A, large 62; medium 49; small 35. Grade B, large 56. Grade C, large 35-38, wtd. avg. 37; peewees 29. Checks 29.

Commercially graded:

Whites—Grade A, extra large 60; large 59-60½; medium 48.

Browns—Grade A, extra large 58; large 57-58; medium 48; small 32-33. Grade B, large 46.

Market unsettled on large eggs, steady on mediums and small. Increased buyer resistence to prevailing prices on large eggs noted and offerings were ample to the less active demand. Mediums and small generally cleared closely to a good demand.

Alderman Plays It Safe

MORRISTOWN, Tenn. (AP) — When Alderman Seymour Gerson was elected on an economy platform, he apparently meant it. Rather than vote for a $100 appropriation for Morristown's annual cleanup, Gerson said at a board meeting that he should donate $10 personally. Undaunted, the other city fathers voted to appropriate the other $90, Gerson voting "no."

Steels, Motors Boost Market

NEW YORK (AP)—Steels and motors carried the stock market higher today in early dealings.

They had lavish help from many other sections of the list including a long string of individual issues.

A great deal of the push in the market was provided by estimates of high earnings and more liberal dividends plus rumors of mergers and stock splits.

Chrysler, yesterday's second most active issue up 4⅞, started today on 9,000 shares up 1¾ at 96¾, and then it quickly pushed its gain to 2½.

Among other blocks were General Dynamics 3,900 off ⅝ at 57½, Montgomery Ward 2,000 up ⅞ at 93, American Viscose 3,000 up ¾ at 70¼, Climax Molybdenum 1,000 up ⅜ at 66, Pittsburgh Metallurgical 1,000 up ½ at 32½, American Export Lines 1,200 up ¼ at 20¼, U.S. Rubber 1,100 up ¾ at 48⅝, Atlantic Coast Line Railroad 1,200 off ½ at 48, and U.S. Steel 5,000 up ¾ at 60⅛.

Crews Destroy Limehouse Lair

Project Condemns Once Notorious London Slum Wrecked by Blitz

WASHINGTON—London's Limehouse, lair of Fu Manchu, is fast disappearing under wreckers' crowbars.

* * *

A slum clearance project soon will finish what blitz bombs began. Smashed into rubble in 1940, much of the London Chinatown already has given way to big apartments with such un-Asiatic addresses as "Jamaica House."

Of the one-time narrow, cobbled, murky Limehouse streets, lined by mysterious little houses and clicking fan-tan parlors, not much remains, the National Geographic Society says.

Never as menacing as its notoriety would have it, Limehouse lies in the tangled Thames-side dock districts of the East End. Chinese clustered there in the last 75 years, adding chop suey to Cockney atmosphere.

SINISTER AREA

Four decades ago, Thomas Burke chilled London with his shuddering "Limehouse Nights." He told of opium dens, skulduggery, and sudden death in the fog. Many a gory novel and movie have since peopled Limehouse with well-mannered Orientals who apologize before cutting a throat and with archcriminals hatching diabolical plots barely foiled by Scotland Yard.

West India Dock Road through Limehouse has taken many an English mariner to ships sailing to far corners of the world. Today the tower of Limehouse Church rising above wharfs and warehouses lifts a familiar beacon to merchantmen steaming back up Limehouse Reach.

Grim happenings there were in plenty along that river. Wapping, next to Limehouse, held the one-time Execution Dock. Committed pirates swung high for all afloat to see.

Wapping produced William Penn and Edmund Spenser. It also took off the heads of two archbishops and ten earls. Limehouse, so far as is known, gave England no great men, but generations of stout English sailors called it home.

New Toy Enamel

WILMINGTON, Del. (INS)—Dupont Co., announces a new aerosol enamel for nursery furniture or toys used by babies who like to gnaw on woodwork. The enamel, which contains no lead pigment or lead drier, is a product of Sheffield Bronze Paint Corp., Cleveland. Dupont provides the "Freon" fluorinated hydrocarbon propellent.

Buick May Build 900,000 in 1956

Boosts Plan Capacity in Anticipation of Good Years Ahead

FLINT (INS) — General Motors Vice President Ivan Wiles gave newmen in Flint an advance peek at the 1956 Buick models which he said "will retain our hard-won third place position in the industry by a substantial margin."

* * *

Wiles told more than 200 of the nation's auto writers and publishers that "Buick will build approximately 800,000 cars this year, about a quarter million more than in the peak year of 1950."

* * *

The Buick general manager said sales this year were limited by capacity, but he revealed "by this time next year when our current expansion program has been completed, we will have a capacity to build a million cars a year."

He indicated next year's sights probably will be set on 900,000 with possibly a million cars as a goal the following year.

Wiles attributed Buick's seizure of 10.7 of industry sales this year (a record) on the "unprecedented expansion of the American economy as a whole."

The underlying reason for this expansion, he said, "has been the nation's rising productivity . . . it has doubled since 1929 . . . with the rate of increase much higher since 1947.

* * *

"With an acceleration in the rate of the rise, the amazing growth of the new car market from 2,155,000 cars ten years ago to eight million today becomes understandable."

Wiles explained that "rising productivity, in the long run, winds up as an increased purchasing power in the hands of individuals and this, in turn, means a higher standard of living."

He paid tribute to the nation's press for stimulating the public's interest in the tremendous expansion of the economy.

Buicks will be shown publicly Nov. 1.

Britons to See 1st Commercial Video Tonight

LONDON (AP)—This was the evening a lot of Britons have been waiting for — the first night for commercial television.

* * *

The Independent Television Authority was ready for it with a toothpaste commercial paving the way for other money-makers to follow from now on.

Parliament authorized the commercial TV setup two years ago, to end the monopoly of the air that the government-sponsored British Broadcasting Corp. has enjoyed since it put on the first radio program 33 years ago.

* * *

Tonight's schedule went like this:

Opening at 7:10 p.m. a filmed panorama of Londo, gala inaugural banquet with 400 guests, variety show, drama, boxing, news, cabaret visit and signoff at 11 p.m.

The big change is that viewers in the London area will have a chance to choose between programs; up to tonight they had only the single BBC channel.

Cadillac to Increase Output Goal for 1956

DETROIT (INS)—Cadillac Motor Car Division of General Motors Corp., today announced plans to boost 1956 production to 156,000 cars—an increase of 15,000 over the current year.

J. M. Roche, general sales manager, said Cadillac will build 10 body styles in three series including two entirely new models—the Sedan de Ville, a four-door hardtop, and the El Dorado Seville, a special two-door hardtop.

For 1956, the Cadillac will have a new and more powerful engine, improved transmission, and new bumpers, hood, grille, fenders, instrument panel and interior styling.

Roche said 1955 was the most prosperous year in Cadillac's history.

City Democratic Club to Elect 2 Trustees

The Pontiac City Democratic Club will elect two new trustees when it holds its monthly meeting Sunday at 2 p.m. in the Hotel Roosevelt, according to George D. Hicks, president.

Mrs. John Shearer, chairman of the dance committee, will lead the group in planning the annual fall dance.

Cigarette Claims Attacked Again by Government

WASHINGTON (INS)—The government has told cigarette companies to keep their advertising free of false claims or face federal prosecution.

The warning went out to 11 tobacco companies in the form of letters advising them of "guides" adopted by the Federal Trade Commission for staff use in evaluating cigarette advertising.

Adoption of the advertising standards was the outgrowth of conferences with cigarette producers initiated by the commission a year ago.

Advertising which violates the new guides includes any reference to the effect of smoking on the nose, throat or other parts of the body.

Claims of difference in the nicotine content must be proved and must be significant.

* * *

Nothing contained in the guides, however, is intended to prohibit the use of any representation, claim or illustration relating solely to taste, flavor, aroma or enjoyment.

Miller Pleads Guilty to Counts

Out on Bond Pending Sentence on Checks, Embezzlement

A former Pontiac real estate agent pleaded guilty yesterday to embezzlement and bad-check passing charges before Oakland County Circuit Judge George B. Hartrick.

Francis E. Miller, 41, of 651 Second St., is free on bond pending sentencing Oct. 17 at 9:30 a.m., according to Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem.

Miller was arrested June 2 and charged with embezzling $2,000 from a Drayton Plains man while negotiating to sell a home.

The bad-check charge was added June 8 when a Pontiac man claimed he received a $600 rubber check from Miller as a refund on a property-sale deal which fell through.

When arrested Miller was part owner of the Stone Realty Co., 919 Joslyn Ave.

Sears, Roebuck Plans New Detroit Store

CHICAGO (AP) — Sears, Roebuck & Co. is planning to spend 56 million dollars next year chiefly to expand and improve retail stores.

F. B. McConnell, president, who made the announcement, said the expenditure will bring the total amount spent on construction since World War II to 400 million dollars.

The 1956 outlay will be 14 million dollars more

Kress Stores Founder Dies

Five and Dime Magnate Operated 250 Stores Throughout Nation

NEW YORK (AP) — Samuel H. Kress, 92, founder and chairman of the board of S. H. Kress Co., nationwide (five-and-dime) chain store, died today at his home.

Kress first entered the retail mercantile business in Nanticoke, Pa., after a period of school teaching. Later he went into the wholesale stationery business in Wilkes-Barre, Pa.

From this beginning emerged the Kress chain, which included more than 250 stores at the time of his death.

He was a bachelor. His brother, Rush, vice chairman of the store chain, survives.

An avid art lover, he acquired a collection of paintings and sculpture, particularly of the Italian school, which was presented virtually intact to the National Gallery in Washington, D.C. He also gave paintings and sculpture to various other museums, including the Nelson Gallery in Kansas City.

Coast Guard Closes Hunt for Yachtsman

CHICAGO (AP) — The Coast Guard has called off an intensive search for Philip T. Atwood, wealthy Chicago industrialist missing since Sept. 12 when he sailed off alone in his 46-foot yacht.

Twenty-one Coast Guard crews, private shippers, Navy airplanes and police of four states combed Lake Michigan in the hunt. They found no trace of the boat or its owner.

Atwood's wife, June, said she believed her husband might have met with foul play. She said she knew of no marital, financial or health troubles that might have led to his disappearance.

Atwood, whose home is in suburban Winnetka, is an officer of the C. P. Clare Co. in Chicago, electrical relay manufacturers.

DeSapio Re-elected

Optical Bribe Case Hearing Postponed

LANSING (AP) — The preliminary examination of a Chicago optical firm president charged with attempted bribery was postponed today until Sept. 29.

Charles Chamberlain, Ingham County prosecutor, said the attorney for Benjamin Ritholz, president of the King Optical Co., said his client is a patient in a Chicago hospital.

Ritholz is charged with offering a bribe to three members of the state board of examiners in optometry in an attempt to get them to drop charges of unprofessional conduct against Edwin L. Sanchick, Lansing optometrist.

Oh, Those Insurance Men

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — George A. Nash Jr., has had two auto accidents in recent years. Both times he sold insurance policies to drivers of cars in collision with him.

Who paid for the accidents? Insurance companies. Nash's auto is fully covered.

Probation Worker Begins Work Here

John C. Whetstone has begun duties as a probation supervisor in the Oakland County Adult Probation Office, according to Chief Probation Officer Arthur P. McKenna.

Whetstone, 26, is residing with his wife and two children at 7428 Hardisty, Union Lake. He is a graduate of the Michigan State University School of Police Administration.

The World War II veteran will be paid by the state, said McKenna.

Expectant Parents Courses Scheduled

Two weekly classes for expectant parents will be offered by the Pontiac Health Dept. beginning next Thursday, health officials announced today.

Lasting two hours each, the classes will be held at 1:30 and 7:30 p.m. in the health department's new offices on the ground floor of City Hall. The course will last eight weeks.

Since it may be necessary to limit enrollment, persons wishing to attend should register no later than the first meeting of either class, said Mrs. Mary Burrell, supervising nurse. Enrollment can be made by telephone or at the offices.

Mrs. Donald Ball will instruct the afternoon sessions and Mrs. Charles Cohen wil lbe the eveging instructor. Both are public health nurses.

Mrs. Burrell also announced the addition of two new nurses to her staff. They are Mrs. Charles Lane, of Pontiac, and Mrs. William Kessler, formerly of New York City.

Mardi Gras to Present Finest Night Club Acts Found in Country

By JOAN HANAUER

NEW YORK (INS) — Jackie Gleason insists honesty is the best TV policy—whether it's a matter of plot or a question of laughs.

Speaking about "canned laughter" used on many audience-less comedy television shows he said:

"I think home audiences are fed up with the comedian's personal opinion of what laughs he should get. And it's a kick in the ego to combine your show with laughs Fred Allen got eight years ago."

Gleason pointed with pride at his new fall half-hour version of "The Honeymooners," which CBS-TV is filming with a live audience. He thinks the show, which starts Oct. 1, also illustrates a point about plot honesty.

SOMETHING FAMILIAR

"You've got a much better chance if you present something the audience is familiar with, rather than a fantasy of actuality. We call our show a 'nudge' thing—people watching nudge each other and say 'that's what happened to us last night.' It's sort of a hyped up mirror of life."

He was quick to explain this doesn't mean TV shows should be exactly true to life.

"Honesty doesn't have to be realism," he expanded. "Real life can be shocking, boring and most times not entertaining."

In case Gleason fans feel their hefty hero is slacking off by cutting his show to half an hour, they can be reassured. Aside from "The Honeymooners," Gleason plans about five spectaculars, he'll do some dramatic shows, he'll appear on the Red Skelton show and thinks he'll do a picture directed by Elia Kazan based on a story about television by Budd Schulberg.

SHORT STORY

Then there's the short story that versatile Jackie wrote—"To Be or Not to Be"—which he'll adopt for televiewing. It's about a $64,000 question" quiz program.

* * *

"I'll appear in it or, at least, direct it."

"Then I'll put 'Mardi Gras' on television. It's a show I conceived, taking place in a lavish night club. The audience sits at tables. I won't appear in it, but it will have some of the finest night club acts we can get."

GRAMMAR SCHOOL PLAY

Gleason, whose first on-stage appearance was in a grammar school graduation play, became interested in show business through vaudeville. His father used to take young Jackie along. His first paying job was the result of winning an amateur contest in Brooklyn. He was offered, and accepted, an emcee job.

* * *

Jackie has a wife and two children — Linda and Geraldine. Linda wants to act and Geraldine is a "very good pianist."

Found—an American City With Gold Paved Streets

Sixteenth Century Spanish "conquistadores" who were drawn to South America by tales of riches and gold paved streets were four hundred years too early.

* * *

Last month, across the street from the busy international airport an abandoned sand quarry was found to be rich in gold. City officials disclosed that sand from this pit had been used to make concrete for paving the streets of Quito.

Italy's Size Is Small

ROME—Italy, about three-fourths the size of California, has a population of 47,000,000 compared with California's 11,000,000.

Israeli Troops Hold Demilitarized Sector

CAIRO, Egypt (AP)—Israeli troops clung today to a section of the Negev Desert demilitarized zone, refusing to leave until Egyptians quit two posts they allegedly hold in the area. Egypt denied it holds the posts.

Canadian Maj. Gen. E. L. M. Burns, United Nations truce supervisors' chief in Palestine, reported to U.N. headquarters that 70 Israeli troops had taken up positions yesterday in the Nizana sector of the demilitarized zone, 50 miles due south of Egyptian-held Gaza.

Burns lodged a strong protest with the Israeli Foreign Ministry.

RECOGNIZED — The Chevalier du Merite Commercial for 1955 has been awarded by France to Max Hess, Allentown, Pa., retailer. The president of Hess Brothers received the award for his contributions in "developing better economic relations between your country and France." He is credited with bringing more French fashions to the U. S. A. than any other retailer in the country.

British Erecting Crusoe Statue

Selkirk Inspired Novel Plot Which Emerged as Dafoe Classic

WASHINGTON — Goatskin-clad Robinson Crusoe, a world hero long before Davy Crockett ever saw a coonskin, is soon to have a statue erected in his honor in Hull, England.

• • •

Citizens of this fast rebuilding city, hardest bombed of any British center except London, claim that Alexander Selkirk, the real-life Crusoe, set sail from Hull on the voyage that led to his lonely exile.

Most authorities grant that Selkirk's adventures fed Daniel Defoe the main plot for his classic. Two islands, however, still maintain theirs is the Crusoe Island.

The confusion derives from the mobility of Defoe's mind. He built his story around the rugged four years and four months Selkirk spent on Mas-A Tierra, a boomerang-shaped rock mass 400 miles off Valparaiso, Chile. But he dipped his pen into the Caribbean for the setting.

BASED ON NOVEL

The novel, published in 1719, describes Crusoe as a mariner "who lived eight and twenty years, all alone in an uninhabited island on the coast of America, near the mouth of the great river of Oronoque." It also tells of Crusoe's sighting a nearby island, identified as Trinidad.

Tobago therefore must have been the fictionalized Crusoe island, since Trinidad is the only island visible from it.

Selkirk was not shipwrecked. A hot-tempered Scot, he ran away from home to join the English buccaneers. When 32, he shipped on the "Cinque Ports." Quarreling with the captain, he asked to be put ashore. The captain gladly set him down at Mas a Tierra with a box of clothing, a gun, powder and bullets, a little tobacco, hatchet, a Bible, knife and kettle.

Diet Doesn't Affect Cancer Susceptibility

CHICAGO—The theory that vegetarians are less likely to get cancer than meat eaters just can't be proved, a physician has written in the Journal of the American Medical Association.

There are two exceptions to the general rule that vegeterians and meat eaters are equally susceptiable, he said.

Women who have a disease called Plummer-Vinson syndrome, which apparently results largely from lack of iron and vitamin B, tend to have more cancer of the mouth, pharynx, and esophagus.

This is due to the unavailability of green vegetables. The other exception is the high incidence of cancer of the liver among the African Batnus, who eat virtually no meat.

U.S. Nursery Business at Billion-Dollar Level

WASHINGTON—The Department of Commerce reports that the American people spent just under $700,000,000 in 1954 for flowers, seeds, and potted plants.

Adding the cost of trees, shrubs, and other horticultural products puts the nation's nursery business well into the billion-dollar-a-year class.

The U.S. steel industry reports it has more stockholders than employes — 770,000 stockholders and 762,830 employes.

Tunneling Record Set in Australian Project

CANBERRA—The American construction group working on the huge Snowy Mountains hydroelectric scheme in Australia's southern alpine region claims a world tunneling record — 402 feet into a mountainside in six days.

The group is working on a 24-foot-diameter tunnel that will carry a river under the mountain for 14 miles.

There are pencils designed to write on white hot steel.

Plywood Panels Boast Lightweight Strength

PORTLAND, Ore.—Plywood is a sort of glue-and-wood sandwich.

It is made by peeling slices off a log, then sticking the slices back together in plies placed alternately crosswise to make flat, lightweight, rigid panels.

• • •

Usually these panels are 4 by 8 feet in size and one-fourth to three-fourths of an inch thick. Their strength is double that of ordinary lumber of comparable dimensions.

Kiwi Nears Extinction

The kiwi, New Zealand's bewiskered, burrow-digging, tailless and almost wingless bird, is waging a losing battle for survival against the depredations of stoats, ferrets, rats, house cats and bush fires.
