Calm Before the Storm

QUIET BEGINNING — Britain's Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip began their six-week tour of Canada's provinces Thursday in a mood which is slated to be sharply contrasted in the days ahead. They attended solemn war memorial ceremonies at St. Johns, Nfld. after their flight from London. The current visit promises to be one of the most grueling in Elizabeth's reign.

Queen Is Greeted Softly at Newfoundland Arrival

ST. JOHNS, Nfld. (AP) — Queen Elizabeth II sets off on a tour of Newfoundland today after a cordial but restrained welcome at St. Johns, capital of the rocky, storm-battered island.

She is opening a six-week journey across Canada, confronting one of the most grueling programs in her hard-working reign.

For a few hours it appeared her weather luck had deserted her and that grim gray fog which smothered St. Johns for three days might disrupt the tour.

The thick mist lifted miraculously a few hours before she arrived by jet airplane from London Thursday afternoon.

The skies were virtually cloudless, and warm sunshine flooded the bleak, heavily wooded region returned after the Queen's afternoon appearances but cleared again Thursday night.

Today's program began with a reception at government House, a motor tour of parts of St. Johns not visited Thursday, and a stop at Newfoundland's new eight-million-dollar government building.

Then the Queen and her husband, Prince Philip, were to fly to Gander, 150 miles west of the capital, to open the new 3½-million-dollar airport terminal building at that stopping point for trans-Atlantic airliners.

The combination of unexpected sunshine and holiday Thursday brought thousands of Newfoundlanders out to line the route the Queen and Philip traveled from Torbay Airfield through the streets of St. Johns.

The crowd gave the royal couple a warm but not riotous greeting. They smiled and waved as the car passed. There was little loud aplause, however, and the scarlet-coated Mounted Police had no difficulty in controlling throngs at two points where the Queen stopped.

When the Queen of England assumes her role as the Queen of Canada or one of the other Commonwealths, her people at home get almost as big a kick out of it as do her hosts of the moment.

And be not confused in spite of a confusing relationship. The people of Canada are her hosts, for she is their Queen, but they are only technically her subjects, for she is not their ruler.

In a strange fashion, the Queen belongs to the Commonwealths, but not they to her. They lay their hearts before her and call her sovereign, but do not let her, or the British government which she traditionally approves but does not appoint, give commands.

How the British and associated peoples ever developed this system of a revered monarchy, a symbol of empire but without power over the lives of men as free as any in the world, is an old, long and in many ways beautiful story. It is typical of the spirit of compromise, of making the best of given situations, which places them among the world's great peoples.

So the people of Canada can pay homage without reservations, and the people of Britain take pride in the monarchy which is the focal point of a worldwide association of nations, a modern substitute of democracy for empire.

'No,' Says Reds' Gromyko to West's Stopgap Plan

GENEVA (AP) — Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko today refused to accept the West's latest proposals for a stopgap Berlin solution even as a basis of discussion.

A British delegation spokesman said Gromyko advanced new proposals for an interim Berlin arrangement but these have given "no new hope" to the West for a solution.

And in Moscow, Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev said today a summit meeting becomes all the more necessary if the Geneva meeting of foreign ministers breaks down.

He expressed confidence a conference of heads of state will take place.

"We hold," he said at a mass rally in the Kremlin for a visiting East German delegation, "that if the foreign ministers do not reach agreement in Geneva, a meeting at the summit will become all the more necessary.

"I would be glad to go, not only to one but to several summit meetings."

Gromyko presented new proposals at the Big Four meeting today and the Western foreign ministers started considering them.

Khrushchev had conferred with East German leaders in Moscow and kept silent-until today.

Then, less than 30 minutes before the Geneva talks were to resume, Moscow radio began broadcasting a Khrushchev speech saying the Soviet Union would sign a separate peace treaty "if the West continued to hinder the settlement of the German question."

He also said control of communications to West Berlin under a peace treaty would pass into the hands of East Germans "as representatives of a covereign state" and not as agents of the Soviet Union."

The heart of the Western plan is a provision for continuing the Allied occupation of West Berlin. The heart of Soviet opposition is that the occupation status must be ended.

Now Institution in Own State Holds Governor

Louisiana in Turmoil With No One Certain Who Is Leader

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP)—Hoarsely screaming curses, Gov. Earl K. Long of Louisiana battled all the way with sheriff's deputies Thursday night as they hauled him to a mental hospital for the second time in three weeks.

"God damn it, God damn it, God damn it," the rumpled and sweating governor bellowed.

"Hell, I'm not going to get in there," he yelled when they tugged him into a sheriff's car to take him to southeast Louisiana State Hospital at Mandeville, 50 miles to the east.

The 63-year-old governor swung a roundhouse right at a deputy but missed.

"You-all look, you-all look," he shouted.

Dr. Chester Williams, coroner of East Baton Rouge Parish, said Gov. Long had suffered from delusions of persecution. The medical name is paranoic schizophrenia.

But Long remained unconvinced that he needed hospital treatment.

"I don't feel I need to be hospitalized," Long told physicans at the Mandeville institution.

AT LEAST 30 DAYS

Dr. Charles Belcher, acting superintendent of Southeast, indicated Thursday night in an interview with the Associated Press that Long must remain in his hospital at least 30 days.

This latest chapter in the weird and tragic story of Earl Kemp Long pitched Louisiana politicians into additional jitters. Who is to take over the duties of governor?

Lt. Gov. Lether Frazar, it is supposed, will step into the breach, as he did when members of the Long family flew a drugged and unwilling governor May 30 to a psychiatric clinic at John Sealy Hospital in Galveston, Tex. However, nothing is certain.

The fantastic events leading immediately to Long's detention at Mandeville began Thursday morning when the restless governor in-

Theater Loses Queen

ACTRESS MOURNED — The American theater world today was mourning its queen, actress Ethel Barrymore, who died yesterday in her sleep at her Beverly Hills, Calif. home. Miss Barrymore, relatively inactive in recent years, suffered from a chronic heart condition.

Acting Dynasty Ends: Ethel Barrymore Dies

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (AP)—Death came quietly Thursday to Ethel Barrymore and closed the curtain on an era ruled by a proud theatrical dynasty.

She died in her sleep. She had been an invalid in her Beverly Hills apartment for more than a year with a heart ailment.

Miss Barrymore would have been 80 Aug. 15. She will be buried in Calvary Cemetery Monday.

For more than six decades, her regal bearing and resonant voice had captivated audiences. And she has been a star of the theater, movies, radio and television.

The sharp-witted actress, who originally wanted to be a pianist, was the last surviving member of a theatrical triumvirate that included her equally famous brothers John and Lionel. John died in 1942 and Lionel in 1954.

Story on Page 28

"We Barrymores became actors not because we wanted to go on the stage," she once explained, "but simply because it was the thing we could do best."

And it was. Ethel was the most versatile, ranging from light comedy to tragedy with equal skill. She won a 1944 Academy Award for her portrayal of the fatally ill mother in "None but the Lonely Heart" and nominations for "Spiral Staircase" and "Pinky."

Show business' great and near-great mourned her death.

In New York, the Ethel Barrymore Theater dimmed its lights for five minutes before starting the night's performance.

In Hollywood, actress Judith Anderson, a friend of 30 years, wept softly when told the news and then quoted these lines: "There's a new star in the sky . . . and the glory of the heavens is my infinite sorrow."

Others commented.

Clifton Webb: "A queen has died."

Helen Hayes: "All of us work

Royal Oak Mall Bill Set for OK

Final House Approval Today May Speed Plan On to Governor

Royal Oak's $2,610,000 plan for a downtown shopping center was expected to win final legislative approval today and be submitted to the Governor for his signature.

The bill was passed by the Senate yesterday and sent back to the House for approval of one minor amendment.

The measure would allow Royal Oak to issue special assessment bonds on the downtown business area to retire $220,000 in outstanding revenue bonds sold to finance existing municipal parking lots.

Downtown merchants have indicated they are willing to assume the cost of providing free municipal parking surrounding a proposed downtown shopping mall on Washington avenue.

Plans call for tripling the number of existing parking spaces encircling a landscaped shopping mall in the central business district.

The amendment would limit the special assessments to property that directly benefits from the project.

State Sen. L. Harvey Lodge (R-Drayton Plains) said the amendment was "unobjectionable."

Rep. William Hayward (R-Royal Oak) was expected to support the measure as amended today.

First Nominee to Be Turned Down Since '25

Eisenhower Says U.S. People Are the Losers in Sad Episode

WASHINGTON (AP)—In a dramatic 49-46 vote early today, the Senate rejected President Eisenhower's nomination of Lewis L. Strauss to be secretary of commerce.

The tense roll call in the packed Senate chamber capped a battle in which Eisenhower had put his own prestige at stake with all-out support for Strauss.

Eisenhower said today that the American people are the losers in what he called the sad episode of Senate rejection of Strauss as secretary of commerce.

Strauss, former chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, was the first Cabinet nominee to be rejected by the Senate since 1925, when Calvin Coolidge's choice of Charles B. Warren to be attorney general was turned down.

Strauss became the eighth Cabinet nominee to be rejected in all the country's history.

When the showdown came, shortly after midnight, 31 Republicans and 15 Democrats voted for confirmation. Against confirmation were 47 Democrats and 2 Republicans—Sens. Margaret Chase Smith of Maine and William Langer of North Dakota.

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas voted against Strauss, as did most other senators who had not disclosed their stand in advance of the roll call.

CLAIM DECEIT

In long and bitter committee hearings, Strauss' foes pictured him as an arrogant egotist with a Napoleonic complex. They said he was deceitful and in the past had been devious in his dealings with Congress.

His friends denied the deceit charge and contended he was the victim of a political lynching. They said he had been a dedicated public servant in the past.

Thompson Claims Juror Biased in New Trial Bid

Turned down once before, convicted arsonist Jack D. Thompson, Flint Teamster's business agent, is trying again to win a new trial, this time on the grounds that the jury foreman was prejudiced against him and the Teamsters.

Genesee County Prosecutor Jerome F. O'Rourke said Thompson and his attorneys are "scratching" deep to delay his twice-postponed sentencing, now set for June 29.

Thompson, 42, faces a maximum imprisonment of 10 years for being the second man in last summer's burning of a dry cleaning establishment outside Flint. Thompson's close friend and fellow business agent, Frank Kierdorf, died four days later from head-to-toe burns received in the fire.

On Monday, one week before Thompson is scheduled to be sentenced, Circuit Judge Stephen J. Roth will listen to arguments from Thompson's attorney, Joseph R. Joseph, that the original jury verdict of April 3 be thrown out.

Joseph is expected to claim that jury foreman Coley Crump, now a factory worker with Buick Motor Division, once worked for a Flint builder who had a labor dispute with Thompson's Local 332, thus making him biased against Thompson.

The prejudice claim was made in an affidavit filed in the Genesee County Clerk's Office yesterday in behalf of John H. Adair, an organizer with Local 332 and a friend of Thompson.

The affidavit contends that Crump did not disclose the information about the alleged labor dispute when he was being questioned as a potential juror.

O'Rourke is expected to ask Judge Roth that the latest request — Thompson was turned down by Roth June 4 — for a second trial be dismissed. He said Crump was a part-time employe for the building firm, Suburban Builders, as a cleanup man, at the time of the trial and today he is a full-time employe of Buick.

Adair adds in his affidavit that Crump "also was well acquainted with the prosecutor's staff and with relatives of the prosecutor's staff."

O'Rourke said Crump admits knowing O'Rourke's 80-year-old grandfather, who once worked for Buick and visited the trial.

Hospital Wing to Be Occupied

Girl Attacked by Crocodile at Performance

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI)—A circus crocodile attacked its 24-year-old girl trainer before 2,000 spectators here last night. It gashed her face and snapped at her arm.

The trainer, Doreen Duggan, tried to go on with the show, but attendants seized the 12-foot crocodile and put it back in its box. Miss Duggan was taken to the hospital for treatment of her wounds.

Northern Ireland's Premier, Lord Brookeborough, and members of his Cabinet were among the spectators.

Miss Duggan "hypnotizes" two crocodiles in her act. Last night she had lulled the first one and was taking the second out of its coffin-like box when it attacked.

It snapped at her face and blood flowed from her cheek. She wiped it away and tried to go on with the act. The crocodile then lunged for her arm, narrowly missing it as she fell back.

Released from the hospital after an anti-toxin injection and treatment of her gashes, Miss Duggan said she was not giving up crocodile training.

"I am determined to go on with my act," she said. "The circus is my life."

Senate Turns Down Strauss Nomination

ate Commerce Committee considered his nomination in an atmospheer of high tension and bitter recriminations. In the end, the committee approved Strauss—but by a narrow 9-8 margin.

Later, some of Strauss' critics suggested that Eisnehower withdraw the nomination. This Eisenhower refused to do.

DIXON-YATES ROLE

Strauss had a role in the 1954 Dixon - Yates contract which would have brought private power into the Tennessee Valley Authority area.

That contract later was canceled

WASHINGTON (AP)—Michigan's Democratic Senators Philip A. Hart and Pat McNamara voted with the majority last night as the Senate rejected, 49-46, confirmation of Lewis L. Strauss as secretary of commerce.

on grounds of conflict of interest. In general, Strauss' advocacy of private development of atomic power alienated supporters of public power projects.

The 63-year-old New York Republican also collected some enemies by pushing the 1954 security risk inquiry against physicist J. Robert Oppenheimer. The scientist was denied access to AEC secrets on grounds he had character defects and had associated with Communists.

There was no indication what Eisenhower's next step would be.

Strauss issued a statement thanking Eisenhower and the senators who had voted for him.

"I have done the best I knew how to do — to protect and defend the national security even when that was not the recognized, nor easy, nor popular course of action at the time," he said.

"I leave with confidence that history will be just."

The outcome had been regarded as in doubt right up to the last, and it hung in the balance almost until the final vote was recorded.

Johnson immediately asked that the President be notified, a customary courtesy to speed papers to the President once his nominations are confirmed.

In this case, however, Senate attaches said that, as soon as the President is officially notified of the Senate's action, Strauss will go off the payroll.

Nursery Area Ready Today

But More Cash Needed to Complete East Unit, Director Tells Trustees

The first portion of the remodeled east wing of Pontiac General Hospital is expected to be occupied Monday.

Harold B. Euler, hospital administrator, said he expected contractors would turn over two nurseries on the second floor to the hospital today.

The nurseries hold 12 bassinets apiece and will bring the hospital's bassinet total up to th planned complement of 48, Euler said.

Euler told the hospital's Board of Trustees last night that th remodeling program probably will stretch out into next year, and more money will be needed shortly.

He said it may be next spring before remodeling is finished, although a Nov. 1 target date has been set for moving in the first 96 patient beds, a maneuver which is expected to increase revenues to a point where the hospital can operate on a balanced or near-balanced budget.

More ready cash from th city will be needed in about a month, Euler said.

Already about $140,000 has gone into the remodeling program out of the $200,000 city commissioners set aside early this year from funds that otherwise would have gone into equipment and furnishings.

Euler said City Manager Walter K. Willman has been notified of the approaching cash shortage. He said the remodeling is costing about $20,000-$25,000 every two weeks.

The city is lnding the hospital mony to complete remodeling and make expensive repairs to faulty heating, plumbing and electrical systms in the old east wing.

The hospital has promised to pay the money back whenever its operations show a safe profit.

Heuss in West Berlin Symbol of German Faith

BERLIN (UPI)—West Germany has demonstrated again its confidence in the future of West Berlin by giving the nation's president an official residence in the beleaguered city.

West German President Theodore Heuss took possession yesterday of the 18th Century Bellevue Castle which overlooks the Communist zone of Berlin. For West Germans, the symbolic takeover ceremony was another statement that they feel certain free West Berlin will never be engulfed by the Communists who surround it.

hard in the theater, but none of us can ever give it the luster she did."

Herman Shumlin, producer of Miss Barrymore's last great stage hit, "The Corn Is Green" during the 1941-43 seasons: "No one else remains from that period of highly unique performers."

Greer Garson: "She truly was a symbol of the nobility of the theater, graciousness personified."

Miss Barrymore and her two brothers were born in Philadelphia. Their parents were Maurice Barrymore, a rakish British actor, and Georgie Drew, daughter of the Irish actor John Drew.

She was educated in a convent. At the age of 14 her grandmother summoned her to Montreal and ordered her to take a minor part in a touring production. It was her first role.

At 21, she starred on Broadway in "Captain Jinks of the Horse Marines." It was the first of more than two-score starring roles for the tall beauty with the finely chiseled features.

DISAPPOINTS DOZENS

In 1909, she disappointed dozens of suitors by marrying Russell Griswold Colt, of the firearms family. They had three children — Samuel, Ethel and John — and were divorced in 1923. Miss Barrymore, a Catholic, never remarried.

Her 10 favorite stage roles: "The Second Mrs. Tanqueray," "School for Scandal," "The Constant Wife," "The Kingdom of God," "The Corn Is Green," "Hamlet" with Walter Hampden, "The Twelve-Pound Look," "Lady of the Camellias," "Declasse" and "Sunday."

Her movies included "The Farmer's Daughter," "The Paradine Case," "Moss Rose," "Portrait of Jenny," "That Midnight Kiss" and "Just for You."

Rep. Broomfield Charges:

Tennessee Raiding Our Industry

Tennessee "raiders" are swiping industry from Michigan by dangling cheap Tennessee Valley Authority (TVA) power as a bait, declared Oakland County's U. S. Rep. William S. Broomfield today.

"The horrible part of this whole situation," Broomfield said, "is that Michigan taxes helped pay for the construction of the Tennessee Valley Authority power plants."

"In effect," he said in letters to Sens. Patrick V. McNamara and Philip A. Hart, Michigan Democrats, "our workers are paying taxes to force themselves out of jobs in Michigan."

He urged McNamara and Hart to oppose a pending TVA bill which he said would "take the TVA out from under direct federal control and permit further expansion . . . in its present service area." A Senate public works subcommittee now is considering a house passed TVA self-financing bill.

Broomfield cited a recent editorial in the Nashville (Tenn.) Banner to back his contention that "those in Tennessee regard any of our businesses and industries in Michigan as fair game."

The editorial said a band of "raiders" dispatched to Michigan by Tennessee Gov. Buford Ellington turned up 23 "immediate prospects" for transfer to Tennessee.

The editorial, inserted in the Congressional Record recently by Rep. J. Carlton Loser (D-Tenn), added:

"And you can bet your last bar of soap that Gov. Ellington will never have to come a-beggin' to newly acquired firms to get Tennessee out of a fiscal fiasco similar to that created by Gov. G. Mennen Williams and his lieutenant governor without portfolio, UAW chief Walter Reuther."

Broomfield said Tennessee pays only one-tenth the federal taxes paid by Michigan and that Michigan is one of nine states providing two-thirds of the total federal taxes collected.

"Now we are in trouble and Tennessee—by its own admission—is booming." "Instead of helping Michigan, we are being asked to help Tennessee by the passage of (the TVA bill), thereby facing the danger of losing even more industries from our own home state to cheap, subsidized, tax-free power."

Cursing Gov. Long Dragged to Hospital formed his wife and doctors at Ochesner Foundation Hospital in New Orleans that he planned to leave.

The governor's release from the Galveston clinic had been arranged in a compromise with Long's family and a promise that he would take at least two weeks of treatment at Ochsner.

For three and a half hours doctors argued. Long remained adamant. This interval gave Mrs. Long time to arrange for the pickup.

DEPUTIES STOP CAR

When his car crossed the East Baton Rouge Parish line, deputies stopped it, then drove him to the parish courthouse. Long, growing angry, refused to move from his car. Dr. Williams and another physician interviewed the governor as he sat on the front seat smoking a cigarette and joking.

They obtained, then, an order from Dist. Judge Fred Leblanc committing the governor to the state hospital. That's when the fireworks really started.

The scene — shouting police, arrested newsmen, barricades and threats of camera smashing — harked back to a day long dead when Long's elder brother, the late Huey P. Long, ran Louisiana as his own kingdom.

Dr. Williams said ater that gov. Long had thoughts and beliefs not fully based on fact. He also said he ha abadheart. also said he had a bad heart.

At Mandeville, Long offered no resistance. A doctor led him from the automobile.

"We had no trouble with him," said Asst. Chief Deputy George Leblanc, one of four officers who accompanied the governor.

'WASN'T TALKING MUCH

"He wasn't talking much," Leblanc said. "We're used to handling mental patients. We try to keep them in such a mood they won't get violent. I imagine he must have been pretty tired."

There were arrests and threats of arrests in the excitement that accompanied Long's arrival at the Baton Rouge Parish Courthouse and at Mandeville.

Jim Hughes, a reporter for the Baton Rouge Morning Advocate, was arrested when he and several other reporters refused to move across the street from the governor's car at the courthouse. Hughes was not booked and was ordered released by Asst. Chief of Police Howard Kidder.q

utomobiles were not permitted to stop within a three-mile radius of the mental hospital. David Zimman, Associated Press reporter, stopped and got ouf of his car near the hospital. A state policeman ordered him to move on immediately or be arrested.

Grizzly Bear Mauls Ranger in Glacier Park

EAST GLACIER, Mont. (AP)—A grizzly bear severely mauled a Glacier National Park employe on a lonely mountain trail last night, despite the heroic actions of a Michigan companion who tried unsuccessfully to lure the bear away.

Joseph L. Williams Jr., 20, of Harvey Cedars, N.J., was reported in serious condition at a Cardston, Alta., hospital, 120 miles north of East Glacier. The Miami (Ohio) University summer park employe was rushed there after park rangers, using flashlights to see, brought him down the mountain on a stretcher.

Williams was conscious as the stretcher bearers made the slow 1,000-foot descent from Alton Mountain. He suffered severe cuts on the right side of his head and right leg.

A park spokesman said Williams was hiking with Robert M. Winter, 17, of Grosse Pointe. He said Winter attempted to distract the bear by throwing rocks and walking and running in the vicinity, but the bear would not leave Williams.

Winter then ran screaming down the shale and brush covered mountain calling for help. He suffered exhaustion and severe leg cramps was treated at the Cardston Hospital, then released.

Wixom's Tax Appeal Denied

County's Equalization Confirmed in Letter From Commission

Wixom's appeal of its 1959 tax equalized valuation, on which taxes will be based, has been denied by the Michigan State Tax Commission.

Edward Kane, secretary of the commission, wrote County Clerk Daniel T. Murphy Jr. today: "It has been concluded that the allegation of discrimination in the appeal was not well-founded and the Commission thereupon denies the appeal and confirms the equilization as adopted by the Board of Supervisors."

In its appeal, the city contended that the county's Equalization Dept. hiked the city's equalized factor without physical appraisal of the Ford Motor Co.'s Lincoln-Mercury plant, where a Ford office building had not been used in more than a year.

City officials said this, coupled with what they said was "no new construction" in the city, should have lowered, not raised the factor.

Wixom Mayor Joseph T. Stadnik, who charges the city is absorbing $4,000,000, or 28.6 per cent for Oakland County's total valuation increase of $14 million this year, was not immediately available for comment on the Commission's denial.

Collision of Car, Bicycle Puts Boy, 12, in Hospital

BIRMINGHAM — Twelve-year-old O'Neil Dillon Jr. suffered a lacerated elbow and cerebral concussion yesterday when he rode his bicycle into the path of an automobile on S. Adams road between Yosemite and Villa roads. The boy is the son of Mr. and Mrs. O'Neil Dillon Sr., 1231 Yosemite Rd.

The driver of the car, Roger R. Ramesbottom, 34, 2051 Oakfield, Detroit, told police that he was traveling north when the bicycle shot out of a driveway at 359 S. Adams Rd. Ramesbottom said he swerved his car, but was unable to avoid hitting the boy.

The automobile's right front fender caught the wheel of the bicycle, the impact throwing its rider partly onto the hood of the car and then to the pavement. The boy's left elbow was cut when it struck the base of the auto's windshield wiper.

Ramesbottom was ticketed. The accident occurred at 12:12 p.m. O'Neil was taken to William Beaumont Hospital, Royal Oak, where he is reported in satisfactory condition.

Birmingham's giant-sized recreation program is ready to roll into high gear.

On tap next week is a variety-filled swimming schedue, plus music, archery, golf, tennis, and baton-twirling activities.

Playgrounds and a day camp will open the following week, and a riflery program is set for the month of July.

Richard Eastham, 19, of 474 Oakland Ave., Pontiac, being held in the Oakland County Jail on armed robbery charges, was to have been arraigned yesterday.

But Eastham thought better of it and requested another 24 hours to mull over his statement. He was again scheduled for arraignment this morning before West Bloomfield Justice of the Peace Elmer C. Dieterle.

Eastham is accused of the early Wednesday morning holdup in Bloomfield Township of John R. McAlevy, 29, of the Roosevelt Hotel, Pontiac.

Bloomfield Township Police are still looking for Eastham's brother, David, 24, suspected of aiding in the robbery.

Members of the Past Matrons Club of Birmingham, Chapter 220, OES, will meet at the home of Mrs. Arthur Baynes, 29261 Telegraph Rd., Southfield, for a dessert-luncheon on Tuesday at 1 p.m.

The adult choir of the Congregational Church of Birmingham will be found in the swim Sunday, June 28.

The occasion will be a picnic and

Gulf Storm Beulah Calms to Gentle Breeze

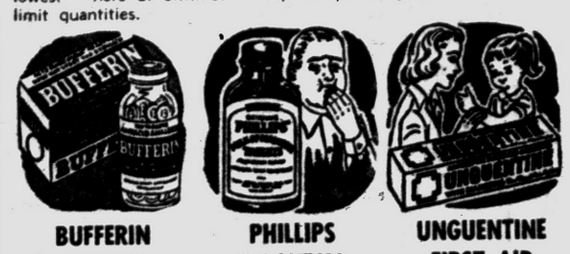

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — Beulah, the season's second tropical storm developed in the Gulf of Mexico in three weeks, withered and broke apart Thursday before its full impact had hit any shoreline.

The Weather Bureau said Beulah, whipped into storm intensity in the western Gulf last Tuesday, had calmed to little more than a breeze before striking the Mexican coast near Tampico Thursday night.

Just Being Nice Wife

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Police moved up cautiously behind a young woman who had been seen acting "suspiciously" on the Golden Gate bridge. Mrs. Nancy Bell, 28, laughingly told them she had no intention of jumping off. She was signaling "Hello, Darling," in Morse code with a mirror to her husband, a crewman on a vessel entering the harbor after a six-month absence.

Can Be Solved Easily

Lack of Communication Called Marriage Problem

NEW YORK, N.Y. — One of the biggest problems in marriage today is a lack of communication between husband and wife, reveals an article in a recent ssue of a national magazine.

Husbands cannot speak of financial worries. They tend to hide their insecurity behind "manly" silence, says the article. Wives conceal spur-of-the-moment purchases or veil convictions they are no longer loved or found attractive.

People with communication problems are so busy putting up barriers they don't listen to what is said. Instead of trying to understand, they attach their own and frequently wrong meaning.

Couples, once excellent companions, have learned to rope off areas of their lives into a kind of marital no-man's land. Trespassing into it ends up in a quarrel. Conversation declines to "truce" subjects such as weather, television, latest gossip.

Problems go unsolved and magnify. A new, "sympathetic" person is found to talk to. The marriage dissolves into misery and sometimes into divorce.

This inability to converse — it might even be called a conspiracy of silence — shows up in 85 out of every 100 couples visiting marriage counselors. Frequently it is their only problem. Thousands of others go directly to divorce courts without counseling.

There is probably not a marriage in America entirely free of "communication" problems. Yet it is one of the easiest problems to solve. Husbands and wives can be taught how to talk to each other; learning is enjoyable and results are quickly observable. The article lists three simple rules:

1. Be sure you understand what is said. Know what is meant. Do not color the words with your own meanings.

2. Discover "safe" topics you can retreat to. If talk about money begins to turn into an argument, switch quickly and deliberately to discussion of bowling scores or Aunt Fanny's idiosyncrasies.

3. Learn to laugh at your failures. Expect them to happen, and if they do, don't take them to heart.

Steel springs in an upholstered chair weigh five pounds. In a davenport they will weigh 15 pounds and in a mattress about 20 pounds.

Authorization Probably Higher

Large Drop in Foreign Aid Likely Due From House

WASHINGTON (AP)—House approval of a 3½-billion-dollar foreign aid authorization could mean operations at abut the present level for another year, the program's supporters said today. Must be provided in a separate appropriation bill later, the amount available after July 1 could be much less.

The Huse voted Thursday night 271-142 for a $3,542,600,000 program slanted toward economic loand and partly away from military and economic grants.

Much legislative cutting and patching lies ahead, but Foreign Thomas E. Morgan (D-Pa) said he thinks the pattern of the final program probably has been set. He thinks the pattern of the final program probably has been set.

The authorization the House voted for the year beginning July 1 is close to the actual appropriation for this year—$3,448,092,500. It is $366,800,000 less than President Eisenhower asked. But it is still more than some House members, including opponents on the Appropriations Committee, say they will support when it comes to voting actual funds.

The Senate has yet to act on its own version of the authorization bill, with which the House measure eventually will be compromised. The Senate Foreign Relations Committee has voted a $4,165,000,000 authorization subject to senate action.

Morgan, whose committee recommended 100 million dollars more for loans than the House Finally authorized, said the outlook is for a higher figure when the inevitable compromise is reached with the Senate.

Both the house and the Senate committee bills emphasize the economic side of the program and announce preference for loans grants. Both call on the executive branch — the Senate version in more peremptory language — to come up with a plan for getting getting away from economic grant aid.

The Senate committee bill would provide an average of one billion dollars a year for five years in loan money

Grade Schoolers Attend Saturday

Voluntarily Take Extra Day of Class to Get Foreign Language

ABINGTON, Pa. (UPI) — The moppets of the Cedar Road School are trooping back to class on Saturdays, of all things, and even stranger, they are doing it voluntarily in order to learn a foreign language.

The Cedar Road School is pioneering an experiment in making courses in French, German, Spanish, Italian and Russian available to the students in grades two through six.

And nearly half of the 154 pupils in those grades have enrolled for the classes.

The program, purely voluntary and sparked by the Abington Township School District, got under way last February and proved so successful that plans already are being made to continue it when the fall term opens in September.

Marian Garrison, principal of Cedar Road School, said the program involves teaching the children languages by conversation.

PARENTS PARTICIPATE

The parents themselves are participating in the instruction and report their children are making amazing progress in actually talking the foreign languages.

An enrollment fee of $2 is charged for each course, proceeds from which will buy foreign language books, take care of incidental expenses . . . and pay for a party planned for the end of the current term.

The classes are held "without any written material or homework or grammatical instruction," according to Paul J. LaMorgia, one of the group that planned the courses.

"The object is purely conversational," he said. "The purpose is to get children's ears acquainted with the sound of a foreign language in order to help adjust their oral ability for handling foreign sounds before professional teaching begins at the junior high school level."

She taught Russian for the Berlitz school in 1918 and speaks several Slavic languages plus French and Italian.

Now she is concentrating on teaching Russian at the Cedar Road School.

Congress Must Pass Compromise First

Expect Ike's OK on Housing Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Leading Democratic and Republican Senate spokesmen on housing legislation said today a compromise $1,375,000,000 housing bill should win the approval of President Eisenhower.

Senate-House conferees agreed on the omnibus bill Thursday after the Democratic majority had cut the amount sharply to blunt GOP charges that the Democrats are reckless spenders.

Sen. John J. Sparkman (D-Ala) chairman, and Sen. Homer E. Capehart (R-Ind), senior Republican on the Senate's Housing subcommittee, both said they did not see why Eisenhower could not sign it.

Both houses must approve the compromise before it is sent to the President.

Some Republicans on the conference committee assailed the compromise and insisted it still went beyond the President's recommendations in many respects. Their attitude left in doubt the eventual fate of the bill.

The conference report is scheduled to be called up first in the Senate, probably early next week.

The compromise contains large grant authorizations for government-sponsored housing programs. It also has many provisions designed to help private homebuilding industry. These include 10 billion dollars of new insurance authority for FHA home loans, liberalized down payments for FHA mortgages, and longer term Veterans' Administration mortgages.

Sparkman and Capehart emphasized that the bill would add only about 24 million dollars to Eisenhower's budget in the 1960 fiscal year starting July 1. Eisenhower's own proposals would have cost about four millions for that year.

Most of the authorizations in the bill are for spending several years in the future.

The Senate originally had allotted $2,100,000,000 for the slum program over six years, and the House 1½ billions for three years. The administration requested $1,350,000,000 over six years. The compromise provides 900 millions for this program over two years.

Two Democratic senators, Joseph S. Clark (Pa), and Paul H. Douglas (Ill), said they might not sign the conference report because of this cutback. They said this program is vital to slum-ridden cities and that city officials should have a long-term extension so they can plan their programs.

Boating Fans Find San Diego a True Mecca

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UPI) — Thousands of acres of protected water and a mild climate combine to make this southern California seaport city one of the nation's most ideal spots for boating enthusiasts.

There are more than 12,000 pleasure boats registered here and private ownership is increasing at the rate of 100 boats a week, making San Diego what one might call a "boat in every garage" city.

San Diego harbor, dotted with hundreds of naval and commercial vessels, and Mission Bay, now being developed at the nation's outstanding aquatic park, provide facilities to handle everything from paddleboards to ocean-going yachts.

The center of boating activities in San Diego Bay, a boot-shaped harbor containing 25 miles of navigable waters, is Shelter Island, a man-made peninsula providing ample car and boat-trailer parking facilities as well as launching ramps. And it's free.

Shelter Island will be even more attractive this summer with completion of a new marina, complete with slips for 135 boats of all sizes up to 115 feet and every service needed by visiting yachtsmen from showers to restaurant.

Junior's Case Righted

BUFFALO, N. Y. (UPI) — City Judge James B. McKenna fined Gary B. Hogan Jr. $15 for speeding after correcting a "mixup" through which Hogan's case had been disposed of as a youthful offense. Hogan is 43.

BOSTON (UPI) — A substance that blocks the chemical process of muscle contraction — and produces relaxation — has been separated from the "relaxing factor system" of the muscles, report scientists from Harvard University and Massachusetts General Hospital.

Priest Sponsors Tribute to Rabbi

Interfaith Honor Hailed by Massachusetts Chief, National Leaders

LAWRENCE, Mass. (AP) — A capacity crowd of 600 men and women — Protestants, Roman Catholics and Jews — attended a testimonial dinner Thursday night for a Rabbi. The sponsor was a Catholic priest.

Honored was Rabbi Norman Towersky, head of the Orthodox Jewish Congregation of Lawrence. The Very Rev. Edward J. Carney, O.S.A., his close friend, was the sponsor.

Father Carney is a past national chaplain of the American Legion and pastor of St. Mary's Catholic Church in Lawrence.

A message from Gov. Foster Furcolo of Massachusetts typified the spirit behind the affair. He said: "The occasion serves as a model for similar groups throughout the country . . . It is my privilege to register the appreciation of the commonwealth for this local display of the good neighbor policy and interacial amity in Massachusetts."

Rabbi Twersky told the gathering: "I feel actually that this testimonial was not held for me but instead for my spiritual children." He expressed appreciation to Father Carney and described him as a very dear friend.

The priest said: "I am proud to say that he has been, he is, and always will be my dear and close friend. A tribute to him is a tribute to his flock and his people."

Rabbi Samuel Foxx of Boston, president of the Orthodox Rabbinical Council of Greater Boston, said: "At a time in history when peoples of the world have failed so dismally at Geneva, we have demonstrated to those experienced leaders in the world that we have reached the summit, the summit of brothrhood and the summit of understanding."

Telegraphic tributes were received from Vice President Richard M. Nixon, House Majority Leader John W. McCormack (D-Mass) and House Minority Leader Charles Halleck (R-Ind).

In 1949, the latest year for which figures were available, railroads and highways served areas with approximately 1.2 to 1.5 billion people in the world.

Bingo or Aloha Quiz, It's Illegal in Hawaii

HONOLULU (AP) — Hawaii's Supreme Court says that bingo by any other name is still bingo and is illegal in the islands.

The court upheld the conviction of nine players of a bingo-type game called "Aloha Quiz." It differed from bingo in that winners had to answer a question before being given cash prizes.

Brands Administration Reckless

Summerfield Hits Dems, Says GOP State's Hope

ST. JOSEPH (AP) — Postmaster General Arthur Summerfield says Michigan's state Democratic administration is "reckless" and says only a Republican administration can "bring fiscal sanity back to Michigan."

Summerfield, a former Flint auto dealer, spoke at a $60-a-plate fund raising dinner sponsored by the Southwestern Michigan Republican Assn. here last night.

Summerfield said Michigan's current financial crisis "occurred because public spending was used by the state administration as a political policy."

He charged that Gov. Williams, now in his sixth consecutive two-year term, and the Democratic party have become "the pawns of a union leader whose devotion to the lures of the welfare state has been reflected in everything the governor has done." He did not name the union leader.

"To continue in these ways," Summerfield said, "is to pile taxes upon taxes on every Michigan family. It is to drive more good industries and businesses out of Michigan. It is to take away our people's jobs and export these jobs to other states. It is to put future heavy indebtedness on the income of every wage earner whose job remains.

"It is, in short, to destroy the greatness of Michigan."

Summerfield said Williams "continues to think in terms of spend-and-tax, tax-and-spend," and said a Republican administration would provide a "determined program to help, not penalize Michigan business — small, medium and large — so that business can create more jobs for more of our people."

You're to Blame . . . Abby

Can't Expect Deaf 79-Year-Old to Cope With Spirited Boys

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: When my husband and I went out for an evening we dropped our boys (9 and 11) off at my mothers. She is 79 and quite deaf. When we came to pick the boys up the place was a mess.

ABBY

The ceiling had come down in the dining room. The kids had stood on the bathroom sink, tilted it and dislodged the hot water pipe.

My mother had fainted.

My husband said the plumbing was faulty (the house is 80 years old) and our boys were not to blame. The whole family got into a fight saying our boys were "wild animals." Who was to blame?

FAMILY FIGHT

DEAR FAMILY: Parents who would leave two such spirited children with a 79-year-old, deaf grandmother must want very badly to go out. I'd say you were to blame.

DEAR ABBY: I am 15 years old and I make money babysitting whenever I can. My mother asks me to "lend" her a dollar or two for groceries. Then she spends it on beer. I have bought my own school supplies and odds and ends with my sitting money because I haven't the heart to ask her for any.

My girlfriend has been asking me to sleep at her house but my p.j.'s are so ragged and small for me that I am ashamed of them. Would I be wrong to "hold out" a little of my sitting money to save for p.j.'s, Abby? I would love to have a best friend and sleep nights at her house.

NO PJ'S

DEAR NO: Don't "hold out" on your mother. If she asks you for money, tell her you are saving it for "something special." Tuck it away and buy those p.j.s.

DEAR ABBY: I am thinking about going into business making pies in my home and putting a sign in my yard "HOME-MADE PIES FOR SALE." Do I have to have a license or a permit to do this?

CONSIDERING

DEAR CONSIDERING: In most communities people who handle food for public consumption must be licensed. Call your County-City Health Department and let them advise you.

DEAR ABBY: My daughter is 21 and has been divorced since she was 17. She is very beautiful but has given us nothing but trouble. We had to pull her out of high school because a married man got her in trouble. A classmate married her but the baby died. That marriage lasted five months.

She's working in an office now although she's had no training for the job. She and her boss are buddy-buddy. She's trying to take him away from his wife. She's had 7 raises in 5 months and says nothing can get her fired. She buys expensive clothes and never gets a bill.

She wants to move into her own apartment. Her boss is behind this. I hate to see what's happening. Can we stop her?

HEART-SICK MOM

DEAR MOM: A 21-year-old woman can throw her life to the dogs if she wants to and no one can stop her. When this "beautiful" girl is growing up she missed her most important lessons. Nothing is sadder than 20-20 hindsight.

Ham Loaf Has Sauce Baked on Top of It

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Ham loaf is a delicious meat to serve for a summer meal. Hot or cold, it makes for good eating. This ham loaf has a sauce baked right along with the loaf.

Mrs. Nate Mihay is today's cook. Bowling is her favorite leisure time occupation.

HAM LOAF
By Mrs. Nate Mihay

1 pound smoked ham, ground
2 pounds fresh pork, ground
½ cup bread crumbs
2 eggs
¼ teaspoon salt
1 cup milk

Mix the above ingredients the night before and keep in refrigerator until time to bake the loaf.

Sauce

1 cup brown sugar
2½ tablespoons flour
1 tablespoon ground mustard
Vinegar to make thin paste

Pour half of this sauce over ham loaf and bake 30 minutes at 350 degrees. Pour rest of sauce over loaf and bake another 1 to 1½ hours.

It's a Man's World but Who Gets Breaks

By RUTH MILLETT

Sometimes I have strong doubts about that old saw that "It's a man's world."

What has got me skeptical about it right now is a story telling how a Chicago judge ruled in favor of a wife who asked that her husband be prevented from taking over the kitchen in their home.

"A woman's place is in the kitchen," said the judge, enjoining the husband from buying the groceries or taking over the kitchen.

From where I stand over a hot stove it looks as though women's place is in the kitchen when they want to keep a husband out of it.

But a woman's place is NOT in the kitchen if it so happens that the woman would rather hold down a job than do housework, or if she would rather be a clubwoman than a kitchen slave, or if she can sell her husband on the idea that "togetherness" means that a husband ought to help with the housework.

So it looks as though we can work it any way we want to, and a poor husband never knows whether or not a woman's place is in the kitchen until he gets the word from the little woman.

If we don't want Papa messing around in the kitchen, out he goes. If we want him to buy the groceries, and help out with the cooking and dishwashing then we tell him that the new pattern for marriage is "togetherness" which means he isn't to sit in his easy chair and expect Mama to preside over the kitchen without his help.

If that's a man's world all I can say is that in a man's world a woman seems to get all the breaks.

Wear Good Bra

Sagging Bust Not Inevitable

THE QUESTION BOX
By Josephine Lowman

Q. "I am expecting my first baby in a few weeks. Is there any particular exercise I can do after the birth of my baby to prevent a sagging bustline? I have always had a very firm bust but I understand that sagging breasts are unavoidable after having a child."

A. Many women have babies and nurse them and still retain a firm bust. Preventative measures are more effective than corrective ones. I hope you have worn a brassiere which was designed to support the extra weight of the bust during these nine months. This is even more important now if you nurse your baby than it was during pregnancy.

Also always lie down when nursing your child. As soon as your doctor says you can do so take exercises for firming the abdominal muscles. You also can take some, then, for increasing the chest muscles. This will lift the bust.

The above exercise will increase the chest muscles. Push one hand hard against the other.

Along this same line I have just received a letter from a reader who says, "I wish you would pass this along to the woman who was trying to decide whether or not to nurse her baby. She doesn't know what she is missing if she doesn't. I have seen more women with a sagging bust who never even had a child, than I have among those who nursed their infants.

"I have nursed my four children but I always wore the right kind of brassiere and was careful about good posture. I haven't a sag!"

Q. "I am a girl of 15 years. My problem is that I have such rough skin on my legs. It looks goose-pimply even in hot weather."

A. Sometimes a vitamin deficiency causes such condition. I suggest that you see your family physician and ask him about this. He will recommend a dermatologist if he feels you need one.

Q. "Do you think that 12 is too young for shaving legs if I don't do it very often?"

A. No, not if you really need it. I would delay for as long as you can because the hairs are stubby when they grow back in.

Q. "What is best to use for bleaching hair on my upper lip?"

A. Peroxide is as good as anything.

Q. "Is it normal for one breast to be larger than the other?"

A. Not if the difference is at all great. See your physician about this.

Call Friends as Soon as You Arrive

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: My husband and I are taking a cross-country trip by car and will pass through certain cities in which we have friends. Most of them we haven't seen in years. I think it would be a splendid opportunity to renew these old friendships.

"To avoid missing them when we're in their towns, could we write on and give them some idea of when we expect to come through. Would this obligate them to anything?"

Answer: If you write ahead of time they will probably think that you expect them to invite you to a meal. I would suggest that you wait until you arrive in their towns and then telephone to see if they are home and say that you would like to stop by to see them for half an hour or so.

"Dear Mrs. Post: The other day while lunching with a friend of mine, another woman friend whom I had not seen for a long time came into this same restaurant and as she passed our table, stopped and spoke to me for a few moments. I did not introduce her to the woman with whom I was lunching, and have since wondered whether I should have done so. I never know what to do in a situation of this kind. Will you please set me straight?"

Answer: If the person with whom you were lunching was busy looking at the menu or otherwise occupied, it was not necessary to introduce her. But if she sat there doing nothing and the other person lingered at your table, then you should have introduced her.

"Dear Mrs. Post: When applesauce is served with the main course, should a teaspoon be provided? We serve it in little glass cups when we have pork and ham."

Answer: A teaspoon is really not correct. It should be eaten with your fork — whether you eat it directly or whether you put it on your meat plate.

Fringe is making a comeback, not on the surrey, but on summer clothes. Here ball fringe was added to a denim skirt, worn with a halter top and a fringe-trimmed denim stole. Add a fabric softener to final rinse when laundering fringed garments to keep them soft and tangle free.

Stand Alone Before You Lean on Others

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

A commercial artist found himself in constant trouble with art editors. He'd accept a commission, and as the time for delivery neared he cooked up excuses to delay it.

Finally, with the help of psychotherapy he solved his problem and was able to say "No" to editors who tried to force promises from him he wasn't sure he could keep.

Almost at once, more problems appeared. He began to lose friends and broke with his girl. To his doctor he accused himself bitterly of his failure to maintain human relationships. One day his doctor said mildly, "You certainly keep your foot on your own neck."

Later, he had one of those flashes of realization psychologists call an "insight." He realized that the friends he'd lost had all one trait in common: the need to make his decisions for him. He saw that these relationship failures had not been failures at all but triumph, a new growth of the same self-respect that had enabled him to say "No" to the pressuring art editors.

With this altered view of his "failures," he found he could recover some of his friends; but on a new, independent, more satisfying basis.

Perhaps this story applies to a Mrs. P. who writes, "My neighbor has been wonderful to me since we moved here. Yesterday I told her to mind her own business. I feel terrible about it. She'd told me I ought to punish my little boy for running up and down the apartment hall. Shall I apologize? She's been so helpful, babysitting for us, introducing us to people . . ."

For which helpfulness she wants the right to make your decisions.

Let's let time go by for a bit. And open our minds to the possibility that ingratitude to this lady is not a fault bu a development.

When we assert our own judgment of our child's need for punishment to a friend or relative, we are also rejecting dependence on their judgment. Used to trusting it more than our own, we feel horribly mean and unkind when we say "This is my business."

But our self-accusations, like those of the artist who lost his dominating friends, is just our old fear of being alone with our own decisions, our old dependence trying to scare us back into the nursery.

If we try to recover this friend before we can feel respect for our self-assertion, we may go right back to trading our obedience for her helpfulness.

Start Your Own Roses

By WAYNE B. SIEFERT
County Horticultural Agent

Do you have a friend who admires your favorite rose? Try an experiment. Use the quart jar method and see if you can successfully start new plants? Flowering stems are most often used as a "slip" or cutting.

When the flower has gone by, cut the stem down to the first three-leaflet leaf. This will be the tip of the cutting. Cut the bottom of the cutting so four leaves are on the cutting.

Make three or four of these to improve your chance of success. Now pick your rooting spot—choose a sandy loam soil with partial shade. Take off the bottom two leaves and plant this twig so only the top two leaves stick out of the soil.

Invert a quart jar over each one. Water the soil around each jar every week. Within two months the plant will begin to grow if you have succeeded.

HANDY MAN — A handy man finds that stepping stones toward a more attractive and useful yard are not too difficult to install. Any ordinary mower will do the trim-around. Among the materials that can be used are bricks, patio blocks, cinder blocks, broken concrete, old railroad ties and rough logs.

Steppingstones Less Work

What every yard needs are some hard surface areas for walking, playing or just standing. Hard surfaces in the right places can also eliminate a great deal of tedious hand trimming and there's apt to be less trimming if the grass doesn't grow right up to walls and flower beds.

There are numerous materials from which to choose.

Some can be bought; others can be salvaged.

Among materials available: bricks, patio blocks, cinder blocks, broken concrete, old railroad ties, rough logs.

Ties and logs should be cut into two-inch slabs if used for patios or walks. They can be left as-is for mower strips, strips on which mower wheels ride along cultivated areas.

Patios are best made by digging out the turf to a sufficient depth to allow for thickness of the surfacing material, plus a two-inch bed of sand. Fit material tightly, sweep excess sand into the joints. Driving in stakes at the ends of the rows will hold them securely.

Use the same materials for providing walks through the yard or along the garden. Such a walk will save wet feet following rain, will prevent damage to the lawn in frequently traveled paths.

Dig out the turf so that the hole matches the paving material in size and shape. The depth should be enough for the paving stone or block plus the two-inch bed of sand.

Don't set the paving stones so far apart that giant steps are needed to reach them. Place them flush with the ground so you can mow right over them and thus eliminate hand-trimming.

A mowing strip is worth the work of installation. It will save hours of labor in the future.

Check now to see where you have to trim grass by hand because your mower can't get you close enough. Around the house and garage are obvious places, alongside of flower beds is another.

In the latter case, arrange the mowing strip so that it also keeps grass out of the flowers, helps to hold back soil.

Heavy building blocks set in a ditch need nothing in the way of a special base. Shallower stones should be set on a sand base.

If irregular material is used, keep the straighest sides near the lawn.

Railroad ties are treated to resist rot and can be buried in the ground flush with the surrounding surface for a combination mower strip and walk.

Give Flowers Growing Room

Plant One-Foot Deep for Root Penetration, Advise Floriculturists

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP) — University of Illinois floriculture specialists say prepare the soil for flower planting at least one foot deep. Soil for perennials should be tilled at least two feet deep.

They say the deeper the soil is prepared, the greater the roots can penetrate. The deeper the penetration, the greater the soil volume from which the plant can draw water and nutrients.

Shallow preparation forces the roots to develop in the surface regions of the soil, where they are more subject to adverse summer weather and to gardener neglect.

Frequently people attribute it to the lack of a green thumb when plants become diseased and die when actually the root development was shallow and injury was caused by the drying of the soil around the roots.

The gardener pays for shallow cultivation not only during hot periods of the summer, but also during rainy periods in the late spring.

In wet periods, the water accumulates in the cultivated zone and does not seep through the uncultivated zone. This condition is called waterlogging, and many plants die in waterlogged soil.

Another point the floriculturists make is that it isn't enough to merely dig up the soil when you prepare it for planting. You must also incorporate some organic matter.

Peat moss is one of the best forms because it is slow to decay and won't rob the soil of needed nitrogen. It keeps the soil from being compacted by the spring and summer rains.

AQUATIC WEEDS

Weeds in lakes is one of the number one problems in many local lakes. Not only do they look bad in the water, they smell bad if they are raked out.

During the past two years Michigan State University and the Kensington Park Authority have been working on types of pellets which kill weeds by destroying the roots. Once they found out it would kill some weeds, their problems really began.

When they got rid of one weed, some tougher one soon took it's place. They soon learned the chemical would not harm fish nor swimmers.

Spreading these pellets was a tough problem, so they tried putting them on top of the ice. Drifting ice became a problem.

Other manufacturers are also getting into the act with "other" chemicals. Many of the answers are being unraveled, and we may soon expect a pelleted chemical to give seasonal control of most of the rooted vine-like weeds.

Many fish biologists agree some aquatic weeds improve fishing. But when the whole lake is full of weeds, fishing becomes very poor. Not only is it hard to get a fish line near schools of fish, but most of fish in the school are too small to keep. Weedy lakes are poor fishing cites because large fish cannot catch food fish among the weeds.

Because of this, too many small fish become too big to be food fish. The large survival of small fish overpopulate a lake, resulting in more fish than food, so every fish becomes starved or stunted.

Colombiere College Will Hold Open House

Jesuit Novitiate Opens Its Doors

New Building Located on Big Lake Road, Off Dixie Highway

SPRINGFIELD TOWNSHIP — One of Michigan's most beautiful structures will be open for public inspection from 1 to 5 p. m. Sunday at the Colombiere College open house, near Clarkston.

The new building is located on Big Lake road, just off the Dixie Highway.

A far cry from its original Jesuit novitiate structure some 400 years ago, the newly constructed $5,000,000 Colombiere College on Big Lake Rd., is situated on 400 acres of scenic hills and woods just east of busy Dixie highway.

The open house will climax two years of construction work with more than five years of planning by the Detroit Province of the Society of Jesus. Most of the men living at the new novitiate will be destined for the priesthood, a program of 15 years of training for a Jesuit.

The principal structure of the college is five stories high, but because of the rolling terrain, six levels are included in the building designed by architects Diehl & Diehl of Detroit.

The fourth level serves as a main floor, affording entrance to the chapel and dining room, each of which accommodates 200 students. The classrooms and libraries have been placed in wings adjoining the main central wing.

30-DAY RETREAT

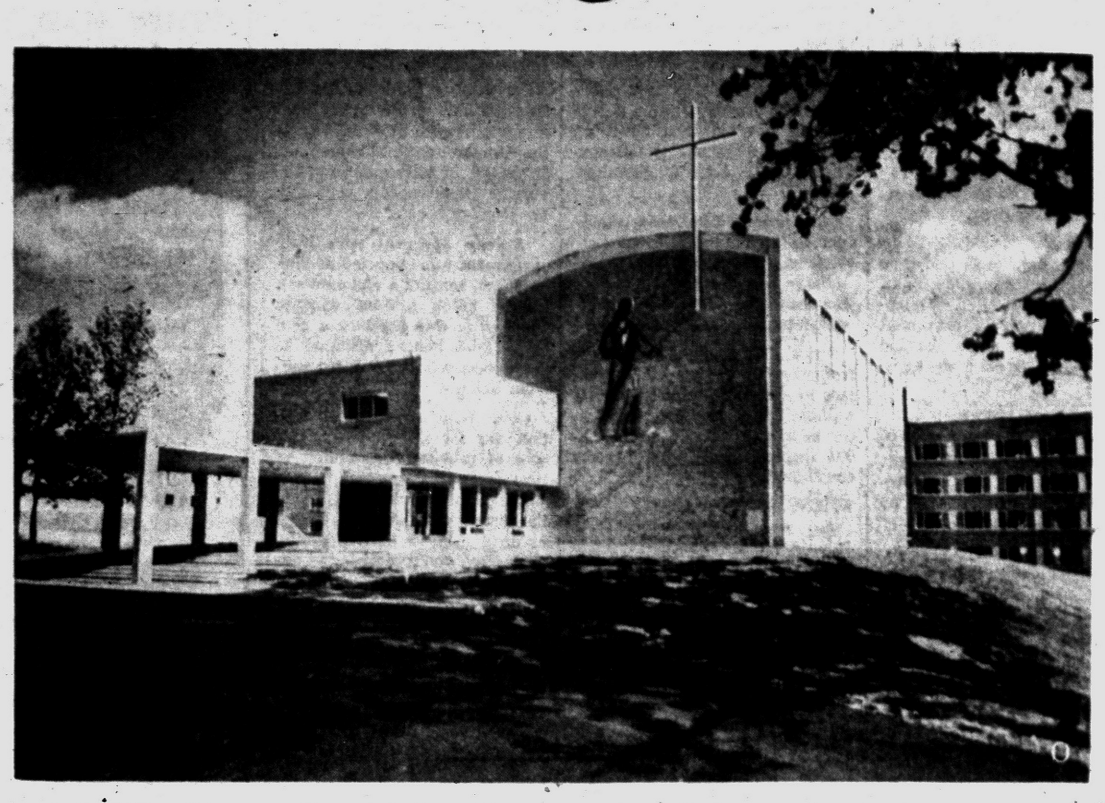

During the first two years of the four-year training course at the college, the young man makes a 30-day retreat, living in silence, meditation and prayer. At this time he is introduced to the Jesuit rule of life, learning and practicing humility and obedience.

For two more years, the young priest-to-be lives in the same seminary but in a different part of the building. He studies the classical languages in particular, and the other courses of a liberal arts college.

Accommodations for quiet prayer in the modern air-conditioned chapel are of utmost simplicity. Several other chapels have been included in plans throughout the new building, with stained glass windows, and ultra-modern appointments.

Brightly-colored draperies frame the huge plate-glass windows in the cheery dining room, where the young men are seated in groups of six at each table.

Guided tours of the buildings and grounds have been planned for the public Sunday.

EXTERIOR VIEW — The new novitiate of the Detroit Province Jesuits, Colombiere College, in Springfield Township, will be open for public inspection from 1 to 5 p. m. Sunday.

Big Horse Show Near Clarkston
Finish Rodeo Planning

INDEPENDENCE TOWNSHIP—Plans for one of the biggest horse shows in Michigan have been completed by the Clarkston Rotary and Dixie Highway Saddle clubs.

Beginning 9 a.m. Sunday, the show will be presented on the Glen Ellis farm on Dixie Highway, just north of Clarkston, and will continue until dark, according to Chairman Harry Waggener.

This is the sixth year the two clubs have sponsored the annual horse show.

Twenty different competitive events have been scheduled, and 10 saddle clubs from all parts of Michigan have been invited to participate.

Not only will there be western contests, but competition in English Classes will be included. Other events will also feature three-gaited horses.

After the grand parade at noon, there will be a broom polo contest between Dixie Saddle club and Oxford Saddle club.

The show will be held whether it rains or shines, according to Waggener, and all proceeds will be donated to the crippled children's fund, the Independence Township Fire Dept., polio fund and other worthy community projects.

Pioneer Church to Observe 125th Anniversary on Sunday

By REBA HEINTZELMAN

bers of West Highland Baptist Church will celebrate the 125th anniversary of the church's founding with an all-day observance Sunday.

Established in 1833 in a tiny log cabin, the church was the first of any denomination to be organized in this section of the county. Later the church officials helped organize Baptist churches in Milford, Holly, Howell and Parshallville, according to historical records.

A strict code for moral conduct was instituted at the first business meeting held in 1834, and a resolution was passed stating that "Any member who stays away from covenant meetings or the Lord's Supper twice shall be subject to a call from the com-

After the log cabin came meetings in a schoolhouse with a professional minister, the Rev. S. Morrell, hired to give one-half of his time for six months for a total salary of $125.

The records show that he lived in Walled Lake and walked the entire 14 miles to the Highland church for the Sunday services.

The more than a century-old church is located on Hickory Ridge road near M59.

Although the membership of the church has not shown a tremendous increase since the early days o board seats, plank floors, candles and fireplaces, the principles and code of ethics have remained practically the same.

Climax of the day-long observance will be at evening service at 7 p.m.

Miss Utica to Be Named

Decision Will Be Told Tomorrow; Won't Wait Till July 4th Parade

UTICA—A new format will be followed tomorrow night in the selection of "Miss Utica" who will reign over the Utica Lions Club's 13th annual Independence Day celebration.

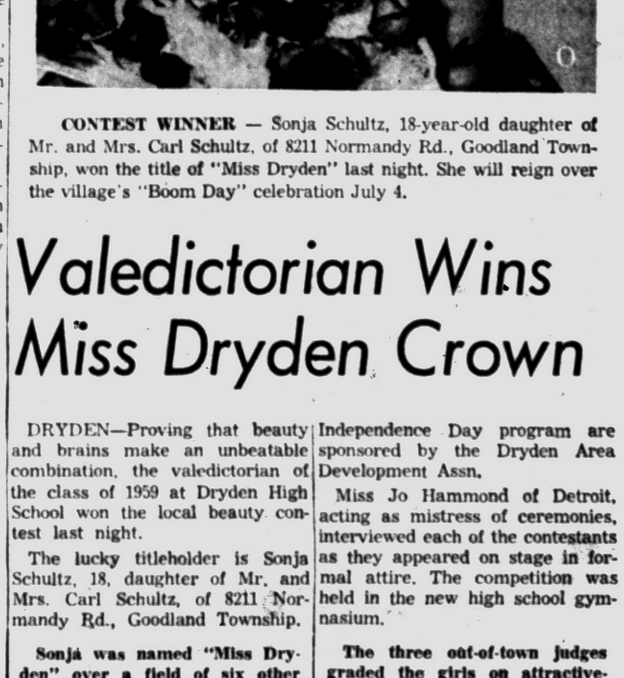

Instead of waiting for Gov. Williams to name the queen during the coronaiton ceremonies which precede the parade on July 4, announcement will be made immediately after the judges reach their decision.

The contest will be held at 8 p.m. in room 143 of Utica Community High School. Girls who will be vying for the title must be single, be between 17½ and 20 years of age and be residents of the Utica Community School district, according to Contest Chairman Francis Chapoton.

In previous years, the four out-of-town judges narrowed the field down to three finalists during the contest. Then the identities of the queen and her two maids of honor remained a secret until the governor placed the crown on the lucky girl's head.

In addition to receiving a crown, "Miss Utica" will ride in the place of honor on the Lions Club float in the July 4 parade through the center of town. She also will ride on the float in other area parades during the summer months.

Like other title-holders in neighboring communities, Utica's queen will be eligible to enter the Peach Queen competition in Romeo early in August.

CONTEST WINNER — Sonja Schultz, 18-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Schultz, of 8211 Normandy Rd., Goodland Township, won the title of "Miss Dryden" last night. She will reign over the village's "Boom Day" celebration July 4.

CAROL J. WOODEN

Mr. and Mrs. Royal L. Wooden, of 7115 Richardson Rd., Walled Lake, announce the engagement of their daughter, Carol Jean, to Gerald Thomas Tremper, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vern T. Tremper of 1126 Pontiac Trail, Walled Lake. The two, both graduates of Walled Lake High School, plan an Oct. 3. wedding.

Valedictorian Wins Miss Dryden Crown

DRYDEN—Proving that beauty and brains make an unbeatable combination, the valedictorian of the class of 1959 at Dryden High School won the local beauty contest last night.

The lucky titleholder is Sonja Schultz, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Schultz, of 8211 Normandy Rd., Goodland Township.

Sonja was named "Miss Dryden" over a field of six other aspirants for the crown. Two of the other girls were selected to serve as members of the queen's court. They were Jacque Arnold and Sharon Hillker, both 17.

Jacque is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Arnold of 231 Lake Pleasant Rd., Attica. Sharon's parents are the Paul Hillikers of 3795 N. Mill St., Dryden.

The trio will reign over Dryden's "Boom Day" celebration July 4. Both the contest and the Independence Day program are sponsored by the Dryden Area Development Assn.

Miss Jo Hammond of Detroit, acting as mistress of ceremonies, interviewed each of the contestants as they appeared on stage in formal attire. The competition was held in the new high school gymnasium.

The three out-of-town judges graded the girls on attractiveness, poise, appearance, personality and public speaking ability. They were Mrs. Robert Tripp of Lapeer Township, Marty Heim, Lapeer newspaperman, and Lee Winborn of The Pontiac Press.

The four other contestants were Janet Sterner, Sandra Hadley, Patricia Nagy and Mary Walker.

Earl Faulds was contest chairman. He was introduced by Jay Dittman, president of the sponsoring organization.

Buy, Sell Orders Are About Even

CHICAGO (AP)—Dealing in grain futures were at a fairly good rate during the first several minutes of activity today on the Board of Trade but orders to buy and sell were in about equal volume and the market showed little trend.

Rye and 1960 crop wheat contracts were firm. Other deliveries held within minor fractions of previous closes.

Dealers said there appeared to be a slight pickup in hedge selling of wheat but it still was described as well below the usual amount and this stage of the winter crop harvest.

Near the end of the first hour, however, prices had become strong in spots. Wheat was unchanged to ⅝ cent a bushel higher on the 1958 crop contracts, July $1.86⅝; the 1960 crop months up ⅝ to 1 cent; corn ⅛ lower to ½ higher, July $1.26½; oats unchanged to ⅝ higher, July new type contract 66½; rye ½ to 1¾ higher, July $1.26⅝; soybeans ½ to ¾ higher, July $2.23¾.

Nasty News Shield Drops Fast at MSU

EAST LANSING (AP)—Annoyance of embarrassing campus incidents led to a clampdown on news by campus police. But it was short lived.

MSU police eased off a refusal to confirm a $1,000 burglary in a campus golf course building in a matter of a few hours yesterday. Their reticence was blamed on crossed wires within university channels.

Campus police refused an account of the theft more than 12 hours after it occurred late Wednesday. Meanwhile, State Police provided the report customary in such cases.

The jitters apparently stemmed partly from a wave of unruly demonstrations by MSU students on three successive nights last week.

NO DISCIPLINE YET

Although the university has yet to announce disciplinary action, eight participants were hauled in by East Lansing City Police. Six were fined for disorderly conduct and too are awaiting trial.

Then on Wednesday came the revelation that a student ring had been caught selling final examinations stolen from faculty offices. Dr. John A. Hannah, MSU president, read about it in the newspapers.

Only the day before, Sen. Elmer R. Porter (R-Blissfield), Senate appropriations chairman and a key figure in MSU's current drive for a bigger operating budget, privately chided Hannah over the handling of last week's disorders.

Porter acknowledged that he told the university president that if he had been in charge some students would have been expelled from school for their part in what he called the "riots."

After learning of the exam thefts, Hannah Wednesday night ordered just such punishment for participants in the theft ring. He also ordered automatic flunks for students who used stolen exams.

James H. Denison, Hannah's administrative assistant, denied a report that the president directed campus police in the future to clear information through his office.

'INTERNAL UNHAPPINESS'

"This is principally an internal unhappiness," said Denison, a former newspaperman.

"The president said only that when something happens he or somebody else on the administrative staff should be told before reading it in the newspapers.

"I was told to talk to the police and work out a system which would satisfy everyone," he said.

Before noon yesterday, some newsmen received telephone calls from an MSU information officer offering any information available on the safe looting.

Timely Course in Geography

MSUO Summer Class to Spotlight Russia's Role in World Affairs

"Georgraphy of the Soviet Union" will be offered as a special feature of the summer school program of extension courses being presented by Michigan State University through Michigan State University Oakland.

According to Dr. Lowell Eklund, director of continuing education, the course will cover the physical and human geography of the U. S. S. R. with particular emphasis on its resulting role in world affairs.

"We are particularly pleased to be able to offer this course to the Oakland-Macomb community this summer," Eklund stated.

"It is not only a very timely course from the point of view of current international affairs, but Professor Edward Prophet, the course lecturer, is a nationally recognized expert in his field.

"He enjoys the reputation of being able to make geography 'live' for his students," Eklund said.

The course meetings will be held from 7 to 10 p.m. on Monday and Wednesday evenings for one month commencing June 22.

More information may be obtained at the MSUO Continuing Education Center, Butler and Adams roads.

614 Plans Drive at Gas Stations

Local Teamsters Unit Hopes to Organize All Attendants in State

Pontiac Teamsters Local 614 today began an all-out drive to organize more than 100,000 gas station employes throughout Michigan.

The disclosure came after Joseph Cory, president of the 17,000-member Michigan Gas Attendants Union (MGAU) revealed his membership had authorized a merger with the Teamsters International Union.

The merger agreement is now in the hands of Teamsters President James R. Hoffa and his legal advisers, said Cory.

Under the merger, the Teamsters stand to gain more than $500,000 a year from per capita taxes and a share in initiation fees, it was estimated.

Floyd B. Harmon, secretary-treasurer of Local 614, said the gas station employes would constitute a new division at Local 614, with the entire state as its territory.

Harmon and Cory are scheduled to become directors of the new division, along with Robert McLaughlin, MGAU secretary-treasurer, and Roland McMasters, member of the Teamsters Joint Council 43 in Detroit.

Main target in the new organizational drive will be Standard Oil Co. and "several other major companies," said Cory and McLaughlin.

One Standard station in Detroit already has been organized by the Teamsters, they said.

The MGAU, a miscellaneous union, up to now has centered its activities on small, independent oil companies.

While MGAU gas station workers will form the new division, other types of workers represented by the MGAU will go into other unions, the Teamsters where possible, said Cory.

Top-Level Talking on Steel Resumes

NEW YORK (AP) — Top-level contract negotiations in the basic steel industry resume today after a recess.

Four-man teams representing the United Steelworkers Union of America and the 12 largest steel companies are seeking to reach agreement on terms for a new contract before the current three-year pact expires June 30.

If no agreement is reached by that date, there almost certainly will be a strike by 500,000 union members employed in plants that produce 90 per cent of the country's steel.

Flashlight batteries with rechargeable cells are being developed for every day and commercial purposes.
