LEADS POLICE TO BODY — Augustine Baldonado, 25-year-old itinerant worker, shown here in the Ventura, Calif. jail with a detective, led police yesterday to the body of Mrs. Olga Duncan, missing since Nov. 17. Police said he admitted the allegedly hired murder.

Says Mother Hired Him to Murder Son's Wife

VENTURA, Calif. (UPI) — Police said today Mrs. Olga Duncan, 30, an expectant mother may have been buried alive by two men allegedly hired to kill her by her husband's mother.

The body of the attractive Canadian nurse was uncovered yesterday in a shallow, hand-dug grave in a construction area about 10 miles north of here. She was clad only in a nylon bathrobe.

Augustine Baldonado, 25, who broke down under intensive questioning, told police Mrs. Elizabeth Duncan, 54, hired him and Luis Moya, 22, for $6,000 to kill Olga. He led police to the grave, covered by six inches of dirt.

"Maybe she was alive when we buried her," he said, "I don't know. We strangled her and I think we killed her before we put her in the ground, but I'm not sure."

Authorities said it appeared the bizarre case developed from a triangle between Olga, her husband, Frank, and his mother who was afraid of losing her son, a prominent Santa Barbara attorney.

Only last week the often-wed mother confessed to police that she carried out a bold plot of posing as her own daughter-in-law and getting her son's marriage annulled.

District Attorney Roy Gustafson questioned Mrs. Duncan late last night but he refused to say if the woman denied Baldonado's charge that she hired the two men to kill her daughter-in-law.

Moya denied the charges, police said. He buried his face in his hands and muttered, "I don't see why he (Baldonado) would say I had anything to do with it."

In Benito, Manitoba, Canada, Olga's mother, Mrs. Jessie Kupczyk, was reported to have collapsed from shock and a heart attack when she learned that her daughter had been slain.

Elias Kupcyzk, 61, Olga's father, refused comment on the brutal slaying. He said he planned to leave for here shortly to arrange burial for his daughter.

Duncan was unavailable for comment.

De Gaulle Wins Landslide Vote

Third Victory Gives General 7-Year Term With Broad Powers

PARIS (AP) — Premier Charles de Gaulle's bandwagon rolled on in France Sunday with his third personal voting victory. As expected, members of the Electoral College overwhelmingly elected him the first president of the Fifth Republic.

The wartime hero, 68, who stepped aside as premier in 1946 rather than play second fiddle to the National Assembly, now can assume the presidency for a seven-year term with greatly increased powers. He will take over the office from Rene Coty, 76, Jan. 8.

The "rule by Assembly" of the Fourth Republic collapsed just as De Gaulle had predicted. Under special powers granted him to reform the French state after the revolt last May, De Gaulle wrote a new constitution with a strong executive.

His first victory came when the new constitution was approved by an 80 per cent vote in a September election.

In November, a new National Assembly was elected with a preponderance of De Gaulle followers.

In Sunday's presidential election De Gaulle got 78.5 per cent of the valid ballots of the grand electors, an Electoral College representing the French mainland and overseas territories.

Of 79,468 valid ballots, complete returns gave de Gaulle 62,392.

The two token opposition candidates ran far behind. Communist Georges Marrange, 70, mayor of the Paris suburb of Ivry, received 10,354 votes. Albert Chatelet, 75, a University of Paris dean and candidate of the non-Communist opposition to De Gaulle, got 6,722.

Until he takes over the presidency, De Gaulle remains premier with his broad special powers to rule by decree. These special powers automatically expire when he becomes president.

Oakland Votes to Table Action on Home Rule

Proposal to Put Issue on State Ballot Referred Back to Study Group

By GEORGE T. TRUMBULL JR.

Oakland County today removed itself from a proposal to have Michigan voters decide on the question of home-rule government for counties when supervisors went along with a suggestion that the question needs more study.

Supervisor John L. Carey of Springfield Township said the referral of the proposal to the Board of Supervisors' Legislative Committee was for "no other reason than to choke it off."

Carey's Special County Government Study Committee had presented a resolution which would have asked the Legislature "to develop and submit to the voters a relatively simple and flexible constitutional amendment, to grant to counties self-determination of governmental structure such as is now enjoyed by cities and villages."

Mrs. Elizabeth Mitchell, City of Lathrup Village supervisor, rose to move that the question be passed along to the Legislative Committee.

She said later, "I can see some merit in the plan, but think an important question of this kind should be given the most exhaustive study."

Mrs. Mitchell denied this was a delaying tactic, or that any group opposing the plan had put her up to the motion.

Siding with Mrs. Mitchell was Carl F. Ingraham, supervisor and mayor of Birmingham. He said a group of 14 mayors of the southern part of the county met last Thursday to request that the question be tabled for further study.

He said the group was "critical" of Carey's committee for bringing

Winter's Here, So They Say

For the second straight year, winter waltzed into Pontiac with warming temperatures, putting a damper on prospects for a white Christmas.

The grim, icy grip of autumn bowed out at 3:40 a.m. today, and winter's debut sent the mercury upward from zero to above freezing, with a forecast high of 42 tomorrow.

A year ago today, the high temperature was 54, and the daily highs then failed to dip below freezing for the remainder of the year.

The Weather Bureau forecast for the Pontiac area calls for temperatures to average about four degrees above the normal high of 34 and low of 21.

The outlook is for considerable cloudiness today with a high near 33. It will be partly cloudy and warmer tonight and tomorrow with a low of 30 tonight.

Winds will be southeasterly today at 10-18 m.p.h., shifting to westerly tonight and becoming west to northwest at 10-20 miles tomorrow.

The lowest temperature recorded in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. was 13. At 2 p.m. the mercury read 31.

The five-day outlook calls for little or no precipitation in the Pontiac area, indicating that there will be little snow on the ground by Christmas.

Occasional flurries are predicted but are expected to be quickly melted by the warming trend this week. Snow depths in the state today ranged from a trace in Detroit to 47 inches in Grand Marais in the Upper Peninsula.

Typical of the warming trend was Pellston, where the temperature was five below zero when winter bowed in today, compared to 31 below Saturday.

Holiday Air Travel Is Clogged by Strikes

By The Associated Press

A thick fog of labor troubles hung over holiday air travel today.

Strikes kept the giant fleets of American Airlines and Eastern Air Lines on the ground during the peak season of air travel.

★ ★ ★

Tens of thousands of passengers continued to scramble for alternate accommodations as Christmas approached.

Railroads and buses, already loaded with holiday travelers, reported a land office business.

Long waiting lists formed at other airlines.

Piles of Christmas mail were diverted to other carriers.

A pilots' walkout at midnight Friday grounded American. Eastern had been idled since Nov. 24 by a strike of mechanics and flight engineers.

NO BREAK SEEN

A breakthrough in deadlocked contract negotiations does not appear likely soon.

An American spokesman said no arrangements have been made for a resumption of talks between the company and the striking Air Lines Pilots Assn. A union spokesman and a federal mediator have predicted the strike will be a long one.

American notified 20,000 non-striking employes Sunday night they will be placed on emergency leave, without pay, after Jan. 4 if the strike goes beyond that date.

Bus Crash Kills 72 in Mexico

Conductor, Indian Girl Only 2 Survivors of Plunge Over Bank

From Our News Wires

OAXACA, Mexico — A bus loaded with Christmas shoppers overturned on the Pan-American Highway 40 miles southeast of here yesterday, killing 72 persons and injuring two in the worst traffic accident in Mexico's history.

All of the victims were believed to be Mexicans.

The speeding bus overturned and plunged over a six-foot bank paralleling the road when the driver swerved in an effort to avoid two persons walking down the highway. The two pedestrians and 70 of the 72 persons aboard the bus were killed.

The only survivors, the conductor of the bus and a 15-year-old Indian girl passenger, were seriously injured.

The dead included Julio Ortiz Diaz, the owner of the bus line.

Servicemen Get Home on SNAFU Schedules

DETROIT (AP) — Two Detroit servicemen brothers are home on furlough for the holidays with a strange story of how current airline strikes are snarling travel.

John Cadariu, 23, flew home from Frankfurt, Germany, Wednesday. His lengthy trip took 16 hours.

His brother Joe, 21, had a much shorter journey, from Fort Knox, Ky. Joe's travel time Saturday: 13½ hours, by bus (no air space available).

Goodman Store Blaze Destroys Most of Interior

Breaks Out Soon After Closing Time Sunday; No One Injured

Fire department officials today were investigating the cause of a blaze Sunday evening which destroyed the interior of Goodman's Department Store, 520 S. Saginaw, and caused an estimated $43,000 damages.

The fire, discovered at 6 p.m., was confined to the basement and first-floor of the two-story brick building.

Two apartments on the second floor were damaged by smoke, but flames did not reach them, according to Charles E. Metz, city fire marshal.

No one was injured.

William Goodman, co-owner of the store, said he and five other workers left the store at 5:45 p.m.

The store, ordinarily open until 4 p.m. Sundays, had stayed open late because of the Christmas holidays.

★ ★ ★

Nothing unusual was noticed when they made a last-minute check before leaving, Goodman said.

Metz said the contents of the building, estimated at $35,000, were a total loss.

He estimated damage to the building itself at approximately $8,000.

The fire started in the basement level under the store's single stairway, Metz said.

As three fire engines and a ladder truck arrived on the scene, an explosion blew out the front window glass panes.

Bits of glass flew across Saginaw street as the firemen were laying down hoses.

Firemen reported difficulty battling the flames because of the single stairway leading to the basement.

The fire was brought under control at 7:30 p.m. The last engine left the store shortly after 10 p.m.

★ ★ ★

Goldfine Draws Jail Sentence

BOSTON, Mass. (AP) — U.S. Dist. Judge Charles E. Wyzanski Jr. today sentenced New England industrialist Bernard Goldfine to three months in jail for contempt of court in failing to turn over company records in a tax probe.

★ ★ ★

Miss Mildred Paperman, his secretary for many years, was given 10 days in jail. Sentences will start Jan. 7. Both were released in personal recognizance of $1,000.

Judge Wyzanski found Goldfine guilty last Friday of failing to produce records of Lebanon Mills, Lebanon, N.H. He was found innocent of two other counts involving Lebandale Mills, Lebanon, N.H., and George Mabbett Co. of Plymouth, Mass.

Miss Paperman was found guilty on two counts, involving Lebanon and Lebandale Mills, and innocent in connection with the Mabbett firm.

In another court action, Goldfine and other officers of the East Boston Co., a realty concern, were to answer to civil contempt charges brought by the Securities and Exchange Commission.

Shopping Snooper Has Timely Tips

In a Tizzy Over Last-Minute Gifts?

By JANET ODELL

Last minute call for shoppers. You still have a couple of days left before the BIG day. Let's round up a few odds and ends of suggestions from the Shopping Snooper.

You can still buy old fashioned rose jars —you know, the kind filled with dried rose petals. In contrast, the same store shows bubble bath in soda glasses. It also has tiny square ash trays made of heavy glass. There is a matching lighter.

A boxed set of dish towels, plus a pair of salt and pepper shakers and a redwood spice rack, would please a homemaker. She might also like a knife made for cutting packages of frozen food.

Give that man a fisherman's friend, which is a tool that is "twelve tools in one." For next summer he will like having a brush to clean the barbecue grill.

One store has imported a number of exclusive serving dishes, made to order. They are decorated with an attractive flower pattern. This flower, which grows inside prison walls, is called prison or Venetian flower.

The same store has another set of larger serving dishes that can only be described as luscious. The bowl and chop plate we saw had a gigantic pink rose on each.

There are inexpensive, but attractive plastic cake servers and salad spoons. One store carries tiny leather change purses that close like an umbrella. You can buy a set of tropical sea shells to start a young collector on his way.

If nothing else pleases you, buy a Swedish door harp for that difficult individual. Merry Christmas!

Infamous Herod Fails to Halt 3 Who Walk in Grace

God's Light Guides Wise Men to Birthplace of Christ

(After obtaining from Herod the place of birth of the Savior promised in Jewish tradition — and giving in return the time they first saw the Star — the Magi departed for Bethlehem with misgivings about Herod's intentions. This is the fourth in a five-part series on the journey to Jesus.)

By GEORGE CORNELL
AP Religious Writer

POPPED UP with cushions, King Herod the Great watched with canny eyes as the bejeweled curtains parted and the three Eastern philosophers were ushered before him.

They bowed in their accustomed manner, stretching forth their hands at knee level.

After an exchange of amenities, Herod leaned forward, entwining his veined fingers. Perspiration beaded his forehead as he spoke:

"At what time, my astute doctors, did ye observe this 'astar Theios'—this Divine star?" Taut lines creased his ashen countenance.

The Magi, whether they realized it or not, were in a precarious position. Their report of a new-born prince had stirred up all Jerusalem, and caused consternation among authorities.

For less than this, Herod often had lopped heads. In the 36 years since the Roman Senate gave him Judea's throne, his reign was strewn with victims suspected of sedition, including sons, wife and other relatives.

Now a deathly sick, half-mad man of 69 still tortured with fear of insurrection and assassination plots, he had acted with characteristic vehemence to trace this latest unrest.

Before summoning the Magi to a private audience, he had obtained a full account of their claims from informers, and had ordered Judea's foremost scholars brought before him for questioning.

RARE ILLUSTRATION — Almost 500 years old, this picture shows the Magi on their way to Bethlehem. The woodcut is from John of Hieldesheim's story of the three kings, published in 1484. The rare book is carefully preserved at the Pierpont Morgan Library in New York.

These had included leading members of the Jewish religious and civil court, the Sanhedrin—the chief priests and experts on religious law, the scribes—all of them obviously in fright.

Knowing Herod's blood-letting habits, they must have stood there white and rigid as he demanded they give details of the prophecied Christ. What do the books say? Where is this Godly king supposed to be born?

"In Bethlehem of Judea," a quaking counselor had said. "For thus it is written by the prophet: 'And thou Bethlehem art not the least among the princes of Juda: for out of thee shall come a governor, that shall rule my people Israel'."

So nervous had the man been that he somewhat misquoted the Prophet Micah who had written 700 years before:

"But thou, Bethlehem, though thou be little among the thousands of Judah, yet out of thee shall he come forth that is to be ruler in Israel; Whose goings forth have been from of old, from everlasting . . .

"And he shall . . . be great unto the ends of the earth. And this man shall be the peace."

In any case, Herod, after ascertaining the geographical locale foreseen for the event, turned his attention to the

Bedroom Blaze Kills City Man

Neighbor Tries in Vain to Rescue Victor Lopus From Flames

A Pontiac man was burned to death Saturday when a fire broke out in the bedroom of his home at 114 W. Hopkins Ave.

A neighbor, Kenneth Upton, of 112 W. Hopkins St., saw flames and smoke pouring from the bedroom of Victor Lopus, 47. He dashed into the home in a desperate rescue attempt.

Lopus was pronounced dead on arrival at Pontiac General Hospital. According to firemen, he apparently suffocated from smoke. They also said the body was badly burned.

Cause of the fire was attributed to careless smoking, according to City Fire Marshal Charles Metz.

Upton told firemen he found the body of Lopus out of bed and that he was clutching the telephone, apparently trying to call someone.

Flames were confined to the bedroom of the single-story frame home. A hole had been burnt through the floor.

Damage to the building was reported at $1,000.

Lopus lived alone.

U.S. Production Remains High

Output for '58 Shows Only 3 Per Cent Drop Despite Recession

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Despite the recession, the nation's industrial production in 1958 is expected to fall only slightly below last year's record high.

The Commerce Department estimated yesterday that total U. S. production of goods and services will be 437 billion dollars by the end of the year, compared with the 1957 output of 440 billion dollars.

With adjustments made to compensate for higher prices in 1958, the drop would amount to three per cent — less than had been anticipated in view of the economic slump this year.

The government report came as Rep. Henry S. Reuss (D-Wis.) called on Congress to set up an advisory council to hold hearings on proposed price and wage hikes in major industries.

Reuss also announced that he would introduce a bill to require greater consultation on economic policy matters between the President and the semi-independent Federal Reserve Board.

He said the President "shrugs off a large part of his economic responsibility" by leaving the attack on inflation primarily to the reserve board. His statement added that measures taken by the board to curb inflation have proved largely ineffective.

Under Reuss' bill, the board would retain its independence but would be required to confer with the President on regulation of credit and interest rates. The agency and the White House also would be required to report any disagreements to Congress, he said.

Reuss is a member of a joint congressional committee which has been looking into the relationship between prices and general economic growth and stability.

Ingrid Weds 3rd Time in London

PARIS (AP) — Ingrid Bergman called the cops today so she could honeymoon in peace with her new husband, wealthy Swedish business man Lars Schmidt.

The 42-year-old Swedish actress and her third spouse, who is 41, eluded press and public Sunday and were married in a quiet civil ceremony in London.

By the time the press tumbled to the marriage, the couple had flown to Paris and taken refuge in a little walled farm Schmidt owns 15 miles from Paris.

By dawn, the farm was besieged by newsmen and photographers, who began mounting the wall. Miss Bergman called the gendarmes from the nearby village and they ordered the press off the wall.

In marrying again, Miss Bergman defied the Rome Court of Appeal which is considering a state prosecutor's contest of a lower Rome court's decree annulling her marriage to Italian film director Roberto Rossellini.

She had announced months ago that she would wed Schmidt when she was free from Rossellini.

At a hearing last Friday in Rome her attorney was warned that remarriage before the appeal court's decision "would be highly detrimental to her case." Another hearing is scheduled Feb. 3.

really could have been terrible," he said.

Metz said there is a good possibility the fire started much earlier than the time the alarm was turned in to the fire station.

INTENSE HEAT

Charred brown pieces of glass from the front display window indicates the possibility that intense heat built up inside the building before flames started spreading throughout the structure, he said.

Three clocks in the store all had stopped at 5:57.

The fire may have spread when sparks reached some paint cans which were nearby, Metz said.

Goodman said the last persons to leave the store before closing were a woman and six children who had been shopping in the basement. He was unable to say whether they had been near the stairway, under which the fire is believed to have started, or to identify them.

The store is owned jointly by Goodman, 29, of 520 S. Saginaw St., and his father, Eugene Goodman, 64, of 17564 Woodingham, Detroit.

Holiday Air Traffic Clogged by Strike

pending a company settlement with the engineers.

The pilots' strike at American drew criticism from two California officials.

Rep. H. Allen Smith (R-Calif) and Los Angeles Mayor Norris Poulson both wired ALPA president Clarence Sayen strongly protesting the calling of the strike just before the Christmas season.

The strikes disrupted travelers' plans for the second consecutive holiday. Pre-Thanksgiving air travel was choked by a strike at Trans World Airways as well as at Eastern. The TWA strike has since been settled.

American operates chiefly on cross-country runs east and west with 195 planes its says represent the largest domestic fleet. They go in and out of 77 cities in 26 states.

Eastern flies mostly north and south in the eastern part of the country. Its 188 planes serve 123 cities in 25 states, plus the Canadian cities of Ottawa and Montreal, Mexico City, Bermuda and Puerto Rico.

Wages are the main issue in the American dispute. The pilots contend that the pay scale of other lines is higher than theirs, which ranges from $400 to $1,602 monthly. An American spokesman said $2,234 would be the top pay under a company offer.

The company claimed that an hour before the strike deadline, the union renewed a demand for a 75-hour work month instead of 85 hours for pilots on jet planes.

Eastern said its flight engineers went out because the company adopted the recommendation of a presidential board that the engineers should have pilot training for service on jets.

God's Light Guides Magi to Birthplace of Christ

PONDERED ACTION

What steps should he take? To execute them could bring grave political repercussions, for they held royal rank, and carried "safe conduct" tablets from Persia's bellicose Parthian ruler, Phraates IV.

Next to the Romans, the Parthians then were the world's hautiest military power. Their famed horsemen and archers had overwhelmed many an elite corps and Phraates had exchanged tokens of peace with the Roman Emperor Augustus.

★ ★ ★

So Herod had them called ceremoniously into his presence.

They were regal looking figures, straight and keen eyed, dressed in costly robes.

"Atharvans," they were titled, "guardians of the fire," clerks of astronomy, said to have once been of Persia's tribe of Medes.

As the interview began, Herod restrained himself carefully. "Ye have spoken in the shops and streets of a new kingly son," he said, "yet there has been no issue of late in this household." He smiled grimly. "I can well vouchsafe for that."

Then he leaned forward, and in confidential tones, inquired at what time the star had appeared, for this would determine the moment of nativity, and the present age of the child.

MELCHIOR ANSWERED

The senior magus, Melchior, studied Herod for a moment, then precisely set forth the month, day and hour of the heavenly sign. He also recounted the time that had elapsed since in preparation and travel.

Altogether it apparently had been more than a year since the star's appearance, as indicated by the length of the trip, and Herod's subsequent action against Bethlehem children up to 2 years of age.

His meeting with the Magi probably came near his final, disease-ridden year of life, for he died in 4 B.C., in a maniacal rage after learning the Magi had circumvented him. Thus, the likely date of the star was 6 B.C.

After getting this information, Herod, hoping to use the Magi's abilities to lead him to the specific child, advised them of his findings from the Jewish advisors—that the site was Bethlehem.

"Go and search diligently for the young child," Herod said ingratiatingly, "and when ye have found him, bring me word again, that I may come and worship him also."

The Magi departed, dubious about Herod's intent, but nevertheless with freshened certainty that they neared their objective. The latest turn of affairs was highly encouraging after the fruitless inquiries in Jerusalem.

STAR APPEARED

"And, lo, the star, which they saw in the east, went before them, till it came and stood over where the young child was," Matthew's gospel relates. "When they saw the star, they rejoiced with exceeding great joy."

It was a short, five-mile ride from Jerusalem to Bethlehem, and varying theories and traditions from olden times have come down about the star's second appearance.

Since it first appeared in the east, the earth's course around the sun could have left it obliterated in the daylight sky for many months before it appeared again in the westerly night sky.

Astronomy also has recorded "variable stars" — those that burst into splendor briefly only to fade and remain dormant for an extended period before exploding again into brilliance.

It also has been determined that the dog-star Sirius, brightest of the fixed stars, rose helaically before dawn—a strikingly rare sight—in 5 B.C. on the first of the Egyptian month Mesori, meaning "Presentation of the prince."

Some analysts note that the phrase saying the star "went before them," in its usual Testament sense, does not mean it guided them, but rather that it arrived there in advance of them.

Whatever the details, scripture is not written to instruct in astronomy or the physical sciences, but to guide men to the Lord himself, and the natural wonder—the light of the star—inevitably is less that the supernatural wonder—the light of Christ on earth.

And whether it was a comet, a pillar of fire, the reappearance of a star, or the flaring of a new one that led them to that house, they moved, not alone at the behest of a handy, miraculous beacon, but as all men must, in the light of events, with grace.

For in God's intricate design, even Herod, bent on murder, had contributed to the illumination of the wise.

Six Ships Escaping Ice Jam

MONTREAL (AP) — Six European ships broke through the mounting St. Lawrence River ice blockade between Montreal and Quebec City over the weekend and steamed for the open waters of the Atlantic.

The six are the Swedish freighter Uddenholmi, the Germans Christian Sartori and Alexandra Sartori, the British Vanguard and Asia and the Norwegian Thorsdrake.

More were to follow them into the St. Lawrence estuary below Quebec City today, including five which were tied up at the provincial capital during the night — the Swedish freighter Ragneborg, the Germans Elfriede and Virgilia, the British Wendover and the Liberaian Elimarie.

Sweden has about one motor car for every 13 persons.

County Home Rule Proposal Tabled

the matter before the Board of Supervisors before supervisors of the many different areas had the opportunity to discuss the plan with their constituents.

"Not one member of their group ever contacted me or attended any of our meetings," declared a disappointed Carey.

A roll call vote of the 74 supervisors present for this special December meeting showed the majority in favor of postponement, and only a scattering of "no" votes against.

Oakland County's pulling out of the plan, for the time being at least, does not eliminate entirely the possibility that the question of home rule will be on the April 6 state ballot.

Wayne County, which had sought Oakland's support in the plan, might move ahead in this direction despite today's action by the Oakland supervisors. Wayne supervisors approved a similar resolution, such as offered by Carey this morning, at a meeting Nov. 13.

Support, too, might be in the offing from other metropolitan counties, observers point out.

Carey predicted that Wayne County, with its large delegation in the Legislature, might win the suggested constitutional amendment even if it goes it alone in Lansing.

Despite today's upset vote against his committee, Carey insisted that his group would do all it could to help the Legislative Committee in its study. "I still feel home rule is the answer to more efficient governmental operations," he said.

★ ★ ★

The proposal would simply have asked the House of Representatives and State Senate to grant an enabling or permissive amendment to the Constitution which would have given counties the power to frame their own governing charters flexible enough to suit their individual needs.

News Flash

MONTREAL, Que. (AP) — An explosion and fire demolished a duplex tenement in Montreal's East End today.

The bodies of two children were found in the ruins, and firemen said they feared two or three other persons had been trapped in the brick and wood building.

Hoffa to Push Contract

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Teamsters boss James Hoffa said yesterday the union was willing to spend all of the 38 million dollars in its treasury if necessary to secure a nationwide contract for truck drivers and dockmen when the present pact expires in 1961.

The Day in Birmingham

Mental Health Society to Appeal for Support

BIRMINGHAM — City commissioners tonight will consider an appeal from Fred Thompson, a member of the county's Michigan Society for Mental Health, to improve treatment and care services.

The chapter is seeking municipal support in their attempt to procure facilities of the former contagious hospital on Telegraph road for mental patients.

A survey by Mrs. L. Jerome Fink, chapter president, outlines the critical shortage of facilities to care for mental disease in both children and adults.

Commissioners also will be asked to approve special assessment district refunds amounting to $4,726 and involving 31 owners. Refunds are on the Cole street paving, water and sewer mains, and the Commerce street paving.

The S. S. Kresge Co. continues its stand that it wants no part of the proposed Maple-Bates alley. John B. Hollister, vice president of the firm, in a letter to commissioners said that the alley is not of any use to the company, which operates a store there, nor will it be in the future.

"It is our intention to use every measure available to us to oppose our inclusion in the special assessment district for the proposed alley," Hollister said.

The Mormon Church's first tabernacle of the Detroit area held initial services yesterday.

Its spire towering above the landscape, the new $700,000 house of worship in suburban Bloomfield Hills included a Christmas program in the services.

Among church officials present was George Romney, president of American Motors Corp. Romney is president of the Detroit Stake (Diocese) of the church. Mrs. Romney led the Sunday School discussion.

The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, as the Mormons church is formally known, will dedicate the tabernacle at a later date. Dignitaries from church headquarters at Salt Lake City will then be here.

Simplicity marked the initial services in the brick and concrete tabernacle. Mormons do not practice extensive liturgy.

The tabernacle is formally known as the Pontiac Ward (parish)-Detroit Stake (diocese) Center. Ralph M. Johnson is Bishop of Pontiac Ward.

Several organized activities are curtailing the public's evening use of the Eton Park Rink throughout the holidays. Attendance at the rink has so far been good in spite of Quarton Lake being used for skating as well, Recreation Director Robert Girardin reported today.

Although the city does not sponsor any activities at the lake it is cooperating by removing snow from the ice.

Dr. Alfred D. Grey, interim minister of the Congregational Church of Birmingham has announced the purchase of a home in Birmingham.

Dr. Grey will retire from the ministry on Feb. 15. "This is my fourth retirement, and I hope I can make it stick," he said.

Dr. and Mrs. Grey came here last September from Canada.

The Junior class at Birmingham High School has completed delivery of 11,989 pounds of candy. Top salesmen were Carol Miner, Dick Humphrey, and Jerry Green with over 200 pounds each. Proceeds will go for junior class expenses, including the J-Hop annual dance honoring the senior class.

Henry Ford Warns Against Khrushchev

DETROIT (AP) — Henry Ford II says "I wouldn't trust that Khrushchev any farther than I could throw this office building and that isn't very far."

"Anybody who would take the friendly talk of that man seriously is very naive."

Ford's comments were based on the automobile company executive's recent month-long tour of Europe.

Ford cautioned about the Soviet's modified attitude toward the West. At the same time he said the Soviet has been beating the United States in a "ruble war" by "buying their way" into under-developed countries.

"They have all kinds of plans," Ford said. "No matter what the particular problem of the country may be, they have a plan that is supposed to be a solution."

Ford advocated for the United States a partnership of business and government for economic development abroad on the basis of need and practicality.

Cautioning against restrictive tariffs, he said Europe's economic progress provides competition with American industry for U.S. markets.

He said restrictive tariffs "never would win over the rest of the world that we are relying on to appreciate us. We have got to learn to compete without such restrictive action."

Ford said England and West Germany have virtually full employment. He said their auto companies are "going all out."

He said he doubted that American industry would recover the European market that it lost to the European small car because European driving and travel habits differ so much from America's.

Farmer in Driveway Killed by Snowplow

PELLSTON (AP)—Earl F. Bonter, 54, an Emmet County farmer, was killed yesterday when he was run over by a snow plow in his driveway.

Authorities said Bonter had asked the County Road Commission to send out the plow to clear his driveway so he could take his mother to a Petoskey hospital.

Stanley J. Krupa, 40, of Cross Village, the operator of the plow, said he did not see Bonter standing in the driveway when he backed up.

Hal Boyle Says:

Man Leaves Big City to Find His Fortune

NEW YORK (AP) — Ever get tired of hearing about the guy who left a small town to make good in the big city?

Well, here's the story of a guy who got tired of the big city and left it to do better elsewhere.

Harry Singer, a self-made millionaire, is a stocky, dark personable man who probably could sell a wrist watch to a century plant.

He was born here only 37 years ago, the son of an Austrian immigrant who made a hard living in the handbag business. At 18 he quit college because he found it too hard both to eat and study on an $8-a-week delivery boy's wage.

"I also felt dad couldn't go on working forever the way he had been," Harry recalled. "So we borrowed $300 in 1939 and started our own handbag factory."

It prospered from the start, and the firm was doing a million-dollar-a-year business when Singer wearied of the big city rat race, sold out, and went to Florida.

★ ★ ★

"I just got tired of New York City and everything about it," he said. "I got tired of working 12 hours a day. I got tired of spending two hours a day on commuter trains. I got tired of the climate."

Harry settled in the Miami area and went into the real estate field at the beginning of Florida's tremendous postwar building surge. Since then he has handled the brokerage on real estate deals totaling in the neighborhood of a 100 million dollars.

He also invested his own funds cannily. Today he owns the land under four hotels and motels. He is building in Miami the new Central Shopping Plaza, a 40-acre 10-million-dollar project.

★ ★ ★

Next month he opens the seven-million-dollar Montmartre, newest hotel along glittering Miami Beach. It is situated on the old Firestone estate just north of the swank Eden Roc and Fontaine-bleau. It took Singer six years of legal battling to break zoning restrictions barring hotels from that part of the beach.

Harry doesn't like to be classified as "a booster," but he does feel the growth future of Florida—and other areas outside New York City—are unlimited.

He has a modest success formula.

"All it takes to get ahead," he said, "is a lot of imagination, a willingness to gamble, and 95 per cent luck.

"I've met a lot of smarter people than I who didn't make the grade simply for one reason—they didn't get the breaks.

"But I do think one thing more is important. You have to have a willingess to fight for what is worthwhile."

Being a millionaire at 37 isn't even Singer's idea of success.

★ ★ ★

"The successful man really is the one who is satisfied," he said. "I don't think I've found that kind of success at all. Peace of mind is very important, and I still pace back and forth in my head too much."

Asked what he misses most from his old life in New York City, Harry, shivering in his tan polo coat, looked down at the icy pavement, up at the gaunt, wintry metropolitan skyline.

"Nothing," he said firmly. "It's a great place to visit, but I'd rather make my life somewhere else.

"Here nobody really cares what you do. But in other places if you do something big or worthwhile, the community is proud of you for it."

Historical Novelist Feuchtwanger Dies

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Author Lion Feuchtwanger, political-historical novelist of international repute, died at a hospital Sunday at 74.

His works include "Power," a 1926 historical novel later banned in Nazi Germany because of its anti-Fascist implications. Other volumes included "The Ugly Duchess," in 1928, and "Josephus" in 1932, both best sellers of their time.

The German-born writer was hospitalized Saturday for a recurrence of an old stomach ailment and died after two gastric hemorrhages.

Amos 'n' Andy Authors Pallbearers for Kingfish

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The original Amos 'n' Andy — Freeman Gosdn and Charles Correll —were among honorary pallbearers for Harry R. Moore, 70, the "Kingfish" of the television series.

Last rites for Moore were conducted Saturday at Mt. Sinai Baptist church. He died of tuberculosis a week earlier.

Ex-Governor's Sister Injured by Prowler

DETROIT (AP) — Adele Groesbeck, sister of the late Gov. Alex J. Groesbeck, remained under treatment today for injuries suffered at a prowler's hands.

Miss Groesbeck, 87, was reported in fair condition at Holy Cross Hospital.

She suffered a fractured hip. She said she was hurt when the prowler pushed her to the floor while robbing her apartment of $200.

Appropriately Named

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Staff members of the Natural History Museum during the last 45 years have included a Miss Peacock, Miss Woodcock, a Mr. Quail and a Mr. Gander. Only Gander survives.

Unknown Girl Started Custom

Nation's Christmas Tree Was First Begun in '25 in California Forest

SANGER, Calif. (AP)— An unknown little girl, who today would be a woman in her mid-40s, inspired the designation of the Nation's Christmas Tree, and with it one of the country's most impressive outdoor Christmas services.

★ ★ ★

If she can be found, the Nation's Christmas Tree Festival Committee would like to honor her at this year's 34th annual service, which will be held the Sunday before Christmas beneath the awesome majesty of a giant sequoia.

Norman Holt of Sanger, manager of the festival, says the story of the little girl was told to him by the late Charles E. Lee, the man who originated the annual pilgrimage.

Lee related that in 1924 he was with a party of tourists viewing the great trees in the Sierra Nevada range 55 miles east of Fresno. He and a little girl, about 10, became separated from the others and found themselves gazing up at the shimmering branches of the sequoia known as "The General Grant Tree," 267 feet above them.

★ ★ ★

Gripping his hand, she exclaim "My! What a wonderful Christmas Tree it would be!"

Then she slipped away in the shadows, and Lee never saw her again and never had any idea of her identity. But her remark stuck in his memory.

The next Christmas, in 1925, Lee started the services in the snow at the base of the 3,500-year-old tree, 6,500 feet up in the mountains.

Fewer than 100 persons attended the non-denominational services, but the crowd has grown each year until now it averages 2,000 to 2,500.

An act of Congress in 1955 designated the tree as a national shrine to American servicemen, living and dead. It was so dedicated in 1956 by Adm. Chester Nimitz, acting as President Eisenhower's personal representative.

★ ★ ★

While he has undertaken no organized search for the girl who inspired the developments, Chairman Holt says he would like to find her for this year's services.

"It would be a fitting tribute," he said, "to this woman who, as a child, proved the truth of the saying that 'out of the mouths of babes great wisdom flows.'"

Statue Weighs 22 Tons

Control of Outer Space Puts USA in Limelight

With a giant four ton moon flashing around the world every hour and a half, once again the United States leaps into the front ranks in a wierd contest for outer space control.

We've regained the crown.

This giant Atlas missile is IT.

★ ★ ★

Oddly, international honor and supremacy, revolve around two competing nations' abilities to hurl huge hunks into the nether regions; but such is the tempo of the times. It's a shot in the arm to general morale in the U. S. A. It's a definite lift and stimulant to all our scientific workers. And finally, it has eye appeal for the world in general.

★ ★ ★

Today, too many sober minded peoples and nations gage world standing and importance on things as queer as this. Once these demonstrations would have been considered mere spectacles; but now they're adjudged as points of international supremacy. Perhaps someone can attack someone through this newest medium.

★ ★ ★

At any rate, in this country we can all rejoice. Our satellite is three times bigger than anything the Communists have been able to pitch into space. It promises to open up whole new fields of scientific investigation and make valuable contributions to our own understanding of the outer regions.

★ ★ ★

The United States of America is back where she belongs — on top of the scientific and atomic heap. The Reds will have to stop flexing their biceps for a time and hasten back into the laboratories. And don't write them off; they're mean competitors. They have been spurring us on to do our best. And our best always makes us the "hostess with the mostest on the ball."

Democratic Document Difficult to Implement

As a statement of objectives the document prepared by the Democratic Advisory Council is idealistic and courageous, naturally.

There is nothing new in the council's statements on foreign policy nor defense. While criticizing the Administration for allegedly allowing "arbitrary budget figures" to determine national security programs, it strongly supports foreign economic assistance and expansion of the Development Loan Fund.

The Administration is taken to task for lack of measures to encourage economic growth. The council asserts that the United States must attain an annual increase rate of five per cent and that tax reform should be geared to this economic growth. It deplores high interest rates and inflation.

However, among other things, the Democrats didn't explain how they were going to restrain inflationary forces and at the same time keep interest rates low. Nor had they any specific farm plan to take the place of the Benson programs which they condemn.

★ ★ ★

They were forthright in their approach to reform of Senate rules and protection of civil rights. The council stated bluntly that filibusters should be curbed by majority vote after reasonable debate. Sideswiping the Administration on the school integration issue, the Democrats called for civil injunctive proceedings on behalf of persons deprived of equal protection of the laws.

★ ★ ★

Performance, of course, will fall far short of Democratic objectives. The party is by no means united and the document does not pretend to represent Southern views. Senate Majority Leader JOHNSON and House Speaker RAYBURN, both of whom occupy middle positions, will have to make some practical compromises with Southerners to unite the party.

Two Driveways Needed at New Post Office

Pontiac's new Post Office building on West Huron Street is working out very well. In both its exterior design and its interior layout, it is attractive and efficient.

Ample parking area apparently has been provided for postal vehicles, as well as for the use of the public, except at holiday time. However, some study might well be given to the provision made for entrance to and exit from the public parking area.

★ ★ ★

Here only one driveway has been provided, although a second driveway, adjacent to the Fox Drycleaning plant and presumably owned by it, is being used by some Post Office patrons in an effort to leave the parking area without undue delay.

★ ★ ★

Because only one driveway actually was set aside for Post Office patrons, when a car is waiting in this driveway to move out into the traffic on West Huron Street, other cars, seeking to enter, tie up the street traffic during busy hours. If this situation continues, accidents probably will occur.

If it is possible for postal authorities to obtain the use of the driveway adjacent to the Fox plant, it would be possible to eliminate, or at least greatly reduce, the present dangerous situation. Slight changes in the parking area and the placing of a few signs would then assist in informing the public as to which driveway is to be used as an entrance.

★ ★ ★

Needless to say, the present situation already is far superior to that which existed at the old Post Office building downtown where no parking area was available to the public. However, if improvement is possible at the new location, it might well be accomplished before any serious accidents occur.

Your Wheel of Fortune

David Lawrence Says:

U.S. Not So Backward After All

WASHINGTON — Something of a belated realization that maybe America isn't so backward after all seems to have swept the world as a consequence of the Atlas satellite launched into orbit.

LAWRENCE

The aerial demonstration has scientific value, of course, and it is fascinating to listen to the words of the President flung back from outer space through miraculous inventions in the field of electronics.

But it is a stunt, after all, and the significance from a military viewpoint is not immediately any greater than when the concept of an intercontinental ballistic missile itself first became a reality a few years ago.

The importance to the citizen is the effect that all these stunts have on the federal budget. It's important from a propaganda viewpoint to catch up with the Russian "prestige," but it is also important to keep focusing on military weapons rather than scientific achievements just for the sake of science.

Back of all the technical debate about new scientific developments is a grim battle for the citizen's dollar. It takes a good deal of courage for the President to rearrange the main items of the military budget so that first things will come first.

It is difficult to answer publicly the protests of those persons with an ax to grind, who keep on crying out that America is behind and that the administration is neglecting this or that weapon. One reason is that public debate of this kind can only operate to the benefit of the potential enemy.

America is moving ahead non-politically, non-partisanly and with the best brains of science and industry trying to give America the weapons needed with which to conduct a massive retaliation if this country or its allies should suddenly be attacked.

Even the clamor for diplomatic talks has been recognized by the administration, which has sent envoys again and again to confer with the Communist representatives at Geneva and other places, only to discover that the "talk" idea is just a Soviet maneuver intended to make it appear that the United States wants war and not peace.

The "Sputnik" episode has been a destructive rather than a constructive influence. It has initiated, for instance, some caustic criticism of our educational system. It led to campaigns to get extra funds from Congress for purposes quite unrelated to the battle of the satellites in outer space.

Also, the entire military budget of the United States has been subjected to criticism based on a supposed need for big amounts of money to participate in the "Sputnik" race.

Now that America has shown that her scientists can equal, if not surpass, the Soviet scientists, it is to be hoped that a sense of balance will be achieved and that needless expenditure of vast sums to get to the moon will not be made at a time when the problem of balancing a budget and saving the dollar from rapid deterioration is perhaps the biggest down-to-earth problem faced by this country in its economic history.

America has proved that she, too, can do stunts in outer space. Now it is hoped the skeptics and defeatists will be satisfied and the emphasis can turn to what it was prior to 1957—namely, to the rapid development of intercontinental ballistic missiles, the most powerful deterrent of war yet conceived.

The Country Parson

"When you see a fellow doing a tough job with ease, you can be sure it's because he once worked hard at it."

Dr. William Brady Says:

Skin Friction, Pressure Causes Calluses, Corns

"In your column not long ago, someone suggested cutting a raisin in half and placing it on a callus for relief and cure, or something to that effect. ('Im not certain, but I believe the suggestion was to use the raisin on a wart.')

"I tried it on a corn. I wore the half raisin, held on with adhesive tape, for three days, then put a fresh half raisin on, for a total of one week. Soreness vanished almost immediately and in a week the corn was gone, except for a tiny core, which I rubbed off after a week.

"Probably my shoes, but corn returned and more painful this time. However, I have cut another expensive raisin in half and taped it on the corn, and again the soreness and hurting has ceased. I infer from this experience that these things need softening. Is there something in raisins that relieves pain and soreness? (Mrs. R. J. M. Jr.)"

Yes, the raisin softens and probably lessens soreness. It reminds me of grandma's remedy for stone bruise and other sores a feller got going barefoot —a poultice or salve composed of equal parts of homemade soap (grease and wood ash lye) and brown sugar.

Mrs. I. S. says her daughter, age 7, has warts by the dozens, which are multiplying and growing bigger. They are mostly on the arms, but a few on face and legs. She had a few burned off, but this leaves a scar. So she wants my pamphlet on warts.

★ ★ ★

Indeed I haven't any. There are three pages about warts in Volumette XX of the Pocket Cyclopedia of Health—titled "Cosmetic Blemishes," for which send 35 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Corns and calluses are caused by pressure and friction on the skin. The familiar salicylated collodion (corn cure) is the best remedy. It consists of a solution of 30 grains of salicylic acid in one-half fluidounce of flexible collodion.

Apply a coat to corn or callus once a day for a week or 10 days, by which time the corn or callus will have softened so that it may be wiped or rubbed off. It is not so good for warts, although there is no harm in trying it, if you wish.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac Michigan.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Positive Attitude Promotes Health

Elizabeth Lowe has passed her 100th birthday but notice her youthful outlook and typical woman's eagerness to get a bargain at the store. A positive attitude like hers actually promotes better health, for zest in anticipating the future perks up appetite and improves your parents via medical and dental gifts.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE A - 407: Mrs. Elizabeth Lowe celebrated her 100th birthday last March.

★ ★ ★

She lives in Greensburg, Indiana, which is the city where a tree grows out of the courthouse steeple.

DR. CRANE

But my main reason in mentioning Mrs. Lowe is to laud her youthful spirit and positive outlook on life.

Instead of living in the past and constantly thinking about the yesteryears, she keeps her attention on the future.

For example, last spring she learned that there was to be a bargain sale on Christmas greetings at a neighboring village.

★ ★ ★

So she insisted that her son (editor of the Greensburg DAILY NEWS) take her there so she could load up with an advance supply.

She thus was looking almost a year ahead, but likewise showing the typical "bargain" zest of the American housewife.

SALUTE MRS. LOWE

Emerson said that old age is not a matter of the calendar but of where we dwell in our thoughts.

If we keep looking backwards, we are senile, even though we haven't yet celebrated our 21st birthday.

Many a coed, therefore, who cries herself to sleep each night as she looks backward to a jilting last summer, is an "old woman," as per Emerson.

And people like Mrs. Lowe, who focus on the future and plan for the tomorrows, are mentally young, even though they have passed the century mark.

★ ★ ★

Never in this column have I previously discussed a person who was living in his or her second century, so I am doubly pleased to salute Mrs. Lowe and her zestful spirit.

She keeps up-to-date by having two newspapers read to her every day.

Cataracts preclude her being able to read them herself. She was urged to have them removed some years ago, but she didn't want to prejudice her reaching the 100 mark!

Actually, the operation is not dangerous and often produces almost perfect vision.

CATARACT OPERATION

The lens of the eye may grow milky as we reach old age. Certain ailments, like diabetes, also may produce cataracts in a young child.

★ ★ ★

You can't see clearly through a frosted window pane, so a modern eye surgeon simply removes the milky lens by a neat little eye operation.

It can be done under local anesthetic and is not painful nor hazardous to life. Normally, you don't lose even one drop of blood!

So you elderly folks should never be afraid of a cataract operation.

Thereafter, you can often see to thread a needle and read the fine print in this newspaper.

Oh, you will need glasses to do this, but your vision may be almost perfect. Sometimes you don't get 100 per cent keenness of sight, especially if your eyes have been blind too long and the retina has atrophied.

But even 25 per cent or 50 per cent vision is so wonderful, compared to none at all, that I want you folks with elderly parents to see if you can't persuade them to have the milky lens removed.

Elderly folks, groping in semi-darkness, should at least try to have one cataract removed.

You don't need to have both operated on unless you wish to, but by all means rejuvenate yourself by being able to see through one good eye.

No better gift could be given aged parents than new vision, or a hearing aid for the deaf or a new set of false teeth!

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan enclosing a long 4c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his phychological charts and pamphlets.

Voice of the People

Sternly Rejects Suggestion PCH Join Lesser League

There have been suggestions that Pontiac Central drop from the Saginaw Valley Conference and join a more localized league. These suggestions come largely from Central's difficulties in football. Anyone who watched PCH knock off No. 1 ranked Flint Central Friday can see what we would be giving up.

★ ★ ★

Why put down the whole athletic program, in which Pontiac is annually among the top, because of one sport? It would seem more intelligent to get behind the coach in solving the football problem, rather than yielding.

★ ★ ★

One of the main purposes of high school athletics is to teach kids the logics of meeting competition — to win. These athletes will in time step into the first string of our nation's citizen team, which will have to compete with some of the strongest foreign competition this country has ever known. Should we teach these prospective first stringers to avoid the challenge of the strongest competition?

★ ★ ★

To change to an inferior league would be admitting defeat and result in a much lower standard of athletics at PCH. If anyone doubts Central's position in the SVC, come out to a basketball game.

2nd 'Finlandia' Fan Defends Its Merit

A writer recently attacked "Finlandia" and its composer, Jean Sibelius, as well as The Press critic who termed it a masterpiece, who has plenty of support for his lofty praise.

★ ★ ★

"Finlandia," which the writer calls trite, made its American debut at the Metropolitan Opera House, and its second performance was in Carnegie Hall. Some of the finest orchestras in the country have recorded it. The allegro is in many hymnals. The effect of this work on the patriots of Finland was so great that during their struggle for independence from Russia, the Czarists prohibited performances of it. I understand Nazis forbade it to be even whistled or hummed.

★ ★ ★

I don't know about most high school bandsmen, but ours wasn't bored by it. We played it every concert throughout three states, knowing it would be well received. Sibelius' greatness will be more accurately determined in time, perhaps a century or more. In the meantime, The Press critic, I and millions of people all over the world will continue to enjoy it and praise it as our feelings determine.

Warns Americans to Wake Up Now

Strikes and more strikes. It's all you can hear over newscasts. Sometimes I wish I'd never come to America. Why are Americans ever so ready and willing to obey the Reuther pro-Commie setup, rather than to stand up for their rights and freedom? Our country faces great danger, through and by these Reuther stooges, and unless you so-called "free Americans" wake up and fight for your God-given rights, it will soon be too late.

Phone Book Hassle Comments Vary

What's the use of complaining about the phone book. But communities in Pontiac's local calling areas should all be able to have the same service. For long distance the direct dial system may be faster, but not for communities close by.

The telephone was a wonderful invention, but not that important. We've had one only the last few years and got along fine before. Let's get together and have them out. Then next year the book can be a little smaller. Make your calls on a pay phone.

Sincere

I'm ashamed of people who have nothing more to beef about than our telephone company, one of our best public services. Why do you blame the company if you need some specks? I wear glasses but don't have trouble with the new book. As for the spelling of December, is it also difficult to read on your TV screen. It's the new idea.

This time of year you could try to spend less time criticizing a wonderful company with courteous people and if you're in fault, ask one of the information operators. They'll be glad to help you. How would I ever do without the service of my telephone? My advice is to shut up.

Seconds Request for Saturday Hours

I thoroughly agree with Taxpayer. There are many people in Pontiac who are unable to secure driver's licenses other than on Saturday, because of the hours they work. It's too bad the License Bureau can't be open on Saturday, at least in the morning, in order to assist these people.

Soviet Budget Slightly Higher

Defense Spending Put at $24 Billion Though Some Costs Hidden

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet government today annouced a 1959 budget only lightly larger than this year's.

Defense expenditures were set at 96,100,000,000 rubles, about 13 per cent of the total and 200 million rubles less than the 1958 defense budget.

★ ★ ★

(The Soviet government officially values the ruble at 25 cents, which would put defense spending at $24,025,000,000. However, the actual figure is far greater and cannot be estimated, since much of the Kremlin's military expenditure is concealed under such budget headings as capital investment, science and educational appropriations.

★ ★ ★

(Western economists also consider it likely that the prices charged the Ministry of Defense for war materials produced in state factories are listed at much below the actual cost of production, with the resultant factory deficits covered out of special appropriations.)

Finance Minister Z. G. Zverev presented the new financial blueprint at the first joint session of tha Supreme Soviet, the parliament of the Soviet Union, which opened its annual budget meeting in the Kremlin today.

Desegregate New Orleans City Park

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — New Orleans' City Park, one of the largest municipal parks in the nation, is desegregated.

The board of directors of the 1,427-acre park Sunday bowed to a mandate of the U.S. Supreme Court after eight years of litigation.

★ ★ ★

"We have reached the end of the rope," said Ellis Laborde, general manager of the park. "We don't plan to have segregation anywhere in the park."

This includes tennis courts, baseball fields, golf courses, amusement rides and other facilities.

★ ★ ★

Laborde said the Supreme Court denied a rehearing after the final ruling.

New Orleans bus and street car transportation was desegregated last June 1.

Judge Orders Mother to Take Tots to Church

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP) — Dist. Judge David Carmody has ordered a Santa Fe woman to attend church wtih her children every Sunday for two years — or else.

Charged with cashing a $90 welfare check that didn't belong to her, the woman was sentenced to from 2 to 5 years in prison. The judge suspended the sentence providing she be a faithful churchgoer for two years.

Housing Bill Brought Prosperity

Year's End Sees Building Boom, Bright '59 Outlook

By WILLIAM FERRIS
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Housing started 1958 with a whimper and ended on a boom. The industry's surprising comeback helped mightily in arresting the 1957-58 recession.

Out on the cornfields and the potato farms, builders merrily hammered away at an assortment of split levels, ranches and two-story colonials, creating new and enlarging old communities under the beneficient stimulus of easy money.

One of the first things the federal government did, when it became convinced the 1957-58 recession was real, was pass a bill to stimulate housing. This bill lowered down-payments and eased the path for channeling more money into home building.

★ ★ ★

The results were quite spectacular. Home building starts in February, before passage of the government bill, had slumped to the lowest level for that month in nine years. Private starts were at an annual rate of only 890,000 homes.

From then on the trend was upward until near year end, when a slight slump developed. The year's residential construction ran between 1,100,000 and 1,200,000 homes, enough to cause further growing pains in Mortgage Manor.

Although business spending for commercial and industrial building lagged, other sections of the construction industry expanded. The National Highway Program started to pick up speed. More money was spent on schools, hospitals and similar buildings.

For the full year it was estimated new construction totaled $49,200,000,000.

While there is some worry money won't be quite as easy to borrow in 1959, the combined opinion of authorities in the construction field is that 1959 will be a better year than 1958.

New housing starts, which depend to a large extent on the availability of money, provide the chief worry for 1959.

Demand for homes depends upon the number of buyers who can borrow lots of money at low cost. As interest rates rise, the amount of money available at the fixed interest level of VA (4¾ per cent) and FHA (5¼ per cent) loans dwindles.

Some experts feel inflation will send interest rates higher next year, thus choking off the amount of money available for housing. Others contend inflation will be contained and new housing starts, therefore, should be about the same as in 1958.

Other components of the construction industry — notably highways, schools and sewers — are expected to be built at a record pace. It is generally believed new construction in 1959 will exceed 50 billion dollars for the first time in history.

Union Member Cleared by USW

Steelworker Exonerated After Leading Protest Against Higher Dues

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Fellow union member have exonerated Donad C. Rarick of charges he promoted dual unionism within the United Steelworkers Union as leader of a rank and file protest movement against increased dues.

Rarick, 39, a heat treater at the nearby Irvin Works of U.S. Steel Corp., was cleared Sunday at a membership meeting of USW Local 2227. He is president of the 3,500-member local.

★ ★ ★

Members voted 97-7 for a recommendation by a five-man trial board that the charges be dropped. The panel heard accusations against Rarick Dec. 1 and 2.

Rarick is chairman of the so-called Dues Protest Committee, formed in 1956 in protest against an increase in dues from $3 to $5 a month.

★ ★ ★

The dual unionism charges, brought originally by 11 members of Loca 2227, claimed Rarick worked against the best interests of the USW in an organized effort to oppose the will of the union membership. He was accused of attempting to set up another union within the framework of the USW.

Rex Harrison Play Flops in London

LONDON (UPI)) — Actor Rex Harrison's first venture into play directing collapsed on the financial rocks yesterday. His actress wife, Kay Kendall, star of the show, tearfully admitted, "Rex and I have lost all our savings — everything."

★ ★ ★

Harrison, currently playing Professor Higgins in the London production of "My Fair Lady," refused, however, to disclose how much he lost on the 12 performances of the play, "The Bright One", except that the sum was "considerable."

Harrison directed "The Bright One," as a vehicle to give Miss Kendall her first starring role in London's entertainment mecca, the West End. It opened in the Winter Garden Theater to lukewarm notices.

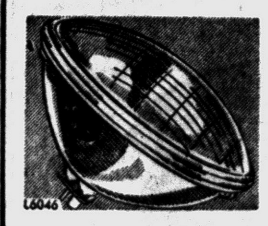

Harrison said the decision to close the play was made by the theater management. "I would have kept it on, I think," he said.

But Miss Kendall said:

"The financial disaster and that's what it is to people in our position — was my fault because it was I who discoovered the play and persuaded Rex to put up the money and direct it."

She said she and Harrison had a half-interest in the play.

Fatal home accidents are estimated to have cost the nation 11 billion, 900 million dollars last year in addition to the human toll.

60 Pct. of 190-Man Staff Are Students

Capitol Has 'Brainiest' Police Force

WASHINGTON (UPI)—When the new Congress convenes Jan. 7, it will begin its business of law-making under the protection of the most educated police force in the world.

That is the claim made by Robert C. Pearce, chief of the Capitol police force. He has the facts to back it up. About 60 per cent of his men are students, most of them graduates studying for advanced degrees.

Pearce does not know how the practice started but he said that since he has been on the force—four years—congressmen have been appointing studious young men in the exercise of their patronage privilege.

He estimates that 75 per cent of the states are represented in his 190-man force, which has a starting salary of $4,700 a year. Those continuing their education include law students—the largest single group—aspiring architects, theologians, doctors, dentists, and those studying for the Foreign Service.

Alumni of the force include successful lawyers, professional men, a resident commissioner of the Samoan Islands, and a full-blooded Alaskan Indian.

Chief Pearce, white-haired and good natured, said his pupils are especially adept at handling the million tourists that flock to the Capitol. For the more serious job of protecting congressmen from such incidents as the famous House shooting spree in March 1954, he has a nucleus of well trained "career" men.

Pearce in fact was appointed to his job shortly after the episode in which five representatives were shot and wounded by fanatic Puerto Rican Nationalists. Officially he is on leave from the Washington Metropolitan Police Department, where he holds the rank of deputy inspector.

Since the shooting, Pearce has set up safeguards to avert a similar occurrence. Besides prohibiting visitors from carrying newspapers or packages into the Senate and House chambers, he has well-placed plain-clothesmen present in each gallery.

Currently the Chief's main problem is rehabilitation work being done to the east front of the Capitol, a project likely to continue for the next two years. Pearce is trying to persuade tour guides to follow a new path as they point out the Capitol's features to the folks back home.

Asked if he missed his old police job, Pearce said his current assignment is one of the most interesting he has ever had. A great attraction, he added, is that "from time to time most of the dignitaries of the world come to the Capitol."

Politician Travels Mile to Get Each Handshake

LARAMIE, Wyo. (AP)—Politicians must pay a high price for a political handshake in sparsely-populated Wyoming

★ ★ ★

Dr. Gale McGee, candidate for the Democratic nomination for U.S. Senate, said he's driven more than 75,000 miles campaigning in the past few months.

He's had only 69,000 handshakes—less than one per mile.

Four Killed, Twelve Hurt

Car Smashes Into Bus

CHICAGO (AP) — The flaming crash of a Chicago Transit Authority bus and a car Sunday night killed four occupants of the auto. Twelve other persons, including 11 bus passengers, were injured.

Flames erupted from under the bus after the smash-up and panicked passengers bolted for exit doors, crawling over seats.

Bus rider John Outlaw, 30, a policeman, said he got out and pulled a nearby police alarm. Firemen and police quickly doused the flames.

The dead were identified as Paulo Hernandez Rodriguez, 35; his daughter, Antonia Hernandez Rodriguez, 3; Hernandez' father-in-law, Pablo Alverez Sanchez, 65; and Juan Antonio Alverez, 23, son of Pablo Alverez Sanchez and driver of the car. Juan's brother, Pablo, 28, was critically injured.

★ ★ ★

Three of the 11 injured bus riders required hospitalization.

The bus driver, Eddy Smith, 36, was not hurt.

Police Capt. James P. Hackett said the car apparently skidded through a stop sign.

Just a Small Robot

Ticking Box Is Harmless

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (AP) — The mailer of a Christmas package wanted to be sure the gift he was sending didn't get wet.

Post office workers spotted this note on the outside of a package:

"Postmaster: Please do not douse this package in water if ticking sounds are heard. Inside is a toy robot which may go into operation if the box is squeezed."

Newscarrier 13 Years Wins Degree for Pulpit

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Ben W. Render switched his newspaper bag for a pulpit.

Render started his paper route 13 years ago. He retired recently when he was ordained a Baptist minister.

Render, 26, paid his way through high school, the University o Louisville and Southern Baptist Theological Seminary with his paper-carrying earnings. He broke only one window in his 13 years as a carrier, and that belonged to a lorgtime customer who gladly paid to have it replaced.

Canadian Government employees numbered 179,176 at the start of 1958 compared with 172,908 the year before.

Steady Rise to Last Through 1959

Economy in for Good Year

NEW YORK (UPI) — The year is expected to be a very good one for the nation's resurgent economy.

Leading economists see no boom developing in 1959, but they are confident the post-recession recovery which began in 1958 will continue through the new year.

The consensus is that higher personal income, increased government, business, and consumer spending, a record level of construction and a shift back to inventory accumulation will exercise powerful forces for expansion.

Many economists also believe that inflation will be arrested in 1959, making most of the anticipated gains in economic activity real rather than illusionary.

Although the economy will rise steadily through 1959, the new year will not be without its problems.

Competition for the consumer's dollar will be keen and industry will be faced with a continuing profit-squeeze. The level of unemployment is expected to decline slowly and the Federal Reserve Board's tight money policy—which makes it more expensive to borrow money—may have some effect on housing starts later in the year.

Despite these problems, economists surveyed by United Press International are convinced 1959 will witness "a sound business recovery along a broad front."

8 PER CENT GAIN

The gross national product, the dollar value of all goods and services purchased in the natich, is slated to rise around eight per cent in 1959 to a new all-time high of $472 billion. Some economists look for an even greater increase.

In 1958, reflecting the recession which stalled industry in the first six months, the GNP declined to $436 billion, about four billion dollars below 1957.

The biggest gains in 1959 are looked for in industries hardest hit by the recession, including automotive, rubber, steel, copper, aluminum, appliances and railroad.

The construction industry, which countered the industry trend in 1958 by operating at record levels, will do even better in 1959. The volume of new construction in 1959 may rise another three billion dollars to a new peak of almost 53 billions.

The auto industry, which accounts directly and indirectly for one out of every seven jobs in the country, is highly optimistic that its 1959 model cars will sell well.

CAR SALES HELP

The anticipated improvement in auto sales—from 4,500,000 units in 1958 to 5,500,000 or more—will benefit a long list of supplier industries, including tires, paint, textile, glass and steel.

Sparking the growth of the economy in the coming year will be the nation's 175 million consumers, who account for almost two-thirds of all the goods and services sold each year.

Economists anticipate that consumers will spend close to $307 billion in 1959 for everything from automobiles to haircuts. That would be a gain of about $17 billion over 1958.

The groundwork for this increase in consumer spending will be laid by an estimated 5.7 per cent increase in personal income, reflecting higher wages and salaies, longer hours at the job and rising employment.

Disposable income, what consumers have left after paying their taxes, also will rise 5.7 per cent to a new peak of $328 billion, which will mean consumers will have almost $18 billion more to spend in 1959 than in 1958.

MORE SAVINGS

Consumers are expected to add about one billion dollars to their savings in the new year.

Also brightening the picture is the belief that industry's expenditures for new plant and equipment will begin rising later in the year. This, coupled with the reversal of inventory policies from liquidation to accumulation, will be definite upward factors in the economy.

The economy came through the recession in good shape. Some excesses were eliminated and a sound foundation was laid for the business recovery that now is picking up speed.

The high level of consumer spending and government expenditures in 1958 prevented the business decline from becoming a more serious economic dislocation.

A key factor behind the optimism surrounding 1959 is the great improvement that has been noted in consumer confidence since the recession hit its peak in the spring of 1958.

When consumers are optimistic about their economic future, they are willing to spend a greater portion of their incomes on those goods and services which raise their living standards.

In cowboy Westerns in movies and TV, horses are specially trained to fall without getting injured when they are supposed to be shot. The American Humane Assn. supervises all animal action under the motion picture code.

Remodeled Car Fails to Satisfy Police Ruling

DENVER (UPI) — Elvires Martinez, 21, paid $3,600 for a hard-top automobile, then decided it wasn't low enough to the ground. He spent $600 more at a garage to take four inches off the top and lower the body six inches.

The first time Martinez drove his reconstructed car, a policeman stopped him and ordered the car hauled to the police pound. Not enough windshield space, the policeman ruled.

Dear Santa: Don't Forget to Stop at the Animal Shelters!

LOOKING FOR A MASTER — These six puppies, boxers and mixed spaniels, are among the 25 dogs at the Oakland County Animal Welfare Shelter, 1260 W. Boulevard. Some little boy or girl would love to find one under a Christmas tree this week.

FOUR OF A FAMILY — These four, cocker spaniels at the Oakland County Animal Welfare Shelter are pedigreed, and they have the papers to prove it. They would be a lot happier if they could be adopted by some local family, and have a child to romp with. Ranging in age from one to four years, three of the four are males.

Bring a Puppy in Your Sack

County Pound, Rescue League People Have Lovable Cats, Dogs

DEAR SANTA,

I know you are very busy packing your sleigh for a long ride Wednesday night, but I thought I'd write to you anyway. I know you love good little girls and boys, and, since my mom says I've been pretty good, especially this week, I thought you might take time to read my letter.

Somehow, you never found out what I have always wanted for Christmas. At least you never brought one to me.

Santa, could I please have a puppy? If you bring me one, I'll be so happy and take good care of it.

If you don't have any in the North Pole, I know where you can find some. There are two places in my town . . . that's Pontiac. I've already checked for you so you won't have to waste your valuable time looking. Maybe you could pick up some for other children too.

★ ★ ★

I talked to the man at the Oakland County Animal Welfare Shelter. His name is Dr. Frank Bates. He's the director there.

PLENTY OF CHOICE

He told me there are more than 100 dogs at the shelter at 1260 W. Boulevard. He's got collies, wire-haired fox terriers, a spitz, Brittany spaniel, cocker spaniels, Dalmatians, and all sorts of mixed up breeds. There are about four kittens and 11 cats there too, all colors.

Since the county feeds the dogs and cats, which are either given to the shelter or picked up by the dog catcher, Dr. Bates said he has to charge a fee for them. The puppies are $2 or $3 and the rest cost up to $10.

He said the shelter is open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday, and 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. Saturday. You can get the dog vaccinated and a license there, too.

HERE'S ANOTHER SPOT

The other place in Pontiac where you could go is the Michigan Animal Rescue League, 790 Featherstone Rd. This is the humane society headquarters.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Martin J. Davis, a humane officer, told me they have about 60 dogs—and 50 of them are pupies like I want. They also have seven kittens and six cats.

Because Thursday is Christmas, the league will be open tomorrow until 9 p.m. so people can go and get a dog or cat. Usually it is open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Saturday.

★ ★ ★

The league has boxers, wire-haired terriers, cocker spaniels, a German short-haired pointer, an English bulldog, collies, springer spaniels and many other types. They cost from $2 to $35.

I sure hope you have time to find a puppy for me. If I had my choice I'd like a cocker spaniel.

But I'll be happy with any kind as long as they don't bite. Dr. Bates and Mrs. Davi both said they wouldn't give you that kind if you came.

You'd better get lots of sleep this week. I'll be looking for you Wednesday night and I hope I find a puppy under the tree Thursday.

I promise to take really good care of her.

JANIE

BIG DUKE — Looking for a home to guard day and night for his room and board is Duke, a 3-year-old pure bred male English bull dog. He is now living at the Michigan Animal Rescue League, 790 Featherstone Rd.

HOMELESS BUT HEALTHY — Cuddling up to each other in their pen at the Michigan Animal Rescue League are two three-month-old cocker spaniels. Either the blonde female or the black male would probably have a happier expression if they had a permanent home.

Midland Block Swept by Fire

$50,000 Blaze Breaks Out Sunday in Paint Supply Store

By The Associated Press

A downtown fire in Midland caused thousands of dollars in damage Sunday.

A $50,000 blaze, the second major fire at Midland within a week's tim, swept a business block Sunday morning. No one was injured.

The Midland blaze, fought in 8-degree weather with the help of a ladder truck borrowed by firemen from the Dow Chemical Co., raced through the Sjolander business block.

★ ★ ★

Hundreds of Sunday morning churchgoers were in the crowd attracted by the scene.

Last Monday a big elevator burned at a loss of $80,000.

Yesterday's fire broke out at about 10 a.m. in a paint and wallpaper store at Main and Gordon streets. The flames, fed by linseed oil and other paint supplies, spread to other business places in the brick and cinder-block building.

Mrs. Ida Bentley, a widow who lived in a second floor apartment, escaped unharmed. Occupants of other apartments were away from home.

★ ★ ★

A Sears Roebuck store adjacent to the business block suffered smoke and water damage.

Electric power in the vicinity was cut off. The post office across the street, where clerks were working on Christmas mails, was darkened.

Local Girl Makes Good in Big Way on Broadway

By HAROLD A. FITZGERALD
Publisher, Pontiac Press

Oakland County claims the feminine star of one of Broadway's biggest musicals.

Miss Elaine Stritch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George J. Stritch of 500 Arlington Drive, Birmingham, plays the title role in "Goldilocks" and plays it for all she's worth—which is plenty.

In addition to her father and mother in Oakland County, Miss Stritch has a sister, Mrs. Thomas J. Bolton of 420 Suffield, in Birmingham.

★ ★ ★

Miss Stritch and Don Ameche carry the two leads and Miss Stritch is on stage and in action almost continuously. Very attractive, with a fine voice and figure, she dances, sings and wisecracks her way through two and a half hours of a musical comedy which is warmly received by capacity audiences at every performance.

"Goldilocks" is running in the spanking new Lunt-Fontanne Theater which is probably the most beautiful in New York. Miss Stritch's first Broadway appearance was in "Angel In The Wings," and then she toured the country playing Ethel Merman's part in "Call Me Madam." After that came "Pal Joey," "On Your Toes," and "Bus Stop." She has also appeared in movies and on television.

★ ★ ★

Try and see "Goldilocks" the next time you hit Gotham. And give that gorgeous Oakland County gal a great big hand. You'll find it isn't hard to do.

We had a snack at Dinty Moore's and Elaine kept a precautionary eye on her waist line—but I don't know why.

(The only assignments your peripatetic reporter covers these days are those he gives himself. He picks the good spots, doesn't he?)

ELAINE STRITCH

Russia 5 Years Behind in Radiation Protection

OAK RIDGE, Tenn. (UPI) — Soviet research on drugs to provide protection against radiation damage is about five years behind American research, according to David G. Doherty of the Oak Ridge National Laboratory.

Doherty estimates that the chemicals being investigated for this purpose by the Russians are only half as effective as protective drugs under study in the U.S.

Trips on Sleeping Dog

PITTSFIELD, Vt. (UPI) — A sleeping dog proved more dangerous than a barking one to Gardner Baker, 48. Aroused early one morning by a disturbance behind his farmhouse, Baker took a .22 caliber pistol to investigate. He tripped over his sleeping dog and the weapon discharged, sending a shell through the farmer's right thigh. He never did discover the cause of the noise.

Lowest Fatality Record in 3 Years Seen by Irons

By DICK SAUNDERS

"It's beginning to look as if we might make it," said Oakland County Sheriff Frank W. Irons today. He was referring to Oakland County's 1958 traffic death record.

★ ★ ★

"Two years ago 114 deaths occurred on county highways. We went to work on this toll and cut it to 103 in 1957. This year we set our sights at a figure below 100," he said.

With just nine more days remaining in 1958, 88 persons have been fatally injured on Oakland County streets and highways.

"When I say 'we' set our sights on a lower toll, I don't mean just the Sheriff's Department," Irons asserted.

★ ★ ★

"All law enforcement bureaus in Oakland County are responsible for the cut in the death toll, but most of the credit should go to the drivers themselves."

★ ★ ★

At the beginning of October, area law enforcement officials began issuing frequent warnings, urging motorists to observe safety rules.

Last year, October was the year's worst month, claiming 16 lives in traffic accidents. Through increased road patrols by sheriff's deputies and state police, and the cooperation of motorists, the October toll this year was held to six.

Ten died in smashups during November, compared to eight in 1957, but the traditionally bad month of December has thus far been comparatively safe. In December 1957, 14 persons died. This month, three lives have been claimed in traffic mishaps.

★ ★ ★

"The figures for this month are not as good as they look, however. We've been extremely lucky. Several accidents have taken place this month in which persons were critically injured.

"These people easily could have been killed," Irons said.

VFW Buys Old Town for Retirement Home

TENNANT, Calif. (UPI) — The Veterans of Foreign Wars has purchased this whole town as a retirement community for its older members.

Tennant, in the northern county of Siskiyou, once was a logging town built by the International Paper Co. As the timber thinned out, the place fell into disuse until the VFW bought it.

California VFW Commander B. C. Hesser said practically all of the more than 150 cottages and other buildings are in good shape, requiring only a "general cleaning and painting."

Good News for Theatergoers:

Bigger, Better Popcorn

WASHINGTON — Scientists have bred hybrid popcorns that expand as much as 35 times when popped. They also have found a type that makes little or noise in chewing—an advantage in the theater.

So far the silent popcorn, which is actually sorghum rather than corn, has been neglected. The difficulty is that it expands only about 17 times on popping. As popcorn is sold by bulk, pop sorghum has little commercial appeal.

Improved popcorn stems from research by the Department of Agriculture, Purdue and Cornell Universities, and other institutions. Studies have been spurred by the increasing consumption of popcorn in the past two decades.

Like other types of maize, popcorn is native to the Americas, the National Geographic Society says. Indians ate it long before the colonists arrived. An Indian popping method was to place the shelled corn on a flat stone laid over a fire pit.

★ ★ ★

White settlers took up popcorn, but it did not become important commercially until about 1890. The scarcity of sweets during World War II and the introduction of popcorn stands into theaters have promoted popcorn into an industry grossing hundreds of millions of dollars each year.

Corn pops as the result of suddenly released pressure produced by steam generated within the kernel. Agriculture Department scientists explain. The steam comes from moisture in the grain.

But scientists say they do not yet know the whole story. For example, it is not known for sure why the release of pressure does not come more gradually. Instead, pressure builds up in each cell, and the whole kernel suddenly explodes. Scientists are also uncertain why some hybrids which should pop well according to theory do not do so in fact.

Popcorn is not the only variety of corn that will pop. Flint corn, used for livestock, pops fairly well. Dent corn, another livestock feed, pops feebly. Flour corn, used for meal and roasting ears, will not pop at all. Ability to pop follows fairly closely the percentage of soft starch in the various corns—the more soft starch, the poorer the popping ability.

Popcorn now on sale ranges from the old fashioned buttered corn to caramel and cheese-coated varieties, and from giant kernels to tiny ones. Its popularity with motion-picture goers has enabled many theaters to stay in business when proceeds from ticket sales alone might have left them in the red.

Commercial popcorn is grown primarily in Iowa, Indiana, Illinois and other midwestern states. Growers produced 251 million pounds last year.

Embarking on 11th Year of Statehood

More Capable Israel Faces Problems

By ELIAV SIMON

JERUSALEM (UPI) — As Israel enters 1959 and embarks on her second decade of statehood she faces the same problems which have plagued her since 1948. But she faces them from a stronger position than ever before.

Ever since the Iraqi revolution in July, the unrest in Lebanon and the threat of unrest in Jordon, both the U. S. and Britain have come to acknowledge Israel as a pillar of democracy and stability in a region of the world where neither of these elements has ever flourished.

Reinforced by the long-standing friendship of France, this moral backing has given Israelis more confidence to meet the hazards ahead than anything else that has occurred during the past year.

Britain's sale to Israel of two submarines late in 1958 was as much a symbol of this new-found sympathy as a much-needed addition to the country's defensive strength.

One of the highlights of 1959 will be the feverish campaign preceding the general elections for the for next fall.

It's most probable that the Mapai, Premier David Ben-Gurion's Moderate Labor Party — will top the poll as it has in the last three elections.

Ben-Gurion, fitter and sprightlier than ever despite his 72 years, is after the elections, but one or two men who have made their mark in other sphere may well step into the political arena.

Former army chief of staff Moshe Dayan, who led the 1956 Sinai campaign, then resigned his army post and finally this year quit the army altogether, seems headed for political office as one of the Mapai's rising young men. He is 43.

Another likely candidate is Shimon Peres, present director general at the Ministry of Defense, who has played a big part in insuring the efficiency of Israel's forces and supplying them with the necessary weapons and equipment.

Third most likely candidate for government office — or at least for a Knesset seat — is present United Nations delegate Abba Eban.

★ ★ ★

For the rest, 1959 is likely to be a year of economic consolidation, during which the country will have to cope with the problem of settling a big new wave of immigrants from Romania, Poland other parts of eastern Europe.

★ ★ ★

This undoubtedly will entail a tough economic struggle and underlines Israel's need for peace and tranquility in the Middle East.

★ ★ ★

Militarily, 1958 was a quiet year. The view here is that this is probably because Israel's neighbors were taking time out to indulge their own private squabbles.

1st High Heels Ruinous

HOLLY (UPI) — Jymme Shore, 15, who last year played left field on the girls baseball team at school in San Gabriel, Calif., recently went to work at the Disney Studios in "The Shaggy Dog." Jymme received her first pair of high heels for the part and promptly broke an ankle trying to learn to walk on them.

Cupboard Wins Battle

NEW YORK (UPI) — Frank Jaksic had a bout with his cupboard and lost. He entered his kitchen one morning and, leading with his eye, walked into a cupboard door which had been let ajar. Angered by the sudden pain, he slammed the door shut. It popped open again and released a bowl which broke on his shoulder. The cut required five stitches.

Tobacco Crop Builds Parsonage for Church

BLACKSTONE, Va. (AP) — The new Jonesboro Baptist Church parsonage was built from leaf tobacco.

Five years ago the church members, mostly tenant tobacco farmers, began planting, harvesting and selling tobacco from a plot for the church. The crop from an acre and a half enabled them to construct the building.

Rockefeller Christmas Tree Is Giant Symbol

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK—Way back in 1931, when life was earnest and people sang reverent Christmas carols instead of "Rudolph The Red Nose Reindeer Cha Cha," a group of workmen gathered together at a hole in the ground off Fifth Avenue. It was almost midnight, Christmas Eve.

They contributed nickels and dimes to erect a 15-foot Christmas tree in the depths of their diggins.

They decorated it with paper and tinsel, sang carols while they stomped their feet on the crusted mud. The tree—unlighted and flimsy and, judging from photographs, no more than an urchin of the forest—was the beginning of a dazzling tradition.

The hole in the ground, between 49th and 50th streets, was the foundation for Rockefeller Center.

And the tree was the first in a line of 26 awesome, glittering, giant trees now known the land over as the Rockefeller Center Christmas spectacle.

★ ★ ★

Literally a dozen millions of Americans see the center's Christmas tree each year, in person and over television, and consider it as much a "must" of the holidays as stockings for the children. Hundreds travel to New York annually at Christmastime, planning their itinerary to arrive in time for the tree-lighting ceremonies.

IT'S A SYMBOL

Thousands of men and women, and thousands of dollars, go into the search for, and the erection of, this symbol of what Santa Claus could do if he only had money.

And a young-hearted woman named Caroline Hood makes a career of this tree. She is the center's "coordinator of Christmas activities."

This year's tree is 65 feet tall (They've come as high as 90 feet in past years) weighs three tons, and, as near as Caroline can learn, is about 80 years old. It is white spruce.

"We begin looking for a tree on the day after Christmas," she said. "For this tree—which was given to us by the state of Maine—we had 120 rangers on the lookout as early as last January.

★ ★ ★

"By last summer, the potential Rockefeller Center tree has been narrowed down to five great beauties, scattered throughout the state. Then Mr. Marville of our Center Garden Department took a trip, and surveyed them all. He selected this one . . ."

Caroline pointed out that the long search for exactly the right tree is necessary every year, because "Our tree cannot be a forest dweller."

In a forest, trees grow high and lean. For Rockefeller Center, which is 800 feet tall and a block wide, there must be a tree that has not only stature but fullness: A free-standing monarch with perfect proportions, where every branch has equal access to sun and wind.

The men who move the tree from its natural estate to the heart of the city are meticulous. Not a branch must be broken, though it it is carted through tunnels and traffic. And the workmen who hoist the tree from truck to platform in Rockefeller Plaza, using a 75-foot crane, are the most careful in the country.

A few of them, in fact, have hoisted every center tree for the last 26 years.

"We all get very attached to our trees. They are old and majestic. And it is very sad, when they are taken down, to realize their life is ended."

★ ★ ★

Ah, but what a way to pass on—as the most supreme and honored tree of them all. No green-bladed spruce could ask for more.

Juniors Stage Drive to Raise Hospital Fund

CARROLLTON, Ky. (AP) — Nancy Danner, Gereth Lindsey and John McClung went on a fund-raising drive for the new Carroll County Memorial Hospital.

They turned their money over to the hospital — all 85 cents of it. Nancy, 10, and Gereth and John, both 8, danced and sang in their backyard theatrical production and sold concessions, too.

The money will be used to help buy books and games for a children's room at the hospital.

Archbishop of Detroit Visits in Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH (AP) — His excellency, John Francis Dearden, the Detroit, returned home from Rome yesterday for about a month's stay here before going to the Motor City.

The Roman Catholic Prelate, former bishop of the Pittsburgh diocese, will remain here for the time being.

Archbishop Dearden arrived without advance notice and was greeted at Greater Pittsburgh Airport only by Msgr. John B. McDowell, superintendent of Pittsburgh diocesan schools. He had been in Rome as a member of the party of John Francis Cardinal O'Hara of Philadelphia who received his cardinal's red hat from Pope John XXIII.

Home Radio Sales Up

NEW YORK — Manufacturers' sales of home, clock, and portable radios totaled 10,400,000 units during fiscal 1958, an increase of 17 per cent over the previous year. Their sales of automobile radios declined 14 per cent, from 5,600,000 units to 4,800,000.

California Building Dedicated

Observatory May Guide Space Ships

BIG PINE, Calif. (AP)—They've dedicated a 1½ million dollar radio observatory near here that some day may track and guide space ships as they speed far out into the universe.

It's believed also that once both of the observatory's two 90-foot dish antennas are in operation scientists will be able to peer 30 billion light years back into time and space.

Built by the California Institute of Technology, with Navy help on financing, the observatory is located in the Owens Valley, 250 miles north of Los Angeles.

Rear Adm. Rawson Bennett II, chief of naval research, told a dedication audience Friday: "This observatory may be able to reach far enough back into time to see our own world as it was billions of years ago — perhaps while it was still being formed."

★ ★ ★

The admiral was referring to the Einstein concept that time and space are like a doughnut — that if you go far enough and fast enough you come back where you started. And, since you are sneaking up from behind, you get there prior to the time of your departure.

★ ★ ★

A light year represents the distance that a beam of light—racing along at 186,000 miles per second—travels in a year.

★ ★ ★

The farthest man has been able to see out into the universe thus far is two billion light years. This is the range of the 200-inch hale telescope on Mount Palomar in San Diego County.

Actually, there isn't much point in building a bigger visual telescope because of the distortion of light waves by the earth's atmosphere. But the atmosphere has no effect on radio telescopes.

★ ★ ★

Even now, with only one of this observatory's antennas in operation, radio signals have been picked up from stars a billion light years away.

When the second 90-foot mesh dish is ready next spring, observatory Director John G. Bolton expects to begin receiving radio impulses from stars up to 30 billion light years away.

State Car Accidents Kill 7 During Pre-Yule Weekend

By United Press International

Seven persons died in Michigan traffic accidents during the pre-Christmas weekend, State Police reported today.

★ ★ ★

The toll, although it meant tragedy for seven families just before the holiday, represented a savings of 11 lives over the same weekend a year ago when 18 persons were killed.

State Police were optimistic they would see the state chalk up the safest year of peacetime motoring in a quarter of a century, providing drivers use extra caution over the Christmas weekend.

Two of the victims this weekend were pedestrians, Nicholas Landstra, 81, Grand Rapids, and Mrs. Cleo Bradfield, 78, Cutlerville.

Landstra died Saturday of injuries suffered Friday night when a car struck him at a Grand Rapids intersection.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Bradfield was killed Friday night by a car on U.S. 131 in suburban Grand Rapids.

A police officer, Undersheriff Franklin Brooks, described an accident in Saginaw County yesterday as "The worst I ever saw."

Brooks said a speeding sports car missed a curve on U.S. 10 and smacked into a tree at more than 100 miles an hour.

The impact split the car in two, Brooks said. The two pieces hurtled nearly 100 feet in different directions. The driveshaft was more than 133 feet from the tree.

★ ★ ★

The accident killed Stanley J. Cabala, 21, Midland.

Louis Tallieu, 23, Clifford, was killed early yesterday when his car skidded off Slattery Road in Lapeer County and hit a tree.

Daniel T. Lawler, 61, Carsonville, died when his car hit a tree after skidding off a road near Deckerville.

Mrs. Zulla Thompson, 49, Davison, died in a two-car accident Saturday 12 miles south of Saginaw.

Lionel B. Mayville, 54, Allegan, was killed Friday night in a two-car crash on U.S. 131 north of Kalamazoo.

Gilbert Grosvenor was one of the most active founders of the National Geographic Society. His father-in-law was inventor Alexander Graham Bell.

President's Letter to Santa Claus

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower's letter to Santa Claus — if he were to write to Santa Claus at 68 — could go like this, since it isn't hard to guess what he has on his mind:

Dear Mr. Claus:

I have been living at my present address the past six years. It's a big white house on Pennsylvania Avenue. It has nine chimneys. So you should have no trouble finding me.

★ ★ ★

Since I have been here, I've done my best not to say anything mean to anyone. I know I do sound awful mad sometimes — about every two years, around election time—at some of the neighbors.

They're the Democrats, a very big family. Every once in a while they pick on me, especially at election time. Then they're real mean to me. And I get mad back. It doesn't last long.

Most of the time we get along nicely, but I'd appreciate it if you could bring them a big dose of something—like soothing syrup — so they'd always be nice to me. That would be a real good Christmas present. I can tell you why.

I have to live here another two years before the lease is up. And in that time I would like to be as happy as possible with a minimum of trouble. I would love to have some peace and quiet, if you have some to spare.

I know you're a very kind man but I just don't know how much influence you have. I sure wish you could use your influence on one person I have in mind.

He's a kind of roly-poly fat man with a bald head. He'd look like you if he had some hair and a white beard. To hear him talk, you'd think he was Santa Claus himself.

He's always promising to make things better for people. He's a real pushy type. He gets on my nerves. His name is Nikita Khrushchev.

Could you please put some sense in his head and get him to give up these crazy notions he has about communism being better than capitalism? I think things would get better right away. At least, I hope so.

I'd like some money, too, a lot of money. Not for myself. I'm getting along all right. But for the Treasury. We have a lot of expenses coming up next year and the Treasury needs money to pay for them.

I'm being called names — like Skimpy — because I'm trying to cut down on expenses.

I know it doesn't make any difference to you whether a child is white or Negro. And it never seems to make any difference to children, either, whether you just went down a white chimney or Negro chimney, so long as you come down theirs.

I could use some help on this. For four years, ever since the Supreme Court said no more racial segregation in the public schools, I have been having trouble with white people in the South who won't obey the court.

I think I'm going to keep on having trouble for the rest of my two years here unless something unusual happens. And I can't think what that might be. Do you have an answer?

There is certainly one other thing I'd like for Christmas. That's some kind of medicine to make my cousins, the Republicans big and strong again. They're beginning to look awful puny, no matter what I have tried to do for them.

★ ★ ★

They don't get along with the voters. The Democrats are forever picking on them. And they don't seem to know how to win elections any more.

Unless things get better fast we are going to be in bad shape when I leave here in 1961 and one of the cousins wants to take over the lease.

I hope I haven't asked for too much. But these are things that have me stumped. So all I am really asking is: do you have some stump removers?

Reject Proposed Probate Referee

Supervisors Decide Additional Judge Is Better Solution

A recommendation that referees be appointed to help lessen the load of Oakland County Probate Judge Arthur E. Moore was turned down by county supervisors this morning who decided a better answer might be the addition of a second probate judge.

Supervisors acted to turn this question over to the board's Ways and Means Committee for further study.

It had been suggested that the referee proposal, for counties of 250,000 population or more, be made a part of Oakland County's 1959 legislative program.

John G. Semann, Berkley supervisor in charge of the board's Legislative Committee, said his group had given the plan "very careful study," but decided the "proposal does not meet the problem faced by the count."

Semann then heard the supervisors approve a motion to study the idea of a second probate judge.

This matter had come before the Board this morning in a separate letter as a suggestion from Huntington Woods Supervisor Hariett Phillips.

Judge Moore made it clear later he had not suggested another judge, but had asked increased powers for current Juvenile Court referees.

DETROIT (UPI)—Chrysler Corp. resumed production of 1959 models today after settlement of an 18-day strike at the Dodge plant that idled some 44,000 workers and closed down most assembly lines.

The company called back 27,220 in 18 Detroit area plants and said another 13,000 in 10 American and 2,600 in one Canadian plant would be back on their jobs today or tomorrow.

★ ★ ★

United Auto Workers Local 3 walked out Dec. 2 in a dispute over relief time and manpower in a section of the plant. Agreement to end the strike by the 7,100 Dodge workers was reached last Friday.

The other workers were idled by a parts shortage caused by the Dodge walkout.

Current oil reserves in Canada, according to estimates, amount to one-half tank car for every resident.

Fumes Kill 2 in Stalled Car

Ran Motor for Warmth After Getting Stuck in Snow Near Cass City

CASS CITY (AP) — Two persons were found dead today in an automobile stalled in a snowbank 10 miles east of Cass City in Sanilac County.

★ ★ ★

A third person was taken from the car and rushed to a hospital in Cass City. Police said it appeared the two had died of carbon monoxide poisoning.

State Police tentatively identified the dead from personal papers as Vernetta M. Frei, 36, and George D. Chapelo, 25, both of Caro. The driver was reported in critical condition.

Police said the trio last was seen after midnight leaving a tavern one mile from where the car was found at 9 a.m.

★ ★ ★

The car stalled in the snow at a rural road intersection. The occupants apparently kept the engine running to keep warm. The car's exhaust pipe was buried in the snow and deadly fumes had filled the car.

Victim Loses $1,500

Rob Oak Park Man

OAK PARK—A meat wholesaler reported to Oak Park police that he was held up and robbed of $1,500 outside his home here at 9:44 last night.

Morris Rose, 45, of 24121 Manistee Rd., told police he was returning from a neighborhood drugstore when he noticed another car was following him. When he parked his car in front of his home two men jumped out of the other vehicle, one threw him to the concrete and the other held a "hard object" to his back, he said.

Rose told police that he was frisked and the money taken from his coat pocket. There was a roll of bills totaling $1,500 which the assailants took, leaving a bundle of checks behind, Rose said.

The victim refused medical attention after calling police though he suffered hip and side bruises. Police reported that Rose had apparently been "roughed up a bit."

Oak Park police are investigating the robbery report. No description of the hold-up men was given, but Rose did identify their car as an old model, painted either black or blue.

Rose is self-employed as a meat wholesaler in Detroit.

Chute Opens Just in Time

Former Paratrooper Uses Emergency Cord in Walled Lake Jump

WALLED LAKE — Former paratrooper James K. Cogswell made his first parachute jump in seven years over the weekend. It was almost his last.

The 28-year-old Ypsilanti man tumbled 2,300 feet before he managed to open his emergency parachute just 200 feet above the ground.

Cogswell, one of the 13 members of the Michigan Sky Diving Team, jumped Saturday from a light plane flying at about 2,500 feet over Wixom Airport near here.

He said he tried to pull the ring on his regular parachute three times but was unable to grasp it.

"Finally," he said, "I reached for the reserve chute cord. I pulled it hard."

The chute opened and Cogswell landed in a small clearing in a wooded area.

A father of four, Cogswell jumped 16 times while serving with the paratroops.

2 Area Men Hurt in Auto Accident

BRUCE TOWNSHIP — Two persons were injured in a single-car accident on Kanie road at the intersection of 34-Mile road at 7:30 p.m. Saturday, Romeo State Police said today.

The driver of the car was Robert J. Branden, 28, of 5996 Donaldson St., Clawson. He told troopers he did not notice that the road ended, and when he did, snow made it impossible to stop or turn his car which ran into the ditch.

Branden lost two upper teeth in the mishap.

His passenger, Sine Joseph, 50, of 1370 Marie St., Ferndale, suffered a broken nose and facial cuts and bruises. He was taken to St. Joseph Hospital in Mount Clemens.

Branden was ticketed for driving too fast for conditions.

SEBEWAING (AP) — Two young half-brothers out to trap muskrats drowned yesterday in a reservoir at the Michigan Sugar Co.

Footprints in the snow led searchers to the reservoir after the boys had been missed for a church Chritmas program.

Makes Jobs for Farmers:

Small Business

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department says small businoess is playing an important part in a Government campaign to open job opportunities for unemployed and under-employed farm people.

★ ★ ★

This campaign is being carried on under the Government's rural development program. This program is designed to help local communities broaden oppartunities for farm people to work off farms because agriculture does not provide them ample incomes.

"Prosperous, efficient small business firm in rural communities are as vital to a successful development program as improved farming and farm marketing," the Department said in a new pamphlet.

"When existing firms expand their operations and new firms get started, a community gains these benefits — additional job opportunities for its people, better markets for its products, more efficient use of natural resources, and increased ability to provide educational, health and other essential services."

The Department said many communities already have started active programs to strengthen their economies through expansion of small business.

Man Injured as Car Skids Into Ditch

METAMORA TOWNSHIP — A 40-year-old Port Huron man suffered minor back injuries Saturday night when his car skidded and landed on its side in a ditch on Dryden road near Wilder road, Romeo State Police reported today.

★ ★ ★

William Carter, 1017 Elk St., told state troopers he was passing another vehicle when the rear wheels of his car skidded, causing him to lose control.

★ ★ ★

Carter was lodged overnight in Lapeer County Jail for driving without an operator's license. He was also ticketed for driving too fast for road conditions. He was to be arraigned this morning.

Two neighbor women found Mrs. Bromley wandering in the garden of her home on Thursday night, shortly after the boys had been slain. Hr throat bore minor knife wounds, and she was weeping bitterly.

Car Accident Injures Five

Rochester Father, Four Sons Hurt as Auto Hits Guard Rail, Bridge

ROCHESTER — Five members of a Rochester family were seriously injured when their car struck a guard rail and bridge on Ludlow street near the New York Central Railroad tracks Saturday afternoon.

Rochester police said the driver of the car was Harold J. Sheppard, 54, of 1016 N. Pine St. He suffered shock, lacerations, bruises, possible broken ribs and internal injuries.

His four sons also were hurt in the crash. They are William, 14, who has a possible skull fracture, lacerations of the left eye and chin; Gordon, 11, compound fracture of the left arm and jaw, other mouth injuries and possible broken ribs; Allen, 8, neck injuries, possible broken jaw and internal injuries, and Gerald, 6, who suffered from shock and had a bruised cheek.

All were taken to Avon Center Hospital in Rochester.

Gerald was later released and Gordon was removed to Mount Clemens General Hospital for treatment.

Sheppard claims he struck a patch of ice on the pavement and lost control of his car, police said.

Santa Greets Underprivileged Children

AVONDALE — Santa Claus greeted approximately 100 youngsters at the Avondale Metropolitan Club's annual Christmas party for underprivileged children Saturday afternoon at the fire hall here.

Each child received a toy and a bag of candy from Santa. They then sat down to feast on a turkey dinner prepared by the wives of club members.

In addition, the club reports that it raised $478.50 in Goodfellow paper sales, selling 1,800 copies of the Pontiac Press special edition. This money will be used to provide a merrier Christmas to needy families in the area.

The club also plans to give 30 baskets of food to needy families Wednesday afternoon and evening.

Money for the food baskets was raised through the sale of old newspapers. Further contributions of unperishable foods for the baskets were made by pupils of the Stone, Elmwood and Stiles elementary schools.

The A&A Market in Avondale donated 20 gifts for Saturday's party.

Move Into New Orion Post Office

LAKE ORION — Employes of the United States Post Office in Lake Orion will move into their new building between Christmas and New Year's Day, Raymond H. Genereux, assistant postmaster, said today.

The new post office is located at 146 S. Broadway St., overlooking Paint Creek, with the dam which holds back the waters of Lake Orion situated just northwest of the property.

The yellow brick, one-story building contains 2,400 square feet of floor space as compared to 1,272 square feet in the present post office. It also has a canopy-covered loading dock and a parking and maneuvering area of 8,000 square feet on the north side of the building.

The ceiling inside is covered with accoustical tile, the walls are plastered, and all new equipment is being installed. The building has a perimeter gas heating system.

★ ★ ★

Some of the new sorting cases, a desk, and several other pieces of furniture were already delivered to the old building for use during the Christmas rush, Genereux said.

★ ★ ★

The Lake Orion Furniture and Appliance Co. is constructing the new building and the U. S. Post Office Dept. has a 10-year lease on the property.

The new post office will be open for business beginning Jan. 2.

As workmen rush to complete the building on schedule, local post office employes are already making use of the new facility to handle incoming parcel post packages.

★ ★ ★

Postmaster Arthur H. Weitschat has had four make-shift sorting cases set up in the old building to handle the deluge of mail this season. And workers have very little space to move around in with the additional equipment, both old and new, taking up much of the available floor space, he said.

★ ★ ★

The new post office has a wide expanse of windows across the front with a planter underneath and an inclosed lobby just inside the front door.

Local post office employes say they are particularly pleased with the setting of the new building which they believe will afford a peaceful atmosphere and attractive surroundings for both themselves and their customers.

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—That bottle of soda pop his son brought home just didn't taste like soda pot. And besides, it gave Edward Bourne a "breathless feeling," he told sheriff's deputies.

A chemical analysis showed the liquid in the bottle was 95 per cent ethyl alcohol.

Bourne recovered.

House Schedules 2 Main Bouts for Jan. 7

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST

WASHINGTON (AP) — Results of tw prospective opening-day fights may shape the course of legislation in the House for the entire new session convening Jan. 7.

Both indirectly involve civil rights and could effectively shatter for a long time the coalition of Republicans and Southern Democrats which for years has wielded the balance of power in the House.

★ ★ ★

Unless a compromise is worked out, one battle will be over a proposed change in the House rules to offset the coalition's current control of the House Rules Committee.

The other involves election of Dr. Dale Alford to succeed Brooks Hays, Democrat, as representative of Arkansas' Little Rock district.

Alford, a Democrat who ran as an independent, won in a write-in campaign reportedly backed by Gov. Orval Faubus.

★ ★ ★

A special House Elections Committee recommended that Alford not be seated until a standing House committee has made a more thorough probe of his election. The special committee split 3-2 in urging that Alford, a leading segregationist, be denied a seat pending the probe. Two Republicans and a Democrat, all jority. Two Southern Democrats were the minority.

Hays, a moderate on the subject of integration, has not contested the election.

Southerners who share Alford's feelings about integration hope Republicans will vote with them to seat him. They contend that it is not a civil rights issue but a moral issue—that Alford got the most votes, that the loser did not contest the election, and that the House has no right to upset the wishes of the voters.

Some Northern Democrats championing civil rights allege that Alford's victory resulted from illegal voting and other election law violations.

House leaders are pessimistic about averting a fight over seating Alford.

But they are optimistic about chances of working out an acceptable compromise of Northerners' demands for a change in the rules.

A sizable group of self-styled liberals wants to prevent the Rules Committee from being able to bottle up legislation. They propose a change in the rules which would force action on bills sidetracked by the rules group.

★ ★ ★

Six moderate to liberal members of the committee often cannot gain a majority vote for civil rights and other legislation in which they are interested over the votes of a more conservative coalition of four Republicans and two Southern Democrats.

Present rules allow the committee to hold back bills almost indefinitely.

There are enough Southern Democrats and Northern Republicans to constitute a majority of the House if they stick together as they often have done in the past. If the Republicans desert the Southerners on the Alford issue or the rules change proposal, both involving civil rights, it could be a long time before the coalition gets together again.

Russell Wants Relocation Law

Dem Senator Proposes Voluntary Shifting of Whites and Negroes

ATLANTA (A:) — Sen. Richard B. Russell (D-Ga) says he will try again to persuade his congressional colleagues to pass a law providing for voluntary relocation ofwhites and Negroes as a means of reducing racial tensions.

Russell's bill, a revised version of one he introduced in 1949, would provide federal assistance to Negroes in the South who want to move to states having a low percentage of Negroes. It would make the same assistance available to white desiring to move into the South. The 1949 measure never got out of committee.

The senator said Sunday that if other states had a larger share of the race problem "we would have a workable means of easing racial tensions."

Russell said his program would cost no more than the United States spends each year on foreign aid — about four billion dollars this year.

Russell said his proposal would set up a voluntary racial relocation commission to encourage and assist those desiring to move to other states.

Universities Ask for Legal Advice

MSU and U. of M. Look for Way to Get Funds in Financial Crisis

EAST LANSING (AP) — The University of Michigan and Michigan State University are looking for legal advice about borrowing money.

The problem arises because of the state's financial crisis and the need for funds for operating expenses. The state is two months behind in release of funds to the schools.

As to Michigan's third state-supported university, Wayne State, State, James W. Miller, state controller, said that school probably can get along for the time being by taking money from its building fund.

State payments to the universities probably cannot be resumed before March.

Philip J. May, vice president and comptroller of Michigan State, said he has been told it may be in order for him to ask an attorney general's opinion on MSU's authority to borrow money.

Dr. Wilbur K. Pierpont, the U. of M.'s vice president for business and finance, said a "very serious question" exists over the U. of M.'s legal position in borrowing money.

Northerner Derailed in Tuscola County

MILLINGTON (AP) — A baggage car of a New York Central passenger train, The Northerner, bound for Detroit from Mackinaw City, was derailed today near this Tuscola County community.

Ed Kinnunen, the railroad's chief dispatcher, said no one was injured. All the train's 14 cars remained upright.

Kinnunen said the rear wheels of the fourth car from the end of train left the tracks because of a broken rail. The last four cars were mail and express cars. They were disconnected and the rest of the train continued to Detroit.

January Meeting Starts '60 Campaign

GOP to Pick Convention Site

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans will meet in Des Moins, Iowa, next month to pick a 1960 convention site and start working on that year's election campaign.

The five-day series will include meetings of a convention site committee Jan. 19-20, the GOP Executive Committee Jan. 21, and the full Republican National Committee Jan. 22-23.

The site committee will receive bids from interested cities and may make a recommendation for action by the national committee later in the week. The meeting comes a week after a Democratic site committee receives formal bids at a New Orleans meeting Jan. 16. The Democratic group will report to its full committee Feb. 27.

Seven cities already have submitted informal bids for the Democratic convention, and all are reported interested also in the Republican meeting. They are Chicago, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Miami Beach, Philadelphia, New York and Atlantic City. Television networks have been urging selection of the same city for both conventions.

The national committee meeting, Chairman Meade Alcorn said, "has been called to begin intensive development of a two-year program for the presidential and congressional campaigns of 1960."

It will include study of last month's election results and of possible ways of strengthening the party organization.

Another kind of organization problem faced Republican members of the Senate as a group of GOP insurgents pushed efforts to take party control in that body.

★ ★ ★

The small group of senators, variously labeled progressive, moderate and liberal, still has not agreed whom to back but one of them, Sen. Clifford Case (R-NJ) said Sunday he is sure they will unite behind a single candidate for the party's floor leadership.

Case said he favors Sen. George D. Aiken (R-Vt), a leader in the insurgents' movement, but Sen. Prescott Bush (R-Conn) sent letters to the 34 Republican senators boosting Sen. John Sherman Cooper (R-Ky). Another often mentioned is Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel (R-Calif).

★ ★ ★

The group will meet again Dec. 30 to pick candidates for the leadership post and other party positions.

Gallic Touch of Humor at De Gaulle Win

PARIS (UPI) — Not all of France's 80,508 "Grand Electors" took their duty seriously in yesterday's balloting in which Charles de Gaulle was elected president of France.

One of them wrote in the name of Pope John XXIII. There were some nostalgic ballots for Vincent Auriol, highly respected first postwar president, at least one ironical vote for Prince Louis Napoleon, last of the French emperors, and a defiant ballot for Marshal Philippe Petain, war-time chief of state who was denounced as a traitor.

Other write-in ballots cast by members of the electoral college included: The Count of Paris, pretended to the French throne, Prince Otto of Hapsburg, tax-opponent Pierre Paujade, De Gaulle lieutenant Jacques Soustelle and outgoing president Rene Coty.

The write-in ballts were among several thousand scrapped as invalid.

Wee Bird Flew in Flue

ENGLEWOOD, Colo. (AP) — Mrs. Virgil Tucker wasted no time calling the police when she heard strange sounds in an old stove flue in her kitchen. The police arrived and conducted a quick investigation, found the disturbance caused by a brown and white, sooty little woodpecker.

Sherman Adams Goes Back Home to Quiet, Tiny New England Town

By JACK V. FOX

LINCOLN, N.H. (UPI) — It was the night of Oct. 28 that Sherman Adams came home. There was no one to welcome him and his wife, Rachel, for they bad driven straight through from Washington and the hour was late when they pulled into the driveway beside the house on Pollard road.

It was about as complete a transition as a man could make.

★ ★ ★

The two-story frame house they came back to was the one Adams built in the 1930s when he made the grade at the paper mill.

It was there that he and the wife he calls "Plum" had raised three girls and a boy.

It was from this town of 1,400 deep in New Hampshire's White Mountains that Adams stuck a first tentative toe in politics, was carried on a tide of unceasing success to a position of power second only to the President of the United States and then forced out of public office.

Adams has been back seven weeks now.

The first few days he took off alone into the surrounding mountains, hiking to the slopes where he once chose the stands of timber that were to be cut.

NEVER REAL BRASS

They say here that there wasn't a man in those days who could keep up with "Sherm" Adams, be it in boots or on snow shoes.

Adams was never one of the real brass at the paper company. He was manager in charge of timber procurement for the bonded stationery and fine grade paper the mill produces. It was the Taylor-Young Co. then. Now it is the Franconia Paper Co.

The mill dominates the town. Today, as then, the livelihood of almost every man in the village depends on it. As in a Marquand novel, position at the mill determines social status.

Everyone used to know Adams to speak or nod to, but his job as manager gave him the right to build on Pollard road.

After the first days of seclusion, Adams began coming into the town's main street in the mornings, on foot or drivin gthe turquoise Plymouth station wagon. At first he was a subject of curiosity, but by last week his appearance was normal.

★ ★ ★

His bright red wool jacket and red fur hat stood out in the swirling snow. He stopped first at Marcal's General Store to pick up a newspaper. Then across the street to the village post office.

There are no home deliveries in Lincoln so Adams wrestled a big cardboard carton out the door and dumped it in the station wagon.

He hasn't unbent much and people have left him alone. He went to one Rotarian's lunch at the Lincoln Hotel (double room with bath, $4) since he got back.

Afterwards he joined with an old classmate from Dartmouth (glee club, 1920) for a rendition of "Home on the Range." He made no speech.

Two Sundays ago he and Mrs. Adams went to services at the Union Church. It can seat about 75 people, but there were not many more than a third of that number present. It is a non-denominational church for the Protestants in the community.

HAS TO RUSH AWAY

The Rev. George Marsh conducts the 10 a.m. service and then hurries to the Baptist Church at nearby North Woodstock for an 11:15 service there.

"I didn't know Mr. Adams before," says the Rev. Mr. Marsh, "but everyone here thinks he is a wonderful man."

"Everyone here loves him," his wife interjected.

★ ★ ★

Lincoln is about 80 per cent Roman Catholic, most of them Irish descendants of mill workers who migrated here from Canada around the turn of the century.

One of them is George McGee. McGee owns a restaurant and is a local Democratic politician. He is in the state legislature and is one of the town's three councilmen.

McGee worked for Adams for 12 years at the mill. Their families became friends, the two men played poker together.

★ ★ ★

"I never met a finer, squarer man in my life than Sherm Adams," McGee says. "No one will ever convince me that he did anything below board in his life.

"Yes, he made a mistake in taking those gifts. But it never occurred to him that he was doing something wrong. And I'll challenge anyone who says otherwise.

"And I'll tell you something else. He'll be back. He'll get up off the floor and fight."

Adams' mornings recently have been spent in his den at home dictating memoirs for a book to two secretaries. It has been reported that he will get at least $100,000 for publishing rights.

One of the secretaries is Mrs. Oscar Ramage who worked for him here 30 years ago.

"Nobody here has anything but good to say of him," Mrs. Ramage says.

READYING FOR CHRISTMAS

The Adamses are getting ready for Christmas. There is a stand of evergreen beside the house and one 15-footer sparkles at night with vari-colored lights.

The house is barn-red with white trim. It stands about 40 feet back from the street. Behind it is a hill named "Little Coolidge" in memory of another taciturn Yankee. A new TV aerial has been secured to the roof.

Last week the children and grandchildren (there are seven) were beginning to assemble for the holidays. A little girl of five was playing at a cupboard shelf in the kitchen and a boy in his early teens was shoveling snow from the front walk.

This reporter knocked on a side door and a girl who helps with the housework answered.

Mrs. Adams went for her husband and he came striding out of his den with a "well-what-do-you-want" look on his face. He appears in fine health.

★ ★ ★

I said people were interested in what he was doing, the contrast between the life he is leading now and the days when he stood at Eisenhower's right hand, what he has in mind for the future.

"I don't care to discuss it," he said. Then stone silence.

As I turned to go, Adams asked if I was driving. A heavy snow had been falling since morning.

"Be careful of these roads," he said. "Particularly if you're not used to driving here. It's not so much what you do as what the other fellow does."

Adams will be 60 next month. Not many people think he will stay here long after he has finished the book.

IT'S BEST PLACE

Adams could not have found a better place to recover from a blow that hurt sorely.

His life now is an interesting contrast to that of Bernard Goldfine, the Boston industrialist whose gifts of a vicuna coat and picking up of $3,000 in hotel bills led to Adams' resignation.

Sherman Adams will get a Christmas present this coming week that he will never send back. It is nothing more than a sheaf of papers with words typed at the top and columns of signatures below.

The name are those of almost every adult man and woman in Lincoln. The typewritten words read:

"We, the undersigned residents and citizens of the town of Lincoln, are happy to welcome back to the town Sherm and Rachel Adams, with all the respect and consideration due community members who have served their town, state and nation with the utmost distinction and with great dedication of purpose."

Newsprint Now in Good Supply

U. S., Canada Mills Met '58 Demands Without Working to Capacity

By WALTER BUSSEQITZ
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — U. S. newspaper publishers had no problem getting enough newsprint in 1958.

There was such a bulge of supply over demand that North American newsprint producers took a pause in their big expansion programs.

The U. S. and Canadian mills were able to serve their customers without drawing on around 15 per cent of capacity.

Consumption should rise in 1959, along with the expected improvement in the nation's economy. But producers are sure they can handle even a sudden strong spurt in demand.

The American Newspaper Publishers Assn. (ANPA) reported consumption for much of this year ran about 4 per cent under 1957.

Newsprint Information Committee, an information agency for some Canadian producers, said that for the first time in eight years no new newsprint machine will be installed in the U. S. or Canada in 1959.

However, North American capacity is expected to go up 550,000 tons during the year to 9,850,000 tons. This will represent mostly the addition of the full potential of machines completed during 1958 but running for only part of the year.

During the past two years, North American newsprint manufacturers carried out a 350 million dollar expansion, which boosted productive capacity by 20 per cent.

A major development in this country was the opening of International Paper Co.'s Pine Bluff, Ark., mill in July. The 50-million-dollar plant makes newsprint and Kraft paperboard.

Despite the growth of newsprint manufacturing in the U. S., the domestic industry still is less than one-third the size of Canada's.

Newsprint is selling on a contract basis in New York at a delivered price of $134 a ton. The last general boost of $4 a ton came in March 1957.

As the year neared its end, Sir Eric Bowater, head of Bowater Paper Corp., was asked about the future of newsprint prices.

He said: "Somebody has got to absorb the ever increasing costs of production and distribution, a tendency that never seems to stop. It's not true to say I'm contemplating it, but a rise in prices is needed."

Bob Considine Says:

Corum Wouldn't Infringe on Derby Master

NEW YORK — Just one week before Matt Winn died at the age of 88 he said he guessed it was time to call for Bill Corum.

★ ★ ★

The old colonel had really called it a career late one afternoon at his ancient and pretty wonderous race track, Churchill Downs, when he helped to hoist a blanket of roses to the quivering shoulders of Warren Wright's Ponder.

It was Matt's 75th Kentucky Derby. He knew he had had it, and liked what he had had. He knew that even if he lived up to the 76th Derby he'd need a stand-in.

Winn's friend and associate, Stanley Hugenberg, put in the call for Bill and reached him at the Park Lane Hotel. He asked Bill to fly to Louisville to talk things over. But Corum said to hell with it.

★ ★ ★

Or, rather, to heck with it. For Bill was a mild-spoken man.

"I can't come unless the old gentleman sends for me himself," he said. "And I certainly won't stand around there as long as he's living."

Hugenberg said, "Okay, if that's the way you want it. But can we call you if the old fellow doesn't live?"

Bill said sure, and then sent along his endorsement of two other men for the job—Brownie Leach, who had been doing publicity for the Derby for a number of years, and Thomas R. Underwood, editor of the Lexington Herald.

Winn's subsequent death constituted a serious business blow to the Board of Directors of Churchill Downs. A five-man committee of directors was named to find a successor: William Veeneman, chairman; Stanley F. Hugenberg, Judge Charles I. Dawson, hotel man I. Graham Brown, and one of Winn's sons-in-law, Louis J. Herrmann.

From a fiscal standpoint as well as from a sentimental one, it was their duty to see to it that the glamor of the Derby did not pass with the death of the man who had nurtured it into America's top race.

Plainly, they needed a quick, competent substitute.

Plainly, they needed Bill Corum, the man who had coined the Derby's choicest subtitle, "The Run for the Roses," and had been writing sincerely rapturous copy out of Churchill Downs for 25 years.

Getting him was a different matter because of Corum's $40,000-a-year newspaper contract and his $30,000-a-year contract to do the "color" on fight broadcasts.

The five-man board offered Bill the colonel's old post as president of the company which controls the track, and a five-year contract at the colonel's old wage—$50,000 a year.

Plus an almost boundless expense account. Plus the colonel's spacious old apartment at the end of the grandstand (complete with furnishings and faithful retainers renowned for their ways with a mint julep, featherweight biscuits, Tennessee ham with pan gravy and fried apples).

Corum, an almost puzzling combination of carefree spendthrift and good businessman, effected a near compromise.

He had been making a practice of taking his annual month's vacation in the spring, to visit his wife and young son in their Daytona, Fla., home and bustle through the windup of the Florida racing season and the state's budding baseball camps.

So he came to a nice agreement whereby he would continue with his sports column, take his month's vacation with pay, take another month without pay, and devote these two months annually to keeping the Derby where Winn put it.

On the delighted Louisville end of the deal, all offers except one stood. Bill accepted $35,000 a year for his role as the new Mr. Kentucky Derby.

It boosted this incorrigibly pleasant and talented boy from Speed, Mo., into the $100,000-a-year (plus) class, as his army of devoted leeches, down-and-outers and need-a-little-to-tide-me-over friends were delighted to hear.

Bill's good friend, George Krehbiel, was in Louisville the day Corum signed his contract with Churchill Downs. And he saw him do something that assured George that Bill was the same old Bill who had been covering and idealizing the Derby since he rooted Earl Sande home on Flying Ebony in 1925.

★ ★ ★

A photographer, taking shots around Winn's old souvenir-heavy office, asked Bill to pose in the Colonel's chair.

Bill shook his head. "Sorry," he said. "Anywhere else; but not there."

Barometer Sees 2 Days Ahead

Slice of Potato Forecasts Weather for Professor

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP) — A Northwestern University professor is using a slice of potato for a weatherman.

The potato, under air tight seal and constant conditions of temperature, pressure and light, forecasts changes in barometric pressure two days in advance.

★ ★ ★

It also reacts readily to the out-of-doors temperature it is insulated from.

Dr. Frank A. Brown Jr., professor of biological sciences, believes the changes are caused by some external force or forces still unidentified by scientists.

Many biologists have concluded that living organisms possess within themselves a kind of biological clock that measures acurately the day or month or other natural period — even when they are isolated from the environmental changes that exert influence on them.

Thus a fur-bearing pet would grow a heavier coat in the winter time, even though it never went outside.

★ ★ ★

Based on studies at Northwestern and marine biological laboratory, Woods Hole, Mass., Brown has challenged the biological clock explanation. He believes the changes are caused by physical fluctuations outside the organism and are independent of temperature.

In his studies he has been using metabolism as a measure — the rate at which a living organism consumes oxygen. The living things studied have ranged from carrots and sea weed to crabs and rats. The results, he said, were the same in all cases.

★ ★ ★

In the potato experiment, a section of potato is sealed in a glass flask with a renewable supply of oxygen and a recording device to measure oxygen consumption. The flasks are hermetically sealed in a copper container which is then suspended in a barrel of water maintained at constant temperature. Scientists then can observe the potato's daily, monthly and annual cycles of metabolism.

★ ★ ★

Brown found that the metabolism rate hits its peak at 6 p.m. and is lowest at midnight. The height of the peak, he said, is related to the barometric pressure that occur two days later. The higher the peak, the lower the barometric pressure will be two days hence.

★ ★ ★

The study also showed that the general metabolism rate increased when temperatures rose outside and declined on cooler days.

Insurance Men Back 'Em Up

Woman Right in Feeling 'Younger Than My Age'

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Women who fib about their age and claim to be younger than they really are won their rightful place in the actuary tables today.

★ ★ ★

Insurance company officials conceded the point. They agreed to accept the fib at face value, so long as it's no more than three years.

That much fibbing will be accepted as typical insurance-writing "experience," and everyone can be happy about it.

In fact, the National Assn. of Insurance Commissioners said women have an edge in life expectancy and for all these years they have been perfectly right in claiming they're younger than their years.

To correct the record, the association, meeting here, adopted a mortality table in which women get a three-year differential in age when they buy life insurance.

For example, a woman of 30 is considered 27 when it comes to remiums.

★ ★ ★

There was some hope expressed for men, too, the association said. Medical spokesmen have assured the organization that science is making efforts to bring the life expectancy of men up to that of women.

2 Men Robbed Making Deposits

Hunt Gang of Young Thugs Who Took Money by Dearborn Bank

DEARBORN (UPI) — Two patrons of a night bank depository were strongarmed and robbed of nearly $2,000 on the weekend. Police are seeking a gang of young thugs.

The strong-armings took place at the depository of the Manufacturers National Bank Saturday night as Christmas shoppers walked nearby unaware. The police station is a block away.

★ ★ ★

Robbed were Charles Rogensues, 29, East Detroit shoe store manager, and Herbert L. Applegate, 38, Farmington meat market manager. Rogensues lost $960 and Applegate $950.

The thugs operated in an almost identical manner in each instance.

Two men accosted the victim at the outdoors depository, forcing him at gunpoint to walk around a nearby corner and his money was taken.

Rogensues told police he then was slugged and forced into a parked car where he was bound and gagged.

Later, as Applegate was being robbed, the car drove away. The pair holding Applegate left him and entered the car. Rogensues was pushed out in an alley.

★ ★ ★

The gang members were described as young. They talked "jive" and appeared under influence of liquor or narcotics, their victims said.

Man, 3 Sons Saved After Drifting at Sea

SABINE PASS, Tex. (AP)— A father and three sons wre rescued Sunday in the Gulf of Mexico after drifting all night in their small fishing boat.

★ ★ ★

Robert Duplant, 37, a Nederland, Tex., real estate man, Butchie, 16, Ronald, 13, and Donovan, 10, apparently suffered no ill effects from a chilly night at sea.

The Coast Guard spotted their 16-foot boat adrift 12 miles off shore. They had been missing since Saturday.

Duplant said they encountered a fog when they attempted to return home, lost their way and ran out of gas. A strong northerly wind blew them into the open gulf.

Uncle Puss Will Be 20 This Christmas Eve

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — If Uncle Puss lives until Christmas Eve, and he appears to be in fairly good condition, he will be 20 years old, which is quite a life span for a cat.

Owned by Mr. and Mrs. Edgar F. Percival, Uncle Puss has lost a few teeth and his sight isn't what it usd to be. He sleeps on a heating pad and is fed choice tidbits from his master's table. He refuses a doctor-prescribed low-protein diet of baby food.

The British aircraft industry's exports in the first seven months of 1958 rose 50 per cent above the figure for the like period of 1957.

Ford Foundation Gives $700,000 for Experiment in Intellectual Maturity

Wayne University Adding New College

DETROIT (AP) — A $700,000 Ford Foundation grant is going into a higher education project aimed at "intellectual maturity" as well as specialized training.

The project is to be a new experimental College of General Education at Wayne State University.

The new college, to open in the fall of next year with ultimate capacity for 1,100 students is to follow "unique concepts" in higher education and will stress independent study, the university said.

Studies of the humanities will share time with the specialized professions.

The Ford Foundation's grant and Wayne State's explanation of its use were announced together yesterday.

A purpose of the experimental college is to develop "intellectual independence and initiative."

All students will be required to take studies in the natural and social sciences and the humanities through the entire four years.

A particular aspect will be independent study with limited faculty effort.

Wayne president Dr. Clarence B. Hilberry, calling the foundation's grant "magnificent," said it enables the university to enter upon an exciting new educational adventure."

★ ★ ★

Dr. Hilberry said the college will "concentrate on exposing students to the great ideas that every man should possess, aimed at attending intellectual maturity."

"For a full generation," he said, "educators have insisted that the primary goal of education is intellectual maturity.

"We have told each other this for 25 years but haven't done much about it. This new college is an attempt to tackle the problem with a fresh start."

The university president said the need for competent specialists cannot be denied.

"But neither," he said, "can we deny the need for intellectually mature people—people who have learned not only a body of precise facts but how to think."

Wayne State, with an enrollment of 18,000 students, is one of the country's larger institutions of higher learning.

Dr. Hilberry said the experimental college, in the planning stage for more than a year from an original $25,000 Ford Foundation grant, represents Wayne's "most deeply considered contribution" to education experimentation.

"Its concern," he said, "is with general education as contrasted with specialized or professional education.

★ ★ ★

"The aim x x x is to provide our students with an education which is liberal in its purposes, which will ensure that they possess a deep understanding of the most important aspects of our cultural heritage, and which will equip them to cope wisely with the problems they will face in the world of today and tomorrow."

The new college is to be known as Monteith College in honor of John Monteith, an early 19th century Michigan educator who was associated in the founding of the University of Michigan.

Clarence H. Faust, vice president in charge of the Foundation's education program, said that in the last quarter century there have been virtually no new experimental schools in general education for undergraduates.

★ ★ ★

Faust said Wayne's new college will "appear on the American education scene at a time when the testing of new concepts and methods to improve the quality and management of higher education is of profound national importance."

New Oil Fleet Rides Irrawaddy

Glamorous Old River of Burma Sees Diesels Bristling With Guns

WASHINGTON — The Irrawaddy is Kipling's glamorous "Road to Mandalay." Its name suggests temple bells, the pale-gold spires of pagodas, the dark wet green of jungles. Burma's old capitals bask on its banks.

Commercially, however, the Irrawaddy is a north-south highway of supreme importance. It drains some 158,000 square miles. The burnished waters have long borne flotillas of river boats and rafts of rich-red teak. The huge delta, with nine yawning mouths, forms one of the world's foremost rice granaries.

RIVERSIDE OIL DERRICKS

Nowadays the old Irrawaddy doesn't look quite the same. In September, 1958, the first test oil well was drilled in the delta. Upstream at Chauk, oil derricks rise from the riverside like filigree.

Th luxurious, smoke-belching river steamers were sunk or scuttled in wartime and have been partly replaced by diesel-driven boats. Significantly a third of the new fleet was built to transport oil from Chauk to refineries near Rangoon, the capital.

Guns bristle on the boats—for Burma's decade of independence, 1948-58, has also been a disturbed decade of insurgence. There has been a marked movement of Burmese from villages to towns.

School Teacher's Yawn Puts Him in Hospital

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Jams L. Cockrell, 24, should have stifled that yawn.

He stretched so prodigiously in yawning that he dislocated his right shoulder and had to be hospitalized.

★ ★ ★

The yawn came while Cockrell was attending a class in consumer education at Long Beach State College.

Cockrell is a school teacher, himself.

Air Line Ordered to Enroll Pilot

Lansing Negro Wins Fight to Take Training at Continental

LANSING (AP)—The Coloardo Anti-Discrimination Commission has ordered Continental Air Lines to enroll a Lansing Negro in its next pilot training course and the flier says he has requested immediate assignment.

In its ruling Saturday the commission said the air line had refused to consider Marlon D. Green, 28, for a job because is is a Negro. Green, a former Air Force flier, currently is employed as a pilot by the Michigan Highway Department.

Green said he had sent a telegram to Continental requesting immediate assignment to co-pilot training and duty.

"I intend to be available for the next (pilot training) class," he said.

The commission's ruling came only a few days after Green notified the agency he wished his complaint against the airline withdraw, reportedly because of dissatisfaction with what he regarded as a long delay in issuance of the ruling.

Replaces Hot Rivets

DETROIT (AP) — Development of a threadless lockbolt that takes the place of hot rivets in steel construction was announced today by the Huck Manufacturing Co. The company said the bolt is automatically installed at high speed with power tools.

Formosa has such a scarcity of horses that a pair of them are a favorite attraction in the Taipei Zoo.

Child Can Make No-Cook Candy

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Last week we gave you some recipes for cooked candy. Today we want to tell you about a no-cook recipe that is simple enough for a child to follow.

★ ★ ★

We asked three little girls to make this candy and let us take a picture of them with the finished product. Ann Latozas of Starr street was the hostess. Her helpers were Paulette Godoshian and Mary MacDonald. All three are under ten years of age.

★ ★ ★

You might let your children make some goodies for Christmas entertaining. Although these are sweet, they do contain nonfat dry milk which adds some protein and minerals to the candy.

NO COOK CANDY

½ cup marmalade
¾ cup nonfat dry milk
½ cup crushed vanilla wafer crumbs

Stir milk into marmalade gradually. Grease hands and work in crumbs. Knead in bowl to blend. Roll into shapes, then roll in nuts, coconut or chocolate sprinkles. Store in the refrigerator or in a cool dry place.

Variations of this may be made by stuffing dates or prunes with the candy. Or top each patty with a walnut or pecan half.

You may knead in ⅓ cup of chopped nuts, raisins, dates, marshmallows or coconut before shaping the mixture.

Snapdragon Punch Comes From Medieval Days

The sherries of Spain are traditionally the wines of welcome and hospitality. These wines from the Jerez district in Andalusia have been a festive essential since the days of Chaucer, when punches of sack and hot water were spiced with lemon and nutmeg to cheer the traveler. In Henry the Eighth's day, twice as much sherry as water was used, and fruits and nuts were added to the bowl.

Queen Elizabeth was fond of syllabub, which was equal parts of sherry and hot milk, poured back and forth from one pitcher to another until it frothed. It was sweetened and spiced, and Mary, Queen of Scots called it sillybubbles. In Dickens' England, the wassail bowl was the favorite of carolers, separately beaten whites and yolks of eggs being added to hot, spiced sherry, to replace the toast of medieval times.

Every Englishman had his favorite sherry punch to offer his guests, and one of them was likely to be a version of Snapdragon.

Snapdragon was originally a holiday game of good luck. Raisins, preferably a whole bunch still on the stem, were placed in a platter, doused with brandy, and set alight. If you could snatch twelve raisins from the burning before the flame died, you had good luck every month of the New Year. Sherried walnuts were treated the same way, the nut meats being first soaked for an hour or so in a nutty amontillado or sweet oloroso sherry.

A modern Spanish Snapdragon Punch combines the virtues of all of these holiday delights.

To make this fine holiday drink warm the contents of a bottle of Spanish sherry in a saucepan or in a bowl over a chafing dish burner. Use a nutty amontillado sherry or a sweet oloroso type, the last being called cream sherry in the United States. Add a quarter-cup or stem of raisins, while the wine is coming to a simmer. The raisins will absorb some of the wine, plumping slightly.

Then add two cups of hot water and a grating of nutmeg and cinnamon, along with cloves and allspice, if you desire. Sherried walnuts are set afloat in the bowl, and the punch is ready to serve.

In the old days, small love apples were roasted in the fire and added to the bowl. It was also customary to stick three or four cloves in an orange or tangerine, roast this for five or ten minutes in an oven or over a fire, and add these to the bowl. The fruit can be added whole or quartered.

Today, the juice of half a lemon is often added, although some prefer simply to add a long lemon peel. This makes a tart punch, so some people like to add a little sugar to the bowl. Others like to add four cups of water, then spike the bowl with a quarter-cup of brandy. The punch is so simple to make that there are hundreds of variations.

Spanish Snapdragon can be served hot or cold, but if the punch is served cold, the sherried walnuts are usually served on the side, and soda water is used instead of plain water. Some people like to match the hot version by adding beaten egg yolks to the hot sherry, then topping this with the beaten egg whites, this last being the modern version of that original Christmas drink, the Wassail Bowl.

Wassail means good health, by the way, which is one of the best of the holiday toasts. Wassail!

Nutty Dressing Doubly Useful

Some call it stuffing and some call it dressing, but if it's made with pimientos and chestnuts, the call will be for seconds.

★ ★ ★

This unusual dressing, made with bright, flavorful pimientos and sweet crunchy chestnuts, is used here with chicken breasts, and the result is a dish to remember. This being a versatile dressing, it need not be confined to chicken breats, but may be used in other poultry or meat recipes which call for dressing or stuffing.

Pimiento-Chestnut Dressing

4 to 5 whole broiler-fryer chicken breasts
1 tablespoon salt
2 cups boiled chestnuts
¼ cup cream
½ cup butter or margarine
1 4-oz. can or jar pimientos, chopped
Salt and pepper
1 cup cracker crumbs
Salad oil

Put prepared chestnuts through ricer or food mill. Add the cream and half the butter or margarine. Melt remaining butter and mix with pimiento and cracker crumbs. Combine mixtures. Season with salt and pepper.

★ ★ ★

Use the 1 tablespoon of salt to season the whole chicken breasts. Place stuffing in breast cavities and place meat side up in baking dish. Brush chicken with salad oil and bake at 325 degrees ovn until chicken is well done — about an hour. Garnish with pimiento strips.

Velvetry Chocolate Tops Peppermint Pie

Look over Peppermint Candy Pie recipe, because during the holiday season there'll be many an occasion when you'll want to serve "something light — something different—something party-ish" for dessert.

Real peppermint candy sticks are crushed and melted into the delicate light-as-air filling. A velvety chocolate cream topping blends like a dream with the peppermint flavored filling. In a flaky, golden crust, Peppermint Candy Pie is pretty as a French pastry, refreshing as an after-dinner mint.

Best of all, this festive and fancy party pie has a practical side, too. It's one of those easy, make-ahead desserts that can be prepared early in the day and chilled until serving time. Mix makes the golden pie shell, you make the pale pink filling and the chocolate cream. Your refrigerator does the rest.

Peppermint Candy Pie

1 package pie crust mix
1 envelope unflavored gelatin
¼ cup cold water
½ cup crushed peppermint candy (6 to 8 sticks)
1¼ cups milk
¾ cup sugar
2 egg yolks
⅛ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon red food coloring
½ cup whipping cream
2 egg whites
¼ cup sugar

Chocolate Topping

1 square unsweetened chocolate
3 tablespoons butter
⅓ cup sifted confectioners' sugar
1 unbeaten egg

Prepare pastry for one-crust 9-inch pie as directed on label. Prick. Bake in hot oven (450 degrees) 9 to 11 minutes until golden brown. Soften gelatin in cold water.

Crush peppermint candy to make ½ cup. Combine milk, sugar, egg yolks and salt in saucepan. Stir until well blended. Cook over boiling water or over low heat, stirring constantly until mixture coats a metal spoon. Add food coloring, the crushed peppermint candy and the dissolved gelatin. Stir until dissolved.

Chill stirring occasionally, until thickened and partially set. Fold in cream which has been whipped very stiff. Beat egg whites until mounds form. Gradually add sugar and beat until stiff glossy peaks form.

Gently fold into peppermint mixture and spoon into baked pie shell. Chill until set. Several hours before serving spread with Chocolate Topping.

Chocolate Topping: Melt chocolate. Cool. Cream butter and confectioners' sugar in small bowl. Add cooled melted chocolate and egg. Beat until well blended and smooth.

Great Britain is the world's eighth largest island.

Quick Cooking Keeps Cabbage Nutritious

Green cabbage, flavored this way, makes a delicious accompaniment to frankfurters.

Skillet Cabbage

2 tablespoons butter or margarine
¼ cup finely chopped onion
3 cups firmly-packed shredded green cabbage
1 large peeled apple (coarsely grated)
1 teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons cider vinegar
¼ cup water
Freshly-ground pepper

Melt butter in a 10-inch skillet over low heat; add onion; cook, stirring occasionally, until lightly browned. Add cabbage, apple, salt and vinegar; mix well. Add water. Cover and simmer until cabbage is as tender as desired. Season with pepper. Makes 4 servings.

Eggnog Enriches Cake in Holiday Pudding

Eggnog Wreath Pudding — in shape for the holidays as a golden wreath, spangled with sweetmeats of red and green. For a fruitful beginning: Combine ¼ cup chopped candied red and green cherries with 3 cups of ¼-inch cubes of bakers' pound cake. Arrange in an 8-inch greased ring mold. Combine 3 slightly-beaten eggs, 1½ cups dairy eggnog, 1 cup milk, and ½ teaspoon salt. Pour over cake cubes.

Set ring mold into a pan, partially filled with hot water and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for 1 hour, or until set. Unmold and cool to room temperature. Serve with whipped cream.

To Improve Steak

Just before broiling steak or lamb chops, brush over the meat a paste made of 1 or 2 crushed garlic cloves, a teaspoon of prepared mustard and enough olive oil to give the mixture the consistency of thick cream. It's the kind of flavoring men go for.

Need Any More Ideas for Christmas?

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

You're up to your ears in preparations for Christmas. But perhaps you'll take time out to read these few suggestions for some special foods to serve this week.

★ ★ ★

What about cups of hot soup after the tree is trimmed and all the presents wrapped? You'll be ready to relax before going to bed and the hot soup will soothe you. The wine suggested in the recipe is optional.

Santa Claus Soup

1 can (10½ ounces) cream of chicken soup
1 can (10½ ounces) green pea soup
2 soup cans water
1 to 2 tablespoons Sauterne (optional*)
1 tablespoon chopped pimiento

Combine soups in saucepan, gradually add water, stirring until smooth. Heat thoroughly, add wine and lightly garnish with pimiento. Makes 6-8 servings. (*Add wine if soup is only for grownups. Sauterne or champagne may be used.)

Many people buy their eggnog all made, along with their milk. Below is a recipe you can make at home with a package of frozen dessert mix. You need no added sugar and fewer eggs.

Holiday Eggnog

1 package vanilla flavor frozen dessert mix
4 egg yolks
4 egg whites
2 tablespoons milk
1½ cups heavy cream
Nutmeg

Beat together dessert mix, egg yolks and milk until thick and lemon colored. Whip heavy cream and combine with first mixture.

Fold in beaten egg whites. Flavor as desired. Chill. Sprinkle with nutmeg before serving.

This makes a thick "spoon-up" eggnog. For a thinner eggnog, add 1½ cups of milk. This makes approximately 2 quarts.

If you are the kind of hostess who has fruit cake all ready to serve to drop-in guests, you will like to know about Spiced Apricots. They are the perfect accompaniment to the rich fruit cake. There is no reason, however, why these spiced fruits couldn't appear on the relish tray for your buffet suppers.

Spiced Apricots

1 No. 2½ can (1 lb., 14 oz.) whole apricots
½ cup sugar
1½ tablespoons cornstarch
Whole cloves
¼ cup lemon juice or cider vinegar
1 or 2 sticks cinnamon

Drain apricots; save syrup. Stick two or three whole cloves into each apricot. Place apricots on flat try or pan. Add lemon juice or vinegar to apricot syrup. Combine sugar and cornstarch in small saucepan or chafing dish. Stir in liquids. Cook over moderate heat, stirring constantly, until smooth and thickened. Add stick cinnamon and apricots and heat.

Serve warm or chilled, plain or atop vanilla ice cream, as desired. Serves four to six.

Quick Pie Has Crumbly Top

Here's a dessert you can have ready for company or family in less than 10 minutes! Quick prepared mincemeat and pie crust mix are quickly ready for this tempting pie . . . which is broiled and then topped with a swirl of whipped cream. Here's the recipe:

Mincemeat Crumble Pie

1 lb. 12-oz. jar mince meat
1 stick pie crust mix
½ cup brown sugar (packed)
1 teaspoon cinnamon

Turn mincemeat into 9" pie pan and heat under broiler about 5 minutes or until bubbly. Combine pie crust mix, brown sugar, and cinnamon; mix until crumbly. Sprinkle over mincemeat.

Broil about 10" from heat (electric oven) or 5 to 6" (gas oven) for 2 to 4 minutes, or until golden brown. Spoon into serving dishes. Serve warm with cream. 6 servings.

Tempt Guests With Variety of Recipes

For holiday parties you'll want some new recipies for canapes. Here are a few, all delicious and all very easy to make:

Olive Liverwurst Spread

½ pound liverwurst, mashed
2 tablespoons chopped celery
1 tablespoon finely chopped onion
½ cup sliced pimento-stuffed green olives
¼ cup mayonnaise

Combine all ingredients; mix wel. Chill. Spread on rounds of toast and garnish with olive slices.

Makes about 1½ cups

★ ★ ★

Pickle and Clam Spread

1 6-ounce package chive cream cheese, softened
1 7¾-ounce can minced clams, drained
3 tablespoons finely chopped celery
½ cup chopped sweet gherkins
Salt to taste
Buttered bread rounds

Combine cheese, clams, celery, pickles and salt; mix thoroughly. Spread on bread rounds.

Makes about 1½ cups spread

★ ★ ★

Devilicious Dip

1 4½-ounce can deviled ham
¼ cup sour cream
½ teaspoon celery seed

Blend ingredients. Let stand in refrigerator about an hour to develop flavors. Serve with potato chips or crackers.

Pear Halves Hold Ruby Toned Garnish

Quick to prepare, pretty to look at and delicious to eat—what else could you ask of a fruit garnish for meat?

Cranberry Pear Garnish

1 pound cranberries
2 cups sugar
1 cup water
⅛ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon ginger
¼ teaspoon cloves
½ teaspoon cinnamon
Canned pear halves

Wash cranberries in cold water; drain. Place in a medium-sized kettle with sugar and water. Cover and cook until skins pop—about 5 minutes. Stir in salt, ginger, cloves and cinnamon; cool. Chill until almost a soft jelly-like consistency. Makes almost 4 cups.

Heat pear halves in a little of their syrup; drain. Fill centers of pear halves with cranberry sauce. Refrigerate remaining sauce and use as desired.

Green Colored Frosting Outlines Tree on Cake

Fluffy white seven-minute frosting is the perfect background for this Christmas Tree Cake. Prepare enough frosting to ice two 9-inch cake layers. Spread icing between cake layers and on top and sides of cake, reserving ¾ cup frosting.

Tint the ¾ cup frosting with green food coloring. Spread on top of iced cake in the shape of a Christmas tree. Decorate "tree" with colored sugar and silver dragees.

Fruitcake—Wine Marlow

Served by Tiny Tim's mother, delixious Fruitcake-Wine Marlow would surely bring a bright gleam to the eyes of a repentant Mr Scrooge. For quick fixing: Combine 1½ cups diced marshmallows, 1 pint of cubes made from bakers' fruitcake, 2 tablespoons Muscatel, ¼ teaspoon nutmeg, and 1 cup whipped cream. Allow to stand several hours before serving.

Cranberries to Rescue for New Meal Quickie

For a holiday meal quickie, turn your attentions to pork sausage and cranberries. Cook 1 pound bulk pork sausage until crumbly and lightly browned. Pour off drippings. Add ½ cup cranberry sauce and ¼ cup salad dressing to sausage and mix thoroughly.

Split 3 English muffins and lightly toast on cut side. Spread one-third cup sausage mixture on each toasted muffin. Broil 3 to 5 minutes until top of meat is lightly browned. Garnish with parsley.

Cooking Planks

Planks for cooking steak are usually made of a hard wood — oak, hickory or maple. They must be seasoned, by oiling and placing in a slow oven for about an hour, before using; this direction is for a homemade plank that is new.

Traditional Food Takes on Novel Look for Holiday

Christmas dinner is a substantial pause in the day's excitement and glee. The children aren't in the mood for too heavy or prolonged a meal. Nor as a rule is mother or the cook after days of preparation for the great holiday. So keep the menu moderate, but colorful and different and delightful.

Let's take a look at some novel ideas—

Fresh Cranberry and Sweet Potato Casserole: Alternate layers of sliced cooked sweet potato and ground fresh cranberries (mixed with sugar and grated orange rind) in a casserole with melted butter or margarine poured over the top. Bake.

Striped Candy Cane Salad: Place whole bananas on flat leaf of lettuce. Insert slices of unpeeled red apples in diagonal slashes to simulate a candy cane. Dice remaining apple and mix with cottage cheese. Serve a spoonful on each plate.

Cranberry Grapefruit Sherbet: Make the cranberry sherbet with pureed cooked fresh cranberries and fresh grapefruit juice and sugar to taste. Freeze. Serve with turkey instead of traditional cranberry sauce or, if desired, as dessert.

Snap beans with Chestnuts: Saute lightly cooked snap beans in butter or margarine with sliced chestnuts. Garnish with strips of pimiento.

But Robert Youngs Never Divorced

TV Star Wed 3 Times

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — It's not often a girl gets to marry the same man three times, with no intervening divorces.

This is the unique accomplishment of charming, red-haired Betty Young, wife of the screen and TV star Robert Young, and mother of four daughters.

★ ★ ★

The first Young wedding was performed by a justice of the peace in Santa Ana, Calif., when Bob and Betty were very young. The second took place on their 25th wedding anniversary last March, in the Episcopal chapel of the Bishop School at La Jolla, alma mater of all the Young daughters who are old enough.

THIRD ON TV

The third showed up as an episode in Young's long-standing TV series, "Father Knows Best," just a few weeks ago.

★ ★ ★

"I don't know whether it was the children's idea or ours," says Betty, "but everybody agreed that since we never had had a church wedding it was high time to have one, and our silver wedding anniversary was a good date.

"So we went through the whole ceremony at the beautiful little chapel on the campus of the school which has been a sort of second home to our daughters.

The ceremony was performed by the chaplain, Canon Frederick J. Stevens, and Bob's best man was the J.P. who married us the first time—only now he's Superior Court Judge Kenneth Morrison. My attendant was my best friend, Mrs. Louis B. Mayer, and all four of our daughters looked on.

'SOLEMN, LOVELY'

"It was all solemn and lovely, and gave us a nice, glowing feeling, since both of us had become serious Episcopalians through our eldest daughter, Carol Anne.

★ ★ ★

"I had no idea they were going to use the whole thing on Bobby's show until I saw the program a few weeks ago, while I was in the hospital recuperating from some minor surgery.

★ ★ ★

"It gives you a strange feeling to see your own life being played on a television screen by your own husband and his TV wife. But I enjoyed the film version of my wedding almost as much as I did the first two real ones."

MANY PARALLELS

Many episodes of Young's TV series parallel events in his own lively family, although both he and Betty insist they never interfere with the script writers. His screen family consists of actress Jane Wyatt as his wife, and three children.

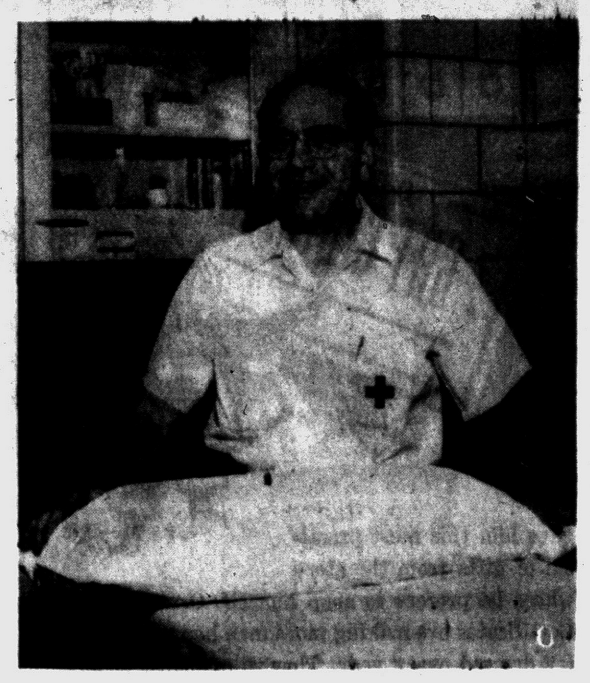

His real family consists of Betty and their four daughters: Carol Anne, now Mrs. Arthur Proffitt and a teacher at the Buckley School in Los Angeles; Barbara, 21, student at U.S.C.; Betty Lou, 15, a student at the Bishop School and Kathleen, 13, who is in the seventh grade at the Buckley School, where her sister teaches.

★ ★ ★

The Young home in Beverly Hills is headquarters for half of the younger generation of Hollywood, with boy friends and girl friends of the young daughters always welcome and always present.

"Bobby and I always put our family first," Betty says, "And I guess that's why he's able to be such a convincing father on the screen."

Leon Bumgardner of East Beverly street has been selected December Volunteer of the Month by the Central Volunteer Bureau of the Pontiac Area United Fund. He was chosen for his volunteer service to the Red Cross.

Bumgardner Chosen Volunteer of Month

The Central Volunteer Bureau of the Pontiac Area United Fund has announced the selection of Leon Bumgardner of East Beverly street as its December Volunteer of the Month.

Bumgardner was selected for his outstanding volunteer service to the Red Cross. He is vice chairman of the Red Cross First Aid Program and has been a first aid instructor for 17 years.

★ ★ ★

Bumgardner is now working on a volunteer basis in the emergency rooms of both St. Joseph Mercy Hospital and Pontiac General Hospital. He and some of the other Red Cross instructors thought they should know more about the injuries they were going to train others to treat, so they visited the emergency rooms at the two hospitals.

OFFERED SERVICES

After a few visits, Bumgardner decided to volunteer his services to the hospitals. He feels that in case of an emergency this experience will enable him to know the proper hospital routine.

★ ★ ★

Bumgardner sometimes works all night in the emergency room when there are a number of incoming patients, hospital officials reported.

At his present rate of service, he will have completed 365 hours of volunteer work for the second consecutive year, according to Mrs. Raymond Meggitt, president of the Volunteer Bureau.

"This is an outstanding achievement, and Mr. Bumgardner deserves the heartfelt thanks of the entire community for his dedicated works of mercy," Mrs. Meggitt said.

Bumgardner has recently completed teaching a 10-hour course in first aid to a group of honor prisoners from Jackson State Prison. The course was offered five nights a week at Camp Pontiac, which is located near White Lake. Thirty-six men were graduated last week, and honored their instructors with a special program. The course was enthusiastically received and the men have requested an advance first-aid course.

THEY'LL GIVE BLOOD

Moreover, through Mr. Bumgardner's efforts, the men have arranged to give blood between Christmas and New Year's. This is a particularly hard time to get people to donate blood, according to Red Cross officials, and there is a great demand during the holiday season.

Bumgardner is also a trained Mobile First Aid person, which enables him to carry first aid materials in his car and give emergency assistance n case of a highway accident. He was instrumental in the establishment of the local Red Cross Chapter's disaster relief mobile unit.

Those Awful Office Parties!

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

I wonder who ever thought up the idea of the office Christmas party? We can be sure of one thing. It wasn't a wife!

This is not written in bitterness. I never suffered because of them. My husband never remained for very long and I was even sometimes invited.

However, it really seems a barbaric idea to have a Christmas party at an office on Christmas Eve. This is traditionally a time for the family to be together. To be practical, this is a rushed time for almost everyone. There are usually last-minute errands to be done and often real help is needed at home.

Perhaps for the unattached men or women or those who are unhappy at home, this is a welcome diversion, but family men or women should not be expected to linger more than a short while—if at all. If a man's life at home is at all happy he will have things he wishes to do with his family on this very special and exciting day.

There is no doubt about it! The happiness of many a Christmas Eve has been ruined in many homes by the office social gathering. Too much to drink may make a man lose track of time and miss an engagement he had with his wife or children.

Some men may, without planning to, drink enough to make them less than their usual charming selves. Thus the fun of decorating the tree at home and other festivities of the season are somewhat spoiled for his family and for him also.

Surveys have shown that fewer of these parties are held each year. Maybe everyone is getting tired of them or perhaps more people have realized how inappropriate they are. If there is going to be an office Christmas get together, why not have it a few days or a week earlier—not on that very special Eve which seems somehow to belong to families, or if there is no family, to those we love and are truly close to.

Dear Abby . . .

Girl's Dawdling Drives Mom Into Screaming Tantrums

By ABIGAL VAN BUREN

"DEAR ABBY: I am so ashamed of myself I could just die. I just sent my 10-year-old daughter to school without breakfast because she was slow getting dressed. I told her I didn't care if he evercame back. It all started when she didn't put her clothes out and couldn't find anything in the morning and was almost late for school. I cated like a maniac, screaming and banging things. I said horrible things to her and pushed her out the door.

ABBY

"When she left I sat down and cried like a baby. I am miserable. I've done this before and promised myself I wouldn't do it again, but here I am! Are there other mothers who act like that? What can I do to help myself, Abby?" SAD MOTHER

DEAR SAD: If it is any comfort to you, you are not alone. I suggest you seek professional help. A good doctor could teach you how to relax, control your temper and live agreeably with your family.

★ ★ ★

"DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have been married for 16 years if you can call this a marriage. He is a husband six days a week but on Saturday's he is not married at all. He goes off early in the morning with his shaving kit and I don't see him until church time Sunday morning. He puts 200 miles on his car and who knows where he went? He says marriage is a JOB and everybody gets one day off a week from his job and Saturday is his day off from his marriage. Am I crazy or is he?" SIX-DAY WIFE

DEAR SIX: Marriage is a seven-day-a-week job and any man who can talk his wife out of a "day of" from his marriage could sell sand to the Arabs.

"DEAR ABBY: When my husband retired six years ago our three married daughters urged us to move to the city where they live. We have never been invited to any of their homes when they've had guests for cocktails, dinners or an evening. We evidently don't 'fit in' with their friends. We are very much in demand however as 'sitters' but it never occurs to them to invite us to their homes as 'guests.' This situation has hurt us both badly." DO NOT FIT

DEAR DO: If you don't "fit" —don't "sit."

"DEAR ABBY: You hear from many men whose wives do not understand them, but I am one man who doesn't understand his wife. She attended summer school last year and became acquainted with a foreign student. She has invited him to make our home, his home away from home, and I think things have gone too far.

"He calls my wife 'Honey' and 'Dear' and this is all covered up with a mother-son relationship. She is old enough to be his mother. I am not suggesting that anything out of line has taken place, but I want to be sure it doesn't. Should I bar him from our home? We've been wed 23 years." HUSBAND

DEAR HUSBAND: Your wife may be old enough to be his mother, but this lad is old old enough to get along WITHOUT a mother. Ask your wife to introduce him to someone his own age and call the friendship to a halt.

Earrings Trim for Tiny Tree

For a gift she'll treasure year-round, a fashion institute suggests decorating a miniature Christmas tree with a complete "wardrobe" of earrings for every occasion.

Button style for day wear, contour earrings for dresiser occasions, and lavish drop earrings for evening affairs. No need to gift wrap it either. It's pretty enough to place right under the big family tree as it is.

Can Learn Something From Indian Movie

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

The little boy's name is Apu; his big sister is called Durga. Their home is a Bengali village in India — a mud-floored, broken shack.

One day some strolling players visit the village. Apu, enchanted by their costumes' glitter, steals a tinsel treasure from Durga to make himself a crown.

She recognizes it, chases him, and is beating him when their mother rushes to intervene. After pulling the children apart, she leaves them to go on about her own business.

Denied the sweetness of revenge on Apu, Durga runs away. Retreating to the sheltering, feathery fronds of a neighboring rice field, she consoles herself with a piece of sugar cane.

There Apu followed her, sit down beside her—and waits. She sticks out her tongue at him. He waits some more.

After a while he reaches for her discarded piece of sugar cane, looking at her questioningly. She nods.

He's chewing at it contentedly when, from a distance, a train blasts its whistle. Both children jump to their feet. And as they stand together sharing the exciting spectacle of the passing train, you know that love has come back to Apu and Durga.

This scene is an episode in one of the most beautiful motion pictures I have ever seen—an Indian production called "Pather Panchali."

It's something families should see together, despite the fact so many movie theater managers seem to believe that we Americans find monsteramas and private-eye detection meaningful, dramatic experience.

Why did love return to the quarreling brother and sister of "Pather Panchali?"

Because their mother contented herself with changing their action toward each other—and left their feelings alone to change themselves.

But then she had things on her mind other than forcing good will upon her children. She had their possible starvation on her mind.

It is our lack of real problems that makes us so anxious to make a big one of our own children's quarrels?

This "split-level" silk taffeta is from the holiday collection of Ceil Chapman. The short draped sheath contrasts with a floor-length panel that falls free from the strapless bodice.

Buying Dress Isn't One Simple Decision

By RUTH MILLETT

"Why is it so hard for a woman to make up her mind about anything?" asks a man.

"I can go into a clothing store and buy a suit in 15 minutes, but my wife will shop for two days to find a dress, and even after she has bought one sometimes she takes it back. You'd think buying a dress was a major decision."

In a way it is. If a suit fits a man and the price fits his pocketbook that's fine and he'll take it. And that's that.

But it's different for a woman. Before she decides on a dress she has to make a lot of other decisions.

Does the dress "do anything" for her? Is the color becoming? If she buys it will it mean getting new accessories—shoes, hat, bag and gloves—to go with it, or can she wear it with what she already has?

Is the style what the saleswomen call "slenderizing?" Is it, perhaps, a little extreme and might go out of style after one season's wear?

Has she seen the same dress in any other shops? If so, she'll probably meet herself going and coming if she buys it.

Will it do to wear to the boss' house for dinner?

Is the color one she'll soon tire of? Is it plain enough so that she can wear the necklace she received last Christmas with it?

Will her husband like it or will he think it is too plain?

Will her friends approve? And last, but not least, can she afford it? Or could she possibly get by with last year's model?

So that's why it takes a woman so long to make one simple decision. She has to make so many little decisions before she makes the big one.

Junior Unit Fetes 200 Children

More than 200 children were feted with a Christmas program, put on by Junior Auxiliary of American Legion Auxiliary 377, Chief Pontiac Post, Saturday afternoon at the post home.

A skit, "A Family Scene on Christmas Eve," was presented with Junior Auxiliary members and Sons of the Legion singing carols.

The girls of the Junior Auxiliary were hostesses and had charge of the program. They made candy socks for the children and, assisted by the Sons of the Legion, decorated the tree and hall.

At Thanksgiving, the Junior Auxiliary gave a basket to a needy family by donating food and money they had earned.

The boys in Sons of the Legion will plant Christmas trees next spring.

Apply Make-Up Quickly and It Fades as Fast

The way in which you apply your make-up has a lot to do with its staying power. If you put it on in slapdash fashion, it will wear off quickly, leaving you looking pale and wan.

But powder which is fluffed on with a swamsdown puff, rouge which is buffed down with a cleansing tissue to blend it and lipstick which is allowed to set for 20 minutes, then blotted, will stay and stay. It's a good idea to powder your eyebrows, too, after penciling them on, since it takes away that artificial look.

When you renew your make-up at noon or before dinner, do it just as carefully. Always remove the old lipstick and powder before you apply fresh. This is an absolute rule if you want clear, beautiful, unblemished skin.

The city of Annapolis was chartered by the Royal Governor of Maryland 250 years ago, in 1708.

Try These Ideas

Loads of Fun Wrapping Oddly-Shaped Packages

If the thought of wrapping packages or tying bows throws you into a spin, just relax. Try a few of these zany ideas and you'll have a lot of fun.

NUTS ABOUT YOU

For one "nutty" idea, this clever teenager fastens a row of peanuts across the top of a tie box with gold gift wrap tape. Then she printed her "I am nuts about you" message on two cards and taped one above and the other beneath the peanuts.

★ ★ ★

A square box makes a real gone octupus. First wrap it in red paper, next cut eight arms from the same paper and tape all around the bottom of the box so that they dangle. Two Christmas ornaments form the eyes and a polkadot magic bow adds a colorful top knot.

COLORFUL CLOWN

The smiling clown is made by covering the top third of a box with white paper, the bottom with green paper. Strips of bright gift wrap tape form a collar and a striped suit. His features are cut from colored plastic tape. Drinking straws are taped to each side of the head for hair and the high hat is a paper cup covered with red paper.

The "bird in a gilded cage" is a good idea for a round package. Cover the box and make a cone shaped top to fit. Stripe it with gold metallic tape for the cage effect. Cut out head, wings and tail from yellow paper and fasten to the cage with transparent tape. This will give the illusion the bird is really inside the cage.

PUPPY PACKAGE

The puppy package is strictly for your "hound dog" friends. Cover with brown wrapping paper and form face with black and white plastic tape. His nose is a small box with a slit cut to form the mouth which holds the gift tag. Cut floppy ears from same brown paper and legs from white paper. Fasten with double-faced tape. To create the three dimensional effect, bend front paws over. Collar is a band of gift wrap tape.

Give Complexion Real 'Breather' Some Weekend

Any career or school girl is wise to devote an occasional dateless weekend to giving her face a rest from all make-up.

To get maximum benefit from this "treatment," scrub the skin well moring and evening with a complexion brush and plenty of soapsuds. Then rinse and pat dry.

This kind of one- or two-day "breather" gives the skin a chance to function normally without the obstruction of lotions, creams, rouge, and powder.

Phoning Friend Was OK

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: I belong to a bridge club and last night the meeting was at my house. I went shopping in the afternoon and when I returned home my mother told me that a friend of mine had called and said that she was coming over to see me that night. I immediately called her back to tell her that I was having the bridge club at my house and asked her to come another night.

"My mother thinks that I was wrong to call her and tell her not to come. It has been bothering me and I would like to know if you think I was wrong."

Answer: No, you were quite right. Telephoning her not to come was the only thing you could do. I do not quite understand why your mother did not tell her it was your bridge club night when she first telephoned.

"Dear Mrs. Post: Is it in good taste for a guest who wants something at the table to speak directly to the maid who is serving, or should she address the hostess, and let her instruct the maid?"

Answer: If the maid is within easy speaking distance, she should say to her, "I'd like another piece of bread, please" —or whatever she may want, since this is least disturbing. But if the maid is not in the room, then it is necessary, of course, to tell the hostess what she wants, and she then rings for the maid and gives the order.

"Dear Mrs. Post: My sister died less than a month ago. Another sister of mine will celebrate her 50th birthday soon and her son and his wife are planning a large surprise party for her. I think it is much too soon to give such a party and that it would be very lacking in respect. What is your opinion?"

Answer: I agree with you that it is too soon after the death of your sister to have a party of any size.

Scrubbing Floor Not Drudgery, Good Exercise

The titled lades in Europe are reportedly scrubbing floors and washing dishes — just to prove they aren't afraid of work.

Well, the blue-bloods may not know it, but most red-blooded American home-makers do their own scrubbing and mopping regularly.

With all our wonderfully efficient soaps and detergents, it's both economical and easy. Besides, the exercise is good for whittling down an overdose of calories!

Convert Jars Into Canisters by Shellacking

To convert mayonnaise and pickle jars — or other glass containers — into useful canisters, soak them in hot soap or detergent suds until their pasted labels disappear along with all traces of the original contents.

Rinse, dry, and glue on appropriate new labels.

Then coat these with shellac so they will be protected and will last indefinitely through handling and the washing which is necessary to keep all food containers sanitary.

Kuharich Named Football Coach at Notre Dame

Brennan Fired as Irish Boss After 5 Years

'It Happened So Fast,' Says Youthful Mentor Following Dismissal

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (UPI)—Joe Kuharich, head coach of the Washington Redskins and former Notre Dame guard, today was named football coach at Notre Dame, succeeding Terry Brennan.

Kuharich's appointment was announced by the Rev. Edmund J. Joyce, Notre Dame executive vice president and chairman of the faculty board in control of athletics.

Release of Brennan, Notre Dame's coach for the past five years, was announced yesterday by university officials.

Father Joyce said that Kuharich has been given a four-year contract.

★ ★ ★

Since 1954 Kuharich has been coach of the Washington Redskins.

The new Notre Dame mentor, who is a native of South Bend, actually began his coaching career at Notre Dame in 1938, the year of his graduation, when he served as an assistant freshman coach while taking graduate studies.

The following year he became football coach at Vincentian Institute, Albany, N.Y. In 1940-41 he played guard with the Chicago Cardinals. During the next four years he served as a Lieutenant in the Navy during World War II.

★ ★ ★

He returned to the coaching profession in 1946 to become line coach of the Pittsburgh Steelers.

Kuharich moved to the University of San Francisco as line coach in 1947, and became head coach of the Dons in 1948.

He coached at San Francisco for four seasons with his last team going undefeated. This led to his accepting the head coaching job for the Chicago Cardinals in 1952.

★ ★ ★

Kuharich joined the Redskins as line coach in 1954 and became the head coach of the Washington club in August of that year.

In 1955 Kuharich was named professional "coach of the year."

In announcing his appointment Father Joyce singled out Kuharich as an alumnus who has distinguished himself in the coaching profession. In coming back to Notre Dame as head football coach, Kuharich will indeed be coming home, Father Joyce Said.

★ ★ ★

The Notre Dame executive vice president said "given Kuharich's intelligence, his experience, his devotion to the game and his desire to work with Notre Dame athletes, we have every confidence that he will take an important place in the great tradition of Notre Dame coaches."

The new Notre Dame coach is married and the father of two sons.

IRISH COACH—Joe Kuharich, coach of the Washington Redskins, was named to succeed Terry Brennan at noon today as head football coach at Notre Dame. Brennan was fired yesterday upon recommendation of the athletic council to the school's administration.

Notre Dame 'Accustomed to Winning'

32-18 Record Not Too Good?

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Notre Dame is not only accustomed to having winning football teams but they apparently must qualify as great and that could be one of the reasons Terry Brennan was fired as head coach.

In five years at Notre Dame, Brennan had four winning seasons and an over-all record of 32-18. His only losing season was in 1956 when the Irish had a 2-8 mark. This year they had a 6-4 record.

Tulane Coach Andy Pilney, one of several mentioned as a possible successor to Terry Brennan, expressed surprise Sunday night at the dismissal.

"This is the first time I've heard of it," said Pilney, a graduate of Notre Dame where he was a football star. "I hadn't even heard any rumors about it along the coaching grapevine."

Asked if he would consider taking the Notre Dame job if asked, Pilney said, "For the benefit of my wife and family I would always be interested in advancing myself in the coaching profession."

★ ★ ★

Pilney declined to comment further.

"I think it's a pretty rotten think," Notre Dame fullback Nick Pietrosante said last night about the firing.

"I don't think the firing was called for," Irish guard Al Ecuyer added.

★ ★ ★

Both are training with the East team for the annual Shrine East-West game Saturday at Kezar Stadium in San Francisco.

"They don't know what they did to themsevles," Pietrosante continued. "They shouldn't have done it. They didn't give him any of the breaks. They expect too much of a team that has to play a schedule like ours."

"I feel real bad about it," said Ecuyer. "Things didn't turn out as well as we expected. We had several close games, but Notre Dame is out to win, close doesn't count."

Bronko Nagurski, the third Notre Dame player on the East team, could not be reached for comment.

Brennan said Sunday night he would be willing to remain in coaching if the right offer came along.

"I haven't thought about it too much," said Brennan, "but I would be interested in remaining in coaching."

Brennan, who has a law degree, was asked if identical opportunities in law and coaching were presented which would he choose?

★ ★ ★

"I'd stick to coaching," said Brennan.

Asked more specifically if he would be interested in the vacancy at Marquette University, Brennan said:

"I'd be interested in any good coaching opportunity."

FIRED—Terry Brennan, who took the Notre Dame coaching job five years ago at the age of 25, was fired in a surprise move over the weekend. No reasons were given for the dismissal which was recommended by the athletic council and accepted by the school.

Spartans Whip Nebraska Easily

Off Through Christmas, Play in Dixie Meet Next Week

EAST LANSING (AP) — Michigan State basketballers, winner of their fourth straight game by a comfortable margin, will take time off the court this week for the Christmas holidays.

The Spartans, easy victors over Nebraska by an 80-55 count Saturday, have no game scheduled this week. On Dec. 29-31, MSU will play in the Dixie Classic at Raleigh, N.C.

Other teams involved in the three-day tourney are Duke, North Carolina, Cincinnati, Wake Forest, Louisville, Yale and North Carolina State.

Michigan State will go against Duke in the opening round of the eight-team affair.

Michigan State had a little trouble penetrating a Nebraska zone defense and had a 25-point lead on a 47-22 score at the half. Coach Forddy Anderson pulled his regulars early in the second half and let the Spartans coast in from there.

Cypress Gardens Skiers Capture Over-All Crowns

WINTER HAVEN, Fla. (AP)—Buster McCalla and Nancy Rideout, both of Cypress Gardens, won men's and women's over-all championships Sunday in the American Water Ski Assn.'s seventh annual All-American Tournament.

★ ★ ★

McCalla was edged on form in jumping by Roger Ray of Cypress Gardens although McCalla's longest jump was 132 feet to 129 for the 17-year-old junior champion.

Jimmy Jackson of Delray Beach was men's runner - up and Ray took third place.

★ ★ ★

In men's veteran competition, Johnny DeMiller of West Palm Beach took first place, Henry Holmes of West Palm Beach second and Jim Middlebrook of Sarasota third.

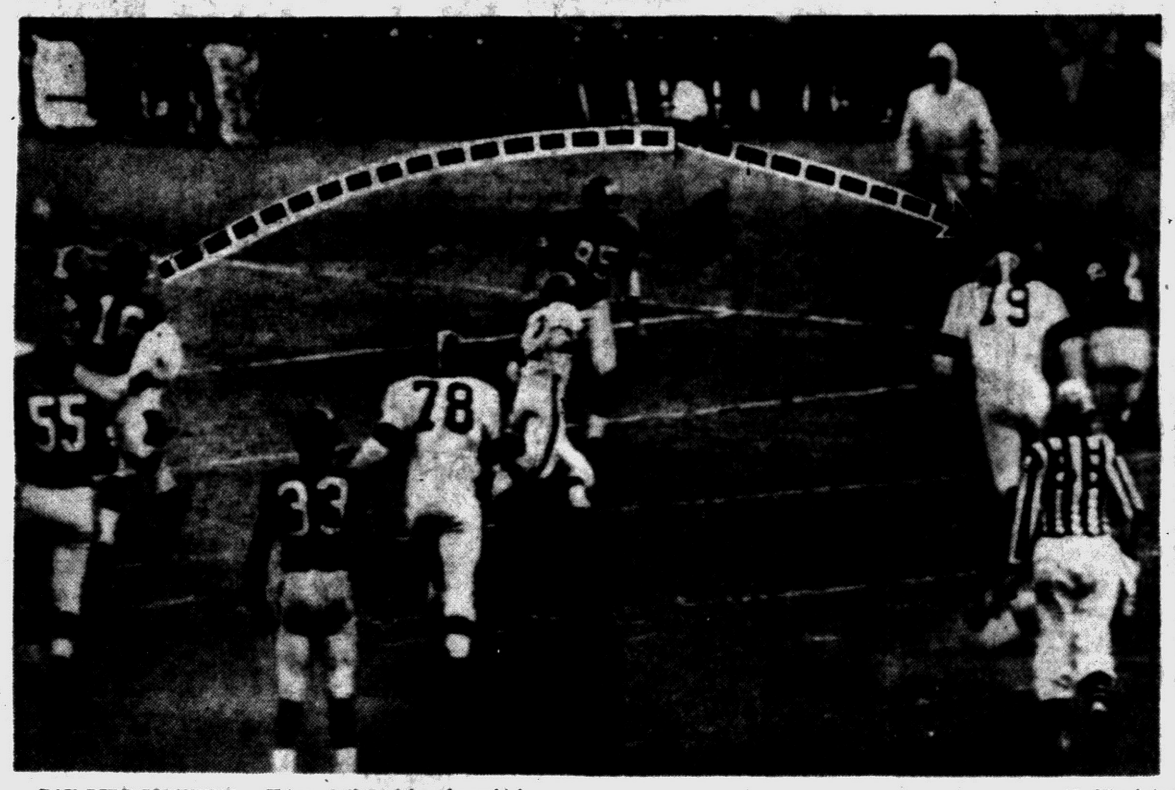

Mike Nixon Named New Coach for Washington

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mike Nixon, backfield coach of the Redskins of the National Football League, today was named head coach to succeed Joe Kuharich.

Nixon's appointment was announced by George Preston Marshall, president of the Redskins, shortly after Kuharich's appointment as head football coach at Notre Dame was announced by the university.

Giants Have '11 Hangmen'

PAY DIRT PITCHOUT — This was the tricky play which provided the only touchdown in New York's win over Cleveland. Charley Conerly (42) (upper right) grabs the ball pitched laterally by halfback Frank Gifford (16) at 12-yard line. The play started with a double reverse and had the Browns befuddled. Other players in the picture are center Ray Wietecha (55), fullback Mel Triplett (33) and Bob Schnelker (85) of the Giants. Cleveland tackles are Willie McClung (78) and Bob Gain (79). The Giants won 10-0.

Strong Defense Against Browns Is Key to Title

New Yorkers Shackle Cleveland Offense in 10-0 Win

NEW YORK (AP) — Notre Dame had its Four Horsemen, Fordham its Seven Blocks of Granite. And now we have the Eleven Hangmen of the New York football Giants.

The hangmen who form the defensive unit of the Giants tightened the noose around the neck of Jimmy Brown yesterday afternoon and sprung the trap on Coach Paul Brown's Cleveland Browns.

Because of their inspired defensive play and the opportunistic offense of Chuck Conerly, Frank Gifford, Alex Webster and Co., the Giants won the Eastern Conference title of the National Football League.

★ ★ ★

The 10-0 shutout of Cleveland engineered by Conerly's first touchdown of the season — on a lateral from a double reverse — and Pat Summerall's 13th field goal, sent the Giants into the championship game which will also be played at Yankee Stadium, scene of the Giants' two exciting games with the Browns. It will be carried on NBC-TV with New York and a 75-mile area blacked out.

The Giants are braced for a furious attack from would-be ticket buyers as there was no advance sale.

★ ★ ★

Once again it was the grudging defense of the 11 hangmen that thrilled the icy crowd of 61,274 in the vast caverns of the Bronx. They sang the praises of Conerly, Gifford and Webster, but most of all they roared approval for the 11 hangmen who carried out so expertly the pattern designed by Tom Landry, the defensive coach.

The Giants' four-man defensive line was tremendous. That is the only word for it. And Robustelli and Jim Katcavage at the ends and Rosey Grier and Dick (Little Mo) Modzelewski at the tackles simply wrecked the Cleveland offense.

With Sam Huff backing up the middle, taking dead aim at the great Jimmy Brown, and Cliff Livingston and Harland Svare adding their brawn as linebackers, Cleveland made only 24 yards rushing. Brown, who set a league record with 1,527 yards in regular season play, was held to eight yards in seven carries.

★ ★ ★

The alert deep defense of Lindon Crow (he intercepted two), Carl Karilivacz, Jim Patton and Em Tunnell turned in an excellent job when Cleveland's badly rushed passers took to the air. Milt Plum, who was injured in the first half, and Jim Ninowski, completed 10 of 27.

But all the defense in the world wouldn't have helped the Giants if they hadn't been able to score.

The only touchdown was a tricky thing on a frozen field, an 18-yard play late in the first period.

Conerly took the ball from center and handed off to Webster coming around from right halfback. Webster gave it to Gifford, reversing from his left halfback spot. Gifford cut through the right side of the line to the 10 and then tossed a basketball-type lateral to Conerly, who went all the way.

Pistons Take Respite Until Friday's Twinbill

By United Press International

In keeping with the holiday season, the Detroit Pistons will see only limited action this week prior to swinging into a rugged 18-game January schedule.

Coach Red Rocha's quintet will be idle the first four days of this week before resuming action against Minneapolis in the opener of a doubleheader Christmas Night at New York's Madison Square Garden.

Friday, December 26, the Pistons will meet Cincinnati in the second game of a home twinbill at Olympia in which the Lakers are matched against the Boston Celtics in the 7 p.m. opener.

★ ★ ★

Rocha is hopeful that the brief respite will rest his squad for the tough grind ahead. "Don't forget that we've played mostly top teams the last three weeks," said the Pistons skipper, "and we haven't had much time off. A few of the players haven't been feeling up to snuff and maybe this will help snap them out of it."

★ ★ ★

Phil Jordon has been hampered by a lingering cold and has seen only limited activity the past few games. Gene Shue also has been bothered by the flu.

Friday's doubleheader will be the second at home this season and, judging from the response of fans last Wednesday, a good turnout is expected. "It seems the fans like to watch two games," said General Manager Nick Kerbawy. "We drew some of our largest crowds last season on doubleheader nights.

★ ★ ★

"Now that sports fans in Detroit have gotten to know the National Basketball Association better, they want to see all the stars in action and the twinbills afford them that opportunity."

★ ★ ★

Rocha sees the games against third-place Minneapolis and last-place Cincinnati as a chance for his squad to get back into the thick of the Western Division race. "St. Louis isn't so far out in front they can afford to relax for a minute," he says. "If we can keep the pressure on them all the way, we might still finish first."

Only One Absentee From Orange Drill

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Only one player will be on the ailing list Monday when the Syracuse football squad returns to training for its Orange Bowl date with Oklahoma.

The absentee will be left end Dave Baker, a valuable man in the Syracuse attack. Baker, troubled with a leg injury, missed the first full-scale scrimmage session Saturday in Riddick Stadium at North Carolina State College.

Baylor Delays Move for New Grid Coach

WACO, Tex. (AP)—Baylor will take its first concrete steps toward obtaining a new head football coach after the Christmas holidays.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Abner McCall, chairman of the Faculty Athletic Committee, said he would call a meeting of his group and an advisory committee from the ex-students to begin top listing the coaching prospects.

★ ★ ★

No names have been revealed by the committee but reports here are that Johnny Vaught of Mississippi and Sam Baugh of Hardin-Simmons are among those given top ranking. Frank Broyles of Arkansas, former Baylor assistant, also is said to be among the group.

British Champ to Face Sugar?

LONDON (AP)—British boxing promoter Jack Solomons said Sunday Sugar Ray Robinson is conditionally prepared to defend his world middleweight crown against British champion Terry Downes.

★ ★ ★

"The condition," said Solomons, "is that Robinson retains his title in his return contest next year with Carmen Basilio. Sugar Ray says he will talk business if he does. The fight would be in London."

★ ★ ★

Downes put up a magnificent losing fight against America's Spider Webb in London this month.

The Robinson-Basilio bout is expected in February or March.

"Meanwhile," said Solomons, "Downes will fight a top-ranking American at Wembley Feb. 24.

Coach Howell Lauds Defensive Unit

Early Injuries Hurt Giants

By The Associated Press

The New York Giants were a sorry looking bunch in 27-21 and 42-21 exhibition losses to the Baltimore Colts, then dropped two of their first four regular season games. Now they're Eastern Conference champs and meet the Colts again next Sunday — this time for the National Football League title.

What has made the difference? What happened after those dreary pre-season games? What sparked the comeback that forced a conference playoff with Cleveland, then crushed the Browns for the Eastern crown?

Coach Jim Lee Howell has some of the answers.

"We started out with eight guards and pretty soon we had none," he admitted. "We made a deal with Green Bay for Al Barry, who has been a tremendous help.

"Bob Mischak, who played for Army, figured to become a defensive end. He told us he never played guard in his life, but he took over and played every game with the offensive unit.

"Frank Yousso, a big fellow from Minnesota, was only a rookie. He missed most of the early practice because he was with the College All-Stars. But he came along good. When Jack Stroud was hurt he was able to take over. Yousso has done a fine job for a rookie.

★ ★ ★

"We have improved tremendously on defense, thanks to Coach Tom Landry. Then we have Andy Robustelli, a great money player and a leader. Jim Katcavage and Sam Huff don't know what defeat is. They play until they drop.

"Then we got Rosey Grier back from the Army. He was overweight and had a bad arm. He just began to play like he did before he went away. Cliff Livingston did a fine job for us as the left side linebacker after Bill Svoboda was hurt.

★ ★ ★

"I'm just talking about the new men mostly. Don't forget Little Mo Dick Modzelewski, Harland Svare, Rosey Brown, Ray Wietecha and all the others.

Coach Weeb Ewbank thinks his Baltimore Colts will need their "best effort of the year" to beat the New York Giants in the National Football League's championship game next Sunday.

★ ★ ★

Ewbank and the rest of his staff, along with Colt owner Carroll Rosenbloom and Gen. Mgr. Don Kellett, were in New York's Yankee Stadium yesterday to watch the Giants smash the Cleveland Browns 10-0 to win the Eastern Conference crown.

"New York is definitely improved over the team which beat us 24-21 in New York Nov. 9, especially their defense," Ewbank said.

Kellett also called the Giants improved and said he had never "seen a team with as much desire."

★ ★ ★

Colt fullback Alan Ameche, one of the many Colts who watched the game on television, said he thought the Giants would win the playoff game with Cleveland because they were "more versatile."

"We're the same type of team as the Giants," Ameche said, "and I've never felt so confident in my life as I do right now that we can beat them."

Tackle Art Donovan said he had two reasons for being happy the Giants won. He said it would be a thrill playing the title game in his home town of New York and it would be a chance for the Colts to avenge the earlier defeat by New York.

$50,000 for NOT Fighting Dempsey

Ring's Brown Panther, Harry Wills, Is Dead

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK (AP) — The old brown panther, who received $50,000 for not stalking Jack Dempsey, is dead at 66.

Harry Wills, one of the heavyweights who lighted boxing's star-studded sky during the roaring 20s died last night in Jewish Memorial Hospital from diabetes.

Wills, who earned the tag "old brown panther" because of his smooth, lithe feinting and side-stepping motions in the ring, had more than 100 recorded fights. He often joshed about being paid for 749 and was known long after he ended his ring career in 1932 for his gruelling, month-long diet sessions.

But the most famous bout for which he signed was the one with Jack Dempsey that never came off. The New Orleans-born Negro later claimed it was the racial issue that caused Dempsey's lawyers to forfeit the champ's $50,000 purse.

The fight had been boomed for years, but Dempsey's camp managed to sidestep until Wills fought a 12-round, no-decision brawl with Luis Angel Firpo in September, 1924 in Jersey City. Earlier, Firpo had knocked Dempsey right out of the ring.

That Firpo fight brought Wills a $150,000 purse, his largest payday ever. Most ringside observers agreed that Wills had the best of Firpo.

★ ★ ★

Wills career began in 1911 in New Orleans and spanned 21 years. Twenty-two of his fights were with Sam Langford, another of that generation's great heavies.

Side-by-side with his boxing game, came notoriety from his annual month-long fast. For 38 years, during and after his boxing career, Wills would avoid food for 30 days to "burn off the impurities."

His self-imposed diet would consist only of water for a month. Then he would take a light collation, spend two days on juices, switch to milk for two more than have a meal of pork chops and sweet potatoes to celebrate.

During his ordeal he would walk 12 miles a day and sleep only four or five hours a night. He claimed the hunger pangs left after the third day.

In one session, he lost 46 pounds. During the 38 years, he figured he lost more than a ton of suet.

Wills, who always held a great friendship for Dempsey, invested his ring earnings wisely, as did the man he yearned most to fight. At his death, he had considerable real estate earnings in Harlem, and a 32-family apartment house in the Bronx.

★ ★ ★

Wills always kept a keen interest in boxing. He didn't think much of today's fighters, mourning the lost art of sidestepping and feinting in the ring. "I only forgot to duck twice," he said when queried on his fight record.

Funeral arrangements were to be completed today.

Foul Shooters Fowl Winners in 'Y' Contest

A "shooting" contest in which fouls (and fowls) figured brought a big, fat roasting chicken to 16-year-old Dennis Joe Whittaker and another to 10-year-old John O'Dell, Saturday at Pontiac YMCA.

The boys topped a field of some 32 competitors. They received their rewards for dropping in the most free throws with a basketball, out of 10 attempts.

Dennis collected his fowl for caging seven of 10, with Ron Martell 2nd with four. John won his division with five good ones. Three dropped in four each. They were Bobby Bragan, 9-years-old, Gordon Winfield 10, and Leonard Gaches 11.

Ed Adler, Pontiac storeman, donated the prizes.

King's Canasta won the $28,400 Tanforan Handicap as the San Bruno, Calif., track closed its 48-day fall meeting Saturday.

Accidental Goal Wraps Up 4-2 Win for Hawks

Pass Goes Into Open Net in Final Seconds; Burns, Godfrey Tally

CHICAGO (AP)—Gordie Howe, the National Hockey League's new 400-goal man, had to be a goat by scoring for the Chicago Black Hawks as his Detroit Red Wings suffered a 4-2 defeat last night.

The great forward of the Red Wings slid the puck by mistake into Detroit's own open net in the last 17 seconds of play as his team was battling to tie by keeping six forwards on the ice.

Both Chicago's last two scores, one a tie-breaker and the other by Gordie which clinched the Chicago victory, came in the last two minutes of a wild game.

The loss dropped the runnerup Red Wings a full 10 points behind the leading Montreal Canadiens.

★ ★ ★

Howe's Chicago goal came only a few moments after the Black Hawks had taken a 3-2 lead on defenseman Elmer Vasko's second goal of the season and first in 20 games.

The Wings had taken goalie Terry Sawchuk out of the game and were fighting desperately for a tie with six forwards on the ice.

Howe, at the left of the wide open net, was trying to feed the puck across the ice. But the pass got away from him and it slid barely across the goal line into a far corner of the cage.

The official scorer credited the freak goal to Chicago's Earl Balfour.

Going into the final period, the score was 1-1 on goals by Ken Wharram of Chicago in the first period and Charlie Burns of Detroit in the second period.

Setting up the late-seconds dramatics then were third period goals by Eric Nesterenko of Chicago and Warren Godfrey of the Wings, in that order. Godfrey's was his fourth of the season.

Vasko's tie-breaker at 18:38 was a tip-in of a shot by Bobby Hull. At 19:43 came Howe's. It was credited to "Balfour, unassisted" in the official record.

Plante Turns In Fifth Shutout

Blanks Boston to Put Montreal 10 Points Up on Red Wings

By The Associated Press

The Montreal Canadiens have a new twist on that old Las Vegas standby—seven come 11. The National Hockey League leaders are hitting the jackpot with goalie Jacques Plante and "11 come 11".

Plante posted his fifth shutout last night as Montreal defeated Boston 5-0. It was the Canucks' 11th game without defeat, during which time Plante has allowed only 11 goals.

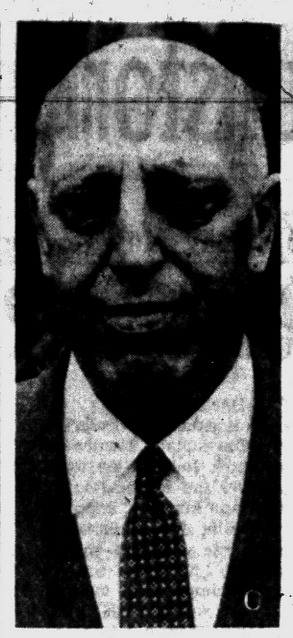

★ ★ ★

The victory put Montreal 10 points up on second place Detroit, which lost to the Chicago Black Hawks 4-2 last night. Montreal defeated the Hawks 4-1 Saturday.

The New York Rangers knocked off the Toronto Maple Leafs 5-1 in Sunday's other game. The Leafs played a 2-2 tie with Boston Saturday to round out the weekend activity.

Plante had 33 saves while league scoring leader Bernie Geoffrion scored one goal and added an assist. Linemates Ralph Backstrom and Ab McDonald added a goal and two assists respectively.

The Rangers scored three times in the second period to blow open a 2-1 affair. Bill Gadsby, Larry Popein and Andy Hebenton produced the trio of goals shortly after Barry Cullen whipped a 20-footer over outstretched Ranger goalie Gump Worsley.

MEETS ALMA-MATER — Frank (Cappy) Cappon, head coach of the Princeton basketball team, will get a crack at his Alma-Mater, the University of Michigan, in the first night's action of the Motor City tournament starting next Monday at the U. of D. fieldhouse.

Motor City Begins Dec. 29

Michigan Flavor in Classic

DETROIT (AP) — The Motor City basketball tournament, with one of the most impressive lineups in its seven-year history, has a Michigan flavor from every angle.

The holiday playoff will pit host University of Detroit against Army and Michigan's Wolverines against Princeton in the first round on Monday, Dec. 29.

The winners will play for the championship and the losers for third place the next night.

Both out-of-state teams are bringing in Michigan talent for a rare appearance before home crowds.

Princeton's coach is Franklin C. (Cappy) Cappon, who coached the Wolverines from 1930 to 1938.

A native of Holland, Mich., Cappon graduated from the University of Michigan in 1924 after compiling a notable record as a player in both football and basketball.

He joined the Wolverines' football staff in 1925 and coached the ends, then went to Kansas as head coach for two years. He returned to Michigan in 1928 and remained until 1938 in various athletic capacities.

★ ★ ★

His Michigan basketball teams won 92 games and lost 60 in eight seasons.

Now the dean of Ivy League basketball coaches — he went to Princeton from Michigan in 1938 — Cappon's 1958-59 team won three of its first four games.

The Tigers leave something to be desired in speed and height but Cappon has a good supply of experienced players.

★ ★ ★

The captain of the Army team is Chuck Darby, a 6-foot-2 senior guard from Sturgis, Mich. A U.S. Military Academy star, Darby was second in scoring and rebounds for Army last season. He poured in 408 points and grabbed 241 rebounds in 25 games.

Also on the Army team is Bob Chelberg, a 6-foot sophomore guard from Sault Ste. Marie.

Army lost only team captain Don DeJardin from last year's team. This season it has won four of its first five games.

★ ★ ★

Michigan's Wolverines, the probable choice for the favorites' role, finished third in the four-team Kent State University tournament earlier this month. They compiled a 3-1 record in their first four games.

★ ★ ★

Detroit's Titans are a young team — nine sophomores and two juniors on a 14-man squad. But six of the sophomores stand 6 feet 4 or higher and two of them reach into the giant class — 7 foot Pete Corbett and 6-foot-8 Dick Dylus. The Titans have won four of their first six games.

Intensive Workouts Slated for North, South Gridders

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The North and the South All-Star football squads were scheduled for their second day of intensive work today in preparation for their clash at the Orange Bowl Saturday night.

As pro scouts eyed the proceedings with more than casual interest the two teams were through their first real drills yesterday after a Saturday devoted to picture taking. Coaches Darrell Royal of the South and Ara Parseghian of the North gave the athletes a few basic plays.

★ ★ ★

The North squad was completed yesterday with the dawn arrival of the four Army players, including the famed Pete Dawkins, fresh from a victory in his examinations for a Rhodes scholarship.

Philadelphia Writers Honor Pitt Lineman

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Philadelphia Sportswriters Assn. Sunday named John Guzik, standout guard and linebacker for the University of Pittsburgh, as college football lineman of 1958.

Guzik, a second team All-America selection, was drafted last year by the Los Angeles Rams of the National Football League and will enter the Army for six months after he graduates in February.

2 Michigan Men Named

Dawkins 'Rhodes' Choice

SWARTHMORE, Pa. (UPI) — Pete Dawkins, one of Army's most outstanding Cadets, had another honor to add to his huge list today — that of a Rhodes Scholar.

The 20-year-old West Pointer, who has distinguished himself as an athlete, Cadet officer, class president, musician and vocalist, was one of 32 top collegiate young men selected yesterday as Rhodes Scholarship winners.

The scholarships, which call for two years of study at Oxford University in England in the field of the recipient's choice, were established in the will of Cecil John Rhodes, British statesman and financier, in 1899.

The scholars are picked for some clear quality of distinction, generally balanced qualities of character, intellect, leadership and physical vigor as shown by a fondness for and success in sports.

Another Rhodes recipient from Michigan is Paul Dodyk, 21, a student at Amherst College from Hamtramck.

Dawkins, from Royal Oak, Mich., conquered childhood polio to go on to become an all America football halfback this past season, and a baseball and hockey player.

★ ★ ★

He also earned the rank of Brigade Commander, the top student in his class, captain of the football team and class president. Dawkins is also a musician and sings in the Cadet choir.

He has received the Maxwell Club of Philadelphia trophy and the Heisman award of New York as the outstanding college football player of 1958.

★ ★ ★

The scholarship winners, including three other West Pointers representing 19 universities and 28 states were released yesterday by Dr. Courtney Smith, president of Swarthmore College and American Secretary of the Rhodes scholarships.

Wayne Zahn, a 17-year-old from Milwaukee, took first place with an eight-game total of 1593. His father, Earl, was second with 1551. In third place was Augie Taparo, Clinton, Ind., with 1550.

Gang Tourney List Is Open to Dec. 26

Pontiac North Kiwanis—YMCA sponsored Neighborhood Gang Basketball Tourney, beginning Dec. 29 in the "Y" gymnasium, today extended its entry deadline to Dec. 26. It was hoped additional entries for the annual event would bolster the competition in the two divisions (preps, 10-11-12 years; juniors, 13-14 years old).

Tourney is open to any groups of six to eight boys in the two classifications, who like to play basketball. It will be a "one-loss and out" event.

Individual trophies will go to winning team members in each division.

Prep Battle at Northern a Tossup

City Wrestling Teams Clash Tomorrow Night

The first Pontiac Central-Pontiac Northern meeting in any sport is on tap for the new Northern gymnasium tomorrow night when the wrestling teams of the two schools clash at 7:30.

Although Central is in its 3rd year of mat competition, the big city match is rated a tossup and is expected to draw a large crowd.

Identical 1-1 records in dual meets and comparatively even performances in the Southeastern Michigan tournament at Garden City over the past weekend have helped set the stage for the pre-Christmas showdown.

It will be the only meeting between the schools this season.

★ ★ ★

The absence of ailing Central star Duke Relyea will leave PCH with only a slight edge on experience over the Huskies.

Central, under new head man Steve Szabo, has beaten Waterford and bowed to Fitzgerald thus far. Bill Wilson, who moved from Central to Northern this fall, has tutored his lads to a victory over Walled Lake and lost to strong Farmington.

Each team has two boys who have won both their dual matches and did well in the tournament.

★ ★ ★

Sam Wiscombe, a 165-pounder, and Neil Smith, 154, of Central and Northern's Ralph Clauson at 127 and 154-pound Maurice Lackey have been outstanding.

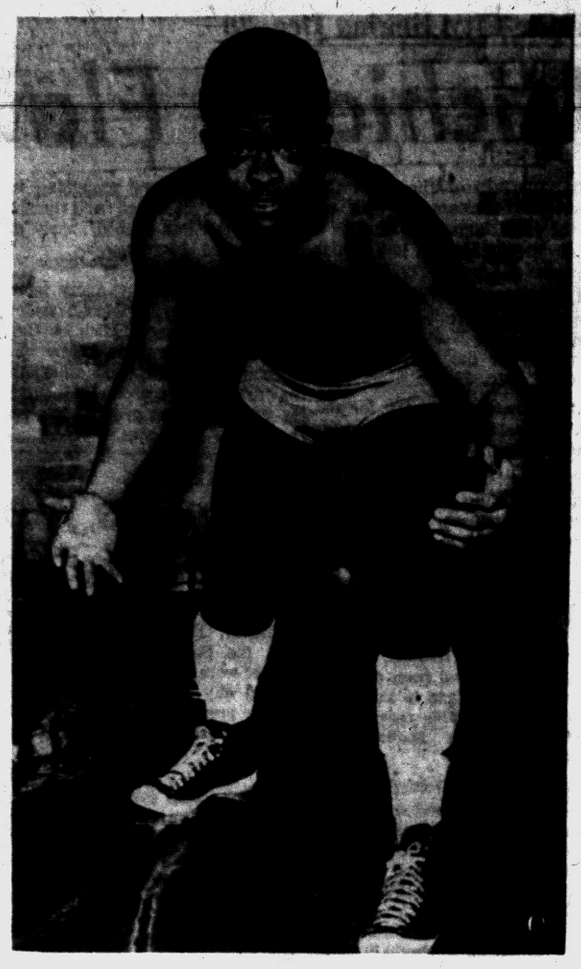

Little Bob Kiser and heavyweight Willie Duncan are Chief veterans. Jerry Fields and Roger Richards have been among the other impressive boys for PNH.

★ ★ ★

Central has a record of 15 victories and 15 setbacks in dual meets since starting the sport.

Tomorrow's starters:

95—Kiser vs. Duane Stuk
103—Richards vs. Jim Thompson
112—Carl Bills (PN) vs. Fred Jackson
120—Bud Bihl (PN) vs. John Wibley
127—Clauson vs. Ermino Trevino
133—Stan Hertel (PN) vs. Tom Smallwood
138—Winfred Miracle (PN) vs. Gary Cox
145—Fields vs. Darrel Ashby
154—Lackey vs. Adolphus Hintman
165—Wiscombe vs. George Graves
175—Don Davis (PN) vs. Jewell Reid
Heavy—Duncan vs. Bill Green

FACES NORTHERN — Willie Duncan will be the Pontiac Central entry in the heavyweight class tomorrow night as the Chiefs visit Pontiac Northern for a big city wrestling battle. The match will serve as the first athletic event to be held between the schools. Duncan will meet Bill Green. The match starts at 7:30.

MacKay May Go Against Aussies in Cup Test

U.S. Routs Italy

BRISBANE, Australia (AP)—Harry Hopman, Australia's wily Davis Cup captain, saw the United States rout Italy in the interzone final over the weekend in Perth, but he was far from impressed.

"Australia should hold the Cup," the veteran tactician said complacently. "No doubt the Americans will improve in the next 10 days, but so will Ashley Cooper and Mal Anderson."

★ ★ ★

Hopman, who brought the Cup back to Australia in 1951 and nas seen it go overseas just once since began formal preparations for the challenge round next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday by sending his team of Cooper, Anderson, Neale Fraser and Rod Laver through a light workout.

Both the Aussies and Americans arrived by plane shortly before noon and found only one practice court available because of week-long rains.

Perry Jones, 70-year-old U. S. captain, smiled broadly when told of Hopman's optimistic forecast.

"My own confidence is in no way shaken," he smiled. "I still am not prepared to announce who will play our singles, but I'm not worrying too much."

Jones may have made up his mind, but to most observers he does have a problem. His No. 1 player, Ham Richardson, has been unimpressive, and could wind up on the sidelines in the challenge round.

★ ★ ★

Barry MacKay, who substituted for him when the interzone final was decided, licked Italy's Nicola Pietrangeli 6-4, 3-6, 5-7, 8-6, 8-6 in one of the two final singles yesterday. Alex Olmedo won the other, downing Orlando Sirola 20-18, 6-1, 6-4 for a 5-0 U.S. sweep.

Just how impressed Jones was by MacKay's play, he wouldn't say.

Big Barry, who was dropped from the "first" team in favor of Olmedo a week or so ago, showed signs of brilliance against Pietrangeli. But he had trouble keeping his big service under control and was upset by some questionable line calls.

★ ★ ★

Olmedo, who practically carried the doubles burden alone when he teamed with Richardson, is assured a spot against the Aussies.

So now where it appeared to be Richardson and Olmedo in singles a couple of days ago, it now looks like it might be Olmedo and MacKay. The crafty Jones is keeping his plans a secret though.

Richardson is not happy over the talk. He is a diabetic and was not feeling well during the doubles.

★ ★ ★

"That was an isolated instance," he said. "I feel fine now and know I can go at top speed in any three-day test.

"My problem always has been standing up in a 10-day tournament. A three-day tie like the Davis Cup gives me a chance to beat anyone in the world."

Area Matmen Impressive in Weekend Tournament

Wrestlers from Pontiac Central, Pontiac Northern and Walled Lake turned in good showings but failed to reach the final round in the annual Southeastern Michigan tourney held at Garden City over the weeknd.

Ypsilanti and host Garden City dominated the honors by combining to win seven championships. Mel Mercier of Fitzgerald won the 103-pound crown.

★ ★ ★

Leroy Phillips, 175, of Hazel Park was the only Oakland County titlist. His teammate, little Ruford Black, was among four county boys to take runnerup honors. The others were Dave Brazier and Butch Harris of Royal Oak Kimball and 250-pound George Fawcett of Farmington.

★ ★ ★

Jerry Fields of Northern was the top local contestant. He bowed in the 145-pound quarter-finals after leading the match. He had won three straught, two of them quick pins.

Don Davis and Maurice Lackey, both 154, each won twice for PNH. Lackey was eliminated on a close verdict. Sophomore Jim Miller overcame an 8-2 deficit to win in overtime.

★ ★ ★

Sam Wescombe paced Central with three victoris. Henry Smith took two.

Wes Cottrell was a double victor for Walled Lake in the 127 class. Jim Balkwell, 133, lost a close decision to the eventual champion and then won a consolation match.

Pontiac's New School Crashes Victory Column

Huskies Post 58-46 Win Over West Bloomfield 5 on Saturday Night

By BILL CORNWELL

It was a historic occasion Saturday night at Keego Harbor in the infant athletic career of new Pontiac Northern High School.

That anxiously-awaited moment when Northern would taste victory for the 1st time arrived at last and players and fans alike really whooped it up.

Northern's basketball team, a victim of three straight wallopings on the hardwoods, came to life with a 58-46 triumph over West Bloomfield on the Keego court.

After what must have seemed like an eternity to Northern coach Dick Hall, the Huskies got off the floor to score the 1st win in any sport in the school's athletic history.

★ ★ ★

Hall heaved a sigh of relief and said, "I was beginning to wonder if we'd ever win that 1st game."

"Our kids really wanted to win this contest," said Hall, "and after the beating they took at Grosse Pointe, they needed it to pull their morale back up."

"It was a long time coming, that 1st victory, but we finally made it," Hall added.

★ ★ ★

The Huskies led West Bloomfield all the way, but the Lakers were breathing down their necks until the last two minutes of the 1st half.

Never more than four points separated the two teams until those final two minutes of the 2nd quarter when Northern shot ahead by 10 and left the floor at halftime with an eight-point bulge, 37-29.

Northern widened the gap to 16 points in the 3rd period, then coasted through a slow-moving and raggedly played 4th quarter to nail down the decision.

★ ★ ★

Mike Fedynik, Dennis Vincent and Bruce Norton all hit double figures in the scoring column to spark Northern's attack. Fedynik and Vincent tallied 14 points apiece and Norton notched 10.

Each boy did his scoring in spurts at a time when the baskets were badly needed. Fedynik netted 10 of his total in the 3rd stanza while Vincent bagged 12 and Norton eight in the 2nd session when the Huskies pulled away.

Jim Dempsey, who wound up the game with nine points, meshed six of them in the 1st quarter to keep the Huskies in the thick of things. Vincent, along with center Dick Ely, starred on the boards for Northern.

★ ★ ★

John Lucadam, as usual, paced the West Bloomfield offense with 15 points. It was the 2nd defeat in four games for Art Paddy's Lakers.

'Burning Tree' Nine Hole GC

Clubhouse Construction Starts This Week in Mt. Clemens Area

Burning Tree Golf and Country club, a nine-hole private club, will be in operation next May or June, according to vice president and pro Lou Powers.

Construction of a family-type clubhouse is expected to start this week at North avenue and 21 Mile road, about four miles northwest of Mount Clemens.

Powers said Burning Tree will be an old-fashioned type country club with a swimming pool, tennis courts, a large picnic area and fishing in a private lake near the clubhouse.

He said the present 3,077-yard, nine-hole layout may be expanded to 18 holes within the next few years.

The club got its name late last year when a small group of friends and neighbors started clearing the land. Trees and brush were burned as the land was cleared and someone suggested the name "Burning Tree" for the club.

Powers said the course has underground watered fairways and will play at a par of 35.

No. Carolina, Kentucky and Auburn Champs

Three Holiday Titles Decided

United Press International

North Carolina, Kentucky and Auburn already have claimed college basketball's first three major tournament crowns and just so no one will feel left out for Christmas, seven more big titles are being made available this week.

Five major tournaments start Friday and two more get under way Saturday in a sudden boom of court activity that promises to affect the national rankings and keep basketball fans buzzing from coast to coast.

Second-ranked Kansas State, which handed St. Joseph's its first loss of the season, 68-55, last Saturday night, will be on view in the Big Eight tourney which begins at Kansas City Friday night. Among the others in that tournament are Kansas, Iowa State, Oklahoma and Oklahoma State.

Other tournaments starting Friday are the Holiday Festival in New York, Southwest Conference in Houston, Tex., Evansville, Ind., Invitational and the All-College at Oklahoma City. On Saturday night, the Far West Classic opens at Corvallis, Ore., and the Queen City tourney at Buffalo, N.Y.

Sophomore York Larese, a Tar Heel from the sidewalks of New York, helped North Carolina capture the Blue Grass Festival tournament title. Larese notched 16 points in an 81-77 victory over Notre Dame on Friday night, then netted 24 points in a 78-64 triumph over Northwestern Saturday that won the crown for the Tar Heels.

Kentucky won its own invitational tournament by defeating West Virginia, 97-91. The Wildcats thus avenged a loss to the Mountaineers in the finals of the same tourney last year. Jerry West of West Virginia set a new tournament record with 36 points, Sid Cohen, a Brooklynite, led Kentucky with 19 points. The Wildcats thus extended their winning streak to 13 games dating back to last season.

The Citadel won its own invitational tournament with a 93-77 triumph over Miami (Fla.). Dick Wherry paced the winners with 23 points.

Top-ranked Cincinnati, which enjoys a week off and then participates in the Dixie Classic next Monday, continued unbeaten with a 57-50 win over St. Louis. Oscar Robertson was limited to nine points in the first half, but then notched 18 more in the second half to pace the Bearcats to their triumph.

Fourth-ranked North Carolina cut down Kansas, 66-63 in a final tune-up for the Dixie Classic tournament.

Sophomore Davey Miller, who hadn't scored a point previously, netted seven points in an overtime period to lead Oklahoma State to a 63-59 win over Ohio State in the consolation game of the Kentucky invitational tournament, while Notre Dame ended a four-game losing streak by beating Louisville, 61-53, in the consolation game of the Blue Grass festival.

★ ★ ★

Archie Carroll scored 20 points in leading Texas A. & M. to a 74-64 victory over Wyoming in the Birmingham Classic consolation contest.

Michigan walloped Delaware Saturday, 82-58.

Shrine Players Make Charity Visit

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Players of the East and West, given an emotional impact with a visit to the Shrine Crippled Children Hospital, opened practice today for their game in Kezar Stadium on Saturday.

"This certainly gives more meaning to the game," declared Minnesota's center and captain Mike Svendsen yesterday after the players met, talked to and played with the little patients.

Svendsen and Bronko Nagurski Jr. become the second generation to compete in the East-West charity game, their fathers having starred here in the past.

As of now the game shapes up as one matching the running talents of the East, coached by Michigan State's Duffy Daugherty and the passing of the West attack designed by Stanford's Jack Curtice.

The East possesses such standout runners as Don Clark of Ohio State, Nick Pietrosante of Notre Dame and Wray Carlton of Duke.

The West counts on the throwing of Utah's Lee Grosscup and Washington State's Bobby Newman.

Curtice holds his workouts at Stanford for the West while Daugherty and the East headquartered at Santa Clara.

★ ★ ★

Although a few players were delayed by an airline pilots' strike, most were in attendance yesterday for the hospital visit. As usual, each patient had been assigned one player.

Typical was the meeting of a pair of Larrys — Hickman of Baylor and a 12-year-old youngster on a hospital bed proudly bedecked in the Baylor Colors, green and gold.

★ ★ ★

"I was born at St. Augustine, Tex.," little Larry proudly told big Larry, "but I live in San Francisco now."

After a short chat, the Baylor fullback helped his new friend collect autographs of the other players.

Three other Texans, Buddy Dial of Rice, Dave Sherer of SMU and Burr Davis of Houston, were two hours late getting to the hospital because of the strike.

For 10-year-old Teddy, the arrival of Dial was next best to Santa Claus. He had waited patiently hoping the player for whom he had made a key case would get there in time and his eyes shone as he greeted the All America with a big "hi."

Wins Handicap Cross Country

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — William Holmes, Philadelphia, won the third annual Paul B. Karavassily 5-mile handicap AAU cross country race Sunday in Fairmount Park.

Fred Anderson, also of Philadelphia, was second by one second. Anderson had led until the final 150 yards.

Browning Ross, Woodbury, N. J., ran from scratch past 36 men to finish 23rd in 32:54. He was handicapped at 5 minutes and 50 seconds and won the best time prize in 24:40.

Iowa Gridders Take Breather

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Iowa's football squad took a breather from its pre-Rose Bowl drills Sunday.

After attending church services, the 44 players went their own ways, sightseeing or relaxing.

The Big Ten champs will play California New Year's Day. The Hawkeyes are a heavy favorite.

The Iowans resume practice Monday with a single session, after which they will visit Disneyland.

Worth the Ticket!

PROVO, Utah (AP) — Glenn L. Cox, 23, waved happily at Game Warden Robert Trasker when Trasker pulled up to rescue him after his boat's motor failed on nearby Utah Lake. Then Trasker gave him a ticket for boating without life preservers.

Knicks Protest Game They Won

Get Off the Bench, Prexy!

By The Associated Press

The St. Louis Hawks keep winning and the Philadelphia Warriors keep losing. But there's a new wrinkle even so in the National Basketball Assn. today.

The New York Knickerbockers are officially protesting a game they won.

As the Knicks began their nationally televised game with the Syracuse Nationals at Madison Square Garden yesterday, they noted that Dan Biasone, Syracuse president and general manager, was sitting on the Nats' bench.

They made the official protest at the opening tipoff and kept it in effect despite their subsequent 108-94 victory. The Knicks say NBA rules strictly prohibit the presence of any but coach, players and trainers on the bench.

Once the game was under way, Ken Sears and Willie Naulls made the difference for New York. Naulls scored 26 points and Sears 23. Syracuse's Dolph Schayes, the all-time high scorer of the NBA, set a career field goal mark of 4,099 by hitting six. George Mikan the former Minneapolis ace, held the record of 4,097.

St. Louis, stretching its Western Division lead to six games over idle Detroit, whipped Philadelphia 98-86 in the only other game scheduled. It was the Hawks' 4th straight and 19th victory in 27 games. Philadelphia, in last place in the East, lost its seventh in a row. The Hawks' Clyde Lovellette was the high scorer with 27 points.

★ ★ ★

The Sunday victory left the Knicks two games behind first place Boston in the Eastern Division after Saturday's 135-106 drubbing by the Celts. Syracuse lost 121-120 in overtime to Cincinnati Saturday.

In other Saturday games, the Hawks took Detroit 111-104 and Minneapolis added to the Warriors' woes by beating them 99-88.

Triple Hat Trick Features 18-0 Rout in City Hockey

Jack Adams, Sid Abel and all the rest of the Detroit Red Wings — ATTENTION!

If you're looking for a way to get more scoring punch into the lineup, take a trip north a few miles to the city of Pontiac. We've got a boy who scores goals almost in basketball-size figures.

His name is Mike McCarthy and he skates for the Sylvan Alouettes in the Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department's City Junior Hockey League program which held its first round of competition last Saturday.

McCarthy performed a triple "hat trick" — nine goals, to be exact—as the Alouettes handed the Pontiac Northern A team an 18-0 shellacking to highlight Saturday's six-game schedule at the North Side Community Club runk and the North Side softball field.

Ben Courtney turned in a single "hat trick" to go along with McCarthy's scoring rampage and goalie Jere Dirker posted a shutout to feature the Alouette triumph.

Three other shutouts were recorded on opening day.

Dick Williams sparkled in the nets and Harry Repkey scored the game's only goal in the 2nd period as Standard Forge blanked Spencer Floor Covering, 1-0.

Art Atkinson tallied all four goals for the Fisher Hill Merchants and Glen Nichols chalked up a shutout in a 4-0 conquest of Jim's Hardware. Neil Norgrove's goal-tending and Larry Hollers' lone counter featured the Mountain View Rangers' 1-0 whitewashing of the Thunderbirds.

The Rochester Royals defeated Bulman's Hardware, 4-3, with Jim Gallivan of the Royals and Bulman's Dan Carr each scoring twice. Huron Valley Boys Club beat Pontiac Northern's B squad, 3-1, on goals by Larry Labine, Tom Mayes and Dave Halliday. John Kendall tallied Northern's goal.

Giant Coach Named to Arkansas 'Hall'

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Coach Jim Lee Howell, whose New York Giants Sunday won the Eastern Conference championship of the National Football League, has been tabbed among the first five honorees for the new Arkansas Hall of Fame.

Howell was a football and basketball star at the University of Arkansas 1933-36. He is a native of Lonoke, Ark.

Others named Saturday to the Arkansas Hall of Fame were Bill Dickey, former catcher with the New York Yankees; Wear Schoonover, football and basketball great at Arkansas 1926-30; Ivan H. Grove, sports director at Hendrix College, Conway, Ark., for 30 years, and Hazel Walker, star and promoter of a professional barnstorming women's basketball team for a decade.

Strikes and Spares

By JOE WILMAN

In teaching bowlers for the past 30 years, I've repeatedly been asked for the single most important habit for a bowler. Many folks think there's a short cut to good bowling.

I usually bracket two factors together as the most important habits for a good bowler to have. They are control and consistency.

Control is the ability to roll the ball where you want to roll it. Consistency is the ability to do it time after time.

No star bowler ever got to the top without these two habits. And any bowler who has these two habits has got a pretty good average. Regardless of the stuff on his delivery, a bowler who can't control the ball time after time can't really consider himself a star bowler. His average will give him away.

There is no short cut to developing these two important habits. The only way is by constant practice of correct principles. Plenty of practice sessions in open play—that's the price. No use trying to bargain. If you want control and consistency you have to work for it. Then in time, you should have the kind of form demonstrated in today's drawing.

Hollywood Headlines

Cliff Robertson Chosen for Role of FBI Agent

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD — A very nice Christmas present was received by Cliff Robertson. He had his option taken up by Columbia, and was told he would play the role of the FBI man in "Ten Years a Counterspy." This comes at a good time because Cliff and his wife, the former Cynthia Lemmon, are expecting an addition to the family.

"Counterspy" is the life story of Boris Morros who worked as an undercover agent for Uncle Sam, and did such effective work. It will be made when Ernie Borgnine, who plays Boris Morros in the picture, gets back from Australia where he's doing "Summer of the Seventeenth Doll."

Both Cliff and Jack Lemmon, Cynthia's former husband, are under contract to Columbia.

The long time boyfriend of Ava Gardner, Walter Chiari, will be waiting for her when she arrives tomorrow to spend a few days in Hollywood. Chiarpi, who has been her constant companion both in Italy and Spain, decided to come to the U.S.A., although up to the last he said he wouldn't come here.

I don't believe this means a thing romantically speaking, because Ava has repeatedly said she will not marry again. With three marriages behind her—Mickey Rooney, Artie Shaw and Frank Sinatra — Ava told a close friend that "three times is out." So, unless she has a change of mind, which is every woman's privilege, Chiarai won't be slipping a wedding ring on her finger.

"Some Came Running" has the same emphasis on human frailities that characterized "Peyton Place" and made it such popular entertainment. The best judge of the merit of any picture is the way it's received in the theater, and the elite of Hollywood sat still as mice from the beginning to the end at the premiere.

Later, many of the guests went on to Dino's to congratulate Frankie Sinatra, Dean Martin, Shirley MacLaine, Martha Hyer and Nancy Gates in person.

If my neighbor, George Burns, is being slightly unbearable these days, it's because he has been voted "the Best Dressed Man of 1958" by the Men's Apparel Club of California! Coming in No. 2 was Tony Curtis, with Nat "King" Cole in third place.

This has gone to George's head like crazy and he's making it particularly tough for Grace Allen, who for years has been on the "Best Dressed Woman" lists. Said George to Gracie, "Now you're off the show, it can be noticed that I wear snappy clothes, too."

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

The customers in Saks really had a treat when Elizabeth Taylor and Eddie Fisher went shoping with their arms around each other.

Hal Wallis spent several days in Cedars of Lebanon Hospital last week for a complete checkup and to seek a cure for gout.

Los Angeles jeweler Charles Sonne and Rhoda Borgnine are becoming more and more serious.

Poor Katherine De Mille Quinn, who has had a long recovery from a multitude of allergies, is on the ailing list again with a badly swollen face. She ate shrimp at a dinner before the premiere of her husband Anthony Quinn's "The uccaneer."

Frank Sinatra took his date, Martha Hyer, to the Marquis for dinner before the premier of "Some Came Running."

Debbie Reynolds had to back out of entertaining for the underprivileged children Sunday at Ben Blue's, because that's the only day she had to get together with her lawyers about her divorce.

Reds in Trouble at China Border

Resistance Movements Grow in Provinces, Says Nationalist Intelligence

TAIPEI (AP) — The resistance movements in Tibet and neighboring Chinese provinces are gaining strength, Nationalist intelligences sources claimed today.

In some areas, they asserted, rebels for a time occupied key positions and forced Communist troops to take temporary refuge in mountains.

★ ★ ★

The sources said the situation became so serious that Marshal Peng Teh-huai, Red China's defense minister, went to Tsinghai, on Tibet's northeast border, in October to direct operations against the rebels.

They claimed that Peng's trip coincided with the cease-fire he proclaimed in the Quemoy area Oct. 6. This lasted 15 out of 21 scheduled days.

★ ★ ★

The resistance movement was said to be spreading toward the border of Outer Mongolia.

Refugees who reached India last month were quoted as saying that Nationalist flags were being flown openly in the border area between the provinces of Sikang and Tsinghai.

Recent Vote Sets Record for Nation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nearly 3½ million more voters cast ballots last month than the previous off-year record set in the 1954 election.

An Associated Press tabulation of final official fiures showed 47,875,315 Americans voted in the Nov. 4 elections, almost meeting the advance forecast of about 48 million. The total was 3,427,819 higher than the 1954 figure, but well below the more than 62 million votes cast in the presidential election of 1956.

In the vote for House members, Democrats outpolled Republicans by 6,051,004, compared with 2,349,577 in 1954. More significantly, excluding the 11 strongly Democratic Southern states, Democrats counted 3,672,914 more votes than the Republicans, who had held a slight margin in those states in 1954.

★ ★ ★

Largest gains in total vote were scored in California, Ohio, New York, Pennsylvania and Florida. Eleven states showed a loss in total vote as compared with 1954 figures.

Miriani Is Reassuring

DETROIT (AP) — Mayor Louis Miriani told property owners and business men in a weekend statement that he was certain Detroit would not increase its tades in 1959 though 1958 has been a "bad year." Miriani predicted the production of 5½ million cars in y959 which he said will "help our city immeasurably."

The Green Empress

(Copyright 1958) . . . by Elizabeth Cadell

THE STORY: Angus Graham, invalided out of the Navy, is amused at being hired by Sir Claud as a "liaison officer" for the simple job of courier on a superlative luxury bus tour in Europe. He's filling in for his friend, Wax Sealing. The driver is Ferdy Brewer. The passenger list sounds impressive — Lord Lorrimer, father of a Navy friend, with his lovely daughter, Angela Clunes, and his secretary, Lionel Yule, obviously in love with Angela; Mr. Zoller, philanthropist, and his wife; Admiral Peterson and his sister Mrs. Denby-Warre; young Sir Maurice Tarrant, who has an irrepressible manner; Stanton Holt, an American, about 40, who asks to meet Miss Seton, in her late thirties, with warm, humorous, intelligent eyes. Angela tells Angus she has adored him ever since her brother Oliver brought him home on a visit, and accuses him of carefully avoiding all Naval contacts. Angela thinks her father looks dejected. Mrs. Denby-Warre wants Angus to interest the Admiral in everything to make him forget his garden. The crossing to France is uneventful. They lunch in a small village near Calais, then proceed on their journey. Miss Seton is half-sister to Rosamund Blake who has just completed a film in Italy and is sailing to South America. She plans to surprise Rosamund by meeting her boat in Lisbon.

CHAPTER VII

Miss Seton hesitated. "There's something about Mr. Yule," she said at last, "that I don't trust. So don't"—she gave him an odd, attractive little grin—"don't get too professional, will you?"

"Too—?"

"I mean, let Angela Clunes be friendly if she wants to be friendly."

★ ★ ★

"Wouldn't it be safer to remain entirely professional?"

"For her, no. As I said, I don't trust Lionel Yule. I—"

She paused. The door had opened and Mr. Holt had joined them.

"He's fine and big and handsome," he told Miss Seton, "But doesn't he belong to us all?"

"Come and take this seat," she offered. "I'm going inside."

"No, no, no. You stay right where you are," he said. "I just came in to ask Angus about this place we're staying at tonight."

"It's a place just outside a village called Lery," said Angus. "The scenery isn't spectacular, but the house is old and, I'm told, interesting."

QUIET COMANIONSHIP

He had nothing further to answer for some time, for Miss Seton and Mr. Holt seemed to stay in the compartment, saying little, but displaying a quiet companionship that made Angus feel they were a well-matched pair.

From the coach came a continuous hum of conversation, through which Mr. Zoller slept on undisturbed.

Angus's first duty, on arriving at the stopping place, was to telephone to London and report their arrival. This done, he went to the office to check the night's arrangements.

The hotel, like all the Green Empress hotels, was in charge of a local manager, and as the stout, smiling figure rose to greet him, Angus registered another mark of Sir Claud's attention to detail.

Monsieur Chabrun, with his plump, red cheeks, small black mustache, round stomach and pointed little feet, was almost too typical, almost too picturesque.

Angus checked the rooms and collected the mail. There was not much, two telegrams for Lord Lorrimer, a postcard for Angela, a letter or two for the others. Angus distributed them, keeping Angela's until the last.

"Thank you," she said, as he handed her the card. "Isn't this a wonderful old place? There's a four-poster in my bedroom."

"In all the bedrooms. It's a nice touch."

"I'm certain they've got perfectly good electricity which they switch off just as we drive up—and then they get the candles out.

"It's almost overdoing it, but candlelight's very becoming. Is anybody at your table for dinner tonight, or can I join you?"

He told her he would be delighted, and went to his room to have a bath and change. Going down later to the long, low dining room, his pleasure on seeing her was considerably lessened by seeing that Lionel Yule was also to make one of the party.

CONVERSATION NOT EASY

At dinner, he did his best to keep the conversation flowing, but it was not easy. Angela was thoughtful, and Yule sulky, Angus suspected that he, too, had hoped there would be no third.

"You're tired?" he suggested to Angela at last.

"Not tired, no. I'm depressed."

"If there's anything about the Green Empresses you don't like, I'll send a cable to headquarters and have it altered instantly."

She smiled, but with none of her early gaiety.

"I used the wrong adjective. I'm not depressed, I'm worried. And Lionel's worried, too—aren't you, Lionel?"

Mr. Yule, after some thought, admitted that his mind was not entirely at rest.

★ ★ ★

"I'm worried about my father." Her tone was dejected.

Angus sent a glance in Lord Lorrimer's direction.

"He seems more cheerful than he was this morning," he said.

"He's got something on his mind, and it's something serious, or it wouldn't be having this effect on him. If it were something to do with work, Lionel would know what it was.

"If it was a—a sort of domestic worry, then I'd know about it. But neither Lionel nor I can think of anything."

"Why don't you ask your father what it is?" suggested Angus.

"I did. He said he was trying to work something out and felt rather tired."

'MORE THAN TIRED'

"He's more than tired," said Lionel. "He's. . .I've never seen him like this before."

And you, thought Angus with a savagery that surprised himself, ought to be damn well reassuring her instead of sitting there droning out more misery.

Prejudice, he told himself, must be a potent thing, for Miss Seton's opinion of Yule seemed to have altered his own. He had summed him up as the typical private secretary, suave, competent, his personality tailored to the job, a glossy smoothness overlying his natural manner.

★ ★ ★

He had held aloof from the rest of the passengers, devoting a good deal of time to the papers in the dispatch case, working on them with a touch of ostentation that had more than once called forth a sarcastic remark from Maurice Tarrant.

Angus had admitted to himself that there had been some grounds for Tarrant's irritation; Yule had the air of doing work that nobody could do as well as himself—but until now, he had not actively disliked him.

He could only put his aversion down to the fact that Miss Seton, on whose judgment and intelligence he was prepared to rely, had said that she disliked and distrusted the man.

He made up his mind that he would not care how little he saw of Mr. Yule during the next few days. . .or how much of Angela Clunes. Lively or depressed, he found her filling more and more of his mind.

★ ★ ★

When dinner was over, he went to see how Ferdy was faring. He found him in the large, stone-floored kitchen, seated at the remains of his meal. Drawing out a chair, Angus sat down opposite and studied the fat, flushed face.

"How?" he inquired.

"This is the part I like, sir," said Ferdy. "This is the fleshpots. I enjoy a hard day's driving, but when I'm at the wheel, I'm better empty.

"But I know there isn't one of us drivers who'd leave the Empress aolne day or night."

I don't do more than pick at lunch, and as for this wine they dish out so freely. . .no, sir.

'LET M'SELF GO'

"But when we've got where we're going, when I've seen to the Empress and got her safely bedded down and locked away, then I can let m'self go."

He counted the empty dishes arrayed round him. "I dunno what I've eaten, sir, but it was all nice'n oily, and it all slipped down a treat. How's things with you, sir?"

"Going well, I think."

"No hitches?"

"His lordship seems a bit out of spirits, but that's all."

"I'd noticed that," said Ferdy reflectively. "I've driven him before, and he was always one of the party, so to speak. What's on his mind, sir?"

"His daughter doesn't know and his secretary doesn't know."

★ ★ ★

"He's probably done in," said Ferdy sagely. "What they call the price of office. . .or something." He stretched. "Well, sir, I'm going to bed m'self down near the Empress before this dinner begins to take effect."

Angus looked at him curiously. "Is it really necessary for the drivers—"

"—to stay close to the Empress?" Ferdy's broad face broadened still further in a smile. "I don't know how necessary it is, sir, but I know there isn't one of us drivers who'd leave the Empress alone day or night?"

"What could happen?"

"Oh—nothing, probably, sir, but they're expensive buses and they've got expensive parts and expensive fittings."

Japanese and Tourists Flock to See Kamakura Buddha

By JULIE SMITH
Airways Travel Writer

KAMAKURA—The Great Buddha of Kamakura, eternal symbol of the Orient, has been an object of wonder and worship for 700 years. Today, the massive bronze figure continues to draw Japanese and tourists alike to this seaside suburb.

The Daibutsu, as the Japanese call the colossal, was inspired by the Eighth Century Buddah of Nara, the most remarkable engineering feat of its day. The Nara image, the world's largest, towers over 53 feet, and weighs 452 tons or twice as much as the Statue of Liberty.

The size of the Buddha is, in fact, so staggering that it is said a man "can walk into one of its nostrils with his umbrella wide open."

The story goes that Generalissimo Yoritomo, the warrier-dictator who made Kamakura his capital in 1192, went to Nara to witness the repair of the huge Buddha. The hip of the statue had collapsed, and its head had melted off during a fire in the temple.

So impressed was Yoritomo by the giant of Nara that he dreamed of building a similar one in Kamakura. Yoritomo, however, never lived to see the reality of his dream, since he spent his last years in a bloody struggle for power. After his death, a Buddhist nun in his court asked Yoritomo's widow for permission to collect funds for the Great Buddha.

Her fund-raising campaign lasted almost a half a century before a gigantic statue made of wood, was unveiled in 1243. This original image was damaged and its temple collapsed during a violent storm in 1248. Undaunted by the mishap, the woman simply sold the ruling Shogun of Kamakura on the idea of erecting an indestructible figure of bronze.

The wooden figure was plastered with clay and coated with white wax. Molten bronze was poured over the whole, and the sculptor's chisel chipped out the delicate detail.

So big was the Buddha that it could not be cast in a single operation. The form, supported by timbers, was gradually built up from the base. The mystery of how all this complex work was done, with simple tools, two centuries before Columbus discovered America, still baffles engineers.

Today, the Great Buddha is the most photographed subject in Japan says Pan American. Though 10 feet shorter than its rival at Nara, the Buddha at Kamagura is artistically superior. Weighing 210,000 pounds, the statue looms 42 feet high, but like other wonders of the world, the figure does not seem so huge at first glance.

Statistics prove otherwise. The 656 curls on its head, for example, have a diameter of eight inches each. The curls are reputed to be snails which prove the Buddha's great power of concentration. The face alone is seven feet high, the ears are more than six feet long and the mouth is a yard wide. The jewel on the forehead, made of pure silver, weighs 30 pounds.

The figure represents Amida Buddha, a king who became a monk and made 48 vows to save mankind. When he fulfilled all the vows, he attained Buddhahood, a state of bliss, known as Amida. The pious claim that they can assure themselves rebirth in Paradise by self-discipline, meditation and repetition of the phrase: "Adoration to Amida Buddha."

Since its unveiling in 1252, the bronze colossal has withstood the ravages of time and vandalism, tidal waves and tempests. An earthquake of 1923 (which flattened most of Tokyo) merely caused the Buddha to sink a foot or two into the hillside.

Spring is an ideal time to see Kamakura. Then, the Great Buddha sits shoulder-high in cherry blossoms, and sightseers can climb up inside the statue for a glimpse of the flowering landscape.

Woman Proves Skill by Constructing a Pool

MONTCLAIR, N. J. (AP)—Dorothy Kaveny wants to be a licensed plumber. To prove she has the skill, she recently built a 20 x 40 foot swimming pool in the back yard for her five children.

She got interested in plumbing seven years ago when her father-in-law died and her mother-in-law wanted a woman in the family plumbing business.

"You'd be surprised what a sense of satisfaction you can get from being able to fix a leaky faucet or unclog a stopped-up clothes washer," says Mrs. Kaveny.

Fisherman Gets Fined for Ignorance of Laws

TIERRA AMARILLA, N.M. (AP)—One fisherman didn't quite understand New Mexico game laws. It cost him $100.

Arrested with 67 fish, he told a judge, "I thought you were allowed 12 fish for every day you fished." The judge didn't think so. The daily limit and the possession limit are the same — 12 fish.

Slight Firmness in Grain Market

CHICAGO (AP)—Some indications of firmness were scattered through the grain futures market in early transactions today but most prices on the Board of Trade were easier.

★ ★ ★

Soybeans attracted the best demand with the initial changes a half cent higher on nearby contracts. There appeared to be some buying by processors.

Otherwise commercial and export business was slow. The United Kingdom bought about 350,000 bushels of wheat and the Department of Agriculture approved subsidy bids of two to three cents a bushel on 248,950 bushels of corn for shipment overseas.

Near the end of the first hour wheat was ⅛ cent a bushel lower to ½ higher, March $1.96½; corn unchanged to ⅜ lower, March old type contract $1.14⅜; oats ⅛ to ¼ lower, March 65¾; rye ¼ to ⅞ higher, March $1.31⅛; soybeans ¾ higher to ½ lower, January $1.17½.

Sudan Republic Takes to Detour

Military Coup Controls Large Land; Voters Are Few, Scattered

WASHINGTON — After less than three years of independence, Africa's Sudan Republic has taken a sharp detour off the road of representative government.

The recent military coup that ended parliamentary rule in the continent's largest self-governing state came with dramatic suddenness.

But drama is no novelty in the Sudan. It has highlighted history along the upper Nile ever since European pioneers first penetrated it less than a century ago.

From 1899 to 1956, the land of the Upper Nile was under joint administration and known as the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan.

Its promised independence was proclaimed January 1, 1956. The first general elections, held in 1958, rallied voters in a nation nearly four times the size of Texas, but with a population of only about 10,000,000 scattered to the far ends of desert and jungle.

VOTE BY TOKENS

With such polling aids as colored tokens to represent candidates, and inked fingerprints to prevent multiple voting, the Sudanese named 173 representatives and 30 senators to their short-lived parliament.

The military group now in power controls a country that falls into two major geographic and ethnic divisions. The northern desert-and-scrub region is inhabited largely by Moslem Arabs and Nubians. The southern swamps, grasslands, and tropical forests are home to primitive Nilotic and Negro tribes of varying pagan, Christianized, and Moslem cultures.

★ ★ ★

The Nile River is of enormous importance to the Sudanese, but lifeblood itself to Egypt. The slim strip of fertility in which nearly all Egyptians live is utterly dependent on the river.

Said Lord Cromer, British Agent and Consul General in Egypt during the troubled times of Gordon and Kitchener: "Whatever Power holds the Upper Nile Valley must, by the mere force of its geographical situation, dominate Egypt."

Street Named for Ruffs

LONDON — The name, Piccadilly, has nothig to do with picking the daffodils that grow on this famous London street of hotels, clubs and stores. Instead it is derived from Piccadilly Hall, a house built early in the 17th Century by a tailor who specialized in making the ruffs—wheel-shaped starched collars known as "piccadills" — that were fashionable then.

Stuffed Santa Floats Over Lake Huron

PORT HURON (AP) — Coast Guard and Air Force rescue teams sprang into action today when a parachutist was reported going down in Lake Huron.

Watchers on shore got a double jolt when they looked through binoculars and saw Santa Claus dangling from the chute. It looked as if an early visit from old St. Nick was coming to a tragic end.

But a Port Huron policeman, Ronald Peterson, cleared up the mystery. He said his rooftop Christmas decoration was a stuffed figure of Santa Claus held aloft by three balloons. Wind tore the decoration away and carried it over the lake.

A Coast Guard boat retrieved Peterson's Santa Claus.

Oils Take Loss in Mixed Mart

NEW YORK (AP) — Some oils took losses in a mixed Stock Market early today. Trading was active.

Gains and losses of key stocks went from fractions to about a point. An occasional 2-point move was made.

Standard Oil (New Jersey) dropped about a point and Creole Petroleum, a subsidiary operating in Venezuela was down about 2 on the American Stock Exchange. These stocks reacted to action by the Venezuelan government in raising to 60 per cent from 50 per cent the tax and royalty payments of oil companies operating there.

Royal Dutch, with smaller interests in Venezuela, also was down about a point. Socony Mobil, also involved in a minor degree, dropped a fraction.

Standard Oil of Indiana was fractionally lower. Continental Oil advanced more than a point. Standard is primarily a domestic producer.

American Telephone dropped about 2.

In a delayed opening, Goodrich rose more than 2. Gains of about 2 were made by Rheem and Eastman Kodak while Zenith added 3 points or so.

New Kierdorf Trial Motion to Be Heard

A new trial motion for former Teamsters official Herman Kierdorf, originally scheduled to be heard today, will be heard tomorrow instead before Oakland County Circuit Judge Clark J. Adams.

The hearing, postponed twice before, was put over because Judge Adams was unable to be in court today.

The hearing is on a motion for a new trial for the 68-year-old Kierdorf, who was convicted in November of possession of a gun silencer. He was sentenced to 1 to 5 years in prison.

MODERN ADDITION — This ultra-modern show room is the newly-opened addition to the Thomas Economy Furniture Co., 361 S. Saginaw St. The show room, featuring living room furniture, offers 5,000 square feet of space, modern lighting and carpeted floors. Background music makes shopping as pleasant as possible for customers. It is but one of several moves planned by the store in a long-range expansion program.

Thomas Furniture Adds Showroom

One of Pontiac's oldest established business firms, the Thomas Economy Furniture Co., at 361 S. Saginaw St., has added a 5,000-square foot showroom to its building.

The firm, founded in 1914 by William D. Thomas and now headed by his son, William Jr., has been constantly developing the store from a master expansion plan set up several years ago.

The newest addition is considered by the management to be a crowning achievement. The huge showroom is located at the rear of the building and is devoted entirely to living room furniture.

It is heated by a new gas furnace unit, built for easy conversion to air conditioning during the summer months.

The spacious carpeted room is well illuminated by modern recessed lights. A ceiling of acoustic tile and plaster walls painted in soft pleasing tones complete the new showroom.

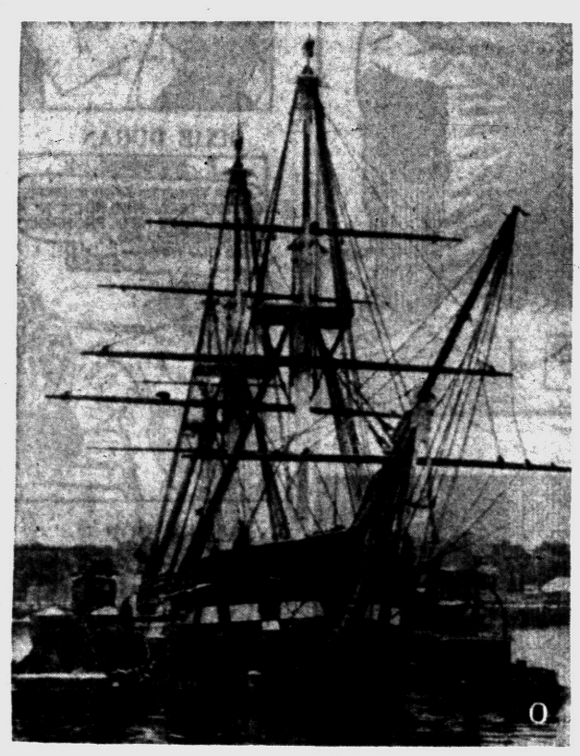

For the added pleasure of customers, a high fidelity system has been installed to offer customers the advantage of browsing in an atmosphere of soothing music.

According to Store Manager Charles Uligian, "This addition was the beginning of another reconversion job. Once completely settled in the new showroom, we'll begin work on the old section for living room furniture."

"We are now planning on making a colony shop, devoted to colonial furniture, out of the old living room section."

"Our first move was the new front along Saginaw street several years ago," he said. "Then we added a carpet room.

"The store offers 40,000 square feet of show space and a frontage of 200 feet."

ANNUAL TURN — The USS Constitution, better known as "Old Ironsides," is put to sea again at Boston, but only for a short distance. The Navy moves the ship once a year to turn it around from its berth, because the sun tends to warp the mast if it is left in one position too long.

Armed Bandits Rob Drive-In of $1,500

BAY CITY (UPI) — Two armed bandits slugged the manager of a drive-in restaurant today and escaped with $1,500. The restaurant was across the street from the Bay City State Police Post.

State Police, Bay City police and Bay County sheriff's deputies used 10 cars to set up roadblocks although it was not known if the bandits fled by car.

Albert J. Chroes, proprietor of Richie's restaurant, said the men entered through a back door by his office. After taking the money, which had already been placed in deposit bags, they fled the same way.

Chroes, hit with a revolver as the men left, was given several stitches at a hospital.

Dedication Cornered

HOUSTON (AP) — Ceremonies marking the placing of the cornerstone of the new one-million-dollar First Christian church were held up momentarily. Dr. John C. Knowles, pastor, said someone forgot to bring the cornerstone.

Silence Shrouds Fate of Balloon Over Atlantic

LONDON (AP) — Radio amateurs throughout Western Europe and North Africa failed during the weekend to pick up any message from four Britons trying to sail across the Atlantic in a balloon.

★ ★ ★

Nothing has been heard from the balloon, the Small World, since Friday. Even then the crafts radio operator, Tim Eiloart, failed to give his position.

★ ★ ★

The three men and one woman set off 10 days ago from the Canary Island to drift with the trade winds 3,000 miles to Barbados, in the West Indies.

The last reported position of the 46-foot silver and black balloon was about 250 miles south of the Canaries. That was seven days ago.

Is Any Face Correct?

MONTPELIER, Vt. (UPI)—City manager Ralph Irving complained that the four faces on the City Hall tower clock have each been telling a different time for the past several years.

County GOP Club Slates Bagwell for Feb. 9 Dinner

The Oakland County Lincoln Republican Club will have Paul D. Bagwell, unsuccessful candidate for governor last month, as toastmaster for its 69th annual Lincoln Day banquet at the Northwood Inn in Berkley on Feb. 9.

The club is still seeking a state or nationaly prominent Republican as speaker for the 6 p.m. dinner, according to a club spokesman.

Chairmen of all committees will report and make further plans for the dinner at a meeting Jan. 6 at the Republican Committee headquarters in Birmingham.

Hotrod Club Dance to Aid Youth Center

A Christmas night dance sponsored by the Waterford Township Rickshaw's Rod-Custom Club, a member of the Oakland County Timing Assn., will be held in Lake Orion to raise funds for the Lake Orion Youth Center.

Dancing will be from 8 to 12 p.m. at the Al Hanoute Chevrolet Showrooms, at the corner of M24 and Park St.

Scientists Seek Uses for Corn

Possibilities Are Seen in Metallurgy, Textiles, Insecticides, Paper

WASHINGTON (NEA) —Department of Agriculture scientists are dreaming up fantastic ways to turn corn into forms no corn-on-the-cob eater would recognize.

These new discoveries promise eventually to make a significant dent in America's increasing grain profits for farmers.

★ ★ ★

new uses for corn in metallurgy, insecticides, paper, textiles, tanning and other industries might take more than 400 million bushels of corn every year. That's about a ninth of the current annual corn crop.

The big problem, of course, is time. It's a long way from a successful laboratory experiment to a commercially-useful product.

Most of these new uses depend on developing specialized types of corn, rich in important starches.

corn — yields a starch scientists think can be formed into a man-made clothing fiber similar to high-strength rayon.

A textile fiber with properties like cashmere already is being produced from corn protein.

This same high-amylose starch could be used as a water-resistant finish for clothing or for making disposable containers for insecticides.

★ ★ ★

Department of Agriculture officials see a large otential market for cereal starches in the expanding paper industry, which now imports eight million tons of pulp and finished paper a year. These men think some of these corn starches with superior strength and adhesion properties could be combined with paper pulp to add strength and increase the amount of paper a given supply of pulp would make.

Other scientists are working on ways to use grain roducts for moisture-proof coatings for concrete highways and as rubberlike materials in asphalt roads.

These research men are trying to increase the effectiveness of pesticides by combining them with amino acids, dextrose or other substances made from grain.

Hearings to Resume on Power Rate Hike

LANSING (UPI) — The Public Service Commission was scheduled to resume hearings today on a request for an increase in electric rates first made by Consumers Power Co. nearly a year ago.

Hearings on the $15,300,000 request recessed Dec. 8.

The utility first filed its request in January, amended it in March and appeared before the PSC for hearings in March, May, Oct., Nov. and Dec.

Consumers said the increase would amount to four or five cents a day per average householder.

Buell Mansion Lost in $250,000 Blaze

Fire destroyed the mansion of Dr. John H. Buell in the Detroit suburb of Grosse Pointe Farms today at a loss estimated by firemen of $250,000.

Dr. Buell, his wife and their three children fled in night garments from their flaming home. Mrs. Inez Clark, 55, was rescued by firemen from a second story window.

Mrs. Buell and the children were taken to the home of her father, Oscar Webber, president of J. L. Hudson Co. They were unhurt.

Firemen said the blaze apparently started in the basement of the Buell home and was fed by a gas main. All furnishings were destroyed.

Boys for Jayne Mansfield, Mrs. Dennis Crosby

One Hollywood Doctor Has Busy Day

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (UPI)—Dr. A. C. Meitus had a busy day yesterday — first he attended Dennis Crosby's wife while she gave birth to a son and one hour later he was with Jayne Mansfield who also gave birth to a son.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Meitus said the two mothers and their babies were doing well at St. John's Hospital.

"It's a boy," Mickey Hargitay, a former Mr. Universe, shouted as he emerged from Miss Mansfield's bedside at the hospital. "Now we've everything we've ever wanted."

Hargitay said the 9½-pound baby was named Miklos after him. He had taken his blonde wife to the hospital about nine hours before the birth. The baby was due to be born on Dec. 9, he said.

"That is rough on the nerves, waiting like that," the jubilant muscleman said. "I was positive it would be a boy but still it was a surprise."

Miss Mansfield said from her hospital bed: "I feel wonderful. He's a dream of a baby."

She has a daughter, Jayne Marie, 8, from a previous marriage.

Pat Sheehan, 26, former Las Vegas showgirl and wife of Dennis Crosby, gave birth to an 8-pound 14-ounce boy. He was named Dennis Michael Crosby Jr.

In court last week when Crosby formally adopted his wife's six-year-old son by a previous marriage, the couple said that their one Christmas hope was that "Santa Claus now will bring us a boy."

★ ★ ★

Dr. Meitus said both Mrs. Crosby and Miss Mansfield and their babies probably would be able to go home in time for Christmas.

Atlas Missile May Carry Man

Satellite Picks Up Seven Messages at One Time From Different Stations

From Our News Wires

WASHINGTON—The giant Atlas missile, already performing a brilliant communications job as a satellite, appeared likely today to become the U. S. vehicle to put a man into space.

★ ★ ★

The success of the Atlas satellite, launched into orbit Thursday night, in transmitting and relaying messages from the earth apparently exceeded the fondest hopes of military scientists.

It received seven copies of President Eisenhower's Christmas message at the same time yesterday from ground radio stations and successfully beamed them back to earth.

The seven teletypewriter signals were transmitted from the station at Ft. Stewart, Ga. The Defense Department said the station received excellent teletype copy back from the four-ton satellite.

★ ★ ★

The experiment was repeated, with variations, by other stations at Corona, Calif., Fort Sam Houston, Tex., and Ft. Huachuca, Ariz. Messages were fed into the satellite's recorder and then broadcast back on a "triggering" signal from the earth.

The Defense Department said that the experiment was "another of the various types of communications tests intended to be conducted" during the expected 20-day life of the artificial moon.

Barreling along at 17,000 miles an hour, the 85-foot Atlas is orbiting the earth in an egg-shaped flight pattern. After it was launched from Cape Canaveral, Fla., Thursday night, scientists said the satellite had a life expectancy of about 20 days.

★ ★ ★

In its first few days aloft, American scientists have conducted a number of communications tests they said could lead to such futuristic developments as space-relayed television and globe-spinning military communications.

PRECARIOUS PERCH — After a collision with an auto and a wild 300-foot ride off U.S. 24, this huge truck and trailer came to a stop on three outcroppings of rock 80 feet above the bed of an abandoned stone quarry near Wabash, Ind. The driver was unhurt, but nervous.

Walkout Ends at Flint Journal

All but 2 Booth Papers in Grand Rapids Now Starting to Publish

DETROIT (AP) — A seventh of the nine Booth newspapers in Michigan, The Flint Journal, is expected to resume regular publication tomorrow.

Striking printers at the Journal approved new contract terms last night. Their approval vote was announced as 64-27.

Only at Grand Rapids, at the morning Herald and afternoon Press, do strikes still prevent publication. This was the 26th day of these strikes.

Local issues were unsettled in the strikes of the International Typographical Union at both papers. The Newspaper Guild of editorial workers at the Herald also has been on strike in a contract dispute.

Over the weekend all the other six got into regular publication. They were the Ann Arbor News, Bay City Times, Muskegon Chronicle, Kalamazoo Gazette, Jackson Citizen Patriot and Saginaw News.

The nine Booth papers have a combined circulation of more than a half-million in outstate Michigan.

6 Children Trapped in Flaming Home

KAUKAUNA, Wis. (AP) — Six children sought refuge in a bathroom of their flaming home Sunday and died of burns and suffocation. Safety was only a few feet away through a kitchen door.

Firemen recovered the bodies of Lynn, 7; Douglas, 6; Margaret, 5; John, 3; Barbara, 2½, and Michael, 1½, children of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Weyneberg.

The parents were attending an early mass four blocks away when the fire broke out, apparently in the living room.

Weyneberg broke from fire fighters and climbed a ladder to a second-story bedroom window in an effort to find the children.

His wife screamed, "I want to go in and die with my children." Spectators restrained her.

The couple have no other children. Two infant twins died of natural causes earlier this year.

Firemen found Douglas, who apparently had attempted to flee the bathroom, at the door of the stairs. He died of burns. The others, found in the bathroom, suffocated.

Coroner Bernard Kemps said the stairway to the first floor led into the kitchen, where a door gave access to the back yard. The bathroom was located at the right of the staircase.

Kemps said the children apparently ran down the stairs and either took a wrong turn into the bathroom or were driven back from the kitchen by heavy smoke.

A Busman's Holiday for Family of 12

DETROIT (AP) — A family bus, with a Christmas tree inside, is heading southwestward carrying the 12 McKinleys.

The bus, which Dr. Otis McKinley of Fraser purchased to solve family transportation problems, set out on the weekend for Tucson, Ariz., with everybody aboard.

At Tucson, grandpa and grandma are waiting for a Christmas reunion.

McKinley, a dentist, said the purchase of the bus was a matter of courtesy to great extent.

With their 10 children the McKinleys felt ill at ease when visiting relatives. They were a problem to the hosts.

"They were torn between insisting we stay overnight and wondering where to put us," McKinley said.

The 10 younger McKinleys range in age from 9 months to 23 years.

The bus was the answer.

It's an old diesel-powered Greyhound bus 30 feet long. McKinley carpeted the living area of the vehicle. There are studio beds and lounge chairs and a small kitchen and bath in the rear.

Michigan Family Goes to Australia for Work

MELBOURNE, Australia (UP)—A Michigan father of four children, jobless at home, has come to Australia in hopes of a turn in luck. Apparently, this has happened.

Accompanied by his entire family, Frank Lowas, 43-year-old Korean War veteran from Brighton, Mich., arrived yesterday in response to an appeal here for American and Canadian migrants.

The Americans' arrival created a to-do. Reporters and cameramen met the group.

Lowas said he already has a job as a machinist for a Melbourne engineering firm.

The family from Michigan includes Lowas' wife, Clara, and their children, Frank, 13; Eric, 10; Janet, 5, and Frederick, 4.

★ ★ ★

"I decided to come here after reading the appeal for workers made by your government," Lowas said.

Actually, the appeal was that of a few months ago from the Victorian Chamber of Manufacturers.

The Lowas family arrived by coincidence just as the government announced a 60 per cent increase in financial aid to encourage American migrants. The government has a financial help system for migrants.

Lowas appeared confident that he had made the right decision in coming to Australia.

"We are interested in opportunity and security," he said. "We know we will find it here."

Economic Aid to Tito Approved

$95 Million Scheduled for Yugoslavia During Fiscal 1958-59

BELGRADE (AP)—The United States today signed an agreement with Yugoslavia granting this Communist country nearly 95 million dollars U.S. economic aid.

The agreement was signed by U. S. Ambassador Karl Rankin and Dep. Foreign Minister Bogdan Crnobrnja.

The United States during fiscal year 1958-59 will deliver about 900,000 tons of wheat, 27,000 tons of cotton, 30,000 tons of edible oil and 10,000 tons of beans from agricultural surpluses.

Yugoslavia will pay in dinars, the local currency, into a counterpart fund. About 69 million dollars of the fund will be made available to Yugoslavia as a 30-year loan for development of industry, mining, transport and agriculture.

Yugoslavia receives as a gift bout 14 million dollars of local currency for development of health, education and agriculture. while the counterpart in dinars of 11 million dollars will be used by the U.S. government for its needs in Yugoslavia.

The newest assistance will bring to about 900 million dollars the American economic aid to Yugoslavia since 1950. The aid is aimed at helping President Tito in pursuing a course independent from Moscow.

Yugoslavia also obtained considerable military aid, estimated to total about 700 million dollars since 1950. Yugoslavia stopped the military aid last year.

It is expected here that another agreement on a long-range credit to Yugoslavia to help her development program will be signed soon in Washington. The program was badly endangered by the cancellation of a 280-million-dollar credit by the Soviet Union last spring.

Boxer Beats Baby After It 'Made Face'

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (UPI) — A husky amateur boxer says he beat a 20-month-old boy with his fists because the child "made a face at me."

Alex Sennie, 27, was booked on suspicion of assault with intent to commit murder yesterday after he admitted to police, hitting Richard L. McMullen 10 times with his fist. The baby boy was being cared for by Sennie's wife when the beating took place Dec. 18, police said.

Richard was reported in extremely critical condition at General Hospital in nearby Los Angeles suffering from a rib fracture and a torn liver and pancreas.

New Jail Is Dedicated With Splashing of Milk

ELIZABETHTOWN, Ky. (AP) — Hardin County Judge H. H. Tabb pleaded for temperance in the use of alcohol as he delivered the dedication speech for the opening of the county's new jail.

Drunkenness, he said, is the reason many jails are filled. Then the judge smashed a bottle on the wall dedicating the building. It contained milk.

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Gerald S. Kennedy, executive vice president of General Mills, Inc., was named chairman of the board of the giant milling company at a directors meeting today.

The 64-year-old Kennedy succeeds Harry A. Bullis, who is retiring after 10 years as chairman. The board accepted Bullis' request for retirement effective Jan. 1, 1959.

Probe 'Brain' for Titan's Diagnosis

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI) — Air Force missilemen worked with the aid of a big electronic brain today to track down trouble that spoiled the debut of new super ballistics missile.

The rocket engines of the towering Titan missile roared to life Saturday. But a malfunction occurred, and the big computer automatically kept the missile anchored to its launching pad, shut off the power and pumped in water to put out the rocket's flames.

The brain, contained in a box the size of a piano and called an automatic sequencer, also turned out a mass of extremely complex data that will enable technicians to find the source of trouble and make repairs.

The Air Force praised the new system, which worked perfectly. It was described as a more advanced form of the cutoff system which has been used at least once in the Vanguard program and probably with other rockets that failed to perform properly.

Pontiac YMCA Slates 2 Parties for Youth Group

Two Christmas parties are slated by the Pontiac YMCA for youngsters who are members of the "Y" Youth Department.

A party for boys will be held from 4 to 6 p.m. today at the Community Center, 131 Mt. Clemens St., and a party for girls from 4 to 6 p.m. tomorrow.

Each youngster is expected to bring a small gift to exchange. Movies, carol singing, a "goldfish swim," and a "penny plunge" will highlight both parties.

Mother, Brother Can't Save Her

Baby Perishes in Fire

UNION CITY, N.J. (AP)—Try as they might, Deborah Annillo's mother and brother couldn't save her from the thick smoke which spiraled into their apartment.

The body of the 10-month-old girl was found Sunday amid the rubble of three tenements, burned Saturday in a fire that left 38 families homeless.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. George Annillo and her children were trapped by the flames.

A puff of smoke came through the floor while Mrs. Annillo was in the living room. Deborah was in the kitchen.

★ ★ ★

"I tried to reach the baby," she told her husband later, "but there was too much smoke. She was sitting on the high chair and I couldn't reach her."

Annillo was at work in a nearby diner.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Annillo dropped her son Arthur, 4, from the living room window to firemen's nets 40 feet below. She did the same with George, 7. Then she jumped herself.

Two other sons, Earl, 11, and Joseph, 9, crawled through a kitchen window to a fire escape and safety.

★ ★ ★

Joseph also tried to rescue Deborah, even had her in his arms. But he lost his grip and couldn't find her again in the smoke. Both boys were burned, Earl seriously.

'Picture of Christmas' Features Victor Jory

"Armstrong Circle Theater" departs from its usual format of dramatizations of actual events to present a special Christmas Eve show, Wednesday, Dec. 24, titled "A Picture of Christmas," an uninterrupted hour of words and music featuring actor Victor Jory, comedian Dick Van Dyke and CBS News Correspondent Douglas Edwards (CBS television network, from 10:00 to 11:00 p.m.)

In the traditional holiday spirit, Jory will read portions of Charles Dickens' famous Pickwick Papers, as well as Clement C. Moore's immortal poem, "A Visit From St. Nicholas."

Van Dyke will perform a humorous monologue about the ancient "Wassail Bowl," and a comedy pantomine on decorating a Christmas tree.

Other features will include Edwards' reading of the famous New York Sun editorial of 1897, in response to little Virginia O'Hanlon's query: "Is there a Santa Claus?"

Christmas carols by a choir and other Yuletide music will furnish the background for this special holiday offering, another feature of which will be a UPA film set to the beautiful music of "The Twelve Days of Christmas."

Use 80 Tons Pressure for Perfect Recording

LOS ANGELES — To guard against imperfections in high-fidelity records, the "stamper" discs used to press the records are electroformed with pure nickel.

Nickel is used because it can be plated with microscopic accuracy, resists corrosion, and is not deformed by the 80 tons of pressure require for each pressing.

Lighthouse 'Souped Up'

PORTLAND, Me. (UPI) — Portland Head Light, whose first keeper was appointed by George Washington, has been "souped up" for modern mariners. A new flashing assembly has been installed in the ancient lighthouse, boosting the candlepower of its beams from 30,000 to 200,000.

India is spending about $225,000,000 this year in purchasing some 3,665,000 tons of wheat in the United States.

FATHER KNOWS BEST — Robert Young and Jane Wyatt, as Jim and Margaret Anderson, reminisce about the fine, old-fashioned Christmases of their childhood, and discuss plans to bring them back for their modern youngsters in 'The Christmas Story' on 'Father Knows Best,' tonight at 8:30 p. m. on CBS-TV.

Movie Star, Columnist Recall Days on Farm

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Donna Reed and I talked about Christmas down on the farm.

"It seems to me that at Christmas time we were usually broke," I said, speaking of life back on the 80 acres in Ohio.

WILSON

"Always," nodded Donna, who grew up seven miles from Denison, Io. —' way out in the country,' as we used to say. "But we had wonderful Christmases! I miss them terribly. I had 25 or 30 first cousins, and slews of aunts and uncles. We'd all get together and have HUGE stacks of food. The men always ate first."

Donna, minked and jeweled, living at one of the most expensive hotels in the world, star of her own TV show, was happily reliving those depression-time Christmases.

★ ★ ★

"There wasn't enough room or enough chairs for everybody to sit down," she said. "I would be peeking around a corner of the kitchen wondering when I would eat. Last would come the poor mothers who cooked it."

"My dad sometimes would sell a load of corn to get money for Christmas," I recalled. "He would come home with the wagon empty of corn but with some presents in it."

Donna nodded again. "We seemed to get things that weren't quite what we wanted simply because there wasn't enough money to go around. Nobody minded, though, because we were all in the same boat!

"I remember once, though, when I was about 6 or 7, and I wanted and got a doll and a beautiful chair — a little rocker.

"Farmers had it hard then," she said, "and everybody was so discouraged that of the 90 in my class, I don't think there's more than one or two left around there."

★ ★ ★

One left is a brother who still farms, also a pretty young high school sister ("very special child, naturally") and her parents.

"My father's so married to that farm!" Donna exclaimed.

"He'll come and visit me in Beverly Hills. That's about all. He was there one winter and when the first of February came he began thinking about the crops. That lure of the soil got strong and in about two days he couldn't wait—he took off for Iowa."

Donna still knows about cows, and tractors, and work horses—and lots of other things, too, because when she entered Los Angeles City College, she worked at three jobs at the same time to pay her way through . . . but was picked as beauty queen anyway and was on her way to an Oscar and to "the Donna Reed Show."

"And so I do come from a farm, a farm near a nice little town on a hill," Donna said. "A good place to begin life . . "

Rabies, TB on Loose
Stolen Rodents Infected

ATLANTA (AP) — Police and state health officials sought persons today who have handled about 25 white mice and four guinea pigs stolen from a State Health Department laboratory.

The mice carried rabies serum and the guinea pigs tuberculosis serum. Police said four boys admitted stealing them for pets Saturday night.

★ ★ ★

"Lives of persons bitten by the animals or who have come in contact with them are definitely in danger," said Dr. Earl J. Sunkes, director of the department's laboratory division.

★ ★ ★

Police Lt. C. C. Hamby said 25 mice and four guinea pigs have been recovered, but another mouse and a guinea pig turned up Sunday night at police headquarters. One of the boys told police they killed three mice.

Hamby said the four boys and the father of one of them had been bitten by the mice.

Writer Defends TV Programs

Says Entertainment, Not Propaganda Is Aim of Industry

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—A while ago we reported the disenchantment of seven past and present prominent television dramatists with the medium. They expressed it to producer David Susskind in a TV interview.

There comes now an eloquent reply to their views in a letter to this department from Frederick Hazlitt Brennan, a fine craftsman of entertaining fiction and the story editor and major script contributor to the TV series The Life and Legend of Wyatt Earp. Brennan writes:

"Despite the noble disclaimer of the seven writers that they abhor proselyting for a minority cause or trying to reform the cultural taste of 180 million Americans, these things are precisely what they are trying to do.

"Why? TV is a medium of mass entertainment. Sponsors, advertising agencies and TV producers have no obligation to uplift the cultural standards of the American people by means of propaganda disguised as social criticism, satire, 'worthwhile drama' or other intellectual snobberies.

"Indeed, the FCC might very properly object to special pleading on TV wave lengths which are the property—by government and court decision—of all the people.

"TV writers who feel that they have a 'message' can write for special audiences by way of books, the theater, highbrow magazines, or even a few movie producers. TV is a medium of entertainment and public information.

"It is not, rightly, a medium for editorializing on the news or for the presentation of intellectual and philosophical opinion. Those who happen to disagree with the writer-preacher would soon demand equal time on the networks to answer him.

"In actual practice, TV has done very well when it comes to freedom of speech and expression of opinion.

"A mass medium which allows Oscar Levant, Arthur Godfrey, Edward R. Murrow, Chet Huntley, the Rev. O. L. Jaggers and Bishop Pike to have their say cannot be accused of strict censorship.

"Comedians, politicans and college professors are allowed a wide latitude—usually on the somewhat dubious reasoning that they may provide entertainment.

"But TV has been shamed by cultural-uplifters and many professional critics into evading the real issue. It is a dangerous weapon of propaganda. So long as TV sponsors and producers insist that its programs be entertaining or informational—or both—then it will be fulfilling its responsibility to all the people.

"Once TV is persuaded that it should be a propaganda medium for cultural uplift, we are in for serious trouble. Who is to say what is cultural? One man's culture is another man's boredom.

"And who will decree what is uplifting? The Broadway stage? Mr. Paddy Chayefsky or Mr. Tad Mosel?

"Really dig this thing, Mercer. You critics may be tired of Westerns. But what if you were forced to watch a daily programing of intellectul snob dramas which dealt with the Negro problem, the Jewish problem, the Catholic problem, the Protestant problem, and the adjustment of frustrated longshoremen to the pansy gardens of beatnik ballet?

"Stay in there slugging, Mercer!"

Enterprising Youngster Learns the Hard Way

PHOENIX (AP) — Mary Molina, 11, picked out a vacant lot and rented parking space to motorists attending graduation ceremonies in Montgomery Stadium.

A resident complained to police that the lot was not blacktopped — as required by city ordinance — and the cars were kicking up dust.

The police arrived, and closed the parking lot operation. The $6 collected by Mary was held for "safekeeping of the owner of the lot, unknown at the time."

N.Y. Publishers Firm on Offer

Stand Pat on Proposal Made Before Delivery Workers Walked Out

NEW YORK (AP) — Publishers of nine closed New York City newspapers have agreed to stand pat on their prewalkout wage offer to striking deliverymen.

The publishers decided at a meeting Sunday to present their wage offer of $7 a week spread over two years when joint negotiations resume today. The offer includes fringe benefits.

★ ★ ★

Before meeting this afternoon with the publishers, the striking deliverymen had talks scheduled with federal mediators. Asher Schwartz, attorney for the independent Newspaper and Mail Deliverers Union, said no decision would be made before that meeting on the union's position in the joint talks later.

★ ★ ★

The $7 offer has been turned down once by the union's membership. At a second membership meeting, the union voted not to reconsider the offer.

★ ★ ★

The deliverymen have termed the wage offer acceptable only if the work week is reduced from 40 to at least 37 hours, also spread over two years. They also asked an extra holiday and replacements for absent drivers.
