Richard to Be Buried Tuesday Red Skeltons Mourn Son

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Comedian Red Skelton and his wife, Georgia, today found some solace in the belief that the international publicity on their son's valiant but losing fight with leukemia may help future victims of the cancer-like disease of the blood.

"I want the thousands of people who have written us that they prayed for Richard during his illness to have faith that God will answer their prayers," said Skelton.

"I believe that good comes out of everything, even tragedy such as ours. Maybe the world will know now that this disease must be licked. I think it is the beginning of all cancer."

The 9-year-old boy died Saturday night after a 16-month fight with the disease. Only blood transfusions had kept the child alive in recent weeks.

LAPSED INTO COMA

A final brain hemorrhage sent the boy into a coma that lasted an hour. He awoke briefly and whispered:

"I can't see. Everything is fuzzy."

A doctor turned off the light in the UCLA Medical Center room five minutes later and told the parents that the boy had died.

It was a moment the Skeltons had dreaded for more than a year. When it came, they were too stunned to move.

Mrs. Skelton said she and Red sat quietly weeping beside the boy's frail body for a half-hour.

His father knew earlier in the day that Richard had little longer to live.

"He and I watched 'Mighty Mouse' on television in the morning and then leafed through the Sears-Roebuck catalogue," Red said. He wanted a tent and a camping outfit for his birthday (May 20). He picked a Mother's Day blanket for his mother, too."

FUNERAL TOMORROW

The funeral will be held tomorrow at Forest Lawn's Church of the Resurrection at 2 p.m. Richard will be buried in the Forest Lawn Mausoleum's Sanctuary of Prayer. The rites will be Protestant, a family friend said.

Entombed with him will be a crucifix blessed only Saturday by Pope Pius XII. Last year the Skelton family had a private audience with the Pope.

"It was a highlight of the boy's life," Skelton told a reporter.

On Saturday the boy asked his father if he could get a crucifix blessed by the Pope. It arrived after the boy's death.

The Skeltons are not Catholics but both Richard and Valentina, 11, attended parochial school at St. Martin of Tours Roman Catholic Church.

The funeral comes on the day Red's show is seen on the CBS-TV network. He told an associate to notify the network and the sponsors he did not want even a filmed show on the air that day.

"People understand how I feel," he said.

Ike, Dulles Study Red OK on N-Test Policing Talks

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles confer today on a new Russian note agreeing to talk about ways of policing any ban on nuclear tests.

In an initial reaction the White House welcomed that part of a note from Russian Premier Khrushchev, but expressed hope any talks could be broadened to include a study of a wider range of disarmament problems.

The note was delivered to the State Department Saturday. Moscow radio broadcast a summary of it Sunday.

Moscow radio quoted the note as saying Russia would agree to the limited talks "in spite of its serious doubts."

At the same time, Khrushchev called again for the United States and Russia to halt their own nuclear tests and rejected Eisenhower's proposal for an arctic inspection zone.

Eisenhower and Dulles were to confer after Dulles' afternoon return to Washington. He spoke in Minneapolis Sunday at a week-long round of diplomatic conferences in Europe.

In that speech, Dulles reiterated U. S. interest in a polar inspection system "so that none need fear that these new polar routes will be traveled by bombers or by missiles unleashing surprise attack."

But Khrushchev said the polar proposals "is designed to gain advantages for the U. S. A." and does not spring from any desire for peace.

Sullenberger Undecided About Meeting Board

Dr. Neil H. Sullenberger is still considering a meeting with the Pontiac General Hospital Board of Trustees to discuss his suspension from the hospital medical staff.

The 42-year-old Pontiac surgeon, who last week began proceedings to appeal the dismissal of his suit for reinstatement, said today he considered the legal step as "mostly for the record, at present."

"The appeal would not be heard by the state supreme court until this fall, and I may not go through with it if I don't have to," the surgeon said.

So far, neither the board nor

350 Attend Pontiac Dedication of $4,500,000 Hospital Addition

With a solemn prayer, the $4,500,000 expansion project at Pontiac General Hospital was dedicated yesterday.

The words of Dr. William J. Marbach, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, highlighted an hour-long ceremony attended by more than 350 hospital, city and area officials and citizens on the steps of the institution's new 226-bed addition.

He asked that the hospital be blessed "in the name of the Great Physician."

Lt. Gov. Philip A. Hart, Circuit Judge Clark J. Adams and Willis M. Brewer, chairman of the hospital Board of Trustees, were the principal speakers.

DESCRIBES PROGRESS

Hart described the dramatic steps forward that have been taken by the medical world in the past 50 years.

"The people of Pontiac can be proud they have an up-to-date hospital that can keep abreast with the progress that is promised in the future," he said.

"This fine new addition, its splendid new equipment and its highly trained staff are a wonderful investment in the future health of the community."

Present and past city commissioners and hospital board members were introduced, as well as members of the city's administrative staff and representatives of the architectural firm that designed the building and the construction firms that built it.

Judge Adams introduced two hospital employees who, he said, typified loyalty and service to the community, past and future.

One employee was Miss Irene Barnes, 59, of 335 Orchard Lake avenue, who has served at the hospital for 34 years.

The other was a young physician, Dr. Henry Jenkins, 33, of 349 W. South Blvd., a native of Pontiac who has chosen to practice medicine in his home town, attending the general hospital during his internship and surgical residency periods.

Following the dedication, the general public began tours of the new facility. The women's auxiliary will continue to conduct tours during open house this week.

They are scheduled every half hour from 2-4 p.m. and 7-8 p.m. through Saturday.

Saginaw Bay Yields Mother's Body Hunt 3 in Warren Family

PINCONNING (AP) — The Coast Guard was searching Saginaw Bay today for a father and his two teenage children feared drowned with the mother when their boat overturned.

The body of Mrs. Marion Fedchenko, 41, was recovered yesterday. She was identified by her brother, Lester Lange of Saginaw.

Her husband Paul, 42, daughter Carol, 16, and son David, 13, still were missing.

The family lived in Warren in Macomb county and owned a summer cottage here.

The Coast Guard and State Police aided Sunday's air-sea hunt. The search was called off by darkness last night.

The Fedchenkos were last seen Saturday night when they boarded their 14-foot outboard aluminum boat. The boat, with the body of the family's dog aboard, was found upside down yesterday morning. The dog had drowned.

The Coast Guard maintained hope that Fedchenko and his two children somehow were hanging onto life preservers in the bay.

Mrs. Fedchenko was wearing a watch which stopped at 3:05 when she was picked from the choppy water. The time indicated to police that the boat overturned early Sunday morning.

A patrol boat from the Coast Guard base at Bay City and a helicopter and seaplane from Cleveland joined State Police in the all-day search yesterday.

The Fedchenkos' other son, Richard, 20, did not accompany his parents to Pinconning. He is a married student attending Eastern Michigan College.

Fedchenko worked as a foreman at the Ford Motor Co.'s Sterling plant.

Warm Weather Lures Crowds Onto Highway

Two Die in Highland; 3-Car Southfield Crash Claims Others

Five persons were killed and eight others injured in major traffic accidents in Oakland County this weekend, as higher temperatures brought a heavy flow of traffic to area highways.

Killed were: Mrs. Lola K. VanDivort, 70, of Toledo, Ohio; Mrs. Agnes B. Blay, 42, of Mt. Clemens; Charles E. Nye, 46, of 33910 Playview St., Farmington; Benjamin J. Kotowski, 38, of 304 E. 10 Mile Rd., Pleasant Ridge; and Clarence Muncey Jr., 32, of Detroit.

The five traffic fatalities within a 24-hour span marked the county's worst weekend and most deadly short time span of 1958.

The two women were killed in a head-on collision of two cars Sunday afternoon, at M-59 and Tip-sico Lake Rd., Highland Township, said deputies.

Mrs. Van Divort, driver of one car, was dead on arrival at Pontiac General Hospital at 2:30 p.m.

Mrs. Blay was riding in a car driven by her husband Robert, 43.

She was pronounced dead at 3:30 by Oakland Coroner Dr. Leon F. Cobb.

Blay is reported in satisfactory condition with a fractured ankle and lacerations.

Witnesses told deputies that the Blay car was attempting to pass another vehicle when the collision occurred.

The other three deaths were the result of a three-car smashup on 12 Mile Rd. at Brooks Lane, just west of Lahser Rd., in Southfield, Sunday morning.

Starting Today: Installments From Book 'All About Men' by Dr. Joseph H. Peck

Ouch! What Manner of Man Have We Here?...But His Mom Loves It

(Author's Note: Although even the best doctors are far less clairvoyant than the average woman, I'll stick out my neck far enough to say that a family or country doctor such as I was does learn a lot about homo sapiens. I was the father confessor for Mormons, Catholics, Protestants, and other families and a medicine man for a tribe of Goshute Indians; and from my varied experience I got considerable knowledge about what makes a man tick.)

By JOSEPH H. PECK, M. D.

I have wasted lots of time trying to imagine just what went on in the celestial drafting rooms when boys were designed.

The first unit to come off the assembly line was a fellow named Adam, and it wasn't too long before the stresses and strains of earthly hazards began to show the weak spots in his design.

His head was too big for his chassis, and his shoulders were too broad; his hair, which added nothing to his beauty, was too sparse to keep him warm. His finished body, as bumpy looking as the original Studebaker wagon, was adorned with a couple of nipples which in no way could be regarded as ornamental or useful.

NEITHER FISH NOR FOWL

It was not fully understood just what sort of animal the celestial draftsmen intended him to be — whether fish, fowl or beast — so gills were put in his neck and then, when it was discovered that the muscle that should close his nostrils when under water was missing, the skin was drawn over them and only the tonsils were left hanging around to cause trouble.

Two minor draftsmen must have met at the water cooler in heaven.

"I wish they would make up their minds in the front office just what this thing is going to eat," one angel said.

"How in heaven am I going to draw a plan for something that may turn out to be a flesh eater only, or a creature that grazes exclusively on grass, or a bird that lives on seeds? The boys in the back room want him fixed up so he can do all three."

Second angel: "I'm supposed to attach the organs you design to the frame, yet I don't know whether he will fly, crawl, walk on all fours, or as rumor has it try the ridiculous stunt of balancing himself on his rear two feet."

WHOLE MESS TO DROP

So they installed his digestive organs with lax ligaments which, once he began to wear down a bit, allowed the whole mess to drop into the lower abdomen and make him look as if he were about to give birth to a litter of toads.

There was something left over after the small intestine was in place. Instead of removing it, they shoved it down into the lower right corner of his abdomen where it would not be noticed, never dreaming that knife-happy surgeons would transform this useless appendix into a gold mine.

AN "IMPROVED" MODEL

The chief designer, somewhat disgusted with this botched-up job, ordered a second model constructed, and this was his second mistake.

She had to differ enough so that the old goat would notice and desire her.

A layer of fat was encased under the skin of her limbs to smooth out the bumps and make her legs more photogenic. Her frame was made more resilient and shockproof, and better materials were used for her upholstery.

Her thigh bones were so attached to the pelvis that she was forced to swivel her knees by each other. This gave a peculiar motion to her derriere, which the male never tires of observing.

Man was endowed with all the sweet features of a Jersey bull; he charged everything in his path, head down, pawing, snorting and bellowing. But woman was given the guile of a bird-hunting cat.

He was meant to dream and she to dismiss his visions as hokey, being more interested in neighborhood chitchat and in what man called on what frau than in who lit the stars at night and extinguished them in the morning.

Nature, not too proud of its first model, made an excess of him, to allow for breakage in delivery. It takes all the doctor's skill and a lot of endurance on Mom's part if her first-born is a boy, while girl babies are bonus jobs for us obstetricians.

A TIME FOR VALOR

Once cradled in his mother's arms, the male finds his idea of heaven, and for the rest of his life he will try to get back to that womb-like protection.

Although the child will always regard his mother as a model of all that is good, virtuous and compassionate, Junior will crave both love and punishment from Pop.

This is the time for you to become a man, Dad. You will never be given a more apt and eager understudy than your own little boy. He is your most precious possession, but you will own him for such a little while. . . .

So mold him, Pop, while he is pliable. If you are neglectful about or incapable of, molding your boy into a man, may the good Lord have mercy on you both.

Hailstones Big as Baseballs Storms Stagger Texas
By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Mid-Continent and clear skies were indicated in most of the eastern and Pacific Coast sections.

Tornado funnels were reported in the Texas plains, several in the area near Lubbock, a city of 140,000. Severe thunderstorms broke out late last night in west central Texas, with gusty winds, hail and rain. Winds up to 75 m.p.h. lashed Plainview in a severe thunderstorm. Hail stones as big as baseballs pelted New Deal, near Lubbock. No casualties were reported.

Warm air moving northward through the plains triggered thunderstorms from southern sections of Kansas and Colorado southward along the Texas-New Mexico border.

Earlier yesterday, thunderstorms roared across areas from Beaumont, Tex., across the Gulf states into Florida and hit scattered areas northward into New York State. Strong winds and hail struck the Knoxville, Tenn., area. Rainfall measuring more than two inches doused areas of West Palm Beach, Fla., and Savannah, Ga.

The showers in the Atlantic states diminished during the night but warm, humid air set off thunderstorms from the central Gulf Coast northward to the Ohio River. Wind gusts of 68 m.p.h. lashed Atlanta during a thunderstorm.

More showers were indicated along the Gulf Coast and from eastern sections of Kentucky and Tennessee through the mid and South Atlantic states. However, mostly sunny skies were forecast for the Mississippi valley, lower Ohio Valley and from the Great Lakes region eastward through New England.

OPEN FOR INSPECTION — As part of National Hospital Week, this addition to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital will be open for public inspection today and Tuesday. It is a 30-bed temporary nursing station, which will ultimately be used for a new laundry.

Public Invited to Tour New Facility Mercy Hospital Annex Ready

A temporary, 30-bed nursing station will go into use at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital next Sunday and the public is invited to tour it today and tomorrow as part of National Hospital Week.

Open house for the addition, which ultimately will be a new laundry, and for the new power plant that was also completed recently as part of a $639,000 expansion program, is scheduled both days from 1-5 p.m.

The power house and laundry were built to service the existing 310-bed facility plus the 200-bed addition the hospital is contemplating.

The laundry is being used temporarily as a nursing station to ease crowded conditions in the main hospital, according to Sister Mary William, administrator.

Divided by portable walls into attractively decorated individual rooms, the new nursing station features an inter-communications system by which patients may speak with nurses at the central office. The system also pipes in music to the patient rooms.

In the new power plant are gas and oil fed boilers replacing the 30-year-old coal stoker boilers. There is also a 375 kilowatt, diesel operated electrical generator for standby emergencies.

The new plant enables the hospital to have a constant supply of steam for sterilization purposes and is designed to permit the hospital to carry on in case of natural disaster, such as a tornado, strikes the area, Sister Mary William said.

The new construction was blessed yesterday by the Rt. Rev. Monsignor Eugene E. Paddock, Dean of the Northwestern Deanery, Birmingham.

Tickets, costing $2 apiece, are available at the chamber's offices. All members of the chamber and Pontiac area service clubs are invited.

UAW, Big 3 Resume Negotiations Today
DETROIT (U) — The auto industry's Big Three and the United Auto Workers Union resume contract negotiations today with three weeks to go before present agreements expire.

Negotiators were expected to discuss a proposal for arbitration suggested Saturday by UAW President Walter P. Reuther. It received a cold shoulder in first management reaction.

Reuther made his offer in a letter to Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn). Copies went to General Motors, Ford and Chrysler.

Await Effects of Rail Walkout

Firemen Eye Results as Full Schedules Start on Canadian Pacific

MONTREAL (U)—Striking firemen on the Canadian Pacific Railway watched the resumption of full-scale weekday schedules today to gauge the effectiveness of their nationwide walkout.

The CPR, one of Canada's two transcontinental lines, ran the majority of its scheduled Sunday trains with crews of company supervisory personnel and members of other railroad unions who walked through the firemen's picket lines.

The 3,000-member Brotherhood of Firemen and Enginemen began the strike at 6 a.m. yesterday, the time the CPR planned to start its program for gradually abolishing firemen on freight and yard diesel engines.

The dispute, which provoked a CPR strike 18 months ago, also confronts the many U.S. lines and Canada's other cross-country railroad, the Canadian National. All have switched to oil-burning diesels and claim they no longer need firemen to shovel coal.

Diesel units do more than 70 per cent of the work on CPR's 17,000 miles of track.

Government-sponsored efforts to end the strike continued in Montreal. Labor Minister Michael Starr planned to meet today with CPR President N. A. Crump, President Claude Jodoin of the Canadian Labor Congress and John Graham, firemen's union chairman for the CPR.

Woodcutter on Trial for His Life Today

GLASGOW, Scotland (U)—American-born woodcutter Peter Manuel went on trial for his life today, charged with murdering three teen-age girls, three women, a man and a boy.

Policemen guarded the husky, 31-year-old woodcutter as he was hustled into Glasgow High Court by a side entrance.

Manuel, who was born in New York of Scottish parents and brought to Scotland as a child, was arrested last January at the suburban home he shared with his mother and elderly father, murder charges, and also to three other charges of theft by house-breaking and a charge of stealing a car.

Britain has abolished the death penalty in most murder cases, but the penalty is still hanging if a person is convicted of two or more murders. Manuel is being tried on eight.

The alleged crimes were committed over a period between January 1956 and January 1958 all in the Glasgow area.

Congress Must Act Soon

Tax Argument Nearing Climax

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (U)—The time is near when Congress must fish or cut bait in the muddled tax waters.

Business taxes passed as a Korean War emergency expire in seven weeks.

And in the next few days more official figures on the extent and trend of the slump will be at hand, figures for which the Administration said it was waiting before making up its mind.

The deadline on the corporate income tax and the excises on such things as autos, cigarettes and freight and passenger transportation — plus the clearer view of the recession — could force a decision on tax cuts one way or the other in Congress.

Those who expect tax cuts argue that relief for business, if granted could hardly be unaccompanied by relief for individuals, especially in an election year.

Those opposing any tax cuts now feel that a greater federal deficit and higher debt total would set off more inflation.

Business hopes for tax relief now are highest on two fronts: Some lowering of the excise taxes on goods and services hit by the slump, and a change in the rules on depreciation allowance which might spur more buying of equipment and expansion of plants.

The corporate income tax is set to drop at the end of June from the present 52 per cent to 47 per cent, unless Congress acts. Few businessmen doubt that it will. But some hope for a compromise — say 50 per cent of gross earnings going to the U.S. Treasury. The biggest fight, however, is for an excise tax cut. Industry's side of the argument is that this could revive sales of some floundering durable goods, and perhaps help the ailing railroads.

The battle for depreciation relief takes two forms: One proposal is to inspire building of new plants and ordering of new equipment by cutting the time a company can write off its depreciation for tax purposes.

The other is for general revision of depreciation rules. Business argues that existing plants and equipment also shouldn't have to be written off at their original value, but at more realistic replacement values, which are in most cases much higher.

Individuals hoping for some relief, too, from the high personal income tax rates see a chance to get on the bandwagon if business gets any part of what it's asking.

They argue that lowering personal taxes would give more people more money to spend in the retail markets and would give some people more money to channel into investments, particularly into risk capital by which industry goes into new ventures to the future good of the whole economy.

Then there are those who hold that recession or no recession taxes are just too high. They say that even in good times taxes stifle business and hamstring consumers and that lower rates would so spur economic activity that higher corporate gross earnings and higher individual incomes might bring more into the U. S. Treasury in the long run, even at the lower tax rates.

The debate between those wanting tax cuts to fight recession and those fearing a deficit and inflation as the greater evils has been on and off during the spring months. It seems sure to build up to a climax before June is very old.

Why people who love CONVERTIBLES buy FORD

Only Ford lets you choose from a steel-top convertible or a fabric-top beauty. Who else but Ford... world's largest convertible maker... could offer you two different kinds of convertibles. There's the fabric-top Ford Sunliner and the steel-top Ford Skyliner... world's only retractable hardtop. They're both styled and powered in the Thunderbird tradition. You'll see at a glance why they're both the value leaders of the convertible world.

Nowhere else can you find so much convertible for so little money. Take the Ford Sunliner for example. A comparison of manufacturers' suggested retail delivered prices shows it's America's lowest-priced convertible. And it's the only one in its field with a double-stitched, double-sealed, fade-resistant top. What's more, even Ford's closest competitor can't touch the Sunliner for rear seat leg room, trunk space or ease of top operation. As for the Skyliner, it's the world's only 2-in-1 fine car... a snug steel-top and a breezy convertible. Just touch a button. The all-steel top vanishes smoothly into the rear deck... and you're sitting pretty in the smartest convertible ever. It's another example of the advanced engineering you get in every Ford car.

So if you're the sun-worshipping type, better see your Ford Dealer and get all the reasons why Ford outsells its nearest competitor in convertibles by a whopping 2-to-1 margin! Discover for yourself why Ford is tops in "top-downer" value.

Satellite Nations Take to Bottle

Alcoholism Alarms Reds

BERLIN (INS)—Communist rulers from Poland to Albania are alarmed by the wave of excessive drinking that is rolling through satellite East Europe.

An East European diplomat in Berlin admits wryly that instead of a "crisis of ideology," the Communists face a "crisis of the bottle."

Alcoholism is one of the most difficult problems confronting Communist rulers.

Outbreaks of hooliganism, crime, sexual perversion and physical illness in East Europe are largely attributable to drink.

East European officials admit that drinking is reducing significantly production in factories and on farms, mainly through absenteeism.

In almost all the satellites the governments have taken measures to decrease drinking, but with little success so far.

In Poland, the number of liquor stores has been reduced by 15 per cent and the price of vodka has been increased by 15 per cent. But consumption nationwide is up between 20 and 25 per cent.

The consumption of vodka in Warsaw rose by 30 per cent from 1956 to 1957.

The number of cases of youths under 18 treated for alcoholism has risen 35 per cent and the number of women 25 per cent, according to official statistics.

To encourage healthier drinking habits, the Czech government has raised the price of spirits by 20 per cent and lowered the price of milk by 10 per cent. "Good-living societies" are being encouraged in Czechoslovakia.

But it seems to be an uphill battle there too. During 1957, two million persons were treated for excessive consumption.

A Hungarian source in Berlin reports that in his country the consumption of alcohol has risen by 30 to 40 per cent since the unsuccessful uprising against the Russians in 1956. He said that drinking is intensifying many social and economic problems, especially child prostitution and absenteeism.

It's the same story in the Balkans. A Bulgarian diplomat in Berlin says his country has a new law to restrict the intake of policemen, bus drivers, locomotive engineers and public utility employees.

Official reports in East Germany say that absenteeism is increasing because of the workers' drinking habits. There is also in East Germany more alcoholism among party functionaries.

Oakland Camp Group Formed

More Funds Needed to Assure Operation This Summer

Following a cutback on contributions by sponsoring organizations, a committee has been established to raise funds for Camp Oakland, according to William J. Matus, director of the camp. He pointed out that more money is needed to assure operation this summer.

Matus said the camp, located at 930 E. Drahner Rd., Oxford, was presently $12,000 shy of yearly funds needed to operate the camp for 700 underprivileged children from Oakland County.

Despite the deficit, Matus said the camp is going ahead with plans to open up this summer, hoping that contributions can be raised by then.

The committee, headed by Royal Oak funeral director James Sullivan, consists of 24 men and women from all parts of the county. They will make an extra appeal to their service clubs and organizations for aid, Matus said.

He also pointed out that many persons are unaware that the camp is not operated by county funds. "We only receive $600 annually from the budget," he said.

Boy, 13, Admits He Killed Girl, 6,

EAST HAVEN, Conn. (INS)—Police said today a 13-year-old boy has admitted slaying 6-year-old Cathy Palumbo last night.

The boy — not identified because of his age — had sexually assaulted the girl, police said.

Cathy's bruised body, her face and head battered with a rock, was found in swampy woods near her home.

The boy was picked up at his home last night, a few hours after two boys found Cathy's body at the base of two boulders.

He told police he and Cathy had been playing in the woods. Police said they found bloody clothing in the boy's home.

The area where the girl was found is thickly wooded. It is not far from Long Island Sound.

The boy was taken to a detention home in New Haven. No criminal charges were placed against him immediately.

The girl was identified as the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Palumbo of East Haven.

250 Non Political Groups Invited to Dem Meet

LANSING (INS)—Representatives of 250 non-political organizations have been invited to sound off on public issues at a state-wide Democratic conference here May 24.

Democratic State Chairman Neil Staebler said views expressed at the "issues day" parley will be considered when Democrats draft their 1958 campaign platform at a state convention in Grand Rapids Aug. 23.

Panel discussions will cover 13 general issues, including civil rights, state and local government, highways, economic policies, traffic safety, international affairs and national security.

Party officials and supporters also will take part.

Says Governor Abusing Facts

Van Beursem Contends Williams 'Fixes' Figures for Own Political Ends

LANSING (INS)—House Speaker George M. Van Beursem (R-Zeeland) today accused Gov. Williams of showing "arrogant contempt for the truth unmatched in our political history."

Van Beursem, in his letter to fellow Republicans, contended the Democratic Governor juggled figures in legislative appropriation bills "for his own political ends."

As an example, he cited the Governor's criticism of the GOP-dominated legislature for boosting its 1958-59 budget by $285,000 while cutting down allocations to other departments.

Actually, Van Beursem said, the increase amounted to $36,100, with $46,600 of it earmarked for the new legislative pension system "sponsored by Democrats and supported by the Governor."

Williams also complained the mental health appropriation was severely cut. With $1,300,000 in unspent appropriations returned to the State Treasurer, however, the cut in the $65,500,000 budget for 1957-58 will be only $393,000, Van Beursem said.

"The Governor is aware of this," he said. "He disgraces only himself when he resorts to deliberate distortion in order to gain votes."

The Most Powerful, Yet Safe Reducing Drug Ever Released For Public Use!

Federal Health Authorities Approve P.P.A.® As Safe Without Prescription. This Remarkable Drug For Reducing Is So Incredibly Effective It Limits The Ability Of Your Body To Produce Sensations Of Hunger! Helps You Lose Weight Fast Without Special Diets, "Plans," Exercise or Feeling Of Self-Denial Because It Appeases Your Appetite At The Same Time!

It's New — Entirely different! Revolutionary!
Not a bulk-filler, reducing candy or wafer. HUNGREX WITH P.P.A. is the first and only type of non-prescription product that includes these words on the label:

In the treatment of obesity obtainable now for first time without a doctor's prescription!

At Last!

After many years of research comes the release—direct to the public—of the most powerful yet safe proprietary drug for reducing now known to medical science. This means that a revolutionary reducing aid has arrived that really works... that tends to limit the ability of your body to produce sensations of hunger! And thus you can now lose excess weight fast without special diets or "plans" formerly found in other types of reducing products!

The Name Of This Newly-Released Drug is P.P.A.®

It is so effective that it helps satisfy your appetite within minutes after you take it. It is so effective that once it starts to work in your body, you are as virtually protected against gnawing hunger sensations and a "runaway appetite" as it is reasonably possible to be. And because you won't normally feel hungry you will no longer be tempted to overeat! Thus for the first time you can really lose excess weight fast without special diets of any kind whatsoever!

Why?

Because when federal health officials recently released P.P.A. to the public as safe, it marked the first time in medical history that a drug powerful and safe enough to help overcome the relentless craving of hunger could be released for your use without a doctor's prescription! The first time in history that any non-prescription weight-reducing product states on the label: IN THE TREATMENT OF OBESITY.

Thousands Now Lose Weight Who Never Thought They Could!

Imagine the thrill of overweight men and women who write day after day, some reporting remarkable weight losses up to 5 lbs. the very first week... 9½ pounds in 2 weeks... up to 18½ lbs. the very first month with P.P.A. ... and even recording weight losses of 35 to 41 lbs. without doing anything difficult, dangerous or unpleasant!

Control Of Your Hunger And Appetite Is Automatic—So You Don't Even Have To Count Up Your Calorie Intake With A Pencil

Best of all, you'll still enjoy your food, still eat luscious steaks, chops, roasts, stews and other favorites, and still your weight will come down. Because P.P.A. drastically cuts down your craving for food and calorie intake, without affecting your enjoyment of food.

Unlike every other old-style reducing product you've ever tried or heard of, we give you no thinly-disguised "plans" or diets of any kind to follow, because the daily recommended dose of Hungrex with P.P.A. helps appease your appetite and is designed to protect you from overeating all through the day. If you're a normally healthy person, and you're like thousands upon thousands of other overweight folks who have successfully tried this new wonder product, you won't normally crave food between meals. You won't suffer the usual hunger pangs, or have that "empty" gnawing feeling. You'll enjoy what you eat, but you simply won't feel inclined to overeat, because you're just not hungry! And when this happens, when you cut down your calorie intake, off comes your excess fat. It's simply burned up by your body in the form of a glorious, new release of energy for you... while you grow slimmer and more attractive-looking each day!

Nothing Like It Ever Available Before For Quick Reducing Without A Prescription!

As plainly as we can state it, so that there is no possibility of confusion in your mind between Hungrex and any other product: You will not find a "plan" or diet of any kind when you open your Hungrex package, as you're used to finding in other types of non-prescription reducing products! Because only Hungrex with approved-strength P.P.A. has shown it is powerful enough to help overcome the most powerful craving a human being can long endure—HUNGER! And Hungrex with P.P.A. is the only such powerful type of reducing aid that your government has ever released as safe without prescription! No other kind of reducing product can make this statement to you.

Hungrex With P.P.A. Works As We Say—Or Your Money Back

Naturally, individuals vary. So we say try Hungrex for 1 day, 5 days, 10 days—the full 21 days if you like. Check your weight losses as you go along. See the wonderful change in your body that takes place almost daily. Then either we've fulfilled our promise to you—either you're delighted with the way you've lost weight—either you look and feel better—you've found the secret to a safe, pleasant way to get your weight down and help keep it that way—or merely return unused portion for your money back.

Arkansas Paper Wins Two Pulitzer Awards

Unswerving adherence to reason, moderation and obedience to law has won Pulitzer prizes for the Arkansas Gazette of Little Rock and its Executive Editor, HARRY S. ASHMORE.

Last September 4 while mobs were milling around the Little Rock high school demonstrating against integration, the Gazette made this appeal to citizens:

"We are going to have to decide what kind of people we are—whether we obey the law only when we approve of it, or whether we obey it no matter how distasteful we may find it."

This required editorial courage when mob violence sought to nullify the authority of the Supreme Court order and was supported by the Governor of the State. It meant going against strong sentiment for segregation and resulted in an organized boycott, still operating against the Gazette, and even actual risk of the editor's life.

The awards underscore the recent decision of the U.S. Court of Appeals in this matter. At St. Louis, Mo. the court upheld a lower court order barring Arkansas Governor FAUBUS from using National Guard troops to halt integration. This, the decision pointed out, could lead only to "a complete breakdown of Government."

For dedication to the highest principles of the American Press, the Gazette and Executive Editor ASHMORE well deserve their Pulitzer awards.

U.S. Conditions Similar to Roman Empire Days

So you think this is a changing world, eh? Well, it is. But it's less than you think. The historian, Gibbon, in his "Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire," listed five reasons for the collapse. Now, mind you, this is in the days of the Roman Empire and that's a tolerable stretch of centuries backward.

Here are the reasons:

1. The rapid increase in divorces and the undermining of the dignity and sanctity of the home which is the basis of human society.
2. Higher and higher taxes.
3. The mad craze for pleasure.
4. The building of gigantic armaments.
5. The decay of religion, and so forth.

How appropriate that is to us here in America today.

Surely, it could have been uttered today or yesterday at any open forum in the United States of America.

Eisenhower Proposes International Antarctica

President EISENHOWER's suggestion of a treaty guaranteeing continued use of Antarctica for scientific research and other peaceful purposes is a timely one and should make a strong appeal to world opinion.

In connection with the International Geophysical Year, 12 countries—Argentina, Australia, Belgium, Britain, Chile, France, Japan, New Zealand, Norway, South Africa, the Soviet Union and the United States—have been co-operating in important scientific work in Antarctica for the past nine months. The President now proposes that co-operation be continued by treaty and become the international law for that region.

No nation would be asked to surrender any territorial rights it may have there. However, they would be asked to co-operate so that the scientific studies now being carried on could continue without political or other handicaps.

In other words Antarctica would be an international trusteeship to be exploited for the common good of all mankind. This is in line with other Eisenhower proposals such as atoms for peace and aerial inspection, and his constant search for ways and means of getting nations to work together for mutual benefit.

Australia's Minister of External Affairs CASEY has well said that President EISENHOWER's suggestion "is in the best tradition of American statesmanship and imaginative thinking."

Surely the Soviet Union cannot veto this proposal and still call us "warmongers" and stumbling blocks to peace in the world.

The Man About Town Hang Out the Flag Display of National Colors Is Somewhat Delinquent Here

Contentment: A condition for which there are said to be 20 synonyms, so don't mislay any of them.

For many years the Americanization Committee of the Pontiac Elks Lodge has awarded a prize early in June that, sorry to say, in 1958 has mighty few contestants.

It goes to the person who, during the year around his home or place of business, has made the most outstanding display of the American flag. The committee now is checking for locations that might qualify for consideration, but can find none.

If you've been delinquent in your display of the stars and stripes, there still is time to refurbish your patriotism, and also be in line for the prize which will be awarded early next month.

My Flint correspondent sends word that the philosophy of education class at Flint College of the University of Michigan are in Pontiac today. Under the direction of Prof. Robert M. Weiss, they are visiting our Webster School to get some pointers.

Wondering if some robins near his home are not rushing the season,

Harold Trollman of Pontiac Lake, says they've already hatched a brood.

Now this matter of a late spring is settled, according to Mrs. Beverly Joffer of Waterford. Her pansies, usually in bloom for Mother's Day, didn't make it.

We had quite unique troubles in Pontiac a half century ago. According to a clipping from a copy of The Press in February, 1908, sent me by Ross Amundson of Detroit, then living here, a woman was granted a divorce because her husband tore her Monday washing from the line and dragged it in the ash heap.

Spark plugged by the publisher of its local paper, the Leader, an elaborate project is under way to make our suburban Oxford the "World's Most Beautiful Community," and they have a good start before they do anything.

David Lawrence Says:

Little Rock Troops Never Lawful

WASHINGTON — Americans rightly boast that theirs is "a government of laws—not of men." When a dispute arises as to whether presidential powers are lawfully exercised, it is of the utmost importance that both sides of the controversy be presented to the public so that the citizens may know whether they are being governed by the arbitrary action of the executive branch of the government or by rules of law.

The White House has just made public a statement announcing that federalized troops will be withdrawn from Central High School at Little Rock, Ark., on May 23 at the end of the present school term.

The statement is of historic importance because nothing like it has ever been issued before, and in the view of many prominent lawyers throughout the country, the position taken by the Federal government in ordering the troops sent in was in violation of the Constitution and the laws of Congress.

The statement, in full text, says: "Since last September the Federal government has stationed soldiers at the Little Rock high school to prevent obstruction of the orders of the United States District Court."

"Since the summer recess starts at the Central High School on May 23, and since there will be no further present need for guardsmen, I have directed that they be released on May 23."

"Following that date I trust that state and local officials and citizens will assume their full responsibility and duty for seeing that the orders of the Federal Court are not obstructed."

"The faithful execution of this responsibility will make it unnecessary for the Federal government to act further to preserve the integrity of our judicial processes."

But, as various articles in the American Bar Assn. Journal and pronouncements by constitutional lawyers in the North as well as in the South have since pointed out, there is no law that authorizes the President of the United States to use troops to enforce court decrees.

The power to request Federal troops to suppress disorder or insurrection devolves on the state authorities.

To enforce judicial decrees, the first step is to deputize private citizens as assistant U.S. marshals. Thousands of them can be deputized for that purpose, and it is customary for citizens to accept such duty when asked by the Federal government.

There have been episodes in the past where Federal troops have been sent into states to quell disturbances, but in every instance these have been marked by the subsequent cooperation of state authorities or the use of U.S. marshals and deputies.

More than $4,500,000 of Federal funds for the maintenance of the troops has been spent in the Little Rock episode. Unfortunately, no challenge as to the proper use of such funds can be made by any taxpayer under rulings laid down by the Supreme Court.

So the entire affair can be argued only in the court of public opinion in the hope that never again will the executive branch of the government send Federal troops to quell a local disturbance except at the request of the state.

For if the precedent becomes valid, Federal troops may be used at any time to put down strikes and prevent violence in labor disputes, and on other occasions of local rioting, without the consent of state authorities.

There have been many instances of terror recently inside the public schools in various Northern cities which, if the Little Rock precedent were followed, would justify the use of Federal troops.

(Copyright, 1958)

Don't Bow to Pressure for Radical Tonsillectomy

It takes character to hold out against the pressure from all sides to have "those bad tonsils out" when the child's tonsils are as large as they should be in the spring.

The ever-ready operators deliver a most convincing sales talk about tonsillectomy. After the atrocity, if the child survives, they are not so convincing in their explanation of the "roids" and sore throat the child continues to have about as frequently as ever.

Mind, now, I do not say tonsil surgery is never necessary. I say tonsillectomy is not justifiable—and I say any doctor who talks about tonsillectomy "not getting all of the tonsil" is poorly informed about tonsil surgery.

Tonsillectomy is the attempt to cut out every bit of tonsil tissue—which is seldom successful, for portions of tonsil nearly always remain in the throat after this major, too often fatal, operation.

Tonsillectomy, on the other hand, is a minor operation, instantaneous "clipping" or slicing off the obstructing portion of tonsil. It is the only operation justifiable for relieving conditions caused by obstruction of breathing passages by enlarged tonsils.

NOT DANGEROUS

Tonsillectomy is no more dangerous than extraction of a tooth, takes no more time, requires no more anesthesia, involves no blind dissection in a blood covered field.

Enlargement of tonsils of children in the spring is a normal occurrence—the tonsils shrink to ordinary size in the summer, if the children are allowed to play outdoors in the minimum of clothing.

If tonsils become so enlarged (hypertrophied) that they obstruct breathing, or cause mouth breathing, noisy breathing or impaired hearing, wholly adequate, safe, sensible treatment is tonsillectomy, performed with the gadget known as tonsillotome, guillotine or snicker-snee.

For the kids' sake I beseech you parents, grandparents, uncles, aunts, big brothers and big sisters, don't let any ever-ready operator attack "those bad tonsils" in the operating room when very likely a few weeks of outdoor play or at most an instantaneous "clipping" is all the treatment the child requires.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Voice of the People

Calls Attention to Errors; Receives Press Apologies

I read the accounts of supersonic flight in The Press with interest but I arise to two points of order.

Your flying reporter said "knots per hour" whereas "knot" is defined as a nautical mile per hour. Hence, the phrase you use is purely redundant. It would be like saying "the consensus of opinion." An old salt always cringes when he reads "knots per hour."

Secondly, your cut lines refer to a "major" whereas the Air Force man in the photo clearly stands marked as a "chicken colonel." I cringe again as I know your reporter learned those facts himself in the first world war.

Otherwise you get a comfortable passing grade.

Les J. Burrows

2114 East 17th Avenue
Spokane, Washington

(Editor's Note: To eagle eyed Mr. Burrows, go abject apologies. The flying reporter takes all the blame for the "knots per hour" and grovels in the dust before the master. But he disclaims the culpability for the label of "Major" which was pinned on the full colonel. That fault lies with the copy desk. And so from them too, a request for forgiveness wings across the nation to the great Spokane purist.)

Readers Agree on Automobiles

All my friends and I agree with that man who wants cars shorter and higher. But first of all we want them cheaper, even if they abolish all that shiny chrome and all the extra gadgets and such. Cheaper, shorter, higher—that's the order.

Neighborhood

When will automobile manufacturers get wise to the fact people are sick and tired of these "long, low looks?" They're too long to park and too low to get in and out with any comfort. Haven't the buyers anything to say at all about the products they have to shell out for their cash for?

Two More Add Medical Views

That Young Mother may have stated her case too strongly, but state medicine would be a boon and a blessing in this country. I'm no Socialist and I don't believe in state competition with private industry, but when health lacks sufficient attention, you have to look for some different rules. Health is entirely different from automobiles, grocery stores, lawyers, restaurants, etc.

'Who Says No One Wants Highway?'

The laugh of the day is the statement that "no one wants the new highway through Oakland County." It's the most needed, most wanted and most necessary highway in the Middle West.

This County is so thickly populated, the new road should start at the first possible second and I am convinced Highway Commissioner Mackie will do just that. We have dumped an incompetent man and replaced him with one determined to fight for Michigan.

The letter in The Press said the money for Northwestern would be used for another road. That is not true and letter writers should stick to the facts.

Dentist Disagrees With Brady Advice

Dr. Brady is at teeth again, blasting dentists with a little of the sarcasm he usually reserves for working members of his own profession. He is, as usual, half right.

Perhaps he's reluctant to present the scientifically proven other half because he has committed himself, in his rambling booklet about teeth, to a discredited viewpoint. He dismisses as "fancy" and "silly notion" the proven fact that sugar, candy and sweets favor decay of teeth. He mentions repeatedly the fine teeth of inhabitants of Tristan da Cunha but overlooks the fact that yearly per capita consumption of sugar on the island is five to ten pounds, while the average American consumes 100 pounds of sugar per year. The islanders also drink water containing fluoride.

To my knowledge, no dentist has ever implied that the toothbrush is a decay cure-all. It can help reduce the amount of decay in accessible gumline areas and it can help reduce gum irritation caused by debris. But not even Dr. Brady's best advice about seeking regular dental inspection and treatment can save the teeth of the average modern American from continuing decay until he stops living on sugar.

'We Old Folks Aren't Witless'

I'm all for fluoridation, but if I weren't, you couldn't sell me on it by saying it's the "modern" thing to do. Trying to save your teeth and health is just plain, old-fashioned good sense, and if people would stop trying to cram words like "modern" and "progressive" down our old folks' throats, they might get farther. We're not fools and most of us will back measures based on solid facts and if they're for the common good. Fluoridation is one of them.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Don't Let Defect Ruin Your Life

Nell was ready to commit suicide because she had narrowed her perspective till she couldn't see anything in life but herself. If you are now unhappy, then follow the scientific formula for becoming popular. And don't throw in the sponge because you suffer from some medical defects. They often are the goods that drive you to glorious success.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE
CASE Y-307: Nell D., aged 16, says she leads a miserable life.

"Dr. Crane, I don't have any girl friends at all," she began. "And no boy has ever asked me for a date, though, I am now a junior in high school."

"And why should they, for you can see that I look repulsive with this crossed eye."

"I don't think it is fair for some girls to be born beautiful while others are crippled and ugly like me."

"I have thought about taking an overdose of sleeping pills but I haven't quite got up enough nerve. My faculty advisor insisted I talk to you, but I'm just wasting your time."

BEWARE SELF PITY
"I was grumbling because Daddy wouldn't buy me a new pair of dancing slippers," said a coed, "until I happened to see a returning G.I. veteran who had no feet!"

When you are inclined to indulge in self-pity, widen your horizon by looking downward at the many folks who have far less advantages than you do.

Nell is thinking chiefly about herself and thus sheds tears because she isn't the life of the party.

If she'd visit our Veterans' Hospitals and see blinded boys who also lack hands and must try to turn on their radio with their teeth, she would regain better perspective!

Some people are born with less physical assets than others. But that very fact may be the goad that spurs them onward to lofty attainment.

Think of Helen Keller, blind and deaf. Or of sickly Robert Louis Stevenson, who compensated by writing swashbuckling pirate tales, such as "Treasure Island."

Consider deaf Beethoven and Edison, or blind Milton and epileptic Julius Caesar. Then follow their courageous pattern.

GOD'S PLAN

"Whenever God closes one door in front of you," runs an old truism "He always opens another."

But you must have the spunk and ambition to walk onward through that new doorway!

Many physical defects can be remedied by modern surgery. If you are born without an arm or leg, however, we cannot graft such a new member upon your body.

But minor defects like crossed-eyes are easily corrected. In childhood, appropriate eye glasses will often do the trick.

In later years, an eye surgeon can usually bring the eye back into line by operating on one of the external muscles of the eyeball.

This type of surgery is not dangerous nor is it unduly costly. Oh, it may cost you a few hundred dollars but that's hardly more than the cigaret smoking couple burn up every 12 months on the ends of their fags.

So learn to employ "horse sense" in facing life. If modern science can remove or reduce your defects, take advantage of all that physicians, dentists and other experts can offer.

Then cultivate compensating charms, for popularity and happy marriage are not based on an eye or lack thereof, nor on legs, hands or teeth.

No siree! Your attractive personality is a mosaic of many items. And most of them are capable of being cultivated AFTER birth.

Watch tomorrow's follow-up to see how Nell changed her personality. Scrapbook these cases for future use as morale builders.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped self-addressed envelope and 3c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Ludington Sailor to Make 1 Choice Pick Unknown Soldiers of World War II, Korea

EPINAL, France (AP) — A gray-haired general, veteran of three assault landings, lays a wreath on an unmarked coffin today to choose the unknown soldier of the European war.

The plain, flag-draped casket, selected by chance from a row of 13 by Maj. Gen. Edward O'Neill of St. Albans, Vt., then begins a stately journey to the middle of the Atlantic for a rendezvous with the body of a fallen comrade of the World War II Pacific campaign.

As they lie side by side aboard the missile cruiser Canberra on May 26, Navy Hospital Corpsman First Class William R. Charette of Ludington, Mich., will choose one to be the Unknown Soldier of World War II. The other will receive a simple burial at sea.

The body of a third serviceman, the Unknown Soldier of the Korean War, will be placed aboard a destroyer along with the World War II choice. They will go on for burial next to the Unknown Soldier of World War I.

The body selected by O'Neill today was that of one of the 2,687 World War II servicemen killed in Europe and North Africa whose identities never were established.

The ceremony at the U.S. Cemetery here will match two others at the Military Cemetery in Honolulu. M. Sgt. Ned Lyle of Erwin, Tenn., who won the Distinguished Service Cross in Korea, will select the body of the Unknown Soldier of the Korean War on May 15. The next day Air Force Col. Glenn T. Eagleston of Alhambra, Calif., will pick the serviceman to represent the Pacific war dead.

College Coed Killed as Lost Car Crashes

FINDLAY, Ohio (AP) — Four college students who took the wrong highway while returning to Richmond, Ind., from Oberlin, Ohio, were involved in an automobile accident Sunday. One was killed.

The Ohio Highway Patrol said the four were taking a shortcut across a county road in hopes of picking up the right highway when the collision occurred at an intersection five miles southwest of here.

Mary Jane Harvey, 18, of Media, Pa., like the others a student at Earlham College in Richmond, was dead on arrival at a hospital here. She was thrown out of the car.

The driver, Arlen L. Bass, 23, of Midland, Mich., escaped with cuts and bruises and was released after treatment.

Two other passengers, Carol Darter, 18, of Stamford, Conn., and James P. Nussbaum, 19, of Richmond, were hospitalized with minor injuries.

The four students had taken part in a music program at Oberlin College, police said, and were on their way back to their own college.

2 Young CAP Cadets Die in Plane Crash

BATTLE CREEK (AP) — Two young Civil Air Patrol flyers were killed yesterday when their light plane lost a wing and crashed in Leroy Township near Battle Creek's Kellogg Airport.

Dead were Dennis Madison, 16, a Civil Air Patrol cadet, and Phillip Cain, 20, both of Battle Creek.

An eyewitness saw a wing fall off the Taylorcraft plane at a height of about 500 feet, State Police said.

The aircraft plummeted into a field about two miles south of Kellogg Field. The engine was jammed two feet into the ground and the wing was found about three-fourths of a mile from the fuselage.

Police said it was not known who was piloting the plane at the time.

Americans Told to Stay Indoors

Weekend Rioting Erupts in Lebanon; U.S. Library Sacked, Four Die

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Americans were warned to stay off the streets today as the pro-Western government of this tiny Middle Eastern country grappled with a violent wave of Arab nationalism.

Months of mounting political tension erupted over the weekend with the burning of the U.S. Information Agency's library in Tripoli. The rioters destroyed every book and piece of furniture.

Rival political gangs went into action there Saturday. Reports said they stole guns from a shop and turned them on each other. The library was swept up in the rioting which killed at least four persons and injured 30.

The groups said to be involved were the Communists, the small Baath party and the outlawed Syrian Social Nationalist party.

The shooting broke out again yesterday, but security police quickly re-established tight control. Patrols moved through the city, enforcing a dusk-to-dawn curfew.

Antigovernment forces also tossed bombs here in the capital but they caused little damage. Isolated bombings have plagued Beirut for months.

The Tripoli rioting was touched off by a call for a general strike to protest the assassination last Thursday of Nasib Matni, Beirut publisher who opposed President Camille Chamoun and backed the policies of President Nasser of the United Arab Republic.

Nasser's radio stations in Cairo and Damascus meanwhile broadcast appeals for an open rebellion in Lebanon.

Dash to Reach His Dying Son, 14, Fails for Dad

DALLAS (AP) — An airliner bringing Navy Cmdr. Leonard Robinson from Boston set down at Fort Worth yesterday at 2:55 p. m.

His son, Leonard Jr., 14, died at almost the same minute in a Dallas hospital, 25 miles away. He was shot in the head accidentally Saturday while bird hunting with two youthful companions near Waxahachie.

The father, assigned to the aircraft carrier Wasp, had started a cross-country dash in hope of arriving before the boy died.

Another son, Jimmy, 8, is at Boston's Children's Hospital to await surgery for a tumor behind his eyes.

The boys' mother died of a brain hemorrhage two years ago, and Robinson has remarried. Leonard Jr. was staying with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar McElroy, at Waxahachie.

Red Heckling Ineffective

Colombia Workers Hear Nixon's Liberty Message

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP)—Shrugging off Communist hecklers, Vice President Nixon prepared to carry his liberty message direct to Colombia's workers today as crowds continued their enthusiastic welcome.

Police kept a tight rein on Colombia's 5,000-member Communist party, which obviously was determined to create as much of a disturbance as possible. Authorities arrested at least 12 demonstrators yesterday after police dispersed some 200 jeering, hooting students in a crowd of 2,000 and another group of about 80 youths in the crowd of 1,000 which watched Nixon put a wreath on the statue of Simon Bolivar.

Generally, however, the Colombian crowds were friendly or enthusiastic. Communist-led students reportedly had planned to pelt Nixon with coffee beans and rotten fruit, but the best they managed was to chant anti-U.S. slogans while a military band played the Star Spangled Banner. Mounted police with drawn sabers scattered the troublemakers.

Encouraged by his reception in Bogota, Nixon observed later that

Kindergarten Enrollment Set

To Register Tomorrow for Fall Semester at Several Area Schools

Registration of children who will enter kindergarten in the Avondale school this coming fall will be held this week.

A kindergarten round-up will be held tomorrow at 1 p.m. at the Stiles Elementary School, Auburn Heights.

Mrs. Irma Nutter, principal of the Avondale school, said all parents of kindergarten age children in the area are invited to attend.

Wednesday, there will be a combined meeting of the Auburn Heights and Stone elementary schools for enrollment of all 5-year-olds at 10 a.m. The meeting will be held at the Stone Baptist Church.

Friday, enrollment for those entering the Elmwood Elementary school will be held at 10 a.m. Parents planning to enroll kindergarten children in the Avondale school this fall should register them now, school officials say. To be eligible to enter school, the child must be five years of age on or before Dec. 31. The birth certificate is needed for registration.

8,332 Vehicles Safety Checked

Issue Circular Stickers of Approval to 8,059 in Week-Long Drive

The 1958 Pontiac Safety Check program ended Friday evening with a total of 8,332 vehicles examined.

Of these, 8,059 passed and received the circular sticker which showed they had "joined the circle of safety."

Some 240 cars failed the test in one or more categories, with 90 of them returning for a second check after they had repaired the defect.

Major defect discovered was burned out license plate light, 86, with tail light next, 67, and headlight third with 31.

Other unsafe equipment found included: brakes, 26; horn, 12; exhaust, 10; wipers, 5; glass, 3; and mirrors, 1. No steering defects were found.

The police also uncovered 13 drivers with no operator's license and 47 with no registration for their car.

They issued a total of 183 warning citations during the five-day check.

The program will continue for the balance of this month at authorized service stations which will display a poster indicating they can issue the safety stickers.

House Group Voting on Reciprocal Trade

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Ways and Means Committee starts showdown voting today on reciprocal trade legislation with the odds seemingly stacked against approval of President Eisenhower's proposals in their present form.

Democratic leaders hoped to hold the line against revisions which would restrict or greatly change the operations of the 24-year-old Trade Agreements Act. But they were also ready to settle for modifications which, though far short of the President's goal, would still preserve the act in what they consider workable form.

Strong opposition has developed from industries which contend they are hurt by foreign imports. Supporters say, however, that the United States sells more abroad than it buys, and must show continued willingness to accept other countries' products.

Red China Nips Russia's Heels

Tito Threatening to Upset Apple Cart for Khrushchev

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP)—Nikita Khrushchev has reportedly warned independence-minded President Tito to toe the Kremlin line lest he undermine the solidarity of the Communist world.

Sources close to the Soviet Embassy said Russian Ambassador Ivan Zamiatina relayed the warning in a letter to Tito when he returned from Moscow Saturday. He brought word the Soviet government had postponed indefinitely President Klement Voroshilov's visit to Yugoslavia.

The Soviet premier was said to have told Tito communism's solidarity depended on Yugoslavia's aligning herself openly with the Moscow bloc.

Zamiatina had reported to Moscow on the Yugoslav party congress at Ljubljana last month at which Tito and his ministers spelled out their independence. Tito's stand touched off a flurry of rebukes from Russia, Red China and Czechoslovakia.

Pravda, the Soviet Communist party newspaper, hinted that Russian economic aid to Yugoslavia might be stopped unless Tito gets into step.

Pravda ran a blast yesterday from the newspaper Voice, organ of little Albania, longtime foe of Yugoslavia. The article accused the Yugoslav Communists of revisionism and pro-imperialism. It charged Tito and his lieutenants with anti-Marxist and anti-Leninist crimes.

Reports that Voroshilov's visit would be called off had circulated for days as the split between Tito and the Kremlin widened. The Yugoslavs went ahead with plans to receive the Soviet leader until the last minute.

WASHINGTON (INS)—Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's position was reported threatened today by rival factions within the Kremlin supported by Red China. Khrushchev has apparently come out on top in a bitter struggle for survival but his authority as premier and first secretary of the Communist Party has been weakened.

They said that new challenges by leaders of rival factions within the Kremlin are expected to continue undiminished.

Communist China, which feared it would be left out of a new "summit" meeting advocated by Khrushchev, reportedly has given strong backing to the premier's rivals in the Kremlin power struggle.

The mounting opposition to Khrushchev's authority has been led by Mikhail A. Suslov, secretary of the powerful Communist Central Committee, and Pyotr N. Pospelov, a party secretary.

A recent meeting to deal with Red China's challenge of Khrushchev's soft policy toward Titoism and his more lenient handling of the Red European satellites led to a tougher attitude by the Kremlin against Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia.

The Soviet Union postponed officially President Klement Voroshilov's visit to Yugoslavia today. The Yugoslavs had prepared for the visit despite reports for several days that Voroshilov's trip would be canceled thus deepening the rift between Marshal Tito and the Kremlin.

Diplomats say Khrushchev's gradual loss of authority in the power struggle became apparent recently when the Kremlin suddenly switched directions on its loud and insistent demands for an immediate East-West "summit" meeting.

Another Nuclear Blast Set Off in Pacific Tests

WASHINGTON (AP)—U. S. scientists set off another nuclear test explosion yesterday in the mid-Pacific. It was at least the second blast in the current series.

A joint announcement by the Atomic Energy Commission and the Defense Department said yesterday's nuclear test detonation took place at the Bikini Atoll. The announcement provided no other details.

Last Wednesday, the AEC confirmed a congressman's report of a nuclear test explosion on April 28.

AEC Chairman Lewis L. Strauss told a National Press Club luncheon last Thursday that official announcements will be made whenever there are nuclear tests "of any significant nature as they occur" during the test series.

There was no indication in yesterday's announcement of what was significant about the blast it reported.

Machine Hurls Stone at Avon Housewife

An Avon Township housewife today is wondering just how valuable a good, hard-working husband really is, according to Oakland County Sheriff's Department reports.

Mrs. Maxine Davis, of 2830 Walbridge St., was watching her husband, David, hard at work mowing the front lawn Sunday morning. Suddenly the power mower hurled a stone at her.

She was treated for lacerations to the right side of her face at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital and released, said deputies.

The amendment would change lots 11, 12, 13 and 14 of Swayers Keego Harbor subdivision from residential to commercial use.

Calls Provision 'Weird,' 'Silly'

Williams Approves Bill, but He Doesn't Like It

LANSING (AP)—Gov. Williams put his signature on the general government appropriations bill, his office said today, but he assailed various provisions as "weird," "unfortunate" and "silly."

The measure grants $38,383,000 for general government operations and debt service including $15,865,000 for agency running expenditures in 1958-59.

The latter figure compares with $16,585,000 in the current fiscal year.

The governor, who was fishing in the Upper Peninsula today, left behind a statement ripping the bill.

He said the legislature gave itself $286,000 more than last year, taking into account sums lawmakers appropriated to supplement what they originally voted themselves for 1957-58.

Williams described as "unfortunate" a $61,000 cut in funds for the State Economic Development Dept., mostly in money for national industry promotion work.

He noted the legislature's service bureau director's salary was raised from $15,000 a year to $17,000, but lawmakers again set salaries of the attorney general, secretary of state, state treasurer and auditor general, all elective officers, at $12,500.

"It doesn't make sense to me that we pay the state's chief law enforcement and fiscal officers $4,500 a year less than the legislative auditor," he said.

"The silly appropriation of $500 to prepare Michigan for the St. Lawrence, seaway is included in this bill," the governor said. He had requested $45,000 for the program.

Mother, Young Lover Arraigned in Murder

IONIA (AP)—A young mother and her youthful lover accused in the bizarre slaying and backyard burial of her husband face justice court arraignment today on charges of first-degree murder.

Ionia prosecutor Ronald Van Buren expected to bring warrants today against Mrs. Marian McNinch, 26, and Larry Fisher, 17, in the April 12 rifle slaying of Robert McNinch, 26, 52-year-old Belding factory worker.

The woman and Fisher have given formal statements to Van Buren admitting Fisher fired the fatal shot from a .22 caliber rifle into McNinch's head as the result of a plot with the slain man's wife.

Fisher had lived with the McNinch couple and their six children for about six months.

Police said the plot to kill McNinch was formed after he ordered Fisher from the home. The two were arrested after discovery of McNinch's body last Thursday.

Flint Driver Killed

FLINT (AP)—Richard I. Caputo, 28, of Flint, was killed today when his car struck a utility pole in downtown Flint. Police said Caputo apparently fell asleep at the wheel.

Bob Considine Says:

Peruvian Incident Shows U.S. Policy Errs

NEW YORK (INS) — "Courage, throwing the blame on the neighbor to the north." In an other age and era, the conduct of this unprincipled and apparently unpunished mob would have brought repercussions of varied types down on the heads of the Peruvians. But we suspect that this time it will serve chiefly to remind us we had best think a little more about these enraged and misguided people than—say—about a bum like Tito.

The President might also have added that Dick Nixon rendered his country a service by being stoned and spat upon by those people. The unpleasant and dangerous acts have served to remind us that in our enormous effort to win the minds and loyalties of the peoples of Europe and Asia we have woefully snubbed and ignored needy and appallingly exploited Latin Americans at our doorstep.

It is easy to say that these indecent attacks, and the desecration of an American flag placed on the grave of a Lima memorial, were the work of Communists. The uprising against a North American official on a mission of peace and friendship surely had Communist backing, if not actual participation. But as Joseph U. Hinshaw, the INS reporter at the scene, wrote:

"Limenos were quick to point out that they deplored the outrage and that it did not represent the sentiment of the majority of the Peruvian people.

"But when the chips were down, virtually nobody rushed to the defense of their guest. Lying deep beneath the surface is the basic illness of a society which consists of 400 rich, proud Peruvian families on one side and millions living on the verge of starvation on the other.

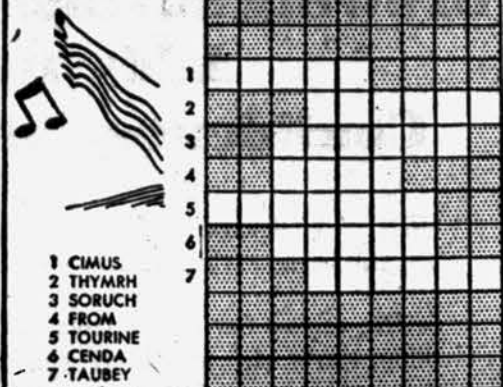

"The haughtiness of this society is exemplified by the fact that many will not attend American Embassy functions because such functions are not 'high society' enough. This society still does not care much for the welfare of the poverty-stricken millions even though a social revolution has hit the world and the millions are demanding better living conditions.

"In such circumstances it is always easier to foster the belief among the people that their lot would be better if not for the policies of the United States — thus what you can't see can hurt you...

HAVE YOUR HEADLIGHTS AIMED NOW!

How to Tell Whether You Have Modern Headlights
Look at the lens of your headlamps. If there are three aiming points moulded into the lens, you have modern headlamps that can be aimed quickly, accurately and give much more light. They're on all new cars. Replacements are available in both conventional and dual types.

Do you drive at night in a hit-or-miss fashion? Chances are you do, if your headlights have not been aimed in the last six months. Improperly aimed headlights can rob you of as much as 80% of your available light, causing you to overdrive your lights even at legal speed limits.

You can't tell whether your lights need aiming just by looking at them. There's only one way to be absolutely sure of a full margin of safety. Have your headlights checked and aimed periodically. Stop at your General Motors dealer's or wherever you see the AIM TO LIVE sign. And if your headlights are three years old, replace them with the new, modern headlamps (with three aiming points on the lens). They will give you 15% more light in a far better pattern, and they can be aimed quickly and accurately.

More Than $822 Million Help Fight Recession

States Quick to Make Use of New Highway Funds

By INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE

WASHINGTON — A spot check showed today many states are taking quick advantage of the 600 million dollars in federal funds made available by the recently enacted highway bill to create thousands of new jobs.

A survey of some two dozen states indicated that many of them will begin to feel the impact on their economies of accelerated road-building within a few months.

It is too soon to tell exactly how many jobs will be created, but it will probably be many thousands.

Experts estimate that for every million dollars actually spent on highway construction, one year of work is provided for 115 men, 55 on the roads themselves and another 60 in steel, lumber and other such "supply" industries.

The 600 million dollars in emergency funds authorized by the Highway Act which President Eisenhower signed into law April 16 really represents an outlay of more than $22 million, since the bill requires the states to add money of their own to the sums from Washington.

The INS survey showed that some states had been planning to step up their road-building programs even before congressional passage of the Highway Act. The immediate increase in federal funds, however, has served to speed up many projects.

The survey also showed a rise in the number of public works programs being undertaken by many states as they wage their individual anti-recession campaigns.

But much of what is being done or about to be done was planned even before the recession in order to meet the demands of expanding populations. The economic downturn has merely hastened the cumbersome processes that get building projects off the drawing boards.

On the other hand, the recession has forced at least one state—Florida — to cut back its public works plans. A 50 per cent slash in building funds was ordered to head off an estimated 60 million dollar deficit inflicted by business conditions and the winter freeze.

But even Florida reported a sharp boost in road-building. Its nine and one-half million dollar slice of the federal highway pie will help it to spend 334 million dollars on roads during the next fiscal year, 75 millions more than during the current one.

Here are further highlights of the INS survey: Pennsylvania says it expects to spend an extra 256 million dollars on roads and public works projects, providing employment to 26,000 more workers.

New York will step up its highway plans by 54 million dollars. Its public works projects by another 75 millions.

Church Supports Indicted Powell

Solon-Preacher Fails to Appear for 2 Scheduled Sermons in Harlem

NEW YORK — Rep. Adam Clayton Powell Jr. (D-NY), under indictment on charges of federal income tax evasion, has the support of leaders of his Harlem congregation.

Powell, pastor of the Abyssinian Baptist Church for 20 years, did not appear yesterday to deliver two scheduled sermons.

His followers jammed the Harlem church. At the end of the noon service the ministers, board of deacons, board of trustees, women's committee, men's committee and the staff of the church passed a resolution affirming their full support of the Negro minister.

Powell has shunned public appearances since a federal grand jury indicted him last Thursday on three counts of income tax violations. If convicted on all counts he would face a possible maximum penalty of 30 years in prison and $30,000 in fines.

The congressman's troubles have been compounded by Democratic party moves to refuse him renomination.

Powell reportedly is planning a full slate of candidates if Tammany Hall drops him.

An overflow crowd of more than 3,000 appeared for each service yesterday at his Negro church, which has one of the largest Protestant congregations in the country.

Meanwhile, an investigation seems likely into why government counsel delayed 14 months in presenting material on Powell's tax affairs to the grand jury.

Gordon Lasater, Texas rancher who specializes in Brown Swiss bulls and heifers, has 400,000 acres and 20,000 beef cattle. He lives at Falfurrias, Tex.

Texas contracted for less than 224 million dollars worth of road-building in 1957, had expected to increase that figure to 250 millions in 1958 but, because of the Highway Act, will be able to boost the sum to 285 millions. Estimated number of new jobs: 5,000.

Indiana, which had planned a record 120-million-dollar road program for 1958, has already let contracts totaling nearly 60 millions and believes the figure will actually climb to 135 millions by next Jan. 1. But much of the actual work won't begin until 1959.

Iowa awarded less than 94 million dollars in highway contracts last year, expects 136 millions this year, giving jobs to an estimated 1,000 more persons.

Ohio had planned, even before passage of the Highway Act, to contract for 400 million dollars worth of road-building in 1958, 25 million dollars it spent on its roads in 1957.

Public works projects are expected to cost another 350 millions. Massachusetts has boosted its public works program five million dollars since last year and expects to double the 71 millions it spent on roads in 1957.

The state of Washington reports it will be able to spend 13 and one-half million dollars more on its roads during the 1959 fiscal year than it had anticipated before passage of the Highway Act. Oklahoma's road construction bill in 1957 was 40 million dollars. It will be about 100 millions in 1958.

Minnesota is stepping up its highway building from about 45 million dollars worth last year to about 83 millions this year.

North Dakota, which as a predominantly agricultural state has not felt the recession much, nevertheless is doubling this year the worth of road-building in 1958, 25 million dollars it spent on its roads in 1957.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery

Finds Healing Substance That Relieves Pain, Stops Itching as it Shrinks Hemorrhoids

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain—without surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months! In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne*)—the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H.* Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H suppositories or Preparation H ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug counters. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

The words are cold and legal, but between the lines...

This, too, is the language of love

What do they really say—those long, legal paragraphs in a life insurance policy?

Most of them are pledges. Iron-clad legal pledges, strong as the law of the land.

In most policies, the company pledges this: to help provide a wife's support if her husband should die.

But, reading between the lines, they are pledges the husband makes to his wife. He says, in effect, "I pledge to you my continued care and support, if I should not always be with you."

Or sometimes—"I pledge my care and support as long as you shall live."

Yes—this is the language of love.

Tell Your Guests of Ban

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: I am in the mid-twenties and living at home with my parents. I have many friends and would like very much to ask them to my house on occasion but hesitate to do so because my father strenuously objects to anyone smoking in the house. Would it be rude to ask them not to smoke?"

Answer: I don't know when I've had a more difficult question to answer because a majority of young people today take smoking for granted and some would even go so far as to refuse to go to a party where they couldn't smoke. Whether to tell them beforehand or ask them after they get there to please not smoke, is an unhappy situation either way.

But as your father so seriously objects, and you can hardly go against his wishes in his house, it will certainly be best to tell anyone you wish to invite of your father's ban against their smoking so that they will not accept if they seriously mind this restriction.

MYRNA WILSON

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Wilson of Williams Lake announce the engagement of their daughter, Myrna, to John Lee, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Lee of Sheffield avenue. A September wedding is planned.

Society Installs Officers

Mrs. Oscar Forslund was installed as president of Xi Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma Society which met in the James K boulevard home of Mrs. Louis Snyder.

Other officers are Mrs. Harold Laudenslager, first vice president; Mrs. Rudolph Kempf, second vice president; Mrs. Maynard Stephens, recording secretary; Mrs. Elmer Huntley, treasurer; Ora Hallenbeck, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. John DeCou, parliamentarian.

Final plans were made at the Friday meeting for attending the state convention in Jackson May 23 through 25.

Under the direction of Vera Mae Adams, members participated in a service of rededication. Assisting the hostess were Miss Adams, Joyce Sweet and Mrs. DeCou.

"Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please answer the following question on wedding etiquette? 'A' claims that a note of thanks should be written to the parents of the bridegroom for a substantial check received from them as a wedding present. 'B' claims that a note of thanks to the bridegroom's parents is not only unnecessary but ridiculous. I would like to know who is right."

Answer: Unless they live at such a distance that they cannot come home to the wedding, the bridegroom's parents should be thanked appreciatively in person and not by note.

"Dear Mrs. Post: I have just learned of the marriage of a friend of mine and would like to send him a message of good wishes. Should I address it to him alone, or to Mr. and Mrs.? His bride is a complete stranger to me."

Answer: Write to him and send good wishes to both.

Dear Abby . . .

Love Letters Not Barred

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

"DEAR ABBY: Whoever told you that a stockade prisoner could write to his sweetheart has never been in the U. S. Army stockade. I've been in stockade many times and they only let me write one letter a week, and it had to be to my next of kin. Please correct yourself, Abby, so that poor guy in stockade can square himself with his sweetheart."

ABBY

correct yourself, Abby, so that poor guy in stockade can square himself with his sweetheart."

OLD STOCKADER

DEAR STOCKADER: There have been some changes made! On Sept. 24, 1957 under Regulation 633-5, the U. S. Army stockade prisoner is permitted to write as many letters as he wishes, to whom-ever he chooses—and it says in very small print "barring circumstances that could threaten the national security."

"DEAR ABBY: I am so ashamed of myself I don't know what to do. I went out with a wonderful fellow and we clicked right away. I wanted so much for him to ask me out again that I gave him everything he wanted on our first date. I think he lost respect for me because he hasn't called me up since. How can I let him know I really fell for him and don't act like that with every fellow I meet?"

A SORRY GIRL

DEAR SORRY: Chalk this one up to experience, Honey. Your chances for a fresh start with this Romeo are small, but next time you fall for a fellow and want to see him again—don't lose the key to the control room.

"DEAR ABBY: Two years ago I fell in love with and married a divorced man. He had two boys, ages 8 and 10, and his wife took them. His ex-wife is getting married again but the man she is marrying doesn't want to raise her boys so she thinks she can palm them off on me."

"My husband wants the boys but why should I tie myself down with another woman's children? I like to get around, too. My husband and I are on the verge of separating over this. Don't you think children should be raised by their OWN mother and not a stepmother?"

UPSET

DEAR UPSET: Children should be raised by someone who wants them. Many stepmothers have made better mothers than "real" mothers. If neither you nor the children's mother wants them, they could probably find more love in a foster home. You are both disgustingly selfish.

"DEAR ABBY: Why is it that when a woman marries a man older than herself nobody thinks anything of it, but when a man marries an older woman everybody raises his eyebrows and has a lot to say on the subject?"

"For 22 years I have been married to a woman who is 12 years older than myself. There was a lot of talk and opposition at the time of our marriage. Everyone told me that she would be old before I was, and it wouldn't work out, but we didn't let the ignorance of others influence us. For those who have this problem, take my word for it—it is the PERSON who counts. Age is secondary."

Stronger Sex Is Weaker

Wives Must Help Husbands Stay Healthy

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN
Scientists tell us that old age is in a way, a mistake. What a mistake! It is one few of us want to make if we can help it. It is true that the clock of age is being turned back constantly. I, myself, have no doubt that the time will come when men and women will be as young at 80 as they now are at 40.

To me this is much more exciting than flying to the moon. I would much rather fly about this orb with all my sense intact and plenty of pep, than visit another planet. I do not feel that I have yet had time to adequately investigate and fully enjoy this earth on which we live.

MUCH INFORMATION

There is already much information concerning prolonging the youthful portion of life. Men and women should be at the peak of their powers in their fifties and sixties and yet many of them begin to feel their first stiff joints, twinges, the effects of high blood pressure, and general depression in their forties. It is our fault because we have not applied what is already known to our daily lives.

One bit of advice is "Don't stuff but be sure that you have a well-balanced diet." At this age folks (especially women) are apt to go to one extreme or the other. Either they eat a lot of rich food because they can afford it or they neglect food because their children are no longer at home or they live alone.

Daily regular exercise is now conceded to be of the greatest importance in side-stepping many of the ills of older years and in building energy.

Then, of course, we have the psychosomatic approach. There is no longer any doubt that our emotions have a terrific effect on our physical selves, that boredom or emotional distress can make us ill.

They say that women are the trailer sex! Yet the life expectancy of men is six years shorter than that of women.
Men have less resistance to most diseases. There are more masculine victims of all of the leading causes of death; the two exceptions being cancer and diabetes.

Men are way out in front when it comes to heart disease and ul-

It's the tucking that gives this dress its inestimable style, but it's the cut that assures the beautiful fit. Have your fabric tucked beforehand (or do it yourself since the accurate notches and perforations on the pattern make it simple); the bodice and sleeves are done with narrow regularity, the skirt with gentle graduation.

Choose silk or rayon crepe, georgette, voile, shantung, any of the new novelty weaves in 45 or 50 inch widths. If you're plotting to take this along on a trip, here's a packing tip: Roll it over bunched

hem. Saves room and pressing.

'Giving In' Ignores Child's Real Need

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE
If Mrs. E.'s 5-year-old girl doesn't get what she demands, she has tantrums. Mrs. E. writes, "There's never any pleasing her. This week I bought her and her little sister ruffled aprons. She chose the red one. But as soon as I tied the blue one on her little sister, she demanded it, too. She carried on so I had to give it to her."

Please, please let us stop accepting angry little children's idea of love.

Though Mrs. E.'s 5-year-old is sure that love means acquiring two aprons, this view of it is inexperienced and unreliable. If we accept it by giving her the two aprons, there may never be any "pleasing" her. For what she is seeking is not two aprons but respect for herself and her ability to make good choices.

Her tantrum was despair of her ability to make good choices. When this despair explodes in screams and kicks, it cannot be comforted by material objects. It's comforted by restored self-respect—by the child's experience of herself as a fine chooser of aprons.

So as soon as she can listen, we say quietly, "That red apron exactly matches the cherries on your new dress. In fact, I think you know it will go beautifully with all your dresses—and that's why you picked it out."

"However, we can go upstairs and see how you like it with them. If you decide another color will go better with them, then we'll get an apron the color you want."

A jealous child is one who has lost self-esteem. We do not help him recover it by agreeing that his brother's possessions are more desirable than his. Such agreement supports his view of himself as deprived, less fortunate than his brother. It encourages his envy instead of restoring respect for himself and what he possesses.

We give jealous children the things they demand because we ourselves define love as getting material objects from someone.

This materialized view of love is a cause of emotional illness. Today psychiatrists' offices are jammed with angry people who have experienced love as acquiring things instead of as a restorer of self-respect. Indeed, there's no way of pleasing these people, either until their doctors can help them accept their anger as righteous wrath at the deceit practiced upon them.

Beef, Vegetables Blend in Japanese Sukiyaki

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor
Oriental cooking is often a combination of meat and vegetables. This recipe for Sukiyaki is just such a recipe. It is a good one to serve for Sunday night supper.

Our cook today is Mrs. Joseph Ernst. Besides being a good cook, she is a fine grandmother, both to her own five grandsons and to other small children. She does church work and crochets.

SUKIYAKI
By Mrs. Joseph Ernst
2 pieces beef suet about 2x1
1 Bermuda onion, sliced
1 bunch celery chopped
2 cans (8 oz) sliced mushrooms, drained
1 package frozen spinach, slightly cooked
2 cups canned bean sprouts or sliced green beans
1 bunch green onions with 3 inches of tops on 1/2 cup warm beef or chicken broth
1 pound round steak, sliced thin

OR 1/2 frozen chip steaks
1/2 cup soy sauce
Rub heated frying pan with suet and leave suet in pan. Two tablespoons shortening may be used in place of suet.

Add sliced onions and cook until they soften and begin to take on a pale golden color. Then add other vegetables. Cook only until vegetables are thoroughly heated. Then add enough warm broth to cover bottom of pan.

Push the vegetables to one side of pan and cook the meat. Do not add all at once, but a little at a time after each amount has lost its red color. This takes only a few minutes.

Season with soy sauce and pepper. Cook 2 or 3 minutes longer. Serve with rice or Chi-may be used in place of suet.

Socialites Worst Parents, She Maintains

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE
NEW YORK (INS)—"It is my observation that socialites make the worst parents—much worse than middle-class mothers and fathers," said Mrs. Henry Duncan Wood, socialite.

"They drink too many cocktails, that's the main reason they haven't time for their children. I know because, frankly, I am in the register myself—a Mayflower family, went to Spence, was gay when everybody else was gay, and so on.

"Furthermore," snorted Mrs. Wood, shrugging off her full-length mink coat, "I believe I know why so-called 'progressive education' became so popular. It was designed to allow the adults to do as they please, not the children."

The indignant four-hundredite went on to give her proof: "I run dancing classes for nice little children. It is the only way to instill a child with manners and poise and coordination, really, sending them to dancing class at an early age. And whenever we have a party for the parents, less than 30 per cent of the wealthy ones show up."

"Disgraceful, isn't it? The professional parents and middle-income families turn out, but the Blue Book?"

She shook her head till the silk poppies on her hat fluttered in the breeze. "They are simply not conscientious, and it's shameful."

Mrs. Wood, who looks a good bit like Billie Burke and talks a Nancy Astor storm, says the trouble with most children today is that their parents haven't taught them anything, "except how to dress themselves and eat. And they don't do either of those very adeptly."

"They have no manners, no poise, no coordination. Their parents are afraid of them, in I should say 75 per cent of the cases, and why is that? Because progressive education has made parents afraid to give orders. With no orders, the child has no respect for adults. No wonder they run wild when they're older."

After teaching over 5,000 children, from the ages of "three and one-half" to 15, to dance and behave like little men and women, Mrs. Wood is convinced that telling a child to sit in silence for five minutes is still more powerful than a thousand words.

It's a good compromise between the whip and the laissez-faire attitude, she insists. "I started my own dancing lessons at the age of five," she remembers. "In Mr. Dodsworth's class. He used to switch our ankles if we were naughty. When he died, we were all rather delighted about it, and we moved to the Plaza."

"Now he was carrying discipline too far. Just as parents are selling it too short."

Boys and girls of five years and up are learning, in Mrs. W's classes, how to do the schottische, the Viennese waltz and the fox trot. They are fined 10 cents each time they show up without white gloves. They rarely have to kick in.

Whether this is out of respect for teacher or money, she couldn't say.

Social Service Center More Than Its Name

By GEORGE T. TRUMBULL JR.

The name of Pontiac's Salvation Army rehabilitation center—Men's Social Service Center—is sort of deceiving. The men just aren't there for social recreation. This fact is gleaned from a six-months report released on the center last October. For instance, the 181 troubled men that voluntarily sought help at 118 W. Lawrence St. collected, processed, baled and sold the following in six months: 1,792,535 pounds of newspapers, scrap paper and magazines; 149,840 pounds of rags; and 207,700 pounds of scrap metal.

To keep the stomachs of these men filled, so they could do this work as part of their rehabilitation, the center dished out 25,546 meals to the men.

The men also kept busy in the many workshops in the center restoring thousands of household discards so that they might be sold in the Center's Red Shield Store.

And as Major Ernest Alder, manager of the Pontiac center, points out, "What is paid by the public for these restored articles makes it possible to make the operation of the center completely self-sustaining."

It was not all work and no play for the homeless and handicapped men at the center.

After work activities what proved to be the most popular were chapel services, of which there were 32 conducted during the six months. Attending these were 1,482 men.

Next in line of popularity were regular showings of motion pictures. A television set and reading room also attracted almost constant attention.

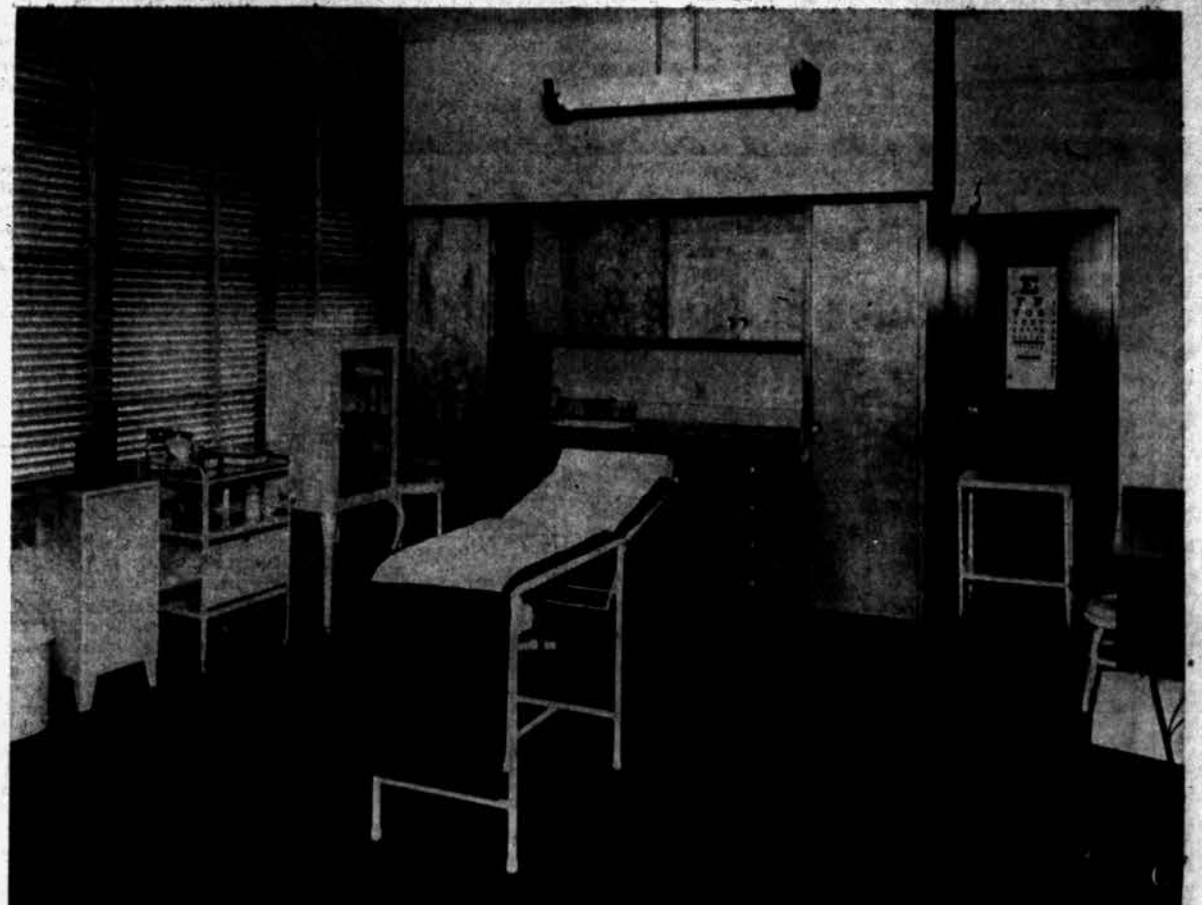

There were also Bible classes, meetings of the Alcoholic Anonymous, and orientation classes to help the men eventually return to a normal way of life.

Figures reveal that 126 out of the 181 men left the center to accept outside employment, return to their families, or accept employe status at the center.

"It is our hope to be able to render even a greater and more widespread service to those in the community who seek our assistance in the future," said Major Alder, a veteran of 27 years in the Salvation Army.

He listed the following items which were sold during the six months at the Red Shield Store: 28,345 garments; 3,935 pairs of shoes; 3,222 pieces of furniture; 3,311 books; and 9,637 miscellaneous articles.

"And repairing the great percentage of these items keeps the minds of the men occupied and also teaches them a trade which someday they might take up," said the manager.

MEDICAL EXAMINATION STATION — One of the first stops for each man that reports to the Men's Social Service Center of the Salvation Army at 118 W. Lawrence St. is this room. Here a doctor gives each man a pre-admission physical.

WHO SAID IT WON'T WORK? — Many families who discard household items as junk, would be surprised to find what the men at the Pontiac Men's Social Service Center of the Salvation Army can do to restore them to use. Here two men work over washing machines which will eventually end up for sale at the Center's Red Shield Store.

Huron Street Crash Injures Four Persons

Four persons were injured in a two-car accident on W. Huron street in Waterford Township late Friday night.

Jay D. Bates, 28, of Crystal Falls, told Waterford Township police he was traveling east on Huron when a car driven by Ronald J. Savage, 24, of 27 Seneca St., Pontiac, crashed into the rear of the Bates car.

Savage said he applied his brakes but could not avoid the accident. All of the injured, who were treated and released from Pontiac General Hospital, were passengers in the Bates auto.

Besides Bates, they were Dorothy Faue, 20, Cadillac; Gale MacLaren, 22, of 34 Delaware Ave., and Grace Lehmann, 19, of Bellevue.

also go to the State Amvets beauty contest to be held in Bay City June 26.

If she should win the state crown, she would then go to the national contest this summer in St. Louis.

The deadline for all entries has been set at Wednesday. The new queen will be crowned by the 1936 winner, Nancy Harlyvetich, of 5140 Crooks Rd.

Last year's winner, Stephanie Hill, 18, of Waterford Township, is in California at the present time.

City Policemen Crack Pistol Shots

By HAROLD S. COHEN

It is no secret in Michigan among criminals that if you are looking for a gun fight, Pontiac is not the place to start one.

The reason is not hard to find. Every officer on the force is a marksman, and many are exceptionally fine shots.

RANGE OFFICER DEDICATED

A large measure of credit for this state of affairs goes to a dedicated officer, Robert W. Verhine, the department's range officer and gun instructor.

On the force since 1920, Verhine, 31, has always been interested in shooting and guns. In 1925, under Police Chief Herbert W. Straley, he was assigned the task of bringing up the shooting performance of the department.

Once each month every officer must demonstrate his skill on the pistol range. To qualify as a marksman, he must record a score of 200 or better in three events — regular firing at a bullseye target, timed firing at a target and timed double-action firing at a silhouette.

Last month, only four officers scored under 200, and they shot 195 or better.

The best shots on the force today are Lt. Harry Nye, Ted

10 ON PISTOL TEAM

These men and four others make up the department's 10-man pistol team which regularly competes in state and national events.

"Considering that we shoot against Class A teams picked from such large forces as Detroit's and the Michigan State Police, we do very well," Verhine said.

"Give us two more years, and Pontiac will have as fine a team as there is in Michigan, regardless of size," he added.

OTHER GROUPS PRACTICE

In addition to the team, other groups practice at the police range which is located in the basement of the new Public Safety Building.

GMC Truck and Coach sends its plant guards over for instruction and practice, and auxiliary officers on the Pontiac department and Oakland County Sheriff's deputies use it as well.

Verhine, himself, learned much of his skill as a marksman from studying his idol, Harry Reeves, the Detroit Police Dept.'s ace shot who holds nine world titles.

MAKES AMMUNITION

Verhine does more than teach marksmanship. He also makes the ammunition that is used in practice.

With reloading equipment, he casts bullets and reloads used casings. The result is that ammunition costs the department 50 cents for 50 rounds, as compared to the commercial price of $3.85.

One week of the month he spends on the reloading of bullets, since the force uses 12,000 rounds a month.

In addition, Verhine is an expert gunsmith and does all the maintenance and repair work for the department.

With material donated by General Motors and other firms he built the temporary range which is now in use, as the city lacked funds to complete the facility when the Safety Building was erected.

A measure of his accomplishments is shown in the departmental marksmanship average. It was 188 when he started his program. Today it is 243.

What this could mean in saved lives if a gun fight occurred on the street, any police officer knows.

EASY DOES IT — Robert H. Verhine, range officer for the Pontiac police, corrects a slight flaw in the grip of Capt. Ray Haerter, GMC plant protection officer. Verhine instructs plant guards, auxiliary policemen and officers from other area departments as well as Pontiac.

BULLET MAKER — Officer Robert Verhine manufactures 38 special caliber cartridges for use by the department in shooting practice. He turns out 12,000 a month. The machine replaces the primers, loads the powder and inserts the bullets which Verhine casts. It costs the department about a penny a cartridge.

Seeking to Save Oats With Tests in Puerto Rico

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico—Some 4,500 varieties and selections from the United States Department of Agriculture's world collection of oats plants are being grown in Puerto Rico in the presence of crown-rust race No. 264, a disease to which some of the best U. S. commercial varieties are highly susceptible.

The tests are expected to reveal resistance, particularly in adult plants, to this race of the fungus infection.

If such plants emerge from the test, an oats-breeding material would be available for development of new varieties of the grain that might withstand the current onslaught of five new crown-rust diseases now threatening the U. S. oats crop.

Drowns Near Beulah

BEULAH — Marshall Crawford, about 55, of nearby Albert, drowned while fishing Sunday when his boat overturned in Upper Hering Lake eight miles south of this Benzie County community.

Add to Spring Chores List:

It's Mailbox Clean-Up Time 'Round Here

During spring cleaning time, Pontiac residents are urged to tidy up their mailboxes.

The annual mailbox improvement program will be observed this year May 19 to 24 in the Pontiac area, according to Acting Postmaster Robert C. Miller, but checkups have already started.

Postmen in the area have already begun checking area mailboxes to see that they are safely accessible, and afford satisfactory protection to the mail.

Boxes which are improperly erected or in unserviceable condition retard delivery of mail and expose it to the weather.

Names of the box-owners should be printed on the side of the box visible to the carrier as he approaches or on the door if the boxes are grouped, he said. The box number is helpful to the mailman and can be inscribed on the box.

Boxes and their supports should also be kept painted unless they are the approved metal.

Miller reminds residents that rural mailboxes must be located on the right side of the road in the direction of travel of the carriers.

Sand, Gravel Haulers OK 3-Year Contracts

By a unanimous vote, sand and gravel haulers of Pontiac Teamsters Local 614 yesterday authorized signing of three-year contracts with about 30 county sand and gravel firms.

Retrospective to April 1, the contracts feature about 35 cents in raises, including 10 cents an hour this year, seven cents next year and seven the third, plus health, welfare and pension plan benefits. About 900 sand and gravel haulers are affected.

Some residents have already been notified by the local post office of the box conditions which need to be corrected to comply with postal regulations.

Approved rural boxes don't have to be provided on mounted routes but they must be of the rural type, located at the curb line and the bottom of the box must be about four feet above the roadway.

When two or more boxes are grouped at one point, and/or are not directly in front of the residence, the names and addresses must be on the front of the boxes.

Disc Jockey to Face Charges in Boston

BOSTON (INS) — New York disc jockey Alan Freed today was reported planning to return to Boston this week to face an indictment charging him with "inciting the unlawful destruction of property."

The indictment was the outgrowth of a rock 'n' roll jam session at Boston Arena May 3, which was followed by outbreaks of violence throughout the city in which 15 persons, including six women, were injured.

Freed told the Boston American in an exclusive interview that his attorney, M. Warren Troob of New York, would come to Boston today or tomorrow to seek the services of a Boston lawyer to represent the disc jockey.

The disc jockey said teen-aged trouble makers were a small minority, adding:

"It's the same all over the nation — not just in Boston. It's a shame that 97 per cent of this country's youngsters must suffer because of the three per cent hoodlum element among teenagers."

Big Plans Backfire

TUCSON, Ariz. (U) — Some Tucson high school students were nabbed just before pulling off a big blast. Sheriff's deputies caught the youths as they were attempting to shove a live 20-millimeter artillery shell into a school incinerator.

About 300 million persons speak English, making it a principle world language.

Hal Boyle Says:

Parents Look at Their Children in Wonder

NEW YORK (AP)—She breaks into the room, glowing with the health of almost-five. No energy higher. Or she sags into the room, like something pushed into our family light from outer dark. At almost-five—her own age and the hour—she has 10-o'clock shadow. She melts upon the doorstep.

worn out human butter, yells for the bathroom, then, later, at the entrance to her bedroom pleads against the indignity of a night that seals a day.

As a father I never am quite sure whether she has been drained by Dracula or whether she is Dracula. Are all children like this? Other parents say yes. I still wonder.

It is one of the great titanic struggles of my life to deal with this thing, this spawn of time, this one-hearted, two-legged, half-shelled egg, this creature that weeps and laughs and cries and plots and is my daughter.

It is called and answers to the name of Tracy. It was optimistically labeled at baptism Margaret Tracy Ann Kathleen Boyle. In play it refers to itself as Susan. In wistful moments it says, "I'm Margaret." This is the name of its paternal grandmother.

It is also known by other aliases. A favorite is Cinderella, in which disguise, when asked to pick up its clothing, it has a set answer, plaintive but genteel, "Well, I can't be everywhere."

One who knows her wonders whether this isn't an understatement. In dealing with a child of this age a grownup has only two worries—what she is up to if you can see her, what she might be up to if you can't see her.

By almost-five you feel you can put some faith in her. You feel she has a sense of caution and won't do these things: Taste medicine, stand in a window, step into the street.

New Mexico Senator Challenged in Primaries

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. (AP)—Sen. Dennis Chavez, an old campaigner, faces a challenge for renomination in the New Mexico primary elections tomorrow, his sixth quest of the Senate post.

Opposing him for the Democratic nomination is Johnny Walker, 46, former state land commissioner and a self-described rough and tumble campaigner himself.

Gov. Edwin L. Mechem is opposed for the Republican nomination. Six Democrats are contesting for the Democratic nomination to challenge Mechem.

He's Drunk in 2 Autos

BLACKPOOL, England (INS)—An unlucky British motorist found himself charged with being drunk in two cars at the same time. He was legally in control of both cars got into the wrong car, parked near his own, and was arrested for being "drunk in charge" of it. But he still had the ignition key of his own car in his pocket and he never "surrendered charge" of it, so he was legally in control of both cars at once.

Industry Aid Talks Set for 33 Counties

MOUNT PLEASANT (AP)—A giant meeting aimed at lending a helping hand to industry-minded communities of northern Lower Michigan will be held here next week.

The meeting, sponsored by the Northern Michigan Development Council, is expected to draw chamber of commerce officials, city, village and county leaders, and industrial development groups from the 33 counties in the northern Lower Peninsula.

The meeting will be held at Central Michigan College May 26. The Michigan Economic Development Dept., Central Michigan College and the U.S. Department of Commerce are assisting in plans for the all-day session.

Ten speakers will discuss various aspects of attracting new industry and expanding existing plants.

Zsa Zsa Admits Trujillo DID Pay for Her Fur Coat

NEW YORK (AP)—On second thought, says Zsa Zsa Gabor, Lt. Gen. Rafael Trujillo Jr., son of the Dominican Republic dictator, did pay for her $17,000 chinchilla coat.

Miss Gabor had flatly denied a first report that the coat was a gift from the 29-year-old Trujillo. "It was a present from me to me," she first said. "From Zsa Zsa to Zsa Zsa."

She said yesterday, that Trujillo had paid for the coat as a sort of thank-you gift for giving a party in his honor in Los Angeles some weeks ago.

Miss Gabor said she had mentioned to Trujillo that she was getting a chinchilla coat.

Trujillo, she said, picked up the tab without telling her.

"I couldn't be more surprised," exclaimed the thrice-married actress.

Miss Gabor described Trujillo, married and the father of six, as a very generous man . . . very nice and polite.

Her mother, Jolie Gabor, admitted she wasn't surprised by the gift.

"So what do you expect—for him to send flowers to a girl like Zsa Zsa?" she asked.

Over the weekend it was disclosed that the dictator's son had bought a $5,600 foreign car for Miss Gabor and an $8,400 model for actress Kim Novak.

Trujillo dated the actresses while on medical leave from the U. S. Army Command and General Staff College at Leavenworth, Kan. He will be graduated May 20.

C. B. de Mille Considers Filming Story of Monk

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS
HOLLYWOOD (INS) — The bet still goes that C. B. de Mille's "Ten Commandments" will gross $100,000,000. What will de Mille do now to try and top himself? His picture "The Greatest Show on Earth" was also a top money-maker.

Well, I happen to know C. B. is considering two properties. One is the story of a Franciscan monk, who gave up everything, married, went back to his faith and was canonized. This is along the familiar religious de Mille trend.

The other idea in his active mind is a re-make of "The Covered Wagon," the first westward motion picture. It's pretty hard to outdo yourself when you are as good as de Mille.

Tyrone Power, sounding happy as a bridegroom should, said that Debbie Reynolds whom he married a few days ago was the kind of wife he always hoped to have. "She's interested in my work and everything allied with the theater, but a career holds no fascination for her," said Ty.

The newlyweds went away over the weekend but will be back tomorrow. Ty told me they leave June 14th for Europe where he'll make "The Stalk" for his own Coda Productions. His partner, Ted Richmond, is already in Europe. When this picture is finished Ty does "Solomon and Sheba" with Gina Lollobrigida for Edward Small and Arthur Hornblow. "This will be filmed in Spain and Israel," said Ty. "So we'll be away for some time."

At the SHARE party I had a chance to talk to and see Gary Cooper and I want to go on record and say that he did not have his face lifted.

He told me that when he knew that he was going to have a cyst on his face removed he called in a top plastic man. He believes that is how the rumor first started. A cyst he had removed a few years ago left a scar and he wanted to make sure that wouldn't happen this time.

The trip Harry Belafonte and his bride are planning to Europe is more than a vacation jaunt. Belafonte plans to scout locations in Spain with the idea of making an independent motion picture based on Hannibal, the Great, the Moor leader who conquered Spain.

The Belafontes sail June 25th on the Ile de France after he finishes "End of the World" for Sol Siegel at MGM.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: There's more to the Ernie Borgnine separation than meets the eye, and because I respect and like Ernie so much I couldn't be sorrier.

Frank Sinatra has a bad throat and was unable to attend the SHARE party. But he sent a check for $10,000 to pay for the entire party so that everything made was clear profit.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

Reds Also Send Aid to Diseased Pakistan

KARACHI, Pakistan (AP)—Russia joined the United States yesterday in sending doctors and medical supplies to help Pakistan fight twin epidemics of cholera and smallpox.

A Soviet plane brought five physicians and 9 tons of smallpox and cholera vaccine and laboratory equipment.

Three American doctors from the U. S. Public Health Service arrived last night and headed for the plague area. The United States also is contributing smallpox vaccine and other laboratory materials.

The specialists, part of a nine-man team, are Drs. Alexander D. Langmuir and Frederick I. Dunn of the Communicable Diseases Center in Atlanta, and Glenn S. Usher, special assistant for medical activities, Washington.

The other six U. S. doctors are to leave Washington tomorrow. Reports from East Pakistan said the epidemic is raging unabated. Health Department sources estimate between 15,000 and 20,000 deaths since the diseases broke out in early April.

Brando's Wife Gives Birth to Son on Mother's Day

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Mrs. Marlon Brando observed Mother's Day by giving birth to a 7-pound, 10-ounce son in Cedars of Lebanon Hospital.

Attendants said the mother, actress Anna Kashfi, the baby—and Brando—all came through in fine shape.

At the couple's surprise wedding last October, Miss Kashfi listed her nationality as Indian.

William Patrick O'Callaghan and his wife, Melinda, of Cardiff, Wales, said later, however, that the actress is their daughter, Joanna. Immigration officials said their records also listed her as Joanna O'Callaghan.

Money Plaguing Many Families Despite Seemingly High Incomes

(What can you do about your money problems? The experts say there are plenty of things that can be done to help you manage your money and debts better, and to ease the family stress and strains money woes produce. This is the first of three articles presenting the findings and helpful hints of a major American service organization concerned with family problems.)

By PATRICIA MCCORMACK
NEW YORK (INS) — "Money flies through our house so fast it gets air sick. What can I do?" The question was put to a family service worker by a lean and somewhat jittery father of five who earns $7,200 a year.

The social worker wasn't startled that he and his family were having difficulty getting sufficient mileage out of a seemingly robust income, because the complaint the father bared is a familiar one to her these days.

The harassed father of five was advised to "consolidate" some of his installment debts with a bank loan. This spread his indebtedness out over a longer period of time. But since the loan payment was less than his monthly installments had been, he at once had more ready cash for day-to-day expenses.

To help such families as these, the Family Service Association of America recently published "The Family in a Money World," a guide for social workers who are being asked more and more often to help seemingly "well-to-do" families.

One third of those seeking help from family service agencies are in money trouble, and the higher the income, the higher the expenses and the greater the dilemma.

On $4,000 a year, it may be just a matter of taxes, mortgage payments and installment obligations for a car, furniture and appliances.

But on $9,000 a year, there is added the cost of "keeping up with the Joneses"—higher taxes, club dues, larger charitable contributions, dancing school for the children, a better car, a better vacation.

Shirley Camper, family life consultant for the Family Service Association, explained that some money troubles may be a symptom of underlying social, psychological or physical illness.

Some times the trouble is that the husband and wife have not reached a mutual understanding about how their money is to be spent.

Even before the current recession started, the Family Service Association had noticed that the perennial rash of money troubles was turning into a slight epidemic.

Clark W. Blackburn, director of the association, has this explanation:

Buying today, paying tomorrow is, in fact, a part of the pattern of living for most American families and an important factor in U.S. economic growth.

It is normal to mortgage the future to enjoy today, but abnormal to "mismanage" credit opportunities.

Money can't buy love or affection, but it has a lot to do with the "un-making" of a happy home.

Prof. Frances L. Feldman, author of the Family Service Association report on "The Family in a Money World," said temper tantrums after the honeymoon often are triggered by money problems.

That's why it's important for husbands and wives to have the proper attitudes toward money.

Years ago the bride contributed a dowry—goods or a sum of money—to the starting of a household. According to Prof. Feldman, the dowry of today's bride is her capacity for earning in the open labor market.

And the first marital money tension may come when the working wife becomes pregnant. There are installment payments to meet and the couple can't face readjusting to the one-income family way of life.

Prof. Feldman said:

The way each marital partner deals with strain or conflict is determined, in large measure, by his or her personality development, emotional maturity and the mutual expectations of the two persons.

"Economic problems, therefore, may serve as a safety valve for unleashing outbursts of feeling related to issues other than money. Economic problems may also be used as a vehicle for provoking negative feelings and attitudes in the partner, or for provoking disagreements and quarrels.

"Such displacement of feeling onto money matters, if allowed to proceed without understanding or control, may spell unhappiness or even disaster for the marriage."

According to the experts, the experts, the husband and wife should agree to work together toward a budget solution and accept the temporary sacrifices involved.

If the dollar-dilemma can't be ironed out, it may be a sign the husband or wife is neurotic. In such a case, according to Prof. Feldman, it's time for medical supervision.

Seeks Tax Exemption at Age 60 Instead of 65

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Albin M. Bentley (R-Mich) asked Congress today to start giving income tax payers an extra $600 exemption at age 60 instead of 65.

Bentley said the savings would help retirement planning and "in most cases would be much more helpful than in waiting until the taxpayer has very probably retired."

Foreign Aid Bill Before House

Backers Hope to Stave Off Cuts of Proposed $3.6 Billion Program

WASHINGTON (AP)—Foreign aid came up for House consideration today with backers hoping to stave off money cuts despite a recession at home and anti-American outbursts overseas.

As it came to floor from the Foreign Affairs Committee, the measure authorized a $3,600,000,000 program for the year starting July 1—$39 million below President Eisenhower's request.

House passage of the authorization bill was expected about Wednesday. This would send the bill to the Senate.

Secretary of State Dulles plugged anew for the program in a Minneapolis speech last night. He said the Soviets are dangling tempting aid offers before underdeveloped countries with the intention of subverting them.

Thus U.S. help abroad is vital to combat "a hostile despotism which seeks to strangle us," Dulles said.

Rep. Thomas E. Morgan (D-Pa.) acting chairman of the House committee, and Rep. John M. Vorys (Ohio), a Republican leader, have said the $3.6-billion-dollar committee cut below what Dulles termed Eisenhower's "rock bottom" figure put the bill in relatively good shape to survive expected House attacks.

But during the past few days there have been rocks hurled at Vice President Nixon in Peru, bullets fired at the American ambassador's residence in Haiti and the torch applied to a U.S. Information Service library in Lebanon.

Also causing concern to aid supporters is a secret General Accounting Office report alleging heavy waste in U.S. dollars for the small Southeast Asia country of Laos, where recent elections came out less than satisfactorily from the American point of view.

$4 Billion Increase Asked in FHA Loans

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Eisenhower administration today asked Congress for a four-billion-dollar increase in the FHA housing loan insurance program.

Albert M. Cole, housing and home finance administrator, presented the request to a Senate banking subcommittee.

Cole said the extra billions are needed to meet a spurt in the demand for Federal Housing Administration insurance loans.

It would boost from three billions to seven billions the amount of insurance the FHA could issue in the period from now to June 30, 1959.

The administration previously had asked for a five-year insurance program of three billion dollars a year, the present rate.

May Wheat, Corn Steady

CHICAGO (AP)—May wheat and corn futures held about steady in early hours of trade dealings today, but most other contracts were weak.

The new crop wheat contracts slid off the most, reflecting the government estimate of last Friday that this year's winter wheat yield will exceed a billion bushels.

The May estimate was about 46 million bushels higher than the estimate of a month ago.

Soybeans were steady to firm, mainly because of limited offerings, dealers said.

After about an hour, wheat was 1/4 cent a bushel higher on the May contract to 1 1/4 cents lower on the new crop deliveries; May $2.18 1/2; corn 1/4 cent higher on May to 1/2 cent lower on the other deliveries; May $1.26 1/2; oats 1/2 cent lower, May 64; rye 1/4 cent to 1 cent lower, May $1.34; soybeans 1/4 cent to 1/2 cent higher, May 2 1/2; and soybean meal, May $12.60.

Waterford to Decide on Paving of Street

Whether Camley street in the southeast section of Waterford Township will be blacktopped or not will be discussed this evening at a public hearing during the weekly meeting of the township board.

The hearing, scheduled for 8:30, will raise the possibility of creating a special assessment district to pay for the proposed street work between Elizabeth Lake road and Edgfield street.

Because they say overflow crowds from Dodge Brothers State Park No. 4 block their streets and driveways, residents of the Cass Lake Highland Subdivision will ask board members tonight to consider erecting 23 no-parking signs.

One last business matter will be a request for a liquor license from the Tel-Dix store at 2135 Dixie Highway.

VATICAN CITY (INS)—Pope Pius XII received Bishop Fulton J. Sheen, auxiliary bishop of New York, in a private audience today.

A motorist who knocked a Pontiac police officer off his motorcycle was arrested for reckless driving Saturday.

Officer Clarence Smith said that he stopped his motorcycle on Saginaw street and a car behind him driven by Moses Reddy Jr., 25, 307 Prospect St., skidded 30 feet and struck him.

Smith was treated at Pontiac General Hospital for bruises of the face. Reddy pleaded not guilty at his arraignment and will go on trial in two weeks.

DETROIT (AP)—The Fruehauf Trailer Co. has reported a drop of 12 million dollars in sales during the first quarter of 1958. The company said Sunday sales for the three-month period ending March 31 were $47,562,862 compared with $59,694,003 for a corresponding period in 1957. The company said it had a net loss of $181,216 for the first quarter against a net profit of $1,351,599, last year.

Billy Graham Finds Fault in Homes of U.S.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A nation is no stronger than its homes and there is something wrong with the American home, Billy Graham told a Mothers Day audience of 16,300 at the Cow Palace last night.

The evangelist noted there is one divorce for every 3 1/2 marriages in the nation and one for every two in San Francisco.

"It shows there is more unhappiness here than in any other city in the world," Graham declared as he opened the third week of his San Francisco crusade.

"The Bible teaches that marriage is a miracle," he said. "It is a serious, lifelong step and in God's sight is a sacred vow."

Graham told wives to subordinate themselves to their husbands. "The wives are the keepers of the home—not the women's club—but the home."

Greet your husband at the door with a kiss. He may faint the first time. It doesn't cost much to be attractive.

"The wife has the hardest job," he went on. "I had to take care of my five children one day while my wife went shopping. I'd rather plough new ground all day than go through that again."

Graham saw 575 persons make "decisions for Christ" at the end of his sermon, bringing the total to 1,180 for the crusade. Total attendance now totals 229,800.

Graham will resume the crusade tomorrow.

Five Major Drug Firms Indicted

WASHINGTON (INS)—Five major pharmaceutical companies were indicted today on antitrust charges in connection with the sale of polio vaccine.

Attorney General William P. Rogers announced that the indictment was returned by a Federal Grand Jury in Trenton, N.J.

Named in the price-fixing charges were: Eli Lilly and Co., Indianapolis, Ind.; Merck and Company, Inc., Rahway, N.J.; Parke, Davis and Co., Detroit; Allied Laboratories, Inc., Kansas City, Mo., and American Home Products Corp., New York City.

The indictment charged the companies with controlling sales and eliminating competition for vaccine sold to the federal government, to the territories and states, and to local governments.

In Detroit a spokesman for Parke, Davis and Company denied his firm violated antitrust laws in connection with the sale of polio vaccine.

He said: "We never have conspired with other manufacturers to fix or control the price or the market for this or any other pharmaceutical product."

Three Hurt in Collision on West Maple Road

Three persons were injured in a two-car collision late Sunday night on Maple road just west of Middlebelt road, West Bloomfield Township, according to Township Police.

Jack Bailey, 23, of 820 Robinson St., one of the drivers, was treated for minor injuries at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital and released.

The other driver, Adrian T. King, 38, and his wife, Mary, 43, of Mt. Clemens, were admitted to Pontiac General Hospital for observation. They are reported in satisfactory condition.

The two cars barely missed hitting each other head-on, said police, as they sideswiped each other while traveling in opposite directions.

Auto Collision Causes Injury of 2 Near Here

Carl Ganje, 15, of 4089 Cambrook Rd., Waterford Township and Vernon D. Haney, 26, of 209 W. Sheffield St., were injured Saturday night when Haney's car collided with another on U.S. 10 at Cambrook Rd.

George Drake, of 2082 Lake Angelus Rd., Waterford Township, told police that his car was stopped to make a left turn onto Cambrook when the Haney car hit his vehicle in the rear.

Both Haney and Ganje were treated and released from Pontiac General Hospital.

Ford Plant at Dallas Resumes Production

DALLAS (AP)—The Dallas Ford Assembly Plant moved back into operation today for the first time since April 16. It operated on one shift of operations instead of the usual two.

Ford estimated the reduced work force at 1,200 hourly paid employees and 300 salaried employees.

United Auto Workers members said they understood the plant will operate 14 days in May.

Millionaire Sets Up Scholarship Foundation Use My Money 'Quick,' Says Hertz

WASHINGTON (INS)—John Hertz, whose career from immigrant newsboy to millionaire typifies the American dream, is eager to spend a fortune to enable the U.S. to train space age engineers.

Hertz, founder of the Yellow Cab Co., and the U-Drive-It system that bears his name, has created a multi-million dollar foundation to grant scholarships to young mechanical and electrical engineers.

The funds will be used to provide scholarships for more than 100 young engineering students a year. Money will be provided for not only tuition but for food, housing, clothing and other living expenses.

In some instances, awards will be made to students still in high school who show engineering aptitude.

Hertz insists on three things in the operation of the foundation: That there be no racial or religious discrimination in the awards, that "need" be a factor, and that there be no red tape.

Hertz, who left school in the sixth grade, ultimately became a sports reporter for a Chicago newspaper working with such figures as Eugene Field, George Ade and Harold Ickes.

A merger ended his journalistic career and he was persuaded to sell new fangled devices known as automobiles.

Hertz recalls that at the time there couldn't have been more than 40 horseless carriages in the entire city of Chicago. "Everybody was afraid to get into one of them," he grinned.

From the profits as a dealer, he founded the Yellow Cab Co., in Chicago and subsequently the U-Drive-It system. He is now an active partner in Lehman Brothers, the New York investment firm.

Hertz explained he got the idea for the engineering scholarship from reading a newspaper article that the Soviet Union was turning out hundreds more engineers than the U.S. in recent years.

He said: "I wanted to do something to show how I felt about this country and to try to make people in other countries see how fine the American people have treated an immigrant. I hope that in a small way I can inspire others and give American youngsters faith in this great nation we have."

Hertz is confident in the future of the United States despite Soviet scientific accomplishments.

He explained: "I got a jolt when the Russians came up with their Sputnik even though the scholarship plan had come to me weeks before."

Use My Money 'Quick,' Says Hertz

WASHINGTON (INS)—John Hertz, whose career from immigrant newsboy to millionaire typifies the American dream, is eager to spend a fortune to enable the U.S. to train space age engineers.

Hertz, founder of the Yellow Cab Co., and the U-Drive-It system that bears his name, has created a multi-million dollar foundation to grant scholarships to young mechanical and electrical engineers.

The funds will be used to provide scholarships for more than 100 young engineering students a year. Money will be provided for not only tuition but for food, housing, clothing and other living expenses.

In some instances, awards will be made to students still in high school who show engineering aptitude.

Hertz insists on three things in the operation of the foundation: That there be no racial or religious discrimination in the awards, that "need" be a factor, and that there be no red tape.

Hertz, who left school in the sixth grade, ultimately became a sports reporter for a Chicago newspaper working with such figures as Eugene Field, George Ade and Harold Ickes.

A merger ended his journalistic career and he was persuaded to sell new fangled devices known as automobiles.

Hertz recalls that at the time there couldn't have been more than 40 horseless carriages in the entire city of Chicago. "Everybody was afraid to get into one of them," he grinned.

From the profits as a dealer, he founded the Yellow Cab Co., in Chicago and subsequently the U-Drive-It system. He is now an active partner in Lehman Brothers, the New York investment firm.

Hertz explained he got the idea for the engineering scholarship from reading a newspaper article that the Soviet Union was turning out hundreds more engineers than the U.S. in recent years.

He said: "I wanted to do something to show how I felt about this country and to try to make people in other countries see how fine the American people have treated an immigrant. I hope that in a small way I can inspire others and give American youngsters faith in this great nation we have."

Hertz is confident in the future of the United States despite Soviet scientific accomplishments.

He explained: "I got a jolt when the Russians came up with their Sputnik even though the scholarship plan had come to me weeks before."

Lana's Time Is Spent With Friendly Letters

By EARL WILSON

HOLLYWOOD — Lana Turner's swamped with great stacks of friendly letters—probably 50,000 of them—from big stars, casual acquaintances, housewives, ministers, priests, and ordinary fans . . . all wishing good luck to Lana and daughter Cheryl.

WILSON

Since she's voluntarily made herself a virtual prisoner in her own home by her refusal to go out, Lana's reading all the mail and hoping, with a staff of secretaries, eventually to answer it.

Only a few have criticized Lana. Some fans, however, have written that they've said prayers for Lana and Cheryl.

No movie star has ever had such fan mail as has come to Lana since the Johnny Stompanato killing. Few stars have the time to read their mail but Lana, for the time being, wants to do little else.

In a week or two she will be considering going back to work. She has been away from her house only once or twice—she's refused to go to Palm Springs or elsewhere "just to get away."

Although visits with her daughter are limited, she can phone her unlimitedly — and they have been on the phone as many as 20 times a day. Sophia Loren's going to heat up the N. Y. Summer by making a movie there about a beautiful gal who's kept in a gilded cage by her multi-millionaire lover until one day (or night) she meets a serviceman who sneaks her out to such areas as Greenwich Village. The picture's "about somebody" — and you can start guessing, but don't mention it aloud, or he might sue.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL IN NEW YORK

Dick Clark's rock 'n' roll tour is being postponed (while he tries to sign big-name singers) . . . Joel McCrea's son Jody says he'll wed actress Jennifer Lea after his army hitch . . . Buddy Fogelson's gift to Greer Garson when she quits "Auntie Mame" will be a European vacation . . . "Two for the Seesaw," a low-budget hit with two actors repaid its backers . . . Singer Line Renaud will star in a French TV version of "I Love Lucy."

Pvt. Elvis Presley's being sought for the College News Conference TV after his basic training's finished . . . Bob Hope says he's done so much traveling that the airlines voted him a monogrammed container . . . Franchot Tone attended the Lunt and Fontanne premiere, wept through the drama.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: An airline hostess told passengers at the end of their flight: "The safest part of your trip has now been completed. Please drive carefully going home." . . . That's earl, brother.

Sen. O'Mahoney Voices Ideas

Doesn't Support Lifting of All Debt Restrictions

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Joseph C. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.) said today he does not believe Congress should lift all restrictions from the federal debt.

O'Mahoney, a member of the Senate-House Economic Committee, said declines in tax income make it almost inevitable the Eisenhower administration will have to ask Congress for an increase above the 180 billion dollar level to which Congress recently raised the debt limit.

"There has been a great deal of speculation that there may be a request to take the limit entirely off the debt," O'Mahoney said. "But I do not believe it would be wise for Congress to make any move of that kind. Congress ought to keep restraints on the government's fiscal policies."

Sen. Robert S. Kerr (D-Okla.), a member of the Senate Finance Committee, has predicted a new request for increasing the debt limit will be forthcoming. An advocate of higher government spending to counter the recession, Kerr said he would support an increase.

Speedy Drivers Gambling Lives in Perilous Game

From National Safety Council

Russian roulette, anyone? Of course not. Who'd be silly enough to play that game? Good question. But how about out there on the highway?

You're playing just as dangerous a game as Russian roulette, the National Safety Council points out. "Driving at high speeds is pretty silly," it says.

Let's suppose you're on a 400-mile trip. Council statistics show that if you whiz along at 75 m.p.h., the chances of someone getting killed in an accident occurs are 1 in 8.

Drive 65 m.p.h. and your chances of dying if an accident occurs are a lot slimmer — 1 in 20. At that speed it'll take about an hour more on the road.

Slow down to 55, though, and if a collision takes place the chance of a fatality occurring is 1 in 50. The slower speed will mean a couple more hours of driving on the 400-mile jaunt.

Each 10 m.p.h. decrease in speed increases your chances of coming out of a car wreck alive.

"Don't be a gambler on the highway," the Council warns. "The stakes are the greatest — your life, or the lives of your loved ones."

Television-Film Singer Would Be Recognized, Mauled by Fans

By JANET KERN

International News Service For generations, it has been traditional for teenagers to dream of "stardom" as a happy estate to which they aspire unswervingly, if hopelessly.

Lately however, the dream has become anything but hopeless. Teenagers and just-post-teens are the star material of the moment.

And these young matinee idols are finding a few problems roughening their pathway among the clouds. Take, for instance, a young man (just 20 years old) named Tommy Sands — who is undoubtedly the most publicized, and among the most idolized, of today's stars.

Tommy is good looking, smart, rich, famous. But how is even the most dateable young man to meet nice girl companions in the course of one-night stand tours of the country?

Tommy loves to dance, especially to "his" kind of music—rock 'n' roll—but how can he, one of the top recording idols in the field, go to the rock 'n' roll hangouts? He can't: the kids would tear the buttons off his shirt. He can't go to the movies for the same reason.

THE SAME PROBLEM At home in Hollywood, Tommy does date, but there he and his young star friends have the same problem of being recognized and mauled if they go to public places. So what can they do?

"Most of the time we go to the beach with a record player and a radio and plenty of sandwiches," Tommy explains. It hardly sounds like the kind of glamorous evening most young dreamers-of-stardom envision.

Tommy does go to places of adult entertainment, of course, but he goes for practical reasons. He has his eye on the rapidly approaching day when he, and his currently teenage following, will no longer be adolescents and he wants to grow into mature, adult stardom.

So he goes to see all of those he terms "the greats" in his business, seeing each one at least twice to study their techniques, their musical phrasing, their stage presence and personality.

Who are "the greats" in Tommy Sands' eyes and ears? There's Frank Sinatra ("he's the greatest"), and Perry Como and Vic Damone and Tony Bennett and Nat "King" Cole and Billy Eckstine.

Tommy can go to see these "greats," and meet them, and stand pretty nearly on a par with them.

That much is just like the reveries of the young dreamers-of-stardom. But closer than most though he is to "the greats," Tommy Sands is a lot farther than most boys his age from the dates which constitute a major part of the pleasure of life for most kids his age.

One Dies as Truck Hits Full School Bus

FAYETTEVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—An industrial laundry truck ripped into the side of a school bus loaded with Alabama ninth graders Sunday, killing an adult accompanying them on a holiday trip.

The dead man was Ralph Reed, 27, editor of the weekly Arab, Ala., Tribune. His wife, sponsor of the ninth grade class at the Union Grove, Ala., junior high school, was injured.

The 38 children, their principal and his wife, and the bus driver, also were listed with injuries ranging from critical to minor. Six children and two adults remained in hospitals overnight.

The truck driver, Marvin Hollis Burns, 31, Florence, Ala., listed in serious condition at a local hospital, was charged with drunk driving and manslaughter.

"I saw it was going to happen," said the bus driver, Silan Graves Berry, 54, Rt. 1, Guntersville, Ala. "I didn't have time to do anything but give the wheel a little cut. If I hadn't done that we would have hit head on."

The principal, Wayland Cooley, 40, said he was sitting on the right front seat when he saw the truck.

Autopsy Fails to Show What Killed Couple in Ontonagon Last Week

ONTONAGON (AP)—The deaths of an Ontonagon dentist and his wife remained a mystery today. Sheriff Michael Livingston said, "Our theory is poison but we are not certain."

An autopsy Saturday failed to show what killed Dr. John L. Pearce, 54, and his wife, Martha, 53. They were found dead in their Ontonagon home Friday. The bodies bore no sign of violence.

State Police Sgt. Clarence Miller said they may have died in a suicide or a murder-suicide pact. He said a note in a woman's handwriting was found. It asked that a priest and a minister be notified as well as Mrs. Pearce's brother in Hurley, Wis. Dr. Pearce was a Protestant; his wife a Catholic.

The autopsy was performed by Dr. Arthur L. Amolsch of St. Luke Hospital at Marquette. Specimens were sent to State Police laboratories in East Lansing for further analysis. Impalement of a coroner's jury was delayed pending a report from East Lansing.

The Pearces returned from a Florida vacation two weeks ago. Dr. Pearce, who had practiced here 20 years, was reported to have been ill while they were away.

Neighbors found the bodies. They had not seen the Pearces since May 4 and went to the home to investigate.

The couple had a daughter, Carol Ann, 19, a student at Michigan State University.

Mayor of Pittsburgh Seeks Governorship

HARRISBURG, PA. (AP)—David L. Lawrence, Pittsburgh's long-time mayor and the power behind the throne in the only two Democratic reigns Pennsylvania has had in 50 years, is now out to be governor himself.

As the state's Mr. Democrat for more than 20 years, Lawrence, 68, is picked by most experts to run away with the party's nomination in the May 20 primary.

His principal opponent is Lt. Gov. Roy E. Furman, 57, who broke with the Leader administration when the governor tried unsuccessfully to block a Republican Legislature from passing a three per cent sales tax.

Furman looks on his underdog role as somewhat of an advantage. He likens his chances to those of Harry S. Truman in 1948. For all his popularity Lawrence was a compromise choice for the nomination.

Big Size Gains 1st Class Seat for Air Tourist

NEW YORK (AP)—An air tourist's girl gained him a first-class seat yesterday on a flight to Europe.

Just before an Israeli Airline plane was preparing to take off for London from Idlewild Airport, the plane's purser reported a passenger in the tourist section was so large he was unable to fasten his safety belt.

It was decided to move the passenger — a man whose name and weight were not disclosed — to a first-class seat where safety belts are a few inches longer.

The plane took off, all passengers securely fastened.

Negro Professor Tries to Break Precedent

GULFPORT, Miss. (AP) — The Rev. Clennon King, Negro history professor whose newspaper articles nearly closed Alcorn A&M College last year, has applied for admission to the all-white University of Mississippi.

King said yesterday he applied for courses in the summer session starting in June in order to fulfill requirements for a doctorate degree in American history.

There was no comment from university officials.

King, pastor of St. Andrew African Methodist Episcopal Church, delivered a sermon entitled "The Real Reason I Was Fired." Alcorn A&M officials notified King two weeks ago his contract would not be renewed.

The preacher said he was fired because he refused to "hand those embarrassed hypocrites my freedom." He said he referred to the "big white folks in authority" who told him he could stay at Alcorn if he wrote no more articles concerning racial matters, made no more statements and gave no more interviews.

King, 38, wrote a series of articles last year criticizing the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People, as doing nothing locally for Southern Negroes. In protest to the articles, about 500 students staged a week-long boycott of classes that almost closed the school.

Extremely Light Vote Forecast in Nebraska

OMAHA (AP) — The consensus of observers on the eve of Nebraska's 1958 primary election, Tuesday was that the vote will be exceedingly light even for an off-year election.

Secretary of State Frank Marsh, predicting a vote of 180,000, said "the apathy of the people is overwhelming."

A vote of 180,000 would be the lowest since 1944, when 143,623 votes were cast in the primary. Herman Kupfinger, election commissioner of Douglas County which includes metropolitan Omaha, forecast the "lightest vote in my 11 years as election commissioner."

One senatorship, four House seats, and the state house offices are at stake in this year's election. The entire delegation, all Republicans, is seeking re-election.

Attack Daughter of U.N. Delegate in Bronx Park

NEW YORK (AP) — The 16-year-old daughter of Iran's chief United Nations delegate was cut on the hand with a penknife in an attack by two teen-aged girls in Bronx Park.

The girl's dress was ripped in the attack, which occurred Saturday evening, police disclosed last night.

Police said Frieda Abdoh was walking with a sister, Masti, 12, in the park while their father, Dr. Djalal Abdoh, and his wife sat in a restaurant.

Frieda and Masti decided to walk along a brook and climb a hill. Frieda told police that as she helped Masti up the steep incline she noticed two Negro girls staring at them. The girls were about 16 or 17. One had a knife strapped to her leg.

One girl tossed a light bulb on the ground. It exploded near Frieda and her sister.

Frieda turned to remonstrate. After an exchange of words, the knife-wielder began ripping at Frieda's skirt.

When Frieda and her sister began to cry, the girls fled. Masti was not hurt.

Abdoh and his wife took their daughters home after making a report to police.

Child's World of Make-Believe Thrives on Familiar Things

By REBA HEINTZELMAN

Little kids living in the Monteth school area in Waterford Township, are having more fun than anybody on items that cannot be purchased from any playground equipment company — anywhere!

To a casual observer, the area back of the school on Crescent Lake Rd., might look like a junk yard, but to young imaginations, it's a wonderful world of make-believe.

Old boats, huge sewer tile, railroad tracks, and a genuine western corral-fence with two big swinging gates, are part of the free-fun paraphernalia accumulated for the youngsters.

Because money was scarce for expensive, scientific equipment, and the fact that parents found that their children preferred to play on "undesirable" objects, the unusual project was started by the PTA group in the school.

City Teamster Says He'll Fight Election Ban

Seeks Help of National Union Board, Senate Rackets Committee

A Pontiac teamster said today he would fight a ruling making him ineligible to run for office at Local 614 this weekend.

The candidate, Charles Featherlyn, of 426 First Ave., a driver for Truck-away Corp., said he was seeking help from the National Teamsters Monitor Board and the Senate Rackets Committee, which has had the union and its president, James R. Hoffa, under investigation.

Robert F. Kennedy, counsel for the Senate Committee, said in Washington today he has received complaints about the election from members of Local 614. "We are aware of the situation," Kennedy said. "Possibly it may be brought up at a future hearing of the committee. However, at present there is nothing this office can do."

Featherlyn was one of three men nominated last month to run for secretary-treasurer Saturday and Sunday in the first election held at the local since Hoffa took it over as trustee in 1953.

The other candidates were Floyd B. Harmon, a business agent appointed by Hoffa, and Charles W. Woon, a trucker.

ONLY ONE ELIGIBLE Both Featherlyn and Woon were ruled ineligible to run by the Detroit District Teamsters Council, which is conducting the election. Under the rulings, Harmon is now the only candidate for the office.

Bay City Buses Stop Running Tomorrow Night

BAY CITY (AP)—City bus service in Bay City is scheduled to end tomorrow night.

Balcer Bros. Motor Coach Co., which operates the buses, said it planned to halt service because of declining revenues.

Voters yesterday approved an amendment to the city charter which is aimed at solving bus service problems. The amendment gives the city commission authority to begin negotiations for acquiring, operating or leasing a bus service to be subsidized by taxes.

A referendum must be held on whatever decision is reached by the commission and it must be approved by three-fifths of the voters.

Mercury Going Up; Clouds on Horizon

Partly cloudy and warmer with a low tonight of 44 to 48 and a high tomorrow of near 80 is the forecast by the U.S. Weather Bureau.

For the next five days temperatures will average about five degrees above the normal of 68 degrees and the normal, low of 47. Wednesday will be warm but Friday will be cool with scattered showers Wednesday or Thursday and again Friday or Saturday.

The lowest reading in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. was 43 degrees. The mercury stood at 76 at 2 p.m.

Firm Optimistic on Economy

Consumers Planning to Expand Facilities

A Consumers Power Co. official says his firm is undeterred by Michigan's economic ills and is going ahead with plans for a 430-million-dollar expansion of its electrical facilities.

"We expect to continue to grow and we expect Michigan's economy to continue to grow," said James H. Campbell, company vice president, in testimony before the State Public Service Commission in Lansing.

"We believe this is a time to go forward so as to be ready to meet industry's requirements when the time comes," he said. Campbell is a son of the late Birum G. Campbell, former district superintendent for Consumers at Pontiac.

The commission opened hearings on the company's petition for a $15,300,000 yearly boost in its electric rates to 820,000 customers in 61 counties.

Campbell told the commission his firm had invested 402 million dollars in recent years to expand its electric facilities. But he said the 3 per cent return on new properties did not allow a fair return on investment.

Campbell recalled that the PSC eight years ago acknowledged 5.7 per cent as a "reasonable rate of return."

The company has reduced costs and increased efficiency in an effort to hold the line on customer charges, he said.

"Now," he said, "we are at a point where we cannot offset increasing costs of doing business by these means."

Company witnesses were to testify again today.

Some 15 cities and villages and as many other township and county governments and other parties have served notice they want to testify in the hearing. Most have indicated they will oppose the rate boost.

Warning Fails to Save Tot, 3

Joel Bennett Drowns in Terry Lake Near His Pontiac Home

Three-year-old Joel Bennett was old enough this year to be warned not to venture near treacherous Terry Lake, a few steps from his home at 156 N. Merrimac St.

Yesterday, despite the warnings of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Bennett, Joel and two playmates his age wandered down to the sparse beach on the north side of the lake.

There is a 40-foot drop off about four feet off the north shore.

The children took off their shoes and socks and played in the warm sand, one of them later told Pontiac Patrolman James Lafnear. Then, suddenly, Joel disappeared.

Roused by the children, Keith Wilson, 34, of 541 S. Jessie St. ran to the lake and found Joel's body floating a few feet from shore. Wilson is a friend of the boy's family.

Police figured Joel accidentally fell off the drop off. Efforts by a fire department inhalator crew to revive him failed.

The Bennetts have another son, Michael, 6. Bennett works at Pontiac Motor Division.

Tin Cans, Rocks Hurlled at Vice President's Car; Police Use Tear Gas

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—Jeering mobs of students spat on Vice President Nixon today and grabbed at Mrs. Nixon before police, using tear gas, drove them away.

It was the most hostile reception the Nixons had received in their South American tour.

Rioters spat on Nixon as he arrived at the airport from Colombia, and then hurled tin cans and rocks at his car in downtown Caracas.

One youth grabbed Mrs. Nixon as she sought to enter the car, and yelled "Little Rock! Little Rock!"

A Negro man shouted at Nixon: "Democracy! You don't like Negroes there."

SHAKE FISTS Youths shook their fists at the Nixons, crying: "Get out! Get out!"

Besides Nixon, Oscar Garcia, the foreign minister, and other Venezuelan authorities were spat upon. Garcia was livid with fury.

Nixon, winding up his tour of South America, arrived here amid rumors that he was to be the victim of an assassination attempt.

Venezuelan authorities in advance of his arrival had discounted these reports and given assurance that Nixon would be well guarded.

CARRY SIGNS

The students carried signs. "Go home Mr. Nixon, we don't forget Guatemala. No, Mr. Nixon we don't want you. Latin America doesn't want United States intervention."

There were only a few friendly shouts either at the airport or along Nixon's route into the city.

The rioting came along the avenue as Nixon was en route to lay a wreath at the tomb of Simon Bolivar, South American liberator.

All About Men... Chapter Two

Battle of Sexes Starts Early

By JOSEPH H. PECK, M.D.

(Condensed From the Book, "All About Men," 1958)

Don't worry if your love for the new arrival seems shabby compared with the affection shown by his mother, and check that tomcat-like impulse to chew off his head when he cries with colic in the wee hours.

You must get used to the state of fatherhood by degrees. His mother's love has been building up for nine long months, while all you felt was resentment toward anything that could make her look so ridiculous.

A mother's love flows toward the most helpless, and when the second baby arrives, you and the older child will find yourselves in the same boat — united by a common misery.

Sometimes the awareness of this comes all at once, as it did in my case. Our oldest son, who was two and a half when his brother was born, had acquired the habit of climbing out of his crib and sneaking in with his mother. The first night she was home he searched for those comforting arms, and discovered them encircling another boy.

I found him sobbing beside my bed, cold and most unhappy. When I asked why he was crying, he said, "There just ain't any place for Joe Peck any more."

Rioters in Lebanon Stage Anti-West Demonstration

BEIRUT, Lebanon (U)—Rioters smashed shops, blocked the streets with flaming barricades and chased pedestrians from the sidewalks today in violent protest against Lebanon's pro-Western government.

Demonstrators roamed through Beirut for the second day. Organized bands were determined to force a general strike and bring business to a standstill.

They smashed windows and wrecked shops that defied their orders to close. Taxis that ventured out were smashed.

A few people who went out in downtown streets were scattered by the roving bands.

More barricades were set up in the streets and some were set afire to make them more effective.

Fervent political maneuvering was under way in an effort to restore order. The political opposition disclaimed any responsibility for the bloodshed and violence, blaming subversive elements working in the ranks of peaceful demonstrators.

The cabinet decided to protest to the U. N. Security Council against foreign interference in Lebanon's internal affairs. The ministers did not name any country but presumably had the United Arab Republic in mind.

Radio stations in Cairo and Damascus, the two U. A. R. provincial capitals, have been broadcasting calls for open rebellion in Lebanon.

The Cairo newspaper Al-Ahram called on Lebanese President Camille Chamoun to resign, saying that would restore calm.

The rigid curfew imposed a long night of calm after yesterday's riots. The mobs in Beirut burned a U. S. information agency library, battled security forces, closed shops, burned buildings, set up roadblocks, overturned cars and generally stopped transportation.

At least eight persons were reported killed and 20 wounded in fighting between security forces and rioters.

Rioting and shooting also broke out again yesterday in the North Lebanese port of Tripoli, where another U. S. library was wrecked Saturday and 11 persons were killed in fighting between rioters and police.

Also in North Lebanon, two unidentified men yesterday blew up a pipeline carrying oil from Iraq to Tripoli.

Heavily armed security forces constantly patrolled Beirut streets last night. Four muffled explosions were reported.

The latest blast was the 10th in the Beirut area since Jan. 21 and the second in less than 24 hours. Victims included two cut-rate auto washes and three cut-rate cleaners.

Police saw the last part of the three-stage explosion from in front of the Hazel Park Police Station. The station is next door to the barber shop. The explosion occurred at 11:15 p.m., about 15 minutes after the police had changed shifts.

Lt. V. L. Scott said the bomb—built of three containers of gunpowder taped together and connected with fuses—exploded in a recessed entrance to the shop's front door.

"It could not have been intended to do any damage," Scott said. "Maybe it was meant as a warning, or it might have been just a prank. It probably was tossed from an automobile."

The shop, owned by Adam Bozhinski, 12901 Conant, has been charging $1 for a haircut. The prevailing price in Detroit and suburbs is $1.75.

Pickets have walked in front of the shop six weeks. Barbers working in the six-chair shop have entered in groups.

The same shop was damaged Sunday night, May 4, by an explosion at a rear door.

The cabinet decided to protest to the U. N. Security Council against foreign interference in Lebanon's internal affairs. The ministers did not name any country but presumably had the United Arab Republic in mind.

Radio stations in Cairo and Damascus, the two U. A. R. provincial capitals, have been broadcasting calls for open rebellion in Lebanon.

The Cairo newspaper Al-Ahram called on Lebanese President Camille Chamoun to resign, saying that would restore calm.

The rigid curfew imposed a long night of calm after yesterday's riots. The mobs in Beirut burned a U. S. information agency library, battled security forces, closed shops, burned buildings, set up roadblocks, overturned cars and generally stopped transportation.

At least eight persons were reported killed and 20 wounded in fighting between security forces and rioters.

Rioting and shooting also broke out again yesterday in the North Lebanese port of Tripoli, where another U. S. library was wrecked Saturday and 11 persons were killed in fighting between rioters and police.

Also in North Lebanon, two unidentified men yesterday blew up a pipeline carrying oil from Iraq to Tripoli.

Heavily armed security forces constantly patrolled Beirut streets last night. Four muffled explosions were reported.

The latest blast was the 10th in the Beirut area since Jan. 21 and the second in less than 24 hours. Victims included two cut-rate auto washes and three cut-rate cleaners.

Police saw the last part of the three-stage explosion from in front of the Hazel Park Police Station. The station is next door to the barber shop. The explosion occurred at 11:15 p.m., about 15 minutes after the police had changed shifts.

Lt. V. L. Scott said the bomb—built of three containers of gunpowder taped together and connected with fuses—exploded in a recessed entrance to the shop's front door.

"It could not have been intended to do any damage," Scott said. "Maybe it was meant as a warning, or it might have been just a prank. It probably was tossed from an automobile."

The shop, owned by Adam Bozhinski, 12901 Conant, has been charging $1 for a haircut. The prevailing price in Detroit and suburbs is $1.75.

Pickets have walked in front of the shop six weeks. Barbers working in the six-chair shop have entered in groups.

The same shop was damaged Sunday night, May 4, by an explosion at a rear door.

"All About Men" ... Chapter Two

He promised to refrain from wetting the bed, and pretty soon two lonesome guys were cuddling down together.

THE WEAKER SEX

Around the age of four or five a boy gets his first taste of the frustrations that will dog him for years. His playmates usually are little girls.

They may take turns being doctor, nurse and patient, in which case they will take wondering peeks at each other.

Girls may also initiate him into the rites of keeping house, and the shocks connected therewith make him gun shy.

Fancying herself an expert on biology, she tells him tartly that she alone can carry babies in her stomach and that his job is to bring home groceries. She scolds him for waking her dolls and says things that give him a feeling of inferiority.

Man doesn't like to be reminded that he is actually a member of the weaker sex, which he is.

If normal, he may gather a few pals, attack the playhouse gang, scalp the dolls and, if matches are handy, maybe burn down the playhouse. If so, punish him, Pop.

A SPANKING IN TIME

Don't call your boy a baby if he riots when confronted by a doctor with a hypodermic. Girls like to be hurt a little, but boys and men are desperately afraid of needles.

Let nature take its course. Suppose your youngster does bite his fingernails and pick his nose when nervous; next week he'll be cracking his knuckles and the third week he'll have a brand new annoying habit.

That is, unless you have scolded him about the first ones, in which case he'll still be biting and picking.

For the good of society he should be spanked when necessary during his early years. And when you spank your boy, go at it as if you were killing snakes. He will enjoy the show, and it will be good for his ego. Always temper your discipline with common sense, however.

DON'T PLAY GOD

Leave good books and magazines scattered around the living room and give your boy books on his birthday anniversaries and at Christmas—books that have delighted boys for generations.

If you must read best-selling novels, hide them under the mattress until Junior is asleep. Children will soon enough find out about rape, incest, and murder without having it crammed into their little brains at home.

One thing your boy will cherish above all else is that hunting or fishing trip he made with you; so, even though he may be a nuisance who has to be carried over streams and wire fences, include him whenever possible in such male outings. It's an experience never to be forgotten by either of you, and it gives you a chance, if your boy is old enough to need it, to sneak in a lot of advice. And by the way, don't take a woman along. She'll ruin the communion which is rare between father and son.

2 More Suits Facing Builder

Workers, Union Seek Total of $14,247 From Royal Oak Man on Trial

A Royal Oak carpenter contractor received a double-barrel of legal trouble today as two law suits sought $14,247 from him while he was on trial charged with issuing checks without sufficient funds.

The Carpenters District Council (AFL-CIO) charges in a suit filed Monday that Gus Ranieri, of 3163 Merrill St., owes $6,645 to two union funds, while 35 former employees of Ranieri say in the second suit that he owes them a total of $7,602 in back wages.

The carpenters charge that Ranieri owes them checks ranging from $27 to $396 for construction work they did for him in 1956-57. The suit charges that Ranieri often "closed accounts before checks were written or could be cashed."

Meanwhile, Ranieri, a member of Oakland County Carpenters Union Local 998, a local in the district council covering six South-eastern Michigan counties, stood trial before Circuit Judge Frank L. Doty.

He is charged with issuing three checks totaling $330 to three workers without sufficient funds.

And because the workers pressing charges against Ranieri have difficulty understanding English, Assistant Oakland County Prosecutor Paul M. Mandel had to engage an interpreter to carry out the trial.

The District Council claims that Ranieri in late 1956 and three months of 1957 failed to live up to an agreement with the union to deposit $14,145 with the Carpenters Vacation and Holiday Trust Fund.

The union also charges he didn't deposit $2,500 with the workers' hospitalization fund, called the Detroit and Vicinity Construction Workers Insurance Fund.

A spokesman for the union said in collective bargaining agreement with carpenter contractors they consent to paying six per cent of gross wages to the holiday fund, and 10 cents an hour to the hospitalization fund.

The money from the first is mailed out to workers in the form of a fringe benefit, the spokesman said.

UAW, Auto Makers Resume Negotiations

DETROIT (U)—The United Auto Workers Union resumes bargaining talks on new contracts with the big three car makers today following a top level parley of UAW policy makers.

UAW President Walter P. Reuther met late yesterday with his vice presidents and other officers.

The union appeared to be striving for a settlement at GM before the contract expires at midnight May 29. Contracts with Ford and Chrysler run out three days later.

GM, Ford and Chrysler are standing pat on offers that would give workers an annual increase of at least 6 cents an hour plus cost of living adjustments over the next two years.

The average wage in the auto industry is about $2.40 an hour.

The union has put no estimate on the wage and fringe benefit demands it has made on the four car companies but it contends they are not inflationary.

GM has estimated the UAW demands, not counting profit sharing, would amount to an increase of 73 cents an hour. Ford estimates the increase at 70 cents. Union leaders have called both estimates fantastic.

Airliner Sets Record

LONDON (U)—A British Comet jet airliner flew the Atlantic from Gander, Nfld., to London today in 4 hours 33 minutes. British Overseas Airways Corp. claimed it was the fastest crossing ever made by a civil aircraft. Average speed was 530 m.p.h.

The Day in Birmingham

Artists to Take Over City in Annual Festival

BIRMINGHAM (U)—For nine days, starting Saturday, Birmingham will be given over to the arts. The occasion will be the first annual Arts Festival sponsored by the Bloomfield Art Association.

The city which boasts of more amateur and professional artists, sculptors, architects and designers per capita than any other city in the nation will for more than a week have the atmosphere of a "Montmartre," says Robert Thom, association president and festival chairman.

There'll be exhibits in painting, drawing, sculpture, music, dancing and drama. Stores will have window displays, and there'll be street decorations and artists working on easels outdoors.

Participants in the gala affair include all local arts organization, the Birmingham and Bloomfield public schools, the Detroit Institute of Arts, the chamber music group of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, Cranbrook and Kingwood schools and the League for the Handicapped.

Practically every organization in the city is planning some contribution to the festival, Thom said. It will be in progress each day from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m.

The Community House will hold its annual Crafts and Hobby Exhibit Saturday and Sunday.

The Birmingham Garden Club will have a full day of garden lore at the Baldwin Public Library next Tuesday. Lecture-demonstrations on flower arranging, a lecture on "Roses," and a movie will be in a setting of floral arrangement which will be maintained for the whole week.

The Birmingham and Bloomfield Public Schools will exhibit art and crafts. Art classes from Barman and Baldwin schools will be held in Main Park and other spots about town with the class assignment being, "Birmingham on Canvas."

The Junior League Chorus of 20 voices will present a 45-minute program.

Mayor William E. Roberts has officially proclaimed the festival dates, and Charles Martensen, president of the Birmingham Chamber of Commerce, has pledged his group's support.

Birmingham may soon have its and double cast iron hinges provides strength for rough usage.

Throughout the entire planning stage, the safety element has been emphatically stressed.

The forbidden thrill of walking on a railroad track will soon be a thing of the past for the Montclair youngsters. A genuine double railroad track, 40-feet long, is about to be installed, complete with cinders (sawdust) between each tie, and 8-inch spikes will hold the rails in place.

Walking all over the top and hood of the family car was unthinkable, but the stripped-down model from the junk yard, provides an outlet for this "don't."

Soon an old tree will be growing out of a batch of cement in the northern corner of the yard.

There are no leaves on the tree and it won't be very high off the ground, but it's a real tree to climb up and down.

A maze of narrow paths will wind through huge boulders protecting young cowboys from outlaw, and a dad-made wooden airplane (again secured in cement) will be able to propel a boy or girl "right out of this world."

A strong slab of cement 110x115 feet, is already available. It covers the drain field for the new John Pierce junior high school, which adjoins the Montclair property.

On top of this slab, there will be a portable basketball court with a regulation height basket for adults, and another basket only a few feet off the ground for the "hot-shots" of 1958.

There will also be a portable tennis court, a painted on shuffle board court, hop-scotch, jump rope, and skating in summer and winter, on the cement area.

Tiny tots will have their own fenced-in area with a huge road grader tire filled with sand and a home-made cement "Turtle" with wide crock insides, to crawl in and

Only Cool About Johnny Mathis, Until ---

By PHYLIS BATTLE
NEW YORK (INS) — "Johnny Mathis," it says on your invitation, "will sing an off-the-record program, for you and a few other special friends."

Well that is very neighborly of Johnny, you say to yourself. Especially considering that you have never met him, have never heard him sing and have, in fact, never contemplated doing either.

To you, he is just another hotshot crooner over whom teenagers are tearing out their hair — and his. To him, you are special.

Feeling vaguely obligated, you trundle off to the Waldorf to see your buddy.

"Where's Johnny Mathis?" you ask one of his 500 special friends who are knotting around the bar next to a small bandstand.

"Where's your drink? Who?"

"The host. You know, the big record guy."

"Oh, him. That's him." He thrusts a scotch and soda in the direction of a marvelous black goatee with intellectual eyes above it, and you start wriggling through an army of men armed with olive toothpicks toward him.

The big record guy turns out to be Mitch Miller. A&R (Artists & Repertoire) hero of Columbia Records, and he says isn't it great you could come. Have you met Al "Jazzbo" Collins, the great disc jockey? Jazzbo is also wearing a goatee, not to mention a large round lapel button labeled "Max," about which you inquire.

"Crazy, isn't it?" he says. "Had it made. 'Max' is my favorite name. They tried to sell me a 'Mac's' — M-A-C-S — but I wouldn't go."

"Why do all you jazz guys grow goatees?" you ask, as somebody hands you a cigarette stub to stomp on. "Affection?"

"Sign of individuality," says Mitch. "Only the deserving can wear goatees." "Yeah," says Jazzbo. "If you grow a beard and you can't swing with it, you're a bum. More questions?"

"Where's Johnny Mathis?"

"On top — right where he should be. Only record singer in the stable who comes off just as good in person. Wait'll you hear him."

You sit down, to do that. Disc jockeys, press agents, record columnists, and a motley assortment of anonymous free-loaders rock 'n' roll before your eyes and whenever someone bumbles up and says "Crazy, isn't it?", which is frequently, you nod numbly.

A half-hour's happy hysteria later, they suddenly shut off the bar service, and John's friends, somewhat stunned, retire to tables.

There is a crazy, man, hush and suddenly — strolling out shyly in front of the four-piece band and some artificial pink dogwood — is a handsome young Negro kid.

"I want to thank you people who have helped me," he says soberly, sobering up the multitudes, "and this is the only way I know how." And suddenly he starts to sing, with a voice like a quiet organ in the ballads and like a good crisp trumpet when trumpeting is required. His body doesn't jiggle; his hands don't thrash; there are no tricks. It's all done with the vocal chords, and for the next half-hour you forget that you are in that deadliest of situations, a New York cocktail party.

He is through, too soon, and the bar and the people resume jumping. Mitch Miller reveals that Johnny Mathis "never! never!" sings rock 'n' roll — "We want him to last." And as you grope your way out into the fading sunset, you realize that you've been prejudiced against an artist for the simple, unsound reason that teenagers like him.

Crazy, girl.

Group in Waterford to Get Lake Lots

Two lake lots in Waterford Township will soon be deeded to Woodhull Lake residents, due to the forming of a new association in the subdivision.

Residents were unaware that the lots were available for a subdivision, until the land development of anonymous free-loaders the property to Waterford Township for payment of delinquent taxes.

One of the specifications for acquiring the lake lots, was that an association be formed to assume the taxes and maintenance. This had never been accomplished.

The new association will be known as the Woodhull Lake Civic Assn., Inc., and will be headed by a five-man board. They are Fred Refe, Eldon Aderholdt, Gerald Rustem, Howard Bertrum and Edward Baker.

No, Mrs. Rockefeller Must Pay, Judge Rules

NEW YORK — Mrs. Barbara Sears (Boho) Rockefeller was a winner in Municipal Court yesterday — not for long.

Mrs. Clara Brock Lowmes, Madison Avenue interior decorator, had sued Mrs. Rockefeller for $2,547 and interest.

After three hours' deliberation, a six-member jury returned a unanimous verdict for Mrs. Rockefeller.

Justice William T. O'Connell called the verdict "beyond my comprehension" and ruled for Mrs. Lowmes.

The case turned on whether Frank Reddington, to whom Mrs. Rockefeller said she had paid the bill, was an authorized agent of Mrs. Lowmes.

O'Connell granted Mrs. Rockefeller, divorced wife of Winthrop Rockefeller, a 10-day stay of execution. Her lawyer, Morton M. Bass, said he will appeal.

WARWICK, R.I. — Two fire engines responded to an alarm on Midget Avenue. Uncertain of the exact location, they took different directions. At the intersection of Midget Avenue and Nausauket Road they met — with a loud crash. No one was injured, both vehicles were damaged. The fire: A minor grass blaze.

Trujillo Admits Giving Mink Coat to Zsa Zsa

HOLLYWOOD — Did Zsa Zsa Gabor get a costly fur coat from Gen. Rafael Trujillo Jr. for introducing him to Kim Novak? She has the coat — and Trujillo, son of the strong man of the Dominican Republic, admits he gave it to her. But he didn't say why.

"I introduced Kim to him," Zsa Zsa told a reporter, "and I arranged for him to take her to several parties."

"He is my dearest friend and very grateful."

Trujillo, recuperating in a rented mansion in Beverly Hills following surgery, yesterday added further confusion to the matter. He wouldn't come to the phone. But he told his secretary to tell a newsman that the coat wasn't chinchilla, as earlier reported.

It was mink, said the secretary. He said it didn't cost the $17,000 price quoted for it.

Blonde actress Kim Novak said Trujillo left a sports car with her — a sleek $3,400 model — but said she thought it was a loan. A studio spokesman said she insists she isn't keeping it.

Kim and Trujillo have been seen together frequently in Hollywood since Easter. Trujillo, head of his country's air force, came to the United States to attend the U.S. Army Command and General Staff College at Ft. Leavenworth, Kan.

He left there on medical leave

Cary Grant Keeps Slim by Mind-Over-Matter

NEW YORK — Want to eat anything you want and still stay slim. "Just think it," says movie star Cary Grant.

The 6-foot-2, 172-pound actor told of his mind-over-matter diet on returning today from Europe aboard the French liner Ile de France when newsmen asked him how he stayed slim.

"Just think it," said Grant. "I eat and drink everything I want and I remain thin and fit because I think it."

There were approximately 63 million cars and trucks in use in the United States at the end of 1957, compared with 60,000,000 at the end of 1956.

Rep. Al Morano (R-Conn) told a newsman: "His daddy ought to teach him that good old-fashioned Yankee thrift. It is extravagance such as this that makes it difficult for us hard-working Foreign Affairs Committee members."

"It is his own personal money," said Trujillo's secretary, Victor Sued, of the gifts. "He owns sugar mills and has a dairy farm in the Dominican Republic."

Read Letter at Killer's Trial

It Says Starkweather Killed Girl's Stepfather to Start Death Spree

LINCOLN, Neb. (U-P) — A letter saying Charles Starkweather killed Carl Fugate's stepfather and then Carl kept her mother from killing Charles was read yesterday in the Starkweather murder trial.

The prosecution read the letter although Starkweather is not charged with the stepfather's death. It was signed by Charles and Carl.

Mr. and Mrs. Marion Bartlett, Carl's stepfather and mother, and Carl's two year old half sister were the second, third and fourth victims in 11 slayings that Starkweather has acknowledged.

He is on trial for the shooting of Robert Jensen, 17, near Benet, Neb., last January. Jensen was killed as police hunted Starkweather, 19, and Carl, 14, the day after the Bartletts were found dead.

The letter, taken from Starkweather after his capture in Wyoming, told how he came to hope Carl, bringing his rifle in hopes of a hunting trip with Bartlett. He was "happy and full of jokes."

His mood changed to anger at an order by Mrs. Bartlett to leave. He replied sarcastically. That angered Bartlett and brought on a fight, the letter said, ending with Charles shooting Bartlett.

The letter related "at this moment was so mad that she had (picture of a knife drawn here) and was going to cut him (Starkweather)."

"She knot (knocked) the gun from Chuck's hands. Chuck just stood there saying he was sorry he didn't want to do it. I got Chuck's gun and stop my mom from killing Chuck."

"Betty Jean (the child) was yelling so loud I hit her with the gun about 10 times. She would not stop. Chuck had the (again a picture of a knife) . . . he let it go. It stopped somewhere near her head."

Mrs. Bartlett was shot to death. The letter did not say who fired that shot. The child died of head wounds.

The defense has pleaded Starkweather innocent by reason of insanity, a move counsel said Charles opposed.

Calls Car Seat Belt Best Safety Feature

DALLAS (U-P) — "We feel the lap belt is the best auto safety feature, we have the people will wear," an Air Force official studying auto safety said yesterday.

Capt. John D. Moseley, biodynamics branch chief of the Air Force Missile Development Center at Holloman Air Force Base, N.M., said statistics show 60 per cent of those killed in auto accidents would have survived if equipped with safety belts. He said his experiments show shoulder harnesses will prevent even more deaths.

Moseley said the motorist of tomorrow may be strapped to the floor by a seat belt and to the roof by a shoulder harness.

He said hydraulic bumpers and roll-over bars for open-top vehicles also show great safety promise.

Blight is a dangerous sneak-thief. Decay anywhere in your community can steal your family's security by breeding slums. Slums raise your taxes, lower your property values, rob you of school and business facilities.

Blight is also a killer. It thrives on carelessness and neglect. From one run-down home it spreads stealthily outward, street by street. In no time at all, whole neighborhoods are strangled, destroyed.

Stay alert. You have a personal stake in your neighborhood. Begin by keeping up your own home. Then join with your neighbors in local community-improvement groups. You'll find people eager to help. Working together, everybody gains—everyone can enjoy better living in better neighborhoods.

Handicapped Look Forward to Tuesdays

By PETE LOCHBILER

They have a lot of fun Tuesday nights at Mark Twain School's orthopedic center.

Not the physically handicapped grade school pupils, but rather young adults and high school students getting together in an experimental program of the Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department.

For persons used to wheel chairs and crutches, the social evenings are a welcome event. Their sessions resemble those that take place in the living room of your home without rolling up the rug.

A friendly card game or an in formal discussion of jazz and the classics; an occasional game of bingo or charades; some group sings and barber-shop quartet—this is the basis of the program the department has worked out with the help of parents, professional therapists and a group of interested club women.

Some of the more ambitious participants go in for crafts and painting. Occasionally a kitchen-lover prepares pizza at home, warms it up at school and serves it to an appreciative crowd.

The group also likes to mark such occasions as birthday parties with cake and ice cream.

"They're informal sessions where the emphasis is on having fun in a relaxed atmosphere," explained Leonard T. Buzz, the department's recreation supervisor.

The experiment began in February and is working out so well, Buzz said, that a summer program is being planned which includes such possibilities as picnics and Detroit band concerts.

About 20 participants have signed up for the weekly two-hour sessions, which are usually attended also by a couple members from the Howarth Community Extension Club, a Lake Orion group that furnishes refreshments and enthusiasm.

The program also has the help of three of the orthopedic center's specialists—Eleanor Trout, physical therapist; Ann Lundblad, occupational therapist; and Beverly Eaton, speech therapist.

One or the other of them volunteers her time each session to help out. Herman Kurth, Parks and Recreation social recreation leader who is in charge of each evening's activities.

"The program shows what can be accomplished with the fine help of volunteer groups and specialists, working in cooperation with the department," said Buzz.

One fireman injured quelling forest blaze

ROSCOMMON (U-P) — One firefighter was injured and a truck destroyed yesterday in quelling a forest fire that destroyed 550 acres of timberland five miles north of Roscommon.

The blaze shot across fire lines when whipped by shifting wind gusts.

Kenneth Haines of Roscommon was burned severely while fighting the fire and a State Conservation Department truck caught fire and was destroyed.

The bases will be located within 60 miles of the Iron Curtain, the informants said.

Hints Soviets Have Sputnik Troubles

WARSAW (U-P) — The Soviet Union has run into trouble trying to launch a third Sputnik, a top Soviet scientist hinted last night.

Addressing the Polish Astronautical Society, Prof. Jurij A. Pobiedonosev said preparations for putting up a new Sputnik were nearing completion.

He was asked by a Polish newsman whether Soviet scientists ran into some kind of failure during launching attempts similar to the mishaps experienced by American rocket experts.

"The Soviet scientist replied: 'As you know the problem is a very complicated one and some attempts may fail.'"

Pobiedonosev said the Soviets now are working on a rocket to circle the moon and take pictures of the side man has never seen. He was vague about when it might be fired—"this year or next year, or some time in the future the attempt will be made."

Finds Children Quickly Learn How to Worry About Money

(This is the second of three articles providing expert advice on how to manage your money and debts better and ease the family strains that money troubles produce.)

NEW YORK (INS) — Children

are quick to pick up their parents' worries about money.

"They share the tension when the father brings home a smaller paycheck or when he is laid off."

MAKES DIFFERENCE

Prof. Frances L. Feldman, author of "The Family in a Money World," said children soon learn that money can make the difference between happiness and unhappiness, between security and insecurity. She added:

"In the working-class group, the lack of money is likely to be brought much more directly to the child's knowledge. He may have feelings of insecurity when parents are worried about money."

"But he is also fairly clear about the fact that the insecurity is associated with money and not with his relationship to his parents."

CONFUSION ARISES

"In the white-collar, middle-income group, a different kind of confusion arises. Parents tend to conceal money difficulties from their children."

"But they use money to show love and approval and to mete out punishment. Material acquisitions are seen by the parents as signs of achievement, success and status."

When the money stops flowing freely in such families, the children tend to feel that there has been a real break in the happy state of affairs between them and their parents.

PARENTS WARNED

Prof. Feldman cautioned against "buying" a child's affection or cooperation, saying:

"The use of money as a bargaining agent to secure the child's cooperation in doing his share of the family tasks is a poor substitute for helping him achieve a sense of his importance, both as a receiving and as a contributing member of the family."

"Bringing a child with money to put forth more effort in his school work or to practice his music lessons sets up false stimuli for achievement. It emphasizes the reward rather than personal development and the increased satisfaction that comes with accomplishment."

"In the same way, putting a monetary price on the child's good behavior, or his willingness to go to the dentist sets up false motivation."

"Depriving the child of money in order to force him to atone for a misdeed or fore carelessness or for an injury to another is likewise inappropriate, since the payment of money cannot, in fact, compensate for such actions and may lead the perpetrator to believe that any kind of conduct is acceptable as long as he can pay for it."

Parents who substitute money for home training are doing their children a disservice. Such children, according to Prof. Feldman, grow up without knowing the real relationship of money to living.

Of course, parents must teach their children to live in a money world. Prof. Feldman suggested an allowance, at about age 10, to give children increased experience in money management.

Eventually, the youngster will want to buy something that costs more than one week's allowance. At this point, according to Prof. Feldman, the boy or girl becomes interested in saving. She continued:

"For the child's education, it is the principle of saving that is of importance, that is, to learn to postpone immediate pleasure in order to gain future satisfactions."

Prof. Feldman also explained that parents should teach their children to be honest—at all times. She warned against "small kinds of cheating in which parents indulge and in which the children become active partners," saying:

"Lying about children's ages to gain cheaper admission to movies or trains is an example. Such dishonest practices contributed to a corruptible conscience."

Electronic Brain Explores World of Chemicals

KANSAS CITY (U)—The Midwest Research Institute has begun pitting an electronic brain against almost 750,000 chemical riddles.

Dr. Charles N. Kimball, president of the institute, told some 300 scientists and businessmen about it last night at a dinner.

Midwest Research is a privately financed organization which takes on research problems for industries, foundations, the government and the armed forces.

Dr. Kimball estimated there are about 750,000 chemical compounds. So far, scientists have found commercial and medical uses for about 3,000 of them.

"It is almost certain that among the unused 99 per cent there must be lying dormant many new products for industry as well as cures for diseases," he said.

"Our project so far has matched up chemical structure and the end use of the 3,000."

This information is loaded into a computer at the Vanguard information center in Washington. The idea is to confront the electronic brain with similar information about compounds for which there are now no uses. The brain strains this data through what it knows about the 3,000 and may be able to suggest applications for the others.

Methodist Churches in Fight With Bishop

FEDERALSBURG, Md. (U)—Unless the bishop gives them a minister of their own, parishioners of two Methodist churches here say they are cutting appropriations for a minister's salary to $2,000.

"The power of appointment is with the few . . . but the power of the purse is still in the pew," according to an old saying the local Methodists have adopted for their fight with Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam.

The bishop has announced intentions of assigning just one minister to serve both Union and Christ Methodist churches, both located in Federalburg.

Officials of each church maintain they are offering effective programs and are entitled to have their own ministers.

They contend the bishop, in effect, is forcing them into a merger for which they are not ready financially. Union Church has 600 members and Christ Church has a membership in excess of 200.

Editor Called in Powell Case

Grand Jury Probing Possibility of Pressure Leading to Indictment

NEW YORK (AP)—The clash between a federal prosecutor and a magazine editor over income tax evasion charges against Rep. Adam Clayton Powell Jr. led to a grand jury room today.

William F. Buckley Jr., editor of the National Review, a conservative weekly, was subpoenaed to appear before the grand jury.

The jury is investigating the possibility of outside influence in the case which led to the indictment of Powell, Harlem Negro Democratic congressman and clergyman.

Buckley, accusing U. S. Atty. Paul W. Williams of trying to intimidate the National Review, has said he plans to complain to the American Society of Newspaper Editors.

Last December, the magazine printed a review of the Powell case, then lying dormant so far as grand jury proceedings were concerned. The article criticized the government's delay in pressing the case.

Buckley said he sent copies of his magazine containing the Powell article to members of the grand jury.

Williams, commenting on Buckley's complaint, said: "There is nothing involving freedom of the press here. The press has always been free to publish anything it wanted about the matter. However, freedom of the press does not encompass the sending of personal communications to jurors."

The grand jury investigating Powell's federal income tax affairs reconvened last April 17 after the case had been inactive for 14 months. The grand jury indicted Powell on tax evasion charges last Thursday.

Powell is scheduled to plead to the indictment Friday in United States District Court.

Within the next ten years you likely will be able to dial a telephone number to Europe directly from any point in the United States, reports the Illinois Institute of Technology.

New laxative discovery re-creates 3 essentials for normal regularity.

As you grow older, the internal muscles of your colon wall also age, lose the strength that propels waste from the body. Stagnant bowel contents become so dry and shrunken that they fail to stimulate the urge to purge. Relief, doctors say, lies in a new laxative principle. Old-style bulks and moisteners may create gas, take 3 or 4 days for relief. Old-style salts and drugs cramp and gripe the entire system. Of all laxatives, only new COLONOID gives you its special 3-way relief that works only on the lower colon (area of constipation).

(1) COLONOID moisturizes dry, hardened waste for easy passage without pain or strain. (2) COLONOID's unequalled rebulking action helps restore flabby colon muscles. (3) And COLONOID acts gently, on the nerve reflexes that stimulate the vital "mass movement" of your lower colon. COLONOID relieves even chronic constipation overnight, is so gentle it was hospital proved safe even for women in critical stages of pregnancy. And COLONOID won't interfere with absorption of vitamins or other food nutrients. Get COLONOID today!

Security for You

Most Oldsters Need Regular Exercise

By RAY HENRY
Take it from a 72-year-old expert: Chances are you should exercise regularly as you get older — even after 65 — to stay in good health.

The advice comes from Dr. C. H. McCloy, a professor of physical education at the University of Iowa since 1930 and a physical education teacher since 1905.

But, he warns, you should check with your doctor before you set up a regular exercise routine. How is your heart? Your kidneys? Your blood pressure? Your joints?

"There are some oldsters," he points out, "with defective hearts or with high blood pressure — and some with rheumatism or arthritis — who are restricted as to the amount of exercise they can and should take. For the normal aging person with no serious disabilities, a reasonable amount of exercise is not only indicated, it is extremely beneficial."

Many people are aware of the need for exercise, McCloy says, to increase their strength and to improve the function of their vital organs. They have learned they "feel better" if they take some regular exercises.

On the other hand, he says: "Many people past 40 have become increasingly frightened of exercise. They have been told by mistaken authors to exercise as little as possible and to get what exercise they need by moving a fountain pen. Lots of people are looking for just such an excuse to keep from exercising."

McCloy predicts that a normal person who takes such advice will gradually get weaker and weaker. He'll tend to sit more and more and his body will be less and less flexible. The result: Pretty soon he becomes convinced he's old. This just shouldn't happen, McCloy feels.

"The human machine can become more efficient either by becoming stronger or by decreasing the load carried — that is, losing some overweight — or both."

The normal aging person, McCloy believes, can — in anywhere from 12 to 20 weeks of regular exercise — become 25 per cent stronger and a good deal more flexible. And, he'll feel that he's added proportionately more life to his years.

How can he go about it? "Just start in and exercise from 10 to 15 minutes a day, plus adding a few other movements for flexibility. Add such an exercise routine to your other hygienic regimens — such as shaving, tooth washing, bathing and eating properly — and see how much more life you have in six months."

"Remember: It's just as important for the normal person's health to exercise regularly as it is to eat properly."

Will Hike Again, but Only 15 Miles Instead of 186

WILLIAMSPORT, Md. (AP)—Some of the boys who hiked it up along the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal towpath four years ago will get together here Friday and Saturday for their annual reunion.

Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas, who led the 186-mile hike from Cumberland to Washington in 1954, will be here with 200 other nature lovers from Washington and nearby Maryland points.

They will hike only 15 miles this year from dam No. 4, about 15 miles south of Williamsport, into the city as part of the campaign to save the old canal as a natural beauty spot.

Speakers at the Saturday banquet will include Douglas, Sen. Richard L. Neuberger (D-Ore), Rep. John Blatnik (D-Minn) and Conrad I. Witth, director of the National Park Service.

Ike Expected to OK Military Pay Boost

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower is expected to sign a bill that would start bigger pay checks flowing to most members of the armed services as of June 1.

The measure — aimed at encouraging trained personnel to stay in uniform — was passed finally by the House and Senate yesterday. It is generally in line with Eisenhower's recommendations.

Under its terms, virtually all servicemen with at least two years duty would get pay boosts ranging from 6 to 60 per cent, with the biggest hikes going to generals, admirals and other senior officers.

The bill is designed primarily to benefit active duty military personnel, but also would apply to reservists and those on the retired list. Personnel in the Coast Guard, the Public Health Service and the Coast and Geodetic Survey would get higher pay, too. The increases would cost an estimated $76 million dollars the first year.

Iowa, California, Pennsylvania and Minnesota lead the nation in their annual production of eggs for market.

Fence Is More Than a Barrier

PORTLAND, Ore. (INS)—The fence, according to a leading Oregon landscape architect, is often the most misunderstood and misused element of a garden.

Robert Hale Ellis, Jr., a member of both the American and Oregon Societies of Landscape Architects, warns against regarding a fence as only a barrier.

"Remember the purpose of landscape design is to enhance the dwelling, not to add complications which detract from the house and the beauty of the site," he says.

If, "in suburban developments, the fence must be used to shut out the rest of the neighborhood, Ellis calls for thought to achieve a decorative result."

Don't, he pleads, make a hand-somely designed wood fence "monotonous and heavy by placing it along the lot line like an industrial installation."

Add textural contrasts and dimensional relief. Put in a section of appropriate planting to act as a supplementary screen.

Fences, the landscape architect recommends, must be in proportion to the height of the house and must not be too massive for the size of the lot.

"Keep your fence as light and airy as possible to avoid a boxed-in feeling," he urges.

Rework Furniture With Power Tools

You can revitalize and beautify rustic early American furniture speedily with easy-to-use portable electric tools.

To give new life to such wooden items, remove the old finish by sanding to the grain with an electric sander or the sanding attachment of a portable electric drill. This will permit you to bring out the natural grain for true beauty of these old furniture pieces, point out the woodworking specialists.

After sanding and removing dust particles, brush on two thin coats of clear shellac. If you want to stain the furniture, apply the stain before putting on the shellac.

Paint Remedies Defects

Defects can be minimized like magic. If a chimney is gut of proportion to the rest of the house, painting it the same color as the house will make it blend with the background color. In some homes, the chimney may be a feature and then it should be painted in contrasting color to attract attention.

Better Lighting Lightens Load of Laundry

One more way to reduce the drudgery of washday is to make certain there's plenty of light over your laundry trays.

Comfortable light where you need it most will not only speed work but also help you determine at a glance if clothes are clean.

Here's a tip from General Electric lighting experts for a simple way to replace harsh lighting from a bare bulb with smooth, comfortable energy-saving lighting.

Simply replace the bare bulb with a circular metal reflector, 12 to 14 inches in diameter and a 150-watt silvered bowl lamp bulb. This bulb which has a shiny, mirror-like surface on the inside of its lower portion, aims all the light upward.

The metal reflector which is painted white inside, redirects the light downward on your work smoothly and evenly.

Damp Proof House as Wise Investment

Damp-proofing foundation walls during construction probably makes the least dent of all in the home buyer's pocketbook when he's building, yet failure to damp-proof can ultimately put a big hole in both house and pocketbook.

Damp-proofing involves the application of a special pitch-base coating to the outside of the foundation. This coating seals off the tiny air cells in concrete, mortar and other foundation materials and blocks the entrance of surface moisture. It helps to keep the basement dry and comfortable and adds to the life of the house.

Once the house is built and the foundation filled over, keeping the basement dry becomes a real chore, unless the damp-proofing was done right. Subsequent water seepage may require the installing of pumps, the building of gutters and drains or excavation around the foundation.

Pitch membrane waterproofing is not usually required for the average home unless its substructure is subject to heads of water pressure. For most houses, a pitch-base foundation coating applied according to specification keeps dampness and surface moisture out.

Plumbing Rates High

"First-rate plumbing" was listed as one of the three things that contribute most to a desirable way of life by Noel Coward, playwright-actor. The comment was made by Mr. Coward in the course of an interview with Edward R. Murrow on the "Person to Person" telecast.

Here's How to Repair Broken Window Panes

First, wear heavy work gloves while removing broken glass.

Most of the glass will come out with a little pulling. Knock out stubborn bits with a small hammer, or work putty and glass loose with a putty knife.

With a chisel or putty knife scrape away the old putty. Work carefully. Take care not to damage the sash.

As you remove the putty you will come across tiny, triangular-shaped pieces of metal called "glazier's points." Remove those fasteners with pliers.

Next, measure the inside of the sash. Use a rule or steel tape, to insure accuracy. Measure width and height in several places to compensate for irregularities in frame.

Have glass cut $\frac{1}{8}$ to $\frac{3}{16}$ inch smaller than actual frame measurement to allow for expansion and contraction of frame and glass due to temperature changes.

Brush the frame with linseed oil or light paint. Putty will adhere better, and won't dry out as quickly as when applied to untreated wood.

PUTTY CUSHION

Apply a putty cushion around inside of frame. Press the new pane gently but firmly into the putty

Building Center Open to Public

For the first time, residents of Michigan have a permanent building products exhibit center to turn to in selecting materials when building new homes or modernizing existing units.

Showcase, Inc. of Birmingham is now open for public viewing with no admission charge.

Located in Birmingham's downtown area, Showcase is of primary interest to the construction industry both in Michigan and Northern Ohio because of its under-one-roof facilities.

Featured exhibit at the newly opened Exhibit Center consists of a patio-garden display dramatizing outdoor living and the flexibility offered with today's modern building materials and lighting techniques.

"Every year, tens of millions of people shop for new homes by visiting models and searching through their favorite mass home service magazines," Mrs. Thelma Shain St. Amour, Executive Vice-President of Showcase, advised.

"In Showcase, we have a living catalog of basic building materials that answers realistically not only the needs of the public but architects and builders as well."

The new Showcase Exhibit Center is open daily, Monday through Wednesday and Saturday 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.; Thursday and Friday 9 a.m. to 9 p.m.; Sunday from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m.

Modernize Fireplaces With Ceramic Tile

For the spring decorator bent on major changes in her decor, try modernizing an old fireplace. Most rooms are designed with the fireplace as the focal point—it should fit the decor planned for the rest of the room.

If your room furnishings are contemporary, try remodeling an old, dark fireplace with ceramic tile. It will give you an unusual opportunity to use bright colors as the focal point of your room.

cushion. Press or drive glazier's points into the wood, using the side of a screwdriver or chisel. Do the long sides first.

In metal sash, attach the clips, beading or glazing strips with a screwdriver. Two clips to a side are usually enough for small panes, while larger ones should have three or four to a side.

Be sure the glass is held firmly in the frame and forms a weather-tight seal with the putty cushion. Knead putty to a smooth consistency and roll strips between your palms until they're about the thickness of a pencil.

Lay strips end-to-end around the sides of the sash. Complete each side as you go. Use a putty knife to press putty firmly in position, then smooth it to the outer edge of the frame.

Make sure that inner edge of putty does not rise above edge of inside of the frame you're putting, if you want a neat job.

Remove putty smudges from glass with a light application of water applied with a soft paint brush. Or, you can permit putty to dry and remove smudges with turpentine.

Let putty set for four or five days before painting it.

STUDY SKYLIGHT—Even on cloudy days, this interior study is flooded with diffused natural light by new type of skylighting device known as Toplite. A prefabricated panel of hollow glass units allows only selected rays of sun to enter. This, plus high insulation quality of glass units, makes room cooler in summer and warmer in winter than other types of non-functional skylights.

Don't overlook the possibility of getting bargains by buying odd pieces of lumber left over from lumber yard cutting jobs.

Storage Area Set in Laundry

A complete laundry center with adequate sorting and storage space can be installed in any kitchen, basement or utility room by a home handyman without cluttering up the house or calling for professional help.

The basic washer-dryer units should be completely enclosed with $\frac{1}{4}$ " Masonite Presdwood over 1x2-inch framing to provide a neat appearance. Sliding Peg-Board doors insure proper ventilation for the center, and can be used to hang decorative cutouts that will enhance the decor.

If possible, the wall area above the appliances should be utilized for overhead storage cabinets that can store soap, detergent, starch, bleach, and other necessary wash day items. Cabinets can be built by gluing panels of tempered hardboard to a lumber framework. Perforated hardboard doors can be added to lend both a decorative and functional touch.

Two extra bins—one for soiled clothes and the other for clean clothes awaiting sorting—can be built on either side of the washer-dryer units if space permits. Smooth-surfaced, splinter-free Masonite hardboard can also be used for these extra bins.

To prevent a "Blue Monday" atmosphere, this laundry center can be painted or stained to match the room's basic decor. This attractive and compact laundry area provides plenty of sorting and storage space for the homemaker, who washes once a week or daily.

Asbestos is a major ingredient of asphalt tile, giving it high resistance to fire.

Shutters Act as Bulletin and Chalk Boards

Inside window shutters are just the thing for a girl's bedroom. They not only block out the light but can serve as bulletin and chalk boards.

Each of the two shutters on the window is made by fastening two pieces of Masonite $\frac{1}{4}$ " Tempered Presdwood together back to back. Small bolts and nuts are used to attach hinges to the shutters.

The exterior side is painted with either a green or black chalkboard paint. For the interior surface choose a paint, enamel or lacquer which harmonizes with the room colors.

Items are attached to the bulletin board side with cellophane tape. The Presdwood is so tough thumbtacks won't work. Drawings showing how to construct the inside shutters can be obtained free by writing a postal to the Home Service Bureau, Suite 2037, 111 W. Washington St., Chicago 2, Ill., and requesting plan No. AE-335.

Asks 2 Changes in Ike's Proposal

Rep. McCormack Says
Defense Unit Wants Clarity, Representation

By LEWIS GULICK
WASHINGTON (U) — Rep. John McCormack (D-Mass.) said today the Defense Department has proposed two changes in President Eisenhower's plan for a civilian space agency.

On change would spell out Defense Department responsibility for space projects of a primarily military nature. The other would increase government and military representation on the advisory board of the proposed civilian agency.

McCormack, the House Democratic leader, called the House Space Committee into closed session to start writing a bill. As committee chairman, he planned to finish the measure by early next week. That would allow House passage by the end of the month.

Meanwhile, the Senate Space Committee headed by Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas scheduled more hearings with Dr. Hugh Dryden listed to testify. Dryden heads the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics, a 43-year-old air flight research bureau which would be absorbed into the space agency under Eisenhower's plan. Dryden has been mentioned as a possible Eisenhower choice to direct the new agency.

Some senators of both parties have been saying that Eisenhower's proposal was too hastily drafted and that it would confer too much power on the civilian agency in directing the nation's future space effort. House committee members have been friendly to the administration bill. McCormack and George J. Feldman, counsel for the House group, said top officials of the Pentagon's space unit—the Advanced Research Projects Agency—were summoned to a closed-door session yesterday to explain some apparent conflict in their testimony before the House and Senate committees.

Dixie Judge Demands Chewing of Tobacco

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. (U) — Forsyth County Judge Hoyle Sink apparently has this tobacco-growing state's interest at heart. Showing irritation as gun-chewing witnesses and defendants in criminal cases testified yesterday, the judge suddenly stopped the proceedings and told one approaching witness:

"You had better get rid of that chewing gum before you come up here. If you're going to chew anything—chew tobacco like a man."

He's Guilty of Stealing Payroll Checks From Walled Lake Store

A 29-year-old Rochester man, whose burglary of a Walled Lake store led to the passing of $1,320 worth of stolen payroll checks, yesterday was sentenced to from 1 to 15 years in the State Prison of Southern Michigan at Jackson. Stephen Kochan, of 1113 N. Oak St., was sentenced by Oakland County Circuit Judge H. Russell Holland, for breaking and entering.

Judge Holland recommended the minimum sentence be served by Kochan who pleaded guilty April 1. Over in Circuit Judge George B. Hartick's courtroom, Mrs. Betty Lou Harris, 29-year-old widow mother of two, received a two-year probation sentence, assessed $100 court costs and was ordered to make restitution totaling $58.

Mrs. Harris pleaded guilty Feb. 17 to passing 14 worthless checks in area supermarkets in February.

The blanks were among 285 checks and $50 which Kochan and his brother, Joseph, 30, of 1644 Baldwin Ave., took Jan. 30 from Sealtest Inc., 237 Ladd Rd. The elder brother was convicted by a Circuit Court jury May 7. He will be sentenced next Monday by Circuit Judge Frank L. Doty.

Japan Note Asks U.S. to Halt Nuclear Tests

TOKYO (U) — Japan has expressed regret over the latest series of U.S. nuclear tests in the Pacific and asked for their immediate suspension.

In a note handed to the U.S. Embassy yesterday, the Japanese government also asked the U.S. government to strive to conclude tests.

Bob Considine Says:

Doubt Red China Opposed to Khrushchev

NEW YORK (INS) — If the reports are true that Red China is supporting the "foes" of Nikita Khrushchev in the Kremlin, a long-range prophecy of Chancellor Adenauer is coming due ahead of time. We don't think it is.

Last month Adenauer told the Hearst reporter team in Bonn that, unknown to the world in general, Khrushchev was having serious economic troubles at home and—at some unspecified future date—the Soviet Union would find that its Red Chinese puppet had grown into a territory-eating dragon.

The old German statesman foresaw a day when Russia might turn to the West in anguish and seek protection and aid in order to survive the assaults of a border nation which now has 600,000,000 (to Russia's 200,000,000) and a birthrate of 12,000,000 a year.

Nobody in the West really knows what is happening behind the high Kremlin wall. The story of Khrushchev's reported troubles with Mao Tse-tung came out of Warsaw, a listening post to be sure but hardly the most sensitive. Right now, it would seem to even a casual observer, the Soviet armed forces could knock out Red China in a couple of days at most, or at least crush its leadership.

There is no reason to believe that Khrushchev has any such thing in mind, nor could he sell it to his people (after selling them all that peace talk) without a direct Chinese attack or strong threat. On top of all, Mao Tse-tung looked quite content and pleased to be a part of the Communist team when he was parading around Moscow last November and signing the solidarity manifesto.

There are bound to be differences of opinion within the Communist world, especially during the reign of a leader who tends to pack his enemies off to the provinces rather than shoot them. Khrushchev seems to be going along the line that might be summed up this way: "Let's have peace, build up our consumer and export goods, link the satellites closer together economically, play down the iron fist of the Red army that polices the empire, and keep people steamed up and working by telling them the U.S. is building up its military strength to attack them."

Here and there along that line he'll run into a bullheaded Tito, who may be flirting for another American loan. Or he'll measure the religious freedom he reluctantly gave to Poland (plus the decollectivization of four-fifths of its farms) against the increased production of that country and

Missile Chief Likes Reorganization Plan

ST. LOUIS (U) — William M. Holaday, U. S. missiles chief, came out in favor of President Eisenhower's Defense Department reorganization plan last night.

Holaday, who carries the title of director of guided missiles, Department of Defense, said the plan would strengthen the hands of the Joint Chiefs of Staff in effecting a balanced missile program. He made the remarks to newsmen after a talk to the Institute of Aeronautical Sciences national Midwestern meeting on guided missiles.

In his talk, Holaday said it is vital that "all aspects of our national defense problem be placed in their true perspective." He said he was confident the Atlas intercontinental ballistic missiles would be ready for use by the end of 1959.

Note Can Explain Reason

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: Invitations have been sent out to my daughter's wedding which is to take place in a little over two weeks. Replies have started to come in and several of the guests have sent regrets. I would like to know if it would be proper to invite other guests in their places."

"The number of guests had to be limited and since some cannot accept, we can ask others in their place. Would this be proper, or might those receiving invitations now be offended at being "second choice"?"

Answer: Instead of sending engraved invitations, write notes and say, "To our great delight we find we can ask a few more friends to Jane's wedding and we do hope so much that you will come."

"Dear Mrs. Post: The daughter of friends of ours has a very lovely and unusual name. I am expecting a baby soon and if it is a girl I would like very much to give her this same name. Would there be any objection to this? Should I ask the mother if she minds my giving our daughter this name, before doing so?"

Answer: If it is a name that can be found in a recognized list of girls' names you are perfectly free to use it. But if it is a made-up name or a special family name, you should most certainly ask her permission to use it. And if she shows any hesitancy in giving her permission, it would be better to choose another name.

"Dear Mrs. Post: I was married a short while ago and received a very handsome wedding present from the office force. Now that I am settled I would like to invite them to come out some evening soon."

"However, some of them are married and I was wondering if it is necessary to invite their husbands (or wives), who are strangers to me, to come too, or may they be omitted?"

Answer: At an evening hour, the wives and husbands should be invited.

Designers Offer Male Style Tips

California's femme fashion sketchers, with an eye to male styles, decided recently that men could use some elegance and glorifying. They offer the following suggestions:

Addie Masters thinks men wear too, too many unnecessary clothes! She suggests streamlined fashions in the summertime.

Jeanette Alexander takes pity on the belted, tied and collared gents . . . offers a loose, chemise-type shirt for men . . . dress up style, to wear on fancy occasions when its "too darn hot" for the standard black tie and all the fussin' that goes with it. How about a male muu-muu?

Dear Abby . . .

Better Tell All

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

"DEAR ABBY: I feel foolish writing to you, but I honestly want your opinion (or if anyone has had experience along this line, I would like theirs). I am in my early 40's and have false teeth. I am about to be married (for the second time) and I know my future wife doesn't know this because she has complimented me many times on my beautiful teeth."

"Do you think I ought to tell her before we marry or should I let her find out for herself?" FALSE CHOPPERS

DEAR FALSE: Before your marriage, lay your cards (and plates) on the table.

"DEAR ABBY: I have been married happily for the past six years, up until three months ago. The girl I was engaged to before I married my wife (she jilted me) came back to town. She asked to see me about an important matter so naturally I saw her. She said she had left her husband and two kiddies because she still loved me. I told her I was happy with my wife and child and I wanted to stay that way."

"Abby, I am the only person she will listen to. I've been meeting her almost every night to try to talk her into going back with her husband. My wife thinks I am having a love affair with this woman, but I swear I am not. How can I convince my wife I am only trying to save this girl's marriage?" TRYING TO HELP

DEAR TRYING: You are not a marriage counselor. "Almost" every night for 3 months is too much time spent on this project. Quit seeing her or you will be looking for someone to save your OWN marriage."

"DEAR ABBY: Will you please settle a question between me and my wife? She has two sisters who are both married and she says that their husbands are MY brothers-in-law. I wouldn't mind having them for my brothers-in-law, but I say they are HERS, not mine. Who is right? Thank you very much."

F. R. P. DEAR F. R. P.: You are right — technically. They are HER brothers-in-law, but just for the sake of family harmony, a husband and wife usually accept the "in-laws" as their own.

"DEAR ABBY: I am 16 years old and my parents will not let me date until I am 18 because my older sister got into trouble when she was 15. I am ashamed to tell the kids I can't date so I have been

New Fur Fabric Looks Like Mink

NEW YORK (NEA) — Season by season, the fur fabrics come closer to resembling the real thing. Increasingly, it's difficult to tell which is beaver and which is not. Now, there's a successful synthetic mink-like fabric complete with long guard hairs, soft under-pelt and pelt separation look never seen before.

The illusion is so complete that even close up this fur fabric is startlingly like mink. It comes, thus far, in silver haze and amber glow, the latter a pastels.

It is, like its sisters and cousins in the same field, weightless and warm, durable and soft. And like the others, it should be cleaned by a furrier's method only.

Men Can Be Stubborn

Women Have to Lead Way to Health

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

The facts I brought you yesterday must have proved to you that women are the tougher sex, that men are much more susceptible to most diseases and have less recuperative powers than women.

The reasons for this have been investigated and argued over for some time now. There are many different ideas. Probably the most prevalent theory has been that men live a shorter time and have more heart trouble because they are under greater stress.

They are responsible for the support of their family and men want them to have their share of the comforts of life. Men also are subjected to great pressure by competition in the world of business. Taxes and the high cost of living have added more strain.

This no doubt does play some part but the newer thought is that there are even more vital reasons. Some authorities believe that the adrenal glands in women are more active than they are in men. Also, the structure of the arteries in the heart differ somewhat from those in a woman's heart. Of course men can't do anything about these anatomical differences except to live hygienically, with care as to diet and exercise and relaxation.

Another theory is that women take better care of their health and visit their physicians more often than men do. This is one thing a wife can do to help. Keep making that appointment with your husband's doctor until he finally gets there. He should go at least once a year. Twice is better.

In the matter of exercise women lead a much more healthful existence. It is a rare man who exercises regularly each day. A woman may not take special exercises but that which she gets doing her housework is far superior to any her sedentary husband has. Try to "sell" your husband on the idea that violent sporadic exercise can be damaging and even dangerous while regular mild exercise is beneficial.

The theory also has been promoted that man's training has made him feel that any show of emotion is unmanly. When confronted with times of great emotional stress he has no safety valve while his wife may let off steam in a flood of tears.

The emotional care of husbands is surely just as important, if not more so, than physical care. The perceptive wife makes home an oasis of understanding and appreciation, of warmth and tenderness. Don't take him for granted or think that he is indestructible.

Anise Flavored Cookies Dipped in Sugar Syrup

Pontiac Press Home Editor
A most unusual cookie recipe is today's choice. It makes a large number of cookies that keep indefinitely. Of course, there's no reason why you can't make half the recipe if you like.

Mrs. Norbert Kubeiak is today's cook. She is a member of the Post Office Auxiliary. Sewing, embroidering and crocheting are her hobbies.

SUCAMINI

By Mrs. Norbert Kubeiak
1 cup granulated sugar
1 cup sifted flour
1 large egg
1/2 cup melted butter or margarine
1/2 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon anise flavoring

Work flour into rest of ingredients; knead until dough is smooth. Cut into small pieces, roll into rope form and tie into little knots. Bake at 375 degrees until light brown.

In a large saucepan combine 2 cups sugar, 1 cup water and 2 tablespoons anise flavoring. Cook until mixture forms a thread when dropped from spoon.

Add all the cookies at once and keep them moving in the syrup until all liquid is absorbed. Remove from stove and toss pan to dry cookies. They will look sugared when all the liquid has been absorbed. Let cool and store.

Show Respect by Cleaning Up Grave Markers

If the headstones on your family plot have become dull and dirty, it's a mark of respect to clean them on your next visit to the cemetery.

Whip up a thick lather with soap or detergent and water. Add half a pound of powdered pumice and half a cup of ammonia and mix well.

After brushing loose dirt from the stone or monument, apply this mixture with a stiff brush and let it remain half an hour or so.

Then rinse with clear water—preferably warm water which may be carried along in a picnic jug.

The American Red Cross has about two million volunteer workers on its staff.

Cleaning Mirror Is Two-Day Job

The simplest method of washing mirrors, known to all homemakers, was the one used recently to clean the 200-inch mirror in the Palomar Observatory telescope.

For two days, workmen applied detergent suds, rinsed, and polished with chamols. The only difference from home mirrors: the one at the observatory had a three-year accumulation of dirt!

Super-Premium

200,000-mile test proves it

• Now, a 200,000-mile test backs up what GOLD CROWN users have said all along—"We get extra miles per gallon with GOLD CROWN!" The 100 car owners who took part in this test proved it in three months of everyday driving!

So, for thrifter BIG BONUS mileage and smoother BIG BONUS performance, try it in your car—GOLD CROWN Super-Premium. There's never been a gasoline like it!

*You expect more from Standard

100 private cars were driven by their owners for three months of ordinary daily rounds—to school, shopping, work... in city traffic and on the highway. No professional drivers, no charted courses. Gold Crown was tested the way we all drive.

Cars that started the test using competitive brands were switched to Gold Crown Super-Premium. Complete records of mileage and gasoline were kept throughout the test. The drivers did not know what brands of gasoline they were testing.

Accurate records—to tenths of a mile and fractions of a gallon—proved what so many Gold Crown users have reported... extra mileage with Gold Crown, particularly at highway speeds, when fouled spark plugs waste power and fuel.

One big reason Gold Crown gives more miles—a few tankfuls restore full fire to most fouled spark plugs. Plug on left is fouled, spark erratic, wasting gas. Plug at right shows how Gold Crown restores spark action for full power, more mileage.

Pontiac Township Employees Rehired at Lively Meeting

PONTIAC TOWNSHIP—An economy-minded group of about 60 citizens provided spirited discussion on almost each item of the agenda as the Pontiac Township Board met in its bi-monthly session last night to approve salaries and reappointments of township employees.

The present attorney, assessor, fire chief and a clerk all had been rehired by the time Supervisor Leroy Davis sounded the gavel adjourning the meeting four hours later, but not before residents and board members alike voiced objections to practically every proposal.

There also were some strong comments from the floor on what the residents termed inequalities in the tax assessments and "double taxation."

Carl Schingek was rehired as fire chief with the added duties of electrical inspector. The board voted him the same salary he received last year, $5,040, overriding objections from the floor that the general fund from which he is paid was not intended to provide for an electrical inspector.

Mrs. Irene Bates was retained as all-around clerical assistant in the township offices. She was hired in a split vote to work five days a week and six days during the tax collecting period.

Trustee Richard Avery had proposed Mrs. Bates be employed on an on-call basis, working only when summoned by the board.

Also retained by the township were Assistant Assessor Clayton Lovelace and Attorney Donald Adams.

Lovelace's annual salary will be $5,500, about $500 less than last year. His work load, however, will be lessened in order to permit him more time on his project of getting detailed descriptions of properties for a more uniform evaluation. He was granted an expense account of up to $1,400 a year and given the added duties of building inspector.

Replying to charges from the floor that Pontiac Township residents are having their properties assessed at a higher percentage of their market value than neighboring townships, Lovelace said:

Death Car Driver Bound Over Here

Bound over to Oakland County Circuit Court today for arraignment, following an examination in West Bloomfield Township Justice Court, was Edward F. Petsch, 50, a Detroit salesman whose car collided with an auto-wrecker April 30 causing the death of a Pontiac father of four.

Petsch, of 8602 Beechdale Ave., took the stand to tell that he didn't see the truck driven by Anthony Grassi, 70, of 27 Edna St., approaching from the west on Square Lake road at Franklin road in Bloomfield Township.

Grassi, a gas station employee, was dead on arrival at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

Petsch was released by West Bloomfield Township Justice Elmer C. Dieterle on a $1,000 bond. His arraignment is scheduled for 1:30 Monday.

Blame Faulty Stove for Blaze in Leland

LELAND — A faulty stove was believed the cause of a fire which destroyed a women's apparel shop in the Leland business district today.

Mrs. Edmund M. Littell, who opened the Joyce of Leland Dress Shop last summer, was unable to determine the stock loss immediately. Fire Chief John Van Raalte estimated the two-story frame building valued at more than $10,000. No one was injured in the blaze.

Probation, Child Support, Burial Costs

Metes Out Stiff Sentence to Loaner of Death Car

A man who was asleep at home at the time of the accident has been sentenced to five years probation for manslaughter in a traffic crash that took two lives.

William Marshall, 33, of River Rouge, loaned his car to Neil McClary, 18, of Lake Orion, Feb. 3 after they spent the day drinking. He then went to bed.

McClary struck a car driven by James Goldron of Taylor Township. Both died and a Circuit Court jury in Detroit found Marshall guilty of manslaughter because he loaned the car to McClary while the youth was intoxicated.

Under probation, Marshall must: Not drink for five years, pay $1,275 to bury Goldron, not drive for the first two years, drive only for business for the last three years; and pay $15 weekly support to Goldron's three children. Marshall's attorneys said they will appeal the verdict to the State Supreme Court.

The first step in remedying this situation is to get all the property descriptions on paper.

"I'd like to see uniformity first," he said. "Then we can work to get the tax-assessing factor down by comparing our properties with those in other townships."

The board adopted a motion to add money from its general fund to the liquor money it turns over to the Oakland County Sheriff's Department for extra police protection.

A letter from Sheriff Frank W. Irons stated that nine new deputies were hired last year and that $156 each month was needed from the four townships paying for the extra service to cover increased salary expenses.

One resident called this double taxation, saying that the county funds should cover police protection.

Two political candidates stopped by to make a few short remarks at the meeting. They were State Senator John B. Swainson, democratic candidate for lieutenant governor, and Mrs. Betty Hansen of Pontiac Township, who filed a non-nominating petition for election to the Pontiac Board of Education.

A special assessment district will be established with a bond covering a 10 year period for cost of the improvement.

The resolution is subject to the approval of the Oakland County Road Commission after which the township will ask for sealed bids on the work.

"The work should be completed some time this summer," Supervisor Elmer Johnson said.

In other business, board members repealed an ordinance concerning disorderly persons in the township. The state attorney general has ruled that townships do not have the power to enact or enforce such an ordinance.

The board approved the erection of five stop signs in the Silver Crest Subdivision on Silver Lake road near Dixie Highway.

Clerk James Seeterlin was authorized to advertise for bids on three insurance policies for the township which will be awarded May 26.

Christian Platou is the 2nd foreign exchange student to come into his own as an area track star. The Bergen, Norway native joins Danish lad Peder Jensen of Milford in the local sports limelight.

Platou has improved steadily since the season began and now is rated Cranbrook's outstanding miler. He has scored consistently against topnotch opponents since hitting 4:56 in his 1st start and also has paced the two mile relay team.

Running in competition is not exactly new to the present Birmingham resident. Chris excelled in a cross-country type sport called Orientation in Norway. Orientation courses include rugged mountain paths. The aim of the sport is for the runners to try to arrive at a given destination after a "blind start."

Platou will return to Norway this summer to finish high school and prepare for entering the University of Norway.

Red Wing Star Awarded Honor for 4th Time

Only 1 Other Player in NHL Ever Picked for Four Trophies

MONTREAL, N.B.—Gordie Howe of the Detroit Red Wings today equaled all time record by winning the "most Valuable Player" award of the National Hockey League for the fourth time.

The 30-year-old All-star right-winger receives the Hart Trophy, emblematic of the honor, and a cash prize of $1,000.

This is the second straight time he has won the trophy and the fourth time in his 12-year career with the Red Wings. The only other player ever to win four Hart trophies was Eddie Shore, former defense star of the Boston Bruins.

Howie Morenz of the Montreal Canadiens won the award three times. No other player has won it more than twice.

Howe polled 105 points of a possible 180 in the post-season balloting among sports writers and broadcasters of the league.

Andy Bathgate, right winger of the New York Rangers, was second with 70 points. Doug Harvey, Montreal defenseman, was third with 41.

Howe, a 6-foot, 195-pound powerhouse from Floral, Sask., scored 33 goals and collected 44 assists during the 1957-58 campaign. Only once in the last nine seasons has he scored fewer than 30 goals and that time he scored 29.

Other high in the Hart Trophy voting were: Henri Richard, Montreal, 40; Glenn Hall, Chicago, 37; Bill Gadsby, New York, 9; and Camille Henry, New York, 6.

Willie Has Five RBI's as Giants Win, 12-3

Mays Belts Dodgers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Weep no more for Willie, now that Mays has untroubled those Los Angeles Dodgers and discovered they're his old Brooklyn buddies.

After 22 games with San Francisco this season, Willie was batting a dandy .372, but folks were concerned. The kid who had led the Giants in home runs and runs-batted-in for the past four years had only nine extra-base hits, and only one of those a homer, while knocking in just nine runs.

Then he recognized those Dodgers, the guys he's always killed, and Willie started belting. In three games against Los Angeles he's rapped five home runs, driven in 11.

Mays hit a pair of homers, one his second grand-slam in the majors, and had five RBI last night as the Giants ripped the Dodgers 12-3 and moved back within a half-game of the National League lead with their fifth straight victory.

It was the fourth consecutive defeat for the Dodgers, who plunked into the cellar for the first time since July 2, 1948, while the St. Louis Cardinals quit a three-week stay in eighth place by winning their fifth in a row, 6-4 at Chicago, in the only other game scheduled.

Stan Musial doubled for his 2,999th hit, but after grounding out three times, he was "benched for hitting" by Manager Fred Hutchinson for today's game with the Cubs. Unless he's needed for a pinch-hit assignment, the Cards figure to save The Man's 3,000th hit for the home fans.

Mays triggered a 17-hit attack as the Giants made it five in a row over Los Angeles. Darryl Spencer also counted two homers. Ruben Gomez won his third, all against the Dodgers, with a six-4TH TIME—For the 4th time in his 12 years in the National Hockey League, Gordie Howe of the Red Wings was named to receive the Hart Trophy as the Most Valuable Player in the league.

Prep Golfers Win Close Ones

Birmingham, Waterford and St. Frederick all pulled out hard-earned golf victories over local rivals yesterday.

Pete Green's 77 paced the Maples to an 8 1/2 to 6 1/2 victory over Pontiac in a match with only three strokes difference in medal scoring. Gary Mow fired a 76 for medalist honors.

Waterford handed Walled Lake its initial season setback 173 to 174. Chuck Canterbury and Dennis Alden had 41s for the Skippers. Jack Harris and Young had 42 each for the losers.

St. Fred extended its record to 7-3, downing Holly 320-322. The Rams were five down late in the match when Mike Fraser gained a seven-stroke victory to turn the tide. Joe Keller and Pat Secoy of St. Fred and Holly boys Darrel Kinney and Glen Gromett all had 42s.

Expect Little Action at Nebraska Polls

OMAHA (U) — Nebraska vote today in a primary election widely forecast as probably the lightest in many years.

A combination of favorable crop outlook, a dearth of issues, a heavy field of incumbents and prospects of rainy weather prompted predictions that no more than 180,000 ballots would be cast.

At stake are a U.S. senatorship, four congressional seats and control of the Nebraska Statehouse, a Republican stronghold for the last 18 years.

Only once since 1940 has a Democrat broken through the GOP ranks. That was in 1948 when Eugene D. O'Sullivan of Omaha won a single term in the

That the highest divorce rate in America is found on the West

Studio Tells Lana: Come Back to Work

HOLLYWOOD (U) — Universal-International Studio has answered Lana Turner's question.

The actress, whose private life made tragic headlines last month said recently she would like to return to work, "if anybody will have me."

U-I announced yesterday that Miss Turner has signed to star in a re-make of the 1934 hit film, "Imitations of Life."

The announcement had an added significance for Hollywood. The studio has been virtually shut down for months, and trade sources professed to see an economic upturn in U-I's return to production.

Quick Success Greeting Oscar Levant on Video

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (U) — Back from amnesia, Oscar Levant has found quick success on television.

"Success—I hate that word," mumbled the perverse Oscar, wearing a tweed suit with a slept-in look.

But he is a success, thanks to a local TV show on which he interviews eggheads and entertainers, plays the piano and rambles about poetry, art and his life.

I saw him at his home at the end of a practice session with Fred Astaire. After Fred left, the super-neurotic Levant talked about himself, of course.

Author Says Reds Would Shoot Marx

EAST LANSING (U) — A political scientist says if Karl Marx were alive in Russia today he probably would be shot as a traitor.

Dr. Alfred G. Meyer, Michigan State University professor and author of books on Marxism and Leninism, surveyed what has occurred in the 75 years since Marx died.

"Marx would not be able to reconcile himself to the political tyranny in Russia today," Meyer said.

He credited the German socialist with exerting an influence on the world that cannot be overestimated.

"If we were to single out the one social thinker who had the greatest impact on world history in the last 150 years, we would have to choose Marx," Meyer said.

Man Gets Real Shock as He Sues Himself

ATLANTA (U) — A suburban East Point man is suing himself—by mistake.

Emmett E. Itson filed papers in East Point city court to recover $87 damages in a broken windshield case. The papers were served on Itson yesterday. He had written his name in the wrong spot and became the defendant instead of the plaintiff.

New Mexico Holds Primary Vote Today

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. (U) — New Mexico voters, most of whom are registered as Democrats, participated in primary elections today.

Highlighting the contests was the hot Democratic competition for gubernatorial nomination. The winner will face Republican Gov. Edwin L. Mechem in November. Mechem is unopposed for GOP renomination.

Willing to challenge him are five Democratic candidates, State Rep. John Burroughs of Portales; Joseph A. Bursey, founder of the state tourist bureau in 1935 and its director since, except under Mechem; Robert C. Dow of Lovington, state attorney general in 1927-28 and unsuccessful candidate for governor in the Hoover landslide; Ingram Pickett, state corporation commissioner, making his third bid for nomination as governor, and Cole Moffett, Albuquerque real estate man.

Challenging Sen. Dennis Chavez for the Democratic nomination as senator is Johnny Walker, 46, a former state land commissioner. Chavez, 70, is in his sixth campaign for the Senate.

There are no contests on either ballot for Congress. Democrats are expected to cast approximately 100,000 votes, and the Republicans around 19,000.

Mom Favors Curfew, Hopes Police Enforce It

ENID, Okla. (U) — Mrs. Nora Belle Dwyer, Enid police woman, thinks parents are mainly to blame for juvenile delinquency.

She reported an Enid mother called the police department regarding the new curfew law and said: "I sure am glad you passed that law. Now maybe you can get my children to stay home at night."

In Interest of Peace and Economy

Make World Travel Easier --- Ike

WASHINGTON (INS)—President Eisenhower has proposed a stepped-up U. S. effort to make international travel easier in the interests of world peace and of bolstering American and other economies.

Mr. Eisenhower sent to Congress a report prepared by Clarence B. Randall, his special assistant for foreign economic affairs, containing the recommendations.

Among numerous proposals for easing travel, Randall urged increasing the customs free dollar value of goods which tourists may bring back to the U. S. and extending the life of a U. S. passport from two to three years.

The report also stressed a need for improving travel and hotel accommodations "to encourage moderate income tourists" in the U. S. and other countries.

Another proposal was that the U. S. Maritime Board "consider the extent of additional tourist capacity to be provided as a factor in granting (subsidy) assistance for liner construction."

With respect to customs, the report urged that the duty-free allowance for returning U. S. tourists be increased to $1,000 every six months. It now is $500.

The report suggested that Congress increase the duty free allowance for foreign visitors to $200 each six months. The law now permits them only a $10 duty free allowance.

The government also was urged to make it easier for visitors to obtain visas through inspection of their eligibility abroad, rather than after their arrival in this country.

The report recommended that the administration create an international travel office under the assistant secretary of commerce for international affairs.

It said: "The U. S. could exercise no more powerful influence in behalf of peace than to display strong leadership in promoting through travel the interchange of thousand additional new students of the world."

Decries GOP Economies

Williams Grudgingly OKs Final Appropriation Bills

LANSING (AP)—Voicing stern protest against Republican economies, Gov. Williams has put his signature on the last of a dozen appropriation bills to finance state government operations in 1958-59.

They include the highly controversial measure cutting about a million dollars apiece from budgets of the University of Michigan and Michigan State University.

The Democratic governor contended the bills do "serious damage" to state schools and agencies "without recovering enough money to make any basic difference in our financial situation."

The last measures signed allocate:

$87,761,741 for higher education, allowing an increase over 1957-58, but dictating a cutback for all state colleges except Wayne State University, which completes its transition from a city to a state-owned school next year.

$63,321,426 for public welfare, a $5,955,882 increase from the governor's budget because of a growing load of welfare cases stemming from the economic recession.

$15,273,000 for public health pro-

Jobless Funds Up to Mitchell

Secretary of Labor Expected to Endorse Extended Benefits

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Labor Mitchell was expected to endorse today a House-passed bill to extend unemployment compensation benefits for idle workers whose rights are exhausted before next April 1.

Chairman Harry F. Byrd (D-Va.) said in advance of Mitchell's appearance before the Senate Finance Committee he had been assured of strong administration backing for the measure.

"I hope we can complete hearings on it this week and can report it to the Senate without any major changes from the form in which it passed the House," Byrd said in an interview.

The House bill generally followed the lines of President Eisenhower's recommendations. It would authorize an estimated 600 million dollars in loans to states, which would have to repay the money. The measure did not, as Eisenhower proposed, make the proposed extension mandatory on the states.

Under the House bill, insured workers in most states would get an additional 13 weeks of payments, but fewer than that in states which now have less than 26 weeks of coverage. The duration and amount of payments vary from state to state.

BOMARC Slated for Air Base at Soo

WASHINGTON (AP)—A BOMARC base to launch the new interceptor guided missile is planned at Kinross Air Force Base, Sault Ste. Marie, the Air Force says.

The Kinross site, one of 10 additional BOMARC bases planned in the announcement yesterday, will be started after July 1 at a cost of 13½ million dollars.

The BOMARC now in production has a range of more than 200 miles. An improved model with nearly double the range and increased killing power against jet raiders now is being tested.

Parody Fades Off Television
Spoofers Must Get OK Before Quoting From Copyrighted Matter
By CHARLES MERCER
NEW YORK (AP)—Will television feel any effects from the recent Supreme Court ruling that Jack Benny violated the copyright laws when he parodied the movie "Gaslight" on the home screen?

No pearls of wisdom on the matter can be squeezed from anyone in the industry here. For one thing, the court, equally divided on the question and thereby upholding a lower court's finding, did not issue any opinions that might generate public discussion of the ruling.

It simply seems to mean that if you take quotations from a copyrighted work in spoofing it you must have the copyright holder's permission.

Both the play and the movie "Gaslight" were chilling melodramas about a Victorian gentleman who tried to drive his wife insane. On Jan. 27, 1952, Benny presented a hilarious parody of "Gaslight" entitled "Autolight" over CBS-TV.

Patrick Hamilton, the author, and Loew's, Inc., sued to enjoin showing the film of Benny's parody.

IMMEDIATE EFFECT
Actually, television felt the effects of the suit long before the Supreme Court ruling.

If memory serves, we have not seen an all-out parody of any copyrighted work on television since the suit was filed. Television, as everyone knows, is a mighty cautious industry.

Issuing a personal opinion on the ruling, I'm sorry as a television viewer that Benny has lost the case. It's one more nail in the coffin that fate prepares for TV comedians. If further limits the area in which they are permitted to try to make us laugh.

Parody is one of the most ancient and honorable forms of public entertainment. Suddenly to find it illegal is astonishing—and a little frightening in the area of freedom of expression.

Friends to Take Over Red Skelton TV Show

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Friends will take over Red Skelton's television show tonight a few hours after his son's funeral.

For the Skelton family, the service for 9-year-old Richard marks the tragic end of a long ordeal. The boy died of leukemia Saturday night after a 15-month bout with the dread blood disease.

Although there were filmed Skelton shows available, the comedian asked the CBS-TV network and his sponsors to leave him off the air entirely tonight. Show business pals Milton Berle, Donald O'Connor, Sidney Miller, Vincent Price and others quickly agreed to go on in his place.

The funeral will be at Forest Lawn's Church of the Reformation. Dr. James Stewart, pastor of the Beverly Vista Community Church, will officiate.

Actor William Lundigan will read the eulogy written by author Gene Fowler. Both are close family friends.

A spokesman for Skelton said word had been received from the Vatican that prayers would be said there also for Richard, although the Skeltons are not Catholics.

Red and his family secured an audience with Pope Pius XII when they visited Italy last summer.

Nation to Honor Its War Dead

Two Unknown Soldiers of World War II, Korea to Be Entombed

WASHINGTON (AP)—Military officials are rounding out nearly two years of planning for entombment of unknown Americans who fell in World War II and the Korean conflict.

On Memorial Day the two unknowns, representing the unidentified dead of each war, will be entombed at Arlington National Cemetery, near the final resting place of the Unknown Soldier of World War I.

Maj. Gen. John G. Van Houten, in charge of arrangements, said yesterday preparations are being made to handle what might possibly be the largest crowd ever to throng the capital.

Highlighting the ceremonies on May 30 will be the posthumous presentation of the Medal of Honor to the two unknowns, who may be either soldiers, sailors, Marines, airmen, or Coast Guardsmen.

The presentation will be made by President Eisenhower, who in World War II was Supreme Allied Commander in Europe. He will place the medals, highest military decoration conferred by the United States, on the two caskets during services in the cemetery's amphitheater. Eisenhower also will speak briefly.

The process of selecting the unknowns for burial at Arlington now is under way. The bodies are due to arrive here on May 27. They then will lie in state in the rotunda of the Capitol.

In a briefing by Army and Navy officers, newsmen were told of plans to move the unknowns to Arlington, across the Potomac, along a route lined by troops of all the armed forces.

While the cortege is in motion, guns will be fired at one minute intervals, and military planes will pass overhead in salute.

Judge Turns Down Probation for Youth

Seventeen-year-old Jerry Lemmert, of Pontiac Township, will begin serving an 18 months to 15 years prison term for breaking into a Pontiac service station April 19.

Circuit Judge H. Russel Holland, in handing down the sentence yesterday, told Lemmert, of 2040 Richmond Dr., that "your record in juvenile court doesn't warrant me putting you on probation."

Lemmert and a companion, Harold W. Anderson, 17, 53 W. Fairmount Ave., pleaded guilty April 28 with burglarizing a gas station at 392 W. Huron St.

Anderson was placed on probation for three years and ordered to pay $100 court costs and $54 restitution within 90 days.

Dennis Crosby Story Disgusts Earl Wilson

BY EARL WILSON

HOLLYWOOD — Along with a lot of other reporters, I took a few licks at the Dennis Crosby story but I actually had little stomach for it.

Any heck who's ever been screamed at by a city editor loves a juicy divorce or marriage, but when we have to slip over the border into paternity secrets, I begin to feel a little soiled.

And when the front pages brought out pictures of the little girl, I wished they hadn't had to do it. I say "had to" because it's news by today's sophisticated standards. If you don't print the news, the other guy will.

Maybe it's because I'm softening up that I felt real sorry for Bing—to me the chief sufferer.

"What's he done to deserve this?" I wondered. "He made a pretty great success out of his life. He became famous and beloved—and now whatever his kids do is big news."

All the jokes about his becoming a grandfather twice in 24 hours—and this little surprise coming at the time of his birthday. What a birthday surprise he got!

And Pat Sheehan — the happy bride! I met her in Las Vegas a year ago — picked her out as an outstanding beauty — talked to her about her baby which she was then bringing to Las Vegas.

Finally, I dropped around to meet Marilyn Scott yesterday at her apartment.

In defense of the papers, they didn't "dig up" this scandal. An anonymous phone call from a woman—topped them off. I asked Marilyn Scott who'd been the tipster.

"I don't know—but there are a lot of women who knew about this," she said, grimly.

Getting back to my lament that I'm sorry about stories like this, you may be thinking, "Wilson's a hypocrite. Why doesn't he just clam up if the whole idea makes him so sick to his stomach?"

A heluva good question! Well, you do it because you're in the business and like all the rest of it.

But it seems to me that since the famous Stromboli affair, everything's been fair game in reporting. That's part of the world's growing decadence. And it won't get any better. It'll get worse. The decadence—and the world, too.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL IN NEW YORK

The Russian ballet—all 70 of 'em—saw "West Side Story" three times, finally decided: "Too sexy" . . . The Met opera role rejected by Groucho Marx was also turned down by Walter Slezak . . . Sugar Ray Robinson (who won't even ride in an elevator) refused to see Kim Novak's film, "Vertigo," which is about fear of height . . . Ex-baseball star Dick Wakefield says he'll run for Congress in Michigan . . . Singer Georgia Gibbs will return to the cafes with a big act "after five years of just doing two-and-one-half-minute songs on TV" . . . The horse used in "Music Man" almost missed the show recently — the trainer explained he'd been stuck in Broadway traffic!

EARL'S PEARLS: The ability to speak in several languages is valuable. The ability to keep your mouth shut in one is priceless . . . That's earl, brother.

Williams Ran Out on People—Van Peurse

LANSING (AP)—House Speaker George M. Van Peurse (R-Zeeland) says Gov. Williams "has run out on the people" in his reaction to a controversy over band music for dedication of the Mackinac Bridge next month.

Van Peurse said he wrote to the Governor 10 days ago asking him to use his influence in seeing that the National Music Camp at Interlochen gets a second invitation to send a band to the dedication. As yet, he said, the Governor has sent no reply.

Missile Workers Out on Strike

Machinists Nix Terms Accepted by Others at California Plant

POMONA, Calif. (AP)—The International Assn. of Machinists struck the Convair guided missile plant here early today. Production personnel left their jobs and picket lines were established.

The action affects 1,777 workers of a total of 4,700 hourly employees the company said.

Convair said no further negotiations were scheduled.

The development came after IAM refused to accept terms of a company offer approved Sunday night by Convair employees in two San Diego, Calif., plants.

The Pomona plant produces Terrier and Tartar missiles for the Navy. Convair's San Diego plants, employing some 31,000 workers, produce the Atlas missile for the Air Force, F102 jet fighters and airline transports.

A company spokesman said he understood the IAM representatives here had tentatively agreed to wage terms and that negotiations broke down during discussions on seniority provisions.

Convair President J. V. Naish said in San Diego that the Pomona facility would continue production. He said any picket interference with employees other than IAM members would be reported to the National Labor Relations Board.

Scientists say none of the other planets is fit to live on. It hardly seems fair to judge all the others by this one . . . A dog's life can't be too bad — someone else pays his taxes . . . An old-timer is one who can remember when the infant to give a woman driver the right of way was based on chivalry. —Earl Wilson.

Noted Bandsmen Appear at Concert Here on Friday

Two renowned figures in the music world will add prestige to the 31st and final spring concert of the Pontiac High School Band Friday.

Guest conductor for the concert will be Richard F. Goldman, internationally known composer, conductor, teacher, lecturer and author of music articles and texts.

Goldman, now chairman of the Department of Literature and Materials of Music, Julliard School of Music in New York City, will conduct the second half of the concert which includes six selections. Among those will be two marches written by his famous father, E. F. Goldman, who died in 1956.

The younger Goldman is now conductor of the Goldman Band.

The second guest of the band will be Leonard Falcone, professor of music and director of the Michigan State University band.

Falcone, a native of Italy, first began his music career playing in a municipal band. He then studied instrumental techniques and conducting under the late Donato Donatelli, Neapolitan bandmaster and later was graduated from the University of Michigan School of Music.

He will play a selection on the euphonium, more commonly known as a baritone. Falcone has been conductor of the MSU band since 1957.

The concert will be presented Friday in the high school auditorium beginning at 8:15 p.m., according to Dale C. Harris, supervisor of instrumental music for Pontiac schools and director of the band.

Try a Chew to Chew

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. (AP) — Forsyth County Judge Hoyle Sink, irritated as gum-chewing witnesses and defendants in criminal cases testified, suddenly stopped the proceedings and told one approaching witness: "You had better get rid of that chewing gum before you come up here. If you're going to chew anything — chew tobacco like a man."

At the turn of the 20th century, total motor vehicle production in the United States was just 4,192 cars.
