

Incorporation on Waterford Ballot Tuesday

Charter Commission Will Be Named to Serve if Vote Passes

Waterford Township voters will cast ballots tomorrow on a proposal to incorporate the township as a city. They also will select nine charter commission members from a field of 21 candidates.

If the proposal passes, charter commissioners will convene within 10 days of the election to begin drafting a city charter.

If the incorporation issue is voted down, the charter commission would be voided because there would be no purpose for its existence.

Passage of the proposal tomorrow will not necessarily mean that the township will become a city.

It would authorize the charter commission to prepare a proposed charter for presentation to the voters in a future election.

LATER ELECTION

Only if the charter is approved at the polls in a subsequent election, would Waterford become a city.

Several township groups are on record as favoring incorporation, and one organization has come out against it.

Proponents include the Waterford Citizens Action Committee for Incorporation (WCACI), the Greater Waterford Community Council (GWCC), the township Junior Chamber of Commerce, the Township Board and the township planning commission.

Opposing the proposition is the Save Waterford Township Committee (SWTC).

Three basic issues have evolved in discussions on the election issue. They are: taxes, fragmentation and borrowing.

Opponents of incorporation contend that taxes will rise if the township becomes a city. They say it is the nature of city residents to expect and demand more services.

MORE SERVICES?

Those who advocate incorporation stress that taxes will remain the same if services remain the same. They concede that added services would result in higher taxes.

Incorporation proponents cite the danger of fragmentation, that is, annexation of township area by an adjacent community or incorporation of land area within the township.

They point out that failure to pass the proposal will leave the township open to fragmentation into numerous weak municipalities.

'NONEXISTENT'

Opponents of incorporation say the danger of fragmentation is almost nonexistent.

They claim that fragmentation is likely to occur when industry develops extensively in one or more sections of an area or where there is a wide range in residential values. Neither of these situations exist in Waterford, they say.

Incorporation boosters maintain that Waterford—as a city could borrow money for improvements at a better interest rate than as a charter township. Opponents say this is not necessarily true.

Bonding experts agree that, generally, cities can borrow at a more favorable interest rate, but not always. The individual case must be considered, they say.

WORDING OF ISSUES

The two election issues will be presented to voters at the polls as follows:

U.S.-Guarded Trip Asked by Mme. Nhu

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (UPI)—Mme. Ngo Dinh Nhu, first lady of the deposed South Viet Nam government, disclosed today she has asked the U. S. State Department "to guarantee my safety on my return to my country."

Mme. Nhu released the text of a telegram she sent yesterday to Secretary of State Dan Rusk in which she said she planned to return to her homeland to "take care of my husband (and) children."

Her husband — former South Vietnamese strongman Ngo Dinh Nhu — and her brother-in-law, deposed President Ngo Dinh Diem — are reported to have been killed in the revolt that toppled their government.

However, Mme. Nhu's three children in South Viet Nam — aged 15, 11 and 4 — were reported safe.

In her telegram to Rusk, Mme. Nhu said:
"Indeed I have requested the press to tell me about my children. I understand that this would be the Vietnamese government which has the American blessing."

"I would therefore appreciate if you could ask the American Embassy in Saigon to guarantee my safety on my return to my country in order to take care of my husband, children and lend all facilities during my stay in Viet Nam and afterwards, if necessary."

ACCEPT OFFER

"If you judge this normal request excessive, would then accept my offer to lend all facilities to send my three children to Rome via Los Angeles — the sooner the better."

"So the children would not feel lost, I wish to have them accompanied by two girls named Amy and Thai, if they come to come, of course."

Mme. Nhu might intend to return to her homeland.

10 in C. of C. Eyed for Board

Ten members of the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce have been nominated for positions on the 1964 board of directors.

They are: John F. Blumy, of Pontiac Motor Division; Thomas P. Bateman, Bateman Realty; Albert V. Conner, Fisher Body Division; William G. Dickinson, Dickinson's Men's Wear; and Harold B. Euler, Pontiac General Hospital.

Other nominees are Rev. Thompson L. Marcano, St. Vincent De Paul Church; Eugene Russell, Michigan Bell Telephone Co.; Alvin B. Steinman, Alvin, Inc.; Harry H. Whitlow, Pontiac Optometric Hospital; and Oakland County Circuit Court Judge Frederick C. Ziem.

Miners Work to Aid Rescue

11 Trapped Germans
Once Reported Dead

BROISTEDT, Germany (AP)—Eleven trapped German miners went back to work today to help in their own rescue nearly 200 feet down in a flooded iron mine where they were caught 11 days ago. Once given up for dead, they were reported laughing and joking.

As a huge drill bored toward them, the men worked in two shifts to reinforce the roof of their tiny chamber to keep it from collapsing when the bit breaks through, probably Wednesday.

Three other miners were rescued Friday, 88 others escaped when the disaster struck, and 29 are missing and given up for dead.

A mine spokesman said the men had not been told when the rescue shaft is expected to be completed, but the men were cheerful despite their long ordeal and confident of being saved.

ROOF SUPPORTS

Steel tubing and plastic were sent down to the men through a small shaft bored yesterday to their small air pocket. The trapped miners were using the material to shore up the roof of their chamber.

Also sent down the tube was the first food for the men since a nearby dam broke Oct. 24 and flooded the mine.

The same rig now boring toward the survivors is the one used to rescue the three other trapped miners last week.

The dramatic discovery of the 11 additional survivors was marred by the question of why the discovery had taken so long.

FORESAW SURVIVORS

At a news conference held by the mine management, two miners shouted that they had known earlier of the possibility of additional survivors.

Rudolf Stein, the mine manager, stated that management had been unaware until last Saturday of the possibility of men reaching the collapsed gallery where the latest survivors were found.

Pressed by reporters to say why the miners did not come forward earlier, Georg Ossandnik, 37, said:

"We didn't say anything because we were afraid of losing our mine-owned apartments."

Tax Resolution Adopted

Romney Sees Dem Support

LANSING (AP)—Gov. George Romney said today he expects Democratic legislators to support his revised tax reform program on the strength of a resolution adopted by the party's state central committee yesterday.

"It seems to me the Democratic resolution coincides with the program now before the House," he said.

"On the basis of the resolution, I'd expect to have Democratic support."

"If this is an accurate assumption, then I think we will have the adequate tax reform that Michigan has needed for so many years."

FIRST RUNDOWN

The first point-by-point rundown of the Democratic party's fiscal reform demands awaits tonight's return of lawmakers to the special legislative session.

Republicans plan caucuses on the revised version of Romney's program.

There were indications of test votes on it this week.

The governor said he had been assured that the bills will be reported out by the House Taxation Committee as a result of the House Republican caucus tonight.

HAMMERED OUT

The list of demands was hammered out yesterday at a Democratic State Central Committee meeting in East Lansing, where State Party Chairman Zolton Ferency termed the revised version unacceptable.

"Substitutes for fiscal reform devised by the administration or any other source merely to provide a record of bills passed without regard to the correction of Michigan's basic fiscal problems would be hollow achievements and should be rejected," said the resolution unanimously endorsed by the committee.

The resolution, with its seven-point outline, was to be sent to Romney, to Democratic lawmakers, and to the joint committee of 10 Republican legislators which worked out the revised program.

THE RESOLUTION DEMANDS:

- A statewide income tax.
- Repeal of the sales tax on food and prescription drugs.
- Repeal of the intangibles tax.
- Repeal of the business activities tax.
- Statewide reform of real and personal property assessment procedures.
- Tax equity for senior citizens.
- Adequate assistance to local units of government and school districts, collected by the state and distributed to local governments.

Road Toll Hits 1,489

EAST LANSING (AP)—Traffic accidents have killed 1,489 persons in Michigan so far this year, provisional figures compiled by state police showed today. The toll at this date last year was 1,351.

Proposals Call for Freedom of Press, Religion

Junta Also Dissolves
National Assembly,
Issues Curfew

From Our News Wires

SAIGON, South Viet Nam — South Viet Nam's "victorious new military leaders tonight issued a program for this strife-torn nation calling for freedom of the press and religion and a quick return of the country to constitutional government."

The official Viet Nam press agency, which disclosed the program in a broadcast declaration, also broadcast orders dissolving the National Assembly, officially removing the late President Ngo Dinh Diem from office and imposing a 7 p.m. to 5 a.m. curfew in Saigon.

The declaration was issued as the military leaders took precautions to keep mobs from desecrating the bodies of Diem and his adviser brother, Ngo Dinh Nhu, who were reported assassinated in the wake of the armed coup that toppled their regime Friday.

(A source in Singapore who was in Saigon during the coup reported that Nhu died while reaching for a hand grenade strapped to his belt. The source said Diem was killed by a pistol shot into the top of his head and that Nhu, still defiant, was hit by three bullets in the body.)

Authorities also took precautions in the old imperial capital of Hue, 400 miles north of Viet Nam, where tension among the population was reported rising.

FEARED MOBS

Officials feared mobs might try to storm the home of another brother of Diem, Ngo Dinh Can, who formerly ruled central Viet Nam with an iron hand for the Ngo family.

The military government declared that "the armed forces are not aiming at setting up a dictatorship because they are well aware that the best weapon to fight communism is democracy and liberty."

"The armed forces are fighting for the sacred interests of our nation," it said, "and will neither serve personal ambition nor cling to power."

It listed a detailed program of internal and external reforms to be promulgated by the ruling military junta.

INTERNAL CHANGES

Internally, it said the junta will:

● Authorize all non-Communist parties "to operate within the framework of national defense security."

● Transfer political power to a popularly elected government "when the situation permits."

● Invite all representatives of all social levels to participate (Continued on Page 2, Col. 4)

Cool Weather Settles on City for Entire Week.

A damp gray mantle of chilly weather has settled on Pontiac. After a blustery weekend, all we can look forward to is a chilly and drippy next five days.

Officially, the temperatures will average three to four degrees above the normal highs of 51 and lows of 37.

But precipitation will total about one-quarter to one-third of an inch in scattered showers tonight or tomorrow and again about Friday.

The lowest temperature before 8 a.m. today was 42. By 2 p.m., it had climbed to 50.

Barry Called Strongest Hopeful in Poll of GOP Chiefs

NEW YORK (AP)—More than four-fifths of 1,403 Republican county chairmen and other leaders who participated in a nationwide Associated Press poll on presidential preferences for 1964 say Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona is the party's strongest candidate against President Kennedy, as of today.

Almost two-thirds of those answering a questionnaire say they believe Goldwater will win the nomination.

Richard M. Nixon, the 1960 nominee, ran slightly ahead of Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York as the potential GOP nominee. Moreover, a number of respondents expressed the belief that the party will turn to Nixon if the nomination convention falls into a deadlock.

On the question of the strongest candidate, Rockefeller topped Nixon by a few votes.

$5.1 PCT. OF VOTES

Goldwater received 65.1 per cent of the votes as the strongest candidate. As of now, however, only 64.2 per cent said they thought he could get the nomination.

Some predicted "Eastern big money interests" would try to block Goldwater's nomination.

Others said that, although they personally approve of Goldwater's conservative views, the party would nominate someone else.

SCATTERED VOTES

Sen. Thurston Morton of Kentucky, Gov. George Romney of Michigan, and Gov. William Scranton of Pennsylvania received some scattered votes. Among dark horses mentioned were Dr. Milton Eisenhower, brother of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, and Henry Cabot Lodge, U.S. ambassador to South Viet Nam. Lodge was the GOP vice presidential candidate in 1960. Others replied "undecided."

2. "Whom do you think the party will nominate in 1964? Why?"

Goldwater—601.
Nixon—72.
Rockefeller—64.

Again, Morton, Scranton and Romney received some votes, but a larger number said "too early to say," or predicted Nixon would be the nominee if Goldwater failed to win on the first or second ballot.

1,308 VOTES

The Republican convention begins July 13 in San Francisco. The tentative apportionment of delegate votes is 1,308.

Republican leaders in New Jersey and Hawaii declined to answer the questionnaire.

IN 47 OF THE OTHER 48 STATES

Goldwater was an overwhelming winner. The exception was New York where Rockefeller received 13 votes to the senator's 4 on the question of the strongest candidate and 10 to 7 as the probable nominee. On both questions, one New York leader voted for Nixon.

20 RESPOND

Only 20 of 62 who were questioned in New York responded to the poll.

Similarly, in California only 19 of 38 answered the question. Of these, 16 went to Goldwater. Nixon is known to have supporters in his home state although he recently moved to New York City.

Goldwater's greatest strength, as reflected by the poll, appears to be in the Midwest and the South.

On the strongest candidate question, those responding in six states—Alabama, Arizona, Louisiana, Mississippi, South Carolina and Texas—were unanimously for the senator.

His vote was close to 90 per cent, or better, in Florida, Georgia, Idaho, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Minnesota, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, North Carolina, North Dakota, Oklahoma, Oregon, South Dakota, Tennessee, Virginia, West Virginia, Wyoming and Wisconsin.

Among some of these states, however, only 20 to 40 per cent of the GOP leaders participated in the poll.

In stating their reasons for preferring Goldwater, an overwhelming number of Republican chiefs said his nomination would give the voters a clear choice between conservative and liberal philosophies.

U.S. Convoy Is Detained by Berlin Border Guards

BERLIN (UPI)—The Soviets are holding up passage of a U.S. Army convoy bound for Berlin in a new harassment of vital highway traffic to this isolated city.

The U.S., British and French commandants of West Berlin met in special session to decide what action to take. The meeting reflected the seriousness with which the Western allies viewed the incident.

House, Store Burglarized in Birmingham

Guns and liquor were reported stolen yesterday in the burglary of a house and party store in Birmingham.

George H. Mayer, 1966 Shipman, Birmingham, said that his house was broken into sometime yesterday.

Two pistols, a record player, 100 long-play albums and 442 in cash were stolen, police said. The estimated value of the goods was $500. A side door was pryed open to break in.

Alban's, 188 N. 2nd, a party store, was burglarized sometime around midnight last night, according to police.

SAFE UNOPENED

A rear window was broke to gain entry. Police said an unsuccessful attempt was made to open the store's safe.

One of the store's owners thought that "a few cases of whiskey might be missing," but the exact amount would not be known until an inventory was taken.

Firm Wins Challenge of Farnum

A Waterford engineering firm that challenged a state auditor general's subpoena in Oakland County Circuit Court has won its case.

Asst. Atty. Gen. Joseph B. Sullivan said today that the subpoena has been withdrawn.

A hearing scheduled today before Circuit Court Judge William J. Beer on the suit against the subpoena by Johnson & Anderson, was canceled.

Sullivan said his research on the issue showed that the information sought under the subpoena "does not fall within the scope of the auditor general's office."

COUNTY DEALINGS

Aud. Gen. Billie S. Farnum had issued the subpoena of Johnson & Anderson's records concerning payments to and dealings with Oakland County Drain Commissioner Daniel W. Barry.

The suit, filed by Felix A. Anderson and the consulting engineering firm, claimed the subpoena exceeded Farnum's authority and was too vague and indefinite.

Sullivan said he did not know whether other means would be sought to gain the information Farnum was after in his audit of county books.

Farnum said the information was not specifically linked to a $5,000 fee paid to Barry by Johnson & Anderson in 1960.

WATERFORD SURVEY

The fee was for a survey Barry did on his own time in connection with plans for a Waterford Township water system.

Johnson & Anderson are consulting engineers for the township.

Disclosure of Barry's $5,000 fee set off a storm of controversy in which Barry said what he did on his own time was none of Farnum's business.

Area Mishap Hurts Woman

A Birch Run woman suffered a leg injury yesterday when the car in which she was riding went out of control and hit a tree on Drahner near Pontiac Road in Oxford Township.

Theda Burrill, 47, is in satisfactory condition at Pontiac General Hospital following the 4:30 p.m. accident.

Sherrif's deputies said that an investigation showed a break in the steering linkage of the car driven by Eugene Burrill, 38. He was not injured.

Another passenger, Agnes Husen, 22, also of Birch Run, was treated and released.

Sterling Twp. May Get New Chrysler Plant

DETROIT (AP)—One of the new factories contemplated by Chrysler Corp. reportedly is to be built in Sterling Township of the Detroit area.

The factory, a stamping plant, reportedly would cost $40 million and employ about 3,500 persons.

Chrysler has declined to comment on the reports. They come from car industry sources.

MORE PLANTS

Chrysler President Lynn A. Townsend said in a speech last week that his company would need additional plants in the Midwest as a result of booming sales and production.

The report that Chrysler would build in Sterling Township came after Townsend's speech.

This would be the first major new facility constructed by Chrysler in the Detroit area since 1948, when the company built its Nine Mile Road factory.

In Killing of Wife

Trial of Attorney Starts

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (UPI)—The prosecution told the jury in the trial of accused wife killer T. Eugene Thompson today that it would show Thompson told his girlfriend early in 1962, "Just give me 11 months" and he would be free to marry her.

Thompson, who is accused of murdering a plot to do away with his wife, Carol, 34, flunked many times during the one-hour opening statement by prosecutor William B. Randall in Hennepin County Court.

Thompson, 35, was a rising St. Paul criminal attorney until the murder of Carol Thompson, mother of four, in their Highland Park home in St. Paul last March 6.

Randall's charges concerning the "other woman" brought in to the open long-simmering rumors that the state would attempt to introduce a sex motive into the case.

TRIPS TOGETHER

Randall said Carol Thompson and her husband made trips together but that "the state will show this defendant made numerous trips with a female companion who was not his wife."

Randall said the state would show the girlfriend told Thompson, "I am going to marry an

Milk Depot Robbed by Duo With Knife

A pair of bandits, one armed with a knife, yesterday robbed Snyder's Milk Depot, 4500 Elizabeth Lake, Waterford Township, of $340 in cash.

Larry Matthews, a clerk at the store, told police the two men came in at 10:40 a.m. and asked to buy some soft drinks.

Matthews said one of the men then hit him in the stomach and dragged him to the rear of the store while the other stood watch at the front door.

After tying him up and gagging him, Matthews said the pair emptied the cash register and fled.

Bruce Wilson of New Baltimore, an ice cream delivery man, arrived at the store about 20 minutes after the robbery and freed Matthews.

Rights Tops Vote Issues

mayor has replied that McDermott is "playing for the white vote."

President Kennedy appeared on Tate's behalf at a fund-raising dinner last Wednesday.

At his Thursday news conference, asked if there might be a backlash from white voters against the Democrats for pushing civil rights measures, Kennedy replied: "Well, I think it is possible. We will have to wait to see Tuesday and I am sure that a good many things will be written into it."

Kennedy carried Philadelphia by 331,000 votes in 1960. Most Republican leaders believe it was his showing in the large Northern cities that cost them the White House that year. They have made determined efforts since to beef up big city Republican organizations.

LARGE NEGRO POPULATION

Perhaps one-fourth of Philadelphia's 2 million residents are Negroes. In recent national and state elections the Democrats' estimated share of the Negro vote has ranged between 74 and 82 per cent.

Some analysts see a Tate victory by 20,000 to 60,000 votes. McDermott has said he'll win by 10,000.

The racial issue also hovers in the background of the Kentucky election. The Republican candidate Louis B. Nunn, has been attacking an executive order issued by Democratic Gov. Bert Combs banning racial discrimination in businesses licensed by the state. The order has been held up by litigation.

Edward T. Breathitt Jr., the Democratic nominee, at first embraced the order. Now he says he would turn the matter over to the next legislature.

RACE ISSUE

Race appears to be the main issue in Mississippi.

In past years, the Democrats closed up their political shop after the party primary, because the winner rarely was challenged.

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (UPI)—Bora Kostic, 76, one of the world's most highly respected grand chess masters, died yesterday. He was Yugoslav grand chess master.

Hatch, executive vice president of the Campbell Ewald Co., was driving one of two cars involved in a collision. He was returning from the Michigan-Northwestern football game at the time.

Angela Bass, 15, of Ecorse and John Hertz, 46, of Wyandotte, father of her boyfriend, John Ronald Hertz, 18, were killed.

Miss Bass and the elder Hertz were riding in a car driven by young Hertz. Also in the car was Mrs. Elizabeth Hertz, 47. Mrs. Hertz and her son were treated for injuries at the University of Michigan Medical Center.

WRONG RAMP

The Washtenaw County Sheriff's Office said Hatch apparently became confused and entered US23 through the wrong ramp from M14 and found himself driving north on the southbound lane of the divided highway. The Hertz car was going south.

Hatch, who suffered minor injuries, was arraigned in Ann Arbor Township Justice Court Saturday night. He was freed in $2,000 bond and ordered to appear Thursday in Municipal Court here.

Adults Join Youngsters in Recreation Program

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — Adults as well as youngsters have responded to the new recreation program here, reports Edwin Wichert, director.

He was "very well pleased" with the 1,173 adults and youngsters who have signed up for fall activities.

Wichert has an extensive program already under way, but still plans expansion. He is now working on a Christmas vacation program.

Sixteen adult evening classes are meeting with about 343 Hills residents enrolled. Convivial French has proved to be the most popular with 33 adults participating.

CREATIVE

Creative activities for youngsters on Saturday mornings have attracted over 200. Six art, six drama and six dance classes are offered.

Wichert's after-school recreation program in six elementary school buildings involves 224 in grades K-6.

Youth activities, including three different choral groups, have a total of 381 enrolled.

The recreation director is working on a list of activities for high school students on Saturday. These will include wrestling, weightlifting and basketball.

DEC. 7 KICKOFF

Wichert has set Dec. 7 as the kickoff date for this program. Basketball will also be offered students in grades 5-6 at two young high sites. The Saturday morning program will be held at East Hills Junior High and Bloomfield Hills Junior High schools.

Albert Roth

Albert Roth, chairman of the board of Hubbell, Roth and Clark, Inc., Birmingham, consulting engineers, died yesterday of a heart attack. He was 71.

A life member of the Oakland Hills Country Club, Mr. Roth lived at 1245 Sutherland, Birmingham.

He was a member of the First Methodist Church and the Detroit Engineering Society, and a life member of the American Society of Civil Engineers and the Michigan Engineering Society.

He was also a member of Tau Beta Pi, honorary engineering fraternity.

Surviving are his wife, Ethel M., son, George S. of Livonia; a daughter, Mrs. Robert E. Riordan of Birmingham; three sisters; and five grandchildren.

Services will be 10 a.m. Wednesday in Bell Chapel of the William R. Hamilton Co., 1000 Woodward, at 2 p.m. in the Roth Funeral Home, Lowell. Burial will follow in Oakwood Cemetery, Lowell.

Exec Charged in Auto Deaths

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Clarence Hatch Jr., 64, of 2405 Broadway, Bloomfield Township, an advertising executive, is charged with negligent homicide in two traffic deaths on U.S. 23 north of here Saturday.

Hatch, executive vice president of the Campbell Ewald Co., was driving one of two cars involved in a collision. He was returning from the Michigan-Northwestern football game at the time.

WEIGHING IN — William N. Tucker (left) gives a helping hand to Oakland County Agriculture Agent Jay Poffenberger as they weigh a bushel of Tucker's prize winning corn. Tucker of 1965 Oakwood, Brandon Township, won top honors in the county for corn production this year. Looking on is Tucker's father, Carl of 1960 Oakwood.

Has Top Crop Yield

Brandon Twp. Farmer Corn Champ

In a race that was nip and tuck right down to the last ear, William Tucker, 1965 Oakwood, Brandon Township, won top honors in the 1963 Oakland County Corn Contest, it was announced today.

Tucker produced a yield of 142.4 bushels per acre, according to Jay Poffenberger, Oakland County agriculture agent. Tucker's score was only one-tenth of a bushel above that of the Travis Farms, 1400 Mack, Addison Township, which placed second.

The winning farmer planted Funk G-17 corn the third week of May. He applied a liberal amount of manure with 200 lbs. of nitrogen fertilizer as a plow-down and 200 lbs. of 8-28-16 fertilizer at planting time.

Tucker's work yielded an average plant count of 21,200 stalks per acre.

Although following a different pattern, the Travis farm won second place with a yield of 142.3 bushels per acre. Robert Smith, farm manager, worked up a plant count of 19,800 stalks per acre.

BEGAN IN MAY

Also planting the third week in May, Smith began with P15-62 corn. He plowed-down 75 lbs. of nitrogen fertilizer and applied 400 lbs. of a 6-24-24 fertilizer at planting time.

Taking third place honors was the Tollgate Farm, 28118 Meadowbrook, Novi Township, managed by E. L. Morris. Morris' crop yielded 138.6 bushels per acre from an average of 19,800 stalks.

Planting Pioneer 354 corn the

first week in May, Morris plowed-down 90 lbs. of actual nitrogen and 120 lbs. of potash per acre. At planting time he used 300 lbs. of a 16-48-0 fertilizer.

Average yield per acre of the 41 contest entrants was 116.6 bushels and a stalk count of 18,500 plants.

USED SUPPLEMENTS

Contest records showed that those entrants with the higher yields planted by May 21, used supplemental nitrogen as a plow-down or side-dressing and used a chemical weed control.

Purpose of the annual contest is to summarize the best production practices for high corn yields in Oakland County. These findings are presented to farmers during the winter at meetings, by letters and through personal visits.

This year's contest records showed 1962 as one of the best corn years in the past eight, second only to last year's average yield of 128.6 acres per bushel.

Growers showing the top three yields in the county will receive a framed certificate at the Annual Soil Conservation District Banquet in January. Each grower of 100 bushels or more per acre will be given a certificate.

FARMER PRODUCTION

A list, by townships, of those farmers producing at least 100 bushels of corn per acre this year follows:

AVON — Premier Farm, 1670 Tenbury, Stuart Hutchins, 1042 E. Hamilton.

CLYDE — Tollemere Farm, 12291

PROCTER — James Venable, 400

BRIDGE LAKE —

HIGHLAND — Irish and Robert Carlin,

WHITE LAKE — William Bevel, 500

COMMERCIAL — Carlo Long, 3988 Bloch.

Others were Harold Mitchell, 10542 Mc-

1328 E. Chesterfield, Ferndale.

NEW EAGLE SCOUTS — Denis Garwood (left), scoutmaster of Troop 115, admires merit badges of Gregory P. Snoblin, son of a court of honor at Our Lady of Refuge Church, Orchard Lake, yesterday. Gregory, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Snoblin, 2822 Pine Ridge, West Bloomfield Township, and Michael L. Quinn (right), son of the Larry Quinns, 2499 Empire, West Bloomfield Township, were first scouts to receive Eagle awards in the history of the troop.

Man Is Killed by Gun Blast

Shelby Twp. Resident Held for Questioning

SHELBY TOWNSHIP — A local 39-year-old man was killed by a shotgun blast early today following a beer party held at the Sunset Grocery store, 4351 Auburn.

Macomb County Sheriff's Deputy Martin Oser said James R. Miller, who lives in quarters attached to the grocery, died shortly after he was shot in the throat.

Placido D. Workman, 47, of the same address, is being questioned in connection with the shooting.

Oser said Workman told police he ordered everyone to leave shortly before 3 a.m. Workman said when Miller returned to the rear door, he clubbed him on the shoulder with the barrel of the gun and discharged.

DEAD AT SCENE

Miller was pronounced dead at the scene by Coroner Dr. Raymond Markle.

The sheriff's department was contacted after Workman called Ulica police to report the incident.

A number of other guests at the party were milling around outside when the shotgun went off, according to police.

Macomb County Sheriff's Department is continuing investigation of the shooting.

Leonard Youth Hurt in Hay Ride Mishap

An 18-year-old Leonard youth suffered multiple lacerations and abrasions last night when he fell off a wagon during a hay ride and rolled under a wheel.

Russell Noble Jr., 320 E. Romeo, is in satisfactory condition at Pontiac General Hospital following the 7-12 p.m. accident.

Noble was riding with the Methodist group from Romeo when the accident occurred. His father, Russell, was driving the tractor pulling the wagon.

Girls 8 to 10 to Enter Christmas Contest

LAKE ORION — Who will be Lake Orion's Miss "Merry Christmas" this year?

Applications for the honored post are now being accepted from girls ages 8, 9 or 10 who live in the village or Orion Township.

In addition to receiving gifts from local merchants, the Christmas queen will reign over the pre-Christmas parade here on Dec. 7.

Entry blanks may be picked up at either the Sweetheart Shop or Do-May Gift Shop any time prior to the 6 p.m. Nov. 9 deadline.

Local residents will have a chance to vote for their favorite by casting ballots at stores of participating merchants.

Last year's winner was 9-year-old Mary Sondergeld, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Sondergeld, 750 Maridway.

Casting Meeting Set for Shiawassee Players

Osterman-Draper Vows

BRANDON TOWNSHIP — The First Methodist Church of Clarkston was the setting Saturday afternoon for the wedding of Mary Florence Draper and R. Frederick Osterman.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Wilford C. Draper, 4345 Seymour Lake, and

MRS. R. F. OSTERMAN

To Decide Post in Walled Lake

WALLED LAKE — The City Council will be asked to confirm the appointment of Mrs. Eileen Vanhorn, of Keego Harbor as deputy clerk-treasurer at its regular meeting tomorrow night.

Recommended by City Manager Frank C. Derby, Mrs. Vanhorn served Keego Harbor as clerk, treasurer and acting city manager until requested to resign last June.

She succeeds Mrs. Darcy Young, a secretary, who handled the clerk-treasurer duties until two weeks ago.

Mrs. Young had replaced Mrs. Shirley J. Ryden, who left in June for a job with a private firm.

Mrs. Vanhorn was clerk-treasurer in Keego Harbor for seven years.

M218 CONDITIONS

In other business, the council will hear a report from Councilman Robert Buffmyer on conditions on M218.

Buffmyer was to contact the State Highway Department on the road's condition.

Police Chief James A. Decker has been complaining about traffic hazards along Pontiac Trail. He claims the newly constructed highway is hampering law enforcement.

"I'm not blaming the contractor," the chief said. "The road is beautiful on the straightaway. But on the curves, it's lousy."

RENOVATED

The highway department renovated M218, which includes Pontiac Trail, in preparation for turning it over to the county.

Appointment of a permanent sewer committee will also be considered by the council. The object of the group is to help sell the idea of a sanitary sewer to homeowners.

Nuptial Plans Made by Southfield Miss

SOUTHFIELD — Announcement is made of the engagement of Carole Sue Hopkins to Alger Sheldon Jr. by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold J. Hopkins, 20152 Forestwood.

The prospective bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alger Sheldon of Grosse Pointe.

The bride's brocade gown, made by her mother, was floor-length and featured seed pearls belonging to her grandmother accentuating the V neckline. The overskirt formed a chapel train.

A pearl crown held her finger-veil of silk illusion. She carried white roses and Stephanotis atop a white Bible.

BRIDE ATTENDANTS — Alice McCord of Keego Harbor was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Leon Farnsworth, cousin of the bride, and Judy Hodges, both of Ypsilanti. On the escort side, Staff Sgt. H. M. McDonald Jr. of Ocedo served his brother-in-law as best man. The guests were seated by the bridegroom's brothers, Gary Osterman of Flint and Steve Osterman of Mount Morris; and James-Draper, brother of the bride.

The couple left after a reception at the church for a honeymoon in northern Michigan.

Income Tax Battle Old Hat to Michigan

LANSING (UPI) — The fact Michigan doesn't have a state income tax is not because people haven't pushed for it, in fact, has been the source of an almost constant quarrel dating from the 19th century.

Gov. Cyrus B. Luce, a Republican, recommended a tax on corporations and an income tax.

In 1897:
"The question is one no longer for debate but for energetic action since it has been under consideration for 20 years," GOP Gov. Hazen S. Pingree said in a message to the legislature that urged, among other levies, an income tax.

Republican Gov. Arron T. Bliss pleaded for tax reform in a message he delivered as "Michigan enters the long high way of the 20th century."

Of all the words of all the governors whose messages are covered with dust in the state law library, none rings truer today than Pingree's.

NEVER RESOLVED

"The question which is always present and is never solved in a state or municipal government is the question of taxation," said the bearded governor who sprang from Puritan stock.

Pingree, twice governor and four times mayor of Detroit, called a special session of the legislature March 22, 1898, because "The inequality of our system of taxation is so great that it should not be permitted to continue for another year."

In 1844 the administration of Democratic Gov. John S. Barry was halted by a $77,000 year-end deficit. Barry said "strict economy in every department" was needed to get Michigan out of debt.

The situation was almost identical to the one that Gov. G. Mennen Williams ran into in 1959. The difference was that his administration was facing a $110-million debt.

MANY SIMILARITIES

Williams, Gov. John B. Swainson and now Republican Gov. George Romney faced problems in their fights for fiscal reform not unlike those that Gov. Pingree talked of.

When Williams pleaded for an income tax during the cash crisis of 1959 he spoke of "a little group of willful men" who blocked fiscal reform. He complained about a bad press and he warned of overcrowding in prisons, hospitals and schools.

"Our state insane asylums are overcrowded, nearly all of our state institutions are cramped (because) legislators have not been brave enough to defy the narrow-gauged and little-minded critics."

That wasn't Williams talking in 1959, nor even Swainson last year.

LOT OF NONSENSE

At the same time Pingree complained of "hostile newspapers" who "uttered a great deal of nonsense concerning management of the finances of the state."

Williams, when talking about the press, spoke of the "spirit of recrimination, name-calling and bible-mongering... and editorial gagging" by writers "who are totally ignorant of the true situation in Michigan."

This year as Gov. Romney wages his battle for fiscal reform there are several major differences from previous fights.

For one thing Michigan is headed for a surplus instead of a deficit. With tax dollars rolling in at what may be a record rate the state figures to have completely wiped out its deficit, which now stands at $2 million, by the end of this fiscal year.

Also the governor is not asking for fiscal reform because he wants to raise more money. The tax revenues will remain the same, but, Romney, has said, there will be greater "tax justice."

The reaction of the legislature, however, could be just as it has been since the 1800s — that is a solid "no" answer to the pleas for enactment of the income tax.

American pharmacies filled 780,000 prescriptions last year at an average selling price of $3.06 each, Drug Trade News reports.

Let's Go to Church,

Shooby, Dooby, Wah

LINCOLN, England (UPI) — The Rev. Edward Blake, Anglican director of education here, took his guitar to church last night and gave his congregation an earful of his new record, "Pops With a Purpose."

The record, Blake said, is made up of popular songs with a religious twist "to put over to youngsters church teaching in a form they will understand."

Doubling Tommies

LONDON (UPI) — Anglican Canon John Pearce Higgins, in a sermon yesterday, said almost two-thirds of the English people doubt there is a life after death.

Executions are illegal in eight states of the United States.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain — without surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by a doctor's observations. Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place. And most amazing of all — this improvement was maintained in cases where a doctor's observations were continued over a period of many months. In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these, sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dynex) — the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dynex is a wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H Suppositories or Preparation H Ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug counters.

It Seems to Me....

Current Situations in Brazil May Instigate Revolution

Brazil stands all too prominently as the fumbling, faltering giant of South America and she is falling upon unhappy days. Nothing is just right.

Revolution is a steady off-stage threat and yet it has been slow to materialize for the very simple reason that several dissident elements want it to fit snugly into their own party lines. Distrust is rife and suspicion abounds. It isn't a healthy situation for Brazil—or for the hemisphere.

Inflation has seized the nation and utter collapse may be just a question of time. The cruzeiro was originally about the equivalent of our own nickel. Today (or yesterday—it will be different tomorrow) the cruzeiro was down to 1,250 for one U.S. dollar.

Money presses run steadily. The mad race continues.

Last year living costs rose about 50% and when 1963 terminates, the added increase may be around 70%. Stability is impossible and trade is grinding toward collapse. Government spending exceeds income by grotesque proportions and the day of settlement draws nearer.

President JOAO GOULART's term ends in two years and what can happen then is idle conjecture—granting that he finishes. Mr. GOULART is purely a fortuitous political happenstance. A bolt of good fortune struck swiftly—and precisely where he stood. Actually, he was touring Red China when JANIO QUADROS resigned without warning.

This great country is beset with political and economic afflictions. It has several times the population of any other Latin American compatriot (70-odd million) and is the bell cow in many ways.

If Goulart lasts out his term, the prospects are that middle of the road conservatives will emerge on top with a program of upbuilding. Mr. Goulart is a vacillating personality that embraces the expediences of the moment, whether they be sound, irrational or Communist.

In the meantime, Russia eyes the situation carefully and with not too secret hopes.

Modern Vehicle?

As an enthusiastic disciple of the automobile becoming a replacement for the horse and buggy, I cast a large vote in stentorian voice for the London Efficiency Expert. Says he: "The Queen's horse-drawn equipage must be banned from the market place." Pontiac cheers this challenging pronouncement to the echo. Down with the Queen's horses.

Her Royal Highness' brougham has been a sight for centuries in the west end shopping center. A coachman "magnificent in brown coat, silk hat and high-winged collar conveys an elegant lady-in-waiting who carries the royal shopping list from grocer to butcher to dress-maker, bank, etc."

And does it jam traffic. The pace is too slow.

Modern automobiles are forced to limp behind this archaic deal while everything in sight is completely marbled. London begs for relief.

ELIZABETH—front and center. Put a Tempest station wagon or a Bonneville brougham in the place of that useless relic from antiquity. Let's live in 1963.

'Sell TVA'....

Sen. BARRY GOLDWATER is not a socialist.

Currently, he advocates selling TVA to private industry.

And why not?

It competes with independent business, but pays no taxes and the Senator declares that "it would be better operated and of more benefit to more people." TVA stands as a governmental monstrosity in a land of individual effort.

The government notoriously provides less efficient management as it doesn't have to "pay its way" as do all private businesses. If there's a deficit, the Big Autocrat merely dips deeper—or more often—into your own personal purse.

Private enterprise has no such open sesame to "success."

And in Conclusion....

Jottings from the well-thumbed notebook of your peripatetic reporter:

A 79-year-old attorney in Brooklyn is in court facing charges that he feeds 85 pigeons daily thus "cluttering the streets." Here's something for that man that "has everything": give him an oxygen flask to refresh him. It comes under the heading of "Executive Eye Opener." The JERRY LEWIS show had such a dismal reception it was headed for the ash can, but officials announce it will complete its schedule with loads of big name guests to shore it up. Overheard: "Huh. JACK BENNY has been getting 15 shaves out of a razor blade for years and years."

I can't prove it but I'll bet a sugar cookie I had two soups in Baden-Baden you've never tried: pigeon and kangaroo.

The former made me think of the Presbyterian church here at home. Golf Digest Magazine nominates Nancy Albert as the best looking feminine golfer of 1963.

Post Office officials volunteer that the junk mail averages 86 pounds per address per year. Alvin's windows are the most reflective of the times of any I ever saw. They're sensational. Saturday accidents lead the procession with Sunday second.

Overheard: "Little girls are afraid of the dark until they grow up and learn what it's for."

GEORGE STORER, former Oakland County resident, offered $4.5 million for the Philly Eagles but was outbid. In 1945 there were 4,800 golf courses in the United States and today the number exceeds 7,000.

JESSICA MITFORD, author of the highly controversial "American Way of Death" says one undertaker offered to put her away for good for only $150; but several others have suggested they'd do it for nothing.

'Mind If I Read Over Your Shoulder?'

David Lawrence Says:

Firms Shouldn't Exert Pressure

WASHINGTON — There's a big difference between what corporation executives can readily do as individuals to promote good relations in a community and what they hesitate to do by way of "economic pressure" in acting and speaking for their company in its dealings with other businesses and the buying public.

LAWRENCE

This difference — which is of transcendent importance to every corporation and business firm in the country — wasn't made clear at President Kennedy's press conference last Thursday.

Nor was it set forth clearly in the newspaper reports which the President may have previously read about the news conference which Roger Blough, chairman of the U. S. Steel Corp., held last Tuesday in New York City.

Here is the verbatim record of what Blough said: "I'd like to say that I do not either believe it would be a wise thing for U. S. Steel to be other than a good citizen in the community, or to attempt to have its ideas of what is right for that community enforced upon that community by some sort of economic means."

"This is repugnant to me personally, and I am sure, it is repugnant to my fellow officers in U. S. Steel. I doubt very much that this, in principle, is a good thing for any corporation to follow."

INDIVIDUAL INFLUENCE "When as individuals are citizens in a community, we can exercise what small influence we may have as citizens. But for a corporation to attempt to exert any kind of economic, compulsion to achieve a particular end in the social area, seems to me to be quite beyond what a corporation should do, and I would say, also quite beyond what a corporation can do."

The President said at his news conference: "Actually, Mr. Blough has been somewhat helpful in one or two cases that I can think of in Birmingham."

"I don't think he should narrowly interpret his responsibility for the future. That is a very influential company in Birmingham, and he wants to see that city prosper, as do we all."

"Obviously, the federal government cannot solve this matter. So that business has a responsibility — labor and, of course, every citizen."

USE INFLUENCE "So I would think that particularly as a company which is as influential as U. S. Steel in Birmingham, I would hope would use its influence on the side of comity between the races."

There isn't a word in that reply with which Blough would probably disagree, because the President was obviously talking about the "influence" of the company officers, as individuals, while the newsmen who asked the question at the same press conference was inquiring about "economic pressure."

It was the latter concept which the head of the steel corporation had "rejected" at his own news conference.

There's a big difference between what businessmen say as individuals in discussions in community meetings and what they are being asked to do by some persons — namely, to sell to or buy from only the companies which conform to one viewpoint on "civil rights."

To some readers it might appear that President Kennedy feels that the influence of individual businessmen properly exerted is not enough, and that economic pressure is a responsibility of all corporations and businesses and firms.

A clarification by the White House could be helpful in these days when, to diminish racial discrimination, more can be accomplished by the processes of reason than by compulsion.

Bob Considine Says:

Fans May Be Nuts, but They Pay to See Casey

NEW YORK—People places... things. Nutty as it sounds at first blush, the greatest drawing card in baseball must be Casey Stengel. Under his management the New York Mets have become solidly entrenched as the ultimate in bad league ball clubs.

There is a record of futility that would have prompted the old St. Louis LOUISIANA Browns, the Phils and the Senators to commit mass hara-kari. Casey's record with the Mets is even worse than it was with the Brooklyn Dodgers of the depression years, and they actually paid him $8,000 one year just to stay away from them.

But the 1963 Mets, who finished so deep in the basement they all started raising mushrooms (Bugs Baer, circa 1914), drew more than 1,000,000 customers to the Polo Grounds.

That figure barely missed tying the attendance record of the New York Yankees, who played the season as world champions and won the American League Pennant from here to Kalamazoo.

Mets fans could not have been daff enough to pay their ways into the park to watch the players. They were not drawn there by George Weiss. They are not members of Mrs. Payson's set.

That leaves Old Casey, a greater drawing card than Babe Ruth, Ty Cobb, Walter Johnson, Joe DiMaggio and Mickey Mantle combined.

I liked Ambassador Adlai Stevenson's reply to a reporter's inquiry as to why he did not prefer charges against the Dallas jerk who spit in his face and the Dallas jerk who clouted him on his unarmored head with an anti-U.S. sign.

"I don't want to send them to jail," Mr. Stevenson protested. Then, with the timing of Jack Benny, he added, "But I would like to send them to school."

The statue of Liberty was 77 years old this week.

Chicago Tribune

Gen. Chung Hee Park, who seized control of South Korea in 1961, has been returned as president in Korea's most closely contested election. The outcome, however, holds little hope of bringing stability to the economic and political morass of the United States' Asian ward.

A former Korean president, Pa Sun Yun, 67, who trailed Park by 28,595 in nearly complete returns, conceded defeat and went into hiding. Three minor candidates polled 839, 345.

Thus, like President Kennedy, who won the electoral college vote but failed to achieve a popular majority, the Korean strong man becomes a minority president at age 66. Had the badly split civilian opposition to the stern rule of the military junta been able to agree on one candidate, Yun, leader of the Civil Rule party, would be the new president.

Park's close aides pictured him as expecting an overwhelming vote, constituting a blank check for use in writing Korea's future.

Scornful of western-style democracy and American advice, Park prefers power vested in a single leader like Sukarno of Indonesia or Nasser of the United Arab Republic, state ownership of industry

Readers Comment on Tax Reform

State revenue department figures show that under Gov. Romney's tax reform program, Michigan's richest people stand to save more than anyone. Romney wants repeal of the intangibles tax, under which individuals pay 3.5 per cent of income from stocks and bonds—where most of the rich have the bulk of their wealth.

Gov. Romney then proposes a flat rate 2 per cent state income tax. The figures show that the repeal of the intangibles tax is not tax justice, and a challenge to Romney's statement that intangibles taxpayers would pay the same amount under other forms of taxation. George McCart

'Smoke Pollution — a Killer Situation'

How many have noticed the large black clouds of smoke pouring over the north side city dump; the cloud of smoke pouring over the factories; the smoke from burning leaves; the haze overhanging the city and the smoke-filled air?

A number of years ago almost half of the population of Donora Pa., were made ill by air pollution—death toll, 38, in November 1963. New York City was trapped under a dense smog—at least 240 died. In London a few years ago hundreds died due to a killer smog. Who knows how many others have died or have had their health affected by this killer situation. America and England have the highest incidence of lung cancer.

I urge the city to require all industry to filter any stack emitting smoke and factory dust; require all badly-smoking vehicles, including trains, to filter or be repaired; and outlaw the burning of leaves and trash. Very Concerned!

Q—What are the symptoms of Asian flu and why is it more dangerous than other types of flu?

A—How long after you get sick with it can you spread it to others?

A—The symptoms of any type of flu are cough, fever, headache, general indisposition, acting all over and loss of appetite.

In the last few years, the Asian strain of the flu virus has been the predominant type seen in this country.

The term "flu," however, is loosely applied to a great variety of upper respiratory infections that are not true influenza and are not as severe as Asian flu.

Often this is the first manifestation of the disease.

On the other hand, there is nothing to prevent a person who has rheumatoid arthritis from getting lupus or vice versa.

Erhard Pushes Reunification

Says Germany Set but No Timetable

NEW YORK (UPI)—West German Chancellor Ludwig Erhard said yesterday that Germany would be ready to pay "a very high price for the reunification of our country" but that no timetable for such an eventuality existed at present.

In a taped television interview, Erhard said the will of his nation to be united again was stronger than the Eastern Bloc claim that two German states was a reality.

Erhard, who meets with President Charles de Gaulle of France next month and later with President Kennedy, said he plans no early meeting with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev to discuss the problem.

"I want to first see what possibilities will come out of the talks I'm going to have (with de Gaulle and Kennedy) because we are... too weak to meet with Khrushchev," Erhard said.

EXPRESS WISHES

"We could only express our wishes, but we could not open and show a political road which would lead us to a realization of these objectives."

Erhard was pressed by his questioners as to the desirability of seeing Khrushchev in the near future to push his case for reunification.

"I don't think that the problem could be solved between the Soviet Union and the Federal Republic of Germany," he said. "Because this must be a wider area if one wants to make progress step by step."

"But Germany will certainly not take the initiative for bilateral talks and will not look for bilateral solutions."

keeping a close watch on the way things go in Argentina.)

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—As much as any one man can be, Gen. Juan Carlos Onganía, commander of the Argentine Army, is responsible for the fact that this country is ruled today by an elected civilian president.

Onganía, 48, in the first interview he ever granted, made it clear that the army is supporting President Arturo Illia.

"You must remember," he told The Associated Press, "that the president is commander-in-chief of the armed forces, and we are at his command."

No one should conclude that Dr. Illia has a blank check from the military to run a free-wheeling civilian government.

Military leaders are looking over his shoulder. There is no doubt they reserve the right—and they certainly have the power—to intervene if they decide that Illia is making too many mistakes.

TALK OF DEMOCRACY

Yet they evidently wish him success. They talk about making democracy "work."

They are keenly aware that a period of political stability would help the ailing Argentine economy.

The overhanging power of intervention became apparent in the way Onganía sought to define the role of the military in Argentine politics, from the military's own point of view.

In essence, Onganía said the military command has a constitutional duty to defend this country's democratic constitution and national security whenever these are threatened by the army or by failures of the other arms of government, including the presidency.

POWER ALTERNATION

The Latin American work for a military coup is "golpe." In Argentina, the years of the golpe go back to 1930, when the old alternation of power between Conservatives and Radicals came to an end.

A military uprising ousted Radical President Hipólito Yrigoyen, the political ancestor of Illia, leader of today's People's Radical party.

Years of turmoil and frequent military dictatorships followed. The old, essentially two-party, order had broken up and since then Argentina has never been able to work out a stable balance of political forces. Corruption and irresponsibility in government frequently have been charged.

The rule of Juan D. Peron, which developed as a labor reform movement, degenerated in 1956 into a corrupt drive for personal wealth, marked by political oppression and brutality.

RISE AND FALL

Peron rose to power following a golpe, and a golpe drove him into exile in Spain.

Arturo Frondizi, an elected president starting in 1958, survived 35 crises during 46 months in office. In the end, a golpe got him.

In the post-Frondizi period, Onganía jumped to national prominence. A great controversy had raged in the armed forces over whether the country should have an elected government or a dictatorship.

Onganía argued for elected government and finally in September 1962 led a revolt against the military high command. He won the support of President Jose Maria Guido, then running a caretaker government. From that time on, he has been the country's No. 1 military figure.

SOLDIER PRO

Onganía is a professional soldier. He was born of middle class parents in a small town in the Pampas. He entered military college in March 1931.

This correspondent and an AP colleague spent several hours with the general and his nominal chief, Gen. Ignacio Avalos, the secretary of war. Both have close associates among U.S. military men.

In essence their concept of the military role in Latin-American affairs is that military leaders are the final defenders of the constitution.

Onganía was asked: "Now given the political situation, will the military back the government of Dr. Illia in any situation?"

ALL HAVE DUTIES

"The army believes," Onganía said, "that everyone has his duty and his missions within the constitution. The armed forces, the president, the congress and the judiciary."

"Our mission is that of security, internal and external, for the national defense. Any action by the president or the congress is no immediate concern of ours. The armed forces as the president's advisers on security matters at the highest level will give their opinion when it is requested."

"Of course, there are times that actions of the president or of the congress or even of the judiciary may over a long period of time result in a matter of national security.

"It is at that time in the completion of their mission within the constitution, that the armed forces will be asked through appropriate channels to carry out maintenance of security and national defense."

ENDORSES VIEW

Avalos endorsed Onganía's description of the military role, including the key provision that if another branch of the government endangers national security the armed forces may have to step in.

Onganía said the army's indirect collaboration includes civic action—building of roads, communications, transportation and education. The army helps train technicians and provides basic education in the campaign against illiteracy.

The two roles of security and civic action put the army in a strong position. In the difficult days that lie ahead for Illia, when he is trying to balance the budget, check inflation and institute economic and political reform, the military high command can either support him against all opponents or remove him from power in a twinkling.

Onganía has impressed many U.S. observers here, including diplomats, as a man who genuinely wants the Illia government to succeed and is prepared to back it a long way. Though Onganía would not be specific, it is understood that two things the military leaders will not tolerate. They will not let Communists begin to gain power and they will not permit a return of Peronism.

WATERFORD TAXPAYERS

Do You Have the Complete Story on Becoming A CITY?

QUESTION

ANSWER

1. Does incorporation as a city prevent annexation?

1. NO... Under state law, any portion of a City could still be annexed. (Mich. Statutes Annotated 5.2088)

2. Can the City of Pontiac take the Mall from Waterford whenever they choose?

2. NO... The owners of the Mall would have to ask for annexation, and not only the Pontiac City Commission would have to approve, but the WATERFORD TOWNSHIP BOARD would also have to approve, or approval would be necessary of the voters of the City of Pontiac and the Township of Waterford (Michigan Statutes Annotated 5.2088)

3. Is there a real danger of fragmentation?

3. NO... There is no one section of Waterford Township that has a tax base large enough to cause the residents to want to break away from the rest of the Township.

4. Does our present population require that we become a city?

4. NO... Redford Township has over 70,000 people, and they are not a city.

5. Do we have enough industry to warrant incorporation?

5. NO... The general rule of thumb is that between 30% and 35% of the tax base should be industrial and commercial. Waterford's percentage is less than 15%.

6. Will the gasoline and weight taxes that we receive from the State mean an advantage to Waterford if we incorporate?

6. NO... As a city, we would have to maintain our own roads. Experience of other cities shows that the state funds are not sufficient to cover the services. Any monies used for construction of local roads must be matched by other township funds or special assessment. (Michigan Statutes Annotated 9.1097)

7. Is there a significant difference in the interest rate of cities as opposed to chartered townships?

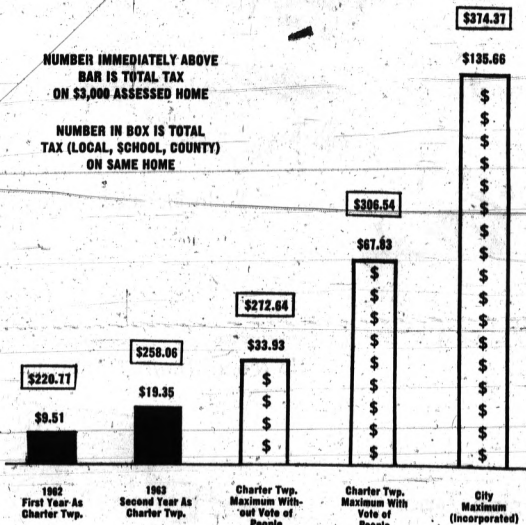

7. NO... The City of East Lansing and the Charter Township of Meridian (adjacent to one another) issued approximately one and three quarters of a million dollars of water and sewer bonds within a short period of time. The difference in interest rate was LESS THAN 1/10 of one percent.

8. Could we receive any additional services as a city that we cannot receive as a charter township?

8. NO... Virtually all services performed by a city may be performed by a charter township.

9. Will taxes go up if Waterford becomes a city?

9. YES... Authorities agree, and experiences of other areas show, that taxes increase when an area becomes a city.

The above graph shows that from 1962 to 1963 taxes increased more than 100%. They can increase from the present 2.83 mills to 10 mills, with voter approval as a charter township. As a city, this limitation could be doubled with voter approval to 20 mills.

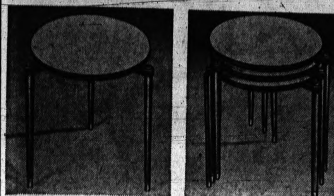

Cityhood might be necessary for Waterford at some future date. Waterford has only been a charter township for two years and this form of government has not been given sufficient time to be effective. The City of Warren was a charter township for seven years before becoming a city.

Foreign Aid Foes Vow Battle

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate plunges today into a second week of debate on the foreign aid authorization bill, with ax-wielding opponents vowing that the battle has just begun. Last week's fireworks were temporarily stilled Friday when the Democratic and Republican leaders massed enough votes to reject, 46 to 29, a move to send the $4.2-billion measure back to the Foreign Relations Committee.

Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., a leader of the foreign aid revolt, said, "The fight is just getting started."

"We have been assured by a number of senators who voted against recommitment that they will vote for sharper cuts in the program and for other amendments changing present wasteful discredited policies," he told a reporter.

COMPROMISE PENDING

Pending as the Senate met was a compromise amendment by Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana and Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois to cut the authorization to $3,817,365,000 — a move designed to forestall deeper slashes.

While the Senate tangles with foreign aid, the House will take up a relatively lighter agenda. No major pieces of legislation are on the docket, although the House may vote later in the week on a $1.2-billion bill to set up a college construction federal aid program.

There is a slim chance that the Senate will put aside foreign aid to consider the bill, approved Friday by Senate and House conferees.

The Senate Finance Committee is holding a fourth week of hearings on the administration's $11-billion tax reduction bill.

The Senate Rules Committee at a closed meeting Wednesday will question witnesses in its investigation of Robert G. Baker, who quit as secretary to the Senate's Democratic majority after allegations that he used his position to further his business interests.

Worry of FALSE TEETH Slipping or Irritating?

Don't be embarrassed or have false teeth slipping, chipping or irritating when you eat, talk or laugh. Just replace them with FALSE TEETH on your plates. Negroes Parade

Protest Erupts Into Fight

By United Press International
Negroes paraded in Connecticut and North Carolina during the weekend in racial protests. The Connecticut demonstrators engaged in a bare-knuckle brawl with police, and six were ordered to appear in court today on breach of peace charges.

The first fight erupted when about 20 picketing members of the Congress of Racial Equality (CORE) refused police orders to quit blocking traffic leaving the Yale-Dartmouth football game at New Haven.

One policeman was knocked to the pavement, another was punched in the face, and one of the pickets was hit on the head. The Negroes were protesting bad housing conditions in a predominantly Negro neighborhood.

OTHER RACIAL NEWS:

• LEXINGTON, N.C.—About 50 Negroes marched from a church to a white-only theater last night and held a prayer service. They then repeated the service at a segregated restaurant and quietly dispersed. There were no arrests.

• BILOXI, Miss — The Mississippi NAACP convention accused authorities of dragging their feet in bringing the killer of civil rights leader Medgar Evers to justice.

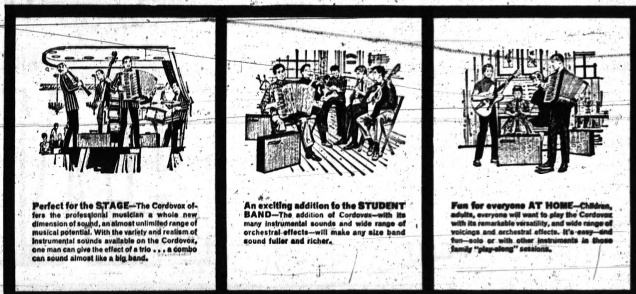

Evers was shot from ambush June 12 and a white man, Byron De La Beckwith, charged with the crime, is being held in jail while the courts decide whether he should undergo a mental examination.

• ATLANTA — Negro leaders announced a platform for achieving complete integration in Atlanta by Christmas. Its main planks were adoption of public accommodations and open occupancy housing laws by the city.

• NEW ORLEANS — Negro leaders called for a mass rally today to protest the failure of city officials to act on a list of grievances presented last week.

UAW Settles in Damage Suit

DETROIT (AP) — The United Auto Workers Union has made an out-of-court settlement with Carl Renda on the latter's original $3-million damage suit on which he won a $400,000 court judgment.

The UAW did not disclose the terms. It said it was a "taken settlement," however, indicating it was much less than the court judgment.

Renda sued the union for "malicious prosecution" in his arrest in 1954 with others on a charge of conspiracy in the ambush shooting of UAW President Walter P. Reuther. The shooting remains unsolved.

Finding trial errors, the State

Supreme Court reversed the judgment for Renda and ordered a retrial. The court said no proof had been shown that the union gave false information to police.

Israel to Issue Stamp in Honor of Mrs. FDR

JERUSALEM, Israeli Sector (AP)—The government has approved the issue of a stamp bearing Eleanor Roosevelt's portrait.

The matter came before the Cabinet Sunday after Adlai E. Stevenson, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, in his capacity as chairman of the Eleanor Roosevelt Commemoration Committee, had suggested the issue of such a stamp in a letter to President Lyndon B. Johnson.

SING ALONG — Doing "fun things" together, like group singing, camping, or sewing, was and is the idea behind Camp Fire Girls. Harmonizing are Geraldine Hollis (at

Campfire Girls Keep Ideals

A half century of time has not dimmed the guiding ideal of the Campfire Girls — character building through leisure time activities.

Today, some 1,500 Camp Fire Girls in the Pontiac area, sing, hike, sew, cook, and participate in social activities together to show the idea is still a good one.

Together they belong to one of the busiest local agencies

sponsored by Pontiac Area United Fund dollars.

Ironically, the organization's founder was a man, New York educator Dr. Luther Gulick, who in 1910 envisioned something similar to Boy Scouts but designed specifically for girls, built on their interests and preparing them for their feminine role.

ADDED APPEAL

With others, he saw such a program based around recreation and leisure activities. To this was added the appeal of goals expressed in Indian ceremony, costume and terminology.

But it all begins with the girls themselves. Membership is open to all. Usually the groups stem from associations at school, church, or community center.

Youngest members are the Blue Birds, ages seven and eight. Camp Fire Girls is open to those nine through 12.

A separate Junior High unit was formed two years ago, while Horizon Club began 20 years ago for older teenagers with maturing interests.

PONTIAC COUNCIL

Formal Camp Fire organization came to this area in 1939 when the Pontiac Council was chartered.

Now the permanent staff of three, which is assisted by hundreds of volunteers, is headed by Mrs. Donald Beck. Its work, under a current United Fund budget of $22,240, is directed from headquarters at 132 Franklin Blvd.

Eight years ago the council established Camp Owaki on a 120-acre site near Clarkston.

In Indian fashion, Camp Fire's watchword is "whoah," composed of the first two letters of work, health, and love.

Retired Clergyman Expires in Hospital

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — The Rev. Canon Samuel Moor Shoemaker, 68, retired prominent Episcopal clergyman, died Thursday. He had been hospitalized two weeks for treatment of a heart ailment. He had served as rector of Calvary Episcopal Church in New York City from 1925 to 1952 and was rector of Calvary Episcopal Church in Pittsburgh until his retirement in 1961. He was born in Eccleston, Md.

3 Hungarians Nabbed in Border Crossing Try

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP) — Three young Hungarians were sentenced to jail terms ranging from eight months to a year on charges of "preparing for illegal border crossing," the Hungarian trade union paper Nepszava reported Friday. All were charged with breaking into a sealed refrigerator car containing butter for Britain and hiding, waiting to be transported west. But they were spotted by a watchman.

Affection Pays Off for Woman Pickpocket

NEW LONDON (UPI) — John Brown Jr. complained to police yesterday that a middle-aged woman followed him out of a local store, tugged him into an alley and threw her arms around him.

Brown said that he "resisted her advances" and pushed her away. When she was gone, he found that his wallet, containing $63, was missing.

Bandit Is Outbluffed at His Own Game

COLLINSVILLE, Okla., (UPI) — Service station operator Coy Miller thought it was a joke when a man wearing a sack over his head and carrying a gun walked into his station and demanded money.

When Miller jokingly told his grandson to get a shotgun, the would-be bandit muttered, "Oh well, forget it," and strolled off.

Greek Party Wins Upset

Voters End 8 Years of Rule by Rightists

ATHENS, Greece (AP)—Former Premier George Papandreu's Center Union party won an upset victory today in the Greek parliamentary elections, ending eight years of rule by Constantine Karamanlis' rightist National Radical Union.

It was not immediately clear whether Papandreu's party had won a majority of seats in the 300-member Parliament or whether it would be forced to form a coalition government. No change was expected in Greece's pro-Western alignment. Foreign policy played little part in the campaign in this nation on the strategic eastern flank of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

POSTWAR PREMIER

Papandreu, 75, leader of Greece's government-in-exile in World War II and its first post-war premier, charged Karamanlis had governed this birthplace of democracy as a police state. More than 4 million persons in a population of 8.4 million turned out for a record vote.

Returns from 9,841 of the 10,162 voting districts gave this vote: Center Union 1,844,475 or 42.2 per cent; National Radical Union 1,710,207 or 39.15 per cent; United Democratic Left—the Communist front—627,437 or 14.36 per cent; Progressives, 161,567 or 3.69 per cent.

COMPLEX LAW

Because of the complex electoral law, the composition of the one-chamber house could not be figured immediately. Under the new proportional representation system, 44 per cent of the vote was said to be necessary for a working majority.

Two years ago, Karamanlis' party won 180 parliamentary seats on a popular vote of 51 per cent. The Center Union won only 33 per cent and 95 seats. The Communist Front got 15 per cent and 30 seats.

Papandreu had charged ever since the 1961 election that it was rigged. Karamanlis denied the charge.

Some observers thought Papandreu would seek an alliance with the Progressives or remnants of Karamanlis' party to form a government. Disappointed Karamanlis supporters said such a coalition would be shaky and might lead to new elections after a period of political paralysis.

City Hall Safe Hit by Thieves for Cash, Jewels

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Burglars made their way into a Police Department storage room in City Hall Sunday and fled with cash—possibly $25,000 to $35,000—and jewelry.

Authorities said the money and jewelry, which had been confiscated as evidence in various cases awaiting trial, was stolen from a safe on the seventh floor of City Hall. Police Inspector Robert J. Selfridge said there could have been between $25,000 and $35,000 in cash in the safe.

Authorities said the theft, which occurred before dawn in the empty building, was discovered by one of two watchmen normally on duty. The other was off sick.

Scouts Overcome by Chimney Smoke

ANN ARBOR — Five of 15 Boy Scouts from Milan were overcome by smoke yesterday at a camp on Washington County's Bruin Lake where they were spending the night.

Three were allowed to return to camp after treatment at an Ann Arbor Hospital; but two were sent home to Milan.

State police said a faulty chimney draft allowed smoke to drift back into the building where the scouts were sleeping.

They had kindled a fire to ward off chilly overnight temperatures.

Excitement, Novelty Highlight Fashion Collection

Pale wool just skimming the body. Jewel neck and Cossack sleeves by Mr. Mort are a must for your fall wardrobe. In green, garnet, cream and teal, the dress comes in sizes ranging from 5 to 15. All fashions shown are from the Mr. Mort fall collection.

Excitement in fabric texture and color make Mr. Mort's Fall Collection a brilliant one. Excitement, too, in the novel treatment of classic shapes — a silk ottoman empire cocktail dress with a ruffled neckline, a herringbone tweed skimmer with lowered waistline to give the new stretched out look, over-blouses with back interest. Starting among the day looks, a bold herringbone tweed coat over a wool turtleneck shift. Many bright lacy wools in dresses and costumes. Knits in man-made fibers, as well as wool, make a bid for top men on the totem pole.

For evening, velvet is queen although varied silk weaves and crepe are worthy hand-maidens. Velvet is used dramatically in a floor-length evening coat over a pale mink gown, and again in the purr of shifts slashed to a low V in back. Fly-away panels on the skirt of a two-piece crepe is a pretty, as well as a fun look. Cocktail crepes are important in the collection as well as a group in off-beat colors for day into evening.

Mr. Mort believes in a young, but sophisticated look for every season. It is here now for Fall. Fashions are available locally.

Mr. Mort gives you the cocktail suit in velvet. Easy collarless jacket and slim skirt are worn with a crepe blouse, cut like a man's cardigan sweater. The cuffs show Byronesque under the jacket sleeve.

Shaped sleeveless tunic top is shown with its own slim skirt in a nubby wool. A long-sleeved, bowed crepe blouse gives a couture look by Mr. Mort. Gray with white only.

An exit dramatic in a two-piece pure silk overblouse look is sleeveless and squared to a new low in back. The self-bowed dress comes in pink, seafoam, black, emerald green and red.

Fake Him Out

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: I am the mother of six children. My husband and I are both in our forties.

For some time now my husband has been getting up and leaving for work TWO hours before he is supposed to be there, and it only takes him 15 minutes to get to work.

I have asked him several times why he leaves so early, and he tells me he can't sleep. But when he gets up he hurries to get dressed and he rushes through his breakfast like he is going to be late for something. These actions are making me suspicious. I would like to get the truth out of him. Should I follow him?

SUSPICIOUS WIFE
DEAR WIFE: No. Just say you did.

Mrs. Josephine H. Lawyer, local consumer information agent, was recently elected secretary of the Michigan Home Demonstration Agents Association. The annual meeting was held at Michigan State University.

DEAR ABBY: I am a second semester freshman in college and I am married. We have told no one other than our parents. Mine are furious with me and have refused to claim me any longer or pay for the rest of my education, although they can well afford it. My husband is a sophomore and he can't afford to pay for my schooling.

His parents would like to help out, but they cannot afford to send their son to college (he is there on a scholarship). On top of everything, I think I am pregnant.

With our limited funds we have had to move into a rundown one-room apartment. I know there is no easy solution, but can you give me any advice at all?

DEPRESSED
DEAR DEPRESSED: Are you two living together? If so, and you've "told no one" you are married, what do your friends think?

If you are living apart, and your condition becomes apparent — what then? Also, if you are registered in college under separate names, you are violating the college's regulations — and will be booted out, dough or no dough.

You had better start all over again — at another college. If you can't get a student aid grant, or a scholarship, or help from home, or are unable to work because of pregnancy, you had better forget about higher education for now, if not forever.

DEAR ABBY: In reference to your "CONFIDENTIAL TO MARK: Milk is not that cheap

WOMEN'S SECTION

WSCS Is Setting Up Fall Bazaar

The Woman's Society of Christian Service of Trinity Methodist Church, Waterford, have scheduled their holiday bazaar for Saturday.

Ten booths will be featured from 3-6 p.m. at Schoolcraft School on Maceday Drive.

In charge of food are Mrs. William Mercer and Mrs. Perc Parsons.

Other chairmen include Mrs. Leonard Couturier, Mrs. Ronald Thompson, Mrs. George Williams, Mrs. Charles Thomas and Mrs. Tim Amos. Mrs. David Burns, Mrs. Don Hosler, Mrs. Gordon Brown, Mrs. Marvin Koop, Mrs. Walter Beyette and Mrs. Alger Chambers are also working.

Proceeds from the bazaar will go to missions and to the furnishings fund of Trinity's proposed new church.

Party on Tuesday

The card party sponsored by Pontiac Woman's Club will be held Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in First Federal Savings of Oakland Club room.

Putting the finishing touches on a quilt to be sold at their annual bazaar are Mrs. Finley Milne, Echo Road (left) and Mrs. Walter Ling, Clawson. Sponsoring group is the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day-Saints; time, Friday, 1:30 to 8 p.m. Cider and doughnuts will be sold all afternoon and dinner from 5-8 p.m. All items on sale are made by church members.

A fluidity of line by Mr. Mort in a long-sleeved slimming empire shape for fall in wool knit comes in blue, black, green and red.

MOMS CARD PARTY

Some hospitalized veterans will have a merrier Christmas, thanks to Galloway Lake MOMS of America, Unit 21. The group is sponsoring a card party Saturday, 7:30 p.m. in Pontiac Township Hall on North Opdyke Road.

The party is open to the public.

GOLD STAR MOTHERS

Mrs. Sybella Stevens, re-elected president of Chapter 8, American Gold Star Mothers, was formally installed Friday evening.

Installed with her were Mrs. Herbert L. Langton, first vice president; Mrs. John E. Bray, second vice president; Mrs. Ralph U. Graham, chaplain; Mrs. Earl M. Duemler, treasurer; and Mrs. Edna Matheny, secretary.

Other officers are Mrs. Edna Olmsted, Mrs. Henry C. Hight, Mrs. Lola Erb, Mrs. Hilda LaLonde, Mrs. William A. Beckett, and Mrs. Marie Wright.

Mrs. Edward H. McDonald, state department president, was the installing officer.

SENIOR MUSIC LEAGUE

Jill Anderson was elected president of the Senior League of the National Federation of Music Clubs Sunday.

Other officers named at the home of Nancy Hsu were Sarah Raymond, Miss Hsu, Kay Sirlin and Cheryl Smith.

It was announced that the theme for the year will be the music of the 17th, 18th and 19th century old masters. Sally Stark, Tom McCulloch and Mary Manukian were welcomed as new members.

Music Pupils Win Awards

James Devereaux of Pontiac and Mary Slowik of Auburn Heights have been awarded scholarships by the Roth Music Studio. These awards are presented in the name of the late James N. Sanford, well-known musician and teacher.

James, a first year law student at Loyola University, Chicago, has studied piano for seven years.

Mary, a senior at Marian High School, Birmingham, plays both piano and violin and is currently studying with Dr. David Dichiera of Oakland University.

Three Couples Wed on Saturday

MRS. EDEN A. DIVER

Dr. Milton H. Bank officiated at the marriage of Laura Louise Upchurch to Eden Amprim Diver, Saturday, in the chapel of the Central Methodist Church.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Harold Upchurch of Woodstock Road, chose a street-length gown of white silk taffeta and Alencon lace for the five o'clock ceremony.

A petaloon secured her bouffant veil of French illusion. She carried a mistral arrangement of white orchids and Stephanotis.

Mrs. Duane E. Wildey, her sister's matron of honor, appeared in mocha chiffon over taffeta, styled with a cee-belle. She held cascading pink and white carnations.

BROTHER SERVES

Curtis Diver of Keego Harbor was best man for his brother. They are the sons of Mrs. Adeline Diver of Milford and James D. Diver of San Diego, Calif.

Following a family dinner in Vincent's Dining Room, Keego Harbor, the couple left for Chicago. They will live at Loom Lake.

The bride is a graduate of the McAuley School of Practical Nursing. Mr. Diver is an alumnus of Henry Ford College and the University of Michigan, Dearborn Branch.

MRS. C. E. TURNER

The Curtis E. Turners (Patricia Ann London) left for a northern Michigan honeymoon after their Saturday marriage and reception in the Emmanuel Baptist Church.

Dr. Tom Malone performed the evening ceremony for the daughter of the Samuel B. Londons of Palmer Street and the son of the Lesley B. Turners of Dover Road.

The bride's gown of white silk taffeta was fashioned with bodice and skirt panels of Chantilly lace with pleated back extending into a chapel train. Her silk illusion veil fell from a sequin and pearl tiara.

A white cattleya orchid centered her cascade bouquet of white carnations and Pittosporum.

With Sandra Zietek, maid of honor, were the bridesmaids Mrs. Clifford French, Mrs. Dwight Barnett, Mrs. Luther Clyburn and Marlene Smith.

AUTUMN SHADES

Cascade bouquets of yellow, bronze and butter-scotch pompons complemented their gowns of gold peau taffeta. The bridegroom's niece Jackie Sue Turner was flower girl and Bill Nicholson carried the rings.

Jack Turner attended his brother as best man. Seating some 250 guests were Jack London, Eugene Zigler, Donald Pugate and William Yost.

The couple will live on Rosshire Court.

MRS. F. GARY FAILLA

Rev. Jack Clark officiated at the evening vows of Kathleen Rae Jackson to F. Gary Failla, Saturday, in the First Christian Church of Pontiac.

A buffet dinner in the Illinois Avenue home of Mr. and Mrs. O. L. King followed the church reception for her daughter and son-in-law.

White peau satin for the bride featured bodice and skirt applique of Alencon lace with a cathedral train falling from a flat waistline bow. Her bouffant veil of silk illusion was fitted to a crown headpiece.

ROSE CENTER

Red sweetheart roses centered her bouquet of white chrysanthemums.

Wearing floor-length gowns of aquamarine peau de soie were Mrs. R. Kenneth Davidson, honor matron, and bridesmaids Barbara Graybill and Carol Graham. Janet Davidson was flower girl.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Failla of St. Joseph Road. He attended Ferris State College. With Charles Hartly, best man, were ushers John Hayes, Arthur Azolan, David Jackson and Jack Failla.

The couple will make their home in the Bloomfield Terrace.

Guest From East

Mrs. Ruth Stalker, Mt. Jewett, Pa., was a guest at the Friday meeting of Pontiac Rebekah Lodge 450.

Past Noble Grands will meet Nov. 14 at the Bigham Street home of Mrs. Walter Goodrich.

Daughters Install 14 Officers

Iraq Caldron No. 70, Daughters of Mokanna, installed 14 officers at the Thursday meeting in the First Federal Savings of Oakland.

Mrs. Walter Shelton was elected mighty chosen one and Mrs. T. R. Arnold, junior past mighty chosen one. Other officers are Mrs. Al Kugler, Mrs. Roger Smiley, Mrs. William Koggenhop, Mrs. Ray Haerter.

Also elected were Mrs. Victor Bodamer, Thelma Anderson, Mrs. Benjamin Richardson and Mrs. Howard B. Perment. Concluding the list are Mrs. Wayne Scott, Mrs. May White, and Mrs. Eugene Braggen.

Installing officers and escorts included Mrs. White, Mrs. Matthew Shelton, Mrs. Gustav Vogel, Mrs. Bodamer, Mrs. Bragen, Mrs. Eugene Willels, Mrs. Haerter, Mrs. Kugler, and Miss Anderson.

Mrs. Clayton Randolph and Mrs. Russell Woodbury were in charge of refreshments.

Comfortable Slumber

By POLLY CRAMER
DEAR POLLY—Recently I found myself forced to sleep with my hair done up on rollers.

Not looking forward to the headache I would probably get, I used my son's plastic inflatable swimming toy, the type shaped like a tube with a hole in the center.

My head, rollers and all, rested where the hole is and my neck rested comfortably on one side of the plastic tube.—C.

DEAR POLLY—When my hair must be set quickly, I roll it up dry and then let the steam spray from the vaporizer penetrate each roll. This lightly dampens the hair.

In 15 minutes it is dry and ready to comb out. It does not leave the hair sticky as hair spray often does. This is especially good for housewives who do not have hair dryers.—MRS. L. B.

DEAR POLLY—Wearing bedroom slippers or shoes without any hose sometimes loosens the innersoles. Purchase a good quality, matching color washcloth, and cut from it a pair of innersoles. Do not stitch.

Glue each one on one side only and insert in your footwear. Wait 48 hours before wearing. The feet no longer adhere, the innersoles stay in and the terry cloth is very comfortable.—MISS M. M. K.

DEAR POLLY—Teaching 2 and 3-year-olds to wash their own faces is much easier if you hang a special mirror in the bathroom at the right height for them. Then they can tell when they fail to get off all the jelly.

Every so often my small son and I take an hour or so to clean and sort out his toy chest.

I feel it is important to let the child help. Children are most pleased if you consult them on a chore of this kind. They are encouraged to take better care of their toys.

We remove and put in a special box-all toys that are outgrown or seldom used. They are put in the attic to be brought out later.

The broken toys and odd parts such as wheels, strings, arms, legs and so on are put together in another bag or box, easily accessible for dad to use for repairs on other toys.

Just before Christmas we get out these toys, sort out the ones my son would like to keep and those toys we will give to needy children. Toys that can be fixed are repaired with the accumulated odds and ends.—AN AVID READER.

DEAR POLLY—If you have a square-necked dress that does not lie as flat as you would like, try tacking a narrow piece of elastic inside each front corner. Bring pieces under the arms, and tie or pin together in the back.—L. E.

Share your favorite homemaking ideas... send them to Polly in care of The Pontiac Press. You'll receive a bright, new silver dollar if Polly uses your ideas in Polly's Painters.

Dayton Couple Chooses Williams' Home for Rites

The Voorhees Road home of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace R. Williams was the setting on Friday for the marriage of Jane Niswonger to Richard K. Millhoff. Both are of Dayton, Ohio.

Attending the couple were Mrs. Williams as matron of honor, Shakey Godoshian, bridesmaid, and Mr. Williams, best man.

A dinner in K Falls Restaurant followed the candlelight ceremony.

The bride was named "Girl of the Year" at a recent convention of Sigma Beta Sorority.

Suds Clean Hose 'fore Winter Blows

Before the first freeze sets in, swab the garden hose with a sudsy cloth or sponge, rinse and wipe dry, then coil it around a hose hanger or three nails fastened to a garage or basement wall. The drier and cooler you keep rubber or plastic tubing, the longer it will last.

Duranel Fry Pans Clean More Easily

No matter "what's cooking," the clean up will be easier if you use an efficient new duranel fry pan made of aluminum lined with stainless steel.

The manufacturer recommends washing it by hand, rather than a dishwasher—using hot soap or detergent suds and rinse water. For a real shine, dry it promptly with a clean towel.

Avoid Gum-Shoes

To remove chewing gum from shoe soles, take off as much as possible with a wad of absorbent cotton soaked in hot water. Then saturate another with turpentine and rub off remainder.

Adults Find New Interests in Oakland U. Night Classes

By L. GARY THORNE
Abandoning diaper changing, dish washing and leaf raking, some 850 local residents converge on Oakland University each night to make renewed attempts at learning.

The learning is sponsored by the OU division of continuing education, a fast growing department that keeps the campus a glow with bright lights long after dark.

The housewives, professional men and women, school teachers and factory workers tackle the textbooks in earnest.

NONCREDIT CLASSES

The evening exercises are enrichment or a "keep up to date" process for the most part.

All of the classes are non-credit, although most are college level, which matches the university atmosphere.

And what are the most popular classes?

OU officials report a steady interest in drawing, oil painting, public speaking, rapid reading and the like, but computers and their operation win the popularity test.

"This is a relatively new field and many adults couldn't take this when they were in college," explained Mrs. Barbara Bryant, of the division's public relations office.

In addition, some of the younger adult students failed to see the need for knowledge of computers while in college and seek to catch up.

OTHER COURSES

Other popular courses include basic electrical and mechanical instruction, and business management.

Set up on the same trimester basis as the daytime school, the evening classes attracted 2,410 last year.

The university offered a total of 250 different courses and actually conducted 158 in 1962.

Classes are cancelled where there is insufficient enrollment.

This fall 77 courses were offered, while 52 are in operation. The faculty for the night education consists of regular OU staff members, other teachers and qualified instructors from the world of industry and business.

The division of continuing education also sponsors specialized conferences. Eighteen such conferences attracted a record 2,578 people last year.

Aptly named, the division has been in operation since the university opened its doors in 1959.

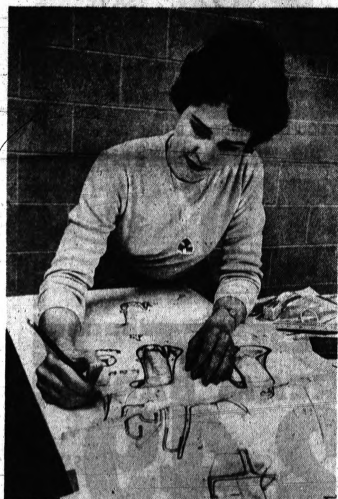

Left High, but Not Dry

WEYMOUTH, England (UPI)—Lucky customers in this seaside town were marooned in a pub yesterday by a high tide that flooded the dock area.

BASIC ELECTRONICS—Robert Allured of the General Motors Technical Center, explains the operation of an oscilloscope in his "Basic Electronic Engineering" course at Oakland University. Allured is one of several nonstaff instructors who teach evening courses in the division of continuing education program.

DO IT YOURSELF—Mrs. Edward Foster, 743 E. Liberty, Milford, typifies the do-it-yourself continuing education student. Mrs. Foster, dissatisfied with the car seats available for babies, decided it was time for action. She enrolled in "Industrial and Product Design" and is designing a product for which she saw a need.

PIANO INSTRUCTION—Oakland University sophomore Maureen Mack, 208 Anibal House, is a study in concentration in piano class for beginners. In the background, Robert Packo, of the OU department of music, gives pointers to Mrs. Edmond Madison, 2506 Warwick, Bloomfield Hills.

E. Iroquois, and Lloyd Golden, 4701 Edgewood, receive instructions from Douglas T. Lewis, supervisor of computer analysis and design with the General Motors engineering staff.

Kennedy Faces Possibility

Tax, Rights in Election Year Congress

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy faces the prospect that an election-year Congress may have to put the finishing touches on his tax reduction and civil rights legislation.

Unless there is an unexpected speedup, Congress still may be wrestling with several other major administration proposals when it recesses next July and August for the party nominating conventions.

These may include health care for the elderly, federal aid to elementary schools, mass transportation, creation of a domestic peace corps, area redevelopment, youth-retaining centers, wilderness preservation and farm production controls.

Opponents apparently have won their fight to stall Senate action on the House-approved tax reduction measure until after Kennedy submits his new spending budget in January.

Sen. Paul H. Douglas, D-Ill., a supporter of the measure, has conceded that there is little likelihood the bill will be passed this year despite Kennedy's repeated warnings that delays might bring an economic turnaround.

Leaders have been advised that the compromise civil rights bill approved by the House Judiciary Committee may not reach the Senate until after the first week of December.

Efforts of Democratic and Republican leaders to bring the measure before the Senate are certain to be greeted then by a filibuster.

Congress will run out of time fast in December. With a Christmas recess scheduled Dec. 20, Southern opponents could talk without much fear that they would be shut off by invocation of the cloture rule, which requires approval of two-thirds of those voting to limit debate.

When Congress returns to work on Jan. 2, the filibuster automatically would be resumed. Adjournment on that date and the convening of the second session on the next day would not affect the status of the House-approved bill or the filibuster against it.

Council Listing Safety From Amorous Gals

CAMBERLEY, England (UPI)—William Morris, chairman of an association of tenants in a housing development, charged today that a member of the City Council has drawn up "a black list of amorous women" living there.

Morris said the councilman issued the list to prevent utility meter readers and maintenance men from being "compromised by some women tenants."

"There are fewer than a dozen names on the list," Morris said, "but it casts a slur on all wives. It has created a lot of suspicion."

The issue is expected to come up at the next council meeting.

Detroit Vote on Millage Tomorrow

DETROIT (U) — Campaigners in Detroit's school millage election headed down the home stretch today after a month-long controversy over public school finances.

Voters decide tomorrow whether to extend for 10 years a 7.5-mill public school tax which the school board says is essential to maintain a proper program for the Motor City's 235,000 school children.

The 7.5-mills, which expires next June, is the equivalent of $7.50 per $1,000 of assessed property valuation.

Active supporters, using a slogan "Keep Schools Alive — Keep 7.5," included Roman Catholic clergy, teachers' organization and the United Auto Workers Union.

400 TO WORK

The UAW reportedly was ready to put 400 staff employees to work to get out the vote.

A home owners association has opposed the proposal on grounds that the legislature, with Gov. George Romney's tax reform program to consider, should be given the first opportunity to help out in Detroit's problem. The group also challenges the school board's budgeting policies.

'Could Back Barry, if ...'

NEW YORK (AP) — Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., says he would back Sen. Barry Goldwater for president next year if the Arizona conservative "would support a platform such as the Republican party wrote in 1960."

The 1960 platform contained many liberal planks. One of those who helped draft it was New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller who, like Goldwater, is an unannounced contender for the presidential nomination.

Rockefeller also has said he would support Goldwater but only on the terms that Keating echoed Sunday on the WABC "Press Conference" radio program.

Keating supports Rockefeller for the nomination.

Alert Sisters Save 2 Boys Buried Alive

TRAVERSE CITY (U) — Two tunnel-digging teen-age boys were trapped in a cave-in yesterday, and then rescued because of the alertness of two sisters of one.

Police said the boys, Barry Engle, 16, and Martin Glommen, 15, were in the process of destroying the tunnel when it caved in, burying both.

The boys were tearing down their tunnel because they felt it might be dangerous to other children in the neighborhood, police said.

Carla and Doris Glommen, sisters of Martin, saw the cave-in and ran for help to the home of Dr. John Spencer.

Dr. Spencer and the girls dug away the dirt to uncover Martin's head. Police, firemen and others arrived and dug out both boys. Barry, buried for several minutes, was revived with a resuscitator.

Minuteman Launched Down Pacific Range

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (U) — The Air Force launched a Minuteman intercontinental ballistic missile Saturday from this Pacific Coast base.

A spokesman described the operation as a routine training launch by a Strategic Air Command missile combat crew, but in keeping with Air Force policy further details were not disclosed. It was the 20th Minuteman launch from the base.

WEDDING TOAST — Newly weds Soviet cosmonauts Valentina Tereshkova, 26, and Andrian Nikolayev, 34, are joined in a toast by fellow cosmonaut Yuri Gagarin after their wedding yesterday in Moscow's marriage palace.

Joint Flight Possible

Cosmonaut Pair Honeymoons

MOSCOW (UPI) — The world's first space newlyweds were launched on a brief Russian honeymoon today before embarking on a possible joint spectacular in the cosmos.

Cosmonette Valentina Tereshkova, a lovely bride in white with a near-blond hairdo, disappeared from a boisterous reception last night hand-in-hand with spaceman Andrian Nikolayev.

Twenty-one toasts rang in their ears, most of them hoisted by Premier Nikita Khrushchev, who said he was acting as "father of the bride." Valentina's father was killed in World War II.

Air Force Chief Marshal Konstantin Vershinin, in raising his glass, hinted that the bride and groom might go in orbit together one of these days. "I wish you further great successes in the air and the cosmos," he said.

Valentina, in her 48-orbit space flight last June, almost linked up with cosmonaut Valery Bykovsky who was whirling around the world in a second spaceship at more than 17,500 miles per hour.

Nikolayev flew alone in August of last year on a 64-orbit mission that kept him aloft in Russia's spacechips, three for more than 49 hours.

Sitting at one of the seven damask-covered tables in the government reception house last night were 14 of the Soviet Union's future cosmonauts, including four women.

The men were crew-cut types in civilian clothes with collegiate enthusiasm in answering Khrushchev's toast, to them as astronauts of the future.

ELEGANT COIFFURE

One of the women space candidates was an elegantly coiffured girl who looked about 19 and could have doubled for American actress Audrey Hep-

Teen Beauties
Are Guests in Motor City

DETROIT (UPI) — Four pretty teen-age girls, including newly crowned Miss Teen-age America, today received the red carpet treatment in the world's automotive capital.

The girls, brought directly from the Miss Teen-age America pageant in Dallas, Tex., where Judy Doll, 17, Navarre, Ohio, was crowned queen Friday night, were guests of the Lincoln-Mercury Division of Ford Motor Co.

They were scheduled to undergo a two-day period of indoctrination in traffic safety and witness test crashes.

For the coming year, the girls will serve as youth safety spokesmen for the division.

OTHERS CHOSEN

Others chosen to promote the use of seat belts in public appearances across the country included Susan Rae Houghton, 17, Modesto, Calif.; Jeanine Marie Zavrel, Falls Church, Va.; and Patricia Eileen Hollis, Houston, Tex.

Their appearance here coincided with the 25th anniversary of the Mercury car, which was first brought out Nov. 4, 1938.

Spain Royalty a Nun

MADRID (UPI) — Countess Teresa Zamoyaki-Y-Borbon, 25, great-granddaughter of Queen Maria Christina of Spain, has become a nun in the strict order of the Barefoot Carmelites, it was announced today.

6 Zoo Animals Killed; Officials Hold Probe

ERIE, Pa. (UPI) — Zoo officials today investigated the deaths of six animals in the past two weeks.

Three Rhesus monkeys were shot and killed during the weekend. Earlier, an elk and two coatimundis were discovered poisoned.

U.S. Envoy to Brief JFK

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—The Kennedy administration has summoned its ambassador to Indonesia, Howard P. Jones, for consultations amid expectation the United States may take a tougher line toward President Sukarno.

Jones is due in Washington Nov. 12, after a conference with U.S. diplomats in the Philippines.

There has been some clamor in the United States for curtailing aid to Indonesia because of Sukarno's hostile attitude toward neighboring Malaysia. The U.S. Embassy said Jones would review the situation in Indonesia and the rest of Southeast Asia.

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—A government raid on a rebel hideout in the mountains of Paraguan Peninsula unearthed an arsenal of modern arms.

Newsman said the weapons were made in the United States.

The rebels apparently seized the cache in raids on government arsenals, military sources said. The government said it included flame throwers, rocket launchers and heavy machine guns. Newsman saw bazookas, recoilless rifles and 60 mm. mortars.

Six guerrillas, including two women, were captured by government troops in the raid Sunday.

SAN JUAN, P.R. (AP)—Dr. Juan Casanovas, claimant to the presidency of the Dominican Republic, arrived here Sunday from Santo Domingo. He said the Dominican junta government released him from jail and sent him into exile.

Casanovas, accompanied by his wife and three children, was greeted by deposed Dominican president, Juan Bosch. Casanovas, senate president, had contended that a secret meeting of the dissolved Congress had elected him to succeed Bosch.

Hunt Victims of River Plunge

EXTRACT BODY — Police remove the body of a young victim, one of 11 persons, all occupants of the car, who drowned yesterday when the vehicle smashed through a dead-end barrier and plunged into New York's Harlem River. A 12th occupant of the car escaped.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Police today continued dragging the Harlem River for the bodies of three persons killed with eight others when their car hurtled a low barrier at the foot of a dead-end street and plunged into the water.

The accident occurred early yesterday as the 12 occupants of the auto were returning to their homes in Brooklyn from a festive christening party in the Bronx.

There was one survivor, Isias Martinez, 40, who crawled from the submerged auto and made his way to shore.

There was a warning post a few feet from the point where the car hit the one-foot barrier and dropped into more than 30 feet of water. But the two blinking red lights on the dead end broken, apparently by vandals.

Later, City Highway Commissioner John T. Carroll, ordered children, Angel, 1, and Iris, 3; Mrs. Amella Aponte Velez, 34; and Juan Borrell, 40.

STUMBLES TO TAVERN

Martinez, who was reported in fair condition at Lincoln Hospital, apparently climbed up river pilings to the street. He stumbled to a nearby tavern to report the crash.

Friends of the victims said the party followed the christening of an infant Saturday afternoon.

It broke up around midnight, and the 12 persons crowded into the six passenger sedan for the trip back to Brooklyn.

There were no signs along the Bronx street to indicate it was a dead-end, except for the warning lights erected on a post about 10 feet from the wooden barrier at water's edge.

There were skid marks, indicating the driver made a frantic effort to stop.

Frightening Asthma Attacks End In Minutes As New Formula Unblocks Lung Passages Fast

New Medical Formula Restores Free Breathing Without Vaccines. Shots Or Narcotics. Calms Anxiety. No Prescription Needed.

New York, N.Y. (Special)—A team of scientists has announced a new formula that stops frightening asthma attacks in minutes and unblocks lung passages fast.

Medical tests prove this formula promptly restores free breathing, so calms anxiety and relieves the worst symptoms of asthma—the straining for breath, the gasping, the wheezing, the terrible fear of asphyxiation.

Without vaccines, painful shots or habit-forming drugs. This formula is so safe when used as directed, it can be sold without prescription in tiny tablets called BRONITIN.

Doctors know that when asthma strikes, breathing tubes become swollen, lung passages become blocked, so air is "trapped" inside lungs and less and less oxygen can enter. Now BRONITIN, with two actions, relieves their patients, acts quickly to open bronchial tubes and loosen the mucus that blocks lung passages. Trapped air is released and new vital oxygen enters the lungs.

The result is: free breathing is restored, tension eased and so fears are calmed in minutes. Sufferers can now look forward to restful sleep.

Bears, Packers Win

Stand-In Becomes Big Hit

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — The Green Bay Packers are making a hit player of their former stand-in player, John Roach.

That's the remarkable facet of the Packers. The supporting cast puts on its finest performance when the star is missing. They did it last season when Paul Hornung was injured. And they're doing it again with Bart Starr on the sidelines.

Jim Taylor, Tom Moore, Jerry Kramer and Elijah Pitts all combined to make Roach the National Football League's toughest stand-in Sunday in the Packers' 33-14 victory over the league Pittsburgh Steelers.

It was the Packers' seventh straight win and they needed it to keep pace atop the western division standings with the Chicago Bears.

They meet in Chicago, Nov. 17.

Roach, playing his second full game for Starr, completed only 7 of 17 passes for a modest 151 yards. But that's all the air power he needed, the way Taylor and Moore ran and Kramer kicked field goals of 25, 36, 12 and 37 yards; and Pitts carried over for two touchdowns after replacing Moore.

Taylor set a Packer record of 30 carries and gained 141 yards; Moore gained 88 yards on the ground and caught passes for 47 more; Kramer kicked field goals of 25, 36, 12 and 37 yards; and Pitts carried over for two touchdowns after replacing Moore.

At Baltimore, George Halas, who helped start professional football 44 years ago, resorted to ball control.

"It may not be as spectacular as the long bomb, but it does win games," Halas said Sunday. "For me, there's as much excitement when a man runs six yards for a touchdown as when he runs the length of the field."

SAME STYLE

The 68-year-old coach of the Chicago Bears and 60,065 fans had just watched his team beat the Baltimore Colts 17-7 with the same style which won six of their seven other games—keep the ball as long as possible when you get it.

"I'd say we've been sort of committed to it for our first eight games and it's proven correct so far," Halas said in a sort of a dare to dispute him.

The seven victories in eight games tie the Bears with the defending champion Green Bay Packers for first place in the Western Conference of the National Football League.

The Packers found the Chicago ball hogging unbeatable in the opening game and took their only loss 10-3. They meet again Nov. 17 in Chicago.

The Bear ball possession against the Colts was exceptionally striking in the second and last quarters when Chicago appeared content to sit on a touchdown lead.

During the second quarter when they were ahead 7-0, the Bears ran 25 plays to five, including a punt, by the Colts. In the last quarter, ahead 14-7, the Bears had 20 plays, one for an insurance field goal, to 10 for the Colts.

Halas said the presence of Lenny Moore and Raymond Berry in the game together for the first time this season with quarterback Johnny Unitas, a Colt trio which once was tops in the game's long scoring trends, emphasized his plan to hold the ball.

quarterback. "You worried me."

Johnson, blond and crew cut and looking young enough to be Little's son, shook his head.

"Tell me, Y. A., Johnson said, 'how do you get started so fast. What am I doing wrong? You make it look so easy, but I can't seem to do that. What should I do?'"

It's Mr. Brown Again and Ditto for 'Y. A.'

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Perhaps there isn't any such thing as the National Football League as an indispensable player. But it would be difficult to picture the Cleveland Browns without Jim Brown.

The 228-pound Brown simply was devastating Sunday as he ripped through the Philadelphia Eagles' line for 223 yards on 28 carries. He scored only once, a 63-yard romp on the fourth play of the game, but his bull-like rushes set off the other scoring in a 27-17 Cleveland victory.

When Brown is having a big day the Browns actually disdain the forward pass. Quarterback Frank Ryan threw only nine, completed four for 70 yards. On one play, with second and 20 after losing 10 on a pass attempt, Ryan handed the ball to Brown who lumbered for 15 yards. Most teams would have deemed that a passing situation.

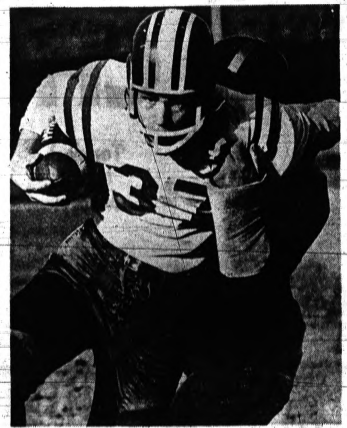

134 YARDS

Brown, who upped his league leading ground gaining figures to 1,194 yards on 165 carries, does his best to disclaim the one man team designation.

Brown's running gives the Browns that all important ball control. He keeps the defense "honest" in that it can't peel off too quickly on pass protection until it is sure Big Jim hasn't got the ball.

ST. LOUIS (AP)—New York's Y. A. Little, who came off a sick bed and led the Giants to a 35-21 National Football League victory over St. Louis, dressed warmly after the game and walked into the Cardinal dressing room Sunday.

No Dream, Lions Did Rout 49ers, 45-7

Morrall Hits Barr With 3 TD Aerials

Victory Still Costly as Two More Added to Injury List

From Our News Service

SAN FRANCISCO — It wasn't a dream. That was the Detroit Lions' football team whipping the San Francisco 49ers yesterday at Kezar Stadium, 45-7.

The already battered Lions, with its key players out of action, saw the injury list mount as the 5th member of the defensive unit, Yale Lary was put out of action with knee and ankle injuries.

Offensive guard Dan LaRose was also an early victim of a leg injury. The extent of either injury is not known.

With Earl Morrall enjoying the greatest passing day of his career, and Terry Barr grabbing three touchdowns passes, the Lions' attack was impressive and slick in its execution.

Danny Lewis, who was at fullback for the injured Nick Pietrosante, and Tommy Watkins had their best running days of the season. Lewis had 50 yards and Watkins went over 100 for the second straight week as he netted 107 yards.

Despite the casualties, the Lions put on a show in himbling former Lion Jack Christensen's team for the second time this season. The Lions beat San Francisco handily Oct. 6 in Detroit.

CLOSE FIRST HALF

With Morrall guiding the team, the Lions virtually ran off and hid from the 49ers after a relatively close first half which ended 13-7 in Detroit's favor.

Bedeviling the San Francisco defense, Morrall and Barr teamed up on touchdown throws of 10, 21, and 6 yards. Morrall also tossed a 10-yard TD pass to Watkins.

Milt Plum, whom Morrall has replaced as first quarterback kicked all extra points after the six Detroit touchdowns and also booted a 20-yard field goal.

Detroit's defense was so tough that San Francisco got a bare 67 yards by rushing and 6 in the air. The Lions, with Morrall completing 24 of 33 passes, got 308 yards that way and 201 on the ground while accumulating 27 first downs to San Francisco's nine.

The Lions intercepted four passes and lost three of their own that way before a Kezar Stadium crowd of 35,511.

San Francisco was first in score, taking a 7-0 lead in the first quarter on a Lamar McHan 19-yard touchdown pass to Bernie Casey after Mike Dowdle intercepted a Lion pass.

Detroit then took charge. Plum kicked his field goal in the second period and Morrall began a spectacular display with Barr.

The former Michigan State star hit Terry, one time Mike's halfback, with three passes covering 75 yards in an 80-yard scoring drive. The last one was for 10 yards and the first touchdown.

GAME OPENS UP

Morrall broke the game wide open in the second half. He passed 10 yards to Watkins for a touchdown and followed this with touchdown passes of 12 and 6 yards to Barr as Terry outmanned the 49ers (Continued on Page 26, Col. 3)

Bowlers Hit Clutch Scores in Bowlerama Qualifying

By JERE CRAIG

An outstanding example of coming through in the clutch held the spotlight as the 1963 Pontiac Press Bowlerama reached the halfway point yesterday.

Leo Rothbarth's strong 711 performance at Huron Bowl Sunday overshadowed a 732 effort by Edward Ray at Lakewood Lanes yesterday, also.

Another 711 was posted by Ray Stanabach at Collier Lanes Sunday. He hit 642 actual pins and had 69 handicap pins. His score tops the qualifying attempts at Collier yesterday.

Despite the fact Ray's total was the second highest in this year's qualifying competition, Rothbarth's bowling commanded the biggest attention during the third weekend of bowling.

He hit the highest actual series to date with 707 pins. Rothbarth was the first man on the 300 Bowl team to compete in the house team trophy competition.

His teammates had taken a big step last weekend toward retaining the travelling trophy won by "300" last year. They rolled 3480.

The Airway Lanes quintet was

In the lead, however, with a 2901 five-man total. Rothbarth needed 413 pins to put his team in the front running position. That took him only 17 frames and he added 294 more. That gives "300" a total of 3196.

CHALLENGER

They may be all needed, though, since a formidable challenger arose out of the Huron Bowl ranks. Four members of Joe Kane (686), Mike Semard (642) and Tony Ledesma (636) now must let sponsor Joe Bonfiglio bowl the ball for at least a 604 actual if they are to claim the trophy lead.

Realistic, however, will not have the "home" advantage that his teammates did, though, because competitors are not permitted to qualify in their own establishments.

Huron Bowl easily was the top house during the third weekend of qualifying. There were eight scores of 600 or better turned in this Sunday and five of those had actual figures at that pace.

Ray's 732 total at Lakewood was only four pins below the tournament high for this year set by Don Kramer last week at Howe's Lanes. He was aided by a 160-pin spot.

Another very good score was the 681 rolled by Ray Jones at West Side Lanes. He was only one pin off an actual 689 series.

Cooley Lanes had its top qualifying scores to date when George Pasch and Len Martensen hit 657 and 652, respectively.

Jim Shippe had a 648 Saturday at 350 Bowl to take the lead at that establishment.

HOWE FAILS — Gordie Howe of the Detroit Red Wings watches Boston goalie Ed Johnston beat the star right winger's bid for a new NHL career record away from the net

In last night's game, defending is Leo Bovin. Howe failed to get No. 45 as the Bruins rumbled, 4-1.

Red Wings Suffer Double Routs

BOSTON (AP) — Record-bent Gordie Howe still needs that 45th goal and the Detroit Red Wings, Terry at badly, need a victory after succumbing twice in the weekend National Hockey League action.

Both defeats were on the route side, a 4-1 trimming Sunday night from the last place Boston Bruins following Saturday night's 5-1 pasting from the Montreal Canadiens.

Howe, who seeks the NHL individual career goal-scoring record with one to go, ran a blank against the Bruins just as he did, against the Canadiens.

Converted defenseman Leo Boivin, a hard checker, was Howe's enigma Sunday night. Mainly because of Boivin's bone-rattling body checks, Howe was limited to two shots on goal as the Wings absorbed their second straight road defeat. They now stand 4-4-1 for the season.

A newly reorganized Boston line was sparked by winger Tom Williams with two goals and an assist.

GOOD SAVES

The Boston margin could have been larger except for a series of sensational saves by Wing goalie Terry Sawchuk. He had 17 stops in the second period.

Montreal, hammering its ex-guards Jacques Plante for a second time this season, won from the New York Rangers 5-3 in the only other game Sunday night.

The Canadiens moved into second place behind the leading Chicago Black Hawks as a result.

Jean Beliveau, who scored twice and had two assists against Detroit, picked up three more assists against the Rangers to take the league scoring lead with 20 points.

The Bruins fashioned their triumph over Detroit after Dean score and Prentice contributed two assists to Boston's cause. Prentice had replaced Johnny Bucyk at left wing on the No. 1 line with Williams and Murray Oliver.

Oliver got the game's first

The Red Wings, then lagging 3-0, did not get their sole goal until Eddie Joyal counted at 5:42 of the last period on a play with Lowell MacDonald and Norm Ullman.

Wins Almaden

Geiger Gets 'Bird'

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP) — "Every time you hear a runner on a golf course, forget it," advises Al Geiger.

While his own game slumped during the final round of the $25,000 Almaden Open, runners flew around Al's ears how his four-stroke lead had dissipated. He double-bogeyed the 14th hole and bogied the 17th.

"I thought I'd blown the thing," Geiger said.

But coming from the final fairway the former University of Southern California star got the right word. He needed a birdie to win.

"I sure don't know how I got it," Geiger recalled. But he planned a No. 4 iron shot four feet from the pin. After long deliberation he holed the birdie putt and beat amateur Dick Lotz and veteran Dutch Harrison by a stroke and won $2,500.

Geiger managed only a 27-35-71 on his final round for the 7,045-yard, par 36-72 Almaden Golf and Country Club course.

Lotz and Harrison, meanwhile, fired 68s after starting the day six strokes off the pace. Jay Hebert, four back when the round began, charged Geiger early in the day but wound up at 72 and 73. While Geiger fretted over his final putt, Harrison dropped a 68 foot birdie effort that caught Lotz.

TWO BOGIES

Geiger, who had carded 69-67-67 the first three days, three-putted twice for bogies on the first nine.

At the 10th, his second shot lodged under the lip of a trap and at 17 he three-putted from two feet when his first slid two feet past the cup.

But his Almaden charm came through on 18 and he saved the necessity of playoff. Geiger collected his first professional check at Almaden four years ago and he won the tournament in a breeze last year when it was an unofficial event.

Grid Excitement Perks in Big 10 for Michigan, MSU

Spartans Now Want 'Real' Bowl Visit

By JIM BROOKS — EAST LANSING (UPI) — Michigan State has already been to the Rose Bowl once this season. But the underrated Spartans are now looking forward to a second trip, which would be much more enjoyable than the first visit.

The Spartans' chances of going to Pasadena on Jan. 1 boomed after the smashing 30-13 upset victory over Big Ten champion Wisconsin before a homecoming crowd of 71,033 Saturday.

Michigan State wasn't even supposed to be a title contender this season after suffering heavy graduation losses from last year's club, which had a disappointing 5-4 mark. But the Spartans remained in a first place tie in the Big Ten with Illinois and Ohio State at 3-0-1.

The first MSU trip to the Rose Bowl this season was for a practice session before the 12-13 loss at the Coliseum to defending national champion Southern California.

But the Spartans could make it for the real thing on New Year's Day for the first time since 1955.

"It was the finest conference game we've played in a long, long time," coach Duffy Daugherty beamed after the Spartans rolled up 294 yards against the Badgers.

TWO BIG ONES

MSU now only has to beat Purdue this week and Illinois in the finale to go to the Rose Bowl. If Ohio State and MSU tie for the Big Ten crown, MSU would go because the Buckeyes have gone since MSU's last trip.

But the Purdue "Spiller-makers" stand as a big obstacle for MSU. Purdue has won six of the last 10 meetings between the two schools including the 6-0 win in 1953 that ended MSU's 26-game winning streak and the 20-13 win in 1957 that was the only Spartan loss of the season.

Both losses cost the Spartans national titles.

Daugherty was more concerned about Purdue than the Rose Bowl. "We're already made our appearance in the Rose Bowl this season, don't even mention it, we've got three more games to go yet."

If the Spartans do go to the Rose Bowl, they'll have to do it without sophomore quarterback Steve Judy, who suffered a shoulder separation and is through for the "season." If the "Season" lasts until Jan. 1, he still may make one action.

Dick Proebstle, who lost the starting job to Judy after being almost even with him through the pre-season drills, came on to direct MSU to the win over Wisconsin and should be able to keep the Spartans rolling.

Sherman Lewis, who was bothered by leg cramps, all but backed next week. Roger Lopes and Ron Rubick, finally recovered from his knee injury, combined with Lewis to give the Spartans a devastating ground game.

Lewis dashed 67 yards with a pass from Judy to give MSU a 6-0 lead. After Wisconsin shoved ahead 7-6 and Judy left with his injury, Proebstle directed a 30-yard drive and plunged over for the TD that made it 12-7 at the half.

U. of M. Gains Big Triumph From Wildcats

Wolverines Ready to Face Pete in Brothers' Battle

ANN ARBOR (U.P.) — A key play by a man who wasn't even supposed to be on the field turned a close football game into a runaway victory for Michigan on Saturday.

End John Henderson, who normally plays on offense only, intercepted a pass by Tom Myers on the Northwestern 22-yard line early in the third quarter and scored the touchdown that gave Michigan a 14-0 lead over the Wildcats.

Michigan went on to score two more times and won 27-0 for its first Big Ten victory in five outings.

After watching his team drubbed by Purdue and lose a close decision to Minnesota, coach Bump Elliott was more than pleased with the work of his inspired eleven.

"We've been looking for a lucky break and we got it," said Elliott in summing up the Michigan triumph.

Especially pleasing was the work of quarterback Bob Timpane, who completed 12 of 20 passes for 186 yards and 20 touchdowns to outshine the highly-touted Myers. The Northwestern quarterback entered the game as the Big Ten's total offense leader.

Elliott, now faces the personally difficult task of preparing his team for a game with Illinois at Champaign Saturday and trying to end the Illini's chances of a trip to the Rose Bowl.

Illinois is coached by Bump's brother, Pete, who has been unable to beat Michigan in the four years Bump has been head coach.

Elliott explained Henderson's being on the field Saturday: "He was not supposed to be in there, but because of the substitution rule we could not get him out just before the ball changed hands. He surely was the right man in the right place."

Henderson's interception came a little more than a minute after Timberlake missed a field goal from the Northwestern 20. The Wolverines took possession on the Northwestern 22 when Jim Corbett intercepted another Myers aerial.

UNABLE TO MOVE

Michigan, unable to move out of its own territory until late in the second quarter, marched 74 yards and scored with two minutes remaining in the half when Timberlake and Jack Clancy combined on a 33-yard scoring play. Only one yard in the march was gained on the ground.

Henderson scored again with less than three minutes remaining in the third quarter after he grabbed a Timberlake pass on the Wildcat 11 and side-stepped two tacklers.

Michigan's final touchdown came early in the final quarter when Timberlake passed to Conley on the Northwestern 40. Conley caught the ball with one hand and scored easily to complete the 33-yard play.

Northwestern, with reserve quarterback Dave Milam at the helm, went 73 yards against Wolverine reserves for its only touchdown late in the fourth quarter.

Big Ten Race Gets More Unpredictable

CHICAGO (AP) — The unpredictability of the Big Ten football race this year not only has reached new heights but apparently has had baffling effects on conference coaches.

Everyone seems to learn something new each week, especially in the respective cases of Illinois' Pete Elliott, Ohio State's Woody Hayes and Michigan State's Duffy Daugherty.

Maybe these three are learning faster than the rest of the coaches in the league since Illinois, Ohio State and Michigan State are tied for the conference lead as the race enters the final three weeks of play.

All three were victorious Saturday through somewhat surprising results with Illinois crushing Purdue 41-21, Ohio State edging Iowa 7-3 and Michigan State manhandling defending champion Wisconsin 30-13.

FIRST WINS

Adding to the hectic first reversal, Indiana and Michigan both recorded initial conference triumphs with Indiana whipping Minnesota 24-6, and Michigan slugging Northwestern 27-6.

All season long Illinois has added to its prestige by winning with defense. Illinois' biggest previous high score was 20 points in a tie with Ohio State. But Elliott learned Saturday his club also is a power on offense.

Illinois piled up 325 yards rushing with Jim Grabowski scoring three of the team's five touchdowns drives. All this against a Purdue team which had yielded a total of three touchdowns in four of its five previous games this season.

Against Iowa, the Buckeyes found themselves trailing 3-0 in the third quarter. Hayes had Hayes is rapidly becoming a magician in manipulating his corps of sophomores. A week ago, Hayes threw sophomore Don Unverferth at quarterback against Wisconsin in the third quarter. Unverferth, who sat on the bench in the first half, directed a game-winning touchdown drive.

'Dipper' Flips in 55 Points

By The Associated Press

"The Big Dipper" is finding the range again in the National Basketball Association.

Which means Wilt Chamberlain is tossing those baskets in as of yore for the San Francisco Warriors.

Big Wilt set all kinds of scoring records in the NBA 20 years ago with more than 4,000 points and an average of 50 points a game. He slipped under the 40-plus average last year and the first weekly scoring statistics this season had his average down to 25.5.

But Wilt showed he hasn't lost the old touch by flipping in 55 points Saturday night as the Warriors whipped the Los Angeles Lakers in their second game in the Western Division. Wilt scored 23 baskets and converted nine of 15 free throws.

Most of the league's weekend activity occurred Saturday night. In the other games that night, the unbeaten Boston Celtics won their sixth straight with a 117-109 decision over Detroit; the St. Louis Hawks, the Western Division leaders, won their fifth straight, 128-98 over Philadelphia and the New York Knicks defeated Baltimore 113-105.

Miss Hauge took second with a 218 for the 54 holes—a score good enough for first place last year. The 1962 winner was Mickey Wright, who dropped out just before this year's journey started because of a muscle spasm in an arm.

CARLSBAD, N.M. (AP) — Marilyn Smith, with a four-under 212, won first place and $1,000 Sunday in the second annual Cavern City Open City Tournament but fifth place winner Clifford Ann Creed won more money because of a hole-in-one.

Second place and $950 went to Marlene Hagge and Sandra Haynie took third and $750. Kathy Whitworth finished fourth.

Miss Creed won $520 for her fifth place performance but made an extra $2,000, a special prize offered by a Carlsbad cafe owner for an ace.

The lucrative shot was made with a No. 6 iron on the 145-yard 18th hole.

Hills Runner Takes Crown

Seaholm Wins Class A State Title

Bloomfield Hills' Bob Richards clipped 23 seconds off the Class A cross country record in winning the Michigan state championship Saturday at Wausau Country Club at Ypsilanti.

Birmingham Seaholm picked up the Class A team crown with a point total of 41. Milford ran third with 115 points and Royal Oak Kimball grabbed 10th place.

Running in a special two-mile race restricted to individuals, whose teams did not qualify for the regular competition, Richards broke the tape at 9:46.1 to crack the old mark of 9:48.4 set by Lou Scott of Detroit Eastern in 1952.

Jamie Dennis and Bill Schoen ran 1-2 to pace Seaholm's victory in the team championship run, with Dennis taking individual honors with a time of 10:09.5.

Milford's Bill Nelson came in 10th to lead the Redskin squad. Vicksburg took top honors in the Class B division with Steve Bishop taking first with a 10:02 clocking.

Ann Arbor St. Thomas led the field in the Class C run. Brown City's Ray Childers placed fourth for the Green Devils in the C-D chase.

San Antonio Honors Veteran Polo Player

Smith Wins Class A State Title

San Antonio, Tex. (AP) — Cecil Smith waited for a long time but his hometown of San Antonio finally got around to honoring him.

Smith is a legend among polo players and without a doubt the greatest athlete in his chosen field, to come from a town that boasts of such people as Kyle Rote and Betty Johnson.

Smith's honors came Sunday at a 23-goal match at Brackenridge Park, the oldest municipal polo field in the nation. Smith scored in the game's final 44 seconds to tie the score, then produced the winning goal in a sudden-death overtime.

Smith is one of the greatest players in polo history. For 25 years, longer than any other man, he carried a 10-goal handicap.

That is the best a guy can do in polo.

He is the only polo player in the Texas Sports Hall of Fame. Smith, 59, has played polo for 38 years and been a member of five victorious national open championship teams. He has trained polo ponies by the hundreds. And he has reared a son who just may be almost as adept at swinging a mallet as his father.

TWO GOALS

Charles Smith, 20, played on his father's team Sunday and scored two goals—one less than his father produced — as their team won, 7-6.

Another son, Sidney, 22, also plays polo expertly but he does not take to the game with quite the enthusiasm of his younger brother.

More than 4,000 people saw the match that opened the San Antonio polo season. Afterwards there was a reception and dinner in Smith's honor.

Smith, who had thoughts of retiring last summer, has changed his mind now and he plans to be in Chicago when summer play starts.

The modest athlete's handicap has been lowered to nine. He had requested he be lowered

Chapot Posts Riding Title

U. S. Rider Captures Coveted Crown

WASHINGTON (AP) — Veteran American rider Frank Chapot, winner of three events, captured the coveted international individual jumping title in the annual Washington Horse Show.

Chapot posted 17 points in competition with riders from Argentina, Canada and West Germany. He won decisively over Alvin Schockemuehle, a German who took second with 11 points.

Most events of the five-day show ended Saturday with Sunday being devoted to children's competition, including contests patterned after Olympic competitions.

For the second year in a row, the award for Champion National Junior went to Jack or Better, a 9-year-old brown gelding owned by Colony Farms, Montville, N.J., and ridden by Ben O'Meara.

Sonny Brooks of Laureling Farm, Harrison, N.Y., was named Champion Jumper Champ.

The youngest rider on the American team, 19-year-old Mary Mairs of Pasadena, Calif., won the show's final international jumping event Saturday night, the $1,500 Washington State. Her horse, Tomboy, an 8-year-old chestnut mare, was named Champion International Horse.

Rookie QB Helps Bills in AFL

By The Associated Press

Rookie quarterback Darley Lamonica, who's had difficulty keeping his car on the right path, steered Buffalo back on the road toward the Eastern Division title in the American Football League the first time they let him at the wheel.

Pressed into service when starter Jackie Kemp was injured, Lamonica connected with Glenn Bass on a 74-yard touchdown pass in the third quarter before hitting rookie quarterback with a 35-yarder that clinched the Bills' 30-28 victory over Denver.

Lamonica, who two weeks ago escaped serious injury in an auto accident, wound up the day with nine completions in 17 attempts for 211 yards in his first chance at running the club on its own appreciable length of time.

The victory boosted the Bills' record to 4-4-1 and pushed them back into the struggle for Eastern honors. Boston and Houston are tied for the top spot with 5-4 records following the Patriots' wallowing of the Oilers Friday night. New York is last, but still in contention, at 3-4-1.

JETS FLAME OUT

The Jets were overwhelmed 53-7 by the Western Division leading San Diego Saturday night as veteran quarterback Tobin Roté put on an outstanding one-man show for the Chargers, completing 21 of 29 passes for 369 yards and three touchdowns while plunging a yard for another score.

The Chargers, 6-3, lead the West by 1 1/2 games over the Oakland Raiders, who brought their record to 5-4 by edging Kansas City 10-7 on a league record 85-yard punt return by Claude Gibson in the fourth quarter.

Lamonica, who starred at Notre Dame as a collegian, got ample assistance in his first big pro test from Gilchrist and Mack Yoho. Gilchrist gained 125 yards in 23 carries while Yoho kicked a 23-yard field goal that provided the margin of victory. Denver rookie Don Breas fired four TD passes, 45 and 27 yards to Bill Groman, a 43-yarder to Bob Scarpiello and a 70-yarder to Lionel Taylor.

Oakland's Raiders got off to a 3-0 lead on a 10-yard field goal by Mike Mercer in the second period but Kansas City moved to front before the game on an Alton Hayes' one-yard plunge. Then, in the final quarter, Gibson hauled in a punt on the 15, raced down the sidelines and eluded a fiving tackle by Eddie Wilson as he crossed with the deciding TD.

The 35-year-old Roté made effective use of Lance Alworth against the Jets, hitting the flanker with five long passes for 180 yards, including a 29-yard touchdown. Roté's other long down passed came on a 14-yarder to Paul Lowe and a 14-yarder to Dave Kocourek. Lowe also scored on an 11-yard run.

Northwestern, with reserve quarterback Dave Milam at the helm, went 73 yards against Wolverine reserves for its only touchdown late in the fourth quarter.

PNH Battered in 14-6 Loss

By DON VOGEL

Pontiac Northern began regrouping its battered football forces today for the Nov. 15 clash with Pontiac Central.

The Huskies, with a 5-3 record, will be idle until then and from all appearances will need the extra week to get the injured back in playing shape and the strategy to be used against PCH down pat.

Central hasn't won a game, but the Chiefs have played superior competition than PNH and this is expected to be the equalizing factor.

Tackle Larry Cheek was out of the lineup for the second straight week Saturday when Northern lost to Wyandotte, 14-6. Before the game was over, halfback John Colajac was on the way to the hospital for observation after suffering bruised neck muscles.

Wyandotte, champion of the Border Cities League, dominated play in the first half and then held off a PNH comeback in the last two periods.

The Bears scored in the first period on a 64-yard dash up the middle by fullback Ron Laurain. They added the clincher in the next period with a 20-yard pass from Laurain to the end, Sidney Mann.

what were to loom as important extra points.

Steve Daniels, PNH's hard working fullback, collected the Huskies' lone touchdown on a five-yard burst off-tackle in the third quarter. Dean Stouden's kick for the extra point was blocked.

BIG PLAY
The blocked kick looked like a big play when Northern drove to the Wyandotte two in the closing minutes only to mess up the drive with a five-yard penalty.

The Bears, suffering from fumbleitis, lost the ball twice inside the PNH 10 on bobbles and were thrown back by the Huskies' defense after reaching the 13 another time. Another threat was killed by a penalty. Wyandotte also lost two other fumbles.

Northern was hampered by a third and 20 situation on their own 36, the Bears were expected to pass. Instead, Laurain roared up the middle on a draw play, found plenty of running room, and went the distance.

FUMBLES, FUMBLES
On the next to last play of the opening session Laurain fumbled on the PNH six and Northern recovered.

Northern punter Jim DeFlorio fumbled the snap from center on the Huskies' 38 and four plays later Olyas carried over for Wyandotte.

End Tom Nichols made two key tackles in the closing minutes of the half as PNH stopped the Bears on the 13.

Nichols pounced on a Bears' fumble in the first minute of the third period and PNH marched 24 yards with Daniels going the final five.

Dieringer Wins '400'

Three Firsts in Final NASCAR Event

RIVERSIDE, Calif. (AP)—The last NASCAR event in the season produced at least three firsts.

Darek Dieringer of Charlotte, N.C., scored his first victory in NASCAR competition by winning the inaugural running of the Golden State 400-mile stock car race, road at Riverside International Raceway.

He also became the first driver this year to win a NASCAR event in a Mercury.

The third first was accomplished by Joe Weatherly of Norfolk, Va.

He finished seventh Sunday, miles behind Dieringer, but still became the first man ever to win two consecutive NASCAR grand national driving titles.

He gets a cash prize of $2,400, but he figures the title is worth about $30,000, counting appearance fees and endorsement money.

Dieringer turned 148 laps on the winding 2.7 mile course in four hours, 28 minutes and 17 seconds, averaging 91.645 miles per hour. He won $7,320 of the $41,000 purse.

LAP PLUS
Dieringer took the lead from Dave Macdonald of El Monte, Calif., in the 119th lap and beat him to the finish line by a lap and 18 seconds. Macdonald, who had held the lead almost continuously since the 22nd lap, developed transmission trouble in his 1963 Ford in the late going and finished with one one gear third.

Marvin Panch of Daytona Beach, Fla., finished third in a Ford and Fireball Roberts of Daytona Beach was fourth in a Ford.

Junior Johnson of Ronda, N.C. was fifth in a Mercury followed by Jack Smith of Spartanburg, S.C., sixth in a Plymouth; Weatherly in a Mercury; Bill Amick, Portland, Ore., in a Mercury; Bob Ross, Lakewood, Calif., in a Mercury and Ron Hornaday, Arleta, Calif., in a Ford.

Dieringer turned 148 laps on the winding 2.7 mile course in four hours, 28 minutes and 17 seconds, averaging 91.645 miles per hour. He won $7,320 of the $41,000 purse.

To Head Auditor Board?

Murphy Decision Wednesday

By DICK HANSON
Will County Clerk - Register Daniel Murphy be appointed chairman of the county board of auditors? Will the chairman's salary be hiked to $19,000 next year?

These are questions that may be answered when the County Board of Supervisors meets Wednesday in the courthouse auditorium.
Murphy still is considered the likely candidate for the job. He would have to resign his present elective position by Jan. 1, when the appointment is supposed to take effect.

His sole opponent for the chairmanship at this time is Robert Lilly, secretary - member of the board of auditors. Lilly has made unsuccessful attempts to be chairman in the past.

Murphy agreed to be a candidate when assured he had the support of many key supervisors, including their chairman, Delos Hamilton, and all members of the ways and means committee.

Murphy will have to be appointed to the board of auditors first, before he can be made chairman.

A vacancy on the three-member board is being created by the retirement of past chairman Robert Moore, 77, effective Jan. 1.

Murphy has no announced opposition to succeed Moore on the board, although other nominations could be made from the floor.

TO STAY MEMBER

The chairmanship is open because incumbent John Austin

69, has asked not to be reappointed to the top post. He will, however, remain a member of the board of auditors.

Austin has asked the supervisors to appoint a younger man chairman. Murphy is 46; Lilly, 46.

The board of supervisors balked at appointing Murphy to the board of auditors Oct. 7. Many said they felt that the issue was being railroaded through by the ways and means committee.

They saw it as a package deal to make Murphy chairman for three years at a hiked salary of $19,500 the first year, $20,000 the second, and $20,500 the third year.

GETS $13,400

Austin currently is paid $13,400 as a member of the board of auditors, with no extra compensation for being chairman. He and Lilly will be raised to $14,000 next year.

Many of the objections raised at the last meeting supposedly have been erased in new resolutions.

This time the supervisors will be asked to vote separately on the following steps:

- Set the annual salary for a new member of the board of auditors next year at $13,000.
- Appoint a new member to the board of auditors.
- Approve an additional $4,000 compensation for the auditors chairman next year.
- Appoint one of the three auditors chairman.

TOO HIGH?

Several supervisors already have voiced the opinion that the proposed salary is too high. If their numbers are sufficient they could have the action tabled again for further consideration in committees.

Less controversial will be the appointment of nine other county officials and the re-affirmation of three others at this time.

Only the incumbents are known to be candidates.

They are R. C. Cummings, Charles Brown, Ernest Seaholm and Donald Kalmbach for the planning commission; George Scott, tuberculosis sanatorium trustee; Harry Horton and John Richard, public works board; Maurice Croteau, social welfare board; and John Irwin, veterans affairs board.

Up for reconfirmation for another year are the dog warden, Dr. Frank Bates; Corporation Counsel Robert Allen; and Civil Defense Director John Madole.

Thief Returns Missing Radio; Not Right One;

A repentant thief with the best of intentions has only added confusion to misfortune.
On Halloween night Mike Hanes, 2348 Pine Lake, Keego Harbor, discovered that his car radio had been stolen in the parking lot of the Huron Bowl, 2525 Elizabeth Lake, Waterford Township.

The following day, a mysterious package containing a radio, a dollar bill and a scribbled note arrived at the Huron Bowl.

The note lamented the fact that the radio was taken and explained that the incident was the result of a dare. The money was to cover any inconvenience.

But, when Hanes came to the Waterford Township police station over the weekend to claim his property, he just shook his head and told police the radio in the mysterious box was not his.

Ex-NY Lawyer Dies

SHERIDAN, Wyo. (UPI) — Dean Sage, 55, a former New York attorney who left big city life to become a rancher here in 1945, died at his home Friday.

Hans Discuss Aid Network

Foundation for what could become a statewide emergency message network was laid here yesterday in a meeting of citizens band radio enthusiasts, truckers and police officers.

For a formal organization was completed for a new organization called Highway Aid by Radio Truck (HART), said the group's president, Richard Montgomery, 2655 Windy Hill, Auburn Heights.

Montgomery said HART will promote truck transportation industry use of citizens band radios to relay to police news of accidents or motorists in trouble.

Li Don Kratt, Oakland County Sheriff's Department safety director, pledged support of the Michigan Sheriff's Association on establishing the program. Officers from Monroe County, Sheriff's Department, and Pontiac Michigan State Police Post also offered help.

The meeting at Teamster Local 614 hall drew about 40 interested persons, most of them drivers of radio-equipped trucks.

Morocco Asks Intervention

RABAT, Morocco — Morocco urged the Organization of African Unity today to meet quickly, after reporting Moroccan forces beat back several thousand Algerians in a new frontier battle.

Morocco bolstered army patrols along the northern border near Fiquig, a Moroccan oasis that was the center of Sunday's battle.

King Hassan II's government announced it intended to abide by the cease-fire worked out in Mali last week. Two officers from Mali were expected at Fiquig some time today to try to keep the peace.

Dispatches from Algiers said Mali officers already were at the frontier on the Algerian side and expected to meet with those on the Moroccan side.

TRUCE BODY

Mali and Ethiopia were named to a truce commission set up to enforce the cease-fire. The Ethiopian commission members are expected to reach the frontier shortly.

The request for full Organization of African Unity intervention was made by Foreign Minister Ahmed Balafout in a message to Foreign Minister Doucoure Thiame of Senegal. Thiame is chairman of the organization, which arranged the cease-fire meeting at Bamako, Mali.

In Algiers, Algerian officials insisted all fighting around Fiquig stopped at 3:30 p.m. Sunday in a belated observance of the truce agreement.

Algerian field guns and mortars were reported still in position in hills around the oasis, which forms a salient of Moroccan territory.

SEND NOTES

The agreement called for a cease-fire at midnight last Friday and an international investigation of the neighbors' rival territorial claims.

The Moroccan government, in notes to the United Nations and the Organization of African Unity, accused the Algerians of aggression at Fiquig. The Moroccan ambassador at the United Nations, Ahmed Taibi Benhima, said his government may ask the Security Council to take up the border war unless the fighting stops.

Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia and President Modibo Keita of Mali, who arranged the cease-fire, continued efforts to make it stick. Benhima said Morocco would await the outcome of contacts with Algerian President Ahmed Ben Bella before turning to the Security Council.

Lyle and Democratic County Chairman Sander M. Levin issued a joint statement today saying the group agreed a joint plan would be a "valuable contribution" by reducing the number of appointment plans submitted for the county.

Lyle said last week that a bipartisan plan could help the eight-member bipartisan state appointment commission agree on new districts in time for the 1964 elections.

A smaller group, of four from each party, including Levin and Lyle, plans to meet again Saturday.

Just Ask the Zookeeper

Bear Facts on Winter: Much Warmer

(EDITOR'S NOTE — The frost is on the pumpkin, so can winter be far behind? And what kind of winter will it be anyway?)

By RAYMOND J. CROWLEY

WASHINGTON (AP)—A survey—in depth of polar bears' fur, the autumn activities of squirrels and the movements of hairy caterpillars pointed today to an inescapable prediction:

We Americans face a much milder winter than the one that nearly froze our marrow the last time around.

The U.S. Weather Bureau, a conservative organization which is unfortunately wedded to science, refuses to confirm or deny this. It stubbornly declines to make such long-range forecasts.

But listen to Ralph Norris, veteran headkeeper of the National Zoo:

BEAR'S COAT

"Why, my gracious," says Norris, "I just inspected Snowstar, a polar bear, and that bear doesn't have any coat to speak of. Real thin like. If cold weather sets in that bear will have to borrow an overcoat."

This, to Norris, is evidence that Snowstar looks for a mild winter.

To be sure, there are contradictions, as we experts say. Norris notes that the reindeer have developed real plush coats. But you have to consider the overall picture, in which squirrels are important.

Squirrels usually start away nuts against the winter. On a recent Sunday, 40,000 people visited the zoo and dropped a lot of peanuts.

PEANUTS AROUND

Now, ordinarily the squirrels would bury this food in no time. But on Monday morning Norris noted many peanuts still lying around. Which shows that squirrels are unworried about the winter.

Private advice from Winchester, Va., say squirrels there are acting differently. They are really scrambling for acorns. But political considerations may enter into this case.

Winchester is the domain of Sen. Harry F. Byrd, an economy who expects all hands—human and animal—to be diligent and frugal.

From all over, come reports that not many hairy caterpillars or woolly worms, have been observed crossing highways. Last autumn a lot of them did so, in disregard of stoplights, and of course this foretold deep snow and severe cold.

SHAKES HOPE

When we turn to a study of almanacs, our hope that we may not need the old gales and mackinaw is somewhat shaken.

To be sure, the Old Farmers Almanac says that generally this winter will be warmer—37 degrees average as compared to 34 last year. But it adds that there will be 57 inches of snow.

OAK PARK, Ill. —For years to come, lonely old people or children will receive Christmas gifts from Barbara Schulz.

Mrs. Schulz, childless widow of a Chicago building manager, died Thursday at the age of 91. Her will provides a trust for annual distribution of Christmas cards and $5 presents in her name to inmates of a home for the aged or an orphanage.

An institution where the distribution is to be made will be selected each year by her executor.

which is a lot of snow. It figures out to 2.72 inches more than last year.

The Hagerstown (Md.) Town and Country Almanack, in its 1964 edition, predicts rain or snow on 21 days during the first three months of the year. Seventeen other days in the same period are marked fair and cold.

These two publications—started respectively in 1792 and 1797—have won a great deal of prestige among high and low. For example, a Maryland governor in the 1880s always checked the Hagerstown edition before setting dates for hanging criminals. This was so the spectators would not get wet.

SNOWY WINTER

Launching its 159th year, John Baer's Agricultural Almanac at Lancaster, Pa., doesn't foresee such rigorous weather as last time. But it says the winter will be snowy, much of it cold and January will be the worst month.

Many Pennsylvania Dutch are loyal fans of Baer's. They plant by its charts and swear by it, even when it's wrong.

The nearest thing to a long-range forecast that can be swung out of the Weather Bureau is this from J. Murray Mitchell Jr., widely known meteorologist: "I feel that people would be well advised to prepare as if cold weather lay ahead."

Upon examination, this statement is seen to be hedged. But Dr. Mitchell feels that, in the present state of science, it would be premature to say more.

Another source depended upon heavily to lend authenticity to this survey fell down completely. This is Johnny, a wise parakeet owned by Sidney Moses, a vendor of bottled goods on fashionable DuPont Circle, Washington.

"What has Johnny said about the coming winter?" a newsman asked Moses.

"He hasn't said," Moses replied. "But if he did say, I wouldn't pay any attention. Confidentially, he's a big fibber."

Peru Quake Recorded by NY Seismograph

NEW YORK (AP)—The Fordham University seismic observatory yesterday reported a "fairly strong" earthquake occurred about 3,000 miles south of Peru.

The Rev. Joseph Lynch, head of the observatory, said the disturbance, recorded Saturday night, possibly was in or near Peru. He said the first shock was recorded at 10:18 p.m. (Pontiac time) and the second one six minutes later.

The total debt of private persons and organizations in the U.S. went up from $265 billion to $275 billion between 1950 and 1962, U. S. Department of Commerce figures show.

Fiscal Program Faces Key Decision Tonight

Green to Ask GOP Caucus; Accept Plan

Speaker Hoping for Support to Move Bill
Onto Floor of House

From Our News Wires

LANSING—The fate of Gov. George Romney's tax reform hopes may be decided tonight when speaker Allison Green, R-Kingston, asks the 58-member House Republican caucus to embrace the fiscal program.

The program, modified from its original structure through a series of meetings between the governor and 10 GOP legislative leaders, now rests in the House Taxation Committee, and Green wants support to move it to the floor for debate.

Last week the speaker and the governor both said they believed the Republican representatives would approve the maneuver.

Many Republican legislators, however, are still known to be, at best, only lukewarm in their support for the income-tax-centered program. Even Romney acknowledged last week he would have to have Democratic support to see the plan passed.

Democrats are expected to press their point-by-point demands on the fiscal reform program when lawmakers return to this evening's special legislative session.

HAMMERED OUT

The list of demands was hammered out yesterday at a Democratic State Central Committee meeting in East Lansing, where State Party Chairman Zoltan Ferency termed the revised version unacceptable.

"Substitutes for fiscal reform devised by the administration or any other source merely to provide a record of bills passed without regard to the correction of Michigan's basic fiscal problems would be hollow achievements and should be rejected," said the resolution unanimously endorsed by the committee.

The resolution, with its seven-point outline, was to be sent to Romney, to Democratic lawmakers, and to the joint committee of 10 Republican legislators which worked out the revised program.

The resolution demanded:

- A statewide income tax.
- Repeal of the sales tax on food and prescription drugs.

- Repeal of the business activities tax.
- Statewide reform of real and personal property assessment procedures.

- Tax equity for senior citizens.
- Adequate assistance to local units of government and school districts, collected by the state and distributed to local governments.

Jubilant Vietnamese Surge Through Presidential Palace Following Coup

Waterford Vote Is Tomorrow

Waterford Township voters will cast ballots tomorrow on a proposal to incorporate the township as a city. They also will select nine charter commission members from a field of 21 candidates.

If the proposal passes, charter commissioners will convene within 10 days of the election to begin drafting a city charter.

If the incorporation issue is voted down, the charter commission would be voided because there would be no purpose for its existence.

Passage of the proposal tomorrow will not necessarily mean that the township will become a city.

It would authorize the charter commission to prepare a terford Citizens Action Committee for incorporation (WCAC), the Greater Waterford Community Council (GWCC), the township junior chamber of commerce, the Township Board and the township planning commission.

Opposing the proposition is the Save Waterford Township Committee (SWTC).

Three basic issues have evolved in discussions on the election issue. They are: taxes, fragmentation and borrowing.

Opponents of incorporation contend that taxes will rise if the township becomes a city. They say it is the nature of city residents to expect and demand more services.

Those who advocate incorporation stress that taxes will remain the same if services remain the same. They concede that added services would result in higher taxes.

Incorporation proponents cite the danger of fragmentation, that is, annexation of township area by an adjacent community or incorporation of land area within the township.

They point out that failure to pass the proposal will leave the township open to fragmentation into numerous weak municipalities.

"NONEXISTENT" Opponents of incorporation say the danger of fragmentation is almost nonexistent.

Acting on leads from other miners, the mine management had a narrow test shaft bored Sunday near the main pithead.

MIRACLE Miraculously, the drilling hit a tiny air pocket 196 feet down where the 11 men were entombed.

Fired by this stroke of luck, test borings were begun two miles away near Broilstedt Cemetery. Mining experts believed a huge air pocket may contain five or six miners there.

Rudolf Stein, the mine manager, said chances were extremely slim that any miners there would be alive, "but we are trying anyway."

After the 11 men were found, a microphone was lowered to them along with food, warm underwear and socks, an electric cable and lights.

GOOD SHAPE The men reported they were in generally good condition. They have been subsisting on water and reported their legs were swollen from too much liquid.

They claim that fragmentation is likely to occur when industry develops extensively in one or more sections of an area or where there is a wide range in residential values.

Neither of these situations exist in Waterford, they say.

Incorporation boosters maintain that Waterford as a city could borrow money for improvements at a better interest rate than as a charter township.

It conveyed a message from Gen. Tran Van Don, one of the coup leaders who contacted the U.S. Embassy in Saigon, saying that the children had been in Dalet, a resort north of Saigon, at the time of the coup and were safe.

The telegram said the children are now in Pahn Rang, a coastal town.

TURNOVER Don told the embassy that the children would be turned over to Mme. Tran Trung Dung, a niece of Diem and Nhu.

"We understand you wish the children to proceed to Rome," said the telegram.

"We have asked the American Embassy in Saigon to lend its facilities to expedite the children's travel."

Mme. Nhu had at least one (Continued on Page 2, Col. 4)

3 Children From Viet

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Mme. Ngo Dinh Nhu reportedly has asked Secretary of State Dean Rusk to help her obtain safe conduct to South Viet Nam so that she may arrange her husband's funeral and remove her three young children from the country.

The request was contained in a telegram Mme. Nhu sent yesterday, a source close to her said.

She is also drafting a telegram to President Kennedy, the source said. Mme. Nhu withheld the text of her telegram to the State Department until she is assured it has been received.

Mme. Nhu's husband, Ngo Dinh Nhu, secret police chief in the government, died with his brother, President Ngo Dinh Diem in a military coup Friday.

Mme. Nhu feared that three of her children, ages 15, 11 and 4, would be killed in the bombing and strafing of the presidential palace.

SHE WEPT She wept most of Saturday night and early yesterday, an aide said.

Later in the morning, she received a telegram from the State Department.

It conveyed a message from Gen. Tran Van Don, one of the coup leaders who contacted the U.S. Embassy in Saigon, saying that the children had been in Dalet, a resort north of Saigon, at the time of the coup and were safe.

The telegram said the children are now in Pahn Rang, a coastal town.

TURNOVER Don told the embassy that the children would be turned over to Mme. Tran Trung Dung, a niece of Diem and Nhu.

"We understand you wish the children to proceed to Rome," said the telegram.

"We have asked the American Embassy in Saigon to lend its facilities to expedite the children's travel."

Mme. Nhu had at least one (Continued on Page 2, Col. 4)

Ngo Deaths Rapped by State Department

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States has told South Viet Nam's new revolutionary committee that the deaths of President Ngo Dinh Diem and his powerful brother, Ngo Dinh Nhu, while in custody, were not only regrettable but could not be condoned, U.S. officials said today.

The U.S. Embassy in Saigon was instructed to inform the military junta headed by Gen. Duong Van Minh that the deaths of the brothers was looked upon here as an unhappy development.

The circumstances surrounding the deaths were still not clear, although the Saigon radio called them suicides.

A high government source repudiated an earlier suggestion that Diem and Nhu had harvested the results of their own misdoings.

No official word has been received from Saigon on the formation of a provisional government. Nor has there been a request for U.S. recognition.

The revolutionary committee suspended the constitution but reportedly named Nguyen Ngoc Tho, a Buddhist, had served as vice president under Diem and if the constitution had not been suspended, he would automatically have become president and chief of state.

WITHOUT CHIEF Now, Tho is the acting prime minister of a government without a chief of state.

This complication and other difficulties in naming a Cabinet were attributed here to the fact that the leadership is held by professional military men not schooled in the formation of governments. The U.S. 7th Fleet continued to keep units standing by to protect American civilians if the need should arise.

The United States planned to go ahead with the withdrawal of at least 1,000 technicians and military advisers by the end of this year.

Among them were Montgomery Ward, $2,370; Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co. area stores, $880; Hughes-Hatcher-Suffolk, $500; International Business Machines, Pontiac office, and Seaman Manufacturing Co., both $315; Jones Transfer Co., $260, and Bateman Realty, $250.

Stuart Whitfield, commercial division chairman, said his solicitors were at $151,445, which is 74 per cent of quota.

Whitfield said chapter plan collections, or those at businesses with 10 or more employees, were leading in his division with $107,062, or 84 per cent of goal, completed.

Republican leaders will be scanning the results to see if the party gains in Dixie and the big cities.

At stake are the governorships of Kentucky and Mississippi; the mayor's office in such cities as Philadelphia, Boston, San Francisco, Memphis and Salt Lake City; hundreds of other municipal and state offices; and the state legislatures of New Jersey, Virginia, Kentucky and Mississippi.

Much attention will be focused on Philadelphia where Democratic Mayor James H. J. Tate seeks election to a full four-year term against Republican attorney James T. McDermott. The city has been the scene of violence and unrest this year stemming from efforts of the (Continued on Page 2, Col. 6)

Income Tax Battle Old Hat to Michigan

LANSING (UPI) — The fact Michigan doesn't have a state income tax is not because people haven't pushed it.

The need for the levy, in fact, has been the source of an almost constant quarrel dating from the 19th century.

In 1891, Gov. Cyrus B. Luce, a Republican, recommended a tax on corporations and an income tax.

In 1897, "The question is one no longer for debate but for energetic action since it has been under consideration for 20 years," GOP Gov. Hazen S. Pingree said in a message to the legislature that urged, among other levies, an income tax.

Republican Gov. Arron T. Bliss pleaded for tax reform in a message he delivered as "Michigan enters the long highway of the 20th century."

Of all the words of all the governors whose messages are covered with dust in the state law library, none rings truer today than Pingree's.

NEVE RESOLVED
"The question which is always present and is never solved in a state or municipal government is the question of taxation," said the bearded governor who sprang from Puritan stock.

Pingree, twice governor and four times mayor of Detroit, called a special session of the legislature March 22, 1898, because "The inequality of our system of taxation is so great that it should not be permitted to continue for another year."

In 1844 the administration of Democratic Gov. John S. Barry was halted by a $7,000 year-end deficit. Barry said "strict economy in every department" was needed to get Michigan out of debt.

The situation was almost identical to the one that Gov. G. Mennen Williams ran into in 1959. The difference was that his administration was facing a $110-million deficit.

MANY SIMILARITIES
Williams, Gov. John B. Swainson and now Republican Gov. George Romney faced problems in their fights for fiscal reform not unlike those that Gov. Pingree talked of.

When Williams pleaded for an income tax during the cash crisis of 1959 he spoke of "a little group of willful men" who blocked fiscal reform. He complained about a bad press and he warned of overcrowding in prisons, hospitals and schools.

"Our state insane asylums are overcrowded... nearly all of our state institutions are cramped (because) legislators have not been brave enough to defy the narrow-gauged and little-minded critics."

That wasn't Williams talking in 1959, nor even Swainson last year.

It was Pingree in 1899.

LOT OF NONSENSE
At the same time Pingree, complained of "those newspapers" who "uttered a great deal of nonsense concerning management of the finances of the state."

Williams, when talking about the press, spoke of the "spirit of recrimination, name-calling and libel-mongering... and editorial gong-beating" by writers "who are totally ignorant of the true situation in Michigan."

This year as Gov. Romney wages his battle for fiscal reform there are several major differences from previous fights.

For one, thing Michigan is headed for a surplus instead of a deficit. With tax dollars rolling in at what may be a record rate the state figures to have completely wiped out its deficit, which now stands at $22 million, by the end of this fiscal year.

Also the governor is not asking for fiscal reform because he wants to raise more money. The tax revenues will remain the same, but, Romney, has said, there will be greater "tax justice."

The reaction of the legislature, however, could be just as it has been since the 1890s — that is a solid "no" answer to the pleas for enactment of the income tax.

American pharmacies filled 780,460 prescriptions last year at an average selling price of $3.06 each, Drug Trade News reports.

Army Watches Argentina Democracy

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Over the years, revolts by the armed forces have played a major part in many Latin American countries. Here is a look at the army leadership that is keeping a close watch on the way things go in Argentina.)

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—As much as any one man can be, Gen. Juan Carlos Onganía, commander of the Argentine Army, is responsible for the fact that this country is ruled today by an elected civilian president.

Onganía, 46, in the first interview he ever granted, made it clear that the army is supporting President Arturo Illia.

"You must remember," he told The Associated Press, "that the president is commander-in-chief of the armed forces, and we are at his command."

No one should conclude that Dr. Illia has a blank check from the military to run a free-wheeling civilian government.

Military leaders are looking over his shoulder. There is no doubt they reserve the right to intervene if they decide that Illia is making too many mistakes.

TALK OF DEMOCRACY

Yet they evidently wish him success. They talk about making democracy work.

They are keenly aware that a period of political stability would help the ailing Argentine economy.

The overarching power of intervention became apparent in the way Onganía sought to define the role of the military in Argentine politics, from the military's own point of view.

In essence, Onganía said the military command has a constitutional duty to defend the country's democratic constitution and national security whenever these are threatened by acts or by failures of the other arms of government, including the presidency.

POWER ALTERNATION

The Latin American work for a military coup is "golpe." In Argentina, the years of the golpe go back to 1930, when the old alternation of power between Conservatives and Radicals came to an end.

A military uprising ousted Radical President Hipolito Yrigoyen, the political ancestor of Illia, leader of today's People's Radical party.

Years of turmoil and frequent military dictatorships followed. The old, essentially two-party, order had broken up and since then Argentina has never been able to work out a stable balance of political forces. Corruption and irresponsibility in government frequently have been charged.

The rule of Juan D. Peron, which developed as a labor reform movement, degenerated into a corrupt drive for personal wealth, marked by political oppression and brutality.

RISE AND FALL

Peron rose to power following a golpe, and a golpe drove him into exile in Spain.

Arturo Frondizi, an elected president starting in 1958, survived 35 crises during 46 months in office. In the end, a golpe got him.

In the post-Frondizi period, Onganía jumped to national prominence. A great controversy had raged in the armed forces over whether the country should have an elected government or a dictatorship.

SOLDIER PRO

Onganía argued for elected government and finally in September 1962 led a revolt against the military high command. He won the support of President Jose Maria Guido, then running a caretaker government. From that time on, he has been the country's No. 1 military figure.

Onganía is a professional soldier. He was born of middle class parents in a small town in the Pampas. He entered military college in March 1931.

This correspondent and an AP colleague spent several hours with the general and his nominal chief, Gen. Ignacio Avalos, the secretary of war. Both have close associates among U.S. military men.

In essence their concept of the military role in Latin-American affairs is that military leaders are the final defenders of the constitution.

Onganía was asked: "Now that the country has a constitutional government, will the military back the government of Dr. Illia in any situation?"

ALL HAVE DUTIES

"The army believes," Onganía said, "that everyone has his duty and his missions within the constitution: The armed forces, the president, the congress and the judiciary."

"Our mission is that of security, internal and external, for the national defense. Any action by the president or the congress is no immediate concern of ours. The armed forces as the president's advisers on security matters at the highest level will give their opinion when it is requested."

"Of course, there are times that actions of the president or of the congress or even of the judiciary may over a long period of time result in a matter of national security.

"It is at that time in the completion of their mission within the constitution, that the armed forces will be asked through appropriate channels to carry out maintenance of security and national defense."

ENDORSES VIEW

Avalos endorsed Onganía's description of the military role, including the key provision that if another branch of the government endangers national security the armed forces may have to step in.

Onganía said the army's indirect collaboration includes civic action—building of roads, communications, transportation and education. The army helps train technicians and provides basic education in the campaign against illiteracy.

THE TWO ROLES

The two roles of security and civic action put the army in a strong position. In the difficult days that lie ahead for Illia, when he is trying to balance the budget, check inflation and institute economic and political reform, the military high command can either support him against all opponents or remove him from power in a twinkling.

Onganía has impressed many U.S. observers here, including diplomats, as a man who genuinely wants the Illia government to succeed and is prepared to back it a long way. Though Onganía would not be specific, it is understood that two things the military leaders will not tolerate. They will not let Communists begin to gain power and they will not permit a return of Peronism.

WATERFORD TAXPAYERS

Do You Have the Complete Story on Becoming A CITY?

- QUESTION
1. Does incorporation as a city prevent annexation?
 2. Can the City of Pontiac take the Mall from Waterford whenever they choose?
 3. Is there a real danger of fragmentation?
 4. Does our present population require that we become a city?
 5. Do we have enough industry to warrant incorporation?
 6. Will the gasoline and weight taxes that we receive from the State mean an advantage to Waterford if we incorporate?
 7. Is there a significant difference in the interest rate of cities as opposed to chartered townships?
 8. Could we receive any additional services as a city that we cannot receive as a charter township?
 9. Will taxes go up if Waterford becomes a city?

- ANSWER
1. NO... Under state law, any portion of a City could still be annexed. (Mich. Statutes Annotated 5.2088)
 2. NO... The owners of the Mall would have to ask for annexation, and not only the Pontiac City Commission would have to approve, but the WATERFORD TOWNSHIP BOARD would also have to approve, or approval would be necessary of the voters of the City of Pontiac and the Township of Waterford (Michigan Statutes Annotated 5.2088)
 3. NO... There is no one section of Waterford Township that has a tax base large enough to cause the residents to want to break away from the rest of the Township.
 4. NO... Redford Township has over 70,000 people, and they are not a city.
 5. NO... The general rule of thumb is that between 30% and 35% of the tax base should be industrial and commercial. Waterford's percentage is less than 15%.
 6. NO... As a city, we would have to maintain our own roads. Experience of other cities shows that the state funds are not sufficient to cover the services. Any monies used for construction of local roads, must be matched by other township funds or special assessment. (Michigan Statutes Annotated 9.1097)
 7. NO... The City of East Lansing and the Charter Township of Meridian (adjacent to one another) issued approximately one and three quarters of a million dollars of water and sewer bonds within a short period of time. The difference in interest rate was LESS THAN 1/10 of one percent.
 8. NO... Virtually all services performed by a city may be performed by a charter township.
 9. YES... Authorities agree, and experiences of other areas show, that taxes increase when an area becomes a city.

The above graph shows that from 1962 to 1963 taxes increased more than 100%. They can increase from the present 2.83 mills to 10 mills, with voter approval as a charter township. As a city, this limitation could be doubled with voter approval to 20 mills.

Cityhood might be necessary for Waterford at some future date. Waterford has only been a charter township for two years and this form of government has not been given sufficient time to be effective. The City of Warren was a charter township for seven years before becoming a city.

They Have Fun, Too

Girl Scout Ideals Remain Bright

A half century of time has not dimmed the guiding ideal of the Campfire Girls — leisure time activities.

Today, some 1,500 Camp Fire Girls in the Pontiac area, sing, hike, sew, cook, and participate in social activities together to show the idea is still a good one.

Together they belong to one of the busiest local agencies

sponsored by Pontiac Area United Fund dollars.

Ironically, the organization's founder was a man, New York educator Dr. Luther Gulick, who in 1910 envisioned something similar to Boy Scouts but designed specifically for girls, built on their interests and preparing them for their feminine role.

ADDED APPEAL

With others, he saw such a program based around recreation and leisure activities. To this was added the appeal of goals expressed in Indian ceremony, costume and terminology.

But it all begins with the girls themselves. Membership is open to all. Usually the groups stem from associations at school, church, or community center.

Youngest members are the Blue Birds, ages seven and eight. Camp Fire Girls is open to those nine through 12.

A separate Junior High unit was formed two years ago, while Horizon Club, began 20 years ago for older teenagers with maturing interests.

PONTIAC COUNCIL

Formal Camp Fire organization came to this area in 1939 when the Pontiac Council was chartered.

Now the permanent staff of three, which is assisted by hundreds of volunteers, is headed by Mrs. Donald Beck. His work, under a current United Fund budget of $23,240, is directed from headquarters at 132 Franklin Blvd.

Eight years ago the council established Camp Oweki on a 120-acre site near Clarkston.

In Indian fashion, Camp Fire's watchword is "whoheh," composed of the first two letters of work, health, and love.

Next Contract Talks

Labor To Ask for More

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK — Labor is expected to push for new share-prosperity scheme in the next round of contract talks. Once the chief emphasis was on wage increases, then on the many kinds of fringe benefits, and now, recently on job security.

But in the current business upswing, DAWSON industrial production has been rising faster than employment totals, and the percentage of the labor force out of work has all but failed to budgie.

So now union leaders—with an eye also on increased corporate profits—are expected to step up demands for shorter work weeks and longer vacations, and also to press in new contract negotiations for curbs on overtime. The aim: to get more workers on the payrolls.

Latest Labor Department figures put jobholders at 69.9 million in mid-October. The unemployed totaled 3.5 million, or 5.5 per cent of the labor force, and 159,000 higher than a year ago. Of the jobs 919,000 have been out of work 15 weeks or longer.

PRODUCTION UP

Industrial production in mid-September—the latest figure—was 125.7 per cent of the 1957-59 average, compared with 118.8 per cent the previous year.

Factory workers' overtime averaged three hours a week, highest since 1956. Some labor leaders contend more than 11 million workers are working longer than the standard 40-hour week. So along with the drive to cut the standard to 35 hours, a number of leaders are expected to try to discourage overtime while other members of the union are idle.

Management usually has dollar and cents reasons for resorting to overtime rather than adding to payrolls, with all the fringe benefits that involves: pensions, vacations, health insurance and eligibility for employment payments and the like.

Also the production surpt may be temporary or uncertain; management's eyes turn to a fluctuating total of workers. And often expansion of the work force would mean training new employees rather than recalling experienced ones.

STUBBORN PROBLEM

But that stubborn hard core of unemployment—whether caused by automation or overemployment—is bothering unions and their leaders.

Some are going to ask in the next contract talks that overtime be limited to emergencies, such as breakdowns. Others are going to seek stricter rules, such as curbs on overtime pay, and also to seek more attractive to management. This could range from paying overtime after 32 hours rather than 40.

or paying double for overtime rather than time and a half.

Congress also is looking into the matter. The House Select Subcommittee on Labor is planning public hearings this month on both the proposals for shorter work weeks and for curbs on overtime or more expensive overtime.

Government officials, business executives and labor spokesmen will present their arguments.

And listening will be many who have been laid off when industrial production fell off and haven't been recalled when it revived. Also listening will be many who have been enjoying—and maybe counting on—their added overtime take as a prop to family budgets.

Successful Investing

By ROGER E. SPEAR

(Q) "My husband met with an accident and cannot get a job now. We get dividends from Bethlehem Steel, Otis Elevator, and U. S. Pipe & Foundry. We could invest $2,000 in more stock. Would you advise us to switch our stock to El Paso Natural Gas and Tennessee Gas Transmission? Do you think Cincinnati & Suburban Bell Telephone is speculative?" B. L.

(A) I offer your husband my sincere sympathy on his accident and on his inability to get work.

Cincinnati Telephone is not speculative. It is a sound issue offering a 4.3 per cent yield. You might well put your available cash into this stock.

I would avoid El Paso Gas, which has a real troubles and faces competition.

Hold your Bethlehem Steel for its good yield, but switch U. S. Pipe—where the dividend does not look wholly secure—into Tennessee Gas Transmission.

I suggest also that you switch your Otis into Atchafalaya, which will give you a substantially higher, well-protected return.

Also the production surpt may lost money in speculating. It was partly my broker's fault, because he would not let me keep a good stock I owned, even though I pleaded with him. This broker is holding $200 worth of stock for me, which I am a widow, working, and have $5,000 in savings. I cannot afford to lose any money. Should I put more money in stock?" H. S.

(A) In the first place, I should like to tell you that no broker—unless you have signed over to him the discretionary management of your funds—has the slightest right to force you to sell or buy any issue. He can make recommendations and execute orders—and that's all.

The state expects to prove he masterminded the murder plot. He was beneficiary of $1,061,000 insurance on her life. He has not collected.

JURY COMPOSITION

A jury of six men and six women, with a man and a woman alternate keeping the sex division pattern constant, was picked last week in Hennepin County District Court.

The case was transferred here from Ramsey County (St. Paul) on a change of venue granted on a defense contention that publicity there might tend to bias jurors.

Both sides have listed about 125 possible witnesses.

Local Man Beaten, Robbed by 2 in Car

A Pontiac man was beaten and robbed of $8 when he was forced into a car at Pike and Saginaw early yesterday morning.

James P. Perry, 32, of A-3 Arcadia, told Pontiac police he was grabbed by two men while walking at 3 a.m. and dragged into the car.

He said he did not know where he was taken but was dumped out of the car near Bethune School on Lake Street.

To Head Auditor Board?

Murphy Decision Wednesday

By DICK HANSON.
Will County Clerk - Register Daniel Murphy be appointed chairman of the county board of auditors? Will the chairman's salary be hiked to $13,000 next year?

These are questions that may be answered when the County Board of Supervisors meets Wednesday in the courthouse auditorium.

Murphy still is considered the likely candidate for the job. He would have to resign his present elective position by Jan. 1, when the appointment is supposed to take effect.

His sole opponent for the chairmanship at this time is Robert Lilly, secretary - member of the board of auditors. Lilly has made unsuccessful attempts to be chairman in the past.

Murphy agreed to be a candidate when assured he had the support of many key supervisors, including their chairman, Delos Hamlin, and all members of the ways and means committee.

Murphy will have to be appointed to the board of auditors first, before he can be made chairman.

A vacancy on the three-member board is being created by the retirement of past chairman Robert Moore, 77, effective Jan. 1.

Murphy has no announced opposition to succeed Moore on the board, although other nominations could be made from the floor.

TO STAY MEMBER

The chairmanship is open because incumbent John Austin,

69, has asked not to be reappointed to the top post. He will, however, remain a member of the board of auditors.

Austin has asked the supervisors to appoint a younger man chairman. Murphy is 46; Lilly, 46.

The board of supervisors balked at appointing Murphy to the board of auditors Oct. 7. Many said they felt that the issue was being railroaded through by the ways and means committee.

They saw it as a package deal to make Murphy chairman for three years at a hiked salary of $13,000 the first year, $20,000 the second, and $20,500 the third year.

GETS $13,400

Austin currently is paid $13,400 as a member of the board of auditors, with no extra compensation for being chairman. He and Lilly will be raised to $14,000 next year.

Many of the objections raised at the last meeting supposedly have been erased in new resolutions.

This time the supervisors will be asked to vote separately on the following steps:

- Set the annual salary for a new member of the board of auditors next year at $15,000.
- Appoint a new member to the board of auditors.
- Approve an additional $4,000 compensation for the auditors chairman next year.
- Appoint one of the three auditors chairman.

TOO HIGH?

Several supervisors already have voiced the opinion that the proposed salary is too high.

If their numbers are sufficient they could have the action tabled again for further consideration in committees.

Less controversial will be the appointment of nine other county officials and the re-appointment of three others at this time.

Only the incumbents are known to be candidates.

They are R. C. Cummings, Charles Brown, Ernest Seasholtz and Donald Kalmbach for the planning commission; George Scott, tuberculosis sanatorium trustee; Harry Horton and John Richard, public works board; Maurice Croteau, social welfare board; and John Irwin, veterans affairs board.

Their reappointments would be for three years.

Up for reaffirmation for another year are the dog warden, Dr. Frank Bates; Corporation Counsel Robert Allen; and Civil Defense Director John Madole.

Thief Returns

Missing Radio; Not Right One;

A repentant thief with the best of intentions has only added confusion to misfortune.

On Halloween night Mike Hanes, 2348 Pine Lake, Keego Harbor, discovered that his car radio had been stolen in the parking lot of the Huron Bowl, 2325 Elizabeth Lake, Waterford Township.

The following day, a mysterious package containing a radio, a dollar bill and a scribbled note arrived at the Huron Bowl.

The note lamented the fact that the radio was taken and explained that the incident was the result of a dare. The money was to cover any inconvenience.

But, when Hanes came to the Waterford Township police station over the weekend to claim his property, he just shook his head and told police the radio in the mysterious box was not his.

Hams Discuss Aid Network

Foundation for what could become a statewide emergency message network was laid here yesterday in a meeting of citizens band radio enthusiasts, truckers and police officers.

A formal organization was completed for a new organization called Highway Aid by Radio Truck (HART), said the group's president, Richard Montgomery, 2668 Windy Hill, Auburn Heights.

Montgomery said HART will promote truck transportation industry use of citizens band radios to relay to police news of accidents or motorists in trouble.

LT. Don Kratt, Oakland County Sheriff's Department safety director, pledged support of the Michigan Sheriff's Association in establishing the program. Officers from Monroe County Sheriff's Department and Pontiac Michigan State Police Post also offered help.

The meeting at Teamster Local 614 hall drew about 40 interested persons, most of them drivers of radio-equipped trucks.

In Algiers, Algerian officials limited all fighting around Figui stopped at 3:30 p.m. Sunday in a belated observance of the truce agreement.

Algerian field guns and mortars were reported still in position in hills around the oasis, which forms a salient of Moroccan territory.

SEND NOTES
The agreement called for a cease-fire at midnight last Friday and an international investigation of the neighbors' rival territorial claims.

The Moroccan government, in notes to the United Nations and the Organization of African Unity, accused the Algerians of aggression at Figui. The Moroccan ambassador at the United Nations, Ahmed Taibi Benhima, said his government may ask the Security Council to take up the border war unless the fighting stops.

Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia and President Modibo Keita of Mali, who arranged the cease-fire, continued efforts to make it stick. Benhima said Morocco would await the outcome of contacts with Algerian President Ahmed Ben Bella before turning to the Security Council.

Ward Employees Back on Job After Strike
DETROIT (UPI) — All workers at six Detroit-area Montgomery Ward stores will be back on the job today following settlement of a strike by members of Retail Clerks Local 678.

The clerks voted 42 to 46 Friday to end a 49-day strike against the firm. The new contract provided for a union shop in addition to a 26-cent hourly wage increase over four years.

Ward said last week that a bipartisan plan could help the eight-member bipartisan state apportionment commission agree on new districts in time for the 1964 elections.

A smaller group, of four from each party, including Levin and Ray, plans to meet again Saturday.

A Lake Orion teen-ager was hospitalized early this morning after his car skidded on gravel and overturned on Clarkson Road near Sunset in Orion Township.

In Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital with cuts and a possible concussion is Charles Mallett, 18, of 65 Northshore. The accident occurred at 3:45 a.m. according to the sheriff's department.

Agreement by Dems. GOP Hoped for on Districting

Democratic and Republican leaders were hopeful today that they will be able to reach agreement on a joint bipartisan plan for the legislative reapportionment of Oakland County.

In an attempt to establish guidelines for discussion at an exploratory meeting attended by about 10 from each party in Birmingham Saturday, they agreed on some preliminary steps.

"It was an encouraging meeting," said GOP County Chairman Charles L. Lyle, who originally advanced the idea for a bipartisan effort to help the state apportionment commission resolve the difficult matter of reapportioning the county.

"I think we may be able to arrive at a solution," Lyle said, indicating there was a "spirit of willingness" on both sides.

JOINT AGREEMENT
Lyle and Democratic County Chairman Sander M. Levin issued a joint statement saying the group agreed a joint plan would be a "valuable contribution" by reducing the number of apportionment plans submitted for the county.

Lyle said last week that a bipartisan plan could help the eight-member bipartisan state apportionment commission agree on new districts in time for the 1964 elections.

A smaller group, of four from each party, including Levin and Ray, plans to meet again Saturday.

agreed first to tackle the matter of drawing the three State Senate districts the county expects to get on the basis of the 1960 census and under the terms of the new state constitution. The county now has one Senate district.

HOUSE DISCUSSION
Republicans earlier had wanted first to discuss the nine or 10 House seats the county should get instead of its present six.

A Republican member of the apportionment commission reportedly has said the question of 9 or 10 House seats had not been decided.

If the commission fails to draw new legislative districts on time, there may be no basis for electing legislators next year, since present districts do not conform to the new constitution.
