Year's Deepest Snow Piles Up Here

4 Inches in City; Storm Blankets Michigan, Ohio

Cleveland Gets Three Times as Much Depth; Traffic Crawls

March trudged into Michigan like a heavy-footed white lion today and buried Pontiac under four inches of snow—the heaviest snowfall this winter.

The late-season storm, blanketing Michigan and Ohio, closed schools in the Cleveland area with a 13-inch snowfall and slowed traffic to a crawl in both states.

Last night's snow beat this winter's previous record—a 3.5-inch snowfall on Dec. 22—by a good half-inch.

But the U. S. Weather Bureau forecasts tonight's snow will be limited to a few flurries. Temperatures will be a bit colder, dropping to a low of 24 to 25 degrees tonight and rising to 30 to 34 degrees Tuesday.

Sunday's temperatures ranged between 31 and 35 degrees. The mercury dipped to 29 before 8 a.m. today, rose to 30 by 8 a.m. and stood at 30 at 2 p.m. today. But the heavy snowfall, which splattered windshields and coated roads with slush, apparently caused only a few local traffic accidents.

Oakland County sheriff's department reported two drivers lost control of their cars on icy-planned U.S. 10 this weekend. One auto overturned, but the driver was unhurt. The other motorist was taken to Hurley hospital in Flint after his car struck a tree. A third skidded broadside to the road on Golf drive Sunday night and struck another. No one was reported injured.

Oscar D. Loomis of Oakland County Road Commission said they called "all the men we could find at home" when snow started to pile up Sunday evening.

Boards to Meet for Tax Review

City, Village, Township Groups Set Tuesday to Hear Complaints

Oakland County's city, village and township boards of tax review will meet Tuesday to start checking tax rolls and hearing taxpayers' complaints.

Pontiac City's board of review will meet at 9 a.m. at Pontiac City Hall annex, 35 Hill St., for its first session.

The board will confer this week with people who find themselves unable to pay their taxes.

Next week's hearings will be open to property owners with complaints about real estate or personal property assessments. The city assessor's office, FE 3-7151, has the detailed schedule.

Township boards will meet Tuesday and March 8, with meetings carrying over Wednesday and March 9 if necessary. Tuesday's meetings are set for 9 a.m. in each township supervisor's office. Anyone wanting a hearing with his tax board who doesn't know his schedule may contact his supervisor for information.

Village tax review boards also plan to meet Tuesday.

Mother Stands Mute in Fatal Beating Case

Mrs. Lois Ann Cottrell, 22, of 823 Elowah St., Royal Oak, stood mute when arraigned before Oakland County Circuit Judge H. Russell Holland today on a charge of second degree murder. She is charged with beating of her three-year-old daughter to death last Jan. 16.

Winter Wonderland Returns With Snow

LANDSCAPE IN WHITE—Last night's 4-inch snowfall meant trouble for motorists and residents who must clear walks, but there was compensation for those who enjoy winter scenery. The above view, typical of those in many parts of the city, was taken on Franklin boulevard this morning.

AIDS MOM—Mrs. Wayne Hilton, 303 Baldwin Ave., gets an assist from her three-year-old son, David, today as she shovels off her walk. The four-inch snowfall, the heaviest this winter, turned Pontiac into a "winter wonderland."

10,000 Still Need Licenses

Drivers With Old Plates Face Fines for Violation

With some 10,000 Pontiac area cars still unlicensed for 1954, traffic squads prepared today to crack down on motorists driving with expired license plates.

The deadline for 1954 plates was midnight Sunday.

Shortly after the deadline, Oakland County sheriff's deputies issued 10 warnings. Pontiac Police started ticketing violators immediately.

Sheriff Clare L. Hubbell instructed deputies to start issuing tickets this morning.

An even more stringent order was handed down by Pontiac Police Chief Herbert W. Straley. He instructed traffic patrolmen to impound cars displaying old plates.

"The driver of a car without the new plate will have his car impounded," said Straley. Tickets carry a $2 fine.

Although some 10,000 cars bear expired plates, officials of the Secretary of State's branch office here said many are parked in lots and are not being driven.

LeRoy F. Kellogg, assistant branch manager, said about 6,000 motorists bought new plates Friday and Saturday, bringing total sales to 48,000.

"This is about 4,000 ahead of last year," Kellogg said, "but we have about 10,000 to go."

He said the office was open until 9 p.m. Friday and Saturday during the last-minute rush.

Plates may be bought the year-round, but Saturday was the last day to buy them before the Sunday night deadline.

3 Other Solons Join McCarthy

Reds-in-Service Probe Reopens With Senate Colleagues on Hand

WASHINGTON (UP) — Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy's investigating subcommittee today invited Army Secretary Robert T. Stevens to testify in close session this week to explain what McCarthy called "contradictions" in the army's policy of discharging alleged Communists.

WASHINGTON (UP)—Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) took up his digging into what he calls Army "coddling of Communists" today, and by contrast with the sometimes one-man hearings of the past there were three other committee members on hand.

It was the first session since McCarthy's sensational public row with Secretary of the Army Robert T. Stevens over alleged abuse of uniformed witnesses.

McCarthy tapped two witnesses for questioning behind closed doors.

They were Pfc. Marvin Belsky, a doctor at the Army's Murphy General Hospital at Waltham, Mass., and Sid Rubenstein, who told reporters he recently left the Army as a private.

Belsky declined to explain why a doctor would have the rank only as a private, since most doctors are commissioned officers.

Staff aides to McCarthy's Senate Investigations subcommittee said both would be questioned as to whether they had signed loyalty oaths when they entered military service. Refusal to sign such an oath would be reason for denial of a commission.

In addition to McCarthy, committee members attending the session were Sens. Mundt (R-SD), Potter (R-Mich.) and McClellan (D-Ark.).

Potter said last week that Stevens had been given assurances there would be no abuse of army witnesses in the future.

Over the weekend, a high administration source informed reporters that the White House had passed the word it hoped Republican members would see to it that McCarthy was not left alone to question subcommittee witnesses, either in public or private.

Mundt, just before going into the closed hearing, said there had been no such White House request to him.

He said he believes reports of such requests "are completely and totally wrong... either planted by someone irresponsible or cooked up by someone partially responsible."

The two boys, reported missing Sunday by their parents told Waterford Township authorities, that they stole a car in Maysville, then drove to Royal Oak.

The youths were released today into the custody of their parents after being held overnight in Oakland County Children's Home.

Juvenile Court Referee William R. McCarthy, who signed the order, said they face a court hearing in two or three weeks.

In their written crime-spree plan, the teenagers said they would rob a store, then "bump off" the six persons.

5 Killed as Blast Rips Buildings in Philadelphia

26 Hurt as Savage Gas Explosion Creates Panic in Residential Zone

PHILADELPHIA (UP)—Five persons were killed and two others miraculously escaped serious injury in a savage gas explosion that rocked a crowded residential neighborhood last night.

The dead, three of them youngsters, were trapped as the blast ripped apart two adjoining three-story buildings and created a panic in the neighborhood. The total injured was 26.

The dead were identified as:

Isadore Pearlman, 43; Mrs. Fannie Rudolph, 54; Marie Marone, 16; Bruce Schwartz, 9, and Salvatore Baldino, 6.

The two persons saved when the falling rubble created a shield for them were Marion Nixon, 42, and 17-year-old Ruby Mosley, who chatted and joked with her rescuers as they fought their way into the smashed telephone booth where she was trapped.

She asked for a cup of tea at one point, and firemen passed her a cup of water. She chided them, and said, "when I ask for a cup of tea, I want a cup of tea."

The violent explosion that "sounded like a bomb" hurled tons of debris across the narrow residential street and stamped 150 patrons at a nearby theater.

The wrecked buildings contained a ground floor luncheonette and jewelry store, and each had apartments on the second and third floors.

The more than 50 families made homeless by the blast, which was attributed to a leaking gas pipe in the basement of one of the buildings, were removed to nearby schools where the Red Cross set up emergency shelters.

Rescue workers toiled for five hours to remove Nixon, who was trapped under what had been the first floor of one structure. Hydraulic jacks were used to hold the rubble while firemen dug to free him.

Six firemen were injured during rescue operations in the city's worst gas explosion since 1941.

A dense cloud of smoke hung over the neighborhood after the explosion, but there was little fire damage.

Juvenile Crime Spree Plans Nipped by Police in Arrest of 15-Year-Olds

By WILLIAM THOMAS

A detailed written plot to murder at least six persons, including two girl friends "who knew too much," was found in the possession of two 15-year-old boys arrested yesterday.

The youths, carrying a pistol, were seized in a stolen car Sunday by Royal Oak Township police who noticed the license plate matched a stolen car report.

Besides the two girls, the brother-in-law of one of the boys and two male teachers at Waterford High School were marked for death.

Capt. Frank Van Atta, Waterford Township police chief, said he is withholding the names of the would-be victims for further investigation.

"We think there are five or six more kids involved in the plot," said Van Atta. "We already have some names and plan to track down the leads at once."

The two boys, reported missing

BULLETIN

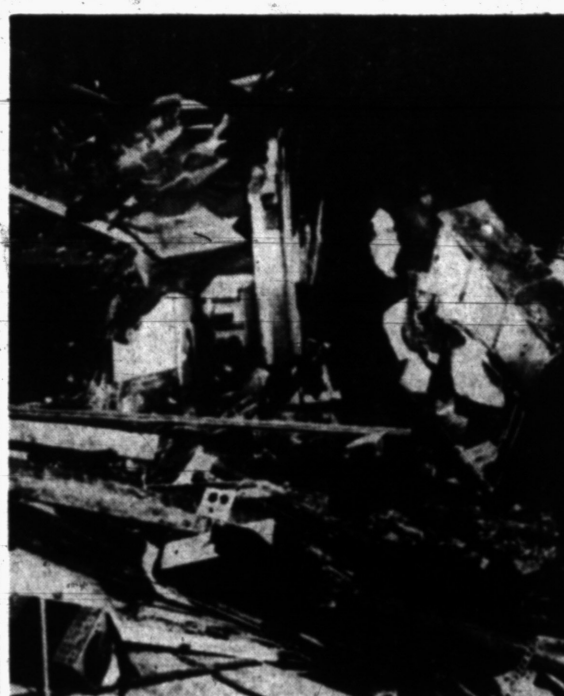

WASHINGTON (AP)—A group of men and a woman—shouting "Free Puerto Rico"—fired pistol shots from a house gallery at Congress members today and hit at least five.

The victims were: Rep. Alvin Bentley (R) Mich.; Rep. Kenneth Roberts (D-Ala.); Rep. Michael Kirwan (D) Ala.; Rep. Ben F. Jensen (R) Iowa, and Rep. Clifford Davis (D) Tenn.

Bentley was struck through the chest. He dropped to the house floor apparently seriously injured.

Jensen also was on the floor in a big pool of blood. Roberts was carried out on a stretcher.

Where Blast Killed Five

TWO BUILDINGS LEVELED—Five persons, including three children, were killed and at least 20 others, among them four firemen, were injured last night when a blast leveled two buildings in South Philadelphia. Firemen and defense officials are shown searching through rubble for other victims early today.

Highway Probe Broadens to Detroit Land Purchases

LANSING (AP) — Atty. Gen. Frank G. Millard today broadened his investigation of highway department land deals to the Detroit area.

He instructed Asst. Atty. Gen. Charles M. A. Martin, in charge of his Detroit office, to start immediately investigating right-of-way purchases for highway construction in the metropolitan area, particularly for the John C. Lodge and Edsel Ford Expressways.

Millard said no complaints had been received regarding the Detroit area transactions, "but in view of the unusual request" made by Gov. Williams to the highway department for information on the expressway projects, "the finger of suspicion has been pointed."

Two teams of investigators now are working on complaints of irregularities in Muskegon and Otsego County land deals, and their inquiry will extend into "several other counties" in western Michigan, Millard said.

3-Year-Old Girl Struck While Crossing Street With Grandfather

PRESS WIRE SERVICES
Southeastern Michigan police were on the alert today for the driver of a yellow convertible who struck and killed a 3-year-old Hamtramck girl Sunday as she was being led across a street by her grandfather.

The body of the tiny victim, Linda Parker, was torn from the hand of Charles Gaddis, 68, and hurled 160 feet. Gaddis was injured slightly.

A description of the death car was given by a motorist who pursued the convertible unsuccessfully for nearly a mile.

Thirteen other persons, including an Air Force jet pilot and a Lapore infant, died in mishaps during the weekend which saw Michigan hit by snow, rain and sleet.

Eastern-Colonial Merger Denied

Law Is Not Covered; President Tells Board It Must Be Refused

WASHINGTON (INS) — President Eisenhower reversed the Civil Aeronautics Board today and refused to permit the much-debated merger of Eastern and Colonial Airlines.

The CAB, which announced the decision, said the President directed it to disapprove the merger agreement because the two airlines did not comply fully with the laws governing such transactions.

The board said that it had originally proposed approval of Eastern's acquisition of Colonial, despite a finding that Eastern had acquired unlawful "control" of Colonial through stock transfers before seeking government approval of the deal.

The board said that "the power to control had not affected the subsequent execution of the acquisition agreement, and important public interest factors present, including a saving in subsidy requirements, warranted approval of the agreement."

The board added: "The President, while taking into account the desirability of suitable mergers among air carriers to strengthen the national air transport system and thereby reduce the subsidy burden, nevertheless concluded that such mergers must be accomplished in full compliance with the Civil Aeronautics Act, including the requirement for advance approval of any acquisition of control."

"He therefore directed the board to enter an order disapproving the Eastern-Colonial agreement."

Nehru Demands Removal of Americans in Kashmir
NEW DELHI, India (UP)—Premier Jawaharlal Nehru flatly rejected President Eisenhower's offer of military aid today and angrily demanded that American observers get out of disputed Kashmir.

Nehru said the Americans were unwelcome in the divided northern province, where a truce is in effect, because Pakistan has accepted military aid from the United States.

The Americans assailed by Nehru are members of a United Nations team which has been observing the cease-fire in Kashmir, just as Nehru's forces had served in Korea after the truce was signed.

Nehru said the entire dispute between India and Pakistan over strategic Kashmir, which both countries claim, had been reopened by Pakistan's acceptance of Mr. Eisenhower's offer of military assistance.

"Now the whole issue has to be considered from an entirely different viewpoint when across the cease-fire line on the other side large additional forces are being thrown in from the outside into Pakistan and put at the disposal of Pakistan," Nehru charged in a speech to India's Parliament.

President Eisenhower had assured Nehru that American aid was aimed solely at thwarting aggression, not encouraging it.

"I have no doubt the President is opposed to aggression," Nehru said. "But we know from past experience that aggression takes place and nothing is done to thwart it."

"Aggression took place in Kashmir six and a half years ago with dire consequences. Nevertheless, the United States has not thus far condemned it and we are asked not to stress this point in the interest of peace."

Naval Reserve in Trophy Race

Group Leading Nation for Last Three Months, Commander Says

The Pontiac Naval Reserve Surface Division 9-104 has ranked first during three consecutive months in nationwide competition for the James B. Forrestal trophy.

The award is made annually to the best surface reserve group in the country, according to Lt. Cmdr. Jack Ringer, division commander.

Ringer said that Pontiac has ranked on top each month since the first national standings were published in October 1953.

"A running score is being kept by the Navy Department on the competitive standing of all reserve surface divisions for the fiscal year from June 30, 1953 to June 30, 1954," Ringer said.

If Pontiac has the best score at the end of this period, Ringer explained, it will win the trophy.

Ringer said two other Ninth Naval District reserve units were included in the top three. Mobile, Ill., was ranked second and Flint, third.

"Pontiac missed out on the Forrestal trophy in 1952 by a fraction of one per cent," Ringer said.

Two Policemen Die

in 3-Hour Gun Battle

SHREVEPORT, La. (U)—Funeral services were scheduled today for Police Chief E. G. Hukabay and Deputy Sheriff Maurice Miller of Bossier Parish, both killed Saturday in a three-hour gun battle with a farm hand.

The two men were killed by Man West, about 42, when he was being served a warrant charging him with nonsupport of his wife and five children. West also was killed in the gun battle.

Miller was shot four times as he entered a cabin about 15 miles south of Shreveport occupied by West's mother, who fled from it when the shooting started.

West barricaded himself after shooting Miller. Police opened fire and lobbed tear gas shells into the cabin when they learned Miller was dead.

Hukabay was hit in the neck and died about an hour later.

Czechoslovakian 'Freedom Tank' at Ford Rotunda

The Ford Co. president also included a message of friendship to the German people which will be broadcast over the RFE network.

This Young Lady Rates a Heap of Medical Aid

LOS ANGELES (U)—It took two doctors, three assistants, and two X-ray machines to find what was wrong with a 15-year-old girl.

She is Joyce, a 300-pound elephant in Griffith Park Zoo.

"She'll be laid up about a month," Dr. Victor Tiersten, veterinarian, said. He and Dr. Wilford D. Omernick said she had suffered a strained ligament in the left hind heel.

The veterinarians yesterday used the two machines strapped together because rays from only one couldn't penetrate the foot-thick ankle.

"The latter have need of McCarthy and McCarthy knows this," said the article, which was quoted by Moscow radio. "That's why he continues to indulge his wild amusement with their blessing."

Ex-Turncoat Returns Home

Family Welcomes Son Who Awaits Discharge From Army

KERMIT, Tex. (U)—A soldier and the home town and family he once forsook for communism were quietly getting reacquainted today.

Cpl. Claude Batchelor, self-described former leader of 21 other American prisoners who chose to stay with the Reds in North Korea, got home yesterday.

He was welcomed by his family at El Paso, where he arrived by commercial airliner.

How the approximately 6,912 citizens of Kermit will ultimately receive him couldn't be determined right off.

The town was Sunday quiet when he drove the family car up to his parents' frame house that stands alone in its block.

This oil and cattle town on the west Texas plains is where Claude, now 23, grew up, where he played cornet in the high school band.

Kermit saw him leave as a youth of 16 to join the Army. Later it heard he'd turned "Pro." He set the town to talking again when, last New Year's Eve, he returned to the Allied side.

He seemed unworried after his homecoming. He said he was happy, hoped to get out of the Army soon, wanted his Japanese wife in the United States and planned to continue his education.

Loquacious in white shirt and slacks, he told reporters:

"Everyone is just as friendly as they can be." Then he added, "But I guess I should admit I haven't had much chance yet to talk to the folks here in Kermit. Some of my old friends have come around to say 'hello' already though."

He said he is not due to report at Brooke Army Medical Center, San Antonio, for a checkup until Wednesday.

"Right now I want to relax, maybe go fishing. And, after Brooke, I'll have a 30-day furlough. I hope to spend it here in Kermit."

He said his enlistment has expired and he expects to be discharged quickly and "without a hitch." He has said he'd been told he probably would not be court-martialed for his activities in Communist prison camps.

Of his former relationship to communism, he said, "I've completely changed my mind about it."

Japs to Build Starfire Jets

Bomber Factory Gets Contract With Lockheed to Make Planes

TOKYO (U)—Lockheed Aircraft Co. of Burbank, Calif., and the Kawasaki bomber factory signed a contract today that will launch Japan into jet plane manufacture.

The deal calls for Kawasaki to make American F94 Starfire all-weather jet fighters and the fast T33 jet trainer—the latter a version of the F80 Shooting Star.

"This program is greater than any similar one so far negotiated, and when in operation it will place Kawasaki in the forefront of the great aircraft manufacturers in the world," a Lockheed representative said.

Under the contract, Kawasaki gets all the rights to make the two planes, as well as all the technical help needed from Lockheed. Lockheed will also advise on jet repair work now being done for American warplanes at Kawasaki's plant at Gifu, near Nagoya.

The agreement will cut Kawasaki in on jet engine manufacture and repair under a contract being worked out by Lockheed and the Allison Engine Division of General Motors.

Japan's once-great aircraft companies were blacked out for eight years after World War II ended, although a few of them have recently started subcontracting for U.S. Air Force repair work.

This new agreement will give Japan her first modern jet factory. The development comes as the Japanese are on the eve of forming a new defensive air force, which will rely heavily on planes like the F94, primarily an interceptor.

Arrests Follow Riot in Indonesia Sunday

JAKARTA, Indonesia (U)—The government held a number of persons for questioning today after a mammoth religious-political riot in which an army captain was killed, many persons injured, and two army barracks burned down.

The violence broke out yesterday as 250,000 Moslems gathered to protest "insults" to the Islamic religion in recent political speeches.

After burning the barracks, the mob marched on Parliament. Then it converged on Vice President Mohammed Hatta's residence, where the leaders presented their complaints.

The demonstration was backed by the Masjumi, the major Moslem political party in the country. It is struggling for power against the Indonesian Nationalist party, which leads the current coalition government.

4 Are Injured in Avon Crash

One Car Making Left Turn Into Driveway Is Hit From Rear

Two Rochester women were hospitalized and two other persons injured when their cars collided on Rochester road in Avon Township Saturday night.

Mrs. Dorothy F. Bailey, 37, of 1805 S. Rochester Rd., was turning into her driveway when another southbound car driven by Orin C. Wisser, 36, of 6079 Poplar, Utica, crashed into Mrs. Bailey's car, according to Oakland County sheriff's deputies.

Mrs. Bailey was admitted to Pontiac General Hospital and is in good condition but with a concussion, scalp cuts and a dislocated shoulder. A passenger, Mrs. Eva Cronin, 61, of 1805 S. Rochester Rd., suffered a spine injury and possible concussion. Her condition is reported as fair.

Wisser was treated for forehead cuts and his wife Dorothy, 36, suffered a scalp cut and knee bruises.

Harold Eastwood Jr., of 246 E. St. Clair, Romeo, and Walter D. Evanson Jr., of 606 S. Rochester Rd., Rochester, were witnesses. They told Deputies Thurman Savage and Dale Reagan that Mrs. Bailey slowed to turn left into her driveway when Wisser's auto passed them and struck Mrs. Bailey's car from the rear. Wisser told deputies he did not see Mrs. Bailey's car in time to avoid the accident.

Beck joined three other inmates in an escape from the county jail at Oswego, Kan., last Sept. 5. The jailer and a deputy sheriff were overpowered and forced to give up two guns and a car. Stealing automobiles in series, the four fugitives reached Arkansas where Beck quarreled with his companions and left them.

GOP 100 Years Old

As most Republicans know, plans now are in the making for the celebration of their party's 100th anniversary.

But what many of them are in doubt about is the exact date and place of the party's birth.

We in Michigan cling to the version which says that it was born at Jackson "under the oaks" July 6, 1854. Certainly that is the date and place of the first GOP State convention.

Another version names the Congregational Church or school house at Ripon, Wis. as the scene of the great event February 28, 1854. The Republicans' own Fact Book of 1952 takes a strictly hands-off position.

History credits Major ALVAN E. BOVAY with being the first to suggest the name "Republican" for the new party. It was in 1852 that this lawyer and prominent Whig began agitating for its creation. It was he, too, who called the Ripon meetings where many believe the GOP got its start.

According to HENRY WILSON, Vice-President under GRANT, the Ripon group at its first meeting adopted an important resolution. It stated that if the Nebraska bill then pending should be passed by Congress, they would organize a new party on the sole issue of the non-extension of slavery.

On March 3, 1854, Congress did pass the Kansas-Nebraska Act permitting settlers in those territories to decide whether they should be slave-holding or free. Seventeen days later BOVAY called a second meeting of his Ripon group. Attending it were 53 of the town's 100 eligible voters.

Myers' history of the party quotes BOVAY as saying that they went into that meeting Whigs, Free-Soilers and Democrats and came out the first Republicans in the Union.

At least two facts in the party's early history aren't in dispute. Its first national convention was held in Philadelphia in July, 1856 and its first successful Presidential candidate was ABRAHAM LINCOLN in 1860.

Car Bootlegging Fought

For self-evident reasons General Motors and the Ford Motor Company have moved to stamp out the evil of bootlegging new cars.

In letters to the 18,500 GM and 8,100 Ford-Lincoln-Mercury dealers presidents of the two companies strongly hinted that dealers found wholesaling new cars would lose their franchises.

Among complaints reaching the manufacturers were those from the National Used Car Dealers Association and some of their own franchised dealers not engaging in the practice.

GM's President HARLOW H. CURTICE denied reports that there had been overloading of dealers with new cars. In fact he said "1954 models of General Motors cars were in the bootleg market before there was sufficient production to supply dealers with the necessary stock for display and sales purposes."

In his letter Mr. CURTICE sounds a warning every dealer should ponder. Branding the wholesaling of new cars "a malignancy," he wrote that if it weren't stopped it would "eat away the very vitals of your business and ours."

President HENRY FORD II bluntly told his dealers no other practice could destroy their franchises so quickly and completely.

Naturally no manufacturer could tolerate a practice which violates his interests as well as those of his customers and ethical dealers.

Forest Land Grab Blocked

The House of Representatives deserves credit for blocking another attempt to grab a part of our national forest.

The effort was in the form of a bill which would have given large lumber companies forest land in exchange for timberlands acquired by the Government. Federal ownership of such land is essential for flood control reservoirs, irrigation, military use, transmission lines and other purposes.

Thanks to defenders of the public domain, would-be exploiters suffered a decisive setback when the House returned the bill to committee by the overwhelming vote of 226 to 161.

This is the second time the House has rebuffed interests eager to grab national resources. Last year the fight was over range land. This effort reportedly will be renewed on a more limited scale in the Senate.

We hope the upper chamber is as alert and vigorous in defending the national interests as were our Representatives.

"The commonest and most neglected illness in the U. S. today is money-sickness," says Dr. WILLIAM KAUFMAN, psychosomaticist. Fortunately (maybe) many people don't become exposed to enough money to catch the contagion.

The Man About Town

Our County Is Big

Has a Larger Population Than Some Whole States

Gossip: A person who feels bad when things are too rumorless to mention.

Oakland County has a population exceeding that of any of four whole states. The 1950 census gives it 396,001, and the same census gives Nevada 160,083, Wyoming 290,529, Delaware 318,085 and Vermont 277,747. There are 3,070 counties in the 48 states, among which Oakland is in forty-sixth place in population. One-half of the states do not have a county with a population as large as Oakland. In area our county is almost as large as the smallest state, having 900 square miles, while Rhode Island has 1,058 square miles.

Business still is sometimes done in small financial figures—which can go to make up quite a sizeable amount. At St. Clair Beach the past year the food and soft drink concessions took in $104,000. Yet, I am told by R. C. Cummings,

President of the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority, who own that recreation area, that the average sale was 17 cents.

A letter recently received from Eliza Winton of Detroit, who spent the early years of his life in Pontiac, tells of the times when local jewelry stores and harness shops were in competition in the sale of sleigh bells. They were arranged in strings fastened to a leather strap to tie around a horse's body, and supplied real "jingle bells" as the animal trotted along with a sleigh or cutter.

An Oakland County turkey raiser in commenting on the plan of President Dwight D. Eisenhower to produce the birds on his Pennsylvania farm, says he'll wish he stuck to his present job.

When any information is wanted about doings in Pontiac's school system during the last half century.

Arthur W. Selden can be depended upon to come through with something interesting.

Merlin A. "Sandy" Hastings of Pontiac, reports he is moving to Miami, Florida to take up permanent residence. In a note to this reporter he mentions that he will miss the lovely Michigan lakes and all his many friends from this area.

Oakland County's first physician was Dr. William Thompson who located near Rochester in 1818 and came to Pontiac the following year. He was the county's first judge of probate and held its first court in July, 1820.

'E. F. G.' Believes New Super Highways Answer to Hazardous Traffic Conditions

(Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer requests, unless the letter is critical to its nature.)

I certainly hope that the ideas of all the super highways, thruways and what have you come into being as soon as it is humanly possible. I also hope that the project is started in Michigan first as it seems as though the greatest congestion seems to be right here in our own state.

The car manufacturers are coming up with more beautiful and more comfortable cars every year and people have the money and desire to buy them and use them if there are safe and convenient highways to travel on.

Whether at home, at work or wherever you are, the sirens are whistling and ambulances are racing by. This situation certainly can be eliminated a great deal and the sooner the better as far as I am concerned. It is no pleasure to travel any more.

Sounder Thinking, Sounder Financing Reason Tax Exemptions Are OK Now

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — There are lots of things worse for the Republican party than losing an election next autumn. One is to let the American people lose confidence in the dollar.

This could result from an abandonment of sound economic policies by the Republican party and a display of political cowardice in the face of minority pressures.

The Republican party in Congress which has proclaimed itself as the party of "sound money" could yield to expediency and vote to cut off 15,000,000 persons from the payment of all income taxes and thus imitate the Democratic party, which has for many years kept the budget unbalanced by spending billions for political purposes.

But if it does, the American people will lose faith in both parties—and come to believe there is no hope hereafter of maintaining the integrity of their monetary unit.

When a people lose faith in their monetary unit it is the same thing as a run on a bank. Loss of confidence and panic ensue. Prices rise precipitately, savings are wiped out, and the currency eventually isn't worth the paper it is printed on.

This is what happened in Germany in 1923 when a mark, previously worth twenty cents, became virtually worthless. It took a million marks to get a taxicab to go a mile.

The bankruptcy of the central government causing the loss of private property to the citizens in this panic helped to condition Germany for Hitler's fascism.

When the Republican party took over in Washington on January 20, 1953, the businessmen of America felt that at last an administration had been inaugurated which would balance the budget and assure the people that the savings bonds they own would be redeemed with dollars that would buy at least as much as they did on the day the bonds were bought.

Today the government's ability to borrow money to meet a deficit when the budget is unbalanced rests solely on the confidence of the people that the dollar invested in government bonds will be worth a dollar later on. If the people come to the conclusion that it isn't worth buying government bonds, because these will purchase less and less goods in subsequent months, a panic and deep depression may come sooner than is realized by the politicians who today are openly urging that the budget shall be unbalanced by many billions of dollars a year in what is often called by the high-sounding name — "deficit financing."

The issue is easy to understand. The federal budget after many years of deficits has at last been brought into approximate balance.

The cash to be collected is estimated to exceed the expenditures of government for the coming fiscal year. When this was announced recently it created a climate of confidence in the American dollar all over the world.

Then the "prophets of gloom" got busy. From Democratic party spokesmen, anxious to discredit the Republican administration, came statements that a "recession" and perhaps a "depression" was in prospect.

It is true a business readjustment has been in progress but this happened also in 1949 and the Democratic party did not then cry out for a cut in the tax rolls and out for a cut in the tax rolls and out for a cut in the tax rolls.

Today, because it may seem "politically popular," some proposals have been made by prominent Democrats in Congress which if adopted would mean that upwards of 15,000,000 persons would be free from federal income-tax payments altogether.

Thus by raising the present tax exemption by $400, a married man with three children who earns up to $5,000 a year would pay no taxes at all.

This would be fine if the budget were balanced, but it would cost the treasury 10 billion dollars a year in revenue, while the tax saving to the $5,000 man would be less than six dollars a week.

It would appear on its face to be a good vote-getting program but it ignores the resentment of the other taxpayers — some 32,000,000 — who would feel discriminated against because they would be expected to pay the whole burden of the income tax.

Why shouldn't every citizen pay at least one to six dollars a week in taxes to support the government, and especially for national defense?

There is no advantage in a tax exemption if an individual has no earnings because of continued unemployment. The theory that, by increasing the tax exemptions, a business revival will thereby be produced, has been proved false.

All during the 1930s the New Deal tried the same formula. It sought to increase purchasing power by WPA "leaf-raking" projects. The expenditure of government money temporarily helped the sale of some consumer goods but it didn't create lasting jobs.

Case Records of a Psychologist

Men Want Women to Be Feminine, Gentle, Kind

Paula is lovely to look at, but she is losing her boy friend. And it is all because she has an abnormal fondness for bloody prize fights. For fighting is not a feminine trait, so her boy friend is disturbed by her unwomanly attitude.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case K-337: Paula B., aged 19, is an attractive girl with an avid interest in sports.

"But, Dr. Crane, I wish she weren't so fond of boxing," her boy friend informed me.

"She just loves prize fights. And that vaguely disturbs me for I feel that a lovely girl like Paula shouldn't relish boxing matches."

"Maybe it's because I think a girl should always be feminine and sweet and kind."

"She says as long as she doesn't know the fighters whom she watches on TV programs, she gets a thrill out of it and the bloodier the battle, the more she enjoys it. 'I grow angry over her fondness for this sport, so what do you advise, Dr. Crane?'"

When I was in college, I used to box and have always retained a great interest in this sport.

But Paula's boy friend is stating a universal attitude among men regarding the fair sex. For men expect girls to be sweet and kindly and tender-hearted, rather than pugacious.

When girls appear masculine as by their adoption of liquor, cigarettes, harsh speech or undue interest in pugilism, then men vaguely feel that the girls aren't truly feminine. They seem somewhat homosexual.

Vicious speech and profanity from the lips of a girl are just about as masculinizing as would be a beard on her chin, as the following true case will show.

During an intramural boxing tournament at Northwestern about 35 years ago, I was competing in the middleweight division. A pair of cute identical twin cubs were in the audience.

I was interested in one of the twins and our football captain was quite fond of the other.

His bout occurred just ahead of mine and about half way through the first round, he was socking his opponent in one-two order.

"Kill him, Jack!" screamed one of these twin girls. "Kill him! Kill him!"

Her voice pierced the spaciousness of Patten Gymnasium. And most of the men looked at each other in shocked surprise.

"Stop that kind of talk!" one of the coaches thundered at her, and in an aside he told his assistant to put her out of the gymnasium if she repeated that cry.

For that vicious "Kill him!" would have been taboo even among men spectators. So when a girl screamed such a command, it was nauseating.

Practically every man in the gym was revolted. And I lost much of my interest in the twins thereafter.

Fighting is natural among males but not among females. This is a rule not only among cattle and sheep, but among human beings, too.

Moreover, when a girl adopts masculine behavior, boys usually shy away from her. The old taboo against homosexuals vaguely arises.

For they sense that she is half-man, and the normal male cannot grow romantic about a half-man any more than a girl can be stimulated by a half-woman suitor.

So Paula should curb her interest in bloody knockout fights if she wants to retain her charm in the eyes of her present boy friend. Instead, she better cultivate more fondness for baseball or basketball.

Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long 3 cent stamped, addressed envelope and a dime to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his psychological charts.

Dr. Brady Claims He's No Sportsman, Can't Stand the Lures for Wild Game

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

Far more inspiring and wonderful than Niagara Falls or the Grand Canyon, to my mind, is the Valley of a Thousand Hills, a few miles inland from Durban on the Indian Ocean coast of Natal in South Africa.

The grandeur of Niagara Falls, like that of the Grand Canyon, somehow seems too frightful.

But there was no tinge of dread or horror associated with my first sight of the Valley of a Thousand Hills, Lincoln's birthday, '50, mid-summer down there.

I don't know about Niagara and the Grand Canyon but I believe God made the Valley of a Thousand Hills to restore my soul.

Anyone who can get emotional over a bit of natural scenery must be mushy or soft in the head, eh? Maybe that explains it — I saw the American wonders when I was younger and the South African panorama years later.

Perhaps you will consider me soft in the head when I tell you I attended a bull fight and a rodeo of bucking horses and bulldozing by vaqueros preliminary to the bull fight.

The cruelty of the thing sickened me — I had to leave soon after the performance began. The whole show was exclusively for entertainment, and I am not entertained by the suffering of animals.

We Americans do not go for bull fighting as do Mexicans and Spaniards. We do go for rodeos, where horses and steers and calves are tortured to amuse the spectators. Why the prejudice against bull fighting? Is a bull more sensitive to pain than a steer or a bucking bronco?

I don't know — seems as though I have only unfortunate experiences. For instance, I saw a 12 or 15 pound salmon, climbing the fish ladders on the way upstream to spawn, overjump one fall and land on the platform above, where some young men clubbed the fish to death and made off with it.

I had read the story of the life history of salmon and I had some bad dreams about this incident later. It made such an impression on my silly sensitivity that I never since killed a fish for sport.

I went hunting once in my life, with a medical colleague who was kind to me when I began practice in Penn Yan.

He had a shotgun. We drove a few miles and tramped across the fields to a place where he thought we'd get something. There were some holes in a sandy bank.

The doctor brought out a bag, and from the bag sent a ferret into a hole. Then he stood off 10 feet, and presently rabbits came running out of the hole, and bang, bang, bang!

We had all the rabbits we could eat. The doctor may have eaten his. I couldn't.

Certainly it was illegal and unsportsmanlike. But these are mere technicalities.

To my mind most of the tricks, blinds and devices used to lure and deceive game are unsportsmanlike. What difference does it make if some of the gadgets are more scientific or refined than others?

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long, pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be accepted by Dr. Brady if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is enclosed.

TV Solves Mystery After 20 Year Tapse

SUSSEX, N. J. (AP) — A 20 year old mystery has been solved for Harry Hayne.

As a boy attending a movie theater, he was watching a thriller when the film broke just as the culprit was about to be revealed. The manager announced the film was so mutilated the end of the picture could not be shown.

The other night Hayne switched on his TV set. They were showing the same picture. Hayne finally learned how the story ended.

Javits Bill Will Call for 1 Senate-House Group to Replace 3

WASHINGTON (INS) — Rep. Jacob K. Javits (R-NY) planned to introduce a bill today which would set up a joint congressional committee to investigate communism and take the place of three present units.

Javits said the new committee would terminate operations of the House Un-American Activities Committee and the Senate subcommittees headed by Sen. William E. Jenner (R-Ind) and Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis).

The New Yorker proposed that the joint Senate-House group consist of 14 members, seven from each chamber.

He also suggested adoption of a code of fair procedure under which the committee would operate. Such a code, said Javits, would correct what he called "excesses in such investigations which have been occurring."

Javits said: "An additional advantage of a joint committee is that the rule of seniority need not apply in the selection of a chairman and therefore the committee has much more flexibility in its operations, a quality which is highly desirable in this field."

IN MCCARTHY QUIZ—Mrs. Annie Lee Moss, who was identified as a member of the Communist Party by a witness before the McCarthy investigating committee, is shown as she was sworn in before the committee meeting in Washington. Mrs. Moss was excused from testifying by Senator McCarthy when her lawyer said she was suffering from laryngitis.

Never Put Off to Future What You Can Do Today

TRENTON, Mo. (AP) — Sunday was water-hauling day at the L. R. Raymo home, to be ready for the washing, Monday.

But — still on Sunday — gasoline leaked out of a jug, ran under the kerosene operated refrigerator and ignited. The wash water put the fire out and the fire-fighting Raymo's suffered only minor burns. They had to haul more water for the Monday wash.

Distiller Joins Ranks of Crow Indian Tribe

LODGE GRASS, Mont. (INS) — This country's "vanishing American"—the Indian—began the new year with his race augmented by at least one new member: an American business man, no less.

The man, Eric Stainton, vice president of a large distilling corporation, is the first business man in history ever to be formally inducted into the Crow Indian tribe.

The induction was the feature event of a four-day ceremony on the 3,000,000-acre Crow Indian reservation here. Stainton became a full-fledged member of the tribe when his adopting parents—Samson Bird-In-The-Grass and his wife, Her-Medicine-Is-Woman—officially named him "Old Crow."

Presiding at the ceremony was Crow Chief Chester Medicine Crow. Major domo was Joe Medicine Crow, college-trained Indian anthropologist and a member of the fraternal War Dance Society into which Stainton was adopted.

Prisoners Get Venison in Dauphin County Jail
HARRISBURG (AP) — The 110 inmates of the county jail eat more venison than the majority of the state's half million deer hunters. The state game commission turned over five illegally killed deer to warden John C. Seip. He said the prisoners were having their venison with potatoes and stewed tomatoes.

Whatever remains is made into venisonburgers. Game commission policy is to turn over illegally killed game to state and county institutions.

Ziegler Agrees to Make Report

Highway Commissioner Promises Cooperation With Governor

LANSING (UP) — Highway Commissioner Charles M. Ziegler today promised "full cooperation" with a request by Gov. G. Mennen Williams to provide a report of his department's land-buying operations which are under fire in western Michigan.

Ziegler said he has called upon extra help to assemble data on 5,000 property transactions involved in expressway construction within 10 days.

He also informed the Governor he hoped to present information on an additional 45,000 transactions involving all right-of-way acquisitions throughout the state within 30 days.

Ziegler's polite reply to the Governor's request for publication of land purchasing data was in contrast with the highway commissioner's retort last week when he called the Williams' demand "absurd" and said it would take months to assemble the information.

Williams demanded that the public be informed of land purchasing operations after an investigation was launched into allegedly improper right-of-way purchases in the Grand Rapids district.

May Subpoena Coffee TradersSenators Considering Demand for Records to Probe Speculation

WASHINGTON (U)—Senators probing high coffee prices may decide today to order New York City coffee exchange members to turn over their lists of traders and speculators.

Chairman Beall (R-Md) of a special coffee investigating subcommittee called a closed-door session to consider "subpoenas for books and records of some 50 coffee brokers."

Gustavo Lobo Jr., president of the New York Coffee and Sugar Exchange, recommended that all members supply trading data to the Senate probers on a voluntary basis.

Beall said less than 20 of the 50 key members had done this "but two brokers told us they want us to subpoena their records."

"If we have to do this for two, then to be fair we should do it for all of them," he said.

Subpoenas—orders backed by congressional authority—presumably would give the brokers some protection against any complaints from customers whose transactions would be disclosed in the records.

The Senate inquiry, by a Banking subcommittee, began a month ago. Since then retail prices, which had climbed to a dollar a pound or more, have gone up another 5 to 10 cents.

The Senate group wants to examine books and accounts of the New York exchange to see if excessive speculation has caused any part of the increase.

Beall said his group also has received "reports that a corner in coffee may be causing some of the increase."

This is a trade term used when a group or individual acquires enough of a commodity or futures contracts to manipulate prices.

Lobo and other officials have testified that the New York coffee exchange makes this impossible through its own regulations.

The Senate has passed a bill that would impose government regulation and supervision of all speculation and futures trading in coffee by the Commodity Exchange Authority.

Meanwhile, four U. S. clubwomen, who inspected Brazil's coffee situation on a 10-day trip there, have predicted that coffee prices will stay high for the next few years, and may climb even higher.

The quartet from the General Federation of Womens Clubs were guests of the Brazilian Coffee Institute during their survey.

And the Foreign Agricultural Service said yesterday available information tends to bear out coffee dealers' contention that the supply is short in relation to demand.

However, the service said sizable unreported stocks of coffee may be held in the interior of Brazil, the major producer.

It said current season production was estimated at 40,300,000 bags of 132 pounds each, while demand is expected to be at least up to last season's 41,300,000 bags.

Old Movie Fan Magazines Give Harrowing Reading

By SAUL PETT
For Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (U)—Somebody dumped a pile of old movie fan magazines near my desk and I looked them over. It was harrowing.

It also was inspirational. "In a way, because these editors seem to have such great, big, ubiquitous hearts. Moreover, they must use very sensitive seismographs to detect the slightest heart tremors anywhere in the world."

In March, 1953, Motion Picture magazine found the Gregory Peck abroad, where he was making a picture, and the writer was enchanted by their marital bliss.

"There is the story of a love that's nourished from day to day."

The next month, a title in Film-land magazine echoed the enchantment: "Live Alone and Like It? Never!" Sub-head: "Family life and love isn't a sometime thing for Gregory Peck. . . . He wants his brood around him wherever he goes. . . ."

But right under this, as though a hot cable had just been flashed in, was a boxed editor's note: "Unfortunately, as we go to press, there are storm warnings from the Peck household; but because of the solid foundation the marriage has, we have every hope the difficulties between Greta and Greg will soon be straightened out."

It struck me as a purely unselfish hope. Still, the clouds were gathering.

The same month, Photoplay asked, "Trouble Across the Way?" There were hints of a foreign romance in Peck's life and Photoplay was facing up to them squarely.

In May, Modern Screen asked, "Divorce Ahead (for the Pecks)?"

But in August, Modern Screen was reassuring. "Peck's a good boy now," it said. Still, two months later, Screenland's seismograph wasn't satisfied. "There is a new Gregory Peck, a worldly sophisticate," it said, "and reports are that he and Greta are finished with each other forever. . . ."

I quickly flipped through the magazines to see if the dilemma had been resolved in some issue I had missed. It hadn't although Screenland was certain about "Gene's affair with Aly." It said, "There's no doubt Gene Tierney's flipped over Aly Khan, but will they wed?"

Well, would they? I raced to the next issue of the magazine hoping to find the answer. Instead, I found another question—"What's happened to Jeff—How long can Jeff (Chandler) keep a smile on his face to cover up an inner void?"

With questions tumbling over questions in my mind, I raced down to the nearest newsstand for the very latest fan magazines.

The first thing I saw was a Hollywood columnist's "good news" in Modern Screen. Sub-title: "Shelley vs. Vittorio. . . . June Haver finds Fred MacMurray. . . . Dale Robertson split. . . ."

Well, Hollywood seemed to be battling 333 in good news, unless, of course, June didn't happen to want to find Fred.

But again, another infernal question: "Is Anne on a merry-go-round?" Sub-title: "Anne Baxter shows no sign of letting up on her daring plan to become one of Hollywood's sexiest stars."

This explanation, of course, raised many more questions than it answered but by then I had run out of money. I couldn't afford any more magazines. My nervous system couldn't, either.

Mr. Laurence A. Clemens of Pound Ridge, N.Y. enjoys painting as a pastime...here shows two of his latest to a group of friends

Now there are 4 times as many Americans over 65 as in 1900

MORE and more people are living to a healthy, active old age. In 1900, there were only 3 million people aged 65 or over. Today, there are about 13 million.

That more people are living longer is but one of many significant changes that have come about in recent years. In fact, our whole scale of living is changing. We're raising larger families. We're building more homes. We're earning more money, enjoying more leisure time. As a result, we now have much more to protect.

And the life insurance business is keeping pace and is constantly growing more flexible to meet our new needs.

For example, the life insurance companies have developed a wide variety of retirement plans. Millions of people are using them to provide income when working days are over.

Of course, the main reason why people buy life insurance is to cover the expenses that usually occur at death and to provide an income for the family. Beyond that, hundreds of thousands of families are also using life insurance to make sure the mortgage will be paid off, or to assure funds for the children's education.

A suggestion: Have your needs or circumstances changed? Have you looked over your life insurance to see how it stacks up with your present way of living and the goals you and your family have set for yourselves?

Trying to Reach Shattered Plane

Airliner With 9 Aboard Wrecked in Wyoming. No Signs of Life Noted

NEWCASTLE, Wyo., (AP)—Ground parties and aircraft close in today with hope of reaching a shattered airliner, believed to have carried nine persons to death in a snow-storm.

Wreckage of the Western Air Lines Convair, missing since Friday with six passengers and three crew members, was sighted from the air yesterday. A three-man search group headed by Sheriff Carl Thoenig of Weston County, Wyoming, arrived in the vicinity late last night.

Working from an abandoned line camp with flashlights, they searched the snow-covered area for nearly three hours before giving up until dawn. They told the sheriff's office here by portable radio "we could be within 50 yards of the plane and not know it."

Ground parties were leaving Newcastle, Gillette and Casper, Wyo., all within a 100-mile radius of the crash site, early today. They carried two-way radios and were guided by civilian and military planes from Wyoming, South Dakota and Colorado.

An Army H19 helicopter was taking off from Rapid City, S. D., at dawn to fly to the crash scene. An SA16 amphibian was ordered to accompany it and drop a parachute team near the wreckage.

The downed ship was discovered yesterday by Bill Spear, Western's regional pilot from Denver, and Bert Mooney of Salt Lake City, chief pilot for the airline.

Mooney and Spear told W.A.L. officials at Rapid City the wreckage definitely was that of the missing Los Angeles-to-Minneapolis craft. They observed no sign of life.

The two said the plane cut a swath about 75 feet wide and 500 feet long in the snow. The ship was "pretty well broken up," they said.

Window Smashers Do $8,250 Damage

PORT HURON (AP)—Police today said damage estimates have reached more than $8,250 after a slingshot spree of window-smashing by three Port Huron youths.

James C. Hamilton, 18, and James L. Bunting, 17, were bound over to Circuit Court. They waived examination in lower courts on charges of malicious destruction of property.

Probate Court has been asked a waiver of jurisdiction over a 16-year-old boy.

Police said the trio admitted breaking car, store and home windows in Port Huron, Marysville, St. Clair and Marine City by shooting marbles with slingshots from their moving auto.

Possum Indicates Detroit's Weather Strictly for Birds

DETROIT (INS)—Detroit's weather today may be for the birds, but it's not for possums. One possum, evidently tired of it all, barged in the back door at the home of 40-year-old John Dickin. Said Dickin:

"I was letting my two dogs inside after their night airing when this possum waddled right in after them. He made faces at me and barred his teeth." Dickin grabbed the animal and kept him in a laundry tub until police arrived and took it to the humane society.

Dulles Arrives in Venezuela

Cites Firm U. S. Policy of Amity at Beginning of Inter-American Parley

CARACAS, Venezuela (U)—Latin Americans here for the opening of the 10th Inter-American Conference today got word from Secretary of State John Foster Dulles that the United States' program of friendship with them has been the big northern neighbor's "most solid and dependable policy."

"The friendly association of American states is the oldest foreign policy of the United States and it is still our most solid and dependable policy," he said in a brief airport statement on his arrival for the 20-nation conference.

The first day's program of the meeting was confined to formalities—a preliminary organization session in the morning and an afternoon plenary session with Venezuelan President Marcos Perez Jimenez extending the welcome.

The conference is expected to last three to five weeks.

Venezuela took extraordinary security measures to prevent a recurrence of the rioting in which some 1,500 persons were killed during the last Inter-American Conference, in Bogota, Colombia, in April 1948. Communists were blamed for that outbreak.

Highly well-guarded barbed wire fences surrounded nearby University City, where the conference activities center. Guards patrolled the airport at Dulles' arrival with his party of 15 experts on Latin America. Perez Jimenez sent his own automobile, which has bullet-resistant windows, for Dulles, but U. S. Ambassador Fletcher Warren said the special protection had not been requested.

Dulles' statement emphasizing Washington's friendship with the southern neighbors came at a time when many Latin Americans were wondering out loud what policy President Eisenhower's administration would follow in this hemisphere.

Communist infiltration in the Americas is one of the major topics for the conference, but Latin Americans consider economic matters the chief item.

Dulles' brief statement made no mention of U. S. economic plans for Latin America. And he emphasized that U. S. friendship for Latin America is "based upon reciprocity and mutuality."

Any U. S. attempt to spotlight Guatemala for Communist influence on her leftist government appeared doomed to failure. The U. S. delegation had hoped to make this a clear-cut issue, but several foreign ministers made it plain they would hold out for discussion of communism only as a hemispheric problem, rather than in specific countries.

South American has an area of about 7,570,000 square miles, or equal to about 14 per cent of the total land surface of the world.

Pet Shop Owner Wasn't Lying to Lion Buyer

CHICAGO (U)—Albert Kuchta fell for that kitty in the window. After several days of admiring the 4-month-old lion at a pet shop, he knew he had to own it.

"I wanted to be a sport and have something nobody else had," the 72-year-old butcher explained.

When the pet shop owner yesterday handed over Monte, a 75-pound African lion, in exchange for $150 he gave Kuchta many instructions its care and handling. One piece of advice was: don't try to retrieve anything the animal decides to play with.

Kuchta either didn't hear or forgot that instruction.

But he remembered another bit of advice when Monte began banging a kettle cover around on the floor. He tried to take it away. Monte let him have it, tooth and claw.

"The man said it was important to show the lion who's boss," mourned Kuchta as he bandaged his cuts and scratches. "It didn't take me long to find out."

"Monte goes back, even if I get only $100 for him."

Costa Rican Ship Sinks; Crew Reported Rescued

ROTTERDAM, Netherlands (U)—Dirkzwagers shipping agency reported today that the 4,683-ton Costa Rican ship Capt. Antonio K. sank in the Mediterranean 15 miles east of Cape Carbon, Algeria. A message picked up by the shipping agency said the British ship Nigarian had rescued the crew.

Montana and Idaho are separated by the continental divide, which also extends through the states of Wyoming, Colorado and New Mexico.

Syria Prepares to Fete Attassi

Army Rebels Readied to Squelch Civil War Which Threatens

DAMASCUS, Syria (U)—Syria's capital prepared a triumphal welcome today for new chief of state Hachem Bey el Attassi as rival factions of army rebels joined forces behind him to avert a threat of civil war.

Attassi was due here today from Homs, 90 miles to the north, where military and political leaders in a truce meeting Saturday night healed the split which divided them after their revolt Thursday sent dictator Adib Shishkly fleeing into exile in Saudi Arabia.

The army chief of staff, Col. Shawkat Shkair, in a radio broadcast yesterday proclaimed the elevation of the 79-year-old Attassi, twice before Syria's president. Earlier yesterday Acting President Maashoun Kuzbari resigned and Shishkly's Cabinet agreed to quit.

The agreement to install Attassi gained urgency from rioting Saturday night in Damascus when pro-Shishkly troops fired on mobs who were demanding the resignation of the dictator's Cabinet and Kuzbari. One person was killed and 20 others seriously hurt.

It was the only outbreak of violence reported during the three-day revolution.

Shkair said Attassi already had begun consultations to form a cabinet.

The chief of staff said the army was returning to its barracks. He appealed to the public to help preserve Syria's security.

Kuzbari's resignation message said that since Shishkly's departure, he and the Cabinet had been conferring with Shkair to find some way of restoring authority to legitimate hands. He said he was glad a solution had been found.

The much-revered Attassi has been a leading political figure since 1919, when he entered the Arab government the French set up at Damascus. He was a member of the first Syrian Constituent Assembly in 1928.

Attassi became president first in January 1936 but was ousted by the French three years later when they suspended the Syrian government. He was returned to office after adoption of a new constitution in September 1950. Shishkly forced him out in December 1951, when he took control of the country.

Thieves Wait to Catch Store Owner Napping

LYNN, Mass. (U)—Irrked because his ice cream parlor was burglarized twice during the past week, George Roland, 34, stood guard with a rifle all Saturday night. Nary a thief showed up.

Just as he dozed off yesterday morning, the telephone rang. It was police reporting another break at his place. Thieves stole nine cartons of cigarettes.

Allies in Korea Handed 19 DPs

Eleven Are Turkish, and
Are Brought by Reds to Panmunjom

PANMUNJOM (IN) — The Communists turned over to the Allied command today 19 displaced persons caught in Korea during the war.

Eleven of the returnees were listed as Turkish nationals who had formerly lived in Russia but were forced to move.

No nationalities were given for the eight other refugees but from their names it was believed they were stateless White Russians.

The returning group, including a number of children born during three and a half years of Communist captivity in North Korea, was brought to the exchange point at Panmunjom in two Russian-made trucks.

The youngest was a blue-eyed one-year-old boy carried in the arms of his mother, Naisara Duratscha, 33.

The oldest was bearded Nicholas Tihonoff, 70, who clambered off a truck with some difficulty.

The Turkish returnees were greeted by Major Osman Dolassian of Ankara, chaplain with the Turkish brigade which fought against the Communists.

The adults in the group were clad in black quilted clothing of Communist make and the children in brown garments, also padded against the bitter Korean cold.

Ice Cream Makers Face FTC Hearings

WASHINGTON (AP) — A complaint charging unfair competition has been lodged with the Federal Trade Commission against eight of the nation's largest ice cream makers and 55 of their subsidiaries.

Among those named was the National Dairy Products Corp., of New York City, and 19 subsidiaries including the Detroit Creamery Co., of Detroit.

The complaints, issued separately against the eight companies, claimed they used cash loans, bonus payments and refrigerator equipment to retail dealers as inducements.

The commission set up a calendar for the eight hearings. National's is set for May 18 in New York City.

MOUNT CLEMENS (AP) — Selfridge Air Force Base authorities yesterday identified Maj. Don B. Patterson, 39, of St. Clair as the pilot who died Saturday in the crash of an F80 jet near Sandusky, Mich.

Patterson, an Air Force reserve officer, was on a routine training flight. Witnesses said his plane crashed, then exploded and burned.

He was commanding officer of the Reserve 92nd Fighter Bomber Squadron at Selfridge.

Bandits Get Frightened, Store Owner Profits

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Frank Hasper, a grocery store owner, had the last laugh on three bandits.

One of the men bought some lunch meat and cookies, put them in his pocket and laid a dollar bill on the counter. At the same time, another of the bandit trio said: "This is a stickup."

Hasper shouted to a relative in a nearby room to call police. The men fled, leaving the dollar bill.

All of which meant that Hasper made 48 cents on the deal.

GROSSINGER, N.Y. (AP) — Seven employees were killed and 26 injured yesterday as flames swept through a staff residence at the widely known Grossinger Hotel and Country Club in the Catskill Mountains.

Prompt action by fire fighters kept the blaze from spreading to other buildings at the resort, which had a weekend guest list of 900. Among them is heavyweight boxing champion Rocky Marciano who is in training.

Most of the guests apparently slept through the early morning blaze, which took 45 minutes to get under control.

Man Admits Theft of Key and $14,000

CLEVELAND — Police today said a 22-year-old finance company manager had admitted stealing $14,000 from another loan company.

Capt. Ernest A. Hauschild identified the man as Steve W. Matijasic, an adjustment manager of the Sun Finance Co. The theft from the Aetna Finance Co. was committed early Friday.

According to the police captain, Matijasic said he entered the Aetna office with a key stolen from the home of a girl friend, who worked for Aetna.

The girl, who was not implicated in the robbery, reported the key theft Friday morning.

Police recovered $7,730 in cash in the basement of Matijasic's home. Previously more than $6,000 in checks had been located in a culvert.

Excise Tax Cut Plan Meets With Delay

WASHINGTON (INS) — A move to cut federal excise taxes on telephone and telegraph messages, luggage, cosmetics, jewelry, furs, theater admissions and transportation was delayed today when House tax writers postponed a scheduled meeting.

The Ways and Means Committee is expected to vote a 10 per cent ceiling on the levies when it does get together within the next few days. This would be the first step in a Republican plan to stop a Democratic attempt to boost tax exemptions by $100.

Roosevelt PTA Elects Officers Tomorrow Night

KEEGO HARBOR — Officers will be elected at a meeting of Roosevelt PTA tomorrow at 8 p.m. in the auditorium of the school.

Ballots will be presented to members only. A sound motion picture in color, "Crossroads of America," will be shown.

affairs and juvenile committees will be hosts Wednesday.

At 3 p.m. Mrs. Lillie A. Nelson, widow of Leo A. Nelson, will present to Harry W. Horton, chairman of the buildings and grounds committee, an American flag for the new building. The flag is in memory of Mr. Nelson who prior to his death was a member of Acorn Post 1669, VFW.

The new building pulls branch offices of Oakland County's social welfare, veterans service, probate court, prosecuting attorney and Michigan Bureau of Social Aid together under one roof for the first time.

A two-story cinder block building faced with brick, the South Oakland headquarters has acoustical ceilings, insulated glass windows, fluorescent lights and a gas-fired forced hot water heating system.

The Board of Supervisors awarded contracts for the building last April 14. Supervisors' buildings and grounds committee, headed by Harry W. Horton, Royal Oak, watched over construction.

The late Lowell Price of Royal Oak drew plans for the building. Chissus Construction Co. held the general contract for $127,518; Hoste Brothers Co., electrical contract, $9,135 and Jack Skitch, plumbing and heating, $23,376.

County officials point out that the total cost of the building ran within $500 of the price planned on. The only extras added were a sewer valve and telephone outlets in the floors, costing $482.18.

MEA Refuses to Oust Member

Decides Livonia's New Superintendent Acted in Good Faith

LANSING — The Michigan Education Association board of directors today announced it had refused to drop Dr. Cole S. Brembeck from membership for accepting the post of school superintendent at Livonia.

The Wayne County Chapter had asked for the black-balling of Dr. Brembeck, former superintendent at North Muskegon, on grounds he had accepted the position when the association was contending it was not open.

The position had been held by Harry Johnson under a contract signed by the school board and Johnson in February 1953. The board fired Johnson two months later, but the association did not approve.

Until last December, Dr. Albert J. Phillips, association executive secretary, said the association advised members against accepting the job.

"Through a misunderstanding of telephone conversations with this office, however," Dr. Phillips said, "Dr. Brembeck accepted the position on Dec. 8."

The board adopted a motion finding that Dr. Brembeck "acted in good faith" and was guilty of "no ethical faults," that "he remains in good standing as a member," and that the Wayne chapter "was vigilant in matters of ethics, but it acted before all the facts were known."

Will Enable Musicians to Show Skills

First 1954 Concert to Be March 16 at Lincoln Junior

By DORA DAWSON

A Pontiac organization that has possibilities for advanced instrumental music students and for established musicians to create an ensemble that will be an entertaining and cultural asset to this city is the Pontiac Symphony. The Symphony began its work last year when it gave two very satisfying concerts under the direction of Francesco DiBlasi of Detroit.

Its foundations have been laid on a permanent basis and its growth means opportunities for many to express their combined talents in orchestral music that lives and inspires.

The advantages and resources of a large city are near by, but Pontiac and surrounding communities take pride in their own accomplishments in every material way and in their established musical organizations.

Some years ago orchestras in the schools here rivaled the bands. Now, again, school pupils are being given lessons on stringed instruments by competent teachers including George Eckroth and Robert Peterson, who are enthusiastic over the local symphony.

They, with Mrs. Martin Wager, Mrs. Celia Merrill Turner, Charles W. Gadd and James Vandersall, are a part of the nucleus of the Pontiac Symphony.

There are also laymen, lovers of music, willing to give their time and enthusiasm to the promotion of this organization. They are Jay Jacobson, president; Mrs. Donald Hogue, vice president; Mrs. George Wyman, secretary, and Sam Hale treasurer.

Committee people are Mrs. M. L. Shadley, general publicity chairman; Mrs. L. R. Samson and Mrs. B. B. Roush, ticket chairmen, Kenneth Turner and John Rife are looking after program details for the first 1954 concert, March 16 in Lincoln Junior High School auditorium. Two more concerts are planned for this spring.

The conductor, Mr. DiBlasi, who made such a splendid impression at the former concerts, is a man of unusual ability and personality. His musical development from early childhood has been a continuous one through levels of training and accomplishment.

He has been influenced by two summers under Pierre Monteux and observation at Toscanini rehearsals for three years, and he was chosen by Eugene Ormandy to conduct a concert with the Philadelphia Orchestra.

He has worked with many orchestras and he served for two years as guest conductor with the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo.

With the reorganization of the Detroit Symphony, he returned to his native city and became a member of the symphony playing the trumpet, his first instrument.

Rehearsals are Tuesday nights in Lincoln Junior High School.

Cranbrook Rite Read for Couple

John C. Malstroms to Reside in Detroit After Florida Trip

BIRMINGHAM—The Rev. Perry R. Williams read the marriage service Saturday evening at 8 o'clock in Christ Church Cranbrook for Phyllis Jane Bartholomew, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Bartholomew of Yarmouth road, and John Calvert Malstrom.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Malstrom of Rosemont road, Detroit.

The bride's gown was of imported white silk satin fashioned with a fitted bodice and portrait neckline. Tiny inverted pleats in the back of the skirt formed a court train and her veil was of Pointe de Marguerite lace which she had bought in Rome.

Phyllis' veil was caught under a Mary Queen of Scots cap and fell the length of the train. She carried a lace fan with lilies-of-the-valley and white orchids.

Mrs. Stanley E. Reinhart Jr. was matron of honor and Nancy Trumbull was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Clara Gordon, Suzanne Anderson, Elizabeth Boyne and Mrs. Leland E. Bartholomew.

They wore daffodil yellow silk organza in floor-length gowns with yellow daisies and ivy in their hair. Their bouquets were daisies and trailing ivy mounted on yellow illusion fans.

Robert Maund was best man and ushers were Leland Bartholomew, Paul Robinson, David Turner, Douglas Knight and Richard McGeorge Jr.

A reception was given at Oakland Hills Country Club following the ceremony.

Mrs. Bartholomew wore a gown of champagne taffeta with a matching hat and the bridegroom's mother wore mauve taffets.

For the wedding trip to Key Biscayne, Fla., the bride wore a light gray suit with navy accessories. The couple will live in Detroit.

Intoxicated Guest Ruins Nice Party

Attempting to Evict Him May Result in Violence

By EMILY POST

A very unpleasant situation is described in the following letter: "A friend of mine gave a large party at her house last week. It was a very nice party and everyone seemed to be enjoying himself until one of the men guests arrived inebriated. After a short time he became very obnoxious, knocking things over and annoying the guests in general.

"I could see my hostess was very upset but being a perfect hostess, she did nothing for fear of making a scene and perhaps hurting his feelings.

"In a case such as this, doesn't a hostess have every right to ask a guest to leave, or am I wrong in assuming that when a guest ceases to act like a gentleman he should cease to be treated as one?"

Answer: This is just about the most difficult problem a hostess has to face. Unless there happens to be an old friend of his who knows how to handle him under these conditions, any attempt by anyone to remove him forcibly may irritate him to a point of most unpleasant violence.

Therefore, it is the hostess alone who can try to quiet him by appealing to him to please sit quietly—or even to go home.

Dear Mrs. Post: My brother and I are twins and we plan on being married at a double wedding. The brides are not sisters, nor are they related in any way.

The question has been raised as to which mother is accorded the honor of being seated last and also seated in the first pew. Will you please tell us how this can be handled so that one of them won't feel slighted?

Answer: The mother of the older bride is correctly accorded the honors you mention, or otherwise the two mothers could draw lots.

Dear Mrs. Post: When a toast is drunk to one's husband, does the wife rise with the other guests or does she remain seated with her husband?

Answer: She rises along with the other guests—unless the toast is drunk to them as a couple.

Party-Givers Wonder About Excluding Old Friends and Concentrating on New

By ELIZABETH WOODWARD

"Dear Miss Woodward: We're giving a birthday party for a friend of ours. We've always invited the same group of boys ever since we were in grade school—two boys in particular.

"Now that we're in high school, we have met some new boys and have invited them to this party. Should we stick to our old custom of asking those two particular boys, or do you think since we've made new friends it would be all right to exclude them this time?"

If your two "old faithfuls" have grown up with the idea that they're going to be invited to each and every party you have from now until eternity—there may be some hurt feelings if you don't include them.

If your parties are rare events and you girls use your invitations as "love tokens" (come-on gestures to the boys you like best) it would be a shame to drop your old friends for the sake of new ones. But if you have parties all the time, why not vary your guest lists and spread your invitations around?

Make it all old friends one time, all new ones another, and a mixture of both the next. And while you're at it, spread out to include other girls for spice and variety.

"Dear Miss Woodward: The boys in our crowd seem to have changed overnight. They no longer respect our opinions. Their main thought is drinking, even when they know we don't approve.

"The only time they choose to be with us these days is when they come in a gang. We're afraid to have parties—they're too destructive.

"The nice boys we used to know have turned into a bunch of rowdies with beer bottles and selfish ideas. Is this just a phase? We think they're basically good boys. What is your advice on this?"

It sounds like the breakup of what used to be a congenial crowd. Yours isn't the only one that is collapsing under the strain of divergent interests and differing ideas. That "united we stand" feeling that matters so much at a definite stage in your growing up thins out when you begin to get really serious about the person you date.

You don't need the moral support of the crowd—you really prefer to be alone on a date—your self-confidence and poise to strike out and make new friends for yourself.

The collapse of your crowd isn't the end of the world. Individually the boys may still interest you. But you don't have to take their gang behavior if you don't like it. For the time being they're on a rowdy tangent. If separately they can't be toned down, skip them in favor of new friends you girls can make separately for yourselves. You might pool your resources and wind up eventually with a new

Novel Paper Enables You to Paste Shutters on Wall

By ELIZABETH HILLYER

Wallpapers were never more interesting than they are now, and one good reason is that there are so many new special effect papers.

Here's an example, a handsome shutter panel. Each panel strip of paper shows two sections of shutter as if the shutter were slightly folded, to give a look of depth.

One panel on each side of a window is all the finish it needs. Three or more shutter strips side by side look like a screen.

The screen effect is an eye-catching background for furniture and a one-stroke banisher of bareness on a windowless wall, an idea especially for a long hall.

A few shutter panels are big decoration for a room, and can be used on walls that are painted or papered.

The background color of the shutter panel can be matched with paint or plain paper. Panels can be cut at the bottom to the length needed.

Mrs. G. H. "Should two shadow boxes be hung on the walls near a corner, or if only one is used, what should be used to balance it? The television set is in the corner and there are matching chairs on the wall on both sides."

Matching chairs with the television set between them establish formal balance which is completed by matching decoration on the walls.

However, shadow boxes are rather heavy wall decoration and you should consider whether or not their use will make the corner seem crowded and too heavy for the rest of the room.

Less bulky pictures might be better there, and a shadow box or shadow boxes on another wall to balance the somewhat concentrated grouping.

Stretch Funds by Converting 'Junk'

By ANNE HEYWOOD

"I was weeping one day," a young mother told me, "because there wasn't ever enough money to go around. What with two children, I can't go out to work, and my husband's salary doesn't begin to cover the necessities, let alone the luxuries.

"I was thinking longingly of the days when I had my own paycheck and could buy stockings or nail polish or whatever I felt like.

"Honestly, I was almost wishing I'd never met Bob and married him. Not really, of course—I love him and the children, but I sure was getting tired of a poverty-stricken rat race, which is what my life looked like.

"Mother happened to drop in and we got to talking and she said something that made my ears perk up. 'A penny saved is a penny earned,' Mother said. 'In my day, we tried to think of things to make at home, to save money for other things.'

"Mother looked around," this young woman went on, "and pointed out a lot of things I was wasting—tin cans, milk containers, lots of things she said could be used.

"She told me about families she knew who made their own Christmas tree stands and ornaments, and all kinds of other things. 'If you could make useful things,' she said, 'you'd have more money left over for luxuries.'

"I thought that over for some time, and the next thing I knew, Mother sent me a book called 'What to Make.' It was chockfull of wonderful ideas, and Bob and I set to work that very night.

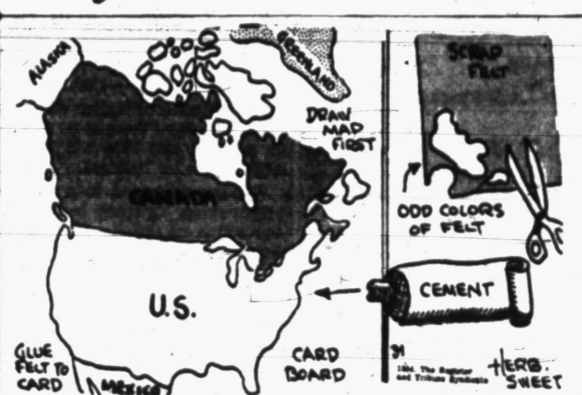

"There was a whole chapter on things to make from tin cans—a beautiful wall sconce, a flower vase, a cigarette box. Some of them could be done with just regular household tools.

"There's a chapter on 'Things to Make in One Evening.' The long and short of it is that we are now regularly making things out of so-called 'junk,' and saving valuable money for other things.

"We made most of the Christmas presents we gave, and you know what that adds up to."

If you cannot supplement the family income by going out to a job, see if you can't save money at home, instead of making money at home.

Make Map of Felt Scraps

Several weeks ago I was asked to have a craft booth at the Scout-O-Rama in Milwaukee, Wis. This is the third time that I have been there, and I always look forward to it for there are so many craft ideas displayed in every booth.

This gives each cub and scout an opportunity to show what he has been doing during the year. I always go around drawing ideas which I know that you will enjoy doing, and here is a clever one.

Mrs. Josephine Rajec of Milwaukee is the den mother of a cub pack. The cubs have had a lot of fun making maps of the United States and Canada out of felt scraps. This project does two things—it teaches you a great deal about geography and it makes a nice picture for your room.

First, take a plain piece of cardboard and sketch a map on it. The size of your map will depend on how large a space you have for it on your wall.

Now, take scraps of felt and shape them to fit each state. Use different colors of felt for states next to one another. Cement the felt in place, and color the water if you wish.

Mary Margaret McBride Says:

Detroit Was Fun to Visit, but Manhattan Is Restful

"I believe Detroit would be too exciting to live in," I sighed as the plane for New York soared into the air taking me home after a stimulating weekend in the bustling Michigan city.

Then I laughed at myself for sounding like all the people who say, after a hectic few days in New York, "This is a wonderful place to visit, but I wouldn't live here if you threw in the Empire State Building."

They never seem to realize that those who really live in Manhattan don't rush about as frantically as visitors do—unless, of course, they're giving some outlander the $64 tour.

A man born here once told me that about the only time he sees the inside of nightclubs or even theaters is when he has visiting firemen in tow, and after they go home he is weeks catching up on sleep and bank account.

I was a visiting fireman in Detroit being given the deluxe visitor's treatment and if I lived there, of course, I'd settle down to the same kind of existence I have in New York.

where I am friends with Al, the grocer; Tony, the vegetable man, and Otto, the butcher.

Here I have my work to do and my friends to ring up on the telephone. I wake up in the morning and look out over Central Park just as I used to look out over familiar hills and prairies back in Missouri.

Between its two rivers, Manhattan sits like a country between two oceans, a little continent full of human samples from everywhere. Across the hall there's a girl from Kansas; downstairs, Maine and California share a flat.

The elevator is run by a boy from Nassau who speaks with a beautiful British accent, and on alternate days by a young man from Puerto Rico who is learning English at night school. The cleaner-upper is from London's East End, the milkman comes from Finland and the postman from Czechoslovakia.

Traveling on the subway, you amuse yourself by guessing where the people around you originated. Did the man in the Irish tweed coat buy it in Dublin or does he live in Queens?

You can't miss that mustachioed face: It's as French as croissants with morning coffee. But the woman whose eyes are sad when she smiles—she wears shoes that are foreign-made and she probably came over lately, maybe from behind the Iron Curtain, and left behind relatives for whom she sorrows.

I like living in a town that is a little United Nations in good order, a melting pot always on the boil, a city of eight million existing in peace and

Educators Must 'Raise' Youngsters

Because Parents Are Failing to Give Moral Training

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

American schools are trying to "raise" children, charges hard-hitting reporter Howard Whitman in a recent issue of a national magazine.

They are, he says, taking over parents' job. Instead of teaching use of the basic tools, the three R's, he asserts they are trying to control children's moral thought. And he demands that we regain control of it.

I'm going to be hard-hitting myself. Whitman's fine-sounding demand is romantic and unrealistic. Though many parents may wish to direct children's moral thought, a great many can't or don't want to be bothered with it.

Whitman himself pointed that out last summer when he attributed the nationwide rise in juvenile delinquency and lawlessness to a shocking breakdown in parents' moral control.

So we miss the point when we attack schools for doing our job. I may want to do it. Out in Pasadena, Mrs. Brown may be more than competent to do it.

But next door to me lives an alcoholic father who's bored by the moral responsibility of his child; and down the block from Mrs. Brown are a man and wife locked in such marital hate as to make any normal concern for their children impossible.

Demanding that schools teach the three R's to irresponsible people's children doesn't make that teaching possible. For frightened youngsters do not learn easily.

There are a lot of them, as our rates on divorce, desertion and alcoholism testify. To schools, these statistics are not abstractions, but represent children—thousands of them crowding classrooms with every variety of learning problem that can result from home tension and moral disorder.

If you're a teacher, you come up close to the effects of our rates on divorce, desertion and alcoholism. After a while, as your student's parents can't seem to do their job, you begin to despair of doing yours. You fall for the theory of teaching "the whole child" instead of trying to make sense with the part that's been assigned to you.

Though I don't like it any better than Whitman, I understand it. I can see how schools want to take over control of children's moral thought because to date nobody has ever defined the community obligation to the morally neglected child. Now, he must commit a delinquent act to entitle us to take over his character training.

In the absence of any other community agency authorized to substitute as moral leader for his defaulting parents, the schools have appointed themselves.

So to me, the morally neglected child is the real issue behind the raging educational controversy.

Multipled over and over in the classrooms across this land, he accounts for the fanaticism with which certain school authorities defend their right to teach by methods not required by your child or mine.

MISS MCBRIDE

Detroit was certainly fun to visit, though.

Sees Business as Good in 1954

Commerce Secretary Puts Confidence in His List of Reasons

CHICAGO (INS) — Under Secretary of Commerce Walter Williams declared today "there is no reason to believe" that 1954 will not be a good year for business.

Williams asserted in a speech prepared for delivery before the convention of the Venetian Blind Association of America that "we are passing through a period of readjustment in a manner which I think amazes even us."

He said: "Generally speaking, 1953 was a banner year. There is no reason to believe that 1954 will not also be a good year.

"However, it will not be a good year because of government hand-out or dole but because businessmen by and large recognize the potential of increased buying power through tax reduction, increased opportunities brought about by a strong new construction outlook and the implications of the ever-increasing population of the country."

Williams said businessmen will have to accept the fact that the nation is no longer in a sellers' market, and that business operation and products will have to be improved in order to meet strong competition.

The under secretary said also that 1954 will be a "period of challenge, of self-satisfaction and accomplishment made possible by wise leadership."

Senators Due to Run Record Treaty Vote

WASHINGTON (U) — Twenty-three of 35 senators whose seats are at stake this year have put themselves on record as favoring curbs on treaty-making powers.

Most did so by voting for the proposed constitutional amendment which lost by one vote in the Senate Friday.

Proponents said the issue would live on in this year's congressional elections.

Of the 23, nine Republicans expected to run again will be lined up by their votes and public statements in opposition to President Eisenhower on the party-splitting issue. The President opposed the amendment as drawn, although he said he would have no objection to one declaring the Constitution supreme over treaties.

GE Reports Sales Up 19 Per Cent for Record

The company reported its 1953 net earnings were $165,728,000, nine per cent higher than the 1952 total of $151,720,000.

Fire Record in Pontiac Better in 1953

$205,205 Loss
Less by $49,103

6 Die in '52, Only One in Past Year; People Careful, Says Chief

The 1953 fire loss in Pontiac has been fixed at $205,205, a decline of $49,103 from the previous year, according to an annual report released by Pontiac Fire Department.

One person was killed in a house explosion last April and seven persons were hurt in last year's fires. In comparison, the report shows that six persons were killed in 1952 and five injured.

Five of the six deaths occurred in substandard dwellings, said Fire Chief John F. Schroeder.

The fire chief attributed last year's safer record to "greater precautions on the part of residents."

"While fires increased, and caused greater damage throughout the nation last year," Schroeder said, "both damage and deaths due to fires decreased here."

The figures, based on insurance companies' estimates, showed a $2.73 per capita loss figured on a population total of 75,000.

Loss in home fires was estimated at $48,932.11 and $47,385.89 on other buildings. Fire damage of contents were set at $28,692.

In 1952 building fires caused $96,318 damage. Destruction to contents was held at $47,869.40.

The fire department answered 1,467 calls during the year. In 1952 there were 1,245.

Only 158 alarms were turned in at fire boxes. The rest were by telephone.

There were 129 false alarms reported, most of which occurred during October and November.

Car fires were held at $2, as compared with the previous total of 167. The department extinguished 26 grass fires, an increase of 28 over the previous figure.

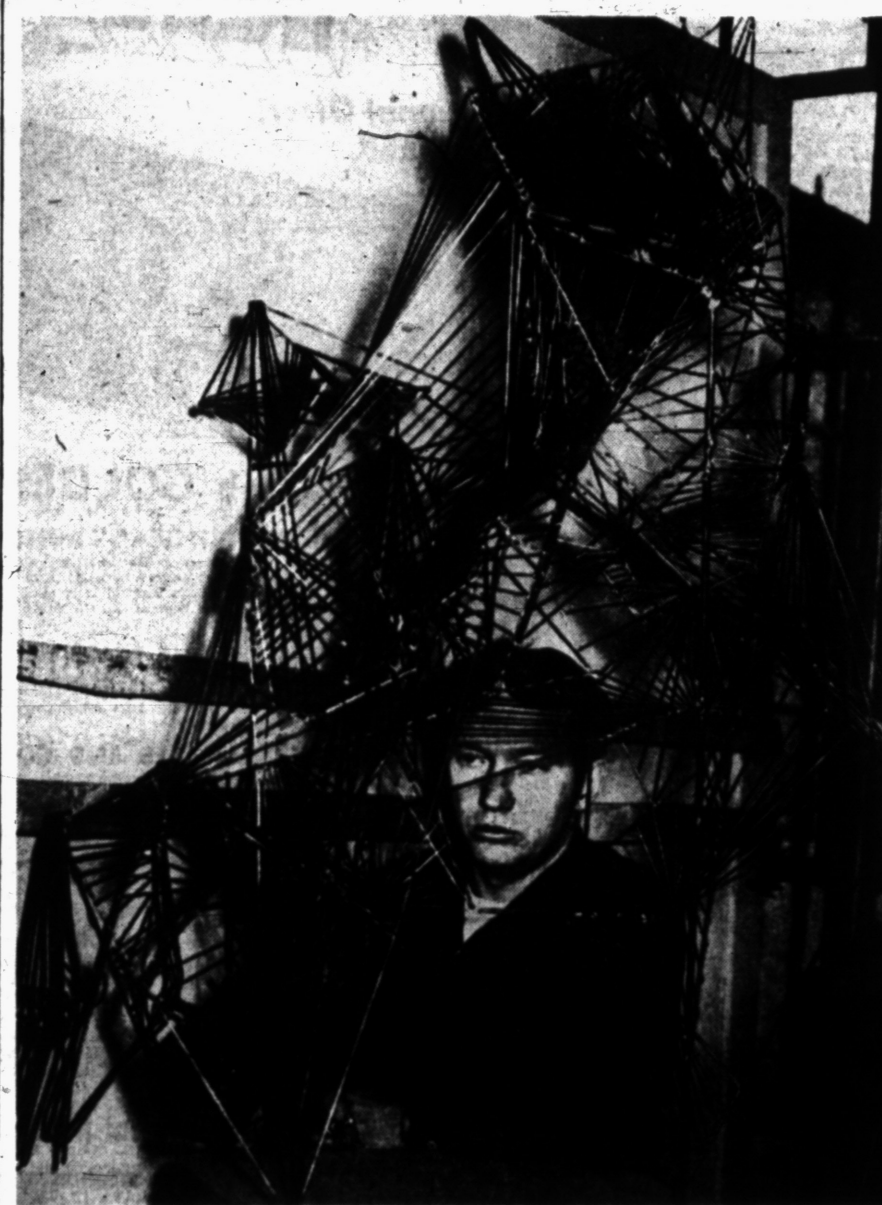

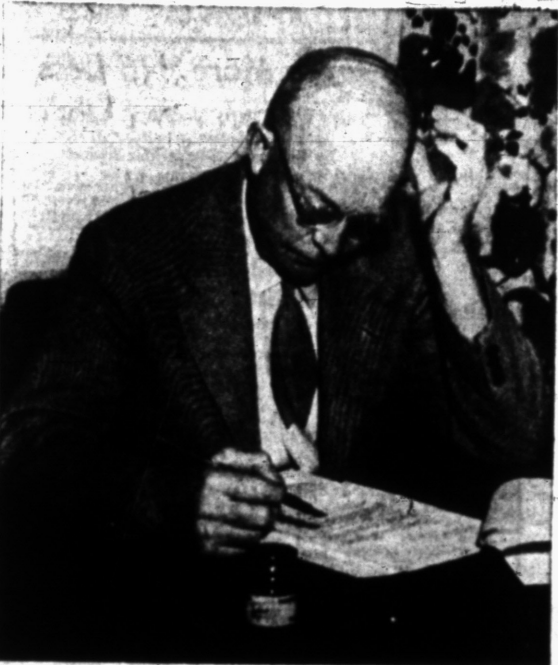

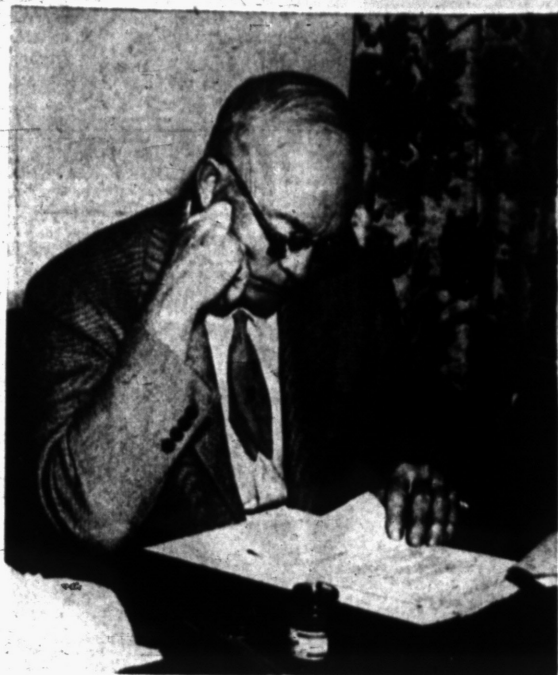

Majority of grass fires occurred in the spring and autumn.

Fire department personnel made 382 rescues and emergency calls and 432 in rendering first aid.

One house trailer fire was reported and 133 miscellaneous blazes were put out.

The department's fire-fighters left the city once during the year to aid another fire department battle flames.

The fire department also hired a fire marshal and assistant last year. Schroeder said more investigation of fires and substandard dwellings will be made in the future in an effort to keep losses on the downgrade.

U.S. Will Use A-Weapons Reds Are Told Once More

WASHINGTON (INS) — The nation's top military officer issued a thinly-veiled warning today to Russia that American atomic retaliation in the event of attack would be "certain, prompt and severe."

Admiral Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, said he does not feel that Russia wants a shooting war "at this time."

He added, however, that "there is also the possibility that they might participate in a shooting war as a result of some miscalculation."

The admiral made it clear that should an attack come, the U. S. has the air power to strike the Soviet Union with atomic weapons from the Western Hemisphere, from naval carriers, and from bases overseas.

In a copyrighted interview in U. S. News and World Report, Radford was asked whether American military strategy was based on the assumption that atomic weapons can be used "if required to preserve our security."

He replied: "Yes, our strategy is based on the assumption that we have a great capacity to counter instantly, by means and at places of our own choosing, to make the penalty of aggression certain, prompt and severe."

Asked whether he thought the use of atomic weapons was immoral, the admiral replied: "As far as I am concerned, it is the act of war itself which is immoral."

Radford stated that "... atomic weapons have virtually achieved conventional status within our armed forces."

He added: "The capabilities of each military service are greatly enhanced by these weapons. The destructive power of each dwarfs that ever experienced in the history of warfare."

Cleric Hits Surrender to McCarthy

HIGHLAND FALLS, N. Y. (AP)—The Rt. Rev. Horace W. B. Donegan, Protestant Episcopal Bishop of New York, assailed in a sermon Sunday what he called "the disappointing capitulation of the administration to the Un-American tactics of Sen. McCarthy."

Bishop Donegan said: "It seems there is a neo-fascist pattern unfolding before our eyes—directed at the universities, the churches, the civil service, the diplomats, the army."

"Though the administration has remained silent, many of us believed that it was waiting for just the right battle line. But now, what was strategic waiting has taken the form of capitulation."

Bishop Donegan preached at the Church of the Holy Innocents here. Present at the service were several men and their families from the U. S. Military Academy at nearby West Point.

Bishop Donegan described as "sickening" what he called the "unwillingness of the administration to protect army integrity against the investigation methods of Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy."

The Bishop criticized the agreement making Brig. Gen. Ralph W. Zwicker, commander of Camp Kilmer, N. J., available for further questioning before McCarthy's Senate Permanent Investigations Subcommittee.

"The order to Gen. Zwicker to testify without any assured methods will be used in the future, is a throwback to the star chamber, from which we believed God had led us in this free land."

Soil Conservation Urged

WASHINGTON (INS) — Sen. Herbert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.) proposed today a "soil fertility bank" calling for incentive premiums to convert "diverted acres" under production restrictions to soil-building conservation practices.

Humphrey told the Senate in introducing his bill that the proposal has the support of all of the "great" farm organizations.

He said: "One of agriculture's most pressing problems is what to do about acres diverted from production of crops in over-supply."

Under the bill, Humphrey explained, benefit payments per acre would be determined by taking 25 per cent of the average county yield per acre of the commodity under acreage controls and multiplying it by the support price of the commodity.

Bob Considine Says:

Messenger Boy's Salary Sets Some Sort of Record

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (INS)—The recent death of Bill Howard, a movie director, reminded one of Bill's mourners of a story that could only happen in Hollywood. Howard once incurred the wrath of Winnie Sheehan, head of the studio. Sheehan set out to drive Howard from the studio. Howard held a contract that had months to go, but Sheehan reduced him to a clerk.

Howard still refused to quit, so Sheehan reduced him to a messenger.

One day a representative of the bank on which the studio heavily depended showed up and asked to be shown around the lot. Howard was given the job of guide.

His knowledge of the studio was so great that the banker complimented him at the end of the tour and asked: "How much do you make here, young man?"

"Thirty five hundred dollars a week," Howard answered.

He darn near led to an executive shakeup.

George Burns can make Jack Benny laugh. Making Benny laugh has been a major undertaking in show business. Benny's own level of comedy is so high that nearly everything else is dross. But Burns has only to look at him and Benny goes into a convulsion.

Burns, in turn, has a favorite comedian: George Jessel.

"I like George on international politics," Burns says. "He used to be very critical of Ambassador Austin, when Austin would get in a debate with Vishinsky in the United Nations."

"Whatever Vishinsky says, Austin should have something to say or do right on top of it. He's got to be ready—like I am when I give a funeral oration," Jessel says. "If the stiff sits up in the middle of the eulogy, I'm all prepared to go right into 'Darktown Strutters' Ball.'"

Jessel gave a tearful, bier-side speech at the funeral of Louis Mann. After it was over a friend said to him: "You were great today, George. But I thought you didn't like Mann."

"I didn't," George said. "But I had a lot of good stuff left over from Sam Bernard's funeral."

Vincent X. Flaherty of the Los Angeles Examiner shares a malady common to all sportswriters. He never wins at the races. He and a friend were leaving Santa Anita the other day when a newsboy flashed a newspaper in his face. The headline read: Jimmy Roosevelt pays $1,625. "Wish we had had him," Flaherty mourned.

Joe Novak, long-time president of the PGA has invented a gadget which should eliminate all 100-plus golfers. It is a cheap pocket movie viewer which contains film lessons from Sam Snead, Cary Mid-dlecoff or Lloyd Mangrum.

The film can be stopped at any point, to show the position of the hands at that moment or other things that sometimes drive golfers to drink.

Having just taken a lesson from Snead, via Novak's gadget, I am prepared to challenge Hogan. Shanty, that is.

Pistol Accident Kills Television Viewer

HAGERSTOWN, Md. (AP)—State police reported a 16-year-old girl was fatally wounded last night while she and her boy friend were examining a .22-caliber pistol similar to one they had just seen on a television mystery.

Trooper Clyde Tucker said after a preliminary investigation the shooting apparently was accidental.

He said Linda Ann Lewis and her boy friend, William Eugene Pyle, 17, both of Hagerstown, were watching television at the home of Samuel Berger, 21, of Williamsport, with Berger and his date. Pyle remarked there was a pistol in the bedroom similar to one they had just seen.

While they were examining it, Tucker said, the pistol went off. The bullet struck Miss Lewis in the left chest.

Iron Curtain! Listen! to Golden Rule Stories

By BILLY ROSE

Two years ago a story came out of Boston which didn't get anywhere near the attention it merited.

Back in 1879, a young man named George Robert White opened a small drugstore in a residential section of Boston. The going was plenty tough at first, so in an effort to undersell his competitors he began mixing his own ointments and lotions, and packing them himself.

A couple of decades later, in the best tradition of Horatio Alger, the neighborhood druggist had become the owner of a giant outfit known as the Cuticura Corporation of Malden, Mass., manufacturer of soaps, salves, shampoos, shaving creams and other toilet articles.

In 1920, as he began to slow up, George R. White decided that no one man was smart enough to know what to do with the great wealth he had accumulated.

The wise expenditure of millions, as he saw it, was a chore for many minds, not one. So he wrote a will in which he left $5,000,000 to the city of Boston for civic improvements, stipulating only that it be spent as a fair-minded committee might recommend.

Simultaneously, he set up a substantial "Humanitarian Fund" to be administered as the officials and directors of his corporation saw fit.

In 1922, while on his deathbed, he called these men into session and gave them their final instructions. Starting with the day of his death, his corporation was to turn over two dollars out of every three dollars it earned to the Humanitarian Fund.

Furthermore, this fund was to be operated for the first 30 years without publicity, so that no one could accuse his corporation of trying to cash in on its adventure in humanity.

In the next 30 years, without fanfare or fuss, better than $30,000,000 was turned over to the fund. Who got all this money?

Well, among the beneficiaries were the Massachusetts General Hospital, the Massachusetts College of Pharmacy, the Boston Museum of Fine Arts, the Massachusetts Medical Society, the Boston Health Department and the Boston Lying-In Hospital.

In 1953, as per White's instructions, the concern finally let the facts be known, and it was then that William C. Hamilton, its vice president, said, "The more we give away, the more our company prospered. Even if it were possible, Cuticura wouldn't change its policy of giving away two-thirds of its profits to charity."

As another executive put it,

"Why change your strategy when you are winning . . . ?"
The story, as I mull it, is as effective a piece of propaganda for "our way of life" as any I have ever heard tell of, and our State department could do a lot worse than to bring it to the attention of the misguided millions who are being taught that the American businessman is a monster.
A simple way to accomplish this would be to print up several million leaflets and attach them to small balloons in the vicinity of the Iron Curtain on a day when a stiff west wind is blowing.

Police Stymied by Odd Dialect Spoken by Boy

BOSTON (U)—East Boston police spoke in Italian, Greek and Portuguese to a little lost boy.
His answer was a rattle of syllables in a language none of them had ever heard.
Just as they were about to call the anthropology department at Harvard, a man rushed into the police station and hugged the little boy.

He said his name was Weldon Patis and had come with his little son Freeman from Newcastle, N.B., a week ago.

"He's a Mic Mac Indian," said the father.

Pertussin does more for coughs of colds because . . .

It works systematically—stimulates Nature's own cough-easing action. It not only relieves—it loosens sticky phlegm and thus "breaks-up" coughing spells. That's why so many doctors have prescribed PERTUSSIN.

Major Trade Involving Vernon Rumored

By BEN OLAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

The prospect of a major trade involving Mickey Vernon, the American League's leading batter last season, was more than a remote possibility as spring training officially opened in the major league camps today.

The 35-year-old Washington first baseman has yet to sign his 1954 contract. He is said to be asking for double the $19,000 he received last year.

Several American League clubs, Cleveland and Baltimore among them, have been reported seeking first base help and in Vernon they'd be getting just that. Besides his pace-setting .337 average in 1953, the veteran drove out 15 homers and piled up 115 runs batted in.

Better news for the Senators was the return yesterday of star pitcher Bob Porterfield, almost completely recovered from a minor concussion. The big right-hander was hospitalized Saturday after being hit by a batted ball in practice.

Enos Slaughter, another veteran, made the big noise in the St. Louis Cardinals' camp at St. Petersburg, Fla. He belted four "homers" over the fence. Said Enos after the workout: "Never felt better."

On other spring training fronts, Boston Red Sox Manager Lou Boudreau announced that Ivan DeLoach and rookie Jim Ehler would pitch the club's grapefruit league opener against Pittsburgh Saturday. Rudy Regalado, a .325 batter in the American Assn. last season, hit Cleveland's first home run in an intrasquad game. . . . Brooklyn stalwarts Jackie Robinson and Pee Wee Reese worked out for the first time. . . . Pittsburgh Manager Fred Haney said many rookies would be in the lineup against the Boston Red Sox next Saturday. . . . Ray Boone, Walt Dropo and Don Lund showed up in Detroit's Lakeland, Fla., camp.

Several players just got in under the March 1 signing deadline, including Second baseman Billy Martin and outfielder Gene Woodling of the Yankees, First baseman Whitey Lockman of the Giants and outfielder Johnny Wyrostek of the Phillies.

New Program for Mat Fans

Promoter David Mann has arranged something new for Pontiac wrestling fans in his weekly mat show at the Pontiac Armory Wednesday night.

Three 30-minute time limit matches (one fall to win) will set the stage for the main event, a 6-man Australian tag team match pitting the winners of the opening bouts against the losers.

Preliminary matches will send Chris Averoff of Greece against the Mystery Man, Stan Hokek of Canada against Detroit Bert Ruby and Chuck Gorman of Indianapolis against Steve Zold of Canada.

First bout is set for 8:30 p. m.

Kazoo, Bay City Bowlers Shake Up Elks Test

PORT HURON (AP)—Bowlers from Kalamazoo and Bay City gave the standings a face lifting in the Elks State Bowling Tournament this weekend.

Benton Harbor's Stags were dropped to 2nd place in the five-man actual and handicap divisions by Knollwood Tavern of Kalamazoo. Stags had held 1st place for three weeks.

Knollwood's team bowled 2892 added to a 159 pin handicap for a 3051 total.

Tournament has only two weeks to go.

McIntire Service of Kalamazoo rolled a 2736 which gave it 3rd place in the team actuals and a 5th in the handicap.

A Bay City pair, Joe Ahler and Lou Angstman, took over 2nd place in the doubles handicap with a 1263 actual total, a 60 pin handicap and a 1323 pin handicap total.

Top Keglers Spot Shooters

By MARION LADEWIG

Nearly every top bowler has a spot on the alley for which he or she aims.

This doesn't mean that the bowler marks a big X on the hardwood, although the newer alleys have guide markings.

Spot bowling is, simply, knowing where and when your hook breaks and then going ahead and aiming the ball for that particular place.

If you throw a slow ball, your hook is going to break more quickly. With this, you spot—the exact place where the hooking motion will begin—is going to be closer to the foul line than that of a fast-ball bowler.

The person who throws those express-train shots will find that it takes awhile for the ball to take the hook. That's because a fast ball doesn't grab the alley and begin breaking for some time.

A spot bowler takes these things into consideration and when he or she lets the ball go, it is aimed at the spot where it normally breaks—not at the pins. If you put your ball on the spot, the pins will be taken care of automatically.

There is no specific way of determining this in advance, if spot bowling is new to you.

Practice—to figure the distance from the gutter and how far down the alley your ball breaks—is the major item in gaining a good spot game.

Red Editor High Man in French Election

VERSAILLES, France (U)—A once-jailed Communist editor was high man yesterday in a Parliament election in Paris suburbs. Because none of the 18 candidates polled a majority, a runoff vote will be held next Sunday.

Andre Stil, editor of the Communist party organ L'Humanite, ran first with 97,873 votes—38.6 per cent—in the voting to replace a deceased Gaullist deputy, Andre Diethelm, in the Seine-et-Oise department.

The anti-Red candidates were expected to unite behind one of their number to beat back the Communist threat next Sunday.

Stil was arrested last summer on a charge of plotting against the French state but later was released.

Appropriate Music

HARTFORD, Conn. (UP)—When police entered a restaurant to arrest a part-time piano player, Paul H. Scott, 34, on a non-support charge, he was playing, "I Wish I Was Single Again."

The cast joined in the celebration after regular evening performance at the Winter Garden Theater.

Free, Blonde Corinne Likes Artificial Look

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (U)—Note to the blondes of America: Although Lana Turner has left your ranks, Corinne Calvet has joined up.

The talkative French pastry is a ravishing blonde these days, and that's not the only thing new in her life.

"I have also got myself a new agent, a new car, a new wardrobe and I am eating meat for the first time in my life," she says. "And I have a new attitude toward men. When I see one who looks attractive, I can look now."

Corinne is also entering a new phase of her career. She is making her first television film, a Screen Gems production for the Ford Theater. When I found her on the Columbia studio set, her reddish locks were gone. She was combing her long blond hair.

She explained that all the changes in her life have come about since the end of her alliance to actor John Bromfield. "I would have gone blond sooner," she said, "but he wouldn't let me. You know how men are—they like to keep their women down. They don't want their wives to be too appealing to other men."

"I like the new look. Before now, I had my own shade of hair. I never used false eyelashes and my makeup was very simple. Nothing was artificial. Now I do things differently. I like artifice; I think it is exciting."

About the meat business—she has not been a strict vegetarian. Following her mother's custom, she ate no red meat, only fish and fowl. Now she's a beef-eater, and she likes that too.

She regrets the end of her union to Bromfield. "We had five wonderful years," she explained. "Then we got to the point where we could no longer get along together."

"There is no bitterness between us. John is a fine fellow."

She indicated she will be wary of a future alliance. Right now she's enjoying her fling. And she doesn't think a movie career and home routine can mix.

"Believe me, I know," she sighed. "I tried it for five years. Perhaps a dramatic actress can do it, although they are temperamental and must be pretty hard to live with."

"I think it's hard for a glamorous actress to combine her work with being a housewife. To be glamorous, you have to have a certain aura about you. You can't just throw it off once you are home; it becomes phony that way. You have to have a bit of glamor all the time, and it doesn't look convincing in the kitchen."

Clash North of Hanoi Inflicts Heavy Casualties on Red-Led Rebels

HANOI, Indochina (INS)—Agence France Presse reported today that French and Viet Nam forces inflicted heavy casualties on part of a crack regiment of Communist-led Vietminh rebels 20 miles south of Hanoi yesterday.

The French union forces clashed with a Vietminh battalion in a three-hour battle. Today's report said the Vietminh battalion commander, a company commander and several other officers were captured while 82 rebels were killed.

Meanwhile the Vietminh forces in Northern Laos continued to fall back under constant ground and air attack from French Union troops.

A report today from Vientiane, administrative capital of the associated state of Laos, said French and Laotian detachments are widening their area of control around the royal capital of Luang Prabang.

A French union counter-offensive in central Laos also was reported proceeding satisfactorily.

Each House Must Get Bills to Floor to Meet April 9 Adjournment

LANSING (U)—A series of gullotine deadlines starts this week to hasten the end of the 1954 legislative session.

The Senate ordered its members to return at 4 p. m. from their weekend recess to get in a couple of hours of extra work. The House convenes at the usual 8 p. m.

Wednesday is the deadline for each chamber to get its own bills out of committee and in the ensuing 10 days each chamber must pass its own bills or they automatically die.

There are just 30 working days left for the Legislature if it is to meet its April 9 adjournment deadline.

The lackluster session still has not grappled with the few issues facing it, but the next month will see decisions on at least some of them.

The Senate Labor Committee reported it may act tomorrow on a Republican-sponsored unemployment compensation bill which has drawn the fire of Gov. Williams and organized labor.

Another perennial issue, fair employment practices legislation, has been buried in the House, but the Senate State Affairs Committee said it still was considering the subject and might act tomorrow.

Only one appropriation bill has appeared from committee in either house to date, but these should begin showing soon.

Another bill to curb lobbyists is up for action tomorrow in the Senate following the earlier defeat of the Gilbert bill.

Pope Called 'Very Slightly Improved'

VATICAN CITY (U)—Pope Pius for the fourth consecutive day was reported by Vatican sources "very slightly improved today."

These sources said he had spent "a fairly good" night.

There was no official announcement on the health of the pontiff, who marks tomorrow as his 78th birthday and the 15th anniversary of his election as Pope.

A Vatican communique yesterday on the pontiff's illness cautioned against both undue optimism and pessimism.

The communique, based on information supplied by his physician, said the pontiff must pass a long convalescence before he can resume his full activities.

It said that the illness was developing "along a milder course—even though slowly—as is completely to be expected."

His ailment, now in its sixth week, has been tentatively described as gastritis pending X-rays of the Pope's stomach walls and adjoining organs. That has not yet been possible because the pontiff, still on a semi-liquid diet, cannot yet tolerate barium solution necessary for the X-rays.

Radio Quiz Fans Pester Canada's Acting Premier

OTTAWA (U)—Money-hungry Canadian radio fans think Acting Prime Minister C. D. Howe is the pot of gold at the end of a quiz show rainbow, and they're making his life miserable with what his wife indignantly describes as "outrageously impertinent personal" telephone questions.

The program over an Ottawa station offers the pot to the lucky listener who identifies a mystery man from clues given out each week. Until a winner comes up, the pot goes up $50 a week. It's up to $2,500 now.

For the past month a lot of listeners have decided Howe is their man. He's Canada's trade minister and sitting in for world-touring Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent.

Each program touches off a new bedlam of clue-checking calls to the Howes.

The Mrs. calls the whole thing "a nightmare."

"We can't sit down to a meal. I can't start a letter. It's impossible to read the paper without the phone ringing," she told an interviewer.

The callers have asked whether Howe wears a hearing aid, a wig, false teeth. Does he own a gold mine, or a million dollars? Is he partial to sauerkraut and pretzels? Where does he buy his clothes and for how much?

"Two weeks ago I called the station and told them that unless they could bring the contest program to an end quickly, I would sue for the prize money," Mrs. Howe continued.

The callers have pulled the minister out of the House of Commons chamber and pestered him at his several offices, but he finally instructed his staff to intercept them.

What the sometimes sharp-tongued Howe tells the information hunters, Mrs. Howe did not say. When she takes the calls, "I tell them we answer no personal questions." But that doesn't always work.

"Women have called and when I refuse to answer their questions, they have pleaded that their husbands are jobless, their children starving, the rent unpaid, and that winning the prize money is simply life or death to them."

"They make it sound like soap opera—bad soap opera."

Brotherhood Week Needs Staggering for All Year

By LAURA Z. HOBSON

Last week was Brotherhood Week, and though I've never missed a deadline in my writing life, knock wood, I purposely held off this time.

Though thousands of sermons and editorials pointed out for seven days that brotherhood should spill over into all the other weeks of the year, I kept wishing for a kind of stagger system to make the point clearer.

So as a starter, I'm privately celebrating the great ideal of brotherhood this first week of March instead.

Maybe next week some TV and radio stars could pitch their daily shows at this basic principle of democracy—and after that we'd be at March 15th.

It's too far-fetched to hope for human warmth and love at tax time—but after a pause for station identification, we could resume our plans, and make a little Brotherhood Week of every succeeding seven days.

I'm certainly going to take this up with Dr. Everett R. Clinchy, president of the National Conference of Christians and Jews, the 25-year-old organization that's made all the brotherhood weeks happen across the years.

So wide is their influence now, with 62 regional offices all over the U. S. A., I'm sure they could vary their annual programs in the future and have their "let's get together" theme drift through the whole calendar.

But if not, I have a different suggestion to make for 1955.

At first glance it may be shocking, but if there simply has to be a limit of one special week, then let's pull a big switch next year and call it not Brotherhood Week, but Bigotry Week.

Let's set apart seven cold winter days, and give all the little hate groups that still flourish in the dark the chance to come right out and spew forth their true feelings in public.

Let's present them with the air and the space to emit their trite little tirades against people whose places of worship are different or whose skins are different or who eat differently on Fridays.

Every one of these groups is inglorious at heart, and dedicated to the dead opposites of democracy.

They have the right to exist and speak—sure. But I say, let's ask them to speak up, all of them, and all at once.

What a pitiful little squawking there would be, of the disgruntled and the fearful and the better-than-thou.

And in this otherwise decent and humane nation, what a cleansing of the air would follow!

All right, it's a dream—and my "suggestion" is partly kidding.

But it sure is kidding on the square.

2 Detroiters Sentenced at Orion Township Court

Two Detroiters pleaded guilty Saturday to simple larceny before Orion Township Justice Helmar G. Stanaback and were each sentenced to 30 days in Oakland County Jail when they could not pay a $25 fine and $10 costs apiece.

Walter Von Prewitt, 26, and Wayland Ellmore, 28, both of 602 Lillibridge, admitted taking three bags of clover seed owned by Frank Spezia of 2975 Livernois Rd., on Feb. 24 in Pontiac Township.

In 1875, Nevada passed a law prohibiting camels from running at large on its highways. Camels actually became a nuisance there after they had been introduced for use in transportation work across the desert.

Heart Massaging Fails to Save Boy

CUMBERLAND, Md. (U-P)—Six-year-old Walter Thomas Brown Jr. died at Sacred Heart Hospital here last night, 11 days after a surgeon had made a dramatic attempt to save his life by massaging his heart.

The boy's heart had stopped during a tonsillectomy. A surgeon, hurriedly summoned from an adjoining operation, made a quick chest incision and massaged the heart to restore circulation.

But the five minutes Tommy's brain was without oxygen caused too much damage, a hospital spokesman said last night.

Deputy's Ace-in-the-Hole Breaks Up Poker Game

FRANKLIN, Ohio (U-P)—When Ralph Palmer entered a cafe near Franklin yesterday, one of the poker players said, "Come on in, partner, you'll make a sixth."

Palmer broke up the game with the winning card—his badge as chief deputy sheriff.

Lucy's 'Trailer' Piles Up Intake

New 'Home' TV Show Mails Invitations From Home, Kansas

By JACK O'BRIAN

NEW YORK (INS) — Art Carney's stardom on the Gleason show was the reply to thousands of demanding letters.

The Jo Stafford show has it all over the quarter-hour field for tastefully elegant simplicity; also the best voice.

Vivian Vance (Lucy's gal pal) is the honest-to-subpoena sheriff of Cubero, N. M., where she's a rancher.

Lucy's TV momentum helped "The Long, Long Trailer" pile up the biggest weekend business in a year at Radio City Music Hall.

NBC-TV went to all the bother of sending thousands of invitations to its new "Home" show to "Home, Kansas," to be mailed with that postmark.

Legislation against TV charity solicitation also may strike it poor for telethons.

Cornel Wilde and wife Jean Wallace formed "Theodore Prod., Inc." to make TV films.

Howard Duff has finished the first of 26 "Johnny Nighthawk" films. Duff plays an adventuresome freight pilot.

Hunt Stromberg, who made the slick "Thin Man" films, has a telefilm "Pitfall" series about juvenile delinquency.

Wally Cox will do "Three Men On a Horse" for U. S. Steel's Theater Guild opus later this season.

Fred Allen was proclaimed an "old man" by Basil Rathbone on "The Name's the Same," so now we wonder where that leaves Basil, who is two years older than Fred (Fred's 60 this year; Basil, 62).

It also helped establish something we've hollered about for years — that Fred Allen, in the calmer, casual, offhand interchange of fun and small talk, is far more attractive, effective and satisfying than on the gadgety show he's saddled with elsewhere.

"Who's the Boss" is as good an imitation of "What's My Line?" as anything else in its imitative field. Needs brightening, but the stuff's there.

Nelson Eddy may get a warm weather series.

The Meadows sisters (Jayne & Audrey) have a TV show of their own a-planning.

Let's start a move to get Ed Wynn back on the air... soon.

Teaching Son, 3, to Be Truthful Puts Dad in Jail

SAN FRANCISCO — Officers, seeking to serve six traffic warrants on Theodore Martin Sr., went to his home Saturday.

They said Mrs. Martin assured officer Jeremiah Taylor that Martin, an auto mechanic, was not at home.

But 3-year-old Theodore Jr. knew differently. "Daddy's in the front room," he proudly told the policeman.

Taylor went into the living room. There were empty chairs, a rug on the floor, an unoccupied sofa—but no Martin Sr.

"Look in the sofa," little Ted shouted gleefully.

And there was Papa Martin underneath.

He was booked at city prison and held in lieu of $35 bail.

Said Martin, "That's all right. I've always told Ted to tell the truth."

Detroit Auto Show Ends; Officials Planning for '55

DETROIT (INS) — The 41st annual Detroit Auto Show ended Sunday night with a record attendance. Officials huddled immediately to make next year's affair even bigger.

Predicted turnout for the nine-day exhibition at the State Fair Grounds had been 250,000. Actually, 280,341 persons went through the turnstiles.

It was the city's first auto show since the start of World War II.

Jack Harris at Studios Making Records for TV

Jack Harris, of 944 Argyle, is spending two weeks in Hollywood making recordings to be used on TV programs later in the year. Harris appears on the "Singing Along" program heard over WWJ-TV, at 11:15 p. m.

PIONEER DUO—One of America's best liked comedy teams, Peter Lind Hayes and Mary Healy who carved a rewarding stage career, now invade the realm of television. The duo has subbed for countless personalities on TV and recently appeared in a video play whose locale was the wild and woolly west. (That explains the get-up of "coon-skinned" Peter Lind.)

9 Die in Pyrenees in Ski Train Crash

TOULOUSE, France — A cog railway train streaking down a mountain in the French Pyrenees with holiday skiers jumped the tracks and plunged into a 1,500-foot ravine yesterday. Nine persons were killed and 14 injured.

The train was on its way from a ski run to Luchon when it derailed. It was believed the brakes failed. As the train shot off the track and skidded over rocks to the ravine's brink, some passengers jumped. They were flung under the wheels and crushed between the rocks and the sides of the train.

The train was the three-rail type for steep grades. The rail's center track is notched to mesh with a cog wheel on the engine.

75 Years of Marriage

ITHACA — A rural Ithaca couple, Mr. and Mrs. Wilson I. Brodebeck, celebrated their 75th wedding anniversary and a 33rd birthday at a family dinner Saturday. It was Mrs. Brodebeck's birthday. Her husband was 95 last October.

Rubi Flies Back to Babs, Denies Visiting Zsa Zsa

PALM BEACH, Fla. — Porfirio Rubirosa, the suave playboy-diplomat, plunged back into Palm Beach social life today after an absence of several days from his bride, Woolworth heiress Barbara Hutton.

There were reports he had flown to Phoenix, Ariz., to visit an old flame, Zsa Zsa Gabor. But he declared he had gone to his native Dominican Republic on business.

He flew into Miami Saturday night in a chartered plane and came immediately to Palm Beach.

Yesterday afternoon he was a guest at a cocktail party given by Mrs. Cobina Wright.

Barbara didn't attend the party. She was reported still having trouble with the ankle she broke in a fall in her bathtub soon after her marriage.

"My God, how did that start?" Rubirosa asked when a reporter reached him by telephone to inquire about the Phoenix rumor. "I have just been down on my Dominican farm in La Vega. My God, be sure to get that right—La Vega, not Las Vegas."

Airport attendants in Phoenix said a man answering Rubirosa's description left there in a chartered plane Friday. Miss Gabor, in Phoenix on location, said she hadn't seen him.
