Reds Claim Super-Range Missile

Successful Test Seen as Victory in Arms Race

Report That Russia Has Long-Distance Weapon Accepted by Many

FROM OUR WIRE SERVICES

MOSCOW — The Soviet Union claimed a victory today in her race with the United States to develop the dreaded intercontinental ballistics missile — (ICBM) — the "ultimate weapon" against which there is no defense.

The announcement that an intercontinental missile had been tested successfully "in recent days" was made last night by the official Soviet news agency Tass.

Tass said:

"A super-long-distance intercontinental multi-stage ballistics missile . . . flew at a very high, unprecedented altitude.

"Covering a huge distance in a brief time the missile landed in the target area. The results obtained show that it is possible to direct the missile into any part of the world . . . without resorting to a strategic air force, which at the present time is vulnerable to up-to-date means of anti-aircraft defense."

Taas failed to say whether the rocket carried an atomic or hydrogen bomb war head but it coupled in the same sentence the announcement of the missile test and the fact that nuclear weapons had been exploded in the Soviet Union in the past few days.

MAY BE TRUE

Western observers were inclined to accept the Soviet announcement at face value, noting that in the past Russian claims about nuclear weapons have been borne out by later facts.

The wording of the announcement, however, indicated that the rocket tested was a prototype which would mean that mass production of such missiles would not be possible for a considerable length of time.

The Russians soon will have a chance to prove to the world their claim of having produced the deadliest weapon in history. Along with the United States, Russia has promised to attempt to launch earth satellites during the 18-month International Geophysical Year which began July 1.

NO RANGE GIVEN

No range for the Soviet missile was given in the Tass announcement, but American scientists have been working on a missile capable of flying 5,000 miles at a speed of some 10,000 miles an hour.

The American missile, the Atlas, reportedly underwent an unsuccessful test in Florida last month.

In connection with its missile announcement, Tass said it had been "authorized" to issue a statement on disarmament.

Blaming the United States for rejecting agreements on the prohibition of nuclear weapons, Tass said:

"The Soviet government has been impelled to take all necessary measures with the object of safeguarding the security of the Soviet State.

"At the same time the Soviet government will continue persistently to press for agreement

Swept Over Falls

HUGS FROM MOM — Mrs. Muriel Robins, of Detroit, hugs her son Dick, 23, and daughter, Doris, 14, after the brother and sister returned home from vacation, lucky to be alive. Both were swept over the Tahquamenon Falls in the Upper Peninsula Sunday while wading. They missed rocks at the bottom and were able to swim to safety.

Sucked Over 42-Foot Falls, Girl, Brother Swim Ashore

DETROIT (AP)—A 14-year-old Detroit girl and her 23-year-old brother today told how they stumbled hand-in-hand 42 feet over Michigan's famed Tahquamenon Falls Sunday and landed safely amidst the jagged rocks at the bottom.

Dick Robins and his sister Doris, upon their return home last night, said they not only plunged over the Upper Michigan falls which Longfellow immortalized in his "Song of Hiawatha," but climbed to the top afterward and a second time waded across the Tahquamenon River.

Lifetime residents at Newberry, near the falls which thousands of tourists visit every year, said not since the legend of Hiawatha's friend, Kwasind, have they heard of anyone surviving a plunge over the torrent of water. Kwasind, the legend says, survived the plunge while chasing beaver.

The brother and sister, vacationing, said they had crossed through a foot passage under the lip of the falls and climbed to the top by a wooden staircase.

"A couple of fishermen sitting on the bank told us we could wade back across the rapids above the falls," said Robins. "I guess we didn't go far enough upstream.

"We started across about 100 feet above the brink. About 10 feet from shore, with the water up to our knees, it suddenly just pulled us off our feet. I don't know what happened."

'FELT COMFORTABLE'

Doris said, "We were holding hands all the time. I didn't really know what was happening. We were falling sideways and holding hands. It felt very comfortable."

"As we came to the brink," said Robins, "I looked over at Doris and said, 'Goodby, kid.'

Partly Cloudy, Cool Tonight, Tomorrow

Cooler temperatures will continue to prevail, predicts the U.S. Weather Bureau.

The outlook for tonight is partly cloudy and cool with a low of 48 to 52 degrees.

Tomorrow will be partly cloudy and cool with a high of 65 to 69.

In an extended weather outlook the Bureau has forecast temperatures will average about seven degrees below the normal 79 high and normal 59 low for the next four days.

Showers are likely Friday and Saturday.

In downtown Pontiac the lowest temperature recorded preceding 8 a.m. was 54. At 2 p.m. the mercury stood at 69.

Three Are Held in Fatal Shooting at Trailer Park

Pennsylvania Resident Eddie Hicks Found Shot in Back

Three men are being held today at the Oakland County Jail in connection with the fatal shooting of another man near Pontiac.

Eddie Hicks, 28, of Wye Mills, Pa., was shot in the back shortly before midnight last night at Glenview Trailer Park, 2300 Shimmons Rd., Pontiac Township.

According to Detective Steve Hawlik, of the Oakland County Sheriff's Department, the fatal shot was fired by Lee Harris Jr., 25, a resident of the trailer park.

Harris is being held for investigation on a charge of murder while Thomas Squires, 27, of 543 Vassar St., Wyandotte, and Joseph Wells, 19, of Detroit, are being held for questioning as material witnesses.

Deputy Guy Kessler was called to the park last night on a fight complaint.

When he arrived, Harris was standing over Hicks' body holding a revolver, he said. Harris said he had just shot Hicks, who was dead when Kessler arrived.

The shooting developed out of a long standing difference between Harris and the other man. They told deputies of another similar argument which had taken place a few years ago in Pennsylvania.

Harris told deputies that Squires had phoned him last night saying, "I'm coming over to take care of you."

Harris continued that when Squires arrived, with Hicks and Wells, the three banged on the door trying to gain entrance. Harris had a revolver in his possession and said he thought he saw one of the men with a gun as he opened the door.

Brandishing his gun, Harris said, he fired three or four shots over their heads as they fled, not intending to hit anyone.

As Squires and Wells ran off, Harris said he ran from his trailer to find Hicks lying on the ground with a bullet hole in his back. Harris then called the Sheriff's Department.

Officers said that Squires and Wells had been drinking and they

Press in Group of Nation's 381 Major Papers

NEW YORK (AP)—This country's 381 principal daily newspapers are read in two-thirds of the nation's households, a study of metropolitan dailies said today. (The Pontiac Press is in this group).

The 73-page study, "Metropolitan Newspaper Markets," was prepared for presentation to advertising agency executives by Alan S. Donnahoe, vice president, Richmond, Va. Times-Dispatch and News Leader. Donnahoe reported on the study at a luncheon meeting of agency executives here.

With nearly two years required for its preparation, the study is an analysis of the 381 leading dailies published in the 172 metropolitan areas of the nation, with aggregate circulation of 43,097,000.

Taking account of duplication, the study says that, "these dailies are regularly read in 31,449,000 unduplicated households: Approximately two-thirds of the nation's total."

AFL-CIO Files Hoffa Charges

Based on Testimony and Evidence From Senate Rackets Probe

WASHINGTON (AP)—The AFL-CIO Ethical Practices Committee today filed its own charges against Teamsters Vice President James R. Hoffa. Their nature was not specified in a committee announcement.

The announcement said the committee served upon the Teamsters Union a "report which includes charges concerning the activit es" of Hoffa.

"These charges were based primarily upon evidence and testimony before the McClellan committee," the announcement said.

Hoffa repeatedly asserted inability to recollect events about which he was questioned. Finally, Mc Clellan suspended the hearings with the tart comment that the "witness has no memory."

In Los Angeles, an angry Dave Beck said the Teamsters definitely plan to respond to the charges when the Ethical Practices Committee meets Sept. 5-6 in Washington, D.C.

The AFL-CIO Executive Committee meets Sept. 24-25 to decide whether to oust the 1,400,000-member Teamsters Union from the merged labor movement.

First Passenger Flight

Reds to Fly Jets to U. S.

WASHINGTON (INS) — The U. S. granted authority last night to the Soviet Union to fly two late-type Russian jet planes to this country in history's first Russia-to-America passenger plane flight.

On Aug. 21, Moscow asked American permission to fly the two airliners to New York.

The state department said that U. S. government flight personnel will board the two planes as they enter United States air space and will be aboard for the flight for the entire time that the two Russian planes are over American territory.

American personnel probably will board the plane at Gander, Newfoundland, to navigate them into the New York area.

While this will be the first time that a Russian passenger plane has ever flown to the United States, the Soviet Union has frequently granted such permission to the United States.

HAPPY WINNERS — The Wayne Lidgard family could hardly believe it last night when told the 1957 Golden Pontiac was theirs. So, they all piled in their old car and drove down to see it. Ready for the trip (l to r) are Bruce, 15 months; Diane, 14; father Wayne, Mrs. Lidgard, Lee Ann, 3, and Sharon, 10.

1957 Golden Pontiac Won by Avon Woman

A dream came true for members of the Wayne Lidgard family when they were told last night that Mrs. Lidgard had been awarded the 1957 Golden Anniversary Pontiac.

The Lidgards, who live at 2955 Midvale, Avon Township, won the car in competition sponsored by the Downtown Pontiac Association in celebration of Pontiac Motor Division's 50th anniversary.

They will receive the car tonight at the variety show at Wisner stadium which caps the two-week celebration.

Mrs. Lidgard, the mother of four children, had four tickets in the contest.

The drawing was held at 6 p.m. yesterday and shortly after that Mrs. Lidgard was telephoned to establish eligibility.

When the committee rang her doorbell about 7:30, she had "no idea" what was about to happen. Informed that she had won the car, Mrs. Lidgard said "Oh, no," and cried and laughed at the same time.

Pandemonium hit the house as the four children and her husband learned the news. Soon some neighbors found out and the Lidgards were busy accepting congratulations.

INSPECT PRIZE

At 11 p.m. they decided that the children should see the car and they piled in their car and drove to Huron and Saginaw to show the kids the golden Pontiac on the stand there.

She and her husband, who runs a barber shop, have no immediate plans for the car.

In fact, she wasn't even sure it was hers. "I thought it was just a dream this morning. But people have telephoned about it and I guess it is really mine."

Honorary judge for the contest was the Pontiac Press "Miss Front Page" for August, Eugenia Lee Thompson, 469 E. Mansfield.

A committee of members of the Downtown Pontiac Association, sponsored by president Al Girard of Community National Bank, and disinterested persons also took part in the judging and awarding of the car.

Harlow Curtice Hopes to Attend Reception at Elks

General Motors head Harlow H. Curtice will probably attend the Pontiac Motor Division 50th anniversary reception being given tomorrow afternoon by the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce.

Curtice has been invited, and may speak briefly.

A shuttle-bus service to the 5-7 p.m. function at the Elks Temple was announced today. Buses will take persons in the downtown area to the Elks Temple, and return them downtown after the event.

The shuttle-bus may be boarded beginning at 4:30 p.m. at two places, on the Huron Street side of the courthouse, and at the southwest corner of Pike and Perry streets. The buses will alleviate the parking problem expected at the Elks Temple.

The reception is open to the public, at $3 a ticket.

Drop Postal Rate Hike

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Post Office Committee broke off hearings today on a postal rate increase bill and announced it had no plans to conclude testimony at this session of Congress.

Variety Show to Celebrate Anniversary

Downtown Merchants Sponsor Music Groups, Dancers, Comedy Acts

Comedy and music will radiate from the stage at Wisner Stadium as a galaxy of stars parade their talents at 8:30 to celebrate the 50th birthday of Pontiac Motor Division.

Sponsored by the Downtown Pontiac Association, the huge variety show will feature the comic talents of Johnny Puleo and his harmonica gang, the music of Johnny Long and his orchestra, and specialty acts galore.

Outstanding night club and television entertainers will perform, including The Four Step Brothers, dance specialists; The Terry Sisters, acrobatic dancers; and The Petticoats, singing trio.

Robert Maxwell, sensational jazz harpist and recording star, will play, and Long's orchestra will feature its Dixieland session with the noted Mickey Gravine on the trombone.

Singer Debbie Brown will also be spotlighted with the Long orchestra.

SPECIAL ARRANGEMENTS

Tickets are free and are available today from downtown merchants. Parking is also free and special arrangements have been made to accommodate the crowd.

In addition to the regular stadium parking, space will be set aside for cars behind the Nye Dairy, off Cass Ave.; behind Gresham Cleaners, off Cass; and in a vacant lot at Wisner and Cass.

Curb parking also will be permissible on side streets off Oakland Ave. In case of rain, the show will be held Wednesday night.

Sponsors of the show said today that people will be permitted to sit on the stadium playing field.

Officials caution, however, that viewers bring something to sit on: a blanket, chair, box or raincoat.

Discounts Peril of Asian Flu

Top U.S. Surgeon Says It's No Worse Than Everyday Illnesses

WASHINGTON (AP) — Surgeon General Leroy E. Burney said today that if you get Asian flu you probably won't be any worse off than with many an everyday sickness.

"Even if an epidemic should develop," the head of the U.S. Public Health Service said, "if present trends continue, the 10 to 20 per cent of the people who might contract Asian influenza would have a relatively mild illness, with symptoms which are commonplace accompaniments of many everyday illnesses in our society."

Burney's comments were contained in a speech prepared for a special meeting of the Association of State and Territorial Health Officers of the United States.

Burney called the meeting to discuss what could be done to reduce the amount of illness caused by the new flu virus.

In addition to the vaccine production, he said, there have been intensive studies, exchanges of information and planning by public and private health officials and organizations.

"This is the first time in history that a country has been able to take such preliminary steps in advance of a possible epidemic of influenza," he said.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Because of unanimity of national and world authorities on the subject, the Associated Press has adopted the style of Asian, instead of Asiatic, flu.

Vaccine to Trickle In After Mid-September

No Public Program Set to Fight Flu in County

Will an epidemic of Asian flu strike the United States this winter?

What steps are being taken in Oakland County to prevent an outbreak of the disease?

When will flu vaccine be available to the local public?

Public health officials and private physicians here sadly admit that right now they aren't able to answer these questions.

County Health Director John D. Monroe revealed today:

1. The county has been informed by the communicable disease section of the State Health Department that no funds have been provided to supply the county with vaccine against the flu.

2. There will be no vaccine available until at least the middle of September.

3. There is little that can be done to ward off such an epidemic.

U.S. Surgeon General Leroy E. Burney has estimated that an epidemic of Asian flu might strike between 13 million and 26 million Americans. He also believed that many might be stricken, in the event of an outbreak, even if the newly-developed vaccine is widely employed.

Hundreds of thousands of cases have been reported in Malaya, Hong Kong, Indonesia, Japan, Thailand, Formosa, India, the Philippines, and aboard ships. The new type of virus was first discovered in Hong Kong in April.

FEW DEATHS

The virus has been described as a fairly mild one, said Dr. Monroe. Deaths occur mainly among young children and very old people. The flu epidemics in the Far East have thus far caused few fatalities—approximately two among each thousand stricken with the disease.

Symptoms of the new virus, according to Dr. Monroe, are much the same as for other types of influenza. They include fever, headache, aching limbs and sometimes coughing. The sickness remains active anywhere from 24 to 72 hours, he said.

Dr. Monroe said that anyone who believes that he is coming down with Asian flu should take the same measures that he would for any other form of influenza, such as going to bed and keeping warm.

He urged all local residents to observe basic rules of hygiene, such as eating proper foods, getting enough sleep, and keeping their resistance at a high level.

GIs FIRST IN LINE

The flu vaccine to be available in mid-September will be a limited amount. Top priority has been established by the Armed Forces, with all servicemen slated to receive inoculations.

No further priorities have been established, but the U.S. Public Health Service is hopeful that personnel in health operations, communications, transportation, schools, fire and police depart-

No Use Explaining Grandma in Jail

ST. JOSEPH, Mo. (AP)—Mrs. Alvin Wright took sons Mike, 5, and Jim, 10, on a shopping tour and Mike got so rambunctious in a crowded store she made him a promise.

Mike was delighted and shouted it to Jim:

"Mama says if I behave we can go to the jail and see grandma."

Mrs. Wright reddened as eyes stared in her direction but she decided it was no use trying to explain.

The grandmother, Mrs. John Bokay, is a deputy sheriff and cook at the Buchanan County jail.

ments, will be the next in line for doses of the vaccine.

Doses take two weeks to become effective; once the virus takes hold vaccination is useless.

Six manufacturers of the vaccine are working day and night, seven days a week, to turn out eight million doses of the vaccine by the middle of September.

The Parke, Davis plant at Rochester is one of the firms manufacturing the vaccine.

EXPECT OUTBREAK

But the Public Health Service expect an outbreak before that time. Cases of Asian flu already have been reported in the United States. This means that many more have been exposed to the virus, and the chances are that winter weather will be the signal for an outbreak of the illness.

Once the vaccine is available, the public will have to take shots through normal commercial channels.

According to medical authorities, the disease is likely to strike in many areas at the same time, following no geographic pattern.

About 20,000 cases have been reported in the United States, according to the Public Health Service. The total includes three deaths, all due to secondary infections. California has been hardest hit with 14,000 military and 1,400 civilian cases.

What is the milk bottle barometer?

The glass milk bottle, covered with paper wrapper-top, makes a good barometer. Put a rubber band around the paper top to make the wrapper airtight.

Then take a toothpick or a pencil or small stick and glue to the flat paper top — so that the glued end of the stick rests in the center of the top. Note what the barometer pressure is when you glue the stick on.

Thereafter, the stick's outer end will move up and down, as the pressure of the air inside the bottle remains constant and outside pressure changes. When a high pressure system is overhead the end of the stick will point up, since the paper top will be pressed down in the center.

In low pressure periods, the end of the stick will point down, as the pressure inside the bottle pushes the center of the paper top upward.

New Styling and Engineering Advances Revealed Today for Ford's Edsel Line

By DAVID J. WILKIE
AP Automotive Editor

New styling, interesting engineering advances and a tremendous promotion background mark the Ford Motor Co's. new Edsel line of cars. The cars were shown at a press preview in Detroit today.

The new line of cars on which Ford reported it spent more than a quarter billion dollars in three years of development, will go on public sale Sept. 4. It will be offered in 18 body styles with two series, the Ranger and Pacer models at the bottom of the medium price bracket, and the Citation and Corsair at the top of that grouping.

Major feature of the styling is the front end treatment, including a vertical oval, extending from the center of the bumper to the top of the hood cover. Concave sculptured sides, horizontal headlights and taillights and a slightly raised center section of the hood are other styling features.

Already given a dealers' preview in the East, far West and South, the Edsel line was given its major showing for the press, television, radio and trade paper representatives at Ford Motor Co's. styling center in Dearborn.

In what has been termed one of the poorest kept secrets in the history of new car presentations, most of the Edsel's engineering details already are fairly well known. Common to the entire line are such innovations as pushbutton transmission controls mounted in the center of the steering wheel hub and a single dial heater-defroster-ventilator control.

Each model has a new floating drum type speedometer which rotates as the car accelerates or slows. The Ranger and Pacer models have new V-8 engines developing 303 horsepower; the Corsair and Citation engines develop 345 horsepower. The power plants have 10.5 to 1 compression ratio.

Self-adjusting brakes which automatically compensate for brake lining wear, safety rim wheels and four barrel carburetion are standard equipment with all models.

Wheelbase of the Ranger and Pacer models is 118 inches; that of the Corsair and Citation is 124 inches. (The 1957 Ford Fairlane 500 series has 118 inch wheelbase; the 1957 Mercury 122 and the Lincoln 126 inches.)

Besides the conventional body types — sedans and hardtops — convertibles and station wagons also are being offered.

The conventional body models are slightly under 57 inches in height. They have air conditioning louvers across the entire top of the instrument panel just inside the windshield. Cool air is forced up under the roof to cool both front and rear seat passengers.

The Edsel line has been aimed by Ford to compete with General Motors Oldsmobile and Buick models.

Price tags will be announced with the public presentation next week.

Senior Citizens Merit Privileges

Collie Wins Place in Sun

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — It was a clear cut victory for Major, an aging collie with many friends.

His owner, Earl Jackson, had been accused by a neighbor of allowing the 19-year-old dog to run wild outside his Pasadena home. The case went to court yesterday with attorney Grover Didson, coming out of a 15-year retirement to handle the defense.

"Your honor," said Dodson, "There must be certain privileges for the old and infirm, for dogs as well as for men.

"There was no need for a leash on Major. He certainly earned the right as a senior dog citizen, to be allowed to go where he pleased, to sun himself wherever he wished."

A veterinarian said the dog was senile and had suffered three heart attacks in as many months. Municipal Judge Richard Fildew ruled that "This dog is too old to do any damage or to annoy anyone. Even if he has any teeth left — which is doubtful — he couldn't bite.

"Case dismissed."

In all the months Steven has lived near the right-of-way in Asuncion, trainmen noticed, he never ran outdoors to watch the trains go by. He always waved from a window. After they found out why, they arranged the trip.

Fight to Wipe Out Foreign Aid Hike

WASHINGTON (AP)—Foreign aid opponents mobilized for an uphill fight today to try to wipe out a $500,900,000 increase over House appropriations for military and economic aid abroad.

These forces, headed by Senators Ellender (D-La) and Russell (D-Ga), made their stand against the united opposition of Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas and Senate Republican Leader Knowland of California.

The Senate Appropriations Committee yesterday voted 14-7 for a bill carrying $3,692,710,000 in new and reappropriated money for this fiscal year which began July 1.

This figure was $308,750,000 below the ceilings in the recently enacted authorization bill, and $747,500,000 under the $4,440,210,000 Eisenhower originally asked in new and reappropriated money.

100 Will Watch Walled Lake Bank Robbery

Tomorrow morning 100 officers and employes of Community National bank will sit quietly and watch their Walled Lake branch robbed, with the cashier being murdered in the process.

Then they will watch while State Police act swiftly to apprehend the criminals.

The action is all part of a 27-minute documentary film, "State Trooper." Members of the State Police play both "good" guys and "bad" guys in the film, with the Walled Lake bank as the stage for the picture.

The story for the film was written by a Bloomfield Hills writer, Will H. Connelly, of 1062 Stratford Lane. It is based on research at State Police headquarters and many interviews with Commissioner Joseph Childs and scientific specialists in the police crime laboratory.

The film deals mainly with criminal investigation activities of the State Police and reveals the specialized training of troopers in the techniques of gathering evidence and the principles of criminal law.

The film was produced by Ford Motor Co., in cooperation with the State Police.

House Set to Pass New Civil Rights Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House was poised to pass quickly today a compromise civil rights bill. But there were signs of possible rearguard action by Southerners in the Senate.

In the House, Southern foes of civil rights legislation appeared reconciled to defeat. But in the Senate, some Southerners were holding out for a filibuster against the compromise.

Sen. Russell (D-Ga) said he couldn't forecast what might happen. He indicated it would be up to individuals.

"There is a lot of opposition to this compromise, which really wipes out the jury trial amendment," he said. "There will be some long speeches against it."

He said it was possible that even if no filibuster develops the Senate may not get to vote on the bill this week.

Congressional leaders have been pointing toward adjournment by this weekend.

Navy Will Launch 'Swordfish' Today

PORTSMOUTH, N. H. (AP)—The Navy, speeding transition to nuclear power, readied its fourth nuclear-powered submarine—Swordfish—the first to be built in a naval shipyard, for launching today.

Since the first nuclear-propelled submarine was authorized in 1952, the Electric Boat Division of General Dynamics Corp., at Groton, Conn., has built the Nautilus, the Seawolf and the Skate.

Construction by the Portsmouth Naval Shipyard of the Swordfish, second of four 2,400-ton Skate-class, nuclear submarines, was hailed by Navy men as an important step forward in the creation of a nuclear navy.

Frees Boy Who Owned Knife in Fatal Stabbing

DETROIT (INS)—Probate Judge Nathan J. Kaufman has released a 13-year-old boy who owned the knife which was used in a fatal stabbing at a Detroit church dance last week.

The victim was Lloyd Pennington, 14.

Ordered held without bond were Norman Holmes, 15, who police said admitted the stabbing, and a 14-year-old who handed Holmes the knife.

Judge Kaufman said both boys would be tried as juveniles unless the prosecutor asks for a waiver so they can be tried as adults. He said he would rule on such a request within three weeks.

Sucked Over Falls, Girl, Brother Safe

Then it just took us over. We weren't scared until it was all over.

"When we hit the bottom, there was a strong eddy current like an undertow. I kept pushing Doris toward the surface. Luckily, we're both good swimmers, and when we got out of the currents we swam ashore." The falls is 100 feet wide.

Art Lenore, a caretaker of the Tahquamenon Falls State Park, made a written report of the incident to J. A. Barrett of Newberry, owner of the concessions building at the falls.

He said witnesses told him the two plunged into a pool at the foot of the falls at the only place not cluttered with jagged rocks.

Robins said the two waded ashore near where two amazed fishermen sat watching on the bank.

CROSSED AGAIN

"They took us back up the stairs and showed us the place where we could wade across," he said. "It was about 200 yards upstream from the brink. We waded across and changed our clothes in the concession booth."

State Police, when first hearing of the incident, said surviving such a fall was impossible.

Robins, a senior at Wayne State University, said he and his sister, a high school freshman, didn't want to be identified at the scene because their parents would worry about them if they learned of the fall.

"I thought I'd like to show Doris some of the state, particularly the Tahquamenon Falls," said Robins. "As it turned out she got a pretty good look at them."

Lions Trade Rookie for Future Draft Pick

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Lions today traded rookie end Bob Gunderman to the Pittsburgh Steelers in exchange for an undisclosed draft choice of the National Football League team.

Gunderman, an offensive end from the University of Virginia, was the Lions' 19th draft choice.

Todd's Name in Libel Trial

Defendant Says Movie Producer Was Source for Confidential

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Movie producer Mike Todd once gave information to Confidential magazine, a defendant in the criminal libel trial involving the scandal publication has testified.

Fred Meade, chief collector of Hollywood scandal for Confidential and Whisper, dropped Todd's name into the trial record yesterday.

Todd, husband of actress Elizabeth Taylor, joined an impressive list of celebrities who already had been mentioned during the first three weeks of the trial.

Meade, former operator of Hollywood Research, Inc., testified that writer Hal Conrad of New York had persuaded Todd to confirm story material. The story was not identified.

In New York, Todd denied the statement.

Todd said through a press agent that he "wouldn't know Meade if I fell over him and I aim to keep it that way." He added: "Conrad called me regarding a story he had about a Hollywood tycoon who holds no love for me. He seemed to have the story in such detail that he must have gotten it from one of the principals.

"Seeing that I couldn't talk him out of the story, I did succeed in talking him out of naming the person who bore the brunt of the story, even though this tycoon is not exactly a member of my fan club and vice versa. This, is anyone's book, even to a scandal magazine, could not be construed as informing."

Another prominent name dropped by Meade was that of Harry Cohn, president of Columbia Studios. Meade said Cohn made hotel reservations for him and his wife Marjorie, also a defendant, when they first came to Los Angeles in 1955.

Cohn denied the testimony. A studio spokesman quoted the Columbia president as saying: "I never made a hotel reservation for Fred Meade or anyone else connected with Confidential. I have never met him. I wouldn't know him if I saw him, and I wouldn't know who he is except for what I've read about him in the newspapers."

Meade, while under cross-examination, testified, that he blames the movie industry for condoning actions which provided Confidential and Whisper with lurid tales about movie stars.

"If they (the studios) took care of their own business and exercised morality clauses in their own contracts this wouldn't have happened," he said.

As Dep. Dist. Atty. William L. Ritzi pressed Meade about whether he thought Confidential stories injured their subjects, Meade, bristled and snapped back a string of denials.

Drayton Plains Woman Wins $10,000 Prize

A Drayton Plains mother found herself the lucky winner of prizes totaling around $10,000 early this morning.

Mrs. Robert Tucker, of 3259 Seebaldt St., correctly identified Ed Wynn as the mystery man on the "Truth or Consequences" TV program's Man in the Moon contest by viewing a profile of the well known comic and piecing together various clues as to his identity.

Her name and telephone number were drawn from post cards submitted to the popular quiz show by TV viewers.

Outstanding among the many prizes were: A mink stole, a Nash Rambler station wagon, a diamond ring, a trip to Washington for two, and a deep freeze.

Mrs. Tucker has two daughters and a son. Her husband is employed at the General Motors Truck & Coach Division.

Scientists Study Soldier Reaction

Test Atomic Battle Tactics

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (INS) — Nuclear scientists and rugged army combat troops join forces on the Nevada desert tomorrow to demonstrate how American mind and muscle might counter an enemy invader.

The maneuver will test the Army's atomic-age battle strategy and the fighting man's ability to shake off the jolting effect of a nearby atomic burst and move in, weapons blazing, against an enemy.

The men of science will trigger their monstrous weapon from a steel shaft towering 700 feet above the mock battle ground while the GI's crouch in dugouts less than two miles from ground zero.

When the atom's fury has subsided, 700 United States and Canadian troops will climb aboard giant helicopters which will carry them to the attack.

Accompanying the soldiers on the mission will be a team of psychologists, physiologists, statisticians and sociologists to determine how the infantrymen react — mentally and physically — under the shadow of the atomic cloud.

What they see will help determine how tomorrow's fighting man will be schooled in his craft.

The atomic burst itself — the 14th of the current series — is expected to be one of the most powerful, with a predicted energy yield of more than 20,000 tons of TNT.

The Day in Birmingham

Officials Pushing Details for Adams Road Widening

BIRMINGHAM — Details for the creation of a special assessment district on the Adams road widening are being pushed through as rapidly as possible.

Birmingham commissioners said Troy officials were also speeding up their share of the district.

With the county, Birmingham and Troy participating, all are expressing a desire to have the work done this fall.

Birmingham's great interest is the safety angle, as it involves traffic around the Derby Junior High School and the continued traffic increase on Adams road itself.

Property owners involved in the district will be notified on the public hearing of the confirmation of the roll.

Commissioners hope to have that session early next month.

A road oil truck owned by the City of Birmingham suffered fire damages this morning about 8:30, when the fuel overflow from the tar heaters ignited. Brakes on the truck and tires were damaged.

Assistant Fire Chief Stanley Pepperell and DPW officials said prompt work of the department saved the city from a major fire in the DPW yards.

The burning truck was in close proximity to three large tanks full of heavy liquid tar.

The SDD liquor license for John S. Shucait, 1998 Southfield Rd. was approved by commissioners last night.

The request of Mr. and Mrs. Frank C. Newell has been referred to the Plan Board and Engineering.

The Newells have asked the vacation of Dorchester avenue between Eaton road and the Grand Trunk Railroad.

Ralph H. Foerschler

Service for Ralph H. Foerschler, 55, of 439 Park St. will be held at 3 p.m. tomorrow in Bell Chapel of the William R. Hamilton Co. here. Burial will be in White Chapel Memorial Cemetery.

Foerschler collapsed and died Saturday while on the cruise ship Aquarama.

He was a civilian employe with the Department of the Army, Detroit Ordinance District, and was supervisor of packing and preservation.

He is survived by three brothers, Frank L. of Kansas City, Mo., Clarence of Kansas City, Kansas, and Lynn G. of San Diego, Calif.

Wins Skirmish on Court Costs

Judge Holland Orders Careful Study in Suit Over Justices' Fees

Farmington Justice Allen C. Ingle won the first skirmish yesterday in his court battle to upset an attorney general's ruling limiting justice court costs.

Circuit Judge H. Russel Holland ordered a careful study of preliminary issues involved in a suit brought by Ingle against Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem.

Ziem contended flatly that he has no role in the court cost controversy, saying that Atty. Gen. Thomas M. Kavanagh should be involved in the suit instead. The prosecutor asked for immediate dismissal of the case.

But Judge Holland, remarking that "this is a precedent making case on which I want a thorough study before making any decision," ordered both parties to submit briefs on the motion to dismiss.

"Controversy over justice court costs has been brewing for a long time," said Judge Holland. "Instead of dismissing this case right now, I'd like to study it and see if there is some intelligent solution."

DUTY—BOUND

Ingle, who is asking for a declaratory judgement, argued that "the judicial branch of government is duty-bound to make a decision in this matter."

Because of misleading charges over the past two years, Ingle said, the public has the impression that Oakland County justices are "fleecing, cheating and robbing them."

In January, Kavanagh ruled that justices must limit the costs assessed against convicted offenders to fees specifically set up by state statute.

Prior to that, Oakland County justices had been following a ruling by Corporation Counsel Harry J. Merritt, who said costs must be "reasonable" and any money left over after fees had been paid could help defray the expense of local law enforcement.

Under this system, non-tax funds were available to support township police departments. Some of the non-tax money also went to the county to help defray the cost of the Sheriff's Department.

MUST USE TAX MONEY

Kavanagh, in effect, said that township law enforcement can only be supported by tax money and that the attempt to make it self-supporting was illegal.

In March, Ziem advised one county justice to follow Kavanagh's opinion unless a high court ruled otherwise. As a result, justices all over the county fell in line under the new ruling.

Ingle, who is president of the state and county justice associations, has asked for the declaratory judgement on the basis that Kavanagh has no right to interfer with the judicial branch of government.

If Judge Holland makes a ruling in the case, justices all over the state will be bound by it. Kavanagh's office in Lansing has indicated it will not intervene in the case unless the motion to dismiss is denied, Ziem said.

Mother, Child Injured in 2-Car Collision

A two-year-old child and an expectant mother were injured yesterday in a two-car collision at Cass and Sanderson Sts, according to Pontiac Police reports.

Injured while riding in a car driven by Mrs. Ruby Hazel, 26, of 2324 Highland Rd., Milford, were her son John, 2, and Mrs. Joyce Garrison, 28, of the same address.

The Hazel boy was treated for minor injuries at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital and released. Mrs. Garrison was admitted with leg injuries and internal complications, but is listed in satisfactory condition today. The driver of the other car, Ruth M. Briggs, 46, of 411 Gateway St., was uninjured.

Reds Claim ICBM Successfully Tested

on the cessation of tests and the prohibition of atomic weapons, on the problem of disarmament as a whole, in a positive solution of which all the peoples of the world are interested."

In Washington, some members of the U.S. Congress were skeptical of the Russian rocket claim, some labeling it propaganda.

SOME SKEPTICAL

Sen. Jackson (D-Wash) said today the Russians are engaging in "ballistic blackmail" in announcing they have tested successfully an intercontinental missile.

Sen. Symington (D-Mo) said the announcement yesterday "is the ultimate step in the propaganda use of this weapon. . . ."

But Rep. Patterson (R-Conn) said:

"We who serve on the House Armed Services Committee have been repeatedly warned by our own military authorities that the Soviets are making tremendous progress in ballistic missile technology," Patterson said.

"I have vigorously protested against the proposed 10 per cent cutback in funds for the guided missile research and development program. This is the worst kind of false economy."

At the Pentagon, the Russian claim aroused intense interest but no public comment. However, there was no disposition by Soviet claim.

Although the United States has never successfully launched an intercontinental ballistic missile — one with a planned range of 5,000 miles or so—it has fired shorter range ballistic-type weapons.

Adm. Arthur W. Radford, who stepped out recently as chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, has said the American program to develop long-range missiles is a good one. He said he was satisfied with it.

admitted meeting Hicks at a bar last night.

However, the two denied phoning Harris. They also stated that they did not have a gun and didn't bang on the door, in a statement before Oakland County Assistant Prosecutor Jerome K. Barry this morning.

They told Barry that they knocked on Harris' door and fled as he opened it brandishing the weapon.

Kessler said that Squires admitted that he and Harris had been carrying a grudge since their argument in Pennsylvania a few years ago.

Squires' present wife is Harris' former wife.

Officers are searching grounds around the area of the shooting for a gun. Neither Squires nor Wells were armed at the time of their apprehension, shortly after the shooting.

The dead man was also unarmed, said deputies.

Ralph E. Allen Taken by Death

Was a Partner in Firm of Darin & Armstrong; Funeral Thursday

Ralph E. Allen, secretary and treasurer of Darin & Armstrong Inc., died at 6:30 this morning in St. Joseph Mercy Hospital of a heart ailment. He was ill two weeks.

He was one of the original partners of Darin & Armstrong, a construction firm, which was organized in December 1936.

Mr. Allen was born in Redford Township on Oct. 6, 1904 to Edward and Harriet Otis Allen. He was married to Kathleen E. Richardson on May 9, 1925 in Detroit.

A graduate of Pontiac High School in 1923, he was a member of the First Congregational Church and Elks Lodge No. 810 and a charter member of DeMolay.

He leaves his wife; his foster mother and aunt, Mrs. Benjamin Blaylock of Pontiac; three sons, Ralph O. Allen of Pontiac, William R. of Naples, Fla. and Richard E. at home. Two sisters are living in Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

An Elks Lodge of Sorrow will be held at 8 p.m. Wednesday in the Donelson-Johns Funeral Home.

Service will be at 3 p.m. Thursday in the funeral home with the Rev. Malcolm K. Burton, his pastor, officiating. Burial will be in Lakeview Cemetery, Clarkston.

The family requests that contributions may be made to the Michigan Heart Association.

Saturday Proclaimed State Fair Veterans Day

LANSING (AP)—Gov. Williams today proclaimed Saturday as Michigan State Fair veterans day, calling on citizens to pay "special tribute to the men and women who once wore the uniform of the United States."

Twenty-three veterans groups in the state will take part in memorial ceremonies and other programs planned for that day at the state fair in Detroit.

Canada Du Pont Plans Plant Near Sarnia

MONTREAL (AP) — Du Pont of Canada has announced that a new plant to manufacture a plastic resin will be built just south of Sarnia, Ont.

No cost was given pending completion of engineering design work.

The plant, in Moore Township, will make linear polethylenes, a new type of plastic different to conventional polyethylene. It can be used in moulded products, unbreakable housewares and as a transparent flexible film.

State GOP Confab to Draw Over 600

LANSING (AP) — More than 600 party workers plan to attend the state-wide Republican conference at Mackinac Island Sept. 7-8, GOP state chairman Lawrence W. Lindemer said today.

"The enthusiastic response speaks well for the future," Lindemer said. "This is the real beginning of the 1958 campaign and the conference will map out a year-around program for victory."

The two-day workshop will take up Republican organization, finances and programs.

Legislators will report on Michigan's taxation problems and offer suggestions for solving them.

Meade Alcorn, new Republican national chairman, will make his first Michigan appearance at the conference.

Lindemer said he is expected to discuss Michigan's political future from the national viewpoint.

Holds Tax Increase Legal in Kent County

LANSING (AP) — Atty. Gen. Thomas M. Kavanagh has held that when Kent County voters approved establishment of a county special education district they also authorized a tax increase to support the program.

Kavanagh made public an opinion rendered last Friday to Lynn M. Bartlett, state superintendent of public instruction.

The attorney general said that under a 1955 provision of the school code a majority of constituent districts in the county must approve formation of the countywide district.

However, the opinion added, one constituent district as such may not vote against increasing the 15-mill property tax limitation "although the individual voters in the district may do so in participating in the county-wide referendum."

Deaths in Pontiac and Nearby Areas

MRS. CHARLES E. BIRD

Mrs. Charles E. (Abbie M.) Bird, 84, of 138 Hickory Lane, Crescent Lake died yesterday morning at her home. She had been ill about two years.

She was a member of the First Presbyterian Church.

Besides her husband, Mrs. Bird leaves a son, Harold C. Bird, and a daughter, Mrs. Vernice McVean, both of Pontiac, and two sisters, Mrs. Vinnie W. Hogle of Pontiac and Mrs. Birdie Swantz of Detroit.

Service will be at 2 p.m. Wednesday from the Pursley Funeral Home with the Rev. Gales E. Hershey, associate pastor of her church, officiating. Burial will follow in Oak Hill Cemetery.

MRS. JAMES O. HAYES

Mrs. James O. (Sylvia Amelia) Hayes, 67, of 18 Esther St. died Sunday morning at her home after an illness of nine months.

She was a member of the Newman AME Church.

Surviving are six sons, Norman, Emery and Richard Hayes, all of Pontiac, Charles of San Francisco, Calif., Alfred of Detroit and Frederick of New York City; four daughters, Delores Hayes of Pontiac, Mrs. Gene Merchant of Lansing, Mrs. Phyllis Gates and Mrs. Mary Jane Hooper, both of Detroit, two sisters and a brother.

Mrs. Hayes' body will be at the William F. Davis Funeral Home from noon Wednesday until noon Thursday when it will be taken to the Trinity Baptist Church for service at 2 p.m. The Rev. J. Allen Parker, her pastor, will officiate with burial in Oak Hill Cemetery.

EMANUEL J. DEFELICE

CEDAR ISLAND LAKE—Emanuel J. DeFelice, 53, of 404 Lakeview Dr., died early today of a heart ailment at his home. His body will be at the Donelson-Johns Funeral Home, Pontiac, after 7 p.m. tonight.

Mr. DeFelice, a member of F&AM No. 121, Commerce and OES No. 301, is survived by his wife, Florence; a sister, Mrs. Josephine Agius and one brother, George.

WILLIAM L. WETTIG

ROYAL OAK — Service for William L. Wettig, 60, of 2010 Kalama, will be at 11 a.m. Wednesday from the William R. Potere Funeral Home, Rochester. Burial will be in Roseland Park Cemetery, Berkley, with the Rev. J. Douglas Parker officiating. Mr. Wettig died Saturday.

Surviving are three sons, Hyman of Royal Oak, Lewis of Roseville and Theodore of Detroit; two daughters, Mrs. Edna Shain of Colorado and Mrs. Margaret Crick of Indiana; a brother, and one sister.

Man Steals Twin Beds During Auction Sale

Earl Kent of 2235 Rosemary St., Waterford Township, reported to police yesterday that a pair of twin beds were stolen during an auction sale held at his home Sunday.

Kent told police that a young man named Taylor bid on the beds, left and returned later with a truck. He loaded the beds and left without paying the $55 bid, due on his return with the truck.

Delay Action on Bids for County Garage

Action on bids for construction of a new Oakland County Road Commission garage will be delayed until the end of this week or the beginning of next week.

"More time is needed to study details of the bidding before contracts are awarded," said Paul Van Roekel, county highway engineer.

The new garage will help house the commission's fleet of rolling equipment. It will be similar to the present $300,000 garage located on the commission's new site in the county service center.

Additional storage space is included in the construction.

Lawyer Hayashi Stresses:

Girard Fired Only 2 Shots; Ordered Woman to Leave

TOKYO (INS) — GI William S. Girard's chief counsel admitted for the first time today that the 22-year-old Ottawa, Ill., soldier fired two shots at the time he killed a Japanese woman shell scavenger last Jan. 30.

But Itsuro Hayashi stoutly denied the prosecution allegation during the first day of Girard's trial for manslaughter yesterday that three shots were fired at four Japanese before the fatal wounding of Mrs. Naka Sakai, a 46-year-old mother.

The 64-year-old Japanese attorney, emphasized in an interview that Girard had admitted firing two shots, one of which led to the death of Mrs. Sakai. He added: "As for charges that others were fired I'll await court testimony before discussing the number.

"Any other shots are strictly side issues but I'll take Girard's word that he fired only two shots. I have enough witnesses to back this up and can successfully rebut prosecution witnesses."

The man who defended Japanese war criminals after World War II said that "any other shots have no bearing" on the case "because they didn't strike anybody."

Asked whether he believed the prosecution's allegations that Girard shot at four other persons besides Mrs. Sakai hurt the defense case, Hayashi replied: "No, I'm not worried about this. I'm a lawyer of 40 years experience and such things can't worry me."

The veteran trial lawyer stressed that his "chief accomplishment" at Monday's opening trial session was recognition by the prosecution that Girard shouted "get out of here" to Mrs. Sakai on the day of the fatal accident.

He declared: "By pointing out these words which Girard is alleged to have shouted at Mrs. Sakai I established the fact that Girard was acting on official duty because he ordered someone away from material he was guarding."

Say U.S. Arranged Flight From Reds

BERLIN (INS)—Radio East Berlin claimed today that the recent flight of a prominent East Berlin university professor to West Germany was "set up long ago by the American Secret Service."

The professor, Dr. Alfred Kantorowicz, who had worked for the Columbia Broadcasting System in the U.S. during World War II, sought political asylum in West Berlin last Thursday.

In a broadcast monitored by the German News Agency, DPA, the Communist radio claimed that the "American Secret Service" chose last week for the flight "shortly before the West German elections, as a favor to Chancellor (Konrad) Adenauer's Christian Democrats."

The broadcast added:

"Further, Dr. Kantorowicz was offered a professorship at Frankfurt-am-Main University at the request of the American Secret Service."

Shortly after the 58-year-old professor defected to the West he charged that the "dictatorship" of East German party boss Walter Ulbricht had crushed individual freedom and destroyed the rights of intellectual workers in the Soviet staellite.

Williams to Support Office Space Study

LANSING (AP) — Gov. Williams says he will give "wholehearted" support to a proposed study of office space use by state government.

Williams asked Sen. Elmer R. Porter yesterday (R-Blissfield) to meet with him soon to map plans for such a study and discuss details of financing it.

Porter, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, suggested a space utilization study as a means of cutting down on state government costs.

Williams, writing to Porter, said the Legislature this year turned down his own proposal for such a study, which would have been made in conjunction with a survey of all office management procedures used by state agencies.

Report 4 Top Reds to Meet in November

BERLIN (INS) — Communist sources states that Nikita S. Khrushchev will be host to a "Big Four" Communist meeting in mid-November when the Red world celebrates the 40th anniversary of the Bolshevik revolution.

The informants said Khrushchev will meet in Moscow with Mao Tse-Tung of Red China, President Tito of Yugoslavia and party chief Wladyslaw Gomulka of Poland.

The four men probably will meet later with lesser lights from the Soviet satellites, the sources said.

Chief object of the meeting, it was reported, will be to bolster Communist unity despite serious ideological disagreements.

Bob Considine Says:

Dulles Pulls Fast One on American Press

NEW YORK (INS) — John Foster Dulles does not want U. S. newsmen to enter and report from China. He fought the proposal from the moment the first request was made. He seems to have succeeded in continuing to fight it while appearing to support it.

There was a wide editorial approval of the state department's announcement of last Friday that 24 newsmen would be permitted to go into China for a seven-month period.

The department had at least seen the light, the average editorial read. They were heavily larded with "the peoples' right to know," and "this is the end of a policy based on what we didn't know about an enemy wouldn't hurt us."

The Red Chinese then replied — quite correctly, I think — that it wanted no part of our working staffs. The state department had carefully set the stage for such a rebuff by stating that under no circumstance would it permit Red Chinese news people to enter the U.S. on a reciprocal basis.

It was simply a matter of time before the government of Mao Tse Tung replied in a gruff manner. Red China is feeling its muscles. It has come to believe, as has its people, that it beat the tar out of us and the free world in Korea.

SHARP THINKING, FOSTER

To have accepted such an unilateral arrangement as Dulles would have forced on it would have resulted in a serious loss of face for the Peiping government. This, I'm sure, Dulles took into account.

He has made the noble gesture in the direction of U.S. news media and, at the same time, arranged for the frustration of its newsgathering plans.

In time, one supposes, the state department will yield in its obstinate view and let a few Chinese reporters come in as well as let our people go there. It is preposterous not to know what is happening — except through propaganda channels — in a nation so jammed with human life that it accounts for one in every four people in the world.

The world would hardly have known of the pitiless repression of the Hungarian freedom fighters by Soviet Union forces if there had been no free reporting from Red Hungary. It would know little of the U.S.S.R., and Poland, Czechoslovakia, and the others.

Right now, Dulles apparently has the same suspicion of the gullibility of the average U. S. foreign correspondent that Pat Hurley had when he was our ambassador to Nationalist China.

A fierce young man from Time Magazine approached Gen. Hurley in Chungking in 1945, when the official state department policy was to try to get the Chinese Red "agrarians" more representation in Chiang Kai-shek's government, and asked permission to journey to Yunan to do some stories about Mao Tse-tung and other gentle Chinese "farmers.' Pat said no.

TIME WILL GET YOU

"If I let you go up north you'll write a lot of sentimental hogwash about those fellows," Pat said. "We've invested a billion or two in Chiang Kai-shek. Why should I help you undermine him?"

The young man from Time grew grew very angry. He shook his fist under Pat's elegant nose and said to the veteran of a thousand political massacres, "I'll get you for this!"

Pat stroked his silver mustache in a bemused way and said, "Son, what you say reminds me of the story of a tough old guy we had, down in the Red River Valley.

"One day a new tough fellow came into town, took a look at our old tough fellow, and told him to get out of town — or else he'd shoot our fellow right through the head with his new .38.

"Now our old tough fellow had been shot through the head four times with .45s, so he looked at the new tough fellow and said, 'Boy, if you shoot me through the head with that thing you got in your hand, AND I HEAR ABOUT IT things are going to be mighty unhealthy for you around here.' "

There's a good chance that the man from Time, and the others who were refused when they tried to get to Yunan, could have told the people of the U.S. the truth — that the Communists were out to devour our friend Chiang. That they did, while still known here mainly as agrarians. That they did.

It's better to know your enemy, but Dulles is not convinced.

Opened Way for IGY Research

Byrd's South Pole Flight Widened Scientific Vista

WASHINGTON — When the late Richard Evelyn Byrd first flew over the South Pole 28 years ago, he opened the way for an air-borne technique of transport and supply that has now made possible the first scientific station at the bottom of the world.

At that station, American scientists and Navy men are probing icebound secrets of earth and universe as part of the research program for the International Geophysical Year.

Their work, like that at other bases of the United States all-out "Operation Deep Freeze," marks the culmination of Admiral Byrd's lifetime leadership in assaults on the frozen continent to the south.

"No man in history contributed more to the knowledge of the artic and antarctic than Byrd," writes Melville Bell Grosvenor, editor of the National Geographic Magazine, in a recent issue of the publication.

"What the round earth was to Columbus, what circumnavigation of the globe was to Magellan, polar exploration was to Richard Evelyn Byrd. If Columbus was admiral of the ocean sea, Byrd, first man to fly over both Poles, was admiral of the ends of the earth."

Dr. Grosvenor recalls how, as a junior member of the National Geographic staff in 1925, he welcomed young Byrd at the Society's Washington headquarters.

HAD BOLD IDEAS

"Straight as a jackstaff, handsome and forthright," Lt. Comdr. Byrd had some bold ideas to offer on exploring the Arctic from the air.

His project appealed strongly to the society, already keenly interested in aviation and air photography. Byrd's naval aviation unit joined the seagoing, Geographic-backed Donald B. MacMillan expedition.

From a base at Etah, Greenland, north of what is now Thule Air Base, Byrd and his companions covered thousands of square miles by plane. With Floyd Bennett, he became the first man to fly over Greenland's icecap.

Prophetically, he began a story in the November 1925 Geographic with the words: "Aviation will conquer the Arctic—and the Antarctic, too."

SUN COMPASS INVALUABLE GIFT

Editor Grosvenor points out that an important contribution made by the society to Byrd's earlier exploits—in addition to financial and research aid—was a sun compass.

Invented by Albert H. Bumstead, the society's chief cartographer, this sun compass was constructed especially for Byrd's use in polar areas where neither the magnetic nor the gyroscopic compass works properly.

"It was the sun compass," Byrd said later, "that made it possible for us to fly with confidence to the North and South Poles and to find our way back to our bases."

UTW Officials Face Union Fire

AFL-CIO Ethics Group Grills Valente, Klenert on Corruption Charge

WASHINGTON (AP) — The AFL-CIO Ethical Practices Committee meets behind closed doors today to probe corruption charges against top officers of the United Textile Workers.

Scheduled to appear before the committee are UTW President Anthony Valente and Secretary-Treasurer Lloyd Klenert.

Senate rackets investigators have accused Valente and Klenert of lavishing thousands of dollars of union funds on themselves for a variety of personal comforts — from a $25.20 corkscrew to air-conditioned homes.

Over a period of years, the Senate committee has charged, Klenert misused $101,963 in union funds and Valente $26,442.

The UTW Executive Council said last month charges that Valente and Klenert used $57,000 of union money to buy homes in suburban Maryland had been investigated several years ago and found to be "politically motivated" and erroneous.

The five-member AFL-CIO committee will report its findings to the AFL-CIO Executive Council. The council then could reject the allegations or order a cleanup, holding over the union's head the threat of being dumped from the labor federation.

Not River, Nor Sun Can Stop Our Firemen

EUREKA, Calif. (AP) — Firemen from nearby Blue Lake answered a fire alarm only to find the Mad River between them and the fire yesterday.

But they mounted a portable pump on a stray raft and paddled across. Most of the firefighters had to abandon their clothes and swim the river.

One fireman remained behind to discourage peeping toms.

It took over three hours to put out the fire, which was burning logs and debris on a sand bar in the river.

The only injuries were sunburns.

Wanted to Watch Bowl Rehearsal; Now He's Soloist

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (AP) — A young man who telephoned to ask if he could just watch the rehearsal will be guest soloist tonight at Hollywood Bowl.

The performer originally scheduled, Canadian pianist Glenn Gould, wired Saturday that he was ill in Toronto and would have to cancel his Hollywood Bowl debut.

Army Pvt. John Browning of Los Angeles, meanwhile, was home on leave after finishing basic training at Ft. Ord. A concert pianist himself, he asked if he could attend the rehearsal to hear Gould. He was told he could. After Gould's wire came, Browning was asked if he'd play the concert. He said he would.

In uniform, he'll play Bethoven's Concerto No. 4, which Gould had scheduled. Browning played it last winter with the Los Angeles Philharmonic, with which he'll appear tomorrow night.

Browning will return to his Army camp the following morning.

Can Sell Beer Inside

WICHITA, Kan. (AP)—It's illegal to sell beer within 250 feet of a church or school in Wichita, but there is no state or city law against dispensing beer inside a church.

That ruling was given yesterday by City Atty. Fred Aley after City Commissioner John Stevens said he had seen bingo games and beer drinking at a church affair.

License Collector Frederick Denny said he had issued a beer license to the community center connected with St. Anthony's Roman Catholic Church.

Tied for first place were Janis Quarles (left), of 292 S. East Blvd. and Rosemary Serra (third from left), of 290 S. East Blvd. Both girls read 150 books. Capturing second prize was Sandy Campanaro, of 294 S. East Blvd., who read 98 books. Over 400 children participated in the club sponsored each summer by the library.

Student Confab to Criticize Trip

Congress at Ann Arbor Is Expected to Condemn Visit to China

ANN ARBOR (AP) — A condemnation of the visit of 41 American students to Red China is expected to be resolved by 1,000 student delegates to the National Student Congress before it ends Friday.

A special resolution has been prspared for delegate vote after being sifted through sub-commissmon and commission caucuses l week. The condemnation of the students who continued to Red China after attending the World Youth Festival in Mowcow reads in part:

"While the Congress feels that the ban on travel in China should be lifted for some ttypes of student exchange, it affirms its faith in the democratic process and deplores such attempts to alter the law by violating it."

While the debate on travel behind the Bamboo Curtain was the hottest at the National Student Assn. meeting, several dozen other resolutions are awaiting consideration by the representatives of almost one million college students across the nat9on. The National Student Assn. sponsors the National Student Congress meeting.

The resolution on travel in Red China got approval of the two groups that considered it before going before the full conference.

The congress now has before it resolutions attacking the violat9on of acacemic freedom in strife - torn Hungary, French colonialism in Algeria as it affects academic freedom, the Mossow Youth Festival, discrimination in education, and the Louisiana legislature for "discriminatory action with regard to Negro athletes."

In addition, the congress will vote on resolutions asking for a for the exchange of students with foreign nations, financial assistance to students from the government and business, and lowering the voting age to 18.

Last night, the students heard John Cogley, a staff officer on the Fund for the Republic, urge them to cast off the "plague of blandness" that he says is creeping over the nation.

Warns Dealers About Bad Ads

Past NADA President Sees an Undermining of Public Relations

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va. (AP)—Automobile dealers were told yesterday that bad advertising is undermining their public relations.

Frank H. Yarnell of Chicago, a past president of the National Automobile Dealers Assn., expressed that view at the opening of the 24th annual convention of the West Virginia Automobile Dealers Assn.

Yarnell, chairman of the NADA's Advertising Ethics Committee, cited some improvement in advertising practices with respect to fair prices and no "come-on gimmicks."

The profit position of dealers generally has not been good during the last three years, the speaker commented, adding that, "bad advertising, if allowed to continue, can make the picture even darker."

"Cars should be sold right in the first place," he said, "and customers should be looked upon as friends to be cultivated rather than as suckers to be taken.

"Individual cut price advertising on automobiles is like a price war on gasoline. The fellow who first cuts a penny or two does enough additional volume to make a profit.

"But he is quickly matched in price by other dealers and then has to cut again. These continue until there is no profit to anyone, despite tremendous sales for all dealers."

As a man grows older and wiser he talks less and says more.

'They Can't Kill My Spirit'

Garden City Mayor Reads Audit in Hospital Bed

DETROIT (AP) — James Tierney, mayor of suburban Garden City who was shot five times at a public meeting last month, is getting his hand back in city business from his hospital bed.

Tierney yesterday received the results of an audit of city records.

The silver-haired Tierney, a 52-year-old steel worker who serves part-time as mayor of Garden City, said he wanted to get back to the mayor's office "as soon as possible."

"They can shoot up my body but they can't kill my spirit," he said.

Five .22 caliber bullets were pumped into his body the night of July 25 at a City Planning Commission meeting. He was wounded once in the hand and four times in the abdomen. On the critical list more than a week, he underwent surgery four times. One of the slugs still is in him.

Lester Ellerhorst, 52-year-old Garden City contractor, was arrested in the shooting. He and Tierney have feuded off and on over Garden City politics for several years. A crowd of people witnessed the shooting.

The audit report delivered to Tierney contained sharp criticism of bookkeeping methods used by the city but said it could find no evidence of fraud or theft.

The report cited what it called "wholesale disregard of the financial requirements of the city charter, ordinances and council resolutions."

"I've got a tough job when I get back," Tierney said, "but I feel I've more public support than ever and that's going to help."

Racing Officials to Probe Union Loan to Northville

DETROIT (INS) — The State Racing Commission today had started an investigation into a $50,000 loan the Teamsters Union made to the Northville Downs harness track.

State racing commissioner James Inglis said he also will probe the horse racing activities of Bert Brennan, a Teamsters official considered the top lieutenant of Teamsters vice president James R. Hoffa.

Hoffa disclosed the loan last week while testifying before the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee.

The loan was made at six per cent interest and was promptly repaid.

International Mailers May Join Teamsters

DETROIT (AP)—The International Mailers Union may begin an effort this week to affiliate with the giant Teamsters Union, says Leonard M. Sagot, secretary-treasurer of the 4,000-member IMU.

Sagot said the proposal, approved two years ago in a resolution by the IMU, may come before the union's convention here.

A Detroit local of IMU was involved in a labor dispute last week that resulted in suspension of publication by Detroit's three major daily newspapers.

Helicopter Recovers Body of Climber

SEDRO-WOOLLEY, Wash. (AP) — The body of Stan Johnston, 31, who died in a fall on a glacial ledge of Forbidden Peak 50 airline miles east of Sedro-Woolley Sunday night, was recovered by helicopter last night.

Johnston, who had recently moved to Vancouver, B.C., from Liverpool, England, died of head injuries in an 80-foot fall. He and a companion, Barry White of Vancouver, were attempting a night descent of Boston Glacier about 5,000 feet up on the 8,900-foot peak.

White made his way back to the rest of the party, who had decided the night descent was too dangerous. Their leader, Leon Blumer of Vancouver, came down the mountain for help.

Gail Russell to Be Tried on Drunk Driving Count

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Actress Gail Russell, 32, has been ordered to trial Oct. 15 on a felony drunk driving charge.

She pleaded innocent yesterday and is free on $2,000 bail.

Miss Russell was picked up on a bench warrant last Wednesday when she failed to keep an earlier court date. She is accused of crashing her convertible into a coffee shop last July 4, injuring a night porter.

Hiccups, says an old wives' tale, are the sign of a healthy baby. Nevertheless, they're also a nuisance, and a little sugar on the tip of a spoon will sometimes cure them, or a small cup of water (if the baby is old enough) may do the trick if the sugar fails.

SCIENCE QUIZ

ANSWER: Do you know what it is like out in space? Do you know how the deep currents in the ocean flow? Do you know what effect the great storms on the sun have on people on earth?

Neither do the scientists, but they're trying to find out right this minute. Scientists from 64 nations are working together to learn all they can about the earth, inside and out, and what goes on in the air around it. They're giving the earth a checkup just like the doctor gives you from time to time. Only this checkup, which started July 1, is called I. G. Y. — International Geophysical Year. It really will last 1½ years because it will take that long to do the work. Scientists will be exploring and examining on the tops of mountains, in the depths of the sea and in the frozen Antarctic. Rockets will shoot high into the air. Probably the most exciting part will be throwing a man-made moon into outer space. This moon is actually a 20-inch ball fitted out with scientific instruments to radio back all kinds of information about space. What we learn may make it possible to travel in space one of these days.

FOR YOU TO DO: Newspapers are carrying almost daily accounts on what scientists around the world are doing during International Geophysical Year. Look for these reports every day and you'll be surprised at how much you can learn about the earth.

Patricia Simpson of Richmond, Va., won $10 for this question. Send yours to Violet Moore Higgins, AP Newsfeatures, in care of this paper. Tomorrow: What nation first used stamps?)

Would Depose Her

Basutoland Facing Row Over Plump Princess, 54

LONDON (INS) — Steaming, mud-hutted Basutoland in Southwest Africa was reported today to be on the brink of one of the fiercest tribal rows since Seretse Khama was deported following his marriage to a white woman.

A dispatch from the British protectorate claimed the Basutos are striving to depose the present ruler, plump 54-year-old Princess Mantsebo Seeiso.

The chieftainess is presently steaming toward England to protest to Lord Home, minister of commonwealth relations, against the Union of South Africa's ambitions to take over Basutoland.

The Basutos reportedly feel the princess is not strong enough to lead the campaign for independence and want her replaced by the heir to the "throne"—19-year-old Prince Bering. He is said to be arriving in England ahead of the princess.

The princess is one of the widows of the reknowned Basuto Chief Seeiso Griffiths and as senior wife became regent on his death. Bering is the son of another wife.

The Union of South Africa, dominated by whites, has been demanding the transfer of Basutoland along with Bechuanaland and Swaziland for some time, claiming it needs territory to resettle Negroes displaced by segregation of Negroes and whites.

England has refused the demand, insisting that the population of the protectorate would have to be consulted before such a move could be made.

Another tribal row erupted in Bechuanaland in 1953 over Seretse Khama after he married a British woman, Ruth Williams. He was exiled and a successor was named after the tribesmen refused to accept a British nominee for the leadership.

'Vacation School' Makes Retiring Enjoyable

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK (INS)—The word "vacation" is taken from the Latin "vacare," meaning to empty. And brother—or frater—you can say that again!

For most people in America, accustomed to moving speedily and thinking constantly, the sudden shocks of retreating into the vacuum of undisturbed leisure can be devastating. Leads to a sort of psychological case of the bends.

Right or wrong, it is painfully exhausting to empty the mind of its year-load and replace it only with the recommended vacation-time mental supplies: A few mild thoughts concerning what's for dinner; an unruffled wariness of three-leafed plants; a quiet, slow accounting of the number of stars in the sky of the number of strokes on the course.

Let not your mind be troubled by the newspapers, say the experts on relaxation. Forget that your home and business exist. Stop thinking thoughts that habitually cause you to take action.

Drop, they might as well say, dead.

YOU CAN'T WIN

Personally, I would find this ideal kind of emptiness as wearing as cleaning out my bookshelves. Once the books are gone, they've got to be constantly dusted and it's hard, dull work. The upkeep on emptiness is infuriating . . . and I would come out of that perfect type of vacation in a terrible state of irritability.

Permanent job retirement at the age of 65, or at any age, is just one long extended mass of this same emptiness, and for every one person who considers it lovely, there must be 100 who feel it an endless daily trial.

It's an old story, of course, which sociologists, psychiatrists and doctors have been discoursing upon for years. While the 14-million retired people of the U. S. fight their personal battles as to how to feel useful and alive though not wanted in their old jobs, the talks go on. But mostly they are vacation-type talks—arduously empty.

Mrs. Estelle Youle, a red-haired, vital woman in her 40s, decided last year to try something new. She had watched her father retire to Florida and spend his last months reading avidly—but unable to find anyone who would sit still to benefit by the late broadening of his mind.

REFUSED TO ADJUST

"He didn't like shuffleboard or chess or cards," she remembers, "and he refused to adjust to that kind of life."

As a memorial to this man, Mrs. Youle last winter took the money she saved from years of free-lance writing and teaching (mental hygiene, the art of writing) at Columbia and New York Universities, and put it into what she calls a "Vacation School," at Daytona Beach.

Because of her vivacious approach to the new idea, she succeeded in persuading the owners of the "Princess Issena Little Theater," near the ocean front, to give her free rent.

Professors from nearby universities, professional speakers on vacation, authors and experts in various fields of universal interest, gladly came to address her forum of folks from age 50 to age 94.

With lectures and roundtable discussions on books, psychology, health, world affairs and creative writing, Mrs. Youle eased their loneliness, and more important, gave them the opportunity to collect — and dispense — knowledge, such as they had never done before in active working lives.

GREATEST CONCERN

Mrs. Youle discovered one truth: That retired people are most concerned about financial insecurity. This year, in an expanded "Vacation College," she will have a course on how to invest money wisely.

She only hopes that some of her "students" will learn, then, to get as much satisfaction from their savings as she has, through pleasing them, from hers.

Trains Made for Girls

NEW YORK — A toy manufacturer has introduced a five-car electric train designed especially for the girls' market. The set comes in a full array of colors ranging from a "pink-frosting" locomotive and tender to a "sky-blue" caboose.

Cleanliness Habits Must Begin Early

Psychologists and educators say start instilling good work, play and personal living habits when a child is very young.

If you'd like your youngster to get into the habit of brushing his teeth properly, scrubbing his nails, cleaning his clothes and keeping his hair smoothed down, select the right brush for his use.

A child takes pride in his own possessions. If possible, provide his own rack for several brushes in a convenient place. A rack fastened to a low spot behind the bathroom door is handy.

Really Was a Two Million Dollar Rain

Long an expression of great benefit, a "million dollar rain" now looks like petty cash in the Pontiac area.

Following five weeks of an almost continuous drouth and much weather that was excessively hot, Saturday's copious rain brought gladness to our farmers' hearts and renewed bright prospects for their bank accounts.

It saved the corn, which is the top money crop of this area. It had become shriveled and blighted at the very time its "ears were in the milk" and some farmers already had despaired of its yielding any profitable grain, and were chopping it up for ensilage.

Corn fields now show an enlivened attitude, and with just ordinary weather and moisture conditions should return at least an average yield.

Late hay and potato crops also were dwarfed, and our dairy production was threatened by the condition of the pastures and forage.

Fruits and vegetables also were badly in need of the moisture so necessary for good yield and quality.

But one of the rain's greatest benefits will be returned in the 1958 wheat production, for which the seed will soon be planted. The fields which had been prepared for this crop were transformed from dust bowls into receptive fertility, and the new seeding should get the required start to carry it through the coming winter in good shape.

From the farmer with over a thousand acres under cultivation, down to the 6x8-ft. gardener, it brought a relief that extends far beyond the present calendar year.

Based on the agricultural production of Oakland County, which runs around ten millions per year, our best farmers say that this rain was worth at least two millions in our own county alone.

Few Changes Made in Immigration Laws

On the theory that half a loaf is better than no bread the Senate and House have agreed on a compromise immigration bill.

The measure contains none of the reasonable major changes asked by President EISENHOWER last January in a special Immigration Message. At that time he requested among other things, action on emergency legislation to permit permanent residence of some 25,000 Hungarian refugees admitted on parole, and revision of the quota system.

Although not changing any basic immigration provisions, the bill does offer some help by reviving 18,656 non quota immigration visas that had not been used at the expiration of the Refugee Relief Act on December 31.

An unlimited number of orphans under 14 years of age who have been adopted by Americans, also will be admitted up to June 30, 1959. Under regulations prescribed by the Attorney General and Surgeon General, parents or children of U.S. citizens would be eligible for admission even though afflicted with tuberculosis.

Another provision in the proposed measure is of interest to foreign visitors. The irritating finger print requirement on visas, which to them has criminal connotations, would be eliminated.

Unfortunately, the compromise measure is all that can be expected before adjournment. Those lawmakers who see the necessity for broadening the act hope that next session will bring more substantial changes in the outmoded and restrictive McCarran-Walter Act of 1952.

THE weather bureau says it can warn people of approaching dangerous weather, but it can't take them by the hand and lead them out of the danger zones. One great trouble with most people is that they're too optimistic.

"A WOMAN complained to the authorities that her husband was in the habit of praying for her and then socking her in the jaw."—From a news story. Well, it is written that prayer without works availeth nothing.

A Nationwide Newspaper Delegation to Be With Us

Horse and buggy days: What Pontiac had a major part in making historical.

The 1958 convention of the National Editorial Association

is to be held in Detroit on July 9-12. Then they are to be taken on a 10-day tour of Michigan's industrial and recreational resources. I have it direct from chairman of the arrangements for that tour, that Pontiac is one of the places to be visited by the 300 editors, who come from every state in our nation.

Mr. Hewens says that when he took the matter up with

General Motors Corporation

they named Pontiac as their top spot, where the editors could not only see the manufacture of cars and trucks, but also be privileged to visit recreational, civic, cultural and other features, available nowhere else in such a concentrated area. So the newsmen are coming next July.

My idea of a brother and sister with the ultra-commendable desire to do their duty for their country is son and daughter of

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Phipps

of Holly. Graduating from high school together month before last, Don already is in the U.S. Air Force, although he had to get a special dispensation on account of not being old enough to enlist—and Judy is WAC bound.

Circumventing a quirk of nature, of Drayton Plains, grows crooked neck squash without the crook. He says it is simply a matter of piercing the seed with a pin in the right place before planting.

Sticking the end of a vine into a bottle a few weeks ago,

Barney Dunlop

of Lake Orion now has a cucumber with the imprint of a popular brew on it.

From my Metamora scout comes word that there's something in a name, as already holders of some world records in deep sea fishing, are again to be guests of the Venezuela government in a survey on the sport. They leave next Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. George Bass,

The feelings expressed in a letter from

of Birmingham are quite in agreement with those of many others. He says he will forgive the Detroit Tigers of everything if they'll be a strong factor in keeping the pennant away from the Yankees.

MEMBER OF AUDIT BUREAU OF CIRCULATIONS

Jammed!

David Lawrence Says:

U.S. Press Tool of Red Diplomacy

WASHINGTON — What's the the matter with the government of Red China anyway? Hasn't it read about how the American Constitution — as was argued in the recent debate here — guarantees the right of American newsmen to gather information freely anywhere in the world, even when a quasi - state of war exists?

LAWRENCE

By what right does the Peiping government now say it will not allow American newsmen to enter Red China unless Communist newsmen are admitted to the United States? Doesn't the Red China regime know that governments aren't supposed to put any conditions whatsoever on the "right to travel" by Americans and that the American Civil Liberties Union has said so?

But maybe the Red Chinese officials do have a sense of shrewdness, if not a sense of humor. For they know now that, by continuing their organized blackmail, they may gain converts for their objective — formal diplomatic recognition of the Peiping government.

They are counting perhaps on some of the so-called "liberal" Democrats in Congress to put partisanship above everything else as the cause of Red China is openly championed.

Already, for instance, some Democratic senators are declaring that Red China's demand that her newsmen be allowed to enter America should be granted. They say this even though the State Department pointed out a week ago that, while relaxing its rule about withholding passports to American newsmen, it didn't intend to engage in any reciprocal arrangement whereby Red China's newsmen could come to the United States.

PART OF RED GOVERNMENT

For the Red Chinese journalists, the department says, are a part of the Peiping government, and to admit any governmental personnel is the same thing as admitting the staff of an embassy — it all amounts to diplomatic recognition.

One of the reasons why the State Department is so strongly opposed to recognition of Red China is that it could bring on a third world war.

Extension of recognition now would force the issue as between the armies on Formosa and on the mainland, and could lead to an attempted invasion by the Chinese Nationalists out of sheer desperation. It could dishearten the Philippine government and the South Koreans, too, who have sacrificed so much in their fight against communism.

What Red China from the beginning has been playing is a propaganda game — to endeavor to use American newsmen as the tool of its own foreign policy in order to gain diplomatic recognition from the United States and a seat in the Security Council of the United Nations.

Actually, Red China has never been too much interested in admitting American newsmen from the standpoint of getting news attention to what's going on there.

NOTHING BIG

Many newsmen of Britain, Canada and other countries have been stationed for some time in Peiping, and if they had been permitted to learn anything worthwhile in the way of news and had transmitted it to the outer world, the information would have been promptly reprinted in the American press.

So the controversy from the Peiping end is a phony, and the Red Chinese have been trying to add fuel to the flames of partisanship in America. There was a time when all Americans, Democrats and Republicans, were united in the Korean war against the common enemy — Red China — but evidently the sacrifices of 142,000 American casualties now are virtually forgotten.

They would today extend to the Peiping government all the "courtesies" it demands, notwithstanding the fact that six Americans are not getting the "courtesy" of freedom but are still languishing in the jails of Red China on trumped - up charges.

The partisans on Capitol Hill will probably find a way in the end to blame it all on John Foster Dulles.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Man Should Take Part, Not 'Witness' Childbirth

It nettles the conductor of this column—if you can imagine him as an amiable character at any time—to receive telegrams or special delivery letters for which he has to sign. Such messages automatically go into a basket to wait until all routine queries are disposed of.

Here's one telegram, for instance:

"Having difficulty to witness birth of our baby expected soon stop can you send me information which would help me see the delivery or to find a hospital nearby where I might be able to go in thank you."

DR. BRADY

(Signed)——

Advocating, as I do, that the place for a man is at his wife's side at the wonderful moment when their baby is being born, you may wonder why the telegram irked me.

It was because the fellow said he wanted to "witness" the birth.

IT'S NO SHOW

Does he think it would be a good show? Or does he suspect his wife or the hospital might play some trick on him if he is not there to make sure everything is aboveboard?

This senseless episode reminds me of another instance of a similar "difficulty"—a man demanded that the hospital admit him to the delivery room; and when they very properly refused, he created a disturbance and picketed the hospital—until the police whisked him away.

Again I say home is the safest place to have a baby. In your own home no one can put asunder a man and his wife at any time.

If your home is not fit for a baby, then the time to decide whether husband shall remain with wife during the great miracle is six months before the baby is due to arrive.

In six months or less, intelligent people should be able to canvass the doctors in the community and find a doctor who believes a good husband should be at his wife's side when the baby arrives.

If a father chooses to obliterate himself—or if he is pushed out by a prudish wife, both will pay the price.

To start young couples off in the right direction, a vest - pocket primer entitled Preparing for Maternity makes good reading. For a copy send 35c and a stamped, self-addressed envelope. The primer contains a chapter for the expectant father, but the idea is that the couple should study this and everything else pertaining to parenthood together.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Citizen of Keego Inquires About Council Meetings

No gripes, just a few questions. Why can't the council meetings in Keego Harbor be held some place where citizens who wish to attend can have a comfortable place to sit down, instead of standing up and being so crowded one can hardly breathe?

Why can't the reports of various departments be read aloud so citizens can know what's going on and how the departments are functioning? They were at one time.

Why can't the council ever make up its mind on what it wants to do instead of tabling everything until the "next" meeting? If there isn't enough money to run the city right, why not raise taxes? I, for one, would be glad to pay more taxes if I could get more service.

Two More Write About Drag Strip

I can't understand why the two people who probably come into more contact with speeding teenagers than anyone else are opposed to the drag strip. They should be all for it, because it would get the speeding teenagers on the strip and off the road. I express the feelings of the rest of the teenagers in my neighborhood.

"Chicago" Mike

If they have a drag strip here, I would favor the police taking away all drivers' licenses from youthful offenders who exceeded the limit on regular roads. We could stop these midnight races which seem to gravitate from spot to spot to evade arrest. I live in the outskirts and they used my side road for an hour and a half the other night. I'd rather have them on a drag strip. They endangered all normal traffic.

Likes Cats, Too, but Children First

After reading Worried's request for reassurance that her kitten is safe and happy, I'd like to know why she gave it away if she couldn't bear to part with it.

Several years ago I and my six-year-old son answered such an ad and found at least six cats of various ages running up and down the furniture and all over the house. We were allowed to pick a beautifully marked, tiger kitten, and although the lady was reluctant to part with even one cat, we left with our choice. He's never been mistreated, he weighs 10 pounds, eats a can of catfood each day as well as raw liver and heart. He's a fighter, and his once-pointed ears are squared off now. Every morning after breakfast he hurries upstairs to curl up on a bed and sleep all day.

I like cats, have always had one, but wouldn't it be a queer world if everyone thought cats are more important than children?

U.S. Newsmen Hopeful Over Entrance to China

HONG KONG (INS) — The 11 American newsmen waiting in Hong Kong reacted today to Peiping's apparent refusal to let them into Communist China with the philosophical feeling of "never have so many come so far for so little."

Six of them, however, visited the Communist China Travel Service to inquire about their visa opportunities. They were given polite double talk.

SOME HOPE YET

But some hope was still expressed among a few of the newsmen that the Red Chinese might allow them to trickle onto the mainland in two's or three's—even if the permission didn't come for a number of months.

Peiping radio broadcast a scathing article from the newspaper People's Daily. It accused the state department of "insufferable arrogance" in permitting 24 newsmen to go inside Red China while refusing to permit the reciprocal visit of Communist Chinese newsmen to the United States.

The newspaper also inferred that the state department unlocked its doors to newsmen visiting Red China in order to make spies of the reporters.

Neither the newspaper nor radio said flatly, however, that the American correspondents would not be admitted into the Communist nation unless Red Chinese reporters are allowed into the U.S.

Most of the 11 American reporters felt John Foster Dulles' remark last Thursday that no Chinese newsmen would be allowed reciprocity rankled the Communists.

They had not heretofore asked reciprocity.

The 11 American newsmen in Hong Kong—collected from several world capitals—were awaiting their visas when the Peiping news broke.

ENTRY PROMISED

Although they took the Communist decision philosophically, they were rather dismayed and disappointed—especially in view of the many promises during the past year by Chinese Communist Premier Chou En-lai and other officials that visas would be granted to U.S. newsmen as soon as the state department lifted its ban.

Chou made the promises while touring India last winter and in news conference.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Explains Cause and Cure of 'Tics'

Anita had a "tic." Learn to tell the difference in nervous children between a "tic" and chorea (St. Vitus's Dance). For one is a psychological problem while the other is medical. Millions of people have "tics" but you should try to get rid of them early in life. Follow the formula offered to Anita.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case V-374: Anita R., aged 13, is a brilliant 8th grader.

"Dr. Crane, she has a bad habit," her mother began, "and it consists of blinking her eyes rapidly whenever she meets strangers.

DR. CRANE

"Why, she opens and shuts her eyes so fast you can hardly count the movements. But once I tried and got 27 blinks.

"I thought maybe she needed glasses, but the doctor checked her and said that wasn't the trouble.

"He suggested it might be psychological. What do you think?"

'TICS' VS. CHOREA

At the outset, it is wise to distinguish between "tics" versus chorea (St. Vitus's Dance).

In the latter, which is due to infection of the nervous system, the victim may also be nervous and jerk or twitch.

But the same part of the body isn't the one that does all the twitching! For example, such a child may shrug his shoulders involuntarily. Next, he may flip his hand and knock over a glass of milk.

Then his foot may twitch or his mouth, etc. For St. Vitus Dance is a generalized irritation that produces twitches in various random spots.

A "tic" however, is a muscular reaction of the same muscles. It usually had some purposive origin, though this may be almost forgotten by the victim.

"Tics" disappear in sleep, but St. Vitus's Dance can still be evident when a youngster is deep in slumber.

ANITA'S 'TIC'

Anita thus had a "tic." And after a lengthy interview with her, I found out where it started. It thus helps in the cure to "date" the onset of such nuisance habits.

Anita was a shy but very brilliant "A" student. During the seventh grade her regular room teacher was sick for a week with the "flu."

The substitute teacher was not as tactful as she might have been. And the kids pestered her a lot, as is often true when a substitute takes over.

The new teacher soon grew irritable and finally reached the hostile state where she apparently was carrying a chip on her shoulder.

In order to annoy her further, and also tease Anita, a boy across the aisle deliberately pushed Anita's book off her desk.

It hit the floor with its flat surface and made a "bang." The substitute teacher rushed down the aisle at once and upbraided Anita.

Anita was so shy and so shocked by the sudden turn of events, that tears came to her eyes. But she didn't want to reveal such a babyish action before her classmates.

So she blinked as fast as possible to keep the tears back.

This was the origin of her nervous "tic," which she showed thereafter whenever she suddenly confronted a strange person.

HOW CURE 'TIC'

"Fine, Dr. Crane," you may think, "but how does one cure a 'tic'?"

Well, remembering its specific origin is about 50 per cent of the cure, for the victim gets angry at himself thereafter for being a slave to such a juvenile habit.

Second, use the slogan of the Wild West, and beat your enemy to the draw!

Instead of waiting till a stranger bumps into you, start looking for the strangers! Then size them up for a virtue or talent on which you can pay them a sincere compliment.

That will divert your attention and render you less a slave to your nuisance habit. So send for the "Compliment Club" booklet, enclosing a stamped envelope, plus 20 cents.

Then pay your three compliments per day. For as you become better adjusted socially, your timidity will wane and your nervous apprehension will fade away.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Billy Graham Explains Beliefs With Humble Solemnity

(This is the second of four articles summing up the effects of Billy Graham on New York, where the evangelist winds up his crusade this weekend, and providing a penetrating new look at Graham.)

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK (INS) — Billy Graham is so long in stature that he makes a chair look cramped. He also talks with such humble solemnity that he makes a hotel room feel like a chapel. That the way it is, and you don't have to believe in Hell, Heaven, or the divinity of Jesus to feel it.

So here he was, folded across a cramped chair in a $5-a-day chapel, trying to explain what it is he believes and doesn't believe.

QUESTION BIBLE

"I know that there is a certain time in the period of later adolescence, when the mind as well as the body is maturing, that a person may start to question the Bible and its teachings," he said quietly. "It is when great decisions are met head-on, and a person decides whether to have faith or not to have faith."

It came to him that way, and at that time, he said. After a childhood of rebelling against going to church, he went through "a brief period of doubt in my late teens. It didn't last long. And I came out of it with complete conviction that Christ is what he was supposed to be—the son of God."

Question: You tell Christians to make their choice between heaven and hell, in asking them to make a "Decision for Christ." Many people object to a theology based so pointedly on fear . . .

"The fear of God is good and necessary," Graham replies. "The Bible indicates that everyone will have to stand in judgment before God. Even in everyday mortal life, we don't run across the street before looking, because we're afraid of being hurt; we try to obey the law because we fear being jailed. Fear is a legitimate motive."

NOTHING OFFENDS

Graham is offended at nothing—at least on the surface. He was asked, for example, if he isn't sensitive about having been "disapproved" by some members of the Protestant Church for his theology, which dwells strongly on the themes of repentance, faith and individual conversion.

"Sensitive? No, I'm not sensitive. Evangelism is nothing you work up or study—it's a gift of God. And evangelists through history have preached these same themes and been unmercifully criticized by those they didn't reach. John Wesley was stoned. Billy Sunday was bitterly criticized. I am used to it, after so many years."

He added, philosophically, "The church has neglected these parts of the Gospel—repentance, faith and conversion. But it's coming back to the pulpits.

Billy has been criticized among the cynics, who have not bothered to read the facts of his heavily endowed crusade, for being commercial about his religion. He never replies to his critics, because "Christ didn't—." And Christ-likeness is what he is after.

But he will say this: "I don't think my crusade, or any church or pastor, is being commercial. I think the church is spending too little money for religion. If everyone in the world would give 10 per cent of his salary tithe, as the Bible says he should, we could convert the whole world.

"Then we can have not only individual peace, but world peace as well."

THE BERRYS — By Carl Grubert

Solon Asks Special Tax on Alumni of State Schools

LANSING (AP) — A special tax on students attending state supported colleges, payable after they leave school, has been proposed by a Republican legislator.

Rep. Willard I. Bowerman (R-Lansing) advanced the idea as a means of financing college building programs.

Michigan State University has adopted a policy of limiting enrollments this fall because of a shortage of facilities and what officials consider inadequate operating funds.

Bowerman, in a talk prepared for a civic club luncheon, suggested that students be required to contribute $90 a year to finance a 100 million dollar bond issue set up specifically for buildings.

Students would sign a note accepting the obligation when they registered at the beginning of each school year. A payment would not be made until after graduation or leaving school and the student found gainful employment.

On the basis of 80,000 students now attending state colleges and universities, the plan would produce some eight million dollars a year, he said.

Bowerman described the tax as "a compulsory contribution to the alumni fund."

"The so-to-speak delayed tuition would not put an additional burden on the student in his unproductive years," he added. "Michigan residents would not pay unless they received the benefit and it would be an obligation of the student, not the parent."

Airman Critically Hurt in Three-Car Accident

OSCODA (AP) — A young New York airman is in critical condition with injuries suffered Saturday in a three-car accident about 10 miles southwest of the Oscoda Air Force Base.

Airman 1.C. Thomas J. Savona, 23, of Niagara Falls, N.Y., suffered severe head injuries and was paralyzed from the neck down.

A base official said Savona's car rammed into the rear of another car which was slowing up at the site of an earlier auto accident. The airman's car was in turn struck in the rear by another.

2 Women Plead Guilty on Prostitution Charges

Betty Hall, 38, of 205 Hughes St., pleaded guilty to operating a house of prostitution yesterday in municipal court. Judge Cecil B. McCallum sentenced her to pay a $50 fine or spend 10 days in jail. She paid the fine.

Also convicted, for soliciting for prostitution, was Leola I. Jones, 22, of 348 Alberta St. She pleaded guilty and was fined $35 or seven days. She, too, paid her fine.

Government to Benefit

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government would get the savings resulting from any switch in subcontractors working on federal contracts under a bill approved today by the Senate Judiciary Committee. Existing law prrovides no such requirement.

Old Air Force Jet Discovered in Bay

MOUNT CLEMES (AP) — The shattered wreckage of an old Air Force jet plane was discovered in Anchor Bay Sunday by an Army diving crew searching for another plane.

The divers were looking for a T-33 Navy jet trainer which was believed to have crashed in the bay last November with two crewmen aboard.

Air Force officials said the wreckage discovered yesterday was that of a P-80 jet fighter and was believed to be "seven to 10 years old." A spokesman said it probably would be decided this week whether efforts would be made to recover the plane.

Talk about things to be proud of...

Chevy gives you more!

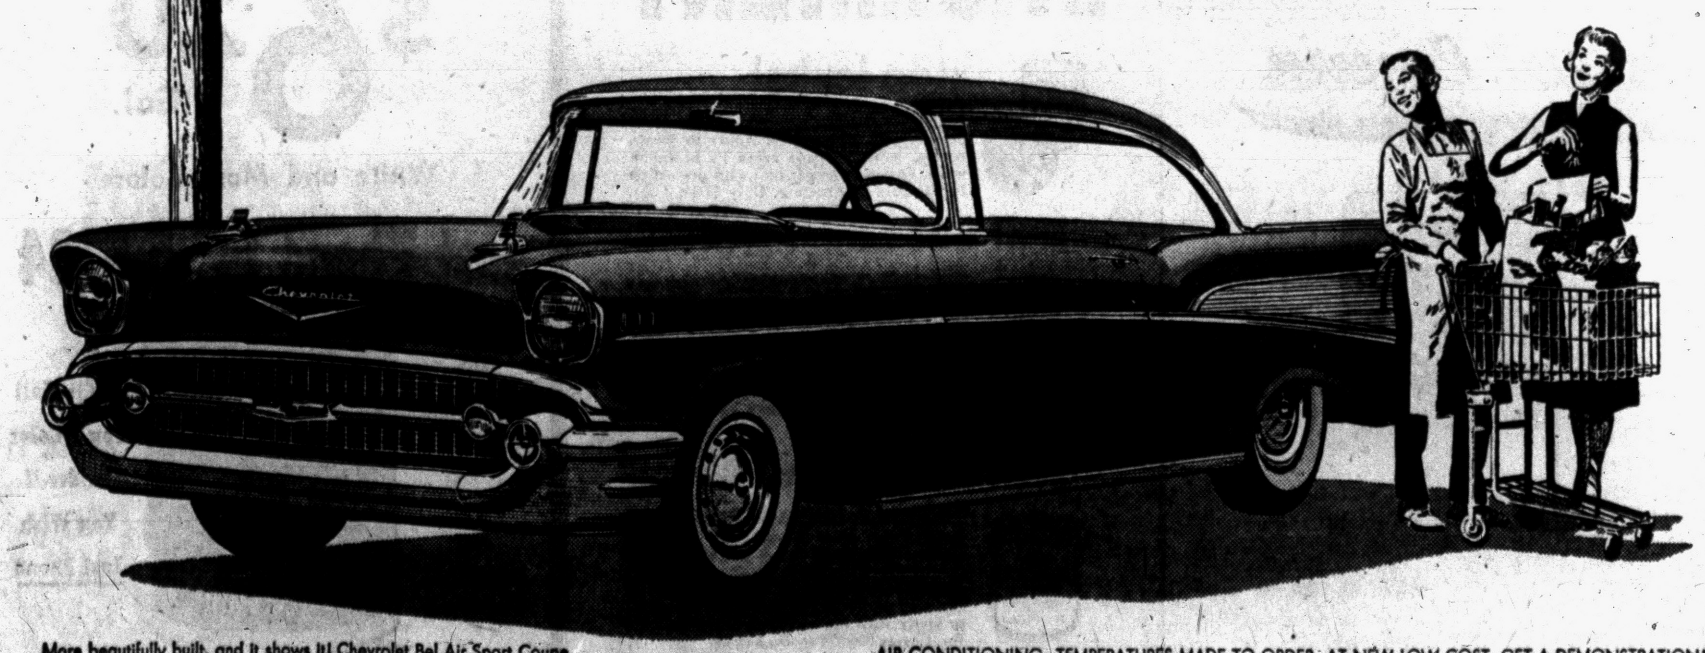

You'll take extra pride in Chevrolet's agile ways—in its sure, soft-spoken power and gentle ride. Chevy's beautiful behavior and solid build are hard to come by in a car at any price.

Give yourself five minutes beside a Chevrolet, studying the fine way it's built. Take five more on the road, sampling its sweet response of power and smooth ride. Just see how beautifully Chevy's put together—and what it can do for your pride!

No other car in the low-price field tells you in quite such certain terms that it was born for effortless handling. A Chevrolet has its pounds in the right places—keeps its stance, no matter how sharply the road may turn, Its wide-based outrigger type rear springs help it to resist sway, and move with easy strides. And with its ball-bearing steering, commanding a Chevy is simply a matter of your hands giving gentle hints to the wheel. It spoils you—this car. See your Chevrolet dealer—soon!

White Pupils Boycott Integrated School

COLP, Ill. (AP) — School officials are waiting to see if white pupils will continue their boycott against integration in Colp's grade school.

Not a single white pupil showed up yesterday, although 40 to 45 had been expected for the first day of classes. There were about 60 Negroes.

Colp is a town of about 250 in the southern tip of Illinois 80 miles southeast of St. Louis and 40 miles from the Kentucky line. About half the residents are Negroes.

"It is not my intention to make anyone do anything he doesn't want to do," said William Hatchett, the Negro who heads the school board. He said he had no intention of calling a special meeting.

"I don't believe the boycott was organized," said Archie Moseley, the school's principal and also a Negro. "I didn't expect a 100 per cent turnout, but I did think there would be a few who wouldn't be so prejudiced."

Religious Bans on Transfusion Danger to Wife

EAST PATCHOGUE, N.Y. (AP)—A 40-year-old mother of four whose religious belief bars blood transfusions was reported improving today but still on the critical list at a hospital.

Mrs. George Bohnke, wife of a Long Island railroad worker, underwent a hysterectomy last Wednesday. She developed postoperative shock the next day.

A member of Jehovah's Witnesses, she refused a blood transfusion despite the pleas of attending physicians. Her husband agreed with her. She is being given injections of glucose at Brookhaven Memorial Hospital.

Authorities have said there is no legal way to compel either Bohnke or his wife to consent to transfusions.

Senate Gives Approval

Swift Action Is Expected on Control of FBI Files

WASHINGTON (AP)—House leaders expected swift passage today of a bill sponsors say is needed to protect secret FBI files from indiscriminate rummaging.

The Senate passed the disputed bill by voice vote last night, but only after revising it to specify added protection for defendants in criminal prosecutions. Two administration attempts to strengthen the measure were beaten on party-line votes.

Rep. Keating (R-NY), an author of the administration bill in the House, said he expects word from Atty. Gen. Brownell today opposing the Senate-approved amendments which were sponsored by Sen. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo).

Keating predicted the House would stick close to the administration's version of the measure.

Rep. Cleller (D-NY), chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, said he would try for House approval of the O'Mahoney amendments.

The bill stems from a June 3 decision by the Supreme Court that Clinton Jencks, a former union official, had a right to examine material in FBI files furnished by witnesses who testified against him, so the defense might try to impeach their testimony.

Jencks had been convicted of swearing falsely that he was not a Communist. The Supreme Court ordered a new trial.

Since then, several lower federal courts have ordered government agencies to open their confidential files or dismiss criminal charges. But the lower courts have come up with different interpretations of the Supreme Court's decision.

Brownell has said the Jencks decision created a "grave emergency in law enforcement." He said it might allow defendants or their lawyers to rummage through confidential files and that this might, among other things, disclose government law enforcement methods.

Brownell and other top administration officials have asked for clarifying legislation.

Both the Keating measure and the Senate-passed bill follow the same general pattern in trying to spell out the Jencks ruling so as to protect confidential files while safeguarding defendants' rights. But Sen. Dirksen (R-Ill) said the Senate version is too weak to do the job.

Seamless Stretch Hose Withstands Strains

Good leg grooming is a favorite elective of school girls.

Much of the recent 40 per cent increase in seamless stocking sales comes from the teenage crowd.

A new seamless favorite is a stretch stocking. It withstands strains of abrupt bending, stooping or kneeling and conforms smoothly to every leg movement.

Town Being Developed in Arizona for Retired, Semi-Retired People

YOUNGTOWN, Ariz. (NEA)—This community — 16 miles northwest of Phoenix — is two years old, and its birth rate remains zero.

Does this mean it's destined to become another of the West's shost towns?

Not while the longevity of persons born 50 or more years ago continues, says Ben Schlefer, who is known as "Big Ben." He is developer of the village for the retired and semi-retired.

When Youngtown began in the summer of 1955, census figures showed upwards of 35 millions of the nation's populace beyond age 50.

A half-century of age is the requisite for residing in Youngtown. Schlefer figured that if only a thousandth of one per cent of those beyond age 50 could be attracted to an idea of living in an area restricted to persons of similar circumstances, he would have a good start.

Youngtown now has 385 residents. At the present rate of settlement, the community will have 600 persons by 1960.

Big Ben, a New Englander who brought his asthma to Arizona nine years ago, is 57. In dealing with real estate in the booming Salt River Valley (Phoenix and environs), he has forgotten his asthma.

The usual infirmities of later years that bothered many of the residents in other climes have been minimized in this hamlet where there's too much enjoyment available to have time for sickness.

Attitude, notes Schleifer, is a major factor in the heartiness of the inhabitants who presently range in age from 50 to 81.

Norman C. Storey, 76, puts it bluntly: "Unless you're active, you die quick." He leased his agricultural machinery factory in Miami, Fla., and with his wife, Mary, set a western course with a house trailer three years ago.

LOOKING IN TEXAS

After looking around Texas and California for a place to rid their house of wheels, the Storeys were heard of Youngtown.

Storey called Schleifer. "We'd like to talk to you about Youngtown," Storey stated.

Within two hours they were touring the curving streets of the village. The asreys wanted to know the why of Youngtown.

In his Connecticut vocal shorttakes, Big Ben told them:

"Now, let's look. How do we treat old moms and pops today? At times they are useful as baby sitters and to borrow a dollar or two from. We even passed laws to recognize the uselessness of people over 60.

"We passed laws to rob them of independence, of imagination, and of creative powers . . . laws designed to place them in idleness.

"I once visited an old friend in a conventional old people's home. He told me that the accommodations were fine, the food was good; yet he was very unhappy. He lived in an institution regimented with rules and procedures—depriving him of freedom of movement.

"The reason for Youngtown is to give back to the oldsters everything they were robbed of. Old age is not intended to be a problem. At Youngstown we want it to be a satisfaction."

Next day the Storeys were advertising their housetrailer for sale and picking out the lot and floor plan for their home in Youngtown.

YOUNGTOWN DEVELOPER—Ben Schleifer chats with Mr. and Mrs. Norman C. Storey in front of their house in the unique Arizona community for retired and semi-retired.

Across the street from their house is Youngtown's seven-acre lagoon, well - stocked with fish.

Storey hasn't had time to do much fishing, however.

He has been busy organizing the Community Hobby Shop. Mrs. Storey enjoys writing and was instrumental in establishing "The Desert Call," a mimeographed weekly newssheet, which residents take turns editing.

The Storeys are not unique in their activities. Mrs. Frances Lauman of Ithaca, N. Y., for example, is working on a directory which will give names, former hometowns and occupations, and hobbies of Youngtowners.

Schleifer provided a community club house for use by the residents, and there's something doing every day.

An informal seven - member governing body, chairmaned by William Radcliff, 64, works with Elmer Johns, 61, general manager of the Youngtown Land and Development Co., in much the way a city council functions with a city manager.

TWO CHURCHES ACTIVE

The Youngtown Community Church, whose pastor, Dr. Henry Mills, is formerly of Oroville, Calif., has been in operation on a non-sectarian basis from the time the first couples moved into the area.

The First Baptist Church, with the Rev. William Merrick, formerly of Cleveland, as pastor, will soon move into its new building near the community club house where its services are held currently.

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold O. Doom, formerly of Jackson, Miss., manage Schleifer's real estate office at Youngtown.

They live in a community where the two-bedroom homes are priced from $7,500 to $7,650.

If a couple wants to build a house of a different design than those available, Schleifer sells the 60-by-100-foot lots for $1,700 to $1,850.

British Tanks for Jordan?

LONDON (AP)—American officials are reported urging that Britain supply Jordan with powerful 52-ton Centurion tanks to meet a Jordanian request for heavy tanks and small arms.

Informants said last night Jordan, which borders on Syria, had asked the United States for such arms to meet any internal or external threats. They added that although the United States is providing Jordan with 10 million dollars in aid, it prefers to limit its military help to small arms and similar equipment.

The informants said Britain, which has supplied Jordan with tanks in the past, probably will agree to sell or give the Middle East nation several Centurions.

King Hussein of Jordan was said to have made the request for tanks several weeks ago, before a clique of pro-Soviet officers took control in Syria. The King previously had accused Syria and Egypt of plotting to overthrow him last spring.

In Damascus, Syrian Foreign Minister Salah Bitar said no formal invitation would be extended to U. S. Undersecretary of State Loy Henderson to visit Syria but that "Syria's door is open to any sincere fact-finding visitor."

Henderson, who flew to Turkey last week after the shift in power in Syria, has given no indication that he had any idea of going to Syria. Bitar said he hoped Henderson's rush trip has no other aim than "collecting accurate information about the Arab national liberation policy of Syria."

Bitar also criticized the United States for taking the view that "our nationalism is a tool to serve communism — that this positive neutralism policy is one subservient to the Soviet Union."

He declared Syria's cooperation with Eastern countries "does not mean we do not want to cooperate with Western powers."

Women Will Play Golf With a Mine Detector

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Two golfing ladies will play the nine-hole Coolidge golf course today — swinging a mine detector instead of golf clubs.

They will be looking for a half-carat diamond solitaire ring.

Mrs. Geri Johannsen, 23, said she gave the ring to a friend, Mrs. Joan Sheeter, 24, when it pinched her finger while they were playing golf. The ring wasn't discovered missing until they had finished the round.

Electrical Workers Blast AFL-CIO, GE

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Julius Emspak, secretary-treasurer of the United Electrical Workers, said AFL-CIO leaders are "going farther than General Electric in doing away with the Bill of Rights."

Emspak's attack came yesterday after the UE, expelled from the CIO in 1949 on charges of Communist domination, heard its leaders say they would continue to refuse to cooperate with the Senate Rackets Committee.

Addressing the Union's national convention, Emspak said GE's policy was to fire workers who take the Fifth Amendment before congressional committees. He said the AFL-CIO leaders have similarly removed union officials who have used the Fifth Amendment.

Few U.S. Homes Have Good Light

Causes Seeing Efficiency to Be Further Reduced, Researchers Say

The ABC's of good lighting go hand in hand with the ABC's of learning.

More than 80 per cent of American homes are inadequately lighted for general living, let alone for the precise seeing requirements of study and hobbies

Poor lighting, institute researchers say, can further reduce seeing efficiency for the more than 25 per cent of school-age children known to have defective eyesight.

Avoid using a single lamp to light a study desk while leaving the rest of the room dark. This arrangement, the institute points out, promotes eyestrain and fatigue. It also reduces studying efficiency.

Two light sources are best — one at each end of the desk, or from a single long light source across the desk or study area.

One way is to use wall or off-center ceiling fixtures. This also reduces desk clutter and adds working space.

Another effective lighting idea is to install a fluorescent wall bracket with two 15 or 20-watt tubes, shaded by a faceboard. Mounted 6 inches out from the wall, the bracket throws light up on the wall and down on the desk, eliminating harsh hard-on-the eyes contrasts.

Place the desk or table facing a light - colored wall. The wall will reflect more light on the work area and create a better seeing environment. Make sure the desk or table surface work area is light colored. A light-tinted blotter helps avoid strong contrasts. Avoid glass tops on desks or tables. They reflect glare into the eyes.

If the two-wall fixture idea is used, arrange the fixtures so that the sockets are 22 inches apart. Lower the shade to 15 inches above the desk top. Each fixture should have a 6-inch diffusing bowl, translucent shade and 100-watt lamp.

Chronic Ills Top Public Health Woes

(Ray Henry has asked a group of specialists in the Public Health Service, the government's chief health agency, to tell some of the things being done to keep people healthy and happy when they get old. This is the fifth of a series.)

By
DR. ARNOLD B. KURLANDER
Assistant to U. S. Surgeon General
Public Health Service

Chronic diseases are the most serious public health problem in the United States today.

They include diseases of the heart, mental disorders, rheumatism, diabetes, glaucoma and other eye diseases causing blindness, asthma and chronic diseases of the respiratory system.

Through the whole range of these diseases it is the older population that suffers most. While 3.5 per cent of the entire population is disabled from long-term chronic disease, the proportion among people 65 and over is 17.1 per cent, or more than two million persons.

An all-out marshalling of community resources in public health and private medical practice is required to stem this heavy drain on our nation's health.

The objective would be the prevention of premature disability resulting from chronic illness.

GAINS AGAINST DIABETES

Detection programs now going on in various sections of the country are recording real gains in uncovering diabetes. For example, during the past two years 70,000 persons have been screened for diabetes in Washington, D.C. Nearly 500 new cases were found.

Since diabetes affects some two million people in our country and only half of these are known cases, efforts to screen the population should be multiplied many times. Especially, since it is estimated that 100,000 new cases of diabetes occur yearly.

Glaucoma detection programs, too, are succeeding in uncovering unknown cases of this disease predominantly affecting older persons. For example: eye examinations conducted recently in Philadelphia resulted in two per cent of the 10,000 persons examined being diagnosed as having the disease.

Glaucoma causes more than 12 per cent of all the nation's blindness. It's preventable by public health methods.

Programs of this type can do much to cut down the amount of disability and chronic illness that develops among older people.

CARE, REHABILITATION

While the basic approach must be preventive, adequate care and rehabilitation of the chronically ill person are equally important.

Rehabilitation should be given not only to those who may be able to return to work, but those who may only be helped to take care of themselves.

It is true that adequate institutional facilities are not available in some parts of the country to give care and rehabilitation services. But, in communities where this situation exists, greater emphasis can be placed on developing services for care in and around the home.

Home care service that can be given the chronically ill is illustrated by a jointly sponsored program undertaken recently by the Visiting Nurse Association and the Wayne County Medical Society in Detroit. Through this program patients of private physicians are provided all necessary supporting services for care in their homes.

The Benjamin Rose Institute in Cleveland is an example of a private social agency giving home care as part of a system of medical care to people over 65. The Institute pays private physicians on a fee for service basis and obtains auxiliary services from other agencies.

(Questions on Social Security problems may be addressed to "Social Security," in care of The Pontiac Press. Questions will be answered by mail from the Pontiac office of the Social Security Administration. There is no charge for this service.)

False Alarms Pay Off to Firemen's Fund

DENVER (INS) — The Denver Fireman's retirement fund is richer by $1,000 because of two false alarms.

A Houston, Tex., man sent the check to the firemen's fund in payment for two long-distance false alarms he called in as a gag.

Engines Cover Ground

MONTREAL — It is estimated that some of the engines in use on the Canadian railroads build up as much mileage as 16,000 miles within 30 days.

Police and Firemen Getting More Pay

Cities are hiring more policemen and firemen and paying them higher salaries. So reports the International City Managers' Association in the Municipal Year Book.

Tabulations show that newly-hired firemen are paid on the average from $40 to $261 per year more than recruits were paid in 1956 depending on the city's size. Police recruits earn an average of $51 to $326 more per year than the year before.

Maximum salaries currently average $5,220 for policemen and firemen in cities over 500,000 population, tapering down to $4,000 maximum for policemen and $3,960 for firemen in cites of 10,000 to 25,000.

Treason is the only crime defined in the Constitution of the United States.

American Lawyer Observes:

Japanese Court Dignified; Cameras Not Permitted

(Famed San Francisco attorney and author Melvin Belli is in Japan observing the Girard trial for INS to put the legal issues into focus for the layman. In the following article Belli discusses the first session of this heralded trial.)

By MELVIN M. BELLI

MAEBASHI, Japan (INS)—None of the outisde carnival hullabulloo was allowed to spill over into the trial courtroom of the three dignified Japanese judges trying William S. Girard.

To this American trial lawyer, the morning proceeding could almost have been any arraignment day in any American court.

The only jarring incident was the episode of a visiting American federal judge who couldn't gain admission to the court-room and angrily announced:

"If any of these judges ever came to my courtroom, I'd not only invite the minto court but allow them to sit on the bench with me."

The four interpreters took their place before the three black-robed Japanese jursists. Each Japanese interperter affixed his thumbprint to a court document before commencing his duty of court interpretation.

The presiding judge gave a kindly but firm admonition against sketching or picture-taking. Note-taking is not allowed by spectators in a Japanese court-room.

The arraignment was similar to that in any American court, name, place of birth, age, but when it came to the spelling of "Illinois" the interpreter took three trial runs before he got himself firmly placed on the track.

WORDY INDICTMENT

The indictment is more wordy than the American presenting document. Deefnse lawyer Hayashi, in a typically American manner, immediately attacked the indictment. It was thrust and parry as to what specific words meant, how much was "short range" and specific attack was addressed at "and so forth."

Most graciously back and forth procurator and defense counsel requested and explained the indictment with the presiding judge looking on more as a benign overseer than jurist.

The presiding judge warned Girard in language typically reminiscent of the U.S. Constitution's fifth amendment, that he could remain mute or speak. But if he spoke his words might be used against him.

Girard chose not to remain silent. He consulted briefly with Hayashi, then spoke the words that, in an American court-room, are generally awaited until the end of the trial.

This was the first big departure I noticed from English-American court-room procedure.

But the judges listened intently to Girard's translated remarks indicating not only his lack of guilt but his lack of any intent to injure.

"THE FOX" SCORES

Another departure, rather humorous, from American procedure is "The Fox" Hayashi's hand out of mimeographed press releases whenever he makes a point. "I just happened to have one printed here, your honor," is the import translated.

The procurator was apparently caught flat-footed. His public relations office had not been working overtime. He had nothing printed to hand out.

The morning's session closed with the most unusual spectable of a Japanese lawyer who has all along indicated Girard should be tried by the Japanese courts now making the lawyer-like plea that the Japanese courts have no jurisdiction.

He wants to have the Jananese courts now decide what the U.S. Supreme Court only skirted: Was Girard on duty at the time of the shooting?

Nixon May Visit Western Europe

Good Will Tour Among NATO Nations Possible for Autumn Season

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice-president Nixon is reported considering a good will visit to Western Europe as special representative of President Eisenhower some time this fall.

No firm decision to undertake such a tour has been made yet. But, Nixon is known to have discussed it in general terms with top Eisenhower administration officials.

The trip, if it comes off, would be a follow-up to Nixon's 10-nation African swing in March.

Several Western European countries, including France, are reported to have expressed keen interest in a visit by Nixon after Congress adjourns. The French invited Nixon to visit Paris Sept. 5 for a celebration commemorating the 200th anniversary of the birth of Lafayette, the French patriot who helped the United States win its independence from Britain.

Nixon informed the French via the State Department that he could not accept the invitation at that time. But the French reply made it clear that the invitation for him to visit was still open whenever he desired to accept it.

Nixon is reported to have a keen desire to visit the Western European countries. In previous good will tours, he has traveled to Asia, Central America and Africa, but has yet to tour the nations that form the foundation of the Atlantic Pact allies.

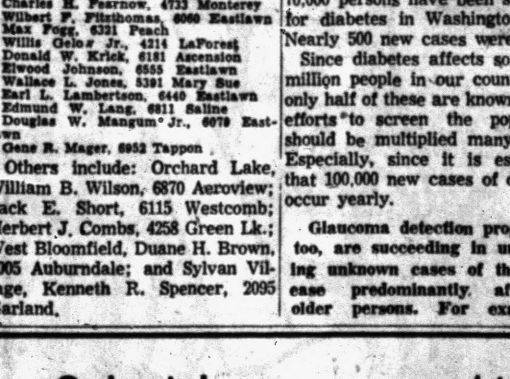

Nixon and his wife, who accompanied him on the African tour this spring, did stop off in Italy for an informal two-day visit.

Singapore Now Spends Money to Fight Opium

SINGAPORE (AP) — The little man in the crowded cell had been a prisoner for a long time. But his real jailer was opium.

It was a steaming hot day, yet his scrawny body shivered. Like his cellmates on adjoining cots, he clutched a blanket.

The little man was going through the first week of trying to break the opium habit.

Opium pellets are still for sale in Singapore's crowded Chinatown, but the picture has brightened considerably in the past 10 years.

When the United Nations called on the world's governments in 1947 to crack down on drug traffic, Singapore was one of the worst offenders. Opium sales were a colony monopoly and a good part of the profits went to municipal coffers.

In 32 years the government had earned more than 23 million dollars. Some of Singapore's millionaires had amassed their fortunes through legitimate opium sales.

Now Singapore is spending more than $150,000 a year to curb opium selling and addiction. It is an uphill fight, says Maj. William Sochon, Singapore's prison commissioner.

Sochon says a prime expenditure is maintenance of the opium treatment center at St. John's Island, a prison hospital near Singapore where police help addicts fight the habit.

St. John's opened two years ago. Since then it has checked 2,240 potential inmates. Those who were too old, too sick or hopeless were rejected. The remaining 900 were treated.

A pipe of opium costs about 35 cents. A real addict smokes about 20 pipes a day. Petty crime helps many addicts meet expenses.

The government estimates that some 5,000 opium smokers exist in Singapore. Most of their supply comes from Thailand, Communist China, Laos and the Middle East.

An addict on St. John's realizes that here is his last big chance. If he goes back to opium upon release and is caught, he will go to jail.

Heal says there have been only 28 recorded failures.

Dems Criticize Europe Oil Aid

Claim Administration Gave Up Foreign Policy Responsibilities

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democrats on a Senate subcommittee say the U. S. oil lift to Europe last winter enabled participating petroleum firms to pick up extra profits on a program they called of "doubtful legality."

The majority report of the antitrust subcommittee also said the oil program amounted to an administration abdication of its foreign policy responsibilities to oil corporations.

But Sen. Dirksen (R-Ill) defended the oil lift as a success and said the subcommittee report was based partly on unwarranted charges and ill-founded information.

Still another view was expressed by Sen. Wiley (R-Wis), who said he could not agree with the report's "extreme criticism" of the administration and could not accept "complete exoneration of the oil companies urged by Sen. Dirksen."

After Egypt seized the Suez Canal last year, the U. S. government gave 15 major oil companies immunity from antitrust laws and enabled them to join in a program to move large quantities of petroleum to Western Europe.

The companies organized the Middle East Emergency Committee.

Isolated Youngsters Go to Unique School

Some youngsters don't know where their next lesson is coming from. It may come by way of muleback, helicopter or dogsled.

These students are isolated or homebound children in this country or offspring of parents working and traveling abroad. They depend on the mailman to deliver their 25-pound package of learning.

More than 8,000 children without access to regular schools are enrolled in the Calvert School of Baltimore. The home study courses are designed and pretested in the day school in Baltimore, which has about 400 pupils.

Thus, a Calvert student in Baltimore, one on an isolated ranch in the Southwest, or a student in Bangkok follow the same course of study.

Each package course has its textbooks, work materials, even pencils and erasers. A daily teaching guide aids the home instructor.

Hal Boyle Says:

Former Star, Hunter, to Visit Forest Hills

NEW YORK (AP)—When the U. S. National Tennis Tournament gets under way at Forest Hills Friday, among the spectators will be one of the great stars of the sport in an earlier day

"It'll be a busman's holiday for me," said Frank Hunter, who won the world's doubles titles in 1927 with Bill Tilden and was ranked by Tilden as among the 15 best tennis players of all time.

Although now past 60, Hunter still keeps an active interest in tennis, which he says has been "a wonderful calling card all my life.

"The pros today are playing the best tennis that has ever been played. The game is faster now because the whole emphasis is on net play.

"The best of the modern players is Pancho Gonzales, but I think that, on the record, Tilden was the greatest player the game has ever known, although he played a different type of game.

"A champion plays as well as it is necessary for him to play in order to win, and Tilden was a champion who could meet any emergency."

Hunter, now president of "21" Brands, Inc., a liquor concern, was a stocky, aggressive player himself, famous for his powerful forearm smash. He ranked second to Tilden in 1927 through 1929, quit the game in 1936.

"I gave up when I found I was six inches short on the overhead shots and missing the long reach shots by a foot," he said, smiling "It's not much fun to continue playing a sport when you know you've passed your peak.

"I think that is the mistake some players make now. They stay in competitive tennis too long after it's clear they are not really going anywhere."

After putting away his tennis racquet, Hunter turned to the golf club and the rifle. He still has trouble breaking 80 on the links, but has become one of the nation's more renowned bird and big game hunters.

Frank has one of the most fabulous penthouse apartments in New York atop an old West 52nd St. brownstone, built by a railroad tycoon who didn't like to be kept waiting when he wanted something.

"He kept 22 servants in the place," said Frank.

The penthouse has a waterfall in one corner of the roof—wonderful idea in hot weather—and is stocked with more than a hundred stuffed birds and animals that Frank has triggered down on hunting trips. They include diverse oddities such as a crow, a 12-foot-9-inch kodiak bear and a peacock.

"I've been shooting for more than 25 years," said Frank, who is leaving for Africa in January on a safari to pick up a lion, buffalo and elephant. "You can't build a trophy room in a day. It's a matter of evolution."

His biggest prize is giant moose head with thoughtful brown eyes and a 58-inch spread of antlers.

"Only four inches short of the record," Hunter murmured regretfully.

Among the 30 or more silver cups and plates he brought home from his tennis wars is one that Hunter loves to show to visitors It was given to him years ago by "Jack and Charlie," proprietors of the 21 restaurant. It is a silver statue of man hurling a silver bull by the horns and is engraved:

"To the outstanding bull thrower of cafe society."

Political Appointments

Senator Defends President on Ambassador Conflicts

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R-NJ) today disputed the contention of Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont) that President Eisenhower was "either uninformed or just plain naive" in saying political contributions don't influence ambassadorial appointments.

Mansfield, a Senate Foreign Relations Committee member, told the Senate yesterday it was "silly" for Eisenhower to contend that such contributions played no part in diplomatic appointments.

Speaking of Eisenhower, Mansfield said: "Of course he knows—or ought to know—about the connection and he can do something about it."

Smith, also a member of the Foreign Relations Committee, said he is satisfied Eisenhower has not been influenced in his appointments by contributions that nominees may have made to Republican campaign funds.

"I don't think, however, that the President meant to imply that such people are not qualified or should be barred from diplomatic appointments," Smith said. "I don't share the view that only career men should fill these posts."

Eisenhower told a July 31 news conference that if anybody ever was recommended to him "on the basis of any contribution he has ever made to any political party, that man will never be considered." The President added he didn't take very kindly suggestions that he would be influenced by such contributions.

Smith said he agrees with Mansfield that Congress must share part of the responsibility for the appointment of relatively rich men to represent the United States in countries where entertainment costs are too high for most career diplomats.

Mansfield noted that the House Appropriations Committee had cut in half the State Department's request for $1,200,000 in diplomatic expense allowances and that the Senate had lost its fight to restore some of the funds.

Hemlines Climbing; Aura of '20s in Paris Styles

A one-piece dress that looks like a two-part ensemble is Guy LaRoche's contribution to the fall fashion scene. Done in pumpkin yellow wool crepe, the sleek sheath dress has an overdress that falls straight from a high bosom line.

United Press Photos

PARIS: "Lady Longlegs" or "short and getting shorter" epitomizes the skirt lengths in Paris this season. True enough, Dior's are only calf-revealing BUT hemlines at most other houses are running a climbing race, with some skirts showing as much as 19 inches of milady's stocking.

Many evening gowns reveal the kneebone in front, with panel trains or stiffened sweeps trailing the ground in back.

The aura of the '20s surrounds the collections with Balenciaga, Givenchy and Dior giving a 1957 twist to lowered, loosened waistlines and presenting modern versions of the fringed, beaded Charleston dress.

BELTS AT HIP LEVEL

Other reminders of this doleful era are finger - tip length shaped jackets at Balmain and Heim . . . the late day dresses at Dior with wide, loose belts at hip level above long, straight skirts . . . wrap-around coats — trimmed with long-haired fur at Patou and Balmain, sleeveless and tightly cape-collared at Lanvin-Castillo . . . cloche hats at Patou . . . closely draped turbans at Balmain.

Coats in Paris are deliberately bulky; can be best pictured if you think of an inverted triangle . . . wide through the shoulders and narrowed at the hem.

A bow-tied drawstring belt accentuates the lowered waistline of Christian Dior's gray wool topcoat. Big gray buttons trim the patch pockets above the waist and the slash pockets below. The seven-eighths length coat is worn over a matching jumper.

Many coating fabrics have a homespun look and are heavy beyond belief — others, such as Ascher's mohair and nylon blends (one version crinkly and nubby, the other long-haired and silky) are immensely supple, almost weightless but with a look of extreme bulk. Castillo opened his collection for Lanvin with five coats in these fabrics.

LONG JACKETS

Long jackets made news in suits, with wrist-length and semi-fitted ones leading, but straight and belted ones shown as well. Skirts are mostly narrow, sometimes tapered.

Emerging from all of the clothes chatter in Paris is the word "chemise" . . . currently being used to describe the season's newest dresses. They are simple in line, with just the barest suggestion of the figure beneath.

Many at Balenciaga, Givenchy and Dior fall straight and loose from the shoulder line — others are fitted in front and loose in back. Still others have the barest indication of a waistline, often marked by seaming or set-on fabric belts. Necklines are most often plain and round, sleeves are tiny — if used at all.

The fabric story is two-fold this season. There is "soft touch" group, sleek pile fabrics, velours, broadcloths, flannels and literally multitudes of crepes. There also are rustic tweeds, nattes, serges and imitation hand knits with surfaces resembling classic knitting stitches for the homespun look in weaves.

The collarless cardigan goes out at night as Pierre Balmain sets a long-sleeved V-necked cardigan atop a floor-length evening gown. Both are done in pansy blue chiffon. The cardigan covers a sleeveless dress with easy cowl neckline.

Braillist Does Job for U.S.

Lack of Sight Fails to Handicap Happy Alice Rohrback

By ANNETTE DAVIS
(For Jane Eads)

WASHINGTON — Every morning, at 8:30, a slightly greying woman in her mid-50s makes her way through the labyrinthine corridors of the Library of Congress.

She is Miss Alice Rohrback, who has worked at the library for 20 years. She has been blind since infancy.

Behind her cloudy glasses, Miss Rohrback gives the impression of a warm and cheerful woman, interested in everything, without a moment to think about herself.

TEACHES BRAILLE

As senior braillist at the Library of Congress, she conducts correspondence courses in braille for sighted volunteers. When they have completed the course, the volunteers hand-copy books in braille to add to the library's collection. Miss Rohrback says about 250 volumes are contributed each year.

She also offers a course for the blind in braille proof reading. Graduates of the course receive a small fee for proof reading books for the library.

Miss Rohrback says many more books are available in braille today than when she attended Hood College, Frederick, Md., in the mid-1920s. "Everything had to be read to me," she recalled.

After receiving her B.A. degree in English and social science, she did postgraduate work at the Perkins Institute for the Blind.

CITED FOR WORK

In 1952 she was cited by Hood as woman of the year for her work with the blind.

Miss Rohrback, in her daily living, is almost completely self-sufficient. She lives alone in a small apartment four blocks from the library and prepares her own breakfast and dinner.

She admits it took courage to learn to light a gas oven. She solved the problem by holding the match over the oven hole and moving the box to strike the match.

"You learn to get along if you have to," she says, which just about sums up her philosophy of life.

When I saw Miss Rohrback, she was looking forward to a vacation in the country. She was also anxious to visit her pet mongrel dog, Sporty, which she keeps on her sister's farm.

She has never had a seeing-eye dog she said, "because I love dogs too much to keep one in an office all day."

Typical of coats in the fall collection of Guy LaRoche, this attractive tartan is a one-piece garment that looks like a two-piece ensemble. The double-breasted coat has a pleated skirt that begins just below the natural waistline.

Breakdown on Teenage Male Styles

Here's a quick breakdown on what you teenage youths will be wearing these early fall days when you're just plain loafing. Remember, you can make your regular clothes last longer . . . and look better, too . . . if you keep to casual clothes when lazying around.

Sport shirts—Ivy button-down collars preferred in solids, neat checks, plaids and stripes . . . also wool jersey sweater-shirts, the kind that sport convertible collars. Last but not least in importance — turtle necks! Red's the hot color this fall—no matter what the style.

Sweaters — Crew necks in Shetland wool are as much a part of the high school scene 'as chem lab.' Their informal air, combined with their downright pleasure, insure their continued popularity. Team a crew-neck Shetland with a pair of striped wool flannel slacks — back strapped — and you'll be up there with the best of them.

The bulky-knit wool cardigan in the colors of your high school is also in the casual mood. And don't forget that shawl collar bulky-knit wool pullover sweater. This fall it vies with the crew neck for lots of attention. A good idea is to have a sleeveless wool slip-over to wear with sports coats.

Shoes and socks — Chukka boots, rough buck bluchers, buckle-strap slip-ons are this fall's favorites, and with them go colorful wool argyles or white wool socks. Why wool socks? Because they absorb perspiration and last longer.

Suburban coats — You can choose from three top-drawer fashions — the ribbed look, hooded jackets or tweeds — and lucky is the lad who combines all three in one handsome suburban coat. You'll go just about everywhere in it.

But pick one out that ends just above the knee, and for real winter comfort make sure it has a pile or wool-quilted lining. More about suburban coats later on when the weather gets cold.

At cocktail hour Christian Dior shortens the skirt to reveal shapely legs and lowers the neckline for a dazzling show of shoulders. This velvet-dotted black rayon net concoction has a long torso line that hugs the figure and yet gives the illusion of a dropped waistline. A fluffy collar matches the bouffant skirt.

Pierre Cardin's "lasso line" sends the back of a red wool coat billowing into dramatic drapery at the back hem. For contrast the front is perfectly flat and double-breasted. The draped collar is high, wide and handsome.

Tip for Home Decorator: Buy Plain Classic Lamps

By INTERNATIONAL NEWS

Every detail counts in furnishing a room attractively.

For example, Mabel Schamberg, dean of American women decorators, believes that many room schemes are disrupted by the choice of table lamps.

"The number of table lamps depends on the size of the room and the amount of light needed," she said.

"But the safest rule to follow in selecting lamps is to choose ones that are classic, and perfectly plain, with no ornamental treatment.

"Also vary the shapes of the lamp bases."

Miss Schamberg herself prefers silver luster bases or plain white ceramic. Her other tip:

Joy in Living Is Secret of Charm

By ANNE HEYWOOD

What is charm?

Many people quote James Barrie's little gem, that if you have charm, you don't need anything else and if you don't have it, it doesn't matter what else you have.

But I consider that explanation of no help at all. It makes the whole proposition seem so hopeless. And it isn't hopeless, really.

I've seen many people who were dull in the extreme, turn out to be perfectly charming. The thing that did the trick was finding an interest that made life absolutely fascinating.

HERE'S SECRET

For that reason, my definition of charm is: If you find life interesting, charming and fascinating, you yourself will be interesting, charming and fascinating.

Ginny is an example of this. She isn't pretty, nor particularly gifted, but she is full of charm.

When she was first married, her husband's firm stationed them in a large and not very friendly city on the East Coast. The only other Company people there were much older and quite stuffy. Neither Ginny nor her husband had any friends in the city and they were a good thousand miles from their own homes and families.

WOULDN'T BE DOWNED

In such a situation most young brides would be miserable. The company frowned on working wives. However, Ginny was such a wonderful housewife, purchaser, cook and seamstress that it was much cheaper to have her at home than in an office where she had no particular skills.

Ginny would get her work done in the morning, easily, and would have all afternoon free. With no friends and little money, life could have been pretty dreary. But Ginny is interested in things. For example, she loves Victorian houses. Back home, her grandmother had one.

She soon discovered that this particular city was full of Victorian architecture. She went to the library and the historical society and got lists of the choice ones. Then she dug out her old box camera and began taking pictures.

MADE A FRIEND

Ginny isn't a very good photographer. One day a charming older woman saw her taking a shot of a house, shuddered at her sloppy technique and offered to help. Ginny emerged with excellent pictures and with a new friend, who turned out to be socially prominent in the city. She introduced Ginny and her husband to a whole group of fascinating people.

That was only the beginning. Ginny frequently met the people whose houses she was photographing. They were flattered by her interest but, more than that, her unabashed fascination with houses and with life itself was so contagious, that stuffy, pokerface people were known to melt almost immediately.

"You're lucky to have such a charming wife," people are always telling Ginny's husband. But Ginny's kind of charm is within the reach of anybody who will make it a point to get interested in something!

Dessalee Temple Speaks Her Vows

Baskets of white gladioli and pom pons decorated the altar of Bethany Baptist Church for the 3 p.m. wedding Saturday of Dessalee Mae Temple and Gerald Evens Albright. The Rev. Nelson Dalenberg, Pastor Emeritus of Warren Avenue Presbyterian Church of Saginaw, performed the ceremony.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Temple of Oak Hill street, and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Irene Albright of South Genesee avenue.

For her wedding the bride chose a ballerina-length gown of nylon embroidered tulle over taffeta featuring a fitted basque waist and full skirt of embroidered tulle.

The gown was fashioned with a sweetheart neckline and short embroidered sleeves. Her fingertip veil of French illusion fell from a cap of sequins and seed pearls. The bride carried a cascade arrangement of white carnations, rosebuds and stephanotis.

WEARS PINK COTTON

Patricia Barner, as maid of honor, wore a pink cotton gown which featured a square neckline, puff sleeves, a bouffant skirt and a pink nylon organdy cummerbund caught in back with a large bow. She carried a bouquet of pink and white daisies.

A bridesmaid, Nancy Turnbull, was gowned exactly like the maid of honor. Valerie Durnen and Arlene Rice of Bloomfield Hills also served as attendants. They wore pink candy stripe cotton gowns fashioned like the other attendants.

Nancy Scott of Bad Axe was the flower maid. She wore a white nylon organdy dress fashioned with a cummerbund of pink nylon organdy. Her headpiece was a silver band with pink and white daisies at the side. She carried a white basket with an arrangement of pink and white daisies.

Serving as best man was a cousin, James Cook of Royal Oak. Charles Bryan, William McLarty and LaVern Bassett of Ypsilanti seated the guests.

For a reception held in the church parlors the bride's mother chose a pink lace dress and Dior blue accessories with a cymbidium orchid corsage. Mrs. Albright wore a Dior blue dress with mauve accessories and a corsage of cymbidium orchids.

TRIP TO CANADA

For a trip through Canada and New England states the new Mrs. Albright had changed to a deep green sheath dress with patent accessories and a white feathered carnation corsage. The couple will live in Ypsilanti.

The bride attends Eastern Michigan College where she is affiliated with Sigma Sigma Sigma Sorority. The bridegroom also attends Eastern where he is a member of Phi Sigma Epsilon.

Dessalee Mae Temple and Gerald Evens Albright were married Saturday in Bethany Baptist Church. She is the daughter of the T. H. Temples, and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Irene Albright.

Cookies Call for Syrup and Sugar

By JANET ODELL

More cookie recipes from our 4H Fair girls—we won't be through with them for another week or so. This one comes from Catherine Van Buren of Rochester.

Only thirteen years old, Catherine has been in 4H work for three years. She won four blue and three red ribbons at the Fair this year. Catherine gardens and raises rabbits.

MAPLE NUT COOKIES
By Catherine Van Buren

1½ cups dark brown sugar
½ cup butter
2 tablespoons milk
1 egg and 1 egg yolk
1 teaspoon vanilla
½ cup maple flavored corn syrup
2½ cups flour
1 teaspoon baking powder

Mix ingredients in order given. Beat together well. The dough will be rather sticky. Chill for at least an hour.

Roll into balls the size of a walnut. Flatten with a glass dipped in sugar if necessary to prevent sticking. Sprinkle with nuts. Bake on greased cookie sheet for 8-10 minutes in 350-degree oven.

Attend Funeral

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Diener, Mrs. Paul Zerba and children of Scott Lake, Mr. and Mrs. Lester H. Smith, and Mrs. Franklin Hartman and children of Watkins Lake road attended the funeral of their grandmother, Mrs. Lucinda Cope of Flint recently.

Here's How to Deal With It

Don't Avoid Problem of Halitosis

BY JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Though we tend to avoid the subject of halitosis, we might as well be realistic about this! As advertiser's claim, it is a great handicap in business, social life, and in our more intimate relationships.

During the teen years it can be ruinous to the budding ego and make one insecure and self-concious. In mature years it also can have a drastic effect.

Often the victim of bad breath does not know he is a victim. Certainly a member of his family or a close friend should tell him. However, folks seem to be the bearer of this sort of bad news. Sometimes even husbands and wives procrastinate.

It's a funny truth. People will tell their friends the most awful things others say about them, or that they look ill or that they should NEVER wear the color they are wearing, but they seldom tell them that their breath is unbearable. They let them go right ahead gradually isolating themselves.

CHECK ON TEETH

There are many causes. Disagreeable as it is to contemplate, decaying food will make the breath unpleasant. Not only should the teeth be carefully brushed at least twice a day but dental floss should be used. This removes food particles which may have lodged between the teeth. There are many antiseptic mouth washes on the market and one of these may also help.

Of course decayed teeth will lead to bad breath. A visit to your dentist at least every six months in essential.

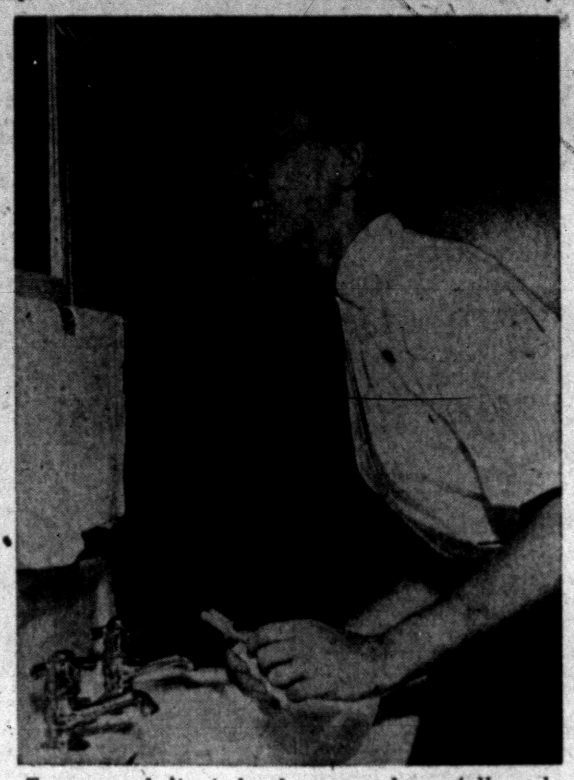

If your teeth are susceptible to decaying even though you give them good care, you should see your dentist every three or four months. It would save you a lot of trouble, a lot of money, and a lot of teeth.

Indigestion and diseased tonsils, adenoids or sinuses, also can cause halitosis. Of course foods which are highly seasoned with garlic or onions, or too much smoking, will spoil the fragrance of a breath. However, these latter are temporary and can be controlled.

Unless you find that you can overcome halitosis with improved dental and mouth hygiene, you should visit your physician for a complete checkup.

To prevent halitosis brush your teeth carefully at least wice a day. Also use dental floss.

Ice Cream Purchase Questioned

Impolite for Child to Gobble Treat as Friends Look On

BY EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: The other afternoon I went to visit a friend with my three children. This friend has only one child. We were sitting out on the porch when the ice cream man came through. Of course all the children asked for ice cream. I said 'no' to my children as they had had ice cream earlier that day and I don't believe in giving them ice cream every time they ask for it.

"My friend, however, gave her child money to buy ice cream for himself, and my children had to sit and watch him eat it. I thought she showed very bad manners by doing this and should have waited until we had gone to get him ice cream. What is your opinion?"

Answer: As the ice-cream man probably does not go by often, I do not think your friend should be criticized for letting her child buy his ice cream. I do think, however, that she should have told him to put it in the freezer compartment of the refrigerator to eat later.

"Dear Mrs. Post: How should a married woman's name be written in a register that is sometimes provided by the funeral directors as a record to turn over to the family later?"

Answer: Write your name whichever way the family knows you. If Mary Smith might confuse them, then write Mrs. John Smith. It is not the same as signing a message, in which case of course it would be improper to use your title as part of your signature.

"Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please tell me if it is correct to wear a wrist watch with a tuxedo or tails?"

Answer: An inconspicuous flat one — yes.

Expand Interests to Avoid Boredom in Marriage

Make New Friends, Take Vacations —and Always Count Your Blessings

By RUTH MILLETT

It's good for a marriage—

For a husband and wife to keep making new friends. When they limit their social life to a tight little group, they soon become bored with and supercritical of their few friends.

For both the husband and wife to take a separate vacation occasionally. After even the briefest separation, each sees the other with a new awareness.

For small hurts and resentments to be dealt with as they come along, instead of smoothed over and stored up.

For a husband and wife to count their blessings. There's too much talk in most homes about what the couple is still striving to get and not enough about what they already have.

For a couple deliberately to seek new experiences. It's the finest way in the world to keep life from becoming too routine.

BE PARTNERS

For a husband and wife to shop together for the furniture and equipment that goes into their home. A man's home is sure to mean more to him if he helps choose the things that go into it.

For a wife to know as much as possible about her husband's business. A wife who feels like a partner is more understanding of the demands of her husband's job.

For a couple to plan together for the future, instead of just drifting along trying to meet today's bills and obligations.

LUANNE AUDREY WHITE

Mr. and Mrs. Peter N. White of Three Rivers announce the engagement of their daughter, Luanne Audrey, to Donald M. Scott. The prospective bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Daniel M. Scott of East Rutgers avenue. The bride-elect attended Western Michigan University and Nazareth College. Her fiance attends Western Michigan University. A spring wedding is planned.

Make Bath Time Fun for Junior

Here's a new way to make junior's bath a privilege instead of a chore. Tell him about the adventurous voyage the water has taken to finally arrive in his very own bathtub.

He'll be fascinated to imagine that raindrops are tiny parachuting soldiers falling out of the sky, landing on the ground, marshalling their forces, then running in a mighty rush to the reservoir—and finally plunging through pipes to await the command for action.

What youngster could refrain from summoning such an army to battle, using plenty of soapsuds as his super-weapon against the enemy—dirt.

If you want to look as pretty as your garden, get the habit of laundering your gardening clothes after each use.

'Plants' Come Clean

To clean artificial Ming trees, fill a wash basin with light soap or detergent suds and immerse the plant container. "Spill" suds over the plant with a cup, working quickly so that the moisture won't loosen the glued parts. Rinse, shake off excess water, and air dry.

Bannock, a staple of Indian diet in the far north, is made by frying large flour and water cakes over a hot fire.

Club Elects New Officers

Mrs. Samuel H. Sprague was elected president of Zone 8, Past Presidents' Club, MOMS, when the group met at the home of Mrs. Arthur Burgess of Joslyn road.

Mrs. George Funk was named vice president, while Mrs. Emory Clark was named to the position of recording secretary. Assuming the duties of corresponding secretary is Mrs. E. E. Vanderlind.

Named to the office of treasurer was Mrs. Frank Polasek and Mrs. Cleve Raymond was elected historian. Mrs. L. R. Naugle was elected as chaplain, while Mrs. Burgess was named a director. Publicity chairman named was Mrs. Harry Luxom.

Leave Soap Film on White Shoes

When soiled white shoes require more than merely another coat of polish, wash them with a sudsy brush. Instead of rinsing off all the soap or detergent, leave a light film of suds on the shoes. Apply a new coat of polish over this.

Then, when it's time to wash the old polish off again, that undercoating of sudsy film makes the job twice as easy. It helps remove the old polish, and you can start the fresh polishing job with a clean surface to work on.

"I'd ask Linda to go but you never know when she is going to change her mind and back out at the last minute," one teenager said about another. And that is what usually happens to such a person. If you say you will go some place —then go.

DEDICATION SUNDAY — Gov. Williams and other dignitaries will be on hand at 7 p. m. Sunday for the dedication of the new Romeo Community Youth and Civic Center. The ceremony will precede the coronation of Peach Queen Carol Hall of Mt. Clemens, an hour later, in Memorial Stadium. The new center is one of three public buildings currently being built to serve the Romeo area. The other two are the new Romeo High School and the Community Hospital, both in early stages of construction.

Governor to Dedicate Romeo Center

By LEE WINBORN
Romeo Correspondent

ROMEO—This small community of about 3,000 is circling 1957 on its calendar as a year of unprecedented accomplishment.

The climax of five years of dreaming and planning has been reached here this month with construction of three much-needed public facilities now well underway.

The new Romeo High School, Community Youth and Civic Center and the Community hospital are fast becoming realities. The Youth center, begun early this spring, will be the first building to open its doors. Its dedication is set for 7 p.m. next Sunday as a highpoint of the three-day Peach Festival "Silver Jubilee" celebration.

Gov. G. Mennen Williams, other state, county and local dignitaries will be on hand for the event which will precede the coronation of Peach Queen Carol Hall of Mt. Clemens by the governor.

The other two facilities are due for completion early next spring. Groundbreaking ceremonies for the new hospital, designed to serve 13 communities within a 15-mile radius of the site, were held early in June. Its location is on Van Dyke (M-53) between Romeo and Almont.

Educators have realized the need for a new high school in the district for at least seven years. In 1950 a comprehensive bond issue which would have included a new high school in addition to other much-needed facilities was defeated. Since that time school officials have offered voters smaller bond issues for grade school and additions which have passed.

Still faced with the ever-increasing need for a new high school, a $750,000 bond issue to cover site acquistion, fees, and building construction was presented to district voters in April, 1956, and passed—by one vote.

A snag was hit when bids for the new building came in some $250,000 over the architect's estimates. The school board changed architects, started over with new plans and then the bids came in lower than anticipated, and construction began practically immediately.

Credit for the new hospital cannot be given solely to civic-minded citizens of Romeo who began working on the project over five years ago. It must necessarily include residents of all of the communities to be served by the new facility. They have all banded together to work for a common goal —to raise the standard of health in their respective areas.

One man may be singled out for spearheading the move for the youth center. He is Walter F. Sheetz, whose original contribution of basic building materials plus the 4.3 acres of land as the site for the center first prompted interested citizens to go to work on the project. He will lay the cornerstone on Sunday.

Termed "an outstanding example of community cooperation," the construction of the center has attracted countless local volunteer workmen as well as labor from as far away as Detroit. When completed, the building, land and equipment will reach an estimated value of $100,000.

It is pure coincidence that construction of the three buildings began this year, and even more remarkable that all three are being built without federal aid or monetary assistance from large business concerns which are limited in the Romeo area.

Widow, 10 Tots Aided by Public Now at Home

DRYDEN — This week will find Mrs. Leroy Waterman and her 10 children settled in their new home, rented from the Irvin Gill family of 4149 South Mill St.

The public will recall that Waterman was killed in a hay baler accident July 16. When news of the family's plight became known, everyone came to its assistance.

Through efforts of Dryden Vets, headed by Earl Faulds, clothing, shoes and other necessities were presented to the family.

Donations of money which came from Pontiac, Detroit, Drayton Plains, Orion and other neighboring towns have been placed in a fund for them in the First National Bank here.

Through the efforts of every church organization in Dryden, the family members will be located in the Gill home, together once again.

Since the tragedy, Mrs. Waterman and all of the younger tots have been at the home of her sister in Lakeville. The older children were placed with other relatives.

MR. AND MRS. JAMES PICKETT

Honeymoon in North Carolina

Pickett-Patton Vows Exchanged in Drayton

DRAYTON PLAINS — Following their honeymoon trip to North Carolina, the new Mr. and Mrs. James M. Pickett will make their home in Drayton Plains.

Sandra Dawn Patton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Patton of 6387 Hatchery Rd., Williams Lake, and James M., son of Mrs. Virginia Pickett of 4701 Kempf St., Drayton Plains, and the late James Pickett, exchanged solemn vows Friday evening in the United Presbyterian Church.

For her wedding, which was witnessed by 200 guests, the bride chose a white lace gown over skinner satin, wearing a single strand of pearls for her jewelry. Her bouquet was of white roses and carnations.

Barbara Lee Patton of Cass Lake, Mary Weakley of Pontiac, Audrey Reas of Watkins Lake and Karen Patton, sister of the bride, were her attendants.

Flower girl was a niece, Beverly Patton of Pontiac, and Michael Behl of Lake Orion bore the rings.

Acting as best man was Kenneth Swan of Pontiac. Other attendants were Darrell Patton, brother of the bride, Adin Noodel of Commerce and Jay Balten of Clarkston.

Two hundred persons attended the reception held afterward in the church parlors.

Addison Zoners Rule on New Applications

LAKEVILLE — The Addison Township Zoning Board here has ruled that all applications for zoning changes be submitted to the board in writing and be accompanied by schematic drawing and description of intended use.

Furthermore, they ruled, a minimum period of 10 days shall elapse between formal consideration and the approval or disapproval of application.

SEYMOUR LAKE—A committee chosen recently for the 1958 annual Seymour Lake Homecoming, includes the following:

Mrs. Dorothy Alleman of Oxford; Mrs. Paul Winklepleck and Howard Doebler, both of Seymour Lake, and the Rev. Isaac McPhee of Ortonville.

The recent homecoming, at the Seymour Lake Methodist Church, attracted 65 persons, some coming from as far as Wisconsin. The WSCS of the church served a chicken dinner.

'Big Paul' to Live Again

Village Event Is Tomorrow

Businessmen to 'Bring Back' Bunyan at Yearly Carnival Fete

By STANLEY BOK
Press Correspondent

UNION LAKE — This Oakland County "boomtown" located in the heart of a water playground area, takes time out tomorrow for a special celebration known as Paul Bunyan Day.

Union Lake village will take on a carnival atmosphere when festivities begin at 2 p.m.

Planned and sponsored by the Union Lake Businessmen's Assn., the event will feature the appearance of an outstanding circus act. Gerard Soules, known as "The Great Soules," will perform difficult maneuvers on a flying trapeze.

The outstanding act was brought to Union Lake through the efforts of Mrs. Bonnie Sebastion, an employe of the Union Lake Branch of the Community National Bank. Mrs. Sebastion is a relative of Soules.

No admission charge will be made for the aerial act.

At least 15 booths are being erected at the bank's parking lot to offer fun and entertainment to children and adults.

The booths will feature dart games, a shooting gallery, a "kissing" booth and a fishing game among other attractions.

Merchants have been passing out tickets for a host of prizes with purchases made at the village stores.

A merry-go-round will be in operation throughout the afternoon and evening.

A variety of refreshments will be available to the crowd.

Highlight of the evening will be a street dance with live music.

This is the second Paul Bunyan Day at Union Lake. It was inaugurated last November in conjunction with the opening of the first bank in the village.

The first celebration was a pronounced success. In all probability, Paul Bunyan Day will become an annual event for the public at Union Lake.

Chairman of this year's affair is Wayne Dengate.

BIG ENOUGH FOR PAUL BUNYAN?—Some of the stories circulated about Paul Bunyan may have grown as tall as some fish stories. True or not, the story that Paul Bunyan was a great big man leads Union Lake men to the task of finding their biggest pair of overalls. Serving as a model is Art Marohn, owner of Art's Variety Shop. Paul Bunyan Day will be celebrated at Union Lake village tomorrow with a host of activities scheduled to begin at 2 p. m.

Opening on Sept. 3

Gethsemene Lutheran School in Brooklumn has scheduled its opening for Tuesday, Sept. 3. Ronald Yungman, engaged as teacher for the school was welcomed at a recent reception given by the Walther League of the Gethsemane congregation. Norman Helm, who previously held the post, has accepted a call to Immanuel Lutheran School in Freeport, Ill., where he will serve as principal.

WELL-READ—Nancy Louise Smith, 8, of Salina, Kans., whizzed through the 150 books stacked behind her in the public library's summer reading program to top all others. She also read 90 books to her six-year-old brother, Ty. Nancy holds a map of Kansas, given program participants.

Detroit Boys Caught Robbing Dog Pound

DETROIT (INS) — Four teenage Detroit boys were in the custody of juvenile authorities today for trying to steal pets from the city dog pound.

Police said the boys decided to steal four dogs from the pound last night because they felt there was little chance for them to get unwanted pets through normal channels.

The boys managed to free a big German shepherd and were struggling to boost the 60 or 70 pound dog over a fence when a passing police car spotted them.

Officers captured the boys but the dog got away in the darkness.

Authorities said they felt Probate Judge Nathan J. Kaufman would be lenient with the boys and might even arrange for them to get their pets.

The only trouble was the boys didn't steal a ward of the city. The escaped German shepherd belongs to a vacationing pound attendant.

Ration His Toys to Keep Interest

What to do with the child left behind when playmates trot off to classes. The pre-school child has nothing to do but tag along while mother does housework.

Perhaps rationing toys will help. Instead of giving a young child all his toys to play with after Christmas and birthday parties, store some. Then bring a new one out occasionally. This renews interest when he tires of an old toy.

Junior State Fair Opening at MSU for 4-H Youth

EAST LANSING (AP)—The "Junior State Fair" opened today for about 2,000 Michigan 4-H boys and girls.

The youngsters, all winners in a county competitions, began four days of livestock, gardening, home economics, tractor operation, sports and novelty events.

At stake in the various contests over the next four days on the Michigan State University campus was $30,000 in cash awards and a variety of free trips and lesser prizes.

Besides the standard events, show managers planned a state softball tournament, public speaking contest, rifle shooting match and amateur talent contests.

The heavy rounds of livestock judging were set for Wednesday and Thursday.

On Thursday afternoon, market steers, lambs and hogs will be sold at public auction in an area immediately north of Spartan Stadium.

Group Hopes to Market More Christmas Trees

EAST LANSING (AP)—Michigan Christmas tree growers hope to market a half million more trees this year than in 1956.

Gale H. Gibson, executive secretary of the Christmas Tree Growers Assn., said a cooperative advertising program sponsored jointly by the state and the association, has stepped up orders from outside the state.

Gibson said the organization, which just held its summer meeting, will hold its winter session here in January.

Rochester, Avondale Schools Schedule September 9 Opening Date

School officials of the Avondale Schools and the Rochester Community Schools are announcing registration and starting dates as well as pre-opening conferences for teachers.

Avondale

Avondale Senior High School registration dates are as follows:

Seniors, Tuesday, Sept. 3; Juniors, Wed., Sept. 4; Sophomores, Thursday, Sept. 5 and Freshmen, Friday, Sept. 6. Opening time is 8:10 a.m.

Regular high school classes are scheduled to begin at 8 a.m. Monday, Sept. 9.

Because of shortage of classroom space, juniors are to be on half-day sessions until completion of the high school addition.

Classes for them, said Rosco Crowell, principal will be from 8 a.m. until noon and from 11 a.m., until 3 p.m. Those attending afternoons, Crowell said, would be given a short recess, during which time they could obtain a light lunch.

Registration and beginning dates for Avondale elementary and junior high students follow:

BEGINNERS:

1. New registrations — Sept. 3, 9 a.m.
2. Old registrations — Report for school Sept. 4, 9 a.m.

GRADES 1 - 5:

Report at respective schools for registration on Sept. 3, 9 a.m.

GRADE 6:

1. Auburn Heights, Stone, and Stiles report for registration at Junior High School, Sept. 3, 8:30 a.m.
2. Grade 6 at Elmwood is to register at Elmwood Sept. 3, 9 a.m.

GRADE 7:

Register at Junior High Sept. 4, 8:30 a.m.

GRADE 8:

Register at Junior High Sept. 4, 1 p.m.

Full day sessions will commence for grades Kindergarten-6 on Sept. 4. Full day sessions will begin for grades 7 and 8 on Sept. 5.

Buses will commence to pick up children for Junior High School at 8 a.m. and for the grades at 8:30 a.m.

Rochester

Community schools here have scheduled a preopening conference for teachers Tuesday, Sept. 3.

Elementary children will report to their schools Friday morning, Sept. 6, for a half day.

Full days for all classes will begin Monday, Sept. 9.

New elementary students may register after Aug. 26, when elementary school offices will be open.

Below is registration schedule for students of grades 7 through 12:

Sept. 3 — Registration for grade 7 and part of grade 8. Those 8th grade students should report for registration whose last names begin with A through M.

Sept. 4 — Eighth grade students whose last names begin with N through Z, and all of the ninth grade register. Junior High students may report to the gym on these days any time between 9:30 and 12, and 1 to 3 p.m.

Sept. 3 — 9 a.m., all 10th grade students must report to the Senior High School cafeteria for orientation. Registration will continue through the afternoon on Wednesday from 8 to 12, and 1 to 3 p.m. On Sept. 4, all new students who are in the 11th and 12th grades should report to the Counseling Office for registration.

Sept. 9 — All 11th and 12th grade students must report for regular classes at 7:55 a.m. Registration forms will be checked at that time. There will be no registration for Junior and Senior High School students on Thursday and Friday, Sept. 5 and 6.

Thirty-one new teachers will join the faculty of the Rochester Community Schools this fall bringing the total to 144 for the system. Supt. Donald C. Baldwin states that of this number five remain to be hired prior to school opening. The total is an increase of ten over last year, caused by the opening of new rooms.

OK Rezoning Petitions for 3,000 Acre 'Village'

ORION TOWNSHIP — About 50 residents attended the Orion Township Zoning Board hearing last night on petitions presented by Village Acres, the owners of the former Scripps Property.

Those present protested the drive-in theater proposed for the area along the railroad tracks at Joslyn and the Clarkston road. They contended it would be a nuisance.

Victor Adler, planning consultant for the area, said he believes it desirable to have entertainment included in the planning for the 3,000 acre community.

Other petitions called for rezoning for light manufacturing, apartments, a shopping center and multiple dwellings.

The zoning board passed each of the six petitions unanimously, despite wishes of those present, none of whom were in favor of the drive-in when asked for a vote.

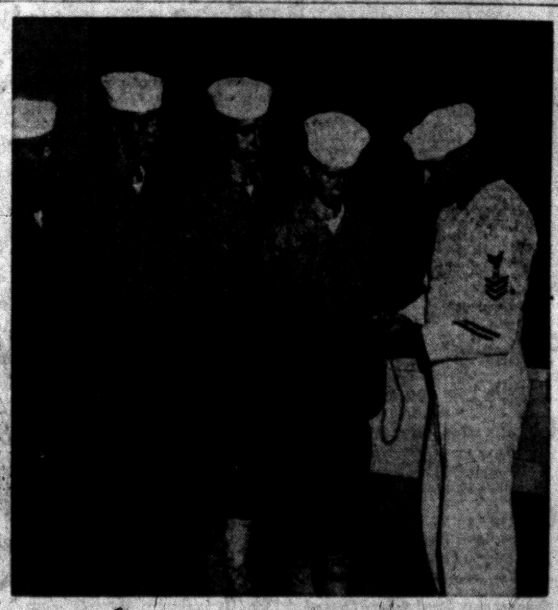

Residents were informed the decision of the zoning board is not the final action.

The petitions are sent to the Oakland County Planning Commission for approval, then returned to the Township Board. The petitions should reach the latter at the Sept. 10 or Oct. 8 meeting. They may also petition to have the matter placed on the ballot for the next election.

The board had spent 15 months deliberating the petitions, and many changes had been made to help meet public demands on all of them.

Man Charged With Murder

Death of Young Boy 1st Called Accidental by Sheriff, Coroner

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y. (AP) —A young, heavy-set junkyard collector has been charged with first-degree murder in the hanging of 11-year-old Peter Curran, whose death had been called accidental.

State police yesterday arrested Donald C. Smith, 23, of Ballston Lake. He was arraigned before a peace justice and ordered held for a grand jury.

Official statements that the boy's death was accidental had aroused residents of Ballston Lake, the boy's home. They charged Saratoga County Sheriff Wesley DeVoe with incompetency in his investigation. A coroner had issued a certificate of accidental death.

Carlton J. King, Saratoga County district attorney, said last night Smith admitted in a statement that he hanged the Curran boy July 20 from a tree near the boy's home. King said Smith was afraid the boy "would tell his parents about a sex act he had committed with the boy."

The coroner, Dr. Roland Paulkner, had said that the boy evidently tied a rope around his neck while he was playing in the tree and had lost his footing.

Ballston Lake villagers met last week and said they would demand a state investigation. More than 75 persons signed a petition saying they did not believe the boy's death was accidental.

But King maintained last night that state police had been working on the case all along.

At a meeting Friday with a group of villagers, King said DeVoe had performed his duty capably in investigating the death.

Charges Ike Ignored Recommendations

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)— California's superintendent of banks, William A. Burkett, has charged President Eisenhower with ignoring recommendations of banking officials of every state in bypassing him for appointment to the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. board.

In his weekly bulletin to California bankers yesterday, Burkett said he noted with regret the President had last Friday appointed retired Congressman Jesse P. Wolcott (R-Mich) to a vacancy on the three-man board.

Burkett contends that one seat on the FDIC board should go to a banking supervisor from one of the 48 states. The FDIC's function is to guarantee bank deposits of public funds.

Burkett said bank commissioners and superintendents of all states' banks gave him unanimous support for the position.

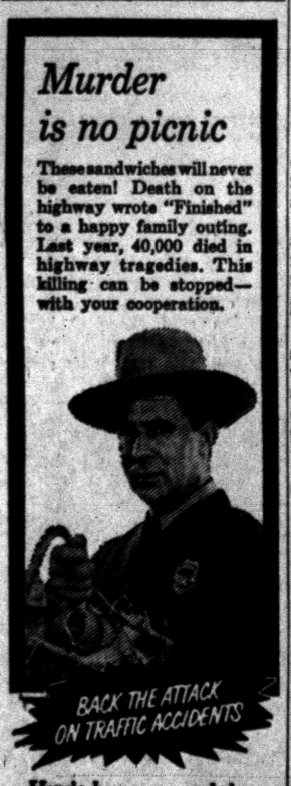

George H. Hay to Head Mathematics at U. of M.

ANN ARBOR (AP) — University of Michigan mathematics Professor George H. Hay has been appointed acting chairman of the university's Department of Mathematics.

Prof. Theophil Hilderbrandt, who served as department head 23 years, retired Aug. 16. Hay, a native of Durham, Ont., has been on the Michigan faculty since 1940.

ATOMIC PLANE'S PROFILE: Cut-away drawings of what nuclear-powered airplane may look like when it is built for the U. S. Air Force were made public by Lockheed Aircraft.

Progress Stalled

Radiation Shield Work Holds Key to A-Plane

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Final development of an atomic aircraft is stalled until it can be learned just how much radiation the human body can take.

It has been discovered that it's probably not possible, and definitely not practical, to build an A-plane with a radiation shield giving complete protection to flight and ground crews.

A shield with 100 per cent protection, such as are used in the atomic submarines, would be too heavy for a plane to lift. Or it would make the plane so slow as to be worthless as a weapon.

Thus, there either has to be a breakthrough on the shield design, or it has to be determined that crews can safely absorb a lot more radiation than has hitherto been believed possible.

The problems delaying the A-plane are revealed for the first time in a report by Clarence L. Johnson and F. A. Cleveland, engineers for Lockheed Corp., the firm with one of the contracts for building an atomic aircraft frame. They say:

"Determination of the tolerable human radiation dose is very difficult and may well prove to be one of the most complex research areas in the attainment of operational atomic aircraft. Gamma rays and neutrons of the same intensity damage the body to different degrees and the effects of each vary with the energy of the radiation.

"As a futher complication, various organs of the body are sensitive in varying degrees to radiation, and the effects on these organs become maximum at various times after exposure.

In the meantime, work on the A-plane has been slowed down. But it is still proceeding on the assumption that crews will be able to take certain minimum exposures. A plane has been designed which puts the crew far forward in the nose of the plane, encased in a shielding shell, with the reactor far to the rear of the fuselage.

FOUR ENGINES

Four turbo-jet engines will be clustered around the reactor inside the fuselage to transform the atomic heat into usable thrust.

The plane will take off and land with a non-atomic chemical fuel.

A phenomenon called "afterheat" exists in the reactor for a week or two after the fission process is stopped. This requires a special cooling system. But if the plane's engines should suddenly be stopped by a take-off or landing accident, after heat would melt the reactor.

The A-plane is likely to have slow acceleration because of complex problems encountered in the reactor. Radiation from the reactor will also have an adverse effect on the plane's radio and radar systems.

Finally, the plane will probably require an elaborate overhaul each flight. One reason is that the radiation tends to make a thick sludge out of the lubricating oil and hydraulic fluid tends to deteriorate.

Boat Explodes in Texas; One Lost, Three Hurt

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — A 20-foot boat exploded while refueling and burned last night. One man was missing and presumed dead. Three others were injured.

Herman C. Van Zant, 35, owner of the boat, was missing. A search of the Houston ship channel was started.

Forrest Clifford, 3, was burned critically. Tom Nelson, 57, and John R. Fellers, were injured, but not seriously.

Wisconsin Goes to Polls Today

Will Choose Senator to Fill Unexpired Term of Joe McCarthy

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Wisconsin voters choose a successor to the late Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy in a special election today with both major party candidates predicting victory.

Favored to win in a state that has not sent a Democrat to the U.S. Senate in 25 years was three-time Republican Gov. Walter Kohler Jr., a firm supporter of President Eisenhower.

The supporters of Democratic candidate William Proxmire, however, could see nothing but victory for their hominee, who has been defeated in three tries for the governor's post—including two beatings by Kohler.

The stormy, 10-year-career of McCarthy, who died May 2, was expected to have little bearing on the outcome. A McCarthy vote as such appears to be almost nonexistent. The election is for the remainder of McCarthy's term which ends in January 1959.

Philleo Nash, Democratic state chairman, predicted flatly that Proxmire would win, contending there was disagreement among Republican party people.

The race between Kohler and Proxmire apparently tightened recently due to heavy campaigning by both candidates, but a Proxmire victory would be considered an upset.

The outcome of the election will not immediately affect Senate control. The Democrats now hold a 49-45 edge.

Kohler, 53, completed his third term as governor in January. He was out of the political picture for only a few months before entering the primary race this spring.

Proxmire, 41, has been campaigning statewide almost continuously since early in 1952 when he ran for governor the first of three successive times.

Kohler won the GOP Senate nomination in a seven-man race on a platform that included all-out support of President Eisenhower. He was the only candidate taking such a stand.

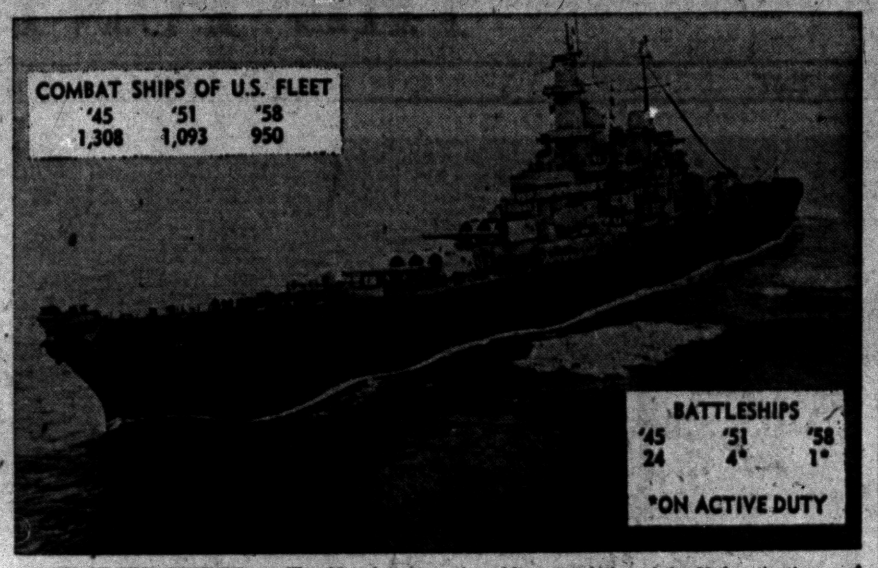

A liberal Democrat, Proxmire has the support of organized labor.

There are three independent candidates in the field but none were expected to provide a serious threat.

Howard H. Boyle Jr., a Milwaukee attorney, ran on "the principles of Joe McCarthy," but has done little campaigning.

The other independents are Mrs. Georgia Cozzini, Milwaukee, Socialist Labor candidate for vice president of the United States last fall, and Douglas Wheaton, a political unknown.

THE FLEET SHRINKS — The Navy's announced economy cut of 60 ships from the active fleets will leave only one battleship, the Wisconsin, above, on active duty. The Navy is now operating about 975 vessels of all categories. Some of the loss in fighting strength will be made up by new warships now nearing completion. After completion of the 60 deactivations and the addition of the new ships the fleet strength will be about 950. Figures (inset) show the size of the U. Liquor Legislation Confuses

Laws Have a Hangover

NEW YORK (NEA)—The train ride from New York to Biloxi, Miss., is comfortable, scenic and slow. So you settle into the club car and order a drink.

"I'm sorry," says the waiter. "No alcohol until New Jersey."

And there begins an excursion into the wildly various, often confusing, costly and sometimes dangerous liquor laws of the United States

The railroad beverage licenses must conform to state laws. And so, unless it is Sunday, you can have a drink in New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware. Unless it is also a holiday, you can drink in Maryland.

About five hours out of New York you can order beer only, because this is Virginia law. The same is true of North Carolina. But in South Carolina you can drink whisky. In Georgia, it's beer only. In Alabama, whisky again.

And at the Mississippi border the waiter says:

"The bar is closing. This is a dry state."

Dry? And you're going to spend a week here.

LAW MEANS LITTLE

"Don't worry," the waiter says. "That's just the law. You'll be able to get plenty to drink here."

In the labyrinth of American liquor laws, Mississippi paints the picture of organized confusion better than almost any other area.

According to the Licensed Beverage Industries, Inc., the state is legally dry, but liquor is so plentiful that the state treasury annually reaps about one million dollars in black market taxes on the heavy bootlegged whisky traffic from neighboring states.

But while most states are wet, most communities and counties have local option on how they will or will not drink. Today, more than 16 per cent of the nation lives in dry areas—where whisky cannot be sold.

The result is a flourishing bootleg business or, if the area is large enough, a moonshine industry. In 1950, for example, police in a west Texas dry county discovered local drinkers getting sick on a beverage made of quinine, bay rum and tea leaves.

Somewhere between wet and dry laws stand the vagaries of local or state codes. Mostly, drinkers must be over 21. But in New York 18 separates the men from the boys. In North Carolina, it's 17, if he's married. Other areas measure drinking by sunrise, sunset, bottle size, availability of food and so on. It takes a thick book or a good memory to keep a drinking man within the law.

But drinking laws are only part of the picture. A costly consideration is the advertising specifications. Not only in newspaper advertising of spirits (with or without bottles, glasses, persons, etc.), but also magazine advertising which must meet the strictest legal requirements.

"In television," according to Robert F. Jamieson of CBS sales, "it's a real headache and a costly one. We don't take any whisky advertising by tacit agreement. Not that it's illegal. But it could be costly to prove that in terms of viewers."

BEER COMMERCIAL TROUBLES

Jamieson said that there was considerable trouble with beer commercials. Some areas won't allow any athlete shown holding a bottle. Some areas won't even allow the bottle. This is costly. It means different vistial sales as the program moves across the network.

Somewhere in this maze are the vintners, brewers, and distillers themselves. According to LBI spokesmen, their members are in favor of uniform liquor laws. But active campaigning is another matter.

For the most part, the LBI said, work is limited to the actual local option battles. In the agitation before a vote, distilled spirits agents are often sent to the locality to give professional aid and encouragement to the wets.

After 1,473 local contests last year, the wets had added 108,904 to their number.

Meanwhile, the LBI is also fighting the rising moonshine industry in the nation. Based on federal and local reports, the industry figures about 20,000 stills are seized each year, with the quality and number of machines growing.

"These raids," according to one expert, "are made in both wet and dry areas. There seems to be the fastest growth of moonshining in large cities."

The reason, according to the LBI is not only dry legislation, but also "federal taxes that are too high."

Fishing Trip Ends in Tragedy

Plane Crashes, Killing 4

TOFTE, Minn. (AP) — Bodies of four persons, two of them small boys, were found yesterday in the wreckage of a light plane which crashed in wilderness Sunday apparently while attempting to land at the Tofte airport.

Victims were Dr. Samuel Samuelson, 56, Minneapolis, his two sons, Paul, 8 and Gary, 7, and Laurence Eldem, 53, Minneapolis. The four left Crystal airport near Minneapolis at 6:30 a.m. Sunday on a flying fishing trip.

It was the second instance of violent death in the Samuelson family. The doctor's sister, Hedvig Samuelson, was one of two women victims in the Winnie Ruth Judd trunk slayings in 1931. Mrs. Judd killed Miss Samuelson and Agnes Leroy in Phoenix and shipped their dismembered bodies in a trunk to Los Angeles. She is serving a life term at Phoenix.

The plane wreckage was spotted in heavy brush and spruce growth about a quarter mile northeast of the airport today by two Duluth Civil Air Patrol fliers who had joined a search.

Earl Hanson, District U.S. Forestry Service ranger at Tofte said the plane struck the ground almost nose first and did not skid.

All four bodies, still in safety belts, were in the wrecked fuselage. Hanson said there was no fire and no smell of gasoline.

The ranger, who helped recover the bodies, said the ignition switch was in off position, indicating Samuelson, an experienced pilot, expected to crash.

Tofte is on the Lake Superior north shore, about 90 miles northeast of Duluth.

Says Baptist Ranks Increasing in Russia

HAMILTON, Ont. (AP)—The pastor of Moscow's only Baptist church says the Baptist ranks in the Soviet Union are increasing steadily.

The Rev. Yakow I. Shidkov told a news conference last night his church has 4,000 congregations in Russia and is gaining from 10,000 to 15,000 new members a year.

He spoke shortly before the Executive Committee of the Baptist World Alliance opened a five-day meeting here. He is among 120 delegates.

Special Police Hunt for Clues in Chicago Killing

CHICAGO (AP)—A special roving police task force today hunted painstakingly for clues in the West Side neighborhood of a 15-year-old girl whose headless body was found floating in two oil cans in Lake Michigan last week.

Last night the family dentist identified his patient, Judith Mae Andersen, as the victim whose cut-up body was found last week in the North Side Montrose Harbor.

Dr. Mitchell Juliussen examined the body and corroborated findings of fingerprint experts and other police investigators. He said dental charts of Judith Mae and those of the victim were identical.

Police began checking out a number of leads.

Police files showed that an anonymous telephone call was received at 11:26 p.m. Aug. 16 that a girl was screaming in an automobile at the south edge of the Austin High School campus, about 1½ miles south of the Andersen home on the far West Side. The incident occurred some 11 minutes after Judith Mae had started home from a girl friend's house on the night she disappeared.

Magazine Industry to Set Up Control Board

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The magazine industry will probably set its own controls over scandal magazines and similar publications, a county prosecutor from Elizabeth, N.J., predicted yesterday.

The New Jersey attorney, H. Russell Morss Jr., was speaking at the National Assn. of County and Prosecuting Attorneys convention here.

"The industry is now taking action along the lines of a control board similar to that set up by comic book publishers," Morss said.

Older Colleges Won't Expand Despite Boom in Enrollments

NEW YORK (NEA) — A significant number of the nation's 1,800 institutions of higher learning are making no plans to increase their enrollments in spite of tremendous pressures:

1. College enrollment at a record 3.25 million is already increasing and will probably double by 1970 as the bumper crop of World War II babies comes of college age.
2. High school graduates going to college have climbed from 15 per cent in 1940 to 40 per cent today.
3. Alumni, especially of smaller, conservative schools are pressing for expansion on three counts — sons, status and sports.
4. A general uneasiness among administration officials that tax immunity means broader public responsibility.

HOLD BACK

But while land-grant and tax-supported schools are seeking ways to expand and new colleges are being organized, many older colleges are holding back — with or without spoken reason.

One admissions officer of a college in this conservative group explained that his office had three men on the road each year discouraging prep and high school seniors.

"This college boom has its uses," he said. "We can now pick the top boys. And that means more than just good grades."

FIERCE COMPETITION

He wondered, however, whether he or many of his classmates would be accepted by his school in today's fierce competition for entrance.

"We're emphasizing leadership in our selection," he said. "That would have let me out from the beginning."

That paradox describes the situation in many admissions offices.

CAP AND GOWN: In small colleges, room only at top.

Of last year's 1,031 entering freshmen at one of these schools, 506 were varsity captains or lettermen, 342 were school newspaper or yearbook editors, 178 were senior class or student council presidents.

While alma mater can gather to herself prodigious sons in today's school shortage, there's irony in it for the alumni.

In the first place, "hereds"—sons and grandsons of graduates — have little advantage over other contenders for a place in the freshman class.

In the second place, there is a niggling fear among alumni best expressed by one Bowdoin graduate this way:

"If the other schools expand and we don't, we'll be outnumbered in the sphere of influence on the job market."

To soothe anxieties like these, traditionally small (750 men) Wesleyan University in Connecticut searched into the respected lists of recognition-for-achievement. The result, purred one administrative officer, was overwhelming proof that "our alumni achieve more proportionately than almost any other school's graduates."

"Never mind that," roared one unsoothed alumnus. "Proportions don't do you any good on a football field when the other team has depth."

Old Man Weather in Sunny Mood Throughout U.S.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

There were some wet spots, but dry weather prevailed in most sections of the country today.

Light rain fell in the Dakotas and near the leading edge of the cool air in southern Nebraska. Scattered areas of light rain were reported eastward across the upper Mississippi Valley and scattered thundershowers hit areas in Kansas and westward over most of the Rocky Mountain region.

Rainfall in the East was confined to showers in New England and Virginia. Skies were clear in the southeastern part of the country and in most parts of the Pacific Coast states.

U.S. Eyes Plan for $300 Million Tunnel to Link England, France

By TOM A. CULLEN
NEA Staff Correspondent

LONDON (NEA) — High up on the chalk cliffs of Folkestone a small wooden door facing seaward guards a vital, 77-year-old secret.

Behind the wooden door lies the Channel tunnel—or what remains of it—which was begun in 1880 as an underwater link between Britain and France. A year later Britain got cold feet and the project bogged down.

The shaft, barely five feet high, 2,000 yards long and now timbered up with the sides of old railway cartiages, represents the dreams of statesmen, engineers and planners on both sides of the Channel.

Napoleon dreamed of a cross-channel tunnel as far back as 1802. Queen Victoria was all in favor of the idea.

Marshal Foch, of World War I fame, declared that a tunnel link between Britain and the continent might have shortened the 1914-18 war by two years.

STEP TOWARD REALITY

Today, thanks largely to American initiative, the age-old tunnel pipedream has taken a long stride forward towards becoming a reality.

The Channel Tunnel — or "Chunnel," as British newspapers dubbed it—is now high on the agendas of both the British and French governments, with Wall Street bankers showing a definite interest in helping to finance the project.

An American concern, Technical Studies, Inc. of New York, has offered to make a 12-month survey of the commercial and technical aspects of Chunnel, the $750,000 needed for the survey to come from private British, French and American resources.

If the survey report is favorable, a group of Wall Street bankers is understood to be ready to put up one-third of the estimated $300,000,000 cost of building the tunnel. The British and French governments, of course, would have a decisive voice in the control and management of the project.

WITHDRAW OBJECTION

Chunnel's biggest boost, however, has come from the fact that Allied military chiefs no longer object to the project on strategic grounds. For 155 years British fears of invasion have been the rock on which the scheme has foundered.

Changing conditions of warfare, with reliance on nuclear weapons, have gone far to meet these objections.

Allied military chiefs at SHAPE have now gone on record in favor of Chunnel as a means of facilitating troop movements, while the British Ministry of Defense has described Chunnel as a "realistic aim" worth looking into.

Other factors offering Chunnel its greatest chance to succeed are the increased motorcar traffic between Britain and the continent and the growing sentiment here for European union.

If Britain is to compete in the European free trade area on level terms a land link with the continent becomes a virtual necessity, it is pointed out.

Kasper Joins Call for Peace

Accused of Sparking Racial Violence; Asks for Quiet Registration

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — The man who was accused of sparking last fall's racial violence at Clinton, Tenn., joined school officials in calling for peaceful registration today as Nashville prepared to desegregate its first grades.

Segregationist John Kasper, who has protested the board's desegregation plan here for several weeks, last night called for a peaceful registration day and said he would strive later for separate and private white schools.

Asst. Supt. of Schools W. H. Oliver earlier told the city's 35 elementary school principals, "For the children's sake, I hope everyone will make this registration as peaceful . . . and non-frightening as possible."

Police were on hand for possible demonstrations, but no trouble was anticipated.

The 6-year-old classes will be desegregated at school opening Sept. 3 under the school board's federal court-approved plan which calls for plans to be submitted by Dec. 31 for desegregating the other grades.

About 126 Negro first-graders—less than a tenth of the estimated enrollment for the Negro age group — were eligible to register for classes with about 2,000 white 6-year-olds.

Chambers Resumes Career on Magazine

NEW YORK (AP) — Whittaker Chambers, the accuser in the Alger Hiss perjury trial, is resuming his magazine writing career.

Chambers will be a regular staff contributor to the National Review, a weekly magazine of conservative opinion, editor William F. Buckley Jr. said.

Buckley said Chambers will go to Europe some time this fall for a prolonged period to report the European scene. Chambers suffered a series of heart attacks a few years ago and has been recuperating on his Maryland farm. He is a former senior editor of Time magazine.

Chambers told the House un-American Activities Committee in 1948 that he had been a Communist courier in Washington in the 1930s. He said Hiss, then a high State Department official, used to supply him with information. Hiss denied it, but was convicted of perjury chiefly on Chambers' testimony.

Hiss was released in November, 1954, after serving 3 years 8 months of a five-year sentence and now is employed as assistant to the president of Feathercombs, Inc., a New York firm that manufactures women's combs.

Lightless Red Ships Bring Speculation

LONDON (AP) — Some British newspapers speculated today that the blacked-out movement of two Soviet warships through the Straits of Gibraltar might herald a Red fleet being sent to the east Mediterranean to impress the Arab states.

The ships, the 15,450-ton cruiser Mikhal Kutuzov and an unidentified destroyer, sailed into the without navigation lights. The Russians have said the vessels are on their way to Albania for a courtesy visit.

"We have no information here as to where the Soviet ships are now," a British admiralty spokesman said, "and we know of no others heading for that part of the world. It is certainly unusual for any ship to go through the straits without lights. Presumably the Russians were satisfied there was no other shipping in the area.'

The U.S. and British Mediterranean fleets are to join in NATO exercises in the eastern Mediterranean next month.

For Britain's Atom Weapons Chief

H-Bomb Gamble Pays Off

LONDON (NEA)—Boyish, horn-rimmed spectacled Sir William Penney, 47, Britain's atom weapons chief, is one of a handful of men who can make world headlines simply by buying an airline ticket.

He proved this recently when, at the height of the Japanese agitation against the British H-bomb tests, Penney booked a flight which would put him in the Christmas Island testing grounds on June 7 at the earliest.

RUMORS FLEW

Immediately the rumors flew that the H-bomb tests, originally scheduled for May, had been delayed by technical difficulties so serious that Penney's presence was imperative.

Actually, Bill Penney, as he likes to be known, was at home with his wife and two children on May 15, when the first British H-bomb was exploded in the Central Pacific.

But the flurry of speculation caused by the airline ticket is a vivid tribute to the power of scientists of Penney's standing in the atom age.

PIVOT OF POLICY

In a sense, Penney, who 10 years ago was an unknown mathematician, has become a pivot of political policy. For it was largely on his say-so that the then untried H-bomb would work that the British government decided to slash its conventional armed forces and to invest millions in new atomic works.

The gamble looks as though it may pay off handsomely. The Penney bomb (it cost 600 million dollars and took three years to develop) made history as one of the "cleanest" H-bombs yet devised, meaning that the fall-out was insignificant.

For another, the Penney bomb will be cheap to produce, as such weapons go, a fact which has caused some observers to rank Britain equal with America and ahead of Russia in the nuclear arms race.

FLAIR FOR MATH

At 47, Penney still has the bulky, almost clumsy figure of a football end (he once played for the University of Wisconsin), his hair is unruly, his manner as friendly as that of a St. Bernard pup.

A flair for mathematics took Penney to the Imperial College of Science in London, to the Universities of Wisconsin and Cambridge. Finally, when only 27, he became assistant professor of math at Imperial College, specializing in the structure of metals and the magnetic properties of crystals.

With the outbreak of World War II, he was assigned to study the nature of blast waves. For three years he quietly measured the effects of bombs, both foreign and domestic, on buildings, ships and human beings, discovering among other things the extraordinary resistance of the human body to blast.

SAW BOMBING

Then, in 1944, as a member of an Anglo-American team of scientists, he saw the world's first atom bomb set off in the New Mexico desert. On Aug. 9, 1945, he was one of two British observers who witnessed the atom-bombing of Nagasaki.

Penney's common - sense approach to tough scientific problems is the quality that impressed his American colleagues most. Thus, at the Bikini atom tests in 1946, his suggestion that 300 oil drums be placed around the atoll to register the blast was simplicity itself, but no one else had thought of it.

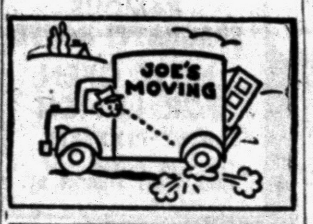

When America severed atomic relations with Britain with the passage of the McMahon Act, Penney was the natural choice to head British atomic research. His present position as director of the Atomic Weapons Research Establishement at Aldermaston has brought him fame, a knighthood, although his salary ($18,000 a year) is derisory by U. S. standards.

For relaxation, he loves fast cars, table tennis, and his golf handicap is eight.

Parrot Revealed as True Artist With Paints

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The jig is up for Rajah, the one-eyed parrot who dabbles in art.

He was unmasked yesterday after his ninth showing at a city-sponsored art exibit. An anonymous telephone tipster said his paintings were not only for the birds, but by one.

"A parrot?" exclaimed officials, may of whom had acclaimed Rajah's abstract oil, "Cathay Laos," as the work of a promising artist.

"A parrot," sadly confirmed Rajah's owner, Miss Chandra Poweris, a writer and illustrator. She had entered the bird's painting under the name, "Rajah Chandra."

"Now that people know Rajah isn't human he won't be able to exibit at art shows," said Miss Poweris, who has supervised the parrot's three-year art career.

She began by giving Rajah a first-hand appreciation of the masters.

"I'd put him in my handbat and sneak him into museums to see famous paintings," she said.

At a recent Van Gogh exibit the Asian-bred dwarf parrot peeked out of the bag and began muttering in Chinese, Miss Poweris said, "So we left quickly."

"Other times he'd just look and absorb," she added.

When painting, Rajah holds the brush in a claw and squints at the canvas with his one good eye. When he develops claw-cramp, he switches to his beak. Sometimes he works three hours without a cracker break.

The parrot—a member of several art associations, whose meetings he doesn't attend—has painted more than 759 watercolors. "Cathay Laos" was his first oil, Miss Poweris said, and presented problems.

"Turpentine on the palette made him a bit giddy," she said.

Date in Court Brings Blood for Daughter

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Mrs. Hatti Hill went to court on a speeding charge and left with promises of blood for her ill daughter.

She told judge Sam Wisenthal she was on her way to the hospital July 4 when given a speeding ticket.

"I spend almost 24 hours a day there with my daughter, Edith Ann," she said.

She said her daughter, 11, became ill in June. "The doctors found she had tumors that were stopping blood circulation," Mrs. Hill said.

The judge dismissed the speeding charge and voluntered to donate blood for the child, who has needed several transfusions.

Prosecutor Bill Powell and Ray Reynold of the Department of Public Safety also volunteered to give blood.

School Kids Average 11½ and 15 Miles a Day

NEW YORK — It is surprising that children's shoes wear as long as they do.

Statistics show that a school girl averages 11⅓ miles of walking and running each day. A school boy covers 15 miles.

Mail Penalty Bill Goes to Eisenhower

WASHINGTON (AP)—Deaths resulting from sending such items as bombs or poison through the mails would be punishable by penalties up to death under terms of a bill sent to President Eisenhower.

The measure, passed by the Senate yesterday, would provide the penalties in event death was caused by sending through the mails any materials forbidden by postal laws.

It would also raise from 10 to 20 years the penalty for sending matter through the mails with intent to kill or injure.

ST. HELIER, Jersey, Channel Islands (AP)—"All ashore who are going ashore!" the purser of the steamer Isle of Sark shouted.

All visitors went except Jennifer Groves, 17, who was saying goodby to a cousin. The steamer pulled out for Southampton with Jennifer still aboard.

Noticing suddenly what had happened, the girl jumped overboard fully clothed.

"I realize I could have gone to Southampton and back again," she said after swimming to the pier. "But I didn't want to — I hadn't had any breakfast."

Quiz 7 Soldiers in Dean Slaying

Army Criminal Division Aided by French Police in Search for Leads

POITIERS, France (INS) — French and American authorities questioned several U.S. soldiers today in connection with the slaying of Mrs. Nelly Dean, wife of an East St. Louis, Ill., sergeant.

An authoritative source said seven soldiers from the Army's Chinon Engineering Depot, where Sgt. 1st Class David W. Dean is stationed, were questioned during the night by the Army's criminal investigation division and French police.

The French, who have primary jurisdiction because the murder was committed outside an American installation, assigned two inspectors and seven detectives from the crack Sureté Nationale to the case.

Army spokesmen denied knowledge of a printed French report that two enlisted men from Chinon hospital, where Dean works as supply sergeant, are being held as primary suspects.

A spokesman said "We are still looking for leads. There have been no significant developments."

Mrs. Dean's body was found Sunday morning in a ditch near the famous Azay-le-Rideau Chateau 160 miles southwest of Paris.

She had been strangled and robbed, and her head, back, chest, and stomach bore symmetrical knife carvings, but an autopsy revealed no evidence of rape.

The Deans visited a cafe near their home Saturday night but the sergeant reportedly left her with a group of English-speaking persons. Employes at the cafe said she left the cafe later with a tall, dark man.

Many people could retire comfortably on what their experience has cost them.

Crusader Harrison Stays Out of Confidential Trial

By BOB THOMAS

LOS ANGELES (AP)—As the Confidential Magazine trial goes into its fourth week today, witnesses have sketched an intriguing picture of the man who wasn't there. He is Confidential publisher Robert Harrison, who is mentioned constantly in the testimony but stays far, far away from the courtroom, in New York.

Actually, there are two pictures of Harrison. According to prosecution witnesses, he is a terrible-tempered man who will go to any extreme to sell magazines. According to defense witnesses, he is a crusader who is out to attack corruption in government and the "false idols" of the entertainment world.

You can take your pick. But some non-controversial aspects can be determined. For instance, there is no doubt he has been successful in selling Confidential. High water mark for its circulation was around 4 million. He should be a wealthy man, since he is reported to earn 14 cents from each 25-cent magazine.

Harrison got his inspiration for Confidential by observing tastes of certain segments of the American public. He apparently was impressed by the sales of the Jack Lait-Lee Mortimer books, "Chicago Confidential," and "Washington Confidential," and borrowed the title from them.

LOVED VIRGINIA

Another thing that impressed him was the way Americans remained glued to their TV sets during the famed Kefauver hearings that starred Frank Costello's hands, Virginia Hill, etc.

The Confidential setup has been limited to New York state so as to eliminate tax and other dealings with "foreign states." This has made it difficult to pin the magazine down on legal matters.

No doubt about it, Harrison and Confidential are part of the social phenomenon of the United States at mid-century.

Among those covering the trial, the man who gets the most attention is an artist for a magazine. Most of the principals in the trial oversee his work and approve or disapprove how they are portrayed. Once he drew a sketch of a juror drawing a sketch of the prosecutor. No, the prosecutor wasn't drawing a sketch. . .

From the Press Box

BY BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

The habit of having a "world series" in Milwaukee isn't new.

This is really the third year in succession that Milwaukee is playing host to a series. For two straight years, the city of "malt and hops" was the international baseball hub for the Global World Series.

The habit must have brushed off on the Braves as they look pretty solid in the National League race. Now the Global games move to Detroit.

It may not be the series for which Tiger fans especially yearn, but maybe some of the luck the Global Series brought to Milwaukee will be given to Detroit, within a year or two.

Baseball is now played in 24 countries in this world which is filled with iron curtains and mushroom clouds.

Diplomats of these countries would rather have differences be settled with bats and balls instead of guns and bullets, and many of them have banded together with the hope of bringing better understanding among the world's people through athletics.

Sponsoring the Global World Series, which brings together the top teams from all over the world, requires a big financial venture. It will cost at least $200,000 for financing the 1957 series scheduled for Briggs Stadium, September 13-18.

All the top sports figures in Detroit have joined forces with the hope of proving that the Motor City is one of the world's greatest sports towns. The series were tremendously successful for two years in Milwaukee, and now Detroit has the chance to show these visitors from all over the world that its athletic prowess can be international as well as national.

EIGHT TEAMS COMPETE

Eight teams will compete for world's open championship in the double elimination tournament.

Holland won the European championships in July, Japan is the Asiatic champion, Hawaii represents the Pacific Islands, Venezuela and Colombia take South American honors and Mexico, Canada and the United States round out the North America list.

The schedule calls for 15 games with international ceremonies Friday night, September 13 and continuing through to the world's championship Wednesday, Sept. 18.

Ticket windows are located at Briggs Stadium for the Global World Series, and the man in charge is no stranger to baseball. You may have heard of Charley Gehringer!

DITTOS FROM THE PRESS BOX

A belated congratulations to new PHS football coach Jesse MacLeay. He took the fatal step couple months ago and is now living in the area . . . Heard from Oakland County coaches following the "football kickoff" dinner last week—it was a good idea, was the consensus . . . Lions say they have the best 1-2 quarterback punch in the league, the Bears say they have the best 1-2-3-4 quarterback corps with Ed Brown, George Blanda, Jim Haluska and returning serviceman Zeke Bratkowski . . . and what happened to Rochester High School's bid to get into the Oakland B league?

Chore and Challenge

Hurling Hard for Roberts

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Pitching, once so easy and so much fun, has become a chore and a challenge to Robin Roberts.

The former mainstay of the Philadelphia Phillies admitted today he may have lost some of the stuff that used to overpower the hitters, along with some of his once gilt-edged poise and confidence. But he scoffed at widespread reports that he was all through as a top flight hurler.

"Me washed up? I should say not," he replied. "For a guy with an 8-18 record, this may sound like sour grapes but I know I can still win. And I'm sure I can go on winning for several years yet. And I'll prove it when I get another chance."

Although still not fully recovered from the shock of his demotion to the bullpen, the six-time 20-game winner declared he held no grudge against Manager Mayo Smith for his dramatic decision.

"Sure it's hard to take, and I suppose it dents my pride somewhat," said Roberts, 30, trying to hide the hurt look in his eyes. "But what else could he do? How much longer could he go along with a guy who has lost 18 games? No, I can't blame him. Goodness knows, he gave me plenty of chances. No sir, I've got no complaints."

It is the contention of Smith and other veteran baseball men that Roberts must add a pitch—such as a screwball, a knuckleball, a sinker—to his repertoire if he is to become a big winner again. Otherwise he is on the way down—and out.

Physicals for Dragons

Candidates for the 1957 Lake Orion High School football team will meet at the new high school building Thursday morning to undergo physical examinations beginning at 8:30 a.m., it was announced today by head coach Ted Sela.

'B' Loop Convenes

There will be a meeting of the Motor Inn 'B" League on Thursday, Aug. 29 at 8 p.m. at Motor Inn Recreation.

All team captains are requested to be present, and other interested bowlers are invited to attend. For further information call Leonard Biallas, FE 2-2027.

4 Special Races Planned at DRC Over Labor Day

DETROIT (AP) — Four special racing events will be held at the Detroit Race Course Labor Day weekend.

The 23rd running of the $10,000-added Col. F. M. Alger Memorial Handicap will be staged Saturday. It's a six-furlong sprint for three-year-olds and up.

The fourth running of the $15,000-added mile and one-sixteenth Wolverine Stakes for three-year-olds will be held Labor Day.

Official start of the track's handicapping derby will begin Tuesday.

The $5,000-added Michigan Futurity is planned for Sept. 4.

Phils Halt Milwaukee Surge

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Maybe there is going to be a race in the American League after all. The New York Yankees look bad and Manager Casey Stengel looks nervous.

Faced by a three-game showdown against the Chicago White Sox opening tonight in Comiskey Park, Ol' Case played a hunch and came off second best in Detroit yesterday as the Tigers cracked the Yankees 5-2 and whittled their lead to 3½ games. It was New York's fifth defeat in seven games.

Which means the second-place White Sox, who have won six straight, can edge within three percentage points of the champs—if they can sweep the three-game set.

Only one other AL game was scheduled yesterday and as far as the A's are concerned it shudda rained in Kansas City. Boston bopped 'em 16-0.

In the National, Milwaukee's Braves slipped to a seven-game edge over idle St. Louis and Brooklyn in a 4-3 defeat at Philadelphia. That gave the Phils sole possession of fourth place as the New York Giants clubbed Cincinnati to fifth 17-3.

The Phillies blew a 3-0 lead before beating the Braves on Ron Northey's pinch bases-loaded single in the ninth. Ed Mathews' two-run single had tied it for Milwaukee in the eighth and when Wes Covington and Bob Hazle singled to open the ninth, 16-game winner Jack Sanford hit the showers. Dick Farrell relieved and retired the side for his sixth victory. Ernie Johnson lost it in relief.

Boston rapped six home runs, two by Frank Malzone, and bunched four of them in a 10-run seventh inning. Willard Nixon claimed his first shutout in more than a year with a five-hitter while the Red Sox smacked 19.

The Giants also had 19 hits, but only two homers — by Danny O'Connell and Hank Sauer. The Redlegs, losing 13 of 14, had 13 hits for a two-team total of 32, a season high for a nine-inning game in the NL.

5-2 Win Cuts NY Edge to 3½ Over Chisox

Open Crucial Series Tonight Against the Boston Red Sox

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Tigers open what could be their most crucial series of the 1957 campaign tonight against the Boston Red Sox.

Riding high after a two-game sweep against the first-place New York Yankees and victorious in eight of their last 11 contests, the Tigers can overtake the third-place Red Sox with a sweep of their three-game series that opens tonight at Briggs Stadium with Detroit's Paul Foytack opposing Mike Fornieles.

The Tigers, looking at last like the "hot" team everyone expected them to be and making the most out of Al Kaline's bat and Frank Lary's rejuvenated right arm, whipped the Yankees 5-2 yesterday.

The stirring weekday attendance figure of 23,550 proved conclusively that the fans still haven't given up on third place.

Kaline swatted another home run — his 11th of the month, his 17th of the season and his third in two days — and Lary pitched well enough that he needed no more help. For the gritty little righthander who has come back so well after a horrible slump, it was his fourth straight complete game and his fourth successive triumph. Overall, Lary is 8-15.

Kaline's home run, which traveled into the upper left field stands, couldn't have come at a better time.

The Yankees had taken a 2-0 lead in their half of the first inning on Mickey Mantle's 33rd home run behind Lary's only walk of the day, a pass to Enos Slaughter. That was a bleak enough start, and Tommy Byrne —who had a lifetime record of 20-9 in 13 American League seasons against Detroit — was on the Yankee mound.

But Byrne was wild, hitting second baseman Frank Bolling on the left instep and then walking Harvey Kuenn. After Byrne disposed of Ray Boone — hitless in his last 16 appearances — on a lazy fly to center, Kaline ripped one into the seats for a 3-2 Tiger advantage.

Byrne made a quick exit after walking Charlie Maxwell. Tigers got to his successor, Johnny Kucks, for single runs in the second and fifth innings. Lary was good enough in the clutches so that the extra runs were just icing.

As for the Red Sox, they are one and one-half games ahead of the Detroiters. They are fresh from a 16-0 victory over Kansas City. And Ted Williams, frisky despite his 39 years, will be with them. He's out to protect a two-point lead over Mantle in their torrid race for the league batting championship.

The baseball wins and losses in April and May count just as much as those in August and September but the Tigers have reached a point where they MUST win. It is time to capitalize on strong points and a time when youth and speed pay off most handsomely.

Too, after the Boston series, the Tigers must play 18 of 27 games on the road. This is the time they could overtake the Red Sox.

"If we can get the Red Sox looking up at us — instead of back at us — I think we can go from there on in," said manager Jack Tighe. "This is a big opportunity for us — we can't afford to let it slip by."

50,000 to Attend

It's Hambletonian Day

DUQUOIN, Ill. (AP) — The 32nd Hambletonian, climaxing Grand Circuit harness racing, will be trotted on the lightning-fast mile oval of the State Fairgrounds today before an expected throng of 50,000.

Held at this coal mining community of 7,100 population for the first time after being a fixture at Goshen, N. Y., the Kentucky Derby of the sulkies will gross $111,126.25, its second richest purse.

Attendance in the past has been upwards of only 16,000. The crowd jamming DuQuoin comes not only to watch the big event but also to attend the fair.

In this Mardi Gras setting, where pari-mutuel betting is prohibited the Hambo will be contested for the first time in divisions, making for one of the longest drawn-out competitions to determine the winner since the race was inaugurated.

The first division will have a field of 11 horses and the second division will have 10. The 3-year-olds will trot two heats in each division. The heat winners then will return for the showdown mile for the championship.

With cash prizes for the first four finishers in each heat—as well as a winner-take-all jackpot of $21,780.74 for the fifth and final mile the maximum winner's share would be $47,917.62. To attain this, a horse must win each heat in his division and the fifth heat, a very unlikely assignment.

The competition starts at 2:45 p.m. EST and winds up about two hours later.

The favorites are Hoot Song, driven by Ralph Baldwin; Buckeye Demon, piloted by Harrison Hoyt, only amateur ever to win the Hambo (1948 with Demon Hanover); and Hickory Smoke, Winter book favorite with John Simpson at the reins. Twice in the last 10 years a favorite has won.

Grid Prospects Called at PHS

All Candidates Invited to Meet Wednesday in School Auditorium

Jesse MacLeay, new head football coach at Pontiac High School, has issued the call for grid candidates.

All boys of Pontiac High School are invited to attend the evening session in the PHS auditorium Wednesday at 7:00 p.m.

This session will be devoted to lectures on health and physical requirements.

"We want every boy who is interested in football to come out," said MacLeay.

Friday morning starting at 8:00 a.m. equipment will be issued at stadium until noon.

A session with the entire coaching staff and all the boys is set for Saturday morning in the Wisner locker rooms and Monday, Labor Day, actual drills will get under way.

Most area schools get their workouts started Labor Day, some begin a day later. Avondale gridders took their physicals today, while the majority of county prepsters will get their checkups Friday.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — For the third time in their 82-year National League history the Phillies yesterday topped the million mark in home attendance.

A crowd of 21,397 that turned out to see the Phils beat the Milwaukee Braves 4-3 boosted the season's total to 1,020,985. In 1950 the pennant-winning Phils drew 1,217,035—the all-time high—and in 1946 a fifth-place team attracted 1,045,247 home fans.

North Side, Commerce Play Exhibition Games

North Side Auto Supply and Commerce Drive-In Theater will tune up for their weekend tournament softball play in exhibition games Wednesday night at North Side Park.

North Side, Women's City League champion, meets Clawson at 7 o'clock and Commerce faces Kearsley of Flint in the 8:30 nightcap.

Commerce enters the state Class B finals at Petoskey while North Side goes to the 'A' state finals in Coldwater.

Tigers Sell Al Aber

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Tigers today sold pitcher Al Aber to the Kansas City Athletics for the $10,000 waiver price.

The left handed Aber, who has a 3-3 record this year, had been used entirely in relief roles by the Tigers this season.

Notice Prep Coaches

All high school athletic directors or prep coaches are requested to forward their 1957 football schedules to the Press sports department as soon as possible.

Grand Rapids Wins Non-Pro Tilt, 11-0

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — Grand Rapids, Mich., won its third-round game in the National Non-Pro Baseball Tournament here last night, trouncing Albuquerque, N.M., 11-0 in five innings.

The game was abbreviated because of a tournament rule cutting short one-sided games.

Ray Miller hit a home run and drove in three runs to lead the Michigan team's attack.

Risk Amazing Win Streak

Althea, Darlene Never Lost Match

BROOKLINE, Mass. (AP)—Althea Gibson and Darlene Hard risked an amazing victory streak today in the finals of the National Doubles Tennis Tournament—weather permitting.

Althea, the 30-year-old Wimbledon queen from Harlem, and her blonde partner from California never had lost a match together going into today's title match against 11-time winners Louise Brough and Mrs. Margaret du Pont at Longwood.

The Gibson-Hard streak, started at Orange, N.J., last year, encompasses 37 matches over nine Cup victory.

The men's final sent 43-year-old Gardnar Mulloy and 33-year old Budge Patty, also Wimbledon winners, against Australia's youthful team of Ashley Cooper and Neale Fraser.

Originally set for Sunday, the finals twice have been postponed by rain.

Does Miss Gibson think that, at her age, she has reached the peak of her game?

"I feel I have reached a plateau of success," she replied, "but I also feel there are many plateaus above me which I can reach."

Althea said she has read reports about the fact she might turn professional but says no one has made any offers to her.

"I am thinking of going into singing," she said. "It would not be in the immediate future. But many people have told me I have the basis for a career in singing."

'Any-Deer' Season Object of Public Hearing Today

LANSING (AP) — Thirty-two areas designated for any-deer seasons in Michigan this fall are the object of a public hearing scheduled today by a legislative committee.

The State Conservation Commission, acting on recommendations of the conservation department's game division, already has approved the areas for shooting deer of either sex. But the law authorizing the commission to choose the areas also empowered the legislative interim committee on administrative rules to veto the commission's decision.

A veto would take four votes on the six-man committee. Two of the three House members, Rep. James Goulette (R-Iron Mountain) and Louis Mezzano (D-Wakefield), voted last spring for a bill proposing to strip the conservation department of its authority to set any-deer seasons and possibly may vote to rescind the commission's action.

Twenty-seven of the sites are in the Lower Peninsula and five in the Upper Peninsula.

Deer of either sex could be shot in 18 areas during the regular deer season. Another 13 would have any-deer seasons for two days after the regular season and one in Allegan County, where crop damage by deer has been heavy for a number of years, would be open for a special nine-day season.

Amateur Golfers Seek 10 Berths

Ten berths in the National Amateur golf tournament are at stake today in the state sectional qualifying trials at Country Club of Detroit.

The U. S. Amateur is scheduled Sept. 9-14 at Brookline, Mass.

A total of 86 golfers will take part in the 36-hole qualifiers, headed by Art Otis Jr. of Lansing, who was the top amateur in the Michigan Open over the weekend at Edgewood.

Among the other outstanding amateurs playing today are Tom Draper, Glenn Johnson, Lou Wendrow, Jim Funston, Joe Grace Jr., Bob Babbish, Fred Kammer, Dick Whiting, Sam Kocsis, Tommy Sheehan, Gene Woodard and Pontiac's Lloyd Syron.

Chuck Kocsis, who went to the finals of the national tourney last year before losing to Harvie Ward, is a member of the U. S. Walker Cup team and therefore exempt from qualifying.

Gingellville Takes 'C' Regional Title

Surprising Gingellville won the women's Class C regional softball title last night with a 9-6 victory over Owosso in the rubber match of their best-of-three series at North Side Park.

Nancy Wickham pitched a three-hitter for the winners and her teammates furnished nine-hit support, three by Joan LaClair and two each by Billie Hall and Arlene Martin.

Gingellville finished the regular City League season in 3rd place with an unimpressive 3-12 record.

Port Huron captured the men's Class B regional softball crown yesterday with a 4-0 triumph over Southfield at Beaudette Park. Andy Alexander hurled a seven-hit shutout.

Fleck Returns in Time to Win Best-Ball Event

Jack Fleck, who missed the Michigan Open golf tournament over the weekend, returned just in time to win a PGA-sponsored pro-amateur event Monday at Oakland Hills.

Fleck, head pro at Rochester Golf and Country Club, teamed with Bill Daniels, an Oakland Hills member, to card a five-under-par best-ball 67. Tied for 2nd at 69 were the teams of Max Evans-Roy Cullenbine, Tommy Watrous-R. F. Deer and Warren Orlick-H. M. Finney.

All-Stars vs. Emmanuel

Orion Archers Do Very Well at State Test

LAKE ORION — The Jack Hughes family of Randall Beach scored well among the near 300 contestants in the Michigan State Championship Archery Tournament at Howell, Sunday.

Mrs. (Billie) Hughes was first in the Women's Instinctive Class A, with 508. Nearest to her were Marian Hoffman of Midland and Audrey Edington of Berkley with 482.

Kathy Hughes, 11, was second in the Junior Girl's Division; and brother, John 13, was third in the Junior Boys Division.

Tournament was sponsored by the Michigan Archery Association, from both the Upper and Lower Peninsulas, with the Howell Twig Shooters as host.

The Hughes unit will also participate in the Sept. 1 and 2 Michigan State Championships at Jackson.

MONDAY'S FIGHTS
SAN FRANCISCO—Rory Calhoun, 158½, White Plains, N. Y., outpointed Joey Giambra, 160, San Francisco, 10.
NEW YORK — Gene Armstrong, 151, Elizabeth, N. J., outpointed Rudy Sawyer, 148, New York, 10.

Successful Handler

International Champ Seen

Stewart Bryant, operating Mill Lake Kennels, six miles north of Pontiac on Mill Lake road, is a successful, and rising, young handler of German Shepherds particularly. His own Diedre of Mill Lake Farms has this year achieved her International Championship.

Bryant brought the champion along carefully but rapidly. Unbeaten as a puppy she won novice class at both U.S. and Canadian specialty shows in 1956. At 17 months she was best of breed at Madison Square Garden. She was shown only 10 times for her U.S. championship, only five for the Canadian top ranking. She is currently his star performer.

Bryant has been handling dogs for some 16 years. During the Korean war he directed the war-dog training program for Miramar Naval Air Station at San Diego.

His kennel has been in operation four years, covers 11 acres and cares for some 45 dogs, including puppies and grown animals. It also has adequate training facilities.

Memorial Best-Ball Golf Event Sept. 7

An 18-hole best-ball golf tournament in memory of Henry Janczarek will be held Saturday, Sept. 7 at Pontiac Municipal course.

The tourney is open to any male resident living in Oakland County and entries may be left at the city links.

All prizes will be donated by Pontiac merchants and at least 30 awards are guaranteed. Each member of the winning two-man team gets a new transistor radio while haircuts and shampoos are among the othe rprizes.

Janczarek, an outstanding city golfer for many years, died of a heart attack last spring.

MONDAY'S STARS
PITCHING—Frank Lary, Tigers gave up a first-inning home run, then blanked Yankees on seven hits for a 5-2 victory, his fourth in a row.

BATTING—Frank Malzone, Red Sox, singled, doubled and hit two home runs in 16-0 romp over Athletics.

Armstrong Wins 10th

NEW YORK (AP) — "Ace" Armstrong, shifty Elizabeth, N.J., middleweight, counted 10 straight victims today — a clean record since he turned professional.

Armstrong has yet to register a knockout—but he is a clever boxer. Last night, he outpointed Rudy Sawyer of New York, in the feature 10 at St. Nicholas Arena.

Chisox Seeking to End Yanks' AL Domination

Hope to Stretch Six-Game Win Streak in Tilts in Chicago

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago White Sox, putting on a frantic drive to end the New York Yankees domination in the American League, open a three-game "last gasp" series against the perennial champions tonight.

The Sox are riding the crest of a six-game winning streak which has cut New York's lead to 3½ games.

It will be the first time this season that the Sox face the Yanks with catcher Sherm Lollar and centerfielder Larry Doby both in top physical condition. Manager Al Lopez has his three top pitchers well rested for the Bombers.

Lopez figures his pitching will hold up but he hopes that Lollar and Doby can provide the necessary offense which has been sagging all season with the exception of Nellie Fox and Minnie Minoso.

"We can win the pennant," says the mild-mannered Lopez, "if Lollar and Doby give us a boost with their bats."

Lollar missed some 40 games because of an injured wrist but currently is the hottest hitter in the Sox lineup. He has hit safely in the last eight games, driving in 12 runs and averaging .419.

Doby, also injured part of the season, is in a slump which has dropped his average below the .300 mark. He is hitless in his last 12 at bats but usually puts on his best performance against the Yankees.

Lopez plans to use Jim Wilson (13-8), Billy Pierce (17-9) and Dick Donovan (15-3) against New York in that order. Wilson, however, has been bothered with a sore tendon in his pitching arm and if he isn't able to start, reliever Gerry Staley (5-0) will pitch tonight.

Manager Casey Stengel plans to go with righthanders Art Ditmar (8-3), Bob Turley (10-5) and Tom Sturdivant (12-6).

The Sox must win two if not all three games to stay in serious contention. The Yankees hold a 10-7 season edge over the Sox and seven of New York's triumphs have been by two or less runs.

A Chicago sweep would find the Yankees ahead by one-half game in the win column. Two out of three for Chicago would cut the Yankee lead to 2½ games.

A Yankee sweep would up New York's lead to 6½ games with 28 left to play and end the race for all practical purposes. Even two-of-three would see the Yankees leave with a comfortable 4½ game lead.

Despite Failure at Midland

Shaw's Makes Enviable Softball Mark

Shaw's failed in its bid to win a Class AA state major softball crown last weekend at Midland, but despite this setback the Jewelers compiled an enviable record for the 1957 season.

Boasting a superb pitching staff and timely hitting, Shaw's posted an overall season record of 29 wins against only seven losses.

The Jewelers won the City League championship hands down with a 19-1 mark as their three-man mound corps of Perc McConner, Jake Mazur and Doug Hall put fabulous achievements into the record book.

Their next step was to qualify for the state tourney by whipping Herlich's of Flint two straight in a two-team best-of-three regional at Beaudette Park.

Any doubts about the quality of Shaw's pitching were thoroughly squelched in the state finals at Midland when McConner, Mazur and Hall did amazing jobs against Michigan's toughest competition.

Shaw's dropped its opening game to Jackson, a heartbreaking 1-0 defeat in nine innings, despite the five-hit twirling of Mazur. Then the Jewelers started their long, hard climb to the finals through the loser's bracket.

The way they did it was very reminiscent of the regular City League campaign. Their hurlers took command and spun four consecutive shutouts.

Hall blanked Grand Rapids, 5-0, on a two-hit performance; McConner flipped a one-hitter to stop Mt. Clemens, 2-0; Mazur tossed a five-hitter to gain revenge on Jackson, 3-0, and McConner came back with a three-hit chore for a 3-0 victory over Midland.

These triumphs moved Shaw's into the tournament final opposite Allen Park. The Jewelers received sparkling three-hit pitching from Mazur, but their reliable defense betrayed them and they lost the title game, 6-0.

In overall competition this year, Shaw's hurlers gave up only 25 runs over a span of 242 innings. During the City League season, they allowed only eight runs and 24 hits in 131 innings. Five no-hitters were thrown, three by McConner and two by Hall.

Although the Jewelers are not attempting to alibi for their demise at Midland, one factor in their elimination was fatigue. It's a rough trip to the final round through the loser's bracket and they just ran out of gas.

Bud Says Sooners Sound but Slower

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Bud Wilkinson says his Oklahoma University football team will be sound this year but won't match last year's national champions because of the loss of speed.

Sports writers heard the happier-than-usual Wilkinson point out this year's prospects yesterday.

Wilkinson said he isn't worried about the pressure built up by 40 straight football victories but the opening game against Pittsburgh is a headache.

Pittsburgh is the big obstacle for several reasons, Wilkinson explained. He said the Panthers are as good as last year and average 227 pounds in the line.

Electronic Bird Calls Under Ban

U. S. Falls in Line With Canada on Bar to Hi-Fi Devices

WASHINGTON (AP) — Americans planning to hunt migratory game birds in Canada this fall are urged to familiarize themselves with the new N. S. import limits on such game.

The Interior Department said limits had been changed in the migratory bird treaty act regulations to conform to new export restrictions adopted by the Canadian government in July.

This announcement followed word that use of electronic and electrical devices or recordings in the taking of migratory game birds will be prohibited during the 1957-58 season. That change in regulations also followed earlier Canadian action and was described as needed because of the effectiveness of the electronic devices in calling ducks and geese.

Under the new import regulations, during the 1957 season there will be a seasonal limit of 25 ducks and 10 geese which can be shipped by American hunters from the provinces of Alberta, British Columbia, Manitoba and Saskatchewan.

From the remaining provinces and territories of Canada, the imports will be limited to 16 ducks and 10 geese per calendar week.

Four Teams Face Ouster

WASHINGTON, Pa. (AP) — Four teams, each with 0-1 records, had their backs to the wall today as second round play was scheduled in the sixth annual Pony League World Series.

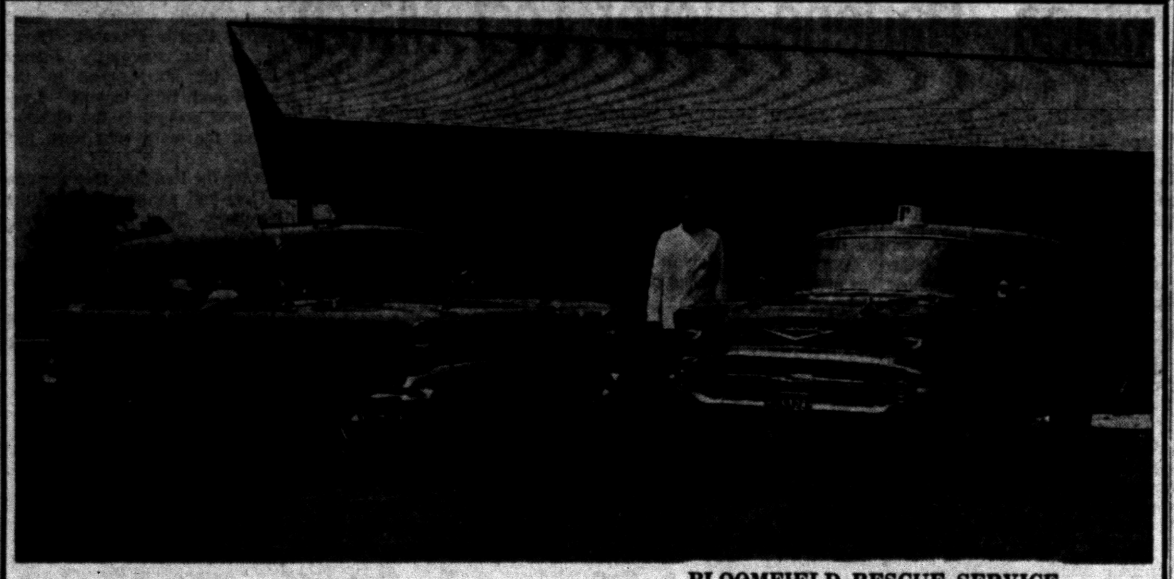

Two defeats eliminate a team in the tournament.

Fighter Dupas in Federal Court to Prove His Race

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Lightweight boxer Ralph Dupas today entered the second round of his toughest fight, a legal battle with the city over his racial status.

Dupas, 21, third-ranking contender for the lightweight title, opened a suit in Federal District Court yesterday asking that the city be made to show cause why he should not be issued a birth certificate showing him to be a member of the white race.

The State Athletic Commission ruled recently Dupas cannot fight in Louisiana until he obtains such a certificate. The Louisiana Legislature passed a law last year prohibiting athletic competition between whites and Negroes.

The first hassle over the boxer's racial status arose last spring, prior to his meeting with welterweight contender Vince Martinez of Paterson, N.J. Mrs. Lucretia Gravolet of Davant in adjoining Plaquemines Parish told the commission she knew the Dupas family to be Negro and used the name Duplessis when it lived in Plaquemines.

But the commission held at the time it could find nothing to cancel its earlier approval of the Dupas-Martinez match and allowed it to be held. The commission ruling ordering Dupas to obtain the birth certificate came later.

Mrs. Fox Sets Pace in MGA Tournament

Mrs. Charles F. Fox held a four-stroke lead today as the annual Women's MGA 54-hole tournament entered its 2nd round at Hillcrest County Club.

Mrs. Fox fired an opening day 40-38—78, three over women's par. Ex-champ Mrs. W. H. Falco shot 82 for 2nd place and Mrs. R. F. DeBolt was in 3rd spot with 83. Defending champion Mrs. Midge Cova had 92.

Jubilant Kaline Hopes to Stay on Plate Spree

Al Hitting Above .300 First Time Since Early in May

DETROIT (AP) — Al Kaline is back at the .300 batting mark for the first time in nearly four months—and he intends to stay there.

"For the first time this season I feel like my old self up there at the plate," said the young outfielder.

Kaline banged out a home run and a single yesterday in four at-bats against the New Yankees. His average rose to .300 for the first time since early in May.

"It's a big struggle getting your average up to .300 this late in the season," the 22-year-old Kaline said just a week ago. "But after I get there, I think I can stay."

He got there yesterday and it was his hitting that won the 5-2 contest for Frank Lary. Kaline now has driven in 13 runs in four games and has hit 11 home runs during August.

"If I could explain why I wasn't hitting well for so long I'd be the greatest answer-man in the world," said Kaline, who has had to be content with his tremendous fielding over most of the campaign. "Some people said I was swinging at bad pitches — others said I was swinging differently — others suggested I was lunging at the ball—and a few said I wasn't trying. I can't put my finger on it—but I know this: Now that I'm hitting, it feels wonderful."

Manager Jack Tighe will send three righthanders against the Boston Red Sox in the series opening tonight. He'll start with Paul Foytack (13-10) and follow with Duke Maas (9-9) and Jim Bunning (15-6).

Whopper Perch Winds Up in Frying Pan

A 14½-inch long, one and a half pound yellow perch was landed during a Sunday fishing expedition on Upper Straits lake. The surprised angler was Danny Smock, 6306 Upper Straits Blvd.

"I was fishing in 30 feet of water, using a shiner minnow," says Danny. "When I saw that big perch I was surprised. It's the biggest I ever saw. It'll be good eating."

Gophers All Set to Challenge Iowa in Big Ten

CHICAGO (AP) — Minnesota, with an all-veteran starting lineup headed by All-America candidate Bobby Cox, is all set to challenge Iowa's defending champions in the upcoming Big Ten football race.

Right along with the Gophers and Hawkeyes will be Michigan State and Michigan while Ohio State and Northwestern appear as darkhorses, ready to step in if any of the other contenders falter.

That seems to be the situation as the Western Conference prepares to open another campaign with most of the teams scheduled to start drills Saturday.

Last year Iowa was expected to be an also ran. Instead Coach Forrest Evashevski's crew won the title and went on to defeat Oregon State in the Rose Bowl.

This year, Illinois, Purdue, Wisconsin and Indiana fall into the "also ran" category where Iowa was placed before the 1956 season opened.

Iowa is the team to beat. Hawks lost quarterback Ken Ploen and end Frank Gilliam but they have 21 lettermen returning. Back again is end Jim Gibbons, tackles Alex Karras and Dick Klein, both of whom anchored Iowa's stout defense, halfbacks Collins Hagler and Bill Happel and fullbacks John Nocera and Fred Harris.

Ready to take over at quarterback is Randy Duncan. He is not as capable a ball handler or runner as Ploen, but he is rated a much better passer. For this reason, Evashevski is expected to lean toward the standard T-formation rather than the winged-T.

Murray Warmath has 27 lettermen returning at Minnesota and is better than two-deep at every position.

Gophers have a powerful line headed by Frank Youso and flanked by Jon Jelacic and Perry Gehring. In the backfield are such veterans as Ken Bombardier, Bob Soltis, Bob Schultz, Dave Lindblom and fullback Dick Borstad.

Michigan will rely on the power plays of fullback John Herrnstein, who scored 42 points last season, and the passing and running of quarterback Jim Van Pelt and tailback Jim Pace. Lost are ends Ron Kramer and Tom Maentz but Gary Prahst—considered another Kramer—and Chuck Teuscher are ready to step in.

Michigan State could go all the way if the Spartans aren't hit by another injury bug. Considered a sure-bet last season, Michigan State finished the campaign with eight regulars sidelined by injuries. Coach Duffy Daugherty has 27 letter winners, including halfbacks Walt Kowalczyk and Blanche Martin, center Dan Currie, tackle Pat Burke, ends Tony Kolodiej and Dave Kaiser—hero of the 1956 Rose Bowl champions—and fullback Dan Gilbert.

Ohio State lost a lot through graduation but the Buckeyes, who always come up with a wealth of material, are optimistic.

Northwestern, last year's surprise, has seven regulars back in its list of 14 lettermen. Once again depth could be the big problem at Evanton.

There's an unexpected note of optimism at Illinois where Coach Ray Eliot usually has the crying towel out. However, Bill Offenbecker will have to play a more consistent game at quarterback if the Illini hope to improve their 2-5-2 record.

Purdue is without quarterback Len Dawson and ends Lamar Lundy and Bob Khoenle. Boilermakers will have to rely on their ground game led by Mel Dillard, top rusher in the Big Ten.

Wisconsin is rebuilding and will rely on sophomores.

Indiana, having lost newly appointed Coach Phil Dickens for one year because of recruiting irregularities, will operate from the single wing. Hoosiers have problems galore and must face Michigan State, Notre Dame, Iowa and Ohio State in their first four games.

Giambra Praises Rory After Loss

Calls Calhoun Toughest Middleweight Following 10-Round Beating

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Anyone wanting to know how tough middleweight Rory Calhoun is should ask San Francisco's Joey Giambra.

"Calhoun's the toughest in the middleweight division," the handsome Giambra said after taking a 10-round beating from the White Plains, N. Y., Negro last night. "He takes a good punch and hits hard. And that's what makes a champion."

Calhoun, 22, ranked fifth in his division, a step below Giambra, started slow but caught up in the fourth round. He connected repeatedly with rights to the head. After three good rights, he pushed Giambra, 1½ pounds heavier at 160, and Joey went down. Referee Jack Downey called it a push.

Calhoun, using that big right again in the fifth, had Giambra backing up. In the ninth, Calhoun smacked the loser eight times in a row with uppercuts.

Americans 'Suckers for Imports'

Chicagoan Urges British On

LONDON (AP) —A Chicago businessman urged British traders to try some high-powered salesmanship in the United States. He said Americans are "really suckers for imported merchandise and are willing to pay high prices for it."

Thomas H. Coulter, chief executive officer of the Chicago Assn. of Commerce and Industry, is in Britain in connection with the proposed Chicago International Fair of 1959.

He cited automobiles as an example of the type of goods Americans are going for.

"In the first six months of this year," he said, "4 per cent of the new car registrations in Chicago were of imported cars. People in Chicago are sports car happy."

He chided British automobile manufacturers for overlooking the Chicago market while the Germans are so busy that "Volkswagons are common on the streets of the city."

"You should come over and see us," he said, "we should like to have you discover us. There are six million of us sitting in Chicago, and within our trading area there are 40 per cent of the total population of America. We are the best paid and best fed section of the United States."

Raise Jury Allowances

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Judiciary Committee today approved a House-passed bill to increase the mileage and living allowances for members of federal grand and petit juries. The mileage allowance would go up from 7 cents to 10 cents a mile for travel to and from home, and the subsistence allowance would rise from $5 to $7 a day.

Gets Axle Contract

UTICA (AP) — Napco Industries Inc. has been awarded a 10-million dollar contract by Utica-Bend Corp., a Utica, Mich., subsidiary of Curtiss-Wright Corp. The 10-month contract calls for production of axles for 5,000 six-wheel drive trucks.

The width of United States ships is determined by the Panama Canal, and the height by the Brooklyn Bridge.

Missile News Boosts Aircrafts

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market rallied in fairly active trading early today.

Prices interrupted their series of declines as leading stocks advanced from fractions to a point or more.

Aircrafts made some good gains as Russia's reported success with the intercontinental ballistic missile led Wall Street to expect more emphasis on development work in the United States.

Martin Co. was up two at 29¾ on 1,500 shares. General Dynamics, which rose against the trend yesterday on news of its proposed merger with Liquid Carbonic, added more than a point. Boeing, Douglas and United Aircraft made fractional gains.

Rails firmed after their recent severe losses and Northern Pacific rose well over a point in active dealings following news of a big rise in its oil and gas revenues.

Shares of the oil industry itself were higher with Gulf Oil and Standard Oil (New Jersey) up around a point. Chrysler paced the motor division with an advance of more than a point.

Gainers included Anaconda, Kennecott, Radio Corp., Loew's, U.S. Rubber, International Nickel, Union Carbide, Du Pont, Westinghouse Electric, Schering and Baltimore & Ohio.

Opening blocks included Johns-Manville up ⅝ at 41⅝ on 1,200 shares; Chrysler up 1⅜ at 75¾ on 1,700; and General Electric off ⅛ at 63⅛ on 2,500.

Week's Auto Output Tops Since June 29

DETROIT (AP) — Auto makers built 123,194 passenger cars last week, the Automobile Manufacturers Assn. reported today.

The week's productin included 20,530 trucks and motor coaches for a total of 143,724 vehicles of all types. The AMA said automobile production was the highest since the week ended June 29.

The previous week's total output amounted to 137,688 units.

Total motor vehicle output for the year through Aug. 24 stood at 5,014,169 units compared with 1956, the AMA said. This year's 4,745,175 in the similar period of total includes 4,277,400 passenger cars, 733,985 trucks and 2,784 coaches.

Last year's total for the comparable period included 3,988,345 cars, 753,825 trucks and 3,005 coaches.

Door Firm Promotes 2 Men From Area

A pair of area men have been promoted to new positions by Steel Door Corp., national builders of garage doors with plants in Birmingham, Atlanta, Ga., and Wingham, Ont.

George M. DeVere, 31, of 1977 Villa, Birmingham, has been appointed manager of the firm's wholesale division. He was formerly sales representative and assistant sales manager.

Frank B. Howard, 40, of 2906 Lake Angelus Rd., Waterford Township, also moved from the post of sales representitive and assistant sales manager, to managership of the company's newly-created industrial-commercial division.

CMC Declares Dividend

DETROIT (AP) — Continental Motors Corp. Monday declared a dividend of 10 cents a share on common stock, payable Oct. 4 to stockholders of record Sept. 13. Previous dividend was 10 cents, paid on July 12.

If China's birthrate continues to multiply at the rate of two per cent per year, says the Population Reference Bureau, Inc., her population by 1980, only 23 years from now, will reach one billion.

Most Grains Move Lower

CHICAGO (AP) — Most grain prices moved lower on the board of trade again today, reflecting a lack of factors to stimulate an upward trend.

There was nothing in the news to influence the trade generally and dealings were rather dull in early trading.

Wheat, off nearly two cents at yesterday's close, declined further on a little selling attributed to commission house liquidation. There also was some hedge selling in the bread grain.

Corn and soybeans dropped back fractionally, influenced mainly by the fact that a weather bureau forecast of frost in northern Minnesota failed to materialize. Oats followed the action in corn and beans.

Near the end of the first hour, new style wheat was ¼ lower to ⅜ higher, Sept $2.15¾; corn was ⅛ to ⅝ lower, Sept $1.25⅝; oats were ⅛ lower to ⅛ higher, Sept 65⅞; rye was ¼ lower to 1 cent higher, Sept $1.30; soybeans were unchanged to ⅝ lower. Sept. $2.39⅞; and lard was 5 to 7 cents a hundred pounds higher, Sept $12.42.

Wisconsin Blaze Levels Six Stores

REEDSBURGH, Wis. (AP)—A raging fire—visible 45 miles away—destroyed six business places in the heart of this little south central Wisconsin city today and was threatening a seventh.

Eight fire departments from nearby communities were fighting the blaze, which was fanned by a light breeze.

Ten persons, none of them injured, were evacuated from the one and two-story buildings in the business district.

A department store, the largest in Sauk County, was a complete loss.

An auto firm, situated in the rear of the store, also was reported destroyed along with about 25 automobiles in an adjacent used car lot.

A state police dispatcher reported seeing the flames early today from atop a 10-story building in Madison, 45 miles to the southeast.

More Possibility Than Jelled Fact

Deflation Ahead—Some Signs Indicate It

Editor's Note — Talk of deflation is spreading from Wall Street to Main Street. Sam Dawson, Associated Press business news analyst, discusses the talk and the business trends that gave birth to it in a two-part series starting today.

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—The steam in the inflation boiler isn't thumping as loudly. More talk is heard today of the chance that deflation may be ahead.

Businessmen and stock market traders are paying more heed to the scattered signs of industrial slowdown and of cautious or reluctant buying.

And when prices of some commodities fall or price cutting breaks out in consumer goods here and there much more notice is being taken than was just a few weeks back.

What does it add up to? So far, the trends are more of a possibility than of jelled fact. But even some top government officials are now saying we may have hit the peak—in interest rates, in production facility expansion, in national income.

Until mid July the stock market was in an inflationary mood. Then the professionals either took to the sidelines or started selling in the notion, right or wrong, that the fall business pickup would be small or nonexistent.

The bond market was in a slump while the inflation theory was rampant. Then the head of the federal reserve opined that interest rates might have hit their peak, and bonds looked better and buying rallied their prices.

The chiefs of the New York and Cleveland districts of the federal reserve later swung into line with the higher rates.

The federal reserve's top man in Washington told senators a trend is developing—toward more saving and less spending on the part of both consumers and business. More spending would feed inflationary fires. More saving will help quench them.

The outgoing undersecretary of the Treasury reported signs that the tight money policy was finally working.

The Treasury's top money manager added that some industries may find they were overconfident of demand when they expanded their capacity to produce.

Big city bankers joined the chorus. The First National City Bank of New York, the nation's second largest, reported businessmen guided in their ordering more by the chance of falling prices than of rising ones.

Chicago's Northern Trust Co. noted consumer spending being influenced adversely by reluctance to pay higher prices.

Small city bankers agree. A Boise, Idaho, banker tells the trade paper, the American Banker, that "the present cycle — at least, in its more violent phases—is about at an end."

Most bankers and most business men see a slowdown in the boom — but they don't see deflation as anything more than a possibility.

No Hike in Waterford Tax Rate

There will be no increase in the tax rate levied by Waterford Township. However, the county equalized rate was raised .11 mill.

This was revealed at last night's township board meeting when members approved the 1957 tax spread, presented by Supervisor Elmer Johnson.

Last year's assessed valuation rate was $2.70 per $1,000. The state equalizing factor was slightly higher, making this year's assessed valuation $2.83 per $1,000.

The Waterford Township 1957 assessed valuation is $35,554,316, and the state equalized at $76,222,912, making an equalizing factor of 2.143.

Other business was the second postponement of the rezoning of a one-acre section of land along Walton Boulevard. More information is needed regarding a five foot greenbelt surrounding the plot near Indianwood Manor.

Several residents of the area were present to voice their approval of the rezoning for a proposed gas station. However, they expressed concern about the type of greenbelt to be planted.

A policy established by the former township board regarding electrical and building permits was also tabled for further study. The former policy of not refunding money on unused permits after a period of one year was not approved by the present board, until a check with other communities has been made.

Minimum permit charge for each building is $5, and $3.50 for electrical permits.

Board members accepted the resignation of Richard Lamberton as township trustee, and Jesse McCrary as constable.

Lamberton has moved to California, McCrary also is moving to California. The board was asked by Johnson to consider replacements for the two officials immediately.

An agreement between Louis Dorman and the township regarding the erection of a fence around the Waterford Cemetery was approved. Board members have an estimated cost of $963 for the fence installation, and Dorman has agreed one half of the cost for fence abutting his property.

Bids will be asked and opened at 8 p.m. Sept. 16.

An insurancy policy of $74,550 for three township-owned pumping stations and a sewer plant was issued the township by James Boaz, agent for All State Insurance Co.

Boaz was asked to submit another blanket policy for all four utilities, which will cover fire, windstorm and vandalism.

A group of residents were present protesting the delay in the blacktopping of Hospital Rd. They claim that petitions have been presented two different times, and have been "buried."

Johnson told the group that new petitions would have to be presented, and Hospital Rd., along with eight or 10 other projects, would be included in one big blacktopping bond issue next spring.

Two board of review members along with Johnson have been authorized to attend the tax conference to be held in East Lansing Sept. 17-18.

Newsmen Get Kick in Teeth, Boot in Pants

Frustration Meets Efforts to Enter China

(One of the 11 American newsmen in Hong Kong with passports valid for travel in Communist China describes in the following dispatch the frustrations of being caught between two governments.)

By MARVIN STONE

HONG KONG (INS) — For all their legendary composure even foreign correspondents find it hard to keep their balance while getting kicked in the pants at one end and in the teeth at the other.

There are 11 such reporters in Hong Kong, and they are not sure whether they are more peeved at Washington or Peiping for the frustrations and discomfort involved in trying to gain entry into Communist China.

In my own case—as one of the 11—I started this trip to the mainland eight years ago; so it's fairly sensible to remain patient. It has been like waiting for the Robert E. Lee to come 'round the bend.

When International News Service put me in its foreign service in 1949, it was with the intention of sending me to China but the Communists beat me to Shanghai. So I went to Europe instead.

When I returned to Asia five years ago, and after the Korean war ended, I started with my colleagues to ask the Chinese Reds for a visa to report from the mainland.

NO LOVE LOST

We made no bones that no love was lost between us and the Communists but we, then as now, were determined to be objective.

I confronted Red China's smiling Premier Chou En-lai at a social gathering in Bandung two and a half years ago and put the issue squarely to him. He said we would always be welcome to cover the mainland but our own government indicated it would refuse to let us enter. We invited a test.

Finally, last August invitations from Peiping went out to some 20 American newsmen. My own was in the form of a cable from Red China's foreign office advising me to pick up a visa in a small town just across the border from Hong Kong by Sept. 20 or forfeit my opportunity.

It was then that Secretary of State John Foster Dulles put his foot down officially.

Almost a year later, after bitter feuding with the U.S. press, Dulles relented.

However, the newsmen in Hong Kong know—at least we strongly feel—that Dulles' statement last Thursday was calculated to provoke an angry response from Peiping.

DULLES THROWS IN WRENCH

Dulles threw in extraneous issues such as telling us what to report when he mentioned our American prisoners, he told the Chinese how many newsmen they could accept and told them—although they never were interested before—they could not send Chinese reporters to America in return.

To reporters anxious to make the trip it seemed a needlessly provocative statement and added up to a kick in the pants.

Peiping's answer has been more Chinese than Communist. No country wants to be dictated to by the secretary of state of another country.

The Chinese reply was to be expected but in typical Communist fashion Peiping added a kick in the teeth by labeling us "spies" and trouble makers.

The Hong Kong newspaper South China Morning Post said editorially today, "It would seem both Peiping and Washington can be, unofficially of course, satisfied with the outcome (preventing newsmen entering).

REASONABLE SUMMATION

"Only the American news correspondents remain frustrated. But that's no new sensation to them."

This strikes one as being a somewhat reasonable summation.

Meanwhile, Communist contacts in Hong Kong are handing out tips that Peiping probably will choose two or three of us to enter, probably within a week or two.

So our main pastime at the moment is watching each other to make sure no one has slipped off on some special basis.

This took an extreme form last night when one correspondent took a girl to a nightclub and danced with her until 3 a.m.

Seven others sat stolidly at another table keeping tabs. This probably was above and beyond the call of duty since there was no bar.

Pontiac Reveals Vauxhall Prices

1st Cars for East Coast, Then Far West; Expect 500 Units Monthly

Possible prices and distribution schedules for the Vauxhall were announced today by Pontiac Motor Division, which will market the English auto in this country.

Division officials said the American port of entry price for the car is expected to be slightly less than $2,000. The firm plans to bring in 500 of the cars in September and October and 1,000 in November, officials said.

IN EAST FIRST

Original shipments will be sold on the American East coast, prime foreign car market in the country. The first expansion of that program will be to the West coast, followed by a general move to the Midwest and South.

In its latest issue, the trade paper Automotive News lists price and import predictions for the German Opel Rekord, to be marketed here by Buick.

The port of entry price on the Opel is expected to be slightly more than $1,900, with monthly loads of 1,000 cars expected starting in November.

The automotive digest also predicted that new car registration will hit the four million mark about six days later this year than in 1956.

Gas Odor Brings Flood of Calls to Police, Sheriff

Residents of Oakland County, still jittery from news of the gas explosion which leveled a Keego Harbor home last week, clogged switchboard with gas leakage reports today.

Hundreds of calls from residents in the Keego Harbor, Orchard Lake, and Westacres area today tied up switchboards at the Consumers Power Co., Oakland County Sheriff's Department, and Pontiac State Police Post.

District Manager Edward L. Karkau, of Consumers Power, explained the supposed leakage as a "harmless over-odorization which should dissipate during the day."

"The gas itself is odorless," he said, "so we always add a chemical mixture to give it a scent in case actual leakage should occur."

An accidental overdose of the chemical, which is harmless, was the cause of the frenzied "leakage" reports. Consumers Power assured all complaintants that there was absolutely no danger.

States Plan to Meet Threat of Asian Flu

By FRANK CAREY

WASHINGTON (AP)—State health officers gathered today to plan the battle against a possible epidemic of Asian flu this fall or winter.

The Association of State and Territorial Health Officers of the United States was called in special meeting by Surgeon General Leroy E. Burney of the U.S. Public Health Service.

Burney has said that if an epidemic occurs, at least 13 million to 26 million persons could be sickened — even considering the estimated protective value of a new vaccine. Supplies of this vaccine still are limited.

The surgeon general said the incidence of the flu might be kept to that minimum if any epidemic did not occur until 60 million doses of the vaccine had been administered.

That's the supply presently hoped for by Feb. 1 or possibly by Jan. 1. Public Health Service authorities say the vaccine should protect 70 per cent of persons receiving it, based on past experience with other flu vaccines. But Burney indicated that if any such epidemic occurs before the 60 million doses are administered—and flu usually strikes any time from late fall to early winter—the range of incidence could be higher.

The health service announced yesterday the release of another 85,000 doses of the vaccine. This was the second batch to be cleared for military and civilian use. The first, released Aug. 12, totaled 502,000 doses. Six licensed manufacturers are producing the vaccine.

President Eisenhower yesterday was inoculated against Asian flu on the recommendation of Burney. White House press secretary James C. Hagerty said Eisenhower had been in contact last week with two persons who later developed mild cases of what has been diagnosed tentatively as Asian flu.

Meanwhile, a health service spokesman said approximately 30,000 confirmed or suspected cases of the disease have been reported from various parts of the country.

The health officers normally meet with the surgeon general in November to discuss matters of public health interest.

But the health service, in announcing plans for the special two-day meeting more than a week ago, said: "Dr. Burney said he felt that discussions of the Asian influenza situation should not await . . . (the regular annual) meetings."

Presumably, there will be discussion of the Public Health Service's previously announced recommendation for a voluntary interstate allocation system for the vaccine.

Under that proposal, each state would be entitled to a percentage of vaccine produced by each manufacturer, based on the ratio of the state's population of that of the nation.

The health officers also are expected to discuss priorities in administering the vaccine. Spokesmen say the Public Health Service has informally recommended that communities give priority to doctors and other health workers, policemen and firemen, key federal and municipal employes, and to workers in essential industries such as transportation and communication.

Rate Boost Drive Opened by Michigan Consolidated

LANSING (AP) — Michigan Consolidated Gas Co. today opened a drive for rate increases that it contends are needed to provide a "just and reasonable" return on investment.

Company officials started building their case in hearings before the State Public Service Commission.

Michigan Consolidated serves more than 835,000 customers, including some 460,000 heating their homes with gas, about half of them in the Detroit area.

Other subscribers are in the Grand Rapids, Muskegon, Ann Arbor, Greenville - Belding, Big Rapids, Traverse City, Ludington and Mt. Pleasant districts.

Before the hearings started, Taylor Township in Wayne County went on record against any rate adjustment and the Federated Civic Assn. of Northwest Detroit sent word its representatives would attend.

The utility, which last was granted a rate increase in August, 1955, said in its petition that financing and operating costs had risen millions of dollars since 1954.

It cited higher costs of financing 31 million dollars in new construction and improvements programmed for 1957, and mentioned "prospective" new taxes.

Among these were the corporation income and individual income tax proposals rejected by the 1957 legislature.

Russians Inspect Taconite Mining

DULUTH, Minn. (AP)—Russia's touring mining group met a familiar figure yesterday while inspecting the extensive taconite installation of Reserve Mining Co. north of here near Lake Superior.

They discussed mutual problems and old times with Dr. E. W. Davis, termed the "father" of the U.S. taconite industry. S. M. Meleshkin, who heads the Soviet group, said Dr. Davis—who inspected Russian mining operations 27 years ago—"is well known to us."

Plant officials said the Russians were "well informed" on taconite methods and jet piercing drill systems.

The Russians presented their guide, Edward Schmid Jr. of Reserve Mining, with a bottle of vodka, a picture of the Kremlin and a recently publicized book describing mining techniques in the Soviet Union.

In return, Schmid gave the visitors a mail order catalogue, which he described as "one of the best illustrated descriptions of the American way of life." Schmid said the Russians were "extremely interested" in the catalogue's varied list of merchandise available to the average American worker.

Today's schedule includes a trip around the Duluth-Superior, Wis. harbor in a U.S. engineer's tug and a visit to the Minnesota State Fair in St. Paul.

State's World Boaters Leave Continental U.S.

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Four Michigan boaters planning to see the world are leaving the continental United States this week.

They are Mr. and Mrs. Chris Kappler of South Haven and Mrs. Maxine Hawley and her 18-year old son Matthew Wallus, both of Kalamazoo.

From here they plan to travel the Gulf of Mexico to Florida in their 45-foot schooner. Kappler, a carpenter, said they may stop in Florida a while to enable him to work and bolster their finances before setting sail for the West Indies.

HER NIBS SINGS — Georgia Gibbs, who now has her own 15-minute television show, claims that men performers have it much easier than women. The vocalist points out that the girls are beset by many wardrobe and makeup problems that the males can avoid. Her songfest is presented Mondays at 6:30 p. m. over NBC.

Wilsons Are Stricken by Asiatic Flu in Rio

By EARL WILSON

SAO PAULO — We might as well break down and admit that we've had the "Asiatic flu" here . . . on our vacation, yet.

Our Slugger had to stay in bed with it four days in Rio . . . pretty rough for a boy out of school who had the beautiful swimming pool of the hotel right outside his window.

WILSON

My sniffles and cough didn't keep me from going out in the sun to speak to Dany Dauberson, the beauteous French star who just arrived . . . but Slugger had a much worse case.

And for the victims here it's so uncomfortable because the sun's shining torridly on you in the day time . . . and you're coughing and sneezing.

We found our flu about like other colds.

Some here would doubt that it is the Asiatic flu. Health Minister Mauricio Medeiros even denied to newspapermen that there was any existence of flu in Rio. Next day he was taken sick. With the flu.

DANY AND EARL

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Bob Hope packed some gags about the Confidential trial and left for a $100,000 personal appearance in Toronto . . . The late Joanne Connelly Patino's mother says she'll never allow a film about her daughter . . . Gene Kelly says his "feud" with Natalie Wood must be a publicity stunt — he likes the gal. (Bob Wagner is with her at the "Morningstar" location).

Ivy Baker Priest, treasurer of the U.S., joined the Diners Club. Asked to name her bank, she answered jokingly: "Fort Knox" . . . Nat (King) Cole's TV success has boosted his price for a guest appearance to 15G's . . . Frank Costello's around town minus his bodyguards . . .

Joni James opened in Miami Beach minus sec'y, maid or pianist — all flu victims . . . Singer Fran Warren chopped her hair short for a tour with "South Pacific" . . . Tennis great Fred Perry's off to Moscow to teach Russia's Davis Cup hopefuls.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Nowadays when a husband says to his wife, "Let's go to see a movie," they just move from the kitchen to the TV set in the living room.

EARL'S PEARLS: Travel can be very educational. Nowadays when you're stuck in traffic you have time to read a book. That's earl, brother.

Japanese Reporters Leave Red China

TOKYO (AP)—A Kyodo News service executive today said all Japanese newsmen have left Communist China because the Peiping government has refused to extend their visas.

Some Japanese newsmen speculated that the Red Chinese government hopes to force Japan to accept Communist newsmen.

Goro Teranishi, foreign news chief for Kyodo, said Toshiyuki Imamura of the news service was the last Japanese newsman to leave Red China. He arrived in Hong Kong Sunday after being unable to get a visa extension.

Teranishi said the Reds gave Imamura no reason for rejecting his application.

Wine Imports Jump

BOSTON—The United States imported 7,819,590 gallons of wine during 1956, an increase of 9.24 per cent over 1955.

Craig, Baird Play 2nd Tie on 'Twenty-One'

NEW YORK (AP)—Dairy farmer Harold Craig, Granville, N.Y., and industrial consultant John Baird, Los Angeles, played their second tie game last night on NBC-TV's Twenty-One quiz.

When they continue next Monday night, Craig will be ahead 11-10. The stakes are $1,500 a point in the difference between the scores.

Craig, 26, already has won $84,000. He could win or lose as much as $31,500 next week.

Will Air Queen's Talks

NEW YORK (AP) — ABC's TV and radio networks plan to air Queen Elizabeth's address to Canada during her visit there Sunday, Oct. 13, at 9 p.m. (EDT). Her appearance before the Canadian parliament will be aired Oct. 14 at 3 p.m. (EDT).

New TV Series Shows Off Skill

'Her Nibs' Got Started in Vocalizing Career as Girl of 11

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP) — Men performers have it much easier than women on television, says Georgia Gibbs, the girl who has launched a delightful new program of songs on NBC-TV Monday evenings.

"A man just puts on a tux or a dark suit and goes before the cameras," she said. "But a woman has so many problems. What clothes will she wear? How will she fix her hair? Is her makeup right? It seems to me I spend three days a week fussing over my clothes for a 15-minute show."

Because of the care with which she selects her clothing ("I strive for simplicity"), viewers don't realize she is only five feet. But the home audience has discovered she can sing anything: Ballads or blues, beguines or rock 'n' roll, and she can belt them or sing them sweet.

Georgia began singing in a Worcester, Mass., movie house when she was 11 years old, the youngest of four children of a widowed mother. Two years later she lied about her age and began touring with small bands, sometimes traveling 400 miles between one-night stands.

"Those were the important years, when a kid wants to be wanted," she recalls. "On the road it was lonelier than it can ever be again. Those years are lost. But singing the way I did then — sometimes 50 or 60 songs a night—that's real solid training."

When she felt she was ready for the big plunge, she came to New York and competed with 150 other singers for a vocal spot on the Jimmy Durante radio show, landing the job. After that she appeared with such stars as Danny Kaye, Eddie Cantor, Bob Hope and Milton Berle. Her big break came with her 13th recording, "Kiss of Fire," which sold over a million.

After that hit the offers for singing engagements poured in from clubs in both this country and Europe.

Detroit Pair Recovering After Terrifying Ordeal

WINDSOR, Ont, (INS) — Mr. and Mrs. John A. Dunlop of Detroit, who went through a terrifying ordeal after their car struck a bridge abutment and plunged into Pike's Creek outside Windsor, were reported recovering "satisfactorily" today at Metropolitan Hospital.

Dunlop, 38, received only minor injuries in the acciedent Saturday night, but his wife, Dorothy, 39, suffered fractures of the pelvis and right leg and a ruptured gall bladder.

Both Dunlop and his wife crawled for help, in opposite directions, after the mishap.

Invented Machineguns

SALT LAKE CITY — Machine guns used by Americans in World War I were developed by John M. Browning of Utah.

Hoss Opery Stars Heading for Big Fall TV Roundup

BY ERSKINE JOHNSON

HOLLYWOOD (NEA) — Television show popularity rating systems may have to switch from points to notches for the new home screen season. Notches on the six-shooters of the biggest collection of western heroes since the motion picture industry hit the box office jackpot with "The Great Train Robbery."

BORGNINE

From every direction hoss opera stars are headed for the big fall 1957 TV roundup.

"Home on the Range" is TV's new theme song with NBC now meaning "Nothing but Cowboys."

At least NBC is out in front in this department. Whether it's a boom or bust depends on audience reaction to six-gallon hats and girls in sunbonnets.

The high-fated "adult western," "Gunsmoke," set the pace in the world of purple hills and boots and saddles and now it's a wholesale western riot with NBC alone introducing six new western shows this fall.

"Wagon Train," featuring Ward Bond as Wagonmaster Seth Adams, is one slated for a Sept. 11, premiere. Bob Horton will be scouting Injuns for Bond but the special "gimmick" of "Wagon Train" is a behind-the-scenes scout signing up big-name stars for the show.

Ernest Borgnine, Michael Rennie and Shelley Winters are the stars of the first three films.

Other names you hear being mentioned for the show are Bette Davis, Jimmy Stewart, Greer Garson, Ray Milland, Barbara Stanwyck and Lloyd Nolan.

"THE RESTLESS GUN," starring John Payne, debuts Sept. 23 with NBC's advance label of "a dramatic show which happens to be laid in the west." The show is "different," claims the network, "because Payne does not play a gun-slinger or a peace officer. He's a working cowboy who shoots at targets instead of people, and the plots will accent characterization instead of violence."

The series is based on radio's "Six Shooter," in which Jimmy Stewart once starred. Payne also will act as executive producer and will do some of the writing. All of the action takes place in the post-Civil War period.

Warming up in the NBC stable, which last season roped the Dale Robertson starrer, "Wells Fargo," are four other westerns.

The violence and rowdiness missing from "The Restless Gun" will be dished up in "The Californians," to be produced by Lou Edelman and Robert Sisk, the men behind "Wyatt Earp." This series will be told against the post-gold rush days of San Francisco with Adam Kennedy and Sean McClory as the costars.

Movieman Robert Bassler, who produced such films as "The Snake Pit," will ride herd on "The Californians," for Edelman and Sisk in the T Vrating chase.

"Pony Express" and "Union Pacific" are two other shows.

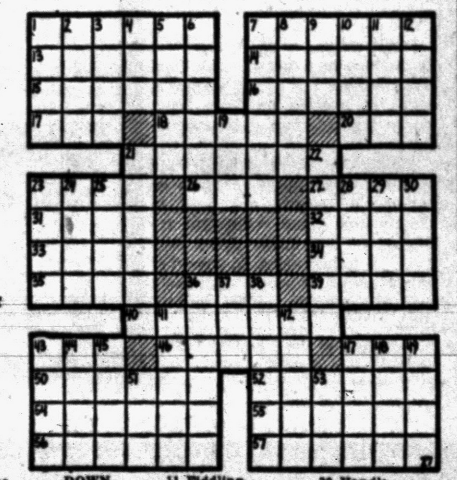

PAYNE

True stories of the Pony Express, with James Best as the star, will be told in complete weekly stories. Best was selected because of his marksmanship — his father was a gunsmith — and his stage, movie and TV acting experience. Jeff Morrow is the star of "Union Pacific," which will show "the trials and tribulations the builders of the railroad had to overcome to unite East and West."

Another oater, "Boots and Saddles," is based on "adventures of the U.S. Fifth Cavalry Regiment."

Yup, it looks like "power burns" will have to be added to the company insurance of NBC employes.

GRAND TOUR — The opening of the newest leg of the New York Thruway east of Erie, Pa., adds another 46 miles to the grand tour of U. S. turnpikes you can make for $38.45. Numbers on Newsmap locate turnpikes. A tour of these roads would cover about 2,500 miles. The cost of such a tour is approximate because small segments of the network being brought to completion vary the tolls. The only turnpike not shown is that at Boulder, Colo.

Still Leading Cause of Deaths

Teenage Driving—Is It a Public Menace? Statistics on Accidents Prove Very Little

(More teenagers are driving cars than ever before, stirring controversy as they go. Are they a menace on the roads? What should the minimum driving age be? Should they have their own cars? This is the first in a series of four articles presenting a national picture of teenage driving, factually and with the opinions of experts, teenagers and their parents.)

The kids were really having a ball as they bounced around the Kentucky countryside in their jalopy.

Playfully wresting over the steering wheel, turning corners on two screaming wheels, they were putting some life into what otherwise would have been a pretty boring Sunday afternoon.

The car was an ancient "heap" of 1941 vintage, but it was good for plenty of laughs, what with the brakes barely holding and the tires ready to go.

Suddenly, one of them went. But the jalopy wobbled on. Not even the blinking red lights at the railroad crossing could stop it.

But the freight train did. It was doing 50 when it smatshed into the car, which burst into flames. Three of the youngsters were tossed to their death. The others were trapped in the fiery wreckage as it was dragged half a mile down the tracks.

There were eight victims, five boys and three girls. The youngest was 12. The oldest was 17.

Elsewhere in America that same pretty boring Sunday afternoon in the summer of 1957, a 16-year-old boy was challenging his father to come up with one good reason, just one, why he shouldn't be allowed to drive the family car, or, better still, get one of his own.

The crash in Kentucky might have given dad eight good reasons. But his son could offer in rebuttal the thousands of youngsters who check their brakes and tires, obey speed laws, signal at turns, stop at lights—and live!

Are teenagers really menaces to themselves and others when they climb behind the wheel, or are a series of isolated incidents being woven together into a blanket indictment?

Statistically, there is no definite answer to this question. Since no nationwide records are kept of exactly how many youngsters are driving or how many miles they travel, it is impossible to say what proportion of all young automobile operators get into trouble, or how often.

According to the National Safety Council, the closest anyone has come to producing some meaningful figures is a survey Iowa State College conducted within the past few years of male drivers in Iowa.

This survey showed there were 1.5 accidents for every 100,000 miles driven by those 16 to 21 years of age, compared with only 1.0 accidents for those 22 to 27; 0.7 in the 28-47 age group and 0.6 in the 48-65 category.

Using as a basis the number of drivers in each age group, though, the survey found that 19 to 29 were the most dangerous years.

Insurance firms, however, are convinced that young drivers are poorer risks than their elders. They charge higher rates for policies covering motor vehicle operators of 24 or less.

The Travelers Insurance Companies of Hartford, Conn., states flatly that "drivers under 25 years of age continue to be involved in almost twice as many fatal accidents as their numbers warrant."

WHY THEY SAY THIS

This conclusion is based on an estimate that 11 to 15 per cent of all drivers are under 25, while statistics show they are involved in 27.6 per cent of all fatal accidents—as well as 20.8 per cent of all non-fatal crashes.

Whether or not American youth is to blame for a disproportionate share of auto mishaps, there is no question, as the National Congress of Parents and Teachers points out, that "motor vehicle accidents are still the leading cause of death among teenagers."

Calendar for Teens Serves as Date Pad

Now teenage girls have a calendar. It is designed as an attractive date pad for a bedroom wall. It also has friendly tips and advice on all topics dear to a young heart.

All this happened because a Cincinnati man, who is also vice president of a calendar firm, has a teenage daughter.

His 1958 calendar covers special how to prepare a Valentine party — costumes, table decorations. And May, for example, has a heart-to-heart discussion on whether or not you should date "steady."
