CHICAGO (U) — A North Central Airlines twin-engine plane attempting to land at mist-covered O'Hare International Airport last night slammed into a hanger where a drum and bugle team had been practicing and exploded in flames.

North Central officials and the Cook County coroner's office said 26 persons were killed and 19 were injured.

The Convair 580 carried a crew of four and 41 passengers, one of whom was an off-duty North Central pilot.

Eight boys, members of a drum and bugle corps which had just ended a practice session in the empty hanger, were among 27 persons admitted to hospitals.

The crackup occurred when the plane apparently missed a runway in the fog and drizzle shrouding O'Hare, world's busiest airport.

The plane, Flight 458, originated in Minneapolis.

Spokesmen for two hospitals near O'Hare said many of the injured persons suffered smoke inhalation.

The pilot, Capt. Marvin A. Payne of Lakeland, Minn.; the first officer, Gerald R. Levalley of Bloomington, Minn.; and the flight officer, Richard W. McKargel of Burnsville, Minn., were killed.

STEWARDESS HURT

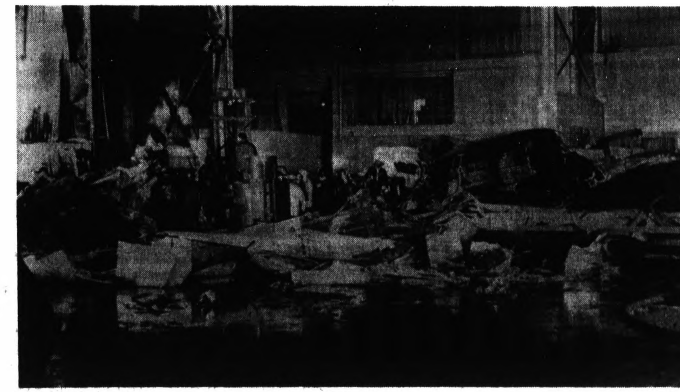

The stewardess, Jean A. Krbcek of Minneapolis, was injured.

The crash was the first in North Central's 20-year history. The airline operates in 11 Midwestern states and had flown 3.1 billion passenger miles without a fatality.

A fireman at the hanger said it was not determined whether the plane had touched down when the crash occurred. He said he could not see if any of the taxiway grass nearby was torn up.

Officials said they could not determine why the plane hit the hanger, which is about a half mile east of the runway.

One of the passengers, William DeCroot, 21, of Sioux Falls, S.D., said, "The plane started to rock violently as we approached the airport. No one knew what was going on. The plane jolted . . . I was thrown from my seat. It was hot and it kept getting hotter. People were screaming and calling for help . . . There was a rush of cold air and someone at the door helped us out. Someone put me in an ambulance and brought me to the hospital."

PLANE WRECKAGE — The fuselage section of a North Central airliner rests at the rear of a hangar at Chicago's O'Hare International Airport last night after the plane crashed while attempting to land. Twenty-seven persons are known dead in the crash. Eight boys, members of a drum and bugle corps which had just ended practice in the hangar, were among 27 persons admitted to the hospital.

PHU CAT, Vietnam — There seems to be a lot of strikes lately. Policemen, garbage men, schoolteachers, if you're looking for new and better jobs, you might consider soldiering.

The pay isn't much but the work is tragically steady. Our project officer, a major by the name of Ronald Rykowski of Waterbury, Conn., always wanted to travel.

He believed what the recruiters said and joined the army right out of Sacred Heart High School in Waterbury the day he graduated in May 1964.

The Army was good to Ski, as he is called by his troops.

They made him a master sergeant. Then they sent him to officer's training and made him a second lieutenant. He is probably the most informed tourist in history when it comes to the Central Highlands of Pleiku, and he never complains about it being dull there.

Take that afternoon in March 1967. Ski and his combat team were dropped in the Pled Trap Valley to cut off the escape of a North Vietnamese regiment.

MEET N. VIETS

They worked their way south for a day and a half trying to find it. They approached a well-beaten trail in the middle of the jungle, and coming down the trail was a North Vietnamese battalion. One of Ski's men yelled at him to look. Ski answered, "Don't talk—shoot. They opened fire. They enemy split on both sides of the trail and in 17 minutes Ski and his team were surrounded.

LI. Mike Sudborough from Berkeley, Cal., was mortally hit while trying to set up a machine gun. Ski remembers Mike because he was an ROTC student from Berkeley and Mike was utterly without fear of the enemy.

The next to fall was Pfc. Washington, who took over Mike's machine gun. The BACK FROM SPACE—Astronauts (from left) James A. Lovell Jr., William A. Anders and Frank Borman are shown on board the USS Yorktown in the Pacific yesterday after they successfully completed their six-day space mission which included 10 orbits of the moon. In the background is the spacecraft that took them on the mission—the Apollo 8 capsule, it's hull scorched from the heat created when it re-entered the earth's atmosphere.

Exams Show Spacemen to Be in 'Great Shape'

From Our News Wires

ABOARD USS YORKTOWN — The Apollo 8 astronauts continue physical debriefings aboard this carrier today before flying to the United States and a belated Christmas with their families.

"They're in great shape," reported Dr. Clarence A. Jernigan, a space agency physician aboard the carrier.

Jernigan said Air Force Col. Frank Borman, Navy Capt. James A. Lovell Jr. and Air Force Maj. William A. Anders seemed to be in better condition than many astronauts who returned from earth orbital missions.

"They look great and are looking better all the time, completely alert and very happy," Jernigan commented after the astronauts completed an extensive five-hour examination following their pinpoint splashdown in the Pacific Ocean yesterday.

DEBRIEFINGS SET

The astronauts had been in space for six days, three hours, during which they soared outward toward the moon for 69 hours, circled it for 20 hours, then made a 58-hour run back to their home planet.

After a late Christmas celebration, the astronauts will begin nine days of intensive debriefings in which experts will question them about all aspects of the flight.

strengthened America's desire to land men on the moon next year. The astronauts reported they had no trouble detecting land features or navigating around the moon, and they said a spot picked as a likely landing zone "is a very good one indeed."

Space officials at Houston told a news conference that they were optimistic that the Apollo 8 flight would lead the way to lunar landings, large space stations and trips to the planets.

Air Force Lt. Gen. Samuel Phillips, Apollo program director, said, "We will fly five Apollo missions next year, three of them configured with equipment capable of landing on the moon."

Apollo 11 set for next summer, will be the first planned landing opportunity and Phillips said there are two other flights after that capable of landings.

Dr. Robert Gilruth, director of the Manned Spacecraft Center, said there was a chance the Apollo 8 crew could get this coveted berth just as other astronauts had a chance for it.

"I'm not ruling out anything," Gilruth said. "I want to keep all my options open." Slayton said there was "no reason" why Borman, Lovell and Anders could not be named.

6 in Family Dead in 'Murder-Suicide'

From Our News Wires

MADISON, Wis. — A housewife, her wrists slashed, died yesterday after five of her children were strangled as other members of their family slept, unaware of the tragedy spreading through their rural dwelling.

Coroner Clyde Chamberlain described the deaths "tentatively as murder-suicide" and said an investigation would continue.

The bodies of the children, aged 2 to 9, were found in bedrooms of the two-story frame home near Deerfield. Nearly all were in pajamas. The mother, Mrs. Elwood W. Bodeman, 36, was found dead at the foot of the youngest child's bed.

She was found with a scarf around her neck. Authorities theorized she slashed her wrists with a straight razor, then closed the blade into the handle and inserted it into the knot to twist the scarf like a tourniquet.

ALL DEAD IN BED

The children were in their beds—Lynn, 9; Sara Jo, 8; Gena, 7; Brandon, 5; and Theresa, 2. They all were strangled, Chamberlain said.

The bodies were discovered by an adopted son, Michael, 15, who notified Bodeman's 76-year-old father, Arnold. Authorities said neither was implicated in the deaths.

Bodeman was at his job in Madison yesterday when deputies told him the bodies of his wife and five of his children had been found in his father's two-story frame house outside Marshall.

It appeared, Sheriff Franz Haas said, that Mrs. Bodeman had strangled them and then killed herself.

EMOTIONAL PROBLEMS

Bodeman told investigators his wife had been under the care of a county welfare caseworker and had emotional problems. He said she was afraid "the Mafia was going to get her."

Haas said Mrs. Bodeman had an auto accident six months ago "which really shook her up." The couple had been married about 11 years.

Bodeman apparently left for work without knowing his wife and children lay dead in the bedrooms. Authorities set the deaths at somewhere between 1 and 5 a.m. yesterday.

The elder Bodeman remodeled the home last summer before his son's family moved in with him in September. His wife died about a year ago.

VC Dangles POW-Talk Offer Again

SAIGON (U) — The Vietcong today broadcast a new offer to meet with U.S. representatives on New Year's Day to negotiate the release of three American prisoners of war. It came only hours after an allied announcement that there will be no cease-fire Jan. 1.

A similar meeting Christmas Day broke down when U.S. representatives charged the Vietcong tried to lure them into a "propaganda circus."

The Christmas Day meeting, held during a 24-hour holiday truce, broke down over Vietcong demands that the American delegation discuss "formalities" prior to talks about freeing the prisoners. The U.S. team of five Army officers said it wanted to discuss only the date, time and place for the prisoner release.

Earlier today U.S. and South Vietnamese spokesmen announced they will not observe a cease-fire on New Year's Day because of more than 140 enemy violations of the Christmas truce. New Year truces had been observed the past two years.

The Vietcong broadcast proposed the meeting be held at the same paddyfield site as the Christmas meeting, 50 miles northwest of Saigon near the Cambodian border.

It demanded that American and South Vietnamese forces halt all military operations near the meeting site and also respect the 72-hour New Year's cease-fire called by the Vietcong's National Liberation Front.

Military spokesmen said 17 persons were killed during the 24-hour Christmas cease-fire — two U.S. soldiers, two civilians and 13 South Vietnamese troops — and 71 persons were wounded.

The announcement came as fierce, close-quarter fighting was reported on the approaches to South Vietnam's two largest cities, and the U.S. Command announced it has closed Camp Carroll, a major artillery base 100 miles north of Da Nang.

Allied forces claimed killing 226 enemy in four battles Friday along the approaches to Saigon and Da Nang.

Disposal of Road Litter Is at Root of a Big Problem

(EDITOR'S NOTE — This is the third in a series about Oakland County Road Commission.)

By JEAN SAILLE

While roads and the lack of money for them remain the prime consideration of the Oakland County Road Commission, there's another area that's causing concern.

It's the problem of what to do with the litter that accumulates along the roads, and it leads generally into what to do with all solid waste disposal matter.

In June 1967, the Oakland County Board of Supervisors loaned the road commission $200,000 with which to start a land-fill business.

The loan was timely in that many private operations were finding it impossible to live up to new state requirements for the disposal of such material and still make money.

The commission believed at that time that it could get Commerce Township and Pontiac Township's permission to operate facilities within their boundaries.

It failed to do so, and because of legal complications may never be able to do so. Meanwhile, however, Brandon, Groveland and Independence townships experienced problems with their dump and asked the road commission to assume that operation.

It's a small operation. The commission has been able to keep it open to the public only a half-day a week, and so far the operation has cost them $11,973. This sum includes the original $5,900 needed to prepare the site.

A report made to the supervisors in November suggested, "It is very unlikely that this small, one-day-a-week operation can ever pay for itself."

MAY RAISE RATES

"Unless larger and more profitable sanitary land-fills can be started in areas where use will be much higher and therefore lower (in) unit costs, it will be necessary to either raise the rates at this site substantially, discontinue the operation or continue to operate knowing that a loss will occur."

For one thing the road commission would like to be named the county's agency, authorized to establish and operate land-fills in order that it might condemn property it sees suitable for land-fill sites.

The agency appointment went, however, to the drain commission about two years ago. It was at that time that an areawide study of solid-waste disposal problems were undertaken and federal funds were sought.

The federal department of Housing and Urban Development agreed to pay two-thirds of the $100,000 cost. The study is completed and the report is now being printed. It is expected to be ready for the new board of supervisors next month.

Its recommendations could well put the road commission out of the land-fill business—once they are implemented. Meanwhile, the commission feels there's a definite need for its services.

COUNTY OFFICERS TAKE OATH — Four of Oakland County's five elected officials were sworn into office by Circuit Judge Clark J. Adams (right) during a ceremony yesterday in the supervisors' auditorium at the courthouse. They are from left) County Clerk-Register of Deeds Lynn D. Allen, Treasurer C. Hugh Dohany, Prosecutor Thomas G.

Plunkett and Sheriff Frank Irons. They assume their duties Wednesday. Drain Commissioner Daniel W. Barry was unable to attend the ceremony and was sworn in Thursday. Irons and Barry were returned to office in the November election, while the other three were elected for the first time.

Saigon Upsets U.S. on Peace Talk Bid

PARIS (AP) — A U.S. pledge to try to break the Vietnam peace talks deadlock was off today by Saigon's insistence that Hanoi and the Viet Cong should make the next move.

And the dismissal of 12 newsmen attached to the Saigon delegation added to speculation of an internal South Vietnamese dispute that might weaken the power of South Vietnamese Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky. U.S. negotiator Cyrus R. Vance, arriving in Paris from a week of home consultations with President Johnson and members of the Nixon administration, said Friday: "We are going to do everything in our power to break through the roadblocks facing us now."

"I hope we can do this in the not too distant future. I am not going to make any predictions but I assure you we are going to do everything we can to try to break through this so we can get on to talk about the substantive issues of peace."

"TRIED OUR BEST"

But a spokesman for the South Vietnamese delegation said: "We have tried our best, we have put out several proposals. It's up to the other side now to do something."

The South Vietnamese stand and Vance's stress on hope for a breakthrough reflected what some diplomats have been saying privately: That the U.S. delegates are the only ones really pushing for a fast start on the four-way conference, originally scheduled to open Nov. 6.

The South Vietnamese contend the U.S. display of impatience could play into the hands of Hanoi and the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front, allowing them to gain concessions they would not win otherwise.

Most non-American delegates also doubt that bargaining will begin before they can assess the posture of President-elect Nixon's administration which takes office Jan. 20.

The dismissal Friday of the 12 government news agency and television station employees who had accompanied the Saigon delegation to Paris was a government spokesman. Many saw it as a power play intended to undercut Ky, supervisor of the Saigon delegation.

Pueblo Incident Will Be Probed by Navy Board

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — A high-level court of inquiry—which can recommend anything from bravery medals to courts martial—has been ordered by the Navy to study the loss of the intelligence ship Pueblo.

The court of five admirals was directed yesterday by the Pacific Fleet commander, Adm. John J. Hyland, to "inquire into the circumstances relating to the seizure of the USS Pueblo and the subsequent detention of the vessel and the officers and crew."

Basic issues to be decided include

whether the Pueblo's skipper, Cmdr. Lloyd M. Bucher, had the "power to resist" when his ship was taken by the North Koreans.

A spokesman said the court also will consider whether statements allegedly made by the crew members during their 11-month confinement constituted violations of the military Code of Conduct—although the Navy said such violations are "not a criminal offense" and cannot be prosecuted.

The court will not meet for several weeks—until intensive intelligence debriefings of the crewmen is completed. It can only make recommendations to higher officials and has no power to take punitive or disciplinary action, the Navy said.

Report Monday on Perry Speeds

A report on speed limits on Perry Street will be heard by the City Commission, meeting at a special time at city hall Monday, 5 p.m.

Commissioners have complained the speed limits are too high on Perry between East Boulevard and the city limits.

The commission also will hear requests to abandon some streets to make way for construction of the Pontiac Board of Education Human Resources Center southeast of city hall.

The meeting was changed from its usual 8 p.m. Tuesday time because of the New Year's holiday.

Pair Elected to Board of Swiss Bank

BIRMINGHAM — Donald H. Parsons and George B. Kilborne, the managing partners of Zurich Investment Co. of Birmingham, have been elected to the board of directors of Bank Winterstein A.G., Zurich, Switzerland.

Parsons is chairman of the board of Bank of the Commonwealth and chairman of COMAC Co., a Birmingham-based management consulting firm. Kilborne is chairman of the board of the Bank of Lansing, vice chairman of Creative Capital Corp. and executive vice president of COMAC Co.

Acquisition of major interest in the Swiss bank was recently announced by the Zurich Investment Co. Bank Winterstein A.G., founded in 1934, had total assets of approximately 12.8 million Swiss francs on Dec. 31, 1967.

Parsons said the COMAC Co. has established an international department to explore and recommend growth situations worldwide.

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — The new sex education program soon to become part of the curriculum of the Bloomfield Hills School District is scheduled to begin in the elementary grades and later to be expanded into the secondary grades, said Eugene Johnson, superintendent of schools.

The programs will be under the supervision of the department of health, physical education and athletics directed by Norman Quinn, Johnson said.

The program will be taught as a separate course but will be related to other curricular programs such as science, social studies and humanities, Quinn said.

He added, parents will be invited to attend briefing sessions during which they will have the opportunity to familiarize themselves with the content of the sex education material.

Apollo 8's Return Seen From Jetliner

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — The crew and passengers of a Pan-American Boeing 707 jet, that flew into Sydney today, watched the blazing return of Apollo 8 as it flew back from the moon.

About 800 miles southwest of Honolulu, those aboard the jetliner sighted a red ball of fire with a long, white, incandescent streamer streaking across the dark sky.

"It was a breathtaking experience," said Gerald Thomas of Clawson, Mich. "It was like shaking hands with Christopher Columbus seeing that thing."

The pilot, Capt. J. Marcum, of Saratoga, Calif., said it was the most beautiful thing he had seen in 31 years of flying.

A passenger, Fred Oshant of Hays, Kans., said the space craft looked like Halley's Comet.

Oshant said the pilot told passengers to watch out for the capsule. Some passengers tried to photograph it speeding across the sky but the films processed in Sydney all proved blank.

enemy overran his position and he went down firing. Ski got it neat through the hip, pelvis, stomach and arm. A medic, Pfc. Odono, dragged him against a tree so he could still see the majority of the perimeter and direct the attack.

Sgt. Bennet was against his left side and fired off to the left. His radio-telephone operator, Pfc. Stockwell, was across his stomach firing south.

Ski remembers Stockwell because when he first came up to the company he said, "I'm afraid... what do I do?" And Ski answered, "Forget it. The whole thing is a John Wayne movie." And from then on it was a John Wayne movie in a matter of seconds.

The North Vietnamese completely overran Ski's position. Sgt. Bennet, the recon Sergeant, fell across his knees, dropped by an RF40 burst. That's a Soviet-machine-gun made in China.

Spec. 4 Mucci from Boston had the radio knocked off his back. The medic threw himself on top of Ski as the enemy overran the position. They sprayed the stack of bodies with machine-gun fire, took off all the watches, searched for money and left them for dead. Most of them were.

Cap. Ski lifted the dead body of Pvt. Odono from him, retrieved a Claymore mine and set it off as the enemy passed by them. He killed 15 and ruptured his own ear drum. When you talk to Ski now you have to holler a little. Those left alive threw grenades and fired weapons, praying for darkness.

As darkness fell they called in the first evac cop. As it hovered over the trees and was picking up the wounded, it took a rocket in the fuel tank. It exploded in flames and landed inside the perimeter illuminating their position.

ATTACK LAUNCHED

The enemy launched an attack against the third platoon. They fought them off in hand-to-hand combat using grenades, bowie knives, entrenching tools, bayonets and pocket knives.

They called in artillery fire but the lack of a definite perimeter made it difficult to come too close. Out of 99 men 25 were killed in action and 74 wounded.

Ski was hit through the mouth, both arms and legs, through the hip and pelvis and through the stomach and bladder. When they finally airlifted him out he had a poncho wrapped around him and tied with an ammunition belt to keep him from falling apart.

He's still deaf and he can't eat much as there isn't much stomach left, but there's plenty of heart.

He could be home with his wife and four kids at Marina, Calif., but he's in Vietnam on his way back to combat.

I asked him why and he said, "Pros don't stay home. If there's a job to be done, you do it."

Brazil Censorship Decried by IAPA

The Inter American Press Association today decried President Arthur da Costa e Silva of Brazil. The cable said, in part: "The Inter American Press Association reiterates its protest to the total censorship of newspapers, cable offices and wire services imposed in Brazil and to the reported arrest and jailing of a number of newspapermen."

"We are advised that our previous protests were not published in the Brazilian press due to the total censorship and that the situation in regards to freedom of the press shows no improvement since we cabled you last week."

"In view of your statements to the Inter American Press Association and its officers in favor of a free press, we look with sorrow on this situation and on the abrogation of your high aims. It is inconceivable that the largest country in Latin America would not maintain its traditional free press."

"We hope that you will cable us that the Brazilian government is restoring freedom of the press and releasing the jailed newspapermen, so that they may fulfill their mission in keeping the people informed."

Praise for Apollo Rockets Around the World

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Harold Wilson in a message to President Johnson. "It must be great to be an American tonight," a Soviet citizen told an American in Moscow after the return of the Apollo 8 astronauts. The splashdown of the Apollo 8 in the Pacific Ocean Friday sparked praise from foreign leaders and ordinary citizens listening on radio or watching television.

NEW LIFE FOR TOT—Two-year-old Peter and his mother, Mrs. Frederick McGonagle, of Portland, Maine, beam with happiness at Children's Hospital Medical Center in Boston. Peter had a rare heart defect, aortic aneurism, surgically corrected. He was the fifth person in the last decade, and the youngest in U.S. medical history, to undergo such an operation. His heart had been bypassing the aortic valve as it pumped blood before the surgery.

Words of Dr. King Used by Detroit in Composing Mass

DETROIT (AP)—From sermons to symphony.

That's the route Dr. Martin Luther King's words have taken for a teacher who composed a requiem Mass honoring the assassinated civil rights leader.

"I felt Dr. King based his non-violent philosophy on peace," said James Frazier, explaining why he made the Mass his medium for the tribute. "He also was concerned with death—and so I could find the appropriate words for a requiem Mass narrative which is also concerned with peace and death."

Frazier, 28, a high school music and biology teacher, four years ago became the first Negro to conduct the Detroit Symphony Orchestra in full concert. The premier of Frazier's work with him conducting the orchestra in a special concert was scheduled Jan. 5, but was postponed because many members of the participating choirs became ill with flu.

MUSICAL DIRECTOR

Frazier, who also is musical director at Detroit's Second Baptist Church, said, "There's nothing in the Negro's ethnic background to say he can't use classical music as well as any other kind."

He began work on the King requiem this summer at Tanglewood, Mass., in an effort to combine his church and orchestra work.

"I'm really a conductor and not a lyricist or librettist," he said, "and with the Mass the lyrics were already there."

"What I've really done is go through all Dr. King's sermons and speeches looking for words that were characteristic and would fit the theme. It helped to have seen him in person a few times and listened to him so many others."

Frazier had never written for a large group before. "I was awed by the idea of composing for a symphony, but (conductors) Erich Leinsdorf and Gunther Schuller gave me a lot of help with it at Tanglewood," he said.

Middle-Aged Yegg Robs Bank in Flint

FLINT (AP)—A middle-aged bandit robbed a southside Flint bank of $2,125 Friday and escaped without a chase.

Police said the white man, described as 5-10 or 5-11 and about 185-190 pounds, apparently fled in a car parked nearby.

The loot—mostly in hundreds and twenties—was turned over by a teller at the Genesee Merchants Bank & Trust after the robber handed her a note saying that if she cooperated no one would get hurt.

The note also claimed the bandit was armed, but no witnesses reported seeing any gun.

PUEBLO CREWMEN WATCH—Splashdown and recovery of Apollo 8 yesterday was watched by some members of the Pueblo crew in San Diego, Calif. The ship's executive officer, Lt. Edward Murphy, reads a congratulatory message to the Apollo crew from his shipmates.

Spy Ships Avoiding Waters off N. Korea

WASHINGTON (AP) — No have been taken to try and American intelligence ships range protection if a vessel has sailed in the international waters off North Korea since the capture of the Pueblo nearly a year ago, although the United States continues to operate similar vessels at various sensitive points around the globe.

Neither the Defense Department nor the Navy will discuss officially operations of these vessels.

However, it is known that the United States operates about a dozen vessels whose chief purpose is intercepting radio communications, gathering data on electronic installations and similar activities.

In addition, many U.S. Navy ships are equipped to do this sort of intelligence-gathering work, although that is not their main purpose.

Authorities of the outgoing Johnson administration and the incoming Nixon administration have made it clear they feel these activities are essential to the security of the United States and will continue.

The Pueblo's mission when it was captured last Jan. 23 was to gather information on radar installations along North Korea's eastern coast and keep tabs on Soviet naval movements in the Tsushima Straits area.

Because of the secret nature of the Pueblo's mission, she was not provided with sea or naval escort when the North Koreans captured her.

That policy has continued for the other intelligence ships still operating, because, as Defense Secretary Clark M. Clifford has said, such cover "would destroy their effectiveness."

However, some measures

President-elect Nixon said during the campaign he wants to make sure "that we have in the area ships or planes that can come to the rescue of such a ship in the event that it comes under attack."

Rep. Melvin Laird, who will succeed Clifford as defense secretary under Nixon, has said "it would seem to me that protection should be granted at least in the way of minimum air cover for this kind of ship when it gets in distress."

Although the Pueblo has not been replaced off North Korea, the United States maintains it has the right to put another intelligence ship, or any other type of vessel in that area, because it involves international waters.

North Korea claims the Pueblo violated its territorial waters. The American officials have denied this.

The United States is not alone in maintaining such intelligence operations.

U.S. officials estimate the Russians have at least 30 intelligence ships deployed, including vessels which stand in international waters close off Guam, Rota, Spain, and Charleston, S.C., to monitor movements of U.S. Polaris submarines in and out of those bases.

Navy officials noted that the Russians were pointedly silent about the Pueblo during all of the international hub-bub following its capture.

'BEATING WASN'T MUCH'—Pueblo crewman Donald R. McClaren tells his father, Dan, of Chico, Calif., that he was beaten while in North Korean captivity, "but I've gotten better ones in barrooms." The two visited yesterday in San Diego Naval Hospital.

DISCUSSES HIS PRESIDENCY — President Johnson talks with members of the press corps yesterday in his office in the White House while the Apollo 8 astronauts were being picked up in the Pacific. Johnson said the one goal that has eluded him is peace in Vietnam and pointed to the success of Apollo mission as one of the high points of his years in the White House.

LBJ Sees Possible Peace Talk Progress

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson says he has been told by his No. 2 Vietnam peace negotiator that there are indications the stalled Paris talks may move off dead center soon.

In a wide-ranging news conference in Washington Friday, the President said that Cyrus Vance, deputy U.S. negotiator at Paris, told him earlier this week that "He believes we can get going on substantive talks after his return there and we are just praying that can be true."

Vance returned to Paris Friday after a trip to the United States to brief officials on the talks. He reported what he had told the President when he arrived in Paris.

Vietnam was very much on Johnson's mind during the news conference, in which he said the failure to end the war was the major disappointment of his five years in office.

ENJOYED TIME

He said that in spite of the sorrow and regret at the continuing deaths of Americans in the Southeast Asian war, he has enjoyed every minute of his time in the White House.

And the President added he is proud of the achievements of his administration, although he said there was much more that should have been done.

The President was clearly buoyed up by the week's events, including the fantastic success of the Apollo 8 moon mission, the release of the Pueblo crew and Cambodia's return of American prisoners.

"We are generally very happy and thankful for the good breaks that are coming our way," he said. "The only thing that would make him happier, he added, would be peace in Vietnam."

"MUST HAVE HONOR"

"It would just be paradise if we could end that thing," he said. "But we must end it with honor."

Johnson expressed impatience with the procedural squabbling in Paris—"all this dilly dallying, talking about where you sit at the table, who comes in first who speaks first and all that." But, he said, the United States can't settle such problems alone.

"We just have to hope and pray and do the best we can, right up until the bell rings."

which we are all going to do."

Following the news conference Johnson flew to his Texas ranch looking for some warm sun to help him shake off a cold and cough that have bothered him for nearly two months. He was greeted by bright sun, a 70-degree temperature and a forecast of slightly cooler weather for the weekend.

LOOSE ENDS

He said he would use the time at the ranch to tie up some remaining loose ends of his administration before stepping aside Jan. 20 for Richard M. Nixon.

The chief tasks facing him are the preparation of a budget, an economic message to Congress and a State of the Union address.

He said he expected to stay at his ranch through New Year's Day.

FBI Places Woman, 26, on Its 'Top 10'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ruth Eisemann-Schier, charged with kidnapping Miss Barbara Jane Mackle earlier this month, has been placed on the FBI's 10 most wanted list.

Miss Eisemann-Schier, 26, is the first woman to be placed on the list since the FBI started it 18 years ago.

Miss Eisemann-Schier and Gary Steven Krist, 23, were charged with the Dec. 17 kidnapping of Miss Mackle, the 20-year-old daughter of a wealthy Florida real estate man. They are accused of taking the girl from her Decatur, Ga. motel room.

Miss Mackle was found alive and in good condition by authorities Dec. 20 in a shallow grave after her family paid a $500,000 ransom. Two days later, Krist was captured in a swampy island near Punta Gorda, Fla., and nearly all the ransom money was recovered.

Year That Was—5

May—a Grim Month

(EDITOR'S NOTE — Following is the fifth of 12 articles on The Year That Was — a review of the events which made 1968 a unique news year.)

JOY STILLEY

Associated Press Writer

May was a month of grim statistics:

Twenty-five miners were trapped in a soft coal mine at Hunnys Falls, W.Va., May 6 when water from an adjacent shaft flooded the tunnels. Fifteen were rescued May 11 and six more five days later. Four drowned.

Twice death struck heavy blows from the air: On May 3 all 85 persons aboard a jet died in a crash near Dawson, Tex., and on May 22 the most disastrous helicopter crash in the nation's history killed 23 near Los Angeles.

In mid-May, tornadoes that hit an 11-state area in the Midwest and South left 70 dead and at least 1,000 injured. Seven children and two adults died when an explosion leveled a day nursery in Hapeville, Ga.

SCORPION IS LOST

Overdue after a three-month training mission were 99 members of the crew of the U.S. Navy nuclear submarine Scorpion. A massive search began May 27 failed to reveal any trace of the vessel.

Elsewhere, too, the news was disquieting.

Student unrest and dissatisfaction, which already had made itself felt in previous flare-ups, took a more serious turn in France. On May 4 new student demonstrations erupted, underlying demands for greater control of university functions.

As the revolt continued, the turmoil spread to labor, which called a general strike marked by a gigantic parade through the heart of Paris. On this same day, May 13, peace talks between North Vietnam and the United States began in that city.

CENSURE BID FAILS

Strikes finally involved a third of France's war force, tying up transportation and other vital services. The De Gaulle regime, which had been seriously threatened as the number of strikers reached 10 million, was upheld in the National Assembly when censure failed by 11 votes. Student discontent was not conformed to France. It showed itself on campuses all over the world. At New York's Columbia University, after police had been called upon to end a student seige, classes were held only sporadically.

Everywhere young people were revolting against the establishment—authority in any form. In the United States their demands were specifically for Black Power and for student power. They pressed for action by seizing university buildings, and violence was common.

In Washington, marchers in the Poor People's Campaign set up housekeeping in a settlement camp near the Lincoln Memorial. Their demands ranged from child care and school desegregation to food programs and job provision.

Coed Upstages Tradition Set by All-Male Cast

Shortest Way Is Not Always Straight Line

NEW YORK (AP) — What's it like to be the only girl in the traditionally all-male cast of the Princeton University Triangle Club annual show?

Lots of fun, but lots of hard work too, says Sue Jean Lee.

Miss Lee, 20, was chosen by the men of the touring musical comedy group as the first female to appear in a Triangle show since the club was founded 80 years ago by author Booth Tarkington.

The petite coed, enrolled at the City College of New York, is spending a year at Princeton studying Chinese in the school's critical language program. She expects to receive her degree from CCNY in June 1970.

"At the beginning of the term," Miss Lee said in a telephone interview, "several guys from the club came to our dorm and asked us to try out for the show. Four or five girls tried out. I was chosen."

Miss Lee, a native of Canton, China, who came here in 1962, has no theatrical experience or ambitions, but hopes, instead to become a college teacher or go to graduate school.

Nonetheless, she's enjoying her taste of show business. The boys, she said, "have been treating me very well. I even have my own dressing room."

The group, which puts on performances across the country, has appeared in Atlanta, Ga., Jacksonville, Fla., Louisville, Ky., and St. Louis. New York City performances are scheduled Jan. 2 and 3.

By JOY STILLEY
NEW YORK # — To get anywhere in this life, you have to toe the line. What's more, you have to toe the right line. I can never find the right line, which is why I never get anywhere — in banks, in groceries, in department stores, at theater box offices.

Everybody knows that, contrary to all logic, the shortest line always takes longest. Going on this assumption, I never avail myself of what appears to be the fastest route to the desired goal. But the maxim doesn't work for me.

When I'm waiting my turn in a bank the people in the line parallel to mine have already gotten their money and spent it before I have worked my slow way up to the teller's cage.

PAYMASTER

The innocent looking individual I picked to stand behind always turns out to be a company paymaster who has to have a small fortune doled out in separate packets.

Meanwhile, the fellow opposite me, whom I had pegged for a big tycoon with multiple transactions, merely wanted to put 50 cents in the Christmas Club.

It's the same at the railway station ticket window. Should I take up a position behind a lone customer, it develops that he is planning a cross-country journey with stops in every town of over 5,000 population.

The long line next to me is moving with breathtaking swiftness as purchasers ask for nothing more complicated than a one-way passage to Greenwich.

Grocery checkout lines are by far the hardest to choose among. While I am darting back and forth analyzing basket contents, the cashier I originally bypassed in order to study other possibilities has rushed her customers through with dispatch.

By the time I get back to her base of operations she has gone off on a coffee break, replaced by a trainee who hasn't yet gotten the hang of the cash register.

I really need the gift of prophecy when it comes to selecting the right queue leading to a department store moneytaker. You can't judge the potential time element involved by the number of garments the shopper has tossed over her arm.

The one who is loaded down with merchandise usually has the exact change ready and gets rid of her cash in a flash. It's the woman clutching just one pair of socks who have to watch out for.

The socks lack a price tag, necessitating numerous high-level consultations between cashier, clerk, buyer and department manager. Then they want them gift wrapped and, further, wishes to pay for them by check.

The waiting game has its compensations, however. Some of my best friends are those I've made while standing in line.

Wife of Space Pioneer Thrilled by Apollo 8

WORCESTER, Mass. (AP) — "Simply marvelous, a milestone for mankind" says the widow of America's rocket pioneer Robert H. Goddard, of the Apollo 8 flight around the moon.

A spy 67, Mrs. Esther C. Goddard is a researcher who says she really isn't surprised at the success of the flight.

She feels that the mighty rockets of today at Cape Kennedy are in a direct line with the pioneering research that started in a sparsely furnished laboratory at nearby Clark University a half century ago.

Then a young teacher of physics, Goddard was asked by college authorities to "cease and desist" until better ventilation could be devised to remove the acid smoke with which he was filling the school corridors.

Dr. Goddard flew the first successful liquid-fueled rocket from a cow pasture in nearby Auburn in 1926. He died in 1945 and never lived to see man ride a rocket into space.

Mrs. Goddard photographed that first flight "because everyone else was too busy" and the picture was later the basis for a commemorative air mail stamp.

She has received dozens of honors in behalf of her husband, and has worked 15 years on what she hopes will be a lasting monument, a three-volume distillation of her husband's 35 years of rocket research. The work is the basis for the three books scheduled for publication next year.

Dr. Goddard was usually too busy to bother about patenting his work. Largely due to the efforts of his widow, 131 patents based on his research have been issued in recent years.

In 1960 Mrs. Goddard won a million-dollar patent infringement suit against the government and the award was split with the Guggenheim Foundation which sponsored much of the early research. Then all rights in the patents were assigned to the government.

She is a director of Clark University.

"I'm also a Unitarian director of Catholic Anna Maria College in Paxton, Mass. I felt if they were broad minded enough to ask me, I would be broad minded enough to accept their kind invitation," Mrs. Goddard said.

Despite her long hours of research she does not dwell in the past.

Mrs. Robert H. Goddard of Worcester, Mass., widow of the Worcester-born pioneer rocket engineer, says "simply marvelous" about the just-completed Apollo 8 flight around the moon. Here, Mrs. Goddard receives from Sen. Clinton P. Anderson, D-NM, the Langley Medal which was awarded posthumously to Dr. Goddard in 1960 for his pioneer work in rocketry.

Dancing Is More Important Than Raising Her Baby Son

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Please print this and help wake up a mother who is neglecting her four-year-old son. She happens to be my divorced daughter. She works, taking him to a nursery Monday through Friday. She gets home each day at 5:30 p.m., gives him supper and puts him in bed.

On Monday she starts trying to find someone to keep the boy from Friday after work until late Sunday evening, so she can kick up her heels and act like a teenager at some cheap dance hall. Abby, she is 24.

This little boy begs to go to Sunday school, but our daughter won't take him. She says he has plenty of time for that, and she has her own life to think about.

She never takes the child anywhere. His grandmothers take him occasionally, but he needs a mother's love. He promises to come and see him, and the poor kid looks in the window for him all day Sunday and no daddy shows up. What can I do?

CONCERNED

DEAR CONCERNED: If you can't make your daughter realize what an injustice she is doing her son during his impressionable, formative years, take the child whenever you can and try to compensate for the love and attention he is being denied by his parents. (I've always said, before marriage mental tests should be required by law, not blood tests.)

DEAR ABBY: It was bad enough when my girl friend found out about my wife. But when my wife found out about my girl friend I really was in trouble. To make matters worse, these two have become very good friends and they have coffee together about once a week. What do you think they're cooking up?

DEAR HARRY: Your goose, probably.

DEAR ABBY: You've got to help me. I'm an 18-year-old girl who is going steady with a 22-year-old guy who keeps after me to "prove my love."

We've gone together for a year now, and Abby, I DO love him, but I just can't see myself "proving" it the way he wants me to. He says it's not wrong if two people love each other and plan to get married some day.

But Abby, I just wasn't raised that way. We fight about this all the time.

He's really a swell guy, and I'd give my right arm for him. What should I do?

DEAR BLUE EYES: Tell him to be a man, "prove" his love and control himself. And if he still keeps after you, he's not worth your right arm. What he needs is a right hook.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "IN LOVE WITH A BELLY DANCER IN CHICAGO: Tell her you've had a bellyful of her excuses, and have a "gut" feeling it won't work.

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, c/o The Pontiac Press, Dept. E-600, P.O. Box 9, Pontiac, Mich. 48056 and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

For Abby's new booklet "What Teenagers Want to Know," send $1.00 to Abby, c/o The Pontiac Press, Dept. E-600, P.O. Box 9, Pontiac, Mich. 48056.

She Complains About Guests Seeing Kitchen Faith Guides Astronauts' Wives During Weeklong Journey

By ELIZABETH L. POST
Of The Emily Post Institute

The following letter has been chosen as the prize-winning one for this week. A copy of Emily Post's Etiquette has been sent to the writer.

Dear Mrs. Post: When should one front door of a house be used? This past week three incidents occurred which embarrassed and dismayed me.

In all three cases my living room was presentable and my kitchen was not, yet my callers came in the back door and through my kitchen.

My pastor, five minutes after calling us, stopped at our house. It was cleaning up the kitchen after supper when my husband, very embarrassed, hurriedly ushered him through to our living room. The front porch light had been left on for him.

My in-laws were invited to our home. The whole house was clean but my two-year-old emptied a kitchen cupboard just before they walked in. Again, we had the front porch light on for them.

A neighbor stopped in unexpectedly the other day (I was cleaning my basement and had my cleaning equipment all over the kitchen and basement steps). Mrs. P. J.

Dear Mrs. J.: You are, I think, making a mountain out of a molehill. Many of us (myself included) have houses in which the driveway leads to the back door. Even though there is a path around to the front, people who drive in tend to go to the closer entrance.

But few of them would criticize you for not having the kitchen — which they pass through quickly in any case — immaculate. There is no reason for embarrassment.

When callers let you know in advance, as they should, you may say if you wish, "Please come in the front door — we'll have the light on for you." You may also, if you are in another part of the house, take your back door.

Let me take this opportunity, however, to say that visitors, except in the case of closest "drop-in" friends, should use the front door, for the very reasons you mention.

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — For the world the fantastic moon saga of Apollo 8 ended Friday with the ship's Pacific Ocean splashdown. For the families of the three astronauts it won't end until 5 a.m. EST Sunday.

That's when planes will return Air Force Col. Frank Borman, Navy Capt. James A. Lovell Jr., and Air Force Maj. William A. Anders to Ellington Air Force Base near the Manned Spacecraft Center in Houston.

COMING HOME

"Frank's coming home," said Mrs. Borman Friday. "That's all that we're looking for."

In the crush of well-wishers that jammed their homes, the three wives still found time for private conversation with their husbands over special space agency telephones installed in each home.

"It was just great," said Valerie Anders, of her talk with her husband aboard the USS Yorktown.

Borman will find the youngest of his two teen-aged sons with a broken left hand. No one would say how it got broken.

And Anders' 4-year-old son Eric — the youngest of five children — was in bed with 102-degree temperature, but was allowed to come into the living room to watch the splashdown on television.

A Mass at the Anders home after splashdown was recited by the Rev. Dennis Berry, a family friend from La Mesa, Calif., the astronaut's hometown. Mrs. Lovell went to Communion early the morning of splashdown and Mrs. Borman's minister was in the Borman house at that anxiety-filled time.

This Christmas, which she spent without her husband, meant to her "the reality that we can get along together and have a deep and abiding faith in each other," Mrs. Borman said.

She said she thought the flight would bring the world closer. "This is our hope," she said. "This was our message to the world — we've got to get together."

Mrs. Anders said, "I really feel this peace on earth, good will toward men coming this far from a lot of people — not only from friends, but from friends of friends."

"I feel very humble, very full of gratitude."

And Mrs. Lovell said no word in the dictionary can describe how she felt.

"I am so proud of my country that enabled my husband to carry out this mission. It's incredible to believe he's been there (the moon)," she said. "I can't wait to see the pictures when he gets back. It's just been fantastic."

One of the first to telephone his congratulations to the families was President Johnson.

"We are so proud of your husbands and so thankful they are back," the President said. "This has achieved so much for your country throughout the world. I know that nobody is as proud as you three girls who did so much to bring it about."

Nobody was.

Peek-a-Boo Party Cover Up

If you're having a dress-up party and want to protect that tape, or ribbon, sequins or black velvet, floor length sheath orstrich plumes. It's the lacy or elegant pants — use a white look that is so popular in or pink vinyl tablecloth, round, fashion today.

A 54-inch round cloth will make a tunic-length coverup. Since the clothes are soft and a 70-inch will go to the floor. Just fold in half, cut a circle, for your waist, and bind the edges of the opening around one in an hour, and the cost can be as little as $3.95.

Julie's China, Circa 1918

Julie Nixon Eisenhower chose set against a celery colored American china for her new home. "Autumn" by Lenox, Inc. was recently reintroduced because of the upsurge of interest in Art Nouveau styles. It was originally designed 50 years ago.

Lenox china has been used in the White House since Woodrow Wilson's time and is the official service in many governor's mansions and foreign government houses around the world.

It is a highly sophisticated pattern, because of its extensive use of color, and the exquisite decoration of hand-enameled, jewel-like dots, over 300 in all. The wide border pattern consists of blue scrolls interspersed with colorful baskets of fruit and floral bouquets, all

A Handy Guide for the Clubwoman

By BETTY CANARY
NEA Writer

Some seem to believe I dislike attending meetings and I want to set the record straight. My attitude is not dislike, but horror.

And, the puzzling thing about this is that, even though I am a dedicated nonjoiner, I seem to be a member of a surprising number of committees and therefore am always getting notes and post cards bearing mysterious messages and reminders.

Usually I show up at the time specified. I do this on the off-chance that the meeting might be about something in which I do have an interest.

Also, I keep thinking about the reminder I once received and tossed into the wastebasket, only to discover at a later date that it had been a notice to appear in traffic court. The policeman, while polite, took a distinctly cool (actually it was glacial) interest in my crowded calendar.

SKIP

Speaking from experience, I find the best way to be a contributing member of a committee is to skip the first three meetings and show up at the fourth, at which time there is a possibility some work might be done. This is an especially good idea if any notices for the first meetings have the words Planning or Selection inserted in the message.

Usually, the Planning Committee meets in order to choose a committee to select a committee. This in itself is all right. Any bad feelings within the certain things one must group come out into the open and everyone gets caught up in the latest gossip and feuds.

The meeting of the Selection Committee is the long meeting do NOT ask why carbon copies and time is spent ironing out of lists must be sent to state old problems. The gist of the headquarters.

Conversation is usually, "Don't you dare appoint Alice Barger to Costumes because she ALWAYS want the first graders to be angels and elves!"

"Well, she has to be on certain charitable organizations something, for heaven's sake, because she has four kids in outrageous prices.

school, gave $20 to the library If on a dance costume group, fund and, besides, we need her do not EVER side with the station wagon."

Once the real committees are colored leotards.

SCORING EFFORT—Spencer Haywood of the University of Detroit drives in for a layup against Mississippi State in last night's Motor City Tournament game at U. of D. Defending is Jim Martin. Haywood pumped in 32 points and grabbed 29 rebounds as the Titans romped, 86-62.

Titans Win Handily; MSU '5' Stumbles

U. of D. Takes on Temple in Motor City Title Tilt

DETROIT (AP) — Spencer Haywood and company will try to give the University of Detroit its ninth Motor City Basketball Tournament title in 17 years tonight when the Titans take on the Temple Owls.

But despite Temple's 5-3 record, U. of D. coach Bob Calihan figures the Owls will be tougher than Mississippi State, which Detroit beat 86-62 Friday night in the first round of the annual tourney.

Temple, victor in last year's Quaker Ohio 67-62 in its game to reach the City Tournament, trimmed Miami of championship round. The losers play tonight in a consolation game.

"Temple will be better than Mississippi State," Calihan said. "They're like all those Philadelphia schools, they play a good zone defense."

But Temple's defense will have to cope with Haywood, who paced the Titans with 32 points and 29 rebounds against Mississippi State. The rebound mark was one short of tying a record for the tournament.

Temple coach Harry Litwack said he never saw Detroit play but added that Haywood "has to be rated an All-American."

"We'll use a zone against them (the Titans)," Litwack said. "If they're a better team than we are they'll lick our zone."

The Owls will rely heavily on John Baum, their top scorer who is averaging 21 points a game. He scored 23 before fouling out late in the game against Miami to lead both teams.

BALL CONTROL
The Miami-Temple tussle was a ball-control game with Temple leading almost the entire game but never by more than seven points.

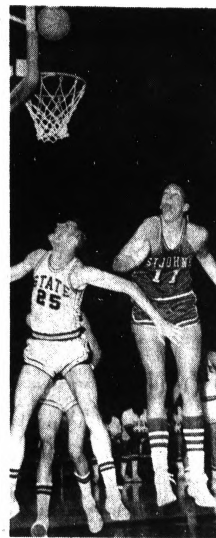

In the later game, Detroit expanded on its 46-36 halftime lead when Mississippi State failed to score a point in a span of nine minutes. Chuck Wade topped the losers with 18 points but the closest Titan to Haywood's 32 was Larry Moore with 12.

Haywood is anxious for tonight's championship contest.

"We're 11th now, but we can't lose and go down to 13th or something," he said, referring to U. of D.'s national ranking in the Associated Press poll.

"I don't want to lose yet," he added. "I never want to lose but I really don't want to lose now."

Meanwhile, statistics from the National Collegiate Sports Services released Friday show Haywood leads the nation's college players with an average of 22.5 rebounds a game. He is fourth in scoring with a 30.8 average.

FOUL PLAY—Bill Paulitz of St. John appears to be howling after he's caught fouling Michigan State shooter Bob Gale in last night's Holiday Festival game in New York. The Redmen, however, defeated MSU, 61-51.

Cold Shooting Hurts Spartans in Tournament

NEW YORK (AP) — Michigan State's basketball team hadn't been in New York City in 27 years, but the way the Spartans played again was to visit the glass and steel metropolis.

The Spartans lost their opening round of the Holiday Festival Tournament 61-51 to the Redmen before 19,500 spectators in the new Garden. MSU meets Villanova in a consolation game today. Villanova lost to North Carolina Friday 69-61.

"It's embarrassing to play that badly before such nice people in such a nice building," said MSU coach John Benington.

"I feel bad for the players—but you always look bad when the ball doesn't go in the basket," he added.

HELD IN CHECK
St. John's was sparked by John Warren's 12-point first half shooting while Michigan State shot just 27 per cent from the floor and Spartan ace Lee Lafayette was held to only one free throw in the half.

Harrison Stepler led MSU with a meager 10 points while Warren topped both teams with 17.

The loss diverted the Spartans from a possible encounter with UCLA, the nation's top ranked team. The Bruins won their opening round of the tourney with a 98-81 triumph over Providence.

UCLA ousted the Friars despite a 36-points spree by shop Vic Colucci. Alcindor hit for 26 points, connecting on his first five shots in the second half to help open a commanding lead.

"They were screening well off our guards and we were poor off the defensive boards," said UCLA Coach John Wooden.

"I thought I could have played much better," said Alcindor, who was returning to his home court for the second time as a collegian. Somebody asked

The towering All-American why, but teammate Lynn Shackelford answered the question:

"Because I got eight rebounds, and he got eight rebounds," he said. "Anytime that happens, Lew Figures he's had a bad game."

RECORD CROWD

In the opener of the evening double-header, before a record Festival crowd of 18,500, Princeton's Jeff Petrie and John Hammer blasted Holy Cross out of its zone defense, popping 24 and 22 points, respectively, to lead the Tigers in the semifinal... and a date with Alcindor.

"There's no human being in the world who can stop him," said Princeton Coach Pete Carril. "We don't have an other 6-8 or 6-10 man to go in if Chris Thorndore gets in foul trouble."

Thorndore, the Tigers' 6-9 center, will draw the assignment of handling Large Lew. "I'm not staking my career on it," said Thorndore.

Target Date Set for Grid Merger

NEW YORK (AP) — Pete Rozelle, commissioner of pro football, said Friday the alignment of the American and National Leagues for 1970 will have to be decided by the start of the 1969 season.

The 1970 season is the target for the completed merger of the two leagues, which at one time threatened to spend each other into oblivion. The number of joint committee meetings, three or four in the last six months, leading up to our March 17 meeting in Palm Springs when it will be thrown to all 26 clubs for the first time," Rozelle told a news conference.

Wings 'Abel' to Gain Draw

Sid on Bench, Gadsby Upstairs

By JERE CRAIG
General manager Sid Abel and Detroit Red Wing coach Bill Gadsby swapped seats Friday night at Olympia Stadium with the struggling National Hockey League eastern division tailenders still had to struggle for a 3-3 tie against Philadelphia.

Rugged Pete Stenkowski whipped a shoulder high shot past Flyers' goalie Bernie Parent from 23 feet for the tying goal with 5:22 left to play after circling around to the netminder's left without any interference from the Philadelphia defense.

Abel, the former Red Wing coach, suggested that Gadsby watch the game from the press box while he took over on the bench for one game.

It is a device employed several times by Red Wings general manager during his coaching days in an effort to get a different perspective on the performance of the players.

"Sid said he thought I might be getting fooled by several players and he wanted me to take a look from up here tonight," Gadsby revealed.

"Bill and I talked by phone a couple times during the game and we agreed that certain things weren't working," Abel noted after the Wings rallied three times to tie the Flyers who have only won nine games and tied seven this year.

The Philadelphia club finished first in the NHL's new western division in its initial campaign last year.

But despite this fall-off in effectiveness by the Flyers, the Detroiters continued to falter against the newer clubs. Last night's tie before 11,935 fans gives the Red Wings just one victory in their last five games.

The Wings started strong, putting pressure on the visitors' defense. The Philadelphia didn't manage a shot on goal until 9:07 had elapsed.

However, that drive by Leon Rochefort from about 55 feet on the right side eluded Wing goalie Roy Edwards right-handed stab and made it 1-0 for the Flyers.

Gary Unger's stick was in the right place and the young center tied the game with 4:49 gone in the second period as Nick Libett's shot bounced off Unger's stick and past Parent who played a standout game.

Gordie Howe was on the line with Unger and Libett as Abel and Gadsby shifted personnel around. The big right winger fed the puck to Libett on the play for his only point of the night.

It was Unger's 14th goal of the campaign, tying him with Alex Delvecchio for third place on the Wings.

RETALIATES

Forbes Kennedy quickly retaliated for Philadelphia, shoving the puck past Edwards less than a minute later.

But rookie Rene LeClerc's first NHL goal knotted the count 61 seconds after Kennedy's score. He took a perfect pass from Frank Mahovlich who moved in along the boards on the left. Delvecchio also assisted on the play.

The 22 tie held until the 15:41 mark of the middle period.

Successive penalties to defensemen Paul Popiel and Kent Douglas left the Wings short-handed and Douglas was still off when 42-year-old Allan Stanley slapped a shot from just inside the blue line past Edwards. Rochefort fed the puck to Stanley who netted his second goal of the year.

"Crozier has been playing almost every game and we wanted to give him a rest," Abel explained the use of Edwards in the Wings' nets. "Roger will probably be back out there Sunday night against Boston."

TALKS FOOTBALL—Bo Schembechler (left) talks with newsmen yesterday after being named football coach at the University of Michigan. He is seated next to Bump Elliott who becomes an assistant athletic director. Schembechler coached the last six years at Miami of Ohio.

New 'M' Coach Hunting Assistants

ANN ARBOR (AP) — In his first day as football coach at the University of Michigan, Glenn E. "Bo" Schembechler said Friday his first order of business will be to form a 10-man staff.

Schembechler, who coached the last six years at Miami University of Ohio, was given a five-year contract at Michigan at an annual salary of $22,500.

"I have an obligation to my staff in Ohio," he said, "and it's a damn fine staff. I'm going to sit down and talk to each of them individually and see which of them would like to come with me."

He added he also will keep some of the present Michigan assistants.

OTHER STAFFERS

In addition to himself, Schembechler's staff will include four coaches on offense and defense and one freshman coach.

Schembechler, who had a 40-17 record in six years at Miami of Ohio, said the man he wanted most on his staff was "Jim Young, my top assistant at Miami, for defensive co-ordinator."

The only thing is I already recommended him for the head coaching job there."

The main regret he has at leaving Miami, he admitted, "is that I never team would have been the best I ever had at Miami."

Michigan athletic director Don Canham announced the coaching changes Friday morning. Also present was Chalmers "Bump" Elliott, who moved from football coach to associate director of athletics.

"I decided to leave coaching because this new opportunity was there and I didn't know if it would be in the future," Elliott said.

BUILD DEFENSE

Schembechler, who played offensive tackle at Miami from 1948 to 1950, said his first concern would be to build a strong defense.

"On offense I favor an option attack. I think that's the sort of thing that makes college football so exciting," he said.

He was the fourth consecutive coach from Miami to take over a team in the Big Ten. They include Ohio State's Woody Hayes, Indiana's John Pont, and Arz Parschian, who coached at Notre Dame before moving to Notre Dame.

GM Pins Its Minicar Hopes on XP 887, Due Early in 1970

(EDITOR'S NOTE — This is the third and final installment of a series on the American auto industry's plans to bring out a minicar to challenge foreign imports, whose sales are nearing the million a year mark.)

DETROIT (AP) — XP 887 sounds at first hearing as if it should be the name of a super-sonic plane or an outer space vehicle. In actuality, it is the code name for General Motors' brand new compact car, which will be marketed in early 1970.

The task of building the car was assigned to GM's bread and butter division, Chevrolet, perennial leader in the auto industry sales race. A more glamorous name for the car will be picked next year.

There are many unusual things about the project. First and foremost was the unusual frankness GM showed when it disclosed plans for the car early in October — nearly two years in advance of its sales debut date.

Car makers as a rule guard their new car development laboratories and workshops as carefully as Fort Knox is protected. Few facts about the new vehicles ever leak out.

It was a surprise, therefore, when GM Board Chairman James M. Roche said the world's biggest auto firm would make a major move in the lowest price segment of the market — one dominated by foreign imports.

He said it would "not be a pocket-size version of any other car but would have a look and character all its own." He said the new car would have a new and different engine and be a foot shorter than any car GM makes in the United States today.

Roche said the new car would weigh about 1,900 pounds — in contrast to 1,763 for the Volkswagen and 2,555 for Chevrolet's own Corvair.

There were indications GM would continue to count on Buick's German-built Opel to not satisfied... the preference of a growing number of Americans for smaller, lower-priced, foreign-built cars over the past several years is a phenomenon we cannot ignore."

Roche described the factors behind the big demand for subcompact cars, such as the foreign imports, and the new cars that Ford, American Motors, Chrysler and GM are working on, as varied.

"Many reasons underlie this growth — their novelty, a family's need for a second car, the economy of initial purchase and operation and their flexibility as a means of basic transportation," GM's No. 1 man said.

GM sources wasted little time in touting the XP 887 as compared with Ford's new minicar Maverick which will go on sale in April 1969 — a year before GM's car is scheduled to debut.

Without allowing themselves to be quoted, a couple of Chevrolet men dismissed the forthcoming Ford Maverick as a scaled down make-over of the Ford's current bottom-of-the-line offering — the Falcon.

The possibility remained that GM could revise its timetable and get XP 887 to the market place faster if Maverick breaks first from the post in April.

Chevrolet people recall only too well the sales problem they had in playing catch-up with Ford's Mustang after the Mustang made its debut two years ahead of Chevrolet's personalized Camaro.

Red China's Nuclear Threat

Ominous Problem for Nixon

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

AP Special Correspondent

Red China has set off another nuclear blast, its seventh since October 1964. This ominous event is bound to underscore a special set of problems for the incoming American president.

The new test Friday, first in 1½ years, was comparable in strength to the last one, a hydrogen bomb blast. This suggests that Red China is getting ready for an attempt to thrust itself forcefully into the long-range missile club.

Once again, the deadly equation looms. If China's emergence as a missile power is regarded as a threat to the United States, there is probably going to be pressure for a new missile buildup which in turn can spur the Russians to a significant stepup of their own.

For President-elect Nixon, the shadow of Red China striking power also can bring demands for the opening of channels to Peking, on the theory that it is too dangerous to have such a vast nation, armed with nuclear missiles, isolated from the rest of the world.

The United States already has an enormously powerful missile strike force at its disposal, but that fact is unlikely to deter the insistence in some quarters upon more, with the Red Chinese prospect as the stimulus for such a drive. Military planners have no doubt that the Russians, too, can deploy a powerful strategic strike force, but that fact is unlikely to inhibit Soviet military men's demands for more, with both China and the United States to point to as justification.

Thus, a China buildup is likely to have a sharply adverse effect on hopes for an East-West meeting of minds which might bring the missile race within the bounds of rationality. China still officially denounces any effort to slow the spread of nuclear weapons as a "gigantic fraud" hatched by Russians and Americans to keep their own big power monopoly.

China's nuclear program, once under way, developed with remarkable speed. The first test of an old-fashioned atom bomb was in October 1964; the second, bigger and more sophisticated, in May 1965; the third a year later. The fourth, in October 1966, was a missile with a range of up to 600 miles and armed with a punch of 20,000 tons of TNT. The fifth was on Christmas Eve 1966 and the sixth in June 1967, a hydrogen bomb.

The program then seemed to bog down. There was evidence of a failure in January 1968. Then the tumultuous cultural revolution seemed to interfere. There were some attacks on scientists for pursuing a "revisionist line" in defense research.

STABILITY AGAIN

However, the evidence now is that the cultural revolution has been slowed down, if it is not a thing of the past, and that an attempt is being made to restore stability. This would permit scientists to work unhampered, and to go forward in the program again with the speed exhibited in the past.

As they push ahead with their missile program, it is always a possibility that the Chinese will job a long-range missile into some provocative area—the Indian Ocean, to frighten non-Communist Asia, or even in the Pacific, perhaps to demonstrate an ability to reach Hawaii. What impact would that have?

It seems likely that the pressures on the Nixon administration then would become intense from two sides: One to step up America's own missile program; the other for an effort to communicate directly with China—perhaps even to recognize Peking—in an attempt to bring it within talking distance.

State GI Killed

MUNISING (AP) — The Defense Department has reported that Bruce Johnson, whose wife, Phyllis, lives in Wetmore, near Munising, was killed in Vietnam action Christmas Eve. The victim's mother, Mrs. Mary Johnson, lives in Munising. Also surviving is Johnson's three-week-old daughter, Mary.

Southern Shift to GOP

Seen by Nixon Nominee

WASHINGTON (AP) — The only Southerner in President-elect Nixon's Cabinet, Winton M. Blount, the Alabama businessman slated to become President-elect Nixon's postmaster general, says the political tides of the South are running only one way—a shift from Democrat to Republican.

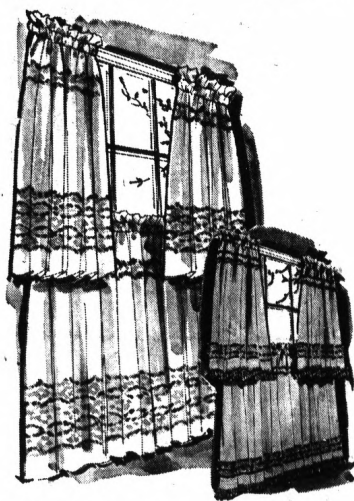

Blount, 47, the president of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, has been a Republican himself less than eight years.

Asked why he joined the GOP, Blount told a news conference Friday that "Southerners find themselves more comfortable with it, and I'm a Southerner." Blount avoided a direct answer on whether civil rights was a pivotal factor in the South's political shift. But he pledged equal opportunity in all areas of the Post Office Department. He will be taking over an agency with large numbers of Negroes.

Blount said he will place top priority on improvement of mail service, but emphasized "I have never read any criticism of postal employees. It's simply the management and the techniques."

Humphrey Haired by Adopted Home Town

WAVERLY, Minn. (AP) — Outside the snow fell softly on the gray concrete building while inside the vice president of the United States danced and talked with the people who know him as a neighbor.

For Hubert H. Humphrey it was a return to his adopted hometown to say thanks for its support in his unsuccessful bid for the presidency and for past successful campaigns for the Senate and the vice presidency.

Friday night the vice president was honored by some 100 of his friends and neighbors in this snowy country town some 40 miles west of Minneapolis.

Dressed in a dark blue suit, Humphrey appeared tanned and well-recovered from a recent bout with the flu. He plunged into the crowd shaking hands and greeting many persons by name.

Before he and his wife, Muriel arrived, the crowd danced to the music of the Melodiers—featuring an organ, guitar, drums and clarinet.

The ceremony was due to be at 9 p.m. but no one seemed surprised when the vice president and much of the crowd had not arrived by 10 p.m.

Waverly residents danced or sat at booths and tables around the large ballroom—while the band played on a stage.

Then, about 10:15 the crowd stirred as the vice president and his wife arrived. After walking around the room and greeting friends, Humphrey went to the stage and spoke briefly.

He began by thanking the persons for support both before and after the recent election.

Humphrey described the recent cold November morning on which he and a few voters and lists of reporters and photographers gathered to record his vote as "Americana at its best."

Humphrey also complimented the town on its appearance during the campaign and drew applause when he said, "We're residents here. We intend to be here a long time."

Then he told the residents that they should be happy that he lost the presidency because the public would have descended on the town "like an avalanche" if he had won.

Cat Looking for New Friend

SAN MATEO, Calif. (AP) — Melvin, a striped stable cat at Bay Meadows, is looking for a new friend and foot-warmer.

His favorite was Jay Painter, a 6-year-old trotting horse. They kept each other company through the dull off-season days and the quiet nights.

Yesterday, Jay Painter was being exercised on a small track by his trainer, Leonard Meehan. Something happened — Meehan doesn't know what — and Jay Painter shed, jerked the reins from Meehan's hands and tumbled Meehan unharmed off the sulky.

Then Jay Painter bolted through the fence and crashed headlong into a car on busy Hillside Boulevard.

They brought Jay Painter's body home on a truck bed, and Melvin went out to greet his friend.

The cat circled warily. Never before had Jay Painter come home like this, Melvin cautiously jumped up on his friend's shoulder.

But it wasn't the same.

Appearing uneasy, Melvin jumped down, walked away uncertainly.

He hasn't been seen since.

State Women Feared in Plane Wreckage

WAILUKU, Maui Island, Hawaii (AP) — A search team plans to climb the rugged slopes of a ravine in the west Maui mountains today in hopes of reaching the wreckage of a plane, believed to have been the one missing since Sept. 23 containing six persons, including four young Michigan women.

After setting up an overnight camp at Launiupoko Valley, an Air Force and Civil Air Patrol team plans to climb to the spot where the wreckage was sighted Dec. 15.

To reach it, the team, headed by Air Force Lt. Col. F. C. Van Gorder and Civil Air Patrol Capt. Herb Santos, must scale a 40-foot sheer cliff blocking the valley and then climb 900 feet of steep slope.

Authorities have not been able to identify the wreckage from the air, but they believe it was the one that contained six persons on a one-day outing from Honolulu. They include Air Force Lt. Robert Van Voss, 24, of Cicero, Ill.; the pilot, Everett Hooks, 24, of Westchester, Ill.; Betsy Van Dyke, 20, of Grand Rapids, Mich.; Betty Boer, 22, and Marlys Vis, 21, both of Wyoming, Mich.; and Joanne Elsinga, 25, of Holland, Mich.

A petroleum-bearing formation in a new region of Egypt's western desert 46 miles west of Cairo has been discovered. One nearby now produces 200 barrels of oil a day.

Apollo Flight May Bring Moon Landing by April, May

By JIM STROTSMAN
AP Aerospace Writer
SPACE CENTER Houston — Apollo 8's trailblazing flight around the moon has given space planners a firm foothold to try for a moon landing in the next few months — maybe April or May.

One major piece of Apollo hardware still remains to be qualified, the lunar module spacecraft that will taxi future astronauts from a three-man Apollo craft in lunar orbit to the moon's surface.

The four-legged lunar lander

is to get its first manned space test about Feb. 20 during America's next three-man mission Apollo 9.

If the lunar module performs perfectly in earth orbit on Apollo 9, astronauts conceivably could land on the moon on the following flight, Apollo 10, in April or May.

APOLLO 10 PLANS
Present plans for Apollo 10 — to be flown by a three-man crew headed by veteran astronaut Air Force Col. Thomas P. Stafford — call for the pilots to fly a moon-orbit mission in which the lunar module separates from a three-man Apollo spaceship and approaches within 10 miles of the surface, but does not land.

"Our present plans are to not commit Apollo 10 for a landing," said Air Force Lt. Gen. Samuel C. Phillips, Apollo program director. However, "We might want to exercise a more ambitious option," he noted as was done when the National Aeronautics and Space Administration NASA decided to send Apollo 8 around the moon.

The first lunar landing mission is now expected by Apollo 11, next May or June. Astronauts have not yet been assigned for that flight.

The particular lunar module assigned to Apollo 10 does not have fuel tanks with enough capacity and weighs too much for a lunar landing. So if a decision is made to fly the Apollo 10 crew to the moon's surface, another lunar module would have to be assigned to the mission, Phillips pointed out.

Romney Sees Apollo as Aid Domestically

LANSING — Gov. George Romney yesterday welcomed the return of the Apollo 8 astronauts from the moon and said the same resources that accomplished their trip can help solve domestic problems.

"I believe we are on the threshold of applying the American spirit and know-how to the resolution of the many challenges of the 'good earth,'" Romney said.

"The success of their mission is a fantastic example of what this nation can accomplish when it puts its total public and private resources into a project," said Romney, named by President-elect Nixon as the next secretary of housing and urban development.

"These same resources can be applied to the domestic problems that confront us today, particularly in urban renewal, housing, human relations, transportation, environment, crime and other pressing urban, suburban and rural crises," he said.

"If we can send men to the moon and back, we can lick these other problems," Romney extended the best wishes of Michigan to astronauts Frank Borman, James Lovell and William Anders and "all associated with this historic and successful mission."

Patients Moving

HAMTRAC (AP) — The last patients are to be moved Sunday from St. Francis Hospital in Hamtramck to a new wing of Holy Cross Hospital in Detroit. The 30 patients will be moved by National Guard ambulance. The St. Francis emergency room is to remain open until Dec. 31, after which the entire hospital will close.

Hong Kong Flu, by Any Other Name, Would Still Have Hit

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite being tagged as the "Hong Kong flu," there's nothing especially Oriental about the nature of the new strain of influenza now sweeping the country.

And the same goes for the so-called "Asian flu," that first appeared in epidemic form in 1957.

In both instances, say experts on communicable diseases, the two strains were simply genetic mutations of a form of influenza virus called Influenza Type-A1 that has been known for years.

The new strains got their names because they first popped up in Asia, but the initial mutations might just as easily occurred in any other part of the world, said researchers of the army surgeon general's office and the U.S. Public Health Service.

NO EVIDENCE FOUND

These same experts said that while jet-age travel has increased the possibility of importing contagious diseases from Asia and other parts of the world, there is no evidence to indicate that Hong Kong flu was brought into the country by air travelers.

The return of thousands of American troops from Vietnam has presented an additional health factor, authorities said, but, at worst, they see possibilities of only sporadic cases and localized outbreaks.

"There is definitely a danger of importing an increasing amount of disease," Dr. David J. Spencer, director of the National Communicable Disease Center in Atlanta, Ga., said in an interview.

"It's a symptom of the fact the world is growing smaller. But we don't expect panic in the streets; and we won't be flooded with epidemics of plague, smallpox, or malaria."

PERIODIC ALERTS

The public health service and the armed forces have been issuing periodic alerts, through medical journals and other means, to advise general practitioners and public health officials of the possibility that they might be confronted one day with a disease seldom encountered on these shores.

Such diseases could include dengue, of "break-bone fever," certain skin ailments; diarrheal maladies; a fever called "Chikungunya"; a lung ailment called "Meloidosis"; Japanese

B encephalitis; "leptospirosis," a malady easily mistaken for flu, dengue and certain other feverish ills, and even leprosy, although the Public Health Service hastened to add that it has no evidence that leprosy is on the increase.

"Just about any disease can get through the protective barriers," said Dr. Spencer, pointing out that in the jet-age it's possible for a person to travel from one part of the world to another while suffering an illness that is still in its incubation period.

"There's a need for the medical profession to be cognizant of the possibility of unusual diseases," said Spencer, "but the doctors don't need to be specialists. If their suspicions are aroused, there's always an expert on a given disease somewhere in the country who can be called in."

In another interview, Col. Ralph C. Singer, chief of the communicable diseases branch, Army surgeon general's office, said:

"Other than malaria, I can't think of a single disease we're worried about from the standpoint of returnees from Vietnam bringing such diseases back here and spreading them around....

"And we're really not too worried about malaria. There's only a pretty small chance of malaria getting a foothold in the United States again. The surveillance is too good."

A few weeks ago, we ran an ad on filet mignon for $1.99 a pound and people stood in line until we sold out.

A lady living on Wyoming called up to find out where her nearest Wrigley was. It was two blocks away. That was only one of hundreds of calls.

Now, we've been able to purchase filet again, but this time we've bought enough so that we won't disappoint anyone.

Just as before, all you have to do is cut them into steaks and save up to $2.00 a pound. It's easy to cut your own and there's really no reason why you should pay the additional 40¢ a pound for us to cut them.

We can't think of a finer piece of meat for the holidays so this week serve filet mignon and let the savings be a special holiday gift from us to you.

Thesis Tale Ends Happily for Principal

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — The labor of 12 years — a 200-page doctoral dissertation and all the notes — was taken by thieves, and a suburban Minneapolis high school principal wondered if he would receive his doctorate.

Last August thieves broke into the car of Burnsville High School Principal Robert D. Pomije and took all three copies as well as his notes on "Factors Relating to Secondary School Principals as a Career Choice."

The theft occurred just before Pomije, 43, was to take his oral examinations at the University of Minnesota. The orals were postponed, and Pomije began rewriting his dissertation — from memory.

He "worked day and night," while keeping his full-time job at the high school. "I had my tables, but most of my original scribbling was gone too." He had nothing on his biggest chapter.

AWARDED DEGREE

Pomije finished the dissertation a second time just before the Oct. 10 deadline. He passed his orals and was awarded his Ph.D. on Dec. 14.

A few days later, two boys found the missing, water-soaked original manuscripts in a culvert about five miles from his home.

Cloud Seeding Will Turn LA's Fog Into Drizzle

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A plan to turn low-visibility fog into high-visibility drizzle over Los Angeles International Airport was given a go-ahead Friday by the airport commission.

In the $80,000 experiment, pilots will seed clouds with sodium chloride ammonium sulfate and urea when heavy fog threatens to close the airport.

Fog has closed International Airport 162 hours, 58 minutes in 1968, diverting air traffic to other facilities in Southern California.

Water-Sports Fans Choose Island for Their Home Site

By JODY HEADLEE
Home Editor, The Pontiac Press

Take a wooded island, a family of water-sports enthusiasts and yards and yards of land fill and you have the site that triggered the F. A. Andersons' latest move. "The deck side of the house," said Mrs. Anderson, "overlooks Loon Lake . . . the front door of Silver Lake."

"To make the driveway, we filled in the original canal that connected the two lakes and divided the island from the mainland. The house itself," she continued, "is on solid, original ground but the lawns are on filled land."

Built by Leon Blachura of Waterford Township, the home was designed in a contemporary vein to take advantage of the lake views.

OPEN DESIGN

The commanding two-level foyer with its floor-to-ceiling glass accentuates the open design of the floor plan and its integration with the surrounding site. Three amber glass globes in an antiqued brass hanging fixture light the slate-covered area which serves as a passageway to the lower family-room level and the upstairs formal living-room level.

Sculptured olive green carpeting covers the steps and the living and dining areas. A white wrought-iron railing highlighted by gold leaf accents frames the stairwell and the living-room balcony.

"Homes with open plans are often troubled by excessive noise," said Mrs. Anderson. "To combat this, we had acoustical tiles put on the ceiling. It works beautifully."

"And after having lived in a home with a tile ceiling, you can really notice a difference in the houses that don't have it."

Pale-gold open weave draperies dress the window walls that open from the living room onto the broad redwood deck overlooking Loon Lake.

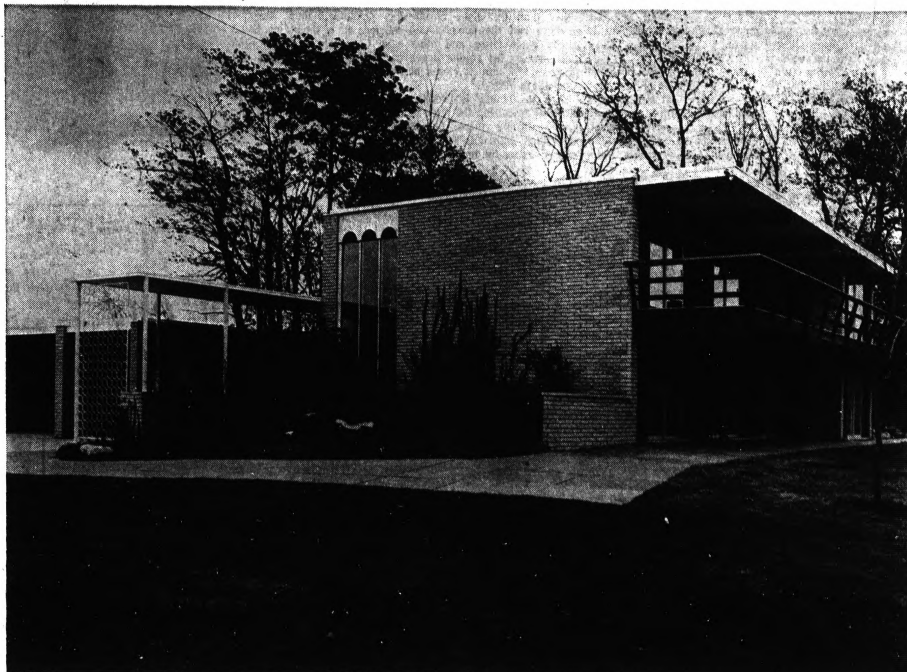

"On this side of the house," said Mrs. Anderson, "eight sliding glass doors open onto the lake."

Matching button-back chairs in a brown, gold, green and pumpkin tweed are placed between the walnut piano and the antiqued-white credenza topped in fruitwood. The seascape in tones of green, gold and white above the credenza is framed in antiqued white.

A cranberry candle in a ceramic candlestick, a miniature of "The Thinker" and the wedding picture of the Andersons' daughter, Mrs. Coila Hales, now of Chicago, adorns the credenza top.

The Andersons have three other children, Ole, 21, a senior at Michigan State University, and twins Karen and Tina, 12, at home.

Serving the living room's quilted sectional are white marble-topped pedestal tables.

The Tiffany Lamp Is Back

One of the symbols of changing tastes that make things look a "jumbo" doesn't mean it is hideously old-fashioned to many made from ground elephant and modern eyes was the Tiffany lamp.

Like fringe, its chief defense is that it seemed like a good idea at the time.

This was an object that probably should have been allowed to disappear into the vale of quaint memory with any originals or imitations that remain unbusted to be squabbled over by collectors.

Such was not its fate and the Tiffany lamp is back with us again.

Maybe Americans are kinderhearted and felt anything so unlovely, as in the case of the Volvo, needed a friend.

Just calling a sandwich called higher quality glass of the day.

LAMP
He turned for a brief time to the household lamp. Ironically, his name lives for most people associated with this venture rather than the glass mosaic windows and the one-of-a-kind fabric glass vases, and other table articles his studio turned out from 1878 until it closed at his death in 1933.

Even so, Tiffany is credited with revolutionizing the style of lamps, turning them from utilitarian nothingness into decorations for the home.

Experts debate the creative achievements that resulted. Though he worked in many mediums, glass became a major one. There can be no denying that he pushed glassmaking to new plateaus.

Because arranging various colored bits of glass into designs is one of man's oldest arts, going back at least to the Egyptians of 2000 B.C., this was no mean accomplishment.

He entered the stalemated field of stained glass and produced a array of hues, shades, tints and tones never before seen.

One of life's wry jokes gave him a good start. He noticed that cheap, junk glass used for wine bottles and preserve jars, with all impurities left in, was more handsome than the so-called higher quality glass of the day.

a Fireplace

Now's the time to be thinking about that fireplace you've been planning to add to your home.

Fireplaces today are available in variety to fit any pocketbook and fire-proof surfacing materials like ceramic tile make it possible to install them just about anywhere in the house.

And thinking about chill fall evenings and cold winter days may be just the kind of psychological air-conditioning you need to get through the summer's heat.

For 'Outdoor' People

Garden Room Bright, Airy

A growing trend toward outdoor living, with patios, special furniture and barbecues, should also call for more outdoor light.

With so much invested in all of these conveniences, it seems wise to extend their use into the darker hours.

Lighting outdoors should be carefully planned. A light bulb here and there will not do. There are larger areas to cover, certain hazards to consider.

Outdoor lighting should be planned with safety in mind. It need not be terribly bright, so long as it is used wisely.

Where hazards are greatest, lights should be brightest. It is more important to have bright lights along outdoor steps than a walk.

Use lights in areas with greatest usage. Front walks as against a driveway, for example. Also consider the color of the paving. Light-colored paving would need less light than blacktop.

If you are close to the house, you are more likely to need light than at a distance. Stepping from a brightly light interior, it may take a moment or two for your eyes to adjust to the darkness. In that moment you could have an accident.

In the house, many lamps sit on tables and give off light at eye level. Indoors, that's all right. Outdoors, avoid eyelevel lighting. Place it either quite high to illuminate a large area, or quite low and concentrate it where it is needed most.

Lights placed high should be floodlights. Arrange them so that the circles of light overlap. Floodlight bulbs in adjustable fixtures are easy to use for such installations.

Lights only two or three feet off the ground, such as those used to illuminate a path, should be shielded so that the light is aimed down. Space them so that there are no totally black areas.

Lights right at walk level must be even closer, about eight feet apart.

Outdoor steps should be lighted, even if nothing else is. A floodlight mounted high will take care of it. If you use lights at low level, you will need several.

DRIVEWAY
The most important part of the driveway to illuminate is the area right in front of the garage. This is where you get in and out of and load and unload the car.

If the garage light is not sufficient, hang a floodlight on the outside of the garage or in a nearby tree.

Before going in for a permanent installation, experiment with light placement by running weatherproof extension cords around the yard. Use weatherproof lights and sockets as well.

Permanent installation is best done by burying the electric cable. There are types that can be buried directly, saving you the cost of separate conduit, if the local code permits. You will need conduit where the cable comes up through the ground.

If you are not familiar with wiring procedures, you will want an electrician to make the final installation.

If you know a little about the procedure, perhaps you could hire an electrician to set up the new circuit and junction box at the house and run some or all of the wiring while you install the fixtures only.

Whatever method you use, one thing you can do for yourself is the advance planning.

Planning Puts
Your Closets to Full Use

You'd be surprised how much a walk-in closet can accommodate.

Designers point out that many homeowners, however, are not taking full advantage of their walk-in closets. Proper planning is a "must."

For instance, a series of shelves or even enclosed cabinets can be built along one wall for smaller items, such as shirts and sweaters. Such storage space not only provides additional storage space, but helps assure a neat appearance.

Bulky items, such as hat boxes and bedding, can be kept on a shelf built near the top of the wall. This shelf can be built around all the walls if necessary.

A special section should be built for shoes. Special fixtures are available to lend some order to this storage problem. Some families also build separate units for luggage and boots.

To provide moth-repellent storage for expensive clothes, many homeowners are installing aromatic red cedar closet lining on all the walls. This moth-repellent wood has long been known as a mark of quality construction.

Since the pieces of cedar come tongue-and-grooved, the handyman can line a closet over the weekend. The pieces are nailed right over the old wall. No finishing is necessary.

Local lumber dealers, who have cedar in prepackaged bundles also can provide practical tips on how to increase the storage capacity of a walk-in closet.

CONTEMPORARY AND TRADITIONAL touches are combined in this four-bedroom, two-story house to produce an attractive result. Stone veneer inside the wooded-post portico furnishes an interesting contrast to the wood shingles around the rest of the house.

Luxury Features in Small Two-Story

This week's house is a modest and economical two-story that "lives" like a luxury home.

Although under 1,900 square feet in habitable area — including both floors — it incorporates many design features normally found in more expensive custom homes.

Architect Samuel Paul has placed within it such things as a circular main stair and open well, stone front portico, brick family room fireplace with pine mantel, bay-windowed living room and dinette, and a dressing alcove and spacious walk-in closet in the master suite.

The exterior is the charming rustic contemporary home with a colonial flavor.

The one-story portico roofline adds dimension to an otherwise modest facade 48'2" in length.

SHINGLES — The facade incorporates stone veneer inside the portico and wood shingles on the balance.

Wood casement windows and wood shutters round out the exterior.

A double entrance door serves as a gracious entry to the home. Inside, a roomy center hall leads to all parts of both floors.

There are two large closets here, but most distinguishing of all is the grand sweeping circular staircase to the second floor.

This dramatic feature is combined with a complementary open well and built-in planter ledge part way up the stair to provide a truly esthetic view.

FOYER — On either side of the entrance foyer are the dining and living rooms, the latter featuring a front bay window.

To the rear of the entrance foyer is a cozy family room with a brick front fireplace, raised slate hearth and pine mantel.

Both functional and attractive are the folding louver doors which open to the living room, thus enabling both rooms to be used jointly for those occasional large gatherings when space is at a premium. There is also a door to the rear patio.

Adjacent to the family room is a roomy bay-windowed

Z-73 STATISTICS

Design Z-73 has a living room, dining room, kitchen, dinette, family room and foyer on the first floor, with a habitable area of 963 square feet. Also on this level are a big laundry room — with a lavatory, storage space and utility section — and a one-car garage. On the second floor are four bedrooms and two baths, totaling 892 square feet. Overall dimensions are 48'2" by 31'2".

dinette. Next to that is an efficient, and well-appointed kitchen, including a built-in wall oven, chopping block, built-in dishwasher and a pantry closet.

An adjoining mud room has a lavatory, laundry space, large closet and a walk-in storage closet.

GARAGE — There is an entrance to the rear and a door leading to the garage.

On the second floor are four bedrooms, two full baths and an abundance of closets.

The master suite is a lavish complex, with a huge walk-in closet, dressing alcove and bath with stall shower.

The spacious, square second floor hall is a luxurious relief from the typical closed-in second floor halls in modest two-story homes.

The one-car garage is oversized, with ample storage and work space.

STAIRS

In addition, there is room for a disappearing stair if the owner wishes to have additional storage in the garage attic. A basement is not included in the plan, but could be added if desired.

Town Vote May Decide House Color

How would you like to have the neighborhood decide what colors you could paint your house?

It could happen if the trend toward color-coordinated communities continues.

The possibility of neighborhood - approved house colors is considered by some landscape architects and color consultants to be a natural outgrowth of an increasing emphasis on color - coordinated communities.

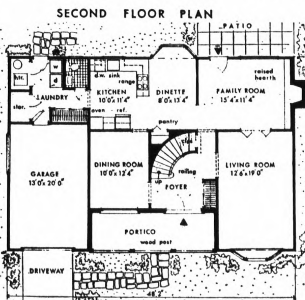

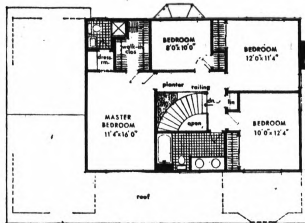

In such communities, each house is considered part of an over-all neighborhood design.

A BLEND

Its color is expected to blend with neighboring houses. Even flower beds and foliage become part of the total scheme.

Specialists favoring this type of community say one way to achieve color-coordination is by having the neighborhood decide on "basic" - harmonious colors. The individual homeowner would then choose his exterior house color from the approved list.

At present, the idea may seem extreme, but the experts point out that color-coordination for individual houses is widely accepted by homeowners, architects and designers. The importance of color to house appearance is particularly evident, they say, in its increasing use in long-term building materials such as roofing.

Z-73 FIRST FLOOR PLAN

FLOOR PLANS — Completely separate bay-windowed dinette is large enough for family breakfasts and informal meals, saving the regular dining room for more formal occasions. Alignment of living room, family room and patio provides spacious area for large gatherings.

Old Hymns Touch Hearts of Workers

"Recently, a man was hurrying through the streets of one of our largest cities. Bumped and jostled by the hurrying masses and at low spiritual ebb himself, he gazed at the strained faces and pondered the lack of inner warmth which those tense visages seemed to bespeak."

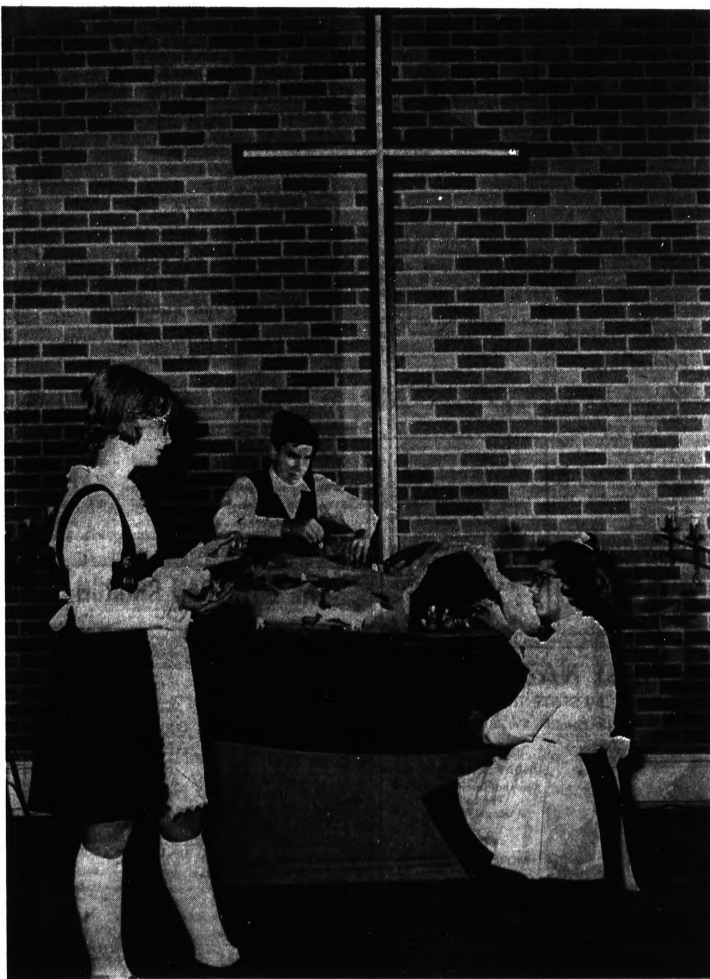

Suddenly, out of the air came music. A carillon was playing: "Come Thou Almighty King, Help us Thy Name to Sing." The old hymn had been one of his father's favorites. He remembered and was deeply touched. As he walked on, the carillon sang out again.

"Holy, holy, holy, Lord God Almighty! Early in the morning our song shall rise to Thee; Holy, holy, holy, Merciful and mighty."

He looked about to see if others were responding to his golden song from the air. Nearby, an old woman selling newspapers was humming. An executive was audibly whispering the words to himself and a young girl looking in a shop window was singing the hymn aloud.

As he entered his office, he realized how much better he felt . . . warmed by the neglected faith of his fathers . . . uplifted . . . infinitely closer to God."

GOING UP — The new St. Andrew's Catholic Church, Rochester is reaching skyward. Built of brick the roof arches are of laminated wood. The cost of the building will be approximately $600,000. Charles Hannon of Farmington is the architect and the Walter DeSimple Co. of Birmingham in charge of construction. The Rev. Edward G. Baumgartner is pastor, and the Rev. Thomas J. Van Antwerp, his assistant.

Men Assist 50 Area Families

The St. Vincent de Paul Society, Council of Oakland County, recently completed Project Move by helping refurbish homes of more than 50 deprived families living in Southern Oakland County.

"Many families lived in World War II barracks that should have been torn down 30 years ago. Yet the lack of adequate housing forced these families to remain in crumbling, vermin-infested dwellings, William C. Montgomery, chairman of the project, said.

When Royal Oak Township Urban Renewal contracted to build modern low rent public housing, the 50 families were notified they would be moving after the completion.

Catholic Social Services, Family Services of Oakland County, Office of Economic Opportunity and several other agencies agreed to work together to help these people.

St. Vincent de Paul Society agreed to help. Men of the organization visited every family to evaluate furniture, clothing and other needs.

Most families needed complete furnishings for three, four and five bedroom apartments.

PARISHES HELP
Twenty Catholic parishes staged drives for furniture, renting trucks and trailers to pick up and distribute essential furniture.

In some cases the society purchased needed articles.

"The success of the project cannot be measured in how much furniture was delivered, but in the improvement in intergroup relations that came about as a result of helping the deprived people," Montgomery says.

"The families helped have gained first-hand experience in knowing that there are people who care about them.

"And for men of St. Vincent de Paul there has been a gain in working together on a major project, and a deepening respect for the people they have helped — those in a state of acute need because of racism in our society," he added.

Those serving at 10:30 a.m. service include Bruce McLeish, Terry Feekhart, John Peterson and David Chambers.

James Matteson, chairman of commission on membership and evangelism, will deliver the sermon at both services. A coffee hour will follow the 10:30 service.

Mobile Home for Church

Portable Building
Serves Members

MERIDIAN, Miss. — In contrast to the old proverb about the rolling stone and no moss, the "Rolling Church" program here is attracting new members and considerable attention.

The home missions board of the Church of God in Mississippi has established a mobile home church building at Brookhaven, Miss., launching a novel plan for establishing new congregations.

The 10x35 foot portable building, extending to a width of 24 feet when set up, is being loaned free of charge to a new congregation for two years. Included is an 85-seat sanctuary, five additional classrooms and two restrooms. The unit also is air-conditioned.

ROLLING CHURCH
A state missions leader said after one year a fund program to construct a permanent building will be started in whatever locality the "rolling church" has been taken.

Construction then could be started so that by the end of a second year the "rolling church" can move into another new field.

The missions effort in Mississippi is part of a broad program by the Church of God, which has had its general offices since 1906 in Anderson, Ind. Congregations now are found in some 40 geographical areas of the world.

TALLEY FAMILY

Musicale Featured on New Year's Eve

"Music With a Message" under the ministry of the Rev. Joe Talley and family of Greensboro, N.C., is the program scheduled for the New Year's Eve service at First Baptist Church.

The program to which the public is invited will begin at 8 p.m. The Talleys appear in auditoriums of cities throughout the country and have been featured on over 300 radio stations in Canada and the United States as well as on television.

The Rev. Mr. Talley, his wife, daughter and son are heard around the world by missionary radio. They often are guests musicians at schools and colleges.

The Talleys will present numbers on the trombone, accordion, electric steel guitar, piano, organ, banjo and flute.

The congregation will observe Holy Communion under the leadership of Pastor Robert Shelton as the old year ends and the new year begins.

Mandon Lake Shows Film on Dec. 31

Evangelist Billy Graham's feature-length dramatic film, "Shadow of the Boomerang" will be shown on New Year's Eve at Mandon Lake Community Church, Union Lake.

The Tuesday program is scheduled from 8 p.m. until midnight.

The evening will begin with planned recreation during the first hour. The film will be shown from 9 until 10:30 p.m. Refreshments and fellowship will follow.

A spiritual hour under the direction of Pastor Dorr W. Fockler will be held from 11 p.m. to midnight.

The old year will close with the congregation in an observance of Communion.

Starring in the film are Georgia Lee and television's Buffalo Bill Jr. played by Dick Jones.

Setting for the screen drama is Australia's vast interior region where some of the world's largest cattle stations are located.

The two young Americans head an all Australian supporting cast, playing brother and sister roles in a turbulent story of homestead life.

Ministers Meet at Mandon Lake

The Greater Pontiac Evangelical Ministers' Fellowship will get together for a pancake and sausage breakfast at 8:30 Thursday in Mandon Lake Community Church, Union Lake.

The Rev. Henry Kik, director of Christian Counseling Center in Grand Rapids will be guest speaker.

OH...THE OLD HAND INSIDE THE COAT TRICK, HUH?

It's and old trick. You keep that hand on your wallet inside your coat pocket — never letting go of your money — and you wind up with money in the bank and a dour look on your face.

That's not bad, but it isn't much fun. It's more fun to enjoy spending money while you keep your bank account intact.

And that's not too tough a trick. All you have to do is get that hand out from inside your coat and put it to work. Use it to make a list of the many useful items you've accumulated in past years and aren't using now. Then use it to dial 332-8181 or 334-4981 to place your Pontiac Press Want Ad. And when your phone starts ringing, use it to answer the phone. First thing you know, that hand is holding the cash you've received from the ready buyers who respond to your ad.

Get smart! Use the trick that works every day for thousands of smiling users of Pontiac Press Want Ads.

Police Warn About Bogus Checks Here

Pontiac police today urged citizens, especially merchants, to watch for counterfeit state checks apparently being passed by a ring.

Capt. Charles Gale, chief of city detectives, said the bogus checks have thus far turned up primarily in large chain stores in the Detroit area.

He warned that some of the checks will probably show up in and around Pontiac. Gale said valid state of Michigan checks are a lighter blue than the counterfeit which have thus far appeared, and are serrated on the edges while the bogus checks are smooth.

SIMULATION

"Merchants should also study the IBM punch holes in the alleged state checks," he explained. "The real checks of hole, but the counterfeits of course have machine-punch-holes been cut with razors to simulate this."

Most of the bogus checks are made out to women for amounts around $165.

Gale said that many different names have been used for payees, but the aliases Norma Sims, Lillian Hines, Helen Dawson, Lucille Williams and Helen Davis are most common. "There may well be checks that have been passed already in this area," he warned. "It takes time for them to clear."

DUNDEE, Scotland (AP) — The Earl of Airrie, former lord in waiting to Britain's King George VI and father-in-law of Princess Alexandra, died today at Airrie Castle. He was 75.

Once lord chamberlain to the Queen Mother, the earl had been in ill health for some time. He was the 12th earl of his line.

It started out as a simple peanut.

Like most products or ideas, peanuts started out plain and simple. And in most cases they would have remained that way but for the lively competition of nationally advertised brand names. The kind of competition that's turned the peanut into all the things it is today.

Brand names are what manufacturers call their products. You see them on every package. These product names compete with one another. Try to offer more. More variety. Satisfaction. Consistent quality. Value. And they let you know about it through advertising. Let you know the facts. And if they don't live up to what they say they don't have their names for very long.

When brand names compete, products get better. Ever notice?

Brand New Way to Add on Hair

SHOWER, SLEEP
WORK and PLAY
It Never Comes Off!

Look Younger
More Attractive
Completely
Undetectable

JUST LIKE THE HAIR YOU ONCE HAD!
ONLY YOU KNOW!

Entirely new process revolutionizes the science of hair replacement. NOTHING EVER BEFORE LIKE IT. Each individual hair is embedded into a very soft synthetic material having the SAME TEXTURE and COLOR OF YOUR OWN SCALP. Now for the first time you can comb your hair anyway and anytime you want to! No longer must each hair know its place, in fact the more the wind blows, the more natural it looks. Clean your new hair just like your own, while you shower using ORDINARY SHAMPOO. Never before possible but now you sleep, play and work in your new hair, because it never comes off. So if you want hair but don't want the artificial look, call Mr. G for an appointment.
