State Legislature in High Gear on School Reform

From Our News Wires

LANSING — With what Gov. William G. Milliken described as the "eleventh and a half hour" at hand, the Michigan Legislature has shifted into high gear in its handilng of his education-reform package.

The House scheduled an all-day session for today and an almost unheard-of Friday-night session and Saturday session to work on the program.

★ ★ ★

Senate leaders took a major step last night when they took a test vote on the two constitutional amendments in the governor's plan.

Both plans, one to revamp the State Board of Education and the other to institute a statewide property tax for schools, lost by wide margins in the test votes. But leaders said before the vote they expected to lose them and took them only to get a reading of the situation.

12 VOTES SHORT

The state board proposal, creating a five-member board appointed by the governor with the advice and counsel of the Senate, failed on a 14-20 vote, 12 short of the two-thirds majority required to pass a proposed constitutional amendment.

Before the crucial vote, Sen. Garland Lane, D-Flint, tacked on an amendment that would prohibit members from having any active connection with a K-12 school district or college. The amendment passed, 24-8.

★ ★ ★

Only 13 senators voted for a revised version of Milliken's proposed constitutional amendment for a statewide property tax. Twenty-two opposed it.

The governor suggested a 16-mill, open-ended levy. The Senate amended that to a 12-mill tax that could not be increased without another constitutional amendment and vote of the people.

ALTERNATE PLAN

An alternate property tax plan — calling for a 20-mill tax and a $3,000 homestead exemption — was voted down 16-19.

The plan, offered by Senate Minority Leader Sander Levin, D-Berkley, was scheduled to be voted on again next week, along with the other two proposed constitutional amendments.

★ ★ ★

Observers feel there is a good chance for agreement on the school board measure at least.

"I think next week when the state board issue comes up again in the Senate the votes will be there," Milliken said. "And we have had steady progress in the House. By no means whatever am I discouraged."

Meanwhile, in the House, action on a bill to raise the state's cigarette tax from seven to 11 cents a pack and bring in as much as $45 million for education reform was delayed today.

Getting off to a slow start on four education related measures, the House wrangled through most of the morning over a bill to appropriate $100,000 for neighborhood education centers aimed at helping high school dropouts resume some form of learning.

★ ★ ★

The crucial House vote on the Parochiaid section of the school aid bill was not expected to come up until next week.

Grant for Center From U.S. OK'd by State Senate

A bill allowing the Pontiac Board of Education to accept a $1.1-million federal grant toward construction of its $5.5-million Human Resource Center has passed the Michigan Senate.

The measure, which now returns to the House for concurrence in amendments, is aimed especially at Pontiac, said Sen. L. Harvey Lodge, R-Waterford Township.

Sen. Anthony Stamm, R-Kalamazoo, opposed the bill which passed, 26-9, because he said the Senate should be "a little hesitant" about authorizing school districts to use their own funds for items other than educating pupils.

Legislation became necessary when the state attorney general ruled against the legality of such a grant going directly to a school district. The opinion was requested by legal counsel for the Chicago regional office of the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD), which is making the grant.

Rep. Arthur J. Law, D-Pontiac, sponsor of the bill in the House, has said he doesn't foresee any problem with the bill passing.

The HUD grant, the first that has been authorized under the Neighborhood Development Program for construction of dual-use facilities for both community and school, is to help build a complex "knitting together the lifeblood of the city," according to designers.

"It will bring together the black and white, children and adults, residential and downtown areas, public facilities and the school," said David Lewis of Urban Design Associates of Pittsburgh who designed the complex to house 1,800 students.

Tax-Reform Bill Passes in Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has overwhelmingly passed its veto-threatened tax reform bill, sending it to a conference committee where House members wait with their own quite different version.

★ ★ ★

The conference committee has a heavy chore in reconciling the bills, but leading members of both delegations say they expect to come up with a compromise President Nixon can sign.

The Senate, which ended almost a fortnight of debate by approving the bill 69-22 yesterday afternoon, sparked Nixon's ire by providing a 15 per cent increase in Social Security benefits and a boost in personal income tax exemptions from $600 to $800.

The House will makes no provision for either matter, although that chamber is considering a separate Social Security proposal.

$5 BILLION DIFFERENCE

Related Story, Page A-5

amount to more than $5 billion and is fiscally irresponsible. It was this cost that Nixon cited when he said he will veto the bill if it's unchanged.

★ ★ ★

But after the vote, Senate Finance Committee Chairman Russell B. Long of Louisiana, a conference committee member said:

"I am confident we can get this bill into shape so the President will feel he can sign it, even though he may not agree with every little thing in a 600-page bill."

★ ★ ★

His House counterpart, Rep. Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., also was confident a compromise would result in reducing the cost to meet Nixon's demands.

However, it seems certain the 15 per cent Social Security benefit boost, and many other of the tax breaks will be retained either in the tax bill or in separate legislation.

Wintry Weekend on Horizon

A wintry weekend is predicted for Pontiac area residents even though winter won't officially arrive until Dec. 21.

The U.S. Weather Bureau's day-by-day forecast predicts:

TODAY — Mostly cloudy, chance of snow flurries with the high in the 30s. Tonight generally fair and colder, low 16 to 22.

Winds westerly 12 to 20 miles per hour diminishing and becoming light and variable tonight.

TOMORROW — Increasing cloudiness. Little change in temperature. High in the 30s.

SUNDAY — Mostly cloudy, chance of light snow.

Probabilities of precipitation are 30 per cent today, 10 per cent tonight, 20 per cent tomorrow.

Twenty-six was the low thermometer reading before 8 a.m. in downtown Pontiac. By 2 p.m. the mercury had climbed to 29.

MSU Supports OU Autonomy

LANSING — The Michigan State University Board of Trustees today supported in principle autonomy for Oakland University, now an MSU affiliate.

The trustees unanimously passed a resolution stating "that autonomy for Oakland University is consistent and desirable for the best interest of higher education in Michigan."

★ ★ ★

Trustees also voted to enter negotiations with the Michigan College of Osteopathic Medicine (MCOM) concerning possibilities of establishing the Pontiac College as an MSU affiliate.

Negotiations may begin Thursday.

MSU was singled out by the State Board of Education this fall as the institution to establish a state-supported college of osteopathic medicine.

IDENTICAL ACTION URGED

The resolution on OU autonomy continued that the process which will eventually mean independence for Oakland University should coincide with identical action by the board of regents of the University of Michigan in respect to its Flint and Dearborn campuses.

MSU trustees voted to invite the U-M regents to meet within 60 days to discuss satellite institutions.

★ ★ ★

Trustee Donald Stevens of Okemos said: "Should the U. of M. regents drag their feet after 60 days, we should re-evaluate the proposal."

Plymouth Trustee Warren M. Huff noted that OU is not a branch of MSU as the University of Michigan branches at Dearborn and Flint are. "I am willing to give independence to them today," he said.

Oakland's chancellor, Durward B. Varner, said he sensed that the trustees would go along with the university's request for independence from MSU.

Following acceptance by the MSU trustees of OU's independence, the proposal would have to receive approval of the state board and the Legislature.

Spreen's Post Reported Filled

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit News reported today that Patrick V. Murphy, former chief of police in both Washington, D.C., and Syracuse, N.Y., will be the next police commissioner of Detroit.

A dispatch from J. F. Ter Horst of the News' Washington bureau said Murphy had resigned his job as director of public order and safety for the National Urban Institute to take the job.

★ ★ ★

"The fact was confirmed by colleagues of Murphy here," Ter Horst said.

Neither Gribbs nor Murphy was available for comment on the report.

Earlier this week Johannes Spreen announced he would resign as Detroit police commissioner effective Jan. 6 when Mayor-elect Roman Gribbs succeeds Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh.

BROOKLYN NATIVE

Murphy, a 49-year-old native of Brooklyn, N.Y., who has held his present post since last March 26, was reportedly sought by Cavanagh for the $30,000-a-year Detroit job before he hired Spreen 16 months ago.

Murphy began his career in 1945 as patrolman on the New York City Police Department.

Philippines End Viet Commitment

SAIGON (UPI) — The Philippines' 1,350-man commitment to the Vietnam war packed up and left for home today, the first Allied military contingent to withdraw completely.

From a ceremony at their Tay Ninh base camp 58 miles northwest of Saigon, the Filipinos flew to Saigon and boarded ships for the trip home after three years and three months in the war zone.

★ ★ ★

Manila decided to pull out the group — noncombatant engineers, pacification workers and farmers — as an economy move after Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., alleged that the United States had paid $45 million to keep them in Vietnam.

A total of 2,200 Filipino troops arrived in Vietnam in September 1966. Some were withdrawn earlier. Ten Filipinos were killed and 34 wounded during their tour.

MANY IMPROVEMENTS

A press release said the Filipino troops had built 116 miles of roads, 11 bridges, 14 schools, 10 demonstration farms, two model communities and 54 refugee centers in Tay Ninh province, on the Cambodian border.

Up the border from their base camp, U.S. troops yesterday and early today pounced on North Vietnamese gunners firing on American helicopters and reported killing 72 of them.

★ ★ ★

The GIs suffered no losses in the fighting in Phuoc Long province 85 miles northeast of Saigon, headquarters said.

Vietcong commandos attacked a 120-foot concrete bridge on Saigon's main highway link with the southern tip of Vietnam during the night and destroyed the span.

SPAN A SHAMBLES

The explosions last night left the span, 85 miles southwest of Saigon a shambles, disrupting traffic from the southern Mekong Delta, the nation's ricebowl, to markets in the capital.

Military spokesmen said three government troops assigned to guard the bridge were wounded and one civilian was killed in the attack. The bridge is eight miles south of Can Tho, the delta's biggest city.

★ ★ ★

The commandos escaped without apparent losses. Engineers this morning began repairing the structure, expected to take several weeks.

Elsewhere on the battlefield, light and scattered fighting Thursday left 166 Vietcong and North Vietnamese dead against Allied losses of 15 government troops killed and 50 wounded.

★ ★ ★

One American was killed and two were wounded in a brief clash 30 miles east of Saigon — the only U.S. casualties reported from yesterday. The American unit found three guerrilla bodies.

Moratorium Leaders Grope for New Antiwar Strategy

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Vietnam Moratorium Committee, claiming to have made the war "again the No. 1 issue in the country," is groping for a new strategy after the October and November demonstrations that brought hundreds of thousands of Americans into the streets to seek "peace now."

December antiwar plans include widespread but low-key, local-oriented activities leading up to a nationwide Christmas Eve peace vigil.

★ ★ ★

The December antiwar events represent a decided drop in protest activity, due both to recognition that it's tough to compete with Christmas and the realization that the Nov. 15 march on Washington would be almost impossible to top.

★ ★ ★

"We are undertaking a complete reevaluation of the direction we want to go," said David Mixner, 24, a Moratorium coordinator. "We're considering everything from nonviolent civil disobedience to congressional elections.

'WAR IS NO. 1 ISSUE'

"Since we started in September, the war again is the No. 1 issue in the country," he said. "We have already proved that these people are against it.

"The country is never going to return to its days of enthusiasm for this war," he vowed.

★ ★ ★

The shift from centralized to local activities also represents the Moratorium's desire to build a grass-roots opposition to the war translatable into power at the polls.

Hepatitis Cases at Groves Eyed

Oakland County health officials are today seeking common links between 10 cases of hepatitis which have infected students at Birmingham's Groves High School since Nov. 4.

In Birmingham the number of cases of the liver ailment has risen from seven in 1968 to 18 this year, and the countywide total is up from 184 to 288. The increase has been labeled "significant" as opposed to "of epidemic proportions."

Investigators are checking the Groves victims, aged 15 to 19, to learn if they attended rock festivals, which Mrs. Donna Cavenee, public health nursing supervisor for the department, says are often a cause of the disease because of unsanitary conditions.

"Drugs, of course, are always a question," she said. "Some have admitted their friends take drugs. Others said they had shared a needle with someone, and others said this was not a possibility with them."

Hepatitis causes liver inflammation, jaundice, fever, nausea and stomach discomfort.

MY LAI REPORT—Herbert Carter, only casualty in Charlie Company the day of the My Lai massacre, goes over newspapers in his hotel room in Houston, Tex., yesterday where he has lived since his discharge from the Army. Carter was a "tunnel rat" with the company and said he did not shoot any civilians. He was wounded when he stepped on a mine.

24 Men Probed on My Lai; Army Likely to Charge Most

WASHINGTON (AP) — Army sources say they expect charges to be filed against most of the 24 soldiers and former soldiers under investigation in the alleged massacre of Vietnamese civilians at My Lai.

They estimated the probe will not be completed for about four months because of the widespread hunt for evidence. Interrogations resulted in more leads that have to be followed up, they explained.

But on the basis of what has been developed so far, the sources said there probably will be charges filed against a majority of nine soldiers and 15 former soldiers, all onetime members of Company C, 1st Battalion, 11th Infantry Brigade.

★ ★ ★

First Lt. William L. Calley Jr., a platoon commander in Company C, is awaiting court-martial at Ft. Benning, Ga., on charges of premeditated murder of at least 109 Vietnamese men, women and children.

A decision is imminent on whether to court-martial one of Calley's squad leaders in Vietnam, S. Sgt. David Mitchell, who has been accused of assault with intent to kill 30 Vietnamese noncombatants. Mitchell says he is innocent.

In another development Thursday, the American Civil Liberties Union said the nationwide publicity about My Lai makes it impossible for Calley to get a fair trial.

★ ★ ★

The Army has refused to identify the 24 other men whose actions the day of the My Lai incident nearly 21 months ago are under scrutiny.

Violent Storm Hits West Coast

By United Press International

A violent storm over the Pacific sent 100-mile-an-hour winds, rain, high tides and deep snow against Oregon, Washington and northern California again today.

A crewman from the French freighter Michigan fell overboard about 35 miles northwest of Newport, Ore., yesterday, and other crewmen had to abandon rescue attempts because of high seas even though they could see the man's body 20 yards from the ship.

Two persons were missing in a light plane on a flight from Eugene, Ore. Search planes could not take to the air yesterday because of the storm, but hoped to begin a search today.

★ ★ ★

The storm that lashed the Eastern Coast abated today, although snow flurries and rain continued in the Northeast. Minor flooding was reported in parts of New England, and hurricane harbor barrier gates were closed at New Bedford, Mass., and Stamford, Conn. Putnam, Conn., had over two inches of rain yesterday, and Boston had more than an inch of rain.

110 M.P.H. WINDS

Wind guests of nearly 80 miles an hour buffeted Eastern Massachusetts. Gusts of nearly 110 miles an hour lashed Cape Blanco, Ore., where more than five inches of rain had fallen by early today.

Restraining Order Sought on Loon Lake Apartments

A suit seeking a restraining order to prevent construction of proposed apartments on Loon Lake in Waterford Township was filed today in Oakland County Circuit Court.

Named as defendants were: Township board member Herbert C. Cooley, Ted McCullough Inc., township planning commissioner James Clarkson, Paul Naz, Waterford Township, the township planning commission and realtor Leslie H. Hudson, who sold a land contract to five of the defendants.

★ ★ ★

The suit, filed by Attorney Seymour Beitner of 2978 Shawnee, Waterford Township accuses township officials of a conflict of interest in rezoning of the land for apartments.

The suit also alleges that an incorrect map of the land up for rezoning was published in a legal ad and that a rezoning application before the township planning commission didn't show the names of all persons who had interest in the land.

REZONED FOR APARTMENTS

The township board rezoned land Oct. 6 from single-family to permit construction of 126 apartment units on 9.2 acres and 22 homes on adjacent land.

It had been reported that:

- Township board member and Pontiac police Sgt. Herbert C. Cooley was one of the recorded owners of 9.2 acres of lakeside land when he and the board voted to rezone it. (Cooley has contended his name appeared through an error.)

★ ★ ★

- Township board member and realtor Ted McCullough Jr. was also a recorded owner, but was absent at the voting.
- Planning commissioner James Clarkson, president of First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Oakland, became a recorded owner a week after the commission recommended the rezoning. He abstained from discussion and voting on the issue.

★ ★ ★

- Planning commissioner Dr. John Naz voted for the rezoning recommendation a week before his brother, Paul, became a recorded owner along with the others and businessman Cyrus Lockhart.

Lockhart is president of Pontiac Farm & Industrial Tractor, 825 S. Woodward.

CHARGED WITH WIFE'S DEATH — University of Michigan student James Murphy, 21, heads for District Court to be arraigned on an open charge of murder. He was formally charged yesterday in the death of his wife, Gloria, 19, his childhood sweetheart. Ann Arbor Police Chief Walter Krasny said the couple had had "family problems."

U.S. Crime Rate Shown Leveling

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's soaring crime rate leveled off during the first nine months of 1969, but armed robbers became a much greater menace on city streets, FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover reported today.

★ ★ ★

Hoover said the over-all crime rate rose 11 per cent during the period — 8 per cent less than the increase during the corresponding months a year ago.

But, in releasing the quarterly uniform crime reports, he called attention to the 15 per cent jump in robberies, particularly an 18 per cent hike in armed holdups.

★ ★ ★

Hoover said street robbery made up more than half of all robbery offenses and increased 18 per cent, while residential holdups climbed 22 per cent during the period.

★ ★ ★

The report came shortly after Hoover released a statement in which he predicted "The soaring crime rate in the 1970s can be contained."

Cult Leader Charged in 7 Deaths

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Charles Manson, a tiny, bearded man with shoulder-length hair, was formally charged in the seven Tate-LaBianca murders yesterday as authorities investigated links between the "Manson Family" and other slayings.

Manson, 35, the accused master of a knife-wielding hippie cult, delayed until Dec. 22 a plea to seven counts of murder and one of conspiracy in the August killings.

Spectators in the jammed courtroom stood on chairs for a better view as the 110-pound Manson was led in by three officers. He spoke out in a clear and resonant voice when asked if he understood his constitutional rights.

Manson, clad in a filthy fringed buckskin outfit and moccasins, told Superior Court Judge William B. Keene that he did not have the money to hire a lawyer, and the court appointed a county public defender to represent him, at least temporarily.

Prominent attorneys are known to have offered their services free, and it was expected Manson would select one or more of them.

Manson appeared calm, almost bored, during the 15-minute arraignment. As he was led out he smiled broadly at a dark-haired girl photographer.

★ ★ ★

In view of a court order forbidding public officials to comment on any evidence in the case before the trial, authorities will not elaborate on their investigation into possible links between Manson Family and several other senseless murders in the Los Angeles area.

★ ★ ★

However, Dist. Atty. Evelle J. Younger told a news conference shortly before the hearing an investigation of the role played by Manson and the five other defendants in the seven slayings was being pursued. He refused to elaborate.

Patrolman, Killed in Crash, to Have Full Police Funeral

TROY — A full police funeral will be given to Patrolman Charles E. Smetana, the first policeman in the city's history to die in the line of duty.

Smetana, 33, of 1756 Castleton died early yesterday morning after he lost control of his patrol car and smashed into an abutment at Big Beaver and I-75, within sight of the police station.

★ ★ ★

He was answering an accident call at 2:30 a.m. when his car apparently hit ice and skidded into the bridge abutment, according to police Capt. Robert Mortenson.

PATROLMAN SMETANA

Smetana was taken to William Beaumont Hospital, Royal Oak, where he died at 8:30 a.m.

MARINE VETERAN

He was a veteran of the U.S. Marines, served on the Detroit police force for three years and had been on the Troy force since Oct. 1966.

He would have graduated from Oakland Community College, Auburn Hills campus, next Thursday. He had been taking courses in police science for three years.

★ ★ ★

Smetana also was a member of the Troy Police skin diving team and had a private pilot's license.

"He was always interested in anything the police force did," said one patrolman, "he made it his life."

SURVIVORS

Surviving are his wife, Josie; two children, Angela 12, and Charles E. Jr. 9; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Smetana of Monroe; and a sister, Mrs. Robert Bentley of Livonia.

Funeral service will be 1 p.m. Monday at First Baptist Church, Troy, with burial in White Chapel Memorial Cemetery, Troy, by the Price Funeral Home, Troy. His body may be viewed after 1:30 p.m. tomorrow.

'Public Schools Need the Money'

Rep. Bishop Adamant Against Parochiaid

ROCHESTER — State Rep. Donald Bishop, R-Avon Township, reaffirmed yesterday that his thinking regarding Gov. William Milliken's parochiaid bill has not changed.

"I am definitely against parochiaid, and there is no question that I will be voting against the bill when it comes up for a vote in the House," Rep. Bishop said.

★ ★ ★

Bishop added that under no condition would he change his mind regarding the bill. He stated that he has been against the measure ever since it came up in the governor's educational reform package.

The legislator made the remarks yesterday following references in a Press article that he possibly was not "safely in the fold" regarding a commitment of voting against the parochiaid program.

MENTIONED BY MEA HEAD

Bishop was one of the legislators referred to be Melvin Leazier, president-elect of the Michigan Education Association (MEA) in a presentation Tuesday night at Oakland University as either being for the parochiaid legislation or remaining a question mark regarding his attitude toward the bill.

The MEA has urged its membership to be flatly against parochiaid legislation and to pressure legislators into voting accordingly.

★ ★ ★

Bishop noted further that he has never questioned or altered his view on the parochiaid issue. "I can't emphasize enough that I am against it," he said.

Rep. Bishop bases his stand on the theory that the public school system is in such a condition that public funds are needed there and not for parochial schools as well.

★ ★ ★

"The Constitution is clear that we should not give aid to nonpublic schools. We cannot in my judgment maintain a dual system," Bishop said.

Pontiac Twp. Is Pressed on Sewers

By TIM McNULTY

PONTIAC TOWNSHIP — Supervisor Roy Wahl's comments were short and to the point when he learned of yesterday's decision by the State Water Resources Commission to consider legal action against the township because of its failure to complete plans for a sanitary sewer net.

'I think it's too bad they don't give examinations to those people before they give them their jobs'

—Pontiac Township Supervisor Roy Wahl

The commission voted unanimously to turn the matter over to the attorney general's office. It said the township missed three deadlines for completion of pollution control plans.

★ ★ ★

Dec. 1, 1967 was the first deadline. It was extended twice by the commission.

"I think it's too bad they don't give examinations to those people (the commissioners) before they give them their jobs," Wahl said. "They don't use common sense. How can we take the people's money and put sewers in when we can't run them anyplace?"

The township is waiting for completion of the Clinton-Oakland Sewer Interceptor. By the time the interceptor is ready, it is required to have a lateral sewer system completed. The interceptor should be completed by late next year.

"We can't do it without money, and we don't have it," said Wahl. "We're working on it like everybody else and moving as fast as we can.

"They want us to discontinue the septic tanks and put regular sewers in. But the thing has to pay for itself. How can we put a piece of sewer in one place and then go three miles and put another one in and then have it pay?" he asked.

One of the major pollutants in the township, according to the commission, is the business district in Auburn Heights.

'LOTS OF PLACES'

"They say there are five or six places in the township they're worried about. Well, hell, I can tell you 100 places in the area that need it. Just look at Pontiac Motors for instance. They've been polluting for years and years," Wahl said.

"If the attorney general wants to go to court, maybe that would be good. Then we'll see if they can do anything about it."

ORTONVILLE—The eighth annual Goodfellow paper sale by the Ortonville Rotary Goodfellows Club will be today and tomorrow. The men will sell papers on downtown streets to help benefit the Oakland County Crippled Children's Fund and to provide a Christmas dinner for 80 area retirees.

26 Junior Misses Seek Regional Nod

HOLLY — Twenty-six local winners from Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties will converge this weekend at Holly High School for the regional finals of the annual state Junior Miss pageant.

Judges will select 12 winners to go on to the finals in Pontiac.

★ ★ ★

The Holly and Davisburg Jaycees are hosting the activities, which will begin 4 p.m. today and continue through 10:30 p.m. tomorrow when the regional winners will be named.

A pageant beginning at 7 p.m. tomorrow will highlight the two-day festivities.

HOST ASSIGNMENTS

Contestants will be assigned to their host families today from 4 to 6 p.m. A meal will be provided for chaperones and contestants.

Contestants, parents, sponsors and host families will meet in the high school student center for a question-and-answer session at 7 p.m. Interviews and rehearsals for the pageant will follow.

Pageant activities will include contestant introductions, talent competition, poise and appearance competition and presentations of Junior Miss charms to contestants by Mason Bell, a representative of Chevrolet Division of General Motors, the national sponsoring organization for the Junior Miss Pageant.

Roger Horton, publicity chairman, explained the judges will be looking for the "all-around type girl. This is definitely not a beauty pageant," he added. "Poise, personality and intelligence will be the principal factors considered in the judging."

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Richard Cronk, 5426 Holly, will be pageant choreographer.

Bloomfield Hills to Open Bids on Water-Line Bonds

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — The opening of bids on bonds for the city's $3.4-million water line system will be Tuesday, according to City Manager Robert Stadler.

The city recently let construction bids for the project to Gianetti Bros. of Utica. The contract is good for 90 days.

★ ★ ★

Stadler cautioned there will be no guarantee that bonds will be let on Tuesday.

★ ★ ★

He noted that municipalities and school districts have been having considerable difficulty in selling bonds in recent months due to the current 6 per cent interest limitation imposed by the state.

WOULD TRY AGAIN

Stadler said the city would advertise the bond sale again in the near future if bonds are not let Tuesday.

He noted that the State Senate has approved a bill lifting the 6 per cent limitiation.

★ ★ ★

However, yesterday, the House refused to concur with the Senate measure, leaving the situation up in the air.

★ ★ ★

The city commission recently passed a resolution concurring with Birmingham whereby the Oakland County Road Commission will be asked to investigate the possibility of installing a traffic light at Quarton and Cranbrook roads.

★ ★ ★

Stadler said the intersection has been the site of increasing traffic problems in all directions. He noted that a school located near the intersection has brought an increase in traffic.

Fire Hall Addition Is Started in Utica

UTICA — Construction has started on a $55,000 addition to City Fire Hall.

The City Commission recently contracted for the work with the Municipal Building Authority, which is responsible for the retirement of the bonds for the project.

★ ★ ★

Under the contract, the city will pay a monthly rent of $500 to the building authority.

The addition includes 2,304 square feet and will be attached directly to the existing facility. Construction is expected to be completed within 120 days.

★ ★ ★

The fire hall expansion was prompted by a need for more storage space for equipment and an increasing work load on the fire department, according to Clerk Eunice Koepitz.

Groveland Supervisor Hospitalized by Stroke

GROVELAND TOWNSHIP — Earl B. Rhinevault of 8159 Buckell Lake, the township's supervisor, was listed in satisfactory condition this morning at Hurley Hospital in Flint.

Rhinevault was admitted to the hospital Tuesday after reportedly suffering a mild stroke.

Wixon Drain Hearing Delayed One Week

WIXOM — Hearing on a request for a temporary injunction to prevent further construction of a controversial storm sewer yesterday was adjourned for a week by Circuit Judge Clark J. Adams.

Last week a temporary restraining order was granted forbidding work on a 36-inch drain which empties into Loon Lake near a bathing beach.

★ ★ ★

Residents of Birch Park subdivision decided to go to court in a bid to halt the drain construction.

Drain Needs Repairs, but Who Pays?

By LOIS FRIEDLAND

FARMINGTON TOWNSHIP — Victor Bogden plays the "muskrat ramble" on weekends. The tune goes: catch a muskrat, show it to the township and see who can fix the waterway in which they breed.

The animals run in a natural drainage creek beside Bogden's home at 29337 Raleigh. Now at low water, the high-walled creek flows through Lincolnshire Estates.

All Bogden wants is an engineering estimate for repairing the drain, promised by the township last spring.

He understands that the drain is on private property and, therefore, the responsibility of the owners. However, Bogden claims that he and other interested homeowners can't even begin assessing the costs of repairing or enclosing the drain until they have some figures.

Heavy rains last summer sent water out of the pipes (which go under Raleigh) with such force that the surrounding soil was badly eroded, and the abutment holding the pipes was badly cracked. Slabs of cement now lie in the ditch, and residents must clean out the debris after every rain, according to Bogden.

He claimed that he has been "getting the run-around" since last spring when he first contacted the township. Then township Clerk Floyd Cairns said he could get the homeowners broken concrete to build a retaining wall to support the banks, but no concrete ever came, according to Bogden.

Township Supervisor Curtis Hall, claimed that township engineers began estimating costs but decided that extensive soil borings would be needed to assure an accurate estimate.

He then claims that a special assessment district would have to be established to cover the engineering costs since the waterway is entirely on private property.

"Anytime affected property owners are willing to spend money for engineering, it will be done. We can't do for one person what we can't also do for anyone else in the township," said Hall.

Since then the problem has received some publicity. Apparently last week township engineers went out to the site again, "preparing plans in case asked for engineering plans," said Hall.

He admitted that it's still unclear who will pay for the engineering and soil borings being taken.

Hall suggested that once homeowners learn the cost of enclosing drains, they probably won't want to do it. He thought the pipe alone could cost as much as $60,000. There are some 14 homeowners involved.

COUNTY NOT INVOLVED

Since the waterway is on private property, the Oakland County Drain Commission is not involved at this time. However, if the township chose to petition the drain commission it might be possible for the commission to enter into the picture.

The cracked abutments surrounding the pipe where it crosses Raleigh come under the jurisdiction of the Oakland County Road Commission. Hall said that the commission would be contacted about the matter when estimates on the drain itself had been completed.

★ ★ ★

Bogden claimed that he called the department early last summer. They sent out a man to look at the situation, and that's all that happened, according to the homeowner.

The Pontiac Press contacted the road commission yesterday, and David Hasse, director of highway maintenance, said "We will make an inspection and then take whatever action is necessary."

★ ★ ★

In the meantime, Bogden keeps trapping muskrats and keeping children from playing near the cracked abutments.

House Passes New Voting-Rights Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — A coalition of Republicans and southern Democrats has led a House defeat of the four-year-old Dixie-aimed voting rights bill and substituted a Nixon administration measure that still faces a tough Senate hurdle.

The 208-203 approval Thursday of the substitute bill was immediately criticized by its opponents as a major setback to civil rights efforts. However, backers of the Nixon bill, who said the present law is punitive to the South, acclaimed the action as progress toward uniform application of the law that will assure all persons the right to vote.

* * *

"This is a cataclysmic defeat for the civil rights movement," said a stunned Clarence Mitchell, Washington representative of the NAACP. "The (Ku Klux) Klan was on the floor of Congress voting to lynch the Negro at the polls."

Mitchell and Rep. William M. McCulloch of Ohio, leader of the 49 Republicans who backed extension of the Voting Rights Act of 1965, blamed the White House for defeat of the bill, which McCulloch called the best civil rights law ever enacted.

REGISTRATION BOOM

The present law is considered responsible for registration at the polls of nearly one million southern Negroes since 1965.

It requires suspension of literacy tests and use of federal registrars where less than half the voting age population of a state registered or voted in 1964. In practice that formula has applied only to Alabama, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, South Carolina and North Carolina.

* * *

The Nixon bill would suspend literacy tests in all states—not just the South—through 1973 and permit the nationwide assignment of federal examiners. The new measure also would establish a uniform residency requirement in any state of no later than Sept. 1 prior to a November presidential election. Some states now require residence of a year or more.

* * *

In addition to taking the spotlight off the South—where supporters of the present law claim most voter discrimination is found—another provision of the administration bill upsets civil rights supporters.

CLEAR IN ADVANCE

The House-passed measure would drop the requirement that states clear voting-law changes in advance with the federal government.

* * *

Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., claimed this provision would enable southern states to reestablish poll practices that discriminate against Negroes. But Republican House leader Gerald R. Ford of Michigan said newly enfranchised Negroes represent "people power"—the best guarantee against return to discriminatory practices.

HAT IN THE RING — Attorney C. B. Kings of Albany, Ga., announces that he will be a candidate for governor of Georgia next year. At a press conference yesterday, he said he intends to appeal to the entire population with "a new politics addressing itself to the needs of blacks and whites."

Bond Sales Lag on Clean Water

LANSING (UPI) — The Michigan Natural Resources Commission was told yesterday a lack of buyers for Michigan's $435-million water pollution and recreation bonds is tying up millions of dollars worth of projects.

Of the bonding money, so far only $30 million of the water bonds has been sold, department of natural resources officials said.

Not only are local water pollution and recreation projects tied up, but Department of Natural Resources (DNR) officials said state programs are coming to a halt.

"Our whole capital outlay program, including fisheries, game projects and parks, is in jeopardy," said a DNR spokesman.

Lack of interest in the bonds was blamed on the tight money situation and the 6 per cent interest limit placed on the bonds by voters.

State Republicans Split

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans in Michigan's congressional delegation split evenly Thursday as the House approved President Nixon's proposed nationwide voting rights plan, 208-203.

* * *

The seven Michigan Democrats lined up solidly against the measure, which was attacked bitterly by civil rights leaders who said it would dilute the protections granted under the current law.

* * *

Five state Republicans supported the measure, while five GOP representatives voted against it.

Two other Republicans were either not present or did not vote.

Here is how Michigan's representatives voted:

Democrats for—None.

Democrats against (7)—John Conyers Jr., Charles Diggs Jr., John Dingell, William D. Ford, Martha Griffiths, Lucien Nedzi, James G. O'Hara.

Republicans for (5) — John Broomfield, Garry Brown, Elford Cederberg, Charles Chamberlain, Gerald R. Ford.

Republicans against—Marvin Esch, James Harvey, Edward Hutchinson, Jack McDonald, Don Riegle.

Republicans absent or not voting (2)—Phillip Ruppe, Guy VanderJagt.

Fate of Tax Reform Lies in Hands of 14 Men

WASHINGTON (AP) — Fourteen men, most of them fiscal conservatives, all over 50 and only one not a congressional veteran make up the committee charged with settling the differences between the House and Senate tax reform bills.

Although each chamber must approve the conference committee's recommendations, before they go to the White House the final design of the measure rests alone with the 14 conferees—seven from each house.

* * *

In the conference committee, each member does not have an individual vote; rather conferees from each chamber vote among themselves and the chairman for Senate and House casts one vote representing a consensus.

And unlike the original bills which were voted upon after lengthy debate by the House last summer and the Senate Thursday, the conference committee's recommendations cannot be amended on the floor.

APPROVAL LIKELY

Its report could be rejected, of course; but in its rush to complete action on the measure before Christmas if possible, Congress is not likely to throw out the conference committee's compromise.

Heading delegations to the conference committee, which must reconcile the more than 100 substantive differences between House and Senate versions of the tax bill, are Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., and Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark.

Long, 51, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee and head of a Louisiana political dynasty that began with his assassinated father, Huey Long, has worked at the levers of Senate power for more than 20 years.

He served one term as Senate Democratic whip but lost a reelection bid this year.

EXPERTS CUTBACKS

Known for his defense of the oil depletion allowance, facing reduction in the tax bill, Long has built a Senate power base of friends, favors and influence. He expects the conference will cut back sharply on revenue-draining tax bill amendments and produce a bill President Nixon will sign.

Mills is chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee and the acknowledged leading expert in Congress on tax matters.

Mills, 60, has indicated he will try to bring the bill back as closely as possible to the dimensions the House gave it, avoiding the extra loss of revenue in the Senate version.

Chief Republican member of the House delegation, Rep. John W. Byrnes, R-Wis., 56, has supported Mills at every juncture on the current bill.

REFUSED TO SERVE

Sen. John J. Williams, the 66-year-old Delaware Republican who has the reputation as watchdog of the Senate, surprised his colleagues and shattered precedent by refusing to serve on the conference committee.

Williams, retiring in 1970 after a 22-year Senate career, acidly told the Senate he was so opposed to the provisions of the bill approved Thursday he could not be a conferee. Sen. Jack Miller, R-Iowa, was named to replace Williams.

Also on the committee is Sen. Wallace F. Bennett, 71, a Salt Lake City businessman, conservative in outlook and serving his fourth term in the Senate. Republican Bennett once was president of the National Association of Manufacturers.

With Williams retiring, Bennett becomes No. 1 Republican on the finance committee, and would be in line for the chairmanship if the GOP should capture Senate control in the 1970 elections.

Other senators on the conference committee are Albert Gore, D-Tenn., author of the provision increasing personal income exemptions from $600 to $800; Herman E. Talmadge, D-Ga.; Clinton P. Anderson, D-N.M.; and Carl T. Curtis, R-Neb.

House members, besides Mills, are Reps. Hale Boggs, D-La.; James B. Utt, R-Calif.; Jackson E. Betts, R-Ohio, and Al Ullman, D-Ore.

Longtime Con Near Parole

LANSING (AP) — Michigan's oldest prisoner in terms of years spent behind bars has been given a compassionate commutation of sentence by Gov. William Milliken.

Castra Nova, 76, was sentenced to a life term for first degree murder from Detroit on Feb. 16, 1914, for the fatal shooting of a Detroit police officer. He was 21 years old at the time.

* * *

The commutation of sentence by the governor was made upon unanimous recommendation of the State Parole Board. The board said he had an excellent prison record.

Nova was transferred from State Prison of Southern Michigan to the Ionia State Prison in 1916 and has been there since.

* * *

"He has served 55 years, going on 56," said Frank Buchke, parole board chairman. "He is without a doubt the oldest prisoner in Michigan in terms of years spent in confinement."

Nova has been ailing and will be released as soon as the Macomb County Department of Social Welfare can find a nursing home in the county able to care for him. He has a sister and other relatives living in the Roseville area of the county who will be able to visit him.

'Recall' Bucks Secrecy

A drive to recall four members of the Pontiac school board was initiated Sept. 5, and some 3,700 petitionary signatures have been turned in to the schools' business office.

But the number of signatures required to validate the recall vote seems shrouded in mystery.

★ ★ ★

Business Manager Vernon J. Schiller said that signatures of 25 per cent of the school district residents who voted in the last gubernatorial election were necessary. But, he added, the figure was not yet compiled.

Since the election was held a year ago, it would seem that ample time had elapsed to come up with an answer.

According to the City Clerk, 4,482 recall signatures for the City of Pontiac alone would be required, to say nothing of parts of townships in the school district.

★ ★ ★

But the proponents of the recall movement appear philosophical. When, they say, school authorities eventually divulge the number of signatures required, they'll reactivate the petition drive and obtain them.

Advent of Colds Is Chilling

The winter season holds numerous attractions for all, but the so-called common cold is not one of them. Well-named, it is as common as politicians' promises, and is now poised for its annual attack with accompanying phenomena: sniffles, coughs, sneezes, chills, fevers and miscellaneous other irritants.

Cold statistics on the seasonal onslaught of colds indicate that as many as 25 million Americans are cold-ridden on any given day before the current wave of misery runs its course in late winter.

★ ★ ★

Moreover, it is estimated that for 75 per cent of the U.S. population one cold per year is par for the curse, but an unlucky 25 per cent may suffer through four or more of them.

★ ★ ★

Despite the amazing progress of medical science, researchers have coughed up little to combat respiratory infections, which include colds, the leading cause of work absences across the land. One of the chief obstacles in their path is the fact that there are more than 150 strains of nose-based viruses, the kind most common in colds. Which, from the standpoint of numerical odds, is nothing to be sneezed at.

★ ★ ★

A cold usually lingers from three to ten days, with an average of about seven days. Since most cold panaceas treat symptoms not causes, this time element has been capsuled into a bromide which holds that if you treat a cold, it will last a week. If you don't, it will last seven days.

★ ★ ★

So-o-o, folks, if the "bug" hasn't yet nipped you, keep your fingers crossed, as we are keeping ours, and hope that it will bypass you.

Achoo!

Epidemic of Distrust Is Coursing U.S.

WASHINGTON (NEA) — In America a worsening epidemic of distrust may do grave harm to the democratic process. Responsibility for spreading the disease lies at many doors.

BIOSSAT

The contagion has reached the point where many Americans no longer try seriously to determine when they are hearing at least approximate truths and when they are not. They simply retire to the fragile comfort of believing that nothing is to be believed.

It is not just a matter of young vs. old, establishment vs. antiestablishment, militant vs. moderate, government vs. press. The wounds of distrust cut deep even within these opposing categories of society.

The immense growth of government in an era of social ferment, technological revolution, knowledge explosion and frequent war is a major factor.

Men in political power are understandably self-protective. Wars have made it easier for them, since they can hide behind the shield of "necessary security."

War's effect has been deeper than that. Somewhere early in our history, U.S. politicians concluded that Americans cannot absorb unpleasant truths but like to hear only a constant warbling of optimistic notes.

Inasmuch as war is inescapably ugly, brutal and chaotic, U.S. leaders have for more than four decades been cushioning that reality.

★ ★ ★

Vietnam, "television's first war," has by its living-room presence and vivid immediacy ripped away a part — but only a part — of that cushion. The reality, though still barely glimpsed, has had shock effect.

A leader's soothing words do not reassure, as they might have done in 1918 or 1944.

MORE PRONE TO ERROR

By its very immensity, government has compounded the problem of trust. A huge bureaucracy is more prone to error than a small one.

Yet its size and complexity make it much easier to bury mistakes in little corners where even cabinet heads and presidents do not discover them.

★ ★ ★

Government's growth has come, too, at a time when many of its tasks — geared to the scientific and technological revolution occurring outside — have become harder and harder for the ordinary citizen to fathom.

He is almost wholly dependent on the translations to layman's language given him by spokesmen for the experts operating "inside." Even outside experts seldom know enough.

With no real check, the citizen's trust is shaken.

Today's incredible social ferment — racial, student, lower middle class white — heightens further the distrust of government.

★ ★ ★

Americans, historically, have not often treated their leaders with high regard. Now they are throwing the whole process of representative government open to question.

Impatience, an old American trait, has been fanned furiously, again by the immediacy and high visibility television has given so many of the nation's difficulties and conflicts.

SEEMS IMMOVABLE

Government seems the immovable glacier, and the mood of many is to melt it with flamethrowers.

There is still much vital truth around us, some easy at hand, some needing diligent search.

If government, press and people do not soon put their sights on it, then the distrust all three have spurred could engulf this society in a firestorm of self-destruction.

Ralph de Toledano

President Is a Political Wizard

WASHINGTON—In the minutes after President Nixon's Nov. 3 Vietnam speech, William Lawrence of the American Broadcasting Co. accused the chief executive of being a bad politician.

This was a surprising performance for a correspondent who had been one of the best and fairest of the New York Times before he traded the printed word for the electronic message.

De TOLEDANO

Lawrence was proved completely wrong within hours. Today we know that Mr. Nixon's speech raised his Gallup poll rating to 67 per cent.

Again, when the President unleashed Spiro Agnew, the pundits on TV, radio, and the Eastern editorial pages again predicted that the White House had badly erred.

Where, they asked, was Mr. Nixon's much vaunted political sagacity?

UNCANNY ABILITY

The answer, of course, is where it always was. For with few exceptions, the President has had an uncanny ability to sense the mood of the country.

The returns are coming in from what the "effete snobs" of Agnew's rhetoric call the "hinterland" or the "boondocks" — and what others prefer to call the heartland of America.

★ ★ ★

They are also coming in from the South, terra incognita to the masterminds on Madison Avenue who control the electronic media.

★ ★ ★

It should be pointed out that Agnew has reached others besides the Southerners and the Midwesterners. This has already been attested to by the New York Times which reports the prevalence of "Spiro Is My Hero" bumper stickers north of the Mason-Dixon line and west of the Allegheniès.

NEW CLIMATE

Having as always a very cloudy crystal ball, I cannot predict what the long-range effect of Agnew's ideological barnstorming will be.

★ ★ ★

But as of the here and now, it has changed the nation's political climate and forced the Establishment to fight on a battlefield not of its own choosing. It can change the subject by beating the drums against American "atrocities" in Vietnam. But while this impresses a handful of senators, editorialists and commentators, its impact on the country is not what a casual reading of the major dailies would indicate.

★ ★ ★

That change of climate can be discerned in the sudden desire of men like Sen. Jacob Javits of New York, Republican in name only, to make his peace with the White House.

Since Mr. Nixon's Inaugural, Sen. Javits has been noted for his acerbic comments on all things emanating from the White House — and he was among the first to take up arms against the vice president.

★ ★ ★

He now calls for "unity" with the White House — an odd way of putting it.

U.S. Can Help Others Bridge the Garbage Gap

With the American land mass in danger of vanishing beneath an ever-growing mound of garbage, scientists have been working around the clock to meet the threat head-on.

HOPPE

At long last, it can now be reported, a brilliant technological breakthrough offers new hope of stemming the tide of swill.

★ ★ ★

The development is the work of a research team at the West Newton Institute of Technology, headed by Dr. Russell Zimmerman. It employs a freeze-dry technique similar to that now used to condense coffee and tea.

In laboratory experiments, Dr. Zimmerman was able to reduce 1.3 metric tons of garbage to a 16-ounce jar of shimmering crystals. He calls the resultant product, logically enough, "Instant Garbage."

GREAT POSSIBILITIES

At first glance, the demand for Instant Garbage would appear minimal. But a two-year study by the Passaic Center for Peace & War Research forsees "unlimited possibilities in an ever-expanding world market."

As the center's report points out, "Americans today enjoy the highest per capita rate of garbage production (3,285 pounds annually) of any nation on earth.

"Garbage," the report states flatly, "is by far and away the No. 1 product of our free enterprise system. It must be shared with the less fortunate abroad.

"In country after country, we find a direct and unvarying correlation between the standard of living and the amount of garbage available — the less garbage, the lower the standard of living. From these statistics, it is obvious that only by increasing garbage production can the underprivileged nations ever hope to reach the economic takeoff point.

MILITARY USES

One 16-ounce jar of Instant Garbage, when mixed with water, the report notes, would supply the average Asian or African peasant with enough top-quality American garbage to last him a year.

While the report does not go into the military uses of Instant Garbage, it is known the Pentagon has the matter under study. Dropped in the enemy's rivers and streams, Instant Garbage would create instant pollution. Scattered on the enemy's land area prior to a rainfall, the crystals might well undermine his will to resist.

★ ★ ★

Experts have warned, however, that at present the U.S. lacks the garbage capacity for both military and peaceful uses. They estimate production would have to double before America could hope to cover the entire planet in even a minimum blanket of garbage.

But most observes feel that given American know-how and the ingrained American determination to scatter garbage, this is a feasible goal to include in the American dream of making the world more like America.

'Few Taxpayers Attend Waterford Board Meet'

A $2.5 million civic center complex, including police station, circuit court building and auditorium, was on the Waterford Township Board's Monday night agenda. Where were all the concerned citizens who are going to watch over our tax dollars? You cannot convince Township officials that taxpayers are concerned when only a dozen people are in the audience.

★ ★ ★

The Board assured us this was strictly future planning. Oakland County said as much before building a new auditorium. The Board states they must plan for the future. The people of Waterford must plan their future as well. The architect fees alone would be a step in solving our school problems.

Two Letters Discuss Waterford Schools

I'm beginning to think that the people of Waterford Township just don't care about our education. When we go on half days next semester we'll have loads of homework. All the teachers will have time to do is explain the work, with no class time to do it in.

★ ★ ★

I also can see the taxpayers' point of view. They feel they have been taxed enough, which they have. Why don't they change the school finance from property tax to personal income tax? People talk about how we're going to be running this country in the future: how do they expect us to run it right if we don't have the proper education?

CAROL BRAMAN

I am a schoolteacher—a professional. If I fail with a child, it is more serious than if a worker in a Pontiac plant wrecked an automobile part.

If I can handle 60 children two sessions a day more cheaply to the taxpayer, good. Then, why do they expect me to do so much more than they with their own four or five? I'd like to handle 30 a day again and pray I do it well. So, dear Waterford parent, next fall where I can teach 30 well, I will go. Do you blame me?

When are the protesters and demonstrators going to wake up to the fact that they are being taken? I believe a handful of Communist agitators move into an area and start pulling the strings. Q&A&Q&A&Q&A

(Q) I have heard that Wernher von-Braun, the great rocket and space expert, is an atheist. Can you find out if this is true?

K. D.

(A) He has made several speeches on the relationship between science and religion, and this quotation credited to one of those speeches indicates he is anything but an atheist: "For myself, science and religion are like two windows in a house through which we look at the reality of the Creator and the laws manifested in his creation. As long as we see two different images through these two windows that we cannot reconcile, we must keep on trying to obtain a more complete and better integrated total picture of the ultimate reality by properly tying together our scientific and religious concepts. If we cannot do so yet, this is a matter of human inadequacies, certainly not a question of God's perfection."

(Q) Could you please tell me if 250,000 men are needed for the armed forces in 1970, how many will be called through the Pontiac draft board?

M.

(A) That depends on the availability of men registered and classified as 1A. The local board gets its monthly quota from the state, and the state gets its quota from Washington. These quotas are based on reports of the number of men examined and qualified that month. In other words, the national office cannot ask for any more draftees from Michigan than this state has available registrants, and the state office cannot ask the Pontiac board for any more than they have reported to be classified as 1A.

'Fuzz' Inject New Note Into Drug War

'If You've Got No Other Way . . . You Bust Him'
—Det. Robert Taylor
Bloomfield Township Police

By YOLANDA BENAVIDES

The Bloomfield Township "fuzz," as the youth bureau members refer to themselves, are out to bust an image, including their own.

The image they are most concerned with is the glorified euphoric domain of colored pills, marijuana joints or heroin injections that are taking an alarming number of young people on hazardous and illegal chemical rides.

★ ★ ★

In their attempt to help young violators break this threatening social habit, they are also doing a public relations job for law enforcement officers.

More important, the seven-man team is pushing a preventive rather than punitive approach to what they call a "people problem rather than drug problem."

Since last year the bureau has turned out over a dozen much-needed communication links applicable to all age levels, according to Dr. Gerald Tobias, director of juvenile services.

For example in an effort to acquaint parents with the drug scene the bureau recently put out a 16-page brochure entitled "Our Drug Problem."

★ ★ ★

Aside from familiarizing the reader with the type of drugs circulated in the area, the brochure also describes the effects of each drug, the drug user's slang and a description of the laws pertaining to violators.

Members of the Bloomfield bureau also give drug lectures to community as well as parent groups.

SIMILAR APPROACH

The bureau has set up a similar educational approach to inform young people on the hazards — legal and physical — pertaining to drugs.

Since September, law enforcement officers have been meeting on a once-a-week basis with student representatives from area high schools to discuss such problems.

★ ★ ★

By next year the bureau hopes to formalize a similar program for those at the elementary-school age, according to Dr. Tobias.

★ ★ ★

On a more personal basis is the predinner check where an officer makes any informal house call to the home of a young person who might be inclined to take drugs.

DETECTIVE ROBERT TAYLOR

The visits are made at the request of a concerned parent, friends, or even the school liaison officer.

★ ★ ★

"A couple of years ago, parents would have pitched an officer out of their house under similar circumstances," said Township Detective Robert Taylor.

★ ★ ★

Today, however, both Tobias and Taylor find parents are not only receptive to initial help, but they often call back for advice even in the wee hours of the morning.

★ ★ ★

The bureau is out to help those who want it. Sometimes, the help hurts.

★ ★ ★

As Taylor puts it, "If you've got no other way except to 'bust' a kid to make him suddenly realize that violations of this nature are law violations — you bust him."

★ ★ ★

In several instances Taylor noted that young people are relieved when an outside force overrides social pressures. In fact, to get "busted" is now "in," they report.

Lack of Funds Perils Clubs at Bethune

Bethune Elementary School's Toastmaster and Toastmistress clubs are in danger of becoming nonexistent due to lack of funds, according to school Principal James Hawkins.

The clubs are part of the school's program to change pupils' negative self-images to positive ones.

★ ★ ★

The two clubs, each with 10 fifth and sixth graders, write speeches on citizenship and good government for delivery to such service clubs as Civitan, Kiwanis and Negro Business and Professional Women's Club.

They also speak to other groups, including other elementary schools, during noon luncheons, which average about $2 per pupil.

RECEIVED GRANT

During the school year 1967-68, Bethune received a federal grant of about $3,000 under Title III, Elementary and Secondary Education Act, to incorporate an experimental program to improve self-images.

The Toastmasters and Toastmistresses were formed under this program.

★ ★ ★

In 1968-69, federal funds were discontinued because of curtailment in Title III funds for Michigan, but Hawkins said the school was able to secure about $300 to continue the program from private donations.

Among citizen contributors were Hortense Riddicks of 146 Jackson.

MADE COMMITMENT

"Miss Rlddicks made a personal commitment last year by also contacting various individuals and groups to help the school sustain the clubs," said Hawkins.

He also praised Freddie Corr, operator of the Roseland Skating Rink, Pontiac, who contributed $200 to Bethune School to continue its speakers' program. Funeral director Frank Carruthers also received Hawkins' praise.

★ ★ ★

Hawkins said the club has received about $80 this year and will probably be used up after one more speaking engagement.

Traffic Group Lists Programs

The Oakland County Traffic Improvement Association (TIA) report for 1969 lists a number of programs it hopes to launch in 1970.

- Inaugurate a regularly scheduled county-wide conference of traffic officials with major state universities and to cooperate on the dissemination of technical information to police bureaus.
- Establish a coordinating unit of police traffic command personnel and assist the existing county organization of judicial authorities in achieving a desired level of uniformity in procedures and traffic fines.
- Make available four additional courses in accident investigation, one in traffic records management and two courses in advanced traffic engineering.
- Introduce additional in-depth public education programs as need is shown through detailed accident analyses and recommendations of public officials.
- Institute a program of roadway "identification and surveillance" which will result in a continuing and systematic watch of the county's entire street and highway network.
- Develop and conduct a program to acquaint citizens with the function of traffic engineering and its unique role in accident prevention.
- Continue to promote the use of safety belts, but a reduced rate of intensity.

Dem Confabs Start Tonight

Eighteenth and 19th District Democrats meet tonight and tomorrow in district convention, in prelude to next month's state Democratic gathering in Detroit.

The 19th District convention will be held at Eagle School, 14 Mile and Middle Belt, West Bloomfield Township. It begins at 7:30 tonight, featuring State Sen. Coleman Young, D-Detroit, as keynote speaker.

★ ★ ★

The 18th District organization meets at Birmingham Seaholm High School, 2436 Lincoln, Birmingham, beginning at 11 a.m. tomorrow.

★ ★ ★

Both conventions will consider the Michigan Democratic Political Reform Commission report that recommends some sweeping changes in the way of political representation.

★ ★ ★

Major areas covered in the reform report include selection of delegates to national conventions, extending the voting franchise to 18-year-olds, democratization of party structure, financing of political campaigns and extension of representation to blacks, women and students.

Plane in Lot Not Ticketed

OREGON CITY, Ore. (AP) — Jack Quintance, a sophomore at Clackamas Community College, parked illegally Wednesday while attending classes. But he didn't get a parking ticket.

The campus patrolman said he didn't issue a ticket because the vehicle wasn't an automobile.

★ ★ ★

Quintance arrived in his light plane and parked it in the faculty parking lot. He said he did it to arouse interest in aviation at the school.

And Looks Lighter

He Fires His Pipe

By HARRY J. REED
Editor, The Pontiac Press

What happens when you stop smoking a pipe after 20 years?

Outwardly, you look at least 10 pounds lighter. You are unburdened of the impedimenta of those addicted to the wooden fire pots.

★ ★ ★

REED

Pipe smokers of long standing, after shedding all the accouterments, have been known to gambol like astronauts on the moon —suddenly almost weightless.

NOT BRAINWASHED

Fingernails no longer emerge from a trip to a pocket edged in black from the accumulated tobacco dust.

I was not brainwashed by the air-pollution crowd. I simply quit when I had a sore throat and cold, and didn't go back. Yet!

★ ★ ★

The bridges weren't completely burned, however. I cleaned up my two dozen pipes and put them away, I didn't just cast those old friends away.

I was tricked into pipe smoking as a college freshman but it didn't take me 20 years to figure out the gimmick.

ATTRACTED BY SMELL

I had never smoked but the smell of a pipe attracted me. The guy smoking the pipe doesn't share the aroma, I found out later.

So did my two roommates at the University of Michigan. To cure me of the new habit which they felt was befouling our diminutive dwelling, they mixed pencil shavings and cut up rubber bands with my tobacco.

★ ★ ★

The plot literally backfired when the stink and smeek drove them first under the covers, and then out of the room. This amateur puffer didn't know how bad the concoction was.

★ ★ ★

One result of quitting is that your sense of smell becomes more acute. Perhaps it returns to its native, unbesmirched state. Completely accurate dinner details from 40 yards downwind can often be noted.

But, the ultimate reward is improved relationship with the wife. It doesn't come in the form of less ashes on the carpet, or no holes burned in chairs or suits.

★ ★ ★

The man who gives up pipe smoking has more pocket room to carry things for his wife.

'Booze Hits Brain'---It's a Plot

By T. LARRY ADCOCK

"The very first drink you take of an alcoholic beverage damages your brain permanently."

★ ★ ★

We get a lot of news flashes here in the city room, but none so quick to the heart as the above lead.

ADCOCK

Who is this Dr. Melvin H. Knisely of South Carolina — or this Listen Magazine in which he espouses his theory this month?

"When you take a drink of alcohol," Knisely writes, "the circulating red blood cells become agglutinated. This seriously interferes with blood circulation through the small arteries, capillaries and veins."

TURNS BLOOD TO SLUDGE

Continues the good doctor: "Agglutination means that the red blood cells become sticky and adhere together in wads until the blood becomes, literally, a sludge."

The sludge, the professor contends, interferes with the passage of oxygen to the brain and, without oxygen, as we all know, the brain dies.

We noted with raised eyebrows the similarities of Dr. Knisely's words — "sludge" and "agglutination" — to those well-honed phrases, "intellectual eunuchs" and "effete corps of impudent snobs."

And the truth dawned. It's another plot against newsmen — a monstrous plot against the good name of those notorious tipplers, the newsmen.

CAN'T BE COMMUNIST

However, we realized it couldn't be a Communist plot. Not with the Ruskies' love of vodka.

So we armed ourselves with nicotine, cyclamates and monosodium glutamate and retired to the neighborhood auxiliary city room for several rounds of demon rum.

Cheers! To your health?

Airport Controversy Swirls

News Analysis

(EDITOR'S NOTE — This is the first of a three-part series on Oakland County's airports. Now owner of two — one developed and the other slated for development — the County Board of Supervisors has found itself the center of controversy.)

By JEAN SAILE

How far should county involvement in airport development extend?

Some administrators and elected officials view the provision of airports as a duty to the future — akin to the construction of interstate highways for increased car traffic some years back.

★ ★ ★

To nonflying taxpayers, such involvement is, however, often viewed as subsidizing "a hobby" — a misalignment of priorities.

Oakland-Orion Airport on Giddings Road in Orion Township is the center of the present controversy. County-owned, it consists of two sod landing strips, hangar space for 46 planes and a small terminal building.

HOMEOWNERS ALARMED

Viewed for development as a general aviation facility and variously estimated to cost as much as $50 million when complete, the airport is looked on with alarm by nearby homeowners.

County officials say 80 per cent of development costs are, however, recoverable from state and federal grants.

★ ★ ★

Close to $700,000 has already been invested at the site for land acquisition and various studies and plans. No money has yet been recovered from the federal government, however, half the land costs or $325,000, is anticipated.

There are citizens who think and say money spent on airports is ill spent in a day of pressing social problems.

★ ★ ★

The sides were drawn no closer through action taken last week by the Oakland County Board of Supervisors to begin development of the Orion airport.

THIRD AIRPORT EYED

Even as money was being appropriated — $25,000 for a study now and as much as $225,000 earmarked in the next year — there were some supervisors considering the need for acquisition of still a third county-owned airport in the southwest area of the county.

Meanwhile there is talk of a vote to rescind the appropriation at the next board meeting at 9:30 a.m. Thursday. Such a vote would require a two-thirds majority, and whether those opposing the Orion appropriation can muster that many votes is doubtful.

Pressure has reportedly been applied to Board Chairman Charles B. Edwards Jr., a Democrat, who voted for the funds. Edwards seeks chairmanship of the board next year, and Democrats are said to be considering the withdrawal of support from his candidacy as a result of his vote.

Edwards voted first to appropriate only $25,000 for a study at the airport, but when that measure failed he threw his support to the final motion which earmarked the total sum of $250,000 for airport development, but which appropriated only $25,000 at this time.

★ ★ ★

"They (the board) can withdraw that $225,000 at any time," Edwards said, "and they must vote to approve any of its expenditure — to get it released from the special contingency fund."

"The study is long overdue. We've got to make up our minds whether we're going to proceed out there or not. This is the way to do it," Edwards said.

Harried Panthers Look to Cleaver

and
JOHN S. LANG

WASHINGTON (AP) — Self-exiled Black Panther Eldridge Cleaver is seeking to arrange his return to the United States where his armed revolutionary party—reeling under police pressure—is hurting for leadership.

Twenty-four hours after two Panthers were slain in a shoot-out with Chicago police, sources said Cleaver contacted U.S. diplomatic officials in Algiers and asked for a passport to return to America where he is wanted on a fugitive warrant.

* * *

Cleaver didn't get the passport, the sources added, but in later discussions was told he could get a certificate of identity that would allow him to travel to the United States.

As Cleaver was making the inquiries in Algiers, signs were mounting in America that the Panthers are revolutionaries on the ropes.

4-HOUR GUN BATTLE

On Monday, a police raid on Panther headquarters in Los Angeles resulted in a four-hour gun battle that left three policemen and three Panthers wounded. Nineteen Panthers were arrested.

Two well-known Panther leaders—Huey P. Newton and Bobby Seale—already were in jail. Stokeley Carmichael quit the party last summer. Other party leaders are dead. Dave Hilliard, Panther chief of staff, faces trial on a charge of threatening the life of President Nixon.

If Cleaver returns to California, he faces imprisonment as a parole violator and for jumping bail on charges of assault with intent to kill and assault with a deadly weapon. But the deepening Panther-police crisis presumably has increased pressure on him to give up his self-proclaimed exile.

Black leaders say the police raids have brought an upsurge in pro-Panther sympathy, yet the Panthers are without the widely known leaders needed to take full advantage of the situation.

LATEST CLASHES

The Chicago and Los Angeles raids were the latest in a series of police actions that the Panthers say have resulted in 28 Panther deaths—a figure the Panthers failed to document and which Justice Department officials say is exaggerated.

But the frequency and intensity of the clashes are seen by some as having an impact on America's ghettos more profound than anything Panthers could muster with their Marxist ideology and weapon-wielding ways.

* * *

"The effect is very telling on groups that don't agree with the Panthers ideologically," said Lucius Walker, executive director of the Interreligious Foundation for Community Organization—IFCO.

"It's not an ideological question. It's a question of black survival," Walker said. "Black people of all ideological persuasions have been made to realize that all blacks are vulnerable."

Panther lawyer Charles Garry of San Francisco says the incidents add up to a campaign of "genocide on the Black Panther party."

"Poppycock," replied a Justice Department spokesman to charges made by Garry and others that the Nixon administration is the concertmaster for an elaborate and planned police crackdown on the Panthers.

But there is little question that an intense hostility exists between police and Panthers. One high federal official put it this way:

"It seems every time cops and Panthers meet they shoot each other. Fear plays a part. It's been some years since I considered myself a cop, but I know if I were back on the street, I wouldn't want to have to stop a black man, or especially two of them. The friction is so intense, with Panthers you keep a hand on a gun."

DEMANDS FOR PROBES

Demands for public hearings into violence that often erupts when police and Panthers meet grew louder after the raid in Chicago last week in which two Panthers, including Illinois Chairman Fred Hampton, were shot to death.

Six black congressmen, led by Michigan Democrat Charles C. Diggs Jr., announced yesterday they would hold an unofficial fact-finding hearing in Chicago Dec. 20.

* * *

The National Urban League wired the attorney general requesting federal grand jury inquiries in every jurisdiction where Panthers "have been murdered by law enforcement officials."

The American Civil Liberties Union called for the National Commission on Violence to probe killings in Chicago which "seem a part of a nationwide pattern of police action against the Panthers."

* * *

And moderate Roy Wilkins of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, told an interviewer the incidents "take on the aspect of a vendetta ... it looks suspicious."

Chicago police reported the 10-minute gun battle began when they arrived at Hampton's apartment at 4:40 a.m. last Thursday to search for weapons. They said a woman in the apartment opened fire with a shotgun.

NO SIGNS

A later inspection of the apartment by a reporter disclosed one small bullet hole in the apartment's front door. The door showed no signs of a shotgun blast. It was still on its hinges.

The one wall of the living room visible from the front door was marked by a small cluster of bullet holes. No bullet holes could be seen in the dining room and kitchen.

* * *

In the front bedroom, three walls were pocked with bullet holes. The wall beside the bedroom door was unmarked. In the rear bedroom, where Hampton died, the same was true—three walls were riddled with bullet holes, and the wall adjoining the bedroom door was unmarked.

The Chicago and Los Angeles shootings heightened police-Panther tensions which have been building in major cities since early 1967 when the Panthers began publicly displaying their weapons—first on San Francisco streets and later even at the California state capitol.

PREVIOUS INCIDENTS

The fiercest previous battle came in April 1968 in Oakland, Calif. It left Panther Bobby Hutton dead; Cleaver and two policemen wounded.

This year there have been a number of incidents, including:

* * *

July 16—Two Chicago policemen and a Panther were wounded in a gun battle that erupted while officers were investigating a burglary. Two Panthers were arrested.

July 31—five policemen and one Panther were wounded in a shoot-out at Chicago Panther headquarters. Officers said they were fired on from the building's roof, but Panthers said police started it.

Aug. 17—In Kansas City, a policeman was wounded by a girlfriend of a Panther whom officers were arresting. Police returned the fire, killing the woman.

Sept. 22—In Milwaukee, three Panthers were arrested and charged with firing a shotgun at a policeman who was walking his beat.

Sept. 30—In New York, a policeman was struck by a shotgun blast while attempting to enter an apartment. Two Panthers were seized.

Oct. 1—Two teen-agers described as Panthers were arrested after a shoot-out with police in Jamaica, Queens.

* * *

Oct. 4—Seven Panthers were arrested and one was charged with attempted murder after two policemen said they were fired upon from the roof of the party's Chicago headquarters.

Nov. 13—Two police and one Panther were killed in a 10-minute shoot-out when officers responded to a call that four armed men were in an abandoned Chicago hotel.

* * *

In addition, 14 Panthers indicted for conspring to bomb New York department stores and subway facilities have been in jail for seven months in lieu of bail ranging up to $100,000 each.

And in New Haven, Conn., more than a dozen Panthers are held on various charges in connection with the May 21 murder of a party member.

MEMBERSHIPS ERODED

There's little doubt that the incidents and arrests have eroded Panthers membership.

One estimate places their nationwide strength at under 1,000.

* * *

Ideological differences and the need to tighten security have led to purges in some cities.

Cleaver's return—if it occurs—could help rally white radicals to the Panthers' side. And some radicals see it as essential for the party's survival.

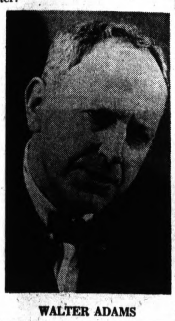
Adams Is Ending Brief, Brilliant Stint as Interim MSU Prexy

EAST LANSING (UPI)—Walter Adams, a classroom teacher, became acting president of Michigan State University on April Fool's Day. It was no joke, but there were a lot of laughs anyway.

★ ★ ★

More important, the 46-year-old economics professor threw away the book and established a new style for administering the nation's turbulent campuses. He did it with love and laughter.



WALTER ADAMS

When Adams took the interim by the MSU Board of Trustees, saying "Administration's not appointment, he immediately ruled himself out as a candidate for the permanent post by my bag."

★ ★ ★

With a straight face, he endorsed Gen. Charles de Gaulle for the job because of his "excellent combat record."

TOUCH OF IRREVERENCE

He irreverently referred to the formal "search and selection" committee of students and faculty assigned to find a replacement as the "search and seizure" committee. He put everybody on, and the students loved it.

More than 12,000 of them signed petitions asking Adams to reconsider his decision to go back to the classroom and throw his hat into the ring for president.

★ ★ ★

Former critics of the liberal Democrat praised his work and said he'd make a good one. Adams humbly declined and asked people to please believe he wasn't interested.

When Clifton Wharton Jr., the first Negro ever to be named to head a major predominantly white university, was selected Adams couldn't resist the irony.

GREAT EMANCIPATOR

He called Wharton the "great emancipator who's going to deliver me from bondage."

If Adams was often irreverent, he was never irrelevant. Students, uptight with bigness and the mechanization of their lives, found a kindred spirit in the cigar-smoking Adams who could talk tough and act decisively when the occasion demanded or keep his cool—and wit—when it was time to "cool it, baby."

SYMBOLIC BRIDGE

His brief tenure as president of the 40,000-student campus was sort of a symbolic bridge between the past and the future.

He succeeded Dr. John Hannah, the ever straight, always aloof "builder" who directed MSU for 28 years, developing it into one of the nation's most prestigious state universities.

★ ★ ★

Hannah ruled through his deans and, except on formal occasions, was seldom seen at close range by students.

★ ★ ★

Although he personally signed all diplomas, Hannah, who joined the Nixon administration as director of the Agency for International Development, was not considered "approachable" by students. But he was a man for his time.

MEN OF THEIR TIME

Adams precedes another man of his time—Clifton Wharton, a Negro.

It's a time when MSU, like other universities, is attempting to bring more blacks, students and teachers alike, to the campus; when MSU, the pioneer land-grant college, is directing its resources to the explosive urban centers instead of to rural and international extension work; when students especially don't much care about a man's color as long as he does his job.

The job, as Adams sees it, is to be visible to students—to be "their man."

"I've set up a priority system," he said in a recent interview. "Students first, junior faculty next, then senior faculty, then the deans, then the trustees, then the outside groups."

NO LOBBYIST

Who, then, is going to lobby the lawmakers and the foundation moneymen and hold hands with the alumni?

"That's a problem," Adams said. "I don't know. But if you pay attention to these groups in the traditional way, all your worries will be over because the store is going to blow up."

Adams, wearing a mismatched sport coat, tie and slacks, moved restlessly to the window of his third-floor office.

★ ★ ★

"This office is obscene — air conditioned, soundproof. You're hermetically sealed in here."

AN OVERVIEW

He walked to the window and looked down at students.

"They look like marionettes from here. The place to be is down there."

★ ★ ★

Down there—in the classroom on the walks, on the sidelines with the football team instead of in the president's box, marching with the band—is where Adams did his thing as acting president.

"The thing I've contributed to campus is love and laughter," he said. "Giving the feeling someone cares. Giving a sense of laughter. This is a very serious generation and they don't laugh enough."

LOVE RETURNED

Laugh they did. And they returned the love.

"By actions, not words, you said, 'Hey, there's one of my students,' 'Hi, you're important','" said one student to Adams in a moving letter.

All Adams did was smile and nod a greeting when the boy passed his car.

Ship Tie-Up Blocks Santa

HONOLULU (UPI) — Another Virginia has written a Christmas letter, this time a plea for maritime workers to "turn Santa loose" so presents and the traditional yuletide trees will be in Hawaii for the holiday season.

★ ★ ★

Virginia Marshall and her first-grade class decided to take action to try to end the strike that has tied up ships headed for Hawaii from the West Coast. On board the ships are Christmas mail and Christmas trees, along with other goods.

Their one-line letter read:

"Dear Union Men, how can we get you to turn Santa loose so that we can get our Christmas presents from the mainland?"

Virginia, the 6-year-old daughter of travel agent James E. Marshall, explained "Us kids want to have fun at Christmas and the presents our grandparents sent us."

★ ★ ★

Marshall, chairman of a group of citizens calling themselves the "Save Christmas Committee," sent a telegram to President Nixon asking for help and threatening to take the Maritime Union to court.

★ ★ ★

The dispute is about the number of crewmen to be assigned to two new container cargo ships now under construction.

My Lai? Son My? Both Right!

SAIGON (AP) — The site of the alleged civilian massacre at My Lai has been called at least half a dozen different names, some of them fanciful. These include Son My, My Lai, Song My, Tu Cung, even "Pinkville."

Some of the confusion results from the complex governmental system in Vietnam. Provinces are divided into districts, which in turn are organized into villages, each made up of a series of hamlets, which sometimes—as in the case at hand—are broken down into subhamlets.

★ ★ ★

Further complicating this, place names are sometimes altered at official whim and vary from one map to another. The Vietcong frequently apply their own names.

★ ★ ★

The name most commonly misspelled is one of which there is no dispute among Vietnamese. the village name of Son My. It is often spelled Song My.

10 DISTRICTS

Quang Ngai Province has 10 districts. One of these is Son Tinh, in which there are several villages including Son An, Son Thanh, Son Hoin, Son Hoa, Son Quang and Son My.

★ ★ ★

Son My village is a 10-square-mile area of hillocks, rice paddies, tree lines, swamps and clusters of hamlets, bordering the South China sea.

★ ★ ★

At the time U.S. troops entered it on March 16, 1968, Son My village was made up of three hamlets. One of these was My Lai, pronounced Mee-Lie. It had six subhamlets numbered My Lai 1, My Lai 2, etc.

★ ★ ★

The killings occurred in two neighboring subhamlets, My Lai 4 and My Lai 5.

APPEARS ON MAPS

For administrative purposes the My Lai complex is now referred to collectively as Tu Cung—a name that also appears elsewhere on maps of the area—and the subhamlets have different names as well. My Lai 4 is now called Thuyen Yen, and My Lai 5 is Truong An.

★ ★ ★

As for the term "Pinkville," the best explanation offered by U.S. officers is that some military maps used in the field, usually those scaled at one centimeter to 50,000 meters, show congested population areas in pink.

★ ★ ★

Officers say the term 'Pinkville" has nothing to do with the political coloration of any village.

Dutch Handle Large-Scale Integration Job Smoothly

AMSTERDAM (AP) — Every Dutchman knows that more than 30,0000 black, brown or off-white colonials from Holland's crumpled East Indian empire have moved in among the canals and windmills. Not very many give it a second thought.

★ ★ ★

The home of Erasmus and Spinoa, early apostles of tolerance, has accomplished a large-scale mixing of races against a background of world racial discord.

★ ★ ★

"They fit right in," a taxi driver said. "We don't think much about race here. Hitler did that and look what happened to him. In 100 years, the way things are going, there will be only one race anyway."

★ ★ ★

"If they speak Dutch," a train conductor said, "that's all that matters."

EYED BY SOCIOLOGISTS

Sociologists from afar have come to see how the Dutch have pulled off such a smooth job of integration. They come especially from England, where a million former colonial subjects from India, Pakistan, Africa and the West Indies have settled somewhat uneasily after a querulous welcome.

★ ★ ★

Renee Short, a Labor member of the British Parliament, said after a visit here: "Immigrants to the Netherlands are accepted by the whole community. There is no sympathy among the Dutch working class for any racial discrimination. We have a good deal to learn from them."

★ ★ ★

Holland is the most densely populated country in Europe, 939 to the square mile. The nonwhite population now is about 2½ per cent of the total population of 12 million, compared to 2 per cent in Britain.

★ ★ ★

How did this country absorb the immigrants, most of whom had never seen a snowball?

ANSWER 'SIMPLE'

"It's simple," says an official of the Ministry of Cultural Affairs, Recreation and Social Welfare.

★ ★ ★

"Most of them speak our language. They are mostly people who have the same religion as we have, Catholic and Protestant. Most of them were more Dutch than we are. They all had a photo of the queen and a Dutch flag."

★ ★ ★

It wasn't quite that simple. Many of the migrants were terrified by the thought of a European winter. They were intimidated by the bustle of Dutch towns. Many men had been employed in Dutch colonial offices, in the army and police forces. Thousands had to be trained for new jobs.

When they saw white men carrying their baggage from ships a good many concluded "It's a crazy world," the official said.

STARTED IN 1945

The migration started in 1945 soon after the end of World War II. It gained momentum as the nationalistic movement in Indonesia burgeoned and finally forced the transfer of sovereignty to the Republic of Indonesia in 1949.

★ ★ ★

Thousands of the migrants had been employed directly by the Dutch, on plantations or in the colonial government and were compromised with the extreme nationalists. There also were many descendants of mixed Dutch-Indonesian marriages through the centuries of Dutch rule.

★ ★ ★

The Netherlands was still suffering from a long occupation by the German army. There was a shortage of housing due to wartime destruction. Industry was lame.

★ ★ ★

Dutch officials give full credit to the United States for Marshall Plan aid which helped to restore industry and provide jobs for the immigrants. But Dutch generosity, traditional tolerance and humanity opened doors to the refugees.

WARTIME FEELING

"I believe we had the wartime feeling that we had to go hand in hand to solve this problem," one official said. "We were always an island in Europe for political and religious refugees. They helped us with their industry, finance and intellect.

★ ★ ★

"You can see every color here and they can go anywhere. It doesn't matter to a Dutch family if a son or daughter marries a colored person as long as he speaks Dutch and is of the same intelligence."

★ ★ ★

Mixed groups are often seen on the streets, in cafes, in hotels.

The Dutch sent teams to Indonesia to help immigrants make the move. Other teams came on the ships with them, advising them of Dutch life, making medical examinations, preparing them for new jobs and a new life.

★ ★ ★

Boarding houses were ready in Holland to care temporarily for the new arrivals. Housing was allocated on the basis of jobs available. The immigrants were purposely scattered all over the small country in more than 50 communities. Settlement in the larger cities like Amsterdam and The Hague was limited, to avoid the growth of ghettos.

Christmas Eve Is Time for Fathers to Assemble

By BILL RAWLINS

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Christmas Eve is the night for the fathers of America to assemble.

They don't get together. They put together.

* * *

It happens every year, but somehow it always seems to come as a surprise.

This is because no father in his right mind walks into a toy store and asks for a box of spare parts to put under the tree for Junior or Juniorette. He asks for this bicycle or that tricycle or this toy sink or that doll house. He sees them, assembled and shiny.

HIDDEN IN ATTIC

But he walks out of the toy store with a box of spare parts, which he hides in the attic.

Then he burns the midnight oil into the wee hours of Christmas morning, trying to read the simple directions or—more likely—trying to put the toy together before he finally looks at the simple directions.

* * *

Except for the pictures, the directions don't seem to help much, because most of them read as if they were written by a Japanese who learned English in school—a Japanese school.

* * *

Somehow, though, he always manages to get things together in time to lie down, at least, before the youngsters awake gleefully to "See what Santa Claus brought me!"

LACK OF CREDIT

It may well be this lack of credit where credit is due which leads some progressive types to teach their youngsters, from the time they are old enough to walk, the true facts of Christmas life.

* * *

On the other hand, it is the toy makers' dependence on the free labors of fathers which has helped make toys one of the biggest bargains around. They have to keep them simple.

* * *

Thirty years ago, a leading car manufacturer advertised his new models for $895 each. Today, you can't touch one for four times that—but touch it is about all you have to do to drive it. It's so automatic—and so complicated—that only your mechanic knows for sure.

By contrast, coaster wagons and bicycles cost only one-fourth more than they did in 1939.

LITTLE CHANGE

The design of the coaster wagon, like that of the Volkswagen, hasn't changed much in 30 years. And 30 years ago, my father could have bought me the most expensive coaster wagon advertised for $14.95. Today, I can buy my son, Drew, the most expensive wagon offered by a nationwide department store chain for $19.99.

Like my father, I'd have to put it together—and gain a little appreciation for the old man in the process.

* * *

Or, take bicycles. Except for the complicated 3- and 5-gear models, which weren't around 30 years ago, the price rise is comparable to coaster wagons. The advertised range of Christmas bikes in 1939 was $23.95-$42.95, while similar bikes sell today for $29-$59.95.

Bikes have another advantage over cars. I once put the handlebars on backwards. Before I discovered the mistake, Drew decided he liked them so much that way he wouldn't let me fix them.

You just can't do that with power steering.

WLC Varsity Club Revived

By JOANNE SANDERSON

The Varsity Club at Walled Lake Central is alive and well after several years in dormancy.

The club's initiation was held for three days with the pledges doing something different each day.

★ ★ ★

The first day they were made to wear signs saying "I'm scum" and "I'm the lowest thing at Walled Lake Central."

SHOESHINE BOYS

The second day in addition to the signs, the pledges became shoeshine boys. They had to shine the shoes of the current members.

The third day pacifiers were found in the mouths of the plebian members.

After these trying and unforgettable three days the pledges became full-fledged members.

★ ★ ★

Membership is open to all varisty letter winners but each boy can decide for himself if he wishes to become a member.

★ ★ ★

The club plans to attend sports function on weekends en masse.

In the spring, it is planning a donkey basketball game. The game would pit varsity club members against the faculty.

SALE OF JACKETS

A sale of jackets with "WLC" on the front is also on the agenda.

Senior Bob Donahue stated, "This year, our main goal is to get the club moving and producing funds as it should."

Varsity club officers are Mike Wozniak, president; Rick Baker, vice president; Bob Gutherie, secretary; Arnie Gillert, treasurer; Robin Ward, director of events; and Bob Donahue, historian.

The Music Department will present the annual Christmas Concert Tuesday at 8 p.m. in E. V. Ayres Auditorium.

SOLID MUSIC

The concert will be 90 minutes of solid music. There will be no breaks.

Posters also reflect a more symbolic Christmas spirit. They were designed by Laura Lind, senior and member of the concert choir.

★ ★ ★

They feature three geometric triangles symbolizing the different beliefs of religious groups concerning Christmas.

★ ★ ★

The concert will feature the band and orchestra under the direction of Thomas Stubbs, instrumental music teacher. The Men's Chorus, the Girls' Glee Club, the Girls' Chorus and the Concert Choir will perform under the direction of Roger J. Longrie. The Neo-Renaissance singers will also perform.

★ ★ ★

The concert is open to the public and there is no admission charge.

FUN FOR ALL — Initiations for new Varsity Club members were held recently at Walled Lake Central. Newcomer Randy Vetter shines club President Mike Wozniak's shoes as Mike Pontoni bows down to Arnie Gillert. Any boys who earn a varsity letter may join the club.

By RUTH SOMERS

"Boy I didn't know you were that cute," said one senior to another as senior pictures arrived at West Bloomfield High. The annual trading and clamoring among senior class members began Friday.

The West Bloomfield Ski Club is planning a school-sponsored trip to Marquette Dec. 29 to Jan. 2. Basic price of the trip is $90 which includes transportation, lodging, tow fees and two meals a day.

★ ★ ★

The students will journey by bus, and all lodgings are at the Holiday Inn in Marquette.

A $50 deposit is required when each student signs up.

American Field Service is holding its biggest event of the year, the traditional swim party at the Oakland University pool.

Bus transportation from the high school will be provided. Cost for nonmembers is $1 and for members 50 cents. A party follows the swimming.

The Girls' Athletic Association (GAA) is holding its annual T-shirt sale. Striped T-shirts with "West Bloomfield" printed on the front are $2.50 for all sizes and on sale in the lobby.

★ ★ ★

Profits will be used in planning the GAA Christmas party. "Details will be announced later," says Dianne Phillips, club president.

The latest issue of the school paper, the Anchor features a first-person report on the Moratorium held in Washington D. C. Patti Roberts, Anchor reporter, tells of the trip from Detroit, of her participation in the march and of her feelings and conclusions about the demonstration.

Interesting Courses Give Groves Classy Curriculum

By MIKE WILSON

English courses such as "Bible as Literature" and "Satire" are two of the reasons for Groves to claim one of the most interesting curriculums of any high school around.

In addition, the school has some 55 clubs with activities involving almost everyone.

William Meggs, with a bachelor's degree in sacred theology, is teaching the Bible course.

One purpose of the course, according to Meggs, is to focus on the styles of literature within the Bible.

Robert DeBard is teaching the other new course, satire. He thought of starting a satire course last February. Although DeBard has never taken a formal class in the subject, he has always been interested in it. "I'm sure that Groves is the only school to have such a course," he commented.

★ ★ ★

Satire is being taken from literary history and will cover works from Chaucer to modern satiric novels like Catch 22.

Social psychology teacher Jim Stone felt his course needed a facelift this year. So he changed it.

"Students sometimes think that there's a limit to what they can learn," said Stone.

To show there isn't, he added a psychological experiment entitled, "Some Effects of Certain Communication Patterns on Group Performance," developed in 1951 by psychologist H. J. Leavitt.

Using cardboard cubicles, psychology students studied four different communication patterns. To test efficiency of the various patterns assigned to each cubicle, each member was given a different set of symbols. They then have to find what symbols they had in common with their fellow members of the experiment.

★ ★ ★

Another interesting course at Groves is the new Pre-Employment Placement (PEP) program, which has attracted 15 Groves students.

These students are working part-time in area business through the new courses, taught by Doug Shields.

Andover Is Staging 'Stop the World' Hit

By MARK BEGO

Today and tomorrow at 8 p.m., the curtain rises on Andover's second musical endeavor, "Stop the World, I Want to Get Off."

The book and lyrics were written by Leslie Bricusse and Anthony Newley, and the play had a profitable run on Broadway, with Newley in the lead.

★ ★ ★

Andover's production features Tom Lee as the main character, Littlechap, whose worldwide affairs are the basis for the musical's plot.

Tom, who possesses a voice much like Newley's, performs such well-known hits as "Gonna Build a Mountain," "Once in a Lifetime" and "What Kind of Fool Am I?"

FEMALE-DOMINATED

Playing opposite Tom in the female-dominated cast is Chris Brokensha, as Littlechap's "typically English" wife. On his adventures abroad, Littlechap meets Russian Anya, played by Mary Cheal; German Ilse, Arielle Emmett; and Ginie, the All-American girl, Janis Baker.

★ ★ ★

Members of the chorus include Deb Beshoar, Donna Brichta, Ann Cole, Lorrie Common, Ann Coughlin, Cheryl Daskas, Linda Davis, Karen Grivas, Pual Murray and Marilyn Warren.

"Stop the World" is a completely student-produced musical directed by Sherry Berman, who is assisted by Barb Lowenthol. It is produced by Linda Hogle and choreographed by Marilyn Warren and Debbie Robertson, with additional dancers Deb Beshoar, and Nancy Watson.

The supporting cast consists of Littlechap's daughters, Susan (Melissa Hill), and Jane (Michelle Peters) as well as the Shadow of Death, Mark Bego. Scott Berman is Littlechap's son and grandson.

LIGHTING STAGE

"Stop the World's" lighting was designed by Debbie O'Brien. Stage manager is Pete Beudert.

The only on-stage faculty assistance came from Craig Strain, Andover's bandleader.

★ ★ ★

Sponsor Carol Beers also has been kept busy with the minor complications which arose amid rehearsals.

Tickets for Andover's performance of "Stop the World, I Want to Get Off" are available by phoning the office. A limited number will be sold at the door.

At Holly Center

New-Look Concert Slated

By MARCIA CLARK

The annual Noel Concert put on by the Holly High School vocal music department will be different this year.

It will be held Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the student center instead of the gym in order to make use of the stage. Scenery and skits have been worked out and inserted into the program to eliminate the cut-and dried Christmas program syndrome.

The Girl's Chorus, a new group in the HHS vocal department, will perform its numbers around a toyland theme. They will sing "Babes in Toyland," "Carol of the Bells," and "Parade of the Wooden Soldiers."

A cathedral theme will dominate the performances of the a cappella choir as it performs.

"There's a Song in the Air" and "What Child is This?" will be sung by the Royalettes, a newly formed girls sextet.

The Madrigal singers will sing "The Little Drummer Boy," and "Up, Up, and Away in our Beautiful Balloon."

The HHS Mixed Choir will deliver various familiar Christmas carols and songs.

Also in the Christmas concert will be the Boys' Quartet and the Girls' Ensemble.

The concert director is Darrel Burget, head of the HHS vocal music department.

The Madrigal Singers, a relatively new vocal group made up of Judy Brown, Mary Stark, Sue Bloomer, Bonnie Bates, Gail Williams, Judy Darton, Russell Lemon, Dick Lacey, Pat McNamara, Mark Parker, Dave Mayo and Dale Upcraft, has appeared at several Madrigal festivals this year.

★ ★ ★

"The Madrigals are available for singing engagements of all kings, and will be glad to entertain at dinner parties, club meetings or church socials," said Bonnie Bates, a member of the Madrigal Singers.

Epic PNH Concert Sunday

By GARY SHERWOOD

Pontiac Northern's Vocal Department will put on "Joy to the World" Sunday.

The annual Christmas concert will take place in Northern's auditorium at 3 p.m. Admission is free.

★ ★ ★

An offering box will be set outside the door for those who wish to contribute to a scholarship fund for students going to summer music camps.

Featured will be a 200-voice massed girls' chorus, a 57-voice male chorus, a 105-voice a cappella choir, an 85-voice mixed chorus, an 80-voice girls' concert choir, and two ensembles, the Girls' Ensemble, and the Northern Madrigal Singers.

Accompanists are Eve Cantarella, Lynn Clark, Cindy Helton, Karen Hettinger, Richard Konzen and Janet Lemanski. Soloist is Ruth Goemaere. Directors are Thomas Marsh and John Tousley.

The Madrigals have been busy singing at different engagements. Yesterday, the group sang at the YMCA. Tuesday, it will sing at the teachers' Christams party and next Thursday at the Kingsley Inn in Bloomfield Township.

★ ★ ★

The a cappella choir will put on a 45-minute concert next Friday at the First Federal Bank at 4 p.m.

★ ★ ★

Tryouts for the play "Finian's Rainbow" have been going on this week. The major leads are expected to be announced next week.

The debate team traveled to Michigan State University last weekend to compete in the Spartan Invitational. This is a first-year team as in the previous two years, debate was canceled.

★ ★ ★

As sponsor David Kazen said, "This year is just a rebuilding year in which our members are mostly sophomores and juniors so I'm sure next year will have a strong foundation."

★ ★ ★

Members of the team are Randy Bouie, Sue Durso, Joe Hylla, Robin Johnson, Mike Kane, Diane McPherson, Darrell Miller, Bill Tucker and Steve Young.

The Girls Recreation Association (GRA) is sponsoring a toy drive for needy families and children.

WILL BE DISTRIBUTED

Any student having old or unwanted toys should contact any GRA member who will make arrangements to pick the toys up. Members will distribute toys a few days before Christmas.

★ ★ ★

Drum majors have been picked for next year's band. They are Roger Norberg and Karen Partin.

★ ★ ★

They will attend a two-week band camp in Indiana next summer.

Wednesday, students will be excused an hour early. All secondary teachers will meet at Northern to plan a schedule for future human relation meetings.

★ ★ ★

Seniors ordered graduation announcements today. Senior pictures will be delivered next Monday or Tuesday for those that have paid two-thirds of their account.

The Pep Club, Varsity Club and the International Club are joined together in a money-making project.

★ ★ ★

To raise $500 for club expenses, they will sell an all-purpose cleaner called "Rex." A quota of 12 bottles per member was set in order to reach the quota.

Maxis Sweeping Cities, Catching on Escalators

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — It's everywhere, sweeping up the streets, getting caught in revolving doors, tripping its wearers or other people, inspiring signs of caution in some stores, drawing warnings from safety officials.

What is it? It's the maxi, of course, the nearly floor-length coat that the nation's fad-conscious women have taken to as they took to boots and once adopted Jacqueline Kennedy pillboxes and little-nothing dresses.

★ ★ ★

Never run for a taxi, while wearing a maxi, has become the advice of the mods. Or for that matter, never run for a bus or a subway.

"You have to learn a whole new walk," said one young thing as she hitched her hands into her pockets and lifted the front of her maxi coat to approach an escalator.

★ ★ ★

Matter of fact, some stores are putting signs on escalators saying "To avoid any hangups, we suggest that ladies wearing maxis lift them demurely before getting on the escalator," or, "Ladies, please lift maxis while riding escalators."

DANGER

The safety factor came to me abruptly when I saw a maxi wearer get the rear of her coat caught in the door of a bus. A quick thinking driver speedily reopened it to free her, or she could have been a casualty.

Both the National Safety and Greater New York Safety councils have taken note of the maxi, although neither has recorded any serious accidents from the long garments.

The national council reminded that one of the hazards of the street-sweeping length simply is not being able to see where you're stepping. Wear the stylish chunky heels, not the high ones, which might get caught in the maxi's divided hem, and keep the hems at least a couple of inches off the ground, it advises.

Check the maxis in restaurants if possible to avoid tripping hazards to others. And getting into a car, use the old rule of body first, then feet, and in getting out, feet first, then the body, the council adds.

The New York council views the maxi with little tolerance. Mrs. Marjorie May, its director of home safety, calls it graceless, unsanitary and unsafe. She cites in addition to the usual problems, static electricity, which makes fabrics cling to each other and to the wearer's legs, hampering one in walking.

"Great grandma and her contemporaries knew how to manage bulky long garments," said Mrs. May, "but most of the women who are adopting the new fad have never worn anything that long before . . . '

TAKES PRACTICE

She suggested "keeping one hand free at all times to lift the skirt level for a curb, a stair, a puddle or other hazard, practicing how to do it gracefully, and to avoid trying to run while wearing such a garment."

What of the cleaning problems, especially when a maxi has swept up street grime and been through the slush of winter?

"Much depends on the color and fabric, and the amount of soil and grit collected," said Bill Seitz, associate director of the Neighborhood Cleaners Association, representing 2900 cleaners in the tri-state area. The maxis take double the labor and time of a regular coat on conventional cleaners' equipment. But Seitz said, "we figure we're cleaning about one-third more fabric, so we settle for about one-third more charge."

Fertility Drug User May Deliver Seven Babies

LONDON (AP) — A 23-year-old London housewife is expecting a multiple birth and a hospital spokesman said today "there could be as many as seven."

Rosemary Letts, who received a fertility drug, is in University College Hospital. If the pregnancy goes its full time, the births are expected in February.

★ ★ ★

"The exact number of expected babies cannot possibly be established until further tests next week, but there could be as many as seven," the hospital spokesman said.

Go Along With Roger; You May Come Out on Top

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Roger and I have been married for less than a year and I could use some advice.

Roger was a confirmed bachelor (or so everyone thought) before he married me. Well, it seems that about five years ago he came very close to marrying another girl, but at the last minute something happened and the wedding never took place.

Anyway, Roger and this girl agreed to meet at the top of the Empire State building on July 4th, 1970, at 6 p.m., Eastern Standard time — exactly five years to the minute from the time they parted. They agreed that if either one married, they'd bring their spouse along.

Roger wants to keep the date, and he wants me to go with him. (We now live in Manchester, N.H.)

Abby, I don't care to meet the girl he almost married, but I don't want to seem like a jealous wife. What should I do?

THINKING OF 1970

DEAR THINKING: What if Roger's old girl is married and her husband doesn't want to meet the man she almost married, so he sends HER alone? Then Roger and his old flame will be up there on the top of the Empire State building, just the two of them, with their memories? Silly girl. Go!

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have five school-age children. I am not saying that I am the best-organized person in the world. Marvin (my husband) never complained. Every summer Marvin's sister, who teaches school in New York, comes to visit us for a month. We've always welcomed her visits — but no more!

While a guest in our home she would supervise the housekeeping, rearrange the drawers and cupboards, and act as a self-appointed "efficiency expert." I didn't mind, because I suspected she wanted to keep busy. However, I did mind when she started to find fault with the way I was raising the children.

★ ★ ★

After she left I was furious to learn that she thought it was her "duty" to speak to Marvin about his wife's "sloppy housekeeping, extravagance, and the poor training she is giving the children." Not one word to ME, mind you, but she told Marvin to try to "straighten ME out" before it was "too late."

★ ★ ★

My question to you: Do you think she is really a good person who wants me to be "straightened out" before it is "too late"? Or is she just a meddling old maid who can't keep her nose out of other people's affairs?

FURIOUS

DEAR FURIOUS: The latter. And tell Marvin that should his sister, the "efficiency expert," wish to visit you again, he should "straighten HER out," as she appears to be full of kinks."

Special Glow Is Received From an Idea

By ELIZABETH L. POST
Of The Emily Post Institute

Dear Mrs. Post: A letter from one of your readers who wanted to know how to cut her Christmas card list has prompted me to write to you.

We had reached the point where Christmas cards were a burden. We even bought them at a nice shop that sold them at half price in July, and had our names printed on them. All we had to do was address the envelope, seal the flap and attach a stamp.

That seemed so un-Christmas, so in July of the next year we began writing in red ink on white cards that hereafter we were making a donation to charity (ours is the Salvation Army) in the names of our wonderful friends who we knew would have an added Christmas glow because of this. I feel a glow just telling you about it. — Laura Creedon

★ ★ ★

Dear Mrs. Creedon: So do I, just hearing about it!

"BEST WISHES"

Dear Mrs. Post: An old friend's husband is opening a restaurant and we would like to congratulate him in some way. Should we congratulate the lady or just the man alone? We like them both so much and want to do the correct thing. We can't go all out, but want them to know we are wishing them the best. — Mrs. F. S.

★ ★ ★

Dear Mrs. S.: Since it is through the woman that you know the couple at all, you should certainly include her in your best wishes. The nicest thing to do would be to send a flower arrangement and message addressed to both of them at the restaurant the night of the opening. This is the normal and accepted way of sending such good luck wishes.

Judge Shirley Hufstedler Possible Nixon Supreme Court Contender

WOMEN'S WEAR DAILY

At 44, Judge Shirley M. Hufstedler is the highest-ranking woman judge in the federal court system and could rate first in contention for the appointment to the U.S. Supreme Court. Shirley became the only woman federal appeals judge when LBJ appointed her to the 9th Circuit Court of Appeals.

Attorney General Mitchell says at least three women are being considered for the supreme court bench. Shirley tells Women's Wear Daily: "I will have no comment until it is no longer newsworthy."

Husband Seth is a law partner in Beardsley-Hufstedler-Kemble in Los Angeles and president of the L. A. County Bar Association. The Hufstedlers live in the plush residential Flintridge area of Los Angeles with a son Steven, 16.

When Lord Harlech, 51, married Pamela Collin, 33-year-old former New Yorker Thursday (left) in a conventional ceremony in Grosvenor Chapel, London, the former British ambassador's children added spice to the occasion with their unconventional raiment. At right, Harlech's daughter, Jane Rainey, carries her daughter, Rose, and follows her brother, Francis, who holds Jane's son, Safron, as they hurry into the Chapel.

Wife Learns Captured Husband Alive, Well After Long Silence

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — A 29-year-old housewife listened to a taped message Thursday from her Army captain husband, a prisoner of war in North Vietnam, and afterwards said she felt like "I'm 17."

"He said he was healthy and that he loved us and to tell Randy and Crystal something, I can't remember what," said Mrs. Norman McDaniel.

Randy is their 7-year-old son and Cyrstal their 4-year-old daughter.

It was the first confirmation that her husband was still alive. He was captured more than three years ago.

McDaniel's broadcast was contained in North Vietnam's daily propaganda broadcast beamed to American soldiers in South Vietnam.

A CBS correspondent monitored the broadcast in Hong Kong and relayed a tape to his New York office, where a CBS newsman telephoned her Thursday and played it.

HAPPY

Mrs. McDaniel said her husband "sounded normal, not as if someone were telling him what to say. I am so happy."

★ ★ ★

She said he indicated he had received mail while in the prison camp and had written to her. However, she added that she never received his letters.

McDaniel was captured in July 1966 after having been in Vietnam about six months.

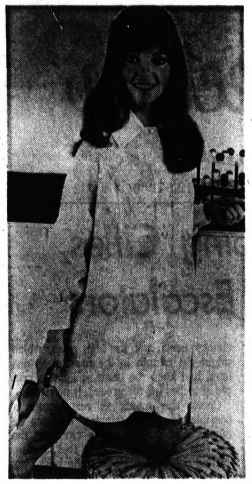
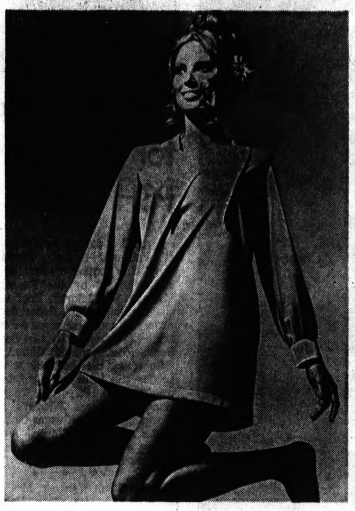
The Long and Short of It: Sleepwear Has Soft Look



Tailored or feminine . . . the sleep shirt is popular with the younger set. At the left, flirty shirting comes to sleepwear in a filmy night shift by Trillium. Eastman Kodel polyester and rayon is the fabric. The coat is cut with shirt tails and has white over-sized collar and cuffs. Straight lace, translated by Formfit Rogers into day's sleep shirt, (right) has contrasting sheer tricot underneath.



An exaggerated Chelsea collar is the feature of Formfit Rogers' trim little sleep shirt in nylon tricot. Comes in navy or bright pink with white cuffs or taupe with pink.

Tricot of "Qiana" nylon, the new DuPont fabric, is fashioned into a flowing hostess culotte with bared halter top by Henson-Knickernick.

Bill Tice designs a beautiful patchwork hostess robe for Royal Robes in a melange of pinks, purples, oranges and greens. This Celanese Acetate shirtdress has floor-length, quilted skirt, and bodice with soft sleeves and tie. In this age of do-your-own-thing, the hostess doesn't hesitate to join her guest for a late night on the town; she is dressed to go public.

Doctor Says: 'Allow Dying to Decide'

BIRMINGHAM, Eng. (WMNS) — "I do not wish to be resuscitated."

In the midst of growing debate about the morality and desirability of sustaining life artificially, a British doctor expresses his own strong view in the British Medical Journal.

The physician, A. Paton, who wrote the same instruction in his diary, suggests that a poll be taken among other doctors to see how they feel about their own resuscitation.

Calling for reconsideration of "the modern epidemic of resuscitation," Dr. Paton believes that each person "of sound mind" should be allowed to decide for himself whether he wishes to be allowed to die. This information could be included in his medical records or carried on his person. As the situation stands now, Dr. Paton says, medical teams feel compelled to try to revive everyone.

* * *

A nurse told the physician that she had found a fool-proof way to transmit the same message. Tattooed across the top of her chest was the message, "Not for . . . ", followed by the telephone number of the cardiac arrest team.

* * *

"When the time comes," Dr. Paton writes, "I wish to die with dignity — and for ever. It's not death that scares me but the immense bother of dying."

Law Thwarts Snowbound Royalty

Women's Wear Daily

Two kings and their queens, a grand duke and several princes and princesses were cut off from the outside world by a heavy snowfall at Ciergnon castle in the wildest part of the Belgian Ardennes.

The royal party — including King Constantine of Greece and Queen Anne Marie, Don Juan Carlos, Crown Prince of Spain and Princess Sophie, Grand Duke Jean of Luxemburg and Grand Duchess Josephine Charlotte, Crown Princess Beatrix of The Netherlands and Prince Claus, Prince Rainier of Monaco and Princess Grace and Prince Charles of Denmark — had been invited by King Baudouin for a deer and wild boar hunt which was to last several days. But a heavy snowfall spoiled the fun.

State Regulates Hamburger Fat

LANSING (UPI) — In Michigan at least, there is a difference between hamburger and ground beef, according to the State Agriculture Department.

The department says hamburger may contain up to 30 per cent fat under Michigan law, anything labeled "ground beef" can have no more than 20 per cent fat.

* * *

Both types of meat must be made from skeletal meat only, with no livers, lungs or hearts allowed. The only additive allowed is monosodium glutamate, the department said.

Make Shoe Bags for Gift-Giving

For something different in handmade Christmas gifts, try easy-to-make shoe bags and pads for women's shoes. Draw and cut out a newspaper pattern large enough to allow for different shoe styles. Using machine-washable printed cotton, cut and stitch the bag on two sides.

* * *

Make a hem at the top and insert washable ribbon for a drawstring closure.

When stitching the matching toe pads, leave a 1-inch opening. Stuff the pads with old nylon stockings, lightly scented with perfume; sew closed.

Familiar Names on 'Best Dressed'

Fred Astaire and Cary Grant, as always, are in the forefront of the well-dressed gents seen on stage, in movies and on television.

George Hamilton is a strong contender and Dick Van Dyke had won fashion recognition before his big success on television and in movies. Add the always-immaculate Alan King and you have at least the start of a good list.

Divest Luggage of Travel Tags

At the end of any airline trip, remove the destination tags attached to all your bags. Leaving them on might be just the cause of their mis-direction on a subsequent trip.

Why Grow Old?

By Josephine Lowman

One of the factors which leads to facial aging is the decreased tone of those muscles. Talking and chewing and laughing are not enough. These elastic bands need special exercises just as the skin requires special lubrication as a woman grows older.

Always apply a lubricating cream before indulging in any facial gymnastics. This keeps the skin soft so that any lines caused by the exercises are only temporary. Today I will give you a few of the best ones I know. If you were a little girl, you would be punished for making faces like this but as a woman you will be richly rewarded.

★ ★ ★

● Sit in front of a mirror. Open your mouth widely and pull your lips back from your teeth. Now purse your lips forward. Continue back and forward. At the same time, chew in a quick choppy manner. Ten times, relax, and ten more.

● Open your mouth halfway. Keep your jaws in this position as you try to bring your lips together. Hold. Relax and repeat. Three times the first day.

● This is an isometric exercise. Put your forefingers in your mouth, one finger against the inside of each cheek. Now press out with the fingers as you pull in with the muscles of your cheeks. Hold the tension for eight seconds. Relax and repeat once.

● Fill your cheeks with air and tap them lightly with your fingertips for a few moments. Rest and repeat.

★ ★ ★

It is important when doing facial exercises to avoid fatigue. Build up gradually. These are truly an important part of any program to delay the appearance of age or to correct any defects in contour due to lax muscles.

Trading Stamps to Purchase Lots of Christmas Gifts

NEW YORK (AP) — More than $200 million worth of merchandise items will be redeemed during this year's Christmas shopping season by the nation's trading stamp companies, William A. Kirby, an industry spokesman, predicts. December redemptions account for 20 per cent of one major stamp firm's annual volume of business.

★ ★ ★

As might be expected, he adds, toys are most popular, with dolls topping the demand. Other fastmoving items during the Yule shopping period are wallets, watches, jewelry and toiletries, electrical appliances, decorative sheets and other soft goods, giftware, sports goods, and leisure time equipment.

TYPE

Geographic location influences the type of Christmas gift merchandise favored by stamp savers, with fishing gear and other water sports and recreation equipment leaders in Florida and Southern California. Camping and fishing needs are in the forefront in the mountain states, while practical New Englanders are inclined to pick gifts for the homemaker, such as small electrical appliances and kitchenware.

Sportscasters Score for Style

It's not wise to try to sort out the best dressed men in sports, for there are so many.

But Doug Sanders and Arnold Palmer have to be considered as standouts in the golfing field; Roman (Rams) Gabriel and Sam (Redskins) Huff on the gridiron; and Frank Gifford, Kyle Rote, Bud Palmer, Jack Whittaker and Chris Schenkel from the sportscasting field.

This distinctively-shaped pocket watch from The Watchmakers of Switzerland by Rolex would make a fabulous gift for a man; an ultra-chic woman would appreciate receiving it too —to carry in her purse or hang from a belt.

Marvel Wrought of Just One Rib

By BETTY CANARY
NEA Writer

In this era of experts and specialists, any man who does more than one thing well is destined to end up on the cover of Time magazine and be hailed as 'Today's Renaissance Man. What about Renaissance Woman? I suppose there aren't any.

★ ★ ★

I don't want to get hung up on that old question of "Where are the masterpieces painted by woman, and how much lasting poetry has she written and show me a great cathedral she has designed and built."

On the other hand, is there any reason for us to get bogged down in a discussion of the many and varied duties of the typical American housewife? I don't know about you but, frankly, I'm more than a little tired of housewives being joyously hailed in unctuously written articles as a "Jill of all trades" with due emphasis being given to her prowess at the wheel of the station wagon on carpool days.

★ ★ ★

Back in the Renaissance, starting with the 14th century, a woman would probably have found our question both unamusing and uninteresting. She, at most, would have clutched her wimple to her throat and said, men are men and women are women and therefore inferior.

JUST SMILE

Today's woman no longer believes she is inferior, but she still does not really expect to paint a masterpiece or build that great cathedral. And watch that Mona Lisa smile she gives when asked when the first woman president will be in office.

Most of them know the secret — that only the person who has and sustains a burning desire toward one goal — without thoughts of husband or children and the distractions of both, can ever achieve this brand of success.

★ ★ ★

Women have already demonstrated their multifaceted talents by managing their homes more capably than any women before them while, at the same time, holding down paying jobs — some of them in the executive category.

And she still finds time to make recordings for the blind or take on duties as a Girl Scout leader.

Working Class Conservative

Occupation, Education Affect Habits

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Nutrition Columnist

Social class has a powerful influence on the life of every human being and how he acts. Between the working class and the middle class the approach to life is different, particulary with children.

Working-class parents value obedience highly and demand it of their young. Middle-class parents, however, stress the importance of self-direction.

★ ★ ★

"In eating habits the code of 'meat and potatoes are good enough for me' is taught the children of working-class parents, while the importance of trying new foods, such as foreign and regional dishes, is part of the middle-class education," according to sociologist Melvin L. Kohn.

He is chief of the Laboratory of Social Environmental Studies at the National Institute of Mental Health, Washington, D.C., and author of a significant new book, "Class and Conformity, A Study in Values."

ULTRA CONSERVATIVE

Interpreting a 15-year study, Dr. Kohn says that the white working class, consisting of both skilled and unskilled Protestants, Irish Catholic, Jewish and Italians, is far more conservative than the middle class.

"The so-called working class has less education. Therefore the worker has to conform more strictly to job requirements to remain employed and to achieve security. Which explains why they teach their children to conform to external standards," he says, adding:

"When their children misbehave, the parents are more likely to react in terms of the immediate and direct consequences of that behavior."

★ ★ ★

He is convinced that oldfashioned morality, "like mother used to make," church attendance and general acceptance of conservative mores is the social pattern of most of the working class. This applies not only to Americans but to people all over the world to a greater or lesser degree.

His three studies were of families of fifth grade children in Washington, D.C.; in Turin, Italy, with Dr. Leonard Pearlin, and of 3,100 men in civilian occupations in the United States with Dr. Carmi Schooler. He also reviewed literature on the subject.

RACE UNIMPORTANT

"Of all aspects of social class, occupational position and education have the most important effect. These two factors are far more important than racial heritage, religion and other circumstances," reports this 41-year-old Ph.D. from Cornell and winner of the Burgess Award of the National Council on Family Relations.

"Education opens greater horizons to a man. Even a single year, such as the difference between the fifth and sixth grade, adds to wider concepts. Nor does it have to be the best education. Even mediocre instruction is better than none," he states.

The degree of education a man has is usually related to the type of work he does. The conditions of his job will affect the way he sees the world and not necessarily the amount of money he earns.

★ ★ ★

"If he is closely supervised, more constricted in using his own imagination or ideas, if the work is monotonous and dulling, then this will narrow his horizons.

"But if his work enables him to think for himself, to exercise self-determination, to progress in harmony with his own ideas applied to his work, then this will enlarge his understanding of life and his children will be taught the importance of self-direction, education and greater leeway, in their manner of living," Kohn asserts.

Every little miss wants to dress up for the holidays. Designs such as these two by Nanette will do the trick for them. Bright red bonded knit A-line dress (left) has white crepe collar and sleeves. It's trimmed with red, white and blue polka dot sash. Vivid print broomstick pleated A-line dress (right) comes with a small broom. After laundering, wrap dress around broom. How to Select Trees Easily Shopping for a Christmas tree always seems exciting. First, you decide where you're going to put the tree and what size it should be.

★ ★ ★

Will a tall, stately fir look good in the living room or should you get a shorter, fuller tree like pine and put it in the family room?

★ ★ ★

Choose the spot carefully, because a Christmas tree shouldn't be near a fireplace, radiator, television set or other source of heat.

Then with the perfect spot picked out and the size of the tree figured, you can decide about the kind of tree you want.

POPULAR TREE

Scotch pine, a fast-growing tree that holds up well through the holiday season, is about the most popular Christmas tree. Most varieties of Scotch pine have bushy branches and long needles (up to 3 inches) like most other pine trees.

Douglas fir, which has short, soft needles that are attached all around the twig, is second on the list of favorites.

Balsam fir has short, rather rounded needles and twigs that grow at right angles to the branches so they look like crosses.

Eastern red-cedar, a relative of the juniper tree, looks graceful and feathery, with its small, scale-like leaves.

SYMMETRICAL

Red or Norway pine, with slender needles 5 to 6 inches long, is the fifth favorite Christmas tree. The symmetrical spruce trees, with their short, rather stiff needles, are also popular in many areas.

Whichever kind of tree you choose, your next decision is probably when to buy it.

★ ★ ★

Specialists with the U.S. Department of Agriculture say your Christmas tree will probably keep fresher longer if you buy it early and keep it in water, even if you don't want to decorate it right away.

Now for the big decision on the Christmas tree lot! Which tree looks best? USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service has developed U.S. grades for Christmas trees, as for most other agricultural products, that describe different levels of quality.

ABSENCE OF DEFECTS

The grades for Christmas trees—U.S. Premium (top quality), U.S. No. 1 and U.S. No. 2—are based on shape, density, freshness and cleanness of the trees and on absence of defects. While the grades are used mainly in wholesale trading, you may sometimes find trees tagged with the U.S. grade.

But if you don't, here are some things to keep in mind when you select your tree:

★ ★ ★

- To be sure it's fresh, rap the base of the tree on the ground. If many needles drop off, the tree is too dry.
- Look over the tree in an open space with good lighting (daylight if possible) so you can check its shape. Consider that the tree has four faces or sides.

STRONG LEADER

You will probably want at least three of the sides to be symmetrical, unless you plan to set up the tree in a corner and you can place two less shapely sides against the walls. Don't forget to look for crooks in the trunk or large bare spaces between branches.

- If you use a star or angel on top of the tree, you'll want to be sure to have a strong single leader at the top.

★ ★ ★

- If you do buy a tree with minor defects, such as a slightly crooked trunk, it should be a little cheaper than the more perfect trees.

When you get the tree home, saw about one-half inch off the bottom so it will absorb water.

KEEP IN WATER

If you buy the tree early, keep it in a bucket of water in a cool, shady place, preferably outside, and saw another half-inch off the butt when you put the tree in a stand. Use a stand that holds water and keep water in the stand all the time the tree is up.

You'll have a tree you'll enjoy throughout the holidays if you choose it carefully and keep it fresh.

An open house Sunday will honor the golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Andress of Elizabeth Lake Road. Son, Jack and his wife, of Orbsby Street, are hosting the event at his parents' home. The couple was married Dec. 25, 1919 in Central Methodist Church.

Stock Can Make Worthwhile Yule Gift

By ANNE TAYLOR

Some people will call me a killjoy but others will agree with me when I say that some of the worst investments of the year are those that appear under the tree on Christmas Day. Quickly broken, they are soon discarded.

Now I don't say that every Christmas gift should be considered as an investment. Sometimes, in fact, the cheapest toy is the one most enjoyed. And perhaps dollar values shouldn't be put on gifts at all.

★ ★ ★

But if you do want to try something different this year, if you want to give gifts that will grow in value and which will involve your children in the workings of the marketplace — and who knows, maybe make of them financial geniuses — give them investments.

These may take many forms. Some parents regularly give their children U.S. Savings Bonds. Others start the children on a savings program by opening a bank account for them. And more and more parents are putting stock in stockings.

The amounts can be minimal, and at the very least your children might be motivated to learn early in life the fundamentals of sound financial planning. Frankly, I think the educational returns are the greatest of all.

SAVINGS BONDS

Buying a single bond is a simple transaction which you can have handled at almost any bank. But if you plan to begin at Christmas a monthly plan of purchases you must consider the tax factors.

In order to defer taxes altogether, you should buy the bonds in the child's name alone or with the parent as beneficiary. This makes the bonds outright gifts.

Since the bonds are in the child's name an income tax return should be filed in the following year, listing the increase in bond value, if any, as income to him. This initial return establishes ownership as the child's.

★ ★ ★

Thereafter no more returns need be filed and no tax will be due if the bond interest and other income totals less than $900 a year. Assuming the child's income never exceeds $900 in a year, the total interest will be tax-free when the bonds are cashed.

STOCKS

Somewhere between 1.5 million and 2 million minors now own stocks in American corporations and, if the past is a criterion, the figure will rise during the Christmas season.

★ ★ ★

Until recent years, it was difficult to give stock to a youngster. Ownership was frozen until the individual reached 21, and even parents found complications in selling stock issued in their child's name.

★ ★ ★

Legislation approved by all 50 states now permits a parent to buy, sell, collect dividends and reinvest stock issued in a child's name, with the only restriction being those of normal prudence.

★ ★ ★

The tax advantages are worth noting. First, any gift up to $3,000 is exempt from the donor's gift tax. For parents, this means they can transfer $6,000 to their children without paying gift taxes.

★ ★ ★

Second, the income from the gift, that is the dividends and capital appreciation, is payable not by the parent but by the child. This means that the first $600 of profit is excluded automatically. And the parent retains the child as an exemption.

★ ★ ★

The transaction is easily completed by walking into the office of a good broker. If he doesn't have the gift card he can obtain it easily. And he generally can have the stock certificate in your hands within days.

Plastic Juice Dispensers Turn Into Decorations

Homemade cookies, candy or fruit cake which contain lime juice are appropriately gift wrapped with empty plastic juice containers. Here are two inexpensive and easy-to-do wraps which carry a lively message of good cheer and hint of pleasures to be found within.

(1) Wire empty plastic juice dispensers to a twig of artificial greens. Attach to package with brightly contrasting ribbons (picture at right).

(2) Follow the diagram below for this more formal gift wrap. Thick loops of cotton yarn in a contrasting color are inserted into the tops of empty juice dispensers along with a cluster of glitter beads. Then the ornaments are tied in a row to metallic silver ribbons with the same cotton yarn.

Study Shows Condition of Long-Lived

WASHINGTON, D.C. (WMNS) — The long-lived may be smarter, richer, happier and more stable than other people, according to studies presented at an International Congress of Gerontology.

Researchers, keeping track for 12 years of men and women in their sixties, have found that those who made it safely into their seventies usually scored significantly higher on intelligence tests that those who died within three years of the study's beginning. Long-term survivors also tended to retain their intellectual vigor, to lead busier lives and to be better educated.

Among the short-lived men, eight out of 10 had had trouble making ends meet. Among the long-lived, only three out of 10 had minimal incomes. Nearly half of the 70-year-olds said they were better off financially than they had been at 55 years of age.

Marriage seems to promote longevity, too, particularly for women. Spinsters, widows and divorcees die markedly sooner than women living with their husbands. Husbands tend to live longer than the unmarried men, but the difference in survival is less striking.

Mrs. Sharon Shepard of Akron, Ohio, smiled for the first time in 39 days after learning that her husband, Sgt. Vernon C. Shepard, 21, had been released by the Vietcong. Shepard was reported missing in action in Vietnam Nov. 2 after his helicopter was shot down. Shepard, who was wounded, and the copter pilot walked into a South Vietnamese outpost near the Cambodian border on Wednesday. Both men were in good condition.

Can Anyone Help?

DEAR POLLY — I do volunteer work with the elderly and handicapped and would appreciate having some art craft ideas for using those nice white caps that come on hair spray, shaving cream, cleaning products, etc. They are much too nice to throw away and surely could be put to some use. — ANITA

★ ★ ★

DEAR POLLY — When we were traveling recently, my husband came up with a very convenient way to keep his favorite tie and suit trousers all together and on the hanger. He had once lost a pair of slacks in a motel because they had slipped off the hanger unnoticed.

He hung his tie over the trousers on the hanger (after we had retrieved them) and pushed his tie tack through the pants and one thickness of the tie just under the hanger rod and secured it with the fastener on the other side. All arrived intact and wrinkle-free. — MRS. H. K. T.

★ ★ ★

DEAR POLLY — Whenever I changed the disposable bag in my vacuum cleaner, I spray some insect killer in it to prevent small insects, such as spiders and ants, that might get sucked up while vacuuming, from breeding before it is time to change the bag. I try to pick a rather pleasant smelling bug spray for this purpose. — GISELA

★ ★ ★

DEAR POLLY — Do tell Helen that it is very easy to knot the end of nylon sewing thread if you put a short length of cotton thread with the nylon, knot both together and then cut away the excess cotton thread. You will have a strong knot made of the combined threads. — LYDIA

Smart Knits for Sleigh Play

By JUDY LOVE
NEA Service

As every school girl knows, a sweater needs a matching cap to succeed. The lesson for us knitters: never knit one without the other.

These two sweaters will pass any fashion test — with matching caps to put them over the top. The ribbed cardigan is great for school and after with a sporty little collar that's warm as well as winsome.

The easy raglan sleeves will always fit comfortably, even over woolens. Its matching tam is richly ribbed and topped with a tassel.

★ ★ ★

The pull-over sweater is knitted for trimness with setin sleeves. The three ribbed panels and longer, to-the-hip styling emphasizes length of line that's important for all fashion ages. The pattern calls for belt loops so your girl can wear a narrow gold chain low on the hip, just like big sister does.

The cap is really snappy headgear with a great soft snowball of a pompon to set it off.

YARN CHOICE

Choosy about yards? Then you're in luck. Each topper and tam can be knitted in any one of six Spinnerin yards from a rich knitting worsted to a no-care yarn that you can wash and dry by machine.

Write for leaflet S183 to obtain knitting instructions for the sweaters in a good size range, 4-12, plus the matching caps. Send 50 cents to Stitchin' Time, care of The Pontiac Press, Radio City Station, Box 503, New York City, N.Y. Include your name, address and zip code.

KNIT KNACKS

Texture is very much in the news today. That's why the designs I'm featuring today have patterns that are literally stand-outs.

Caps are the crowning glory to this year's sweater looks. Knit matching sets for sizes 4-12 in choice of six yarns from worsted to machine-washables.

Public Relations Is Wide Open Career Field for Men and Women

The number of public relations workers in recent years has probably grown at a faster rate than any other management service. In fact, three out of four of the top 300 companies in the country have public relations departments compared with one out of 50 thirty years ago.

New shareholders, new customers, new publics have created an explosive need for communication and the use of more sophisticated communications techniques. To meet this need there are growing employment opportunities in public relations for both men and an increasing number of women.

Public relations has evolved into a many faceted field econompassing both publicity and nonpublicity functions. Qualifications for the field include imagination, verbal skills, extroverted traits, sensitivity to other people, organizing skill, and above all responsible judgment.

Monetary compensation is superior to a number of other fields. The work provides an enjoyable balance between "desk work" and face-to-face contact with others, and promises stimulation and challenge for those who enjoy working with new ideas and coping with novel situations.

Use Silver Often for Best Care

It's the time of the year when you want your home to glow, your table to shine, when friends and relatives gather, when festivities are the order of the days and nights and your silver emerges from hiding.

Out they come: your great Aunt Emma's Sheffield tray, the Paul Revere bowl that was a wedding present, the candlesticks, the chafing dish, the flatware that's been carefully wrapped and put away. And after the holidays it all goes back in hiding.

★ ★ ★

But fine silver need never go underground, says an authority. He's James Thornton of Goddard, here from England, where, among other things, he's a consultant on silver care to the Queen's Household. The Goddard company has been caring for fine silver for 130 years.

"The best way to care for silver is to use it," says Mr. Thornton. "As is true of fine furniture, its luster improves with tender polishing and handling. With proper care, it will last for generations."

USE HELPS

Mr. Thornton feels that people hide their silver away between special occasions because they think it's such a lot of trouble to keep it shining. Oddly enough, he says, it often tarnishes as much or more when it's not in use.

He cautions against wrapping silver in wool, flannel, or newspaper when putting it away. These all contain sulphur, and this causes tarnish. Sulphur is also found in foods such as brussels sprouts and eggs, and it's in the air in homes heated with gas, oil or coal.

It's wise to clean flatware as soon as possible after use. Mr. Thornton recommends first rinsing food particles away in clear water, then washing with a detergent and drying immediately. He does not recommend putting silver in an automatic dishwasher.

★ ★ ★

Happily, says Mr. Thornton, tarnish is no longer much of a problem. Polishes that prevent tarnish, developed within the last decade, make silver as easy to care for as china or stainless steel. "Nowadays it's a one-two-three no-mess operation," Mr. Thornton says.

Apply the polish with a sponge that comes in a separate compartment in the jar, rinse the silver under warm running water, and buff dry with a soft cloth. This gentle polish not only removes tarnish but leaves an invisible shield that keeps the silver tarnish free for months.

Aid for Ironers

Never let a garment hang uncleaned from one season to the next. Drycleaners say that stains will set with age and are difficult, often impossible, to remove. Soil also will attract moths and insects.

Open Rehearsal Set

The Detroit Symphony Orchestra will again offer a unique experience to music lovers when it holds its second open rehearsal of the season, Wednesday in Ford Auditorium at 2 p.m.

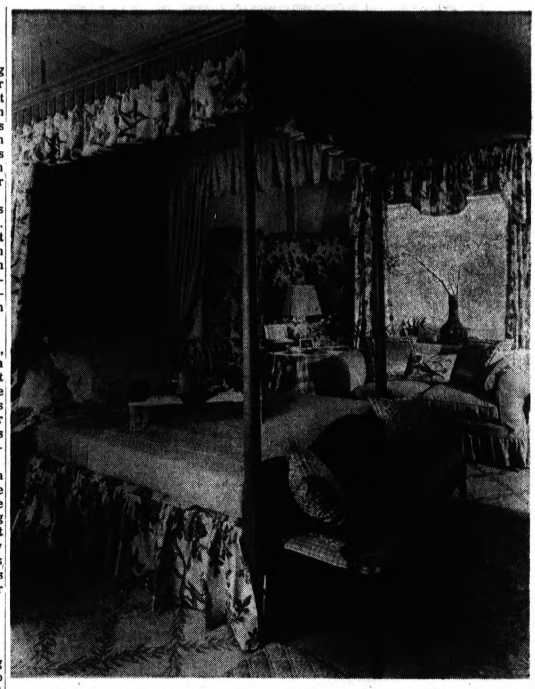
Scottish conductor Alexander Gibson, who is guesting for Sixten Ehrling until Dec. 20, will conduct, and the 15-year-old cellist Lawrence Foster will be the featured artist.

These rehearsals (there are four each year) allow an audience to see the orchestra, conductor and soloist put together an actual performance. A microphone is placed on stage so that the audience can also hear the exchanges between the performers.

Admission to an Open Rehearsal is $1.50, or $1.00 for students in groups through advance arrangements with the Symphony.

Proceeds go to the orchestra musicians' supplemental pension fund.

Come and get them before it's too late. We have a number of patterns on hand for holiday decorations that we'd like to get rid of. They include a felt Christmas tree skirt trimmed with iron-on tape, crocheted tree place cards and some felt ornaments like the ones shown above. You must come in to get these patterns, but they are free. Stop in any time between now and Christmas Eve.



Color, color everywhere is the key to contemporary decorating. This is the bouquet trend, packed to saturation with color, yet with nothing clashing or over-worked. New hues for 1970 are pink coral and goldenrod which are combined in this distinctive bedroom grouping.

Children Get to Heart of Matter

By PAT McCORMACK

NEW YORK (UPI) — Anyone out there still subscribing to the "God is dead" bit just hasn't asked a child.

They not only know that He's alive, but they know where to find Him, what He looks like, what He does and wants.

★ ★ ★

Eric Marshall and Stuart Hample have put the proof between the covers of a new book, "God is a Good Friend to Have," Simon and Schuster.

"They know nothing of His rumored death and decline, of His being the exclusive property of one group over another. Never an abstraction to be invoked merely in time of crisis, He is a constant, concerned companion, hopefully a friend and a powerful addition to their side," they said.

QUESTIONS ASKED

Some of the questions asked the children — and some answers:

- Who is God?

"God is whatever you think He is, but not a girl."

- "God is the only one who never has a birthday because He was the first one."
- "God is who tells you when you have to die and it does not matter how old you are either."

Where do you find God?

- "God is always around when you need help. But only with important things. Not your homework."
- "God is forever because He doesn't have to get elected."
- "God is in school but He lets the teachers run it."
- "God is in your heart and mine, too, I hope."
- How do you know there is a God?
- "Because it says so in the Bible and He wrote it, that's who."
- What does God look like?
- "I can't say for sure what God looks like because I never saw Him, but the police chief knows."
- "God looks like a very smart person but not with glasses."

NOBODY TO PRAY TO

- What do you know about Him?
- "God doesn't have anybody to pray to so He's got to mind everybody else's business."
- What does God do?

★ ★ ★

- "God protects all people even the rotten ones. I guess that's okay but I don't see how."
- "Rainbows are what God does to tell us He still likes us."
- "God is always listening to everything. I bet He wishes He could turn it off sometimes."
- What does God want?
- "God wants you to grow up and make new people for Him to be God of."

One youngster suggested that there must be a cat and dog God, too, because "I don't think they could live without one."

MRS. MAXWELL

A candlelight ceremony at the home of the bride's grandfather, T. Melville Rinehart in Palmer Park, was the setting for the recent wedding of Jane Schaser Cooper and Phillip Barrett Maxwell.

The couple was also honored at a reception in the Palmer Park home following the exchange of vows.

Gowned in velvet with fur trim, the bride carried a bouquet of garden flowers.

Carolyn Cooper was maid of honor for her sister. They are the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. William S. Cooper of Quarton Road, Bloomfield Township.

Best man for the bridegroom was his brother, Peter T. Maxwell. Their parents are Mrs. Phillip H. Maxwell of Birmingham and the late Mr. Maxwell.

Bright Colors 'In' for Shirts

"What's the story on those highly-colored formal shirts I see worn these nights? Is this an acceptable fashion, and are there any shades that are more proper than others?" According to the Men's Fashion Association, it's a fashion trend and a healthy one.

When a man wears a dark tuxedo, such shirts give his ensemble a needed color lift. Thus far, all shades have been acceptable — lights, brights and deeptones.

★ ★ ★

"I was always partial, in the old days of neckband shirts and separate collars, to the white collar — colored shirt style. Do you think they'll ever come back?" They are back in many stores — in the collar-attached styles. And they're mighty smart too.

Make Own Holiday Tree at Little Cost

If you fancy tradition, but are tired of the usual blinking lights, tinsel and ornaments you may want to make your own Christmas tree.

★ ★ ★

An unusual tree can be made with paper doilies and other materials purchased from a variety store at relatively small cost. The framework for the tree is chicken wire and a broom handle anchored in a porcelain container filled with polished stones.

★ ★ ★

The paper doilies are easily inserted in the chicken wire openings, and can be highlighted dramatically by bunches of blue bachelor buttons tied with red and white ribbons or by other types of bouquets or ornaments.

★ ★ ★

Use your imagination!

United-DeSoto, Chicago wall-covering manufacturer, suggests that the doily tree makes an excellent accent for traditional furnishings. Also, it will provide a pleasant contrast from brightly lighted outside decorations, or as a second tree in the library or recreation room.

Briton Rejoins Renowned Irish Theater

DUBLIN (AP) — An urbane Englishman who taught wartime spies to act began work this month in a temple of Irish nationalism. Dublin's renowned Abbey Theater.

North of the border, Lord Hunt, conqueror of Everest, has just reorganized the riot-battered Northern Irish police. Now Prof. Hugh Hunt, his younger brother, becomes artistic director of the Abbey, itself the cockpit of some celebrated riots in the troubled 1920s.

It might seem revolutionary, even dangerous, to put an upper-class Englishman in charge of the Irish Republic's national theater, but it isn't. Hugh Hunt was an Abbey producer for three years before World War II, and founded here his reputation as a theater director and administrator.

* * *

He left in 1939 to go to Broadway. He spent much of the war in London using his theatrical talents to coach intelligence officers. He returns to an Abbey Theater vastly different from the small playhouse destroyed by fire in 1951.

ANNUAL SUBSIDY

The new Abbey, financed by a government raid on funds from unclaimed wills and helped by an annual subsidy, is one of Europe's most modern and most prosperous theaters.

It includes the smaller Peacock Theater, which looks after the Abbey's responsibility for experimental work and plays in the Irish language.

* * *

Hunt's arrival Dec. 1 coincided with the first Abbey appearance of movie star Peter O'Toole in Samuel Beckett's "Waiting for Godot," staged as a tribute to the author's capture of this year's Nobel Prize for literature. Beckett was born in Dublin.

* * *

Alan Simpson, who retires as Abbey director the day before Hunt takes over, gave Dublin its first production of "Godot" in the small Pike Theater 15 years ago. The new production, directed by Sean Cotter, is the first Dublin production of a Beckett work on a major scale.

A FANTASY

Hunt's first major production will be Peter Luke's "Hadrian VII," the fantasy of a man who decides that he is Pope. Cyril decides that he is pope. Cyril Cusack has the lead.

* * *

"The first thing," he says, "will be to place greater emphasis on new Irish plays and to encourage Irish writers, new and established, to write for the Abbey.

"At the same time I hope to widen the Abbey classical repertoire with plays stemming from the Irish tradition."

Hunt was intended by his family for diplomacy but strayed into the theater while at Oxford University. In 1945 he became director of the Old Vic Company set up as an experiment at Bristol, collaborating with the university there.

ROUGH TIME

He was called to the parent Old Vic Company in London in 1949, when it was having a rough time. In just over three years he helped bring Old Vic audiences to 86 per cent capacity.

In 1955 he started six years in Australia with Sydney's Elizabethan Theater Trust. In 1961 he was back setting up Manchester University's department of drama, the first project of its kind in Britain.

Hunt will combine the Manchester and Dublin jobs, commuting the 30-minute plane ride across the Irish Sea.

"Once," he said, "I used to wonder why all the pioneering jobs in the theater seemed to come to me. But the Abbey is a homecoming."

IDEA MEN — Two Pontiac Motor Division electricians receive equal shares of a $10,000 maximum award from F. James McDonald (center), Pontiac's general manager and a General Motors vice president. Philip Cooper (left) and Charlie Cutajar put their heads together on an idea to move sand from a storage area to the foundry's hot-box mixers on a delivery belt. This replaces the former system of blowing sand through pipes.

Idea Nets Pair $10,000 Award

Two electricians in Pontiac Motor Division's foundry department are each $5,000 richer today as the result of their material-and labor-saving idea to improve foundry operations.

Charlie Cutajar and Philip Cooper shared the $10,000 maximum award with their suggestion to install a delivery belt to transfer sand from a storage area to the hot-box mixers in the foundry. This replaces the former system of blowing sand through pipes.

Cutajar, of 6066 Grace K, Waterford Township, plans to use part of his share of the award for a trip to Malta where he was raised. A Pontiac employe since 1954, he has had 117 of 477 ideas adopted for a total of $19,277. He and his wife have one daughter.

Cooper said he will use his money to purchase a new Pontiac. Of the 212 suggestions he has submitted, 55 have been adopted for a total of $8,408. Cooper lives with his wife and three sons at 3709 Lincolnshire, Waterford Township.

'U-M Satellite to End Lunar Talk Blackout'

ANN ARBOR — A satellite which would create a communication link between the earth and astronauts on the far side of the moon has been designed by a group of aerospace engineering students at the University of Michigan.

The 872-pound craft would do away with the 40-minute communication blackout which now gives astronauts and ground controllers the jitters whenever orbiting Apollo spacemen pass behind the moon.

It would also permit manned surface exploration of the moon's backside. Until now only near-side exploration has been possible because communication must be on a line of sight with the earth.

Linus was designed by a team of 16 U-M engineering seniors for an aerospace system design course taught by Prof. Wilbur C. Nelson. The 15-week project ended Wednesday with a formal presentation to representatives from industry and the government.

RESEMBLES PIE PLATE

The satellite looks something like a 10-foot pie plate with two large, rectangular paddles attached.

The pie plate is a parabolic antenna, and the paddles are solar panels which convert sunlight into electrical power for the craft's transmitting and receiving equipment. This equipment is housed in a cylinder 2½ feet deep and 4 feet across located behind the antenna.

From its position on the far side of the moon, Linus could pick up and relay radio messages and Apollo telemetry between the earth and astronauts when the moon itself gets in the way of direct line communications.

The World's Worst Driver

His Heart Kept Him Out of Jail

By ANN PARKER

NEW YORK (AP) — Bar none, the worst driver ever to steer a car was my Great-Uncle Verna.

No one will ever equal his score in dented fenders, busted hydrants, rammed light and telephone poles, and one-way streets navigated in the wrong direction.

★ ★ ★

A remarkable thing, I thought, that he never was arrested.

"Not remarkable at all," said the sage of our small town, "when you know about Verna's special heart condition."

KEPT ON COUNTING

Because I was young and didn't understand, I kept on counting his dented fenders.

My great-uncle, who was past 80 when he picked up a refrigerator and carried it to the house next door, had a theory about driving. Everything, including telephone poles, was supposed to remove itself from the path of his car.

★ ★ ★

Having been around when Ford invented the contraption, he was certain he knew more about them than those "young upstarts" passing traffic laws. Therefore, Verna did what Verna thought best in the matter.

My great-uncle and local officials argued about his driver's license for years. Seeing no use for the thing, Verna told the entire police department—totaling three if you count the mayor—he would not purchase one.

NO JAIL, LICENSE

Authorities informed him, "Either get one or go to jail."

I never knew what happened, but he neither went to jail nor bought the license.

"It's because of Verna's special heart condition," the sage told me.

★ ★ ★

Once when Verna visited a nearby city, an officer stopped him. "Did you know you were driving down a one-way street in the wrong direction?—

Verna answered, "Ho, ho, son. I never drive a car backwards. I always point the front in the direction I want to go."

In our town, people got out of the way of Verna's car. He used to zip around the square as the rest of us ran for cover. He always visited the funeral home each day to hear the latest news.

He would drive over to our house and come "sit a spell on the veranda." Uncle Verna bothered not with coat, tie nor missing shirt buttons. When tired of discussing family history, my great-uncle would discuss his favorite Shakespearean passage, "To be or not to be."

Uncle Verna made several fortunes and gave most of them away. He died neither rich nor poor, just somewhere in between.

One summer day when the sun was low, I fully understood the condition of my great-uncle's heart. He entered our living room wearing no shoes. Verna explained, "I met this fellow walking along the highway. We talked awhile. Now, there was a good man, the type who never seems to get a break. His shoes were coming apart; so I gave him mine."

Now, I am no longer young and know what the sage meant about Verna's "special heart condition", a heart enlarged by unselfish giving. Yes, the town was right. I should have stopped counting Great-Uncle Verna's dented fenders long before I did.

Sex Changes Get Doctors' Praises

LONDON (AP) — A number of doctors attending the First International Symposium on Gender Identity said sex-change surgery improved the life of the patient.

"After the operation they can melt into the world in which they live," said Dr. John Money of Johns Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore, Md.

'Fighting Men Often Believe Murder OK'

ATLANTA (UPI)—A young psychiatrist who spent a year studying fighting men in Vietnam says the American soldier often gets the feeling anything he does is all right—including murder.

The alleged massacre of 109 civilians at Song My has stunned many Americans, but Dr. Peter G. Bourne, former head of the neuropsychiatric section of the Army Medical Research Team in Vietnam, says this is partly because we refuse to admit that "There is a real thrill in killing."

"Most people find this difficult to believe," he said. "They say this couldn't happen to a nice American boy or this couldn't happen to me. But the potential for violence is not far below the surface for most of us. It's not as exceptional a phenomenon as most believe.

"We grow up with a certain value system—not to kill, to treat women and children a certain way. But in a war, our rules say it is all right to shoot men, but not women and children. But it's all right to burn their homes, to herd them off. It is very hard to alter certain values without altering others. Under the stress of combat, the passions of the moment, the old rules don't count."

NUMBER IMPORTANT

Bourne, a 30-year-old native of England who now divides his time between Atlanta's black ghetto and Emory University where he is assistant professor of psychiatry, said the alleged Song My massacre is "quantitatively very different, but qualitatively it wasn't different at all.

"People are upset because one lieutenant is supposed to have killed 109 people. If three GIs kill three Vietnamese civilians, that would go unnoticed. It's the number that makes it important."

* * *

Bourne said the forthcoming court martial at Ft. Benning of Lt. William Calley Jr., accused of murder in the alleged massacre, could have great effect on the future of America's fighting men and must be handled delicately.

"I think the Army will try to show Calley is some kind of an exceptional nut. Why else did they file the new murder charge against him, accusing him of the murder of one civilian when they already had charged him with murdering 109? There probably will be some psychiatric testimony showing it would take an aberrant guy to do the atrocities—not the usual soldier.

"I would guess the Army would lay the blame on him and try to show no one else is responsible. That way they can preserve the existing value system."

Red Wings' Wish

Dear Santa: Goal for Alex

DETROIT (UPI) — Alex Delvecchio only wants one thing for Christmas: A goal.

And he wants it before Christmas, too, if he can get it.

★ ★ ★

The Red Wings' center hasn't put the puck in the net yet this season, which has been 23 too-long games for him.

Delvecchio almost had that first one Thursday night but he was about four inches short so Detroit had to settle for a 2-2 tie with the Minnesota North Stars.

"It'll come," he says with a half-joking, half-serious snap in his voice which belies the grin on his face.

QUICK ANSWER

Early this season it was "Ha! Ha!" funny but now it's "Oh! Oh!" serious to Delvecchio, who gets his answer in motion even before a writer can open his mouth and get the question out.

★ ★ ★

To give you an idea how things are going goal-wise for Delvecchio, his shots this season have been seen to ring off the back-side of the post before coming out.

The puck was sitting just outside the red line in the goal mouth Thursday night — right beside the right post — and all Delvecchio had to do was reach over and tap it in.

Gordie Howe was right beside his linemate and trying to hold off a pair of North Star defenders.

Delvecchio was reaching over, just ready to nudge it in, when "Boivin (Minnesota defenseman Leo) grabbed his arm," Howe said with a sigh of compassion. Gordie is known to have waited an inordinate length of time for a goal himself.

RANGERS LOSE

The only other National Hockey League games played saw Boston shade New York, 2-1, and Philadelphia whip Toronto, 6-3.

★ ★ ★

Nick Libett and Garry Unger scored 4:11 apart in the second period to give the Red Wings their tie after the North Stars had jumped off to a 2-0 lead on goals by Bill Goldsworthy and J. P. Parise.

Goldworthy notched his 14th tally of the season in the opening period and Parise his eighth at 4:14 of the second.

Detroit didn't get a shot on Cesare Maniago in the second 20 minutes of play until 10:52 had gone by, when Pete Stemkowski put a shot on during a Red Wings' power play.

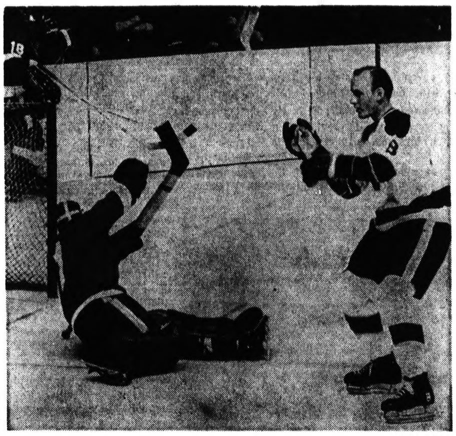
Detroit got another penalty advantage and Unger whipped in his 10th goal of the season on a rebound at 13:10 and at 17:21 Libett added his eighth of the season to put the Red Wings two points up on idle Chicago in their fight for fourth in the East.

MOVING UP

Minnesota crept to within four points of idle first place St. Louis in the West and improved its unbeaten streak to six games. The North Stars are the best of the new clubs against the old with a 5-3-6 mark.

Wayne Carleton scored both Bruins' goals only 36 hours after being swapped from Toronto to Boston as his new club tied Montreal for second in the East, four points back of the Rangers.

Andre LaCroix gathered in a hat trick for the Flyers.



AP Wirephoto

STAR TWINKLES — Minnesota North Star Bill Goldsworthy fires a goal past Detroit Red Wing goalie Roger Crozier in their game last night at the Olympia. Goldsworthy took an assist from left wing Tom Williams on this first period goal and the two teams played to a 2-2 tie. The Wings trailed 2-0 before scoring in the second period. The North Stars have won two and tied four in their last six games.

500 Shooting for 148 Spots in Final Round

By Sunday night about 10:30, the 32 lanes at Firebird Lanes will have weathered the onslaught of more than 500 bowlers who will be participating in the semifinals of the Pontiac Open Bowling Championship.

Squads will begin at 9 a.m. and continue until the last squad takes the lanes at 9 p.m.

★ ★ ★

All bowlers who have hit the target score of 600 or better during qualifying are listed on the semifinal squads.

Bowlers who missed the opportunity to qualify still have the chance to enter the semifinals by bowling in the "late bird" squads Saturday at 4 and 5:30 p.m. at Firebird Lanes.

LATE SHIFT

All bowlers who qualify from these squads will bowl on the 9 p.m. semifinals squad Sunday.

Bowlers entering the semifinals shall register at least 15 minutes prior to their assigned squads and shall pay $2.50 to cover the cost of bowling and scoring.

★ ★ ★

Failure to register for the assigned squad could mean disqualification because all 128 places on each squad have been assigned and there are no available openings until the 9 p.m. semifinals.

Approximately 30 per cent or 148 bowlers, plus ties, will move into the finals already assured of sharing the purse.

Top two totals in the semifinals will be $50 and $25 prizes to be added to their winnings in the finals.

Pistol Pete Pops in 61 for LSU Five

By the Associated Press

He's just a gunner, some say, but there's no denying that Pistol Pete Maravich of Louisiana State has replaced Lew Alcindor as the outstanding attraction in college basketball these days.

The senior 6-foot-5 All-American, who creates excitement whenever he steps onto the court, threw in 61 points to lead LSU over Vanderbilt Thursday night 109-86.

★ ★ ★

This is a record for the Southeastern Conference, but short of Pistol Pete's personal high of 66 which he tallied last season against Tulane.

Pete sank 26 of his 54 field goal tries and converted nine of 10 free throws. In addition to his shooting, dribbling and zip-like passes Pistol Pete demonstrated he is more than just a gunner with 10 rebounds and five assists.

TOP SCORER

The No. 1 collegiate high scorer now has scored 147 points in three games for the unbeaten Bayou Tigers and has a career total of 2,433 as he closes in on Oscar Robertson's all-time collegiate record of 2,973.

★ ★ ★

Pistol Pete plays Saturday against Tulane and before the end of the year will perform against Southern California, Clemson, UCLA where Alcindor starred before his graduation, and in the Rainbow Classic tourney at Honolulu.

★ ★ ★

LSU's first opponent in the Rainbow is the Armed Forces All-Stars, then Pistol Pete will go against the winner of the Iowa vs. St. John's of New York tussle.

Maravich's heroics against Vanderbilt overshadowed the narrow escape from defeat of nationally third-ranked New Mexico State against Brigham Young.

OVERTIME TILT

The Aggies won 80-78 in overtime on two free throws by Chito Reyes with 21 seconds left. A 25-foot jumper by BYU's Steve Kelly with seven seconds on the clock had tied the regulation game at 72-72.

★ ★ ★

Duquesne, No. 7 in the Associated Press poll, wasn't so fortunate. The Dukes lost their second straight on the road as the Iowa Hawkeyes pulled away in the closing minutes for a 98-87 victory. A three-point play by John Johnson gave Iowa the lead for good at 58-57 midway of the second half.

★ ★ ★

Purdue, No. 14, rolled over Idaho State 116-95 even though All-American Rick Mount sat out the game because of a bruised knee.

Colorado, No. 17 and the only other team in the AP Top Twenty to see action, downed Texas Tech 75-56.

Tulsa won the Liberty Bowl Classic tournament by beating Memphis State 82-72 behind 25 points by soph Dana Lewis.

★ ★ ★

Jim McMillian keyed a 17-6 spurt for Columbia in the second half to lead the Lions over Holy Cross 92-68 in New York's Madison Square Garden after Jim Signorile's layup with 21 seconds to go gave NYU a 64-62 triumph over Temple.

PETE POPS ONE — Pistol Pete Maravich of Louisiana State poured in 61 points last night as the Tigers gave Vanderbilt the worst beating in school's history, 109-86 in a Southeast Conference game at Baton Rouge, La.

Lions' Student of Criminology Mends Mistake-Making Foes

It is an ironic coincidence that the player who leads the Lions in taking advantage of somebody else's mistakes is one who holds a college degree in the field of helping mistake-makers mend the error of their ways.

All of which is another way of introducing Dan Goich . . . recoverer of four enemy fumbles . . . member of Detroit's "Unsung Hero Squad" . . . possessor of a degree in criminology from the University of California.

It is not coincidental, however, that the Lions rank second in the league in the art of separating a NFL football from an opposing player and then grabbing it as their own personal property.

FORCE FUMBLES

They have made the other team fumble 23 times. They have recovered 20 of those enemy cough-ups.

That is one of the bigger reasons the Detroiters carry a 7-4-1 record into their final home game of the season this Sunday when they take on the Los Angeles Rams whose only loss was last Sunday's 20-13 defeat by the Minnesota Vikings, the team they meet Dec. 27 for the Western Divisional title.

★ ★ ★

"We've had great play from a flock of guys all season," says Coach Joe Schmidt. "They've all gone out and hit hard. But I can't say enough about the play we've received from men on our special teams. These are guys who seldom get a chance to get in there as one of the regular 22.

But they have been great. Ed Mooney, Phil Odle, Tom Nowatzke, Dan Goich, Wayne Rasmussen . . . all of them. Same thing for Bobby Williams on returns. They've all helped us get field position . . ."

The Lions are shooting for uncontested possession of second place as they near the end of the 1969 road. Their 7-4-1 record puts them ahead of Green Bay's 6-6 mark. One more victory for Detroit would clinch their highest finish in almost a decade. The same result would come if the Packers lost one of their two remaining games with the Bears and Cardinals.

"We should've wrapped it up last Sunday at Baltimore," concedes Schmidt. "They fumbled three times. We recovered all three of 'em. But we made our own mistakes too and they cost us. We came out of it with that 17-17 tie. But none of us was satisfied with it. We want to win. There's not a man on this team who is satisfied with anything less."

Another capacity throng will be on hand Sunday for the 1:20 p.m. kickoff as the Lions challenge the team which edged them 10-7 a year ago in Los Angeles.

Pistons Have Real McCoy in Gunning Big Points

Detroit's McCoy McLemore might not score too often, but at least he knows when to do it.

His only three points of National Basketabll Association Thursday night's game against the Cincinnati Royals came in the final 20 seconds of overtime and allowed the Pistons to squeeze a 119-116 win out of the Royals.

Mainly the Pistons were trying to catch up to Oscar Robertson's 44-point total. Robertson hit 18 of 31 from the field and added eight free throws in hitting his season high.

In other NBA action Thursday night, Seattle dropped New York 112-105 and Chicago downed San Francisco 110-104.

Walt Belelamy stuffed in a dunker for the Pistons with five seconds remaining in regulation time to tie the score at 108. The teams pushed their scores up to a 116-116 tie as Eddie Miles connected with one minute gone in overtime. That's when coach Bill van Breda Kolff put McLemore in and sewed up the game.

Jimmy Walker was high scorer for the Pistons again with 30 points. Miles brought in 27, and Howie Komives added 19.

The game was closely fought all the way, with the lead changing hands 16 times.

The usually bedraggled Seattle SuperSonics stopped the NBA powerhouse New York Knicks 112-105 Thursday night.

"I've been attempting to get our guys to believe in themselves and believe they can do the job," says player coach Lenny Wilkens after the lastplace Sonics ended the Knick's road game winning streak at 13.

"We had a team meeting before the game and I told Bob Rule, Bob Boozer and John Tresvant that we had to play a strong board game, or we'd be out of it," he said.

The front line men obviously took the message to heart as they outrebounded the Knicks 65 to 54. Rule led the way with 14 rebounds.

The clutch moment probably came with two minutes left when Willis Reed, New York's outstanding center, fouled out. The Sonics were ahead 108-103 and the loss of Reed pretty much dampened any New York comeback chance.

Rule, whose 28 points nullified a 27-point performance by New York's Mike Riordan, scored 14 points in the final quarter to pace the Sonics. Tresvant wasn't far behind as he scored 12 of his 17 points in the fourth quarter when the Sonics came out from behind a 79-76

Another Scene Shift in Clay-Frazier Bout

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — That heavyweight title fight between Cassius Clay and Joe Frazier shifted scene again today as Florida promoters battled public opinion and threats of legal action for the distinction of settling a "national question."

★ ★ ★

Promoter Ron Gorton, backing up in the face of strong public reaction, withdrew his plans to hold the fight in Tampa and joined forces with former rodeo star Pete Ashlock to book the Clay-Fazier battle in a domed stadium near Orlando Feb. 17.

★ ★ ★

Still unsettled is the public objection to Clay's conviction for refusal to serve in the armed services, a factor blamed for shifts in site for the proposed match from the Miami area to Tampa and now to Orlando.

Favor Texas AI in NAIA Game

KINGSVILLE, Tex. (UPI)—Host Texas A&I, which has moved the ball at a 422.3-yard clip in compiling a 10-1 record, will be a slight favorite Saturday in the 14th annual National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics NAIA football finals over Concordia.

★ ★ ★

Both teams have won the NAIA championship in the past, Texas A&I in 1959 and Concordia in 1964 when it shared the title with Sam Houston (Tex.) State.

★ ★ ★

The Cobbers from Moorhead, Minn., gained the finals two weeks ago with a 27-0 defeat of Hillsdale that ran their record to 10-0, while the host Javelinas edged then No. 1-ranked New Mexico Highlands, 28-23.

An overflow crowd of around 15,000 was expected by the 1:30 p.m. CST kickoff in Javelina Stadium.

Dark Offered Stock

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Cleveland Indians' principal owner Vernon Stouffer has offered manager Alvin Dark a stock option plan similar to the one Ted Williams received with the Washington Senators, the Cleveland Plain Dealer reported today.

Chance, Tiant Key Men in Indian-Twin Shuffle

MINNEAPOLIS - ST. PAUL (AP) — Dean Chance and Luis Tiant, both former 20-game winners, were the big names in a six-player baseball trade Thursday involving Cleveland and Minnesota.

The deal was the latest in a reshuffling of the Indians, who finished last in the American League's Eastern division in 1969. It was the first big trade of the off-season for the Twins, defending champs in the Western Division.

★ ★ ★

Minnesota receives Tiant and Stan Williams, a 33-year-old right-hander who had a 6-14 season.

In addition to Chance, the Twins gave up outfielder Ted Graig Nettles and a player to be named later.

KEPT TALKING

"We wanted to trade Chance for Tiant even-up," Twins president Calvin Griffith explained from Orlando, Fla., "But Cleveland wouldn't go one-for-one. They wanted Uhlaender and we wanted Williams so we kept talking."

At Cleveland, Indians manager Al Dark said of Chance: "We've got one of the finest pitchers in the business . . . and he's a winner."

Chance, 28, won the Cy Young award in 1964 with the California Angels when he posted a 20-9 record with a 1.65 earned run average.

He had a 20-14 record in 1967, his first year with the Twins, but was hampered by a shoulder injury last season. He pitched only 88 innings and had a 5-4 record.

Tiant, 29, also a right-hander, had an off-year in 1969, too. He lost his first seven decisions and finished with a 9-20 mark, and a 3.71 ERA. He led the league the previous year with a 1.60 ERA and notched a 21-9 record.

But Williams could be the key player for the Twins, according to Griffith. "With Williams we now have a solid 1-2 punch in the bullpen," Griffith said. "We have southpaw Ron Perranski and now Williams."

★ ★ ★

Both Uhlaender, 29, and Nettles, 25, are lefthanded hitters. The Twins have an abundance of southpaw hitters. And Griffith says they are still in the market for a right-handed hitting outfielder.

Uhlaender, who batted .273 with eight homers and 62 runs batted in, lost his center field job to Cesar Tovar and was platooned in left field with Bob Allison.

SHOWED PROMISE

Nettles came up briefly at the end of the 1968 season, slaming five homers in four games. A promising power hitter, he batted only .222 with seven homers and 26 RBIs in 95 games last sekson.

★ ★ ★

The Twins player to be named later to complete the deal will come from Minnesota's 40-player major league roster, according to Griffith.

Dark said the Indians are to continue trading with only pitcher Sam McDowell considered "untouchable."

★ ★ ¾

It was the third off-season trade for the Indians. They previously sent outfielder Jose Cardinal to the St. Louis Cardinals of the National League for outfielder Vada Pinson. Pitchers Horacio Pena and Ron Law and second baseman Dave Nelson were traded to the Washington Senators for pitchers Barry Moore and Dennis Higgins.

PITCHERS SWAPPED — The Minnesota Twins and Cleveland Indians made a four-for-two trade yesterday with pitchers Dean Chance and Luis Tiant as the key figures. Cleveland gave up Tiant and Stan Williams for Chance, Ted Uhlaender, Graig Nettles and player to be named later.

SOCCER TO 'EM—Two DeKalb Youth Association teams are playing a soccer game in Atlanta, Ga., but it is hard to say who is having more fun, the peewee teams on the field or four-year-old Robert Downs with his furry friend on the sidelines.

point performance by New York's Mike Riordan, scored 14 points in the final quarter to pace the Sonics. Tresvant wasn't far behind as he scored 12 of his 17 points in the fourth quarter when the Sonics came out from behind a 79-76 deficit.

In the American Basketball Association, Indiana whipped Kentucky 115-96, Washington pounded Denver 126-113 and Miami beat the New York Nets 133-126.

Clem Haskins scored eight points in the final four minutes as Chicago held off a late San Francisco drive and widened their second-place lead over the Warriors in the Western Division to 1½ games. The victory also moved the Bulls to within three games of Atlanta, the division leader.

The Bulls led all the way and Chet Walker's 17 points helped them take a 53-44 margin at halftime. Chicago still led 83-72 after three periods but Nate Thurmond of San Francisco sank nine points in the stretch to narrow the gap.

Toledo Top Defensive Grid Team

NEW YORK (AP) — Toledo, Louisiana State, Dayton and Arkansas are the defensive champions of collegiate football according to statistics released today by National Collegiate Sports Services.

★ ★ ★

Toledo led the nation in total defense with 209.1 yards allowed per game, winning one of the tightest races in that category in major college history. Nine teams were separated by 21.7 yards.

★ ★ ★

Louisiana State won the rushing defense crown, allowing just 38.9 yards per game along the ground. That's the second best figure in that department in the last 22 years, topped only by Syracuse's 19.3 in 1959.

★ ★ ★

Dayton allowed only 90 yards per game on passes to take that department with six other teams all giving up less yardage through the air than Kent State's 107.6 which was good enough to win that title last year.

Cardinals Get Turf

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Baseball fans at Busch Memorial Stadium will watch the St. Louis Cardinals play on the synthetic grass Astroturf next season. A spokesman said Thursday the $750,000 cost will be shared with the football Cardinals.

Pacers Start Fast to Beat ABA Colonels

The Indiana Pacers jumped to an early lead and never looked back at the Kentucky Colonels. They didn't have to because the listless Colonels provided little excitement in the 115-96 Pacer victory in the American Basketball Association Thursday night.

★ ★ ★

The victory increased the Pacers' lead over the Colonels to 3½ games in the Eastern Division.

In other ABA games, Washington beat Denver 126-113 and Miami defeated the New York Nets 133-126.

Three Indiana players scored more than 20 points—Mel Daniels had 25, Fred Lewis 24 and John Barnhill 2.

★ ★ ★

Washington moved to 4½ games of New Orleans in the Western Division and spoled the coaching debut of Denver's Joe Belmont, who took over John McLendon was fired Tuesday.

★ ★ ★

Brown paced the Caps with 23 points while Denver's Larry Jones led all scorers with 30.

Don Freeman pumped in a season high 43 points for Miami against the Nets.

Beliveau Breaks Ankle

MONTREAL (UPI) — Montreal Canadiens forward Jean Beliveau suffered a slight crack in his right ankle bone against Minnesota last Saturday night and will be sidelined for two or three weeks, the team announced Thursday.

Bergey Named Best Rookie

NEW YORK (AP) — Bill Bergey, Cincinnati's agressive middle linebacker, was selected today as the American Football League's Defensive Rookie of the Year, giving the young Bengals a sweep of 1969 freshman honors.

Bergey, a 240-pound bruiser from little Arkansas State, beat out three other first-year standouts in a close balloting race, and followed teammate Greg Cook into The Associated Press awards circle. Cook, the Bengals' gifted quarterback, was named the league's top offensive rookie Thursday.

★ ★ ★

A panel of sports writers and sportscasters—three from each AFL city—gave Bergey 10 votes, to seven apiece for Kansas City cornerback Jim Marsalis and Miami end Bill Stanfill, and six for Denver cornerback Bill Thompson.

★ ★ ★

Cincinnati had captured still another individual prize when Paul Brown was voted Coach of the Year in the annual AP poll.

Permit Sale Near

LANSING (AP) — Michigan's annual state park vehicle entrance permits for 1970 will go on sale Monday at all state parks which require them. The season permits cost $3 for resident and $5 for nonresidents of Michigan, the same as last year.

Big 10 Feels Pinch; Seeks Money Help

CHICAGO (AP)—There are growing signs that the Big Ten is feeling a financial pinch more and more.

If it keeps growing, students might be hit with an athletic tax. Or there may be some dipping into the high priority institutional funds. Or state legislatures may have to divert money into the sports pot of their state universities.

★ ★ ★

All of these are happening. Students are taxed at Northern Illinois University to help defray athletic department expenses.

Harvard, reportedly with about a $3 million athletic budget and about a half million income, requires institutional transfusions.

The Wisconsin state legislature has authorized waiving tuition of 70 athletes a year whose grants-in-aid normally would be paid by the University of Wisconsin.

SERIOUS BUSINESS

"Economics are getting so serious that they are becoming a governing discipline," says Big Ten Commissioner Bill Reed.

"But the point has not yet reached the crisis state. A crisis is when you go in the red and have no reserves.

"If help is needed from institutional funds—which are used for administrative needs such as teachers' salaries—it would be precedent-setting in the Big Ten, where football traditionally has carried the financial load for the entire program.

★ ★ ★

"Grants-in-aid alone have risen from a $250,000 annual average per school to $350,000 in the last five years. And you can't try to offset some of the spiraling costs by raising football ticket prices. They average about $6 now and that is about the saturation point."

The question of economics arose during the Big Ten winter meetings which end today. Athletic directors have been engaged in a survey of non-revenue sports—cross country, fencing, gymnastics, swimming, wrestling, indoor and outdoor track, baseball, golf and tennis.

There is such a financial squeeze, there were some thoughts of dropping some of these sports.

Holiday Cage Tourney Slated

Auburn Hills to Host Play at OU

Three days of junior college tournament basketball is on the holiday schedule and the Nikes of Oakland-Auburn Hills will be playing the role of host.

It's the Auburn Hills Classic, an event slated for Dec. 22, 26 and 27 at Oakland University. Oakland Community College athletic director Pin Ryan and Oakland University basketball coach Gene Boldon are directors for the tournament.

★ ★ ★

On hand for the event will be Auburn Hills, Oakland-Highland Lakes, Oakland-Orchard Ridge, Highland Park, Muskegon, Dearborn Henry Ford, Battle Creek Kellogg and Livonia Schoolcraft.

There'll be four games each day. First-round action will find Auburn Hills meeting Kellogg at 2 p.m.; Highland Park and Muskegon battle at 4 p.m.; Highland Lakes and Henry Ford go at it at 6 p.m.; and Orchard Ridge and Schoolcraft tangle in the 8 p.m. nightcap.

★ ★ ★

Winners move into one bracket and losers into another for the second round Dec. 26. Consolation game in the winners' bracket is 6 p.m. Dec. 27 and the championship game at 8 p.m.

Raiders, Chiefs Fight for Title

OAKLAND (AP) — The Oakland Raiders and the Kansas City Chiefs battle for two things here Saturday: the American Football League's Western Division championship and an all but clear path to the league's title game.

The loser gets second place and trouble.

The Raiders, at 11-1-1, and the Chiefs, 11-2, have by far the best records in the AFL, and because of an unusual playoff system in effect this year both clubs remain in contention for the title game no matter what happens here.

The winner will play the lackluster Houston Oilers, 5-6-2, at home for the right to play in the AFL championship while the second-place team has to beat the world champion Jets in New York for that privilege.

And if all this isn't enough incentive, there is a likely bonus for the winner. The Western champion, if he survives the playoff game with the Oilers, will be the host for the title game Jan. 4.

The Oakland-Kansas City rivalry has developed into one of the most ferocious in the league. After they split their regular-season encounters last season, the Raiders humiliated the Chiefs 41-6 in a divisional playoff game.

FIVE THEFTS

In their only meeting this season, the Raiders intercepted five of Len Dawson's passes and recovered two fumbles in beating the Chiefs 27-24 in Kansas City. The Chiefs must win this one to take the title. A tie would give it to Oakland by one-half game.

The Raiders, led by quarterback Daryle Lamonica, have the most explosive offense in the league. They have gained more yards and scored more points than any other team. The Chiefs, however, have the stingiest defense in terms of both scoring and yardage.

★ ★ ★

Lamonica, the AFL's Most Valuable Player, threw three touchdown passes last week and had six in one game this year. He has a season total of 33, just three short of the pro record shared by teammate George Blanda and Y.A. Tittle. This is his last chance to tie or break the mark.

The Raiders have won the Western Division championship the last two years and are 36-4-1 in their last three regular seasons. They have won 11 straight and 21 of their last 22 at home.

Weather may be a factor—it rained hard in the Bay Area late in the week and a storm front of gale force is expected over the weekend.

★ ★ ★

If the storm does materialize during the game, the Chiefs might have the edge. Their ground game has been the most effective in the league during the season with Mike Garrett, Robert Holmes and Warren McVea all running for good yardage.

★ ★ ★

The Raiders, though, gained a club record 309 yards on the ground last week against Cincinnati with Pete Banaszak, Charlie Smith and Hewritt Dixon all performing well.

★ ★ ★

Jan Stenerud, who last week kicked five field goals for the Chiefs, now has 16 in a row, a pro record.

Big 10 Gets Confab Going on Finances

CHICAGO (AP) — The Big Ten turned attention to finances and non-revenue sports at its business meetings Thursday and put off re-examination of the controversial no-repeat Rose Bowl rule.

The sessions are expected to end Friday and the no-repeat matter probably will be delayed.

"It is my personal impression," said Commissioner Bill Reed, "that the general feeling now is to let the no-repeat matter rest a little longer.. It may come up in March. We are not under the gun on it."

Athletic directors tabled proposals to reduce the present quotas of aid tenders for non-revenue sports-cross country, fencing, gymnastics, swimming, wrestling, indoor and outdoor track, baseball, golf and tennis.

Perry, Conn's Gain City Cage Wins

Perry Drugs won its second city recreation basketball game last night by defeating Hayes Jones Center in a close verdict, 66-65 with four players hitting in double figures.

★ ★ ★

James Ishman had 15 for the winners and Bill Morgan 19 for the losers.

★ ★ ★

In another game, Conn's also won No. 2 by defeating Local 596 easily, 71-55 as Rich Travis hit for 14 and Willie Peck had 17 for the losers.

Poor Foul Shooting Hurts Roeper Five

Bloomfield Hills Roeper's Roughriders had a rough time at the free throw line and lost a 58-54 basketball game to Sacred Heart Wednesday.

Roeper players made only 10 of 23 charity tosses and missed the first of four bonus attempts in the fourth quarter.

OLSM Seeking Sixth Straight

The Eaglets of Orchard Lake St. Mary take their youth and inexperience to Royal Oak St. Mary in tonight's Northwest Catholic headliner as the league-leaders from Orchard Lake try to make it six in a row.

The Eaglets, alone atop the loop standings at 5-0, will have one eye on Farmington, where Our Lady of Sorrows entertains pre-season favorite Ferndale St. James in a fight for second place.

Both clubs are 4-1 and both have lost to the surprising Eaglets this season.

★ ★ ★

Other league action tonight finds St. Florian (2-3) at St. Rita (2-3) and Utica St. Lawrence (0-5) at Waterford Our Lady of Lakes (2-3).

OLSM will count heavily on the ball-handling ability of senior captain Mickey Krogulecki, the rebounding of six-foot senior Rick Trzcinski and the shooting of sophomore Walt Sakowski and freshman Mike Paciorek.

HIGHLY RATED

Paciorek, a 6-2 center, is rated highly by coach Fr. John Rakoczy and has figured prominently in the Eaglets' success this season.

His 20-point performance was a key factor in the Eaglets' 71-58 upset over St. James in the season opener. Krogulecki had 26 in the same victory.

A win tonight would put the Eaglets clearly in the league driver's seat just one game short of the halfway mark.

FOLS will be hoping for 6-3 senior Mike Hart to come through in its bid to stay within one game of the league lead — or perhaps gain a share of it if the Eaglets lose.

Hart averaged 14 points per game last season but has been in foul trouble several times this year and has had difficulty getting started.

WOLL needs a win over St. Lawrence tonight to stay within striking distance of the top.

Colorado Picked by One in Liberty Bowl Game

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Colorado matches its awesome ground game, led by All-American tailback Bob Anderson, with Alabama's dangerous passing attack Saturday in the 11th annual Liberty Bowl football game.

The Buffaloes, 7-3, are one-point favorites to hand Alabama Coach Paul "Bear" Bryant his third consecutive bowl defeat. The kickoff is set for 1:20 p.m. EST before a sellout crowd of 51,000 and a nationwide television audience.

The Crimson Tide posted a 6-4 regular season record, finishing in the second division of the Southeastern Conference. It was the worst season for Alabama since 1958, Bryant's first as head coach at his alma mater.

Saturday's date marks the 23rd bowl appearance for Alabama, most of any team in the nation. The Tide has a 12-8-2 bowl record after losing 20-16 to Texas A&M in the Cotton Bowl two years ago and 35-10 to Missouri in last year's Gator Bowl.

"We ordinarily think of a bowl game as a reward for a good job, but at Memphis there will be honor and pride at stake and we are going to try and do something about it," Bryant said. "These seniors are entitled to more than they got from me this year."

Anderson, a 208-pound senior, ran for 954 yards and scored 19 touchdowns for the Buffs, who handed Orange Bowl-bound Missouri its only defeat, 31-24. Colorado's losses came at the hands of Oklahoma, Nebraska and Penn State.

Nikes Lose Blach in NJCAA Ruling

The Nikes of Oakland-Auburn Hills will be minus one of their big weapons when they entertain Oakland-Highland Lakes this evening at Oakland University.

* * *

Missing from the lineup will be 6-5 center Tom Blach, who was ruled ineligible yesterday by the National Junior College Athletic Association.

* * *

And with that ruling went a couple of impressive victories by the Nikes. They had beaten Dearborn Henry Ford and upset University Center Delta they will forfeit those two games now.

* * *

The ineligibility stemmed from Blach's term in college at Wayne, Neb., last spring. Rules require a player to take 10 credit hours. Blach had taken only eight credit hours, and it was inadvertently overlooked in the transfer to Auburn Hills.

TALL FOE

The Nikes are still a formidable foe without Blach, but they're likely to miss his height in going against Highland Lakes (2-2) which is led by 6-8 Dan Rachael.

* * *

The other OCC team — Orchard Ridge — is also in action, at home against St. Clair. The Raiders, under new coach Tom McPhillips, are 2-1, losing only to powerful Flint Community College.

NO. 1 HE SAYS — Bill Toomey, 30-year-old schoolteacher from Santa Barbara, Calif., crosses the finish line in the 1,500 meter run and signals with his finger that he is No. 1 after breaking the world decathlon mark yesterday. Toomey rolled up 8,417 points and he knew it when he came to the finish line. The old mark of 8,319 points was held by Kurt Bendlin of West Germany, set in 1967.

After Nine Tries

Toomey Eclipses Decathlon Record

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Schoolteacher Bill Toomey could bask in acclaim today from the world, his students and—not the least—his fiance after he had finally become the world champion decathlon performer.

Toomey, who's 30 years old and a teacher of English at a two-year college, broke the world decathlon mark Thursday with 8,417 points, an amazing 98 points higher than the record of West Germany's Kurt Bendlin that had held up for two years.

* * *

The decathlon consists of 10 rugged track and field events, against himself to achieve points in internationally set standards and marks for each event. A decathlon performer is considered an "athlete's athlete."

Toomey had tried nine times earlier this year to break the world record. He said he had everything going for him Thursday—a good wind, pleasant temperatures in the high 60s and the encouragement of a key fan, his fiance Mary Rand of England, who's a former world record holder and Olympic gold medalist in the long jump herself.

RIGHT WIND

"The wind was blowing just right at the right times," the soft-spoken English teacher remarked. Then he said that in view of his participation in 35 decathlons over the years, which gained him an Olympic title and the American record previously, he would retire from outdoor decathlon competition and rest for awhile.

The 6-foot-1, 195-pound athlete who teaches at Santa Barbara City College 100 miles up the coast from Los Angeles, set his world mark in the Southern Pacific AAU decathlon at UCLA.

He rolled up 4,448 points in Wednesday's five events and racked up 3,969 on Thursday.

"I knew I had the record after the pole vault," he said. "But I wasn't about to relax. There are too many young guys coming up."

"And I wanted to set the record as high as I could—beyond their reach — at least for a while." He didn't mention any names but said he thought Europeans, rather than Americans, would pose the biggest challenge to his title mark.

Toomey is a native of New Hampshire and a graduate of the University of Colorado. He received his master's degree from Stanford University.

* * *

In Thursday's five events, Toomey ran the 110-meter high hurdles in 14.3 for 926 points, sailed the discus 152-6 for 809, pole vaulted 14-0¼—his all-time best—for 876; hurled the javelin 215-8 for 830 and ran the 1500 meters in 4:39.4 for 528.

Kirk Paces Hillsdale

HILLSDALE (AP) — John Kirk scored 24 points to lead Hillsdale College to an 86-72 basketball victory over Northwood Institute Thursday night. Hillsdale led 37-34 at halftime.

Bantam Title Goes on Line in LA Tonight

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Knockout sensation Ruben Olivares puts his world bantamweight crown on the line tonight and is a solid favorite to retain it in a 15-round fight with Alan Rudkin, the British Empire championship Liver pool, England.

* * *

Unbeaten in 53 matches and winner of 51 of them by knockouts, the 21-year-old titleholder from Mexico City figures to be a 3-1 choice over Rudkin, 28, a veteran of 52 bouts.

* * *

The site is the Forum in suburban Inlgewood in the same ring where Olivares crushed Lionel Rose of Australia in five rounds Aug. 22 to win the 118-pound division crown.

Promoter George Parnassus expects a turnout of 15,000 and gate receipts of $175,000, $75,000 of which goes to Olivares and $20,000 to the challenger.

FIRST DEFENSE

This will be Ruben's first defense of the championship, and Rudkin's third attempt to win the title. The young man from Liverpool, who has never been knocked off his feet, lost in 15-round decisions to former champions, Fighting Harada in Tokyo in 1965 and earlier this year to Rose in Melbourne.

Rudkin has a 37-5-0 record, which includes 13 knockout victories. He was stopped once on an eye cut in 1962 in only his second professional fight.

BOWLING

Bruce Brakel had quite a day during action in the Airway Mixed Unblobs league. The 127-average bowler rolled a string of nine straight strikes to come up with a 273 game which helped him to a 562 series.

Twelve-year-old Randy Shenberger, bowling on the only youth team in the Donelson Baptist Mixed league at Montcalm, topped the league's scorers with a 208 game.

* * *

Firebird Classic bowlers were busy coming up with 21 series of 600 or better and 83 games over the 200 mark. Hartford Roofing set a new team high for one game with an 1145 total.

Jerry Dunkel turned in the best single game with a 276, followed closely by Brakel. Dunkel rolls in the Maple Masters along with Ed Lovell and Walt Stoddard, who carded 269 and 258, respectively, while Firebird Classic bowler Bill Stobart rolled a 265.

TOP SERIES

Dwight Sherman's 694 was the top series in the area. He rolled the set in the Westside Classic.

Joe Bonfiglio of Firebird's Classic circuit had a 690 for second spot, followed by Dunkel's 682 and Westside Classic bowler Dale Remley's 679. One pin back of Remley was Larry Dudas of Maple Masters.

Firebird Ladies Classic keglers topped the women's games and series as Ella Irwin hit a 258 game and 606 total for the best in both departments. Marbara Childress (236-599) was right behind.

DON CARTER'S BOWLING TIPS

THE FENCE—The formula for converting the 1-2-4-7 fence is simple: Move your starting position about three boards (inches) to the right and roll the ball over your usual strike target. In effect, you'll be shooting for a "Brooklyn" strike, and the ball will reduce this fence to a pile of lumber.

The chief danger is letting the ball hook too far to the left, missing the headpin.

Heavyweights Meet Tonight

NEW YORK (AP) — Jerry Quarry and George Chuvalo, two tough heavyweights with 67 knockouts between them, do battle tonight at Madison Square Garden in a 10-round matly in hopes of getting a third shot at the title.

Both Quarry, 24, and Chuvalo, 32, have been beaten twice in fights for various versions of the world championship. However, Quarry still ranks No. 4 in the division in which Cassius Clay, Joe Frazier and Jimmy Ellis hold claims to the title in some areas.

Van Gogh, Cezanne, and Manet poured their hearts into their work.
We poured our Bourbon into it.
Paintings are beautiful enough when they're hanging on a wall. But we think they're even more beautiful when they're hanging on a bottle of Beam's Choice Bourbon.
We make our Bourbon from a recipe that's 174 years old. Then we age it for eight years and charcoal filter it after that. The result is a masterpiece in its own right.
And as if that weren't reason enough to buy this special holiday bottle of Beam's Choice, the price is. It isn't anymore expensive than our regular year-round bottle.
The Beam's Choice Collector's Edition is a perfect gift to give a friend who wouldn't mind taking in a little culture with his Bourbon.

Meadow Brook Theatre Review

'Pygmalion' a Delightful Holiday Treat

By DON BRAUNAGEL

Meadow Brook Theatre always seems to come up with a good comedy for the holiday season. This year it's a thoroughly delightful "Pygmalion."

BRAUNAGEL

A near-flawless cast last night brought to vivid life George Bernard Shaw's charming classic about the phonetics teacher who turns a ragged flower girl into a lady.

* * *

And the brightest stars in the firmament were Jeremy Rowe as the mentor, Henry Higgins, and Karin Fernald as his pupil, Eliza Doolittle.

Rowe is wonderful as the dominating, unconventional Higgins. His tones are so pear-shaped they have stems on them, and his deft footwork is so artful it looks choreographed.

RIGHT ACCENT

The role of Eliza, with its sow's-ear-to-silk-purse range, is choice, and Miss Fernald added the flavor to treat the audience. Naturally, she provides the right accent — from a near-incomprehensible Cockney to a veddy proper Oxford.

In the great scene where the new Eliza is unveiled to society, Miss Fernald was comically perfect as she enunciated her ladylike small talk: her aunt supposedly died of influenza, but Eliza thinks "they done her in."

* * *

Leslie Yeo scored an impressive Meadow Brook debut as Eliza's father, Alfred. A lovable rascal, Alfred goes about philosophizing against the middle class as the bane of the poor:

"They tell me I'm undeserving. Middle-class morality is just an excuse not to give me anything."

A TRUE GENTLEMAN

As Col. Pickering, Higgins' partner in the Eliza experiment, Colin Pinney was the personification of the British gentleman, well-mannered, genteel and able to express emotion with his eyebrows.

Two others deserve note: Barbara Bryne as Henry's mother, apparently the only woman able to rein him in, and Elisabeth Orion, who handles two roles. She's Henry's capable maid and a society woman perplexed by Eliza.

* * *

All this fine acting shows well for the fluid direction of Ellen Pollock, who was a friend of Shaw. She has put her Shavian expertise to good use in this production and has added a modern touch: stereo sound effects, including dialogue, during scene changes.

It was fun to hear Eliza get into a taxi on our left, drive around the back of the theater, and get out on the other side of the stage.

NO ROMANCE

If you think of "Pygmalion" as its musical version, "My Fair Lady," don't. For one thing, Eliza and Henry don't have a romance. And, most importantly, Shaw's satire is more apparent in "Pygmalion."

Numerous lines and incidents show Shaw's contempt for class distinctions:

- After Henry has finished telling Eliza precisely what she should do to become refined, his maid lectures him on how to behave.

* * *

- Alfred Doolittle's whole character is a spoof of class differences.
- And Henry, a truly Shavian hero, brags of treating duchesses like flower girls and says heaven is a place where people talk to each other without worrying about class.

* * *

"Pygmalion" will be at Meadow Brook until Jan. 4, then at the Detroit Institute of Arts for a week. If you see it, you won't even miss that excellent "My Fair Lady" score.

Pontiac Press Photo

'PYGMALION' — Eliza Doolittle (Karin Fernald) vehemently expresses her displeasure with Henry Higgins (Jeremy Rowe) and his observations about her dialect in "Pygmalion," which opened last night at the Meadow Brook Theatre at Oakland University.

Harvard Suspends 40 in Sit-In CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Forty Negro students have been suspended by Harvard University after a brief sit-in at the administration building that was ended by a court injunction.

Nearly 100 blacks filed out of University Hall without incident Thursday, promising to "continue to build pressure at all levels" to attain their goal of at least 20 per cent Negro employment on all Harvard construction. Harvard has rejected the demand.

* * *

A spokesman for the demonstrators announced to about 400 persons outside the administration building that they thought it would be "counter productive" to defy the court order.

Harvard has an enrollment of slightly more than 15,000. The university says it has no figures on how many of these are Negro.

SIT-IN BARRED

The injunction, issued in Middlesex County Superior Court by Judge Thomas J. Spring, barred the students from continuing their sit-in or engaging in further disruptive demonstrations.

More than 100 blacks had forced their way into the administration building about noon by battering down a door. They were out by 5 p.m.

* * *

Harvard said it rejected the demand that Negroes make up at least 20 per cent of construction crews because it was not justified.

A university statement said census figures show that blacks make up 9.3 per cent of the population of Cambridge and Boston.

Apollo 12 Crew Is Cast in a Fund-Raising Role

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — After years of guarding against the use of its astronauts as fund raisers, the space agency is letting the Apollo 12 moon crew and a number of colleagues take part in a money-raising dinner for the Jewish National Fund Sunday.

The dinner is a $100-a-plate affair widely heralded as honoring Apollo 12 astronauts Charles Conrad Jr., Alan L. Bean, and Richard F. Gordon Jr. and the other U.S. astronauts.

Supporters include Texas Gov. Preston Smith, former Texas Gov. John Connally, Houston Mayor Louis Welch, two U.S. senators, six congressmen and other Texas officials.

Television's Johnny Carson is scheduled to be the master of ceremonies.

The Manned Spacecraft Center said the astronauts were invited individually and that an official of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration distributed the invitations to them before he knew it was a fund-raising affair.

* * *

Money raised will go to the Jewish National Fund for planting trees in Israel. About 1,400 persons are expected to attend.

The fund's executive director, Lennie Weingrad, said the space agency had stipulated that no television coverage would be permitted.

The Gourmet Adventures of Jaysons
No matter how rushed Britons are in the morning, they always spare a few moments for the last delicious morning mouthful of toast and marmalade. And sometimes, they even wonder how did it come to be saddled with such a tongue-twisting name. One authentic theory is that the word came from the Portuguese marmelo — quince — from the Latin melimelum, which in turn derives from the two Greek words, meli — meaning honey and melon — meaning apple. The original preserve, in fact, was made from quince with the addition of honey or sweet wine, and the name remained even when the contents changed to oranges. In this age of packaged food, marmalade is the one preserve that many British housewives still make at home. Leslie Uggams Wonders Why Show Got the Ax

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "Why me?" asked Leslie Uggams, whose variety show vanishes from CBS after next Sunday's show.

Others have asked the same question, including Whitney Young, executive director of the National Urban League, who expressed concern over "an unusually abrupt cancellation."

★ ★ ★

The axing of the Uggams show has also raised some questions in the TV trade, especially since it has been making a better showing in recent ratings.

"Why did they give us the chance and then pull the rug out from under us?" Miss Uggams remarked. "We weren't even there long enough to prove that the show could work. After the second show, we started hearing that we might be going off the air. It began appearing in the columns and the trade papers; somebody must have been telling somebody that we were to be replaced.

NOBODY TOLD HER

"But nobody ever told me. The first thing I knew about it was when I visited my dentist's office one day. I picked up the trade papers and read the 'The Leslie Uggams Show' and 'The Good Guys' had been dropped by CBS."

THOMAS

The trade knew that CBS was having trouble with Sunday night. A new series, "To Rome With Love," had failed to generate interest, Ed Sullivan was drawing his worst ratings in years, and "Mission: Impossible" was losing to the opposition after two successful years.

★ ★ ★

"How can they blame Ed Sullivan's trouble on our show? We follow him," argued Miss Uggams. "One week we had a higher rating than he did. And it isn't our fault that "Mission: Impossible' isn't getting a rating; it's because Martin Landau and Barbara Bain dropped out of the series."

The singer admitted the hazard of the Sunday at 9 spot, into which she was thrust after CBS fired the Smothers Brothers.

HARD STARTING

"It's hard for a new show to catch on against shows that have become a habit," she observed. "We were fighting Bonanza,' which had been a fixture for years, and the ABC movies, which were blockbusters early in the season.

"It's also hard for a new show to develop its own style and format. We started late, and many of the guest stars we wanted were already signed by other variety shows. But I think we were growing, and the people who watched the show liked it.

"This was the first time that a Negro hostess had headed a variety show, and I think it was working. At least I read that there were fewer hate letters for our show than for the others involving Negroes. We were proving that if the audience enjoyed a person, the color of the skin didn't matter."

CBS decided to cancel "The Leslie Uggams Show" after 10 shows, paying off the cast for the five others that had been contracted for. "The Glen Campbell Goodtime Hour" is being moved to Sunday, and its place will be taken by "Hee Haw."

★ ★ ★

"Imagine being replaced by a hillbilly show!" Miss Uggams sighed. "That's the worst part of all."

Vietnam Strategy

Stop or We Pull Out

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sometime before Christmas, President Nixon is expected to announce further escalation of the American troop withdrawal from Vietnam.

WEST

This impending move raised certain questions in my mind. So I contacted my military adviser, Commodore Ulysses S. Staggerdrink (ret.), for clarification.

I said, "What in your opinion will be the impact of the accelerated troop withdrawal?"

★ ★ ★

The commodore took a long swig of bourbon and buttermilk, which is an old Balkan navy remedy for tired blood. Wiping his mustache with his sleeve, he said:

"It is doubtful that the strategy of massive withdrawal will produce a military victory, at least in the classic sense of one side defeating the other side.

BRINGS PRESSURE

"However, stepping up U.S. troop withdrawal at this time may bring enough pressure on the Communists to force them to negotiate a settlement."

I said, "In what way would the withdrawal of American troops bring pressure on them to negotiate?"

★ ★ ★

The commodore took a long swig of bourbon and mineral oil, which is an old Balkan navy remedy for tired tonenails. Wiping his sleeve with his mustache, he said:

"Everyone knows that the United States would like nothing better than to withdraw all of its troops. If the Communists really wanted us to withdraw, they could simply sign an agreement in Paris to quit fighting. We would withdraw immediately.

COULD RESUME

"Then the Vietcong could resume its campaign to get control of the country, secure in the knowledge that we would not again intervene."

I said, "Why haven't the Communists adopted that policy?"

★ ★ ★

The commodore took a long swig of bourbon and prune juice, which is an old Balkan navy remedy for tired eyelashes. Leaving both his mustache and his sleeve unwiped,' he said:

"Bear in mind that South Vietnam has been pretty well blighted by the long years of war. About the only thing that still makes the country worth fighting for is the vast amount of money that the American troops spend in Saigon.

LESS INCENTIVE

"If you withdraw a sizable portion of those troops, you naturally reduce the level of spending. Consequently, there is less incentive for gaining control of the country.

"The Communists realize this and are very disturbed at the prospect of a large-scale withdrawal. Therefore, they may be forced to sign a treaty providing for gradual withdrawal."

He Snubs More 'Bond' Roles to Be Free to Do Own Thing

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—"My parents think I'm insane . . . everybody thinks I'm insane . . . passing up maybe millions of pounds."

George Lazenby was long-haired, bearded and wearing a fur coat that looked like mink but wasn't. The 29-year-old 6-foot-2 Australian was explaining why he's refused to continue as the new James Bond after his first picture, "On Her Majesty's Secret Service," due on the screen here in a week.

WILSON

"Nobody believed me . . . they thought it was a publicity stunt . . . Harry Saltzman, the producer, didn't believe me. But when he saw me in a beard, he sent Diana Riggs to promote the picture instead of me. Probably a good idea to have a chick.

"It's just me doing my own thing." He was sipping white wine at Toi et Moi.

"I think this'll be the greatest Bond picture ever made . . . the production was perfect . . . but I don't want to do any more. It's like if you interviewed me every day. It would get pretty dull.

★ ★ ★

"For this one I got $880 a week for 36 weeks. For the second one I'd get 5 per cent. The last one grossed $42,000,000. But it'd be just doing another movie I already did.

★ ★ ★

"I used to be a car salesman and as a salesman I look at my market. The market's kids. But they don't play to kids. I wanted them to use Blood, Sweat and Tears, the group. They threw me out of the office. Now they're No. 1.

"I was asked whether I'd prefer to be a stereotyped James Bond or a car salesman. I answered, whole heartedly, 'A car salesman.'"

★ ★ ★

Headed for L.A. to get new roles that'll take him away from the James Bond image, he said one satisfaction was being able to let his hair and beard grow.

★ ★ ★

"As James Bond, I had to shave three times a day and my hair couldn't be more than ½ inch long. Now I shave every two months. Because if my beard gets long it gets in my mouth. It's not just trying to be trendy. It's doing my own thing."

★ ★ ★

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Joe Namath, at a preview of his first NYC restaurant, on Broadway, said "We can't use the name 'Broadway Joe's' in New York, so we'll use another name—'Joe Namath's'" . . . The Algerian ambassador, Barbara Harris, Herb Gardner and other celebs sat on bar stools at the premier of the hit movie, "Z," all other seats being taken.

The millionaire John Mecoms of Houston flew in for the exciting preview of Joan Marsh's Pipeline restaurant (where her late husband Joe had Spindletop).

★ ★ ★

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: The trouble with giving up cigarets is that you have to get used to your friends' brands.

EARL'S PEARLS: We hear that a local restaurant features a Spiro Agnew sandwich—it's all tongue.

Dean Martin must be a collector of antiques, figures Jesse Kaplan: "I always hear him talking about OLD Overholt, OLD Grandad, OLD Taylor . . ." . . . That's earl, brother.

Ex-Defense Chief Quoted on China Alert

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Former U.S. Sen. Wayne Morse says Robert S. McNamara, then secretary of defense, told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee in late 1966: "We had 300,000 troops alerted and ready to go into mainland China."

Morse, in an interview, said McNamara briefed the 12-man committee at a time when the United States was building up its forces in Vietnam.

"We don't think China will come into this war," Morse quoted McNamara as saying, "but the ugly reality of it is we can't defeat China by bombing, conventional or otherwise. She would move her hordes and we'll have to meet them on the ground."

McNamara could not be reached for comment.

Morse, an Oregon Democrat, was defeated in a reelection bid last November.

'Handouts' to Well-Off Sizable

Executive Director
National Urban League

Side by side on the front page of a major daily were two stories. One told of the bankruptcy of public housing authorities in a dozen cities; the other announced a new administration plan to give several hundred million dollars to private companies to build ships.

YOUNG

These stories symbolize wierd priorities on spending tax dollars. Public needs keep taking a back seat to private profit.

For all the speechmaking and talk about how costly welfare and public subsidies to the poor are, the blunt truth of the matter is that industries and the well-off get four times as much federal aid as do the poor.

* * *

Some of this aid is in outright dollar gifts, some of it in the form of tax concessions. But whatever name it goes by, it amounts to a federal welfare program for the well-off.

Farmers, for example, get subsidies not to grow some crops. The prime beneficiaries are large farm corporations who own vast tracts of land. Many of these get more than $1 million each to keep their land cropless each year. The total bill comes to about $4 billion a year.

INTEREST NOT TAXED

Stock market speculators also are subsidized in that they don't have to pay tax on the interest they pay for borrowing money with which to play the market.

Private companies have a range of subsidized activity, from tax relief on investments in new machinery to rent-free use of government-owned factories.

The average American homeowner is also subsidized. Secretary of Housing and Urban Development George Romney, recently talked about the "housing subsidy" that lets people take tax write-offs for interest paid on home mortgages and housing loans guaranteed by the government.

"The people who benefit usually are not aware that they are being helped," he said. They are also usually among the people who scream so loudly about federal "handouts" to the poor while getting handouts themselves.

SUBSIDIZED SUBURBS

Public tax policy and road building led to the creation of the very subsidized suburbs that, through overt discrimination and zoning laws, exclude Negroes and other minorities. And this policy of subsidizing the well-off and the middle classes is partially behind the shortage of public housing today.

In 1968, for example, the government spent a mere $300 million on public housing, but the revenue loss from letting private homeowners write off property taxes and mortgage interest from their federal tax bill came to close to $4 billion.

* * *

Even welfare itself can be seen as a subsidy to business and not to the poor. By providing a minimum subsistence level to relief recipients, local governments provide a pool of cheap labor for seasonal industries.

Hundreds of thousands of low-wage and seasonal workers move from jobs to welfare and back again to other low-wage jobs.

CHANGED THEIR MINDS

Businesmen agitating for a law to allow welfare only to residents who had lived in their city for more than a year, changed their minds when it was pointed out to them that the city's hotel, restaurant, and laundry industries would be crippled by lack of manpower.

This is a subsidized society. By and large, in spite of obvious inequities, federal subsidies of one sort or another spur greater economic activity. And some, like the GI Bill veterans benefits, help many people to economic security.

* * *

It is now time to help millions more out of poverty by a more rational use of subsidies. And it is time for the great majority of Americans who have benefited from subsidies to count their blessings and extend the same privilege to those who have been less favored.

Dirty-Air Suit Hits Car Firms

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI) — Multnomah County commissioners have authorized a suit against major automobile manufacturers, charging violation of antitrust laws in failing to install antipollution devices.

The commissioners acted after state Atty. Gen. Lee Johnson told Multnomah County Dist. Att. George Van Hoomissen the state will not act in the case.

* * *

Johnson wrote Van Hoomissen that it is likely the state could prove its allegations but that it would be more difficult to prove the state had been damaged.

He estimated the cost of taking legal steps would be $100,000, but Van Hoomissen told the commissioners he estimates a cost of $10,000.

* * *

Van Hoomissen told commissioners other governmental units are planning to file similar suits, and these probably will be consolidated for trial in a federal court in New York, Los Angeles or Chicago. The federal government recently settled a suit against the auto manufacturers by consent decree — without a trial.

OCC to Offer Stenographer Typing

A 15-week stenographer's typing course, sponsored by Oakland Community College, will be held at the Oakland County Courthouse, 1200 N. Telegraph, beginning Jan. 10.

The class, which will be taught by court reporter Donald Denoyer, is scheduled for 9 a.m. until noon on Saturdays.

Even Tiny Albania Has Its Problems With Dissenters

42 TI — EVEN TINY ALBANI

VIENNA (UPI) — If it makes the White House feel any better, even Albania is having trouble with dissenters.

High-ranking officials have attacked these dissenters as "politically immature" and "gossips who have abused the right to criticize."

★ ★ ★

In a word — "had applies."

Even the press, with its "incorrect reporting," is under attack.

"We will eliminate extremism and all rotten thought," a commentator wrote.

NO YOUTH REVOLT

There is no sign of a youth revolt — or a revolt of any sort — in tiny, docile Albania. But Albania's tough dictators appear as aware as politicians anywhere that the seed of dissent can grow into big trouble later on.

As elsewhere, the trouble in Albania, according to its press and to reports from the capital of Tirana, stems from change. Most of this change was initiated by the government itself and has brought both backlash and pressures for more change.

★ ★ ★

Albania, although it claims to be "the first atheist state in the world," is a traditionally Muslim nation. Unused mosques and minarets still spike the skyline, and traditional attitudes toward women and youth prevail.

★ ★ ★

Small wonder, then, that reforms affecting women and youth have provoked problems.

VEILS ARE SHED

Women have shed their veils and are entering the universities, and professions — even the government.

★ ★ ★

Youth has picked up dating, working together, modern dress — even living coeducationally on "volunteer" projects. Their parents, according to reports, don't like it.

★ ★ ★

Mild economic reforms are beginning to be introduced to pry Albania, Europe's most backward nation, out of its depths of poverty. For bureaucrats and party officials, these reforms — any reforms — threaten their positions.

★ ★ ★

It was this that party leader Enver Hoxha had in mind when he told a recent meeting celebrating Communist Albania's 25th anniversary:

"The purging of . . . all vestiges of influence of the old society and capitalist and revisionist world surrounding us is indispensable."

The grumbling and opposition that all this has stirred up — apparently within the party leadership itself — is being attacked under the euphemism of "gossiping."

Officials have warned that "class enemies" — that is, remaining anti-Communists — will suffer "administrative measures" jail if they "gossip."

But "such viewpoints" are found "even among members of the class in power," they have warned. This, analysts here believe, foreshadows at least a partial party purge in Tirana.

★ ★ ★

"It should be made clear," an Albanian journalist wrote recently, "that if a person cannot live with new ideas, if he cannot stand up to them, then he becomes a burden on the revolution. The revolution . . . deals heavy blows at those who hinder it."

FREE THOUGHT?

"Healthy and principled criticism of shortcomings" is permissible, officials have said. "But every effort to consider 'gossiping' as an 'expression of free thought' is reactionary and denigrating."

The difference between "gossip" and "healthy criticism" seems to lie in who is doing it and whether the target is a petty bureaucratic oversight or the policy of the party.

★ ★ ★

Albania's recent attempts to reduce its dependence on Communist China by expanding trade with Italy and other Western nations seem to have provoked their share of "gossip."

The introduction of Western goods, according to a party official, has produced people who "are ready to belittle a product invented by Albanians when comparing it with the product of a capitalist country. What we are confronted with here is an admiration of foreign products — an opportunistic attitude."

Bill Forcing Wives to Clean Clothes and Cook Offered

BOSTON (AP) — The Massachusetts Legislature is being asked to require a wife to cook for her husband and keep his clothes clean.

A bill containing the provision was filed Thursday by Rep. Paul Cavanaugh, D-Medford, at the request of William T. Farrell of West Medford.

★ ★ ★

Farrell, a married man, said personal reasons did not prompt him to ask that the bill be filed.

"It's a social wrong. I want to make it a social right," Farrell said. "It's hurrah for the women—but when a man can't come home like in your mother's day or your mother's mother's day and get a simple meal—then that's a social wrong."

★ ★ ★

Fringe Benefits for Supervisors

Oakland County supervisors, most of whom have exceeded their $3,000 annual meeting allowance and who are now attending meetings without pay, have received some good news.

Under state legislation — Public Act 262 which became effective Aug. 11 — the 27 members of the Oakland County board are now eligible for job fringe benefits including total payment of Blue Cross-Blue Shield hospitalization insurance.

* * *

They are also eligible for Social Security, the county's retirement program (benefits available after eight years in office) on a contribution basis.

This news came earlier this week from Robert E. Lilly, a county auditor. Lilly said the Federal government has determined the supervisor's job is full time rather than part time under terms of the Federal Social Security Act. The federal ruling was necessary to make the supervisors eligible under the state legislation.

While no pay raise is foreseen during the coming year, supervisors may collect fringe benefits amounting to as much as $1,500 each, retroactive to August. The benefits could bring their maximum pay package to $9,000 a year and could cost the county as much as $40,000 a year extra. Supervisors receive $4,500 and $35 per meeting up to a $7,500 maximum pay.

The possibility of benefit costs running $40,000 is extremely unlikely however, according to Lilly.

* * *

Lilly noted many supervisors already have the benefits through their regular places of employment, and his guess is that the increased benefits will wind up costing the county between $20,000 and $30,000 a year.

The supervisor pay totals do not include compensation any supervisor might receive for sitting on boards and commissions other than those committees which are directly a part of the board.

* * *

Several supervisors have been able to increase their pay by service on such groups as the public works board, the drain board, the parks and recreation commission, the board of institutions, etc. Compensation is $35 per meeting attended.

No full accounting of money earned by supervisors will be available until after the first of the year, according to County officials.

ROOM TO GROW IN — When no one big enough could be found to wear this huge pair of trousers, two Sydney, Australia, models volunteered. The jeans measure a yard across the waist.

Home Workshop Reported Looted

Glen Johnson of 3215 Lester, Highland Township, yesterday reported the Wednesday theft of a $30 drill, $85 worth of fishing reels and a $190 wrench set from his garage workshop.

Oakland County Sheriff's deputies determined that the garage was entered by snapping off the door lock.

Car Agency Must Pay

Pair Wins Crash Suits

A jury awarded $75,000 to a former Troy man and $5,000 to his wife yesterday in separate suits filed in 1966 against Shelton Pontiac-Buick Co. of 855 S. Rochester, Avon Township.

* * *

A jury of four men and eight women in the court of Oakland County Circuit Judge William R. Beasley awarded claims to Raymond Manley, 30, and his wife, Margaret, also 30. The Manleys lived in Troy at the time their car was hit by one driven by a Shelton employe. They now are Detroit residents.

* * *

Codefendant in a separate suit filed by Mrs. Manley was the driver of a Shelton vehicle, Harry J. Cole, who now is in Florida.

* * *

Cole drove the car that sideswiped the Manley vehicle, causing Manley to lose almost all the strength and mobility of his left arm and to undergo several bone-graft operations to save the limb. Mrs. Manley received bruises and cuts.

Ford Assembly in Yugoslavia?

BELGRADE (AP)—Ford Motor Co. is negotiating assembly of its motor vehicles in Yugoslavia, following other foreign motor companies' lead, Politika, a Belgrade daily, reported today.

* * *

A Serbian company from the area of Belgrade is at the end of negotiations for assembly of "Transit" and other passenger Ford cars.

Mayor Orders Rail Crossings Blocked

JOHNSTOWN, Pa. (AP) — Mayor Kenneth O. Tompkins today ordered police cruisers pulled onto local railroad crossings to prevent Baltimore & Ohio Railroad trains from entering the city limits.

The mayor said the action was taken because of numerous complaints from residents that diesel horns have been disturbing their sleep.

* * *

"Our cruisers will stay at those crossings until we get satisfaction from the railroad," Tompkins said.

He said it is B & O policy for each diesel to sound its horn four times when approaching a crossing. It is common for this to occur 15 to 20 times a day, he said.

GRIPES IGNORED

The mayor said the city's legal counsel has made official complaints to the railroad but they have been ignored.

He said the property on which the crossings are located is owned by the city. "If we choose to park our police cars there the railroad can do nothing about it," Tompkins said.

* * *

Police reported three trains had already been stopped early today.

One officer said the first of the diesels approached the blockade threateningly, but finally stopped. There were no policemen in the vehicles.

* * *

The lines being blockaded are the sole source of supply for two major steel plants operated by Bethlehem and U.S. Steel Corps.

The "jumbo jets" now under construction can carry up to 490 passengers and are as long as the height of a 20-story building.

Lawn and Garden News

Eliminate Them

Weeds Can Be Disease Source

Like the villain in an old-time silent movie, weeds are culprits in more ways than one.

They're as bad for your garden plants as those old villains were to the proverbial maiden-in-distress.

★ ★ ★

Undesirable weeds will not only crowd out valuable garden plants but can also become sources of plant diseases.

Virus diseases — such as aster yellows and the mosaics of cucumber, cabbage and tomato — are often carried by weeds.

UNHEALTHY

Some disease-carrying weeds may look blighted and unhealthy while others show no symptoms.

Most common kinds of virus-carrying weeds are burcucumber, milkweed, catnip, pokeweed, and ground cherry.

★ ★ ★

These weeds carry up to ten different virus diseases that can damage flowers and vegetables.

Club root (which is a fungus disease of cabbage) is carried by certain weeds in the mustard family. Club root just can't be eliminated from your garden as long as these weed-carriers are not destroyed.

VIRUS

Virus diseases are often passed from weed to healthy vegetable plant by insects such as aphids and leafhoppers.

Therefore, getting rid of the weeds in the immediate vicinity of your garden may not be enough, since the insects can travel for considerable distances.

★ ★ ★

For effective control of garden disease you'd better plan to get rid of some of these carrier-insects as well as the carrier-weeds.

If you need further details, be sure to contact your local garden center.

SEE EXPERT

If you have serious garden problems, have a qualified expert (such as your garden specialist or county agent) see the garden or the particular crop right now—the way it is.

Unfortunately, many gardeners wait until the crop has been harvested or removed, before they report any trouble.

★ ★ ★

Don't destroy valuable evidence of what is actually causing the trouble.

Sun and Wind Plague Plants

Winter and its low temperatures have long been blamed for a great deal of damage to plants. It is true that some is due to excessively cold weather but far from all.

There are other and more important factors, too, the chief ones being sun and wind.

★ ★ ★

When the low temperatures come is often of greater importance than their severity. In a normal season plants gradually build up a resistance to low temperatures and retain it until warmer weather arrives to break it in spring. So hardened, they can stand a great deal.

When a severe cold snap arrives before the plants are properly hardened up the damage occurs. Sap within the cells expands rapidly and the walls burst, in some cases the bark splits right off the stem.

In late winter and early spring it can happen again. An overly-warm season can start the sap flowing too soon.

Then a sudden cold snap catches the tissue, soft and vulnerable.

We can't change the seasons, but we can fight back.

★ ★ ★

First, don't plant tender plants, especially evergreens, on the southside of the house and against the foundations. Here they heat up excessively in the daytime and are vulnerable at night when the temperature drops radically.

Mum Society Sets Yule Party

The meeting will be held in the auditorium at 622 Lafayette West, Detroit.

Value in Rarity

"The most valuable resource of this nation is the soil. Gold is more spectacular; iron has in two generations made men richer; copper has opened up greater possibilities of advancing techniques.

"But, it is the soil which produces the lasting and essential wealth of the nation," — Brinser and Shepard, in "Our Use of the Land."

FRESH TOMATOES — Mrs. Goldie Bowles of Lantern Lane didn't have the heart to let September frosts nip the volunteer tomato plant that grew near her porch steps. So she potted it and brought it inside. For her efforts, she enjoys fresh tomatoes though the ground is covered with snow.

For Sequence Blooming

Select Dutch Bulbs

Fall is the time to plan and plant Spring bulb-gardens. For the past several weeks millions of healthy Dutch bulbs have been making their way across the Atlantic.

The world-famous Dutch flower bulbs that will become next spring's tulips, hyacinths, daffodils and the many little "minor" bulbs, must be planted now in the Fall.

★ ★ ★

The good news for gardeners this Fall is that the Dutch bulb stock is not only plentiful, but is, as always, of top quality.

The Netherlands Flower-bulb Institute, says that the fine quality of the bulbs is due to the exceptionally favorably conditions that prevailed during the growing season.

VARIETIES

Almost without end, the bulbs consist of many unusual varieties as well as the classic beauties. But, they should be selected now and planted before the first really severe frost hardens the ground.

The first thing is to plan sequence blooming. Pick bulbs by their blossoming time to have rich colors in your garden from mid-March to June.

If you buy bulbs that bloom at the same time, you will end up with a garden of riotous flowers all-at-once, and then a long, spare period when you will have to be content with your grass and your neighbors blossoms.

TIMETABLE

Following is a timetable listing some of the many bulbs in order of their flowering:

Galanthus (Snowdrop)
Eranthis (Winter Aconite)
Crocus
Scilla Siberica (Siberian Squill)
Iris Recticulata
Chionodoxa (Glory of the Snow)
Species Tulips:
Kaufmanniana, Fosteriana, Muscari (Grape Hyacinth)
Trumpet Daffodils
Single and Double Early Tulips
Hyacinths
Large & Medium-cupped Daffodils
Triumph & Darwin Hybrid Tulips
Daffodils: Short-cupper, Poeticus narcissus, Jonquil
Late-flowering Tulips: Double Late (Peony flowered), Lily-flowered, Darwin, Cottage, Parrot

Few Papers Bar Ads for X-Rated Films

CHICAGO (AP) — Some newspapers, radio and television stations across the nation have banned advertising for X-rated movies, but most publishers and broadcasters still believe readers and listeners can best serve as their own watchdog.

An Associated Press survey showed some 20 publishers and broadcasters reject advertising for the adults-only movies. The Motion Picture Association of America says there are 23 papers in the country which don't accept ads for these movies.

★ ★ ★

The MPAA adopted a self-rating system a year ago which was intended to alert parents to films that could be objectionable to children.

The "X" category, which prohibits admission of persons under 16, includes serious movies with explicit sexual scenes as well as the frankly exploitative skin flicks.

INTO NEWS COLUMNS

Leading the fight against advertising of such movies are some western publishers, who also have extended the blackout to their news columns.

One of the first was the Copley group, which in late summer instituted the ban in its San Diego, Calif., papers. Spokesmen say public reaction has been overwhelmingly in its favor.

Bob Curry, editor and publisher of the San Pedro News-Pilot, the Copley paper in Torrence, Calif., says he "was very pleased to follow suit . . . These movies are tearing down the morals of our nation."

The Oklahoma Publishing Co. last month banned adults-only movie advertising from its papers, the Sunday Oklahoman, the Oklahoma City Times and the Daily Oklahoman, WKY-TV and the WKY radio stations in Oklahoma.

★ ★ ★

"Some movie makers have gone much too far, in our opinion, and we are not going to let them use our columns to promote their wares," said Edward L. Gaylord, executive vice president of the publishing company.

He said the ban on both X-rated and unrated productions will extend to news stories and reviews of those films.

The owner of a theater showing "Midnight Cowboy," a film affected by the publishing company's news policy, complained that the papers' ban disregards their critics' advice.

"The Oklahoma City Times praised 'Midnight Cowboy' and said the only thing better than seeing the picture once was seeing it twice," said Maurice Farris of the Spectro Theater group.

FOLLOWED SUIT

The El Paso (Tex.) Times and El Paso Herald-Post followed suit and announced they also will reject advertising for adults-only movies as "part of the drive to stop objectionable publications."

The two Reno, Nev., papers, the Evening Gazette and the Nevada State Journal, also refuse such ads, but Reno broadcasters report no change in policy.

★ ★ ★

The Swedish film "I Am Curious (Yellow)" prompted the Arizona Republic and the Phoenix Gazette to reject advertising for X-rated films last month.

The Republic originally announced it also would ban mention of the films in its news columns but changed this policy after it was deluged by protesting letters.

'VALID POINT'

"They all had one valid point," said William Shover, director of public relations. "They said the public had a right to know what movies were playing and where."

The first media in Arizona to restrict motion picture advertising were KOOL-TV and KOOL radio stations which accept ads only for movies recommended for general audiences.

★ ★ ★

"Recognizing that movies are dirtier than ever," said the Bluffton (Ind.) News-Banner in a recent front-page editorial, "we feel that we can no longer be a vehicle for promotion of such productions."

The daily paper said it was rejecting ads for X-rated or unrated pictures because "the (movie) industry has been openly flaunting moral codes to the degree that churches, schools and parents have become alarmed by what they regard as more than realism."

SOME RESENTMENT

Another Indiana paper, the Muncie Press, also rejects such advertising, but managing editor Harold Trulock noted, "We're not publicizing the fact. It has caused some resentment among theater owners."

Eastern papers which ban advertising for adults-only films include the Christian Science Monitor, the Chattanooga (Tenn.) News-Free Press, and the Burlington (Vt.) Free Press. The Free Press, Vermont's largest paper, does permit theaters with X-rated movies to give the time of the first showing.

★ ★ ★

Also in the East the Passaic (N.J.) Herald News ruled that it will no longer run anything in ads for X-rated films but the name of the movie and its stars.

Many papers accept ads for the films only if they are allowed to change copy or art considered objectionable in a "family-type" publication. Erotic phrases or words such as "sex, lust, rape or stripper" are purged; and when the title of a picture is deemed distasteful it is replaced by something less offensive or removed. Bikini underpants and high-necked undershirts appear—via airbrush—on the bodies of stars that were nude in the movie stills.

'THEY HATE US'

The space allotted to an X-rated movie is sometimes reduced by some publishers. Don Nutter, advertising director of the Long Beach (Calif.) Independent & Press Telegram, admitted this policy does not endear papers to theater owners. "They hate our guts," he said.

A number of papers ban display-type ads for such movies and restrict theaters to a listing in an editorial movie calendar or a brief box giving title and time of feature in the ad columns. Ratings must be included.

★ ★ ★

In this category are the Peoria Journal Star, the Decatur Herald Review, and the Rockford Morning Star and the Rockford Register-Republic, in Illinois; the Fort Worth (Tex.) Star Telegram, and the Indianapolis Star-News.

The ratings have been attacked by some film producers as a failure which has resulted in a rash of pornographic movies.

'LOOK THE OTHER WAY'

Walter Reade, head of a film distributing organization that does not submit its movies to industry classification, said many theaters look the other way in admitting youngsters under 16 to X-rated productions. And, he asserted, the X-rating has often "been used to add to, rather than to restrict the potential audience" of a film.

Some publishers believe the ratings alone are sufficient to signal films intended for mature audiences and that a ban in newspaper advertising and editorial columns defeats the purpose.

"To reject ads for X-rated pictures would help destroy the ratings or create an underground movie culture," said John A. Scott, publisher of the Lafayette (Ind.) Journal and Courier. "I'd much rather carry the 'X' and require decent copy so parents would get the message."

The code authority division of the National Association of Broadcasters — NAB — determines if advertising of X-rated films meets industry standards. If it does the ad is approved regardless of the film's rating.

APPROPRIATE TIMES

All commercials, however, must carry both the rating letter and its meaning and adults-only movies must be scheduled at appropriate times in the late evening hours.

Many stations with this policy are WSB-TV in Atlanta, an NBC affiliate whose radio station sister evaluates each ad individually; WBNS-TV and radio in Columbus, Ohio; KOMU-TV in Columbia; Mo.; KVOE radio in Emporia, Kan.; KFGO radio in Fargo, N.D.; WTMJ-TV and radio in Milwaukee; KOWB radio in Laramie, Wyo., and rock station WMEX in Boston.

Christian Enterprises Inc., operators of Montana radio stations KGVW, Belgrade, KURL, Billings, and KGLE, Glendive, have for some time refused to accept all movie and cigarette advertisements.

Many Uses of Laser Ray Revolutionary

By National Geographic Society

WASHINGTON — The laser ray is revolutionizing the scientific and industrial world. Invented only nine years ago, it already has been adapted to many uses.

★ ★ ★

Laser light can bore holes through diamonds, weld delicate wire parts and subdue some malignant tissue. In the future it may lead the blind, fight tooth decay and revolutionize communications.

The term laser is an acronym formed by the initial letters of the instrument's function — light amplification by stimulated emission of radiation.

PRECISELY FOCUSED

Unlike light from the sun or lamp bulbs, laser light is essentially of one wavelength, or color. The waves all move in the same direction and, more importantly, are "in phase" or in step, each reinforcing the other.

Because a laser beam stays on a straight and narrow path for long distances, it can be aimed with pinpoint accuracy. Builders use the incredible new tool as a plumb line. It has measured distances to an accuracy of one inch in 15 miles.

★

In medicine, the laser makes bloodless surgery possible. A low-level dose of its light can burn away some skin tumors and warts, and erase birthmarks and tattoos. No bleeding occurs because the instrument's heat seals off the ends of the severed blood vessels.

A Mop-Wringer!

Mop-up jobs are never fun, but they can be made easier by a bucket-and-wringer combination. The 15-quart capacity bucket of polyethylene has a wringer that locks in place. A twist of the wrist and the mop is wrung out, ready to go to work.

Survey Shows Buyers' Gloom

Lack of Good News Affecting Consumers

ANN ARBOR (AP) — The Nation's consumers are nearly as gloomy about the economic outlook today as they were before the 1957-58 recession, according to the University of Michigan's Survey Research Center.

Without some favorable news about tax relief, Vietnam, inflation and unemployment, university economists said, there will be a drop next year in demands for cars and other durable goods as well as reduced spending for leisure and recreation.

* * *

Henry Ford II predicted this week that new car sales would drop next year because of a cooling of the economy.

In interviews with nearly 1,500 families across the nation, the university economists found that consumer buying sentiment has dropped 16 per cent since February, bringing the index near the level that prevailed just before the 1957-58 recession.

The economists suggested that consumer pessimism indicates they are heeding the Nixon administration's message that to win the battle against inflation, demand must be cut. As a result, increases in unemployment are expected.

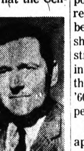
"The administration's message that the fight against inflation will be won apparently has been heard and believed by many people," the survey noted, "but not by as many as the news about rising unemployment."

The survey found that 52 per cent of those surveyed expect unemployment to climb, compared with 20 per cent who said the same thing last year.

The percentage of those predicting a recession has jumped to 40 per cent, the survey showed. This compares with 26 per cent who expressed a similar belief a year ago.

Census Category Has Secretaries Griping

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst



CUNNIFF

NEW YORK — To slight a bright lady is to invite her scorn, and that is what the Census Bureau seemingly has done — not just to one but to 1.5 million secretaries. The girls are more than mildly upset about it.

Their disappointment is especially acute because the girls have been trying to call attention to their best qualities and felt they had been winning a long, uphill battle.

But the Census Bureau has placed both secretaries and stenographers in the same occupational category for the 1970 head count.

The issue revolves around this. There are secretaries and there are stenographers. The latter take dictation and type. Secretaries do all this and more; they are planners, decision makers, executive assistants.

The secretaries don't come right out and say so, but they feel they are superior to stenographers. Secretaries, they feel, are partners with the boss; stenographers are mere workers who someday might aspire to be secretaries.

Miss Bertha Stronach, who is president of the National Secretaries Association, felt compelled to state her case. The significance and importance of secretaries is being recognized now more than ever before, she feels. Secretaries, she said, "have made more strides in recognition of their integral contributions as part of the management team in the '60s than in any comparable period in business history."

But the decade of the 1970s appears to be starting on the wrong foot. The 1970 Census, she states, is going to be "one of the obstacles to a full measurement of secretarial advancement."

* * *

Research by the NSA indicates, Miss Stronach states, that about 60 per cent of the 2.25 million secretaries and stenographers have advanced beyond shorthand and transcription duties to the "think" demands of secretarial work.

Why lump both together, she asks? "There is a vast difference in the responsibilities and remuneration of the two distinctly separate classifications. It is a distortion to combine them in one category."

NOT MUCH SENSE

Miss Stronach, who is secretary and senior staff assistant to an executive of International Business Machines, says the Census Bureau grouping makes as much sense as combining engineers and draftsmen in one category.

"Draftsmen possess the basic technical skills of their trade," she said. "While engineers have these skills, too, they have also a higher degree of education, training and experience."

* * *

In support of her opinion, Miss Stronach refers to the definition adopted by the NSA.

It reads:

"A secretary shall be defined as an executive assistant who possesses a mastery of office skills, who demonstrates the ability to assume responsibility without direct supervision, who exercises initiative and judgment and who makes decisions within the scope of assigned authority."

MORE PROFESSIONAL

If you believe Miss Stronach and the NSA, a secretary will become an even more highly professional performer in the years to come.

Currently employed secretaries average 13 years of formal education. In 10 years, she estimates, the education level will be 14 years and will include an associate degree in secretarial science.

Regardless of the Census Bureau's lack of perception, by the end of the next decade, she says, the Certified Professional Secretary rating will have achieved its long struggle for recognition.

Put Education Atop Priority List---Reuther

DETROIT (AP) — Walter P. Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers, says education must be moved to the top of the nation's priority list and injected with a "massive" dose of federal money.

Reuther told a convention of the National Community School Education Association Thursday night that billions spent for war should be spent, instead, for education to help local taxpayers unable to carry the growing load.

* * *

"There are no bargain basement approaches to a good education," the labor leader said. "It is going to cost us more and more, but we should be satisfied with nothing less than what we are capable of providing . . .

"Unless we educate young Americans to live in peace, we're not going to deal with the crisis in our cities."

Whenever the nation is faced with the negative challenges of war," he continued, "no one says we can't afford to train our young people to die in battle."

AMC Readies 1st Subcompact

DETROIT (AP) — American Motors Corp. still expects to be the first U.S. manufacturer to the market with a subcompact, American-built automobile.

An AMC source reports that a recent five-week strike by the United Auto Workers did not throw off schedule the planned mid-April introduction of the "Gremlin."

Henry Ford II hinted at a news conference earlier in the week his Ford Motor Co. will introduce a minicar, code-named the "Phoenix," next fall. Speculation on Ford's reported upcoming subcompact has been rife for months.

General Motors already has announced it will introduce a subcompact, currently tabbed the XP-887 around mid-1970.

American Motors has confirmed the Gremlin is upcoming and top sources there report it will be 10 inches shorter than AMC's new compact Hornet, designed to compete with Ford's Maverick, but 9.1 inches longer than the standard Volkswagen.

The Gremlin is aimed at the market segment now dominated by imports such as the German Volkswagen and the Japanese Toyota.

Successful Investing

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q — I would be interested in your opinion of Milton Bradley. — L. H.

A — Unlike many toy firms, Milton Bradley has a strong and stable line of basic games, toys and educational items. This business moves along at a steady rate, improving 10 per cent to 15 per cent annually. In addition to these items are fad-type toys and games. When one of these toys achieves popularity — as two did in 1967 — sales bulge, margins widen and earnings "take off." While this can lead to a somewhat erratic earnings picture, Milton Bradley has been very successful in making up, in basic items, this kind of sales bulge.

A pending merger with AMSCO — annual sales about $6 million — will broaden MB's basic toy line. Both this firm and Playskool, acquired last year, take down a smaller percentage of revenues to earnings than does MB. Thus, there is greater room for improvement, a motivating factor in these acquisitions.

Through the first nine months, earnings moved up 22 per cent to 90 cents from 78 cents a year earlier. Write-offs from the Playskool acquisition in the final quarter of 1968 held down full-year results. Absence of these adjustments should see a return to a more normal final-quarter net and could lift 1969 earnings to $1.45 - $1.50 a share. Selling at a relatively reasonable 17x shares are a worthwhile long-term buy.

Q — I hold International Telephone & Telegraph, common and preferred. I need more income. Should I sell and reinvest in something with more dividend? — C. M.

A — You hold shares in a high-quality growth company. Sales and earnings in the first nine months were at record levels. Reflecting uptrending earnings, the dividend was recently increased for the sixth consecutive year. While the yield is not generous, the prospects for capital appreciation and dividend increases are above average. I would rather you sell a few shares as the need arises than eliminate your entire position.

Radicals in Japan Fighting for Survival

TOKYO (AP) — The ordinary prisoners—thieves, pickpockets, arsonists and the like—declared a hunger strike when more than 2,000 students were arrested recently in a major outburst of street violence in Tokyo.

The prisoners were not showing support for the students. Police said many of the 4,000 prisoners already in jail were afraid of being forced to share cells with the student radicals.

"They would destroy our peace," one said.

The strike was called off after two days when officials persuaded the prisoners to take up bowls of rice and symbolize an honorable end to their resistance. None had to share his cell with student prisoners.

Of the total 2,148 arrested, 21 minors were sent to family courts and 508 released without posting bail. The other 1,619 are awaiting prosecution.

OVER 20,000

These arrests raised to more than 20,000 the number of Zengakuren activists seized by police over the past two years across the country.

Some schools expel students involved in such occurrences, others do not.

★ ★ ★

Police authorities claim the student organization now has been "reduced to a nothing" and is heading for collapse from within. The Zengakuren militants say this is not true and vow instead to "shatter all existing establishment."

Japan's organized students gained international attention in 1960 when they came out against ratification of the U.S.-Japan security treaty. A Tokyo university coed died in the violence that ultimately toppled the government of Nobusuke Kishi and brought cancellation of a trip to Japan by President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

5 MAJOR FACTIONS

Once dominated by the Japan Communist party, the Zengakuren in the 1960s was affected by the divisions among the giants of world communism and split into five major factions. These factions themselves later splintered.

★ ★ ★

One of the most active groups now is the Anti-Japan Communist party faction. It is not, as the name might indicate, anti-Communist. It is the Anti-Japan Communist party because it considers the parent party too reactionary.

Others among the most militant and radical—all followers of Mao Tse-tung's brand of revolutionary violence—are the Shagakudo—Socialist student league—and the newly emerging Sekigun—Red Army—group, both considered far left of Japan's Communists. They have shared leading roles in most recent street offensives and each claims to be "the champion of the coming revolution."

On the other side, there are such as the Minsei—Democratic Youth League—which is under strict Communist party control and advocates a "talk but no action" policy.

FACTIONAL STRUGGLES

Education Ministry officials say the factional struggles are behind most campus disturbances. But a leader of the Zengakuren says strife between the factions "will soon be ended and you will witness a stronger Zengakuren in 1970." This youth, who declined to identify himself, claimed to represent all Zengakuren factions and said they would gather forces to abolish the security treaty and overthrow the Sato government.

The student leader also termed a "big success" the recent formation of the All-Japan Students Congress in Tokyo.

★ ★ ★

Elected president was Yoshitake Yamamoto, who is among the students arrested. He is 28, son of an Osaka businessman, and studying for a doctorate in nuclear physics at Tokyo University.

Yamamoto may be the man who can bring unity to the divided Zengakuren. Despite his detention, authorities say he still has a strong influence on the student membership.

SHORT OF FUNDS

While reported getting short of funds, using a lot for bail money, the Zengakuren still has a variety of financial sources. Students themselves are reluctant to discuss these sources, and police decline to comment on reports that student groups have been helped financially by Communist China and North Korea.

Some students have benefited personally in a financial way from their activities. Certain firms have posted notices that they are in the market for militant students. They explain that young power—aggressive and displaying diehard determination—is needed for Japan's future.

Despite their remaining strength and their vows of a regained unity that will make them even stronger, the radical student groups appear to be heading for trouble. Some of their recent tactics have created a backlash, antagonizing people and groups once sympathetic.

The police, with their specially trained riot units, also are much better prepared to handle violent demonstrations than they were a few years ago. They move more aggressively now to break up crowds and to fight back against violence with a show of strength of their own.

CAUGHT IN VIOLENCE

The sight of rioters, wearing plastic helmets and their faces swathed in towels, swinging staves and hurling stones and fire bombs has led some newspapers to label them "lawless mobs." Drawing special criticism were incidents in which passersby were caught in the violence and hurt.

Fire bombs, or molotov cocktails, came into widespread use in student strife during the siege of Tokyo University in January. Since then, ultraleftists have used them increasingly. They have become quite professional in their manufacture, police say.

★ ★ ★

The fiery scenes around Tokyo's Kamata Station on the eve of Prime Minister Sato's departure for Washington "appeared to light up the meaninglessness of the student rampage," one newspaper said.

Apparently a large number of people are coming to share the view of the prisoners in the city jail who felt that student radicals would destroy their peace.

Her Electric Bill Fixed; She's Aglow

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP) — Gloria Ramos is all aglow over her $27.39 electric bill from Delmarva Power & Light Co. or, as she put it: "I'm so happy I could kiss their kilowatt."

The bill represents a victory in a battle with DP&L since October over a $150.06 charge for the summer months when Mrs. Ramos said she and her husband were out of the city and not even using their apartment.

The company, after several meetings with Mrs. Ramos, discovered the error and presented her with the correct bill for $27.39.

Bridge Tricks From Jacobys

By OSWALD and JAMES JACOBY

South looked at dummy and relaxed. He was in a nice, comfortable, game contract and, if everything went well, he might make two overtricks. Certainly there was no reason to think about the whole play.

He led dummy's jack of trumps at trick two, just to see if the queen would cover. Not that he thought it would. East wasn't one of those automatic honor coverers.

When the queen did not appear, he put up his ace and then decided to set up a diamond discard for his potential club loser before playing any more trumps. He led his jack of diamonds. East took his ace and made the inspired return of a low trump.

★ ★ ★

South played his king after long thought, entered dummy with a diamond and tried the spade finesse. West took his king, played his queen of hearts to pull dummy's last trump, and continued with his 10 of clubs. South could discard his losing spade or losing club on dummy's last high diamond, but could not get rid of both of them and was one down.

East made the old remark, "When both sides play trumps, one is wrong." South had no answer.

He should have looked over dummy carefully after winning the club lead. If he had done that, he would have not led that one trump but would have started diamonds immediately.

This would make it impossible for the defense to pull dummy's last trump and he would have been able to ruff his last spade in dummy and make his contract.

Just for the record, South could have made the hand after the bad start if he had simply stripped the West hand of diamonds and clubs and thrown West in with the queen of trumps to force a spade lead, but the simple line of just not leading a trump too early was far better.

Junior Editors Quiz on E PLURIBUS UNUM

QUESTION: What do the words "E Pluribus Unum" mean on the Great Seal of the United States?

ANSWER: On July 4, 1776, shortly after deciding on the Declaration of Independence, the Continental Congress realized the need of a seal and a motto to express the ideals of the new nation.

The motto means "One out of many." The first states had different traditions, but they all agreed in this basic oneness: the idea of unity and freedom.

Our map shows the sections which joined to become the United States; the white lines show present state boundaries. Let's run down the numbers.

(1) is the 13 original states with their territories and claims in 1783. (2) is the Louisiana Purchase from France in 1803. (3) was an area ceded by Great Britain in 1818. (4) was the Florida Purchase from Spain, 1819. (5) was the Texas Annexation of 1845. (6) was the Oregon Country Annexation of 1846.

(7) was the Mexican Session of 1848. (8) was the Gadsden Purchase of 1854. (9) is our great new state of Alaska, first purchased in 1867 and becoming a state in January of 1959. (10) is our beautiful newest state of Hawaii, first ours in 1898, becoming a state in August 1959.

Egypt Tells of Troop Increase

By the Associated Press

Egypt has half a million men under arms and will increase this to one million by the time of "the awaited battle with Israel," a close confidant of President Gamal Abdel Nasser said today.

The editor of the semiofficial Cairo newspaper Al Ahram, Hasanein Heikal, also said Israel has almost doubled its already superior tank and aircraft arsenal since the six-day war of 1967—to almost 2,000 tanks and 375 "first-line warplanes."

★ ★ ★

The Jewish state's Mirage and Mystere air fleet of about 250 planes is being strengthened by at least 125 U.S. Skyhawk and Phantom fighter-bombers, Heikal said in his weekly editorial.

He estimated that Israel had 1,000 tanks in June 1967, captured 400 more from the Arabs and bought another 500 Patton and Centurion tanks from the United States and Britain.

MUM ON FORCES

Heikal, who often speaks for Nasser, did not give any report on Egypt's arsenal of tanks and planes. But he spoke of Israel's apparent military superiority over the Arabs. And he said that in the next war "Any Arab achievement, no matter how limited, is bound to have unlimited repercussions on Israel."

Israeli and British officials in London confirmed that Britain has turned down a multimillion-dollar offer from the Israelis to buy Britain's newest and best tank, the Chieftain. The British said they did not believe the sale was justified by the relative strength of the Middle East nations. They added that the question would be reconsidered if some new factor upset the power balance.

★ ★ ★

A top-level Egyptian delegation left Moscow today after talks with Kremlin leaders on the U.S. proposal for an Israeli-Egyptian settlement, which the Egyptians have criticized as an effort to split the Arab world. The Russians have made no public comment on it yet.

★ ★ ★

The Israeli military command announced that Jordanians fired on a border patrol south of the Sea of Galilee and wounded one man. The spokesman also reported the death of an Israeli soldier wounded in a mortar exchange Wednesday but denied an Egyptian claim that it shot down an Israeli jet Thursday.

ISRAELI COALITION

Israeli Prime Minister Golda Meir ended more than a month of political uncertainty by announcing that the right-wing Gahal party had agreed to join her Labor party in a coalition. Labor won a plurality in the Oct. 28 elections.

★ ★ ★

Israeli Defense Minister Moshe Dayan said Thursday night in London that the Soviet Union is responsible for the continuing hostilities in the Middle East.

★ ★ ★

Dayan told a fund-raising dinner, "The Russians are not in the Middle East for Arab interests but for Russian ones. They want more political interest there."

Asked about alleged Israeli repression of Arabs in occupied areas, Dayan said that since the 1967 war, 463 Arabs have been killed or wounded by terrorist action while only 37 casualties occurred during Israeli counter-terrorist moves.

★ ★ ★

The United Nations General Assembly called on Israel to stop "reported repressive practices and policies toward the civilian population" in occupied Arab lands. Approved by a 52-13 vote with 49 abstentions, the resolution condemned "such policies and practices as collective and area punishment, the destruction of homes and the deportation of the inhabitants of the Israeli-occupied territories."

Greece Quits Europe Council

PARIS (AP) — Greece's military dictatorship announced today that it is withdrawing from the Council of Europe. The announcement was made a short time before the Council was to vote on a motion suspending Greece from the 18-nation Western European organization because of the regime's violation of human rights. The motion appeared sure of adoption.

An official Greek spokesman said Foreign Minister Panayiotis Pipinelis had told his colleagues in the council's Committee of Ministers of his government's decision.

When Pipinelis made his announcement, 11 nations already had given their backing to a resolution calling for suspensions of Greece until real progress had been made toward democratization of the Athens regime. The resolution said the Committee of Ministers would be the judge of progress.

During the period of suspension, Greece would have been permitted to keep a delegation at Council of Europe headquarters in Strasbourg, but would not have been permitted to take part in deliberations.

GRIM LOOK

Pipinelis left the session surrounded by Aides. He looked grim and declined to make any comment on his government's decision.

Jean De Lipkowski, secretary of state at the French Foreign Ministry, said afterward: "There was no doubt the suspension resolution would have passed."

★ ★ ★

De Lipkowski described Pipinelis' speech as moving and impressive.

He said, in effect, 'I am a moderate. But don't forget there are hard-liners back in Athens'" The French diplomat reported.

Pipinelis made an impassioned defense of his government today and urged the council not to suspend Greece. But contrary to expectations, he did not offer any new proposals to restore democratic procedures in his country.

A West German spokesman reported that 11 of the 18 council members were backing a German motion to suspend Greece until it makes real progress toward democratization. The council's Committee of Ministers, the body meeting today, would be the judge of such progress.

The Scandinavians led the move to censure the Greeks, but the West Germans apparently composed the resolution because it was thought their sponsorship would carry more weight with undecided governments.

'Gang' Has Yule Gift for Establishment

RENO, Nev. (AP) — The mayor, the police chief and the Roman Catholic bishop are among recipients of a "lid" of marijuana, an anonymous gift from the "Zig-A-Zag Gang."

"Happy holidays," says a letter with one of the packages delivered Thursday to three reporters, who also received lists naming 11 recipients, many of them community leaders.

★ ★ ★

"Let's see how many of them turn themselves in today," the letter said, explaining that the other eight did not receive a list of names.

"Did I get WHAT in the mail?" boomed Mayor Roy Bankofier when asked if he had received his "pot." He had, and later he ran his fingers through a pile of dried leaves and seeds on his desk and mused, "I don't even know what marijuana looks like."

'SHORT LID'

A detective told Reno Evening Gazette reporter Mimi LaPlante hers was a "short lid" of cheap grass, enough to roll about 25 cigarettes or "joints," and worth around $10. "Good grass is worth about $20," he said.

"It's in my wastebasket," Roman Catholic Bishop Joseph Green said of his grass.

★ ★ ★

The dean of students at the Sam Basta, called campus Police Chief Bob Malone, who checked the grass and said "They didn't waste any money on you."

Police Chief Elmer Briscoe, who blamed "some kook" for his gift, was marshalling detectives and postal authorities to smoke out the "Zig-A-Zag Gang."

Appeals Court Eyes New Trial for Dr. Clark

DETROIT (AP) — The Michigan Court of Appeals is considering a request for a new trial made by a 57-year-old Farmington Township physician convicted of manslaughter in the death of an office worker.

★ ★ ★

An attorney for Dr. Ronald E. Clark, now serving a 3- to 15-year sentence in prison at Jackson for the charge, made the motion Thursday at a hearing in Detroit presided over by Chief Appellate Judge T. John Lesinski.

★ ★ ★

Clark's attorney asked the court to overturn the denial of a new trial by Oakland Circuit Judge William J. Beer.

Clark, 30735 Grand River, was convicted of manslaughter in the 1967 death of Mrs. Grace Neil, 43, of Livonia, after medical experts testified her death was due to an overdose of sodium pentothal, a so-called truth serum, administered by the doctor.

★ ★ ★

Clark's attorney, James E. Wells, contended Clark was denied access to Mrs. Neil's medical records which would have aided him in preparing his defense.

★ ★ ★

Wells also contended the Oakland County prosecutor's office introduced evidence during the trial without giving the defense prior notice, as required by law and that it failed to prove that Clark showed extreme indifference to the risk involved, a necessary element in charges of involuntary manslaughter.

The ruling is expected in four to six weeks.

Sylvan Lake Passes Solicitation Curbs

The Sylvan Lake City Council last night passed an ordinance to prohibit profit-seeking solicitors from going to residential dwellings uninvited.

★ ★ ★

In other business, the council voted to have a contractor replace the leaky city hall roof at a cost of $1,264.

Oakland County sheriff's deputies issued no citation to either driver.

Man Mute on Charge After Raid

The president of Multi Lakes Conservation Association Inc., 3860 Newton, Commerce Township, yesterday stood mute to charges of keeping and occupying a building for gambling.

★ ★ ★

Judge Martin L. Boyle of the 52nd District Court in Walled Lake did not set a date for preliminary examination for Daniel Young. Judge Boyle's clerk said the court did not know Young's address.

★ ★ ★

The charge against Young stems from Sunday's State Police raid on the sportsman's club, in which 280 men and four alleged strippers were arrested.

Young is free on a $100 personal bond. Action has been taken by Pontiac State Police troopers to have the club's liquor license revoked.

★ ★ ★

The raid was conducted by 20 state police, five Michigan Liquor Control Commission officers and an assistant Oakland County prosecutor.

Only 2.7 million Indians, one half of 1 per cent of the country's population, make enough money to pay income taxes.

Court Denies Youth's Suit

Oakland County Circuit Court Judge Farrell E. Roberts refused yesterday to order 15-year-old Robert McCathern back to school at Pontiac Northern High School.

★ ★ ★

A suit filed by the boy's father, John McCathern of 420 Kuhn, sought to overrule the board of education and Schools Supt. Dr. Dana Whitmer in the suspension of his son.

★ ★ ★

Robert was suspended following an Oct. 14 scuffle between black youths and a white teacher. McCathern's attorney, Patrick Oliver, had charged Robert was not given a hearing on his suspension until two weeks after he was suspended.

★ ★ ★

Judge Roberts ruled against McCathern on the grounds that he had not exhausted his administrative appeals.

Card of Thanks 1

IN APPRECIATION TO thank all my friends and neighbors for all the efforts they put forth at the untimely death of my husband, John C. Hauk. Margaret Hauk and family.

I WANT TO THANK all my many friends and former neighbors for their many acts of kindness shown me during the past few months, when I lost my home. God bless all of you. Novia Curnel.

In Memoriam 2

IN LOVING MEMORY OF my dear daughter, Mrs. Dorothy Jeanne (Bearss) Theut who passed away one year ago today, December 10th 1967.
A little tribute and tender,
Just to show I still remember,
She lives with me in memory still,
Not just today, but always will.
May she always walk in sunshine,
God's love around her flow,
For the happiness she gave me,
No one will ever know.
It broke my heart to lose her,
But she did not go alone,
For a part of me went with her,
When God called her home.
For today in memory's garden
We still walk side by side.
Sadly missed by her mother, Mrs. Frances Louise Bearss.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF Buford Junita Turnage who passed away Dec. 12, 1963.
Gone but not forgotten.
Sadly missed by her daughter Junanita and family.

HUNT FOR ANOTHER VICTIM — Los Angeles County deputies search a well on a ranch where "the Manson family" once lived, looking for the body of a man who disappeared after reportedly quarreling with its leader. They ended their two-day search for Donald O'Shea, a stunt man and one-time beer-hall bouncer, yesterday but did not reveal what the results were.

State Legislature Is in High Gear on School Reform

From Our News Wires

LANSING — With what Gov. William G. Milliken described as the "eleventh and a half hour" at hand, the Michigan Legislature has shifted into high gear in its handling of his education reform package.

The House scheduled an all-day session for today and an almost unheard-of Friday night session and Saturday session to work on the program.

★ ★ ★

Senate leaders took a major step last night when they took a test vote on the two constitutional amendments in the governor's plan.

Both plans, one to revamp the State Board of Education and the other to institute a statewide property tax for schools, lost by wide margins in the test votes. But leaders said before the vote they expected to lose them and took them only to get a reading of the situation.

12 VOTES SHORT

The state board proposal, creating a five-member board appointed by the governor with the advice and counsel of the Senate, failed on a 14-20 vote, 12 short of the two-thirds majority required to pass a proposed constitutional amendment.

Before the crucial vote, Sen. Garland Lane, D-Flint, tacked on an amendment that would prohibit members from having any active connection with a K-12 school district or college. The amendment passed, 24-8.

★ ★ ★

Only 13 senators voted for a revised version of Milliken's proposed constitutional amendment for a statewide property tax. Twenty-two opposed it.

The governor suggested a 16-mill, open-ended levy. The Senate amended that to a 12-mill tax that could not be increased without another constitutional amendment and vote of the people.

ALTERNATE PLAN

An alternate property tax plan — calling for a 20-mill tax and a $3,000 homestead exemption — was voted down 16-19.

The plan, offered by Senate Minority Leader Sander Levin, D-Berkley, was scheduled to be voted on again next week, along with the other two proposed constitutional amendments.

★ ★ ★

Observers feel there is a good chance for agreement on the school board measure at least.

"I think next week when the state board issue comes up again in the Senate the votes will be there," Milliken said. "And we have had steady progress in the House. By no means whatever am I discouraged."

COMPLETED WORK

The House Taxation Committee completed its work Thursday on a package of bills intended to pay for an increase in state school aid by sending a bill to raise the cigarette tax to the floor.

Leaders in both parties said they thought the proposal had the votes needed to send it to the Senate.

★ ★ ★

The bill would raise the state tax from seven to 11 cents a pack starting next March 1.

★ ★ ★

The crucial House vote on the Parochiaid section of the school aid bill was not expected to come up until next week.

Grant for Center From U.S. OK'd by State Senate

A bill allowing the Pontiac Board of Education to accept a $1.1-million federal grant toward construction of its $5.5-million Human Resource Center has passed the Michigan Senate.

The measure, which now returns to the House for concurrence in amendments, is aimed especially at Pontiac, said Sen. L. Harvey Lodge, R-Waterford Township.

Sen. Anthony Stamm, R-Kalamazoo, opposed the bill which passed, 26-9, because he said the Senate should be "a little hesitant" about authorizing school districts to use their own funds for items other than educating pupils.

Legislation became necessary when the state attorney general ruled against the legality of such a grant going directly to a school district. The opinion was requested by legal counsel for the Chicago regional office of the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD), which is making the grant.

Rep. Arthur J. Law, D-Pontiac, sponsor of the bill in the House, has said he doesn't foresee any problem with the bill passing.

The HUD grant, the first that has been authorized under the Neighborhood Development Program for construction of dual-use facilities for both community and school, is to help build a complex "knitting together the lifeblood of the city," according to designers.

"It will bring together the black and white, children and adults, residential and downtown areas, public facilities and the school," said David Lewis of Urban Design Associates of Pittsburgh who designed the complex to house 1,800 students.

Tax-Reform Bill Passes in Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has overwhelmingly passed its veto-threatened tax reform bill, sending it to a conference committee where House members wait with their own quite different version.

★ ★ ★

The conference committee has a heavy chore in reconciling the bills, but leading members of both delegations say they expect to come up with a compromise President Nixon can sign.

The Senate, which ended almost a fortnight of debate by approving the bill 69-22 yesterday afternoon, sparked Nixon's ire by providing a 15 per cent increase in Social Security benefits and a boost in personal income tax exemptions from $600 to $800.

★ ★ ★

The House will makes no provision for either matter, although that chamber is considering a separate Social Security proposal.

$5 BILLION DIFFERENCE

Opponents rallied vanly against the bill Thursday, charging its differences between tax relief and revenue gain amount to more than $5 billion and is fiscally irresponsible. It was this cost that Nixon cited when he said he will veto the bill if it's unchanged.

★ ★ ★

But after the vote, Senate Finance Committee Chairman Russell B. Long of Louisiana, a conference committee member said:

Related Story, Page A-5

"I am confident we can get this bill into shape so the President will feel he can sign it, even though he may not agree with every little thing in a 600-page bill."

★ ★ ★

His House counterpart, Rep. Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., also was confident a compromise would result in reducing the cost to meet Nixon's demands.

However, it seems certain the 15 per cent Social Security benefit boost, and many other of the tax breaks will be retained either in the tax bill or in seperate legislation.

★ ★ ★

Mills was unhappy because Long declined to start conference work immediately. The congressman said this means final action on the measure may not come before a Christmas recess.

Wintry Weekend on Horizon

A wintry weekend is predicted for Pontiac area residents even though winter won't officially arrive until Dec. 21.

The U.S. Weather Bureau's day-by-day forecast predicts:

TODAY — Mostly cloudy, chance of snow flurries with the high in the 30s. Tonight generally fair and colder, low 16 to 22.

★ ★ ★

Winds westerly 12 to 20 miles per hour diminishing and becoming light and variable tonight.

TOMORROW — Increasing cloudiness. Little change in temperature. High in the 30s.

SUNDAY — Mostly cloudy, chance of light snow.

★ ★ ★

Probabilities of precipitation are 30 per cent today, 10 per cent tonight, 20 per cent tomorrow.

Twenty-six was the low thermometer reading before 8 a.m. in downtown Pontiac. By 12:30 p.m. the mercury had climbed to 32.

U.S. Crime Rate Shown Leveling

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's soaring crime rate leveled off during the first nine months of 1969, but armed robbers became a much greater menace on city streets, FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover reported today.

Hoover said the over-all crime rate rose 11 per cent during the period — 8 per cent less than the increase during the corresponding months a year ago.

But, in releasing the quarterly uniform crime reports, he called attention to the 15 per cent jump in robberies, particularly an 18 per cent hike in armed holdups.

Hoover said street robbery made up more than half of all robbery offenses and increased 18 per cent, while residential holdups climbed 22 per cent during the period.

'CAN BE CONTAINED'

The report came shortly after Hoover released a statement in which he predicted "The soaring crime rate in the 1970s can be contained."

The optimistic prediction, he said, was based on giant strides in the professionalization of police, installation of modern communication systems and construction of new facilities and increased cooperation among law enforcement agencies.

★ ★ ★

Hoover also cited statistics on crimes committed with firearms to emphasize his long campaign for stronger gun-control legislation.

Guns were used, he said, to commit 65 per cent of all murders and 23 per cent of all aggravated assaults from January through September.

OU Autonomy Backing Seen

The Michigan State University Board of Trustees, meeting today in Lansing, was expected to support the principle of Oakland University's independence from MSU.

Troy Crowder, assistant to the OU chancellor, said the board was not expected to take definite action today however, toward severing ties between the two colleges.

★ ★ ★

A study committee of the MSU board was set up at their October meeting to consider a proposal that the 10-year-old Oaklond be granted its autonomy.

The proposal was presented then by OU Chancellor Durward B. Varner in the form of a resolution which pointed out Oakland's growth since it opened in 1959.

★ ★ ★

Also on Oct. 29, the State Board of Education endorsed Oakland's independence request by way of resolution.

Following acceptance by the MSU trustees of OU's independence, the proposal would have to receive approval of the state board and the Legislature.

Filipino Troops End Commitment in Viet

SAIGON (UPI) — The Philippines' 1,350-man commitment to the Vietnam war packed up and left for home today, the first Allied military contingent to withdraw completely.

From a ceremony at their Tay Ninh base camp 58 miles northwest of Saigon, the Filipinos flew to Saigon and boarded ships for the trip home after three years and three months in the war zone.

* * *

Manila decided to pull out the group — noncombatant engineers, pacification workers and farmers — as an economy move after Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., alleged that the United States had paid $45 million to keep them in Vietnam.

A total of 2,200 Filipino troops arrived in Vietnam in September 1966. Some were withdrawn earlier. Ten Filipinos were killed and 34 wounded during their tour.

MANY IMPROVEMENTS

A press release said the Fillipino troops had built 116 miles of roads, 11 bridges, 14 schools, 10 demonstration farms, two model communities and 54 refugee centers in Tay Ninh province, on the Cambodian border.

Up the border from their base camp, U.S. troops yesterday and early today pounced on North Vietnamese gunners firing on American helicopters and reported killing 72 of them.

* * *

The GIs suffered no losses in the fighting in Phuoc Long province 85 miles northeast of Saigon headquarters said.

Vietcong commandos attacked a 120-foot concrete bridge on Saigon's main highway link with the southern tip of Vietnam during the night and destroyed the span.

SPAN A SHAMBLES

The explosions last night left the span 85 miles southwest of Saigon a shambles, disrupting traffic from the southern Mekong Delta, the nation's ricebowl, to markets in the capital.

Military spokesmen said three government troops assigned to guard the bridge were wounded and one civilian was killed in the attack. The bridge is eight miles south of Can Tho, the delta's biggest city.

* * *

The commandos escaped without apparent losses. Engineers this morning began repairing the structure, expected to take several weeks.

Elsewhere on the battlefield, light and scattered fighting Thursday left 166 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese dead against Allied losses of 15 government troops killed and 50 wounded.

* * *

One American was killed and two were wounded in a brief clash 30 miles east of Saigon — the only U.S. casualties reported from yesterday. The American unit found three guerrilla bodies.

MY LAI REPORT—Herbert Carter, only casualty in Charlie Company the day of the My Lai massacre, goes over newspapers in his hotel room in Houston, Tex., yesterday where he has lived since his discharge from the Army. Moratorium Leaders Grope for New Antiwar Strategy

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Vietnam Moratorium Committee, claiming to have made the war "again the No. 1 issue in the country," is groping for a new strategy after the October and November demonstrations that brought hundreds of thousands of Americans into the streets to seek "peace now."

December antiwar plans include widespread but low-key, local-oriented activities leading up to a nationwide Christmas Eve peace vigil.

* * *

The December antiwar events represent a decided drop in protest activity, due both to recognition that it's tough to compete with Christmas and the realization that the Nov. 15 march on Washington would be almost impossible to top.

* * *

"We are undertaking a complete reevaluation of the direction we want to go," said David Mixner, 24, a Moratorium coordinator. "We're considering everything from nonviolent civil disobedience to congressional elections.

'WAR IS NO. 1 ISSUE'

"Since we started in September, the war again is the No. 1 issue in the country," he said. "We have already proved that these people are against it.

"The country is never going to return to its days of enthusiasm for this war," he vowed.

* * *

The shift from centralized to local activities also represents the Moratorium's desire to build a grass-roots opposition to the war translatable into power at the polls.

Hepatitis Cases at Groves Eyed

Oakland County health officials are today seeking common links between 10 cases of hepatitis which have infected students at Birmingham's Groves High School since Nov. 4.

In Birmingham the number of cases of the liver ailment has risen from seven in 1968 to 18 this year, and the countywide total is up from 184 to 288. The increase has been labeled "significant" as opposed to "of epidemic proportions."

Investigators are checking the Groves victims, aged 15 to 19, to learn if they attended rock festivals, which Mrs. Donna Cavenee, public health nursing supervisor for the department, says are often a cause of the disease because of unsanitary conditions.

"Drugs, of course, are always a question," she said. "Some have admitted their friends take drugs. Others said they had shared a needle with someone, and others said this was not a possibility with them."

Hepatitis causes liver inflammation, jaundice, fever, nausea and stomach discomfort.

24 Men Probed on My Lai; Army Likely to Charge Most

WASHINGTON (AP) — Army sources say they expect charges to be filed against most of the 24 soldiers and former soldiers under investigation in the alleged massacre of Vietnamese civilians at My Lai.

They estimated the probe will not be completed for about four months because of the widespread hunt for evidence. Interrogations resulted in more leads that have to be followed up, they explained.

But on the basis of what has been developed so far, the sources said there probably will be charges filed against a majority of nine soldiers and 15 former soldiers, all onetime members of Company C, 1st Battalion, 11th Infantry Brigade.

* * *

First Lt. William L. Calley Jr., a platoon commander in Company C, is awaiting courtmartial at Ft. Benning, Ga., on charges of premeditated murder of at least 109 Vietnamese men, women and children.

A decision is imminent on whether to court-martial one of Calley's squad leaders in Vietnam, S. Sgt. David Mitchell, who has been accused of assault with intent to kill 30 Vietnamese noncombatants. Mitchell says he is innocent.

In another development Thursday, the American Civil Liberties Union said the nationwide publicity about My Lai makes it impossible for Calley to get a fair trial.

* * *

The Army has refused to identify the 24 other men whose actions the day of the My Lai incident nearly 21 months ago are under scrutiny.

Violent Storm Hits West Coast

By United Press International

A violent storm over the Pacific sent 100-mile-an-hour winds, rain, high tides and deep snow against Oregon, Washington and northern California again today.

A crewman from the French freighter Michigan fell overboard about 35 miles northwest of Newport, Ore., yesterday, and other crewmen had to abandon rescue attempts because of high seas even though they could see the man's body 20 yards from the ship.

Two persons were missing in a light plane on a flight from Eugene, Ore. Search planes could not take to the air yesterday because of the storm, but hoped to begin a search today.

* * *

The storm that lashed the Eastern Coast abated today, although snow flurries and rain continued in the Northeast. Minor flooding was reported in parts of New England, and hurricane harbor barrier gates were closed at New Bedford, Mass., and Stamford, Conn. Putnam, Conn., had over two inches of rain yesterday, and Boston had more than an inch of rain.

110 M.P.H. WINDS

Wind guests of nearly 80 miles an hour buffeted Eastern Massachusetts. Gusts of nearly 110 miles an hour lashed Cape Blanco, Ore., where more than five inches of rain had fallen by early today.

James Murphy (Left) Heads For Arraignment In Wife's Slaying 'Family Troubles'

Wife-Slaying Suspect Arraigned

ANN ARBOR (AP) — University of Michigan student James Murphy, 21, is being held without bond today following arraignment yesterday on an open charge of murder in the slaying of his wife.

Nineteen-year-old Gloria Murphy was found stabbed to death Tuesday in the couple's apartment near the Michigan campus. Murphy was arrested late Wednesday and formally charged yesterday.

Ann Arbor Police Chief Walter Krasny said the murder apparently was the result of "family problems." The couple had a three-week-old child. Officials said they had been childhood sweethearts.

A police spokesman admitted yesterday that investigators had deliberately cast a smokescreen when they reported soon after the murder that Murphy was not considered a suspect.

Murphy reported to police he found the body.

Pretrial examination of Murphy was set for Dec. 22 in district court.

Restraining Order Sought on Loon Lake Apartments

A suit seeking a restraining order to prevent construction of proposed apartments on Loon Lake in Waterford Township was filed today in Oakland County Circuit Court.

Named as defendants were: Township board member Herbert C. Cooley, Ted McCullough Inc., township planning commissioners James Clarkson and Paul Naz, Waterford Township, the township planning commission and realtor Leslie H. Hudson, who sold a land contract to five of the defendants.

* * *

The suit, filed by Attorney Seymour Beitner of 2978 Shawnee, Waterford Township accuses township officials of a conflict of interest in rezoning of the land for apartments.

The suit also alleges that an incorrect map of the land up for rezoning was published in a legal ad and that a rezoning application before the township planning commission didn't show the names of all persons who had interest in the land.

REZONED FOR APARTMENTS

The township board rezoned land Oct. 6 from single-family to permit construction of 126 apartment units on 9.2 acres and 22 homes on adjacent land.

It had been reported that:

- Township board member and Pontiac police Sgt. Herbert C. Cooley was one of the recorded owners of 9.2 acres of lakeside land when he and the board voted to rezone it. (Cooley has contended his name appeared through an error.)

* * *

- Township board member and realtor Ted McCullough Jr. was also a recorded owner, but was absent at the voting.
- Planning commissioner James Clarkson, president of First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Oakland, became a recorded owner a week after the commission recommended the rezoning. He abstained from discussion and voting on the issue.

* * *

- Planning commissioner Dr. John Naz voted for the rezoning recommendation a week before his brother, Paul, became a recorded owner along with the others and businessman Cyrus Lockhart.

Lockhart is president of Pontiac Farm & Industrial Tractor, 825 S. Woodward.

Cult Leader Charged in 7 Deaths

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Charles Manson, a tiny, bearded man with shoulder-length hair, was formally charged in the seven Tate-LaBianca murders yesterday as authorities investigated links between the "Manson Family" and other slayings.

Manson, 35, the accused master of a knife-wielding hippie cult, delayed until Dec. 22 a plea to seven counts of murder and one of conspiracy in the August killings.

Spectators in the jammed courtroom stood on chairs for a better view as the 110-pound Manson was led in by three officers. He spoke out in a clear and resonant voice when asked if he understood his constitutional rights.

Manson, clad in a filthy fringed buckskin outfit and moccasins, told Superior Court Judge William B. Keene that he did not have the money to hire a lawyer, and the court appointed a county public defender to represent him, at least temporarily.

Prominent attorneys are known to have offered their services free, and it was expected Manson would select one or more of them.

Manson appeared calm, almost bored, during the 15-minute arraignment. As he was led out he smiled broadly at a dark-haired girl photographer.

*

In view of a court order forbidding public officials to comment on any evidence in the case before the trial, authorities will not elaborate on their investigation into possible links between Manson Family and several other senseless murders in the Los Angeles area.

* * *

However, Dist. Atty. Evelle J. Younger told a news conference shortly before the hearing an investigation of the role played by Manson and the five other defendants in the seven slayings was being pursued. He refused to elaborate.

'Fuzz' Inject New Note Into Drug War

'If You've Got No Other Way . . . You Bust Him'
—Dr. Gerald Tobias, Youth Services Director

By YOLANDA BENAVIDES

The Bloomfield Township "fuzz," as the youth bureau members refer to themselves, are out to bust an image, including their own.

The image they are most concerned with is the glorified euphoric domain of colored pills, marijuana joints or heroin injections that are taking an alarming number of young people on hazardous and illegal chemical rides.

* * *

In their attempt to help young violators break this threatening social habit, they are also doing a public relations job for law enforcement officers.

More important, the seven-man team is pushing a preventive rather than punitive approach to what they call a "people problem rather than drug problem."

Since last year the bureau has turned out over a dozen much-needed communication links applicable to all age levels, according to Dr. Gerald Tobias, director of juvenile services.

For example in an effort to acquaint parents with the drug scene the bureau recently put out a 16-page brochure entitled "Our Drug Problem."

* * *

Aside from familiarizing the reader with the type of drugs circulated in the area, the brochure also describes the effects of each drug, the drug user's slang and a description of the laws pertaining to violators.

Members of the Bloomfield bureau also give drug lectures to community as well as parent groups.

SIMILAR APPROACH

The bureau has set up a similar educational approach to inform young people on the hazards — legal and physical — pertaining to drugs.

Since September, law enforcement officers have been meeting on a once-a-week basis with student representatives from area high schools to discuss such problems.

* * *

By next year the bureau hopes to formalize a similar program for those at the elementary-school age, according to Dr. Tobias.

* * *

On a more personal basis is the predinner check where an officer makes any informal house call to the home of a young person who might be inclined to take drugs.

DETECTIVE ROBERT TAYLOR

The visits are made at the request of a concerned parent, friends, or even the school liaison officer.

* * *

"A couple of years ago, parents would have pitched an officer out of their house under similar circumstances," said Township Detective Robert Taylor.

* * *

Today, however, both Tobias and Taylor find parents are not only receptive to initial help, but they often call back for advice even in the wee hours of the morning.

* * *

The bureau is out to help those who want it. Sometimes, the help hurts.

* * *

As Taylor puts it, "If you've got no other way except to 'bust' a kid to make him suddenly realize that violations of this nature are law violations — you bust him."

* * *

Lack of Funds Perils Clubs at Bethune

Bethune Elementary School's Toastmaster and Toastmistress clubs are in danger of becoming nonexistent due to lack of funds, according to School Principal James Hawkins.

The clubs are part of the school's program to change pupils' negative self-images to positive ones.

* * *

The two clubs, each with 10 fifth and sixth graders, write speeches on citizenship and good government for delivery to such service clubs as Civitan, Kiwanis and Negro Business and Professional Women's Club.

They also speak to other groups, including other elementary schools, during noon luncheons, which average about $2 per pupil.

RECEIVED GRANT

During the school year 1967-68, Bethune received a federal grant of about $3,000 under Title III, Elementary and Secondary Education Act, to incorporate an experimental program to improve self-images.

The Toastmasters and Toastmistresses were formed under this program.

* * *

In 1968-69, federal funds were discontinued because of curtailment in Title III funds for Michigan, but Hawkins said the school was able to secure about $300 to continue the program from private donations.

Among citizen contributors were Hortense Riddicks of 146 Jackson.

MADE COMMITMENT

"Miss Riddicks made a personal commitment last year by also contacting various individuals and groups to help the school sustain the clubs," said Hawkins.

He also praised Freddie Corr, operator of the Roseland Skating Rink, Pontiac, who contributed $200 to Bethune School to continue its speakers' program. Funeral director Frank Carruthers also received Hawkins' praise.

* * *

Hawkins said the club has received about $80 this year and will probably be used up after one more speaking engagement.

Traffic Group Lists Programs

The Oakland County Traffic Improvement Association (TIA) report for 1969 lists a number of programs it hopes to launch in 1970.

- Inaugurate a regularly scheduled countywide conference of traffic officials with major state universities and to cooperate on the dissemination of technical information to police bureaus.
- Establish a coordinating unit of police traffic command personnel and assist the existing county organization of judicial authorities in achieving a desired level of uniformity in procedures and traffic fines.
- Make available four additional courses in accident investigation, one in traffic records management and two courses in advanced traffic engineering.
- Introduce additional in-depth public education programs as need is shown through detailed accident analyses and recommendations of public officials.
- Institute a program of roadway "identification and surveillance" which will result in a continuing and systematic watch of the county's entire street and highway network.
- Develop and conduct a program to acquaint citizens with the function of traffic engineering and its unique role in accident prevention.
- Continue to promote the use of safety belts, but a reduced rate of intensity.

Dem Confabs Start Tonight

Eighteenth and 19th District Democrats meet tonight and tomorrow in district convention, in prelude to next month's state Democratic gathering in Detroit.

The 19th District convention will be held at Eagle School, 14 Mile and Middle Belt, West Bloomfield Township. It begins at 7:30 tonight, featuring State Sen. Coleman Young, D-Detroit, as keynote speaker.

* * *

The 18th District organization meets at Birmingham Seaholm High School, 2436 Lincoln, Birmingham, beginning at 11 a.m. tomorrow.

* * *

Both conventions will consider the Michigan Democratic Political Reform Commission report that recommends some sweeping changes in the way of political representation.

* * *

Major areas covered in the reform report include selection of delegates to national conventions, extending the voting franchise to 18-year-olds, democratization of party structure, financing of political campaigns and extension of representation to blacks, women and students.

Plane in Lot Not Ticketed

OREGON CITY, Ore. (AP) — Jack Quintance, a sophomore at Clackamas Community College, parked illegally Wednesday while attending classes. But he didn't get a parking ticket.

The campus patrolman said he didn't issue a ticket because the vehicle wasn't an automobile.

* * *

Quintance arrived in his light plane and parked it in the faculty parking lot. He said he did it to arouse interest in aviation at the school.

And Looks Lighter

He Fires His Pipe

By HARRY J. REED
Editor, The Pontiac Press

What happens when you stop smoking a pipe after 20 years?

Outwardly, you look at least 10 pounds lighter. You are unburdened of the impedimenta of those addicted to the wooden fire pots.

* * *

A bulging pouch disappears from one hip pocket. One pipe, and often a spare, are expelled from side pockets. Piles of matches and a lighter also wind up in the bureau drawer. The pointed reamer no longer drills holes in your pockets.

Pipe smokers of long standing, after shedding all the accouterments, have been known to gambol like astronauts on the moon —suddenly almost weightless.

REED

NOT BRAINWASHED

Fingernails no longer emerge from a trip to a pocket edged in black from the accumulated tobacco dust.

I was not brainwashed by the air-pollution crowd. I simply quit when I had a sore throat and cold, and didn't go back. Yet!

* * *

The bridges weren't completely burned, however. I cleaned up my two dozen pipes and put them away, I didn't just cast those old friends away.

I was tricked into pipe smoking as a college freshman but it didn't take me 20 years to figure out the gimmick.

ATTRACTED BY SMELL

I had never smoked but the smell of a pipe attracted me. The guy smoking the pipe doesn't share the aroma, I found out later.

So did my two roommates at the University of Michigan. To cure me of the new habit which they felt was befouling our diminutive dwelling, they mixed pencil shavings and cut up rubber bands with my tobacco.

* * *

The plot literally backfired when the stink and smeek drove them first under the covers, and then out of the room. This amateur puffer didn't know how bad the concoction was.

* * *

One result of quitting is that your sense of smell becomes more acute. Perhaps it returns to its native, unbesmirched state. Completely accurate dinner details from 40 yards downwind can often be noted.

But, the ultimate reward is improved relationship with the wife. It doesn't come in the form of less ashes on the carpet, or no holes burned in chairs or suits.

* * *

The man who gives up pipe smoking has more pocket room to carry things for his wife.

'Booze Hits Brain'---It's a Plot

By T. LARRY ADCOCK

"The very first drink you take of an alcoholic beverage damages your brain permanently."

* * *

We get a lot of news flashes here in the city room, but none so quick to the heart as the above lead.

ADCOCK

Who is this Dr. Melvin H. Knisely of South Carolina — or this Listen Magazine in which he espouses his theory this month?

"When you take a drink of alcohol," Knisely writes, "the circulating red blood cells become agglutinated. This seriously interferes with blood circulation through the small arteries, capillaries and veins."

TURNS BLOOD TO SLUDGE

Continues the good doctor: "Agglutination means that the red blood cells become sticky and adhere together in wads until the blood becomes, litterally, a sludge."

The sludge, the professor contends, interferes with the passage of oxygen to the brain and, without oxygen, as we all know, the brain dies.

We noted with raised eyebrows the similarities of Dr. Knisely's words — "sludge" and agglutination" — to those well-honed phrases, "intellectual eunuchs" and "effete corps of impudent snobs."

And the truth dawned. It's another plot against newsmen — a monstrous plot against the good name of those notorious tipplers, the newsmen.

CAN'T BE COMMUNIST

However, we realized it couldn't be a Communist plot. Not with the Ruskies' love of vodka.

* * *

So we armed ourselves with nicotine, cyclamates and monosodium glutamate and retired to the neighborhood auxiliary city room for several rounds of demon rum.

Cheers! To your health?

Airport Controversy Swirls

News Analysis

(EDITOR'S NOTE — This is the first of a three-part series on Oakland County's airports. Now owner of two — one developed and the other slated for development — the County Board of Supervisors has found itself the center of controversy.)

By JEAN SAILE

How far should county involvement in airport development extend?

Some administrators and elected officials view the provision of airports as a duty to the future — akin to the construction of interstate highways for increased car traffic some years back.

* * *

To nonflying taxpayers, such involvement is, however, often viewed as subsidizing "a hobby" — a misalignment of priorities.

Oakland-Orion Airport on Giddings Road in Orion Township is the center of the present controversy. County-owned, it consists of two sod landing strips, hangar space for 46 planes and a small terminal building.

HOMEOWNERS ALARMED

Viewed for development as a general aviation facility and variously estimated to cost as much as $50 million when complete, the airport is looked on with alarm by nearby homeowners.

County officials say 80 per cent of development costs are, however, recoverable from state and federal grants.

* * *

Close to $700,000 has already been invested at the site for land aequisition and various studies and plans. No money has yet been recovered from the federal government, however, half the land costs or $325,000, is anticipated.

There are citizens who think and say money spent on airports is ill spent in a day of pressing social problems.

* * *

The sides were drawn no closer through action taken last week by the Oakland County Board of Supervisors to begin development of the Orion airport.

THIRD AIRPORT EYED

Even as money was being appropriated — $25,000 for a study now and as much as $225,000 earmarked in the next year — there were some supervisors considering the need for acquisition of still a third county-owned airport in the southwest area of the county.

Meanwhile there is talk of a vote to rescind the appropriation at the next board meeting at 9:30 a.m. Thursday. Such a vote would require a two-thirds majority, and whether those opposing the Orion appropriation can muster that many votes is doubtful.

Pressure has reportedly been applied to Board Chairman Charles B. Edwards Jr., a Democrat, who voted for the funds. Edwards seeks chairmanship of the board next year, and Democrats are said to be considering the withdrawal of support from his candidacy as a result of his vote.

Edwards voted first to appropriate only $25,000 for a study at the airport, but when that measure failed he threw his support to the final motion which earmarked the total sum of $250,000 for airport development, but which appropriated only $25,000 at this time.

* * *

"They (the board) can withdraw that $225,000 at any time," Edwards said, "and they must vote to approve any of its expenditure — to get it released from the special contingency fund."

"The study is long overdue. We've got to make up our minds whether we're going to proceed out there or not. This is the way to do it," Edwards said.

IDEA MEN — Two Pontiac Motor Division electricians receive equal shares of a $10,000 maximum award from F. James McDonald (center), Pontiac's general manager and a General Motors vice president. Philip Cooper (left) and Charlie Cutajar put their heads together on an idea to move sand from a storage area to the foundry's hot-box mixers on a delivery belt. This replaces the former system of blowing sand through pipes.

Idea Nets Pair $10,000 Award

Two electricians in Pontiac Motor Division's foundry department are each $5,000 richer today as the result of their material-and labor-saving idea to improve foundry operations.

Charlie Cutajar and Philip Cooper shared the $10,000 maximum award with their suggestion to install a delivery belt to transfer sand from a storage area to the hot-box mixers in the foundry. This replaces the former system of blowing sand through pipes.

Cutajar, of 6066 Grace K, Waterford Township, plans to use part of his share of the award for a trip to Malta where he was raised. A Pontiac employe since 1954, he has had 117 of 477 ideas adopted for a total of $19,277. He and his wife have one daughter.

Cooper said he will use his money to purchase a new Pontiac. Of the 212 suggestions he has submitted, 55 have been adopted for a total of $8,408. Cooper lives with his wife and three sons at 3709 Lincolnshire, Waterford Township.

'U-M Satellite to End Lunar Talk Blackout'

ANN ARBOR — A satellite which would create a communication link between the earth and astronauts on the far side of the moon has been designed by a group of aerospace engineering students at the University of Michigan.

The 873-pound craft would do away with the 40-minute communication blackout which now gives astronauts and ground controllers the jitters whenever orbiting Apollo spacemen pass behind the moon.

It would also permit manned surface exploration of the moon's backside. Until now only near-side exploration has been possible because communication must be on a line of sight with the earth.

Linus was designed by a team of 16 U-M engineering seniors for an aerospace system design course, taught by Prof. Wilbur C. Nelson. The 15-week project ended Wednesday with a formal presentation to representatives from industry and the government.

RESEMBLES PIE PLATE

The satellite looks something like a 10-foot pie plate with two large, rectangular paddles attached.

The pie plate is a parabolic antenna, and the paddles are solar panels which convert sunlight into electrical power for the craft's transmitting and receiving equipment. This equipment is housed in a cylinder 2½ feet deep and 4 feet across located behind the antenna.

From its position on the far side of the moon, Linus could pick up and relay radio messages and Apollo telemetry between the earth and astronauts when the moon itself gets in the way of direct line communications.

Survey Shows Buyers' Gloom

Lack of Good News Affecting Consumers

ANN ARBOR (AP) — The Nation's consumers are nearly as gloomy about the economic outlook today as they were before the 1957-58 recession, according to the University of Michigan's Survey Research Center.

Without some favorable news about tax relief, Vietnam, inflation and unemployment, university economists said, there will be a drop next year in demands for cars and other durable goods as well as reduced spending for leisure and recreation.

★ ★ ★

Henry Ford II predicted this week that new car sales would drop next year because of a cooling of the economy.

In interviews with nearly 1,500 families across the nation, the university economists found that consumer buying sentiment has dropped 16 per cent since February, bringing the index near the level that prevailed just before the 1957-58 recession.

The economists suggested that consumer pessimism indicates they are heeding the Nixon administration's message that to win the battle against inflation, demand must be cut. As a result, increases in unemployment are expected.

"The administration's message that the fight against inflation will be won apparently has been heard and believed by many people," the survey noted, "but not by as many as the news about rising unemployment."

The survey found that 52 per cent of those surveyed expect unemployment to climb, compared with 20 per cent who said the same thing last year.

The percentage of those predicting a recession has jumped to 40 per cent, the survey showed. This compares with 26 per cent who expressed a similar belief a year ago.

Census Category Has Secretaries Griping

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

CUNNIFF

NEW YORK — To slight a bright lady is to invite her scorn, and that is what the Census Bureau seemingly has done — not just to one but to 1.5 million secretaries. The girls are more than mildly upset about it.

Their disappointment is especially acute because the girls have been trying to call attention to their best qualities and felt they had been winning a long, uphill battle.

But the Census Bureau has placed both secretaries and stenographers in the same occupational category for the 1970 head count.

The issue revolves around this. There are secretaries and there are stenographers. The latter take dictation and type. Secretaries do all this and more; they are planners, decision makers, executive assistants.

The secretaries don't come right out and say so, but they feel they are superior to stenographers. Secretaries, they feel, are partners with the boss; stenographers are mere workers who someday might aspire to be secretaries.

Miss Bertha Stronach, who is president of the National Secretaries Association, felt compelled to state her case. The significance and importance of secretaries is being recognized now more than ever before, she feels. Secretaries, she said, "have made more strides in recognition of their integral contributions as part of the management team in the '60s than in any comparable period in business history."

But the decade of the 1970s appears to be starting on the wrong foot. The 1970 Census, she states, is going to be "one of the obstacles to a full measurement of secretarial advancement."

★ ★ ★

Research by the NSA indicates, Miss Stronach states, that about 60 per cent of the 2.25 million secretaries and stenographers have advanced beyond shorthand and transcription duties to the "think" demands of secretarial work.

Why lump both together, she asks? "There is a vast difference in the responsibilities and remuneration of the two distinctly separate classifications. It is a distortion to combine them in one category."

NOT MUCH SENSE

Miss Stronach, who is secretary and senior staff assistant to an executive of International Business Machines, says the Census Bureau grouping makes as much sense as combining engineers and draftsmen in one category.

"Draftsmen possess the basic technical skills of their trade," she said. "While engineers have these skills, too, they have also a higher degree of education, training and experience."

★ ★ ★

In support of her opinion, Miss Stronach refers to the definition adopted by the NSA.

It reads:

"A secretary shall be defined as an executive assistant who possesses a mastery of office skills, who demonstrates the ability to assume responsibility without direct supervision, who exercises initiative and judgment and who makes decisions within the scope of assigned authority."

MORE PROFESSIONAL

If you believe Miss Stronach and the NSA, a secretary will become an even more highly professional performer in the years to come.

Currently employed secretaries average 13 years of formal education. In 10 years, she estimates, the education level will be 14 years and will include an associate degree in secretarial science.

Regardless of the Census Bureau's lack of perception, by the end of the next decade, she says, the Certified Professional Secretary rating will have achieved its long struggle for recognition.

Put Education Atop Priority List---Reuther

DETROIT (AP) — Walter P. Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers, says education must be moved to the top of the nation's priority list and injected with a "massive" dose of federal money.

Reuther told a convention of the National Community School Education Association Thursday night that billions spent for war should be spent, instead, for education to help local taxpayers unable to carry the growing load.

"There are no bargain basement approaches to a good education," the labor leader said. "It is going to cost us more and more, but we should be satisfied with nothing less than what we are capable of providing . . .

"Unless we educate young Americans to live in peace, we're not going to deal with the crisis in our cities."

Whenever the nation is faced with the negative challenges of war," he continued, "no one says we can't afford to train our young people to die in battle."

AMC Readies 1st Subcompact

DETROIT (AP) — American Motors Corp. still expects to be the first U.S. manufacturer to the market with a subcompact, American-built automobile.

An AMC source reports that a recent five-week strike by the United Auto Workers did not throw off schedule the planned mid-April introduction of the "Gremlin."

Henry Ford II hinted at a news conference earlier in the week his Ford Motor Co. will introduce a minicar, code-named the "Phoenix," next fall. Speculation on Ford's reported upcoming subcompact has been rife for months.

General Motors already has announced it will introduce a subcompact, currently tabbed the XP-887 around mid-1970.

American Motors has confirmed the Gremlin is upcoming and top sources there report it will be 10 inches shorter than AMC's new compact Hornet, designed to compete with Ford's Maverick, but 9.1 inches longer than the standard Volkswagen.

The Gremlin is aimed at the market segment now dominated by imports such as the German Volkswagen and the Japanese Toyota.

Successful Investing

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q — I would be interested in your opinion of Milton Bradley. — L. H.

A — Unlike many toy firms, Milton Bradley has a strong and stable line of basic games, toys and educational items. This business moves along at a steady rate, improving 10 per cent to 15 per cent annually. In addition to these items are fad-type toys and games. When one of these toys achieves popularity — as two did in 1967 — sales bulge, margins widen and earnings "take off." While this can lead to a somewhat erratic earnings picture, Milton Bradley has been very successful in making up, in basic items, this kind of sales bulge.

A pending merger with AMSCO — annual sales about $6 million — will broaden MB's basic toy line. Both this firm and Playskool, acquired last year, take down a smaller percentage of revenues to earnings than does MB. Thus, there is greater room for improvement, a motivating factor in these acquisitions.

Through the first nine months, earnings moved up 22 per cent to 90 cents from 78 cents a year earlier. Write-offs from the Playskool acquisition in the final quarter of 1968 held down full-year results. Absence of these adjustments should see a return to a more normal final-quarter net and could lift 1969 earnings to $1.45 - $1.50 a share. Selling at a relatively reasonable 17x shares are a worthwhile long-term buy.

★ ★ ★

Q — I hold International Telephone & Telegraph, common and preferred. I need more income. Should I sell and reinvest in something with more dividend? — C. M.

A — You hold shares in a high-quality growth company. Sales and earnings in the first nine months were at record levels. Reflecting uptrending earnings, the dividend was recently increased for the sixth consecutive year. While the yield is not generous, the prospects for capital appreciation and dividend increases are above average. I would rather you sell a few shares as the need arises than eliminate your entire position.

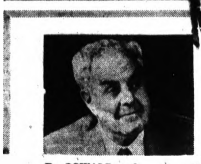
MAKE OVER PACE'S Bridge Tricks From Jacobys



By OSWALD and JAMES JACOBY

South looked at dummy and relaxed. He was in a nice, comfortable, game contract and, if everything went well, he might make two overtricks. Certainly there was no reason to think about the whole play.

He led dummy's jack of trumps at trick two, just to see if the queen would cover. Not that he thought it would. East wasn't one of those automatic honor coverers.

When the queen did not appear, he put up his ace and then decided to set up a diamond discard for his potential club loser before playing any more trumps. He led his jack of diamonds. East took his ace and made the inspired return of a low trump.

★ ★ ★

South played his king after long thought, entered dummy with a diamond and tried the spade finesse. West took his king, played his queen of hearts to pull dummy's last trump, and continued with his 10 of clubs. South could discard his losing spade or losing club on dummy's last high diamond, but could not get rid of both of them and was one down.

East made the old remark, "When both sides play trumps, one is wrong." South had no answer.

He should have looked over dummy carefully after winning the club lead. If he had done that, he would have not led that one trump but would have started diamonds immediately.

This would make it impossible for the defense to pull dummy's last trump and he would have been able to ruff his last spade in dummy and make his contract.

Just for the record, South could have made the hand after the bad start if he had simply stripped the West hand of diamonds and clubs and thrown West in with the queen of trumps to force a spade lead, but the simple line of just not leading a trump too early was far better.

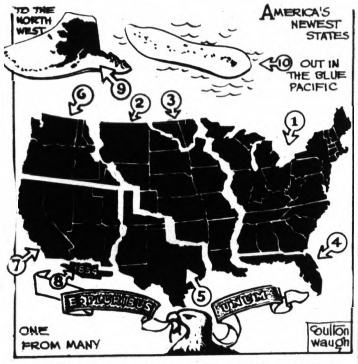
Junior Editors Quiz on E PLURIBUS UNUM



QUESTION: What do the words "E Pluribus Unum" mean on the Great Seal of the United States?

ANSWER: On July 4, 1776, shortly after deciding on the Declaration of Independence, the Continental Congress realized the need of a seal and a motto to express the ideals of the new nation.

The motto means "One out of many." The first states had different traditions, but they all agreed in this basic oneness: the idea of unity and freedom.

Our map shows the sections which joined to become the United States; the white lines show present state boundaries. Let's run down the numbers.

(1) is the 13 original states with their territories and claims in 1783. (2) is the Louisiana Purchase from France in 1803. (3) was an area ceded by Great Britain in 1818. (4) was the Florida Purchase from Spain, 1819. (5) was the Texas Annexation of 1845. (6) was the Oregon Country Annexation of 1846.

(7) was the Mexican Session of 1848. (8) was the Gadsden Purchase of 1854. (9) is our great new state of Alaska, first purchased in 1867 and becoming a state in January of 1959. (10) is our beautiful newest state of Hawaii, first ours in 1898, becoming a state in August 1959.
