

Verifies 4 Yanks Died at Pigs Bay

From Our News Wires
WASHINGTON — Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield has acknowledged that during the heat of the 1961 Cuban invasion several Americans volunteered to fly combat missions and four lost their lives.

Thus the Senate's Republican Leader, Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, got no argument from the administration's chief senate spokesman on his charge Monday that four Americans had been shot down in the Bay of Pigs fiasco.

Mansfield, who said that in this case, he was speaking only for himself, added some details in his statement.

"It is known that a few experienced American airmen were employed to train Cuban pilots, navigators and radio operators. Because of exhaustion of Cuban pilots, several of these Americans volunteered to fly combat missions. Apparently a decision was made by those directing operations to accept this offer. Several planes were attacked and four of these Americans lost their lives," Mansfield said.

SHRIMP BOAT

Shortly before Mansfield's statement, the Castro government sent a stiff note dealing with a more recent scrape—last week's attack on a U.S. shrimp boat.

Cuba denied that its planes had fired on the boat and then countercharged that two U.S. Air Force jets machine-gunned Cuban territory early this month, endangering the lives of Russian and Cuban oil workers.

The U.S. State Department termed the denial propaganda.

As to the Cuban charge that two U.S. fighter planes machine-gunned 100 Cubans and several Russian technicians who were working in Las Villas Province on Feb. 9, a U.S. Defense Department spokesman said "No such incident occurred."

In Moscow, a meeting between U.S. Ambassador Foy D. Kohler and Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko failed to shed any light on Russia's plans for its troops in Cuba.

Kohler and Gromyko conferred for an hour yesterday, but neither commented publicly on the substance of the talks.

It was Kohler's first formal business contact with high Soviet officials since he returned from recent consultations with President Kennedy in Washington.

BURNING TANKER — The abandoned Miraflores burns in the Scheldt River at Antwerp, Belgium, after a collision with the British tanker Abadesa.

Four Ship Disasters: Fear Death Toll of 85

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

As many as 85 persons were feared lost in four ship disasters around the world in the past 24 hours. Nine bodies had been recovered today.

Rescuers braved a flaming blanket of oil in western Europe Scheldt River to keep the death toll down. Sea tragedies struck twice off Japan and once in the Aegean Sea.

The heaviest toll, perhaps as many as 47 lives, was feared in the sinking of the Japanese ferry Tokiwa Maru near Kobe, in western Japan.

The 238-ton ferry collided with a 9,547-ton Japanese freighter early today.

Eight bodies were recovered. Many of the 39 still missing were believed trapped inside cabins of the sunken ferry. Police reported 19 survivors out of the 66 persons aboard.

Eyewitnesses said the ferry sank less than 10 minutes after the crash. A surviving deckhand said many passengers were asleep and had no time to escape.

The freighter Richmond Maru suffered little damage in the collision and its crew was unhurt.

II DROWN

Further south, a 67-ton Japanese fishing boat sank in the rough waters of the east China sea early today. All 11 crewmen aboard drowned, maritime officials said. Two fishing boats found no survivors.

Two tankers collided in the River Scheldt Monday, covering about a square mile of the icy river with flaming oil and blocking traffic on the busy sea route inland from the North Sea.

The Scheldt is the main stream of a network of canals in northern France and Belgium.

Fire turned the 20,766-ton Miraflores, flying the Panamanian flag, into a torch after she crashed with the 13,350-ton British Abadesa.

Capt. Giacomo Verardo of the Miraflores and four of his crew were missing. The body of one Italian sailor was brought ashore. Rescuers saved 33 others including the captain's wife and three new recruits for a total of 66 since seriously injured crewmen. All were Italian.

BRITISH O.K.

Forty-two crewmen of the British tanker were unhurt.

The heat was so great that the skin of your face felt like bursting," one rescuer said.

A third tanker ran aground trying to avoid the Miraflores and the British ship.

The Miraflores was refloated today after the fire was put out.

The Abadesa docked in Antwerp for emergency repairs. The third tanker, the George Livanos, also was refloated.

In the stormy Aegean the small Greek freighter Egli, carrying ore and a crew of 22, capsized Monday after sending an SOS.

Michael Kakaris, 52, the ship's radio operator, was picked up badly injured on an island he reached by clinging to a piece of wreckage. Greek air force planes searched for the other 21 crewmen.

Asian Flu Continues to Take Toll

By The Associated Press

Influenza and respiratory ailments continue to take a heavy toll. The U.S. Public Health Service's Communicable Disease Center at Atlanta said Asian flu has been confirmed now in 16 states and the District of Columbia.

In Detroit, health officials expressed belief that the city's flu outbreak is waning.

They said a spot check of schools and business establishments showed absenteeism was back to normal yesterday for the first time in a week.

Detroit's receiving hospital, which admitted 500 suspected flu cases Friday, said the figure dropped to 300 yesterday.

In one North Carolina area, where flu reached epidemic proportions, there were indications that the outbreak has passed its peak.

SCHOOLS REOPENED

School officials in Wilkes County, N.C., reported Monday that the number of absentees is declining and the county's 28 schools have been reopened. They were closed Feb. 15 because of flu.

Connecticut and Iowa were added to the list of states where Asian flu has been found. Shifted from the list of indefinite to definite were South Carolina, Delaware and New Jersey.

Richmond, Va., reported four new deaths for a total of 66 since Jan. 26. There were 14,728 new cases reported in Virginia last week.

Plans Step-Up in Campaign for Cut in Taxes

JFK Must Succeed in Popularizing Idea, Strategists Suggest

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy is stepping up his personal campaign for a tax cut after being told by top congressional strategists his whole fiscal program is in trouble with Congress and the public.

Capitol Hill sources close to the tax problem said today the chances of a reduction this year — which Kennedy said again Monday has the "first priority" — may depend on two things:

1. Kennedy's success in making the idea more popular than many members now believe it to be.

A surprising number report that most constituents who write at all about the subject oppose tax reduction because they are worried about deficits or do not

Reuther Against Rigidity

Asks 'Flexible Week'

By NORMAN WALKER
Associated Press Labor Writer

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. — Walter Reuther said today he favors a flexible work week shifted according to changes in economic winds rather than the rigid 35-hour week advocated by most other AFL-CIO leaders.

Reuther, head of the Auto Workers Union, said in an interview that he was not opposed to a straight slash in the present 40-hour week as called for by fellow federation leaders.

"I just happen to prefer the flexible week idea," he said. Reuther said a 35-hour week could badly hurt some industries and actually cause increased unemployment.

Romney Pushes Bill

'Open Occupancy a Must'

LANSING (AP) — Gov. George Romney called upon the legislature today to pass a bill that would prevent real estate brokers from discriminating because of race, religion, color or national origin.

"It is my basic personal conviction that the cause of sound human relations and elimination of human injustice is best served by a policy of open occupancy," Romney said in his message to lawmakers.

To back up Romney's request, a bill with bipartisan sponsorship was filed in the senate by Sen. John Fitzgerald, R-Grand Lodge.

The measure is designed to replace the Michigan Corporation and Securities Commission's controversial "Rule 9" which was struck down as illegal last month by the State Supreme Court.

The court, in a 7-0 decision, said the commission had exceeded its authority in issuing the rule.

The Romney proposal, drawn up after consultation with legislative leaders, is more specific than Rule 9.

It forbids real estate dealers from inducing or attempting to induce the sale of property by representing that the presence or anticipated presence of persons would result in:

—The lowering of property values.

Social Security Hike in Benefits Asked

WASHINGTON (AP) — Legislation to increase the minimum benefit of $40 a month under the Social Security program to $75 was proposed yesterday by Rep. John D. Dingell, D-Mich.

"We all know that poverty hits the elderly harder than it does most other people, and that women are usually much more poorly provided for than men," Dingell said. "An adjustment upward of the minimum benefit such as I propose would be to the advantage of man, of our people 62 and over with the lowest income, and particularly to the vast number of elderly women who are receiving minimum benefits."

Junior Editors Quiz on STATUES

QUESTION: Please tell me what "Christ of the Andes" means.

ANSWER: The Andes Mountains stretch up and down the west part of South America and form a natural boundary between the countries of Chile and Argentina.

For years, however, the two countries disagreed as to where the boundary line should be located in two areas: Puna de Atacama in the north and Patagonia in the south. The dispute grew so bitter it seemed as if the two nations were about to go to war on this issue.

Outside nations decided to step in and see if some settlement could be worked out.

In 1899, through the efforts of the United States minister in Buenos Aires, Argentina's capital, a boundary line was fixed in the north. Three years later the Patagonian issue was settled, a compromise having been worked out through the arbitration of the king of England.

Both countries, happy that the long quarrel was over, signed a peace treaty and together erected a large statue of Christ on a high mountain pass between the two countries.

A symbol of perpetual peace between Chile and Argentina, the statue has become famous as "Christ of the Andes."

FOR YOU TO DO: The plains or "pampas" of Argentina were the main areas where the romantic South American cowboys or "gauchos" lived their adventurous lives. Find and read some stories about them.

Sets Messages to Legislators

Romney Eyes Housing, Work Compensation

LANSING (AP)—Gov. George Romney said yesterday he plans to send messages to the legislature this week covering the subjects of open housing and unemployment compensation.

The messages will be issued in conjunction with the filing of bills on the two subjects.

Romney told newsmen that the unemployment compensation legislation will be concerned primarily with aspects of the so-called Ford-Canton case.

The case involves a State Supreme Court ruling that Ford workers in Michigan idled by a strike at a Ford plant in Canton, Ohio, were entitled to jobless pay even though the walkout was called by the same union that represented the Michigan workers.

Employers objected that the court decision forced companies to finance strikes against themselves.

Romney said that in preparing the legislation he was striving to determine the most equitable approach between the labor and management viewpoints.

The governor's open housing measure is expected to cover discrimination in real estate dealings.

The State Supreme Court recently ruled that the corporation and Securities Commission had no authority to issue its controversial "Rule 9", which barred real estate agents from practicing discrimination.

Southfield Council Prevails Attempt to Repeal Rezoning Fails

SOUTHFIELD — Efforts of a citizens' committee to force the council here to repeal a Dec. 18 decision to rezone a parcel of land from residential to an office building classification failed last night.

The council, in December unanimously voted to rezone a 280-by-500-foot parcel of land at Nine Mile Road at Evergreen from residential to educational-research-office classification.

Since then petitions have been circulated by citizens in the area to have the zoning changed back to residential. A total of 1,112 signatures were on the petitions submitted, City Clerk Patrick G. Flannery said last night.

He reported, however, that only 940 were valid. One thousand signatures were needed to bring council action on the matter.

'ACCORDING TO LAW' Flannery further stated that, according to law, the petitions should have been submitted no later than Jan. 28 to call for a citywide vote on the proposed rezoning in the April 1 election.

The Buhr Machine Tool Co. of Ann Arbor and Detroit has an option on the property. It plans to construct three buildings on the site for engineering and educational purposes.

The firm intends to consolidate its Detroit and Ann Arbor facilities in one location.

H. G. Allison Jr., attorney for the company, said that construction of the first one-story building of the $565,000 project would begin early this spring.

Mayor S. James Clarkson had vetoed the rezoning on grounds that there were more suitable sites available in the City of Southfield. The council later overrode his veto.

To Discuss Schools in W. Bloomfield

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — A citizens' advisory committee will meet tomorrow at 8 p.m. to discuss growth of facilities in West Bloomfield School District.

Participating will be John C. Rehard, township supervisor; Claude J. Whitmer, chairman of the township planning commission; Robert Smith, secretary of the Keego Harbor planning commission; Orchard Lake Councilman John C. Hall; and Frank Dickie, councilman from Frank Lake.

In addition, Dr. Ray Kehoe of the University of Michigan Bureau of School Services will explain a survey containing a projection on the population growth of the school district.

The committee will make recommendations to the board of education on long-range plans for site utilization and development.

It will investigate projected housing development, highway expansion, population increases, private and parochial school development and school transportation problems.

John Hall, chairman of the committee, announced that the group will acquaint governmental bodies within the district of school needs.

The meeting, which will be held at the high school is open to residents of the district, he said.

OK Smaller Lots in Troy

Law Approves Over Protests

Get Petition Calling for Further Decrease

TROY — Despite objections of developers and affected property owners the City Commission last night passed a zoning ordinance establishing smaller minimum lot sizes in Troy.

Prior to voting on the issue a petition was presented to the commission, allegedly representing 20 per cent of affected property owners with R-1B frontage.

In effect the petition requested smaller lot sizes than called for in the new zoning ordinance.

The resolution was passed by a 4-3 vote.

Mayor Robert J. Huber, Mayor Pro-Tem Vincent J. McAvoy, and Commissioners Wallace B. Hudson and James F. Carey voted for approval of the ordinance.

Disagreeing with them were Commissioners Clifford Sutermeister Jr., Robert J. Bargieri and Roy L. Duncan.

The new zoning stems from a State Supreme Court decision in September that a half-acre minimum lot size was "unreasonable" and therefore illegal.

Most objections raised fall into three categories:

- (1) Land developers wanted smaller lots.
- (2) Homeowners wanted larger minimum lot sizes.
- (3) Property owners planning on selling their land requested smaller lot-size requirements.

The zoning changes are concerned mainly with one-family residential lots.

In general, the section plan of the city remains the same, retaining the larger R-1A section in the Northwest corner of Troy, decreasing to the R-1E sections across the southern border.

Under the new zoning, lots with public sewage in R-1A section would have a minimum of 21,700 square feet and a 120-foot width.

Those with individual sewage facilities have a minimum of 30,000 square feet and a minimum of 150 feet.

The R-1E sections, containing the smallest minimum lot size, would require 7,500-square-foot lots and 60-foot width with city sewage facilities, and a 21,700-square-foot minimum and 110-foot width minimum on lots with private sewage facilities.

Urban Renewal in Rochester Meets Defeat by Vote of 4-3

By ROGER SRIGLEY

ROCHESTER — "For everybody's information, urban renewal here is dead at this point," said Mayor Roy Ross last night's council meeting, which some 50 residents attended to participate in a public hearing on the proposed rezoning of the village.

After some 2½ hours of discussion, mainly about Walnut street's proposed change from business to a general office zone and conversion of the "Mill Pond" area from commercial to residential, the matter was tabled to March 11.

Then Councilman John Aldrich lit the fuse of the bomb which split the council.

He brought up the tie vote of Jan. 28, when three councilmen approved addition of a non-discrimination clause in the $62,600 urban renewal federal grant application.

Three of the trustees had opposed adding the clause at that time. Councilman Neil Rosso was absent.

Last night Rosso swung the decision.

FOUR VOTE AGAINST Councilmen John Boeberitz, Dr. John Terry, Aldrich and Rosso voted against addition of the clause, which in effect kills the federal grant application.

Rewold, and Councilmen Jay

Eldred and John Lowes approved the clause.

"I've wasted three years of my life," commented Eldred after the meeting. "This is purely and simply an example of narrow-minded thinking."

The council had voted in November to apply for the $62,600 federal grant as a step toward establishment of an industrial park in the southeast corner of the village.

That amount would cover survey and planning costs of the project. The final decision on urban renewal would have been made after the planning survey was completed and a public hearing conducted.

FEDERAL AID It was estimated that the total renewal program would cost $728,000, three-fourths of which would be paid by the federal government.

Included in renewal plans for the area were the straightening of Paint Creek, the elimination of Third Street and the construction of two new bridges to replace the present ones.

It was agreed that the property then could be sold for industrial use.

The grant for survey and planning costs is being held up in Chicago, pending addition of the non-discrimination clause to the application.

George Vilcan of Vilcan-Lemack & Associates Inc., of Southfield, planning consultants for the village, pointed out that only five houses on three lots were affected by the resolution, as the remainder of the site would be industrial.

Advising acceptance of the clause, Vilcan said, "In my opinion this clause doesn't affect the ground rules (of housing) as we know them."

AGAINST RENEWAL. Following the vote, the four dissenting councilmen all stated that disapproval of the clause was a means to an end, and that they were not for discrimination, but were against urban renewal.

"With the information I have obtained," Boeberitz said, "I'm firmly convinced that private industry could do a better job of this on its own, without federal government getting its hooks into it."

"That project is too big without outside help," Rewold retorted.

Ross said he was against any action which forced a person to sell his property.

"This is a tool and an instrument to defeat urban renewal," Aldrich added. "We've been moving forward and now we're going backward." Eldred later argued.

The bride's gown featured a scalloped neckline, long pointed sleeves and a full skirt ending in a chapel sweep. Her fingertip veil was fastened to a crystal crown.

She carried a cascade of white carnations and Stephanotis.

Mary Ann Estabrooks was maid of honor for her sister. Bridesmaids were Mary Ellen Dolan, while Victoria Elizabeth Cook attended as flower girl.

Gary Alderson served his brother as best man. The 300 guests were seated by another brother, Randy Duane Smith of Drayton Plains and William Wittkopp of Detroit.

Middle Straits Community Center was the setting for the evening reception. The newlyweds are motoring to Virginia, where they will reside for eight months.

Olympic Unit Sets Kickoff

DETROIT (UPI) — The kick-off meeting for the expanded 1968 Olympic committee was to be held this afternoon with Gov. George Romney and Detroit Mayor Jerome Cavanagh among the key speakers.

Also on the agenda as a speaker was Fred C. Matthiae Sr., chairman of the Detroit Olympic Authority.

More than 200 Olympic committee appointees have indicated they will attend.

Detroit is battling with Los Angeles and several other cities to win designation as the American city authorized to bid for the 1968 games.

Mate Warned —but Too Late

VALENZA PO, Italy (AP) — Agatino Lo Re, 34, lost his balance and dropped to his death while working high atop a building project Monday.

In his pocket police found a letter from his wife in Sicily.

"Please come home at once. Last night I had a terrifying dream about you. If you don't return immediately, something horrible will happen to you."

WHAT DOOR? — All explorers have faced black moments and David Wilhelm of Decatur, Ill., was no exception. The 15-month-old tot discovered a neighbor's stairway means trouble, but his mother said he isn't slowed down a bit by the shiner.

Community Club to Raise Funds for Boys' Club

The Wever-Owen-Hawthorne-Alcott Community Club again has come to the aid of the Northside Boys' Club.

To help speed up completion of the building on West Columbia and Ypsilanti avenues, the civic group has announced it will finance the remodeling of one of the upstairs activity rooms.

Funds for the project will be raised through a pancake supper March 22 at the Hawthorne School and through rummage and candy sales.

The organization donated funds to have the ground at the Boys' Club graded last summer.

There's money in this pile of old phone books

That's why we're shipping this mountain of old directories back to the paper mill. There it will be reduced to pulp once again, then made into new paper for future Michigan Bell telephone directories.

We salvage about 3 million of these old directories every year—enough to fill a 76-car freight train to capacity!

This behind-the-scenes operation saves a considerable amount of money. And it's just one of the many ways all of us at Michigan Bell work to keep expenses down. We never stop looking for new cost-cutting techniques so we can continue to provide you with telephone service that's high in value and low in cost.

Competition Batters Transatlantic Service

The airways and ship lanes have joined in the cold war—for business. During 1962, some 819,000 passengers crossed the Atlantic by ship, far below the 2.1 million claimed by the competing airlines.

Carrying far too much empty space for profit for the past two years, two of the largest steamship lines are engaged in advertising programs to bolster sagging patronage.

One campaign, begun over a year ago, stresses special services that would put fun into a trip. These consist of instructions in hobbies, Broadway variety shows and, above all, convention cruises. Now the company's liners are booked a year ahead for conventions.

Within the month, another line has launched a program focused on the prestige of crossing the ocean on its luxury ships, a campaign aimed at business and professional executives.

It points out that such passengers, arriving fresh for conferences, stand out from the others. They are relaxed, tanned by the sun and salt air after five days of vacation, at a cost roughly equivalent to the price of a jet flight.

Now the airlines are debating the expenditure of a $5-million publicity campaign to convince the 119 million Americans who have never flown on a scheduled airliner that flying is safe.

For the traveler, it seems to be a question of "who'll take the high road and who'll take the low road."

Agriculture Department Wallows in Ineptitude

In the event you are considering entering the bureaucratic business, we invite your attention to the Department of Agriculture for authoritative modus operandi.

This agency, characterized mainly by ineptitude and vacillation, is by public profession headed toward reduction of its sphere as far as farm control and crop-price support are concerned. This would seem to make a great deal of sense, since even the beneficiaries of its largesse, the farmers, are of divided opinion as to its worth.

But what do we find?

The Agriculture Department now has 96,753 full- and part-time employees pulling the clock. This should gladden the heart of every dedicated bureaucrat. But the piece de resistance is yet to come.

For, with the KENNEDY Administration paying lip service to holding the line on cost of government, Secretary of Agriculture ORVILLE FREEMAN, fearful that he might run a bit short of help, has requested another 6,500 employees for the next fiscal year.

This would give the department a force roughly equivalent to the combined population of Pontiac and Birmingham—give or take a few bureaucrats.

Here's a sidelight on the growth of this bureaucratic monopoly on the taxpayers' back that will cost $10.3 billion for the 1964 fiscal year—exceeding the entire Federal budget for 1940; Last year a Republican Congressman Robert Griffin proposed an amendment to the farm bill that Agriculture could not have more employees than the Nation has farms! It now has one employee for every 37 farms in the U.S. The amendment was defeated, the Democrats voting against it and the Republicans for it.

Years ago, there was a frivolous paternalistic problem posed by the title of the then-popular song, "Who Takes Care of the Caretaker's Daughter While the Caretaker's Busy Taking Care?" Today, there'd be a ready answer: A government bureau.

Apply Adult Standards for Juvenile Drivers

We heartily approve the viewpoint of a group of law enforcement officials meeting in Lansing that the 12-point system governing motor violations be extended to cover drivers in the 16- to 18-year-old bracket.

In the group's opinion, this is preferable to raising the minimum age for drivers' licenses to 18 years from the present 16, as a bill in the legislature proposes.

Instead, it is felt that the penalty-point consideration now given juvenile offenders should be discontinued. Violations by those in this age category come under the jurisdiction of the Probate Court where the point system is not in effect.

Equal driving privileges should entail equal amenability to driving regulations.

The Man About Town

Dogs Steal Show

But Star Scores Triumph, Cuts Own Speaking Part!

By HOWARD HELDENBRAND
A recent luncheon in Detroit updating an old friendship with starring in "Camelot," ran pretty much to dogs... the animal, that is, not the food.

Arthur Treacher

He skipped from his 65-pound Sheep Dog in the show to a pair of 3-pound, 7-in. high, hair-festooned Yorkshire Terriers that accompanied him and his wife, Virginia, on a New York to California drive a few years ago.

Enscathed in the rear of the station wagon, their breed was invariably inquired about by the attendant at every filling station.

At the start, a detailed reply was given. It was pointed out that the poodles are native to England's York County, and explained that English counties are equivalent to American states. My friend added graciously (doubtless because of his long "butter" training) that the terriers are popular with miners of the area because of aptness for early detection of deadly mine gases. Also, it was emphasized that, though falling into the "toy" family, they really are sporting dogs. In fact, having, they are poked into holes to unearth the prey... and so on.

But to the traveler's five-minute monologue approximating 750 words, the one and only reaction was an expressionless, blank-faced "Oh!"

At midinterval, time was taken out for a little statistical recapitulation. It was found that six pit stops had been made, during which 30 minutes and 4,500 words had been expended, with but six indifferent "Oh!"s in return.

The touring thespian decided he was cast in a losing role and for the remainder of the trip abbreviated his reply to: "I don't know what they are—I'm driving to California to find out."

Changing the reply, however, didn't change the reaction. It was still the familiar "Oh!"

But as he eyed a tray of French pastry, Mr. T. opined that he had engineered a slick conversational coup by saving 4,222 fruitless words and 29½ minutes uttering time.

The MAT's reaction? "Oh!"

The Hard Sell

David Lawrence Says:

Powell Hides Behind Word 'Race'

WASHINGTON — Critics who point out a lack of responsibility on the part of some of the Negro leaders in America are often called "racists."

Public school teachers in Washington hesitating to discipline Negro students for fear of being called "racists."

The latest to decry criticism and attribute it to racial prejudice is Rep. Adam Clayton Powell Jr., Democrat, chairman of the House Education and Labor Committee, who has been elected to Congress ten times by the Negro population of the Harlem district of New York City.

When Sen. John J. Williams of Delaware, Republican, recently made a speech in the Senate charging that Mr. Powell was being shown favored treatment by the Administration and was not being compelled to pay up back taxes, the New York congressman replied with a denunciation of Mr. Williams as a man guilty of race prejudice.

It happens that the Delaware senator has voted in support of most of all the civil rights legislation introduced in Congress since he has been in the Senate.

Now comes the New York "Times" to take Mr. Powell to task for his statement. The record of the "Times" as a long-time champion of the integration movement is well known.

The "Times" isn't been published in New York City because of the strike, but it continues to publish on the Pacific Coast a 14-page edition, including an editorial page every day.

In the issue of last Saturday, the lead editorial was entitled, "Because He Is a Negro?" It reads as follows:

"After a soul-searching self-inquiry into why in the world he should be under criticism, Rep. Adam Clayton Powell Jr. has come up with the complete answer. It is 'unequivocally' because he is a Negro."

"Nobody would be objecting to his long, outrageous record as a congressional absentee; no one would have noticed his night-boozing junkies to Europe."

"The presence of his wife on the congressional payroll at over $13,000, while resident in Puerto Rico, would have been ignored, as would Powell's own desertion of responsibility as a House committee chairman in the midst of important hearings."

"All these possible explanations for displeasure by his colleagues and other critics including ourselves have no validity, Mr. Powell states. His only mistake is that he is not white."

"It is not unexpected that Mr. Powell has chosen such a convenient and demagogic refuge. Appeal to race and the drumming up of charges of bigotry have long been his political stock in trade."

The fact is that a Negro in high office usually—rightly or wrongly—receives favored treatment, and is nearly exempt from criticism, in the press and elsewhere, unless his faults are so obvious that silence becomes intolerable.

"There is a general and laudable desire to see a Negro succeed when he has attained a position of public trust. Criticism is avoided for the very reason that it might be mistaken for prejudice."

"Now Mr. Powell has again raised the racial issue in a desperate gesture of self-defense."

There are other implications in the episode besides the political aspects. Here's a man who is chairman of one of the top-ranking committees in Congress—the House Committee on Education and Labor.

But Mr. Powell is frequently absent. Under the seniority system, he has been elected chairman and cannot be displaced except by a vote of his colleagues.

They, however, are afraid to remove him because they, too, might be branded as having racial prejudices—a charge that could be intensified in local political campaigns.

Bob Considine Says:

It's Expensive Love Story for Khrushchev, Castro

NEW YORK — People... places... events... Castro is costing Khrushchev $1-million a day, President Kennedy reveals.

This is believed to be the first time a guy ever had to pay for a honeymoon and a honeymoon simultaneously.

Things can get all fouled up in Peoples Paradise, too, it may be comforting to learn—via the monitoring services of Radio Free Europe.

Not long ago a railroad freight car loaded with Rumanian raspberry juice bound for West Germany inexplicably got itself connected to a freight headed for Decin, Czechoslovakia, and a resin plant.

"None of the railway workers along the entire route paid any attention to the leading papers or to the labels on the car," the scandalized Communist newspaper Pruboj fumed.

"No one at the Kablo works troubled to read the labels either. There was no surprise at the discovery that one of the freight cars was filled with barrels."

"Probably resin," said the workers and cheerfully unloaded them.

"The barrels were lifted by crane and swung over the vat of boiling oil with which resin is mixed at this plant. The bottoms were knocked out and down poured the raspberry juice."

"Eight tons of oil were ruined and the boiler had to be cleaned," Pruboj admitted.

There is no proof that heads rolled as a result of the goof, but the newspaper boomed:

"We condemn this whole chain of irresponsible acts. It must therefore be emphasized again that the principles of the proper Socialist attitude to work must always be followed. The fight for the workers' honor must be one of the first tasks of Party and trade union work in every workshop."

Probably the biggest Red raspberry ever flung.

Has Suggestion for New Chairman

Arthur Elliot Jr., the new chairman of the Michigan Republican Party says "he will try and get more citizen participation in party affairs."

Before he tries much more of this type of selling, I suggest he try selling his own party now on the idea of protection of the citizens right to nominate, vote and elect those who they wish to represent them and knock off some of this select committee to choose whom they want just to save a little time.

I have never seen a younger man... With a love that is as great... As my daughter's little daughter... For a big spaghetti plate... With spaghetti she will struggle... At most anytime or place... And I notice that quite often... Some remains upon her face... It is no exaggeration... When I say it can be said... That her smiling face will always... With tomato sauce grow red... And I often come to wonder... How a little girl like that... With such mountains of spaghetti... Keeps her tiny tummy flat... Now I also love spaghetti... For my dinner any night... But if half as much as they served me... I would faint at such a sight.

'Back to Methuselah' Program

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The Kennedy administration wants people to quit calling it "medical care for the aged," or "Medicare." Congress defeated that last year, so please forget it.

The new name, presented in the President's whopping big special message to Congress on "aiding our senior citizens," is "hospital insurance."

What they should call it is "back to Methuselah."

Requested therein are 36 different programs, some being repeats from earlier messages on health, taxation and aid to education.

Taken together, these programs to aid the aged would cost an estimated $9.8 billion over the next five years.

All are designed to make old age not only less painful but also more comfortable, enjoyable, welcome, well-fed, well-housed and even profitable.

The President points out there are now more than 10,000 living Americans over 100 years old. But if Congress buys all the plain and fancy packages in this message the number of centenarians should zoom into the millions. There will be no reason to die. Old age will be too pleasant.

With only minor modifications, the President asks for the same compulsory health insurance under Social Security that he has wanted all along. Its cost to the individual would be one-quarter of 1 per cent on the first $5,200 of income—to be raised from $1,800, beginning Jan. 1, 1965—$13 a year for both employer and employee. It's cheap insurance for the working years. The health benefits after retirement would be many times its cost—

The new gimmick is that it will give the individual freedom of choice on three health care plans.

All costs for 45 days, all costs for 90 days after the first $300 of expenses, or all costs for 180 days after the first 2½ days' expenses. Thereafter the patient could get 180 days in a nursing home and 240 hours in a visiting nurse for any one illness.

This would not immediately replace present medical care benefits to the indigent under the Kerr-Mills bill now adopted in 25 states. That law would not only be kept, but would be expanded to provide benefits equal to those obtainable under Social Security.

In addition to hospitalization costs of over $5 billion paid from trust funds, the complete plan would give the aged many other benefits, the new programs costing an estimated $26 billion in five years. Here are highlights:

• To meet the housing needs of senior citizens, the President asks for $250 million for the aged, low interest loans, with another $10 million earmarked for rural areas.

• States would be asked to pass new legislation to protect standards of rental housing.

• Additional employment opportunities would be sought, although it was only a few years ago that Social Security law was amended to permit earlier retire-

'Should Investigate Telephone Change'

I agree with E. Valade and I do not think it is right to be forced into something which we do not want. Does it make sense to call miles toll free and pay for a call 3 miles away? Most all the shopping and business transactions are done through the Federal exchange. This whole thing should be investigated.

Disgusted

E. Valade's recent complaint against the telephone company could be matched by thousands of others. I have yet to hear a good word spoken about this arrogant, monstrous communications monopoly. The company's so-called "tariff" book is a laugh.

This outfit should be publicly owned and operated like a certain well-known, friendly and efficient organization, the United States Post Office, which also operates in the important field of public communication.

Today is Tuesday, Feb. 26, the 57th day of 1963 with 308 to follow.

The moon is approaching first quarter.

The morning stars are Venus and Mars.

The evening star is Mars.

On this day in history:

In 1846, "Buffalo Bill" Cody, a man who personified the romance of the frontier West, was born in Scott County, Iowa.

In 1870, New York's first subway line was opened to the public.

In 1919, Congress established Grand Canyon National Park in Arizona.

In 1935, Germany started the operation of its Air Force, which was to become the dread "Luftwaffe" of World War II.

A thought for the day — Russian Author Dostoyevsky said: "Tyranny is a habit capable of being developed, and at last becomes a disease... the man and the citizen disappear forever in the tyrant."

ments and so reduce unemployment.

• New senior citizens act would provide $142 million over five years to aid local communities in planning recreational facilities. Adult education and library services would be offered those who missed college.

• To provide better nursing homes, Hill-Burton construction grants of $30 million a year for five years are asked.

• Old age insurance benefits under Social Security would be raised from $127 to $134 a month for individuals, double that for families.

• The Food and Drug Administration would be given authority to test foods, medicines and therapeutic devices sold to the aged. This is a direct result of the report recently filed by a special committee under Sen. Pat McNamara, D-Mich., showing how the aged have been bilked by quacks.

But this new back-to-Methuselah bill almost outpromises anything offered by the quacks.

The President's tax message, sent to Congress earlier, offers the aged a tax cut. The present $300 tax credit would be repealed. But individuals could earn up to $5,788 a year without having to pay United States income taxes. The total tax reduction to the aged would be $790 million a year.

Don't Be Victimized by the Shot Routine

By DR. WILLIAM BRADY

A reader says he or she is taking calcium in the vein, and for a week or so after each shot, has no painful cramps in legs or hands much less severe migraine. The reader doesn't say whether the doctor gives the shots, if he is not too busy, or leaves it to his office girl. Customers who go for shots generally do not mind who gives them.

Here, I imagine is one doctor who does not call me "Old Calcium Brady." But I regard him or any other doctor who keeps patients coming back for "shots" of calcium, vitamins, iron, etc. (patients who are still able to take food or medicine in the natural way) as frauds.

Such doctors are taking advantage of gullible people who don't mind paying 15 or 20 times as much per shot as the same medicine would cost per week, taken in the natural way.

One merchant of medicine who calls his shop a "clinic" had a land-office business of this type. I told him, in a private letter, what I thought of it, and he deplored my view and said he really believes vitamins are more effective when given in hypodermic, intramuscular or intravenous injections. I had to acknowledge that maybe he does.

MIGHT LEARN SOMETHING
Readers who are subject to migraine (periodic sick headache) or tetany (painful cramps in legs or arms) may learn something to their advantage by studying Pamphlet No. 6, "Why Have Headache," or Pamphlet No. 34, "Adult Tetany and Growing Pains."

For either pamphlet, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope. If you ask for both, inclose 25 cents in addition to stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Migraine, as well as ordinary "nervous" or neuralgic headache, is a common manifestation of calcium deficiency. In lesson 26, "The Calcium Shortage," (35 cents and self-addressed envelope) I mention a dozen other common complaints that are manifestations of calcium deficiency.

Too often, persons with a little knowledge of nutrition (this includes many doctors) are unaware that an adequate daily ration of vitamin D is essential for assimilation and utilization of calcium, whether nutritional or medical.

Ignorance of the physiological fact explains why calcium tablets without vitamin D are not so effective as calcium and D would be.

Another lesson which suffers from calcium deficiency find hard to learn is that once one has obtained relief by correction of the deficiency, one must continue the corrective regimen indefinitely thereafter, prevent recurrence of the trouble.

In other words, follow a high calcium diet and/or supplement the everyday diet with an adequate ration of calcium and vitamin D.

Of course, if you don't like the idea of following a corrective-regimen for the rest of your life, this is still a free country and you have a right to be as miserable as you were.

Write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long, 3-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope and 25 cents to cover buying and printing costs when you read psychological charts and paragraphs.

Can't Grant Powers to Private Officers

LANSING (U) — A home rule city cannot adopt an ordinance granting full power of arrest to special policemen hired by private policemen to enforce laws in a particular area, Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley ruled yesterday.

The opinion was in reply to an inquiry from Rep. Raymond Baker, R-Berkley, who asked about the legality of an ordinance adopted by the city of Southfield.

Under the ordinance, the police chief was allowed to appoint members of any regional shopping center police force as special police officers with full powers of arrest and authority of regular Southfield police within the regional shopping center.

Best of all, it provides for a cash monthly income for your family if you die... income that can last as long as 30 years. This cash income really rounds out your family's protection. And you pay for no waste coverage. When your children are tots, the length of income benefits is at a maximum. As they grow older and protection needs lessen, your protection tapers off, too. Expanding Americans Are Creating Problems

By PHYLIS BATTELLE
NEW YORK — Americans are growing unwieldy.
It is presenting quite a problem to purchasing agents for hotels, motels and college dormitories.

Seems there has been a rapid change in our girls and height, to the point where thousands of American men are today as giant-sized as the relative handful of men whom you only found on basketball courts a few years ago.

Hotels report they are being forced to do away with the old, standard 74-inch beds and are ordering 80-inch models. Six-foot sofas, also standard in hotel and motel sitting rooms, are being replaced by eight, 10 and 12-foot models.

Even bath towels, which were formerly considered "plentiful" in a 24-by-44-inch size, will hardly damp-dry the new giant breed; the new towels are 26 by 52 inches.

Expand Program for Mail Speed-Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Post Office Department yesterday expanded its four-hour downtown delivery program to 214 more cities.

It will bring to 273 the number of cities in the new "AB-CD" program by the end of the year.

Short for "Accelerated Business Collection and Delivery," the plan is aimed at delivering by 3 p.m. any first class mail going to addresses in the downtown area and deposited by 11 a.m. in special mail boxes in the area. The boxes bear "ABCD" labels.

The program began last August in Lansing, Mich., and has been extended since then to 58 more cities. Washington joins the group today in a ceremony at Post Office Headquarters here.

Pushes Button in the Kitchen to Start Auto

MUSKEGON (AP) — Tool and die maker William P. Hulka has parlayed $10 plus some ingenuity and electrical skill into solid comfort for his daily drive to work these biting cold mornings.

He pushes a button in the kitchen while at breakfast and steps later into a preheated car.

Up out of the children's reach is a control panel through which Hulka can turn on the ignition key by remote control and pump the car accelerator, if necessary.

A panel red light flashes on when the engine starts to purr in the garage and then, if Hulka wishes, he can push another button to start the car's heater.

He managed the wizardry by placing a socket in the car dashboard to receive an eight-pronged plug hanging from overhead. The plug cord leads up an enclosed breezeway and down into the kitchen control panel.

Two more projects are under consideration by Hulka — a garage door-opening button and something to clear driveway snow by remote control.

There are 75 miles of paved roads on the site of the United States Air Force Academy near Colorado Springs, Colo., plus 25 miles of improved, but not paved road.

The U.S. Office of Education took a study which shows that schools, too, need wider desks to accommodate the vitamin-enriched and enlarged chassis of our youth.

Back in 1877, an average group of 14-year-old boys was measured at four feet, seven and one-half inches in height and 86 pounds in weight.

Today's 14-year-old is six inches taller, 31 pounds heavier. He could hardly wedge into the old brick schoolhouse.

Incidentally, back in the Revolutionary War days, the average American soldier measured five feet, four inches in height. A few years ago, the average soldier in the U.S. Army was nearly five feet, nine inches tall.

AND LADIES? There are some people who claim that women have no right to be called "ladies" any more. Ed Seay, courtly public relations director for the socially correct Waldorf and a socialite of some standing himself, says this theory is totally untrue.

"Ladies," he says, "are women who are refined and thoughtful. I find women (whom I know) to be even more refined and thoughtful than they were many years ago."

"Today, when you take a lady to a bridge game or the races, she absolutely insists upon paying her own gambling debts — even when they're rather large."

"This was unheard of before. It was always the gentleman's pleasure to pay."

"I find this to be definite proof that ladies will always be ladies — if not more so."

While textiles are still Japan's present a progressively smaller most important export, they rep- share of foreign sales each year.

Thick Ice Will Delay Shipping

DETROIT (AP)—A late start in the spring shipping season on the Great Lakes appears almost certain.

The U.S. Weather Bureau reported yesterday all the lakes except Ontario, are 90 to 100 per cent ice-covered.

Ordinarily, shipping gets well under way by mid-March. But W. W. Oak, Detroit Weather Bureau Chief, predicted that navigation would be late and difficult.

In its first ice report of 1963, the weather bureau said ice generally is at least two feet thick north of Grand Haven on Lake Michigan and north of Bay City on Lake Huron's Saginaw Bay. Saginaw Bay and other harbors are frozen tight.

The report said Lakes Superior, Michigan and Huron are 90 per cent ice-covered and lakes Erie and St. Clair are nearly 100 per cent covered.

HARD GOING

On lower Lake Michigan the Coast Guard Cutter Sundew, breaking ice for tanker shipping, progressed only 21 miles within 24 hours after leaving her Charlevoix port.

Only in the middle of Lake Ontario was there any reported substantial area of open water.

Lake Michigan is the only one of the Great Lakes that carries regular winter traffic of car ferries and oil tankers.

A two-foot ice cover was reported from the harbor at Sault Ste. Marie out into Lake Superior's Whitefish Bay. Similar conditions were reported for the St. Marys River, the Soo Locks channel linking lakes Superior and Huron.

Backs Olympics Fight

SAGINAW (AP)—A resolution supporting Detroit's efforts to obtain the 1968 Olympic Games was adopted by the Saginaw City Council last night. A copy of the resolution was sent to Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh of Detroit.

French Flock to Paris, Bursting City at Seams

PARIS (AP)—So many Frenchmen are flocking to the French capital that there will be from 12 to 16 million Parisians by the year 2000. An official report said yesterday.

There are now 8½ million persons in the Paris region.

The report was published by Paul Delouvrier, in charge of planning expansion in the region. Delouvrier called for increased public and private investment to cope with a city bursting at the seams.

Sweden is 48,000 square miles larger than Norway.

'Litter Labor' Proposed in Legislature

LANSING (AP)—Ex-GIs who haven't forgotten the military-style "police call" may find some uncomfortable nostalgia in a proposed new state littering law introduced yesterday in the legislature.

The bill, sponsored by Rep. Harry Demaso, R-Battle Creek, would give courts statutory power to order "litter-gatherers" as part of the punishment for conviction of littering.

littering.

This means convicted litterbugs might find themselves picking up other people's gum wrappers and cigarette butts. The bill does not specify whether they could use a nail on a stick or bend from the waist, military style.

Demaso's bill would establish a minimum $50 fine—retaining the $100 maximum now in effect—and a jail sentence of one to 30 days upon conviction.

Judges, at their discretion, could substitute labor for any part of the fine above $10 or any part of the jail term beyond one year in cases where no fine was imposed.

Railway Strike Due at 6 P.M.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The Southern Pacific Railway Co. faces a 6 p.m. strike deadline today by the AFL-CIO Brotherhood of Railway Clerks, 11,000 strong.

The walkout would be the brotherhood's first in its 41 years on the Southern Pacific, the west's largest railroad. Union officials say they have been assured that 39,000 other union employees of the railroad will not cross picket lines.

The strike would close 8,000 miles of track through Oregon, California, Utah, Nevada, Arizona, New Mexico and Texas.

Union, company and federal mediation officials continued negotiating but there was little hope of an agreement.

The dispute centers around automation. Union officials say 5,000 members have lost jobs in the last five years. They want such men retained and retained by Southern Pacific for other jobs.

Southern Pacific says the demand would jeopardize its competitive position.

How the wise investor acquires stocks and bonds (and what the beginner may do wrong)

There are many ways to go about investing in stock. But probably only one way that's thoroughly sensible. Begin with your own goals. You may want to own stock primarily to have extra income from dividends. Or your main interest may be in stock that seems to have good possibilities for growth in value. If safety is your goal, you may be more interested in high quality bonds.

The beginner sometimes takes a hazardous route. The veteran usually takes a wiser one.

Beginner: Hears about a "good thing" from his wife's uncle and off he goes. It's important, he feels, to buy the stock immediately—before other people in on the "tip" lift the price out of sight.

Veteran: Selects investments carefully. Goes after facts. What does the company sell? What is its recent record? What dividend has it been paying? How much is it likely to earn per share? Anything new?

To get this—and other—information he probably asks the help of his Member Firm broker. Then he weighs the risk, well aware that a stock is only as good as the company. That stock and bond prices go both down and up. That dividends or interest may be omitted.

Beginner: Invests all the money he can dig up.

Veteran: Apportion his income carefully. Makes sure living expenses come first. Has made provision for any emergency that might bring sudden large expenses. Considers how much of the rest he might reasonably invest.

Beginner: Is unaware of the real differences between brokers.

Veteran: Realizes that no broker is infallible. But he also knows that if he selects a Member Firm of the New York Stock Exchange he will have available to him useful experience and knowledge from a firm subject to the regulations of the Exchange. And that the firm's Registered Representatives have had to meet Exchange qualifications for knowledge of the securities business.

Foes Push JFK to Abandon Plans for Reform of Taxes

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON — Within one month—pretty fast for a retreat—President Kennedy not only shifted ground on his plan to cut and reform taxes but became willing to abandon part of it, the “reform” part.

In his tax-plan message to Congress Jan. 24, Kennedy emphasized that lower taxes would stimulate the economy by giving consumers more money to spend and business more to invest.

Never once in that long message did he suggest he feared another recession unless the economy got a shot-in-the-arm. But as criticism of his plan piled up he suddenly gave a gloomier reason for a tax reduction.

NEW ELEMENT

At his news conference last week he threw in this new element: fear of recession unless the economy got the stimulant he proposed. He said: “What I am most concerned about is the prospect of another recession.”

Some of the steam must have been taken out of him by the way opposition to his plan—various parts of it—mounted since Jan. 24.

Last fall the AFL-CIO, the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, and the National Association of Manufacturers—an unusual group of running-mates under any conditions—all came out in favor of tax reduction.

But when they got a look this year at what Kennedy had in mind, the two business groups parted company with the AFL-CIO and all three parted company with the President.

They weren't the only ones complaining. Some college professors, professional economists, business organizations and even groups of retired people found fault with different parts of the program and for different reasons.

Worse than that perhaps—for Kennedy—the reaction of his own leaders in Congress could hardly be called enthusiastic although they loyally said they'd do their best.

To make things still worse, Kennedy backed a maneuver which was intended to grease the way for his plan in Congress only to see it collapse in complete defeat. This is what happened there.

Sen. Harry Byrd, D-Va., who takes a dim view of any tax cuts unless government spending is cut in —and Kennedy wasn't cutting spending this year—is chairman of the conservative Finance Committee which will handle the measure.

DIDN'T WORK

Kennedy and his advisers thought, if they could just get the committee enlarged to make room for two Democrats favorable to him, they could overcome any bottlenecks. It was a feeble effort and they didn't make it.

This is what Kennedy proposed in January:

Over a three-year period cut taxes for individuals and business a total of $13.6 billion and then take a dim view of any tax cuts unless government spending is cut in changes “reforms”—the government would collect $3.4 billion it isn't collecting now.

Thus the total loss in revenue through the tax reductions would be $10.3 billion spread over three years.

SUPPORT OF MEXICO

Denied Belancourt

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Venezuelan President Romulo Betancourt wound up a visit to Mexico today after failing to get President Adolfo Lopez Mateos to support his view that Cuba's Fidel Castro constitutes an evident threat to the continent.

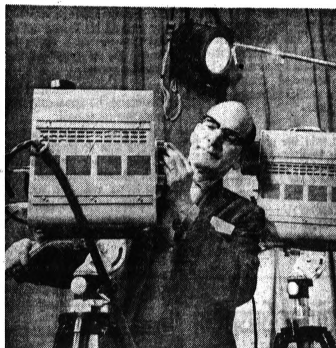

Betancourt predicted at a news conference that the Castro regime “is not going to last long,” and said Havana is a relay point to pass on Moscow's terrorism and subversion orders to the rest of Latin America.

But when he and Mexican Lopez Mateos issued a joint communique on Betancourt's three-day state visit, the sensitive Cuban issue was sidestepped.

WATERS QUIET FOR ROYALTY

CANBERRA, Australia (AP) — The Bass Strait, notorious for its rough weather, was on its best behavior today for Queen Elizabeth's voyage from Australia to Tasmania.

The Australian naval escort Anzac radioed that perfect weather had ensured a restful day for the queen and her husband, Prince Philip, aboard the royal yacht Britannia, due at Hobart, the Tasmanian capital, Wednesday.

plan would give consumers too much of a break and business not up for that through increased spending and the creating of more jobs.

DIFFERENT OBJECTIONS

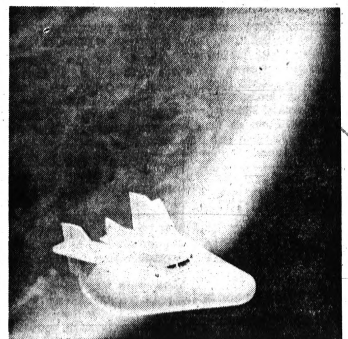

But the NAM and the Chamber of Commerce protested Kennedy's $10-billion cut he planned for three years condensed into one big $10-billion cut in one year.

It might be argued that Kennedy, knowing how much opposition he would face on his tax plan, decided for political reasons to jump cuts and “reforms” together so that if the going got too tough he could compromise by insisting on the cut while yielding on the reforms.

But it doesn't look like that. He expressed willingness Monday—far too early for a showdown or need of compromise—to forget about the reform part of his plan.

This seems a more likely explanation: that the combined plan wasn't well thought out by him and his advisers and he is now painfully beginning to realize it.

QUESTIONS & ANSWERS

about CORTINA—
Ford's newest from England,
America's best import buy!

(because it is the one fine car of the low price, import field)

Q. How big is Cortina?

A. It's five people big — the biggest in the low price import field. 98 inch wheelbase, 168.3 inches overall.

Q. What kind of performance may I expect?

A. Cortina feels and handles like a sports car. It is powered by the industry's most modern 4-cylinder overhead valve, 53.5 horsepower engine, largest, most powerful in its price range. This is the same engine, which with racing modifications, has been a consistent winner here and abroad.

Q. Transmission? I like a 4-speed fully synchronized gear box.

A. You get it in Cortina and at no extra cost! Either stick shift or steering column mounted—your choice. Hydraulically operated clutch, too!

Q. What kind of seats?

A. Individual bucket type up front — wide as an airliner's and a full 53.5 inch lounge in back. All padded with deep foam rubber, of course.

Q. Leg room?

A. You'll fit in a Cortina very well indeed even if you are a six footer, 47 1/2 inches in front, 39.3 inches in back — more than the average of other low price imports. Also more hip, shoulder and knee room.

Q. We've got kids who eat while we travel. Can the upholstery take it?

A. Cortina's color-keyed vinyl wipes spic and span with a tissue. And it's used throughout the interior, doors, seats — even the headlining!

Q. Mileage?

A. More than you dreamed of and on regular. Oil changes only every 6000 miles.

Q. They use salt to melt ice where I live. Can Cortina take it?

A. With the best of them. Bodies are scientifically rust-proofed. Exposed under body parts are zinc coated. The finish is hand-rubbed baked enamel. All this plus unit construction means Cortina's last.

Q. What about noise?

A. Doors, roof and body panels are “sound-conditioned” with heavy mastic material. Whisper if you like!

Q. About that finish again. Is it lacquer or enamel?

A. It's a special specification enamel applied over heavy gauge body steel already treated against corrosion. It is especially resistant to flying gravel and with a minimum of care will last years. Bright work is stainless steel and heavy chrome. The grille is die-cast from non-tarnishing chromium plated aluminum.

Q. What is Cortina's price bracket?

A. In the import price range, a few dollars more than the smallest, hundreds less than others with no greater room.

Q. Are Cortina's difficult to service?

A. Of course not. All fittings — nuts and bolts — are U.S. standard size. All Cortina dealers are supplied with normal parts replacement and render skilled service at low cost.

Q. Is the trunk adequate?

A. Better than 20.9 cubic feet and it's got bag wide. No other low price import can compare. Next nearest is only 15 — that's 25% less! You also get a car wide parcel tray under the padded dash — and a glove box.

Q. What are the extras?

A. Not many. A radio if you want one and a heater that's a knockout. The rest comes with the car. Examples: Two electric wipers, two padded visors, two padded arm rests, 3 ash trays, silent shut safety door locks, two mufflers, opening rear quarter windows, 12 volt battery, etc., etc., and etc.

Q. Where may I try a Cortina?

A. At any Cortina dealer listed below.

Best of the imports because best of all CORTINA is a PRODUCT

Waterford Schools Adopt Nuclear Plan

In the event of nuclear attack, youngsters would be safer in their homes than in Waterford Township school buildings, school district administrators have concluded.

"Our concern is not to legislate morals," Wendell Bassett, president of the Michigan Coun-

A recent survey of the school buildings conducted by the Corps of Engineers, Office of Civil Defense, and the United States Department of Defense disclosed that most of the schools have a protective factor of 1.

The minimum fall-out protective factor for a shelter area should be 4, according to Civil Defense authorities.

Though no protective factor was established for private dwellings, school and Civil Defense officials agreed that houses generally would be far safer than school buildings.

New schools, with vast window areas and no basements, would offer almost no protection, according to the survey.

In addition to offering better shelter, private homes could provide an adequate food and water supply for subsistence during the minimum two week shelter period. These necessities would not be available at the schools.

A letter to parents of pupils in the school system on nuclear attack procedure will be mailed this week from the administration building.

The prescribed procedure is based upon findings of the various governmental agencies and on data compiled by a special committee of school system personnel.

In the event of a nuclear attack warning, the Board of Education is to notify each school by telephone.

All pupils are to be dismissed immediately.

Staff members will be dismissed when the buildings are cleared of children.

PUPILS MUST WALK

Pupils will be obliged to walk, as bus service is considered unfeasible in an emergency situation. Each school will be responsible to instruct children on the safest means of arriving home.

Parents or guardians will be responsible for arranging a shelter plan for youngsters unable to make it home in a reasonable amount of time or for those whose parents or guardians are not home during school hours, the letter concludes.

Sunday Liquor Pros, Cons Are Stirred

During the four-hour hearing, one senator admitted he had broken the law and another lawbreaker said several "independent" witnesses were all using charts and graphs furnished by a temperance organization.

Support for the measure, sponsored by Sen. Stanley Rozyczki, D-Detroit, was voiced by members of the Detroit Common Council, Convention Bureau officials and major Detroit hotels.

The Common Council already has voted to support a Sunday liquor policy for the Motor City.

Convention officials testified that Detroit has had trouble lining up meetings because many convention-goers have the idea the city is a dead town on Sundays, when many delegates arrive for pre-convention activities.

Opposition to the bill was based mainly on arguments that allowing bars to serve liquor on Sundays would result in an increase in traffic accidents.

"Our concern is not to legislate morals," Wendell Bassett, president of the Michigan Coun-think they will deny anyone a drink of whiskey by the Sunday ban," he said in a statement read into the record.

"If a man does not know a bar that is cheating on Sunday — and there are many of them — or does not know a 'blind pig' — which are plentiful — he will buy a bottle of whiskey on Saturday, so who is kidding who?"

"All these healing-thou people are doing is making chiselers out of people, cheats out of bartenders and crooks out of policemen."

One witness objecting to the bill was the Senate minority leader, Sen. Charles Blondy, D-Detroit.

He said that as presently written, the measure would allow discrimination as to which bars would be allowed to serve Sunday liquor.

Blondy said that there was very little difficulty now for anyone who wants to buy liquor on Sunday.

"All you have to do is call the bell-boy in your hotel," he said, "admitting under questioning that he knew about the system because he has purchased liquor from bellhops himself on Sundays."

"I'd be glad to support the proposal if it was properly presented," said speaker pro tem Wilfred G. Bassett, R-Jackson. "But saying a 'no' vote is a vote for communism — that's going too far."

A charge that Guzowski "sounded too much like the late Sen. McCarthy" came from Rep. William Huse, D-Saginaw. "He lost my vote when he said we were welcoming communism to Michigan," Huse added.

Lawmakers Balk at Statement

Lansing Red Ban Proposal Backfires

LANSING (AP) — A proposal aimed at banning Communist speakers from state college campuses backfired loudly against a Detroit legislator last night after fellow House members saw red over some of the things he said.

Lawmakers took particular umbrage at the statement by Rep. Richard A. H. J. Guzowski, D-Detroit, that a vote against forcing his proposed constitutional amendment out of committee would be "a vote for communism."

They responded with a 75-7 vote that killed any chance of the resolution getting onto the April 1 ballot and carried with it an emphatic rebuke for the sponsor.

Carpeting Can Create Movement, Gaiety Women's Section

Singing color and texture in a carpet creates a feeling of movement in a room and eliminates a static look. Roxbury's "Magical," shown here, illustrates this important fashion trend. Practical too, this new Acrilan carpet bounces right back from footprints and cleans in a jiffy. Twelve crystal-clear colorings, include a buoyant Larkspur blue. In addition, the line offers 12 handsome tweed effects.

Gay pattern underfoot is extremely attractive and easy to live with, in addition to being this year's big carpet news. This colorful wool floral by Roxbury (Greylock) makes a dramatic room-size rug for homemakers who prefer not to completely cover their floors. Available in 9- and 12-foot widths, the carpet may be cut to any desired length for an interesting rug effect that's uncluttered and fresh looking. In addition the cheerful over-all pattern, on a neutral beige or grey background, helps mask soil and footprints.

Take Lesson From In-Law, Try Some Tender Inspiration

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: My mother-in-law carries my father-in-law his juice while he is shaving, and then drives his car out of the garage and warms it up for him.

ABBY: I have tried to get my wife to adopt these tender, loving gestures, but she won't do it. How can I get her to take a lesson from her mother?

LATE RISER

DEAR LATE: You can't "get" your wife to perform "tender, loving gestures" by demanding them. Find out what your father-in-law does to inspire such thoughtfulness, and take a lesson from him.

DEAR ABBY: Since I got pregnant four months ago, every little thing upsets me. The house looks a wreck, I never get caught up in my washing and ironing and the kitchen sink is always full of dirty dishes.

I can't control the older children. I scream at them until I'm hoarse and whip them until I'm exhausted. I'm so glad when they're at school.

I cry a lot when I'm alone and think I must be "crazy." I have prayed for help but none comes.

I could never tell this to my doctor. Everyone thinks I'm so calm. This baby will be number ten.

"CRAZY PERSON

DEAR MOTHER: A "crazy person" does not usually know that she has a problem, nor does she seek help as you have done in writing to me.

If you can't talk to your doctor, see your clergyman right away. He will understand and help you, but you must do as he says.

DEAR ABBY: I have noticed on several occasions the question in your column about how much control parents have over their children's mail.

Unless postal regulations have changed since I retired two years ago, parents have the mail of their children until the children reach the age of 21 — if they are living at home.

Children under 21, living with their parents, are denied the right to rent post office boxes or to receive mail at the general delivery window.

A. M. Mc. (Retired Postmaster, Clarksburg, W. Va.)

CONFIDENTIAL TO "ON THE VINE": You'll enjoy life more if you get off the grape.

What's on your mind? For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to ABBY, in care of The Pontiac Press.

Hate to write letters? Send one dollar to ABBY, for my new booklet, "How To Write Letters For All Occasions."

Easy to Care Plastic Lace

A renowned manufacturer of lace tablecloths has introduced a selection of plastic "cloths" which represent a new high in elegance for easy-to-wash table covers.

Spreading a table with one of these lovely embossed "eyelot embroidery" cloths is a tactful and easy way to introduce gracious living to youngsters — since the glamour of lace is sure to encourage "company manners" even at family meals.

Washing this type of "heirloom" is merely a matter of a sudsy sponge-off right on the table, plus a suds-and-water dip now and then.

Others included Mrs. Theodore Marchbanks, Mrs. Walter Drake, Mrs. Blanche Woodman, Paul Hagle, Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Sweeney, Mrs. Kenneth Anthony and Mrs. Earl Ross.

Mrs. John Schroeder was in charge of decorations.

Don't Send Repair Bill to Friend

By The Emily Post Institute

Q: Recently we entertained a business friend of my husband's and his wife at our home. During the course of conversation the husband put his cigarette down on the ash tray and it fell off onto the coffee table.

Before anyone noticed it, it had burned quite a hole in the table. He of course apologized and asked us to have it repaired and to send him the bill. The bill amounts to $20. My husband thinks we should send it to him as he asked us to do.

I do not think it would be proper. Please advise us as to the proper course to follow.

A: If you have household fire insurance, your policy will more than likely cover the damage done to your coffee table. If not, I really don't think you should send him the bill as it was an accident that could happen to anyone.

Q: My niece and I have the same name. We are both unmarried and live in the same house. This causes endless confusion with the mail. Will you please tell me how we can correctly distinguish ourselves and clear up some of this confusion?

A: The best way to establish herself as Miss Mary Smith Jr., and you would be known as Miss Mary Smith. Or if you do not object to being known as Sr. you could add Sr. after your name.

Q: My fiancé talks about having four friends as ushers; whereas I plan to have only two bridesmaids. Will this be proper or will I have to ask two additional friends so that the number will be even?

Or, if I do have only two attendants and he has four, should two of the men simply usher and not walk in the procession?

A: It is not at all necessary that the number of bridesmaids and ushers be even. They all walk in the procession — the ushers first two by two followed by the two bridesmaids walking together.

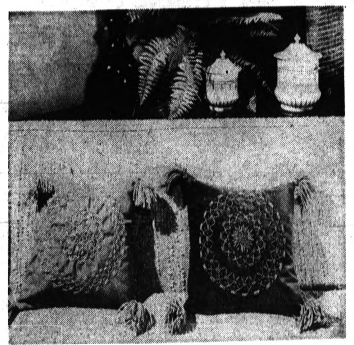

The Emily Post Institute cannot answer personal mail, but all questions of general interest are answered in this column.

HINTS COLLECTED BY MRS. DAN GERBER, MOTHER OF 5

At one time or another, almost every toddler comes down with a minor misery that requires stay-at-bed treatment. Big problem is how to keep a runaway happy in bed (when active amusements are denied him). Aside from favorite stay-at-tops, TV or mother-stories, have you given thought to these cheerier-uppers?

• An old purse, filled with little treasures, for the important business of putting in and taking out things.
• Crayons and a brown paper bag to puzzle "artistic tendencies."

The bride, daughter of the Charles A. Eaglens of Jordan Road, wore white silk organza and imported French lace with a chapel train.

Her silk illusion veil was fitted to a spray of pearls and crystals. Stephanotis surrounded a white orchid for her bouquet.

Pair From Southfield Involved

Named in Death, Army Deserter Confident

BARCELONA, Spain (UPI)—A U.S. Army deserter, accused of killing a Barcelona businessman last fall, believes he will not die for the slaying.

James Wagner of Union Beach, N. J., has spent more than two months in a prison here.

"I don't think they will kill me," Wagner said in a UPI interview.

"If they convict me I think they'll let me out after paying some indemnization to the victim's family and serving a few years in jail," he told UPI in an interview.

According to Spanish law, he could be sentenced to death by garroting if convicted of homicide with robbery, a charge on which he was indicted early last December.

Three other Americans and a British woman also were in jail here, indicted on charges of being accomplices to the murder of Barcelona businessman Francisco Rubirosa Closas last Nov. 17.

All of them were arrested and jailed shortly after Rubirosa's body was found on the floor of his office here, his skull fractured from a blow with a meat tenderizing hammer and his corpse marred by knife wounds.

FOLLOW TRIAL
Police followed a trail that led along the Barcelona waterfront to a smoky cellar night club favored by sailors and a crowd of international beatniks, the "Jamboree Club."

Their investigations led to the arrest of Wagner and the others. The three other Americans and the British woman formally accused of being his accomplices are:

—James Stephen Johnston, an English language teacher born in Bluejacket, Okla., who lives in 802 Concord St., Framingham, Mass.

—John Hand, whom the U.S. consulate in Barcelona said was from Southfield, Mich.

—Mrs. Nancy Karen Hand, Hand's sister-in-law, also from Southfield, Mich., according to the consulate.

—Miss Joan Douglas Bryden, 21, of Lanark, Scotland.

Last Jan. 18, Spanish authorities expelled another American who had been arrested in connection with the case. She was jazz singer Gloria Stewart of New York City, a performer at the "Jamboree Club."

The alleged accomplices if convicted could get jail terms of up to 14 years and eight months.

According to Spanish law, the trial would not take place until Signal Battalion of the U.S. prosecuting and defense attorneys completed the assembling of evidence, which is not expected until late this spring. They are in jail in Barcelona.

NAMED IN SUIT

All of the accused also were named in a $9,000 damage suit brought by the government in favor of the victim's family.

Wagner, according to prison officials, received packages regularly from his former fellow soldiers in an American Army unit at Heilbronn, West Germany.

Wagner said his father, William Wagner of Union Beach, N. J., suffered a heart attack when he learned his son was accused of murder. He added his father has recovered and has returned to work.

Under Spanish law, Wagner and the other four are considered guilty unless proved innocent before or during the trial.

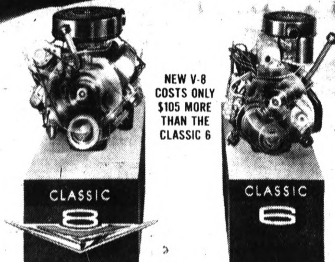

Wagner was arrested a few days after the murder, just after he had signed on as a cabin boy aboard a ship that was ready to sail from the Mediterranean island port of Palma de Mallorca.

American military authorities in Madrid identified him as a deserter from the 26th Combat Battalion of the U.S. Army.

WONDERFUL BANANAS — Start off with some beautiful bananas . . . and you can make any kind of dish your fancy dictates; fruit soup, delightfully infused with luscious bananas; a banana-fudge that's sheer enjoyment to nibble on; pie with a refreshing exchange of rich banana and tangy orange flavors, and a pork-chop-and-banana main dish, cooked in a savory sauce, for those who simply love good food.

Have an All-Around Fiesta With Versatile Bananas

"If all roads lead to Rome . . . as the old saying goes . . . then surely all recipes lead to bananas! There's hardly an occasion, a meal, a dish where the versatile banana doesn't appear to advantage, imparting its rich, full flavor and creamy good-looks-to-its culinary companions. It's with good reason that this luscious fruit is known as the "Fruit of the Wise Men" . . . the acknowledgement dating centuries back to India, where the fruit was highly esteemed by the learned elders who considered it a suitable feast in itself.

The learned homemaker of today favors the fruit, not only for its adaptability and temptability, but also for its important nutritional qualities. Bananas are ideal for diets of all kinds . . . reducing diets, too . . . because they're filling and satisfying; yet one medium-sized banana has only 85 calories. They contain no cholesterol at all, and just a mere trace of sodium. They're so easily digestible that infants eat them as the first permissible solid food.

Bananas for breakfast . . . served kabob-style atop French toast or pancakes . . . will convince even the sleepiest to arrive at the table on time. For a party luncheon, what could be more effective (and secretly so easy to do) than a sophisticated-fruit-soup . . . served welcome-warm or icy cold. If your teen-ager is bored, set her to making some bananas fudge . . . a favorite recipe with a new twist. Want a real festive company dish with a foreign accent? Then, by all means, serve bananas in a mild, intriguing curry. Desserts, of course, and family main dishes all take on heavenly deliciousness when they're made with bananas . . . so easy to cook with.

And, not the least, bananas, are at your beck and call . . . available all the year around, each wrapped in its own dust-proof container, ready for you to use in this bevy of recipes for your own exclusive Banana Fiesta Time.

Pie Filling Is Blend of Fruits

Almost every recipe for banana pie is a cream pie. The one given here is different.

A fruity sauce is poured over the sliced bananas in the pie shell. Just before serving time, the top is garnished with whipped cream.

SULTANA BANANA PIE

½ cup sugar
2 tablespoons cornstarch
1 can (6 ounces) frozen banana-orange concentrate, thawed
¾ cup raisins
1 tablespoon grated lemon peel
¼ cup lemon juice
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
3 medium bananas, all yellow
Baked 9-inch pie shell
1 cup heavy cream
¼ cup orange curacao or orange juice

Mix together sugar, cornstarch, banana-orange concentrate, orange juice, raisins, lemon peel, lemon juice and butter. Cook, stirring constantly, until thickened and clear. Cool, stirring occasionally.

Slice 1½ bananas and arrange in pie shell; pour over half of sauce. Slice 1½ bananas and arrange over sauce; pour over remaining sauce. Chill 2 hours or until firm. (Wrap remaining ½ banana in transparent plastic wrap and chill.)

At serving time whip heavy cream with orange curacao; heap around pie. Slice remaining ½ banana and stand up in whipped cream.

Makes 9-inch pie.

Fruit Soup Unusual Hot Course

FOUR FRUITS SOUP

2 packages (10 ounces each) frozen raspberries, thawed
2 cups orange juice
1 tablespoon cornstarch
¼ teaspoon allspice
2 medium bananas, all yellow
1 can (9 ounces) pineapple chunks, drained
12 whole cloves
Sour cream

Force 1 package of raspberries through sieve, or blend in electric blender and strain to remove seeds. Stir orange juice into cornstarch and allspice in saucepan; cook, stirring constantly until mixture boils. Add raspberry puree and remaining 1 package raspberries. Slice bananas into soup.

Bananas, Oranges Broiled on Stick

Good For Breakfast!
BANANA KABOBS

½ cup honey
2 tablespoons lemon juice
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
¼ teaspoon cinnamon
3 medium bananas, green tipped
3 medium oranges, peeled and sliced
6 slices French toast

Combine honey, lemon juice, butter and cinnamon in saucepan; stir over low heat until butter melts. Slice bananas 1 inch thick; alternate with orange slices on 6 skewers. Brush fruit with honey sauce. Broil kabobs 3 to 4 inches from source of heat about 5 minutes; turn; brush again with honey sauce and broil 5 minutes longer. Serve banana kabobs with French toast and remaining honey sauce. Makes 6 servings.

Broil Whole Bananas With Thick Ham Steak

Heartily meat dishes are still very much in style these uncertain mid-winter days. If there's lots of kitchen time, there's nothing like a filling stew or hefty roast to provide rib-sticking nourishment so necessary to battle the elements.

But when days are short, and the palate yearns for a particularly delectable flavor, zesty ham steak takes but minutes to broil. And, to add sunny flavor and even more vitality value, luscious bananas can sizzle happily right along with the ham.

Always in season, and so good to eat right from the peel, bananas take on their vegetable guise quickly and easily. The tropical fruit undergoes a subtle flavor change when broiled (or baked, or fried). The buttersmooth texture remains, and the mellow sweetness makes a fine foil for ham and other pork products.

Sizzling Ham-Banana Broil
1 smoked ham steak, 1-inch thick
3 tablespoons melted butter
4 firm bananas

Turn oven control to broil setting. Score the fat edge of the ham steak to prevent it from curling. Place steak on broiler rack so that meat surface is 3 inches below heat. Broil for 10 minutes. Turn and continue to broil for 5 minutes.

Meanwhile, peel bananas, brush well with butter, and place on rack beside the ham steak. Broil for 5 more minutes or until ham is done and bananas are lightly browned. Serves 4. (Note: If using cooked, ready-to-eat ham, allow 5 minutes broiling time for each side.)

Let Banana Halves Simmer With Chops

Green-tipped bananas are the best kind to use for this recipe. AMERICAN PORK AND BEANS
6 loin pork chops 1-inch thick
¼ cup flour
1½ teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
¼ teaspoon allspice
1 small onion, chopped
1 cup water
1 can (6 ounces) frozen orange juice concentrate, thawed
3 medium bananas, green-tipped Parsley

Trim fat from chops and cook in skillet 3 to 5 minutes; discard fat pieces. Mix together flour, salt, pepper and allspice. Coat chops with seasoned flour; re-

Vegetable Medley Fills Molded Salad

An especially festive salad to serve is Molded Vegetable Slaw. Prepare a package of lemon flavored gelatin according to package directions using the liquid from canned mixed vegetables as part of the liquid. Add salt and vinegar to taste; chill until partially thickened.

Add the drained vegetables and some finely shredded cabbage; chill until firm. Unmold on serving plate and surround with crisp greens. Pass Mayonnaise.

Sugar cookie dough is sometimes used as the base for cheese cake.

Spread Cheese Over Bread Before Broiling

French Bread With Spread

½ cup butter
½ teaspoon paprika
1 tablespoon horseradish
¼ cup crumbled American blue cheese (about 1½ ounces)
1 loaf French bread
2 tablespoons chopped parsley

Blend well the butter, paprika, horseradish and blue cheese. Split bread lengthwise and spread with cheese mixture. Place in broiler. Remove when bread is thoroughly heated and cheese mixture is bubbling. Garnish with chopped parsley before serving.

Mash Bananas for Meat Loaf

Just as bananas add their mellow goodness to a wealth of baked goods, so, too, they assure extra flavor and moistness in a meat loaf. Takes only a few minutes to combine the mashed bananas with the other ingredients, then into the oven for just about an hour — no watching needed!

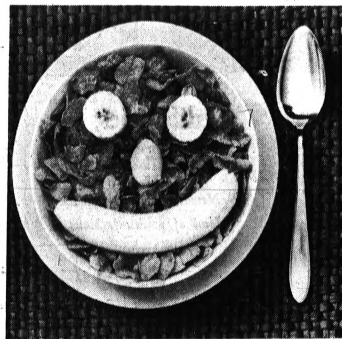

Good old-fashioned vegetables accompany our faithful friend — mashed potatoes and carrots, both in plentiful supply this mid-winter season. Here, too, add a savory surprise — perhaps a touch of thyme to the potatoes, some lemon juice mixed with the butter to dress the carrots.

Banana Meat Loaf

2 pounds ground beef
2 tablespoons chopped onion
2 teaspoons salt
½ teaspoon pepper
2 cups soft bread crumbs
2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce
1½ cups mashed bananas (about 4 bananas)
Mix meat, onion, salt, pepper, crumbs, and Worcestershire sauce. Add mashed bananas to meat mixture and blend well. Pack into 8½-inch loaf pan. Bake about 1 hour in moderate oven at 350 degrees or until meat is thoroughly cooked. Makes 6-8 servings.

Dressing Extends Meat

If you are caught in a trap with only hamburger in the refrigerator when unexpected dinner guests arrive, extend the hamburger and make it something special by mixing it with a small can of deviled ham and ¼ cup of low calorie Blue Cheese dressing per pound. Low in calories because the dressing has only 6 per teaspoonful, but too delicious to be relegated to diet use only.

BANANA FUNNY FACE — Start the day with a laugh. Fill two dishes with a favorite hot or cold cereal. Cut a curved peeled banana in half lengthwise, place one half on each cereal in the position of a smiling mouth. From the second banana, cut cross wise slices. Use each tip of banana for comical nose. This is good for pancakes too.

GOOD LUCK — When you know a test is in the offing, give your young student encouragement and a good laugh with a real lunch box message.

A few words pressed on the smooth yellow peel of a banana with a pencil or ball point pen will develop into a readable replica of your original message within a few hours. Pressure should be even and firm, but not enough to break the peel. No damage is done to the fruit pulp in this way, and it remains perfectly sealed until ready to eat.

SIZZLING PLATTER — Delectable flavor makes ham steak broiled with bananas an appealing mid-winter main dish. Time-saving, too, as mellow-sweet bananas cook right along with the meat.

New Wage Bill for $1 Minimum

Drafted With Assist of Governor's Staff

LANSING (AP)—A $1 minimum wage proposal — drafted with the aid of Gov. George Romney's staff but carrying no official endorsement — has been added to the stack of minimum wage bills collecting in the House.

It carries the name of Rep. William Doorn, R-Grand Rapids, who earlier had been identified as the man who would introduce a minimum wage bill on behalf of the Romney administration.

Both Doorn and the governor's office said, however, that the bill was the lawmaker's own and although Romney aides were consulted in its drafting, it could not be termed an administration bill.

"This is the bill I announced last summer, I would propose," said the Grand Rapids legislator. "I haven't even consulted with the governor on it."

Romney has stated numerous times he supports a minimum wage but he has never discussed a specific figure. Bills pending in the legislature range from 75 cents to $1.50.

Doorn's bill would allow an exemption of up to 30 cents for employers of waitresses and other workers whose income is drawn heavily from tips or gratuities.

The minimum wage for such employees could be reduced to 70 cents an hour if the employer could show "substantial evidence" that they received enough in tips to make up the difference.

It would not apply to farm workers, domestics, government workers, voluntary employees of educational, religious or charitable institutions, newsboys, golf caddies, theater ushers, salesmen, employees of resorts open less than six months a year, students employed part-time or persons in executive, administrative or professional jobs.

New Orleans Goes Wild at Mardi Gras

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP)—Almost anywhere else it would be sheer lunacy. But New Orleans calls it Mardi Gras and becomes the "city that care forgot."

Half a million people—maybe more—throw away their inhibitions today for one big, frenzied blowout.

Cool weather and scattered showers were forecast, but it would take a downpour to drive the happy crowds off the streets.

MASKS REQUIRED

Between sunup and sundown masking is the rule—this year by order of Mayor Victor Schiro. The variety of costumes is endless.

The masked revelers cavort through the city as costumes and makeup turn sedate businessmen into creatures from outer space, kids into clowns, women into harem girls.

Whole families dress in monkey suits, some draped in Spanish moss.

Parades are scheduled throughout the day and into the night, starting with the zany antics of Zulu, the Negro Carnival deity.

ENDS AT MIDNIGHT

Mardi Gras ends officially when the tower clock in historic St. Louis Cathedral strikes midnight and Rex, the king of Carnival, and Comus, the oldest Carnival deity, drink a solemn champagne toast.

Then begin the solemn penitential 40 days of Lent.

Mother Drowns Trying to Save Dog

VARESE, Italy (AP)—Gabriella Nuzzi's dog dashed out on ice-covered Lake Varese Monday as the 10-year-old girl and her mother were out walking. The ice broke.

Mrs. Ivette Nuzzi, 34, went after the pet to still the child's tears. The ice cracked again and Mrs. Nuzzi plunged into the frigid waters.

The dog swam ashore and trotted home. A skindiver recovered Mrs. Nuzzi's body.

The sap of a tree does not always go down in the fall and rise in spring. Some trees have higher moisture content in the winter.

Pershing Model Scores Initial Flight Success

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — A near-operational model of the Pershing artillery missile has registered its first test flight success.

The new Pershing Group 4 missile was fired under simulated tactical conditions Monday night and hit a target 130 miles away. The tracked missile launching vehicle, which gives the missile mobility, was moved from the normal concrete launch pad to a sandy slope. Army troops in the field will be able to fire the Pershing from almost any terrain. The missile will be stationed with NATO troops in Europe later this year.

Hits Coast Weather, 32-Year-Old Facilities

We Can Offer Olympics More Than LA Smog: Romney

From Our News Wires
DETROIT — Gov. George Romney has challenged Los Angeles to offer more than "smog" and 36-year-old Olympic facilities for the staging of the 1968 summer games.
"Our summer climate at 71 degrees is a lot better than that of Los Angeles," said Romney. "Those degrees are clear, sunny Michigan degrees and not smog degrees such as are found in Los Angeles."

Romney spoke at a meeting of Detroit's Olympic Committee which has been expanded to more than 300 members to back up Michigan's efforts to bring the 1968 summer games to Detroit. The committee includes leaders of industry, labor, business and government.
The U.S. Olympic Committee last Oct. 15 designated Detroit as the U.S. bidder for the 1968 games. But competition among U.S. cities was re-opened two weeks ago at the urging of Los Angeles, which suggested Detroit wasn't making progress in preparing facilities.

The U.S. Olympic committee will meet in New York March 18-19 to reconsider American contenders. The final decision will be made next October by the International Olympic Committee at a meeting in Nairobi, Kenya.

Romney, teaming with Detroit's mayor, Jerome P. Cavanagh, to bring the games here, said Republicans and Democrats are joining forces in the Michigan legislature to put through enabling legislation to help finance a $25 million, 100,000-seat stadium and other Olympic facilities.
The governor declared the people of Michigan — from Isle Royale in Lake Superior to Belle Isle in the Detroit River — "Are united and dedicated to get the games."

"The people realize that this matter is bigger than the games themselves," said Romney, "the basic issue is whether the state, its communities, its people and this city have what it takes to undertake the games."
"We are all determined not to let Los Angeles challenge go unanswered."

Douglas Roby of Detroit, who is a member of the U.S. committee, said the stadium is the principal thing. He said no city to his knowledge ever made a profit on the games except Los Angeles in 1932.
"The main thing," Roby said, "is that the facilities are left behind when the games are over. Our dear friends in Los Angeles well know this."
The city of Los Angeles through the Southern California committee for the Olympic games has opened an intensified drive for votes on the U.S. Olympic Committee.

Bill Henry, president of the Southern California group, outlined the Los Angeles stand yesterday before the Southern California Track and Field Writers and Coaches Association.

Then Bill Nicholas, general manager of the Coliseum and a member of Henry's group, made a plea for the track association members to contact persons on the U.S. Olympic Committee to help along the Los Angeles bid.
Henry, technical director of the 1932 Olympic games in Los Angeles, said his group would be back of the city chosen by the U.S. Olympic Committee.

Rain Keeps Tigers From Starting Spring Practice

Poll Leaders Wait for State Tourney

By The Associated Press
Eight down and just one more to go!
That's what the four top teams in the Associated Press' weekly basketball poll must be saying today.
Three of this week's leaders—Benton Harbor (14-0) in Class A, River Rouge (16-1) in Class B, and Champion (17-0) in Class D—have led since the first week.
Capac (15-0), named the top team in Class C for only the second week by the AP's panel of Michigan sports writers and sportscasters, was in second place for many weeks before taking over first place last week.

And now there's only one week left. Next Tuesday—the day district basketball play will start for many teams—the AP will name its top four teams for 1963.
No new teams were able to break into the select circle in Class A, as Benton Harbor's powerhouse continued to dominate the field. Grand Rapids South (14-0) moved up to fourth, dropping Ferndale (14-0) to fifth, for the only change among the top five.
The biggest jump in Class B was made by Charlotte (13-1) which jumped from 10th to fifth place. Hudsonville Unity Christian (16-1) trailed River Rouge but was nestled comfortably in second.

BENGALS ROAR — Led by pitcher Don Mossi, who has been around for two weeks, the Detroit Tigers tried to open practice in Lakeland, Fla., this morning by rushing out of the clubhouse as a group. But they were chased right back in by a heavy rain and today's practice was called off.

Rocky Fails to Ink Pact After Talks

Five Other Players Still Unsigned; Eye More Runs in '63

LAKELAND, Fla.—Rain forced postponement of the Detroit Tigers' first full-scale spring workout here today.
The downpour, predicted to last all day, also kept five of six unsigned Tigers from officially becoming add-ons. They will have until tomorrow to negotiate on their 1963 contracts.

Sports Editor Bruno L. Kearns was greeted by sunshine and the flu bug when he arrived at Lakeland, Fla., to cover the spring training activities of the Detroit Tigers.
His daily reports, scheduled to begin today in The Pontiac Press, will be delayed.

Rocky Colavito, who earned an estimated $32,000 last season, talked money for 90 minutes yesterday with Detroit Tigers general manager Jim Campbell but no contract was signed.

Reports had it that Colavito would like his paycheck swelled for the season by about $7,000 over last year but Campbell offered only a smaller raise, in the vicinity of $2,000.

Five other players went unsigned yesterday besides Colavito. They were Norm Chisholm, Fernanado, Billy Bruton, Bob Aiken and Frank Lary.

Lary will work out anyway because the Tigers decided to look at the progress of his sibling should he be signing him. The others will be on the holdout list unless they come to terms today.

Restoration of the Tigers' run-producing ability is manager Bob Schefling's immediate objective.

"Look at this," said Schefling as the Detroit batterymen worked out yesterday. "We hit 29 more home runs last year and scored nearly 100 less runs."

The figures tell the difference between two seasons.

In 1961 the Tigers scored the most runs in the American League and led in team batting. They finished a strong second after being in a position to win the pennant until the final weeks. Last year the run total fell despite a club record of 209 homers. The Tigers dropped to ninth in team batting. The result was they finished fourth and didn't clinch that spot until the final days.

Iowa Falls to 'M' Cagers, 78-70

ANN ARBOR, Mich.—Michigan overtook Iowa in the second half of a Big Ten basketball game last night to defeat the Hawkeyes 78-70 and break their tie for fifth place in conference standings.

Led by the 32-point shooting of sophomore Bill Buntin, the Wolverines went ahead to stay on a layup by the scoring leader, 42-40, with 15 minutes to play.

Iowa 35-31 at Intermission, the Wolverines poured in 47 points in the second half as they stepped up their offense and sharpened their shooting.

Dave Roach, shooting well from the outside, paced the Hawks with 27 points on 11 field goals and five free throws.

The Hawks led the Wolverines by seven points twice in the first half. Michigan at first was unable to penetrate Iowa defenses and missed distance shots with consistency.

Iowa held Michigan scoreless until Tom Cole sank two free throws with two minutes gone.

The Wolverines' first basket was scored by Buntin after two and one-half minutes of play.

The Hawks poured in 20 points in the last two and one-half minutes—six of them on two jump shots and two free throws—but could not catch the Wolverines.

TOP REBOUND
Buntin, who sank 10 free throws on 12 tries, also led the Wolverines with 17 rebounds.

The victory gave Michigan undisputed control of fifth place in Big Ten standings with a 6-5 conference record and 14-7 overall. Iowa stands 5-6 in the conference and 9-12 overall.

Michigan plays Illinois here Saturday.

Happenings at Baseball Camps

Orioles Finally Stop Man in Motion

By The Associated Press
Jackie Brandt, a man in motion in the Baltimore Orioles' lineup last year, will be perfectly content to stay put during the 1963 American League baseball season.

Brandt, who did more wandering than a gypsy, couldn't get tracked as Baltimore finished seventh. He wound up with a .255 batting mark, 42 points lower than his average in 1961 when the Orioles were third.

Manager Billy Hitchcock indicated today that Brandt will be the Orioles' regular center fielder and will be installed as the No. 2 man in the batting order until someone beats him out.

ON THE MOVE

The 28-year-old former National League shuffler around left, center and right fields for Baltimore in 1962 and even played third base. At the plate he hit second, third, fifth and sixth.

Brandt came to the Birds' spring training camp in Miami early and has been working out with the pitchers and catchers.

"I have always considered myself a center fielder," Brandt said, when told of his manager's intentions.

A right-handed swinger, Brandt pointed out that batting second behind speedy Luis Aparicio "will team's starting center fielder change my way of hitting because the main idea is to move the runners around."

Last season the 5-foot-11, 175-pounder hit 19 homers and drove in 75 runs.

"When you're batting lower in the order," he explained, "you swing away to drive them across — get them in. The attack is difference."

Bob Kennedy, head coach of the Chicago Cubs, also named his team's starting center fielder Monday. Rookie Nelson Mathews, who batted .368 in the minors last season, has been tabbed for the post with sophomore Lou Brock slated to move to right field to fill the vacancy caused by the trade of George Altman.

Sims' Team in Second

BUFFALO, N. Y. — J. W. Sims, the first Negro to become a member of the Professional Bowlers Association, racked up a 692 three-game series Monday night to lead George Stone Insurance of Chicago into second place in the regular team division of the American Bowling Congress Tournament.

The Stone team totaled 3,004 to fall 27 pins short of Saratoga Lanes of Maplewood, Mo., which took the Lakeland night.

Although Sims is a professional pro, his team was allowed to compete in the regular division because the other four members are amateur under ABC regulations. If a team has two more pros, it must compete in the classic division.

Hudson County Lanes of Jersey City, N. J., took third place in the regular division with 3,001.

RUGGED GOING

While the amateurs were popping in strikes with ease, three teams in the classic division found the going rugged in their opening three-game blocks.

The Jenny 5 team of Rochester, N. Y., stumbled off to a 2-34 while Dick Fischer's, another Rochester outfit, fared slightly better with 2,908.

He topped the PNH variety mark in a time of 1:04.4 while teammate Don Chambers broke the Lincoln pool record in the 400 Freestyle in 4:45.6.

Hugh Wilder of Rochester set a pool record in the 100 Backstroke.

Pontiac Northern splashed to its 8th victory of the season last night dunking Warren Lincoln, 73-32.

The PNH Swimmers took 10 of 11 possible firsts paced by Dick Johnson's record breaking performance in the 100-yard Backstroke.

Stand-In Becomes Star in Big Ten Cage Race

By The Associated Press
A stand-in who became a star, Gary Bradds is playing to rave notices, to very discriminating audiences — Big Ten conference basketball fans.

The 6-foot-8 junior who understudied the celebrated Jerry Lucas last season is the spotlighted performer for Ohio State's Buckeyes now, and is carrying off the role superbly.
Bradds put on a typical show Monday night, netting 13 of Ohio State's last 16 points as the Buckeyes topped Northwestern 50-45 on the Wildcats' floor. The victory was a clutch one, keeping Ohio State tied for the Big Ten lead with Illinois.

HOPES DASHED
The Illini shook loose in the closing moments and won at Minnesota 81-70, leaving the Gophers with only a mathematical chance to tie for the conference championship. Indiana's hopes also were dashed in a 102-96 loss at Wisconsin Ohio State and Illinois are 9-2 with three games left. Indiana is 7-4 and Minnesota 7-5.

Mississippi State nailed down no less than a share of the Southeastern Conference crown, posting a 7-47 victory at Tulane, while Georgia Tech took sole possession of second place by winning at home against Florida, 89-69. Auburn dropped to third in a 55-47 setback at Tennessee.

The Big Eight race loosened up a bit, with Colorado whipping Iowa State 72-59 and Nebraska upending Oklahoma State 49-48 for its first conference victory of the season.

Bowling Green insured itself of at least a tie for the Mid-American championship in a high-scoring romp at home, 114-86 over Marshall.

LEADING SCORER
Bradds, the Big Ten's leading scorer with a 27.9 average, clinched Ohio State's decision over the stubborn Wildcats with five straight points after a 41-41 tie. Illinois broke through Minnesota's pressing defense for three baskets in the waning seconds in tripping the Gophers.

The top ten with first place votes to percentages and points figured on a 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis:

O'Neil Realty Wins B Crown

Three Games Played in City League

O'Neil Realty won the regular season Waterloo recreation Class B basketball championship by defeating Reeves Soccer, 67-51, last night.

Tim's Barber shop got 31 points from Jim Pietsch and won its fifth straight, 72-48, over Drayton Inn. Ken Titherage hit 27 for the losers.

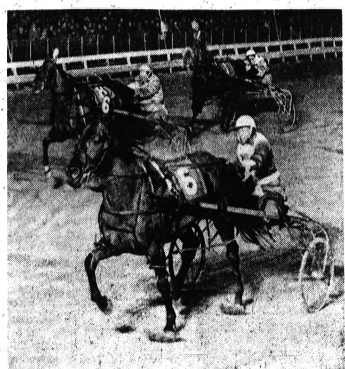

O'Neil and Reeves were tied for first place. Both had four game winning streaks. O'Neil pulled in from 37-25 at the half and was never threatened in the last two periods.

Jim Patterson scored 19 and Dave Struble 17 for O'Neil. Wall Poe netted 19 for Reeves.

In city recreation play last night Local 653 nipped Colonial Lumber, 74-71; Southwest Community Club trounced the Bachelor's Club 87-58, and Jo-Jo's defeated the Spartans, 87-45.

James Gardner (24), Larry Douglas (17) and Clarence Douglas with 14 led Local 653. Lumber, countered with 23 points by Bill Dunstan and Dick Lippert.

Cliff Armstrong of Jo-Jo's took high point honors for the evening with 30. Felix Brooks of the Community Club was next scoring 26 and Ralph Koprince was 14 for the Spartans with 14.

JINGLE BELLS — Drivers bundled up against near 30-degree cold guide their steeds through swirling snow in the first race at Yonkers (N.Y.) Raceway last night. It was the earliest opening of the longest harness season in New York State history.

'Horse Sense' Draws Crowd to Snowy Yonkers 1st Night

NEW YORK (AP) — "You'd degrees and a light snow was falling," a man said, flicking snow off his overcoat collar. "That the horses would have better sense."

Next to him, at the ice-covered rail of Yonkers Raceway for the earliest opening night in New York State harness racing history, his wife snuggled into her fur coat and whined.

"You told me we'd be all alone out here tonight, and we can't even get a seat."

LIGHT SNOW
They weren't alone. There were 28,730 others at Yonkers Monday night, where the track was listed as fast, the temperature was 30 degrees and a light snow was falling. A total of $1,975,656 went through the mutual windows for the nine races, which was the object of the exercise. The state moved up the opening date this year to raise some money, presumably on the theory that horse players will put up with anything voluntarily that horses will when driven.

The betters had bid farewell to the trotters last Nov. 30 with the first $3 million night in harness history.

They gathered early to welcome the first snow of the season. A thousand were waiting in line when the gates opened at 6 p.m.

Another crowd mobbed the first bus to load in the Times Square area, leaving many disappointed punters out in the cold.

"A great start," one man said. "I got shut out on the first bus." At the track, the programs were sold out before the first race.

In the glass — enclosed, heated clubhouse, sleek women in evening gowns cut down to here, table-topped, and chattered about the snow drifting against the glass. "We left Florida yesterday," one said.

"I'm amazed," said maitre d' Jimmy Bell. "Most of the regulars are here. People must be starved for racing."

"And then, we're the only game in town right now."

In the 18th century open grandstand, there was the standard race track crowd, neatly-dressed couples, seedy — looking fellows who needed a shawl clutching rolls of ten dollar bills and even a couple of "stoppers" in the snow, men poking through the slush looking for winning tickets that might have been discarded in error.

IRON WORKER CLAIMS TITLE
"A ball is dropped on a putting surface, usually grass like any ordinary green," Williamson said, "and the idea is to get down in the smallest number of strokes."

SUNDER-PAR
"My average for the season is under-par. That is, I had the equivalent of five one-pit greens out of 18, always from around 30 feet and with obstacles and undulations. Any golfer would settle for that."

The only trouble is, Williamson's job as an iron worker is so demanding that he doesn't get a chance to practice as much as he'd like.

So he's training for a new vocation with better hours — he's studying to be a ladies' hair dresser.

BIG CONCLAVE
"This big town is crawling with putters. They're holding their annual convention at a midtown hotel along with operators of some 300-pull courses."

The president of the PPA, Don Clayton, has put up a $5,000 purse that says Williamson can out-put any player the PGA might want to name. It's on a winner take-all basis.

"The difference in me and, say, Palmer or Casper, is that those guys have to work on all phases of their game," Williamson, 28-year-old father of two, said. "I don't do anything but putt."

"I putt all the time—sometimes as much as eight hours a day. I think I can beat any man alive in a contest."

Williamson was leading money winner on the PPA tour, which unlike the professional golf tour, is confined to the put-putt, courses.

See U.S.-Russ Compromise on Test Ban

GENEVA (AP) — Nonaligned delegates said today they foresee an ultimate compromise on the nuclear test ban issue with both sides settling for five annual on-site inspections in the United States and the Soviet Union, the 17-nation disarmament conference. Deputy Foreign Minister George Foster and Romanian Ambassador Wil-Macoveanu.

FAIR LANDMARK — A giant canopy screen over the entrance of the General Motors Exhibits Building at the 1964-65 New York World's Fair will soar 120 feet high, 85 feet beyond the front wall and 30 feet beyond the side walls, without visible support, as above. To do this, Albert Kahn Associates, consultants on the design, hung the screen from the building's roof by means of an intricate steel frame skeleton, as shown by the model (below).

Mart Partners Rebuke France

Refuse OK for Aid to Former Africa Colonies

BRUSSELS (UPI) — France received a rebuke from its Common Market partners today when they declined to give final approval for an economic aid program for former French colonies in Africa.

Still angered over France's veto of British membership in the market, the five partners failed to reach agreement on an association treaty with African nations, most of them former French colonies. A $739-million aid program was at stake.

Authoritative sources said the program probably will be delayed at least six months by the disagreement. The French want the program badly and had hoped to get final approval today.

The issue came up at the second session in two days of the Common Market's council of ministers. The atmosphere was tense because of French rejection yesterday of continued contacts with Britain on economic matters.

Authoritative sources said Italy and the Netherlands, known to be particularly bitter over the French veto of Britain, blocked the association treaty by refusing to accept it.

The sources said France, West Germany, Belgium and Luxembourg were prepared to sign the treaty in March as asked by the African nations involved.

The ministers settled for an agreement that the Common Market Executive Commission seek a temporary solution to the problem and report back April 1.

Italy and the Netherlands used the tactic of coming national elections to delay the treaty.

speeches in Monday's session of the 17-nation disarmament conference. Deputy Foreign Minister George Foster and Romanian Ambassador Wil-Macoveanu.

The neutral delegates stressed, however, that they believed agreement was still a long way off. They suggested it may come only after some top-level bargaining on such other cold war issues as Berlin and Cuba.

Foster and Macoveanu seemed to leave the door open for a final inspection quota compromise between the American minimum demand of seven and the Soviet maximum offer of three.

"There is no issue of ours that we have declared to be immutable save the fundamental principle that a test ban agreement must be adequately verified," the American delegate said.

Macoveanu was more explicit. He chided the West for expelling Soviet scientists without meeting the Soviet position "half way."

"The natural conclusion to draw from this is that the two sides ultimately will come together on five inspections," said one highly placed nonaligned source.

Such a compromise would involve a major political concession by each side.

The United States for months has warned the Soviet negotiators that the fewer inspections they agreed to, the more difficult it would be for the Kennedy administration to get a test ban treaty ratified by the U.S. Senate.

WOULDN'T AGREE TO 3
Sen. Hubert Humphrey (D-Minn.), senatorial observer at the conference, said last Thursday the U.S. Senate would never ratify a treaty.

Divers Seek Missing Ship

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Deep-sea divers go down today to examine the latest clue in the search for the missing freighter Marine Sulphur Queen.

Their assignment: identify an object located not far from the spot where the first debris from the freighter was spotted.

The Coast Guard refused to speculate on whether the object might be the bulk of the freighter, which vanished with 39 men aboard after sailing from Beaumont, Tex., Feb. 2.

calling for only three inspections a year.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily V. Kuznetsov in turn threatened to withdraw the inspection offer altogether if the United States continued to insist on more than three inspections.

Foster is trying to bypass the numbers deadlock temporarily by getting the Soviets to explain exactly what they mean by an on-site inspection.

The United States reportedly is preparing a compromise treaty draft which will spell out the area an inspection can cover, how it will be triggered, how many inspectors will be employed and what their nationality would be, what instruments they would use and how they would make their reports.

Venus Findings to Be Revealed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Venus, the mysterious lady of the universe, has her grand unveiling today.

The secrets Mariner II gathered in its historic Dec. 14 flight past the shrouded planet will be made public at an afternoon news conference.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration said the information received from Mariner on the planet's temperatures has been decoded and analyzed.

James E. Webb, NASA administrator, told the House Space Committee Monday that details of Mariner's discoveries about Venus had been withheld until scientists could present the information in a form so he could "sign my name to it for publication."

Mariner, launched last Aug. 27, gathered data continuously on its 100-million mile journey to Venus, with four devices to obtain information on magnetic fields, particle radiation, cosmic dust, and plasma or gas clouds.

Then, during a 42-minute approach to within 21,594 miles of Venus, two special pieces of equipment—a microwave radiometer and an infrared radiometer—probed Venus for surface and atmospheric temperatures.

Minn. Recount Still Touch-and-Go

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — The tense, painstaking job of one-by-one arguments on disputed ballots in the Minnesota governorship election continues today with tory. Republicans hailed the early Democrat Karl Rolvaag holding going as a trend.

In the first three piles of ballots, Rolvaag started a recount of 91 were turned over to the court action after several post-election when attorneys could not agree. Of these, 39 are claimed by Rolvaag and 52 by Andersen.

In opening testimony Monday, attorneys for both men conceded changes in the first three of 24 stacks of disputed ballots that reduced Rolvaag's post-recount margin from 133 to 12.

Even this will vary considerably as attorneys agree to toss out certain ballots and will be in doubt until the three-judge panel rules on the whole gamut of election put ballots and charges of election irregularities.

LOSSES 119
In Monday's action—which involved no decision by the court—Rolvaag lost 119 in the first class of disputed ballots, which involved double marks by voters. Ballots showed marks for either Rolvaag or Andersen plus a vote for William Braatz, a third-party candidate representing the Industrial Government party.

Rolvaag lost 10 more in the second category, involving double marks by voters. Ballots showed marks for either Rolvaag or Andersen plus a vote for William Braatz, a third-party candidate representing the Industrial Government party.

Rolvaag, who had said earlier he would appear to lose ground, he would appear to lose ground in the first few categories of dis-

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Pentagon spokesman declined yesterday to confirm reports from Saigon that Viet Nam government troops have American advisers with South received permission to fire on Viet Cong Communists other than in self-defense.

WONT CONFIRM
The Defense Department says that American military men have exercised the right of self-defense.

The question is: Does this mean holding fire until shot at? At a news conference 11 months ago, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara spelled out the "basic rule of engagement" for U.S. personnel in Viet Nam: "The Americans are under instructions not to fire unless fired upon."

Bette Davis, Katharine Hepburn Rated Highly

Old-Timers Favored to Win Oscar

By JAMES BACON

AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Two

vocal actresses who won their last Academy Awards in the 1930s are the hottest contenders today in Hollywood's Oscar race.

Bette Davis and Katharine Hepburn, both in 1938 and 1939, respectively, are the ones to beat in the best actress category at the 35th Oscars. The nominees were announced Monday.

Winners will be named April 8.

The incendiary nature of the top

1938 for "Jezebel."

Her closest competitor in nominations is Miss Hepburn who got her ninth as the tormented mother in "The Day After Tomorrow."

But that was before "Whatever Happened to Baby Jane?" became the year's box office sensation.

Should Bette win, she would become the first actress to win three Oscars. Her previous ones came in 1935 for "Dangerous" and in 1938 for "Jezebel."

Most Colorful American? Maybe Oilman McCarthy

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — A friend and I — talking about the country's most colorful figures—decided that Millionaire Oilman Glenn McCarthy of Houston inherited the championship from the late Mike Todd.

"Find out what Glenn's up to now," the friend suggested.

I phoned Houston. Glenn, dressed in a gleaming white and flaming gold cowboy suit, was playing host at the bar at the Houston Livestock Show opening. "He's shining like a sunrise," a spectator said. "He'll have a different spectacular cowboy suit for each day."

Is he spending millions still? Sure! He's spent that much on his new Cok Club where he books top stars — such as Joe E. Lewis and Robert Goulet.

But it's 14 years ago since March 17—at the opening of the Shamrock Hotel—that Glenn McCarthy first carved his national reputation for color. Ed Bergin recalls driving with McCarthy in his Cadillac to visit oil wells.

"Glenn had a bottle of bourbon in his right hand and was steering the car with his left," Bergin remembers. "The car was doing 100 miles an hour and Glenn said, 'It should do 100. It must need new plugs.'"

McCarthy wanted to join a hunt club and persuaded a friend to take him into the club after a morning hunt. Bergin says, "They sat around a pot-bellied stove, and after a few rounds of refreshments, Glenn took a bottle of shotgun shells and threw them in the stove. This, of course, wrecked the club and Glenn's future as a member."

Can anybody match Glenn for color? I doubt it. If you think so—Who?

Pigs Bay Deaths Admitted

From Our News Wires
WASHINGTON — Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield has acknowledged that during the heat of the 1961 Cuban invasion several Americans volunteered to fly combat missions and four lost their lives.

Thus the Senate's Republican Leader, Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, got no argument from the administration's chief senate spokesman on his charge Monday that four Americans had been shot down in the Bay of Pigs.

Mansfield, who said that in this case, he was speaking only for himself, added some details in his statement.

"It is known that a few experienced American aviators were employed to train Cuban pilots, navigators and radio operators. Because of exhaustion of Cuban pilots, several of these Americans volunteered to fly combat missions. Apparently a decision was made by those directing operations to accept this offer. Several planes were attacked and four of these Americans lost their lives," Mansfield said.

SHRIMP BOAT

Shortly before Mansfield's statement, the Castro government sent a stiff note dealing with a more recent scrape—last week's attack on a U.S. shrimp boat.

Cuba denied that its planes had fired on the boat and then counter-charged that two U.S. Air Force jets machine-gunned Cuban territory early this month, endangering the lives of Russian and Cuban oil workers.

The U.S. State Department termed the denial propaganda.

In Moscow, a meeting between U.S. Ambassador Foy D. Kohler and Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko failed to shed any light on Russia's plans for its troops in Cuba.

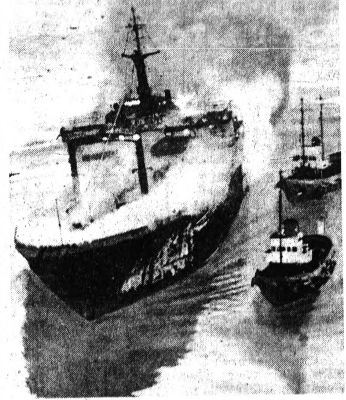

Kohler and Gromyko conferred for an hour yesterday, but neither commented publicly on the substance of the talks.

It was Kohler's first formal business contact with high Soviet officials since he returned from recent consultations with President Kennedy in Washington.

GIVE NO NAMES

Dirksen said in an interview that he had uncovered evidence of the deaths of the four fliers in his one-man investigation of the U.S.-backed invasion which collapsed under the fire of Fidel Castro's forces.

BURNING TANKER — The abandoned Miraflores burns in the Scheldt River at Antwerp, Belgium, after a collision with the British tanker Abadesa.

Four Ship Disasters: Fear Death Toll of 85

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

As many as 85 persons were feared lost in four ship disasters around the world in the past 24 hours. Nine bodies had been recovered today.

Rescuers braved a flaming blanket of oil in western Europe's Scheldt River to keep the death toll down. Sea tragedies struck twice off Japan and once in the Aegean Sea.

The heaviest toll, perhaps as many as 47 lives, was feared in the sinking of the Japanese ferry Tokiwa Maru near Kobe, in western Japan.

The 238-ton ferry collided with a 5,547-ton Japanese freighter early today.

Eight bodies were recovered. Many of the 39 still missing were believed trapped inside cabins of the sunken ferry. Police reported 19 survivors out of the 66 persons aboard.

Eyewitnesses said the ferry sank less than 10 minutes after the crash. A surviving deckhand said many passengers were asleep and had no time to escape.

The freighter Richmond Maru suffered little damage in the collision and its crew was unhurt.

11 DROWN
Further south, a 67-ton Japanese fishing boat sank in the rough waters of the east China Sea early today. All 11 crewmen aboard drowned, maritime officials said. Two fishing boats were not survivors.

Two tankers collided in the River Scheldt Monday, covering about a square mile of icy river with flaming oil and blocking traffic on the busy sea route inland from the North Sea.

The Scheldt is the main stream of a network of canals in northern France and Belgium.

Fire turned the 20,706-ton Miraflores, flying the Panamanian flag, into a torch after it crashed with the 13,550-ton British tanker Abadesa.

Capt. Giacomo Verardo of the Miraflores and four of his crew were missing. The body of one of the Miraflores' crew was found floating in the sea. Rescuers saved 33 others including the captain's wife and three seriously injured crewmen. They were Italian.

BRITISH OK
Forty-two crewmen of the British tanker were unhurt.

The heat was so great that the skin of your face felt like bursting," one rescuer said. A third tanker ran aground trying to avoid the Miraflores and the British ship.

The Miraflores was refloated today after the fire was put out.

The Abadesa docked in Antwerp for emergency repairs. The third tanker, the George Lianos, also was refloated.

In the stormy Aegean the small Greek freighter Egit, carrying one and a crew of 22, capsized Monday after sending an SOS.

Michael Kakaris, 32, the ship's radio operator, was picked up badly injured on an island he reached by clinging to a piece of wreckage. Greek air force planes searched for the other 21 crewmen.

Sale of Tabs Lags

With the deadline only two days away, the sale of 1963 license tabs is lagging about 2,500 behind last year at the Pontiac branch of the Secretary of State.

The gap was narrowed considerably yesterday when about 1,500 motorists purchased the new tabs, according to branch manager Willis M. Brewer.

The Pontiac branch, 96 E. Huron St., will be open until 5 p.m. tomorrow and on Thursday until the last person in line is served.

OTHER OFFICES

Branch offices of the Secretary of State also are located in the Waterford and White Lake township halls. Closing hours will be the same.

Police departments will begin issuing tickets to those without the new tabs at one minute after midnight Friday.

Plans Step-Up in Campaign for Cut in Taxes

JFK Must Succeed in Popularizing Idea, Strategists Suggest

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy is stepping up his personal campaign for a tax cut after being told by top congressional strategists his whole fiscal program is in trouble with Congress and the public.

Capitol Hill sources close to the tax problem said today the chances of a reduction this year — which Kennedy said again Monday has the "first priority" — may depend on two things:

1. Kennedy's success in making the idea more popular than many members now believe it to be.

A surprising number report that most constituents, who write at all about the subject oppose tax reduction because they are worried about deficits or do not

Reuther Proposal:

Flexible Work Week

By NORMAN WALKER

Associated Press Labor Writer

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. — Walter Reuther said today he favors a flexible work week shifted according to changes in economic winds rather than the rigid 35-hour week advocated by most other AFL-CIO leaders.

Reuther, head of the Auto Workers Union, said in an interview that he was not opposed to a straight slash in the present 40-hour week as called for by fellow federation leaders.

"I just happen to prefer the flexible week idea," he said. Reuther said a 35-hour week could badly hurt some industries and actually cause increased unemployment.

WALTER REUTHER

Instead, he proposed a formula that would reduce the standard work week automatically and progressively as unemployment reached pre-scribed levels.

"The details are not important," he said. "It's a concept of a full employment week."

There would be a payroll tax to accumulate a national fund if the work week should fall to, say, a 37-hour week. Payments from the fund would provide 40-hour regular pay to employees working the temporary 37-hour week.

They would get additional overtime for work after 37 hours.

If there was practically full employment—or as Reuther suggested, an idle rate of no more than 2 to 2.5 per cent (it is now 5.3 per cent)—workers would stay on a regular 40-hour week.

"What we really want," Reuther said, "is not more leisure but full 40-hour wages and work for every body. If the economy cannot provide enough jobs the equalization fund from payroll tax collections would continue 40-hour pay but on a reduced work-week basis."

The AFL-CIO Executive Council was expected to issue a new appeal for its 35-hour work goal at midweek sessions today. The council held 10-day winter meetings here.

Reuther said that while the AFL-CIO is pushing for 35-hour week, the flexible work week plan is equally part of the federation's adopted policy. Reuther said he would favor the federation's resolution.

"It is wrong," he said, "to let the government, labor or management set the length of the work week. Nobody has that much wisdom. Actually, we have enough things to do in this country to keep everybody busy on a 40-hour week basis."

Reuther said that payroll taxes costs would be moderate especially when probable savings resulted in unemployment compensation and other side-worker aid programs are considered.

Frozen 5,000 Years

Say Lizards Revived

LONDON (AP) — Russian scientists say they have brought two prehistoric tritons—vertebrates resembling lizards—back to life. They lay frozen solid for 5,000 years in Siberia, Moscow radio said today.

The story of the tritons, the broadcast said, suggests that space travelers might be put in a sort of deep freeze to make long journeys without the encumbrance of huge amounts of supplies.

The broadcast gave this account:

"Some time ago Soviet geologists found something resembling a lizard at a depth of about 25 feet in the frozen ground of northern Siberia.

"It revived after being kept at room temperature for some time. Scientists finally classified it as a four-toed triton, one of the oldest and most primitive orders of tailed amphibians that inhabited the earth in the Mesozoic era—the dinosaur age.

"Judging by the state of the lichen in which it was found, biologists concluded that the triton had been asleep for about 5,000 years.

"On awakening the creature behaved exactly as it had thousands of years ago. It ran around, ate and slept. It was not afraid of people, willingly eating wild berries, flies and mosquitoes out of their hands.

"It died after three weeks.

"Another triton was found frozen about 13 feet underground. This one also revived and lived practically all summer."

In New York, Dr. Charles Bogert, head of the department of herpetology at the Museum of Natural History, said it might not be impossible for tritons to survive that long, but he would be inclined to doubt it.

Tests so far, he said, have generally indicated salamanders, the modern term for tritons, can tolerate temperatures only a few degrees below freezing.

Eye 'Trap' in Shooting of Couple

The Oakland County Prosecutor's office today is investigating evidence that a wealthy Troy businessman who shot his wife and her male companion last week may have been waiting 15 or 20 minutes to spring a trap on the pair.

Senior Assistant Prosecutor Robert Templin said Howard Mordue, 32, of 414 Chestnut Hill Drive, was unable to verify his story of acting on a private detective's tip when he found the two.

Mordue is free on $5,000 bond in the critical wounding of his wife, Barbara, 33, and Nelson Hartman, 26, of 105 Cutting Blvd., Troy, about 2:30 a.m. last Thursday.

He is charged with assault with intent to murder.

Mordue told police he found the pair in the parking lot of Thunderbird Lanes, 400 W. Maple Road, and shot them. He said he had received a phone call from a private detective on their whereabouts a few minutes earlier.

DENIES SUGGESTION
However, Mordue was unable to name the private detective and the attorney he said recommended the investigator denied doing so yesterday.

Roderick MacDonald, who has offices in the eight-story Medical Arts Building that Mordue owns in Highland Park, told Templin he had never suggested a private investigator.

Templin said it would be difficult for Mordue to support a defense claim of temporary insanity that he had been waiting for the pair in the parking lot.

Mordue, who also owns the Medical Arts Pharmacy in his Highland Park building, has been in a Detroit psychiatric hospital since his release on bond Thursday.

Templin said he is checking into several other aspects of the case that also indicated Mordue may have been waiting in the parking lot for several minutes before the shooting.

Templin said Mordue called Highland Park police on his car's radio-telephone three minutes before the shooting to check the license number on Hartman's car.

Defense Policy Under Attack

Congress Fears End of Manned Bombers

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The administration was under withering bombardment today by congressional forces who believe a "dangerous" shift is being made in defense strategy.

Simply put, this is a shift which foretells the end of piloted nuclear bombers in the nation's strategic relations forces and a ballistic missile reliance on ballistic missiles.

To critics in Congress and the Pentagon, this is an all-the-eggs-in-one-basket concept.

To proponents, it seems to be an inevitable development even if the door is left ajar from some kind of future strategic aircraft.

Chairman Carl Vinson, D-Ga., of the House Armed Services Committee opened the heaviest bombardment of the current congressional session yesterday in a statement urging expansion of the hotly controversial RS70 warplane program.

Vinson's committee voted, 31-5, to authorize $68 million more than President Kennedy wants for the plane in the new budget.

But the issue is broader than any particular aircraft, encompassing the whole question of whether reliance on missiles alone will be safe.

Vinson said he wanted no cut-back on missiles, then went on: "But the committee sees a growing tendency on the part of the Department of Defense to place more and more emphasis on missiles and less on manned systems."

"This is a dangerous course and one which the committee intends to do everything in its power to stop."

COLLISION COURSE

The committee's power is very great indeed, and its concern is duplicated in the Senate Armed Services Committee, headed by Vinson's fellow Georgian, Sen. Richard B. Russell.

But Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara shows no symptoms of wavering, and a head-on collision may be coming.

On the question of the RS70, a 2,000-mile-an-hour reconnaissance and strike aircraft as the Air Force sees it, the House committee called for building five instead of the presently planned three models.

That is much more than it seems. The three planes will be "shells," flying machines of radically advanced honeycomb, stainless-steel construction that can fly three times the speed of sound.

See U.S.-Russ Compromise on Test Ban

GENEVA (AP) — Nonaligned nuclear test ban issue with both States and the Soviet Union. They based this analysis on speeches in Monday's session of the 17-nation disarmament conference by American delegate William C. Foster and Romanian Deputy Foreign Minister George Macoveanu.

more Soviet concessions without meeting the Soviet position "half way."

Senate would never ratify a treaty calling for only three inspections a year.

preparing a complete treaty draft which will spell out the area an inspection can cover, how it will be triggered, how many inspectors will be employed and what their nationality would be, what instruments they would use and how they would make their reports.

The neutral delegates stressed, however, that they believed agreement was still a long way off. They suggested it may come about only after some top-level bargaining on such other cold war issues as Berlin and Cuba.

Foster and Macoveanu seemed to leave the door open for a final inspection quota compromise between the American minimum demand of seven and the Soviet maximum offer of three.

"NO ISSUE IMMUTABLE" "There is no issue of ours that we have declared to be immutable save the fundamental principle that a test ban agreement must be adequately verified," the American delegate said.

Macoveanu was more explicit. He chided the West for expecting

Such a compromise would involve a major political concession by each side.

The United States for months has warned the Soviet negotiators that the fewer inspections they agreed to, the more difficult it would be for the Kennedy administration to get a test ban treaty ratified by the U.S. Senate.

Sen. Hubert Humphrey D-Minn., senatorial observer at the conference, said last Thursday the U.S.

Poster is trying to bypass the numbers deadlock temporarily by getting the Soviets to explain exactly what they mean by an on-site inspection.

THE LAST WORDS

"My words shall not pass away."

Matt. 24:35

As we recall earth's greatest loss . . . These were His words upon The Cross . . . Forgive, they know not what they do . . .
Be thou today in Heaven too . . . My son, look and thy mother see . . . O why hast Thou forsaken me? . . . And when His agony was worst . . . He cried in pain, I am athirst . . . My soul I to thy hands commend . . . At last in anguish, 'Tis the end!
