Mayor Cites Progress, Plans for Future

Pontiac Mayor William H. Taylor Jr. cited progress of the past year and plans for 1965 in the annual State of the City message last night.

Taylor said that a charter amendment last January paved the way for the new commission, which set out to "calm the municipal waters."

He said that completion of the fund drive for the proposed osteopathic college was the first goal of the new year.

The commission hopes to wrap up the college fund drive in January in order to have the actual deeding of the land to the college board, he noted.

★ ★ ★

"As we look at the new year we see a city which has undergone a great many physical changes in the recent past and look forward to a city whose citizens will enjoy a high level of business activity and prosperity.

COMPLETE CHANGE

"We are looking at a city government that has had a complete change during the past year and is looking forward to new horizons of service and of progress in 1965," Taylor said.

In retrospect, he said the first task of the commission last year was the hiring of a new city manager. This the commission did with the employment of Joseph A. Warren, formerly of Jackson.

New pay scales for all city employes were installed in September, said Taylor.

He added that Warren's arrival in Pontiac was marked by a peaceful demonstration by city employes for overdue wage adjustments.

LACK OF REVENUE

"Proper operation of the city has been difficult because of the lack of adequate operating revenue," Taylor said.

The "urgent necessity for additional revenue" prompted the commission's adoption of the state uniform income tax.

Taylor said a vote would be scheduled for early spring on the income tax.

★ ★ ★

"Under state law the commission could not put this to a vote of the people," he added.

PROPERTY TAX CUT

The mayor said that the income tax has been coupled with a "positive promise" of a 3-mill reduction in the property tax.

Among the finished projects, Taylor pointed to the Clinton River tunnel, Wide Track Drive, the Auburn-Orchard Lake crossover, and the Murphy Park sanitary sewer.

Other projects under way include a 65-unit cooperative housing project and a 22-unit apartment building. Another project of 28 units is slated to begin in early spring.

The mayor pointed out also that 21 single-family brick homes were built last year in

Local GM Payrolls Top '63

$60.5 Million Spent at Area Suppliers in '64

Statement Points to Adverse Effect of Nationwide Strike

General Motors Corp. officials said today that GM's expenditures for payrolls at its three manufacturing operations in Pontiac totaled $240 million last year—an increase of $10 million over 1963.

In addition, General Motors spent $60.5 million with approximately 1,000 area businesses which supplied goods and services to the Pontiac GM facilities during 1964.

The year-end statement was released jointly by E. M. Estes, GM vice president and general manager of Pontiac Division; Calvin J. Werner, GM vice president and general manager of GMC Truck & Coach Division; and Thomas F. Wiethorn, Fisher Body plant manager.

The announcement added that, while 1964 expenditures had increased over 1963, payroll, production and the amount spent with local suppliers were adversely affected by a national strike by the United Automobile Workers union against General Motors which began Sept. 25 at most GM plants.

★ ★ ★

Operations at GM plants in Pontiac were suspended by the strike from Sept. 25 to Oct. 27.

EMPLOYMENT

Combined GM employment in Pontiac averaged 29,866 for the year, a 2,290 increase over 1963. In December, the average number of employes climbed to 32,080.

During the year, employes invested $5.8 million in U.S. Savings Bonds through payroll deductions, a $1.1-million increase over the previous year.

Local GM employes were awarded more than $428,000 for ideas submitted under the GM suggestion plan in 1964.

Two Fisher Body employes, John W. Neeson and Eugene Soper, each received the maximum GM suggestion award of $6,000.

GMC Truck & Coach Division expanded its light van-type truck production with the introduction of the GMC Handi-Van models.

In addition, a new series of Toro-Flow diesel engines greatly expanded the division's diesel truck market during 1964.

Several new construction projects at Pontiac Motor began last year. Ground was broken for a new parts warehouse, as well as an addition to the pressed metals plant.

New Mark for Pontiac

Pontiac Motor Division produced a record 693,634 cars in 1964 topping 1963 production by 68,366 units. The total in 1963, Pontiac's previous record for a calendar year, was 625,268.

Of the total production last year, 250,328 were Tempests, compared to 143,616 Tempests in 1963, General Motors Corp. announced today.

December Pontiac production was 78,180, which topped the 1963 December output of 62,478.

GMTC total production for 1964 was 110,521 units compared with 101,234 in 1963.

In December, GMTC built 12,893 units as against 10,105 in the same month of 1963.

General Motors officials pointed to the 1964 car and truck production figures as remarkable in view of the fact that normal production operations were in effect only 11 months due to the United Auto Workers strike late in September.

The strike cut October production to less than six per cent of the October 1963 GM production total.

Total GM production for 1964 was 4,884,787 passenger and commercial vehicles in the United States and Canada. This compared with 4,970,182 in 1963.

During December 1964, GM produced a record 528,886 passenger cars and commercial vehicles in the United States and Canada compared with 486,484 during December 1963.

Of the total vehicles produced last year, 4,203,263 were passenger cars and 681,524 were commercial vehicles.

December production totaled 460,724 passenger cars and 68,162 commercial vehicles.

Plan Addition to Tel-Huron

To Increase Facility 10,000 Square Feet

Plans for the erection of a 10,000-square-foot addition adjoining the Tel-Huron shopping center were announced today, by Edwin Gage, 500 S. Washington Building, Royal Oak, president of Tel-Huron Shopping Center, Inc.

The new building will be located at the south end of the present parking lot, along the north side of Glendale, facing Telegraph.

The structure won't occupy any of the present paved parking area, Gage pointed out.

"The new building is being planned to meet a demand for prime office space, both professional and business," Gage said.

★ ★ ★

The building won't be adjacent to present Tel-Huron structures, but the architecture will blend with its motif.

The new structure is scheduled for completion next fall.

Court OKs Detroit Fluoridation

LANSING (AP) — Detroit's controversial water fluoridation ordinance has cleared its highest legal hurdle, receiving approval of the Michigan Supreme Court.

In unanimous action yesterday, the high court upheld refusal by Judge George Bowles of Wayne County Circuit Court to prevent the city from fluoridating its water supply.

The opinion, written by Justice John Dethmers, said the question was the city's power to draft and enforce such an ordinance. Differences in opinion over merits of fluoridation are a matter for legislative, not judicial decision, he said.

Chief Justice Thomas Kavanagh and Justice Eugene Black signed the opinion, saying they concurred in its result, but did not issue opinions of their own.

The opinion was one of 42 handed down in two days as the court caught up on its work. Much of its time in recent months has been taken up with details of setting up the State Court of Appeals.

Detroiter Frank Rugowski and other residents of the metropolitan area asked the lower court to prevent the ordinance, passed and put into effect in late 1962, from being enforced.

They contended the Detroit Common Council had no authority to pass such an ordinance, that it violated state law prohibiting wholesale treatment of children by health officers, except to control epidemics, without parental consent.

The high court said the opponents of fluoridation did not file affidavits or other forms of proof in fighting the city's motion for a dismissal.

★ ★ ★

The city, joined by the Michigan State Dental Association, presented statements as to the benefits of fluoridation by President Kennedy, secretaries of health, education and welfare, Arthur Flemming and Anthony Celebrezze, and State Health Commissioner Dr. Albert Heustis.

The decision could lead to legal entanglements between Pontiac and Detroit. Pontiac gets its water supply from Detroit.

However, a city ordinace here prohibits the fluoridation of Pontiac water by Pontiac city officials.

Local Bank Paying 4 Pct.

Milo J. Cross, president of Pontiac State Bank, announced today that the bank will pay 4 per cent interest on all savings accounts as of Jan. 1.

★ ★ ★

Cross also stated that the new interest rate of 4 per cent on savings accounts is the highest any bank can pay, according to government regulations.

Wide Track Pattern Stays Until Tested, State Rules

The weird world of Wide Track, which places a ban on left turns and has isolated a portion of South Saginaw, is here to stay—at least until it is thoroughly tested.

This is the word handed down by the State Highway Department.

City Manager Joseph A. Warren reported to the City Commission last night that efforts to have left turns permitted onto Wide Track from the Auburn-Orchard Lake crossover have been rejected.

Warren said G. J. McCarthy, chief of design for the State Highway Department, replied to the city's request that:

● Left turns be permitted for westbound traffic off Orchard Lake Avenue onto West Wide Track.

1962 CONTRACT

McCarthy cited the 1962 contract that the city had agreed to the existing traffic pattern.

The state official added that the traffic pattern definitely would not be changed until it had been given "a fair tryout."

McCarthy added that there was a traffic hazard created by left turns.

★ ★ ★

Included in the traffic problems created by the new Auburn-Orchard Lake crossover is southbound Saginaw.

MUST TURN RIGHT

A motorist driving south on South Saginaw is forced to turn right at the crossover section.

To Replace Retiree

New Pontiac Sales Manager

The appointment of E. R. Pettengill as general sales manager of Pontiac Motor Division was announced today by E. M. Estes, General Motors vice president and divisional general manager. The appointment is effective Feb. 1.

Pettengill, who has been an assistant general sales manager since 1958, succeeds Frank V. Bridge of 1527 N. Glengarry, Bloomfield Township, who is retiring under the General Motors Retirement Program after 35 years of service with both GM and Pontiac.

FRANK V. BRIDGE

Pettengill, of 13485 W. Lanedon, Holly, Joined Pontiac's predecessor, the Oakland Motor Car Company, in 1925 as a cashier and has served continuously in the division's accounting, manufacturing, sales, and administration department.

He was named administrative assistant to the general manager in 1938 and in 1956 he was appointed director of car distribution.

Less than two years ago he was transferred to Pontiac and placed in charge of central office administration.

PORT HURON

Pettengill, 60, is a native of Port Huron.

He is married and the father of two children.

Bridge, 60, who retires after heading Pontiac's sales force for the past nine years, is one of the industry's most prolific salesmen.

He began his automotive career in 1926 in Rapid City, S. D. In 1930 he joined General Motors as a district manager for the Buick Motor Division in Minneapolis.

In 1961 he led Pontiac into third-place in the highly-competitive automotive market. Currently the division is in third place for the fifth consecutive year.

During his 39 years in the industry, it is estimated that Bridge has sold nearly 6 million automobiles.

'64 Car Sales Set New Mark

7.6-Million Total Tops Previous High in 1955

DETROIT (AP)—The nation's auto makers sold 7,614,000 new cars in 1964—a record number—an industry statistical service said yesterday.

U. S. auto firms surpassed the record of 7,408,000 cars sold in 1955, Ward's Automotive Reports said.

General Motors, Ford and Chrysler, whose officials predict a continuing boom this year, said records were set in a number of categories despite strike shutdowns and parts shortages.

Nearly all GM divisions reported that December sales surpassed sales of any previous December.

Ford said its passenger car sales were the highest for any fourth quarter in history.

FINAL PERIOD

Chrysler said retail sales during the final 10-day sales period of the year were the best since 1950 when the reports were started.

Paul Lorenz, Ford vice president and general manager of Ford's Lincoln-Mercury Division said the strong demand for cars at year's end "supports our belief that the nation's economy is continuing its strong upward trend."

This view was shared by Semon Knudsen, general manager of GM's Chevrolet Division. He said:

"The over-all market for cars and trucks is stronger now than it was a year ago, and with a continued high level of business, 1965 motor vehicle sales could equal those of 1964."

U.S. Viet Toll Nearly Double 3 Previous Years

SAIGON (AP) — The United States suffered nearly twice as many battle casualties in South Viet Nam in 1964 as in the three previous years combined, official sources announced today.

A total of 1,173 U.S. battle casualties were reported for 1964, including 136 killed. The combined figure for 1961, 1962 and 1963 was 615 casualties, including 107 killed.

During the past year, the U.S. Army suffered 1,009 casualties, the Navy 25; the Marine Corps 39 and the Air Force 100. Fourteen American servicemen were listed as missing in action for 1964. A number of them are presumed to be captives of the Viet Cong.

Rain Foreseen for Thursday

There's a chance of some rain or drizzle tomorrow with temperatures a little warmer. The low tonight will be in the low 30s and the high climbing to 35 to 42 tomorrow.

For the next five days temperatures will average about seven degrees above the normal high of 29 to 34 and normal low of 15 to 20. Saturday and Sunday will be little colder, and Monday warmer.

The low recording in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. was 26. The 2 p.m. reading was 37.

Floods Again Threaten California

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Northern California's rampaging rivers — fed by new torrential rainstorms and melting mountain snows — again are threatening dozens of communities, including areas hardest hit by the disastrous Christmas week deluge.

★ ★ ★

Army helicopters Tuesday evacuated nearly 200 persons living in two areas near the swollen Eel and Mad rivers as flood stages approached. Air Force helicopters dropped feed to thousands of starving sheep on barren floodlands south of Eureka, Calif., center for flood relief operations.

★ ★ ★

A howling rainstorm, driven in some places by a whole gale of more than 60 miles an hour, battered the northern half of the state Tuesday. Eureka and Red Bluff recorded more than an inch of precipitation in a few hours.

Both areas immediately menaced are on the coast 250 miles north of San Francisco. The warning to evacuate was sounded by Norman Robertson, Humboldt County Civil Defense director.

STILL REELING

New flooding finds California still reeling from the devastation wrought by the floods that started Dec. 20, which spread a billion dollars in property damage and caused more than 40 deaths in five Western states. Hit besides California were Oregon, Nevada, Washington and Idaho.

This time, California alone is taking the brunt of a low pressure area anchored off Washington. Rains, in decreasing amounts, are expected to continue through Thursday.

★ ★ ★

None of the other Western states report any flood danger, although two inches of rain fell Tuesday on the Oregon coast.

Disaster authorities warned more than 1,000 residents of the Eel delta and the nearby town of Blue Lake to prepare to flee their homes.

DANGER LESSENS

The threat to Blue Lake, population 700, lessened Tuesday night as flood workers succeeded in reinforcing a catchment cable above the Ruth Dam. The cable holds back floating logs and debris which can act as battering rams against the dam.

The Eel, wildest of the waterways that wrought the Christmas week flooding, was expected to crest at 21 feet early today. Once again it could put under water the many small logging towns south of Eureka.

Thousands of residents of these places had barely begun to dig out the tons of silt from their former homesites.

The Russian River, which overflowed in the last flood and inundated a swath of land seven miles wide 60 miles north of San Francisco, was expected to go over flood stage today, again hitting the major resort of Guerneville and other resort settlements up and down the river.

CENTERS REOPENED

The Red Cross reopened its evacuation centers at Hydesville, south of Eureka, and volunteers were alerted for the reopening of centers at Arcata and Blue Lake.

★ ★ ★

Inland, more than 200 families in Richfield and Henley were ordered evacuated by Civil Defense officials after dikes and levees broke along Toms Creek, about 13 miles south of Red Bluff.

Izvestia Tags LBJ Talk 'Full of Anticommunism'

MOSCOW (AP) — Izvestia today assailed President Johnson's State of the Union message as self-contradictory and "larded with anticommunism."

The government newspaper's comment bearing the signature "observer" was the first authoritative Soviet government reaction to the President's message to Congress Monday.

The article ignored Johnson's informal invitation to the new Soviet leaders to visit the United States, which has been reported without comment here.

Izvestia welcomed the President's remarks about peace, international friendship and understanding. But the article added:

★ ★ ★

"By what means is Washington prepared to seek mutual understanding and what concrete measures is it prepared to undertake for the sake of the triumph of 'the spirit of friendship'?"

LITTLE SAID

"Unfortunately, little has been said about this in the President's message. The message is not distinguished by concrete proposals."

Izvestia harshly criticized Johnson's remarks on relations with the Communist bloc.

"His observations on this subject are well larded with ordinary and long decayed anticommunism," it said.

★ ★ ★

Izvestia rejected the Johnson vision of building bridges between the West and the Communist world, saying "The bridges that are offered are rotten."

UNCONVINCING

The editorial also rejected as "completely unconvincing" Johnson's statement of American aims in South Viet Nam and the rest of Asia.

To Hear Plan on Waterford School Sites

A recommended master plan for development of school sites will be presented tomorrow night to the Waterford Township Board of Education.

Robert Dieball, chairman of a citizens advisory subcommittee on school site development which compiled the master plan, will outline the report to the board.

The subcommittee on sites was one of several established nearly two years ago when a general citizens committee was formed to study school needs.

A Waterford resident, Dieball was planning director for the township until last November when he resigned to enter private industry.

In other meeting business the board will consider a resolution that would straighten the present jagged boundary line between the Waterford and West Bloomfield school districts.

PROPOSED CHANGE

The proposed change would result in Waterford losing about 20 families to the West Bloomfield district and an area of approximately a quarter of a square mile.

Final action on the boundary change must be taken by the Oakland County Board of Education following public hearings.

OTHER BUSINESS

In other business Robert Scrivens, mathematics consultant for the school system, will outline innovations of the mathematics program and discuss this curriculum in general.

Action on Filibuster Stalled by Dirksen

WASHINGTON (AP) — A resolution to strengthen the Senate's antifilibuster rule was introduced today, but Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois blocked its immediate consideration.

★ ★ ★

Sen. Clinton P. Anderson, D-N.M., spearheading a move by a bipartisan group of senators, proposed an amendment to the rules to permit debate to be cut off by three-fifths of the senators voting instead of the two-thirds majority now required.

Anderson asked unanimous consent for immediate consideration of the proposed rules change. Dirksen objected, forcing a delay in the start of the battle at least until tomorrow.

Many State Convicts Could Get Retrials

LANSING (AP)—Hundreds of convicted criminals in Michigan could win new trials under a new rule spelled out for the first time in a Michigan Supreme Court opinion Tuesday.

The court, following guidelines laid down by the U. S. Supreme Court, threw out its own rule of allowing the same jury that hears a case to rule on whether the defendant's confession was voluntary or not.

★ ★ ★

The unanimous opinion, written by Justice Michael O'Hara, said the new rule applied not only to future cases, but to all past cases.

In the past, Michigan courts had allowed the jury to rule on whether the confession was voluntarily or involuntarily given. In the future, judges must make the determination in a pretrial investigation.

OVERTURNED RULE

The U. S. court overturned a decision of a New York court, where a rule identical to Michigan's was in effect. The federal court held it would be difficult for a jury to rule out a confession as involuntary and then make a decision not influenced by the contents of that confession.

★ ★ ★

The Michigan court said: "With the fall of the New York rule, Michigan's falls also."

The Michigan court established its ruling in granting a new trial to Lee D. Walker of Detroit. Walker, 51, appealed for the trial.

Walker is serving a life term after his conviction for a 1954 robbery slaying. Police said he admitted the slaying during intensive questioning. But at his trial before Recorder's Judge John Ricca Walker denied the crime and asserted that the alleged admission was made under duress.

CASE REMANDED

The State Supreme Court Tuesday remanded the case to Recorder's (Criminal) Court for the new trial. And Ricca said he would, if necessary, determine the validity of the alleged admission. He noted, however, that the prosecutor's office might not try to introduce the alleged admission as evidence in the new trial.

★ ★ ★

The federal court ruling was the second in a year to affect convicted criminals. The earlier decision had held that all defendants had the right to counsel, whether they could afford it or not. The decision had only a slight effect in Michigan, however.

Taylor Cites City Progress, Future Plans

the urban renewal area formerly occupied by substandard dwellings.

COOPERATION

Taylor spoke of cooperation between the City Commission and local merchants. He said a joint liaison committee had been appointed with the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce.

In addition, parking was reinstated on Saginaw in the downtown area, which "I feel set a pattern of an atmosphere of working with the city government which will make possible more progress for downtown during 1965."

Taylor said that one difficult problem of 1964 was the decline in use of the bus system.

"It certainly is a pressing problem for 1965 and one that this commission has resolved to solve this year," he said.

Taylor mentioned the passing of Commissioner Emmett S. Wellbaum and said the entire city was saddened.

He also pointed out that James H. Marshall, appointed to fill the vacancy, was carrying on the tradition of service set by the late commissioner.

Dems to Hear Romney Plans

Governor Will Outline His Legislative Goals

LANSING (AP) — Democrats meet today with Gov. George Romney, ready to listen to his 1965 legislative proposals but equally ready to caution that "cooperation is a two-way street."

★ ★ ★

House speaker-designate Joseph Kowalski, D-Detroit, said "it's the governor's meeting — he'll prepare the agenda" when he was asked what the Democrats planned to say at the meeting.

Democrats already have made public a seven-page listing of their legislative goals for 1965. Romney said Tuesday he hasn't seen the document.

The governor has called for bipartisan cooperation ever since Nov. 3 when voters handed him a second term and a dominantly Democratic legislature.

WELCOME COOPERATION

"I saw some story Sunday where the governor says he'll welcome cooperation on his program," said Kowalski. "It sounded like he wanted us to jump through the hoop. Cooperation is a two-way street."

Romney and the Democrats talked budget in mid-December. Both sides came out of that meeting talking harmony, but it appeared they had not discussed the specifics around which controversy is expected to center.

In both money matters and programs, the battles are expected to center around the "how much" factor, not around whether or not action is needed.

Both sides talked during the campaign about state needs in such areas as aid to education, mental health, senior citizen benefits and workmen's compensation.

Expected to attend with Kowalski were Senate majority leader Raymond Dzendzel, Senate floor leader Basil Brown and House floor leader J. Bob Traxler.

Ready Charges in Guard Case

LANSING (AP) — Formal charges against two suspended National Guard generals should be ready next week, Gov. George Romney said today.

The charges are against Maj. Gen. Ronald McDonald, adjutant general, and Brig. Gen. Carson Neifert, quartermaster general, who have been off the job since a National Guard land, money and liquor scandal was bared Oct. 8.

At least 20 days after the charges are handed to the generals, a hearing with Romney as judge and jury will be conducted to determine the generals' fate.

Romney brushed off at his news conference claims by the generals' attorney that he is unfit to hear the case because he at one point had fired the generals.

"As far as I knew the action taken last fall was on the basis of the best legal opinion we had available. Subsequently that legal opinion was changed . . ."

Birmingham Area News

New City Sports Center Is Named Lincoln Hills

BIRMINGHAM — The city's new golf course-winter sports center has been given a name.

The name, Lincoln Hills, was the 5-2 choice of city commissioners for the recreation facility on Cranbrook Road.

Proposed by Commissioner William E. Roberts, the name he said, was in keeping with the English heritage of the city.

Birmigham was named after the industrial city in England of the same name and contains many street names found there, including Lincoln, which starts at the new park and runs east through the city.

Several other names were considered but never got to a vote for lack of support.

PIETY HILL

Commissioner Carl Ingraham suggested the center be called Pietv Hill, the name given to Birmingham when it was just a settlement.

"I'm disappointed that the city has never taken steps to preserve the old Birmingham name of Piety Hill," said Ingraham in making his proposal.

Snow Hill was proposed by Commissioner David F. Breck, who said it was suggestive of winter sports and was the name of a pioneer family in the area.

Only Ingraham and Commissioner Robert Page voted against the name Lincoln Hills. Page said he wanted more time to consider additional names.

The second series of ladies' slim-trim classes offered by the Birmingham Recreation Department will begin Jan. 18.

The 12-week exercise course will meet from 8 to 9:30 p.m. Mondays in the Baldwin Elementary School gymnasium.

★ ★ ★

Registration should be completed in advance at the recreation office in the Municipal Building.

Monday family swimming sessions at the Seaholm High School pool have been extended to 9 p.m. Adult classes are held from 9 to 9:30 p.m. with fees payable at the door.

Wide Track Pattern Stays Until Tested

Because he cannot turn left at West Wide Track, he must proceed west out Orchard Lake Avenue.

Warren said that the channelizing at the crossover was governed by the State Highway Department.

Warren has drafted a second letter, which asks for the same thing turned down by McCarthy. This letter is directed to Howard Hill, acting director of the department.

★ ★ ★

Mayor William H. Taylor Jr., requested that Warren take the letter to Lansing himself and meet with Hill on the traffic problems.

SEEK MEETING

Warren said he would seek a meeting with Hill.

"We hope for direct action from the top man in the State Highway Department," explained Warren.

The city manager said the city did win one concession from state officials. A city request for a traffic signal at West Lawrence and Wide Track has been installed.

He said the light began operating last Wednesday.

College Seeks Federal Grants

$1.2 Million Request Among 28 From State

Oakland County Community College is among 28 Michigan schools which have requested a total of $20.9 million in federal grants to help finance new facilities.

The college has asked the federal government for $1,235,527 to assist in financing two new facility projects totaling $3,088,818.

However, the Michigan Higher Education Facilities Commission reports it has only $10.21 million pledged from the government to help build libraries and instructional buildings at the state schools.

Robert Cahow, staff director, said he hoped, however, that Michigan may receive some supplemental funds from monies not used by other states.

★ ★ ★

Cahow said the 11-member commission appointed by Gov. Romney to administer the federal act should take formal action on the recommended split of the funds by the end of the month.

20 APPLICATIONS

Sixteen private and public colleges and universities submitted 20 project applications with a total cost estimate of $47.8 million.

Maximum grants available under the state plan would be $10.41 million but the commission has available only $7.95 million.

Twelve community colleges submitted applications for 13 projects with a total cost of $26.28 million.

They seek $10.5 million in federal funds under a 40 per cent flat grant formula but only $2.26 million is available.

"Federal funds available will not begin to meet the requirements of Michigan's rapidly growing community colleges," Cahow observed.

Asks Cash for Study on Deicing of Lakes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., proposed today that $50,000 be appropriated for a study of the feasibility of deicing the Great Lakes shipping lanes during the winter months.

"Any significant extension of the present shipping season would amply justify a deicing system because great economic gains would flow from it," Proxmire said in a statement.

NATIONAL WEATHER — Rain along the central and south Pacific Coast and in the central Plains and Mississippi valley is predicted tonight with snow in the Pacific Northwest and northern Plateau. It will be colder in the north and central Atlantic states and in the Northwest, but warmer from the northern Plains to the lower Mississippi Valley.

Most Senators Back Viet Policy ... but

By WALTER R. MEARS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Warily, often reluctantly, most of the senators ready to prescribe a course in South Viet Nam today chose current U.S. policy — but called for efforts to make American military backing more effective.

Many of them saw it as a temporary measure, a prologue to negotiations aimed at settling the guerrilla warfare in the Communist-beleaguered nation.

Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., offered this terse prescription:

"Continue present policy until we can negotiate from a position of strength."

"Our present policy," argued Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, "is leading us toward the same calamity as befell the French 10 years ago."

NEGOTIATIONS NOW

He called for negotiations now, pointing toward a neutrality that would be guaranteed by the United Nations or a special international commission.

There were conflicting undercurrents of Senate sentiment for outright U.S. withdrawal or for expansion of the U.S.-backed warfare. But those views came only from a handful of senators.

★ ★ ★

Most of the legislators who responded to an Associated Press survey shunned the idea of pulling out, of committing U.S. combat troops or of extending the war into Communist North Viet Nam.

One Republican, J. Caleb Boggs of Delaware, came up with a new formula. He suggested a U.S. call for Vietnamese elections within three or four months to choose a government supported by the people.

FUTURE CONDUCT

"Our future conduct in South Viet Nam would depend on whether or not the new government wanted us to keep up our assistance or to get out," he said.

Pending an election, Boggs said, the United States should continue its present military and economic assistance.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana spoke for the consensus when he offered this view of current U.S. policy:

"For the present, we have no other choice which in my judgment would fit the needs of the situation."

READY TO NEGOTIATE

He added the United States should stand ready to negotiate for neutralization of South Viet Nam. "If it contains promise of a just and guaranteed solution, fine," Mansfield said. "If not, it can be discarded."

Sen. John G. Tower, R-Tex., suggested extension of the war into Communist North Viet Nam and held out at the same time hope for a negotiated settlement.

Tower said present policies are losing the war, and he declared it will take new initiatives to reverse the course of the guerrilla struggle.

That, he said, means action to choke off Communist supply support from the north.

STALEMATE SITUATION

"If a stalemate situation develops or the Vietnamese achieve a momentum toward victory, then meaningful negotiations might result in an acceptable settlement," he said.

All told, 86 of the 100 senators responded to the survey.

In general terms, 30 of them suggested that the United States stick to its present course, at least for the present. Many of them called at the same time for steps to improve the results, stressing government reforms and stability in South Viet Nam.

★ ★ ★

Three others talked of strengthening Democratic government in the Southeast Asian nation, but took no stand on U.S. military or diplomatic measures.

The senators called for a negotiated settlement now, some joining Church in a call for international supervision.

STEP UP STRUGGLE

Three suggested the United States and South Viet Nam step up the struggle, moving it north into Communist territory.

Three spoke out for U.S. withdrawal.

Eight indicated they had no suggestions, and 24 refused to comment at all.

Those who did offer suggestions proposed them in varying terms which defied precise man-by-man cataloging. Many senators who responded to the survey insisted that their names not be used.

Some Republicans who declined to be quoted by name renewed an allegation voiced by Barry Goldwater, the 1964 Republican presidential nominee, during his campaign — that President Johnson has not told Congress or the nation what is going on in South Viet Nam and there should be a detailed accounting from the White House.

VISITOR FROM MASSACHUSETTS—Sen. Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts (left) paid a visit to President Johnson yesterday in the White House. Kennedy still uses a cane as he recovers from the effects of an air crash. The pair shared a laugh over a news photograph during the informal visit.

Accidents of all types in the nation last year resulted in 101,000 deaths, a 4 per cent increase over the 97,000 a year previous. Another 10 million persons were injured.

The U.S. Patent Office issued its three millionth patent in September of 1961.

China For Pullout; Russia Opposed

Sukarno U.N. Decision Splits Reds

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—The Soviet Union and Communist China were locked in a diplomatic tug-of-war today over Indonesia's decision to withdraw from the United Nations.

★ ★ ★

Peking approved. Moscow disapproved.

Soviet Ambassador Nikolai A. Mikhailov met last night with Indonesian Foreign Minister Subandrio.

Reliable diplomatic sources said the Russian told Sabandrio the Kremlin believes Indonesian withdrawal from the U.N. will aggravate the tense situation in eastern Asia.

★ ★ ★

Red Chinese Ambassador Yao Chung-ming called on Subandrio twice today to communicate Peking's solid backing for President Sukarno's decision.

FIRM SUPPORT

Peking radio earlier today expressed "firm support" of the Indonesian action, and the official Peking People's Daily called the United Nations "a vile place for a few powers to share the spoils."

It was the first expression of support from a foreign government for Sukarno's decision.

U.S. Ambassador Howard P. Jones and the envoys of Pakistan, Czechoslovakia and Poland also called on Subandrio. Their meetings all were reported related to Indonesia's withdrawal from the world organization.

★ ★ ★

Subandrio is scheduled to meet tomorrow with the ambassadors from the United Arab Republic, Algeria and the Philippines.

PEKING DOMINATION

The Soviets also are known to fear the threat of Communist Chinese domination over this part of the world and have repeatedly sought to discourage Asian Communist parties from associating closely with Peking.

Political observers in Jakarta have expressed concern that withdrawal from the United Nations would force Indonesia closer to Communist China.

The Soviet Union has supplied Indonesia with most of its military hardware since 1960 but is reported to have slowed down deliveries in the past year, since Indonesia showed increasing sympathy with Peking's policies.

★ ★ ★

At U.N. headquarters in New York, there was speculation that Sukarno would reconsider his decision to pull out.

ON HIS OWN

One well-informed source there said Sukarno acted on his own and that his top ministers were dismayed.

Indonesian's chief U.N. delegate, L. N. Palar, planned to fly home from New York tonight for instructions "to finalize the action that we have taken so far," his deputy, Sumarjo Sosrowardojo, said last night.

The Indonesian delegation has notified U.N. officials orally of intentions to withdraw in protest against Malaysia's election to the Security Council.

★ ★ ★

Sosrowardojo, asked if a formal notice would be submitted later, said: "That could be."

NO COMMENT

He refused to comment on speculation that Palar hoped to get Sukarno to reconsider.

In giving notice of inteniton to withdraw from the United Nations the Indonesians specified that they would retain membership in the U.N. specialized agencies, and government still expects to get about $50 million allotted by those agencies for the next few years.

About 100 men and women of the specialized agencies are helping here in technical, economic and social projects fostered by the World Health Organization, the world's food program, the Expanded Program of Technical Assistance, the United Nations Children Fund, and the U.N. Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization.

★ ★ ★

About $30 million of the aid is going to primitive West Irian, former Dutch New Guinea, which Indonesia took over with U.N. help.

★ ★ ★

Military preparations continued in Malaysia, which fears Indonesia is preparing a major offensive against the British-backed federation.

Man Electrocuted Trying to Help Pal

CUTHBERT, Ga. (AP) — A young construction worker and a friend were working on an additional fire escape at Andrew College.

★ ★ ★

The friend, Bobby Shellhouse, 22, reached to remove a ladder from the platform on which they were working Tuesday. "Let me do it," said Harvey Foy Henderson, 21, fearing the aluminum ladder might touch a 7,200-volt power line nearby and electrocute Shellhouse.

A few moments later Henderson was dead. He was electrocuted when the ladder touched the power line.

Huron Valley Hospital Unit Slates Meeting for Jan. 21

MILFORD — The Huron Valley Community Hospital Association, which started the new year with a healthy holiday gift, is planning its third annual general membership meeting.

The session, open to all those who have contributed to the fund drive, is scheduled for 8 p.m. Jan. 21 in the little theater of Milford High School, 2830 S. Milford.

The fund has been bolstered by some $1,204 from employes of Numatics Inc., 1450 N. Milford, Highland Township.

In place of their traditional Christmas card tree, the employes this year decorated one with contributions to the drive.

Their gift takes the total collected or pledged in the three-year campaign to about $78,000, according to campaign coordinator Mrs. Alice Trumble.

She noted that the Numatics group again has signed up for payroll deductions, which last year amounted to some $3,000. The firm was the first to offer such a plan to its employes.

Mrs. Trumble said the drive is marking a "slow but steady climb."

"People are becoming conscious of it," she said.

Representatives of the hospital association have been granted a hearing before the Greater Detroit Hospital Planning Commission to further the project. The session has been tentatively scheduled for February.

FUTURE SITE

Plans call for the $2-million hospital to be built on a 15-acre site fronting Atlantic and Mont Eagle streets.

To serve the residents of 10 townships, the original unit would contain 100 beds with facilities to accommodate up to 200 later.

Several new directors are to be elected at the association's annual meeting.

★ ★ ★

Two at-large directors will be named from a field of four candidates. They are incumbent Mrs. Florence P. Rogers, Richard Painter, William Porter and Rev. Jacob Andrews, all of Milford.

Rev. Frank Williams is not seeking seelection as an at-large representative.

The terms will be for two years.

Vying to replace Mrs. Georgia Watkins as the Milford Township representative are Larry Strauss and Mrs. LaVerne Roe. Candidates for the position being vacated by Mrs. Walter Eis of Highland Township are Jack Gillow and L. F. Oldenburg.

White Lake Township candidates are incumbent William Carls and Charles R. Black.

UNOPPOSED BID

Glee Cook of Hartland Township is thus far unopposed in his bid for reelection.

There are as yet no candidates for the vacancies in Novi, Lyon and Rose townships.

★ ★ ★

Also to be elected are two directors each from Brighton and Green Oak townships.

AREA NEWS

Troy Denies Request for Rezoning

TROY—Protests from neighborhood residents have killed the plans of a builder to construct apartments on the west side of Coolidge Road north of Derby Road.

★ ★ ★

The City Commission denied a rezoning request entered by Slavik Builders of Oak Park which would have changed the classification of the property from single-family residential to allow multiple dwellings on part of 50 acres of land.

The request asked that part of the land be classified single-family residential with a smaller allowable lot size and the remainder as a multiple-dwelling area.

The zoning board had recommended approval of the rezoning request.

★ ★ ★

In other action, the commission gave tentative approval to a subdivision regulations ordinance which would set up restrictions on subdivision design and construction.

★ ★ ★

Consideration of final approval of the finished ordinance will be on Monday's agenda.

USDA figures show thirty per cent of Japan's agricultural imports come from U.S. farms.

Tax Vote Jan. 28 in Oxford Twp.

OXFORD TOWNSHIP—Yearly operating funds and some capital improvements for the township's Christian Slayton Free Public Library depend on a 1-mill tax vote in a Jan. 28 special election.

★ ★ ★

The tax itself is dependent upon passage of two proposals which have been supported by 200 signatures on petitions to the Township Board.

The purpose of the tax is to provide a firm tax base for the library, which now runs on money provided from the township's general fund.

Michigan's new constitution has a direct bearing on the election.

★ ★ ★

The millage is being asked for a 20-year period (1965-1984), and according to an opinion received from the state elections director, any proposal affecting the current 15-mill limitation for more than five years can be voted on only by qualified voters who own property, or their spouses.

EXCEED LIMIT

One of the proposals on the ballot will ask that the 15-mill limitation be exceeded by 1 mill for the 20-year period.

The second, if passed, would order the levying of the 1-mill tax for which allowance would be made by the first proposal.

Both must pass to insure the financial backing needed by the library.

A new building is being planned with financing from other sources, which would provide more than three times the present floor space.

Contributions are now being received to augment a $9,000 pledge from the local Community Chest. A federal grant of $13,333 also has been tentatively approved.

★ ★ ★

The new building's total cost is estimated at about $40,000.

★ ★ ★

The passage of both proposals on Jan. 28 would provide money needed to expand hours and services at the present building, located at 3 Mechanic.

Ann Arbor Council Vetoes Own Payroll

ANN ARBOR (AP) — City Councilmen have defeated 6-5 a proposal to pay themselves. The Ann Arbor council is the only government body of its kind among 49 major Michigan cities that does not get paid. The defeated pay plan would have put an undetermined annual salary for councilmen on the April 5 ballot.

Seamanship Course Offered in Rochester

ROCHESTER — An eight-lesson course in basic seamanship will be offered at West Junior High School beginning Jan. 14.

The program is cosponsored by the United States Coast Guard Auxiliary Flotilla XIV-8 of New Baltimore in cooperation with the Rochester Community School adult education department.

To run for nine weeks, the material to be covered in the 8 p.m. sessions will include introduction to pleasure boating, maneuvering and marlinspike seamanship.

Also charts and compass, rules of the road, legal responsibilities and safe motorboat operation.

★ ★ ★

It will conclude with a review, examination and graduation.

BOATING BEGINNERS

The course is termed "ideal" for boating beginners and those who have had boating experience and want to brush up on the latest safe boating operation.

There will be no charge made for instruction but students must pay for textbooks and materials. There are rates for single class members, couples and families.

Reservations for the class must be made by letter or telephone by next Tuesday to the adult education department, Rochester Community Schools, Fourth and Wilcox, Rochester.

For Troy Subdivision

Sewer System Plans Okayed

TROY — The first step has been taken toward construction of a $110,225 sanitary sewer system for Stumpf's Beech Grove Subdivision.

The City Commission has approved maps, plans and cost estimates for the system of laterals which will serve about 400 lots and some industrial properties.

Consideration and planning for the sewers stemmed from a report to an earlier commission concerning contamination in drainage ditches in the subdivision.

The area is bounded on the northwest by Rochester Road, on the south by Maple Road (15 Mile) and by the subdivision line east of Stephenson Highway.

★ ★ ★

The commission has directed the city engineering department to take new samples from the ditches to determine the present level of contamination. Results are expected within a week.

FINANCING OF SYSTEM

Financing of the system is to be based on special assessments and tap-in charges.

The latter costs will represent each home owner's share of the cost of interceptor sewers, while the assessments will cover the lateral sewer expense.

Early estimates by the engineering department place the assessment at about $7.32 per front foot of property.

★ ★ ★

Part of the cost will be borne by small industrial users on Rochester and Maple roads and adjacent to the subdivision on the east.

MIXED RESPONSE

A public hearing on the plans generated mixed response from residents of the area, most of whom felt sewers were necessary, but some of whom were dissatisfied with the cost aspect.

A public hearing on the assessment roll, as yet not drawn up, will be the next step toward construction, which could be done by the end of the year barring hitches.

Asked to Lift Dixie Boycott

Flint Firm Halts Its Mississippi Orders

FLINT (AP)—The president of a Flint-based merchandising company which operates stores throughout Michigan said Tuesday he has been asked to rescind a boycott on Mississippi products by a Mississippi clothing manufacturer.

★ ★ ★

Joseph Megdell, president of Yankee Distributors, Inc., said he refused. But he said he agreed to send the manufacturer a copy of his orders issued Monday. They called for boycotting products made or originating in Mississippi at Yankee Stores in Saginaw, Flint, Bay City, Lansing, East Lansing, Albion, Midland and Mount Pleasant.

★ ★ ★

Megdell said the Mississippi wearing apparel manufacturer, whom he declined to name, telephoned him Tuesday in an effort to get Megdell to reconsider the boycott. When Megdell refused, the Mississippian asked for a copy of the order. He said he wanted to show it to Gov. Paul Johnson of Mississippi, Megdell said.

★ ★ ★

Megdell, who also is president of the Urban League of Flint, said he took the action because of what he called the "ugly racial situation" in Mississippi. He said his firm has done $250,000 worth of annual business in Mississippi.

Kensington Park Exhibits Explain Winter Wildlife

Several exhibits on display at the nature center at Kensington Metropolitan Park near Milford explain winter wildlife.

★ ★ ★

These are called "Tree Squirrels," "Winter Berries" and "Hibernation."

A push - button system is used to help visitors identify the mounted species of the gray, flying, red and fox squirrels. These inhabit southeastern Michigan and often cross the nature trails in Kensington Park.

The exhibit explains why these are called "Tree Squirrels," denotes their physical characteristics and the food they feed upon. None of these squirrels hibernate during the winter months.

★ ★ ★

The exhibit was prepared by Richard Mortemore, park naturalist.

SERIES OF SLIDES

A series of 15 slides illustrate the various types of fruits and berries used as food for winter wildlife and accompanying sketches also show the various winter berries to be found along the nature trails.

A third exhibit explains how a chipmunk survives the winter through hibernation.

The squirrel exhibit is new this year and the other two are seasonal in nature and were also on display last winter.

★ ★ ★

Nature center hours at Kensington Metropolitan Park are from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday and Sunday and daily from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m.

★ ★ ★

The trails are open year around for those wishing to take a self-guided nature hike, and bird life may be observed along the winter nature trail near the nature center.

$20,000 Blaze Sweeps Lumber Firm in Detroit

DETROIT (UPI) — A five-alarm fire, which threatened a gasoline storage area, broke out last night at the Wallich Lumber Co. and caused an estimated $20,000 damage.

More than 110 firemen battled the flames for more than three hours before bringing them under control and preventing their spread to a nearby Department of Street Railway's terminal where 100,000 gallons of gasoline were stored.

One fireman was reported injured when he was knocked on the head.

Officials dismissed him from duty and he was sent home to recuperate. His injury was not listed as serious.

★ ★ ★

The lumberyard, on the city's east side, is in an older part of the city and spokesmen said it has been in existence for several decades.

NOT DETERMINED

The cause of the blaze was not immediately determined.

Cut Your Own Taxes—5

Older Citizens Receive Benefits Under New Law

By RAY DE CRANE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Senior citizens received several tax breaks from the Congress last year when the new tax law was being written.

The three principal areas that will tend to reduce the amount of tax paid by older persons were:

- The elimination of the old 1 per cent rule on the cost of medicines and drugs.
- An increase in their retirement income credit.
- A once-in-a-lifetime opportunity to realize some tax-free profit on the sale of a home in which they had lived at least five of the eight years before the sale.

★ ★ ★

In former years medical expenses were deductible only to the extent they exceeded 1 per cent of income.

Drug expenses could be included only after they exceeded 1 per cent of income.

MEDICAL BILLS

Several years ago Congress eliminated the 3 per cent feature on medical bills but retained the 1 per cent principle on the cost of drugs and medicines.

For many elderly the cost of medicine exceeded their doctor bills.

Now the 1 per cent restriction also has been eliminated and the total cost of all medicines and drugs, the cost of hospital insurance, doctors' and dentists' fees and hospital expenses are all fully deductible for all couples where one of the spouses is 65 or older.

★ ★ ★

This new tax break also applies to children who are supporting their aged parents. This makes fully deductible the cost of all medicines purchased for the parents.

New Tax Rules Aid Senior Citizens

As before, all other medical expenses for dependent parents are fully deductible on the return of the son or daughter who furnishes the chief support without regard to the 3 per cent rule which applies to all under-65 taxpayers.

The second major change involving older taxpayers was a liberalizing of the retirement income credit.

Under the old law a taxpayer over 65 was permitted to take a direct tax credit on retirement income up to a maximum of $1,524 providing he had earned income of at least $600 for each of any 10 calendar years.

★ ★ ★

Retirement income for this purpose included pensions, annuities, interest, rents and dividends. A taxpayer's wife, if she was 65 or older, could claim an identical credit if she also met the required 10-year work experience.

RETIREMENT INCOME

If she did not, she could not claim the credit even though she may have had retirement income.

Under the new law a husband and wife may elect to combine their retirement incomes on a joint return and the maximum upon which they may compute their credit is raised to $2,286.

The tax rate used in computing the credit on 1964 returns is 17 per cent. For later years it is 15 per cent. It formerly had been 20 per cent.

The biggest tax break of all for oldsters could come when they sell their home. Formerly, they followed the same rules as all other taxpayers: the profit, if any, on the sale of a home was not taxed if a replacement home cost as much or more than the former home was sold for.

If there was no replacement home, then the gain was taxed at capital gain rates.

The difficulty for oldsters was that many of them moved in with their children or into an apartment after selling their home and thereby failed to realize any advantage from this tax concession. Congress corrected this shortcoming in 1964.

The law now provides that a person 65 or older pays no tax at all on the sale of his home — regardless of the amount of profit — if the selling price is $20,000 or less.

If the selling price is more than $20,000 the amount of profit not subject to tax is the ratio between $20,000 and the selling price. For example, if the selling price is $30,000, $20,000 being 2-3 of $30,000, 2-3 of the gain is not taxable.

OVER 65

A taxpayer over 65 realizes $50,000 after paying the broker's commission on the sale of his home on which he had a total investment of $25,000, including original cost and subsequent improvements.

★ ★ ★

He had lived in the home continuously for 15 years. Here's how he accounts for the sale:

Amount realized	$50,000
Cost basis	25,000
Gain	25,000
Ratio of $20,000 to $50,000	2/5
Part of gain to be excluded (2/5x$25,000)	$10,000
Part of gain subject to capital gains tax	$15,000

Remember, this is a benefit which may be claimed only once and it must involve the taxpayer's residence and not some other piece of property he may own.

Charge Assault in Detroit Case

Could Mean Prison, Fine for Policeman

DETROIT (AP) — A suspended Detroit patrolman was charged with aggravated assault Tuesday against a city photographer who suffered a broken jaw and nose while attempting to take pictures at the scene of a fatal shooting last month.

The warrant, against Joseph Michalski, was signed Tuesday by Recorder's Judge John O'Hara. Michalski was ordered to appear for arraignment today.

Photographer Edgar Taylor requested the warrant when he related the Dec. 12 incident to the Wayne County prosecutor's office. He accused Michalski of smashing three of his cameras during the assault.

Conviction on the charge could result in a prison sentence of one year and a $100 fine.

FOLLOWED SHOOTING

Taylor said the attack followed the gun duel slaying of a Detroit policeman and an armed fugitive, Andre D'Artagnan. Michalski and Taylor, off duty at the time, were attracted to the scene by the sound of police sirens.

Michalski reportedly admitted smashing the cameras but denied striking Taylor. He was quoted at the time as saying he had been upset by the sight of the slain patrolman, Harold Tullke.

★ ★ ★

Tullke was white and D'Artagnan, his killer, was a Negro. Michalski also is white, and photographer Taylor a Negro.

Commerce Youth Gets Prison Term

A 17-year-old Commerce Township youth yesterday was sentenced to 1-10 years in the state prison at Jackson for the holdup of a gas station while being AWOL from the Navy in August.

The prison term for James B. Howitt, 3658 Benstein, was imposed by Circuit Judge Frederick C. Ziem.

Howitt pleaded guilty Dec. 3 to assault with intent to rob while being armed, in connection with the Aug. 22 robbery of the Hi-O gas station, 5410 Highland, White Lake Township.

Between 1962 and 1970 an estimated 7.5 million pupils will drop out of school before finishing high school, the Health, Education and Welfare Department reports.

LBJ Aims at Utopia for Every American

In his Monday evening State of the Union message, President LYNDON JOHNSON touched all the bases.

Appearing before a nationwide TV and radio audience, the President outlined in broadest terms the areas to be touched in the development of his "Great Society."

Sweetness and light was the main theme, as he visualized help for the aged including hospital care, and aid to the poverty stricken, Negro voters and immigrants.

★ ★ ★

The Chief Executive proposed a $1.5 billion school aid program, elimination of right-to-work laws now on the books of 20 states, a vast recreational and highway beautification project, encouragement of creative arts, a large-scale inquiry into new concepts of mass transportation, broadening of the minimum wage coverage and an attack on crime.

JOHNSON

And just to be sure that no one was neglected, he advocated a substantial cut in excise taxes.

So benign was his outlook that he eschewed mention of what supposedly would be subjects serious enough for presidential treatment:

- Criticism of Republican opposition.
- The threat to democracy posed by the broadening power of Communism.
- The Viet Nam entanglement.
- The mess in the Congo.
- The unresolved menace represented by a hostile, dictator-ridden Cuba.

★ ★ ★

It was but the second time that a president had made such an address in the evening — the precedent-breaking FRANKLIN ROOSEVELT beat him to it — and JOHNSON strung out his 4,000-word rhapsody to the 45 minutes of prime TV time it took to embrace all people and all causes.

The President has committed himself to deal more specifically and particularly with his over-all concept for national well-being in five more reports.

★ ★ ★

Since the vagueness of his State of the Union message left much to be desired, we hope that the detailed expositions to come will give it real meaning.

Job Procurement Poses Local Responsibility

Getting people off relief and unemployment rolls and onto payrolls is a worthy objective, which these days is getting the attention of all levels of government and many private organizations.

The suspicion is beginning to dawn, however, that the forced creation of jobs is in many cases merely the creation of job vacancies. There are many jobs that remain open for weeks or longer in the absence of even vaguely qualified applicants.

From the welfare commissioner of Westchester County, New York, comes information that helps explain the paradox of people who can't find jobs and employers who can't find people.

He has announced the result of a survey that shows that 75 per cent of those on relief in his county — and the survey covered 5,600 — are emotionally unfit to earn a living. This includes a large number of alcoholics, mentally ill, retarded, drug-addicted and even persons with criminal records, who can be helped neither by the mere creation of jobs nor by "retraining" approach.

★ ★ ★

What the Federal government does or fails to do will affect these people little in the foreseeable future, but their cases are far from hopeless in many instances.

What is needed—and we can be sure that similar conditions exist nearly everywhere—is individual attention to individual problems. This is the kind of help that only other individuals and community groups can provide.

Alcoholics, the mentally ill and addicts all can be, and many have been, rehabilitated. The retarded can occupy many kinds of jobs, but they seldom have the initiative to prepare for them or hunt them. There are organizations which specialize in getting a break for the freed criminal.

We can be sure there will still be unemployment, no matter what Washington does, unless private efforts are enlarged.

LBJ May Spark Fascinating Year

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON — President Johnson's State of the Union message—with perhaps 50 proposals for 1965 and beyond—opened what may be one of the most fascinating years in the history of American politics.

MARLOW

Through the message which he delivered Monday night to Congress and the nation ran two revealing insights into the times and the man.

There is no sense of crisis in the world at this moment, at home or abroad, and, thanks to this, there was none in what he said.

This enabled him to appear calm and far-seeing, an appearance he treasures.

★ ★ ★

But, because of it, he was able to employ to the fullest his philosophy of politics and the presidency, which is the avoidance of unnecessary conflict even with opponents.

ALMOST CASUAL

Much he said in his talk sounded almost casual, which was no accident but is part of his technique. It was almost entirely non-irritating.

Some of the programs he mentioned may take years in the doing, not so much because they are inflammatory but because they will need study and there is a limit on what Congress can do in any one year.

Again, and nowhere more obviously than in the field of foreign affairs, Johnson Monday night illustrated his avoidance of even slightly abrasive language if it fills no immediate need. This was on the subject of communism.

★ ★ ★

He didn't treat it as a devil but simply said it was in Asia that communism wears a "more aggressive face." Even the Red Chinese, with whom this country can't get along and at whom this was aimed, can't complain.

PRIDE THEMSELVES

They not only pride themselves on their aggressiveness but make it one of the justifications for their split with the Soviet Union, accusing the Soviets of not being aggressive enough.

Johnson took advantage of this split by a double invitation to the Soviet leaders: to appear on American television and come on over here for a visit.

Last year, when Johnson delivered his first State of the Union message, just less than seven weeks after President John F. Kennedy's death, it was reported that Johnson used 24 writers for six weeks to put it together for him.

Mr. and Mrs. James Schram

Mrs. Lena Bain

The Early Bird?

David Lawrence Says:

Johnson Paints Utopia Picture

WASHINGTON — President Johnson did something extraordinary on Monday night — he used all the television and radio networks to do a brainwashing job that not one of his predecessors had ever been able to accomplish in a single night.

Usually the LAWRENCE first presidential address to a new Congress is called a "State of the Union" message, and it is supposed to give a comprehensive explanation of what is going on in the government and what is being proposed by way of specific measures.

Instead, Mr. Johnson decided to paint a picture of utopia and to assure his listeners that they are moving rapidly on the road to that goal.

The technique which Mr. Johnson used was successful, as the overwhelming Democratic majority in Congress applauded frequently and gave evidence that it will rubber-stamp anything he suggests.

★ ★ ★

The Republican minority was strangely anesthetized, and not one of its leaders was heard subsequently on the television to tell the country what was wrong with the President's program.

A HARMONY

President Johnson told his audience that he is seeking to establish "a harmony between man and society which will allow each of us to enlarge the meaning of his life and all of us to elevate the quality of our civilization."

The speech was in part a sort of soliloquy, indulged in by a man who had just won a big election victory and who felt it was not necessary to delve too deeply into the things that are going wrong, but only to emphasize the good things which he believes are in store some day.

Mr. Johnson's speech will get very little dissent from the public because it was so generalized. For example, he said:

"Our nation was created to help strike away the chains of ignorance and misery and tyranny wherever they keep man less than God means him to be. We are moving toward that destiny, never more rapidly than we have moved in the last four years.

★ ★ ★

"In this period we have built a military power strong enough to meet any threat and destroy any adversary. And that superiority will continue to grow so long as this office is mine — and you sit on Capitol Hill.

BEGINNING TO CRUMBLE

"In this period no new nation has become Communist, and the unity of the Communist empire has begun to crumble.

"In this period we have resolved in friendship our disputes with our neighbors of the hemisphere, and joined in an Alliance for Progress toward economic growth and political democracy.

"In this period we have taken more steps toward peace — including the test-ban treaty — than at any time since the Cold War began."

★ ★ ★

On the domestic side the President was also vague and abstract.

'UNEQUALED'

He claims our price stability is "unequalled in the world." But is it?

With the wage levels rising and prices being pushed up, it doesn't look like an era of stability.

The President touched on the crime wave only incidentally, and said the federal government would try to help local law enforcement officers. But this is not new, and the fact remains that the rate of crime is going higher and higher throughout the United States.

★ ★ ★

Not a word was spoken by the President about the fiscal situation, which is serious indeed, since the government does not balance its books but keeps on borrowing money to pay for tax reductions.

Sooner or later, birds come home to roost, but not a hint of what may be in the offing could be gleaned from the President's message on Monday night.

Bob Considine Says:

Anniversary Festivities Fail to Ease Cuba Fears

NEW YORK — "There is no more bogey man in Cuba, there is no more Uncle Sam," a Cuban broadcaster burbled in the course of ceremonies attending the sixth anniversary of Castro's take-over. Then he added, "All Socialist children should be firm, firm, firm."

CONSIDINE

Not even messages as inspirational as that one, plus the little parade of Communist weapons and Fidel's two-and a-half-hour bray in the public square could allay the fears that Cuba, instead of being firm, firm, firm, is sick, sick, sick.

★ ★ ★

It is drying up. It is losing its sugar markets, left (East Germany) and right (Spain). Its gross national product is being monkeywrenched by abysmal bureaucracy.

Its new absentee ideological landlord, Premier Aleksei N. Kosygin, is making ominous sounds such as "the Soviet Union firmly adheres to the Leninist policy of peaceful coexistence between states with different social systems and carries on both an active policy of peace and relaxation of international tensions."

★ ★ ★

The Organization of American States has clamped down quite well on Castro's second biggest export: revolution. He has lost face as an administrator and strong-willed champion of the peon.

★ ★ ★

He has reason to believe that some of the men around him are toying with the notion of dumping him and pleading with the Cuban refugees to return and replenish the land.

The sentimental ties of the Cuban exiles are snapping; the farther they are stretched out of Miami.

"Vision," the insider's weekly manual on what's happening south of the border, reports:

"Among the U.S. immigrants, only the old and the politically oriented talk of going back except to visit, even after a Castro overthrow."

Reader Has Suggestions for Legislators in 1965

To the new Democratic legislators in Lansing I would suggest proposals which could be worked on in 1965: reform of Workmen's Compensation and Unemployment Compensation laws, possible improvement in minimum wage rates and safety standards, and expansion of community health services.

Now that they are the highest paid legislators in the nation, I suggest they put in a five-day week.

★ ★ ★

Local censorship boards may be the answer. Perhaps boycotting these pictures would be most effective as it would hit where it hurts most — at the box office cash register. If there are others who feel the same way, let's do something about it.

Indonesia and U. N.

Jackson Citizen Patriot

President Sukarno's decision to take Indonesia out of the United Nations — and possibly attempt to form a rival group — seems to be shaking up those who have put much faith in the world organization.

At this point it is difficult to realistically assess Sukarno's act. It may be a tempest in a teapot. It may be a matter of good riddance. It could be the first crack in the weakened walls of an international institution which never has lived up to its promise.

★ ★ ★

But it should be said that if the withdrawal of one nation, even one as strategic as Indonesia, rattles the U.N. to its foundations, it is in worse shape than we thought. And that is really bad.

The main concern, of course, is with the precedent being set. And if Sukarno succeeds in any small degree in setting up a rival organization of what he calls "young nations," the situation could become disturbing.

As for precedents, a bad one already is being set by the refusal of Russia and other members to pay their dues, and the failure of the General Assembly to deal with them in accordance with the charter.

This has resulted in turning the U.N. into something less than a "debating society."

This, even its critics say, is the minimum role the United Nations could fill, even though it proved itself incapable of positive action.

In order to avoid a showdown on the voting issue, the General Assembly has been operating by acclamation, rather than by formal votes preceded by debates.

While in this state of suspended animation, there is little the U.N. can do about a member which decides to get out. Neither can it move against Sukarno or any of his allies if they start stirring up trouble.

It is just possible that Indonesia is ahead of the rest of the U.N. in deciding that it isn't worthwhile, and that defying it is very easy.

Positive Start

The Saginaw News

Michigan's Rep. Gerald R. Ford hastened Monday to say that in beating out Republican Charles A. Halleck for the House floor leader post he was backed by no special wing of the party — that "every segment" was represented in his 73-67 caucus victory. There is no reason to doubt him.

★ ★ ★

Ford's name was advanced by an impatient activist group of younger Republicans who wanted a bigger voice in GOP councils, but he was supported as well by some moderates and conservative friends who, with him, agreed that the party needed a "new image" after the November debacle that decimated Republican ranks.

But if Ford continues to make disclaimers and generous overtures to the Halleck wing of conservatives as a gesture of peace and harmony, he will fall disappointingly short of expectations.

★ ★ ★

His announced reaction to President Johnson's State of the Union message gave encouragement to that hope. He expressed agreements with the over-all goals set forth by the President, but rightly withheld endorsement of any program until a bill of particulars has been rendered.

In doing this much he has given the impression at the outset that Republicans are prepared to join in tackling problems of the people and the nation. It is a positive start.

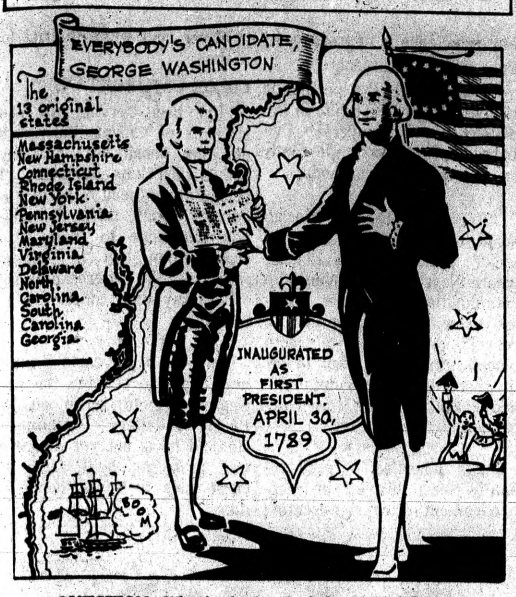
Junior Editors Quiz on THE PRESIDENCY



QUESTION: Why is the head of the United States government called president?

ANSWER: President was the title decided upon for the chief executive when the founding fathers of our country met to frame a new constitution in the summer of 1787.

A period of confusion had followed the victory of the Revolutionary War, it was realized that a stronger central plan of government was needed than the Articles of Confederation, signed in 1781.

The victorious Gen. Washington was the country's hero and leader. Everyone wanted him to start the new country on its way — but what should be his title? A suggestion was made that Washington assume a crown as king.

Washington crushed this idea at once. The word president comes from the Latin "praesidens" meaning one who presides over assemblies and so on, and this had a different meaning from emperor or king, which referred to one person given final authority for life.

In the new country, the people were to be the final authority.

In several of the American colonies, the presiding officer of the governing body had been called president, and this word was chosen as being exactly right for the new executive.

He was to carry out the laws, rather than make them, this being the job of Congress. The duty of the Supreme Court is to see that all laws agree with the Constitution.

FOR YOU TO DO: The Constitution had provided for an Electoral College; but when electing the first president, every one of the 69 presidential electors cast his ballot for George Washington. By 1800, there were two political parties, leading to our present system. Find out how the Electoral College works today.

RUGGED TEST OVER — Don McNeal (right), 28, former paratrooper, greets his mother and a family friend from a hospital bed in Miami, Fla., after recovering from the effects of spending 16 hours in the Atlantic. McNeal was swept off his small sailboat and spent a night and morning in the water before being rescued.

Man Survives 16 Hours Lost in Atlantic

MIAMI (UPI) — Donald McNeal, a 28-year-old former paratrooper and father of four, today told how he was swept from his small sailboat 20 miles off shore and spent 16 hours in the stormy Atlantic Ocean before being rescued.

Exhausted, nearly delirious, his eyes swollen shut, McNeal was pulled from the water yesterday and given emergency aid. McNeal was unconscious when help arrived but came to as fishermen aboard the charter boat Prowler plucked him from the water.

A 12-foot wave knocked McNeal into the Gulfstream from the cockpit of a 21-foot sloop about 7:30 p.m., Monday as he and Miami dentist Charles T. Spencer fought through rough seas to return to port.

Spencer managed to hang on when the wave struck and then could not find his companion.

Spencer put over a life raft for McNeal, then headed for the nearest land for help.

"I didn't have any fears," said McNeal. "I thought possibly I could catch up to the boat, but then my foul weather gear almost pulled me under."

STARTED SWIMMING

He stripped to a t-shirt and then started swimming. Spencer guessed the location was about 15 miles off Fowey Light or nearly 20 miles from land. He never saw the life raft Spencer put overside.

"I tried to swim into the shipping lanes. I had freighters all around me. I yelled and whistled but they didn't see me," McNeal said.

A Coast Guard cutter reported hearing what might have been yells in the area, but was unable to locate anyone during the night.

"I wasn't tired so I kept on swimming until daybreak. I was watching the Fowey Rock lighthouse," McNeal said.

PASSED OUT

"Finally I think I just passed out. I dreamed of being rescued. I can remember waking up now and then, looking around, and going back to sleep.

"I was always getting a mouthful of water. The waves were very large."

When the Prowler spotted his head bobbing in the waves about 11:30 a.m. yesterday, the fishermen aboard yelled several times but got no answer.

"The way they told me later, I guess I was asleep. They didn't know whether it was a coconut in the water or what," said McNeal.

SAW HEAD MOVE

"They noticed, though, that just when a wave was going to hit me in the face, my head would lift up. I remember none of this.

"They came right up to me before I woke up."

He was found several miles off the lighthouse he had been watching, and by the time the boat reached port, McNeal had revived.

"I feel more rested now than I did when we started sailing," he said.

OFFICIAL MEDAL—Felix DeWeldon, well-known sculptor, sits with photos of the official inaugural medal designed by him. The medal is struck every four years at inauguration time.

Inauguration Rites Will Mix Old, New

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Jan. 20 inauguration of President Johnson promises a combination of tradition with the new — embracing the wide American scene.

The 300-voice Mormon Tabernacle Choir of Salt Lake City, Utah, will sing at the swearing-in ceremony on the Capitol steps. Leontyne Price, opera singer and concert soloist who was born in Laurel, Miss., also will sing.

Both Johnson and Vice President-elect Hubert H. Humphrey requested the appearances, the Congressional Inaugural Committee said.

In the old tradition, the chief justice, Earl Warren, will administer the oath of office to Johnson. Speaker of the House John W. McCormack will administer it to Humphrey.

GOVERNORS COMING

Governors of 49 states are expected at the ceremony and in the inaugural parade from the Capitol to the White House. Wisconsin's Gov. Warren Knowles, a Republican, is sending Lt. Gov. Patrick J. Lucey, a Democrat, as his state's representative.

More than 60 bands will parade down Pennsylvania Avenue. So far, floats from 22 states, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands have been approved.

★ ★ ★

The inaugural committee also disclosed Tuesday the official inaugural medal. On one side it bears a profile of Johnson and on the other, the presidential seal superimposed on a map of the United States.

The committee has approved about 40 different souvenirs to be sold. They include the traditional pennants and postcards with pictures of the President and vice president. Some have a touch of Texas, the President's home state — such as a 10-gallon hat in a 2-ounce size.

Aussies Try System in Las Vegas

LAS VEGAS, NEV., (AP)—The vanguard of an Australian syndicate of slot machine busters armed with an alleged lucrative "system", has arrived in Las Vegas but is studiously avoiding the public eye.

The four Aussies were in this desert gambling capital to try their system for beating slot machines — or "poker" machines, as they call them—perfected in Australia.

The system, they claim, grossed $200,000 in their homeland and they want to give it a go stateside.

"We've been hitting it pretty heavy day and night since we arrived," says R.R. Cable in a snatch of phone conversation. "We've made enough to keep us while we're here."

He and Cecil MacKenzie, Keith Jennings, George Clampett and perhaps two anonymous colleagues checked into a Las Vegas luxury hotel last Saturday.

Cable says MacKenzie is in charge of "public relations" but declines further details. The men, representing a "syndicate," are supposedly going to publish a book on their system.

Las Vegas gamblers are of divided opinions. Some say they welcome the system players, others doubt they have a system at all

Local slot machine men believe the Aussies are "rhythm players," who manipulate the handle of a slot machine, trying to control the points at which the three reels stop.

MACHINES RIGGED

American machines have been rigged to throw off a rhythm player's timing—making it virtually impossible to establish a payoff pattern, machine experts say.

Casino operators have known of the system since shortly after World War II.

Negro Lawmakers Evaluate Election

(EDITOR'S NOTE — Michigan is the only state in the nation which will have two Negro congressmen this year. The Associated Press talked with each of them and learned their views on issues and psychological factors. This final story of a two-part series deals with psychological factors.)

By DICK BARNES
Associated Press Writer

DETROIT — The two Negro congressmen from Michigan — only state with more than one — believe their election implies greater racial understanding in the state.

★ ★ ★

Rep. Charles Diggs Jr., D-Mich., already has been in Congress for 10 years, but John Conyers officially took his oath of office only Monday.

★ ★ ★

Diggs said in his 10 years he's seen racial bias diminish in politics.

"I can remember when my first campaigns were involved with a racial type of campaigning on the part of my opponents. But this has given way to campaigning based on its merits as far as my Congress races are concerned.

NO NOVELTY

"The novelty, shall we say, of a nonwhite being a member of Congress certainly does not prevail as it did 10 years ago or 20 years ago."

Michigan's election of two Negroes, he added, "reflects the growing political maturity and strength of Negroes in the state. And also, I think, it reflects a growing acceptance of competent Negro candidates for different offices on their merit."

★ ★ ★

Conyers, who had been a workmen's compensation referee, said the dual election "points out that we're moving forward. We're the state in the union with more Negro legislators than any state, with nine representatives and two state senators; and a member of the board of education and a Supreme Court justice.

"I can see the day when hopefully there will not be the great consideration of race now in politics."

SEE NO RELUCTANCE

Neither man professes to see any reluctance in approaches of their white constituents.

"I would say the population is about 60 per cent white in my district," said Conyers. "I've been working very diligently on representing everybody.

★ ★ ★

"I've just been exploring some of the problems in the upper parts of my district where Negroes are moving into communities. The white families there, I'm very proud to report, are trying to stem blockbusting. They want to try to shore up their community and school to make sure integration is a possibility."

★ ★ ★

Diggs inherited a predominantly Negro district in reapportionment after representing a 70 per cent white district for a time.

COLOR UNIMPORTANT

"I've been serving my constituents of various hues without any sensitivity on anybody's part," he declared. "If people are in need of service or advice I don't think it makes any difference to them, if a congressman can be helpful, what color the congressman is."

Both say their staffs are biracial.

★ ★ ★

Conyers, a 35-year-old attorney, hopes to become the first Negro ever to serve on the House Judiciary Committee. He said he is not yet aware of any problems he'll face because he's a Negro congressman.

Liberal Douglas: Backed Long for Key Senate Post

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Paul H. Douglas, a Northern liberal, says he helped a Southerner, Sen. Russell B. Long, win the job of assistant Democratic leader of the Senate because "we need an economic progressive here."

"We've differed frequently in the past," the white-thatched Illinois senator said in an interview. But Douglas recalled that he and the Louisianan also had teamed up in many Senate battles.

"If this election had come last year during the fight over the broad civil rights bill, I could not have supported Sen. Long," Douglas said.

RUSSELL LONG

He added that several other Democratic senators "whose views are closer to mine" could have had his support if they had tried for the post vacated after Hubert H. Humphrey was elected vice president.

MAN OF CHARACTER

"But Sen. Long is a man of character and his national attitude on many issues will be recognized," Douglas said.

Long was elected assistant party leader by the 68 Senate Democrats Monday in a contest with Sens. John O. Pastore of Rhode Island and A. S. Mike Monroney of Oklahoma.

★ ★ ★

Long, the son of the late Huey Long, and Douglas, a former economics professor and World War II Marine combat hero, entered the Senate within a few days of each other 17 years ago.

Long was 30 and Douglas 55.

CLOSE FRIENDS

"We've always been close personal friends," Douglas said. "Any proposals to help the poor people has always touched a warm response from him."

Although they were in opposite camps in the long Senate battles over civil rights legislation, Douglas said "last session's thorough bill covers about all the civil rights legislation needed."

Douglas said that he and Long often stood together in favor of liberal competition in business and industry, against monopoly and for protection of the public on patents and inventions developed with public funds.

"Sen. Long is sympathetic to most health and social legislation," he added. "As a Senate conferee last year on the health care program under Social Security, he helped prevent a defeat of that principle in the Senate-House conference."

IMPORTANT POST

Douglas said he agreed with Long that election of a Southerner to the important Senate post finally marks the end of the Civil War.

"The thing that has prolonged the Civil War has been the abuse of the Negroes by some Southerners," he said. "I always maintained that effective civil rights legislation would liberate Southerners from their self-imposed chains."

$150,000 Fire Levels Marquette Landmark

MARQUETTE (AP) — The First Baptist Church of Marquette, a 79-year-old city landmark, has been virtually destroyed by fire.

Flames swept through the building Tuesday, wiping out the interior and causing damage estimated at $150,000 by Marquette Fire Chief John Meyers.

GOP Gripes on 'Club' in Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — One of Congress' most hallowed unofficial institutions, the "Tuesday-to-Thursday Club," is coming in for some Republican grumbling again.

The name refers to the common habit of some congressmen of leaving for home Thursday night and coming back to work in Washington Tuesday morning.

An obliging Democratic leadership has in the past scheduled most major and controversial bills for the midweek days of Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

Speaker John W. McCormack of Massachusetts made clear Tuesday that he has no intention of changing the system in this session of Congress.

DEFENDS STATUS QUO

McCormack defended the status quo by saying that if a full week of important legislation is scheduled and the House completes it by Thursday, there is no reason for it to stay around Friday.

House Majority Leader Carl Albert of Oklahoma chimed in to say that members would not be likely to stay around for a Friday devoted to minor speechmaking in the House chamber, so there is no particular reason for scheduling a session on that day.

"That isn't the point," protested a longtime Republican critic of the Tuesday-to-Thursday Club, Rep. H. R. Gross of Iowa. "They can schedule business on Friday. They are the leaders and they can and should schedule business."

He said the system is an accommodation, largely for members from the Eastern seaboard, "who want to go home weekends to practice law or spend their time golfing or on the beaches."

Orthodox Pilgrims Mark Eastern Yule

JERUSALEM (UPI) — About 2,500 Greek and Russian Orthodox pilgrims crossed into Jordan today to attend Eastern Christmas ceremonies in Bethlehem.

The Jordanian government denied admission to 63 persons who wished to take part in the rites. No explanation was offered.

The crossing began at dawn. The pilgrims must return here by midnight tomorrow.

STOOL PIGEON — Boum-Boum, a trained pigeon, sits stiffly erect in his chair as he prepares to eat his meal from his own miniature dining set. His owner, Dr. Wendell Hansen of Noblesville, Ind., placed the bird's bib around his chest to allow for sloppy table manners.

U.S. Medical Plan for Aged Not Likely to Equal Scandinavia's

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) —Whatever medical care plan may be adopted in the United States, it is likely to fall short of the program that covers the aged in Scandinavia.

Actually, there are no separate medical plans for the aged in Scandinavia. All ages receive benefits, but the elderly do not pay insurance premiums.

★ ★ ★

Take an 80-year-old Swedish widow living on a modest pension. When she calls or visits a doctor or hospital the cost to her will be minimal — no matter whether she suffers from vague aches and pains or must undergo a major operation.

★ ★ ★

Her choice of a doctor is free. She pays the doctor. She presents the receipt to a health insurance office and is reimbursed for three-fourths of the fee in most cases. A normal consultation costs the equivalent of $1 or $2 out of her own pocket.

FREE HOSPITALIZATION

Free hospitalization is available in the wards of public hospitals. This includes free operations, medical treatment, laboratory tests, blood transfusions, X-ray examinations and drugs. She may pay $7 a day for a private room and $4 for a semiprivate room — but still receive all treatment free. If a patient needs a private room for medical reasons there is no charge.

An ambulance is free. If no ambulance is needed, the cost of transportation to the nearest public hospital is repaid in full. Fares from the hospital and fares to and from a doctor are repaid in part.

★ ★ ★

A reduced price is paid for any medicines prescribed.

A doctor may prescribe vitamin injections for the elderly widow and send a nurse to her home twice a week for these. She pays 40 cents for each visit.

COST SHARED

The cost of health insurance is shared by the self-employed, employers and the government.

Any Swede who is 67, or who earlier receives a pension, is exempt from these contributions.

With all this, there are problems. There is a shortage of hospital beds, especially for the long-term treatment of the aged. Many areas have a critical shortage of doctors and nurses.

In Denmark, if an oldster has no income or fortune beyond his monthly pension, the only expenses for medical care are contributions toward the National Health Insurance. For old people these average $1.70 monthly.

The system insures old people of free medical care, both in home and hospitals. They also are entitled to free or cheap medicine, free eyeglasses and other medical assistance.

COSTS NOTHING

Hospitalization costs nothing. Aged invalids confined to bed are placed in special nursery homes.

Membership in the National Health Insurance scheme is open to everyone. Danes in higher income brackets pay slightly larger contributions and also a proportion of their doctor bills.

The system is financed through taxes and the National Health Insurance contributions. The government or the cities build hospitals and clinics, pay part of the operating expenses. The health insurance organization pays for medical care.

Norway's comprehensive medical care program includes free hospital care as long as it is needed. Surgery, X-rays, all medicines and examinations — in short, all care by the hospital staff —are paid in full.

PATIENT PAYS

For consultation and treatment by a family doctor or by a specialist, the patient pays about 30 per cent of the fee for most services.

Slightly more than half the cost in Norway is covered through sickness insurance premiums. The remainder is paid by employers and by the central and local governments. The average premium amounts to about 3 per cent of an individual's income. Premiums vary with the size of individual income.

Denmark has had a state-organized and state-financed medical care for the aged since 1933. Medical care for the old in Norway was incorporated in a public, nonprofit health insurance plan as far back as 1911. Since 1956 all Norwegians have been covered by this plan.

Health insurance for all was made compulsory in Sweden in 1955. But even then, 70 per cent of the people were protected by various local plans.

NO POLITICAL ISSUE

Medical care for the aged is no political issue in Scandinavia. It is accepted by all, including the medical profession.

Rocky Asks Dem Support on $400-Million Program

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — Republican Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller appealed to the legislature's new Democratic majorities today to support a program that would boost state spending by more than $400 million, primarily for education and general state aid.

★ ★ ★

Approval of the far-reaching program, contained in Rockefeller's seventh annual message to the opening session of the legislature, would require substantial tax increases, perhaps a statewide sales tax.

★ ★ ★

It also would push the state's budget beyond $3 billion — to about $3.3 billion — for the first time in history.

★ ★ ★

Democrats have taken control of the legislature for the first time in 30 years. Rockefeller never before had faced a politically opposite legislative majority.

"The problems are enormous, the needs are urgent," he said in his message to a joint session. "We are confronted with the reality of the need for additional revenues."

In a reference to the crucial, legislative election next November, the governor said "the people will judge before this year has ended what is done here."

★ ★ ★

Along with spending proposals, Rockefeller also called for a tighter code of ethics for legislators and other state employes.

He urged specific consideration of a law to ban lawyer-legislators from representing clients in court trying to collect money from the state.

PUBLIC HOUSING

The governor asked the legislature to approve a $200-million expansion of the state's public-housing program — and send the proposal to the voters, who last November rejected a plan for a $166-million increase.

Rockefeller called for a mandatory, statewide system of personal permanent registration, and renewed his request for repeal of the state's railroad full crew laws.

★ ★ ★

These were other major recommendations, many of them announced previously by the governor:

Adopt a $1.7-billion program to combat water pollution by having localities build sewage-treatment plants. The state would pay up to 60 per cent of the cost.

AID TO EDUCATION

Increase state aid to education by a total of $149 million a year, of which $52 million is mandated under existing law and $97 million would be new money.

Give localities an additional $100 million in general state aid, doubling the present appropriation, to help them "meet rising costs or reduce local taxes."

★ ★ ★

Appropriate an additional $90 million for public welfare costs, which keep rising "when employment and the national income are at an all-time high."

Detroiter Mails Human Eyes to Aid India's Blind

BOMBAY, India (AP)—Two human eyes, carefully packed in ice, arrived here by air mail Tuesday from the United States.

★ ★ ★

They were sent by amateur radio operator George Finegan, of Detroit. They will be used in a bid to restore sight to one of India's two million blind people.

The eyes, the first of two pairs being sent by Finegan to a hospital in Bilaspur, central India, now are awaiting customs clearance, stored in a special cold-room at the airport here.

★ ★ ★

Hospital sources said Finegan undertook to collect and send eyes to India after hearing of the extent of blindness in India.

Were Rude to Accept Ride Home

By The Emily Post Institute

Q: Last Saturday night, friends of ours picked us up and drove us to a party to which we were all invited.

When it was time to go home, other friends of ours said they would take us home in their car and we accepted their offer.

The wife of the couple who drove us to the party was quite huffy when I told her that we were going home with the Browns and she has taken this as a personal affront.

Were we wrong in accepting the other couple's invitation to drive home with them?

A: If the friends with whom you came wished to leave the party either earlier or later than you did, it would not have been rude to have asked them if they minded your going home with the Browns who were staying on until later, or leaving earlier.

If, however, this was not the case, I'm sorry to say that you were rude to abandon the friends who were kind enough to drive you to the party.

Q: One of the young men with whom I have worked for the past five years has recently been promoted to an executive position and is now my boss. I have always called him "Jim."

I would like to know if it is proper to continue calling him by his first name, or must I now call him "Mr. Brown"?

A: In the office when speaking to him or referring to him in the presence of others, you should call him Mr. Brown. In private, or away from the office, you naturally continue to call him Jim.

Q: Will you please tell me the correct way to address a letter to a Federal judge and his wife?

A: The Honorable and Mrs. John Jones.

Husband Says Go

Family Entertains His Ex

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My husband (whom I'll call Paul) was formerly married to a shrew who bore him a handsome son.

ABBY

She wanted the divorce (another man) so, rather than create a scandal, Paul let HER divorce HIM on phony grounds (mental cruelty.)

She was given custody of the boy and moved to another state where Paul supports them in grand style. (I heard that the "other man" changed his mind and left her waiting at the church.)

I also heard that she is still kicking herself for divorcing Paul.

Paul and I have been married for six years. No children yet, but we desperately want one.

My problem: Every Christmas Paul's "ex" brings her son here to spend the holidays with my mother-in-law.

Paul's family wines and dines her and the boy, and I must witness it all because my husband insists that I be with him whenever he sees her. I can't stand the sight of her.

Would it be better if I sent Paul to these family get-togethers alone?

STICKY SITUATION

DEAR STICKY: Yours is the penalty most "subsequent" wives must pay when their husbands have a family by a previous marriage.

Don't send him alone. Go with him and try to be compassionate.

If Paul's "ex" can stand the sight of you (whom she probably envies), you should be able to stand the sight of her, who deserves to be pitied.

P. S. Have you ever considered adoption?

DEAR ABBY: My neighbor across the way hangs a lot of towels out on her line, and I must have counted 50 different hotels represented already. Her husband travels.

With a thief like this loose in the neighborhood, do you think it is safe for me to leave my laundry out overnight?

WONDERING

DEAR WONDERING: Your laundry is probably safe. People who carry off hotel towels rationalize their stealing (and it IS stealing) with the mistaken assumption that the price of the room covers some anticipated thievery.

String Lights Through Floral Decorations

CLEVELAND, Ohio—Don't store your Christmas string sets and lights immediately after the holidays, suggests General Electric home lighting expert, Nancy Evans. Use them to avoid those post-holiday blues by lightening and brightening your rooms.

Instead, Miss Evans suggests that you decorate your artificial floral decorations with them.

Choose your bulbs to accentuate the colors of your flowers. By doing this, the unlighted bulbs will give the illusion of buds.

Lighted, they will compliment the colors of the flowers, plus adding sparkle and light to the floral arrangement.

Miss Evans pointed out that not only can a lighted display give color and distinctiveness as a table centerpiece.

Why Grow Old?

By Josephine Lowman

I think you will find the following letter from a reader full of helpful ideas. She writes:

"Dear Mrs. Lowman:

"I have the feeling that you would be interested in hearing from your readers in a personal vein sometimes.

"Do you recall an article you wrote some years ago about sailing with the wind, then being becalmed and just drifting through difficult times until you again feel the wind of energy and hope and ambition?

★ ★ ★

"I was struck with the article at the time, and later on tried to do as you suggested when I lost my charming and handsome husband and had a serious illness. I was almost too depressed and ill to go on.

"Here are some of the things I did and didn't do which helped a lot.

"For a couple of years I shopped by telephone, even buying dresses that way. When people understand that I had only a small amount of energy they were all kind and gracious. For two years I did every bit of my Christmas shopping by telephone and mail.

"I gave up movies for two years because they were emotionally upsetting to me. I entertained very little and conserved my energies in many small ways.

★ ★ ★

"I ate out and had the laundry done. Even though I knew these luxuries were expensive they were worth it.

"You may wonder why I omitted having fun. I went to business every day, and since I am a career woman my job was very important to me. This, plus my housekeeping took about all the energy I had.

"With the help of my good doctor and my wonderful friends I am well and happy now."

Everyone, sooner or later, has experiences which becalm them, when the breeze of enthusiasm and optimism deserts them.

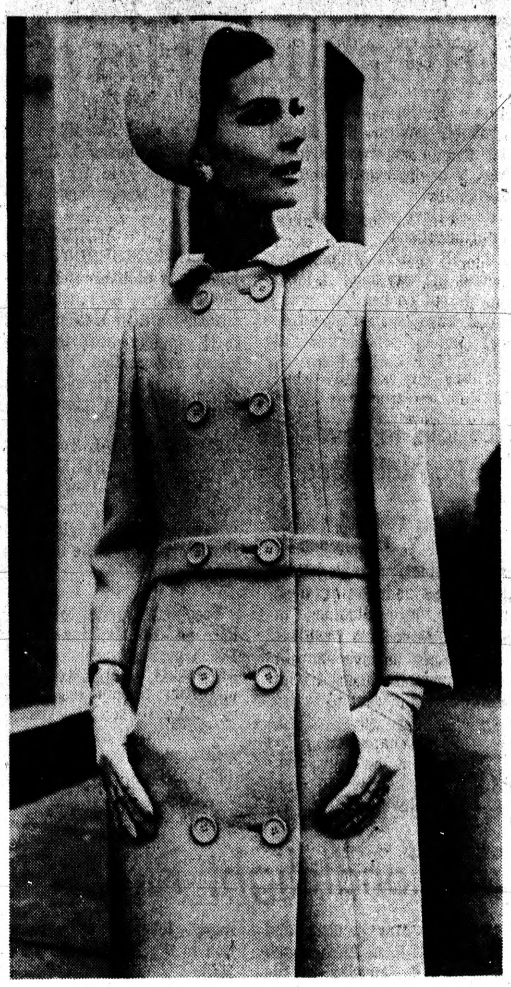
Coats Keep a Slim Look



Shrimp coats are coming . . . This is the spring '65 look for coats by Originala. Curving slimness in a double-breasted willow-weave that features a low placed belt.

The "shaft" dress and over it, a swingy, unlined matching coat with the new drawstring neckline. This black and white abstract in a printed silk surrah is from the Anthony Blotta spring '65 collection.

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor

NEW YORK—The coat tale for spring rides in on a simple message — skinny.

"All pure shape, neat of shoulder with long skinny sleeves, narrow body lines, subtly cut and detailed to emphasize the lean look," is the way one coat manufacturer summarizes the spring trend.

The firm, Originala of New York, is pretty representative of what the whole industry is doing.

★ ★ ★

Coats button in both double or single-breasted closings, come with neat, small collars or no collars at all, and if belted, usually have the belts slung low around the hips.

BACK BELTS

A few coats are belted at the back only, but the belts are placed low. A few also have unpressed pleats falling from the low belting.

These slim numbers are the types of coats almost always seen on Mrs. John F. Kennedy, whose style influence continues to be strong.

★ ★ ★

Her love of the sleeveless look, for instance, should be watched for not only in day dresses this spring but in costumes too.

To help keep the coat silhouette slim, designers have used smooth fabrics more often than bulky ones — among them gabardines, whipcords, thin flannels, silk and worsted combinations.

THE COSTUME

Another big trend for spring will be the costume.

It will be in dresses and jackets, dresses and coats, coats and suits, in prints, plaids, combinations of silks and wools, and in everything from the most tailored of day clothes to the most fabulous sweep of formals.

★ ★ ★

Typical for day is Maurice Rentner's suit plus coat costume. A bright red and white checked suit is topped with a solid navy reversible coat. The other side repeats the red and white check.

Here are highlights from collections shown yesterday:

★ ★ ★

● Originala. One of the ways this firm managed the skinny look for coats was in two button closings high at the ribs, to give a long line to the body.

The firm spotlighted white in wools and whipcords for day, in puffed cottons for after dark.

Its new raincoats came in gold-buttoned cotton poplin with low string tie belts and patch pockets.

★ ★ ★

● Branell. This manufacturer, expert at the costume, produced dress and jacket combinations with jackets both waist length and hipbone length, shaped at front.

Dressmaker touches included scarves that can be wrapped and tied into bows. These are made to match blouses and/or linings. Many dresses come with pleated skirts.

Early American Proves Thrifty

There is almost no limit to the number of dual purpose furniture pieces to be found in the style category of Early American and French Provincial.

★ ★ ★

Just as this furniture was made to fill special needs of its owners, so designers today seem to have answered many modern needs.

Cabinets to house TV, radio and record playing equipment may be housed in units which appear as high boys, dry sinks or commodes.

MRS. K. D. KARDELL

Reception Follows Yale Evening Rites

At home on East New York Avenue after recent vows in the First Presbyterian Church in Yale, are the Kenneth Dale Kardells (Barbara Ann Thomas).

The bride, daughter of Mrs. John Thomas of Yale and the late Mr. Thomas, was escorted by her brother John Thomas of River Rouge.

A colonial bouquet of white snowdrift pompons complemented her bouffant gown of white Chantilly lace over taffeta. An orange blossom headpiece held her illusion veil.

Mrs. Homer Huston attended her sister as honor matron and their cousin, Diana Kovatch of Detroit, was bridesmaid.

They wore red nylon over taffeta with cabbage roses centering their red net headpieces.

Robert Bays of Clifford was best man for the bridegroom son of the Einar Kardells of West New York Avenue.

Seating guests were Raymond Kardell, William Thomas and Homer Huston.

Reception in the VFW Hall in Yale followed the candlelight cremony performed by Rev. Leon W. White.

Paired Look for Beach

Look for the two-piece swim suit to surge back with the surf set. Some of the two-parters for summer '65 are cut to near bikini bareness, but come with matching shifts in printed cottons or jerseys.

Rose Marie Reid shows a crisp white bikini with a cuffed brief bottom, plus matching pique jacket.

SEW SIMPLE

By Eunice Farmer

Dear Eunice Farmer:

I find that darts that come from the side of a dress at an angle to the bust are the most flattering style for me, yet they are so hard to find in patterns.

Our sewing club decided to ask you if it is too hard to change the position of darts. Can we do it ourselves to any pattern?

Mrs. B.P.P.

Dear Mrs. B.P.P.

I agree that the angle dart (or French dart) is flattering to most figures, provided the bust isn't too large. This is a matter of pattern drafting and isn't too difficult.

However, before you try it in a good garment, please make a sample in cotten and see that it fits and works perfectly.

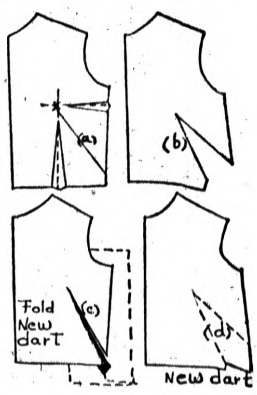
1. Check the darts on your pattern and be sure they are in exactly the correct position and that they are the right size. Then draw a line through the center of the dart under the bust, and one through the center of the side underarm dart.

These two extended lines will meet at the exact spot (X) where the tip of your bust should be.

2. Draw a line from X to the underarm, slanting this dart to about 2 inches above the waistline (a) and cut pattern on this new line.

3. Cut out the space between the other two original darts and close them completely with plastic tape. You will notice that you now have one large-angle dart in place of two smaller darts. Clip old darts to make pattern lie flat (b).

4. To find the correct seam allowance before cutting the new dart, place a separate piece of paper under the new dart, extending at the side. Fold the dart on the two new lines (in the direction it will lie when pressed after stitching).



Be sure the extra piece of paper is in this fold. While it is still folded, cut the side seam up to the underarm.

5. Unfold the dart and, like magic, you will have the correct allowance of fabric for cutting your fabric.

The two sides of this opened dart will be your stitching line for the French dart (d).

Please write and tell me how this worked out for you, if you can figure it out and like it. I shall try to offer instructions for simple pattern drafting from time to time.

PANTY GIRDLE SAVER

This week's Tailor Trix pressing board winner is Mrs. H.L. McCormick, Forestville, Conn., for this suggestion:

My daughter buys panty girdles at the rate of one a month, and I figure since she is a normal young gal, everyone must be in the same boat. She pays a good price, but in no time the band at the top is completely gone from pulling it off and on.

I solved our problem by sewing a two-inch square of material on each side of the stays. It has been a lifesaver by reducing the wear and tear. Hope this will help others as well.

Dear Eunice:

On a double breasted suit the pattern calls for buttonholes only on one side. When I wear the suit, it doesn't want to lie nice and even. The under front hangs down below the hem of the suit.

Should I put buttonhiles on the other side even though the pattern doesn't call for them?

Mrs. V.E.G.

Dear Mrs. V.E.G.

Double breasted garments usually have one row of buttonholes only, even though there are two rows of buttons. Under the top button which has no buttonhole, place a hook.

Sew the eye on the under section of the front. Fastened, this will keep the under section perfectly even and prevent hanging down.

★ ★ ★

Dear Eunice Farmer:

My new coat has an open vent in the center back similar to men's coats. I find it hard to keep the top edge of the vent even, it always looks pulled out of shape. Would it be better to eliminate this vent and sew the back closed?

Mrs. J.T.

Dear Mrs. J.T.

The vent opening is becoming more and more popular and there is no need to sew it closed. This top edge is very likely to stretch, but it can be remedied easily. Place a piece of twill cotton tape on the fold line of the vent and machine stitch slightly to the inside of the fold.

The machine stitching will show, but not from the right side of the garment, because the stitching will be slightly in back of the fold. This will keep the vent hanging straight and will help prevent stretching.

Dear Miss Feeley:

My daughter, age 33, and her three children, ages 10, 8, and 5, live with me. She is divorced and is employed.

I have complete charge of home and children. My daughter earns approximately $400 per month without deductions. She pays me $45 every ten days for groceries. I pay the rent, electricity and telephone bills.

MARY FEELEY

She is very unhappy, says she is paying too much and is pouring money into the home. I would like to know how much I should spend on groceries per week. And I would appreciate your comments on this situation.

Mrs. H.B., Brookfield, Ill.

Dear Mrs. B.:

My first comment on the situation is that you summed it up in a few words—your daughter is very unhappy.

It could hardly be just the fact that she's paying $45 every ten days toward her own and her children's livelihood. Because groceries alone can easily account for $31.

Then there are personal items, drugstore necessities, a share of the utilities, to say nothing of the rent.

When you add that up, there's still the most important item of all—the fact that her children are getting a grandmother's care, not just the ministrations of a baby sitter who might be more concerned with the salary than with the job.

If your daughter had to make her way without your help, she'd find out what it costs for the four of them to live. I think you're entitled to point this out to her. After all, you've raised one generation and you're not morally obligated to raise another.

The fact that you're willing to — with no more financial help than you're getting — is a lucky break for her.

★ ★ ★

Dear Miss Feeley:

My wife and I do considerable voluntary work at a convent located 65 miles from home, necessitating weekly and sometimes twice-weekly trips.

Can you please tell me what I am permitted to deduct on my income tax for travel expenses? Are our eating expenses, going to and from the convent, deductible? Also, are gifts of merchandise, candy and cookies given to the Sisters deductible?

H.R.C., Syosset, N.Y.

Dear H.R.C.:

The Internal Revenue Service says you may deduct the cost of gas and oil, but not depreciation or insurance on the car. These expenses can be claimed in the category of contributions, using the long form rather than the standard form.

REASONABLE EXPENSES

The Service also says you can deduct reasonable expenses for necessary meals away from home when rendering donated services. And you may claim a reasonal deduction for the gifts of cookies, candy, etc.

Of course, the term "reasonable" may be open to discussion—but just put down what's really fair and you'll probably come out all right.

Dear Miss Feeley:

Some friends of ours moved out of this state. They asked us to take care of their cottage and local home.

We closed the cottage for the summer for them—cut off the water, etc. We are to look at their local home two or three times a week, and the cottage occasionally.

They want to know how much we want for the extra work. We don't have any idea how much to ask. What do you consider a fair price?

Mrs. H.M., Norwood, N.Y.

Dear Mrs. M.:

What's fair is really what the time and trouble is worth to you. However, I can tell you what a friend of mine paid for similar services, in another New York State area:

For cutting off the water and making sure pipes were drained, $14. For taking down the screens and storing them, $30. And for "watching" the summer place, $5 a month.

If keeping an eye on both places involves much driving, then you might want to add on something for gas and oil. These figures happened to suit both parties in the transaction, but they may help you make up your own mind.

(You can write to Mary Feeley in care of this newspaper. Questions of widest interest will be answered in her column.)

More Space in Closet

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY — Only a bit of new material and carpentry work are needed to increase the space in a regular clothes closet that has two shelves above a hanging rod.

Leave the top shelf as is. Cut the lower shelf in half and remove the other half. Put a divider down the middle of the closet, fastening the end of the half-shelf to it.

Attach one rod just under this shelf. Install two rods on the other side — one just under the top shelf and the other about half way down.

This side is used for two rows of shirts, blouses, jackets, skirts and so on while full length things hang on the other side. — MRS. B. H. G.

DEAR POLLY — It is helpful to keep a coffee can key near your cooking spices. This key is very handy for pushing open those sliding tops on spice cans. This little gadget has saved me many a split fingernail and frayed nerves at cooking time. —IONE.

★ ★ ★

DEAR POLLY — A neat way to mail a coin is to take a regular three-by-five filing card and bend over one-third of the card and then bend the two corners of this folded end until they meet in the center.

Place the coin in this little pointed pocket, write the necessary mailing information for the item being ordered (perhaps a copy of Polly's Pointers booklet) and your money travels safely.

If you would feel better about it, tape the coin to the inside of its holder.—MARGARET

Spice up your daily work routine with some of the ingenious hints featured in Polly's 32-page booklet. To order, send your name, address and 50 cents to: Polly's Pointers, care of The Pontiac Press, P. O. Box 489, Dept. A, Radio City Station, New York 19, N. Y.

Say Ike Offers GOP Remodeling Plan

NEW YORK (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower has proposed that the Republican party overhaul its national leadership setup, the New York Times said today.

The Times said it was learned yesterday that his plan would center responsibility for all the party's national organizational, fund-raising and campaign managing functions in a revamped National Committee.

The plan, the story added, also would give Republican state chairmen, congressional leaders, governors and "other significant officials" direct control of that top-level organization.

The story also said in part:

Eisenhower has had correspondence and conversations with several participants in the effort to rebuild the Republican party.

★ ★ ★

He contended that the national committee's membership structure is the key to the kind of reorganization needed to "insure complete coordination within the top echelons of the party" and to broaden its base of effective leadership.

IKE'S PLAN

Under the Eisenhower plan, the National Committee would be composed of the operating state chairman and a woman vice chairman from each state, representatives of the Senate and House membership and the Republican governors, and spokesmen for principal party adjuncts such as the Young Republicans.

Few elected officials or grassroots organization leaders now are on the National Committee, which is made up of a committeeman and a committeewoman from each state, the District of Columbia, the Virgin Islands and Puerto Rico, plus a small bonus contingent of state chairmen.

Among other things, Eisenhower's remodeling suggestions would require the elimination of the Senate and House Republican campaign committees, both of which now function independently of each other and the national committee.

★ ★ ★

The proposals — which Eisenhower calls "ideas" — reportedly have been well received by most Republican governors and a number of congressional and party organization leaders.

But the reaction among members of the National Committee is expected to be mixed.

A spot check of party leaders indicated that the Eisenhower proposal would be discussed "only informally" at a meeting of the committee in Chicago on Jan. 22 and 23.

But it is to be a major item on the agenda of an extraordinary Republican leadership conference which probably will be held in June.

★ ★ ★

As Eisenhower noted in his letters, full implementation of a reorganization scheme like his would require action by a Republican National Convention.

JUST LIKE BETTY COED — Marina Oswald, widow of the accused assassin of President Kennedy, is shown during an interview on the University of Michigan campus. Wearing a blue skirt and sweater and cotton overblouse, she looked like the typical college coed. With her is her teacher, Prof. John Catford, director of the English Language Institute.

Looks Part of Coed

Marina at 1st U. of M. Class

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Mrs. Marina Oswald, widow of the accused assassin of President Kennedy, attended her first classes Tuesday as a University of Michigan coed.

Wearing a blue skirt, with a lighter blue sweater and cotton overblouse, Mrs. Oswald resembled most of the thousands of other coeds on the campus as she met with newsmen.

The young widow has enrolled in the university's English Language Institute for a five-hours-a-day, eight-week course. Mrs. Oswald came to the United States from Russia in 1962.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Oswald was described by her classroom instructors as amazingly fluent in the English language, considering the limited time she has spent in this country.

UNDER CONTRACT

She refused to be interviewed at length, explaining that she is under contract for a book recounting her life with Lee Harvey Oswald.

Speaking in heavily accented English, she told reporters she planned to go back to Dallas after finishing her courses in Ann Arbor.

★ ★ ★

"I've been treated well in Dallas, and the people there are warm," Mrs. Oswald explained. "Maybe the people in Michigan are too busy. They are like the weather—crisp and cool. In Dallas, people are warm like the weather."

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Oswald's studies are being sponsored by the First Presbyterian Church of Ann Arbor. It was not disclosed where she is staying or whether she brought her two children, June Lee, 3, and Rachel, 1, to Michigan.

Asked if she would "date" while at the University, Mrs. Oswald asked what the question meant.

When she was told it meant "going out socially," she replied:

"I hope to meet fellow students while here."

Prosecutor Picks Sixth New Aide

The appointment of attorney Bernard Rosner of Huntington Woods as an assistant Oakland County prosecutor was announced today by Prosecutor S. Jerome Bronson.

Rosner, 38, of 26346 Wyoming is the sixth new assistant named by Bronson to fill vacancies on the staff.

★ ★ ★

An investigator for the grievance committee of the Michigan State Bar Association, Rosner has been associated with the Southfield legal firm of Rosner and Rosner for the past 10 years.

He is a graduate of Wayne State University and a member of the board of directors of the Longfellow School Parent Teacher Association, Royal Oak.

Vicar to Wilson: Let Church Elect Bishops

LONDON (AP) — The Rev. Christopher Wansey, Anglican vicar of Roydon, Essex, called on Prime Minister Wilson today to end what he called "this tyranny of state-appointed bishops" in the church of England.

★ ★ ★

He asked Wilson to refuse to name any more bishops so the church can choose them by election. A commission appointed by the archbishop of Canterbury recently recommended there be no change in the present method of choosing bishops.

Bids Entered for Lake Work

Gay Brothers Construction, Inc., of Pontiac was the apparent low bidder yesterday on a lake level control project scheduled for Long Lake in Commerce Township.

The local firm submitted a bid of $70,769 to Drain Commissioner Daniel W. Barry.

Thirteen bids, an unusually high number, were submitted on the project, with the high bid offered at $130,129.

The figures submitted were for construction work only, and do not include engineering and other fees, Barry said.

★ ★ ★

Specifications on the job call for a pump station and pumping equipment, 3,241 linear feet of 18-inch pressure pipe and two air valve manholes.

CONTRACT AWARDS

The contract will be awarded within the next few weeks.

Long Lake is presently 4½ feet below the legal level established by the circuit court.

People in the News

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Carl Sandburg, the white-haired poet and Lincoln biographer, celebrates his 87th birthday today by lifting a heavy oak armchair over his head for exercise.

"He spreads his feet wide apart and lifts a big, heavy oak armchair over his head three times," said Harry Golden, Sandburg's friend and biographer. "That's his exercise and he does it every day."

★ ★ ★

Golden said birthday telegrams had been sent to Sandburg's mountain home in Flat Rock, N.C., by the President, Secretary of Interior Stewart Udall, Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson, Sen. Paul Douglas, D-Ill., and "all that Chicago crowd."

★ ★ ★

President Johnson also had a gift for Sandburg. It was a color photograph, inscribed by Johnson, of the President, Sandburg and Sandburg's brother-in-law, photographer Edward Steichen.

Johnson arranged for William Friday, president of the University of North Carolina, to visit Flat Rock to present the gift to Sandburg.

Has He Reformed Or Not?

When veteran safecracker Edgar Scott Flohr came to Hollywood from San Quentin Prison in 1962, he said he planned to rehabilitate himself with a writing career.

Flohr — whom detectives credit with 800 safe burglaries in the Los Angeles area in the late 1940s—established himself as an immediate success:

★ ★ ★

He said he collected $25,000 royalties on "Walk a Crooked Mile," a book he wrote in prison; in Hollywood, he sold scripts to such television programs as Manhunt, M-Squad, and the Aquanauts.

But Flohr is back in jail today — booked on suspicion of forgery. Officers raided his apartment early yesterday and said they found him busy, writing a television script. Nearby, they said, they found $2.5 million in bogus stock certificates.

Police and the FBI said they had been working for weeks on the case of the spurious stock certificates. A nationwide ring has been dumping fake stocks in banks all over the country police said, posting them as collateral for big loans.

Goat's Blood For Ceremony

Zambian President Kenneth Kaunda's feet will be anointed with goat's blood next week before a crowd of 60,000 persons.

The ancient African custom, a mark of respect for a victorious warrior, will precede a major policy statement by Dr. Kaunda.

★ ★ ★

The ceremony will take place at Chifubu, near Ndola in the copper belt.

Labor Minister Justin Chimaba, stripped to the waist, will ceremoniously slaughter the goat and then anoint Kaunda's feet.

Skipper Down To His Last Girl

Lee Quinn, the San Francisco sailor who prefers girls for his crew aboard the yacht Neophyte, says he'll leave Hobart, Australia, soon for Antarctica, with only a girl and a cat aboard.

Quinn arrived in Hobart last week with a crew of three Australian girls, but they have left the yacht.

The sailor said he thinks 28-year-old Barbara Sody, who has sailed with him before, will make the Antarctic cruise with him. Miss Sody is expected to arrive within a few days from her home in Chicago.

★ ★ ★

"If she doesn't want to go, I'll go alone," said Quinn. "I've no worries about it."

Quinn said he's going to the Antarctic simply because he's never been there.

Mobster's Sons 'Uncooperative'

NEW YORK (UPI)—A federal grand jury investigating the alleged kidnaping of Cosa Nostra chief Joseph (Joe Bananas) Bonanno apparently struck out on three counts yesterday when two of his sons had little to say and a daughter failed to appear.

Bonanno's sons, Salvatore (Bill) Bonanno, 32, an alleged underworld associate of his father, and Joseph Jr., 19, an Arizona college student, were described as uncooperative witnesses.

Salvatore was taken behind closed doors by the judge at one time, apparently for private questioning about his testimony or lack of it.

Salvatore was ordered back for more questioning today by the federal panel which for months has been looking into Cosa Nostra involvement in narcotics, labor racketeering, loan sharking and the like.

The government said 1,500 crime syndicate members were plying their illegal trade in New York.

ORDERED EXAM

Judge Charles F. Tenney issued an order naming a physician to examine the Bonanno daughter, Mrs. Catherine Genovese of San Mateo, Calif., who contended she could not appear yesterday because of illness. Her lawyer said she was suffering from tonsilitis and an intestinal ailment.

★ ★ ★

If Mrs. Genovese is found to have been faking, she would be liable for a contempt citation.

Dr. Samuel C. Bonar of Palo Alto, Calif., was named to make the examination.

OBJECTS TO CHANGES—Rep. Howard W. Smith, D-Va., chairman of the House Rules Committee, says the House decision to restore the 21-day rule which permits the speaker of the House to call a bill to the floor for a vote, doesn't concern him as much as "what they did to Rule 20." The change in Rule 20 permits the speaker to call an immediate vote on bills passed by both House and Senate but in differing forms.

County to Launch State's Mental Health Plan

Resembling a pebble dropped in a still brook, Oakland County this year will launch the first large-scale mental health services program in the state.

The relatively small $307,105 pebble is calculated to trigger a ripple-like reaction that will spread mental health services across the state.

Eventually, the entire state is to have a broad complex of mental health services with state-supporting grants.

And in all of this, Oakland County is the pioneer.

★ ★ ★

Community mental health—treatment of the mentally ill through community-based facilities—grew from an idea to enabling legislation in 1963.

The idea departs from the old view that the state maintain a series of institutions to house, protect and watch the mentally unbalanced.

Some experts believe that community mental health programs will one day eliminate state hospitals or at least reduce their numbers.

A more prevailing view is that the state institutions will always remain and form the backbone for community mental health.

★ ★ ★

Oakland County accepted its pioneering role in the appointment of a 12-member Community Mental Health Services Board.

FIRST STEP

This was the first step in implementing Act 54, which permits units of local government of 500,000 or more population to establish mental health programs.

A year and a month later, the board now will launch an initial program that includes an outpatient clinic, a limited inpatient clinic and a center to receive and refer patients to the proper agency.

Planned also is a rehabilitation service and a public information and education program.

★ ★ ★

The county's four general hospitals—Beaumont, St. Joseph Mercy, Providence and Pontiac General—are considered logical starting points for the program.

Pontiac General Hospital officials have been approached on starting an outpatient clinic, but a pilot program has been discontinued until further arrangements can be worked out with the mental health board.

Current plans call for the county board to purchase psychiatric, diagnostic and treatment services from hospitals and other existing agencies and individuals.

Employing only three persons, all on a part-time basis, the county's program is just getting started.

★ ★ ★

Office space has been provided in the offices of the Oakland County Health Department, 1200 N. Telegraph.

Future programs and their scope will depend on a review and evaluation of mental health services now existing in the county.

The board is expected to "contract" for facilities and services as much as is feasible, avoiding the actual construction of buildings.

The 12-member board is conceived under the Community Mental Health Services Act as a policy-making body and administrative agency.

★ ★ ★

Since the mental health program's cost is shared equally by the county and the state, any expenditures must be approved by the State Department of Mental Health.

The county's projected six-month budget for 1965 was approved in time for Christmas.

Board members have regarded the state's okay as sign that the county will lead the state in providing mental health services.

★ ★ ★

The first pebble has been dropped and the ripples are due to spread across the entire pond.

Virginia Dem Seeks Reversal by House on Rule 20 Change

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Howard W. Smith, D-Va., isn't half as concerned about the House's decision to restore the 21-day rule as he is about "what they did to Rule 20."

And Smith, 81, who heads the rules committee, already is mapping a campaign to have the action reversed.

When the House voted Monday to clip the wings of Smith's committee, it was just one of the setbacks he has experienced in a political career of more than 40 years.

What the House did when it restored the once-used and quickly junked 21-day-rule was to limit to 21 days the time the rules committee can bottle up bills approved by other committees. After 21 days, the speaker of the House has discretion to clear the way for the House to act regardless of the rules committee's views.

50 YEARS AGO

"I don't mind that change so much," Smith said in an interview, "although I was against it because it is a trend toward restoration of the autocracy of the speakership that existed more than 50 years ago under Speaker Joe Cannon."

Cannon had almost unlimited power over legislation in the House and he exercised it in such a way that the House finally rebelled and took away much of his authority.

What the 21-day rule does, in effect, Smith claimed, "is to make the speaker a one-man rules committee.

"I don't think the present speaker would exercise autocratic power, but we don't know who the next speaker will be," Smith said.

"Very few bills have been held up in the rules committee in recent years," Smith claimed. "We have been most cooperative and there is no reason to believe we wouldn't continue to be."

"However," he added philosophically, "if a majority wanted to give the speaker that power, that's the way it is."

The change in Rule 20 is another matter, in Smith's opinion.

What the change boiled down to was to make it easier to get final action on bills passed by both branches but in different form. In the past, a single objection in the House could keep such bills from going to a compromise committee unless the rules group gave its approval.

NEW RULE

The new rule gives the speaker discretion to put the question to an immediate House vote.

"What we have done here," Smith said, "is to take away our right and our duty to debate and consider legislation in an orderly manner. Too often the Senate has taken House bills and added major amendments dealing with extraneous matter."

★ ★ ★

"Under the new rule, when these bills go to conference and are brought back for House action, we must take the whole package or leave it. We can't have any original consideration of the riders added by the Senate."

The rules committee frequently has held up or shelved original House bills to which the Senate added provisions that were not germane.

Smith does not interpret the House action as a personal slap at him. He and the House leadership have been on good terms although they often disagree on legislation.

This Is Detroit Home Of Mr. And Mrs. Stanley S. Kresge

Wife of Kresge Millionaire Devoted to Family, Church

DETROIT (AP)—She lives in a house sociologists would say was in a changing neighborhood; answers the doorbell and telephone; drives her own car; does her own cooking and sews dresses for her granddaughters.

It wouldn't mean much if she were Mrs. John Doe of suburban Flintwick Farms, but she is Mrs. Dorothy Kresge.

★ ★ ★

While her husband Stanley is off tending to his work as president of the $90 million Kresge Foundation or details of the multimillion dollar five-and-dime store chain, Mrs. Kresge might be found baking bread for a church bazaar at her 16-room mansion on Arden Park in midtown Detroit, or babysitting with her 13 grandchildren.

She's a woman who believes a woman's place is in the home. Of working wives and career women, Mrs. Kresge notes: "Our whole economy is set up to drag families apart."

SAME HOUSE

And she still lives in the house she and her family moved into in 1936 because: "This was the house I wanted when we bought it . . . and it's the house I want now."

But as granddaughter of a Detroit shipbuilder, Dorothy Kresge is not one easily talked into things.

★ ★ ★

Once asked by a minister to take a church post; arguing that the Lord would look after her children while she worked, Mrs. Kresge said: "Oh, no. He gave them to me to look after."

And at a Kresge shareholder's meeting last year, she denounced Sunday store hours in straight Methodist terms.

MOUTH BUTTONED

"I tried to keep my mouth buttoned up but I couldn't," she said. "I think this contributes to the breaking up of families. Sunday should be a family day."

She lost the battle but hasn't given up the fight.

★ ★ ★

She is a woman unconcerned with social prestige, or knowing the "right" people.

"When you die, it doesn't make any difference whether you know the crowned heads of Europe or belong to the best clubs," Mrs. Kresge says.

FAMILY AND CHURCH

Her days are devoted to her family and church work in that order. She is up at 5:30 a.m. every morning with her husband. Kresge reads to his wife while she sews or works on needlepoint. When Kresge is called away on foundation business, his wife goes along.

Mrs. Kresge also finds time for the American Mothers Committee, World Medical Relief and attending to bedridden friends.

★ ★ ★

The Kresges attend church regularly, and often fly back from out of town for services or church committee meetings. Neither smokes or drinks.

The Kresge home is filled with fine old furniture, but retains an informal lived-in atmosphere. There is a grand piano and organ. Mrs. Kresge can play both. Tables are filled with religious books. A representation of the painting, "The Last Supper," hangs over the fireplace in the dining room.

106-ACRE ESTATE

Mrs. Kresge's humanitarian outlook is reflected in the family summer home, a 106-acre estate on Lake Angelus. The grounds are used as a day camp for Sunday school children, and the Kresge's three sons, Stanley Jr., Walter and Bruce often bring their families for outings.

"We bought this long piece of property on the shore line in

MRS. KRESGE

1931," recalls Mrs. Kresge. "When the banks closed we had to let all the help go. The boys and I had to really dig in and work. If a tree had to be taken down we took it down. We raised all our own vegetables.

★ ★ ★

"The Lord knew what He was doing when He let us buy that place," she added. "As a result of that hard work, not one of the boys has a lazy bone in his body."

The Kresge sons all live in Michigan. Walter operates a tool and die business in Pontiac; Stanley Jr. has a dairy farm near Lansing, and Bruce is a doctor in Rochester.

BORN IN DETROIT

Mrs. Kresge is the daughter of Walter McVitties. She was born in Detroit, but her father died at the age of 33 and Mrs. McVitties and her daughter lived by "keeping track of every nickel."

Mrs. Kresge's grandfather was president of the old Detroit Shipbuilding Co., and later founded the Toledo Shipbuilding Co.

★ ★ ★

She attended Central High School and later Detroit Junior College.

She met her "Stan" when she was 13 and he 14. They met on a Methodist tennis court. Kresge now teaches the game to his grandchildren.

'AFTER COLLEGE'

Although neither courted anyone else, they had no thought of marriage until "after college."

"People didn't in those days," she recalls.

★ ★ ★

After Kresge graduated from Albion College, and became a stockboy at a Kresge store, the couple were married and settled in suburban Highland Park.

Kresge now presides as chairman of the board over the empire which includes 876 chain stores in 44 states, Canada and Puerto Rico. The firm was founded by his father, Sebastian Kresge, now 97.

Montcalm County to Vote on College

STANTON (AP) — A special election on a proposed Montcalm County community college district has been scheduled for March 2 by the area's Intermediate School District Board. Voters will be asked to approve establishment of the college district, a 1-mill levy for operations and capital outlay and elect a board of trustees.

Program Prospects Brightened

Dems Hike Margins in House Units

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democrats have beefed up their already substantial control of House committees, placing themselves in a stronger position to push President Johnson's legislative program.

The most sweeping revision of House committee makeup in 25 years especially brightens Democratic prospects for health care, education and immigration measures.

★ ★ ★

With the single exception of the rules committee, which continues to be made up of 15 Democrats and 10 Republicans, the Democrats in control of the House dealt themselves bigger shares of committee strength.

The outnumbered Republicans went along, grateful at least that none of their members who were reelected will have to lose a committee assignment in the shake-up.

The decisions were made Tuesday at a bargaining session described by House Democratic and Republican leaders as amicable.

A key decision was to change the ratio of the ways and means committee from 15 Democratic and 10 Republican members to 17 Democrats and 8 Republicans.

This appeared virtually to ensure — if any further assurance should be necessary — that the committee will approve some sort of health care plan for the aged related to Social Security.

The committee had been the graveyard of Social Security health care plans, consistently opposed by all the Republicans, and by Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., and enough other Democrats to make up a majority.

★ ★ ★

Mills has indicated he would be amenable to a compromise version in which taxation for health care and for the traditional Social Security benefits would be kept separate.

The appropriations committee, divided 30-20 with Democrats in control since 1951, now will have a 34-16 ratio.

The Duke of Windsor Able to Travel Again

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — The Duke of Windsor is able to travel again, just 21 days since he underwent major surgery.

Pontiac City Affairs

Second Auto Junk Yard Heard From

A second auto junk yard may become a problem for the Pontiac City Commission, according to report last night by City Manager Joseph A. Warren.

Recently the city, after several months of negotiations, went to court against Sam Allen & Son, Inc., of 22 Congress.

One of the arguments in that case revolves around the zoning of a portion of the Allen property.

A related question faces city officials on a matter raised by Frederick W. Scribner, owner of Ace Auto Parts, 701 Oakland.

★ ★ ★

The auto parts firm has asked for a license to store and dismantle automobiles on its Oakland property.

NEVER GRANTED

Such an operation requires manufacturing-3 zoning, according to City Manager Warren. The property currently carries a manufacturing-1 zoning.

Scribner, who has operated the business for three years, has sought a license in the past, but has never been granted one because of the zoning.

In September 1963, a request to change the zoning received a negative recommendation from the City Planning Commission.

★ ★ ★

However, the city planners will be asked to reconsider the problem. The City Commission last night directed Scribner's request to them for further consideration.

TRANSFER FUNCTIONS

In other business last night, the commission approved a proposal from the city manager to transfer the functions of reading water and sewer meters and computing such bills to the water department.

The collection of the bills still remains in the finance department, according to Warren.

Previously, the meter reading responsibility had been carried by several departments — engineering, finance, public works and water.

★ ★ ★

Warren told the commission that this was not the usual pattern for cities the size of Pontiac and made it difficult to pinpoint responsibility.

CITY AUTHORITY

City Engineer Joseph E. Neipling reported last night that certain streets, formerly under the jurisdiction of the State Highway Department, had been turned back to the city's authority.

The streets included portions of Auburn, Pike, Williams, Huron, Perry, Mill and Oakland.

He said that Wide Track has become the official state trunkline for I-75, U.S. 10 and M59 routes.

★ ★ ★

In addition, a portion of West Huron from Williams to Wide Track has been established as an M59 trunkline.

BUS OPERATIONS

City commissioners last night also received a report on bus operations for the month of December, showing 70,919 riders for the month.

★ ★ ★

Revenues taken in by Pontiac Transit Corp. jumped to $18,221, an increase from $16,452 in November and $16,476 in December 1963.

There were 86,484 riders in December 1962, for a total revenue of $16,868.

City Rejects Upgrading of Taverns

An admitted teetotaler last night defended the upgrading of tavern licenses in Pontiac, but the City Commission stood firm.

★ ★ ★

Monday night the seven commissioners could not agree on the upgrading of tavern licenses to Class C status (liquor by the glass) and rejected a report by a citizens committee that set guidelines for the upgrading.

Describing himself as "a teetotaler," Mitchell Bacow claimed the City Commission had slammed the door in the faces of the city's 18 tavern owners.

Bacow, a local attorney and one of five members of the upgrading committee, defended the group's report. He urged the commission to reconsider it.

"We tried very, very hard to bring in a fair package," said Bacow.

REPRESENTATIVE GROUP

He pointed out that the committee was a representative group from both sides of the liquor question.

The local attorney offered to have the committee revise its report to "make it more palatable."

Mayor William H. Taylor Jr. replied that the majority of the commission did not want any more Class C operation in the city.

★ ★ ★

Taylor, in mentioning the split vote on the commission, said that one of the objections to the report had been that only three licenses per year would be upgraded.

"Who will be the three?" asked the mayor.

JUST A START

Bacow answered that the committee had selected three as "just a start." He said the attempt had been to overcome some of the natural opposition to upgrading.

★ ★ ★

Commissioner John A. Dugan said that the door was not closed on any issue. He admitted that the commission's decision was "political."

County Circuit Court Hit by High Judges

The Oakland County Circuit Court has come under attack from the Michigan Supreme Court, with Judge William J. Beer singled out in the complaint for his handling of two cases.

Other lower Michigan courts and judges were blistered by the Supreme Court after it ruled on 42 cases Monday and Tuesday.

In a property case Monday, the high court complained in Lansing that Beer filed no opinion or findings of fact.

The unanimous opinion, written by Justice Eugene Black, reversed a decision for the Railroad Improvement Association against Helen Thomas of Bloomfield Township.

Black said that nearly all such partially tried cases came from the Oakland County Circuit Court and added that the Oakland court should "spend at least the same amount of time on an equity case as we must apply to it . . . ."

The high court said it recognized the increasing burden on lower courts but noted that it would be better to get "farther and farther behind rather than to crank a judicial meat-grinder" simply to dispose of cases.

In another decision on a case from Beer's court, the supreme court yesterday complained "we find it impossible to pass upon the questions involved for lack of facts on which to predicate legal conclusions.

"We also note sharp differences between the two statements of facts of parties, and we find no conclusionary statements in them that not only are unsupported by evidentiary facts, but are not even supported by allegations in the pleadings," the high court added.

The court reversed Beer's granting a motion to dismiss a bill of complaint to foreclose a mechanic's lien brought by the Erb - Restrick Lumber Co. against Lovett Builders, Inc., and others, and the Pontiac Federal Savings and Loan Association.

Deadline Due for Highway Dept. Training

Application deadline is Jan. 25 for the Michigan State Highway Department's three-year work-study student technician program.

★ ★ ★

Applications are available at the Oakland County Clerk-Register's office at the County Service Center or at the office of the Michigan Employment Security Commission, 242 Oakland.

Civil Service tests will be held Feb. 27 to select 40 students for the program, which includes both classroom study and on-the-job training.

Any high school graduate under the age of 41, including those who graduate this June, is eligible to take the examination.

★ ★ ★

Students selected for this year's program will work on various highway department jobs, such as drafting, design and survey, for a period of six months at a salary ranging from $172 to $193 every two weeks.

ATTEND COLLEGE

They will then attend either Ferris State College at Big Rapids or Lansing Community College for the next six months at their own expense.

Graduates of the program which begins in July, will earn an associate degree in civil technology.

Archbishop of Chicago Taking Hospital Tests

CHICAGO (AP) — Albert Cardinal Meyer, Roman Catholic archbishop of Chicago, was taken to Mercy Hospital from his home in a fire department ambulance early this morning.

★ ★ ★

A hospital spokesman said Cardinal Meyer, 62, was admitted for "a lot of tests," but that his condition is "good as of right now." An early report said he had been stricken with an apparent heart attack, but the spokesman denied this.

Typewriter Workers Strike Over Jet Noise

WILHELMSHAVEN, Germany (AP) — Eleven thousand workers struck the Olympic typewriter factory here today to protest the "unbearable noise" of jet fighters from a nearby German air field.

The factory is right in the takeoff path from the field. A spokesman for the workers said they had also felt in danger ever since a Starfighter jet fighter-bomber crashed near the factory.

Former King Saud in Beirut Stopover

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Former King Saud of Saudi Arabia, dethroned and ailing, stopped over briefly in Beirut today en route to Vienna for medical treatment.

Saud's chartered jetliner spent 52 minutes at Beirut Airport. The former monarch, who is 65, did not leave the plane and was reported in bed.

Ruling to Bring Gravlin Appeal

Judge Denies Bid for New Lawyer in Case

Accused mass slayer William G. Gravlin will appeal his denial for a new court-appointed attorney.

Gravlin, 30, notified Circuit Judge James S. Thorburn of the action yesterday.

At the same time he requested and was granted a hearing for 10:30 a.m. today for the purpose of getting his trial delayed until the Supreme Court makes a decision on his appeal.

On Monday, Thorburn refused to name another attorney to defend Gravlin.

★ ★ ★

Gravlin had petitioned for the dismissal of his court-appointed attorney, Robert Rann of Royal Oak, on the grounds that Rann was "prejudiced."

Gravlin is charged with first-degree murder in connection with the Sept. 27 ax, hammer and shotgun deaths of his wife, daughter and five stepchildren.

★ ★ ★

The seven victims were found in their home at 2121 Garson, Troy.

Joke Was on Bank Robber

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Miss Gladys Jones, a teller at a North Carolina National Bank branch in Charlotte, was busy and didn't understand what the short, stocky gunman said. So she tossed the two paper bags he placed before her into a nearby wastebacket.

Police said the gunman then lost his nerve, turned and walked out of the bank.

The man, dressed in dark clothing, entered the bank about 3:30 p.m. yesterday and announced to Miss Jones, "This is a holdup."

Motioning to the bags, he ordered, "Fill 'em up."

★ ★ ★

Miss Jones thought he was joking. Only one person in the bank, a customer, saw the gun the man was holding.

No one else apparently realized that an attempted holdup was in progress.

Schools Make Own 'War on Poverty'

By LESLIE J. NASON, ED. D.

Education's own "war on poverty" is not a new war, but an expansion, through federal funds and concern, of efforts that have been under way for some time in school districts in New York, Chicago and Los Angeles. The experience of the pathfinders indicates that it will not be a war for the faint-hearted.

DR. NASON

In one Los Angeles elementary school located in an underprivileged area, the following have been under way for some time:

Groups of preschool children have been given a school readiness program.

Home visitations to help parents take over the job themselves and better prepare their children for formal schooling.

Special classes with reduced numbers to strengthen the teaching of basic educational skills; that is, reading, writing and mathematics.

After-school programs are effectively used in upgrading and absorbing children with language handicaps. Many are from non-English speaking homes.

Evening classes are available to parents.

With all of these programs, the school is reaching only a fraction of those who need help. To reach the preschool children alone (approximately 300 in the vicinity of this school) would require 30 additional teachers.

At least half as many additional rooms would be needed if such children could be helped with as many as ten in a group.

The term "pockets of poverty" used in official documents gives the wrong impression of the immensity of the problem.

The school under discussion is only one of many in an underprivileged area of several square miles containing a population of thousands. It should scarcely be called a "pocket."

While neither the classrooms nor the added personnel will be available for complete coverage of the entire area in the forseeable future, the programs should not be abandoned as impracticable.

Measured against a perfection standard of reaching all and raising the level of all, the program is a failure. Measured against progress, the program is a success.

For example, fifth grade children of the area read more effectively than their parents, and an ever increasing percentage of the children from this area are continuing in school through junior high and high school

The important thing is that progress IS being made. A few battles may be lost, but the war will be won if the educators and the public have the stamina to continue the struggle for a generation or two.

Workers in these programs lose their enthusiasm and become discouraged over the lethargy of actual resistance on the part of parents. This is understandable.

It is difficult to keep one's eye on a goal which may never be reached during one's lifetime. They should be continually reminded of the progress being made.

JACOBY

Thus when The Netherlands played Switzerland the Dutch player in the North seat decided to bid seven spades rather than seven diamonds because spades count 10 points more per trick and his side would gain two IMPs if they bid and made seven spades while the Swiss North-South pair bid and made seven diamonds.

Seven spades was a reasonable contract and would have made easily if the trumps had broken 3-2, but when they broke 4-1 the unfortunate Dutchman found himself really in Dutch.

If you don't understand the bidding, it seems that North's five club call was a European asking bid and South's six club response showed the ace and king of that suit so it was not hard for North to count 13 tricks.

If also was too bad that he went out for maximum. If he had just bid seven diamonds that contact would have wrapped up and he would have been plus 1,440 instead of minus 150.

Then, it just happened that the Swiss North-South pair did not get to seven. Instead, they settled for six diamonds so that if Holland had not been quite so eager, its team would have gained 500 points or 11 IMPs instead of losing 1,090 points and 15 IMPs on this hand.

Utah Postman Is Honorary Doctor, Sorority 'Sister'

(EDITOR'S NOTE — A one landlord social service. An economic paradox in Kansas. An antinudity drive in California. These are in an intriguing miscellany of reports from varied sections of the U.S. scene.)

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (AP) — At the University of Utah's Delta Delta Delta sorority house, the postman didn't ring twice.

He didn't ring at all. He was a member.

Arthur M. Aamodt, campus mail carrier the past 15 years, had another distinction — he's an honorary doctor of letters. The university administration conferred the title on him in 1958.

"Dr." Aamodt — as he's known around the university — explained how he joined the sorority:

"I'd been on campus for several years and I thought I should get into some social life. Part of my route was the Pan-Hellenic office in the Student Union. I got an application and filled it out and the girls processed it with other applications.

GOT A CALL

"About a week later I got a call from the sorority inviting me to the house. They made me a guest of honor at a dinner and gave me a jewel box for cuff links with the chapter crest on it."

★ ★ ★

"Dr." Aamodt retired at end of December. The university, as a farewell gift, gave him a new title: "Honorary Doctor of Letters Emeritus."

But "Dr." Aamodt isn't giving up the university.

'I'LL BE BACK'

"I'll be back often," he said, "I'll have to come back to see my girls."

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — The generals leading a bureaucratic army into the war against poverty might do well to keep an eye on a skirmish being fought by a Baltimore landlord.

The landlord, Howard Offit, has set up his own social welfare agency for the 125 families which occupy houses he owns.

★ ★ ★

Three months ago he hired a social worker, Jane Cullen Mathieu, to help him "prove to some people that civic renewal could be done on a private basis."

Since then, Miss Mathieu, 30, has set up a sort of neighborhood settlement house. She established two steering committees to coordinate neighborhood activities. She began tutorial service, published a six-page monthly newsletter for tenants, started a savings club — pooling tenants' money for investments — and home economic workshops.

HAS APPROVAL

The program has had the approval so far of everyone, from the professionals in the Welfare Department to the tenants.

Offit says: "The tenants will be happier, there will be less turnover. "It's just good business."

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — "Gimme 50 cents worth of gas," said the customer. "And while you're at it, sweep out the car and tighten up the wheel nuts," The harried service station operator complied, then was handed a $20-bill in payment.

The attendant made change and breathed a sigh of relief — only to find another car waiting in line with similar demands.

★ ★ ★

The campaign stemmed from the fact three Phoenix service stations cut prices two cents per gallon last week — selling regular for 31.9 cents and premium for 33.9 — and put up signs advertising same.

The Arizona Gasoline Retailers Association didn't think it quite cricket, contending such signs incite gas price wars. So it called out its troops.

PICKETS APPEAR

Pickets with "Unfair to AGRA" signs first appeared at the three stations. Then came the deluge of cars driven by men wearing uniforms of other oil companies. The drivers ordered small purchases of gas, paid for them with large bills and demanded extra services.

The campaign was launched, said Henry Cox, association president, because the stations "were using their price signs as a weapon to intimidate other dealers to incite a gas war."

★ ★ ★

Both sides claimed victory of sorts.

"It's getting a lot of action from the public," said Roy Gay, a station owner. "We've been doing about four times more gas business than usual for today."

PRICE SIGNS

Price signs at the stations remained up through the picket campaign and Cox says no new action is planned at present.

"We just wanted to show an oil company we have an organization," Cox said.

TOPEKA, Kan. (AP) — Kansas is losing some of the gold in its wheat to the industrial East and needs help from Washington.

A committee issued a chilling report to Gov. John Anderson recently on the erosion of the milling industry in the country's No. 1 wheat- producing state — mills closed at Kingman and Winfield; two more scheduled to close at Salina; a possible shutdown at Wellington.

The reason: federally regulated freight rates are lower for wheat than they are for flour. As a result, major buyers are purchasing wheat for processing in the East. Kansas mills can't compete. The state is worried that unless rates are equalized it may lose its whole milling industry.

★ ★ ★

It would mean a loss of 2,500 jobs with an annual payroll of $15 million.

Said the report:

"It is the height of irony that a federally regulated freight rate differential is creating poverty at the very time the federal government is spending almost a billion dollars to eliminate poverty."

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The City Council is readying a campaign to protect diners from nudity.

Few diners have complained. But some of their wives have.

There have also been complaints from homeowners living near eating establishments which advertise "lunchtime strip show" along with the businessmen's special.

The council already has started its antinudity machinery into action — assigning the problem, appropriately enough, to its fire, police and Civil Defense committee.

DUE FOR ACTION

The committee's plan was due for action by the council itself this week. It would require establishments with an entertainment license to get a special permit for a striptease act from the City Police Commission.

Right now, any business with an entertainment license can start a strip act.

Nightspot owners in the San Fernando Valley added bumps and grinds to the noontime menu and quickly found tired business types vying avidly for tables near the runway.

★ ★ ★

If the proposed law passes, it would be up to the Police Commission to decide what —if any — restaurants would be allowed to serve food, drink and also feature striptease entertainment.

2 Fighting Brothers Are Shot by Father

GULF SHORES, Ala. (AP) — An elderly man shot his two sons when he was unable to separate them during a fight, police said Tuesday.

★ ★ ★

Police Chief Fletcher Phillips said Ralph E. Holden, 74, told authorities he shot one son and then another after they got into an argument and began fighting.

★ ★ ★

Ralph E. Holden Jr., 44, and Robert C. Holden, 31, each suffered 22-caliber bullet wounds in the stomach and were taken to a hospital.

★ ★ ★

Phillips said no charges had been filed.

Uncooked Fondant Fine to Stuff Dates

Many women dislike making cooked fondant even though they like it for stuffing dates. With the recipe below, you can forget the cooking.

Stuffed Dates

⅓ cup margarine
⅓ cup light corn syrup
1 teaspoon vanilla
½ teaspoon salt
1 pound confectioners sugar, sifted
1¾ pound dates, pitted
Granulated sugar

Cream margarine slightly in large mixing bowl; blend in corn syrup, vanilla, and salt. Add confectioners sugar all at once and mix in, first with a spoon, then kneading with hands.

Turn onto board and continue kneading until mixture is well blended and smooth.

Shape fondant into very small finger rolls and stuff into pitted dates. Roll in granulated sugar.

Avocados Need Tang of Sauce

The combination of sauce and avocado in "Avocado Honeys" adds up to a delightful appetizer. The sauce is a heated mixture of honey, Worcestershire, chili sauce, wine vinegar and butter spooned into plump avocado half-shells.

★ ★ ★

For quick-as-a-wink removal of avocado seeds, cut the fruit lengthwise into halves, twist gently to separate the halves, whack a sharp knife into the seed and twist gently to lift it out.

Avocado Honeys

3 California avocados
2 tablespoons Worcestershire
2 tablespoons chili sauce
2 tablespoons honey
2 tablespoons honey
2 tablespoons wine vinegar
2 tablespoons butter

Cut avocados lengthwise into halves; remove seeds. Remove skin if you wish. Place one half-shell on each of 6 salad plates or in wide, flaring cocktail glasses.

Combine in saucepan all remaining ingredients. Heat over very low heat; beat with wire whip to blend. Spoon into avocado halves. Garnish with water cress if you wish. Serve at once. Makes 6 servings.

Broccoli Adds Touch of Green

Fresh broccoli is a many splendoured vegetable. Of an intensely jewel green color, the clusters of flower buds add beauty and appetite appeal to any dinner plate. Not visible to the human eye — except by the healthful results — are a long list of vitamins and minerals, especially vitamins A and C.

With all these admirable virtues a pound of edible broccoli contains a dainty 132 calories.

It's easy enough to cook broccoli correctly, but overcooking or incorrect cooking develops a strong flavor and brown color. Both the stem and flowerets are edible so be sure to use the whole stalk.

Make lengthwise gashes in the stems, almost all the way up if stems are more than one-half inch in diameter.

The prepared broccoli can be tied in a bunch and stood upright in the bottom part of a double boiler containing about 1 inch boiling water and ½ teaspoon salt. Or, if not tied, it can be placed in a saucepan with the same amount of boiling water.

By either method, let broccoli boil, uncovered, for 5 minutes. Then cover with inverted top of double boiler or saucepan lid and cook 10 to 15 minutes longer, until just crisp-tender.

Broccoli is no exception to the general rule for cooking green vegetables for a few minutes without a cover. Green vegetables release an otherwise harmless acid when they begin cooking.

If this acid is dissipated along with the steam the vegetable retains its fresh green color. If trapped by a tight lid, this acid steam will give green vegetables an unappetizing brownish cast.

Fresh Broccoli-Fish Casserole

1 bunch (about 1½ lbs.) fresh broccoli, cooked
2 tablespoons fresh lemon juice
1½ lbs. perch or other fish fillets
1½ teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon ground black pepper
¼ teaspoon poultry seasoning
3 tablespoons butter or margarine
3 cups seasoned fluffy mashed potatoes

Place cooked fresh broccoli in bottom of a buttered 12x7½x2½ inch casserole. Sprinkle with 1 tablespoon of the fresh lemon juice. Cover with perch fillets. Sprinkle with remaining fresh lemon juice.

Combine salt, ground black pepper and poultry seasoning and sprinkle over fish. Dot with butter or margarine. Top with mashed potatoes.

Bake in a preheated moderate oven (350 degrees) 1 hour or until top is crusty and brown. Yield: 6 servings.

Fresh Broccoli and Ham Divan

1 large bunch fresh broccoli (about 2 pounds)
1-inch boiling water in saucepan
1 teaspoon salt
2 cups diced cooked ham
Mustard-Cheese Sauce
1 cup soft bread crumbs
3 tablespoons butter or margarine, melted

★ ★ ★

Wash and trim broccoli. Cut large stalks in halves or quarters. Place in a saucepan with boiling water and salt. Cover and parboil until about half done, lifting the lid once or twice.

Arrange one-half of the broccoli in the bottom of a 10x6x2-inch baking dish. Cover with a layer of cooked ham and then with Mustard-Cheese Sauce. Sprinkle with bread cubes blended with the melted butter or margarine.

Bake in a preheated moderate over (350 degrees) 30 minutes. Remove from oven and garnish with remaining cooked broccoli.

Mustard-Cheese Sauce

2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1½ tablespoons flour
1 cup milk
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon powdered dry mustard
Dash ground black pepper
½ cup shredded sharp American or Cheddar cheese

Melt butter or margarine in saucepan. Blend in flour until smooth. Add milk and seasonings and cook, stirring constantly, until thickened. Add cheese and stir until melted. Yield: 6 servings.

Fresh Broccoli Veal Divan

1 small bunch (1 lb.) fresh cooked broccoli
1 cup celery, cooked
2 cups diced cooked left-over veal
¼ cup chopped onion
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 tablespoons flour
1 chicken bouillon cube
¾ cup hot water
¼ cup milk
¾ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon ground black pepper
1 cup grated cheese
1 cup soft bread crumbs
2 tablespoons butter or margarine, melted

Arrange half the broccoli and celery in a 10x6x2-inch baking dish. Cover with all the veal. Add the remaining broccoli or celery.

Saute onion in butter or margarine. Blend in flour. Dissolve bouillon cube in hot water and add along with milk. Mix well. Cook over low heat until of medium thickness, stirring constantly. Stir in salt, black pepper and cheese.

Pour over veal and broccoli. Combine bread crumbs and melted butter or margarine. Sprinkle over the top.

★ ★ ★

Bake in a preheated moderate oven (350 degrees) 45 minutes or until crumbs are brown and broccoli is tender when pierced with a knife. Yield: 6 servings.

FRESH BROCCOLI AND HAM DIVAN—Diced ham, fresh broccoli spears and a well-seasoned mustard cheese sauce add up to a delicious meal-in-a-dish.

Peel Orange Slices for Use in Punch

Heat red wine with a spice bag (a bay leave, whole cloves and a cinnamon stick) and pour over sugared slices of orange.

Be sure to cut the peel away from the oranges so no white membrane remains.

Cauliflower is a variety of cabbage. The stem and flower are edible.

Cut Through Stem

Make several cuts into the solid stems of broccoli and Brussels sprouts. This decreases the time needed for cooking, improving the color and flavor of the cooked vegetable.

In Main Dishes

Pecans Replace Meat

Pecans may seem like an "extra" food, for trimming baked goods or garnishing salads, but they also can perk up your main dish platters. Pecans can be a good solid contribution to daily nutritional requirements.

Perky pecans have a low-moisture content and are a concentrated source of many nutrients. They are one of our richest plant sources of protein, are a good source of thiamine (one of the B vitamins), and offer considerable food energy, according to U.S. Department of Agriculture nutritionists.

While they won't actually duplicate the nutrients of meat, as a rich protein food, pecans make a good pinch-hitter occasionally. Meatless meals can be bolstered by including pecans in the main dish.

A nut loaf usually includes ground or chopped nuts, chopped vegetables, a cereal, bread crumbs, and a thick sauce for binder. Celery, green pepper, or carrots are recommended as one of the vegetables — to give crisp texture.

Croquettes made with chopped pecans must be softer and more moist, so they should be made with mashed potatoes, bean pulp, or cooked cereal.

Potato-Pecan Croquettes

3 cups mashed potatoes
2 cups pecans, chopped
1 tablespoon finely chopped onion
2 tablespoons melted butter
1 cup finely cut celery
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
1 egg, beaten
2 teaspoons salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
2 or 3 drops Tabasco sauce
Egg and crumbs
Fat for frying
1 tablespoon finely chopped green pepper

Cook the onion and green pepper in the fat. Add all the other ingredients except the egg and crumbs, and mix thoroughly.

Shape into croquettes, roll in beaten egg to which 1 tablespoon water has been added, then in sifted dry bread crumbs. Let stand to form a crust, then fry in deep fat at 375 degrees until crumbs brown.

Drain on soft paper and serve at once.

Pecan - Rice Loaf

2 cups pecans, chopped
2 cups cooked rice
2 tablespoons melted butter
¼ cup chopped green pepper
3 tablespoons flour
1 cup milk
½ cup finely cut celery
1 cup dry bread crumbs
1 egg, beaten
1½ teaspoons salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper

Make a thick sauce with the butter and flour. Mix well with the other ingredients, and form into a loaf. Pack tightly in a well - greased loaf pan lined with paper, and bake at 375-400 degrees for 1 hour.

Olive Oil Prevents Drying of Roast

The gravy made with pot roast is (or can be) the most flavorful in the world — but often the meat itself becomes dry. This is because so much of the meat juice is drawn out during the long, slow cooking.

★ ★ ★

Here's a Spanish secret for keeping the meat moist and succulent: pierce the meat in several places and brush into the holes 2 or 3 tablespoons of olive oil so that the oil penetrates into the fibers of the meat. This can be done again before the meat is reheated in the gravy.

Contrary to many wives tales, olive oil will not make the gravy greasy, actually it helps to give the gravy a smooth, silky consistency without added flour.

Ginger Snaps Help to Thicken Sauce

Plump raisins lend a delightful fruit flavor to this tangy sweet and sour sauce made quickly and easily with ginger snaps. Spoon it over sliced tongue for a special treat and round out a low-cost dinner with baked tomatoes and buttered broccoli spears.

Sweet Sour Sauce for Tongue

2 beef bouillon cubes
1½ cups boiling water
10 old fashioned ginger snaps, finely rolled (about ⅔ cup crumbs)
⅓ cup dark seedless raisins
⅓ cup light brown sugar, firmly packed
¼ cup cider vinegar
¼ teaspoon grated lemon rind
¼ teaspoon ground black pepper
⅛ teaspoon ground cloves
1 pound cooked beef tongue, thinly sliced

In a saucepan, dissolve bouillon cubes in boiling water. Stir in the next 7 ingredients. Simmer 10 minutes, stirring occasionally. Serve over hot or cold sliced, cooked tongue. Makes 4 servings.

Greeks Have Good Ideas About Food

Mousaka Kreas may be Greek to you (it should be — it's a Greek casserole!) but you'll find that everyone in your family will love the warm and wonderful appeal of this hearty Greek style meal.

★ ★ ★

Ground chuck, potatoes, French fried onions, and spaghetti sauce combined with sage, salt and pepper, and vegetable oil to produce a new and memorable casserole dinner that will be as easy on your budget as it is good!

Mousaka Kreas

1 pound ground chuck
2 tablespoons vegetable oil
1 teaspoon rubbed sage
4 cups thinly sliced potatoes
1 cup water
¼ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon black pepper
1 can (3½ oz.) French fried onions
1 package spaghetti sauce mix
1¾ cups water

In a fry pan, brown meat slowly with the oil and sage. Cook potatoes in 1 cup boiling water, in a covered saucepan for 5 minutes, to par-boil. Drain. Toss with salt and pepper, and half a can of French fried onions.

Prepare sauce mix, using 1¾ cups water, according to directions on package. Arrange layers of potatoes, meat, and sauce in a 2-quart buttered casserole, ending with sauce.

Cover dish and bake at 350 degrees for 45 minutes. Remove from oven, add remaining onions, and bake 5 minutes longer. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Fold Cheese Cubes Into Lime Aspic

Cheese aspic is an excellent feature for almost any meal. Filled and decorated with slices of pimento-stuffed olives, cheese cubes, and diced celery, it makes a colorful, flavored centerpiece for buffet luncheons and suppers.

★ ★ ★

This tangy cheese aspic is easy to make and can be prepared ahead of time. You will find yourself serving it for family meals as well as to special guests. Try it.

Cheese Aspic

1 package lime-flavored gelatin
1 cup hot water
¾ cup cold water
2 tablespoons vinegar
1 teaspoon grated onion
3 ounces processed cheese, cut into small cubes
½ cup diced celery
1 tablespoon sliced pimento-stuffed olives

Dissolve gelatin in hot water. Add cold water, vinegar, and grated onion. Chill until slightly thickened. Fold in cheese cubes, diced celery, and sliced pimento-stuffed olives. Turn into 1-quart mold. Chill until firm. Unmold.

Serve on crisp lettuce. Garnish with tomato wedges and cheese cubes. Yield: 6 servings.

Convenient Way

Like onion with your hamburgers? If you don't feel like peeling and chopping fresh onion, add a little of the dehydrated chopped onion to the meat.

Homemade Mixes Are Easy

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

If you do a great deal of baking, there is no reason why you cannot use homemade mixes for breads and cakes. Over a year's time, you should save a tidy sum of money in this way.

★ ★ ★

A former Macomb county home extension agent, Bernice La Freniere, gave me this first recipe which is for a basic mix. She said that refrigeration is necessary.

BASIC MIX

9 cups all purpose flour
1-3 cup baking powder
4 teaspoons salt
2½ teaspoons cream of tartar
2 cups vegetable shortening

Cut shortening into dry ingredients as for pie crust. Store in tightly covered can.

Biscuits

Use 1½ cups mix and ⅓ cup milk. Bake at 450 degrees 10-15 minutes.

Muffins

1½ cups mix
1 tablespoon sugar
1 egg
½ cup milk

Mix only until dry ingredients are moistened. May add dates, nuts, raisins or a dab of jelly on top. Bake at 400-425 degrees.

Pancakes

1½ cups mix
¾ cup milk
1 egg

Proceed as for any pancakes.

Coffee Cake

1½ cups mix
¼ cup sugar
1-3 cup milk
1 egg

Mix and spread into 8x8 inch greased pan. Top with a mixture of 1½ tablespoons butter; ¼ cup brown sugar; 1 tablespoon flour and ½ teaspoon cinnamon mixed together.

Sometime in 1964 we published a recipe for homemade cake mix. We had so many calls for it that we decided to repeat it here.

HOMADE CAKE MIX

8 cups sifted all purpose flour
2 cups vegetable shortening
5 cups sugar
¼ cup double acting baking powder
4 teaspoons salt

★ ★ ★

Put half the flour into a large bowl. Add the rest of the ingredients, then remaining flour. Cut in shortening until mixture is crumbly.

Keep in an airtight container in the refrigerator. Will keep up to six months. Makes about 15 cups.

Layer Cake

4 cups mix loosely packed
1 cup milk
2 eggs
1 teaspoon vanilla

Add 2-3 of the cup of milk to the mix. Blend and beat two minutes on medium beater speed. Add rest of ingredients and remaining mix and beat another two minutes.

Pour into two greased 8 or 9 inch layer cake pans lined with wax paper. Bake 25-35 minutes at 350 degrees.

Vary Topping When Serving Pumpkin Pie

Here's an assortment of toppings for pumpkin pie.

Maple-cream cheese topping is fluffy and light and just right. You can create ½ cupful of this topping by whipping together a 3-ounce package of cream cheese with 2 tablespoons honest-to-goodness maple sirup. A fluffy spoonful per serving will do.

★ ★ ★

Pumpkin pie in the New England fashion calls for molasses whip topping. Whip ½ cup heavy cream and then fold in 1½ tablespoons dark molasses. Enough for 8 servings.

★ ★ ★

Chocolate velvet topping was created for the best serving of pumpkin pie you ever had. Fashion it from a 3-ounce package of cream cheese, ¼ cup prepared sour cream and 1 cup confectioners' sugar.

Into this mixture goes a melted 1-ounce square of unsweetened chocolate and ½ teaspoon ground cinnamon. Mix until velvet-smooth. Spread evenly atop pie. Chill before cutting.

★ ★ ★

The renowned Oscar of the Waldorf added the tanginess of sharp cheese for a magnificent touch to pumpkin pie. You can serve it in a cheese whip topping by combining ¼ cup sharp process cheese spread with a 3-ounce package of cream cheese. Season and sweeten with ¼ teaspoon ground nutmeg and a tablespoon each of milk and confectioners' sugar.

Birds Are Young

Have you noticed that some broilers have dark bones? Experts tell us that dark bones are typically seen in young birds. They are likely to be noticed more and more since producers are marketing broilers at a younger age. The color of the bone does not affect the fine eating quality.

Flavor Surprise in Fig Appetizers

California dried figs are in our local markets now, ready to use generously in memory-making recipes like these:

Hong Kong Appetizers

12 California dried figs, cut in halves
1 5-ounce can water chestnuts, cut into halves
12 slices bacon, cut into halves
¼ cup honey
¼ cup lemon juice
2 tablespoons soy sauce

Stuff figs with water chestnuts; wrap in bacon securing with toothpicks. Marinate in mixture of honey, lemon juice and soy sauce for several hours. Broil, turning until bacon is done. Serve hot. Makes 24 appetizers.

Higher Math Needed to Figure Cost

Baked products made from commercial mixes take less time to prepare, but may or may not cost more than similar products also prepared at home from separate ingredients, states Mrs. Josephine Lawyer, District Extention Agent.

While it pays to read the label on mixes to see what other ingredients are required, it may take arithmetic at home to calculate whether the mix will cost more or less than making the same product from "scratch."

These examples, reported by the U.S. Department of Agriculture, show the effect added ingredients have upon cost:

- Some mixes requiring added egg as well as milk, such as poundcake and yellow cake, cost less than comparable products prepared from separate ingredients.
- Other mixes, also requiring added egg and milk, such as corn muffins, cost more than the muffins prepared from separate ingredients.
- The relative cost of angel food cake mix depended upon whether the cost of whole eggs for the home-prepared product was considered. If so, the cake from the mix cost less than the home-prepared.
- When only the cost of the egg whites was counted, the two cakes cost the same.

Other factors more clear-cut than expense may enter into the choosing of commercial mixes. Among them are time savings, product quality, and personal pleasure in baking.

Quick Coffee Cake Contains Oatmeal

Treat your family to this nut-like flavored coffee cake.

American Coffee Cake

1½ cups sifted flour
2½ teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup shortening
½ cup sugar
2 eggs
½ cup milk
¾ cup quick - cooking or regular rolled oats

Topping

Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Cream shortening and sugar; thoroughly beat in eggs. Add sifted ingredients to creamed mixture alternately with milk, blending well. Stir in oats.

Turn into greased 7 by 11-inch pan. Sprinkle on Topping. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) 30 to 35 minutes.

Topping: Stir together ¼ cup firmly - packed brown sugar, 1 tablespoon flour and 1 teaspoon cinnamon; cut in 1 tablespoon butter or margarine until fine; stir in ¼ coarsely chopped pecans.

PECAN PIE — This Texas dessert is deliciously rich and should be cut into small wedges for serving. It keeps for several days and even freezes well.

Johnson's Favorite Pie Is Full of Texas Pecans

During the next four years, it is inevitable that pecan pie will be a featured dessert at the White House.

It is reported that pecan pie is one of President Johnson's favorite desserts and it is, without question, the most famous dessert of his native state of Texas.

Pecan pie once considered a delicacy to be enjoyed only in those states where pecans grow profusely, can now, with the use of canned nuts be relished in all fifty states.

If you have never made a pecan pie, then now is the time to do it. With fresh pecans on the market for the holiday season, you may want to make it from the fresh nuts.

If so, you can count on getting 2¼ cups nut meats from one pound of pecans. If you have nuts left over, either canned or fresh, store them in the refrigerator or better still in the freezer. They keep perfectly.

Deluxe Pecan Pie

1 unbaked 9-inch pastry shell
3 eggs, slightly beaten
1 cup dark corn syrup
1 cup sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
⅛ teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons melted margarine
1 cup pecans

Mix eggs, corn syrup, sugar, vanilla, salt and margarine. Stir in pecans. Pour into pastry shell.

Bake in 400 degrees F. (hot) oven 15 minutes; reduce heat to 350 degrees F. (moderate) and bake an additional 30 to 35 minutes. (Filling should be slightly less set in center than around edge).

Note: Omit salt if salted nuts are used.

Fudge Nut Pie: Follow recipe for Deluxe Pecan Pie, melting 2 squares unsweetened chocolate with margarine and reducing eggs to 2.

Deluxe Pecan Tarts: Roll enough pastry for 2 crust pie to ⅛ inch thickness on lightly floured board. Cut into circles; use to line 6 to 8 individual tart shells.

Prepare filling according to recipe for Deluxe Pecan Pie. Pour into shells. Bake in 400 degrees F. (hot) oven 20 to 25 minutes.

Peaches Go With Meats

There's seemingly no end to the number of ways canned cling peaches go with meat.

Hot: Fill canned cling peach halves with a mixture of mayonnaise, grated Parmesan cheese and Tabasco; broil.

Cold: Fill chilled canned cling peach halves with a mixture of chopped onion and dill pickle, prepared mustard and cream cheese.

Spiced pickled: Heat syrup from a 1 lb. 13 oz. can of cling peach slices with ¼ cup EACH sugar and vinegar and a teaspoon EACH whole cloves, allspice and peppercorns; bring to boil, then pour over peaches in sterilized jar. Cover and cool.

Blend the Ingredients

Whirl this treat in your electric blender. Blend 1 can (10½ ounces) condensed cream of mushroom soup, 1 soup can milk, ¼ bunch watercress, and ½ teaspoon curry powder. Pour into saucepan; heat, stirring now and then. Makes 2 to 3 servings.

Meat Sauce and Vegetables Cook Together in Skillet

A subtly seasoned meat and vegetable skillet or casserole fills every requirement for the ideal buffet: ease of preparation, good looks, self service and off-the-lap-eating.

A good looking electric skillet is one of a cook's best helpers. Food can be arranged, cooked and served in the same skillet. An electric skillet also keeps food at serving temperature while everyone helps himself.

Our well - seasoned ground beef skillet owes its intriguing flavor to canned tomato sauce, Worcestershire and chili powder. No separate vegetable course is needed as potatoes, corn and lima beans are included.

This with green salad, hot buttered bread and dessert makes an inviting buffet supper. Coffee and dessert service usually is best handled on a separate table or tea cart — not to interfere with the main course.

Buffet Casserole

1 lb. ground chuck
1 cup minced onions
2 (8-oz.) cans tomato sauce
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
1 tablespoon salt
1 teaspoon chili powder
2 cups thinly sliced, pared raw potatoes
1 (10-oz.) package frozen cut corn, thawed just enough to separate
1 (10-oz.) package frozen lima beans, thawed just enough to separate 1½ cups cubed cheddar cheese

Preheat electric fry pan to 325 degrees. Brown ground chuck and onions in fry pan. Add next four ingredients and blend well. Pat into 1 inch layer in bottom of pan.

On top, place in layers; potatoes, corn and lima beans. Cover and cook on low temperature for 30 minutes; then sprinkle with cheese cubes and cook uncovered until the vegetables are tender. Add more water if the dish becomes too dry. Makes 8 servings.

This casserole also can be arranged with the vegetables forming a circle around the meat mixture.

BUFFET SUPPER — This casserole combining meat and vegetables is made in a handsome electric skillet for ease of preparation and and serving. Canned tomato sauce subtly seasons the ground beef in this skillet medley.

Fix Cheese in a Mold

Soak two teaspoons unflavored gelatin in two tablespoons cold water. Set over hot water until it dissolves.

Mash ¾ cup American blue cheese with a fork. Add 1½ cups cream cheese and stir until smoothly blended. Add dash of salt, pepper and paprika. Stir in softened gelatin.

Stir in one cup of whipped cream. Pour into mold. Chill. Unmold and serve with crackers.

Lettuce Used in This Dish

For a quickie supper, cut western iceberg lettuce crosswise into 1-inch-thick slices; place on cooky sheet.

Heat canned chili con carne with ripe olive wedges and drained canned whole kernel corn. Spoon onto lettuce rafts. Arrange strips of cheese over chili.

★ ★ ★

Run under broiler until cheese melts. Garnish with tomato wedges or rolled-up pimiento strips. Serve with hot corn bread.

To Stuff Celery

Blend cream cheese with Roquefort cheese and add a dash of brandy; use as a stuffing for celery. Serve as an elegant first course; or serve with crisp greens tossed with French dressing as a delightful salad.

Anyone Can Become a Smart Food Shopper in 1965 if She Follows Basic Rules

"What food buying resolutions have you made for the New Year?" asks Mrs. Josephine Lawyer, Consumer Marketing Agent. "How much of your family income will be spent for food?"

If national averages are of help, the Department of Commerce estimates that about 18 per cent of family income (after federal taxes) will be spent for food eaten at home and away from home in 1965.

★ ★ ★

This does not include nonfood items which represent about 20 cents of each dollar spent in food stores today.

Because many families have higher incomes than ever before, they may not be consciously concerned with price comparisons and economizing when doing the grocery shopping.

Consumer research has shown, however, that homemakers are concerned if they realized that over a long period of time better food buying practices could add up to a down payment on a home, a substantial amount toward college education, or travel monies for family vacations.

Recent research by the U. S. Department of Agriculture showed that shoppers can save about six per cent on their grocery bill by buying foods that stores feature as "specials" each week.

Mrs. Lawyer suggests that homemakers should study the meat ads of the stores in which they shop before doing the weekly or bi-weekly marketing. The featured price is ten to 30 cents per pound less than the regular price for red meat cuts, and usually six to ten cents per pound less than the regular price for poultry items.

This may not seem important, but if one saved ten cents per pound on a four-pound roast, or 40 cents per week, this adds up to $20.80 in a year. In 40 years, or the average time period homemakers buy food for a family, this totals $432 for one item.

If the money spent for food is of little concern, then resolve to get greater satisfaction from food purchases because you want the best for your family. Here are several suggestions for making this come true in the New Year:

● Prepare a grocery list before you shop. Not only will this help you shop more quickly and avoid frustration that comes when you forget a needed item, but it will also prevent impulse buying of non-essentials or less important items.

● Consider time, energy, and money when deciding whether to buy or not to buy convenience food items. For example, the time saved when using a cake mix might be used for reading to a small child, planning a community club program, laundering your clothes, or for relaxing.

● Learn more about grades of meat, poultry, certain fruits and vegetables, butter, fish products, etc. These can be valuable buying guides when you know how to use them to your advantage.

FOOD IN SEASON

● Take advantage of seasonal food supplies. Foods are at their peak in quality and are lower in price when seasonal supplies are large.

● Provide proper food storage before and after cooking.

● Improve cooking methods to conserve the most food value and to provide the best flavor. Find and try new recipes in 1965.

● Look for, buy, and try new food products. Ask your store manager about them. Give them a fair trial.

New food items are removed from the grocer's shelves when consumers do not buy and you may never know what you missed if you do not accept the challenge of change in food products.

Jam and Nuts Top Ham Slice

An inch-thick slice of ham gives an elegant meal with just broiling, but if you want to give it a deluxe topping for a special dinner, that's easy, too.

★ ★ ★

Orange marmalade and cashew nuts give a golden, textured topping for a ham slice. Baking (roasting) the ham slice is advised.

★ ★ ★

The sweet mixture cooks evenly and requires little or no watching when cooked in this way.

Ham Slice with Orange Crunch Topping

1 smoked ham slice, cut 1 inch thick
½ cup orange marmalade
¼ cup chopped cashew nuts

★ ★ ★

Place ham slice on a rack in an open roasting pan. Bake in a slow oven (300 degrees) 45 minutes. Spread orange marmalade over ham slice. Sprinkle with cashew nuts.

Continue baking 15 minutes longer. 4 to 6 servings.

Walnut Cheese Sticks

Prepare pie crust from 1 stick pie crust mix, blending in ½ cup shredded sharp cheese. Roll thin, sprinkle with ½ cup finely chopped California walnuts, then roll again lightly. Cut in strips and bake on cookie sheet at 450 degrees for about six minutes until golden.

Spread Rounds of Rye Bread With Butters

Home entertaing reaches its peak during the Christmas season and "Open House" is a popular way of extending a warm welcome to holiday guests. It is a wise hostess who plans simple refreshments so that she, too, can enjoy the holidays.

One of the easiest and most appetizing holiday "bites" is a tray of miniature rye slices spread with a variety of flavored butters. The "butters" can be prepared ahead of time and spread on the slices shortly before guests arrive.

For swift spreading be sure the "butters" are at room temperature.

Paprika Butter Soften 4 ounces of butter and add one teaspoon of paprika and ¼ teaspoon of dry mustard. Stir until thoroughly blended. Spread on rye slices.

Caviar Butter Blend 3 ounces of caviar with four ounces of sweet butter and mix until smooth. Spread on rye slices.

Curry Butter Soften 4 ounces of butter with about one tablespoon of curry powder (depending on taste) and a few drops of white wine or consomme. Blend thoroughly and spread on rye slices.

Stud Golden Saffron Loaf with Fruit

You'll be glad you did your own baking when you savor "Saffron Date Bread." It's an ideal hot bread for cold weather. Cakes and pies are among other baked treats enhanced by chewy California dates.

Now is a perfect time of year to enjoy often and in many different ways this fresh fruit from California.

Saffron Date Bread

¾ cup California dates
2 packages or cakes yeast
¼ cup lukewarm water
¾ cup scaleded milk
½ cup sugar
1½ teaspoons salt
¼ to ½ teaspoon saffron powder
⅓ cup butter or margarine
1 egg, beaten
3½ cups sifted all-purpose flour
⅓ cup finely chopped glace fruit mix

Cut dates into fine pieces. Mix yeast in lukewarm water. Combine milk, sugar, salt, saffron to taste and butter; stir until butter melts. Cool until lukewarm; beat in egg and half the flour.

Mix in yeast, glace fruit and dates. Mix in remaining flour until stiff dough is formed. Turn onto floured board; knead gently until dough is smooth.

Return to bowl; grease top of dough lightly, cover and set in a warm place until doubled in bulk, about 1½ hours. Punch down and allow to rise 40 to 45 minutes.

Round up dough and place in a greased deep 8-inch layer cake pan. Allow to rise until loaf has doubled in bulk, about 30 minutes.

Bake in 375-degree (moderately hot) oven 35 to 40 minutes. Cool.

Glaze with a thin powdered sugar icing and decorate with blanched almonds and glace fruit if you wish. Makes 1 8-inch round loaf.

With Eggs, Cheese

Fix Spinach Italian Style

Ask any traveler who has visited the nations of Europe in which country he found the food most delicious and the chances are the reply will be: "Italy!"

Or perhaps you are already familiar with the vast array of tasty Italian dishes that distinguish Italian cooking and which are far removed from the pizza and spaghetti too many Americans consider to be Italy's greatest contribution to the culinary arts.

Eggs Florentine is a zesty, meatless casserole dish that bespeaks volumes for the Italian touch in cooking!

Eggs Florentine

2 packages frozen chopped spinach
4 hard-cooked eggs, cut in halves
1 package chicken gravy mix
1 cup water
1 tablespoon sliced pimiento, drained
⅛ teaspoon nutmeg
⅓ cup dry bread crumbs
1 tablespoon grated Parmesan cheese
2 tablespoons melted margarine or butter
½ teaspoon paprika

Cook spinach in small amount of salted water, then drain. Spread in a greased 9-inch round baking dish. Arrange egg halves over spinach.

Add gravy mix to water and bring to a boil, stirring constantly. Stir in pimiento and nutmeg, and pour over spinach and eggs.

Combine bread crumbs, cheese, and margarine or butter, and spread over eggs. Sprinkle paprika over top. Bake at 325 degrees about 20 minutes. Serves 4 to 6.

Food Costs Separate

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Figure your food bill fairly, suggests the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

★ ★ ★

Deduct the non-food items you buy at the supermarket, they shouldn't be counted with the food tab. Samples of such items: light bulbs, paper towels, soap.

★ ★ ★

Food costs, according to the department's economists, have not risen nearly as much as most other items in the family budget. Today you pay only 19 per cent of your take-home pay for victuals, compared to 26 per cent in 1947-'49.

Good flavor change — pan-cooked shredded green cabbage or mashed rutabaga added to creamy mashed potatoes.

Rochester Trims Fitzgerald to Break O-A Tie

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

Holly Adds to W-O Lead; Dryden Remains Unbeaten

It was an idle night for the Wayne-Oakland League except for league-leading Holly and the Broncos added West Bloomfield as their 4th victim of the season with a 58-50 triumph.

The victory gave Holly a 4-0 mark atop the league while West Bloomfield dropped from a second place tie with Bloomfield Hills and Clarkston to a 2-2 ledger.

The Lakers led 17-13 after one period and 25-24 at halftime but after four minutes of the third quarter Holly took a 34-31 lead and the outcome was never in doubt.

Bill Taylor with seven points and Tom Fagan's rebounding were the big factors in the key third period.

Fagan finished with 17 points, Taylor with 15 and Mark Phalen added 11, while Tim Molser had 15 and Jay Williams 10 for the losers.

ROSEVILLE GETS REVENGE

Roseville, a 21-point loser to Highland Park prior to Christmas, defeated the Parkers, 69-66, last night with four players hitting in double figures.

Little Jack Nizza, a 5-6 guard, led the Roseville attack with 25 points followed by Frank Woloszyk with 14, Jeff Climie with 10 and Bernie Aude with 10.

Tom Bridges had 19 for the losers who took the lead in the game for the first time with one minute to play, 65-64. Nizza then hit two free throws to make it 66-65 and Roseville held on with a bucket by Woloszyk in the final second.

DRYDEN ROMPS

Unbeaten Dryden made it 5-0 for the season by routing the Michigan School for the Deaf, 71-20.

It was 32-2 after one period and 32-10 at halftime as three players hit in double figures led by Dennis Hilliker with 16, Ron Faulds 12 and Tim Kitchenmaster 12.

Brothers Dick Townsend of MSD and Tom Townsend of Dryden, both seniors and all-around athletes, met on the court and Dick finished with six points and Tom with five.

UTICA COOLS OFF

Utica blew a 36-26 halftime lead and lost to Bi-County foe Lakeview, 63-59.

The Chieftains scored only five points in the third quarter while Lakeview was hitting 21. Poor floor play and only one free throw of nine attempts were contributing factors.

Utica made only nine of 23 from the charity line for the night. Dennis Betz with 14, Jim Jilek with 12 and Dave McIntosh with 10 led Utica's scoring while Norm Soash had 26 for the winners.

SHRINE ROLLS

Royal Oak Shrine rolled over St. Anthony 77-51 after leading 52-19 at halftime.

★ ★ ★

Four players led by Rick Chudy's 19, Jim Seymour's 16, Mike Wentworth's 16 and Mike Tamm with 10, topped Shrine's attack.

IMLAY WINS

Imlay City defeated Brown City 50-33 in a non-league encounter with Dale Goodrich hitting 27 points for the winners.

★ ★ ★

Imlay led 30-14 at halftime as Goodrich had 11 points in the first quarter.

RALLY NEEDED

Emmanuel Christian overcame a 40-32 deficit in the fourth quarter last night to post a 47-44 decision over a visiting Warren Woods squad.

★ ★ ★

Aubrey Grogan and Ron Dillingham shared scoring honors for Emmanuel (2-4) with 15 each. Dennis Szcyesny tossed in 15 for the losers.

Falcons Post Third Straight Loop Victory

Lake Orion Squeaks by Clawson, 78-70; Avondale Triumphs

By HERB PETERS

Rochester's Falcons are perched atop the Oakland-A Conference by a half - game margin after breaking out of a five-way tie for first last night with a 74-52 romp at Fitzgerald.

It was the third straight league win for the Falcons and their fourth in a row following an opening loop loss, while Fitzgerald remained winless in four conference games.

★ ★ ★

Lake Orion and Clawson were the only other teams in Oakland-A action, and neither could share the lead. But the Dragons drew closer to the pack with a rip-roaring 78-70 triumph to level their mark at 2-2.

★ ★ ★

Avondale, now in a four-way tie for second at 2-1, stepped outside the conference to trounce Oxford, 62-49, with a big second half.

LATE MOVE

Rochester picked up momentum in the closing sessions after a slow start. The Falcons led 12-8 the first period and moved into a 34-26 halftime advantage.

★ ★ ★

Fitzgerlad pulled within two points, 41-39, during the third period, but Rochester opened up a 48-43 gap by the end of the stanza before going on a 26-point rampage in the fourth.

Bruce McDonald, held scoreless the first quarter when he was double-teamed, began to sting the Spartans in the second with eight points and wound up with a 34-point effort for the night.

The scrappy, 5-10 guard tallied all of Rochester's 14 points in the third and added 12 in the finale when he ran his free throw string to 10 in succession.

★ ★ ★

Bob Mills collected 12 and Dave Call 10 in the Falcons' attack. Don Billy scored 17 and Dave Dubowski 16 for Fitzgerald.

ORION SCORES

Lake Orion appeared to have a rout in the making until Clawson came to life in the fourth quarter. The Dragons led 36-20 at the half and by 56-36 going into the last period.

But the Trojans then launched a 34-point drive in the final eight minutes and it took Orion's 22-point production to stave off the belated challenge.

★ ★ ★

Dave Phillips was an all-around performer in keeping Orion on top throughout the contest, grabbing off rebounds and scoring 25 points. Bill Hamilton added 16 and Dennis Brophy 15. Rick Miller garnered 22 for Clawson (1-3).

In a game tied five times during the first half, Oxford led 24-22 over Avondale at intermission. But the Yellow Jackets stormed ahead in the third quarter with a 22-point spree and weren't headed again.

Roger Hill filled in for the injured Lynn Thorpe and gave a sparkling performance as he led the scoring with 21 points. Dan McCoskey (19) and Dave Erwin (10) had eight and six points, respectively, in the third when Avondale went on top to stay.

★ ★ ★

Rick Miholek had 14 and Roger Miller 13 for the Wildcats, who hit a cold spell following intermission.

Track Squabble Looms on Amateur Horizon

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The National Collegiate Athletic Association and the Amateur Athletic Union are heading for an all-out fight in the coming indoor track season for control of amateur athletics in this country.

It's highly doubtful the 59th annual NCAA convention Jan. 8-14 in Chicago will do anything to bring the NCAA and AAU closer to agreement.

★ ★ ★

An amendment putting teeth into NCAA policy backing the U.S. Track and Field Federation is likely to be approved. Schools violating the policy would be subject to the same penalties now imposed for recruiting violations.

CHIEF WEAPON

This would strengthen the chief weapon of the NCAA and the Federation in the fight. That weapon is the boycott. The USTFF is confident that by withholding college and high school track stars it will hurt the indoor meets, which are the chief money - makers for the AAU.

The AAU, however, thinks it already holds the trump card.

That card is its control of international Amateur Athletic Federation IAAF recognizes the AAU as the sole governing body for amateur track in the United States.

★ ★ ★

No American athlete, in or out of college, can compete in the Olympics or other international events without AAU action.

★ ★ ★

The fight draws a so-what reaction from most of the public because there is little public understanding of the issues and the consequences of the outcome. Government intervention seems likely.

Basic issues have been obscured by charges, but they are simple.

The NCAA and other organizations in the federations contend the AAU has done such a poor job of developing athletes and of administration that U.S. prestige has suffered and the AAU isn't fit any longer to govern amateur sports.

The NCAA and its allies contend they asked for just representation within the AAU over a period of many years and were repeatedly denied any real voice by a hierarchy interested only in keeping itself in power.

Rebuffed, they formed the federations in various sports, contending these groups control most of the nation's facilities and athletes

Leads Vanderbilt

Lee Marches Again

By United Press International

Lee is marching through Dixie again.

★ ★ ★

Clyde Lee scored 41 points Tuesday night to lead Vanderbilt to a 97-79 triumph at Lexinton over defending Southeastern Conference champion Kentucky. The victory was the second SEC win without a loss for the Commodores, who defeated conference foe Tennessee last Saturday, 77-72.

The 6-foot-9 pivotman's 41 points were the most ever recorded against the Kentuckians, which goes back a long way.

Vandy led 50-46 at the half but a torrid 60.7 per cent shooting mark after intermission enabled the Commodores to pull steadily away from the Wildcats.

St. John's which won the Holiday Festival last week by a point over Michigan, proved again it can win the close ones with an overtime 72-70 squeaker over George Washington.

WINNING BASKET

Sonny Dove, a 6-foot-8 sophomore, led the eighth - ranked Redmen with 22 points and 23 rebounds but it was substitute Henry Clues who provided the winning basket in the final three seconds when he tipped in teammate Ken McIntyre's missed jump shot.

★ ★ ★

Fifth - ranked Duke shocked Penn State 121-88 and tied a Blue Devil scoring record set last year against Navy. the combined score of 209 points broke a previous mark.

Duke stretched its 59-48 halftime advantage to as much as 35 points after intermission.

John Marin was high man for the Blue Devils with 29 points but Penn State's Bob Weiss took game scoring honors with 38.

★ ★ ★

Southern Methodist's proficiancy at the foul line gave it a 64-62 win over Rice as the Mustangs were outscored from the field 27 baskets to 18. Carrol Hosser's 22 points paced the SMU attack which sent Rice to its 10th loss of the season without a win.

U-M's Crisler Has Solution on Pro Draft

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Fritz Crisler, the University of Michigan's athletic director, says the only thing the colleges can do to prevent the premature signing of football players to professional contracts is to refuse to cooperate with the pro scouts.

★ ★ ★

University officials around the nation are up in arms about being caught in the talent-hunting crossfire between the National and the American Football Leagues.

★ ★ ★

The National Collegiate Athletic Association has scheduled a special meeting in Chicago next week to discuss the situation, specifically the premature signing to pro contracts of four Oklahoma stars and one from Georgia.

TEAMS RUINED

Crisler said:

"It's rather deplorable when the pros breach their own agreements and absolutely ruin a football team as they did with Oklahoma and as they did with the boy at Georgia.

★ ★ ★

"It is not within the provinces of colleges to make the pros enforce their own agreements.

"So I don't think there's any other solution than to restrict our cooperation with them."

Report NY Jets Covet Passer

May Outbid Eagles for QB John Huarte

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Philadelphia Inquirer reports in today's editions that the American Football League New York Jets may bid as much as $400,000 to lure Notre Dame quarterback John Huarte from the National Football League Philadelphia Eagles.

The Jets picked Huarte, Heisman Trophy winner, as their second draft choice; the Eagles sixth.

★ ★ ★

Inquirer Sports Editor Fred Byrod said the Jets will make the announcement at a news conference in New York Saturday.

He quoted Joe Kuharich, Eagles' coach and general manager, as saying, "We made Huarte an offer about a month ago. We've never changed it. We never would get in a bidding contest with anybody.

SEVERAL TALKS

"I've talked to John six or seven times, most recently last Saturday. I even told him that if he could get the kind of money, with all the fringe benefits, that I've heard mentioned, he might make a mistake if he didn't take it."

★ ★ ★

The Jets recently signed Alabama quarterback Joe Namath for about $400,000, including about $100,000 in fringe benefits.

Palmer Loves 'Roasting'

Golfer on Friars' Menu

By JAMES BACON

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The Friars, a show business charitable club, were anything but charitable to golfer Arnold Palmer Tuesday night.

They roasted him unmercifully by practically ignoring him as guest of honor.

★ ★ ★

It was a stag affair and 95 per cent of the jokes are unprintable — but Arnie loved it all.

On the dais were such golfers as George Jessel and George Burns. Both have been members of Hillcrest Country Club for years, but neither has ever seen the golf course there — only the gin rummy room.

★ ★ ★

Almost all of the jokes were about anything or anybody except Palmer.

Pro Bo Wininger told one blushing story that had absolutely nothing to do with Palmer.

TOUCHING TRIBUTE

Commented master of ceremonies Jessel:

"I have never heard such a touching tribute to Arnold Palmer."

★ ★ ★

Only Bob Hope and Mickey Rooney, among the show business crowd, acknowledged Palmer as a golfer of distinction.

Rooney told of once playing with Palmer at a pro-amateur tournament.

★ ★ ★

"I kept topping the ball on every hole, so I asked this great golfer how I could correct this," said Rooney.

"Wear lower heels," advised Palmer.

Palmer was given a standing ovation by the packed house and — despite the needling — called it "the greatest night of my life."

Sen. Hart Seeks Federal Control for Pro Boxing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Philip Hart, D-Mich., announced Tuesday he will renew his fight to place big time professional boxing under federal regulation.

★ ★ ★

Hart said he is working on a redraft of his proposal which he urged in the last Congress, to create the post of national boxing commissioner, with wide powers to license and regulate the conduct of pro boxers, managers, matchmakers and promoters, and to police the sport in general.

Cavanaugh Charges 'Palace Guard' Led to His Resigning

LANSING (AP) — Gov. George Romney today named Charles (Chuck) Davey, one-time contender for the welterweight boxing championship of the world, as chairman of the State Athletic Board of Control.

LANSING (UPI) — Frank Cavanaugh, Michigan's resigned boxing commissioner, had no animosity today for Gov. George Romney.

But as for the people he termed the "palace guard," the executive office aides around Romney, the one-time amateur and service boxer had only disdain.

★ ★ ★

"They're the ones who sold me down the river," Cavanaugh said with a trace of bitterness as he discussed the decision that caused his resignation from the post Romney had appointed him to only a year ago.

Cavanaugh got caught up in an argument when he fired James Burnett from his $6,000-a-year job as secretary of the state athletic board of control.

Burnett, a Negro, complained to Romney that he had been fired because he refused an order to hang political posters for Republican presidential nominee Barry Goldwater last fall.

Cavanaugh denied the charge was true and said, "That wasn't it at all. He got fired because he was incompetent."

Then he charged Romney's staff aides had gone to bat for Burnett because "they wanted to get me out of here. The palace guard wanted someone else as chairman—they wanted Dean Rockwell, a Pleasant Ridge Republican in there."

In defending himself against the charges Burnett lodges about having to place the Goldwater signs, Cavanaugh said, "I'll tell you how wrong that was. I never even voted for Goldwater. My hero—Romney—didn't endorse him, he didn't vote for him. Why should I have. I didn't vote for president last year."

Cavanaugh admitted, however, some Goldwater signs had been put up under his orders. But he said Burnett hadn't been asked to put them up.

Romney accepted Cavanaugh's letter of resignation Tuesday and said at a news conference he had asked the 67-year-old businessman to quit the $7,500-a-year job last Saturday.

DRAGON BASKET—Lake Orion's Dave Phillips (10) slips between Clawson's Rick Miller (32) and Bob McDonald (34) for this two-pointer in the second half. Phillips tossed in 25 points in leading the Dragons to a 78-70 victory.

BOWLING

Andy's Service could only split with third-place All-Star Lounge Wednesday but still managed to increase its lead in the Huron Bowl "A" League.

Runner-up Huron Cleaners was ripped for six points by North Hill Lanes and fell three points off the pace. Carl Knaack had 247—661 for Huron Bowl Lounge to pace the individual scoring.

Women bowlers made a good showing last week. Topping the list was Peg Carter who bowled 224-214—623 in the Howe's Lanes Wednesday Nite Liters circuit.

Mary Keller rolled a 234—600 effort Saturday in the Ins & Outers Mixed League. Joe Foster hit 214-215—633, Joe Turcsak 224 and Cliff Senter did a 194-196-198 progression.

Also upholding the feminine prestige was Fran Ginter with 204-211—608, her highest such series, in Wednesday morning's Coffee loop at Auburn Lanes.

Also at Auburn, the Sunday Night League reported Mary Beebe with 530, Virginia Goodchild with 515 and Don Laughrey with a 4-6-7-10 conversion.

BALL & CHAIN

The Ball & Chain bowlers featured Charles Shearer's 232; and the Every Other Saturday circuit had a 265—637 by John Noonan. He had a 234 in the Wednesday Night House Loop, besting Les Wheaton (227) and Ray Salmon (224) for top honors.

Tuesday's Businessmen's League at Auburn had a 215-203—607 by Bud Peel and 234 by Bob Terry.

Airway Lanes' Queens League recorded a 224—542 effort for Florence Aris, a 535 for Lyle Bailey, and a 212—530 for Naoma Johnson.

The Airway First loop saw Ottille Dobski bowl 210 and Doris Boucard 536.

Montcalm Bowling Centre's Fisher Hill League last Tuesday was paced by Chuck Law's 256-201—615 for Clark's Drive-In as it cut league-leading Dewey & Willard's Gulf's margin to five points on position night. The latter was led by Bill Kircher's 254.

The Wednesday Senior House League bowlers at Cooley Lanes saw Larry Angott roll a 656, Frank Dunkel 625, Roy Moore 615 and Ron Allen 244.

Cooley's Kings and Queens were paced by Bill Diedrich's 256-223—675. Coproprietor Dick Viles had 201-244—626, Jack Ashton 223-203—625 and Tom Black 252—614. The Pinbusters were led by Jack Buckley's 237 and Alice Bigler's 552.

FG Kickers Tuning Up in Alabama

MOBILE, Ala. (AP) — Judging from Tuesday's practice sessions, this may be the year somebody finally boots a field goal in the annual Senior Bowl all-star football game Saturday.

Even though this is the age of the quarterback and the field goal kicker, no three-pointer has ever been kicked in 15 preceding Senior Bowl games.

North and South coaches, however, have emphasized kicking drills in preparation for the clash.

★ ★ ★

North Coach George Wilson drilled Tom Nowatzke, Indiana fullback; Bob Breitenstein, Tulsa guard, and Gus Otto, Missouri fullback, on placement kicking, while South Coach Tom Landry used Mississippi State field goal booter Justin Canale, backed up by Louisiana State guard Remi Prudhomme.

For punting, the Southerners are counting primarily on Virginia Tech's versatile quarterback Bob Schweickert. Drilling on punts for the North were Len Frketich, Oregon State end; Lance Rentzel, Oklahoma back, and Floyd Hudlow, Arizona back.

Wilson planned to put his North squad in pads for today's workout.

★ ★ ★

He added something new to the Yank offense Tuesday, with halfbacks Bill Symons of Colorado and Dick Gordon of Michigan State throwing passes on the run.

Chief targets for North tosses were Jerry Smith of Arizona State, and Boston College's Jim Whalen.

Landry suited his Rebels in shoulder pads. Quarterback Joe Namath of Alabama and Steve Tensi of Florida State alternated on passing plays.

Hamtramck Tennis Star Is a 'Peach' of a Player

HAMTRAMCK (AP)—It may be a little hard for some to imagine any youngster winning 107 sports trophies during a 6½-year span, much less a girl.

But that is the impressive record of tennis star Peaches Bartkowicz, a tennis champion many times over although she turned 15 just last spring.

★ ★ ★

Peaches-no one calls her by her real name, Jane-was a little wisp of a girl when other tennis players brought her to the attention of Coach Jean Hoxie.

"There's a girl out there who can hit the ball 400 straight times off the wall," Mrs. Hozie relates in telling how she "found" Peaches.

"I just couldn't believe it," Mrs. Hoxie continued. "It's true many of my pupils could do that many and more, but I'd never heard of anyone doing it on their own."

But Mrs. Hoxie went to see this little-4-foot-10, 76-pound-girl and was amazed.

"You really are a peach of a player," Mrs. Hoxie said later. And the name Peaches has been with her ever since.

Peaches, an all-A student, is soft-spoken and has to be prompted to relate her triumphs.

After winning a number of local tournaments, Peaches went to Boston when she was 8½ to play in her first National tourney. She was the runner-up there-in the 13 and under class!

LOCAL EVENTS

She won the National 14-and-under singles championship three times and is the defending 16-and-under titlist. She has won that title the past two years.

Peaches has always been pitted against older and more mature girls.

It is Mrs. Hoxie's theory that it is the only way to get tennis players to mature.

"Peaches has matured in the past two years and is quite a young lady now," Mrs. Hoxie says with pride.

The 15-year-old lass sews, is a neat dresser and takes great care in selecting her clothes.

★ ★ ★

Peaches has been the youngest player ever to play at Wimbledon and Forest Hills. She won titles in both places.

Peaches won the National Public Parks women's title, captured the Canadian National 18-and-under, United States 16-and-under and Orange Bowl, when she was 14.

She is also the defending women's champion of Jamaica.

Peaches is the oldest of three girls in her family and has an older brother.

Tennis practice takes up six to seven hours of each day. Practice usually starts with 300 serves and moves into sequence shots and other parts of her game.

Despite her collection of trophies, Peaches feels her serves and net game are weak. She lists her forehand as her strong point.

Maple Leafs' Ron Ellis Leads NHL Rookie Poll

NEW YORK (AP) — Ron Ellis of the Toronto Maple Leafs was named the National Hockey League's outstanding rookie for the first half of the 1964-65 season by The Associated Press today.

★ ★ ★

Jacques Laperriere of the first-place Montreal Canadiens was chosen the best defenseman and Bobby Hull, Chicago left winger, the most valuable player. The latter leads the NHL in scoring with 32 goals and 53 points.

Ellis, 19 years old, had 13 goals, the most on the fourth-place Maple Leafs, before he was sidelined with a concussion last Friday. He was brought up from the Toronto Marlboros of the Junior A Ontario Hockey Association.

IN CONTENTION

The Toronto right winger was selected over goalies Roger Crozier of Detroit and Denis DeJordy of Chicago.

Harry Howell of the New York Rangers and Pierre Pilote of Chicago were runners-up to Laperriere while Detroit's Norm Ullman and Montreal's Henri Richard ranked behind Hull as MVP choices.

Ullman has 18 goals and 17 assists for the third-place Red Wings. Richard, out with a groin injury for almost the first six weeks of the season, has scored 10 times and helped lead the Canadiens from fourth to first place.

Bruins' Trail of Bad Luck Continues

NEW YORK (AP) — The tattered, tail-end Boston Bruins — struggling to find a consistent offense — now have lost their leading scorer for the rest of the National Hockey League season.

Veteran winger Dean Prentice has been sidelined by a broken back which will keep him hospitalized for two weeks and inactive for eight. The word came from Dr. Ronald Adams Tuesday.

The Bruins play the Rangers tonight.

Prentice was injured Dec. 27 when he was hauled down from behind by Chicago's Stan Mikita. Despite his pain, Prentice clicked for his 14th goal on the penalty shot he was awarded on the play. He also had nine assists for 23 points.

SECOND BLOW

Prentice, 32, is the second Bruins forward lost for the balance of the season. Center Bobby Leiter suffered a broken arm in Montreal.

Schock has been out since the 15th game with calcium deposits in his thigh.

Bill Goldsworthy, 19, a right wing from the Niagara Falls Junior A team, has been called up.

Prince Edward Island Trims U. S. in Curling

TORONTO (AP) — Prince Edward Island compiled the most impressive score of the opening round matches of the second annual Tournament of Champions Bonspiel Tuesday night with a 15-4 victory over Duluth, Minn., the U.S. curling champions.

In other first round play Alberta romped over British Columbia 12-3, Ontario whipped Northern Ontario 11-5 and Saskatchewan edged Manitoba 9-7.

Another 1,000 for 'The Shoe'

ARCADIA, Calif. (AP) — Santa Anita Park may as well make it official and change its name to Shoemaker's Acres.

Shoemaker — Mr. William Shoemaker, the young millionaire jockey, that is —practically owns the joint anyhow.

The Shoe has started out on his second one-thousand victories at the showplace race track after reaching No. 1,000 Tuesday.

Obviously Shoemaker couldn't wait to take on the second thousand. All he did was boot home three before the day was out.

Racing people could recall only one jockey who has ever registered 1,000 wins at one track. That was Shoemaker, who did it a year and a half ago at neighboring Hollywood Park.

Hitting a one thousand milestone is not exactly new to Willie. He's done it five times.

After Tuesday's rampage, Shoemaker's lifetime total is 5,034.

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Walley Mahle, Syracuse University's running quarterback, has signed a two-year contract with the Green Bay Packers of the National Football League.

Ransom Hits 16 in Defeat

MOUNT PLEASANT (UPI) — Central Michigan easily mastered Ferris College for the second time in seven days Tuesday night, leading all the way for an 80-60 victory.

Central, which took an 82-63 victory over Ferris in the finals of the Marshall Classic Tourney last Wednesday, held a 38-27 margin at the intermission.

Bob Bruder of Central and Ferris' Rudy Ransom (former PCH star) tied for game scoring honors, each with 16, but three of Bruder's teammates also hit the double figures scoring column.

The non - conference contest left Central with a 7-3 mark and Ferris at 3-3.

Detroit Overcomes Canisius Quintet

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit defeated Canisius of Buffalo, N. Y. 76-69 in a basketball game that saw the lead change hands several times in the first half Tuesday night.

The Titans held a 40-37 halftime lead, however, and held onto their advantage throughout the second half.

The victory was the seventh for Detroit in 12 games this season. Canisius has a 3-5 record.

Frank Swiatek led Canisius and all scorers with 24 points. Lou Hyatt paced Detroit with 22 while teammate Dorie Murrey had 20.

Own Washington Senators

Pair Completes Club Purchase

WASHINGTON (AP)—James M. Johnston and James H. Lemon have poured an undisclosed amount—perhaps $2 million—into the Washington Senators and now own the American League team, lock, stock and barrel.

★ ★ ★

In the four years they have existed since the Griffith family moved the old Washington franchise to Minesota, the Senators have finished last three times and next to last in 1964. They also have been financial losers.

In announcing that the two investment brokers had bought out the other stockholders, Johnston said:

★ ★ ★

"Mr. Lemon and I are vitally interested in constructing a winning baseball team in Washington and we are happy to be able to acuire the entire stock of the club."

Johnston and Lemon were among the first 10 stockholders when the new Senators were organized in 1961.

VOTING CONTROL

Two years ago, along with George M. Bunker, president of the Martin Marietta Co., they bought out five of the other stockholders to take voting control.

At the time, the stockholders rejected a $5 million offer for the club from Bill Veeck, former top executive at Chicago, St. Louis and Cleveland, and Nate Dolin of Cleveland. They said they wanted the team to continue under local ownership.

★ ★ ★

Tuesday, they bought out Bunker and the other remaining stockholder, auto dealer Floyd Akers.

No price was announced, only that their holdings went from 60 to 100 per cent. But based on the 1963 offer by Veeck and Dolin, it probably was a $2 million transaction.

NABL Game Will Feature Top Scorers

Pontiac Nationals 5 Travels to Muskegon for Next Contest

NABL STANDINGS

	W	L		W	L
Benton Harbor	7	2	Muskegon	3	5
Grand Rapids	5	3	Chicago	2	6
Pontiac	4	5

At least five and possibly six of the top scorers in the North American Basketball League will be in action Saturday night when the Pontiac Nationals visit Muskegon.

The game at Mona Shores High School against the Panthers will offer the Nationals a chance to square their record at 5-5 and repel the home forces bid to climb into third place.

The Panthers will enter the contest with a 3-5 log and the NABL's top scorer, "Big Ed" Burton. They also boast the No. 5 and No. 8 point makers in Mel Nowell and Joe Roberts.

The latter is a doubtful participant, however, due to an injury which has sidelined him for the past three games. He missed the spectacular 150-145 overtime point battle won by Pontiac Dec. 26.

TOP THREE

The Nationals will have the third (Willie Merriweather), sixth (Henry Hughes) and seventh (Charley North) leading marksmen. They have combined to average more than 68 points per game.

★ ★ ★

The Muskegon trio is scoring at a better than 70 ppg tempo with Burton hitting 28.1 to pace all NABL shooters. Chicago's Porter Merriweather is second at 27.2 and cousin Willie for Pontiac 25.9.

The 6-6, 230-pound Burton also paces the rebounders with a 16.7 rate on retrieves while North is second with 13.4. The 6-3 Pontiac forward has grabbed 38 in his last two games.

In team statistics, Pontiac continues to lead in free throw accuracy, connecting on 73 per cent of its tries. The Nationals are second on offense, averaging 116 ppg, but are last defensively with a 120 ppg rate.

They can only rue last Saturday's loss to Benton Harbor. A victory there, coupled with Muskegon's 114-113 upset of Grand Rapids, would have left them only one game out of first place.

Now they must continue their uphill struggle without player-coach Bob Bolton in the next two ball games. The 6-10 center will be coaching the Walled Lake varsity cagers both this Saturday and Jan. 23. Pontiac is idle Jan. 16.

The coaching duties will be handled by guard John Hannett, varsity coach and athletic director at unbeaten Country Day School in Birmingham.

★ ★ ★

No front line replacement has been announced for Bolton although attempts are being made to find an interim performer who can help with the rebounding.

The Pontiac club officials expect to announce ticket arrangements shortly for the Jan. 30th game with Benton Harbor, the league leader, at Pontiac Northern's gym.

FIRM GRIP—Charley Vaughn (11) of St. Louis grabs the arm of Detroit Pistons' guard Terry Dischinger as they leap for a rebound under the Hawks' basket in opening quarter of game in New York last night. Hawks won, 109-108.

Hawks Erase Deficit in Trimming Pistons

NEW YORK (UPI) — The St. Louis Hawks rallied from a third-quarter 12-point deficit to edge the Detroit Pistons 109-108 in the first game of a National Basketball Association doubleheader at Madison Suare Garden Tuesday night.

In the second game, the New York Knicks made their debut under new coach Harry Gallatin by taking on the Cincinnati Royals, who spoiled Gallatin's opener, 125-116.

★ ★ ★

With the Pistons leading 53-47 at the half, Terry Dischinger of Detroit opened the third quarter by scoring four quick field goals as his team opened up a 61-49 lead.

Then the freeze set in for the Pistons.

Within six minutes St. Louis had tied the score at 69-69 as Bill Bridges put in a 20-foot jumper and with an overall spurt of 22-4 took an 86-80 lead at the end of the quarter.

Despite a fine 16-point effort by Dischinger, who led all scorers with 32 points.

In the first half, Detroit dominated the play led by their playing coach Dave DeBusschere, who scored 13 points in the first quarter.

The Hawks poor shooting was a deciding factor as they hit on only 19 of 52 field goal tries and nine of 17 from the free throw line.

★ ★ ★

The Hawks had the game safely put away, leading 109-102 with 1:01 to go, when the Pistons scored three straight field goals to narrow the margin.

DeBusschere scored 21 points for the Pistons while Elmo Beaty scored 24, Bill Bridges hit for 21 and Bob Pettit tallied 20 for the Hawks.

Pettit was an active player-coach while Richie Guerin remained a flu patient in St. Louis.

Assistants Find Plenty of Jobs in New England

BRUNSWICK, Maine (AP) — Peter Kostacopoulos of Bowdoin is extending a trend. He's the third straight man elevated to the head coaching job from the ranks of assistant in New England.

James S. Coles, Bowdoin president, announced Tuesday Kostacopoulos has been named to succeed C. Nelson Corey, who resigned.

Earlier in the area, Mel Massucco was raised to the No. 1 assignment at Holy Cross following the retiring Eddie Anderson. And ex-Penn State star Joe Sabol has moved into the head coaching chore at Norwich, replacing Bob Priestley.

Kostacopoulos, 30, played his football at Maine Central Institute and the University of Maine.

Outlook Brightens for Olympic Boxer

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A few weeks ago, Joe Frazier, 1964 Olympic heavyweight boxing champion, was broke, in debt and unable to go back to his old job in a Philadelphia slaughterhouse because of a thumb broken during the competition in Tokyo.

But today, Frazier reports his thumb is mending, he expects to be back at his old job early next month — and he has received about $1,200 in cash contributions from friends, neighbors and strangers who read of his plight.

Stitches were removed from his left hand Monday and doctors said his left thumb should heal satisfactorily.

QB Brodie Leading Grid Golf Tourney

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (AP) — Professional golfers can stop worrying about potential competition after looking over the scores in the two rounds of the fifth annual National Football League Golf Tournament.

John Brodie led going into the final round with a 156, 16 over par on the 35-35—70, 6,479-yard Hollywood Beach Hotel course.

★ ★ ★

Brodie, quarterback for the San Francisco 49ers, fired an opening round of 79 to go with Monday's score of 77.

He was one stroke in front of Jesse Whittenton of Green Bay, who shot a 76 for a 157.

King Hill, Philadelphia quarterback, and Jim Bakken, St. Louis place kicker, were tied for third at 158.

Ice Fishing 'Weak' on Area Lakes

Ice fishing continues on the weak side in Oakland County.

The fishermen are more than ready, and the fish are biting, but unsafe ice conditions — or no ice at all — is hampering this popular winter sport

★ ★ ★

Some lakes, however, have sufficient ice and are producing good catches.

Calicoes are hitting on Walters and Pontiac lakes with best fishing at night with minnows. Lake Orion also is yielding good catches of calicoes.

Pike fishing is best with new ice and local anglers are doing very well.

Don Kleindl, 2316 Silver Circle, took a nine-pounder from Schoolhouse lake last weekend. Conservation officer Harold Stoll of Fenton reports a seven-pound pike from Big Lake.

Pontiac Lake has been the mecca. Spearing, open for the first time in several years, is making heavy inroads on the pike population.

SHANTY TOWN

A small village of shanties has been set up on the lake off the state park. Pike are hitting there on tip-ups, too.

Other good pike producers are Lake Orion, the Holly mill pond, and Lake Louise.

Bald Eagle and Cemetery are yielding good catches of perch on wigglers.

Bluegill fishing has been slow. Anglers are now able to get on Silver Lake off Walton if they are careful. This always is a favored spot for big bluegills.

Tipsico is producing bluegills, but they are on the small side.

Jack Greathouse has just returned from his annual excursion to Arkansas where he hunted out of the duck camp operated by Flint's champion duck caller Art Beachamp near Des Arc.

The Waterford Township hunter reported the ducks werecall er reported the ducks were call shy because it was late in the season. But, he added, the hunters managed to take their limit.

"Only it took longer.'

Greathouse had his beagle along and reported the rabbit hunting very good. He also got in some quail hunting.

FOL Sorrows Wrestler Wins Fourth Straight

Farmington Our Lady of Sorrows wrestling captain Rick Korte remained unbeaten yesterday but the Lancers also remained winless by dropping a 27-23 verdict to Catholic Central.

Korte pinned his opponent in three minutes during their 145-pound class scrap. Teammate Mike Solar also scored a fall at 120 pounds in 4:30. Tony Tucker (95 pounds) won by decision and FOLS (0-4) also took two forfeit verdicts.

Unprecedented Decision

Court Ruling Halts Lake Project

Barry County Circuit Judge Archie D. McDonald has halted a dredging and channelling project on the west side of Gun lake which is designed to create about 11,000 feet of artificial water frontage.

His unprecedented decision, one which could have far-reaching impact in Michigan, upheld protests of shoreline owners who argued that their riparian rights would be violated and diminished if the "back lot" development were allowed to continue.

★ ★ ★

The controversy centers around work under way by Sunrise Shores, Inc., to interlace its subdivision with a series of canals which would connect each of about 150 new lots to the lake.

Only 16 of these parcels front the lake's natural shoreline.

Through last week's summary judgment, lake residents in the case made their point that the development of canal frontage would not give backlot owners any riparian rights to use Gun lake for recreation because the property involved does not border the natural shoreline.

★ ★ ★

Judge McDonald's ruling also gave consideration to a brief filed by State Attorney General Frank J. Kelley on behalf of the Conservation Department which questioned whether the canal digging would affect the level of Gun lake.

The possibility of the project interfering with the shoreline owners' use of the lake for fishing and other purposes was also raised as part of the state's "friend-of-the-court" presentation.

POSSIBLE APPEAL

Although there is no indication they will, defendants in the case could carry their argument to the Michigan Court of Appeals as the next step in trying to override the summary judgment.

★ ★ ★

"At this point, it is hard to say exactly what will come out of this decision," explains George Taack, who heads the Conservation Department's Great Lakes submerged lands program.

"Potentially," he adds, "the court's action last week could have a tremendous bearing upon hundreds and hundreds of similar developments on Michigan's inland lakes and streams.

"Most certainly, it is a big step in the direction of safeguarding shoreline owners against face-lifting projects which threaten to usurp their rights."

This marks the first time that a Michigan court has taken a stand on this type of shoreline development, according to Taack.

This Rabbit Was Ready to Butt Hunter

JACKSON, Tenn. (UPI) — A fish and game official said yesterday a rabbit with three horns had been brought to his office.

Rabbits ordinarily have no horns at all, not even Texas jackrabbits.

★ ★ ★

Claude Rheams described the cottontail, shot on New Year's Day by a 12-year-old hunter near Trezevant, Tenn., as having horns "curved like sheep horns, spread across its head."

"I've never seen anything like this," Rheams said.

He said the horns were about 1¼ inches long and that they appeared to be true ones.

"There was no evidence of prank," he said.

Jenkins to Head Research Section

LANSING (AP) — David Jenkins, 46, a game biologist, Tuesday was named head of the research and development section of the State Conservation Department.

Jenkins has been acting head of the department. He recently had charge of Michigan's first elk hunt since before the turn of the century.

★ ★ ★

Ralph Blouch, 45, head of the Houghton Lake Wildlife Experiment Station, was named to replace Jenkins as head of the section's game research unit.

Director Ralph MacMullan said the effective date for both appointments, made from a Civil Service register of eligible candidates, will be Jan. 10.

The dog judged best-in-show will receive The Pontiac Press Trophy.

Time Lost From Strikes Tops Since '59

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Labor Department says the more than 23 million man-days lost through strikes last year — although "better than the post-war average" — were the most since 1959.

Strikes last year, the department said Tuesday, involved 1.6 million workers, about 650,000 more than in 1963. Nearly one-third of the lost time occurred in the auto industry.

★ ★ ★

The report by the Bureau of Labor Statistics listed 15 major strikes involving 10,000 workers or more each.

In the largest strike, more than 250,000 workers were idle at the height of a six-week stoppage called by the AFL-CIO United Automobile Workers against the General Motors Corp.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A decision to use atomic explosives to dig a replacement for the Panama Canal would require renegotiation of the limited nuclear test-ban treaty, according to the chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission.

Dr. Glenn T. Seaborg emphasized Tuesday that no decision has been reached on whether to use nuclear devices. He testified before the Senate-House Atomic Energy Commission. Other AEC officials, however, made it clear they were eager to use nuclear explosives and believed this could be done safely.

The treaty bans all but underground explosions and puts sharp restrictions on any release of radioactivity.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States will open talks here next Tuesday with a group of Romanian legal experts on a consular pact.

The two nations reached broad agreement last June on that and other matters. Since then they have exchanged drafts of the agreement. The Jan. 12 conference is aimed at ironing out differences.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson said Tuesday after a one-hour meeting with President Johnson that he certainly will stay on the job at the United Nations through the current General Assembly session but "beyond that I cannot say."

Stevenson said he and Johnson had not discussed how long he would keep the post, to which he was appointed four years ago by President John F. Kennedy.

Asked about the continuing dispute over the Soviet Union's refusal to pay its share of U.N. peacekeeping operations, Stevenson said:

"I think it would be well to avoid a confrontation on this, win or lose."

12 Are Seeking Seat in Senate

Six Republicans and six Democrats will seek their party's notmination in the special Feb. 15 election for the 14th District State Senate seat left vacant by the death of Paul Chandler.

★ ★ ★

The Republican candidates are Farrell E. Roberts, 2486 Lafay, West Bloomfield Township; George Ames, 41008 Morningside, Novi; Allen C. Ingle, 29320 Grand River, Farmington; Thomas J. McHugh, 1485 Benvenue, Sylvan Lake; Fitzhugh Prescott, 32235 Loomis, Farmington; and Paul A. Kern Jr., 4450 Dow Ridge, Sylvan Lake.

★ ★ ★

The Democrats are John H. Burke, 31811 Stamen, Farmington Township; Elsie Gilmore, James P. McCarthy and Edward H. McNamara, all from Livonia; Paul F. Livingston, 7232 S. Tratham, West Bloomfield Township; and Leo P. Meagher of Farmington.

The winner in each party will face one another in a general election April 5.

Chlorine Leak, Fire Hit Firms

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y. (AP) — A broken valve was blamed for a liquid chlorine leak that made 35 employes ill Tuesday at the Hooker Chemical Co. plant in this western New York city.

★ ★ ★

Meanwhile, 12 miles away in the town of Tonawanda and 15 minutes after the chlorine leak was discovered, an explosion and fire was reported in the compressor building of the Semet-Solvay Division of the Allied Chemical Corp. No one was reported injured.

★ ★ ★

Firemen said they believed the explosion and fire were caused by a ruptured pipe.

Across the state, residents of Hoosick Falls, near the New York-Massachusetts line, breathed easier after a derailed tank car filled with 32,000 gallons of propane gas was put safely back on the railroad track and rolled out of town.

★ ★ ★

Officials lifted a 46-hour state of emergency Tuesday after the car, one of eight derailed Sunday, was lifted by cranes and placed on wheels. It then continued on to its original destination of Keene, N.H.

★ ★ ★

During the recovery work, about 450 families in a 20-block area near the derailment were evacuated.

Says 1,500 in New York Cosa Nostra

NEW YORK (AP) — U.S. Atty. Robert M. Morgenthau says federal investigators have established that there are 1,500 members of five active Cosa Nostra families operating basically in New York with "tentacles" throughout the nation.

Morgenthau said in an interview Tuesday that there are "several hundred" members in each family but that no one family specializes in a particular racket. He said the rackets include narcotics, gambling, loan sharking and labor extortion.

★ ★ ★

The disclosure of 1,500 members is more than four times the 317 names listed on charts of the five families developed in 1963 by a Senate subcommittee. The subcommittee heard testimony then from Joseph M. Valachi, a former Cosa Nostra member who turned government informer.

Morgenthau said federal investigators had cut into Cosa Nostra operations since opening a major investigation in February 1964.

BOOKMAKING

He also said there is no large-scale bookmaking, policy gambling or narcotics importing activity in New York City that operates independent of the five families.

Hotel Strike Hits Detroit's Whittier

DETROIT (AP) — Some 180 members of Local 705 of the Hotel, Motel, Restaurant Employes and Bartenders Union struck the Whittier Hotel on Detroit's eastside riverfront today.

★ ★ ★

Negotiations earlier had broken off between the Detroit Hotel Association, representing 10 hotels, and the union served a strike notice.

Jimmie Hawkins, managing director of the Whittier, said: "As far as the association is concerned, a strike against one hotel is a strike against all 10."

Will Hear Testimony in Amish Teacher Case

CAMDEN, Mich. (AP) — State School Supt. Lynn Bartlett will hear testimony today in the case of an Amish school charged with operating illegally because its teacher is unqualified by Michigan standards.

★ ★ ★

The complaint says at least 15 children attend the school in Camden Township but that the teacher, Martha Wagler, 20, has no formal education beyond the eighth grade and holds no Michigan teaching certificate.

Of All Fire Hazards

BUFFALO (UPI) — Buffalo's fire alarm headquarters is a fire hazard. Fire Commissioner Robert J. Zahm Jr. is seeking a new building and branded the present one unsafe.

Measure Yourself for Heart Attack?

CHICAGO (AP) — Are you a prime candidate for a heart attack? One way to tell, says a specialist, is to put a tape measure around your waist. If you're male and measure more than 32 inches, or female and exceed 26, the answer is yes.

Dr. Richard C. Bates of Michigan State University says every inch beyond 32 or 26 means five pounds overweight. And overweight, said Bates, can cause heart attacks.

★ ★ ★

But in his talk to a luncheon club Tuesday on "How to Have a Heart Attack," Bates said skinny persons shouldn't smirk.

Slender persons suffer just as many heart attacks as does the more robust group — but not so many of the fatal kind, he said.

ONE FACTOR

Weight is just one factor that causes heart attacks, said Bates, a specialist in internal medicine.

Two-pack-a-day smokers, for example, have twice as many heart attacks as nonsmokers, he said.

He said there is no evidence that alcoholics have either more or fewer heart attacks than teetotalers.

"They just die of cirrhosis (an inflammatory liver ailment)," he said.

SWEDISH PEOPLE

Dr. Bates said that although Swedish people have levels of cholesterol in their blood as high as Americans, they have fewer heart attacks.

It is presumed, he said, that the difference is in the amount of exercise. The Swedes have fewer automobiles and probably not as many self-winding watches, Bates said.

★ ★ ★

Bates told of an experiment with chickens, the only fowl which can be induced to lay down fatty deposits in their arteries such as human heart attacks victims do.

Experiments have shown, he added, that this tendency can be halted in fat hens by keeping them in a nervous state by introducing a new rooster to the flock every day.

Heart Attack Kills Area Man

Was Ex-President of Education Board

COMMERCE — Walter E. Horstman, former member and ex-president of the Walled Lake Consolidated Schools Board of Education, died Monday in Chicago Heights, Ill., following a heart attack. He was 62.

Mr. Horstman, who lived at 231 Robin, served on the Walled Lake School Board from 1948-1961 and as president from 1952-1955.

He was president of Horstman Sign Co., Detroit, and part owner of Mount Clemens Drive-In Theatre, Mount Clemens.

He was a member and former president of Multi-Lakes Conservation Association and Walled Lake Rotary Club; a member and former officer of the Detroit Executive Association; and a member of Michigan United Conservation Club, Kiwanis Lodge No. 1, Detroit; and Twin Beach Golf and Country Club, West Bloomfield Township.

★ ★ ★

Funeral service will be 1 p.m. Friday at Burrell - Ling - Maney-Stewart Funeral Home, Detroit, with burial in Grand Lawn Cemetery, Detroit.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Robert Ramsey of Greenville, S.C., and Mrs. Max Dajnowicz of Pontiac, and three grandchildren.

Memorial contributions can be made to the Michigan Heart Association.

Planners Get Revised Draft of Zone Law

A revised draft of the zoning ordinance was submitted last night to the Waterford Township Planning Commission by the township's planning consultants.

It will be reviewed by members of the planning department staff and resubmitted to the commission for final consideration Feb. 2.

The consultants also presented a progress report last night on the comprehensive plan for the township.

In other action, commissioners were advised that revised copies of the subdivision regulations will be forwarded to the Township Board for its consideration.

★ ★ ★

Vern Wiggins, acting planning director, reported that four applications have been received for the director's post vacated by Robert Dieball last November.

TO PREPARE COPIES

Copies of the applications will be prepared for each commissioner so qualifications of the candidates can be reviewed.

Wiggins was directed by the commission to make arrangements for the annual commission meeting the first week in March.

Seek Hospital Probe

LANSING (AP) — The Michigan State Employes Union said Tuesday it will start circulating petitions for an immediate, thorough and impartial investigation of the Newberry State Hospital and calling for the firing of the medical superintendent.

★ ★ ★

The union has contended there is a shortage of workers at the hospital and nurses were forced to work under conditions which exposed them to risks.

★ ★ ★

Among such conditions cited were requiring nurses to go alone to check inmate cottages at night. Footsteps in the snow were seen outside one of the cottages, suggesting a prowler, union hospital workers said.

★ ★ ★

The union also protested the firing of Chief Steward Richard Carroll while he was attending a grievance meeting Monday as their official union representative.

EVIDENCE GIVEN

"As evidence that it was strictly a prearranged setup," said Robert Grosvenor, union director, "Mental Health Director Dr. Robert Kimmich gave his approval to the firing before it took place. And now we are supposed to go to these same officials through their grievance procedures and expect to have justice? What a laugh."

★ ★ ★

Separate petitions will be circulated, said the union, asking the legislature to conduct a probe at the hospital and asking the State Mental Health Department to request the resignation of Dr. R. R. Cameron, hospital medical superintendent.

Imposter Faces Trial for Fraud

DETROIT (AP) — A state legislator who hid his criminal background by assuming the identity of a Yale Law School honors graduate has been ordered to stand trial on two voter registration fraud charges.

★ ★ ★

The lawmaker, Rep. Daniel West, 55, was accused of persuading about a dozen voters to claim falsely that they lived at a residence in Wayne County's 24th District, so they could vote for him in the primary last summer.

★ ★ ★

Recorder's Court Judge Joseph Gillis ruled Tuesday that West must stand trial on felony charges of conspiring to aid and abet in false voter registration and for subornation of perjury. Conviction could bring prison sentences of five years for each offense.

★ ★ ★

West also is awaiting trial on 117 counts of federal income tax swindles involving false returns and refunds, which could result in another 755 years in prison.

SERVED IN PRISON

West has served prison terms in other states for forgery, burglary and larceny.

Faron Young Is Arrested in Raid on Nashville Bar

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Country music star Faron Young was charged with assaulting a police officer early today after throwing a drink in the officer's face during a mixing bar raid.

Young was arrested at a Printer's Alley nightspot and charged with disorderly conduct by cursing.

One officer in the raid party said Young tackled him as he tried to phone police headquarters for reinforcements.

As Young was being booked at police headuarters, one police officer pleaded with reporters and photographers not to mention the arrest in the press.

When one newsman attempted to take a photograph of Young, the officer shoved him out of the booking room.

Singer Is Cleared in Narcotics Case

NEW YORK (AP)—Pop singer Fran Warren was cleared yesterday of a narcotics charge.

A grand jury declined to indict her and Supreme Court Justice Mitchell J. Schweitzer ordered dismissal of the narcotics possession charge which had been lodged against the 38-year-old nightclub entertainer.

The charge, a felony, was based on police reports that officers found four ounces of marijuana concealed in her Manhattan apartment last Oct. 13.

WEDDING NEAR — Actress Annette Funicello, 22, a former Walt Disney Club Mousketeer, is the recipient of a kiss from her fiance, agent Jack L. Gilardi, 34, as they obtain a marriage license in Los Angeles yesterday. They'll be married Saturday afternoon in St. Cyril's Catholic Church in suburban Encino.

Ouster of Nigeria Minister Is Expected

LAGOS, Nigeria (AP) — Foreign Minister Jaja Wachuku is considered likely to be missing from Nigeria's new government, largely because of his recent defense of the U.S.-Belgian paratroop landing in the Congo.

Wachuku is reported out of favor with leading members of his own faction, the United Progressive Grand Alliance — UPGA — and has also lost the confidence of Prime Minister Sir Abubakar Tafawa Balewa, a member of the dominant Nigerian National Alliance — NNA.

★ ★ ★

President Nnamdi Azikiwe asked Balewa Monday to form a new government based on last Wednesday's partially boycotted election. The two agreed to hold new elections in districts where the boycott by UPGA was effective and to let the courts rule in districts where UPGA claimed its candidates were illegally kept off the ballot.

The new government is expected to include many of the members of Balewa's previous Cabinet, which had governed since independence in 1960. The outspoken Wachuku, however, is expected to be a casualty.

Nigeria has tacitly approved the rescue mission in the Congo and supports the regime of Premier Moise Tshombe as the only legal Congolese government. But Balewa was displeased that Wachuku created a foreign policy issue during the election campaign.

Wachuku split with most African delegates during the Security Council debate on the Congo when he endorsed a proposal by U.S. delegate Adlai E. Stevenson that the council send a mission to investigate interference by outsiders in Congolese affairs.

★ ★ ★

Wachuku admonished the African nations to respect the sovereignty of the Congo and said: "It is not for anybody to tell the Congo who their government should be."

Wachuku, a 46-year-old lawyer, was appointed foreign minister in 1961. At that time he was chairman of the U.N. Conciliation Commission on the Congo.

IN CONFERENCE

Balewa, charged with setting up a "broadly based national government," flew Tuesday to the northern region capital of Kaduna to confer with his superior in NNA, Premier Sir Ahmadu Bello, on the makeup of the new government.

Nudist Camp Pair Divorced

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Sissie Dawson Narrow, 16, and her Coast Guardsman husband, married in a nudist ceremony, have been divorced.

Sissie, pretty daughter of John Dawson, operator of a nudist camp north of Miami, and Charles Narrow, 23, were wed in the buff at Dawson's camp last May 9.

Records revealed that Narrow won a divorce Dec. 1 on the ground of extreme cruelty, charging that she left him in June, returned, then left him again in September.

Hospitalized Comedian 'Progressing Well'

WOODLAND HILLS, Calif. (UPI) — Comedian Bud Abbott, 66, was "progressing favorably" today in the Motion Picture Country Home and Hospital, attendants reported.

The actor and partner of the late Lou Costello, has been undergoing treatment for a stroke since Dec. 16. Abbott has been semiretired in recent years. He and his wife live in nearby Encino.

There were 3,098,000 orphans in the nation last year, according to Department of Health, Education and Welfare statistics. This was 4.4 per cent of the child population (ages 1 to 17).

Meg 'Drinks In' Emerald Isle

Goes Pub-Crawling With Her In-Laws

CLARENBRIDGE, Ireland (AP) — Princess Margaret and her in-laws went pub-crawling on the west coast of Ireland Tuesday night, downing Chablis and Galway Bay oysters at Paddy Burke's bar while the regulars gawked over their beer and stout.

"We're having a wonderful time," the queen's sister told Paddy and his staff.

★ ★ ★

With Margaret were her husband, Lord Snowdon; her mother-in-law, the Countess of Rosse, and the earl; and Snowdon's brother-in-law and sister, Viscount and Viscountess de Vesci. Margaret and Snowdon are visiting the Rosses at Birr Castle, 45 miles inland from the coast.

The princess wore beat-style black stockings, low-heeled shoes and a schoolgirlish gray dress.

LED SINGING

Paddy's 15-year-old daughter, Rose, led the party in singing "The Rose of Tralee," accompanied by Keiron Moylan on the concertina. Then Tom O'Toole, Clarenbridge's leading tenor, obliged with "Galway Bay," a song which the Irish fervently — though wrongly — believe is banned as subversive in England.

Snowdon passed up the wine and had traditional stout with his oysters. The party finished the meal with a whisky-based Irish liqueur.

★ ★ ★

Because of threats from the outlawed Irish Republican Army, the route of Margaret's Galway tour was kept secret and a police escort accompanied her motorcade.

But inside the pub all was relaxed, and a crowd of several hundred outside cheered as the princess left.

Gas Station Owner Makes Big Mistake

LOUISVILLE (AP) — Imagine Ed Carr's embarrassment when he started for work and discovered his car was out of gas.

The service truck that made the run came from Carr's gas station.

Texas had 182 soil conservation districts last year to lead the nation. California ranked second with 163.

Bing Says He Hasn't Changed

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD—Bing Crosby, who seldom gets ruffled at anything, evidenced a brief irritation over a recent magazine story that said he had mellowed after years of being a difficult star.

THOMAS

"Hell, I 'aven't changed in 40 years," he muttered.

His claim seemed true as he strolled about the set of "The Bing Crosby Show," tossing quips to members of the cast and crew. His face was lean and unlined, his manner remained in the affable Crosby image. At 60 he presents the figure of a man content with his life and work.

Bing now lives and works in different worlds. He and his wife Kathryn and their three young children make their home at Burlingame, on the peninsula south of San Francisco.

SYSTEM WORKS WELL

"The system has worked out very well," he explained. "I fly down here on a jet Monday morning and I fly back on Friday afternoon. I live near the airport, so that's no problem. The flight takes 45-50 minutes. It's just like commuting from Long Island to Manhattan.

"I do that for a couple of weeks and then I get a week off. So it isn't tough doing the show at all."

★ ★ ★

Why did he pull up his stakes here to live in the northland?

"Actually I'm here more than I used to be when I had a house in town," he said. "But I moved up north for a little quieter living. The city is getting bigger all the time — a little too big for me.

"I like it up north. I can drive downtown in a few minutes and walk around and get to know the storekeepers — yes, the innkeepers, too. It's nice to feel that you are part of a community.

LOTS OF FRIENDS

"We have lots of friends up there, mostly people I had known before we moved up. It's easy to drive up to San Francisco. We go to the opera a couple of times a year, and Kathryn likes the ballet. There are plenty of dinners and parties; in fact, you have to be careful or you could be going out every night.

"Golf? There's a course right near our house. So we really don't lack for anything."

The Crosby kids will get their schooling up north, he said. Harry Jr. is in the first grade, and Mary Frances is in kindergarten.

★ ★ ★

"But she's skipping to the first grade," Bing added. "She knows too much and the teacher had to spank her three times for showing off her knowledge to the other kids."

PETER WOLFE

His Books Help the Inefficient

LONDON (AP) — The man who published the Awful Spellers Dictionary says his sales have been so good that he's going to publish a series of Awful Books.

"We have done phenomenally well with the dictionary for Awful Spellers," said Peter Wolfe. "It's now well on its way to 100,000 copies.

★ ★ ★

"All this has made us realize there is one incredible gap in publishing. Everyone seems to assume that people are either beginners, competent, or advanced in a subject.

"Since I'm so bad at so many things myself this is something very dear to my heart. So, I've commissioned a series of Awful Books designed specially for people who are bad at doing things."

3 AWFUL BOOKS

The first three, to be published in March, will be called:

The Awful Cook's Book.

The Awful Dressmaker's Book.

The Awful Handyman's Book.

★ ★ ★

"All these tell you what not to do and what, if anything, you can do if you've already made an awful mess of something," said Wolfe. "The title and the concept may be funny, but the books themselves are deadly serious and we hope will be of use in an emergency when, for instance, the sponge cake goes flat, the pancakes have been ruined, or perhaps you have split the beautiful plank you've bought."

Remind Vets on Exemption

Pontiac Assessor Edward C. Bloe today reminded local veterans claiming a Homestead Exemption of the requirements of the general property tax laws.

To file for an exemption in 1965, Bloe said, veterans must have: (1) discharge papers; (2) proof of property ownership, such as deed, land contract, mortgage, etc.; and (3) disability check.

Bloe said unremarried widows of veterans applying for exemption must have their husband's discharge papers and death certificate; proof of property ownership; and pension check or serial number from same, if one is received.

★ ★ ★

Bloe urged all applicants for exemptions to meet the requirements of the law in order to facilitate processing of their claims.

The application deadline is March 2.

Got His Cash ...and the Cat

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — Seattle police aren't sure in what category to file this complaint.

Merrill C. Massey, 59, reported belatedly he went to a man's house Dec. 20 to collect a $1.50 debt for a friend. Massey said he got the money all right, but as he turned to leave the man picked up a cat and threw it at him.

Ever since, Massey said, he's had a stiff neck and headaches.

Wilson Kisses and Tells--- on Eydie's Mononucleosis

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Eydie Gorme came back on the Broadway battlefield after a two-month bout with mononucleosis . . .

Appointing myself as a welcoming committee of one, I threw my arms around her at the CBS-TV studios, and exclaimed, "You look so much better than before you got sick. How can I get your disease?"

"Doing what you're doing!" Eydie said. "Remember, they used to call it the kissing disease."

WILSON

Eydie returned — officially — for an appearance on Irving Mansfield's "On Broadway Tonight" show with Rudy Vallee as m.c. The night that Eydie was (officially) recovered, her husband Steve Lawrence was out of "What Makes Sammy Run?" with laryngitis. "You two should be sponsored by Blue Cross," somebody said.

Mrs. Steve was around town with mono for a month before she knew she had it. Nobody ever said anything funny about it, except Goddard Lieberson of Columbia Records, who said, "You have mononucleosis? The least you could have is stereonucleosis!"

A new outburst of bootlegging of popular recordings — an old swindle—is being investigated here, and a couple of highly-placed chaps may be in trouble . . . Beautiful Elaine Stewart's getting a husband for New Year's: TV Packager Merrill Heatter . . . "Diamond Danny" Stradella of Danny's Hideaway had a tough visit in Puerto Rico. All the mothers came running over introducing their marriageable daughters.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Judy Garland had to leave the "Hello, Dolly!" audience after the first act—virus: her three kids stayed on. And Sally Ann Howes is out of "What Makes Sammy Run?" for minor surgery. . . . Darryl Zanuck's blonde date at El Morocco was lovely Mia Farrow, Maureen O'Sullivan's dtr. . . . Carol Channing and her husband'll be overnight guests at the White House during the Inaugural Gala (where Carol will belt out "Hello, Lyndon!")

Rocky Graziano said at the Ginza he'd made more from one TV commercial than he did from his first 30 fights. . . . The wagon that a famed he-man star has been on for seven years suffered a broken axle. . . . Visitors to the set of "The Loved One"—which spoofs mortuaries — were given black armbands reading: "In Memory of The Visit."

REMEMBERED QUOTE: "A toastmaster is a man who eats a meal he doesn't want so he can get up and tell a lot of stories he doesn't remember to people who've already heard them." — George Jessel.

EARL'S PEARLS: The art of marriage is to wear your handcuffs as if they were bracelets.

Lou Monte, appearing with Sammy Davis at the Copa, told him, "Listen, Sammy, I'll make a deal—you don't sing any Italian songs, and I won't do any Jewish ones." . . . That's earl, brother.

Reno Weddings Most Popular During August

RENO, Nev. (AP) — June may be the big month for brides elsewhere, but August is the big wedding month in Reno, where weddings are big business.

★ ★ ★

The county clerk's office says it issued more marriage licenses, 2,526, during August than any other month of last year.

★ ★ ★

And maybe it's because of all the hearts and flowers associated with Valentine's Day that February was the low month for divorces last year — 274.

★ ★ ★

County Clerk Harry K. Brown says his office sold 24,632 marriage licenses, five times the number of divorces granted in Washoe County courts. There were 23,363 marriage licenses sold in 1963.

Divorces last year totaled 4,741, compared with 4,366 in 1963.

Fifty per cent of the selective service draftees examined for military service were disqualified last year, including 24 per cent for medical reasons and 21 per cent for failing to pass the mental examination.

People in the News

Roy Wilkins, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, says the struggle for Negro rights is one that "anyone who believes in humanity can join" and he "wouldn't doubt that some Communists had gotten into the civil rights movement."

But Wilkins told a news conference in New York yesterday that Communists years ago "tried every gimmick with Negroes in this country.

"They don't constitute a menace to us," he said.

Wilkins talked to newsmen during a lull at the NAACP's annual convention.

Sir Patrick Dean, once Britain's chief representative at the United Nations, has been appointed Ambassador to the United States.

Dean will succeed Lord Harlech in Washington, the Foreign Office announced yesterday.

President Chung Hee Park of South Korea is expected to visit the United States sometime in the spring, says a Korean government source.

Timing of the visit hasn't been set, the source said. Park last visited Washington in 1961.

Prince William, ninth in line of succession to the British throne, has gone to work for a bank in London.

The 23-year-old prince began a 9-to-5 job yesterday as a trainee at Lazard's, an investment bank. The bank didn't say how much it is paying him.

He had hoped to enter Britain's Commonwealth Relations Office, but he failed the civil service examination.

Actress Tuesday Weld is in Hollywood's Cedars of Lebanon Hospital for treatment of an upper respiratory infection and a minor eye infection.

The 21-year-old actress entered the hospital Friday. Her physician, Dr. Edward Ablon, said Miss Weld was accidentally hit in an eye by a cigarette last week.

NEW YORK (AP) — There were 525,000 aspirins dispensed during the World's Fair's first six-months season, including 10,000 orange-flavored tablets for children.

★ ★ ★

These were sold through dispensing machines and given out at first aid stations.

Singer Eckstine Fails to Show

NEW YORK (AP) — Singer Billy Eckstine failed to show up Monday night for two performances at the Royal Box supper club in the Hotel Americana for the start of a $5,500-a-week engagement.

Milton Deutch, the singer's manager, said Eckstine had not been seen by associates since 6 p.m. Sunday when he finished a rehearsal.

★ ★ ★

Deutch went to a police station to file a missing person report, but no report was filed.

Eckstine's wife, the former Carolle Drake, said her husband is a teetotaler.

"I'm on pins and needles. Billy has never done anything like this before," she said.

...and now let's talk about some other Ford surprises...

Test-drive a Ford—and you're in for some surprises. Leading acoustical consultants conducted tests in which 1965 Fords (Galaxie 500 Sedan, XL and LTD Hardtops) with 289-cu. in. V-8 engines rode quieter than a Rolls-Royce. These tests were certified by the U. S. Auto Club.

When you feel a 1965 Ford in action—with the strongest Ford body ever . . . a revolutionary new frame that "tunes out" vibration . . . new ultrasoft coil spring suspension—you're bound to be impressed. But the ride is only one of Ford's surprises . . .

■ New swept-back instrument panel adds five inches extra knee room. ■ Transmission tunnel is lower for extra foot room. ■ Trunk has more usable space than ever—holds four 2-suiters standing upright.

■ Handy new "reversible" ignition key—works either side up. ■ Hot, but hushed, 289-cu. in. V-8 is standard equipment in XL and LTD models. ■ Smooth, thrifty all-new Big Six in other models—the most powerful standard Six offered by any car in Ford's class. ■ V-8 options to 425 hp.

■ All Ford automatic transmissions have three speeds, not two as in some competing cars. Result: you pass faster, shift smoother, save on gas. ■ Fully synchronized manual transmissions—you can even shift down to first without clashing gears. ■ New Ford LTD 4-door hardtops have 10 courtesy lights, 5 ash trays. Upholstery treated to keep its beauty with Scotchgard® stain repellent. ■ Luxuries you'd expect only in the highest priced cars.

Surprised? You will be . . . when you visit your Ford Dealer and test-drive the Quiet One. Do it soon! *TM 3M CO.

LBJ's Speech Mulled Over

Stock Mart Moves Upward

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market headed upward a bit early today as Wall Street mulled President Johnson's State of The Union message.

★ ★ ★

The trading tempo, moderate at first, soon slackened. Gains for the most part were limited to small fractions, although Polaroid an Xerox advanced better than 1 point.

The relative buoyance followed a losing session Monday on very light turnover.

Brokers apparently viewed the President's appraisal of the nation's present and future was bullish on the whole.

General Motors, buffeted for a 2½ point loss Monday, rebounded slightly. The stock was burdened by prospects for sale Feb. 8 of 23 million shares by du Pont under a federal court divestiture order.

MOVE AHEAD

Ford, Chrysler and Studebaker all moved ahead to put the motors group firmly in the plus column after a sag to start the new year.

Similar recovery was evident in the steels. Rubbers and oils showed strength.

Mostly higher but with an occasional faltering issue were the electronics, aircraft and airlines groups.

Chemicals, utilities, rails and tobaccos were mixed. Du Pont was up more than a point.

Opening blocks included: General Motors, unchanged at 95⅜ on 7,300 shares.

On Monday, the Associated Press average of 60 stocks fell 1.3 to 322.8.

Prices also advanced on the American Stock Exchange.

Deny New Attorney for Gravlin

Dissatisfied with his present court-appointed attorney, William G. Gravlin, accused slayer of all seven members of his family, yesterday was denied a request to have another defense lawyer named.

Circuit Judge James S. Thorburn said he would not name another attorney and if Gravlin wanted other counsel he would have to pay for it.

In his petition to have Robert Rann of Royal Oak dismissed as his attorney, Gravlin, 30, asked Judge Thorburn to contact three choices as a replacement, two are nationally prominent criminal attorneys and the third is a Pennsylvania Supreme Court judge.

Gravlin who filed the motion for dismissal himself told Judge Thorburn that he could not receive a fair trial because Rann was "prejudice."

★ ★ ★

Rann said Gravlin was interpreting what he had said and felt that the interpretation had nothing to do with preparing the case.

CONDUCT OWN DEFENSE

Gravlin said that he would conduct his own defense until another attorney was appointed but Judge Thorburn advised him against it.

The trial is scheduled to begin Jan. 19 with the start of the new jury term.

Gravlin is charged with first-degree murder in connection with the Sept. 27 ax, hammer and shotgun deaths of his wife, daughter, and five stepchildren.

★ ★ ★

The killings took place in the Gravlin home at 2121 Carson, Troy. The vacant home was destroyed by fire recently.

The pair had pleaded guilty on Dec. 11 to breaking and entering.

They were arrested Oct. 30 by sheriff's deputies who apprehended them inside the Auburn-John R Sunoco service station at 102 Auburn.

Tentative Approval Given to Pensions in Waterford

Waterford Township Board members last night gave preliminary approval to a pension program for township employes at a cost of $27,525 to the township the first year.

★ ★ ★

The board directed that a trust agreement be prepared and presented for consideration at a future board meeting. Approval of this agreement by the board would activate the pension program.

Funds for the pension plan would cover employes other than police and firemen were earmarked in the 1965 budget when it was approved last fall.

A similar appropriation was set up in the preliminary 1964 budget but later deleted when board members decided to use the money to hire more police and firemen.

★ ★ ★

Early in 1964 a committee of employes was formed to study various pension programs. Its goal was to recommend to the board the plan it found would offer adequate provisions for employes at the least cost to the township.

'GOOD PLAN'

Calvin Patterson, an attorney who volunteered his services to the committee as a consultant, termed the program recommended to the board an excellent one.

One of its outstanding features is that no direct administrative cost is involved Patterson said.

He acknowledged that all pension plans have some hidden administrative cost and that many charge as much as five per cent of the total package as a direct administrative fee.

★ ★ ★

Other features of the plan pointed out by Patterson are an immediate death benefit of two times the normal annual salary and a guaranteed monthly pension payment for ten years after retirement even if the pension dies.

USED TWO YEARS

Employes with two years service who are at least 25 years old are eligible to participate in the pension program. The plan would pay from 28 to 56 per cent of salary in pension benefits.

Answering an inquiry from Township Supervisor James E. Seeterlin, Patterson said that the program could include elected full time officials as well as other township employes.

All participants in the program will contribute three per cent of their earnings.

Optional details of the pension program will be worked out by the employe committee and the trust agreement then will be drafted by Confederation Life Insurance Agency for presentation to the board.

★ ★ ★

A pension plan, similar to the one proposed last night for general township employes, already is in effect for police and fire personnel.

In other business at last night's meeting, Township Board members approved the low bid of $3,871 submitted by Bill Spence Inc. for two cars for the building department.

Bids were opened a week ago and referred to the clerk and building department superintendent for study.

The board also called for written reports from the police and fire departments on the status of all Class C liquor licenses in the township.

Each year the board reviews the license holders and recommends to the Liquor Control Commission either renewal or denial of renewal.

Zoning Topic at Plan Board

Waterford Township's planning consultants will present an amended draft of the zoning ordinance tonight to the Planning Commission.

The ordinance is expected to be referred to the planning staff for review and a recommendation for commission action at its Feb. 2 meeting.

Also slated for tonight's meeting is a progress report by the consultants on the comprehensive plan for the township.

In other action, the commission will review applications for the position of planning director.

★ ★ ★

Vern Wiggins has been serving as acting director since the resignation of director Robert Dieball last November.

Setting a date for the annual Planning Commission meeting is also on tonight's agenda.

Hollywood Kissing Rates More Than Mere Lip Service

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD—This is an anniversary of sorts, marking the 20th year the above byline has appeared atop a Hollywood column.

THOMAS

Does such an occasion call for a sweeping survey of two turbulent decades in the movie world? Possibly. But I prefer to present a thesis on a subject that is, I believe, untouched in the literature of Hollywood: the kissing of actresses.

★ ★ ★

I discovered early that kissing is a normal form of greeting among entertainment folk. Actresses have been known to kiss telegram boys. Comedians kiss each other at testimonial banquets. Cowboys kiss their horses, but that is an entirely different matter.

★ ★ ★

While I recognize that it is considered bad form to kiss and tell, I believe the full facts, including real names, should be included in this paper. And I hope this does not appear to be bragging on my part.

CUSTOM COUNTS

The recipient of the kiss is of small concern; it is the custom that counts. It has been reported, and I see no reason to doubt it, that Judy Garland has kissed the entire backstage crew upon exiting from a singing performance.

My introduction to the local custom was traumatic. Newly married, I was standing with my wife in the lobby of the Biltmore Theater between acts of a play. Betty Hutton, who was between husbands at the time, walked up with a noisy greeting and planted a kiss on my lips.

★ ★ ★

"Meet Betty Grable," I said nervously to my wife, wiping the plentiful lipstick from my face.

Miss Hutton is an on-the-mouth kisser, a rarity in Hollywood where actresses must be ever mindful of their makeup.

COMMON FORMS

The most common forms are:

1. The cheek-to-cheek double pucker. The two parties rub cheeks and emit simultaneous smacking sounds. This is one of the more affectionate greetings and among its able practitioners are Lana Turner and Ann Sothern. Hazard: the male can end up with a hard-to-explain lipstick smudge on his ear.

2. The cheek-to-cheek single pucker. A more formal procedure, the actress tilts her chin to receive the kiss on her cheek but does not respond. This is the method employed by Bette Davis, although I frankly have been too scared of her to try it.

★ ★ ★

3. The across-a-crowded-room kiss. The long-distance greeting, most frequently used in studio commissaries, is a simple pucker directed from one table to another. A noncontact kiss is never thrown, except by Dinah Shore on television.

★ ★ ★

4. The Europea decoration. "You may kiss me Continental-style," said Olivia de Havilland when I saw her recently. She offered both cheeks for a double kiss, like that of a soldier and a French general, only better. This method is employed by many who come from or live in Europe, especially the Latin countries.

ADEPT STYLE

The accomplished kisser must learn to adapt his style to the individual actress and, most importantly, to fathom her mood. Elizabeth Taylor in a sentimental moment can provide a warm embrace. But, when peeved at Richard Burton, she can present a chilly cheek.

Some closing maxims for the beginner: Never kiss a method actress; be wary of starlets, who may be unfamiliar with the custom; always wipe your cheek before going home.

DETROIT (UPI) — Police today searched for a motive in the slaying of a widower who was found shot and beaten to death yesterday in his home on the city's east side.

Under Sonic Booms

Chicago Is 'Rocking'

CHICAGO (AP) — Burglar alarms went off, dishes shattered and at least one dog went berserk.

★ ★ ★

Aside from that, Chicago escaped unscathed Monday from its first exposure to intentionally inflicted sonic booms.

The sound of a flight of Strategic Air Command B58 Hustlers on a simulated bombing run was "about equal to a lively cocktail party," said Joseph F. Fitzgerald Jr., assistant city building commissioner.

Fitzgerald rigged a noise meter in the window of a downtown building. He said it recorded a noise level of 101 decibels, slightly below the measurement that causes the human ear to start hurting.

Area residents reported that two booms which shook the South Side were dull rumbles in the Loop — the city's center — and were not heard at all in many suburbs.

A South Side resident, Emma Wogan, said her Manchester terrier, Susie, "went nuts" but calmed down "after running around barking and howling for about five minutes."

★ ★ ★

One blast set off the centralized burglar alarm system at the Cook County sheriff's police station in Homewood, a southern suburb.

The booms were the first of about 200 which Chicagoans can expect during the next three months as B58 crews practice bombing targets in the area, which an Air Force spokesman says closely resembles an unnamed potential enemy target.

He said another reason for choosing Chicago bombing runs was that the city is protected by the Army's Nike antiaircraft missiles. The missilemen plot the incoming jets and get practice in zeroing in on supersonic targets.

Cold Aids West's Flood Areas

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Cold weather that has descended on northern California is proving to be a blessing, although it isn't making the task of cleaning up after the Christmas week floods any easier for victims.

Despite continuing rain and snow in the flood-stricken area, new floods are not expected. Flood forecaster Ivan Anderson of Eureka says residents can thank the cold weather.

★ ★ ★

"As long as the cold air conditions continue, we're all right," Anderson said Monday.

He is assigned by the Weather Bureau to watch the water levels of the Eel, Mad, Redwood, Klamath and Smith rivers.

NO NEW DANGER

"At the present time we're not expecting any new danger," Anderson said. "Only an unforeseen recurrence of warm rain, hour after hour after hour, would trigger new floods in the area."

The Christmas week floods that did an estimated $500 million worth of damage in Northern California alone, were largely blamed on warm rains that melted mountain snow packs into already swollen rivers.

★ ★ ★

Anderson said, "Most areas are now under a half inch of daily rain."

This is routine for the season and contrasts with December, he said, when one location on the Eel River had 29 inches of rain in five days.

SNOW BLANKET

Anderson said that the snow blanket, which totals four to five feet in the coastal range, will hold rain like a sponge.

Civil Defense officials have announced that Humboldt County's food shortage has been solved for the present.

Change Jails for Dixie White

ORANGEBURG, S.C. (UPI)— A young white man, being held in connection with the fatal stabbing of a Negro youth during a sidewalk brawl, was transferred to the state penitentiary yesterday "for his own safety."

The prisoner, Ronald Cherry, 21, was guarded by city policemen and agents of the State Law Enforcement Division on the 40-mile trip to the prison in Columbia.

Many Negro prisoners in the past have been taken to out-of-town jails for their own safety but it was the first time veteran local citizens could recall that a white prisoner was transferred for that reason.

Police officials insisted the move was only "general precautionary measure."

Cherry was being held on an open charge in the Sunday night killing of Leroy Pauling growing out of a sidewalk scuffle on Broughton Street, a main thoroughfare two blocks from main street and in the downtown business section, police said.

Negroes and whites questioned in the city said they could not understand why the young white was moved to the state penitentiary.

Police said they received no telephone calls or messages threatening Cherry's life. Neither were crowds of whites or Negroes reported forming in the town.

Nigerian Crisis Cools

LAGOS, Nigeria (AP) — Nigeria's president and prime minister said last night they have settled the crisis over last week's controversial election that threatened to break up the Nigerian federation.

★ ★ ★

President Namdi Azikiwe asked Prime Minister Sir Abubakar Tafawa Balewa to form a "broadly-based national government" on the basis of last Wednesday's balloting, which opposition parties boycotted after Balewa refused to postpone the election.

Azikiwe, an easterner and former leader of the largest party in the opposition United Progressive Grand Alliance (UPGA), said elections would be held "as soon as possible" in areas where no balloting took place because of the boycott.

This includes all of Eastern and parts of Midwestern Nigeria.

The balloting also will be reexamined in districts where such a small number voted as to make "a mockery" of the election, the president said.

★ ★ ★

In constituencies where the opposition charged that nomination irregularities took place, the matter will be taken to court, Azikiwe said.

Taylor Cites Progress, Plans for Future

MAKE OVER PAGES

Pontiac Mayor William H. Taylor Jr., cited progress of the past year and plans for 1965, in the annual State of the City message last night.

Taylor said that a charter amendment last January paved the way for the new commission, which set out to "calm the municipal waters."

He said that completion of the fund drive for the proposed osteopathic college was the first goal of the new year.

The commission hopes to wrap up the college fund drive in January in order to have the actual deeding of the land to the college board, he noted.

★ ★ ★

"As we look at the new year we see a city which has undergone a great many physical changes in the recent past and look forward to a city whose citizens will enjoy a high level of business activity and prosperity.

COMPLETE CHANGE

"We are looking at a city government that has had a complete change during the past year and is looking forward to new horizons of service and of progress in 1965," Taylor said.

In retrospect, he said the first task of the commission last year was the hiring of a new city manager. This the commission did with the employment of Joseph A. Warren, formerly of Jackson.

New pay scales for all city employes were installed in September, said Taylor.

He added the Warrens' arrival in Pontiac was marked by a peaceful demonstration by city employes for overdue wage adjustments.

LACK OF REVENUE

"Proper operation of the city has been difficult because of the lack of adequate operating revenue," Taylor said.

The "urgent necessity for additional revenue" prompted the commission's adoption of the state uniform income tax.

Taylor said a vote would be scheduled for early spring on the income tax.

★ ★ ★

"Under state law the commission could not put this to a vote of the people," he added.

PROPERTY TAX CUT

The mayor said that the income tax has been coupled with a "positive promise" of a 3-mill reduction in the property tax.

Among the finished projects, Taylor pointed to the Clinton River tunnel, Wide Track Drive, the Auburn-Orchard Lake crossover, and the Murphy Park sanitary sewer.

Other projects under way include a 65-unit cooperative housing project and a 22-unit apartment building. Another project of 28 units is slated to begin in early spring.

★ ★ ★

The mayor pointed out also that 21 single-family brick homes were built last year in

Year-End Report

Local GM Payrolls Up

$60.5 Million Spent at Area Suppliers in '64

Statement Points to Adverse Effect of Nationwide Strike

General Motors Corp. officials said today that GM's expenditures for payrolls at its three manufacturing operations in Pontiac totalled $240 million last year—an increase of $10 million over 1963.

In addition, General Motors spent $60.5 million with approximately 1,000 area businesses which supplied goods and services to the Pontiac GM facilities during 1964.

The year-end statement was released jointly today by E. M. Estes, GM vice president and general manager of Pontiac Division; Calvin J. Werner, GM vice president and general manager of GMC Truck & Coach Divisions; and Thomas F. Wiethorn, Fisher Body plant manager.

The announcement added that while 1964 expenditures had increased over 1963, payroll, production and the amount spent with local suppliers were adversely affected by a national strike by the United Automobile Workers union against General Motors which began Sept. 25 at most GM plants.

★ ★ ★

Operations at GM plants in Pontiac were suspended by the strike from Sept. 25 to Oct. 27.

EMPLOYMENT

Combined GM employment in Pontiac averaged 29,866 for the year, 2,290 increase over 1963. In December, the average number of employes climbed to 32,080.

During the year, employes invested $5.8 million in U.S. Savings Bonds through payroll deduction, a $1.1 million increase over the previous year.

Local GM employes were awarded more than $428,000 for ideas submitted under the GM suggestion plan in 1964.

★ ★ ★

Two Fisher Body employes, John W. Neeson and Eugene Soper, each received the maximum GM suggestion award of $6,000.

GMC Truck & Coach Division expanded its light van-type truck production with the introduction of the GMC Handi-Van models.

In addition, a new series of Toro-Flow diesel engines greatly expanded the division's diesel truck market during 1964.

Several new construction projat Pontiac Motor began last year. Ground was broken for a new parts warehouse, as well as an addition to the pressed metals plant.

Court OKs Detroit Fluoridation

LANSING (AP) — Detroit's controversial water fluoridation ordinance has cleared its highest legal hurdle, receiving approval of the Michigan Supreme Court.

In unanimous action yesterday, the high court upheld refusal by Judge George Bowles of Wayne County Circuit Court to prevent the city from fluoridating its water supply.

The opinion, written by Justice John Dethmers, said the question was the city's power to draft and enforce such an ordinance. Differences in opinion over merits of fluoridation are a matter for legislative, not judicial decision, he said.

Chief Justice Thomas Kavanagh and Justice Eugene Black signed the opinion, saying they concurred in its result, but did not issue opinions of their own.

The opinion was one of 42 handed down in two days as the court caught up on its work. Much of its time in recent months has been taken up with details of setting up the State Court of Appeals.

Detroiter Frank Rugowski and other residents of the metropolitan area asked the lower court to prevent the ordinance, passed and put into effect in late 1962, from being enforced.

They contended the Detroit Common Council had no authority to pass such an ordinance, that it violated state law prohibiting wholesale treatment of children by health officers, except to control epidemics, without parental consent.

The high court said the opponents of fluoridation did not file affidavits or other forms of proof in fighting the city's motion for a dismissal.

★ ★ ★

The city, joined by the Michigan State Dental Association, presented statements as to the benefits of fluoridation by President Kennedy, secretaries of health, education and welfare, Arthur Flemming and Anthony Celebrezze, and State Health Commissioner Dr. Albert Heustis.

The decision could lead to legal entanglements between Pontiac and Detroit. Pontiac gets its water supply from Detroit.

However, a city ordinace here prohibits the fluoridation of Pontiac water by Pontiac city officials.

Plan Addition to Tel-Huron

To Increase Facility 10,000 Square Feet

Plans for the erection of a 10,000-square-foot addition adjoining the Tel-Huron shopping center was announced today, by Edwin Gage, 500 S. Washington Building, Royal Oak, president of Tel-Huron Shopping Center, Inc.

The new building will be located at the south end of the present parking lot, along the north side of Glendale, facing Telegraph.

The structure won't occupy any of the present paved parking area, Gage pointed out.

"The new building is being planned to meet a demand for prime office space, both professional and business," Gage said.

★ ★ ★

The building won't be adjacent to present Tel-Huron structures, but the architecture will blend with its motif.

The new structure is scheduled for completion next fall.

Pontiac Output Higher

Pontiac Motor Division produced 693,634 cars in 1964 topping 1963 production by 68,366 units. The total in 1963 was 625,268.

Of the total production last year, 250,328 were Tempests, compared to 143,616 Tempests in 1963, General Motors Corp. announced today.

December Pontiac production was 78,180, which topped the 1963 December output of 62,478.

GTC total production for 1964 was 110,521 units compared with 101,234 in 1963.

In December, GMTC built 12,893 units as against 10,105 in the same month of 1963.

★ ★ ★

General Motors officials pointed to the 1964 car and truck production figures as remarkable in view of the fact that normal production operations were in effect only 11 months due to the United Auto Workers strike late in September.

The strike cut October production to less than six per cent of the October 1963 GM production total.

Total GM production for 1964 was 4,884,787 passenger and commercial vehicles in the United States and Canada. This compared with 4,970,182 in 1963.

During December 1964 GM produced a record 528,886 passenger cars and commercial vehicles in the United States and Canada compared with 486,484 during December 1963.

Of the total vehicles produced last year, 4,203,263 were passenger cars and 681,524 were commercial vehicles.

December production totalled 460,724 passenger cars and 68,162 commercial vehicles.

'64 Car Sales Set New Mark

7.6-Million Total Tops Previous High in 1955

DETROIT (AP)—The nation's auto makers sold 7,614,000 new cars in 1964—a record number—an industry statistical service said yesterday.

U. S. auto firms surpassed the record of 7,408,000 cars sold in 1955, Ward's Automotive Reports said.

General Motors, Ford and Chrysler, whose officials predict a continuing boom this year, said records were set in a number of categories despite strike shutdowns and parts shortages.

Nearly all GM divisions reported that December sales surpassed sales of any previous December.

Ford said its passenger car sales were the highest for any fourth quarter in history.

FINAL PERIOD

Chrysler said retail sales during the final 10-day sales period of the year were the best since 1950 when the reports were started.

Paul Lorenz, Ford vice president and general manager of Ford's Lincoln-Mercury Division said the strong demand for cars at year's end "supports our belief that the nation's economy is continuing its strong upward trend."

This view was shared by Semon Knudsen, general manager of GM's Chevrolet Division. He said:

"The over-all market for cars and trucks is stronger now than it was a year ago, and with a continued high level of business, 1965 motor vehicle sales could equal those of 1964."

Wide Track Pattern Stays Until Tested, State Rules

The weird world of Wide Track, which places a ban on left turns and has isolated a portion of South Saginaw, is here to stay—at least until it is thoroughly tested.

This is the word handed down by the State Highway Department.

City Manager Joseph A. Warren reported to the City Commission last night that efforts to have left turns permitted onto Wide Track from the Auburn-Orchard Lake crossover have been rejected.

Warren said G. J. McCarthy, chief of design for the State Highway Department, replied to the city's request that:

- Left turns be permitted for westbound traffic off Orchard Lake Avenue onto West Wide Track.

★ ★ ★

- Left turns be allowed eastbound Orchard Lake Avenue Avenue traffic turning onto East Wide Track.

1962 CONTRACT

McCarthy cited the 1962 contract that the city had agreed to the existing traffic pattern.

The state official added that the traffic pattern definitely would not be changed until it had been given "a fair tryout."

McCarthy added that there was a traffic hazard created by left turns.

★ ★ ★

Included in the traffic problems created by the new Auburn-Orchard Lake cross over is southbound Saginaw.

MUST TURN RIGHT

A motorist driving south on South Saginaw is forced to turn right at the crossover section.

To Replace Retiree

New Pontiac Sales Manager

The appointment of E. R. Pettengill as general sales manager of Pontiac Motor Division was announced today by E. M. Estes, General Motors vice president and divisional general manager. The appointment is effective Feb. 1.

Pettengill, who has been an assistant general sales manager since 1958, succeeds Frank V. Bridge of 1527 N. Glengarry, Bloomfield Township, who is retiring under the General Motors Retirement Program after 35 years of service with both GM and Pontiac.

Pettengill, a Holly resident, joined Pontiac's predecessor, the Oakland Motor Car Company, in 1925 as a cashier and has served continuously in the division's accounting, manufacturing, sales, and administration department.

He was named administrative assistant to the general manager in 1938 and in 1956 he was appointed director of car distribution.

Less than two years ago he was transferred to Pontiac and placed in charge of central office administration.

PORT HURON

Pettengill, 60, is a native of Port Huron.

He is married and the father of two children.

Bridge, 60, who retires after heading Pontiac's sales force for the past nine years, is one of the industry's most prolific salesmen.

★ ★ ★

He began his automotive career in 1926 in Rapid City, S. D. In 1930 he joined General Motors as a district manager for the Buick Motor Division in Minneapolis.

In 1961 he led Pontiac into third-place in the highly-competitive automotive market. Currently the division is in third place for the fifth consecutive year.

During his 39 years in the industry, it is estimated that Bridge has sold nearly 6 million automobiles.

U.S. Viet Toll Nearly Double 3 Previous Years

SAIGON (AP) — The United States suffered nearly twice as many battle casualties in South Viet Nam in 1964 as in the three previous years combined, official sources announced today.

A total of 1,173 U.S. battle casualties were reported for 1964, including 136 killed. The combined figure for 1961, 1962 and 1963 was 615 casualties, including 107 killed.

During the past year, the U.S. Army suffered 1,009 casualties, the Navy 25; the Marine Corps 39 and the Air Force 100. Fourteen American servicemen were listed as missing in action for 1964. A number of them are presumed to be captives of the Viet Cong.

Floods Again Threaten California

Many Convicts in State Could Get New Trials

LANSING (AP)—Hundreds of convicted criminals in Michigan could win new trials under a new rule spelled out for the first time in a Michigan Supreme Court opinion Tuesday.

The court, following guidelines laid down by the U. S. Supreme Court, threw out its own rule of allowing the same jury that hears a case to rule on whether the defendant's confession was voluntary or not.

The unanimous opinion, written by Justice Michael O'Hara, said the new rule applied not only to future cases, but to all past cases.

In the past, Michigan courts had allowed the jury to rule on whether the confession was voluntarily or involuntarily given. In the future, judges must make the determination in a pretrial investigation.

OVERTURNED RULE

The U. S. court overturned a decision of a New York court, where a rule identical to Michigan's was in effect. The federal court held it would be difficult for a jury to rule out a confession as involuntary and then make a decision not influenced by the contents of that confession.

★ ★ ★

The Michigan court said:

"With the fall of the New York rule, Michigan's falls also."

The Michigan court established its ruling in granting a new trial to Lee D. Walker of Detroit. Walker, 51, appealed for the trial.

Walker is serving a life term after his conviction for a 1954 robbery slaying. Police said he admitted the slaying during intensive questioning. But at his trial before Recorder's Judge John Ricca Walker denied the crime and asserted that the alleged admission was made under duress.

CASE REMANDED

The State Supreme Court Tuesday remanded the case to Recorder's (Criminal) Court for the new trial. And Ricca said he would, if necessary, determine the validity of the alleged admission. He noted, however, that the prosecutor's office might not try to introduce the alleged admission as evidence in the new trial.

The federal court ruling was the second in a year to affect convicted criminals. The earlier decision had held that all defendants had the right to counsel, whether they could afford it or not. The decision had only a slight effect in Michigan, however.

★ ★ ★

The federal court decision said the question of who ruled on the confession—whether it was the same judge, another judge or another jury—was immaterial.

The Michigan court adopted the so-called Orthodox Rule, which requires a separate hearing by a judge whose decision is binding in the trial. An alternative would have been the so-called Massachusetts Rule which gives the jury the right to accept or reject the judge's decision.

To Hear Plan on Waterford School Sites

A recommended master plan for development of school sites will be presented tomorrow night to the Waterford Township Board of Education.

Robert Dieball, chairman of a citizens advisory subcommittee on school site development which compiled the master plan, will outline the report to the board.

The subcommittee on sites was one of several established nearly two years ago when a general citizens committee was formed to study school needs.

A Waterford resident, Dieball was planning director for the township until last November when he resigned to enter private industry.

In other meeting business the board will consider a resolution that would straighten the present jagged boundary line between the Waterford and West Bloomfield school districts.

PROPOSED CHANGE

The proposed change would result in Waterford losing about 20 families to the West Bloomfield district and an area of approximately a quarter of a square mile.

Final action on the boundary change must be taken by the Oakland County Board of Education following public hearings.

OTHER BUSINESS

In other business Robert Scrivens, mathematics consultant for the school system, will outline innovations of the mathematics program and discuss this curriculum in general.

Officials in Dilemma Over Valachi Book

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department has on its hands what might be considered a rare manuscript — but it can't figure out what to do with it.

★ ★ ★

The title is "The Real Thing" and the author of the 1,200-page book is Joseph Valachi, 60, new to the writing game.

★ ★ ★

While its contents are allegedly solid fact, it reads like crime fiction.

The convicted murderer and narcotics pusher wrote his memoirs during long months in the District of Columbia Jail. He has resided there since September 1963, when he spilled to federal authorities and a Senate committee the secrets of the underworld syndicate he called the Cosa Nostra.

SCRUTINIZE BOOK

A Justice Department spokesman said department lawyers are scrutizing the book to determine whether its contents may be made public and, if so, how.

While publication normally would violate prison regulations, he said, "this is rather a special case."

William G. Hundley, who heads the department's organized crime section and who shepherded Valachi during his revelations, said the Valachi book generally tends to confirm and amplify what he told the department and the Senate committee.

"There's nothing especially new in the thing," Hundley said. "But it's pretty interesting and fairly well written."

DIFFERENT VIEW

Hundley's boss, Asst. Atty. Gen. Herbert J. Miller, has a different view.

"I couldn't get through the thing," he said.

the urban renewal area formerly occupied by substandard dwellings.

COOPERATION

Taylor spoke of cooperation between the City Commission and local merchants. He said a joint liaison committee had been appointed with the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce.

In addition, parking was reinstated on Saginaw in the downtown area, which "I feel set a pattern of an atmosphere of working with the city government which will make possible more progress for downtown during 1965."

Taylor said that one difficult problem of 1964 was the decline in use of the bus system.

★ ★ ★

"It certainly is a pressing problem for 1965 and one that this commission has resolved to solve this year," he said.

CITY SADDENED

Taylor mentioned the passing of Commissioner Emmett S. Wellbaum and said the entire city was saddened.

★ ★ ★

He also pointed out that James H. Marshall, appointed to fill the vacancy, was carrying on the tradition of service set by the late commissioner.

BACK IN BUSINESS—Singer Billy Eckstine, who limped through his performance at a New York supper club last night, insists today his disappearance was no hoax. He claims he was beaten, kidnaped, robbed of $600 and fed knockout drinks.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Northern California's rampaging rivers — fed by new torrential rainstorms and melting mountain snows — again are threatening dozens of communities, including areas hardest hit by the disastrous Christmas week deluge.

★ ★ ★

Army helicopters Tuesday evacuated nearly 200 persons living in two areas near the swollen Eel and Mad rivers as flood stages approached. Air Force helicopters dropped feed to thousands of starving sheep on barren floodlands south of Eureka, Calif., center for flood relief operations.

★ ★ ★

A howling rainstorm, driven in some places by a whole gale of more than 60 miles an hour, battered the northern half of the state Tuesday. Eureka and Red Bluff recorded more than an inch of precipitation in a few hours.

Both areas immediately menaced are on the coast 250 miles north of San Francisco. The warning to evacuate was sounded by Norman Robertson, Humboldt County Civil Defense director.

STILL REELING

New flooding finds California still reeling from the devastation wrought by the floods that started Dec. 20, which spread a billion dollars in property damage and caused more than 40 deaths in five Western states. Hit besides California were Oregon, Nevada, Washington and Idaho.

This time, California alone is taking the brunt of a low pressure area anchored off Washington. Rains, in decreasing amounts, are expected to continue through Thursday.

★ ★ ★

None of the other Western states report any flood danger, although two inches of rain fell Tuesday on the Oregon coast.

Disaster authorities warned more than 1,000 residents of the Eel delta and the nearby town of Blue Lake to prepare to flee their homes.

DANGER LESSENS

The threat to Blue Lake, population 700, lessened Tuesday night as flood workers succeeded in reinforcing a catchment cable above the Ruth Dam. The cable holds back floating logs and debris which can act as battering rams against the dam.

The Eel, wildest of the waterways that wrought the Christmas week flooding, was expected to crest at 21 feet early today. Once again it could put under water the many small logging towns south of Eureka.

★ ★ ★

Thousands of residents of these places had barely begun to dig out the tons of silt from their former homesites.

The Russian River, which overflowed in the last flood and inundated a swath of land seven miles wide 60 miles north of San Francisco, was expected to go over flood stage today, again hitting the major resort of Guerneville and other resort settlements up and down the river.

CENTERS REOPENED

The Red Cross reopened its evacuation centers at Hydesville, south of Eureka, and volunteers were alerted for the reopening of centers at Arcata and Blue Lake.

★ ★ ★

Inland, more than 200 families in Richfield and Henley were ordered evacuated by Civil Defense officials after dikes and levees broke along Toms Creek, about 13 miles south of Red Bluff.

Dems to Hear Romney Plans

Governor Will Outline His Legislative Goals

LANSING (AP) — Democrats meet today with Gov. George Romney, ready to listen to his 1965 legislative proposals but equally ready to caution that "cooperation is a two-way street."

★ ★ ★

House speaker-designate Joseph Kowalski, D-Detroit, said "it's the governor's meeting — he'll prepare the agenda" when he was asked what the Democrats planned to say at the meeting.

★ ★ ★

Democrats already have made public a seven-page listing of their legislative goals for 1965. Romney said Tuesday he hasn't seen the document.

The governor has called for bipartisan cooperation ever since Nov. 3 when voters handed him a second term and a dominantly Democratic legislature.

WELCOME COOPERATION

"I saw some story Sunday where the governor says he'll welcome cooperation on his program," said Kowalski. It sounded like he wanted us to jump through the hoop. Cooperation is a two-way street."

Romney and the Democrats talked budget in mid-December. Both sides came out of that meeting talking harmony, but it appeared they had not discussed the specifics around which controversy is expected to center.

★ ★ ★

In both money matters and programs, the battles are expected to center around the "how much" factor, not around whether or not action is needed.

Both sides talked during the campaign about state needs in such areas as aid to education, mental health, senior citizen benefits and workmen's compensation.

Expected to attend with Kowalski were Senate majority leader Raymond Dzendzel, Senate floor leader Basil Brown and House floor leader J. Bob Traxler.

Asks Cash for Study on Deicing of Lakes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., proposed today that $50,000 be appropriated for a study of the feasibility of deicing the Great Lakes shipping lanes during the winter months.

★ ★ ★

"Any significant extension of the present shipping season would amply justify a deicing system because great economic gains would flow from it," Proxmire said in a statement.

★ ★ ★

If enacted, his bill would authorize an investigation of problems involved in the development of deicing systems, a review of data, information, reports and surveys relative to the establishment of deicing systems and would apply the findings to the Great Lakes and Seaway region.

Birmingham Area News

New City Sports Center Is Named Lincoln Hills

BIRMINGHAM — The city's new golf course-winter sports center has been given a name.

The name, Lincoln Hills, was the 5-2 choice of city commissioners for the recreation facility on Cranbrook Road.

Proposed by Commissioner William E. Roberts, the name he said, was in keeping with the English heritage of the city.

Birmigham was named after the industrial city in England of the same name and contains many street names found there, including Lincoln, which starts at the new park and runs east through the city.

Several other names were considered but never got to a vote for lack of support.

PIETY HILL

Commissioner Carl Ingraham suggested the center be called Piety Hill, the name given to Birmingham when it was just a settlement.

"I'm disappointed that the city has never taken steps to preserve the old Birmingham name of Piety Hill," said Ingraham in making his proposal.

Snow Hill was proposed by Commissioner David F. Breck, who said it was suggestive of winter sports and was the name of a pioneer family in the area.

★ ★ ★

Only Ingraham and Commissioner Robert Page voted against the name Lincoln Hills. Page said he wanted more time to consider additional names.

The second series of ladies' slim-trim classes offered by the Birmingham Recreation Department will begin Jan. 18.

The 12-week exercise course will meet from 8 to 9:30 p.m. Mondays in the Baldwin Elementary School gymnasium.

★ ★ ★

Registration should be completed in advance at the recreation office in the Municipal Building.

Monday family swimming sessions at the Seaholm High School pool have been extended to 9 p.m. Adult classes are held from 9 to 9:30 p.m. with fees payable at the door.

Wide Track Pattern Stays Until Tested

Because he cannot turn left at West Wide Track, he must proceed west out Orchard Lake Avenue.

Warren said that the channelizing, at the crossover was governed by the State Highway Department.

Warren has drafted a second letter, which asks for the same thing turned down by McCarthy. This letter is directed to Howard Hill, acting director of the department.

★ ★ ★

Mayor William H. Taylor Jr., requested that Warren take the letter to Lansing himself and meet with Hill on the traffic problems.

SEEK MEETING

Warren said he would seek a meeting with Hill.

"We hope for direct action from the top man in the State Highway Department," explained Warren.

The city manager said the city did win one concession from state officials. A city request for a traffic signal at West Lawrence and Wide Track has been installed.

S. Viet Troops Seek Revenge

800 Leave Embattled Town, Hunt for Cong

BINH GIA, South Viet Nam (AP) — More than 800 South Vietnamese troops moved out of embattled Binh Gia today into a new operation zone nearby, seeking revenge for the Viet Cong success of the past week.

For the second day no important contact developed. An enemy sniper with a shotgun wounded one paratrooper. The sniper was captured immediately.

Eighty helicopters transferred the troops under the watchful eye of Lt. Gen. John L. Throckmorton, deputy U.S. commander in Viet Nam. No enemy fire met the helicopters as they landed the troops.

Fifteen armored personnel carriers were moving toward the new helicopter landing zone, but it did not seem that the Viet Cong intended to fight during the day.

PEASANTS JITTERY

The Roman Catholic peasants in Binh Gia, 40 miles east of Saigon, were getting jittery about the exodus of government forces from the area immediately around the town. Only about 400 Vietnamese troops with 12 U.S. advisers remained in the town. Rumors circulated that the Viet Cong had up to 2,000 troops in the vicinity.

★ ★ ★

Government forces suffered their worst defeat of the war in nine days of fighting around Binh Gia, a Catholic refugee settlement. Six Americans were killed and two others are missing and believed captured. Government casualties are estimated at around 500, including 121 killed.

AIRLIFT

A battalion was airlifted Tuesday to search for the two missing U.S. soldiers. Villagers at Xa Long Tan told intelligence officers the Communists took the two Americans to caves in the area.

"Finding the right caves is like finding a needle in a haystack," said 1st Lt. Gerald L. Sewell of Houston, Tex.

★ ★ ★

The paratroopers moved through almost perfect ambush country, but the Viet Cong did not show. Villagers said the Communists had been around earlier; they left behind signs on trees saying "Down with the U.S.-Khanh lackeys" and "Get the American invaders' weapons and kill them with them."

Most Senators Back Viet Policy...but

By WALTER R. MEARS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Warily, often reluctantly, most of the senators ready to prescribe a course in South Viet Nam today chose current U.S. policy — but called for efforts to make American military backing more effective.

Many of them saw it as a temporary measure, a prologue to negotiations aimed at settling the guerrilla warfare in the Communist-beleaguered nation.

Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., offered this terse prescription:

"Continue present policy until we can negotiate from a position of strength."

"Our present policy," argued Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, "is leading us toward the same calamity as befell the French 10 years ago."

NEGOTIATIONS NOW

He called for negotiations now, pointing toward a neutrality that would be guaranteed by the United Nations or a special international commission.

There were conflicting undercurrents of Senate sentiment for outright U.S. withdrawal or for expansion of the U.S.-backed warfare. But those views came only from a handful of senators.

★ ★ ★

Most of the legislators who responded to an Associated Press survey shunned the idea of pulling out, of committing U.S. combat troops or of extending the war into Communist North Viet Nam.

One Republican, J. Caleb Boggs of Delaware, came up with a new formula. He suggested a U.S. call for Vietnamese elections within three or four months to choose a government supported by the people.

FUTURE CONDUCT

"Our future conduct in South Viet Nam would depend on whether or not the new government wanted us to keep up our assistance or to get out," he said.

Pending an election, Boggs said, the United States should continue its present military and economic assistance.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana spoke for the consensus when he offered this view of current U.S. policy:

"For the present, we have no other choice which in my judgment would fit the needs of the situation."

READY TO NEGOTIATE

He added the United States should stand ready to negotiate for neutralization of South Viet Nam. "If it contains promise of a just and guaranteed solution, fine," Mansfield said. "If not, it can be discarded."

Sen. John G. Tower, R-Tex., suggested extension of the war into Communist North Viet Nam and held out at the same time hope for a negotiated settlement.

Tower said present policies are losing the war, and he declared it will take new initiatives to reverse the course of the guerrilla struggle.

That, he said, means action to choke off Communist supply support from the north.

STALEMATE SITUATION

"If a stalemate situation develops or the Vietnamese achieve a momentum toward victory, then meaningful negotiations might result in an acceptable settlement," he said.

★ ★ ★

All told, 86 of the 100 senators responded to the survey.

In general terms, 30 of them suggested that the United States stick to its present course, at least for the present. Many of them called at the same time for steps to improve the results, stressing government reforms and stability in South Viet Nam.

★ ★ ★

Three others talked of strengthening Democratic government in the Southeast Asian nation, but took no stand on U.S. military or diplomatic measures.

The senators called for a negotiated settlement now, some joining Church in a call for international supervision.

STEP UP STRUGGLE

Three suggested the United States and South Viet Nam step up the struggle, moving it north into Communist territory.

Three spoke out for U.S. withdrawal.

Eight indicated they had no suggestions, and 24 refused to comment at all.

Those who did offer suggestions proposed them in varying terms which defied precise man-by-man cataloging. Many senators who responded to the survey insisted that their names not be used.

Some Republicans who declined to be quoted by name renewed an allegation voiced by Barry Goldwater, the 1964 Republican presidential nominee, during his campaign — that President Johnson has not told Congress or the nation what is going on in South Viet Nam and there should be a detailed accounting from the White House.

RUGGED TEST OVER — Don McNeal (right), 28, former paratrooper, greets his mother and a family friend from a hospital bed in Miami, Fla., after recovering from the effects of spending 16 hours in the Atlantic. McNeal was swept off his small sailboat and spent a night and morning in the water before being rescued.

Man Survives 16 Hours Lost in Atlantic

MIAMI (UPI) — Donald McNeal, a 28-year-old former paratrooper and father of four, today told how he was swept from his small sailboat 20 miles off shore and spent 16 hours in the stormy Atlantic Ocean before being rescued.

Exhausted, nearly delirious, his eyes swollen shut, McNeal was pulled from the water yesterday and given emergency aid. McNeal was unconscious when help arrived but came to as fishermen aboard the charter boat Prowler plucked him from the water.

A 12-foot wave knocked McNeal into the Gulfstream from the cockpit of a 21-foot sloop about 7:30 p.m., Monday as he and Miami dentist Charles T. Spencer fought through rough seas to return to port.

Spencer managed to hang on when the wave struck and then could not find his companion.

Spencer put over a life raft for McNeal, then headed for the nearest land for help.

"I didn't have any fears," said McNeal. "I thought possibly I could catch up to the boat, but then my foul weather gear almost pulled me under."

STARTED SWIMMING

He stripped to a t-shirt and then started swimming. Spencer guessed the location was about 15 miles off Fowey Light or nearly 20 miles from land. He never saw the life raft Spencer put overside.

"I tried to swim into the shipping lanes. I had freighters all around me. I yelled and whistled but they didn't see me," McNeal said.

A Coast Guard cutter reported hearing what might have been yells in the area, but was unable to locate anyone during the night.

"I wasn't tired so I kept on swimming until daybreak. I was watching the Fowey Rock lighthouse," McNeal said.

PASSED OUT

"Finally I think I just passed out. I dreamed of being rescued. I can remember waking up now and then, looking around, and going back to sleep.

"I was always getting a mouthful of water. The waves were very large."

When the Prowler spotted his head bobbing in the waves about 11:30 a.m. yesterday, the fishermen aboard yelled several times but got no answer.

"The way they told me later, I guess I was asleep. They didn't know whether it was a coconut in the water or what," said McNeal.

SAW HEAD MOVE

"They noticed, though, that just when a wave was going to hit me in the face, my head would lift up. I remember none of this.

"They came right up to me before I woke up."

He was found several miles off the lighthouse he had been watching, and by the time the boat reached port, McNeal had revived.

"I feel more rested now than I did when we started sailing," he said.

OFFICIAL MEDAL—Felix DeWeldon, well-known sculptor, sits with photos of the official inaugural medal designed by him. The medal is struck every four years at inauguration time.

Inauguration Rites Will Mix Old, New

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Jan. 20 inauguration of President Johnson promises a combination of tradition with the new — embracing the wide American scene.

The 300-voice Mormon Tabernacle Choir of Salt Lake City, Utah, will sing at the swearing-in ceremony on the Capitol steps. Leontyne Price, opera singer and concert soloist who was born in Laurel, Miss., also will sing.

Both Johnson and Vice President-elect Hubert H. Humphrey requested the appearances, the Congressional Inaugural Committee said.

In the old tradition, the chief justice, Earl Warren, will administer the oath of office to Johnson. Speaker of the House John W. McCormack will administer it to Humphrey.

GOVERNORS COMING

Governors of 49 states are expected at the ceremony and in the inaugural parade from the Capitol to the White House. Wisconsin's Gov. Warren Knowles, a Republican, is sending Lt. Gov. Patrick J. Lucey, a Democrat, as his state's representative.

More than 60 bands will parade down Pennsylvania Avenue. So far, floats from 22 states, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands have been approved.

★ ★ ★

The inaugural committee also disclosed Tuesday the official inaugural medal. On one side it bears a profile of Johnson and on the other, the presidential seal superimposed on a map of the United States.

The committee has approved about 40 different souvenirs to be sold. They include the traditional pennants and postcards with pictures of the President and vice president. Some have a touch of Texas, the President's home state — such as a 10-gallon hat in a 2-ounce size.

Aussies Try System in Las Vegas

LAS VEGAS, NEV., (AP)—The vanguard of an Australian syndicate of slot machine busters armed with an alleged lucrative "system", has arrived in Las Vegas but is studiously avoiding the public eye.

The four Aussies were in this desert gambling capital to try their system for beating slot machines — or "poker" machines, as they call them—perfected in Australia.

The system, they claim, grossed $200,000 in their homeland and they want to give it a go stateside.

"We've been hitting it pretty heavy day and night since we arrived," says R.R. Cable in a snatch of phone conversation. "We've made enough to keep us while we're here."

He and Cecil MacKenzie, Keith Jennings, George Clampett and perhaps two anonymous colleagues checked into a Las Vegas luxury hotel last Saturday.

Cable says MacKenzie is in charge of "public relations" but declines further details. The men, representing a "syndicate," are supposedly going to publish a book on their system.

Las Vegas gamblers are of divided opinions. Some say they welcome the system players, others doubt they have a system at all

Local slot machine men believe the Aussies are "rhythm players," who manipulate the handle of a slot machine, trying to control the points at which the three reels stop.

MACHINES RIGGED

American machines have been rigged to throw off a rhythm player's timing—making it virtually impossible to establish a payoff pattern, machine experts say.

Casino operators have known of the system since shortly after World War II.

Negro Lawmakers Evaluate Election

(EDITOR'S NOTE — Michigan is the only state in the nation which will have two Negro congressmen this year. The Associated Press talked with each of them and learned their views on issues and psychological factors. This final story of a two-part series deals with psychological factors.)

By DICK BARNES
Associated Press Writer

DETROIT — The two Negro congressmen from Michigan — only state with more than one— believe their election implies greater racial understanding in the state.

★ ★ ★

Rep. Charles Diggs Jr., D-Mich., already has been in Congress for 10 years, but John Conyers officially took his oath of office only Monday.

★ ★ ★

Diggs said in his 10 years he's seen racial bias diminish in politics.

"I can remember when my first campaigns were involved with a racial type of campaigning on the part of my opponents. But this has given way to campaigning based on its merits as far as my Congress races are concerned.

NO NOVELTY

"The novelty, shall we say, of a nonwhite being a member of Congress certainly does not prevail as it did 10 years ago or 20 years ago."

Michigan's election of two Negroes, he added, "reflects the growing political maturity and strength of Negroes in the state. And also, I think, it reflects a growing acceptance of competent Negro candidates for different offices on their merit."

★ ★ ★

Conyers, who had been a workmen's compensation referee, said the dual election "points out that we're moving forward. We're the state in the union with more Negro legislators than any state, with nine representatives and two state senators; and a member of the board of education and a Supreme Court justice.

"I can see the day when hopefully there will not be the great consideration of race now in politics."

SEE NO RELUCTANCE

Neither man professes to see any reluctance in approaches of their white constituents.

"I would say the population is about 60 per cent white in my district," said Conyers. "I've been working very diligently on representing everybody.

★ ★ ★

"I've just been exploring some of the problems in the upper parts of my district where Negroes are moving into communities. The white families there, I'm very proud to report, are trying to stem blockbusting. They want to try to shore up their community and school to make sure integration is a possibility."

★ ★ ★

Diggs inherited a predominantly Negro district in reapportionment after representing a 70 per cent white district for a time.

COLOR UNIMPORTANT

"I've been serving my constituents of various hues without any sensitivity on anybody's part," he declared. "If people are in need of service or advice I don't think it makes any difference to them, if a congressman can be helpful, what color the congressman is."

Both say their staffs are biracial.

★ ★ ★

Conyers, a 35-year-old attorney, hopes to become the first Negro ever to serve on the House Judiciary Committee. He said he is not yet aware of any problems he'll face because he's a Negro congressman.

Were Rude to Accept Ride Home

By The Emily Post Institute

Q: Last Saturday night, friends of ours picked us up and drove us to a party to which we were all invited.

When it was time to go home, other friends of ours said they would take us home in their car and we accepted their offer.

★ ★ ★

The wife of the couple who drove us to the party was quite huffy when I told her that we were going home with the Browns and she has taken this as a personal affront.

Were we wrong in accepting the other couple's invitation to drive home with them?

A: If the friends with whom you came wished to leave the party either earlier or later than you did, it would not have been rude to have asked them if they minded your going home with the Browns who were staying on until later, or leaving earlier.

★ ★ ★

If, however, this was not the case, I'm sorry to say that you were rude to abandon the friends who were kind enough to drive you to the party.

Q: One of the young men with whom I have worked for the past five years has recently been promoted to an executive position and is now my boss. I have always called him "Jim."

I would like to know if it is proper to continue calling him by his first name, or must I now call him "Mr. Brown"?

A: In the office when speaking to him or referring to him in the presence of others, you should call him Mr. Brown. In private, or away from the office, you naturally continue to call him Jim.

Q: Will you please tell me the correct way to address a letter to a Federal judge and his wife?

A: The Honorable and Mrs. John Jones.

Husband Says Go

Family Entertains His Ex

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My husband (whom I'll call Paul) was formerly married to a shrew who bore him a handsome son.

ABBY

She wanted the divorce (another man) so, rather than create a scandal, Paul let HER divorce HIM on phony grounds (mental cruelty.)

She was given custody of the boy and moved to another state where Paul supports them in grand style. (I heard that the "other man" changed his mind and left her waiting at the church.)

I also heard that she is still kicking herself for divorcing Paul.

Paul and I have been married for six years. No children yet, but we desperately want one.

My problem: Every Christmas Paul's "ex" brings her son here to spend the holidays with my mother-in-law.

Paul's family wines and dines her and the boy, and I must witness it all because my husband insists that I be with him whenever he sees her. I can't stand the sight of her.

Would it be better if I sent Paul to these family get-togethers alone?

STICKY SITUATION

DEAR STICKY: Yours is the penalty most "subsequent" wives must pay when their husbands have a family by a previous marriage.

Don't send him alone. Go with him and try to be compassionate.

If Paul's "ex" can stand the sight of you (whom she probably envies), you should be able to stand the sight of her, who deserves to be pitied.

P. S. Have you ever considered adoption?

DEAR ABBY: My neighbor across the way hangs a lot of towels out on her line, and I must have counted 50 different hotels represented already. Her husband travels.

With a thief like this loose in the neighborhood, do you think it is safe for me to leave my laundry out overnight?

WONDERING

DEAR WONDERING: Your laundry is probably safe. People who carry off hotel towels rationalize their stealing (and it IS stealing) with the mistaken assumption that the price of the room covers some anticipated thievery.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "LITTLE GIRL BLUE" IN SHREVEPORT: Don't leave your husband to "teach him a lesson." YOU might learn the lesson — that he can live without you.

A Swedish tiara caught her bouffant illusion veil and her bouquet was a cascade of white carnations.

White fur hats and muffs topped with carnations complemented velvet gowns for the bridal attendants.

Honor matron, Mrs. Robert Smelser wore blue velvet. Mrs. Dennis Hubble and Mrs. Larry Appleton, attending their future sister-in-law along with Mrs. Roger Knickerbocker and Mrs. Salvatore Lumetta, appeared in red velvet.

This Daughter Is Receiving Money Break

By MARY FEELEY
Consultant in Money Management

Dear Miss Feeley:

My daughter, age 33, and her three children, ages 10, 8, and 5, live with me. She is divorced and is employed.

I have complete charge of home and children. My daughter earns approximately $400 per month without deductions. She pays me $45 every ten days for groceries. I pay the rent, electricity and telephone bills.

MARY FEELEY

She is very unhappy, says she is paying too much and is pouring money into the home. I would like to know how much I should spend on groceries per week. And I would appreciate your comments on this situation.

Mrs. H.B., Brookfield, Ill.

Dear Mrs. B.:

My first comment on the situation is that you summed it up in a few words—your daughter is very unhappy.

It could hardly be just the fact that she's paying $45 every ten days toward her own and her children's livelihood. Because groceries alone can easily account for $31.

Then there are personal items, drugstore necessities, a share of the utilities, to say nothing of the rent.

When you add that up, there's still the most important item of all—the fact that her children are getting a grandmother's care, not just the ministrations of a baby sitter who might be more concerned with the salary than with the job.

If your daughter had to make her way without your help, she'd find out what it costs for the four of them to live. I think you're entitled to point this out to her. After all, you've raised one generation and you're not morally obligated to raise another.

The fact that you're willing to — with no more financial help than you're getting — is a lucky break for her.

★ ★ ★

Dear Miss Feeley:

My wife and I do considerable voluntary work at a convent located 65 miles from home, necessitating weekly and sometimes twice-weekly trips.

Can you please tell me what I am permitted to deduct on my income tax for travel expenses? Are our eating expenses, going to and from the convent, deductible? Also, are gifts of merchandise, candy and cookies given to the Sisters deductible?

H.R.C., Syosset, N.Y.

Dear H.R.C.:

The Internal Revenue Service says you may deduct the cost of gas and oil, but not depreciation or insurance on the car. These expenses can be claimed in the category of contributions, using the long form rather than the standard form.

REASONABLE EXPENSES

The Service also says you can deduct reasonable expenses for necessary meals away from home when rendering donated services. And you may claim a reasonal deduction for the gifts of cookies, candy, etc.

Of course, the term "reasonable" may be open to discussion—but just put down what's really fair and you'll probably come out all right.

Dear Miss Feeley:

Some friends of ours moved out of this state. They asked us to take care of their cottage and local home.

We closed the cottage for the summer for them—cut off the water, etc. We are to look at their local home two or three times a week, and the cottage occasionally.

They want to know how much we want for the extra work. We don't have any idea how much to ask. What do you consider a fair price?

Mrs. H.M., Norwood, N.Y.

Dear Mrs. M.:

What's fair is really what the time and trouble is worth to you. However, I can tell you what a friend of mine paid for similar services, in another New York State area:

For cutting off the water and making sure pipes were drained, $14. For taking down the screens and storing them, $30. And for "watching" the summer place, $5 a month.

If keeping an eye on both places involves much driving, then you might want to add on something for gas and oil. These figures happened to suit both parties in the transaction, but they may help you make up your own mind.

(You can write to Mary Feeley in care of this newspaper. Questions of widest interest will be answered in her column.)

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Westfall of Farmington, announce the engagement of their daughter, Linda Lou to John F. Sowden, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clare Sowden of Upland Street. A spring wedding is planned.

More Space in Closet

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY — Only a bit of new material and carpentry work are needed to increase the space in a regular clothes closet that has two shelves above a hanging rod.

Leave the top shelf as is. Cut the lower shelf in half and remove the other half. Put a divider down the middle of the closet, fastening the end of the half-shelf to it.

Attach one rod just under this shelf. Install two rods on the other side — one just under the top shelf and the other about half way down.

This side is used for two rows of shirts, blouses, jackets, skirts and so on while full length things hang on the other side. — MRS. B. H. G.

DEAR POLLY — It is helpful to keep a coffee can key near your cooking spices. This key is very handy for pushing open those sliding tops on spice cans. This little gadget has saved me many a split fingernail and frayed nerves at cooking time. —IONE.

★ ★ ★

DEAR POLLY — A neat way to mail a coin is to take a regular three-by-five filing card and bend over one-third of the card and then bend the two corners of this folded end until they meet in the center.

Place the coin in this little pointed pocket, write the necessary mailing information for the item being ordered (perhaps a copy of Polly's Pointers booklet) and your money travels safely.

If you would feel better about it, tape the coin to the inside of its holder.—MARGARET

Spice up your daily work routine with some of the ingenious hints featured in Polly's 32-page booklet. To order, send your name, address and 50 cents to: Polly's Pointers, care of The Pontiac Press, P. O. Box 489, Dept. A, Radio City Station, New York 19, N. Y.

Second Auto Junk Yard Heard From

A second auto junk yard may become a problem for the Pontiac City Commission, according to report last night by City Manager Joseph A. Warren.

Recently the city, after several months of negotiations, went to court against Sam Allen & Son, Inc., of 22 Congress.

One of the arguments in that case revolves around the zoning of a portion of the Allen property.

A related question faces city officials on a matter raised by Frederick W. Scribner, owner of Ace Auto Parts, 701 Oakland.

★ ★ ★

The auto parts firm has asked for a license to store and dismantle automobiles on its Oakland property.

NEVER GRANTED

Such an operation requires manufacturing-3 zoning, according to City Manager Warren. The property currently carries a manufacturing-1 zoning.

Scribner, who has operated the business for three years, has sought a license in the past, but has never been granted one because of the zoning.

In September 1963, a request to change the zoning received a negative recommendation from the City Planning Commission.

★ ★ ★

However, the city planners will be asked to reconsider the problem. The City Commission last night directed Scribner's request to them for further consideration.

TRANSFER FUNCTIONS

In other business last night, the commission approved a proposal from the city manager to transfer the functions of reading water and sewer meters and computing such bills to the water department.

The collection of the bills still remains in the finance department, according to Warren.

Previously, the meter reading responsibility had been carried by several departments — engineering, finance, public works and water.

★ ★ ★

Warren told the commission that this was not the usual pattern for cities the size of Pontiac and made it difficult to pinpoint responsibility.

CITY AUTHORITY

City Engineer Joseph E. Neipling reported last night that certain streets, formerly under the jurisdiction of the State Highway Department, had been turned back to the city's authority.

The streets included portions of Auburn, Pike, Williams, Huron, Perry, Mill and Oakland.

He said that Wide Track has become the official state trunkline for I-75, U.S. 10 and M59 routes.

★ ★ ★

In addition, a portion of West Huron from Williams to Wide Track has been established as an M59 trunkline.

BUS OPERATIONS

City commissioners last night also received a report on bus operations for the month of December, showing 70,919 riders for the month.

★ ★ ★

Revenues taken in by Pontiac Transit Corp. jumped to $18,221, an increase from $16,452 in November and $16,476 in December 1963.

There were 86,484 riders in December 1962, for a total revenue of $16,868.

City Rejects Upgrading of Taverns

An admitted teetotaler last night defended the upgrading of tavern licenses in Pontiac, but the City Commission stood firm.

★ ★ ★

Monday night the seven commissioners could not agree on the upgrading of tavern licenses to Class C status (liquor by the glass) and rejected a report by a citizens committee that set guidelines for the upgrading.

Describing himself as "a teetotaler," Mitchell Bacow claimed the City Commission had slammed the door in the faces of the city's 18 tavern owners.

Bacow, a local attorney and one of five members of the upgrading committee, defended the group's report. He urged the commission to reconsider it.

"We tried very, very hard to bring in a fair package," said Bacow.

REPRESENTATIVE GROUP

He pointed out that the committee was a representative group from both sides of the liquor question.

The local attorney offered to have the committee revise its report to "make it more palatable."

Mayor William H. Taylor Jr. replied that the majority of the commission did not want any more Class C operation in the city.

★ ★ ★

Taylor, in mentioning the split vote on the commission, said that one of the objections to the report had been that only three licenses per year would be upgraded.

"Who will be the three?" asked the mayor.

JUST A START

Bacow answered that the committee had selected three as "just a start." He said the attempt had been to overcome some of the natural opposition to upgrading.

★ ★ ★

Commissioner John A. Dugan said that the door was not closed on any issue. He admitted that the commission's decision was "political."

County Circuit Court Hit by High Judges

The Oakland County Circuit Court has come under attack from the Michigan Supreme Court, with Judge William J. Beer singled out in the complaint for his handling of two cases.

Other lower Michigan courts and judges were blistered by the Supreme Court after it ruled on 42 cases Monday and Tuesday.

In a property case Monday, the high court complained in Lansing that Beer filed no opinion or findings of fact.

The unanimous opinion, written by Justice Eugene Black, reversed a decision for the Railroad Improvement Association against Helen Thomas of Bloomfield Township.

Black said that nearly all such partially tried cases came from the Oakland County Circuit Court and added that the Oakland court should "spend at least the same amount of time on an equity case as we must apply to it . . . ."

The high court said it recognized the increasing burden on lower courts but noted that it would be better to get "farther and farther behind rather than to crank a judicial meat-grinder" simply to dispose of cases.

In another decision on a case from Beer's court, the supreme court yesterday complained "we find it impossible to pass upon the questions involved for lack of facts on which to predicate legal conclusions.

"We also note sharp differences between the two statements of facts of parties, and we find no conclusionary statements in them that not only are unsupported by evidentiary facts, but are not even supported by allegations in the pleadings," the high court added.

The court reversed Beer's granting a motion to dismiss a bill of complaint to foreclose a mechanic's lien brought by the Erb - Restrick Lumber Co. against Lovett Builders, Inc., and others, and the Pontiac Federal Savings and Loan Association.

Ruling to Bring Gravlin Appeal

Judge Denies Bid for New Lawyer in Case

Accused mass slayer William G. Gravlin will appeal his denial for a new court-appointed attorney.

Gravlin, 30, notified Circuit Judge James S. Thorburn of the action yesterday.

At the same time he requested and was granted a hearing for 10:30 a.m. today for the purpose of getting his trial delayed until the Supreme Court makes a decision on his appeal.

On Monday, Thorburn refused to name another attorney to defend Gravlin.

★ ★ ★

Gravlin had petitioned for the dismissal of his court-appointed attorney, Robert Rann of Royal Oak, on the grounds that Rann was "prejudiced."

Gravlin is charged with first-degree murder in connection with the Sept. 27 ax, hammer and shotgun deaths of his wife, daughter and five stepchildren.

★ ★ ★

The seven victims were found in their home at 2121 Garson, Troy.

Writer, Wife, Son Killed in Car Crash

BRATTLEBORO, Vt. (AP) — George W. Oakes, 55, of Washington, D.C., a journalist, his wife, Joanna, 49, and their son, James E. G., 17, were killed Tuesday when their car hit a tree. Oakes, the son of George U. Ochs Oakes, editor of the Current History magazine, and nephew of Adolph S. Ochs, former publisher of the New York Times, had been on the Times staff from 1934 to 1942.

Deadline Due for Highway Dept. Training

Application deadline is Jan. 25 for the Michigan State Highway Department's three-year work-study student technician program.

★ ★ ★

Applications are available at the Oakland County Clerk-Register's office at the County Service Center or at the office of the Michigan Employment Security Commission, 242 Oakland.

Civil Service tests will be held Feb. 27 to select 40 students for the program, which includes both classroom study and on-the-job training.

Any high school graduate under the age of 41, including those who graduate this June, is eligible to take the examination.

★ ★ ★

Students selected for this year's program will work on various highway department jobs, such as drafting, design and survey, for a period of six months at a salary ranging from $172 to $193 every two weeks.

ATTEND COLLEGE

They will then attend either Ferris State College at Big Rapids or Lansing Community College for the next six months at their own expense.

Graduates of the program which begins in July, will earn an associate degree in civil technology.

Typewriter Workers Strike Over Jet Noise

WILHELMSHAVEN, Germany (AP) — Eleven thousand workers struck the Olympic typewriter factory here today to protest the "unbearable noise" of jet fighters from a nearby German air field.

The factory is right in the takeoff path from the field. A spokesman for the workers said they had also felt in danger ever since a Starfighter jet fighter-bomber crashed near the factory.

Archbishop of Chicago Taking Hospital Tests

CHICAGO (AP) — Albert Cardinal Meyer, Roman Catholic archbishop of Chicago, was taken to Mercy Hospital from his home in a fire department ambulance early this morning.

★ ★ ★

A hospital spokesman said Cardinal Meyer, 62, was admitted for "a lot of tests," but that his condition is "good as of right now." An early report said he had been stricken with an apparent heart attack, but the spokesman denied this.

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Former King Saud of Saudi Arabia, dethroned and ailing, stopped over briefly in Beirut today en route to Vienna for medical treatment.

2 Top Turkey Officials Get Russia Invitations

ANKARA, Turkey (AP) — Both Turkish President Cemal Gursel and Premier Ismet Inonu have been invited to visit Russia, informed sources said today.

The invitation was extended by a visiting Soviet parliamentary delegation headed by Nikolai V. Podgorny, member of the Presidium of the Supreme Soviet.

Joke Was on Bank Robber

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Miss Gladys Jones, a teller at a North Carolina National Bank branch in Charlotte, was busy and didn't understand what the short, stocky gunman said. So she tossed the two paper bags he placed before her into a nearby wastebacket.

Police said the gunman then lost his nerve, turned and walked out of the bank.

The man, dressed in dark clothing, entered the bank about 3:30 p.m. yesterday and announced to Miss Jones, "This is a holdup."

Motioning to the bags, he ordered, "Fill 'em up."

★ ★ ★

Miss Jones thought he was joking. Only one person in the bank, a customer, saw the gun the man was holding.

No one else apparently realized that an attempted holdup was in progress.

NABL Game Will Feature Top Scorers

Pontiac Nationals 5 Travels to Muskegon for Next Contest

NABL STANDINGS

Pontiac	4	5

At least five and possibly six of the top scorers in the North American Basketball League will be in action Saturday night when the Pontiac Nationals visit Muskegon.

The game at Mona Shores High School against the Panthers will offer the Nationals a chance to square their record at 5-5 and repel the home forces bid to climb into third place.

The Panthers will enter the contest with a 3-5 log and the NABL's top scorer, "Big Ed" Burton. They also boast the No. 5 and No. 8 point makers in Mel Nowell and Joe Roberts.

The latter is a doubtful participant, however, due to an injury which has sidelined him for the past three games. He missed the spectacular 150-145 overtime point battle won by Pontiac Dec. 26.

TOP THREE

The Nationals will have the third (Willie Merriweather), sixth (Henry Hughes) and seventh (Charley North) leading marksmen. They have combined to average more than 68 points per game.

★ ★ ★

The Muskegon trio is scoring at a better than 70 ppg tempo with Burton hitting 28.1 to pace all NABL shooters. Chicago's Porter Merriweather is second at 27.2 and cousin Willie for Pontiac 25.9.

The 6-6, 230-pound Burton also paces the rebounders with a 16.7 rate on retrieves while North is second with 13.4. The 6-3 Pontiac forward has grabbed 38 in his last two games.

In team statistics, Pontiac continues to lead in free throw accuracy, connecting on 73 per cent of its tries. The Nationals are second on offense, averaging 116 ppg, but are last defensively with a 120 ppg rate.

They can only rue last Saturday's loss to Benton Harbor. A victory there, coupled with Muskegon's 114-113 upset of Grand Rapids, would have left them only one game out of first place.

Now they must continue their uphill struggle without player-coach Bob Bolton in the next two ball games. The 6-10 center will be coaching the Walled Lake varsity cagers both this Saturday and Jan. 23. Pontiac is idle Jan. 16.

The coaching duties will be handled by guard John Hannett, varsity coach and athletic director at unbeaten Country Day School in Birmingham.

★ ★ ★

No front line replacement has been announced for Bolton although attempts are being made to find an interim performer who can help with the rebounding.

The Pontiac club officials expect to announce ticket arrangements shortly for the Jan. 30th game with Benton Harbor, the league leader, at Pontiac Northern's gym.

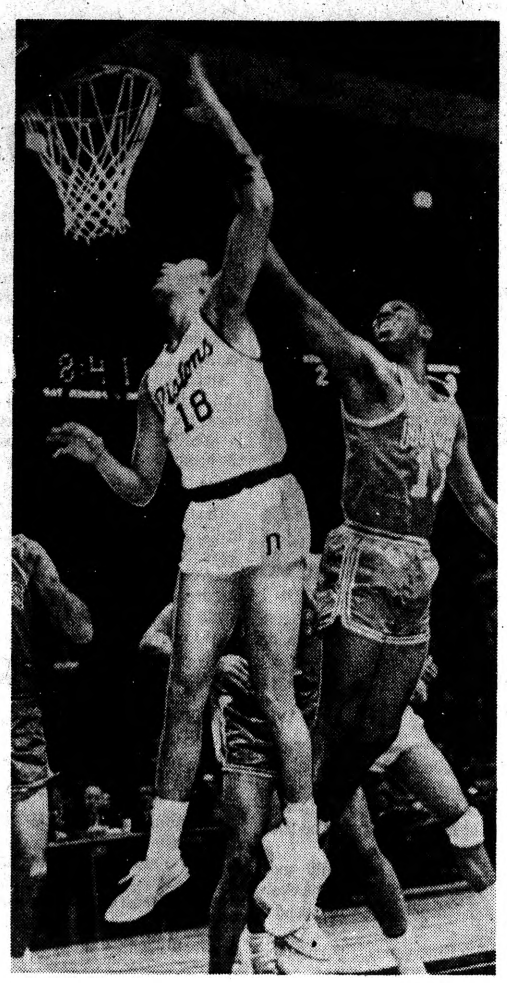
Scouting for Cardinals

ST. LOUIS (UPI)—Joe Mathis, scout for the San Francisco Giants, New York Mets and Detroit Tigers, has been rehired by the St. Louis Cardinals to scout free agents in areas of Missouri and Illinois.



AP Photofax

FIRM GRIP—Charley Vaughn (11) of St. Louis grabs the arm of Detroit Pistons' guard Terry Dischinger as they leap for a rebound under the Hawks' basket in opening quarter of game in New York last night. Hawks won, 109-108.

Hawks Erase Deficit in Trimming Pistons

NEW YORK (UPI) — The St. Louis Hawks rallied from a third-quarter 12-point deficit to edge the Detroit Pistons 109-108 in the first game of a National Basketball Association double-header at Madison Suare Garden Tuesday night.

In the second game, the New York Knicks made their debut under new coach Harry Gallatin by taking on the Cincinnati Royals, who spoiled Gallatin's opener, 125-116.

★ ★ ★

With the Pistons leading 53-47 at the half, Terry Dischinger of Detroit opened the third quarter by scoring four quick field goals as his team opened up a 61-49 lead.

Then the freeze set in for the Pistons.

Within six minutes St. Louis had tied the score at 69-69 as Bill Bridges put in a 20-foot jumper and with an overall spurt of 22-4 took an 86-80 lead at the end of the quarter.

Despite a fine 16-point effort by Dischinger, who led all scorers with 32 points.

In the first half, Detroit dominated the play led by their playing coach Dave DeBusschere, who scored 13 points in the first quarter.

The Hawks poor shooting was a deciding factor as they hit on only 19 of 52 field goal tries and nine of 17 from the free throw line.

★ ★ ★

The Hawks had the game safely put away, leading 109-102 with 1:01 to go, when the Pistons scored three straight field goals to narrow the margin.

DeBusschere scored 21 points for the Pistons while Elmo Beaty scored 24, Bill Bridges hit for 21 and Bob Pettit tallied 20 for the Hawks.

Pettit was an active player-coach while Richie Guerin remained a flu patient in St. Louis.

QB Brodie Leading Grid Golf Tourney

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (AP) — Professional golfers can stop worrying about potential competition after looking over the scores in the two rounds of the fifth annual National Football League Golf Tournament.

John Brodie led going into the final round with a 156, 16 over par on the 35-35—70, 6,479-yard Hollywood Beach Hotel course.

★ ★ ★

Brodie, quarterback for the San Francisco 49ers, fired an opening round of 79 to go with Monday's score of 77.

He was one stroke in front of Jesse Whittenton of Green Bay, who shot a 76 for a 157.

King Hill, Philadelphia quarterback, and Jim Bakken, St. Louis place kicker, were tied for third at 158.

Assistants Find Plenty of Jobs in New England

BRUNSWICK, Maine (AP) — Peter Kostacopoulos of Bowdoin is extending a trend. He's the third straight man elevated to the head coaching job from the ranks of assistant in New England.

James S. Coles, Bowdoin president, announced Tuesday Kostacopoulos has been named to succeed C. Nelson Corey, who resigned.

Earlier in the area, Mel Massucco was raised to the No. 1 assignment at Holy Cross following the retiring Eddie Anderson. And ex-Penn State star Joe Sabol has moved into the head coaching chore at Norwich, replacing Bob Priestley.

Kostacopoulos, 30, played his football at Maine Central Institute and the University of Maine.

Outlook Brightens for Olympic Boxer

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A few weeks ago, Joe Frazier, 1964 Olympic heavyweight boxing champion, was broke, in debt and unable to go back to his old job in a Philadelphia slaughterhouse because of a thumb broken during the competition in Tokyo.

But today, Frazier reports his thumb is mending, he expects to be back at his old job early next month — and he has received about $1,200 in cash contributions from friends, neighbors and strangers who read of his plight.

Hurler With White Sox

CHICAGO (UPI)—Dick Drott, former pitcher for the Chicago Cubs and Houston Astros, was signed Tuesday by the Chicago White Sox for their Indianapolis farm club. The 28-year-old right-hander, who claims his sore arm has been cured, will be with the parent club Feb. 24 at Sarasota, Fla., for spring training.

Ice Fishing 'Weak' on Area Lakes

Ice fishing continues on the weak side in Oakland County.

The fishermen are more than ready, and the fish are biting, but unsafe ice conditions — or no ice at all — is hampering this popular winter sport

★ ★ ★

Some lakes, however, have sufficient ice and are producing good catches.

Calicoes are hitting on Walters and Pontiac lakes with best fishing at night with minnows. Lake Orion also is yielding good catches of calicoes.

Pike fishing is best with new ice and local anglers are doing very well.

Don Kleindl, 2316 Silver Circle, took a nine-pounder from Schoolhouse lake last weekend. Conservation officer Harold Stoll of Fenton reports a seven-pound pike from Big Lake.

Pontiac Lake has been the mecca. Spearing, open for the first time in several years, is making heavy inroads on the pike population.

SHANTY TOWN

A small village of shanties has been set up on the lake off the state park. Pike are hitting there on tip-ups, too.

Other good pike producers are Lake Orion, the Holly mill pond, and Lake Louise.

Bald Eagle and Cemetery are yielding good catches of perch on wigglers.

Bluegill fishing has been slow. Anglers are now able to get on Silver Lake off Walton if they are careful. This always is a favored spot for big bluegills.

Tipsico is producing bluegills, but they are on the small side.

Jack Greathouse has just returned from his annual excursion to Arkansas where he hunted out of the duck camp operated by Flint's champion duck caller Art Beachamp near Des Arc.

The Waterford Township hunter reported the ducks werecall er reported the ducks were call shy because it was late in the season. But, he added, the hunters managed to take their limit.

"Only it took longer.'

Greathouse had his beagle along and reported the rabbit hunting very good. He also got in some quail hunting.

FOL Sorrows Wrestler Wins Fourth Straight

Farmington Our Lady of Sorrows wrestling captain Rick Korte remained unbeaten yesterday but the Lancers also remained winless by dropping a 27-23 verdict to Catholic Central.

Korte pinned his opponent in three minutes during their 145-pound class scrap. Teammate Mike Solar also scored a fall at 120 pounds in 4:30. Tony Tucker (95 pounds) won by decision and FOLS (0-4) also took two forfeit verdicts.

LINE DRAWN — When snow begins to fall in deer country, the white tails begin worrying about the food supply. This winter has been fairly mild, but this young deer looks hopefully across the wire fence where cows are feeding. Bossy has the appearance of not wanting any outside freeloaders.

Unprecedented Decision

Court Ruling Halts Lake Project

Barry County Circuit Judge Archie D. McDonald has halted a dredging and channelling project on the west side of Gun lake which is designed to create about 11,000 feet of artificial water frontage.

His unprecedented decision, one which could have far-reaching impact in Michigan, upheld protests of shoreline owners who argued that their riparian rights would be violated and diminished if the "back lot" development were allowed to continue.

★ ★ ★

The controversy centers around work under way by Sunrise Shores, Inc., to interlace its subdivision with a series of canals which would connect each of about 150 new lots to the lake.

Only 16 of these parcels front the lake's natural shoreline.

Through last week's summary judgment, lake residents in the case made their point that the development of canal frontage would not give back-lot owners any riparian rights to use Gun lake for recreation because the property involved does not border the natural shoreline.

★ ★ ★

Judge McDonald's ruling also gave consideration to a brief filed by State Attorney General Frank J. Kelley on behalf of the Conservation Department which questioned whether the canal digging would affect the level of Gun lake.

The possibility of the project interfering with the shoreline owners' use of the lake for fishing and other purposes was also raised as part of the state's "friend-of-the-court" presentation.

POSSIBLE APPEAL

Although there is no indication they will, defendants in the case could carry their argument to the Michigan Court of Appeals as the next step in trying to override the summary judgment.

★ ★ ★

"At this point, it is hard to say exactly what will come out of this decision," explains George Taack, who heads the Conservation Department's Great Lakes submerged lands program.

"Potentially," he adds, "the court's action last week could have a tremendous bearing upon hundreds and hundreds of similar developments on Michigan's inland lakes and streams.

"Most certainly, it is a big step in the direction of safeguarding shoreline owners against face-lifting projects which threaten to usurp their rights."

This marks the first time that a Michigan court has taken a stand on this type of shoreline development, according to Taack.

This Rabbit Was Ready to Butt Hunter

JACKSON, Tenn. (UPI) — A fish and game official said yesterday a rabbit with three horns had been brought to his office.

Rabbits ordinarily have no horns at all, not even Texas jackrabbits.

★ ★ ★

Claude Rheams described the cottontail, shot on New Year's Day by a 12-year-old hunter near Trezevant, Tenn., as having horns "curved like sheep horns, spread across its head."

"I've never seen anything like this," Rheams said.

He said the horns were about 1¼ inches long and that they appeared to be true ones.

"There was no evidence of prank," he said.

Jenkins to Head Research Section

LANSING (AP) — David Jenkins, 46, a game biologist, Tuesday was named head of the research and development section of the State Conservation Department.

Jenkins has been acting head of the department. He recently had charge of Michigan's first elk hunt since before the turn of the century.

★ ★ ★

Ralph Blouch, 45, head of the Houghton Lake Wildlife Experiment Station, was named to replace Jenkins as head of the section's game research unit.

Director Ralph MacMullan said the effective date for both appointments, made from a Civil Service register of eligible candidates, will be Jan. 10.

Cuba Claims Diamond Ban

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Havana Radio quoted a top official of the Cuban Sports Institute as saying "counter revolutionaries serving the Yankee imperialism" are trying to keep Cuba away from the 1965 World Amateur Baseball Championship.

Jose Llanuza, head of the National Institute of Physical Education and Recreation, which controls all sports activities in the nation, said Tuesday night the International Federation of Amateur Baseball (FIAB) has adopted a resolution specifically against Cuba.

Llanuza appealed to the world to be alert about "this dangerous step."

Llanuza's parents and two sisters are in exile in Miami.

Deadline Set for Entering PKC Show

The deadline has been set for entries in the Pontiac Kennel Club's annual winter indoor all-breed show and obedience trial Jan. 24 at the Pontiac Retail store.

Edmund A. Kraft of Bloomfield Hills, a PKC official, said that entries will be accepted by the Bow Dog Show Organization, in Detroit, until noon, Tuesday, Jan. 12.

The dog judged best-in-show will receive The Pontiac Press Trophy.

"We are looking for a good entry," said Kraft. "The figure should equal last year's indoor show. Many shows reported an increase in entries last year."

As in the past, this will be licensed, unbenched show. Don Lawicki of Walled Lake is show chairman.

Pontiac City Affairs

Second Auto Junk Yard Heard From

A second auto junk yard may become a problem for the Pontiac City Commission, according to report last night by City Manager Joseph A. Warren.

Recently the city, after several months of negotiations, went to court against Sam Allen & Son, Inc., of 22 Congress.

One of the arguments in that case revolves around the zoning of a portion of the Allen property.

A related question faces city officials on a matter raised by Frederick W. Scribner, owner of Ace Auto Parts, 701 Oakland.

★ ★ ★

The auto parts firm has asked for a license to store and dismantle automobiles on its Oakland property.

NEVER GRANTED

Such an operation requires manufacturing-3 zoning, according to City Manager Warren. The property currently carries a manufacturing-1 zoning.

Scribner, who has operated the business for three years, has sought a license in the past, but has never been granted one because of the zoning.

In September 1963, a request to change the zoning received a negative recommendation from the City Planning Commission.

★ ★ ★

However, the city planners will be asked to reconsider the problem. The City Commission last night directed Scribner's request to them for further consideration.

TRANSFER FUNCTIONS

In other business last night, the commission approved a proposal from the city manager to transfer the functions of reading water and sewer meters and computing such bills to the water department.

The collection of the bills still remains in the finance department, according to Warren.

Previously, the meter reading responsibility had been carried by several departments — engineering, finance, public works and water.

★ ★ ★

Warren told the commission that this was not the usual pattern for cities the size of Pontiac and made it difficult to pinpoint responsibility.

CITY AUTHORITY

City Engineer Joseph E. Neipling reported last night that certain streets, formerly under the jurisdiction of the State Highway Department, had been turned back to the city's authority.

The streets included portions of Auburn, Pike, Williams, Huron, Perry, Mill and Oakland.

He said that Wide Track has become the official state trunkline for I-75, U.S. 10 and M59 routes.

★ ★ ★

In addition, a portion of West Huron from Williams to Wide Track has been established as an M59 trunkline.

BUS OPERATIONS

City commissioners last night also received a report on bus operations for the month of December, showing 70,919 riders for the month.

★ ★ ★

Revenues taken in by Pontiac Transit Corp. jumped to $18,221, an increase from $16,452 in November and $16,476 in December 1963.

There were 86,484 riders in December 1962, for a total revenue of $16,868.

City Rejects Upgrading of Taverns

An admitted teetotaler last night defended the upgrading of tavern licenses in Pontiac, but the City Commission stood firm.

★ ★ ★

Monday night the seven commissioners could not agree on the upgrading of tavern licenses to Class C status (liquor by the glass) and rejected a report by a citizens committee that set guidelines for the upgrading.

Describing himself as "a teetotaler," Mitchell Bacow claimed the City Commission had slammed the door in the faces of the city's 18 tavern owners.

Bacow, a local attorney and one of five members of the upgrading committee, defended the group's report. He urged the commission to reconsider it.

"We tried very, very hard to bring in a fair package," said Bacow.

REPRESENTATIVE GROUP

He pointed out that the committee was a representative group from both sides of the liquor question.

The local attorney offered to have the committee revise its report to "make it more palatable."

Mayor William H. Taylor Jr. replied that the majority of the commission did not want any more Class C operation in the city.

★ ★ ★

Taylor, in mentioning the split vote on the commission, said that one of the objections to the report had been that only three licenses per year would be upgraded.

"Who will be the three?" asked the mayor.

JUST A START

Bacow answered that the committee had selected three as "just a start." He said the attempt had been to overcome some of the natural opposition to upgrading.

★ ★ ★

Commissioner John A. Dugan said that the door was not closed on any issue. He admitted that the commission's decision was "political."

County Circuit Court Hit by High Judges

The Oakland County Circuit Court has come under attack from the Michigan Supreme Court, with Judge William J. Beer singled out in the complaint for his handling of two cases.

Other lower Michigan courts and judges were blistered by the Supreme Court after it ruled on 42 cases Monday and Tuesday.

In a property case Monday, the high court complained in Lansing that Beer filed no opinion or findings of fact.

The unanimous opinion, written by Justice Eugene Black, reversed a decision for the Railroad Improvement Association against Helen Thomas of Bloomfield Township.

Black said that nearly all such partially tried cases came from the Oakland County Circuit Court and added that the Oakland court should "spend at least the same amount of time on an equity case as we must apply to it . . . ."

The high court said it recognized the increasing burden on lower courts but noted that it would be better to get "farther and farther behind rather than to crank a judicial meat-grinder" simply to dispose of cases.

In another decision on a case from Beer's court, the supreme court yesterday complained "we find it impossible to pass upon the questions involved for lack of facts on which to predicate legal conclusions.

"We also note sharp differences between the two statements of facts of parties, and we find no conclusionary statements in them that not only are unsupported by evidentiary facts, but are not even supported by allegations in the pleadings," the high court added.

The court reversed Beer's granting a motion to dismiss a bill of complaint to foreclose a mechanic's lien brought by the Erb - Restrick Lumber Co. against Lovett Builders, Inc., and others, and the Pontiac Federal Savings and Loan Association.

Deadline Due for Highway Dept. Training

Application deadline is Jan. 25 for the Michigan State Highway Department's three-year work-study student technician program.

★ ★ ★

Applications are available at the Oakland County Clerk-Register's office at the County Service Center or at the office of the Michigan Employment Security Commission, 242 Oakland.

Civil Service tests will be held Feb. 27 to select 40 students for the program, which includes both classroom study and on-the-job training.

Any high school graduate under the age of 41, including those who graduate this June, is eligible to take the examination.

★ ★ ★

Students selected for this year's program will work on various highway department jobs, such as drafting, design and survey, for a period of six months at a salary ranging from $172 to $193 every two weeks.

ATTEND COLLEGE

They will then attend either Ferris State College at Big Rapids or Lansing Community College for the next six months at their own expense.

Graduates of the program which begins in July, will earn an associate degree in civil technology.

Archbishop of Chicago Taking Hospital Tests

CHICAGO (AP) — Albert Cardinal Meyer, Roman Catholic archbishop of Chicago, was taken to Mercy Hospital from his home in a fire department ambulance early this morning.

★ ★ ★

A hospital spokesman said Cardinal Meyer, 62, was admitted for "a lot of tests," but that his condition is "good as of right now." An early report said he had been stricken with an apparent heart attack, but the spokesman denied this.

Typewriter Workers Strike Over Jet Noise

WILHELMSHAVEN, Germany (AP) — Eleven thousand workers struck the Olympic typewriter factory here today to protest the "unbearable noise" of jet fighters from a nearby German air field.

The factory is right in the takeoff path from the field. A spokesman for the workers said they had also felt in danger ever since a Starfighter jet fighter-bomber crashed near the factory.

Ruling to Bring Gravlin Appeal

Judge Denies Bid for New Lawyer in Case

Accused mass slayer William G. Gravlin will appeal his denial for a new court-appointed attorney.

Gravlin, 30, notified Circuit Judge James S. Thorburn of the action yesterday.

At the same time he requested and was granted a hearing for 10:30 a.m. today for the purpose of getting his trial delayed until the Supreme Court makes a decision on his appeal.

On Monday, Thorburn refused to name another attorney to defend Gravlin.

★ ★ ★

Gravlin had petitioned for the dismissal of his court-appointed attorney, Robert Rann of Royal Oak, on the grounds that Rann was "prejudiced."

Gravlin is charged with first-degree murder in connection with the Sept. 27 ax, hammer and shotgun deaths of his wife, daughter and five stepchildren.

★ ★ ★

The seven victims were found in their home at 2121 Garson, Troy.

Joke Was on Bank Robber

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Miss Gladys Jones, a teller at a North Carolina National Bank branch in Charlotte, was busy and didn't understand what the short, stocky gunman said. So she tossed the two paper bags he placed before her into a nearby wastebacket.

Police said the gunman then lost his nerve, turned and walked out of the bank.

The man, dressed in dark clothing, entered the bank about 3:30 p.m. yesterday and announced to Miss Jones, "This is a holdup."

Motioning to the bags, he ordered, "Fill 'em up."

★ ★ ★

Miss Jones thought he was joking. Only one person in the bank, a customer, saw the gun the man was holding.

No one else apparently realized that an attempted holdup was in progress.

1-Man, 1-Vote at County Level

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — The Wisconsin Supreme Court appears to have established a national pattern in ordering realignment of county boards on a "one-man, one-vote principle."

The court ruled in a unanimous decision Tuesday that an 1849 law under which county board members are elected violates federal and state constitutions because it denies equal representation.

★ ★ ★

The legislature was given until next Nov. 1 to change the law, under which a supervisor is elected from each town, village and city ward. The ruling did not affect Milwaukee and Menominee counties, which are covered by different statutes.

★ ★ ★

The court held that Milwaukee and Menominee boards, each set up under specific legislative action covering particular problems — Milwaukee is entirely urban, Menominee is a former Indian reservation — already provide equal representation.

NEWS EXECUTIVES

The suit was instituted by two Milwaukee Sentinel executives, managing editor Harry L. Sonneborn and city editor Robert H. Wills, who live in suburban Waukesha County. They contended that they were denied appropriate representation on the Waukesha Board under the old statute which allots supervisors to smaller governmental units rather than by population.

In Wisconsin the boards carry on governmental operations at the county level.

★ ★ ★

The decision was hailed by a nationally known expert on reapportionment in a statement to the Sentinel.

"I've been writing to people all over the country, telling them this is the case they've been waiting for — go get it," said William J. D. Boyd, senior associate for the National Municipal League in New York.

NABL Game Will Feature Top Scorers

Pontiac Nationals 5 Travels to Muskegon for Next Contest

NABL STANDINGS

	W	L		W	L
Benton Harbor	7	2	Muskegon	3	5
Grand Rapids	5	3	Chicago	2	6
Pontiac	4	5

At least five and possibly six of the top scorers in the North American Basketball League will be in action Saturday night when the Pontiac Nationals visit Muskegon.

The game at Mona Shores High School against the Panthers will offer the Nationals a chance to square their record at 5-5 and repel the home forces bid to climb into third place.

The Panthers will enter the contest with a 3-5 log and the NABL's top scorer, "Big Ed" Burton. They also boast the No. 5 and No. 8 point makers in Mel Nowell and Joe Roberts.

The latter is a doubtful participant, however, due to an injury which has sidelined him for the past three games. He missed the spectacular 150-145 overtime point battle won by Pontiac Dec. 26.

TOP THREE

The Nationals will have the third (Willie Merriweather), sixth (Henry Hughes) and seventh (Charley North) leading marksmen. They have combined to average more than 68 points per game.

★ ★ ★

The Muskegon trio is scoring at a better than 70 ppg tempo with Burton hitting 28.1 to pace all NABL shooters. Chicago's Porter Merriweather is second at 27.2 and cousin Willie for Pontiac 25.9.

The 6-6, 230-pound Burton also paces the rebounders with a 16.7 rate on retrieves while North is second with 13.4. The 6-3 Pontiac forward has grabbed 38 in his last two games.

In team statistics, Pontiac continues to lead in free throw accuracy, connecting on 73 per cent of its tries. The Nationals are second on offense, averaging 116 ppg, but are last defensively with a 120 ppg rate.

They can only rue last Saturday's loss to Benton Harbor. A victory there, coupled with Muskegon's 114-113 upset of Grand Rapids, would have left them only one game out of first place.

Now they must continue their uphill struggle without player-coach Bob Bolton in the next two ball games. The 6-10 center will be coaching the Walled Lake varsity cagers both this Saturday and Jan. 23. Pontiac is idle Jan. 16.

The coaching duties will be handled by guard John Hannett, varsity coach and athletic director at unbeaten Country Day School in Birmingham.

★ ★ ★

No front line replacement has been announced for Bolton although attempts are being made to find an interim performer who can help with the rebounding.

The Pontiac club officials expect to announce ticket arrangements shortly for the Jan. 30th game with Benton Harbor, the league leader, at Pontiac Northern's gym.

FIRM GRIP—Charley Vaughn (11) of St. Louis grabs the arm of Detroit Pistons' guard Terry Dischinger as they leap for a rebound under the Hawks' basket in opening quarter of game in New York last night. Hawks won, 109-108.

Hawks Erase Deficit in Trimming Pistons

NEW YORK (UPI) — The St. Louis Hawks rallied from a third-quarter 12-point deficit to edge the Detroit Pistons 109-108 in the first game of a National Basketball Association doubleheader at Madison Suare Garden Tuesday night.

In the second game, the New York Knicks made their debut under new coach Harry Gallatin by taking on the Cincinnati Royals, who spoiled Gallatin's opener, 125-116.

★ ★ ★

With the Pistons leading 53-47 at the half, Terry Dischinger of Detroit opened the third quarter by scoring four quick field goals as his team opened up a 61-49 lead.

Then the freeze set in for the Pistons.

Within six minutes St. Louis had tied the score at 69-69 as Bill Bridges put in a 20-foot jumper and with an overall spurt of 22-4 took an 86-80 lead at the end of the quarter.

Despite a fine 16-point effort by Dischinger, who led all scorers with 32 points.

In the first half, Detroit dominated the play led by their playing coach Dave DeBusschere, who scored 13 points in the first quarter.

The Hawks poor shooting was a deciding factor as they hit on only 19 of 52 field goal tries and nine of 17 from the free throw line.

★ ★ ★

The Hawks had the game safely put away, leading 109-102 with 1:01 to go, when the Pistons scored three straight field goals to narrow the margin.

DeBusschere scored 21 points for the Pistons while Elmo Beaty scored 24, Bill Bridges hit for 21 and Bob Pettit tallied 20 for the Hawks.

Pettit was an active player-coach while Richie Guerin remained a flu patient in St. Louis.

Assistants Find Plenty of Jobs in New England

BRUNSWICK, Maine (AP) — Peter Kostacopoulos of Bowdoin is extending a trend. He's the third straight man elevated to the head coaching job from the ranks of assistant in New England.

James S. Coles, Bowdoin president, announced Tuesday Kostacopoulos has been named to succeed C. Nelson Corey, who resigned.

Earlier in the area, Mel Massucco was raised to the No. 1 assignment at Holy Cross following the retiring Eddie Anderson. And ex-Penn State star Joe Sabol has moved into the head coaching chore at Norwich, replacing Bob Priestley.

Kostacopoulos, 30, played his football at Maine Central Institute and the University of Maine.

Outlook Brightens for Olympic Boxer

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A few weeks ago, Joe Frazier, 1964 Olympic heavyweight boxing champion, was broke, in debt and unable to go back to his old job in a Philadelphia slaughterhouse because of a thumb broken during the competition in Tokyo.

But today, Frazier reports his thumb is mending, he expects to be back at his old job early next month — and he has received about $1,200 in cash contributions from friends, neighbors and strangers who read of his plight.

Stitches were removed from his left hand Monday and doctors said his left thumb should heal satisfactorily.

QB Brodie Leading Grid Golf Tourney

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (AP) — Professional golfers can stop worrying about potential competition after looking over the scores in the two rounds of the fifth annual National Football League Golf Tournament.

John Brodie led going into the final round with a 156, 16 over par on the 35-35—70, 6,479-yard Hollywood Beach Hotel course.

★ ★ ★

Brodie, quarterback for the San Francisco 49ers, fired an opening round of 79 to go with Monday's score of 77.

He was one stroke in front of Jesse Whittenton of Green Bay, who shot a 76 for a 157.

King Hill, Philadelphia quarterback, and Jim Bakken, St. Louis place kicker, were tied for third at 158.

Ice Fishing 'Weak' on Area Lakes

Ice fishing continues on the weak side in Oakland County.

The fishermen are more than ready, and the fish are biting, but unsafe ice conditions — or no ice at all — is hampering this popular winter sport

★ ★ ★

Some lakes, however, have sufficient ice and are producing good catches.

Calicoes are hitting on Walters and Pontiac lakes with best fishing at night with minnows. Lake Orion also is yielding good catches of calicoes.

Pike fishing is best with new ice and local anglers are doing very well.

Don Kleindl, 2316 Silver Circle, took a nine-pounder from Schoolhouse lake last weekend. Conservation officer Harold Stoll of Fenton reports a seven-pound pike from Big Lake.

Pontiac Lake has been the mecca. Spearing, open for the first time in several years, is making heavy inroads on the pike population.

SHANTY TOWN

A small village of shanties has been set up on the lake off the state park. Pike are hitting there on tip-ups, too.

Other good pike producers are Lake Orion, the Holly mill pond, and Lake Louise.

Bald Eagle and Cemetery are yielding good catches of perch on wigglers.

Bluegill fishing has been slow. Anglers are now able to get on Silver Lake off Walton if they are careful. This always is a favored spot for big bluegills.

Tipsico is producing bluegills, but they are on the small side.

Jack Greathouse has just returned from his annual excursion to Arkansas where he hunted out of the duck camp operated by Flint's champion duck caller Art Beachamp near Des Arc.

The Waterford Township hunter reported the ducks werecall er reported the ducks were call shy because it was late in the season. But, he added, the hunters managed to take their limit.

"Only it took longer."

Greathouse had his beagle along and reported the rabbit hunting very good. He also got in some quail hunting.

FOL Sorrows Wrestler Wins Fourth Straight

Farmington Our Lady of Sorrows wrestling captain Rick Korte remained unbeaten yesterday but the Lancers also remained winless by dropping a 27-23 verdict to Catholic Central.

Korte pinned his opponent in three minutes during their 145-pound class scrap. Teammate Mike Solar also scored a fall at 120 pounds in 4:30. Tony Tucker (95 pounds) won by decision and FOLS (0-4) also took two forfeit verdicts.

Unprecedented Decision

Court Ruling Halts Lake Project

Barry County Circuit Judge Archie D. McDonald has halted a dredging and channelling project on the west side of Gun lake which is designed to create about 11,000 feet of artificial water frontage.

His unprecedented decision, one which could have far-reaching impact in Michigan, upheld protests of shoreline owners who argued that their riparian rights would be violated and diminished if the "back lot" development were allowed to continue.

★ ★ ★

The controversy centers around work under way by Sunrise Shores, Inc., to interlace its subdivision with a series of canals which would connect each of about 150 new lots to the lake.

Only 16 of these parcels front the lake's natural shoreline.

Through last week's summary judgment, lake residents in the case made their point that the development of canal frontage would not give backlot owners any riparian rights to use Gun lake for recreation because the property involved does not border the natural shoreline.

★ ★ ★

Judge McDonald's ruling also gave consideration to a brief filed by State Attorney General Frank J. Kelley on behalf of the Conservation Department which questioned whether the canal digging would affect the level of Gun lake.

The possibility of the project interfering with the shoreline owners' use of the lake for fishing and other purposes was also raised as part of the state's "friend-of-the-court" presentation.

POSSIBLE APPEAL

Although there is no indication they will, defendants in the case could carry their argument to the Michigan Court of Appeals as the next step in trying to override the summary judgment.

★ ★ ★

"At this point, it is hard to say exactly what will come out of this decision," explains George Taack, who heads the Conservation Department's Great Lakes submerged lands program.

"Potentially," he adds, "the court's action last week could have a tremendous bearing upon hundreds and hundreds of similar developments on Michigan's inland lakes and streams.

"Most certainly, it is a big step in the direction of safeguarding shoreline owners against face-lifting projects which threaten to usurp their rights."

This marks the first time that a Michigan court has taken a stand on this type of shoreline development, according to Taack.

This Rabbit Was Ready to Butt Hunter

JACKSON, Tenn. (UPI) — A fish and game official said yesterday a rabbit with three horns had been brought to his office.

Rabbits ordinarily have no horns at all, not even Texas jackrabbits.

★ ★ ★

Claude Rheams described the cottontail, shot on New Year's Day by a 12-year-old hunter near Trezevant, Tenn., as having horns "curved like sheep horns, spread across its head."

"I've never seen anything like this," Rheams said.

He said the horns were about 1¼ inches long and that they appeared to be true ones.

"There was no evidence of prank," he said.

Jenkins to Head Research Section

LANSING (AP) — David Jenkins, 46, a game biologist, Tuesday was named head of the research and development section of the State Conservation Department.

Jenkins has been acting head of the department. He recently had charge of Michigan's first elk hunt since before the turn of the century.

★ ★ ★

Ralph Blouch, 45, head of the Houghton Lake Wildlife Experiment Station, was named to replace Jenkins as head of the section's game research unit.

Director Ralph MacMullan said the effective date for both appointments, made from a Civil Service register of eligible candidates, will be Jan. 10.

Seek Hospital Probe

LANSING (AP) — The Michigan State Employes Union said Tuesday it will start circulating petitions for an immediate, thorough and impartial investigation of the Newberry State Hospital and calling for the firing of the medical superintendent.

★ ★ ★

The union has contended there is a shortage of workers at the hospital and nurses were forced to work under conditions which exposed them to risks.

★ ★ ★

Among such conditions cited were requiring nurses to go alone to check inmate cottages at night. Footsteps in the snow were seen outside one of the cottages, suggesting a prowler, union hospital workers said.

★ ★ ★

The union also protested the firing of Chief Steward Richard Carroll while he was attending a grievance meeting Monday as their official union representative.

EVIDENCE GIVEN

"As evidence that it was strictly a prearranged setup," said Robert Grosvenor, union director, "Mental Health Director Dr. Robert Kimmich gave his approval to the firing before it took place. And now we are supposed to go to these same officials through their grievance procedures and expect to have justice? What a laugh."

★ ★ ★

Separate petitions will be circulated, said the union, asking the legislature to conduct a probe at the hospital and asking the State Mental Health Department to request the resignation of Dr. R. R. Cameron, hospital medical superintendent.

Imposter Faces Trial for Fraud

DETROIT (AP) — A state legislator who hid his criminal background by assuming the identity of a Yale Law School honors graduate has been ordered to stand trial on two voter registration fraud charges.

★ ★ ★

The lawmaker, Rep. Daniel West, 55, was accused of persuading about a dozen voters to claim falsely that they lived at a residence in Wayne County's 24th District, so they could vote for him in the primary last summer.

★ ★ ★

Recorder's Court Judge Joseph Gillis ruled Tuesday that West must stand trial on felony charges of conspiring to aid and abet in false voter registration and for subornation of perjury. Conviction could bring prison sentences of five years for each offense.

★ ★ ★

West also is awaiting trial on 117 counts of federal income tax swindles involving false returns and refunds, which could result in another 755 years in prison.

SERVED IN PRISON

West has served prison terms in other states for forgery, burglary and larceny.

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Country music star Faron Young was charged with assaulting a police officer early today after throwing a drink in the officer's face during a mixing bar raid.

Young was arrested at a Printer's Alley nightspot and charged with disorderly conduct by cursing.

One officer in the raid party said Young tackled him as he tried to phone police headquarters for reinforcements.

As Young was being booked at police headuarters, one police officer pleaded with reporters and photographers not to mention the arrest in the press.

When one newsman attempted to take a photograph of Young, the officer shoved him out of the booking room.

NEW YORK (AP)—Pop singer Fran Warren was cleared yesterday of a narcotics charge.

A grand jury declined to indict her and Supreme Court Justice Mitchell J. Schweitzer ordered dismissal of the narcotics possession charge which had been lodged against the 38-year-old nightclub entertainer.

The charge, a felony, was based on police reports that officers found four ounces of marijuana concealed in her Manhattan apartment last Oct. 13.

Ouster of Nigeria Minister Is Expected

LAGOS, Nigeria (AP) — Foreign Minister Jaja Wachuku is considered likely to be missing from Nigeria's new government, largely because of his recent defense of the U.S.-Belgian paratroop landing in the Congo.

Wachuku is reported out of favor with leading members of his own faction, the United Progressive Grand Alliance — UPGA — and has also lost the confidence of Prime Minister Sir Abubakar Tafawa Balewa, a member of the dominant Nigerian National Alliance — NNA.

★ ★ ★

President Nnamdi Azikiwe asked Balewa Monday to form a new government based on last Wednesday's partially boycotted election. The two agreed to hold new elections in districts where the boycott by UPGA was effective and to let the courts rule in districts where UPGA claimed its candidates were illegally kept off the ballot.

The new government is expected to include many of the members of Balewa's previous Cabinet, which had governed since independence in 1960. The outspoken Wachuku, however, is expected to be a casualty.

Nigeria has tacitly approved the rescue mission in the Congo and supports the regime of Premier Moise Tshombe as the only legal Congolese government. But Balewa was displeased that Wachuku created a foreign policy issue during the election campaign.

Wachuku split with most African delegates during the Security Council debate on the Congo when he endorsed a proposal by U.S. delegate Adlai E. Stevenson that the council send a mission to investigate interference by outsiders in Congolese affairs.

★ ★ ★

Wachuku admonished the African nations to respect the sovereignty of the Congo and said: "It is not for anybody to tell the Congo who their government should be."

Wachuku, a 46-year-old lawyer, was appointed foreign minister in 1961. At that time he was chairman of the U.N. Conciliation Commission on the Congo.

IN CONFERENCE

Balewa, charged with setting up a "broadly based national government," flew Tuesday to the northern region capital of Kaduna to confer with his superior in NNA, Premier Sir Ahmadu Bello, on the makeup of the new government.

Meg 'Drinks In' Emerald Isle

Goes Pub-Crawling With Her In-Laws

CLARENBRIDGE, Ireland (AP) — Princess Margaret and her in-laws went pub-crawling on the west coast of Ireland Tuesday night, downing Chablis and Galway Bay oysters at Paddy Burke's bar while the regulars goggled over their beer and stout.

"We're having a wonderful time," the queen's sister told Paddy and his staff.

★ ★ ★

With Margaret were her husband, Lord Snowdon; her mother-in-law, the Countess of Rosse, and the earl; and Snowdon's brother-in-law and sister, Viscount and Viscountess de Vesci. Margaret and Snowdon are visiting the Rosses at Birr Castle, 45 miles inland from the coast.

The princess wore beat-style black stockings, low-heeled shoes and a schoolgirlish gray dress.

LED SINGING

Paddy's 15-year-old daughter, Rose, led the party in singing "The Rose of Tralee," accompanied by Keiron Moylan on the concertina. Then Tom O'Toole, Clarenbridge's leading tenor, obliged with "Galway Bay," a song which the Irish fervently — though wrongly — believe is banned as subversive in England.

Snowdon passed up the wine and had traditional stout with his oysters. The party finished the meal with a whisky-based Irish liqueur.

★ ★ ★

Because of threats from the outlawed Irish Republican Army, the route of Margaret's Galway tour was kept secret and a police escort accompanied her motorcade.

But inside the pub all was relaxed, and a crowd of several hundred outside cheered as the princess left.

Bing Says He Hasn't Changed

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD—Bing Crosby, who seldom gets ruffled at anything, evidenced a brief irritation over a recent magazine story that said he had mellowed after years of being a difficult star.

THOMAS

"Hell, I haven't changed in 40 years," he muttered.

His claim seemed true as he strolled about the set of "The Bing Crosby Show," tossing quips to members of the cast and crew. His face was lean and unlined, his manner remained in the affable Crosby image. At 60 he presents the figure of a man content with his life and work.

Bing now lives and works in different worlds. He and his wife Kathryn and their three young children make their home at Burlingame, on the peninsula south of San Francisco.

SYSTEM WORKS WELL

"The system has worked out very well," he explained. "I fly down here on a jet Monday morning and I fly back on Friday afternoon. I live near the airport, so that's no problem. The flight takes 45-50 minutes. It's just like commuting from Long Island to Manhattan.

"I do that for a couple of weeks and then I get a week off. So it isn't tough doing the show at all."

★ ★ ★

Why did he pull up his stakes here to live in the northland?

"Actually I'm here more than I used to be when I had a house in town," he said. "But I moved up north for a little quieter living. The city is getting bigger all the time — a little too big for me.

"I like it up north. I can drive downtown in a few minutes and walk around and get to know the storekeepers — yes, the innkeepers, too. It's nice to feel that you are part of a community.

LOTS OF FRIENDS

"We have lots of friends up there, mostly people I had known before we moved up. It's easy to drive up to San Francisco. We go to the opera a couple of times a year, and Kathryn likes the ballet. There are plenty of dinners and parties; in fact, you have to be careful or you could be going out every night.

"Golf? There's a course right near our house. So we really don't lack for anything."

The Crosby kids will get their schooling up north, he said. Harry Jr. is in the first grade, and Mary Frances is in kindergarten.

★ ★ ★

"But she's skipping to the first grade," Bing added. "She knows too much and the teacher had to spank her three times for showing off her knowledge to the other kids."
