Urban Developer Enthused About Pontiac's Potential

By DAVID J. COOK

For a fellow who thinks big, the man who may be destined to call the shots on urban renewal in Pontiac is markedly reluctant to talk about himself.

"For heaven's sake," said A. Alfred Taubman, "don't write the article about me."

"Write about the project."

But as Taubman talked of plans to regrow a downtown Pontiac, it became hard to separate the man from the spirit of the new business center he envisions.

Taubman — Pontiac Central High School, Class of '42 — is dynamic, self-made, open to ideas and no newcomer to the relatively modern concept of urban renewal.

SIGNS LEASES

His company, with headquarters in Detroit and offices in New York and San Francisco, signs leases for over 300 retail outlets each year.

Often, his business is carried out at an altitude of 10,000 feet in the private quarters of his DC3.

He speaks with experience of what he thinks Pontiac needs.

★ ★ ★

"Our job in urban renewal," Taubman said, "is to repeat in a stronger fashion what the suburban shopping center has done.

ALL FACILITIES

"I'm talking about free parking, an air-conditioned mall, all the facilities of the suburban setup plus the convenience of the downtown location.

"The concentrated population and the traffic flow make the urban center a natural.

"And we're coming into one of the most competitive retail markets since the beginning of time.

"You walk into any store and they've got everything everybody else has."

The 42-year-old Taubman, a resident of Oak Park, expressed enthusiasm for the opportunity in Pontiac as well as praise for the attitude of city officials.

"In any enterprise, there can be obstacles," he said. "Here, we're not just renovating something—we're making a whole thing over. We're recreating.

"And to succeed, we've got to induce the large department stores to come into the area along with local merchants."

Taubman said the project, as it now stands, will at various times demand the services of some 1,000 workers, from construction employes up through whitecollar posts.

★ ★ ★

Undaunted by the size of the task faced by his company and the city of Pontiac, Taubman is frankly optimistic.

"From the positive way Pontiac's city officials have approached this," he said, "I can see very few problems."

For Senior Citizens

City Public Housing Asked

May Amend Ordinance to Allow Building

Commission to Take Tour of Project Home in Dearborn Monday

Public housing for Pontiac senior citizens was proposed last night by the City Commission.

Although no formal action was taken, the city attorney was directed by Mayor pro tem Leslie H. Hudson to investigate the possibility of amending the city's ordinance prohibiting additional public housing here.

This would mean revision of ordinance 1270, an 11-year-old measure.

Hudson, who indicated the public housing ban would be lifted for the specific senior citizens project, said Pontiac should be considering apartments for senior citizens.

★ ★ ★

He added that such housing had been a topic of discussion for two years.

FEDERAL COST

Low-cost apartments, patterned after a six-story project in Dearborn, would be entirely financed by the federal government.

City officials reportedly are considering a site in the R20 urban renewal project.

Hudson said the best way to judge the worth of senior citizen housing is to see it.

★ ★ ★

A tour of Dearborn's Townsend Towers has been arranged by the City Commission for Monday.

★ ★ ★

Twenty-five to 30 local retiree groups and various civic leaders have been invited on the tour.

Some local civil rights groups have announced they will attend next week's commission meeting to urge complete repeal of ordinance 1270.

★ ★ ★

Final action on the senior citizen housing is expected next week.

Car Exec, Prof Clash on Safety

LANSING (AP) — A pathologist said nearly half of the nation's auto fatalities could be avoided by safer cars, but a Ford Motor Co. executive accused him of an "inflammatory vindictive, totally biased attack."

The clash came at the end of a 9½-hour Senate Highway Committee hearing yesterday into vehicle safety at which vice presidents of the four major auto companies spoke generally against design standards.

The committee is examining proposed car-design legislation.

Paul W. Gikas, assistant professor of pathology at University of Michigan medical school, showed the committee a series of accident study slides including full-color details of body organs damaged in accidents.

He blamed faulty door locks, protruding knobs, sharp objects and decorative chrome for causing deaths or being so located that fatalities could result.

★ ★ ★

"Forty-three per cent of accidents occur under 'survivable' conditions," he said.

FROM CONTACT

He explained this meant the driver's or passenger's compartment in the car was not essentially damaged but the victim was thrown about so that he died from contact with something outside his normal riding area.

Gikas said he had no complaint about auto maker development of operational safety features such as turn signals and dual brakes.

But he said little effort has been spent in crash attenuation

Detroit Burglar Slain by Police

DETROIT (AP) — An ex-convict with a long list of burglary convictions was killed and two companions were captured today when surprised by police while attempting to crack a union office safe.

Frank Capobianco, 31, Detroit, was killed by a shotgun blast fired by detective Sgt. Lawrence Hofmann of the State Police Intelligence Division, officers said.

Captured were Cashman A. Grabowski, 46, and Donald Fortuna, 34, both of Detroit.

A team of State Police had been shadowing the trio, all of whom had long police records, for several days, police said.

★ ★ ★

Police said the officers found the three men crouched around a safe in the office of a bartenders union local and ordered them to surrender.

All three attempted to run, police said, and Capobianco, carrying a crowbar, was struck by shotgun fire when he whirled around.

Grabowski surrendered and Fortuna was captured outside after diving through a window, officers said.

Labor Chiefs, Wirtz Confer

Discontent Growing Over Pay Guidelines

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The AFL-CIO drafts further argument today against a White House proposal to limit wage increases, while Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz tries to patch holes in the Johnson administration's alliance with organized labor.

Wirtz is staying an extra day to talk with officials of the big labor federation, who yesterday rejected his pleas to heed President Johnson's wage guidelines.

Wirtz reportedly found deeper discontent among the labor chiefs than he had bargained for.

"I think he got the message," said one member of the AFL-CIO Executive Council which held several hours of talks with Wirtz behind closed doors.

The federation's Economic Council today begins drafting a report which is expected to bolster opposition to any federal plan to restrict wage demands without also controlling increases in prices and profits.

The report, informed sources said, also will argue that the nation's strong economy can afford both the guns of its war needs in Viet Nam and the butter of Johnson's "Great Society" program.

The federation is expected to urge Johnson and Congress to impose excess profit taxes on corporations instead of trying to hold down the income of wage earners.

In another meeting, AFL-CIO maritime officials meet to map plans for their threatened boycott of hundreds of foreign ships — including those of U.S. allies — that deal with North Viet Nam.

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey arrived in Seoul today on the last leg of a nine-nation Asian tour as the South Korean government appeared ready to send more combat troops to Viet Nam.

Humphrey's 21-hour stopover was expected to seal a U.S.-South Korean agreement to increase substantially the 20,000-man Korean force in Viet Nam.

Premier Chung Il-kwon, Foreign Minister Lee Tong and U. S. Ambassador Winthrop G. Brown greeted Humphrey on his arrival from Manila.

Yanks, B52s Pound Cong in Joint Attack; Kill 38

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Thousands of American fighting men hunted the Viet Cong on two fronts today after a flight of B52s bombed only a few miles ahead of them to Crumble Communist defenses.

Troops of the U.S. 1st Cavalry, Airmobile Division, found 38 Viet Cong dead and evidence of considerably more Red casualties after moving into a Communist triangle 10 to 12 miles south of Bong Son in the coastal plains 300 miles northeast of Saigon.

At times the eight-engine Air Force bombers from Guam dropped their 500- and 750-pound bombs only two to three miles in front of the advancing cavalrymen.

U.S. spokesmen said the air cavalry killed another 28 Viet Cong yesterday raising the division's total of Communist dead since it began operations in the rice fields on the South China Sea coast Jan. 25 to 1,130.

In the jungles 35 miles northwest of Saigon, thousands of U.S. infantrymen began Operation Mastiff in an attempt to cripple Viet Cong forces operating on the capital's doorstep.

Like the air cavalrymen, the 1st Infantry Division combed the thick forests after the area had been softened up by B52s.

Although the six or seven war-hardened Viet Cong regiments in the area, perhaps 8,400 men, offered only token resistance, American officers said the operation could erupt into one of the major actions of the war.

Two guerrillas were reported killed as the infantrymen of the "Big Red One" poured into the area yesterday by helicopter, armored car and truck.

Bobby: Not Anticipating Cong Control

NEW YORK (AP) — Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., said today that his call for Viet Cong participation in a post-election South Vietnamese government does not anticipate Communist control.

"But the dissident elements must be brought into any peace talks," the senator said in a television interview.

Ask whether free elections would mean a victory by the Viet Cong, Kennedy said the situation would require "astute and brilliant statesmanship on the part of the United States to assure a fair election."

Reaction to his suggestion, he said, indicates confusion over U.S. military and political objectives in Viet Nam.

Kennedy said some administration members apparently believe there are preconditions attached to any agreement on a peace conference.

Administration reaction, with the exception of a comment from Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, former ambassador to South Viet Nam, has been sharply critical.

26 Pupils Bone Up at Class

By HUDSON WILLSE

It's a dog's world these Sunday afternoons at the Community Activities, Inc., building in Waterford Township.

Twenty-five Saint Bernards—representing about 3,750 pounds of beef — meet each week for an obedience class.

There's also a 26th canine enrolled in the 10-week course, an Irish Wolfhound appropriately named Mulligan, who reportedly mixes well in the otherwise Saint Bernard setting.

Members of the Saint Bernard Club of Michigan, which sponsors the class, contend that Mulligan isn't aware he is not a member of the Saint Bernard breed.

With no mirrors available, how would he know?

ALMOST AS LARGE

The transplanted Mulligan, though still growing, is almost as large as the Saint Bernard.

The two-hour classes are divided into two sections the second hour — novice and advanced. Dogs with previous training go through a more strenuous and difficult repertoire.

One of the primary objectives of the class is to train owners how to train their dogs.

Trainer Roy McDermitt, who has five assistants, is satisfied with the progress being made at the sessions.

Generally regarded as the world's largest dog, the Saint Bernard is basically a gentle and family-type dog, according to Fred Chapman, 4726 Pickering, Bloomfield Township.

Chapman is vice president of the Saint Bernard Club of Michigan.

Once famous for doing rescue work in the Swiss Alps, the Saint Bernard nowadays is used to pull sleds and other vehicles.

Contrary to belief, the Saint Bernard will not eat a family out of house and home. Once past puppyhood, he is a surprisingly moderate eater.

However, the heavy-coated Saint Bernard is as much dog as breeders boast.

Some of the breed's champions weigh over 200 pounds in their prime.

Britain Picks U.S. Jet; Navy Leader Quits

LONDON (AP) — Britain today chose a U.S. jet plane to spearhead its global defense and downgraded its navy, which once ruled the waves. Adm. Sir David Luce, Britain's sea lord, resigned in protest.

Luce's resignation followed that of Navy Minister Christopher Mayhew, who quit Saturday saying the navy could not do its job without a new $196-million aircraft carrier. The decision to build the carrier was ditched in the government's new defense plans.

★ ★ ★

In a controversial defense White Paper, the government said it will buy 50 F111 variable wing bombers from the United States for $5,880,000 each. The government felt these and other land-based bombers could take over the role of aircraft carriers.

★ ★ ★

Luce said in his resignation he could not accept the Cabinet's decision on the carrier. Sea lord since 1963, he will be succeeded by Adm. Sir Varyl Begg, commander of the Portsmouth base.

Defense Secretary Denis Healey announced that other admirals on the navy board share Luce's view on the carrier but are staying on "for the good of the navy."

The government said it intends to withdraw British forces from the strategic Middle East Aden base by 1968, but will keep its bases in Singapore and Malaysia where Britain is involved in the confrontation with Indonesia.

DEFENSE ESTIMATES

The defense estimates for 1966-67 provide for expenditure of $6,081,600,000.

Other highlights in the defense plans:

— British troops in British Guiana and southern African territories will be pulled back soon.

— The 51,000 British troops in West Germany will be kept there as long as means can be found of meeting foreign exchange costs.

FULL RESPONSIBILITY

— British Polaris armed submarines will take over full responsibility for Britain's contribution to Atlantic alliance nuclear forces by 1970.

"If the price of defense today is high, at least we shall be getting value for money," the White Paper said.

The government claimed it will achieve significant savings in return for a comparatively small reduction in Britain's military capacity.

"In the Far East, we intend to play a substantial and constructive role in keeping the peace, always in close collaboration with our allies and Commonwealth partners, but some limitations will be applied to the scale and nature of our military effort there," said the government document submitted to Parliament.

STRATEGIC POWER

"We shall possess with our aircraft and Polaris submarines substantial strategic power to contribute to international arrangements," it added.

Although it has decided against new aircraft carriers, the government said it intended to go ahead with purchase of American Phantom aircraft, for the fleet air arm, but on a reduced scale. It has some new missile-firing destroyers on order, and hopes to have four nuclear-powered hunter-killer submarines in service by the early 1970s.

★ ★ ★

"The present carrier force will continue well into the 1970s, but we will not build a new carrier. This ship could not come into service before 1973," the White Paper said.

"By then our remaining commitments will not require her and the function, for which we might otherwise have needed a carrier, will be performed in another way."

★ ★ ★

The government said aircraft operating from land bases are to take over the strike-reconnaissance and air-defense functions of carriers.

2nd Arraigned in Gaming Raid

The second of two men charged with violation of state gambling laws in the raid of an Orion Township home last Friday was arraigned yesterday.

Wayne C. Brock, 27, of 33 W. Brooklyn appeared before Orion Township Justice Helmar Stanaback and demanded examination on each of three charges.

Stanaback set examination for March 22 and Brock was released in $1,000 bond.

Robert J. Breen, 27, of 2465 S. Baldwin, site of the raid by Oakland County Sheriff's men, is free on $2,000 bond after arraignment before Stanaback Friday on the three charges.

The counts include violation of the state gambling law, conspiracy to violate the law, and maintaining a gambling house.

Sixteen men and two women paid fines and costs of $52.50 each the morning of the raid after pleading guilty to loitering in a house of ill fame.

U. S., Russia to Open Exchange Pact Talks

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States and the Soviet Union will open negotiations March 2 in an effort to reach a new agreement on scientific, educational and cultural exchanges. The previous two-year agreement expired last Dec. 31.

The two nations already have exchanged draft treaties which will form the basis for discussion. The terms of the previous agreement, the fourth in a series of two-year pacts which began in 1958, were not completely fulfilled. The Russians canceled a scheduled appearance of the Broadway musical, "Hello, Dolly!" and other exhibitions.

Alabama White Man Charged in Shooting of 5 Negro Pickets

BIRMINGHA,M Ala. (AP) — A white man who shot five Negro pickets in a Birmingham supermarket parking lot was charged today with assault with intent to murder.

Police Chief Jamie Moore said the charges were made against Emory W. McGowan, 23, Birmingham, who turned himself over to police minutes after the shooting Monday night.

★ ★ ★

Officers said McGowan fired at the pickets when they refused to move out of his way. Two of the Negroes were shot in the stomach. The others were less seriously wounded, but all required hospital treatment.

Authorities quoted McGowan as saying the Negroes were blocking his car and refused to move when he asked them to.

The officers said McGowan told them that when the Negroes would not move, he opened his car door and opened fire with a 25-caliber pistol.

The man drove quickly out of the parking lot, accompanied by a woman, according to police. She was questioned and released, McDowell said.

Fred L. Shuttlesworth of Cincinnati, secretary of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, said he was leading a nighttime protest march about a block away from the store, Liberty supermarket. "I heard a bunch of noise that sounded like firecrackers," he said.

County Drop in Traffic Toll Tops in State

The traffic death toll in Oakland County dropped 38 in 1965 from the preceding year, according to final figures released today by the Michigan State Police.

The final count, compiled from police reports throughout the state, set the county's death toll for last year at 164, compared to the record 202 of 1964.

Oakland County's figures represented the largest decline in deaths in any single county in Michigan for the year.

Responsible for the sharp cutback, according to the report, was a drop in deaths on rural roads, where 123 persons lost their lives in 1964.

★ ★ ★

The rural toll last year was 88, while the count of urban deaths fell only slightly from 79 to 76.

Highway fatalities for the state as a whole increased 13 from the 2,114 recorded for 1964.

Genesee County reported a rise from 90 to 97 and Macomb County a jump of 28 deaths to 109 in 1965.

Wayne County, while recording the highest number of deaths of any county — 447, cut its toll by 15 from 1964.

Wilson Urges Soviet Chiefs to Push Peace

MOSCOW (AP) — British Prime Minister Harold Wilson called on Soviet leaders today to help promote unconditional peace talks on Viet Nam before the war there spreads through Asia and possibly the world.

But Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin brushed aside Wilson's appeal, demanding instead acceptance of North Viet Nam's terms for a peace parley. These have been rejected both by the Saigon and U.S. governments.

Kosygin insisted any settlement must fulfill the 1954 Geneva agreements and then he added what amounted to a rejection of Wilson's call:

"A realistic basis for the solution of the Vietnamese problem in the spirit of the Geneva agreement is the known four points of the Democratic Republic of North Viet Nam and proposals of the South Viet Nam National Liberation Front."

No 2-Way Test Slated Over Perimeter Road

BIRMINGHAM — The perimeter road planned for the downtown business district will handle only one way traffic without first being tested as a two-way system.

The determination was made by the City Commission last night in a 4-2 vote following a two-hour debate among members on pros and cons of both plans.

After reaching a decision, the commission directed the administration to prepare a description of properties needed for right of ways so public hearings can be scheduled.

Under the plan, traffic will move counter-clockwise on Oakland, Willits, Chester, Brown and Hunter.

★ ★ ★

In approving the scheme, commissioners rejected the recommendation of the city engineering department to design the road for two-way movement.

AGREEMENT

Mayor Robert Page and Commissioner William Roberts agreed with the recommendation, as did Knowles Smith, manager of the Birmingham-Bloomfield Chamber of Commerce.

They said that establishing a two-way system initially would allow a change to the one-way if it didn't work out.

Starting with a one way system would make it difficult to later go to a two-way system because the city would have obtained only the minimum right of way for the improvement, according to Page.

★ ★ ★

"I've always believed that this would be a one-way road," said Page, "but after listening to the recommendations, I can see the advantages of at least starting with a two-way system."

IMPERATIVE'

"I think it's imperative at this time that we get the maximum right of way," said Roberts. "We may not have another chance."

Roberts warned that the one-way system would probably encourage traffic through residential areas.

Voting in favor of the one-way plan were Commissioners Carl F. Ingraham, Charles F. Clippert, David F. Breck and Ruth B. McNamee. Commissioner William H. Burgum was absent, but voiced his opposition to the two-way system through Breck.

The city's traffic consultants, Lloyd B. Reid and Stanley D. Cool, reiterated their 1965 recommendation that the ring road west of Woodward be one-way counter-clockwise and the portion east of Woodward provide for two-way traffic.

Rabbi Is Reported Still Unconscious

DETROIT (UPI) — Rabbi Morris Adler, 59, remained unconscious and in critical condition today from a bullet wound suffered 10 days ago.

Sinai Hospital doctors said they expected no "sudden change in his condition" and said it was possible he would remain in a coma and in critical condition "for many days."

★ ★ ★

Doctors said it was still possible the rabbi could eventually recover and regain a "satisfying" degree of "functional capacity."

Fair-Housing Booths Slated

Gov. Romney Backs Efforts of Committee

The Birmingham - Bloomfield Committee on Open Occupancy, backed by Gov. Romney, will take to the streets with its fair-housing campaign Saturday.

Committee members will distribute brochures from six booths in Birmingham and Bloomfield Township, according to committee chairman John C. Palms.

Palms said a planning session for the "Information Day" activities will be held at 8:30 tonight in the cafeteria of St. Hugo of the Hills Elementary School, 380 E. Hickory Grove, Bloomfield Hills.

The three-month-old open occupancy committee yesterday received the formal endorsement of Gov. Romney, Palms said.

★ ★ ★

"The right to buy and sell property cannot truly be enjoyed by anyone unless it is equally enjoyed by everyone," Romney said in a statement to Palms.

ENDORSES EFFORT

"I heartily endorse the effort of the Birmingham-Bloomfield Committee on Open Occupancy to place our communities firmly on record in support of equal housing opportunity for all."

The dispersal of brochures Saturday will be the first of three activities planned to mobilize community support for the campaign.

Clergymen have been asked to deliver sermons on open occupancy Sunday. On March 5, committee spokesmen will visit local real estate brokers to determine individual attitudes toward the campaign.

★ ★ ★

Committee booths will be set up Saturday at five locations in Birmingham—in Shain Park, in front of the Municipal Building, in the municipal parking lot at Willets and Bates and at the corners of Maple and Henrietta and Lawndale and Hamilton.

Another booth will be located in the shopping center at Telegraph and Maple in Bloomfield Township.

Pair Clash on Car Safety

John S. Bugas, a Ford vice president, said that with study, "much of Gikas' material has rational, valid answer."

'LURID PICTURES'

But Bugas claimed that Gikas was "a man of science using inflammatory tactics such as calling a gearshift lever a dagger and showing gory, lurid pictures. . .He submits as faith that people could have survived these accidents.

"I was afraid he was going to pitch forward on his head against the microphone—then we could have asked for microphone safety standards," Bugas declared.

Gikas claimed after the hearing, "my professional integrity has been impugned."

★ ★ ★

He said that "the stylist has reigned supreme."

EVOLUTIONARY

Bugas countered that "we are not sacrificing lives and safety for dollars. These things (safety innovations) are evolutionary. Why wasn't he crying for these things 10 years ago?"

"Be careful you don't prohibit or inhibit annual model change," he declared. "If you do, you will cripple the industry."

"We must make our cars safer and we are doing it," he said, "but the auto is a safe vehicle if it is used reasonably."

★ ★ ★

Most of the hearing's earlier hours dealt with a set of vehicle safety measures proposed by Sen. Roger Craig, D-Dearborn. The length of Monday's session enabled the committee to cancel today's planned hearing.

General Motors, reacting to criticism of its 1960-63 rear-engine Corvairs, presented movies, slides and technical data designed to show that the model was not inherently unsafe.

One of Craig's bills would prohibit cars which become unstable at less than a given sideways force — cars which sway out of control rounding turns at certain speeds and sharpness of turn.

★ ★ ★

GM development engineer Frank Winchell declared that under Craig's standards, "the state highways would be bare of all cars built to date because none of the passenger cars made in the world during the 65-year history of the motor vehicle business would qualify."

Over 600 Cast Votes in Orion's Primary

The interest in Lake Orion village government awakened by continual controversy during the past year was demonstrated yesterday when over 600 voters cast their primary ballots.

The total of 602 represented 70 per cent of the total voter registration and was over 120 more than voted in last year's general election.

★ ★ ★

Although there was primary opposition for only three council seats and the office of assessor, the Village party slate, headed by Oakland County Civil Defense Director Wallace C. Crane, outpolled the Citizens party candidates by better than 2-to-1.

Crane, who received 396 votes, will be opposed in the March 14 general elections by incumbent Village President Clarence B. Rossman, who received 163.

Incumbent Clerk Mary Parkinson received 371 votes. She FOG SHROUDS DISASTER SITE — This was the smoldering scene on a high-speed highway near Oceanside, Calif., yesterday after a huge tanker truck and a trailer loaded with new cars collided in dense fog. Many cars then piled into the flaming wreckage. At least five persons were killed. Police said a traffic jam involving 5,000 cars resulted.

Indonesian Fear Mounts

Ouster by Sukarno May Bring Violence

SINGAPORE (AP) — Indonesian President Sukarno's ouster of his army strongman, Gen. Abdul Haris Nasution, could touch off new violence in Indonesia, diplomatic sources said today.

It could lead to "an explosion" between the regular army and some forces loyal to Sukarno, the diplomats said.

★ ★ ★

Sukarno announced in a broadcast Monday that he had fired Nasution as defense minister but did not clarify whether he had also removed him as armed forces chief.

The two titles had been combined. Sukarno said the joint post has been abolished.

LED THE ARMY

Nasution led the army in crushing the Communist-led coup against Sukarno last Oct. 1 and has been responsible for the purge of the Indonesian Communist party since then.

His removal was seen by diplomats here as a last-ditch attempt by the 64-year-old president and his lieutenants to break the tightening hold of the armed forces over the nation's affairs.

★ ★ ★

Sukarno has been trying to restore the balancing act he maintained between the Communist party and the armed forces before the coup attempt.

He reluctantly went along with the armed forces' anti-Communist drive after the coup which left an estimated 80,000 to 150,000 persons dead in its wake.

FEARED MOVE

Some sources said Sukarno may have decided to move against Nasution because he feared the military tribunal now inquiring into the coup attempt would have implicated some of Sukarno's top lieutenants, particularly Foreign Minister Subandrio, and perhaps even Sukarno himself.

The tribunal Monday night sentenced to death the first Communist leader to come before it after convicting him of leading the coup. He is Njono, 38, a pro-Peking member of the party's Central Committee. He has 30 days to appeal to Sukarno against the sentence and said he would do so.

★ ★ ★

During the trial which lasted more than a week, Njono testified that the Communists attempted the revolt because they believed a group of generals was trying to seize power. The generals have denied this.

★ ★ ★

Six army generals were killed by the rebels. Nasution barely escaped, but his 6-year-old daughter died after she was hit by a rebel bullet.

NAVY MINISTER

Along with Nasution, Sukarno dismissed Vice Adm. Martadinata from his post as navy minister. He, too, was a staunch anti-Communist.

Little is known of Sukarno's replacement for Nasution in the Defense Ministry post. He is Maj. Gen. Haji Sarbini, who until his appointment served as veterans minister.

★ ★ ★

From statements Sarbini made Monday before his appointment, he appears to be leftist.

Informed sources in Singapore are unsure of what military support Sarbini could drum up for Sukarno in the event of a showdown with Nasution and the army.

Connor: N. Michigan Part of Area Eligible for U.S. Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Commerce John T. Connor said Monday the northern parts of Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota are eligible to become an Appalachia like development area.

Sens. Patrick McNamara and Philip Hart, Michigan Democrats, said Connor had invited the governors of the three states to come to Washington early in March to sign documents creating an Upper Great Lakes Development Region.

This would be a preliminary step to creation of an Upper Great Lakes Regional Development Commission composed of the governors and a federal co-chairman to be appointed by the President.

The federal-state commission, taking advantage of various studies that have been made of the upper Great Lakes area, would then develop a program of economic assistance for the region.

McNamara and Hart said the northern portion of Michigan has been declared eligible to become part of the three-state region. Connor told them the area conforms to criteria established by the Public Works and Economic Development Act of 1965.

"We are delighted that the secretary of commerce has taken the first step toward getting this vitally needed program under way," McNamara and Hart said in a statement. They added:

★ ★ ★

"Last August, even before the President had signed the bill into law, the six senators from the states concerned wrote Mr. Connor expressing confidence that the 80-county area would meet the eligibility criteria and urging him to act as soon as practical.

★ ★ ★

"Now that this step has been taken, we hope the state governments concerned will join in an effort to complete the organizational phase so that assistance programs to the economically distressed northern regions of Michigan, Minnesota and Wisconsin can get under way without delay."

While the precise boundaries remain to be determined, McNamara and Hart said, all of Michigan's Upper Peninsula and the northern part of the Lower Peninsula will become a part of the development region.

Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis. said Connor invited the governors to meet with President Johnson March 3 to join in establishment of the commission.

★ ★ ★

Nelson said the campaign to set up the commission goes back to a three-state conference in Duluth, Minn., in September, 1963. At that time, Nelson said, he persuaded the late President Kennedy to make a nationwide tour to alert the public to the crisis facing natural resources. He said the first major stop on the President's tour was the Duluth conference.

Jury to Ponder Coed Slayings

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — A jury that has "serious reservations" about capital punishment was expected to begin deliberating before nightfall the fate of James C. Cross, accused of strangling two coeds in a fit of lust.

Two psychiatrists testified for the defense yesterday that Cross was "acting out a sexual daydream" when Susan Rigsby and Shirley Ann Stark were slain last July 18. The defense has built its case around testimony of Cross' mental condition.

The state wants Cross, son of a Fort Worth advertising executive, sent to the electric chair. It contends he was sane when the girls were slain.

Perry L. Jones, chief defense counsel, has never had a client sentenced to death and Dist. Atty. Tom Blackwell has never gotten a death sentence.

The state finished its case Saturday and the defense rested yesterday.

District Judge Mace B. Thurmand said he would present the charge to the jury today and then give both sides three hours for final arguments.

Brilliant Space Scientist, 34, Kills Himself

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A brilliant young space scientist who was chosen by the U.S. Junior Chamber of Commerce as one of 1965's 10 outstanding young men, is dead today, a suicide, police reported.

Donald D. Williams, 34, a scientist with the Communications Satellite Laboratory of the Hughes Aircraft Co., shot himself in the head Monday night while standing in the bathtub at his apartment, officers said.

★ ★ ★

Williams, a native of Santa Monica, Calif., had been undergoing psychiatric treatment, but failed to keep an appointment with his psychiatrist Monday, detectives said.

They said that Williams' wife, Gloria, 45, a former policewoman, tried to dissuade him from taking his life as he loaded a Colt frontier model revolver.

NO CHILDREN

Officers said Williams left a note leaving all his possessions to his wife. They had no children.

As chief scientist at the Hughes laboratory, Williams played an important role in development of the Syncom and Early Bird satellites, officials said.

★ ★ ★

It was his idea, they said, that enabled scientists to place the spinning satellites into proper position in relation to the earth. His solution to the problem was to develop special pulsating jets that nudged the spinning satellites gradually into position.

Holly Primary Heralds Stiff Party Competition

HOLLY — Results of primary balloting here yesterday indicate that the incumbent Union party candidates may be in for some stiff competition in the March 14 general elections.

★ ★ ★

The Citizens party slate, on the ballot for the first time in five years, polled heavy majorities in the voting for the four offices for which there was primary opposition.

A total of 539 voters went to the polls, over 57 per cent of the total registration. The results were as follows:

John Van Deusen, incumbent appointee village president on the Union party ticket, polled 139 votes to defeat his primary opponent, Worth Hitchcock of 711 S. Broad, who received 60.

He will be opposed in the general election by Keith Dryer of 128 Park, who defeated his Citizens party opponent, Dennis Clark of 905 Emma, 275 to 58.

COUNCIL RACE

In the race for the three two-year council nominations, Union incumbents Leo Oberheim (165) and John Ramm (119) and Cleveland Ridley of 806 Richard (147) outpolled Peter Beltemacchi of 201 Park, who received 70 votes.

Their Citizens party opposition in the March 14 elections will be Bruce Dryer of 103 First, who received 308 votes, John MacKenzie of 115 Park, who received 264, and Harry Luzi of 731 Hartner, who received 185.

The only other Citizens party candidate on the primary ballot was Jeanne Smith of 509 Hartner, who received 233 votes for treasurer.

★ ★ ★

She will oppose incumbent Hulda Anderson, who polled 171.

ONE WRITE-IN

Joseph E. Hansard of 202 Grant received one write-in vote on the Citizens ticket for the one-year council term, entitling him to run against incumbent James Greig in the general election.

★ ★ ★

Clerk Betty Oliver and Assessor Grant Hulet, Union party incumbents, will be unopposed on March 14.

News of the Area

School Bonds Win Narrowly

Lapeer Margin Is 33 on $3-Million Issue

LAPEER — A $3-million bond issue for the construction of 67 school rooms squeaked through to victory here yesterday by the narrow margin of 33 votes.

The largest single bond issue ever voted on in the school district was approved by voters, 797 to 764.

Of the school district's 11 precincts, five approved the proposition while six voted against it.

The 1,570 voters who went to the polls constituted an average turnout, according to school officials. There are about 9,000 registered voters in the district.

★ ★ ★

The building program is planned to take care of the district's needs until the 1970's. It provides for the replacement of 12 classrooms and the addition of enough new rooms to house 1,650 additional pupils.

TAX RATE

To support the program, the taxpayer will pay about $2.50 per $1,000 of state-equalized valuation in additional school taxes.

The present tax rate is 17.35 mills or $17.35 per $1,000 of state equalized valuation.

The first buildings are scheduled for use in the fall of 1967. Plans call for immediate construction at Elba and Turrill elementary schools.

★ ★ ★

Six rooms are to be added to Turrill and a new 14-room building will eventually replace the present Elba School.

MAYFIELD SCHOOL

A new site and seven classrooms are planned for the Mayfield School area near the present Mayfield Community School.

A seven-room addition is slated for Maple Grove School; a 10-room addition is scheduled for the junior high school; and a six-room addition is planned for the high school.

A new seven-room unit is to be built in the Clover School area.

Ten additional classrooms will be added wherever they are needed, according to Schools Supt. Clyde Schickler. He noted that Hadley and Attica schools will be among those requiring additions.

★ ★ ★

Plans also call for two temporary units at Elba, one at Maple Grove and two at Mayfield to be ready for use next September.

ROMEO — Five incumbents seeking administrative posts here were assured of a return to office in yesterday's primary vote.

The only contests in the March 14 general election will be for the position of assessor and one of the three vacant council posts.

All but two of the 16 candidates were Republican.

The total vote of 509 was lighter than in the past two years, according to officials. There are about 1,200 registered voters.

★ ★ ★

For the office of assessor Republican incumbent Fred Ebeling received 464 votes. He will be opposed by Democratic challenger George Simcina of 310 Fairgrove, who polled 19 votes.

VYING FOR COUNCIL

Vying for the three council posts will be Republican incumbent Martin Durham, who received 293 votes, Democratic incumbent James Burke who received 24 votes, John Kegler of 244 N. Bailey, a former trustee who received 311 votes and Kenneth Smith of 268 W. St. Clair who tallied 247.

Those who lost out in their bid for council posts were Edward Battani, 109 Cook, 199 votes; Wayne Black, 240 Tillson, 223 votes; and Hugh Gates, 312 Benjamin, 242 votes.

For the office of president, incumbent Bryon E. Nichols received 285 votes to challenger Marvin Sieweke's 277.

★ ★ ★

Norman L. Engle retained the office of clerk with 334 votes to 222 for his challenger Joseph Mellen.

497 VOTES

Incumbent Treasurer Elaine Hesner, who was unopposed, received 497 votes.

★ ★ ★

Incumbent Library Trustees Joseph Rymill and Theodora Raymond were unopposed. Rymill received 374 votes and Mrs. Raymond 387 votes.

In Farmington Township

Cityhood Session Is Routine

FARMINGTON TOWNSHIP—Calm prevailed last night at the William Grace Elementary School as the citizens committee studying the township's cityhood proposal held the fourth of a series of public debates on the matter.

The purpose of the debates is to gather comments and to allow the public to advise the committee on its views. The most outspoken critics of the proposal were unusually quiet last night.

Three previous meetings had produced heated debates on the issue from large audiences. Last night's contrast was striking — a small crowd, compliments to the committee from the audience and a minimum of discussion.

Township Attorney and committee chairman Joseph T. Brennan introduced a subcommittee which presented its conclusions from a study of the local government needs of the community for the present and the future.

★ ★ ★

The three-man group compiled its information from the Michigan Municipal League, Citizens Research Council, Vilican-Leman Planning Consultants and Farmington Township budgeted worksheets.

STUDY DIVISION

Dividing its study into essential and elective services for the community, the subcommittee presented its report as a comparison of these services under both a township and a city form of government.

Listed as essential services were, fire, police, sewer, water, refuse disposal, health, roads, justice and building department. Elective services were suggested as parks and recreation, library, street lighting and sidewalks.

The group emphasized that the elective services they enumerated were only a few of the many that would be available to the community.

★ ★ ★

Brennan announced that the next public meeting would be held March 7 at Longacre Elementary School, completing a circuitous route through the township and allowing all citizens a chance to attend the debates.

ANN ARBOR (AP) — The secretary general of the British Commonwealth, Arnold Centwell Smith, will be featured speaker April 1 at the 43rd annual honors convocation of the University of Michigan.

2 Challengers Poll Largest Milford Vote

MILFORD — A field of eight candidates for two council seats was narrowed to four here yesterday in primary balloting.

The largest number of votes went to the two challengers for the two three-year council posts. Richard G. Skarritt of 1009 Atlantic received 197 votes, the highest number cast for any candidate.

Paul A. Plotzer of 618 S. Main was next with 146 votes.

Incumbent JoAnn Colton received 142 votes and incumbent Hugh P. Davies followed with 117 votes to secure their places on the March 14 general election ballot.

★ ★ ★

Hospital Unit Picks Officers

ALMONT — Mrs. Franklin O'Connor, 26245 Prinz, Armada, has been reelected president of the board of the Women's Auxiliary of Almont Community Hospital.

Chosen to serve with her were Mrs. Walter Parsons of Lakeville, vice president; Mrs. Charles Ferguson of Almont, treasurer; and Mrs. James Smith of Almont, secretary.

The board recently awarded Constance King of Imlay City a practical nurse scholarship for training at the Port Huron School of Practical Nursing.

Ruling on Vote Due Thursday

OXFORD TOWNSHIP — The legality of a special election scheduled in April on the zoning of a mobile home site will be decided Thursday by Circuit Judge Arthur E. Moore.

Moore, after hearing arguments of attorneys yesterday, said he wanted to study the matter further before rendering an opinion.

The property owner, Pontiac attorney Anthony Renne, wants the court to declare the April 11 election illegal.

The township board set the election after receiving petitions from citizens asking for an opportunity to vote on the zoning reclassification.

In December, the board rezoned a 50 acre site on Costs Road north of Seymour Lake Road to allow the mobile home park.

Renne contends that petitions for the referendum vote are unconstitutional because wording gives all property owners the right to vote without regard to residency or age.

Over 600 Cast Votes in Orion's Primary

will be opposed by Citizens candidate Emily Pagel of 28 Highland, who received 159.

★ ★ ★

Ivy M. Sweet of 260 O'Connor received 151 votes as a candidate for treasurer on the Citizens ticket.

INCUMBENT POLLS 364

She will be opposed by incumbent Treasurer Geraldine Campbell, who polled 364.

Appointed Assessor Albert J. Rhodes won the Village party nomination for assessor with 321 votes.

His opponent, Frank Dunaskis of 360 Crescent, received 63, despite the fact that his eligibility as a candidate was challenged by the state elections commissioner because of his apparent residency outside the village.

★ ★ ★

The incumbent assessor, Robert J. Swem, polled 154 votes on the Citizens ticket.

RACE FOR COUNCIL

In the race for council nominations on the Village ballot, incumbents Fred C. Cole (332) and Robert Stokes (283) and Lawrence J. Giddings (332) of 460 Hauxwell led the voting.

They were opposed by Edwin R. Gilmore (101) of 353 Atwater, Harold Roberts (49) of 195 Lake and Herbert Hull (39) of 272 Lakeview.

Incumbent Lewie Rossman led the Citizens party race for council nominations with 133 votes.

The other nominees were Arthur Pagel Sr. of 28 Highland, who polled 104 votes, and Thomas Arthur of 41 N. Andrews, who received 85.

Their opponents were Jessie P. Smith (80) of 356 Newton, Agnes S. Ferguson (60) of 54 Elizabeth and Charles E. Lamb (48) of 703 Central.

'Cash Crop Farmers Earn Biggest Profits'

EAST LANSING (AP) — A survey of Michigan farmers shows the greatest profits are earned by those who produce cash crops, a Michigan State University economist reports.

Potato farms were the most profitable in recent years. In 1964, potato farms had gross incomes of $338 an acre compared with costs of $239, he said.

Taxpayers Protesting Rate May Get More Bad News

WHITE LAKE TOWNSHIP—A home owners' suit seeking tax relief may backfire even before getting into court.

The suit was filed yesterday by more than 50 members of the Twin Lakes Improvement Association against Township Supervisor Edward Cheyz and Treasurer Ronald C. Voorheis.

Informed of the action by The Pontiac Press, Cheyz, while explaining his position, discovered that the home owners seem to be paying a lower assessment than determined by the State Tax Commission when they appealed last year.

"I'll have to contact the commission immediately," said Cheyz. "Maybe something's gone wrong with its calculator. Their figures don't add up with mine.

★ ★ ★

"These people are paying under protest now and when I tell them they're being underassessed, they'll go right through the ceiling," Cheyz said.

The suit contends that the home owners in the subdivision are "illegally being required to pay more than their just and reasonable shares of county, school and township taxes."

In April 1965, the property owners were denied relief for a downward adjustment of assessed valuations and took their case to the State Tax Commission.

The commission, however, affirmed the assessments made by the township and even increased the assessed valuations on 17 of the 68 protesting home owners.

It also established a figure of 40.24 per cent of true cash value to be used in computing the taxes of the home owners who appealed.

SPOT CHECK

Cheyz said a spot check of his assessing books revealed that the 40.24 per cent formula was not used and it appears that the taxes will have to be computed again.

"I really don't know what will happen until I talk to the tax commission," said Cheyz.

Boyle: Be a President, Not a Columnist

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Every clean, red-blooded American boy today has the chance to grow up to be either president of the United States or a newspaper columnist.

BOYLE

Lyndon B. Johnson took the easy way. I took the hard way.

He has to shepherd the political destiny of 195 million people, but look at all the help he gets — some of which he wants. I have only one destiny to guide, but my only weapon is a typewriter ribbon.

* * *

What Lyndon writes winds up on the library shelves. What I write winds up on kitchen shelves — usually with a jar of peanut butter on it. Or it is used to wrap a cod fish.

Yes, I think in all honesty I'd have to advise any boy to aim for the presidency rather than settle for a job as a columnist. It has certain imponderable rewards which a fellow can't overlook.

For example, today is George Washington's 234th birthday, and many department stores are celebrating his contributions to America by holding bargain sales in his honor. Just because he whipped King George III, you can buy a $12 pair of pants for $3 less.

On the other hand, Monday was my 55th birthday, and if any dime store in the land sold a 10-cent item for nine cents — well, I never got the word.

* * *

No, there is no doubt about it. It is better to be a president than a columnist. But I think we can all join hands in mutual thanksgiving that in a democratic world we can afford both — so far. There is a great deal of public interest in columnists. They are supposed to wield much political power behind the scenes.

In this respect I feel I am unique. Starting with William Howard Taft in 1911, the year I was born, my advice — although readily available at all times — had gone unsolicited by 10 consecutive presidents.

But despite my strikeouts as a presidential adviser, newspaper work has given me some interesting chores and creepy moments. Such as —

Visiting 60-odd countries and having a front-line seat at three wars.

* * *

Climbing the Eiffel Tower in Paris and the great Pyramid of Cheops near Cairo.

Attending the hanging of three murderers.

ENCHANTING EVENING

Spending one enchanting evening on the town with film actress Shirley MacLaine.

Wrestling a lame lioness.

Eating a lamb's eyeball, and outshooting a desert sheik in a pistol match in Algeria.

* * *

Receiving an adenoid in a test tube from an ardent admirer.

The question people most often ask a columnist is, "Where in the world do you get your ideas?"

DON'T KNOW

Most columnists don't really know. They simply put a cold chisel to their foreheads — and start quarrying. While this may not seem much of an operation to an outsider, it actually amounts to a fellow undergoing five or six frontal lobotomies a week.

In my case, since 1943, it adds up to more than 5,500 lobotomies. No wonder a columnist gets to feeling a little light-headed sometimes: He's lost a lot of mental ore.

* * *

But before I retire my chisel at 65 I still have 2,399 lobotomies to go — after I finish this one. Pity the poor reader!

But bless him, too. The nicest thing about this trade is that the customers always write. Many readers are really faithful.

LOVELY NOTE

One wrote me a lovely note Monday. "No matter what everybody else says about you, I think you're doing great," it said. "Keep up the good work, honey."

No name was signed to the note.

It just said, "Mother."

The first modern shorthand method was the 500 symbols for words devised in 1858 by Timothy Bright.

BUICK 1,000,000 SWEEPSTAKES
WIN $2332
*Manufacturer's suggested retail price for Special V-6, 2-dr. coupe. Price includes Federal Excise Tax and suggested dealer delivery and handling charge.
Play the nation's newest numbers game. Check your car's registration number. It could be worth $2332 cash to you.
($2332 also happens to be the price of a new Buick Special*. Isn't that a coincidence?)

HERE'S HOW IT WORKS: Check that car registration of yours. If the first symbols of your vehicle identification number on it match up with one of those listed at the right, you might have won yourself $2,332 cash. No slogan to invent, no puzzle to solve. To find out for sure if you won, just hop down to your nearest Buick dealer's. He's got a list of complete winning numbers posted. (No, you don't have to own a Buick to have a winning number.) If your complete vehicle identification number appears on his list—you're in the money.

Residents of Kansas, Missouri and Nebraska may, if they prefer, send in a postcard to R. L. Polk and Co., P. O. Box 1241, Detroit, Michigan 48231 and receive the weekly list of winning numbers by mail for comparison with their own vehicle identification number. An official entry form will be included. Sweepstakes limited to persons over 21 living in the continental U.S. Entries must be postmarked before midnight, Thursday, March 31, 1966. Not valid in Florida or states where prohibited by law.

Time Polishes Image of America's Founder

"Treacherous in private life and a hypocrite in public life" was the verdict of one eminent American.

THOMAS PAINE, pamphleteer and patriot, was delivering what he probably believed to be the final judgment on GEORGE WASHINGTON.

That the first chief executive was the target of scathing attack in his own time is a fact largely forgotten by all but historians.

★ ★ ★

Washington himself, writing in the last year of his presidency to Thomas Jefferson, complained that the partisan press referred to him in "such exaggerated and indecent terms as could scarcely be applied to a Nero, a notorious defaulter or even a common pickpocket."

Yet the WASHINGTON reputation not only survived, it has grown through the years. While the debunking school of historians has been busy cutting down to size other greats of America's early years, recognition of Washington's indispensable contributions to the fledgling Nation has become clearer, respect greater.

Why? It is simply that because without Washington there would have been no country, no subsequent presidents.

★ ★ ★

At the end of the Revolution, whatever discipline and unity had been forged by the war utterly collapsed. Political confusion, economic chaos, even armed rebellion followed victory.

WASHINGTON, who had been the indispensable general in winning the war, was now to be the indispensable civilian in securing that independence in peace—both as a prime mover of the Constitutional Convention that established the framework of the new nation and as its first president.

★ ★ ★

It was JEFFERSON, not PAINE, who delivered the judgment of WASHINGTON that was to be history's: "He was, in every sense of the words, a wise, a good and a great man."

'Retailing Week' Sells Sales Opportunities

At a time when the career spotlight seems focused predominantly on scientific and technological fields it is well to point out the great opportunities offered by America's flourishing economy in the less spectacular though essential service occupations. The field of Retailing offers such a choice.

To give national prominence to the benefits offered in this interesting and expanding calling is the object of the eight annual Careers in Retailing Week that was touched off yesterday.

The need for personnel in the many phases of retailing is urgent. It is pointed out that every sales person who directly contacts the public is backed up by 10 others in various clerical, distributive and supervisory jobs.

★ ★ ★

Locally, the Week features a Host Day for parents of potential retailing recruits, a College Day to beam the selling message to university campuses and two days of meetings devoted to "distributive education" for those interested in merchandising pursuits.

We commend the sponsors of Careers in Retailing Week and urge young people to give earnest consideration to this lucrative and rewarding way of business life.

Racing Crabs Pictured 'Winning by a Claw'

Something called the Crab International Association (CIA) has announced that something called the first International Grand Prix for crabs will be held next month in San Diego.

According to CIA, special grandstands will be erected around the 24-foot oval track to accommodate an expected turnout of 5,000 crab-racing aficionados.

And to think that some people are worried about what other people are going to find to do with all the leisure time that some people say is just around the corner.

Trouble Brewing on N. Viet Trade

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House is brewing up some trouble for the administration's foreign policy.

The developing tempest is over a matter that has been of continuing irritation to Republicans and Democrats alike.

The issue is continued trade with North Viet Nam by foreign nations friendly to the United States. While the administration claims this trade has slowed down in recent months and has taken some steps to curb it, many members of Congress want an outright ban.

Several bills have been introduced to close U.S. ports to ships which carry cargoes to North Viet Nam. Cargoes loaded in American ports generally are not of military value and are unloaded in ports of friendly nations. However, proponents of the legislation claim, the ships involved visit American ports after having unloaded other cargoes in North Viet Nam.

★ ★ ★

Rep. Charles E. Chamberlain, R-Mich., who has waged a long campaign against the practice, claims that 401 ships flying flags of non-Communist nations arrived in North Viet Nam in 1964. In 1965, Chamberlain said, the number dropped to 119.

GOVERNMENT FIGURES

Chamberlain got his figures from the Defense Department and they deal only with unclassified information.

"The true figure is more than double what we are being told," he said, "and it amounts to more arrivals by free world ships than by Communist ships."

★ ★ ★

Most of the ships, he said, are chartered to Communist nations and carry Communist goods which the Defense Department claims are not vital to North Viet Nam's war effort. But, he emphasized, they release Communist ships.

★ ★ ★

More than half the non-Communist ships that visited North Viet Nam ports in 1965, Chamberlain said, were registered under the flag of the United Kingdom.

Sponsors of the bills to close U. S. ports to ships trading with North Viet Nam aren't too optimistic about winning their fight in that field. But they have another plan.

They are going to offer amendments to the annual foreign aid and Defense Department appropriation bills.

They almost succeeded with that move last year when the House approved an outright ban against aid to those nations. The Senate refused to go along with a strict ban and voted to allow the President to decide whether continued aid was in the best interest of the United States. The House backed down by a vote of 174 to 164, a margin slim enough to be overcome in a congressional election year like 1966.

David Lawrence Says:

Viet Nam Critics Lack the Facts

WASHINGTON — Recent hearings before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee — particularly the comprehensive statements by the former chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, and Secretary of State Dean Rusk — produced questions and answers which undoubtedly clarified the thinking of many citizens about the Viet Nam war.

★ ★ ★

The critics, however, appear to have missed the main point, which is that a president has the responsibility for acting on the basis of information available to him at the moment of decision.

The president has at his side Cabinet officers and military men. Always at hand are up-to-the-minute reports from our representatives abroad — ambassadors and intelligence personnel, civilian and military.

★ ★ ★

It is easy enough for a senator to come out, for example, with the advice that bombings shouldn't have been resumed after the recent truce. Such a critic cannot know all the facts, and, moreover, he doesn't have the responsibility for making the decision itself.

★ ★ ★

If the critic is wrong, no serious harm is done. But the president is every minute responsible to the people and a mistake on his part could be fatal.

MASTER POLITICIAN

Mr. Johnson happens to be a master politician and knows very well that it's popular to call for an ending of the war, as some senators are doing. But he knows also that to give the enemy what it wants would only lead to a larger war. Statesmen have been fooled by appeasement before.

★ ★ ★

Mr. Johnson can't take chances. That's why reckless critics appear unwittingly to be giving comfort to the enemy and causing its resistance to be prolonged.

Criticism of domestic policy is one thing, but criticism of foreign policy is quite different.

★ ★ ★

Almost everybody, for instance, knows the meaning of an internal policy, and the disputes are not likely to prove dangerous to the immediate life of the nation. But foreign policy sometimes involves the risk of losing some lives in order to forestall a larger conflict in which sacrifices would be enormous.

CAN HELP

No president would ever purposely or deliberately lead the American people into a large war. But misguided and careless critics can help to do it.

They have a feeling that there's no harm in airing their views, sometimes to satisfy exhibitionist tendencies. They regard as a mere exercise in academic debate the discussion of ways and means of getting out of the war at any price. The enemy, however, construes this as a sign of weakness and irresoluteness.

The President has been firm, but cautious. In the main, he has upheld the principles for which America fought two world wars and the Korean war.

★ ★ ★

The "peace offensive," for example, which he undertook has been sneered at by some of the critics as mere showmanship. Yet, it has had a good effect.

COMING AROUND

The other nations of the world, large and small, are now slowly but surely veering toward the American viewpoint and are beginning to ask themselves what they can do to help, even though it might in some cases be token aid.

On the whole, the United States is making progress, both in the war and in the mobilization of world opinion.

Captious criticism at home encourages the enemy to think the American people are not behind their President.

★ ★ ★

Maybe it is time, after all, for a "vote of confidence?"

CAN DO IT

And Congress can do this by reaffirming the joint resolution passed in August 1964.

This authorized the President to use whatever armed forces are necessary to safeguard the freedom and independence of a nation which is under the protection of the Southeast Asia treaty. The resolution was overwhelmingly ratified by both houses of Congress, with only two dissenting votes.

American foreign policy has had its setbacks. But it still stands for the concept of a universal alliance of peoples, based on the right of each nation to determine its own form of government and to be immune from aggression.

★ ★ ★

If this principle is staunchly maintained in Southeast Asia, the Americans who have been lost in the wars of the last half-century will not have died in vain.

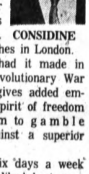
Bob Considine Says:

They'd Call Washington a Real Oddball Today

NEW YORK — If the father of our country came back today, dressed as he liked to during his days as a slave-holding Virginia planter, he'd be locked up.



CONSIDINE

He wore long colored silk stockings, lace waistcoats and big silver buckles on his shiny pumps. Bought his clothes in London.

Big George had it made in those pre-Revolutionary War days — which gives added emphasis to the spirit of freedom that moved him to gamble everything against a superior force.

He worked six days a week at the job he liked best, running his big and profitable farm and other interests, went to Pohick Church on Sundays if he felt like it, raised wheat and tobacco, operated a water-powered flour mill, blacksmith shop, brickyard, and sold salted shad, bass and herring to neighboring Negroes.

His slaves liked him, seldom ran away. His fellow Virginia gentlemen—the Randolphs, Byrds, Lees, Tylers, Harrisons, etc. — were more amused than annoyed by such questionable public statements as his "I am principled against this kind of traffic in the human species."

As president, George was hardly a backslapper. Some of the more ardent revolutionists accused him of trying to act like a king.

★ ★ ★

He rode through the streets of New York and Philadelphia in the handsomest carriage in the land, drawn sometimes by four and other times by six horses, with richly uniformed outriders.

SOCIALLY ALOOF

He returned no social calls, stopped shaking hands and acknowledged all introductions with a slight bow.

At state receptions he generally appeared dressed in black velvet, yellow gloves, powdered wig, cocked hat with an ostrich plume and carrying a sword in a white-leather scabbard.

He had turned to gold for his buckles. He was not a dude, as some of the rougher congressmen came to believe.

★ ★

He was a Virginia gentleman attempting to bring a bit of style and solemnity to a brawling young nation that had no great assurance that it could get away with what it had done to Mother England.

The "rights" of African new nations (tribes) to independence but no obligation to prove they deserve it or are able to govern themselves.

Reader Comments on Federal Controls

The U.S. Constitution tells us what to do to remain free. How can we remain free the way the Federal Government is taking over in our school systems? Who asked for all this Federal aid? Not the citizens, but the school administrator's organization—the very people our school boards hire to run our schools.

★ ★ ★

I note the Federal Government is now getting in the newspaper business. Is it not time to call a halt? Are our school administrators working for the local taxpayers who have provided new school buildings and nice administration buildings, or are they working toward more Federal control whereby they will be able to brainwash our children with Federal textbooks and brainwash the public with Federal newspapers? Doesn't the Constitution mean anything any more?

Cries for Violence Wobble Colombia

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

Last June in Bogota, Colombia, a young defrocked Roman Catholic priest called for violent revolution to "provide food for the hungry, clothes for the naked" and help to realize the aspirations of Colombians.

In Colombia's Atlantic port of Barranquilla, a former military dictator campaigning in next month's congressional elections says he will "take power either by votes or arms."

Both were undisguised calls for violence coming from NEWSOM opposite ends of the political spectrum.

Last week, the young former priest, 37-year old Camilo Torres Restrepo, was found dead, a U.S.-made M1 rifle in his hand, among five Castro-Communist guerrillas killed in a clash with an army patrol in Colombia's northern Santander Province adjoining Venezuela.

* * *

The former military dictator, no Red, was Lt. Gen Gustavo Rojas Pinella, who seized power in 1953 at the peak of Colombia's so-called civil war and ruled until he himself was deposed in 1957.

LOST RIGHTS

Rojas was deprived of his civil and political rights and officially has no right to run in the presidential elections which will come in May.

But running he is. And he is given at least an equal chance of returning to power.

The cases of the young defrocked priest and the former dictator illustrate the illness that besets Colombia.

Rich in minerals and with a varied climate which permits her a diversity of agriculture greater than the United States and Canada combined, she remains a center of ill health, illiteracy, restlessness and violence.

AGREEMENT

With the downfall of Rojas Pinilla in 1957, the two major political parties, the warring Conservatives and Liberals, agreed that for the next 12 years they would share in government, equal representation in government and the courts right down to the municipalities.

Under the agreement, the first president was Alberto Lleras Carmargo, a Liberal. Guillermo Leon Valencia, a Conservative, followed.

For awhile, the idea worked. And as late as 1963, Colombia was regarded as one of the bright hopes of the U.S.-sponsored Alliance for Progress — an example of how a nation with proper help could, by democratic processes, institute land and tax reforms and build its agriculture, education and industry.

But they were dreams which were not to be fulfilled. A politically deadlocked congress refused to undertake either tax or land reforms.

REFUSE CREDIT

Factories closed, the poor became poorer and finally the United States and other creditors refused to advance more money.

Valencia, said the London Times, fiddled while Bogota rioted.

Belatedly, reforms have been undertaken, but the country still is under a state of siege. And behind the coming elections lies the threat that the army will take over.

Our Merchant Marine—2

Viet War Straining U.S. Ship Capacity

EDITOR'S NOTE—This is the second in a three-part series on the dilemma of the U.S. Merchant Marine, which is threatening to founder in the face of foreign competition. The fleet is caught between those who favor dropping support and subsidies and those who favor expansion.)

By BEM PRICE

WASHINGTON (AP) — There are now 949 ships flying the U.S. flag. This total will be increased shortly to 999 as the nation taps its 2,536-ship reserve fleet to meet the increased shipping needs of the Viet Nam war. The active Soviet merchant fleet approximates 1,500 ships.

Of the U.S. total, 300 ships are engaged in domestic trade, an area closed to foreign ships.

Of the 649 American ships in world trade, 310 operate under federal subsidies. This subsidy now amounts to $273-million annually.

There are 270 bulk cargo carriers — tramps — which are unsubsidized. These ships, all built over 20 years ago, are now approaching the end of their useful economic life.

Whether these tramps should be replaced, chiefly at government expense, is a major part of the debate in and out of government.

Included in the nation's present blue water fleet are 69 ships owned by the federal government and manned by merchant seamen. These ships are usually operated by private firms under lease from the Defense Department's Military Sea Transport Service.

RESERVE FLEET

In addition, about 100 ships have been withdrawn from the reserve fleet of 2,536 ships, to carry war cargoes to Viet Nam. The reserve fleet is made up of World War II freighters laid up after the war ended. The cost of taking them out of mothballs about $400,000 per ship.

There is no doubt that the war in Viet Nam is straining the resources of the Merchant Marine. MSTS now has 125 ships on the Southeast Asia run, including 55 to 60 of the nation's fast cargo-liners. The transfer of these ships from the commercial sea lanes has, of course, affected the nation's foreign exchange earnings.

★ ★ ★

As the war in Viet Nam began escalating, U.S. policy makers assumed foreign flagships could be chartered to help meet the increased shipped needs. The assumption was false.

At one point last summer, 50,000 tons of war materiel had piled up in West Coast ports. MSTS sought to charter a Mexican ship only to discover the Mexican government had forbidden all ships under its registry to sail Vietnamese waters.

WOULDN'T SAIL

MSTS then turned to two Greek-owned ships, offering a $10,000 bonus in one instance. The crews refused to sail to Viet Nam. Three Japanese lines also declined to accept charters to carry materiel and food to Viet Nam.

In 1936 Congress passed the Merchant Marine Act which has been the basis of U.S. policy since—more or less.

Section 101 of the act declares: "It is necessary for the national defense and the development of its foreign and domestic commerce that the United States shall have a Merchant Marine (a) sufficient to carry its domestic water-borne commerce and a substantial portion of the water-borne export and import foreign commerce . . . at all times, (b) capable of serving as a naval and military auxiliary in time of war or national emergency, (c) owned and operated under the United States flag by citizens insofar as may be practicable and (d) composed of the best-equipped, safest and most suitable type of vessels constructed in the United States and manned with a trained and efficient citizen personnel."

How effectively this policy has been implemented can be judged by the fact that only 8.5 per cent of all U.S. foreign trade is now carried in U.S. bottoms. Whether this constitutes a "substantial" portion within the meaning of the law is debatable.

Utica Juniors Going Abroad

By DOLLY GASKILL

Several juniors at Utica High School have been chosen to be exchange students this summer.

Lorraine Baldyga will visit Spain; Diane Wittwer, Germany; and Ralph Harms, Finland.

Mark Craft will visit Sweden and Nancy Vaught, Holland. Randy Posorek, awaiting his letter of acceptance, plans to visit a European country this summer.

The students were chosen by the Ann Arbor-Washtenaw Council of Churches for the Youth for Understanding organiaztion.

★ ★ ★

Each student will provide his own finances and will return to Utica in late summer.

ROLES ARE CAST

Leads and alternates have been chosen for the musical, "South Pacific," which will be presented March 31, April 1 and 2.

Emile De Becque will be played by Rick Linden; his alternate, Steve LeFever. Nelle will be Linda Kosorski; alternate, Diane Fisher.

Bloody Mary is played by Chris Grove; alternate, Shirley Slachter.

Dennis Edwards plays Lt. Cable; alternate, Chris Spenser.

'LUTHER BILLIS'

Luther Billis will be played by Don Olendorf, with Ken Koltys his stand-in. Jane Specht will play Liat with Linda Eikhoff, alternate.

Tickets go on sale this week at the ticket booth.

Last Wednesday the junior class held a meeting to discuss the class trip.

★ ★ ★

Marvin Lichtenstein, instructor and sponsor of the Washington Club, presented details on the June 20 Washington, D.C. trip.

TURN IN SLIPS

All juniors interested in going on the annual trip are asked to turn in permission slips as soon as possible.

A Korean child will be adopted by the Student Council. The council plans to set aside $120 per year for the child.

It is hoped that, when the youngster is older, he or she will be able to visit the United States.

The Future Teachers Association, sponsored by Ruth Turnbull, will spend the weekend of March 19 in Capac.

EYE CONTRAST

The students will be able to compare and contrast a country school system with schools in the urban areas.

April 15 the FTA will host Capac's FTA at Utica.

The new Art Club, sponsored by Donald Enger, art instructor, will plan trips to art institutions and exhibits.

★ ★ ★

There will be no projects given to members and it is hoped that club members will develop an interest in culture.

Kettering Ski Team in Meet

State Competition Held at Traverse City

By JAMIE SCHUTT

Waterford Kettering varsity ski team members traveled to Traverse City last weekend to participate in the annual state ski meet held this year at Sugar Loaf Mountain.

Carrying Kettering's hopes was sophomore Robert Trepp, who has had nine years of racing competition experience. Trepp placed first in a recent interscholastic meet at Mt. Holly, against competition from fifteen schools.

Others on the boys' team are Andrew Honchell, David Chambers, Michael Borer, Stephen T. Peterson, James Roe, Andrew Blain, Gary Quitiquit, Bruce Stone, Paul Knox and Robert Scarlotti.

Girl racers are Pamela Hicks, Pamela Meyer, Mary Strohmeyer, Penelope Young, Hazel Newmarch, Christine Quinn and Jamie Schutt.

★ ★ ★

George Perry is the coach.

Spanish students from Kettering and Waterford Township High will attend a performance of the Spanish ballet with Jose Greco at the Masonic Temple this week.

Following the ballet, the group will dine at a Spanish restaurant.

Psychology Discussed at Brother Rice

By JOHN PALMS

Brother Rice High School Mother's Club featured as a guest speaker, Brother John M. Egan, F.S.C.H. last Wednesday.

He addressed interested parents on "Some Dynamics of Adolescent Psychology."

In his talk, Brother Egan stressed communication, since this is one of the main sources of peace in the family.

He said people should try to understand one another yet respect each individual person. He urged more two-way conversation between the generations. He said that all decisions between parents and teens should be based on mutual maturity and intelligence.

★ ★ ★

Brother Rice seniors have decided to donate a podium as their gift to the school.

At this time, we do not have one for the convenience of speakers addressing school groups.

USEFUL ITEM

Seniors feel it is a necessary and useful item, and therefore, a worthwhile gift.

The Varsity Club raised its membership in the last year to fifty members.

Elected officers of the club are: Carl Gromek, president; Greg Pilette, vice president; Jim Belknap, treasurer; and Jim Thorson, secretary.

U-M Friars Will Appear at Seaholm

By MARGARET HONNOLD

Students and teachers at Seaholm High School will have the chance to hear the U-M Friars in a special school performance next Monday.

The Friars, a well-known and talented group of singers are sponsored by the American Field Service and Youth for Understanding committees.

The money raised by this performance will be used to bring foreign students to Seaholm next year.

Other money-raising projects being considered, include the selling of candy and geraniums.

One week will be set aside as AFS week as in past years.

This year, however, no food will be sold during school hours. Homerooms will still plan their own projects and junior homerooms will still compete to get the foreign students.

There will be a breakfast bar before school, a combo clash and other extra activities.

The cast of West Side Story has agreed to give a performance for junior high students and turn the profits over to the committees.

Three more money-raising projects for the Birmingham Bloomfield Teen Center are being planned. March 2 and 5, a travelogue with films entitled "Windjammer to Australia" and "From Coast to the Hinterlands" will be presented at the Birmingham Community House.

During the spring a name attraction will be brought to Seaholm or Groves for a benefit performance. Under consideration are the Kingsmen or the Byrds.

Army Captain Talks on Viet at South Lyon High

By SANDY RICHARDSON

History and government students at South Lyon High School were honored with the presence of Capt. A. A. Hyde of the U. S. Army last week.

He is a correspondent and long-time friend of George Sparrow, the American history teacher.

Hyde discussed the situation in Viet Nam, where he is stationed.

He feels the majority of the Americans are backing our men with the kind of support that will be needed to win peace.

New members of the Mary B. Holt Chapter of the National Honor Society, will be announced Thursday.

The six seniors who were selected during their junior year are Margie Jones, Alan Weamer, Joyce Canfield, Steve Peavyhouse, Dan La Mont, and Pat Colestock.

Official Senior Day Slated at Pontiac Central Friday

By HELEN COLLIAS

Pontiac Central High School has designated an official senior day for Friday the date of Central's last home basketball game. All seniors will dress up and show the dignity and spirit of the Mighty Class of 1966.

In order to recognize outstanding seniors, class officers asked all groups, clubs, and activities to choose one senior as their representative.

Those selected will be honored during the halftime program.

Senior ribbons will be sold by class officers to distinguish the seniors from the underclassmen and at the game the seniors will have a special section in the stands.

Discussed at the recent Student Council meeting was a sock hop. Representatives chose Friday as an ideal time.

Student bands will provide musical entertainment.

Two finalists in the National Merit Scholarship test from Pontiac Central High School were announced recently. They are seniors Jan Carline and Lorraine King.

Receiving congratulations is Ronald Lewis, Central's Chief, recently appointed to West Point.

Three junior girls from Central have been chosen by the Youth For Understanding Program to spend the summer in Europe.

Nancy Appleton will visit Sweden, Christine Blakeney, Spain; and Jo Lynn Yansen, the Netherlands.

Country Day Senior Active Candy Striper

By LORNA RICHMAN

Bloomfield Country Day is proud of senior Lynn Auer.

Lynn has been a Candy Striper at Pontiac General Hospital for over two years. Lynn received her cap in 1964 and since that time she had given more than 200 hours of her time to others.

Last Tuesday, she was awarded a certificate for 100 hours of work, a pin for 150 hours, and a red stripe for her cap recognizing the more than 200 hours that she has given.

Lynn plans to become a practical nurse.

B. C. D.'s members of the Birmingham-Bloomfield Teen Center were announced. Elaine Horigian, our original board member, and Wendy Mitchell have represented the school since the beginning of the year.

★ ★ ★

Mary Ann Bricker is working on the membership committee and Mary Ellen Bergmoser, Martha McNaughton and Carol McNaughton are selling movie tickets.

Father's Day at Kingswood

By CINDY GRISSOM

Students at Kingswood School will entertain their fathers on Friday at the annual Father's Day.

Fathers will attend a normal school day from 8:20 a.m. to 4:10 p.m.

The welcoming committee, chaired by Joanne McNamee, has chosen the theme, "The Man in Our Life."

Fathers will see a program that includes a play, performed by the eighth graders, a modern dance recital, a selection from "Patience," and a skit, offered by the seventh graders.

National Merit Scholarship finalists were announced this week.

Six girls from the senior class have excelled in the rigorous examinations. This is the greatest number of finalists Kingswood School has had.

These girls are Diane Arnkoff, Cynthia Cahn, Chris Darwell, Mary Jane Hilder, Charlotte Killingsworth, and Jane King.

Retreat House Paid Visit by Marian Juniors

By PATRICIA POLMEAR

Twenty-nine junior Sodalists of Marian High School visited St. Lawrence Retreat House, St. Clair, last weekend.

Sisters Martha Marie and Hermene accompanied as faculty moderators.

Final judging for Marian High's third annual literary magazine, "Trouvere" was held Friday.

Betty Gottschalk, student editor, said the title meant as "a French folk singer." Selection was based on the idea that the magazine would offer students "an outlet to sing their ideas."

Adelphian Students to Take 'Home Leave'

By ARDYTHE GALLANT

Thursday Adelphian Academy's 380 students will scatter over Michigan, Ohio, and Illinois for "home leave." Some will even go as far as Tennessee and into Canada.

Many haven't been home since Christmas so this weekend is looked forward to with anticipation.

Cranbrook School to Offer Foreign Student Fund Fair

By RICHARD BOSLEY

Cranbrook School will hold its eighth annual Foreign A-Fair Saturday from 7 to 9:30 p.m.

Money earned is earmarked for the Foreign Student Fund, which in turn supports the American Field Service, the English-Speaking Union, and similar organizations.

Ben Snyder, assistant head master, and students John Vogt, Kip Craig, Day Krolik and John Isaitt handled coordinating details for the fair.

The idea is not unique. Many other schools have similar fund-raising plans.

★ ★ ★

At Cranbrook, however, it has grown into the biggest nonsocial event in the school year.

GREW IN TIME

Early fairs were small, but they grew over the years due to the imagination and initiative of various chairmen. Last year the fair earned $1,700.

It is an all-school project; the money is not raised by a limited number working on a campaign drive, but by a majority of the student body.

A number of booths sell various items or have games of chance and skill. The booths are conceived, constructed and run by each class, and by various school organizations, such as the Prefects, the Student Cabinet, and the Dad's Club.

★ ★ ★

This year's A-Fair will feature a gambling casino, a cafe, a sports booth, a spin-art painting center, a china break, an auction and several more.

POPULAR BOOTH

One of the most popular is the Prefect booth. There students can throw buckets of water, cream pies, flour, and other things at the Prefects.

The Mother's Club, headed by Mrs. Colin John and Mrs. Gordon Craig, deserves much credit for its bake sale and the general arrangement of the fair, including the collection of trading stamps, which were used to obtain the costlier prizes.

This year Cranbrook has an AFS student from Chile, Octavio Pena, and two ESU boys from England: Mark Packard and Bill Simpson.

★ ★ ★

The Foreign Student Fund helps to pay for their books, clothes, transportation, and other incidentals.

★ ★ ★

In addition, the Fund also helps Cranbrook boys go abroad.

Both of this year's AFS candidates, Jon Pavloff and Chuck Monroe, are scholarship students and are eligible for financial aid.

The fair will be held Saturday from 7 to 9:30 p.m.

Milford Choir Takes a Trip

By RICHARD WIXOM

Sixteen members of the Milford High School choir recently went to West Bloomfield for an afternoon Wayne-Oakland County League choir rehearsal.

The choir, composed of twelve seniors and four alternates from each league school sang its first of four concerts Wednesday evening.

The MHS choir has scheduled assembly programs at Highland and Milford Junior High Schools today and Friday.

Two Milford bandsmen won first division ratings at the district solo and ensemble festival.

★ ★ ★

Michael Arthur, with a drum solo, and Richard Wixom, baritone horn soloist, will now compete in the statewide festival March 19.

Representatives of the North Central Association will be at Milford High School Monday for another of the association's periodic accreditation evaluations.

Sacred Heart Senior Scholarship Finalist

By MARY ELLEN QUINN

Maree Russo, a Sacred Heart Academy senior, has been named among the finalists in the National Merit Scholarship Contest.

Maree is vice president of student government and president of the Duchesne Mission Unit.

Last week, a new program to aid the poor was begun. Each girl was asked to use her individual talents to produce something for those in need.

★ ★ ★

The senior class sent packages to soldiers in Viet Nam.

Last week was also highlighted by an on-campus holiday. The junior class planned the activities and the seniors presented "The Trysting Place," by Tarkington.

St. Lawrence Students See Talent Show

By DAVID HOHENDORF

The talent of fellow students was the topic of conversation at Utica's St. Lawrence High School this week.

To mark the end of festivities before the Lenten season, students enjoyed classmates' performances in the school talent show held today.

Musical talent comprised a majority of the acts, which included pantomimes, bands, folk song duets, and vocal groups with student piano accompaniment.

Initiated by school administrators, class officers of the four grade levels assisted in planning and organizing the event.

Proceeds from student donations will be invested in audio-visual aids for the high school.

YEARBOOK DRIVE

The yearbook Patron Drive has been completed.

Finalists will be chosen for the school speech contest this week. Judges will be administrators from various schools and institutions.

City Ordinance Recommended

28-Member Human Relations Unit Urged

BY L. GARY THORNE

An ordinance to create a 28-member city Human Relations Commission was proposed last night to the City Commission.

The proposed ordinance, presented by the existing Human Relations Advisory Committee, is aimed at improving the effectiveness of the current committee.

The commission received the proposed ordinance for study at a future informal meeting.

Irving Steinman, chairman of the committee set up in 1959, stated three reasons for establishing through a city ordinance a Pontiac Human Relations Commission.

Steinman said the committee thought it would:

- Provide for a more representative group of the Pontiac community.
- Give a clearer understanding of the functions and duties of such a group.
- And provide for continuity and more effective human relations work.

The proposed ordinance is a revised draft of one presented to the human relations committee last month by Mayor William H. Taylor Jr.

The commission would be composed of 28 members, representing a cross section of the community and its groups.

Steinman, in his letter to the commission, listed 21 areas that might be represented on the proposed commission. In addition, one citizen would be appointed from the city's seven voting districts.

★ ★ ★

Commission members would serve three-year terms, but of the first 28 members — 10 would serve one year, nine would serve two years and nine for three years.

The appointments would be made by the mayor with the approval of the City Commission.

The human relations commission would meet once each month and among other duties would be required to submit an annual report of its activities to the City Commission.

Established as an advisory group to the City Commission, the human relations commission would operate in five broad areas:

★ ★ ★

- The commission's function would be to foster mutual understanding and respect among all racial, religious and ethnic groups in the city.
- It would encourage equality of treatment and nondiscrimination.
- The commission would cooperate with governmental and nongovernmental agencies and other organizations in the human relations field.
- The commission would study and make recommendations concerning problems of prejudice, intolerance, bigotry and discrimination "in all or any fields of human relationship."
- The commission would receive and investigate complaints and initiate its own investigations of racial, religious, or ethnic group tensions, and-or discrimination against individuals, organizations or corporations or any group of persons.

★ ★ ★

The ordinance would further provide that "all public statements shall be made in writing by the officers or their delegated members."

The proposed ordinance directs that the human relations commission would seek to correct discrimination practices through "negotiation and education."

Problems that the proposed commission can not solve are to be referred to appropriate agencies or organizations, including the Michigan Civil Rights Commission.

★ ★ ★

Still another function of the Pontiac Human Relations Commission would be to recommend legislation to the City Commission in the field of human relations.

The City Commission did not set any date for consideration of the ordinance.

Contract Approved for Survey of Streets

A contract was approved last night by the City Commission for a study to update the city's 1957 major thoroughfare plan.

Barton-Aschman Associates, Inc., are to review the city's master plan for major streets in the $16,000 traffic survey.

The survey will include a study of traffic problems in the downtown area, its proposed development around the auto plants and cross-town traffic movement.

The new study is aimed at providing over-all planning for the development of the city's street systems.

The Barton - Aschman firm made the original traffic survey eight years ago.

The latest study is to be completed by early May.

In other business last night, the commission accepted the resignation of William P. Babcock, 107 Elizabeth Lake, from the Pontiac General Hospital Board of Trustees.

Babcock, a hospital trustee since the board was established in 1952, resigned because he has accepted an out-of-state hospital post.

★ ★ ★

The commission approved the sale of two city-owned lots on Bay, north of Herrington School, Marie J. Poole made the purchase offer of $2,000 for the city property.

CONTRACT APPROVED

A contract with Southkent Wrecking Co. of Byron for demolition work in the R20 urban renewal project was also approved last night. The contract is for $4,825, the lowest of 10 bids.

In other business, the commission authorized city administrators to seek title from the State Land Board for four parcels of land in the city.

The state board holds the titles to these tax-delinquent lands and the city can acquire the property by merely asking for it.

★ ★ ★

Some of the lots are vacant, but two have condemned houses on them.

LOCATIONS OF LOTS

The lots to be acquired by the city are located at 51-53 Hibbard, fronting on the Clinton River; two are at 107-111 Irene; one is on Thomas, next to the river; and one lot is on Hilldale.

In still other action, the commission approved transfer of a Class C-licensed business from 924-926 Joslyn to 938-940 Joslyn.

The commission received a formal order from the state, giving notification that all stopping, standing and parking is prohibited on US10 (Telegraph) from Square Lake Road to Dixie Highway.

★ ★ ★

In other business, the commission authorized an absentee voter counting board for the March 7 primary.

DEPARTMENT COMMENDED

A letter was received from Circuit Judge Arthur E. Moore commending the work of the Youth Assistance Department during 1965.

★ ★ ★

At the request of Commissioner James H. Marshall, the city attorney was directed to investigate the possibilities of a city ordinance prohibiting door-to-door selling by children after dark.

★ ★ ★

Marshall said such selling activity posed a safety problem.

City Affairs

Project in Dearborn Said Housing Model

City officials last night pointed to a Dearborn housing project as a model of what they hope to see built for senior citizens in Pontiac.

So private that a peephole is provided in each unit's front door, Dearborn's senior citizen housing project was specifically designed for the elder citizen.

Mayor Pro Tem Leslie H. Hudson characterized Dearborn's low-cost Townsend Towers as appearing like a "resort hotel."

HUDSON

Hudson, who visited Townsend Towers last week along with Commissioner Fowler Sr. and City Engineer Joseph E. Neipling, last night related details of the senior citizen apartments.

"We came away very much impressed," said Hudson. "Townsend Towers did not look like federal public housing. It looks more like a resort hotel.

FOWLER

TERMED 'BENEFIT'

"It is a benefit to the surrounding neighborhood," he added, "You could feel public acceptance of its beauty."

Commissioner Fowler confirmed Hudson's observation. "When we arrived," he said, "I didn't think we were at the right place."

Neipling added that the exterior of Townsend Towers had the appearance of a quality apartment building.

He said the building was well-designed with little things to accommodate the senior citizen.

AGE, INCOME

NEIPLING

According to Hudson, requirements for moving into the apartments are age and limited income. A person must be 62 years old.

A single person can move in with an annual income of not more than $3,000, while the income limit for a couple is $3,600 and a couple with a child cannot have more than $4,200 income or a net worth of over $15,000.

The maximum income requirements rise slightly after a year's occupancy.

Dearborn has 79 units in its Townsend Towers with a waiting list of 400 prospective tenants. Each unit is equipped with furniture, a television and facilities assuring privacy, said Hudson.

KITCHENETTE

There is a kitchenette in each unit, located adjacent to a combination living room-dining area. The bedroom is good size with built-in wardrobe closets.

Each unit also has a private bath, a utility storage area, linen closet and coat closet.

The Townsend apartments rent for $45 to $95 per month, including all utilities except telephone. An extra $14 for furniture is the only other monthly charge.

Six stories high, Townsend Towers has four ground-level two-bedroom units and 75 one-bedroom units.

PRIVATE BALCONY

Each apartment unit above the first floor has its own private balcony. The balconies are designed to provide a good view for all apartments.

All floors of the apartment building are serviced by centrally located self-operating elevators. Two well-lighted stairways are also provided.

Rubbish and trash disposal is handled by a centrally located incinerator shaft with a chute opening on each floor.

Each kitchenette also has a garbage disposal for food wastes.

Coin-operated washers and dryers provide the basement laundry facilities.

RECREATION ROOM

A recreation room is also available to tenants, including a built-in shuffle board, said Hudson.

The mayor pro-tem said a ping pong table has proved to be a little too much activity and is being removed. The average age of the tenants is 72 years.

The apartment development, which cost $1,081,425, also has adequate parking. The landscaping around the building includes a patio with a "promenade" area for strollers.

Form Cub Pack for Handicapped

A Cub Scout pack for handicapped boys has been organized and received its charter last night at the Knights of Pythias hall, 948 Voorheis, Waterford Township.

★ ★ ★

Sponsored by K. of P. Fellowship Lodge No. 277, the pack is the first of its kind in the area.

Albert Probert is cubmaster. An assistant will be chosen at the next meeting Monday night.

All meetings will be held at the K. of P. hall.

★ ★ ★

Lester G. McKinney, district chairman of organization, Boy Scouts of America, laid plans for the new pack.

$520,000 Consumers Deal OK'd

Purchase of a two-story service building and adjacent property from Consumers Power Co. for $520,000 was approved last night by the City Commission.

Located on the edge of downtown Pontiac, just west of the city's loop road, the building and land currently constitute a service center for the utility company.

With interest charges on an eight-year land contract, the total cost of the acquisition would be $589,930.

Funds for the purchase are to come from the city's capital improvement fund. Some of these monies will be reimbursed from the special waste collection and disposal millage.

★ ★ ★

The purchase includes the large service building, plus smaller buildings and some vacant land. The total complex incorporates about 13½ acres.

LOCATION OF FACILITIES

The Consumers Power facilities are on the south side of Wessen and west of the Grand Trunk Western Railroad tracks.

As agreed in a purchase agreement given commission approval last night, the terms of the purchase call for the city to pay $2,000 as token down payment.

The balance of the down payment — one quarter of the remaining price — $129,500 is to be paid when the city takes possession, tentatively set for April 1, 1968.

★ ★ ★

The balance of $388,500 would be paid through terms of an eight-year land contract beginning in 1969. Annual payments would be about $48,562, plus 4 per cent interest.

TOTAL INTEREST

While the city has the option to pay off the contract at any time, the total interest charges for the full eight years would be $69,930.

Consumers Power plans to erect a new service building in the city, but officials have not disclosed a site. New facilities are desired because of the growth of business.

Recommended by city administrators, the purchase of the Consumers' building and land would provide new facilities for three city departments.

Housed at the new location would be the public works, parks and recreation and the electrical departments.

MOVE POSSIBLE

Still a fourth department — engineering — might also be moved there.

City officials, who estimate that to duplicate similar facilities might cost $800,000, indicated that the Consumers' building and land would provide for current needs and also allow for reasonable space for expansion.

CNB Low Bid on Loan Notes Gets Acceptance

The City Commission last night accepted a bid by Community National Bank of Pontiac on the sale of $2 million in tax anticipation notes.

Lowest of two, the CNB bid was for an interest rate of 2.70 per cent on the short-term notes.

The loan notes are sold to give the city monies to operate until tax receipts are received after July 1.

DAVID C. PENCE

R. VERN TODD

Outgoing Trustees

Hospital Officials Feted

Two outgoing trustees of Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital were honored last night at a dinner at the Fox & Hounds Inn.

★ ★ ★

R. Vern Todd, outgoing president of the board of trustees, and David C. Pence, trustee and legal counsel for the hospital, were honored for their years of service on the board.

★ ★ ★

Todd, 160 Cherokee, has served on the board since 1955, while Pence, 5305 Brookdale, Bloomfield Township, has served on the board since 1952. He was active in the founding of the hospital.

RILEY

The veteran board members were presented plaques and watches by Board President John A. Riley, secretary and advertising director of the Pontiac Press.

Attending the dinner were the board of trustees and the hospital's administrators.

Family Service Unit Report Shows Progress for Year

Dr. John M. Dorsey, board president of Family Service of Oakland County, has revealed substantial gains in the area of human relations made by the agency in 1965.

★ ★ ★

"In planning for the future, there are continual choices to be made by the agency, as it strengthens community life through counseling troubled families," Dr. Dorsey said.

At the outset of 1965, the agency provided a caseworker to act as an information and referral source for the Oakland County Community Mental Health Services Board.

"Beacuse 37 per cent of the total caseload fell in the category of $3,000 or less in annual income, the agency felt a commitment to continue to serve the poor, and at the same time encourage the development of the Oakland County Economic Opportunity Program," Dr. Dorsey continued.

★ ★ ★

"At the close of 1965, the agency provided casework service on a contractural basis for the Economic Opportunity Program.

"Currently the agency provides 30 hours a week of family casework and-or supervision, training and consultation on family problems in the North Oakland Area Action Center, Saginaw and Lawrence," he concluded.

Also added in 1965 was a new and different approach to another population group.

A mobile casework unit now serves the widely scattered population in the Milford and Walled Lake areas.

★ ★ ★

Because the need is wide and varied, this unit will be used in other areas as the agency has sufficient staff time to lend.

HUNDREDS REACHED

Increased staff time in 1965 has allowed the agency to reach hundreds in the County relative to marriage, children and adolescent problems.

A Case Aides to the Elderly Program was put into effect last year. Volunteers, under agency supervision, maintain contact with aged individuals living alone.

Robert J. Janes, executive director, said that during the year the agency conducted more than 10,000 interviews with families.

★ ★ ★

Firemen's Pay Meeting Set

Negotiations between a three-man committee representing the Waterford Township Board and members of the township's professional fire fighters, Local 1335, will be held at 9 a.m. Thursday.

The meeting was arranged last night following a request by the firemen's group, which is seeking higher wages for its members.

Donald Sommerville, president of the group, said a wage scale schedule will be presented to board representatives at Thursday's meeting, but declined to comment further on the proposal.

Representing the Township Board will be Republican Trustees Loren Anderson and Frank Richardson and Clerk Elmer Fangboner.

The firemen's group recently was recognized as a bargaining agent by board members.

TOWNSHIP POLICEMEN

On Feb. 14, township policemen were granted across-the-board pay raises and a five-day week by the board.

Other department heads also are seeking wage increases for their personnel.

A rezoning change for establishment of a bar and lounge on M59 at Tull was discussed by the board last night.

The proposed change is from C-1 (local business) to C-2 (general business). Recommended for approval by the Township Planning Commission, the proposed rezoning envelopes three lots at 7605 M59.

Waterford News

SIGN PETITION

Members of Tull Acres Subdivision Association, who have signed a petition objecting to the rezoning attended last night's meeting.

Mrs. Jeanne Hemberg, who plans to lease the land, is the applicant. Action is expected at next Monday's meeting.

The business was formerly located at the White Lake Inn. Transfer of the liquor license is pending.

In other business, the board approved purchase of a new fire truck chassis — equipped with a steel tilt cab — from GMC Truck and Coach Division for $7,817.

RECOMMENDATION

The action followed a recommendation by the township's vehicle committee.

Donald White, a local developer, was delayed one week in his efforts to gain final plat approval for Huntoon Shores No. 2 Subdivision.

The final plat still lacks the recommendation of Planning Director Vern Wiggins.

Waterford Teachers Back Bond Proposal

The Waterford Education Association (WEA) last night voted full support for the school district's $13-million bond issue which will be considered at a March 28 special election.

The far-reaching building program includes construction of a third high school and three new elementary schools. Widespread improvements would be made at other primary schools.

The WEA will launch a fund drive among its members to raise money to help inform voters about the upcoming election.

WEA members also will be represented on a speaker's bureau and the "get-out-the-vote" committee.

★ ★ ★

Robert Crumton, WEA president, issued a statement expressing teachers' viewpoints toward the building program.

MORE COMPLETE

"Waterford teachers support this program because, in large part, it will make a child's education far more complete than present school plants permit," said Crumpton.

"Continuing pressures from population growth have forced our board of education to seek as much of the best from highly limited facilities which could not serve multiple functions.

"The present plans indicate a great concern not only for added classroom space, but also a concern for areas devoted to a wide variety of educational experiences.

★ ★ ★

"Waterford teachers have been acutely aware of the needs for expanded facilities as well as increased materials and reduced class loads.

"It is our hope that the electorate will approve the present proposals in order that we can continue to improve the quality of education for our children.

"We can be especially enthusiastic about this program because it means no tax increase above the authorized levels," concluded Crumpton.

ROBERT CRUMPTON

Campus Site Meeting Set

The Royal Oak City Commission last night agreed on a March 17 joint meeting with Oakland Community College officials to discuss the possibility of establishing an OCC campus in Royal Oak.

A month ago the college's board of trustees expressed interest in buying the 45-acre Elks Park in Royal Oak which OCC had appraised at $305,000.

Since then a city official has suggested a downtown Royal Oak site for the campus.

Possible sale to the college of either the park site or a downtown parcel has been under study by city officials.

Presently operating campuses in Pontiac and Waterford townships, OCC has another campus under construction in Farmington Township and seeks a fourth campus in the southeastern area of the county.

Bid to Return to Viet Backed

A Pontiac area osteopath, Dr. J. J. Robb, 1142 W. Huron, Waterford Township, has gained support in his bid to return to Viet Nam to treat the civilian population.

★ ★ ★

A spokesman for the Michigan State Jaycees said the group will launch a drive to raise $1,200 for plane fare, and secure enough medical and hospital supplies to treat 1,500 patients.

The doctor said he will donate $5,000 worth of his own medical supplies.

Robb said Washington bureaucrats refused his offer to treat Vietnamese patients last summer because he was not a "medical" doctor.

★ ★ ★

He went, however, at his own expense.

Cuban Teen Receives Sugar Cane Plaudits

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Thirteen-year-old Marcial Casteneda has received plaudits as a national hero in Cuba for cutting an average of 2,500 pounds of sugar cane daily.

★ ★ ★

Havana radio, monitored here, recounted Marcial's cane-cutting prowess, and said the boy attends night school after finishing work. Sugar is Cuba's principal dollar-producing commodity.

Weather Key to Apollo Shot

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Predictions of marginal weather — high winds and too many clouds — remained the main concern today as the countdown progressed toward Wednesday morning's scheduled flight of the first Saturn 1B rocket and Apollo moonship.

Weather permitting, the 225-foot-tall Saturn 1B, with enough fuel on board to give it one-twentieth of the explosive capacity of the A-bomb that leveled Hiroshima, is due to rumble skyward at 7:45 a.m. EST on a 39-minute jaunt to a target area in the Atlantic Ocean 5,300 miles southeast of Cape Kennedy.

Riding on its nose will be an unmanned version of the cone-shaped Apollo spaceship which will carry three Americans to the moon. This will be the maiden flight for both the 650-ton Saturn 1B — the most powerful rocket ever built by the United States — and the Apollo moonship.

Hundreds of industrial executives, representing numerous companies which pooled their top talent to piece together the space-age marvel, plan to be on hand to witness the blast-off. The launch will be carried on the three major television networks.

News in Brief

Waterford Township police are investigating the theft of an adding machine and typewriter from Northwood Auto Sales, 2023 Dixie.

An estimated $60 in change was stolen during a recent break-in at Mr. G's House A-Go-Go, 6959 M59, Waterford Township police learned yesterday.

Gale G. Lannin, 26, of 2057 White Lake, Highland Township, was assessed $50 costs yesterday by Municipal Court Judge Maurice E. Finnegan for conviction on a charge of reckless driving.

Carlos A. Garcia, 18, of 26 Sanderson was sentenced to pay $100 in fine and costs or serve 30 days in jail yesterday by Pontiac Township Justice R. Grant Graham after pleading guilty to a charge of driving under the influence of liquor.

NEW YORK (AP) — The Detroit Edison Co. declared a dividend of 35 cents a share Monday on outstanding common stock, payable April 15 to shareholders of record March 25.

Release Funds for School Use

State Money Is Sent to County Districts

Oakland County Treasurer James E. Seeterlin yesterday released $7,684,790 in state aid funds which will be distributed to Oakland County school districts.

Waterford Township Schools will receive $750,000 of the total and Pontiac Schools, $697,650.

These appropriations are the second and third highest. Royal Oak Schools will be given $751,140.

State aid funds are released six times each year to the county school systems.

Distribution is determined by a complex formula which takes a district's tax base, pupil population and several other items into consideration.

★ ★

Ranking fourth in the fund apportionment is Farmington Public Schools which will receive $604,100.

Other school districts slated to receive over $300,000 are Berkley, $393,970; Southfield, $383,300; Hazel Park, $346,390; Birmingham, $330,000, and Walled Lake, $308,140.

Oakland Schools, the intermediate school district, will receive $16,570 for its special education program.

Youth Listed as Fair With Gunshot Wound

A 17-year-old Pontiac youth is listed in fair condition at Pontiac General Hospital after suffering an accidental gunshot wound yesterday.

Mosley Russell of 177 Fulton told Pontiac police he was handling a 22-caliber rifle at his home when the weapon accidentally discharged, striking him in the shoulder.

Metal Shears Stolen

School officials reported to Pontiac police yesterday the theft of a heavy-duty metal shears valued at $85 from the trade and industrial vocation building at Pontiac Central High School, 250 W. Huron.

Meeting Hears Doctor

'Genetics Study Pays Off'

"Advanced research in genetics is making it possible for medical science to help parents prevent birth of mongoloid children and offers hope for even greater advances in the fight against mental illness among children," Dr. Paul V. Woolley told more than 150 persons attending the 22nd annual meeting of the Oakland Child Guidance Clinics recently.

Dr. Woolley, head of the pediatrics department at Wayne State University and chief of pediatrics at Children's Hospital, Detroit, spoke on "Growth of Children."

In his annual report, Vernon Keye, president of the clinics board, expressed confidence that the three child guidance clinics operated by the organization in Pontiac, Birmingham and Royal Oak would expand their services this year to the children of Oakland County.

"Each community must identify its own problems, examine existing resources and services, and proceed to shape a program adapted to its needs," Keye said.

★ ★ ★

"We are looking for ways to do much more in the year ahead to make broader mental health services available to all," Keye concluded.

New members elected to the board are: Charles L. Cousins, 4815 Sundew, Commerce Township; Mrs. Angus Miller III, 3257 Whitfield, Waterford Township; Abraham Brickner, Oak Park; and Howard R. Weissman, Southfield.

Dems Argue; Dzendzel Still Senate Leader

LANSING (AP)—Senate Democrats, some dissatisfied with their leadership, argued behind closed doors for three hours last night, but when they were finished, Sen. Raymond Dzendzel, D-Detroit, was still majority leader.

A faction of the 23-member majority caucus met earlier at a Brighton restaurant to plan their strategy but at the caucus did not offer any formal motion to replace Dzendzel.

Their compromise candidate was to have been John Bowman of Roseville, Senate president pro-tem.

Instead, the dissidents reportedly won some concessions that a more formalized caucus legislative program would be formulated.

★ ★ ★

Some senators maintain that Democratic-oriented goals such as a higher minimum wage and more funds for mental health and schools ought to be pushed harder.

They have also criticized Dzendzel for his recent positions favoring the so-called stop and frisk law for policemen and his resolution asking state universities to ban Communist speakers on campus.

OU Is Listed as Test Center

Oakland University has been designated at a test center for the National Teacher examinations to be offered March 19, according to Kenneth Coffman, director of psychological services.

★ ★ ★

At the one-day test session, registrants may take the common examinations, which include tests in professional and general education and one of 13 teaching area exams.

The testing will take place in Room 195 of the Science Building.

Candidates for the common examinations will report at 8:30 a.m. and will continue after lunch until approximately 3:10 p.m.

★ ★ ★

Teaching area exams will begin at 3:15 p.m. and run until approximately 5:20 p.m.

Chinese Educator Speaks

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Women's Editor

For 47 of her 67 years, Dr. Lilian Chao has been a teacher. Now professor emeritus of the Institute of Advanced Chinese Studies, National Taiwan University in Taipei, Dr. Chao devotes most of her time to teaching English.

★ ★ ★

"China won't be understood until more people speak English," she said in an interview on Tuesday. Dr. Chao was in town to speak to the Pontiac branch, American Association of University Women on "Women in Free China Today."

★ ★ ★

Dr. Chao does her teaching by radio. Even as she travels throughout the United States, she cuts tapes and has them sent back to Taiwan through Chinese Embassy pouches.

★ ★ ★

Taiwan, formerly called Formosa, is the island lying about 100 miles southeast of the Chinese mainland. Regained from the Japanese after World War II, it is the site of Chiang Kai-shek's republican government.

BORN IN AMERICA

Lilian Chao is American by birth, Chinese and German by ancestry. Through her father she is directly descended from the Sung dynasty which dates back to 960 A.D.

★ ★ ★

Her mother who was a naturalized American was the daughter of a German ambassador to Turkey. The two met as college students in the United States.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Chao has three children she hasn't seen for 17 years; a fourth was killed in World War II.

She has tried repeatedly to get her family out of Communist China and spent several weeks in a Japanese prison where she was tortured for her efforts.

★ ★ ★

If she can save enough money, she thinks she can buy freedom from the Communists for her family.

TEACHES ENGLISH

Her other passion is her teaching. As head of the English teaching project in Taiwan, Dr. Chao is continually trying to work out new ways of presenting the language.

★ ★ ★

In a land that is roughly the size of Rhode Island, there are 43 universities. There is no illiteracy. But classrooms are in short supply and the students attend in three shifts, seven days a week.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Chao's radio lessons are beamed to the remote mountain areas where schools are far apart.

★ ★ ★

Although Taiwan was the first Far-Eastern nation to request the United States to stop its foreign aid, there is still a way to help the country.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Chao needs elementary school texts and used workbooks. She has a continuous need for new material. The Chinese have no alphabet which makes learning English a difficult task. This, Dr. Chao is trying to make easier.

Anyone who has any books to donate may contact Mrs. Don McMillen of Wenonah Drive.

★ ★ ★

The women of Taiwan are not so different from the women of America. Most of them work outside the home, but from necessity, not choice.

They have their problems of juvenile delinquency which Dr. Chao half blames on American movies.

★ ★ ★

They join together in women's clubs and do volunteer work if they are affluent enough not to have to be gainfully employed.

FEDERATION

The Federation of Asian Women's Association in which Dr. Chao is an active worker is trying to cross language barriers and help the members discuss their mutual problems.

★ ★ ★

They have had only three international meetings and Dr. Chao has found herself the interpreter many times.

This doesn't daunt her any more than some of the other impossible tasks she has attempted — and completed.

Girl Scouts Set Meeting

Holland, Argentina and Bulgaria are countries to be represented tonight at the Senior and Cadette Girl Scouts International Night. The program will be at Central Methodist Church from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m.

★

The group's Senior Planning Board is sponsoring the evening for all Cadette and Senior Girl Scouts in the Northern Oakland County Girl Scout Council.

★ ★

Following a brief business meeting, Peggy Joos, SPB president, will discuss the board and its activities for visitors.

★ ★

Scouts will divide into smaller groups and visit with each of their foreign guests: Mary Kohx, Lucia Rain and Roxanne Sella, who are exchange students in area schools.

★ ★ ★

Refreshments concluding the evening will include cookies from various countries. Senior troops will do the baking and share their recipes.

New Book on Mt. Vernon Fittingly Published Today

For over a hundred years a continuous chain of remarkable women, assembled one by one from nearly every state in the Union, have labored for and cherished Washington's beloved home.

These women, and the courageous woman who inspired and led them, are all part of the drama of "Mount Vernon Is Ours," which Duell, Sloan and Pearce will publish today. This amazing story of the rescue of Mount Vernon from near ruin was written by Elswyth Thane.

★ ★ ★

The Mount Vernon Ladies' Association is not sponsored by, nor beholden to the Federal Government or the State of Virginia. It stands alone, its original charter having been granted in 1858, when ladies were not supposed to be capable of conducting anything like public affairs.

It was the creation of one resolute woman who at the age of thirty-seven acquired what even her friends at first considered an impracticable obsession. She had made up her mind that the home which George Washington loved should not be allowed to fall down in ruins from neglect.

Not the uncooperative Washington family, the skeptical Virginia Legislature, nor her own condition of chronic invalidism could daunt her, nor swerve her from apparently impossible purpose. As an example of sheer grit, laced with Southern charm, Ann Pamela Cunningham remains unique.

★ ★ ★

Vice Regents of the association from Michigan have been: Mrs. Elon Farnesworth, 1858-1877; Mrs. J. H. Rathbone, 1855-1918; Mrs. E. H. Parker, 1923-24; Mrs. B. S. Warren 1925-58; and Mrs. Alexander L. Wiener, 1964.

Dr. and Mrs. Leroy C. Johnson of Hammond Lake announce the engagement of their daughter, Mary Ann, to Donald J. Farrell, son of the Thomas M. Farrells of East Rundell Street. She is an alumna of Mercy College. July vows are planned.

Husband's 'Old Lady' Says She's Proud of That Tag

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: If a man wants to call his wife his "OLD LADY," what's wrong with that? My husband has always called me his "OLD LADY" and I'm not even thirty years old yet. What's more, I call him my "OLD MAN," and he doesn't mind a bit.

ABBY

We have four adorable children, and you will find more love and respect in our home than in many other homes where you hear the husbands and wives calling each other, "DARLING, DEAREST," and "SWEETHEART." What's in a name?

MY OLD MAN'S OLD LADY

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: When Seymour and I were first married, a registered package was delivered to our door. He had to sign for it. Then he said to the delivery man, "It's not for me, it's for MY OLD LADY."

When he handed me the package I refused to accept it. He asked why, and I said, "Because if it's for your OLD LADY you'd better take it to your mother's house next time you go there."

That was the last time he ever called me his OLD LADY.

CAROLINE

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: Please reassure your correspondent "OFFENDED" that there is absolutely nothing disrespectful about the term "MY OLD LADY." To the British Cockney, this is about as endearing a term as can be applied to a wife. And frankly, I think it has a warm, living sound.

B. B. IN S. F.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: The man who referred to his wife as his "OLD LADY" might have done so affectionately. When my husband calls me "Weasel, Dingbat and Pickepuss" it's a sign that he is feeling tender toward me. But when he calls me "MARY FRANCES" — then I know I'm in trouble.

Pontiac WNFGA Sees Slides at Luncheon

Mrs. Milo Cross opened her home at Hammond Lake on Monday to members of Pontiac branch, Woman's National Farm and Garden Association. Mrs. W. B. Hartman was luncheon chairman.

Slides of Ireland were shown by Mrs. Marvin L. Katke, first vice president, Michigan Division WNFGA, who attended the 1965 Triennial Conference of the Associated Country Women of the World.

★ ★ ★

Over 45 countries sent 1,600 delegates to Ireland, along with exhibits of products from each country. The women shared interests which make for better housing, better education and better understanding.

It is financed by "Pennies for Friendship" collected at WNFGA meetings throughout the world.

Mrs. Robert Alton, president, announced plans for the luncheon and style show May 3 in Kingsley Inn. Styles from the Four Corners Shop of Bloomfield Hills will be modeled by WNFGA members.

Proceeds from the luncheon, with Mrs. Bruce Annett as chairman, will go into the scholarship fund.

★ ★ ★

Members voted to provide a scholarship to send a teacher to the conservation training school at Higgins Lake this summer.

The student scholarship at Michigan State University will also be continued.

Mrs. Basil Brown of Mary Day Avenue donated another scholarship to provide an area farm woman's attendance at the Homemaker's Conference at MSU in August.

MRS. G. L. FRANJAC

Honeymoon in North After Vows

The Greogry Landis Franjacs (Katherine Anne Payne) left for a northern honeymoon after Saturday vows in St. George Greek Orthodox Church.

A reception in St. George Hellenic Community Hall followed the four o'clock ceremony performed by Rev. Gus Tsompanas.

The Robert L. Paynes of East Tennyson Avenue and Dr. and Mrs. Marion Franjac of Livonia are parents of the couple.

Rochelle lace and white taffeta fashioned the bride's gown and court train worn with a cluster headpiece and bouffant illusion veil.

Her bouquet included white roses, feathered carnations and Stephanotis.

Mrs. James Adsit attended as honor matron, with Mrs. James Schell and Peggy Payne, their sister's bridesmaids.

Lynda Pitts was flower girl and Mrs. Denny Pitts exchanged the crowns carried by Michael Mutter. Mark Mutter was ringbearer.

With best man, Chris Payne, were Gregory Adsit and Thomas Schwartz who ushered.

The newlyweds will make their home in Plymouth.

Daughter Arrives

Mr. and Mrs. James Chandler (Kay Kirkby) of Detroit, formerly of Pontiac, announce the adoption of a daughter Lisa Kay.

Grandparents are the Albert C. Chandlers of East Boulevard South and Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Kirkby, Silver Sands Drive.

Jerry Hensleys Honeymoon in Southland

A southern honeymoon for the newlywed Jerry Lee Hensleys (Carol Kit Merriman) will include a visit with his parents, the Clayton Hensleys in Olivehill, Ky.

The bride is the daughter of Charles Merriman of Virginia Avenue and Mrs. Floyd Ramsey of Willet Street, Pontiac Township.

For the recent ceremony performed by Justice of the Peace Patrick K. Daly, she chose a street-length dress of white French lace over satin.

A shoulder-length illusion veil and corsage of pink carnations completed her ensemble.

Mrs. Marjorie Powell and James Oney attended the couple.

Churchwomen Set Date for Group Sensitivity Plan

Celebration of the Holy Communion at 10 a.m. in St. Dunstan's Chapel will open the meeting next Tuesday of Christ Church Cranbrook's Episcopal Churchwomen.

After the service, the third in a six-session training program in human senstivity will be conducted in two groups.

Directing activities will be: Rev. Alden Hathaway, associate rector; Mrs. L. G. Kelly, assistant to the religious education director; Mrs. Marian Athay, administrative assistant for adult education; and Rev. Walter Neds, associate rector.

Sewing and knitting workshops also will highlight the meeting's morning segment.

★ ★ ★

Following a noon luncheon, the Detroit Board of Education film "Children Without" will be shown.

California Rites Unite Couple

From California comes news of the recent marriage of Diane Renee Kelley to David Ernest Hands, also of Glendale, son of Mrs. James Sojack of Pontiac Lake Road and Sidney Hands of Leonard.

★ ★ ★

Judge Laurence Madsen officiated at the ceremony in the Little Chapel of Flowers, West Covina. A reception followed in the Magnolia Room.

Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. L. Eisler of Glendale.

The couple chose San Francisco for their honeymoon and are presently residing in Glendale. She attends the California State College in Los Angeles.

Tri Delts Will Hear About New Fabrics

Mrs. Jean Hardy of the Detroit Edison Company will be the speaker at 8 p.m. on "Fashions in Fabric" at the March 1 meeting of Delta Delta Delta, Birmingham Alumnae groups II.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Robert Cameron of Southfield will be assisted with hostess duties by Mrs. John Hausman.

Any Tri Delt alumnae interested in joining this group may contact Mrs. George Googasin.

Mrs. Denman Hostess for Symphony Group

By SIGNE KARLSTROM

Mrs. John Denman of Covington Road entertained Monday at an area luncheon report meeting of the ticket committee for the Fashionscope which takes place on March 15 and 16 in the J. L. Hudson Company auditorium.

This is one of the major money-making events for the symphony sponsored by the Women's Association for the Detroit Orchestra. Area women involved include Mesdames: Elwood Engle, Roy Edwards, Warren B. Cooksey, Fred B. Darden, Dale Douglass, Stephen Goodale, John E. Hauser and Lloyd Lake.

GENERAL MEETING

Association president, Mrs. Cecil Akroyd also announces that the association's next general meeting will be at the Detroit Golf Club on Thursday. Mrs. Oliver E. Frey of Pleasant Ridge is taking reservations.

★ ★ ★

The enterprising members of the Detroit North Suburban Chapter of Alpha Phi sorority arranged bridge parties in some 15 homes this past week to benefit their local charity, Friends and Relatives of Retarded Children of Oakland County Inc., which was formed in 1951.

Among those participating were Mesdames: John Beuker, Peter Begrow, J. D. Lower, Franz Neubrecht and C. J. Van Halteren. Proceeds were used to buy a weaving loom for rugs which the children make. This project has become an annual event for the Alphi Phis.

★ ★ ★

Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Peters have moved from the Colonial Court Terraces to Oak Street, Birmingham. To surprise them over the week-end came their friend Nancy Geddes of Toledo, Ohio.

Dr. and Mrs. Don Young are trying to get settled in their new home on Oakhills Drive, having sold their Dunstan Road home.

July vows are planned by Diana Margaret Denison, daughter of the Sanders G. Denisons of Troy, and Gabriel Phillip Martinez, son of Mrs. Gabriel Martinez of North Johnson Street and the late Mr. Martinez. He is an alumnus of Oakland University where his fiancee is a senior.

DIANA MARGARET DENISON

The W. E. Zimmermans of Fowlerville announce the engagement of their daughter, Betty, to Harold Ray Carney, son of the M. W. Russells of Lake Orion. Both are seniors at Oakland University.

Ross, Gallipo Vows Repeated in Ortonville

Reception in Brandon Grange Hall followed a recent exchange of wedding vows by Sandra Kay Gallipo and Pvt. Paul Ross, in the Ortonville Methodist Church.

The bride, daughter of Mrs. Edgar LaFlamme of Maple Drive, Independence Township, and Francis Gallipo of West Tienken Road, Avon Township, chose a gown of white French lace over taffeta.

Completing her ensemble for the ceremony performed by Rev. Roy Botruff were a waist-length veil and bouquet of white carnations, pink Sweetheart roses and ivy.

Judith Gallipo was maid of honor with bridesmaids Linda Brown and Betty Switzer.

The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. James R. Ross of Hummer Lake Road, Brandon Township, had Edward Bryant for best man. Donald and Bruce Ross were his groomsmen and Robert Ross and Ernest Brown Jr., ushered.

Pvt. Ross will return to Fort Bliss Army Base, El Paso, Texas.

No Tears, Now

Save those tears when slicing onions. Just slice onions whole and the peelings will fall off. If you must chop them, place them in a closed chopper.

Uncle Unites Bridal Pair at Rites

Pfc. and Mrs. Eddie Duaine Thaxton (MontaRe Field) left for a brief honeymoon after their marriage, Saturday, in the First Free Methodist Church.

Rev. Carl Koerner and Rev. Edison Cummings, the bride's uncle, performed the ceremony. Reception followed in the First Federal Savings of Oakland Building.

The Calvin Fields of Adamson Street and the Archie M. D. Thaxtons of Seward Street are the couple's parents.

The bridal gown of white silk organza over taffeta extended into a bouffant skirt and sweep train.

She donned an illusion veil with Alencon lace headpiece and carried cascading white roses and Stephanotis.

With honor maid, Deanna Beth Cummings, were the bridesmaids, Mrs. Patrick Fitzgerald and Carol L. Koerner. Annie Hoeksema was flower girl and Calvin Field, ringbearer.

Larry D. Thaxton served his brother as best man. Ushers were Glenn J. Palmer, Patrick Fitzgerald, John DePauw, Buddy Stott and Robert Machelia.

The bride plans to join her husband at Fort Knox, Ky. after completing her course at the Pontiac Practical Nurse Center.

Haase Vows Are Spoken

Carol Ann Westnes chose a Bianchi-designed gown and wedding-coat of Oriental white brocade for her marriage to Aaron Paul Haase, Saturday, in the Gloria Dei Lutheran Church.

* * *

A bubble veil of illusion and bouquet of white roses and ivy completed her floor-length ensemble for the six o'clock rite performed by Rev. Wayne E. Peterson, and the church reception.

* * *

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Westnes of LaSalle Street and her husband's parents are Mrs. Ivy Haase, South Marshall Street, and Walter Haase of State Street.

Linda Jackson was the bride's only attendant.

* * *

Danny Smith performed the duties of best man. Rolf and Olav Haaseth, the bride's cousins, seated the guests.

Why Grow Old?

By Josephine Lowman

I have just received the following letter from a reader.

"Dear Mrs. Lowman:

"I am writing this letter in the hope that it will help others who have to fight the battle of the bulge. I would like for you to print this letter in your column during your BIP program this year.

* * *

"I started on your BIP program in January last year. I read your columns daily, did the exercises and held my daily calorie count to not more than 1,000.

"I weighed 157 pounds the day I started and by the end of the eight weeks I had lost 20 pounds. I continued to count calories and exercise faithfully and by April I weighed 115 pounds, from a size 18 to a size 12. It seems like a miracle! I really feel like a new person now. I really have a reason to have faith in BIP.

"I asked you to print this letter because the success letters I read from others who were following your program gave me so much encouragement when I was reducing."

SAMPLE MENUS

By JACOBY & SON

The Bridge Set, published by the San Fernando Valley Unit of California, continues to come up with hands by Eddie Kantar that are worth further publication.

JACOBY

This time Kantar writes on deceptive play by declarer. In his first example South arrives at very poor five-club contract. He doesn't show the bidding so we will assume it went as we have it in the box.

Most West players would make the attacking lead of their fourth best spade and there would be no chance for any deception at all because the defense would take their tricks to start, but West makes the apparently safe lead of a trump.

South wins in dummy and sees that he has been granted a reprieve. He leads dummy's king of diamonds and when East plays low, South discards a heart, not a spade.

West wins the diamond trick with the ace and has to find the right suit to lead. You can see that the spade shift is correct. But can West see it?

All he has to go on is the fact that South seems to be more afraid of hearts. So he leads a heart and South romps off with the rest of the tricks to wind up making the unsound contract with an overtrick.

Perhaps West should have led a spade anyway on the theory that the heart would work only if his partner held both ace and king, while the spade lead would win if East held the ace. And perhaps the heart discard was silly.

Discard a spade and South will only be down one against a spade shift. After the heart discard a spade shift would have beaten him two tricks.

All this is academic. The spade discard would have been sure death. The heart was a winner.

CARD Sense

Q—The bidding has been:

West	North	East	South
	1 ♠	Pass	1 N.T.
Pass	2 ♦	Pass	?

You, South, hold:
♠ 3 ♥ K J 5 4 ♦ 10 6 5 4 ♣ Q 7 3

What do you do now?

A—Bid three diamonds. This contract should be safe and there is some slight chance that your partner can move on to game.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Instead of rebidding two diamonds your partner has rebid two hearts. What do you do now?

Report Where 'Brains' Are

Gain and Drain States Listed in Analysis

NEW YORK (UPI) —"In science, brains go where brains are" in the March issue of Fortune Magazine published today.

Dr. Ralph Lapp, a nuclear physicist and adviser to the Defense Department, reports that California, New York and several other states have been experiencing a marked "brain gain" while others, such as Illinois and Wisconsin, suffer a "brain drain."

A "brain drain" state is defined as one that educates more Ph. D's than it employes. The report dealt with scientists engaged in basic research, development and design.

Nearly two-thirds of the high-powered scientific brains in this country are concentrated in just 10 states and this concentration is growing, Lapp said, because "in science, brains go where brains are."

LEADING STATE

California leads with 13,688 scientists and 22 per cent of the membership of the National Academy of Sciences.

Other "brain gain" states in addition to California and New York are Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia, Kentucky, Tennessee, North and South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama, Florida, Mississippi, Louisiana, Arkansas, Oklahoma, Texas, New Mexico, Colorado, Wyoming, Montana, Idaho, Utah, Arizona, Nevada, Oregon, Washington, Alaska and Hawaii. The District of Columbia also was in the "gain" category.

The "brain drain" states were Massachusetts, Connecticut, Rhode Island, Vermont, New Hampshire, Maine, Ohio, Michigan, Indiana, Wisconsin, Illinois, Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri, North and South Dakota, Nebraska, and Kansas.

2 Court Reporters Are Cited for Skills

Two Oakland County court reporters, Mrs. Carol Goodfellow and Donald E. Denoyer, have received awards for their skill from the National Shorthand Reporters Association.

Mrs. Goodfellow, Livonia, a reporter for Probate Judge Donald E. Adams, won a certificate of merit for being able to take literary dictation at 200 words a minute, jury charge at 240 words a minute and question and answer dictation at 260 words a minute.

★ ★ ★

Denoyer, 3551 Warringham, Waterford Township, reporter for Circuit Judge Philip Pratt, was honored for his ability to take questions and answers.

The examinations were given at the recent midwinter meeting of the Michigan Court Reporters Association held at the Kingsley Inn, Bloomfield Hills.

Nearly a billion servings of canned fruit and vegetable juice are consumed in the U. S. every week.

10 Oscar Bids for 'Zhivago' and 'The Sound of Music'

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "The Sound of Music" and "Dr. Zhivago" won the most nominations — 10 each — among movie candidates for Oscars.

"Ship of Fools" sailed close behind with eight.

★ ★ ★

Again there was a strong foreign flavor to the nominations, announced Monday, for the awards to be presented April 18 by the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences.

Out of the 20 acting nominations, the Academy chose 12 foreigners. Last year, it presented all its acting Oscars to players from other countries.

A MELODIC ROLE

Julie Andrews, who won last year as the high-flying star of "Mary Poppins," was nominated this time as another melodic governess in "The Sound of Music." Two other English actresses also are candidates: Julie Christie as the nymphomaniac of "Darling" and Samantha Eggar, kidnap victim of "The Collector."

Simone Signoret, who found an Oscar in 1959's "Room at the Top," is listed this time for "Ship of Fools."

★ ★ ★

Elizabeth Hartman, the blind girl of "A Patch of Blue," her first film, is the only American among candidates for starring actress.

Laurence Olivier, whose "Hamlet" won him the statuette in 1948, received a seventh nomination for "Othello." Richard Burton, another British Shakespearean, was named as the disenchanted agent of "The Spy Who Came In From the Cold." As ship's doctor in "Ship of Fools," Vienna's Oskar Werner was nominated.

STEIGER, MARVIN

Americans chosen are Rod Steiger as "The Pawnbroker" and Lee Marvin, alcoholic gunfighter of "Cat Ballou."

Nominated as 1965's best pictures, along with "The Sound of Music," "Dr. Zhivago" and "Ship of Fools," were "Darling" and "A Thousand Clowns."

★ ★ ★

As best supporting actor, three Britons were tabbed: Ian Bannen, "The Flight of the Phoenix"; Tom Courtenay, "Dr. Zhivago," and Frank Finlay, "Othello." Also in this category are Martin Balsam, "A Thousand Clowns," and Michael Dunn, "Ship of Fools."

Joyce Redman and Maggie Smith, both of "Othello," represent England among supporting actresses. Americans named are Ruth Gordon, "Inside Daisy Clover"; Shelley Winters, "A Patch of Blue," and Peggy Wood, "The Sound of Music."

Hiroshi Teshigahara, chosen for the Japanese film, "Woman in the Dunes," is the first Oriental to be nominated for a best-director award.

2-TIME WINNER

Others nominated are two-time winner David Lean, "Dr. Zhivago"; three-time winner William Wyler, "The Collector"; former winner Robert Wise, "The Sound of Music," and newcomer John Schlesinger, "Darling."

Other nominations include:

Best foreign-language film: "Blood on the Land" (Greece); "Dear John" (Sweden); "Kwaidan" (Japan); "Marriage Italian Style" (Italy); "The Shop on Main Street" (Czechoslovakia).

★ ★ ★

Best songs: "I Will Wait for You" from "The Umbrellas of Cherbourg"; "The Shadow of Your Smile" from "The Sandpiper"; "The Sweetheart Tree" from "The Great Race," and the title songs of "Cat Ballou" and "What's New, Pussycat?"

The Academy's 2,703 voting members will choose Oscar winners by secret ballot. Bob Hope again will preside at the nationally televised presentations in Santa Monica Civic Auditorium.

On Viet Policy

India Refuses to Back U.S.

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Prime Minister Indira Gandhi disclosed today that Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey had asked her government to support U.S. policy in Viet Nam, but she declined because of India's nonaligned position.

"The vice president asked us for support on U.S. policy in Viet Nam and elsewhere," Mrs. Gandhi told Parliament.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Gandhi said she told Humphrey, who visited New Delhi last week, that India's view of the Viet Nam war is based on its position as a nonaligned country and as chairman of the International Control Commission for Southeast Asia.

India has pleaded in the past that its nonalignment and control commission connections prevent it from taking any part in the war or supporting U.S. policy there.

Humphrey "appreciated" India's attitude and expressed the hope this country would "do everything possible to facilitate a peaceful solution of the problem," Mrs. Gandhi said.

The prime minister was answering questions in Parliament about what transpired in Humphrey's private talks with Indian officials. Members wanted to know if Humphrey's announcement of a new $100-million loan to India was tied to any secret assurances from Mrs. Gandhi on India's foreign or domestic policy.

"We will not be forced into taking any position not consistent with our national interest," Mrs. Gandhi said.

"We expressed our concern at the danger of escalation of the conflict and our anxiety that a peaceful solution should be found for which the framework of the Geneva agreement formed the best basis."

NOT EFFECTIVE

The agreement formulated in 1954 set up a control commission to supervise what was to be a cease-fire following the French Indochina war. The commission, however, has been ineffective.

Mrs. Gandhi was asked whether she complained to Humphrey about the resumption of United States bombing of North Viet Nam.

"We had earlier publicly expressed our deep concern at the resumption of bombing," she said.

Heads State GOP Vote Drive

William F. McLaughlin of Northville, vice chairman of Michigan's Republican party, has been appointed general chairman of the 1966 state GOP election campaign.

Party Chairman Elly M. Peterson said that McLaughlin, a member of Gov. Romney's campaign staff in 1964, was the logical choice for the position because "of his dedication to the party and his experience in Michigan politics during the 1960s."

McLaughlin, 33, of 592 Reed attended Lemoyne College in Syracuse, N. Y., and the University of Detroit, where he majored in political science.

He was chairman of the Macomb County Republican Committee from 1963 to 1965.

He was appointed to the State Fair Authority in 1964 and also was a Michigan delegate to the GOP National Convention in San Francisco that year.

Death Takes Expert in Comparative Law

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Prof. Emeritus Hessel E. Yntema of the University of Michigan, internationally known for his contribution in the field of comparative law, died Monday. He was 75.

Yntema, founder and editor-in-chief of the American Journal of Comparative Law, had been a member of law school faculties at Columbia, Johns Hopkins and Yale universities.

White Sox Lost McLain in Rookie Draft

'Big Steal of 1962' Whets Tigers' Pennant Appetite

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

LAKELAND, Fla. — Piano-playing pitcher Denny McLain, youngest of the trio whom Detroit Tiger manager Charley Dressen calls "our kid pitchers" let loose with a high blooper pitch on the practice mound at Tigertown.

"What was that," coach Mike Roarke retorted after the high-sailing pitch reached his glove.

"I knew of a pitcher who once had a lot of success with that pitch," McLain laughed, "thought I might sneak it in."

McLain, whose fast ball sent 192 batters down for the third strike last year, has the Tigers' brass patting themselves about the big "steal" they made in getting the right-hander away from the White Sox.

GOT AWAY

"We always hear about the ones that got away," said Tigertown supervisor Ed Katalinas, "but we really had a cat-and-mouse session with the White Sox and we really made a catch in getting him for the $8,000 rookie waiver price."

Katalinas recalled that the White Sox had four pitchers, one by the name of Dave DeBusschere, they were determined to get about the same time in 1962.

"We were also interested in three which they were offering big bonuses to," said Katalinas, "and we knew of McLain who was the fourth one on their list.

"They couldn't protect all four of them by putting them on their major league roster, so when the rookie drafts came, even though they tried to hide his name we spotted McLain on the list, so for $8,000 we grabbed him. Not another club made an overture for him," Katalinas recalled.

Of the other three pitchers who cost the White Sox about $150,000 in total bonus of money, two are out of baseball now (including DeBusschere, the ex-University of Detroit star who has decided to stay with the Detroit Pistons as player-coach).

"Watch that control and body balance," manager Dressen noted while McLain proceeded to throw to Roarke at Tigertown.

SAME SPOT

When he finished every pitch McLain's left toe on his left shoe ended up in the same spot, right toward the plate without the slightest waiver which might unbalance his delivery.

"He's had a good fast ball since I've seen him strike out 11 in his first Detroit game in 1963," said Dressen, "but now he's got a good curve and a change of pace that is almost as fast as his fast ball."

★ ★ ★

McLain credits Dressen and his stay in Puerto Rican League in 1964 for developing his curve ball.

Just approaching his 22nd birthday, he was the Tigers' big winner in 1965 with a 16-6 record which was the best winning percentage (.727) since Hal Newhouser's .743 in 1946. This is for Tiger pitchers winning 15 or more games.

Among his impressive statistics were four shutouts last season, an eight-game winning streak, striking out seven straight batters in a relief role and his 13 complete games.

Pitching McLain against the White Sox is like putting salt in the Chicago wounds. His first major league home run earned him his first Tiger victory in 1963 — winning, 4-3. He has an over-all 3-2 record against the White Sox.

MSU, Illini Duel for Contender's Role

Iowa's Barrage Brings U-M 5 Back to Pack

91-82 Michigan Loss Means Slender Lead After Tonight's Tilt

By The Associated Press

Either Michigan State or Illinois is going to have to take on Michigan in the Big Ten basketball title race, and the choice will be made tonight when the two teams collide at East Lansing.

Michigan, although paced by Cazzie Russell as he became the sixth Big Ten player in history to score 1,000 points in the loop, was sidetracked at Iowa Monday night, 91-82.

★ ★ ★

The loss cost Michigan half of the two-game lead the Wolverines had fashioned over the weekend — since the winner of the Illinois-MSU game will be within one game of the defending champions.

Michigan's loss wasn't as much of a shock as Ohio State's 102-98 triumph at Minnesota. Minnesota was the only home team to lose as Purdue hammered Indiana 77-68 and Northwestern came up with a 76-65 victory over Wisconsin.

★ ★ ★

Michigan State will probably be the winner since home teams hold a 34-16 advantage over visitors in the Big Ten, but in any respect it will be a chore preventing Michigan from winning the championship.

TOP SCORER

Russell led all scorers in the Wolverines-Hawkeyes clash with 31 points. He needed only six to top the golden 1,000 mark and join arch-rival Dave Schellase of Purdue, a fearsome antagonist in the conference scoring race.

Iowa, which hasn't dropped a home game this season, lost three starters on fouls during about a one-minute period with six minutes left.

★ ★ ★

The Hawks were leading 79-69 at that point, and reserves Gary Gottschalk, Dick Agnew and Houston Breedlove maintained the margin.

Starter Ben McGilmer, a sophomore, led Iowa's scoring with 26 points.

LEAD CUT

Iowa had a 44-39 halftime lead, but Michigan came back strong to narrow the gap to 54-53 with 16:04 left.

Then, with a little less than seven minutes remaining, the Hawkeyes roared from 73-69 to an 89-75 advantage with 2:43 left.

Iowa shot 53.6 per cent from the field while Michigan hit 48.4 per cent. The game left both squads with 15-4 over-all records.

★ ★ ★

If Michigan State can down Illinois and then win at home Saturday against Indiana, Michigan would need a victory at Purdue to remain in front.

After Purdue, Michigan is at home against Iowa and Northwestern, both dangerous foes, before advancing to Michigan State for the season finale.

REACHES MILESTONE — Cazzie Russell, Michigan's All-America, fires a basket over the head of Iowa's Gary Olson (52) in last night's game. The points were the 999th and the 1,000th of Russell's Big 10 career. He is the sixth conference player in history to reach this mark. Iowa won, 91-82.

Pontiac Central Draws Skippers

Pontiac Central drew Waterford and Pontiac Northern will play Kettering in the Class A district tournament at PNH.

Pairings at Northern and various other sites were made today.

The Chiefs and Skippers are scheduled to tangle Wednesday, March 2, at 7:30. Opening the tourney will be PNH against Kettering Tuesday, March 1, at the same time.

The championship game will be Friday, March 4, at 7:30 p.m.

In Class B at Pontiac Central, Avondale will take on Oxford at 7 p.m. March 3. West Bloomfield and Lake Orion will tangle in the nightcap. The winners will play for the district title at 8:30 p.m. March 5.

★ ★ ★

Orchard Lake St. Mary drew Brandon in Class C at the same site. They will play in the second game of a March 4 double-header. Farmington Our Lady of Sorrows and St. Frederick clash in the opener at 7 p.m. The championship tilt will be at 7 p.m. March 5.

The winner of the Pontiac Northern district will go to Ferndale for a regional tournament that will include Class A district winners from Birmingham Seaholm, Ferndale and Royal Oak Kimball.

The prime favorites at those sites are Ferndale, Warren Cousino and Birmingham Groves.

The pairings at Seaholm pitted Bloomfield Hills against Seaholm in Class A at 8 p.m. March 1. The winner will play Groves at 8:30 p.m. March 3. Berkley will take on Brother Rice the same night at 7 p.m.

The championship game will be at 8 p.m. March 5.

DRAWING

Ferndale and Kimball have later drawings. The host ROK school could challenge Cousino's once-beaten Oakland A League champions. Warren Fitzgerald could be a darkhorse.

Lincoln, Warren and Royal Oak Dondero round out the lineup at Kimball.

Ferndale's main opposition should come from Hazel Park which chased the Eagles to the wire for the Southeast Michigan Association crown.

Oak Park, Redford and the "Cinderella" team from last year's tournament, Southfield, also will vie at Ferndale.

FATAL CURVE — A four-man bobsled driven by Gil Jones of Plattsburgh, N.Y., goes out of control and smashes into the roof of a turn at the Mt. Van Hoevenberg run near Lake Placid yesterday. Minutes later, Sergio Zardini of Montreal was killed in an identical accident on the same curve and the International Diamond Trophy four-man event was canceled.

Bobsledders Resume Despite Death

LAKE PLACID, N.Y. (AP) — Daredevil bobsledding crews were expected to continue their mercurial descents down the ice-slick Mt. Van Hoevenberg chute today after attending a requiem mass for former world champion Sergio Zardini.

Zardini, the father of two small children, was killed Monday when his 800-pound sled crashed on the treacherous Zig-Zag curve during four-man competition for the Diamond International Trophy.

Despite the second death of a noted bobsledder in less than three weeks — Germany's Anton Pensberger was killed during the eventually suspended world championships Feb. 6 — the competitors were expected to continue with two-man runs today.

★ ★ ★

The National Bobsled Committee said the two-man races possibly would continue into Wednesday and added it had permission from the State Conservation Department, which runs the course, to compete this weekend as well.

Zardini, an Italian who came to Canada two years ago, and his crew started their run down the dangerous course earlier than they were scheduled after an American bobsledder listened to his pleading wife and decided not to compete on the icy course.

"Don't go," begged Joe McKillip's wife as the Lake Placid, N.Y., bobsledder and his crew were on the line ready to go.

McKillip finally withdrew. And Zardini's crew moved into position.

Zardini was dead on arrival at a local hospital.

Surgery Set for Barkley

BOSTON (UPI) — Detroit Red Wing defenseman Doug Barkley faces major surgery Thursday for an eye injury.

Eye Specialist Dr. Charles L. Schepens Monday conducted a lengthy examination at a Massachusetts Eye and Ear Infirmary operating room and scheduled the National Hockey League's second team All-Star defenseman for "scleral buckling" surgery.

Barkley was transfered to the world-famed Eye and Ear Infirmary just under a week ago after suffering a detached retina in his right eye in a game accident two weeks earlier.

Barkley, 29, who has been one of the NHL's top scoring defensemen since joining the Red Wings in 1962, suffered the injury Jan. 30.

Northern Ace Breaks School Scoring Record

BIG RAPIDS (AP)—Northern Michigan, which clobbered Ferris State 117-65 in basketball earlier this year, did it again by an identical score Monday night, bringing its season record to 15-4 against 3-14 for Ferris.

NMU's Gene Summers scored 24 points, enough to break the school's individual career record. Summers now has 1,260 points in two seasons. The old record was 1,257, set by Bob Armstead in three.

Rudy Ransom, of Pontiac, led Ferris with 30 points. Brian Ferguson had 28 for Northern in the nonconference clash.

Draft Board Permits Bout; State May Not

CHICAGO (AP) — The draft board has cleared the way for Cassius Clay to meet Ernie Terrell for the heavyweight championship but now Clay must clear another serious hurdle threatening the fight by apologizing for what the Illinois governor termed his "unpatriotic remarks."

★ ★ ★

A final verdict on the scheduled March 29 bout will not come until Friday when Clay is scheduled to fly from his Miami training quarters and apologize for remarks attributed to him following his reclassification to 1-A by the Louisville draft board last week.

The latest threat to the often-threatened fight came with a sudden explosion Monday by Illinois officials as Gov. Otto Kerner, Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley and other political figures urged the Illinois Athletic Commission to call off the fight.

Kerner asked the commission to reconsider its decision to license the bout in light of what he called Clay's "unpatriotic remarks."

With the furor growing, commission chairman Joe Triner then announced that Clay had called him from Miami and told him he would apologize to the governor, the commission and to the public "for having his big mouth make the statements that he did."

Celtics Rally; 76ers 'Fouled Up'

By The Associated Press

The Boston Celtics came back to win, but the Philadelphia 76ers got "fouled up" and failed to keep pace with the Celtics in the National Basketball Association's Eastern Division race.

Boston, trailing by eight points at halftime, came back to beat the Lakers, 115-108 at Los Angeles, while the 76ers lost to the Cincinnati Royals 113-107 at Dayton, Ohio, in the only league action Monday night.

★ ★ ★

The victory boosted the Celtics to 1½ games over second place Philadelphia and kept them three games ahead of the Royals.

Philadelphia made 44 field goals to 42 for Cincinnati but could hit on only 19 of 33 foul shots, while the Royals connected on 29 of 37.

Cincinnati took an 85-82 lead on Adrian Smith's 55-foot field goal at the buzzer ending the third period and was never headed, although the game was tied three times in the final quarter.

THREE POINTS

After the 76ers made a bid to pull it out late in the game moving to within one point, 106-105, on Wilt Chamberlain's 21,000th NBA point, the Royals clinched it on a pair of foul shots by Smith and a three-point play by Oscar Robertson.

Robertson led all scorers with 40 points. Smith got 30. Chamberlain led the 76ers with 24 points.

★ ★ ★

Philadelphia's Wally Jones was cut on his left eyelid when he collided with Smith late in the first period. He went to the hospital and had 12 stitches on the eyelid, then returned to start the second half.

The Celtics, down 67-59 at halftime, caught Los Angeles at 92-92 at the end of the third period, then outscored the Lakers 23-16 in the final quarter.

Sam Jones and John Havlicek paced the second half Boston onslaught. Jones finished with 33 points.

Elgin Baylor and LeRoy Ellis scored 23 apiece for Los Angeles.

Kentucky Still No. 1

By the Associated Press

The undefeated Kentucky Wildcats maintained their stranglehold on first place in the Associated Press major-college basketball poll today while Providence, the only loser among the ranking teams last week, dropped to ninth.

The Wildcats, 21-0, collected 38 votes for the top position in the voting by a special panel of 40 regional experts based on games through last Saturday.

★ ★ ★

Fourth-ranked Chicago Loyola and seventh-ranked St. Joseph's of Pennsylvania kept Kentucky from completing a clean sweep, each collecting one first-place votes.

★ ★ ★

Kentucky had 396 points on a basis of 10 for a first-place vote, 9 for second etc. There was no change in the next four positions as Duke held second followed by Texas Western, Chicago Loyola and Vanderbilt.

★ ★ ★

Kansas, St. Joseph's and Nebraska each climbed one notch to sixth, seventh and eighth, respectively. Michigan's Wolverines held the No. 10 spot.

Lakeland Fives in Last Week

Playoff Set to Start This Saturday

The Lakeland Athletic Association's boys' basketball program enters its final week prior to the playoffs with games Friday and Saturday in both divisions.

The Cardinals clinched the American Division top spot with a 10-7 victory over the Black Hawks last Saturday. The Eagles won their first game, 18-9 over the Blue Jays as Mike Vettraino scored 11 points.

★ ★ ★

In the National Division, the Spartans were handed their first loss of the season Friday by the Wolverines, but regained a first-place tie with a revenge win Saturday. Dave Mick had 10 in the 17-16 win.

Friday, Randy Shane had 11 of Badgers' 15 points in a 17-15 win to the Gophers.

Class A Playoffs in Three-Way Tie

Booth Homes avoided elimination, UAW 653 advanced in the winners' bracket, and Autobahn Motors won the first game of the Class C playoffs in city men's recreation basketball last night.

★ ★ ★

Booth evened the Class A playoffs with a resounding 74-58 verdict over White's Unbeatables. Gary Hayward's 14 points helped the winners to a 38-25 halftime lead.

Five players were in twin figures for the winners led by Larry Hughes' 20 and Hayward's 17. Cliff Benson's 15 paced the Unbeatables.

A drawing is slated today at the city recreation department to determine who will play tomorrow's game in the double-elimination tournament. Three teams have 1-1 logs.

LATE DRIVE

UAW 653 overcame the All-Stars, 66-61, with a 21-15 last-period advantage. It now will meet the Packers in the winners' bracket contest tomorrow night that will determine one of the two Class B finalists.

★ ★ ★

Ray Sturdivant led the last-quarter rally with eight of his 20 points. Jerry Williams had 12 of his 16 markers in the final half as the union fought back from a 35-29 deficit.

Carl Arnold topped the All-Stars with 15 tallies.

Mickey Forsyth's two free throws with three seconds to play broke a 64-all deadlock and carried Autobahn to a 67-64 victory in the Class C opener.

The two teams had only won four of 20 decisions in league play but engaged in one of the top "C" games of the season. P. O. H. came from six points behind—the game's widest margin—in the final two minutes to gain a tie and have possession in the last 15 seconds.

★ ★ ★

Forsyth led all scorers with 20 points for the winners; Lee Collins had 19 and Fred Harbruger 16. Jim Hudson (15) and Fred Tschirhart (14) paced P. O. H.

2 Rec Quintets Tighten Race

Two upsets last night at Crary JHS have turned the Waterford Township Class B men's basketball race into a three-team affair.

Coleman's Crew outbattled Fredman Construction, 58 - 55, with a fourth-period spurt; then Howe's Lanes thoroughly trounced Six R's Construction to tighten the race.

Both losers remained tied for the lead, but Coleman's now is only a game off the pace and will meet Six R's next Monday. The other game saw Joe's Bar-I rip Joe's Bar-2, 58-46, despite 26 points by the losers' Andy Miceli.

Bill Lemaux and Rick Hurd protected Coleman's win by hitting five of six free throws in the final two minutes. Gary High of Fredman led all scorers with 17.

The Howe's-Six R's game was close only for the first period. Jim Devine's 34 led the winners who had five in twin figures.

Two Challenge Arnold Palmer for Golf Lead

PALM BEACH GARDENS, Fla. (UPI) — That dry Arizona climate is good for clearing up sinus trouble, but it's also good for making rich golfers out of Joe Campbell and Gene Littler.

Campbell and Littler, both seasoned veterans on the PGA tour, finished first and second repectively in the Tucson Open last Sunday and have moved in to challenge Arnold Palmer for the top spot in the Professional Golfers Association money-winning standings.

Campbell, whose victory at Tucson was only his third in eight seasons on the circuit, earned $9,000 for his efforts and has vaulted into second place in the standings with $12,100 released Monday.

This total puts him close behind Palmer, who continued to lead with $14,412.50 in official earnings. Palmer, however, didn't play at Tucson and has quit the tour until the Doral Open in Florida next month.

There's a "B" loser's bracket double-header at Kennedy JHS and there's a "C" winners' bracket twin bill at Madison JHS on tonight's city card.

EVERYTHING'S ROSES — Roland (Ro) Redner of 2510 LeRoy Lane, Orchard Lake, is all smiles after winning the DN-60 International championship Sunday on the ice at Gull Lake near Kalamazoo. The Cass Lake Ice Yacht Club member won four races during the weekend.

Redner Family Is Celebrating

Ro Wins Ice Boating Title at Gull Lake

The Ro Redner family had a successful ice boating weekend.

The head of the family won the D-N International championship at Kalamazoo's Gull Lake Sunday by adding a first and a seventh to his three firsts of Saturday.

The latter performance had earned him the Commodore George Hills Memorial Trophy, and he received a big championship trophy Sunday.

Redner finished with 11 points; Wisconsin's Jane Pagel had 13 to come in second.

Meanwhile, back home at Cass Lake Saturday nine-year-old son Bobby finished second in the first Cass Lake Ice Yacht Club Junior Regatta.

Bobby had a first and two thirds to place two points behind Joey Rogers, 12, who had a first and two seconds.

Ruling on Finances Due

Baseball Books Sought

MILWAUKEE (AP) — A ruling was promised today on Wisconsin's bid to look at baseball's financial books while the legal battle between Atlanta and Milwaukee for possession of the Braves moved into a third courtroom arena in Texas.

Milwaukee County Circuit Judge Elmer W. Roller, hearing Wisconsin's antitrust suit against baseball and the Braves, said he would make his decision today whether to open the financial ledgers that baseball attorneys argued were trade secrets.

In Houston, Tex., Atlanta authorities went into federal court Monday to ask it to decide whether Georgia or Wisconsin court orders took precedence in the increasingly complicated legal tug-of-war.

★ ★ ★

It was the fifth suit filed in the battle which now involves three cities. With the antitrust trial itself approaching next week, this is the legal scorecard to date:

— Atlanta has won an injunction in Fulton County, Ga., Superior Court ordering the Braves to honor their 25-year contract to play home games in Atlanta starting with the 1966 season opener just seven weeks away.

★ ★ ★

— Roller has told the Braves to be prepared to play in Milwaukee this season and the National League to make plans to add an 11th team for Milwaukee through expansion in case either should be required in the eventual verdict. The suit goes to trial in the state court next Monday.

— The city of Atlanta and the Fulton County Recreation Authority, which operates Atlanta's new stadium, asked the U.S. District Court at Houston Monday for an injunction to block the Astros and the other National League teams from complying with any court order that might send the Braves back to Milwaukee.

—Another antitrust suit, filed last summer by Milwaukee county in U.S. District Court at Milwaukee, has lain largely dormant while the secopd suit has been pursued in Wisconsin state courts.

★ ★ ★

— Also pending since last summer in the Federal Court in Milwaukee — and outdated now —is the Braves' own suit asking for an order to prevent Wisconsin from filing the antitrust suits since begun. The County, by filing counterchareges in its reply to the Braves' suit, converted it into a third antitrust action.

Wisconsin lawyers asked Rolled Monday for the Court order for permission to inspect the 10 National League clubs' profit-and-loss records.

Rouge Loses Top Spot

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Grand Rapids South Christian, impressive in an 89-72 victory over second-ranked Class C Muskegon Christian, replaced River Rouge today as the state's No. 1 Class B team in the weekly Associated Press high school basketball poll.

★ ★ ★

River Rouge fell to second place in a major shakeup in the Class B ratings.

East Detroit in Class A, Frankenmuth in Class C and Covert in Class D remained on top of their respective divisions.

★ ★ ★

The final poll of AP sports writers and sportscasters comes next week on the eve of the state high school basketball tournament.

★ ★ ★

In other Class B changes, Ironwood jumped from seventh to fifth place, Allegan moved up two notches to sixth place, and Portland leaped from 10th to seventh place. St. Louis, dropping two games, slipped four spots to No. 9.

PCH DROPS

Ann Arbor nudged Jackson Parkside out of the Class A rankings, taking over the No. 10 spot. In the only other major change Muskegon Heights took over Pontiac Central's No. 7 spot. The Chiefs fell to the Heights' old No. 9 ranking.

★ ★ ★

Detroit St. Hedwig moved from fourth to second in the Class C rankings by virtue of its 58-56 victory over Orchard Lake St. Mary for the championship of the Detroit Catholic League's second division.

Chicago Star Slowing Pace

'Shadows' Hindering Hull's Goal Tempo

MONTREAL (AP) — Bobby Hull's uninvited escorts are giving the Chicago Black Hawk gunner a run for his money as he draws closer to the National Hockey League season goal-scoring record.

★ ★ ★

After being checked to a standstill by Montreal's Claude Provost last Saturday night, Hull slipped away from his Boston Bruin shadow, Eddie Westfall, the following night and blasted home goal No. 47. He is three short of the single-season mark he shares with retired Montreal stars Maurice Richard and Bernie Geoffrion.

CLOSE WATCH

With 17 games to go, Hull is a safe bet to break the record despite almost constant harassment by the opposing defensive specialists assigned to stop him.

★ ★ ★

Hull, who also picked up an assist against the Bruins, leads the NHL point derby with 77, a margin of 13 over runner-up Norm Ullman of Detroit, according to latest NHL figures released today. Stan Mikita, the leading playmaker with 38 assists, trails Ullman by two points and Detroit's Gordie Howe is fourth with 60.

The leading scorers:

Player, Team	G	A	Pts.
1. Hull, Chicago	47	30	77
2. Ullman, Detroit	28	36	64
3. Mikita, Chicago	24	38	62

HONORED — Jim Crowley, one of Notre Dame's Four Horsemen, today was named to the National Football Foundation Hall of Fame.

Grid Hall Honorees Not Lacking Color

NEW BRUNSWICK, N.J. (AP) — The Old Grey Eagle and Little Boy Blue, the Dutchman and Sleepy Jim, Pappy and a Mule are among the 13 players and a coach who have been elected to the National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame.

Nine players from the modern era, Coach Lynn (Pappy) Waldorf and four players from the pre-1910 era were elected to the Hall Monday and will be inducted later this year.

★ ★ ★

Three of the players, Charlie Conerly of Mississippi, Pete Pihos, Indiana and Norm Van Brocklin of Oregon, went on to fame in the pros, Conerly being dubbed the Old Grey Eagle and Van Brocklin the Dutchman.

Selection to the Hall, however, is based solely on collegiate performance.

POST - 1910

Others from the post-1910 period were Albie Booth, Yale's Little Boy Blue; Dick Kazmaier of Princeton, Aaron Rosenberg of Southern California and Chuck Carney of Illinois—and two members of one of Notre Dame's most famous teams, Sleepy Jim Crowley and Rip Miller.

★ ★ ★

Crowley was one of the famed Four Horsemen, while Miller was one of the linemen dubbed "The Seven Mules."

★ ★ ★

From the pre-1910 era, quarterback John McGovern of Minnesota, halfback John Houghton Hubbard of Amherst, center Frank Juhan of Sewanee and quarterback C. Everett Bacon of Wesleyan were selected.

Waterford Skiers Capture 1st, 2nd

Waterford prepped for Friday's Mount Holly Prep Ski League season — ending loop meet with a boys' victory and a second place in the girls' event yesterday.

Ferndale's girls edged the Waterford misses although the Skippers had a third, fourth and sixth to Ferndale's first, second and seventh. The Eagles combined times were better.

Friday afternoon, the annual league meet for all 13 schools will conclude the schedule slalom competition this season.

Marimont Baptist Plays Big Role in Brigade Loop

Marimont Baptist continues to play a major role in the athletic program of the Christian Service Brigade.

★ ★ ★

Marimont, which gained a share of the lead by upsetting previously unbeaten Waterford Community Church, 38-36, the preceding week in boys' basketball action, rolled to a 70-21 victory last week led by Jim Rich's 31 points.

Larry Kline's 34 paced Waterford CC's 71-31 decision over Oakland Avenue United Presbyterian. Lake Orion Baptist and Five Points CC both were forfeit victors.

In the brigade's recent rifle and archery competition, Marimont won the archery meet over Clarkston First Baptist and Rochester First Baptist. Harold Hall was the top man.

★ ★ ★

The rifle shooting laurels went to Sunnyvale Chapel with Marimont second and Rochester third. The individual winner was Bill Schilling. Dave Sommers was runner-up in both archery and rifle shooting.

BOWLING

Young men continue to make the bowling news with 700 performances locally.

Dan McDonald's first one was a 264-230-225—719 effort for the Shelby Excavating team in the North Hills Lanes' Classic League, which also had a 258-236-214—708 by Art Pearson, his first of the season for West Side Lanes' team.

The other initial ,700 last week was Dave Weitz's 214-226-268—708 for the Oakland vending team which now has a 16-point lead in the Montcalm Bowling Centre's Doubles Classic.

Weitz, in his third season of bowling, has raised his average to 187, 22 pins better than last year's. Among the other fine Montcalm doubles scores were 235 by Pat Tinson, 213-207-200 by George Paulson and 212-211-202 by Mike Flores.

★ ★ ★

In the North Hills action, Calbi Music managed a split with West Side despite Pearson's 708 and gained a share of first place with Tri-County Vending, both only a half point in front of the house team.

At Huron Bowl, the Wednesday Nite "A" League almost had a 700 by teen-ager Billy Pointer. He hit 247-233—691 for pacesetting Triple XXX.

Ed Hummel (Frayer's Appliances) and Maurice Delaney (Huron Bowl Lounge) each bowled 243s and Bob Davis hit 241 for Oxford Mattress.

Detroit Tigers Swing Into Spring Training

26 Batterymen Due Thursday at Tigertown

Pilot Dressen Lauds Work of Two Hurlers in Intra-Squad Game

Joe Sparma are the "three kids" Dressen continually refers to when talking about his staff for 1966. Hank Aguirre and Bill Monbouquette are Dressen's choices to round out the starting five.

Based on last year's figures this fivesome started 161 games. Lolich had 37 starts with a 15-9 record, Monbouquette at Boston started 35 games with a final mark of 10-18.

Aguirre had 32 starts with a 14-10 record, McLain started 29 and was 16-6 and Sparma started 28 and was 13-8. Dave Wickersham, whom Dressen wants primarily for the bullpen, started 25 and was 9-14 for the season.

Sparma yesterday was the latest to report to camp, leaving only Monbouquette hte lone probable starter not reported.

A total of 21 pitchers and five catchers will be in camp Thursday when all batterymen are due.

★ ★ ★

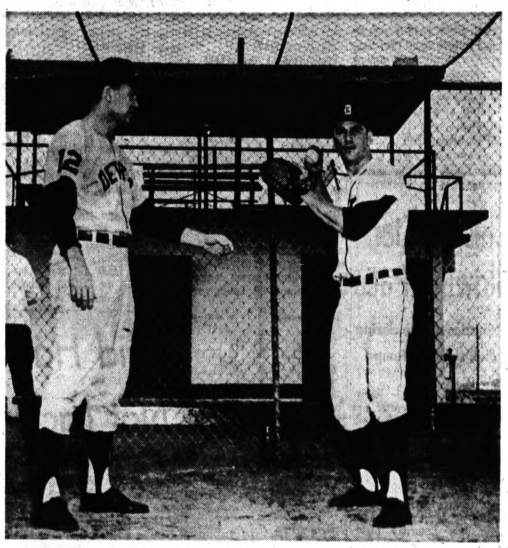
Yesterday, the Tigertown rookie squad took part in a four-inning game, with Frank Skaff's Black Soxers defeating Pat Mullin's Stripers, 2-0. Eight pitchers went one inning each and Dressen made special comments to Daryl Patterson, a 22-year-old right-hander from Tollhouse, Calif. He is 6-4 and 196 pounds, and was drafted from the Dodger farm system in 1964.

Leo Marentette, 25-year-old righty from Garden City also received special praise from the manager.

The Tigers announced that the fifth catcher in camp Thursday would be Jackie Moore, who has been wandering in the minors since 1956. He was with Detroit shortly last year and finished at Syracuse, playing in only 37 games.

SPECIAL INSTRUCTION — Detroit Tiger pitchers Hank Aguirre (left) and Mickey Lolich (second from right), two of the weakest hitting hurlers in the major leagues, take a close look at the batting swing of Al Kaline. The outfielder is a former American League batting champion. Manager Charlie Dressen, wants victories more than hits from the two southpaws who flank him.

Pontiac Press Photos



RATES HIGH — Mike Roarke (left), former Tiger catcher and now a coach, helps tutor Arlo Brunsberg, a 190-pounder, who the Tigers hope will make a strong bid for the No. 3 catching job. Brunsberg batted .281 at Montgomery last year and hit 17 homers. There is talk that Roarke may become a player-coach.

OPPOSITE SIDES — Frank Skaff (left) and Pat Mullin are the rival coaches in the Detroit Tigers' spring training camp. Mullin's half of the early spring camp roster is called the Stripes. Skaff's unit is termed the Black Soxers. The first squad game was played yesterday.

Bengals, Lakeland Invest in Future

LAKELAND, Fla. — Investment in the future is reciprocal for the Detroit Tigers and the city of Lakeland.

The Tigers have signed a five year contract to train in Lakeland with an option of renewing each five years.

The city of Lakeland has made a $500,000 investment in the Tigers' spring home by building Marchant Stadium as part of the big Tigertown complex where minor league prospects have groomed since 1953.

Marchant Stadium replaces Henley Field where Tiger teams have worked out since 1934.

The impressive new stadium permits the Tigers to centralize all spring activities including general offices in one location.

Total seating for Marchant Stadium is approximately 5,000 — almost twice that of Henley Field. There are 400 box seats, 3,800 grandstand and 800 bleacher seats.

The parking area around the stadium covers 12 acres.

The Tigers had a strong voice in the design of their new spring home. City officials conferred constantly with vice president Jim Campbell and other Detroit baseball officials to assure the best possible facilities.

PLAYERS EXCITED

Tiger coaches and players are real excited about the new facilities.

"It sure is impressive," said Al Kaline, one of the first to visit its interior, "and the stadium turf is as fine as I've seen in any major league park."

Early arrivals in camp, Hank Aguirre and Mickey Lolich, were first to try out the pitching mound, and of course manager Charlie Dressen had to get a bird's eye view from the still-incomplete dugout which measures 60 feet in length.

The fences down each foul line measure 340 feet and it's 420 feet to the centerfield corner.

There is no doubt that the Tigers are in Lakeland to stay. They might get to favor their spring home.

FROM ACROSS THE RIVER — Several Canadians are listed on the Tigers' training roster. Considered top prospects are infielder Larry Haggett (center) of Leamington, Ont., and Mike Kilkenny (right) of Bradford, Ont., a pitcher who had a 14-15 record at Daytona last year. Coach George Spencer talks to the pair.

BRAND NAME — In the batting cage at Tigertown, where he was being tutored by coaches, is a well known name in baseball — Cepeda. He is Jose Cepeda, the younger brother of San Francisco star Orlando Cepeda.

Two Catchers Impressive

LAKELAND, Fla.—A pair of catchers have been getting special attention from Tiger coaches in batting and fielding drills.

Coach Frank Skaff watched and was impressed by receivers Arlo Brunsberg, one of the players protected on the major league roster, and Jim Handley, a well built catcher who was obtained in the deal with the Mets when the Tigers gave up Ron Nischwitz.

★ ★ ★

Brunsberg, a 25-year-old catcher from Feftile, Minn., has been in the Detroit farm system for four years.

Last year he hit 17 home runs and batted .281 at Montgomery. He stands 6-feet and goes 190 pounds.

"Has a good arm," said chief scout Ed Katatlinas. "Right now he stands as our No. 3 receiver."

Handley stands 6-3 and weighs 210 pounds, and hails from Pine Bluff, Ark. He is 23 and attended Mississippi State University.

Manager Charley Dressen was especially impressed with Handley at the plate.

★ ★ ★

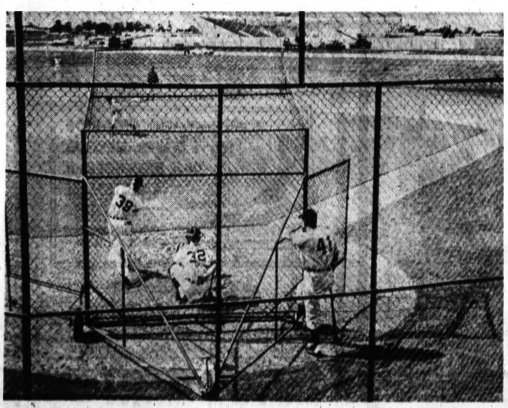
"Those wrists look strong and see how he meets the ball, that's a good sign," Dressen noted.

Handley proceeded to meet the ball with four sharp liners to left and left center.

"It would be nice to know we might have gotten a sleeper in that deal, "Dressen concluded.

Marchant Stadium---Tigers' New Spring Training Home

OVERSEER—Ed Katalinas, chief scout for the Tigers, keeps an eye on the rookies from a vantage point behind one of the several training fields at Tigertown. The veteran scout signed several of the players on the current spring roster.



BATTING PRACTICE — A Tiger rookie takes his cuts during batting practice at Tigertown. New Marchant Stadium can be seen in the background.

Oliva's Batting Goal: Three-for-Three

MIAMI (UPI) — Tony Oliva has a lot of Willie Mays in him.

He's always ready to laugh, he's always ready to play and above all he's always ready to hit.

★ ★ ★

Within the next 24 hours or so, Tony is going to put all his clothes in his car, drive the 230 miles to the Minnesota Twins' spring training site at Orlando and begin preparing for his third straight American League batting title.

Oliva, a Cuban native whose English still cries out for help from Berlitz, is practically oblivious to all baseball records.

He doesn't know, for example, that he stands squarely in line of becoming the first American Leaguer to win three consecutive batting crowns since Ty Cobb did it 47 years ago.

And if someone happens to mention the possibility, the 25-year-old Minnesota outfielder merely laughs.

"I gonna try," he says. "You never know."

SAID SAME THING

Essentially, that's the same thing he said exactly a year ago after he hit .323 to become the first rookie batting champ ever in 1964 and they asked him whether he thought he could repeat in 1965.

Despite injuries, he did it with an average of .321 and although he now has two in a row going, he still isn't completely sold on his ability.

"I'm a lucky hitter," he says. "I hit ball, it falls in. I don't think it's all myself. If you not lucky, you're in bad shape. So far I'm lucky."

Oliva smiles when he says it, but you get the feeling he isn't trying to put you on. He is trying to be as honest as he knows how and no matter how good a hitter everyone else claims he is, Tony only smiles.

★ ★ ★

Mel Stottlemyre, the Yankee's 20-game winner, has just about given up on Oliva.

He's the only hitter I haven't found a way to get out with any kind of pitch," says the Yankee siskerball ace.

Relay that message to Tony and guess what? He smiles and shrugs his shoulders. He also manages to change the subject beautifully.

"Sam McDowell, Cleveland," replies Oliva. "He very tough to hit."

Tony underwent two separate operations this past October. He has a chipped bone removed from the middle finger of his right hand and some calcium deposits taken out of his right knee.

"Feels good now," said Oliva, extending his middle finger which still shows faint scars from the surgery. "Knee is fine, too."

★ ★ ★

Sherry Robertson, who heads up the Twins' farm and scouting systems, remembers how impressed Mickey Mantle was the first time he ever saw Oliva.

"Too bad you're seeing him with a bum finger," Robertson told Mantle.

Mickey was silent for a long time. Later, while Robertson was in the middle of an entirely different subject, the unbelieving Mantle broke in to inquire:

"You mean to tell me Oliva is an even better hitter yet?"

There are those who think he's the best one to come along since Ted Williams and that with him in the lineup, the Twins will win again this year.

When you ask Tony what he thinks of Minnesota's chances, he smiles again.

"We got a lotta spirit," he says. "We'll make a good try."

'Madame Butterfly' Star

Negro Sings His Way to Met

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

LOS ANGELES — When a home-town boy makes the grade with the Metropolitan Opera Company, it's cause for civic pride.

In the case of Bert Lindsey Jr., there's more to the story: he is also a Negro.

THOMAS

Lindsey, 25, has been singing at the Music Center with the Met's touring national company, his principal role being Prince Yamidori in "Madame Butterfly." It is an oddity of fate that the Music Center is across the street from the Department of Water and Power.

The significance? A year ago Lindsey was working for the department as a meter reader.

It has been a dizzying year for Bert Lindsey, and he still has trouble believing that it has all happened. He has gone from a $512 monthly salary reading meters to $175 a week as a Met singer. He has also seen New York, Canada and many cities of the United States for the first time.

STARTED EARLY

"This is the first time I've every really earned money from singing," he said, "although there was that time on a train in Louisiana. I guess I started singing early, because it's one of my first memories.

"I was with my aunt on a train in Louisiana, and it must have been during World War II; there were a lot of soldiers on the train. I sang a sogg and afterwards a soldier took off his hat and collected coins from the other passengers and gave them to me."

Lindsey never realized his voice was anything unusual until he was in junior high school. Born in East St. Louis, Ill., he attended Los Angeles schools, and music teachers recognized his talent. He starred in glee clubs and choirs and won scholarships to study music at local universities.

His mother helped support his studies with her earnings as a domestic and short-order cook. Lindsey worked as a stock clerk and custodian for Los Angeles County.

AUDITIONS FOR MET

"Then I read one Sunday about auditions for the Met's national company and I went to the Greek Theater to try out," he recalled. "I sang an aria from 'Tosca' and they said they'd call me."

In this case, they did call him and the contract resulted. The only drawback was that it required prolonged absences from his wife, Sandra, and their three young children.

* * *

"The separation hasn't been easy for me or for them," he admitted. "But if my career develops, I'll probably move them to New York, where we can be together more."

Lindsay is the only Negro singer in the national company. He was asked if his race were a drawback in opera.

NO DRAWBACK

"I don't think so," he replied. "Certainly Leontyne Price and George Shirley have proved that Negroes can succeed in opera.

* * *

"I don't anticipate any barriers in my career. There certainly are none in the popular music field, so why should there be in any in opera?"

Two Protesters Get Deferments Back

ANN ARBOR (UPI) — Two more University of Michigan students, both from New York, were notified yesterday they will have their student deferments returned after being reclassified 1A for their part in an anti-Viet Nam demonstration.

* * *

The two, Paul Kanter, a junior from Huntington, N.Y., and Richard Gordon, a freshman from Merriak, N.Y., are the third and fourth students to have their deferments returned.

* * *

Ten students were reclassified 1A after taking part in a sit-in demonstration at the Ann Arbor draft office to protest the war.

Fee to Help Pay for OU Health Center

Oakland University will levy a $5 student health fee on each enrollment beginning in the fall semester, according to Thomas B. Dutton, dean of students.

The money will help finance a planned student Health Center.

Plans for the size and the location of the facility are not yet complete, reported Dutton.

"Originally, we were considering a small unit which would accommodate 20 to 22 students for limited, minor emergency care," said Dutton.

★ ★ ★

"This unit would later be expanded. Now the possibility of starting with a larger center is under consideration.

BEST LOCATION

"We are actively trying to determine the best location of the proposed center and the most advantageous size," he concluded.

It is planned the new Health Center facility will be ready for student use in 1967.

A Sad Sequel to Incident of Tree-Felling

SANTA CRUZ, Calif. (AP) — When George Washington chopped down a cherry tree and admitted it, the legend says, he went on to become the father of his country.

A different fate has overtaken two Cabrillo Junior College students. Peter Larsen, 20, a forestry major, and Merton White, 21, chopped down two 65-foot redwood trees on the new Santa Cruz campus of the University of California to settle an argument about who could fell a tree more accurately.

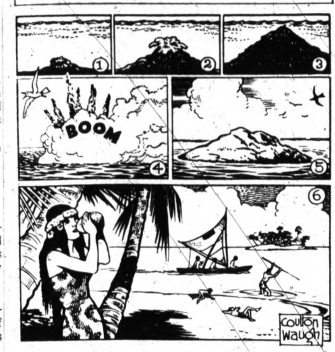
Who won is not recorded, but Monday Municipal Court Judge James Scoppetoni sentenced both to two years probation, with 30 days each to be spent on the 2,000-acre University of California campus planting new trees.

Heart Attack Fatal for Maryland Mayor

GAITHERSBURG, Md. (AP) — Mayor Merton F. Duvall, 61, suffered a fatal heart attack during a meeting of the Gaithersburg City Council Monday night.

Duvall, who had been mayor 12 years, toppled over a table while talking with city officials. About 50 persons were in the City Hall chamber for the council meeting.

A Junior Editors Quiz About ISLANDS



QUESTION: How do islands rise out of the sea?

★ ★ ★

ANSWER: Most new islands have been created by volcanoes under the water. Masses of molten rock from the hot places under the earth's crust find weak places where there are fissures or cracks.

Suddenly, as in (1) a mass of such hot lava breaks through.

It makes a pile of material, and as more underwater eruptions occur, the pile rises higher (2).

At last, the mass is close to the surface (3). If more flows up, there is a tremendous explosion as tons of hot rock burst through the water, creating clouds of hissing steam (4).

Now a new island appears to float on the surface (5) though actually it is the top of a mountain.

Through the action of wind and rain, soil is formed. Plant seeds from the upper air drift down and take root.

A few animals may be carried in on floating debris. Sometimes such an island will sink slightly below the surface. Then coral will grow around its edge and reach up to the surface, leading to a circular island called an atoll.

Coconuts will be thrown by storm on such islands, and taking root, will grow to trees giving refreshing drink and food as well as shade.

Many of the romantic South Seas islands have been formed in one or the other of these ways. The Hawaiian Islands are probably crest of volcanoes risen from the sea.

★ ★ ★

FOR YOU TO DO: Color the picture, trying to get the romantic feeling of tropical islands—the sea is a light green-ish blue, the girl's dress brilliant red.

Romney: Back to Principles

SIOUX FALLS, S. D. (UPI) — Michigan Gov. George Romney yesterday called for a return to the basic principles on which the United States is built and for the Republican party to tell of the superior programs it can offer.

Romney was the headline speaker at a GOP fund-raising dinner honoring South Dakota Gov. Nils Boe.

Romney said the principles which made Abraham Lincoln a great president are those which the Republican party should return to and work for to become a majority party once again.

Romney, who is considered presidential timber, said he believes the most serious domestic problems are a lack of religious conviction, lack of a moral conviction, lack of patriotism and the breakup of family life.

★ ★ ★

Romney also paid tribute to Boe as being a man like Lincoln in that he cares for people and their problems.

Belated Yule Real 'Cool,' Says State GI

JACKSON (AP)—Airman 2C. Thomas Polich arrived home from Viet Nam and helped take down the family Christmas tree —two months late or 10 months early.

The 22-year-old airman's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward T. Polic, vowed at Christmas they would not take their tree down until Thomas—serving at Bien Hoa Air Base — could see it.

★ ★ ★

"The most beautiful sight I have ever seen was those Christmas tree lights all lit up as we turned the corner of our street," Thomas said.

Polich arrived in the United States Jan. 25, but a mix-up in orders kept him at Travis Air Force Base, Calif., until Saturday.

His first reaction to being back home was: "It's cold."

Polich said he left Viet Nam with temperatures near the 100 mark. It was in the 30s and 40s in California. The mercury has hovered near the zero mark for the past few days in Jackson.

Prick by Thorn Is Fatal

CATANIA, Sicily (UPI) — Mrs. Agata Garufi, 54, who pricked her finger on a thorn while picking roses three weeks ago, died yesterday. Doctors said she contracted tetanus, and by the time her husband brought her to the hospital it was too late to save her life.

School Funds Not Being Used

By Esther Van Wagoner Tuffy

WASHINGTON — Some Michigan school districts are failing to develop programs to use the funds under the Elementary and Secondary School act, according to John F. Hughes, director of the program's operations over at the U.S. Office of Education.

★ ★ ★

The main reason: red tape.

Michigan's allotment was $34,734,957 with an additional 1 per cent for state administration.

Some 25 per cent of this large amount has not been obligated and the deadline is July 1, 1966.

★ ★ ★

Director Hughes suspects that "some local school administrators, inexperienced in designing projects need help in preparing their applications."

MANY HOURS

He admits the red tape in designing a comprehensive program requiring many manhours of work and that gathering the data required to complete the application forms may be very tedious, expecially for small school districts,

As a remedy he suggests a visit to state educational agencies to smooth out problems.

He lists as the "most easily implemented projects: remedial services including hiring of full and part-time specialists, teachers' aides, extension of regular school offerings such as extra classes on weekends, vocational, education, preschool classes.

Certain supportive services may be desirable and necessary to reinforce educational activities, Hughes mentioned, but they should not constitute a whole program or a complete project.

★ ★ ★

In this connection, psychological and social workers, teacher in-service training programs, and recreation.

Just the same the Office of Education is encouraged with the progress "in getting such a big nationwide program in operation."

Lost Gold Located, Five Texans Believe

SAN SABA, Tex. (AP) — Five Texans believe they have cracked the secret of the lost San Saba gold mine.

They say samples of ore they have mined from limestone hills 90 miles northwest of Austin have been assayed out at $467.60 a ton by the Colorado Assaying Co. of Denver.

★ ★ ★

The first large shipment of ore they have mined is to be processed early in March.

They think they'll know then whether they will become millionaires.

PARTNERSHIP FORMED

The five, who have formed a partnership, are Orville and Aaron Cummins and R. R. McCoy of Lampasas and T. S. Lemons and his son, T. S. Lemons Jr., of Bend, a San Saba County town.

They have done the preliminary mining themselves with makeshift gear. Trucks with heavy equipment were to arrive this week to throw the operation into high gear.

★ ★ ★

The mine is located on the elder Lemons' 3,300 acres, of cattle and sheep land near this hill country community.

The men have sunk a 37-foot shaft into a hillside and have hauled out 210 tons of ore.

NOTICED NUGGET

T. S. Lemons Jr. 40, noticed a sparkling nugget at a low-water point in the Colorado River in the summer of 1964. His find was in the vicinity of the lost San Saba gold mine, abandoned by Spanish soldiers in 1758, according to legend.

T. S. Jr. loaded several five-gallon buckets with the ore and took them to Lampasas to Aaron and Orville Cummins, a dirt contractor and geologist, respectively.

★ ★ ★

A sample was shipped to Colorado and a report of "gold in them thar hills" came back.

The men searched for miles through the prickly pear and Spanish dagger that cover the countryside, looking for the source of the gold ore.

The search always came back to a large, red-veined boulder sticking out from a limestone ledge.

MARKINGS FOUND

North of the boulder they found directions carved in the side of an old tree. Further east, they came across Spanish markings and two drill holes bored into the hillside.

They theorized that the bluff had been blasted away to hide the gold vein, sending rich ore crashing into an arroyo below.

★ ★ ★

On a nearby hill lay the ruins of an ancient smelter and traces of copper and silver slag, they said.

That's where they started digging, and that's where they found their $467.60 a ton ore, they said.

★ ★ ★

"We weren't looking for rooms filled with gold bars," said Cummins. "We just wanted to find out what mother nature had buried here."

Legend has it that 2,000 Comanche Indians attacked the Spanish mine and fort in 1758, two years after the operation had begun, driving the white men away and shutting down the mine.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

Wilson Calls Soupy Sales Sales' Own Best Salesman

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—This is a time of uncertainty—and among the dire possibilities that one must weigh as he scrawls his will is the suggestion that the Charles Chaplin of 1970 may be Soupy Sales.

Loudest, most enthusiastic of the believers that the next comic genius will be Soupy Sales is . . . Soupy Sales.

Yet I find no braggadociocity in Soupy, who says, among other things, that his gifts include getting fired.

"Getting fired is a part of growing up," he says, trying to count the times he's been fired . . . and losing track . . . throwing up his hands.

WILSON

"I fly in this picture, 'Birds Do It,' which we made down in North Miami," Soupy said the other night in the Voisin. "And I run on water. Even Sammy Davis and Moses can't do that."

Soupy had swung around the table and was paying more attention to me than to his steak au poivre . . . a nice characteristic I will probably never master. To me, the steak au poivre is always going to be the thing to attend to, even more than the lady with you. So Soupy may some day be the Ambassador to St. James' and I will still be the slob chasing down items, mostly wrong.

"Yeah, I fly through bridges . . . horizontal . . . perpendicular . . . any way I want to fly . . . without a plane," Soupy said.

"On piano wire," he explained. "It's so thin you can hardly see it, but it will hold 200 pounds. There's a scene where I fly over Dean Martin playing golf. I yell down to him, 'Use the 4 iron!' "

The picture was shot in what may be the second film capital of the U.S., North Miami, Fla. Soupy's at Cape Kennedy, allegedly a brilliant scientist. One day when the enemy's trying to knock him off, he gets ionized, and finds he can fly without a plane.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Bob Holiday of "Superman" had trouble with his final "flying" exit at the Phila. premiere. He said dramatically, "Up . . . up . . . up"—but the cable that was supposed to lift him didn't work, and he trudged off stage . . . Tommy Steele's "Half a Sixpence" replacement (March 21) will be Tony Tanner.

The London company of "Hello Dolly!" (minus Mary Martin) will replace the Las Vegas company in Vegas; Betty Grable stays on . . . Larry Blyden gave a party at Gallagher's for his new girlfriend, Gloria Dresden.

REMEMBERED QUOTE: "The biggest problem with becoming wise is that you suddenly realize how foolish you've been."—Danville (Ind.) Gazette.

EARL'S PEARLS: A baby-sitter, we're told, is "a teen-ager who gets $1.50 an hour to eat $5 worth of your food."

Bobby Goldsboro was asked to join a volunteer theatrical group. It'll put on shows for people stuck in self-service elevators. . . . That's earl, brother.

Skin Divers Recover Body After Accident

JACKSON (AP) — The body of a Grass Lake man who apparently drowned while trying to break through the ice after his car overturned in five feet of water in Portage Drain was recovered Monday by skin divers.

Jackson County sheriff's men said Charles Burkes, 42, apparently crawled through the rear window of his car after it ran off Wooster Road five miles northeast of Jackson Sunday night but was unable to break through a two-inch cover of ice.

Aged Pair Seek a New Career

DETROIT (AP)—An elderly retired couple, facing unwanted idleness has left Detroit for a new career.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward A. Malasky will spend the next 10 months in New Haven, Conn., working for the Volunteers for Service in America (VISTA) program.

* * *

They'll be helping others adjust to retirement.

Malasky, 73, retired nine years ago as an industrial executive. His wife, 72, retired last year as a schoolteacher.

"There was just too much idleness," Malasky said, before he and his wife left the city Monday.

Malasky will spend most of his time working on projects for retirees. Mrs. Malasky will concentrate in the mental health field.

* * *

Both recently completed a special training course in Chicago where they lived in a settlement house among elderly people.

"My wife worked in a clinic where former mental patients could unload their problems," Malasky said.

Malasky said their decision to seek a new life resulted partly from the fact that their house is being removed to make way for a new freeway.

Faced with the prospect of moving to an apartment or a home for the elderly, Malasky said "we have no desire to spend our remaining years in idleness."

Malasky has previous experience in working with retired people. He organized a club for retirees at a church.

He found that "retired men want to take part in activities with their wives" and also that retired people like to work in gardens.

Third Child for John Waynes

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The wife of movie actor John Wayne, Pilar, gave birth to a daughter today at West Valley Hospital. It was their third child.

The infant, 6 pounds, 14½ ounces, had not been named, a spokesman for the family said.

The baby was born on the 4th birthday of the couple's son, John Ethan. Their other child is Aissa 10.

Wayne, 58, a perennial top draw at the movie boxoffice, has four grown children by a previous marriage. He has been married three times.

Panel Eyes Drinking by Teen-Agers

LANSING (AP)—Thirty adults spent three hours Monday trying to figure out what to do about teen-age drinking. They agreed they will have to spend more hours on the complex problem before they're ready with any specific solutions.

Clergymen, social workers, attorneys, medical doctors, educators and tavern and liquor store owners outlined problems and offered solutions.

★ ★ ★

Recommendations ranged from stiffer penalties for youngsters who regularly get liquor and beer to better textbooks and teacher training.

"This committee is willing to do anything to prevent this problem from getting any more out of hand," said Chairman Edward Michalski, D-Detroit.

ANOTHER MEETING

Michalski said he would call another meeting in a few months to ask for definite suggestions.

Education, the educators agreed, must be geared to helping the youngsters make intelligent decisions about alcohol. To do this, they need advanced textbooks and teachers trained in the field.

The state would have to provide more money for development and implementation of alcohol studies programs, they said, and teacher training institutions would have to turn out more specialists.

"Our purpose must not be to teach the students not to drink—and certainly it must not be to teach them to drink," said Harold Wagner of the State Department of Education. "We must educate them in such a way as to help them make intelligent choices."

Most agreed that such education had to start at or near the junior high school level.

Rep. Frank Crowley, D-Clarkston, said the committee tried last year and would try again to increase appropriations to the Committee on Alcoholism and Education of the State Department of Education.

Women of 2 Worlds Meet in Mossler Murder Trial

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Four years ago Candace Mossler, with costly frocks and a $5,000-a-month household allowance, was the pampered wife of multimillionaire Jacques Mossler.

Lois Constance Mulvey was then what she is today — a woman married to a professional thief and trying to raise three children.

Monday, in a courtroom, Candace Mossler and Lois Mulvey came face to face for the first time.

If there was any similarity between them, it was that both are without their husbands — Mrs. Mossler's died a violent death, and Mrs. Mulvey's is back behind prison bars.

The attractive Mrs. Mossler, still expensively groomed, is on trial with her nephew, Melvin Lane Powers, in the June 30, 1964, slaying of her husband. The state says aunt and nephew designed the murder in furtherance of an illicit love affair.

The trial resumes today with further defense testimony.

★ ★ ★

The state rested Monday after three weeks' testimony, including that of Billy Frank Mulvey, 35.

Mrs. Mulvey, 37, her husband a Texas State Penitentiary convict, was the first witness called in defense of Candace Mossler. A sort witness with no makeup and wearing low-heel black shoes, she was asked whether she and her husband were together in 1962, while he was between prison stretches.

LIVED TOGETHER

"Yes, we were living together during the entire year," she replied. "He just did roofing work. He didn't work all the time, not steady work, just part-time."

Her husband, Billy Frank, had testified in colorful prison jargon, that in 1962 Mrs. Mossler gave him a $7,000 down payment to kill her husband, in a deal that never went through. Expansively, Mulvey explained, that he spent the money buying clothes — "a whole bunch of clothes for my old lady and me."

"He bought some clothes for us," Mrs. Mulvey testified. "About $60 maybe, and that's what he spent. He bought the children some blue jeans and T-shirts. He bought me two pair of slacks, a pair of shoes and a purse."

Asked if her husband had been a dope addict, Mrs. Mulvey, her tired voice edged into occasional shrillness by obvious nervousness, replied:

"Yes, he has, about 13 or 14 years, I guess."

SHOOT HEROIN

"Did you ever see him shoot heroin?"

"Yes, many times," said Billy Frank Mulvey's wife.

★ ★ ★

Mulvey had testified that Powers told him when they were cell mates in 1964 in the Harris County jail in Houston, Tex., that "he killed Jacques Mossler."

"Has Billy Frank Mulvey ever mentioned Mrs. Candace Mossler to you?" Mrs. Mulvey was asked.

NEGATIVE ANSWER

"No," she said.

"Did he ever mention Melvin Lane Powers?"

"No," Mrs. Mulvey repeated, her eyes wandering from one defendant to the other.

The defense claims that Mulvey testified against Mrs. Mossler and Powers in a deal whereby he escaped a life sentence as a habitual criminal. He can't remember the number of times he's been arrested.

Romney Nominee Vetoed by Senate

LANSING (AP) — The Senate rejected Monday the nomination of a Dearborn insurance executive whom Gov. George Romney picked to succeed a Romney political foe on the Michigan Employment Security Commission.

A 21-16 vote went against Frank C. Padzieski, named to a four-year term succeeding former State Sen. George Higgins of Ferndale.

Higgins ran unsuccessfully against Romney for the 1964 Republican gubernatorial nomination.

Urban Developer Enthused About Pontiac's Potential

MAKE OVER PAGES

By DAVID J. COOK

For a fellow who thinks big, the man who may be destined to call the shots on urban renewal in Pontiac is markedly reluctant to talk about himself.

"For heaven's sake," said A. Alfred Taubman, "don't write the article about me."

"Write about the project."

But as Taubman talked of plans to regrow a downtown Pontiac, it became hard to separate the man from the spirit of the new business center he envisions.

Taubman — Pontiac Central High School, Class of '42 — is dynamic, self-made, open to ideas and no newcomer to the relatively modern concept of urban renewal.

SIGNS LEASES

His company, with headquarters in Detroit and offices in New York and San Francisco, signs leases for over 300 retail outlets each year.

Often, his business is carried out at an altitude of 18,000 feet in the private quarters of his DC3.

He speaks with experience of what he thinks Pontiac needs.

★ ★ ★

"Our job in urban renewal," Taubman said, "is to repeat in a stronger fashion what the suburban shopping center has done.

ALL FACILITIES

"I'm talking about free parking, an air-conditioned mall, all the facilities of the suburban setup plus the convenience of the downtown location.

"The concentrated population and the traffic flow make the urban center a natural.

"And we're coming into one of the most competitive retail markets since the beginning of time.

★ ★ ★

"You walk into any store and they've got everything everybody else has."

The 42-year-old Taubman, a resident of Oak Park, expressed enthusiasm for the opportunity in Pontiac as well as praise for the attitude of city officials.

"In any enterprise, there can be obstacles," he said. "Here, we're not just renovating something—we're making a whole thing over. We're recreating.

"And to succeed, we've got to induce the large department stores to come into the area along with local merchants."

Taubman said the project, as it now stands, will at various times demand the services of some 1,000 workers, from construction employes up through whitecollar posts.

★ ★ ★

Undaunted by the size of the task faced by his company and the city of Pontiac, Taubman is frankly optimistic.

"From the positive way Pontiac's city officials have approached this," he said, "I can see very few problems."

KREMLIN DISCUSSION — British Prime Minister Harold Wilson (left) and Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin converse in the Kremlin today with the aid of an interpreter before starting formal talks on world problems. Over 600 Cast Votes in Orion's Primary

The interest in Lake Orion village government awakened by continual controversy during the past year was demonstrated yesterday when over 600 voters cast their primary ballots.

The total of 602 represented 70 per cent of the total voter registration and was over 120 more than voted in last year's general election.

Although there was primary opposition for only three council seats and the office of assessor, the Village party slate, headed by Oakland County Civil Defense Director Wallace C. Crane, outpolled the Citizens party candidates by better than 2-to-1.

Crane, who received 396 votes, will be opposed in the March 14 general elections by incumbent Village President Clarence B. Rossman, who received 163.

Incumbent Clerk Mary Parkinson received 371 votes. She

Dems Argue; Dzendzel Still Senate Leader

LANSING (AP)—Senate Democrats, some dissatisfied with their leadership, argued behind closed doors for three hours last night, but when they were finished, Sen. Raymond Dzendzel, D-Detroit, was still majority leader.

★ ★ ★

A faction of the 23-member majority caucus met earlier at a Brighton restaurant to plan their strategy but at the caucus did not offer any formal motion to replace Dzendzel.

Their compromise candidate was to have been John Bowman of Roseville, Senate president pro-tem.

Instead, the dissidents reportedly won some concessions that a more formalized caucus legislative program would be formulated.

★ ★ ★

Some senators maintain that Democratic-oriented goals such as a higher minimum wage and more funds for mental health and schools ought to be pushed harder.

They have also criticized Dzendzel for his recent positions favoring the so-called stop and frisk law for policemen and his resolution asking state universities to ban Communist speakers on campus.

Leslie H. Hudson to investigate the possibility of amending the city's ordinance prohibiting additional public housing here.

This would mean revision of ordinance 1270, an 11-year-old measure.

Hudson, who indicated the public housing ban would be lifted for the specific senior citizens project, said Pontiac should be considering apartments for senior citizens.

★ ★ ★

He added that such housing had been a topic of discussion for two years.

FEDERAL COST

Low-cost apartments, patterned after a six-story project in Dearborn, would be entirely financed by the federal government.

City officials reportedly are considering a site in the R20 urban renewal project.

Hudson said the best way to judge the worth of senior citizen housing is to see it.

Labor Chiefs, Wirtz Confer

Discontent Growing Over Pay Guidelines

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The AFL-CIO drafts further argument today against a White House proposal to limit wage increases, while Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz tries to patch holes in the Johnson administration's alliance with organized labor.

Wirtz is staying an extra day to talk with officials of the big labor federation, who yesterday rejected his pleas to heed President Johnson's wage guidelines.

Wirtz reportedly found deeper discontent among the labor chiefs than he had bargained for.

"I think he got the message," said one member of the AFL-CIO Executive Council which held several hours of talks with Wirtz behind closed doors.

The federation's Economic Council today begins drafting a report which is expected to bolster opposition to any federal plan to restrict wage demands without also controlling increases in prices and profits.

The report, informed sources said, also will argue that the nation's strong economy can afford both the guns of its war needs in Viet Nam and the butter of Johnson's "Great Society" program.

The federation is expected to urge Johnson and Congress to impose excess profit taxes on corporations instead of trying to hold down the income of wage earners.

In another meeting, AFL-CIO maritime officials meet to map plans for their threatened boycott of hundreds of foreign ships — including those of U.S. allies — that deal with North Viet Nam.

Korea Final Stopover in Veep's Tour

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey arrived in Seoul today on the last leg of a nine-nation Asian tour as the South Korean government appeared ready to send more combat troops to Viet Nam.

Humphrey's 21-hour stopover was expected to seal a U.S.-South Korean agreement to increase substantially the 20,000-man Korean force in Viet Nam.

Premier Chung Il-kwon, Foreign Minister Lee Tong and U.S. Ambassador Winthrop G. Brown greeted Humphrey on his arrival from Manila.

Before his departure from the Philippines, Humphrey optimistically said the allies in Viet Nam "could see the light at the end of the tunnel."

In Seoul, an official of the ruling Democratic Republic party said about the time of Humphrey's arrival that the government would send a bill to the

Find 38 Dead in Communist Triangle Area

Bombers Drop Loads to Support Advance of U. S. Cavalrymen

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Thousands of American fighting men hunted the Viet Cong on two fronts today after a flight of B52s bombed only a few miles ahead of them to crumble Communist defenses.

Troops of the U.S. 1st Cavalry, Airmobile Division, found 38 Viet Cong dead and evidence of considerably more Red casualties after moving into a Communist triangle 10 to 12 miles south of Bong Son in the coastal plains 300 miles northeast of Saigon.

At times the eight-engine Air Force bombers from Guam dropped their 500- and 750-pound bombs only two to three miles in front of the advancing cavalrymen.

U. S. spokesmen said the air cavalry killed another 20 Viet Cong yesterday raising the division's total of Communist dead since it began operations in the rice fields on the South China Sea coast Jan. 25 to a total of 1,130.

In the jungles 35 miles northwest of Saigon, thousands of U.S. infantrymen began Operation Mastiff in an attempt to cripple Viet Cong forces operating on the capital's doorstep.

Car Exec, Prof Clash on Safety

LANSING (AP) — A pathologist said nearly half of the nation's auto fatalities could be avoided by safer cars, but a Ford Motor Co. executive accused him of an "inflammatory vindictive, totally biased attack."

The clash came at the end of a 9½-hour Senate Highway Committee hearing yesterday into vehicle safety at which vice presidents of the four major auto companies spoke generally against design standards.

The committee is examining proposed car-design legislation.

Paul W. Gikas, assistant professor of pathology at University of Michigan medical school, showed the committee a series of accident study slides including full-color details of body organs damaged in accidents.

He blamed faulty door locks, protruding knobs, sharp objects and decorative chrome for causing deaths or being so located that fatalities could result.

★ ★ ★

"Forty-three per cent of accidents occur under 'survivable' conditions," he said.

FROM CONTACT

He explained this meant the driver's or passenger's compartment in the car was not essentially damaged but the victim was thrown about so that he died from contact with something outside his normal riding area.

Gikas said he had no complaint about auto maker development of operational safety features such as turn signals and dual brakes.

But he said little effort has been spent in crash attenuation —making the driver's or passenger's immediate environment safer in event an accident does occur.

★ ★ ★

John S. Bugas, a Ford vice president, said that with study, "much of Gikas' material has rational, valid answer."

'LURID PICTURES'

But Bugas claimed that Gikas was "a man of science using inflammatory tactics such as calling a gearshift lever a dagger and showing gory, lurid pictures. . .He submits as faith that people could have survived these accidents.

"I was afraid he was going to pitch forward on his head against the microphone—then

Soviets Urged to Push Peace

Kosygin Brushes Off British Chief's Plea

MOSCOW (AP) — British Prime Minister Harold Wilson called on Soviet leaders today to help promote unconditional peace talks on Viet Nam before the war there spreads through Asia and possibly the world.

But Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin brushed aside Wilson's appeal, demanding instead acceptance of North Viet Nam's terms for a peace parley. These have been rejected both by the Saigon and U.S. governments.

Kosygin insisted any settlement must fulfill the 1954 Geneva agreements and then he added what amounted to a rejection of Wilson's call:

"A realistic basis for the solution of the Vietnamese problem in the spirit of the Geneva agreement is the known four points of the Democratic Republic of North Viet Nam and proposals of the South Viet Nam National Liberation Front."

Wilson and Kosygin were speaking at a luncheon attended by most members of the Soviet Communist party's "collective leadership."

Where Wilson stressed points of British-Soviet accord on Viet Nam, Kosygin criticized the United States for bombing attacks on the North and its land campaign against the Viet Cong in the South.

The luncheon was held after Wilson and Kosygin held their first talks.

A discussion of British-Soviet relations, with emphasis on Wilson's desire for greater Soviet purchases of British goods, was on the agenda for the opening session.

International matters, particularly the differing Moscow and London views on the deepening crisis in Asia, also were high on the work program.

26 Pupils Bone Up at Class

By HUDSON WILLSE

It's a dog's world these Sunday afternoons at the Community Activities, Inc., building in Waterford Township.

Twenty-five Saint Bernards—representing about 3,750 pounds of beef — meet each week for an obedience class.

There's also a 26th canine enrolled in the 10-week course, an Irish Wolfhound appropriately named Mulligan, who reportedly mixes well in the otherwise Saint Bernard setting.

Members of the Saint Bernard Club of Michigan, which sponsors the class, contend that Mulligan isn't aware he is not a member of the Saint Bernard breed.

With no mirrors available, how would he know?

ALMOST AT LARGE

The transplanted Mulligan, though still growing, is almost as large as the Saint Bernard.

The two-hour classes are divided into two sections, the second hour — novice and advanced. Dogs with previous training go through a more strenuous and difficult repertoire.

One of the primary objectives of the class is to train owners how to train their dogs.

Trainer Roy McDermitt, who has five assistants, is satisfied with the progress being made at the sessions.

Generally regarded as the world's largest dog, the Saint Bernard is basically a gentle and family-type dog, according to Fred Chapman, 4726 Pickering, Bloomfield Township.

Chapman is vice president of the Saint Bernard Club of Michigan.

Once famous for doing rescue work in the Swiss Alps, the Saint Bernard nowadays is used to pull sleds and other vehicles.

Contrary to belief, the Saint Bernard will not eat a family out of house and home. Once past puppyhood, he is a surprisingly moderate eater.

However, the heavy-coated Saint Bernard is as much dog as breeders boast.

Some of the breed's champions weigh over 200 pounds in their prime.

Britain Picks U.S. Jet; Navy Leader Quits

LONDON (AP) — Britain today chose a U.S. jet plane to spearhead its global defense and downgraded its navy, which once ruled the waves. Adm. Sir David Luce, Britain's sea lord, resigned in protest.

Luce's resignation followed that of Navy Minister Christopher Mayhew, who quit Saturday saying the navy could not do its job without a new $196-million aircraft carrier. The decision to build the carrier was ditched in the government's new defense plans.

★ ★ ★

In a controversial defense White Paper, the government said it will buy 50 F111 variable wing bombers from the United States for $5,880,000 each. The government felt these and other land-based bombers could take over the role of aircraft carriers.

Luce said in his resignation he could not accept the Cabinet's decision on the carrier. Sea lord since 1963, he will be succeeded by Adm. Sir Varyl Begg, commander of the Portsmouth base.

Defense Secretary Denis Healey announced that other admirals on the navy board share Luce's view on the carrier but are staying on "for the good of the navy."

The government said it intends to withdraw British forces from the strategic Middle East Aden base by 1968, but will keep its bases in Singapore and Malaysia where Britain is involved in the confrontation with Indonesia.

DEFENSE ESTIMATES

The defense estimates for 1966-67 provide for expenditure of $6,081,600,000.

Other highlights in the defense plans:

— British troops in British Guiana and southern African territories will be pulled back soon.

— The 51,000 British troops in West Germany will be kept there as long as means can be found of meeting foreign exchange costs.

FULL RESPONSIBILITY

— British Polaris armed submarines will take over full responsibility for Britain's contribution to Atlantic alliance nuclear forces by 1970.

"If the price of defense today is high, at least we shall be getting value for money," the White Paper said.

The government claimed it will achieve significant savings in return for a comparatively small reduction in Britain's military capacity.

"In the Far East, we intend to play a substantial and constructive role in keeping the peace, always in close collaboration with our allies and Commonwealth partners, but some limitations will be applied to the scale and nature of our military effort there," said the government document submitted to Parliament.

STRATEGIC POWER

"We shall possess with our aircraft and Polaris submarines substantial strategic power to contribute to international arrangements," it added.

Although it has decided against new aircraft carriers, the government said it intended to go ahead with purchase of American Phantom aircraft for the fleet air arm, but on a reduced scale. It has some new missile-firing destroyers on order, and hopes to have four nuclear-powered hunter-killer submarines in service by the early 1970s.

★ ★ ★

"The present carrier force will continue well into the 1970s, but we will not build a new carrier. This ship could not come into service before 1973," the White Paper said.

"By then our remaining commitments will not require her and the function, for which we might otherwise have needed a carrier, will be performed in another way."

★ ★ ★

The government said aircraft operating from land bases are to take over the strike-reconnaissance and air-defense functions of carriers.

Guard Is Killed, Cash-Filled Case Taken in Holdup

MOUNTAIN VIEW, Calif. (UPI) —A gunman killed an armored car guard in a crowded Mountain View supermarket yesterday and then escaped with the market's receipts.

The huge Payless Market was packed with customers when the two shots cracked out in the late afternoon. Guard Clarence Eugene Wylder, 55, slumped groaning to the floor. He was dead when an ambulance arrived.

★ ★ ★

The gunman and an accomplice snatched his cash-filled satchel and fled in a blue and white 1956 car. Police Chief Aart Nielsen said the robbers escaped with at least $10,000.

24,000 MEN

Unconfirmed reports said Korea was planing to send 24,000 additional men.

After his talks with Humphrey, Philippine President Ferdinand E. Marcos announced that he would like to send combat troops to Viet Nam as well as engineer forces.

Marcos said such a move would would be supported by the "overwhelming opinion of my people."

The Philippine president predicted that the House of Representatives would pass a controversial bill to authorize the sending of more than 2,000 engineer construction troops to Viet Nam and that the Senate would follow soon.

Bodies of Brothers Found in Fire Ruins

IRON RIVER, Wis. (AP) — The bodies of two rural Bayfield County pulp cutters were found Monday in ruins of their burned home.

The victims were brothers John, 57, and Reino Kosola, 50. Authorities said they apparently burned to death when the home caught fire Sunday, possibly from a defective stove.

thick forests after the area had been softened up by B52s.

Although the six or seven war-hardened Viet Cong regiments in the area, perhaps 8,400 men, offered only token resistance, American officers said the operation could erupt into one of the major actions of the war.

Two guerrillas were reported killed as the infantrymen of the "Big Red One" poured into the area yesterday by helicopter, armored car and truck.

U.S. Air Force and Navy planes continued the air war against North Viet Nam, striking barracks near the old French fortress of Dien Bien Phu, storage areas, approaches to bridges and roads in the panhandle between Vinh and the 17th Parallel. U.S. officials said poor weather prevented a firm assessment of damage.

STRIKE BACK

On the ground, the Viet Cong struck back by ambushing two South Vietnamese convoys in the past 24 hours on Route 1, the main north-south highway.

A platoon of government militiamen took heavy casualties when the Viet Nam Cong lured eight South Vietnamese vehicles into a trap near Thien Giao 100 miles northeast of Saigon.

★ ★ ★

A government spokesman said four companies of Viet Cong allowed the convoy and three government companies to get through Red positions along several miles of road before they struck.

2nd Arraigned in Gaming Raid

The second of two men charged with violation of state gambling laws in the raid of an Orion Township home last Friday was arraigned yesterday.

Wayne C. Brock, 27, of 33 W. Brooklyn appeared before Orion Township Justice Helmar Stanaback and demanded examination on each of three charges.

Stanaback set examination for March 22 and Brock was released in $1,000 bond.

Robert J. Breen, 27, of 2465 S. Baldwin, site of the raid by Oakland County Sheriff's men, is free on $2,000 bond after arraignment before Stanaback Friday on the three charges.

★ ★ ★

The counts include violation of the state gambling law, conspiracy to violate the law, and maintaining a gambling house.

Sixteen men and two women paid fines and costs of $52.50 each the morning of the raid after pleading guilty to loitering in a house of ill fame.

HELD IN SHOOTING — A police officer removes handcuffs from Emory W. McGowan, 23, a Birmingham, Ala., man held in connection with the shooting of five Negro pickets in a supermarket parking lot in Birmingham, last night. Officers said charges of assault with intent to murder would be lodged against McGowan.

White Man Shoots 5 Negroes in Alabama Store Parking Lot

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — A white man shot five Negro pickets in a Birmingham supermarket parking lot Monday night after they refused to move out of his way, police said.

Police said two of the Negroes were shot in the stomach and that the others were less seriously hurt. All required hospital treatment.

★ ★ ★

Police Capt. J. M. McDowell said Emory W. McGowan, 23, of Birmingham turned himself in at the police department minutes after the shooting.

McDowell said McGowan would be charged with assault with intent to murder.

BLOCKING CAR

Authorities quoted McGowan as saying the Negroes were blocking his car and refused to move when he asked them to.

The officers said McGowan told them that when the Negroes would not move, he opened his car door and opened fire with a 25-caliber pistol.

★ ★ ★

The man drove quickly out of the parking lot, accompanied by a woman, according to police. She was questioned and released, McDowell said.

Fred L. Shuttlesworth of Cincinnati, secretary of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, said he was leading a nighttime protest march about a block away from the store, Liberty supermarket. "I heard a bunch of noise that sounded like firecrackers," he said.

PEOPLE ON GROUND

"Then we saw some people on the ground. One man was trying to crawl. He had been shot in the back.

"Someone who saw who did the shooting got his license number."

Treated at University Hospital were Douglas Murray, 15, shot in the stomach; Willie Andrews, 32, shot in the back and stomach; William James Maxwell, 32; Albert Tate, 56; and Simon Armstrong, 70.

Baby Is Abandoned in School Lavatory

ST. CLAIR SHORES (AP)—A two-day-old baby girl, her mouth stuffed with cotton and sealed with tape, was found Monday in a high school lavatory by two teen-age girls.

The infant was rushed to a hospital, where doctors pronounced her in excellent condition —and hungry.

★ ★ ★

Police, meanwhile, sought a girl, believed to be about 18, seen inside the school about half an hour before the baby, stuffed into a paper sack, was found by two girl students.

★ ★ ★

Detective Sgt. Gus G. Blumline said he was "convinced the baby had nothing to do with any student in the school," although he speculated a former student might have left the child.

JOHN K. IRWIN

Area Realtor Dead After Brief Illness

A veteran Pontiac area realtor, John K. Irwin, founder of John K. Irwin & Sons real estate and insurance firm died yesterday after a brief illness. He was 71.

★ ★ ★

Service will be 1:30 p.m. Thursday at Donelson - Johns Funeral Home with burial in Perry Mount Park Cemetery.

Surviving are his wife, Dorothy; a daughter, Mrs. William Seabright of Evanston, Ill.; three sons, John K. Jr., Richard M. and Robert C., all of Pontiac; and 11 grandchildren.

Also surviving are five sisters, Mrs. George Hoyt of Pontiac, Mrs. Ralph Furgerson of Rochester, Mrs. Edith Durkee of Vassar and Mrs. William Duncan and Mrs. R. T. McInnes, both of Mayville.

★ ★ ★

Irwin, of 1825 Dell Rose, Bloomfield Township, had been in the real estate and insurance business since 1925.

EX-SUPERVISOR

A former member of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors, Irwin was a past president of Pontiac Board of Realtors, serving as a director for 10 years.

He was a member of the Pontiac Lions Club, Society of Real Estate Appraisors, Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce, Elks Lodge No. 810, Veterans of Foreign Wars No. 1008 and the First Presbyterian Church.

Irwin had also been a member of the board of directors of the National and Michigan Real Estate Associations. He had also been active in the American Right of Way Association and a senior member of the Society of Residential Appraisors.

County Drop in Traffic Toll Tops in State

The traffic death toll in Oakland County dropped 38 in 1965 from the preceding year, according to final figures released today by the Michigan State Police.

The final count, compiled from police reports throughout the state, set the county's death toll for last year at 164, compared to the record 202 of 1964.

Oakland County's figures represented the largest decline in deaths in any single county in Michigan for the year.

Responsible for the charp cutback, according to the report, was a drop in deaths on rural roads, where 123 persons lost their lives in 1964.

★ ★ ★

The rural toll last year was 88, while the count of urban deaths fell only slightly from 79 to 76.

STATE TOTALS

Highway fatalities for the state as a whole increased 13 from the 2,114 recorded for 1964.

★ ★ ★

Genesee County reported a rise from 90 to 97 and Macomb County a jump of 28 deaths to 109 in 1965.

★ ★ ★

Wayne County, while recording the highest number of deaths of any county — 447, cut its toll by 15 from 1964.

Pair Clash on Car Safety

we could have asked for microphone safety standards," Bugas declared.

Gikas claimed after the hearing, "my professional integrity has been impugned."

★ ★ ★

He said that "the stylist has reigned supreme."

EVOLUTIONARY

Bugas countered that "we are not sacrificing lives and safety for dollars. These things (safety innocations) are evolutionary. Why wasn't he crying for these things 10 years ago?"

"Be careful you don't prohibit or inhibit annual model change," he declared. "If you do, you will cripple the industry."

"We must make our cars safer and we are doing it," he said, "but the auto is a safe vehicle if it is used reasonably."

★ ★ ★

All the auto spokesmen said if any legislation is considered it should set performance standards, not attempt to tell automakers how to design cars.

SPOKE AT LENGTH

All spoke at length about their safety research programs.

Chrysler Corp. showed a movie depicting how its doors will not open during crashes.

Gikas followed with slides showing doors which opened in crashes, permitting the victim to be thrown from the vehicle.

★ ★ ★

"They say there has been rapid improvement," Gikas declared. "It hasn't been rapid enough."

SAFETY MEASURES

Most of the hearing's earlier hours dealt with a set of vehicle safety measures proposed by Sen. Roger Craig, D-Dearborn. The length of Monday's session enabled the committee to cancel today's planned hearing.

General Motors, reacting to criticism of its 1960-63 rear-engine Corvairs, presented movies, slides and technical data designed to show that the model was not inherently unsafe.

One of Craig's bills would prohibit cars which become unstable at less than a given sideways force — cars which sway out of control rounding turns at certain speeds and sharpness of turn.

★ ★ ★

GM development engineer Frank Winchell declared that under Craig's standards, "the state highways would be bare of all cars built to date because none of the passenger cars made in the world during the 65-year history of the motor vehicle business would qualify."

No 2-Way Test Slated Over Perimeter Road

BIRMINGHAM — The perimeter road planned for the downtown business district will handle only one-way traffic without first being tested as a two-way system.

The determination was made by the City Commission last night in a 4-2 vote following a two-hour debate among members on pros and cons of both plans.

After reaching a decision, the commission directed the administration to prepare a description of properties needed for right of ways so public hearings can be scheduled.

Under the plan, traffic will move counter-clockwise on Oakland, Willits, Chester, Brown and Hunter.

★ ★ ★

In approving the scheme, commissioners rejected the recommendation of the city engineering department to design the road for two-way movement.

AGREEMENT

Mayor Robert Page and Commissioner William Roberts agreed with the recommendation, as did Knowles Smith, manager of the Birmingham-Bloomfield Chamber of Commerce.

They said that establishing a two-way system initially would allow a change to the one-way if it didn't work out.

Starting with a one way system would make it difficult to later go to a two-way system because the city would have obtained only the minimum right of way for the improvement, according to Page.

★ ★ ★

"I've always believed that this would be a one-way road," said Page, "but after listening to the recommendations, I can see the advantages of at least starting with a two-way system."

'IMPERATIVE'

"I think it's imperative at this time that we get the maximum right of way," said Roberts. "We may not have another chance."

Roberts warned that the one-way system would probably encourage traffic through residential areas.

Voting in favor of the one-way plan were Commissioners Carl F. Ingraham, Charles F. Clippert, David F. Breck and Ruth B. McNamee. Commissioner William H. Burgum was absent, but voiced his opposition to the two-way system through Breck.

The city's traffic consultants, Lloyd B. Reid and Stanley D. Cool, reiterated their 1965 recommendation that the ring road west of Woodward be one-way counter-clockwise and the portion east of Woodward provide for two-way traffic.

Fair-Housing Booths Slated

Gov. Romney Backs Efforts of Committee

The Birmingham - Bloomfield Committee on Open Occupancy, backed by Gov. Romney, will take to the streets with its fair-housing campaign Saturday.

Committee members will distribute brochures from six booths in Birmingham and Bloomfield Township, according to committee chairman John C. Palms.

Palms said a planning session for the "Information Day" activities will be held at 8:30 tonight in the cafeteria of St. Hugo of the Hills Elementary School, 280 E. Hickory Grove, Bloomfield Hills.

The three-month-old open occupancy committee yesterday received the formal endorsement of Gov. Romney, Palms said.

★ ★ ★

"The right to buy and sell property cannot truly be enjoyed by anyone unless it is equally enjoyed by everyone," Romney said in a statement to Palms.

ENDORSES EFFORT

"I heartily endorse the effort of the Birmingham-Bloomfield Committee on Open Occupancy to place our communities firmly on record in support of equal housing opportunity for all."

The dispersal of brochures Saturday will be the first of three activities planned to mobilize community support for the campaign.

Clergymen have been asked to deliver sermons on open occupancy Sunday. On March 5, committee spokesmen will visit local real estate brokers to determine individual attitudes toward the campaign.

★ ★ ★

Committee booths will be set up Saturday at five locations in Birmingham—in Shain Park, in front of the Municipal Building, in the municipal parking lot at Willets and Bates and at the corners of Maple and Henrietta and Lawndale and Hamilton.

Another booth will be located in the shopping center at Telegraph and Maple in Bloomfield Township.

Gen. Taylor Backs Bobby on Viet View

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A top Johnson administration adviser has come to the defense of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy's controversial Viet Nam proposals.

★ ★ ★

Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor said he believes they have been misinterpreted.

Taylor, a close personal friend of the New York senator and a special consultant on Viet Nam to President Johnson, told UPI last night the Kennedy plan "seems quite close to the administration position."

Kennedy's plan has been widely interpreted as meaning that the United States should permit the Communist Viet Cong to take part in any peace negotiations and to share power in any postwar government in South Viet Nam.

★ ★ ★

"As I read his statement," said Taylor, the senator's proposal was that "the dissident minority should be represented in the government following free elections.

Holly Primary Heralds Stiff Party Competition

HOLLY — Results of primary balloting here yesterday indicate that the incumbent Union party candidates may be in for some stiff competition in the March 14 general elections.

★ ★ ★

The Citizens party slate, on the ballot for the first time in five years, polled heavy majorities in the voting for the four offices for which there was primary opposition.

A total of 539 voters went to the polls, over 57 per cent of the total registration. The results were as follows:

John Van Deusen, incumbent appointee village president on the Union party ticket, polled 139 votes to defeat his primary opponent, Worth Hitchcock of 711 S. Broad, who received 60.

He will be opposed in the general election by Keith Dryer of 128 Park, who defeated his Citizens party opponent, Dennis Clark of 905 Emma, 275 to 58.

COUNCIL RACE

In the race for the three two-year council nominations, Union incumbents Leo Oberheim (165) and John Ramm (119) and Cleveland Ridley of 806 Richard (147) outpolled Peter Beltemacchi of 201 Park, who received 70 votes.

Their Citizens party opposition in the March 14 elections will be Bruce Dryer of 103 First, who received 308 votes, John MacKenzie of 115 Park, who received 264, and Harry Luzi of 731 Hartner, who received 185.

The only other Citizens party candidate on the primary ballot was Jeanne Smith of 509 Hartner, who received 233 votes for treasurer.

★ ★ ★

She will oppose incumbent Hulda Anderson, who polled 171.

ONE WRITE-IN

Joseph E. Hansard of 202 Grant received one write-in vote on the Citizens ticket for the one-year council term, entitling him to run against incumbent James Greig in the general election.

★ ★ ★

Clerk Betty Oliver and Assessor Grant Hulet, Union party incumbents, will be unopposed on March 14.

School Bonds Win Narrowly

Lapeer Margin Is 33 on $3-Million Issue

LAPEER — A $3-million bond issue for the construction of 67 school rooms squeaked through to victory here yesterday by the narrow margin of 33 votes.

The largest single bond issue ever voted on in the school district was approved by voters, 797 to 764.

Of the school district's 11 precincts, five approved the proposition while six voted against it.

The 1,570 voters who went to the polls constituted an average turnout, according to school officials. There are about 9,000 registered voters in the district.

★ ★ ★

The building program is planned to take care of the district's needs until the 1970's. It provides for the replacement of 12 classrooms and the addition of enough new rooms to house 1,650 additional pupils.

TAX RATE

To support the program, the taxpayer will pay about $2.50 per $1,000 of state-equalized valuation in additional school taxes.

The present tax rate is 17.35 mills or $17.35 per $1,000 of state equalized valuation.

The first buildings are scheduled for use in the fall of 1967. Plans call for immediate construction at Elba and Turrill elementary schools.

★ ★ ★

Six rooms are to be added to Turrill and a new 14-room building will eventually replace the present Elba School.

MAYFIELD SCHOOL

A new site and seven classrooms are planned for the Mayfield School area near the present Mayfield Community School.

A seven-room addition is slated for Maple Grove School; a 10-room addition is scheduled for the junior high school; and a six-room addition is planned for the high school.

A new seven-room unit is to be built in the Clover School area.

Ten additional classrooms will be added wherever they are needed, according to Schools Supt. Clyde Schickler. He noted that Hadley and Attica schools will be among those requiring additions.

★ ★ ★

Plans also call for two temporary units at Elba, one at Maple Grove and two at Mayfield to be ready for use next September.

2 Contests in Romeo

5 Incumbents Assured of Reelection

ROMEO — Five incumbents seeking administrative posts here were assured of a return to office in yesterday's primary vote.

The only contests in the March 14 general election will be for the position of assessor and one of the three vacant council posts.

All but two of the 16 candidates were Republican.

The total vote of 599 was lighter than in the past two years, according to officials. There are about 1,200 registered voters.

★ ★ ★

For the office of assessor Republican incumbent Fred Ebeling received 464 votes. He will be opposed by Democratic challenger George Simcina of 310 Fairgrove, who polled 19 votes.

VYING FOR COUNCIL

Vying for the three council posts will be Republican incumbent Martin Durham, who received 293 votes, Democratic incumbent James Burke who received 24 votes, John Kegler of 244 N. Bailey, a former trustee who received 311 votes and Kenneth Smith of 268 W. St. Clair who tallied 247.

Those who lost out in their bid for council posts were Edward Battani, 109 Cook, 199 votes; Wayne Black, 240 Tillson, 223 votes; and Hugh Gates, 312 Benjamin, 242 votes.

For the office of president, incumbent Bryon E. Nichols received 285 votes to challenger Marvin Sieweke's 277.

★ ★ ★

Norman L. Engle retained the office of clerk with 334 votes to 222 for his challenger Joseph Mellen.

497 VOTES

Incumbent Treasurer Elaine Hesner, who was unopposed, received 497 votes.

★ ★ ★

Incumbent Library Trustees Joseph Rymill and Theodora Raymond were unopposed. Rymill received 374 votes and Mrs. Raymond 387 votes.

In Farmington Township

Cityhood Session Is Routine

FARMINGTON TOWNSHIP — Calm prevailed last night at the William Grace Elementary School as the citizens committee studying the township's cityhood proposal held the fourth of a series of public debates on the matter.

The purpose of the debates is to gather comments and to allow the public to advise the committee on its views. The most outspoken critics of the proposal were unusually quiet last night.

Three previous meetings had produced heated debates on the issue from large audiences. Last night's contrast was striking — a small crowd, compliments to the committee from the audience and a minimum of discussion.

Township Attorney and committee chairman Joseph T. Brennan introduced a subcommittee which presented its conclusions from a study of the local government needs of the community for the present and the future.

★ ★ ★

The three-man group compiled its information from the Michigan Municipal League, Citizens Research Council, Vilican-Leman Planning Consultants and Farmington Township budgeted worksheets.

STUDY DIVISION

Dividing its study into essential and elective services for the community, the subcommittee presented its report as a comparison of these services under both a township and a city form of government.

Listed as essential services were, fire, police, sewer, water, refuse disposal, health, roads, justice and building department. Elective services were suggested as parks and recreation, library, street lighting and sidewalks.

The group emphasized that the elective services they enumerated were only a few of the many that would be available to the community.

★ ★ ★

Brennan announced that the next public meeting would be held March 7 at Longacre Elementary School, completing a circuitous route through the township and allowing all citizens a chance to attend the debates.

U-M Speaker Named

ANN ARBOR (AP) — The secretary general of the British Commonwealth, Arnold Centwell Smith, will be featured speaker April 1 at the 43rd annual honors convocation of the University of Michigan.

2 Challengers Poll Largest Milford Vote

MILFORD — A field of eight candidates for two council seats was narrowed to four here yesterday in primary balloting.

The largest number of votes went to the two challengers for the two three-year council posts. Richard G. Skarritt of 1009 Atlantic received 197 votes, the highest number cast for any candidate.

Paul A. Plotzer of 618 S. Main was next with 146 votes.

Incumbent JoAnn Colton received 142 votes and incumbent Hugh P. Davies followed with 117 votes to secure their places on the March 14 general election ballot.

★ ★ ★

Hospital Unit Picks Officers

ALMONT — Mrs. Franklin O'Connor, 26245 Prinz, Armada, has been reelected president of the board of the Women's Auxiliary of Almont Community Hospital.

Chosen to serve with her were Mrs. Walter Parsons of Lakeville, vice president; Mrs. Charles Ferguson of Almont, treasurer; and Mrs. James Smith of Almont, secretary.

The board recently awarded Constance King of Imlay City a practical nurse scholarship for training at the Port Huron School of Practical Nursing.

U-M Enrollment Mark

ANN ARBOR (AP)—The University of Michigan said Monday it now has more winter-term students than ever before —a total of 33,021. Enrollment at the Ann Arbor campus was given as 29,736.

Ruling on Vote Due Thursday

OXFORD TOWNSHIP — The legality of a special election scheduled in April on the zoning of a mobile home site will be decided Thursday by Circuit Judge Arthur E. Moore.

Moore, after hearing arguments of attorneys yesterday, said he wanted to study the matter further before rendering an opinion.

The property owner, Pontiac attorney Anthony Renne, wants the court to declare the April 11 election illegal.

The township board set the election after receiving petitions from citizens asking for an opportunity to vote on the zoning reclassification.

In December, the board rezoned a 50 acre site on Coats Road north of Seymour Lake Road to allow the mobile home park.

Renne contends that petitions for the referendum vote are unconstitutional because wording gives all property owners the right to vote without regard to residency or age.

Over 600 Cast Votes in Orion's Primary

will be opposed by Citizens candidate Emily Pagel of 28 Highland, who received 159.

★ ★ ★

Ivy M. Sweet of 260 O'Connor received 151 votes as a candidate for treasurer on the Citizens ticket.

INCUMBENT POLLS 364

She will be opposed by incumbent Treasurer Geraldine Campbell, who polled 364.

Appointed Assessor Albert J. Rhodes won the Village party nomination for assessor with 321 votes.

His opponent, Frank Dunaskis of 360 Crescent, received 63, despite the fact that his eligibility as a candidate was challenged by the state elections commissioner because of his apparent residency outside the village.

★ ★ ★

The incumbent assessor, Robert J. Swem, polled 154 votes on the Citizens ticket.

RACE FOR COUNCIL

In the race for council nominations on the Village ballot, incumbents Fred C. Cole (332) and Robert Stokes (293) and Lawrence J. Giddings (332) of 460 Hauxwell led the voting.

They were opposed by Edwin R. Gilmore (101) of 353 Atwater, Harold Roberts (49) of 195 Lake and Herbert Hull (39) of 272 Lakeview.

Incumbent Lewie Rossman led the Citizens party race for council nominations with 133 votes.

The other nominees were Arthur Pagel Sr. of 28 Highland, who polled 104 votes, and Thomas Arthur of 41 N. Andrews, who received 85.

Their opponents were Jessie P. Smith (80) of 356 Newton, Agnes S. Ferguson (60) of 54 Elizabeth and Charles E. Lamb (48) of 703 Central.

'Cash Crop Farmers Earn Biggest Profits'

EAST LANSING (AP) — A survey of Michigan farmers shows the greatest profits are earned by those who produce cash crops, a Michigan State University economist reports.

Potato farms were the most profitable in recent years. In 1964, potato farms had gross incomes of $338 an acre compared with costs of $239, he said.

Taxpayers Protesting Rate May Get More Bad News

WHITE LAKE TOWNSHIP — A home owners' suit seeking tax relief may backfire even before getting into court.

The suit was filed yesterday by more than 50 members of the Twin Lakes Improvement Association against Township Supervisor Edward Cheyz and Treasurer Ronald C. Voorheis.

Informed of the action by The Pontiac Press, Cheyz, while explaining his position, discovered that the home owners seem to be paying a lower assessment than determined by the State Tax Commission when they appealed last year.

"I'll have to contact the commission immediately," said Cheyz. "Maybe something's gone wrong with its calculator. Their figures don't add up with mine.

★ ★ ★

"These people are paying under protest now and when I tell them they're being underassessed, they'll go right through the ceiling," Cheyz said.

The suit contends that the home owners in the subdivision are "illegally being required to pay more than their just and reasonable shares of county, school and township taxes."

In April 1965, the property owners were denied relief for a downward adjustment of assessed valuations and took their case to the State Tax Commission.

The commission, however, affirmed the assessments made by the township and even increased the assessed valuations on 17 of the 68 protesting home owners.

It also established a figure of 40.24 per cent of true cash value to be used in computing the taxes of the home owners who appealed.

SPOT CHECK

Cheyz said a spot check of his assessing books revealed that the 40.24 per cent formula was not used and it appears that the taxes will have to be computed again.

"I really don't know what will happen until I talk to the tax commission," said Cheyz.

Time Polishes Image of America's Founder

"Treacherous in private life and a hypocrite in public life" was the verdict of one eminent American.

THOMAS PAINE, pamphleteer and patriot, was delivering what he probably believed to be the final judgment on GEORGE WASHINGTON.

That the first chief executive was the target of scathing attack in his own time is a fact largely forgotten by all but historians.

★ ★ ★

Washington himself, writing in the last year of his presidency to Thomas Jefferson, complained that the partisan press referred to him in "such exaggerated and indecent terms as could scarcely be applied to a Nero, a notorious defaulter or even a common pickpocket."

Yet the WASHINGTON reputation not only survived, it has grown through the years. While the debunking school of historians has been busy cutting down to size other greats of America's early years, recognition of Washington's indispensable contributions to the fledgling Nation has become clearer, respect greater.

Why? It is simply that because without Washington there would have been no country, no subsequent presidents.

★ ★ ★

At the end of the Revolution, whatever discipline and unity had been forged by the war utterly collapsed. Political confusion, economic chaos, even armed rebellion followed victory.

WASHINGTON, who had been the indispensable general in winning the war, was now to be the indispensable civilian in securing that independence in peace—both as a prime mover of the Constitutional Convention that established the framework of the new nation and as its first president.

★ ★ ★

It was JEFFERSON, not PAINE, who delivered the judgment of WASHINGTON that was to be history's: "He was, in every sense of the words, a wise, a good and a great man."

'Retailing Week' Sells Sales Opportunities

At a time when the career spotlight seems focused predominantly on scientific and technological fields it is well to point out the great opportunities offered by America's flourishing economy in the less spectacular though essential service occupations. The field of Retailing offers such a choice.

To give national prominence to the benefits offered in this interesting and expanding calling is the object of the eight annual Careers in Retailing Week that was touched off yesterday.

The need for personnel in the many phases of retailing is urgent. It is pointed out that every sales person who directly contacts the public is backed up by 10 others in various clerical, distributive and supervisory jobs.

★ ★ ★

Locally, the Week features a Host Day for parents of potential retailing recruits, a College Day to beam the selling message to university campuses and two days of meetings devoted to "distributive education" for those interested in merchandising pursuits.

We commend the sponsors of Careers in Retailing Week and urge young people to give earnest consideration to this lucrative and rewarding way of business life.

Something called the Crab International Association (CIA) has announced that something called the first International Grand Prix for crabs will be held next month in San Diego.

According to CIA, special grandstands will be erected around the 24-foot oval track to accommodate an expected turnout of 5,000 crab-racing aficionados.

And to think that some people are worried about what other people are going to find to do with all the leisure time that some people say is just around the corner.

Trouble Brewing on N. Viet Trade

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House is brewing up some trouble for the administration's foreign policy.

The developing tempest is over a matter that has been of continuing irritation to Republicans and Democrats alike.

The issue is continued trade with North Viet Nam by foreign nations friendly to the United States. While the administration claims this trade has slowed down in recent months and has taken some steps to curb it, many members of Congress want an outright ban.

Several bills have been introduced to close U.S. ports to ships which carry cargoes to North Viet Nam. Cargoes loaded in American ports generally are not of military value and are unloaded in ports of friendly nations. However, proponents of the legislation claim, the ships involved visit American ports after having unloaded other cargoes in North Viet Nam.

★ ★ ★

Rep. Charles E. Chamberlain, R-Mich., who has waged a long campaign against the practice, claims that 401 ships flying flags of non-Communist nations arrived in North Viet Nam in 1964. In 1965, Chamberlain said, the number dropped to 119.

GOVERNMENT FIGURES

Chamberlain got his figures from the Defense Department and they deal only with unclassified information.

"The true figure is more than double what we are being told," he said, "and it amounts to more arrivals by free world ships than by Communist ships."

★ ★ ★

Most of the ships, he said, are chartered to Communist nations and carry Communist goods which the Defense Department claims are not vital to North Viet Nam's war effort. But, he emphasized, they release Communist ships.

★ ★ ★

More than half the non-Communist ships that visited North Viet Nam ports in 1965, Chamberlain said, were registered under the flag of the United Kingdom.

Sponsors of the bills to close U. S. ports to ships trading with North Viet Nam aren't too optimistic about winning their fight in that field. But they have another plan.

They are going to offer amendments to the annual foreign aid and Defense Department appropriation bills.

They almost succeeded with that move last year when the House approved an outright ban against aid to those nations. The Senate refused to go along with a strict ban and voted to allow the President to decide whether continued aid was in the best interest of the United States. The House backed down by a vote of 174 to 164, a margin slim enough to be overcome in a congressional election year like 1966.

Heritage Of Honor

David Lawrence Says:

Viet Nam Critics Lack the Facts

WASHINGTON — Recent hearings before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee — particularly the comprehensive statements by the former chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, and Secretary of State Dean Rusk — produced questions and answers which undoubtedly clarified the thinking of many citizens about the Viet Nam war.

★ ★ ★

The critics, however, appear to have missed the main point, which is that a president has the responsibility for acting on the basis of information available to him at the moment of decision.

The president has at his side Cabinet officers and military men. Always at hand are up-to-the-minute reports from our representatives abroad — ambassadors and intelligence personnel, civilian and military.

★ ★ ★

It is easy enough for a senator to come out, for example, with the advice that bombings shouldn't have been resumed after the recent truce. Such a critic cannot know all the facts, and, moreover, he doesn't have the responsibility for making the decision itself.

★ ★ ★

If the critic is wrong, no serious harm is done. But the president is every minute responsible to the people and a mistake on his part could be fatal.

MASTER POLITICIAN

Mr. Johnson happens to be a master politician and knows very well that it's popular to call for an ending of the war, as some senators are doing. But he knows also that to give the enemy what it wants would only lead to a larger war. Statesmen have been fooled by appeasement before.

★ ★ ★

Mr. Johnson can't take chances. That's why reckless critics appear unwittingly to be giving comfort to the enemy and causing its resistance to be prolonged.

Criticism of domestic policy is one thing, but criticism of foreign policy is quite different.

★ ★ ★

Almost everybody, for instance, knows the meaning of an internal policy, and the disputes are not likely to prove dangerous to the immediate life of the nation. But foreign policy sometimes involves the risk of losing some lives in order to forestall a larger conflict in which sacrifices would be enormous.

CAN HELP

No president would ever purposely or deliberately lead the American people into a large war. But misguided and careless critics can help to do it.

They have a feeling that there's no harm in airing their views, sometimes to satisfy exhibitionist tendencies. They regard as a mere exercise in academic debate the discussion of ways and means of getting out of the war at any price. The enemy, however, construes this as a sign of weakness and irresoluteness.

The President has been firm, but cautious. In the main, he has upheld the principles for which America fought two world wars and the Korean war.

★ ★ ★

The "peace offensive," for example, which he undertook has been sneered at by some of the critics as mere showmanship. Yet, it has had a good effect.

COMING AROUND

The other nations of the world, large and small, are now slowly but surely veering toward the American viewpoint and are beginning to ask themselves what they can do to help, even though it might in some cases be token aid.

On the whole, the United States is making progress, both in the war and in the mobilization of world opinion.

Captious criticism at home encourages the enemy to think the American people are not behind their President.

★ ★ ★

Maybe it is time, after all, for a "vote of confidence."

CAN DO IT

And Congress can do this by reaffirming the joint resolution passed in August 1964.

This authorized the President to use whatever armed forces are necessary to safeguard the freedom and independence of a nation which is under the protection of the Southeast Asia treaty. The resolution was overwhelmingly ratified by both houses of Congress, with only two dissenting votes.

American foreign policy has had its setbacks. But it still stands for the concept of a universal alliance of peoples, based on the right of each nation to determine its own form of government and to be immune from aggression.

★ ★ ★

If this principle is staunchly maintained in Southeast Asia, the Americans who have been lost in the wars of the last half-century will not have died in vain.

Bob Considine Says:

They'd Call Washington a Real Oddball Today

NEW YORK — If the father of our country came back today, dressed as he liked to during his days as a slave-holding Virginia planter, he'd be locked up.

CONSIDINE

He wore long colored silk stockings, lace waistcoats and big silver buckles on his shiny pumps. Bought his clothes in London.

Big George had it made in those pre-Revolutionary War days — which gives added emphasis to the spirit of freedom that moved him to gamble everything against a superior force.

He worked six days a week at the job he liked best, running his big and profitable farm and other interests, went to Pohick Church on Sundays if he felt like it, raised wheat and tobacco, operated a water-powered flour mill, blacksmith shop, brickyard, and sold salted shad, bass and herring to neighboring Negroes.

His slaves liked him, seldom ran away. His fellow Virginia gentlemen—the Randolphs, Byrds, Lees, Tylers, Harrisons, etc.—were more amused than annoyed by such questionable public statements as his "I am principled against this kind of traffic in the human species."

As president, George was hardly a backslapper. Some of the more ardent revolutionists accused him of trying to act like a king.

★ ★ ★

He rode through the streets of New York and Philadelphia in the handsomest carriage in the land, drawn sometimes by four and other times by six horses, with richly uniformed outriders.

SOCIALLY ALOOF

He returned no social calls, stopped shaking hands and acknowledged all introductions with a slight bow.

At state receptions he generally appeared dressed in black velvet, yellow gloves, powdered wig, cocked hat with an ostrich plume and carrying a sword in a white-leather scabbard.

He had turned to gold for his buckles. He was not a dude, as some of the rougher congressmen came to believe.

★ ★ ★

He was a Virginia gentleman attempting to bring a bit of style and solemnity to a brawling young nation that had no great assurance that it could get away with what it had done to Mother England.

Voice of the People:

'Emphasis Is on Rights, Not on Responsibilities'

If you tell a child about his rights but never mention his responsibilities or duties, he will soon be spoiled, irresponsible and dependent. Our present Administration is doing precisely this on a tremendous scale.

★ ★ ★

The "right" of everyone to a good living whether he wants to work for it or not—Mr. Johnson proposes to take the money of those who work hard for it and give it free to the drones. The "right" of unions to strike for more pay but no responsibility to work for it. The "rights" of African new nations (tribes) to independence but no obligation to prove they deserve it or are able to govern themselves.

★ ★ ★

The "right" of all to a college education but no responsibility to pay their own way to get it. The "rights" of Communists, criminal hoodlums and others to mock the laws of our land without any obligation to contribute to the society which puts up with them. And always the U.S. Supreme Court is there to see that all the no-goods are coddled and pampered and supported by our tax money.

I hope no Senate Committee members vote for the confirmation of Matt Laitala on the Conservation Commission. He stated the deer hunters don't know enough about the habits of the deer and to leave it up to Conservation to decide on how to control and build the deer herd. Where does he hunt? On private, posted, perhaps salted land? We are hunters also and hunt in the woods where the deer should habitually stay — if there are any!

Working mothers are wonderful. They have much responsibility, they are the mainstay of many a family, and more than a few of them have the right supervision of their children while they work. A lot of them don't.

★ ★ ★

In answer to "Janet," I am sure that if you take care of your house and care for ten farm animals you would be the kind of mother who would see that her children were taken care of while she drove a school bus. The 90 children you have on your school bus are lucky to have you.

Reader Comments on Federal Controls

The U.S. Constitution tells us what to do to remain free. How can we remain free the way the Federal Government is taking over in our school systems? Who asked for all this Federal aid? Not the citizens, but the school administrator's organization—the very people our school boards hire to run our schools.

★ ★ ★

I note the Federal Government is now getting in the newspaper business. Is it not time to call a halt? Are our school administrators working for the local taxpayers who have provided new school buildings and nice administration buildings, or are they working toward more Federal control whereby they will be able to brainwash our children with Federal textbooks and brainwash the public with Federal newspapers? Doesn't the Constitution mean anything any more?

Weather Key to Apollo Shot

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Predictions of marginal weather — high winds and too many clouds — remained the main concern today as the countdown progressed toward Wednesday morning's scheduled flight of the first Saturn 1B rocket and Apollo moonship.

Weather permitting, the 225-foot-tall Saturn 1B, with enough fuel on board to give it one-twentieth of the explosive capacity of the A-bomb that leveled Hiroshima, is due to rumble skyward at 7:45 a.m. EST on a 39-minute jaunt to a target area in the Atlantic Ocean 5,300 miles southeast of Cape Kennedy.

Riding on its nose will be an unmanned version of the cone-shaped Apollo spaceship which will carry three Americans to the moon. This will be the maiden flight for both the 650-ton Saturn 1B — the most powerful rocket ever built by the United States — and the Apollo moonship.

Hundreds of industrial executives, representing numerous companies which pooled their top talent to piece together the space-age marvel, plan to be on hand to witness the blast-off. The launch will be carried on the three major television networks.

Release Funds for School Use

State Money Is Sent to County Districts

Oakland County Treasurer James E. Seeterlin yesterday released $7,684,790 in state aid funds which will be distributed to Oakland County school districts.

Waterford Township Schools will receive $750,000 of the total and Pontiac Schools, $697,650.

These appropriations are the second and third highest. Royal Oak Schools will be given $751,140.

State aid funds are released six times each year to the county school systems.

Distribution is determined by a complex formula which takes a district's tax base, pupil population and several other items into consideration.

★ ★ ★

Ranking fourth in the fund apportionment is Farmington Public Schools which will receive $604,100.

Other school districts slated to receive over $300,000 are Berkley, $393,970; Southfield, $383,300; Hazel Park, $346,390; Birmingham, $330,000, and Walled Lake, $308,140.

Oakland Schools, the intermediate school district, will receive $16,570 for its special education program.

Teen-Age Girl to Get Award for Fire Rescue

SAULT STE. MARIE (AP)—Fifteen-year-old Shirley Andrews of Sugar Island, credited with leading the three children of Mr. and Mrs. James Beard from a burning house to safety, is to receive an American Legion Heroism Award here March 19. The children were aged 7 to 11. Their parents died in the Feb. 18 blaze.

Area Meeting Hears Doctor

'Genetics Study Pays Off'

"Advanced research in genetics is making it possible for medical science to help parents prevent birth of mongoloid children and offers hope for even greater advances in the fight against mental illness among children," Dr. Paul V. Woolley told more than 150 persons attending the 22nd annual meeting of the Oakland Child Guidance Clinics recently.

Dr. Woolley, head of the pediatrics department at Wayne State University and chief of pediatrics at Children's Hospital, Detroit, spoke on "Growth of Children."

In his annual report, Vernon Keye, president of the clinics board, expressed confidence that the three child guidance clinics operated by the organization in Pontiac, Birmingham and Royal Oak would expand their services this year to the children of Oakland County.

"Each community must identify its own problems, examine existing resources and services, and proceed to shape a program adapted to its needs," Keye said.

★ ★ ★

"We are looking for ways to do much more in the year ahead to make broader mental health services available to all," Keye concluded.

New members elected to the board are: Charles L. Cousins, 4815 Sundew, Commerce Township; Mrs. Angus Miller III, 3257 Whitfield, Waterford Township; Abraham Brickner, Oak Park; and Howard R. Weissman, Southfield.

City Manager in Cadillac Fired by Commission

CADILLAC (AP) — The City Commission voted 3-2 Monday night to dismiss City Manager Emil Meyer. Meyer had been placed on six-months probation and ordered to work more closely with the governing body.

Mayor I. T. Wedin cast the deciding vote.

★ ★ ★

City Clerk John Weed was ordered to assume the duties of city manager until the vacancy is filled by the commission.

The motion for dismissal was submitted by commissioner George Bertrand. He contended the city manager's ability appeared to be in the field of promotion and public relations "whereas managing ability and experience is not a part of his past."

Youth Listed as Fair With Gunshot Wound

A 17-year-old Pontiac youth is listed in fair condition at Pontiac General Hospital after suffering an accidental gunshot wound yesterday.

Mosley Russell of 177 Fulton told Pontiac police he was handling a 22-caliber rifle at his home when the weapon accidentally discharged, striking him in the shoulder.

OU Is Listed as Test Center

Oakland University has been designated at a test center for the National Teacher examinations to be offered March 19, according to Kenneth Coffman, director of psychological services.

★ ★ ★

At the one-day test session, registrants may take the common examinations, which include tests in professional and general education and one of 13 teaching area exams.

The testing will take place in Room 195 of the Science Building.

Candidates for the common examinations will report at 8:30 a.m. and will continue after lunch until approximately 3:10 p.m.

Fee Would Help Pay for OU Health Center

Oakland University will levy a $5 student health fee on each enrollment beginning in the fall semester, according to Thomas B. Dutton, dean of students.

The money will help finance a planned student Health Center.

Plans for the size and the location of the facility are not yet complete, reported Dutton.

"Originally, we were considering a small unit which would accommodate 20 to 22 students for limited, minor emergency care," said Dutton.

★ ★ ★

"This unit would later be expanded. Now the possibility of starting with a larger center is under consideration.

BEST LOCATION

"We are actively trying to determine the best location of the proposed center and the most advantageous size," he concluded.

It is planned the new Health Center facility will be ready for student use in 1967.

A Sad Sequel to Incident of Tree-Felling

SANTA CRUZ, Calif. (AP) — When George Washington chopped down a cherry tree and admitted it, the legend says, he went on to become the father of his country.

A different fate has overtaken two Cabrillo Junior College students. Peter Larsen, 20, a forestry major, and Merton White, 21, chopped down two 65-foot redwood trees on the new Santa Cruz campus of the University of California to settle an argument about who could fell a tree more accurately.

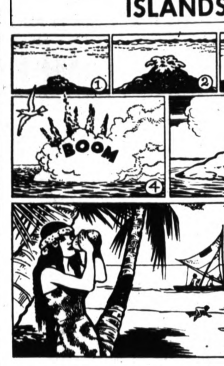
Who won is not recorded, but Monday Municipal Court Judge James Scoppetoni sentenced both to two years probation, with 30 days each to be spent on the 2,000-acre University of California campus planting new trees.

Heart Attack Fatal for Maryland Mayor

GAITHERSBURG, Md. (AP) — Mayor Merton F. Duvall, 61, suffered a fatal heart attack during a meeting of the Gaithersburg City Council Monday night.

Duvall, who had been mayor 12 years, toppled over a table while talking with city officials. About 50 persons were in the City Hall chamber for the council meeting.

A Junior Editors Quiz About ISLANDS



QUESTION: How do islands rise out of the sea?

★ ★ ★

ANSWER: Most new islands have been created by volcanoes under the water. Masses of molten rock from the hot places under the earth's crust find weak places where there are fissures or cracks.

Suddenly, as in (1) a mass of such hot lava breaks through.

It makes a pile of material, and as more underwater eruptions occur, the pile rises higher (2).

At last, the mass is close to the (3). If more flows up, there is a tremendous explosion as tons of hot rock burst through the water, creating clouds of hissing steam (4).

Now a new island appears to float on the surface (5) though actually it is the top of a mountain.

Through the action of wind and rain, soil is formed. Plant seeds from the upper air drift down and take root.

A few animals may be carried in on floating debris. Sometimes such an island will sink slightly below the surface. Then coral will grow around its edge and reach up to the surface, leading to a circular island called an atoll.

Coconuts will be thrown by storm on such islands, and taking root, will grow to trees giving refreshing drink and food as well as shade.

Many of the romantic South Seas islands have been formed in one or the other of these ways. The Hawaiian Islands are probably crest of volcanoes risen from the sea.

★ ★ ★

FOR YOU TO DO: Color the picture, trying to get the romantic feeling of tropical islands—the sea is a light greenish blue, the girl's dress brilliant red.

School Funds Not Being Used

By Esther Van Wagoner Tuffy

WASHINGTON — Some Michigan school districts are failing to develop programs to use the funds under the Elementary and Secondary School act, according to John F. Hughes, director of the program's operations over at the U.S. Office of Education.

★ ★ ★

The main reason: red tape.

Michigan's allotment was $34,734,957 with an additional 1 per cent for state administration.

Some 25 per cent of this large amount has not been obligated and the deadline is July 1, 1966.

★ ★ ★

Director Hughes suspects that "some local school administrators, inexperienced in designing projects need help in preparing their applications."

★ ★ ★

He admits the red tape in designing a comprehensive program requiring many manhours of work and that gathering the data required to complete the application forms may be very tedious, expecially for small school districts.

As a remedy he suggests a visit to state educational agencies to smooth out problems.

He lists as the "most easily implemented projects: remedial services including hiring of full and part-time specialists, teachers' aides, extension of regular school offerings such as extra classes on weekends, vocational, education, preschool classes.

Certain supportive services may be desirable and necessary to reinforce educational activities, Hughes mentioned, but they should not constitute a whole program or a complete project.

★ ★ ★

In this connection, psychological and social workers, teacher in-service training programs, and recreation.

Just the same the Office of Education is encouraged with the progress "in getting such a big nationwide program in operation."

Romney: Back to Principles

SIOUX FALLS, S. D. (UPI)—Michigan Gov. George Romney yesterday called for a return to the basic principles on which the United States is built and for the Republican party to tell of the superior programs it can offer.

Romney was the headline speaker at a GOP fund-raising dinner honoring South Dakota Gov. Nils Boe.

Romney said the principles which made Abraham Lincoln a great president are those which the Republican party should return to and work for to become a majority party once again.

Romney, who is considered presidential timber, said he believes the most serious domestic problems are a lack of religious conviction, lack of a moral conviction, lack of patriotism and the breakup of family life.

★ ★ ★

Romney also paid tribute to Boe as being a man like Lincoln in that he cares for people and their problems.

Belated Yule Real 'Cool,' Says State GI

JACKSON (AP)—Airman 2C. Thomas Polich arrived home from Viet Nam and helped take down the family Christmas tree —two months late or 10 months early.

The 22-year-old airman's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward T. Polic, vowed at Christmas they would not take their tree down until Thomas—serving at Bien Hoa Air Base — could see it.

★ ★ ★

"The most beautiful sight I have ever seen was those Christmas tree lights all lit up as we turned the corner of our street," Thomas said.

Polich arrived in the United States Jan. 25, but a mix-up in orders kept him at Travis Air Force Base, Calif., until Saturday.

His first reaction to being back home was: "It's cold."

Polich said he left Viet Nam with temperatures near the 120 mark. It was in the 30s and 40s in California. The mercury has hovered near the zero mark for the past few days in Jackson.

Lost Gold Located, Five Texans Believe

SAN SABA, Tex. (AP) — Five Texans believe they have cracked the secret of the lost San Saba gold mine.

They say samples of ore they have mined from limestone hills 90 miles northwest of Austin have been assayed out at $467.60 a ton by the Colorado Assaying Co. of Denver.

★ ★ ★

The first large shipment of ore they have mined is to be processed early in March.

They think they'll know then whether they will become millionaires.

PARTNERSHIP FORMED

The five, who have formed a partnership, are Orville and Aaron Cummins and R. R. McCoy of Lampasas and T. S. Lemons and his son, T. S. Lemons Jr., of Bend, a San Saba County town.

They have done the preliminary mining themselves with makeshift gear. Trucks with heavy equipment were to arrive this week to throw the operation into high gear.

★ ★ ★

The mine is located on the elder Lemons' 3,300 acres of cattle and sheep land near this hill country community.

The men have sunk a 37-foot shaft into a hillside and have hauled out 210 tons of ore.

NOTICED NUGGET

T. S. Lemons Jr. 40, noticed a sparkling nugget at a low-water point in the Colorado River in the summer of 1964. His find was in the vicinity of the lost San Saba gold mine, abandoned by Spanish soldiers in 1758, according to legend.

T. S. Jr. loaded several five-gallon buckets with the ore and took them to Lampasas to Aaron and Orville Cummins, a dirt contractor and geologist, respectively.

★ ★ ★

A sample was shipped to Colorado and a report of "gold in them thar hills" came back.

The men searched for miles through the prickly pear and Spanish dagger that cover the countryside, looking for the source of the gold ore.

The search always came back to a large, red-veined boulder sticking out from a limestone ledge.

MARKINGS FOUND

North of the boulder they found directions carved in the side of an old tree. Further east, they came across Spanish markings and two drill holes bored into the hillside.

They theorized that the bluff had been blasted away to hide the gold vein, sending rich ore crashing into an arroyo below.

★ ★ ★

On a nearby hill lay the ruins of an ancient smelter and traces of copper and silver slag, they said.

That's where they started digging, and that's where they found their $467.60 a ton ore, they said.

★ ★ ★

"We weren't looking for rooms filled with gold bars," said Cummins. "We just wanted to find out what mother nature had buried here."

Legend has it that 2,000 Comanche Indians attacked the Spanish mine and fort in 1758, two years after the operation had begun, driving the white men away and shutting down the mine.
