'Sick' Convicts Hammering at Walls in Break Attempt

Mental Patients Seize 5 Guards as Hostages

Police Guns Covering Area, Prisoners Are Expected to Come Out

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (AP)—Rioting prisoners — all mentally unstable and some considered desperate—were reported attempting to hammer their way to freedom today through a 36-inch brick wall at the U.S. Medical Center here.

The 106 inmates seized five guards as hostages Monday night when they took over three buildings in a section of the prison known as "10 North."

Sheriff Glenn Hendrix, after an hour's conference inside the prison with the warden, Dr. Russell O. Settle, told newsmen the rioters were trying to break out through the wall in the northwest corner of the wing.

Should they succeed, they would emerge into an open area covered by the guns of guards, city police, sheriff's deputies and state troopers. The corner could be brought under fire from two guard towers as well as from ground patrols.

No official word had come from prison authorities, except an order to other guards to do nothing to provoke the psychoneurotic prisoners for fear that any aggressive action might endanger the lives of the five hostages.

Associate Warden G. V. Richardson said that although the rioters had been in occasional telephonic communication with the warden's office, authorities still did not know what was behind the riot or what demands the prisoners might make.

LEAD BY 6 OR 7

Sheriff Hendrix said the riot was led by six or seven convicts and that one of them, under a 20-year sentence, is considered desperate.

The center holds 1,046 prisoners brought here from federal penitentiaries all over the country for treatment. Of the 106 rioters, some are homosexuals.

The prison is a sprawling, modern structure known as the "country club" because its neatly landscaped grounds and spacious layout facing a trunk highway resembles a country club to outsiders.

The officers, armed with riot guns and gas grenades, were spaced only 20 feet apart to

New 59ers Set for Alaska Trek

78 Will Leave Detroit at Dawn Tomorrow in Motor Caravan

DETROIT (AP)—Undaunted by the rough-going encountered by their predecessors, a new group of 59ers is planning to strike out at dawn tomorrow to homestead in Alaska.

The newest group includes 78 members of 19 families. They plan to leave via motor caravan from the Michigan state fairgrounds.

Most of the group, already having disposed of Michigan homes, have been camping out—apparently conditioning themselves for the rigors to come.

Frank Milazzo, 35, who recently returned from a visit with the first 59ers, now trying to claw out farms from the wilderness above the Susitna River, is confident a lot has been learned from the hardships of the original group.

Milazzo's group is taking seven farm tractors, two saw mills, six welding outfits, a complete machine shop, a blacksmith's forge and a variety of farm equipment. They also are carrying a boat and two motors.

Compared to the original homesteaders who left Detroit on a cold and windy morning March 5, the latter group is well prepared. The first group had only one tractor and few of the tools necessary to carve farms from virgin timberland.

An old Reo van was the core of the original 59ers' transportation. The new 59ers have come up with a semi-trailer rig pulled by an International K-7 tractor.

Curtis Potter, a Royal Oak moving firm operator who furnished the first 59ers with their "monstrosity," came up with the tractor for the new group.

"I've never been to Alaska," Potter said, "but I admire the courage of these people."

The trailer was bought from Kramer Bros. Freight Lines, for which Milazzo worked as an over-the-road driver for several years.

The group plans to keep the van below the Susitna River to haul supplies. To get them across, they plan to build a barge on oil drums.

Besides the semi-trailer rig, other units of transportation include 10 trucks of varying sizes and ages. Some have little homes built on them which can be detached and used as living quarters in Alaska.

Milazzo said his group plans to head out of Michigan via the Mackinac Bridge and U. S. 2, entering Canada near Minot, N. D. The original convoy went via Chicago and battled snowstorms for two days before reaching the Windy City.

Seven Agree to Act in '61 Centennial Posts

Seven prominent Pontiac men have agreed to serve in key positions in Pontiac's 1961 Centennial.

The seven are slated to become members of a board of directors governing a centennial corporation, expected to be formed within a few weeks. Accepting appointments by the Pontiac Centennial Advisory Commission were:

A. C. Girard, president of the Community National Bank; William B. Hartman, attorney; John W. Hirlinger, manager of the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce; Mayor Philip E. Rowston; Thomas F. Wiethorn, Fisher Body plant manager; Dr. Dana P. Whitmer, superintendent of schools, and Howard H. Fitzgerald II, Pontiac Press business manager.

While it was decided yesterday that the 34-member citizens commission, which Rowston appointed in April, should act as the centennial's executive committee, this decision may be reversed.

"It would perhaps be better not to settle definitely on the membership of the executive committee until after incorporation," said Rowston today.

Provisions for the board of directors and the executive committee are to be included in bylaws which are being drawn up for incorporation.

★ ★ ★

The commission has still to fill the key position in the organization it is setting up to run the centennial.

This is the post of general chairman, a job that is expected to require hundreds of hours of volunteer work.

Rowston, who is serving as chairman of the commission, said the post may be filled shortly.

"It is difficult to find a man of high caliber who will have the time to devote to the job," he said.

The general manager will be responsible for running the centennial, said Rowston, with the help of the executive committee and divisional chairmen in charge of various phases of the celebration.

The board of directors would be

News Flash

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (AP)—Rioting prisoners at the federal prison system's medical center released five hostages this afternoon and guards immediately laid siege to a wing of the big prison hospital. Police radios operating around the hospital reported at 1:16 p.m. (CST) "all hostages are out." A few minutes earlier prison guards battered down a steel door on the west side midway of the building and a bulldozer was used on the northwest corner, and tear gas was poured into the wing.

Rush Sachmo to Hospital; Has Pneumonia

SPOLETO, Italy (AP)— American jazz king Louis Armstrong was rushed to Spoleto's civil hospital today, suffering from an attack of pneumonia.

Italian doctors who examined him immediately after the attack early today said that he had suffered a heart attack. But an examination by specialists at the hospital showed that the 59-year-old Negro musician had pneumonia.

The New Orleans-born trumpeter had come to Spoleto to participate in the Festival of Two Worlds, directed by American composer Gian-Carlo Menotti.

The specialists said Armstrong's condition was not grave.

Slate Lie Test for Mate Slayer

Mrs. Millican Will Be Released if She Passes It, Authorities Say

Held Monday night in the slaying of her husband, Mrs. Edna L. Millican, 34, of Brandon Township was to be released today if she passes a lie detector test.

Chief Assistant Prosecutor George F. Taylor said that all available information tends to bear out the woman's statement that she shot her husband, Earnest, to death in self defense after he beat her in a drunken rage.

Mrs. Millican left the Oakland County Jail at 10:30 a.m. today for the Redford State Police Post where the lie test was scheduled.

Taylor said he expected the test results would confirm Mrs. Millican's story.

She admitted shooting her husband to death with a shotgun in the basement of their home, 1570 Perry Lake Rd., early yesterday after she had been beaten by him a few hours earlier.

She said that she was hiding the shotgun from Millican, 40, because he had threatened to take her life.

When Millican discovered her with the shotgun, she said, he tried to take it away from her and the gun "suddenly went off."

Millican died of a wound below the heart.

Millican was employed at the Fisher Body Division plant in Grand Blanc.

CHICAGO (AP) — Henry Ransom, a 48-year-old pro from St. Andrews, Ill., shot a five-under-par 65 Monday to lead 64 qualifiers into Thursday's first round of the $57,000 Chicago Open at Gleneagles.

The 64 qualifiers will join 87 exempt players to make up a field of 151 who will see action in the 72-hole event which carries a top prize of $9,000.

Ransom tied for 40th with a 285 last year in Gleneagles' inaugural Chicago Open.

Rackets Probers to Call Convicted Flint Arsonist

With a second request for a new trial rejected, Flint Teamsters business agent Jack D. Thompson might escape his scheduled sentencing Monday for arson because of an appointment before the Senate Rackets Committee in Washington.

Thompson is to be summoned to Washington Thursday when the committee begins a two-week hearing Thursday to determine how well Teamsters President James R. Hoffa has kept his pledge to clean corruption and wrongdoers from his union.

Sources close to the committee said Thompson will be asked whether he has been kept on the Teamster payroll and whether the Teamsters Union paid for his court defense.

★ ★ ★

Thompson appeared before the committee once before, in 1957, when he invoked the fifth amendment in refusing to tell whether he had received payoffs from Detroit labor relations consultant George Kamenow.

★ ★ ★

Genesee Circuit Judge Stephen J. Roth yesterday afternoon turned down a second trial for Thompson, saying "the case was fully and fairly tried."

Thompson, convicted by a jury April 3 of being the second man in the dry cleaning establishment fire which cost fellow Teamster Frank Kierdorf his life last summer, claimed the jury foreman was prejudiced against him and the Teamsters.

Judge Roth said: "The defense has not made sufficient showing and the court will not require the appearance of the jury foreman for questioning."

Thompson's attorney contended yesterday that the foreman, Coley Crump, a factory worker, once worked for a Flint builder who had a labor dispute with Thompson's Local 332.

After being postponed twice because of two requests for new trials, Thompson's sentencing by Judge Roth is set for Monday. However, the judge said the date would be rescheduled if Thompson is away in Washington. He faces a maximum prison term of 10 years.

Thompson's attorneys said he had been summoned to appear in Washington Thursday.

Thompson, along with Leaun Harrelson, president of Pontiac Teamsters Local 614, and another man, since imprisoned, were subpoenaed by the Senate Committee last August during the height of the Kierdorf investigation. Later appearance dates were canceled indefinitely.

Harrelson today said he had not been notified to appear since.

It was not immediately known what Sen. John McClellan's committee wished to question the 42-year-old Thompson about, and whether he was appearing on the original subpoena or a recently-issued one.

Fire Sweeps Norway Hotel; 8 Tourists Die, 24 Missing

VOSSESTRAND, Norway (UP)—Fire destroyed the packed Stalheim Tourist Hotel today and was reported to have killed many of the 130 American tourists visiting there.

Police feared the death toll would exceed 32 and that most of the victims would be Americans. They said they had recovered eight bodies and that more than 24 other persons were missing and feared dead.

There were 147 guests and about 50 Norwegian employes in the 50-year-old four-story wooden hotel when fire flashed through the building at 3 a.m. and trapped many persons in their rooms.

At least 35 persons were taken to hospitals, many of them men and women between the ages of 50 and 60 who had come to this resort area 50 miles northeast of Bergen to view the country's famous fjords.

Police hoped that some of the missing had left the hotel grounds and had merely failed to report their absence. But they could not be sure until they searched the remains of the tourist inn that was built here at the turn of the century.

The search for more victims was extremely difficult and dangerous in the still-smouldering ruins.

Hospital officials said some of the 35 being treated were in "serious" condition. Victims' names were withheld by authorities.

★ ★ ★

Police said the hotel was packed by 147 guests and the Norwegian hotel staff when flames ripped through the 50-year-old structure. The fire burned out the telephone system and hotel employes and guests were unable to telephone for help at once.

SOUNDS ALARM

An American tourist, Horace Caldwell of Atlanta, Ga., sounded the alarm after fire invaded his room.

Three American women leaped through upper floor windows to escape their flame-filled rooms. Police said one leaped from the third floor and two from the second floor.

Baby Sitter Is Clinging to Life

18-Year-Old Remains in Critical Condition; Man Admits Beating

An 18-year-old baby sitter who was the victim of a savage beating early Monday morning was clinging to life today in Pontiac General Hospital.

The girl, Phyllis Jean Keel, is in critical condition. She suffered two skull fractures and severe neck and chest cuts.

In the Oakland County Jail is Bruce M. Taylor, 32, who has admitted beating the girl to Pontiac police detectives. He said he mistook the girl, who was sleeping on the living room sofa, for his wife, Juanita, 29, from whom he is separated.

Miss Keel was staying with Mrs. Taylor's three children while the mother was working at Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital where she is a nurses' aid.

Mrs. Taylor told police her husband had bothered other baby sitters previously.

Police believe a blood-smeared baseball bat found in the basement of Mrs. Taylor's home was the weapon used in the beating. Taylor said he didn't remember.

Later yesterday he refused to make a formal statement at the Oakland County Prosecutor's Office.

But Supervisors Hit 'Monkeyshines'

MSUO Road Paving OK'd

Recent student demonstrations at Michigan State University resulted in four members of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors yesterday voting against appropriating $10,000 to pave the main road leading into MSUO.

★ ★ ★

Just as the supervisors were expected to give a routine unanimous roll call approval of the appropriation, Brandon Township Supervisor Alex R. Solley jumped to his feet.

★ ★ ★

"We have seen quite a bit lately that they (students) have been wasting our money by a bunch of monkeyshines," Solley said. "I for one won't give money of taxpayers so it can be wasted."

Solley's objection went for naught, however, as supervisors approved the money, 69-4.

Voting against allocating it with Solley were Sydney Frid of Northville, Mayon Hoard, Milford Township, and Lee H. Clack, Oxford Township.

★ ★ ★

"I don't mind those panty raids," said Solley after the vote. "It's when they have to call out the police, and when property is damaged, that it goes too far and wastes our money."

The money appropriated from the county's contingent fund will pay half the cost of grading, draining and hard surfacing one-third of a mile of Squirrel road from the main entrance of MSUO north to Pontiac road in Pontiac Township.

The County Road Commission, with state funds, will pay the other half.

New GM Cars Slated by Nov. 13

TV Show on That Date Will Feature 5 Lines of 1960 Models

The five passenger car lines of General Motors will introduce their 1960 models on or before Nov. 13.

This was disclosed today when GM said the entire line would be shown together for the first time on a television spectacular on that date.

No specific introduction dates have been announced. Industry rumors have said Chevrolet Division will show GM's first small car, the Corvair, about Oct. 9.

The 90-minute TV show on NBC will be a musical by Jay Lerner and Frederick Loewe based on their Broadway hit, "My Fair Lady," and their screen adaptation of "Gigi."

★ ★ ★

A top cast of stage and screen stars will be featured in Lerner and Loewe's first television production. Lerner is writing a musical story especially for the GM program. Also woven into the show will be scenes from two other Lerner-Loewe stage successes —"Brigadoon" and "Paint Your Wagon."

★ ★ ★

Arrangements for the program are now being completed with the National Broadcasting Company. Campbell-Ewald is the agency handling the show for General Motors.

Thunderclouds Scatter Rain Over Midwest

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Scattered thundershowers, spawned by a collision of warm and cool air, erupted today from Texas to the Appalachians.

The new rains followed a rash of tornadoes, hail, damaging winds and torrential downpours that hit numerous sections of Texas Monday.

★ ★ ★

A dozen twisters were reported in the Plainview and Lubbock areas of Texas, but damage was confined to farm buildings. Fort Worth was drenched with nearly eight inches of rain. Hail covered the ground at New Deal near Lubbock, and the storm disrupted power for nearly an hour.

Two deaths were attributed to the Texas storms.

★ ★ ★

The Cincinnati, Ohio, area was doused with 3.17 inches of rain in six hours. Thundershowers swept the New York City area, leaving nearly an inch of rain. Showers sprinkled parts of New England.

Cool air extending to the eastern slopes of the Rockies touched off showers and thunderstorms over the western portion of the north and central plains.

responsible for policy decisions, legal contracts and budgetary matters, he explained.

Another decision that will be made before incorporation concerns possible profits from the centennial.

★ ★ ★

It appeared that the commission favored putting any profits into a fund for construction of a civic auditorium.

By dedicating profits to a charitable or civic purpose, the commission can avoid federal amusement taxes on admission prices to centennial events.

The commission is scheduled to meet next Tuesday to review the proposed bylaws, and on Wednesday to consider hiring the John B. Rogers Producing Co. of Fostoria, Ohio.

The Rogers company produces the giant spectaculars with which many United States cities have marked important dates in recent years.

A representative of the firm has already appeared before the commission to advise on the initial steps in centennial planning.

A train of 30,000 cars — long enough to extend from New York City to Richmond, Va.—is needed to transport bituminous coal from mine to market each day.

3-Truck Crash Sends Driver to the Hospital

A Pontiac milk truck driver, Harry Felix, of 240 S. Sanford St., was injured critically this morning when his truck was involved in a three-truck collision at the corner of Opdyke and Auburn roads.

★ ★ ★

Felix, a driver for the Detroit Creamery, suffered multiple cuts of the head and chest, and a possible concussion. He was taken to Pontiac General Hospital.

A gravel truck driven by Ralph Shanahan, of Detroit, struck Felix' truck, knocking it from the road. Shanahan told sheriff's deputies he could not avoid the milk carrier.

★ ★ ★

A third truck driven by Verney Harrinton of 2527 Weaverton St., Rochester, was damaged as the gravel carrier tipped over and dropped its load on Harrinton's truck. Neither Harrinton nor Shanahan were hurt in the accident.

★ ★ ★

The Sheriff's Department is waiting for a statement from Felix before a complete investigation can be made.

Queen's Tour Picking Up at Last

By RELMAN MORIN

QUEBEC (AP)—After a slow start, Queen Elizabeth's tour of Canada is beginning to assume the proportions of a major success.

The crowds are growing. There are more and more spontaneous signs of affection and enthusiasm as the Queen and Prince Philip sail up the St. Lawrence River aboard the royal yacht Britannia toward Canada's big cities.

★ ★ ★

Ancient Quebec, the only walled city in North America, is blazing with flags and decorations. The people are tingling with excitement over the possibility of catching a glimpse of the Queen wearing a diamond tiara and a regal gown for the state dinner the provincial government of Quebec is giving tonight.

But that's pageantry.

Perhaps more significant indications are two thousand workmen in an aluminum factory at Arvida waiting after hours, clapping and cheering, as the Queen and her husband walk through the plant.

★ ★ ★

Virtually entire populations of small towns and cities in the northern part of Quebec province —Baggotville, Chicoutimi, Arvida —standing hours in pelting rain to see the couple pass.

A housewife rushing to bring her washing from the clothesline as rain starts to fall, then forgetting it as police sirens signal the Queen's approach.

Members of the Queen's party are frankly relieved. They had been worried by what looked almost like apathy in the first days of the six-week royal tour of Canada.

For both Britain and Canada this trip has specific objectives. The Queen's purpose is to cement Commonwealth relations, firming up ties between Canada and Britain. The Canadians are using the tour to publicize their great industrial expansion. Elizabeth has already visited the world's largest aluminum plant, paper mills, an iron mine, and hydroelectric installations. She has trudged miles through the factories, asking the right questions and showing interest in technical operations.

At the alumuinm plant at Arvida Monday, she donned protective spectacles to visit the avenue of electric furnaces where the aluminum is actually distilled — and where there is a real danger of electrocution.

Technicians explained that if two persons touching each other happened to brush against the base bar feeding more than 35,000 amperes of current into furnaces, everyone in the vicinity would be electrocuted.

★ ★ ★

Having walked the equivalent of three long city blocks by that time, Elizabeth was obviously tired. She stood with crossed ankles while the plant manager explained the operations. She fidgeted. But the expression of interest never left her face; and she frequently asked questions.

Workers off duty stood around watching her and taking snapshots.

guard against the possibility of a break.

The "10 North" wing is a prison-type building with barred doors and windows and individual cells. It is divided into three wards, each housing about a third of the 106 inmates.

★ ★ ★

Of the center's inmate population, 259 are trusties. About 60 per cent of the 787 patients suffer mental illnesses.

None of the rioters has been identified by the warden.

At 6:30 a.m., the inmates in "10 North" called the warden's office and demanded that food and coffee be sent to the wing.

But the coffee and food was not sent over.

So far as is known, the rioting inmates do not have access to any food. The kitchen and dining hall are in another building.

The only outward sign of violence was broken glass smashed from windows on the west side of the wing. The rioters had covered the windows with blankets.

From time to time, spectators on a road a quarter of a mile from the building could hear shouts from the inside.

One inmate was seen holding a knife to the back of a hostage. A rioter told the center's control room by telephone: "Don't try to come in here or your men will get hurt."

Another inmate said in a second call, "We mean business."

Questioned by Settle on what started the riot, the man said: "We have our demands almost ready but we will call you."

That was at 10:20 Monday night. Nothing since has been heard from the prisoners.

There has been no sound at all from the wing. There are no lights. The prisoners smashed the lights when the uprising began.

Only one newsman, Jim Billings, Daily News, was allowed inside the center.

"There is no rioting in the general sense — no shouting and all that," Billings reported.

He said officials were "sitting around, sweating out" the riot and added, "There is not much anyone can do except sweat."

COMPLAINT UNKNOWN

"The trouble is, we don't know what these 106 men want," said Billings. "We don't even know what triggered this seizure of the wing."

The 100-foot-long one-story concrete wing is divided into three cell blocks and is separated from the rest of the center by a barred door.

First indication of the riot came when a guard peered through that door in a routine check just before "lights out."

The guard told Dr. Settle he saw inmates milling in the long corridor. The five guards in the wing were stripped to their shorts. Some inmates were wearing the officers' uniforms. An inmate was holding a knife against the back of a guard.

The hostages are William L. Fitch, Leonard Appleby, Melvin G. Jung, Robert D. Rosenthal and Charles R. Allen, all of Springfield.

As soon as escape routes through the main door and the steel-barred windows were blocked, the staff settled down to waiting.

The medical center is a general hospital for the government's prison system.

The Day in Birmingham

Planning, Building Board Appointments Are Made

BIRMINGHAM—The City Commission put in a relaxed session at its regular meeting last night. At 9 p.m. business at hand was wrapped up, and the commissioners were on their way home.

One item of business concerned appointments to the Planning Board and Building Code Board of Appeals.

Mrs. Florence H. Willett was named to the Planning Board to fill the spot vacated by the recent resignation of William Merrill. His term had until July 1, 1961 to run.

Appointed to the Planning Board for three-year terms were Robert W. Page and Linn Smith. Page was reappointed, and Smith will take over for Dr. George Marin whose term expired.

T. Norville Hubbard was reappointed for a five-year term to the Building Code Board of Appeals.

No action was taken last night to fill the City Commission vacancy left by the recent resignation of John S. O'Gorman Jr. Commissioner William H. Burgum, however, was named to replace O'Gorman as chairman of the City Recreation Board.

★ ★ ★

On hand at the commission meeting was a group of Latham road citizens protesting sidewalk construction on Latham road between Lincoln and 14-Mile roads.

The group appeared to oppose R. B. King of 1700 Latham Rd. who had requested sidewalks in the area.

Following discussion, the matter was tabled for further study by the commission. To be examined are safety factors in the area where pedestrians must use the road because of the lack of sidewalks.

In other commission action Parking Meter Ordinance 405 was amended to require cars to park head-on to meters. The action was taken to prevent damage to meters resulting when cars have been backed in too far in parking spaces.

Mrs. Howard S. Christie of 761 Southfield Rd. and Mrs. William G. Meese, 2775 Pine Hill Dr., both of Birmingham, were among representatives of the Women's Service Committee of William Beaumont Hospital, Royal Oak, who attended the 10th annual meeting of the Michigan Assn. of Hospital Auxiliaries yesterday at the Sheraton Cadillac Hotel in Detroit.

Mrs. Christie was one of the hostesses of the day.

The Beaumont volunteers exhibited a poster depicting their services in the Project Parade as part of the meeting. The poster was designed by Mrs. Earl W. Rohrbacher of 2875 Hylane Dr., Troy.

The Past Chiefs Club of the Birmingham Pythian Sisters will meet at 8 p.m. Friday at the home of Mrs. Hazel Lawler, 1100 N. Adams Blvd. Cohostesses for the meeting are Mrs. Edwin Weaver and Mrs. Walter Thompson.

Traffic Toll 6 on Monday

Two Were Young Bike Riders, Another Was on Scooter

By The Associated Press

Michigan traffic accidents claimed six lives Monday on top of a weekend toll of nine.

Two of the latest victims were young bike riders. Another was a 15-year-old motor-scooter rider. Also among the victims was a 41-year-old father of nine children.

★ ★ ★

Kenneth G. Wardlaw, 15, of Detroit, was killed when his motor-scooter and an auto collided near his east side Detroit home.

Another east side Detroiter, Keigh Magna, 11, was killed shortly before. Police held car driver Jasper Carter, 54, of Detroit, and accused him of veering across a street and striking young Magna's bike.

Curtis Wimbley, 8, of Muskegon Heights, was killed when he was hit by a car as he rode his bike from an alley into a street near his home.

Charles Shuburte, 41, a migrant farm worker and father of nine children, was killed when the car in which he was riding collided with a Berrien county road commission truck at an intersection five miles south of Watervliet. Shuburte was from Steele, Mo.

Available to Public Thursday

Oakland Directory Out

Copies of Oakland County's official 1959-60 directory will be available to the public beginning Thursday in the County Clerk's Office. There will be no charge.

★ ★ ★

Copies of the 39-page, pocket-size booklet were distributed yesterday to members of the Board of Supervisors. Immediately Ferndale Supervisor Clayton G. Lilly noticed that under the listing of county departments the Board of Public Works was omitted.

★ ★ ★

Admitting this was in error, a county clerk has ordered stickers to add this department to the books. Lilly is a member of the Board of Public Works.

Again "Mr. Oakland County," Joe Haas of The Pontiac Press, has written his annual one-page introduction for the directory on the county's facts and figures.

Pictured on the front of the directory, prepared by Clerk-Register Daniel T. Murphy Jr., is Kent Lake in Kensington Metropolitan Park. On the back is the county's new seal, centered with a full oak tree.

This is the first year, Haas reports, that a picture of one of the county's 423 lakes has been used on the cover. Haas yesterday received the first copy of the directory.

Inserted within the front cover is a map showing the boundaries of Oakland County's six legislative districts. In the back is a more detailed map of the county, with locations of city, village, and township offices pinpointed.

Murphy has ordered 10,000 copies of the directory printed.

City Detective Prays After He Shoots Man

By MAX E. SIMON

August R. Martinez kissed his wife, Ruth, goodbye, cast an affectionate glance at his sleeping two-year-old son, and set out for work.

As he left his home and family, Martinez, 32, had no idea of the ordeal he was to experience yesterday.

Before he would return to his modest dwelling in Drayton Plains, the likeable, 32-year-old Martinez was going to kill a man.

The drama in which Martinez, Pontiac police detective, was to play a life-and-death role had began to unfold before he left for work.

Early in the morning police received a complaint that a Manuel Gomez, who lived in a terrace apartment of W. Wilson Ave., had apparently gone berserk.

Gomez was calmed down by officers and his co-roomer, Angelo Deligado. Police left after Gomez, whom they believed to be mentally ill, promised to "see a doctor."

All of this was unknown to Martinez when he reported to work at the Public Safety Building. Before noon, however, he was to become involved in the drama which would end violently with his shooting Gomez to death.

A second call came in at police headquarters. Gomez had gone berserk again, locked himself in his apartment and was brandishing a butcher knife through the window. He threatened to commit suicide, warned his excited neighbors not to come near him lest they be killed.

Spanish-speaking Martinez was tapped by police to plead with Gomez, a native of Mexico who has lived in the city several years, to come out of the building.

Martinez, Patrolman Gerald Navarre and Sgt. John DePauw were given a key by the landlord. They opened the front door of the building but only a few feet away was Gomez, a wild look in his eyes.

★ ★ ★

The officers went out of the building. Tear gas was flung into the dwelling and Gomez rushed to the second floor where he barricaded himself in a bathroom.

Navarre and Martinez donned gas masks and went in. Using chairs as shields, they broke down the door. Gomez swung his knife back and forth, finally knocking Martinez's chair away.

"We're the police . . . we're the police . . . we want to help you," Martinez pleaded in Spanish.

The man ignored his pleas. The back of the knife struck Martinez in the arm.

★ ★ ★

"Please, get away from me, will you?" cried out the desperate police officer.

Gomez did not hear. Then Martinez, a likeable, gentle officer, did the only thing he could.

The officer who has settled numerous disputes in the city's Mexican community with his tolerant attitude, his smile, and his way of getting along with people, did the only thing he could.

After three warning shots, Martinez fired at Gomez twice, first in the arm, then through the heart.

★ ★ ★

Still clutching the knife, Gomez slumped to the floor dead.

Oakland County Chief Assistant Prosecutor George F. Taylor said Martinez was not only acting in line of duty, but deserved a citation for bravery. "He probably saved the life of his fellow officer who was cornered," Taylor said.

Martinez did not hear Taylor's words of praise. Nor would he have cared to.

★ ★ ★

For August Martinez had gone through one of the greatest tragedies life can bring. He took another human's life.

And, as words of commendation were spoken of the officer, he knelt in church praying, and he prayed that such a day should never again come.

New Strike Closes J and L Steel Plant

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A strike by 12,000 production workers brought near capacity operations to a halt late Monday night at the Pittsburgh works of Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp.

The plant's big battery of open hearth furnaces had been closed down 24 hours earlier by a labor dispute over incentive pay rates in that department. Picketing by open hearth workers brought production to a standstill.

★ ★ ★

Officials of J & L, the nation's fourth largest steel producing firm, said the open hearth dispute was a violation of the contract.

John Murray, director of United Steelworkers Dist. 16, charged the company violated the contract by cutting incentive rates without notifying the union.

★ ★ ★

The big plant, located on both sides of the Monongahela River, had an annual ingot capacity of 3,300,000 tons of steel.

There was no immediate indication of any union-management negotiations to end the dispute. Murray had announced plans to meet with open hearth workers today to discuss their grievances.

Oklahomans Soon to Drink Legal Liquor

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. (AP) — Legal liquor is about two months away for Oklahomans.

The Oklahoma House of Representatives passed a liquor control bill Monday and sent it to Gov. J. Howard Edmondson for his signature. The governor said he planned to sign it today.

★ ★ ★

The bill sets up a 5-man liquor control board authorized to provide the machinery for the sale of liquor by the bottle through package stores by Sept. 1.

★ ★ ★

Legislators have been haggling over the control bill since April 7 when the people adopted a constitutional amendment repealing prohibition by an 80,000-vote margin.

The control bill provides a tax of $2.40 per gallon, bans public drinking and prohibits advertising liquor prices.

Decisions in Rape Cases 'Will Aid' Social Justice

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP)—A Negro leader believes that decisions in the Tallahassee and Marianna rape cases will have a wide effect on racial justice in Southern courtrooms.

The Rev. David H. Brooks commented on life sentences handed out here to four white youths for raping a Negro coed and to a 16-year-old Negro at Marianna for raping a white woman.

The sentences were imposed two hours apart Monday in cases which have attracted wide attention. Marianna is 60 miles west of Tallahassee.

★ ★ ★

Brooks, who is an Episcopal church pastor and president of the Tallahassee chapter of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People, said that on the basis of these actions, Florida has taken the lead in the South "in efforts to erase the double standard of justice."

Circuit Judge W. May Walker, who sentenced the four white youths to serve life terms, said he saw nothing unusual in his actions.

★ ★ ★

"In the past six months I have sentenced two Negroes to life imprisonment for rape," he said. "There are no racial distinctions in crime."

The Tallahassee youths were convicted June 14 by a jury which recommended mercy and thereby saved them from a death sentence.

Only one of the four is considering an appeal—Willion Collinsworth, 23.

Thethree others are Patrick Scarborough, 20, David Erwin Beagles, 18, and Ollie Stoutamire, 16.

At Marianna, Jimmie Lee Clark who had been doomed to the electric chair by a jury verdict of guilty without a leniency recommendation, escaped with a life sentence.

Granted a new trial, Clark pleaded guilty and was sentenced to life imprisonment. He had been convicted for rape of a 68-year-old white woman.

Watching for Negro in Rape of Six

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—A Negro man has raped six women, two of them white, in an eight-block area here during the past four months, police reported Monday night.

★ ★ ★

It was the first public word on the attacks. Police Chief James C. McDonald said the assaults had been kept undercover in hopes of trapping the man.

★ ★ ★

MacDonald said that in each case the rapist attacked in the middle of night while the victim's husband was away.

The area has been under police watch for weeks.

Get Conflicting Testimony on Car Franchise Security

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senators received conflicting testimony Monday that car buyers and the economy would be (a) helped or (b) hurt if Congress legalizes territorial security franchises for auto dealers.

The Federal Trade Commission (FTC) opposed the proposals. Two senators, a General Motors Corp. vice president and spokesmen for the National Automobile Dealers Assn. all urged territorial protection for the dealers.

A Senate commerce subcommittee is considering four bills which all seek in different ways to permit a return to the now banned system of protecting auto dealers against sales competition from outside their assigned territory.

Chairman Earl W. Kintner of the FTC raised the lone "no" voice in the hearing.

"I am afraid," he said, "that if any of these bills were enacted, every potential consumer of affected products could be made the economic captive of the dealers or dealers . . ."

★ ★ ★

Sens. Roman L. Hruska (R-Neb) and Andrew F. Schoeppel (R-Kan), sponsors of two of the four bills, contended some such step is needed in the public interest as well as the car dealer's.

William F. Hufstader, GM vice president in charge of dealer relations, contended something is necessary to help combat what he termed cut-throat competition.

He contended everyone suffers when one dealer invades the territory of another, offering price cutting car deals based in part on the fact that it is the invaded dealer who will have to support a staff adequate to service these cars.

"Competitive concepts, extended to a degree where they result in manifest inequities, destroy what the free enterprise system seeks to preserve," he argued.

Hufstader endorsed a bill by Sen. William Langer (R-ND), which would make it legal to require an "outside" dealer to pay the protected dealer up to 5 per cent of the manufacturer's suggested retail price on each sale in his territory.

Mayor, 70 Bearskins on Way to Montreal

TIMMINS, Ont. (AP)—Mayor Leo Del Villano left for Montreal last night with more than 70 bearskins destined to become hats for Buckingham Palace guards

The skins will be processed in Montreal and sent to London. Eventually they will make new headpieces—two to a skin—to replace the guards' worn busbies.

The number of skins was boosted in the last few days as various northern Ontario communities shipped them to the mayor, who instigated a recent hunt in this area to help the guards look better.

Journey To Love

By Virginia Nielsen

Chapter XXIII

Kathie knew now that she had never been in love before. What Buck Landers had stirred in her heart had frightened her, and now she knew the reason.

Alex was still an enigma to her, and she did not dare trust him, but she was not afraid of his arms. She longed for them with all her heart.

For all she knew, he intended to marry Leilani. Leilani seemed to think he did.

Yet Alex seemed to be as much drawn to Kathie as she was to him, as stirred by her nearness as he was able to stir her.

The conflict in her heart kept Kathie silent as they drove through the lovely streets.

Leilani was chattering gaily, as she always did with Alex, completely at ease with him.

She was telling him about the luau. It was to be a birthday feast, and there would not be time to take Alex to the house to change from his business suit into a more appropriate aloha shirt if they were not to miss the opening of the imu, the underground oven which had been especially prepared for the roasting of the pig.

* * *

Kathie thought Leilani had never looked more lovely. Her hair shone in the last rays of sunlight like a mixture of spun silver and gold, and she was dressed in the traditional Hawaiian-flowered muumuu, loose-fitting to allow complete grace of movement, yet showing the outlines of her lovely body as she moved.

The long tables were set up under a huge canopy in the garden of their hosts. Kathie gazed with pleasure at the novel setting.

Large green leaves of the ti plant, overlapping, formed the tablecloths. Spaced at intervals down the long tables were whole pineapples, with their decorative spiky leaves. The places were set with polished bowls of varying sizes, made from coconut shells and calabashes. There was no silver.

The imu had already been opened, and the smell of roasted pork mingled with the fragrances of flowers worn by the guests.

* * *

Kathie was presented to their hosts, then she, Leilani, and Alex found places at one of the tables. They were facing the back lanai of the house, which was open to the garden and had been transformed into an impromptu stage for the musicians.

"Like it, Kathie?" Alex asked, watching her expressive face.

"Love it!" she breathed. She was thinking of Uncle Job, wondering how as a young man he could bear to leave all this. He left because he had to!

Alex caught the sudden, almost sick look that came and disappeared in her eyes. He reached out impulsively to touch her hand, and to his surprise, she drew back.

"Kathie, do watch this hula!" Leilani suddenly said, a bit tartly. "You'll never see a better performance."

And Kathie turned blindly toward the improvised stage, realizing that Leilani had seen Alex' impulse to touch her and was resenting it.

Young girls in bright-colored muumuus moved among the tables, carrying trays of coconut and calabash dishes. Kathie looked at the food before her.

* * *

The pork looked tender and delicious, cut into bite-sized chunks. Another dish contained chicken, similarly cut.

Tiny dishes contained a delicious-appearing pink fish, sliced thin—Alex called it lomi-lomi salmon—and a dark chopped relish Leilani told her was a variety of seaweed.

EAT WITH FINGERS

Everyone began eating with his fingers, and Kathie followed suit. The largest bowl contained a pudding-like food, the color of thin cocoa.

"Two-finger poi," Alex said, and Kathie began to giggle as he dipped two fingers into the sticky mass.

Someone said, "Aloha! Aloha!" and Kathie looked up to see Sam Ward smiling down at her.

"Sam!" she exclaimed in surprise.

And Alex said, sounding none too pleased, "Hello! When did you get in? I was on the six o'clock plane."

"I just got in," Sam said. "Seven o'clock trip."

"Where's Mums?" Leilani asked, and Kathie decided that Sam must have been the "friend" that Bea said would drive her over.

"I put her on the plane for the return trip to Honolulu," Sam said, dropping into the empty place beside Kathie.

"Honolulu?" Leilani cried, looking stunned.

"You didn't know she was going? She didn't explain. Just said she had to see someone there."

"I can't imagine what could have come up since we left home," Leilani said.

Kathie said nothing, but her thoughts were busy. She didn't spend much time wondering why neither Bea nor Leilani had seen fit to tell her they were expecting Sam this weekend, too.

She was more alarmed by Bea's unexpected trip back to Oahu. Bea had deliberately deceived them, she knew, for Sam had implied she met him at the airport ready to go to Honolulu. And Bea had told the girls a little over an hour ago that a friend would pick her up and bring her to the luau.

Bea obviously had not wanted to take her daughter into her confidence. Remembering Bea's caution to tell Leilani nothing of the conversation about Uncle Job Hammer and the deed, Kathie could not help but think that she was right in her impression that Bea knew more than she had told.

"I didn't know you were expected," Kathie said to Sam.

"I called Bea this morning and wrangled an invitation."

Says Fuchs Due in East Germany

British Officials Claim Not Released Yet but Won't Tell Where He Is

BERLIN (AP) — A spokesman for the East German Foreign Ministry said today that British atomic spy Klaus Fuchs will enter East Germany tonight or Wednesday.

* * *

Fuchs, 47, has served 9 years and 3 months of a 14-year British sentence for spying for the Soviets.

He has been due for release momentarily for good conduct, but British officials have declined to reveal his whereabouts. The Home Office in London indicated Monday, however, that he had not then been released.

* * *

The British government has said the German-born physicist after his release would be free to go wherever he wanted. His father, Prof. Emil Fuchs, 84, lives in Leipzig, in Communist East Germany.

The first monument in honor of George Washington is a rough stone tower in Boonsboro, Washington County, Md. It was dedicated on July 4, 1827. The Washington monument in Washington, D. C., was dedicated in 1885.

Four Points Emphasized

Offers Retirement Plan

ANN ARBOR (AP) — A Chicago educator Monday offered a four-point plan for what to do after retirement.

Prof. Robert J. Havinghurst of the University of Chicago said when the time comes for retiring, try this:

1. Decrease your expenditures of energy, do less than formerly.

2. Revise your activity budget, spend less time in work-oriented projects.

3. Spend more time in playing, in service to others, and in gaining new experience and enjoyment from life.

4. Spend more time in contemplation.

"Insofar as conscious choice of activity and budgeting of time and energy are possible, this is the prescription for satisfactory retirement," Havinghurst told the University of Michigan's 12th Annual Conference on Aging.

* * *

"Satisfactory retirement is more a matter of discovering rather than inventing new patterns for the use of time which are congenial to the individual," he said.

"The right use of leisure is something which cannot and should not be learned at retirement," the professor said. "It should be learned throughout a man's years."

City commissioners tonight will open bids to sell a 375-foot city-owned parcel on the south side of Hollister street west of Emery street.

★ ★ ★

Two prospective customers have already indicated an interest in purchasing the 57-foot-deep plot, left over from the widening of the two streets.

Commissioners are also scheduled to open bids covering annual automobile insurance and compensation policies on waste collection employes.

There are 13 public hearings scheduled.

Five involve intention to construct new sidewalks this summer, while another covers intention to grade and gravel the alley north of Walton boulevard, University to Baldwin.

The other hearings are on assessment rolls for projects already approved by the City Commission.

3 U.S. Women Win at Wimbledon Today

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — Three U. S. players — Karol Fageros, Mimi Arnold and Joan Johnson—won opening matches today as the women took over the courts in the Wimbledon Tennis Championships.

Miss Fageros, Miami, Fla., model famed for her gold lame panties, eliminated Mrs. C. T. Clark of Britain, 6-3, 7-5. The diminutive Miss Arnold of Redwood City, Calif., defeated Jane Fulton of Britain 6-1, 6-1. Miss Johnson, from Wyandotte, scored a mild upset by beating Anne Shilcock, British Wightman Cup player, 6-1, 3-6, 6-2.

PETAL PAVEMENT — Unrolling in floral splendor, a carpet of flowers spreads spectacularly across the cobblestone streets during the annual "Infiorata" celebration in Genzano, Italy. Literally millions of petals are utilized to fashion the elaborate floral mosaics. Climax of the celebration is a religious procession over the floral carpet to the town's cathedral.

State Senators Okay $3 Child Care Hike

LANSING (AP) — The Senate last night rejected pleas of hospital administrators for sharp increases in state allowances for care of crippled and afflicted children.

★ ★ ★

Senators accepted an appropriations committee recommendation that would provide $22 instead of the present $19 for daily care of crippled children and $14 instead of the present $12 for afflicted child cases.

★ ★ ★

In doing so, they shrugged off a warning by Nate S. Shapero, president of the Detroit Metropolitan Polio Foundation, that hospitals would have to reject crippled children unless at least $26 a day was provided. That would be $9 below cost, Shapero said.

Clear Heavy Agenda at Waterford Meeting

The Waterford Township Board last night plowed through its largest agenda in two years, disposing of nearly 20 items before approving the 1959-60 township budget of $439,145.

Four bids, with three different specifications for blacktopping the Drayton Plains parking lot east of Dixie highway, were all opened and referred to township engineers Johnson and Anderson.

Low bids for blacktopping the entire area and an alley came from the Ann Arbor Construction Company for $17,661. For a smaller area the Doherty & Doherty Company bid $11,584, and for only one section, $10,191.

The Board okayed Township Clerk James Seeterlin's request to purchase some $2,000 in equipment to treat the Watkins Hills water system, which is laden with rust.

Approval of a 71-lot preliminary plat for the Silver Lake Estates subdivision on Walton boulevard was granted. The board also "had no objections" to a contemplated 50-foot street, one block long, in the Beverly Islands subdivision on Cass Lake road, but it rejected the Lake Maceday Estates preliminary plat because of lack of required concrete monuments on the property.

A request from Drayton Shopping Center developer Erwin-Cohen to blacktop Midland street, adjoining the center, was approved by the board. Cohen offered to pay for two-thirds of the cost of the project, with the township paying one-sixth and the county one-sixth, or $850.

A request from Township Treasurer Mrs. Dorothy Olson for a $385 printing calculator was granted, and a request to adopt a pay plan for water and sewer employes was tabled for study.

Nurses Win $100 Prize

Three Pontiac General Hospital nurses have won a $100 prize for their plan to improve standards of nursing care.

Splitting the prize will be Helen Harper, director of nursing; Mrs. Josephine Harlan, emergency room supervisor; and Grace Bloomstrand, operating room supervisor.

The award was presented by the Michigan Hospital Assn. yesterday at the opening of its convention in Detroit, Harold B. Euler, hospital administrator, accepted the check in behalf of the nurses.

The award was one of 15 cash prizes which the association distributed to top winners in its second annual contest recognizing new ideas to increase hospital service and efficiency.

The Pontiac General idea centered about a new system whereby the nursing charts of all patients are reviewed by a committee of nurses and faults, errors and other inadequacies are pointed out to the entire nursing staff.

It is believed that the system has improved the hospital's nursing records to a point where doctors are better able to determine the day-to-day condition of their patients.

The association distributed a $1,000 grand award to Midland Hospital, four $500 prizes, 10 prizes of $100 each and 30 honorable mentions.

MESC Doling Out Ford-Canton Idle Pay

DETROIT (AP)—Some 11,000 workers today began collecting an estimated one million dollars in unemployment compensation as a result of layoffs arising from a 1953 strike at an Ohio Ford Motor Co. plant.

The last legal hurdle was eliminated yesterday when Circuit Judge Joseph G. Rashid signed an order instructing the Michigan Employment Security Commission to begin payments.

The Michigan Supreme Court ruled last January that the Detroit-area Ford workers were entitled to compensation payments because they were laid off when a parts shortage arose from a strike of workers at a Canton forging plant.

The U.S. Supreme Court recently refused to heed a Ford appeal of the state court's decision.

MESC officials said payments would average about $100 and only workers who participated in the appeal to the State Supreme Court would be eligible for benefits.

State Solon Proposes Annexation Laws Study

LANSING (AP)—A legislative study of Michigan's often confusing annexation and consolidation laws was proposed last night by Rep. Harry A. DeMaso (R-Battle Creek).

DeMaso said he hoped the study would lead to adoption of a single comprehensive code setting forth annexation and consolidation procedures.

★ ★ ★

"The present statute has been a constant source of many attorney general opinions, court cases and disagreements by boards of supervisors," he said. "An entirely new law might end some of the bickering between cities and outlying areas brought on by a continuous growth of population."

DeMaso proposed appointment of three representatives and three senators to conduct the study between the 1959 and 1960 legislative sessions.

Luxaire Cushion Won't Reopen Wayland Plant

WAYLAND (UPI) — Luxaire Cushion Co. said today that its plant that was destroyed by fire here recently will not reopen and that equipment salvaged from the fire will be shipped to the firm's home plant in Canton, Ohio.

Company officials said they appreciated the efforts of the village council and the Chamber of Commerce of this Allegan County community to have the plant remain here but it was decided the plant would not be reopened. It was destroyed by a spectacular fire in April.

Chiefs Lose Emblems

NEW YORK (AP)— New York City's 126 honorary fire chiefs are losing their emblems of office. The white Maltese cross auto emblems with the letters F.D.N.Y. were called in Monday by Fire Commissioner Edward F. Cavanagh Jr., on instructions from Mayor Robert F. Wagner.

Anthony Anastasia Wants to Integrate ILA Docks

NEW YORK (AP) — Anthony (Tough Tony) Anastasia is moving to integrate workers on the Brooklyn waterfront where he is the big boss.

The maneuver has potentialities of making Anastasia the strongest candidate for president of the 60,000-member International Longshoremen's Assn. (Ind) if Capt. William V. Bradley does not seek re-election next month.

★ ★ ★

A considerable part of the ILA membership outside of the Port of New York, consists of Negro locals in the South. A number of the union's vice presidents in the South are Negroes.

Anastasia's integration proposal would bring the Port of New York's only Negro ILA local into his 9,000-member Local 1814 of Brooklyn.

The Negro local has been under the disadvantage of being the only one in the port without jurisdiction over a pier. The port's 25,000 longshoremen include an estimated 3,000 Negroes.

The merger plans call for full representation of Negro longshoremen in Local 1814. Negroes will be eligible jobs as shop stewards, dock bosses, extra labor men and tractor drivers and checkers in Brooklyn. Officers of Local 968 said Negroes now are excluded from most, if not all, of these categories.

Klaus Fuchs, Spy, Off for East Berlin

LONDON (AP) — Atomic spy Klaus Fuchs took off for Communist East Berlin in a Polish Airlines plane today.

East German spokesmen in East Berlin said Fuchs would be admitted to that country. Presumably he will go to live with his 84-year-old father, Prof. Emil Fuchs, at Leipzig.

The 47-year-old Fuchs was brought in a police-escorted car from Wakefield Prison, 180 miles from London, where he had served 9 years and 3 months of a 14-year sentence for spying on British and American atomic secrets for the Soviet Union. He was given credit for good conduct while in prison.

Scotland Yard's plainclothes men and airport police ringed the airliner and the entire departure area.

Set-faced and unsmiling, and carrying a felt hat in his hand, Fuchs walked to the airplane with policemen on either side.

Senate's Rejection of Strauss in Poor Taste

Well, for what it's worth, the United States Senate officially spanked President DWIGHT D. EISENHOWER.

What other possible motive can you attach to the rejection of LEWIS L. STRAUSS as Secretary of Commerce.

★ ★ ★

It was all done with a little boy's "so there" attitude which reflects neither honor nor glory on the 49 recalcitrant Senators. They can now bask in a cheap sense of personal satisfaction at having thumbed their noses at the President of the United States.

★ ★ ★

This is politics at a low level.

In a letter to the Voice of The People, "Appalled" said Monday:

"It was a sorry thing to know that both our Michigan Senators added to the nation's disgrace by voting down Strauss' appointment. Is it any wonder we have trouble getting decent, honorable men to take government positions?"

★ ★ ★

"Appalled" put his—or her—finger right on the crux of the whole matter. Former Secretary of Defense C. E. WILSON said that one of the difficult portions of a top Washington position lies in getting capable, well-rounded men with high administrative experience to accept Washington assignments.

★ ★ ★

Many of them are willing to forego the loss of income, but they are "appalled" at the prospect of the abuse and kicking around they are subjected to at the hands of small minded men in Congress.

★ ★ ★

Opponents of Strauss argue he has been "devious and less than frank in his dealings with Congress and the people."

Well, primarily a member of the President's cabinet "works for the President." These appointments have almost been confirmed automatically in the past. That part of the setup is really his own deal.

★ ★ ★

The PRESS notes with a sense of regret that Senator PHILIP A. HART voted strictly along party lines. The Oakland County man's record to date is pretty much that of a dyed-in-the-wool adherent to all party suggestions.

Of course, MCNAMARA'S rubber stamp was probably the first signature against the appointment as soon as he was told which way to vote.

★ ★ ★

We side in with "Appalled" and regret Michigan's unhappy part in this rather disgraceful affair.

Senatorial Payrolls Still Closed to Public

A recent decision by a Federal judge puts squarely up to Congress the responsibility for disclosing staff payrolls of members of the Senate.

★ ★ ★

Federal Judge ALEXANDER HOLTZOFF dismissed a suit brought by a Scripps-Howard reporter to force disclosures of nepotism and other abuses thereby establishing the right of taxpayers to know how their money is spent. The judge rules that a newspaperman has no legal basis for insisting on seeing records that are closed to the general public.

He declared that "it is no part of the judicial function to supervise or control" Congress in the light of the constitutional separation of powers. The matter, he said, "is within the province of Congress."

★ ★ ★

The people have a right to know how their tax money is being spent, except, of course, in cases involving national security. But, comments the Milwaukee Journal, the only security involved in Congressional payrolls is political security.

★ ★ ★

In not recognizing the people's right to know, Congress is practicing the secrecy for which it so often criticizes the Executive Department.

"WHAT would you do if an atomic bomb were exploded in your vicinity?" asks a CD official. If we were still in one piece, we'd take it somewhere else in a goshawful hurry.

'Government Buys Trucks in Japan While We're Idle'

I read that the government has ordered 42 trucks from Japan and all of the unemployed in Pontiac should send a telegram to President Eisenhower this very day and demand that this work be given to deserving U. S. citizens who are out of jobs and a lot of whom helped make him President.

★ ★ ★

Chevrolet and others make trucks in addition to our own GM and I do not see how they can do cruel things like this. I suppose these will be paid for by tax money they collect from Pontiac people and the GM corporation.

'Responsibility Lies With Every Citizen'

In editor's note, you regretted Michigan has no death penalty. I'm very glad Michigan doesn't have one and why should we take a life just because someone else did? Can society as a whole hide behind the individual blame that goes to every citizen when the state executes a man or woman? Each and every citizen is a party to the second killing and there is no way he can escape it.

'One's Improved; Other's Still Bad'

Two radio stations in this area used to use that rain barrel style of broadcasting where rebroadcasts from out of town sounded like the announcer was hollering down a rain barrel. Well, WJR has quit it and if they broadcast from New York, now it sounds like other broadcasts and you can understand it.

★ ★ ★

But the other station in this area still uses the rain barrel method and half the time you can't understand anything at all and the other half you understand a small part.

★ ★ ★

TV has beautiful music from Hollywood and it sounds like it was in the room, so why can't a simple radio station broadcast talking as well as TV does complicated music?

'Let Both Parties Back Off Some'

The compromise between Republicans and Democrats in Lansing makes sense. Both have to give some and this latest proposal sounds o.k. and why don't parties get together now and work it out so the State of Michigan can go ahead?

There were probably faults in both programs and if each will back up some, we can find a common ground. It is time we stopped the bickering and got down to hard business. Those hard-nosed Republicans ought to be willing to concede something if Reuther lets Williams.

David Lawrence Explains:

Liberty Limits Freedom of Press

WASHINGTON — Much controversy has arisen in recent months about the "right to travel." Newsmen have disputed the right of the Department of State to deny them passports to Red China and other trouble areas.

LAWRENCE

On the one hand it has been argued that the right of travel could not be constitutionally restricted while, on the other hand, the government has insisted that its right to designate travel areas stems from the right of the executive branch of the government to conduct the foreign relations of the United States.

These conflicting viewpoints have been resolved in a persuasive opinion by the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals here which completely vindicates the position taken by the late Secretary of State John Foster Dulles.

But it is unfortunate that what the unanimous court of three judges said has not been widely reproduced. For it constitutes a fundamental lesson not only in constitutional government but in the rights of the individual as balanced against the interests of the nation. The ruling is buttressed by such strong judicial precedents that it seems likely to be upheld by the highest court.

Chief Judge Prettyman rendered the decision which was concurred in by Judge Wilbur K. Miller and Justice Harold Burton, retired member of the Supreme Court of the United States who was specially designated to sit in the case.

"The right to travel," says the court's opinion, "is a part of the right of liberty, and a newspaperman's right to travel is a part of the freedom of the press. But these valid generalizations do not support unrestrained conclusions.

"For the maintenance and preservation of liberty, individual rights must be restricted for various reasons from time to time.

"Liberty itself is inherently a restricted thing. Liberty is a product of order. There is no liberty in anarchy or in chaos. Liberty is achieved by rules which correlate every man's actions to every other man's rights and thus, by mutual restrictions one upon the other, achieve a result of relative freedom.

"Freedom of the press bears restrictions. It does not include the right to publish what another has registered with the copyright office. Merely because a newsman has a right to travel does not mean he can go anywhere he wishes. He cannot attend conferences of the Supreme Court, or meetings of the President's Cabinet, or executive sessions of committees of the Congress.

"He cannot come into my house without my permission, or enter a ball park without a ticket of admission from the management, or cross a public street downtown between crosswalks. He cannot pass a police cordon thrown about an accident, unless he has a pass from the police. A newsman's freedom to travel about is a restricted thing, subject to myriad limitations.

"The peace-loving have rights. Those who recognize the fundamental necessities of liberty as a delicate product of order have power to protect themselves and their liberty. . . . Such a threat may easily arise from conditions in foreign lands. The people have a right to protect their liberty, no matter whence the threat.

"Indeed it is quite clear that those who cry the loudest for unrestricted individual freedom of action would be the loudest in bemoaning their fate if their plea were granted."

The court summed up the constitutional argument with this statement:

"History establishes that either the behavior or the predicament of an individual citizen in a foreign country can bring into clash, peaceful or violent, the powers of his own government and those of a foreign government."

The executive branch therefore is upheld in its feeling that it can preserve the national interest and perhaps prevent a war by limiting the right to travel not only of the press but of any citizens who may wish to take risks in the trouble areas of the world.

THOUGHTS FOR TODAY

But refuse profane and old wives' fables, and exercise thyself rather unto godliness. —I Timothy 4:7.

★ ★ ★

I will speak ill of no man, not even in the matter of truth, but rather excuse the faults I hear charged upon others and upon proper occasions speak all the good I know of everybody. —Benjamin Franklin.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Exercise, Active Play Will Calm Tense Nerves

"Dear Mr. Brady: Please don't toss this into the chucker. I'll be as brief as possible.

"You cast aside stupid ninny-hammers without further ado. We, in business, must be courteous to aggravating people a dozen times a day.

"You go bowling. We go home to demanding problems of children.

"Maybe if WE could toss our unpleasant customers into the chucker and relax on the bowling green before supper we wouldn't have to seek escape in a pre-supper highball or cocktail.

"Try being nice to your stupid readers for a month and keep away from the bowling green and see if you won't feel that our way of escape is pardonable. (Signed)

★ ★ ★

You said it, sir. If you could relax, or rather let off steam, for an hour or two in the middle of, or at the end of, your "trying day at the office," you would not seek "escape" in alcohol.

What you need, sir, to relieve the irritation provoked by unpleasant customers, competitors, rivals, bosses, teachers, pupils, clients, etc., is exercise. A brisk walk is the best of all exercises for the sedentary person, even if it is only a mile or two a day.

Motion is the natural reaction to emotion. The ruling emotions are anger and fear. Primitive man reacted to anger by fighting, to fear by running away. Irritation, annoyance and vexation are diluted anger; anxiety, worry and jealousy are diluted fear.

★ ★ ★

The cultured gent keeps his voice low and strives to avoid expressing annoyance—while the physiological liberation of adrenalin triggered by the annoyance just constricts his arterioles and races his vital machinery as though he were actually fighting or running away.

I repeat, there is no remedy for such "tension" except a good stint of physical work, play or exercise, that is, short of fight or flight.

Speaking of stupidity, this man's excuse for a drink — to escape from every day irritations and annoyances—is so stupid that it makes me regret that today is one of the four days in the week that I don't bowl.

Resorting to a narcotic instead of using your muscles is a fool's way.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Advises Salesmen to Be Specific

Harry's experience is a gem in the field of "sales psychology" so scrapbook it. But selling is not limited to purveyors of merchandise alone. Clergymen and teachers, politicians and parents likewise need superb sales strategy to influence their children or other followers.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE B-468: Harry J., aged 27, was a salesman for a food firm.

★ ★ ★

He was enrolled in one of my Applied Psychology courses at Northern University wherein I had vetoed the use of trite, vague terms like "quality" and "service."

DR. CRANE

"Don't be so general," I warned in one of my lectures. "Dissect your 'service' into more specific items.

"If you mean you give two deliveries per day whereas your competitor makes only one, then say so.

"And if you wish to employ the idea of better 'quality' then break that vague term into specific proof."

Well, at a later class meeting, Harry raised his hand and asked to tell a personal incident.

★ ★ ★

He said he had called on a retail grocer and tried to sell him Harry's brand of catsup.

"Phooey," snorted the grocer. "Your catsup is two cents a bottle higher priced than what I got on the shelf, so why should I try to sell it?"

"Yes, but my catsup is better quality," Harry had replied.

"Malarky," scoffed the grocer.

"That's what all salesmen say — better quality, better quality, but it doesn't mean a darn thing to me or my customers."

HARRY'S STRATEGY

Then Harry remembered our our classroom lecture in which we urged salesmen to be specific.

★ ★ ★

"Do you happen to have a white blotter in the store?" Harry asked, and the grocer produced one.

"Now I'll buy a bottle of that rival catsup on your shelf," Harry added as he laid the coins on the counter.

"Do you also have a plastic or fiber spoon, like those used for ice cream cups?"

The grocer found one.

"Now you are a smart merchant," Harry began. "so I'll let you be the judge and jury as to whether my brand of catsup isn't better quality than the one I just bought from your shelf.

"Take a heaping spoonful of my catsup and place it in the middle of this blotter, near one end. Now do the same with the bottle from your shelf.

★ ★ ★

"Then watch what happens. You know that the catsup with the most real tomato in it will leave a larger pile of red pulp, won't it?

"On the contrary, the catsup that is largely water, will leave less red tomato pulp and will also show a much wider ring of water after the blotter has absobed it. Agreed?"

The grocer nodded his head approvingly and performed the experiment.

★ ★ ★

Sure enough, when he had given both spoons of catsup a chance to be absorbed, Harry's showed a much higher pile of red tomato pulp.

And the cheaper brand likewise proved it had more water in it, for the wet ring on the blotter was much larger than that around Harry's catsup.

PROOF IS SPECIFIC

"You win," admitted the grocer. "I see now what you mean by your saying your catsup is higher in quality, so send me a case."

Please notice that winning arguments involves employing language and experiments or analogies the customer can understand.

Logic must be very specific. Many politicians and clergymen, teachers and salesmen, fail because they don't break down their sales arguments into simple items that can be understood at a glance.

So send for my booklet on "Modern Sales & Advertising Strategy," enclosing a stamped, return envelope plus 20 cents (non-profit).

★ ★ ★

It is just as helpful to preachers and teachers as to other salesmen for religious and secular education is a selling job.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 4c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Supreme Court Drops Contempt

Un-American Activities Commission Charged With Entrapping 3

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court Monday unanimously struck down contempt convictions of three Ohioans on the ground they were entrapped by the Ohio Un-American Activities Commission.

★ ★ ★

By a 4-4 vote, the court upheld a similar conviction of a fourth Ohioan.

The convictions reversed were those of Talmage Raley, Emmett Calvin Brown and Anna H. Morgan.

Affirmed by the tie vote was the conviction of Joseph Stern.

The contempt charges were based on the refusal of the four to answer questions during the 1952 state investigation of Communist activities.

★ ★ ★

The Supreme Court's main opinion by Justice Brennan said all Ohioans were entrapped when the chairman of the state commission told them they had a right to rely on a state constitutional privilege against self-incrimination.

In affirming the conviction, the Ohio Supreme Court said the four presumably knew that an Ohio immunity statute deprived them of the protection of the privilege.

Brennan said "to sustain the Ohio Supreme Court's judgment would be to sanction an indefensible sort of entrapment by the state-convicting a citizen for exercising a privilege which the state had clearly told him was available to him."

★ ★ ★

The four who voted to uphold Stern's conviction were Justices Clark, Frankfurter, Harlan and Whittaker.

Hal Boyle Comes Home

Child's Exuberant Welcome Dispels Sorrow

NEW YORK (AP) — It was Emily Dickinson who wrote that parting is all we know of heaven, and all we need of hell.

Certainly parting from a child for the first time is all the hell parents could ever want. But the reunion sometimes almost makes it worthwhile. You learn a lot from the experience.

Recently Frances and I had the opportunity to make a four-week vacation trip to Europe. But no children were to be included.

This posed a real problem. Since adopting our daughter, Tracy Ann, shortly after her birth nearly six years before, Frances and I had never been away from her more than a weekend.

★ ★ ★

How could we leave her for a whole month? We considered abandoning the trip, even though we felt we might not have such an opportunity again in our lifetime.

"You're crazy," friends counseled. "The separation will be good for both you and Tracy. Try it and see."

We finally decided to put the whole decision up to Tracy herself.

★ ★ ★

We explained that it was a kind of business trip on which there would be no other children. We told her she could stay at the suburban home of our close friends, George and Helen Palmer, and sleep with the three Palmer daughters—Nina, Zona and Leila Jim—who are her godsisters.

"You can go," said Tracy gravely, "if you don't stay away too long—and you promise to be good."

We promised—and she promised—and we sailed away.

The second morning out I awoke in our cabin to find my wife weeping.

★ ★ ★

"Now what have I done wrong?" I asked, figuring I must have talked in my sleep and said something incriminating.

"Who cares what you do?" said Frances. "I miss my baby."

Having got that maternal line out of her system, she dried her eyes and ate a breakfast that would have felled Diamond Jim Brady. Have you ever noticed how, after a good cry, a woman is always hungry?

After that we tacitly quit mentioning Tracy, and missed her silently and separately together.

Once in Paris, Frances saw a group of children run out of a school, hopping like little loud birds, and tears suddenly sprang into her eyes. But she didn't say anything.

★ ★ ★

A visit to the top of the Eiffel Tower brought me my worst moment. The view of Paris from there is one of the world's tremendous sights. I thought how much it would please my small daughter, and felt all at once drained and empty.

What good is it to have the best of anything in the world if the one you most want to share it with isn't there?

Would Tracy have missed us much really? How would she greet us?

"She'll just say hello, and run off and play," I ventured.

"No, she won't," said Frances positively.

★ ★ ★

We got off the ship, and took a train to the suburbs. A freckle-faced tornado rushed up and grabbed Frances fiercely around the legs.

"Mommy! Mommy! Mommy!" cried Tracy, and broke into uncontrollable sobs. I lifted her up, and she clung to me and wept for five full minutes. Then the storm was over, and a rain-smile came out and dried the tears.

Later in the day Tracy took Frances aside and whispered to her, "Every day when I was alone I said to myself that when you came back I'd never be mean to you again."

★ ★ ★

In the week since then Tracy has kept the pledge she made to herself. She has been almost too angelic. She has only pulled the cat's tail twice, and the cat can't figure that out either.

State Liquor Sales Higher Than in 1958

LANSING (AP) — Liquor is selling at a faster clip than last year, the State Liquor Control Commission reported today.

Sales to retailers by the state's liquor monopoly totaled $40,379,829 in the first five months of the year, up 4.8 per cent from the same period in 1958 when sales amounted to $38,971,084.

Sales last month came to $14,515,057, up $672,043 from May, 1958.

Second Attempt to Free Self

Long Demands Writ of Habeas Corpus

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — Claiming fraud and his own sanity, Gov. Earl K. Long of Louisiana went to court Monday night in an effort to free himself from a mental hospital—his second such attempt in 25 days.

Through counsel, the 63-year-old governor asked the state's 22nd Judicial Court to approve his petition for a writ of habeas corpus. Judge Robert Jones responded by setting a hearing for 10 a.m. Friday.

Attorney Joe Arthur Sims based his petition for the writ on grounds the papers committing Long to the Southeast Louisiana (mental) Hospital at Mandeville, La., were not filled out properly, and that even if they were, the commitment order was obtained through fraud.

Sims also contended Long has never been mentally ill, and even if he has, he has completely recovered.

A reliable source said a comprehensive diagnosis of the governor's physical and mental condition would be ready for presentation before Judge Jones Friday.

Dr. Chester Williams, East Baton Rouge Parish (county) coroner, said Thursday Gov. Long suffered from paranoid schizophrenia—delusions of persecution.

The filing of the application climaxed a day of confusion over who would—or could—occupy the vacant governor's chair.

Atty. Gen. Jack Gremillion issued a 1,300-word opinion saying Lt. Gov. Lether Frazar had to assume the post of acting governor.

But the 54-year-old Frazar ignored the opinion, contended he was only the lieutenant governor. That left the state leaderless, a handicap it has operated under for nearly a month.

Frazar's reluctance was due in part to a challenge from Secretary of State Wade O. Martin Jr., who said he would recognize no one but Long as governor. However, Martin relented later and said he would accept Frazar as acting governor.

★ ★ ★

Long won a petition for a writ of habeas corpus hearing in Galveston, Tex., June 15, claiming he was removed from his mansion at Baton Rouge to a psychiatric clinic at John Sealy Hospital at Galveston by force.

Before Texas District Judge L. D. Godard had an opportunity to rule, Long agreed to voluntary treatment at a New Orleans hospital and returned home from Galveston last Wednesday.

★ ★ ★

But Long skipped out of Ochsner Foundation Hospital and headed for Baton Rouge. He was intercepted as he sped toward the state capitol, examined by two doctors and confined to the hospital at Mandeville by Judge Fred LeBlanc.

As in the case at Galveston, the governor's wife signed the application asking his commitment.

Long left the courthouse fighting and screaming. On arrival at Mandeville, he told doctors he saw no need for his hospitalization and, in the words of one psychiatrist who quoted Long, he thought "everyone else is nuts."

Find Watch Inside Shark

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Two dozen sharks were spotted in recent days off Southern California beaches. In the stomach of one, fishermen said they made a chilling discovery: a man's wrist watch.

They said they found it in the second of three stomach cavities of a 12½-foot white shark shot Monday night in the 22-mile channel between Catalina Island and Southern California.

★ ★ ★

The shark fishermen said they couldn't determine how long the watch had been inside the shark. It was reported badly eaten by stomach acid.

Robert Pamperin was killed Sunday a week ago by a shark at La Jolla, 85 miles south of where the shark was killed. His attacker was at first identified as a white shark but marine experts ater decided it had been a requiem shark.

Riflemen on the vessel Comanche spotted a school of about a score of sharks Monday and killed the 12½-footer.

Four other sharks were spotted off Southern California beaches over the weekend.

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Did television's Superman, George Reeves, really die by his own hand?

Why did he leave the bulk of his estate to the wife of a high ranking film executive?

His mother hired a famous criminal lawyer to probe the suicide question Monday. Probate of Reeves will disclosed, meanwhile, that his fiancee wasn't left a penny. "There must be another will," she said.

The will filed with Superior Court leaves the bulk of Reeves' estate to Toni Mannix. Her husband, Eddie J. Mannix, is vice president of Loew's Inc., former general manager of MGM Studio and now an adviser there.

★ ★ ★

In Galesburg, Ill., Reeves' mother said she doesn't believe he killed himself. She has hired famed Hollywood attorney Jerry Giesler to investigate.

"It's not like my George to do a thing like that," said Helen Lescher Bessolo of Galesburg.

The 45-year-old portrayer of incredible feats on television shot and killed himself early last Tuesday, police said, shortly after saying good night to two house guests.

They were his fiancee, Lenore Lemmon, 25, and a writer, Robert Condon, 45, both of New York, who said Reeves was depressed because he could find no roles other than as Superman.

★ ★ ★

The petition for probate, filed with the will in Superior Court at nearby Santa Monica, listed the value of the estate in excess of $25,000.

It left nothing to Miss Lemmon, a New York cafe society figure, who said she and Reeves had planned to marry in Mexico last Friday.

Arthur Weissman, executor of the will and Reeves' personal manager, said the actor had been a close friend of the Mannixes for many years.

★ ★ ★

He said Mrs. Mannix will receive Reeves' home and car and the money in his bank account.

Weissman said Miss Lemmon insisted Reeves left another will naming her a beneficiary but that no such testament has been found.

Most of the rest of Reeves' estate will go to his mother, Weissman said.

Giesler said he thinks the actor's house was heavily mortgaged and that the estate will amount to something between $25,000 and $40,000.

★ ★ ★

Reeves' mother said "I had talked to him the previous Saturday night by phone and he was in his usual happy mood.

"I want to know who the people are who were in the house at the time it happened and where he got the gun."

Giesler said Mrs. Bessolo is expected to arrive here within a day or so. He said they had talked two or three times by telephone and she is suspicious of certain circumstances.

Giesler said he had information that $5,000 was taken from Reeves' home either before or after the coroner's seal was put on the door.

To Build Aluminum Wire at Plant Near Quincy

JACKSON (UPI)—A New York wire and cable company today announced plans to build a new aluminum wire manufacturing plant at Quincy, about 35 miles southwest of here.

Plans to build the new plant on a 31-acre site between U.S. 112 and the New York Central Railroad tracks near Quincy were announced by James R. MacDonald, president and board chairman of the General Cable Co., New York.

MacDonald said the site for the plant was procured for his company by Consumers Power Co.

He said the plans are now in the final stage of design and ground is expected to be broken for the new plant about July 1. It will be a one-story building covering about 760,000 square feet plus office space.

Original production will begin in December and full production should be under way by Feb. 1, 1960, MacDonald said. When full production is begun, the plant will employ about 100 persons.

Kassem Foils Overthrow Plot

Iraqi Premier Arrests 37 Communist Officers in Crackdown

LONDON (UPI)—Iraqi premier Abdel Karim Kassem has uncovered a Communist plot to overthrow his regime and has arrested 37 Communist army officers, the Middle East News Agency reported today in Cairo.

The reports also said the Premier had freed a "number of nationalists," including former Education Minister Jaber Omar.

Reports from the Middle East said there might be a power showdown soon between Kassem and the Communists who have supported him since he smashed the nationalist and pro-Nasser Arab movement in Iraq. He began moving against the Reds several weeks ago.

The Egyptian newspaper Al Gomhouria today headlined a report that Kassem was considering the release of former Deputy Premier Abdel Salam Aref. Aref helped Kassem overthrow the government of King Faisal last summer but has been under death sentence for conspiring against Kassem.

The Middle East News Agency said Col. Fadil El Mahdawy, president of the Baghdad Military Court, had resigned in protest against Kassem's failure to carry out the sentences passed on Aref and others.

The report said Kassem's answer was that he was "not convinced" of the justice of El Mahdawy's ruling.

The Egyptian Mena said the Communist conspiracy to overthrow and assassinate Kassem was planned by three high-ranking Communist officers: Col. Taha El Sheikh Ahmed, director of military intelligence; Soleiman Alhusan and Fadil El Bayaty.

★ ★ ★

They were reported to have assigned Abdel Rahman Aref, officer and brother of Abdel Salam, to carry out the plot by arresting and executing Kassem before taking over the ministry of defense and government-controlled Baghdad radio.

The agency said Abdel Rahman pretended to accept the assignment but tipped off Kassem instead. Kassem "already knew about it" the reports said and then issued orders for the arrest of the conspirators and 34 other Red army officers.

State Lawmakers Try to Repair Spending Bills

LANSING (AP) — Michigan lawmakers slowed down today for repairs to 1959-60 spending bills thrown together in slap dash style by budget planners last week.

In the Senate, minority Democrats were ready to try for increases in some items while the patching was in progress — but with little hope of getting anywhere.

★ ★ ★

The start of the new fiscal year was only a week away.

Sen. Philip Rahoi (D-Iron Mountain) had an amendment to add another one million dollars to the 70 million dollar mental health spending authorization recommended by GOP finance chiefs.

★ ★ ★

And Sen. Harold M. Ryan (D-Detroit) urged adding another million, for cancer research, to the $16,114,000 public health bill. A dozen more Democratic amendments to various bills were floating around.

One sought $400,000 for polio vaccine.

For different reasons, Sen. Elmer R. Porter (R-Blissfield), appropriations committee chairman, was ready to jump the mental health allotment roughly a million dollars.

Porter said two oversights had to be remedied, one of them being failure to make any provision for operations of the first unit of the new Plymouth State Home and Training School due for September completion.

★ ★ ★

The public health bill needs some tinkering, he conceded, and possibly the $100,803,000 higher education bill. Dr. Victor F. Spathelf, president of Ferris Institute, was pleading for an increase in his institution's proposed allotment, and receiving some sympathetic attention.

Democrats talked of trying to increase sums provided for Ferris and for Northern Michigan College, Wayne State University and Michigan College of Mining and Technology, as well.

A bug turned up last night during House consideration of the safety and defense bill, which was whittled down $150,000 before being passed at $24,065,000 and routed to the Senate.

It was explained that one item duplicated money provided in the higher education bill.

★ ★ ★

Another sharp protest involving budgeting came from Jordan J. Popkin, head of the office of hospital survey and construction, whose agency supervises distribution of federal money for hospital projects.

Popkin complained that his agency urgently needed $7,000 more to properly handle its administrative duties, otherwise the program would suffer. It was down for $79,712.

★ ★ ★

In arguing for cancer research money, Ryan said that Michigan has set a fast pace in traffic safety, fighting polio, tuberculosis detection and mental health.

"There is every reason why Michigan should take a leading role in finding the causes and cure for cancer," he said.

"There will never be enough research until the cause is found, its cure discovered and the suffering from cancer eliminated."

It's Just a Negative Attitude

Do You Feel 'Old'?

ANN ARBOR (AP) — There's more fact than fancy behind the saying, "You're only as old as you feel."

This was reported at the University of Michigan's 12th annual conference on aging Monday by Bernard S. Phillips, assistant professor of sociology at the University of Illinois.

★ ★ ★

Individuals who feel middle-aged instead of old after 60 tend to be better adjusted and better equipped to deal with the problems of retirement, deaths in the family and continued physical aging, Phillips said.

He based his conclusion, he said, on interviews with 500 persons in the Kips Bay-Yorkville health district of New York and 468 others in the Elmira, N.Y., area.

Feeling old tends to be associated with a variety of negative attitudes, Phillips explained.

★ ★ ★

Those who feel old are more likely to agree that the aged should dress conservatively their friends should be old, interest in sex is undignified, aches and pains accompany old age and that doctors treat the young better than the old, the professor asserted.

"Individuals describing themselves as old tend to accept a low social evaluation of themselves," Phillips said.

Soviet Sailor Drowns in Jump for Freedom

HELSINGBORG, Sweden (UPI) —A Russian sailor was drowned in the two-mile-wide strait between here and Denmark yesterday after jumping ship in a dramatic bid for freedom.

"I was watching the Russian ship through binoculars and saw the man jump overboard," said an eyewitness, port Capt. Folk Herrlin.

The man began swimming toward Sweden and deliberately turned his back on a lifeboat sent by the Soviet ship before he went under, Herrlin said.

Hagerty's Condition Good Following Appendectomy

WASHINGTON (AP) — White House press secretary James C. Hagerty is reported to be recovering satisfactorily after surgery for removal of an acutely inflamed appendix.

Hagerty, 50, was operated on Monday afternoon at Walter Reed Army Hospital.

★ ★ ★

Anne Wheaton, associate press secretary, said she had been advised by the doctors that Hagerty was in good condition and that there was no indication of any complications.

The doctors were said to believe Hagerty probably will be discharged from the hospital late this week.

★ ★ ★

The hospital said Hagerty will be charged a fee of $21 a day during his stay there. Secretary of the Army Wilber M. Brucker authorized his admission.

The press secretary reported for work Monday morning in some distress. His discomfort developed over the weekend.

After examining Hagerty at the hospital, the doctors decided to operate. He underwent surgery in midafternoon and the physicians reported afterward that his appendix was acutely inflamed.

★ ★ ★

The appendectomy was performed by Maj. Gen. Leonard D. Heaton, the Army's surgeon general. He was assisted by Brig. Gen. James Foresee, chief of surgery at Walter Reed.

It was Heaton who operated on President Eisenhower for ileitis three years ago this month.

America Rapidly Becoming Land of 'He-Women' and 'She-Men'

(What made the American woman what she is today, and how this has affected the role of man, is described in this second article reporting startling changes in man-woman relationships.)

★ ★ ★

BY PHYLLIS BATTELLE
Special to The Pontiac Press

America is described as a land where the dollar is the grail, and ambition is the life blood of every red-blooded male.

The average foreigner thinks of having a swimming pool and a shiny new car.

So does the average American wife.

She is accused of seeking "status" above all, and status is reflected in pools, cars, ranch style houses, clothes and the college the kids get into.

"There are practically no positions in American life where it will be generally conceded that a person has achieved that success and need make no further effort," said anthropologist Geoffrey Gorer. "There is always a higher grade."

When there is no higher grade to achieve, the American male may as well retire. And when the American male retires, it is generally conceded, he may as well be dead.

★ ★ ★

This is the heritage of a pioneer land—push, pull, make it or bust—and only in this country has the woman begun to take a curious (some call it officious) new role in the ever-quickening race for success.

She is accused of driving her man to make a fortune—which only she will live to enjoy.

Not only is Mrs. America the most pampered woman in the world's history, having been handed most of the country's monies on a golden platter, she is the most aggressive.

She also is the most respected, the most demanding, the most feared.

★ ★ ★

She has discovered "sex," as anthropologists and modern historians realized even B. K. (before Kinsey), and she likes it.

She also likes money, independence and power.

The American male, straining desperately to please this new type female whom he can not live without and frequently dies (young) to satisfy, can not reasonably supply all her demands.

"A man who forces himself into constant overwork may be evading the sexual demands of his marriage," says marriage expert Dr. Abraham Stone.

Yet if he keeps her happy at home and has no energy left to become at least vice president of his company, he is sloughing off his responsibilities to provide the "best" for his family.

★ ★ ★

Damned if he does and damned if he doesn't, the American male is pictured as a small, fast sinking figure on a treadmill working hard at the office and working hard at home. The increasing use of alcohol, barbituates and tranquilizers is considered proof positive that the demands upon him are intolerable and that he—if only subconsciously—realizes it. Yet he keeps racing.

What worries the worriers most is that more and more men—faced with the decision of satifying women either physically or financially—are shying away from the home and finding their greatest satisfaction at the office.

Almost as if frightened by the multiple responsibilities of women and children, one in every 7.9 men between 25 and 54 (according to "The Decline of the American Male") has remained single.

Doctors (according to the same treatise) see a decline in male sexual potency. Marriage counselors observe that husbands are meeting wifely aggressions by withdrawing from the physical relationships.

★ ★ ★

The percentage of twin beds in American has nearly doubled since 1939.

The National Desertion Bureau estimates that 100,000 men a year now desert their wives illegally. And perhaps the most devastating reaction of all is the wild increase in homosexuality.

The late Dr. Kinsey estimated that one in every 13 American men between 16 and 55 has been a full-fledged homosexual for at least three years during his adult life.

"We are drifting toward a social structure made up of he-women and she-men," psychiatrist Dr. Irene Josselyn contends.

Even the lost emancipated of the American women despises hearing such facts.

And in all fairness to the little-woman-grown monstrous, she is making a real effort to understand what has gone wrong with the world of her man. And to wind back his allegiance, his virility and his health.

The latter worries her—and him—most of all.

Each year, more attention is being focused on the "young executives" who succumb to the pressure of keeping up the American race for money. In the idealistic sense, money is to be made in order to achieve leisure to enjoy living. This is the way it works in other countries.

In America, money is to be made to make more money. Idleness here is taboo. The richest men are the most admired men; and the richest men never stop working to make more.

The result is that there has been a steady increase in the proportion of women to men in age groups beyond 20. The United States, according to the Population Reference Bureau, appears headed toward what is called "geonomatriarchy" — control by aging females.

The increase in widowhood has been sharp. In 1956, 45 per cent of women aged 45 to 54 worked—compared with 24 per cent in 1940. In 1956, 37 per cent of women age 55 to 64 worked—compared with 18 per cent in 1940.

Women don't like work that much.

They want to retain their husbands, and they worry—volubly—that their men are "doing too much."

But this new female warning of "don't kill yourself" falls on ears that have buzzed to long with the typically American advise to get out and make the grade, man, or you're nothing.

The American male may realize he's in danger of succumbing if he keeps up the rat-race. But he can't stop to think.

"All the problems of the world could be settled easily if a man were only willing to think," said a psychiatrist.

"But thinking is such hard work—and there are so many psychiatrists to do it for him!"

(Next: How the American male grows up today.)

Seaway Booms River Cargo

St. Lawrence Tonnage Jumps 49 Pct. in May Over Last Year

OTTAWA, Ont. (UPI) — The opening of the seaway produced a 19 per cent boost in cargo carried through the St. Lawrence River system in May compared with a year ago, it was revealed Monday.

St. Lawrence Seaway authority figures set total cargo for the first month of seaway operations at 2,243,450 tons. A year ago, with only the 14-foot canals in operation, the figure was 1,502,090 tons.

Upbound traffic during the month totalled 785,200 tons versus 457,593 a year ago, while downbound cargo jumped 39.6 per cent to 1,458,250 from last year's 1,044,497.

In the first two months of the navigation season, cargo totalled 2,976,712 tons. A year ago the figure was 2,094,672 tons.

In all 1,173 vessels with a total tonnage of 3,349,272 entered the new seaway canals in the April-May period.

Figures for the Welland Canal showed a 13 per cent boost in cargo in May from a year earlier. Cargo for the month totalled 2,090,650 compared with 2,750,000 a year ago.

New Oral Polio Vaccine Hailed

Developer Calls It Safe After Test on 4½ Million People

WASHINGTON (AP) — The developer of an orally administered live virus polio vaccine said Monday it has been proved entirely safe and highly protective in tests on some 4½ million people.

Dr. Albert B. Sabin of the University of Cincinnati, reported on tests with the new vaccine in Russia, Mexico, Holland, Czechoslovakia, Malaya and various parts of the United States.

Dr. Sabin spoke at opening sessions of a week-long conference called to discuss various live polio vaccines.

The Sabin vaccine uses live but weakened polio virus in a solution administered by mouth. Dr. A. M. Payne, chief of the edemic epidemic section of the World Health Organization, Geneva, said the Sabin vaccine can probably be administered at one-tenth of the cost of the Salk vaccine.

★ ★ ★

The Salk vaccine, officially sanctioned for use in this country, utilizes dead polio virus by injection. Payne said that the live vaccine taken orally not only is considerably less expensive but is expected to provide lifelong immunization on a one-dose basis.

Some second thoughts and cautions on the live vaccines were presented to the conference, however, by Dr. G. W. A. Dick of Queen's University, Belfast Ireland.

Chimpanzee Appoints Self Boss of Zoo

EL PASO, Tex. (AP)—A self-appointed attendant—a chimpanzee—caused regular zoo attendants some concern when he began releasing birds and animals at Washington Park Zoo.

★ ★ ★

Oswald broke out of his cage Monday and scampered around the zoo, releasing animals and scattering bottles and other containers.

★ ★ ★

The chimp also released a bobcat in a cage of foxes.

The bobcat came out on the short end of the scrap and suffered a mangled leg.

Bob Shipp, City Director of Recreation, said Oswald may have been showing off for Amy, the female chimp who boards in the cage next to him.

Sees 25 Pct. Rise in Car Sales by 1969

FORT HURON (AP) — An auto finance company president predicted today that sales of new cars will jump by 25 per cent during the next 10 years.

★ ★ ★

Alan G. Rude, president of Universal CIT Credit Corp. said the new car market should reach 7½ million by the end of the 1960's. The market this year will be six million plus, including imports.

Rude said the use of credit in buying cars will expand at an even greater rate. He predicted it would total more than 25 billion dollars annually by the late '60's compared with today's total of about 16 billion.

Rude spoke at the annual convention of the Michigan Automobile Dealers Assn.

He said that despite the rosy prospects period business downturns still will occur "and the time to prepare for them is right now — not after the downturn — with continued sound management and constant attention to customer relations."

Would Really Blast Off
Probe Nuclear Propulsion

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Research is under way in a top-secret U. S. project to develop a 1,000-ton space ship propelled by "atomic firecrackers."

The project was outlined yesterday by Air Force and scientific sources who described the ideas as "something like setting off firecrackers behind a tin can — only this will use one hell of a powerful firecracker."

The Advanced Research Projects Agency (ARPA), which has a one million dollar study under way at the John Jay Hopkins laboratory of General Dynamics in San Diego, Calif., has revealed only that it is proposed to drive the craft "by a series of small nuclear explosions."

Sources here said the idea was "as simple as it sounds."

"You just set off atomic bombs behind the ship," a scientist said. "Not all at once, but in small packages in order to control the ship's acceleration."

★ ★ ★

The informants, who declined to be identified because of the tight security wraps on the project, said studies were under way into several ways of designing such a craft.

"One way is to have a ship with a flat rear end," a scientist said. "Then you just explode small bombs against its rear.

"Of course, it's grossly inefficient. When a bomb explodes you will have an explosive force shooting out in all directions. But a fraction of the force will be expended against the ship, imparting some impact energy to the craft."

The small bombs may be packed in "shaped charges" in order to direct a specified amount of the explosive force toward the ship.

"It actually would amount to a rather crude type of atomic engine," an expert said, pointing out that an auto engine operates with a series of small explosions.

"But," he added, "unlike a gasoline engine, you have no throttle to control each explosion. You get control by using small bomb packages set off at specified intervals."

Stock tickers were first put into use in the New York Stock Exchange in 1867. Telephones were installed in 1879.

Detroit Bus Fares Due for 5-Cent Hike July 1

DETROIT (AP)—A five-cent fare increase on city buses will become effective in Detroit July 1, following unanimous approval Monday by the Detroit Street Railway Commission.

The boost, recommended by DSR general manager Leo Nowicki, includes a 25-cent fare on regular buses, 30 cents on express buses, a 22½-cent ticket charge and a 15-cent fare for school children.

Old Confederate Pulls Through Bout of Fever

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Confederate veteran Walter Williams "looks pretty good" despite his two-week bout with pneumonia and may pull through, his doctor says.

★ ★ ★

"He is much weaker than last week but we've pulled down his fever and he may pull through," Dr. Russell Wolfe said late Monday.

Williams, 116, last survivor of the Civil War, developed pneumonia June 6. He apparently had recovered but then suffered a relapse. He has been under an oxygen tent most of the time for several days.

★ ★ ★

"He doesn't talk much because he is so weak," said his daughter, Willie Mae Bowles.

House Passes School Bill, but Will Senate Trim It?

LANSING (AP)—A $210 per pupil school aid bill — up $20 from this year — powered through the house last night with a surprising show of strength.

The 73-13 vote sent it on to the Senate where the economy-minded Republican majority was expected to trim it substantially.

As it stands, the bill would add 30 million dollars to school aid costs and hit taxpayers for about 302 million dollars this year. Fourteen millions of the increase would go for enrollment growth estimated at 70,000.

The per pupil formula would jump from $190 to $210 and deductible millage, the equalizing factor between rich and poor school districts, from 2¾ to 3½ mills.

Many Senate Republicans are plumping for continuation of the $190 formula, or perhaps a $5 increase. A cut in the House bill would send it to a joint conference committee where a compromise likely would result.

★ ★ ★

Backed by the budget-trimming House Ways and Means Committee, Rep. Robert E. Waldron (R-Grosse Pointe) was beaten, 25-55, in an attempt to leave the aid formula untouched. He quoted statistics compiled by the Citizens Research Council showing state aid in the last 10 years has increased proportionately more than school costs.

"We just haven't got the money," said Rep. James E. Warner (R-Ypsilanti) after others noted the Legislature must allocate 27 million dollars from the state's general fund this year merely to make up the $190 payout.

Lawmakers also beat down amendments by Rep. Lloyd Anderson (R-Pontiac) to cut appropriations for adult education, special education, teacher retirement funds and pupil transportation.

Rep. Raymond E. Wurzel (R-Port Huron), chairman of the house education committee which drafted the bill, said half of Michigan's school districts are short of money needed to carry on their programs.

★ ★ ★

"I'm not going to defend every superintendent and say all are doing their job," he said. "But, it's up to us to furnish them the money they have to have."

★ ★ ★

Rep. Clayton T. Morrison (R-Pickford), former committee chairman, called the bill "only right and just."

"Eighty-five per cent of school costs go for teachers and other personnel," he said. "Can we say now that teachers are overpaid?"

"We spend four times as much for liquor as we do for schools and twice as much for cigarettes."

Party Opponents to Tangle in Tax Debate Thursday

A Republican legislator and a Democratic legislator, who has often bolted party lines in opposing any state income tax, will tangle Thursday night in Birmingham in a debate over Michigan's stalemated financial crisis.

Expected to tell members of the Oakland County Young Republican Club why the Legislature hasn't solved the state's money problems since the session began Jan. 14 will be Rep. Farrell E. Roberts (R-West Bloomfield) and Rep. James Clarkson (D-Southfield).

Moderating the debate will be a former state representitive, Donald A. Brown, now an assistant prosecutor for Oakland county and last year's GOP candidate for lieutenant governor.

The Young Republicans have invited the public to the discussion which will begin at 8 p.m. It will be held at the GOP headquarters, 351 N. Woodward Ave.

Starkweather Gets New Execution Date

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — The Nebraska Supreme Court today set June 25 as the new execution date for convicted killer Charles Starkweather.

The action came less than a day after the U. S. Supreme Court turned down his bid for a review of his case.

The new execution date is the fifth set.

Starkweather, still whiling away his time with painting, remains hopeful that he will get a review of his case.

Detroit Boxers Losers

MONTREAL (AP)—Bob Cleroux of Montreal dropped Lloyd McKay three times in the third round last night and scored a technical knockout over the Detroit heavyweight in a scheduled eight-rounder.

In a middleweight match, Billy Pickett, 154½, a New Yorker now fighting out of Montreal, scored a fifth-round TKO over Georgie Davis, 160, of Detroit.

Everest to Head Air Command

Ike Suggests Weyland Be Retired by Senate With Rank of General

WASHINGTON (AP) — Assignment of Gen. Frank F. Everest to head the tactical air command was announced today by the White House.

At the same time, President Eisenhower asked the Senate to place Gen. Otto P. Weyland on the retired list with the rank of full general. Weyland is stepping down from the position which Everest takes over.

Eisenhower also requested that Gen. Earle E. Partridge be retired as a full general. Partridge has been serving as commander in chief of the North American Air Defense and Continental Air Defense Commands.

It was announced earlier that Partridge will be succeeded by Gen. Lawrence Kuter.

Gen. Everest, the new tactical air chief, has been serving as commander in chief of United States air forces in Europe, and as commander of the Fourth Allied Tactical Air Forces in Europe, a NATO assignment.

The White House said that Lieutenant Gen. Frederic H. Smith, now head of the air training command will take over from Everest in Europe. Eisenhower nominated Smith for promotion to full general.

Maj. Gen. James E. Briggs, now superintendent of the Air Force Academy, succeeds Smith as the training command chief. Briggs also was nominated for promotion to four-star general.

Vice Admiral Alfred M. Pride is being succeeded by Vice Admiral Clarence E. Ekstrom as commander of naval air forces in the Pacific. Ekstrom now is commander of the 6th fleet. Pride was nominated to retain his present rank on the retired list.

Rear Adm. George W. Anderson Jr. will take over command of the 6th fleet from Ekstrom. Anderson, nominated for promotion to vice admiral, now is commander of Carrier Division Six.

All of the promotions are subject to Senate confirmation.

JACKSON (UPI)—A man once a key figure in the slaying of state Sen. Warren G. Hooper of Albion is near death in Jackson prison.

Peter Mahoney, the little Greek gambler from Detroit, was once convicted of plotting Hooper's murder. Mahoney was later freed on a Supreme Court appeal, however.

Warden William Bannen said he believes Mahoney, if he knows anything about the killing of Hooper in 1945, won't admit it before he dies.

Mahoney, later sentenced for the 1944 holdup of the Aristocrat Club, a Pontiac gambling house, has repeatedly asserted his innocence of the Hooper slaying.

★ ★ ★

Hooper was killed Jan. 11, 1945, in what became Michigan's most baffling murder mystery.

The Albion lawmaker was a key witness before the Carr-Sigler Grand Jury probing legislative bribery.

What Hooper told remains a secret locked in grand jury files but it was known he was to be the key witness in several pending graft cases, including one charging Frank D. McKay, one-time overlord of Michigan GOP politics, the late Floyd Fitzsimmons, Benton Harbor sports promoter and lobbyist, and ex-Rep. William Green, Hillman, with bribe conspiracy in connection with a 1943 horse racing bill.

Virtually on the eve of his appearance as a key state witness, Hooper was found slain in his car on a lonely stretch of highway near Springport. In true gangland fashion, Hooper's car had been crowded to the roadside and three .38 caliber bullets pumped into his head.

★ ★ ★

Detectives have always agreed Hooper was murdered to seal his lips.

A tip led to the arrest and conviction of four men on charges of conspiracy to plot Hooper's murder. They included Ed Sam and Harry Fleisher and Mike Selik, connected with Detroit's Purple Gang, and Mahoney.

When the Supreme Court threw the conviction out, special grand juror Kim Sigler, later governor, charged Harry Fleisher, Selik, Mahoney and two other small time hoodlums with the $700 holdup of a Pontiac gambling house, the Aristocratic Club.

Sigler hoped that, faced with the prospect of long terms on armed robbery charges, someone would crack on the Hooper case. But no one did and the five were convicted of terms ranging up to 50 years.

Mahoney, doctors said, suffered a heart attack Wednesday. They said there is little chance he will live.

Court Sets Aside Extortion Conviction

NEW YORK (AP) — John (Johnny Dio) Dioguardi, labor racketeer serving 15 to 30 years for extortion, today won a reversal of his conviction.

The Appellate Division of the State Supreme Court voted 4 to 1 to set aside the conviction and sentence.

The division also reversed the conviction and sentence of John J. McNamara, a teamsters union official.

Dio and McNamara had been accused of extorting $4,700 from two corporations and three executives in return for labor peace.

The victims of the extortion allegedly were the Tower-Crossman Corp. and Atlas Stationery Corp., and Anthony J. Kerin Sr., Anthony J. Kerin Jr., and Jack G. Schuman, corporation officers.

Dio and McNamara were sentenced in general sessions Jan. 8, 1958.

Last Vanguard Satellite Will Be Launched Soon

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —Vanguard missilemen, disappointed in their latest satellite flop, turned their attention today to their final launching vehicle.

The second stage, long a jinx to the program; failed to function properly Monday on the 10th Vanguard launching attempt. The rocket's 22½-pound, basketball-size satellite apparently plunged to a fiery death in the earth's atmosphere.

★ ★ ★

An informed source reported a compression regulator in the second stage did not work, causing a small explosion that sent the rocket off course.

Eight of the Vanguard satellite attempts failed, six of them because of the second stage, which contains the control and guidance systems of the missile. The two successes hurled Vanguard satellites I and II into long-time orbits around the earth.

★ ★ ★

Only one Vanguard launching vehicle remains. It probably will be fired in the next few months, ringing down the curtain on the hard luck Vanguard program.

Originally, all the Vanguards were to be launched during International Geophysical Year, an 18-month, 66 - nation probe of the earth's scientific secrets. Troubles delayed the Vanguard program and four of the launching vehicles still remained when IGY ended Dec. 31.

★ ★ ★

The final Vanguard is scheduled to be a repeat attempt of last April's three-in-one satellite shot, but sources close to the project said plans may be changed.

The three-in-one attempt also fizzled because of a second-stage malfunction. Its goal was to throw two scientific satellites and the third-stage rocket into orbit.

Monday's launching appeared near-perfect to Cape observers. But the National Aeronautics and Space Administration announced two hours later in Washington that the satellite probably did not attain orbit because of a second-stage malfunction.

It was believed the satellite burned up as it fell into the earth's atmosphere from more than 200 miles in space.

Signals received from the rocket showed all three stages ignited but that it apparently was off course.

The satellite was designed to measure the heat balance between the earth and the sun.

Increase Estimate of 1959 Car Output

ST. CLAIR (AP)—A Ford Motor Co. economist today increased his estimate of the 1959 new car market by some 240,000 cars.

George P. Hitchings, manager of Ford's economic analysis department, said total new car sales should run at least three to four per cent above his original estimate of six million cars.

★ ★ ★

The six million figure has been pretty much standard in the industry and usually is broken down to include 5½ million domestic makes and 500,000 imports.

★ ★ ★

Hitchings, in a speech today to a management conference here, said he based his revised forecast on a generally rising economy and May-June car sales which he said are running six to eight per cent ahead of the estimates that led to the six million prediction.

Illegal Denture Puts Bite on Troy Technician

A troy dental laboratory technician yesterday pleaded guilty to practicing dentistry without a license when arraigned before Oakland County Circuit Judge Frank L. Doty.

John Kudla, 32, of 1825 E. Wattles Rd., faces a maximum sentence of one year in the county jail or a $500 fine. Judge Doty set sentencing for July 6.

★ ★ ★

Kudla was arrested June 9 after Dean L. Hasse Jr., investigator for the Michigan State Board of Dentistry, posed as a relative of a Roseville woman who had asked Kudla to make a denture for her.

Hasse's office said state law requires that laboratory technicians can only make such dentures by subscription from regularly-licensed dentists, and not directly for a patient.

Brothers Given Prison Terms

Judge Beer Sentences James and Carl Bailey for Southfield Robbery

Oakland County Circuit Judge William J. Beer yesterday sentenced the Bailey brothers of Detroit to prison terms for the April robbery of weapons and money from Epps Store, 27661 Northwestern Hwy., Southfield.

Sentenced to a term of 6 to 9 years at Jackson Prison was James E. Bailey, 28, of 8545 Dumbarton St., and for a term of 7 to 11 years, Carl E. Bailey, 30, of 19488 Fielding St.

The brothers, both parolees, pleaded guilty to a reduced charge of assault with intent to commit armed robbery June 8 after originally being charged with armed robbery.

They were nabbed several days after they pulled a daring daylight robbery of the store. They took $720 in cash and $563 worth of guns and ammunition.

The pair escaped with four pistols, a shotgun, rifle, rifle telescope, and shells after holding eight employes and customers off with a shotgun. Later they tied the eight in the center of the store with a chain.

Sure Senate to Pass Tax Bill Extension

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate GOP leader Everett M. Dirksen predicted today the Senate would hold the line against changes in the one-year extension of Korean War corporate and excise tax rates —facing a June 30 deadline.

The Senate Finance Committee is holding a one-day hearing on the House-passed revenue measure today. It hoped to mark up the legislation Wednesday and rush it to the Senate floor.

The Senate must act before June 30 to guard against the $2,033,000,000 federal revenue loss which would follow if taxes on corporate income, beer and liquor, cigarettes and automobiles went back to pre-Korean War levels.

Although Democrats had a variety of amendments, some to plug loopholes and others to cut excise levies, Dirksen said he was confident the Finance Committee would reject them all.

1959—100th Anniversary of the Oil Industry... 70th Anniversary of Standard Oil Company whale oil lamps to space rockets

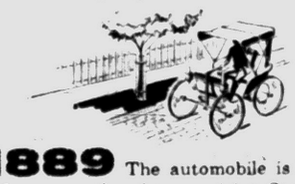
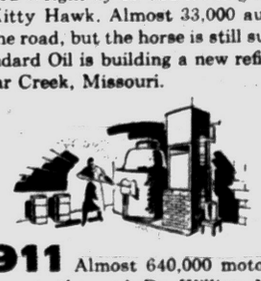
How the oil industry helped the United States to become the world's most productive nation!

1859 Colonel Drake discovers oil—and the decline of the great whaling industry is in sight as thousands of lamp users turn from whale oil to kerosene.



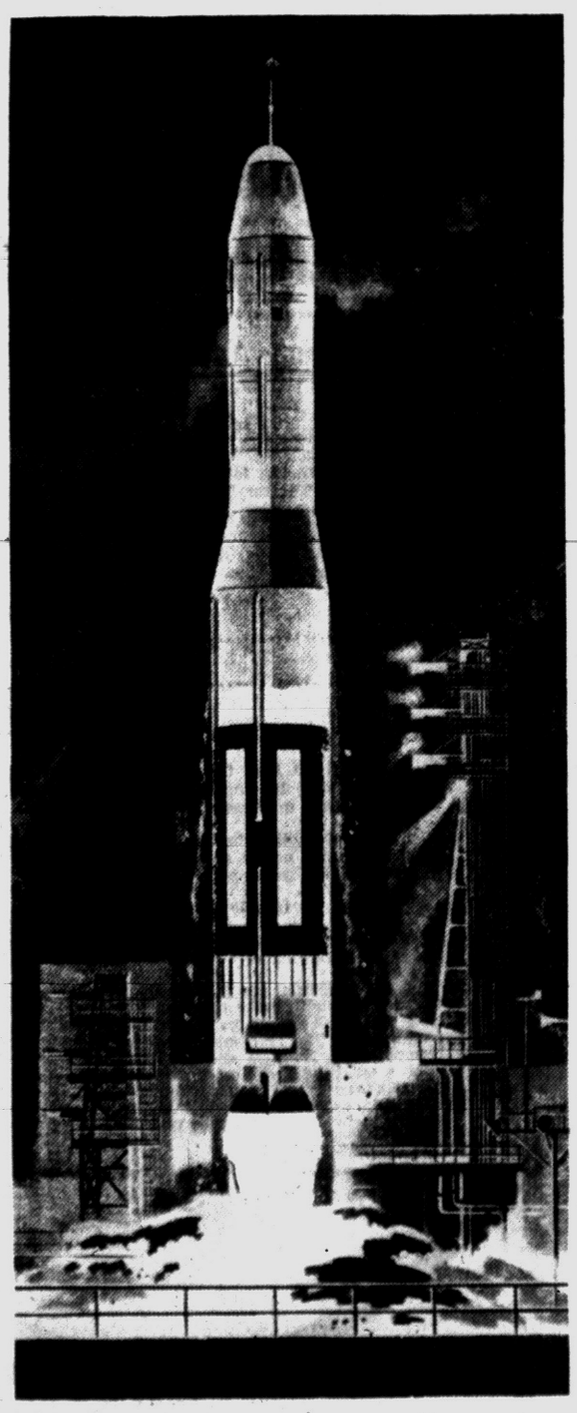
1889 The automobile is in its infancy—weak and unpromising. Standard Oil Company is born on June 18, 1889. The following year the company's first research laboratory is opened at Whiting, Indiana.

1903 Two bicycle mechanics named Wright fly an odd-looking machine at Kitty Hawk. Almost 33,000 autos are on the road, but the horse is still supreme. Standard Oil is building a new refinery at Sugar Creek, Missouri.



1911 Almost 640,000 motor vehicles are on the road. Dr. William M. Burton and Dr. Robert E. Humphreys, famous Standard Oil scientists, discover the secret of mass producing gasoline economically. The company becomes independent of all other Standard Oil companies.

1923 The automobile is here to stay. More than 15 million motor vehicles are on the highways. Standard is the first major oil company to sell gasoline containing tetraethyl lead, anti-knock agent.



1940 The greatest demand in history for aviation fuel is near. Standard Oil puts into operation the world's first catalytic reformer, which produces higher octane gasoline than was possible before.

1959 The Space Age is dawning. New fuels and lubricants for rockets and jets come from Standard Oil laboratories to help make space exploration possible and to strengthen America's defenses. Standard Oil marks its 70th anniversary.

Here are some important developments by Standard Oil, a leader and a pioneer in petroleum research.

- How to mass produce gasoline economically. This opened the way to modern automotive transportation.
- How to recover more oil from almost-dry wells. This added billions of barrels to America's oil reserves.
- How to eliminate gasoline gumming. This meant lower repair bills for car owners.
- How to dewax motor oils efficiently. This meant better car performance and fewer trips to the repairman.
- How to make clean burning solid fuels for rockets. This was a big step forward in America's missile program.

These, and many other Standard Oil developments, have played an important part in man's progress from the horse-and-buggy age to the Space Age.

Bob Considine Says:

Schools Should Teach Evils of Communism

NEW YORK — "Many do not go along with me," Richard Cardinal Cushing told his television audience, in urging study of communism in U. S. high schools and colleges. "Many do not believe in that because they think if we teach the children communism, some of the children might think of this as a good . . . a new way of life.

"I don't know how we can arouse our people from apathy and indifference unless we teach communism . . . and we should teach it for what it is—an intrinsic evil—like a medical student being taught about cancer and about the nature of cancer.

The problem is to get the right teachers to instruct children in the trends of communism . . . and at the same time teach them about God."

The Cardinal comprehends, as not too many Americans do, that there is not going to be a sudden and wrenching change within the Communist world based on, as someone wrote, an abrupt realization by the Reds that they, too, can demand refrigerators, cars, TV and time-and-a-half. Since they know little about ours, and are told it is vile, they like their own way of life, believe in it, are sure it will supersede our own.

COULD CHANGE WORLD

Here is how the Cardinal put it:

"If we had the enthusiasm of some of the outstanding Communists in the world, and applied it all to the perpetuation and extension of the moral principles and the love of God and love of man throughout the world, we would be able to change the face of this earth."

The last time I heard this teach-communism theme proposed was by the then president of Columbia University, Dwight D. Eisenhower. I think it's a good idea, but that lectures should include factual accounts of the purges, the restrictions on what we define as liberty, the hardships and the separation of an intrinsically religious people from their God.

Khrushchev, for example, seems absolutely convinced that communism is inexorably becoming the method by which the earth's billions of people will live. Across his conference table he explained to us, as if we were not very bright children, that democracy had played a nice role in the history of man; that it had done a fine job succeeding serfdom and colonialism.

But socialism, he went on, was now taking over rapidly from our system, and he pointed out England as an example. Beyond socialism, he said, lay communism—in what he called natural sequence.

He unquestionably believes that, but the fact that he believes doesn't make it true, any more than Dr. Townsend was right in his sincere belief that he had a panacea for the economic ills of the aged.

Communism's limitations, weaknesses, flaws, affronts to human dignity, treachery, deceit should be studied and learned, and weighed against our own way of life, by millions of Americans. To stick one's head in the sand and say, "This is rotten," without knowing its appeal to people who know no better, is ignorance beyond absolution.

A generation which grew up with a knowledge of Russia confined to the lament we call "The Volga Boatman" might find the sight and sound of happy Russians unnerving. Yet many Russians are made happy and proud each day of the year by the most extraordinary boons.

The success of the Sputniks, compounded by the played-up failures of some of our U. S. missiles and space efforts, afforded deep satisfaction to a people who knew that we used to say about them, "They can't build a 1-ton truck or a flush toilet."

★ ★ ★

But they can be proud, and, being proud, sure they can win against us, by the humblest boons. The night Bill Hearst, Frank Conniff and I arrived in Moscow, Red Square was filled with countless tens of thousands of happy, laughing, singing, arm-in-arm Russians.

One of us said to an Old Russian Hand, "These don't look like slave people." The ORH said, "They've never been happier or prouder in their lives."

"On account the anniversary of the Revolution?" we asked.

"No for pity's sake, it has nothing to do with that. They're happy because this is the first time they've ever been permitted to walk ACROSS Red Square. They've always had to walk around the square to get to the other side. It's a big night."

And it was. It made them prouder than ever, and surer than ever that they were under the aegis of a proper government. It is these things we should know about millions of human beings whose passions are being aroused against us.

WORKIN' ON THE RAILROAD—The quest for summer jobs hasn't driven Gail Hallas, 16, left, and Wanda Chism, 16, to such oily work on a locomotive in Detroit, Mich. They grabbed the big oilcan as part of a program put on for high school leaders by the Railroad Community Committee of Greater Detroit. The committee demonstrated modern railroad methods.

Disbelieving Editor Misses Good Story

NOGALES, Ariz. (UP) — Nogales Daily Herald Editor Alvin Sisk tells this on himself:

The next day it was announced that Sir Laurence had returned to Hollywood after spending the weekend at actor Stewart Granger's ranch near Nogales.

British Dean Says Red Drugs Aid His Rejuvenation

LONDON (UPI) — Britain's 85-year-old "Red" Dean of Canterbury says iron curtain youth-giving drugs have made him feel years younger, a London newspaper reported Monday.

Lord Beaverbrook's Daily Express said the Church of England official explained he received the rejuvenation drugs from a Romanian physician, Dr. Anna Aslan.

★ ★ ★

"I spent many happy hours in her hospital. I entered myself upon a simple course of treatment which has had an extraordinarily happy effect," the dean, Dr. Hewlett Johnson, said.

Dr. Johnson said Dr. Aslan's "substance H 3" has had the effect of "restoring power I had lost and making me feel and act as if several years had been taken off my age."

The dean, whose political statements often follow the communist line, said the drugs have given new youth to elderly patients' glands, nervous systems, hair, skins and bones.

Get Help for Varicose Veins

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

So many women have varicose veins! In fact it seems to be the exception for a woman to be completely free of these from middle age on and many very young women are made unhappy and uncomfortable because of them.

Though they seem to be inherited, this does not mean that you will have varicose veins just because your forebears had them. They do seem to run in families, however, and you may have a tendency to them.

Perhaps the most important bit of advice I can give you is to see a physician as soon as you notice this trouble. At whatever stage your varicosity may be, you should see one — the sooner the better. It is important to get treatment early. Needless pain and trouble later on may be avoided by early preventative measures.

Varicose veins are not only ugly to behold but they can cause you great discomfort and even become dangerous if neglected.

It has been estimated that more than half of the adult population has some degree of varicosity. Women are more subject to this than men. Pregnancy is a predisposing factor. Tight girdles and garters and standing for long periods each day also play their part.

As a preventative and corrective measure you should put your feet up whenever possible. Take short rest periods with your feet higher than your head, or if that is not possible, at least place them on a chair when you sit. If your work keeps you at a desk or sitting for hours at a time, periodically get up and walk about the room.

Elastic stockings are a help but these should be fitted to you individually. Some of the newest ones are quite sheer.

Medical treatment for extreme cases usually consist of injections, or surgery to remove the offending veins. However, so many extreme conditions could have been avoided had the patient seen a doctor in the early stages of the trouble.

Tomorrow: "The Legs 'Come Out' in the Summer — Are You Ready?"

As a preventative or corrective measure for varicose veins, you should put your feet up whenever possible.

You Want Family Feud to Begin!

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: Two weeks ago, my nephew, aged nine, and his parents came to dinner at my house. I was aghast at his table manners. He kept shoveling food into his mouth as though he were afraid someone might take the plate away from him. Not only did he smear his face but the table as well. His parents made no attempt to correct him.

"I could not stand it any longer so I corrected him (in a nice way of course) but my sister-in-law seemed resentful over this. When they had gone, my husband said that I was wrong to have said anything to the child and that it was not my place to correct him.

"I did this for the child's own good and I certainly think that, as an aunt, I was within my rights to correct him. I would like your opinion."

Answer: My own instinct would be to do exactly what you did, but I am afraid that a very occasional correction will do the child little good and will risk a family feud between you and his parents. Of course, if the child were visiting or staying with you without his parents, it would be your right, and indeed your duty, to correct him.

"Dear Mrs. Post: Our son is to be married soon at a morning wedding. A breakfast will follow at a hotel. The bride's parents are paying for this. The day before there is to be a pre-rehearsal dinner.

"The bride-to-be has invited about twenty-five people and made all arrangements for the dinner. We were not consulted about anything. She now informs us, that the groom's father is to pay for this. We were very much surprised. Is this correct?"

Answer: It was not necessary that she consult you about the arrangements for the rehearsal dinner, but she was entirely wrong in expecting you to pay for it.

"Dear Mrs. Post: I have always tipped my hair stylist when he was employed by someone else. Now, he is the owner of his own beauty salon. Is it necessary that I continue to tip him?"

Answer: You do not tip the owner of a beauty salon.

"Dear Mrs. Post: We would like your help in settling a difference of opinion concerning the use of nail polish by men. Is it considered a sign of good grooming, and more important still, is it in good taste?"

Answer: Well taken care of and perfectly clean fingernails are essentials of good grooming, but the use of nail polish by men is not in very good taste.

Don't Make Pawns of Grandchildren

By RUTH MILLETT

"With summer vacation time here again, won't you please write something about the problem my husband and I face every year?

"It's simply this: Both of our parents live in the same city so going home for us and taking the children means visiting two sets of relatives.

"That could and should be a simple, happy arrangement. But believe me, it is anything but that. It's a 10-day tug of war between my parents and my husband's parents because each set of parents is jealous of the time we spend with the others.

"If my mother invites us for dinner that is sure to be the very night my husband's mother wants us. If my husband's parents want to take the kids fishing, my parents say in hurt tones, 'But we wanted to do that for the children.'

"That kind of pulling against each other with us in the middle goes on for our whole visit. It isn't any open quarrel, or anything like that, and so it is almost impossible to cope with. This may sound terrible, but much as we love our parents and want to be with them and have them see their grandchildren, we almost dread going home.

"If they could just relax and enjoy the time we can spend with them we could relax and enjoy it, too. But this way no one is ever entirely satisfied and no one is ever very happy."

There's not much to add to that letter. And because I receive similar letters every summer I know this isn't an isolated problem.

So grandparents, it's up to you. If you really want your children to enjoy visiting you, don't be so possessive that you make them uncomfortable.

Enjoy the little time you have with them instead of worrying for fear the other set of parents may get to see them a little more.

The important thing is that they have come back to visit because they want to. See that you keep them wanting to — or they may stop coming.

Owe Him an Apology . . . Abby

You Shouldn't Ditch Your Date

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I went to a prom with a boy who is what you call a sissy. I knew this before I went with him but he was the only boy who asked me and I wanted to go.

ABBY

I like to mix with others. He doesn't. when we got to the prom I started to mix with others. We kind of lost track of each other. There was a big mix-up and when the Grand March started I wasn't there. My date started looking for me outside by the parked cars. Anyway, when it came time to go home, I couldn't find him.

He claims he stayed until the janitor locked up. My girlfriend and her boyfriend took me home. Now it's all over town that I ditched this kid. How can I explain and get my reputation back?

REPUTATION RUINED

DEAR R. R.: What's there to explain? You violated the first rule of good datesmanship—"to stick with the guy who brung you." The only way to repair your reputation (which, by the way is not ruined by one mistake) is to apologize to the boy you mistreated and to behave like a lady in the future.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: Isn't a sign of jealousy or hate to send somebody a cactus plant?

RECEIVED ONE

DEAR RECEIVED: I prefer to believe that anyone who sends another a plant (of any species) does it in the spirit of good will. Your conscience could be needing you.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: My neighbor turned her sprinkler full force in complete disregard of the open windows in my car, standing where it belonged in MY driveway. If I had not been lucky enough to see the water gushing into my car, within five minutes I could have bathed in there. Should I take her to court, move, or ask her to move? I have lived here for 22 years and never had any trouble with my neighbors.

ANNOYED

DEAR ANNOYED: If this one incident is the sum total of your complaint against your neighbor, I would say that you are over-reacting to what was probably an innocent accident. Talk to her.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: I am going to be married in August. My fiance wants his brother to be best man. I want my brother to be best man. I know the groom usually selects the best man but, Abby, my fiance's brother is shorter than I am and I am afraid we will look ridiculous up there. My brother is 6 ft. 2 and would make a much better looking best man. How can I get around this without starting a family fight?

BRIDE-TO-BE

DEAR BRIDE: Are you staging a Hollywood production or a ceremony to join you and your loved one in holy matrimony? For goodness sake, let your fiance select his own best man.

Tutti Frutti Jam Can Be Varied Each Year

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

This is the time of year when we begin to think about making jam and jelly for the cold months ahead (anybody want to think about that?). However, we heard of such an interesting idea to use with jam that we must pass it along.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. George Granger of Auburn Heights is an active worker in school and church organizations. Her hobbies are any kind of handcraft. She has four youngsters.

TUTTI FRUTTI JAM
By Mrs. George Granger

Start out by freezing a couple of batches of rhubarb. Then make strawberry jam, using pectin. Seal some of this in jars as you usually do, but put part of it in a crock and place it in the refrigerator.

Make a batch of rhubarb and pineapple jam, using pectin (recipe in leaflet). The pineapple is too sweet, the rhubarb too sour; together, they are wonderful. Can a little of this, then add the rest to the strawberry jam. Can some of that too, if you like, but leave a goodly amount in the refrigerator.

Now, for the rest of the canning season, make up batches of jam—cherry, raspberry, peach, plum—and add some of each to the refrigerated mixture. Mrs. Granger says she has even added apple butter.

If the mixture is too sweet, add some of that rhubarb you have frozen. By fall you will have the most wonderful topping for ice cream, cake and pudding that you can imagine. It will never be the same any two years. Keep it refrigerated until you want to seal it in jars.

Doesn't it sound delicious?

Sees Headway in Tax Battle; Everybody Tired

LANSING (AP)—A House Republican leader today predicted lawmakers would make "definite headway" this week on settlement of a five-month battle over taxes.

"Everybody's getting sick of hanging around here," said Rep. Allison Green (R-Kingston), GOP floor leader. "We probably can't adjourn the session by the end of the month but the end ought to be in sight by then."

★ ★ ★

Green huddled for the third time last night with Rep. Joseph J. Kowalski (D-Detroit), Democratic floor leader, on a proposed compromise on rival tax proposals put up by Republicans and Democrats.

★ ★ ★

Green last week suggested a package to include the Republican-backed plan to add a penny to the three-cent use (sales) tax, amendments to the business activities tax and one or two "nuisance" taxes which together would yield 140 million dollars in new revenue.

Democrats are backing a combination personal and corporation income tax but House defeat of a piggy-back income tax proposal weakened their stand.

Wheat Bill Goes to Eisenhower

Veto Expected Due to Boost in Price Supports Opposed by Ike

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congress today sent President Eisenhower a wheat bill that he is virtually certain to veto because of its price boost features.

The Senate last night approved 44-40 a Democratic-sponsored bill which had passed the House. It would boost supports on wheat to 90 per cent of parity for the 1960 and 1961 crops and cut acreage allotments by 25 per cent.

President Eisenhower has called on Congress repeatedly to act to cut the 1,300,000,000 bushel wheat surplus in which taxpayers have $3,000,000,000 invested.

But he made it clear he wanted supports reduced — not raised.

Passage of the bill in the Senate pulled the Democrats off what could have been an embarrassing political spot. The House last week rejected a compromise wheat bill approved by a Senate-House conference committee which would raise supports only to 80 per cent of parity while cutting planting allotments 20 per cent.

★ ★ ★

If the matter had been allowed to die there, administration leaders could have blamed Congress for the failure to take action to stop the burgeoning wheat surpluses.

But the Senate went back to the bill which the House passed originally by an 11-vote margin on a day when 51 members were absent, many of them from eastern city areas.

By passing the original House bill, no more House action now is necessary.

SOUTHFIELD — The Southfield Shopping Center Building Co. has served notice on the Southfield City Commission that it will take its battle to have five acres of land on Southfield road, north of 12-Mile road, rezoned from residential to commercial to Wayne County Circuit Court sometime in July.

In other business at last night's meeting, the City Commission appropriated $34,800 for capital improvements and road maintenance to cover the one week left in Southfield's fiscal year.

Pontiac Township to Stage Homecoming on July 3, 4

16 Groups Plan Annual Affair

Street Dance to Kick Off Celebration in Back of Pontiac State Bank

PONTIAC TOWNSHIP — Sixteen local organizations are taking active part in preparations for the second annual homecoming celebration to be staged here on July 3 and 4, according to Kenneth Collins and Mrs. Thomas E. Wilson, cochairmen of the event.

★ ★ ★

The program will open at 9 p.m. on July 3 with a "Kick-Off Dance," a street dance, to take place in the area in back of the Pontiac State Bank, located at the corner of Auburn and Squirrel roads in Auburn Heights.

In case of rain, the dance will be held at the American Legion Hall on Churchill road. Orville Chamberlain and his group will provide the music for dancing.

On July 4 a full schedule of activities has been planned, Collins said.

The day-long program will begin at 9 a.m. with a "Merchandise Shoot" which will continue all day. The next event will be a boat race on the Clinton River at 10 a.m. to be followed by a Tug O' War between members of the local post of the American Legion and Pontiac Township volunteer firemen.

★ ★ ★

Booths on the Auburn Heights Elementary School grounds will be open at noon. Features of the afternoon program will be a baseball game at 1 p.m., children's games at 2 and a dance for teenagers.

Prizes will be awarded to winners of the "shoot," boat races and children's games, the chairmen said.

MANY RIDES

Other activities will include hay and pony rides and rides on the township fire truck. Food will be served throughout the day at the school grounds with full dinners to be served at the Community Hall on Squirrel road.

'Hard Work' Keeps Her Young

Woman, 100, Loves to Visit

By LEE WINBORN

ROCHESTER — Pampered and sickly as a child, Mrs. Amelia Gilbert has outlived all of her 10 brothers and sisters except her youngest brother, who is now over 80. Mrs. Gilbert is 100 years old.

Slightly deaf and partially blind now, Mrs. Gilbert still has amazing vitality for one of her years. She is able to walk by herself with the aid of a cane and loves to go visiting.

At the age of 91 "Mother" Gilbert made the round trip from Michigan to Sacramento, Calif., by car and would probably do it again if the opportunity presented itself, her daughter, Mrs. Harold N. Coulter, says.

Mrs. Gilbert makes her home with her daughter, her only child, and her son-in-law at 718 Ludlow St. and spends her days watching television and reading her Bible.

NEAT, TIDY

She takes a nap when she's home, but when she goes to visit her grandson, Llewellyn, and his family in Midland, she can't be bothered resting.

Meticulous in her habits, Mrs. Gilbert prides herself on being well groomed and likes to see everything neat and tidy. Her hair is always carefully coiffed, and she dresses in good taste with becoming accessories.

When asked to what she attributed her longevity, the charming centenarian said, "Hard work."

Mrs. Gilbert has led an active life with her home, family, church and club—she is a life member of the Order of the Eastern Star. In addition, her daughter said that she used to spend many happy hours working in her garden.

Mrs. Gilbert's husband, John, died in 1926, and since that time, she has lived with her daughter's family and has traveled extensively with them from one coast to the other.

★ ★ ★

Her son-in-law was formerly with the Ferry Seed Co. here, but during World War II he took a job in California and his family—including Mrs. Gilbert—joined him there.

That was back in 1943. The Coulters and Mrs. Gilbert stayed on the West Coast until last year when they decided to move back to Michigan to be near Llewellyn and Mrs. Gilbert's hometown of Harbor Beach.

Besides Llewellyn, Mrs. Gilbert has another grandson, Neal, at home in Rochester, and four great-grandchildren.

★ ★ ★

"A mother to everyone," her daughter says about Mrs. Gilbert, "and her heart is still good, and that's what keeps her going." Mrs. Coulter, 70 herself, may well follow in her mother's footsteps. She has the same interests and loves to keep busy all of the time.

Bonds Awarded by Rochester

Interest Rate Is 4.46 by Detroit Firm for Water Tower and Mains

ROCHESTER — The Rochester Village Council last night awarded the bid for water improvement bonds to Kenower, MacArthur and Co., Detroit.

★ ★ ★

The five bidders offered effective interest rates ranging from 4.46 to 4.71 per cent for the next 25 years. The Detroit firm's rate was the lowest.

The bid covers the $280,000 bond issue for erection of the new water tower east of town, water mains and lines.

Work on the project is scheduled to start "almost immediately," Village Manager Paul York said today.

The Council also adopted the currently pending water sprinkling ordinance, with one addition. When the temperature goes over 80 degrees, no sprinkling will be allowed.

The ordinance provides that residents living in even numbered houses use their hoses only on the odd days.

★ ★ ★

In other action, the local governing body authorized a change in the traffic signal at the intersection of Parkdale and Romeo roads. The green arrow will be changed to a red flashing arrow.

Milford to Buy Road Grader, Hire Sewage Plant Operator

By REBA HEINTZELMAN

MILFORD — At a meeting that lasted almost five hours last night, village council members here authorized hiring a full time operator of the sewage disposal plant and the purchasing of a new $10,000 road grader.

★ ★ ★

They also accepted the water and sewer line specifications of Fairview Hills Subdivisions 2 and 3, and discussed the possibility of a $32,000 street paving project.

State health officials have set July 1 as the deadline for the village to get its disposal plant in operation before any new subdivisions can hook into the sewer line.

The sewage plant, located just east of the main dam in the Huron River, dumps into the river, as do the Wixom Ford plant, the Proud Lake Recreation Center and Camp Dearborn plants.

The City Manager L. Oliver Taylor was authorized to hire a man to run analysis tests for the state at a starting salary of $4,000 a year.

★ ★ ★

There was no mention made as to the Mill Pond dilemma still facing the village fathers. The three drained-off pond sites remain an eyesore in the center of town.

The council decided to do away with a $280 water meter installation on the new Township and Fire Hall now under construction. The village will charge the township an annual flat rate of $80 for use of the water and sewer facilities.

The paving project was tabled for one week to determine which streets would be completed first. A discussion on how to get a $15,000 cash difference between what the budget allows and what is needed for concrete pavement involved a possibility of assessing those property owners fronting on the street a flat rate.

Only main thoroughfares would be paved. Back streets would be blacktopped.

A request from William Knapp to rezone, from residential to commercial, an area from Main to East streets on Commerce road resulted in a public hearing date for 7:30 p.m. July 1 at the Village Hall. At the present time the area is a mixture of spot zoning, according to Village President Joseph Gerrard.

★ ★ ★

Four bids were opened for a new road grader, and a $10,000 contract awarded to the Galion Co.

Phillip A. Berthiaume has been re-elected secretary, and John Sewell was named to the post of treasurer, vacated by Dr. Renwick.

The two new Board members, Mrs. C. Harold Wills and Raymond Wilson, also have filed their acceptance to office.

Plan Festival in Leonard Fire Station

ADDISON TOWNSHIP — The Addison Township Fire Department will hold its annual Strawberry Festival Saturday in the fire hall in Leonard. The men will start serving at 2 p.m.

Since there appears to be a bumper crop of strawberries locally this year, the firemen will serve fresh berries rather than frozen ones as in the past, they said today.

John Sutherby, festival chairman says tickets for the event are now on sale from any of the township firemen.

Sentence Two to Prison Term

Police Follow Trail of Bank Checks to Cache at Walled Lake Beach

WALLED LAKE — Having been foiled by the sand at Walled Lake in a safe robbery here, two members of a gang were sentenced to Jackson Prison yesterday by Oakland County Circuit Judge Frank L. Doty. A third member was placed on probation.

Robert Schermerhorn, 27, of 2716 Woodlawn St., Oakley Park, received 5 to 15 years; his brother, Raymond B. Schermerhorn, 28, of the same address, three years probation and $200 costs, and Carl E. Hess, 18, of 960 Adelaide Dr., 1½ to 15 years.

They all pleaded guilty June 4 to burglary of a 700-pound safe from a Walled Lake auto dealer showroom.

A trail of checks four blocks long led police to the Walled Lake beach where the brothers had tried to bury their $500 in cash and $3,100 in checks in the sand and then push the safe into the lake. They got three cars stuck in the sand trying.

County Board OKs Area Water System

The Oakland County Board of Supervisors yesterday authorized the Department of Public Works to proceed with establishment of a water and sewage system in West Bloomfield Township's Pine Center subdivision.

The township Board in April requested the county to establish such systems under the law allowing the DPW to take over when individual units are unable to do the job.

The subdivision is located in the northwest corner of the intersection of West Long Lake and Middle Belt roads.

Supervisors unanimously approved the work with the understanding the entire costs would be borne by the users of the system, with no cost to the county.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Warren of Ortonville. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Smith of Remus.

The bride's gown featured a lace bodice over acetate taffeta with a curving neckline, and a filmy lace jacket with self buttons and long pointed sleeves. The skirt was designed as a foam of lace ruffles over nylon net over taffeta.

The bridal veil was of ballerina length with a coronet of lace embroidered with pearls and sequins. She carried a colonial bouquet of white and yellow sweetheart roses.

★ ★ ★

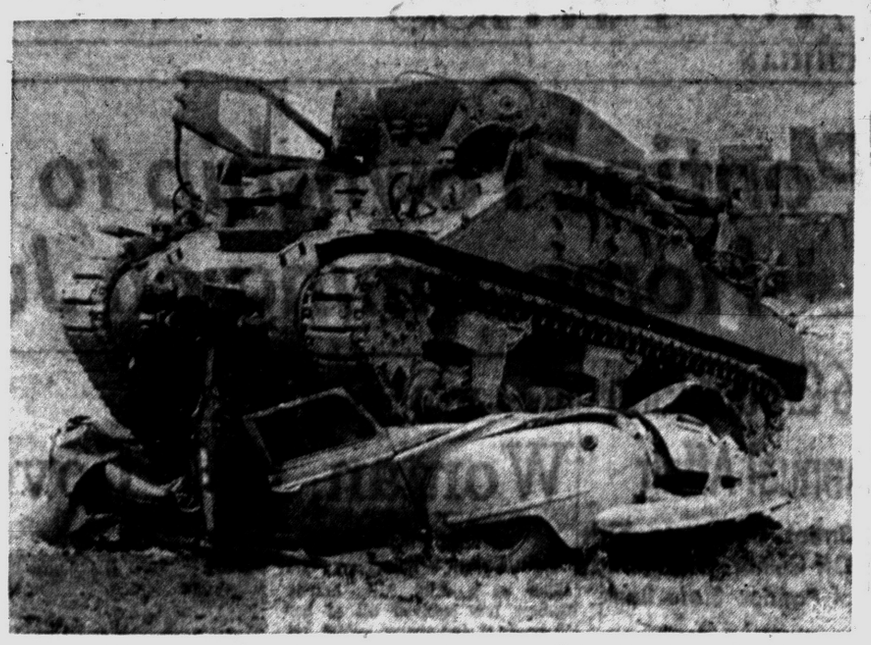
17½-35 Years Given Flint Murderer

FLINT (AP) — James R. Seeley, 33-year-old musician who pleaded guilty to second-degree murder, was under three concurrent sentences of 17½ to 35 years today in the slaying of his wife and two of their four daughters.

Seeley's wife Carol, 32, was hacked to death with a hatchet. The two children were drowned in the bathroom.

Seeley never gave authorities an explanation, merely saying he had an uncontrollable compulsion.

Circuit Judge Stephen J. Roth said in sentencing Seeley yesterday that apparently frustrations from being "poorly adjusted" with his wife and "withdrawn" from the girls "burst the dam."



FROM BATTLEFIELD TO JUNKYARD—This tank crunches junked autos in Cleveland, Ohio. The monster (original cost, $35,000) was purchased from the Army for $300. It was to have been scrapped but the owners found it was handy for demolishing the autos, switching railroad cars in the yard and lifting objects weighing as much as 15 tons.

Highway Funds Bill Favorable to State

FERNDALE (AP)—Michigan would gain 195 million dollars in federal highway funds under a bill now before Congress, George N. Higgins, chairman of the Michigan Turnpike Authority, reported today.

Higgins said the measure, recently reported by the House Public Works Committee, includes $73,800,000 for the Mackinaw bridge whose total construction cost was 100 million dollars.

The bill reimburses states for toll and toll-free expressways and bridge construction on the interstate system which were completed without 90 per cent federal aid.

States would be required to use the money for construction of new toll-free roads.

Higgins said Michigan residents should urge the state's congressional delegation to seek approval of the measure.

Michigan Catholic Editor Succumbs

DETROIT (AP)—Edward A. McDonnell, 61, managing editor of the Michigan Catholic, died today of a heart attack at his home.

He came to the Detroit Archdiocese newspaper after 23 years as a newspaperman in Cleveland, Kansas City and Grand Rapids.

Born in Cleveland, McDonnell attended John Carroll University. He worked for the Cleveland diocesan newspaper, the Catholic Bulletin, the Cleveland Plain Dealer and the Cleveland News before goings to the Kansas City Star and the Grand Rapids Press. He joined the Michigan Catholic in 1946.

He is survived by his widow Loretta, a son, the Rev. Graham P. McDonnell of New York, and a daughter, Mrs. William Smith of Detroit.

Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

Ethel Barrymore Rests in Crypt Near Brothers

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Ethel Barrymore's body rests today in a mausoleum crypt near those of her brothers John and Lionel.

Probably the smallest audience of her career—about 250— attended last rites Monday for the queen of the royal family of the American theater. Miss Barrymore, 79, died last Thursday of a heart ailment.

★ ★ ★

After the Requiem High Mass her casket was taken to Calvary Cemetery Mausoleum. It had been announced her body would be placed next to those of her famous actor brothers.

★ ★ ★

A cemetery spokesman said another family recently bought the crypt next to John's and that it is occupied. A recently appointed cemetery manager knew of no arrangemet holding it for the actress. She had not bought it.

Miss Barrymore's family and friends said they will try to obtain the crypt.

★ ★ ★

Mourners included Billie Burke, Irene Dunne, George Murphy, Estelle Winwood and Miss Barrymore's three children — Samuel Barrymore Colt, John Drew Colt and Ethel Barrymore Colt Miglietta.

The pallbearers were producer Charles Brackett, writer Philip Dunne, educator Robert Maynard Hutchins, designer Orry Kelly, producer Herbert Bayard Swope, financier Neil McCarthy and Dr. Clyde Barton, Miss Barrymore's physician.

Liberace Plays Tonight for Queen Mother

MANCHESTER, England (UPI) —Liberace tonight plays his piano for Queen Mother Elizabeth, to conclude a tour of England marked by jampacked audiences and a successful libel suit.

The American entertainer, along with stars of the British variety circuit, will play the command performance before the Queen Mother at Manchester's old Palace Theater.

It is Liberace's last performance in England this year.

Producer Henry Charles of the old Palace assigned the only private dressing room in the theater to Liberace.

"We gave it to him because he will be arriving with the usual retinue, including his conductor, manager and valet," Charles said.

Maybe Cat Can't Read, but She's Appropriate

LA MESA, Calif. (AP)—Members of the Burns D. Bentley family are wondering if their cat, Fluffy, can read.

The cat found a box in the Bentley garage with "Stork Special" printed on it, crawled into it and had her three kittens there. Mrs. Bentley said that the box had once held a diaper pail for babies.

Canton Residents Warned of Floods

TOKYO (AP) — Red China warned the millions of Chinese living in the Canton area of Kwangtung province that raging flood crests on the swollen rivers will strike there Wednesday.

★ ★ ★

The Communists already have said the floods in Kwangtung may be the worst of the century. The damage is expected to deal a sharp blow to Red economic hopes this year.

★ ★ ★

Several million peasants, led by Communist party secretaries and soldiers, worked around the clock in the driving rain to meet the danger poised by the river crests.

Three major rivers, the North, West and East, come together in the Canton region. They flow into the South China Sea through the Pearl River estuary. The fertile delta, made up of the accumulated silt of the rivers, gives the province three crops a year.

New York Ends Hospital Strike

Both Sides Accept Plan to Increase Pay After 46-Day Walkout

NEW YORK (UPI)—Non-professional workers in seven hospitals returned to their jobs today ending a 46-day walkout.

The strike against the private, non-profit institutions was settled yesterday when both sides accepted an agreement granting partial union recognition and wage increases.

Non-medical employes went on strike against six hospitals May 8 and the seventh a month later, to support demands for recognition of Local 1199 of the Retail Drug Employes Union as their bargaining agent.

Medical personnel remained on their jobs at the hospital, but the non-medical services for some 3,000 patients have been performed by volunteers during the walkout.

The Union claimed 3,700 persons walked out. The hospitals said there were only 1,000 strikers.

The seven hospitals also accepted the settlement and 74 other hospitals in the Greater New York Hospital Assn. considered accepting it also.

A Union official said the agreement set up grievance machinery and provided a $40 week basic wage for a 40-hour week for the workers, whoo have been receiving $32 to $40 a week for working longer work weeks.

Skeleton Near Saginaw Identified by Dental Work

SAGINAW (AP)—Deputies sought today to reconstruct the mysterious shotgun slaying of a 29-year-old woman whose skeleton was found in a shallow grave near here Sunday.

The skeleton was identified last night as that of Mrs. Patricia Ann Bacon of Saginaw.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Bacon had been shot in the face and chest with a shotgun. Her remains were found buried in a wooded area in Spaulding township, three miles south of Saginaw.

Coroner William Shea said the woman apparently was killed and buried last summer.

Identified by dental work, Mrs. Bacon was separated from her husband and lived alone in Saginaw. Her husband was believed to be living in Plymouth, Ind.

The victim also used the names Patricia Ann Sanders and Patricia Ann Parsons, her maiden name.

Relatives told police they last saw Mrs. Bacon alive May 13, 1958. A sister reported her missing in August 1958.

Scuffle 'Til Police Come

Robber Foiled by Banker

CROCKETT, Va. (AP) — A dead-broke gunman who figured a bank robbery would be the best way to get some money tried to hold up a branch bank here Monday but was foiled by its spunky young manager.

Donald C. Musser, 29, was bound and gagged but pulled free of his bonds, snatched the bandit's .25 automatic pistol, and grappled with the would-be robber until help arrived.

★ ★ ★

Police jailed Cloyd Martin, 54, of Jefferson City, Tenn., on a charge of attempted bannk robbery in his fumbling effort to make off with $12,000 in the Crockett branch of the Wythe County National Bank.

They quoted Martin as saying he tried to rob the bank for "the best reason in the world—I needed the money and I figured that was the best way to get it."

★ ★ ★

Musser told officers Martin came into the bank about 1:30 p.m. when Musser was alone, and pulled out the pistol and demanded all the money.

The bandit forced Musser to lie on the floor, gagged him, bound his wrists—then made the error of laying his pistol on the floor as he began tying Musser's ankles.

Musser wriggled, freed his hands, gabbed the pistol, fired it "about six times" until it was empty, and began a scuffle with the intruder. They had fought all the way to the door when police arrived.

Supreme Court OKs Jencks Act

Rule Law Rather Than 1957 Decision Governs Document Inspection

WASHINGTON (AP)— The Jencks Act, passed by Congress to control access to prosecution secrets by defendants in federal criminal trials, today had the blessing of the Supreme Court.

In a series of cases the high tribunal ruled yesterday that the Jencks Act, rather than the court's own 1957 Jencks decision, governs what material the defense is entitled to receive.

With votes ranging from 9-0 to 4-4 the court affirmed seven convictions in which the Jencks Act was raised as an issue.

The decisions made clear that federal district judges have considerable leeway in deciding whether to permit inspection of documents by the defense.

★ ★ ★

In its 1957 decision, the Supreme Court said the defense was entitled to get prior statements made to government agents by two witnesses in the trial of Clinton Jencks. He was charged with filing false non-Communist oaths under the Taft-Hartley Law.

The 1957 decision set aside Jencks' conviction and he has never been tried again. There were protests in Congress and elsewhere that the decision would make FBI files and other secret data available to subversives and other criminals.

★ ★ ★

As a result, Congress passed the Jencks Act. Under it, the district judge determines what documents the defense is entitled to receive. If he decides the defense should get a particular document, he screens it to eliminate material not directly connected with the issues of the case on trial.

Driver Tries to Keep Pet Tiger From Horn

LAFAYETTE, Calif. (UPI)— Highway patrolman Emery J. Hanlon thought he saw a driver struggling with someone in a passing car and decided to investigate.

"It's nothing at all," said Merritt R. Ketchum, 31, a seaman. "It's just my pet Bengal tiger. He wants to blow the horn."

Starkweather Still Hopeful Despite Top Court Denial

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — Mass killer Charles Starkweather is still hopeful he will get a review of his case in the courts.

The 20-year-old killer was convicted in the slaying of Robert Jensen, 17, Bennet, Neb. Jensen was one of 11 persons Starkweather has admitted slaying.

★ ★ ★

Starkweather contends he did not have a fair trial in that he was not properly represented by his two court-appointed attorneys. He asked the U. S. Supreme Court to grant a review of the case. The court denied the application without comment Monday.

★ ★ ★

Told of the decision, Starkweather said only that he still had hope. He returned to his oil painting of a snow scene.

Albert J. Ahern Jr., one of the two Washington attorneys who filed the Supreme Court application, said he will ask the court to modify its order to state that its denial was without prejudice to renewal of the constitutional issues in the Nebraska state courts.

Nebraska Atty. General C. S. Beck said that when he gets a copy of the order he will ask the state Supreme Court to set an execution date. It will be the fifth death date for Starkweather.

★ ★ ★

Caril Ann Fugate, 16, was convicted and sentenced to life as an accomplice of Starkweather in the Jensen slaying. She, too, is appealing and now has applications before the state Supreme Court for a new trial.

BUY INSURANCE THIS WAY?

It's dangerous buying automobile protection on a price basis. Many people insuring with "prudent driver" companies find themselves involved in an accident. Later, after all claims have been paid, their policy is cancelled because they are no longer "prudent drivers".

Regular companies then hesitate to insure people who have had their policy cancelled and folks find themselves without insurance.

Don't take this chance. And you won't if you buy your insurance from a local, independent agent.

State Solon Wins Appeal of Traffic Conviction

LANSING (UPI)—Rep. Clarence Meggison (R-Charlevoix) has won his appeal of a municipal court conviction on a charge of failure to yield the right of way.

A circuit court jury deliberated a half hour yesterday before returning an acquittal on the charge stemming from an accident that knocked two Lansing policemen from their motorcycle.

Meggison's car hit a two-seat motorcycle carrying two off-duty policemen April 13. A jury of six men found him guilty in Municipal Court.

He was told by Municipal Judge Charles Murphy to pay $38.75 or spend 10 days in jail.

But Sen. Paul H. Younger (R-Lansing), who represented Meggison in the day-long Ingham Circuit Court trial, maintained the policement lost their right-of-way because they were "going at an illegal rate of speed." He said Meggison "yielded to what he saw."

Over the Hill? Shucks, Michigan Just Starting Up!

MACKINAC ISLAND (AP)—The president of Consumers Power Co. says Michigan "isn't over the hill — it is just well started on its upward climb."

Dan E. Karn, in a speech at a joint meeting of the Michigan Electric and Michigan Gas Associations, yesterday expressed faith that the state will pull itself out of its current financial difficulties.

"There is nothing wrong with Michigan that cannot and will not be corrected," Karn said. "Michigan is not poor; it is rich, ranking high among the states as to average income. It isn't over the hill — it is just well started on its upward climb."

The utility firm president said the state needs fewer people "who go off half-cocked on the basis of incomplete and inaccurate information" and more people "who take the trouble to obtain accurate information before they sound off."

Karn called the state's money problems "temporary."

GOP Tax Proposal Good for Michigan

LANSING (AP) — The chairman of the Senate Taxation Committee today cited out-of-state expansion plans by a Grand Rapids furniture manufacturer as an arguement for passage of the Republcian-backed use (sales) tax increase.

★ ★ ★

Sen. Clyde H. Geerlings (R-Holland) said Grand Rapids will lose about 400 potential jobs if Julius and Kenneth Bergsma, executives for three Grand Rapids furniture companies, carry out plans to build a new plant in Johnson City, Tenn.

The announcement came, he said, after Gov. Burford Ellington of Tennessee toured Michigan in an effort to attract new industry to his state.

★ ★ ★

"This is just another indication that we must exercise great discretion in the type of legislation we adopt in order to discourage rather than encourage raids on our industry and jobs," he said.

The GOP proposal to add a penny to the three-cent use tax will do more to attract new industry than the Democratic proposal for a combination personal and corporation income tax plan, he said.

"If it falls short in any respect, I, as one senator, stand fully ready to accept the responsibility," he said.

Hollywood Headlines

Diana, John Best Hopes of Barrymore Dynasty

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) —The passing of Ethel Barrymore erases the last of a great generation of America's first family of actors. The acting tradition goes back to the 1700s in the Barrymore-Drew line.

Lionel left no progeny. Ethel had three children, Sammy, John and Ethel Barrymore Colt. All have made stabs at the dramatic art, but without impressive results. Young Ethel has had some success as a singer.

★ ★ ★

The best chance for upholding the dynasty appears to lie with the children of John. Diana, his daughter by poetess Michael Strange, had great opportunity as a young actress.

But, as she titled her autobiography, it was a question of "Too Much, Too Soon." After baring her woes in literary and movie form, she has lately settled down to serious acting with some success.

★ ★ ★

John had a son and daughter by Dolores Costello. Dede did not pursue an acting acreer, but John Jr. leaped into the profession at 17.

He admitted that he stank in his first three films—"I got sick in my stomach after seeing each picture." He said if he didn't improve, he should "quit and find myself a trade."

At 27, he is still acting and has yet to break through the star barrier. Conscious of the constant comparison to his father, he adopted the name of John Drew Barrymore. He points out that his sire was 40 before reaching greatness as Hamlet.

★ ★ ★

It's ironic that relations were strained between the two acting hopes of the Barrymore family and their Aunt Ethel during her last years. She was aghast at Diana's public confessions, especially where they cast asperions on Ethel's beloved brother Jack.

Ethel had long declined to countenance her brother's didos, preferring to remember him as the dashing young Adonis of the theater.

★ ★ ★

The actress was estranged from young John in recent years. The rift became public when he walked out of a stage engagement in a dispute with the managers.

Ethel told the press that no Barrymore had ever done such a thing before.

Th relationships of the three great Barrymores were interesting. John and Lionel understood each other perfectly; they were as close as brothers could be, though Lionel preferred a quieter life than funloving John.

★ ★ ★

John and Ethel were affectionate, though he had a certain fear of his sister's reproof. Ethel and Lionel had a genuine respect for each other, but they weren't close. She was a strong Democrat and he was an equally ardent Republican, and that helped create a gap between them.

Charity Giving Rises

NEW YORK (UPI) — Philanthropical contributions increased 5.97 per cent and assets of gift-supported institutions increased more than $2 billion in 1958, according to the American Association of Fund Raising Counsel Inc. BY BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

One Sunday afternoon last Fall, a happy gang of little football players mobbed a young man dressed in black when he came onto the gridiron where a few minutes earlier a grid championship had just been decided.

When the happy melee ended the man in black looked like he had just finished playing four quarters of football with the kids.

His clothing and face were smeared with mud. His hat was all crumpled and the only thing that could save his black top coat was a good cleaning.

The little band of gridders were those from St. Benedict's parish on the West Side and the man who had just been given a mud bath was Fr. John J. Hoar.

★ ★ ★

This was a happy day, mud and all, for Fr. Hoar. It was one of his happiest moments in five years at St. Benedicts.

The sports-minded young priest was determined when he came to the new school he was going to give the kids of his parish some kind of athletic program, budget or no budget.

He scraped up old torn and tattered athletic uniforms and started an annual sports banquet which in four affairs has netted well over $4,000.

★ ★ ★

Most every youngster in the parish who qualified physically and by age participated in the athletic program and to them Fr. Hoar is an idol synonomous with good sports.

Like many other athletic teams, the St. Benedict squads took their drubbings when they started competition in the area CYO league.

For this reason that Sunday afternoon, the kids at St. Benedicts along with their parents, numbering nearly 2,000, momentarily gave little thought to priestly dignity when Fr. Hoar went out to help celebrate their victory.

★ ★ ★

It wasn't just the triumph which uncorked the victory celebration, but the fact that they wanted to win for the man who made it all possible.

It also meant so much because they knew that soon Fr. Hoar would be leaving them.

In a few weeks he will move to another young and growing parish where athletic needs of the youngsters are the same as when he came to St. Benedicts.

★ ★ ★

He won't be so far away that he will not be able to keep an eye on the West Side youngsters because he is moving to St. Williams Parish in Walled Lake.

But, the kids at St. Benedicts will still miss him and if there ever was a truer statement we can say—what is St. Benedict's loss is definitely St. Williams' gain.

Dykes Sees Schedule Aiding Tiger Hopes

Detroit Plays 42 of Next 60 Games at Home

Foytack Opens 14-Tilt Stand Tonight, Against Boston

DETROIT (UPI)—Jimmie Dykes, the man who has injected new life into the Tigers, said today the schedule could be the biggest asset in Detroit's bid for its first American League pennant in 14 years.

Dykes noted that 42 of Detroit's next 60 games will be played at home where the Tigers have posted 13 victories against only three losses since he became manager on May 2.

"Those home games should tell the story," Dykes said. "Actually, we've done very well on the road, but pennants are usually won or lost at home."

Detroit has played 32 road games since Dykes took over as manager and the Tigers won 19 of those starts.

★ ★ ★

"Actually, our schedule looks good only through late August," Dykes pointed out. "In September, we play only seven games at home. So we've got to take advantage of our heavy home schedule in the weeks ahead."

The Tigers open a 14-game home stand tonight against the Boston Red Sox and Dykes doubts that Al Kaline will see any service in the three games with Boston.

Kaline suffered a cheekbone fracture at Baltimore last Thursday.

"We'd sure like to use Al against Boston," Dykes said. "He's done some of his best hitting against the Red Sox. But he still gets pains when he looks down and it will probably be three or four days before he gets back in the lineup."

★ ★ ★

In nine games against Boston this season, Kaline has banged out 17 hits in 39 at bats, driven in 19 runs and connected for five home runs. Detroit has won six of the nine games with Boston.

Dykes said Kaline might be available for pinch-hitting before he's ready to return to center field.

"But that's strictly up to him," Dykes said. "He's as anxious to get back in action as we are to have him back. He'll be out there as soon as he is physically able."

★ ★ ★

Dykes still considers the New York Yankees the team to beat.

"They've won nine out of the last 10 years," he mused. "They have to be the team to beat. If we're one game up on them at the end of the season I think we'll be at the head of the pack.

"But this is the kind of year you can't be sure of anything. Any team that is within two or three games of .500 by the All Star game has a chance. And the way things are going all eight teams could be close to that figure at the halfway point of the season."

★ ★ ★

Dykes will send Paul Foytack, Don Mossi and Jim Bunning against the Red Sox in that order.

Foytack, who has rallied to a five won, six lost record, hasn't beaten Boston this season. He has lost twice to the Red Sox. Mossi hasn't faced the Red Sox this season, chiefly because Dykes has elected to use only right-handers at Boston where the left field wall is less than 300 feet from home plate.

Bunning will be pitching out of turn on Thursday but there is a good reason why he was shoved ahead of Frank Lary in the pitching rotation. Bunning has three straight victories over Boston this season and has always been a "hex" for the Red Sox. Last July, he fired a no hitter at them.

★ ★ ★

Boston will use Frank Sullivan (3-5) in tonight's series opener.

The Detroit home opener will also mark the 1st appearance of Ted Williams in 10 days. He has been benched for weak hitting. Manager Mike Higgins thinks if Ted is going to start improving on his .189 average, Briggs Stadium is the place to do it.

The big guy has always hit well in the Tiger park and will be playing there for the 1st time this year. Ex-Detroiter Vic Wertz will also be back in action for Boston after an injury.

Dodger Lefty Fans 16—Mantle's Homers Pace Yanks' Win

Koufax Just Misses Record

United Press International

They always said it couldn't be done — but Sandy Koufax can make rival batsmen look like worse hitters than he is.

Koufax, a Brooklyn-born $20,000-bonus baby who once sprained an ankle when he "tripped over the foul line" at Ebbets Field, looked like he finally is coming of age as a Major League pitcher Monday night when he struck out 16 batters while pitching the Dodgers to a 6-2 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies.

Koufax' performance fell one strikeout shy of the National League mark set by Dizzy Dean in 1933 but he did earn a couple of lines in the record book setting a night game high and matching the top marks for the club and all lefties.

Koufax struck out at least one batter in every inning up to the ninth. Three strikeouts in the final frame would have set a new Major League mark.

The Dodgers clinched the victory when they scored three runs in the fifth inning, the key blows being a two-run single by Gil Hodges and a run-producing single by John Roseboro. The Dodgers made only nine hits compared to 10 for the Phillies but they got seven walks. Eight Dodgers struck out, the game total of 24 for both clubs equalling a Major League record.

Mickey Mantle drove in six runs with two homers and a triple to lead the New York Yankees to an 11-6 victory over the Kansas City Athletics and rookie Eddie Fisher won his Major League debut as the San Francisco Giants downed the Pittsburgh Pirates, 4-1, in the only other big league action.

Mantle sent the Yankees off winging with a two-run homer in the first inning, tripled with two aboard in the fifth and connected for his second two-run homer in the seventh. Bill Skowron also homered for the Yankees to help relief pitcher Bobby Shantz win his second game.

Fisher yielded only three hits in seven innings and Al Worthington cleaned up in the eighth and ninth for the Giants, who handed Ron Kline his fourth loss by scoring four runs in the seventh inning. Jack Brandt started the rally with a double and other key blows were a triple by pinch-hitter Leon Wagner and a double by Willie Kirkland.

FANS 16 — Los Angeles pitcher Sandy Koufax set a Major League night game record last night when he struck out 16 Phillies in a 6-2 victory. He was one short of tying Dizzy Dean's NL high.

WIMBLEDON SURPRISE — Earl Buchholz, a St. Louis prep star, scored a major upset on the opening day of the Wimbledon championships yesterday downing third-seeded Nicola Pietrangeli of Italy in four sets.

Buchholz Stars at Wimbledon

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — "I want to turn professional. In fact I can hardly wait," said Earl Buchholz today in as blunt a statement as any tennis player has made in years.

★ ★ ★

Young Buchholz of St. Louis, Mo., whipped third seeded Nicola Pietrangeli of Italy in the first round of the Wimbledon championships yesterday.

He scored a 6-4, 3-6, 7-5, 7-5 victory over the Italian star.

Buchholz's was by far the top performance of opening day at the 73rd tourney.

★ ★ ★

In two other notable matches the only former Wimbleton winners in the singles took beatings from young, little known opponents —1950 winner Budge Patty of Paris and Los Angeles losing to Jon Douglas, late of the University of Stanford football backfield, and 1954 winner Jaroslav Drobny, the Czech - Egyptian-Londoner, bowing to Alan Mills of England.

Alex Olmedo of Peru, seeded first, and onetime University of Michigan star Barry MacKay seeded fifth, won easily.

The ladies took over the main stages at Wimbleton today for their first and second round matches. The top three ladies, England's Christine Truman and Angela Mortimer and the United States' Beverly Baker Fleitz of Santa Monica, Calif., were the crowd pullers in their opening matches.

Wimbledon shakes down to the ladies' championship match July 3 and the men's July 4.

Indoor Ring Becomes Stable

Show Horses Jam BOH

There were so many show horses on hand today, for the beginning of the 42nd annual Detroit Horse Show that many have been stabled in the BOH indoor riding ring.

★ ★ ★

The entry was estimated at this time as being between 400 and 450 horses, a record total for the state's biggest horse show. It marks the first time in years the indoor ring has been converted to stabling purposes.

Junior riders held the interest today, in an all-day competition. Other junior events were schedued for Wednesday, when the real competition gets under way. With morning, afternoon and evening programs each day through Sunday, area horse show fans will be afforded some of the finest riding and jumping exhibitions anywhere. Both riders and horses represent just about the best in the nation.

Most of the fine horses that competed in the annual Grosse Pte. show, last weekend, are now quartered at the Bloomfield Open Hunt club. They included the Pointe's jumper champion, Windsor Castle, central figure in what is said to be the biggest deal for a jumper, in U. S. horse show annals. The Castle was sold by Carl Miller for $25,000.

Today, there was talk around the BOH that Miller received a $35,000 offer just after completing the sale to Si Jayne and Harold Marzano of Chicago. Windsor Castle, off his performance, with little pro Dorothy McLeod aboard, at Grosse Pte. is a big favorite for the DHS crown at this meeting.

Floyd Edgy, Sharp as Title Fight Nears

Trouble for Johansson?

CHATHAM, N.J. (AP)—Floyd Patterson may prove his right to greatness or the right to be called "a good champion" on Thursday night.

That's the avowed aim of the heavyweight champion and it may spell a lot of trouble for Ingemar Johansson when the two meet in their title bout at Yankee Stadium.

"He's like a restless panther," said Patterson's trainer, Dan Florio, after the champion finished his boxing drills with a vicious two round workout yesterday.

"I've never seen him so determined before," said Florio who has been with Patterson even since he turned pro after winning the Olympic 165 pound title. "He's on edge and he's getting meaner every day.

★ ★ ★

"I've never seen him like this before a fight. He's growling. Everything I do seems to be wrong with him. I just hope he stays that way. As far as his sharpness goes, right now he's a 100 per cent better than he was for Brian London."

The 24-year-old champion left no doubt that he hoped to prove beyond a shadow of doubt that he rates being recognized with at least "good heavyweight champions."

Patterson will wind up his training with roadwork and loosening up exercises today and roadwork tomorrow. Then he will head for New York to rest until Thursday's weigh-in.

★ ★ ★

Johansson completed his running Thursday and his boxing Saturday. He went shooting yesterday morning and then disappeared from the camp in the afternoon to avoid further interviews.

★ ★ ★

A two-hit shutout by Class D hurler Chuck Kirken featured opening day in the Pontiac Parks & Recreation junior baseball program Monday.

★ ★ ★

Hurling for Lytell-Colegrove, Kirken struck out 12 to best Norm Hoffman and Pontiac Boys Club 2-0. A single by Jim Sholte coupled with two walks and an error in the 5th produced the runs.

Auburn Heights Boys Club and Lake Orion were "E" victors in night action. Auburn walloped J & R Auto Stores 10-5 while Orion was tripping West Bloomfield 10-6.

★ ★ ★

Auburn led all the way and held off a big 7th inning rally. West Bloomfield had the hitting edge 12 to 10 but couldn't make them count. Three of the 10 bingles went for extra bases.

Two 300s for Lubanski

Newell Satisfied, Stays With Bears

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP)—"I'm satisfied and all set now."

So said Pete Newell today after deciding to continue as basketball coach at the University of California where his clubs won three Pacific Coast Conference titles and the 1959 NCAA crown.

★ ★ ★

Newell, unhappy over some questions of athletic policy at California, had considered a move to the University of Washington.

Pirates Conquer Jets Again, 3-2

Those pesty Pirates got in the hair of the Jets again yesterday, handing the defending Class A City League baseball champs a 3-2 defeat at Wisner Field.

Two runs in the top of the 5th inning broke a 1-1 tie and kept the road rocky for the Jets, who can't find a steady winning combination this season.

Jim Jones hurled the distance for the Jets and allowed five safeties in addition to making two of his team's seven hits against the combined offerings of starter John York and Demrick. York was the winning pitcher.

Gary Mouw Winner of Junior District

Gary Mouw, Birmingham High School golf star, survived an erratic start to win the Junior District's first 18-hole tournament of the season yesterday at Oakland Hills.

Mouw took a double-bogey six on the 1st hole, bounced back with an eagle three on the 2nd hole and went on to shoot 34-39—73, one over par, for a two-stroke edge over Chuck Newton of Ann Arbor, who carded 36-39—75.

Tom Fry of Oakland Hills won the 1st flight with 41-44—85 and Cindy Liddell of Washtenaw was tops in the girls' division with 52-47—99. There were 119 boys and 16 girls in the field, the largest entry in Junior District history.

'Fat' Over Mazur in 1-0 Struggle

Sno-Bol pushed one run across the plate in the 7th inning to defeat Stadium Inn, 1-0, and gave Harlan (Fat) Keith a hard-earned victory over Jake Mazur in a brilliant battle of two-hitters to highlight last night's City League softball action at Beaudette and Northside parks.

★ ★ ★

Mazur had a no-hitter working for him until the top of the 7th while Keith had given up singles to Jim Bird and Howie Willis in the 4th and 6th innings. In the 7th a single by Marshall Rose and Jerry Hesse's follow-up double ruined Mazur's no-hit effort and handed him a hard-luck defeat.

★ ★ ★

In other games yesterday, Arro Realty scored twice in the top half of the 8th stanza for a 7-5 extra-inning victory over Autos of Europe and the Moose clubbed 16 hits, three each by Jack Avery and George Byrd, for a 14-3 rout of Buttercup Drive-In.

★ ★ ★

Elks No. 810 won the easy way, gaining a forfeit decision over Casa Mia in the other scheduled contest.

Clarkston Man Wins Handicap Golf Tourney

Charles Galbraith of Clarkston, a six-handicap, player, saw to it that Clarkston Golf Club's 4th annual Open Handicap golf tournament last weekend was a local success story.

★ ★ ★

Galbraith won the 18-hole tourney with a net score of 67. He toured the nine-hole Clarkston course in 73 actual strokes on rounds of 36-37 compared to par 35-35—70.

★ ★ ★

Everett MacDougald of Royal Oak also shot an actual 36-37—73, but his two-stroke handicap forced him to settle for runnerup honors with a net total of 71.

Gary Atwell of Lake Orion took 3rd place with 82-8—74, followed by Ortonville's Robert MacGregor at 81-6—75. Thirty-six players competed in the event.

Pontiac Skipper Wins Unusual Yacht Race

It takes a sharp skipper to cover a cruiser racing course in seconds of the time he predicts prior to start of this unusual boating competition.

★ ★ ★

But John Landmesser, 2305 Cheltenham, Pontiac, turned the trick close to perfection in last weekend's St. Clair Yacht Club's predicted log time race. He was first with his 40-foot cruiser Business Sails, setting up an accumulative error of only 1.21 per cent, to pace the 2nd such accuracy test held on the Detroit Rver.

★ ★ ★

Landmesser hit the eight check points on the 26 mile course with a maximum error of less than 16 seconds at any point, compared with his predicted time. His total elapsed time was 1:22.30 and he was exactly on his time at the finish.

★ ★ ★

On the cruiser for the race were Mrs. Landmesser, the skipper's mother; Mrs. Griffith from Albany, N.Y.; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hall, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Howey, all from Pontiac.

Lake Orion Takes Lead in Avon Church Loop

Lake Orion RLDS grabbed first place in the Avondale Church Softball League yesterday with a 7-3 victory over United Presbyterian. Dick Berry homered for Lake Orion, which now has a 6-1 record.

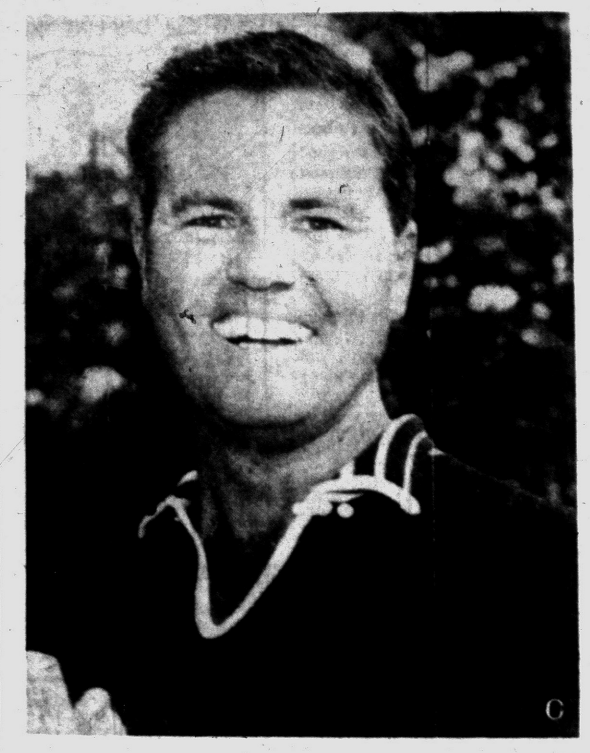
Harbert Putts to PGA Title



Chick Takes 6th Michigan Crown With 137 Total

Gene Bone, Burkemo Share Runnerup Honors at Lakepointe CC

By BILL CORNWELL

Torrid putting and deadly chipping propelled scrambling Chick Harbert to his 6th Michigan PGA golf championship Monday at tricky Lakepointe Country Club.

Harbert has been a deluxe scrambler many times in his long and illustrious career, but seldom has the long-hitting Meadowbrook professional scrambled better than he did yesterday.

He one-putted 18 greens and required only 56 putts for the 36-hole route while compiling rounds of 68-69—137, three under par, to win the PGA crown by two strokes.

Dividing runnerup honors were Pontiac's Gene Bone, who had an excellent chance to win the event, and tournament-hardened Walter Burkemo of Franklin Hills.

★ ★ ★

Bone, who led the 77-man field at the end of the first round, fired scores of 67 and 72 for a total of 139. Burkemo, who finished with 32 strokes on the back nine, posted the same total on rounds of 71-68.

Harbert, Bone and Burkemo were the only pros in the tourney to equal or better par over the par 35-35—70 Lakepointe course, which looks easier than it plays.

Monroe's Ben Lula, Tom Talkington of Washtenaw and Saginaw pro Bill Markham shared 3rd place at 141 and veteran Eldon Briggs of Detroit Golf Club was alone in 4th spot with 142. Lula had a closing round of 67, featuring a 32 on the back side.

★ ★ ★

Joe Thacker of Knollwood shot a hole-in-one and it helped him to a piece of 5th position at 143 with Max Evans of Glen Oaks and host pro John Dalrymple. Thacker aced the 125-yard 6th hole with his 8-iron.

Harbert now owns more State PGA titles than any other Michigan pro except aging Al Watrous of Oakland Hills, who has won it nine times. Harbert's past state crowns came in 1946, 1947, 1949, 1950 and 1953.

Harbert's putter possessed the magic touch yesterday. He dropped them into the cup from all angles and distances, ranging from an eight-inch putt for a par three after a tremendous trap explosion to a 25-footer for a bogey six following an out-of-bounds tee shot. Chick wound up the day with seven birdies.

Bone, the 27-year-old Warwick Hills pro who was playing in his first PGA event, squandered his opportunity for a victorious debut by going three above par in a two-hole stretch early in the second round.

He bogied the 4th hole, then skidded to a double bogey six on No. 5 and the lapse was fatal. Harbert passed Bone at that point and Gene could never recover the deficit. Bone had a total of eight birdies.

HAPPY CHICK — Chick Harbert has that happy look and well he might. The veteran Meadowbrook pro won the Michigan PGA golf title for the 6th time Monday at Lakepointe Country Club with a 36-hole total of 137, three below par. Harbert carded nine-hole scores of 33-35-33-36 for a two-stroke edge over Pontiac's Gene Bone and Wally Burkemo of Franklin Hills, who tied for 2nd.

5 County Golfers Qualify for National Public Links

Five Oakland County golfers, headed by Pontiac's Wally Smith, qualified for the National Public Links golf tournament Monday in 36-hole sectional trials at Orchard Lake and Tam O'Shanter Country Clubs.

★ ★ ★

Smith, the Royal Oak policeman, fired a one-over-par 73 at Orchard Lake and added a 75 over the par 71 Tam O'Shanter course for a total of 148, a figure matched by Al Krol of Detroit.

Rounding out the list of county qualifiers were Stan Sabat of Birmingham, who carded 149, and Bill (Buster) Pembroke, Mike Andonian and Veikko Juhola, all at 150.

Cass Jawor, a 24-year-old elementary school teacher who resides in Dearborn, ran away with medal honors yesterday. Jawor, who measures 5-foot-6 and weighs 140 soaking wet, scored 69 at Orchard and 73 at Tam for a one-under-par 142 to lead the list of nine players who are now eligible for the national tourney.

Completing the qualifying list were Doug Wilson of Ypsilanti, runnerup with 147, and Detroit's Jay Law at 150.

Pontiac's Charley Barker gained the No. 1 alternate position by defeating Jim Briegel of Ann Arbor on the 3rd hole of a sudden-death playoff after the two men finished in a tie at 151.

★ ★ ★

An all-time record total of 321 was entered in the trials, 299 actually started and 176 carried on to the afternoon round after the 18-hole cut, which knocked 85-or-higher shooters out of the field.

Prosperity Spurs Installment Buying

Americans Going Deeper in Debt

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — There's nothing like good times to get Americans further into debt.

On-the-cuff buying is climbing faster than ever before. Mortgage totals are rising. Credit cards multiply despite some grumbling from restaurant owners.

More Americans plan to take their vacations first and pay later. Banks are offering their own versions of consumer credit. Stores promote new credit plans as well as the old charge accounts.

★ ★ ★

About an eighth of every dollar left over after taxes now goes for time payments.

The reason for the big spurt in borrowing to buy?

Credit and sales executives say it's because more people are working and making more money and are confident of holding their jobs. With times good they are willing to go in debt to have the things they want now.

Inflation psychology—fear that the dollar you save today may not buy so much next year—is also making consumers willing to buy on time, hoping to pay off later with a cheaper dollar.

★ ★ ★

To some the big boom in consumer credit is reminiscent of 1955 when Americans went on their last big buying spree.

As in 1955 the big gainer this year has been installment credit for auto purchases. But there is increased on-the-cuff buying of appliances, clothing, home furnishings and repairs, and of such newcomers as boats, trailers and travel.

Latest Federal Reserve Board figures show that April set a record for any month in the amount of new installment debt—just short of four billion dollars. This brought the total to 34½ billion dollars and total consumer credit to 45 billion dollars, or 2¼ billion more than a year ago.

★ ★ ★

Consumer finance companies report nearly 3¼ billion dollars of personal cash installment loans outstanding at the end of April. Credit unions' total outstanding loans rose 54 million dollars during March.

The Federal Home Loan Bank Board reports that nonfarm mortgage recordings of $20,000 or less in the first four months of 1959 were 35 per cent higher than in the same period last year. At the end of 1958 the mortgage total was put at 118 billion dollars, a gain of 9.7 per cent for the year.

★ ★ ★

Many of the larger stores have been luring the credit trade with special plans. A popular one allows the customer to add an unlimited amount to his account each month while paying a fixed sum—usually from 15 to 25 per cent—of his monthly balance. This might go on forever. About 10 per cent of the department stores now do this and the National Retail Merchants Assn. prdicts 90 per cent will within five years.

The credit card business still booms. This method of eating, traveling and buying consumer goods by signing the chit and being billed at the end of the month is now honored by thousands of restaurants, hotels and other forms of business.

The Diners Club now handles 140 million dollars of credit billings a year, a gain of 55 per cent in 12 months time. The Hilton Credit Corp. is estimated to be doing a 100 million dollars a year business. American Express is reported to be in the same class.

★ ★ ★

How about the old-fashioned man who pays cash? Well, some card clubs are coming to his aid, too.

★ ★ ★

The Rozee Bonus Card Club of New York claims 200,000 members who pay $5 a year for a card good for a 10 per cent cash discount at 2,500 restaurants and hotels. The Discount Club of America says 5,000 retailers of goods and services honor its cards. Baltimore is the home of the Executive Travel Club.

Chicago has Entre, with 10 gourmet-type restaurants as clients, where the card bearer pays full price for his meal but takes along one guest for free.

Kaiser Relinquishes Four-Industry Control

NEW YORK (AP) — Henry J. Kaiser, 77-year-old industrialist, said today he has stepped down as acting chief of the four major companies in the wide-ranging industrial empire he founded.

★ ★ ★

Kaiser, still chairman of the group's controlling company, Kaiser Industries Corp., said he has assumed the new post of founder-chairman of the four subsidiary firms.

The reshuffling results in these new presidents and chief executive officers: J. L. Ashby at Kaiser Steel Corp.; S. A. Girard at Willys Motors, Inc.; W. A. Marsh at Permanente Cement Co.; and D. A. Rhoades at Kaiser Aluminum & Chemical Corp.

★ ★ ★

All four formerly served as vice president and general manager of their respective organizations.

Kaiser was chairman and president of Kaiser Steel, Kaiser Aluminum, and Permanente as well as chairman of Willys Motors.

Edgar F. Kaiser, formerly president of Willys Motors, and vice president of the other three subsidiaries, has become chairman of all four organizations.

Area Women Attend Annual Hospital Meet

Representatives of the Women's Service Committee of William Beaumont Hospital Monday attended the 10th Annual Meeting of the Michigan Association of Hospital Auxiliaries. The affair was held at the Sheraton Cadillac Hotel, Detroit.

Beaumont volunteers exhibited a poster showing their services in the project parade at the meeting. Mrs. Earl W. Rohrbacher designed the poster which tells the story of 530 volunteers giving over 32,000 hours to the hospital in one year. The poster won a blue ribbon for the most practical service project at a recent meeting of the Detroit Area Council of Hospital Auxiliaries.

Members of the Women's Service Committee attending were Mrs. Palmer E. Sutton, president of the group; Mrs. Howard S. Christie, one of the hostesses for the day; Mrs. Lyman Craig Jr., Mrs. William G. Meese, Mrs. Vincent P. Russell, Mrs. Lorenz W. Sievers, Mrs. James Tracey and Mrs. Merrill C. White.

Trading Quiets on Stock Mart

NEW YORK (AP)—Steels and motors were pretty firm while oils were soft in a mixed market early today. Trading quieted after a lively opening.

Gains and losses of most key stocks were fractional. A few specially situated issues made wider moves.

Aluminums backed away narrowly at the start from the gains made in their rally of yesterday then began to firm. Alcoa eased. Reynolds Metals dropped a fraction. Aluminium Ltd. steadied after a slight loss. Kaiser Aluminum was up a fraction.

The major steelmakers — U.S. Steel, Bethlehem, Republic and Jones & Laughlin—were steady to a bit higher.

The big three motors, except for Chrysler which eased, held firm. American Motors picked up a fraction.

7,400,000 Employed in Trucking Industry

DETROIT (AP)—The manufacture, sale, service or use of motor trucks employs 7,400,000 persons in the United States, the Automobile Manufacturers Assn. reported today.

The figure represents one of every 10 employed men and women in the nation.

In the survey of the trucking industry, the AMA reported that 11,200,000 trucks were in use on U.S. streets and highways in 1958, an all-time record. These trucks traveled more than 113 billion miles.

Three million of the trucks are located on farms.

Truck production in 1958 fell below the one million mark for the first time since 1946. But this year it is running almost 50 per cent ahead of last year with some 650,000 units due to be built for the first six months.

The AMA figures that one of every five trucks produced is exported.

Grain Trading Active, Steady

CHICAGO (AP)—Except for scattered selling of soybean and distant rye contracts, the grain futures market held within a narrow price range during the first several minutes of dealings today on the Board of Trade.

Some of the light pressure on soybeans was described as profit-taking, and followed issuance of a private report that virtually all early planted soybeans in major producing areas are making excellent growth.

After about an hour wheat was ¼ cent a bushel higher to ⅛ lower on 1959 crop contracts, July $1.87, and the 1960 crop months ⅜ higher; corn unchanged to ⅜ lower, July $1.26⅛; oats unchanged to ⅝ lower, July new type contract 65⅝; rye ¼ higher to ⅝ lower, July $1.23¾; soybeans ⅜ to 1⅛ lower, July $2.24¼.

Air Force Contracts Increasing in State

DETROIT (UPI) — Air Force missile and electronics contracts are coming into Michigan in increasing numbers, according to the chief of the Detroit air procurement district.

★ ★ ★

Lt. Col. Leland P. Money, chief of the district which handles Air Force business in Michigan and Canada, said military orders are being filled in Michigan at the rate of $23,000,000 a month. This compares with $20,000,000 a month in January, 1958.

Unfilled orders in the state have increased from $114,000,000 to $208,000,000 during the same period, Money said.

★ ★ ★

"The biggest part of the Air Force business in Michigan is still in parts for manned aircraft," he stated. "However, the firm supplying parts for manned aircraft more and more are getting into the missile business."

House Group to Dig Into Food 'Collusion'

WASHINGTON (UPI)—House investigators vowed today they would dig "deeper and deeper" into charges the big food chains have conspired to set prices which the housewife pays for the family groceries.

A witness told a house small business subcommittee yesterday that he was "positive" there was such collusion.

Rep. James Roosevelt (D-Calif), chairman of the House unit, said his investigators plan to make a detailed inquiry of the allegation and also other charges. Among them is the claim that small businessmen are being "frozen out" of new shopping centers because lending institutions will finance only the big food chains.

Senate Decision Loss to Hospital

Rejects Proposal to Lift Limit on Charges for Afflicted Children

Pontiac General Hospital's drive for sharp increases in state allowances for care of crippled and afflicted children received a partial setback yesterday.

The Senate in Lansing rejected a move to lift ceilings on allowances and, instead, accepted an appropriations committee recommendation providing $22 instead of the present $19 for daily care of crippled children, and $14 instead of the present $12 for afflicted child cases.

A proposal by Sen. Perry W. Greene (R-Grand Rapids) for paying hospitals actual costs lost by three votes, 12-15.

This is the proposal that Pontiac General advanced this spring. It was taken up in the Legislature by the Michigan Hospital Association.

The Michigan Crippled Children's Commission also was on Pontiac General's side.

BIG LOSSES

The Pontiac hospital estimated that it lost $37,406 last year because ceilings on state aid didn't allow the Crippled Children's Commission to pay actual costs of treatment.

St. Joseph Mercy Hospital also went on record against the ceilings, saying its loss on state aid patients amounted to $49,842.

As originally introduced, the Senate legislation would have allowed the Crippled Children's Commission to determine "reasonable" patient costs at each Michigan hospital treating state-aid patients.

But the appropriations committee killed this provision. Instead, it recommended four million dollars be set aside, $2,250,000 for afflicted care and $1,750,000 for crippled care.

This is less than the $4,350,000 which the commission asked but more than the $3.6 million recommended in Governor William's budget.

★ ★ ★

The bill will go to the House after final action in the Senate, expected later this week.

Finance Prexy Predicts Rise in Auto Sales

PORT HURON (AP)—An auto finance company president predicted today that sales of new cars will jump by 25 per cent during the next 10 years.

Alan G. Rude, president of Universal C.I.T. Credit Corp. said the new car market should reach 7½ million by the end of the 1960s. The market this year will be six million plus, including imports.

Rude said the use of credit in buying cars will expand at an even greater rate. He predicted it would total more than 25 billion dollars annually by the late '60s compared with today's total of about 16 billion.

Rude spoke at the annual convention of the Michigan Automobile Dealers Assn.

He said that despite the rosy prospects period business downturns still will occur "and the time to prepare for them is right now — not after the downturn — with continued sound management and constant attention to customer relations."

Watchmakers to Meet

Jaycee Park Shelter Dedicated

The latest civic accomplishment of the Pontiac Area Junior Chamber of Commerce received recognition last night.

A $6,000 park shelter at Jaycee Park was dedicated during brief ceremonies before a small gathering of teenage baseball players and their parents.

Appearing were Clyle R. Haskill, Jaycee president; Mayor Philip E. Rowston; David R. Ewalt, director of the Parks & Recreation Department and the Rev. Galen E. Hershey, associate pastor of First Presbyterian Church.

"The Jaycees have taken another important step towards an improved community, provided with more and better facilities," said Rowston.

"We feel that, with this facility available, the park now will be used by many, many more families," said Haskill.

Located at Joslyn Ave., and Walton Blvd., Jaycee Park has grown during the six years Jaycees have had it under their wing.

Jaycees have donated $10,000 to park improvements, $2,000 a year. Coupled with matching city funds, this money has brought about four baseball diamonds, a large picnic area with tables and stoves, and extensive land clearance, grading and seeding.

The park has become a baseball center, with a dozen teams playing league matches there every day.

Ewalt outlined further plans for the park, which he hoped the Jaycees would support.

★ ★ ★

Lighted shuffleboard, horseshoe and tennis courts should be the next additions, rounding out the park's attractions, he said.

The Jaycee Womens' Auxiliary is raising money for a play area for small children, he said.

OK of Waterford Budget Means 15 on Police Force

Nearly in sight in Waterford Township, as a result of last night's approval of a record budget of $439,145, is an 18-man police fore a legal decision resulted in a fore a court decision ordered a personnel cut two years ago.

Township trustees approved the township budget, which, among other things, provides for five additional men for the Police Dept. replacements and necessary emerficers, including its own fire chief.

Approval of the $88,700 appropriation for the police, an increase of $28,800 over last year's actual expenditures of $59,900, will bring the police force to 15.

This is just three short of the department's largest numner of employes before it was slashed two years ago due to an attorney general's opinion.

The opinion prohibited the use of traffic violation fines to be used for Police Dept. operational costs. At that time, the township had 18 personnel and operated on a $100,000 annual budget.

The controversial opinion forced the township to lay off many officers, leaving but four.

Patrolmen will be on five-day instead of the six-day schedules now in operation. Besides Police Chief Millard J. Pender, there will be a lieutenant, two detectives, three sergeants, six patrolmen, and two radio operator-typists.

The township Fire Dept. will now have its own full-time fire chief with a starting salary of $6,500. An assistant fire chief is expected to be named, along with one other full-time man to be hired by the township board.

The Fire Dept. budget calls for $73,400, or a $13,400 increase over last year's submitted budget of $60,000. However, due to sick leave replacements and necessar emergency equipment, the department actually spent $75,229 for its 1958-59 operations.

In submitting his budget, Pender said that with the additional five men on the payroll, he will now promote some of the regular patrolmen with seniority up to sergeants and detectives.

Approval of the budget will also allow the department's station to be open 24 hours each day, he said, giving the township better and more efficient service.

At the present time the Oakland County Sheriff's Department takes Waterford Township calls and relays them to the patrol car when the station is not open. The new operation will enable calls to be directed to the patrol car.

The additional men will mean two men can be used in the car on the midnight shift, Pender said.

Due to the increase in follow-up work and investigation, two men will be assigned to this task.

OKS WATER

"This will also give us a chance to work on a crime prevention program, which this department hasn't been able to do in the past," he said.

Besides the full-time fire chief, the Fire Dept. budget called for two captains, a lieutenant and five full-time firemen, with salaries totaling $51,550 including the extra help.

★ ★ ★

This will give the men a 63-hour work week rather than the 72½-hour week they presently have.

Eight men will work 24 hours on and 24 hours off, with the fire chief supervising all three township stations.

A new $18,000 fully equipped fire truck is scheduled for delivery in late August to replace the 17-year-old machine at station 2.

Commission to Probe Lake Michigan Oil Slick

LANSING (UPI)—Oil floating on Lake Michigan will get the attention of the Water Resources Commission at its meeting Thursday, Executive Secretary Milton P. Adams said today.

A heavy concentration on beaches in Berrien County and several off-shore patches have been under investigation, Adams said.

He said floating oil had been reported at Holland and Grand Haven.

The commission will hear reports from a regional engineer who has investigated the situation, members of the attorney general's staff and commission staff members, Adams said.

Is Able to Save One Daughter; Other Drowns

NYSSA, Ore. (AP)—Angel Martinez had to make a choice when his stepdaughters sank while wading in the treacherous Snake River. He saved one and the other drowned. So did a deaf-mute brother who tried to save the girl Martinez lost.

The victims were Magdalena Ribera, 11, and her brother, Reyes, 13. Martinez managed to save Guadalupe Ribera, 9. He said he grabbed at one of the girls but had to let go to save the other.

Martin Ribera, 15, also a deaf-mute, ran for help. He used gestures to alert a farmer working in a field nearby.

No Unknown Hazards Found Near Bradley Site

DETROIT (AP)—No unknown or uncharted navigation hazards have been found in the vicinity of the sinking of the freighter Carl D. Bradley in northern Lake Michigan, Army Engineers reported today.

The Bradley sank during a storm last Nov. 18. Only two of a crew of 35 men survived.

An investigation to determine whether there were any navigation hazards in the area near Gull Island has been completed by the U.S. lake survey of the Army Corps of Engineers.

Million Dollar Harbor for Mackinac Considered

LANSING (UPI) — The Waterways Commission is considering a five-year plan for a one-million dollar harbor development program on Mackinac Island. Commission Director Keith Wilson said today.

Wilson said the commission, which is expected to get jurisdiction of the present yacht dock at the island under a House-approved bill now before the Senate, considers the present facilities "inadequate."

Wilson said priority consideration should be given to adding at least 200 feet to the existing 200-foot breakwater, which does not provide sufficient refuge in a strong east wind.

The commission also would like to modify the existing yacht dock to double its present 20-boat berth capacity. Long-range plans call for a further increase in the capacity, he said.

Compromise Housing Bill Awaits House Approval

WASHINGTON (AP) — A chopped-down housing bill distasteful to many Democrats and not at all certain of White House approval awaited final House action today.

The compromise $1,375,000,000 omnibus measure was approved late Monday by the Senate and was expected to clear the House today.

What will happen when it reaches President Eisenhower is a matter of speculation. The strong possibility of a veto was raised Monday when Housing Administrator Norman P. Mason said the bill would cost too much and is not in the interests of most Americans.

★ ★ ★

The 56-31 Senate vote was well short of the two-thirds needed to override a veto. It also provided a smaller margin than the 60-28 vote by which the Senate earlier had passed a larger bill.

★ ★ ★

Michigan's two Democratic senators, Patrick V. McNamara and Philip Hart, voted for a compromise $1,375,000,000 housing bill as it passed the Senate yesterday. The vote was 56-31.

McNamara and Hart also voted together in the 44-40 Senate passage of a wheat control bill. The action sent the measure to President Eisenhower.

Sen. John Sparkman (D-Ala), who helped hammer out the compromise, noted that its total was below what Eisenhower originally requested. Much of the reduction was accomplished by providing a two-year program rather than one for six years as Eisenhower suggested. Sparkman said he thought the President should sign it.

★ ★ ★

But Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, Republican leader, said he didn't see how the President could approve the measure.

★ ★ ★

The Senate vote came only after a sharp debate in which Northern Democrats heavily assailed the strategy of chopping down economic bills to try to avert vetos.

LED ATTACK

Sen. Joseph S. Clark (D-Pa) led the attack on it because of the reduction in the urban renewal program. He voted for it in the end because he said he had no alternative.

But Clark declared that the Democratic presidential nomination would not be worth much next year unless the Congress wrote a stronger record of action on the party's campaign promises.

★ ★ ★

Some Republicans argued that the bill was too big despite the cuts. They said that the reductions really were "sleight-of-hand" tricks which left the programs still much larger than the President wanted on an annual basis.

Sen. Wallace F. Bennett (R-Utah) said that the total in the bill did not cover the cost of the 45,000 public housing units authorized.

STUMBLING BLOCK

Major stumbling block in the path of House approval was removal of an original House provision requiring Appropriations Committee clearance each year of money to implement the authorizations.

The Senate originally passed a $2,675,000,000 authorization measure which the House cut to $2,100,000,000 compared with the $1,650,000,000 in future authorizations suggested by the President.

★ ★ ★

Major slash in the compromise was in the urban renewal program by which the government makes grants to cities to help purchase slum sites for redevelopment. The new bill provides for a two-year extension of this program at a total cost of 900 million dollars. The President called for a six-year $1,350,000,000 program.

Overturned Tug Claims 3 Lives

Attempt to Bring in Disabled Grain Carrier Ends in Drownings

COLLINGWOOD, Ont. (AP)—A veteran Great Lakes captain and two seamen were drowned yesterday when the tug Bayport overturned as she was trying to tow a disabled grain carrier about two miles off this Georgian Bay port.

Capt. Percy Butters, 65, and Edwin McCoy, 49, were seen in the water for only a short time after the mishap. Ken McInnis, 49, was trapped in the engine room and went down with the 75-foot tug in about 40 feet of water.

Three other members of the crew were rescued.

The Bayport was attempting to take over the tow of the 7,000-ton Mohawk Deer from another freighter, the C. D. Secord. The Bayport and the Secord both had lines on the Mohawk Deer when the Secord pulled ahead suddenly and flipped the tug on her side.

★ ★ ★

A lifeboat from the Mohawk Deer picked up the three survivors. One, Reg Watts, about 50, foreman of a shipyard rigging crew, was clinging to a lifebelt while keeping Jack Scott, 53, and Bruce Gillis, 24, from stepping under.

Watts and Gillis apparently suffered no ill effects but Scott was treated for shock.

Another tug took the survivors to shore and then returned for the Mohawk Deer.

The Mohawk Deer was being brought to a shipyard in Collingwood for repairs to her main shaft, which was disabled last week about 30 miles off Long Point in Lake Erie.

Welland Canal Open After Ship Holdup

ST. CATHARINES, Ont. (AP)—The Welland canal, jinx of the St. Lawrence seaway, went into partial operation last night.

With repairs to a damaged lock completed, the 27½-mile canal opened its gates at 9:30 p.m. to admit the first pair of the 47 upbound ships gathered at the Port Weller entrance on Lake Ontario.

Downbound traffic will be held up until tonight to allow concrete to settle at the damaged lock near Thorold.

All shipping along the waterway was halted Sunday by a broken timber sill in the Thorold lock gate. A mile section of the canal was drained.

The 47 ships delayed on their upbound journey and another 25 waiting at the Port Colborne entrance on Lake Erie constituted the greatest number to be halted in the numerous traffic tieups along the canal this year.

Among the ships lined up in Lake Ontario were two U.S. Navy supply vessels, the vanguard of an American fleet passing through the Seaway. The U.S. flotilla of 28 vessels is heading for Chicago for an exhibition.

Residents of Sark Object to Party Thrown for Meg

SARK, Channel Islands (AP)—Nearly half the residents of this tiny island in the English Channel boycotted a garden party Monday for Princess Margaret.

Some objected to a requirement that they stay at the party 45 minutes after the royal visitor left. Others were resentful because they rarely receive invitations from the Dame of Sark.

Only 190 of the island's 367 residents turned out for the reception on the grounds of the Georgian home of Sibyl Hathaway, the Dame of Sark and the island's uncrowned queen.

Joan Adams, a carpenter's wife, stood at the door of her cottage and told newsmen: "None of the islands has ever been invited before to a big do at Mrs. Hathaways. That's why many of us decided to give this chance a miss."

One sure way to get your girl to meet you on time is to have her meet you in front of a jewelry store . . . You see fewer wallflowers at parties these days (reports D. O. Flynn) — and a lot more of the potted variety. —Earl Wilson.

SIMPLE RIG LAUNCHES ATLAS — A new simplified launching system for the Atlas ICBM has been developed to eliminate huge gantry crane usually employed. The missile is stored horizontally, below, clamped by the nose on a 70-foot erector boom. In less than two minutes, the boom swings the weapon upright to be fueled and fired, right. Clamp released the boom is taken away. The 100-ton Atlas is lifted into this position by a 75-horsepower electric motor. First new installation will be made at Warren Air Force Base, Wyo.

Rockefeller Support Grows, Sallade Finds

LANSING (AP)—A backer of Nelson Rockefeller for president said last night he found a ground swell for the New York governor at a national Young Republicans' meeting in Denver, Colo.

Rep. George W. Sallade (R-Ann Arbor) reported on his operation of a hospitality suite boosting Rockefeller. Michigan's Young GOP delegation frowned on Sallade's activity.

Sallade, who has started up a national citizens for Rockefeller movement, still in a fledgling stage, said more than one-third of the 900 delegates visited his suite.

It was situated in the Brown Palace Hotel, two blocks away from convention headquarters.

"Our approach was one of the 'soft sell,' " he said.

"At no time were there any buttons distributed or traditional campaign hoopla techniques followed.

"It was for this reason that our experience and reception by convention delegates can be classed as nothing short of sensational."

Joining in the venture was Rep. John C. Morris (R-Midland). Hotel space rent, printing of five placards and free coffee ran each a total of just over $100, Sallade said. Neither were delegates.

Sallade said that henceforth Mrs. Gerald Davenport of Ann Arbor will serve as vice chairman of the National Citizens Committee, and that former State Rep. D. J. Massoglia (R-Alurium) will head a Michigan citizens committee for Rockefeller for president.

He said that a student's affiliate is being formed under the direction of Brude K. Chapman, a Harvard University student from Des Plaines, Ill.

Morris will be secretary-treasurer of the Michigan committee.

Fire Damages Church, Landmark in Cadillac

CADILLAC (AP)—A midnight fire caused an estimated $50,000 damage to the First Congregational Church, a Cadillac landmark.

The church's pipe organ was destroyed and the sanctuary extensively damaged.

Fire Chief Robert L. Gilchrist said defective wiring in the organ is believed to have caused the blaze.

The Rev. Clayton A. Stowe, pastor, estimated damages at $50,000.

The brick church was extensively damaged three years ago by a gas explosion that rocked it shortly before Sunday services were to begin.

Tension Mounts in Argentina

Move to Oust Frondizi, Install Military Junta Gains Momentum

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — Argentina's government crisis appeared near a climax today as a move grew among military leaders to oust President Arturo Frondizi despite his Cabinet's resignation.

Tension was heightened by Frondizi's refusal to accept the resignations of his three armed services secretaries, chief targets of the rebellious officers.

★ ★ ★

Open threats were voiced against Frondizi's regime by his military opponents. They reportedly feel they are strong enough to force out the embattled president unless he meets their demands for sweeping changes in his government and policies.

Leaders of the clique talked openly of installing a military juta to replace the president, a landslide victor 16 months ago in Argentina's first free election in more than a decade.

★ ★ ★

Striving to cope with the darkening crisis, Frondizi told Interior Minister Alfredo Vitolo, long an administration spokesman, to meet leaders of Argentina's political parties today to sound them out on the situation. This aroused speculation Frondizi was considering forming a coalition government.

Vitolo told newsmen the mass Cabinet resignation Monday indicated changes in the government's policies. He did not say what the changes would be, but observers believed they might have come too late to appease the aroused military.

★ ★ ★

Many of the military opponents of Frondizi's administration had key roles in the revolution which toppled dictator Juan Peron four years ago.

Queen of Accordions Begins Her Crusade

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — How would you like to get in on the ground floor on a new thing we're starting called Be-Kind-to-Accordions Week? Just mail in one dead accordion-player in a plain wrapper.

WILSON

Frankly, we'd never tossed fitfully in our sleep, worrying about the cruelty inflicted on the accordion until we broke a bagel with pretty Kathy Manzi, the Accordion Queen.

"They call it the squeezebox or the cheesebox, which I resent, and they do not think of it as a symphonic instrument," Kathy proclaimed bitterly when she lunched with this music lover.

"What do you think of Gypsy Markoff as an accordionist?" I asked.

"She's a performer and an entertainer—rather than a musician," said Kathy. "I'm happy to say I'm not following in her footsteps."

"What about Lawrence Welk?"

"That's his instrument, but he doesn't play either," Kathy replied. "Musicians feel what he's doing is so cornballish, but my goodness, he's making all the money!"

We talked about such classicists as Phil Baker, Shep Fields, Bob Kreech who's with Vincent Lopez —and I don't know how we missed Milton DeLugg who was voted "the outstanding accordion player of 1951."

"I was offered a job with Sammy Kaye, but when I found it meant traveling, I said no, because it meant leaving my husband," Kathy said.

Kathy's going to be hostess to the World Accordion Competition at the Prince George Hotel, where the leading brains of the accordion world will discuss getting more accordion music written for symphonies and more respect for the accordion.

Television Show to Star Godfrey in September

NEW YORK (AP) — A special one-hour television show is being planned to star Arthur Godfrey, who is convalescing from a lung cancer operation performed April 30.

The show is set for Sept. 16 from 10 to 11 p.m. Eastern Daylight Time. The type of show has not been disclosed. Presumably it will be in the nature of a welcome for Godfrey returning to television.

Godfrey is spending most of his time at his farm near Leesburg, Va. He left Columbia Presbyterian Medical Center for his New York City apartment on May 15. He returned to the hospital for postoperative treatments almost daily until about two weeks ago.

Marilyn Monroe Undergoes Surgery

NEW YORK (AP)—Film star Marilyn Monroe underwent gynecological surgery today at Lenox Hill Hospital.

A hospital spokesman said her condition was excellent.

Miss Monroe is the wife of playwright Arthur Miller.

There was no immediate further explanation of the surgery.

The actress has twice previously experienced miscarriages. On Aug. 1, 1957, she underwent surgery at Doctors Hospital here after a month's pregnancy.

She lost an unborn child Dec. 17, 1958, while at work on a movie in California.

Predict Support, Passage of States Rights Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—Southern Democrats predict the House will pass a states rights bill opposed by the Eisenhower administration —and that the Republican floor leader will actively support it.

Rep. Charles A. Halleck of Indiana, the GOP leader, was away from Washington Monday when debate opened on the bill. It provides that federal laws do not automatically supersede state laws in the same field.

He asked managers of the legislation to reserve time for him. He reportedly has prepared a speech strongly advocating the measure.

★ ★ ★

Such a stand by Halleck would only emphasize an already complete split on the measure between the Republican administration and the Republican House leadership.

The bill was introduced by a leader of the Southern conservatives, Rep. Howard W. Smith (D-Va). It is described by its backers as an effort to restore the constitutional balance between the judicial and legislative branches, and between the federal government and the states.

★ ★ ★

But opponents contend it actually is aimed at federal laws in the fields of civil rights and labor-management relations. However, they say, it would create chaos in dozens of fields where both state and federal legislation exists.

Deputy Atty. Gen. Lawrence E. Walsh wrote that the Justice Department strongly opposes what he called "this retroactive, far-reaching legislation."

But the House Republican Policy Committee, of which Halleck is a member, voted a week ago to support the bill.

★ ★ ★

Most Republicans present Monday joined the Southerners to vote 233-116 in favor of taking up the bill for discussion—the procedural vote which is usually the first test on a controversial measure.

As for the final House action, Rep. Edwin E. Willis (D-La), one of the handlers of the legislation, said "it will pass."

May Have Won the War but Our Spies Lost Play

By WILLIAM EWALD
United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI) — I knew things were going badly right off last night when the Gestapo grabbed kindly old Dr. Brunner only five minutes into CBS-TV's Desilu Playhouse.

★ ★ ★

Kindly old Dr. Brunner was a spy, on our side, of course—the kindly ones always are—and he had to be replaced by kindly middle-aged Froelich who was married to kindly Frau Froelich.

Like all kind spies, the Froelichs weren't very efficient and the Gestapo got them, too.

That left the whole spy business in the hands of kindly Margaret Lewis who was played by kindly Joan Fontaine who was in love with Hans who was played by Max Schell.

He was a kind newspaperman or maybe I should change that to a kind of newspaperman because he didn't seem to have much work to do.

Well, anyway, neither Margaret nor Hans were much as spies or lovers or anything else for that matter and Desilu Playhouse ended on a melancholy note with Brunner and Froelich and Frau Froelich in the hoosegow, Margaret running off to Vienna to do some more spying and Hans deciding to fight it out at home in his own kindly, inefficient fashion.

It all happened in Berlin in 1938 and I kind of got the feeling that if these were the people on our side, we were doomed to lose the war. I know we lost the play.

★ ★ ★

SHORT SHOTS: Laya Raki had to be forcibly restrained last night on ABC-TV's pantomime quiz when she was rather graphically trying to act out the word "nude."

Orson Bean's comment to emcee Mike Stokey: "You know, if we didn't get that in another few seconds, your show would have been on for the last time." Love that show.

Virginia Angelo, a contestant on CBS-TV's Name That Tune for the past month, isn't identified as such, but she strikes me as a professional performer—perhaps one of the thousands of kids who come to New York hoping to break into show business and float around its fringes.

★ ★ ★

THE CHANNEL SWIM: Composers Alan Jay Lerner and Frederick Loewe will draw upon their "My Fair Lady," "Gigi," "Brigadoon" and "Paint Your Wagon" for a 90-minute General Motors special on NBC-TV Friday, Nov. 13 . . . There is dissension on the set of NBC-TV's new summer series, Perry Presents, and regular Teresa Brewer is threatening to leave the cast.

CBS-TV has under consideration one or two special Arthur Godfrey shows for next season — Godfrey.

Phone Exchange Letters Replace Familiar Names

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Telephone Co. is junking the names that precede telephone numbers.

Murray Hill, Trafalgar, Univer- now are merely MU, TR, UN, PL, BU, RE.

★ ★ ★

About a million Manhtattan directors, all in the new style, start going to customers today.

For some people the names symbolized all the romance of the big city.

★ ★ ★

Imagine John O'Hara's book about the young lady who was rapidly collecting a past. It was called "Butterfield 8," for her telephone number. Who would buy a book called "BU 8"?

Steel Talks Resume Today

If Negotiations Fail, Half a Million Workers May Strike Tuesday

NEW YORK (UPI) — Steel contract negotiations resume here today with a compromise wage proposal apparently scuttled and two big steel plants already shut down by a wildcat strike.

Half a million basic steel workers may be called on strike one week from tonight if the United Steelworkers of America and the 12-company industry bargaining team fail to agree before that time on new contract terms.

About 12,000 steelworkers shut down two Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp. plants in Pittsburgh yesterday in a dispute over incentive pay. Three other Jones & Laughlin mills, with about 25,000 workers, remained in operation.

★ ★ ★

Joseph F. Finnegan, chief of the Federal Mediation Service, met with industry negotiators in Washington yesterday but said he had no plans to intervene in negotiations before the strike deadline unless his services are requested. He said both parties had indicated that they prefer to bargain down to the wire without mediation.

R. Conrad Cooper, Executive Vice President of United States Steel Corp., and head of the four-man industry bargaining team, yesterday scotched a "non-inflationary" wage compromise which was reported to have been suggested to both sides by government officials.

Cooper said it had not been suggested to him. But he said he didn't think the proposal as reported—to put most of any money settlement into supplementary benefits rather than immediate wage increase—was any less inflationary than a direct wage boost.

Union president David J. McDonald also denied that such a proposal had been made to him in Washington, and indicated he didn't think any more of it than did Cooper.

British to Discuss Part in Launchings

LONDON (AP)—A team of six experts left by plane for Washington today to discuss the installation of British research instruments in U.S. space satellites.

Dr. R. L. Smith-Rose, director of radio research, told a reporter the instruments will go aloft in three or four launchings during the next two years.

The information thus obtained will have a bearing on Britain's plans to send up satellites of its own.

Rhode Island, the nation's smallest state, has the shortest motto. It's "Hope."

Ancient Indian Church May Become a Shrine

MASHPEE, Mass. (UPI)—A 275-year-old Indian church, now in dilapidated condition, may be preserved as a historical shrine.

Civic leaders and Chief Flying Eagle of the Mashpee Wampanoag Indian tribe have joined in a campaign to raise $20,000 to restore the 27-pew church. The structure was built in 1684 with lumber hauled through the Cape Cod Wilderness from the Plymouth Colony.

No Drug on the Market

NEW YORK (UPI) — The drug industry figures that the average physician is responsible for distributing about $7,000 worth of drugs a year.

From Tax Viewpoint Man Should Die First

NEW YORK (UPI)—It may not be pure sentiment when a husband says he wants to die before his wife does.

Under inheritance tax laws, if the lady dies first there's an added tax of roughly $9,500 on a gross estate of $120,000. Take a really big estate of, say, $500,000 - the husband pays an added $78,800 if his wife dies first.
