Israel Calls Her Spy

SPY FOUND GUILTY — Mary Frances Hagan, 29-year-old American citizen, yesterday was convicted as a spy in the Jerusalem District Court. She was found guilty on two charges of spying for Syria, with which Israel officially is at war. Two sentences were imposed, one of three months and the other a year in prison, both of which will be served concurrently. Her family lives in Huntington, W. Va.

U. S. to Appeal 1-Year Term

Israeli Court Sentences American Woman as Spy

JERUSALEM (AP)—An American woman sentenced to a year in jail as a spy for Syria was transferred today to the women's prison in Ramleh, on Israel's coastal plane.

Mary Frances Hagan, 29, whose family lives in Huntington, W. Va., was found guilty on two counts on charges she spied for Syria with which Israel officially is at war.

She pleaded innocent to the charges.

Officials in Washington indicated the United States would appeal to the Israeli government for executive clemency. Miss Hagan's attorney indicated she might not appeal the sentences because the higher court had the power to increase them.

Two sentences were imposed on the slim, brown-eyed defendant — three months and one year — to be served concurrently. She could have been sentenced to a total of 28 years in prison.

Miss Hagan appeared smiling and relaxed as she sat in court awaiting the verdict. Dressed in a navy blue print cotton suit and tan shoes, she chatted with a police woman beside her.

Her smile weakened slightly when the sentence was handed down after a two-hour reading of the verdict by Court President Benjamin Halevy in Hebrew and English.

But the defendant showed little emotion as police led her from court. On the way out, she paused to borrow 10 Israeli pounds about $6 from a representative of the U. S. Embassy.

Miss Hagan, arrested Aug. 7 in a Tel Aviv hotel after she had made a nine-day tour of Israel, was tried in secret. Halevy said the court would consider whether the sentences should begin from the date of her arrest.

RR, City Meeting on Proposed Yard Closed to Public

Tonight's meeting between Grand Trunk Western Railroad officials and the Pontiac City Commission is not open to the public, Robert A. Stierer, administrative assistant said yesterday.

The railroad this week agreed to the meeting upon receipt of a letter from City Manager W. K. Willman.

The letter, sent by city commissioners, re-emphasized the city's position regarding their objection to the site of the proposed $700,000 industrial support yard.

The railroad wants to build the yard south of Walton boulevard between Stanley and Baldwin. City officials claim this location would block a planned extension of Stanley avenue to the north.

Dog Denounces Dems
PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A Great Dane has been doing some politicking against his master here. The dog, Hamlet by name, belongs to Joseph S. Clark, Democratic candidate for the U. S. Senate. He wanders around Chestnut Hill, exclusive Philadelphia residential section, quite a bit. The other day he came home from his meanderings with an "I Like Ike" button pinned to his collar.

Threat to School Children

Underpass Dangers Protested by Parents

Parents protested to the Board of Education last night that construction delay at the Telegraph road-Orchard Lake road underpass is endangering the lives of school children.

As a result, over a hundred children every day are forced to ride public transportation or in parents' autos, according to representatives of the Washington Park School Assn.

The Board promised an answer "within a week" to their request for special bus transportation.

Parents claimed it is impossible for children to walk the Orchard Lake detour around the site of the half-finished underpass. There is no sidewalk and only a few feet of shoulder.

About 125 children every morning used to cross Telegraph at the intersection, walking west to Daniel Whitfield School, they said. Now the daily number has dropped to less than 10, according to J. Cecil Cox, assistant superintendent of schools.

Parents' autos have caused such a morning jam, they declared, that the school had to schedule two arrival times for children at a 15-minute interval in the morning.

According to the association president, Mrs. Frank Moyer, of 1037 Argyle Ave., the situation will last until construction is completed by the Michigan State Highway Commission.

However, the Commission has indicated the bridge won't be finished until after school is out next June. The steel strike late this summer was blamed.

The children involved live in the area south and east of Orchard Lake road and on the Pontiac side of Telegraph road. They attended Webster School within the city limits before transferred to new classrooms completed at Daniel Whitfield.

The Whitfield school, in Bloomfield Township, is outside the city limits but within the school district. This means the school district cannot provide school bus transportation according to state law, school officials said last night.

The law provides for transportation from outside the city limits to inside the city but not vice versa, they explained.

Parents complained it was the school district that sent their children outside the city limits, and not the decision of the parents.

A temporary solution similar to one in the north side was suggested.

The school board there is paying half the 10 per cent fare for chartered city transportation used by pupils in the Kennett Gardens subdivision who attend Weaver School.

The arrangement depends on whether the city is able to complete Stanley road north to Walton boulevard through an area where the Grand Trunk Railway wants to construct a marshalling yard.

MARQUETTE (AP) — Vice President Nixon, coming to Michigan for the second time in two weeks, is due to whisk into the Upper Peninsula tonight on a quick campaign trip.

Father Suspect in Child Cruelty

Waterford Man Held After Boys, Age 2 and 4, Suffer Burned Hands

A cruelty to children charge is expected to be issued today against a Waterford Township man who allegedly burned the hands of his two young children by holding them over a gas stove early Thursday morning.

Arthur D. Martin Jr., 27, of 2839 Newberry Rd., was arrested by Township police yesterday and is being held in the Oakland County Jail pending investigation by the county prosecutor's office.

Most seriously burned was 4-year-old Dennis Martin. An examination by a local doctor today disclosed the boy has first and second degree burns of both hands and also bruises of the buttocks. Terry, 2, reportedly has minor finger burns.

The father, a factory worker, was taken into custody after his wife, Shirley, 22, notified the prosecutor's office, Waterford Police said.

"He denied the burning at first but then broke down crying and said he did it," commented Capt. Millard Pender of the Waterford Department today.

He said Martin explained the burnings with a comment that he wanted to teach the boys a lesson for playing with fire. "He said he held their hands over the gas flame on a kitchen stove," added Pender.

Mrs. Martin told investigators she was working at an area drive-in at the time of the cruelty and said her husband took the boys to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital for treatment after stopping by to tell her what had happened.

Coin Collector Claims $1,225 Prize

THE WINNER: — Lawrence J. Daily, 21-year-old city accounting student whose hobby is coin collecting, picked up a neat addition to his collection today, when he cracked The Pontiac Press

Pot-O-Gold contest for $1,225. His 88 possible solutions were part of 13,852 which were written in quest of the big prize.

His 'System' Wins $1,225

Student Cracks Pot-O-Gold

A 21-year-old Pontiac accounting student who can really figure the angles was late for his first class this morning at the University of Detroit, but he was $1,225 richer.

Lawrence J. Daily, son of Mr. and Mrs. Timothy Daily of 1099 Berkley St., cracked the Pot-O-Gold jackpot this week, with the first correct solution to the puzzle in 12 weeks.

"It was a team effort—I had lots of assistance," the college senior said calmly and confidently this morning.

"My brother, Timothy, 9, and my sister, Magdalen, 15, bought papers, cut them up and pasted the blanks on post cards."

He credited his mother, Nelle, with starting him on the puzzle, shortly before Mrs. Norma Lussier won $725 July 21.

"Mom started a puzzle, and asked me to finish it. After that, I got interested, worked out a system, and began sending in more answers as the prize swelled," he said.

Puzzle solutions were worked out between bouts of homework. Where will the $1,225 go?

"Mostly for college expenses—a room on campus so I won't be commuting during the last semester," he answered.

For the puzzle which brought him the cash, he submitted 88 solutions. The week before he had

THE BIGGER THE BETTER

"The bigger the pot got, the more determined I was to win it," "Gerry" said this morning. There were 13,852 entries this week.

The prize was no surprise to his father. While his son planned to shock him with the revelation when he came home from work, the father had called The Press on a hunch, shortly after the winner had been determined.

A 1953 graduate of St. Fred's, "Gerry" (for Jeremiah) says he has no immediate plans for work after college graduation in June. "I guess some time with Uncle Sam comes along then," he said quietly.

His actual Pot-O-Gold prize was $1,200, but an extra $25 is awarded when the winner is a regular Pontiac Press subscriber.

"As soon as we knew that I was a winner, my brother Tim started talking about what he'd like for his birthday Oct. 24," Gerry said.

He laughingly declined to mention the suggestions, because of the bargaining power such publicity would give to the excited youngster.

Egypt, Britain Huddle on Suez

Hint Conciliatory Moves by the Two, but French Seek to Break Talks

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Both Egypt and Britain were reported unofficially today to have made conciliatory moves in private talks here on the Suez Canal dispute. But France seemed on the point of breaking off the discussions.

The British, French and Egyptian foreign ministers hold their fifth private meeting today on the canal crisis with U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld.

French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau, president of the U.N. Security Council, said that 11-nation body would hold a private session on the canal controversy later today and perhaps a public session tomorrow.

A usually well informed diplomat said that in the talks so far Egyptian Foreign Minister Mahmoud Fawzi had agreed Egypt would cooperate in some respects with the Suez Canal Users' Assn. (SCUA) set up by the second London Suez conference.

The same diplomat, who asked not to be identified, said British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd had dropped Britain's insistence on international operation of the canal and had agreed to Egyptian operation provided international safeguards were set up.

Wheezin', Sneezin' Season Here Still No Drug for Cold Bug

LANSING (AP)—Michigan can count on at least three cold waves this year. But they won't show on the thermometer.

They will be announced instead by a flurry of handkerchiefs, coughs and sneezes.

The sad fact about colds, says the man in charge of disease control for the State Health Department, is you can't do much about them.

"The common cold probably will be with us for many years to come," said Dr. F. S. Leeder. "We know groups of viruses cause colds but we don't know how."

"About all we can do is to avoid upsetting the body's equilibrium, and go to bed as soon as a cold starts. Hot toddies and other home remedies provide no benefit."

In Michigan, colds usually come in three waves—in October or early November, around Thanksgiving or Christmas, and early in the spring.

A temperature drop has no effect on viruses, Leeder says. But low temperatures can lower a person's resistance and make it easier for the virus to invade the body.

"Vaccines which may afford protection against colds are available, but most scientific workers doubt vaccines will give more than temporary protection," Leeder said.

And antibiotics haven't been effective against cold viruses, although they are effective in combating bacteria causing secondary infections.

The average Michigan resident loses three days of work or school every year because of colds, Leeder said.

You can't do much to get over a cold except wait.

"Proper diet, lots of rest, plenty of liquids and dressing according to the weather seem to comprise the best formula for reducing the chances of catching one," he said.

Ike, Rainier, Grace Recall Beauty of France

WASHINGTON (INS) — The prince and princess of Monaco paid a call on President Eisenhower yesterday and left the normal serenity of the White House cracked if not shattered.

Prince Rainier and Princess Grace spent a half-hour chatting with the President about places all three have visited in France.

Then the Monacan royal couple held a news conference in the office of White House News Secretary James C. Hagerty. Turmoil reigned as reporters and photographers pushed and fought for position.

The President recalled his 1928 visit to Monaco, when he was a young Army officer. The prince said the palace would be open to him anytime he wanted to return.

Rainier described the visit as "so delightful, wonderful moments with the President talking about everything and nothing."

Princess Grace was dressed primly in a black wool coat buttoned almost to the neck, pink fur hat, pink scarf and formal-length white gloves.

Tonight, Eisenhower tries out a new technique in wooing the vote of the "little man" whom Democrats say is being neglected by his administration.

He will hold a novel "citizens press conference" over nationwide television and radio at 9 Pontiac time, to answer questions put by housewives, factory workers and small businessmen.

The questioners, some 100 in all, have been handpicked by Citizens for Eisenhower which is sponsoring the show. Any Democrats will be of the Ike variety.

But they can ask whatever questions they want, and, according to the White House, will get a completely unrehearsed reply from the President.

The President's campaign strategists were privately exultant over yesterday's endorsement of Eisenhower by Rep. Adam Clayton Powell (D-N.Y.).

Powell, a Negro and Harlem clergyman, announced his decision after a half hour conference with Eisenhower to sound out the President's views on key civil rights issues.

HER HIGHNESS IS SERENE—Princess Grace of Monaco, queen of American moviedom before her marriage, lived up to her title of "Her Serene Highness" as her husband, Prince Rainier, and President Eisenhower chatted yesterday in the White House. She smiles, looks about the chief executive's office, and listens at various stages of the conversation.

NEW BUSINESS SITE — Now open for business at 905 Orchard Lake Ave. is Tom's Hardware and Sporting Goods. The 45x66 brick and block building is owned by Peter Totoff, and the business is owned and managed by Michael and Tom Totoff.

A complete line of hardware and sporting goods is offered, with hours of 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. daily, 9-9 Fridays, and 9-2 Sunday. The business was formerly located at the site of the new Telegraph Road-Orchard Lake underpass.

At Greenfield School, color schemes chosen for classrooms and hallways will be in shades of green on east and west exposure sides of the building, and on the north side, will be in warm tones of yellows and browns. All colors will be contrasted against gray tile.

But board members rebelled against a black tile floor about the Birmingham Senior High swimming pool. With lighting in the high, level ceiling, board members felt black would absorb too much light. The architect for all three buildings, Eberle Smith, will rework the pool's color scheme.

Bid by Detroit Bank and Trust Co. of two per cent interest with $50 premiums for the $500,000 tax anticipation note was accepted.

Valley Woods School bids were received and turned over to the architect for study before awarding of contracts. If low bidders are deemed financially adequate and reputable, the contracts will be given.

Lowest bids were entered by A. J. Anderson Construction Co. for general work, Lloyd Thornton, mechanical, and Leslie L. Johnson, electrical, totaling $683,145.

"If we accept them, the cost will be well within our estimate of $700,000," Supt. Dwight D. Ireland, said today.

Landscaping and site leveling was okayed for Derby Junior High, with the tennis courts, baseball and football fields all arranged by Frank Whitney of the school system.

Bids for Marian School on North Adams will be taken on Nov. 6 rather than Oct. 30, board members decided.

Other details will be pushed forward at the next meeting, Tuesday, in hurry to have lawns seeded and other work planned before winter.

The Needlework Guild has announced that Dr. James M. McHugh will be speaker at the gathering of the Birmingham-Bloomfield branch of the Guild Wednesday at 10:30 a.m.

Dr. McHugh, of the children's service department of Pontiac State Hospital, will be able to answer the members' and donor's query on "What happens to the clothing we give?"

His and other service organizations distribute the items to needy people.

"When a boy goes out again into his community after his problems have been treated in the hospital, he likes to be dressed in an acceptable way. He likes to have good clothes, rather than hand-me-downs," is an example of ideas that Dr. McHugh might express, according to a guild committee woman.

Donations at the meeting are expected to surpass last year's tally of 4,000 garments and household items given.

William W. Merrill of WWO-Way Playhouse will speak next Thursday to Birmingham newcomers at their meeting at the Community House.

"Opportunities for Show Business" will be his topic, and he'll draw from his observations in running the playhouse, rated one of the top ten "straw hat" theaters in the country by Variety.

Reservations may be made by phoning Mrs. Wendell E. Butler by Monday night.

A record budget of $62,912 was adopted for 1957 and new officers elected this week at the Our Shepherd Lutheran Church's voter's assembly.

Eugene Lochner was re-elected president; William Billmeyer, vice president; Robert Pfeuffer, secretary; Joe Bassett, treasurer and Don Schroeder, financial secretary.

A first year payment to finance construction of a new parsonage on church property was included in budget items approved. The young church has a membership of 542.

Achille F. Freytag, 77, 2897 Yorkshore, will be re-elected tonight at William Sullivan & Son Funeral Home, Royal Oak. Mass will be at 9 a.m. at Holy Name Church Saturday with burial in Holy Sepulchre Cemetery.

Freytag, who operated a cleaners in Detroit, leaves two daughters, Mrs. Francis A. Reed of Birmingham, and Mrs. J. Campbell Brown of Royal Oak, and a son, Edward, of Royal Oak; and five sisters, four of Detroit and one of Royal Oak.

Sees School Census at 2 Million by '62

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Dr. Clair L. Taylor, Michigan's superintendent of public instruction, predicts public school enrollment will hit two million by 1962 and top 2 1/2 million by 1970, compared with a 1956-57 enrollment of 1,450,000.

Also by 1970, Taylor says, the state will need 85,000 public school teachers, an increase of 36.6 per cent over today.

Speaking to a regional conference of the Michigan Education Assn., Taylor also predicted that by 1970: 1. Most Michigan high school graduates will be within easy commuting distance of a community college.

2. Enrollment in senior colleges will reach 300,000, compared with 125,000 this year.

3. Fifty per cent of the state's high school graduates will enter college, compared with 30 per cent now.

Accepting was acting Principal Horton Southworth who said he and the teachers regard their new school as a "challenge" and they "take great pride" in the structure and their new duties.

The welcome to parents was given by Mrs. Charles Prasil, president of the Bailey PTA and invocation by the Rev. Loyal H. Howison, pastor of the First Free Methodist Church of Pontiac.

Bailey School second and third graders sang three numbers under the direction of teacher Mrs. Evelyn Weiss.

French and Germans Draft New Saar Pact

Among most encouraging developments in Europe in recent weeks is Franco-German agreement on the terms of an entirely new Saar treaty.

The importance of this agreement is twofold. First, it ends a serious international dispute. It also clears the way for further steps toward European political and economic integration.

Return of this coal rich industrial territory to West Germany was a foregone conclusion after the plebiscite of a year ago. At this time Saarlanders voted two to one against becoming a European State.

But France didn't come out of the negotiations empty handed. The ADENAUER government agreed to important concessions. French industrialists have been given three years in which to liquidate their positions. France will get 20,000,000 tons of much needed coal over a period of five years by working the Warndt mines into which shafts have been sunk from French Lorraine.

From another section of those mines France can get 46,000,000 tons in 20 years. Between 1962 and 1982 Germany guarantees an additional 24,000,000 tons of coal. The Moselle River, linking the Rhine with Lorraine, is to be developed by both countries and French currency is to be re-devalued.

Chancellor ADENAUER of West Germany naturally is interested in integration and is reported giving the subject increasing attention. Facing Russian refusal to consider German reunification, the wise old statesman is seeking stronger economic and political links with the rest of free Europe.

This sensible agreement, of course, paves the way for greater efforts by the seven nation European Union and for this reason should be welcomed in this country. The French view of the treaty is voiced by Premier Mollet who said "the Saar is behind us—now we can get on with Europe."

The first step is to be taken at Paris this week where leaders of the two countries will meet to sign the new treaty.

Warning to Republicans

There have been some recent developments on the political front which should be sobering news for Republicans.

These add up to the fact that Democrats will go into the November 6 election with a slight advantage over Republicans. According to Congressional Quarterly, Democrats have won 73 of 79 House seats in one party areas where the nominee has no opposition in the general election.

Five of the 36 Senate seats, all in the South, are up for election this year. They have been filled by nominating primaries and conventions. Currently Democrats hold a 231 to 201 advantage in the House with three seats vacant. In the Senate they have a 49 to 47 edge.

Not only have Democrats most of the House seats that already have been decided, but fewer Democrats than Republicans are included

Another six Representatives, one a Republican, lost their chances for re-election when they were defeated in the primaries. Of the five Democrats defeated, four were from the South where their winning opponents are assured of retaining the seats for the Democrats.

No Senator was defeated in a primary for renomination. Seven Senators, one Republican, have retired. Of the six Democrats who retired, three were from the South and their seats already have been counted for the Democrats.

These facts constitute a clear warning to Republican workers that they dare not indulge in any complacency about the forthcoming results. They mean that if the GOP is to recapture control of Congress, Republicans have to intensify their work among the voters, and every Republican voter will have to go to the polls.

Telegraph Test Tried by Highway Department

Egotist: A guy who surely knows a good thing when he says it.

Those white lines along the outer edges of Telegraph Road pavement are an experiment of Michigan State Highway Department. They are anxious to get the reaction of the public on this new plan of road marking. If such reaction is favorable, it will be extended to other main highways. We think it is a marvelous thing. It takes much of the hazard out of night driving. What do you think?

David Lawrence Says:

Sanctity of Suez Treaty Real Issue

WASHINGTON — The sanctity of a treaty — whether the promises men live by will be kept — is the only real issue in the Suez Canal controversy.

Time was, just a few decades ago, when world opinion centered on ways and means of arbitrating or settling — by an international commission of jurists — all questions of a "justifiable" nature. The idea was that, if it was a "legal" question and not one that involved "national honor," nations should be prepared to let impartial judges settle it.

Is the world today devoid of jurists who can examine the treaty of 1888 which provides for management of the Suez Canal? Why should there be talk of war or exaggerated claims about "sovereignty" which have little to do with the matter when the words of a treaty, duly signed by the principal nations using the canal, cover that subject and provide what shall be done in various contingencies?

TREATY STILL VALID

The Suez Canal Treaty of 1888, self, which is of indefinite duration, has never been abrogated by the nations that signed it.

The nations signing this were Great Britain, Germany, Austria-Hungary, Spain, France, Italy, The Netherlands, Russia and Turkey. Since those days, the form of government in some of these countries has changed but, unless a treaty is specifically repudiated, it remains in force as an obligation of the government that has succeeded the regime that signed the document.

Also Turkey's rights over Egypt itself were given up as a result of changes brought by World War I, but the Egyptian government is still bound by the same legal obligations as it was when it existed as a political entity under Turkish rule. Successors or heirs to contracts are bound by the provisions of those contracts.

There is and has been no question, therefore, about the "sovereign" rights of Egypt in reference to the canal and surrounding territory. The only limitation on Egyptian "sovereignty" is the one Egypt herself accepted when she undertook to keep in operation the 1888 treaty. She continued to function under it until the recent seizure of the canal property itself. This act apparently was a violation of the specific obligations of the treaty, but it did not render the treaty null and void.

INDEFINITE DURATION

How long does the treaty run? The canal company contract has until 1968 to go, but the treaty of 1888 says:

"The high contracting parties agree that the engagements resulting from the present treaty shall not be limited by the duration of the acts of concession of the universal Suez Canal Company."

So the legal questions are clearly evident from a reading of the treaty. Can a nation go back on its word and yet claim it is observing the treaty? Why should the parties to the 1888 treaty agree to a mutual abrogation unless a new treaty benefits them? Cannot the dispute be resolved by an agreement among the users of the canal negotiated now with the Egyptian government but retaining the overall protection of the 1888 treaty?

This is a problem for lawyers—not for soldiers. Surely in the United Nations, or outside of it, a juridical commission can be formed to render a legal opinion — even if advisory — on the obligations of the present Egyptian government and the other parties to the 1888 treaty. If contracts can be broken at will, international order will be disrupted and wars will result. (Copyright, 1956, New York Herald Tribune Inc.)

Dr. William Brady Says:

Every Dentist Licensed to Practice Is a Surgeon

Los Angeles reader says he took his 16-year-old son to a dental surgeon, who estimated that the necessary treatment would cost $248.

He then took the boy to another dentist who estimated that the necessary treatment would cost $80.

Both found the same number of cavities and both included X-rays, cleaning the teeth, and maybe extraction of one tooth.

The difference in cost does not bother the man, only that he wants to feel that the boy is getting proper treatment. Some friends tell him that the dental surgeon's work is far superior to a mere dentist's. So he asks what I'd do if I were in his place.

First, the man's friends have the advantage of me in regard to the distinction they make between the dental surgeon and just a plain dentist.

Here all along I have labored under the impression that every dentist licensed to practice is a surgeon. That's what D. D. S. means — Doctor of Dental Surgery. A minority of dentists have instead the degree D. D. M., which means Doctor of Dental Medicine. A dentist with either degree is a dental surgeon, just as a physician with the degree M. D., meaning Doctor of Medicine, is a surgeon.

As readers know, I place a valuation of $1,000 on every functionally efficient tooth or denture, and the Number One key to vite, that is, good health, functional well-being and longevity, in my judgment is SAVE YOUR TEETH.

It was well within my discretion to ignore this request. After all, this is a health service. Nevertheless the health, happiness, the vite, the whole future of the boy was at stake and I felt obliged to tell the man what I'd do if I were in his place.

I told him that if the ordinary dentist is of good professional standing in the community, that "She has a date—but I'm not doing anything tonight!"

In reply to a recent letter concerning the Widow and Widowers Acquaintance Club, I would like to see a club for older widows and widowers, bachelors and maiden ladies exclusively, for all faiths, with no dancing or card playing.

There could be music, singing, games, lunch, etc., and name it "The Single Senior Club" to meet one night a week, so those who are still working could attend.

Such a club would not conflict with other clubs, as it would reach a different group of fine people who also are lonely. I am willing to help, are you? If so, let us hear from you.

Lonesome

In answer to recent letters in the Press, the north end residents are not attempting and have no wish to block expansion of industry. We recognize the need of expansion and our only objection to the switchyard is the Walton Boulevard site picked by the Grand Trunk Railroad.

At least two other sites are usable and available and would leave extension of Stanley avenue and development of the residential area possible.

Our report presented to the City Commission on September 18 bore out these points.

I will have to agree with Ex-Democrat. I appeal strongly to all people of sound mind and voting age.

How can you vote for a United States president who makes a public speech so full of untrue, sarcastic, dirty remarks about his opponents and their party?

His side kick with his "Give 'em Hell" program has also ruined the name of the Democrat party. I will judge a man by his works.

Another Ex-Democrat of 1956

Let's get together, fellow Americans, and keep our fine Christian President in office. He was a fine military man and as a president, kept a most important promise so that our loved ones today are alive, and has done everything in his power to keep them alive.

He has a very cool head, and no hot head is going to keep us out of war. The Democrats have burned up with jealousy ever since the Korean war ended. They said it would not end with a military man, so they haven't been able to use that mud-slinging slogan this time.

Mr. Adlai has not been able to even run his own household. As for his promises to end the draft and H-bomb tests, anyone with half a brain knows we have to remain strong in order to survive. I have seen hard times in both parties and voted for both.

Brownie

Like not only brought the boys home from Korea, he brought them home from the factories and out of the fields, too.

Everyone knew about peace-time, but I sure could use some prosperity, whether paralleled or unparallelled. I'll take Adlai.

Some asks why the Grand Trunk didn't put in any grade separation on its main line through Pontiac. The city was supposed to pay part of the cost, and the city didn't want to go ahead with the plan any more than the Grand Trunk did. It costs a lot of money on both sides.

Taxpayer

This is in answer to "an interested band parent" who wrote about Pontiac's great band not playing at the football game. The writer suggested jealousy, humiliation, etc. I feel it is just that, and why does this sort of thing go on in our high schools today?

Pontiac should be proud of its great band and display it at every opportunity. Congratulations to Mr. Harris and his hard-working bandmen. No one ever becomes a champion without hard work, as is the case of this band.

It seems in cases like this, the townspeople should speak up, as when the group goes out into other states and communities to compete and win honors for the old home town. It certainly should mean something, especially to the Chamber of Commerce.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Cold Sweat Necessary to Success

How would you advise Clark? Dr. Glenn Frank called the salesman the "sparkplug of civilization." For years I have taught such courses in leading universities, and I agree with Dr. Glenn Frank. If you can stand the initial "cold sweat," then pick selling as a career. It offers the greatest job insurance of all.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE
Case S-389: Clark K., aged 25, is an engineering graduate. "Dr. Crane, I guess I'm certainly what you call an introvert," he began with a rueful smile.

"For it scares me to meet people or try to make a speech. But I have a good offer to handle a sales territory."

"I know it is a great opportunity for me. But I get petrified with fear at the thought of calling on strangers."

"In fact, cold sweat breaks out on my forehead as I imagine myself speaking first and trying to deliver a sales talk."

"So should I forget it and stick to a job inside the factory?"

MURRAH FOR COLD SWEAT
Cold sweat is what produces success! You can shed barrels of hot sweat on the section gang of a railroad and never rise an iota in pay scale.

For hot sweat means you are doing the same old thing, day after day.

Cold sweat, however, indicates you are getting out of the rut. You are tackling new problems. You are out of your old wading depth and must learn to swim. If you wish to get ahead in life, you will always be faced with Clark's dilemma. The start of any job is fraught with some stage fright.

But it is better to face it now, when you are young, than to keep evading such golden doorways to success.

Ordinarily, we vocational guidance counselors don't recommend that a shy introvert tackle a selling job, which is an extreme extrovertive vocation.

VOCATIONAL GUIDANCE
But there are exceptions. And Clark had enough determination to make it.

Thus, his salary would drop from maybe $100 a week to zero in a moment. But in sales work it one of his 600 "bosses" quits or dies or dislikes him, he still has 499 left.

A little cold canvassing will recruit a substitute to bring his total back up to 500.

Beware, salesmen, that you don't succumb to the "greener pastures" fallacy! If you have spent four or five years recruiting your 500 clients, don't run away to a distant spot to start over.

If so, you'll have deserted your biggest asset, namely, your previous satisfied customers! And you'll be back to cold canvassing again.

If your company doesn't treat you right, the salesman is in demand by competing companies, so he has the greatest job insurance on earth.

For further advice, send for my booklet on "Modern Advertising & Sales Psychology," enclosing a stamped return envelope plus 20 cents. I have taught such courses for many years at leading universities.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover trying and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Hal Boyle Says:

Siobhan McKenna Yearns to Play Hamlet

NEW YORK (U-P)—"Pigs are not open-minded—they're sneaky," said Siobhan McKenna, positively, "and I won't have them on my farm."

"But I love cows. They have such beautiful long eyelashes..." The farm that Miss McKenna, brightest star of the current drama season, spoke of was the one she dreams of owning and retiring to some future day in her native Ireland. After, of course, she achieves another dream—to play Hamlet. No, not Ophelia. Hamlet! And she'll probably get her wish.

Every now and then an actress comes along who can scratch a match in your veins and set your brain and heart aflame. For several weeks young Miss McKenna has been doing just that to audiences in the off-Broadway Phoenix Theater with her electric portrayal of the tomboy saint in Bernard Shaw's "St. Joan."

Critics have acclaimed her the "Greatest Joan of the century." And, indeed, who before her ever played Joan in Gaelic in Dublin... in English in London... with an Irish accent in Manhattan... and planned to do it in French in Paris?

What is Siobhan (pronounced "Shih-vawn") like offstage? Well, she is so busy—almost every day a new Hollywood producer suddenly "discovers" her—that it seems her alone is only slightly less difficult than it would be to arrange a private game of crab-grass billiards with President Eisenhower.

Finally I arranged a luncheon date. It came during a break in a seven-hour rehearsal of an Oct. 15th NBC-TV presentation of Somerset Maugham's "The Letter," in which Miss McKenna portrays a cool-blooded murderess.

Siobhan saves her acting for the floodlights. She showed up wearing a weathered tweed suit and flat-heeled white shoes. She wore no makeup. A cherry-red stocking cap hid the raw-necked GI haircut she had to undergo for her role as Joan.

I noted that she seemed to be 5 feet 5 and 125 pounds of talent held together largely by freckles.

"I'm afraid that no one in the theater except Katie Hepburn has more than I do," she said ruefully. "In Gaelic freckles are called 'little trout,' and Irish girls who have them console themselves by saying they are signs of beauty."

"But as a child I used to try to scrub them off with butter-milk."

Siobhan, daughter of a Galway University mathematics professor, is a graduate mathematician herself and has a sister who is a dentist. As a child she wrote and

Unable to Whip Smog Problem

Auto Industry Experts Tell Detroit Conference No Solution in Sight

DETROIT (U-P)—Auto industry experts today held little hope for an immediate solution in their fight to help Los Angeles whip the smog problem.

John M. Campbell, chairman of the production products subcommittee of the Automobile Manufacturers Assn., said yesterday efforts to eradicate escaping gasoline fumes have proved inconclusive.

"We don't have an immediate solution," he said. "But we don't feel we are licked."

Campbell and S. Smith Griswold, head of the Los Angeles air pollution control district, spoke at a news conference in Detroit.

The conference followed an inspection by Griswold of a score of mechanical devices designed by the auto industry to reduce the exhaust of unburned fuel. The inspection tour ends today.

Industry spokesmen said each of the carburetion devices has been ruled out as a cure by either high cost or low operating efficiency.

Griswold described escaping gasoline vapors as the prime remaining objective in the anti-smog campaign. He said he was "impressed" with the work the industry has done in an effort to help reach a solution, but "disappointed" with the results to date.

"This research is like trying to find a cure for cancer," Campbell said. "It is a new field, but necessary, and we will answer our obligation to continue efforts for a cure."

West Germany produced 315,990 TV sets in 1955, up 186,960 from the previous year.

acted out her own play in a neighbor's barn. She spent three years with the Abbey Theater in Dublin. She has played everything from Lady Macbeth to Charlie in "Charlie's Aunt."

Her Irish flares up when anyone questions her desire to play Hamlet. After all, didn't Sarah Bernhardt?

"And why shouldn't a woman be Hamlet?" she asked. "He is, like Joan, an extraordinary figure. But Hamlet's problem is intellectual, rather than physical, so why should there be any great shock about having a woman play him?"

As Siobhan talked little thought clouds and laugh crinkles chased each other across her self-serious face, like ripples on a summer pond. She also has a habit, once I look, they'll say, "Oh, Siobhan, how you've failed!"

Miss McKenna's green eyes glowed as she talked of her future farm.

"Actresses are so foolish with their money," she said. "They should save it and buy a little farm they can retire to and live comfortably."

"I want a farm of only 40 acres. No swimming pool. No pigs. I've tried hard to like pigs, and I can't. But horses, yes. And cows. And a few fattening bullocks to pay the bills—so that I can gamble a bit on the horses."

In Gaelic Siobhan McKenna's name means "A bright spirit sprung from fire." It fits this Colleen as neatly as do her freckles.

Bob Considine Says:

U.N. Does Not Concentrate on Suez Alone

UNITED NATIONS, New York (INS) — Last one gain the impression that all other work at the U.N. has been dropped, while the great powers struggle over the Suez question, he assured that such is not the case.

Yesterday, while Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, British Foreign Minister Selwyn Lloyd, French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau and Egyptian Foreign Minister Mahmoud Fawzi haggled high in the topless glass house, carefully refraining from throwing rocks, things were buzzing downstairs.

A beautiful Indian girl in a lovely sari led a gawping group of 50 sightseers through a superbly designed hallway. U.N. is New York's biggest tourist trap.

It makes $1,000,000 a year showing visitors through the place, plus another $5,000,000 from its restaurants, bars, U.N. stamp sales, souvenir shop, etc. This money goes into the organization's general fund.

In conference room No. 10 a meeting was taking place that bespoke the growing age of the world body. A neat sign outside read, "Standing Committee of the United Nations Joint Staff Pension Fund."

SALARIES AND ATOMS
In conference room No. 6, the "Salary Review Committee" was meeting. In No. 4 there was the 14th plenary meeting of the "Conference on the Statute of the International Atomic Energy Agency."

That's a doozy of a meeting. There are representatives of 82 nations in attendance. The theme is the peaceful use of the atom, growing out of President Eisenhower's historic speech of Dec. 8, 1955, which urged that all nations with uranium or atomic know-how pool their resources and share knowledge and material for the general good.

We will toss 55,000 pounds of uranium into the international pot, for starters. When one realizes that only a few pounds of the stuff has been powering the submarine USS Nautilus around the world's oceans for a year and more without refueling, the immensity of the gift is more clearly comprehended.

There's an argument. The Russians especially are wary of the plan to police this operation. We want to make darn sure that the nations which gets this ferocious fuel use it to develop power and in research of all peaceful kinds.

We want a guard system set up which would prevent Red China, let us say, from hijacking a ship-

CONTROL OF WASTE

We want to know what happens to the waste, too, the "ashes" of remote atomic furnaces our fuel will stoke. Russia and some other countries say that this would be an invasion of their sovereignty. And so the argument continues, but Suez gets the headlines.

The Jordanian ambassador, Abdul Monem Rifal, was up in arms during the day. He summoned Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold out of the big foreign ministers' meeting and asked for Security Council consideration of the latest Israeli retaliatory raid.

Elsewhere, a U.N. group issued funds, food and medical supplies to the camps in which 800,000 Arabs, evicted from Israel, are housed.

Somewhere in the building, Yugoslavia's Foreign Minister Koca Popovic waited a chance to explain privately to Dulles why his boss, Tito, appears to be playing footsie with the Kremlin again. Popovic wants continued U.S. aid.

Perhaps an even more delicate matter was being handled today by the three-year-old "Committee on the Question of Defining Aggression."

It probes such puzzlers as "at what point in an aggression against a member state should the United Nations armed force retaliate if we had a United Nations armed force?" and "if an H-bomb hit New York (or London, Paris, Moscow, etc.) and there was no hint as to the direction whence it came, nor legal proof of its launcher, would that constitute aggression?"

Elsewhere in the building, the Irish worked on a plan to present the partition question to the General Assembly, and the British went over the defense they will use. That one could raise the roof.

Bolivians claim that 70,000 cattle and 20,000 sheep are smuggled yearly into other countries, La Paz learns. The government-controlled meat price is blamed.

Benson Aims Farm Views in Newly Published Book

WASHINGTON (U) — Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson sets forth his agricultural philosophy in a new book, "Farmers at the Crossroads."

The Republican National Committee says it plans to buy and distribute some copies and a New York foundation has arranged to sell paper-bound editions.

The 107-page book, based on Benson's speeches and released when his policies are a major campaign issue, is credited to Benson "as told to Carlisle Barger." Barger is a public relations man and magazine writer.

The cover jacket describes the book as "the agricultural testament of a man who learned about farming by farming, and whom President Eisenhower considers one of the greatest secretaries of agriculture in the history of the country."

The principle of flexible price supports for farm products—Eisenhower policy—is strongly backed by Benson in the book as against higher rigid supports backed by the Democrats for basic crops.

The theory of flexible supports is that low incentives will reduce production in times of surplus and that high supports will stimulate it at times of scarcity.

"1956-57 is a time of decision," Benson wrote. "The battle against ruinous high rigid price supports was won in 1954 and successfully defended in 1955. But the attack will continue. We must safeguard and extend our gains. Eternal vigilance is the price of freedom. We must stand and be counted for what we know is right."

At Last, Our Culinary Skill Is Recognized!

No One Has to Apologize for U.S. Cookery

By PHYLLIS BATTLELLE
NEW YORK (INS) — The time has come for all good Americans to hold up their heads proudly in little French restaurants and announce to obsequious waiters: "A Kansas City steak please — and leave off that bearnaise sauce. I don't like it." Herein lies a remark would have been cause for calling a gendarme.

Potter Praises U.S. War on TB

Says Disease Rate Cut to 'Manageable Size' by Health Service

DETROIT (U.S.) — Federal government support of research in TB has been credited by Sen. Potter (R-Mich) with "reducing tuberculosis to manageable size."

Long-range work by the Public Health Service is "paying off in practical results," Potter said in a speech prepared for delivery at the Mississippi Valley Conference on Tuberculosis.

He predicted continued support in Congress of the search for drugs to fight the disease. Potter noted $545,000 was allotted by the 84th Congress to finance human experiments with the preventive drug, isoniazid.

He said the dramatic decline in deaths from TB clears the way for attention to such special problems as "accumulation" of the disease in older persons, TB in migratory, vagrant and other mobile groups and a system of follow-through to insure complete treatment.

Some 800 delegates from 12 Mid-west states, including physicians and volunteer and professional workers in TB associations, are attending the three-day conference.

Quarles Urges U.S. to Show Off Best Weapons

LOS ANGELES (U.S.) — The United States should exhibit its best weapons and make known its intent to use them at once to repel aggression, Secretary of the Air Force Donald A. Quarles said last night.

Quarles said such a policy would prove the best deterrent to atomic war.

"A deterrent that is hidden from the aggressor is no deterrent at all," he told the Los Angeles World Affairs Council.

In the atomic age, said Quarles, a nation's security depends primarily on the military strength it has in being, rather than what it may have in reserve.

Plan Dinner to Aid Family in Avon

Friends Rally to Help Smiths

Heart Ailments Strike Father, Daughter; Bills Drain Finances

AVON TOWNSHIP — A benefit dinner is planned for Oct. 22 by friends and neighbors of the Ralph Smith family, whose finances have been beset first with a heart attack making the father unable to work for many months and now hospitalization of a son, Nathan, five months old.

The Smiths live at 2827 Gravel Ridge Rd., and their friends gathered three doors away last night, at the home of Mrs. Robert Dodman, 2774 Gravel Ridge Rd., to plan the buffet dinner.

Smith's financial problem centers around inability to gain state aid, according to Mrs. Dodman.

When he was first stricken, his doctor estimated he would be disabled for three months, but now expects it will be much longer. The attack was nine weeks ago.

State officials here say four-months disability is needed before aid can be given, and say they must use the original time estimate, Mrs. Dodman reports.

Though Smith is home now, and able to move about and ride in a car, he will not be able to return to his gas station mechanic's job, because of his heart condition.

Meanwhile, two of his three preschool children have been stricken with pneumonia. Paula, 2, is back home with her brother, Randall, 4, and her parents, but Nathan's case was complicated with a heart condition.

Baskets of food have been given by the neighbors, living in and around the Brooklands subdivision, church members of the Rochester Baptist Church, to which the family belongs, and the Metropolitan Club.

Funds have been given by relatives and friends, especially through a collection at the Ted Stauffer's gas station at John E. and Auburn Roads.

About 200 are expected at the dinner at Brooklands School, for which about ten women are working with Mrs. Dodman. Others would be welcomed to the committee, she says.

Luther League to Hear Expert on Handwriting

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP — A handwriting expert will be presented when the Luther League, the young people's group of Christ Lutheran Church, begins its 1956-57 season of activities Sunday at 6:30 p.m.

With the members divided into three sections, Group three will present Vernon Gatzka, handwriting expert, as the highlight of this first program.

Group two is in charge of decorations and group one will entertain with games and will also furnish refreshments.

The meetings and the league are open to all young people in the area, and a special invitation is issued to those who would like to have their handwriting analyzed.

Williams Lake Swim Club Annual Banquet Friday

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP — The Williams Lake Swim Club will hold its annual awards banquet Friday at 6:30 p.m. in the auditorium of Drayton Plains School.

Most of the forty members participated in five swimming meets this past summer—one sponsored by the Detroit Recreation Department, the Chautauqua Opens at Dayton, Ohio, the Glass City Aquatic Tournament at Toledo, the Michigan AAU competition in Saginaw, and the American Turners of Detroit.

The dinner will be potluck. Each family is asked to bring their own table service, rolls, butter, one main dish and one pie.

Fare sale night has been changed from Oct. 22 to Oct. 29. This sale will provide funds for the annual Halloween party for about 1,300 children.

Waterford BPW to Use Tell Jean O'Henley's Club Funds for Election

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP — The Business and Professional Women's Club members outlined plans for financial projects when they met Tuesday evening at "Aunt Fannie's" restaurant for dinner. Currently the club is sponsoring a series of citizens' meetings to study township problems and government.

Any change in the type of government would cost $500 to defray election costs, according to the Oakland County Board of Supervisors. The BPW would furnish part of this amount but would secure the balance from interested groups or individuals in the township.

The BPW's annual card party will be held October 30, in the CAI Building, 5640 Williams Lake Road. Dessert will be served at 8 p.m.

7 Cars Derailed on NYC at Dexter

DEXTER (AP)—Derailment of seven cars of a 53-car New York Central freight train early today blocked the main double track line of the railroad in this Washington County village.

Traffic between Chicago and Detroit was rerouted to the north as a wrecking crew of 60 workers, using bulldozers, cleared away debris and asphalt that spilled on the roadbed.

Railroad officials said they expect to clear the lines partly at least by this afternoon. An adjoining spur line also was blocked.

No one was injured in the wreck that occurred at 3:30 a.m. three blocks from Dexter's downtown business district.

Damage was estimated at $25,000.

A. L. Purcell, division trainmaster at Jackson, said four of the seven derailed cars are beyond repair.

A tank car loaded with asphalt tipped over and spilled its cargo onto the side of the tracks. A bulldozer was used to dig a ditch to let the asphalt flow away.

NEW YORK (INS)—Luis Estevez, the 26-year-old boy wonder of fashion, thinks a woman should look as good retreating as she does advancing.

So his enticing dresses for spring feature peek-a-boo necklines in front, and no necklines in back.

Estevéz, who in three short seasons has snapped up every major fashion award in the U. S., plunges his back necklines right down to the waistline . . . but never in a mere display of skin.

Sometimes the plunge starts wide and narrows, sometimes it curves like a huge "U." It always makes an interesting line, accenting his signature sheaths: Skin tight, unbelted, and clinging from bust to calf.

The young designer, who calls his spring collection "Pan-American" in honor of the Latin American colors and trends he uses, offers some news in front necklines too.

In addition to his famed halter neck with bare shoulders, there are cross-shoulders, ring halters and wide "V" bands.

The newest neckline, though, is a "keyhole" which offers a peek at your throat.

UM Banishes the Blues

Army Game Now Holds the Spotlight

Campus Planning to Welcome Cadets This Weekend

By CECILE DUMBRIGUE
It took Sunday, Monday, and Tuesday of this week for U. of M. students to adjust to the cold, harsh facts: MSU, 9 — Michigan, 0.

However, on Wednesday, vitality began to flow back into campus activities, with the opening of the 103rd season of the University Lecture Series, featuring a noted syndicated news columnist, foreign correspondent and author, Marquis Childs.

He spoke in Hill Auditorium on the subject of the coming elections and the preceding campaigns. "The Road Ahead" was the title of his evening address.

On Thursday, Hill Auditorium was packed with music lovers to hear a program of light operatic works played by the famous Mantovani and his orchestra.

The concert featured some of the works of Franz Lehár, Saint-Saens, Rudolf Friml and Richard Rodgers. "Begin the Beguine," "Donkey Serenade" and "Some Enchanted Evening" were performed.

UM vs ARMY
Today, with the campus back to normal, preparations are being made for the Michigan-Army game tomorrow.

The Women's League has been working on a project of entertaining the thousands of West Point cadets who will invade Ann Arbor. Dates and parties for the West Pointers are being arranged by both Greek letter and independent organizations.

Besides giving special parties for the cadets, fraternities are holding post-game open houses.

Attending the game this Saturday will be Karen Barling, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Barling of West Iroquois road; Louis Schimmel, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Schimmel, also of West Iroquois road; and Bob Bailey, son of the R. E. Baileys of Longfellow avenue.

This weekend's post-game activities will be highlighted by "Varsity Night," Michigan's favorite all campus revue of student talent.

It is sponsored by the university bands and will take place in Hill Auditorium Saturday night at 8:15.

Participating as a member of the Symphony Band will be Judy Palmer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Palmer of Dakota drive.

Shower Given for Bride-Elect Marilyn Bigham

Letting Kids Have Total TV Say-So May Go Too Far

Parents Better Retain Veto Power to Keep 'Democracy' Semi-Smooth

By RUTH MILLETT

The television set has brought democracy into the American home, according to a social psychologist.

This psychologist has made a study of homes with and without TV. He's concluded that letting Sis and Junior have a say-so in what programs the family will watch has had a far-reaching effect. It is far more than whether or not Papa watches the ball game or Sis sees and hears her favorite groaner belting out rock-and-roll songs.

From having a say-so in turning the television dial, kids have gone on to have a say-so in many other family decisions. That's what the professor says.

The big problem for parents is where will it all end?

Just how democratic can a home become and Mama and Papa still carry enough authority to issue a flat "no," or a stern "Do it because I say so?"

There's another problem, too.

In any family discussion kids tend to hold together. If Mama and Papa have more than two children they are sure to be outnumbered in this family democracy.

Before our homes get any more democratic than they already are maybe we parents had better give a little thought to our future.

We had better hold fast to the power of the veto when the voting goes against us. Either that or we are going to find ourselves a minority group in a family democracy where we got outvoted at every turn.

Of course, we could get rid of the TV set and try to go back to the good old days when Mama and Papa handed down the decisions. But it is probably too late for that.

A lightweight wool, soft to the touch, is shown here. The red and green plaid suit is by Ben Reig. Red leather accents suggest a high waistline at the front and back of the fitted jacket.

Clarkston, Avondale Homecomings Slated

Football, Books, Top Interests of Week

Homecoming celebrations continue to dominate the social news at area high schools this week as Avondale celebrates the occasion in festivities tonight and Clarkston next week.

AT CLARKSTON

Clarkston's Varsity held an election last week to pick the queen for Homecoming which will be held next week. Each of the four maids who are to attend the queen was chosen by the boys of her class.

The girls were presented in a special pep meeting during a tapping ceremony in which the boys came and tapped them on the shoulders to indicate that they had been chosen.

The queen is senior Sharon Glennie and her maids are senior Brenda Milam; junior Hazel Miller; sophomore Ruth Ann Carmean; and freshmen Janyth Tebo.

The Hi-Y, with its sponsor F. Vincent, held its first meeting of the school year. Next week the boys will vote for a president, vice president, secretary, treasurer, and chaplain.

AT WALLED LAKE

Although still engrossed in

Christmas card sales, the junior executive committee has turned its attention to making plans for the traditional J-Hop to be held on Nov. 16.

Meeting again today, they are pondering a theme for the dance which will be held at the school. Mrs. Paul Kirk will represent the junior sponsors in seeing that all committees are performing their duties.

The pep band made its debut at last week's pep assembly which was emceed by Wendell Power.

AT LAKE ORION

The week of the game with Oxford is here. The game is at Oxford and it is their homecoming game. A local merchant has donated a trophy for all Orion-Oxford games.

The presidents of the student councils and the senior presidents of the two schools met and named the trophy the "bronze boot."

The Orion band is accompanying the team for this game and will play at halftime. A dance at the youth center will follow the game.

The senior magazine sale closed last week. Some 626 magazine subscriptions totalling $2,298.55 were sold.

The school has a system of sending unsatisfactory reports to the parents by mail before the actual marking cards are made out. Reports went out this week.

The Student Council president, Jack Shafer, is chairman of a group that is helping the junior high organize a student council of its own.

AT AVONDALE

The moment which everyone at Avondale has been waiting for has nearly arrived. Tonight at half-time of the Avondale-Roseville football game, the homecoming queen will be crowned. The coronation climaxes weeks of planning for the school's first homecoming celebration.

The halftime program includes a performance by the Avondale marching band and the judging of floats as well as the crowning of the queen and her court. Many floats have been entered by various organizations including the four classes, FHA, Varsity Club, and Student Council. Immediately following the game, the first annual homecoming dance will be held in the school gym.

AT LINCOLN

Lincoln Junior girls in the sewing classes are blossoming out in a variety of colored skirts and blouses they have made in the homemaking classes under the direction of Alice Allen, homemaking instructor.

7 B's are busy polishing up an assembly to give as a response to the 9 A's clever welcome. Gladys Wilkinson and Hazel Potts are having daily rehearsals to prepare for the event.

The cafeteria has been gaily decorated with a huge, balanced work of art made of wire, metal and colored paper. Margaret Burrette, art instructor, directed Jim Garris and Harold Anderson in the execution of this complicated eye-catching project.

AT ROCHESTER

An assembly was given to Rochester students Monday, by the Student Council. The whole junior high filled the gym to see George Britton, folk song singer. The assembly lasted almost an hour and included songs in Latin, German and Dutch.

AT EASTERN

Ninth grade Civics classes with their teacher, Mrs. Helen Jesse, enjoyed a field trip to City Hall Monday and Wednesday. Lewis Wrenn, city engineer, conducted the group through the building. He explained the Pontiac city government and how the building serves the people of Pontiac.

Students were particularly interested in the bronze seal of the City of Pontiac and the flag of the city, which stands behind the mayor's chair in the city room.

Eastern's football schedule for the remainder of the season is: Eastern vs. Washington, Oct. 11; Eastern vs. Madison, Oct. 18; Eastern vs. Lincoln, Oct. 24.

Cheerleaders Form New Club

St. Frederick Students Observe Forty Hours Devotion

By MARGARET DRAKE

This week at St. Frederick began with Forty Hours devotion which opened with a solemn High Mass Sunday morning at 10 o'clock with our pastor, the Rev. Thompson Marcero, officiating.

It closed with solemn services on Tuesday evening. High school students, especially members of the senior class, spent a great deal of their free hours in meditation at church.

Something new has been inaugurated with the formation of the Cheerleading Club. It combines the junior and senior cheerleaders into one unit for a closer coordination of their cheers. Ardith Green head the organization.

Julie Anne Slowik, a member of the junior class, has had the students enchanted with her vivid account of her experiences with the famous Trapp Family Singers in Stowe, Vt., this summer.

In addition to her singing, folk dancing and recordings she related to the classes on Monday incidents in the lives of the famous singers who arrived from Austria some years ago and who have toured the world giving concerts.

"Freshie Finale" will be held tonight in St. Vincent hall from 8:30 'til 11:30. The weekly Friday evening Teen club dance will not be held in order that everyone can concentrate on the "end for freshmen initiation."

Officers elected for the Teen club are president, Mickey Morrow; vice president, Marie Lewandowski; secretary, Pat Smith, and treasurer, Wally Quarles.

HAZING DAZE — St. Fred freshmen expect an end to their woes tonight as their week of hazing from upper classmen ends. Properly initiated to high school life are two rather unwilling "frosh" above. The kneeling twosome especially welcomes the end of the week. They are Pat Clevering and Mike Mathews. On the other side of the picture wielding their upper class influence are left to right Dick Thompson, Sally Hildebrandt and Wally Quarles.

Mercy Errands Set for Vet, Boy

Cancer-Stricken Father Dies 3 Children; Baby Flown to Hospital

CLEVELAND (AP)—Two errands of mercy have been arranged for a World War II veteran now lying in a hospital in a Cleveland hospital and yearning for a last visit from his three children in Lorain.

A two-week-old baby boy in St. Joseph Hospital here, needing surgery to remove a growth on his head and give him a chance to live.

Both of these needs were filled by aerial missions of mercy arranged by the Lorain Red Cross.

Last night Mary Jane Boyett, 12, and her brothers, Frank Jr., 10, and James, 14, arrived back in Cleveland Hopkins Airport, tired and happy. They had seen their father, Frank Boyett Sr., 37, who knew that death from cancer was close to him and wanted to talk to his children once more. Divorced from their mother, he hadn't seen them in seven years. The Ohio Air National Guard flew the youngsters there and back in a C-47.

Today another C-47 makes a special trip from McGuire Air Force Base in New Jersey to Cleveland to pick up John Joseph Suter Jr. and take him to Walter Reed Hospital for at least two operations on his tiny head. His father is Army Pvt. John J. Suter, stationed at Oak Lawn, Ill., and home in Lorain on emergency leave. He is going to accompany his first-born on the flight.

CD Alert Scheduled

DETROIT (AP)—A mock disaster alert involving 21,000 school children in Dearborn will be staged Tuesday with Civil Defense, Red Cross, fire and police units taking part. The exercise will test the school system's communications and emergency organization.

16 Words Win Pot-O-Gold Prize

$1,125 Solution Outlined for Readers

These are the explanations for correct answers to Pot-O-Gold Puzzle No. 18 which appeared in last week's Press.

1. ZOOM is right. Two words in the clue, "flying" and "must," point to the word ZOOM, a sudden rise in a plane which "must prove exhilarating." Zoom could be a blowup that would be jarring rather than exhilarating, and as a financial rise, it could be in a field totally unrelated to the financier, flying or not.

2. HOW is right. The question of Who (whodunit?) is of major importance compared to the question of HOW (how it was done). HOW is, of course, of some importance.

3. ROUND is right. We can definitely state that if a ROUND (a song like "Three Blind Mice") is of a musical nature, it will appeal to the people who sing it, some few people at the very least. As for musical sound, in the sense of tone, it appeals to a great many people, a good deal more inclusive term than "some."

4. MILD is right. It would be a contradiction in terms to state that any form of excitement is LAMP, or flaccid, lacking tension and vibrancy. There are MILD forms of excitement as opposed to raw violence. For example, the outcome of a race is a milder form of excitement than a fistfight or a smashup scene.

5. ALUM is right. Since ALUM is a bitter substance used in drugs, and it can be applied so as to be tasted, it certainly could be regarded with distaste. A Malt is a heavy hammer used to drive wedges. As such, no distaste is involved. If a malt were to be applied to someone's person, the term "distaste" would be too great an understatement.

6. LEGION is right. LEGION, in this sense, means very many. People may be Genial (warm and friendly) without being very numerous, and a door-to-door salesman needs unlimited prospects to make a living.

7. FAT is right. In spite of the fact that sailors in merchant vessels are housed in the forecastle (which is not Aft, or toward the stern), we cannot state flatly that sailors (any sailors) who may work or remain aft have an easier job just because they are not in the forecastle. But a sailor who is FAT, and remains FAT on the job, certainly cannot be having too hard a job.

8. QUICK is right. The term "doctor" is allowable for a Quack or one who practices medicine without proper authority. It must be doctor who is QUICK, who can have a large practice. His quickness makes this possible.

9. SOLE is the word. Some would be too vague in this sense. Since SOLE is a valuable food fish, it follows that SOLE fisherman will often make a good profit on their catch.

10. SLAP is right. "Friendly Pals" would be redundant because pals are friends. A friendly SLAP will be forgiven even if it hurts; otherwise, the word "friendly" would be inappropriate.

11. BLOCK is right. BLOCK letters are much clearer than Black letters. Black-letter type is very fanciful and ornate, not at all clear or easy to read. BLOCK letters are simple and clear.

12. FLIGHT is right. Flight can be construed as cowardice, and fear of a stronger force, or of consequences. FLIGHT, or running away, is often construed as guilt because it implies an unwillingness to face the music.

13. LOCO is right. If a hepcat (rabid devotee of jazz and other forms of modern music) is "real cool" that does not mean he cannot appreciate Bach. In fact, many musicians of great accomplishment are devotees of jazz and the classics too, LOCO slangily, (crazy) is the word to choose. There would be no point in playing Bach for a LOCO hepcat.

14. FUN is right. An amateur ball game is any game played for FUN. While such a game may have a few in evidence, in sandlot contests there are often hardly enough players to make a full team for each side, much less to leave even one over to be a fan. This is especially the case when youngsters play.

15. BONE is right. No matter what kind of bone you may be thinking of (geometrical, pine or ice-cream), you can readily see that one does not have to be an expert to find its particular shape unmistakable. A real expert on BONES (or anatomy) will certainly recognize a BONE unmistakably: that is, he will not mistake an arm BONE for a leg BONE, and so forth. One who is not an expert could certainly fail to identify many a BONE properly.

16. FRENCH is right. In general, the whole world knows how to apply a Wrench since it is a simple enough mechanism for even a child to apply correctly. So it is FRENCH you must choose. It is undeniable that FRENCH can be applied correctly by certain people (natives of France and good linguists of other countries), but in general, FRENCH is not an easy thing to use or apply correctly.

Hart Answers Cobo Attacks on Williams

MARQUETTE (AP)—Lieut. Gov. Philip A. Hart said last night Mayor Albert E. Cobo of Detroit, has been wrong in almost every attack he has made on Gov. Williams.

Hart said Cobo, Republican gubernatorial candidate, accused the Mennen Co. of New Jersey, of which Williams is a director, of "breaking" a union by moving 15 miles away.

"Did you ever hear of a company running 15 miles away to break a union? Do you think any Michigan union would be broken by a 15-mile change of plant location?" he asked.

Hart also denied Cobo's accusation the Mennen plant buys foreign trucks instead of Michigan-made vehicles.

Actually, Hart said, only one of the trucks is foreign-made. All of the rolling stock inside the plant is Michigan-manufactured, he said.

The only charge Cobo has made against Williams that will stand up, Hart said, is that "Williams wears big shoes."

"His shoes are big," Hart said. "They are so big that I'm sure the people of this state cannot be persuaded that the mayor of Detroit would ever be able to fill them."

Boy Who Killed Dad Barred From Rites

CLEVELAND (AP)—A 14-year-old boy who shot his father dead can't go to the funeral today, a Juvenile Court judge ruled.

For Robert Zavalnak to attend the funeral of his father, Joseph J. Zavalnak, would make the boy "the butt of curiosity seekers," Judge Albert A. Woldman said. Also, the court added, the boy had not asked to go and "has shown no remorse."

Mrs. Frances Zavalnak, the boy's mother, disagreed with the ruling.

"It's his last chance to see his father; he should be allowed to see him," she said.

The boy is undergoing psychiatric tests. Oct. 26 he will be given a hearing in Juvenile Court and it will be decided how he will be prosecuted for shooting his father Albert A. Woldman said. Also, the Monday night.
