Gubernatorial Small Talk

PRE-CONVENTION CHAT — Governors W. Averill Harriman, of New York, and G. Mennen Williams indulge in some pre-convention talk, possibly about the nameless initial at the beginning of each of their names. The annual Governor's Conference opens today in Williamsburg, Va.

Williams Hits Dems on Civil Rights Action

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. (AP)—Five-times Gov. G. Mennen Williams of Michigan was here rubbing shoulders with other governors today while giving no clear hint on his 1958 thinking.

At the same time, the Michigan Democrat made it clear he was not pleased with the actions of certain Democrats in relation to civil rights legislation.

On civil rights he was critical of Democrats in Congress, charging they failed to follow the "dictates" of the party's convention.

Williams, here for the 49th annual governors conference, fended off questions at a press conference about himself for 1958 — or the 1960 presidential nomination.

Next year Williams may have to decide between running for a sixth term as governor or for the U.S. Senate against Republican Sen. Charles Potter.

He avoided discussion on this. But he was forceful in comment on civil rights.

If the Democratic Party hopes to win in 1960, he said, it must take a "firm stand" in support of civil rights.

Without a "firm, positive stand" on civil rights in 1960, he said, the Democrats "can't win."

COULDN'T COMMEND THEM

The governor, who said he does not know yet whether he will run for another term as governor or for the Senate, said he could not "commend" the Northern Democrats who voted against putting the House-passed civil rights bill directly on the Senate calendar.

★ ★ ★

Williams said he thought the Democrats in Congress do not necessarily represent the party's views since party policies are set by the Democratic National Conventions.

Republican governors attending the conference generated strong opposition today to any action by President Dwight D. Eisenhower to designate the 1960 GOP presidential nominee.

Eisenhower will address the conference tonight in what is billed as a nonpolitical address, dealing primarily with relations between the federal government and the states.

Gov. Goodwin J. Knight of California told a news conference yesterday that if Eisenhower believes it would be to the best interests of the Republican party and the country to indicate his support of a successor, Knight would welcome such an action.

But Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin of Maryland, who proposed Eisenhower's nomination to the 1952 GOP convention, said: "I don't think the President will do anything like that or should do anything like that."

"That certainly would not be in the nature of President Eisenhower."

Gov. William G. Stratton of Illinois said he does not believe Eisenhower should or would attempt to pick a successor.

He said he doubts any of those now mentioned prominently for the Republican nomination will survive the next three years of political maneuverings.

Milford Resident Leads Contest

Comes Near Guessing June's Hottest Moment in Press Competition

Unless the mercury climbs higher than the 94 degrees registered by the Pontiac Press thermometer Monday, June 17, Frances Ellis Scott, of 4365 England Beach Rd., Milford, can count herself winner of the $100 savings bond for guessing June's hottest moment.

Her prediction for the month's hottest temperature was just three minutes away from the highest temperature recorded thus far in June.

But the element of surprise plays a major role in this game.

Until the temperature for the final moment of the last day has been recorded, the winner of the contest will not be known for certain. There is still one more week left and anything can happen.

Cooler temperatures have prevailed for the last few days, but don't forget the U.S. Weather Bureau has reported that Michigan will gain more heat from the sun than it loses until August. Another heat wave could be on the way.

Even though you have already sent in your entry for June, don't forget that there is another Weather Man contest for July.

Picnic Weather Due Tomorrow in Area

The weather outlook for Pontiac and vicinity tonight is partly cloudy with a low of 56 to 60 degrees.

Tomorrow will be fair and a little warmer, with the mercury expected to reach a high near 80.

North to northeast winds at 8 to 14 miles an hour will become variable at 4 to 8 miler an hour tonight.

The lowest temperature recorded in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. was 58. At 2 p.m. the mercury registered 72.

Fallout Now Only 5 Pct.

WASHINGTON (INS)—The nation's top atomic scientists told President Eisenhower today the U. S. is now able to produce H-bombs and other nuclear weapons 95 per cent free of deadly radioactive fallout.

County Highways Clogged by Lake-Bound Motorists

Traffic congestion in Oakland County hit the season's peak yesterday as thousands took advantage of clear skies and warm temperatures, rushing to cottages and swimming areas.

The Oakland County Sheriff's Department reported that traffic was heavy throughout the county, but the main center of congestion seemed to be in Waterford Township and the Keego Harbor area.

Deputies also said that Commerce road was another bumper-to-bumper area, especially near Dodge State Park No. 5. Traffic was lined up for a half-mile to either side of Commerce road on Union Lake road as early as mid-afternoon.

State troopers reported bumper-to-bumper traffic on M-59 from Elizabeth Lake to a point well past Pontiac Lake as people began leaving the swimming areas to return home late Sunday afternoon.

A spokesman at Dodge State Park on Cass Lake, reported the swimmers and picnickers to be more numerous than any time previously this year. They reported the crowd was heavy all day long.

Other reports said traffic was backed up from Long Lake road to Voorheis road at about 9:30 p.m. last night. Traffic was also moving very slowly on James Cousins Highway, being bumper-to-bumper for almost a mile behind the Telegraph road intersection, on the Detroit-bound thoroughfare.

L. Ewing Scott Asks Freedom in Court

LOS ANGELES (INS) — L. Ewing Scott will appear in Los Angeles Superior Court today in an attempt to get his freedom from charges that he murdered his wealthy missing wife, Mrs. Evelyn Throsby Scott.

Judge Louis H. Burke will hear arguments from Scott's attorney, P. Basil Lambros, in support of a motion to dismiss the murder indictment returned by the Los Angeles grand jury.

Lambros has also asked for dismissal of indictments charging nine counts of forgery and four of grand theft based on Scott's alleged mishandling of his wife's $600,000 estate.

Waterford Fight on Police Chief Looms Tonight

Petition Circulators Plan to Battle Elimination of Van Atta's Post

A fight over the dismissal of Waterford Township Police Chief Frank J. Van Atta looms tonight at the weekly township board meeting.

Petitions are being circulated in the township for reinstatement of Van Atta, whose position was eliminated last Monday by the board in a financial cutback.

Instigators of the petitions claim Van Atta was unfairly treated in his release from the four-year-old department. They feel he should have been retained in some capacity.

★ ★ ★

The petition battle may become a re-enactment of similar actions two years ago, when Van Atta was fired by the township board for alleged political activities.

At that time, more than 1,000 names were obtained on petitions asking for reinstatement of the chief. When more than 400 people showed up at the board meeting, it was moved outside to the back lawn of the township hall.

Citizen pressure resulted in the rehiring of Van Atta. Backers of the petition drive also cite a recent five per cent township employe pay raise as evidence that there is money to retain the chief.

PRESENT EN MASSE

According to Mrs. Jack Blanchard, one of the backers of the project, Waterford Township residents plan to be present en masse at tonight's 7:30 p.m. meeting at the township hall.

Other business of the board will cover a hearing of a representative from an ice cream firm, protesting a recent decision of the board. The ruling had prohibited another vending truck in the area.

Residents in the Holiday Farms subdivision are circulating petitions to stop all ice cream trucks from selling in their subdivision. They are expected to present the petitions tonight, according to Township Clerk James Seeterlin.

Back-Road Crash Kills Six Teenagers

PAINTED POST, N. Y. (AP)—Six teenagers bound for a swimming party were killed in an auto crash on a country road Saturday night.

A seventh youngster was injured.

★ ★ ★

Three of the dead were to have graduated tonight from Painted Post High School.

The accident occurred at Waneta Lake, about 20 miles north of here.

Killed were Roland Leinhos, Jack Van Deventer, 17, and his sister Dorothy, 13; Patricia Bonzo, 14; Mary A. Murray, 15; and Stanley Bartlett, 17.

Richard Gumberts, 17, was hospitalized.

Their auto, according to state police, swerved to avoid a second car making a left turn in front of them, but struck it instead, shot up an embankment and smashed into a tree.

Plane Crash Kills 14

PORT HARDY, B. C. (AP)—The crash of a Pacific Western Airlines plane that killed 14 of the 18 persons aboard yesterday was apparently due to a ground control block left on the tail assembly.

This was indicated in a preliminary report issued by the line's headquarters.

The plane crashed as it was attempting to land a few minutes after taking off on its regularly scheduled flight to Vancouver, 190 air miles southeast.

In a statement released to the press, the airline said the pilot, Capt. Gerald W. Allen, 37, Vancouver, reported by radio immediately after taking off he was not satisfied with the feel of the plane and was returning for a checkup.

★ ★ ★

The airline statement said: "It appears from early reports that the cause of the accident was failure of some personnel to remove one of the ground control blocks which are always placed on the tail assembly."

Capt. Allen and his copilot Laurie Roland, 23, Vancouver, former Canadian Junior Open golf champion, were among those killed.

One woman, Mrs. J. Carver of Port Alice, B. C., was among the dead. Two Royal Canadian Air Force technicians were killed. The 11 other passengers killed were woods workers returning from a camp on Vancouver Island.

Patricia Wilson, 23, Vancouver, the stewardess, and three passengers, all Canadians, escaped through the rear emergency door.

Waterford, Rochester Men Die

Two Drown, One Injured in County Lake Accidents

Two Oakland County residents drowned in area waters this weekend, and a Detroit man was injured in a boating accident, as the sunny weather brought thousands to Oakland County lakes.

Dead are: Edward Lester, 36, of 4060 Totem Lane, Waterford Township, and Harvey Allen Gray, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Gray, 2780 Dearborn Dr. Rochester.

Lester drowned in Cass Lake Saturday while trying to save the lives of his children.

Oakland County Sheriff's reports stated that Lester, his wife Loretta, their children Bonnie, 9, Loris, 8, Ernest, 13, and a friend, Connie Miller, 14, were in a seven-foot flat-bottom boat when it was swamped by a wave and began sinking.

According to reports, Lester saved three of the four children and then went under himself while attempting to carry the fourth to safety. A boat arrived just after he went under and the girl was pulled to safety.

His body was recovered by deputies early Sunday morning. Deputies said the boat was overloaded.

The Gray boy drowned while playing with friends in a gravel pit at Spring Water Picnic Park, on South boulevard between Adams and Crooks roads in Avon Township.

The other boys, George Carpentor of 800 Robinwood Ave. and William Bell, of 2055 Woodelm St., Rochester, told Oakland County deputies and officers of the Troy Police Department that they had been playing on a log when suddenly Harvey fell off.

The boys said he was unable to swim and pulled them under each time they tried to save him. His body was recovered about an hour after the accident by deputies and members of the Troy Fire Department.

A Detroit man, Donald Lee Lessmeier, 28, of 19441 Fielding, was hit by a motorboat driven by Monica Hengstebeck, also of Detroit, while he was skin diving on Long Lake, in Commerce Township yesterday.

Lessmeier was taken to Pontiac General Hospital with severe cuts on the arms and back. He is reported to be in "satisfactory" condition today.

The accident occurred about 150 feet from shore, Sheriff's deputies report.

Hopes for Visit to Japan by Ike

Premier Kishi Takes Time to See Yankees Play Baseball

NEW YORK (AP)—Prime Minister Nobusuke Kishi of Japan said today he hopes "very much" that President Eisenhower will visit his country.

Kishi said he has not invited the President but has hopes that Eisenhower will return his visit.

Yesterday the visiting Japanese leader set diplomatic cares aside and took in a baseball game at Yankee Stadium.

He applauded and cheered as the American League - leading New York Yankees trounced the second-place Chicago White Sox, 9-2, in the first game of a doubleheader.

Kishi wore a Yankee baseball cap throughout the game. He sat next to Mrs. Edna Stengel, wife of Yankee Manager Casey Stengel.

Baseball is popular in Japan, and Kishi showed a sure knowledge of the game.

He kept a box score from start to finish. Like a true fan, he managed to juggle a soda pop, his pencil and the score card.

Kishi said today Japan would like to increase trade with Communist China to a total of 200 million dollars a year—in peaceful goods only.

Kishi told a news conference the present trade between the two countries totals 140 million dollars, with Japanese exports comprising 60 million and imports 80 million.

Kishi said Japan at present has no intention of recognizing Communist China.

★ ★ ★

Asked to comment on the case of William Girard, Army specialist accused of shooting a Japanese woman, Kishi said merely that he thought it should be "settled between the two countries in accordance with the administrative agreement between the two countries."

The question is whether Girard shall be tried by Jananese civilian authorities or by U. S. military authorities.

Violent Storms Flay 3 States

Oklahoma, Kansas Hit; Hail Size of Baseballs Injures 19 in Texas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Violent weekend storms inflicted new misery and damage on rain-plagued Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas.

Twenty Mexican farmers were caught in an open field yesterday near Ft. Stockton, Tex., when a vicious storm began showering them with hail stones "bigger than baseballs."

HAIL INJURES 19

Nineteen were injured, 16 of them requiring hospitalization for cuts and bruises. The injured were described as resembling in appearance victims of "a drunken brawl."

★ ★ ★

The hail caused considerable damage to cotton crops in the area.

Frank Stocker, a San Fernando, Calif., tourist en route to St. Petersburg, Fla., said huge hailstones smashed all the windows in his car during the 20-minute storm.

He pulled to the side of the road and had his wife and son lie on the car floor. He said he suffered a cut on the arm from flying glass.

★ ★ ★

A cloudburst dumped 3 inches of rain at Midland in West Texas. High winds snapped some power lines.

Downpours in Oklahoma caused some flash flooding and sent rivers on the rise again.

The rains apparently were the final blow to many wheat farmers in northwestern counties of the state.

Toll-Free Road Won't Stop Bid for Area 'Pike'

Route Seen as Link in Interstate Network Reaching Mackinac

State approval has been given to the first and southernmost section of the proposed Southfield Expressway.

The State Highway Department authorized the Wayne County Road Commission to begin a field survey and draft final construction plans for a 13-mile, $70,400,000 expressway from the Detroit Industrial Expressway to Nine Mile road and the Northwestern highway.

The road would connect with the Detroit-Toledo Expressway to the south, and be designated an interstate highway.

A spokesman for George N. Higgins, Michigan Turnpike Authority Chairman, said the announcement came as "no surprise," and probably would not affect the authority's plans to seek approval of a Detroit-Pontiac - Flint Turnpike from highway-commissioner-elect John D. Mackie.

"We knew about six months ago that Ziegler had asked Wayne County to start preliminary plans," the spokesman said.

★ ★ ★

As a federal road, the Southfield highway would be financed 90 per cent through federal funds. The state, county and local communities would share in the remaining 10 per cent.

★ ★ ★

As described by the highway department, the new road would be the first section of what eventually is planned as an interstate expressway running to Mackinac City.

NEXT SPRING

The highway department said construction should begin next spring and be completed by late 1961. Following the present route of Southfield road, the expressway would be a depressed roadway with eight 12-foot lanes and a 24-foot center island.

No plans were announced for extension of the road through Oakland County.

The Oakland County section has long been controversial, with many residents of Southfield road communities bitterly contesting location of a limited-access highway in their neighborhoods.

★ ★ ★

Another decision still forthcoming is the route of the road at Pontiac. A number of Pontiac groups have proposed the road pass through the city just west of the downtown area and be called the Pontiac Central Artery.

The highway department's announcement, made just nine days before Commissioner Charles M. Ziegler retires after 14 years in office, was bound to have some effect on the proposed

Senate Committee Meets on Rights Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Judiciary Committee members face up today to the question of what to do about civil rights legislation now that the Senate has voted to keep a House-passed bill out of their hands.

Sen. Eastland (D-Miss), committee chairman and an outspoken foe of civil rights measures, said in advance he would have no prediction on what might happened at the closed-door meeting.

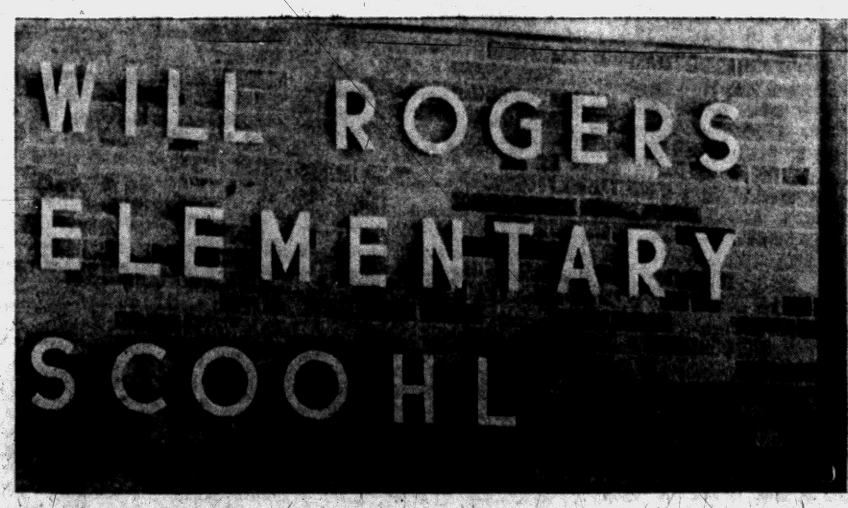

The bill passed by the House last week was put on the Senate calendar through an unusual parliamentary maneuver. Some supporters of civil rights legislation are none too happy about the shortcut. They have indicated they still would like the senate committee to report out a bill of its own.

Probe Ordered in Plane Crash

3 Area Men Escape in Emergency Landing by Navy Craft in East

The U. S. Defense Department today ordered a full scale probe into the crash landing of a Navy patrol bomber Sunday in which nine men, including three area residents, escaped injury.

The twin-engined Neptune P2V crash landed on a sand bank in Lake Champlain in New York after the pilot radioed that he was having fuel pressure trouble.

The area men involved were Lt. W. E. MacDonald, of Birmingham; Lt. W. A. McColl, of Ferndale, and Chief machinist mate W. C. Coryell, of Milford.

The Navy described the flight as a routine training mission from Grosse Ile Naval Air Station, in Detroit, to Anacostia Air Base, near Washington, D. C.

The men took to a life raft within 30 seconds after the landing. They were picked up by a private motor launch and taken ashore. A helicopter then flew them to Ethan Allen Air Force Base.

The plane was believed to be not seriously damaged.

The pilot had radioed that he was getting erratic fuel pressure from one engine and no pressure from another. He reported he was returning to his base at Plattsburg, N. Y. but radioed again, 15 minutes later, to say he was crash landing.

Members of the crew were reported in good shape. They were treated to a special dinner at the air base.

Hole Sawed in Roof, Ceiling to Rob Store

After sawing a hole through the roof and ceiling of a local market, thieves entered via a ladder and escaped with an undetermined amount of change sometime Saturday night.

Joseph Felice, of 270 Navajo St., reports the money was taken from an unlocked safe in the office of his market, Felice's Market, 238 S. Telegraph Rd., according to Pontiac police.

By E. H. SIMS

Is it dangerous to fly through non-turbulent freezing rain, or sleet? Is snow a danger to aircraft?

If you are a frequent or infrequent passenger, or a pilot, who takes to the air for travel, it is well to know a little bit about icing conditions and how they affect aircraft. Most modern airliners have adequate de-icers so that worry here is unnecessary.

Private planes which do not have de-icers, and some larger ones not equipped for icing conditions, should stay clear of heavy icing. Even if the air is smooth, freezing rain which clings to the wings and sometimes the prop, will cause a loss of power and lift.

★ ★ ★

A heavy frost on an aircraft's wing reduces its lift tremendously-therefore pilots will always wipe the wing clean before take-off. An ice build-up reduces the airfoil's efficiency to such an extent that serious danger can result. Sleet is not so dangerous, unless the aircraft is fragile—non-metal, for example.

★ ★ ★

Snow is usually not dangerous, though wet snow can cling to the wing and cause trouble. A good rule is to stay out of private craft, especially single-engine planes, in such weather. Pilots in World War II fighters were sometimes forced to race props to throw off accumulated ice, which in turn hit the leading edge of the iced-up wing, cracked away chunks of it, and enabled the rush of air to peel away more of the ice covering the wing.

6-County Unit to Push Master Road Plan

The Inter-County Highway Commission of Southeastern Michigan will begin laying plans tomorrow to gain local acceptance of its unified highway study involving $1 billion in construction over the next 25-30 years.

The commission thinks it can save millions of dollars in future years by reserving now the rights-of-way that will be needed in coming road construction.

To do this, the commission wants local governments to accept its master plan for future roads.

The plan was drawn up through the road commissions of the six counties participating in the inter-county group, including Oakland.

TO WIDEN HIGHWAYS

It calls for construction of a few new roads and widening of many existing main highways.

John C. McKie, executive secretary of the commission, said he believed the recent law governing the commission requires that each municipality and village affected by the master plan give its consent to the commission's proposals.

"That way, each local government could control future rights-of-ways through zoning and other regulations, so that when the time comes to build or widen roads, there will be no new, expensive development which must be purchased or condemned," McKie explained.

The meeting will be at 10 a.m. in Northwood Inn, Berkley.

Oakland Comes Under New Act

Board to Investigate Public Works Needs of County

Oakland today became the first Michigan county to come under the state's new Department of Public Works act.

Supervisors unanimously set up a five-man public works board and voted it $50,000 budget for the rest of the year.

The board is impowered by state law with far-reaching powers over planning and initiating sewer disposal and water supply projects involving several communities.

Board members are Daniel W. Barry, Oakland County drain commissioner, Delos Hamlin, board of supervisors' chairman, Hiland M. Thatcher, supervisors' vice chairman, John J. Semann and Don R. MacDonald.

BARRY TO SERVE

Barry will serve until January 1, 1959; Hamlin, of Farmington Township, and Semann, of Berkley, until January 1, 1960; and Thatcher of West Bloomfield Township, and MacDonald of Sylvan Lake, until January 1, 1961.

The five public works officials were impowered to hire a director and staff. The director's salary has not yet been set.

Two of the projects expected to come soon to the new department's attention are the Evergreen Interceptor and Farmington Interceptor Sewer projects.

★ ★ ★

Supervisors also voted to allocate $70,000 to the Drain Revolving Fund for the balance of the year, and ordered whatever surplus cash developed in the Twelve Town Drain budget this year be made available to other drain projects.

Fred W. Smith, of Royal Oak, Ways and Means Committee chairman who proposed the DPW resolutions, said passage by the board "was very important" at this time.

"Oakland County has many sewer and water problems, but past legislation has been inadequate to cope with them," he said.

PRINCIPAL BACKER

Oakland County was one of the principal backers in Lansing of the DPW legislation.

★ ★ ★

Under former legislation individual communities could refuse to join into drain and water programs. Under the new act, the county DPW is authorized to set up special assessment districts to finance projects when communities refuse to join in as a whole.

The county also can set up financing of new drain and water systems.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Jerry Jenkins was on his way back to the Crest Sailing Club at Mt. Clemens, Mich., today with the winner's trophy for the Penguin class of the third annual damfull regatta.

Jenkins finished first in three races yesterday for a perfect score of 50.

Soviet Warships Steam Through Suez Waterway

CAIRO (AP)—Two Soviet destroyers and an auxiliary tanker steamed through the Suez Canal yesterday — the first Russian warships to do so since World War I.

★ ★ ★

The Soviets were quoted by canal authorities as saying the ships were headed for Vladivostok in the Far East, but "may spend some time in the Red Sea."

The Red Sea is one of the trouble spots in the Middle East dispute. It is there Egypt and her allies are involved in a dispute with Israel over entrance to the Gulf of Aqaba.

Speculation arose that the voyage of the Soviet vessels was a show of strength. Soviet sailors seemed eager to attract attention. They shouted from shipboard to curious Egyptians along the shore at Port Said harbor.

★ ★ ★

The passage of the destroyers is part of Soviet navy activity in the Mediterranean area in the past few days. Thursday and Friday a cruiser, two destroyers and three torpedo boats sailed through the Turkish Straits into the Mediterranean.

The previous Russian warship to pass through the canal was a destroyer. It transited the canal from Suez to Port Said in 1917 only to be sunk by the Germans.

Road Group OKs Southfield Highway

turnpike from Detroit through Pontiac to Flint.

Turnpike Authority Chairman Higgins, of Ferndale, was not immediately available for comment.

NO COMPETITION

He has said, however, that a toll road from the Detroit Industrial Expressway to the Fenton-Clio Expressway at the southeast edge of Flint is financially feasible only if no competing free highways are built in the turnpike corridor.

"It's very coincidental that the retiring commissioner should make this announcement just before he leaves his job, and only a few days after New York City bankers said the turnpike's financial prospects were good," Higgins' spokesman said.

New York financiers also stated that construction of the Southfield expressway would be "fatal" to the turnpike.

It would draw too much traffic away from the toll road to make a pay-as-you-go highway financially successful, they said.

TURNPIKE FOE

Ziegler has long been an enemy of the turnpike, saying that free roads should be built, if possible.

Higgins, however, says that a major traffic artery north through Wayne and Oakland Counties is the most expensive stretch of road that must be built in Michigan.

If the turnpike were built, he points out, the state would receive over $100,000,000 federal credit that could go for other, less expensive roads.

★ ★ ★

The Toledo-Detroit Expressway, running six miles between Rockwood and Sibley road, is now under construction and due for completion in 1958. It will cost $8,000,000.

★ ★ ★

The new expressway would join the proposed Northwestern Highway expressway, a four-lane limited-access artery from Eight Mile road to the Fenton-Clio Expressway near Fenton.

The fireball, as seen from the observation point used by newsmen, rose above the horizon and formed what looked like a massive cauliflower head.

The nuclear device was exploded from a balloon about 700 feet above the desert. More than 850 military observers and a number of Civil Defense officials witnessed the explosion. The military men were in trenches about 4,500 yards from Ground Zero.

The exact size of the blast was not disclosed, but the Atomic Energy Commission had said earlier that it would be above 20 kilotons, or more powerful than the bombs dropped on Hiroshima and Nagasaki during World War II.

USE 835 PIGS

Among the active participants in today's shot were 835 pigs. Some of them were covered with material used in military clothing, which was to be examined to determine how it had been affected by radiation.

The pigs were strung out at varying distances from Ground Zero. They were to be examined in an effort to learn more about treatment of injuries resulting from heat, radiation and pressure.

Bomb shelters also were set up for testing and food was exposed to learn how it would be affected by the blast.

Jury Almost Filled

WASHINGTON (INS) — Selection of a jury is expected to be completed today for the conspiracy and bribery trial of Teamsters midwest boss James R. Hoffa and Miami attorney Hyman L. Fischbach.

Mary's Slayer Under Constant Guard:

Killer Awaits Warrant

DETROIT (AP) — Under constant guard, ex-convict Lawrence Turner today was held in an undisclosed jail pending issuance of a first degree murder warrant against him in the slaying of 6-year-old Mary de Caussin.

Prosecutor Gerald K. O'Brien said he would recommend a warrant as soon as police complete their case against Turner, who Saturday signed a detailed statement in the mutiliation killing.

Shortly afterwards, Turner was moved from the Ecorse Township jail when threat of violence were reported in the downriver suburb where he and his victim lived only four doors apart.

The 50-year-old Turner, freed last January after serving 15 years in Southern Michigan Prison for rape, was confined in a barred cage where police could keep him in view at all times.

Psychiatrists said he has suicidal tendencies.

★ ★ ★

Other prisoners were moved to a jail in a nearby community. Officers said Turner wept constantly but repeated details of the slaying when his guard was changed.

In his second statement Turner admitted he attacked the child June 12 when she came into the grocery store where he worked, four blocks from her home.

Originally he claimed she had fallen and knocked herself unconscious.

In his statement Turner said he bound her hands with cord, struck her, put her in a burlap bag and later took her body to a secluded woods. There, he said, he mulilated the child.

Meanwhile, State Sen. Harold M. Ryan (D-Detroit) said he plans to introduce a resolution in the legislature this week seeking more effective laws to guard against sex killers.

Girl in Fair Condition After Fall From Crib

A 2½-year-old girl was in fair condition today at St. Joseph's Mercy Hospital where she is held for observation of possible head injuries following a yesterday afternoon fall from her crib.

Pontiac firemen rushed Brenda McMaster, daughter of Byron McMaster, 276 S. Sanford St., to the hospital in an emergency truck about 2 p.m. yesterday.

Army Set to Try Rocket Expert

Col. Nickerson Accused of Distributing Secret Information

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. (AP) — One of the Army's top rocket experts, Col. John C. Nickerson Jr., who deliberately courted a court-martial, will get one, beginning tomorrow.

Nickerson, 41-year-old West Point graduate and World War II hero, is scheduled to appear before a 10-man general court-martial board at 9 a.m. Tuesday to answer 18 charges of espionage, perjury and disobedience of orders.

The espionage charge stems from the Army's accusation that he distributed secret information to unauthorized persons which, if it had come into the hands of an enemy, could have damaged the nation's security.

No trial since the court-martial of Brig. Gen. Billy Mitchell in 1925 has involved such outright questioning of the wisdom of his superiors as this one.

Mitchell, then chief of the Army Air Corps, was found guilty of insubordination and ordered stripped of his rank, command and duties for a period of five years and put on half pay. He resigned his commission Feb. 1, 1926.

Mitchell was court-martialed for insisting on the superiority of air power over surface battleships, while Nickerson insists that to abandon the Army's long range missile program would endanger the nation.

If convicted on all 18 specifications charging violations of two sections of the uniform code of military justice, the bespectacled Nickerson could receive a 46-year prison sentence, a dishonorable discharge and a $10,000 fine.

★ ★ ★

The two-time winner of the Silver Star medal for gallantry in World War II, is primarily involved in a single-handed battle to save the Army's development of a 1,500-mile intermediate range ballistic missile (IRBM).

NAACP Cautions Dems on Vote Trend

DETROIT (AP)—On the eve of its 48th annual convention, the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People today cautioned the Democratic party about the Negro vote trend.

★ ★ ★

The NAACP, in a report to its convention opening here tomorrow, said last year's elections showed Negroes to be "losing patience with the dominance of the Southern wing over the Democratic party."

The report accused this "Southern wing" of an "arrogant insistence" against civil rights legislation.

★ ★ ★

Commenting on segregation at this time, the NAACP said "although the grosser segregation practices have been outlawed, more sophisticated or subtle devices are being developed to preserve the color line." The report did not elaborate.

Express Train's Brakes Useless, Smashes Station

BRISBANE, Australia (AP) —With its whistle blowing furiously, the Sydney-Brisbane express hurtled into Brisbane station yesterday while the engineer tugged the useless brake lever.

The big diesel locomotive crashed through a heavy steel buffer and rammed halfway through a concrete wall above a busy city street, injuring 100 persons, mostly passengers in the first two cars.

Sixteen remained in a hospital today.

★ ★ ★

The brakes gave out on the last mile of the 600-mile trip from Sydney. Engineer Michael Keane was found slumped in his seat still clutching the brake lever. His face covered with blood, he kept repeating, "No air brakes. No air brakes."

Pontiac Man Reported in Satisfactory Condition

William L. Holland, 34, of 109 E. Ann Arbor St., was admitted for a possible head concussion at Pontiac General Hospital following an auto accident at Bagley St. near Golf Dr. last night.

His condition was satisfactory today.

Pontiac police report Holland's auto ran off the roadway and struck a tree.

The Day in Birmingham

City Commissioners Meet to Review Two Hearings

BIRMINGHAM — Two public hearings, the proposed vacation of Buckingham between Eton road and the Grand Trunk line, along with the rezoning request of Harold Turner, Inc. of the intersection of Bowers and Elm streets, will come before commissioners this evening. Both have been held over from previous meetings for further study.

★ ★ ★

The commissioners will also hear the report on the Davis street extension as requested by John Chiera. Another communication coming before the group will be that of the Birmingham Chamber of Commerce regarding the July 4 display at the high school football field, and a request from the Tandem Club of the First Methodist Church to handle refreshment stands at the affair.

City Manager Harold K. Schone will present the report of the meeting between city officials and officers of the Birmingham Country Club last Wednesday. Schone's report will discuss the city-club contracts for fire protection and water service with the club.

Further discussion will be held on the city's over-parking fines rates and the advisors reports will come up on the city part in any change of grade on private property.

The Rev. Emil Kontz, D.D., of the First Baptist Church this week announces the important service hour changes to take place July 7.

Morning worship will be held at 9:30 a.m. instead of 11 o'clock. It is planned as a family service for young and old.

Immediately after this worship hour church school classes of all departments will meet at 10:30 a.m. for 45-minute sessions. Crib room nursery and kindergarten will be in operation during both periods. Hour changes will be in effect during July and August.

The mid-week meeting for Bible study and prayer will continue at 8 p.m. Wednesdays. Dr. Kontz and the Rev. Dr. Robert A. Macoskey will be assisted by lay leaders of the church.

Past matrons club of Birmingham Chapter 220, OES, will meet at 1 p.m. tomorrow at the home of Mrs. William Jones, Franklin road. The dessert-luncheon will be followed by a brief business meeting.

Harold J. Begrow, 26, of 1772 Graefield has recently won the competition of architects to construct at $5,000,000 National Cowboy Hall of Fame and Museum in Oklahoma City. He is in charge of the master planning work for Swanson Associates of the Michigan State University extension at Rochester.

Israeli Patrol Kills Arab

JERUSALEM, Israeli Sector (AP) —An Arab infiltrator was killed yesterday in a Negeb Desert clash between an Israeli army patrol and infiltrators. A government announcement said the Israelis suffered no losses.

News Flashes

BRISBANE, Australia (AP) — A plane crashed and burned on a beach at the tip of Cape York peninsula today, killing all six persons aboard, including a woman.

★ ★ ★

LEBANON, Ohio (AP)—A crowd of churchgoers suffered minor injuries yesterday when a bus slipped backward without brakes and flipped over a cliff into a creek. The motor failed, and so did the brakes. The bus went 200 feet back down the hill and another 60 feet down the cliffside into two feet of water in the creek.

Trolleys No Longer Run in Kansas City

KANSAS CITY (AP) — No street cars ran on Kansas City streets today for the first time since 1869 —88 years ago.

Buses replaced the trolleys on the Country Club, Dodson and Rock Hill lines yesterday, completing a conversion started several years ago.

The Kansas City Public Service Co. ran a special on the country club line for amateur photographers and nostalgic fans who specialize in last rides.

The company claims Kansas City is the birthplace of the electric streetcar taking current from an overhead wire through a trolley system. John C. Henry, a railroad telegrapher, built and ran one in December 1884 and about 16 months later established regular service.

NEW APPETITE CONTROL TABLET FOR EASIER, FASTER REDUCING

Clinically tested and used by doctors with remarkable results on many patients in treatment of obesity. Works automatically to depress appetite. Lose weight you want to take off—safely, rapidly, more comfortably. Get positive results or money refunded.

Yes, now you can take off pound after pound of unwanted fat simply by taking a tiny TRIMET tablet that depresses your appetite so that you eat less. And you can do it without the physical and mental torture that otherwise accompanies cutting down on food.

Doctors who have tested the appetite control drug contained in these tablets report obese patients lost substantial amounts of weight — 10, 20, 30, even up to 40 pounds. And because of the convincing medical evidence we dare to make this iron-clad guarantee:

You decide how much weight you want to lose. Then take TRIMET tablets as directed. They must produce the results you desire or YOU PAY NOTHING!

How Trimet Helps You Lose Weight Faster, Easier than Any Reducing Aid You've Ever Tried

Your doctor will tell you there is only one sure way to reduce and that is to limit your calorie intake. In plain English: eat less. Nobody has to tell you that takes a lot of will power if you find it hard to resist sweets, butter, gravy, rich desserts and other high calorie foods.

You've probably tried so-called reducing capsules, bulk producing pills, fad diets, exercise — in fact anything that promised to take off those unwanted pounds. As you know from sad experience, they did little or nothing for you.

Now here at long last, is a reducing aid that will really work for you — TRIMET, a tablet that attacks your problem according to a basic physiological principle essential to safe, rapid, effective reducing — APPETITE CONTROL.

TRIMET tablets contain no bulk producing ingredients, nothing to irritate your stomach, nothing to upset your normal routine of living. They do just one thing: control your appetite.

You take one tiny tablet — smaller than an aspirin — a half hour before meals. At mealtime, while you enjoy every mouthful, you quickly notice that your appetite does not seem to be so ravenous. Without hardly realizing it, you stop eating before you have consumed your usual quantity.

Within a short time, you'll discover that TRIMET makes it easier to cut down on fattening foods. You'll feel better, work better, sleep better while losing weight. And as you see the astonishing results day after day, you'll enjoy a renewed zest for life.

MONEY BACK GUARANTEE

This is it! A safe appetite depressant for overweight people who have despaired of ever finding anything that could help them reduce. We can't blame you for being a bit skeptical after so many past failures. But do give yourself one more opportunity. Start taking TRIMET tablets today. Let results convince you this is the product you have always dreamed about.

TRIMET must do more for you than any reducing aid you've ever used. You must agree TRIMET is the easiest, fastest, most effective appetite depressant you've ever tested, or you may return the unused portion and get a full refund.

MEDICAL PROOF!

Doctors prescribed the basic appetite-control drug found in Trimet in varying doses for their obese patients. A few typical case histories as reported in medical journals:

Miss K. P. — Treated by other drugs and placed on a 1500 calorie diet. Complained of appetite and was switched to Phenylpropanolamine (the basic drug in Trimet). Four days after she had

Lost 8½ pounds

Mrs. R. S. — Weighed 178 lbs. on Jan. 4. Placed on 1600 calorie diet and treated with Thyroid and Pituiturin. On Jan. 23 complained of severe appetite. Switched to Phenylpropanolamine. Jan. 29 reported no appetite and weight as being 161 lbs.

Lost 17 pounds

Mrs. J. B. — Stated: "I have enormous appetite, eat all the time". Advised to take Phenolpropanolamine 20 minutes before each meal. No diet was prescribed. Started treatment April 12 and by June 23 had

Lost 20 pounds

These medical results prove that you, too, can lose weight safely, more easily, thanks to the appetite depressant effectiveness of TRIMET Tablets.

Bob Considine Says:

Mother Had Gift of Being Interested

WASHINGTON (INS) — My mother died here in Washington the other day. She lived 86 years, 9 months and 3 days.

It wasn't long enough.

Now that she's gone on to something better, the thought occurs that we never fully appreciated the priceless gift she had of being interested. Strange that two words as closely allied phonetically as interesting and interest should have so little relationship.

Lord knows she was interesting enough, with her treasury of stories out of the past and her comments on current topics, such as her belief that the sun was more likely to shine on F. D. Roosevelt than on routine presidents, and her quiet conviction that the atomic tests have changed the weather.

But her brightest facet was, to repeat, that she was interested. There was nothing that her army of descendants could do, collectively or individually, that ever bored her. There was nothing that took place in the world that she considered beneath her notice or did not try to understand.

★ ★ ★

My mother was as alert to the importance of a new tooth in the head of one of her 14 great-grandchildren as she was to the trip that her son, George made to Australia during the war.

NEWSPAPER READER

She read her newspapers for the better part of three quarters of a century. In late years, she turned instinctively to the obits. Those pages saluted the disappearance of her generation, and some of the generation that followed. "Oh, my," she'd say, as she'd hit a name that rang a dusty bell down a long lane of memory. "Oh, my."

The two events each year that stuck out in my mind, as a kid, were supervised by my mother. One was the erection and trimming of our Christmas tree; the other was the annual church picnic at Marshall Hall, Md., down the Potomac River across from Mount Vernon.

Our Christmas trees — in fact, all the trees for sale in the old Swamppoodle section of Washington — had a "good" and a "bad" side. They cost two bits generally. To look right they had to be turned this way and that in their cast - iron, 3 - screw holder until the bare side was best hidden.

It was my job to lie under the untrimmed tree, my head buried in the sweet sharp needles, hands on the two lowest limbs. I would hear my mother calling from the other side of the room, "Just a little more. Turn it a little more. There."

★ ★ ★

She'd keep the tree up for weeks and weeks after the neighbors had burned theirs.

ROLLER COASTER

The picnic at Marshall Hall involved, for the young, preliminary weeks of selling old newspapers, rags, bones and bottles to the junk man for the nickels that meant admission to the death - defying roller coaster.

★ ★ ★

On the appointed day — generally Aug. 1 — we'd go with the rest of St. Aloysius Parish to the seventh street wharf where lay the Charles McAllister. We were starchy in white, and she was a sidewheeler with a great black iron rocker - arm on top. Gave off a lot of smoke, as I recall.

But her horn — signifying the beginning of the voyage down the river — was a greater thrill than any blast let loose years later by the Queen Elizabeth or the United States.

My mother, who was a widow, would stand gentle guard over the lunch basket throughout the voyage. Then we'd tramp to the picnic ground and spread the wonders of that feast.

We'd have hard boiled eggs, baloney sandwiches, big nobbly tomatoes that you licked first so the salt would stay on, and lemonade made from the fruit my mother had squeezed the night before and the iron water from the picnic grounds pump.

FOUR U. S. WARS

My mother lived through four U. S. wars and kept perpetual watch on political administrations from Grant's to Eisenhower's. She entertained some hope of living long enough in Washington, D. C., to see it and herself get representation as well as taxation.

★ ★ ★

But my mother died without complaint. I've never known a less-demanding person or a kinder one or one more capable of rising above adversity.

The President once said, on visiting the Abilene home in which he was reared, "We didn't know until years later that we were poor."

My mother brought us up that way, too, and for one simple and wonderful reason: She didn't know it herself.

Ghana Leader Seeking Funds

Billion Dollar Project Would Harness Volta River for Power

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Kwame Nkrumah of Ghana is seeking funds for a billion dollar project to harness the River Volta.

The leader of the newly formed Negro state — once known as the Gold Coast — has indicated he will turn to the United States for help if British and Commonwealth nations do not come through.

Nkrumah is in London for the conference of British Commonwealth prime ministers opening June 26.

The Volta scheme has the twin aim of producing power and extracting aluminum from bauxite deposits. It includes the buildup of smelting centers and of roads and railroads through jungle and swamp.

Nkrumah has estimated the project would cost around 865 million dollars.

The African premier said American firms have been given the first chance, until July 18, to begin negotiating about the enterprise. The American interests were given the right to appraise the project after British and Canadian firms, reportedly displayed hesitancy.

Restless Americans Grow Tired of Sitting Still

Video No Longer Casts Magic Spell

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK (INS)—Television is indeed a peculiar medium: Almost nobody has much of anything good to say about it, yet almost everybody watches it.

It's sort of lethargic watchfulness, now from what you read and observe—a sort of tune-in-sigh-and-tune-over-to-another-channel approach.

Might compare it to a rather dull high tea, where the guests drop by, chat blandly and momentarily with other guests, and skip on to more realistic business of living. If there's a friend you like at the tea (TV equiv.—a baseball game, a Perry Como song), you dawdle awhile.

But all in all, it would seem that a great many Americans have discovered, subconsciously, perhaps, that the thrill is gone, along with the novelty. And that TV fare—like assorted tea sandwiches — is not enough to exist on solely.

★ ★ ★

Some pieces of the public whom I know are even now turning back to such old, outdated diversions as strolling through parks, listening to good music or radio and talking to the family over dinner.

They tend to blame their "regression" after a decade of television absorption on the fact that video programming is bad — that the slow death of live drama and the reincarnation of bad films and adolescent Westerns has disillusioned them.

BASIC REASON

Actually, I would guess there's a more basic reason. Americans are restless, energetic people and the wonder is that they could have sat bug-eyed and still for this long.

★ ★ ★

When so many people complain these days that the programming is poor, the melodramas tedious, the big stars vanished and what's-with-this-Lawrence-Welk? — it may not be only the fault of the networks.

Surely part of the blame should rest on the aching sacroiliac and the glazed and jaded eye, which are just plain weary of loafing and staring, respectively.

Speaking of a return to radio, the "hot time" for big public tune-ins is always around the hour of midnight. At that time, disc jockeys throughout the country are pitching the witching mood.

★ ★ ★

Their theory, as expressed by Sidney Gross, one of their own, is "most of the people who tune in for music late at night are listeners' way above average. They are willing to wait till long after dark to hear the kind of music they want. They have romance and sentiment in their souls."

'VOICE IN THE NIGHT'

Mr. Gross, billed as the "only British disc jockey in the U.S.," has two two-hour late night-early morning shows on Saturdays and Sundays called "The Voice in the Night."

★ ★ ★

The voice itself, being British, comes out sounding reasonably like Rex Harrison in a drowsy mood—seductive indeed, especially when he reads Keats and Shelley between recordings by Debussey and Gershwin.

"There are lonely people at night, and worried people," says Gross, " and the ones who listen to radio are a cultural cut above the ones who watch 1933 films, you might say. So my show goes from very slow to slow to not-quite-so-slow.

"Oddly enough, a quiet guitar and a non-violent version of Spanish music put people who are in a worried mood in a state of peaceful lethargy. For the sentimentalists, I read poems by Shelley and love letters by other men and women, and I throw in a few great minds' thoughts — including my own."

★ ★ ★

There is nothing frightfully modest about Gross' views of himself and "The Voice in the Night" — but probably that is what makes it so appealing, especially to the witching-hour women listeners.

What they no doubt need, if they're up and searching for radio companionship at that hour, is a man with a calm self-assurance that Tom, Dick and Harry and television never seem to have.

Color experts claim yellow has the highest rating for general visibility.

U.S. Displays Wares at Poznan Trade Fair

For the first time the United States is showing off its wares behind the Iron Curtain.

At the Poznan International Fair in Poland the American pavilion is drawing huge crowds. Included in the display are vending machines of all kinds, sports equipment, do-it-yourself kits, frozen foods, home appliances, cars and model of an American worker's home.

★ ★ ★

Poznan, population 400,000, was the scene of bloody riots about this time last year. Many Westerners were there and will not soon forget the demonstrations of a desperate people. Since then Russian pressure has eased with the election of Communist Party Secretary Gomulka. A U.S. loan of $95 million is helping the shaky economy.

★ ★ ★

At the present time Michigan's Polish-born Representative Machrowicz is visiting Poland and spreading goodwill. His weekly Voice of America broadcasts from the U. S. are listened to by thousands and he is receiving the warm and enthusiastic welcome of an old friend.

It is not surprising, therefore, that the American exhibit is drawing an estimated 50,000 visitors daily and that scarcely anyone goes to the Russian pavilion.

Japan's Export Trade

The Washington visit of Premier Nobusuke Kishi of Japan is significant because of his country's dominant role in that part of the world.

Perhaps the most important matter to be discussed with President Eisenhower is the serious trade deficit with the U.S. Although exports are rising steadily, imports from this country are more than keeping pace.

★ ★ ★

Not enough food is grown in Japan for its 90 million people crowded into an area about the size of California. It also must import great quantities of raw materials to keep its factories going. The cost of those U. S. imports, mostly minerals and metals, has risen sharply. In 1956 we sold Japan $890 million in various products and in return bought only $558 million.

★ ★ ★

Japan wants to resume its prewar trade with mainland China, a vast and natural outlet. Yet Japan has observed the same restrictions on trade with Red China as have been enforced in the United States.

In commenting on this President Eisenhower said "Frankly I don't see as much advantage in maintaining the differential (between USSR and Communist China trade) as some people do although I have never favored its complete elimination."

★ ★ ★

Another matter to be discussed, no doubt, will be the program of aid for Southeast Asian nations. The Premier is expected to propose a partnership under which the U.S. would furnish some of the money and Japan the technicians and manpower. Development of natural resources in that region would give Japan a source of low priced raw materials so badly needed, and also a market for heavy machinery.

★ ★ ★

As a vital military ally of the United States, Japan must be strengthened economically and politically. Co-operation will benefit both countries.

Gravel Hauling and Windshields

Many of our automobile windshields, in spite of their strong glass, are victims of the heavy industrial and home building development in the Pontiac area.

In this work the gravel from our several pits is a prime necessity, and is hauled over our main highways in large quantities.

★ ★ ★

The gravel trucks are loaded and rounded up to such an excess that the stones in them fall off en route, creating a distinct menace.

They frequently hit passing cars, or land on the pavement, only to be shot around by other tires.

★ ★ ★

Insurance agents and repair shops state that this is the principal cause of broken windshields in this area.

If a little more caution was used in the original loading of the vehicles hauling gravel this condition would not exist. The overloading is the primary cause of this menace.

★ ★ ★

Anyway, let's have less rock bombarding and less speed. We're getting envious of the dividends declared by the glass makers and repair shops.

Reader Feels That Many of Us Don't Appreciate Them

TV: Short for "'Tis Vicious."

A few miles out on Hadley Road lives a family getting more out of life than most of us. They have a small bird sanctuary, with no more fuss or feathers (except the birds') than most any of us could easily supply. They prefer to be anonymous because they fear publicity might be a magnet for lawless hunters. While this column has no such readers, we'll respect that request.

They write: "We're amazed that more people do not harbor blue birds, flickers, robins, blue jays, humming birds, quail, pheasant, partridge, cardinals, wild canaries and other birds.

"Our yard is a playground for a whole feathered menagerie. The young birds now are hatching, and we have to be careful to give the tiny quail the green light when backing the car out of the driveway. We even get some enjoyment out of the mosquitoes and bees. The whole proposition is a never-ending joy."

Off With a Bang

David Lawrence Says:

Dems Embracing State Socialism

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower has the chance of a lifetime in the political arena—to make a fight for private enterprise and brand the Democratic Party as the party of state socialism in America today.

LAWRENCE

For the President can cite the latest vote in the Senate on the Hell's Canyon project. This shows that 43 out of 49 Democrats were recorded as willing to use taxpayers' money to put the government further into the electric light and power business at a cost which Senator Watkins of Utah has estimated would run up to about $2,225,000,000 in the next 50 years. All this spending is voted at a time when budget-cutting and tax reduction are supposed to be popular.

GOP MOBILIZED

The Republican Party, on the other hand, mobilized against government ownership and state socialism 39 out of their 46 members in the Senate.

If the bill is passed by the House—and the state socialism advocates seem confident it will get the support of the Democratic Party there, too—President Eisenhower will most surely veto the measure. There are not enough votes to override a veto.

The President has inveighed before against "creeping socialism" but now the nation faces galloping socialism. Eisenhower's action would demonstrate conclusively that the present administration is not "socialistic" as some uninformed critics in the Republican Party have been erroneously claiming of late.

LIVELY ISSUE

It means, of course, a lively issue for the 1958 and 1960 political campaigns. For if it is desirable that the Federal government knock private enterprise out of the electric light and power business in America, it is just as logical for the Federal government to take over and operate the steel, copper, coal, oil, aluminum and other natural resource industries as well as automobiles, food, and retail stores, railroads, bus lines, air lines, and all the other businesses now handled by private enterprise and private investors.

The advocates of government ownership always start off with some benevolent and high-sounding objective. In the Tennessee Valley project just after World War I they promised flood control and navigation advantages in the Tennessee River and benefits to the farmer.

Electric power, they insisted, was to be incidental. Today it is the main business of the TVA and the government has been compelled to appropriate money for steam plants since about half of the power generated at TVA comes from coal and not dams. Private utilities in the area have been weakened and some put out of business altogether.

SURVEYED PROJECT

The Federal Power Commission surveyed the whole Hell's Canyon project and found that the three smaller dams which the private companies have been granted a license to build would furnish all the electric power required and do all the flood control work that is needed. Private investors would supply the money. Now this opportunity would be taken away.

The public power advocates won the fight because of some new-found allies from the southern part of the United States. Republican senators are saying openly that the Democratic leadership manipulated a deal whereby some northern Democrats agreed to support the South in a parliamentary maneuver the other day to keep the "civil rights" bill in the Judiciary Committee.

In exchange for this—which turned out to be futile anyway as the northern "liberals" had enough votes to beat the maneuver—several Southerners agreed to vote for the Hell's Canyon project. In five instances this meant a reversal of Democratic votes recorded a year ago—enough to beat the measure if they had stood firm against state socialism.

★ ★ ★

These are not happy days in Washington for those who believe in the historic American system of private enterprise. This system built our unrivalled industrial capacity and today is the nation's real defense against communism.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Hold Off on Tonsillectomy, British Physician Warns

Many children die from tonsillectomy each year.

Commenting on the frequency of tonsillectomy in the British Medical Journal, Dr. J. Fry says this atrocity (my word for it) is a "prophylactic ritual carried out for no particular reason with no particular result."

DR. BRADY

In 10 years of practice in London, Dr. Fry has found that there is a tendency among children 7 to 8 years of age toward a natural and spontaneous care of the CRI (common respiratory infections), including tonsillitis, otitis media (middle ear infection) and bronchitis—the ailments which the hammer-and-tongs men use with success in persuading parents to consent to tonsillectomy.

Tonsillectomy means removal of the entire tonsil. It requires considerable dissection of the throat; and in the necessarily blind cutting, the operator is likely to remove, along with the tonsil, portions of throat muscle. But who cares about that—except perhaps a victim who might have had a voice?

Dr. Fry states that the size and appearance of the tonsils and enlargement of cervical lymph nodes ("glands" in the neck) do not in themselves warrant tonsillectomy.

When we add things up, we find little if any justification for tonsillectomy left.

BETTER METHOD

I venture to say that, in the great majority of cases, tonsillotomy, comparable with extraction of a tooth, will do all that surgery can do for the child with enlarged tonsils.

"The condition of every child referred for the operation should be critically and conservatively assessed," says Dr. Fry. "There is a lot to be said for a long waiting list; in that way, parents and surgeon can have second thoughts."

Haven't I been begging you poor misguided parents to take plenty of time to think it over when a doctor looks in the child's throat and exclaims: "Oh, my, those bad tonsils must come out!"?

Take at least one summer. By the time school opens in the autumn, the "bad" tonsils will probably have become "normal." Anyway, please send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope for the pamphlet Tonsils Are Not All Bad.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Suggests Pontiac Combine Police, Fire Departments

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

I read recently about Oak Park's combined police and fire departments. Instead of sitting around doing nothing as the firemen do here, the men are at the station doing routine office work. Statistics prove that fewer men can do more work when fire and police departments are integrated. They are paid more and the City of Oak Park has had more work done for the same amount of money.

Citizens of Oak Park can't tell the firemen from the policemen these days, but they can tell that their taxes are lower and their protection is greater since they have combined the two forces. Why couldn't we do this?

Waterford Citizens Discuss Police Cut

It's time Van Atta and his men received recognition for the never-ending help they've given teenagers of Waterford. As a past graduate of Waterford, I can say that Van Atta has done a great deal to help the school and its students.

What will happen now? Another thing which is quickly being ruined is the work that went into speed control. I've lived on US-10 for 17 years and thought I'd soon be able to say the seven miles of death would be safe. I can see I was wrong, and I guess it will earn its name again.

The Waterford Police were the life of the township, and they saved lives and helped a lot of teenagers get a better start than they might have. Can the money saved by decreasing the police force replace the lives that may be lost?

Waterford High Graduate

★ ★ ★

I wonder if other Waterford Township residents are as confused as I am. Why is our police chief "fired" again? Why are doors of the trial board closed to him? Why are all economy cuts in the Township directed toward one department alone, with no apparent effort being made to curtail any of the other Township activities?

Last year there were approximately 8,600 times that our citizenry needed a police officer. This year, with the population still growing, there may be more times. Who's going to answer the calls for help from now on?

If anyone is interested in these questions or in others, I would suggest they attend the Township Board meeting tonight, June 24, at the Waterford Township Hall at 7:30 p.m.

Tom Peterson

Waterford

★ ★ ★

I'm sure the answer to financial problems mentioned by Disgusted Citizen must mean more taxes. That is something we have plenty of. Residents of Waterford could volunteer to be law abiding citizens and the police force could be cut more.

Most of us in Waterford moved here to get away from high taxes. Those that want all the city services can always move back to the city.

Clarence H. Bane

Drayton Plains

★ ★ ★

Waterford taxes are high, but we have no sewers, no water system, gas, pavements, sidewalks. All we had was a police department and now they're taking that away. We're down to three policemen for night duty only. We may as well remove speed limit signs from our streets. And what about emergencies and "trouble" calls? Can three men possibly cover the entire Township?

Can't the Township Board find other ways to economize. If this sort of economising continues, they'll be selling the police cars and putting patrolmen on bicycles. Maybe one way to economize would be to shut off the air conditioning in the Township Hall. And why was Van Atta thrown out? He certainly proved his value. Or is politics haunting him again?

The Board tells us we'll have volunteer police, but where will they come from? Will Mr. Johnson and the Board be among the first volunteers?

Case Records of a Psychologist:

You Can't Face Problems Alone

Tom's life is being wasted. And his sweetheart is dead. Their baby never was even born. And all because Tom was tongue-tied. He tried to solve his problems alone. Teenagers, get wise to life. Obey the laws. But if you ever do make a serious mistake, then consult your clergyman or teacher at once and follow the mature guidance of that older head.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case V-319: Tom G., aged 19, is serving a life sentence for murder.

★ ★ ★

"Oh, Dr. Crane, I don't think I can stand this tragedy," his mother wept.

CRANE

"Tommy was our only child. He was a good boy and an honor student in high school.

"He taught a Sunday school class, too. And when he entered the university, we thought he might go on and become a clergyman.

"During his freshman year, he started dating a very attractive girl from a splendid Christian family.

"But they fell in love and wanted to get married. We vetoed the idea as unsound, saying they were both too young. And her parents did the same.

★ ★ ★

"Neither her parents nor my husband and I realized that she was pregnant. With all the abnormal pressures on them, they got to quarreling. Although Tom never drank, that last night he got a bottle of liquor and they drained it.

"In their final quarrel, he slapped her. He says she angrily charged him with being the sole cause of her trouble, and he apparently went berserk. They found her battered body next day.

"But oh, Dr. Crane, why didn't they tell us? If they had faced the music and let us know, we would have acted differently. Are we parents to blame?"

FACE THE MUSIC

Teenagers, you like to rock and roll and dance to music.

★ ★ ★

But it is far better to learn to face the music. That means, face your problems and name them to some adviser, preferably your clergyman.

Don't try to carry your burdens alone, for there is an old adage that "two heads are better than one."

Get outside advice from an older, professional counsellor. And don't expect your teenage pals to do the job or your coed classmates, for they may lack experience. Besides, they may talk out of turn and reveal your secrets to folks not entitled to know them.

So please realize that social life should be played, like football, according to the rules of the game.

Don't think you can egotistically flaunt the laws of life any more than you can violate the football rules.

★ ★ ★

And one of the best laws for happy human relations among young people, is that illicit sexual behavior does not pay.

Some ignorant males, even of the older vintage, erroneously believe it is a mark of a he-man to seduce a girl.

Such immature males also think the drinking of whisky and the smoking of cigarettes are also signs of real manhood.

They aren't! They simply label you as a "sheep" who eagerly tries to take on the external signs and symbols of what he thinks a big shot should do to gain admiration from the crowd.

LIVE LIKE LION

Live like a lion, instead of a cowardly sheep who lets others steer his thinking and actions.

It is wrong to indulge in premarital sexual relations, not just because the church or a court judge says so, but because such illicit behavior does not do the most good for the most people for the longest period of time.

★ ★ ★

Juveniles often think we of the older generation just make up laws out of thin air. We don't. Laws establish themselves out of the long experience of the human race.

"Crime does not pay" is thus an axiom that has been proved millions of times.

Premarital relations not only harm the boy and the girl, but often devastate the parents of both. And frequently launch a baby into life with one strike against it.

So be smart. Obey the laws. But if you do make a mistake, then consult your clergyman or school teacher for advice. They will tell you what to do.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 25c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Nothing Seemed Old About 'Gone With Wind'

LONDON (AP)—Chief Chieu Obafami Awolowo, prime minister of Western Nigeria, is a movie fan, but was so busy conferring here on the future of his country that he saw only one film in London.

It was "Gone With The Wind."

"I didn't know it was an old one," he explained. "Anyway, it is still very good."

Meeting for the first time in Colombo, Ceylon, Indian travel agents formed an Indian Travel and Tourist Industry Council to promote travel and tourism.

Lists Advantages of Baldness

Elmer Wraps It Up

By ELMER WHEELER

You only live once so live a little;

You only have one head of hair, so keep it there.

I'm at the rope's end.

Not my hair end — but the end of my hair-raising yarn.

My hair has stopped thinning, my brow is no longer cowardly and retreating unabashedly and prematurely to the rear.

It has stopped its abnormal receding. It is just receding in a natural way now.

The hole in my hair caused by a nervous ailment, has closed up.

I'm ending this tale now with the doc's final treatment for the permanently bald, of which after he finished, I wish I were one.

I've told you psychosomatic treatment No. 1, that of being a good sport about the bald spot, and capitalizing on it in a business way.

Now for a final treatment of your mental attitude.

It's been shown time and again that when the hair leaves the noggin it goes to the chest, and what woman hasn't said of her man, "Boy, he has hair on his chest."

It's a sign of virility. Vigor. Pep in a man.

HAVE MEDICAL PROOF

There is lots of medical proof on this, too. Not just hope, but proof.

The proof is that there is a secretion of male sex hormones to be considered. Depletion of them in love-making weakens hair.

Blood, too, seldom rushes to the head when a pretty girl goes by. So if a man is constantly susceptible to the females, his head isn't flooded with circulating blood so needed to his hair.

This may be slightly farfetched, but don't tell the girls.

The idea is to spread the idea around of bald boys' great prowess with the girls. Sell the idea, boys.

That's psychosomatic treatment No. 2.

You have plenty of proof on this, too. Show the girls that Charles Boyer, Frank Sinatra, Bing Crosby all wear dome doilies.

★ ★ ★

Greatest of lovers in history all had thinning hair. Chasing the girls, no doubt, brought most of it about.

It's nice to think this is so.

I don't want to get into any argument with followers of Freud, but I believe in selling ideas. I'm a salesman, aren't I?

So why not sell this idea to the world, men!

Peter J. Michael, the research man on hair, has detailed information on sex and love and its relationship to hair. See the guy.

Maybe underneath that bald spot you are a Don Juan and don't realize it. This psychosomatic treatment No. 2 may bring out your hidden and latent talents, men.

You may not make hair stick on your head with that bottle of glue my doc recommended as my shock treatment, but you can make this idea stick.

SIT BACK, RELAX

You can get gray-haired or lose your hair rushing hither and yon. Just sit back and relax. Let the world bring its riches and pleasures to your door.

How?

Sell the idea of how great you are as a bald boy. You are a business tycoon. A great lover.

America depends on salesmanship.

It has sold new cars, finer homes, better living conditions, new mouse traps and toupees.

Salesmanship can sell the idea that bald boys are lover boys.

You have proof, proof aplenty.

What have you to lose? No more hair, that is certain.

You have much to gain, believe me.

In fact, after the doc got through with this final "treatment" for my hair troubles, I actually felt sad that I wasn't bald.

What chances had Elmer now?

He wasn't slated to become a big tycoon, head of a firm, for he had too much hair left. Maybe later in life.

He hadn't a chance now to sell the idea that bald boys are the best playboys and lovers.

I went home dejected.

★ ★ ★

As I approached the front porch, I saw a strange thing on the door. It leaped to its feet, all life and joy, and started toward me.

I ran for a tree.

As I looked down I saw it was my sheep dog—with a haircut.

My wife had gotten it for him that morning.

Now two of us were happy. Me with hair, my dog with none.

I'll bet he'll become the Don Juan dog of the neighborhood.

END

"Greatest lovers in history all had thinning hair."

CHAPTER 25

While Nela and I were married secretly in Canon City, Al Romig died suddenly of a heart attack. Nela returned in time to attend the funeral, but neither Sarah Pardee nor I heard about it until the following Sunday, when Nela and her father came to dinner.

★ ★ ★

I had often wondered about John Mathers, and now that he was my father-in-law, I, Will Beeson, wondered more than ever. He had lost himself in a dream, lost himself so completely that he wasted his private fortune upon it. At first I had respected him for his seeming honesty and sincerity; but recently I had begun to question his motives, partly because of little things Nela had said about him, but mostly because I felt that the real John Mathers was disguised by a fine flow of words and an impressive personality.

I had just about decided that Mathers did not really think in terms of doing good for fifty families, the goal he had expressed so many times. Rather, I thought, prestige and position were most important to him.

In St. Louis he had been a hardware merchant, and a prosperous one, but still a man in a large community. He had changed all that by coming here, where he was a leader who could force his will upon others; and even now, when the clouds of disaster could not be ignored, he still refused to admit they were gathering.

Nela would not have agreed I was right any more than I would have agreed she was right about Sarah, but I realized it was possible for a person to be so close to someone he loved that he could not make an objective judgment. That was the way it had been with me and Joe Pardee. Now that he had been dead for nearly a year, I still wasn't sure I knew what kind of a man he had been.

As far as Mathers' feeling for Al Romig was concerned, I could not question his honest grief. "He was more than a friend," Mathers said at dinner. "He believed in our idea. He supported me in every way he could. I never saw a man work as hard for a principle he believed in as Al did. It was that way right from the start. He came with me last fall because he felt it was his duty, not because he wanted to."

Mathers looked down at his plate. "I suppose many heroes live and die and are buried in unmarked graves, and are never mentioned in history. That's the way it was with Al. He was a hero. He wasn't strong enough for a rough country like this. He knew it, but he came because he felt it was something he had to do, and he died because he obeyed the call of duty."

★ ★ ★

Nela and I got out of the house and down the slope to the willows as soon as we could. We were in each other's arms the instant we were hidden from the eyes of Sarah and Mathers. We hadn't seen each other since Wednesday, and it seemed half a lifetime ago.

There was something else that meant more to Nela than to me, and she mentioned it at once. "It looks as if we're doing something wrong, coming here so furtively. But we're married, Will. It's not as if we were having a clandestine meeting, or being terribly wicked, but I know that's what Sarah's thinking."

Nela was probably right about Sarah, but whether she was or not, there was the question of what we should do and when. I asked, "Do you want to tell them now?"

★ ★ ★

She shook her head. She was sitting up, hugging her legs, with her chin on her knees as she stared at the creek. "Not today. Dad's all wrapped up in Al's death. He couldn't stand another blow. And it will be. We might as well face facts. It'll be just as hard on Sarah. She doesn't suspect?"

"I don't know what she suspects," I said. "I haven't talked to her much lately. She didn't ask why I went to Canon City. She just looked at me accusingly, with her lips tight. It isn't like her."

"What would be like her, having you obey every whim and fancy she has?"

"I guess so," I said. "What about your dad?"

She laughed shortly. "He's so wrapped up in his colony affairs that he never thinks of me. It will be like hitting him with a club when we tell him."

★ ★ ★

"For a while I thought they really were in love with each other," I said. "Now it's beginning to fade."

"It's been fading for quite a while," Nela said. "Sarah is tired of listening to Dad. He doesn't talk about her. Maybe she's found out he doesn't respond to her touch the way she thought he would. Or maybe she's worrying so much about you that she hasn't got room for anyone else." Nela looked at me. "Oh, Will, I love you so much!"

I took her into my arms, finding it hard to say what was in my heart. "I love you, too. Don't let anything ever happen that will separate us."

"I won't, I promise, darling."

We walked back to the house, each trying to be sedate and to look unconcerned about the other, and both of us feeling like the hypocrites we were. Before we reached the house, Nela said: "Dillingham is still working for Turner. What are they waiting for?"

★ ★ ★

"I don't know," I said.

The natural guess was that they intended to clean the range of Anchor cattle and sell them and pocket the money, but that was Mathers' business. Nothing I could do or say would prevent its happening. He wouldn't believe anything I told him.

"Turner is with the colonists most of the time," said Nela. "He keeps telling them that all they've got to do is to move onto your range to get their quarter-section of land. Some of them are listening, too. The grain isn't maturing, you know." She smiled at me. "That makes you a good prophet, husband."

"I didn't have to be smart to prophesy that," I said. "Does your dad know?"

"He must." She shook her head, frowning. "But he ignores it, as he does everything he does everything he doesn't want to happen."

After they left, I sat on the porch, with Sarah beside me in her wheel chair. It was the first time we had been alone together for a long while. She looked across the valley to the Sangre de Cristos range, now almost bare of snow. She murmured, "It's beautiful, isn't it, Will?"

★ ★ ★

"Yes," I said, "but I thought you hated it."

"I hate my memories," she said. "Not the valley."

The evening was pleasantly warm, with the smell of rain in the air. Shadows were long, and the scarlet glory of sunset was at its peak above the mountains. Time was rushing by, I thought. Fall roundup and the yearly drive to Leadville, then winter, and unless I did something, I would still have no wife beside me.

I stood up and looked down at Sarah, but she ignored me as she had been doing for days. She knows, I thought. I saw lines in her forehead and around her eyes. Her hands, loosely clasped on her lap, looked very fragile.

"When are you going to marry Mathers?" I asked.

"I don't know," she said listlessly.

"Trouble's still coming," I said. "We'll have colonists squatting on Box P grass within a month."

★ ★ ★

She said, still not looking at me: "We've had too much trouble already, Will. I'd rather lose the Box P than take a life."

I turned and walked away, past the cottonwoods and on to the corral, where I roped and saddled my horse. The waiting had stretched out too long already, and I wasn't sure I could go on waiting.

Circumstances are developing in which Will feels he must say, "All right, Nela, let's go tell them we're married now." Continue "Gunlock" tomorrow.

Venezuela had 12,775 miles of government-built roads at the end of 1955.

So Says 'The Chief'

In U. S., Gripes on Weather Aren't From Commissars

By INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE

"Here's to better weather forecasts," said the weatherman of the Soviet Union to the weatherman of the United States when they met recently. And he added:

"When we guess wrong, we hear about it."

Dr. Francis Wilton Reichelderfer nodded in humorous assent. As "The Chief" of the U.S. Weather Bureau for the last 19 years, Reichelderfer frequently has heard about his bureau's wrong guesses, but from the letter-writing public rather than the commissars.

"When the weather goes wrong, many people blame it on the weatherman," an assistant to "The Chief" observed ruefully. "Hurricanes, tornadoes, heat waves, floods and wash-outs—the chief hears about them all."

And, to add to the old woes, the 62-year-old, Indiana-born Reichelderfer has a new problem: Many people are sure that atomic test explosions have affected the weather—and adversely. An equally large number are convinced that nuclear blasts could be used to halt a developing hurricane before it hits the mainland.

NO EVIDENCE

To both ideas, "The Chief" patiently replies there is no evidence that atomic tests affect the weather in any way.

"The Chief" began his weather forecasting career early in life: After graduation from Northwestern University, Evanston, Ill., he became one of the early U.S. Navy aviation pioneers. In 1919, he was serving as weather information officer in Lisbon, Portugal, for the history-making transatlantic flight of the NC4.

In the early 1920s, "The Chief" participated in free balloon races in St. Louis, Brussels and Indianapolis. His lighter-than-air experience also included flights on the U.S.S. Los Angeles and the Hindenburg.

★ ★ ★

Today there is no time for free balloon flights or any other recreation: The weather bureau's 321 stations and 4,200 employes keep Reichelderfer on the move constantly.

And how does the weatherman keep cool and relax during Washington heat spells? "I go home, strip to my shorts and sit in front of a fan," says "The Chief."

But Wonders How Long It Can Last

Japan Experiences Business Boom

TOKYO (INS) — Japan is experiencing its biggest business boom in history, but is wondering how long it can last.

The nation's economists only a few months ago pointed a finger of pride to unheard-of sales of TV sets and washing machines to Mr. and Mrs. Joe Japan

FINGER OF WARNING

But today the economists instead are pointing a finger of warning at the appliance boom, which has resulted in almost mass-scale distribution of new gadgets to Japanese homes.

Vital steel and other materials that go into appliances, the economists say, could serve Japan's booming economy better if the appliances and other consumer items were sold abroad and earned dollars, sterling or other foreign currencies.

Japan's foreign exchange holdings are dwindling and the government is trying to reverse the trend, mainly by cutting down imports, encouraging exports and pushing a deflationary policy at home.

Thus Mr. and Mrs. Japan, enjoying fuller dinner tables and more household luxuries than they did even before 1941, may have to reverse their field.

The government has told the nation's consumers they should hold off on buying that new TV set, washing machine or electric fan and put their money instead in a bank.

Fears are being voiced by economic observers that the punch may soon drop out of the nation's boom and a period of austerity may replace it.

LIVING HIGH

There is agreement that the Japanese have been living "high off the hog" for the last two years because of generous imports of raw materials, favorable world economic conditions and back-breaking efforts by the nation's businessmen to push industry and trade.

Shipbuilders last year forged Japan into first place among the world's exporters of ocean vessels.

Last year's volume of trade was the highest in history with exports totaling $2.4 billion and a plus trade balance — mainly from U.S. aid — of $293 million. The nation could also cheer at an industrial and mining scorecard that showed double the production in 1934-36. Food intake was 2,500 calories a day on the average.

But times have changed. For one thing export competition is becoming keener.

Import restrictions just enacted will make it more expensive to drink, smoke, buy a piano or a car. Imports of films and records will be slashed by approximately 20 per cent.

★ ★ ★

Generally speaking, the government plans to push a deflationary policy, and unemployment is expected to rise.

Plans Feeding Happiness Pills to Fighting Fish

KALAMAZOO (AP)—Siamese fighting fish—experts call them Betta Splendens—are a thing of beauty to any tropical fish lover.

The only trouble with them is that when they get hungry they eat each other. Hence, Betta Splendens are rare.

★ ★ ★

But Rhoda Michaels, a parasitologist for the Upjohn Co. at Kalamazoo thinks she has the answer to cure this fatal fighting.

Miss Michaels says she has struck on a plan to dissolve tranquilizing pills in the Betta Splendens' water and calm their fighting spirit.

"I read where a mild form of tranquilizer diluted in the water will tame fighting fish to a point where they will mingle in the same tank without biting each other," she says. "I'm planning to try the experiment and, if it works, raising the fish will be easy. It may work and it may not, but it's sure to be interesting."

★ ★ ★

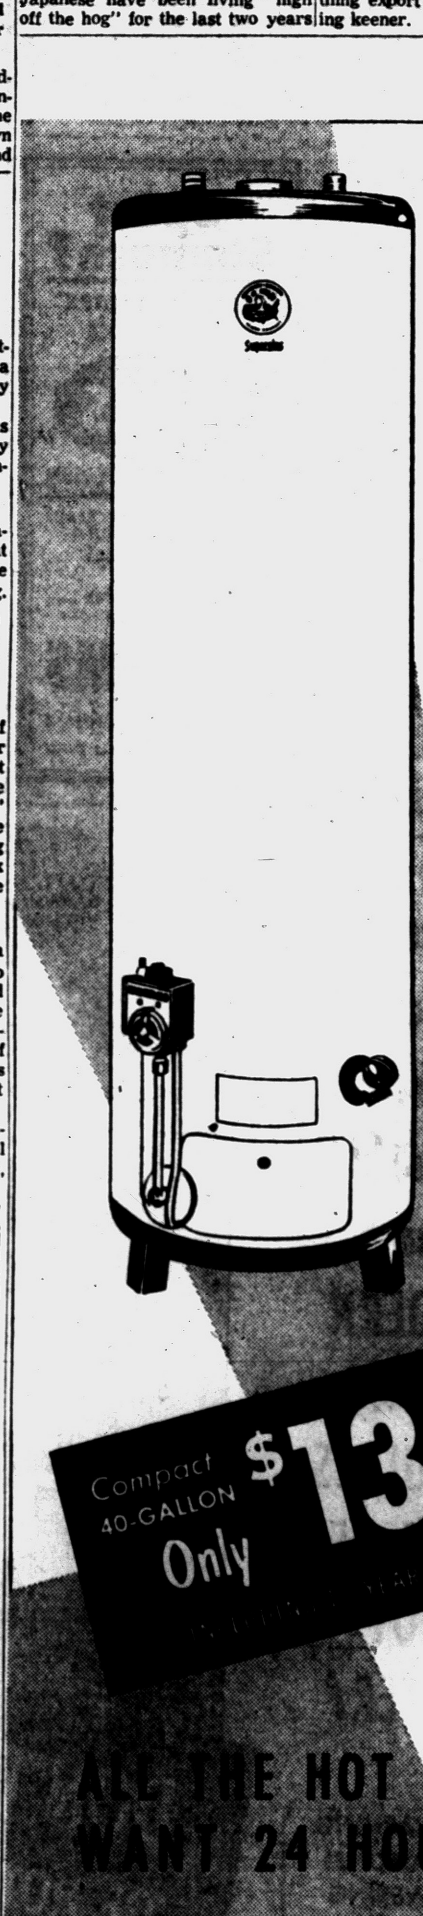

Miss Michaels says a Betta Splendens couple has from 500 to 1,000 youngsters at a time—and frequently. The only trouble, she says, is that the parents get hungry, and eat their young. And if they don't, when the youngsters grow a little they fight and eat each other.

The fish would absorb the tranquilizer solution through their gill system, just as they would water, says Miss Michaels.

Ailing U.S. Ace Is Progressing, Says German

SCHWENNINGEN, Germany (AP) — John T. Godfrey, American World War II flying ace, is reported making "good progress" in his fight against amyotrophic laterial sclerosis, the disease that felled baseball star Lou Gehrig.

Godfrey, of Freeport, Maine, was flown here earlier this month in what he told Air Force officials was his last attempt to be cured. American doctors had described the disease as being 100 per cent fatal up to now.

Dr. Arthur Boss, the German doctor who says he has saved the lives of many sufferers from the illness, told reporters that Godfrey responded well to his special treatment.

Godfrey himself was cautious, saying he could not determine whether it was just a temporary improvement. He said he would wait six or eight weeks before deciding whether to continue the treatment or return to America.

He said he was getting hundreds of well-wishing letters. His mother Mrs. Ethel Godfrey of Warwick, R.I., joined her son last week and his wife will come to Germany in mid-July.

Silently she stalked the dark shape of the intruder until she came up behind him. Poking the barrel of the rifle into the man's back, she told him: "If you make a false move, I'll shoot you."

★ ★ ★

She held him at bay for five minutes until her father James arrived home. He called police.

The intruder identified himself as Charles Holland, 45. He was charged with disorderly conduct.

Both Parents, Children Lose Out on Life Together

Teenagers Turn Family Routine Into Chaos

BY JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

It is nearing the hour of 6 o'clock when all of the family gathers together in supposed peace and happy companionship at the end of a day.

★ ★ ★

All day long Mother has been as busy as a bee, and sometimes has felt as though she had been stung by one! Today, especially, her household tasks seemed endless.

There was a pile-up from several days' absence from home last week. The school rummage sale was this week. Then, oh, there had been all sorts of minor complications.

Anyway, as the fatal hour approached, like a thoroughbred at the post, she had pulled herself together for the final race and now the clutter has disappeared and dinner will be ready on time.

★ ★ ★

She even found the energy to spruce herself up into a lovely feminine package because she believes that a charming atmosphere creates charming moods and thoughts, and contributes to the welfare of the family.

TEENAGER ARRIVES

A screech of brakes disturbs her peaceful mood. Her teenage daughter races into the house. The door slams. "Mother! Mother! Where are you? Is dinner ready? I have to leave here in 20 minutes."

★ ★ ★

"Oh no! We are going to sit down at the table and eat like civilized people. You can't gulp your food down like that and anyway this is the only time when the family is together."

"But Mother. It is Friday night and the feature starts at a quarter of 7."

"Well you can be a little late for it."

"But the kids are coming by for me."

At this point the man of the house enters. He greets his wife and daughter and senses the tension in the room. He is acquainted with the facts and reinforces his wife's decision. The daughter rushes to her room. Fifteen minutes later she appears again and asks, "What are we waiting for?"

"Your brother," sighs her father. "Well, I don't think it is fair to wait for him and make me late for the movie."

So Mother decides to start without him.

The candlelight and the good food fail to promote good conversation because of the rush of the daughter. An automobile horn honks outside — one, two, three and the daughter waves a goodbye and takes her dessert with her.

CALL FROM SON

The telephone rings. The son says, "Hello, Dad. Please tell Mother that I am eating dinner with Jim. We are going to study for our Latin exam together afterward. I'll be home by 10. Thanks, Dad."

★ ★ ★

This is a typical scene enacted by typical teenagers. It is normal and natural. There is nothing bad about it except that there is so little opportunity for real family life. It is a loss to the children as well as to the parents.

WOMEN DEVELOP BOSSY TENDENCY

It seems to me that there is one thing women should watch. This is a perfectly natural tendency to manage things. It is natural because for many years the woman has, of necessity, been guiding and instructing the children and planning their activities.

★ ★ ★

She is also the center of household and family management in many other ways. In most homes it is the woman who accepts invitations and plans parties to keep abreast with her family's social obligations. She naturally consults her husband but it is she who is mainly responsible for this part of life.

She usually plans the interior decoration of the home, selects the children's clothes and often shops for her husband. Then there are myriad details and minor crises to which she falls heir simply because her husband is away at work all day long.

So, if yo uhave the habit of backseat driving, in a car or elsewhere, give it a thought. Perhaps the fact that they cannot backseat drive is one reason many women dislike airplane travel. They can't very well say, "Watch out for that cloud!" or "Are you sure you have enough gasoline?" or "How long since you have had the landing gear tested?"

★ ★ ★

I think many vacations are ruined because the woman cannot stop backseat driving on all the plans. What could be MORE heavenly than to relax and let the man in your life plan the trip, make the reservations, decide which route is best, order dinner for you and give you his shoulder to lean on?

PROBLEM OF HABIT

Of course, there are men you cannot rely on in such matters without finding yourself with no place to sleep, only terrible places in which to eat and out of gas, 50 miles from the nearest filling station. Even in such cases I think the problem is mainly one of habit.

★ ★ ★

The man in question has become accustomed to having his wife plan and manage and has therefore lost his initiative. When he does exert it his wife is in there coaching.

Why not ask your husband to plan the details of your trip this year? I'll bet he would enjoy planning a wonderful time for you.

For your part — No backseat driving! Imagine that you are in an airplane, 18,000 feet up. You probably will feel like you are!

★ ★ ★

Tomorrow: "You're Wise Not to Turn Vacation Trip Into Grind."

It's been a hectic day but Mother has managed to spruce herself up and has dinner ready on time and now is awaiting the arrival of her family. But a peaceful dinner with teenagers seems to be out of the question.

Baby Gifts of No Use to Recipient

She Would Like to Give Them Away to Others

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: Two years ago a baby shower was given for me but unfortuntely my baby did not live. I kept these gifts thinking that we would have another baby to take its place but I'm afraid this will not be.

"Would it be proper for me to give these baby presents away as gifts to friends and relatives who are expecting babies, or might the givers take offense at this? It seems such a waste to go out and buy new things when clothes on hand. I would like to know what you think about this."

Answer: If any of the givers have babies who could use them, or are expecting babies you would return the presents to them. But if they would have no use for them, you could quite properly give them away to friends who are going to have babies.

"Dear Mrs. Post: Very often, while my employer is in conference with a visitor, I have occasion to enter his office with a message that I think is of importance. When this happens, however, I am always at a loss as to the correct way to handle the situation.

"By this I mean, do I excuse myself and interrupt his conversation, or must I stand quietly by and wait for my employer to notice my presence?"

Answer: You do the latter.

"Dear Mrs. Post: The other evening my boy friend and I had dinner in a restaurant. We each had a cocktail. Before drinking his, he raised his glass and said, 'Here's to you.' What was the proper reply for me to make? Also, is it proper to clink glasses before drinking?"

Answer: You reply, "and to you" or "thank you," or just a smile as you raise your glass. You may touch glasses, but don't "clink" them.

She's Not Alone in Her Loneliness

By ANNE HEYWOOD

Anybody can be philosophical about the bad breaks of the past, or even the bad breaks of the future, but the real trick is to be philosophical about the bad breaks we are living through right this minute.

★ ★ ★

If, when misery strikes, we can muster our strength to do something about those positive thoughts we've been collecting, we'll turn misery into happiness.

All too often, the misery drives the positive thoughts away, and we just sit and fret. Nevertheless, I do occasionally meet or hear about a real, practicing philosopher.

Mrs. J. is such a woman.

"I've never been a bit popular," Mrs. J. wrote me. "I was always shy and so tongue-tied people usually ignored me.

★ ★ ★

"When I was young, I was miserable. I'd have a handful of friends, but no more than that, and had very few dates.

FELL IN LOVE

"Eventually, in my early 30s, I fell in love with a man who was almost as shy as I. We married and we've been very happy, but because of our awful shyness, we lacked friends.

"When our first baby arrived, I decided to make some effort to meet other mothers, but it didn't work out too well.

"Finally, in an effort to take my mind off my loneliness, I decided to knit some kind of toy for the baby—a really cuddly toy.

"I was never much of a knitter, but I took some instructions. Then I had a plan.

★ ★ ★

"I had had a dog once, a red cocker spaniel named Marmalade. I had loved that dog. He had helped me over many a lonely hour and many a hurt feeling. I decided to make my baby a cuddly Marmalade.

BABY LOVED IT

"I became fascinated with the project, and it turned out beautifully. My baby loved it and took it with him wherever we went. People would often comment on Marmalade and, finally, a woman in the neighborhood asked if I would make her one.

★ ★ ★

"After we had become acquainted, she asked how I had ever gotten the idea. I told her Marmalade stood for comfort against loneliness in my childhood. The next thing you know, she was telling me how lovely she was, too!

"I soon discovered that most of us have periods of loneliness and that plenty of the people who seemed so poised and sure of themselves were just as shy and miserable as I.

"That experience helped me to get over most of my shyness and now I have a warm circle of friends!"

The very thing that we suffer from will often give us a clue to a good solution.

If you have ever overcome a problem as Mrs. J. did, do write and tell me how you did it so that I can share your story with other readers who need help, too.

Miss Goodsell to Become Bride

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph H. Goodsell of Moreland avenue announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Patricia Ann, to Gary M. Shore, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Shore of Auburn Heights.

The engagement was announced at a dinner party at the Goodsell home Saturday, with members of the immediate families and the wedding party as guests. The couple plans an Aug. 3 wedding at St. Michael Church.

The least attractive thing you can put on your head is the so-called "peasant scarf." If you must wear pin curls in public, cover them with a jersey cap or a length of chiffon tied like a cap.

An icy shower on hot days just makes you hotter. It stimulates your circulation instead of calming it down. A cub of warm soapsuds will reduce body temperature

Mrs. Welch's Way With Chicken Is Easy and Delicious

By JANET ODELL

Chicken has been on the list of economical foods for months. Fortunately, it is a favorite food with most families. An easy way to prepare it is to bake it the way Mrs. Lee Welch does. She calls the dish Wamego Chicken in honor of the family cabin of the same name up at West Branch.

Mrs. Welch is a member of the Eastern Star. She enjoys her grandchildren who live not too far away. For hobbies she grows African violets and collects silver spoons.

WAMEGO CHICKEN
By Mrs. Lee Welch

Cut one medium or large young chicken in pices for serving. Roll in flour and season with salt and pepper. Place in frying pan and brown in chicken fat or other shortening.

Place in covered pan and pour over about one cup cream. Cover closely and bake in a 300-degree oven for one to one and a half hours. This could easily be done in an electric skillet instead of the oven.

Pattern No. 5813 contains tissue—waist sizes 24", 26", 28" incl.; sewing and embroidery directions; hot-iron transfer for alphabet.

Send 25c in coins, your name, address and the pattern number to Anne Cabot, The Pontiac Press, 372 W. Quincy St., Chicago 6, Ill.

Lee Collins 'Blew Too Loud'

Ailment Silences Jazzman

CHICAGO (AP) — Lee Collins, now a charity patient at Cook County Hospital, blames the jazz trumpet that brought him fame for his ill health and the loss of his career.

The 55-year-old Negro, rated among the best of the early jazzmen, suffers from a dilated lung. Physicians say his lusty style of playing could have aggravated the condition and that he'll never play again.

★ ★ ★

Collins, who began in Jazz in New Orleans before World War I, sadly agrees that he has tooted his last note.

★ ★ ★

"Maybe it came from blowing too young and too loud," he said dejectedly in his ward at the hospital yesterday.

"I think I've played my last trumpet. I'm too weak to blow any more. I don't feel good at all."

Collins' career stretched for the gin mills of New Orleans' fabled Storyville to Chicago and on to the Paris Opera House, where he collapsed from his ailment while playing in January 1955.

★ ★ ★

"My first professional job was in 1916," he recalled. "It began when Louis Armstrong and I stepped out to lead the Mardi Gras parade."

★ ★ ★

In World War I, the Navy cracked down on night clubs in New Orleans, where American jazz was born. Collins and other famous jazz musicians drifted northward after the closures.

Asked what he plans to do when he leaves the hospital, the grey-haired Collins shook his head and sighed: "I don't know. All I know is jazz."

He was David Stephen Jerome, son of the Rev. and Mrs. Norman Jerome of Allentown. Coroner Clayton Werley said an autopsy will be performed today to determine the cause of death.

Swimming Is Fun—Easy to Learn

(Editor's Note: This week The Press will present a series of articles intended to teach the basic fundamentals of swimming and water fun. Geraldine Irwin, swimming instructor at Pontiac High School, will present the daily lessons. This is the first of the series.)

By GERALDINE IRWIN
Pontiac High School Swim Instructor

Everyone has had some experience with water, whether direct or indirect, happy or tragic. My efforts will be focused on the direct experience with a happy ending. In order that your experience in the water be pleasant, you must keep personal safety foremost in your thoughts while swimming.

A beginning swimmer must have some definte plan to follow. First, you must find a safe place to practime your swimming.

Know the area in which you swim. Investigate its depth, currents, drop off and the condition of the bottom.

Secondly, never swim alone. Have someone along to aid you.

After you have found a safe swimming place, the next step is to get into the water.

Enter slowly. Wade out a few steps and allow your body to become adapted to the water. Splash the water gently about your arms, legs, chest and face.

Next, wade out about knee deep and practice sitting and standing in the water. In order to gain the correct floating position, bring your knees toward your chest. After your feet are directly under you, try to stand. This develops balance in the water.

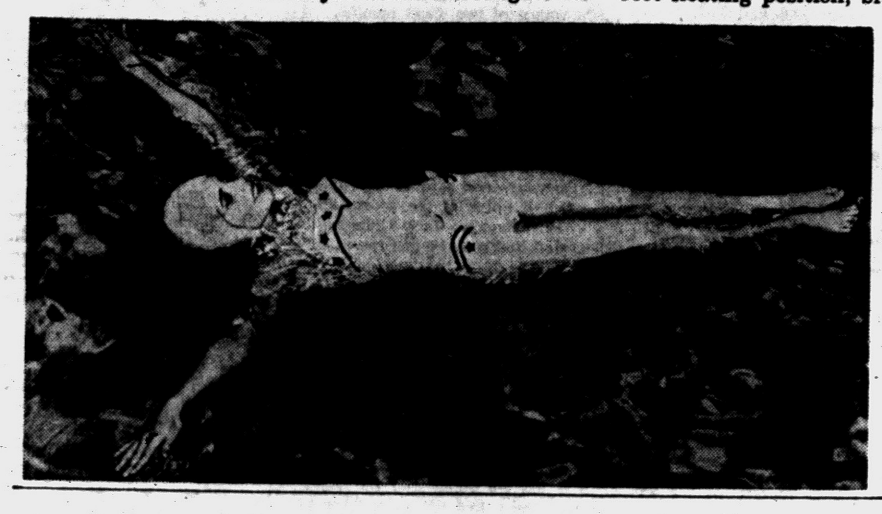

Getting accumstomed to the water may take several days. Remember — always use some help.

Next, stand in the water with your feet apart. Bend at the waist and take a deep breath. Now submerge your face so that your mouth and nose are pointing toward the bottom.

When you need another breath, lift your face. Repeat this step until you become accustomed to having water around your face.

★ ★ ★

The next lesson will teach the fundamentals of the flutter kick.

Auto Pioneer Dies, Drove First Car

DETROIT (AP) — Another of the automobile industry's famed names has passed from the scene.

Charles Brady King, who was credited with designing and driving the first automobile in Detroit 61 years ago, died yesterday at his home in Rye, N.Y. He was 89 years old.

King completed his first car, powered by a four-cylinder gasoline engine, at John Lauer's machine shop on March 6, 1896, and drove it down Detroit's Woodward avenue.

At about the same time he helped Henry Ford in constructing the first experimental Ford car. King later manufactured his famous "Silent Northern," a car long-vanished from the American highway.

OTHER FEATS

Many were his accomplishments other than with cars.

King was also a painter and etcher of note, with work exhibited in Washington's national gallery; a practicing architect; an accomplished musician on the flute and a half dozen other instruments; a yachtsman and yacht designer; and creator of airplane engines used in World War I.

Among the "firsts" attributed to King were the pneumatic hammer, the cantilever spring, left-hand steering, and running boards.

King was born on San Francisco's Angel Island at an Army post where his father was a major general.

★ ★ ★

He attended Cascadila engineering school in Ithaca and received a master of engineering degree from Cornell in 1891. For a while he was chief draftsman of the Michigan Car Co. during World War I he was in charge of engine design for the Army Signal Corps. In recent years he did engineering work for the government.

His wife, the former Grace Fletcher, died in 1941. He is survived by one son, Fletcher, of Miami, Fla.

Diamond Contest Complete Loss for Ballplayer

NEWPORT, Ky. (AP) — Delbert Knotts of Cincinnati figures he really struck out at the ball game.

Knotts' station wagon was stolen during the softball contest.

In it, was Knotts' wallet—containing $400. Only $112 of the money was his—the rest belonged to his boss, operator of an oil firm here.

Knotts didn't learn about the theft until the game was over and he was about to get out of his playing clothes. But he had left his suit in the car.

That wasn't all — his team lost.

State's GOP Legislators Split on Civil Rights Issue

WASHINGTON (AP)—As far as the civil rights issue is concerned, Michigan Republicans in Congress today were divided on all points but one. They don't think the division will hurt them in the 1958 Michigan campaign.

Three of the 12 GOP House members from Michigan — Reps. Bennett, Hoffman and Johansen—were among the few northern Republicans opposing the civil rights bill as it passed the House last week.

PROTECT RIGHT

Backers say the measure is designed to protect voting rights of Negroes in the South.

Six Michigan Republicans voted for the Eisenhower administration measure, and the remaining three reportedly favored it although they were not on the floor at the time of the vote. All six Michigan Democrats supported the bill.

★ ★ ★

The split extends to the motives behind the bill. Bennett and Hoffman today termed the measure "a political bill." Sen. Potter (R-Mich), one of the bill's strongest Senate advocates, said it is anything but political.

CHALLENGE COMMENT

But all joined to challenge the comment by Rep. Diggs (D-Mich) a Negro congressman from Detroit, that opposition to the bill by any Michigan Republicans would mean a body blow to the GOP's drive to regain the Negro vote in the state.

Diggs took that position two weeks ago after Hoffman and Johansen delivered vigorous floor speeches against the bill.

★ ★ ★

Both Potter and Rep. Ford (R-Mich), another advocate of the measure, said unanimous opposition to the bill by southern Democrats would be remembered longer than "no" votes by a few northern Republicans.

MORE REPUBLICANS

"In the final analysis," said Ford, "a far greater percentage of Republicans voted for the bill than Democrats although that is not true if you isolate the Michigan delegation."

"We're the only party that has ever fought for the Negro in civil rights legislation," said Potter.

He said he "assumes" the administration's civil rights stand would bring Michigan Negroes into the GOP fold. But he added quickly, "The bill is in no way a political bill."

POLITICAL BILL

Bennett said one of the reasons he opposed the measure was "it is a political bill, politically motivated and politically inspired." Hoffman called it an attempt by the leadership of both parties to win the Negro vote.

As far as Michigan Negroes reacting against his stand, Hoffman snapped, "That's a lot of nonsense."

"I know of no Negro in Michigan who ever has not been able to vote," Hoffman added.

★ ★ ★

The pro-rights members were careful not to criticize their dissenting colleagues.

"They have a right to vote their convictions," said Potter.

Michigan's heaviest Negro population is in Detroit, now represented in Congress exclusively by Democrats. But there are large Negro concentrations in Pontiac, Flint, Grand Rapids and other cities with GOP Congressional representation.

British Papers Say Margaret's Robbing Cradle

LONDON (AP) — The Daily Express today raised the question of whether Princess Margaret is cradle-snatching because her new boy friend is nearly four years her junior.

★ ★ ★

It was the second piece of veiled criticism in as many days by one of Lord Beaverbrook's newspapers about Margaret's going with Lord Patrick Beresford. A Sunday Express columnist hinted that the princess had stolen the handsome guardsman from Joanna Smith-Bingham, a 21-year-old socialite.

★ ★ ★

The Queen's sister and the young nobleman have been constant companions in recent weeks. She will be 27 in August; he is 23.

Express writer Anne Edwards said the age discrepancy was causing a good deal of snide talk. She deplored this.

★ ★ ★

The writer added that she thought background, experience and temperament counted more than age.

Berle Straight-Faced After Losing $240

DETROIT (AP) — Comedian Milton Berle wasn't laughing yesterday when he got out of bed and pulled on his trousers. A sneak thief had taken $240 from the entertainer's pocket.

Berle, who has an engagement in a night club in Windsor, Ont., told police the thief apparently crept into his hotel suite here as he and his wife slept and took the money.

Police said the thief apparently used a key to get into Berle's room.

Poor Box Burglar Caught by Priest After Hot Pursuit

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A church poor box burglar was in jail today because a Roman Catholic priest, lifting up his cassock, ran and cornered the man after a three-block chase, sheriff's deputies report.

The Rev. Jeremiah Flannagan told officers he entered his church yesterday afternoon and saw a man tampering with the poor box.

The man snatched a handful of change and bolted, Father Flannagan said. The priest gave chase.

After three blocks he cornered the man in a back yard as deputies arrived. Booked on suspicion of burglary was John Joseph Mullman, 47.

Pontiac Women Find U.S. Armed Services Enjoyable

By MARGARET BROWN

When women first began assisting the armed services in times of crisis, the effect of a permanent women's military organization on American culture was not suspected.

But by 1956, with 34,000 women on duty and 350,000 having had active duty the American girl assumingly numbered the armed forces among possible career choices, a thought unheard of to her grandmother.

Among the thousands who have chosen to "Go Navy, Army, or Marines," are three gracious young ladies from Pontiac, WAC Pvt. Kathryn N. Slade, WAC 1st Lt. Eileen L. Harmer, and Wave Hospital Corpsman 3.C. Ruth E. Ebert (formerly Ruth Esther Tibbetts).

PVT. SLADE

Pvt. Slade, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Slade, of 339 Fourth St., graduated from Pontiac High School in June, 1956, and enlisted in the WACs the following fall.

Never having been away from home before journeying to Ft. McClellan, Ala. for basic training, Kathryn related that she was quite homesick for a while but adjusted quickly to her new way of life.

★ ★ ★

During basic training Pvt. Slade found little free time, but said once a service woman is "out in the field" the work is just like a civilian job with craft shops, service clubs, and theaters open to service personnel at the end of an eight hour day.

The perky private said her most embarrassing experience occurred during basic training.

WAKE UP

The girls had undergone an exhausting three days' training exercise in the use of gas masks. A few hours after the weary WACs had tumbled into their bunks, she was awakened by a very disturbed pajama clad group.

Her thoughts obscured by the days' strenuous routine, Kathryn was told that someone had shouted "Gas!", and nearly all the sleepy girls had automatically donned their masks.

Kathryn said after they finished with her, she wished ". . . someone else had been sleep talking."

She added that she knows of no other career in which one has the opportunity to meet people from so many different walks of life. In her group at Fort Dix, N. J. are women from Hawaii, the Philippines, Germany, Burma, Korea, and U. S. Indian reservations.

Following her discharge in 1958, Kathryn will make use of her Army training as a clerk typist in securing office work; but she hopes eventually to benefit even more from her experience as a wife and mother.

★ ★ ★

A pamphlet concerning the Army's Physical Therapy program tacked on a bulletin board at the University of Michigan was the sole factor in motivating 1st Lt. Eileen Zellers to enlist in the Army.

ZELLERS

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Harmer of 49 Monterey Blvd., Eileen was a sophomore at Michigan when she became interested in physical therapy.

Lt. Zellers related that Army life to her was ". . . like going to college all over again, and yet even better . . . no job to keep outside of regular classes and activities . . . and still getting paid!"

The 18 girls in Eileen's dormitory were a closely knit group, but each one retained her individuality which resulted, as she aptly expressed it, in "some real characters."

Last Saturday, Eileen took a step even bigger than joining the service, when she became the bride of Lt. Francis Lowell Zellers history major and former long distance track man at the University of Indiana.

RENEW TOUR DUTY

The two will live in San Francisco, Calif., where Eileen will renew her tour of duty at Letterman Army hospital.

The Pontiac WAC said that in her work she serves everyone from generals to privates, adding, "I've grown to love people more and more with each new association."

★ ★ ★

Concerning types of girls who might join the service, Eileen remarked, "It helps if a girl is a strong minded individual and outgoing." She added, however, that not being an extrovert herself, she has found service duty can make one more confident and assertive.

Her tour of duty will end in August, 1957.

Ruth E. Ebert, 3rd Class Petty Officer of the Navy Hospital Corps, was formerly Ruth Esther Tibbetts, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth R. Tibbetts of 210 Roslyn St.

Ruth, who last February became the bride of Navy electronics instructor Paul Ebert, worked at the Bell Telephone Co. before enlisting in April 1955.

EBERT

She said a yen for travel and further education prompted her to join the service. Said Ruth, "Until I joined the Navy, I hadn't exactly decided what I wanted to do. I only knew I hadn't succeeded in finding my goal."

Currently working at the Naval Hospital in Memphis, Tenn., Wave Ebert has so enjoyed hospital experience that upon her discharge she plans to enter a civilian hospital to obtain her registered nurse degree.

Among her various duty stations have been Bainbridge, Md.; Jacksonville, Fla., and Hutchinson, Kan., which she affectionately dubbed "Hutch," because "it was there I discovered my goal in nursing and, thought I didn't suspect it at the time, met my husband-to-be."

★ ★ ★

So proud to be a part of the Navy is she that, prior to her marriage, she seriously considered making the service a permanent career.

Ruth, a 1954 Pontiac High graduate, expects to be discharged in 1958.

Truckers Give $5,000 for Boy Scout Project

WASHINGTON (AP)—The American Trucking Assn. has given $5,000 to a Boy Scout National service project — the "1958 safety good turn."

Purpose of the project is to conserve human lives through safety education.

Between Honduras, Nicaragua

Hope to End Border Dispute

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP) — Nicaragua and Honduras have agreed to a two-step plan aimed at settling their century-old border dispute.

The Central American neighbors first will ask the World Court to decide whether a boundary line drawn by the King of Spain in 1906 is valid.

Then, if the court's ruling does not solve the dispute, the countries will submit any unsettled points to arbitration.

The agreement was obtained by Luis Quintanilla of Mexico and Eduardo Garcia of Argentina, representatives of the Organization of American States, in talks here and in Honduras over the weekend.

MacKay Guides Wolverines to NCAA Net Title

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Barry MacKay of Michigan traded slams with Sammy Giammalva for five sets yesterday before capturing the NCAA tennis championships 6-4, 3-6, 6-2, 3-6 and 6-3.

It was one of the few upsets of the week-long tourney at the tennis club here. MacKay was the second-ranked netman. Giammalva of Texas was top seeded.

MacKay's win helped Michigan to the team title with 10 points. Tulane had 9, Texas 7 and Iowa 5.

In the doubles championship, top-seeded Crawford Henry and Ronald Holmberg of Tulane defeated Michigan's MacKay and Dick Potter, 6-3, 7-9, 6-4, 6-4.

Indians, Red Sox Win Doubleheaders

Mantle Leads Yanks to Top

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Mickey Mantle's batting splurge is the big news in the American League as the New York Yankees' slugger takes dead aim at an unprecedented second straight "triple crown."

Since the start of the stormy White Sox series in Chicago two weeks ago, the switcher has been manhandling pitching at a .500 clip.

★ ★ ★

As the result of this sizzling drive, Mantle now leads the majors with a .392 batting average, tops both leagues with 21 home runs and trails Washington's Roy Sievers by one run with his 51 runs batted in.

Mickey picked up 13 points Sunday with six hits in the doubleheader with Chicago, witnessed by the season's largest crowd, 63,787 at Yankee Stadium. Even Prime Minister Kishi of Japan must have been impressed by the Yankee star who made a tremendous catch against the wall in addition to a double and three singles in the first and a single and three-run homer in the second.

★ ★ ★

Just when Dick Donovan appeared ready to become the first pitcher to shut out the Yankees with a three-hitter going to the ninth inning of the second game, his defense failed him and Mantle hit one.

Mickey's 21st homer into the third deck in right with two on unhinged Donovan and brought Paul LaPalme to the rescue. The lefthanded knuckleball pitcher survived some more shoddy fielding to strike out Yogi Berra, get Elston Howard on a pop fly and strike out pinch hitter Darrell Johnson to end the 4-3 game.

★ ★ ★

Whether the Go-Go Sox are suffering from their usual June Swoon" or simply feeling the effects of their fast early space, there is no denying that the finally have hit their stride.

★ ★ ★

The Yanks won their 10th straight 9-2 in the opener, a ninth victory for Bobby Shantz and his eighth in succession. The little lefthander was helped by a 16-hit attack against loser Billy Pierce, Gerry Staley and LaPalme.

With the help of LaPalme's pitching, the White Sox took the second 4-3 to remain one half game behind the Yanks. However, they came to Yankee Stadium on Friday with a 1½ game lead.

Cleveland clubbed Washington pitching for a total of 31 hits, 14 in the first game, to win a pair 14-2 and 7-5 for Early Wynn and Mike Garcia. Gene Woodling had four hits and a walk in the opener and even pitcher Ray Narleski got his first hit of the year — a homer-in the second.

★ ★ ★

Frank Malzone and Ted Williams put on a hitting show at Boston where the Red Sox also totalled 31 hits in thumping Kansas City 10-6 and 10-1.

Malzone collected five hits and Williams hit his 18th and 19th homers.

Tiger Skipper Fears Arm May Have Left Bill

Baltimore's Four Runs in Third Inning Send Southpaw to Showers

BALTIMORE (AP) — From the best Detroit lefthander since prince Hal Newhouser to the biggest disappointment of the season—that's the story of young Bill Hoeft in the space of two short months.

The 25-year-old Hoeft, winner of 20 games last season and owner of just one triumph this season, is being batted around like a sore-armed pitcher whose arm is gone.

After the Tigers dropped a 5-4 decision to the Baltimore Orioles yesterday—and skidded to within one-half game of the second division—Manager Jack Tighe suggested that may be just the case.

Hoeft says his arm isn't sore, that he feels just as strong as ever. And that is what leads the Tiger skipper to believe that perhaps Hoeft's arm has left him.

★ ★ ★

Whatever the case, Hoeft lasted only 2⅓ innings yesterday before he was derricked during Baltimore's four-run rally. The Tigers, who led 3-0 going into the Baltimore third, tied the score later so Hoeft didn't figure in the decision.

Hoeft was jerked in favor of young Don Lee who was followed by Al Aber and Lou Sleater.

Detroit picked up its three-run lead in the third inning on two walks, a ground-rule double by Charlie Maxwell and a two-run single by Al Kaline.

Baltimore bounced back for four runs in its half of the inning. Pitcher Ray Moore tagged Hoeft for a double with one out. Billy Gardner and Bob Boyd followed through with singles for one run and Jim Busby connected with a double to score another.

Lee took over at this point and managed to get the second out before being tagged for a two-run single by George Kell which put Baltimore out in front 4-3. Busby's homer later clinched it.

Jones Picked for European Track Meet

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Three American and 10 meet records were established last weekend as the National Amateur Athletic Union completed the hectic pace of its 69th annual track-field championships.

Pontiac's Hayes Jones of Eastern Michigan College and Dave Owen of the University of Michigan will be among the top American athletes going to Europe next month for a series of track and field meets as a result of the AAU events.

The AAU has selected five squads. Jones will compete in the hurdles squad bound for France. Owen will compete in Italy.

Jones took fourth place in the high hurdles Saturday after a preliminary time of :13.7 in the high hurdles Friday. The finals of the highs were won by Lee Calhoun in :14.2 after Jones ripped his shoe on the first hurdle.

★ ★ ★

Jones was 4th in a close finish in Saturday's low hurdles in a time of 22.7 seconds, his best time for the event. The winner had 22.5. The 10-man team of which Hayes is a member arrived in New York last night and departs Wednesday for Brussels and Paris to compete in events throughout Europe. He returns to Ypsilanti July 15.

The athletes who bettered American records were Bob Backus, who throws the 56-pound weight for the New York Athletic Club; 440-yard hurdler Glenn Davis of Ohio State, and Douglas Kyle of the Hamilton, Ont. Olympic Club, in the six-mile run.

Backus heaved the heavy weight 44 feet, 8½ inches, topping his American record of 44 feet, 2 inches. Two weeks ago he recorded a toss of 45 feet, two inches, a mark which is up for consideration as a record.

Davis clipped six-tenths of a second from the American 440-yard hurdles record of :51.5 set last year by Eddie Southern of Texas. Davis skimmed over the timbers in :50.9.

Kyle's six-mile run time was 29:22.8, surpassing a 29:28.1 recorded last year by Gordon McKenzie.

Other meet records set in the two-night, 21-event program, were: 440-yard run—Reginald Pearman, New York Pioneer Club :46.4. Three-mile run—John Macy, Houston freshman, 13:55. Two-mile steeplechase—Charles Jones, Iowa City, 9:49.6. 220-yard low hurdles—Elias Gilbert, Winston-Salem, 22.5. Two-mile walk — Harry Laskau, New York 92nd St. YMHA. 13:58.3. Hammer throw—Harold Connolly, Boston UAC, 216-3.

Von Hollenbeck-LaCroix Win Invitational Best Ball Tournament

Homer VonHollenbeck of Red Run and Dr. A. E. LaCroix of Gowanie, defeated George Linklater of Red Run and Bill Nettle of Plum Hollow on the 18th hole, 1-up, in the 18th annual Red Run Invitational Best Ball tournament yesterday.

VonHollenbeck-LaCroix moved into the finals by taking a 1-up match from Tom Draper and Tim Griffin in the semifinals. A 17-foot birdie putt by Dr. LaCroix on the 17-hole broke up the even match.

In the finals Linklater - Nettle had a 1-up lead going to 18, but both men hooked their drives, and LaCroix birdied a 9-foot putt for the victory.

Linklater missed a four-foot putt which would have saved the extra hole.

Hutch Among 3 Managers Ejected, but Cards Win

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Sunday was a rough day for managers, especially in the National League. Losing skippers Bobby Bragan of Pittsburgh and Mayo Smith of the Phils both were ejected from games as was Freddy Hutchinson of the loop-leading Cards.

St. Louis finished on the winning end of a 4-3 score against Brooklyn despite the manager's absence, to cling to a one-game lead. Wally Moon drove home two runs with a triple and stole home for another as Larry Jackson won his 9th game with help from Hoyt Wilhelm.

Bragan's Pirates bowed twice Cincinnati 5-3 and 5-2. The Redlegs regained their power legs to slam five homers in the twin bill led by George Crowe with one in each game. Crowe had six hits for the day.

Smith had to listen in on the clubhouse radio as his Phillies lost the 2nd game of a doubleheader to Milwaukee 7-3 after bowing 7-5 in the opener.

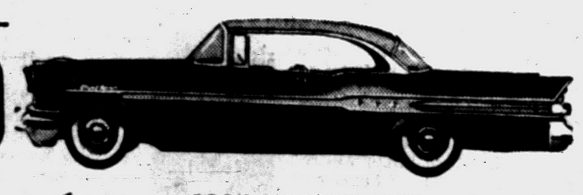

Saginaw's Bob Buhl and Taylor Phillips hurled the triumphs and steady Hank Aaron and Bill Bruton provided the big bats as the Braves took over 2nd place. The losses dropped the Phils from 2nd to 4th.

Aaron's single batted in the winning run in the 1st game. Bruton drove across three markers in the afterpiece with a double and triple.

The New York Giants, who have taken a new lease on life on their Western tour, clinched their 4th straight series by whipping the Cubs 7-5 and 5-1.

Johnny Antonelli, with relief help, and Curt Barclay chucked the victories beating Cub youngsters Dick Drott and Moe Drabowsky. A homer by Lee Walls ruined a shutout for Barclay who fanned eight.

Flint Open 1st Pro Win for Harney

By BILL CORNWELL

FLINT—An eligible young bachelor was $5,700 richer today after winning the 6th annual Carling Open golf tournament Sunday at Flint Golf Club.

Paul Harney, 27-year-old professional from Bolton, Mass., fired sub-par golf in every round of the 72-hole tourney for a 3-stroke edge over defending champion Dow Finsterwald and a 4-shot margin over Detroit's Bob Inman.

It was the 1st major victory for the easy-going Harney since he turned pro in November of 1954.

Harney rifled his 2nd consecutive 68 yesterday for a total of 275, nine strokes below regulation, then gratefully pocketed the winner's purse and headed for Detroit to tune up for the Western Open Thursday through Sunday at Plum Hollow.

The quiet Harney thought the par 36-35—71 Flint course was "just wonderful" and it's easy to see why. He played the 6,625-yard layout like he owned it, blazing around in 70-69-68-68.

It almost seemed as though the course was made to order for him. Next to George Bayer the longest hitting golfer on the professional circuit, Harney found the lengthy par 4 and par 5 holes perfectly suited to his booming wood shots.

Harney stood at 207 when yesterday's final 18-hole round began, one stroke behind pace-setting Bert Weaver, the young pro from Beaumont, Texas. Weaver skyrocketed to 75 to finish in a 5th-place tie with Fred Hawkins.

But there was no "blow-up" for Harney. He faltered temporarily, shooting a 37 on the front nine, but he recovered to come home with a scorching 31, including birdies on 10, 13, 16 and 18.

Finsterwald, hoping to pocket the $5,000 bonus which goes to a repeat winner of this tournament, had to be content with 278 for 2nd place and $3,700. He averted a tie with Inman by ramming in a 25-foot birdie putt on the 18th.

★ ★ ★

Inman, who took 3rd place with 279, was perhaps the surprise of the tourney. The Detroit Golf Club pro carded rounds of 69-72-71-67 and enjoyed the lead Sunday until Harney and Finsterwald surpassed him. Inman won $2,600 plus another $350 for leading the Michigan delegation.

Arnold Palmer, Ken Venturi, Doug Sanders and Gardner Dickinson tied for 4th spot with 280, followed by Weaver and Hawkins at 281. Doug Ford and four other pros came next with 282.

Gene Littler shot 283, along with five others, while veteran Jimmy Demaret and Bob Rosburg, the midway leader, joined two associates with an even par 284.

★ ★ ★

Bill Nary of Wayne posted 286 to earn $150 and picked up an additional $300 for being Michigan's No. 2 player. Pontiac's Gene Bone had a 72-hole score of 288, the state's 3rd best total, to snatch a $250 bonus plus $53.85 for his share of 12th-place money.

John Barnum of Grand Rapids, Jack Fleck of Rochester and Meadowbrook's Chick Harbert collected the balance of Michigan's $1,500 bonus.

Balding hit a $2,000 jackpot by topping his fellow Canadians in a fight for a $5,000 bonus. Stan Leonard earned $1,400 as runner-up while four other pros split the remainder of the loot.

Bob Keller from Royal Oak, Mike Dietz of Lake Orion and Farmington's Jimmy Johnson were Oakland County golfers who finished out of the running and out of the money.

TRENTON, N. J. (AP) — Two Michigan men finished among the top 10 yesterday in the 300-mile Trenton Speedway race for late model stock cars.

Sam Hanks of Pacific Palisades, Calif., won the event with an average speed of 88.37 miles an hour.

BC Nine Drops Out of League

Unable to field a team for Sunday's scheduled game against the Clawson club in the 18th District American Legion Junior Baseball loop, the Pontiac representative today withdrew from the circuit. Sunday's game was forfeited to Clawson.

"The fact that school is out and many of the boys on our club are working to build a school fund for next fall, has made it hard for us to field a team," Bill Coulacos of the Boys' Club explained today. "Many of the boys work on Sundays. That hit us hard, but the interests of the boys come first, and so we decided to just withdraw."

Coulacos plans to talk with Legion league officials about the matter, but said this morning he didn't believe a new team would be formed to fill the vacancy.

In another scheduled game Sunday Milford stopped co-leader Berkley 2-1, to assume the league lead with four straight wins. It was a pitchers' battle, with Milford's Hoy fanning 11, Crumb for Berkley 12.

Rochester added to Birmingham's woes with another shutout, 16-0, third blank Herb Kelley's club has drawn this spring. Winners' Roy hit .750, with three for four.

Wednesday's games — Milford at Rochester and Clawson at Birmingham.

Equine Stars Prepare for Big Show

By H. GUY MOATS

The "big move" of many of the country's top show horses was under way today, with Bloomfield Open Hunt Club on East Long Lake road, the current destination. The big show opens Tuesday with an all-day junior program.

Most of the winners and many other equine stars from the Grosse Pointe show that closed Sunday night will be installed in their quarters at the Bloomfield club today. The list includes the fine James R. Greene stable from Goodwater, Ala., headed by the reserve working hunter champion "Sequoia," which also took championship honors at the Pointe in the $1,000 working hunter stake. Mrs. Sally Greene, wife of the owner, rode Sequoia in the title event.

"Sequoia," with Cy James "Apt Pupil" and Wilson Dennehy's "Fortune Hunter" collected their sixth victory in two years in the team of hunters, at the Pointe show. All were expected to compete at Bloomfield this week.

"Apt Pupil" was the Pointe working hunter champion.

"Mountain Breeze" from the Johnny Wallace stables, (Northville) won the FEI open jumper event. He is among the competitors at the Hills. "Velvet Rose" one of three Bloomfield entries by Mrs. Robert Haas (Farm Crest Farm, Northville) was 2nd in the Pointe lightweight hunter class, back of Cy James' "Star Double."

More than 400 horses were expected for the six day, five night exhibition, the 40th in the list of Detroit Horse Shows.

Officials and judges for the show include:

Mrs. Edgar Scott, Villa Nova, Pa., (hunter, hunter equitation, dressage); F. O. Coates, Houston, Tex., (Hunter, hunter equitation); Daniel P. Lenehan, Sewixkley, Pa., (hunter, hunter equitation, jumpers); Col. E. F. Thomson, Nashville, Tenn., (jumper, dressage); Col. C. H. Snderson, Ft. Sill, Okla., (jumper, dressage); Maj. Anton Rethy, Ft. Erie, Ont., (dressage); Peter-Wolfe-Taylor, Brockville, Ont., (dressage); G. W. Benjamin, Flint, (western, parade, palomino, Arabian, Morgan, stock equitation).

Ringmaster is the veteran, colorful Clarence L. (Noney) Craven (Brookline, Mass.), for many years the centerman at the show. Frank Flynn (Dorchester, Mass.) steward; R. E. Jenkins (Youngstown, O., announcer; Dr. D. Lowith (Metamora) veterinarian. Jack Hellowell (Rochester) starter.

Hurler Clinches Win With Single in 16th

Talk about a pitcher deserving to win a ball game. Floyd Harper of Richard's Tavern certainly won a well-earned decision over Louie's Tavern last night.

He pitched 16 innings of softball scattering eight hits and came up with the big base hit that clinched the important City League victory. By winning, Richard's replaced Louie's as the National League leaders.

Loser Mike Haines also went the route and allowed only seven hits but he walked 14. Two errors and a hit batter set up Harper's big blow. Haines' 3-run homer in the 13th almost iced the decision but Harper sparked a similar rally for Richard's in the same frame. Tom Stilwell had a bases-empty circuit for the losers.

Louie's dropped all the way to 3rd by losing as the CIO tossers won their 2nd game in as many days at Beaudette Park to take 2nd. The union gang posted a 4-2 triumph over Pontiac Select-A-Drink on a one-hitter by Ray Richardson.

Griff's Third in City Loop

Griff's Grill continued its surge towards the top slot in the City Baseball League by making three hits good enough for six runs to topple the Jets 6-5 yesterday.

The win advanced the victors to 3rd place, one-half game behind the CIO Local 594 nine which lost yesterday in the other game of a doubleheader.

Griff's only had one hit in the 1st five innings but led 4-3. A double by Berg and Shank's single scored the other two in the 6th. The Jets fought back with two in their own in the 7th before reliefer Johnston put out the fire aided by a double play.

The Michigan Giants dumped the CIO gang 6-5 after overcoming a 2-0 1st inning deficit.

Lock-Picking Policemen Ordered to Cut It Out

DALLAS (AP) — Police here have been ordered to quit picking locks — except in an emergency.

Local locksmiths complained to city manager Elgin Crull that police often — and without charge — unlock cars for forgetful owners.

Noting the protests, police chief Carl Hanson issued a memo instructing patrolmen to refer owners locked out of their cars to a locksmith

The policemen use a small tool that slips through a vent window to open cars.

Another Rip Van Winkle

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Leon Myers, 45, became sleepy during the evening at the Century Bowling Alley, where he works. He took a nap in the back room. When he finally woke up the next afternoon, he found himself locked in. He left by way of a skylight and a ladder from Fire Company 23.

Mary Livingston ringsided at Jack Benny's opening at the Flamingo in Las Vegas. Edgar Bergen came from Reno, and Frances Bergen left right after the show to do a TV program. Looks like Jackson, Giselle MacKenzie and Chiquita Johnson will break all Flamingo records.

Aerialist Hurt in 30-Foot Fall

Blonde Slips From Grip of Husband During Act in North Carolina

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP)—A veteran circus aerialist said his pretty blonde wife must have blacked out shortly before she slipped from his grasp and plummeted 30 feet to the ground during a performance here yesterday. She suffered serious injuries.

A happy Sunday afternoon circus crowd of 5,000 watched in horror as Lili Kristensen slipped from her husband's perspiring hands. She landed in a crumpled heap on the sawdust-covered cement floor.

Hospital officials said the 28-year-old native of Denmark suffered broken pelvis, fractures of an arm and ankle, several broken ribs and possible internal injuries. Though seriously hurt, her condition was described as good.

The couple, known professionally as the Platos, was performing on a trapeze over the center ring of the Ringling Brothers and Barnum and Bailey Circus.

Her husband Svend, 30, said his wife apparently became sick and blacked out.

Francoise's Third Novel Offered to Movie Makers

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — The third novel by the youthful French author, Francoise Sagan, "Those Without Shadows," is being offered to motion picture producers.

Her first book, "Bonjour Tristesse," belongs to Otto Preminger, and the second, "That Certain Smile," is the property of 20th Century-Fox.

Francoise just celebrated her 22nd birthday in Paris and has recovered most satisfactorily from her recent near fatal auto accident.

Her agent, Alan Bernheim, is here negotiating for the film rights on her third book, and he says he does not believe rumors that she is going to marry a French publisher.

Although Paul Newman is definitely out of "A Time to Love" (used to be "A Time to Love and a Time to Die"), Ed Muhl is pleased over getting Lisalotte Pulver as the femme star for the Erich Maria Remarque story. He first saw her in Europe when he was there on a talent search for U-I.

He put in a transatlantic call to the Swiss-born Miss Pulver at the Berlin Film Festival with the result that she arrives in a few weeks to meet her producer, Robert Arthur, and director, Douglas Sirk.

Ann Sothern will do no more "Private Secretary" TV shows. She said it was too much of a problem to work out so she has abandoned the idea. She's had many, many offers because "Private Secretary" was one of the most successful shows on the air.

I caught Ann as she was rehearsing for the first Lucille Ball-Desi Arnaz hour-long show. She, Cesar Romero and Rudy Vallee are all in this first big introductory show.

"I'll tell you about my new series when it's definite," said Ann.

I also talked with Cesar, who just closed at the Dunes in Las Vegas in his first nightclub appearance, and he is worn out.

The Society of Makeup Artists awarded one of their own, Perc Westmore, the honor of being the makeup artist who, over 25 years, has contributed the most to creation technique and the advancement of the art of makeup.

Perc has made up more stars than any other man or woman in our town. He has created more unique hairdos and new faces, and was once called "the Rembrandt of the makeup world."

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: Virginia and Darrly Zanuck dined at La Rue with Tyrone Power on Darryl's first night home.

A mean sunburn keeps Marilyn Monroe from flying to London for the premiere of "The Prince and the Showgirl." She couldn't even wear a dress she is so badly burned.

The traveling Bob Hope gets here July 23 for the fancy Hollywood premiere of "Beau James." He leave next night with Dolores and the children for Paris. The preview audience howled over some of Bob's wisecracks in "BJ".

Rita Hayworth glies to Switzerland to see the ailing Aga Khan and to deliver his grandchild to him. Yasmin leaves Wednesday with her governess and Rita meets them in Paris. Her other child, Rebecca Welles, spends the summer with her father, Orson Welles, whom she barely knows.

It's Going Up! Money in Pot Is at $1,400

This may be the last week you'll have to try for such a big pot in the Pot-O-Gold puzzle. With so many people trying, the pot's bound to explode right into some lucky winner's pocket. It could be you. Just send us your entry with correct numbers on it, and the $1,400 is yours. See what you can do.

The new puzzle contains a series of squares which are alphabetically lettered and a corresponding list of sentences with two clue words. Each of the words is numbered. The object is to select the word which you think best fits the clue sentence. You then place the number of that word in the square which has the same letter as the clue sentence.

In other words, you will read the clue labeled A and decide which of the two words makes the most sense in the sentence. You then write the number of that word in the puzzle square marked A.

Do the same with all other squares. Read all the clues carefully and be sure the right numbers are in the right squares.

Ignores Oklahoma Backers

Billy Graham Scorns Presidency, Would Rather Be 'God's Ambassador'

NEW YORK (INS) — Billy Graham says he'd rather be "an ambassador of the King of Kings than President of the United States."

Thus the golden-haired evangelist from the hills of North Carolina closed his ears to the opening salvo of a campaign to make him chief executive of the United States.

The salvo came out of Oklahoma, where newspaper publisher Leland Gourley of Henryetta called for organization of "Billy Graham for President" Clubs.

"I have no intention," said Graham in New York, "of running for political office at any time.

CAN DO NO MORE

"I believe I can do more to help bring the nation to a realization of its needs by giving my full attention to preaching the gospel rather than to a political office."

It's not the first time the 39-year-old evangelist has turned down a political proposal. Graham recalled:

"I made a decision long ago, about 1950 or 1952, when some political leaders of my state called on me to ask me to run in the primary for the Democratic nomination for the Senate. I told them at the time that I never expected to run for political office."

★ ★ ★

Grouley recently launched the campaign for Graham in his newspaper, the "Daily Free-Lance," and planned to plug "Graham for President" on his radio station, KHEN. In an editorial outlining his plan, Gourley wrote:

"A lot of folks will say this is ridiculous. But the truth is, it is time for America, the world's leading nation, to stand up unequivocally for Christianity and who could we select as a leader who would symbolize this ideal more significantly?

"Politically, who can capture the public better? He is a natural for the campaign part of it."

Graham said his Minneapolis headquarters has received some 130,000 pieces of mail in the last three weeks and that a number of the letters were along the lines of proposing he run for president.

★ ★ ★

"You know," Graham said, "when I spoke at a Salvation Army dinner some time ago, Elsa Maxwell was there. She told some people, 'He ought to be in politics rather than wasting his time going around the country preaching . . .'

"But I consider myself one of God's chosen ambassadors, and that is a much higher calling than that of President . . . I intend to preach the Gospel as long as God gives me strength and breath."

Prison Inmates Claim World Blood Record

JACKSON (AP) — South Michigan Prison inmates figure they've set some kind of a world record for donating blood and Red Cross officials are inclined to agree.

The inmates gave 1,120 pints of blood in a three-day drive. The Red Cross says the total is the highest ever recorded at a Michigan institution and is believed to be the highest ever recorded in any penal institution in the world.

Southern Michigan Prison is the largest walled prison in the world.

Town to Get Library From Native's Will

DECATUR (AP)—A local boy made good in the big city, so this little community of 1,000 near Kalamazoo will reap the benefits in the form of a new library.

Norman Earl Webster was still a youth when he left his home here and headed east before the turn of the century. The son of a Decatur carpenter, Webster went to college in Schenectady, N. Y., and later worked in various bookkeeping jobs before he ended up in New York, head of his own accounting firm.

He died at age 87 last July 15. In his will was a grant for a half million dollars for the new Decatur library "back home."

South Dakota's first national bank was organized in Yankton in 1872.

Southwest Rain Boosts Wheat

CHICAGO (AP) — More wheat harvesting delays, caused by heavy rainfall in the Southwest over the weekend, caused buying which boosted wheat futures more than a cent a bushel at times on the board of trade today.

Corn was easy, reflecting extremely heavy government sales to exporters. Oats were firm, but soybeans lagged somewhat after starting fractionally higher.

Near the end of the first hour, new style wheat was ⅝ to 1⅛ higher, July $2.08½; corn was ⅛ lower to ⅝ higher, July 1.29⅞; oats were ¼ to ⅝ higher, July 65¾; rye was unchanged to ½ lower, July $1.22¼; soybeans were ⅞ lower to ⅛ higher, July $2.33⅝; and lard was five to 18 cents a hundred pounds lower, July $12.92.

Oils, Chemicals Show Losses

NEW YORK (AP) — Oils and chemicals lost ground as the stock market continued its decline in quiet trading early today.

Key stocks dropped from fractions to around two points. There was an assortment of fair gains.

Neither the oils nor any other group was under pressure. Some aircrafts made good advances.

The market was continuing to react from its most recent series of new 1957 highs reached nearly two weeks ago. Oils were depressed by word that the administration is pressing to curb oil imports and also by the possibility of a federal investigation on the question of controls.

Meanwhile, copper, lead and zinc prices were at their lowest in years and the tight money situation remained of concern.

Du Pont dropped around two points, while Union Carbide and Allied Chemical lost about a point each.

Among the oils, Amerada was off around two, while Texas Co., Gulf Oil and Royal Dutch were off about a point or more.

Lukens Steel, after gaining at the start, dropped a major fraction. U.S. Steel and Republic Steel eased. General motors dropped a fraction.

Resolution Drawn Up to Seek Clampdown on Ice Cream Peddlers

Pontiac residents will be requested at the Tuesday night meeting of the City Commission to put pressure on ice cream peddlers to obey a city ordinance concerning them and if necessary give them the cold shoulder.

Assistant City Attorney Sherwin M. Birnkrant is preparing a resolution which will recognize safety problems arising from the ice cream peddler and his youngster customers and appeal to residents to assist in enforcing a city ordinance regulating the business.

The resolution was suggested by Mayor William W. Donaldson at the bi-weekly meeting of the Traffic and Safety Committee of the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce.

This followed a plea from Birnkrant to clamp down on ice cream peddlers who do not have the ordinance-required assistant over 18 years old with them to protect small children from traffic hazards.

SPEAKS AS FATHER

Birnkrant said he was "speaking to the committee as a father, who is worried about his child as well as others getting hit by an auto while running to or from such a truck, not an attorney representing Pontiac."

Donaldson offered to take a resolution to the Commission on the subject since "we are interested in the safety of Pontiac and not the profit of ice cream companies."

Birnkrant said he became aroused last week when he heard Ricky W. Liley, 6, of 694 Parkwood St., was hit by another car while running from an ice cream truck. Ricky, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Liley, was hospitalized four days in Pontiac General Hospital for three fractured ribs.

Sees Antidote for Inflation

Lincoln Division Head Urges Productive Use of Atomic Energy

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—A Ford Motor Co. executive suggested today increased productivity as an antidote to inflation.

"It seems clear that meeting the needs of our society and at the same time avoiding serious perennial inflation will require a steady increase in the productivity of our industrial system," Ben D. Mills, general manager of Ford's Lincoln Division declared.

He spoke before a special Chamber of Commerce luncheon yesterday for members of the Oklahoma State Press.

Mills cited automation and the peacetime uses of atomic energy as two major technological sources for increased productivity.

He said the automation of industrial plants is providing safer, healthier working conditions, improved quality, lower production costs and more effective utilization of machines.

And he added: "Nuclear energy is improving quality in manufacturing, revolutionizing testing methods and saving considerable time and effort."

"But, in my opinion," he said, 'We cannot afford to concentrate on technological progress alone. I am convinced that we have only begun to learn how to top the limitless potential for progress that lies within the individual human being."

THE BERRYS By Carl Grubert

One of the Strongest Chief Justices in U. S. History

Warren Molding Court in His Image?

(This is the second of three articles on the "nine strong men" of the U.S. Supreme Court whose recent far-reaching decisions on individual liberties have placed the high tribunal dramatically in the forefront of the nation's news.)

By JAMES LEE

WASHINGTON (INS)—As President of the United States, Harry S. Truman sought to project, under his "Fair Deal" label, the philosophy of government so controversially exemplified in Franklin D. Roosevelt's New Deal.

But Harry Truman believed, as he has said, that the Supreme Court of the United States should be above and beyond politics, that its nine justices should be chosen by standards of personal integrity and intellectual honesty, and not for reasons of political expediency.

REPUBLICAN NAMED

Thus when the time came in 1945—five months after he became president — for him to make his first appointment to the high bench, Truman chose not a member of his own party, but a Republican, Harold Hitz Burton of Ohio.

Truman's final appointment to the court, however, did appear to have political overtones. He named the man who had served him for four years as attorney general, Tom C. Clark of Texas, a Democrat in deed as well as in name.

When Dwight D. Eisenhower entered the White House in 1953 as the first Republican president in 20 years, he was soon confronted with the necessity of naming a chief justice of the United States.

He looked westward for a man of strength, a man able by experience and inclination to balance the scales of justice, a man whose constitutional beliefs and theories apparently matched Dwight Eisenhower's own—which the President has described as "dynamic conservatism."

★ ★ ★

That man was Earl Warren, governor of California, Republican vice presidential nominee in 1948, a nationally respected leader of the GOP's "progressive" wing.

Each in his own way, the Truman appointees and the chief justice have made court history.

SHOWN EFFICIENCY

Burton, who was a close friend of Truman in the Senate despite their political differences, has demonstrated unostentatious efficiency and scholarship in his career on the court.

His work has been accomplished largely behind the scenes, in chambers. He has written few spectacular opinions. Instead, he has acted among his colleagues as a consultant, an expert in checks and balances, a restraining influence.

Burton is one of the most spiritually inclined members of the Court. He is a leader of the Unitarian Church, a man given to prayer and meditation.

★ ★ ★

Justice Clark is something of a paradox. When Truman appointed him to the Supreme bench in 1949, there were those who said of Clark that he was a machine politician, a party stalwart who would follow the leader without quibble or objection.

Events have seemed to prove that point of view all wrong. The rush of memorable decisions in recent weeks has cast Tom Clark in the role of "great dissenter."

For example — in his blistering dissent to the court's ruling that in criminal cases, including those of alleged subversives, the government must bare FBI secrets to defendants or dismiss charges, Clark vehemently assailed the majority decree.

CLOSE UP SHOP

He called it so dangerous that unless it is nullified by Congress the FBI "might as well close up shop."

At 57, tall, drawling, bow-tied, homespun Tom Clark, veteran of the New Deal and the Fair Deal, appears determined to carry the banner of conservatism, regardless of the path his colleagues follow.

Chief Justice Warren, it is sometimes said, is molding the Court in his own image. He is a powerfully persuasive man.

When he took his seat as the nation's foremost judicial officer on Oct. 5, 1953, he lost no time in making it clear that he would choose the course of liberalism. He allied himself at once with those dedicated liberals, Justices Hugo L. Black and William O. Douglas.

MOVED RAPIDLY

Under Warren, the tribunal moved rapidly toward the historic and unanimous decision handed down in 1954, outlawing racial segregation in public schools and ordering the states to proceed toward that end with—a phrase which is descriptive of the chief justice himself—"all deliberate speed."

Now 66, a broad-shouldered man of impressive bearing, father of six children, a record California vote-getter when he was in politics, Warren seems certain to be remembered as one of the strongest chief justices in American history.

Tomorrow: The Supreme Court's three newest "strong men" and their probable alliances in the great division between liberals and conservatives.)

Japanese Court Reviews Death Sentence for GI

SENDAI, Japan (AP)—The Sendai Appeal Court today began a review of the first death sentence given an American soldier by a Japanese court.

Both the defense and prosecution argued that the penalty of death by hanging was too severe for Pvt. Orvis Boone, 24, a Negro soldier from Galveston, Tex., and his Japanese sweetheart Shigeko Sasaki, 20.

★ ★ ★

They were convicted by the Sendai District Court March 20 of murder, arson and robbery. Boone was already under sentence by a U.S. court-martial of life imprisonment for another slaying, but the Army ruled the death sentence took precedence.

★ ★ ★

During their trial Boone and Miss Sasaki blamed each other for the slaying and robbery of a Japanese girl, 26-year-old Kikuko Muraki, in Sendai last Sept. 4. They were accused of burning Miss Murak's home to hide the fact they had suffocated her with a cloth over her head. The previous Army court-martial included testimony that Miss Sasaki would lure victims to a predetermined spot where Boone would assault and rob them.

★ ★ ★

The Sendai district prosecutor had asked for only a life sentence. The defense argued that the death sentence was too severe because the charge should have been "death resulting from robbery" instead of "murder and robbery." The defense attorney said Boone had not intended to kill Miss Muraki when he placed a cloth over her head.

★ ★ ★

The next hearing will be July 17.

Office Equipment Stolen From Fisher Local

A check writer and protector and an adding machine were stolen from a second floor office in the Fisher Body Local 596 UAW-CIO building, 821 Baldwin ave., sometime between Friday afternoon and Saturday morning.

Harold Grant, president of the local, told Pontiac police the machines were stolen from the financial secretary's office after thieves broke the glass of the cashier's window. Grant's office was ransacked after someone broke the door although nothing was found to be missing.

Entrance to the building was made after breaking a basement window, according to police.

Woman Struck by Train in Satisfactory Condition

A 49-year-old woman, who was dragged 24 feet after she allegedly walked in front of a train Saturday afternoon at the Huron street railroad crossing, was in satisfactory condition at Pontiac General Hospital today.

Margie Daupree, of 48 W. Huron St., is being treated for factured ribs, collarbone and left leg as well as multiple cuts and bruises, according to a hospital spokesman.

Officer Thomas Larrison, Pontiac police Traffic and Safety Bureau, reports witnesses stated the woman was walking with her head down and apparently did not see or hear the signals for the train or else did not pay attention to them.

Pleasant Ridge Woman Killed in Car Crash

A Pleasant Ridge woman, Mrs. Emily Harrington, 49, of 24 Woodward Heights, was killed in an accident on M25 about seven miles northeast of Caseville in Huron County early Sunday.

Her daughter, Mrs. Mary Jones, 25, who was driving, told police their car struck a tree and utility pole when forced from the road by an unidentified auto occupied by two youths.

GOP Unit OKs Ike's Program

But Young Republicans Emphatically Reject His School Aid Proposals

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Young Republican national federation has put its stamp of approval on much of President Eisenhower's legislative program, while emphatically rejecting his school aid proposals.

Winding up a three-day convention here Saturday, the organization rejected a Platform Committee recommendation favoring Eisenhower's five-year, 1½-million-dollar school aid measure.

★ ★ ★

Instead, it voted 390-231 for a substitute resolution saying: "Mindful of the inevitable connection between subsidization and control, we are unalterably opposed to federal financial aid for general public education and school construction."

★ ★ ★

The group commended the administration for presenting three successive balanced budgets, but called for a continued effort to reduce federal expenditures. It said federal taxes should be reduced substantially as soon as this becomes practical.

★ ★ ★

It urged amendment of the Taft-Hartley law to prohibit compulsory union membership.

Town to Get Library From Native's Will

DECATUR (AP)—A local boy made good in the big city, so this little community of 3,000 near Kalamazoo will reap the benefits in the form of a new library.

Norman Earl Webster was still a youth when he left his home here and headed east before the turn of the century. The son of a Decatur carpenter, Webster went to college in Schenectady, N. Y., and later worked in various bookkeeping jobs before he ended up in New York, head of his own accounting firm.

He died at age 87 last July 15. In his will was a grant for a half million dollars for the new Decatur library "back home."

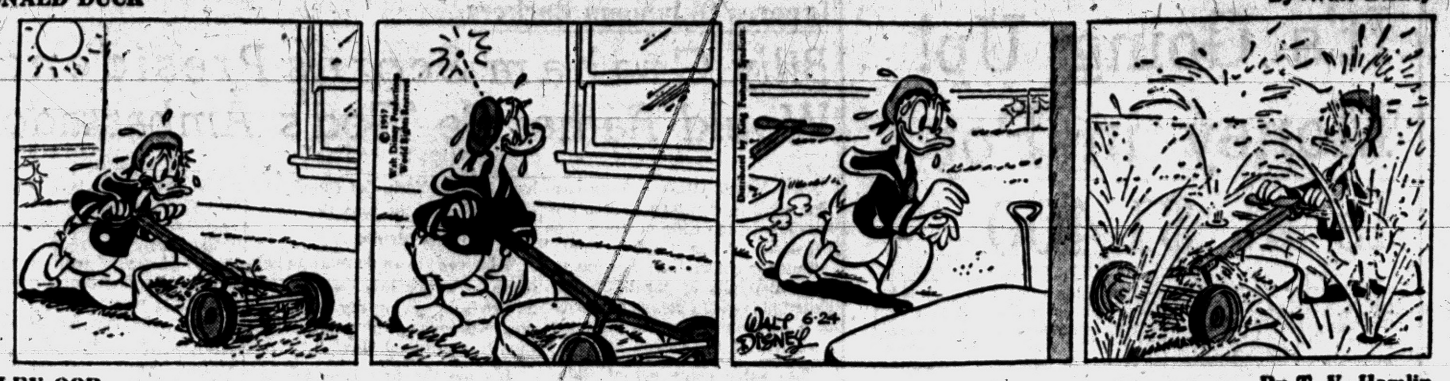

South Dakota's first national bank was organized in Yankton in 1872.

Southwest Rain Boosts Wheat

CHICAGO (AP) — More wheat harvesting delays, caused by heavy rainfall in the Southwest over the weekend, caused buying which boosted wheat futures more than a cent a bushel at times on the board of trade today.

Corn was easy, reflecting extremely heavy government sales to exporters. Oats were firm, but soybeans lagged somewhat after starting fractionally higher.

Near the end of the first hour, new style wheat was ⅝ to 1⅛ higher, July $2.08½; corn was ⅛ lower to ⅝ higher, July 1.29⅞; oats were ¼ to ⅝ higher, July 65¾; rye was unchanged to ½ lower, July $1.22¼; soybeans were ⅞ lower to ⅛ higher, July $2.33⅝; and lard was five to 18 cents a hundred pounds lower, July $12.92.

Other who received treatment were: Raymond D. Tatro Jr, 29; his wife Doris, 26; and their four children, Bonnie Lou, 2; Larry, 4; Connie, 5; and Raymond III, 6.

Oils, Chemicals Show Losses

NEW YORK (AP) — Oils and chemicals lost ground as the stock market continued its decline in quiet trading early today.

Key stocks dropped from fractions to around two points. There was an assortment of fair gains.

Neither the oils nor any other group was under pressure. Some aircrafts made good advances.

The market was continuing to react from its most recent series of new 1957 highs reached nearly two weeks ago. Oils were depressed by word that the administration is pressing to curb oil imports and also by the possibility of a federal investigation on the question of controls.

Meanwhile, copper, lead and zinc prices were at their lowest in years and the tight money situation remained of concern.

Du Pont dropped around two points, while Union Carbide and Allied Chemical lost about a point each.

Among the oils, Amerada was off around two, while Texas Co., Gulf Oil and Royal Dutch were off about a point or more.

Lukens Steel, after gaining at the start, dropped a major fraction. U.S. Steel and Republic Steel eased. General motors dropped a fraction.

Boeing, Douglas Aircraft and Goodrich rose about a point each. Illinois Central advanced a major fraction in an otherwise slack rail group.

Sees Antidote for Inflation

Lincoln Division Head Urges Productive Use of Atomic Energy

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—A Ford Motor Co. executive suggested today increased productivity as an antidote to inflation.

"It seems clear that meeting the needs of our society and at the same time avoiding serious perennial inflation will require a steady increase in the productivity of our industrial system," Ben D. Mills, general manager of Ford's Lincoln Division declared.

He spoke before a special Chamber of Commerce luncheon yesterday for members of the Oklahoma State Press.

Mills cited automation and the peacetime uses of atomic energy as two major technological sources for increased productivity.

He said the automation of industrial plants is providing safer, healthier working conditions, improved quality, lower production costs and more effective utilization of machines.

And he added: "Nuclear energy is improving quality in manufacturing, revolutionizing testing methods and saving considerable time and effort."

"But, in my opinion," he said, "We cannot afford to concentrate on technological progress alone. I am convinced that we have only begun to learn how to top the limitless potential for progress that lies within the individual human being."

Cold Shoulder to City Vendors?

Resolution Drawn Up to Seek Clampdown on Ice Cream Peddlers

Pontiac residents will be requested at the Tuesday night meeting of the City Commission to put pressure on ice cream peddlers to obey a city ordinance concerning them and if necessary give them the cold shoulder.

Assistant City Attorney Sherwin M. Birnkrant is preparing a resolution which will recognize safety problems arising from the ice cream peddler and his youngster customers and appeal to residents to assist in enforcing a city ordinance regulating the business.

The resolution was suggested by Mayor William W. Donaldson at the bi-weekly meeting of the Traffic and Safety Committee of the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce.

This followed a plea from Birnkrant to clamp down on ice cream peddlers who do not have the ordinance-required assistant over 18 years old with them to protect small children from traffic hazards.

SPEAKS AS FATHER

Birnkrant said he was "speaking to the committee as a father, who is worried about his child as well as others getting hit by an auto while running to or from such a truck, not an attorney representing Pontiac."

Donaldson offered to take a resolution to the Commission on the subject since "we are interested in the safety of Pontiac and not the profit of ice cream companies."

Birnkrant said he became aroused last week when he heard Ricky W. Liley, 6, of 694 Parkwood St., was hit by another car while running from an ice cream truck. Ricky, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Liley, was hospitalized four days in Pontiac General Hospital for three fractured ribs.

THE BERRYS — By Carl Grubert

One of the Strongest Chief Justices in U. S. History

Warren Molding Court in His Image?

(This is the second of three articles on the "nine strong men" of the U.S. Supreme Court whose recent far-reaching decisions on individual liberties have placed the high tribunal dramatically in the forefront of the nation's news.)

By JAMES LEE

WASHINGTON (INS)—As President of the United States, Harry S. Truman sought to project, under his "Fair Deal" label, the philosophy of government so controversially exemplified in Franklin D. Roosevelt's New Deal.

But Harry Truman believed, as he has said, that the Supreme Court of the United States should be above and beyond politics, that its nine justices should be chosen by standards of personal integrity and intellectual honesty, and not for reasons of political expediency.

REPUBLICAN NAMED

Thus when the time came in 1945—five months after he became president — for him to make his first appointment to the high bench, Truman chose not a member of his own party, but a Republican, Harold Hitz Burton of Ohio.

Truman's final appointment to the court, however, did appear to have political overtones. He named the man who had served him for four years as attorney general, Tom C. Clark of Texas, a Democrat in deed as well as in name.

When Dwight D. Eisenhower entered the White House in 1953 as the first Republican president in 20 years, he was soon confronted with the necessity of naming a chief justice of the United States.

He looked westward for a man of strength, a man able by experience and inclination to balance the scales of justice, a man whose constitutional beliefs and theories apparently matched Dwight Eisenhower's own—which the President has described as "dynamic conservatism."

★ ★ ★

That man was Earl Warren, governor of California, Republican vice presidential nominee in 1948, a nationally respected leader of the GOP's "progressive" wing.

Each in his own way, the Truman appointees and the chief justice have made court history.

SHOWN EFFICIENCY

Burton, who was a close friend of Truman in the Senate despite their political differences, has demonstrated unostentatious efficiency and scholarship in his career on the court.

His work has been accomplished largely behind the scenes, in chambers. He has written few spectacular opinions. Instead, he has acted among his colleagues as a consultant, an expert in checks and balances, a restraining influence.

Burton is one of the most spiritually inclined members of the Court. He is a leader of the Unitarian Church, a man given to prayer and meditation.

★ ★ ★

Justice Clark is something of a paradox. When Truman appointed him to the Supreme bench in 1949, there were those who said of Clark that he was a machine politician, a party stalwart who would follow the leader without quibble or objection.

Events have seemed to prove that point of view all wrong. The rush of memorable decisions in recent weeks has cast Tom Clark in the role of "great dissenter."

For example — in his blistering dissent to the court's ruling that in criminal cases, including those of alleged subversives, the government must bare FBI secrets to defendants or dismiss charges, Clark vehemently assailed the majority decree.

CLOSE UP SHOP

He called it so dangerous that unless it is nullified by Congress the FBI "might as well close up shop."

At 57, tall, drawling, bow-tied, homespun Tom Clark, veteran of the New Deal and the Fair Deal, appears determined to carry the banner of conservatism, regardless of the path his colleagues follow.

Chief Justice Warren, it is sometimes said, is molding the Court in his own image. He is a powerfully persuasive man.

When he took his seat as the nation's foremost judicial officer on Oct. 5, 1953, he lost no time in making it clear that he would choose the course of liberalism. He allied himself at once with those dedicated liberals, Justices Hugo L. Black and William O. Douglas.

MOVED RAPIDLY

Under Warren, the tribunal moved rapidly toward the historic and unanimous decision handed down in 1954, outlawing racial segregation in public schools and ordering the states to proceed toward that end with—a phrase which is descriptive of the chief justice himself—"all deliberate speed."

Now 66, a broad-shouldered man of impressive bearing, father of six children, a record California vote-getter when he was in politics, Warren seems certain to be remembered as one of the strongest chief justices in American history.

Tomorrow: The Supreme Court's three newest "strong men" and their probable alliances in the great division between liberals and conservatives.)

Japanese Court Reviews Death Sentence for GI

SENDAI, Japan (AP)—The Sendai Appeal Court today began a review of the first death sentence given an American soldier by a Japanese court.

Both the defense and prosecution argued that the penalty of death by hanging was too severe for Pvt. Orvis Boone, 24, a Negro soldier from Galveston, Tex., and his Japanese sweetheart Shigeko Sasaki, 20.

★ ★ ★

They were convicted by the Sendai District Court March 20 of murder, arson and robbery. Boone was already under sentence by a U.S. court-martial of life imprisonment for another slaying, but the Army ruled the death sentence took precedence.

★ ★ ★

During their trial Boone and Miss Sasaki blamed each other for the slaying and robbery of a Japanese girl, 26-year-old Kikuko Muraki, in Sendai last Sept. 4. They were accused of burning Miss Murak's home to hide the fact they had suffocated her with a cloth over her head. The previous Army court-martial included testimony that Miss Sasaki would lure victims to a predetermined spot where Boone would assault and rob them.

★ ★ ★

The Sendai district prosecutor had asked for only a life sentence. The defense argued that the death sentence was too severe because the charge should have been "death resulting from robbery" instead of "murder and robbery." The defense attorney said Boone had not intended to kill Miss Muraki when he placed a cloth over her head.

The next hearing will be July 17.

Office Equipment Stolen From Fisher Local

A check writer and protector and an adding machine were stolen from a second floor office in the Fisher Body Local 596 UAW-CIO building, 821 Baldwin ave., sometime between Friday afternoon and Saturday morning.

Harold Grant, president of the local, told Pontiac police the machines were stolen from the financial secretary's office after thieves broke the glass of the cashier's window. Grant's office was ransacked after someone broke the door window although nothing was found to be missing.

Entrance to the building was made after breaking a basement window, according to police.

Woman Struck by Train in Satisfactory Condition

A 49-year-old woman, who was dragged 24 feet after she allegedly walked in front of a train Saturday afternoon at the Huron street railroad crossing, was in satisfactory condition at Pontiac General Hospital today.

Margie Daupree, of 48 W. Huron St., is being treated for factured ribs, collarbone and left leg as well as multiple cuts and bruises, according to a hospital spokesman.

Officer Thomas Larrison, Pontiac police Traffic and Safety Bureau, reports witnesses stated the woman was walking with her head down and apparently did not see or hear the signals for the train or else did not pay attention to them.

Pleasant Ridge Woman Killed in Car Crash

A Pleasant Ridge woman, Mrs. Emily Harrington, 49, of 24 Woodward Heights, was killed in an accident on M25 about seven miles northeast of Caseville in Huron County early Sunday.

Her daughter, Mrs. Mary Jones, 25, who was driving, told police their car struck a tree and utility pole when forced from the road by an unidentified auto occupied by two youths.

In thunderstorm clouds there may be violent vertical air currents sometimes attaining a measured velocity of more than 200 miles per hours.

GOP Unit OKs Ike's Program

But Young Republicans Emphatically Reject His School Aid Proposals

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Young Republican national federation has put its stamp of approval on much of President Eisenhower's legislative program, while emphatically rejecting his school aid proposals.

Winding up a three-day convention here Saturday, the organization rejected a Platform Committee recommendation favoring Eisenhower's five-year, 1½-million-dollar school aid measure.

★ ★ ★

Instead, it voted 390-231 for a substitute resolution saying: "Mindful of the inevitable connection between subsidization and control, we are unalterably opposed to federal financial aid for general public education and school construction."

★ ★ ★

The group commended the administration for presenting three successive balanced budgets, but called for a continued effort to reduce federal expenditures. It said federal taxes should be reduced substantially as soon as this becomes practical.

★ ★ ★

It urged amendment of the Taft-Hartley law to prohibit compulsory union membership.

To Expand Hospital

Plan Addition to Beaumont

ROYAL OAK — Plans are under way for a multi-million dollar addition to the William Beaumont Hospital, Owen R. Pinkerton, hospital director, disclosed here.

The proposed expansion will double the number of beds, add two floors to the existing five-story building and a new wing which probably will include facilities for cobalt therapy treatment, he said.

Beaumont Hospital, located south of the Thirteen-Mile road and west of Woodward avenue, now has 238 beds. It stands on a 100-acre tract, a gift of South Oakland communities and the City of Royal Oak.

Its present medical staff numbers 164 doctors.

The hospital, which won official accredidation earlier this year, is starting a teaching program July 1 and may have available 10 interns and 12 resident doctors.

Up to the present it has had to rely on interns and resident doctors from other hospitals to serve its needs.

Architects for the project will be interviewed July 1. Construction costs and the where-with-all to get same will be discussed later, Pinkerton said.

Dever quit school when he was 16 to join his father in the blacksmithing business, when horses and buggies were the only transportation available.

Dems Starting to Attack Potter

State Central Committee Accuses GOP Senator of 'Shameful Behavior'

LANSING (AP) — The Democratic State Central Committee has begun sharpening its verbal knives for the 1958 campaign and Sen. Potter (R-Mich) is the major target.

The committee accused Potter yesterday of "selling Michigan short" and "shameful behaviour" and said he should be replaced next year "with a Democratic senator who will be proud of his state and not slander its people with false charges."

The committee adopted a resolution which said that "it is apparent from his slanted statements that Sen. Potter hopes unemployment will rise in Michigan. He clearly intends to blame unemployment on Democratic state policies. He thereby seeks political gain from the fear and hardship of the unemployed."

Potter was accused of "cynical and shallow irresponsibility."

The committee said that while Potter was saying in Washington that business was being driven out of Michigan almost at the same time McLouth Steel Corp. announced a $35,000,000 plant expansion program in Trenton.

The committee also said that a few days before Potter's statement published reports claimed Robert C. McLaughlin, assistant to the president of McLouth, was the leader in forming a committee to get Potter re-elected.

Neil Staebler, committee chairman, said the party's recent $45,000 debt has been slashed to $29,000 and noted that the number of individual contributors to the party has grown from 200 in 1949 to 23,000 in 1956.

Water Pipeline Study Approved

Board Grants $58,000 to Examine Feasibility of Proposed Project

The Board of Supervisors today approved $58,000 for a study of the engineering and economic feasibility of a proposed Lake Huron to Oakland County water pipeline.

The study will be made by the Bechtel Co., an internationally known firm that has said the pipeline is feasible and would provide an answer to Oakland County's growing water crisis.

JOINS PROJECT

Macomb County, which is joining in the project, has already approved its $58,000 share of the study cost.

The money would be returned to both counties if the project is financed. It is proposed by the Southeastern Michigan Water Authority, to which both counties belong.

Supervisors also voted up to $7,600 for black-topping of Pontiac Lake road at the Oakland County market.

REFER TO PROPOSAL

They referred to the Legislative Committee a proposal that townships be returned authority over local roads.

The Roads Committee asked that legislation be prepared for the next session in Lansing, calling for state funds to go directly to townships that want them, instead of to county road commissions.

The road commissions would continue to have authority over primary roads, on which the bulk of state money is spent.

Army Cuts 2,000 Men From Monthly Draft

WASHINGTON (INS)—The Army cut another 2,000 men from the monthly draft rate today in a call requesting the Selective Service System to induct 11,000 draftees during August.

The draft calls for April through July have been 13,000 a month.

In February and March this year, the quotas were 14,000, and in January 17,000 were inducted.

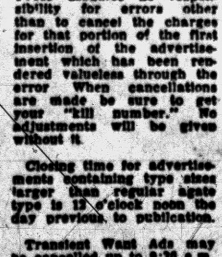

The August draft will bring total inductions since September, 1950, to 2,231,430. All but a comparative handful have been for the Army. Today's announcement said the Navy, Marine Corps and Air Force will continue to rely on volunteers at least through August.

Novi Slates Election

NOVI—The Novi School district will hold an election Wednesday for the purpose of voting on a $825,00 bond issue, to erect a new elementary school here.

The total amount raised for old debt and the new issue will be $7 per $1,000 of state equalized evaluation. This is a reduction of $2 per $1,000 from the amount voted in October, 1956, for debt purposes. Due to the increase in valuation the necessary money can be raised at a reduced millage rate.

The bonds will be sold as money is needed and thus interest costs can be held down.

The Board of Education desires to have all children on full day sessions with a maximum of 30 pupils per room. In order to continue this policy, a new school must be started this fall to be ready for September, 1958.

The proposed elementary school will be located adjacent to the Orchard Hills Subdivision which is near Willowbrook. The site was selected after eight sites were examined by the Board of Education and the Architect.

There are four qualifications for voters: Citizen of the United States; resident of the state for six months and resident for school district for 30 days prior to day of election; over 21 years of age; a taxpayer in the district.

It is not necessary to register for the election.

Read Methodist Rite

Josephine Nickora Wed

CLARKSTON — The Rev. John W. Mulder performed the ceremony joining his sister-in-law, Josephine Elizabeth Nickora, in marriage with Melvin Leroy Vaara in an evening service Saturday at the First Methodist Church.

She is the daughter of Mrs. John Nickora of Imlay City, and he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Vaara of Ironwood.

For her wedding before 185 guests, the bride wore a gown of English embroidered organdy. It featured a Sabrina neckline with a fitted basque waist and short sleeves. A modified Queen Anne headpiece secured her fingertip veil of silk illusion. The white satin Bible she carried, a gift from the groom, was centered with a corsage of white butterfly roses and stephanotis.

Kathleen Pierce of Vassar and Joy Sutton of Detroit attended as maid of honor and bridesmaid, respectively. Marilyn Jane Mulder of Walled Lake was her aunt's flower girl.

Serving his brother as best man was Robert Vaara of Ironwood, while David Emo of Chicago was groomsman. Donald Dufresne and William Hatch, both of Ironwood, ushered.

Immediately after the wedding, a reception was held in the church parlor. The new Mr. and Mrs. Vaara will reside in Ironwood for the summer following their tour of northern Michigan and the upper peninsula.

Strike Forces Liner to Dock in England

PARIS (AP) — The French Line announced today that the liner Flandre will sail from Southampton for the United States tomorrow despite the end of the week-long strike by French maritime workers.

Flandre had put in at Southampton to keep from being strike-bound in Le Havre, her home port.

* * *

A spokesman for the company said the "emergency" plan to sail her directly back to America would be carried out although the back-to-work movement has started.

The Liberte and Ile de France, whose sailings from Le Havre were canceled last week, are to resume their normal transatlantic service next month. The Liberte sails July 4, the Ile de France July 9.

Rescue 3 Fishermen From Saginaw Bay

CASEVILLE (AP) — Three fishermen, missing overnight in Saginaw Bay, were rescued safely today as they stood stranded on Charity Island, 12 miles out in the bay.

* * *

Picker up by a Bayport fishing tug were John Smith, 38, and Clarence Langton, 45, both of Bay City, and Larry Healy, 43, of Saginaw.

The three left Caseville yesterday. Smith said they decided to spend the night on the island when it became questionable whether there was enough gas to take their 16-foot outboard boat back to shore.

* * *

"We had fish for dinner and breakfast," said Smith.

An air-sea search had been underway for the three.

Latchstring for Mao

BELGRADE (AP) — The Yugoslav latchstring's out for Red China's chairman, Mao Tze-Tung. A government spokesman was asked whether Mao plans to visit the fountainhead of Tito communism this year. He said he didn't know but "in any case Mao would always be welcome to our country."

Farmington Resident Saved in Boat Fire

E. W. Sulley, 43, of 22660 Middlebelt Rd., Farmington, was rescued from his flaming cabin cruiser yesterday after it caught fire in Lake St. Clair, a mile and a half off shore.

A passing boat pulled alongside the burning craft, enabling Sully to jump to safety. He was treated for shock.

Sulley said he had been giving the boat a test run after making repairs on it when the motor caught fire.

Open Bids Tuesday on New High School

Bids on the new high school will be opened at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at the Pontiac Board of Education offices.

The opening, originally scheduled for 2 p.m., was delayed to give bidders an extra few hours.

Preliminary estimates have set the cost at $3,127,648, or $17.20 per square foot.

Bids will contain alternative specifications which will give the contractors a choice of materials in many cases.

The bid results will be presented to the Board of Education at its regular Thursday night meeting.

Blame Faulty Wiring for Independence Fire

A $1,800 fire broke out this morning at the residence of Dorothy Chapman, 4598 Clinton St., Independence Township.

The home is owned by Harry Sosnick. Waterford Township firemen blamed the blaze on faulty wiring in the attic.

Fall Vote Set for Southfield

Township Will Decide on Incorporating Most of Present Area

Southfield Township will vote Sept 16 on two incorporation movements.

The Board of Supervisors set the date today at public hearings on petitions calling for the bulk of the township to become Southfield City and a small northeast corner to be designated as Westwood Village.

The smaller area is bounded by Greenfield road on the east and Fourteen Mile road on the north. It extends west to the village of Bingham Farms.

The southern boundry is uneven. Towards the east it is Thirteen Mile road. From Telegraph road to the Bingham Farms village limits, the boundary of the proposed village lies roughly half way between Thirteen and Twelve Mile roads.

NOT INCLUDED

Acacia Park Cemetery on Thirteen Mile lies within the proposed Westwood Village limits, but is not included in the incorporation.

Except for a few isolated spots, the proposed incorporation of the remainder of the township will take in all other areas not already incorporated.

The proposed city would not include Franklin and Bingham Farms Villages and Lathrup Village City.

In other action, Supervisors set July 29 as the date of a public hearing in Holly on the proposed annexation to the village of 280 acres south of M87.

The hearing was set after Rose and Holly Township residents submitted petitions today protesting the annexation.

Would Prolong Rehearsal Time

Believes Actors Need to Be Fully Familiar With Famous Plays

By DICK KLEINER

NEW YORK (NEA) — There've been several attempts to do classical plays on TV, attempts that have met with only fair success.

★ ★ ★

Burgess Meredith thinks he knows the reason for this.

"The usual one or two-week rehearsal period for a TV play," he says, "is perfectly adequate for the usual TV play. But the classics are different. It takes months to grow into the words of the masters."

This is true, he believes, for the stage as well as TV. Meredith, with Charles Laughton and Eli Wallach, just finished a lengthy run in George Bernard Shaw's "Major Barbara" on Broadway.

★ ★ ★

"We did it for seven months," he says, "but I didn't really get to know my part until the last two months. I think that holds true for the rest of the company, too."

TOUR COMPANIES

What Meredith would like to see is a system whereby TV programs sent out touring companies of classical plays — "the road is booming, you know, so they'd do well on the road"—and then, after the actors have grown into the parts, do it on television.

★ ★ ★

He and Laughton and Wallach are now planning to take "Major Barbara" on the road, together with "Hamlet" and possibly one other classic, next fall.

Then, perhaps in the spring of 1958, these two or three productions will be televised.

Meredith is now starring in a new movie, "Joe Butterfly," made in Japan, in which he plays a Japanese.

Since he toured for 19 months as Sakini in "The Teahouse of the August Moon," he's having a run of Orientals.

★ ★ ★

During the "Teahouse" tour, Meredith found a great interest in the theater wherever he went. He thinks TV deserves a major portion of the credit for arousing this theatrical revival.

"Whatever it is," he says with a smile, "it's good."

WEEK'S PRACTICE

Meredith, incidentally, was once a guest panelist on "What's My Line?" he practiced for a week, with his wife assuming various professions and trying to stump him.

★ ★ ★

Then, on the night of the program, he took a taxi down from his home in suburban Rockland County to the New York studio. And he asked the cab driver to play the game, too.

So the cab driver made believe he was a contestant. And Meredith asked the usual questions—"Is there a product connected with your work?" and all the pat queries—but he couldn't guess it.

"OK, I give up," said Meredith. "What are you?"

★ ★ ★

"I'm a cab driver," said the cab driver.

Diplomat's Girl Back in Sweden

Father Says He Has No Hard Feelings Against Senate Page Boy

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — Sad-eyed 16-year-old Christina Wennerstrom was in seclusion today, but her diplomat father said he had "no hard feelings" against the U.S. Senate page boy with whom she eloped.

★ ★ ★

Her mother whisked blonde Christina home after her 18-day trip with 18-year-old Huw Williams of Falls Church, Va. The elopement fizzled because the couple's youth prevented them from getting a marriage license. Later Williams was fired from his Senate job.

★ ★ ★

The girl was tight-lipped and wan yesterday as she left the plane on her mother's arm.

Her father, Col. Stig Wennerstrom, told reporters he planned no legal action against young Williams.

"He has been punished enough already by losing his job," Wenerstrom said.

★ ★ ★

He said he had no definite plans for his daughter's future.

Christina and Williams embarked on their elopement venture when Wennerstrom was recalled home from his assignment as air attache at the Swedish Embassy in Washington to take another post. Their trip came to an end last week when they were picked up at Montoursville, Pa., for speeding.

Is It the Heat Causing All the Stars to Talk?

BY EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Maybe it's due to the hot weather that celebrities are doing their light summer talking.

Gracie Allen explained to George Burns how she knows when she's had too much to drink: "A little blurred tell me" . . . Deems Taylor confessed to Peggy Lee a fluff he once made at a Jerome Kern tribute. "All my life," he announced, "I've been a big fern can."

★ ★ ★

Groucho Marx maintains a Hollywood movie mogul's a fellow who closes staff meetings saying, "All opposed will signify by saying 'I resign'" . . . Comedian Bob McFadden wired from Dallas: Hear about the Shakespearean actor who got fired for ad libbing, 'I came to bury Caesar, but Lawrence Welk beat me to it'?" . . . A Hollywood glamor gal bragged she had her figure insured for $500,000. Starlet Barbara Nichols asked her, "So what did you do with the money?"

BARBARA NICHOLS

★ ★ ★

Yes, it must have been the weather that affected people because Arthur Godfrey announced on TV the other day that Janet Davis, his producer, was wearing a diamond given her by Assistant Producer Frank Musiello (which we printed here weeks ago) and he also gave them his blessings.

Not one joke was made about Godfrey not firing them.

But in his case it wasn't the heat—it was the humility.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

EDITH ANDERS

Martha Rountree and Ollie Presbrey of the front pages celebrated their fifth anniversary . . . Latest foreign singer in the local cafes is Edith Anders, a Dutch girl.

Scott Brady's seeing the town with brother Lawrence Tierney . . . Marjorie Main's autobiography will be titled "The Kettle Boils".

EARL'S PEARLS — From March '56 to March '57 the cost of living went up 3.7 per cent. But it's still worth it.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH — An entertainer claims he worked in a town so small that when he plugged in his electric razor, the street lights dimmed. That's earl, brother.

Loyalty Report Changes Praised

But Suggested Penalties for Revealing Secret Information Criticized

WASHINGTON (AP)— Proposals for overhauling government anti-subversive programs today won praise from some members of Congress. But there was strong criticism of a recommendation for criminal penalties for publishing "secret" information.

Coming in for praise was a bipartisan commission's proposal for a sweeping revision of the Eisenhower administration's loyalty-security program and for sealing chinks in the nation's defenses against subversion. The commission said its recommendations also are designed to offer "increased safeguards for the rights of individuals."

★ ★ ★

A target of criticism was the proposed law under which a newspaperman could be fined $10,000 and sent to prison for five years for publishing secret information.

Some congressmen also assailed a commission proposal to legalize the use of wiretap evidence in court cases involving national security.

★ ★ ★

The 12-man commission, set up by Congress, made its recommendations Saturday in an 800-page report to Congress and President Eisenhower. The commission was established in 1955 to make an objective, nonpolitical study of loyalty-security problems in government service and defense industry.

The commission's chairman, Lloyd Wright, told a news conference the group sought to "cure those things that have been woefully lacking" in government security programs. Wright, a Los Angeles attorney, is a former president of the American Bar Assn.

★ ★ ★

Many of the recommendations could be put into effect by Eisenhower by executive order, but the proposals dealing with "leaks" of secret information and with wiretap evidence would require legislation.

Probe Will Continue on Training Mishap

FT. SILL, Okla. (AP) — The Army continued its investigation today in the death of four soldiers killed Saturday when several 4.2 mortar shells dropped in the midst of an infantry company staging a demonstration attack on a hill position.

At first it was believed only one shell fell short and burst among 175 men of Company B of the 522nd Infantry Battalion as they charged the hill. The Army reported yesterday more than one shell fell.

Some 300 spectators a mile from the scene saw the accident. Fourteen other soldiers were injured, five seriously.

The dead were Sgt. Alonzo Curtlidge, 23, Ft. Sill; Specialist 3.C. David L. Robinson, 20, Oshkosh, Wis.; Pvt. Percy A. Reevey, 20, Neptune and Asbury Park, N. J.; and Pvt. Russell L. Somers, 20, Rosenburg, Tex.

The mortars were firing at targets in front of the advancing infantrymen.

Board Investigates Colonel's Death

SEOUL (AP) — A board of officers investigating the death of Col. William D. McKinley, 41-year-old grandnephew of President McKinley, said today it had not determined whether he committed suicide.

McKinley's body was found in his quarters Saturday with a bullet hole in the left side of his chest. A .45-caliber revolver was on the floor.

At Vineyard Haven, Mass., where she is staying at a summer home the McKinleys purchased last year, the colonel's wife said the Army had informed her he had been killed in an accidental shooting.

Transportation Eyed

CHARLEVOIX (AP) — An open shipper-rail carrier conference will highlight the 99th regular meeting of the Great Lakes Regional Advisory Board in Charlevoix June 27-28. The conference will cover national and local transportation problems. Maurice E. Hunt, member of the Michigan Public Service Commission will be the guest speaker at the meeting.

Walter George Resting at Home After Treatment

VIENNA, Ga. (AP) — Walter F. George, Special Ambassador to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO), rested at his home here today following 12 days of hospitalization for treatment of coronary disease.

The 79-year-old former U. S. Senator from Georgia was released from Emory University Hospital at Atlanta yesterday.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Willis Hurst, George's physician, said the elder stateman's condition still is serious. He added, however, that the patient had improved sufficiently to be moved to his home.

George was accompanied on the 150-mile trip by auto from Atlanta to this south-central Georgia community by Mrs. George and the physician. George had expressed a desire to "get home and sit on the front porch."

★ ★ ★

No decision on George's future plans will be made for several weeks, the doctor said.

Fire at Actress' Home Causes $500 Damage

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Fireman estimated that $500 damage was caused by a weekend blaze which broke out in a maid's upstairs bedroom at the Susan Hayward home in suburban Sherman Oaks.

The actress was not at home.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Cleo Miller, the maid, told firemen the blaze apparently started when she accidentally pushed a chest of drawers against an electric wall heater.

Funeral Service Held for Donald MacBride

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Hollywood says goodby today to veteran character actor Donald McBride, 63, who died Friday night after a year-long illness.

★ ★ ★

MacBride's show business career began some 50 years ago. He appeared on Broadway, in more than 50 movies and in the "My Friend Irma" Television series.

QUIZ ON BEES

QUESTION: Does a bee really fly in a bee line?

ANSWER: When the bee has loaded up with nectar from the flowers, she circles around to get her bearings and heads in a fairly straight line to her hive. Because of this, we often say a "bee line" is the straightest way to go from one place to another, although it is not strictly true.

When the bee first sets out looking for nectar, the juice of the flowers, she may buzz here and there. Then she pokes her long, grooved tongue into the heart of a flower and draws out the nectar. Honey is made out of nectar.

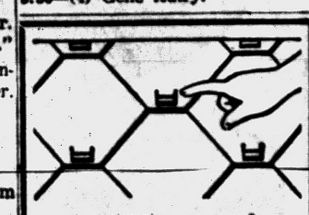

In ancient days, honey was the only source of sugar and today millions of dollars worth of honey is sold each year in the United States alone. Beeswax from the honey combs are melted down and used for church candles, for ointments and polishes and in dentistry.

★ ★ ★

FOR YOU TO DO: In your yard or in a park, watch for honey bees on flowers and learn to tell them from the bumble bees and other wild insects.
