

Thursday, March 25, 2010

SBA professional development certificate courses welcome OU employees, dependents

In addition to taking degree-granting courses, OU employees and their dependents can also enroll in a wide array of professional development and continuing education certificate programs available through OU's School of Business Administration.

The Professional & Community Education department in the SBA offers innovative, market-leading programs in high-demand and emerging sectors that can help participants enhance current skills or prepare for advancement.

The SBA offers long-standing expertise through its certificate programs and workshops.

Current certificate programs available include:

- Certified Personal Financial Planning
- Paralegal Certificate Program
- Project Management Certificate
- NEW -- Business Intelligence and Data Mining
- Process Management

The OU career development benefit may cover these certificate programs. Check with University Human Resources for additional information.

Workshops are also available. Current workshops available include:

- Microsoft Office Skills Workshop
- Quantitative Methods
- NEW -- E-Business & Diversification

"Regardless of industry, employment rates and the economy, professional development is an investment that pays immediate and long range dividends – professionally and personally," says Lori Crose, title.

For more information about these programs, contact the SBA at (248) 370-3177 or by e-mail at sba-ce@lists.oakland.edu.

SUMMARY

In addition to taking degree-granting courses, OU employees and their dependents can also enroll in a wide array of professional development and continuing education certificate programs available through OU's School of Business Administration.

The Professional & Community Education department in the SBA offers innovative, market-leading programs in high-demand and emerging sectors that can help participants enhance current skills or prepare for advancement.

Current certificate programs available include:

- Certified Personal Financial Planning
- Paralegal Certificate Program
- Project Management Certificate
- NEW -- Business Intelligence and Data Mining
- Process Management

The OU career development benefit may cover these certificate programs. Check with University Human Resources for additional information.

Created by Claudette Zolkowski-Brown (zolkowsk@oakland.edu) on Thursday, March 25, 2010
Modified by Claudette Zolkowski-Brown (zolkowsk@oakland.edu) on Thursday, March 25, 2010
Article Start Date: Thursday, March 25, 2010