Viet Battle Rages; 8 Dead on Carrier

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Communist troops counterattacked viciously today against a large American infantry force that had overrun enemy bunkers in the canopied jungles near Cambodia as the battle for Tay Ninh Province entered its third day.

Pitched battles have erupted in three places in the past three days in the province which borders Cambodia and serves as a main infiltration route into the heart of Viet Nam.

The pattern of enemy attacks indicated a whole Communist division may be engaged.

Elsewhere, eight U.S. servicemen died and 14 others were injured last night in a flash fire aboard the aircraft carrier Franklin D. Roosevelt off North Viet Nam.

A Navy spokesman said the fire caused no functional problems and the carrier will stay on station in the Gulf of Tonkin. It was the second U.S. carrier fire in 10 days.

In the air war over North

Viet Nam, two more U.S. war planes were downed yesterday bringing the total reported lost in the north to 418, a U.S. spokesman said.

There was no letup in the Tay Ninh fighting today, a spokesman said.

Several battalions of American infantrymen holding the Communist bunker complex they overran yesterday were attacked six times this morning and early afternoon.

A civilian irregular defense force comprised mainly of Nung tribesmen and their American officers was still fighting for its life to the west.

A U.S. spokesman said "multitribes" of Americans are now involved in the Tay Ninh fighting. This could be as many as 10,000 infantrymen.

Elsewhere in Viet Nam, the ground war was quiet, with only the U.S. 4th Division reporting any contact. Troops from this unit engaged a North Vietnamese platoon today near Plei Djereng, killing six.

Texas Confab May Influence Tax Increase

McNamara, and LBJ Discuss Troop Needs, Defense Spending

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, holding some of the keys to a possible wartime tax increase, discusses defense spending and Viet Nam troop needs with President Johnson today at the President's ranch.

The Texas White House said Johnson wanted to meet with McNamara to review the Manila conference, to talk about diplomatic efforts to arrange a Viet Nam peace and to consider the most recent reports from Gen. William C. Westmoreland, U. S. commander in the war-torn country.

Westmoreland's requests for additional troops, and the war's impact on defense outlays, seemed certain to dominate the conversation, however.

Johnson has said repeatedly, most recently at his news conference yesterday, that McNamara's efforts to hold down military spending, despite the war, will play a big part in the tax decision.

Another element is the level of appropriations passed by the now-adjourned Congress, a matter which Johnson said is being studied.

Former Governor of Pennsylvania Lies Near Death

PITTSBURGH (AP) — David L. Lawrence, Democratic kingpin whose behind-the-scenes power helped elect presidents, lingered near death today after suffering a heart attack while addressing a political rally.

Lawrence, 77, former governor of Pennsylvania, was in critical condition in Presbyterian University Hospital.

He slumped to the floor before an audience of some 3,000 last night just as he was starting a speech.

Elated UF Chairman Hails Response by Community

"Over the top" said a grinning Don O. Tatroe, general campaign chairman, to volunteers and guests at yesterday's Pontiac Area United Fund victory luncheon.

The 23-day campaign netted $1,042,120 to date, the highest amount in PAUF history.

Tatroe also told the estimated 400 persons present that "today's figures are incomplete largely due to inclement weather. Considerable monies are still outstanding, and expected."

The general chairman handed each of the division heads Indian Oscar awards for their participation in the campaign.

He also commented that he was "happy to know that the community can rise to the call of responsibility once again and help the work of the 54 PAUF-supported agencies continue."

The GM-Industrial division headed by Alger V. Conner, accounted for $702,392, nearly two-thirds of the total funds collected.

Thomas F. Weithorn, vice president of the PAUF Board of Trustees, thanked all volunteers for their efforts on behalf of U.F. President Bruce Annett, who was unable to attend.

The luncheon was sponsored by 36 businesses who had donated money towards meals sponsorship during the 1966 campaign.

Pontiac Northern High School cheerleaders dressed as Indians cheered the UF victory.

Prosecutor Probing Two Orion Deaths

By L. GARY THORNE
Oakland County Prosecutor S. Jerome Bronson today announced he has launched an investigation into the "tragic, unnecessary and unusual" gunshot deaths of two Orion Township people Tuesday and Friday. "We must find out who or what contributed to these deaths," Bronson said. "We will interview all persons who have any knowledge of the events."

Dead are Alfred B. Howey, 39, of 355 Parkview and Charlotte J. Hinton, 13, daughter of Edward G. Hinton of Metamora and Mrs. Ralph J. Bowen, 66 Goldgate.

Based on the reports of Oakland County Sheriff's Deputties, the gunshot deaths — young Charlotte on Tuesday and Howey yesterday — appear to emanate from a single incident: a Halloween prank.

Howey, the father of two young daughters, was found, shortly before 6:30 a.m. yesterday slumped over the steering wheel of his car at his home.

He clutched a 20-gauge shotgun in his left hand. He was pronounced dead at the scene from the self-inflicted wounds, according to sheriff's deputies.

Car Kills Man in Waterford; 3 Die in Crash

A Pontiac man was killed early today when struck by a car in Waterford Township and three other persons were fatally injured when their car collided with a truck yesterday afternoon near Romeo.

Killed while walking along Elizabeth Lake Road near Fernbury at 2:22 a.m. today was Robert E. Eason, 26, of 637 Desoto.

The driver of the car that struck Eason, Lynn D. Steinhilper, 19, of 886 Spence, told police that he didn't see the pedestrian in time to avoid striking him.

Steinhilper, who was driving east, said that the accident victim was in the center of the eastbound lane.

Eason was dressed in dark clothing, according to police.

CAR-TRUCK CRASH

Killed in the 4:22 p.m. car-truck accident yesterday on M53 in Macomb County were the driver of the car, Larry T. Medinger, 23 of Center line, and his two passengers, Joseph J. Kirk, 32, of 4427 Woodland, Royal Oak, and Clifford Rayburn, 37, of Highland Park.

The truck driver, Clyde A. Golver, 45, of Imlay City, suffered only minor injuries.

State Police of the Romeo post said that the road was clear of ice or snow at the accident scene and that the cause of the crash has not been determined.

Rampaging Waters Recede in Italy

FLORENCE, Italy (AP) — The waters of the worst floods in Florence and Venice since the Middle Ages receded today, leaving the two museum cities blackened with mud and without public services.

Thousands of rescue workers struggled through slime dotted with debris and stained with fuel oil. Streets became bogs and buildings were coated with mud below the second-floor level.

As the Arno River settled back into its bed at Florence and Adriatic Sea waters flowed out of Venice, other Italian cities remained inundated or became flooded.

Landslides, violent winds and floods — part of a huge storm that battered all Western Europe — took more than 40 lives in Italy alone.

NO INFORMATION

The U.S. Embassy in Rome said it had no information about Americans in the flooded areas but added that there was no indication so far that any foreigners were among the victims.

In southern Austria, floods killed at least 11 persons. Dozens were missing and feared dead in the European storm and hundreds were injured. Destruction was incalculable.

As the floods began ebbing at dawn, authorities in Florence, the Renaissance art center of 450,000, and Venice began adding up what they feared was immense and irreparable damage to priceless cultural relics.

Some 50,000 relief workers, aided by war weather after almost two days of rain, joined local volunteers to aid more than 100,000 Italians left homeless. The storm struck especially hard at north and central Italy.

Annexation Proposal to Get Hearing

A public hearing on proposed annexation by the Village of Holly of 418 acres of Holly Township will be conducted early next month by the boundaries committee of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors.

The committee yesterday directed Holly Township Supervisor Seeley Tinsman to establish an early December meeting date.

Proposed for annexation by the Village Council Sept. 13 was land directly north of the village limits with a population of about 350 persons.

Provision for the orderly growth of the village was one reason cited in the annexation petition.

Following the public hearing next month, the boundaries committee will make a recommendation on the proposed annexation and refer it to the full Board of Supervisors.

ANOTHER HEARING

The supervisors will hold another public hearing before ruling on the annexation.

The 1965 act, under which the Village of Holly was incorporated, rules out an election procedure for annexation of adjacent land.

Pontiac Man, 25, Faces Charge in Stolen Car Case

Arthur Thomas of Pontiac faces charges of transporting a stolen car across state lines following his arrest today by police in Chicago.

Thomas, 25, was apprehended with a man identified by police as his brother, Jerome Thomas of Chicago.

Benton Heights police said they will also question the pair in connection with the armed robbery last night of a grocery store there.

VICTORY HARMONY—Lending a festive air to the Pontiac Area United Fund victory luncheon yesterday, this quartet was heralding the oversubscription of the $1,042,000 goal which will finance 54 agencies for the coming year.

Police Pay Unrest in State Is Spreading

By United Press International

Police unrest over wages spread yesterday to Grand Rapids and Lansing, Michigan's second and fourth largest cities, in the wake of a police "sit call" job boycott and strike threat in Pontiac.

Pontiac's policemen patrolled their beats yesterday, the first full day of a truce in which a stalemate over police pay was thrown in the lap of a state mediator.

The mediator's "fact-finding" hearings were scheduled to begin Nov. 9.

In Lansing, the state capital city of 115,000 residents, a citizens' vote next Tuesday on whether firemen's pay should be boosted to match that of policemen threatened to touch off mass resignations.

At least 20 of the city's 220 policemen reportedly promised to quit if voters approve the "parity pay" proposal.

About 20 of Lansing's 267 firemen said they would resign if the proposal is defeated. Lansing policemen now get $550 a year more than firemen.

DANIEL C. DEVINE

Seeks Short Term for Judge

Attorney Daniel C. Devine announced today that he is seeking election to the short-term Oakland County Circuit Court judgeship in Tuesday's election.

Devine, 32, of 743 Harmon, Birmingham, said that he has 10,000 name stickers in circulation that can be used by voters.

The unexpired term of the late Circuit Court Judge Stanton G. Dondoro will be filled by write-in or sticker vote because no candidate was nominated for the vacancy in the August primary.

Devine said that the short-term winner probably would take office two weeks after the election when the vote is certified and serve until next Jan. 1.

Married, with five children, Devine is a member of the law firm of Condit, Denison, Devine, Porter and Bartush, and is a former assistant Oakland County prosecutor.

Cite Dem Literature 5 GOP Hopefuls File Charges

Five Oakland County Republican candidates last night filed complaints with the Fair Campaign Practices Committee in Detroit.

Raymond Hoffman, trustee candidate in White Lake Township, and Elmer Johnson, candidate for supervisor in Waterford Township, complained that their opponents who were appointed to office in mid-term are using the term "reelect" in campaign literature.

Johnson is opposing Mrs. Dorothy Olson and Hoffman is facing Raymond Stempian in the election.

George Kuhn, candidate for state senator in the 14th District, has claimed that his opponent, Paul Livingston, is using campaign material that purports to be excerpts from three newspapers.

One of the excerpts accuses Kuhn of verbally attacking Gov. Romney before the governor's election. Kuhn denies such an attack.

'STATE EXPENSE'

Donald Bishop, opponent of Robert J. Slingerland in the 63rd State Legislative District, has alleged that Slingerland is using a legislative order as campaign material that was printed and mailed at state expense.

Bishop also claims that a letter from Durwood Varner, chancellor of Oakland University, was included in the Slingerland mailing and that it was not authorized by Varner.

The letter thanks Slingerland for assisting the university in the State Legislature.

The final complaint was made by James Reid, candidate for supervisor in White Lake Township. He alleges that his opponent Edward Chazy is using a letter written in 1964 by the township GOP director, Jay Lee, which praises the township government. No date is affixed to the letter used as campaign material.

Action on the complaints probably won't be forthcoming until after the election, according to Bruce Franklin, attorney for the Oakland County Republican Committee.

The Coast Guard has enlisted the aid of hunters in an attempt to locate a 45-year-old Waterford Township duck hunter missing at Saginaw Bay since Wednesday.

A 12-foot boat belonging to Gerald Stinson, 2093 Briggs, was found late Thursday along the shoreline about a mile south of his car which was parked at the end of Geiger Road between Bayport and Sebewaing.

An air search yesterday failed to turn up the missing hunter and the Coast Guard was airlifting hunters by helicopter this morning from the mainland to the off-shore islands near where Stinson was reported hunting alone.

State police of the Bad Axe post said a blinding snowstorm with winds up to 30 miles an hour hit the Bay Wednesday. The marsh area around shore is covered with ice today making it impossible to launch

Firemen Save Man in Home

A $350 fire blamed on careless smoking nearly claimed the life of a Pontiac Township man in his home yesterday.

Dan Kooper, about 37, of 595 Calvary was found lying unconscious on the floor of his home by township firemen who entered the burning house about 1:45 p.m.

Fire Chief Carl Shingneck said Kooper — alone in the house — was dragged outside from a bedroom and responded when given oxygen.

Kooper was taken by ambulance to Pontiac General Hospital, but, a hospital spokesman said, his injuries did not require admission.

"It was close," Shingneck said, "another five minutes and we might not have been able to save him."

The fire, which Shingneck said was started by careless smoking, was brought under control in about 10 minutes by township firemen and completely extinguished in less than an hour.

Damage to the house was estimated at $1,500 and to the furniture and other items at about $2,000.

Charlotte, however, called a girlfriend who had implicated her in the Halloween hijinks. Hazen said she reportedly berated the friend for telling on her and then said she was going to shoot herself. The friend did not take her seriously.

Charlotte was found dead of a gunshot wound early that evening. She was lying on a bed with a rifle beside her.

The neighborhoods of the suicide victims are about a half-mile apart.

Soapy Back in Form at Rallies

DETROIT (AP)—With most of his voice back, former Gov. G. Mennen Williams returned to the campaign trail this week-end.

Williams addressed two solidly Democratic groups Friday night at opposite ends of the metropolitan Detroit area, urging solid Democratic votes for state and local candidates.

Several thousand Macomb County Democrats turned out in East Detroit for free pizza, beer and political speeches at a rally financed by Secretary of State branch managers, local candidates and the Macomb County AFL-CIO Council.

He attended a similar 15th Congressional District rally in Romulus township, west of Detroit.

BOTH APPEAR

Williams and Democratic gubernatorial candidate Zolton Perency attended the same meetings, but did not appear simultaneously.

Williams, bothered by an attack of laryngitis, had made only one public appearance in the previous 48 hours—before another solidly Democratic group in Hamtramck.

His trial run successfully completed, Williams scheduled a full day of campaigning today in the downriver Detroit area.

As a safety measure, U.S. Sen. Philip Hart, D-Mich., put in an appearance—one of the few he has made in the current campaign—at both rallies.

"Just in case Gov. Williams' laryngitis is not completely cured," Hart said before the U.S. Senatorial candidate appeared in East Detroit, "I just want to make sure you know how much he appreciates what you have done for him in past elections and what you will do for him in this one."

Hart also appeared at the Wayne County rally.

GOP Trying to Get off Ground

DETROIT (AP)—Gov. George Romney and other top Republican candidates, frustrated by bad weather in their first attempt, tried again today to get a helicopter campaign blitz off the ground.

Snow and chilly winds resulted in cancellation Friday of the first half of a planned two-day airborne blitz of several Detroit suburbs by Romney, Sen. Robert Griffin, Lt. Gov. William Milliken and other GOP nominees.

But with improved weather today, campaign strategists decided to go ahead with today's schedule calling for "copter landings" at nine locations.

Three whirlybirds were used to carry the candidates to such places as a cider mill, a high school athletic field, a housing project and Lafayette Park in downtown Detroit. A press conference was slated to be held in a farmhouse at the end of the day.

Friday, the candidates set out ed Lawrence Institute of Technology and the Sacred Heart Seminary in Detroit, where Romney and Griffin were greeted by young priests carrying signs urging their election.

But the liveliest visit of the day was at the Ford Motor Company plant in Highland Park, site of the first mass-produced Model T Fords. The plant now turns out tractors.

Boos and catcalls greeted Romney when he climbed atop a cafeteria table and spoke to workers clustered around the luncheon area. But there also was some applause.

Using a portable loudspeaker, the governor attempted to explain why he had vetoed a bill which would have eliminated the one-week waiting period for workers seeking unemployment compensation after a layoff.

Welfare Man Charged With N.Y. Extortion

NEW YORK (AP)—Police have charged a welfare case worker in east Harlem with extorting $125 from one of his poverty-stricken clients, the mother of three small children.

A Department of Investigations spokesman said Edward Trimas, 24, told Maria Laboy he wanted part of a supplemental allowance of $333.60 he had arranged to cover her household and clothing expenses.

Trimas, whose salary is $5,700 a year, was charged with second-degree grand larceny and was suspended from his post.

Ohio's Robert Taft Jr. Running for Political Life

CINCINNATI — Swifty, another harassed candidate, the Plymouth convertible without a minute to spare, swerved—to the right, of course. For Robert Taft Jr. is racing —and Bob Taft took the ex- for his political life against Rep. John Joyce Gilligan, a first-term Democrat, in what looks like the nation's No. 1 congressional contest.

No one could say Taft was driving recklessly. He was just racing. This race has everything: The force for four generations, granddad was president and chief justice, dad was Mr. Republican, lively, young articulate contenders, money to spend, supporters who feel that if their hero is drubbed, then all mankind is doomed, the prospect of a finish that could be in doubt to the last ballot.

VICTORY MARGIN

One Democrat has cagily put his money, not on the winner, but on the margin of victory. "I've bet it won't be more than 2,500 votes either way," he says.

In 1964, only 14 of the 435 House races were that close. Each side has special reasons for trying harder.

For the Republicans: Well, if Bob Taft can't win, who can? Especially in Cincinnati?

LONE MESSAGE

So well-known is the name that on signs and campaign buttons "TAFT" is the only message required. "The question here is," a Democratic leader says, "how big are those four letters?"

Despite this brazen display of confidence, gnawing doubts do creep in.

After serving his apprenticeship in the Ohio Legislature, Taft was elected congressman-at-large in 1962 and seemed on his way up, maybe even to the White House.

Then, from Taft's viewpoint, a terrible thing happened, namely, Sen. Barry Goldwater, who lost Ohio so one-sidedly to President Johnson in 1964 that Taft sank, too, in his bid for the Senate.

Now, as Taft redubs see it, another defeat not only would be a disaster for him, but it would also be a major setback in their attempt to steer the Republican party along what they think is a moderate path.

"There's only despair and confusion on the right," Taft's campaign manager, Paul Rubin, says. "The salvation of the Republican party — if there is a salvation — is a man like Bob Taft."

For the Democrats: Lyndon B. Johnson's success in pushing his "Great Society" programs through Congress has been due to the loyalty of 48 freshmen Democrats. If Republicans can win back half or more of these seats — and this is one of them — Johnson will get little new legislation, and will have trouble financing programs he already has.

ON THE LINE

At a recent rally attended by Gilligan, Jimmy Simpkins of the Teamsters' Union put it on the line.

"If we lost 10 or 12 seats, the control of the House is going right back into the hands of the Republicans and the Southern Democrats. It would be a shame and a disgrace to the people of Ohio not to send this man back to Congress."

Sending this man back to Congress won't be easy.

This district is the eastern part of Hamilton County — Cincinnati — It was strongly Republican when Gilligan shocked everyone, himself included, by winning by 5,411 votes in 1964. To make sure this wouldn't happen again, the Ohio Legislature gave the district a little more real estate and 7,000 more Republican votes.

"They tailor-made this district for Bob Taft," Gilligan says.

NEED AROUSING

Democrats, especially those who are very poor, need a lot of arousing before they will go to the polls, and this is hard to do when there's no presidential race.

"If you put them on a chart, the Republican vote is always there," Gilligan says. "The Democratic vote looks like a roller-coaster. If we have a total vote somewhat like 1964, I might be able to shock him."

Approximately one out of five voters here is a Negro. Taft has invested money and time wooing Negroes, but if they should turn out in droves, he would be in real trouble.

"The more people who stay home, the better off I am," Taft's campaign manager says.

FIGHTS COMPUTER

Gilligan isn't only fighting Taft; he's also battling a computer.

Painstakingly, the name of every voter — and his preferences — was collected and fed to the machine. "You've got to go where the ducks are," Goldwater used to say. In these critical days before Nov. 8, Taft can go where the undecided ducks are.

On election day, in theory, the Republicans can round up every solid vote they have — and can studiously ignore those they know will go against them.

Good organization wins the close ones; that's why Taft is rated a slight favorite.

LIKELY MODEL?

Carl Rubin, trying to think of everything, has written a manual for amateur Taftites that may become the model for this neglected branch of literature.

Suppose Taft is invited to talk to a relatively small group.

"Make an effort to introduce Bob Taft to as many people as possible," the manual says. "Be prepared to rescue him with tact if it appears he has been cornered by the aggressive, argumentative type who all too frequently attend these meetings."

Dear Friends: Thanks for Litter, I'm All Choked Up

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON — One of the things that makes us Americans so lovable is our willingness to aid victims of disaster.

When a major fire, flood, earthquake, avalanche, typhoon or other type of calamity occurs, the American public generously responds to appeals for help.

I personally can attest to the intensity of this charitable feeling toward strangers in distress.

When a catastrophe befell me recently, I was immediately befriended by a host of magnanimous benefactors, most of whom were previously unknown to me.

The tragedy to which I allude was the loss of my priceless collection of desk litter, which was inadvertently thrown away by a janitorial crew after the adjournment of Congress.

I call the collection "priceless" because it wasn't worth anything. Nevertheless, the loss was a great blow to me.

No man is an island, as the poet says, but unless his body is surrounded by litter, he cannot function at peak efficiency.

There is nothing more desolate and depressing than a bare desk. But I shall not despair. Sympathetic citizens, touched by my plight, have been sending me copious quantities of new material with which to clutter my desk.

Already my appointments calendar has disappeared beneath the rubble and my telephone is submerged up to the No. 1, or GHI, dial hole.

I can't acknowledge all of the contributions to the litter relief project, so I will simply mention some of the donations that are still visible in the bottom layer.

• A colleague in New York sent a department store advertisement featuring "his" and "hers" sailor suits for dogs. All a slum isn't built in a day.

The one for "boy doggies" has a "bell-bottom look" and "for girls, a pleated skirt." They cost $18.50 each and look so cute they made me seasick.

• Author Sol Weinstein contributed a copy of his latest spy thriller, "On the Secret Service of His Majesty, the Queen."

• The Travelers Insurance Co. donated a copy of a book published on its 100th anniversary, which was celebrated in 1964.

• These and the other gifts make splendid litter, but they are only the foundation. After all, a slum isn't built in a day.

UF Chalks Up Another Victory

Once more our community manifests its humanitarian conscience by oversubscribing the 1966 goal ($1,042,000) of the Pontiac Area United Fund.

At yesterday's victory luncheon a subscription total of $1,042,120 was announced, a figure certain to be swelled as pledges continue to filter in.

The result stands as eloquent evidence of the conscientious efforts of the army of solicitors and the UF professional staff, and of the heart-warming generosity of contributors. The campaign moved under the inspired leadership of General Chairman Don O. Tatroe.

The success of the fund-raising drive is assurance that the 54 dependent agencies will function at full potential during the ensuing year in their various areas of public welfare.

During the 18 years of its life, the "give-once-for-all" plan of community aid has proven the most effective and economical for administering such assistance. Were each of the UF agencies to undertake its own fund-raising activity and agency correlation, the over-all purpose would wallow in chaos. Moreover, subscribers would find themselves importuned throughout the year by continued calls for assistance.

The Press congratulates the Pontiac Area United Fund on the success of its current campaign and warmly commends the fine spirit of the men and women whose teamwork brought it to fruition.

The POWER of FAITH

By WOODY ISHMAEL

In his paintings Fra Angelico has expressed his faith for all to see for the past 500 years. Of all the Italian Renaissance painters Fra Angelico was truly divinely inspired. In his lifetime churches and cathedrals vied for his works. He gave his pictures of the life of Christ and other religious paintings a fresh beauty and new meaning. Very little is known of Fra Angelico's origin. His Christian name was Guido and he was also known as Fra Giovanni of Fiesole. He was 20 when he received the habit of the Dominican order. The name Fra Angelico (meaning angelic) was given him because of his devout piety. It has been told that he never picked up a brush until he had prayed for guidance. He believed that God guided his brush. He knelt as he painted the Madonna and wept each time he painted the crucifixion. For over a hundred years the accepted image of an angel has been that of one of Fra Angelico's. Both in his gentle life and in his art he has given us a rich spiritual heritage.

Voice of the People:

'Uninsured Drunk Driver Protected for $35 Yearly'

We have been advised that a claim against the Uninsured Motorists' Fund must be for damage in excess of $200.

My retired father will have to replace his rural mail box (if he wants mail service resumed) and repair his property along the roadside, because some drunk turned his car over there in the wee hours of the morning.

Not a thing can be done to the drunken driver. He can drive any way he likes for $35 yearly. This seems like mighty cheap insurance to me. The little guy gets stuck as usual.

Thinks Mr. Anable's Appointment 'Strange'

Isn't it a little strange that a couple of days after Mr. Anable wrote to the Pontiac Press knocking Ken Morris, he was recommended for appointment to the Police Trial Board by Commissioner Dugan?

How far will you go to defend this Taubman Mail?

'Commissioners Refused Expert Opinion'

Mayor Taylor referred to the well-known remodeler of cities, Constantinos Doxiadis, at a recent Commission meeting. I assumed the City Commissioners would like to have this noted man's opinion of the Taubman Mail plans. Five Commissioners voted in favor of this proposal. Commissioners Irwin and Marshall were in favor of it.

Commissioners Hudson and Dugan said: "We have consulted some other architects." Some one in audience asked for names of architects consulted. None of the Commissioners seemed to know.

'Make Occupants Take Care of Property'

I agree in part with UAW "Solidarity" on its description of Pontiac. I know there are well-kept areas, but one doesn't have to look very hard to find the poor schools, trash-strewn lawns and dilapidated homes. I am concerned about what we can do to correct this situation.

I think occupants should have to sign contracts binding them to keep properties in good condition. These contracts should be enforced by law.

Question and Answer

It's now noon the second day of the storm and streets in my neighborhood haven't been touched by a road crew. With a day to get started and warning of more snow to come, why aren't streets clean by now?

D. H. L.

REPLY

After talking with City Manager Warren and Mr. Christian of the DPW, we learned it takes almost 24 hours for road crews to plow all the streets after a heavy storm. It presents even more of a problem when the snow is continuous, such as Wednesday and Thursday. The major effort must be to keep trunklines open, and this may require several trips a day until the snow stops. Mr. Warren and Mr. Christian assure us that when main roads are clear, trucks are sent to clear residential streets as quickly as possible.

Confident Living:

Practice Courage in Your Mind

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

There is a Swedish proverb which goes something like this: Fear less, hope more; Eat less, cheer more; White less, breathe more; Talk less, say more; Hate less, love more; And all good things will be yours.

Dr. PEALE the list of important things to do if all good things are to be yours.

How then do you go about getting more courage? First, it must be practiced. In athletics to succeed you must practice. To be a good musician, you must practice. The simple fact is that many people are filled with fear because they have practiced fear for so long they are experts.

A psychiatrist had a patient, a little girl, who frequently dreamed of being attacked by a tiger and she would shrink in terror in the night. Upon investigation he discovered that an angry cat had once sprung at her and later in a zoo she had seen a tiger. Asked to describe the tiger she said he had a big white spot on his forehead and stripes all around him; big red eyes and big teeth — and it snarled at her.

"I have seen that same tiger," the psychiatrist told her. "You have the wrong idea of him. He isn't a mean old tiger."

He is a great big pussycat and he wants to play with you. If you will notice, his claws are not showing. You think he is snarling, but that is his way of smiling. If you will look deeply into this tiger's eyes you will see that he is kindly. Anyway, he is not a tiger — just a great, big old pussycat. Next time you see him, say: "Hello there, big old pussycat" — and you will love him."

Well, the little girl had a quality which, unfortunately, most of us do not possess: that of wonder and true factuality. Next time she encountered the tiger in her dreams, though she shrank back at first, she said to him: "Nice tiger, come play with me." She learned to like him and did not dream fearfully about him again.

Does your tiger spring at you in the night? A man wakes in the night and imagines that a little pain is the beginning of a heart attack. Probably it is not that at all. Look your tiger in the face. Say to yourself, "I put myself in the hand of God when I fell asleep and I'm still there. I know my heart is all right."

Practice thinking courageous thoughts. This requires will power because we are habitually more at home with our fear thoughts. Charles Dickens wrote: "Men love their chains." That sounds ridiculous but it is a fact. We grow to feel comfortable with the fetters to which we are accustomed. We even take a certain grim comfort in our miseries.

"I met a man the other day who taught me something. I ran up some stairs to street level, two at a time, carrying a bag. The taxi man grabbed the bag and put me in his cab. 'I saw you do that,' he reproached me. 'Running up these stairs two at a time, and at your age. You ought to have more sense!'"

"What do you mean at my age?" I protested. "I'm not putting, am I?" "You ought to practice calmness," he continued. "If you'd learn to be quiet you'd live longer and be happier." "My friend," I said, "you are a philosopher. Where do you get these ideas?" "I read them in the newspapers." And he continued to quote statements from this very column (on my honor this happened). When I paid the fare, I told him my name and thanked him for giving me some good ideas.

He was a rough kind of fellow but I remember the happy look on his face as he said, "You can give yourself peace and calmness and live a long while if you just skip tension and say goodbye to anxiety." I promised him I would try — maybe you'd like to also. (The Hall Syndicate, Inc.)

Nth Degree of Accuracy, Brevity

By WASHINGTON STAFF

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Maine's Democratic Sen. Edmund Muskie has come up with another example of the notorious northern New England taciturnity.

Stopping at a remote Maine gas station, a stranger noticed an old man sitting by the door. While his car was being serviced, he tried to start a conversation with the old fellow. Here's how it went:

"Lived here all your life?"

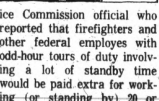

"Not yet."

End of conversation.

Week's best quote: From Rep. Chester Mize, R-Kan., complaining about the inflated food prices:

"Under the Great Society, food may soon become a gourmet item."

Leak of the week: This week's award for the hottest news tip goes to a Civil Servmore Sundays in a year.

Prediction: Sales of pinocle card decks will triple on Saturdays from now on.

The Agriculture Department recently announced that a team of scientists is treating cotton with a combination of chemicals and atomic energy to develop better fabric for consumers.

The scientists have already discovered that radiation — in small doses — makes cotton softer without reducing the fiber's strength. Other chemicals, they believe, could make cotton flame-resistant and water-repellent.

Agriculture Secretary Orville Freeman has volunteered to help with the testing of the new cotton — provided he can get a Republican farm belt congressman to go along and make any risk-sharing bipartisan.

Random notes: Rhode Island is the 26th state to have its Medicaid (Title 19 of the Social Security Act) plan approved. Total number of indigent Americans now eligible for medical aid: 8 million. Total cost to the federal government for the first year of operation: $752 million.

The Corps of Engineers developed a mammoth tracclearing blade for use in Viet Nam. It can split large trees into smart fragments and shear them off at ground level. At Fort Belvoir, Va., tests, it cleared an acre in an hour. Guess it takes an engineer to visualize defoliation on a conventional scale...

HEW's new program to study and combat alcoholism got its first liquor industry support when Lewis Rosenstiel, Schenley Industries' board chairman, gave it his approval. "We will be glad to place our experience and our facilities at the HEW's disposal," said Rosenstiel.

Sure now, how can you study tipplers without giving them something to dispose of?

A Vote Tuesday Is Mark of Good Citizenship

The issues have been debated, the candidates have wooed voter support, the ballots are ready at the polling booths.

All that remains is for you to enter one and exercise your priceless democratic prerogative of voting. What you vote for or against is of less importance than that you VOTE.

Americans cannot be proud of the average turnout at local or even national elections. In foreign lands where the light of freedom still shines, elections bring out 80 to 95 per cent of eligible voters. In the United States, the cradle of democracy, the percentage seldom rises above 60 per cent.

As never before, the future of our Country is in the hands of thoughtful voters. By failing to mark a ballot Tuesday you are letting down not only yourself but your countrymen.

This Show's Biz Not Only Big - It's Fantastic

Sometimes even today Hairbreadth Harry does trounce Rudolph Rassendale and pay off the mortgage in time to save Hazel Hardpressed and the old homestead.

It will happen, in essence, this evening, when a show called The Fantasticks will give its 2,718th performance in New York City. That will better the record of My Fair Lady, leaving only Life With Father (3,224 performances) between The Fantasticks and a show biz longevity record.

Although the show lost $2,000 in its first nine weeks, nearly every night for the past four years has been a sellout. One enthusiastic member of the cast predicts that the off-Broadway musical will run at least seven years more.

Other productions of the Fantasticks have been staged in more than 400 United States communities and 28 foreign nations.

The story is a real cornball, and the reviewers may have been alienated by that (remember the blasting given long-run Abie's Irish Rose?). It's full of whimsy and fancy about the love of a boy and girl and the interference of their conniving fathers.

The musical has survived a showy mistreatment by television; motion picture plans, if any, have not been disclosed. In Greenwich Village it just might go on forever.

Johnson Facing Two Ordeals

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON—President Johnson faces two ordeals — physical and political — with one just as painful as the other. If the doctors are right, he will have to endure the political one a lot longer.

After some surgery, according to the doctors who minimize its gravity, he should soon be back in good physical shape.

But, according to the polls and tradition, Johnson won't be in as good political condition for the next two years as he was in 1965-66, when his Democrats had overwhelming control of both houses of Congress.

If they're right, and they probably are, it simply means the big Democratic majority in Congress will be reduced.

Traditionally — and the polls indicate it is going to happen again in next week's balloting — the party in control of Congress loses some seats in a nonpresidential off-year election like this one.

This doesn't mean the Republicans may gain control of Congress. The Republicans themselves, in their wildest dreams, aren't forecasting that. They're mainly predicting they will pick up some House seats.

Johnson had great success with this expiring Congress in 1965; less success in 1966, even though the Democrats retain their huge majority in both houses.

Since he suffered troubles and frustrations when his Democrats far outnumbered the Republicans, he can expect even more when there are fewer Democrats to listen to him and more Republicans to challenge him.

On top of that, unless something unexpected happens, meanwhile, Johnson will have to continue sweating out the Vietnamese war. The longer it drags on, the more discontent he can expect from Congress and the public.

MUST HAVE REST

The doctors decided that, after his Asian trip, he must rest for a while and then have a polyp removed from his throat and repairs made on an abdominal incision that was part of his gallbladder operation last year.

If it hadn't been for this, he might have spent the time between now and next Tuesday's election in a whirlwind speaking campaign to help his Democrats. Whether that would have done any good at this late date is debatable.

Yet, for a master politician like Johnson, this has been a very strange election season.

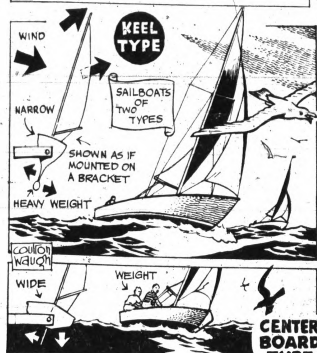

Johnson had made a few campaign speeches and trips but then, just as the season was reaching its peak, he went off to Manila for a conference about Viet Nam with leaders of six other nations.

It would seem, if he had his heart set on doing his utmost for the weary Democrats in trouble, he would have spent a minimum of time in Manila and then returned here to go on a speaking tour of the country.

Junior Editors Quiz on SAILBOATS

QUESTION: How do sailboats keep from tipping over?

ANSWER: People who don't know about sailboats are often alarmed, when they first go for a sail, to find the boat tipping sharply over. Sailboats are designed to sail into or across the wind tipped over to a certain degree.

Sailors call this heeling. As the boat heels over, the wind spills off the sail (black arrows, upper left), and so a moderate heel is a safety measure.

Sailboats have two main ways of preventing the heeling from going too far. In keel-type boats (upper picture) the weight on the bottom of the keel tends to balance against the force of the wind on the sail; the keel itself pushes against the water on its upper side (black arrows).

Boats of this kind rarely capsizes. Smaller sailboats, used on calmer waters, often have centerboards instead of keels. These can be raised or lowered. Such boats are usually wide, which means that the bottom, pressing down, keeps them from heeling too far.

As an additional help, the crew usually gets its weight up off the windward side. If a strong puff of wind comes, slackening the sheet or rope, controlling the sail helps to prevent a capsizing.

FOR YOU TO DO: Sailing is thrilling, but get someone who really knows how to sail to show you all about it before you try it out for yourself.

Over Registration

U.S. Winner on Beaver Code

WASHINGTON (AP) — The lowly beaver is getting some high level attention from the federal government — and the beaver breeders have their fur up about it.

It's not that the Securities and Exchange Commission dislikes beavers. But it thinks the beaver people should register with the government what the commission describes as investment contracts calling for the sale, care, management, replacement and resale of live beavers.

Not so, contend the beaver people. No securities are involved and the SEC had no right to require registration, they argue.

A U.S. District Court in Salt Lake City, however, agreed with the commission, at least for the present.

It has ruled that the investment contracts are securities and issued a temporary injunction barring what the commission charged were false and misleading statements by the beaver people in their attempt to sell live beavers. The beaver breeders are expected to request a formal trial in a move to overturn the order.

Although this is the SEC's first venture into the beaver business, it has records showing similar cases involving chinquillars, orange groves and coffee plantations — all won by the government.

In issuing the temporary injunction, Judge A. Sherman Christensen ruled, among other things, that the 10 defendants — nine from Salt Lake City and one from Denver — shouldn't tell potential buyers that there's a market for live beavers ranging from $2,000 to $6,000 per pair.

Telegram Precedes a Soldier's Letter

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Army Pfc. Michael Lavern Pugh of Memphis sent his October pay home from Viet Nam and told his parents to use it to "buy yourselves Christmas presents."

Mr. and Mrs. Jack L. Pugh received the letter Friday — 90 minutes after they got a telegram telling them their son was dead.

Pugh, 20, was killed in combat near Saigon Tuesday, the telegram said.

Florida Sheriff, Aides Indicted by Grand Jury

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A special grand jury probing crime and corruption in the Miami area has indicted Dade County (Miami) Sheriff T. A. Buchanan, chief of Florida's largest law enforcement complex. Four of his top aides also were named in separate indictments. The grand jury indicted Buchanan, 41, Friday on two charges of conspiracy to commit bribery.

The charges came only a day or two before the grand jury was to end its six-month probe in which it has returned nine indictments against 11 persons.

The indictment against Buchanan, sheriff for 3½ years, said he and Dave Shifrin, a former Miami Beach night club operator, conspired from January 1963 until January 1966 to allow numbers racketeers and bookmakers to operate in return for bribes.

Democrats have been the majority party in the U.S. Senate since 1953 when the Republicans controlled the upper house by a 48 to 47 margin.

Inroad Into Negro Vote Could Be Griffin Assist

LANSING (UPI) — How much of a dent Gov. George Romney can put in the usually heavy Democratic Negro vote Tuesday could play a deciding factor in the race for U. S. Senate.

Sen. Robert Griffin, named by Romney to succeed the late Democratic Sen. Patrick McNamara, has tied his chances of winning a full six-year term to Romney's coattails.

Former six-term Gov. G. Mennen Williams is banking on the Negro vote to give him a decided edge over his Republican foe for the Senate.

Romney picked up 8 per cent of the Negro vote when he first ran for governor in 1962, according to Republican counts.

He made further inroads into the Negro bloc two years ago against the Democrats' lackluster candidate, Neil Staebler, an Ann Arbor home builder.

COMPARISON

Republicans put Romney's Negro vote gain at 18 per cent against Staebler. They compare it with only one per cent gained by GOP presidential hopeful J. Barry Goldwater as a sign of the governor's vote pulling strength in Negro sectors.

To enhance Romney's chances of picking up still more Negro votes and transferring them to Griffin, the GOP drafted the first Negro to run on its statewide ticket this year.

He is George Washington, the highest ranking Negro in the Romney administration.

Washington voluntarily took a leave of absence from his Romney-appointed job as director of the Department of Administration "to help the Republican ticket."

LITTLE CREDENCE

But State Sen. Basil Brown, D-Highland Park, the highest ranked Negro in the Legislature, gives little credence to the help Washington can lend the GOP.

"What has he done for the Negro community?" asked Brown. He predicted Romney would lose Negro votes.

Romney and Washington have combined in several television spots to get their election message across to the voters.

The governor also prides himself in being among the creators of the Civil Rights Commission while vice president to the Constitutional Convention.

Williams notes he appointed the first Negro to the State Supreme Court, Otis Smith. Smith is seeking reelection on a non-partisan ballot. He also boasts of being a champion for civil rights.

New York City covers an area of 365.4 square miles.

Robert Vaughn Has Solo's Coolness on or off Screen

By BOB THOMAS

AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD — The aplomb with which Robert Vaughn plays Napoleon Solo on "The Man From U.N.C.L.E." is not entirely due to the actor's craft. He is a cool one, off the screen as well.

You get the impression from the meticulously groomed Vaughn that he could handle any situation, whether it's the latest peridy of THOMAS THRUSH or the taunts of hecklers who attack his real-life opposition to the Viet Nam war.

He is articulate and well-read, without the pretentiousness of actors who are Johnny-come-latelies to matters of the intellect.

Vaughn has all the answers on matters concerning his career. Does he chafe under servitude to a television series?

"Not at all," he replied airily. "David McCallum (his sidekick) Ilya and I were discussing our lot last week as we watched the show on television. We both agreed that we were lucky to have had the show."

"Before 'U.N.C.L.E.' we were both moderately well-known actors. The series not only made us prominent but gave us a bargaining power. The extent of that bargaining power was demonstrated when I did a feature, 'The Venetian Affair,' last summer.

"In 10 weeks, I earned as much as I earn in 10 months in television."

Vaughn said both he and McCallum expect to remain in the series five years, which he now figures to be its life expectancy.

"If a series can go into its third season with good ratings, as we are doing, it's a pretty safe bet it can last two more."

His contract ends after five years, and then he would try his luck as a star of features.

But what about the long-time argument that movie audiences won't pay to see heroes they have watched for long seasons on television?

Vaughn has an answer for that one, too.

"Yes, it's true that only three have made it—James Garner, Steve McQueen and Dick Van Dyke, though Van Dyke is not proven yet."

"I feel that I might have a good chance because I don't play a definite occupation in the series. If I were a lawyer or a doctor or a cowboy, I might become more firmly entrenched in the public mind as a certain character," he said.

He finds no difficulty in maintaining his zest for Napoleon Solo.

"There is no emotional involvement in the role to exhaust me, the physical demands are minimal, and the show is fun to do," he said.

Psychiatrists Urged to Help Ease War Peril

By Science Service
SYDNEY, Australia — Psychiatrists were urged here to apply their talents toward lessening the danger of war.

Dr. W. E. Mickelburgh, of the South Australian Mental Health Services, called upon psychiatrists to pool their knowledge with that of other social scientists in diagnosing unhealthy social systems.

He told a meeting of the Australian and New Zealand College of Psychiatrists that man has seen 14,831 wars in 5,560 years — an average of two and a half wars per year.

Today the United States and Russia have between them an arsenal of nuclear power equal to 50,000 tons of TNT for every human being, said Dr. Mickelburgh, and military scientists are experimenting with chemical warfare, searching for ways of weakening the enemy's resistance with drugs.

GRIGOR HASTED

Teen Is Tops in Classroom and Activities

Tally up a couple of A's for Eastern Junior High School's Grigor Hasted — one for his academic record and for his activities.

Teen of the Week Grigor, a ninth grader, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hasted, 683 E. Pike.

Enrolled in Eastern's rapid-learner program, he has maintained an A-minus scholastic record.

Grigor is vice president of the Student Council, president of the Hi-Y Club and a member of the choir, Belrangers and hall guards.

In the citywide assembly program for junior high schools last week, Grigor was a participant in mock U.N. Security Council sessions and general chairman for his school.

He also is a Life Scout and a two-time winner in the Pontiac Salute to Youth program—once for leadership and once for science achievement.

After high school, Grigor plans to attend college to obtain a liberal arts degree.

We believe that voters should consider:

1. Congressman Billie S. Farnum is a member of the House Appropriations Committee which reviews and limits all Federal expenditures—a high honor and a very important job.
2. Congressman Farnum is one of six Democratic congressmen who control the subcommittee on Health, Education and Welfare appropriations.
3. Congressman Farnum is in a unique position to assure Oakland County of full participation in all Federal programs and particularly the educational programs which are vital to Oakland University, Oakland Community College, and our public school districts.
4. Congressman Farnum's experience, political ability, interest, and position have already been of great value to the people of Oakland County in expediting several major projects and programs.

Senior Coed Is Expecting Her Ph.D. at 88

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — Miss Gertrude Brown sees nothing unusual in her attending classes at the Purdue University extension school here.

Now a vigorous 82, Miss Brown has been a college student off and on for 60 years. Presently she is taking courses in sociology and social psychology and hopes to earn a doctor of philosophy degree in six years.

She already has a bachelor of arts degree, from Western College, Oxford, Ohio, in 1917; and a master's degree, from the University of Cincinnati in 1933.

Miss Brown is a native of Indianapolis. She has spent most of her adult life in volunteer work.

She studied at the University of Missouri from 1937 to 1939 but left lacking only two credits to get a Ph.D.

STARTS OVER

She began all over again at Purdue last September because "time has wrought too many changes" and she needs a fresh approach for her thesis.

She plans to attend classes two years, then begin research for her thesis, "a socioeconomic study of the area in which I live."

"I expect to get my degree when I'm 88 years old," she said.

The degree itself isn't so important, she said in an interview.

'NOTHING UNUSUAL'

"It's what I can learn and have a knowledgeable understanding with others in the same field."

"I see nothing unusual at my age associating with today's perceptive students," Miss Brown said.

"Neither long hair, shaggy beards, outlandish mode of dress or today's rather odd style of dancing should be looked upon with disdain," she added.

"It's just the exuberance of youth," she said. "But what really bothers me is that parents just don't take time to give them the proper instructions for the future."

'SEARCHING FOR TRUTH'

Her classmates are "an earnest, sincere group of kids searching for truth and knowledge," she said.

Miss Brown and several friends developed a community center in northeast Indianapolis in the 1930s "to give victims of the depression encouragement and teach them what could be done through self-help."

"The more you give of yourself to help others, the more it comes back to you," she said.

Miss Brown said she has been able to help others because her father, a former Indianapolis shoe merchant, left the family in comfortable circumstances. She served four years on the Indianapolis Board of Park Commissioners.

Barefoot Boy Braves Cold to Go for Help

LONG BEACH, Miss. (AP) — A barefoot six-year-old boy walked two miles in near-freezing cold to summon help after his mother died in an auto accident.

Doris Elsworth, 43, was killed before dawn Friday when her car ran off a county road near Long Beach and plunged into a drainage canal.

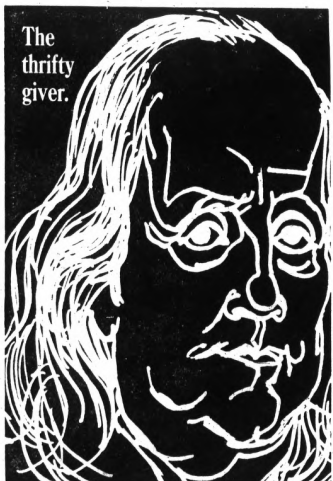

Her son Clyde, asleep in the rear seat, escaped serious injury. In pajamas, he walked to the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Flenniken, arousing them from sleep.

"Will you call the ambulance and a wrecker? My mama had a wreck and she won't talk to me," Flenniken said the child told him.

STILL WANTS TO LEARN — Miss Gertrude Brown started classes this semester at Purdue University's extension in Indianapolis in an effort to earn a Ph.D. degree she expects to have in six years — "when I'm 88 years old."

The thrifty giver.

We know him well as a philosopher, statesman, man of letters, kite-flyer, but barely as a fund raiser. Yet Ben Franklin personally planned, organized and solicited for many early Philadelphia projects. What his funds founded include America's first free library, a church, a hospital — and the University of Pennsylvania.

Franklin gave of himself and his wealth to help build American higher education.

Few of us can found a college, most of us can help keep one going.

Meredith Set for Return to Mississippi

DETROIT (AP) — James H. Meredith vowed Friday night to go back to Mississippi to demonstrate for civil rights and lead a Negro voter registration drive.

The 35-year-old Meredith, shot down on a Mississippi highway last June 6, said Mississippi "and what it symbolizes—white supremacy—is my unfinished business."

"As long as white supremacy reigns, me and my kind have no real chance in this country," Meredith said. "As long as it rules, I cannot be at peace."

Meredith, the first member of his race to enroll as a Negro at the University of Mississippi, spoke in an interview. He is in Detroit for three days of speeches to various groups.

He said his plans are not complete and he does not know exactly what he will do in Mississippi or when he will do it. It will begin, though, next summer, he said.

"Frankly, man for man, the Negro in Mississippi today is better off than the Negro in any of this nation's large cities," he said. "I don't ever want anybody to think that Mississippi is the only place where white supremacy reigns."

Special Session at Dr. Sam Trial

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — A Prosecutor John T. Corrigan special half-day session of Samuel H. Sheppard's second-degree murder trial was called today, after which the jury goes into seclusion for its first week-end under guard.

In a move to speed up the trial, ending its second week, Common Pleas Judge Francis J. Talty ordered the seven men and five women on the panel to sit in an unusual Saturday morning court session.

Jury members have been locked up nightly since Tuesday, the day after they were sworn in. Sheppard is free on bond.

COMPLETE TESTIMONY — Robert F. Schotke, veteran homicide detective, completed his testimony Friday. On call behind him were other police and medical witnesses for the state.

Sheppard, 42, an osteopath, served nine years in prison for the July 4, 1954 bludgeon death of his first wife, Marilyn. His conviction was overturned by the U.S. Supreme Court.

Introduced as evidence Friday was part of a nine-page statement Sheppard gave police and sheriff's deputies in the presence of an attorney July 10, 1954.

A portion of the statement was read in the courtroom by

Main Questions Unresolved at Speck Trial Hearing

CHICAGO (UPI) — The important questions concerning the trial of Richard Speck, accused slayer of eight Chicago nurses, remained unanswered today despite a hearing yesterday.

A Criminal Court judge withheld decisions on questions of Speck's sanity, his chances for a fair trial, and a motion to quash the indictments after a scheduled for Nov. 16, but said public defender entered innocent pleas for the lanky, 24-year-old drifter.

Speck is charged with eight counts of first degree murder in the stabbing and strangulation deaths of the nurses in their dormitory near South Chicago Community Hospital last July 14.

Judge Herbert Paschen took the rulings under advisement until another court hearing quash the indictments after a scheduled for Nov. 16, but said public defender entered innocent pleas for the lanky, 24-year-old drifter.

Paschen said Speck's attorney, Gerald W. Getty, "suggested the panel in the first place." Getty objected yesterday to use of the panel's findings.

"All there was to do was to find his (Speck's) competency," Getty said. "This has already been done, as is known by a leak to the press."

Reports circulated last month that the panel had decided Speck was fit to stand trial. However, the findings have not been officially released and there were no reports on whether Speck was sane.

Climb Within Industry

'Reflation' Tied to Food Cost

TUSTIN (AP)—An official of the Federal Trade Commission says "reflation" may be boosting the housewife's grocery bill. Dr. Fritz Mueller defined "reflation" as a time when costs are climbing within the food industry, and businesses all along the line from farmer to consumer find it expedient to adjust their profit levels, too.

Mueller was a speaker at an agricultural marketing work-

UHF Waves Said 'Potential Hazard'

By Science Service
GATLINBURG, Tenn. — The ultra-high frequency or UHF radio waves broadcast by your local television station, are being called a "potential hazard."

The radiation has been found to affect the behavior of rats and could affect people.

The behavioral effects on rats, however, are not permanent. The potential hazard to people remains to be evaluated.

The effects of UHF radiation at low power were reported to a seminar of science writers here by Dr. Susan Korbel, psychology professor at the University of Arkansas.

shop at Camp Kett, Michigan's 4-H center. Nearly 100 economists from 22 states attended the four-day program.

Dr. Don Paarlberg of Purdue University, who was an assistant secretary of agriculture under former President Eisenhower, said labor costs in food merchandising should come in for the same kind of scrutiny as management profit margins.

LABOR CONTROL

He said labor has almost paralytic control over many industries. And, he said, the public should know if labor is delivering a comparable degree of efficiency and productivity as that demanded of management to operate in a highly competitive system.

When prices go up, Paarlberg said, groups always are eager to point a finger and fix the blame.

"Irrespective of who wears the white hats," he said, "when consumer demand outruns supply, prices go up."

2 Fire Deaths Investigated

GRAND RAPIDS (UPI) — Two unattended children died in a closet of suffocation yesterday under circumstances that resulted in the launching of a police and fire department investigation.

The victims were Phillip Ogg, 5, and his brother, Willie, 4, children of Mr. and Mrs. William Ogg, of nearby Wyoming.

Wyoming Fire Chief Jay Waalkes said no one else was in the house when the children perished in the closet, huddled together. They were pronounced dead on arrival at St. Mary's Hospital.

The father was located at work and Mrs. Ogg was informed of the tragedy later by police.

Waalkes said the fire started in a den on the first floor of the two-story frame home and filled the dwelling with flames and smoke. Damage was estimated at about $2,000.

The Underachievers—6

Watch Outside Interests

(EDITOR'S NOTE—This is the sixth in a 12-part series on a severe problem in today's schools — the underachiever — by Dr. Leslie J. Nason.)

By LESLIE J. NASON, Ed. D.
University of Southern Cal.

Lack of interest in studies is not caused by strong interests in sports or cars but it sometimes works out the same way.

Some children are interested in many things: school, sports, reading — you name it — and are successful in everything they undertake.

Such children are a joy to their teachers and a source of pride to their parents. But when the interest in other things absorbs a student's attention to the detriment of his success in school, parents are rightfully concerned.

Computive outside interests take many forms — surfing, fishing, automobiles, sports, reading, or juvenile gang activity.

Sometimes a single interest can so take up the time and thoughts of a boy or girl as to push school and learning almost entirely out of the picture.

RESTRICTIONS

Restriction or complete prohibition of the offending activity, when combined with encouragement for better school success, sometimes brings results. But far more often it fails; in fact, it usually makes matters worse.

Schoolwork comes to be looked upon by the student as punishment and, as such, is resisted — sometimes violently.

The person who attempts to resolve this problem must strive for a better balance rather than a revolution.

Plans must be worked out with the cooperation of the teen-ager himself.

My approach has been to discuss the theory of interest with both the parents and the student.

I point out that it is quite natural for any person to enjoy thinking about the things about which they know a lot.

They do the things they can do skillfully rather than force themselves into thoughts and actions which bring less enjoyment.

Parents need to realize that the complete elimination of one set of activities is no guaranty that the desired activities will fill the released time.

PATTERN OF LIVING

I offer to plan with the student his pattern of living and make it more acceptable to his parents.

I point out that life will be more enjoyable to him as well. School is essential not only to his present life but to his success in the future.

A plan is worked out between the student and myself in which he learns to organize and study his courses more efficiently.

He agrees to make a concerted effort to build up a background of knowledge in each of his school subjects.

I assure him that as he learns more about any subject, the less effort it will take to study it.

DISCUSS IDEA

We discuss the idea that his parents can be of real assistance to him in this endeavor through regulation, encouragement and occasional reminders.

I show a continuing interest in the details of his progress toward becoming an interested student.

Although the teachers have not been apprised of the program nor asked to cooperate, they are quick to lend encouragement.

In most every case, the boy or girl has reported to me within the first week or ten days that some teacher has noticed, and has been pleased with, his change of attitude.

U.S. Reported Eyeing Hike in N. Viet Raids

TOKYO (AP) — William P. Bundy, U.S. assistant undersecretary of state for Far Eastern affairs, was reported today to have told Japanese government officials the United States may intensify its bombing of North Viet Nam.

Government sources said chief Cabinet secretary Aichi Kichiro quoted Bundy as saying that after a meeting with the American diplomat.

According to Aichi, Bundy said an intensification would depend on North Viet Nam's future actions.

Mississippi's Eastland Facing First GOP Threat

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Sen. James O. Eastland, the strong man of Mississippi politics for nearly a quarter century, faces the first real Republican threat of his career in Tuesday's election.

Eastland, chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee and a leader of segregation forces in Washington, is opposed for a fifth term by Rep. Prentice Walker, the state's first GOP congressman since Reconstruction days.

Walker has campaigned from the Gulf Coast to the Tennessee border with this billboard message: "Defeat LBJ the Walker Way."

President Johnson's civil rights stance and his Great Society domestic program are hotly controversial in Mississippi. Walker concentrates on trying to show that Eastland is not sufficiently anti-LBJ.

OEO Staff Will Shuttle Voters

Staff members of the county War on Poverty will provide transportation for Pontiac area voters who need a ride to the polls Tuesday.

The cars of some 20 workers at the North Oakland Opportunity Center in Pontiac will be in use on election day for the benefit of those people in the target poverty areas with no means of transportation.

Florida Race Spells Upheaval

By BEN FUNK

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Florida voters will elect a new governor Tuesday and no matter who wins the result will be an upheaval in the statehouse.

If Democrat Robert A. King High, red-haired, 5-foot-6 inch mayor of Miami is elected, he will be the first man ever to go from southeast Florida's "Gold Coast" to the state's highest office.

A victory for High would be the final stroke in an urban revolution that has snatched power from rural forces. He would, since Ossian Bingley Hart won reappointment to bring representation close to the one man-one vote principle.

If Claude Kirk, an investment banker, wins, he will be the first Republican governor of Florida since 1872.

Since the day of the carpet-bagger, Democratic nominees have coasted into the governorship, but this year the Republicans say they have a fighting chance.

Teenagers' Difficulties Create 'Thought Pains'

By PATRICIA MCCORMACK
NEW YORK (UPI)—Contemporary teen-agers worry about the communication gap between themselves and adults.

But even more so, according to a survey by United Press International, they sprout "thinking pains" over the search for moral standards.

The teen-agers asked to describe "the biggest problem facing teen-agers today" are participants in the Miss Teen-America Pageant in Dallas.

The greatest number of teen-agers participating in the survey indicated confusion over the differences between "right" and "wrong."

And those with set ideas about moral standards indicated there are difficulties "living up to one's high standards."

One of these, Diana J. Dalton, of Dearborn, Mich., said she thought standing up to set morals is the biggest difficulty today. Why?

"In the world of today, sex has greatly emerged from its cover of shame and secrecy. This relative freedom, however, brings its problems concerning 'personal acceptance' to a member of the opposite sex."

SUGGESTS SOLUTION

She suggested that the problem could be solved by girls who refused to act loose and cheap. She also said it would help if boys stuck to a rigid, moral pattern.

Linda Kirts, of Odessa, Mo., said the number of unwed mothers and general immorality of teens prompted her to say that sex is the biggest problem facing adolescents.

C. Lynn Shepherd, of Memphis, Tenn., was one citing the constant confusion between the right and wrong of a situation as the biggest teen-age problem.

BLAMES PARENTS

She said parents are to blame because "they do not prepare their children for this time so they will be able to recognize what is right."

"Parents should give their kids gradual responsibilities so that when the period of life comes when they must decide they will at least be familiar with the problems," she suggested.

The shift in moral patterns, according to Susan A. Thomas, of New Orleans, La., is "a grand leap backwards."

"I feel quite strongly that the youth of America would learn and progress much more rapidly if they would develop harmony within the family where the lack of solidity is so shockingly prevalent and would develop understanding for friends and acquaintances," she said.

Parents, and older persons influencing teen-agers bear the responsibility for teen-age confusion over moral values, according to Joanne Green, of Augusta, Ga.

It's Proper to Wear on Right Hand

By ELIZABETH L. POST
The following letter from Mrs. John Hayes of Pittsburgh, Pa., has been chosen as the prize-winning one for this week. A copy of "Emily Post's Etiquette" has been sent to her.

Dear Mrs. Post: I wear a wide, gold wedding ring on my left hand. I was never officially engaged, but I do wear a diamond ring which belonged to my grandmother, on my right hand.

Before I was married, it was suggested that I have the diamond reset and wear it as my engagement ring, but I particularly like this setting and do not want to change it.

I wonder if wearing the two rings together would be correct, or if wearing the diamond on my right hand is incorrect?

Dear Mrs. Hayes: Traditionally, the only rings worn on the third finger of your left hand are those given you by your fiancé or husband.

The exception is a guard ring, usually a narrow band of tiny stones or "chips" which is worn outside the more valuable engagement ring as protection, and which is often inherited or given to a bride by a parent or grandparent.

Since your diamond ring is a family heirloom, not given to you by your husband, you are quite correct in wearing it as you do, on your right hand.

If you like it as it is, do not have it reset. Some day your husband may be able to give you another ring, which may then be worn on the same finger as your wedding ring.

Summer, Winter Weavers' Theme

The Detroit Handweavers and Spinners will meet on Friday at the International Institute in Detroit at 11:00 a.m.

Members of the evening group will present a program on "Summer and Winter" a well-known pattern among weavers. It will include an exhibit and open discussion on this technique.

Reservations for guests may be made with Mrs. Clifford Alger, Lake Orion.

Four members of the committee planning a nursing conference on aging, "Add Life to Years," to be held Nov. 16 at Oakland University prepare to take posters to area hospitals, nursing homes and schools of nursing. From left they are Mrs. Beatrice Schenansky, president of Oakland County District Licensed Practical Nurses Association; Nancy Newman, Oakland County Tuberculosis Sanatorium (both of Pontiac) and Mary Walker of Lathrup Village, associate director of Pontiac Unit Mercy School of Nursing, and Jean Conger of Pontiac, representing Oakland District Nurses Association.

If You Wish to Remain Lucky, Keep Kids Far From Granny

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: This is my second marriage. I was a divorcee with four small children, but this time I got the best man who ever walked in shoe leather.

I am 22 and my husband is 21, and his mother doesn't like me. She says her son isn't ready for so much responsibility. She told me to my face that she doesn't like small children, especially mine because they are not HER grandchildren.

She said if I ever had her son's children THEY will be her grandchildren. And she doesn't want my kids calling her "grandma."

I don't want to come between my husband and his mother, but I don't want my children hurt either. What should I do?

DEAR NEW: Stay out of her way. And do your children a favor and keep THEM out of her way, too. If you don't want to come between your husband and his mother, don't expect him to run interference for you.

A 22-year-old divorcee with four small children is lucky to get the "best man who ever walked in shoe leather." But you can't have everything. And your handicap is a mother-in-law who sounds like she could hunt bear with a switch.

DEAR ABBY: Married women are expected to wear wedding rings. I think all married men should wear something to indicate that THEY are married.

DEAR WILMA: Isn't a five-year-old suit and a worried look sufficient?

DEAR ABBY: I have a close friend who has a 19-year-old daughter who is sweet, wholesome and respectful. She has always entertained her friends at home and has abided by her parents' wishes. But the problem Abby is, no matter which boy the girl brings home, her father ignores him completely. In fact, he ignored them so completely, they all feel unwelcome in the home.

Lt. D. Salazar Is Speaker

Mrs. Harry Pearce opened her Sylvan Lake home to members of the General Richardson chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution on Thursday.

Lt. Daniel Salazar spoke concerning "The Marine Corps in National Defense."

Mrs. E. M. Peterson, ways and means chairman, announced plans for an auction at the December meeting.

Assisting the hostess were Margaret Steward and Mesdames Frank E. Allen, W. K. Deyo, Harvey Bidstrup, C. N. Ball, H. K. Hanson, Don E. Newman and Kenneth Newell.

Her mother is at a loss. In fact she's become a nervous wreck due to his actions. This father claims he loves his daughter and would like to see her settled with a nice young man, so he can't be jealous and trying to run them off for fear of losing her.

He is friendly and fun-loving with all her girlfriends, but when a boy calls, he acts like he is made of stone. Can you figure this out and offer some advice? A FRIEND

DEAR FRIEND: What father says and how father feels may be two different things. Some fathers don't "trust" any male who shows an interest in their daughters. Others are simply ill-at-ease with a young man of another generation. Ask your friend to get her husband to talk about his feelings with regard to his daughter and her boyfriends. Sometimes the truth reveals itself when the problem is discussed openly.

CONFIDENTIAL TO MRS. K.: A lady should never tell an off color joke. The laugh she gets is temporary — and doesn't compensate for the loss of dignity — which is permanent.

How has the world been treating you? Unload your problems on Dear Abby, care of The Pontiac Press.

For a personal, unpublished reply, inclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send $1.00 to Abby, care of The Pontiac Press.

Journalist Will Be Guest

"Trouble Spots in Focus" is the topic Dutch journalist Willem Oltmans will discuss before Birmingham Town Hall Thursday and Friday. The programs at 11 a.m. will take place in the Birmingham Theatre with a celebrity luncheon following both days at the Bloomfield Open Hunt Club. Only season ticket holders may attend.

Willem Oltmans is a well-traveled newsmen whose job it is to report on the hot-spots of the world. Via his Dutch passport, he is able to visit areas normally out of bounds to American reporters. He has visited Cuba six times since Castro assumed power. He had been in Asia, Africa, the Near East, India, Indonesia, Malaysia and South-east Asia.

Family affiliations and his own activities as a Dutch journalist in Jakarta enabled him to know many political and business leaders in Southeast Asia personally.

This fall Oltmans was again posted in Jakarta as correspondent for the largest television channel in the Netherlands to report the trial of Dr. Soebandjo, Sukarno's ex-Foreign Minister. He will be visiting Thailand in the near future.

Area Women to Participate in Art Auction

Four area women are assisting with the mid-November auction and sale sponsored by the Archives of American Art in the Detroit Institute of Arts.

Mrs. Robert G. VanderKloot is one of the general chairmen. Mrs. Roy A. Fruehauf, Mrs. John Q. Quinn and Mrs. Lowell Parker are committee members.

The work of the Archives consists of collecting, cataloguing, microfilming, tape-recording and indexing biographical historical and anecdotal material worthy of preservation. National headquarters of the non-profit organization are in the Institute.

A cocktail preview will be from 5:30 to 8:00 p.m. Monday in the Institute's Kresge Court. Auction articles may be seen Wednesday to Sunday from 9:00 a.m. to 5 p.m. in Gallery 40. Many valuable items will be auctioned at 8:00 p.m. Nov. 15 in the large auditorium. The sale hours are from 9:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m., Nov. 18 and 19 in Galleries 40 and 41.

Hairdo How-To: 18

Give Nature a Boost

By DOROTHEA ZACK HANLE
Editor, HairDo Magazine

No matter what your mirror may tell you—there's no such thing as "gray" hair.
It's scientific fact: The hair on your head that gives the illusion of gray is actually white.

The color of your hair depends on the composition of your hair strands—specifically, the second layer of each hair shaft.

There, many thousands of pigment granules are arranged in a unique pattern.
At some point in your life—as early as your teens or as late as your eighties—a change begins, principally dependent on heredity. Pigment production starts to diminish—not sections of hair but strand by strand. The result: not gray, but absence of color—white.

As these white strands appear among colored ones, the shades are optically "mixed" by your eye and appear as "gray."

SALT AND PEPPER
When the first strands appear, if you're a dark brunette, your hair color may be termed "salt-and-pepper."
Later, as the percentage of white or unpigmented hair increases, the color may be called "steel." Next stages:
from silvery to pure platinum
white.

Brunettes, as a rule, grow gray most gracefully because of the striking contrast of light and dark. Blondes and light brownettes have the biggest problem because the effect can be mossy, drab, often yellowish. Redheads tend to look as if they're fading gradually.

"When your hair has turned to silver," as the song goes, it can do just that today and be the most glorious crowning glory of your life. But it's up to you.

You'll need a whole new outlook on hair care, on the clothes you wear, on your make-up and your accessories.
To be elegantly, beautifully gray or snow white does not take a great deal of money.
It does, however, take intelligence, taste, and some know-how.

You and your hairdresser will decide when and how you should "go gray" or white.
If you are in the fortunate first category of very dark brunette, you may let nature take its course, depending on conditioners and rinses for highlights only to keep your hair healthy, glossy, and beautiful.

BLONDES

If you are a pale blonde, your strands of white will tend to make your hair look still lighter. Again, until more than 50 per cent of your hair has turned, you will follow the care program of the dark brunette. After that, your hair-dresser will probably advise temporary coloring to retain your blonde shade until all the hair is white.

Brownettes and light brunettes as well as dark blondes and redheads may follow the light blonde's way or may subscribe to permanent coloring to cover the gradually increasing "gray" strands.

Once your hair is clearly and definitely "gray," then comes the exciting fun of trying the many rinses, shampoo tins and special-effect tones specifically designed for gray or white hair. Newest are the highlighting, conditioner-fortified shades of gray ranging from steel, smoke, slate and many other dark tones to pearl, platinum and silver.
Some are temporary, some semipermanent.

Like the fine finish on beautiful silver, these special-for-gray shades buff and polish your hair, giving it an incredible play of light and shadow.

Yellow discoloration in gray or white hair is a thing of the past, for the new products take care of that in an instant.

One reason for letting hair go completely white is a new kind of flattery. Silvery strands framing the paling skin tones of later years have a most complimentary softening effect. There are exciting new things you can do with your new shade of hair. Stunning hairdos are being designed just for the snowy and silvery heads.

Your coil may be a brief, pert one, or a dramatic up-sweep for long or short hair.
There are special permanents for you, too, to add body if the hair is thinning or to make wide, curving waves—without tightness or frizz.

DRYNESS

One hair-care hint: As your hair grows whiter, it may tend to dryness, seem coarser in texture. To keep your tresses in shining shape, plan a cream rinse after each shampoo; protect your head from extreme heat (and sun) or cold;
and brush, brush, brush!

Hairstyles for the mature woman with gray hair should be selected on the same basis as for any other age. But with these exceptions: avoid severe, straight-line coifs that tend to accentuate age; choose softline, face-framing styles that are feminine and romantic looking.

Harmony Marks First Half of U.N. Session

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The U.N. General Assembly passed the halfway mark today of a session notable for its rare atmosphere of East-West harmony.

The Soviet Union, apparently anxious to avoid any hitch that might hold up the signing of treaties on halting the spread of nuclear weapons and the peaceful use of outer space, has been restrained in its approach to all issues.

Even the annual debate on disarmament, usually the springboard for a Soviet tirade against the United States, generated little heat. In his opening speech on the arms question, Soviet Ambassador Nikolai T. Fedorenko devoted only a paragraph to Viet Nam and this appeared to be a token gesture.

At one point in the debate, William C. Foster, U.S. chief arms negotiator, took a swipe at the Soviet bloc for accusing West Germany of seeking to acquire a nuclear arsenal.

Delegates braced themselves for a Red counterblast but when Fedorenko took the floor he merely urged quick conclusion of a nonproliferation treaty.

Evidence Report Is Awaited

MENOMONEE FALLS, Wis. (UPI) — Authorities waited today for a report on two cartons of possible evidence, still unsure if a single "thrill slayer" was responsible for the stabbing deaths of two girls within the last three weeks.

She had been stabbed more than 56 times, according to Milwaukee County Medical Examiner Dr. Helen Young.

Dr. Young said she believed Miss Olkowitz and Miss Sherry Thompson, an 18-year-old Milwaukee waitress whose body was found stabbed 22 times in a churchyard Oct. 17, were killed by the same man. Both girls were stabbed many times with a short, narrow blade, Dr. Young said.

Roger Murphy, Waukesha County district attorney, said he didn't think the same person was responsible because Miss Olkowitz' slayer, who attacked her in a shipping room of the factory, seemed to know the layout of the place and was aware that she was alone in the building.

19th District
Billie S. Farnum, a former State auditor general, is the incumbent in this suburban district of west Oakland County and northwest Wayne County. He's been challenged by Redford Township's Jack H. McDonald.

In Congress, Farnum was given two key committee assignments — appropriations and taxation. He has a reputation for wielding a sharp pencil over inflated ledger sheets. But his voting record shows he has then urged more spending and compiled one of the state's most party-line voting records.

McDonald is former chairman of the Wayne County Board of Supervisors, a task he performed with imagination and independence. He is articulate, familiar with government and would bring a competent voice of dissent to a Congress which needs such voices. He get our vote.

Growling at the Watchdog

BY JUDD ARNETT
NOTES & COMMENTS . .

Early in the Congressional career of the Hon. Billie S. Farnum, this being in January of 1965, there was an announcement from his office to the effect that he had decided to become "the watchdog of the tax dollar."

Mr. Farnum had just then been accepted into the House of Representatives from the 19th District, which includes Pontiac, Livonia, Redford, Farmington and environs, and he had been honored by appointment to the Appropriations Committee, a rather signal distinction for a freshman Congressman.

HOWEVER, his background had been finance - State Auditor General and nine years of service to the Michigan Committee on Economy and Efficiency in Government - so his appointment to appropriations made sense. And so, to this column, did his declaration in favor of economy, for several reasons including the following:

"... There could be a notable career in the House for a Northern Democrat dedicated to the proposition of getting a dollar's worth of value out of a dollar's worth of tax money. The liberals have much to learn about the judicious use of resources. A teacher in their midst would be worth his weight in platinum. If this is what Billie Farnum has in mind, many blessings will go with him. We shall see. . . ."

WELL, now we have seen The National Associated Businessmen, Inc., which keeps an "economy chart" on the actions of congressmen, reports that Mr. Fairman scored a big, fat zero during the second half of the session just ended.

He was, in fact, the only Michigan representative who did not once vote against an administration bill. He really and truly went "all of the way with LBJ," the most expensive ride in the history of organized government.

The 19th District is one of about 40 where there is the possibility of "swing" at the upcoming election, and the White House has been worried about what might happen to its faithful "watchdog of the tax dollar," Billie Farnum. It has been trying to help out . . .

That was why in recent weeks there has been the announcement of a new $800,000 federal building for Pontiac; a grant to Oakland University; a grant to the Office of Economic Opportunity for Oakland County; approval of an extension to the Farmington post office; a grant to Madonna College in Livonia; and assorted other goodies of smaller but still significant nature. Some of these tax dollars that Mr. Farnum has been watchdogging are now coming back to roost.

THE OPPOSITION candidate in the 19th is an extremely able young man, Jack H. McDonald, who has just completed a term as chairman of the Wayne County Board of Supervisors.

Now just 33, Mr. McDonald has spent the past five years in local government, specifically as supervisor of Redford Township. He is McDonald's Positive Approach to Critical Problems Says "YES" . . .

I firmly believe that the major issues at stake in the 19th District Congressional race are: Inflation and the rising cost of living, Viet Nam and . . . true representation of the people in the halls of Congress. Let me take the issues one at a time: First—inflation—the cost of living is currently rising at its fastest rate in history . . . food prices in the Detroit metropolitan area are up 14% since the Democrats took office in 1960. The LBJ answer is to wait until after the election before asking for a tax increase. Meanwhile he ignores the plight of housewives, concerned over rising prices on milk, bread, vegetables and fruit and meat products. The President suggests housewives buy cheaper products and try to hold their spending . . . it's the same for business and industry . . . keep the old machinery, don't raise product prices . . . it's hold the economic line on every front . . . except in Washington, where it's government by giveaway, as usual. I believe the National Economy cannot stand the LBJ programs, or the rubber stamp Congressman in the 19th District who goes along with his fellow big spenders without even a whisper of protest. HIS OWN OPINION POLL definitely shows in several cases, the people in the District want reform and cutbacks . . . they don't want a swelling federal payroll . . . A swelling National Debt and swelling inflation that forces prices up . . . interest down and loan rates up. I advocate a general over-all cutback in Government spending until the Viet Nam War is brought to a successful conclusion. The current Washington policy, of "Promise Everybody, Everything, All the Time" has got to stop now.

On Viet Nam, let me say that this war must not, as Secretary of Defense McNamara has said it may, last another 10 or 15 years. It must be brought to a Halt. We are currently losing 150 American soldiers a week in Viet Nam. Our expenses on the war are 2 billion dollars a month, with 97% of the money going into the war effort and only 3% into rebuilding the social, economic and political foundations of a nation that one day, will have to stand on its own two feet. The basic fact is that it takes $53,000 American dollars to kill a single Viet Cong. And it's a war that seems to lack a policy leading to an eventual end. Families now are being broken up as more and more young men leave for Viet Nam. We already have more troops there now than we ever did in Korea, and it will be a half a million before long. Our own troops outnumber our South Vietnamese allies . . . and does anybody doubt the fact that it's now our war. Let's have a national policy toward Viet Nam and the war that the people can understand and let's not wait until the young boys now in junior high school are over there logging a machine gun in the swamps.

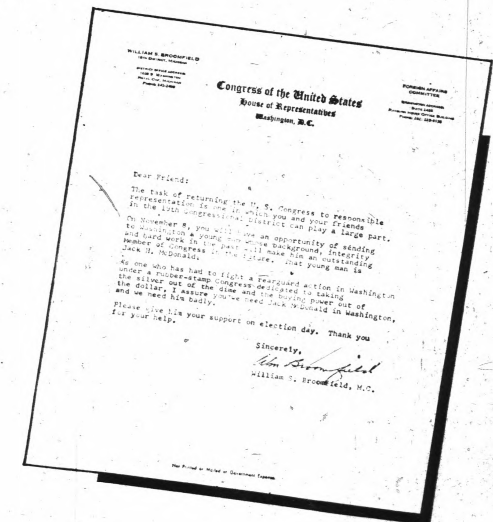

And finally on the representation of the people of the 19th Congressional District, let me say there is none. The Incumbent Congressman has ignored his own opinion poll, taken earlier this year. People said in that poll they didn't like the administration's economic waste in the Anti-Poverty program, yet my opponent, through his seat on the Appropriations Committee, which deals with every bit of fiscal legislation, has shown the people he deserves the label, "Big Spender" because that's what he is. The 89th Congress, with no longer any sizeable Republican opposition, has voted even more money than LBJ asked for on many occasions, and yet LBJ is called "The Biggest Spending President of All Time" by the press. I contend that this District, right now, has no voice in matters before the Congress. The District has an automatic "rubber stamp" vote on everything LBJ sends down from the White House. I think this is wrong . . . People want more than that from a Congressman, that's why I'm running . . . I believe it's time to return to a Government "of the people" and if I am elected, the will of the people of the 19th District will decide how my vote is cast. So I am applying for the job as Congressman . . . And I ask the people in the 19th to put me to work . . . acting for you.

Oil Paintings Above Chair Grouping In Living Room Done By Mrs. Johnson's Mother, Mrs. Eldon Everts

Dark Oak Paneling, Stair Rail, Reveal Mediterranean Influence

Ranch Home Of The Aben Johnsons' In Lakeland Estates Subdivision Built By Ward Ross Of Pontiac

By JODY HEADLEE
Home Editor, The Pontiac Press

The dark-stained "Bonanza" ranch of the Aben Johnson family on Shoreline Drive, Waterford Township, is furnished in comfortable elegance.

Under the guiding hand of former Pontiac resident and decorator, Douglas Sands, the interior captures the rich tones of the Mediterranean-influenced southwest.

Persimmon carpeting flows from the impressive dark paneled entrance hall into the formal living area at the back of the house.

Highlighting the off-white walls and ceiling are dark beams not unlike those found in Spanish haciendas.

Throw pillows in shades of green emphasize the green in the crewel print of the sectional sofa. Other autumn shades in the warm fabric include gold, brown, persimmon and muted persimmon.

Completing the conversation grouping are a pair of fruitwood framed chairs in avocado green and three fruitwood cigarette tables shaped hexagonally.

To light the arrangement, the Johnsons chose a fruitwood and wrought-iron floor lamp and a wood and wrought-iron table lamp for the dark oak library table backing the sectional.

On the sidewall, the chair grouping introduces texture changes in fabrics of iridescent persimmon and avocado and a muted persimmon, gold and black.

Sliding glass doors, draped in an off-white loosely woven linen, open onto a deck overlooking Eagle Lake.

Heirloom oriental rugs are used on the dark ranch plank flooring of the nearby dining room.

Above the grape arrangement in the black compote on the buffet hangs a still-life painting of silver framed in an antique gold.

Electric candle sconces of brass on dark oak flank the oil.

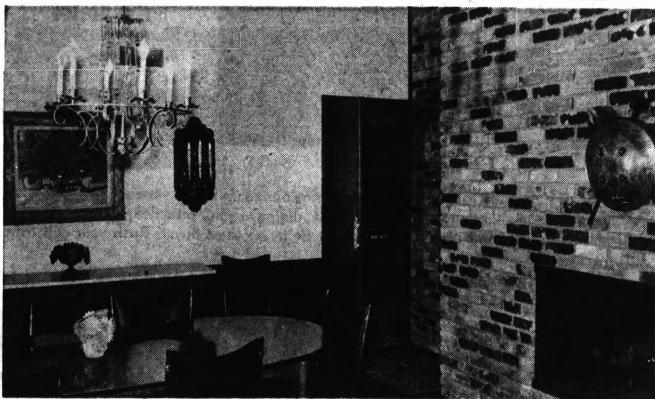

"When we designed our home," said Mrs. Johnson, "the uppermost thought was that each room must be livable. We have breakfast every morning in our dining room before each of us takes off on our own."

The Johnsons have four children, Don and Doug, 13, Susie, 11, and Marty, 10.

New Flooring Is Introduced

Armstrong Cork Company has introduced the fourth in a series of .090" gauge, inlaid vinyl sheet floorings suitable for installation by the revolutionary Armstrong Perimiflor System.

The new Vinyl Corlon entry, called "Seranada," joins Armstrong's earlier Tessera, Montana and Coronnelle floors as an approved Perimiflor material. This means it can be installed directly over a firmly bonded resilient floor without tearing up the old flooring material.

The result, according to the manufacturer, is faster, more economical flooring replacement in older homes and apartment buildings, as well as offices, stores, schools and other non-residential remodeling situations. Seranada may also be Perimiflor-installed in new construction.

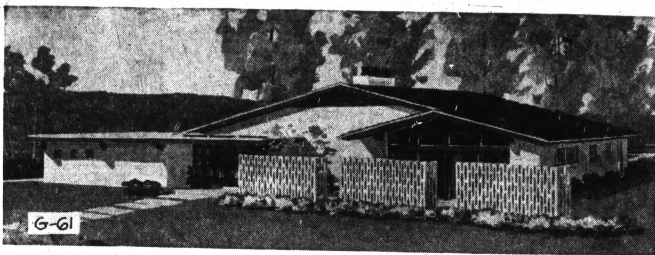

Manufactured in sheet form, Seranada Vinyl Corlon is equipped with a moistureproof Hydrocord backing that permits installation at any grade level, including basement subfloors.

The solid vinyl, inlaid, wearing surface consists of a non-directional arrangement of translucent, ivory-like chips, delicately accented with muted tones of color. The material comes in a choice of white, olive, beige, white with yellow and orange accents, and a multi-color.

Drip-Dry Bar for Showers

Made for women who like to let clothing dry in the shower is a drip-dry bar that hangs between the shower rod and the wall.

The rod is adjustable to fit spans from 25 to 31 inches. It is finished in nickel-chrome metal with white rubber tips.

SPANISH MODERN: The best features of old Spanish architecture have been incorporated into this three-bedroom, one-story house, but the architect has given the interior all the design assets that contribute to good living in this age.

Old Spanish Home With Modern Twist

The Spanish missions of the formed, in one way or another and to the necessity of a certain old American Southwest and to the climatic conditions in areas amount of architectural blenders of the many variations and California — to financial munitions.

In recent years, there has been a definite new wave of popularity for Spanish-styled residences, along with a parallel preference for Spanish furniture and decor.

This latest House of the Week takes the Spanish influence and detail and combines it with the best in modern living.

Typical of the architectural style which we are discussing are the double gable roof with cantilever; the flat, exposed beams and projected ends; the double front entrance doors; small square windows; chimney pots; and stucco exterior.

Comfortable living in this day and age is taken care of by architect Rudolph A. Matern with such things as a fine circulation pattern, often ignored in past eras; excellent service entrance facilities, including a two-car garage for modern appliances; and a floor plan with large open areas, such as the in-line design of the foyer, living room and dining room.

An especially interesting feature of this house is the front patio, which extends 32' 6" in front of the living room and dining room and is accessible from each through sliding glass doors.

An unusual and eye-appealing privacy screen is created with the use of decorative concrete blocks.

These blocks have openings large enough to permit the free passage of air without destroying their privacy asset. The patio also can be entered from the front porch through two wrought iron gates.

The porch itself is covered by an extension of the flat roof of the garage.

This same roof covers the front portion of the inside foyer, in which are set three plastic sky domes for overhead, natural lighting in the day and a view of the sky and stars at night.

Antiquing Gives a 'New Look'

Antiquing with the new short-cut kits is an easy way to make old furniture look like new or give a new piece of furniture the charming appearance of age.

The National Paint, Varnish and Lacquer Association reminds you, however, that if undercoating or color tints are to be applied with a spray-gun, the coating must first be thinned to insure an even flow of paint.

G-61 STATISTICS

Design G-61 has a large foyer, living room, dining room, family room, kitchen, mud room-laundry, three bedrooms, two bathrooms and a lavatory, as well as a front patio, a rear porch, a pool area and a two-car garage. There are 2060 square feet of habitable area, excluding the garage, the porch and patio. Over-all dimensions are 73' by 61' 8".

The foyer is a room-sized 14' by 13'. Along with the adjacent living room and dining room, there is a vista of more than 46'.

TWO FIREPLACES

Both the living room and the family room have log-burning fireplaces utilizing the same chimney.

The housewife who likes plenty of wall space for the arrangement of furniture will have a field day with this living room.

The kitchen and family room also fall into the open-plan category, with a low service-cabinet counter acting as a divider.

Sliding glass doors in the family room provide one of four access to the outdoors.

The L-shape of the plan at the rear of the house forms a perfect set-up for the location of a pool just beyond the rear porch.

If a pool is not desired, the area can be used for a spacious patio or garden, or both.

Service entrance facilities, as previously mentioned, are excellent.

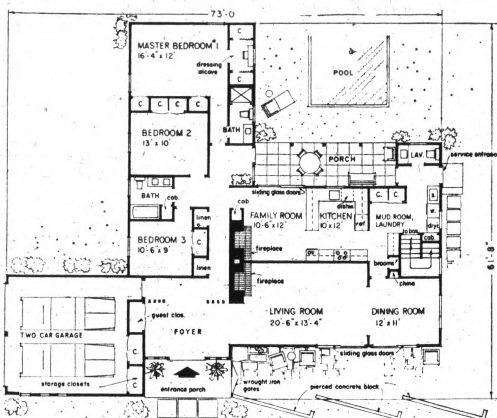

MUD ROOM

There is a large mud and laundry room, closets, cabinets, a lavatory and direct entrance to the basement.

There's a private dressing room, with dual closets and a vanity, in the master bedroom, as well as a private bath with a stall shower.

A second bath is between the two other bedrooms. Each of the three bedrooms can be reached from either the front or rear of the house without going through any other room.

A good mixture of the old and the new in Design G-61.

FLOOR PLANS: Practical traffic pattern permits movement from the oversized foyer directly to the living room-dining area, the family room-kitchen combination or the bedroom wing. Circulation layout is further enhanced by the multiplicity of entrances to house.

Wood Floor Cuts Heating Costs

Heating studies conducted on two test structures, one of conventional wood frame design with wood joist floors and the other of masonry construction over a concrete slab, showed that the wood flooring required less fuel for heating.

Average monthly fuel saving during the heating period from October through May was 26.2 per cent.

Book Just in Time-- Aids Handy Woman

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

A book called "The Awful Handy Woman's Book" by George Daniels is just in time for who else? That "awful handy woman."

Few men will acknowledge HOW awful they are in this area. But women don't mind a bit.

For example, the first chapter of the book, "Tools you need and how to use them," is ripe for a woman's question box.

There's a tip that the kitchen ice pick is ideal for getting a screw started in wood. The first thing a woman will ask is what's an ice pick?

Going on from there, a description of a hammer advises that a curved claw nail hammer should be one of the first tools bought by a handy man.

WOMEN WISE.
Women know more about claws than men so that part may be skipped.

There is more about hammers, sizes and uses, boiling down to a wardrobe of hammers. This a woman can dig the coordinated tool box book.

There are down to earth tips such as how to drive and pull a nail and about pliers and screwdrivers.

Tips on saws and sawing wood will come in handy for women who've been waiting for years to have a small shelf put up in the kitchen. A piece of lumber and the book can put her in business.

There's a thing called the hacksaw too, she'll learn. It will even cut curtain rods to length, says the author.

And — "if you happen to cut something too short, don't burst into tears." Your husband? Most men would throw the $3 board away and start over again another year with another board.

When he's got it up to $15, he'll probably suggest to you someone to do it. On the house money. But — a thrifty housewife can profit from this tip: "you can always fill in the gap."

(of the too short board) with a sliver of wood and some glue. Another chapter with definite woman-appeal is Plumbing — where "troubles won't wait." That's what the author thinks — There are women who've waited years to have a dripping faucet repaired. Here's their chance.

"The dripping faucet can turn up anytime," says the author. But you'll probably notice it first in the wee, silent hours of the night as you toss to the blip-blip-blip . . .

The author's advice: "when you can't kill it, silence it." You can do this, she says, by dousing a washcloth in water and wrapping its upper end around the faucet.

"Twist the rest of the cloth in a spiral drape downward to the bottom of the basin, tub or sink. And let it rest to one side of the drain . . ."

You haven't cured the problem, but you've muffled it, so go back to sleep, she says.

Great? But has the author ever seen a house of muffled "meanwhiles" little faucets bunched up everywhere . . . for months.

TAKE OVER
But at long last women can take over. The book explains how to replace the faucet washer that caused the trouble. It begins with a plain old monkey wrench that helps you take the faucet apart. (This is one plumber's love.) The illustration in the book shows how to do it.

Other areas that will appeal to women include what to do when a drain is clogged and when to call a plumber.

And a chapter on rugs, upholstery and floor covering that tells how to cope with Junior and Fido's floor messes, and how to remove bubble gum from them.

There's a chapter you can fix electrical things and live. (Good to know) and how to fix appliances without wrecking them.

Another eyecatcher is how to fix your car without knowing how. No, you don't take it apart as you did the faucet.

CONVENIENT OFFICE — Corner in laundry room. Kitchen, back hall could yield space for this handy planning center. Everything hangs on wall, phone, cookbook shelves, triangular desk top with pencil-puller drawer. Ponderosa pine wall paneling dresses up tiny nook.

By the end of 1965, about 10 per cent of all homes in the steel country had color television sets.

JACK McDONALD WILL BE A GOOD CONGRESSMAN

by Stan Marsh

The purpose of this advertisement is simple and direct. I want you to read it through and consider the recreational benefits at Lake Miramichi. Having done so, I would like to help you solve your year-round vacation problem with an offering of exclusive membership privileges to my family room. Certainly, all of this will be at a price, and on terms that you can easily afford.

If you like to fish, I mean, really like to catch the big ones, think about fishing all day long a couple of days a week, then you're the person I would like to take spinning or casting at Lake Miramichi, near Evart, Michigan.

Here is the answer to the angler's dream. Never a waterfowl any day, any season of the year. (Ice houses are available in the dead of winter.) Lake Miramichi is a 205-acre lake up to Street level, deep, clear and cool and blue. Even after a rain the lake is never cloudy because it's located in sandy Osceola and Mecosta counties at the beginning of Michigan's famed North Country.

Lake Miramichi is really a combination of three natural lakes formerly called "Upper Big Stone." Several years ago a dam was constructed to raise the water level some fifteen feet. Today, the lake is a scenic wonder with small islets covered with white birch, maple and oak. The entire area is a beautiful sight.

Unlike many Michigan lakes, Lake Miramichi has no substandard cabins or "chic sales" to mar the landscape. And, while many surrounding lakes are marshy along the shoreline, this isn't the case at Lake Miramichi. By raising the water level, all building sites on the waterfront are firm dry land.

As a guide for the Lake Miramichi Property Owner's Association, it is my pleasure to work with people like you. It could be said that I play to make my money. You see, it's really not work because I enjoy earning my livelihood this way.

Why do you need a guide like Lake Miramichi? You don't. Anyone can catch a limit of fish, anytime. But, I can take you to the "hot spots" in a straight line. No wasted time. And, believe me, even if you're a good fisherman, I can show you a few (my own inventions) that will help you land pile just a little bit quicker.

Besides, I like the companionship of groupings and children. It's exciting to see a youngster catch his first fish. Just recently, I baited 400 worms for cane pole fishermen on a Sunday afternoon. They caught bluegill from the bank and then they started pulling them in.

Ever stop to think when the last time was that you took your son fishing? I might remind you that there can be no greater thrill than to stand aside and watch a boy catch a fish. That exciting moment will certainly turn the clock back a few years; you'll feel like a kid again, yourself.

Now, what about the developer of Lake Miramichi? You'll need to know. Here is your assurance of the finest facility ever offered, with a truly blue chip company backing it up. American Realty Service Corporation, the nation's leader in lake development, is the parent company of Lake Miramichi. Over twenty years in the specialized business, our fifty successful lake subdivisions (six of them in Ohio during the last three years) in twenty-eight states make this triple-A rated company the undisputed leader in its field. However, both business and personal references are available throughout the nation. We invite your inquiry in this respect.

Red, back to the headline "For Recreation or Retirement." For many years we have read about people who save for a red letter day of retirement. When it arrives they can hardly wait until they can leave their jobs to go to a retirement community where they can reap the benefits of the many years of labor and planning.

Many of these folk are disillusioned because they end up away from the people and places they love. They grow lonely. The climate is different. They miss the sound of their own laughter and talking . . . in a colony of old adults. In short, they learn in bitter disappointment that "home is where the heart is." They long to return, but it's too late.

That is why American Realty Service Corporation develops lake subdivisions within easy driving distance of the big cities. They create a recreation and retirement community where the growing family can play together during the middle years as they build themselves a retirement hideaway.

It makes sense. As the children have families of their own, Mom and Dad are still close-at-hand.

But, really, the appeal for people of retirement age is only a small part of community life at Lake Miramichi. For the most part, vacation residents are active, energetic people who like to fish, hunt, swim, eat and relax in no certain order. In fact, they are non-conformists in the true sense of the word. They work or play or relax wherever they feel like. They enjoy the new-found spirit of freedom.

To say that Lake Miramichi is different and exciting is to comment conservatively on the opportunity awaiting you here. As official hunting and fishing guide for the resort, I am presently planning hunts for coon, fox, deer and bear, as well as upland game. For property owners, this service is included in their membership. No extra hidden costs, we just go out and have fun together. Of course, I'm available any time for a fishing trip out on the lake. Truly, you'll agree, there's nothing like owning property and holding an exclusive lifetime membership that will become the most prized item in your estate.

And, what does it all cost? A fortune? Not at all. For a small monthly investment of $29 you can provide years of happy, care-free hours for all the family. Our cottage sites with full membership privileges begin at $1495. These are full-size lots, permanently staked and conveyed to you by warranty deed. The down payment can be as little as $85, with full five-year bank financing.

A quick look at the features offered at Lake Miramichi is convincing. All roadways are finished for year-round traffic and custom-graded for good drainage. There's an 800-foot beach piled deep with native sand which extends far into the deep water area. Located on the beach is an enclosed kiddie play ground with swings and slides. Even a merry-go-round where the little ones can pass the time in safety. You might say that this is a built-in baby sitter for Mom.

Another feature is a boat marina and launching ramp with repair service and supplies. This is the only place that boats can be launched. It keeps folks from trailing boats all over the area with the accompanying noise. However, permanent mooring docks are located every 1200 feet around the lake for the convenience of members. There are no docking charges, ever. For your further enjoyment there are picnic groves in picturesque wooded areas with brick fireplaces and family size picnic tables. Here is the perfect spot for entertaining guests or even a special group for special occasions. There's even a picnic island located offshore from the beach where you can motor over after a day of fishing.

Most important is the municipal-type central water system now being installed that will save you the cost of a private well and maintenance. Water is unmetered at a low yearly rate. You will be amazed and pleased with the many extras available to you at Lake Miramichi. I would like to meet you and show this fine property in person, or, our representative will arrange a private showing of Lake Miramichi on film. You need only fill-in the coupon below and indicate your preference.

If there are any questions left unanswered in your mind, just drop me a line and I will reply by return mail. But, please, a word of caution. Lake Miramichi is not an add-on development. When these available cottage sites are gone, the membership rolls will be closed forever. At that time, a private property owners association will assume control and provide perpetual maintenance. I know you will be pleased to know this because you will be assured that Lake Miramichi will never be crowded. Only members and a limited number of invited guests will make use of the facilities. I urge you to act at once and join me for a fabulous fishing any season of the year at wonderful, carefree Lake Miramichi.

FNMA Changes Purchasing Steps

The Federal National Mortgage Association recently announced a change in its purchasing procedures under which lenders can sell qualified FHA and VA mortgages to FNMA under its Secondary Market Operations.

Under the corporation's new requirements, the maximum amount of a mortgage may be as much as $25,000 for each family residence or dwelling unit if the FHA insurance commitment or VA certificate of reasonable value covers proposed new housing and the insurance or guaranty is dated on or after October 19, 1965.

Previously, if a mortgage on proposed new housing exceeded $17,500, there was a requirement that a standby commitment be obtained before construction commenced.

Now, such mortgages may be purchased on either a standby or immediate purchase basis.

Truly, you'll agree, there's nothing like owning property and holding an exclusive lifetime membership that will become the most prized item in your estate.

And, what does it all cost? A fortune? Not at all. For a small monthly investment of $29 you can provide years of happy, care-free hours for all the family. Our cottage sites with full membership privileges begin at $1495. These are full-size lots, permanently staked and conveyed to you by warranty deed. The down payment can be as little as $85, with full five-year bank financing.

A quick look at the features offered at Lake Miramichi is convincing. All roadways are finished for year-round traffic and custom-graded for good drainage. There's an 800-foot beach piled deep with native sand which extends far into the deep water area. Located on the beach is an enclosed kiddie play ground with swings and slides. Even a merry-go-round where the little ones can pass the time in safety. You might say that this is a built-in baby sitter for Mom.

Another feature is a boat marina and launching ramp with repair service and supplies. This is the only place that boats can be launched. It keeps folks from trailing boats all over the area with the accompanying noise. However, permanent mooring docks are located every 1200 feet around the lake for the convenience of members. There are no docking charges, ever. For your further enjoyment there are picnic groves in picturesque wooded areas with brick fireplaces and family size picnic tables. Here is the perfect spot for entertaining guests or even a special group for special occasions. There's even a picnic island located offshore from the beach where you can motor over after a day of fishing.

Most important is the municipal-type central water system now being installed that will save you the cost of a private well and maintenance. Water is unmetered at a low yearly rate. You will be amazed and pleased with the many extras available to you at Lake Miramichi. I would like to meet you and show this fine property in person, or, our representative will arrange a private showing of Lake Miramichi on film. You need only fill-in the coupon below and indicate your preference.

If there are any questions left unanswered in your mind, just drop me a line and I will reply by return mail. But, please, a word of caution. Lake Miramichi is not an add-on development. When these available cottage sites are gone, the membership rolls will be closed forever. At that time, a private property owners association will assume control and provide perpetual maintenance. I know you will be pleased to know this because you will be assured that Lake Miramichi will never be crowded. Only members and a limited number of invited guests will make use of the facilities. I urge you to act at once and join me for a fabulous fishing any season of the year at wonderful, carefree Lake Miramichi.

Wives, Don't Speak the Language!

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

If you're putting a new addition on your house, ladies, learn to speak Chinese or Swahili.

That is, unless you are in an area where workmen are African or Chinese. In other words, play dumb.

Whenever you are asked a question, say (in Chinese or Swahili) "I don't know," "call my husband at his office," or "come back tomorrow."

The workmen won't understand. But that should make you even. You probably don't understand what he is saying or doing either.

The man of the house goes off to the rigors of the work day and leaves his wife to cope with such aesthetic pleasures as directing traffic for a bulldozer, finding a missing level for a carpenter or playing footings with the ma-

In between getting youngsters off to school, doing laundry and canning tomatoes, she's supposed to slosh around in cement to see that everything is just dandy and going the way the architect suggested.

When the excavator hits ledge it's the lady of the house who must make the split-second decision of whether they are going shows up with a crew on a day to blast at $500 a stick of dynamite or give up a crawl space make sure it's not going to be a settle for a 3-inch foundation.

WHO'S TO BLAME
The mason can blame the architect. But the likely candidate for a husband's blame is who else?

There are pitfalls that even a husband can't anticipate.

An organizational meeting for South Oakland County men garden hobbyists will be held under the sponsorship of the Men's Garden Club of Rochester in the Birmingham Community House Monday at 8 p.m.

Members of a Men's Garden Club of America (MGCA) affiliate meet one evening each month to exchange gardening ideas and hear noted authorities delve into all facets of the subject.

Nationally, the MGCA lists 300 clubs with a total membership of 12,000 representing all professions.

In addition to advancing knowledge on plant material and related subjects, the clubs also contribute to civic betterment by helping to develop parks, public plots and assisting with the landscaping of institutional grounds, libraries and schools.

The meeting is open to all potential members. Those who are interested but cannot attend, may contact J. Timothy Cochran of 155 Oakdale, Oakland Township, for further information.

Daily Complains About Capital

The filth and squalor of New Delhi could easily earn for it the dubious distinction of the dirtiest capital in the world. complained a New Delhi daily newspaper, The Statesman.

The newspaper criticized city officials for permitting open drains, unhygienic public lavatories, refuse dumps in public places and the sale of exposed food in curbside stalls.

Do-It-Yourselfers Can Save Money

By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures

If you can do it yourself, you can save money. But if you are going to violate certain fundamentals in carrying out your project, better forget about the whole thing and hire a professional.

Home handyman spend millions of dollars a year purchasing tools and materials for remodeling, repairing and performing other jobs around the house.

But they also waste millions of dollars — and worse, suffer thousands of accidents — in tackling tasks they never should have started in the first place.

Their lack of skills was responsible for only a very tiny percentage of the failures. The chief cause of trouble is the unwillingness to follow accepted work procedures, not because they are unaware of them, but mostly because they try to take shortcuts.

TIMES CHANGE

How often have you glanced quickly at the directions on a can of paint and then gone ahead with the painting in the

Wood Pallet Is Helpful

Women whose laundries are located on concrete floors often complain of tired feet and backache.

The cure is to make a low platform or pallet of wood, such as those professional cooks use in restaurants.

It can be built from Douglas fir 2x4 lumber in any size needed and topped with a scrap of colorful linoleum if desired.

Double-Duty Dining Room

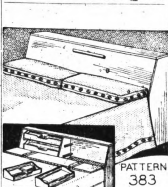

Large dining room can do double duty as a library.

Line walls with book shelving, add a Franklin stove and a pair of lounge chairs. Use Douglas fir, pine or hemlock for shelving.

same way you have been doing for years?

Yet new materials are constantly being added to modern paints — materials which often require a slightly different method of application.

Many paint failures are due not to the paint, but to the way in which it was applied, con-

BED - HEAD STORAGE saves many steps. Here, the front of the unit opens; sheets and pillow cases are placed in slide — in trays; blankets are stored below. Pattern 383, which gives material list, actual-size cutting guides and directions, is 3c. Dimensions may be adapted for beds of any size. trary to what was said on the label of the container.

The paint example produced no really serious results, only those involving a little extra money and a little extra labor.

But think how many accidents occurred because a do-it-yourselfer ignored, for example, the printed warning that a wood finishing material was flammable or toxic or both?

You can get Andy Lang's booklet, "Wood Finishing In The Home," by sending 25 cents and a 10¢ g. stamped self-addressed envelope to Know-How, P.O. Box 954, Jamaica, N.Y. 11431.

Home handyman — and many professionals, too — are especially careless in the handling of power tools.

This seldom occurs when the machine is new.

TABLE SAW The whirling blade of a table saw sounds so ominous that the new user instinctively exercises extreme caution.

He follows every warning in the booklet that comes with the tool. But, as time goes on and he becomes familiar with the noise and the operation of the machine, he tends to get a little careless.

He neglects to use the safety guard because it takes a minute or two longer to get it into position.

He skips the use of the miter gauge when he is in a hurry. He doesn't completely disengage the machine's power when he leaves the workshop to eat lunch, ignoring the fact that his children are wandering around the house.

Or when somebody comes in to the shop to talk with him while he's cutting a 2 by 4, he goes right on working while talking, even though he knows that the slightest glance away from the machine can result in a serious accident.

The do-it-yourselfer should know, therefore, when not to do it himself.

It's whenever he isn't going to give his full attention to the project — whenever he is trying to finish something in a hurry — and whenever he tackles something new without first boning up on the subject and getting advice from someone with more experience.

Ovens Spur Prices Jump Rentals in Apartments on Furniture

The effectiveness of built-in major appliances as a stimulant to renting received dramatic confirmation in a new East Side Manhattan luxury apartment building.

Within a period of eight weeks from the time renting was begun, 80 per cent of the 117 suites were rented in the 31-story apartment tower under construction at 200 East 62nd Street, despite considerable competition from other new buildings and a top rental scale, according to John Avlon, president of John Avlon, Inc., renting and managing agent.

In every case, Avlon emphasized, the deciding factor was the revolutionary new self-cleaning electric wall-oven which eliminates the mess and drudgery of manual oven cleaning.

Competing for the same luxury apartment market were at least 20 new apartment buildings in the general area, all in approximately the same price range, Avlon declared.

Yet, the agent stated, not one of these buildings can show a comparable renting record.

NEW OVENS

"The experience with the new ovens is reminiscent of the time air conditioning was first introduced into apartment buildings in Manhattan about a decade ago," Avlon said.

"It was the big attraction then and enabled buildings which featured such units to outrent the competition."

"Apparently, our self-cleaning ovens are making the same impression."

"Of course, other factors—such as prestige location and good apartment design—were also present, but when the final decision had to be made, the ovens tipped the scales in our favor."

The Manhattan luxury apartments are believed to be the first major apartment project in the country to include self-cleaning electric ovens which are offered in single and double sizes, as a standard item.

Pool Heaters Extend Season

For unusual entertaining, try a pool party in early spring or late fall.

Your guests need not be polar bears to enjoy your home swimming pool during these times of the year, if you heat your pool water with one of the many inexpensive swimming pool heaters on the market today.

The price of furniture is going up, so reports presidents of large furniture companies. The amount of increase the housewife will have to pay is estimated by some manufacturers at 3-5 per cent. And it could even equal the 10-12 per cent increase recorded over the last year.

With these inevitable increases, the American housewife, already beset with rising food prices, may have to use her ingenuity to solve some of her decorating problems rather than refurnishing her entire house.

Jessica Thomas, home furnishing expert for Alcan Aluminum Corporation's Flexaluminum Division, suggests improving window treatments and varying the color schemes and furniture arrangements in a room.

If you have old-fashioned or small size windows with a less than ideal view, you might cover the entire wall with the new narrower-foyer custom aluminum venetians. These give a room a lighter, airier look and the venetians' horizontal design goes with any type of decor.

Patterns and designs are infinite in their possibilities, she says. Like people, some will dominate and some will be subtle.

HARMONIOUS DECOR

To make sure that your furnishings do not clash, and that the decor is harmonious, have a common bond of color.

Do not be afraid to have plaid draperies and a matching plaid ceiling, floral sofas, fluted bookcases, pop-art paintings. Each pattern speaks positively—if color is the common bond.

If small rooms are causing you to be claustrophobic, don't buy new furniture to perk the room up. Rather, throw some out.

Proper scale and proportion can open any-sized room visually. An all-of-a-color background is also a space-enlarging idea. So is a glass-topped coffee table which is functional and yet unobtrusive.

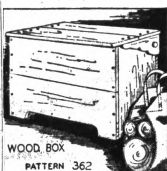

Put Socks on Furniture

When moving furniture around a room, try slipping a pair of men's heavy socks on the legs of the heavier pieces.

You can then move the furniture over the floor without scratching the floor.

The socks also make it easier to slide the furniture around.

For home addition or renovation ideas, ask your lumber dealer for free or low-cost literature. He has the biggest selection in town.

THE WOODEN HINGES of this box are copied from a pair made by an early pioneer. He also pegged his box together. Screws are used for ours, the heads covered with dowel buttons. Pattern, 362, which gives actual-size cutting guides and directions for the box and a canvas wood carrier, is 35c. It also is in the Antique Reproduction Packet No. 53 which is $1.

The Pontiac Press, Pattern Dept., Bedford Hills, New York.

A good way to insure the safety of older, straight ladders used for outdoor painting, is to lay the ladder flat on the ground, and put all of your weight on each rung—if one of them breaks or splinters, it's time for a new ladder.

BENTON HARBOR—Two state legislative candidates from opposing parties and opposite sides of the state filed unfair campaign practices charges against their opponents yesterday.

State Rep. Floyd J. Mattheussen, D-Benton Harbor, said his Republican opponent, Lionel Stacey, a Fair Plain junior high school principal, mailed a campaign brochure containing "one of the most shameful smear campaigns in the history of Michigan politics."

George Kuhn, former Berkley mayor and now Republican candidate for the Michigan Senate, said his Democratic opponent, Paul Livingston, made a "vicious and personal attack" in a mailed "smear sheet" criticizing Kuhn's record as mayor.

Both complaints were filed with the Michigan Fair Campaign Practices Committee.

Mattheussen's complaint included an accusation that Stacey claims he was an ex-protector and would have "people believe he was a World War II veteran." Mattheussen said he has a picture showing Stacey playing high school basketball after World War II.

Viet-Bound Ships Stalled
by IEW Strike

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A strike by marine electricians at 13 Pacific Coast shipyards to help build the bulk of repair and reconditioning work on ships bound for Viet Nam, said a spokesman for the Defense Department said in Washington there was "deep concern" over the blocking of "The tremendous amount of defense work."

About 1,400 electricians, represented by the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers (IBEW), walked off the job yesterday to back pay demands.

Their picket lines were observed by most of the 9,600 other workers employed at the yards.

Six yards in the San Francisco Bay area, three in the Portland, Ore. area and one in Seattle were closed down by the strike.

REMAIN OPEN
 Three in the Seattle area remained open with some employees showing up for work.

Several of the yards handled repair work on merchant vessels used to transport war supplies to Viet Nam. Some were under contract to recondition moth-balled Navy ships for war duty.

At Seattle, a union leader called the strike illegal. Sixty per cent of the workers crossed a picket line at one yard, 30 per cent at another and a handful at a third.

No settlement talks were held yesterday, and both the union and the Pacific Coast Builders Association indicated none was planned at the present time.

Bobby Kennedy traveled a long distance.

Did he set Soapy and Gus straight on the Landrum- Griffin Act?

Soapy Williams said early in the campaign that Bob Griffin would have much to explain about the Landrum-Griffin Act.

Jimmy Hoffa called it "the worst piece of labor legislation ever passed in the United States."

Gus Scholle unburdened himself with typical back-alley comments.

Bobby Kennedy has known the facts for years. Senator Kennedy's brother, the late president, was Senate Floor Manager for the Landrum-Griffin Act.

When the Landrum-Griffin Act was passed by Congress, Bobby Kennedy — who was then the Counsel for the McClellan Investigating Committee — called it "a very strong piece of legislation."

At the Yale Political Forum, Bobby pointed out that the Landrum-Griffin Act provides a "Bill of Rights" for individual union members. In his book, The Enemy Within, Bobby says:

"There is tremendous satisfaction obviously in the fact that Congress has passed legislation (the Landrum-Griffin Act) that will deal with the abuses we have uncovered. Under the new law, labor unions no longer will be able to file false or incomplete reports of their financial and administrative affairs."

Lyndon Johnson voted for it. Hubert Humphrey voted for it. Mike Mansfield voted for it. Phil Hart voted for it. Pat McNamara voted for it.

Just about everybody supported it—except Soapy.

He was in charge of "payless paydays" at the time.

Ticket Offer for MSU-ND Boosts Post

Membership renewals for 1967 were lagging in the current membership drive of VFW Post No. 1370, St. Saginaw Street, Pontiac.

Post commander Dick Kirby, hoping to find some way to perk up the drive, announced in his news letter mailed Wednesday that he would give away his two priceiest tickets for the Michigan State-Notre Dame game to some lucky member who was paid up for 1967.

Yesterday, just two days later, the membership took a fast jump when 25 renewals came in by mail, and three new members came in to join.

The drawing is to be made at the Post meeting next Wednesday Nov. 9th.

AP Pro Football Swami Picks Chiefs in AFL

NEW YORK (AP) — The big shot this season at his former one this week among the pro games is Kansas City-San Diego for the Western Division lead in the American Football League.

Your Peerless Pro Picker, who rounded back into shape last week after a long lapse, says the Chiefs can do it.

American League

Kansas City 31, San Diego 21 — The Chiefs, with either Bert Coan or Mike Garrett at half-back, should be able to move on the ground as well as in the air against the Chargers.

Boston 35, Denver 14 — The Patriots figure to hold their slim Eastern lead while Jim Nance eats up more yardage on the ground. The Broncos best week last week was Bob Scarpito's running out of a fake punt formation.

Buffalo 28, Miami 21 — This could be a toughie since Cookie Gilchrist will be getting his first shot this season at his former one this week among the pro games is Kansas City-San Diego for the Western Division lead in the American Football League.

Offers Store for MSU-Irish Tickets

SAGINAW (UP) — Mike Schrems, 57, wants to go to the Michigan State University-Notre Dame football game Nov. 19 in East Lansing.

And he's willing to trade his beer store for four tickets.

The game, which probably will decide the national football championship, has been sold out for weeks.

But if someone would rather have a beer store than the tickets, Schrems wants to talk to him.

Schrems said Friday he is willing to part with his store for the tickets, $1,700 for beer in his storeroom, and $4,000 for estimated good will.

He said he did $65,000 worth of business last year.

Schrems ran an advertisement in a Detroit paper personals column Friday proposing the trade and said he may run it until the game, depending on whether it gets results.

He said he had thought of selling his store earlier and when he exhausted all other means of getting tickets he decided to try barter.

The tickets would be for Schrems, his wife Catherine, and two of their children, Celia Mary, 14, and Paul, 17.

"I'd like to take my other son Tony, 20, but he's in Viet Nam and tied up," Schrems said.

Schrems said Friday he had no takers on his offer yet, but he was still hoping. "I want to see that game," he said.

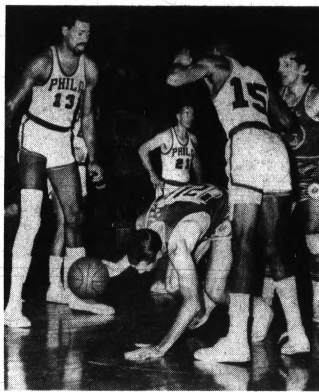

Bears After Vengeance for Opener

Lions Hoping to Stop Skid in Division

CHICAGO — The Chicago Bears, trying to break even, and the Detroit Lions, seeking a cellar escape, collide at Wrigley field Sunday in their second meeting of the National Football League season.

The Lions dumped the Bears 143 in a season opener at Detroit Sept. 11, but since have skidded to the bottom of the NFL's western division with a 2-6 record.

Bear fortune has been a little better, but last Monday night's 24-17 loss to the Cardinals at St. Louis just about blew Chicago's divisional title chances, anchoring the Bears with a fifth-place listing at 3-4.

Richey Picked for Cup Match

Dallas Schoolboy Has Big Assignment

PORTO ALEGRE, Brazil (AP) — Cliff Richey, 19-year-old Dallas schoolboy, will face Brazil's Edson Mardiano Saturday in the opening match of the inter-zone Davis Cup tennis semifinals.

The second match sends America's No. 1 player, Dennis Ralston of Bakersfield, Calif., against the top Brazilian, Thomaz Koch.

George MacCall, non-playing U.S. captain, pulled a surprise when he nominated Richey for a singles spot over Arthur Ashe of Richmond, Va., No. 2 in the national rankings and the player who won four of six tournaments in Australia a year ago.

MacCall said he chose Richey because of the latter's clay court experience and because the Texan swept through the entire Brazilian team last week in winning the tournament in Buenos Aires.

Richey beat Koch in the finals of the Argentine event.

Golfer Dies in Accident at Monterrey

Dallas Schoolboy Has Big Assignment

MONTERREY, Mex. (AP) — Pro golfer Dan Whalen of Highland Park, Ill., died Friday of head injuries received in an auto accident Thursday night.

Playing in a Latin-American tour in which the Mexican Open Championship was his first stop, the 31-year-old assistant pro from the Highland Park Country Club was en route to his hotel when an automobile piled into the rear of the taxi in which he and Lee Milligan Jr. of Burlington, Ill., were riding.

Larry O'Brien, the tour's publicity director, said that both golfers were thrown from the taxi.

Whalen suffered a fractured skull and was taken to a nearby hospital. Milligan suffered cuts and bruises.

Australians Hold Lead in Sydney Pro Tourney

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — Peter Thomson and two lesser known Australians, Bob Stanton and Darrell Welch, took an imposing lead over favored Arnold Palmer and Gary Player Friday in the $50,000 pro golf tournament at Kensington.

Palmer eagled the fifth with a big drive and a two-iron shot to the green within 10 feet of the cup.

However, he three-putted the fifth, bogeyed the sixth where he was short against the wind, and took a double bogey at the 230-yard 15th where he caught a bunker, blasted out and three-putted from 20 feet.

NBA Bullets Fire Farmer

Coach of Baltimore Is Dismissed

BALTIMORE (AP) — Mike Farmer, coach of the Baltimore Bullets since last April, was fired Friday.

Buddy Jeannette, general manager of the National Basketball Association club, was named to take over as coach for the third time.

The Bullets, in last place in the Eastern Division, had played only nine games of the season—losing all but one—when the ax fell on Farmer, 30-year-old veteran of eight years as a pro player.

Jeannette, 49, who emphasized his was only temporary, flew to Los Angeles to join the team for Friday night's game against the Lakers.

Named general manager last year, Jeannette was player-coach of the Bullets which won the championship in 1947-48 and remained at the helm into the 1950-51 season. In 1946-45, he was called back to succeed Bob Leonard and coached the team to third place and a spot in the Western Division playoffs.

lians Bruce Devlin, 77-76, Frank Phillips, 80-73, and Dennis Sullivan, 78-75.

St. Louis 38, New York 17 — The Cardinals hold first place in the East and they don't want to surrender it by losing to the woeful Giants.

Dallas, 35 Philadelphia 31 — Should be an interesting scoring affair with Don Meredith of the Cowboys and Norm Sneed of the Eagles matching bombs.

Green Bay 28, Minnesota 24 — Paul Hornung, out for two weeks, likely will be back in the Packers' backfield and the way Elijah Pitt played last week the Golden Boy will have some extra incentive for strutting his stuff.

Baltimore 31, Washington 17 — Johnny Unitas is hot. That should be enough. The Colts still trail Green Bay by 1½ games in the West and another loss would make it extremely difficult to catch up.

Chicago 21, Detroit 10 — Two sputtering offenses. Give the Bears the edge because of Gale Sayers. Karl Sweetan, the Lions' rookie quarterback, has been doing a good job, but he doesn't have much to work with.

Los Angeles 24, San Francisco 17 — Either Roman Gabriel or Bill Munson, the Rams' rotating quarterbacks, should be able to get the job done against a 49er team that still can't move the ball.

Pittsburgh (AP) — The Pittsburgh Steelers of the National Football League asked waivers on guard Eli Strand Friday and called up guard Ralph Wenzel from the taxid.

Rookies Strand and Wenzel were with the Green Bay Packers earlier this year.

Atlanta Race Sunday

17 More in '250' Field

ATLANTA (AP) — Red drick of Richmond, Va., pinning Farmer of Hueytown, Ala. led down 15th and Sam McQuagge of Columbus, Ga. 16th.

Hendrick, the No. 2 man in national modified standings, drove his 1961 Ford around the track at 140.698 m.p.h. while McQuagge, winner of the Daytona 400 earlier this year, drove his 1960 Ford to an average qualifying speed of 140.688.

The 17 qualifiers increased the total to 30 in two days of trial runs. Eight more drivers will qualify Saturday and the final 12 positions will be decided starting position, with Ray Hen in a 30-mile qualifying race.

140-Total Leads Tourney

MONTERREY, Mexico (AP) — Bob Ross of Flowertown, Pa., scored four birdies on the back nine Friday to go three under par and take the second round lead in the Mexican Open Golf Tournament with a 36-hole score of 140.

The 34-year-old Ross carded 69, second best round of the day. One stroke back at 141 were Dudley Wysong Jr. of McKinney, Tex., Bob McCallister of Corona, Calif., and Jon Cook of Hobart, Ind.

Ross, assistant supervisor of the Latin American PGA tour, took time off from executive duties to move from fourth to first place despite two straight bogies on the outgoing nine. He evened that with a couple of birds on eight and ninth, then carded a 33, three under par, on the back nine.

OFF PACE

Opening round leader Dave Eichelberger of Waco, Tex., fell seven shots off his earlier pace to go three over par and into a tie at 143 with Buster Cupit of Longview, Tex., whose 68 was the day's best round.

Murray Norman of Kitchener, Ontario, and Wilf Homeniuk of Montreal again matched par. Their 144 totals tied them with Larry Zeigler of St. Louis — who went from a 69 to a 75 — and Dick Bassett of Gladwyne, Pa.

Howell Frazer of Panama City, Fla., who will defend his Puerto Rican Open title on the tour's third stop Nov. 17-20, had a 71 for a 145 tie with four other golfers. They are Mike Hadcock of Marshall, Tex., Dick Whetzel of Pikeville, Md., Antonio Cerda of Mexico and Bob Gajda of Bloomfield Hills, Mich.

Defending champion Homero Blancas of Houston again had putting troubles in the 6,700-yard, par 72 Monterrey Country Club course. He went two over for 147.
