President Dr. Joseph E. Champagne

The greatest period of athletic advancement at Oakland University coincides directly with the appointment of Dr. Joseph Champagne as the third president of the institution.

Since taking the helm in March of 1981, Dr. Champagne has shown a strong commitment to athletics. His interest in athletics is reflected in the fact that the director of athletics reports directly to the President.

President Champagne came to the Rochester-based institution from the University of Houston System where he had been academic vice-president of the four campus system. The 45-year-old industrial psychologist has a national reputation as a lecturer and consultant in the areas of manpower, fair employment, and occupational, adult, and continuing education and rehabilitation of the handicapped.

He has been active in work with legislative committees in shaping public policy and legislation in the fields of the human resources and occupational education and rehabilitation. In 1971, he was selected Houston citizen of the year for his work with the handicapped.

He joined the University of Houston in 1967 as associate director of the Center for Human Resources with the rank of assistant professor in the College of Business Administration and was later promoted to professor of management.

Dr. Champagne performs a variety of campus and community relations functions for Oakland University. He is very active in helping nearby organizations become important elements of the community.

His wife, Emilie, is a former elementary school teacher and is active in church and school activities. They have three children, Jennifer, Juliana, and Johanna.

Paul Hartman, Director of Athletics

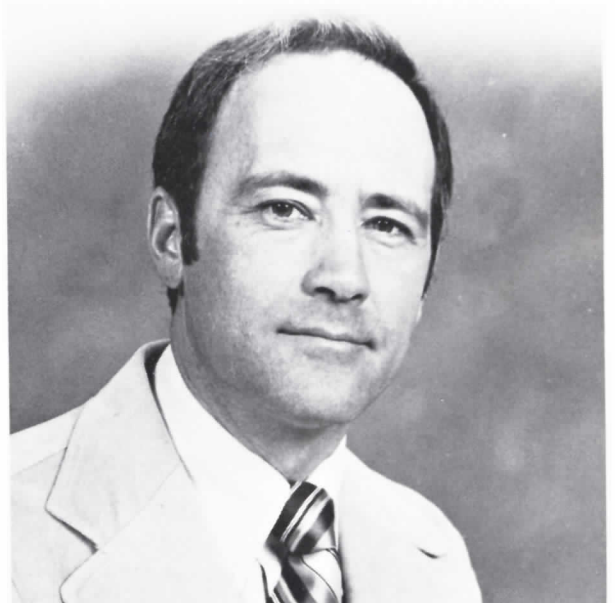

Paul Hartman, Oakland University's new director of athletics, brings his expertise in administration and fund raising to the Pioneer program. He becomes only the third person to assume control of the athletic department.

A veteran administrator in college athletics at several levels of competition, Hartman served at the University of Wisconsin-Stevens Point for seven years as athletic director prior to coming to Oakland. He also has served in similar positions at Florida International University and Plymouth State College in New Hampshire.

"Paul Hartman is a man who adheres to a highly ethical educational and athletic philosophy which is entirely consistent with that of Oakland University; a philosophy that provides for a balanced emphasis of scholarship in athletics. Dr. Hartman has enormous personal integrity, communicates very effectively and he will, I believe, complement well the Oakland University staff."

Hartman began his first year in command of Oakland's 12-sport program on June 1. Hartman succeeds Corey Van Fleet, who resigned in September of 1982 to become athletic director at Long Beach State in California. The only other department director was the founding father of Oakland's athletic program, Hollie Lepley, who retired in 1972.

Hartman and his wife, Jane, have two children and live in the Rochester area.

ABOUT OAKLAND UNIVERSITY

Oakland University is a comprehensive state-supported institution of higher education located in Rochester, Michigan, about 30 miles north of Detroit.

The university was founded in 1957 when the late Matilda R. and Alfred G. Wilson donated their 1500-acre estate and $2 million to Michigan State University to begin a new college in Oakland county. Named Michigan State University-Oakland, the new campus enrolled its first students in 1959. In 1963, the name was changed to Oakland University, and in 1970 the State Legislature recognized the maturity and stature of Oakland and granted the university its independence. The governor appointed Oakland's first Board of Trustees in the fall of 1970.

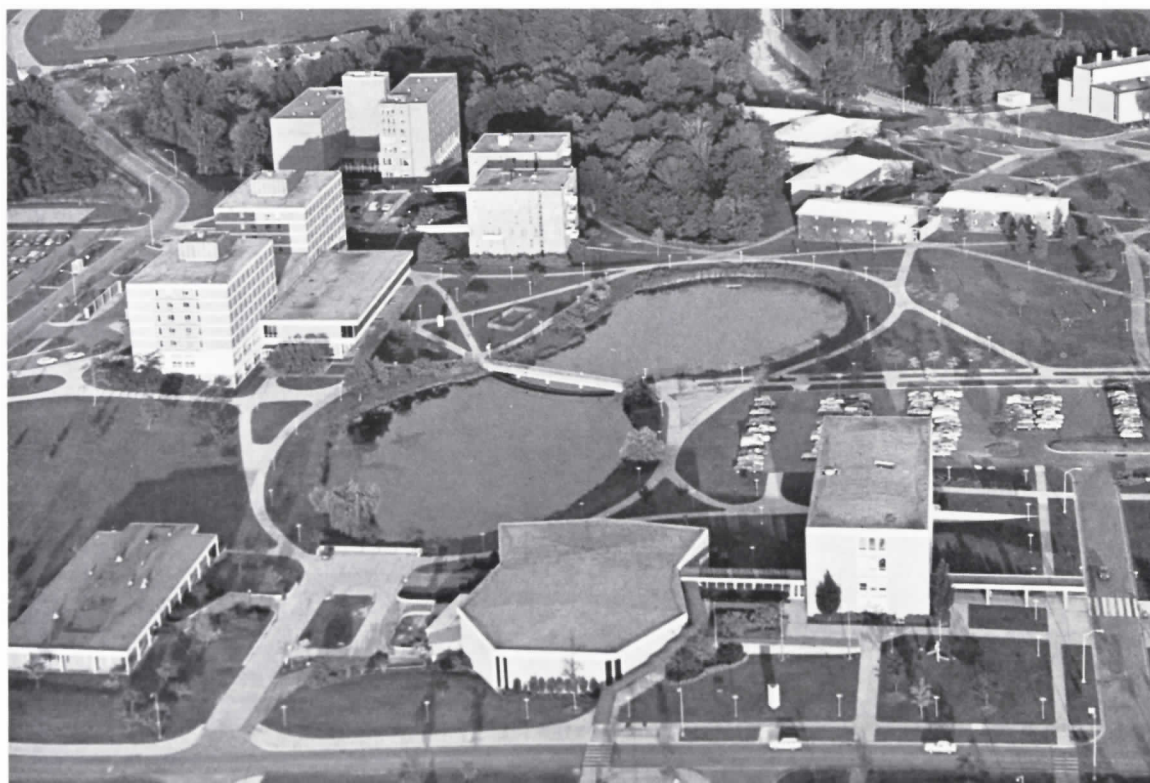

Today undergraduate programs are offered in over 70 areas and graduate programs at the master's and doctoral levels in approximately 30 areas. Programs of study find their base in the arts and sciences including many professional programs in such areas as business and management, health science and nursing, engineering and computer science, education and human resources development, as well as the various offerings relating to the performing arts.

Total enrollment approaches 12,000 students, most of whom commute from the surrounding counties of Oakland, Macomb, and Wayne. More than 1900 students live on campus in modern residence hall facilities. The 1500-acre campus houses not only a complex of academic buildings, but also the Meadow Brook Theatre, Meadow Brook Art Gallery, and Meadow Brook Hall, a 100-room Tudor mansion used as a cultural and conference center. The campus, through the Meadow Brook Music Festival, is the summer home of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra. The Katke-Cousins 18-hole championship golf course is also located on the campus. Approximately one-half million people visit Oakland University each year to participate in the activities sponsored by the institution's educational, cultural and recreational centers.

All academic programs of the university are accredited by the North Central Association of Colleges and Schools. In addition, most professional programs are accredited by their respective professional associations. The university faculty of nearly 400 scholars has distinguished itself in many areas of instruction, research, and service. Approximately 85 percent of the full-time faculty possess an earned doctoral degree. Research and development play a major role in the university with external support exceeding $3 million per year. Public service is a growing and vital dimension of the university with new and effective community/university and industry/university partnerships being formed.

Oakland is easily accessible to millions of residents in the metropolitan Detroit area because of its close proximity to major freeways. The natural beauty of the campus, much of it still wooded and undeveloped, is enhanced by comprehensive recreational facilities and modern buildings which house the university's many academic, cultural, and public service programs.

MEN'S BASKETBALL

Pioneers Look for Bright Future with Six Players Returning

ROCHESTER, MI — With six returning players and four starters from last season's final five games, Oakland University's men's basketball team has the ingredients to become one of the best in the school's history.

Topping the list of players returning is high-scoring 6-7 forward Mike Mohn, who has started every game at Oakland and scored over 1,000 points. He missed winning the scoring title by just three points last year. Mohn, 6-5 sophomore Chris Howze, 6-2 sophomore guard Rob Skinner and 6-4 senior guard Harold Davis give head coach Lee Frederick a strong foundation to bring a winning season to Oakland for only the second time in 10 years.

Along with last year's key starters, the Pioneers are blessed with several able reserves that saw playing time as starters or backups last year. Larry Lubitz, a 6-7 forward, and 6-2 guard Craig Mitchell are all capable of providing strong performances for Oakland.

Frederick has six returning veterans from his 11-16 campaign of last year and still found time to come up with additional strength. Walt Dixon, a 6-7 forward from Detroit will be eligible in December. He should add rebounding and scoring to Oakland's attack.

Two players from Surinam, a small country in South America, came to Oakland this year. Frederick is confident everything will work out for Jeffery Straal, a 6-5 forward, and Jenny Vrij, a 6-7 center-forward. Both will add speed and strength to Oakland.

"These two international players are exceptional athletes and I think they will help us more than we could have dreamed," Frederick said.

The keys to Oakland's basketball success this year will be Mohn's continued scoring and rebounding. Mohn, who averaged a team high 16 points per game, should have an easier time scoring with steady improvement from Howze as the other forward. His 7.2 rebounding mark topped Oakland last year.

As for rebounding and defensive improvement, Oakland's coach feels the added experience under the regular players' belts and the recruiting of Dixon will shore up the rebounding problems of last year.

The team's only personnel loss was starting center Tom Blythe, who graduated. Frederick is confident that Dixon, Vrij, and Lubitz will give Oakland fine all-around play at center.

Head Coach Lee Frederick

Lee Frederick is building Oakland University basketball into a competitive Great Lakes Intercollegiate Conference program. Sporting a 56-65 five-year ledger, Frederick directed the Pioneers to an outstanding 18-9 record in 1981-82.

The Pioneers fell to 11-16 last season with an inexperienced backcourt, but Oakland looks to be one of the stronger teams in the GLIAC this year with six returning players.

Serving as Assistant to the Athletic Director and basically running OU's program after former Athletic Director Corey Van Fleet accepted a similar position at Long Beach State, Frederick works hard at breaking the losing tradition he inherited in men's basketball.

"We have tried to bring players in that make sense for Oakland University," Frederick said. "So far, my coaching staff has tried to build something that will be stable and not one of those fly-by-night programs."

The 39-year-old Frederick, who has a master's degree in psychology from Bradley, played college basketball on the Bradley National Invitational Tournament team in 1964. He also served as assistant coach at Western Illinois and Northern Michigan before arriving at Oakland as an assistant for the 1976-77 season.

Frederick, who is married and has two children, lives in Rochester.

WOMEN'S BASKETBALL

Krawford Era Ends at Oakland, Kruszewski Begins New One

ROCHESTER, MI — An era has passed at Oakland University. All-American Linda Krawford and company have finally picked up their sheepskin after wrecking the Great Lakes Intercollegiate Conference for nearly two years.

The task of starting a new era belongs to new head coach Sue Kruszewski, a former coach at the University of Washington and Detroit, who replaced highly successful Dewayne Jones, who took over the women's basketball program at Detroit.

The Pioneers won 31 of 32 GLIAC games, made two trips to the NCCA Division II Tournament, captured a pair of league championships and virtually dominated their opponents under Jones during the Krawford era. The Pioneers were 50-9 in Krawford's last two seasons.

"We won't dominate the conference like we have the past several years," Kruszewski said. "However, Oakland will remain very competitive this season."

Kruszewski's rebuilding program this year was hurt by her late selection date and Oakland missed out on several bluechip recruits because of the coaching transition. The timing couldn't have come at a worse time.

Oakland will need replacements for four key players. Krawford (2,400 points), Anne Kish (1,125 points), and Teresa Vondrasek (1,169 points) make this a graduation class any coach would dread to replace. Oakland all-time assist leader Kelly Kenny, who will serve as an assistant under Kruszewski this year, also ran out of eligibility.

Nonetheless, the cupboard isn't completely dry for Kruszewski. Two-time GLIAC All-League center Brenda McLean and 6-3 backup center Kim Nash provide Kruszewski with a good returning cast.

McLean, who may be shifted to forward this fall, is regarded as the best center in the conference. She averaged 12 points and 7 rebounds per game last year. Her quickness should allow her an easy transition to forward.

Continued improvement from Nash that will allow the shift of McLean to forward will decide how good the GLIAC champions are going to be this year.

Nash has shown better skills and seems to be maturing as a college player. A physical player, the 6-3 center needs to cut down on her fouls to help Oakland and give it an imposing front court line.

The question marks are at shooting guard and small forward. Saginaw Valley State transfer Toni Gasparovic will battle freshman Maria Reynolds for playing time at guard.

Linda Krawford

Brenda McLean

Anya Williams, Sue Mausolf and Joanne Mecoli will compete for a starting role at small forward. All three saw limited action as reserves last year. Reynolds may also be a factor at that position.

"We didn't have a good recruiting year," Kruszewski said. "The nucleus of McLean and Nash is the foundation in which we're going to build with this year."

Kruszewski scheduled several NCAA Division I schools to help the new starters mature faster and prime them for the important conference slate. Cincinnati, Western and Eastern Michigan, and Michigan State, should test the inexperienced players and make them better prepared for GLIAC play.

Oakland opens the regular season on November 22 against Michigan-Dearborn and GLIAC schedule begins on December 7 against Hillsdale.

Head Coach Sue Kruszewski

Sue Kruszewski is entering her seventh collegiate season and first as mentor of Oakland's nationally-known NCAA Division II basketball program.

The 40-year-old veteran coach returns to her home state of Michigan after a three-year stay at Washington University in Seattle. She posted a 50-34 mark at the Pacific Ten Conference school to establish herself as one of the top coaches in the west.

Before leaving for the far west, Kruszewski made a lasting impression on women's basketball in Michigan. She built the University of Detroit, her alma mater, into a national basketball powerhouse. Kruszewski claimed an impressive 69-15 mark at UD and is 120-49 in her collegiate coaching career.

The majority of Kruszewski's coaching experience comes from the high school ranks. She started her coaching career at the age of 17, when she took over the coaching position at Detroit's St. Cyril High School and remained there for five years.

Following her St. Cyril experience, she started a 14-year association with Detroit's Dominican High School, an all-girls school, serving as athletic director and head basketball and softball coach. Her teams at Dominican won five city and four regional titles and two Class A tournaments. During her tenure in the prep ranks, Kruszewski recorded a sterling 306-63 record.

Kruszewski excelled as a guard at Servite High School in Detroit, being named to two all-star tournaments in two years. She was a team captain as a high school senior, but did not play college basketball since there was not a program at Detroit until she started one in 1977.

Kruszewski, ironically, takes over the Oakland post after Dewayne Jones resigned to take over the coaching job for Detroit.

The veteran coach, who earned her bachelor of science degree in education from Detroit in 1964, will be assisted by former Oakland standout Kelly Kenny this year.

Exercise Physiology Laboratory

Oakland University's Health Maintenance/Health Improvement Program was initiated by Dr. Fred W. Stransky and Dr. Joseph Arends in 1977. The purpose of this program is to prevent insidious long-term disease. In addition, emphasis is placed on improving the quality of your life. Quantity or longevity of life is less meaningful when you are unable to live your life to its fullest. Serving as the foundation of this program is EDUCATION. This program does not replace your personal physician but supplements his work.

PROGRAM OBJECTIVES

1. Development of Cardiovascular Fitness
2. Weight Control and Improved Nutritional Habits
3. Education Involving Lifestyle Adjustments

GOLF

Golf Rising to the Top

Oakland University golf is one of the rising programs in the school's sports offering.

Blessed with an excellent 18-hole course measuring 7,163 yards from its championship tees, Katke-Cousins is one reason Director of Athletics Paul Hartman wants to emphasize Pioneer golf.

"We have an outstanding course," Hartman said. "Its reputation has made it appealing to area golfers."

Head Coach George Wibby has a fine nucleus to build Oakland's golf program to a higher level. Glenn Busam, Ken Angrove, and Dave Beresh provide solid play for the Pioneers.

"This is an exciting time for Oakland's golf program," Wibby said. "Our new director of athletics, Paul Hartman, is very supportive of OU golf and that gives us an excellent chance to show some vast improvement."

Katke-Cousins Golf Course

For many years, the idea of having a golf course at Oakland University was a dream. In 1977, that dream became a reality as a result of generous donations by Mr. and Mrs. Marvin L. Katke and Mr. and Mrs. Harold A. Cousins.

Construction of the course, which was designed by Robert Beard, began in the spring of 1975 with the building of the first nine holes. The second nine of the 18-hole course was finished two years later. Since its opening in 1977, the course has continued to attract growing numbers of golfers.

The course continues to improve as it matures and is already considered to be among the state's top ten golf courses. Measuring 7,163 tough yards from its championships tees, the par 72 Katke-Cousins Course is a challenge for the best of players. The front nine finishing hole has been labeled "the monster" — it stretches a long uphill 630 yards. Fittingly, the course's 17th and 18th holes offer a spectacular view of Meadow Brook Hall, while testing the shot-making skills of even the most able players.

Among the course's distinguishing features are the natural beauty of the terrain and the abundance of wildlife that can be seen in the wooded roughs and bubbling streams. Golfers often spot muskrat, fox and raccoon. It is not unusual to see a deer wander across the lush fairways, pause beside a pond, then bound into the woods.

For the beginner, intermediate or advanced golfer, a round at Katke-Cousins is an enjoyable and memorable experience.

Head Coach George Wibby

Head Coach George Wibby enters his fourth season as the leader of Oakland University's golf team. The Wayne State graduate also doubles as the Katke-Cousins Golf Course starter during his free time.

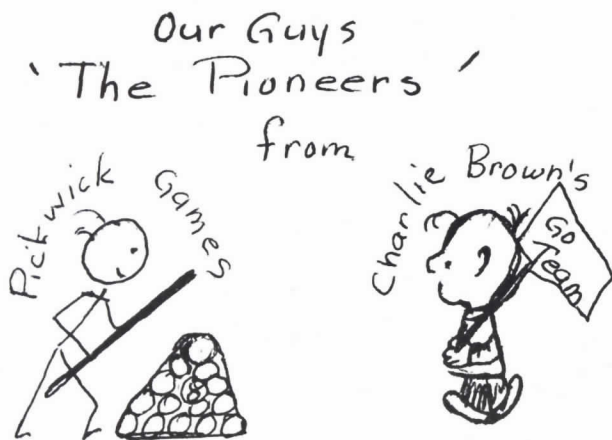

An avid golfer, Wibby is working hard to make OU's golf program one of the finest in the Great Lakes Intercollegiate Conference. One of the greatest assets that Oakland has according to Wibby is the course.

"The word is out around golf circles that Katke-Cousins is an excellent golf course," Wibby said. "There are a lot of people coming in contact with our course and I know it will help our recruiting."

Wibby is lucky in one aspect of his program and it most likely is the most important ingredient to having a good golf team — an outstanding golf course.

"We're the only school in the conference with a golf course like Katke on campus," Wibby said. "Our resources are outstanding compared to most schools because we have a practice area, a professional golfer and an excellent course."

Wibby's dream is to bring the Pioneers a national qualifier and conference championship to Oakland University within the next several years. That reality may come fast with Wibby working towards his goals.

Best Wishes, OU Pioneers!

Dear OU Fans,

From across the state and beyond they come to the peaceful rolling hills of Oakland University. But the serenity of O.U.'s seclusion doesn't calm their jittery nervousness. They've come to conquer, but they've heard — they've been warned. The word is out. The powerful Pioneers are here ready and waiting . . . And well they should: Five nationally ranked teams. Coach-of-the-Year in three sports, twenty (20) All-American men and women . . . Those intimidating realities sink the confidence of all who challenge.

Let's look at what makes them cringe:

Pete Hovland, 1982-83 Swimming Coach of the Year;

Gary Parsons, 1982 Mideast Soccer Coach of the Year;

Jack Gebauer, GLIAC Coach of the Year.

Success in Oakland University sports is a fact of life. Since I'm the Dentist for the Detroit Express, I would like to see some of the Pioneers make the professional ranks.

Last year's finish in men's wrestling was a great accomplishment. After finishing 24th in the national tournament, Gebauer could pin down a top ten ranking this year. Men's swimming finished second in the nation last year. Two potential All-Americans to complement the returnees should give the Pioneers a shot at the national championship.

OU's swimmin' women aren't all wet either . . . fifth in the NCAA competition is something to be proud of around these parts.

Dick Vitale and Sue Kruszewski made basketball and the University of Detroit nationally known. Sue now brings her magic and her national ranking know-how to the Pioneers. She'll be a big success like always.

Sincerely,

Oakland University Soccer Ends Most Successful Season Ever

ROCHESTER, MI — A high-powered offense and one of the toughest defenses in the nation helped Oakland University's soccer team to an outstanding 1983 campaign.

The successful season included such accomplishments as making the NCAA Division II semi-finals (they lost to Seattle Pacific, 1-0), capturing a second straight Mideast Regional Championship, setting eight school records and winning the Great Lakes Cup.

Ranked as high as second by the Intercollegiate Soccer Association Coaches, the Pioneers could have won with a couple of breaks against Seattle Pacific. Speedy forward Mark Christian was forced to miss the semi-final game with an eye injury. His loss hurt the high-scoring attack and some misses near the goal area resulted in Oakland's second shutout of the season.

"I'm extremely happy with our season and what direction the program is heading," Parsons said. "This team has been to the final four two straight years and I'm sure there are a lot of coaches that would be happy to make it one time."

The Pioneers reeled off 11 straight wins to open the season and were beaten twice by Seattle Pacific and by Akron (a Division I nationally ranked team most of the season). They posted an all-time record for most wins with 18 against just three losses.

"I was a little concerned about our schedule this year," Parsons said. "We had the majority of our tough games packed near the end of the season and sometimes that can hurt you. Nevertheless, the players responded to the schedule and seemed to improve every game."

Oakland's success can be traced to a well balanced scoring attack and good defense. Senior Morris Lupenec, who became the second Pioneer ever to make the annual Senior Bowl for the top 36 players in the country, topped the team with 16 goals and 15 assists. Nine other players scored four or more goals this season.

The Pioneer offense set new records for most goals scored in a season (72), most assists (54), and Lupenec established a new mark for most assists (15). On defense, Oakland also rewrote the record book. The defense allowed just 12 goals and goalkeeper Paul Larkin, a sophomore, set a career mark for most shutouts with 20.

Three other team records were also rewritten this fall. Along with the record for most wins, the Pioneers enjoyed their lowest number of losses (3) and most consecutive wins (11).

Oakland made the NCAA tournament with an outstanding defense that allowed Division II foes just seven goals. Seattle Pacific solved the defense headed by Larkin, freshmen Munadel Numan and Terje Enes, sophomore Chan-Ho Allen and junior Mike Lupenec for four of those goals.

That defensive effort was one of the main reasons for Oakland's trip to the tournament. A total of 12 teams failed to score on Oakland this season and the Pioneer goals against average was only 0.57.

The turning point in Oakland's season came late in the year at the Indiana State-Evansville Tournament. The Pioneers needed to win their games against ISUE and Wisconsin-Parkside to claim a berth in the national tournament. Oakland defeated Parkside (7-1) and ISUE (3-1) to beat the top contenders for a playoff spot in the tournament.

"Those games were key wins for us and it pretty well sealed our playoff bid," Parsons said. "They were two of the best teams in the region and our players played excellent soccer in the big games down the stretch."

An added spice to the season was winning the Great Lakes Cup against the Division I Michigan soccer programs. The Pioneers were unbeaten against Michigan State, Eastern Michigan, Western Michigan and Central Michigan.

Head Coach Gary Parsons

A winning tradition in collegiate soccer is developing at Oakland University and head coach Gary Parsons is the one moving the Pioneers up the ladder in Division II ranks.

Parsons, who has compiled an impressive collegiate record in three years at Oakland, has directed the Pioneers to two consecutive NCAA Division II Soccer Championship final four appearances. The Pioneers lost to Seattle Pacific University in the semi-finals, 1-0.

Parsons' record at Oakland is 46-11-5, including an all-time high national ranking of second and a Mideast Regional ranking of first in 1983. The Pioneers almost made the playoffs in his first year at Oakland with a 14-4-1 record and a number one ranking in the Mideast Region.

A strong believer in defense, Parsons has used his first head coaching job to continue a winning tradition that he's enjoyed since starting his collegiate career at Eastern Illinois.

The 31-year-old coach helped guide Eastern Illinois to a 24-9-1 two-year record and two playoff appearances. EIU's 1977 squad, coached by Schellas Hyndman, was eliminated in the midwest finals and the following year it finished third in the NCAA Division II playoffs.

After completing his master's degree in physical education from Eastern Illinois in 1978, Parsons went to Wisconsin-Milwaukee, a Division I power, and served as an assistant soccer coach under Dan Harris. The UWM defense, coached by Parsons, allowed just 16 goals and posted 13 shutouts to make the NCAA playoffs in 1979. The following year UWM made the playoffs again to give Parsons four straight post season bids.

NCAA soccer playoffs are becoming a tradition for Parsons' squad. In six years of coaching as an assistant or head coach, Parsons has been to five NCAA Division I or II soccer tournaments. The only season one of his teams failed to qualify was in 1981 when Parsons narrowly missed a playoff bid at Oakland.

Along with his collegiate coaching duties, he also serves as Chairman of the ISAA Mideast ranking committee and has a hand in the national rankings for collegiate soccer for every NCAA level of competition.

In addition to his coaching prowess, Parsons enjoyed a noteworthy playing career. He was voted the most valuable defensive player at Plymouth State College as a senior and helped the Panthers make the New England State College Athletic Conference soccer finals his last two years.

A two-time graduate of Plymouth State College, he holds bachelor's degrees in math (1973) and physical education (1975). Oakland's current director of athletics, Paul Hartman, started his administrative career in athletics as Plymouth State's athletic director.

Parsons, a native of Oakham, MA, also serves as men's tennis coach in the spring and directs the Oakland youth soccer camps during the summer.

Men's Swimming Looking for NCAA National Championship

ROCHESTER, MI — Oakland University is gearing up for a strong bid at the NCAA Division II national championship again this year. The Pioneers, second-place finishers in last year's NCAA meet to California State-Northridge, hope to make up the half-second that cost them the national crown last spring in the final event.

"This is going to be an exciting season and I'm looking forward to it," Head Coach Pete Hovland said. "We missed winning the national crown in the last event and I'm fairly positive that we can make it exciting again this winter."

The Pioneers return 13 letter winners from last year's cast that put together 23 All-American performances, two national championship relay teams (400 medley and 800 freestyle relay) and a second place 400 freestyle relay finish.

The catalyst behind the Pioneer drive to national prominence is Tracy Huth, a two-time NCAA Swimmer-of-the-Year and defending national champion record holder in the 200 and 400 IM events. The Yakima, WA native is an 18-time All-American and regarded by many as the finest swimmer in Division II competition. He has won six NCAA individual championships for Oakland.

"It's always a great thrill to watch Tracy compete. I'm just glad he's on our side," Hovland said. "His pride and winning attitude have made him the swimmer he's become at Oakland."

Huth is not the only standout swimmer wearing a Pioneer swim suit these days. Mike Schmidt (Senior, Birmingham), Jeff Colton (Sophomore, Grosse Pointe), Darin Abbasse (Senior, Kentwood), Alan Faust (Senior, East Wenatchee, WA) and Craig Chappell (Monroe) give the Pioneers good speed and depth in almost every event but the breaststroke.

Oakland's main problem last year was a lack of diving and in the end it doomed them in the NCAA meet. Mark Duff (Freshman, Swartz Creek), a sleeper in prep diving circles that missed the state meet because of a knee injury, will provide instant help on both boards. Steady Robert Causley (Sophomore, Grosse Pointe Shores) will also be a factor after a tough freshman year.

Even though Hovland would like more scoring punch from his divers, he's counting on another outstanding recruiting year to challenge for the national title.

Two junior college transfers, Mike McCloskey (Junior, Monroe) and Matt Croghan (Junior, Fremont, CA), boost times in their best events that would score in the top three in last year's meet. McCloskey, who attended Macomb Community College after two years at Miami (FL), sports all-time bests that would establish Division II national records in three events. Croghan, who attended Ohlone Junior College, has freestyle times that will make the graduation of distance freestyler Mike Sammons more tolerable.

Those two should blend with John Christiansen (Junior, Grand Haven) and senior Craig Chappell (Monroe), who both made All-American honors and contributed in the freestyle events. Hovland is hoping to have more bonus performances this year from Phil Zupic (Sophomore, Midland), Joren Peterson (Senior, Rochester), and Jeff Pryor (Sophomore, Inkster).

Two freshmen, Dale Schultz and Steve Larson, should qualify for nationals with improvement in their top events. Larson must fill the shoes of Brian Michalik, who decided not to swim this year and was an All-American sprinter as a freshman. The newest sprinter to attend Oakland was the second fastest swimmer in the state Class "A" meet last year.

"I'm looking for overall improvement in many areas to compensate for our weakness in the diving and breaststroke events," Hovland said. "If we can get help in those areas, then we'll be a much stronger team than last year."

Several other key performers may show added speed this year with some maturity. Peterson, Zupic, Pryor and Richardson all showed flashes of brilliance late last year and will add considerable depth.

The Pioneers will need plenty of depth to break the west's reign on the national title at the Division II level. Oakland was the last non-California school to turn the trick in 1980 and western schools have won seven of the last eight titles.

"The California swimming programs are outstanding. I just hope we have improved enough to overcome the talent those schools possess and bring the national championship back to Oakland," Hovland said. "We did it in 1980 and we've been close the last three years. I'm fairly certain that the group we've put together this year has championship potential much like the 1980 team."

Head Coach Pete Hovland

Pete Hovland is moving the Pioneers towards a national championship in men's swimming. Oakland missed winning the Division II title by one half of a second last season.

With a national championship in sight next year, Hovland is doing an outstanding job of maintaining OU's fine swimming tradition with many hours of hard work. The 29-year-old veteran of swimming circles is a strong recruiter and works hard with each individual swimmer's technique.

Corey Van Fleet and Ernie Maglischo set the foundation for OU's national-caliber program. OU has finished in the top five nine straight years and won the Division II crown in 1980.

A 23-time All-American at California-Chico State, Hovland worked as a men's swimming assistant coach for one year under Maglischo and was head coach of the women's swimming program. Hovland directed his swimmers to a third-place finish in 1982.

While swimming for Maglischo at Chico from 1972-76, Hovland won five national titles, participated in eight national title-winning relays and was 1977 Far Western Conference Swimmer-of-the-Year.

Hovland earned his bachelor's degree in physical education from Chico in 1977 and his master's from Northern Iowa in 1979.

WOMEN'S SWIMMING

Women's Swimming Enters New Era

ROCHESTER, MI — Oakland University's women's swimming program has come a long way since 1979 when current men's swimming coach Pete Hovland started the program on a full-time basis.

A fifth-place finish last year and a third-place standing in the 1981-82 NCAA Division II Swimming championships has put the program among the nation's elite.

This year the program hopes to find coaching stability under new women's swimming coach Mary Ellen Wydan. Wydan, a two-year assistant from the men's and women's swimming program at North Carolina in Chapel Hill, has definite plans to improve Oakland swimming.

The cupboard hasn't been left bare for the former Delaware swimming standout. Karen Enneking (Junior, Dearborn), a national champion in two breaststroke events, heads four talented swimmers that have earned All-American honors. Sophomore Kim Pogue (Farmington) scored three All-American times and sophomore Linda Scott (Rochester) and junior Kathy Van Valkenburg each garnered one All-American clocking last year.

"I would like to see a good percentage of personal bests from those swimmers," Wydan said. "We'll be setting long and short range goals so they will peak for the championship this year."

The idea of setting short and long range goals may be the difference in this year's unit. Last year the Pioneers coasted into the NCAA meet hoping to make a major impact. Those dreams were foiled when several key performers missed their taper.

"Motivation is enhanced by goal achieving," Wydan said. "The need to know you're accomplishing something in daily practices is very important. That way they can see a step-by-step progression."

Wydan hopes a steady progress to goals will help improve Oakland's swimming program. The confidence factor will play an important role in determining how successful this year's squad will turn out.

Along with Oakland's individual achievements in the last several years, the Pioneer relay teams have played major roles in their NCAA championship bids. Last year the OU relay units had two runnerup performances, one fifth-place finish and a seventh-place effort.

Three of the four swimmers return from the relay teams. Pogue, VanValkenburg, Enneking and Scott will form the majority of Oakland's relay teams this year.

With seven swimmers returning, Oakland recruited two newcomers to the program. Bonnie Gleffe (Saginaw, freestyle), and Becky Peabody have times that are near qualification standards.

"I'm sure they can improve those times with more concentrated workouts," Wydan said. "They will show improvement and blend nicely with our returnees."

A strong group of swimmers returning and some clever planning with each performer taper by Wydan may be the missing element that has eluded them. The blend may blend together quickly, and if they do, look for Oakland's program to be one of the top five programs in the nation for the third straight year.

1983-84 OAKLAND 6-5

Head Coach Mary Ellen Wydan

ROCHESTER, MI — Mary Ellen Wydan, Oakland University's new women's head swimming coach, knows what it takes to build and produce a winner, according to Paul Hartman, OU's Director of Athletics.

The 23-year-old Wydan, who has spent the last two years as an assistant men's and women's swimming coach at the University of North Carolina in Chapel Hill, North Carolina, replaces Mark Johnston, who resigned this summer.

"We are extremely pleased with Mary Ellen's decision to accept our offer to coach Oakland's women's swimming program," Hartman said. "We are confident she has the ability to maintain and develop the program to an even higher level."

A native of Lansdale, Pennsylvania, Wydan worked with the distance swimmers at North Carolina and produced several high quality swimmers. Two of her swimmers, Polly Winde and Sue Walsh, qualified for the Pan American Games and were vital members of the Tar Heel squad that placed sixth in the NCAA Division I meet last year. Walsh was a triple NCAA champion.

"Mary Ellen has an excellent background and is bringing us knowledge from a Division I atmosphere and skills to coach high quality athletes," Hartman said. "In short, she knows what it takes to build and produce a winner. She will be a great addition to our staff."

A national qualifier on Penn State's 400 freestyle relay team before transferring to Delaware in 1979, Wydan was a high school star at North Penn High School. She earned most valuable player honors all four years and was a prep All-American three times.

Mary Ellen Wydan

In addition to her swimming duties with Oakland, Wydan will have responsibilities in the Oakland Live Y'ers swimming program which has around 200 individuals participating at several different age-group levels.

Oakland's swimming program has finished third in 1981 and fifth in 1982 in the NCAA Division II swimming championships. Junior Karen Enneking is the defending champion in the 50 and 200 yard breaststroke events and holds the national record 2:25.26 in the 200. Oakland was 9-1 in dual meets last year.

TENNIS

New Talent Should Help Oakland Tennis

Men's tennis should provide some excitement this fall with an influx of new talent which might propel Oakland out of the cellar of the Great Lakes Intercollegiate Conference.

After finishing last in the GLIAC, Head Coach Gary Parsons may have recruited his finest class of tennis players.

"We're optimistic about this year," Coach Parsons said. "This year's team will be stronger because of the new players."

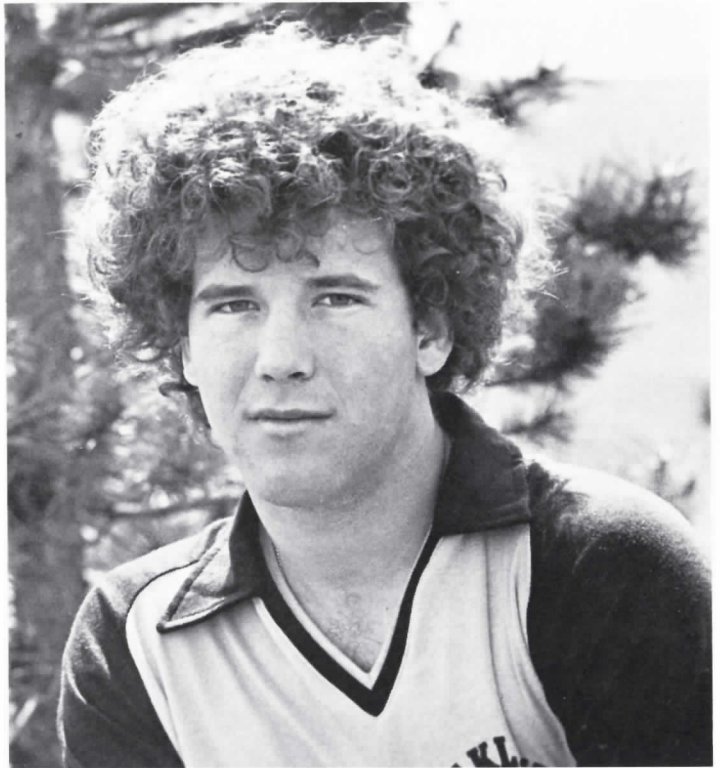

New recruits include Brian Veillette, a number one singles player at Ohio University, Mike Karl, Macomb Community College's top seeded player, and Paul Walling, a product of Oakland Community College with local tournament experience, are the main players that have Parsons excited about the new year.

The schedule will include some local independents and a complete conference slate.

This year's only holdover from last year is Ron Tran. The junior will be the squad's captain this year. He competed at number two singles last year.

The Pioneers were 2-7 last year in dual meet action.

In women's tennis, the Pioneers were 1-6 in dual meet competition in 1983. Faye Schilkey, Liz Fuller and Chris Hitchcock were the key performers for second-year head coach Donna Dickinson.

Volleyball Rebuilding Program Meets Success Under Head Coach Bob Hurdle

ROCHESTER, MI — Rebuilding a program in any sport is not easy and especially one that has had very little tradition. Head Coach Bob Hurdle is improving the program and last fall's 22-15 record is a good indication.

The Pioneers did enjoy their best season ever during the fall. They set 12 new school records, won the Can-Am Tournament at Western Ontario University, and finished a respectable sixth place in the Great Lakes Intercollegiate Conference Championships.

"I think we played outstanding volleyball for the majority of the year," Coach Hurdle said. "We may have peaked a little too soon, but they learned what it takes to win."

Hurdle is still rebuilding a program that has never commanded much respect in the GLIAC and one sign of the changing of the guard came when Oakland defeated Wayne State and Grand Valley in the Can Am Tournament.

"Our players earned the respect of the conference this season," Hurdle said. "I can't ever recall Oakland beating Wayne State or Grand Valley in volleyball during the same year. It may not sound like a major accomplishment, but for us I think it shows the direction this program is heading."

Hurdle and most GLIAC volleyball observers feel Oakland would most likely have finished higher in the GLIAC championships with a couple of breaks. The biggest setback was a late season injury to All-Conference performer Erika Bauer, who played on a bad ankle injury most of the tournament.

"Bauer's injury may have cost us a couple of places in the standings," Hurdle said. "We were playing excellent volleyball at the time of the injury to Bauer."

Despite the conference setback the Pioneers still managed to re-write the record books. Terri Wiechert, Linda Sciotti, and Mary Pike each set three records this season and Becca Wyatt broke two other marks.

Wiechert set new marks for kills (238), hitting percentage (.235) and spike attempts (664). Sciotti set up the offense by setting all-time records for most assists (506), serve percentage (98.74) and most consecutive matches (89). Pike established new records for service aces (62), service points (306) and saves (79). Consistent Becca Wyatt put together two blocking records, including most solo blocks (75) and most block assists (111). The team's 22 wins also was a new high.

Hurdle's rebuilding program shows no signs of stopping. Bauer, Wiechert, Sciotti, Pike, Wyatt and a host of other players will be returning next year.

"We should have everybody back next year and I'm looking forward to another record-setting year," Hurdle said. "We have the experience and they'll know how to prepare for it."

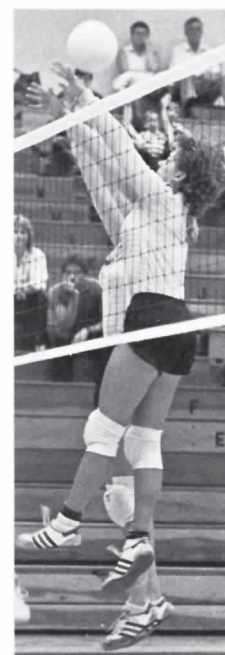

The glue holding this squad together is Bauer. The team captain made All-Conference for the second straight year despite her injury and without a doubt is the most complete volleyball player at Oakland.

"Erika makes things so much easier for her teammates," Hurdle said. "She is smart, hustles, and works harder than anybody. Her attitude is fantastic."

With everyone back for another year, the Pioneers will most likely make a run at the GLIAC championships in 1984.

Head Coach Bob Hurdle

Bob Hurdle enters his second year in rebuilding Oakland's volleyball program. A successful high school coach at Andover High School, the 28-year-old posted a 13-13 record with three freshmen in the starting lineup his first year and a 22-15 mark in 1983.

Last season Hurdle devoted most of his time to Oakland's volleyball program. The timing appears to be perfect with the Pioneer program coming into its own. Three freshmen that started in 1982 have the Pioneer volleyball program moving in the right direction.

Prior to coming to OU, he built Andover High School volleyball into an outstanding program. He posted a 96-36 record in six years and guided Andover to a pair of Southwestern Michigan Association championships and one Greater Oakland Athletic League championship.

Hurdle has a bachelor's degree in business from Ferris State and a minor in physical education. He and his wife, Lois, live in West Bloomfield.

Cross Country Shows Steady Improvement

Oakland University's cross country program is showing steady improvement and new Head Coach Terry Dibble will most definitely speed up the progress.

Dibble, a 29-year-old Oakland graduate, is well-known in the area for his fund raising, recruiting skills and running technique knowledge.

"I'm impressed with his overall knowledge and his willingness to make Oakland's cross country program one of the more outstanding programs in the Great Lakes Intercollegiate Conference," Athletic Director Paul Hartman said. "We're happy to find a candidate with his expertise and enthusiasm."

The road has been rocky for this sport, but the naming of Dibble and eight new freshmen in the program should make this sport a team to watch in the Great Lakes Intercollegiate Conference in the future.

John Brabbs, Dave Smith, Morris Burley and Rick Bailey form the nucleus of a strong cross country team in the future.

Along with improvement in the coaching area, the schedule has been upgraded to include eight meets. The Pioneers compete in almost every state cross country invitational and travel to several out-of-state meets for more competition.

John Horwarth was OU's top runner this year.

WRESTLING

Three All-American Candidates Put Oakland in Wrestling Spotlight

ROCHESTER, MI — Three All-American candidates have Oakland University's wrestling program on the verge of cracking the NCAA Division II top ten. The Pioneers finished 24th in last year's national tournament and second in the Great Lakes Intercollegiate Conference.

Head Coach Jack Gebauer is counting heavily on Brad Wilkinson, Oakland's second All-American ever, John Craig, and Matt Vondrasek.

Wilkinson is Oakland's best bet to improve on his seventh place national finish last year. The 126-pound grappler would like nothing better than to win the national championship after three national appearances.

Another three-time national qualifier capable of winning All-American honors is Craig. He has dominated the GLIAC in his weight class and appears to be the favorite to clinch a fourth championship this year. He was 27-4-1 last year with seven pins.

The third potential All-American is Vondrasek. After receiving a taste of NCAA wrestling last year, the 142-pound senior should have an outstanding shot at a high finish. The former national judo champion finished with a 32-4 record last year and team high 13 pins. Along with being a national qualifier, he was the GLIAC champion at 142.

"We have surprised a lot of people with our wrestling talent the last several years," Gebauer said. "Craig, Vondrasek and Wilkinson are three of the best around and I know they are going to have a major impact on the conference and national picture this year."

Blessed with a strong returning cast, Gebauer has managed to recruit a stable full of fine wrestling talent in different weight classes than the returnees to add some depth to Oakland's squad.

"The reason we didn't win the GLIAC last year was our lack of depth," Gebauer said. "Ferris State didn't have as many conference champions as we did, but they did have more competitive wrestlers at each weight class."

Gebauer's most successful recruiting year should make Oakland more competitive at every weight class. Jerry Umin, a two-time state champion in Class "B," should bring additional skill to his weight class. Gebauer's other recruits all finished as state champions or in the top three in their weight classes. Bill Brewer, Keith Dewitt, Andy Helka, Pat Stano, Tim Weisenberger and John Solomonson all should push for playing time.

"I believe we had an excellent recruiting year," Gebauer said. "Some of our best matches will be on our own gym floor during practice."

The Pioneers open the season with the Ceasar's Palace Invitational in Las Vegas, Nevada. The meet is expected to draw about 40 schools, including Iowa, Oklahoma, Oklahoma State and Division II national champion California-Bakersfield. The league action starts on January 14 against Lake Superior State at Lepley Sports Center.

"The schedule is a tough one for us," Gebauer said. "Stiff competition is one way our wrestlers can improve and hopefully we'll upgrade ourselves enough to move up in the NCAA Division II wrestling standings at nationals. I think we can move up at least ten places."

Head Coach Jack Gebauer

Jack Gebauer enters his fifth season as Oakland's wrestling head coach with a 29-25-2 lifetime record and the program reaching its highest competitive level.

OU's Pioneers enjoyed its highest national finish last season with a 24th place finish at the NCAA Division II Wrestling Championships. Five grapplers qualified for the national tournament and one wrestler, Brad Wilkinson, made All-American.

Wilkinson's feat was only the second time an Oakland wrestler has been awarded an All-American honor.

A former wrestler from Northern Michigan, he posted a 58-31-1 prep mark with Waterford Kettering and Bishop Foley. He graduated with a bachelor's of science in industrial arts and physical education and has a master's of arts in special education from Oakland in 1977.

Jack Gebauer

Assistant Coach Masaaki Hatta

A two-time NCAA Division I champion wrestler from Oklahoma State in 1962, Masaaki Hatta begins his fourth year as an Assistant Head Coach. His expertise in collegiate wrestling is nationally known.

Hatta is a nationally known figure in wrestling and beat Iowa legend Dan Gable in 1962. The native of Japan posted 123 collegiate victories for Oklahoma State.

A computer expert with the Burroughs Corporation, Hatta earned a bachelor's of arts in math from Oklahoma State and a master's of arts from the University of Wisconsin-Madison.

He served as an assistant coach at Wisconsin for three years and has been a major force in the rising stature of the Michigan Wrestling Club.

Assistant Coach Tony Basirico

Tony Basirico enters his ninth season as an Assistant Coach on Jack Gabauer's staff. A graduate of Pontiac Catholic High School, he works with the heavyweights on a full-time basis.

"Tony is very knowledgeable about the moves a heavyweight needs to know," Gebauer said. "He takes over our big guys and turns them into conference contenders every year."

Gebauer coached the 27-year-old Basirico in football and has had Basirico as assistant for five years at Kettering High School and four at Oakland.

Assistant Coach Geoff Baum

Geoff Baum, a national champion at 190 twice at Penn State, also serves as a part-time assistant to Gebauer. A resident doctor at Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital, he volunteers his time to stay in contact with collegiate wrestling.

The three-time Pennsylvania State champion helps with technique and helps the Pioneer wrestlers with the mental aspects of the game.

Wrestlers to Watch

JOHN CRAIG

134 lbs. Senior Hazel Park, MI
