'Corpses' Ready for Unveiling

MYSTERIOUS INVADERS?—Who are the strange forms keeping an eye on Pontiac's city hall—and just before election time? Actually, they've been there all winter. They are canvas-shrouded shrubbery and trees, carefully guarded all winter long by Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department forestry division employees. The forms may look ominous now, but any day their pretty greenery will burst forth.

Con-Con Unit to Request 4-Month Recess May 15

LANSING (AP)—The administration committee of the constitutional convention decided today to recommend that delegates take a four-month recess on May 15 and then return for a one-day session and final "sine die" adjournment.

The plan was approved by the committee in a hastily-called meeting during debate on establishment of a civil rights commission, in violation of a convention rule.

Newsmen were not notified of the unscheduled meeting.

It was called shortly before the committee was to take up with a legislative appropriation committee again its request for a supplemental appropriation of some $100,000 to cover expenses not covered by the convention's original $2 million budget.

The supplemental budget request was juggled by the administration committee to delete all references to "public information" activities.

DISCUSS REQUESTS

Two convention delegates who once sat in the Legislature, former Sen. Edward Hutchinson, R-Fennville, and former Rep. T. Jefferson Hoxie, R-St. Louis, talked informally this morning with members of the Senate Appropriations Committee, sounding them out about chances of getting more money.

Hutchinson emphasized this was not an official meeting. He also scaled down the request for additional funds.

"I think about $150,000 more would cover it," he said.

Sen. Elmer R. Porter, R-Bloss field, told Hutchinson: "If we do give you more money, we'll want to write in the conditions."

"We want to be assured none of the money will be used for the money to go out and tell the people what a good job they did," said Sen. Lynn O. Francis, R-Midland.

Pontiac to Petition County on River Construction

Pontiac will petition the Oakland County Drain Commission for the construction of nearly $4-million in improvements to the Clinton River in the city's central business district and near east side.

Following a stormy debate at last night's meeting, the City Commission approved a resolution authorizing the petition by a 4-3 vote.

The move was recommended by City Manager Robert A. Stierer. Total estimated cost of the job, according to the city's consulting engineers Jones, Henry

Lundgren From UP Claims Dirty Work

LANSING (AP)—Kent T. Lundgren, Republican nominee for the state Senate from the 30th District, charged today that top state Democratic officials were ganging up on him by touring the Upper Peninsula to campaign against him.

Lundgren, a constitutional convention delegate from Menominee, will be opposed by Democrat Prentiss Brown Jr. in the April 2 election to fill a vacancy in the state Senate.

"I don't know who is mindering the shop in Lansing with all the top state officials touring the Upper Peninsula to campaign against me," said Lundgren.

Meets With JFK at White House

Rusk Reports on Geneva, Berlin

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy and Secretary of State Dean Rusk met at the White House today to review what the Geneva conference and talks on Berlin have produced so far.

Rusk flew back from Geneva last night. He went to the White House this morning to make his first report to the chief executive. He walked in through a side door to executive offices with a tan of fatigue case in his hand. He had nothing to say to newsmen at that point.

Kennedy and Rusk conferred privately for about 25 minutes.

With the sun shining brightly, they spent part of the time outside. Kennedy's office overlooks the White House rose garden, which is now being repainted with shrubs and other perennials.

The President and secretary then went into the National Security Council Meeting.

When that was over, Rusk left the White House without seeing reporters.

The secretary of state was expected to meet also with the Senate and House Foreign Relations committees, probably Thursday.

While no major progress occurred on basic cold war disputes the 17-nation disarmament conference did not break up in an angry flurry as have some past East-West gatherings. The Soviets showed a willingness to keep on talking about Berlin, rather than pressing the issue to the point of war.

Lower level delegates remained at Geneva for what is expected to be months of negotiating on the complicated and still largely unresolved disarmament issues.

The Berlin talks, by agreement between Rusk and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko at Geneva, are scheduled for renewal after an inconclusive round between Gromyko and U.S. Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson at Moscow earlier this year.

Informal sources said the site of the main U.S.-Soviet discussions on Berlin probably will shift to Washington with the Soviet representative to be Ambassador Anatoly Dobrynin. Russian sources have been touting the new Soviet ambassador here as a man close to Premier Khrushchev.

With no cold war breakthrough yet in sight, long-range U.S. policy seemed based on increasing U.S. military strength while keeping flexible and patient in dealing with the Russians.

TIME ON U.S. SIDE:

U.S. strategists, growingly confident that time is on their side, kept close watch for potentialities in the Communist bloc's troubles highlighted by the widening rift between the Soviet Union and Red China.

Evening shoppers in downtown Pontiac will have free off-street parking before long, thanks to a group of downtown merchants and the City Commission.

The merchants have offered to pay the city $50 a month for free parking on all municipal parking lots each weekday after 5 p.m.

Last night commissioners voted unanimously to accept the offer and authorized City Manager Robert A. Stierer to close the deal.

The city would normally make slightly more on meter charges during those hours each month, but agreed to allow the agreement leaving open the possibility of a future rate change if the loss proved too great.

Commissioners praised the move as "a real service to the public."

Merchants hope to have the free parking in effect by April 1. It will not apply to on-street spaces.

OLD ARMY REVOLT

The statement said the coup was a continuation of the Sept. 29 army revolt which broke Syria's tie with the U.A.R., and "an internal affair to correct conditions in Syria." It said the army's aim at home was "establishment of constructive Arab socialism," the same term used by Nasser to describe his program.

The army command also called for "the establishment of comprehensive Arab unity on a clear basis, especially with beloved Egypt and brotherly Iraq as considering the Palestine problem as problem number one of the Arab nation."

It affirmed as its international aim "positive neutrality and non-alignment and respect of international charters including the United Nations charter."

earlier this month in Garden City. Company officials said they plan a total of approximately 37 similar stores across the country.

Some will be as large as 117,000 square feet. Formerly, most Kresge retail outlets were from 20,000 to 30,000 square feet in area, according to a company spokesman.

The Pontiac K Mart will have a complete drug department with prescription service, not available in the smaller Garden City branch. It also will include a snack bar. (Continued on Page 2, Col 1)

Argentine Chief Refuses to Quit, Goes to Lunch

Situation Muddled as 2 Top Army, AF Men Try to Resign

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina. (AP)—President Arturo Frondizi calmly turned aside a new armed forces ultimatum for his resignation today and dramatically ordered his pink palace cleared of battle-gear troops.

In a few minutes the battalion of troops armed with submachine guns, disappeared from positions it had occupied in the palace and outside his office.

The embattled president then went off to lunch.

A rash of reports bombarded this capital since before dawn that the army, navy and air force chiefs had already set the machinery in motion for an imminent ouster of the president. But these reports subsided somewhat later.

Shortly before ordering the palace cleared of troops the president refused to accept outright the resignations of Gen. Rosendo Fraga, secretary of the army, and Jorge Rojas Silveira, secretary of the air force. He took the resignations under advisement.

WANTED FREE HAND

It was clear the two armed forces chiefs were seeking to give themselves a free hand in the tense developments. The navy secretary, Adm. Gaston Clement, quit several days ago and since then the navy has been in the van in demanding Frondizi's resignation.

In the confused developments, the commanders of the three armed services served a written demand on the president early in the afternoon to resign immediately. They set no hour. Frondizi before dawn already had firmly rejected one such demand.

Military units soon after dawn began taking up guard posts at telephone exchanges and many other key centers in the capital and throughout the country.

Military sources described these measures as phase 1 of a plan for the forcible ouster of the president.

Hector Gomez Machado, president of the Frontline bloc in the Congress, declared, however, that the military movements were a security measure against possible attacks by Peronista elements.

Senate Evades Snowdown on Inglis, Scholle

NEW DIRECTOR — On hand to greet members of the Pontiac Boys Club is today the club's new program director, Ralph W. Strahm, former executive director of the Marion, Ind., Boys Club. Strahm, a Methodist

Issue Referred to Committee

Vote Sending Matter Back to Unit Enables Men to Stay on Job

LANSING (UP)—The Senate fought over whether to confirm or kill two contested appointments by Gov. Swainson has ended in a burst of activity but without a showdown vote.

The matter was referred back to the Senate Business Committee yesterday, enabling the appointees to continue to serve without confirmation.

Subjects of the political tug-of-war were James H. Inglis, 31, 300-a-year chairman of the State Public Service Commission, and August (Gus) Scholle, state AFL-CIO president, an unpaid member of the State Conservation Commission.

Vote on referral to the Business Committee was 21-11. Sen. Lynn O. Francis, R-Midland, voted with Democrats in the minority. Francis, a conservative, said he wanted to see the issue settled on the Senate floor.

MODERATES GAVE UP Republican moderate Rep. Scholle had planned to vote with Democrats for confirmation but gave up on the idea.

Sen. Stanley G. Thayer, R-An Arbor, a leader of the moderates, said they gave up because there were not enough supporting votes for Inglis. Eighteen are required for confirmation.

It was generally agreed there were not enough votes in the GOP-dominated Senate to confirm Scholle whose demands for Senate reapportionment and criticism of Republican legislators has won him no GOP friends in the Senate.

Inglis and Scholle were appointed by Swainson last June for terms expiring in 1967. If a Republican governor were elected in November, he could replace them with new appointees after the first of the year if they still were serving without Senate confirmation.

Swainson termed the Republican action in the Senate "a disgraceful display of the Senate's inability to face up to even simple decisions."

"They floundered in committee, splashed around on the Senate and then retreated in organized confusion to the dry, sterile land of no decision," the governor said.

Leaving confirmation unsettled, he said, "comes close to political blackmail."

"His (Inglis) only apparent defect is that he is consumer-minded," said Sen. Raymond D. Dendel, D-Detroit, of Inglis. "It is not overcome with awe at big corporations."

"Stand up and be counted," Sen. Basil W. Brown, D-Detroit, challenged Republicans. "You lack courage when you won't cast your vote for or against these men or their appointments."

GUARDS ALGIERS — A French tank trains its guns on downtown Algiers as it stands guard following weekend battles with the European Secret Army Organization in the Bab el Oued district. French reinforcements were rolling into the city today to prevent new outbreaks.

60,000 French Soldiers Mass to Control Algiers

ALGIERS (AP)—The French new outbreak by the Secret Army Organization fighting to sabotage the cease-fire agreement between France and Algerian nationalists rebels. Armed cars and halftracks patrolled the streets of the Algerian capital.

The Secret Army Organization is known as the OAS.

The settlers' cause appeared hard hit by the heavy army fire into a crowd of European demonstrators Monday in which 43 Europeans were killed and 120 Europeans were wounded in the heart of the city.

"We are so stunned we cannot think of any reaction," said one secret army agent.

17 DIE TUESDAY Secret army terrorism continued unabated, nevertheless, by midnight Tuesday the day's toll for all Algeria stood at 17 dead and 88 wounded, all Moslems except two of the dead.

In Oran, French troops killed a young European on a motor scooter or who they said had just slain a Moslem. Authorities in Oran also announced the arrest of former Lt. Cmdr. Pierre Guillaume, a sector chief of the secret army and the only navy man convicted of participation in the general's revolt in Algiers last April.

He was flown to Paris to join his former secret army chief, ex-Gen. Edmond Jouhaud, who was seized Sunday night in Oran.

Noted Grid Coach Bob Neyland Dies NEW ORLEANS (UP)—Gen. Robert R. Neyland, who built the University of Tennessee's mighty football empire and trained some of the nation's top coaches, died here today after a long illness. He was 70.

Neyland, who had been hospitalized at Ochsner Foundation Hospital here since Jan. 14, succumbed to the liver and kidney ailment that had forced his retirement from active coaching after the 1952 season. Since then, he had continued in his lifetime post as athletic director.

During 21 seasons in 27 years starting in 1926, Neyland's teams won 171 games, lost 27 and tied 12. His 1951 undefeated and untied team won the national championship.

Reapportionment Vetoed LANSING (UP)—Gov. Swainson's veto of a Republican-backed congressional reapportionment plan left GOP legislators with a choice of drafting another plan suitable to the governor or permitting election of a congressman-at-large.

The Democratic governor handed down his promised veto of the reapportionment bill yesterday and there was virtually no chance the legislature would override it.

With help from one Democrat, Senate Republicans could muster the necessary two-thirds majority to nullify the governor's decision, but the House almost certainly would not go along.

Accompanying Swainson's first veto of the 1962 season was a plea for lawmakers "to reopen your deliberations to this problem and provide the people of Michigan a fair and honest distribution of representation" in Congress.

'UNEQUAL DISTRICTS' The GOP plan, he said, "seeks to establish greatly unequal congressional districts that violate the principles of fair and equal representation." Population of the 19 districts, he noted, would range from 177,431 to 623,842.

The 19th District, allocated to Michigan because of population gains, would have been established in southern Macomb County and the southeastern corner of Oakland County. Based on past voting records, he noted, would give Republicans 12 districts, an increase of one.

The Day in Birmingham Bloomfield Twp. to Award Fire Station Bid April 12

BIRMINGHAM — A construction contract for a Bloomfield Township new fire station is expected to be awarded at the April 9 meeting of the Township Board.

Twelve bids for its construction were received yesterday by Township Clerk Delores Little.

The fire station, the fourth for the township, would be built at Franklin and Keady roads just north of Squire Lake Road.

The building would be similar in construction to fire station three on Maple Road, west of Telegraph Road.

The firms submitting the three lowest bids before the 2 p.m. deadline were Garasica Construction Co. of Detroit, $44,566; T. W. Hay Construction Co. of Birmingham, $46,369; and Julian Wilson of Birmingham, $46,360.

The Congregational Church of Birmingham will hold informative meetings for prospective members on Sunday at 8:15 p.m. and again on April 8 in the church sanctuary.

New members will be received into the church on Maundy Thursday, April 19, at 8 p.m.

The Bloomfield Board of Education has announced that it will hold its meetings on the fourth Tuesday of the month rather than the third Tuesday. The change becomes effective in April.

Original plans called for tunneling the river, but if the drain could be built in open cut there when the perimeter road goes in, the city could save $422,000 and an additional $80,000 for a bridge where the river loops under Cass Avenue.

Generally, in other central business districts, the river would be put in a tunnel, then into concrete box conduit to about Seneca Street, then in an open concrete and earth channel to East Boulevard.

Another major reason listed by Stier for moving now is that the project was claimed as a noncash credit in the amount of $437,000 toward the city's share of the R20 urban renewal project.

It has also been claimed as a $378,814 credit toward the R40 project, totaling $815,814.

If dropped, the credits would have to be figured in other projects, or more likely paid in cash. "Then, we'd have nothing but a check stub to show for it," Stier said.

The project was opposed bitterly by Commissioners Robert A. Landry, Milton R. Henry and Linford E. Bottom, on grounds that the drain would harm the city with a large debt, that it wasn't necessary to move at this time and that other items, such as community recreation centers, were needed more than the river improvement.

3rd Life Claimed by Crash as Girl Dies in Hospital An 18-year-old Madison Heights girl died last night in St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

She suffered in an accident which already had claimed two lives Friday night in Avon Township.

Cynthia Biedzinski, 18, of 820 Henshaw St., who had been the only survivor of the fiery two-car crash on John R. Road near South Boulevard, was dead shortly before 10 p.m., according to hospital authorities.

Previous victims were Ralph J. Giordano Jr., 22, 4610 Ryan Road, Grosse Pointe Park, and E. Krassnick of Pittsburgh, Pa., a soldier stationed at the Ulca Nike missile site. Both were dead on arrival following the accident Friday night.

House Democrats helped pass the bill and route it to the Senate merely to leave the bill in the Senate with something to work with.

Upper Peninsula Democrats have supported the two GOP reapportionment plans because neither tampers with the two districts in their area.

A third plan, authorized by Sen. Carl H. Moore, R-Kalamazoo, and endorsed by the governor would cut Upper Peninsula's representation from two to one.

Washington Unit Slaps Michigan's Law Laxity

WASHINGTON (UP)—An investigation subcommittee took a slap at Michigan today in reporting to the Senate that the underworld may pocket more than $30 billion a year in gambling profits.

The $30 billion would be almost as much as the government will spend on defense this year.

'Senate investigators, in making their report, singled out Michigan for its handling of an alleged attempt to bribe a University of Oregon football halfback in 1960.'

Michigan was urged to take "more vigorous prosecutive action by appropriate law enforcement authorities" to punish gamblers who attempted to bribe the player to throw the game.

The subcommittee asked new laws to curb racketeers, including the corruption of college and professional athletes.

Witnesses told subcommittee hearings last fall that the man who allegedly tried to bribe Oregon halfback Michael Bruce got off with a $100 fine—imposed for registering at a motel under a false name—and two accomplices fled Michigan without being identified.

Mt. Fuji in Japan Owned by Shrine

NAGOYA, Japan (UP)—A district court ruled today that the top of famed Mt. Fuji belongs to a Shinto shrine, not the government.

The court ruled that the conical mountain from a station at 10,859 feet to the 12,389-foot summit belongs to Asama Shrine. Asama has a shrine on the mountain top. The finance ministry rejected the claim, filed five years ago.

It said the public interest forbids ownership of the summit by anyone other than the government. It probably will appeal.

Goldwater Sees Ruling on Apportionment Fair

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., took issue today with those who see the Supreme Court's action on legislative apportionment as a blow to political conservatives.

Goldwater, a spokesman for GOP conservatives, called the court's ruling which opened the field of urban-rural representation to federal judicial review "a proper decision."

"I know there are those who say that the conservatives' political strength will be reduced if the cities gain more representation in the legislatures," he said in an interview.

"But I don't agree with that. I don't think it will make any change. There are proportionately just as many conservatives in the metropolitan as in the rural areas."

Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., who regards himself as considerably more liberal than Goldwater, said in a statement that the Democrats would gain by legislative changes giving a greater voice to city voters is premature.

Supporting the court's action, he said surveys have shown that the cities—where the Democrats have proved themselves strong—have had improved representation while the suburbs—where Republicans have been more numerous—have suffered.

"It is evident from such studies that the suburbs of America, rather than the cities, would be the most likely beneficiaries of an apportionment overhauling," he said.

States' rights critics found no practical way of warding off what they characterized as federal intervention in a local field.

Sen. Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., predicted U.S. judges will find themselves involved in complex difficulties in carrying out the high court's direction.

"It was a terrible decision," he said. "I do not regard it as the rights of the states."

To Use N-Blasts in Missile-Killer Tests

By ELTON C. FAY
AP Military Affairs Writer

WASHINGTON—Nuclear blasts from devices hurled several hundred miles aloft, to test out theories about antismissile techniques, probably will be included in the U.S. series of tests over the Pacific scheduled to start late next month.

Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara, without giving details about attitudes or other factors, says such tests would help in the search for a defense against an enemy ballistic missile attack.

President Kennedy announced March 2 the United States would resume nuclear testing in the atmosphere unless the Soviet Union agreed before then to a full-proof test ban agreement.

ASKED ABOUT TESTS
During a hearing by a House Appropriations subcommittee, the transcript of which was made public Tuesday night, McNamara was asked if atomic explosions were needed to test the Zeus anti-missile system.

He replied: "The explosion of nuclear weapons in the atmosphere under properly controlled and planned conditions will add to our knowledge of nuclear explains, the effect of one nuclear explosion on another nuclear explosion; the effect of nuclear explosions on radars and other electronic devices, all of which can be of value conceivably in the development of anti-ICBM systems."

DIDN'T GO FAR
This was as far as McNamara's published remarks went in discussing what would be sought in the Pacific test series as related to antismissile development.

However, McNamara appeared to be referring to three facets in the anti-ICBM study:

1. The radar effect—A nuclear explosion, particularly one of high force, can produce an ionized cloud. This cloud can cut off the penetration of radar waves essential in tracking missiles and directing antismissiles. This shielding effect can extend as far as 100 miles and last up to several hours. Moreover, deliberate creation of ionized clouds perhaps could be used for decoy purposes, to present false targets for the defending system.

2. Electro-magnetic effect—Some of this effect on guidance and other instruments might operate in the air, although the primary effect probably would be on the ground. An enemy missile exploding on the ground or up to several thousand feet above it could cripple cable and control systems temporarily, even though the blast and heat of the explosion left them physically undamaged.

3. The effect of one nuclear explosion on another—This seems to point to several possibilities. One is the idea that a neutron flux, produced by nuclear explosion, would neutralize and render incapable the warhead of an enemy missile. How well this operation would depend on several factors, including the type of warhead and how close the Zeus or other type of intercept missile exploded to the enemy rocket.

McNamara repeated in his testimony what he has said before—that there are serious questions as to the practicality of Zeus, and for that reason the Defense Department refuses to permit the Army to go into production of some component of the Zeus until the system can be tested thoroughly. About $1 billion has been invested in the project.

McNamara said that the Zeus test, in which the antismissile will be fired up from Kwajalein Island against Atlas missiles to be launched from Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif., would be a "very important milestone" in development of the system.

It will test the tracking radar, the detection radar and the performance of the Zeus battery itself. But, McNamara said, this would be "under controlled conditions" differing substantially from those of actual combat.

BEACHED DESTROYER—A Navy sea and land task force continues work to free the beached destroyer USS Monssen at Beach Haven, N.J., blown ashore three weeks ago during the violent storm that lashed the Atlantic coast and left millions of dollars damage.

Three salvage vessels (top center) to the destroyer and will try to pull it inch-by-inch, the Navy said, into the water. The tents house Navy personnel working to clear away the sand to permit high tides to reach the vessel.

YOUTH IS RELEASED IN PROBE OF MURDER

DETROIT (AP)—Juvenile authorities turned a 16-year-old boy loose yesterday after holding him for nearly two months for investigation in the heinous slaying of his 4-year-old cousin.

Thomas Hill, 16, was released on orders from Wayne County Probate Judge James H. Lincoln, who said he was "completely satisfied" the youth is innocent.

Hill's step-brother, Frank Ramirez, 17, is in Wayne County Jail, awaiting trial on a murder charge in the slaying of Naomi Bosch last Jan. 31.

Lincoln earlier had refused a request by the Wayne County Prosecutor's office for a waiver of jurisdiction on Hill so he could be tried as an adult.

Defense Supply Unit in Battle Creek OK'd to Study Area Job Needs

WASHINGTON (AP)—The chairman of the House Armed Services Committee yesterday gave the green light to a new defense supply agency at Battle Creek, Mich., after being told any delay in the project "could be critical" to the nation's military effort.

Rep. Carl Vinson, D-Ga., said he would let the Defense Department go ahead with what he called the move of $25,000 in emergency funds, but warned "it's not going to happen again."

Vinson overrode objections of other committee members in giving his go-ahead on release of the funds after Assistant Secretary of Defense Thomas D. Morris testified the money is to be used in the Battle Creek project.

Morris said delay "could impair our military efficiency quite seriously." He told the committee that defense officials "should have communicated with you more fully" before going ahead with the plans.

A 12-man committee has been formed by the Michigan Employment Security Commission (MESC) to study local employment needs that could be filled through proposed training under the Area Redevelopment Act (ARA).

The committee will study civic, industrial, and business areas to discover what types of skills there is a need for.

They will then report their findings to the MESC. The purpose of the program is to take people off the unemployment rolls by training them in skills needed in this area at local schools and putting them to work.

It is part of President Kennedy's retraining program to be financed by federal funds. Cooperating in the program with the MESC is the State Department of Public Instruction.

On the Pontiac committee are representatives of the MESC, labor organizations, industry, business, city officials and educators.

The committee will meet April 5, at 3 p.m., at the MESC Branch Office, 242 Oakland Ave., to discuss area hospital needs.

Meeting last week, the committee has already indicated a current need for about 80 typists, stenographers, clerks and receptionists in Pontiac.

Call Cuba Military Giant of the Caribbean Area

WASHINGTON (AP)—Communist-supplied arms have made Cuba the military giant of the Caribbean, according to a State Department report.

The department said an estimated 400 million in Communist military aid "has turned the Cuban military establishment into one of the most formidable in Latin America. It has introduced a military capability hitherto not present in any of the Latin American countries of the Caribbean area."

Most of the arms have come from the Soviet Union and Czechoslovakia, the department reported yesterday.

It added "there is no evidence that the Soviet Union has supplied Cuba with missiles, or that missile bases are under construction." "Nor are any Soviet bombers known to have been turned over to Fidel Castro's regime."

Cuba has been receiving Communist arms shipments and military advisers since Soviet Deputy Premier Anastas Mikoyan visited the island nation in February 1960, the department said.

It said the report on Cuba's military build-up was issued in response to numerous requests. The State Department gave this accounting of Cuba's current arms status:

300,000 IN GROUND FORCE

"Cuba has a high-performance MIG 19 jet fighters and a 300,000-man ground force with armored weapons including heavy tanks and antitank equipment."

"Communist arms delivered in the past 18 months include 20 to 75 Soviet MIG jets, 120 to 250 medium and heavy tanks, 50 to 100 assault guns, 400 to 1,000 field artillery pieces, 500 to 1,000 anti-aircraft artillery guns, 500 mortars, 200,000 small arms, patrol and motor torpedos boats."

"There has been extensive military training of Cubans, both at home and in Communist nations."

"Communist bloc instructors are acting as full-time advisers to some Cuban military units."

"In addition to the fighters, the Cuban air force has received Communist helicopter, propeller-driven trainers and transports."

To Desegregate Catholic System

New Orleans Schools to Be Integrated by Next Fall

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP)—Roman Catholic schools in the New Orleans archdiocese will be desegregated next fall.

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Henry Beza, superintendent of the 75,000-student archdiocesan school system, read the announcement from Archbishop Joseph Francis Fumel Tuesday night.

The statement did not use the words Negro or desegregation. It said merely that "effective at the time of registration for the 1962-63 school session, all Catholic children may apply for admission to the Catholic schools of the archdiocese according to accepted educational standards."

Registration dates for all Catholic schools were set for April 13-14.

State Sen. E. W. Gravolet said the announcement "may have a severe reaction from a segregation-minded legislature."

Gravolet, a Catholic himself and vice chairman of the joint legislative committee on segregation, public aid "mass boycott will greet the integration" of Catholic schools in the city.

"I don't think the parents in these parochial schools will take this lying down," he said. "Catholic schools are a lot different from public schools. Parents of that parish build those schools and consider them private schools for their children."

Reuther, who appeared before an advertising group here last night, declined to elaborate on the statement. Romney, a former American Motors Corp. board chairman and currently a constitutional convention delegate, announced his decision to run for the GOP nomination for governor early last month.

The UAW chief lashed out at the current Congress and predicted an early contract settlement in the steel industry.

Doctors to See Robert Hackney

Sanity Commission to Check Driver Charged in Hit-Run Injury

A sanity commission was appointed yesterday to examine Robert Hackney, motorist charged with assault with intent to murder in the hit-run injury of a Pontiac Motor Division engineer last September.

Hackney's attorney, George Fulerson, filed a petition for the sanity commission after three days of trial in Circuit Court during which Asst. Prosecutor Richard Condit called 15 witnesses.

Judge Stanton Dondoro granted the petition and two doctors, Ivan Lucore and A. J. Fink, were appointed to examine Hackney, 20, of 409 Orchard Lake Ave. Their findings will be reported in a sanity hearing in about a week.

While free on bond in the hit-run case, Hackney was arrested by Pontiac police Monday on a charge of statutory rape. He is now being held on $50,000 bond in Oakland County jail.

In the sanity petition, Fulerson stated he believes Hackney to be insane and the defendant does not recall events connected with the hit-run case.

If Hackney is found unable to assist in his own defense, he can be committed to Jonis State Hospital. The hit-run trial will continue April 25 if he is judged able to stand trial.

Mark Lightfoot, 45, victim of the hit-run accident, testified during the trial that the car which struck him appeared to deliberately follow him as he tried to turn out of the way.

Lightfoot, of 2669 McClellan St., Bloomfield Township, appeared in court in a wheelchair.

When he was struck, Lightfoot was walking across the lot of 1300 Josely Ave., with Ralph J. March, a fellow Pontiac engineer.

March testified the hit-run car came at him and Lightfoot at a high rate of speed and they ran to avoid it.

Another engineer, Lawrence Wilkins, said he was driving in the lot when Hackney's car passed him and he ended in Lightfoot's direction.

The hit-run car could have avoided both Lightfoot and March, Wilkins testified.

NASA to Start Selecting Few New Astronauts

WASHINGTON (AP)—Want-ed: Five to 10 young men for imaginative, wide-ranging outfit with room at the top. Those who qualify will go far but the faint-hearted need not apply.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration is planning to select more astronauts soon but its number will have to take to the classified advertising columns with such an appeal to get applicants.

However, Space Administrator James E. Webb said yesterday, in announcing that a second group of five to 10 astronauts would be selected within a few weeks, that anyone could apply—including civilians.

The age limit for the new space candidates, he said, should be somewhat lower than now, indicating 35 might be the limit. Marine Lt. Col. John H. Glenn Jr., oldest of the present group of seven, is 40.

Kill Eichmann, Cries Lawyer

Prosecutor Says Court Should Order Stoning for Hitler's Man

JERUSALEM, Israel (UPI)—Atty. Gen. Gideon Hausner said today Adolf Eichmann should suffer Biblical execution—by stoning, burning, strangling and the sword—for every baby he consigned to the gas chambers.

Hausner ended his two-day speech before the Israeli supreme court hearing Eichmann's appeal against his death sentence for the World War II slaughter of six million Jews.

The court adjourned this morning until tomorrow.

Hausner urged the court to uphold the death sentence, passed by a special court last December.

"For every infant put to death," Hausner said, "he should be executed by the four methods listed in the Bible—stoning, burning, strangulation and the sword. There is no fitting punishment for a man who has caused the slaughter of a third of a nation and a million children."

Then, while Eichmann bowed his head inside the glass courtroom cage, Hausner said: "The court should sentence Eichmann for one of his crimes and let history pass judgment on him for eternal shame for all the rest."

"Whoever chooses Eichmann's way should end in disgrace," the prosecutor said. "His punishment should be death."

Water Pollution in Detroit Area at Hazard Point

DETROIT (AP)—Federal authorities reported yesterday that Detroit-area waters are being polluted to a point of hazard.

Their reports stated that most of the pollution is coming from raw sewage, industrial wastes and unchlorinated treated sewage.

Disclosure of the seriousness of the situation was made at the opening session of a conference called by Abraham Ribicoff, Secretary of Health Education and Welfare.

Gov. John Swainson and requested the conference in hopes of obtaining federal assistance in pollution control.

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Mrs. Ruth Waldron, 19, was awakened yesterday by a gunshot and found the middle finger of her left hand streaming blood.

The shot came from a 22-caliber Remington which she kept under her pillow for protection.

Sheriff's deputies said Mrs. Waldron's movements in sleep apparently caused a fold of the pillow to flip the pistol's hammer.

Rated on Annual Report

It has been no secret in recent years that top management is carefully looking over wives of top executives. Twisted seams or dowdy hair styling have marked "fines" to advancement chances for men in some firms.

The reasoning is: Our executives have to entertain a lot and a wife who is not up to snuff will hurt the firm's chances and business.

The contemplated extension of high echelon ogling has now reached one of the most exclusive men's clubs and social organizations—officers of the United States Navy.

Some bureaucrats has proposed rating the officer's wife on his annual report—whether she is an asset or a liability.

There is no doubt that the actions and appearance of Navy wives can mean a great deal, especially in sensitive locations like Washington. But including them on their husbands' reports seems to be stretching the point.

It is reasonable to assume that a happy officer will do a better job than one with a series of problems at home. The officer's state of mind is certainly legitimate information for annual reports.

But to go beyond that is asking for trouble. The "pecking order" of Navy wives is well-established, and including their appearance and abilities on official reports would only make the situation worse.

The next step is stripes denoting rank on the "basic black" dress.

Guest Editorial
Why U.S. Must Continue Foreign Aid Program

(The Washington Star)

President Kennedy has said to Congress:

"I realize that there are among us those who are weary of sustaining this continual effort to help other nations. But I would ask them to look at a map and recognize that many of those whom we help live on the 'front lines' of the long twilight struggle for freedom—that others are new nations poised between order and chaos—and the rest are older nations now undergoing a turbulent transition. Our efforts to help them help themselves, to demonstrate and to strengthen the vitality of free institutions, are small in cost compared to our military outlays. Yet all of our armies and atoms combined will be of little avail if these nations fall, unable to meet the needs of their own people, and unable to stand off within their borders the rise of forces that threaten our security. This program and the passage of this bill—are vital to the interests of the United States."

It is on the basis of this argument—that an argument whose essentials have been presented over and over again by his predecessors ever since the end of the Second World War—that Mr. Kennedy has called upon Congress to appropriate nearly $4.9 billion for aid to our friends and allies during fiscal 1963. The aid, including considerable military assistance, would be predominantly economic—with special emphasis on the projects envisioned by the Alliance for Progress as measures designed to promote a dramatic and sorely needed improvement in Latin America's living standards.

But this alliance is a task for a decade, not for a year. It requires further changes in outlook and policy by all American states, and the changes must include energetic efforts by the countries receiving our aid to carry out far-reaching programs of self-help and self-reform. This holds true for every recipient in every part of the world, but it is particularly applicable to our good neighbors south of us.

Congress can be counted upon to give a very close look at what the President has recommended. This is a business that has filled our country with a considerable and understandable amount of weariness, and continuing inquiry is altogether justified. Still, we can hardly throw off the burden which our prospering Western allies must help to carry in increasing measure—without endangering ourselves. Mr. Kennedy has stressed that point to good effect.

Reflection

David Lawrence Says:

Needed: New Cold War Strategy

WASHINGTON—Nikita Khrushchev reads everything that President Kennedy says, and vice versa.

It may be taken for granted, therefore, that the Soviet premier will analyze carefully a brief statement which the President gave to Stewart Alsop, who made it the theme of a long article he wrote for the current issue of "The Saturday Evening Post."

The article itself is entitled "Kennedy's Grand Strategy," and the President is quoted as having said:

"... In some circumstances we must be prepared to use the nuclear weapon at the start, come what may—a clear attack on Western Europe, for example. But what is important is that if you use these weapons you have to control their use. What you need is control, flexibility, a choice."

There follows an explanation of alternative courses that might be pursued by the President. While presumably based on Mr. Kennedy's ideas, it is presented as Mr. Alsop's own analysis. He gives, for instance, this outline of Mr. Kennedy's "grand strategy":

"The aim now is to convince Khrushchev on one point, and leave him uncertain on another. This country must maintain a sufficient margin of superiority in nuclear striking power so that Khrushchev will be certain that, if he strikes first, he will receive a devastating counterblow."

"But Khrushchev must not be certain that, where its vital interests are threatened, the United States will never strike first. As Kennedy says, 'In some circumstances we might have to take the initiative.' In these ways Khrushchev is to continue to be convinced that 'global thermonuclear war' is something to avoid."

LIKE IKE'S POLICY

Reporters who asked at the White House on Tuesday for amplification of this were told that it was merely a restatement of the policy of the previous administrations—namely, that if conventional forces become engaged in war, the United States would not hesitate to be the first to use nuclear weapons so as to prevent Soviet forces from overrunning Europe.

President Kennedy is, therefore, represented as believing that conventional forces must be increased, that nuclear striking power must be maintained at a high level, and that there must be flexibility in American policy if a real crisis builds up.

This also is not too different from the policy of the Eisenhower administration. In fact, the White House statement says the real change in American policy is "in the strengthening of our defensive alternatives to nuclear warfare."

Thus, there is a bigger emphasis now on conventional forces, such as larger ground armies, and also on the training of guerrilla forces for American expeditions such as now are operating in South Viet Nam. But, in the main, the United States today is depending on its nuclear strength as a deterrent power.

The Alsop article does indicate clearly that the President has a full appreciation of the worldwide nature of the Communist threat and hopes in various ways to hold it in check, as, for instance, by judicious use of foreign aid and by showing firmness in situations like that which has arisen in Berlin.

What is surprising, however, is that, in discussing alternative policies, nowhere in the same article on "grand strategy" is there any mention of what the President intends to do in the "cold war" about using two powerful forces—the economic boycott and a direct appeal to the peoples behind the Iron Curtain.

Dr. Harold Hyman Says:

Multitude of Ailments
Labeled as Arthritis

The word "arthritis" is just about the most misused and abused term in the medical dictionary. It means inflammation of a joint. But it's used with reference to anything and everything that happens to a joint or to any nearby structure.

Let's first consider the true forms of arthritis to which the word is correctly applied. There's infectious arthritis as for example when the inflammation is caused by tubercle bacilli. Then there are the allergic forms of arthritis such as rheumatic fever that follow a streptococcal infection in a child who is hypersensitive to the poison secreted by the bug.

And there's rheumatoid arthritis that bears many resemblances to rheumatic fever except that it's more apt to occur in adolescents and adults.

And finally for present purposes there's gout that is of chemical origin and, in the latest analysis, due to deposits of urate crystals in a joint.

INCORRECTLY APPLIED

Now let's take the many conditions to which the term arthritis is incorrectly applied. Well, first off, there's what's called muscular rheumatism or fibrositis. It's an inflammation to be sure. But it does not involve the joint. Then there's another commonly observed condition in which the joints are all gnarled like the limbs of an apple tree. It's usually arthritis deformans. And the gnarls you see on the hands are called Heberden's nodes.

Well, arthritis deformans, degenerative arthritis and Heberden's nodes involve the joints all right. But they are not inflammatory. They are best labeled "hypertrophic arthrosis."

Unless your doctor knows the exact nature of the trouble with or around your joint, he can't possibly treat you properly.

The Country Parson

Why did all the boys blush at the thought of signing themselves, "Your loving son," when addressing their mothers?

"We hire police to force folks to behave the way we should have taught them to behave."

Mr. Kennedy is described as vitally interested in seeing European economic strength developed through the Common Market, and it may be that later on the economic boycott will come up for consideration.

But it is unfortunate that the leverage which the free world has today is not being used in the diplomatic relations of the West with the Communist bloc countries.

It is unfortunate, too, that the United States does not utilize the power of moral force to reach the peoples of the countries where Communist oppression prevails.

Tells Precautions Taken to Avoid Formula Mixup

A letter from "E.G.D." expressed concern over the tragic infant deaths in the Birmingham hospital and asked about precautions here. At Pontiac General Hospital we take extreme precautions in formulas for babies.

At no time is granulated sugar or salt stored in the formula room. These items are not used at all and would not be unless a doctor ordered them specifically, and then only enough for that one order. All ingredients are kept in the original, well-labeled containers. Formulas are kept by well-trained and supervised personnel who give perpetual attention to details, correct ingredients, sanitary conditions and safe techniques. Regular tests are made by our laboratory.

Our setup and procedure have been approved by the Michigan State Department of Health.

'Dems No Longer
Talk About Trips'

When Ike played a game of golf the Democrats had plenty to say, but they are silent about Kennedy's long weekends, his families' expensive tours and now his wife's sojourn with a $1,000-a-week cameraman from Hollywood along so the taxpayers here can see how she charms the natives.

Ike did wrong. He didn't take a cameraman to film his golf games.

Say Divorce Laws
Favor Women

I have an ex-wife and children in another state. The money I send is used for liquor and entertaining men friends by the mother, who has remarried. The children have gone to school almost three years and have failed one grade and are failing again. They cannot testify to a Judge why they are around 12 years old. It seems women are upheld in doing anything, even if their children suffer.

Fed Up, Also

I know several women who divorced their husbands because someone could do better by them. In this way they get support from both parties. One woman bragged she was going to marry four men and get alimony from each. She has the third and is looking for the fourth.

There should be a law that a woman with children cannot marry again unless the man she marries will take the support of her children.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Let Children Mature Emotionally

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE
CASE L-469: When our oldest son was 8-years-old, he brought home an invitation for us to attend his Parent-Teacher Association.

"The teacher wrote it on the blackboard and we copied it," he proudly exclaimed, as his mother opened his note at the luncheon table.

"What's this?" Mrs. Crane asked when she reached the bottom of the missive. George grinned.

I looked at the slip of paper. He had signed this invitation with "Your dopey son, George." Shades of the seven dwarfs, you see!

"Did you open it to do that?" his mother inquired. "Oh, no," he quickly replied. "Her note on the blackboard said: 'Your loving son,' but all the boys blushed at that. They couldn't think of anything else, though. But I did," and he was proud as a peacock.

Why did all the boys blush at the thought of signing themselves, "Your loving son," when addressing their mothers?

EMOTIONAL GROWTH

These youngsters were simply at the "gang" stage in their emotional development, so they abhorred anything that pertained to the opposite sex. They felt that an affectionate conclusion to their note branded them as sissy.

Even at the age of eight, therefore, a very definite sex distinction is made between girls and boys. This is the stage where we find boys ridiculing tears as evidence of weakness.

FIXATED OLD BACHELORS

A few weeks ago I outlined the various levels in our emotional growth, starting with the infant's egocentric stage, followed by the parental, then the gang or homosexual; the heterosexual, and finally the level of altruism, which is the top stage in emotional evolution.

Many grown men and women, brilliant and possibly successful in their business or professional careers, are still occupying a more childish emotional plane.

Some are fixated on aged parents so they never can get up nerve and resolution to marry, or, if they do, they soon run home to mamma or papa.

Others are adult homosexuals, never coming beyond the "gang" stage in their emotional growth. A great majority, however, reach the heterosexual level where we look to the opposite sex of affection and our mates.

STARVED CHILDREN

In America today we see little evidence of food-starved youngsters. But even in the best of homes, we find children who are being starved in their emotional development by overly fond parents who monopolize their youngsters, and refuse to let them lead normal lives.

Widows and divorced parents are especially prone to mollycoddle their children. So are those who have an only child, for they teach him to expect an undue amount of love throughout life. In our home we had five youngsters. Each received approximately 20 per cent of our parental attention.

Suppose, however, there had been only one child and we lavished the full 100 per cent of adult attention and care on him.

Wouldn't he have been a more difficult child for his wife to live with happily, than the child who had received only 20 per cent adult attention?

Most certainly! So equip your youngster for happy adulthood by letting him mature emotionally. Give him brothers and sisters, even if you must adopt another youngster.

FAIR MONORAIL ON JOB — A Seattle World's Fair monorail train, now officially under the operation of the Seattle Transit System, speeds along its Fifth Avenue track with a load of passengers from the fairgrounds to a downtown terminal. This train has been in operation since last weekend, carrying thousands of local sightseers to and from the fair, scheduled to open April 21. A second train is to be in operation soon. Towering over fairgrounds, behind apartment building in left background, is a 600-foot-high space needle, which has a revolving restaurant and observation platform on top.

Jackie's Gifts to Be Dispersed

One Exception Is Horse From Pakistan's Head of State

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Most of the gifts Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy received during her tour of India and Pakistan will be given to museums and zoos, the White House said.

Press Secretary Pierre Salinger said an exception will be made for Sardar, the thoroughbred horse presented to Mrs. Kennedy by Pakistan President Ayub Khan. Mrs. Kennedy, an avid horsewoman, will keep the horse, Salinger said.

Salinger said the bay gelding, whose English name is "Chief," will be flown to this country in a portable stall which was built to return former President Dwight D. Eisenhower's bulls from India. Eisenhower received the bulls as a gift from India.

Salinger said the stall will be put aboard a Military Air Transport Service (MATS) plane. He said MATS flies two weekly support flights to India and Pakistan. "These two deadhead back (come back empty)," he said. Salinger was asked at his news briefing about the avalanche of gifts showered on the First Lady during her two-week tour of India and Pakistan.

"The gifts will be handled in the way state gifts are historically handled," he said. "Some will go to museums and some will go to zoos."

The gifts Mrs. Kennedy received included a spinning wheel, given by the memorial keeper at the Ghazni Tomb; water colors, by New Delhi school children; a tank tray from youths in New Delhi's Boys Town; a brass fruit bowl and native costumes for her children; and two tiger cubs, from the Indian government.

In Pakistan, Mrs. Kennedy received a pearl necklace with the strands held together with gold and set with diamonds, rubies and emeralds; a karakul hat, from President Ayub, and a silver dagger, from tribal chieftains.

State Again Trying to Extradict Ritholz

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — The Illinois governor's office has ten under advisement the latest request by Michigan to have a Chicago optometrist convicted in 1956 of bribing an official extradited to serve sentence.

Michigan Solicitor General Eugene Krasky yesterday renewed the legal battle to have Benjamin Ritholz returned to this state. The request was received by Paul Hansen, a representative of Gov. Otto Kerner.

Krasky scoffed at the contention of Charles Bellows, Ritholz's attorney, that the optometrist suffers from multiple illnesses and "can't possibly live if jailed."

"He is alive though six years have elapsed since his conviction," Krasky said. He said the state prison would provide medical care.

Unable to Find Job After Time Lapse

It's amazing, with all the stores Rochester and the new ones going up, that a woman can't find a job. If you worked before marriage, then stayed home for 13 years to raise a child (as people seem to think women should), there is no place for you, because you have been out of touch. Nobody thinks you're capable. When looking for a job, if you weren't born with experience, you just weren't born. Employers are making it impossible for people to walk in and tell the truth. So you must be a born liar, but if I have to lie, I guess I'll never work.

'Wealthy Increased in Ike's Time'

Just a note to offset Republican claims of not being just for the wealthy. Between 1953 and 1961 the Eisenhower era, the nation's stockpile of millionaires swelled from 27,000 to 100,000, says Economist Robert J. Lampman of the University of Wisconsin. Over the same period, the number of $5 million and up multimillionaires increased from 2,000 to 10,000.

Why Isn't 1-Ct. State Sales Tax Hike Going to Be Enough?

BY TOM SHAWVER
LANSING — So you thought you'd be done with tax increases for a few years when the legislature, acting on authority from the voters, raised the state sales tax to four cents at the end of 1960. "So did a lot of other people, including a good many legislators. Now, the overwhelming majority of lawmakers concede they have almost no choice but to raise more new tax revenue, and raise it this year. The only alternative would be a drastic cutback in government services, and there's almost no sentiment for that."

The legislature might enact a state income tax, more likely, it will revise some of the "nuisance" taxes on such items as beer, cigarettes and telephone services that expired last time. Maybe it will add a few more for good measure.

What happened?
Why did the sales tax increase

"This is the first time to my knowledge that anyone in a high position has been received, not by most of the people, but by all of the people," he said Tuesday upon his return to this country for State Department consultations.

to balance the state budget? The whole penny, remember, is earmarked for state government operations and doesn't have to be split with schools and local governments like the other three cents.

In a nutshell, the situation is this: revenue production hasn't lived up to expectations while state spending has exceeded expectations.

Based on past performance of the sales tax, the extra penny was expected to yield $10 million a year, because of a handsome slump and resulting unemployment last year, it produced only $10 million.

All sales taxes, the state's biggest single income producer, were expected to yield $140 million. Actually, they totaled only $130 million.

The whole nuisance tax package, enacted as an emergency measure in 1959, was allowed to

State Sales Tax Figures for Deduction in Table

R. I. Nixon, district director of Internal Revenue, today reminded taxpayers that tables showing the amount you may claim as a deduction for Michigan sales tax are available at local Internal Revenue offices.

The table shown below may be used as a guide to the average amount which may be claimed in absence of definite proof of payment.

The director added that the law requires taxpayers to substantiate any deduction claimed on their returns and, if requested, they must be prepared to do so.

Ordinarily, however, they will not be asked to support the sales tax deduction claimed unless it exceeds the amount shown in the table.

It was further pointed out by the director that the sales tax table is all inclusive. In other words it takes into account taxes paid on large household items and automobiles as well as payment of compensatory general use tax on out-of-state purchases of taxable commodities.

Therefore, taxpayers, who wish to determine their total general sales tax payments by adding taxes paid on their major expenditures to taxes paid on their ordinary purchases, should not use the amount shown in the table.

Nixon advised taxpayers to telephone their local Internal Revenue office if they have additional questions on this subject.

expire on schedule last summer. It accounted for $50 million a year.

EXPLANATION
Subtract $50 million from $105 million in new sales tax revenue and $55 million in new money remains. Why wasn't that enough? First of all, the legislature, as it must, fashioned the 1961-62 budget on the basis of long-range predictions of revenue production. Last year, Gov. Swainson predicted the state could figure on $177 million for its general purpose budget.

Republicans and Clarence W. Lock, state revenue commissioner, estimated it would be in the neighborhood of $162 million. The budget was based on that figure.

As it turned out, everybody was overly optimistic. Lock now estimates the total at $165 million, perhaps a bit less.

On top of that, state services and state school aid authorized by the legislature are going to cost more than lawmakers figure, about $20 million more.

One major item is a $7 million deficiency in commitments for state aid for public school operations and the public school employees retirement fund — the result of the decline in sales tax collections.

The Social Welfare Department figures it will need an ex-

Holly Council Fills Positions

Names Herrington, Fox, Wood and Ganshaw to Village Jobs

HOLLY—A village superintendent and a new police chief were named by the council here last night on the recommendation of Village President John F. O'Hall. At the same time the council appointed Aaron F. Ganshaw, a former village councilman, to fill the council vacancy that was created when Oldani was elected village president. Ganshaw was named to serve the remaining one year of a 2-year term.

The superintendent, the first village administrator since Norman Tufford resigned as manager in March 1960, is James Herrington, a Detroit police sergeant who retires Saturday.

William Wood, 30, was named police chief to succeed Paul Galletti who resigned last month after five years with the department. Herrington, 52, whose duties become effective Sunday, now heads a 30-man parking enforcement detachment on the Detroit Police Department.

DUTIES LISTED
In his new position, he will be in charge of the police department, the department of public works, the sewage treatment plant and village employees, according to Oldani.

Wood, former police chief of Cass City, began his work last night. He will head the three-man village police department.

The council also reappointed John Smith as supervisor of the sewage treatment plant and Samuel Moore as head of the DPW.

Dr. Victor Fox was named the village health officer by the council.

Proposals Lose in Clarenceville

$1.25-Million Bond Issue and 5-Mill Tax 'Would Not Have Raised Taxes'

FARMINGTON TOWNSHIP—A $1.25-million bond issue for school construction and a five-mill operating tax levy were rejected yesterday by voters in the Clarenceville School District.

No tax increase was involved with either proposal, according to school officials.

The bonding question lost by an 11-vote margin, 431 to 420. The millage proposal was turned down 436 to 423.

Four of the mills requested were for renewal of current taxes that expire with the school year in June.

The one additional mill for operations could have been levied without an overall increase by reducing the debt retirement levy by the same amount.

Planned for construction with funds from the bond issue were additions to three elementary schools, the Junior high and senior high schools.

Also planned was a new administration and maintenance building. The school board had stated that an increase in taxes would be needed if the bond proposal was approved because increased property valuation in the district would provide additional funds for debt retirement.

The special election was scheduled following a survey of needs made by a citizens committee, the school board and administration.

Annual English Conference Draws Over 600 in Rochester

ROCHESTER—The English Conference of the Metropolitan Detroit Bureau of School Studies drew more than 600 delegates to its 12th annual convention held yesterday in Rochester High School.

Mrs. T. E. Wiersma of Pontiac Northern High School and Michigan State University Oakland presided at the two general sessions as chairman of the committee.

The group includes 66 school systems, three county boards of education in the metropolitan area and is sponsored by University of Michigan, Wayne State University and Eastern Michigan University.

Theme of the conference was "Explorations in Composition" and 30 workshops meeting in two afternoon sessions intensified the subject from the standpoint of teaching.

HOLD WORKSHOPS

Russell Buller, head librarian at Pontiac Northern High School, spoke at a library workshop entitled "Using Library Facilities in Composition," and Peter Everts, head of the English department at Pontiac Northern, directed a workshop on "Using Technical Aids in Composition."

Robert F. Beauchamp, assistant professor in the College of Education at Wayne State University, gave the keynote address stressing the need for written expression of students to crystallize the thought processes, to encourage critical thinking and to sharpen the techniques of composition.

Meachamp is a former instructor at Pontiac Central High School where he headed the department of English.

Main address of the dinner meeting was given by Dr. Philip W.

He is a member of the board of both the Cranbrook School, Bloomfield Hills, and the Community Fund. He and his wife live at 311 Mead Road and have two sons and two daughters.

Jackson of Chicago University. He spoke on the subject "Creativity in Children: Some Exploratory Studies."

"The child high in creativity may not have as great intelligence quota as the superior student, but his performance will equal that of the child with the high intelligence," he said.

"It is much more difficult to find an educational approach to the creative mind, for the use of proper methods need individual understanding and a highly personal treatment."

"STUDIES PROVEN"

Dr. Jackson continued by saying that the new studies bear out the burden of earlier experiments proving that the child of high intelligence is not only superior in intelligence, but also superior in vocational and avocational pursuits.

The meeting concluded with a discussion period and social hour.

Honored guests at the banquet included the past chairmen of similar conferences, former members of the English Committee, representative of the sponsoring universities, and members of the English departments of Michigan State University Oakland and Michigan Christian Junior College near Rochester.

The 1963 English Conference has accepted an invitation from the Birmingham Public Schools to hold the convention at Seaborn High School with Mrs. Katherine Blunt, Head of the English Department at Seaborn High School, and her staff as hosts to the conference.

Try to Meet Any Friend Quickly

By The Emily Post Institute

Q: I had a date with a friend to go to a movie last night. She called for me at my house as it was on the way to the theater. When she rang the bell, instead of going downstairs, I called out to her that I would be down in a second.

I put my hat and coat on and left immediately. My mother thinks I was very rude not to have gone down and opened the door and asked her to come upstairs. I see no rudeness in what I did but I would like your opinion.

A: If putting on your hat and coat took very little more time than going down to open the door it was not necessary for you to make two trips, but if you had let your friend wait for more than a few seconds outside your closed door, it was rude.

Q: I have been invited to a dinner dance taking place in the main ballroom of one of the hotels. I will be wearing long gloves with my evening dress and would like to know if these should be removed at dinner and then put back on again for dancing afterward. What is the correct procedure?

A: You take them off after you are seated at dinner and lay them across your lap. After dinner you put them on again for dancing.

Q: Will you please tell me if it is customary for the bride to give the bridegroom a wedding present, and if so, what is usually given? Also, when is the most appropriate time for the bride and groom to give the members of the bridal party presents?

A: It is not required that the bride give a present to the groom but she often does so if she can. Generally it is something permanent and personal—ranging from cuff links to watch or ring. If there is a bridesmaids and ushers dinner, the attendants are given their presents at this time; otherwise at the rehearsal.

Q: My future bride was married before and divorced and has a three-year-old daughter. We are planning a private ceremony to be followed by a wedding reception for family and friends. Would it be proper for her daughter to be present at the reception?

Mammy Yokum, Donna Nelson of South Marshall Street, has Pappy Yokum, Mark Berg, of Middle Belt Road in a position familiar to Dogpatch character fans. The comedy is being presented through combined efforts of Pontiac Central High School's music, drama, homemaking and art departments.

He's Dad, 'Mother' Too

BY ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: My father is a den mother. My mother said she would be our den mother—but my father has had to run most of the meetings because my mother never gets home in time.

My father works the night shift so he is home when I get home from school. All the kids-like my dad-and he makes a very good den mother, but some of the kids make fun of me. How can I get my mother to be the den mother she promised to be? JIMMY

DEAR JIMMY: Don't let the teasing get you down. Most kids would give anything if their fathers could be "den mothers." I think you're lucky.

DEAR ABBY: How can you tell a mother her faults? She complains that she is "lonely," but she brings so much of it on herself with her fussy ways. She is a nut on housekeeping. When she's expecting guests for dinner, she even cleans out her garage!

Even worse, regardless of whose house she's in, she scours "spots" from the stove, bleaches the sink, wipes finger marks from the walls and scrubs around the faucet. She thinks she's being helpful when she "rearranges" your cupboards, not realizing she makes you feel like a poor housekeeper. She points out little things like, "The children's shoe laces need washing," and "Your towels look faded."

We love Mom, but we (her married daughters) are nervous wrecks after each visit. Print this, Abby. It might help.

DEAR EXHAUSTED: Your mother's "hissiness" is probably due to an excess of nervous energy. You'll never change her, so learn to roll with the punches. Go about your business and let her scour, scrub and "rearrange." She loves it!

Pair Weds at Ceremony in Pontiac

Marcia Louise Shepherd exchanged wedding vows with Jerrold L. Nye before Rev. Theodore Albrecht Saturday afternoon in the Oakland Avenue United Presbyterian Church. Standards of white chrysanthemums and stock adorned the chancel.

Daughter of the Alfred E. Shepherds of Summit Avenue, the bride appeared in classic ivory satin styled with chapel train. Imported lace overlay on the scoop-neck bodice extended into wrist-length sleeves. A pearl tiara held her fingertip veil of silk illusion.

She wore the bridegroom's gift of cultured pearls, brought from Japan by his parents the Harry L. Nyes of St. Joseph, and carried carnations and stephanotis.

Ruth Shepherd, her sister's maid of honor, and bridesmaids Martha Livingston, Howell, and Sharon Barlowen, Clinton, wore cocktail-length Nile green silk chiffon styled with contrasting green cummerbund, shoes and hats. They held cascades of white and green carnations.

Assisting their brother were John Nye, best man and Gordon Nye, who ushered with their cousin Keith Nye also of St. Joseph. Thomas Shepherd was junior usher at his sister's wedding.

The newlyweds will occupy a mobile home in Hot.

Mr. Nye is a senior in agricultural economics at MSU and will continue toward his master's degree. His fraternity is Alpha Gamma Rho. His bride, a junior in medical technology at MSU, will intern in Sparrow Hospital beginning in June.

For her daughter's wedding and church reception, Mrs. Shepherd chose a rose lace sheath dress and the bridegroom's mother appeared in a beige silk-jacketed sheath dress.

MRS. TERRY D. HAMILTON

Clarice Jean Graves Weds Terry D. Hamilton

In a candlelight ceremony performed by Rev. Edward Auchard Saturday evening in Orchard Lake Community Church, Presbyterian, Clarice Jean Graves became Mrs. Terry D. Hamilton.

Crowning the tiered wedding cake at the church reception was a biggie china bride figurine that had been imported from Germany for the wedding of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Graves of Dick Avenue. The bridegroom is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Lynn L. Hamilton, Chesterland, Ohio.

Styled along princess lines with flat front panel appliqued with crystals and pearls, the bride's gown of candlelight silk organza over tulle felt into a chapel train. Pearlized bands secured her veil of French illusion.

The bridegroom's gift, a carved ivory rose on a gold chain and white hyacinths, gardenias, and carnations, arranged in a cascade, completed her ensemble. A cascade of feathered green carnations distinguished matron of honor Mrs. James Speidel, Chesterland, Ohio, who appeared in bouffant green silk organza as did bridesmaids Mrs. Thomas Conley and Eileen Gamrath, Birmingham. They held smaller bouquets of feathered-white carnations.

Margie Leslie Graves attended her sister as flower girl.

The bridegroom had his brother-in-law, James Speidel, for best man. Tom Thomas, Detroit, and Brian Castle, Utica, ushers.

The newlyweds are living in a mobile home at Michigan State University where both are seniors.

Pastel pink carnations were pinned to Mrs. Graves' dress of scales pink lace over tulle. The bridegroom's mother wore an aquamarine silk crepe sheath dress and feathered white carnations.

The Clare Brewsters attended their granddaughter's wedding with her uncle, John Brewster. All are of Owosso.

Spain-Norris Vows Told in Evening

Palms and candelabra formed a background for baskets of yellow and white chrysanthemums in the Auburn Heights United Presbyterian Church for the Friday evening vows of Charlotte, Diane Norris to Charles J. Spain Jr.

The bride, daughter of Mrs. Guy L. Norris, Auburn Heights, and the late Mr. Norris, was given in marriage by her brother Benjamin L. Norris, The Charles J. Spain of Stanley Avenue are parents of the bridegroom.

A church reception followed the ceremony performed by Rev. F. William Palmer, assisted by the bridegroom's father.

The bride's floor-length gown of white Chantilly lace and tulle over satin was styled with square neckline and long tapered sleeves. Her fingertip veil of silk illusion was held by a crystal tiara. She carried yellow roses and white carnations, arranged in a cascade.

Louise Smith, her cousin's maid of honor, appeared in royal blue satin. She held yellow carnations. The bridegroom's sister Patricia was held by a crystal tiara. She carried yellow roses, and carried a basket of yellow rose petals. Randy Norris, the bride's nephew, was ring-bearer.

Glenn Archer performed the duties of best man. Charles and David Smith, Auburn Heights, seated some 125 guests.

After a northern Michigan honeymoon, the couple will be at home on Allerton Road.

Corsages of yellow and white carnations complemented navy blue nylon jersey for Mrs. Norris and a blue silk print for the mother of the bridegroom.

Hold Spray 7 Inches From Coif

CHICAGO (UPI)—Hold that can of hair spray at least seven inches away from the hair, the experts advise. In this way, you spray on a fine, atomized mist that keeps the hair soft and lustrous without stiffness and avoids the formation of "beats" and droplets of spray on the hair.

Researchers for one of the aerosol packaging companies also advise brushing the hair, however lightly, into place after each application of spray. This precaution serves to keep the spray from forming a dulling film.

For bleached or tinted hair, they advised using a gentile-type waving lotion—one that will soften as it dries. Also recommended for tinted hair is a special conditioning rinse designed to counteract the tendency of color treated hair to be porous, dry and brittle.

Finally, there really is a difference between hair sprays for ordinary and hard-to-hold hair, say the experts. The sprays for hard-to-hold hair contain anti-static ingredients, which tend to keep fine, "fly-away" hair in place.

Franklin coeds include Carolyn L. LeVan who has pledged Kappa Kappa Gamma; Mary A. Matulis, Collegiate Sorosis; and Susan Maury Weed, Pi Beta Phi.

Must Make Time for Your Interests

By RUTH MILLETT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

One of the housewife's loudest laments is that she doesn't have time to develop her own interests. So she is forever talking about all of the fascinating things she is going to do when the children get older, or when she has more money, or when she isn't quite so involved in women's clubs and organizations.

The trouble with that kind of procrastination is that a woman can let the years fly by and never "find" time for the things she would really like to do.

Women who develop their own talents and interests and therefore find life exciting don't expect to "find" time for themselves. They know it is never going to be left over from the day's demands.

So instead of just talking about what they would like to do and putting it off from month to month and year to year they get busy and organize their time, allotting a certain amount of it to themselves.

Then they are stingy with their own time. They don't squander it on putting or reluctantly spend it on group activities that have no real meaning for them just because it is so much easier to say "Yes" than "No" when asked to join this group or that.

They ask themselves the important question: "What do I most want to do with the time I have to spend exactly as I please?" They use their free time for the thing that seems most important to them, not for something someone else wants them to do or tells them is important.

So if you are still talking about what you are going to do "when," you should realize that "when" will never come unless you "make" time for your main interests. It's a cinch you'll never "find" the time.

SEW SIMPLE

By Eunice Farmer

Our Tailor Trix winner this week is Mrs. Florence Remer of Detroit, who made this sensible suggestion.

"After reading of the terrible number of accidents caused in homes by people who trip and fall because of the two corners of the bed spread which lie on the floor at the foot, (my husband almost became one of these casualties), I proceeded to do something about it.

To make a regular bedspread fit the foot of the bed, place the spread on the bed upside down. Grasp one bottom corner and lift until the side and the foot overlaps hang straight to the floor, then pin securely from the corner of the mattress to the floor. Now move to the other corner and do the same.

Remove the spread and replace it right side up to be sure of the "boxy" effect. Now attach the corners and cut off excess. The end results will be greater than you expected. It cuts bed making time in half, and also makes a neat appearance.

NO CURVE TO BORDER PRINT

"Dear Mrs. Farmer:

"I have some material with a border print which I would like to make up in a flared tye smock for my little girls. How can I cut this out so that the border will look right?"

Mrs. W.B.R. You will have to find a pattern with a gathered or pleated skirt instead because the hem line will have to be "straight" in order to use a border print. It is impossible to have the border straight with a curved hem line.

USE UNDERLINING

"A friend of mine brought me some raw silk from Europe and since I am not familiar with this type of fabric, I hesitate to attempt to make it up. Does it have to be shrunk, and is there any special handling necessary?" Mrs. J.E. O.C.

Usually silk does not have to be shrunk. Be careful when pressing it however, water usually spots it. If it is pure silk, don't use a steam iron on it because of the danger of water-spotting. Instead, you can press it with a fairly hot iron.

Most of these fabrics need a complete underlining for added body. This is cut exactly the same as the garment itself, and basted to each section separately; in other words you will have two layers of each section instead of one.

Underlining could be of a very light weight silk, such as China silk, or a fine batiste, or regular sheath lining which is a combination of cotton and acetate.

RECUR THE GARMENT

"Dear Eunice:

"I have just finished a suit with drop shoulders and it looks so big on me. I am wondering if I should use shoulder pads or move the sleeves up?" Mrs. B.W.

This is the "new" look and you will get used to it the more often you see it. It does feel odd at first, and shoulder pads don't help the appearance.

You can't just move the sleeves UP. If you don't want the drop shoulders, you must re-cut your garment. Use a pattern with a regular set-up sleeve and cut the armhole from this pattern. Be sure and place the pattern you are using, over the other pattern, matching the center front and the shoulder seams.

Now you can safely cut the armhole only. You will now be able to use the sleeve pattern that comes with your new pattern. You will notice the cap of the sleeve is shaped entirely different in a dropped shoulder garment from one with a standard width shoulder. Good luck!

Dear Fans:

On a recent trip to New York, I was intrigued with a darling satin cocktail hat that one of the gals was wearing. She then told me she had made it in a few hours. It can be made of any color and would be very appropriate for any season of the year. If you would like free instructions for this little hat, please send a large, stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Sew Simple, in care of The Pontiac Press.

Cuts Drying Time for Bulky Knits

After snuffing a bulky knit, stuff it with one or more towels to separate the front and back so air can circulate.

This cuts drying time considerably. About 60 per cent of Brazil's people live within an area which represents less than one-fifth of the country's national domain.

Collar Him With Flattering Look

Mate Gets Spring Cleaning

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

That first feeling of spring, that certain softness in the air which we cannot describe, the first bud on a tree or the first flower which thrushes its head above the earth, activates a woman like a tune-up job does an engine.

This is a time for redoing. The closets are cleaned out, the windows washed, the porch furniture glamorized for its eventual appearance with the same care with which a bride is beautified for her wedding.

The little lady not only gives the house a going over, but also herself, and sometimes she even casts a calculating eye at her husband. This is a romantic season — and why be a Juliet if you do not have a Romeo?

Most men pay little attention to the details of their dress, for instance, their collars. I have always thought that a collar has quite an influence on a man's appearance. It often looks as though it is going to hang him, choke him or swallow him.

Having in mind that you may have some plans for reconditioning your husband a bit and that he may be glad of the help, I went to the American Institute of Men's and Boys' Wear for expert advice. I am passing this on to you and your husband today.

Men with a short or wide neck do not look well in a collar which gives them a pinched or choked up look. Pointed collars are more flattering.

It's up to the wives to give attention to details like the kind of collar hubby wears. The collar has quite an influence on a man's appearance. It often looks as though it is going to hang him, choke him, or swallow him.

On the other hand the favorites of slim-faced men should be short collars and tab collars, the short rounded types.

Widenecks go best on younger men or men who have long faces. The majority of men usually are most flattered by collars with medium spreads, button-downs or tabs and short to regular lengths.

The style suit your man wears governs collar selection to a certain extent. Button-downs, tabs and moderate spread collars are most appropriate with natural shoulder suits. The more tailored-looking the suit the more one should consider wider spread collars, along with tab types.

If you would like to have my Tubby Hubby Diet which gives you a loss of from seven to 12 pounds in 12 days' time, send 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for that booklet. Address: Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

Have You Tried This?

Dribble Chocolate Glaze
on Creamy Lime GelatinBy JANET ODELL Pontiac Press Home EditorSome of the most interesting recipes result from experimenting with a tried and true recipe. Mrs. John C.
Batts, Jr. did that with a favorite dessert recipe and came up with something scrumptious.Mrs. Batts is a member of a charitable sorority. She does some writing, and loves to play bridge and enjoys sewing.HAWAIIAN PINEAPPLE

1/2 cup brown sugar

1/2 cup butter or margarine tractBring pineapple juice to a boil and dissolve gelatin in it.

cream cheese and cottage cheese. Blend in cooled gelatin and stir in drained pineapple. Fold in marshmallows.
Chill until thick, but not set.Whip dessert topping mix,

U. of M. Alumnae View Films of University TV

Members and guests of Pontiac Chapter, University of Michigan Alumnae, were "Behind the Scenes at U. of M. Television" during Monday evening's meeting in the Young Women's Christian Association.

Garnet R. Garrison, director of the school's closed circuit television. This is used, he said, to bring law classes directly into the courtroom for actual court experience. The medical school also takes its students into the operating room via television.

A sound film took the club into the studio to view the equipment and hear explanations of various duties. Colored slides also showed the work of closed circuit television in classrooms.

"The Idea of Michigan," a film tracing the development of the university since its inception was shown for the first time in this area.

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Harry Richards, Mrs. F. E. Conner, Mrs. T. E. Wiersma, Mrs. Peter Evars, Elmor Perrin and Margaret Steward.

Others were President Lillian Jacobs and social chairman Mrs. W. O. Roesser. Dr. Caryl Kulsavage and Mrs. Robert Tarr presided at the tea table.

(NEA)—If people can recognize you by your walk a block or so away, there's something exaggerated about your gait. Ask your friends what it is that they recognize and set about correcting the fault—if it is a fault.

Legion Auxiliary Honors Judge Adams

Judge Donald E. Adams has received an American Legion Auxiliary Americanism Award for his efforts on behalf of children. He was the principal speaker at a recent birthday dinner in honor of the American Legion's 43rd national anniversary at the Chief Pontiac Post Home on Oak and Lake at which the award was presented. The judge addressed 125 members of the Legion, auxiliary, Sons of the Legion and junior auxiliary.

Rebekahs Organize New Social Club

Members of Pontiac Rebekah Lodge No. 400 met at the Virginia Avenue home of Mrs. Ed Vanderworp for tea recently.

A new club was formed, Pontiac 400 social club, and members plan monthly gatherings in their homes. Temporary officers elected were Mrs. Lon Lewis, president, and Mrs. Vanderworp, secretary.

Mrs. Lewis invited the group to her home for the April 27 meeting when more plans will be made.

Milady's Feet Getting Bigger, So Are Slippers

AKRON, Ohio (UPI)—Milady's feet no longer are likely to fit into Cinderella's diminutive glass slipper.

One bureau reports that feet are getting bigger and so are shoes. But shoe manufacturers have expended time and money to conceal artfully the fact that the famous 2A has grown into a 7B.

So the bureau advises a "fit first" policy in selecting shoes, confident that whatever size they are will look just right.

It also advises women to play the barefoot Lucy on occasion to keep feet in good condition. Walking barefoot in sand or grass exercises the foot muscles. Wiggling the toes, stretching and bending the feet and rotating the ankles also are good hygiene.

Progress Finds Way to Yemen

Ancient Arab Kingdom
Kept Machine Age Out
Until Decade Ago

WASHINGTON — Progress has come to Yemen, an Arabian land that was building skyscrapers when Manhattan had only wigwams.

Once a part of Saba — the ancient kingdom of Sheba, whose queen visited King Solomon — Yemen waited until a decade ago to start introducing the machine age to its people. Today it has responded to the lure of alien aid and is cooperating with the United Nations.

Transportation, medical, and other public facilities are being improved. The airplane, automobile, telephone, radio and neon lights have worked their way into Yemeni life.

Yemen's 5 million people occupy a region about the size of South Dakota. Theirs is one of the fairest parts of the Arabian Peninsula. Many Yemenis dwell in colorful cities whose 10-to-12 story buildings were famous in ancient times. Others live in terraced valleys fragrant with figs, quinces, and pomegranates.

ANIMALS THRIVE
A small life teems. Baboons screech in cliff dwellings. Ratlike gerbils dig holes in thorny bushes. Hyraxes, which are hare-sized relatives of the elephant, live in social groups on rocky hillsides.

Yemen's chief port, recently improved by the Russians, is Hodeida. Ocean-going vessels anchor several miles offshore while goods are unloaded onto dhows.

The 175-mile trip overland to Sana, the capital, is so rigorous that Yemenis say, "How lovely you are, Sana! But oh, how difficult to reach!"

Until the Chinese Communists built a new road, the trip took two days in a laboring, boiling truck, whose life expectancy under such pounding conditions was only 10,000 miles.

The new road is estimated to cut transportation costs by perhaps 20 percent. Airplanes offer easier transport.

The Imam, Yemen's Spiritual and temporal ruler, generally resides at Ta'izz, near the Aden border. In Ta'izz and other cities the streets are crowded with men wearing colorful flowing gowns and tightly wound turbans.

Camel trains pass with sacks of grain and crates of goods. Black-gowned, veiled women carry everything on their heads — huge piles of brush for fires, clay jugs, 4-gallon tins of water, even a dainty cup of tea.

Scientists Tune In on Bunnies' Actions

MINNEAPOLIS (UPI) — University of Minnesota biologists are experimenting with radio-equipped rabbits.

A cottontail rabbit has been equipped with a tiny transmitter, weighing less than an ounce, and enclosed in a plastic collar.

Signals from the transmitter will enable scientists to follow the bunny's movements.

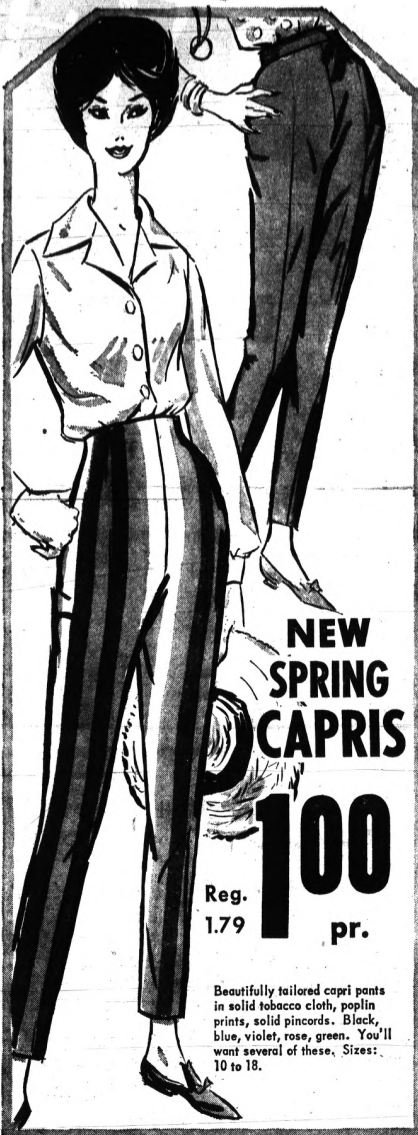

Eventually, a research team hopes to develop a transmitter to relay information on the animal's reactions to changes in environment.

Success would mean that wildlife could be studied without the disturbing presence of a human being.

Devise Oxygen Meter

CHICAGO (UPI) — A new hospital device logs the flow of oxygen to each patient on a counter similar to an auto-mileage indicator. The device, developed by the NCG division of Chemetron Corp., enables the hospital to bill the patient for the exact amount of oxygen used, rather than basing the charges on estimates as previously.

Slaves Freed by Frenchman

72,000 Were Granted Independence on West Indies Isle in 1848

WASHINGTON — The Abraham Lincoln of the Caribbean island of Martinique was France's Victor Schoelcher.

A philanthropist and traveler, Schoelcher studied slavery in all parts of the world. He returned to Paris an abolitionist, and on acquiring power as under secretary of state for the colonies in 1848, he freed Martinique's 72,000 slaves.

The new French citizens celebrated by taking much resembling names as Hamlet, Cromwell and Lasp (Paul spelled in reverse).

Columbus discovered the 477-square-mile West Indies island in 1502 on his fourth voyage, the National Geographic Society says. He took on fresh water and rested three days.

UNTRUE RUMOR

Legend holds that Columbus landed there because all the inhabitants were said to be women. The rumor was, of course, untrue.

A century later, Pierre Belain d'Ennassabent found a French colony at the foot of Mount Pelée and called it, none too modestly, St. Pierre.

St. Pierre became a cosmopolitan port. It was described by an American visitor as the "quaintest, queerest, and prettiest of West Indian cities" with its tree-lined streets and "population of the Arabian Nights."

On the afternoon of Ascension Day, May 8, 1902, St. Pierre ceased to be, blotted out of existence by the volcanic eruption of 4,399-foot-high Mount Pelée.

Only one of the city's 30,000 people survived a condemnation convicted in an underground cell. Today, a museum in partly rebuilt St. Pierre exhibits relics of the holocaust, masses of pottery, stone, and glass melted together, chunks of charred cheese, and petrified spaghetti.

St. Pierre's destruction thrust the island's second city, Fort-de-France, to the fore as the new capital. It is a picturesque maze of narrow balconied streets bordered by the Rivers Madame and Monsieur.

Martinique lies halfway along the tropical island chain stretching from Puerto Rico to Trinidad. Volcanoes gave the land verdant mountains, fertile valleys, and wave-scrubbed beaches of black sand.

The island's 285,000 people are mostly descendants of Africans, Carib Indians, and Europeans. They farm and fish, but sugar and rum account for most of the exports.

New-Looking Silver Dollars Make Comeback

CHICAGO (UPI) — Old — really old — silver dollars may be staging a comeback. And they look just like new.

Recently merchants in Athens, Mich., had authorities investigate when sparking cartwheels dated 1896 began appearing in large numbers. Police discovered a poultry company had paid employees with 3,000 silver dollars as a promotion stunt.

The Federal Reserve Bank, which provided the coins, explained they had been in storage ever since they were minted.

Chicago coin collectors claim silver dollars were minted in such quantities between 1870 and 1921 that the government has many in reserve. Whenever the demand becomes great enough, these coins are put into circulation. The government stopped minting them in 1935.

R. G. Fister, a coin dealer, said an 1898 dollar was valued at $4 until the government flooded the market with them.

Raccoons Adapt Fast to Human Habits

NAPLES, Fla. (AP) — A Florida raccoon will never be cold or hungry as long as there are humans about.

Mr. and Mrs. Davis Shavin, who had been camping on a deserted island near here, got acquainted with the ingenious creatures. "We had barely set up our tent when the raccoons started lining up for food handouts," Shavin said.

"Then, the first happy night, we woke up to find several of them trying to bundle with us in the blankets. They easily figured out how to work the zipper on the tent flaps and get inside."

Will Speak at U. of M.

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Gen. Bernard Schriever, commander of the U.S. Air Force Systems Command and long-range missile program, will be the main speaker at the University of Michigan's first engineering honors convocation April 23.

Focus on Health

Question: How Many Swallows Make a Lunch?

By the Associated Press
Medical men investigate how often humans swallow, the return of some alcoholics to safe social drinking, and injuries from dancing the twist.

SWALLOW

Eating a 10-minute lunch, the average person apparently swallows 45 times, and he swallows 7 to 8 times during a full night's sleep.

Sitting and reading, 15 volunteers also averaged 34 swallows per hour, and 31 while lying down awake, reports Dr. Clement E. Lear of the Harvard School of Dental Medicine.

The reduced amount of swallowing during sleep, with little or no salivation, may affect the activity of mouth bacteria, Dr. Lear says.

Swallowing involves strong muscular actions, and this may be significant in the development or treatment of malocclusion, the failure of teeth to meet properly.

SOCIAL DRINKING

A dictum among experts on alcoholism is that the confirmed alcoholic can never return to social drinking. Most times, one drink or a few drinks lead to destructive binges.

But this may not always be so, says Dr. D. R. Davies, a British psychiatrist from London. He tells of seven men, out of 38 persons given limited psychiatric treatment, who were able to resume social drinking, and have been able to drink moderately for seven to eleven years since then.

Of the seven men, ranging in age from 26 to 47, four changed from jobs which frequently brought them into situations involving drink.

But Dr. Davies still cautions that the majority of alcoholics cannot return to normal or social drinking, and advises that all patients being treated for alcoholism should be told to seek total abstinence.

He gave his report in the Quarterly Journal of Alcohol Studies, publication of the Rutgers Center of Alcohol Studies. The center recently moved to Rutgers from Yale University.

Swainson Says Legislature Kills Trip to Japan

LANSING (AP) — Gov. Swainson blamed the legislature for a decision he announced today to pass up an offer of a trip to Japan, scheduled April 5-19 for a group of governors.

"I wish it were possible for me to participate," the governor said. "However, the legislature — which has been in session since Jan. 10 — has yet to act on the comprehensive programs I have submitted to it."

"I will continue to make every effort to make every effort to overcome the reluctance of the legislative majority to meet the needs of the people of Michigan," he said.

Swainson was among a group of 10 governors selected to make the trip. The governors of California, Tennessee, Arizona, Pennsylvania, Colorado, New Mexico, Wisconsin, New Hampshire and Hawaii also were invited.

A physician accustomed to treating injuries suffered by football and basketball players in contact sports is puzzled over the knee injuries among teenagers doing the twist, "the nation's acrobatic new dance craze."

Dr. Bernie P. Davis of Buffalo, N.Y., says he thinks the twist has a hypnotic influence on the performers. "They are unaware of the hazards to themselves. Under normal conditions, when excessive strain is put on knee ligaments, they react with pain, and the person stops whatever is causing the pain. But in the twist, teenagers seem to be hypnotized by music and rhythm and don't realize the strain they are putting on their knees."

SKIN COLOR FACTORIES

The tiny factories, within specialized living cells, which manufacture body pigments or colors now have been isolated by Harvard Medical School scientists.

This opens the way to studying the mechanisms of racial coloration, skin conditions ranging from freckling to baldness and melanoma or black skin cancer, and dozens of diseases in which pigmentation plays a role.

The Harvard group obtained the color-producing particles in pure form and learned how the natural skin pigment, named melanin, is manufactured, they said in a report to the American Cancer society.

COFFEE AND ALCOHOL

Drinking coffee does not speed recovery from the effects of alcohol, at least in experiments with rats.

In fact, the coffee prolonged and intensified the degenerative behavior produced by alcohol even after alcohol had disappeared from the blood, reports Prof. F. W. Hughes and R. B. Forney of the Indiana University School of Medicine. The pharmacologists plan to conduct similar tests now on humans.

Gets Peace Corps Post

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Wray Smith, assistant director of the University of Michigan's Institute of Science and Technology, has been named a full time consultant with the Peace Corps. Smith resigned his U. of M. post Monday to accept the Peace Corps assignment in Washington.

How do you measure 30 years?

At Osmun's we look back on thirty years of progress.

In all that time, styles have changed, fads have come and gone, but through it all we have always been guided by one question: "Is it right for you?" We have constantly tried to answer that question with a "Yes." Have we succeeded? Take the man in our picture.

He is trying on a raincoat. Thirty years ago it would have looked a lot more like a raincoat. It would have been made of black rubber (remember?) or some shapeless tan fabric that soaked through in seconds. But there was nothing better available.

Today, our man can choose from raincoats that keep him looking good rain or shine. That's why you'll find a tremendous selection of famous Gleneagles rainwear at both Osmun's stores... poplins, gabardines, wash 'n wearables in everything from dress-up solid shades to sporty plaids.

But Gleneagles is only one of the many fine labels you'll see at Osmun's. They all have been carefully chosen to represent the best there is in men's clothing. How do we know?

You've been telling us so for over thirty years.

FOR FRAMING — A portfolio of ten different drawings of spice plants, each one suitable for framing, is available from the American Spice Trade Association, Empire State Building, New York 1, New York. Price, $1 per set, post-paid. Payment must accompany orders. These unique drawings are printed in dark green ink on heavy, fine quality paper. They measure 8½"x11", thus fitting the standard mat for an 11"x14" frame. Each print is an accurate botanical sketch of a spice or herb plant, with emphasis on the part of the plant used as the spice. In addition, alongside the plant the artist has shown a magnified view of the whole, dried spice as it looks before it is ground. The set consists of drawings of pepper, ginger, nutmeg, mustard, oregano, poppy seed, paprika, cinnamon, cloves and celery seed. The prints are not sold separately.

3 tablespoons flour
Brush entire surface of meat with kitchen bouquet. In Dutch oven or large heavy skillet, brown veal in oil, turning frequently, until well browned. Blend together and add water and onion soup mix.

Cover and cook over low heat on top of stove, or place in a preheated 350 degrees F. oven. Replenish water while cooking. If necessary, Cook about 3½ hours or until meat is tender and a meat thermometer registers 180 degrees internal temperature.

About 45 minutes before meat is done, in a separate saucepan, place prepared vegetables in boiling water and cook 15 minutes, then drain and arrange around meat. Allow to cook 30 additional minutes or until tender.

Place veal on heated serving platter and arrange the vegetables around it. Add 1½ cups milk to drippings in pan and heat. Blend together the other ½ cup milk and the flour and stir into the liquid. Cook, stirring constantly, until gravy thickens. Makes 12 servings.

Pork Gives Good Flavor to Loaf

Beef Sausage Loaf

1 pound ground chuck beef
¼ pound pork sausage
1 egg
1 medium onion, finely grated (pulp and juice)
1 small clove garlic (crushed)
2 tablespoons minced parsley
2 tablespoons chile sauce
Mix together the beef, sausage, egg, onion, garlic, parsley and chile sauce. Pack into a loaf pan (about 8 by 4 by 3 inches) oven 60 minutes. Allow loaf to stand about 10 minutes to absorb some of the juices before turning out and slicing. Makes 6 servings.

Verbal Fireworks Accompany Supreme Court Decision

By JAMES MARLOW
Supreme Court Analyst
WASHINGTON—No wonder people need a lawyer. Monday was one of the most angry and explosive, and most fascinating, days in the Supreme Court in years.
It wasn't only that a majority of the nine justices ruled a lower federal court had misunderstood the nature of previous Supreme Court decisions.
Nor was it the whole story when the justices opened the door for federal courts to step further into the operations of state legislatures than ever before.
Nor was the explosion limited to Justice Felix Frankfurter who, dissenting, said it was not the lower court which had misunderstood but the Supreme Court which was reversing itself and, in effect, him, too.
EXPECT RURAL ANGER
But Monday's action is bound to anger rural politicians in Congress and the states—against the court as they see, or think they see, power slipping from them as a result of the action.
Most state legislatures today are dominated by rural senators and representatives. In theory, almost every state must reapportion, or restrict, periodically for representation in the legislature.
This is to prevent any group of voters, rural or urban, from getting a monopoly on power in a legislature by having more representatives and senators there than their numbers entitle them to.
In practice the theory is ignored. Rural lawmakers keep a firm grip on the power they got years ago when the population of cities was smaller and the rural population proportionately larger than now.
Tennessee is an example. Its state constitution calls on the legislature to require a census of qualified voters every 10 years and then, based on these findings, reapportion the senators and representatives. But the Tennessee Legislature hasn't done this in 61 years.
The result: Tennessee's rural population, despite the growth of cities, dominates the legislature as it did in 1901. But the federal Constitution guarantees all citizens equal protection of the laws.
A group of Tennessee citizens, backed by some city mayors, argued they are being denied their constitutional rights and appealed to a three-man federal district court to straighten out the legislature.
REPERCUSSIONS
For the federal courts to get embroiled with one state legislature in a case like this could involve litigation and many states for years, eras, that the federal court was extending its authority too far, and attacks on the court for years by politicians.
DIRTY OLD MONEY Gets Bubble Bath
CHICAGO (UPI)—An ultrasonically activated cleaning solution has been introduced here to remove dirt, grime, grease and even germs from coins at a rate of 5,000 every 12 minutes.
Into a tank that looks like a French-fry basket go old and dull money, regardless of denomination. The coins are subjected to vibrations up to 20,000 cycles per second while millions of ultrasonic bubbles are exploded against their metallic surfaces, freeing them of dirt and adhering chemical deposits.
A dip in a "drying bath" of alcohol completes the process.
Graduation Near After 52 Years for NY Student
NEW YORK (UPI)—City College here expects to graduate in June a student who enrolled as a freshman in 1910.
Arthur G. Seils, a native of Russia who came to New York at the age of 11, said he was forced to quit college after his first year, because "although my marks were high and tuition was free, the family could not spare the loss of income and I had to go to work."
Seils, now 68, started as a clerk, took some additional courses at New York University's School of Commerce, and became a successful food importer and manufacturer.
He married, raised two daughters and saw them both through college. One of his problems today, he said, is explaining to six grandchildren "why their grandpa has to do homework."
Seils "retired in 1931," "was difficult to find myself with time on my hands," he said.
"I had begun hearing stories about other people well along in their years going to college, so I asked myself, 'Why not me?'"
He started back in the 1960 summer session and has received some credit for his NYU courses, putting his graduation ahead to next summer.

which made mincemeat out of his feelings, on which this court must pronounce," Frankfurter said.
That's just the start, Frankfurter said when he gets warmed up, a colorful demonstration of the split which has been growing in the court for years never as wide.
Justice John Marshall Harlan, often strongly entangled in popular agreement with Frankfurter, let go at the majority. Justice Potter Stewart, on the majority side, teed off on Harlan.
Justice Tom Clark, also with the majority, first criticized the majority for not handling the case instead of hunting it back to the lower court, then accused Harlan of "chasing rabbits" and took a verbal belt at Frankfurter.

Bruton Looks for Big Season

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP)—Lecturer William Hovon Bruton is back at his other job, baseball, and is all geared up for a big year in center field for the Detroit Tigers.

Aside from a chronic weakness in his right knee—an injury suffered in 1957 when he collided with Felix Mantilla while playing for the Milwaukee Braves—Bruton is thin, eager, and full of optimism.

Behind him is a busy winter spent touring in Wisconsin and Illinois, talking before high school assemblies and service clubs on "Democracy and Sports."

"Originally this was part of the University of Wisconsin extension service, but the university turned it over to the Wisconsin Bureau of Lectures and Concerts," explained Bruton. "I enjoyed it. It's quite an experience. I had a little similar background working four years for a brewery in Milwaukee. I don't call them 'speeches.' I just think of them as 'talks.'

"I don't talk too much about baseball although everyone usually asks questions on this if I let them. Mostly I talk about physical fitness, sportsmanship, team work and fellowship or brotherhood or whatever you want to call it."

GOOD INFLUENCE

Bruton is considered a stabilizing influence on the club, particularly with the Tigers' younger Negro players.

He's a strong defensive fielder, fast on the bases (23 stolen bases in 27 attempts last year) and fast at bat (17 home runs and a .387 average).

"I should be all right this year," he says. "I've taken exercises to strengthen the knee, and I'm hitting pretty fair."

On the Tiger pitching staff at this time everything in Mickey Lolich's records shows he can't possibly make the pitching staff this season.

Everything except:

1. He throws left-handed—and what do the Tigers need more than southpaw relief help?
2. His stunning record in Grapefruit League play, his first competition against major leaguers.

Lolich came into the Tigers' camp this spring with no credentials at all.

He's been in the Tiger farm system three years. Each year he started at Knoxville in the Class A Sally League and was shipped back to Class B at Durham. Lolich's aggregate record his three years in the deep minors was a black 17 victories and 30 defeats. And now he's dazzling manager Bob Scheffing in a major league camp.

MANY FITCHES

"Lolich throws everything," said Scheffing. "A fastball, curve, slider, changeup."

He threw these same pitches in the minor leagues and was belted and beaten. He's throwing them against major league batters and getting them out.

The difference? Control. Lolich allowed nearly a walk an inning every season in the minors.

In his six innings with the Tigers, he's allowed just two walks.

And in those six innings, he's allowed just one hit and two runs. In his two three-inning appearances against Minnesota and Pittsburgh, Lolich retired a string of 16 batters. Not since the first inning he worked against the Twins has Lolich allowed a batter to reach base.

AFL's Anti-Trust Suit Against NFL in Revers

BALTIMORE (UPI)—The American Football League's $10 million anti-trust suit against the National Football League is in recess until tomorrow when testimony is expected to end and the job of making a decision would begin.

The case, before Federal Judge Rosal Thompson who is hearing it without a jury, was recessed yesterday after the NFL presented its first defense witnesses.

"Tomorrow, the AFL is expected to produce two or three rebuttal witnesses. Then Judge Thompson would start considering whether the AFL is entitled to any damages.

HOLD ON THERE—Detroit's Bailey Howell (18) clamps onto the wrist of Los Angeles Lakers' Jerry West (44) as the two go up for a rebound in last night's NBA playoff game at U-D Memorial Building. Behind West is Pistons Walter Dukes. The Pistons lost, 111-106.

Los Angeles Holds 3-0 Lead

Pistons Face Quick Ouster by Lakers

DETROIT (AP)—Only a complete turnaround can save the Detroit Pistons from a rapid ouster by the Los Angeles Lakers in the National Basketball Association playoffs.

It looks like a completely hopeless task for the Pistons. They're going, going, almost gone.

The Pistons returned home last night for the third game of the best-of-7 western division finals. But the result was the same as the two weekend games in Los Angeles. The Lakers won 111-106.

Los Angeles holds a 3-0 lead and can wrap it up here tomorrow night and then rest until Boston and Philadelphia settle their eastern division finals.

But there was no surrender talk by Detroit coach Dick McGuire.

VERY SLIM

"We've got a chance," said the taciturn Piston coach. "But it means we'll have to win four games—and two of them are out there."

The Pistons never have won a game in Los Angeles. Detroit has lost 12 times to the Lakers since they moved to the West Coast before the 1960-61 season.

The Lakers controlled the game from the time they took a permanent lead late in the first quarter. Twice the Lakers led by 12 points before the Pistons came back in the final period.

Detroit fought back to within four points five times. Then Jerry West rescued the Lakers. With the Lakers ahead 102-98 and the Pistons gaining momentum, West connected on two jumpshots and two free throws. He made it 108-100 and the Lakers were in. West scored 11 of his 25 points in the last period. P.C. Elgin Baylor was the Lakers' strength earlier and finished with a game high of 34 points.

Gene Shue had 26 and Ray Scott 23 for Detroit.

Philadelphia evened the best-of-7 eastern division finals at 1-1 by coming from 11 points behind in the final period for a 113-106 victory over Boston. With (The SH) Champain led the Warriors with 42 points, 16 in the last period.

Hogan, Nicklaus Form Good Masters Parlay

NEW YORK (AP)—A good parlay in next week's Masters golf tournament, says Fred Corcoran, is 49-year-old Ben Hogan and 21-year-old Jack Nicklaus.

"Hogan is playing beautifully," the tournament director of the International Golf Association said today after watching the final tuneup at Miami. "He really looks like the Hogan of old. And that boy, Nicklaus — his power scares you."

Corcoran, the man credited with building the PGA tour into a million-dollar enterprise, watched most of the game's present greats last weekend in the Doral Country Club Open.

STILL GREATEST

"From tee to green, Hogan is still the greatest golfer in the world," Corcoran said. "For 18 holes, I'd match him against anybody. Unfortunately, his putting lacks the authority of his heyday. The six and eight-footers don't drop for Ben the way they used to. It's not the legs that go first in this game. It's nerves, and putting ability. But Hogan is a tremendous competitor and a marvelous golfer. He could win another Masters — and another Open."

Young Nicklaus is very impressive. I saw him hit the green with a 7-iron on his second shot on a 550-yard hole. He is strong as a mule, is loaded with confidence and has only one problem that I can see—weight. He may be inclined to get fat."

Hogan, in his first tournament start of the year, made an impressive showing at Miami, firing rounds of 74-72-71-69 for 286, and a tie for fourth place.

LIKE SANDERS

"Most of the fellows down there consider Doug Sanders the new hotshot of the tour," Corcoran said. "He has a great temperament but that short swing may give him trouble. Arnold Palmer impresses me as being less relaxed than usual. He seems tense and nervous and bothered by business affairs. Gary Player isn't nearly the golfer he was a year ago. He's lost his putting touch."

Argentine Hoping to 'Retire' Moore

LOS ANGELES (AP)—There is a mounting suspicion that Archie Moore, after 26 years and 215 professional fights, surely must be nearing the end of the line.

Sharing this belief, and determined to point it out to the old "mongoose," is a giant Argentine heavyweight, Alejandro Lavorante, at 25 years in years and practically an infant in ring experience. Lavorante and Moore are slated to debate the matter, in 10 rounds or less, Friday night in the Sports Arena.

Donkeys at Avondale

Donkeys will take over the Avondale High gym Friday. The Avondale Junior High has scheduled two donkey basketball games. The teachers will take on the fathers at 7:45 p.m. The Alumni will play the Varsity Club in the second contest.

The wheels have started turning toward the formation of a big new classic bowling league in Pontiac.

Although only a small group attended the initial meeting, plans were made toward further progress in the organization of an actual loop which may be called The Greater Pontiac All Star Classic.

A total of 16 three-man teams will be formed to compete each Thursday night next season in a battle for a $1,000 guaranteed 1st prize.

There will be two complete rounds and four position nights.

It will give this area another prestige league to go with the Huron and West Side Classics and others. Most of the top men from the current big loop will make up the contestants in the proposed classic.

Captains will be selected from those averaging 195 and up. They will draft players from a list of bowlers ranging 185 and higher.

The Peterson point system will be followed in scoring. Trading of men will be allowed between captains.

Father-Son league action starts Sunday at Airway Lanes with few openings left. Two kегlers from that house have been chosen alternates for Saturday's TV Bowl show. They are Larry Mattson of Pontiac and B. Neussendorf, Dayton Plains.

Huron Bowl's Shirley Pointer will be among 312 outstanding women from 27 states competing in the 2nd annual Queens Tournament at Phoenix, Ariz., April 23-27. The city star will be shooting for part of a $13,200 prize fund in the special added event to the WIBC National Championships.

Tourney action really gets going Saturday at Howe's Lanes with an Optimist event and the start of the establishment's yearly singles battle. Reservations close today for singles.

Art Rosner of Sylvan Lanes announces he will hold a 200 Ladies tournament April 15 with a $50 guaranteed 1st prize. All women who had a 200 game there in league play are eligible. Lloyd Hoover has a meet coming up at B & M in Walled Lake.

Pontiac Women's Bowling Association will hold final open meet April 8 at Elks Temple with distribution of tourney prizes among highlights. Trophies and special awards for city contest were contributed by Bowling Proprietors of Oakland County.

More than 3,000 member bowling centers of B. P. A. A. will participate in "Bowl Down Cancer Week" April 22-28.

Pontiac Piston Service will enter the National Knights of Columbus tournament at Cincinnati. Ernie Zubalik, Stan Evanoff, Richard Wright, Edward Leonard and George Rihard made up state title team.

Interested teams must apply to tournament manager Mike Andonian at Pontiac Central or at West Side in order to be eligible to compete when the firing starts.

Oklahoma Family Masters 3rd Hole

ENID, Okla. (AP) — Louis E. McClellan, automotive buyer for the state central purchasing division, says his family pretty well conquered the third hole at Oakwood Country Club here.

McClellan said he shot a hole-in-one on the 145-yard, par 3 hole back in February, 1952, using a five-iron.

Three weeks ago his 15-year-old son, Scotty, got a hole-in-one on No. 3, using a four-iron.

Then last Sunday McClellan's wife, Doris, stepped up on the No. 3 tee and drilled a six-iron shot. She also got a hole-in-one.

Cage Committee Sets Rule for Wild Elbows

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The National Basketball Committee, which sets playing rules for the sport at nearly all levels, took action Tuesday it hopes will cut down on the number of players injured by flying elbows.

The committee voted to make excessive swinging of elbows by a player a personal foul even if no physical contact is made with a member of the opposing team. Under the 1961-62 rule, personal fouls were assessed only when contact was made.

At San Antonio

City Men Pro Hopetuls

Pontiac will have two representatives when the $25,200 San Antonio, Texas Open starts tonight with a pro-amateur event. It is another stop on the pro bowling tour.

Monroe Moore of 200 Bogi will be returning to the P.B.A. battle while Huron Bowl staff man Mike Samardzja will be trying to make the money list for the 1st time.

Moore, the "Make That Spare" king for nine weeks, finished in the top group at two successive Eastern tourneys but has not been a contender in some appearances since.

BEST BID

Samardzja made his best bid last weekend at Houston, Texas after being hot only at times but fell 26 pins short of qualifying for the final rounds.

Hunter Safety Mark Improved

By DON VOGEL

Gun safety education by conservation clubs and other interested groups apparently is beginning to pay off in Michigan.

After a relapse of two years, the number of hunting accidents with firearms declined in 1961. The total fatally wounded remained at 11.

An estimated 1,068,800 hunters, armed with firearms and bows and arrows, took to the fields and woods last year. There were 211 wounded. In 1960 hunting, 292 animals suffered injuries.

During the last 10 years there has been an average of 19 fatal and 241 nonfatal casualties.

It is true that about 80,000 more hunters were in action in 1960. This would account for a small portion of the decline in accidents. But the greatest drop in hunter numbers came among deer hunters. And the big game gunners always have far fewer wounded than their small game hunting brothers.

About 75 per cent of the small game license buyers also pick up a deer tag. But this has been the case for years. So, it would be difficult to question the figures for 1961 on this basis.

FIVE KILLED

Deer license sales in 1961 totaled an estimated $32,200. This includes 32,400 bow hunters. Five persons were killed and 26 wounded during the archery and regular deer seasons. This is an average of one death per 90,400 and one wounding per 17,352. During 1960 deer hunting, there was one death per 123,000 and one wounding per 8,821.

Six were killed and 185 injured in shooting mishaps during the 1961 small game season when 616,000 were in the fields. With 645,000 small game license holders hunting the year before.

Four were killed and 56 wounded in 1960.

What's the best fishing Major Palmer ever had?

"I flew in three fellows to the Sautin River, 30 minutes from Anchorage by plane," he replied. "In two hours they not only had caught their limit of three beauties, but had released more than 100 silver and humpback salmon. Most of the time all three had strikes."

"You can fly from Seattle to Anchorage for $90. Charter of a bush pilot plane averages about 70 cents a mile. Fishing camps are a good buy. For as little as $250 a week, including transportation from Anchorage and all other expenses, you can have a fine time."

They found remains of deer heavy with fawn at the end of blood and mid-stream trails.

Working in pairs, the searchers swept deer yard areas located along the western sector of the 17-mile long island. They reported finding no evidence of deer starvation.

The island's coyote population is an unknown figure but the conservation officer and hunters estimate it at about 35. Its growth is feared on grounds that along 10 coyotes taken by hunters this year were none of the nine animals caught and banded by the State Conservation Department in a study program.

fore, seven were killed and 236 wounded.

The greatest number of accidental shootings in 1961 were caused by hunters firing while out of sight of the victim. This happened 38 times during small game season. Careless handling of shotguns was responsible for 12 of the mishaps.

Three of the accidents during small game season resulted from mistaking another person for a deer during hunting. Four of the deer hunters were killed because of this error.

One of the big reasons for more accidents during small game season is the use of shotguns. These weapons throw plenty of pellets across the land when fired, covering a larger area than a rifle bullet.

With more land being posted each year, more hunters are being forced to concentrate on certain areas where hunting is permitted. And the amount of land being taken out of circulation is far greater than the decline in license sales being experienced in Michigan these last few years.

Hunter safety programs are important, and they will become more so, as more hunters are jammed into remaining state and private lands open to hunting.

HEADLINE NORTH
Fifteen members of the Oakland County Sportsman's Club will head north Friday for a weekend tour of deer yards.

They will stay at the conservation school on Higgins Lake. Field trips will take them to the experimental station near Higgins Lake, into deer yarding areas and to the Mid-Forest Club in southern Roscommon County.

In the latter location, attention will be focused on blind cutting and how it has added the deer herd within the club grounds.

Conservation game men will conduct the tour and explain the technical side of deer herd management and the problems of winter starvation.

The Oakland County delegation will need snow shoes. There are 12 to 14 inches of snow in the woods and swamps.

GETS SURPLUS CORN
Earlier this month we reported that Ralph Steen of Bloomfield Hills was going to apply for surplus corn for use as deer supplement on his property near the Riffe River in Ogemaw County.

Steen applied for, and received, 10 bushels of corn. Eight days after he mailed his forms to the Conservation Department, he received word that he could pick up the corn at a government storage elevator in Saginaw.

This is near record time for federal government processing of any application. The forms were sent through seven post offices in eight days.

Bureaucracy can move fast when it wants to get rid of something. And the Department of Agriculture likes nothing better than getting surplus crops off its hands.

Use Oil Drums to Make Nests for Big Geese
FINDLAY, Ohio (NEA) — Oil drums, cut in half and filled with straw, are being used as nesting sites for Canada geese at the Mercer County wildlife area, near Findlay.

The idea is being used elsewhere, but the Ohio Division of Wildlife added innovations. Here the drums are placed on small platforms, one foot above the water. When returning to the nest, the birds can light on the platform before entering the nest.

When the young are ready to leave home, all they have to do is pop into the water.

The nests being directly over the water offer added protection against predators.

Compared with last year, red head ducks are down 27 per cent; mallards, 23 per cent; coots, 24 per cent; and pintails, 14 per cent. Sculp are up 15 per cent. Canada geese are below their 1961 level, but well ahead of the long-term average.

Spring (Fever) Chicken Rules Okla. Highway

BELLINGHAM, Okla. (NEA) — At least one prairie chicken has been carried away by spring in Oklahoma.

The fowl was reported beligerently chasing automobiles along a highway in western Noble County. One motorist, whose car was chased by the pugnacious prairie chicken, stopped at a gas station and back with him to witness the bird's antics.

"They'll never believe me," he said.

Another motorist stopped and fired a gun into the ground near the chicken, to frighten it off the road before it was injured. Instead of fleeing, the ferocious fowl, with feathers ruffled, charged the motorist.

By the time wildlife rangers reached the scene, the prairie chicken had disappeared — perhaps in search of bigger game.

"This is about time for the chickens to begin booming (a weird mating dance)," said one of the rangers.

Whooping Cranes Heading for Canada

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Part of the world's last flock of whooping cranes is on the wing, presumably toward breeding grounds at Great Slave Lake, Canada.

Huyson J. Johnson, manager of the Arkansas national wildlife refuge, Texas, where the whoopers wintered, notified the Interior Department today that 13 of the birds have disappeared. Apparently they are winging their way northward across the 2,500-mile route from Arkansas to Great Slave Lake.

A record 38 whoopers wintered at Arkansas. There are seven whoopers left in Texas. Six of these are at Audubon Park, New Orleans, and one is at the San Antonio, Tex., zoo.

In Real Dilemma Over Negro Vote

GOP in Bad Pinch as 1962 Election Looms

By LYLE C. WILSON

WASHINGTON (UPI) — How serious is the word to describe the dilemma of the Republican party as it approaches this year's congressional election preliminary to the presidential contest in 1964. A dilemma is a situation in which you can't win.

The Republican dilemma consists of the party's need to decide what it should do about the Negro vote in the North and about the white vote in the South.

These decisions will be made locally in the congressional campaign coming up this year. Republican candidates in the North will be for civil rights along with God, mother and country and about in that order. Ditto Democratic candidates in the North.

Candidates of both parties in the South will be for God, mother and country but not much, if any, for civil rights. That situation will show exactly how the two major parties stand on the civil rights issue.

Each stands divided, wobbly and afraid. This wobbly position will be strong enough for congressional campaign purposes.

Southern candidates of the Republican and Democratic parties can run, and in some cases, be elected to Congress this year on a slightly muted issue of white supremacy.

Northern candidates of both parties can do as well on the issue of equal rights for Negroes in all areas of life, in a presidential election, however, the Republicans must make up their minds.

They must decide whether their national ticket shall approach the civil rights issue in the hope of winning white votes in the South or of winning Negro votes in the North.

For example: Richard M. Nixon chose in 1960 to hope for southern white votes. He and all others had been enormously impressed by his welcome in Atlanta, Ga., in the early days of the campaign.

Nixon was solidly on record in favor of civil rights as Negroes understand the issue and he let it go at that, hoping, also that Northern Negroes would remember.

Nixon avoided any directly aggressive appeal to Northern Negroes during his presidential campaign, perhaps fearing that to do so would offend the Southern whites of his record on that issue. He avoided the black belts of the big northern cities in his campaign.

It didn't work. More than that, Nixon's reaction to the Republican dilemma probably licked him. The Democratic problem is different.

A Democratic presidential candidate (John F. Kennedy, for example) can go all out to cultivate Northern Negro votes and still win most of the South's electoral vote because the South still is habit-bound to the Democratic party.

But the Republican vote in the South steadily is increasing. It is that fact that makes the situation so difficult for the Republicans.

They are tempted but so far have lacked the courage to make the kind of presidential campaign bid for Southern electoral votes that surely would win a lot of them—and as surely prevent any movement of Northern Negroes back into the Republican ranks.

The decision will require courage but it must be made. The time of painful Democratic decision will come later.

The Democrats cannot expect often to come up with a ticket so balanced that the top man can make a powerful play for Northern Negro support while Lyndon Johnson sings Dixie to Southern voters.

From Actress to Surgical Assistant

Mary Beth Hughes Boasts Double Life

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD — At 9 o'clock every night, Mary Beth Hughes makes her entrance wearing a bathing suit in a sexy farce called "Pajama Tops" at Le Grand Theater.

At 8:15 every morning, she enters a Vermont avenue doctor's office in nurse's white, beginning her full day as a surgical assistant.

The strange double life of Mary Beth Hughes comprises no hard luck story, as with Veronica Lake — discovered last week working as a cocktail waitress in New York. With Miss Hughes, it was a question of knowing what she wanted and going after it.

"The picture business has changed," said the actress, a 20-year veteran in films. "On the last three television films I worked on, the producers were former premen."

"The directors were not just amateurs; they were incompetent amateurs."

I've got a 15-year-old son and a house to support; my ex-husband spent $50 a month. I could not keep dipping into my resources."

She happened to meet a plastic surgeon at a cocktail party. He recommended an operation to remove smallpox and acne scars and lift drooping eyelids. She had it — "I don't mind admitting I had a face lift; it's good for business."

She urged the surgeon to give her a job. He tested her sincerity by asking her to accompany him on a couple of operations — a skin graft on the legs of a burned girl; removal of a cancer from the head of a 70-year-old.

Miss Hughes watched both with no adverse effects, and the surgeon hired her last October. She underwent hospital training and soon was assisting the surgeon in operations.

Lost Child, 6,
Is Found Dead

Admits Slaying Girl
in New York

NEW YORK (AP)—A 6-year-old girl who disappeared from in front of her home, Queens, home was found dead early today about four blocks away. Police said a former mental patient had admitted the slaying.

A cursory examination indicated that the child had not been beaten or molested, police said. The child was identified by police as Carol McAllister, last seen by her parents—Mr. and Mrs. Joseph McAllister—at about 5 p.m. as she skated on the sidewalk in front of her home.

Police said John Goeniger, 35, admitted the slaying.

There are more than one million coin telephones in the United States.

More than 60 policemen were thrown into the hunt for the child. The search led to the discovery of the girl's skates and clothing in a house occupied by Goeniger in Bellerose, Queens.

Police said Goeniger was released in February from the Pilgrim State Hospital for the mentally ill.

Goeniger occupied the house with his parents, police said, but his father was not at home and his mother was in Florida.

The McAllisters have four other children—Kathleen, 11; James, 8; Joseph, 5, and Ellen, 2. The father is employed by a drug concern.

The area from which the child disappeared is a rather well-to-do residential neighborhood.

Kate Smith Doing Well After Minor Surgery

NEW YORK (AP)—Singer Kate Smith is reported in good condition following minor surgery at Doctors Hospital.

Miss Smith, a veteran of radio, television and motion pictures, entered the hospital last Saturday and was operated on Tuesday.

LEARN QUICKLY

"Doctors and nurses tell me I am a natural," she said with unhidden pride. "I learn quickly and my reactions are right. Believe me, this gives me more satisfaction than anything I ever did in show business."

She is now working for another surgeon, who has placed her in complete charge of his office—bookkeeping, receiving patients, assisting with operations and everything.

"I agreed to do 'Pajama Tops' only after adding the doctor's permission," she said. "I had done the show before and loved it, but I wouldn't consider it if it interfered with my job."

Woman Hurt in Waterford Auto Mishap

Bernetta Rae Strong, 38, of 1785 Cass 1st Road, Kearsy Harbor, escaped serious injury early this morning when her car, once traveling over 100 miles an hour, skidded off the road and turned over in Waterford Township.

Mrs. Strong told police she was rushing to pick up her husband at work when the accident occurred on M59 near Jeffwood at 2:15 a.m. She was admitted for observation to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital where her condition is listed as fair.

The woman's husband was picked up at work by her grandfather when Mrs. Strong failed to arrive at the designated time. The two men later saw her car speeding past them on M59 and turned their car around to follow her.

They told Waterford police they were doing 100 miles an hour but the woman's car was pulling away from them.

Mrs. Strong said that she lost control of the car while moving at top speed. The auto, according to police, must have skidded off the road in a skid before rolling over. The car was damaged extensively.

To Study Bond Proposal for Water Improvements

A proposed $3.7-million bond ordinance to finance Pontiac water system improvements was introduced for study at last night's City Commission meeting.

The improvement will be necessary to receive and distribute water from Detroit.

The ordinance will be discussed fully at next Tuesday's meeting. It is expected city officials will ask for approval at that time.

In effect, it would authorize the city to prepare, advertise and sell some $3,700,000 in revenue bonds for water system construction, pending approval of the Michigan Municipal Finance Commission.

The bonds would not create any need for a tax increase, nor would they affect capital improvement funds. Maturing over 30 years, the bonds would be paid entirely from water revenues at a rate of about $231,000 annually.

This arrangement would pay the major portion of the estimated $3,870,000 total construction cost. The remaining $217,000 would come from present surpluses in the water fund.

MAJOR ITEMS. The ordinance also establishes water rates to users, which will increase but not until Detroit water is in use.

Based on a study by the city's consulting engineers, Jones, Henry and Williams of Toledo, the biggest single construction cost will be an estimated $1,540,000 for mains, pipelines, valves and fittings needed to revamp the city's water distribution system.

The system must be revamped to handle and effectively distribute water from one source. It now draws water from some 30 wells.

Generally, the plan calls for a main trunk line to be laid from the source near South Boulevard and Opdyke Road, up through the center of the city to the area near Pontiac Motor Division.

The other major cost will be $1,180,000 for a pumping station, two ground level storage tanks of five million gallons capacity each, and a maintenance and service building at the South Boulevard-Opdyke Road site.

Other estimated costs figured in the total include $315,000 for a booster station and two-million-gallon elevated storage tank on Montcalm near Pontiac Motor, a $480,000 contingency for legal and finance expenses, $88,000 for property acquisition and $138,000 in miscellaneous items.

The changeover to Detroit water will result in residential water rates slightly more than doubling and industrial rates more than tripling.

ON COST LESS. The average, where users pay for water softeners, the total quarterly cost is expected to be less since softeners won't be necessary with softer Detroit water, the engineers said.

The total estimated average annual requirement for operation of the water department and payment of bond principal and interest is $1,611,120.

Revenue from water charges to consumers, hydrant rental and sewage disposal charges passed for construction of curbs and gutters on Howard Street, Johnson to Adelaide, and on Madison Avenue, Perry to Emerson.

The commission ordered City Engineer James N. Carlisle to prepare cost estimates on the two projects for presentation at next week's meeting.

Jury Deadlocks in Holdup Case

Two Accused Bandits Face Second Trial in Supermarket Robbery

Two accused holdup men will go to trial a second time on charges of armed robbery because a Circuit Court jury was unable to agree on a verdict in their case yesterday.

William Yoho, 31, of Dearborn, and Robert H. Hills, 38, of 278 Oakland Ave., will be brought to trial again during the next jury term in May. They are charged with the $1,500 holdup of Food Town Market, 1200 Baldwin Ave., last August.

The jury began deliberations late last Thursday. After being released for three days, they continued deliberations yesterday and reported their deadlock.

Circuit Judge Frederick Ziem reduced bond on Yoho and Hills from $100,000 to $15,000 each. Pending the second trial, Yoho is being held in Oakland County jail and Hills will be returned to Jackson Prison where he is serving a term for carrying a concealed weapon.

Home Moreland, a key prosecution witness who earlier admitted taking part in the robbery with Yoho and Hills, refused to testify during the trial.

Moreland, 28, of 617 Commerce Road, Commerce Township, took the fifth amendment when Asst. Prosecutor Robert Templin Jr. asked him to describe the holdup.

After pleading guilty to a part in the robbery, Moreland has been awaiting sentencing. Templin said yesterday, however, that Moreland told him he was going to change his plea.

Manufacturers' representatives, he was a past president of the Clarkson Rotary in 1954-55 and a member of Cedar Lodge No. 96 F&AM.

For Scholarship or Social Life

About Fraternities: To Join or Not to Join

BY LEELEE J. NASON, ED.D.
Professor of Education,
University of Southern California

Fraternities—are they good or bad?

It's a question discussed annually by parents and educators as well as the students themselves.

And, like most hotly argued questions, there are two very good sides.

His grades did not match his social success. He failed.

But another young friend, Joe, will return to college for his senior year. He, too, joined a fraternity. But his grades rose steadily year after year. And he has met warm friends of his life.

It's largely a matter of what fraternity you choose. Fraternities provide a social background; they engender poise and confidence. But they vary widely in scholastic standards. Choose your fraternity as carefully as it chooses you!

Particularly, scrutinize the seniors. Choose a fraternity with seniors of the type you would like to be when you are a senior!

Individual fraternities keep approximately the same scholastic standing year after year. In some, the scholastic standing always is high; in others it stands low.

The new men almost automatically fall into the pattern of the fraternity they join.

TWO KINDS

A fraternity with high standards of conduct and scholarship provides pledges with such an environment; a fraternity that emphasizes social life will continue to do so at the expense of scholastic standing.

I have watched many students fall in an almost heroic attempt to maintain high scholarship in a low scholarship fraternity.

One had named Charles struggled with this problem for a long time then gave up and moved into a dormitory. Shortly he brought his grades up high, where they belonged.

I have seen students, under the influence of a strong scholastic fraternity lift their grades and seriously prepare for careers with the extra bonus of fraternity friendships.

Their pledges have high scholastic goals; aiming at "C" is not enough.

Active members set an example of good scholarship for pledges. They make it plain that members are expected to be good students as well as good fellows.

Senior members take the time and effort to help pledges develop study skills and maintain high grades. The secrets of good scholarship are passed from class to class.

Rewards and punishments are based on the behavior of the pledge, not the whim of the persons administering them.

New students may obtain the scholastic standing of each fraternity from the dean of students. He can scrutinize each fraternity for favorable and unfavorable characteristics.

Soldier Starts 6-Month Term

Reservist Sentenced for Criticism of Rule Against Demonstrations

FT. POLK, La. (AP)—A Texas reservist, convicted of disrespect after leading "we want out" demonstrations by troops, began a six-month sentence at hard labor in the stockade of this sprawling military post today.

Pfc. Bernis Owen of Seadrift, Tex., drew the maximum penalty from a five-officer court-martial Tuesday. He also was fined $50 per month to be taken from his $124 monthly pay for six months.

TO BE REVIEWED

The conviction will be reviewed automatically. Owen's defense counsel later may request further review by higher commands.

Owen, 23, had been enrolled at the University of Texas for one month when he was recalled to active duty during the Berlin crisis last fall.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul L. Owen, watched the two-day court-martial proceedings.

The reservist was charged with criticizing publicly an order halting protest meetings by reservists. The order was issued by Maj. Gen. Harley B. West, commanding officer of Ft. Polk and the 49th Armored Division. West is a reservist himself.

"HILARIOUS CLIMAX"

The Army prosecutor, Capt. James D. Spurgeon, argued that Owen's statement was deliberate. The soldier was charged with calling West's order "hilarious climax to a chain of injustices" in a long distance telephone interview with Sidney W. Cook, United Press International bureau manager at New Orleans.

Capt. Edgar Nash, the defense counsel, called Owen's statement "honest mistake of judgment," and asked for leniency.

State High Justices to Get Wages Hiked

LANSING (U)—The state will have to increase the salaries of Supreme Court Justices Thomas M. Kavanagh and Eugene F. Black to $25,500 for the rest of the current fiscal year—at least until it runs out of money.

State Atty. Gen. Frank J. Kelley yesterday notified state treasurer Sanford A. Brown and state controller Ira Polley they would have to hike the justices' pay in accordance with a U.S. federal district court order.

Kavanagh and Black are waging a court battle to have their wages raised to the level of six other Justices. The legislature hiked salaries from $18,500 to $25,500 yearly, two years ago. But a constitutional provision prevents the wage boost from taking effect until justices begin a new term.

If re-elected, Kavanagh will start a new term in 1963, and Black in 1963.

State Calls for Bids on Freeway Project

LANSING (U)—Bids on the first contract for construction of the $40 million East-West Freeway in Grand Rapids will be opened April 11, the State Highway Department said today.

The first project is for twin 976-foot bridges to carry the freeway over the Grand River and Indian Mounds Road at the southwest edge of the city.

Lansing Will Appeal Speed Law Decision

LANSING (U)—Lansing City Attorney Jack W. Warren said today he will appeal to the State Supreme Court to save the city's present speed law.

An Ingham County Circuit Court decision two weeks ago held the law was invalid because it did not contain a so-called "prima facie" clause in conflict with the state code.

The clause allows a driver to defend his breaking of the limit on the grounds that surrounding conditions were such that he did not endanger life or property.

Warren answered that the Michigan constitution grants cities the right to "reasonable control of their streets." A state law cannot bypass the constitutional provision, he said.

Soviet Engineers in Cuba to Plan Nickel Plants

HAVANA (AP)—Soviet engineers have arrived to study sites for two nickel ore processing plants costing about $250 million, the newspaper Revolution reported today.

The paper said the preliminary studies should be completed by July 1963, and the plants placed in operation two years later.

American-owned nickel plants were among the first to come under Prime Minister Fidel Castro's nationalization drive.

K Boosts Incentive Pay

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet Premier Khrushchev acknowledged today that the appeal of money can't be denied. In a speech carried by the party and government press, he emphasized to a meeting of party members the importance of proper payment for workers.

"If a man has earned additional pay, he should receive it without fail," said Khrushchev. "Communists understand the power of material stimulation and think much of the principle of material incentives."

The speech was made Tuesday before the Russian Federation Bureau of the Soviet Communist party.

Doctors Tell JFK They Back Medicare

WASHINGTON (U)—A group of doctors called on President Kennedy today to pledge their support in his program to put medical care for the aged under Social Security.

Kennedy, describing them as "some of the most distinguished members of the medical profession in the United States" said he was hopeful their support would convince other physicians that Social Security is the best way to handle the problem.

Kennedy added that he was most hopeful that the present session of Congress would enact his medical care program. He spoke to the doctors on the steps of his office.

Lift Ban on Flights

PARIS (U)—Authorities today lifted a ban on flights by private light planes over France. It was imposed March 2 as a security measure during the Algerian peace talks at Evian.

Kennedy Meets Rusk to Hash Over Results of Parleys So Far

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy and Secretary of State Dean Rusk met at the White House today to review what the Geneva conference and talks on Berlin have produced so far.

Rusk flew back from Geneva last night. He went to the White House this morning to make his first report to the chief executive. He walked in through a side door to executive offices with a tan attache case in his hand. He had nothing to say to newsmen at that point.

Italy Tells Plan on Disarmament

Foreign Minister Segni Has 4-Point Program; Bans Space Weapons

GENEVA (AP)—Foreign Minister Antonio Segni of Italy today put forward a four-point program of partial disarmament beginning with an agreement prohibiting the use of outer space for military purposes.

The Italian disarmament conference also received a memorandum from Polish Foreign Minister Adam Rapacki outlining his five-year-old proposal for a nuclear-free zone through the heartland of Europe. He called for a limitation of armaments as well as a ban on nuclear weapons in West and East Germany, Poland and Czechoslovakia.

Segni told the conference the need now is for confidence-building agreements to serve as a prelude to a bigger program of general and complete disarmament.

The Italian four-point program called for:

1. An agreement to prohibit the use of outer space for military purposes.
2. An early cutoff of nuclear weapons production, leading to the gradual destruction of stockpiles, and the creation of a uranium bank for peaceful uses.
3. Action to guard against accidental war or surprise attack.
4. Adoption of measures to break down the web of misunderstanding that separates East and West and thus restore a psychological climate of trust.

Segni's program was in line with proposals to the conference by other Western leaders, including U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Canadian Foreign Minister Howard C. Green.

The Italian minister said the moderate language used by the delegates in the conference thus far led him to hope that concrete results would be achieved.

Hold Up Coup in Argentina

City OKs Asking County Action on River Drain

Pontiac Would Finance $4-Million Project to Improve Area System

Pontiac will petition the Oakland County Drain Commission for the construction of nearly $4-million in improvements to the Clinton River in the city's central business district and near east side.

Following a stormy debate at last night's meeting, the City Commission approved a resolution authorizing the petition by a 4-3 vote.

The move was recommended by City Commissioner Robert A. Stierer. Total estimated cost of the job, according to the city's consulting engineers Jones, Henry & Williams, Inc., would be $3,781,160 if it is done in conjunction with the downtown perimeter road.

If it is not timed to coincide with the perimeter road, especially with the right-of-way to be obtained for the Orchard Lake-Auburn Avenue crossover, the cost would be about $4,203,960.

REQUESTS ACTION
The petition requests that the drain commission proceed with the "location, establishment and construction of an intra-drain to be located in the Clinton River."

The entire cost would be assessed against the city, "except for assessments against the state and county on account of drainage of state and county highways respectively, if any."

"This will not affect the Pontiac tax rate," Stierer said. "It will be paid over a period of years from our capital improvement funds."

The entire project would be turned over to the county. Pontiac would pay the bill, the county do all the work.

Basically, the plans call for widening, deepening and straightening of the river from East Boulevard to the Grand Trunk. (Continued on Page 2, Col. 7)

'Corpses' Ready for Unveiling

MYSTERIOUS INVADERS?—Who are the strange forms keeping an eye on Pontiac's city hall—and just before election time? Actually, they've been there all winter. They are canvas-shrouded shrubbery and trees, carefully guarded all winter long by Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department forestry division employees. The forms may look ominous now, but any day their pretty greenery will burst forth.

Pulls Off Bloodless Coup

Army Takes Over Syria

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP)—The Syrian army command took over the government today in a lightning coup avowedly aimed at swinging Syria back from right-wing rule to neutralist Arab socialism.

President Nazem el Koudsi and Premier Marout Dawalibi's cabinet were ousted and the constituent assembly set up after Syria broke from the United Arab Republic last fall was dissolved.

Communiqués signed by "The General Command of the Army and Armed Forces" said a provisional government composed of honest and sincere elements would be set up later.

Until then, it was announced, "the command takes over the legislative and executive powers of the country."

Syria's frontiers, airports and harbors were ordered closed until further notice. The people were instructed to "avoid any demonstrations of support or any groupings whatsoever."

Radio Damascus said the coup was bloodless.

An army general staff statement broadcast from Damascus accused the right-wingers of nullifying social reforms to regain lands they had lost to the peasants and workers while Syria was joined with Egypt in President Gamal Abdel Nasser's United Arab Republic.

OLD ARMY REVOLT

The statement said the coup was a continuation of the Sept. 28 army revolt which broke Syria's tie with the U.A.R., and "an internal affair to correct conditions in Syria." It said the army's aim at home was "establishment of constructive Arab socialism," the same term used by Nasser to describe his program.

The army command also called for "the establishment of comprehensive Arab unity on a clear basis, especially with the loved Egypt and brotherly Iraq and considering the Palestine problem as problem number one of the Arab nation."

It affirmed as its international aim "positive neutrality and non-alignment and respect of international charters including the United Nations charter."

Damascus radio said the army command would hold both legislative and executive power until a transitional government is formed. It said the government once more was headed by the same junta that carried out the Sept. 28 revolt.

The junta originally was formed of six colonels, but one of them, Col. Haydar Kuzbari, was dismissed from his command last December. It was believed he leaned too far to the right to suit the other junta members, and he also was believed to have interfered in the December election campaign.

Combat Troops Halted in Midst of Takeover

Units Ready for Order From Military Leaders to Resume Action

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—Combat-ready troops carried out the first stages of a plan to overthrow defiant President Arturo Frondizi today, but stopped short of an outright coup.

Military units occupied Government House in Santa Rosa, capital of La Pampa Province.

Other units in battle dress rushed to guard positions at communications and other nerve centers in Buenos Aires and key provincial cities.

Troops at Government House, who Tuesday changed from their red blue and gold uniforms for battle fatigues, stationed themselves just outside Frondizi's office for the first time in the 11-day crisis. These guards carried submachine guns.

Grim and gaunt from the 11 days of crisis, Frondizi drove to his office from his suburban home. He smiled weakly as reporters asked him for comment but remained silent.

The military occupation of radio stations, central telephone offices and public works plants obviously was a move to thwart any disturbance and to be in a position for a military takeover of the nation if it is ordered by the army, navy and air chiefs.

"LAST CHANCE"
Military sources said the combined armed forces at a pre-dawn session decided to put into action the plan for the forcible ouster of the embattled president after he again rejected their demands that he quit.

A sudden halt in the plans, apparently to give Frondizi one more chance to resign.

The capital swarmed with rumors—including one that Frondizi had fled the country. Frondizi's press secretary categorically denied the report.

At Tablada, a small town near the international airport, Gen. Franklin Rawson, who rang the first note of open defiance by calling for rebellion two days ago, was reported at the head of an infantry division, ready to move against Frondizi at a moment's notice.

As the situation grew more tense, Interior Minister Hugo Vaca Narvaja told newsmen "calm prevails throughout the nation, at least externally."

The minister said that if any measures had been adopted in the armed forces "they have not found expression outside the barracks."

The military occupation of such places as telephone exchanges, he said, was "a precaution to avoid the possibility of attacks against communication centers."

Evening shoppers in downtown Pontiac will have free off-street parking before long, thanks to a group of downtown merchants and the City Commission.

The merchants have offered to pay the city $750 a month for free parking on all municipal parking lots each weekday after 5 p.m.

Last night commissioners voted unanimously to accept the offer and authorized City Manager Robert A. Stierer to close the deal.

The city would normally make slightly more on meter charges during those hours, each month, but agreed to okay the agreement leaving open the possibility of a future rate change if the loss proved too great.

Commissioners praised the move as "a real service to the public."

Merchants hope to have the free parking in effect by April 1. It will not apply to on-street spaces.

Echo Will Fly Late
Night owls can see the Echo I satellite sail quickly across Pontiac skies at 3:22 a.m. tomorrow. It will move in from the north, 77 to 85 degrees over the horizon and float toward the northeast.

Each weekday during Lent a prominent American invites you to join with him in his favorite prayer. Today, join with:

JOHN ANDERSON JR.
Governor of Kansas

"O God, Soul of the Universe, Spirit of Jesus Christ, whose word is hidden in the framework of the world, lighting the mind of man, from whom and in whom we have our being, we thank Thee that Thou has so favored the world and so made the heart of man that we cannot escape Thee."

"Thou, who visitest the heart in every experience, who comest to us through every channel of impressions, though we oftentimes fail to recognize Thy hand, ever and always findest a secret way within and announce Thee there."

"Interpret to us the movement of the world and the motives of men's minds so that our search for peace among men may no longer be shrouded in blindness and delusions."

For this we pray in Christ's name. Amen.

BY HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (U)—Homesickness for the past can bring many a nostalgic joy.

But don't you think we've all gone on something of an emotional jag in remembering the so-called "Roaring 20s" with such auto-casting affection?

This decade between 1920 and 1930 certainly had its memorable moments. But was it really as wild and free-wheeling as it has been pictured recently in books, movies and on the television screen?

If one judged the 1920s only as seen through this mist of fond recollection and unchecked imagination, here is how life was in those rainy days:

No one really worked for a living. Everybody made his money on the stock market or in the Florida land boom.

There were only three cities—New York, Chicago and Hollywood. The rest of the country was empty.

Washington (AP)—Freed from a two-week tangle over an anti-poll tax amendment, the Senate headed today toward another scrap—whether to buy $100 million in U.S. bonds.

The way was cleared for action on the bond issue yesterday when the Senate by a 74-16 vote approved the constitutional amendment to abolish the poll tax as a requirement for voting in federal elections.

The U.N. bond proposal was made the pending business before the Senate quit last night. But Democratic leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said debate on it may not get started until tomorrow.

President Kennedy has asked authority to buy half of a $200 million U.N. bond issue to help pull the organization out of financial troubles. Some senators have objected strongly to the plan.

Mansfield indicated he would seek action first on a House-passed appropriation bill for the Treasury and Post Office departments and a batch of minor measures.

Prolonged speeches by Southern senators against the anti-poll tax amendment, had held up committee meetings and other business. But the southerners abruptly broke off their speeches and when the vote came approving the amendment, it was even more one-sided than the 72-16 margin by which the Senate adopted a similar amendment two years ago. It was in excess of the required two-thirds majority.

Except for Sens. John G. Tower, R-Tex., and J. J. Hickey, D-Wyo., all the votes against the amendment were cast by Southern Democratic senators. However, although not voting, Sen. Milton R. Young, R-N.C., was announced as opposed to it.

U. N. Issue Next for the Senate

Solons OK Abolishing Poll Tax, 77 to 16; Face Scrap Over Bonds

WASHINGTON (AP)—Freed from a two-week tangle over an anti-poll tax amendment, the Senate headed today toward another scrap—whether to buy $100 million in U.S. bonds.

The way was cleared for action on the bond issue yesterday when the Senate by a 74-16 vote approved the constitutional amendment to abolish the poll tax as a requirement for voting in federal elections.

The U.N. bond proposal was made the pending business before the Senate quit last night. But Democratic leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said debate on it may not get started until tomorrow.

President Kennedy has asked authority to buy half of a $200 million U.N. bond issue to help pull the organization out of financial troubles. Some senators have objected strongly to the plan.

Air Agencies 'Forget' Event Which Could Renew Feud

By ROBERT J. SERLING
UPI Aviation Editor

WASHINGTON — The government's two air agencies have "shaken hands and forgotten" an incident which threatened to renew their old feud over who should investigate air accidents.

The incident occurred during last week's Civil Aeronautics Board hearings into the American Airlines crash at New York's Idlewild Airport Feb. 28.

On the first day of the hearings, a Federal Aviation Agency publicity man passed out to newsmen a statement outlining the development of noise abatement procedures from the runway used by the American jet.

CAB officials felt that inasmuch as noise abatement may be an issue as a contributing factor to the crash, the FAA release in effect discounted the issue.

REBUKES FAA
The next day, CAB member G. Joseph Minetti opened the hearing by noting that "the parties to an investigation hold their status only to assist and determine the probable cause of an accident, not to enhance their own position."

The public rebuke started newsmen who noted that the FAA did not make any apology to Minetti, at least, at the time.

But an FAA spokesman said later that the statement was intended purely as background information to be released later in conjunction with testimony by an agency noise abatement expert.

"It should not have been handed to the press when it was," the spokesman said.

"The FAA immediately apologized to the CAB with assurances that we merely were trying to be helpful and had no intention of violating the board's rules of accident inquiry. You might say we've shaken hands and forgotten the incident."

The CAB's sensitivity, however, recalled the friction that began when the first FAA administrator, Elwood R. Quesada, became active in accident investigation.

It took a close personal friendship between Nageeb E. Halaby, Quesada's successor, and CAB Chairman Alan S. Boyd to reduce the ill-feeling.

WASHINGTON (U)— Communist-supplied arms have made Cuba the military giant of the Caribbean, according to a State Department report.

The department said an estimated $100 million in Communist military aid "has turned the Cuban military establishment into one of the most formidable in Latin America. It has introduced a military capability hitherto not present in any of the Latin American countries of the Caribbean area."

Most of the arms have come from the Soviet Union and Czechoslovakia, the department reported yesterday.

It added "there is no evidence that the Soviet Union has supplied Cuba with missiles, or that missile bases are under construction." "Nor are any Soviet bombers known to have been turned over to Fidel Castro's regime."

Cuba has been receiving Communist arms shipments and military advisers since Soviet Deputy Premier Anastas Mikoyan visited the island nation in February 1960, the department said.

It said the report on Cuba's military build-up was issued in response to numerous requests.

The State Department gave this accounting of Cuba's current arms status:

300,000 IN GROUND FORCE
—Cuba has a high-performance MIG 19 jet fighters and a 300,000 man ground force with armored weapons including heavy tanks and antitank equipment.

—Communist arms delivered in the past 18 months include 50 to 75 Soviet MIG jets, 130 to 150 medium and heavy tanks, 30 to 100 assault guns, 50 to 1,000 field artillery pieces, 500 to 1,000 antiaircraft artillery guns, 400 mortars, 200,000 small arms, patrol and motor torpedo boats.

—There has been extensive military training of Cubans, both at home and in Communist nations.

—Communist bloc instructors are acting as full-time advisers to some Cuban military units.

—In addition to the fighters, the Cuban air force has received Communist helicopters, propeller-driven trainers and transports.

Gal Shoots Her Finger With Gun Under Pillow

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Mrs. Ruth Waldron, 19, was awakened yesterday by a gunshot and found the middle finger of her left hand streaming blood.

The shot came from a 22-caliber Derringer which she kept under her pillow for protection.

Wedding Bells Ring for Three Misses in Area

Pair Weds at Ceremony in Pontiac

Marcia Louise Shepherd exchanged wedding vows with Jerrold L. Nye before Rev. Theodore Allebach Saturday afternoon in the Oakland Avenue United Presbyterian Church. Standards of white chrysanthemums and stock adorned the chancel.

Daughter of the Alfred E. Shepherds of Summit Avenue, the bride appeared in classic ivory satin styled with chapel train. Imported lace overlay on the scoop-neck bodice extended into wristpoint sleeves. A pearl tiara held her finger veil of silk illusion.

She wore the bridegroom's gift of cultured pearls, brought from Japan by his parents, the Harry L. Nyes of St. Joseph, and carried carnations and Stephanotis.

Ruth Shepherd, her sister's maid of honor, and bridesmaids Sharon Livingston, Clinton, and Sharon Burleson, Clinton, wore cocktail-length Nile green silk chiffon styled with contrasting green cummerbund, shoes and hats. They held cascades of white and green carnations.

Assisting their brother were John Nye, best man and Gordon Nye, who ushered with their cousin Keith Nye also of St. Joseph. Thomas Shepherd was junior usher at his sister's wedding.

The newlyweds will occupy a mobile home in Holt.

Mr. Nye is a senior in agricultural economics at MSU and will continue toward his master's degree. His fraternity is Alpha Gamma Rho. His bride, a junior in medical technology at MSU, will intern in Sparrow Hospital beginning in June.

For her daughter's wedding and church reception, Mrs. Shepherd chose a rose lake sheath dress and the bridegroom's mother appeared in a beige silk-jacketed sheath dress.

MRS. TERRY D. HAMILTON

Clarice Jean Graves Weds Terry D. Hamilton

In a candlelight ceremony performed by Rev. Edward Aughtard Saturday evening in Orchard Lake Community Church, Presbyterian, Clarice Jean Graves became Mrs. Terry D. Hamilton.

Crowning the tiered wedding cake at the church reception was a bisque china, bridal figurine that had been imported from Germany for the wedding of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Graves of Dick Avenue. The bridegroom is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Lynn L. Hamilton, Chesterland, Ohio.

Styled along princess lines with flat front panel appliqued with crystals and pearls, the bride's gown of candlelight silk organza over taffeta fell into a chapel train. Realized-haze lace secured her veil of French illusion.

The bridegroom's gift, a carved ivory rose on a gold chain and white hyacinths, gardenias and carnations, arranged in a cascade, completed her ensemble.

A cascade of feathered green carnations distinguished matron of honor Mrs. James Speidel, Chesterland, Ohio, who appeared in bouffant green silk organza as did bridesmaids Mrs. Thomas Comley and Eileen Gamrath, Birmingham. They held smaller bouquets of feathered white carnations.

Margo Leslie Graves attended her sister as flower girl.

best man. Tom Thomas, DeWitt, and Brian Castle, Utica, ushered.

The newlyweds are living in a mobile home at Michigan State University where both are seniors.

Pastel pink carnations were pinned to Mrs. Graves' dress of azalea pink lace over taffeta. The bridegroom's mother wore an aquamarine silk crepe sheath dress and feathered white carnations.

The Clare Bywaters attended their granddaughter's wedding with her uncle, John Brewster. All are of Owosso.

Spain-Norris Vows Told in Evening

Palms and candelabras formed a background for baskets of yellow and white chrysanthemums in the Auburn Heights United Presbyterian Church for the Friday evening vows of Charlotte Dianne Norris to Charles J. Spain Jr.

The bride, daughter of Mrs. Guy L. Norris, Auburn Heights, and the late Mr. Norris, was given in marriage by her brother Benjamin L. Norris. The Charles J. Spain of Stanley Avenue are parents of the bridegroom.

A church reception followed the ceremony performed by Rev. F. William Palmer, assisted by the bridegroom's father.

The bride's floor-length gown of white Chantilly lace and tulle over satin was styled with square neckline and long tapered sleeves. Her fingertip veil of silk illusion was held by a crystal tiara. Carried yellow roses and white carnations, arranged in a cascade.

Glen Archer performed the duties of best man. Charles and David Smith, Auburn Heights, acted as ushers.

Corsages of yellow and white carnations complemented a navy blue nylon jersey for Mrs. Norris and a blue silk print for the mother of the bridegroom.

Hold Spray 7 Inches From Coif

CHICAGO (UPI)—Hold that can of hair spray at least seven inches away from the head, the experts advise.

In this way, you spray on a fine, atomized mist that keeps the hair soft and lustrous without stiffness and avoids the formation of beads and droplets of spray on the hair.

Researchers for one of the aerosol packaging companies also advise brushing the hair, however lightly, into place after each application of spray. This precaution serves to keep the spray from forming a dulling film.

For bleached or tinted hair, they advised using a gentle-type waving lotion—one that will soften as it dries. Also recommended for tinted hair is a special conditioning rinse designed to counteract the tendency of color treated hair to be porous, dry and brittle.

Finally, there really is a difference between hair sprays for ordinary and hard-to-hold hair, say the experts. The sprays for hard-to-hold hair contain anti-static ingredients, which tend to keep fine, "fly-away" hair in place.

Must Make Time for Your Interests

By RUTH MILLETT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

One of the housewife's loudest lament is that she doesn't have time to develop her own interests. "So she is forever talking about all of the fascinating things she is going to do when the children get older, or when she has more money, or when she isn't quite so involved in women's clubs and organizations."

The trouble with that kind of procrastination is that a woman can let the years fly by and never "find" time for the things she would really like to do.

Women who develop their own talents and interests and therefore find life exciting don't expect to "find" time for themselves. They know it is never going to be left over from the day's demands.

So instead of just talking about what they would like to do and putting it off from month to month and year to year they get busy and organize their time, allowing a certain amount of it to themselves.

Then they are stingy with their own time. They don't squander it on putting off or reluctantly spend it on group activities that have no real meaning for them just because it is so much easier to say "yes" than "no" when asked to join this group or that.

They ask themselves the important question: "What do I most want to do with the time I have to spend exactly as I please?" They use their free time for the thing that seems most important to them, not for something someone else wants them to do or tells them is important.

So if you are still talking about what you are going to do "when," you should realize that "when" will never come unless you "make" time for your main interests. It's a cinch you'll never "find" the time.
